HISTORICAL NOTES

ON THE

EARLY DAYS OF THE PLANTING INDUSTRY OF SOUTHERN INDIA

The history of introduction of planting into the Districts of Southern India still remains unwritten and I simply give below those notes published in the first edition of the Directory with a few additions which have come to my notice during the year.

The commencement of the European planting industry in South India was with coffee. The date when coffee was first introduced into India, probably from Abyssinia or Arabia, is unknown, but popular legend says it was brought from Mecca by a Moslem pilgrim named Baba-ud-din in 1600 to Chikmagalur, and that the hills on which he planted the seven seeds he brought, were named after him. Ukers, in his recently published book on coffee, states: 'A better authority gives the date as 1695.' He fails however to quote his authority, and as it is an authenticated fact that coffee seedlings were taken from Cannanore in 1696 to Kedawoeng in Java and planted in the garden of the Governor-General, William Outchoorn, the date 1695 would seem to be too late to fix for the introduction of the plant into India. The first plants introduced into Java were almost immediately afterwards destroyed by floods, and a second consignment of coffee plants was made from 'Malabar' to Java by Henricus Zwaardenkroon in 1699 and became the progenitors of all Arabica coffee in the Dutch East Indies.

The next mention of coffee, which I have come across is in the Letters from Malabar written by the Rev. Jacob Visscher, Chaplain at Cochin, from December 1717 to December 1723. He writes:

'The coffee shrub is planted in gardens for pleasure and yields plenty of fruit, which attains a proper degree of ripeness. But it has not refined taste of the Mocha coffee . . . an entire new plantation has been laid out in Ceylon.'

In 1760 Jaoa Alberto Castello Bramo took to Rio Janeiro coffee plants from Goa and thus started the great Coffee industry of Brazil.

Although coffee is mentioned among the imports into Cochin by Adrian Moens in his Administration Report of 1781, the total export from Cannanore in 1799 was according to Buchanan in the Diary of his Journey from Madras through Mysore, Canara and Malabar, 'one box' and in 1800 '6 chests and 6 maunds'.

The earliest reference to the planting of an estate, which I have found is contained in a letter written by the Abbe Dubois to Colonel Miller, Resident of Mysore, under date 15th September, 1805, which reads as follows:

'About ten years ago, when I was in Baramahal, Colonel Read, Collector in that part of the country, undertook to make a large plantation at Trippatur by means of an American he sent for from the coast and to whom he gave a monthly pay of 25 pagodas. The plantation I saw many times had thriven well during the first year and promised success, but the manager proving a man without conduct, Colonel Read was soon disgusted of his services and dismissed him. At the same time having found no one to replace him and perceiving besides that the produce of the kind of cultivation would in no case equal the expenses necessary, in that part of the country, the plantation was suffered to perish.'

The first company to be formed was the 'Assam Company', founded in 1839, but it was not till 1852 that it was proved that tea from India could compete in the London market with that produced in China. From that date development in North India was rapid and in 1868 exports reached 8,000,000 lb.

In the South however very little progress was made, although tea planting on a commercial scale was commenced on the Nilgiris in 1853 and taken up in earnest in Ceylon in 1875. Thirty years ago the area under tea did not probably exceed 3,000 acres on the Nilgiris, one estate of some 250 acres in the Wynad, 315 acres on the Kanan Devans, perhaps, 5,000 acres in the rest of Travancore. Of the 116,000 acres in Southern India at least 105,000 have been planted since 1893.

Until the end of the nineteenth century rubber cultivation in India had been little more than experimental. In the North trials had been made with Ficus elastica, in the South with Manihot glaziovii (Ceara), but neither were commercially important. A few trees of the para variety (Hevea Brasiliensis) had been grown at Plantation House, Calicut, and on the Punnur Estate at the foot of the Tambracherry Ghat. It was not till 1902 that the Periyar Estate at Thattakad in Travancore was opened and within the next fifteen years practically all the present area was planted.

It was very shortly after this that the East India Company opened an experimental plantation at Anjarakandi, near Tellicherry under Mr. Murdock Brown to whom they handed it over in 1799. The coffee there is mentioned by Buchanan in 1800 as doing well but as not yet being in bearing.

Coffee was at this time cultivated on the Bababudin Hills and to be obtained in the Mysore and Bangalore bazaars at the time Seringapatam was taken in 1799. It later became a monopoly of the Mysore Durbar who took over from the ryot half his crop. In 1823 the Mysore Durbar rented to Messrs. Parry & Company its half share for Rs. 4,270 per annum for ten years.

