The Provisional Totals of each Province, State and District in India according to the Census taken on the 10th March 1911 were published on the 20th idem. The manner in which these figures were compiled was briefly as follows :—

On the morning after the Census each Enumerator prepared an abstract showing the number of males and females in his block. He took this to his Supervisor who, after checking it, posted the figures in a summary for his circle. The Charge Superintendent in the same way prepared a summary for his charge. The charge totals were added up at the district headquarters, and the district total was communicated by telegraph to the Census Commissioner for India.

The figures published on the 20th March were admittedly provisional, and were subject to revision after detailed tabulation in the Census offices. This is being carried out on what is known as the slip system :—

A separate slip is prepared for each individual showing the required particulars regarding him. These slips after being carefully compared with the original entries in the schedules, are counted. The results are compared, block by block, with the Enumerator's Abstracts and all discrepancies verified. The slips are then sorted and re-sorted by religion, age, birthplace, caste, occupation, etc., in order to obtain the detailed statistics required for the final Tables prescribed by the Government of India.

When it is remembered that the population dealt with exceeds three hundred millions, and that some of the tables are very complicated, it will be understood that this work takes a considerable time. It will still be some months before all the tables are ready. It has therefore been thought desirable, in the meanwhile, to publish the final figures which have already been compiled showing the total population of each Province, State and District the variation as compared with previous enumerations and the distribution of population by sex and religion.

The net difference in the whole of India between the provisional and the final figures is only 131,438 or '04 per cent. The greater part of this small difference is due to the omission from the provisional totals of the figures for two charges, one in the Hanthawaddy district in Burma and the other in the Mymensingh district of Eastern Bengal and Assam. The final figures include some persons in the Sundarbans and on ships reaching port after the 10th March whose schedules were not received in time for inclusion in the provisional totals.

E. A. GAIT,

Census Commissioner for India.

SIMLA,

The 10th October 1911.

Table A.

Total population and variation since 1881.

The population returned at previous Censuses has been corrected, as far as possible, in order to allow for subsequent interprovincial transfers. The largest changes are those necessitated by the partition of Bengal. The population of Manipur State (Total 284,465—males 139,632, females 144,833) which was included under the head British territory in 1901, has now been included under the head Native States. The tribal areas in the North-West Frontier Province have also been shown under the latter head. Sikkim, which in 1901 was classed under Bengal States, is now shown separately.

The areas newly included within the scope of the enumeration are noted below :—

Name of Tract.	Manner in which population ascertained.	Population.
Burma.
Unadministered area in Pakokku Hill tracts	Estimated	9,123
West Manglun	Estimated	18,562
Kokang	Estimated	25,604
Baluchistan.
Makran	Enumerated	71,942
Western Sinjrani country	Do.	1,620
N.-W. F. Province.
Agencies and Tribal areas	Estimated	1,604,265
TOTAL		1,731,116

The population of the French and Portuguese Settlements in India is not included in this table. The enumeration of the French Settlements was carried out synchronously with that of British territory. The results according to the Provisional Totals are as follows :—

	Total.	Males.	Females.
Pondicherry	184,840	91,989	92,851
Karikal	56,577	25,640	30,937
Yanaon	5,033	2,290	2,743
Mahé	10,636	4,992	5,644
Chandernagore	25,293	13,686	11,607
TOTAL	282,379	138,597	143,782

In 1901 the total population of these Settlements was 273,185 (133,502 males and 139,683 females). There has thus been an increase of 9,194 or 3·4 per cent.

The Census of the Portuguese Settlements was taken on the 31st December 1910. Their population according to the Provisional Totals is 604,930. The details by sex have not yet been received.

Table C.

Population of principal towns and variation since 1891.

In some towns such as Nagpur, Gaya and Indore, where plague was prevalent at the time of the Census, many of the inhabitants were absent from their homes and the population shown in this table is far less than it would otherwise have been. The population of some of these towns according to the provisional returns of a fresh Census which was taken after the epidemic had subsided is noted below :—

Table D.

The Population by Religion.

The general arrangement of this Table is the same as that of Table VI in the India Census Tables of 1901. Vedic Theists (Arya Samaj) and Eclectic Theists (Brahmo Samaj) are included in the general total of Hindus, but are also shown separately. The term Animistic denotes the primitive forms of belief which are found among the jungle tribes, Mundas, Santals, Bhils, etc. There is no name for these beliefs in any Indian vernacular, and in practice it is very difficult to draw the line between Animism and Hinduism. The question will be fully discussed in the Census Report. Here it must suffice to say that all persons who said they were Hindus, Muhammadans or Christians, etc., were recorded as such in the Census schedules. Those who did not profess to belong to any recognized religion were entered under the name of their caste or tribe. In the course of tabulation all such persons were treated as Hindus if they belonged to a recognized Hindu caste, however low it might be. Those who belonged to jungle tribes outside the caste system, e.g., Bhils, Khonds, Garos, Todas, etc., were classed as Animists.

The figures for Hindus in the Punjab, North-West Frontier Province, Baluchistan and Kashmir include the following persons whose caste was shown in the religion column :—
