FOREWORD

In order to ensure complete coverage at a population count, the Census organization obtains or prepares up-to-date detailed maps of all administrative units in the country on the eve of a census. Though in several parts of the country, maps of the Districts, Tehsils, Police Stations, etc., are available with the State Revenue or Survey authorities, often-times, they required to be brought up-to-date and they also varied greatly in scale. One also found it difficult to secure a complete or compact set of all these maps from State authorities. The Census organization took upon itself the task of up-dating of the administrative maps and the standardization of the scales essentially to meet its own requirements of coverage at the census and analysis of data. Standardization of symbol was also attempted to depict certain features such as the State/district/tehsil boundaries, administrative headquarters, National and State highways and other roads, markets and mandis, post and telegraph offices, travellers' bungalows, hospitals, etc. All urban centres and larger villages were depicted by names in the district maps, and in the tehsil maps the location of every village by dots proportionate to the population size and the distinctive location code number of each village marked. In each of the District Census Handbooks (there are 356 districts in the country), the district map as well as tehsil maps will be printed.

While these administrative maps, prepared with great amount of care and effort served the purposes of the Census extremely well, the 1971 Census organization felt that these would be invaluable for many an administrative purpose and for planning and also to the scholar who might like to utilize these maps for various studies. Therefore, it was decided, after full consideration at the All-India Census Conferences of Courtallam (1970) and Pahalgam (1971) to publish all the district and tehsil maps of each State together in a compact and handy volume entitled "Administrative Atlas". Though this Atlas is basically a compilation of administrative maps giving the set up as on the Census date i.e., 1st April, 1971, it has been enriched by adding inset maps, wherever necessary, showing the changes in the boundaries during the decade 1961-71. Besides, the Atlas also contains a few introductory State maps showing certain basic characteristics as the physiography, density of population, distribution of towns and the distribution of rural population. A few schematic urban maps are also added to give the land-use patterns in the typical urban areas of the State. In order to make the Atlas somewhat self-contained, statistical statements are also added giving data on the area, population size, growth rate, sex and age structure, literacy, Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe population and religion.

The Census organization, as is well-known, is one of the largest producers of maps in the country. Apart from the Administrative Atlas, the 1971 Census Publication programme envisages the production of separate Census Atlases which will depict the physiographic, demographic, economic, social and cultural characteristics of each State as derived from the Census as well as other sources of data.

I wish to place on record my appreciation of the dedicated services of Dr. B. K. Roy, the Map Officer of the Registrar General's Office and all his colleagues in the Map unit and also of all the State Directors of Census Operations and the staff of their Map Units who have all worked together as a team and have succeeded in the production of this Administrative Atlas, which I hope will serve the needs of the administrator, the planner and the scholar alike.

PREFACE

The volume on Administrative Atlas contains jurisdictional maps in respect of the administrative units of the State, viz. the districts and taluks as found during the 1971 Census Operations. The State then comprised of 14 districts and 116 taluks. Besides the district and taluk maps, schematic maps of 43 selected towns having a population of 50,000 and above have also been presented.

The main purpose in preparing these jurisdictional maps for the 1971 Census was to ensure complete coverage of the population. In this process, the existing jurisdictional maps were brought up-to-date and presented in an uniform size. These maps were found very useful for the Census operations as well as by the various Departments of the Government. It was felt that the time and labour spent in preparing these maps should benefit one and all, i.e., the Departments of the Government, Scholars, Planners etc. and therefore, it was decided to bring together all these maps in a single volume and make it a useful reference book.

The district map shows the State, district and taluk boundaries, the district and taluk headquarters, National and State Highways and other roads, railway lines (broad-gauge and metre-gauge), rivers with stream, urban areas, villages having population above 5,000, location of weekly markets, Post and Telegraph Offices, Rest Houses, Travellers' Bungalows and Hospitals.

The taluk map shows the district and taluk boundaries, the district and taluk headquarters, Panchayat Union and village boundaries with their location code numbers, National and State Highways and other roads, railway lines (broad-gauge and metre-gauge), rivers with stream, uninhabited villages and villages by different sizes of population indicated with suitable symbols, location of Post and Telegraph Offices, Police Stations, Rest Houses, Hospitals, Primary Health Centres, Dispensaries and Maternity and Child Welfare Centres, Colleges and High Schools as well as towns and urban areas. It was no easy task to collect all the above details from various departments of the Government and considerable time and labour were spent in collecting these details over a period of years. I am happy to record that I have been able to get the required information so as to complete these maps in time.

To begin with, the Cartography Section in my office prepared tracings of the village boundaries and their names and numbers from the printed taluk maps available in my office as per the location code statement drawn up for the 1971 Census enumeration. Ammonia printed copies of these tracings were later sent to the concerned Collectors for their scrutiny and for marking the Panchayat Union boundary, Firka boundary etc. and also to rectify other defects noticed, if any, with reference to the jurisdictional lists maintained in their Offices. The copies returned by the Collectors were reduced to a suitable size in my Office and the originals were prepared from these corrected maps. Inking and printing of names etc. were all done in the Cartography Section of my Office. The size of the originals of maps was 21.3 inches/12.9 inches. The printed maps were reproduced from the original by reduction and the size of the printed map is 15.6 inches / 9.5 inches. In some taluk maps, originals have been drawn in the scale of 9.7 inches / 12.9 inches and the final printed copies for these taluks is of the size

7.25 inches / 9.5 inches. Specimen of the originals of district and taluk maps were sent to the Map Division of the Office of the Registrar General, India and got approved. The district and taluk maps were originally intended for inclusion only in the District Census Handbook—Part X-A and Part X-B. As it was felt that a single volume presenting all the district and taluk maps would be very useful and handy, it was decided to take additional off-print copies of these maps for this volume. The expenditure for the printing of the maps included in the District Census Handbook was borne by the State Government. I requested the State Government to agree for meeting the additional expenditure in taking 1,000 off-print copies of these maps which are being included in the Administrative Atlas. The Government of Tamil Nadu readily agreed to this suggestion and issued orders accordingly.

