PREFACE

By its very nature a supplementary is not something new but rather an adjunct or continuation of the parent volume. Supplements were issued from time to time to the Gazetteer volumes published in the old series. The object of issuing such Supplementaries to the District Gazetteers is to update the statistical data contained in the parent volume.

The revised edition of the Meerut District Gazetteer by Smt. E. B. Joshi, M. A., T. Dip. (London), I.A.S., was published in 1965 by the Gazetteers Department. The present volume is intended to supplement the information contained in the revised edition by more recent statistics. Every attempt has been made to bring the statistical data as up-to-date as possible.

My thanks are due to Sri Rudra Shekhar Misra, Editor and Sarvri Chandra Prabhakar Sharma and Sunder Lal, Team Leaders of the Compilation Officers of whom Sri Sunder Lal has since retired, for their valuable assistance in this work. I am also thankful to the other staff members of the office for their association in the preparation of this volume.

I will be failing in my duty if I do not express my thanks to Dr. P. N. Chopra, M.A., Ph. D., Editor (retd.) Central Gazetteers Unit, Ministry of Education, Government of India, New Delhi, as also the editorial staff of the Unit for their effective role in the planning and co-ordinating the work of preparation of the Supplementaries. The Unit scrutinised the Tables of this Supplementary with great care and made several helpful suggestions.

The information as statistical data contained in the Supplements is based on the Census publications for the years 1961 and 1971 and the various official records maintained at the office of the collector and district magistrate and the district offices of numerous departments of the Central and State governments to whom my sincere thanks are due.

FAMINES, FLOODS AND DROUGHTS

The heavy rains accompanied by flood of 1975-76 which continued for several days, caused much damage specially in Baghpat tahsil. As many as 54 villages involving an area of 11,189 ha. were adversely affected. The government spent an amount of Rs13,310 on relief works. Two years later in 1978-79 floods and water logging adversely affected 143 villages of Baghpat tahsil and 256 villages of Maurana tahsil, the total area involved being 44,335 ha. in Baghpat and 9,468 ha. in Maurana. The takavi given by government amounted to Rs4,00,000; gratuitous relief and subsidy for house building was made available to the extent of Rs18,87,371 and Rs35,000 was given as special assistance. Besides, recovery of land revenue worth Rs 1,70,641 was suspended.

The same year a hailstrom struck the Maurana tahsil and much damage was caused to crops, orchards and houses. As many as 24 villages involving an area of 3,484 ha. was adversely affected.

Land revenue to the tune of Rs63,004 was suspended. Meerut tahsil could also not escape from the hailstrom this year. Not less than 24 villages involving an area of 1,852 ha. were adversely affected. Land revenue amounting to Rs21,381 was suspended and gratuitous relief worth Rs32,000 was given by the government. In the same year, Meerut tahsil was adversely affected by water-logging when 259 villages and one town with an area of 39,135 ha. were affected. Land revenue amounting to Rs5,59,671 was suspended and takavi worth Rs314,903 was given by the government as a measure of relief.

Mortality from Various Diseases

Various kinds of fevers and respiratory diseases generally cause the largest number of deaths in the district. Dysentery and diarrhoea are the other main causes of deaths. Plague has nearly been eradicated and only a few deaths have been caused due to cholera in the sixties and seventies. In the first half of sixties smallpox was in an epidemic form and as many as 512 persons died of smallpox in 1963.

The following statement gives the number of deaths due to various diseases in some years of the sixties and seventies of this century :

MEDICAL FACILITIES

There were 50 allopathic institutions comprising hospitals, dispensaries and primary health centres in the district in 1977. Of these 13 were hospitals, 18 dispensaries and 19 primary health centres.

As many as 1,330 beds were available in these medical institutions.

Medical facilities are available extensively in the district as a result of establishment of the primary health centres, which have covered the entire rural population. The following statement gives the list of primary health centres in the district:

Each primary health centre has two doctors, a sanitary inspector, two health inspectors, and eight health workers which is also linked to 3 maternity centres and a family welfare centre functioning in the vicinity of the primary health centre. Efforts to enhance the welfare of families is being undertaken with greater emphasis on family planning.

The hospitals and dispensaries in the district are being expanded and more beds have been added to each institution. Facilities for specialised treatment such as X-ray equipment, operation theatres and other facilities are being created in the hospitals.

Administrative Set-up

Since July 1973, the district chief medical officer is the head of all the medical and health services in the district. He is assisted by three deputy chief medical officers. He supervises all district level hospitals, Employees State Insurance Scheme dispensaries, infectious diseases hospitals and school health dispensaries. Each deputy chief medical officer looks after all the medical institutions in his area of jurisdiction. The district has been divided into 3 administrative regions for health and medical purposes:

Only three dispensaries located at Sardhana, Jayi and Kithore are owned by private bodies in the district. The Kithore dispensary has 4 beds, 2 each for men and women, while only outdoor treatment is available in the other two dispensaries.