Dr. Wallich and Mr. Gordon had begun coffee planting in Bengal in 1823 and Lord Amherst's Government was anxious to encourage the enterprise. On the 7th May, 1824, Government issued a Resolution as follows:

'As far as judgment can in such cases be formed, until trial be made, there appears to be abundant reason to conclude that the cultivation of coffee may be successfully prosecuted in this country on an extensive scale and that the article may indeed be produced at a cost considerably below that which the lowest price hitherto known in the market would amply reimburse, while at the same time there is scarcely anything of which the consumption is likely to experience so large an augmentation in the event of any material reduction in price.'

It proceeds to point out the necessity of those undertaking the enterprise having an assured tenure for a considerable period and although natives might be expected later to take up the work, in its early stages it was necessary to allow scope to European enterprise and intelligence.

In 1825 Capt. Bevan of the 27th Regiment, E.I.C., Madras Native Infantry, took over charge of the garrison at Manantoddy in North Wynaad and very shortly afterwards gave his attention to the introduction of the cultivation of coffee into the district. A few plants given him by 'Anjarakandi Brown' thrived so well and proved so productive that he recommended the more general introduction of the plant into Wynaad, and Mr. W. Sheffield, Collector of Malabar, sent quantities of seed to be distributed among the native inhabitants. However, owing to the want of knowledge as to the cultivation necessary and neglect, that experiment proved a failure. Capt. Bevan writes however:

'I extended my plantation considerably while I remained in the station on ascertaining from impartial and good judges (especially Bishop Turner, who had tasted the coffee) that it possessed the flavour and aroma of the finest Mocha berries.'

What the extent of his plantation was, it is impossible to trace, but he would certainly seem to have been the pioneer of the industry on the Western Ghats. He left Manantoddy in 1831. Some time between 1830 and 1840 two members of the firm of Messrs. Parry & Company, passing Manantoddy on their way to the Bababudins were so struck with the coffee they found there, that at their suggestion the 'Pew' Estate was opened on the hill where the forest offices now stand, and before 1840 Messrs. Glasson, Richmond, Morris and others had opened estates nearby.

About 1830 Mr. Cockburn is stated to have commenced an estate on the Shevaroyis. Major Bevan mentions that in 1839 he met Mr. Fischer at Salem, who had acquired several thousand acres for the purpose of opening on those hills.

It is often stated that 'Tom' Cannon first opened an estate near Chikmagalur in 1830, but I think investigation will show that it was some seven or eight years later and that the first European to actually plant coffee in Mysore was either Mr. Jolly of Messrs. Parry & Company or Mr. H. Stokes of the Mysore Commission. The latter in his Report, dated 19th May, 1838, says: 'I made a small plantation at Shimoga in August, 1835 and it commenced to bear last September.' Incidentally in the same Report appears the first reference which I have found to bore, it states: 'In very dry seasons many of the trees die and snap off suddenly close to the ground.'

In 1843 Fred Green started planting in the Munzerabad District and two or three years later Fred Meppen commenced the Yemmāy Doddi Estate near Kadur.

In 1840 Dr. Magrath, the Residency Surgeon at Mysore, sent coffee plants from there to Messrs. Lascelles & Pope on the Nilgiris, who opened the Hardathorai Estate at Kotagiri, and about the same time Mr. M. D. Cockburn of the Madras Civil Service opened the Balahardar Estate on the Kotagiri Ghat and in the year following Bonnahutti, commonly known as Hulical, was commenced.

In 1854 Mr. Fowler opened the first estate in Coorg a few miles from Mercara. In 1855 Mr. H. Mann and Donald Stewart opened on the Sampagi Ghat. Mr. G. M. Martin, the acting Superintendent of Coorg, in the course of his Report, dated 18th June, 1856, mentions that there were only two European planters then in the District, 'whose plantations have not yet come into full bearing'.

The first estate opened in the Nelliampathies was 'Chandramalla' in the early sixties. 'Sheirnelly', which still exists as a Rubber Estate, was opened in 1866.

Mr. A. W. Turner commenced opening in the Kanan Devans in 1879-80, but this is bringing us down to recent times.