The schematic maps of towns presented in this volume were obtained from the administrators of Local Bodies. They show the functional areas within the town and throws light to some extent on the settlement pattern at present. A lot of pains was taken to collect the maps from the administrators of the Local Bodies, as far as possible, aiming at accuracy. I feel that this maiden venture of presenting schematic maps would be helpful to the Town Planners and other Administrators for future planning.

Eight State maps have been included which represents the different characteristics as found at the time of 1971 Census. A brief note explaining the salient features of these maps have also been given. The district maps are preceded by a statement giving certain essential population statistics of the 1971 Census. The taluk maps are preceded by a list of villages with their code numbers and certain population statistics of the 1971 Census. The schematic maps of towns are preceded by a brief note explaining the physical features as well as giving an idea of the growth of the town and certain basic statistics collected during 1971 Census.

The Administrative Atlas is published in two volumes. The first volume contains the State level maps, district and taluk maps of the Madras, Chingleput, North Arcot, South Arcot, Dharmapuri, Salem, Coimbatore, Nilgiris and Madurai districts. The second volume contains the district and taluk maps of Tiruchirappalli, Thanjavur, Ramanathapuram, Tirunelveli and Kanyakumari districts and the schematic maps of selected towns.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

Tamil Nadu is situated at the eastern side of the southern extremity of the Indian Peninsula. Bounded on the north by Mysore and Andhra Pradesh, on the east by the Bay of Bengal, on the south by the Indian Ocean and on the west by Kerala State, the State has a coast-line of 990 kms. and a land boundary of 1,200 kms. It lies between 8° 5' and 13° 35' of northern latitude and 76° 15' and 80° 20' of eastern longitude. With a total area of 130,069 sq. kms. and a population of 41,199,168 persons, it accounts for 3.96 per cent of the total area of the country and 7.52 per cent of its population. The State ranks eleventh in land area and seventh in population size among the States of India.

Literacy: At the 1971 Census, 39.46 per cent of the State's population is literate and Tamil Nadu ranks second among the States of the country in literacy. Urban Areas: The number of urban units recognised as such during 1971 Census in Tamil Nadu is 439 and this represents an increase of 100 units as compared with the figure of 339 units in 1961. Compared to other States in the country, Tamil Nadu has the largest number of urban units. During 1971, 152 urban units have been recognised afresh while 45 units which existed in 1961 have been derecognised. Since 1901, the largest number of increase in towns has been recorded during this decade. Chingleput District which encircles the City of Madras, (conterminous with Madras District) has the largest number of towns among districts, viz., 74 and this shows that the district has a number of satellite towns around Madras City. Most of the towns in Chingleput District are situated in the taluks of Saidapet and Sriperumbudur which are nearer to Madras. Coimbatore and Tirunelveli Districts have also a large number of urban areas, 58 and 52 respectively. There are only 5 Census towns in Kanyakumari District and 7 in Dharmapuri District. While Chingleput has recorded an addition of 40 towns in 1971, both Coimbatore and Salem Districts have an increase of 24 towns each. The districts which have recorded a fall in the number of towns during 1961-71 are South Arcot, Tiruchirapalli, Thanjavur and Ramanathapuram. A statement showing the progress in the number of towns during 1901-71 in the districts of Tamil Nadu is given below:—

In the field of urbanisation, the State is more progressive than the country as a whole. While the urban population in India works out to 19.9% of the total population, similar percentage for Tamil Nadu works out to 30.3%. The proportion of urban population in India and Tamil Nadu in 1961 was 18.0% and 26.7% respectively. Maharashtra is the only State which has, among States, a higher urban proportion of population than Tamil Nadu, viz., 31.2%.

The entire district of Madras is urban since the boundaries of Madras City are conterminous with those of Madras District. Among the other 13 districts of the State, we find that Nilgiris has the highest proportion of urban population, viz., 49.2%. The districts of Coimbatore, Chingleput, Madurai and Tirunelveli are the other districts which have a higher urban proportion than that of the State. The district of Dharmapuri has the least urban population of 8.6% and this is closely followed by South Arcot district with 14.2% and Kanyakumari district with 16.7% which possess large rural areas. The percentages of rural and urban population as per 1971 Census in districts are indicated below:—

Workers and Non-workers : During 1971 Census, the population has been divided into two broad categories according to their main activity. The two broad categories are (1) Workers and (2) Non-workers. The classification is made with reference to the type of main activity in which the person was engaged in mostly.

The 'worker' was defined as a person whose main activity was participation in any economically productive work by his physical or mental activity. The work involved is not only actual work but also effective supervision and direction of work. The reference period was one week prior to the date of enumeration. In the case of regular worker in trade, profession, service or business, if a person participated in any such regular work on any one of the days during this reference period, he was classified as a "Worker". In the case of seasonal work like Cultivation, Livestock, Forestry, Plantations, Household Industry, etc., a person's main activity was ascertained with reference to such work in the last one year, even if that person was not economically active in the week prior to enumeration. In the case of persons engaged in one's own household duties, students, rent receivers, pensioners etc., they were not treated as economically active and were classified as non-workers under the main activity. If such individuals were also engaged in some economic activity, though not to the same extent as a full-time worker, that activity was recorded under secondary work.

Industrial Categories of Workers :

The workers were classified in one of the following nine broad categories in 1971 Census :—

I Cultivators	V (a) Household Industry
II Agricultural Labourers	(b) Other than Household Industry
III Livestock, Forestry, Fishing, Hunting and Plantations, Orchards and Allied Activities	VI Construction
IV Mining and Quarrying	VII Trade and Commerce
V Manufacturing, Processing, Servicing and Repairs	VIII Transport, Storage and Communications
	IX Other Services

The above classification closely follows the 1961 pattern with slight modifications.