In the year 1977-78, the community health scheme was introduced in the district, and one community health visitor looks after 1,000 of the population. He is trained in first-aid and preliminary treatment. He is provided with a medical kit and reports about epidemics, if any, to the respective primary health centre.

Sanitation

The chief medical officer looks after the sanitation work in the district and he is assisted by the three deputy chief medical officers, who are assisted by sanitary inspectors, health inspectors, a food inspector and basic health workers at the district level. A large staff functions at the primary health centre, which comprises one sanitary inspector, two health inspectors and eight basic health workers. Generally a health officer assisted by sanitary inspector and others looks after the sanitation work in the urban localities of the district. He is an employee of the local body. Besides, each Gaon Sabha is responsible for village sanitation. The services of the sanitary inspectors are available to the Gaon Sabhas for technical help and guidance. The pradhans (village headmen) report out breaks of epidemics to the respective primary health centres for initiating preventive and curative measures.

FAMILY PLANNING AND CHILD WELFARE

The chief medical officer exercises complete supervision over the maternity and child welfare, family planning and nutrition programmes. He is assisted by three deputy chief medical officers and a team of doctors, extension educators, midwives, dais (untrained midwives) and health visitors.

The family planning measures were introduced in the second half of the fifties in the district. The concept of a small family is being publicised through films, placards, posters, radio and television and personal contact. The family welfare centres attached to the primary health centres are the focal points for the implementation of welfare measures. There are 19 family welfare centres in the district and each centre supervises the work of three family welfare sub-centres.

A number of family planning measures have been introduced in the sixties and seventies of this century, as the following statement indicates:

ERADICATION OF MALARIA

The national malaria eradication programme which was launched in 1958, continues to be in vogue in the district. The district malaria officer works under the chief medical officer. He is assisted by 2 assistant malaria officers, 8 malaria inspectors, 2 senior field workers, 5 field workers and seven others.

Basic health workers and health inspectors collect blood-smears from all-over the district and they are examined in 19 malaria clinics and positive cases are provided with radical treatment. Areas where incidence of malaria is reported, are sprayed with insecticides (D. D. T., etc.). A total of 984 drug distribution centres and 1,763 fever treatment units are functioning in the district since 1978.

The following statement indicates the incidence of malaria in district Meerut in the last three years.

Filaria

A filaria survey unit was established at Meerut in 1974-75 under a filaria survey officer, who is assisted by a filaria inspector, two laboratory technicians, two collectors of blood-smears and two others.

Blood smears are collected from various places and of persons who are suspected to be suffering from filaria. Areas where filaria carrying mosquitoes breed, are subjected to intensive spraying of D. D. T. and other insecticides.

ERADICATION OF SMALLPOX

National Smallpox Eradication Programme was introduced in the district in 1962.

The scheme is implemented under the overall charge of the chief medical officer of the district, who is assisted by 3 doctors and a team comprising a para-medical assistant, a vaccinator, a smallpox supervisor and a sanitary inspector.

The following statement gives the number of persons vaccinated and re-vaccinated in the later sixties and the seventies of the twentieth century.

PROHIBITION

The government launched the scheme of imposing prohibition in the State. Under this scheme many districts of the State were declared 'dry' areas, but the scheme was not extended to this district. The government had, however, adopted certain measures to discourage people from indulging in addiction to drinks and intoxicants. A temperance society is functioning in the district. It consists of officials and non-officials and it works through publicity persuasion and social contact. The temperance activities include the focussing of public attention on the evil effects of drinking and indulging in other intoxicants through the medium of film shows, exhibition of posters and placards, cinema slides, etc.

CHAPTER XVIII

PUBLIC LIFE AND VOLUNTARY SOCIAL SERVICE, ORGANISATIONS

Vidhan Sabha (Legislative Assembly)

For the general elections of 1967, the district of Meerut was divided into 15 single-member constituencies. Three seats were reserved for the members of the Scheduled Castes. The constituencies were Gha-ziabad, Muradnagar, Modinagar, Hapur, Garhmukteshwar, Kithore, Hastinapur, Sardhana, Barnawa, Meerut, Meerut (Cantonment), Rohta, Khekhra, Baraut and Chhaprauli. As many as 101 candidates contested the elections, of whom 15 belonged to the Congress, 12 to the Bhartiya Jan Sangh, 9 to the Republican party, 4 to the Swatantra party, 3 each to the Communist party and the Samyukta Socialist party, 1 to the Communist (marxist) party and 62 were the Independents. Four seats each were won by the Congress and the Independents, 3 by the Republican party, 2 by the Samyukta Socialist party and one each by the Bhartiya Jan Sangh and the Communist party.

The following statement shows the number of seats contested and won and the total votes secured by each political party and the Independents in the assembly constituencies in the general elections of 1967 :

The Vidhan Sabha constituted after the general elections, was dissolved on February 25, 1968 due to a large number of defections among the members which forced the government to submit its resignation. The State was placed under the President's rule and the mid-term poll was held in 1969.

