TABLE B-XV—SAMPLE HOUSEHOLDS ENGAGED BOTH IN CULTIVATION AND HOUSEHOLD INDUSTRY CLASSIFIED BY SIZE OF LAND IN RURAL AND URBAN AREAS SEPARATELY

FLYLEAF

This table has been prepared on a 20 per cent sample of households and is being presented for the State, Divisions, Districts, and Anchals and for rural and urban areas separately. For Anchals, however, the urban figures have not been printed.

The table deals with households engaged both in cultivation and household industry. In Table B-XIII, which also deals with households of this type, a cross-tabulation has been made between the nature of household industry and the size of holding. In this table the size of holdings has been correlated with reference to the number of persons working in these households. Where more than one person are employed, the numbers of family workers and hired workers are separately shown, family workers being classified again by sex. Similar data in respect of households engaged in cultivation only have been presented in Table B-XII.

A comparison between Table B-XII and Table B-XV will show how the combination of household industry with cultivation affects the employment position. This table will also help in establishing a correlationship between the scale of cultivation and the scale of household industry.

TABLE B-XVI—SAMPLE PRINCIPAL HOUSEHOLD INDUSTRY CLASSIFIED BY PERIOD OF WORKING AND TOTAL NUMBER OF WORKERS ENGAGED IN HOUSEHOLD INDUSTRY IN ALL AREAS

FLYLEAF

This table has also been prepared on a 20 per cent sample of households and for total, rural and urban households separately. It is confined only to principal household industry. Data have been presented for the State, Divisions and Districts separately in respect of households engaged in household industry only or in household industry as well as cultivation. These have further been cross-tabulated with reference to the period of working of the industry. The period of working has been grouped under four categories, viz., 1-3 months, 4-6 months, 7-9 months and 10 months-1 year. Under each category, the number of households, the number of family workers and the number of hired workers have been given, family workers being classified by sex.

As in Tables B-XIII and B-XIV, the major groups of household industry having less than 10 per cent of figures of the respective division have not been printed in the table; instead, they have been shown in run-on fashion in the appendix which follows the table. Divisions thus affected are marked with an asterisk (*).

FLYLEAF

This table, prepared on a 20 per cent sample of households, is being presented for the State, Divisions and Districts separately for total, rural and urban areas. For rural areas, however, data are being presented for (i) households engaged neither in cultivation nor in household industry, (ii) households engaged in household industry only, and (iii) households engaged in cultivation (with or without household industry). The latter category has been further classified by the size of holding.

This table is intended to show family-sizes classified according to one-member, small, medium, large, and very large families, cross-tabulated with reference to the nature of household activity and the size of holding in the case of cultivating households only. By definition, a "Census Household" is not the same as a "family". A household may include persons who were not members of the family but were residing with the family during the enumeration period. The occurrence of such persons in households is, however, not so frequent. Thus, the concepts of household and family will generally coincide in most cases. The table will, therefore, give an idea of the family-sizes also.

The statement below gives the number of households and total household population, classified by sex, for the units for which figures are being presented in this table and for total, rural and urban areas separately.