As per 1971 Census, the total population of 41,199,168 comprises of 14,741,967 workers and 26,457,201 non-workers. In terms of percentage, 35.8% of the total population of the State are workers and 64.2% are non-workers. Out of 20,828,021 males, 11,667,065 are workers (56.0%) and 9,160,956 (44.0%) are non-workers. Among the female population of 20,371,147, female workers number 3,074,902 (i.e.) 15.1% of the female population and 17,296,245 females (84.9%) are non-workers.

The break-up of the population of the State by economic activity is presented below:—

Economic Activity	Total	Persons		Percentage of column 2 to total working population
		Males	Females

POSITION OF (LOCATION OF) TAMIL NADU IN INDIA

"Tamil Nadu", formerly known as Madras State is situated between 8° 5' and 13° 35' Northern latitude and 76° 15' and 80° 20' East of Greenwich. Tamil Nadu is bounded on the North by the States of Andhra Pradesh and Mysore and on the West by the State of Kerala and Mysore. The Bay of Bengal is the eastern boundary and Indian Ocean is the southern boundary. Pondicherry Union Territory - Pondicherry and Karaikal-is surrounded by Tamil Nadu. It has a coast-line of 620 miles. Tamil Nadu has an area of 130,069 sq.km. forming

3.96% of India's total area. The population of the State as per 1971 Census is 41,199,168 and this forms 7.52% of India's population. Tamil Nadu ranks eleventh in area among the States of India and seventh in population. Density of population is 317 persons per sq.km. Sex ratio (number of females per 1,000 males) is 978. There are 439 towns and 15,735 inhabited villages. Tamil is the mother tongue for about 85% of the people and it is the State Language.

PHYSIOGRAPHY

The land area forming the Tamil Nadu region has definite physical and climatic characteristics which go to make it a natural geographical region. It has a rhomboidal shape bordered by the ramparts of the Ghats—the Eastern and the Western on the north-western and western sides, the Bay of Bengal on the eastern and the Palk Strait and the Gulf of Manaar on the south-eastern sides. The region broadly comes under the two parts—(1) The eastern coastal plain of South India and the (2) Hilly western parts. Topographically, there are a few divisions of the State. Parallel to the coast and gradually rising from it is the broad strip of the plain country. It can be sub-divided into coromandel plains comprising the districts of Chingleput, North Arcot and South Arcot, the alluvial plains of the Cauvery delta extending over Thanjavur and part of Tiruchirapalli districts and the dry southern plains in Madurai, Ramanathapuram and Tirunelveli districts. It extends a little beyond Western Ghats in Kanyakumari district. The other districts of Coimbatore, Salem, Dharmapuri and Nilgiris fall under the hilly western region.