For the mid-term elections of 1969, there was no change in the number of seats allotted to the district and the number of constituencies. The number of constituencies remained 15 as before—Gha-ziabad, Muradnagar, Modinagar, Hapur, Garhmukteshwar, Kithore, Hastinapur, Sardhana, Barnawa, Meerut, Meerut (Cantonment), Rohta, Khekhra, Baraut and Chhaprauli, three constituencies (Hapur, Hastinapur and Rohta) being reserved for the members of the Scheduled Castes. As many as 117 candidates contested the elections, of whom 35 were Independents, 15 each belonged to the Congress and the Bhartiya Kranti Dal, 12 to the Republican party, 11 to the Bhartiya Jan Sangh, 10 to the Samyukta Socialist party, 9 to the Proutist Block, 3 to the Swatantra party, 2 each to the Communist party, Kisan Mazdoor party and Mazdoor Parishad and 1 to the Arya Sabha. The Bhartiya Kranti Dal won 8 seats, the Congress 4, the Samyukta Socialist party 2 and remaining 1 went to the Bhartiya Jan Sangh.

The following statement shows the number of seats contested and won and the total valid votes secured by each political party and the Independents in the assembly constituencies in the mid-term elections of 1969:

After the assembly elections of 1974, the Congress led the State until a political upheaval rocked the party, leading to the resignation of the Congress ministry in November 1975, followed by the President's rule. The President's rule came to an end in January 1976, when Congress ministry was again formed in the State. The dismal performance of the Congress in 1977 general elections to Lok Sabha heralded emergence of the Janta Party in power at the centre paving the way for the dissolution of State assembly in May, 1977. The mid-term poll was held shortly after. This election was contested mainly between two parties the Indian National Congress and the newly emerged Janta party.

For the mid-term elections of 1977, the position of the district changed, as regards the number of seats allotted to the district and the number of constituencies. The district of Meerut (excluding Ghaziabad district) was divided into 11 single-member constituencies to elect 9 members for the general seats and 2 for the seats reserved for the members of Scheduled Castes. The constituencies were Kithore, Hastinapur, Sardhana, Meerut (Cantonment), Meerut, Kharkhauda, Siwal Khas, Khekhra, Bagpat, Barnawa and Chhaprauli, two constituencies (Hastinapur and Siwal Khas) being reserved for the members of Scheduled Castes. 91 candidates contested the elections, of whom 11 each were from the Congress and the Janta party, 2 from the Republican (Khobragade) party and 1 each from the Communist (Marx.) party, the Hindu Mahasabha and the Republican party. The Janta party won the 9 seats and 2 went to the Congress.

The district of Ghaziabad which was formerly a part of district Meerut, was divided into 6 constituencies for the election of six members, 5 for the general seats and 1 for seat reserved for the Scheduled Castes. The constituencies were Dadri, Ghaziabad, Muradnagar, Modinagar, Hapur and Garhmukteshwar, only one constituency (Hapur) being reserved for the members of the Scheduled Castes. 45 candidates contested the elections, of whom 6 each belonged to the Congress and the Janta party, 1 each belonged to the Communist (Marx.) party, Kisan Mazdoor party and the Republican (Khobragade) party and 30 were independent candidates.

The following two statements of Meerut and Ghaziabad respectively show the number of seats contested and won and the total valid votes secured by each political party and the Independents in the assembly constituencies in the general elections of 1977 :

Lok Sabha (House of People)

For the general elections of 1967 to Lok Sabha, the district was divided into 3 constituencies viz. Hapur, Meerut and Bagpat. The allotted 3 seats were contested by 18 candidates, of whom 3 belonged to the Congress, one each belonged to the Bhartiya Jan Sangh, the Communist party, the Praja Socialist party, the Republican party, the Samyukta Socialist party, the Swatantra party and 9 were the Independent candidates. Independent candidates won 2 seats and the remaining one was won by the Samyukta Socialist party.

For the general elections of 1971, the position of the district remained the same, as regards the number of constituencies and the number of seats. As many as 25 candidates contested the elections, of whom 3 each belonged to the Bhartiya Kranti Dal, the Congress (J), and the Republican party, 2 belonged to the Congress (N), 1 each belonged to the Forward Block, the Proutist Block and the Samyukta Socialist party and 11 were the independents, the Congress (J) candidates winning all the 3 seats.

For the purpose of the general elections of 1977, the number of constituencies and the seats remained the same as in 1967 and 1971. There were 3 constituencies Hapur, Meerut and Bagpat. As many as 19 candidates contested the elections, of whom 3 each belonged to the Bhartiya Lok Dal and the Congress, 1 belonged to the Communist party and 12 were Independents, the Bhartiya Lok Dal candidate winning all the 3 seats. The following 3 statements show the number of seats contested and won and the valid votes secured by each political party and the Independents in the parliamentary constituencies in the general elections of 1967, 1971 and 1977:
