the value of Rs 169 and that subsequent inquiry has not led either to their recovery or to any satisfactory explanation from Mr Campbell as to their disposal. They are alleged to have been issued to Maistries for use on works in progress, - but no reliable documentary evidence is forthcoming to fix responsibility on the persons who received the tools.

Under these circumstances, Mr Campbell must be held liable for their value, which will be recovered under orders in the Educational Department from his salary in twelve equal monthly instalments.

matters to his successor. The transfer report from him (Mr: Campbell) to Supervisor Abdul Kareem Khan, dated 16th May (10 before Mr: Campbell left for Wynaad) shows that the Tools Re=turn was wanting, and Mr: Campbell when pressed by Abdul Kareem Khan to complete it and so finish handing over charge, made excuses and said he would do so on return from Wynaad. What he then did or rather did not do, has already been fully explained; vide this Office No. 194 of 1st August 1883. The works were directly under Supervisor Abdul Kareem Khan after Mr: Camp=bell's departure for Wynaad. Any Tools for which there are proper receipts have been recovered and have not been shown against Mr: Campbell, but the Maistries' receipts were so incomplete, and subsequent to the dates of their is=sue, so many changes and transfers of tools had been made without cor=responding accounts having been kept, that that nothing could be made of them, and Mr: Campbell himself failed to clear them up, or afford the explana=tions which it was his duty to have done.

Sir,

With reference to P.W. Department No. 262 b, of 5th Instant, communicated with your No. 70/N.J. of 8th Instant, I have the honor to inform you that Mr. Campbell's statements as summarized in the above are simply incorrect, and are only idle excuses to shirk his responsibility. None of the works were closed during Mr. Campbell's absence, and the maistries have only been quite recently dismissed (ie since Mr. Campbell's departure for Madras) so had not Mr. Campbell been incorrigibly idle and careless, he could easily have made enquiries from the maistries, or explained matters receipts to Superintendent Abdul Kareem Khan, and left for Madras.

With reference to para 4 of the Superintending Engineer's letter dated 5th Nov. I beg to state that the Executive Engineer sent me an order (Copy enclosed) on the 23d July to hand over charge & proceed to Madras & report myself to you.

I handed over all tools that I had & sent word to Maistries — many of whom had returned to their villages owing to several works being stopped during the Monsoon, when I was in Wynaad — to bring in their tools. I waited some days but as the Maistries did not return their tools, I handed over the 4 I may mention that there is a G.O. No. 768 of 6th March 1877, bearing on this subject. It was there ruled that for mere negligence or carelessness leading to loss, other penalties were ordinarily to be inflicted; but in the present case the carelessness was combined with a direct disobedience of the orders conveyed to Mr. Campbell in the Executive Engineer's Memo No. 300 of 25th July 1883. His letter No. 328/R.I. dated 27th July 1883.

Has the honor to report that Mr. Campbell has left this place, but the exact date of his departure is not known. He returned from Wynaad about the 20th June and sent in a medical certificate covering the period 21st June to 9th July. From the latter date it is not known what he has been doing and and he was informed that unless he could satisfactorily account for himself he would be considered as absent without leave; he has not so accounted for his time, he has not replied to references made to him and he has not properly handed over charge of his tools to Abdul Karim Khan Supervisor nor of the Crewe Hall furniture with account of the same to Conductor Bragg. So as far as this Division is concerned he should, it is thought, be considered as absent without leave from the 10th July. He did not even report himself personally to the Undersigned who has not laid his eyes on him since his return and as he is generally a slack subordinate it is considered he should be taught a lesson.

September 1883

On my discharge from hospital on the 9th July, the Executive Engineer, directed me to produce a Medical Certificate which I sent to him on the 14th. I was then called upon to explain what I had been doing from the date of my discharge from hospital. I reported* that I was settling my tools return, handing over charge of Crewe Hall furniture to Mr Bragg and settling some Contractors' bills. I was then ordered (on the 23rd July) to finish handing over charge without delay and proceed to Madras and report myself to you.

On the 25th July the Executive Engineer said that my first explanation was not satisfactory, and that pending a proper explanation I would be considered as absent without leave. This was forwarded to that officer on the 2nd Instant.

In conclusion I respectfully beg to state that while handing over charge of Works in Cotacamund in May, to Abdool Karrim Khan, I fell ill. I had then to proceed to Coonaad to hand over charge of works there to my Successor. During my Absence in Coonaad and while I was in hospital after my return from that place some of the works in Cotacamund of which I had had charge owing to the setting in of the monsoon were stopped, and Maistries to whom I had given tools, had gone to their villages or had obtained work elsewhere and some days elapsed before I could collect the tools. I therefore respectfully beg to request that this, as well as the state of my health at the time (I had just recovered from a severe attack of Dysentery and fever) may be taken into favorable consideration and that I may not be considered as absent without leave.

SIR,

I have the honour to inform you that Mr. J. C. Campbell, Overseer P.W.D., whose services were applied for on 2nd March 1883 and placed at my disposal on 23rd April, has not yet reported himself to me.

2. As Mr. Campbell must himself undergo some instruction before he can be placed in independent charge of a class at the College, this long delay is causing me serious inconvenience. I beg that he may be directed to join at once.

Order—dated 14th March 1884, No. 690 W., Public Works.

It appears from the correspondence recorded above that when handing over charge at Ootacamund, prior to his departure to Madras to take up an appointment in the Civil Engineering College, Mr. J. C. Campbell failed to account for tools in his charge to the value of Rs. 169, and that subsequent inquiry has not led either to their recovery or to any satisfactory explanation from Mr. Campbell as to their disposal. They are alleged to have been issued to maistries for use on works in progress, but no reliable documentary evidence is forthcoming to fix responsibility on the persons who received the tools.

2. Under these circumstances, Mr. Campbell must be held liable for their value, which will be recovered from his salary in twelve equal monthly instalments, under orders in the Educational Department.