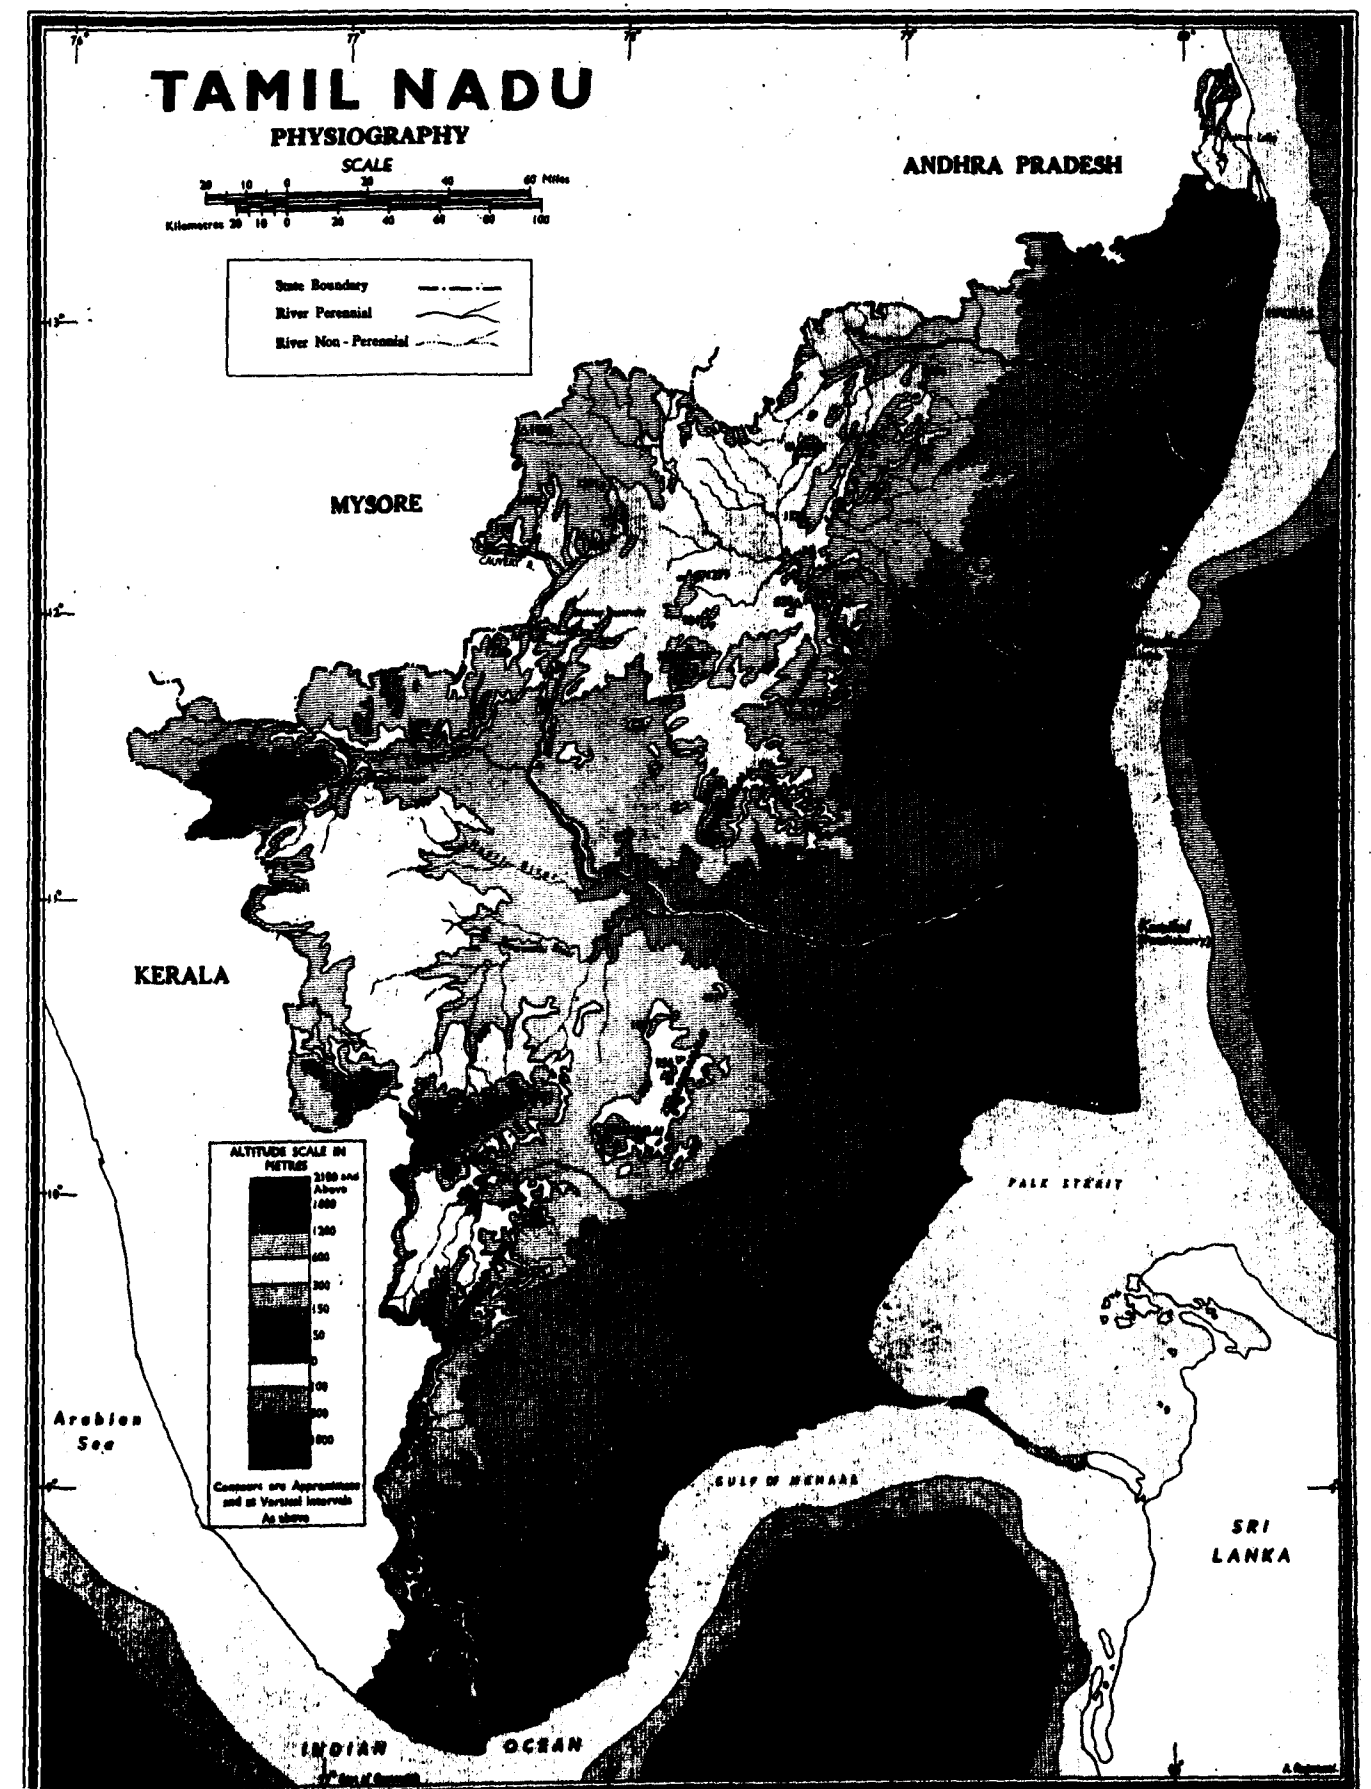

The Eastern Ghats enter Tamil Nadu from the Andhra Pradesh in the north and cut across the State to merge in the Nilgiris hills. The region is bounded on the south-west by the crest of the Cardamom hills and on the north-west by the slopes of the plateau. The area of the State is in the form of a rhombus and the longer diagonal of it stretches from the Pulicat lake in the north to Cape Comorin in the south and shorter diagonal from Gudalur in the west to Point Calimere in the east.

Along the whole length of the western part, at a distance varying from 80 to 150 kilometres away from sea and from the range of the Western Ghats, the rugged land mass rises. The Eastern and the Western Ghats intersect and at the junction is the high plateau of Nilgiris. The Blue Mountain or the Nilgiris rises abruptly to over 2,000 metres.

The two highest peaks in this mountain are the Doddabetta (2,637 M) and Makurti (2,554 M). The Palghat gap averaging about 25 kilometres in width is the only break in the great mountain wall of the Western Ghats. The Ghats on either side of this gap attain their maximum height in the hill groups of the Nilgiris and the Anamalais, the lofty Palnis being an offshoot of the latter. Another less important offshoot of the Ghats is found in the Varushanad and Andipatti ranges in the south. The other prominent hill groups comprise the Javadis, the Shevaroy, the Kalrayans and the Pachamalais which form a chain of low flat-topped hills.