To turn to tea. In 1832 Dr. Christie, a surgeon on the Madras establishment, was placed on special duty to conduct meteorological and geological inquiries in Southern India; in a very short time he applied for a grant of land in the Nilgiris as he desired to experiment with the culture of tea, coffee and mulberry and at the same time for the exclusive privilege of making ice for sale in the Presidency. He died in November of that year and of his tea plants three were given to the Commandant of Ootacamund, Colonel Crewe, who put them down in the garden of Crewe Hall, others were distributed to various parts of the hills for trial.

The authorities at Kew had as long ago as 1788 urged that the planting of tea should be undertaken in India and in 1834, unaware that the plant was indigenous in Assam, Lord William Bentinck sent a commission to China to obtain seed and expert tea makers; the result was the distribution of plants to many parts of Southern India for experiment. Those on the Nilgiris were planted chiefly at the experimental farm at Kaity, cared for by Colonel Crewe and M. Perrottet, a French botanist, and were reported in 1839 to be growing luxuriantly, but it was another fifteen years before attempts were made to grow tea on the Nilgiris on a commercial scale.

That they did well elsewhere is shown from the following quotation from Major Bevan, who wrote in 1839:

'Since I left Wynaad, the cultivation of the tea plant has been introduced and with very reasonable prospect of success. However the discovery of the tea growing wild in Assam renders its culture in Wynaad less important than it would otherwise have been.'

And the Report of General Cullen, Resident of Travancore, who, writing in October, 1859, states:

'The tree thrives well in Travancore territory, both at the level of the sea and altitudes of 1,800 and 3,200 feet. I first met with it in the coffee plantation of Mr. Huxam in the year 1841, on the route from Quilon to Courtalam, at a factory called Caldoorty, about forty miles inland and six or seven hundred feet above the sea. There are some ten or fifteen trees from 20 to 25 feet high; they were, I believe, introduced during the Government of Mr. Lushington, who, I believe, also introduced those formerly at Kaity in the Nilgiris. I procured plants from Mr. Huxam and put them down in an experiment spice garden which I established some twelve years ago at 1,800 feet on a hill in the south of Travancore near Oodagherry. They are now trees of 20 to 30 feet high, growing vigorously; and I have four hundred plants procured from their seed growing on another hill near the Tinnevely frontier, at an elevation of 3,200 feet. There can be no doubt therefore of the facility of its introduction, although from the moderate altitude and great atmospheric moisture of the localities hitherto selected, they may possibly be considered to grow more luxuriantly than is desirable; but which, if a defect at all, can probably be easily remedied by selecting ground more to the eastward, at greater altitudes, and with less humid climate.'

I am Tea ...

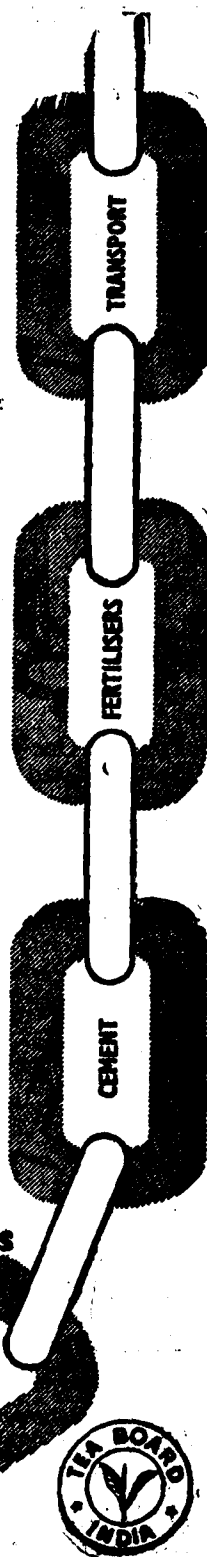

I bind many industries together

I feel proud that I am of service to the several industries allied to me. For instance, to pack my weight running into several millions of pounds, I need six million plywood chests every year. Practically this entire quantity is now being made from Indian material and by Indians, thereby giving employment to thousands of my countrymen - and what is even more important saving several lakhs of rupees every year which would otherwise be spent in buying tea chests from abroad. Ceramics, too, have to keep pace with my increasing popularity by making millions of tea pots, cups and saucers for homes, hotels, clubs, offices, etc.

Again, coal, cement, fertilisers, machinery are constantly in demand by the tea gardens where I grow and by the tea factories where I am given the familiar form by which I am daily recognised. Then, there is the question of providing transport. When it comes to sending me down to the ports, I need the services of railways, boats, airways and lorries. Think of the numbers of men who are employed in such services and who have come to depend on my prosperity.

So, I am the greatest ally of the several industries with whose fate I am inextricably linked.

I am Tea - I promote other industries

PLANTING ASSOCIATIONS, AGRICULTURAL BOARDS, DEPARTMENTS, ETC.

(A) THE UNITED PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION OF SOUTHERN INDIA (FOUNDED 1893)

Headquarters Office: 'Glenview', P.O. Box No. 11, Coonoor, Nilgiris.
Telegraphic Address: 'UPASI'. Phone Nos.: Secretary: 2370; Office: 2261.

The Association was founded as the result of a Conference between the different Planters' Associations held at Bangalore in 1893. The first General Meeting was held at the same place in 1894. The chief object for which it was established was to promote and protect, in all parts of the world, the interests of the various planting industries in Southern India.

Up till 1937, the Membership consisted of Incorporated District Planters' Associations and companies, firms and persons connected with and interested in planting. From April 1937, the Membership was reconstituted so as to make the Association mainly an Association of Proprietors, and the Membership consisted of three categories, namely, Ordinary Members, Association Members and Firm Members. All work connected with the three main products were controlled by members representing those products, and the Association was divided into three Sections:

- (a) The Tea Product Section,
- (b) The Rubber Product Section; and
- (c) The Coffee and Minor Product Section.

each of which had its own Chairman and Committee.

To deal with matters affecting the Plantation Industry as a whole, there was an Executive Committee composed of representatives of the three Sections, the President and Vice-President, and co-opted members.

With effect from the 1st April 1955 the constitution of the UPASI was once again changed in such a way that it became a federation of the four State Associations of Madras, Travancore-Cochin, Mysore and Coorg. The State Associations are autonomous bodies dealing with matters pertaining to their respective territories, and the UPASI is a central co-ordinating and advisory body. There are now six categories of direct membership viz., Estate Members, Small Estate Members, Association Members, Firm Members, Retired Planter Members and Honorary life Members. There is an Executive Committee primarily to look after administrative and labour relations matters, and it is composed of representatives of the four State Associations and Small Estate Members; and a Planting Committee primarily to look after product-wise matters which were formerly dealt with by the three Product Section Committees. The Planting Committee also is composed of representatives of State Associations and Small Estate Members.

The Association is represented in London by the South Indian Association in London. Since the institution of the new Tea, Coffee and Rubber Boards the Association is not directly represented on these bodies but members of the Association have been elected or appointed to various seats on them.

An Information Service, the affairs of which are managed by an Information Service Sub-Committee, has also been established at UPASI headquarters with effect from the 1st April 1955.

NATURAL - - ENEMIES

There is Protection

Timber treated with Hardiproof is ever safer than iron and steel as in the long run the latter will be subjected to corrosion. Neither insects nor fungi can attack Hardiproofed timber.

Hardiproof not only protects wood and fabrics from attack by the vicious group of insects, but will destroy them in already infested materials.

Hardiproof is—Insoluble in water. Attacks White Ants. Prevents rot in timber. Can be painted over. Applied by dipping, brushing, spraying or by pressure treatment.

A SOUVENIR OF SIXTY YEARS

UPASI

1893-1953

THE above is the title of a book which has been produced to commemorate the DIAMOND JUBILEE of THE UNITED PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION OF SOUTHERN INDIA.

THE book has been designed as a readable volume and is in no way a mere record of crops, acreages and mundane planting statistics. It contains a history of the UPASI portraying its setbacks and triumphs through the years and into this fascinating story the human side of the Association's development since 1893 has been carefully woven.

THERE are numerous articles dealing with the origination and growth of the Tea, Coffee and Rubber areas in Southern India and in addition there are sketches on sport and games in the planting districts. Many interesting plates and a frontispiece in colour comprise the illustrations.

THE Souvenir has been written, compiled and edited primarily by Planters but some contributions are from the pens of men who have served the Planting Industry politically, commercially and administratively over a long period of time.

THE volume is attractively produced and in binding, format and matter will, we are confident, form a worthy SOUVENIR OF SIXTY YEARS.

Copies are available with :—

THE SECRETARY, UPASI, COONOR

at a price of Rs. 15/- per copy, inclusive of postage

TEA STAINS EASILY REMOVED

"Tea Garden Saf Karo" is a special colourless and odourless variety of Saf Karo, and this is the type supplied to Tea factories unless the coloured form is specified. May we send you a sample for trial, together with full instructions?