Though a narrow strip, the Cauvery valley stretches across the region separating the hill groups north and south of it. According to an eminent geographer, the Cauvery delta presents some extremely distinctive physical and human features. The Cauvery is the most important river and cuts across the State. Most of the rivers run eastwards from the Western Ghats and are rain-fed. The valleys are broad and shallow and their curve of erosion is almost regular. The important rivers of the State are the Cauvery, Ponnaiyar, Palar, Vaigai and Tambaraparni.

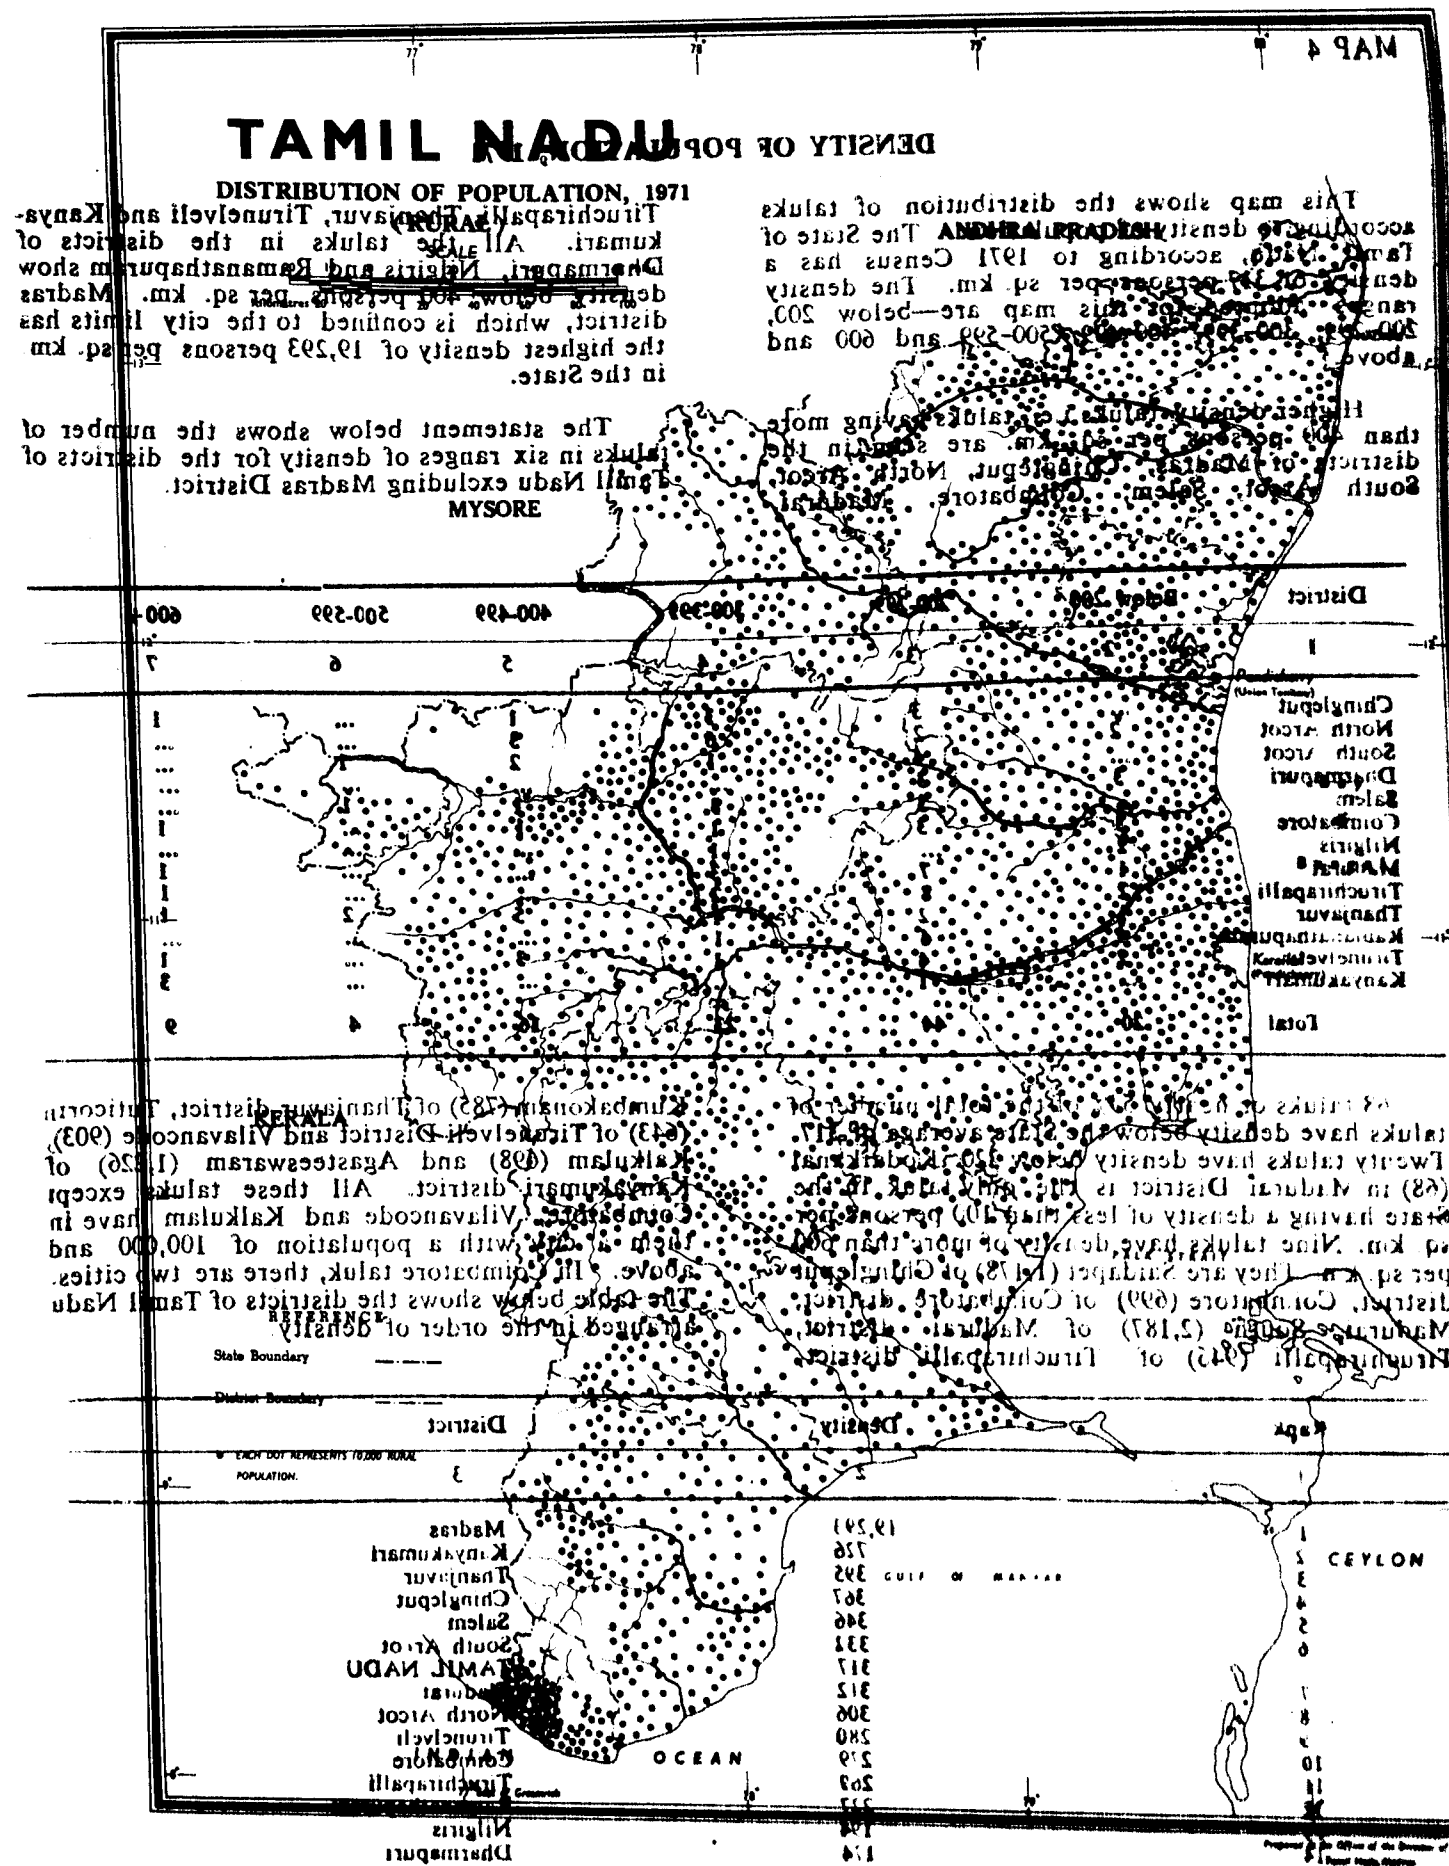

Typical coral reefs on the east coast occur at about 3 M. above sea level in the Pamban Island at the head of the Gulf of Manaar. Along the coast, there is a narrow belt of sand dunes which rise to about 10 M. on the Tuticorin Coast. Farther south in Tirunelveli District, red sand hills locally known as 'teris' rise to over 50 M. behind the sands. The rest of the plains is mainly, alluvial, formed by the fast-flowing rivers, of which Cauvery in the north and Tambaraparni in the south deserve mention. Both these rivers have built up deltas at their mouths. The head of the Cauvery delta is just below the island of "Srirangam" where the river Coleroon branches. From the head to the mouth of all its tributaries, the delta covers about 8,000 sq. km. and with its tributaries, the Bhavani and Amaravathi, it is the most important canal irrigation area in the State.

DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION, 1971 (Rural)

This map gives a picture of the degree of concentration of rural population in Tamil Nadu. Rural Population has been indicated by dots, each dot representing 10,000 persons. The concentration of rural population is high in Vilavancode and Kalkulam taluks of Kanyakumari district. Generally, concentration of rural population is found along the course of the rivers flowing in the State. Madras district comprising the city of Madras is entirely urban. The rural population is very sparse or negligible in certain areas of North Arcot, Dharmapuri, Salem, Nilgiris, Coimbatore, Madurai, Tiruchirapalli and Kanyakumari districts and this is due to the presence of vast tracts of Reserved Forests and hills in those areas. The rural population of Tamil Nadu as per 1971 Census is 28,734,334 living in an area of 124,175.5 sq. km. and the density of rural population is 231 per sq. km.

DENSITY OF POPULATION, 1971

This map shows the distribution of taluks according to density of population. The State of Tamil Nadu, according to 1971 Census has a density of 317 persons per sq. km. The density ranges adopted for this map are—below 200, 200-299, 300-399, 400-499, 500-599 and 600 and above.

Higher density taluks i.e., taluks having more than 400 persons per sq. km. are seen in the districts of Madras, Chingleput, North Arcot, South Arcot, Salem, Coimbatore, Madurai, Tiruchirapalli, Thanjavur, Tirunelveli and Kanyakumari. All the taluks in the districts of Dharmapuri, Nilgiris and Ramanathapuram show density below 400 persons per sq. km. Madras district, which is confined to the city limits has the highest density of 19,293 persons per sq. km. in the State.

The statement below shows the number of taluks in six ranges of density for the districts of Tamil Nadu excluding Madras District.

DISTRIBUTION OF TOWNS (CLASS I & II)

This map indicates the names and location of Class-I and Class-II towns in Tamil Nadu. The size of the circles is proportionate to population. The population of each town is also shown in the map. Class-I town has a population of 100,000 and above while a Class-II town has a population ranging from 50,000 to 99,999.

There are 17 towns in Class-I and 27 towns in Class-II in Tamil Nadu. Dharmapuri is the only district where there are no Class-I or Class-II towns. Out of the urban population of 12,464,834 as per 1971 Census, 5,459,942 live in 17 Class-I towns and 1,717,651 in 27 Class-II towns. Class-I towns have in them 43.80% of the total urban population of the State while Class-II towns have 13.78% of the urban population. The districtwise figures of the towns coming under Class-I and II are furnished in the table below.

DISTRIBUTION OF TOWNS, 1971 (Classes III to VI)

This map shows the distribution of towns of Classes III to VI in this State. The names of the towns have been indicated against spheres drawn proportionate to the population. Class-III towns come in the population range of 20,000 to 49,999, Class-IV 10,000 to 19,999, Class-V 5,000 to 9,999 and Class-VI under 5,000. It may be seen from the map that the districts of South Arcot, Dharmapuri, Nilgiris and Kanyakumari have smaller number of towns belonging to these Classes. In the other districts, the towns belonging to these Classes are more.

Out of 12,464,834 persons living in the urban areas of Tamil Nadu, 2,600,185 live in Class-III towns, 1,683,993 in Class-IV towns, 717,820 in Class-V towns and 285,243 in Class-VI towns. CHRONOLOGICAL DISTRIBUTION OF TOWNS, 1901—71

This map shows the distribution of towns of 1971 in Tamil Nadu by the year of origin. In 1971 Census, there are 439 towns. The towns have been divided into 3 categories with reference to population—(1) above 50,000, (2) between 20,000 and 50,000 and (3) below 20,000. The three categories of towns have been shown in the map by proportionate circles with the location of the town as central point. The circles have been shaded by different hatchings (8) to denote the Census Year in which the place was first declared as Census Town. For places that were declared as towns at any of the earlier census but subsequently lost its urban status for a certain period and again regained urban status in a subsequent census, the shading of the circle has been done to indicate the year of origin as well as year in which the place regained urban status with a guide number in the middle of the unhatched portion. There are four such cases.

Out of 439 towns in 1971 Census, 150 places were declared as towns for the first time. The statement below shows the number of towns districtwise by year of origin.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISIONS OF TAMIL NADU

The State comprises of 14 districts viz., Madras, Chingleput, North Arcot, South Arcot, Dharmapuri, Salem, Coimbatore, Nilgiris, Madurai, Tiruchirapalli, Thanjavur, Ramanathapuram, Tirunelveli and Kanyakumari. Dharmapuri is a new district, a part of the former Salem district which came into existence during the decade, 1961-71.

Madras district is conterminous with Madras City and limited to the 120 Corporation Divisions. The other districts have been divided into smaller administrative units known as taluks. There are 116 taluks in the thirteen districts. The State headquarters is Madras.

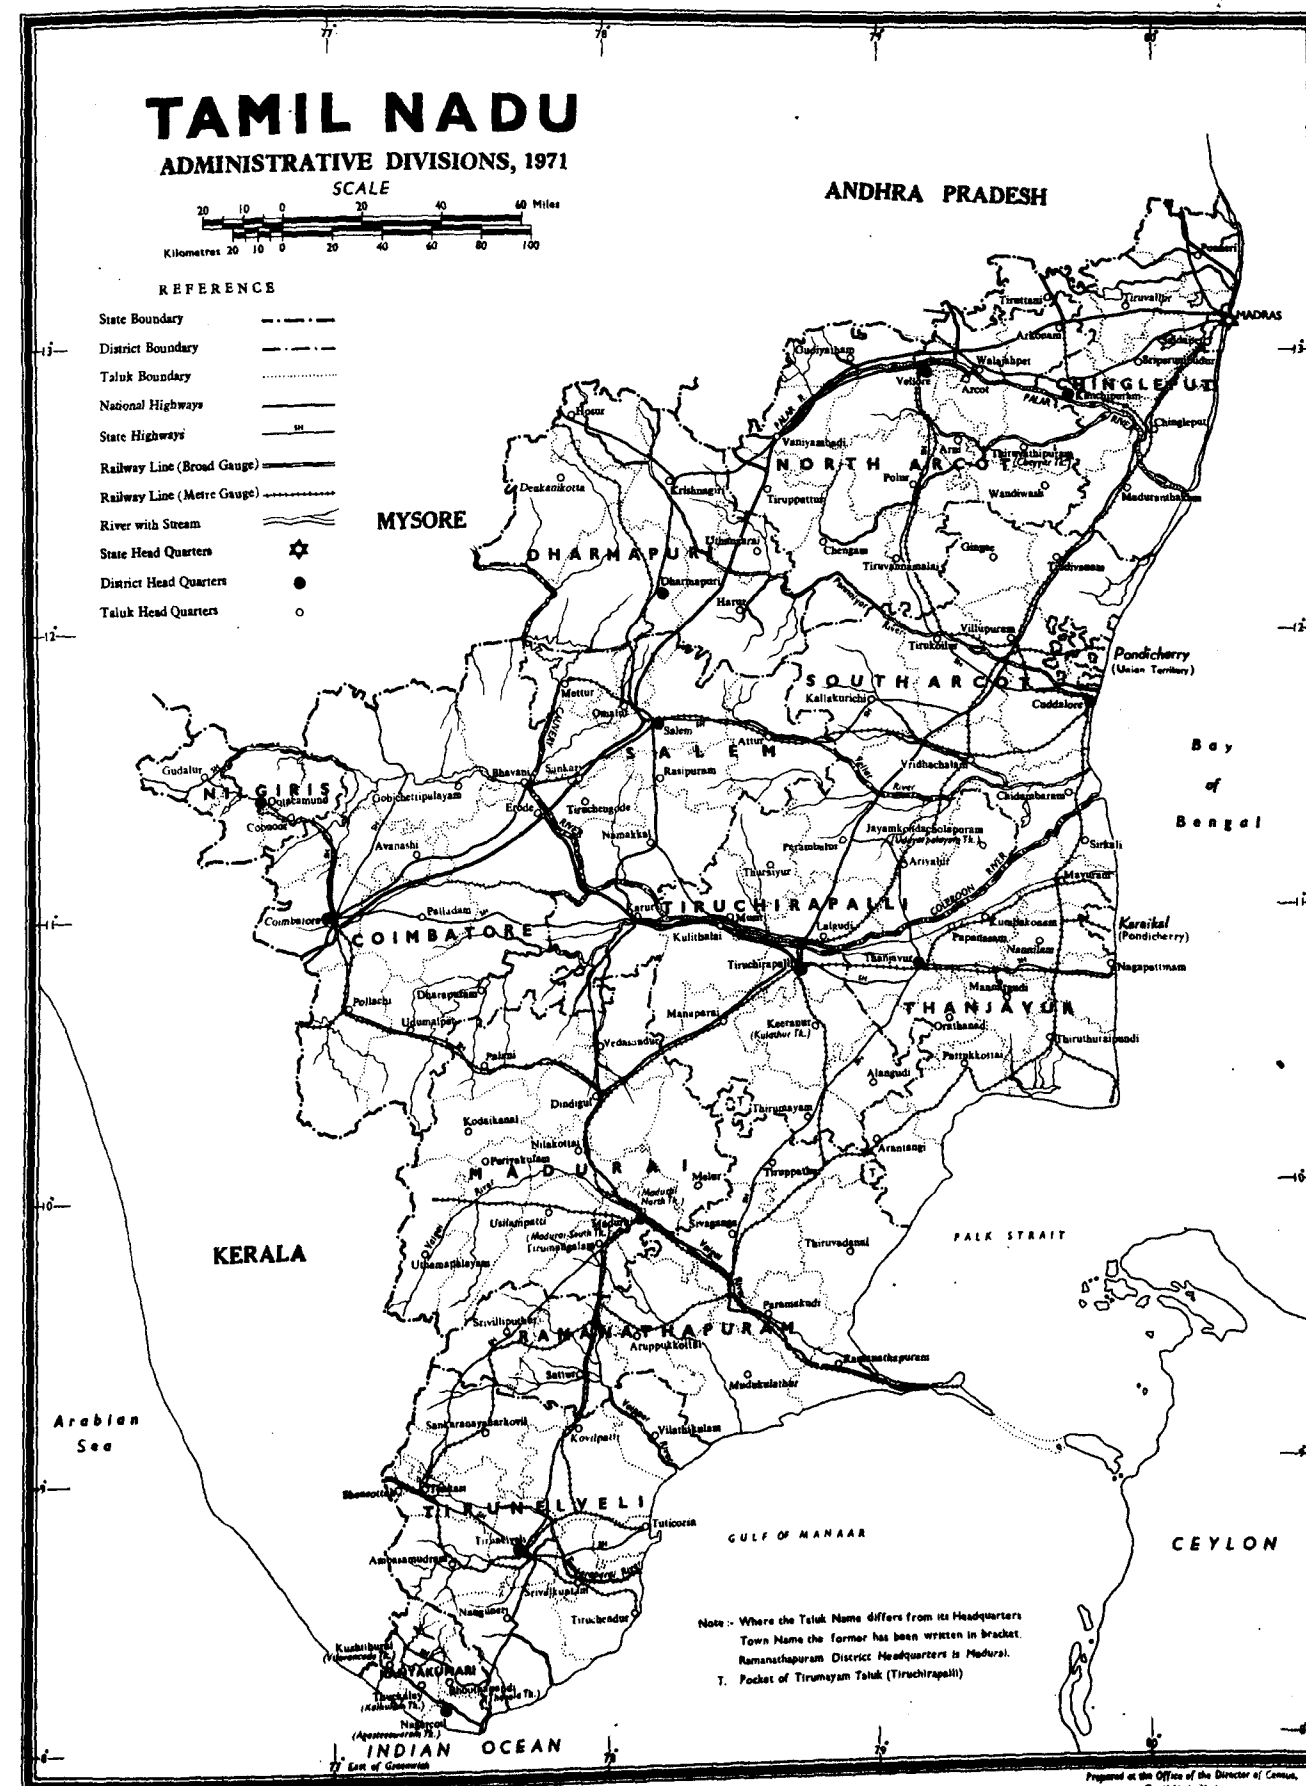

In the map, district and taluk headquarters have been indicated with suitable symbols. The district headquarters are located in towns bearing the same name in all the districts except Chingleput, North Arcot, South Arcot, Nilgiris, Ramanathapuram and Kanyakumari. Kanchipuram is the headquarters for Chingleput district, Vellore for North Arcot, Cuddalore for South Arcot, Ootacamund for Nilgiris, Madurai (of Madurai district) for Ramanathapuram, and Nagercoil for Kanyakumari. In the case of taluk headquarters, in most of the cases, the name of headquarters tallies with the name of the taluk. They differ in the cases of the Cheyyar, Udayarpalayam, Kulathur, Vilavancode, Kalkulam, Thovala and Agasteeswaram taluks.

The table below shows the area, population number of taluks, number of inhabited villages and number of towns in each of the districts of the State.
