Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask if these opinions were expressed by these Honourable gentlemen as memoranda for the Bengal Civil Service Association ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The suggestions contained in that circular were rejected by the Bengal Civil Service Association.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government, therefore, propose to take no action against these gentlemen whose opinions clearly show that they are against even the reactionary Government of India Act, now placed on the Statute-book ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : We do not punish people for holding private opinions about certain subjects.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Even though such opinions are expressed publicly ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No ; they were expressed privately.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Not even under the Press Act, can you punish them ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Only if they are published.

ABOLITION OF THE EXISTING FRANCHISE ENJOYED BY INDIANS IN FIJI.

216. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the fact that a proposal is on foot in Fiji to abolish the existing franchise enjoyed by the Indians there ;
- (b) if hereafter they will be represented on the legislature by the nominees of the Government ;
- (c) whether the Government of India were consulted in this matter, and what their opinion was ; and
- (d) whether Government propose to start enquiries in the matter and take steps to see that the legitimate rights of Indians are protected ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) to (d). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given by me on the 5th September, 1935, to Mr. Avinashilingam Chettiar's question No. 149.

APPOINTMENT OF A BOARD OF NON-OFFICIAL VISITORS TO THE ANDAMANS.

217. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the date on which they invited Dewan Bahadur Gopathy Narayanasamy Chettiar to visit Port Blair in the Andamans ;
- (b) the reasons why they invited him to do so ;
- (c) whether Government met the cost of his trip to and fro, and if so, why ;
- (d) whether this visit was planned after the letter of Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena to Government on this subject ;

(e) whether Government are proceeding with their scheme to appoint a board of non-official visitors to the Andamans ; and

(f) if so, at what stage the matter stands and when it will be completed ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) to (c). The Government of India did not invite Diwan Bahadur G. Narayanaswami Chetti to visit Port Blair. In September, 1933, he asked for permission to visit the Andamans. The permission was granted in November, 1933, as a special case, as the Diwan Bahadur has taken an active interest in prison administration and prison reform in India. Circumstances prevented him from paying the visit till April, 1935. The expenses of the journey to and from Port Blair were paid by the Diwan Bahadur himself.

(d) No.

(e) and (f). The question is under consideration. I hope to discuss it further with the Chief Commissioner who is likely to visit Delhi during the cold weather.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know what are the general principles on which permission is given or refused to gentlemen who want to visit Port Blair ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not know if there are any general principles.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why permission was refused to a Member of this Honourable House, while permission was given to a Member of another House ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The reason why permission was refused to a Member of this House is the subject of a later question.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Why was this special treatment accorded to Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chetty to visit the Andamans ? Is it because that he has been notorious in keeping down the amenities of " C " class prisoners in Madras ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the Diwan Bahadur is a " friendly " person to Government, as there are friendly Presses ? Is it because of his being a friend of the Government of India that he was permitted to visit Port Blair ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He is a friend of mine, although I was not a Member of the Government at the time when permission was given to him.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether Government have perused his description of Port Blair as an Utopia, and do they propose to transfer their headquarters to Port Blair for some time ?

Mr. F. E. James : May I ask, with the permission of my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, whether it is not a fact that Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chetty has for years past been interested in the general question of prison administration and is, in fact, one of the prime movers of Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society both in Madras and in Delhi and Simla ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The Honourable Member is giving information, and not asking a question.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : He is also a friend of the Madras Government.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes, Sir. The Diwan Bahadur is a well known authority on prison administration, and prison reform. I think he was the founder of, or, at any rate, he was instrumental in founding, the Prisoners' Aid Society in Madras.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it not a fact that his is a faithful echo of " His Master's Voice " ?

POSSIBILITY OF GIVING WARNINGS TO THE PUBLIC ABOUT IMPENDING EARTHQUAKES.

218. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the question answered in the House of Commons about the possibility of giving warnings to the public about impending earthquakes ;

(b) whether Government have taken any action in the matter ; and

(c) if so, with what result ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The Government of India have consulted the Director General of Observatories whose opinion is that there is no practical method of giving warnings of impending earthquakes. He has, however, suggested that a special research organisation is needed to study earthquakes in India, and this suggestion is now under consideration.

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO PUBLIC ORGANISATIONS TO PROCEED TO QUETTA FOR EARTHQUAKE RELIEF WORK.

219. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether the President of the Indian National Congress appealed to the Viceroy and the Government of India to permit bonâ fide public organisations, including the Indian National Congress, to proceed to Quetta after the earthquake in order to help in giving relief ;

(b) whether such permission was given or was refused ; and

(c) if it was refused, the reasons why it was refused ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative.

(b) The permission was refused.

(c) The reasons for refusal were stated in paragraph 3 of the Communiqué issued to the Press on the 5th June, 1935, copies of which will be found in the Library.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Were there any political reasons for the refusal of permission, for example, that the Indian National Congress shall not be allowed to add to its prestige by doing humanitarian work in Quetta, as they did in Bihar, during the last earthquake there ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No reasons of that kind.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Were there any military reasons why strangers should not be allowed to see the havoc done by the earthquake in and around Quetta ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Not that I am aware of.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was this the reason—that the salvage work was stopped too early by Government, and, therefore, they did not want strangers and outsiders to come and see for themselves, in order to form their own conclusions, as to the right or wrong of having stopped the salvage work too early by Government ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not admit that the premises on which the Honourable Member's presumption is founded are correct.

ORGANISATION OF SUGAR MARKETING.

220. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the paper read by Mr. V. C. Bhatt before the Royal Society of Arts, London, on India's sugar industry ;
- (b) whether Government propose to take any steps for the better organisation of sugar marketing ;
- (c) whether a Sugar Bureau is proposed to be started for a self-supporting information service ; and
- (d) what other steps Government propose to take in this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) The Government of India are not aware of any paper read by Mr. ' V. C. Bhatt ' before the Royal Society of Arts, London. Presumably my Honourable friend came across a Tamil variant of B. C. Burt's. This officer has contributed a paper to the Journal of the Royal Society of London and Government have seen that.

(b) and (d). This matter has been taken up by the Indian Sugar Mills' Association and by the Indian Sugar Producers' Association. The Sugar Technologist, Imperial Council of Agricultural Research, has given them all the technical assistance required in the preparation of standards of Indian factory sugars, and is Chairman of a small committee set up by the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research for this purpose. Funds for the preparation of standards were provided by the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research. It is expected that these Standards which will be prepared annually, will be on sale shortly to all requiring them.

(c) A sugar Bureau has been in existence for many years. An Indian Trade Sugar Information Service on a self-supporting basis has been in operation since April, 1934, while a Sugar Cable Information Service, which is also self-supporting and which gives to subscribers information about sugar prices, production, crop prospects in foreign countries, has been functioning since 1922.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I plead guilty to the charge of reading Tamil pamphlets and newspapers. May I ask the Honourable Member whether these departments are on a permanent basis, or on a temporary basis ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am not quite sure to which departments my Honourable friend refers. The Imperial Council of Agricultural Research is a department on a permanent basis.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Although on a supplementary grant ! I am asking whether these research departments which my Honourable friend mentioned just now, in reply to part (c) of my question, are on a permanent basis, or on a temporary basis ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The position as regards that is that the Sugar Technologist who forms part of the Department of Imperial Council of Agricultural Research is, I believe, on contract. This particular Research into Sugar standards is only a temporary thing for two or three years, I believe.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Has the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research evolved a scheme for making India self-sufficient in the production of sugar ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not think that is the function of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research.

PROPOSAL TO ESTABLISH A SWADESHI AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY IN INDIA.

221. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether certain businessmen of Bombay, or any other place in India, approached the Government of India with regard to a proposal to start and establish a swadeshi automobile industry in India ;
- (b) what their reply to the request was ; and
- (c) what steps Government propose to take in this matter ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) No.

(b) and (c). Do not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if Government will apply to them the same standard as the Griggian standard that they must be self-sufficient five years hence, before they give them any facilities ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The question has not yet arisen.

RAISING OF NEW LOANS.

222. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they propose to raise any new loans this year ;
- (b) whether those loans will be raised in India or in England ; and
- (c) if the reply to part (a) be in the affirmative, what the terms and conditions will be ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : One sterling and one rupee loan have already been raised and the terms and results have been published in the Press. As regards the question of further loans I do not think it is in the public interest that I should make any statement.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government considering any proposals for raising loans for conversion purposes ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not quite know what the Honourable Member means. The whole debt programme of the Government of India is constantly under review and Government embark on conversions at the earliest moment when they are likely to give good results. It is a continuous process.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Apart from the maturing programme, are Government constantly considering the question of using the present low rates of interest in the money market, to give relief to the Indian tax-payer by way of conversion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Certainly, but, of course, each conversion is a question of the rights of the existing holders. You cannot force them out, you can only persuade them out ; and sometimes it is rather more expensive to persuade them than is worth while.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, why does not the Honourable Member consider the question of buying them out, and thus follow the right British precedent ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am certainly prepared to consider buying them out at any time when it gives favourable results.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What were the respective rates of interest paid on these two loans ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the London one was about 3.1/6 and the Indian one a shade under 3 1/4 ; that is including redemption.

RISE IN THE PRICE OF SILVER.

223. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have considered the situation arising out of the continued rise in the price of silver ;
- (b) whether they have considered the desirability and practicability of introducing the Government of India Rupee Securities on the London Stock Exchange ; and
- (c) what the precautions are, if any, which Government propose to take to see that the Rupee does not go out of circulation, and an inconvenient demand does not arise for the conversion of currency notes into silver rupees ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) It is not quite accurate to say that there has been a continued rise in the price of silver. During April the price rose from about Rs. 68 to Rs. 84 per 100 tolas. It has since dropped to something in the neighbourhood of Rs. 65.

(b) and (c). Government have naturally been keeping a close watch on events and will continue to do so but I cannot say now what action they will find it necessary to take in any particular situation.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the answer to clause (b), may I know whether Government have considered this particular suggestion of mine of introducing Rupee Securities on the London Stock Exchange ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : To be quite honest with the Honourable Member, I was not quite certain what the suggestion was, because the quotation of securities in other currencies on the London Stock Exchange is entirely a matter for the Committee of that Exchange.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government made a representation to that Committee ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why, Sir ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Because Government do not consider that it is necessary.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it not desirable ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think probably not.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government examined this question with any seriousness and with expert information, or is it case of off-hand opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It all depends on how the Honourable Member regards my opinion. If I am an expert, then it has been considered by an expert.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Unfortunately you are. But, with regard to the answer to clause (c), what steps have Government considered in connection with this matter ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not think I can answer that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any possibility of that kind ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a matter of opinion, and one opinion is obviously held by the Bombay Bullion Market.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the expert's opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the expert's opinions are in number equal to the number of experts.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the Finance Member's opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot give you that.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the quantity of silver sold by the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : There is a question on that later on.

DEFAMATORY PASSAGES ABOUT INDIANS IN A PUBLICATION ENTITLED "SOUVENIR PROGRAMME OF MALAYAN CELEBRATIONS".

224. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to a publication entitled "Souvenir Programme of Malayan Celebrations" of the Silver Jubilee of His Majesty the King, issued by Messrs. T. B. Rogers and Co., Ltd., and edited by James H. Martin :

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government considering any proposals for raising loans for conversion purposes ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not quite know what the Honourable Member means. The whole debt programme of the Government of India is constantly under review and Government embark on conversions at the earliest moment when they are likely to give good results. It is a continuous process.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Apart from the maturing programme, are Government constantly considering the question of using the present low rates of interest in the money market, to give relief to the Indian tax-payer by way of conversion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Certainly, but, of course, each conversion is a question of the rights of the existing holders. You cannot force them out, you can only persuade them out ; and sometimes it is rather more expensive to persuade them than is worth while.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, why does not the Honourable Member consider the question of buying them out, and thus follow the right British precedent ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am certainly prepared to consider buying them out at any time when it gives favourable results.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What were the respective rates of interest paid on these two loans ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the London one was about 3.1½ and the Indian one a shade under 3¼ ; that is including redemption.

RISE IN THE PRICE OF SILVER.

223. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have considered the situation arising out of the continued rise in the price of silver ;
- (b) whether they have considered the desirability and practicability of introducing the Government of India Rupee Securities on the London Stock Exchange ; and
- (c) what the precautions are, if any, which Government propose to take to see that the Rupee does not go out of circulation, and an inconvenient demand does not arise for the conversion of currency notes into silver rupees ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) It is not quite accurate to say that there has been a continued rise in the price of silver. During April the price rose from about Rs. 68 to Rs. 84 per 100 tolas. It has since dropped to something in the neighbourhood of Rs. 65.

(b) and (c). Government have naturally been keeping a close watch on events and will continue to do so but I cannot say now what action they will find it necessary to take in any particular situation.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the answer to clause (b), may I know whether Government have considered this particular suggestion of mine of introducing Rupee Securities on the London Stock Exchange ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : To be quite honest with the Honourable Member, I was not quite certain what the suggestion was, because the quotation of securities in other currencies on the London Stock Exchange is entirely a matter for the Committee of that Exchange.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government made a representation to that Committee ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why, Sir ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Because Government do not consider that it is necessary.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it not desirable ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think probably not.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government examined this question with any seriousness and with expert information, or is it case of off-hand opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It all depends on how the Honourable Member regards my opinion. If I am an expert, then it has been considered by an expert.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Unfortunately you are. But, with regard to the answer to clause (c), what steps have Government considered in connection with this matter ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not think I can answer that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any possibility of that kind ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a matter of opinion, and one opinion is obviously held by the Bombay Bullion Market.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the expert's opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the expert's opinions are in number equal to the number of experts.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the Finance Member's opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot give you that.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the quantity of silver sold by the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : There is a question on that later on.

DEFAMATORY PASSAGES ABOUT INDIANS IN A PUBLICATION ENTITLED "SOUVENIR PROGRAMME OF MALAYAN CELEBRATIONS".

224. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to a publication entitled "Souvenir Programme of Malayan Celebrations" of the Silver Jubilee of His Majesty the King, issued by Messrs. T. B. Rogers and Co., Ltd., and edited by James H. Martin ;

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government considering any proposals for raising loans for conversion purposes ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not quite know what the Honourable Member means. The whole debt programme of the Government of India is constantly under review and Government embark on conversions at the earliest moment when they are likely to give good results. It is a continuous process.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Apart from the maturing programme, are Government constantly considering the question of using the present low rates of interest in the money market, to give relief to the Indian tax-payer by way of conversion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Certainly, but, of course, each conversion is a question of the rights of the existing holders. You cannot force them out, you can only persuade them out ; and sometimes it is rather more expensive to persuade them than is worth while.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, why does not the Honourable Member consider the question of buying them out, and thus follow the right British precedent ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am certainly prepared to consider buying them out at any time when it gives favourable results.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What were the respective rates of interest paid on these two loans ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the London one was about 3.1/6 and the Indian one a shade under 3 1/4 ; that is including redemption.

RISE IN THE PRICE OF SILVER.

223. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have considered the situation arising out of the continued rise in the price of silver ;

(b) whether they have considered the desirability and practicability of introducing the Government of India Rupee Securities on the London Stock Exchange ; and

(c) what the precautions are, if any, which Government propose to take to see that the Rupee does not go out of circulation, and an inconvenient demand does not arise for the conversion of currency notes into silver rupees ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) It is not quite accurate to say that there has been a continued rise in the price of silver. During April the price rose from about Rs. 68 to Rs. 84 per 100 tolas. It has since dropped to something in the neighbourhood of Rs. 65.

(b) and (c). Government have naturally been keeping a close watch on events and will continue to do so but I cannot say now what action they will find it necessary to take in any particular situation.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the answer to clause (b), may I know whether Government have considered this particular suggestion of mine of introducing Rupee Securities on the London Stock Exchange ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : To be quite honest with the Honourable Member, I was not quite certain what the suggestion was, because the quotation of securities in other currencies on the London Stock Exchange is entirely a matter for the Committee of that Exchange.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government made a representation to that Committee ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why, Sir ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Because Government do not consider that it is necessary.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it not desirable ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think probably not.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government examined this question with any seriousness and with expert information, or is it case of off-hand opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It all depends on how the Honourable Member regards my opinion. If I am an expert, then it has been considered by an expert.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Unfortunately you are. But, with regard to the answer to clause (c), what steps have Government considered in connection with this matter ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not think I can answer that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any possibility of that kind ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a matter of opinion, and one opinion is obviously held by the Bombay Bullion Market.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the expert's opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the expert's opinions are in number equal to the number of experts.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the Finance Member's opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot give you that.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the quantity of silver sold by the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : There is a question on that later on.

DEFAMATORY PASSAGES ABOUT INDIANS IN A PUBLICATION ENTITLED "SOUVENIR PROGRAMME OF MALAYAN CELEBRATIONS".

224. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to a publication entitled "Souvenir Programme of Malayan Celebrations" of the Silver Jubilee of His Majesty the King, issued by Messrs. T. B. Rogers and Co., Ltd., and edited by James H. Martin ;

- (b) whether their attention has been drawn to the defamatory passages about Indians in that publication ; and
- (c) whether Government propose to proscribe the book or take any other steps in order to prevent such defamation ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) As the Honourable Member is probably aware a representation against the passages referred to by him was made on behalf of the Indian community in Malaya to the Government of the Colony. In Government's reply, which was widely published, His Excellency the Governor expressed, on behalf of the general public, his profound regret that the reputation of the Indian community should have been subjected to such an odious and unjustified attack. The publishers also agreed to expunge the offending passages from the unsold copies of the publication. The Government of India were advised by their Agent in Malaya that no further action was necessary on their part and they accepted this advice.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to clause (c), I got no answer. May I know whether this Government propose to take any steps to proscribe that book in India ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Government of India are not aware that any copies of this book have actually reached this country. Their information is that this was a publication of entirely local interest printed exclusively for local circulation.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But have Government considered the possibility of this book being introduced into India, and do they proscribe books only after they arrive here, and never before ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Government of India consider it extremely unlikely that a supplement to a newspaper of purely local interest will reach this country. If my Honourable friend has information to the contrary in his possession, I shall be very glad to bring to the notice of the department concerned the question of restrictive action.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why my Honourable friend is answering this question when the Department concerned is not answering it ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am speaking on behalf of the Department of Education, Health and Lands, which is primarily concerned with Indians overseas.

RATE-WAR BETWEEN THE BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY AND THE AGARWAL STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.

†225. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have received any representation from Mr. Ganga Singh, M.L.C., and Mr. S. C. Bhattacharjee, editor of the Rangoon Mail, about the rate-war started by the B. I. S. N. Steam Navigation Company against its new rival, the Agarwal Steam Navigation Company ; and

†For answer to this question, see answer to question No. 200.

- (b) whether they propose to interfere, in the larger interests of the public, and stop this rate-war, and reduce the passage fares between India and the Rangoon ports to the economic level prevailing immediately before the war ?

TRANSFERS FROM THE BRITISH SERVICES TO THE INDIAN ARMY.

226. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether it has been decided to re-open the transfers from the British Services to the Indian Army, which had been closed for the last four years ;
- (b) whether officers commissioned between 1921—30 will be accepted for transfer ; and
- (c) whether this arrangement will entail extra cost to the Indian Exchequer, and if so, how much ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there no proposal to transfer more Indian senior officers now, than before, to the Indian army ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Wherefrom ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : From the British army ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There are no Indian officers in the British army.

APPOINTMENT OF DELIMITATION COMMITTEES.

227. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they are aware that Delimitation Committees have been appointed by Madras and by other provinces ;
- (b) whether the Government of India were consulted in this matter ; and
- (c) what the functions and powers of these Delimitation Committees are ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) Yes.

(b) No.

(c) The functions of these Committees are advisory and relate to matters pertaining to the delimitation of constituencies and connected electoral points referred to in the terms of reference to the Indian Delimitation Committee in respect of the future Legislatures.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if these Provincial Governments have appointed these delimitation committees, without any reference to the Government of India at all ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have answered the question whether the Government of India were consulted in this matter in the negative.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Does my Honourable friend draw a distinction between consultation and reference ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : What is exactly meant by reference ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I think my Honourable friend knows it better than I do.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : We were not consulted.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Were you informed about it ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Yes, we were.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : And what was your answer ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The answer was acknowledgment. It is a matter for the provincial committees to decide. We gave them no directions, and that is why I said that we were not consulted.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do the Government of India contemplate varieties of voting and constituencies in the various provinces, and do they leave absolute discretion to the provinces to evolve fancy franchises, fancy votes, and fancy constituencies ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I object to all these insinuations in the question about fancy this and fancy that, and, if my Honourable friend will properly put the question, I will answer him.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : There is no insinuation. In Madras, for example, they have suggested single transferable votes. I am asking whether the Government of India do not consider some amount of uniformity necessary in the working of the various provincial franchises.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is a matter for the Committee to consider and uniformity is impossible, for conditions in the different provinces are absolutely different.

Seth Govind Das : Are Government aware that, as far as the Central Provinces Delimitation Committee is concerned and its work is concerned, there is great dissatisfaction felt by the northern districts ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : We have no specific knowledge, but we know this much that whatever is done will cause dissatisfaction to some part of the provinces.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : My question is this : do the Government of India propose at any time to examine the proposals of these committees with a view to testing their soundness, their practicability, and their facility to promote the working of democratic institutions in this country, or do they propose to observe benevolent neutrality in these matters ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Whether they will adopt an attitude of benevolent neutrality or malevolent neutrality or whether they will take up belligerent attitude are matters on which no final decision has been arrived at.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : My question was whether this Government proposed to examine these various proposals of the provincial committees with a view to testing their soundness, practicability, and their fitness for democratic institutions : do they or do they not ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : What the Government of India will do in the future is a matter about which there is at present no final decision.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Questions can be asked only about the future course of Government action.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair thinks, the Honourable Member has answered it : he has said that he has not arrived at any decision.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I take it from you, Sir.

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

APPOINTMENT OF ASSAMESE IN CERTAIN APPOINTMENTS IN THE COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, ASSAM.

23. Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Will Government state whether the number of appointments in the Comptroller's Office in Assam, Shillong, are filled up as follows ?

| Kind of service.                               | No. | Hindus of Bengali race including Sylhet Bengalees. | Others. |
|------------------------------------------------|-----|----------------------------------------------------|---------|
| (i) All-India Service, ..                      | 2   | 1                                                  | 1       |
| (ii) Assistant account officers ..             | 3   | 3                                                  | Nil.    |
| (iii) Superintendents and Senior Assistants .. | 17  | 17                                                 | Nil.    |
| (iv) Divisional accountants ..                 | 3   | 3                                                  | Nil.    |
| (v) Clerks ..                                  | 112 | 90                                                 | 22      |
| (vi) Typists and stenographers ..              | 4   | 3                                                  | 1       |
| (vii) Record clerks ..                         | 12  | 6                                                  | 6       |

(b) Is it a fact that prior to 1929 Non-Bengali candidates had to pass an office test whereas Bengali Hindus were exempted from passing that test ?

(c) Is it a fact that since 1929 recruitments are made direct without any test in the proportion of two Hindus and one Muhammadan ?

(d) Is it a fact that the number of Hindus in the Assam Valley Districts of Assamese race far out-number the Hindus of the Surma Valley who are Bengalis by race ?

(e) Will Government please state how many Assamese are there in the list given above and how many Hindus of the Surma Valley are appointed till now ?

(f) Apart from the all-India services, is it not the policy of Government to distribute posts and preferments equitably among all communities and races ?

(g) Is it a fact that the selecting officers in the Comptroller's Department are two Bengalis and an Anglo-Indian ?

620

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[9TH SEP. 1935.]

(h) Are Government aware of the fact that the Gauhati College and the Calcutta Colleges are turning out scores of Assamese graduates every year, and that great discontent among Assamese youths for being deprived of their legitimate shares in the posts of these lucrative Departments is prevalent? Are Government prepared to re-shuffle the posts of these Departments and fix a proportion of appointments to be given to the Assamese according to their population in the Province?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The information is being obtained and will be laid on the table of the House in due course.

PERIODICAL TRANSFER OF THE SUPERVISING OFFICIALS IN THE MADRAS CUSTOMS HOUSE.

24. Mr. B. B. Varma : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the present Assistant Collectors and Chief Inspector of the Madras Customs House have been working in the Madras Port for many years, and if so, will Government please state the number of years each official, referred to, has been working in the Port?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the supervising officials of the Madras Customs House belong to all-India cadre and are liable to transfer to other Ports?

(c) Is it a fact that in the Salt Department amalgamated with Customs recently, supervising officials are not posted continuously in the same station for many years in public interest?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state whether they are aware that only two or three sample packages of cement bags, imported fruits, etc., are reserved for weighing while the rest of the goods go unchecked and, if the reply is in the affirmative, are Government aware that considerable customs revenue is lost by this defective procedure?

(e) Do Government propose to arrange for periodical transfer of the supervising officials posted to the Madras Customs House?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) The two Assistant Collectors have been serving at Madras in their present capacity since 1927 and 1929, respectively. The Chief Inspector has held his present appointment since 1921.

(d) Only the Collector and the Assistant Collectors, who are members of the Imperial Customs Service, are liable to transfer. One of the present Assistant Collectors was promoted from a class II appointment in the Madras Custom House and normally such are retained at the Port where they have served before such promotion.

(d) Government have no reason to believe that the procedure adopted at Madras is defective or results in loss of revenue.

(c) and (e). Both in the Customs Department and in the Salt Department transfers are effected only when they are in the public interest and not after any fixed periods.

GRIEVANCES OF THE STAFF ON THE BOMBAY, BARODA AND CENTRAL INDIA RAILWAY.

25. Pandit Sri Krishna Datta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that the relieving staff on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway is sufficient only to cope with the cases of ordinary leave?

(b) If the answer to the above question be in the affirmative, will Government please state what steps they intend to take to remove the grievances of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway employees with special reference to leave?

(c) Is it further a fact that the Railway staff between Bayana-Agra section, specially at Fatehpur Sikri station, had to be on duty more than 84 hours a week? If so, do Government propose to take steps to stop this over-work?

(d) Is it a fact that this Railway Staff gets no holiday either on Sundays or on any gazetted holiday?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). Government have no information. The staff of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway are not Government servants and the Agent is competent to deal with the matter.

(c) and (d). Government have no information. The Hours of Employment Regulations are being introduced on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway with effect from the 1st November, 1935, and any departure from these Regulations thereafter will be investigated by the Supervisor of Railway Labour and brought to the notice of Government.

REFUSAL OF LEAVE TO THE RAILWAY STAFF OF THE MORADABAD DIVISION.

26. Pandit Sri Krishna Datta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that the Railway Staff of the Moradabad Division is not granted leave when they apply for it?

(b) Is it also a fact that they are not granted even casual leave?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). Government have no reason to believe that the facts are as stated.

FREE QUARTERS FOR THE COMMERCIAL STAFF AT CERTAIN STATIONS IN THE MORADABAD DIVISION.

27. Pandit Sri Krishna Datta Paliwal : Will Government please state if it is a fact that the commercial staff at certain stations in the Moradabad Division are not supplied with free quarters in preference to the transportation staff? Is it a fact that they too have to perform night duties, etc.? If so, why are the former not supplied with free quarters?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government have no information but have forwarded a copy of the question to the Agent, East Indian Railway, to consider whether any action is required.

DIFFERENCE IN THE SCALES OF PAY OF THE GOODS CLERK AND BOOKING CLERK.

28. Pandit Sri Krishna Datta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that a difference in the scales of pay of the goods clerk and booking clerk has been enforced since the 1st November, 1928, in favour of the former? If so, why?

(b) Is there a difference in the scale of pay of the office clerks and the time clerk, which favours the former? If so, why?

L192LAD

o

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government have no information. These question have been left by them to the Agents of State-managed Railways to deal with.

WANT OF DIRECT TRAIN CONNECTION BETWEEN MUTTRA AND ALLAHABAD.

29. Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that there is no direct train connection between Muttra and Allahabad, the two great cities of pilgrimage for Hindus ?

(b) Are Government aware that on account of the insufficient lighting arrangements and very little interval between the two (Bombay, Baroda and Central India and East Indian Railways) night trains at the Hathras Junction the passengers are put to very great inconvenience ?

(c) If the answer to the above two parts be in the affirmative, what steps do Government propose to take to remove the grievances ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes. Through trains between Bombay and Muttra were run prior to 1st March, 1931, but the service was discontinued as the number of long distance passengers entraining and detraining at Muttra did not justify its continuance. The total number of tickets issued from Allahabad to and via Muttra and to stations in the Agra area and via for a period of twelve months ending June, 1934, averaged 29 per day.

(b) and (c). The Agent states that the station is lit by four high power lamps and nineteen ordinary platform lamps and that he has not been able to trace any complaints regarding the lighting arrangements at the station. He is, however, having the matter looked into further to see if there are any grounds for complaint.

The interval between the arrival of the East Indian Railway's train and the departure of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway's train is 21 minutes. This does not appear to be inadequate.

REBATE ALLOWED BY THE LEADING SHIPPING COMPANIES FOR PASSAGES TO EUROPE FOR RAILWAY SERVANTS.

30. Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that several shipping companies allow a rebate of about 5 per cent. on the passages for railway servants ? If not, will Government state the exact amount of rebate allowed by leading companies for passages to Europe ?

(b) Is it a fact that the Railway Board used to deduct rebate amounts from the passage money allowed to railway officers or officials entitled to the Lee Concessions up to August, 1934 ?

(c) Will Government please state the amounts credited to railway revenues on each State-owned Railway in regard to rebates allowed on passage money from the time the Lee concessions were sanctioned ?

(d) Will Government state whether it is a fact that the Railway Board have decided to allow railway officials to pocket rebates on passage money allowed under the Lee Concessions and, if so, will Government be pleased to state the actual loss suffered on each Class I Railway by allowing this concession over and above the actual cost of passages ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Government understand that some shipping companies grant a rebate on passages booked by railway servants whether at their own expense or as part of the Lee Concessions. Government are not aware of the exact amount in all cases.

(b), (c) and (d). These rebates were not, so far as Government is aware, credited to railway revenues. Originally they were credited to the passage accounts of the officers concerned ; later it was decided that the rebates, when allowed by the companies, may be received by the officers in cash. This decision did not ultimately make any difference so far as railway revenues were concerned ; but the whole question of whether such rebates should be brought into the Government accounts at all and, if so, how they are to be accounted for, is being reconsidered.

FREIGHT CHARGED ON CERTAIN CLASSES OF GOODS.

31. M. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the freight charged on goods classified under several classes of general goods classification on each Class I Railway, within the minima and maxima prescribed by the Railway Board ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : For the purpose of freight rates, commodities are placed in ten different classes, I attach a statement giving the maximum and minimum rates per maund per mile for each class.

Within the maxima and minima, Railway Administrations are empowered to quote such rates as circumstances require. The rates actually charged are notified by the different Railway Administrations in their Goods Tariffs.

| Class. | Statement. |    |    |    |    |    | Minimum. | Maximum. |
|--------|------------|----|----|----|----|----|----------|----------|
|        |            |    |    |    |    |    | Pie.     | Pie.     |
| 1      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -10      | -38      |
| 2      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -10      | -42      |
| 3      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | -58      |
| 4      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | -62      |
| 5      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | -77      |
| 6      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | -83      |
| 7      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | -96      |
| 8      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | 1-04     |
| 9      | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | 1-26     |
| 10     | ..         | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | -166     | 1-87     |

COST OF REPAIR AND MAINTENANCE INCURRED ON ROLLING STOCK ON RAILWAYS.

32. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the average cost of repair and maintenance incurred on each unit of rolling stock condemned in 1933-34 and 1934-35 on each Class I Railway ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am unable to understand the Honourable Member's question. Condemned rolling stock is usually broken up and serviceable material obtained therefrom is again used. The remainder is sold as scrap. No cost is incurred on repair and maintenance on these.

OUTPUT CAPACITY OF THE TATANAGAR RAILWAY WORKSHOPS AND OTHER WORKSHOPS FOR MANUFACTURE OF CARRIAGE AND WAGON UNDER-FRAMES.

33. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the maximum output capacity of the Tatanagar Railway Workshops and other workshops owned by Government for manufacture of carriage and wagon under-frames ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The capacity of the Tatanagar Workshops per annum is 550 I. R. S. Broad Gauge 68'-0" Bogie under-frames or 2,200 I. R. S. Broad Gauge 4-wheeled wagon under-frames.

The only other Railway Workshop undertaking the manufacture of under-frames is the Ajmer Workshop of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway. Its annual capacity is 75 Metre Gauge Bogie carriage under-frames plus 800 Metre Gauge 4-wheeled wagon under-frames.

MANUFACTURE OF LOCOMOTIVE BOILERS IN RAILWAY WORKSHOPS.

34. Mr. V. V. Giri : Is it a fact that locomotive boilers used to be manufactured in several railway workshops, and if so, will Government please state the difference in cost in manufacture in railway workshops and outside ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I believe that many years ago locomotive boilers used to be manufactured in one or two of the railway workshops : at present the only workshop that undertakes the manufacture is the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Workshop at Ajmer. I am endeavouring to obtain the cost of manufacture at Ajmer and the cost of purchase of a similar boiler from outside. I shall lay a statement on the table later.

INTEREST ALLOWED ON PROVIDENT FUND DEPOSITS OF RAILWAY SERVANTS.

35. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the actual interest allowed on the Provident Fund assets of the railway servants in the last ten years ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : A statement showing the rate of interest allowed on all provident fund deposits (including deposits of servants of State-managed Railways) for the last ten years is attached. Servants of the Assam Bengal, Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Bengal Nagpur, Madras and Southern Mahratta and South Indian Railways have also, during the period in question, been allowed the same rates.

| Year.           |    |    |    |    |    |    |    | Rate of interest. |
|-----------------|----|----|----|----|----|----|----|-------------------|
| 1926-27 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5½%               |
| 1927-28 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 4½%               |
| 1928-29 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 4½%               |
| 1929-30 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 4½%               |
| 1930-31 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5%                |
| 1931-32 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5%                |
| 1932-33 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5.25%             |
| 1933-34 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5.5%              |
| 1934-35 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5.25%             |
| 1935-36 .. .. . | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5%                |

INTEREST ALLOWED IN CALCULATING COMMUTATION VALUE OF PENSIONS.

36. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the amount of interest allowed in calculating commutation value of pensions each year since 1921 in regard to Government pensions ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : A statement is laid on the table.

Statement.

| For applications made in India.                    |                         | For applications made in the United Kingdom.          |                         |
|----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Period.                                            | Rate of interest.       | Period.                                               | Rate of interest.       |
| From the 1st January, 1921 to the 13th June, 1921. | 3½ per cent. per annum. | From the 1st January, 1921 to the 14th January, 1925. | 6 per cent. per annum.  |
| 14th June, 1921 to the 31st March, 1927.           | 5½ per cent. per annum. | 15th January, 1926 to the 16th March, 1927.           | 5½ per cent. per annum. |
| 1st April, 1927 to the 3rd December, 1928.         | 4½ per cent. per annum. | 17th March, 1927 to the 3rd December, 1928.           | 4½ per cent. per annum. |

| For officers of Asiatic domicile.                    |                         | For other officers.                                  |                         |
|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Period.                                              | Rate of interest.       | Period.                                              | Rate of interest.       |
| From the 4th December, 1928 to the 31st March, 1930. | 4½ per cent. per annum. | From the 4th December, 1928 to the 31st March, 1930. | 4½ per cent. per annum. |
| 1st April, 1930 to the 31st July, 1933.              | 5 per cent. per annum.  | 1st April, 1930 to the 31st May, 1933.               | 5 per cent. per annum.  |
| 1st August, 1933 to the 15th September, 1934.        | 4½ per cent. per annum. | 1st June, 1933 to the 15th July, 1934.               | 4½ per cent. per annum. |
| 16th September, 1934 onwards..                       | 4½ per cent. per annum. | 16th July, 1934 onwards ..                           | 4½ per cent. per annum. |

ADDITIONAL APPOINTMENTS AND RETRENCHED EMPLOYEES ON STATE RAILWAYS.

37. Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the number of additional appointments of officers on all State-owned Class I Railways after retrenchment campaign of 1931 ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state the number of retrenched persons taken back into service on old scales and on lesser paid scales of pay, respectively, on each Class I Railway since 14th July, 1931 ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state the number of retrenched employees now on the waiting list of each Class I Railway ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the statement showing the number of appointments created and vacancies which occurred among officers of gazetted rank on State Railways and of corresponding rank on Companies Railways which appears as appendix 'G' to Volume I of the Annual Report by the Railway Board on Indian Railways, for 1931-32, 1932-33 and 1933-34.

(b) and (c). The available information is contained in the statement laid on the table of the House on the 2nd September, 1935, in connection with starred question No. 158 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 12th February, 1935. All persons who were originally appointed before the 16th July, 1931, were, when re-employed after retrenchment in accordance with the existing orders, eligible for the old scales of pay.

MOTOR BUSES RUN BY THE RAILWAYS.

38. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the number of motor buses run by the Railways under the provisions of the Indian Railways (Amendment) Act of 1934?

Mr. P. R. Rau : None.

CONSTITUTION OF A JOINT STANDING MACHINERY ON RAILWAYS.

39. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state when they propose to arrive at a decision regarding the constitution of a Joint Standing Machinery on Railways as recommended by the Whitley Commission and demanded by the All-India Railwaymen's Federation, and will Government be pleased to state whether they propose to inform the said Federation about the draft proposals before coming to a final decision?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The matter is still under consideration.

AMOUNT CREDITED TO RAILWAY REVENUES UNDER FINES, FORFEITURE OF PROVIDENT FUND, ETC., AND INCOME AND DISBURSEMENTS OF THE STAFF BENEFIT FUND OF EACH RAILWAY.

40. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the sums credited to Railway Revenues under fines, forfeiture of the Provident Fund Bonus, etc., during 1931, 1932, 1933 disbursements of the Staff Benefit Fund of each Class I Railway during the same years?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Four statements showing the transactions of the Fine Funds/Staff Benefit Funds on Class I Railways, during the years 1931 to 1934, are attached.

Statement showing transactions of the Fine Funds of Class I Railways for the financial year 1930-31.

| Railways.     | Assets.                      |                 |                  |                         |                      | Disbursements. |                               |                             |          |                   |                 |          | Balance in hand on the 31st March, 1931. |
|---------------|------------------------------|-----------------|------------------|-------------------------|----------------------|----------------|-------------------------------|-----------------------------|----------|-------------------|-----------------|----------|------------------------------------------|
|               | Balance on 31st March, 1930. | Fine inflicted. | Bonus forfeited. | Other amounts credited. | Interest on Balance. | Total.         | Hospital for sick employ-ees. | Compas-sionate allow-ances. | Schools. | Recreation Clubs. | Miscella-neous. | Total.   |                                          |
| 1             | 2                            | 3               | 4                | 5                       | 6                    | 7              | 8                             | 9                           | 10       | 11                | 12              | 13       | 14                                       |
|               | Rs.                          | Rs.             | Rs.              | Rs.                     | Rs.                  | Rs.            | Rs.                           | Rs.                         | Rs.      | Rs.               | Rs.             | Rs.      | Rs.                                      |
| A. B.         | 9,172                        | 3,058           | 7,271            | 5                       | —4†                  | 19,502         | Nil.                          | Nil.                        | 376      | 4,290             | 1,336           | 6,902    | 13,530                                   |
| B. & N. W.    | 26,045                       | 8,163           | 5,804            | 2,310                   | 1,022                | 43,344         | 370                           | Nil.                        | 9,016    | 5,702             | 1,279           | 16,367   | 26,977                                   |
| B. N. & C. I. | 27,224                       | 17,779          | 6,399            | 68                      | 1,616                | 43,086         | 500                           | 532                         | 7,040    | 11,410            | 14,010          | 33,492   | 19,534                                   |
| B. B. & C. I. | 54,936                       | 6,916           | 8,489            | Nil.                    | 2,278                | 71,619         | 1,535                         | 1,010                       | 2,437    | 27,441            | 1,296           | 33,719   | 37,900                                   |
| Burma         | 51,751                       | 9,080           | 11,065           | Nil.                    | Nil.                 | 71,896         | Nil.                          | 334                         | 1,134    | 30,763            | 1,860           | 34,081   | 37,815                                   |
| E. B.         | 16,214                       | 7,099           | 22,243           | 5,432                   | 670                  | 51,658         | 900                           | Nil.                        | Nil.     | 19,308            | 23,478          | 43,686   | 7,972                                    |
| E. I. P.      | 6,23,707                     | 61,771          | 14,327           | 13,292                  | 26,366               | 7,39,463       | 2,700                         | 570                         | 26,908   | 1,04,985          | 60,323          | 1,95,186 | 5,44,277                                 |
| G. I. P.      | 3,33,653                     | 38,135          | 29,474           | 1,169                   | 9,827                | 4,12,258       | Nil.                          | Nil.                        | 2,402    | 46,005            | 24,972          | 73,379   | 3,38,879                                 |
| Jodhpur       | 6,181                        | 3,065           | 127              | 48                      | 232                  | 9,653          | 660                           | 15                          | Nil.     | 5,832             | 357             | 6,804    | 2,789                                    |
| M. & S. M.    | 1,48,526                     | 3,847           | 6,221            | Nil.                    | 5,760                | 1,64,354       | 1,630                         | 1,732                       | 143      | 213,804           | 13,422          | 30,731   | 1,33,623                                 |
| N. S.         | 31,264                       | 4,613           | 3,589            | 5,220                   | 1,841                | 46,527         | Nil.                          | Nil.                        | 71       | 6,996             | 2,193           | 9,259    | 37,268                                   |
| N. W.         | 2,18,376                     | 47,133          | 4,480            | 19,260                  | 7,000                | 2,96,249       | Nil.                          | Nil.                        | 4,283    | 42,540            | 59,981          | 1,06,804 | 1,89,445                                 |
| R. & K.       | *3,607                       | 1,466           | 389              | Nil.                    | 1,735                | 7,197          | Nil.                          | Nil.                        | 2,248    | 3,581             | 65              | 5,894    | 1,303                                    |
| S. I.         | 1,20,768                     | 4,281           | 5,079            | Nil.                    | 5,193                | 1,35,321       | 74                            | 2,095                       | 25,050   | 23,483            | 7,855           | 58,557   | 76,764                                   |
| Total         | *16,71,424                   | 2,15,406        | 1,24,957         | 46,804                  | 63,536               | 21,22,127      | 8,369                         | 6,288                       | 80,808   | 3,46,129          | 2,12,427        | 6,54,021 | 14,68,106                                |

* The difference between the balance shown in last year's statement and this is due to investment of Rs. 39,100.
† Due to depreciation of investments written off.

Statement showing transactions of the Staff Benefit Fund/Fund of Class I Railways for the year ending 31st March, 1934.

| Railways.          | Assets.                      |                 |                  |                         |                                     |                      |                       | Disbursements.               |                         |                              |                   |                |                        |                                                 | Total columns 9 to 13. | Balance on the 31st March, 1934 (Columns 8-14). |
|--------------------|------------------------------|-----------------|------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|-----------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------|----------------|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
|                    | Balance on 31st March, 1933. | Fine inflicted. | Bonus forfeited. | Other amounts credited. | Contributions from Railway Revenue. | Interest on Balance. | Total columns 2 to 7. | Hospital for sick employees. | Compensation allowance. | Schools and education staff. | Recreation Clubs. | Miscellaneous. | Total columns 9 to 13. | Balance on the 31st March, 1934 (Columns 8-14). |                        |                                                 |
| 1                  | 2                            | 3               | 4                | 5                       | 6                                   | 7                    | 8                     | 9                            | 10                      | 11                           | 12                | 13             | 14                     | 15                                              |                        |                                                 |
| A. B. ..           | 21,654                       | 1,539           | 3,784            | 1,152                   | 11,256                              | 1,151                | 40,836                | 3,929                        | 387                     | 2,171                        | 12,332            | 4,941          | 23,760                 | 17,076                                          |                        |                                                 |
| B. and N. W. ..    | 22,083                       | 6,398           | 7,252            | 150                     | ..                                  | 1,369                | 37,252                | ..                           | ..                      | 7,555                        | 8,839             | 610            | 17,004                 | 20,248                                          |                        |                                                 |
| B. N. ..           | 75,949                       | 16,004          | 7,756            | 611                     | 32,336                              | 255                  | 1,32,911              | 500                          | 1,000                   | 16,913                       | 7,689             | 16,547         | 42,626                 | 90,262                                          |                        |                                                 |
| B. B. and C. I. .. | 30,223                       | 5,492           | 129              | 25                      | 59,102                              | 1,370                | 96,341                | 10,000                       | 237                     | 6,372                        | 24,935            | 725            | 42,69                  | 54,072                                          |                        |                                                 |
| Burma ..           | 33,474                       | 5,091           | 16,994           | 2,161                   | 14,053                              | —340                 | 71,433                | ..                           | 185                     | 7,578                        | 21,889            | 1,306          | 30,968                 | 40,475                                          |                        |                                                 |
| E. B. ..           | 41,974                       | 3,445           | 3,659            | 27,304                  | 38,959                              | 1,244                | 1,16,585              | 4,224                        | 2,405                   | 1,604                        | 28,251            | 53,625         | 90,109                 | 26,476                                          |                        |                                                 |
| E. I. ..           | 5,40,488                     | 46,865          | 4,220            | 36,144                  | 56,062                              | 16,490               | 7,00,259              | 2,953                        | 1,209                   | 22,237                       | 73,221            | 37,956         | 1,37,576               | 5,62,683                                        |                        |                                                 |
| G. I. P. ..        | 4,27,984                     | 31,536          | 16,173           | 3,441                   | 41,899                              | 13,016               | 5,34,049              | 5,477                        | 500                     | ..                           | 33,345            | 9,340          | 52,257                 | 4,81,792                                        |                        |                                                 |
| Jodhpur ..         | 1,247                        | 1,732           | —128             | 115                     | 7,000                               | 55                   | 10,021                | 500                          | ..                      | ..                           | 6,111             | 234            | 6,845                  | 3,176                                           |                        |                                                 |
| M. and S. M. ..    | 1,28,770                     | 2,757           | 5,272            | 1,339                   | 41,925                              | 3,895                | 1,83,958              | 1,230                        | 2,212                   | 3,087                        | 22,241            | 1,230          | 30,000                 | 1,53,958                                        |                        |                                                 |
| N. S. ..           | 34,364                       | 918             | 3,517            | 426                     | ..                                  | 1,102                | 40,327                | ..                           | ..                      | ..                           | 12,668            | 4,088          | 16,756                 | 23,571                                          |                        |                                                 |
| N. W. ..           | 1,11,988                     | 30,551          | 7,388            | 20,486                  | 61,990                              | 3,724                | 2,36,027              | 10,736                       | 2,089                   | 4,770                        | 75,849            | 57,091         | 1,50,635               | 85,492                                          |                        |                                                 |
| R. and K. ..       | 556                          | 1,014           | 1,372            | 5,108                   | ..                                  | 1,453                | 9,503                 | ..                           | ..                      | 3,000                        | 3,947             | 14             | 6,961                  | 2,542                                           |                        |                                                 |
| S. I. ..           | 73,769                       | 4,232           | 3,771            | ..                      | 20,000                              | 2,834                | 1,04,606              | 90                           | 1,941                   | ..                           | 27,981            | 15,581         | 45,608                 | 58,998                                          |                        |                                                 |
| Total ..           | 15,44,723                    | 1,57,574        | 81,159           | 98,462                  | 3,84,572                            | 47,618               | 23,14,108             | 39,639                       | 12,165                  | 78,897                       | 3,59,298          | 2,03,288       | 6,93,287               | 16,20,821                                       |                        |                                                 |

STAFF TO IMPLEMENT THE HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT REGULATIONS ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA AND THE BOMBAY, BARODA AND CENTRAL INDIA RAILWAYS.

41. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the number of additional staff required and proposed to be appointed to implement the Hours of Employment Regulations on the Madras and Southern Mahratta and the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railways ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The Agents, Madras and Southern Mahratta and Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railways, report that the number of additional staff required to implement the Hours of Employment Regulations on their railways is approximately 421 and 581, respectively.

TRANSFER OF THE MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY-MANAGED RAILWAYS.

42. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state whether any steps are being taken to transfer the management of all Company-managed Railways, to facilitate amalgamation of Railways as recommended by Pope Committee ? If not, why not ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Such transfer can only be made at the termination of existing contracts ; otherwise, by private negotiation outside the contracts which may be very expensive. The question raised by Mr. Pope is, however, receiving attention.

REPORT ON THE QUESTION OF THE MANUFACTURE OF LOCOMOTIVES IN RAILWAY WORKSHOPS IN INDIA.

43. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the Report of Enquiry into the question of locomotive manufacture in railway workshops in India ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : A memorandum on the subject is being prepared and will be placed before the Standing Finance Committee for Railways as early as possible.

PERSONS DISCHARGED ON DISCIPLINARY GROUNDS ON RAILWAYS.

44. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the number of persons discharged on disciplinary grounds on each Class I Railway since the New Discharge and Dismissal Rules of 1930 were introduced ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government have no information and consider that the collection of the information required will involve an amount of time and trouble unlikely to be justified by results.

PROPOSED RAILWAY LINE FROM SYLHET TO CHHATAK.

45. Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : With reference to the answers given on behalf of Government to starred question No. 529, asked on the 25th February last, will Government be pleased to state if any report has been submitted after the investigation undertaken regarding the proposed railway line from Sylhet to Chhatak as a part of the Sylhet Chhatak-Therriaghat project ? If so, what is the purport of the report and what action, if any, do Government and the Railway Department propose to take to open the line as early as possible ?

632

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[9TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. P. R. Rau : A project estimate prepared by the Railway Administration has been received and is under examination by the Railway Board.

COVERED AND RAISED PLATFORMS FOR IMPORTANT STATIONS ON THE ASSAM BENGAL RAILWAY.

46. Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if a copy of starred question No. 531, answered on the 25th February, 1935, regarding covered and high level platforms for important stations on the Assam Bengal Railway was sent to the Railway Company ? If so, what reply have Government received from them ?

(b) Are Government aware that the Assam Bengal Railway is now building a new station at Sylhet and that no arrangement for a high level platform and a covering for the station has been made ? If so, are Government prepared to consider the desirability of asking the Assam Bengal Railway to provide a high level platform and a covering for the new station at Sylhet ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes. Government consider that Agents of Railways are in the best position to decide on the distribution of funds allotted to their railways for this purpose. Hence no reply was asked for.

(b) Government are aware of the proposal to build a new station at Sylhet, but are not aware of the details. The matter has been brought to the notice of the Agent.

PROVISION OF ADDITIONAL OPENINGS IN THE EMBANKMENT FROM FENCHUGANJ TO SYLHET BAZAR.

47. Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : With reference to starred question No. 797, asked on the 11th March last, on the Report of the Assam Flood Enquiry Committee, will Government be pleased to state if they have now received any information from the Assam Bengal Railway authorities as to what steps they have taken or propose to take to give effect to the recommendations of the Committee for providing additional openings in the embankment from Fenchuganj to Sylhet Bazar ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The information required was placed on the table of the House on the 3rd April, 1935, and will be found on page 3518, Volume IV, No. 5, of the Debates of the Assembly.

EFFECTS OF THE IMPORT OF BURMA RICE IN INDIA.

48. Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Are Government aware that the import of Burma rice in India tends to keep down the price of paddy in India, specially in Assam and Bengal, and offers serious competition to the husking industry in those parts of India ?

(b) Are Government aware that in Assam and Bengal and other parts of India, where paddy is the staple product, husking by hand is one of the chief cottage industries carried on by the poorest section of the community and that the import of Burma mill rice reduces the price of rice so low that it becomes no longer profitable for them to husk rice for sale with the consequence that they are thrown out of employment ?

(c) Is there any proposal to admit Burma rice into India duty-free, after the separation of Burma, in exchange for free admission into Burma of Indian products such as tea, etc. ?

(d) Have Government taken into consideration the desirability of preserving the independence of the Indian Legislature as to the fiscal policy to be adopted after Burma is separated from India, specially its freedom to afford protection to the Indian products and Indian husking industry ? If not, are Government prepared to press this matter upon the attention of His Majesty's Government in England ?

(e) Do Government propose to take into consideration the desirability of leaving the question of such reciprocal engagement to be negotiated with the future Federal Government ?

(f) In case it is found desirable to conclude such agreements immediately on the separation of Burma, will Government consult the opinion of the Assembly first before coming to any final decision ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). Government have no reason to believe that the position is as stated by the Honourable Member. They understand that different varieties of Bengal rice invariably fetch a higher price in Calcutta than the imported Burma rice.

(c) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Article 3 of the Provisional Draft of India and Burma Trade Regulation Order recently published in the White Paper on the Trade and Immigration Relations between India and Burma after separation of Burma.

(d) The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. The second part does not arise.

(e) This matter is already provided for in the new Government of India Act.

(f) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given to parts (c) and (d) of Mr. Satyamurti's starred question No. 143.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A HIGH COURT FOR ASSAM.

49. Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) In view of the fact that Assam has been made an autonomous Province, will Government state whether a High Court will be established in that Province ?

(b) Do Government propose to place the proposal for a High Court in Assam before the Subvention Committee ? If not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) There is no such intention at present.

(b) Does not arise.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A UNIVERSITY AT GAUHATI.

50. Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Are Government aware that the establishment of a University at Gauhati was strongly recommended by the Royal Commission presided over by Sir Michael Sadler, on the ground that Assamese culture and civilisation required the establishment of such a University?

(b) Is it a fact that the late Sir Ashutosh Mukerjee, and eminent educationist and a member of that Commission, heartily supported the proposal and stated that the Gauhati College with the blocks of compact boarding houses, an excellent laboratory and a library attached, makes it possible to convert the same into a residential University?

(c) Do Government propose to place the proposal before the Subvention Committee?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). The Calcutta University Commission (of which the late Sir Ashutosh Mukerjee was a member) did not recommend the creation of a separate University for Assam at any specified period but expressed the opinion that Gauhati might rightly aim at becoming a seat of a University at some future date.

(c) It will be for the Assam Government to plead its own case at the Financial Enquiry.

GRIEVANCES OF THE PASSENGERS AT GHUTKU STATION ON THE BENGAL NAGPUR RAILWAY.

51. Seth Sheodass Daga : (a) Is it a fact that Ghutku Station on Bengal Nagpur Railway, a B Class Station, is open for passengers' traffic since its opening, i.e., about 1892?

(b) Is it a fact that at night, two Up and Down trains are halting there?

(c) Is it a fact that the said station is about three quarters of a mile away from the town and is surrounded by fields?

(d) Is it a fact that, since the demolition of the old station, i.e., 25 years past, only a temporary shed with tin roofing is erected, and the waiting room is open from three sides?

(e) If the reply to part (d) be in affirmative, are Government aware that it is very much troublesome and inconvenient all round the year for the passengers, i.e., in summer noon on account of the hot wind and roofing, in the rainy season on account of the showers coming in, and in winter nights on account of the chilly cold weather?

(f) Are Government aware that the platform of the said station is so low that it is very troublesome and risky for passengers to get in and out of the train?

(g) Are Government prepared to get the said grievances of the passengers with regard to the station waiting room and platform redressed by the railway authorities concerned?

Mr P. R. Rau : Government consider that these matters are best left to the Advisory Committee. The Agent's attention has, however, been drawn to the question.

VACANCIES IN THE ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT OF THE GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY.

52. Khan Sahib Nawab Siddique Ali Khan : (a) Is it a fact that there were several permanent vacancies in the permanent subordinate cadre of the Engineering Department of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway and that these have been recently surrendered? If so, how many, and for how many years were these kept unfilled?

(b) Is it a fact that while permanent vacancies were kept unfilled, several subordinates have been retained on the temporary cadre chargeable to Lump Sum Revenue Grant for a number of years, and that these men are not engaged for a particular capital work and have been retained during the period when the railways have passed through a financial crisis? Why have they not been confirmed in suitable unfilled permanent vacancies and their temporary posts abolished instead of surrendering permanent posts?

(c) Is it a fact that the recent policy of the Chief Engineer, Great Indian Peninsula Railway, is not to fill up vacancies above Rs. 300 per month for technical men drawing old scales of pay, with the exception of Permanent Way, Bridge and Signal and Interlocking Inspectors, thus depriving the Inspector of Works, Supervisors, Head Draftsmen, Surveyors and Draftsmen, of all chances of promotion?

(d) Is it true that in the Mechanical Department, Transportation Department and Traffic Department, there are graded posts of Rs. 240—300, Rs. 300—375, Rs. 375—450, Rs. 450—550, Rs. 550—650 on the permanent subordinate cadre while in the Engineering Department technical staff except for P. W. Is. and Bridge, Signal and Interlocking Inspectors have no chance of promotion beyond Rs. 300, although they are entitled to the old scales of pay?

(e) Is it true that when superior service officers go on Home leave, their immediate subordinates on the subordinate cadre are not given a chance to act in their places, although these subordinates may be fully qualified to take up their posts?

Mr P. R. Rau : I am obtaining the information and will lay a reply on the table of the House in due course.

MAIL SORTERS IN EAST BENGAL AND ASSAM.

53. Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Will Government state how many candidates passed the departmental competitive test held in 1929-30 for mail sorters' appointments from East Bengal and Assam?

(b) Was any warning given to these persons that revised rates for pay of the posts for which they were candidates was under consideration?

(c) Were the above persons approved candidates for appointment as sorters in the "S" division?

(d) Is it a fact that the passed candidates were appointed as reserve sorters in the grade Rs. 40—5—140 in 1930?

(e) Is it a fact that in spite of there being many vacancies in the list of reserve sorters' posts many of the appointed candidates were relieved of their posts on the 31st December, 1930?

(f) Were there fourteen posts vacant before the 16th July, 1931, when the above were still unemployed?

(g) Is it a fact that those persons were employed in 1933 and 1934 but in a lower grade?

(h) Will Government refer to the Director General's special general Circular No. 37, dated 11th March, 1935 ?

(i) Are Government prepared to place the persons referred to above in the old time scale of pay of Rs. 40—5—140 ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) to (i). Information has been called for and a reply will be placed on the table of the House in due course.

PRODUCTION OF QUININE AND CINCHONA.

54. Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Will Government please state what quantities of quinine and cinchona are produced in India through Government agency and what quantities through private agencies ?

(b) Will Government please state what amount of profit Government usually make by the sale of quinine ?

(c) At what price are quinine and cinchona sold to Local Board and District Board Dispensaries ?

(d) At what price can Government supply quinine if they forego the profit made from the sale of quinine ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) A statement showing the quantity of quinine and cinchona febrifuge produced at Government factories on behalf of the Government of India and the Governments of Madras and Bengal in the years 1931-32 to 1933-34 is laid on the table. Government have no information regarding production through private agencies.

(b) and (d). Including overhead charges and interest on the reserve of 150,000 lbs. maintained by them, it is doubtful whether the Government of India make any profit at the price at which they supply quinine to Local Governments.

(c) Rs. 18 per lb. for quinine sulphate and Rs. 9 per lb. for cinchona febrifuge (powder).

Production at Government factories of quinine sulphate and cinchona febrifuge during the years 1931-32 to 1933-34.

|                         |    |          |    | Quinine Sulphate.lbs. | Cinchona febrifuge.lbs. |
|-------------------------|----|----------|----|---------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Government of India ..  | .. | ..       | .. | 1,536.4                   | 459.3                       |
| Government of Madras .. | .. | ..       | .. | 22,307                    | 9,084                       |
| Government of Bengal .. | .. | ..       | .. | 43,534                    | 13,079                      |
|                         |    |          |    | 67,377.4                  | 22,622.3                    |
|                         |    | 1932-33. |    |                           |                             |
| Government of India ..  | .. | ..       | .. | 3,981                     | 2,004                       |
| Government of Madras .. | .. | ..       | .. | 23,153                    | 10,993                      |
| Government of Bengal .. | .. | ..       | .. | 42,239                    | 22,749                      |
|                         |    |          |    | 69,373                    | 35,746                      |
|                         |    | 1933-34. |    |                           |                             |
| Government of India ..  | .. | ..       | .. | 5,739.6                   | 3,394                       |
| Government of Madras .. | .. | ..       | .. | 22,716                    | 13,141                      |
| Government of Bengal .. | .. | ..       | .. | 45,728                    | 25,129                      |
|                         |    |          |    | 74,183.6                  | 41,664                      |

PREPONDERANCE OF MUSLIM EXTRA-DEPARTMENTAL SUB-POSTMASTERS IN AGRA.

55. Bhai Parma Nand : Is it a fact that out of eight permanent Extra-Departmental Sub-Postmasters seven are Muhammadans in the Agra Town ? If so, what is the reason for such an abnormal heavy proportion of the minority community and who is responsible for this ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : As regards the first part, Government have no information.

As regards the second part, the Honourable Member is referred to the reply given to his own unstarred question No. 81 in this House on the 22nd February, 1935.

INCREASE IN THE PROPORTION OF MUSLIM CANDIDATES ON THE WAITING LIST OF INFERIOR CADRE IN THE AGRA POST OFFICE.

56. Bhai Parma Nand : Is it a fact that during the tenure of the present Postmaster at Agra the proportion of Muhammadan candidates on the waiting list of inferior cadre has considerably increased specially since the officiating appointment of the Muhammadan Town Inspector ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Government have no information and do not propose to call for it as the waiting list has nothing to do with the actual recruitment. A copy of the question and this reply is, however, being sent to the Director General of Posts and Telegraphs, who is competent to deal with the matter.

APPOINTMENTS OF EMPLOYMENT OFFICERS ON STATE RAILWAYS.

57. Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if appointments of Employment Officers have been made in certain departments of the State Railways in accordance with the recommendations of the Whitley Commission ?

(b) If the reply to part (a) be in the affirmative, will Government be pleased to state the qualifications of the persons recruited for the posts and the duties allotted to them ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state if the employees in the Electrical Department of the East Indian Railway get the advantage of the services of such Employment Officers ?

(d) If the reply to part (c) be in the negative, will Government be pleased to state how the grievances of the staff in the said department are enquired into and the establishment matters dealt with ?

(e) If the reply to part (c) be in the affirmative, will Government be pleased to state if there is any Employment Officer particularly for this department and if so, where he is posted ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) Full details of the reasons for sanctioning these posts are contained in a memorandum placed before the Standing Finance Committee for Railways on the 2nd February, 1934, which will be found on pages 17—19 of Volume X, No. 6, of their proceedings, to which I would refer the Honourable Member.

Statement showing transactions of the Staff Benefit Fund/ Fine Fund of Class I Railways for the year ending 31st March, 1935.

| Assets.       |                                  |                 |                  |                         |                                 |                      |                       | Disbursements.               |                          |                                   |                   |                |                        |                                                  |
|---------------|----------------------------------|-----------------|------------------|-------------------------|---------------------------------|----------------------|-----------------------|------------------------------|--------------------------|-----------------------------------|-------------------|----------------|------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|
| Railways.     | Balance on the 31st March, 1931. | Fine-inflicted. | Bonus-forfeited. | Other amounts credited. | Contributions from Ry. Revenue. | Interest on balance. | Total columns 2 to 7. | Hospital for sick employees. | Compensation-allowances. | Schools & education of the staff. | Recreation Clubs. | Miscellaneous. | Total columns 9 to 13. | Balance on the 31st March, 1932. (Columns 8-14). |
|               | Rs.                              | Rs.             | Rs.              | Rs.                     | Rs.                             | Rs.                  | Rs.                   | Rs.                          | Rs.                      | Rs.                               | Rs.               | Rs.            | Rs.                    | Rs.                                              |
| I             | 13,500                           | 2,242           | 4,370            | 25                      | 6,637                           | *1,084               | 25,690                | 231                          | ..                       | 60                                | 4,819             | 851            | 5,961                  | 19,729                                           |
| A. B.         | 26,977                           | 7,427           | 10,475           | 2,493                   | ..                              | 1,062                | 48,422                | 250                          | ..                       | 9,974                             | 5,219             | 5,362          | 20,805                 | 27,617                                           |
| B. & N. W.    | 19,594                           | 16,996          | 13,601           | 350                     | 30,000                          | 430                  | 80,971                | 500                          | 345                      | 5,357                             | 13,178            | 9,582          | 28,960                 | 52,011                                           |
| B. B. & C. I. | 37,900                           | 5,193           | 1,478            | 10                      | 29,032                          | 968                  | 74,579                | 10,212                       | 479                      | 3,125                             | 26,353            | 568            | 40,737                 | 33,842                                           |
| Burma         | 37,815                           | 6,546           | 8,259            | ..                      | 4,792                           | 1,891                | 59,303                | ..                           | ..                       | 2,790                             | 18,331            | 300            | 21,421                 | 37,882                                           |
| E. B.         | 7,372                            | 4,221           | 363              | ..                      | 25,062                          | 638                  | 47,338                | 360                          | 50                       | 448                               | 19,812            | 10,529         | 31,199                 | 16,139                                           |
| E. I. P.      | 54,339                           | 7,666           | 20,385           | ..                      | 38,610                          | 21,151               | 68,628                | 2,100                        | 780                      | 28,479                            | 70,070            | 97,477         | 1,98,906               | 4,87,522                                         |
| Jodhpur       | 3,38,879                         | 38,793          | 10,606           | ..                      | 36,470                          | 11,086               | 4,38,009              | ..                           | 10                       | 1,370                             | 33,297            | 15,790         | 50,467                 | 3,87,542                                         |
| M. & S. M.    | 2,789                            | 2,236           | 1,332            | 34                      | ..                              | 523                  | 6,914                 | 660                          | 289                      | ..                                | 5,345             | 595            | 6,600                  | 314                                              |
| N. S.         | 1,33,623                         | 2,815           | 6,330            | ..                      | ..                              | 4,398                | 1,47,166              | 1,605                        | 289                      | 53                                | 10,907            | 12,301         | 25,055                 | 1,22,111                                         |
| N. W.         | 37,268                           | 1,475           | 8,429            | 223                     | ..                              | 1,628                | 43,923                | ..                           | ..                       | 6,980                             | 3,824             | 3,824          | 10,804                 | 33,119                                           |
| R. & K.       | 1,89,445                         | 39,398          | 8,241            | 18,591                  | 56,885                          | 6,434                | 3,18,994              | 13,736                       | 1,234                    | 4,634                             | 60,722            | 38,742         | 1,07,088               | 2,11,926                                         |
| S. I.         | 1,303                            | 1,313           | 2,645            | 12,100                  | ..                              | 1,590                | 8,951                 | ..                           | ..                       | 2,179                             | 3,699             | 590            | 6,468                  | 2,453                                            |
|               | 76,764                           | 4,937           | 3,210            | ..                      | 10,000                          | 3,433                | 98,344                | 5                            | 563                      | ..                                | 16,648            | 10,767         | 27,983                 | 70,361                                           |
| Total         | 14,68,106                        | 1,87,931        | 82,003           | 55,468                  | 2,37,488                        | 54,036               | 20,85,032             | 29,659                       | 3,750                    | 58,499                            | 2,85,278          | 2,06,278       | 5,32,434               | 15,02,598                                        |

*This represents depreciation on investment less interest.

†Government securities sold during the year.

Statement showing transactions of the Staff Benefit Fund/ Fine Fund of Class I Railways for the year ending 31st March, 1935.

| Disbursements. |                                  |                 |                  |                         |                                     |                      |                       |                             |                           |                                     |                   |                |                        |                                                 |
|----------------|----------------------------------|-----------------|------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------|----------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------------|---------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Railways.      | Balance on the 31st March, 1932. | Fine inflicted. | Bonus forfeited. | Other amounts credited. | Contributions from Railway Revenue. | Interest on balance. | Total columns 2 to 7. | Hospital for sick employes. | Compassionate allowances. | Schools and education of the staff. | Recreation Clubs. | Miscellaneous. | Total columns 9 to 13. | Balance on the 31st March 1933. (Columns 8-14). |
|                |                                  |                 |                  |                         |                                     |                      |                       |                             |                           |                                     |                   |                |                        |                                                 |
| 1              | 2                                | 3               | 4                | 5                       | 6                                   | 7                    | 8                     | 9                           | 10                        | 11                                  | 12                | 13             | 14                     | 15                                              |
| A. B.          | 19,729                           | 1,810           | 7,418            | 140                     | 9,768                               | 510                  | 39,375                | 951                         | 363                       | 1,374                               | 12,190            | 2,543          | 17,421                 | 21,954                                          |
| B. & N. W.     | 27,617                           | 6,968           | 1,996            | 3,087                   | ..                                  | 3,829                | 43,497                | ..                          | ..                        | 10,941                              | 9,303             | 1,170          | 21,414                 | 22,083                                          |
| B. N.          | 62,011                           | 13,705          | 7,993            | 54                      | 29,960                              | 199                  | 1,03,912              | 500                         | 758                       | 8,441                               | 8,764             | 9,500          | 27,963                 | 75,949                                          |
| B. B. & C. I.  | 33,842                           | 5,302           | 1,580            | 10                      | 32,855                              | 688                  | 74,277                | 15,000                      | 63                        | 6,177                               | 21,639            | 1,175          | 44,054                 | 30,223                                          |
| Burma          | 37,882                           | 6,674           | 6,163            | 62                      | 10,302                              | 1,949                | 63,052                | ..                          | 39                        | 8,012                               | 20,027            | 1,500          | 29,578                 | 33,474                                          |
| E. B.          | 16,139                           | 3,559           | 3,889            | 18,884                  | 42,533                              | 1,476                | 86,480                | 665                         | 385                       | 170                                 | 22,448            | 20,838         | 44,506                 | 41,974                                          |
| E. I.          | 4,87,522                         | 51,307          | 4,728            | 1,32,728                | 48,501                              | 23,142               | 7,47,928              | 22,686                      | 80,038                    | 3,294                               | 23                | 1,01,399       | 2,07,440               | 5,40,488                                        |
| G. I. P.       | 3,87,542                         | 31,755          | 5,778            | 266                     | 28,110                              | 12,428               | 4,65,879              | ..                          | 510                       | 2,977                               | 24,199            | 10,209         | 37,895                 | 4,27,984                                        |
| Jodhpur        | 314                              | 2,066           | ..               | 59                      | 4,792                               | 18                   | 7,239                 | 660                         | ..                        | ..                                  | 4,992             | 340            | 5,992                  | 1,247                                           |
| M. & S. M.     | 1,22,111                         | 1,691           | 2,084            | 1,478                   | 9,000                               | 5,700                | 1,42,064              | 1,282                       | ..                        | 150                                 | 1,143             | 10,719         | 13,294                 | 1,28,770                                        |
| N. S.          | 33,119                           | 1,405           | 3,375            | 4,973                   | ..                                  | 1,497                | 44,369                | ..                          | ..                        | 82                                  | 8,545             | 1,378          | 10,005                 | 34,364                                          |
| N. W.          | 2,11,926                         | 33,077          | 2,729            | 18,904                  | 55,339                              | 4,700                | 3,26,975              | 9,835                       | 652                       | 5,410                               | 68,378            | 1,30,714       | 2,14,787               | 1,11,886                                        |
| R. & K.        | 2,483                            | 1,402           | 1,555            | 844                     | ..                                  | 1,498                | 6,382                 | ..                          | ..                        | 2,430                               | 3,335             | 61             | 5,826                  | 556                                             |
| S. I.          | 70,361                           | 4,895           | 1,891            | 5,883                   | 19,000                              | 3,202                | 1,05,232              | 120                         | 3,981                     | 62                                  | 12,666            | 14,634         | 31,463                 | 73,769                                          |
| Total          | 15,02,598                        | 1,65,806        | 49,799           | 1,87,372                | 2,90,160                            | 60,836               | 22,56,361             | 51,499                      | 86,789                    | 49,620                              | 2,17,860          | 3,06,180       | 7,11,638               | 15,44,723                                       |

(c), (d) and (e). I have called for information and will lay a reply on the table of the House in due course.

PROCEDURE FOLLOWED IN FILLING UP OF VACANCIES IN THE ELECTRICAL DEPARTMENT ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

58. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the procedure followed in the Electrical Department on the East Indian Railway to fill up vacancies in the higher grades of the supervising subordinate staff ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I have called for the information and will place it on the table of the House when received.

REPRESENTATION OF THE STAFF IN THE ELECTRICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY IN THE WELFARE COMMITTEE.

59. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state whether the staff in the Electrical Department of the East Indian Railway have got any representation in the Welfare Committee ? If so, whether the delegate is elected by the staff or nominated by the Administration ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The available information is given in the documents placed in the Library of the House in connection with unstarred question No. 7 asked on the 5th February, 1935.

REDUCTION OF PAY OF GRADUATES IN COMMERCE IN THE POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.

60. Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Is it not a fact that the Government of India, Industries and Labour, Posts and Telegraphs Branch, in their Memorandum No. 74-Est.-A/28, dated 19th September, 1930, recognised graduates and under-graduates in Commerce as equivalent to graduates and under-graduates in Arts and Science ?

(b) Is it not a fact that before the issue of the above orders certain graduates and under-graduates in Commerce were actually recruited in the Postal Department on a higher starting pay allowed to graduates and under-graduates in Arts and Science at that time, and that they were allowed to draw that higher rate of pay for several years ?

(c) Is it not the strict principle of the Government of India not to reduce the pay of an official which he was allowed to draw on the reasonable belief that he was entitled to it ?

(d) If the replies to parts (a) to (c) above be in the affirmative, how is it that the pay of graduates and under-graduates in Commerce years with retrospective effect to the minimum starting pay allowed to Matriculates, thereby also depriving them of their higher position in the Circle Graduation List ?

(e) Are Government prepared to consider this grievance and restore the pay and position of those who were started on a higher starting pay which was afterwards reduced ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes, but only with respect to men recruited on and from the date of the order.

(b) Yes, but the concession had been wrongly allowed by local authorities in a few cases.

(c) No.

(d) and (e). Do not arise in view of the replies to parts (b) and (c) above. I may add, however, that the recovery of the amounts overdrawn by the officials concerned prior to the date of orders in question was waived by Government.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

INTEREST OF INDIANS CONCERNED IN ZANZIBAR.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have received notice of a motion for adjournment on the Zanzibar question from Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant. I understand the Honourable the Leader of the House and the Honourable Member have talked over the matter and perhaps they will inform the House what has been the result.

12 Noon.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Sir, the position is this : we had some talk with Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant. I am not prepared to give an undertaking or guarantee that we shall be able to do this, but I am prepared to say that I shall try my best to give him two hours towards the end of the Session. If that satisfies my friend, he can act accordingly. If, on the other hand, he wants an undertaking or guarantee on a particular day, I am not in a position to do that and my Honourable friend can move his motion.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I feel a little handicapped in proceeding with my motion after the conversations I had with Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai and with the Honourable the Leader of the House. I understand his statement is as reasonable a guarantee as a person in his responsible position can give, that he will try his utmost to accommodate us. I cannot expect from him more than that. Perhaps he could have said as much in a more graceful manner, but that is after all a matter of taste.....

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is your monopoly.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : But, all the same, I am thankful to him and consider it unnecessary to proceed with my motion now in the circumstances.

ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO THE STANDING FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform the Assembly that up to 12 Noon on Friday, the 6th September, 1935, the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Finance Committee, only one nomination was received. As there is only one vacancy, I declare Mr. F. E. James to be duly elected to the Standing Finance Committee.

STATEMENT LAID

CASES IN WHICH THE LOWEST TENDERS HAVE NOT BEEN ACCEPTED BY THE GOVERNMENT

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and missioner for India, showing all cases in which the lowest tenders have not during the half-year ending the 30th June, 1935.

HIGH COMMISSIONER

INDIA STORE

ABSTRACT OF CASES in which tenders for stores demanded by the Central Govern goods demanded, were accepted on the grounds of superior quality, inspection, quicker

HALF YEAR ENDING

| Stores ordered. | Contract number. | Name of Contractor. | Amount of Contract. |
|-----------------|------------------|---------------------|---------------------|
|-----------------|------------------|---------------------|---------------------|

PART A.—Cases in which lower foreign tenders, including British tenders for foreign Nil.

PART B.—Cases in which the discrimination

|                                |                         |                           | £ s. d.                                                |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------|---------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|
| Tapes, measuring Steel No. 80. | R. 2759/4994/16-3-35 .. | J. Chesterman & Co., Ltd. | 75 5 0(British).                                   |
| Timber, lignum vitae, 10 cwts. | T. 78/27/13-4-35 ..     | Waterman & Ross, Ltd.     | 16 0 0approx.f. o. b.London(British).  |
| Timber, lignum vitae, 25 cwts. | T. 321/454/17-5-35 ..   | Waterman & Ross, Ltd.     | 30 10 0approx.f. o. b.London(British). |

PART C.—Cases in which the discrimination
Nil.

PART D.—Cases in which lower British tenders have
Nil.

ON THE TABLE.

HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR INDIA IN PURCHASING STORES FOR THE OF INDIA.

Labour) : Sir, I lay on the table a statement, furnished by the High Com- been accepted by him in purchasing stores for the Government of India,

FOR INDIA.

DEPARTMENT.

ment, other than the lowest complying with the technical description of the superior trustworthiness of the firm tendering, greater facility of delivery, etc.

30TH JUNE, 1935.

| Lowest Tender not accepted. | Reason for Acceptance. |
|-----------------------------|------------------------|
|-----------------------------|------------------------|

made goods, have been set aside wholly or partially in favour of British tenders.

Nil.

is between British firms only.

| £ s. d.                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 71 13 9(British).                               | The lowest tenderer required twelve weeks for delivery. As this delivery would not meet the requirements of the Indenting Officer the order was placed with the next lowest tenderer who offered delivery in four weeks. |
| 14 0 0f. o. b. Liverpool(British).          | The accepted tender was the more advantageous having regard to the extra cost of inspection at Liverpool.                                                                                                                | is between foreign firms only.
| 29 15 0approx. f. o. b.Liverpool (British). | Ditto ditto.                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

Nil.

been set aside in favour of foreign tenders.

Nil.

ELECTION OF A MEMBER FOR STANDING ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR THE INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I move :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the President may direct, one Member for the Standing Advisory Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of his seat in the Assembly by Sir Darcy Lindsay.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the President may direct, one Member for the Standing Advisory Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of his seat in the Assembly by Sir Darcy Lindsay.”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform Honourable Members that for the purpose of election of a Member to the Standing Advisory Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department, the Notice Office will be open to receive nominations upto 12 Noon on Wednesday, the 11th September, and the election, if necessary, will, as usual, be held in the Secretary's Room in the Assembly Building on Friday, the 13th September, 1935, between the hours of 10-30 A.M. and 1 P.M. The election will be conducted in accordance with the principle of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote.

THE CENTRAL PROVINCES COURTS (SUPPLEMENTARY) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill to supplement the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917. I need say nothing beyond the fact that this Bill is intended to make certain amendments of a formal nature in some enactments consequent on the establishment of a High Court of Judicature at Nagpur in the Central Provinces. Sir, I move.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be given to introduce a Bill to supplement the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917.”

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL—contd.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The House will now resume consideration of the following motion moved by the Honourable Sir Henry Craik on the 5th September, 1935 :

“ That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration.”

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadian Urban) : Mr. President, the other day I tried to bring to the notice of this House that the alleged grounds of suspended Civil Disobedience and revival of terrorism and extension of Communism, which were brought forward before the House by the Home Member for the sanction of a permanent measure like this, were not sufficient. There was another ground that he brought forward, and that was communalism ; and if one were to look at his speech, it almost seems as if he tried to put stress on this ground of communalism. What I should like to realise is what is this communalism ? I am all the while trying, so that we may not get into a panicky state and be stampeded into voting for something that we have not given sufficient thought about.

Communalism can be of two kinds. One is what I might say the intellectual communalism, and the other one may be the lower type—what may be called the rowdy type. All the blame of communalism is going to be put on the scapegoat of the press, as if it is the press which is responsible for this communalism. Let me dispose of this intellectual communalism or the higher type of communalism that unfortunately has been created in this country. If it exists today, who is the worst offender in this respect ? I am afraid Mr. Morgan's group and his community in this country is perhaps more responsible for it than any other of the indigenous communities in this country. (Cries of “ Oh ” from the European Group Benches.) I will prove it if you say “ Oh ”. It is not merely Mr. Morgan's community that is responsible for this, but there is the other party also, that is, the Government of India. (Opposition cries of “ Hear, hear.”) What is the meaning of fancy franchise ? What is the meaning of all kinds of different compartments into which the Constitution has been divided ? What is the meaning of the overwhelming number of seats in the Bengal Legislative Council which has been given to the European community, out of all proportion ? What is the meaning of your reserving all the highly paid services in the Army, Navy and other branches exclusively for Europeans ? You start from the Magna Charta right up to the latest pronouncement made by the Viceroy, and what is the promise given to this country ? That promise is that no distinction of race, creed or colour will be observed in giving appointments, and yet, what is the position today ? In the last Session of the Assembly, we were told what was the percentage of Indians in the higher services in this country. Look at the Indian Civil Service, look at the Indian Medical Service with which I am well conversant, and, I say, if that is not communalism, what else is it ? Communalism does not mean merely going for each other in a rowdy manner, communalism also means giving everything to one community, and I make bold to say that perhaps in this respect no other community can be charged to the same extent with communalism as the European community. (“ Hear, hear ” from Congress Party Benches.) I was surprised, Sir, to hear my intellectual friends like Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah saying that it is a blot on us that communalism does exist without trying to understand the causes of such communalism. Why, let me now come to the lower type of communalism. If there is rioting in some place, are we going to take part in it. Or can the papers be held responsible for either one type or other ? No. It is not on account of presses that this kind of communalism exists. I do not want to go into the sinister origin of these communal troubles. I am not here to prove that. My only point is this, that this Bill is intended to muzzle the press in this country, and, therefore, I want to prove to the House conclusively that the press has nothing to do with either the starting or the stopping of riots. Here I may be permitted to give my own personal experience. I have seen these riots. I have had a great deal to do with these inter-communal riots, the so-called Hindu-Muslim riots in Bombay twice. One riot took place in 1928 and the other in 1932. Now, Sir, I want you to take note of the dates particularly. In 1928, there was no Criminal Law Amendment Act in existence. By the time the riots broke out for the second time in Bombay, and that was in 1932, the Criminal Law Amendment Act came into being, and what do we find? Sir, in 1928, the riots came to an end within eight days, with much less casualties, with much less trouble and loss to the commercial community in Bombay....

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

Mr. F. E. James (Madras : European) : That was because you were the Mayor of Bombay?

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : That was partly due to that. Sir, I had a great deal to do with it. As a matter of fact, it was not the papers which were responsible for bringing the riots to an end, but it was the Peace Committee which was started in that City by the Mayor of that year which brought the riots to an early end. ("Hear, hear" from Congress Party Benches.) Now, Sir, look at the riots of 1932. The rioting went on for ten weeks with untold misery to the poor people, and it inflicted a great deal of loss to the commerce of Bombay. Therefore, what is the good of your saying that, if you don't have these laws, communalism will be rampant, that you see great danger ahead, there were never such times as the present when communalism was rampant? There is absolutely no meaning in these arguments at all. Somehow or other, I feel that this is a flimsy argument brought forward to enact this measure, and all these arguments are urged in favour of the measure so that some of our friends, who do not want to think over the matter themselves and want to take the opinions that come from the other side, may swallow them. Well, Sir, all the arguments that have been urged in favour of the four points by the Honourable the Home Member for receiving the sanction of the House have not got much substance in them. But, then, I want to put it to you the other way. At any rate, even the Opposition conceded that these are all different troubles having different causes, having different geographical origin, and, therefore, what is the duty of an administrator? The duty of an administrator is not to suggest, like a quack, one remedy for all diseases. That indeed is not the duty of a good physician; he should see that each disease is treated on its own merits, but the quack prescribes a common remedy for all diseases. He prescribes one remedy for all diseases from constipation to cholera. This is what the administrator should not do. The Government say they will have one Bill and that will cure all the political ills of this country. Sir, the whole objective of this Bill has been, whatever appearance it may have, to muzzle the press, and our European administrators are not doing this for nothing. I do not want to go into the reasons as to why they are doing it, but I know this much that they are not doing this for nothing, and the reason is obvious. Anybody conversant with general literature will know that it is the printed word that is of great importance, that it was on account of presses and the printing machines which came into existence in Europe that Europe was pulled out of its dark ages. It was on account of the printed word that the superstition which existed before was made to disappear, it was the printed copy of the Bible that made all the superstition disappear, and, Sir, I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that the object of this Bill is to muzzle the printing press and the printed word. If they had the choice, they would muzzle even the spoken word....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali (Delhi : General) : They are muzzling it.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : My friend says, they are muzzling it. I have not the least doubt that they have done it, or, at any rate, if they could, they would certainly muzzle the word of mouth too. You can see that the whole object of this measure is to attack the press, because they do not want that our people should be sufficiently educated to criticise the actions of the Government officials, the actions of the bureaucracy, so that these bureaucrats and other Government officials may be left uncriticised, so that they may continue in the enjoyment of limitless powers in this village land of India. The fact is, they do not want that the people should improve, and that is why the whole measure has been brought forward. After all, this measure, Sir, as you yourself suggested years ago, is a two-faced measure. It shows one face to us, Assembly Members, and the other face to the outside world, but the object behind it is quite different, and that object is, as I have been trying to impress upon Honourable Members, to muzzle the press. Sir, there is a saying in India, and that saying applies most appropriately to this measure, and the saying is : "Mukhse Ram bagal men Chhoori". For the information of my friends opposite, I may say, it means this : "With a Sermon on the Mount in the Mouth, but a stiletto in the side." And it is said that this measure is being enacted to save us from communalism, terrorism, and all the other isms, but the whole object of the Bill is, whichever way you may look at it, to safeguard and protect the officials in the future Constitution; the real underlying object is, whichever way the officials may behave in the future Constitution, to see that they should go on untrammelled in the exercise of their tyrannical power. It is only on account of that that this measure is being enacted in the teeth of popular opposition. Therefore, Sir, I am entreating all my Indian friends to look at the whole question from a proper perspective, and not to be led away by specious arguments when recording their votes, I entreat all my Indian friends to record their votes with reason. Sir, we on this side have nothing to offer to our friends; all that we can do is to convince them on grounds of reason that this measure is superfluous and dangerous and how they should vote; we have nothing else to offer, but to entreat them to think seriously before they cast their votes. Most of us are at the other end of our life, but if this measure is passed, what is going to happen to our children and grandchildren? It is mainly by means of newspapers that public opinion is created.

The Honourable Member from Midnapore, the other day, said, what is wrong with the curtailment of liberty? I think he was right. He is one of those Englishmen who has been surfeited and satiated with liberty. He is naturally, Sir, suffering from indigestion of liberty and thinks that liberty is a poison to others; but will he refer to the history of his own country for a moment and will he deny that it was for the retention of liberty that the British nation lost one continent? Otherwise, today the American continent also would have been painted the same red colour as the other half of the world. And what is the good of comparing liberty with professions, dangerous professions? Liberty cannot be compared with professions. The analogy is entirely wrong. It is no good saying that you demand security from the dealers in poison. Is liberty poison?

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

I ask my Honourable friend to refer to the literature of his own country. Liberty is life, is the very breath of life, and if you are going to say, that a person must deposit Rs. 500 before his child starts to breathe, or that he must deposit Rs. 5,000 or Rs. 10,000 as he grows old at the age of five or ten, would that be reasonable? Even this question of liberty is not being looked at from the proper point of view. It is liberty that we want, liberty under the law, and we are, therefore, keen that these laws which actually come in the way of liberty shall not be passed.

Sir, a great deal of point has been made about dummy editors. I should like to ask the Honourable the Home Member whether Babu Motilal Ghose was a dummy editor, whether Lokamanya Bal Gangadhar Tilak, the father of the Home Rule Movement in India, was a dummy editor, whether Agarkar, the social reformer in Maharashtra, was a dummy editor, whether Mr. (afterwards Sir) Surendra Nath Banerjee was a dummy editor. You come here and give us as reason for your action something that has been produced by your own action. It is the same old trick. The common law of the land, section 124A, was misused, and, therefore, can you blame people when no honest man is allowed to continue as editor? It is the same old trick of the administration. It was alluded to by Abraham Lincoln. You do something to provoke people and then you take that as an excuse to bring forward some other repressive measures. What are you doing under this measure? You are putting discretion, it may be nominal, in the hands of the District Magistrate—bad enough. But on whose evidence will he demand security? On the evidence of the police—that police of ours who mistake sweetmeats for bombs—I suppose everybody knows the incident—that police like this, that C. I. D. like this—or the information of these men, the District Magistrate is going to ask the man to put down the security immediately. We consider that the liberty of the press which this Bill is going to take away is absolutely vital for the advancement of our country. It cannot be admitted for a minute that the powers which were given during the time that the present Act was in force were exercised in the proper fashion. By the fruits shall you judge them? I will give you a very little incident and that is this. In Bombay we have what is called the Rationalist Association. It may be information for Mr. James to hear that I am the President of that Rationalist Association. We conduct a magazine which is called Reason.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah (Sind Jagirdars and Zamindars : Landholders) : May I put one question to my Honourable friend? He referred to the riots of 1932. May I ask him in what month those riots took place?

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : I do not know if the Honourable Member was in charge of that department of riots.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : When did the Criminal Law Amendment Act come into force? At the end of 1932 or before?

An Honourable Member : The Ordinance was there.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah was in office, he had a great deal to do in office.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : I had nothing to do with the riots.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : I know that you had nothing to do with the riots. I never saw you round about there. (Laughter.) But I can prove to you....

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : You made an assertion and the burden lies on you to prove the dates when the riots occurred.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : You were the Executive Councillor of the Government of Bombay, and you were in Bombay itself and you do not know that the riots were taking place in June?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member should address the Chair. He cannot carry on a conversation across the floor of the House with another Member of the House.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : Very well, Sir. Through you I want to tell my Honourable friend that the riots continued from April to June. And the Ordinance was there. (Laughter.) The Press Act was there. If he had seen the trend of my argument, he would have realised that my argument was that these riots to which so much attention has been drawn did occur in spite of the Press Act being there. That I suppose the Honourable Member cannot deny if he is keen on these dates.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : I wanted to correct you when you made a statement that the Criminal Law Amendment Act was in force at the time.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. The Honourable Member must address the Chair.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : I am very sorry to waste the time of the House over this thing. The Emergency Press Act was passed in 1931 if you please. Is that right? That is one year before the riots.

An Honourable Member : Ignore those interruptions.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : I will take no notice because he had nothing to do with the riots; during the three months, I never saw him even once in Bombay. (Laughter.) Where was I when you interrupted me?

An Honourable Member : You were the President of the Rationalist Association.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : I thought those who interrupted me might oblige me by telling where I was when I was interrupted. I was telling you that we have a magazine that is being edited for all intellectuals, having nothing to do with politics, and that is called Reason. What do we find? One day a sub-inspector of police comes into the office and says, "Hand over all the copies of the Reason you have got". The Secretary, naturally, being a young man, not having much experience of this world, resented and telephoned to me as to what was to be done. We are not lawyers, we do not know much law. I said : "The best thing we can do is to hand him over the copies." He took those copies away. We quietly submitted to the sub-inspector. But, after a month, those copies were returned to us, I do not know for what reasons. Now, you can imagine if this kind of thing exists in Bombay where public opinion is, to a certain extent, of some importance, what must it be in the country, what must it be outside? What will it be in distant places and villages? And it is absolutely useless for you people to come here and say, these powers will be exercised mildly and let us have them on the Statute-book,

648

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[9TH SEP. 1935.]

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

and, after all, we have a right of repealing the measure. I will tell the Honourable gentleman who put forward that argument, that judges after judges have pointed out the deficiencies about section 124A, but what provision have you been able to make to repeal it? Look at the notice given by my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, for the repeal of all the repressive laws dating back to 1818. What have you been able to repeal? It does not seem to me to be a common sense argument. We will soil ourselves first and then we will have a cleaning afterwards. Why soil yourself first by this Bill and try to have a cleaning afterwards? Have nothing to do with the Bill from the very beginning, from now. We think that the press is absolutely necessary for the requirements of our people, and that is why we are opposing these provisions so strongly. If the Honourable the Home Member does not take away all the individual restrictions, I would consider it as of little importance; if he likes to keep those restrictions, I would not care. But what I do care is that the press being the means of educating and elevating our people, let there be no restrictions on that press. We have been exhorted, times without number, by speakers on that side that we must take the full sense of our responsibility, but that responsibility we feel is the education and elevation of our people, the uplift of our people, so that they may not be serfs and slaves, but proper subjects, so that they will claim their just rights, and, what is more, maintain them against a bureaucracy limitless in power. Sir, that is our object and that is the responsibility which we have undertaken and will undertake, and, in the name of that responsibility, we will not accept this Bill.

Mr. R. S. Sarma (Nominated Non-Official) : Sir, it is always very difficult and a great handicap to rise to speak immediately after so effective and accomplished a speaker as Dr. Deshmukh who has just finished, but all the same I am grateful to you, Mr. President, for the opportunity you have given me this morning of making one or two brief observations on the motion now before the House. I shall indeed be very brief, as I propose to confine my remarks solely to those provisions of the Bill which relate to the press. Sir, the heavy artillery of the Opposition has been directed against those clauses of the Bill which seek to control the press; I think I can claim, of all Members of this House, to be in a better position to speak about this particular aspect of the Bill, as I have been a working journalist for over a decade or so,

An Honourable Member : Friendly journal?

Mr. R. S. Sarma : Yes, although I have not had the advantages enjoyed even by unfriendly journals today. As one who owned, at one time, three daily papers in Calcutta and at the present time the owner of a weekly paper, I rise today to state to the House what I, as a working journalist and as a newspaperman, feel about this Bill. Before doing so, let me, Sir, make a passing reference, and a passing reference only, to the speech of my friend, Mr. Krishna Kant Malaviya. Dr. Deshmukh in the beginning of his speech said that he liked the speech of the Honourable the Home Member. I may also say that of all the speeches delivered from those Benches, I liked the speech of Mr. Malaviya most. I was rather surprised at the slight annoyance experienced by the Finance Member or the Home Member when Mr. Malaviya spoke. If I were the Home Member, I would have immediately run to the seat of Mr. Malaviya and embraced him, because there was no speech more helpful and more useful to the Home Member than the speech of Mr. Malaviya himself. Some Honourable Members might have had doubts about the wisdom of a measure of this character at this juncture. There might have been others who might have had doubts, whether apart from the merits of the Bill, the time was opportune just on the eve of the introduction of great constitutional changes in this country, to put on the Statute-book a measure which might be called a reactionary measure, but after the clear and unmistakable speech of my friend, Mr. Malaviya, all those misgivings must have vanished from the mind of every Member.

An Honourable Member : You have not understood him.

Mr. R. S. Sarma : Because, Sir, however, much Mr. Malaviya might have condemned the acts of violence and terrorism, his speech was a clear glorification of the motives and the patriotism of those people who had committed those offences. It is speeches of that character and writings of that character in the press that this Bill is intended to prevent.

Now, Sir, I want to tell the House as a common sense journalist how I view this measure and I do it from a simple standpoint. (Interruption.) I do not mind interruptions so long as they are intelligible—and I am accustomed to interruptions in this House. Just as every other measure in the Statute-book, this is essentially a preventive measure. There are provisions in the existing Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code which give powers to the executive and judiciary, powers which are terrifying when one reads them, but I come to the logical conclusion that these are only danger signals serving as a warning to those people who want to overstep the limits of the law. Judged from that point of view, I do not think any one need fear any of the provisions of the present Bill. I do not think there is anything to fear, if one does not want to break the law. Dr. Deshmukh said that the newspaper is a great force and plays a great part in educating public opinion, and that this measure is intended to stifle the freedom of the press. I know that newspapers are very powerful, that newspapers are necessary, they are often talked of as the fourth estate of the realm. The influence of the press is very great indeed all over the world and it is all the more so in our country, though I do not know whether this tremendous influence in India is for good or for evil. If one has followed the writings in the Indian press during the last few years, one would realise the mischief that the Indian newspapers have been able to create in the cause of terrorism and other subversive movements in this country.

An Honourable Member : Question.

Mr. R. S. Sarma : In England or any other country in Europe, people read only the news and not the views in the papers and come to their own conclusions, but things are very different in India. With our masses, whatever is printed is gospel truth.

An Honourable Member : It is just the other way.

Mr. R. S. Sarma : Not at all, Sir. I have known Members of the Legislature in some provinces who have not read the Government of India Act but have gone and discussed the Act with high officials and when they were questioned in detail, they had to admit that they had not read the Government of India Act but only the comments in papers like the

[Mr. R. S. Sarma.]

Amrita Bazar Patrika and the Hindustan Times about the Government of India Act. Even the head lines of some of these papers are dangerous and revolting. Everybody is familiar with the famous head line which appeared in a Calcutta paper, when that dangerous terrorist, Dinesh, was executed. The paper brought out the head line 'Dauntless Dinesh dies at dawn'. Look at the alliteration and the emotion. If these things do not manufacture terrorists, I wonder what does. Any one who has followed the leading articles in many of the Indian newspapers will have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that these terrorists are not born but are made in the columns of some of the newspapers; our Indian masses are very credulous and the ignorant and the sentimental section of the public are being most mercilessly exploited by journalist politicians. That is a factor which the Government are bound to take note of. I shall give from my own experience an illustration of how the ordinary man is misled. It is to protect that kind of man from being exploited that I want an Act of this kind put on the Statute-book.

Mr. Birla, who was once a distinguished Member of this House, owned the Calcutta evening newspaper, The New Empire, of which I was the editor. There was a breakdown in our press and we could not print our paper in our own press. As there was no other well equipped Indian printing press in Calcutta, where a daily newspaper could be printed, we arranged to print it in the Statesman press. At that time, the Statesman was subjected to a very severe boycott because of certain articles that appeared in that paper against the late Lokamanya Bal Gangadhar Tilak. There was a great propaganda in the newspapers as to why Mr. Birla's paper was printed in the Statesman press. There was a vigorous campaign against us going on in the press and there was a great public meeting called one day to condemn Mr. Birla and myself for our printing our paper in the Statesman press. Well, the fact is, we tried the Indian press and we did not succeed, because no Indian press could, day after day, print 6,000 or 7,000 copies and we were indeed very thankful to the Statesman that they allowed us to do it. There was held this public meeting, attended by twenty thousand men, and Mr. Birla asked me: "Why don't you go to this meeting and explain matters, and why we were obliged to print our paper in the Statesman press." Though I knew the hostile character of the audience, I took courage in both hands, went to the meeting, got upon the platform and explained matters to the audience. Well, the audience looked as if they were convinced. I said, if anybody could suggest any Indian press where we could print, I was willing to pay a thousand rupees a month more than what we were paying to the Statesman. One fellow got up and said: "Why, there is the Marwari press, (Mr. Birla is a Marwari), in which you can print the paper." I asked, what is this Marwari press which can print a daily newspaper? Then one man got up and said: "There is of course the Halwasiya press." I said the Halwasiya press was a jute press and not a printing press; but a man suddenly got up on the table and shouted: "Never mind, all the same it is a press." (Laughter.) He won the day. Now, Sir, that is the mentality of the masses who read our newspapers. It is said that the effect of this Act would be to prevent honest expression of views. I deny this. Can anybody point out whether any extremist newspaper which has not been malicious or scurrilous has been subjected to any embarrassment? I will give you a very good illustration. Take the Hindu of Madras. Now, it always enjoys the blessings of Mahatma Gandhi, who has said that the Hindu is doing a great national service. It is a Congress organ. (Voices: "No, no.") Yes, Sir, for all practical purposes, though it has not the Congress label. Well, at the last elections, what did it do? My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, depends upon the Hindu of Madras to publish all his speeches....

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City: Non-Muhammadan Urban): No, Sir, I depend on the justice of my cause—I depend on the Indian National Congress and on nobody else.

Mr. R. S. Sarma: Why, as to publicity and propaganda, I say Mr. Satyamurti preaches through these newspapers, through the Hindu. Therefore that paper is for all practical purposes a Congress paper. Now, has it suffered in any way? It wrote openly saying that Sir Shanmukham Chetty should be defeated, that Diwan Bahadur Ramaswamy Mudaliar should be defeated, that Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty and Mr. Satyamurti should be returned with large majorities. Has it suffered in any way for its expression of views? On the other hand the Hindu is favoured with all Government advertisements. The paper is in the good books of the Government. An illustrious Member of the Government of India, Sir Frank Noyce, went last year to Calcutta and performed the opening ceremony of the Calcutta office of that paper. Now, the editor of that paper is supposed to be the editor of an extremist paper. Has he suffered in any way? He even got a Silver Jubilee medal! I am only trying to show that the Government do not mind, however, violently it writes so long as it does not support terrorism, so long as, by seeming to condemn acts of violence, it is not glorifying such acts as being inspired by patriotism and noble ideas....

An Honourable Member: Does the Hindu support this measure?

Mr. R. S. Sarma: It does not. That is my argument. Even when Government does not get the support of that paper in the matter, I say, look at the consideration that the Government is giving to that paper. Only the other day, Honourable Members might remember, that the Honourable the Home Member on the floor of the House, raised the Hindu to the dignity of a friendly press. My point is while papers can write as violently as they do such as the Hindu of Madras or the Amrita Bazar Patrika of Calcutta, so long as they do not overstep the limits of decency, so long as they do not secretly sympathize with the terrorist movement, so long as they do not supply inspiration and encouragement to terrorists and breakers of law—I say no man need fear this legislation. I admit, Sir, that the tone of the press has lately improved. And why? Because of the existence of these provisions—not because of any change of heart. I know sometimes even some of these extremist papers privately like such Acts like this. (Voices of: "Oh, oh")

An Honourable Member: Where did you get that from?

Mr. R. S. Sarma: Now, suppose the Press officer instead of exercising his powers goes in a friendly manner to some of these papers and gently says: "Why don't you please co-operate with me? Don't publish this kind of inciting stuff." How often the editor of such a paper will not actually say, as so many have done, "I agree, but you see if I do not publish this, my rival newspaper will, and, therefore, it is better that you issue some sort of communique that nothing should be published." (Laughter.) That is the attitude of many of the papers.

[Mr. R. S. Sarma.]

Sir, there is one important point which my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, mentioned and which, other speakers on the Opposition side have mentioned, namely, that the most essential thing to do in order to combat terrorism is to find avenues of employment for our educated youth. That is a very important subject no doubt; but I want to make one observation. This terrorism is confined to India or rather to Bengal; but unemployment is all the world over. Why should this terrorism be here alone? Of course that does not prevent my agreeing fully with what my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, said on this point, namely, that the one thing you should do is to find avenues of employment and occupation for our educated young men. Now, coming from Bengal as I do, I am proud to make the statement, on the floor of this House, that no one in India has a clearer and fuller realization of the need of efforts in this direction than my Governor, His Excellency Sir John Anderson. (Loud and Prolonged Cheers.) Only last week, Sir, he made a most notable pronouncement in the Bengal Legislative Council. In words of clear and incisive eloquence, words all the more weighty because of their restraint and reticence and careful avoidance of over-emphasis, His Excellency examined the present position of the terrorist movement in Bengal and made a notable announcement which I shall read in his own words:

"Government have decided upon giving to selected detenus at the expense of the State a training which would enable them to assist in developing the natural resources of the country, both to their own profit and to the profit and advantage of the country at large."

The details of the scheme which has been propounded by His Excellency are now public property and have been published in the papers....

An Honourable Member: After how many years?

Another Honourable Member: Under what conditions?

Mr. R. S. Sarma: Under conditions necessary for this experiment to succeed. Honourable Members will find that in this great and statesman-like announcement there lie the beginnings of a still greater and more far-reaching campaign of solving the unemployment problem and I think it is my duty, on the floor of this House, on behalf of Bengal, to pay my unstinted meed of tribute and admiration to His Excellency Sir John Anderson. (Loud and Prolonged Cheers.) Sir, one Honourable friend asks me—why then the need for this Act and what is the particular need for this legislation? I say it is to prepare the field for the successful working of the new experiment, so that these unfortunate young men will not be induced again to fall into the trap of pursuing these violent and destructive methods. That is the reason. (Hear, hear.) I say nobody need be in fear except those people who lurking in the background exploit eager and thoughtless youth in the interests of universal disorder. (Hear, hear.)

Sir, one word more and I have done. The Hindustan Times characterised rather sarcastically this Bill day before yesterday as Lord Willingdon's parting gift.

Some Honourable Members: Parting kick.

Mr. R. S. Sarma: In my opinion, it is a real gift, and my countrymen may not realise the value and significance of this measure today. They may think that it is a reactionary piece of legislation; but let me assure this House and my friends that long after the present political turmoil is over and long after the dust of the present political controversy has subsided, when my Honourable friends, Mr. Bhulabhai Desai, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant and Mr. Satyamurti, become Ministers in their own provinces and sit in their official chairs, engaged in useful constructive national work, free from the fear of the bomb and the revolver, when they will find that the youngmen who are now an embarrassment to the State become useful members of society, when the future Indian Prime Minister of this country, who may be a Congress dictator, finds that he can carry on his work of national reconstruction without the necessity of a Hitler purge of the 30th June of last year, when this consummation, God willing, materialises, not only will the name of Lord Willingdon be cherished with affection by my grateful countrymen and remembered with gratitude but his whole policy will stand out as a shining testimony of what he and his Colleagues had been able to do to make India not only fit for self-government but safe for the enjoyment of those precious privileges. (Applause.)

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions: Non-Muhammadan Rural): Sir, I wish to speak on a point of personal explanation. I did not want to interrupt the Honourable Mr. Sarma when he was in the midst of his speech. I am afraid he would have charged me with discourtesy as he has charged me with other things. His charge is entirely baseless and I treat his insinuations with the contempt which they deserve....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): That is not a point of personal explanation. The Honourable Member must confine himself to his point of personal explanation.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya: I am coming to that. He said that I was glorifying murders. That was the charge that he laid at my door. I do not object to my Honourable friend for he is speaking on behalf of the constituency which he so ably represents....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): If the Honourable Member is making a speech, the Chair cannot allow that. He can only say something by way of personal explanation.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya: What I want to say is this. I come as a representative of the people of this country and as their representative I have to speak....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Order, order. If the Honourable Member has no personal explanation to offer, the Chair would ask him to sit down.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya: What I wanted to say was this that I was speaking for men who could not speak for themselves here. The Honourable Member has entirely misunderstood me. I did not defend murders....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Chair would ask the Honourable Member to resume his seat. Apparently, he has no personal explanation to make.

Sir Muhammad Yakub (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Muhammadan Rural) : Mr. President, the Bill before the House is not a new measure. It has passed through the searching scrutiny of a strong Select Committee and was also hammered on the floor of this House, in a full-dress debate, in 1932, when it was placed on the Statute-book of the country, for a period of three years. That period is now going to expire, and the present Bill is intended to remove some of the provisions of that Act and to continue others for an indefinite period. It is, therefore, our duty to examine under what conditions the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 was passed and whether the time has come and the conditions in the country are such that the whole of this Act should be repealed.

Sir, we all know it very well that when the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 was passed, the country was passing through a state of chaos and anarchy. Civil Disobedience and boycott were rampant, the peace of the country was threatened everyday and persistent boycotts and hartals made the peaceful avocations of the day impossible. It was under these circumstances that the Government of India were forced to enact a measure which was no doubt of a repressive nature but which was justified to meet the conditions prevailing in the country. When this Bill was passed, what was the effect ? The effect of it was that all those pernicious movements and all those nefarious activities were stopped and the peaceful progress of the country continued unmolested. The Government have, therefore, decided that the provisions of the Act which are no longer required should now be repealed. It shows that the Government of India do not want to keep harsh measures on the Statute-book a minute longer after the necessity for their enactment becomes non-existent. During the time when this Act was in force, no difficulty was experienced in lawful activities and peaceful political movements of the country. The Indian National Congress was able to hold a full-fledged Session in 1933, at Bombay, without in any way experiencing any difficulty on account of this Act. Similarly, many other Provincial Conferences were held unmolested. This shows that the power which was vested, by this Act, upon the local authorities and the Provincial Governments was not misused or abused.

Now, Sir, of the sections of the Act of 1932 which will be retained under the new Bill, the most important ones to which objection has been taken are sections 5, 7, 11 and 13. Section 5 relates to the dissemination of the contents of proscribed documents and it is considered as an attack on the liberty of the press and the liberty of the speech. I quite agree with my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, when he says that the press is a very powerful machine for moulding the public opinion and, therefore, it becomes extremely necessary for us to see whether the great power which the press exercises in the country is being exercised for the benefit of the young generation of India or to their detriment. Is it not a fact, Sir, that the mischievous speeches of some irresponsible persons are the root cause of many of our miseries and troubles ? Is it not a fact that the communal tension and communal riots in India are caused by fiery speeches.....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Of communalists.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Yes, quite right. The present Bill is intended to stop the activities of those communalists. What I was going to say is that the communal riots are caused by the fiery speeches of mischievous persons and by the mischievous articles that appear in the communalist papers of India. (Hear, hear.) Look at the small State of Loharu, which is not even equal to the four walls of our Legislative Assembly, and yet a lot of agitation is being carried on.....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I rise to a point of order, Sir. Is the Honourable Member in order in referring to an Indian State ? Can we make any reference to any Indian State in this House and to the incidents going on there ? Some of my questions were disallowed on that very ground.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member, the Chair is sure, will not refer to incidents in Indian States.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : I am not referring to the incidents that take place in Loharu. What I am going to say is that the mischievous speakers in British India go from Simla and Delhi and publish their poisonous statements in communal papers in Delhi and Lahore and I, therefore, say, that these mischievous persons are responsible for the communal tension from Rajputana to Lahore. If there is a small spark of communal tension in one part of the country, the communal papers fan it into a huge blaze which would set fire to the whole country from one end to the other. This is what we have experienced for a very long time and which we are seeing here every day.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Yes, the communalists sit in conference in the cool heights of Simla.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Of course they do meet and at the expense of the Government of India, because they also draw their daily allowance of Rs. 20 a day !

Now, Sir, is it not the duty of the Government to impose restrictions and curtail the liberty of such mischief-making press ? Of course all honour is due to the nation-building section of the Indian Press. They have done their work nobly in a way which commands our respect, and they have nothing to fear from any measure which may be placed on the Statute-book. (Hear, hear.) Sir, probably there is no other country in the world, except France and England, where the Press and the platform enjoys more liberty than is enjoyed by the Press and the platform in India even in the face of the present laws on the Statute-book. Liberty unrestricted is a very luring term to pronounce, but does it—nay, can it exist in any phase of our social or political life. On the contrary we find that those who are the loudest in their demand for unrestricted liberty are the greatest sinners in curtailing the liberty of the people. (Hear, hear.) The case of Soviet Russia is a case to the point. It will take our Honourable friends on the Opposition Benches a good deal further up if they gather courage to go to Russia and make a speech criticising the administration of that country. The Press and the platform in Russia are being used there only as the mouthpiece of the Government and the mouthpiece of the administration and it would be too bold indeed to associate the liberty of the Press and the platform with the present state of conditions prevailing in Soviet Russia. Mr. President, two years ago when I was in Constantinople, a number of the representatives of newspapers of that historic city called on me and approached me with the request that I should give them a statement about my impression of the tour. Being an Indian Mussalman, I started by saying that “ for a long time I cherished a great desire to pay a visit to the capital of the old Islamic Khilafat and that I was glad that that desire was fulfilled then". At this the poor representatives trembled in their shoes and said that it was impossible for them to publish anything containing the word "Khilafat" or "Khalifa" or things like that. (Hear, hear.) These are the conditions prevailing in countries where monarchs were butchered and thrones were over-turned in the name of liberty and freedom. Coming nearer home, may I be excused if I say that even the Congress movement in India cannot subsist without putting drastic restrictions in their own field. (Hear, hear.) The Khaddar franchise, the taking of pledges from members or ban against attending social functions given in honour of Government servants are some of the examples of this curtailment of the liberty on the part of the Congress movement. (Applause.) We are not ignorant of the feeling which is in the minds of certain Congress members in opposition to these restrictions.

[Sir Muhammad Yakub.]

Some Honourable Members : No, no. There is none.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : There it is all the same, and I leave it at that. For a Government the imposition of restrictions becomes more a duty than a mere convention and a Government would not be worth the name if it does not restrict the liberties of some in the interests of all. The unfinished speech of the Honourable the Law Member on the Bill which was sponsored by my Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das, has clearly proved that Communism and terrorism not only do exist but they are still germinating in this country and he has also proved beyond doubt how the Congress movement is linked with that, a fact which was proved by the speech delivered by my Honourable friend, Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya, the other day. Is it, therefore, wise on our part to refuse to arm the Government with the necessary powers to deal with a situation arising out of the circumstances? Now, Sir, the question is, whether we only want applause from the Press.

An Honourable Member : And also from Government.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : And the public and from the Government as well. I am quite sure that Congress will receive applause from the Government because I imagine that there has been for a long time some subterranean connection between the Government and the Congress. (Laughter.) Whenever Government want to give some liberty to the country, some more reforms to the country, the Congress comes in between and puts some spoke in the wheel of the advancement of the country; and that shows that there is some subterranean connection between the Congress and Government. (Laughter.) Therefore, my friend is right when he says that they would also expect an applause from Government. If this Bill is thrown out at this stage, the Opposition no doubt will have the satisfaction, the empty satisfaction, of inflicting another defeat upon Government, which they cannot remove by their vote. But what would be the result? Will they be able, by doing so, to stop the placing of this Bill on the Statute-book? On the other hand, if we allow the consideration motion, we will be able to improve the provisions of some of the clauses, when the Bill is discussed, clause by clause, we can move amendments and the united House can pass amendments. I am not in a position to advise the Honourable Members on the Opposition Benches, but I am more concerned with my friends on the Opposition Benches because they are our countrymen and their goal and our goal is the same, while the goal of Government is not the same; and I want you to join hands with me and take the ball to the common goal. Nor do I pose to play the part of a peacemaker, but as an humble worker and as a sincere friend of my country, I appeal to the Honourable Members on the Opposition Benches that they should allow the clauses of this Bill to be discussed on the floor of the House so that we may be able to modify some of its provisions and we may also be able to fix a time limit on its life as we did on the previous occasion. Here are two alternatives: either you have the Bill on the Statute-book, in the form in which it is presented before the House, or you have a modified, polished and a more improved Bill if you vote for the motion before the House. From this point of view I feel myself constrained to vote for the motion before the House.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) in the Chair.

MEMBER SWORN.

Mr. John Desmond Boyle, M.L.A. (Bombay : European).

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL—contd.

Sardar Sant Singh (West Punjab : Sikh) : Sir, after the surgical operations of the Bill performed by the distinguished surgeon of Bombay—I refer to the Honourable Dr. Deshmukh—I thought that the local sore would show some signs of cure; but from the speech of my Honourable friend, Sir Muhammad Yakub, who is not now in his seat, and my Honourable friend, Mr. Sarma, who too does not seem to have come back, it seems that the other distinguished surgeon from Southern India, Dr. Rajan, will have to repeat the operation in order to bring about a recovery.

The history of the various nations has left certain lessons for the administrators of states, but I find that in this land the lessons of history are ignored. History tells us that the multiplication of grievances of the subject races leads to discontent, which in its turn leads to resentment, which in its turn leads to open armed rebellion. The lessons of history are very clear on the point, and, if ignored, they extract the full price from those who happen to be in power for the time being. That this lesson is known to the Honourable the Home Member is clear from the very fact that in his speech he said that this legislation is directed for the benefit of the dumb millions, the masses of this country. Whether it is for the benefit of the millions or not is to be judged from the actual facts that are taking place in the country and not from the idle professions which can be made on the basis of certain police information supplied to the Honourable the Home Member. May I ask him one simple ques-

658

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[9TH SEP. 1935.]

[Sardar Sant Singh.]

tion in this connection? What is the principle underlying this Bill? As a lawyer and as a Member of this august House, I am entitled to a reply. The Honourable the Home Member, like his predecessor when this Act was before the last House, has tried to evade a reply to this question. The question is not only an important one, but a vital one for the country as a whole. If we have a reply to this simple question as candidly as we got once when a similar measure was being discussed in the House, then the reply would be: "The Bill seeks to invest the executive with powers to decide certain judicial issues". That is to say, the executive judgment is to be substituted for the judicial judgment. It was a candid reply made by an Honourable Law Member, who discussed a similar measure before, in this House. If that is so, and if this is the principle underlying this Bill, there should be no doubt as to the attitude of all lovers of liberty towards this legislation and that attitude is summary rejection of the Bill. My reasons for this are not very difficult to fathom; but I am doubtful whether my views, even if strengthened by the highest authority from the land wherefrom the Honourable the Home Member comes, will find some response in that quarter, if response is possible.

Lord Sankey, when Lord Chancellor of England, made a speech in 1929 where he said that rule of law was a condition precedent to liberty. The Government of India Act was passed in the teeth of opposition of the people of India, and we know that the Government of India Act received a cold reception from the people of this country who are to be vitally affected by that legislation. If we were to ignore the opinion of nationalist India, if we were to call those who have declined support to the Government of India Act as irreconcilable agitators and, if we only consider and take into account that school of thought which says that we should give a trial to this legislation in India, then this would be a pertinent question to ask, "is this legislation to be a precursor of that Government of India Act which pretends to confer liberty or responsibility upon those who would like to work it later on? Is it that every piece of reform given to India should be preceded by a storm?" You remember the consequences of the passing of the Rowlatt Act in the old Imperial Council when the reforms of 1919 were introduced. Have you forgotten the history of those times when the passing of the Rowlatt Act against the will of the people was followed by a huge rising and riots in the Punjab, I myself being one of the victims? Even in those days it was claimed that this Rowlatt Act was passed in order to make the exercise of responsibility conferred by those reforms easy for those who were to exercise it. But what was the length of the existence of that Rowlatt Act? Did it not remain a dead letter on the Statute-book without finding a single mourner on its death? Why then repeat the same blunder, I ask? I will reserve this point for the moment to be dealt with when I come to discuss the effect of such legislations on the country. If this legislation is allowed to be passed by this House, it will mean the negation of all liberty. This mentality of the bureaucracy is manifested by a certain remark which a retired Anglo-Indian once made. When passing by the House of Commons, he asked, "what are these buildings?" And being told that they were Parliamentary Houses, he said, "really is the rubbish still going on?" That is the mentality, Sir, which a bureaucrat brings to bear upon the conditions of this country and then carries the same impressions to his Home after retirement. Such mentality has been described in some pithy formulæ by no less a person than the Chief Justice of England. He says:

"If a similar method were applied to the ardent bureaucrat, the amateur of the new despotism, his reflections might perhaps be indicated in some creed as this:

- (1) The business of the Executive is to govern.
- (2) The only persons fit to govern are experts.
- (3) The experts in the art of Government are the permanent officials, who, exhibiting an ancient and too much neglected virtue, 'think themselves worthy of great things, being worthy'.
- (4) But the expert must deal with things as they are. The 'four-square' man makes the best of the circumstances in which he finds himself.
- (5) Two main obstacles hamper the beneficent work of the expert. One is the sovereignty of Parliament, and the other is the Rule of Law.
- (6) A kind of fetish worship prevalent among an ignorant public, prevents the destruction of these obstacles. The experts, therefore, must make use of the first in order to frustrate the second.
- (7) To this end let him, under Parliamentary forms, clothe himself with despotic power, and then, because the forms are Parliamentary, defy the Law Courts.
- (8) This course will prove tolerably simple if he can (a) get legislation passed in skeleton form; (b) fill up the gaps with his own rules, orders and regulations; (c) make it difficult or impossible for Parliament to check the said rules, orders and regulations; (d) secure for them the force of statute; (e) make his own decision final; (f) arrange that the fact of his decision shall be conclusive proof of its legality; (g) take power to modify the provisions of statutes; and (h) prevent and avoid any sort of appeal to a Court of Law.
- (9) If the expert can get rid of the Lord Chancellor, reduce the Judges to a branch of the Civil Service, compel them to give opinions beforehand on hypothetical cases, and appoint them himself through a businessman to be called 'Minister of Justice', the coping stone will be laid and the music will be the fuller."

For, these are the underlying ideas with which the present Bill has been framed by the Bureaucracy. The real issue between those who adorn the Treasury Benches and those who occupy the Opposition is whether India shall be allowed to be governed by the executive or by the trained judges; whether the rule of law shall prevail or the executive will shall prevail, whether the Courts of law shall be supreme in land or the executive will of a despot sitting in his office will govern. That is the issue. I do not think that even the Honourable Members of the Treasury Benches can accuse those who are opposed to them of any personal ill-will towards them, but the real struggle is between the two principles. We, on this side, can never allow to be governed by executive authority alone without giving us an opportunity to defend ourselves. What we want is that the progress of the country should only lie on the institution of liberty, equality, security of person and property. Here is a contention, Sir, and I want the Honourable the Law Member to take note of it,—why should he yield place to his brother sitting by his side, the Honourable the Home Member? Supremacy of law has been regarded as a great asset for the liberties of the people. Why should he not put up a strong fight when the Honourable the Home Member comes to him and asks him to abdicate his place and to give him the right to rule the country by executive decrees? I really don't see whether such a thing is possible in the Government of India as it is constituted today, and I do not pretend to know whether such a struggle did really take place in the Cabinet of the country or not. But if I were an advocate of the rule of law, I would certainly put up a stiff fight before I permitted any Government of India to introduce such a piece of legislation that wants to substitute executive judgment for judicial judgment. Sir, even taking into consideration the fact that whoever becomes the Member of the Government of India is inspired by certain considerations which make him infallible or unerrable to which weakness every human being is liable, even then such a benevolent all-knowing despot would not be a good substitute for the judgment of a Court. In this connection I will again with your permission quote from the Chief Justice of England. This is what he says :

[Sardar Sant Singh.]

“ All that is involved and implied in the term ‘ Court ’ is essential. It may well be that, in a particular case, a perfectly correct opinion might be obtained from some anonymous person, incapable of identification, who heard none of the parties to the controversy, but brought his individual reason to bear in private upon a miscellaneous bundle of correspondence. It is even possible that, in a particular case, a mysterious individual of that kind might not be in the smallest degree tempted or diverted from a sound opinion by the fact, if it happened to be the fact, that he was closely associated with one of the parties to the controversy. But it is manifest that an opinion is arrived at differs by the whole width of the heavens from the decision of a Court. The work of a Court involves many important ingredients, as for example, (1) that the judge is identified and is personally responsible for his decisions ; (2) that the case, subject to rare exceptions, is conducted in public ; (3) that the result is governed by the impartial application of principles which are known and established ; and (4) that all parties to the controversy are fully and fairly heard. In other words, the decision of a Court is in every important respect sharply contrasted with the edict, however benevolent, of some hidden authority, however capable, depending upon a process of reasoning which is not stated and the enforcement of a scheme which is not explained. The administration of the law of the land in the ordinary Courts presupposes, at least, personal responsibility, publicity, uniformity, and the hearing of the parties.”

Now, Sir, with such an authority at my back, may I ask the Honourable Member with what show of plausibility he can come to this House and ask us to substitute executive decree for the rule of law ? The plain duty of Honourable Members who have any respect for the liberties of their fellow-beings, in this land, is to throw out such a legislation, whether it be the Criminal Law Amendment Act or any other Act which substitutes executive judgment for judicial judgment.

I will now come to the next point. What is the justification for such a law ? Before I deal with the justification given by those who are advocates of this piece of legislation, I should like to refresh the memories of Honourable Members with the history of this legislation. After the Gandhi-Irwin Pact had been arrived at and after Mahatma Gandhi had left for England to join in the deliberations of the Second Round Table Conference, and when Mahatma Gandhi was still there in England, a conspiracy was hatched in India by, I regret to say, the European residents of this country to thwart the political activities of one important political body, namely, the Congress. My Honourable friend, Mr. James, says, that it is not true, but I am going to adduce evidence which is very conclusive, which is incontrovertible and which even he would not be able to deny. In this connection I would refer you to the speech of no less a person than Mr. Winston Churchill made in the House of Commons on the 3rd December when Mahatma Gandhi was still in London. In his speech he said. The question was in relation to the Committees which were to tour India to enquire into what changes should be made in the constitution of India. He said, speaking on this motion in the House of Commons :

“ What are we to do ? We are to send out committees to India ; they are to roam around India, large parts of which may be under something like martial law. They will roam around India in places where ordinary constitutional rights are superseded by measures of enforced protection. They are to be subjected to the same sort of ill-usage as that to which the Simon Commission were subjected by the adherents of the Congress party. India has to be kept in this state of unsettlement perhaps for two or three years.”

At that time the Government had not promulgated the Ordinances, there was, at any rate, no knowledge on the part of the public that such Ordinances were to be promulgated. How could Mr. Winston Churchill know on the 3rd December, 1931, that such would be the condition, that such would be the treatment meted out to the Committees that would come to India, and that there would be a sort of quasi-martial law in this country ? I hope this one quotation will be sufficient to satisfy my Honourable friend, Mr. James, about what I said, that there was a conspiracy hatched by the European residents here to suppress all legitimate political activities before Mahatma Gandhi returned to India. (Interruption by Mr. F. E. James.) I expect you to quote some opinion in your favour.

I am sorry I have not got at this time the circular issued by the European Association which is known as something—I do not remember the exact name. There was a circular which I quoted last time in this House, but I will give another piece of evidence from a highly respectable Indian, I mean Dr. Ansari's statement before he sailed for Europe in those days. He made an open statement in the Press that he had actually seen the draft of the Ordinances before Mahatma Gandhi has come back. The history is very simple. The Conservative Government had replaced the Labour Government in England, Lord Irwin had left the shores of India and new angels had come to take charge of Indian Government. Is it not a fact that during the five years of Lord Willingdon's Government we are being treated to suppressive and repressive laws ? And yet the European community in India will deny that they are no party to this conspiracy !

Now, coming to the justification given for the introduction of such a piece of legislation. We are told that there are three very active movements in India, the first is terrorism, the second is Communism, and the third is communalism. The advocates of the Government Benches have added a fourth, and that is Civil Disobedience Movement. The first question that naturally arises is, were not terrorism and Communism rampant in the land before the introduction the Ordinances ? Why were not Ordinances promulgated then ? Why should it be left till after the conclusion of the Second Round Table Conference, the return of Mahatma Gandhi and the well-known refusal of Lord Willingdon to see Mahatmaji after his arrival ? If they were really intended to strike at the terrorist and the Communist, they should have been promulgated when the Civil Disobedience was in abeyance. But no such thing was done. There can be no concealing the fact that these Ordinances were aimed at putting down and crushing any reviving spirit of Civil Disobedience. When the Civil Disobedience Movement is in suspense and when the advocates of Civil Disobedience are now adorning the Opposition Benches in this House, the pretence of the Government cannot hold good. They say that the Bill is necessary and like benevolent despots charitably inclined they say these powers are necessary, not for themselves,—no, they are quite safe from the hands of any of these three issues,—but for the coming Government. And the coming Government, according to their own statement, is to consist of grown up children who would have no knowledge of how to defend themselves! Why, the same argument was used by the predecessor of the present Home Member in this House? But that new Government unfortunately never came into being during the three years that the Bill has been in operation. The question that naturally comes before us is— is this a pretence or a real fact or it is only to placate those who may be wavering on which side to vote? Sir, let me deal with these movements one by one. I will take up communalism first.

[Sardar Sant Singh.]

Nobody will deny the fact that communalism took its birth on the day when an engineered deputation waited upon Lord Minto and demanded separate electorates for the muslim community. The birth of communalism dates from the birth of separate electorates. Well, who gave the separate electorates? The Government. Well, the Government is responsible for communalism. The concession of separate electorates was followed by similar other concessions and the policy of divide and rule was taken to such an extent that now Government finds itself the victim of the reaction that is bound to come. The separate electorates were followed by the Communal Award and the Communal Award was followed by the communal service award and the communal service award is followed by the various acts of favouritism which are daily to be seen in the advertisement in the public press issued by the various Government departments. What has been the principle underlying all this policy? Is it justice or political expediency? I will, with your permission, address my Muslim brothers on this point and tell them that they should take a lesson from the history of the Sikhs. I remember the days of 1857 when there was a rising of the army and Delhi was the scene of bloodshed. The Sikhs had then lost their empire only nine years before that outbreak. Lord Lawrence and other members of the English Government sent for the Sikh Chiefs and asked them to give them a passport up to Bombay and get back their empire. The Sikhs refused. They said: "No, we will protect you" and we successfully defended them with the result that now the Sikhs have been thrown out, because political expediency does not require them. Political expediency does not listen to reason, to honesty, sincerity or anything. Muslims are very glad. They are dancing over the little favours that they have got. I tell them that the length of the period of this favouritism is measured by the law of political expediency which gave birth to it and political expediency will end it. There is no love of any religion in the Executive Government of this country. I am very very glad to hear from no less a person than Sir Muhammad Yakub that communalism is an evil. I wish he had made a further declaration on the floor of this House that the Muslims henceforth would have nothing to do with communalism and I would certainly have followed him by a similar declaration that the Sikhs no longer stand for communalism. Let the Mussalmans come forth even now, with a declaration that henceforth they will stand on their own legs and will stand for merit alone. I have the honour to belong to a very small minority in India, I would not, on behalf of my community, hesitate to announce that the Sikhs regard communalism as unsuperable obstacle to the progress of India. It has been said that communalism is raising its head in the Punjab. Unfortunately it is true to some extent but, if I were free to disclose the facts that fanned the situation in the Punjab, if I were free to tell this House how this communalism has been used as a weapon to engineer this false agitation over the Shahidganj Gurdwara, I think I would be able to convince Honourable Members of this House that it is not an agitation which anybody should be afraid of. But without going into that question I may mention one fact that is very apparent and obvious and that is the coming elections to the Provincial Assembly based upon separate electorate is responsible for all this trouble. There is no genuine feeling behind it. It is only a race for votes.

3 P.M.

Mr. M. Ghiasuddin (Punjab : Landholders) : May I ask, Sir, how all this is relevant under this Bill?

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : In the opinion of the Chair, it is in order, because the Honourable Member is referring to communalism and how it arose.

Sardar Sant Singh : My Honourable friend should not have taken offence on this question. I do not want to injure the feelings of my Muslim brothers in the Punjab. I only referred to it in passing to show that such demonstrations and agitation are bound to take place and will continue to take place whenever there is a race for catching the votes of the illiterate masses. My remarks are intended more for the Treasury Benches than for my countrymen on this side of the House. This communalism is prevalent only because of the coming elections and to say that such a piece of legislation as this is necessary to put down communalism is not true. I will come now to another point. Soon after the Shahidgunj agitation, prosecutions for possessing more than one kirpan by the Sikhs were started. The case was taken to a magistrate. The magistrate gave the judgment and discharged the accused, holding that according to the law Sikhs could carry any number of kirpans. May I ask the Honourable the Home Member and the Law Member what was the duty of the Executive authorities under such circumstances? When the judgment was given, was it not the plain duty of the authorities to respect the law and to respect the judgment of their own Courts? But the Punjab Executive authorities did not do any such thing. What did they do? They started more arrests and placed the case before another magistrate. According to my understanding of the functions of the administration, I think the best example the Executive Government could set was to show respect for the law which they themselves had made. The Sikhs have been carrying these kirpans for the last ten years without being molested anywhere by the police. All of a sudden, without any notice, the Sikhs were arrested for possessing more than one kirpan. What did it show? Well, it only shows that the executive tries to interpret the law as it suits them. The decision of a Court was given, but they treated that decision with contempt which no civilised administration can afford to do. Sir, it is their business to set an example to the public that the law must be respected. But when the executive do not respect the law there can be only one result and that is that the public begins to lose respect for the law. In this particular case, the Punjab Government, after the judgment of one Court, started further prosecutions and succeeded—obtaining a different finding. Now, there were two judgments in conflict with each other. May I ask a simple question again—

664

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[9TH SEP. 1935.]

[Sardar Sant Singh.]

what is the duty of the Executive Government in any country ? Is it not their duty to make the rule of conduct for the people clear and unambiguous ? It was their duty to tell the people what the law is, but instead we find this Government giving us conflicting decisions. We are left to follow the judgment of one magistrate or another magistrate without any guidance. When the agitation started and the Sikhs came out in procession with two kirpans with each man and defied the Government, then the Government realised the folly of their action of securing conflicting judgments. My point is that the Government at first creates a situation, and when the Government finds itself in a tight corner, it comes forward to ask the Legislatures for more power for the executive. Who is going to give them such powers under such circumstances ? Have you ever seen any executive in the world not respecting the judgment of their own Courts ? But here in India they do it : and when they find that the same amount of response is not forthcoming as in other countries and the people begin to defy the authority of the law, then that defiance of law becomes a ground for asking for more powers.

Government complains of picketing, complains of the Press activities ; why should there be complaint when the people have only taken measures in self-defence against the aggressive measures of the Government ? Why did the Civil Disobedience Campaign come into existence ? Because the Government did not listen to the public opinion. Now, there is a story in the Ramayan that one of the members of the family of Ravan used to sleep on for months together, and when the need came for him to be awakened, drums were beaten, elephants were brought to trample him down. It was only then that he could be awakened. Is this the sort of sleep in which the Government of India are going to indulge ? Why are they not listening to the intelligent public opinion ? Why are they turning a deaf ear to public opinion ? If they had but listened to the public opinion they would not have needed such legislation. Sir, their duty is to be responsive to public opinion. Why do they not do so ? Is it not then our plain duty as honest men and is it not the duty of all lovers of liberty to tell them that, unless you respond to us, we will never respond to you ? You complain of non-co-operation—with what face ? Have you co-operated with us ? Was not the last Assembly a co-operators' Assembly ? Did you not get all you wanted from that Assembly ? Can you then show a single instance in which you responded to the criticisms from those who were on this side of the House.

An Honourable Member : There was the three years' duration of the Bill.

Sardar Sant Singh : But what about the substitution of executive for judicial judgment ? Did we not claim that the executive should not have such vast powers over the lives and liberties of the people ? Sir, the Government did not show us the least regard then. My Honourable friend refers to the three years' duration of the Bill. Let me tell him one fact which happened in the Select Committee on this Bill, namely, that several nationalist members of the Select Committee had to walk out from the Select Committee declaring that thenceforth they had nothing to do with it. Sir, my friend, the Honourable the Home Member pleads for the change of heart. How can you expect us to change our heart and our attitude towards such legislation when you do not change your own heart ? Sir, I leave Communism and terrorism to those who know about them much more than I can pretend to do. I will now come to the plain duty of the Government. I think, Sir, that the present Government of India and its predecessors are conscious of only one function ; they think that their only function in India is to maintain law and order and that there is no other function. Their main plea for bringing forward such legislation is that law and order cannot otherwise be maintained. May I remind the Honourable the Home Member that this is not even the primary object of the Government, what to say of the main object. Sir, it is a secondary object ; and in this connection I will just read a small extract from my speech on this Bill at the last time :

“ The purpose or end of Government is the weal and welfare of the community. But we find, Sir, if we go through the literature that has been broadcast by the Government Benches, that they have laid very great stress on this point that the maintenance of law and order is the only function of Government. I will presently quote from Austin again to show that the maintenance of law and order is not the primary function of Government ; it is a secondary function and it is a necessity which enables the Government to bring about the welfare of the community over which they have been placed by the deity. I cannot give long quotations as the time at my disposal is short, but this is what he says :

‘ But, by most or many of the speculators on political government and society, one or a few of the instrumental ends through which a government must accomplish its proper absolute end, are mistaken for that paramount purpose.

For example : It is said by many of the speculators on political government and society, that ‘ the end of every government is to institute and protect property ’. And here I must remark, by the by, that the propounders of this absurdity give to the term ‘ property ’ an extremely large and not very definite signification. It is, therefore, clear, that those who want to govern must govern, not for the end of maintaining law and order, but for the purpose of bringing about the welfare of the community of which they are in charge for the time being.”

Now taking this view of the functions of an administrator, may I ask the simple question again whether the present piece of legislation fulfils this object ? Will it tend to the weal and welfare of those who are in your charge at the present time ? Sir, the effect of such legislation will be only to kill all political activity, as it has killed it in the past three years. In this connection I will not be doing justice to the effect of this legislation in a better way than Mahatma Gandhi did when you brought up this piece of legislation in 1932. He said :

“ Repression appears to me to be crossing what might be called the legitimate limit, and governmental terrorism is spreading through the land. Both English and Indian officials are being brutalised. The latter, high and low, are becoming demoralised by reason of the Government rewarding as meritorious disloyalty to the people and inhuman conduct towards their own kith and kin. The latter are being cowed down. Free speech has been stifled. Goondaism is being practised in the name of law and order. Women who have come out for public service stand in fear of their honour being insulted, and all this, as it seems to me, is being done in order to crush the spirit of freedom which the Congress represents. Repression is not confined to punishing civil breaches of the common law. It goads people to break newly-made orders of autocracy designed for the most part to humiliate them.”

Sir, this was said in 1932. It is as true today as it was then. What do we find in the country ? We may find there is peace, but it is the peace of the grave ; it is not the peace of a living, active nationhood ; it is the peace that you find in a house which has a perpetually mourning aspect about it. Do you want to perpetuate similar conditions. I will certainly appeal to my Honourable friends to my immediate left to consider the situation in a more dispassionate manner. You have inherited the great traditions of Parliamentary Government and the sovereignty of the rule of law has been the standing feature of the Parliamentary Government. Why do you want to deny us that form of Government? If you want to deny us that form of Government, why don't you say so openly? Do not pretend to give us democratic government when that government is not a democratic government at all. Do not commit fraud upon us. Do not be a hypocrite towards us but be honest. If you tell us that we are being governed by sword, I will be the first man to swear loyalty to your Government. But that loyalty, as you know, will last as long as you hold the sword in your hand. But my eyes shall constantly be on that hand which holds the sword and the first opportunity that I get to snatch that sword will be utilised by me. That is a sort of loyalty where honesty, sincerity and genuineness will prevail and not the hypocrisy and fraud. Do not treat us as simpletons and ignorant people who do not understand. You may be very strong at this time and you may be unshakable at this time. But the empires that have preceded you have left a mark up on the history of various people. Their history shows that they were as powerful in their time as you are now. Those empires were lost, not because they lost their administrators but because their administrators lost their imagination which is necessary to keep an empire. Do you mean to say that those Governments which prosecuted certain individuals were insane governments or government who had no imagination? They had it, but their imagination was as limited as is yours now. If you read the history you will find that not a single reformer or even a prophet or a Guru or an Avatar was but as a rebel to the then society. May I refer with due humility and respect to the life of Jesus Christ? Why was he crucified? He must have been crucified under similar laws and convicted by the courts then in existence. Why was the Prophet of the Mussalmans prosecuted and persecuted? Why were the Sikh Gurus so cruelly martyred? Has that martyrdom enhanced their respect or have they lost it? They have become deities in our eyes and we respect them and we listen to their words. But if they are to be judged by the standard which is being set now by the Government of India, then they will all be called rebels and terrorists and what not. I appeal to you even at this eleventh hour to beware of the coming danger. A time comes when people cannot be goaded to a greater extreme and then rebellion becomes a justifiable act and open revolt to the authority becomes legalised. This is not what I alone say but this is what your great jurists have said. I will take the liberty of quoting once more from Austin's book of Jurisprudence before I finish my remarks. He says :

[Sardar Sant Singh.]

"If we take the principle of utility as our index to the Divine Commands, we must infer that obedience to established Government is enjoined generally by the Deity. For, without obedience to 'the powers which be', there were little security and little enjoyment. The ground, however, of the inference is the utility of Government : And if the protection which it yields be too costly, or if it vex us with needless restraints and load us with needless exactions, the principle which points at submission as our general duty may counsel and justify resistance. Disobedience to an established government, let it be never so bad, is an evil : For the mischiefs inflicted by a bad government are less than the mischiefs of anarchy. So momentous, however, is the difference between a bad and a good government, that, if it would lead to a good one, resistance to a bad one would be useful. The anarchy attending the transition was an extensive, but a passing evil : The good which would follow the transition was extensive and lasting. The peculiar good would outweigh the generic evil : The good, which would crown the change in the insulated and eccentric case, would more than compensate the evil which is inseparable from rebellion."

Sir, in the end, I want only to appeal to the Members on the Treasury Benches. You may consider yourself quite safe and you may think that even if this House throws down this Bill, you have a power to certify it. You can do so, and you may do so, but do you know what amount of resentment you will create in the country? Will you take into account that amount of discontent that will follow in its wake and the respect for law in the country will slowly but steadily disappear? You and I both want the maintenance of peace : it is our mutual interest. But if you go on taking the step that you are taking now without caring for the future, you will need desperate action. But my only hope is that wiser counsels will still prevail. Sir, I have done.

Sirdar Jogendra Singh (Fyzabad Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Mr. Deputy President,.....

Bhai Parma Nand (West Punjab : Non-Muhammadan) : Sir, I want to speak on a point of personal explanation.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : But the Honourable Member has not yet spoken.

Bhai Parma Nand : Certain other Honourable Members have spoken, and I want to explain my position as I understand I will not have a chance to speak.....

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member will be quite at liberty to speak if he gets his chance, but, having not spoken at all up to now, there is nothing to explain.

Sirdar Jogendra Singh : Sir, the Honourable Mr. Acheson, the other day, referred to King Charles' head as being the favourite nightmare of Dick. It appears the Congress has become the King Charles' head of Government and a constant nightmare for the Honourable Sir Henry Craik. (Applause.) When the Ordinances expired, the Government of India came to the Legislatures, then very conveniently constituted for them, and wanted the Ordinances to become an Act of the Legislature. We are told by the Honourable the Home Member that it is true, Civil Disobedience has been called off, but the nightmare of its being revived at a future date still haunts the authorities and they cannot have sound and peaceful sleep unless the Assembly places in their hands the "Big lathi" of the Criminal Law Amendment Act which they say has helped them so well in the past. The Honourable the Home Member has my heartfelt sympathy. This, Sir, reminds me of Dionysius, the ancient autocrat of Syracuse, who felt similarly insecure. He was, therefore, constantly building up fortifications against potential conspirators to come. He was so nervous that he used to sleep in a room which could only be approached by a drawbridge in a palace which was connected with the outside world by another drawbridge.

Bhai Parma Nand : I did not quite follow your ruling, Sir. My point is that the Honourable Member.....

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : Is it a point of order that the Honourable Member is raising now ?

Bhai Parma Nand : I want your ruling on this point, Sir. My submission is that if an Honourable Member in this House pointedly refers to another Member, who wants to make a protest against his remarks and rises to make a personal explanation, then what is your ruling ? Do you mean to say that you will not allow him to give an explanation of his position ?

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Chair has given its ruling.

Bhai Parma Nand : What is it ?

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Chair's ruling is that if, in reply to the speech of another Honourable Member, the Honourable Member (Bhai Parma Nand) wishes to offer a personal explanation, the Honourable Member is not in order. He will be entitled to make a speech, but no question of personal explanation arises in view of the fact that he has never spoken at all.

Bhai Parma Nand : He has clearly referred to me.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : Order, order :

Sirdar Jogendra Singh : The king could not trust any one, not even his own queen when asleep and hence slept all alone. The king was demoralised to such an extent that he used to pull up the drawbridge himself before he retired for the night. Sir, the Agents of this foreign Government are like Dionysius and are even afraid of their own shadows.

When Lord Macaulay formulated or, shall I say more correctly, invented the precious volume known as the Indian Penal Code, even the most eminent jurists of Britain hailed it as the most perfect Code to meet effectively offences of all kinds whatsoever.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

With the passing of time, Government have begun to feel that, that consummate Code is not enough. They further desired more arbitrary powers to meet the recurring challenge to their authority. Therefore, the Agents of the alien Government in India wish to contribute their further share towards the mischievous design of so tightening Britain's control over our Motherland as to make it impossible for us to attain complete independence which is our birthright. They first wanted the vicious Ordinances for six months only. Then they persuaded and appealed to the soft conscience of some of our predecessors, who fell an easy prey to the machinations of this foreign Government and allowed these autocratic powers for a further period of three long years. Now, the Government desire to put this barbaric Act on the Statute-book permanently. This, Sir, appears to be Dominion Status in action.

Let me tell the Government, Sir, that power unrestricted and arbitrary is like an intoxicant. (Hear, hear.) The more you take it, the more you want it. But the end of those who intoxicate themselves with power is recorded in history as the same as that of the unredeemed inebriate. They both bring about their destruction through surfeit. The Government have brought before this House this Bill to still further deprive the entire nation of every shadow of human rights such as liberty of speech, liberty of press and even freedom of association. The Honourable the Mover of the Bill as well as the Honourable Mr. Griffiths have very eloquently advised that this atrocious Act is intended to prevent terrorism and Communism, but let me tell them, very frankly, that both these will exist in spite of this Act. (Hear, hear.) The only remedy which I would humbly suggest is that the best way to extinguish terrorism and Communism is, not through the application of this Act but, by providing constructive schemes by which you can give employment to several hundred thousands of our intelligent young men who in spite of the highest academical qualifications are starving for want of food and raiments.

The Honourable the Home Member has further stated that this Bill is intended as a set-off against the so-called spirit of communalism, which is according to him in a virulent form in our country at the present moment. I may be permitted to state with somewhat brutal frankness that 'Divide and rule' has been the traditional policy of British Imperialism in this country. It has been by such tactics that they are perpetuating their domination over our unfortunate country.

If I am to state in a lighter vein, I am reminded of my school days when I read the story of the "monkey and the two cats". (Laughter.) I, however, hope that Indians, to whatever creed or religion they might belong, will think in terms of Indians first, Indians last and Indians always (Applause), and that is the only way in which we can eliminate the third party who is responsible for many of these ills suffered by us in this country. Underneath the surface of the Bill I honestly perceive evil designs to deprive the elementary right of citizenship.

If the Bill is a forecast of the new Act, as I do believe it is, I would appeal with all the sincerity that I can command to throw out the measure and save our Motherland from the further fetters of slavery. Sir, with these humble words, I oppose this Bill. (Applause.)

Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer (Bengal : European) : Sir, in rising to support the motion of the Honourable the Home Member, I am conscious of the fact, that on the one hand, I have not the knowledge of debate of some of my Honourable friends opposite, and, on the other hand, that I have not the mastery of the subject which my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, showed us the other day in his admirable, may I also say, courageous speech. If I venture to make a few remarks now, Sir, it is because I cannot let pass without a reply some of the remarks of, among others, my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh. It is perhaps natural for my Honourable friend in alluding to the possibility of legislating for one Province and not for others that he should have drawn an analogy from surgery. But as my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, so ably and admirably put it, the object of this Bill is not to perform surgical operations, but it is to prevent situations arising when surgical operation becomes necessary.

My Honourable friend, Sardar Sant Singh, very kindly reminded the House this afternoon of the appalling state this country was in in 1930-31 before this present Act was in operation. I thank him for reminding us, as, I am quite sure, none of us wants to see the kind of situation arising again that we saw in those years, a situation which very definitely called for the surgical knife. I have always understood, Sir, that, before you call in the surgeon, you call in the physician. The wise physician who treats his patient for a sore head, for instance, or a gouty hand generally, does something rather different than cut it off. I imagine he orders his patient a strong physic or it may be that he suggests that he should restrain himself and that his diet be severely restricted. That, Sir, is exactly what my Honourable friend, the Home Member, has done. He proposes in this Bill to restrict picketing, to restrict the activities of unlawful associations and to restrain within the limits of decency and public safety that section of the press of this country which, over and over again, whenever these repressive laws are not in existence, forgets what decency means. According to my Honourable friends on the other side of the House the new measure is unnecessary, tyrannical and unjustified.
L1921AD

[Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer.]

In an effort worthy of a better cause, in my opinion, my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, tried the other day to prove how unnecessary this Bill was, unnecessary, that is to say, in his opinion. In his view the ordinary provisions of the law are ample and cover all the subversive activities of lawless bodies or persons. If my Honourable friend means that the ordinary law lays down that incitements to murder, picketing, lawless associations and criminal conspiracy are illegal, I quite agree. But he knows and every Honourable Member of this House knows that there are forms of picketing and criminal conspiracy and incitements to murder which it is impossible to tackle under the ordinary law of this land. And it is because it is so impossible that in 1930-31 we had the most disgraceful situation not only, as my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, suggests, in Bengal, but at least as bad, if not worse, in Bombay and other provinces. That situation was only saved by the bringing in of this emergency measure, first the Ordinances and subsequently the Acts. Now, Sir, we all know how impossible it was to prevent that situation arising that arose in 1930-31, because the ordinary law of the land made it extremely difficult for the executive to catch hold of people who were the real sinners and who paid four annas to small boys and others to go to jail for them. Honourable Members admit with one breath that the crimes this Bill seeks to prevent are illegal and deplorable—I am glad they agree with Honourable Members on this side of the House on that point—but they hasten immediately to add that there is no need for Government to take any necessary measures to rectify a situation which every Government worthy of the name must face. They do not think it is necessary to bring in measures to put down these deplorable acts which they all agree are undesirable and illegal.

That, Sir, is one of the arguments of the Opposition. The second argument of the Opposition seems to be this. They say this is a tyrannical measure. One would think, after having heard some of their speeches, that they seem to think that if this Bill were passed into law the executive would become a lawless body; it would take the law into its own hands and act without any kind of restraint from the judiciary. That is absolutely incorrect.

Sardar Sant Singh : I may point out to my Honourable friend that the objection is to the substitution of executive judgment for judicial judgment.

Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer : It would be an insult to their intelligence to suppose that they do not understand the meaning of the Bill. They know perfectly well what is proposed and that what is proposed still leaves the Courts with a very strong restraining power over the executive. It seems to me that the only conclusion we can draw from this argument of the Opposition is that they are trying to persuade some of those Honourable Members who came, as my Honourable friend, Mr. Gauba, suggests, with an open mind. I am very glad indeed to hear my Honourable friend tell us that so many of his friends and he too came here with an open mind, because, I am sure, that if they consider the real issues at stake in this debate they will vote with this side of the House. If they admit that it is the duty of every Government to maintain the law and, if necessary, to restrain the liberty of individuals who are trying to take from other individuals their liberty,—and that, Sir, is present in every law because you have to restrain some persons from doing ill in order that the rest of us may go free or comparatively free,—if they admit the necessity for that, I submit that they have no alternative but to come forward and support the motion. The Honourable the Home Member has made it quite plain that though he did not say he would accept them, he was, nevertheless, prepared fairly to consider any reasonable amendments proposed.

In this connection, Sir, several Honourable Members including my Honourable friend, Sardar Sant Singh, said, that if only we, on this side, would frankly admit that this is an autocratic Government they would have no objection to the Bill. They say that what they object to is that India should be told that it has a democratic constitution but that on the other hand severe measures are necessary. Honourable Members who use this argument seem to forget several things. In the first place they forget that no one suggests that the Government of this country, as at present constituted, is a democratic Government though it has certain democratic aspects. At the same time no one on this side of the House calls it,—certainly I should not call it,—a democratic Government. Then again they forget that it has been stated over and over again by high authority that the present Government forms a transitional stage. My Honourable friends, rightly in my view, look to the British constitution as a better model than that of the autocracies of Italy, Germany and Soviet Russia. What they always forget is that we in the United Kingdom only reached our present stage of constitutional development after hundreds of years. They are trying to bring in, or rather we are trying to bring in with their help, a democratic constitution which will in the fulness of time place India in her rightful place among the Commonwealth of British Nations. We are trying to bring this constitution in with their help in a few decades. I suggest that if you consider that, you will less often cast it in our teeth what is an absolutely untrue and unjust assumption that we, on this side of the House, are false to the promises that the British Government has made over and over again. We have not told India that she has now got democracy: we have told her that in the fulness of time we hope she will attain to it; and, as His Excellency's distinguished predecessor wisely said, the goal and the path to it are not the same and should not be confused. This argument of the Opposition seems to me, therefore, entirely beside the point.

[Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer.]

Lastly, it has been argued that this all-India measure is unjustified because, so it is suggested, there is peace throughout the length and breadth of India except in these two plague spots, Punjab and Bengal. I suggest that though my Honourable friend in making this suggestion no doubt did so unwittingly, he reflects a mentality which my Bengali friends rightly resent. They feel, and I am sure all of us here feel who think it out, how unjust it is to blame them for acts for which, in many cases, they are not alone responsible and to which they have been incited by extravagant messages in the press and propaganda conducted from other centres. We all know how sentimental and nationally-minded the patriotic Bengali is, and, I think, it is unfair that we should play on his feelings, first incite him to boycott, picketing and Civil Disobedience, and then when the time comes say "Oh, no: we are quite innocent: it is the terrible Bengali and Punjabi who is the cause of all the trouble!" I submit, all-India legislation is absolutely necessary and I, therefore, strongly support the proposal that this Bill be taken into consideration by this House.

There is one other point in this connection and it is this: clause 7 of the existing Act which is sought to be retained is a clause which is only, so to speak, a permissive clause. It only comes into force when Local Governments consider that the situation in some particular district or province or city warrants its introduction. It seems to me that in these circumstances the very clever play which my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, made with that section of the Bill, relating to annoyance, picketing, etc., is not a very reasonable argument to bring against this measure. After all, in the South, he says, there is peace: in that case it is quite certain or almost certain that in his province, at all events, this section, which worries him so much, will not come into force at all.

Finally, Sir, the issue before the House seems to me simply this: do we admit that picketing, criminal conspiracy and incitement to murder are evils? If Honourable Members are agreed that they are evils, we have to consider whether or not this Bill is necessary in the interests of the maintenance of law and order and, in particular, to safeguard the Government and the community against these three evils caused by lawless persons. If we are agreed that that is the issue, it is impossible that there can be any doubt as to the way in which we should all vote when the division time comes. After all, if Honourable Members feel that they agree with the principle that these acts are evil and illegal, they still have always the opportunity to put forward reasonable and sensible amendments: for, as the Honourable the Home Member has already told us, if this motion is passed by the House, he will be open to consider all such reasonable amendments.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: Mr. President, I have risen to offer just a few observations and remarks with reference to this Bill, before the House is actually upon to register its vote. Various aspects of the Honourable the Home Member's speech which he delivered in support of this Bill have been touched upon by speakers on this side of the House, but I feel that there are at least two points which have been left untouched and I shall try to refer to them. While the Honourable the Home Member was speaking in support of this Bill, it struck me that he had chosen, for the text of his speech, a sentence which I would not be far wrong in adopting myself for my speech today. He said, "the price of liberty is eternal vigilance"; and it is vigilance which animates us on this side of the House to oppose this Bill. We want vigilance on their side as much as on our side: we must watch their actions, watch their proposals and see to what extent they go against the liberties and the freedom of the people. But of that later on. In the course of his speech, which was rather brief—and there is a reason for its being very brief.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member): You ought not to complain of that.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: I should not complain of it—it was very concise indeed and telling in its own way. There was a good reason for it. While I was listening to the Honourable the Home Member's speech, I was wondering whether it was born of the conviction that this Bill was absolutely essential to the maintenance of peace, law and order or not; and, towards the conclusion of his speech, I was convinced that it was not born of that conviction, but it was born of a confidence, which is always there on the Treasury Benches, a confidence that, whatever the result in this House, so far as this Bill is concerned, it will find its way somehow or other into the Statute-book. That is why the Honourable the Home Member's speech was concise, and not as detailed as it should have been. When you are proposing a measure of this nature, when you are asking for special powers or when you are trying to perpetuate special powers, you ought to support it with facts and figures: you ought to place before us definite facts and figures which might justify your demand. But what do we find? Not one tittle, not one shred of argument which is supported by facts and figures—only the Honourable Member from Midnapore who was fitly described by Dr. Deshmukh as the Mussolini of Midnapore—a nickname which might go down in history—tried to bring up a few facts and figures, and they were utterly misleading. They were wrong, as I shall have time and opportunity enough to prove later on. They were not the facts and figures that we wanted. (Official Laughter.) He who laughs last laughs best: do not laugh too soon. What were the facts and figures that he brought up? The facts were only with regard to murders—(Official Members: "Oh, no.")—only murders, and I shall tell you a tale of murders—do not worry: murders by whom? By terrorists. About 300 of them, heinous, despicable, abhorrent murders, and we detest them as much as you do. (Honourable Members: "Oh.") Do not say "Oh": we are sincere, we are honest; when we say a thing, we mean it. If we did not believe in the creed in which we do, you would have heard a different tale. (Cheers from Congress Party Benches.) And today India's fate would have been different. (Hear, hear.) You ought to be thankful to the Congress whose policy of non-violence has checked political assassination and terrorism, and do not imagine for a single moment that it is your preventive measures or your repressive laws that have gone and controlled the terrorists. It is the Congress, it is the non-violent creed of the Congress that has prevented and controlled the terrorists. And, talking of murders, Sir, they ought to know a few facts and figures from their own reports. Let them just refer to their own reports, and they will find that, during one decade, beginning from the year 1921 up to the year 1931, there were as many murders reported in India as 62,800 and odd, and in how many of these cases were convictions obtained? With all the great paraphernalia which they always ask us to finance, with all the police and all the other arms that they have in their armoury, what did they do? In only 17,000 and some odd cases could they obtain convictions. What happened to the 45,000 and odd? Do you place the murders of poor people.....

[Mr. M. Asaf Ali.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member should address the Chair.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Do Government, Sir, place murders of these 55,000 and odd people on a different basis to the murders of 300 public servants, murders that are equally despicable, equally abhorrent? You may ask me why these 55,000 cases were not successful. My answer to that is, all the attention of the Government is concentrated on nothing else, but what they call, political crimes which are merely political demonstrations. The police is engaged the whole time in tracking down innocent political demonstrators, and thousands and thousands of people are run after by them, while they leave these murders alone; they leave other crimes alone. Let me give the House a more detailed account of some of the other crimes which have been committed in India during the last decade and what they have done with respect to them. Sir, in 1932, as many as 167,939 cases were reported of house trespass, and house breaking with intent to commit theft, and how many convictions were obtained? 22,000 convictions were obtained. And this tale goes on year after year, murders, dacoities, serious offences against person, ordinary theft, and so on, and, on an ordinary calculation, that I made, I found that as many as two million cases were left untraced. Did you then ever come to us.....

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : The Honourable Member is not addressing the Chair.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Did Government come to us then and say that the ordinary law of the land was insufficient, it was inadequate, and whether we would strengthen their hands with respect to these murders, whether we could not give them more powers, even under the ordinary Indian Penal Code? Did they ever come to us? They did not. They did not pay even a second thought to this. But today, when the Civil Disobedience Movement is not in existence, when this movement is not in progress, today when they themselves admit that the situation with regard to terrorism has improved tremendously,—they themselves admit that for a long time there has been no terrorist crime,.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik ; No, no ; I said nothing of the sort.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : How many crimes have been committed during the last two years?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : During the last five months, .....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I am asking for two years or for even one year?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Certainly a dozen murders.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : How many convictions have been obtained in each case? In how many cases have you been able to trace not merely murders, but conspirators connected with them?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : What is the relevancy?

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : The relevancy is this, that the ordinary law is more than enough for your purposes. You cannot restrain murderers by passing this measure. Do you know how revolutionary conspiracies are hatched? There is the gentleman sitting next to you, Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan,—I had the honour of working with him in connection with the trial of the Delhi conspiracy. He knows something about it. Please ask him, and he will tell you that these conspirators do not go and put up their sign boards in public places and say : “ This is a society for committing murders ”. These are secret societies. You cannot possibly control them by declaring secret associations unlawful, and, even if you do, it makes no difference whatever to them.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Address the Chair.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : The whole time I have been addressing the Chair, and if I face the Honourable Member, he ought not to feel frightened. In so far as the facts and figures are concerned, I simply want the Government to place before us the actual facts and figures relating to the failure of the Government to obtain convictions in cases of the nature with which they want to deal under this law. This Bill, Sir, is really the tabloid form of the emergency legislation that has preceded it. It is the tabloid form of all the Ordinances which were condemned in this very House, and by none with greater eloquence than yourself. I shall just read one passage from your own speech. Referring to these Ordinances, you said on one occasion :

“ I maintain that the scope of the Ordinance is to deprive every one of every vestige of right of personal speech, right to liberty, right to property, right to association and every right that a human being may possess, and who is the Indian with the least self-respect who can tell the Government : ‘ We have confidence in you, and what you have done is right.’ Is this how you are preparing India for Swaraj, for Dominion Status. You have deprived the entire people of their elementary and fundamental rights.” (Hear, hear.)

In these words you described the Ordinances, and the Ordinances were then translated into emergency legislation. The emergency legislation had three years’ run under circumstances which are known to every one. And, now, when the emergency legislation is about to expire, they come to us asking us to grant a new lease of life—not a new lease of life, but to grant perpetuity for this Bill. Mr. President, the Honourable and Learned Home Member or the gallant Home Member, whichever you like, in his speech said something which touched my heart, and it must touch the heart of every decent Indian. He said, one of the reasons for bringing up this legislation at this time was that the present Government wanted to oblige their successors. The present Government wanted to spare their successors the odium which they might incur if they also sponsored an odious legislation of this kind. I agree with the Honourable the Home Member that this is an extremely odious, an atrociously odious, a scandalously odious piece of legislation. But since he proposes to do his successors a good turn, we, as the representatives of his successors, may tell him and assure him that we will not be outdone in this act of generosity. This mood of expansiveness, this generosity, this solicitude for the future Government of this land is really worthy of gratitude, and we can show our gratitude in only one way, and that is, to spare the present Government the odium of carrying this measure through. We would like to reject this measure here and now so that the present Government may be spared that odium. One good turn deserves another. That is the only way in which we can oblige them.

[Mr. M. Asaf Ali.]

So far as the real objects and reasons for this legislation are concerned, I have got some observations to offer. My first suspicion is, which I was mentioning to another colleague of mine—my first suspicion is that probably the present Government is under the impression—I do not know, it may or it may not be so, but I feel that it is so. I suspect that they are under the impression that under the new Government of India Act, 1935, there is a provision made for concurrent legislation by the centre and by the provinces in so far as the existing criminal laws are concerned. The actual phrasing I forget, I have not got the Act with me here, but I believe it is something like this, that in regard to criminal laws there will be concurrent jurisdiction. The Central Legislature and the Provincial Legislatures will enjoy concurrent jurisdiction only in so far as those criminal laws are concerned which happen to be on the Statute-book at the time of the passage of the Bill. If that is so, then I am absolutely certain that the present Government of India feel that under the new Act the Central Legislature will have no authority to undertake legislation of this character concurrently with the provinces...

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan (Member for Commerce and Railways) : That is entirely wrong.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : It may be wrong, I am only stating my suspicion.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am giving you information.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : The information is very welcome, but I can assure you that legal opinion may differ. You are entitled to your opinion and I am entitled to mine. We are both lawyers. Probably I have got as much right to say that I am right as you have to say that you are right.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : And more.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I did not say that. If you happen to be a Member of Government....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member must address the Chair.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : It was simply because the other Honourable Member addressed me directly that I had to answer him directly.

An Honourable Member : Paying off old scores !

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : This is one of the reasons I suspect, but supposing that that reason is not right, I was really surprised that the Honourable the Home Member abandoning the printed objects and reasons here, which happened to be only three, wandered far and wide and opened a new door to an argument and reasoning by bringing in three other reasons. In the printed paper I find the following objects and reasons :

“ The present Act includes—

- (a) provisions against certain forms of intimidation,
- (b) provisions against associations dangerous to the public peace, and
- (c) provisions to secure greater control over the Press.”

So, obviously, the object of this legislation is not to crush terrorism,—not a word is said about terrorism here,—not to crush terrorism, not to crush communalism as was affected by the Honourable the Home Member, but only to control the press and to have some provisions to crush what they call associations dangerous to the public peace. I have already said that, in so far as terrorist organisations are concerned, there is not the ghost of a chance of any enactment of this nature ever grappling with that problem. And why do I say so ? The history of terrorism is before you. It began in 1903, I should not like to go beyond that, although it is quite possible for one to go as far back as 1857 and trace the whole history upwards, but I shall only confine myself to the period beginning with 1903. It was in 1903 that Barin Ghosh, who went from Ahmedabad to Calcutta, to try and establish an association, but he failed. By 1905, other associations had sprung up. In 1907, we had the first bomb outrage, and then the history of repressive legislation commences. In 1908, the Government passed four or five repressive legislations, among which three happen to be legislations on which this Bill is based, namely, Incitement to Offences Act, the Seditious Meetings Act, and the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908. These three Acts were passed. But did the number of terrorist outrages after that dwindle down, or did it continue to mount up ? The history of terrorism is rather eloquent in itself. The terrorist outrages continued to multiply. By 1910, the Government felt compelled to have a Press Act, the Press Act of 1910. Then, by 1911, they wanted more and more repressive legislation, and the history of repressive legislation goes on. It is a melancholy tale, it is a most mournful tale. Year after year some legislation was being brought up until in 1919 we had the Rowlatt Bills, one of which became the Rowlatt Act which never came into operation. Did the terrorist outrages dwindle down in number ? On the contrary, year after year the terrorist outrages were mounting up.

Then came the Congress movement. The Congress adopted the creed of non-violence, and if you then study the history of terrorist outrages you will find that the adoption of the creed of non-violence had its own effect. They are talking about the inadequacy of ordinary laws. They fought down the rising of 1857 without these laws. They fought down the Wahabi movement, which was a regular uprising, without these laws. They fought down the Thuggee and Kooki movement without these laws. And are they now telling us that the ordinary laws have ceased to have any effect ? My answer to that would be they are bad workmen who are quarrelling with their tools. They do not know how to use them. They do not know the powers under the existing laws, that is quite obvious. I shall have an opportunity later on perhaps to examine the Bill itself and the provisions of this legislation clause by clause and show you how they are futile, or superfluous, or too dangerous. They fall into three categories ; either they are superfluous because ordinary laws are more than enough, or they are so dangerous that we cannot possibly clothe the present executive with these powers, and we will never do so. After all, the new Government are coming into existence. They will deal with these matters themselves when the opportunity arises and let not the present Government forget the fact that there is a world of difference between the mentality of those who now adorn the Treasury Benches and the mentality of those who are going to adorn the Treasury Benches in the future, because there will be no nominated blocks as far as the provinces are concerned at any rate and people will depend entirely and absolutely on their electorates, people who have been in close association with those who are accused of being either agitators or persons who are in sympathy with certain movements which are called subversive. Mr. President, this poor word "subversive" is one of the most over-worked terms employed in this House. The word subversive has been before us for a very long time and somehow or other we do not seem to be quite sure what it really means, because the passage of a peaceful political procession through a street is a subversive movement. The wearing of khaddar becomes a subversive movement. Once I had a most interesting experience while I happened to be acting as amicus curiae in one of these political cases when I had to examine the City Magistrate of Delhi. He said "Yes, such and such a person is definitely guilty under section 16 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act". "But how?" "He was participating in activities organised by an unlawful association." I put this question : Suppose the unlawful association says "keep clean, use soap every day" and I go and use soap in obedience to the instruction of that unlawful association, would I be guilty of an offence? "Decidedly yes" was the reply. Supposing the unlawful association says "promote your own industries, wear khaddar" would you hold me guilty of that offence. The answer was "Decidedly yes, because you are following the instructions of an unlawful association. These are the directions issued by an unlawful association and so long as you obey those directions you are committing that offence". That is the mentality of those who deal with these laws. Do the Government want us to clothe them with these powers so that they may be abused indiscriminately? This is not the only illustration. I have got here heaps of literature which I could read out to you. Perhaps it will take me days to read all these instances of the abuse of the law by executive authority. These are the bulletins issued by the Congress from time to time and the interviews which international travellers granted to representatives of the people during the continuance of the repression of the so-called subversive movement and there are various other reports written not by the Congress but by others. If I were to read all of them it would take me weeks together. Let me give you a few illustrations of the manner in which these laws operate in actual practice. It is all very well to talk of the maintenance of law and order. Believe me these Acts have proved in India a veritable Pandora's Box. All the evils have flowed from them. These repressive laws have been at the foundation of most of the movements that have come into existence in India. But instead of reading these illustrations of the abuse of law and instead of reading these various reports, I should like to read to this House the opinion of the Repressive Laws and Press Committees, because that would be far more relevant. These Committees were constituted in 1921 and considered the various enactments which were considered to be objectionable by certain sections of the people. Fortunately, at that time, Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru happened to occupy the position which the Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar occupies today.

[Mr. M. Asaf Ali.]

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : He now regrets the mistake he made.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Before I read the opinion of those committees, I should like to read a passage out of the Government communiqué which gave the opinion of the Government of India with regard to the movement which was then in progress. The movement which I am referring to was the non-co-operation movement which had already begun in 1921 and this was the opinion of the Government of India of those days. This Resolution is No. 4484, dated the 6th November, 1920 :

"In the first place, they (Government) have been reluctant to interfere with the liberty of speech and freedom of press at a time when India is on the threshold of a great advance towards the realisation of the principle of self-government within the Empire, when indeed the first elections are only in sight."

Exactly the same situation faces us today. The new elections are in sight.

The present Government do not want the new Government to begin with a clean slate. They want to write as much as possible on this slate and hand this disfigured palimpsest to the new Government and start the new Government with this halter round their neck. Is that what they want to do? The Honourable the Home Member said that he wanted to save the new Government the odium of sponsoring such a legislation. Can the new Government last 24 hours if it resorts to this kind of legislation? It cannot last 24 hours. Therefore they are trying to cut the very ground from under their feet and not only that, by asking us to be parties to such a legislation, they are cutting the ground from under our feet. What elected Member, I should like to ask, would have the courage to be a party to the passage of this enactment and then go and face his constituency? He will not be able to come back to this Assembly or any Legislature, much less form a Government. If the Honourable the Home Member felt that he was doing a great good turn to the future entrants and to the future Government, I am afraid he was very much mistaken. Or perhaps he was rather astute.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am never astute.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : They (the Government) said further :

"In the second place, the Government are at all times reluctant to embark on a campaign against individuals some of whom may be actuated by honest, if misguided, motives. This consideration is reinforced by the knowledge that the form of prosecution under the ordinary criminal law"

[Mr. M. Asaf Ali.]

— and this is what I want the present Government to take note of—

“that the form of prosecution under the ordinary criminal law would be likely to give those against whom it might be directed the opportunity of posing as martyrs and might also by evoking false sympathy swell the number of adherents to a cause which has in itself no intrinsic merit to commend it to public acceptance.”

And what was said of that movement by the Government then may be said of communism today. I do not know why we on this side of the House always accuse the present Government of lack of imagination!

I think the Honourable the Home Member evinces a tremendous amount of imagination. He indulged his imagination and drew upon his imagination a good deal, when he created this mare's nest of communism. Where is that communism? How many associations are there in India today, and in how many centres do you think they can possibly strike roots? Sir, India is the last place where, for a long time to come, communism can strike its roots. The kind of communism which now prevails in Indian villages, that is, communes (they are not villages but they are communes), where people share a common life, that is the kind of communism which is acceptable to India today; but the kind of communism to which the Honourable the Home Member was referring will take a long time to find a footing, and until that time arrives, I do not think there is any need for the present Government to bother its head, to worry itself, about its existence. I would like, Sir, now to go back to the opinions of these Committees first. Now, Sir, a Committee was appointed, I think, in 1921 under the presidency of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru: and, after having considered the Press Act of 1910, which was considered an extremely obnoxious measure in those days, in spite of the fact that the non-co-operation movement was in progress, they came to these conclusions. They said:

“It is apparent, however, that the main object of the Act”,—(that is to say, the Press Act of 1910)—was to prevent the dissemination of incitement to violence and sedition, although the scope of section 4 of the Act is much wider.”

Then, they said:

“The chief questions that have to be examined, in our opinion, are, firstly, whether the Act has been effective in preventing the evil against which it was directed. Secondly, whether legislation of this character is now necessary for the maintenance of law and order; and, thirdly, whether, on a comparison of the advantages and disadvantages which the retention of the Act would involve, its continuance is desirable in the public interest.”

—and they came to the definite conclusion:

“We may say at the outset that on a careful consideration of these points, we are of opinion that the Act should be repealed.”

Well, it was repealed. Later on, they say:

“We are not, however, satisfied that the cessation of such incitements is due solely or even mainly to the Act or that in present conditions the ordinary law is not adequate to deal with such offences.”

Sir, this was their opinion. I am not the only one who says that the prevention of these incitements to murder, etc., has not been due to the repressive laws. This has been due to other causes. Later on, Sir, they said:

“Many witnesses indeed are of opinion that the Act is fatal to the growth of a healthy spirit of responsibility in the Press and that it deters persons of ability and independent character from joining the profession of journalism. Finally it is maintained that the Act places in the hands of the executive government arbitrary powers, not subject to adequate control by any independent tribunal, which may be used to suppress legitimate criticism of Government and that such a law is entirely inconsistent with the spirit of the reforms scheme and the gradual evolution of responsible government. There is in our judgment great force.”

—mark these words—

“There is in our judgment great force in many of these criticisms. We find, as already noted, that the Act has not proved effective in preventing the dissemination of sedition and that it is doubtful whether it is necessary to retain it for the purpose of preventing incitement to murder and similar violent crime;”

Now, Sir, there are some provisions here, in so far as the press is concerned, which relate to the confiscation of presses, the forfeiture of securities, and so on,—and this is the opinion which that Committee formed at the time:

“We have also considered the question of vesting Courts of Justice with power to confiscate a Press, if the keeper is convicted for the second time of disseminating sedition. Although section 517 of the Criminal Procedure Code affords some faint authority for the enactment of such a provision in the law, we feel that it would operate inequitably, particularly in the case of large and valuable presses used not only for the printing of a particular paper but also for other miscellaneous work.”

This was with respect to the press law of the time. I think I can quote at some length portions of the opinion of this Committee which we ought to consider while we are considering this particular Bill. Now, Sir, in the same year there was what was called the Repressive Laws Committee and this is what that Committee put on record in the year 1921, I repeat when the non-co-operation movement was in its full swing:

“We also appreciate the fact that the use of the ordinary law may in some cases advertise the very evil which the trial is designed to punish. It is undesirable that any Statutes should remain in force which are regarded with deep and genuine disapproval by a majority of the Members of the Legislatures. The harm created by the retention of arbitrary powers of imprisonment by the Executive may, as history has shown, be greater even than the evil which such powers are directed to remedy. The retention of these Acts could in any case only be defended if it was proved that they were in present circumstances essential to the maintenance of law and order. As it has not been found necessary to resort in the past to these measures save in cases of grave emergency, we advocate their immediate repeal.”

The result was that the Seditious Meetings Act went by the board, it was repealed. The Incitements to Offences Act was repealed. The Press Act went by the board; and not only that, even the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1908, was retained only in so far as the second part was concerned, and the first part was repealed. Now, this was at a time when a grave emergency existed,—this was at a time when, I believe, it was Lord Lloyd, Sir, who happened then to be the Governor of Bombay, who said that these people (the Congress) came within an ace of success—I believe it was Lord Lloyd (Voices: “Yes, yes”)—well, it was at that time that all these repressive laws were repealed: and, today, when no emergency exists of any description whatsoever, you ask us to clothe you with this amazing authority!

[Mr. M. Asaf Ali.]

Where, Sir, is the necessity? Terrorism, I have already told you, cannot possibly be controlled by this Act. Communism does not exist; it is not a present danger. Now remains communalism. Yes, that is a danger at the time. I am in entire agreement with the Honourable the Home Member when he says that the communal tension today is much greater than it has ever been before. I think he said that during the 40 years of his service he had not known communal tension worse than it happens to be today. I believe he used words to that effect and I am in entire agreement with him. But may I ask the Honourable the Home Member and the Government which he represents: Who is the author of this communalism? Is it or is it not a fact that in 1906 Lord Minto sent for the Nawab of Dacca and all those gentlemen who happened to be members of a deputation and before doing so, he had already been in communication with Lord Morley who happened to be the Secretary of State for India at that time. It is recorded in the letters of Lord Morley who wrote back to Lord Minto and said: What is this new hare that you are starting? I believe he used words to that effect. And what was the new hare? The new hare was separatism. Until that time India had not known separate elections and it was in 1909 for the first time that they came into existence. From that day onwards communalism has been the bane of India. I beg my Mussalman friends to forgive me and I am not suggesting for a single second that they should or should not ask for separate electorates. I am not suggesting anything of the kind. But my answer to the Honourable the Home Member is: If by communalism Government means the demand of certain communities for jobs and the demand of certain communities for seats, then the Government has killed communalism by giving the jobs they wanted and the seats they wanted. I should like to know why any communalism should be there now? If the answer of the Government of India is that they cannot control the Frankenstein which they themselves once created, then I would ask them to leave it to us. Let us come and occupy the seats which you are occupying now, and we shall deal with the Frankenstein and lay it to its eternal rest.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: You have had several tries at it.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: I shall take up that challenge. Yes, we made several desperate tries and honourable efforts and what was the result? Every time some new hare was started by you. What did we not do at the Unity Conference of Allahabad and Lucknow? For weeks we were sitting together and we nearly solved our problems when within a week of the solution of that problem—I should not like now to give out the names—I had the honour and privilege of meeting one of the Members of Government who happened to be a Member of Government at the time. At any rate, he was in agreement with the solution which we had arrived at and within the next week what did we find? A message was received from London and that was more than enough to frustrate our efforts and the whole thing went by the board.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon (Sind: Muhammadan Rural): To which communal settlements are you referring?

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: Unfortunately you happened to be attending the Round Table Conferences in London when we were making our efforts.

At any rate, you did not happen to be in India at the time. Perhaps you were in Ottawa. Anyway, these developments were being watched by those who were at the Round Table Conference and we have been authoritatively informed that our deliberations and the conclusions at which we arrived had a good deal to do with some of the conclusions which were arrived at at the Round Table Conference. This is what I was told: I do not know how far it is true. I am not in the know of things. Those who attended the Round Table Conferences must know about it.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: Attended by whom?

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: I believe you were at the Round Table Conference at the time.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: No: I did not attend the Second Round Table Conference.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: At any rate, my simple and straightforward proposition is this. You created this monster: you created this Frankenstein; you cannot control it today and you have confessed your inability. We will not grant you any power to deal with it now because there is the ordinary law. If you cannot control it, we will do that when we come to occupy your places and I can assure you that the ordinary law will be more than enough for our purposes and we shall deal with this monster as well as any other monster that may arise hereafter all right.

In so far as the question of presses is concerned, I think in the beginning I made a reference to the Member from Midnapore who quoted wrong figures. I believe he told this House that there were as many as 4 thousand and odd presses in India. That is perfectly correct. But there are not as many newspapers. There are only 1,282 newspapers in India including daily journals.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: There are over 4,000 newspapers.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: Then I shall stand corrected. I should like to know the Government's figures. I am only quoting from this book ("Time's Indian Year Book"), which, I believe, is well-known to everybody. It says that there are 4,509 presses and 1,282 newspapers. Out of these 1,282 newspapers, 448 have been dealt with by you and all these 448 have ceased publication. That means that practically 50 per cent. of the newspapers of the country have ceased to exist on account of the inequitable, unjust and tyrannical operation of the law.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: The Honourable Member's figures are quite wrong. The total number of newspapers according to my figures is 4,630.

Some Honourable Members: That figure includes newspapers and periodicals.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali: I am talking only of the newspapers and I am quoting from a well-known book of reference—the Indian Year Book of the Times of India. I can assure you that it is not a Congress book; we have not published these figures. There are not more than 1,282 newspapers in India; there may be more periodicals.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : But they are subject to the same law.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : You know what class of press and what class of journals you want to get at. You have been getting at nothing else but newspapers. I can read out the entire list of those papers which have ceased publication, dailies and weeklies.

Well, Sir, in so far as as special legislation is concerned, and in so far as special powers are concerned, I should like to put a few principles on record by which they ought to be judged before any Legislature can possibly agree to clothe the executive with special powers. The first of these principles should be that the special powers asked for must cover certain conditions existing in the country. The Honourable the Home Member made certain nebulous, general and vague assertions but he did not prove the existence of the conditions which require an enactment of this nature. Special powers must be proved to be absolutely necessary because the ordinary law has failed. I have already shown that there is nothing whatsoever before the House to lead us to think that the ordinary law of the country has failed to attack the kind of evil which is intended to be controlled, arrested and extinguished by this legislation. On the contrary, we find that so far as terrorism is concerned, Government admit that there has been an improvement in the situation. In so far as Communism is concerned, Government have put forward no case whatsoever. Special powers must have the fullest sanction of the people and should not be assumed in deliberate opposition to the will of the people. I feel, Sir, I am perfectly right when I assert that the bulk of the country is dead opposed to any legislation of this nature as is fairly clear from the attitude of Honourable Members of this House. Various Honourable Members have spoken from both sides of the House and you know, Sir, that the majority of the elected Members of the House has already spoken against the Bill which shows that public opinion, at any rate, is not with the Government. Repressive laws have never achieved their object. I have already told this to the House. The history of terrorism on the one hand and the history of the ordinary non-violent national struggle on the other is absolutely sufficient to prove this assertion, namely, that repressive laws have never crushed any of these things. Have you forgotten the history of various other countries? Did not the British Government enact a Prevention of Crimes Act in 1882 and again in 1888 for Ireland. What was the result of it? The result of it was that not very long ago, Ireland became a Free State and the British King had to issue a Proclamation by which he convened a Constituent Assembly which Constituent Assembly settled the constitution for Ireland. If repressive laws could control the national destinies of people, then Ireland ought to have been today as much a subject nation as India happens to have the misfortune of being today. Repressive laws cause resentment and agitation and tempt the people to disobedience and generally drive the movement underground. That they cause resentment you cannot deny. So far as the Civil Disobedience Movement is concerned, it is not a subversive movement. It can never be called a subversive movement. I am prepared to join issue with any constitutionalist anywhere and assert that civil disobedience is a perfectly constitutional movement.

It is merely a political demonstration because the Government happen to be absolutely irremovable. We cannot turn the Government out of power. We cannot control their legislation. What else are we to do in this House? Will the Government kindly change places with us and let us then see what they will do under similar circumstances? Supposing we formed an irremovable Government. Supposing we made laws to control their destinies which they cannot possibly influence in any way. What would they do under such circumstances? Would they or would they not civilly disobey the laws? I think every Britisher would be the first to say, "I am not going to obey laws of this nature". Therefore in so far as Civil Disobedience is concerned, it is a perfectly constitutional movement, but I admit that revolutionary movements are different. I also wanted to say that the repressive laws always put a premium on inefficiency among both the police and the magistracy as well as the police. Why? Because the attention of the police is focussed upon, and their attention is diverted to political offences and they let the ordinary offender alone. The result is inefficiency in administration. All ordinary criminals go scot-free, where efficiency in administration. All ordinary criminals go scot-free, where as the political demonstrators are tracked down as criminals. Sir, I know that there are other better and abler speakers, rather I should say there are able speakers, for I do not claim any ability, who will later on speak on this motion and so I do not wish to take up the time of the House. I shall address only one word to the elected Members of this House. In so far as the Government are concerned, their mind is made up and those who support the Government are not likely to be influenced by any arguments that may be addressed to them here. So, it is absolutely unnecessary for me to address them, for their minds are up. To the elected Members, I should just like to address one word. If the elected Members desire to go back to their constituents some day, then they ought to remember that the atrocious nature of this enactment will not easily be forgotten by their constituents. The country will not forget their actions whatever they may be and they have to think a hundred times before they cast their votes for the consideration of this measure; for to vote for the consideration of this Bill means that you accept the principle of the Bill. If the elected Members are going to be a party to the acceptance of the principle of the Bill let them remember that they will have to go back to their constituents. I need not paint a gloomier picture than that of one of the ex-Presidents of this very House who happened to be occupying a seat in one of the Boxes the other day. In so far as he was concerned, it was only the Ottawa Pact that made him lose his seat in this House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member ought not to discuss personalities here.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I have named none. I am only just reminding the elected Members of the fate which awaits those who betray the country. (Cheers.)

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Tuesday, the 10th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 10th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock,
Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

PERSONNEL AND OTHER DETAILS OF THE DELIMITATION COMMISSION.

228. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether any correspondence was going on between the Secretary of State and the Government of India regarding the personnel and other details of the Delimitation Commission ;
- (b) when that Commission will be sent out to India, and what the scope of its work will be ; and
- (c) whether this House will be consulted in this matter at any stage, and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) and (b). I invite the Honourable Member's attention to the communiqué of the 31st July announcing the personnel, terms of reference, etc., of the Indian Delimitation Committee. The Committee is expected to begin its work at the end of September.

(c) The Government of India propose to give the Indian Legislature, in due course, an opportunity of commenting on Federal matters covered by the report of the Delimitation Committee before framing their recommendations to His Majesty's Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of the fact that the Federal Legislature, i.e., the lower House will be composed of representatives indirectly elected by the Provincial Legislatures, will Government give this House an opportunity, at a suitable date, of pronouncing upon the provincial franchise as well ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : At the present moment, I cannot give an assurance, but I can undertake to convey this request to Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if Government's attention has been drawn to a proposal, specially in Madras, for the single transferable vote in joint electorates which return harijan candidates, and do they not consider that that goes against the spirit, if not the letter, of the Poona Pact, to which His Majesty's Government is a party ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am sorry that I did not know that I shall have to answer this question today in a particular matter relating to Madras, and I am afraid I cannot answer it.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government send for the papers and consider this very important question that a proposal of the Provincial Franchise Committee accepted by the Provincial Government goes right in the teeth of the Poona Pact ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : We are quite prepared to consider the objection which has fallen from my Honourable friend.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : When the proposals of the Provincial Delimitation Committees are sent to the Government of India, will the Government of India try to consult the Indian Delimitation Commission also about their views in regard to those recommendations ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have said in answer to a supplementary question from my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, that I am not prepared to give any guarantee or undertaking, but I am prepared to carry this to Government for consideration.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if Government's attention has been drawn to the proposal of the Provincial Franchise Committee in Madras and accepted by the Madras Government that tens of thousands of graduates who now enjoy the franchise should be deprived of the franchise for the University seat in the Provincial Assembly, and whether Government propose to consider this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have already said that I shall see that they consider the matter.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Is it the policy of Government to have a uniform system of franchise throughout the country or to have separate systems of franchise for each province ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I cannot make any pronouncement on Government's policy and I do not know that there is a definite policy in this matter. It must wait until the publication of the report of the Delimitation Commission and discussion in this House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it the policy of Government to extend or restrict the existing franchise as a whole ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I think it is fairly clear from what has happened before that the idea is to extend and not to restrict.

Mr. F. E. James : Is the Honourable Member aware that in Madras the representatives of the party to which my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, belongs, though invited, declined to serve on the Delimitation Committee ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I was not particularly aware of that, but I am prepared to take it from my Honourable friend as correct.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government aware that the Committee was packed with representatives of the reactionary party and we would be in a hopeless minority ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I absolutely repudiate that suggestion.

AMENDMENTS OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA BILL IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS
REGARDING THE PRINCES AND THE FEDERATION.

229. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether, with regard to the amendments of the Government of India Bill in the House of Commons, regarding the Princes and the Federation, they were consulted by the Secretary of State ;

(b) if so, what the advice was which they gave ; and

(c) if, apart from consultation, they made any representations in this matter to His Majesty's Government ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : With the permission of the President, I would like to answer parts (a), (b) and (c) of the question as a whole.

The Government of India were consulted by the Secretary of State on the amendments referred to by the Honourable Member, but I regret that I am not in a position to disclose the contents of the confidential correspondence.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know, if the reason for Government's refusal is that public interests will be affected ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : My Honourable friend has for once correctly anticipated the formal answer. That is the answer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to clause (c), may I know, if, apart from the reply to the consultation, they made any further representations to Government ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I believe that is part of the confidential correspondence, and I regret I cannot disclose it.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government aware that Mr. Monckton is reported to have made some promises to the States Ministers' Conference at Bombay last week, and are Government aware if he is given any authority by the Secretary of State for India to negotiate directly or indirectly on behalf of His Majesty's Government ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am not aware of any such thing.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST INDIANS BY THE KENYA GOVERNMENT.

230. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the telegram from the Free Press of India, dated the 25th May, 1935, regarding Kenya Government discriminating against Indians ;

(b) if the facts stated therein are true ; and

(c) if so, whether Government propose to take any steps to protect legitimate Indian interests ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

- (b) Not to the knowledge of the Government of India.
 (c) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did Government make any inquiry after the receipt of this question ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Government perused with great care the cutting which my Honourable friend sent, and it is so completely full of misstatements that it really was not worth while making any inquiries. For instance, I will just read out a bit :

“ It is understood that the whole series of cotton markets established over cotton producing areas where cotton passes, etc.”

Practically no cotton is produced in Kenya. The gentleman must have been thinking of Uganda.

ENQUIRY INTO THE PRODUCTION AND TRADE OF RICE IN THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

231. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the Report of Mr. C. R. Srinivasan, Special Officer, appointed by the Madras Government, to enquire into the production and trade of rice in the Presidency, especially the recommendation in favour of a reduction of railway freight for transporting rice and paddy from producing centres to different consuming centres in the province ; and

- (b) whether they propose to take any steps in the matter, and if not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) As regards (i) of the recommendations summarised at the end of the report, the Honourable Member's attention is invited to the provisions of the Indian Tariff (Amendment) Act, 1935. It is understood that the Government of Madras have been in touch with Railway administrations concerned, as a result of which freights in certain cases have been reduced. The rest of the recommendations concern the Local Government exclusively.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know, in somewhat more detail, in how many cases approximately and for what distances this freight for transporting rice and paddy from producing centres to consuming centres has been reduced ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : All that I know at the moment is that the actual reductions have reached as much as 16 per cent. in certain cases ; but, if my Honourable friend wants details of the kind he mentioned just now, I shall endeavour to obtain them and place them at his disposal.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is the Honourable Member aware of the fact that, in as many as 12 districts of the Madras Presidency and in the Andhra districts, no steps till now have been taken by the railway authorities to reduce the railway freights for the transport of paddy and rice ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am prepared to examine the information which my Honourable friend has furnished.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government received any communication from the Andhra Chamber of Commerce with a request that these freights should be reduced as far as these articles are concerned in the Andhra districts ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I could not really answer that question, because it concerns the Railway Board : I can say that I made inquiries from my Honourable friend, Mr. Rau, and he does not remember to have seen any such representation.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have the Government of Madras sent any communication to the Government of India ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : No, the Government of Madras have sent no communication to the Government of India.

APPLICATION OF A SYSTEM OF CONTROL OVER IMPORTS BY THE JAPANESE TRADE COUNCIL.

232. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the action of the Japanese Trade Council, who have decided to apply a system of control over imports, and to introduce safeguarding measures against countries which impose severe restrictions on Japanese imports ;

- (b) whether they have considered the effect of this on India's trade with Japan ; and

- (c) what steps, if any, Government propose to take in the matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) and (c). Trade relations between India and Japan are governed by the Indo-Japanese Trade Convention and Protocol, and the Government of India have no reason to believe that the Government of Japan have any intention of discriminating against Indian imports to Japan in contravention of the existing agreement between the two countries.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has there been any correspondence between this Government and the Government of Japan in this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, no occasion has arisen for any correspondence so far.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government made any inquiries after the receipt of this question ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There was no need to make any inquiries, because, as I have said, no portion of this agreement has been contravened.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When is this trade convention due for revision next ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot say whether it is due for revision or not, but it continues in force till the spring of 1937.

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is there any Indian Trade Commissioner in Japan ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : If there is no Trade Commissioner there, how and through what channel do the Government of India try to ascertain the policies and intentions of the Government of Japan ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have said nothing with regard to the intentions of the Government of Japan except this, that we have not found there are any reasons to consider that they will in any way try to contravene the agreement already arrived at between us : but there are several channels, apart from trade commissioners—publications, declarations, statements of policy, correspondence, and so on.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is there any agent at all of the Government of India in Japan who can try and ascertain the facts there.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There is no trade agent in Japan.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do Government propose to appoint one now ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That matter is being considered.

RESTRICTION OF INDIAN IMPORTS INTO ROUMANIA, ITALY AND GERMANY.

233. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have taken any steps with regard to the restriction of Indian imports into Roumania, Italy and Germany ;
- (b) whether they have investigated the matter ; and
- (c) what their conclusions in the matter are ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Honourable Member is referred to the replies given by me to Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar's starred question No. 5 on the 2nd September, 1935, and the supplementaries thereto and to parts (b) and (c) of his own starred question No. 209.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am asking only with regard to Germany : what is the position with regard to the trade of this country with Germany ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : What is exactly meant by "position" ? In reply to supplementaries, I explained the position : but if the Honourable Member will explain what he means by "position", I will be able to tell him.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any restriction on Indian imports into Germany ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes, as part of the general restrictions imposed by Germany with regard to imports from all countries.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair thinks the matter was explained the other day.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government made any representations to the Government of Germany, with regard to these restrictions on imports from India into that country ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Not yet.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government have the matter under consideration : they are getting all the information relevant to this question and are considering what action is necessary.

RESULTS OF THE OTTAWA TRADE AGREEMENT.

234. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether the examination of the results of the Ottawa Pact are complete ;
- (b) when they will be placed before this House ; and
- (c) whether this House will be given an early opportunity to consider the matter and give its opinion on it ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes, up to the end of the Fiscal Year 1934-35.

(b) The Report for that year will be laid on the table of the House at an early date.

(c) The House will be afforded an opportunity of discussing the results of the Ottawa Trade Agreement in the next Budget Session.

INCONVENIENCE CAUSED TO INDIAN PASSENGERS ON ACCOUNT OF EUROPEAN SOLDIERS TRAVELLING IN ORDINARY SECOND CLASS COMPARTMENTS.

235. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the fact that great inconvenience is caused to the Indian passengers on account of European soldiers travelling in ordinary second class compartments ;
- (b) whether Government propose to make other arrangements and thereby minimise the inconvenience caused to Indian passengers ; and
- (c) whether arrangements will be made to transport soldiers in separate compartments reserved for them ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Occasional complaints have been received.

(b) Government have no reason to think that a reference to the railway staff in the case of a genuine complaint will not set matters right.

(c) No. The arrangement suggested would result in a waste of accommodation.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether the Honourable Member's attention has been drawn to recent occurrences—I need not give the details—and will Government consider the desirability, in the interests of Indian passengers, of reserving carriages for these European soldiers and charging the Army Department for the entire cost of transporting them?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The position is that if there is a small number of British soldiers travelling, it would, as has been explained in the answer, amount to waste of accommodation to reserve compartments for them, when there is not a full complement of passengers to occupy these compartments, let alone the reservation of carriages for a small number of British soldiers.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether the Honourable the Commerce Member has considered, in the light of recent events, the great inconvenience and discomfort likely to be caused to Indian passengers by these European soldiers, especially when they are travelling without any superior in command?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : What is the insinuation?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The insinuation is that they behave like brutes.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot understand the inconvenience likely to be caused : as the Financial Commissioner has explained in reply to the question, occasional complaints have been received, and Government has no reason to think that a reference to the station authorities would not set matters right.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government aware that in Bareilly Station, when British soldiers left their baggage there and the clerks asked them for money, they were assaulted by these soldiers?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am not aware of that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Of course, you are not.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware of the fact that third class passengers also experience great inconvenience because of these sepoys and soldiers travelling third class in their compartments?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No : I am not aware what kind of inconvenience is being referred to.

INDIANISATION OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA SECRETARIAT.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I now put my supplementaries on question No. 207. May I ask the Honourable the Home Member what is the reason for this slow progress in the Indianisation of the Secretariat in the Government of India?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think the progress is particularly slow.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why is it slow, particularly or otherwise, in view of the fact that in the Preamble, to which my attention has been drawn, which stands unrepealed, the increasing association of Indians was declared in 1919,—16 years ago now?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The association is steadily increasing.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether there are any Departments in which there is discrimination against Indians—say, the Home and Finance Departments?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No : there is no discrimination against Indians in either Department.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Honourable Member from Madras has reason to know that that is not true.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I shall not discuss that on the floor of the House : I choose to respect confidences : the Honourable the Finance Member does not. Therefore, I will not pursue that matter. But I will ask the Honourable the Home Member whether Government are on the whole satisfied with the results of these Indians being recruited to the Secretariat?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : My own experience is comparatively limited : but I do know this, that at least on one occasion since I assumed office I have tried to get an Indian, but no Local Government was in a position to spare the services of a suitable Indian.

ALLEGED IMPERSONATION AND MALPRACTICES EMPLOYED IN ELECTIONS TO THE LEGISLATURES AND LOCAL BODIES.

236. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to a number of articles appearing in the Sind Observer, dated the 14th May, 1935, referring to impersonation and other glaring malpractices employed in elections to the legislatures and local bodies?

(b) What steps do Government propose to take by way of amendment of law and rules in connection therewith for better preparation of the electoral rules and checkmating impersonations?

(c) Do Government propose to amend the law, making offences of impersonations cognizable and triable summarily?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) The Government of India have perused the articles referred to.

(b) and (c), The Government of India are in consultation with Local Governments as to whether a more effective procedure is desirable to check impersonation at elections.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the Honourable Member knows that the Karachi Municipality have started a system by which identification marks of voters are taken down and that prevents impersonation : will the Honourable Member consider that system?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I was not aware of that : I dare say, it is a very good idea.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is the Honourable Member aware of the fact that this evil of impersonation and sometimes glaring impersonation is widely prevalent in the Madras Presidency also?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I believe it prevails in all provinces.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government try to take steps to see that rules are suitably amended to prevent this all over India?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have already said that we are in consultation with Local Governments to consider whether more effective procedure can be devised.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : The Honourable Member may have no idea as to what the Karachi Municipality has done ; but I am giving the idea to the Honourable Member : will he kindly look into it when some improvement is going to be made ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes : if the Honourable Member will give me the facts, I will certainly look into it.

AMENDMENT OF THE INDIAN MEDICAL COUNCIL ACT.

237. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if they have received a copy of the resolution passed by the 27th Annual Conference of the All-India Medical Licentiates Association, urging upon Government to amend the Indian Medical Council Act so as to include the Indian Medical Licentiates within the scope of the Act ?

(b) If so, what steps do Government propose to take in the matter ?

(c) Have Government reconsidered the desirability of amending the Act to the aforesaid scope, since the passing of the Act ? If so, in what way and with what result ?

(d) Were any reports called for on the subject while considering the question after the passing of the Act ? If so, will Government be pleased to place those papers on the table ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b), (c) and (d). I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the discussions that took place in this House in February and September, 1933, on the Indian Medical Council Bill, now the Indian Medical Council Act. Government's position in regard to licentiates was fully explained then. No reports were called for from Local Governments nor have any been submitted by them since the Act was passed. In the opinion of the Government of India no extension of its scope in the manner suggested by the Honourable Member is called for.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Is it not a fact, Sir, that in those discussions it was given out that the reports would be sent for and the question whether the scope would be extended to the licentiates also would be considered hereafter ? Have Government considered it ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, I made it perfectly clear, then, because I made the statement on behalf of the Government on that occasion, that, as a result of pressure brought upon Government by the House, we had consulted the Local Governments, and they were not in favour either of the preliminary inquiry or of any additional inquiry of the nature suggested by the Honourable Member.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member whether, now that the Act is in operation, Government will inquire from the medical licentiates and other bodies and also from the Local Governments to reconsider that question ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, the operation of the Act by its very terms being limited to medical graduates has no effect upon medical licentiates.

FEES DEMANDED BY THE CIVIL SURGEON, NEW DELHI, DURING HOSPITAL HOURS.

238. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the Civil Surgeon in charge of New Delhi Municipal Hospital (Willingdon Hospital) is entitled to charge fees for examination of patients in the hospital during the hospital working hours ? If so, how much and under what rule or order of the Municipality or of Government ?

(b) Is it a fact that in other hospitals in India, the medical officers are permitted to charge a particular fee for examination only when they examine private patients in their private quarters during their leisure hours ?

(c) Is it a fact that the Civil Surgeon at the New Delhi Hospital charges out-patients, who are not first class Government officers, for examination only in the hospital during hospital hours ? If so, how much and under whose orders ?

(d) Are Government aware that, in the event the Civil Surgeon, whose services are loaned by the Government to the Municipal Hospital at New Delhi, does make a charge on all non-first class Government officers and private residents of New Delhi for mere consultation in the hospital during consultation hours, it becomes impossible for such of those that cannot afford to pay the fee demanded by the Civil Surgeon to obtain expert advice ?

(e) Are Government aware that in Great Britain, where most of the hospitals are maintained out of voluntary contributions, any person is permitted to obtain expert advice even from Honorary Physicians and Surgeons during their consulting hours in the hospital on the payment, if not entirely free, of a very small fee to the hospital and not to the physicians and surgeons ? If so, how is the Civil Surgeon, New Delhi, justified in demanding fees for consultation during hospital hours from out-patients ?

(f) Do Government propose to find out how long and in how many cases the Civil Surgeon at the Municipal Hospital in New Delhi has received fees from out-patients for examining them during hospital hours, and do Government propose to make him refund the amounts so received to the particular patients ? If not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) (c), (d) and (f). The Honourable Member's question presumably refers to the practice in respect of out-patients. The position in New Delhi in regard to such patients is that, unless they are officials entitled to the services of the Civil Surgeon, they have to see the senior Assistant Surgeon who is in charge of the out-patients' department. The Assistant Surgeon may consult the Civil Surgeon when necessary. If a non-official, who is not entitled to the Civil Surgeon's services and who is in a position to pay a fee, insists on seeing the Civil Surgeon, he may be seen in the hospital and charged a fee not exceeding Rs. 16. Officials entitled to medical attendance by an officer below the rank of Civil Surgeon have the right of access to the Civil Surgeon, when necessary or when difficulty arises, and no fee is demanded or expected. In the circumstances Government do not consider it necessary to make the enquiry suggested by the Honourable Member in part (f) of his question.

(b) There is no uniform practice in this matter.

(e) The position in Great Britain is not as suggested by the Honourable Member. In most hospitals an out-patient is examined by the hospital almoner as to his financial position before being admitted to the consulting room. When admitted, he has no choice of consultant but has to appear before the doctor or his assistant who may be on duty on that day.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I know, Sir, on what grounds a first class officer has the right of consulting the Civil Surgeon even for a slight illness, while a subordinate officer has not got the same right? What is the reason for this kind of discrimination?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I don't think my Honourable friend has quite appreciated the position. A subordinate official of the Government for a minor ailment is entitled to the services of an Assistant or Sub-Assistant Surgeon, as the case may be, but if either the Sub-Assistant Surgeon or the Assistant Surgeon feels that the character of the disease is such that the Civil Surgeon should be consulted, the Civil Surgeon is consulted and renders his service free of charge.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask, Sir, whether it will not serve the purpose of economy if a first class officer goes to a subordinate medical officer for consulting about a minor ailment?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I don't think that will be so, because, after all, if economy is the main objective, probably my friend will suggest that there should be a first class Civil Surgeon to do all the work, but inasmuch as there are only 24 hours in a day, I doubt very much whether that first class Surgeon could do it.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I know whether the Government of India will consider if it will not be proper to offer the services of the Civil Surgeon according to the nature of the malady, instead of according to the class of the officer?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Inasmuch as the existing arrangement seems to meet all reasonable requirements, Government don't think it is necessary to consider a modification.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if a non-official pays the fees and the Civil Surgeon examines him, will he examine him during hospital hours or after the hospital hours?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Ordinarily, private practice is done outside hospital hours, but if there is a special case when a non-official goes to the hospital and seeks the assistance of the Civil Surgeon and it is held that he is in a position to pay the fee, in that case he is examined during hospital hours.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : To whom is the fee paid then? Is it to the Civil Surgeon himself or to the Municipality or the Government?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : To the Civil Surgeon in the case of the New Delhi Municipality.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Does the Honourable Member know that, in other Government hospitals, Civil Surgeons, during hospital hours, examine patients without fees? Will the Honourable Member advise the New Delhi Municipality or the Civil Surgeon there to conform to that practice which is followed in other provinces?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already answered part (b) of my Honourable friend's question, and I have said that there is no uniform practice in this matter.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Sir, may I, with your permission, ask this question, because Mr. Mathuradas Vissanji is not here?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Has the Honourable Member got any authority from him?

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : No, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Then he cannot ask that question.

PROTECTION TO THE COCOANUT INDUSTRY IN INDIA.

239. *Mr. Mathuradas Vissanji : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have received the recommendations of the Sub-Committee appointed by the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research on Dr. Patel's Report on the coconut industry in India and, if so, when;

(b) what action Government have taken on the recommendations of the Sub-Committee; and

(c) whether Government propose to take immediate action to afford protection to the coconut industry in India?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes, in February, 1935.

(b) and (c). The recommendations of the sub-committee are still under the consideration of the Government of India.

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO MR. MOHAN LAL SAKSENA TO VISIT THE CELLULAR JAIL AT PORT BLAIR.

240. *Mr. Sri Prakasa : (a) Is it a fact that Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena had applied for permission to visit the Cellular Jail at Port Blair and that Government refused to give the required permission?

(b) Is it also a fact that he had offered to go there at his own expense? If so, will Government be pleased to state the reasons why the permission was refused?

(c) Is it a fact that the Honourable Diwan Bahadur G. Narayana-swami Chetti, C.I.E., recently paid a visit to the Andamans? If so, will Government be pleased to state whether he was granted permission after Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena's application?

(d) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the correspondence that passed between the Honourable Diwan Bahadur G. Narayanaswami Chetti, C.I.E., and Government in this connection?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes. I would refer the Honourable Member to my letter to Mr. Saksena of 27th April, 1935, a copy of which has been placed on the table of the House.

(c) Yes. The Honourable Diwan Bahadur G. Narayanaswami Chetti was granted permission long before Mr. Saksena's application.

(d) A copy of the correspondence with the Honourable Diwan Bahadur G. N. Chetti on the subject of his visit to the Andamans is placed on the table of the House.

Copy of a letter No. F. 60/35-Jails, dated 27th April, 1935, from the Government of India, Home Department, to Shri Mohan Lal Saksena, M.L.A., Advocate, Aminud-daulah Park, Lucknow.

In your letter of April 17th you asked to be informed of the reasons which led the Government of India to refuse your request for permission to go to Port Blair. The reasons are as follows :

In your original request you stated that you had received a number of complaints regarding the treatment of prisoners in Port Blair. In reply to an enquiry from me you refused in your letter of March 29th to reveal what these complaints were and admitted that you had no evidence in support of them. The investigation of complaints in regard to the treatment of prisoners is essentially a matter for Government to take up themselves and the Government of India are always prepared to undertake such investigation when specific complaints are brought to their notice. But to allow a non-official to visit the Settlement with the express object of enquiring into complaints, especially when they are unspecified and admittedly ex parte, would in the opinion of Government encourage the presentation of such complaints by prisoners and would thus be highly prejudicial to jail discipline. Government cannot, therefore, agree to give facilities to any individual for such a purpose.

Copy of a demi-official letter No. 1316/33-Jails, dated the 30th October, 1933, from the Government of India, Home Department, to the Honourable Dewan Bahadur G. N. Chetti, Member of the Council of State, 9, Windsor Place, New Delhi.

You approached the Honourable the Home Member in Simla with a request that you might be allowed to visit the Andamans, in a private capacity and at your own expense, about Christmas time, so that you might have an opportunity of visiting the Cellular Jail. Mr. J. W. Smyth, the Chief Commissioner of the Andamans, is at present in Delhi and is staying with the Honourable the Home Member at No. 2, King Edward Road. He will be leaving Delhi on Thursday evening. The Honourable the Home Member has asked me to write to you and say that Mr. Smyth will be very glad to see you before he leaves Delhi and discuss with you your desire to visit the Andamans. If you would like to meet Mr. Smyth, perhaps you will write to him direct at No. 2, King Edward Road, and let him know when it would be convenient for you to call upon him.

Copy of a demi-official letter No. D-1451/33-Jails, dated the 20th November, 1933, from the Government of India, Home Department, to the Honourable Dewan Bahadur G. N. Chetti, Member of the Council of State, 9, Windsor Place, New Delhi.

In continuation of my demi-official letter No. 1316/33-Jails, dated the 30th October, I write to inform you that the Government of India have no objection to your visiting the Andamans in a private capacity. The Chief Commissioner has suggested that you should sail by the S. S. "Maharaja" on one or other of the two following trips :

|                           |             |
|---------------------------|-------------|
| 1. Leave Calcutta .. .. . | December 10 |
| Arrive Port Blair .. .. . | December 13 |
| Leave Port Blair .. .. .  | December 20 |
| Arrive Calcutta .. .. .   | December 24 |
| 2. Leave Calcutta .. .. . | December 31 |
| Arrive Port Blair .. .. . | January 3   |
| Leave Port Blair .. .. .  | January 10  |
| Arrive Madras .. .. .     | January 14  |

2. The Agents of the S. S. "Maharaja" are Messrs. Turner, Morrison and Company, Calcutta, and, after you have decided the dates most suitable to you, you should write to them direct about accommodation. I am sending a copy of this letter to them so that there may be no difficulty in regard to accommodation.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Why was a discrimination made between the two gentlemen in the matter of granting permission to visit the Andamans?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I would refer the Honourable Member to the correspondence I am laying on the table.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Sir, I want a definite answer at once, because I want to base my supplementary questions on it. It will take some time for me to get the answer from the table of the House. Cannot the Honourable Member read out that correspondence?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : If the answer is to be found in the correspondence, the Chair thinks the Honourable Member can read the correspondence and afterwards put his supplementary questions. If the Honourable Member reads that correspondence, it is possible that supplementary questions may not be found necessary.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : That is impossible, Sir.

Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : May I know from the Honourable Member if a single reform has been effected within the prison walls on the advice given by Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chettiar till now?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Not even butter milk is supplied to prisoners in Madras.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member cannot carry on a conversation like that.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Yesterday it was stated that, on account of the special experience of the working of the Jail Administration, Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chettiar possessed a special advantage, and, therefore, he was given a passport to proceed to the Andamans. I am now asking the Honourable Member to state if, in all his experience, even a single reform has been effected as a result of the advice tendered by Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chettiar? Is there a single reform to the credit of Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chettiar?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I think the gentleman in question has effected a great deal of reform in jail administration.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : May I know if even a single reform has been effected in all the millions of jails in this country as a result of the advice given by Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chettiar ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think that arises out of this question. I happen to know that the gentleman in question has done a great deal especially in regard to helping released prisoners.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : That is outside the jails. My question relates to reforms effected, if any, inside the jails. Released prisoners are no longer in jails. I want to know what additional comforts or any other improvements in the amenities of life of the prisoners inside the jails have been made as a result of the advice tendered by Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chettiar ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That does not arise out of the answer I have given. If the Honourable Member wishes to have this information, he should put down a question on paper.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : On what grounds was that gentleman chosen to go to the Andamans in preference to my Honourable friend, Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena, who is a Member of this House ?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : He is a well-known loyalist !

Mr. Sri Prakasa : I want to ask you, Sir, for the sake of information, whether, if I feel that any supplementary questions should be asked after reading the papers, I could put them tomorrow, or shall I have to wait and take my chance later ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member may ask any supplementary questions that may arise out of the correspondence, tomorrow.

TRAIN SERVICE BETWEEN GUDUR AND KATPADI AND DHARMAVARAM ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY.

241. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that the train service between Gudur and Katpadi and Dharmavaram recently bus service is flourishing and making good income to the detriment of the Railway income ?

(b) Are Government also aware that the third class carriages in use are all rickety, having doors opening outside and having no proper bolts and hinges ?

(c) Are Government aware that the lavatories in the third class carriages are not provided with water, are not cleaned properly, are too small for free ingress and egress, and are highly insanitary ?

(d) Are Government prepared to take immediate steps to remedy these defects ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) There are heavy gradients on each of the sections referred to, and all trains have to stop at every station. Owing to the light section rails in the track a more powerful engine is not available for use on these sections. Under these circumstances the speed of trains is restricted.

(b) No. All trains running on those sections are composed of bogie stock.

(c) No. Tanks of lavatories of third class carriages running on those sections are filled with water and the lavatories cleaned at six stations.

(d) Government are forwarding a copy of the question and the answer to the Agent, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, to see whether any steps can be taken to accelerate the service.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware of the fact that latrines in these trains are in an abominable condition ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No, Sir. I understand that they are cleaned at six stations out of eighteen.

CONSTRUCTION OF A RAILWAY LINE BETWEEN TIRUPATI AND MADRAS.

242. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware of a resolution passed by the Bar Association, Tirupati, that the Tirupati Railway Station should be connected by metre gauge to Madras ?

(b) Has not the line been surveyed and lands acquired for laying the railway at an enormous cost ?

(c) Are Government prepared to take up the construction of the railway at an early date ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) No.

(b) No land has been acquired. As I informed my Honourable friend in February last, the total cost of the survey is about Rs. 76,000.

(c) The project is one of those being reconsidered at the present moment.

PROPOSAL TO CONSTRUCT A FUNICULAR RAILWAY FROM TIRUPATI TO TIRUMALAI HILLS IN THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

243. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware of a proposal to construct a funicular railway from Tirupati to Tirumalai Hills via Chandragiri in the Madras Presidency ?

(b) Are Government aware that there is a lot of public opinion against it on the ground that the sanctity of the Tirumalai Hill would be destroyed and that town of Tirupati would sink into insignificance ?

(c) Are Government prepared to take steps to prevent the construction of such a railway ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). No. The proposal is one primarily for decision by the Government of Madras.

PROTECTION OF INDIANS FROM AIR RAIDS.

244. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that all countries in Europe and in the East are taking steps to protect the civil population from air raids, in case of an air attack, by giving them mask drills ?

(b) What steps, if any, are Government taking in this direction to protect the people of India ?

(c) Do Government propose taking any steps to improve their defence in case of a possible outbreak of war in Europe or in the East ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Government understand that the Governments of several countries have been studying the matter, but they have no precise information as to the extent to which they have been training their populations by means of gas mask drills.

(b) and (c). The possibility of air raids on India is remote at present, and no active measures to train the civil population in methods of protection are considered necessary. The Honourable Member may rest assured that the Government will take such steps as may be necessary, if the need arises.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is there any possibility of the Government of India thinking of throwing bombs on the civilian population outside the frontier ? They are already doing this on the frontier now.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I could not hear the Honourable Member's question. If he could speak a little slower and a little louder, I might be able to hear him.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is there any possibility of the Government of India thinking of throwing bombs on the civilian population on this side of the frontier ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That does not arise. Next question.

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO CERTAIN PERSONS TO ENTER QUETTA FOR AFFORDING RELIEF TO THE EARTHQUAKE SUFFERERS.

245. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Why have Government refused permission to the Indian National Congress Secretaries and to Mahatma Gandhi to enter Quetta for affording relief to the earthquake sufferers ?

(b) Is it not a fact that the Congress leaders rendered invaluable services to Bihar by giving relief to the earthquake sufferers ?

(c) What steps have Government taken to see that no thefts are committed of the properties of the earthquake sufferers at Quetta ?

(d) What is the total value of the property recovered from out of the debris at Quetta, and how much of this was restored to the owners ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) I would refer the Honourable Member to the answer given by the Honourable Sir Henry Craik to part (c) of Mr. Satyamurti's starred question No. 219.

(b) Yes, Sir, Government are aware of the services rendered by the Congress to the sufferers in the Bihar earthquake.

(c) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Chapters IV and VI of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", copies of which have been sent to all the Members of this House.

(d) It is not possible to estimate the total value of the property recovered from under the debris before the city was sealed, as the property excavated was handed direct to the owners and no record was kept. Since the preliminary salvage has started within the sealed area, property valued at over rupees four lakhs has been handed over to the owners.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the value of the articles still in the possession of Government which have to be surrendered to the owners ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I am afraid I cannot answer that question without notice.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Is it a fact that one Mr. Hogg of the Boy Scouts was allowed to proceed to Quetta ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I do not think that arises out of this question.

PREVENTION OF THE EXPORT OF SILVER AND A RISE IN ITS PRICE.

246. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What steps do Government propose to take to prevent the export of silver and to prevent a rise in the price thereof ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to the reply given by me to Mr. Satyamurti's starred question No. 223 during the current Session.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : No, Sir. When I asked that question, my Honourable friend said there was a question on the paper later which he would answer, and now he is asking me to go back to the answer which he gave to the first question.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Honourable Member was referring to another question of his which appears later on, but if he wants me to answer the question before it has been reached, I will tell him here and now, that I do not propose to make any statement of any kind of the subject of silver while the bullion market is in its present jumpy state. I do not desire to give the speculators any kind of lead in any direction.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : The Honourable Member.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable the Finance Member has said that he is not going to make any statement on the subject of silver.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : There is a question out of the vague answer that my Honourable friend has given. The Honourable Member who puts this question is not a speculator himself, I may assure him. I want the Honourable Member to state what steps have been taken till now to lower the price of silver, let alone the steps that have to be taken in the future ? What steps have been taken till now to lower the price of silver ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The price of silver has been regulated by market conditions.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Has a very large quantity of silver been sold by the Government of India to reduce the price of silver ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a question which I do not propose to answer.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : I am asking with regard to the sale that has already taken place, and not to the sale that may take place hereafter. Have the Government of India already sold a large quantity of silver to bring down the price of silver ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Does the Honourable Member mean before the present speculative rise in silver took place ? Of course, they did. Information about that appears in the annual reports of the Controller of Currency.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : May I know what quantities were sold ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot say off-hand. You will find it in the Controller's report.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Was any quantity sold during the last three months ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a question which I refuse to answer.

COMBINE FOR WORKING THE GOLD MINES IN THE NILGIRIS.

247. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that some Australian and London companies have entered into a combine for working the gold mines in the Nilgiris ?

(b) Have Government investigated the possibilities of opening up gold mines there ?

(c) Do Government propose to take steps to start a company locally or to nationalise that industry ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) The Government of Madras report that an unregistered company, called the Wynaad Gold Development Company, Limited, with English and Australian Directorate has obtained permission to prospect for gold in certain private Janmam lands in the Nilgiris.

(b) Certain investigations were made in 1879 and 1901-1902.

(c) No.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Why not ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : In all possibility it was not worth while.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government ascertained whether it would be worth while or not ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The grade of the ore in that part of Madras is so low that, even with the present high prices of gold, there is no likelihood of its development being a paying proposition.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Then, what is the explanation of this private company coming in when there is no prospect of getting any profit ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The Honourable Member must remember that hope which springs eternal in the human breast and which has resulted probably in more money being spent on hunting and prospecting for gold than has ever been derived from the mining of it.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What are the results of the investigations of 1879 and the later year to which the Honourable Member referred ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Complete failure. One company in particular obtained no gold whatsoever.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : I suppose this information is available to the persons who are floating the present company ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I presume so.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Then, why are they floating a company of that kind ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question, No. 248.

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO CERTAIN PERSONS TO ENTER QUETTA FOR AFFORDING RELIEF TO THE EARTHQUAKE SUFFERERS.

248. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Is it a fact that Mahatma Gandhi and Babu Rajendra Parshad, President of the Indian National Congress, applied to the authorities for permission to visit Quetta, after the earthquake ? If so, what was the correspondence which passed between the Government and the gentlemen concerned ? Will Government lay the full text of the correspondence on the table of this House ?

(b) What were the reasons which led Government to refuse permission to Mahatma Gandhi and the President of the Indian National Congress ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Mr. Gandhi applied for such permission for himself and others. Babu Rajendra Prasad applied for such permission for relief parties. Government would have no objection to laying the correspondence on the table but have not the permission of the gentlemen concerned to do so.

(b) I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply I gave to parts (b) and (c) of Mr. Satyamurti's starred question No. 219.

EARTHQUAKE AT QUETTA IN 1931.

249. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if there was an earthquake in Quetta in 1931 ? If so, how much loss of person and property did it cause ?

(b) What steps did Government take in Quetta to guard against such incidents happening thereafter ?

(c) Were any earthquake-proof buildings constructed at Quetta ? Were they private or public, and how far did they stand the recent dreadful earthquake at Quetta ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given by the Honourable Mr. E. B. Howell on the 7th November, 1931, to parts (b) and (c) of his question No. 1245.

(b) All public buildings constructed since 1931 have been built to earthquake-proof design.

(c) They stood the recent earthquake very successfully. As far as is known no private houses were constructed on earthquake-proof lines.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member if he can give me an idea of the reply given by Mr. Howell in reply to part (a) ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have it here. It reads :

“ The Honourable Member is referred to the communiqué issued by the Honourable the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan, dated the 29th August, 1931 (which gave the particulars of the earthquake).

In all, 104 deaths have been reported in Kalat State territory and seven deaths in British Baluchistan. The Central Jail, Railway buildings and other Government property at Mach were seriously damaged. At Quetta and Ziarat a considerable number of Government buildings were slightly damaged. In the Bolan pass neighbourhood, numerous Government buildings and also the Railway and the road were seriously damaged, etc.”

The answer is rather long, but the portion I have read out gives sufficient indication of its nature.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Why is it that no condition was imposed upon the private owners to see that they should build their houses only as earthquake proof ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Not that I am aware of.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do the Government of India propose to impose any such condition for the construction of houses in future.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Such a proposal is under consideration.

RECENT EARTHQUAKE AT QUETTA.

250. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to make a full statement as to the happening of the recent earthquake at Quetta, and state at what time it took place, what immediate steps Government took, and what arrangements were made for immediate help and succour to the people on account of the earthquake ?

(b) At what time after the earthquake shock did Government, through the military and civil authorities, commence helping the people who were alive, and what help did they render to them ?

(c) When was the digging out of people from under the debris commenced and when was it stopped and why ?

(d) How many persons were dug out, dead or alive, during the above period ?

(e) Was any outside help called for the purpose of bringing out people ?

(f) Did Government do anything to immediately import into Quetta outside labour and volunteers in order to help the military and to do more extensive work of digging out people during the period it was being done ? If not, why not ?

(g) Is it a fact that people and organizations from outside Sind and the Punjab volunteered to come to Quetta with any amount of labour, provisions and food-stuffs to do work in an organized, systematic and disciplined manner under the control of the military ? If so, did Government accept the offer ? If not, why not ?

(h) Are Government aware that the opinion of the people and the Press has been that had the authorities requisitioned adequate, organized and disciplined corps from outside and rushed them to Quetta within a day or two of the occurrence of the earthquake, not only thousands of lives would have been saved, but the possibility of the alleged stench and danger of epidemic would have disappeared ? Will Government be pleased to state full reasons for not so requisitioning ?

(i) Is it a fact that responsible persons from Shikarpur actually offered to go with volunteers, labour, provisions, and other necessities ?

(j) Is it a fact that they were permitted to do so and that they arranged for a special train and equipped it, but the order was countermanded and they could not carry out their wishes ? If so, why was the order changed ?

(k) Is it a fact that Government subsequently allowed four prominent citizens of Shikarpur, with attendants and provisions, to proceed to Quetta and also placed two wagons at their disposal for carrying supplies ?

(l) Is it a fact that the party left Shikarpur but on reaching Jacobabad, the Deputy Commissioner, who had received countermanding orders stopped them from proceeding to Quetta ? How do Government explain this action ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) to (h). I think the Honourable Member will find these parts of his question answered in the pamphlet “ The Quetta Earthquake, 1935 ”.

(i) to (l). I lay on the table a statement based on information received from the local civil authorities which shows that the Honourable Member has been misinformed in some important respects.

Statement.

(i) and (j). A band of about 12 volunteers, with provisions and money, left Shikarpur on the evening of the 31st May and reached Quetta, where they remained for about two weeks.

On June 1st, Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh, Mahomed Umar and the Hindu Panchayat, apparently after consulting the local authorities, collected a band of about 50 volunteers, with provisions, money and necessities, and wanted to send them by a special train. The local railway authorities were only prepared to attach an additional coach to the ordinary train ; but Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh wired to the railway authorities at Karachi asking for a special train. In the meantime, orders were received from the military authorities at Quetta prohibiting movements to that place, and the railway authorities had, therefore, to refuse the Khan Bahadur's request. It is thus not true to say that a special train had been arranged and equipped.

(k) and (l). The facts are as follows. On this occasion two wagons chartered by the persons mentioned above actually left Shikarpur, one attached to a goods train and the other to a passenger train. At Jacobabad a deputation of Shikarpuris, headed by Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh and containing two prominent Shikarpuri doctors, called on the District Magistrate, Jacobabad, and asked to be allowed to proceed to Quetta for relief work. Permission was granted ; but subsequently the

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given by the Honourable Mr. E. B. Howell on the 7th November, 1931, to parts (b) and (c) of his question No. 1245.

(b) All public buildings constructed since 1931 have been built to earthquake-proof design.

(c) They stood the recent earthquake very successfully. As far as is known no private houses were constructed on earthquake-proof lines.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member if he can give me an idea of the reply given by Mr. Howell in reply to part (a) ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have it here. It reads :

"The Honourable Member is referred to the communiqué issued by the Honourable the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan, dated the 29th August, 1931 (which gave the particulars of the earthquake)."

In all, 104 deaths have been reported in Kalat State territory and seven deaths in British Baluchistan. The Central Jail, Railway buildings and other Government property at Mach were seriously damaged. At Quetta and Ziarat a considerable number of Government buildings were slightly damaged. In the Bolan pass neighbourhood, numerous Government buildings and also the Railway and the road were seriously damaged, etc."

The answer is rather long, but the portion I have read out gives sufficient indication of its nature.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Why is it that no condition was imposed upon the private owners to see that they should build their houses only as earthquake proof ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Not that I am aware of.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do the Government of India propose to impose any such condition for the construction of houses in future.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Such a proposal is under consideration.

RECENT EARTHQUAKE AT QUETTA.

250. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to make a full statement as to the happening of the recent earthquake at Quetta, and state at what time it took place, what immediate steps Government took, and what arrangements were made for immediate help and succour to the people on account of the earthquake ?

(b) At what time after the earthquake shock did Government, through the military and civil authorities, commence helping the people who were alive, and what help did they render to them ?

(c) When was the digging out of people from under the debris commenced and when was it stopped and why ?

(d) How many persons were dug out, dead or alive, during the above period ?

(e) Was any outside help called for the purpose of bringing out people ?

(f) Did Government do anything to immediately import into Quetta outside labour and volunteers in order to help the military and to do more extensive work of digging out people during the period it was being done ? If not, why not ?

(g) Is it a fact that people and organizations from outside Sind and the Punjab volunteered to come to Quetta with any amount of labour, provisions and food-stuffs to do work in an organized, systematic and disciplined manner under the control of the military ? If so, did Government accept the offer ? If not, why not ?

(h) Are Government aware that the opinion of the people and the Press has been that had the authorities requisitioned adequate, organized and disciplined corps from outside and rushed them to Quetta within a day or two of the occurrence of the earthquake, not only thousands of lives would have been saved, but the possibility of the alleged stench and danger of epidemic would have disappeared ? Will Government be pleased to state full reasons for not so requisitioning ?

(i) Is it a fact that responsible persons from Shikarpur actually offered to go with volunteers, labour, provisions, and other necessities ?

(j) Is it a fact that they were permitted to do so and that they arranged for a special train and equipped it, but the order was countermanded and they could not carry out their wishes ? If so, why was the order changed ?

(k) Is it a fact that Government subsequently allowed four prominent citizens of Shikarpur, with attendants and provisions, to proceed to Quetta and also placed two wagons at their disposal for carrying supplies ?

(l) Is it a fact that the party left Shikarpur but on reaching Jacobabad, the Deputy Commissioner, who had received countermanding orders stopped them from proceeding to Quetta ? How do Government explain this action ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) to (h). I think the Honourable Member will find these parts of his question answered in the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935".

(i) to (l). I lay on the table a statement based on information received from the local civil authorities which shows that the Honourable Member has been misinformed in some important respects.

Statement.

(i) and (j). A band of about 12 volunteers, with provisions and money, left Shikarpur on the evening of the 31st May and reached Quetta, where they remained for about two weeks.

On June 1st, Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh, Mahomed Umar and the Hindu Panchayat, apparently after consulting the local authorities, collected a band of about 50 volunteers, with provisions, money and necessities, and wanted to send them by a special train. The local railway authorities were only prepared to attach an additional coach to the ordinary train ; but Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh wired to the railway authorities at Karachi asking for a special train. In the meantime, orders were received from the military authorities at Quetta prohibiting movements to that place, and the railway authorities had, therefore, to refuse the Khan Bahadur's request. It is thus not true to say that a special train had been arranged and equipped.

(k) and (l). The facts are as follows. On this occasion two wagons chartered by the persons mentioned above actually left Shikarpur, one attached to a goods train and the other to a passenger train. At Jacobabad a deputation of Shikarpuri, headed by Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh and containing two prominent Shikarpuri doctors, called on the District Magistrate, Jacobabad, and asked to be allowed to proceed to Quetta for relief work. Permission was granted ; but subsequently the District Magistrate received instructions from Quetta not to allow medical relief parties, as the amount of medical aid in Quetta was adequate. The District Magistrate met the party at the railway station and explained to them that he could not let them proceed to Quetta. They had already attached their goods wagon to the train, and although the District Magistrate requested them to allow the wagon to proceed, they insisted on detaching it, as they themselves were not allowed to go to Quetta. At a later date, under instructions from the Administrator, Shikarpur, this wagon was re-booked to Quetta for free distribution to sufferers as a gift from the Shikarpur Relief Committee.

There was an entirely separate party, consisting of three persons (not four as stated in the question), which travelled from Shikarpur by the same passenger train as Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh and his party. This party, the members of which were Diwan Bahadur Murlidhar, Mr. Alibakhsh (not to be confused with Khan Bahadur Allahbakhsh) and Mr. Chainrai had received permission to proceed to Quetta and did so. They were also met by the District Magistrate at the railway station at Jacobabad. They had no wagon.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member, with regard to (e), whether any outside help was called for the purpose of bringing out people alive ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If the Honourable Member would read the pamphlet, he would find the information there. I cannot lay my hands on the exact page, but it is there.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Can the Honourable Member give any idea whether outside help was called or not.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member should read the pamphlet.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I have read the pamphlet, and I do not find in it the answers to the questions I have put. May I know from the Honourable Member if any additional help was called in to help the military in order to bring out people alive ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I would refer the Honourable Member to page 12 of the pamphlet.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know then from the Honourable Member if Mr. Hogg and his scouts were allowed to come in ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I would refer the Honourable Member to the bottom of page 12 of the pamphlet. It is all stated there.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I find in the pamphlet that after the 3rd evening there was no possibility of finding people alive ? May I know how it was not possible to find people alive ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That is not stated in the pamphlet.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Is it not a fact that on the 3rd evening, they stopped the excavations on the ground that further people will not be found alive ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : What was the reason then ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If the Honourable Member will wait for the next question, I will explain the reason.

EXCAVATION WORK AT QUETTA AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE.

251. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if any attempt was made at any time to resume the excavation work after it was stopped for the first time after the occurrence of the earthquake in Quetta ? If not, why not ? If so, when and for how long, and how many people were extricated from under the debris alive ?

(b) Is it a fact that the digging work with a hope of bringing out people alive was stopped owing to medical and sanitary reasons ? If so, who gave that opinion, what was it, and which was the highest authority which accepted that opinion ?

(c) Why were not suitable sanitary precautions, such as are usually taken when dead bodies are exhumed, taken or gas masks used for further excavating the buried people ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Regular excavation work in the city was suspended at night fall on the 3rd June, 1935. Street clearance was commenced early in July ; salvage of undamaged houses about the end of July ; and continuous excavation work early this month.

It is not possible to state accurately how many persons were extricated alive.

(b) Yes. The senior civil and military medical officers all agreed that to continue operations at that juncture would have involved the risk of a serious outbreak of disease. This opinion was accepted by the General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Western Command, who at that time was in chief civil as well as military command. It was endorsed a few days later by the Public Health Commissioner with the Government of India when he visited Quetta.

(c) Regular excavation could not have been carried out even with the use of gas masks without grave danger of an outbreak of disease among the surviving population. By that time the chance of anybody's being alive in the debris was remote, while an epidemic among the survivors would certainly have caused the loss of numerous lives.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know how it was considered that the chances of finding people alive were remote ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That was the experience of those who were working in the area at the time.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Did these people realise that when they stopped excavations, there were many people alive ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I should like to know what authority the Honourable Member has for that statement. People on the spot were satisfied that there was very little chance of finding anybody alive. During the last few hours of excavation work, I believe nobody was brought out alive.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Even if one man could have been saved, he should not have been allowed to die.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Honourable Member can make any statement he likes.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : May I know when martial-law was proclaimed in Quetta ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There is another question on that subject.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : What is the epidemic which the medical officers were afraid of ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Cholera, I believe.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is the Honourable Member aware that for a week and more persons, who were imbedded in earth in the Bihar earthquake, were found alive later on.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That may have been so. I have no information.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Why was the operation suspended within three days ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The damage and devastation in the city of Quetta was of a different character from the damage done in the comparatively small towns and villages in Bihar.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Have excavations been made since then for recovery of property from under the debris ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I would refer the Honourable Member to the answer I have read out.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Is salvage work being done at present by the Government.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There are other questions on the subject which my Honourable friend, the Foreign Secretary, will be answering shortly.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Would the recovery of property also have led to the outbreak of cholera ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There was grave risk of disease arising from the exposure of corpses lying under the debris. Whether excavations had taken place for the recovery of bodies or of property, the danger would have been the same.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : May I know if excavation work was stopped as Government were short of hands ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Not at all.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Is not cholera a water borne disease ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I am not a doctor, Sir.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : To say that a decomposed body would give rise to cholera is against all scientific facts.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Was the nature of the damage done in Quetta different in nature to that done in the great city of Monghyr ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have no knowledge of the damage done there.

Mr. M. S. Aney : As regards the outbreak of cholera, may I know the names of the medical officers who gave that opinion.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Honourable Member will find them in this pamphlet.

Mr. M. S. Aney : Can the Honourable Member oblige me by giving me the names ?

Mr. Sri Prakasa : On what authority did the Honourable Member say that the damage done in Quetta was different from that in Bihar ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : On the basis of facts, Sir.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : But did not the Honourable gentleman say that he had no knowledge of the damage done in Bihar ?

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member whether, when the excavations were made for finding out the property, cholera raged there then or not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The excavations were made after due precautions had been taken, and the danger of disease, I understand, is now less, because a large number of the corpses have dried up.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if no precautions would have availed at that time ? Would any precautions not have availed at the time after the 3rd of that month ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have answered that in reply to part (c) of the Honourable Member's original question.

ALLEGED DISAPPEARANCE OF CERTAIN PERSONS AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE AT QUETTA.

252. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Is it a fact that some people, including some women, were taken to the Relief Camp immediately after the earthquake at Quetta ? If so, had they any ornaments and valuable on their person, and how were they disposed of ?

(b) Is it a fact that some persons, including certain women, disappeared after they were secured from under the debris ?

(c) Were they traced subsequently ? What steps did Government take to find them out ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Hundreds of people of both sexes were taken in lorries to the Relief Camp soon after the Earthquake and a very large number went there on foot. It is naturally quite impossible to say what ornaments or valuables they had in their possession nor how they disposed of them.

(b) and (c). As far as is known no persons disappeared after being dug out from the debris.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member whether, when these people were taken to the hospital, the ornaments on the persons of the women were removed or not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Certainly not.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Where did they go, then ? They must have had some ornaments,—or they had no ornaments at all ? If there were no ornaments, where did they go ?

(No answer.)

Seth Govind Das : Did those ornaments then go into the pockets of the Government servants ?

(Cries of "Order, order.")

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Sir, the Honourable Member is not answering my question.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Apparently the Honourable Member is not in a position to answer it.

CHILDREN SECURED AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE AT QUETTA.

253. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Were any children secured on the night of the earthquake at Quetta and thereafter ? If so, how many were males and how many females, and how were they disposed of ?

(b) Were there any unclaimed children and orphans in charge of Government ? If so, how have they been disposed of ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). Many children were rescued and left the city with their parents or relatives, but I am unable to give their numbers. As far as is known only one orphan, a Sindhi girl, was found. She was admitted to the Race Course Hospital on the 2nd June and was subsequently sent to the Shikarpur Orphanage. Twenty-two Muslim orphans, who were living in the Quetta Muslim Orphanage, were removed to the Lahore Orphanage on the 2nd June, 1935.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Were there no orphans admitted to hospitals, and, if so, where were they then sent ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have just given the information in reply to the Honourable Member's question.

CASUALTIES DURING THE EARTHQUAKE AT QUETTA AND VALUE OF THE PROPERTY LOST.

254. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state how many people in all were killed during the earthquake at Quetta, and how much property was lost ?

(b) How many Europeans, civil and military, were killed and injured, respectively ?

(c) How many of them were secured alive from under the debris, and when was excavation made for them, and for how long ?

(d) Were any Europeans sent away to Europe ? If so, what was their number, and when were they sent ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) As regards the first part, the Honourable Member's attention is invited to page 1 of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", a copy of which was sent to him on the 29th August, 1935.

As regards the second part, it is impossible to estimate the value of the property lost, but in Quetta city alone, approximately fifteen thousand shops and houses were destroyed or badly damaged.

(b) The approximate numbers are :

|                               | Killed. | Injured. |
|-------------------------------|---------|----------|
| (i) Army .. .. .              | 11      | 30       |
| (ii) Royal Air Force .. .     | 56      | 132      |
| (iii) Civil .. .              | 90      | 59       |
| (iv) North Western Railway .. | 95      | 27       |
| Total .. .                    | 252     | 248      |

(c) The approximate numbers are :

|                      |    |                                                                                                                                                              |
|----------------------|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Army .. .. .         | 22 | These figures do not include many Europeans who were able to extricate themselves or were rescued by their servants before organised rescue parties arrived. |
| Royal Air Force .. . | 83 |                                                                                                                                                              |
| Civil .. .           | 56 |                                                                                                                                                              |

It is impossible to say in each case when excavation began and how long it lasted.

(d) Yes, 1,176. They were provided with passages as soon as accommodation in steamers was available for them. The majority were sent in a specially chartered ship on the 21st June, 1935. Some had to be detained until fit to travel.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What was the total population of Europeans in Quetta at the date of this earthquake ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I do not know, Sir.

SALVAGE OF PROPERTY AT QUETTA AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE.

255. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) When did the salvage of property commence at Quetta after the earthquake, and how long did it last ?

(b) How much property was secured during the salvage work and what was the cost incurred for doing so ?

(c) Is it a fact that a persistent and earnest demand was made for an early salvage ? If so, why was it refused ?

(d) Are Government aware that the traders of Quetta, particularly Shikarpur bankers, had a great stake and is it a fact that they requested for very early excavation of their documents and valuable securities, but the request was rejected ? If so, why ? When were such excavations made after all ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) The salvage of certain essential items, such as food and petrol, began immediately after the earthquake. On the fifth day it had to be confined to selected areas owing to the danger of infection, and operations in the city area were suspended for this reason. The Honourable Member is referred to the Communiqués issued on the 10th and 30th July and the 30th August regarding the resumption of salvage operations.

(b) Government have no precise information as to the value of the large amount of property that has been salvaged or the cost of salvaging it.

(c) and (d). Such demands as were made for early salvage had to be refused for the reasons explained in the answer to part (a). The rescue of human beings rather than of property was naturally the first concern of the authorities.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if excavations have now been made for the purpose of salvaging the documents and securities or not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If the Honourable Member will read the Communiqués to which I have referred in part (a) of my answer, he will find what has, and has not yet, been done in this matter.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is there no list maintained of property recovered from the debris ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Does the Honourable Member wish to know whether a list of property owners is maintained ?

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : A list of the property recovered.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Yes, I believe very careful lists are maintained.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Why then are Government not able to estimate the value of the property recovered ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : My Honourable friend, the Foreign Secretary, has already stated the value of the property which has been recovered since the regular excavation work began a few weeks ago. That amounts, I believe, to something between rupees four and five lakhs. We have no definite information as to the value and amount of property that was recovered in the earlier days, directly after the earthquake took place.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : In the earlier stages, was the property salvaged handed over without any receipt, irrespective of the claims of the rightful owners ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Just after the earthquake, a number of owners of property were able to go and take over their property themselves, and no precise record, I imagine, was kept of those transactions.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are Government assured that whatever property came into the hands of the relief workers were passed to the rightful owners ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Every possible precaution is being taken and every possible step is being taken to see that property is restored as far as possible and as quickly as possible, to its rightful owners.

RE-BUILDING OF QUETTA.

256. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Do Government propose to re-build Quetta ? If so, at what place, under what plan and with what safety ?

(b) What precautions do Government propose to take to mitigate loss of person and property from any earthquake in future in the Quetta area ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Chapter VIII of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", copies of which were sent to all Members of this House on the 29th August, 1935. The whole matter is still under consideration.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : With reference to the statement of the Honourable Member in connection with the previous question as to the loss of life among the European civil and military officers there, may I know for the information of the House whether the houses that have been built for European civil and military officers were of a different type and earthquake-proof ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir. Before this earthquake, there were no earthquake-proof constructions in Quetta, apart from the few buildings that were built on earthquake-proof lines between 1931, when the last earthquake took place, and 1935 : and none of those buildings, as far as I am aware, were buildings for military officers ; they were mostly, I think, for railway officers.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Then, how does the Honourable Member account for the lesser loss of life among the European military and civil officers ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The main reason was that the buildings in the city were extremely badly constructed ; they had no proper mortar, and so forth.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know, since Quetta is still shaking, whether on that account Quetta would be removed from its present site, and, if so, where ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I cannot give any further information on that point. The matter is still under consideration at the moment.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The House will now resume consideration of the following motion moved by the Honourable Sir Henry Craik :

"That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration."

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Sir, I was rather disappointed when I heard the speech of the Honourable the Home Member. It seemed that the Honourable Sir Henry Craik was treading upon fresh ground and he had no knowledge of the past, the commitments of his predecessors, Sir James Crerar and Sir Harry Haig. When the Emergency Press measure was first introduced in 1931, Sir James Crerar gave a definite assurance to the House that the Bill was a temporary measure and it was only aimed at terrorist crimes and terrorist movements. Thereafter, not only Sir James Crerar, but his successor, Sir Harry Haig, repeated that assurance and he even gave the assurance to the House that the Press Emergency Act which was incorporated in the Ordinance Act of 1932 would be withdrawn in time. But, since then, the Honourable Sir Henry Craik has discovered new sins on the part of us, Indians, and he wants to perpetuate this Act. Last year, when he was a fresh Member to this House, he said that India had two public enemies—public enemy No. 1, the terrorist, and public enemy No. 2, the Communist. But this year, very obviously, he has discovered public enemy No. 3, which is the communal dissenter. If I know the way in which his mentality is working, I will not be surprised if, in the near future, he discovers another public enemy, which will be called public enemy No. 4, namely “the contempt of the High Courts in India”. I will, later on, try to show that the High Courts in India are siding with the executive and making us believe that Indians cannot expect the British sense of justice any more from the Indian High Courts.

[Mr. B. Das.]

Sir, I must take this opportunity of offering my congratulations to Mr. Griffiths for his able maiden speech. This is the second time that Bengal has sent us a civilian—the first was the Irish civilian, Mr. Donovan—who can make a fine speech. But I was very much surprised to find that both Mr. Griffiths and Sir Henry Craik were trotting out the same old arguments of 1930-31. They had no fresh arguments to put forward as to why this Press Emergency Act and this Ordinances Act should be perpetuated. There was nothing new in all the arguments that Mr. Griffiths brought forward and for which he was cheered by the henchmen of the Government sitting on the other side of the House. All those arguments were repeated ad nauseam by Sir James Crerar and Sir Harry Haig and the then supporters of Government. Not a single new fact was brought out by the Home Member or even by his able supporter from Midnapore. I would ask Mr. Griffiths—I am sorry he is not present in the House—whether he read the speeches of Mr. K. C. Neogy and Mr. S. C. Mitra on the question of the Dacca riots and the Midnapore riots at the time when the Bengal Ordinance Bills were discussed and passed, and the various tragedies that were perpetrated by the Bureaucracy in Bengal by those Black and Tan methods? I challenge also Mr. Griffiths, including the Home Member, to tell me why the Nelson Committee's report was not published. Why is it that the Adami Committee's report on the Dacca riots was not published? The Adami Committee was appointed to inquire into the troubles of Dacca, and I believe at that time Mr. Griffiths was in Dacca. Very likely he was the Diwan of the Nawab of Dacca when the riots took place at Rahmatpur and other places. I want to know why those two reports were not published. Sir Harry Haig gave us an assurance on the floor of the House that a Government Committee was being appointed to inquire into the causes of the Dacca riots. That report never saw the light of the day. When the predecessor of the present Home Member was questioned, he began to reply in a roundabout way. Government did not publish those two reports because they knew that, if those two reports would see the light of the day, the Bengal Government, the Bengal executive and the Bengal police would stand condemned, not only before the people of India, but before the civilized nations of the world. That was the reason why those two reports were not published. The same remarks also apply to the report of the Government Committee in connection with the riots in the Hijli camp, which also did not see the light of the day. I hope, when the Home Member stands up to justify his unjustifiable position, he will be good enough to say why those three reports were never published. Sir, I will only ask the Honourable the Home Member, who is so very new to the Bengal politics and the mysterious dealings of the Bengal administration, to revise his memory by reading the debates that took place on the floor of the House and, though I am not a Bengali, the impression that was left on my mind was that the Bengal Government was overdoing the case.

Sir, one must seek the grounds why Government want to perpetuate this legislation. The Honourable the Home Member has dropped a hint. He wants to give a certain amount of security to the new Ministers. Whether the new Ministers will have any power or whether the Bureaucracy, the Civil Service, will control the new Ministers under the new dispensation of provincial autonomy or whether they want to continue the present system of autocratic administration, are points on which I do not wish to express any opinion. But I do wish to say this that the Government of India are not anxious so much for the new Ministers as to enable their followers, the Civil Service, to continue the present system of administration. I want to know how is it that, whenever the Government of India introduce a Criminal Law Amendment Bill on the floor of this House, red leaflets and red placards are always circulated in Chittagong and placards are posted all over the town? Here is a cutting I have got from the Hindustan Times which says that the northern quarter of the town of Chittagong was plastered with red leaflets in Bengali which were removed by the police. As far as I know—and I would like to be corrected by the Honourable the Home Member if I am wrong—there is martial law in Chittagong and no Bengali youth can go out after the evening. This very thing happened in 1931 and 1932 when this House discussed similar measures. Sir, the public suspicion is, and we have often given expression to this, that the police is behind all these. The police and the military are controlling the Chittagong town and there are curfew orders there; and, yet, in the night, some youths were able to go out and put these placards all over the town. This is very surprising indeed! It only shows the methods that are adopted by the Bureaucracy and the alien Government to justify their case.

Sir, the Amrita Bazar Patrika has published a Government circular which leads me to infer what is behind the Government mind in perpetuating this Ordinances Act. This is the circular issued by the District Intelligence Branch Institute of Bengal. I am glad that my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, is here and he will justify this circular if he gets another chance to speak on this Bill and he will justify the action which his Government has taken. This circular which the police in Bengal circulated to their underlinks of the police department reads thus:

“At the instance of Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, a new party has grown up under the caption of ‘Congress Nationalist Party’. In Bengal, its nominees have swept all the polls in the recent Assembly elections, defeating their rival candidates set up by the Congress Parliamentary Board of Dr. B. C. Roy. The Congress Nationalist Party aims at the rejection of the Communal Award and the White Paper. Whether any members are being enrolled by the Nationalist Party or any organisation supporting them is being set up, you would intimate accordingly. Henceforth, any enrolment of Congress members or organizing Congress activities should be mentioned in your weekly confidential reports.”

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. B. Das.]

Sir, this shows what the Bengal Government has in mind, and if the Honourable the Home Member is still exercising superintendence and control over the Government of Bengal, then, I think the Government of India is a party to this kind of circular to the departmental myrmidons in Bengal. I hope, when my Honourable friend, the Deputy President, rises to speak on behalf of Bengal, he would like to tell us how the police are harassing the Nationalist Party and the Congress organisations in Bengal, so that my Honourable friend, Sir Henry Craik's secret ambition, that the Ministers under the new regime should be all toadies and not nationalists, would be fructified. This shows that the Government have got a deeper policy. A new Home Member comes and repudiates what his predecessor has said in the past, namely, that this measure would not continue permanently and that this measure would aim at only terrorist crimes.

Sir, I have often condemned, on the floor of the House, terrorist crimes, and Sir Harry Haig, while he was a Member of this House, agreed in the end with the Government of Bengal and wanted that the Government of India and the Government of Bengal should collaborate in finding employment for the unemployed and they should find the energies of these youths diverted from terrorist crimes. My Honourable friend, Mr. Sarma, talked of Sir George Anderson's speech. I take this opportunity to refer to Mr. Sarma's speech just a second. It seems Mr. Sarma made an excursion last year to England and hob-nobbed with the high and mighty in the India Office and gave banquets which were all well-known. But he seems to have had no time to acquaint himself with the British public, and, therefore, he took shelter as a speaker on the floor of this House and, insulted the intelligence of the British public that they do not read the British press and that public opinion is not shaped by the British press. If I were an Englishman, I would feel indignant at such a statement coming from anybody, and I believe my Honourable friend, Mr. Sarma, got an embrace from the Honourable the Home Member which he was eagerly looking forward. Well, Sir, the Honourable the Home Member might embrace Mr. Sarma, but no Britisher, proud of his nation and of the liberties of the British press, would embrace Mr. Sarma, rather would he detest his speech. If His Excellency Sir George Anderson, at this late stage, wants that the detenus should be trained in agricultural activities and opportunities should be found for them as to how to live in the pursuit of agriculture, I want to know what did the Government of India and the Government of Bengal do in the past, and why did they not think of solving this so-called problem of unemployment, whether it is among the educated classes of Bengal or amongst the unemployed workers in Bombay whom the Honourable the Home Member dubs as Communists. The Meerut Conspiracy Case proved that there is very little justification for thinking that there is any widespread movement of Communism in India. I read Communist books and I believe the Honourable Sir Henry Craik in his leisure moments may be reading those books just to enlighten his soul and spirit. That does not mean that the soil of India is suitable for the spread of Communism. I challenged the Honourable the Home Member last Session whether he wants to condemn Socialism as a public enemy of India, and he did say, no, he had no aim at Socialism. I know in India there is the Socialist Party growing inside the very Congress to which I belong. If it is honest and pure Socialism, the Socialism of Pandit Jawahir Lal Nehru, I have nothing to quarrel with; but to raise this bogey of Communism to perpetuate measures that will give a handle to the Lieutenants of Government to do anything they like, to pursue Black and Tan methods which they pursued in Ireland just before De Valera freed Ireland from the yoke of England, then, Sir, I condemn the action of the Government.

I should like to allude to one thing more. The Honourable the Home Member talked about the friendly and the unfriendly presses. As an old Member of this House, I know and I have been accustomed to see Home Members in the past taking all the press into their confidence and talking to them. Somehow, the Honourable the Home Member, Sir Henry Craik, experienced as he is, tried to flirt with the Hindu of Madras and invited the only Indian representative of that paper. He did not invite the representatives of the other papers, not even the representatives of the Associated Press of India or the United Press or the Free Press of India. This new system of flirtation will not do any good. I do not know whether the Honourable the Home Member read that speech of the late Mr. A. Rangaswami Iyengar while he presided over the All-India Journalistic Conference in 1931 and where he condemned the Press Ordinance that was introduced in 1930. So, if the Honourable the Home Member thinks that by setting one particular section against another section of the Indian press, he will try to create dissension amongst the Indian press, he will be thoroughly disillusioned. His predecessors did the same. They caused communal dissension which he now calls Public Enemy No. 3. If there is communal difference in India, as my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, has already pointed out, I blame the Government for it. I do not say that the Honourable Sir Henry Craik was a party to it, he might have been a party to it in the Punjab, I do not know anything about his work in the Punjab. But I, who has been here for the last 12 years, know how the policy of the different Home Members has caused this deep communal tension. Well, the story has ended. My Muhammadan brethren have got the Communal Award and they are satisfied with it, and they are not going to play any more into the hands of the Government and play their tune. So, I submit that Government cannot set a nationalist paper like the Hindu against the other press so that there will be dissension and they can get help from an unexpected quarter where no Government will expect help. I congratulate, rather I pity, the Government of India for having postponed my Bill to repeal the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1908, to another date. It is coming on the 17th of this month. I should have thought that Government had a grain of common sense. Why did Government originally fix the 3rd instant as the non-official day for Bills? While the ballot box was placed on the table outside the Chamber, and while most of us signed our names in the numbered list, suddenly a fatwa comes in in the name of the Governor General to the effect that the non-official day has been changed from the 3rd to the 24th. I submit that either the Governor General has not discharged his responsibility or that he is incompetent to discharge his responsibility, because, why was it done on the day when the ballot box was placed on the table for Members to sign their names in that register. That shows the incompetency of the Governor General and his advisers, whether they are the whole Executive Council or only one Member is involved in it.

Sir, I told the Honourable Member that he would create in a year or so public enemy No. 4 in the matter of legislating for contempt of Courts.

[Mr. B. Das.]

Only yesterday, I got from my esteemed friend, Mr. C. Y. Chintamani, a copy of an editorial which was published about certain contempt of Court created through an article in his paper. We, who belong to the eastern part of India, were surprised at the punishment of that great editor, Mr. Tushar Kanti Ghosh of the Amrita Bazar Patrika who was punished by the High Court of Calcutta for a slight error, which may be called contempt of Court. Sir, I am not a lawyer and I am not afraid of speaking out boldly even against the Indian High Courts which are at present functioning as part of the executive Government. The I. C. S. men are going to be High Court Judges perpetually,—so it is provided in the Government of India Act.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable gentleman is perhaps wandering far away from the Bill.

Mr. B. Das : Yes, Sir, but I am giving the necessary advice as to what will come next year.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : There are other Honourable Members who desire to speak on the Bill itself.

Mr. B. Das : So, Sir, I have no hope from this Government or the High Courts. The High Courts have fallen in my estimation and in the estimation of the Indian public, because they do not administer justice and they misrepresent justice in India and identify themselves with the executive.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair will not allow the Honourable Member to make these reflections on the High Courts.

Mr. B. Das : Sir, what this Government want is permanent protection. They have got it through the Government of India Act in the shape of safeguards. And, only three days ago, the Honourable the Finance Member said that an industry which required permanent protection had no right to exist. I would repeat the same admonition ; I would say that a Government which wants permanent and perpetual protection, whether by means of safeguards or by means of Ordinance Bills or Press Laws, has no right to exist, and, therefore, I ask them to get out of this country.

Dr. R. D. Dalal (Nominated Non-Official) : Sir, in supporting the motion moved by the Honourable the Home Member to take into consideration the Criminal Law Amendment Bill, I desire to refer to some of the general considerations of the Bill ; and, in doing so, I shall occupy the attention of this Honourable House for only a few minutes. In the first place, I congratulate the Honourable the Home Member on bringing forward this Bill in the interests of public security and tranquillity—in the interests of the peaceful development of the country and the liberty of the action of individuals in the political, social, and economic sphere. This Bill proposes to replace the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932, which is due to expire on the 18th December, 1935. Sir, I confess that this Bill has evoked a good deal of opposition from the Honourable Members opposite, and I am conscious that more dissentient voices will be raised. But I submit that all legislation is unpopular with somebody ; and Honourable Members must be aware of the most salutary measures denounced as iniquitous at the time of their introduction and of the Government savagely abused for the passing of the Acts, which were afterwards extolled and applauded as their principal title to fame.

Now, Sir, I shall just say one word as regards the Civil Disobedience Movement, and I shall then pass to an important item, namely, the control of the press.

Sir, I respectfully ask, does any right-minded Indian desire to return to the dreadful conditions of 1930 Civil Disobedience Campaign, namely, the horrible carnage and bloodshed of Cawnpore, the ghastly tragedies at Sholapur, the dislocation of trade and business, hartals, frenzied appeals to boycott and obstruction, raids on salt pans, the looting and burning of foreign goods, corrupting frontier tribes, murder, rape and arson ? If there is one thing which the people of India desire, it is to be saved from the horrors of 1930. The Congress has time and again declared that the Civil Disobedience Movement may be revived any time, the object being to destroy the law, and to paralyse and coerce the Government, and to intimidate and coerce those individuals who do not agree with the Congress. The behaviour of the extremists cannot be depended upon. The Civil Disobedience Movement was started for the second time on quite inadequate grounds ; and if these powers are relaxed, it is just possible that the Civil Disobedience Movement may be started for the third time. Further, Mr. Gandhi, Leader of the Congress, has time and again declared that Civil Disobedience is with him an article of faith. Furthermore, four or five days back, on the 5th September, my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, Secretary of the Congress Party, solemnly admitted that Civil Disobedience would never be abandoned. For these reasons I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that it is unwise to omit from the new Act the sections which expressly refer to the Civil Disobedience Movement—this subversive movement, which is the denial to democracy, an enemy of freedom, and an obstacle to reform.

Sir, I submit that no innocent law-abiding person has any reason to fear the effect of the provisions of this Bill ; and the honest and well-conducted press has nothing to fear from this Bill. These powers are necessary owing to proved ineffectiveness of the existing law. Prosecution for sedition is a slow, complicated, elaborate proceeding, and even when a conviction is obtained, it is obtained against a man of straw. The editor, who actually directs and inspires the policy of the paper and who writes seditious articles, sits quietly, easily, safely, and comfortably in the background. Of course Government can publish a contradiction in a communique, but the mischief is already done by the original false statement or insinuation. Sir, the consistent policy of Government has been to maintain the Indian press as free from control as possible ; but circumstances have compelled Government to impose or to re-impose executive control. The liberty to print attacks on Government, to impute evil motives to Government, to incite to refusal to pay or to acts of violence—this liberty is surely not the true freedom of the press. Much has been said as to restricting and curbing and curtailing the liberty of the press ; but I submit that liberty is more easily destroyed by those who abuse it than by those who restrict it. I confess that the Indian press, especially the vernacular press, has played a very important part in creating public opinion and interest in political affairs amongst the masses. But a great deal of mischief that has been created is due to the vapourings and vagaries of the vernacular press. Lawlessness, communal bias, hatred between the different communities, Hindu-Moslem riots, all these are mostly due to the vernacular press. The Indian National Congress is admittedly the strongest and best organised political force in India ; and the Congress has unquestionably succeeded in rousing the masses. This success is mainly due to the vernacular press. There is no doubt that in the past a torrent of misrepresentation, perversion, and sheer invention has poured from the vernacular press ; and the vernacular newspapers have encouraged the spirit of lawlessness by praising to the skies every manifestation of defiance of the law ; what is more they have stimulated the lower passions of their readers by every means ranging from salacious advertisement to the condonation of murder. Now, Sir, with your permission, I shall refer to the bomb explosion in the Legislative Assembly Chamber at New Delhi. That dastardly outrage was perpetrated on the 8th April, 1929.

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

[Dr. R. D. Dalal.]

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Can that be prevented by this Bill ?

Dr. R. D. Dalal : My cousin—Sir Bamonji Dalal was seriously injured as a result of that bomb explosion. Holding strongly as I do the view that the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 has exerted a powerful deterrent influence and in view of what has happened to my family, I regard the press provisions with much gratification, because I am convinced that the idea of that Delhi bomb explosion was nurtured as a result of seditious writings.

Now, Sir, with your permission, I shall state very briefly how seditious writings become disseminated in rural areas. I was one of Secretary of State's doctors for plague duty in India, and one of my duties was to carry on rat-destruction as a measure against plague. So in the evenings I had to supervise the laying of rat-poison baits in the houses of villagers. During those rounds many a time I saw large numbers of villagers assembled in the open air, or in a village school, or at the village chavdi ; and to those crowds articles from vernacular newspapers were read loudly by some one of the audience, and then they were criticised. I need hardly point out that at those meetings disaffection against the British Raj in India was fostered ; and I need hardly add that seditious writings are the poisonous seed, which must sometimes fall upon the soil of immature or discontented minds, and that from such root in due course springs the impulse, which drives human beings to ruthless and shameless crime and invests it with the false halo of self-sacrifice.

Sir, I submit that every sensible, reasonable, and right-thinking person will agree that these weighty considerations I have briefly indicated prove the necessity for this Bill and establish its justification. I am strongly of the opinion that some such legislation as is now before this Honourable House is absolutely necessary in order to resist the forces which would create a state of anarchy and chaos, and in order to bring to fruition the policy of Government to hand over to the future Government a working administration in such a manner that the transfer of command shall be a transfer of power and not of weakers ; and I earnestly, with all the force and conviction of which I am capable, appeal for the support of all Honourable Members, who have at heart the peace, welfare, and happiness of the people of this country. (Cheers.)

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta (Chittagong and Rajshahi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Mr. President, in discussing the Bill before us, the first and the foremost question is what is the occasion, what is the necessity, what is the scope and what is the object of this Bill. The Honourable the Home Member has told us that the occasion is this : the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 will expire in December, 1935. The Government of India propose, by this Bill, to continue certain of the provisions of that Act in a permanent form, and he told us that this legislation is a safeguard against the four menaces of terrorism, communalism, Communism and the Civil Disobedience Movement. The question which I ask Honourable Members of this House to consider is this : is it really a bona fide excuse—these

CORRIGENDUM.

In the Legislative Assembly Debates, Vol. V, No. 7, dated the 10th September, 1935, page 724, last line, for "weakens" read "weakness".

to confer special law and order."

... what was that emergency. Was it Communism or was it communalism, or, for the matter of that, can it be said that that emergency was terrorism ? We all know what that emergency was. That emergency was the Civil Disobedience Movement of 1932. To say that terrorism was the emergency is to say something which is absolutely meaningless. What is the meaning of emergency ? Emergency means a sudden occurrence, a sudden appearance, an unexpected occurrence, something which unexpectedly happens is a matter of emergency. Can it be said that the terrorist movement was an emergency which occurred in 1932 ? Sir, the terrorist movement has been going on in this country for a long number of years, and there was already in the provinces emergency legislation existing to fight the terrorist movement. Therefore, Sir, it is quite obvious that the terrorist movement was not one of the objects for enacting the Act of 1932. We all know, Sir, that when that Ordinance of 1932 expired in December, Government thought it necessary to replace it by the Act of 1932, which it is now proposed to perpetuate. Now, Sir, what did the Honourable the Home Member in charge of the Bill say when this Act of 1932 was enacted ? It was stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons appended to that measure—I am quoting the exact words :

"That the organisers of the Civil Disobedience Movement have not yet abandoned their attempt to paralyse the Government and to coerce law-abiding citizens."

That was the avowed justification for the necessity for the Act of 1932. There was no mention made at that time of the terrorist part in creating public opinion and interest in political affairs amongst the masses. But a great deal of mischief that has been created is due to the vapourings and vagaries of the vernacular press. Lawlessness, communal bias, hatred between the different communities, Hindu-Moslem riots, all these are mostly due to the vernacular press. The Indian National Congress is admittedly the strongest and best organised political force in India ; and the Congress has unquestionably succeeded in rousing the masses. This success is mainly due to the vernacular press. There is no doubt that in the past a torrent of misrepresentation, perversion, and sheer invention has poured from the vernacular press ; and the vernacular newspapers have encouraged the spirit of lawlessness by praising to the skies every manifestation of defiance of the law ; what is more they have stimulated the lower passions of their readers by every means ranging from salacious advertisement to the condonation of murder. Now, Sir, with your permission, I shall refer to the bomb explosion in the Legislative Assembly Chamber at New Delhi. That dastardly outrage was perpetrated on the 8th April, 1929.

[Dr. B. D. Dalal.]

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Can that be prevented by this Bill ?

Dr. R. D. Dalal : My cousin—Sir Bamonji Dalal was seriously injured as a result of that bomb explosion. Holding strongly as I do the view that the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 has exerted a powerful deterrent influence and in view of what has happened to my family, I regard the press provisions with much gratification, because I am convinced that the idea of that Delhi bomb explosion was nurtured as a result of seditious writings.

Now, Sir, with your permission, I shall state very briefly how seditious writings become disseminated in rural areas. I was one of Secretary of State's doctors for plague duty in India, and one of my duties was to carry on rat-destruction as a measure against plague. So in the evenings I had to supervise the laying of rat-poison baits in the houses of villagers. During those rounds many a time I saw large numbers of villagers assembled in the open air, or in a village school, or at the village chavdi ; and to those crowds articles from vernacular newspapers were read loudly by some one of the audience, and then they were criticised. I need hardly point out that at those meetings disaffection against the British Raj in India was fostered ; and I need hardly add that seditious writings are the poisonous seed, which must sometimes fall upon the soil of immature or discontented minds, and that from such root in due course springs the impulse, which drives human beings to ruthless and shameless crime and invests it with the false halo of self-sacrifice.

Sir, I submit that every sensible, reasonable, and right-thinking person will agree that these weighty considerations I have briefly indicated prove the necessity for this Bill and establish its justification. I am strongly of the opinion that some such legislation as is now before this Honourable House is absolutely necessary in order to resist the forces which would create a state of anarchy and chaos, and in order to bring to fruition the policy of Government to hand over to the future Government a working administration in such a manner that the transfer of command shall be a transfer of power and not of weakers ; and I earnestly, with all the force and conviction of which I am capable, appeal for the support of all Honourable Members, who have at heart the peace, welfare, and happiness of the people of this country. (Cheers.)

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta (Chittagong and Rajshahi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Mr. President, in discussing the Bill before us, the first and the foremost question is what is the occasion, what is the necessity, what is the scope and what is the object of this Bill. The Honourable the Home Member has told us that the occasion is this : the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932 will expire in December, 1935. The Government of India propose, by this Bill, to continue certain of the provisions of that Act in a permanent form, and he told us that this legislation is a safeguard against the four menaces of terrorism, communalism, Communism and the Civil Disobedience Movement. The question which I ask Honourable Members of this House to consider is this : is it really a bona fide excuse—these four grounds that have been made the foundation of the proposed legislation ? If it is really intended to perpetuate the provisions of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932, it is necessary to see what that Bill was. Was that Bill for fighting these three menaces, terrorism, communalism and Communism ? It would appear from an examination of the Act of 1932 that that Act had nothing to do with the terrorist movement, or, for that matter, with communist movement or with communalism. The Act of 1932 was based on the provisions of Ordinance No. 10 of 1932. That was an Ordinance, the preamble of which says :

“ Whereas an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary to confer special powers upon the Government for the purpose of maintenance of law and order.”

That was in April, 1932. We must remember what was that emergency. Was it Communism or was it communalism, or, for the matter of that, can it be said that that emergency was terrorism ? We all know what that emergency was. That emergency was the Civil Disobedience Movement of 1932. To say that terrorism was the emergency is to say something which is absolutely meaningless. What is the meaning of emergency ? Emergency means a sudden occurrence, a sudden appearance, an unexpected occurrence, something which unexpectedly happens is a matter of emergency. Can it be said that the terrorist movement was an emergency which occurred in 1932 ? Sir, the terrorist movement has been going on in this country for a long number of years, and there was already in the provinces emergency legislation existing to fight the terrorist movement. Therefore, Sir, it is quite obvious that the terrorist movement was not one of the objects for enacting the Act of 1932. We all know, Sir, that when that Ordinance of 1932 expired in December, Government thought it necessary to replace it by the Act of 1932, which it is now proposed to perpetuate. Now, Sir, what did the Honourable the Home Member in charge of the Bill say when this Act of 1932 was enacted ? It was stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons appended to that measure—I am quoting the exact words :

“ That the organisers of the Civil Disobedience Movement have not yet abandoned their attempt to paralyse the Government and to coerce law-abiding citizens.”

That was the avowed justification for the necessity for the Act of 1932. There was no mention made at that time of the terrorist movement. We need not labour this point. When the then Home Member moved for reference of the Bill to the Select Committee, he said this :

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

"The objects of the Bill were to deal with the manifestations of the Civil Disobedience Movement and, in particular, to deal with certain forms of intimidation, particularly picketing and boycotting, with certain matters connected with unlawful associations and with control of the press. On the foundation of this Bill which is before the House, which was intended to apply to manifestations of the Civil Disobedience Movement which are apt to occur throughout India, various Local Governments have also introduced supplementary legislation in their local Councils, legislation which appears in general, though of a more drastic character than the proposals before this House, to be receiving the approval of the local Councils."

Later on, at another place, the Home Member said :

"We were pressed, however, very strongly from many quarters to impose a time limit on these provisions which are admittedly exceptional provisions, admittedly drastic provisions ; and, in deference to those views, we have agreed to put a time limit of three years on the Bill. We may hope that by the end of that time, the futility, the waste of effort, the injury to the country, both moral and economic, caused by civil disobedience, will have been fully appreciated, and the negative, destructive, non-co-operating mentality which, under the influence of success or supposed success, has been flourishing so long will have been finally discredited ; and when it has been discredited, then, Sir, let this Bill lapse. In any case within three years we hope that the decision as to the continuance or discontinuance of these provisions will be in other hands than ours."

So, apart from the other things which he said about the futility, from his own point of view, of the Civil Disobedience Movement, here was a clear declaration made that as soon as the Civil Disobedience Movement will disappear, the Bill will lapse. That was the idea given to us, so that there is no manner of doubt that all the grounds now urged in justification of this measure are merely an after-thought.

Then, Sir, about the Civil Disobedience Movement, the Honourable the Home Member in a somewhat half-hearted manner said that because Civil Disobedience declined, some of the drastic provisions have been dropped in this Bill. He referred to three menaces ; he did not like to call the fourth menace or danger by any name ; but, all the same, later on in his speech he made it perfectly clear that he wanted to fight four dangers by this Bill including the Civil Disobedience Movement. Now, Sir, the Civil Disobedience Movement, whether it has been suspended temporarily or abandoned for all time to come, the stern fact remains that it is no longer in force at the present moment, but it has been stated, in justification of some of the provisions, that in the near future the Civil Disobedience Movement might possibly be revived. I wonder whether that can be made a ground for the enactment of this drastic legislation in anticipation of some future trouble and for making the emergency legislation permanent. Therefore, Sir, all the four grounds mentioned, namely, terrorism, Communism, communalism and Civil Disobedience Movement, cannot be held to be valid for the enactment of this measure. I shall discuss the question of terrorism later on, but for the moment I am merely trying to show that terrorism cannot be made the ground for the perpetuation of these provisions. Now, Sir, admittedly, so far as the terrorist movement is concerned, the precise position of the Government is this, that there has been a definite improvement in the position, but only it is said that recruitment is still going on, but where recruitment is going on is not stated.

One fact, however, has been admitted, and that is, the position has improved considerably. These are the two facts so far as the Civil Disobedience Movement is concerned,—namely, it has declined very considerably compared with the movement of 1932 when this Act was enacted. This is one fact,—and the other fact is, that those provisions which it is proposed to perpetuate were not intended to fight terrorism. In view of these facts, it is very difficult to understand why terrorism should be made a ground for the perpetuation of these provisions.

Sir, the third ground given is communalism. That is again a question which I shall discuss later on. Is it, I ask, a bona fide ground for the enactment of these provisions ? The argument that to fight communalism, an emergency legislation, a drastic legislation, a coercive legislation should be enacted, is something which it is very difficult to appreciate, and communalism is not an emergency. Can anybody say with any reason or plausibility that this evil of communalism has been a sudden unexpected occurrence ? Whatever the character of communalism may be,—the question as to who are responsible for it, and how it should be remedied, apart from all these questions,—communalism cannot, by any stretch of imagination, be said to be an emergency.

There is another argument that has been put forward, and that is that this Bill is for the benefit of the new Government that is coming. This is a point which has been dealt with by many of my Honourable friends, and I shall not repeat all they have said. But let me say only this. It appears that all this argument for the benefit of the new Government that is coming is merely shedding crocodile tears. It is just possible—I do not know, but it is just possible that it may be a bribe offered, an attempted bribe offered to those gentlemen who are likely to be in power in the new Government. "Look here, you are going to be Ministers, and, therefore, this Bill is for your benefit." Whether those gentlemen will fall a prey to that temptation, I do not know ; but when the new Governments come, they will have their own Legislatures and there will be ample opportunity for any sort of legislation that they may find necessary, and I do not see why this legislation should be undertaken in anticipation. That, again, is not a bona fide excuse ; it is a mala fide excuse.

Then, the argument was that this is for the benefit of the voiceless millions. That is an argument which we are already accustomed to hear—that whatever this bureaucratic Government do, that is done for the benefit of the voiceless millions of this country, because they claim that they are the trustees of the people. The real object of this legislation has, however, come out in the last part of the speech of the Honourable the Home Member where he says that the object of this legislation is not to crush the spirit of nationalism in this country. I say, that is the real object, there the real motive of this Bill has come out, because it is well known that language is intended not to give expression to thoughts, but to conceal them. And if we judge this declaration by that standard, then we can appreciate the real motive for this legislation—that is to crush the spirit of nationalism. For instance, what is this provision about picketing ? As I understand section 7, it is merely a device to prevent propaganda for Swadeshi in the interests of British trade by penalising even peaceful picketing. That is the old story of exploitation. Therefore, I say that the real policy underlying this legislation is to crush the spirit of nationalism and the Congress movement and Congress mentality. That is the real object and underlying policy of this Bill.

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

Now, I shall examine the three grounds, one after another. Let me take, first of all, the ground of terrorism. The problem which the Honourable the Home Member seeks to solve is the problem of terrorism. The question is, how to solve this problem. The Honourable the Home Member's solution is the repressive, coercive, drastic measures which have been proposed in this Bill. Therefore, the question arises, is that a sovereign remedy for terrorism? It has been admitted, times without number, by different Provincial Governments and by the Central Government also, that repressive legislation alone will not do and other measures are necessary. The question is, what are those other measures, and whether those measures have been tried and adopted. Before you cure a disease, you must know what the real malady is. Before we deal with this problem of terrorism, we must know what are the root causes of terrorism, what is the genesis of terrorism, what is the psychology of this revolutionary movement. We must know what is the inner thought-current of this revolutionary party. That must be known. Has the Honourable the Home Member ever cared to bestow his anxious consideration over this question? There are two things which I want to know from the Honourable the Home Member before he can expect our support to this Bill. What is his diagnosis, what is this revolutionary movement due to, what has made this party a revolutionary party? What are those circumstances, political, economic, or administrative, which have made this party a revolutionary party? Have those causes been investigated and ascertained? We have got in this country any number of committees and commissions appointed for investigating into several problems, political, administrative and financial, but have the Government cared to have a committee of officials and non-officials to find out the real root causes of this movement and to prescribe remedies for it? That is the question of questions. So far as I am concerned, I say that repression is not only not the remedy for terrorism, but I say that repression is, on the contrary, the exciting cause of terrorism. My diagnosis is simple, is incredibly simple. I can describe the root causes of terrorism in two small words, that is,—hunger for food and hunger for freedom, one economic, and the other, political. The terrorists want food, they want freedom. Give them food, give them freedom, and terrorism will vanish from this country as darkness vanishes at the approach of dawn. I do not care either for food. Give us freedom, and we shall take care of our food. You cannot satisfy a man's hunger for freedom merely by repressive legislation and depriving him of his personal liberty. You cannot satisfy a nation's hunger for food by depriving them of all their resources and impoverishing them from day to day. Therefore, the two root causes of this revolutionary movement are, causes political and causes economic. So far as the political causes are concerned, the position is this. India wants self-government. The desire for freedom is burning within the hearts of the Indians. Once the fire of freedom is kindled, no human power can extinguish it my methods, either violent or non-violent, by repressive legislation or otherwise. Sir, you can control the body of man, you cannot possibly control the mind of man. God-given desire for freedom cannot be effaced or impaired by man-made laws. England has lost America, England has lost Ireland, because of this policy of repression. History teaches us that the policy of repression is bound to fail in the long run. You may crush the spirit of some people for all time, you may crush the spirit of all the people for some time; but you cannot crush the spirit of all people for all time, either by repressive legislation or otherwise. This inwardness of the situation must have been perfectly obvious to British statesmen, and, therefore, they gave promises and pledges of self-government and responsible Government to India from time to time. That explains the announcements made from time to time, but unfortunately they were mere pledges or promises. The history of British India is an unbroken record of broken pledges and broken promises—promises kept to the ear, but broken to the hope. It was Lord Lytton, I believe, who said once that there are two courses open to the Britishers—either to act up to their promises or to cheat Indians.....

Mr. Sri Prakasa : They preferred the latter.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : .....and he confessed as suggested by my friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, that he chose the latter course. The Morley-Minto reforms cheated India, the Montagu-Chelmsford reforms cheated India, and, I am sure, I voice the feeling of the whole of India when I say that the new Government of India Act of 1935 is another glaring instance of cheating and fraud. Never was a greater breach of faith and a greater breach of promise committed by one nation with respect to another nation. Hopes encouraged and hopes blasted result in inevitable disaster. They produce their own inevitable effect upon the impressionable minds of impatient and impetuous youths. That, I say, is the genesis of the revolutionary movement in the country. That is the political side of the matter. Then, there is the economic side. What has been the financial policy of the British Government in India? That policy has been,—India for England, not India for India. The exploitation of India has been the guiding policy of their administration. In the well known words of Lord Curzon, exploitation and administration go hand in hand. That was the cynical admission of a great Viceroy. Indian industries have been sacrificed at the altar of British industries. India is governed by policy dictated from Lancashire, and, if any policy is laid down here in India, it is formulated in places like Clive Street in Calcutta and other such places. India has been bled white,—bled white, not as a matter of accident, but as a matter of deliberate policy. Life and livelihood have been endangered. The result is acute unemployment. The problem is the problem of bread. The average annual income of an Indian is not even Rs. 40 now. There are hundreds and thousands of people in India who do not have even two meals a day. There are hundreds and thousands of graduates who are starving. A first class M. A. can be had for Rs. 40 a month. I say, these are the contributory causes of the revolutionary movement. That is what His Excellency the Viceroy said in July, 1934, at a meeting of the European Association in Calcutta. He said :

1 P.M.

“ But there is another aspect of the Terrorist movement, which I think it is important to bear in mind. It is a fact that at the present time we have too many young men and women passing out from the Universities with B.A. at the end of their names, and too few positions for them to look forward to when they want to start on their career of public service. The result is that the lack of occupation produces in their minds feelings of disgust, despair and resentment with the result that they fall an easy prey to the leaders of this movement who lurk in the background and use them at the most susceptible time of their lives to carry out their nefarious designs."

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

I would ask one question of the Honourable the Home Member. Is he prepared to say that these political causes and these economic forces have not contributed to the development of the revolutionary movement in this country? My case is that terrorism is the inevitable result of the political and economic forces which I have described. He must be a quack who does not diagnose the real inner remedy, but only prescribes external application, calculated to bring only temporary relief. It may be said that these are causes applicable to the whole of India, and I may be asked why the origin and development of terrorism is in a great degree confined to my province of Bengal. That is a question which I feel I owe it to my own province as well as to the Government and to the Honourable Members of this House to explain—as to why it is that this movement of terrorism is more rampant in Bengal than in any other province. My answer to this question is this. Terrorism was born in the anti-partition agitation of Bengal. That is my case, and I hope that, in the final speech of the Honourable the Home Member, he will express his own opinion on this subject—whether that is a correct view of the position or not. My case is that it was born in the anti-partition agitation of Bengal in 1906. There was practically no terrorism in my province before the partition. The partition lacerated the heart of Bengal, and there was an agitation unparalleled in the history of this country, both in volume and in intensity. It must be remembered that that agitation was not an unconstitutional agitation in the beginning. It was a constitutional agitation, but the agitation went on unheeded for half a decade. I say half a decade with the utmost precision. Now, this agitation, Sir, gave birth to the Swadeshi movement. At the time of the declaration of this partition, Bengal declared the boycott of British goods as a protest against the partition. For half a decade, British statesmanship remained adamant and obdurate. That was the inception of the revolutionary movement. But this movement was then only in a nebulous condition; it might have been nipped in the bud by a tactful and sympathetic handling. But the Government, in their intoxication of power, mismanaged the situation and bungled, and probably bungled advisedly. They initiated a policy of repression, a policy of counter-terrorism, a policy of legalised terrorism, to meet that agitation; they initiated a policy of ruthless repression which, instead of pouring oil over troubled waters, added fuel to the fire. Sir, it was a small cloud no bigger than a man's hand then. I am speaking of this terrorism as it was in the beginning; but the Government's repression contributed to its extension and expansion. Sir, I wish to refer to some of the acts of repression that were practised then. There was the Bandê Mataram Circular, there was the Risley Circular, and there was the crop of repressive circulars which followed them, there were the Regulation lathis which were not only brandished in the streets of East Bengal, but actually showered upon the devoted heads of the promoters of the Swadeshi movement; there was the deportation of our most-respected leaders, including even Sriji

Aswini Kumar Dutt of hallowed memory and Babu Krishna Kumar Mitra. So far as Babu Krishna Kumar Mitra is concerned, Sir, well, he was the prince of moderates. I do not think there has been any man or a politician whose views on politics are so moderate as were those of Babu Krishna Kumar Mitra. He was one of the men deported, because he took part in the constitutional agitation against the partition. Sir, the unjust persecution and prosecution of many true sons of Bengal, the preposterous sentences which were usually passed in what were known as Swadeshi cases staggered humanity and they staggered even a man like Lord Morley himself! The letting loose of Gurkha soldiers upon the people of Backergunj and other districts of East Bengal, the game of divide and rule, the doctrine of the favourite wife, not only preached with cynical frankness, but translated into action, not for the sake of the favoured, but with a sinister design, the indiscriminate and wanton house searches and arrests and shadowing of respectable and innocent gentlemen by the police, the breaking up of social service leagues and beneficent samitis, all these put a very serious strain upon the loyalty of our people. They staggered; they paused; they rubbed their eyes, and wondered if they were in the twentieth century under the enlightened British rule. They groaned; they became silent; they became sullen too. But there is still something more to account for the appearance of this revolutionary party. All the executive Zabardastisms were not considered sufficient to crush the rising new spirit—a spirit which any national Government would have guided, encouraged, fostered and directed into a right channel. But the angry Bureaucracy summoned the subservient Legislature to forge the most reactionary and most repressive measures one after another.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Does the Honourable Member propose to continue for some time longer?

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta: Yes, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): In that case, the Chair will adjourn the House till half past two.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

MEMBER SWORN.

Mr. Husenbhai Abdullahbai Laljee, M.L.A. (Bombay Central Division: Muhammadan Rural).

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL—contd.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta: Sir, before the House adjourned for Lunch, I was describing the ruthless repression that was going on in Bengal and also how that repression gave birth to terrorism and how it gave food to terrorism. The legislative enactments were hurled at us with the rapidity of shots from a machine-gun. First came the Seditious Meetings Act, which was passed in 1907. That shrewd statesman, Dr.

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

Rash Behari Ghosh, opposed the Bill, not because he had ever any bias for sedition or seditious meetings, but, with the unerring vision of a true prophet, he saw that the measure was calculated to drive discontent, sedition and terrorism underground. But the prophet was not honoured. He protested in vain, and the measure was passed. In 1908, the Bureaucracy had the Newspaper Incitement Offences Act passed. In that year, they wanted to do away with all our associations which were doing service to the country, and the Criminal Law Amendment Act was passed. The next link in that interminable chain of cruel legislation was the Indian Press Act which was passed in 1910. In 1913, we had another Criminal Law Amendment Act passed for the punishment of criminal conspiracies. The last though not the least, was the Defence of India Act which was passed in 1915. Then followed other repressive enactments. There were so many repressive legislations crowded in such a short period that it must be unparallel in the history of the civilized world. I wonder if British statesmanship thought it could sow whirlwind and yet could reap a good harvest. I wonder if they realised that the discontent which was already deep was being driven deeper, and that it would, according to the immutable laws of human nature, find its own outlet in some other channel. It is always dangerous to sit on the safety valve. Sir, my case is that there was repression in Bengal when there was none in other provinces. Hundreds of youngmen were interned during a period when there was practically no internment in other provinces. This explains why terrorism made its first appearance in my province as compared to other provinces. It is certainly not a matter of accident. Nobody will say that there is anything perverse in the human nature of Bengal. I do claim, without any disrespect to any other province, that the Bengalees are one of the finest people on the face of the earth. Their civilization, their culture, their educational and religious advancement, their traditional cult of non-violence have won admiration all the world over. Therefore, I say, there is nothing particularly offensive or perverse in the soil of Bengal and I say that it is not without any particular reason that there should be recrudescence of terrorism there rather than in other provinces. In Bengal, again, all districts are not equally affected. There is always a certain proportion between the degree of repression and the degree of terrorism. The greater the repression, the greater the terrorism. Indeed, they act mutually as cause and effect. Take the several districts of Bengal. You will find that terrorism has thrived most in those districts where repression was the greatest. Chittagong, Midnapore and Dacca may be cited in support of my contention. So far as Midnapore is concerned, the repression was the greatest there during the Civil Disobedience Movement. Mr. Griffiths is not here, otherwise, I am sure, he would have borne me out that repression was ruthless in the district of Midnapore, and that explains, Sir, that terrorism is greater in Midnapore than in many other districts. I have not yet fully explained why terrorism came first in Bengal. Bengal received the first and foremost shock in the struggle for freedom. It was in Bengal where the movement for political emancipation was first started. The Swadeshi movement for started there, the boycott movement was started there, and in fact, Bengal gave the signal, and the battle for freedom began in India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : I rise on a point of order, Sir. I find that neither the Home Member nor the Home Secretary is in his seat. Is it fair to this House, when a debate of first class importance is going on, that the Department should be unrepresented? We know that it makes no difference whether they are here or not.

An Honourable Member : The Leader of the House is here.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Is there any rule that all of us should be here when we know that the discussion will last another three days and when we know perfectly well that whatever has been said will be reported to the Home Member. The Home Member will be here in a few minutes.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member in charge of the motion ought to be here.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : As a matter of fact, the Home Member will be here in a few minutes.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Even the Home Secretary is not here.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : From Secretaries up to chaprassis are not wanted.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : So the Honourable Member puts Secretaries and the chaprassis in the same category !

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The Honourable Member seems to be carried away by enthusiasm. The Secretary of the Home Department is a Member of the Council of State, and not of this House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : There is just one gentleman sitting behind the Home Member. I do not know who he is.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : They are all gentlemen. The gentleman sitting behind the Home Member is not the Home Secretary.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Is it the case of the Honourable Member that Secretaries are merely chaprassis ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If that is your construction, by all means please yourself.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : I was just now speaking, Sir, of the beginning of the battle for freedom in Bengal. I was saying that at first it was a constitutional fight.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury one of the Panel of Chairmen].

Mr. Chairman, it was at first a constitutional fight, but the bureaucracy would not tolerate it. Sir, after the partition, the Bengal Provincial Conference was held at Barisal, but that was broken up by Regulation lathis. I happened to be in that Conference. The breaking up of that Conference led to the appearance, for the first time, of terrorism in my province. Repression brought terrorism in its train. I still remember the feeling of discontent and resentment with which even the most moderate leaders of the province returned from Barisal after the forcible dispersal of the Conference. Sir, I still remember those words uttered by the veteran leader, Mr. Bhupendra Nath Basu, after the dispersal of the Conference. The words are still ringing in my ears. Mr. Basu said :

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

"The days of constitutional government are over, the days of police rule have dawned."

Now, all this was too much for the youth of the country. The old people continued their old methods of constitutional agitation, but the impetuous youth of Bengal, noted for their national trait of emotion and imagination, yielded and succumbed. In tracing, therefore, the history of the revolutionary movement in Bengal, one cannot forget the breaking up of the Barisal Conference. Now, Sir, while dealing with this aspect of the question, I mean the development and continuance of terrorism in Bengal, may I invite the attention of the House to the views expressed by one who is not an occupant of the Opposition Benches, but by one who now occupies a seat as the Honourable the Leader of the House, I mean the Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : You won't find there anything to support your view.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : At one place, Sir Nripendra Sircar said :

"Nothing can be a surer guarantee for filling the terrorists with well-founded hope arising from the creation of an atmosphere favourable for their activities. The Hindus will be justified in feeling that serious injustice has been done to them, and the belief that they cannot have their legitimate share or an effective voice in the Legislatures will be a formidable recruiting agency for swelling the ranks of the sympathisers of terrorists."

Then, at page 152 of this book, called "Sir N. N. Sircar's Speeches and Pamphlets", we find that when he was cross-examining Mr. Villiers, the President of the European Association, in London, he put this question :

"Am I right in saying that, judging by the members of the movement who have been captured from time to time by these officials, their view is probably this, that the present condition of difficulties is due to a foreign rule, and, therefore, foreign rule must be cut off altogether."

That was the question. I am not sure whether there was not some implication and suggestion conveyed by the question and it was not without purpose. The answer was :

"So far as it is due to any reasoning thought at all, it is definitely due to that. In a great measure, these boys are caught while they are absolute youngsters, and their emotions are worked on until they get into a state of hysteria over a matter which is right beyond the scope of reasoning at all, but so far as reasoning comes in at all, you are correct in your statement."

Meaning thereby the statement contained in the question.

Another question was like this :

"Do you think that, if the Bengal Hindu would come to the Legislature, and try to work out his salvation through it, that would result in weaning sympathisers of terrorists, and isolate the terrorists?"

The answer was this :

"I think in time that will undoubtedly be the tendency, but I think it will take a certain amount of time."

Then, there is another question :

"May I take it that it follows that if the Bengal Hindus feel that they have a legitimate grievance, and they keep away from the Legislature, knowing their position, and so on, it will really help disturbance and the terrorist movement in Bengal?"

The answer was this :

"Any feeling of legitimate grievance on the part of the community would have that effect, so far as that community is concerned."

Then, Sir, in another place, the Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar says this :

"At first sight, no connection may appear between the financial settlement and the terrorist movement; but looking below the surface it is fairly obvious that dyarchy failed in Bengal and general discontent and unrest increased, because the Ministers, having no available resources, were unable to achieve anything in furtherance of the beneficent activities of Government."

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Quite right.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : My Honourable friend says, it is quite right. I also have cited these passages to show that he is quite right and what is right is this that this terrorism is being developed and food is being supplied to these terrorists by what has been suggested in these questions by the Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar, namely, the injustice done to the people.

Now, Sir, that is about Bengal. I shall not speak as to the root causes of the terrorist movement in the Punjab. I shall, however, say only this that, as in Bengal, the partition gives the explanation, so, in the Punjab, it was the Jallianwalla Bagh massacre which brought into existence the terrorist movement there. In this connection, may I call the attention of Honourable Members of this House to the attitude of Mahatma Gandhi with regard to the question of the massacre of Jallianwalla Bagh? Immediately after this massacre, that very year in the December following, there was the Amritsar Congress, and, only a few days before the Congress, the reforms had been published. The question before the Congress was whether those reforms were adequate and satisfactory and whether they should be worked. There was a controversy and difference of opinion between the leaders, and the attitude of Mahatma Gandhi was that they should be worked. He was for co-operation as he had all along been; in fact, he had been even a recruiter. That was the position of Mahatma Gandhi at Amritsar in December, 1919. The other leaders were of a different opinion. However, there was some settlement between the leaders, and a resolution was passed to the effect that the reforms were inadequate, unsatisfactory and disappointing. Mahatma Gandhi was waiting at that time for the report of the Hunter Committee about the Jallianwalla Bagh massacre. That report was published not very long after in the course of the year and that disillusioned Mahatma Gandhi, and the result was that from a co-operator he became a non-co-operator. That was the result so far as Mahatma Gandhi is concerned. His attitude was influenced by the massacre and by the official attitude with respect to this massacre. But younger people went a little further; they not only became non-co-operators, but went one step further, and some of them became terrorists. This being the true genesis of the revolutionary movement, I say with regard to this Bill that the proposed legislation is

736

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

remedy of a quack, not that of a real physician, and it is bound to frustrate its own object. This, however, is no matter for speculation, but the very fact that this repressive legislation failed in the past for so many years to crush the terrorist movement, and the very fact that it is now proposed to have a permanent emergency legislation (if it is not a contradiction in terms), goes to show and is in fact a confession that repression will not do. Repression will not do and other measures must be adopted to meet the situation. Repression may prevent major crimes and overt acts for a time as it has prevented major crimes, for we have been told that there has been no major crime for some time past in my province, but it cannot purge the body politic of the poison.

Now, Sir, the Honourable the Home Member has told us in his speech in support of his claim that the measure should be made permanent,—that what he ardently desires is a change of heart on the part of the terrorists. I wonder, Sir, if he really and sincerely believes that the drastic measures proposed in this Bill are really calculated to bring about a change of heart on the part of the terrorists. I do not believe that he believes it. If, however, he does really and sincerely believe that these are measures which will bring about a change of heart, I must say that I cannot credit him with much of imagination and much of knowledge and insight into human nature and human character. So if really that is a bonâ fide excuse that, in order to fight terrorism, these measures are necessary, I say it is bound to fail and I cannot support this measure on this ground.

That, Sir, is about terrorism; then, there is the question of communalism. One word about terrorism, however, I will say here. It appears that a certain Bill has been introduced recently,—I do not remember exactly if it has been passed,—in the Bengal Legislative Council, the Bengal Public Security Extending Bill of 1935.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : It has been passed without a division.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : That is a Council from which Dr. Banerjee and myself came away after the Lahore decision, leaving the field to people whom I shall not describe or characterise. In the Statement of Objects and Reasons, it is said :

“The Act was passed to confer special powers on the Local Government to enable it in case of emergency to combat activities subversive of law and order or prejudicial to the public security for the suppression of which the ordinary powers of the Government are inadequate.”

Then follows a statement which is very significant and very important. It is said :

“That such activities may recur is by no means impossible, and the Local Government is of opinion that it would not be prudence to allow the preventive powers conferred by the Act to lapse.”

There is an admission by the Government of Bengal that the subversive movement has almost died out : but it is said in justification of that measure “that such activities may recur is by no means impossible”. That is the position.

the word is “recur”—of the activities—I say it follows by necessary implication that such activities may not also recur. That is the position with respect to the movement of terrorism. As has been admitted, times out of number, in this House, the position has improved and improved considerably. Under these improved conditions, we are asked to give our assent to the Bill to fight the movement of terrorism.

The next ground on which it is sought to justify this Bill is the third menace of communalism. To be frank, I have been requested by the Honourable the Leader of the Opposition not to dilate upon this point, because he will deal with it, and, I dare say, he will deal with it far more ably than myself; and, therefore, out of respect for him, I shall not deal with this aspect of the question. But I am anxious to prove one thing, namely, that whatever communal feuds and dissension there is—I am now speaking of my own province, Bengal,—all that had been engineered and brought into existence, fostered and fomented by a third party.

An Honourable Member : What is that third party?

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : You know that third party.

Another Honourable Member : It is before us.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : There was a riot at Chittagong immediately after the murder of a certain police officer. Mr. J. M. Sen-Gupta, whose premature death the whole country mourns, went to Chittagong and made an inquiry. After the inquiry, he came to Calcutta, and, in a meeting held in the Town Hall in Calcutta, he declared substantially to this effect :

“I say I take the full responsibility of making this statement : the riot in Chittagong was engineered and brought about by the local authorities. Here am I. I make this statement openly. I am prepared to prove it; and if the Government like they can prosecute me and put me on trial.”

That was a challenge which was never accepted. So that we are perfectly entitled to assume and to proceed on the assumption that the Chittagong riots were the result of the intervention of a third party. Then, there was rioting at Dacca in May, 1930. With regard to that, there were two committees which made inquiries simultaneously about the causes of these riots—one an official committee which was presided over by Mr. Sachse. The report of that committee never saw the light of day. The reason for non-publication is significant and obvious. There was another committee, a Congress Committee—my humble self was the President of that Committee. We used to meet each other. The evidence that was forthcoming before us, with regard to those riots, was this : that it was brought about by that very same third party. A meeting was held on the night preceding the riots, in the house of a Muhammadan gentleman, where the local officials discussed about the coming riots, and Mr. Griffiths was there—I know that one Mr. Griffiths of the Indian Civil Service was the manager of the Dacca Nawab at that time. (Cries of “Shame, shame”.) I do not know whether the Honourable Member from Midnapore was that Mr. Griffiths. But, why, I am sure, he was the gentleman; and I thought and hoped that, while he was speaking on communalism, he would throw more light on the real state of affairs at Dacca. I do not know whether he himself was present and whether he had a share in the matter; but the evidence that I got as a n2

L1951AD

738

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[10TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

member of that Committee, was that he was also present at that meeting ; and here he is now, after coming to the Assembly, preaching a homily on communalism and all that. It does not lie in his mouth to make this assertion....

An Honourable Member : Nor in the mouth of his chief !

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : With regard to these Dacca riots, I know from a reliable source that, just before the riots, two or three days before the riots, the Government officials had been told by some people, by higher officials, that they should make purchases of provisions for two or three or five days, because they were told that rioting would be going on for some days. Guns, revolvers and arms were taken away from the Hindus before the riot began. A high official, occupying the position of an additional District Judge, gave his evidence before the Sachse Committee. He deposed to the effect that looting was going on before his eyes : that the police were taking part in it, that he phoned again and again to the Superintendent of Police and Magistrate ; for three days it went on and he phoned and phoned, but without any response, and no police appeared. That is the story of the Dacca riots. There was a Hindu-Moslem riot in Comilla. There, again, I have the same story to tell. I shall tell only what I know from my own personal experience. I must admit to our shame, the shame of the Hindus as well as the shame of the Muhammadans, that there was that riot. That must be admitted. But the point that I am making is that they did not fight on their own initiative. That is the whole point. Some people were assaulted : there was one man, Baikuntha, whose head was broken : I went myself with some of my friends with that broken head to the District Magistrate. Honourable Members of this House will be staggered to hear the reply that I got from the District Magistrate : he said " Why do you come to me ? Go to Mr. Bepin Chandra Pal." (Cries of " Shame ".) Then, there was also the Divisional Commissioner who came. We wrote to him for giving us relief for preventing the whole thing. He would not take any notice of these things. Later on, some days after, there was a meeting of officials and non-officials : in the open meeting, we took the Commissioner to task for not taking any action when these things were brought to his notice. We said : " You came here from Chittagong on such and such day ; we wrote to you on that day ; but you did not take any notice." He said at first : " Oh, I did not come on that day : I was not here." Then, one of our friends got enraged and said : " You did come here on that day : you were here." After receiving that snub, he said : " Well, I might have."

Then, Sir, I do not propose to dilate at length on the Mymensingh incidents. Mr. G. S. Dutt was the District Magistrate there. He tried his best to prevent all communal riots, and what was the result ? He was soon transferred. (Cries of " Shame, shame ".) Then came another District Magistrate in his place. He went to the Bar Library and gave an assurance that there would be no Hindu-Muslim rioting. Almost immediately after that assurance was given to the Bar Library, there occurred one of the worst Hindu-Muslim riots in the district. There was one poor Sub-Divisional Magistrate, who went and controlled the rioting, and what was the result ? Like Mr. G. S. Dutt, he was also immediately transferred. (Cries of " Shame, shame " from Congress Party Benches.) Then what followed ? A proposal was made by a certain Muhammadan gentleman, I think he was the Public Prosecutor, for the formation of a reconciliation board to meet the situation. It was proposed to Mr. Som, who is now a Member of this Assembly, that he should be a member of the reconciliation board. What was the reply of Mr. Som ? He said : " Well, I am in possession of information and evidence that the District Magistrate and the Superintendent of Police are engineering these things through and in concert with you. You ask me to be a member of a committee in which you are taking a leading part " ? That was the reply given by him in the open library. The House will be interested and pained to hear what followed the next morning. On the following morning, Mr. Som was arrested (Cries of " Shame, shame " from Congress Party Benches) on the ground that there was a meeting held there some days before in which Mr. Som had taken part and talked about picketing, and, therefore, he was arrested and put on trial. The trial went on for some time, I think it went on for some days, and he was kept in hajāt lock-up), and from the jail to the Court room, the House will be astonished to hear, Mr. Som used to be escorted handcuffed and roped. (Cries of " Shame, shame " !) (An Honourable Member : " Disgraceful.") (Another Honourable Member : " It is no surprise to hear it.") Sir, I am reminded of the fate that overtook Mr. Nagendra Nath Sen, the Leader of the Khulna Bar, because he was also handcuffed and roped. There is another youngman of Comilla who received the same treatment. His father is a Member of this House now,—I shall not name him. Now, Sir, all this reminds me of a certain observation of the late Swami Vivekananda. He said that some people, after creating the disease, try to cure it ; it is the habit of some people to have a lavatory just by the side of the bedroom and then call for the physician to cure typhoid. Therefore, Sir, these provisions in the Bill are no cure for communalism. On the other hand, we say : " Physician, heal thyself " ; if you heal thyself, if you refrain from fostering and fomenting communalism, communal rioting will vanish from this land in no time. (Cheers.)

Then, Sir, I need not weary the House of emphasising the importance and liberty of the press. Sir, I think it was the dictum of Lord Russell, one of the most famous Judges of England, who said that liberty of the press is nothing more or nothing less than the liberty of every subject of His Majesty. In fact, a free press is the rock of people's liberty, and, therefore, an attack on the liberty of the press is an attack on the liberty not only of the press, but on the liberty of the whole nation. The press is regarded as the fourth estate, one of the four pillars of the State, and if there is any encroachment on the rights of the press, no patriotic Indian can give his support to the measure.

It is said that responsible Government is coming. Now, responsible Government and a muzzled press are contradictory in terms. I am not here to attribute any sinister design, but who knows that this muzzling of the press is not a counterblast to the coming reforms ?

An Honourable Member : It is.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Where there is responsible Government, there must be a free press, and, without a free press, how will you educate the electorate ? 14 per cent. of the total population of this country is going to be enfranchised, and we must educate the electorate, and that is the function of the press. Now, what is the case of the Honourable the Home Member with regard to the press legislation? He has got a very ingenious head. His case is this. There were no repressive laws or special laws with regard to press in the years 1922 to 1930. During this period, there were no special press laws, and the result, according to the Honourable the Home Member, was,—inflammatory writings of the worst description in the press in praise of terrorism and terrorist murders and also incitement to communal dissensions. That is his case. This is one aspect. The other aspect is that in 1926 and 1927 there were communal riots,—there were communal riots in 1926 in Calcutta, and in 1927 there were communal riots in Lahore. On these two premises, he comes to the conclusion that the first Press Ordinance of the year 1930 was the result of these inflammatory writings and communal riots. Now, Sir, I am afraid the Honourable the Home Member thought that the Members of this House are what is called a common jury of shopkeepers to swallow anything that may be told to them. Are we to believe, Sir, that if the press was indulging in such inflammatory writings, not for one month or for one year, but from year to year for a period of eight years, but the Government had abdicated their functions and remained silent without taking any action whatsoever? Either his statement is true, or it is false. If it is false, then the whole case of the Honourable the Home Member goes. If, on the contrary, his case is true, namely, that for eight years all these things were going on, and the Government had taken no steps whatever to check those things, then I say that the Government were guilty of abetting by omission. The fact really is that the Press Ordinance of 1930 had nothing to do with the alleged inflammatory writings and communal riots of those days. That was obviously the result of the Civil Disobedience Movement of 1930. That is the sort of reasoning indulged in by the Honourable the Home Member in order to prop up the repressive press legislation. The whole question that the House has got to decide is this. Was the Ordinance of 1930 the result of the Civil Disobedience Movement of that year, or was that the result of the riots of 1926 and 1927? The emergency occurred in 1930, and reference is made to what happened five or six years before 1930! That is the sort of logic followed by the Honourable the Home Member. The Honourable Member, in his speech, has quoted the authority of the Local Governments; among others, and more remarkable still, he has quoted the authority of the Punjab Government. In this connection, we have to remember that at that time the Home Member was in the Punjab Government. I do not know who drafted those reports of the Punjab Government which have been quoted in extenso by the Honourable the Home Member in his speech. (An Honourable Member: "Himself.") I only hope that it was not a case of from Philip Drunk to Philip Sober.

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Which is the drunk period and which is the sober period? (Laughter.)

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Now, Sir, in support of his case, the Honourable the Home Member has quoted a Bihar paper. He was asked to give the name of that paper, but he would not give the name. I had always thought that Government were unwilling to give out the names of their informers and witnesses in a certain type of cases, but I never knew that there was any difficulty in giving the name of a newspaper which has published the extract and from which publication the Honourable the Home Member was quoting in support of his contention.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Is the suggestion that I invented the quotation?

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : But the fact remains that, in spite of the request from this side of the House, the name was not given.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : You really want to know the substance of the writing.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Sir, what is the substance of the thing that he has given us from that writing? One of the sentences which has been quoted from that unnamed, undisclosed Bihar paper is: "Burn every house." I do not know whether that is the doctrine of the civil disobedience resister, or the doctrine of the terrorist, or of the Communist, or of the communalist. (An Honourable Member: "Or of the bureaucracy.") The Honourable gentleman from Midnapore has quoted two papers, the Mukti and the Swadhinata. These are papers which are hardly known to our people. Has he quoted any daily papers, weekly papers, respectable papers commanding very large circulation all over the country in different provinces and in different cities? Has the Honourable the Home Member, or, for the matter of that, Mr. Griffiths, quoted anything from any of those papers in support of their case? One line has been quoted from the Advance. What is that line after all? It is said there, "Dauntless Dinesh dies before dawn". Is it seriously suggested that that is an incitement to terrorism or that it is making a martyr of him? There should be a certain sense of proportion in making such suggestion or allegation. Mahatma Gandhi has been quoted, and we are glad that he has been quoted. But Mahatma Gandhi has said this also with regard to the Midnapore murder. He said:

"I deeply deplore the assassination of the Midnapore Magistrate, but, at the same time, it is impossible not to regret that the rulers do not only not redress the wrongs that lead to such assassinations, but insist on ruling by counter-terrorism, which the Ordinances undoubtedly mean."

Will the Honourable the Home Member, who quoted Mahatma Gandhi from Young India, take note of this also?

As regards the press, I want to say a word about the Press Conference which was recently held in Calcutta under the presidency of no less a person than Mr. C. Y. Chintamani of Allahabad, an ex-Minister, and a member of the Liberal Party, and whose views are always known to be very sober and very moderate. There was the editor of the Hindu who was also a party to that. He was not himself present, but he sent his representative. I believe that the Hindu is one of the friendly papers. (Laughter.) That was mentioned by the Honourable the Home Member the other day. Then, there was that grand old man of Calcutta, Mr. Kamananda Chatterjee, who was present at that Conference. Here is the resolution passed at that Conference with respect to this legislation now before the House:

"The All-India Journalists' Conference is gravely concerned by the reported intention of the Government of India to renew the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932, which includes the Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, in a more objectionable form. The Conference is emphatically of opinion that these Acts of 1931 and 1932 as well as the Indian States Protection Act and the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1934, are utterly incompatible with the legitimate freedom of the Press and the fundamental right of free expression of opinion and strongly urges that none of these Acts should any longer be retained on the Statute Book."

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

It is really a pity that Government would not take any notice of such a representative opinion about the proposals which we are now discussing. As regards the grievances, particularly of the Bengal Press, my Honourable friend, Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya, has already described them, and I should not like to repeat them. But just one word about the requisition of security. A distinguished Judge of England said :

" Liberty of the press consists in printing without previous license, subject, however, to the consequences of the law."

That should be the rule.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

As regards the abuses of the special powers under the Press Act, I am afraid, the time at my disposal does not permit me to go into details. It remains for me to make a few observations as regards the manner in which repressive legislation is administered specially in my province. The grievance is two-fold. In the first place, the law is arbitrary and, in the second place, it is arbitrarily exercised. I do not think anybody can challenge the fact that there is literally a reign of terror just now in Bengal. It is impossible to hold a meeting even for the death anniversary of Mr. C. R. Das. There is more police coming in than there is audience. Once some ladies met in my house in Comilla for offering prayers on the occasion of Mahatma's fast. That was the whole thing and would you believe it that for two or three days police came one after another and asked what was going on. After all it was nothing more than a meeting of about a dozen ladies. Life has become intolerable in these circumstances. As regards the manner in which this law is administered may I refer to an incident which happened in Sylhet. There was a peaceful procession. There was no order passed prohibiting the procession. In that procession, there was the leader of Assam, Mr. Brojendra Narayan Chowdhury. In that procession, there was another gentleman who happens now to be a Member of this Honourable House, Mr. Basanta Kumar Das. The police came in and began to assault the leading people including Mr. Chowdhury, who was then the Deputy Leader of the Congress Party in the Assam Council. My friend, Basanta Babu, was also not spared. He received his share of the beating. (Cries of "Shame, shame!") I will give you another instance. There was one gentleman of the name of Girish Chandra Nag, who was an ex-Member of this House. He was an elected Member from the Surma Valley constituency. He was the predecessor of Basanta Babu. There was a search made in his house at Dacca on the suspicion that his gifted daughter, Miss Lila Nag, an M. A., known all over the province for her beneficent activities in the educational line, had something to do with some movement. His house was searched, and would you believe it, an old gentleman, a retired Deputy Magistrate and a Rai Bahadur, was assaulted by the police officer for no reason whatsoever in his own house in the presence of his wife and sons! His furniture, his almirah and library were broken. (Cries of "Shame, shame!") He was personally assaulted, although there was no charge against him at all. Only a search was made with regard to something about his daughter.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member should not go into the history of all these old cases.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : I want to show, how the executive are administering the law as it stands, and how can you possibly give more power to that executive. That is the point that I want to make. As regards the manner in which notices are served, I shall give one instance as to how notice was sought to be served on a man who had died long ago. This is the statement made by Mr. Sarat Chandra Bose who communicated this to the Government when he was a State Prisoner. The incident which happened in Dacca was reported in three Calcutta papers and the report was not contradicted by the Government of Bengal. This is the statement :

" On Monday last, the police went to the house of Sreejut Harendra Kumar Ghose, retired Deputy Magistrate, living at Rajar Dewry, Dacca, and enquired of his son, Anil Kumar Ghosh. The police said that an order under the Bengal Suppression of Outrages Act was to be served on Anil. The police were, however, informed by the inmates of the house that the boy had died 15 months ago, in the month of Baisakh last year. The police then returned puzzled."

This is the way in which the Act is administered in my province. I should like to mention two other instances to prove that the information in the possession of Government is not infrequently incorrect. We are always told : " You people have got no information. We have lot of information in our possession, but we are not at liberty to disclose it like the Bihar paper." We have two cases showing the value of the information possessed by the Government and the Police Department. One is about informer Ram Chandra Bania. He planted a revolver in the house of one Ram Prasad Bhakat in Calcutta and informed the police. It led to the arrest of the inmates, and, later on, they were discharged, and that man was sent for trial for giving false information, with the result that he was convicted and given two years by the Presidency Magistrate of Calcutta for possession of a stolen six chamber revolver without license. That was only the other day in September, 1935. There was another recent case in the district of Midnapore. There were three informers who, in April, 1935, planted six bombs underneath a plantain grove in the garden of one Hari Setna and informed the police. The police came, found the bombs and arrested the inmates of the house. Later on, these informers were prosecuted for giving false information. The findings of the trying magistrate were :

- (1) that one informer purchased potassium chlorate and another purchased arsenic sulphate. These were the explosives found in the bombs ;
- (2) that the bombs were prepared by the informers themselves ; and
- (3) that a letter found with the revolver was written at the dictation of one of the informers.

These two cases have revealed a serious and disgraceful state of things.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Who prosecuted the informers ?

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Even that much of credit for honesty the Honourable the Leader of the House does not appear to give to the executive. I must gratefully acknowledge that in these two cases the police officers did their duty. But who knows, Sir, while you give me thanks, will you answer this question—who knows how many cases there are, undetected cases, how many people have been arrested and sent to jail on the information of such informers? Now, Sir, here is a general description of what is going on in that part of the country. "Various kinds of strange orders are passed by the District Magistrate....." Thus, some one is asked not to leave his home and a specified area, some not to enter a particular school or to associate with students, and some not to leave home from sunset to sunrise. Now, what happened? As a result of all this, students were compelled to withdraw from the schools where they were reading and to sit idly with their own parents in their own villages. As the times of sunset and sunrise were not definitely mentioned in these notices, some of the boys were easily prosecuted and convicted, and they had no watch or clock in their respective homes, so as to know the time of sunset every day. House searches and prosecutions there were many in connection with so-called objectionable literature. There have been extensive house searches from village to village, and some houses were searched half a dozen times. People were prosecuted and convicted for keeping so-called objectionable leaflets, even for keeping some pictures and even including Mr. Sen Gupta's address as the Chairman of the Reception Committee of the Calcutta Congress. Now, not only did the police commit excesses, but there came in the military also. Soldiers paraded from village to village, and so-called suspects—teachers, students, etc.—were compelled to march with them or to run for considerable distances. In many places, even old men had also to share the same fate. Sometimes boys were made to swim for hours together. (Voices: "Good! good!") In one case, a distinguished Head Master in the district of Noakhali was restrained by the District Magistrate from entering his school or associating with his students, with the result that the poor teacher lost his job. And, what was the reason for that? He was asked by Mr. Hant, the military intelligence officer of Noakhali, in his letter dated the 22nd October, 1934, to help a certain C. I. D. officer in his work which the Head Master did not like to do, and, therefore, the above strange order was passed upon the Head Master. Now this is what is going on there! This was in Noakhali, but I know all these remarks apply equally to all the districts.

[Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.]

Now, Sir, I am afraid I am tiring the patience of the House and should not like to continue. (Voices: "No, no, go on.") The position, therefore, at the present moment is this. There is peace on our side, but war mentality on the other. The Civil Disobedience Movement has been suspended, and, at the present moment, the situation can be described like this. There are no riots or other disorders; there is no murder, there is no campaign of a no-tax movement. Admittedly, there is no boycott of men, no social boycott, either of Government servants or of the supporters of the Government. There is no boycott of Courts, there is no picketing, there is no interference at all with the administration of law and order and the law Courts. There is no intimidation. Now, if that is the position, Sir, it is very difficult to understand why at all these provisions should be retained, much less they should remain permanent. Now, Sir, our position is this. If you want to kill the national consciousness, do it by all means, but we cannot be a party to it, and we won't be a party to it. (Hear, hear.) You can kill us, but we cannot commit suicide ourselves. Therefore, we cannot bless your Ordinance Bill, and we won't sign our own political death warrant. Sir, I oppose the Bill. (Loud and Prolonged Cheers.)

Mr. A. K. Fazlul Huq (Bakargunj cum Faridpur : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I had not the privilege of listening to the speech of the Honourable the Home Member when he introduced his Bill but I have had the opportunity of reading his speech, with the added advantage that I have been able to bring my considered judgment to bear, not merely on the provisions of the Bill, but also on the speech which the Honourable Member delivered in its support. Sir, having considered the position carefully, I regret to have to say that I am constrained to oppose this Bill. (Hear, hear.) Sir, before I proceed to make my observations I wish to say something by way of a personal explanation. It is not enough to say that I have had personally nothing to do either with terrorism, communalism or Communism. No one amongst ourselves, even most distantly related, has ever been either a terrorist, a Communist or a communalist; and although I am a very insignificant Member of this Assembly (Voices: "No, no"), it has been my luck to occupy more or less responsible positions in public service and in public life. (Hear, hear.) It is, therefore, no pleasure to me to be constrained to join my voice with that of the Opposition and, if necessary, to vote against the measure that has been introduced in this House. Sir, I have been obliged to take this step from a supreme sense of responsibility. I will not indulge in quoting any facts and figures but I will illustrate the remarks I am going to make by quoting certain instances within my own personal knowledge in order to convince the House that measures of this kind not only defeat their own object but are often misused and abused in the most extraordinary manner. (Hear, hear.) No one disputes the proposition that in all civilized societies legislation is not only necessary but even desirable in order to restrict the activities of individuals so as not to interfere with the rights and privileges of others or of the society as a whole. No one, for instance, in his senses can quarrel with the Penal Code or the Criminal Procedure Code or any of the codified law of the country which is meant not merely for the protection of the individuals but for the protection of the society as a whole. But when Government wants to introduce an extraordinary measure of a more or less repressive character, the burden lies heavily on the Member who seeks to introduce that measure, not merely to prove that that legislation is desirable but that it is also necessary. I will presently show that judged from that standard, the Honourable the Home Member has failed to discharge the burden that lay on him and, therefore, the Bill that has been introduced cannot, on any account, be supported.

Now, Sir, I contend, in the first place, that this Bill is wholly useless and unnecessary. It is said that there are terrorist activities and that they have got to be suppressed and put down. But, Sir, even if there are irresponsible writings in the press, it cannot for a moment be contended that these writings of themselves generate anything like terrorism or anarchism or that they incline peaceful people to take to terrorism or anarchism. The European community in India, for instance, are most devoutly attached to the Government. Naturally they should be so. But supposing some Anglo-Indian paper were to indulge in violent writings, inciting to terrorism and sedition, I do not think the Europeans would a single moment waver in their loyalty or be misled by any writing of that kind. The reason is obvious. In order that seditious writings or writings encouraging terrorism or anarchism can have any effect, the ground must already be prepared and it is only when the poison falls on congenial soil that evil results are expected to ensue. Now, I contend that at the present moment there is a good deal of disaffection in India. The reason is not that there have been writings in the press but I contend that it is persistent mal-administration that has driven the non-violent people into the folds of those who are disloyal. The voice of the people never finds anything like a hearing from the bureaucrats. They go on in their own way full of the belief that they know everything and that their wisdom knows no bounds, that whatever they do is right and they take steps which generally lead them to disastrous consequences. Now, Sir, I was saying that measures of this kind are generally abused. I will cite two instances, one relating to the Criminal Law Amendment Act and the other relating to the Press Act. Some time ago a certain Subdivisional Magistrate, whom I shall not mention by name at the present moment, trespassed into a mosque with shoes on. The Muslims vehemently protested and they appealed to the Collector and to the Commissioner but without any effect. I went over to that place personally and made certain inquiries and I was personally convinced that the allegations made against the Subdivisional Magistrate were correct. I wrote to the Commissioner and I telegraphed to him asking for an inquiry or at least for an interview and I am sorry to say that he had not even the ordinary courtesy to reply to my letter or telegram. On the contrary, he went away to Darjeeling and from there the Government wrote to one of my friends, not to me who was moving in the matter, that Government are in close touch with the situation. The accident happened somewhere about 500 miles away from Calcutta, the entire Government was then at Darjeeling and we were told that the Government were in close touch with the situation. However, we had to compose ourselves to this state of affairs. Suddenly, the Subdivisional Magistrate lodged a complaint against certain persons who had published an account of those occurrences in the columns of a Calcutta paper and asked the permission of the Government to prosecute them under section 6 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act. Now, these gentlemen had only published in the newspaper an account of what had happened, and the result was that section 6 was invoked in order to prosecute those persons, one of whom happens to be a member of the Bengal Legislative Council. We asked the District Magistrate to drop the proceedings and we pointed out to him the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Criminal Law Amendment Bill when it was introduced in 1932. He paid no heed to what we said and ultimately we moved the High Court. The matter is still sub judice and I cannot say anything further on that point. I am giving only one instance to show how the Criminal Law Amendment Act is sometimes used by the executive in this country.

[Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq.]

Then, Sir, as regards the Press Act. We all know that there is a certain official called the Press Censor, whose duty it is to keep a watchful eye over the writings in the press. That may be his ordinary function but he thinks that he has got the authority and the jurisdiction to interfere in other matters as well. At one time, not very long ago, there was a proposal of the Government of Bengal to abolish a certain Muslim hostel in Calcutta. We protested against that, because the cost to the Government was only Rs. 3,000 a year and the abolition of that hostel would have meant disaster to a large number of poor Muhammadan boys. We found that the Government would not listen to us and we arranged a public meeting to be held and we invited representatives of the press to be present there and to publish the proceedings. The House will be surprised to hear that the Press Censor immediately issued a mandate to all the newspapers not to publish the proceedings of our meeting and even forbade the representatives of the press to be present at our meeting. This is how the Press Censor carries on his duties in order to see that the Press Act is regularly acted upon and regularly obeyed. I submit that these repressive Acts may be well meant and it may be that the Honourable the Home Member, with the best of intentions, has introduced this measure in this House. But I submit that if the executive officers, with whom lies the actual working of the Act, act in this irresponsible manner, where is the guarantee that these Acts would not be abused and the purpose for which they have been passed would not ultimately be frustrated?

There is just one point to which I will refer before I finish. Since the year 1910, efforts have been made to pass various Acts in order to put down terrorism, anarchism and Communism. Has any attempt been made to find out the root cause of this anarchism, terrorism and Communism? I say no attempt has been made. A faint voice says, "yes"; but I say that no attempt has been made to find out the root cause. Sir, if there is headache, the only remedy that the Government can propose is to cut off the head in order to get rid of the headache. Is that the way to eradicate the disease?

Mr. F. E. James (Madras : European) : What attempts did you make to eradicate this evil of terrorism?

4 P.M.

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : I was not given a chance at all.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi (Dacca cum Mymensingh : Muhammadan Rural) : How many repressive laws did you support while you were a Minister in Bengal?

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : I do not think the pages of the proceedings of the Bengal Legislative Council can show a single instance where I supported any repressive measure. (Applause.)

Mr. Sri Prakasa : If you had done so, you would have been knighted.

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : Now, Sir, what I am submitting to the Honourable House is this; it is no use tinkering with the situation. I say India at the present moment is seething with discontent and that too for a very good reason. The reason is that the bureaucracy is carrying on the administration so as to impoverish the country. The Government are carrying on their work in a most irresponsible manner. They never care how they spend public money. The result is that the youths of this country become inclined to listen to writings in the press which may even distantly suggest terrorism and anarchism. The same thing would happen in any country. Supposing the Indians were to conquer England and supposing the Indians were ruling England. Supposing the Indians as the conquerors had introduced a mock parliament in England and had got hold of the treasury. Supposing the Indians were to send out all the money from England to India. Supposing in that mock Parliament, in some way or other, the Englishmen were allowed to put interpellations and supposing that every time when a question was put by an Englishman, some Indian Member on the Treasury Benches rose and answered : " Part (a). Yes. Part (b). No, Part (c). Does not arise and Part (d). It is not in the public interest to answer this." Supposing such answers were given by the Indian Members representing the Government in England, I would not be surprised if English youths in those conditions had had recourse to terrorism and anarchism. (Laughter.) Therefore, I submit that you should remove the root cause. You bring down the huge expenses of your administration. India is at the present time, as is well-known, the poorest country in the world and yet the Government are running an administration which is most expensive on the face of the globe. (A Voice : " Shame.") Yes, it is really a matter of shame and those who countenance this state of things are certainly to be ashamed of their conduct. I will take one instance. Here is my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, from Bengal, representing the Bengal Government. He has no reason to be here. Why is he here ? For one or two reasons,—either to record his vote or to make a speech. So far as recording of vote is concerned, even a clerk from the Secretariat can do it as efficiently.

[10TH SEP. 1930.]

[Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq.]

Mr. S. Satyamurti : A chaprassi will do.

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : A clerk might be sitting here, and, at the time of the division, he can go to the lobby and record his vote. His vote would be as valuable as that of Mr. Griffiths, because the clerk from the Secretariat would be as good a Member as Mr. Griffiths and we would have the satisfaction of being able to get a vote for the Government with much less expense than we can have the vote when the Government with in Mr. Griffiths here all the way from Bengal paying him his travelling expenses and a salary of Rs. 2,000 a month from the public treasury. I say with the utmost respect that any hireling would serve the purpose for which Mr. Griffiths has been brought here. As regards speeches, we do not want any from the official Members. I know that Mr. Griffiths made a very good speech, he is a very grand speaker, but all the facts stated by him are wrong. (Applause.) Those who support this Bill may think that what all Mr. Griffiths has said is correct. But I dispute his facts though I admire his speech. I dispute all the facts which he has put forward before the House. Why ? Because what does a District Magistrate ever know about the real heart of India ? How can poor District Magistrates know anything of India ? No Englishman knows Bengali. The Englishmen have got very high intellectual capacity, but they are very dull in learning languages.

An Honourable Member : Mr. Griffiths knows Bengali.

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : He knows as much Bengali as I know Japanese. He does not know it. Now, I have not come across a single Englishman except Rev. Carey of Barisal who can claim to know the vernacular of the country. Now, the difficulty is that when these District Magistrates go out into the country they suffer from a great handicap because they do not know the local vernacular. They cannot mix freely with the people and so, it cannot be expected that they would know what grievances the people have. These District Magistrates come into contact only with chaukidars and panchayatdars who generally mistranslate to them what the poor ryots have got to represent. Well, Sir, in this connection I am reminded of an old story. There was an old Rajah who was holding his court in the jungles, and the jackals began to howl. The Raja asked, what are all these howlings about ? The courtiers said, " Your Majesty, it is very cold and the jackals are feeling the cold. They are asking for blankets ". The Raja immediately asked, " How many blankets they want ". The courtiers said, " They want blankets which would cost about two lakhs ". The Raja immediately ordered two lakhs of rupees to be paid out of the treasury for the purchase of blankets. When the Raja was holding his court the next day, the jackals again began to howl, when he asked what was the howling about. The courtiers said, " Your Majesty, the jackals are thanking your Majesty for the blankets ". (Laughter.) So when the District Magistrates go to the villages, they listen to whatever the chaukidars or the panchayatdars have to represent about the grievances of the people and after listening to those stories, the District Magistrate thinks that he has done his duty. With this kind of knowledge, my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths or anybody else, may go and hear the grievances of the poor masses, but they do not know the real situation. The real situation is this, that unless and until this top-heavy and most expensive administration is reduced to reasonable limits, unless the voice of the people is heard and honoured, and unless and until the Government is really broadbased on the wishes of the people, there can never be any end to terrorism or Communism or anarchism. Terrorism, anarchism and Communism all naturally grow out of discontent. Go to the root cause and adopt the Unani and Ayurvedic systems of treatment. Feel the pulse of the nation, find out the root cause and prescribe the proper medicine, not quack medicines in the shape of repressive measures which will recoil like the boomerang on those who propose to adopt such remedies. Therefore, I suggest, that you should adopt such acts which will really broadbase the Government on the willing affections of the people as well as eradicate for ever all causes of sedition, disloyalty and discontent.

An Honourable Member : What about the salary of the Executive Councillors ?

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : I am not talking here of the salary of any one individual in particular. I am talking generally of the abnormally heavy expenditure in administration. In my own Province of Bengal the expenses on the administration have gone up from five crores to eleven crores. What is the justification for that ? In the Government of India also, the expenses have been jumping higher and higher every year. When I am saying these things, I am not doing so in any carping spirit of criticism. I am saying all these things as one of the best friends of the Government, as one of the best supporters of the Government. If I vote against this measure, it is because I honestly feel that I cannot support a measure of this kind which does not appeal to my conscience. I have carefully considered the provisions of the Bill, I have also considered the various facts and circumstances which have come to my knowledge in the past. I know from personal knowledge how these provisions are being abused by the executive authorities. It is for that reason I cannot find myself able to support this Bill. There is yet time, Sir. Let the Honourable the Home Member consider if the provisions which he wants to introduce in the shape of this special enactment cannot be included in the ordinary law of the land by amending the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Indian Penal Code. If that is done, I do not think there can be any objection. But we have certainly got objections to extraordinary measures, because extraordinary measures really prove to be extraordinary remedies. They do nothing to bring solace to the disease, they simply irritate, they simply excite the people. In order to prevent all that, it is necessary that such steps should be taken as will achieve the object in view and at the same time disarm all possible opposition. Sir, I have heard of terrorism, anarchism and Communism and communalism. Let me say as far as communalism is concerned, these particular measures are not at all necessary nor are they justified. Communalism will go when the leaders of the various communities feel that it is enough to stick to one's own faith, that it is wrong to abuse another man's faith and another man's religion. (Hear, hear.) A good Mussalman to be a good Mussalman must have toleration for the faith of others ; so a Hindu, so a Sikh and so a Christian. When we Indians, who are educated, who are born amongst the people and are above the people in knowledge and experience, teach our own people the lessons of toleration, then and then only will communalism disappear. But if some one else intervenes in these domestic quarrels of ours, it only embitters the situation. The third party that comes in is always leaning towards one side or the other. If the first party and the second party choose to quarrel, let them quarrel for some time and everything would be quiet in the end. But if the third party intervenes, they might intervene in such a manner as to raise a suspicion of partiality either towards this party or to that.

[Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq.]

Captain Sardar Sher Muhammad Khan (Nominated Non-Official) : What about your compromise in London with the Bengal Hindus ?

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : So far as Bengal is concerned, you can leave it to us to settle our affairs. Personally, so far as I am concerned, I have always had the most affectionate love from all my Hindu friends. I have nothing to fear personally, and I think tactfully we will be able to work in harmony with them, whatever may be the Communal Award or whatever may be the decision of Government.

Sir, I do not wish to take up the time of the House. The matter has been discussed for so many days and from many points of view. I am only asking the Honourable the Home Member to consider if even now he cannot think of amendments in the Act which may meet to a certain extent the wishes of the various groups in this House. If he is adamant I can only say that even those like us who do not wish ordinarily to embarrass Government will have no other alternative but to vote against the Bill. Government certainly will have the power to certify, but Government by certification is certainly not a thing to be desired ; and I, therefore, once more ask him to consider whether the additional powers which he wants to take cannot be introduced into the ordinary law of the land. Sir, I do not think I need take up the time of the House ; I feel that, as at present advised, I have no other alternative but to oppose this measure.

Moharaja Kumar Vijaya Ananda Gajapatiraj (United Provinces : Landholders) : Sir, I have carefully looked into the proposals of the present Bill. In this Hall, we meet together to square up differences, and one can fairly presume that intolerance to a differing opinion will weigh in favour of the Bill.

I need not take up much time by pointing out that the proposal to continue some of the provisions of the Act of 1932 is in a much modified form. The Government of India have recognised that safety and execution of duties of public servants need no longer any special law for their protection, that rumours are no longer to be feared, that discipline of boys and wards have become normal, and such other activities may safely be left to themselves. In the Statement of Objects and Reasons, three matters are intended to be continued by giving them a permanent form.

The first of these is picketing. I hope it will not be out of place to narrate a little incident of my own. When in 1930, the world-renowned cricketers, Hobbs and Sutcliffe, my guests, offered to play their first innings at Benares, more than ten thousand people were glad to witness the game. I do not know how the local Congressmen had a bee in their bonnet to organise picketing against the show, and picketing commenced. I assured the local Congress authorities that no political odour should be given to the affair, and picketing was stopped. Good sense prevailed.

I recall this incident to say that there is scope for mutual understanding. I would have been glad to see section 7 of the Act of 1932 also modified. But I, rather too cautious for my age, have weighed some considerations which I beg to place before this House. I say this in the same spirit as I took up when I wrote to the Benares Congress authorities.

This Act was passed on the 7th December, 1932. The Honourable the then Home Member's last remarks contain the following words : " If the menace which is typified in the Civil Disobedience Movement is once removed—and the passing of this Bill will contribute powerfully to remove it—then we can go forward with confidence into the new era." Opinions may be widely divergent as to the dawning of the new era, but that the Act of 1932 has powerfully contributed to remove the agitation cannot for a moment be disputed. It is one of the truisms of political philosophy that " we base our legislation on the expert interpretation of our environments. . . . . The solutions proposed make their way successfully only as they represent an interpretation of experience sufficiently akin to our own to be valid for us ". Now that the environment has changed, the Government have, by repealing some of the drastic provisions, interpreted that change. I humbly submit that successful as the Government have been, can we truly interpret the present situation by saying that the Government were wrong in their legislation in 1932 ? If one can, let him dare. I cannot. For the life of me, I cannot shut my eyes to the obvious facts. From that point of view, to me the question has narrowed down into one—how much power should still remain with the Government ? For my part, I can say that clause (b) of section 7 (1) can be modified in view of the altered environment.

The second question is that of unlawful associations. I can understand those who are outside this Legislature and have no faith in evolution or constitutional progress. But it is inconsistent why my colleagues who do not deny the existence of terrorism and yet do not propose any alternative measure to tackle with unlawful associations. I have heard with surprise a respected and experienced legislator expressing the other day in this House that the Government is not our Government. I recall with respect an observation of the late Mr. Gokhale, of course, when I was a baby in arms, that after all this Legislature was our Legislature. There is enough scope for differing opinions trying to gain power in this Legislature, and the Government is carrying on, on the law of this Legislature. If the Government be not our own, I do not for a moment appreciate the value of thousands of questions and scores of resolutions brought up. Similarly, if the Government be not our own, why object to the legislation for unlawful associations? Is it not simply because, the Government have, as Government, found terrorism having its root in unlawful associations? We as legislators have our duty in that behalf. If we object to the present law, it is up to us to suggest an alternative.

[Maharaja Kumar Vijaya Ananda Gajapatiraj.]

The third set of powers are against the press, which is after all, the voice of the people. I am the last person to support stifling reports of events or fair criticism. But in this matter also, the only available remedy is to suggest amendments to modify the existing law. In the absence of such suggestions, the men in power will continue in their course.

When talking about fair criticism, I should refer you to some of the recent papers of our country. The Bombay Sentinel of the 4th September has pitied the mentality of the Honourable the Home Member and compared his methods to that "of the Bourbons in France and Tsarist regime in Russia". The Searchlight of the 1st September has an editorial on the I. C. S. men in Judicial Service and in course of that article, observes: "The truth is that the whole system of judicial administration is defective from top to bottom and a thorough overhauling is needed to put things right". The Advance of the 5th September has, in supporting a recent judgment of Mr. Justice Lort-Williams, criticised this present Bill trenchantly and forcefully; but historically and philosophically. The Forward of the same date observes that: "His Excellency was ill-advised in disallowing the adjournment motion of the Honourable Mr. Akhil Chandra Dutta". The Daily News of Nagpur of the 4th September, in its editorial, had hard words against the Honourable the Finance Member such as "Sir James is just putting his statistics into his pocket and talking in air". "He is not a free agent and the City of London thinks for him".

I have compiled this selection to show that fair criticism is allowed and there is a way for both sides to make up. I do not see why there should be greater desire for press comment than this by the Opposition. That is my humble submission.

I regret I have to bring in another personal sentiment into this game of politics. Sir, it is regrettable that during the Civil Disobedience Movement, the premier Cricket Tournament which is called "the Quadrangulars" was abandoned for three years in Bombay. Had it not been abandoned, much of the bad humour of the hitters and bowlers on both sides of this House would not have been in evidence, and now I have joined in this debate, because I cannot reasonably play the role of a mere spectator. As the Honourable the Home Member is rather satisfied with the suspension of the Civil Disobedience Movement, I leave it aside. But the game played in this Movement was not cricket. One thing, I may allude to, viz., the no-tax campaign. There has been too much "body-line" stuff in this political field in our country, and if a new law is necessary to prevent the corruption of the game, everybody in this House should welcome it.

Another very important question has occurred to me. Of course, it has seemed important to me. Is it not a fact that this Government is handing over these powers to a new set of men who are coming into office—whoever they may be? Has not the Government sufficient justification for recognising that differences in "political, economic or religious views" lead to annoyance? Has not the Government reason to fear "constantly recurring outbursts of communal feeling"? Facts are there, and none can blink at them.

I may be called an alarmist. But I am still in the habit of taking my lesson from those who have experience and opportunity. Recently I came across an article in the latest issue of the Political Quarterly from the pen of Captain the Right Honourable Wedgewood Benn, whose sympathies for Indian aspirations are well-known. I take the liberty of culling a few observations from his article "Outlook on the Indian Reforms":

"It is true to say that little has been heard of the most important of all forces—popular Hindu opinion, and that little has been ignored..... 'Working the Constitution' may mean two things. It may mean merely a willingness to stand for election, but its real meaning is willingness to form or support Indian Ministry. That Indians will be found to accept portfolios, of course, goes without saying."

Referring to Congress candidates, he observes:

"If they can succeed in shaming Indian Ministers into relinquishing their responsibilities, they will be happy. The issue which they wish to keep before the public—that of Britain versus India—will be most clearly presented, of course, if they can force the Governors into the use of the autocratic powers which they now possess in an unprecedented degree..... It is to be hoped that the Indian Assemblies will be willing to assume the responsibilities for safeguarding what is a prime Indian interest, the preservation of peace and quiet in their streets and fields."

In my humble opinion, the problem before the Indian politicians is whether they will start from the status quo, and themselves bring about a happier environment, or continue in futile methods and endless agitation. I think the Congress Party can alter the law to a workable formula, and themselves be the administrators of the future, if wisdom prevails.

No one will be happier than myself if, by our conduct, no occasion is afforded to any one to use the powers of the proposed law, and this law remains a forgotten chapter.

With these few words, I wish to resume my seat and support the Honourable the Home Member.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions: Non-Muhammadan Rural): Sir, it is needless to say that I rise to oppose the motion for the consideration of the Bill. So far as the Government and some of the Honourable Members who have supported them are concerned, they may treat this Bill as a mere administrative device for the maintenance of order under coercion. Some of them may look upon it only in a light spirit of frolicsome frivolity. But so far as I and those of my way of thinking are concerned, it gives rise to momentous issues. It is nothing short of an outrage on the cherished acquisitions, the cherished possessions, and the cherished institutions of modern age and civilization. Take away the right of freedom of thought, take away the right of freedom of expression, take away the right of freedom of association : just ignore the achievements of science, its discoveries and inventions ; and what is left of modern civilization ? What is, above all, the greatest achievement of the modern age and how has it been attained ? Is it not only through the clash of ideas and through the impact of mind upon mind that humanity has been progressing and steadily advancing forward ? I oppose this measure, because, in its effect to maintain artificial calm, it is creating, at all events even if it succeeds, the peace of the desert as Lord Irwin once said, or a fettered and muzzled India as Lord Morley had said on a previous occasion. Sir, is it not a tragedy and an irony that in this year of Grace 1935 such a Bill should be placed before this House ? I am reminded, Sir, that it is just 100 years almost to a day that Sir Charles Metcalfe, known as the liberator of the press in India, issued orders withdrawing all restraints on the press. I would like just to read out a few sentences from the reply he gave to the deputation which waited on him in the year 1835 for the withdrawal of restraints on the press. This is what he said :

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

“ It rests with them ” (meaning the critics and opponents), “ to show that the communication of knowledge is a curse and not a benefit, and that the essence of good Government is to cover the land with darkness ; for otherwise it must be admitted to be one of the most imperative duties of a Government to confer the incalculable blessing of knowledge on the people, and by what means can this be done more effectively than by the unrestrained liberty of publication and by the stimulus which it gives to the powers of the mind.”

I would appeal to Honourable Members opposite to give a little thought to those words of wisdom. By what other means can you carry the torch of light in this country ? Sir, we deplore illiteracy, we deplore superstitions, we want to find out remedies for them, we want to carry on a propaganda that may turn even the man who lives in the most remote hamlet in the village into a literate man, we want even the humble dweller of the thatched hut to be an intelligent citizen. We want him to be capable of taking an active interest in the affairs of our country. How can it be done otherwise than by the extension of the activities of the press ?

Sir, before proceeding further, I should like to tell the House that whenever any restraints were imposed on the press, they retarded the growth and extension of printing presses as well as of newspapers and other periodical publications and even of books. As Honourable Members are aware, between the years 1910 and 1920, the press in India was subject to the octopus of the Press Act. In 1921, the Press Act was repealed, and, between 1921 and 1930, the press was free from fetters. The reaction was striking. Sir, between the years 1911 and 1920, when the press was under the Press Act, the rise in the number of presses was from 2,780 to 3,371 an increase of about 600 in 10 years,—or, on an average of 60 per year. When those fetters were withdrawn in 1921, what was the result ? Between the years 1921 and 1931, the number of presses went up from 3,371 to 6,520, which shows an increase of about 3,200. The number was almost doubled. The growth in the number of presses in two years was more than in the whole of the ten preceding years. Similar was the case with newspapers. The number of newspapers and publications was 2,924 in 1911 as against 3,093 in 1920. Thus, the total increase during this decade was only 169. But, thereafter, between 1920-21 and 1930-31, the number went up to 4,500, with the result that the increase during this decade came to 1,500 in place of 169. Thus, in one single year, after the withdrawal of the fetters, there was a larger addition to the number of newspapers and publications in this country than during the whole of the preceding ten years when the press was under the repressive Press Act. (Cheers from Congress Party Benches.) Let us now look at the number of books published. The number of books published in 1911-12 came to 11,584. And what was the number in 1919-20 ? It was in reality only 11,110. There was thus an actual reduction, a shrinkage to the extent of 500 in the number of books during the period the Press Act was in force. But what was the result when the Press Act was withdrawn ? Between 1919-20 and 1930-31 the number went up from 11,100 to 17,427,—an increase of more than 6,000. Sir, can you have any doubt in your mind in the face of these figures and statistics that restraints on the press are a grave menace and a great hindrance to the diffusion of knowledge and culture, and stand in the way of all the well-wishers of the country and of all those people who are interested in promoting truth, light and learning ?

Let us look back again on the history of the last few years. Sir, as I have just said, but for two short interludes, there were no restraints on the press between 1835 and 1910, when the Press Act was introduced which remained on the Statute-book up to the year 1921. Sir, I should like to remind Honourable Members of the Report that was issued by the Press Laws Committee. I will not repeat what they said. Important extracts from their report have been brought to the notice of the House by some of the speakers who have preceded me. What I want to tell Honourable Members is this : that in July, 1921, when the Press Laws Committee issued its Report, and shortly after when the Press Act was repealed, the commotion in the country was much more grave, much more alive and much more kicking than it is today. At that time, Sir, the Civil Disobedience Movement was almost at its zenith, there were no local laws, and there was no law at all in Bengal for the control of terrorism. Besides, all the political prisoners, whether convicted for violence or for non-violence offences, who had been released in pursuance of the proclamation issued in December, 1919, on the passage of the Montford Act were at large then. Sir, the state of terrorism at that time was much worse than what is said to be today. I think the Home Member, the Government of India and the Secretary of State, all claim jointly and severally that the state of the country, so far as terrorism is concerned, is better, and has considerably improved since. May I know what is the reason for proceeding with a Bill like this at this time of the day when there is undisturbed tranquillity, when, so far as terrorism is concerned, you admit and declare that the position is much better, and when, so far as Civil Disobedience is concerned, it is at least suspended and quiescent. I ask, in all humility, what is the justification for proceeding with a measure of this sort today when it was considered proper, appropriate and safe to repeal the Press Act of 1910 in 1921-22. So far as terrorism is concerned, there are provisions in the Bengal Act which are most stringent and rigid. There it is open to the magistrates to issue orders to the printers and editors not to publish anything they do not like, irrespective of its being lawful or unlawful, wholesome or unwholesome. The Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act contains provisions which do not leave any room for any free activity to any person or journalist in Bengal. Whether those laws are tolerable or not, I am not concerned with. What I am concerned with is only this, that, so far as terrorism is concerned, the remedies that you are providing in this Bill are altogether insignificant, negligible, useless and superfluous in the face of the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act, and there is no reason why, in the circumstances, you should plead terrorism as an excuse for putting this Bill permanently on the Statute-book. Then, Sir, may I know what, after all, has been the efficacy, the benefit, the advantage of the last three years' administration of the Criminal Law Amendment Act which is and was intended to expire in December next and will then die an unlamented death? I should like to know what has been the advantage, what has been the consequence, what has been the fruitful sequel to the passing of that measure and its administration for the last three years. It was admittedly an emergency measure. It was devised with a view to treating a passing phase, a temporary malady, and what has been its reaction, and what has been its effect? A malady that was then no more than local, transitory and incidental, has now become chronic, and a permanent, inseparable and unsavoury feature of the body politic. Is not that by itself sufficient for condemning that measure and for throwing it out? There is a proverb among us as to a disease coming on worsening with the treatment. Where the treatment has, after regular trial of three years, proved to be altogether inefficacious, and even harmful, and detrimental to the patient, is it in any way wise to persist in that wrong and erratic course? So, I submit, the Bill should be thrown out, because the parent of the Bill, the existing Act, out of which it has sprung, has proved a monster which may kill, but cannot possibly cure or heal. There is one more reason why I think there is absolutely no justification for this measure. Here I have before me the report of the speech that the late Home Member delivered, while introducing the Criminal Law Amendment Bill in 1932. I have also before me a copy of the Bill which was then introduced with its Statement of Objects and Reasons. It was repeatedly said by the Home Member then that the Government had introduced that Bill only because of the Civil Disobedience Movement. He said :

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

"The origin of the Bill is very plain. It can be said in two or three words, the civil disobedience movement. It is unnecessary to give a history of that movement."

Further, he went on to say :

"Those Ordinances expired after six months and as the period for their expiry approached, it became evident that we were in no position to discard the weapons with which the civil disobedience movement was being fought. Accordingly, at the end of June the Governor General issued a new consolidated Ordinance. This in its turn will expire at the end of the year. Now, Sir, the problem is, what action are the Government to take. The civil disobedience movement, though its manifestations have been much curtailed and though I think I can claim that its supporters have lost a good deal of the impetus with which the movement was started, is still in existence and no one can prophesy when it will come to an end. It certainly will not end so long as the leaders still feel that there is any prospect of gaining their objects. Now, Sir, what stands between them and success is mainly the power conferred by the Ordinance and therefore it is the view of Government that the best method of ensuring a speedy end of this movement is to make it clear that the powers with which the movement is being fought will be continued."

As I observed a minute ago, a similar explanation is given in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. Now, the Honourable the Home Member has admitted in his Statement of Objects and Reasons here that the Civil Disobedience Movement is at present in abeyance. He has also withdrawn certain clauses which formed part of the old measure. So far as he is concerned, this Bill has not been introduced in order to provide a ready weapon to meet the menace of Civil Disobedience if it is ever revived and resumed. That is admitted by the Honourable the Home Member himself in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. Sir, in these circumstances, I submit that there is absolutely no justification for this Bill and it is but the outcome of the morbid tendency of the executive which is ever avaricious to retain such arbitrary and autocratic powers as it manages to acquire in moments of crisis. That alone is the reason for this measure. It is easy for them to invent reasons for preserving their autocratic powers, even when those powers are not needed for combating any critical situation. I submit that the reasons that have been mentioned here are merely fictions born of a fertile imagination, as, in fact and in reality, these reasons did not affect the Criminal Law Amendment Bill of 1932. There was no reference to anything of this sort in the Statement appended to the Bill or the opening speech of the then Home Member.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No, no. That is not correct.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : I am definite. I challenge the Honourable the Home Member to show me the contrary. I have before me the Statement of Objects and Reasons, and I have before me the speeches. I know the Honourable Member will have a right of reply. I have absolutely no doubt that, so far as published literature on the subject goes, the Government had nothing in mind except the Civil Disobedience Movement when this measure was placed on the anvil in the year 1932. Obviously, the question is this, whether, in the present circumstances, it is proper and it is reasonable that a Bill of this sort should be placed before the House. I do not care if a slip here or a word there is pounced upon by the Honourable Members opposite who seem to be helpless and confused, but the exponents of official view then made it abundantly clear that they were not actuated by any other motive except that of meeting and combating the Civil Disobedience Movement when they introduced their Bill in 1932. But, Sir, that is not all that I have to submit. I should like to know what are the reasons then for this measure. Government want it to be permanently lodged in the Statute-book. I want Honourable Members to remember that it is not an emergency measure to tide over a crisis. It is, so far as the present Government is concerned, to form, if their object can be carried out, an integral part of the Statute-book of this country for all time to come. Among the fantastic reasons advanced in support of this measure, there is one which seems to surpass all others in its amazing nature. I have not heard anything more astounding, and had it not been a hard fact, I would be loath to accept, even as regards the Government of India, that they were capable of such stupid audacity. They say that it is to prepare the country for responsible Government that they want to impose fetters on the press. I have not heard anything more ridiculous, more ludicrous, more perverse and more untrue in any argument in my life. Sir, what does responsible Government mean? The press provides the lungs and arteries to the body politic. Responsible Government sways and swings in the enlivening breeze which only a free press can produce and generate. Take that live force away, and what is left except blank dullness, foolish obstinacy and a nauseating sense of complaisant self-sufficiency for those who are commissioned to carry on the administration of the country. Has anybody ever heard of responsible Government with dictatorial powers in the hands of the Government, and can there be absolute powers of a more comprehensive and far-reaching type than those provided in this Bill? Assume for a moment that you form a responsible ministry in a province and arm them with this Bill. I say, if they have a little grain of sense in them, they can perpetuate their existence. I have no desire to get into those offices. They may be beyond my reach or outside the scope of my will or ambition, but I have no doubt, that a politician cannot conceive of a better weapon, and a better instrument for the perpetuation of his hold and grip than the powers which this Bill provides. What is the scope of this Bill? Government can declare any association unlawful. It may be even the European Association and, if I am in power tomorrow, perhaps Mr. James will think twice before equipping me with this power. Or it may be the Indian Civil Service Association, and I may declare it unlawful, for there is no control, no restraint, and no appeal. There is no other authority to which you can appeal against my decision. What I say is absolute: what I do is final. I can suppress any press. I can call for security. I can forfeit the security of any press on the pretext of any one of the innumerable grounds mentioned in section 4. I do not care to read out that section at this stage. I may have to do it later, but one of the things provided there is incitement to disaffection, and disaffection was defined by one of the High Court judges, Sir John Strachey, as want of affection. If I am a Minister, and if any Member on the other side says anything that, instead of promoting affection on the part of other people towards me, tends even indirectly to drain their ardour for me, it will be within my competence to crush that press and to call for security from that paper. Well, Sir, could I desire for more if I wanted to be a Hitler or a Mussolini? I think you are doing the gravest injustice to the intelligence of this country and also the cause which you seem to espouse by placing this Bill on the table of this House. Then, Sir, I do not know how you will interpret and enforce these things. Charlie Chaplin was hauled up in the divorce Court by his wife on the ground that he had been guilty of hatred towards her. Plain Charlie protested in naive earnestness that his affection for his wife was unbounded and he had never been guilty of any lapses. But it was of no avail to him and the divorce was decreed. I do not know how publicists and public men will manage to protect themselves against such charges of disaffection against them, whether by the existing Government which has never made any secret of its animosity for them or by their successors that may follow hereafter.

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

There is yet another aspect which seemed to me to be still more strange. Example is better than precept. The Honourable the Home Member and his fraternity want us to trust the Ministers and the Governments of the future implicitly and to surrender to them the most valued rights and privileges in advance: but how have they themselves behaved? I do not know if Mr. Griffiths is here. The safeguards, even as they appear in the Government of India Act in their final form, do not satisfy some of the members of the Indian Civil Service, at least in Bengal, who held out a veritable threat which, when the Bill was in the last stage in the House of Commons, caused a little flutter at the time, even in the ranks of the bureaucracy in this country. Sir, may I put a question to the Honourable the Home Member as well as to others in his fold. So far as the Imperial Services are concerned, they cannot trust the Ministers. The Ministers should not even touch them. The Secretary of State alone will have exclusive control of the Imperial Services. Even the Governor General cannot be trusted, leave aside the Ministers. Even the Secretary of State cannot be trusted. Unless his advisers representing the Services support a change by a majority, even the Parliament will not sanction any amendment of service rules or conditions. Sir, even in the matter of postings, the Minister has got to go to the Governor and to appeal to him. He has to pray to him to get Mr. Griffiths appointed to Midnapore or some other place, and, so far as the medical services are concerned, no Indian can be appointed to certain reserved posts even by the Governor. Well, Sir, does that indicate the confidence of the bureaucracy in the Governments of the future? Is it just on their part to ask us to trust these Governments and to place the most valued rights which alone constitute life worth living at the sweet mercy and disposal of these discredited suspects? Is it sincere? Can hypocrisy go further? Can dishonesty go further? I ask the bureaucracy now and here—what justification have they to force us to surrender to the mysterious, to the obscure, to the unknown and the unknowable Ministers of the future the most valued heritage, the most cherished fundamental rights which form the very basis of civilised existence? How dare they impose these fetters on this country, while keeping themselves strictly and meticulously and completely out of the orbit and influences of these Ministers? (Loud Applause.)

Sir, I am reminded of a story I once read. There were two fine cousins, Eve and Mary. Eve was younger, but had two divorces to her credit. They had a common friend, John, with a hare-lip and squint eyes. John wanted to marry, and Eve very seriously, very earnestly, very persuasively suggested it to Mary that she should marry John. Mary gently said: "you have greater experience of married life, you have already had two husbands. John has queer looks. Why don't you marry him?" Well, for some time, Eve beat about the bush, but ultimately she gave out the truth. "My dear Mary, your parents were married only once. Your grand-parents were married only once. You are, by nature, by heredity, faithful. So far as I am concerned, my mother was the third wife to my father, and my father was the third husband to my mother. (Laughter.) So it won't be safe for me to marry such a husband. Besides, Mary, I know you want a husband, so that you may serve him, and I want a husband so that he may serve me. So, so far as you are concerned, John will be safe and you will be happy. But if I were to enter into this alliance, both of us will be unhappy. But I will be prepared to help you both, and I will make full use of either or both of you on every occasion for any purpose I like and choose." (Laughter.) That, Sir, is the state of affairs that obtains in this country. It is very well to suggest to us, to the innocent Marys in this country, to marry hare-lipped and squint-eyed Johns, so that the shrewd and the astute Eve may always be able to command the services of both to her heart's content. (Laughter.) Are we really such credulous, stupid fools? And, then, Sir, what is happening today? How are the high and mighty behaving? Do you know how the constituencies are being delimited? Do you know how the Delimitation Conferences and Committees are being formed? Do you know in how many diverse ways efforts are being made to manage and manipulate things, so that the Bureaucracy may ever continue to rule, and, while the mask and figure may be of an Indian, the power may always rest and vest in the hands of the European?

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Would the Honourable Member like to stop here and resume his speech tomorrow?

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant: All right, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The House stands adjourned till 11 o'clock tomorrow.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Wednesday, the 11th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Wednesday, 11th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

SUPPLEMENTARY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO MR. MOHAN LAL SAKSENA TO VISIT THE CELLULAR JAIL AT PORT BLAIR.

Mr. Sri Prakasa: Sir, I have got my supplementary questions to question No. 240 which you kindly allowed to be put today. May I put them now?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Yes.

Mr. Sri Prakasa: It is a long list, but I have supplied a copy of these questions to the Honourable the Home Member, so he should not have any difficulty in answering them.

Do the papers laid upon the table of the House contain all the documents pertaining to the correspondence between the Home Member or his Government and Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena and the Honourable Mr. Chetti?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: The papers which were laid upon the table contain the whole of the correspondence with Diwan Bahadur G. Narayanaswami Chetti. I only laid one letter of Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena on the table, because that was all I was asked for. To the best of my recollection, the whole of the correspondence was published in the press.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad: I rise on a point of order, Sir. Other Honourable Members are handicapped, because we do not know the contents of the correspondence that was laid on the table, and, therefore, we cannot follow the supplementary questions.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): These supplementary questions are with reference to a question that was answered yesterday.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad: These supplementary questions are with reference to certain papers which were laid on the table and those papers are in possession of one Honourable Member.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Chair takes it that the papers which are laid on the table of the House are open to all Honourable Members.

762

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[11TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. Sri Prakasa : I should like to know from the Home Member whether he would prefer me to put one question at a time or shall I put all the questions at one time ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : It would be convenient if the Honourable Member puts one question at a time.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Did the Honourable Mr. Chetti have an interview with Mr. J. S. Smyth, the Chief Commissioner of the Andamans, at the Home Member's residence as desired in the letter of the Government of India (Home Department), No. 1316/33-Jails, dated the 30th October, 1933 ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : As I was not Home Member or in possession of the Home Member's residence at the time, I cannot say.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Did the Honourable Mr. Chetti disclose to Mr. Smyth the reason of his desire to visit the Andamans, and was Mr. Smyth satisfied that Mr. Chetti would go with an open mind, and was the right sort of person to be permitted to visit Port Blair ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not know whether the interview took place. But if it did take place, I do not know what happened.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Did the Honourable Mr. Chetti avail himself of the permission given to him to visit the Andamans in the Government of India (Home Department) letter No. D-1451/33-Jails, dated the 20th November, 1933, and the advice offered to him regarding the exact steamer by which he should travel ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He had to postpone his visit which he had intended to make sometime in November 1933 till later for private reasons.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : When did Mr. Chetti actually visit the Andamans ? Did he ask for permission again before going there ? If so, will Government inform the House of the exact nature of the communication and the date thereof ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He visited the Andamans in April, 1935. I received no communication from him before he went there.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Did Government themselves inform Mr. Chetti of the earlier permission accorded to him to visit the Andamans after receiving Mr. Saksena's requisition ? Was the advice repeated that he may visit the Andamans and was the steamer by which he might travel also prescribed ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Not as far as I am aware.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Was the permission of 1933 of a nature that was good for all time ? Did Mr. Chetti inform the Government that he was going to the Andamans before he actually went ? Did he keep in touch with Government and their officers in the Andamans during his visit ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have no information on that point.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Was some official always present with Mr. Chetti when he was carrying on his investigations, and had he any opportunities of independent inquiry ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That, again, I have no information about.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Did Mr. Chetti send a report on the results of his visit of his own initiative or was he requested by Government formally or by any official orally to send his report ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He sent it on his own initiative.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : What words of Mr. Saksena in his letter made Government fear that he was not likely to make impartial inquiries ? What words of his gave Government the idea that he accepted as true the complaints that had reached him ? Does not the very fact that he wanted to make sure of the conditions at Port Blair by a personal visit prove that he did not accept the complaints as necessarily true ? Did he not say that he only wanted to see things for himself and bring them to the notice of Government ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member must wait for the answer.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (After a pause.) I am sorry, but I thought your ruling was that the question contained arguments.

In regard to that question, I have nothing to add to what I wrote in my letter which I laid on the table yesterday.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Did the Honourable Member object to Mr. Saksena on the ground that he went there as a self-appointed visitor ? What was the position of Mr. Chetti when he submitted his report ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The same position as before.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : What opportunities have persons confined in the Andamans to make complaints to authority ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think that arises, but, as a matter of fact, they have opportunities as the Deputy Commissioner is bound to visit the jail from time to time and receive complaints.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Are prisoners assured of protection from all harm if they make such complaints ? Are any complaints suppressed by jail authorities ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think so.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : You do not think that any protection is afforded to them ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes, protection is afforded to them ; but if the complaints are completely false, they are punished.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : When the Deputy Commissioner visits the jail, is he not accompanied by jail officials and is it possible for a prisoner to complain frankly when the jail official is present ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : My experience is that prisoners are not deterred by the presence of jail officials and they make complaints freely.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : As one who has been a prisoner, my experience is quite different. Have any complaints reached Government about the conditions in the Andamans during the years 1933, 1934 and 1935 ? If so, how many and did Government investigate into them ?

L200LAD

48

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Sir, does that arise in any way out of any answer that I have given ?

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : At whose expense did Mr. Chetti travel to Andamans ?

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : May I ask, Sir, if there is any time-limit fixed for permission to go to the Andamans ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not know if that question has ever arisen before. It depends upon the circumstances of each case.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Is it a fact that Diwan Bahadur Narayanaswami Chetti sent two letters and two reports to the Government of his visit regarding the inspection of Port Blair ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He wrote more than one letter as far as I remember, but he sent only one report.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : A communiqué was issued by the Home Department giving both letters and that appeared in the Press also ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He sent only one report, but we have had more than one letter.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

HINDU, BUDDHIST AND MUHAMMADAN MONUMENTS IN THE SOUTHERN CIRCLE, MADRAS.

257. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to place on the table a list of Hindu, Buddhist and Muhammadan monuments in the Southern Circle, Madras ?

(b) Will Government state how many of these monuments have been vested under the supervision of Government according to the Preservation of Monuments Act ?

(c) How many of such monuments are Hindu, Buddhist and Muhammadan ?

(d) What are the monuments that have not yet been taken by the Department of Archæology for conservation and protection under the said Act ?

(e) What action has been taken till now, or is proposed to be taken hereafter, by the Superintendent of Archæology, Southern Circle, Madras, in the above matter ?

(f) Is it a fact that the most important Pallava Monuments in the Seven Pagodas and Conjeevaram are going to decay, and if so, what action has been taken by the Superintendent of Archæology, Southern Circle, Madras, in the matter of their preservation ? If no action has been taken till now, why not ?

(g) Do Government now propose to take the necessary action ?

(h) Is it a fact that the inscriptions on the Pallava Monuments in the Seven Pagodas and Conjeevaram are becoming obliterated ?

(i) Has the attention of Government been called to that point ?

(j) Does the Superintendent, Archæology, Southern Circle, propose to take measures to preserve them from decay ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) It is not possible to comply with the Honourable Member's request as Government only have a list of the monuments that they have protected.

(b) and (c). 347, of which 226 are Hindu, 19 Buddhist and 15 Muhammadan.

(d) A list of the monuments which Government think might be but have not been taken over is laid on the table.

(e) Until the financial position improves, the Department cannot assume responsibility for additional monuments.

(f) and (g). Such decay as is due to natural causes beyond human control cannot be checked. Ordinary repairs to these monuments are undertaken by the Department through the Public Works Department. The question of making certain special improvements to the Seven Pagodas is engaging attention.

(h), (i) and (j). Most of these inscriptions are protected and Government are not aware that any damage has been done to these inscriptions apart from what is due to such exposure as cannot be prevented.

List of Ancient Monuments selected for Conservation in the Madras Presidency, not yet declared protected

| No. | District.    | Locality.       | Name of Monuments.                                                  |
|-----|--------------|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1   | Guntur .. .. | Santaravuru ..  | Ramalinga and Chennakesava temple.                                  |
| 2   | Do. .. ..    | Chinnaganjam .. | Chidambara temple.                                                  |
| 3   | Do. .. ..    | Do. .. ..       | Buddhist remains in a mound.                                        |
| 4   | Do. .. ..    | Peddaganjam ..  | Bogandani Dibba with Buddhist remains.                              |
| 5   | Do. .. ..    | Malkapuram ..   | Nandi slab with inscriptions in front of Visvesvara temple.         |
| 6   | Do. .. ..    | Chejerla .. ..  | Kapotesvara temple with a chaitya as shrine and sculptures.         |
| 7   | Do. .. ..    | Kondavidu .. .. | The hill fort and buildings therein.                                |
| 8   | Do. .. ..    | Do. .. ..       | Gopinatha temple and inscribed pillar at the foot of the hill fort. |
| 9   | Do. .. ..    | Kanuparti .. .. | Hindu sculptures in white and black stones.                         |
| 10  | Do. .. ..    | Do. .. ..       | Isvara temple.                                                      |
| 11  | Do. .. ..    | Amaravati .. .. | Amarasvara temple.                                                  |

| No. | District.       | Locality.             | Name of Monuments.                                                                                                              |
|-----|-----------------|-----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 12  | Guntur .. ..    | Garikapadu ..         | Buddhist remains in a mound.                                                                                                    |
| 13  | Anantapur ..    | Uravakonda ..         | Mallikarjuna temple.                                                                                                            |
| 14  | Chingleput ..   | Conjeevaram ..        | Kamatchi Amman temple.                                                                                                          |
| 15  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Varadaraja Perumal temple.                                                                                                      |
| 16  | Madura .. ..    | Kilakudi .. ..        | Jain statues and rock inscriptions on Sattipoduvu caves on the Usmanamalai Hill.                                                |
| 17  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Similar statues and inscriptions on the top of the same hill at Pechipallam above Aiyar temple.                                 |
| 18  | Do. .. ..       | Madura .. ..          | Meenatchi Amman temple.                                                                                                         |
| 19  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Teppakulam.                                                                                                                     |
| 20  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Gudal Alagar Perumal temple.                                                                                                    |
| 21  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Nanmaithruvar koil, western gateway containing works of art both in and outside including the carving of a tank on the ceiling. |
| 22  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Annakuli mandapam containing big statues buried under the ground.                                                               |
| 23  | Madras .. ..    | Yanamalai ..          | Jain cave with inscriptions and other remains.                                                                                  |
| 24  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Narasimha temple with inscriptions.                                                                                             |
| 25  | Do. .. ..       | Alagarkoil ..         | Fort enclosing the temple.                                                                                                      |
| 26  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Remains of Tiramal Naick's Palace.                                                                                              |
| 27  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Temple with Hanuma-tirtham tank.                                                                                                |
| 28  | Do. .. ..       | Palni .. ..           | Temple on the Idumbarmalai.                                                                                                     |
| 29  | Do. .. ..       | Kongarapuli-yangulam. | Panchapandava beds and Brahmi inscriptions in the cavern on the hill.                                                           |
| 30  | Do. .. ..       | Kuppalanattam ..      | Jain sculptures on the hillock.                                                                                                 |
| 31  | Do. .. ..       | Vikramangalam ..      | Temple at Koilpatti.                                                                                                            |
| 32  | Trichinopoly .. | Samayapuram ..        | Sojesvara temple.                                                                                                               |
| 33  | North Arcot ..  | Devikapuram ..        | Brinadambal temple.                                                                                                             |
| 34  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Kanakagirisvara temple.                                                                                                         |
| 35  | Do. .. ..       | Brahmadesan ..        | Chandramouleavara temple.                                                                                                       |
| 36  | Do. .. ..       | Do. .. ..             | Rudrakotesvara temple.                                                                                                          |

| No. | District.      | Locality.      | Name of Monuments.                                      |
|-----|----------------|----------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| 37  | North Arcot .. | Ukkal .. ..    | Vishnu temple.                                          |
| 38  | Do. .. ..      | Padavedu ..    | Hanuman temple.                                         |
| 39  | Do. .. ..      | Nelvoy .. ..   | Rama temple.                                            |
| 40  | Do. .. ..      | Sholavaram ..  | Siva temple.                                            |
| 41  | Do. .. ..      | Pudupadi ..    | Bharadwajesvara temple.                                 |
| 42  | Do. .. ..      | Sholinghur ..  | Padampuram temple.                                      |
| 43  | Do. .. ..      | Tirakkol .. .. | Boulder stone containing inscriptions and Jaina images. |

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware that Amaravati and Bhattiprolle monuments which are supposed to be protected under this Act are really in a very bad condition because of official neglect ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not admit the suggestion that there has been official neglect. I have really no information regarding these two monuments, but I shall make enquiries.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government bringing any more monuments within the purview of the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already answered that question. I have said that until the financial position improves, Government do not propose to assume responsibility for any additional monuments.

DISCOVERY OF PAINTINGS AT CERTAIN TEMPLES AT CONJEEVARAM AND TANJORE.

258. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Are Government aware of the fact that some old and interesting paintings have been discovered in the Kailasanathar Temple at Conjeevaram, the Brihadiswara Temple at Tanjore and the Jain temple at Tirupparuttikundram near Conjeevaram ?

(b) Is the Superintendent of Archaeology, Southern Circle, making any attempts to preserve them from decay ? If not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) Of the three temples mentioned by the Honourable Member only the Kailasanathar Temple is a protected monument. But as it is privately owned and in religious use, the scope of any measures for the preservation of the paintings thereon is necessarily limited. Negotiations for making the other two temples protected monuments are in progress.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Has any negotiation been carried on with the trustees of Kailasanathar Temple so as to give greater scope for preservation of the inscriptions ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I understand that the Superintendent of the Circle concerned is in negotiation with the Trustees ?

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the amount spent per year on the preservation of all the monuments in the Madras Presidency ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I want notice of the question.

DISCOVERY OF BUDDHIST IMAGES AT NEGAPATAM.

259. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Are Government aware of the fact that a fresh find of a large number of Buddhist images was recently discovered at Negapatam ?

(b) Does the Superintendent of Archæology propose to explore the site fully ? If not, why not ?

(c) Do Government propose to acquire the site and carry on excavations ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). No, as further digging of the site after the finds referred to did not reveal anything of archæological interest.

RESULTS OF EXCAVATIONS AT NAGARJUNAKONDA IN THE GUNTUR DISTRICT.

260. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the action taken by the Superintendent of Archæology, Southern Circle, Madras, in placing before the public the results of the excavations that were carried on at Nagarjunakonda in the Guntur District ? If no action has been taken, what are the reasons for not doing so ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a list of the various publications of the present Superintendent of Archæology, Southern Circle, Madras, on Hindu, Buddhist and Muslim archæology and architecture ?

(c) Do Government consider such publications as an essential qualification and integral part of the official routine of the various officers in the Department of Archæology ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) A preliminary account of the excavations at Nagarjunakonda was published by the Director General of Archaeology in India in the principal Indian newspapers in 1930. The question of entrusting the preparation of a full report of the excavations to Mr. A. H. Longhurst, formerly Superintendent, Archæological Survey, Southern Circle, who himself conducted the excavation and the distinguished archæologist, Dr. J. Ph. Vogel of Leiden has been under the consideration of the Director General of Archæology in India for some time past.

(b) No separate publications have been issued by the present Superintendent but he has regularly contributed to the Annual Reports of the Archæological Department.

(c) Every officer of the Department is expected to be able to write about the subject in which he is a specialist.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it a fact that some of the finds are proposed to be sent to the Madras Museum and the London Museum ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am not aware of any proposal for sending any of the finds to the London Museum, but, so far as the allocation to the Madras Museum is concerned, I shall supply my Honourable friend with a copy of Government orders on the subject which indicate the principles on which such allocation takes place.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to the answer to part (a), for how long has this been under the consideration of the Government and when it will materialise ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The finds, or rather the process of finding, was completed in 1931, and, inasmuch as it has not been possible to arrange for the bringing out of a book because the terms have not yet been settled with Dr. Vogel, I cannot say how long it will take.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that these finds are of special interest to the Andhras in the Andhra country, will Government consider the advisability of keeping as many of these finds as possible in the Bezvada museum and the rest of them preserved at Nagarjunakonda alone ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already explained to my Honourable friend that there are regular orders indicating the principles on which distribution takes place. I cannot give my Honourable friend an undertaking about keeping these finds in the Bezvada Museum, but I will have the suggestion considered.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are proper steps being taken for the preservation of these finds at Nagarjunakonda ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Of course.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Are these annual reports referred to in answer to part (b) available in the Library ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : No separate publications have been issued by the present Superintendent, but he has regularly contributed to the annual reports of the Archæological Department.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Are these annual reports available in the Library of the House ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I should think so.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to the answer to part (c) that you expect every officer of the Department to write about the subject in which he is a specialist, may I ask whether the officers have been doing so, so far ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already answered that in reply to part (b) that the Superintendent of Archæology has been regularly contributing to the annual reports.

TECHNICAL QUALIFICATIONS OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF ARCHÆOLOGY, SOUTHERN CIRCLE, MADRAS.

261. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) With reference to answer to part (c) of question No. 1537, answered on Friday, the 5th

April, 1935, will Government be pleased to state whether Indians qualified both in archæology and architecture are available for the post of the Superintendent of Archæology, Southern Circle, Madras ?

(b) If so, are Government prepared to appoint such a person to the Southern Circle and utilize the services of the present Superintendent in a place where an architect alone will be useful ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). Government do not accept the suggestion that the officer referred to by the Honourable Member has only architectural qualifications. They regret that no officer better suited for the charge of the Southern Circle is available for posting to this circle at present.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Will the Honourable Member refresh his memory by referring to the answer which he gave to question No. 1537 referred to in this part ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I took particular care to refresh my memory not once, but a dozen times before giving my answer to the present question. I do not think that anything that I said in the previous question is inconsistent with the reply that I have given to the present question.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Will the Honourable Member state.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question. The Chair does not think the House is very much interested in that.

CONFIRMATION OF A FOREIGN EXPERT IN THE ARCHÆOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

262. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the last paragraph of the Simla Correspondent's letter of the 14th June, to the Hindu, regarding the confirmation of a foreign expert in the Archæological Department ?

(b) Is it a fact that Government are contemplating the appointment of a non-British foreign scholar, now on special duty, to the post of Superintendent of Archæology, which was recently advertised for ?

(c) Are qualified Indians not available for the place ? If Indians are available, do Government propose to consider their claims before making the appointment ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The recommendations of the Public Service Commission for filling the vacant post of an Assistant Superintendent in the Archæological Survey of India are under consideration.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Is it not a fact that a knowledge of Indian languages and Indian conditions is a pre-requisite for the appointment of anybody to this post ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That fact was actually advertised.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Did the Public Service Commission select this particular foreign scholar referred to in this clause ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have not suggested anything to that effect in my reply.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : In making this appointment, will Government take into consideration the extra cost involved in appointing a foreign scholar by means of overseas allowance, etc. ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : My Honourable friend is not quite correct in assuming that merely, because the person appointed is a foreign scholar, he is automatically entitled to overseas allowance. The answer I have given is that the question is under consideration.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : How many persons appeared before the Public Service Commission ? How many Indians and how many Europeans ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Twelve people appeared before the Public Service Commission of whom one was a European.

USE OF THE ARMY LANDING GROUNDS AT AGRA AND AHMEDABAD BY HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF KASHMIR AND PRINCE MIDWANI.

263. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Is it a fact that landing grounds belonging to the Army are not open to civil machines in normal times ? If so, why ?

(b) Is it a fact that despite this general restriction, His Highness the Maharaja of Kashmir and Prince Midwani were allowed to use Army landing grounds at Agra and Ahmedabad ? For what reasons were these exceptions made ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes, because they are required for Army purposes, but exceptions are allowed in special cases.

(b) In February, 1935, permission was accorded by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, as a special case, to the use of the military landing ground at Ahmedabad by His Highness the Maharaja of Kashmir on his journey to and from Bombay. Prince Midwani was refused permission to use the military landing ground at Agra.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : How many such landing grounds are owned by the Army ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I could not say off-hand.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : A rough idea.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I could not give even a rough idea, without being inaccurate.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I know if these landing grounds are ever likely to be thrown open to civil aviation ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The whole question is at present under consideration.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : How far have you proceeded in your consideration ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : At present we are discussing the conditions under which particular military areas may be used for civil aviation.

AEROPLANE FORMERLY IN THE USE OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY.

264. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) On what terms has the aeroplane, formerly in the Viceroy's use, been given to the Indian National Airways ?

(b) Do the Indian National Airways get Rs. 9,000 annually for keeping it in good trim ?

(c) If so, was this plane available for the evacuation of refugees from Quetta, immediately after the earthquake and was it so used ? If not, why not ?

(d) Was this machine requisitioned for the purpose mentioned above, and did it return to the Delhi Aerodrome after reaching some place in the Punjab, because it was not found airworthy ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) and (b). A copy of the heads of the agreement is laid on the table. I would refer the Honourable Member to head (5).

(c) and (d). The machine was available for the evacuation of refugees from Quetta. It was requisitioned for the purpose and started on the flight to Multan on the morning of the 9th June. The pilot was obliged to return to Delhi owing to strong head winds and on inspection it was found that one engine was defective. On the following day the particular emergency (the evacuation of certain infectious cases from Quetta) for which the machine had been requisitioned had passed, and the machine was not requisitioned again.

Heads of agreement between the Government of India and Indian National Airways for operation of Aircraft VT-ACT.

(1) Indian National Airways, Limited, will take delivery of the machine together with all log books and relevant certificates at the Royal Air Force Aircraft Park, Lahore, on or about the 6th October and will give to the Officer Commanding the Aircraft Park a signed receipt for the aeroplane and all items of equipment taken over.

(2) Such airframe spares for the Avro X as may now be held by the Royal Air Force will be handed over to the charge of Indian National Airways, Limited, for use on VT-ACT only. Any balance of spares unused and not recorded as used in the aircraft and engine log books will be returned with the aeroplane on the termination of this agreement.

(3) Indian National Airways, Limited, will throughout the year always maintain a flying and maintenance crew in Delhi of such numbers and qualifications as may be approved by the Director of Civil Aviation.

(4) Indian National Airways, Limited, will provide one Armstrong Siddeley Lynx IVC engine as a spare for VT-ACT, together with the requisite stock of engine spares, and such airframe spares as may be necessary in addition to those handed over by Government. This spare engine and such spare parts as have not been fitted into the aircraft or engines will remain the property of Indian National Airways, Limited.

(5) The Government of India undertake to pay Indian National Airways, Limited, Rs. 1,800 per month in advance for the first 6 months of the year as a contribution towards the cost of the maintenance of the necessary staff to be kept as required in paragraph 3 above. Although during the second six months Government will not be paying contribution the obligation of the Company to maintain the staff will remain.

(6) The Avro X will be made available for Government use complete with crew whenever required, provided that not less than 7 days' notice is given to Indian

National Airways, Limited, that the aeroplane is required. When being so used, no payment will be made to Indian National Airways, Limited, other than the detention charge provided in paragraph 8 up to a total of 15 hours in any one calendar month or up to a total of 90 hours flying in any one year, but Government will bear the expenditure actually incurred in the course of the flight, including petrol and oil, landing and housing fees and the outstation allowances of the crew. In respect of any flying on Government service over and above 15 hours in any one calendar month or over and above 90 hours in any one year, Indian National Airways, Limited, will be paid at the rate of Rs. 120 an hour in addition to the detention charge and actual expenses as referred to above.

(7) If the Avro X is required for the conveyance of His Excellency the Viceroy or Her Excellency the Countess of Willingdon, Indian National Airways, Limited, will provide a second pilot, a wireless operator and such other crew as may be approved by the Director of Civil Aviation. The actual expenses incurred in bringing such additional crew to Delhi will be repaid to Indian National Airways, Limited.

(8) When the aeroplane is used on Government service including that of Their Excellencies away from Delhi, Indian National Airways, Limited, will be paid a detention allowance for the crew of Rs. 50 for each 24 hours they are absent from Delhi, subject to a deduction of Rs. 50 for each four hours of flight on any particular tour.

(9) Indian National Airways, Limited, will be permitted to use the aeroplane on their own business, subject to the requirements of Government as set out above. If in the course of this commercial flying, it is intended that the aeroplane shall be absent from Delhi for a period longer than 48 hours, prior intimation will be given by the Company to the Director of Civil Aviation to ensure that any projected use of the machine for Government service is not interfered with.

(10) No charge will be made by Government to Indian National Airways for use of the aeroplane on their own business up to a maximum of 60 flying hours a month, which free allowance shall be cumulative up to three months. In respect of any flying on the Company's business in excess of this total the Company will pay Government at the rate of Rs. 30 per flying hour.

(11) While being flown on the Company's business, Indian National Airways, Limited, will insure the Avro X against all risks when not in Government service including flying risk, third party risk and risk of damage on the ground for the value of ₹3,000, and they will indemnify the Government of India against all claims arising out of such use of the aeroplane. Indian National Airways, Limited, are not required to insure the Avro X against risks incurred while she is being flown or is away from Delhi on Government service, nor against risks incurred while the aeroplane is housed in Government hangar at Delhi.

(12) No charge will be made by Government for housing the aeroplane in the Government hangar at Delhi nor for landing and housing charges incurred while the Avro X is being used on Government service. Indian National Airways, Limited, will be required to pay the normal landing charges while the aeroplane is flying on the Company's business and the normal charges for housing in hangars including Government hangars other than at Delhi, while the aeroplane is being used on the Company's business.

(13) This agreement will have effect in the first instance for a period of 12 months.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I understood the Honourable Member to say that one of the engines was found to be out of order. Does it mean that the machine was available for evacuation on that day ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : That was discovered after the pilot had gone some distance against strong head winds. He then realised that his machine was not up to full strength, and very wisely returned and had a further examination carried out. On the ordinary morning tests the machine had run up to normal revolutions and appeared to be all right when it left the aerodrome.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : With reference to the agreement that has been laid on the table, may I know if any tenders were invited from other companies before the agreement was entered into, for the maintenance of this aeroplane ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : So far as I am aware, no.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Why not ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : It is not the sort of matter for which tenders are ordinarily called, and I doubt very seriously if anybody else would have tendered.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Are there any other companies in existence or are there not ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Not operating in Delhi, so far as I know.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : What about the Himalayan Transport Company ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The Himalayan Transport Company was not at that time operating in Delhi.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Sir, may I ask another supplementary question ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : At this rate we will never finish these questions of which already there are more than one thousand, and it will be unfair to other Honourable Members who have put down questions if they do not get a chance at all.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I will ask only one more question, Sir. Are Government contemplating another agreement with the National Airways for maintaining both the old and the new aeroplanes of the Viceroy ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Yes, Sir.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Have they invited any tenders now ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : No, Sir.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Why not ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I have the answer to my last question, Sir ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair thinks sufficient has been answered already.

CENSUS OF THE UNEMPLOYED PERSONS IN BRITISH INDIA.

265. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the actual number of the unemployed among (i) educated middle classes, (ii) agricultural labourers, (iii) other labourers ?

(b) Are Government prepared to consider the desirability of ordering an accurate census of the unemployed in British India ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) and (b). I propose, with your permission, Sir, to answer both parts together. As the second part of the Honourable Member's question indicates, no statistics of the kind mentioned in the first part are available. The question of collecting statistics is primarily one for Local Governments but, as has been explained on more than one occasion in this House, the Government of India do not believe that figures of any value could be collected in the absence of a system of financial benefits for the unemployed. An attempt was made at the 1931 census to collect figures of unemployed graduates but even this limited attempt to collect figures relating to educated person gave no satisfactory results.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government studied the report of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru's Committee on middle class unemployment in the United Provinces ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I understand Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru's report has not yet been published.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government consider the advisability of making a preliminary inquiry at least into the unemployment that is prevailing in Centrally administered areas ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I do not see that an inquiry limited to such a narrow area will be of any great value.

Mr. M. S. Aney : Will the Honourable Member explain what he means by saying that a limited inquiry will not give any satisfactory results ? Was he unable to collect the figures ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : If the Honourable Member will read the Census Report for 1931, he will find there all the information that he requires.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask if Government propose to provide financial benefits for the unemployed ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : There is at present no such scheme in contemplation.

PROHIBITION OF RELIEF PARTIES IN QUETTA AND BALUCHISTAN AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE.

266. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to state why relief parties were not allowed in Quetta and Baluchistan soon after the earthquake which recently took place on that side ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state what prevented them from recruiting men of the labour class from Sukkur, Shikarpur, Multan, Lyallpur, etc., forthwith, for saving the lives of thousands of people ?

(c) Was it not suggested at the very outset to begin digging work at Quetta for the benefit of the sufferers ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) to (c). I think the Honourable Member will find answers to all parts of this question in the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", copies of which have been sent to all Members of the House.

DISTRIBUTION OF PROPERTIES TO THEIR OWNERS IN QUETTA.

267. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) In connection with the recent Quetta earthquake, will Government be pleased to state in what way they propose to hand over properties to the individuals of Quetta.

who have lodged their statements of losses with the District Collectors and Commissioners for securing their properties ?

(b) Do Government propose to form a Committee of officials and non-officials, without delay, with the co-operation of certain Quetta residents to undertake the task of handing over the said properties to the owners ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The Honourable Member is referred to Chapter VI of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", a copy of which has been sent to him.

(b) In view of the arrangements already made the answer is in the negative.

EARTHQUAKE RELIEF MEASURES IN BALUCHISTAN.

268. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Will Government lay on the table a statement showing the relief measures extended by Government in the earthquake smitten villages of Baluchistan up till now ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I would refer the Honourable Member to Chapters V and VI of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", a copy of which has been supplied to him.

GRIEVANCES OF THE PILGRIMS TO THE HEDJAZ.

269. *Sir Muhammad Yakub : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to a printed report by Khan Bahadur Alhaj Muhammad Habibullah Khan, a retired Deputy Collector of the United Provinces and a prominent member of the Court of the Aligarh Muslim University, and others, dated the 16th April, 1935, addressed to the Chairman, Port Haj Committee, Bombay, with reference to "some grievances of pilgrims to the Hedjaz" ?

(b) Have Government taken any steps to ascertain and redress the grievances of the pilgrims to the Hedjaz, contained in the pamphlet mentioned in part (a) ? If not, why not ?

(c) Is it a fact that during the last Haj season, no dates of sailings were advertised at Jeddah ? If so, what steps were taken against the person or persons responsible for the negligence ?

(d) Is it a fact that there was no one to supervise the embarkation of the pilgrims at Jeddah during the last pilgrimage season ? If so, what action was taken by Government in this connection ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, with your permission, I shall answer questions Nos. 269 and 270 together. Government have seen the report referred to by the Honourable Member. The points arising out of this and other reports received by Government on the working of the arrangements for the Haj Pilgrimage during the last pilgrim season are under examination. Government propose to refer these to the Standing Haj Committee of the Central Legislature as soon as possible and hope that as a result of their own examination and with the advice of the Committee, it may be possible to remove defects that come to light.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Will this investigation and consideration by Government result in some practical scheme before the next Haj season comes ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : We propose to hold a meeting of the Standing Haj Committee on the 21st of this month, and it will certainly be our endeavour to get the results out by the beginning of October which is well in advance of the next Haj season.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : Will their findings be circulated amongst the Members of the Assembly ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I shall consider that suggestion.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST THE OFFICERS ON S. S. "RAHMANI".

†270. *Sir Muhammad Yakub : (a) Is it a fact that S.S. "Rahmani" cannot accommodate one thousand six hundred and one deck, 20 second class and 30 first class passengers allotted to it ? Do Government propose to reduce the number of passengers sanctioned for this boat ?

(b) Considering the grave complaints about the discourtesy and bad treatment on board the S.S. "Rahmani", do Government propose to order the shipping company concerned to remove all the officers against whom complaints are made ?

SCHEMES FOR RURAL DEVELOPMENT WORK.

271. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable the Finance Member be pleased to state :

(a) Whether he has received the proposals from the Local Governments about the manner of spending the Government of India grant for rural development work ;

(b) whether those schemes have been examined by the Government of India and they satisfy the tests laid down by the Honourable the Finance Member in his speech ; and

(c) whether Government have issued or propose to issue any instructions to the effect that no expenditure is to be incurred by the Local Governments out of this grant, unless the schemes have been sent up to and approved by the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a), (b) and (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to parts (a) and (b) of my reply to Mr. Basanta Kumar Das's question No. 162 and to the statement referred to therein.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, I will put only part (c) of this question, and not the other parts.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : As regards (c), I think it is clear from the White Paper which has been laid on the table that every single scheme has been approved by the Government of India.

†For answer to this question, see answer to question No. 269.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask what steps Government have taken or propose to take to see that provincial Ministries do not use this money for electioneering purposes, in view of the elections next year ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I may say, if it is necessary to answer a question of that sort at all, that in the case which my Honourable friend has in view, I made special inquiries from the Government concerned and that Government extremely resents that I should have even dared to pass on such a malicious insinuation ; for the rest we can rely on the sense of decency of Provincial Governments.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that in the report circulated by the Government of India on this particular grant, special mention is made of the depressed classes for water facilities only in Bihar and Orissa and Madras, will Government consider the advisability of instructing the other Provincial Governments also to see that suitable provision is made for the provision of water supply facilities for depressed classes ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have not the slightest doubt that those Governments which are embarking upon water supply schemes,—which are practically all of them,—are fully aware of their responsibilities to the depressed classes in this matter.

ACCOMMODATION ALLOWED TO A DECK PASSENGER IN THE COASTAL PASSENGER STEAMERS.

272. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they are aware that the rule providing a minimum space of six square feet for a deck passenger in the coastal passenger steamers causes great hardship ;
- (b) whether they have examined the actual working of the rule ; and
- (c) whether they propose to alter the rule so as to provide at least twelve square feet as minimum accommodation for deck passengers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) There is no such rule in force.

(b) and (c). Do not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any practice at all like that, actually providing only six square feet as the minimum space for passengers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The rules actually lay down the minimum requirements but they are not as stated in the question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the minimum prescribed by the rules ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The minimum prescribed is from eight square feet to 15 square feet per passenger according to the length of the voyage and the season during which the voyage is made. The ordinary prescribed minimum is now eight square feet per passenger, but for certain very short voyages the minimum is  $7\frac{1}{2}$  square feet.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the answer to clause (b) ? Have they examined the actual working of the rule, and, are they satisfied that these minima are always provided in these voyages ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Since the introduction of these rules the purport of which I have already submitted, Government are satisfied that they are on the whole being adhered to.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Not merely on the whole, Sir, but are they observed in each case, and does the Honourable Member know that even the exceptions might cause great hardship to the unfortunate passengers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : So far as the allotment of space is concerned, Government are satisfied that they are being observed : when I used the expression “ on the whole ”, I merely wanted to safeguard against any charge being made that each individual passenger's case had not been examined with regard to each voyage ; that was the meaning of “ on the whole ” : occasionally there is restricted space, not because proper space has not been allotted but because some passengers are in the habit of taking too much baggage along with them in the space allotted to them ; but that is not a contravention of the rule on the part of the company ; and too great a restriction with regard to this matter might result in hardship to the deck passengers.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the answer to clause (c) ? Will Government consider the suggestion of providing 12 square feet as minimum accommodation ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government do not at present think that the rules do not provide for sufficient accommodation.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED AT THE INDIAN DECK PASSENGERS CONFERENCE HELD AT VIZAGAPATAM.

273. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have received copies of resolutions Nos. 8 and 9, passed at the Indian Deck Passengers Conference held at Vizagapatam on the 17th June, 1935 ;
- (b) whether they propose to take steps to improve the conditions of travel on the lines suggested in the resolution, and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) The suggestions made in the resolutions in question are under consideration.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware that conditions of supply of food for deck passengers are very bad indeed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I do not think there is anything with regard to the supply of food in the resolutions referred to in the question.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware that there is no protection at all for deck passengers from rain or sun ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Government are not aware that there is no protection whatever from sun or rain.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware that the kitchens are situated close to the latrines there and are in a very unhealthy condition ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If that refers to all steamers with respect to third class accommodation, Government do not accept the allegation as correct.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government try to ascertain facts with regard to this in view of the fact that I myself had been a deck passenger and have had personal experience of this inconvenience ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If the Honourable Member will supply definite information on that point, Government will be only too happy to look into the question.

BILL IN CONNECTION WITH THE FEDERAL RAILWAY AUTHORITY AND SETTING UP OF PROVINCIAL PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSIONS.

274. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they are considering any proposal for a Bill in connection with the Federal Railway Authority to be placed before this House ;
- (b) if so, when the Bill is expected to be brought before this House ; and
- (c) whether there is any similar proposal with regard to setting up Public Service Commissions in all the Provinces ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) Possibly during 1936.

(c) No legislation other than that contained in sections 265 and 266 of the Government of India Act, 1935, is, I believe, required for the establishment of provincial Public Service Commissions.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if this Bill is going to be introduced during the cold weather Session or the autumn Session of next year ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am at present unable to specify during which Session it will be possible for Government to introduce this legislation.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know when these Public Service Commissions in the provinces will be set up ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is for the provinces to say.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take the answer to (c) to mean that, so far as all-India legislation is concerned, there is no need for all-India legislation ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is the meaning.

REPORT OF MR. K. P. S. MENON ON THE EFFECT OF THE MARKETING ORDINANCES ON INDIAN SETTLERS IN EAST AFRICA.

275. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the reasons why the report of Mr. K. P. S. Menon on the effect of the marketing ordinances on Indian settlers in East Africa was not published before the end of June ;
- (b) whether Government have made representations to the Kenya Government on the Kenya Bill ;
- (c) whether Government's attention has been drawn to the leading article in the Hindu, dated the 25th of June, 1935, on this subject ;
- (d) what steps, if any, Government propose to take to protect Indian interests in Kenya ; and
- (e) whether Government propose to consult this House on the question ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) As in the case of Mr. Menon's report on Zanzibar, Government waited for the publication of the Report until the views of the Governments of Tanganyika, Uganda and Kenya were available.

(b) Yes.

(c) Government have seen the article referred to by the Honourable Member.

(d) and (e). As a result of representations already made by the Government of India, several important amendments have been made in the Bill that was first published. The Secretary of State for the Colonies has agreed that the provisions of the Bill, as passed by the Kenya Legislative Council, should not be brought into operation until he has considered it further. The Government of India will examine the Bill, as passed, and will then decide whether any further action on their part is called for. Government do not think at present that it will be necessary to consult the House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : At a later stage, before Government make their final recommendations on this matter to the Governments concerned, will they be good enough to consult this House ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I cannot give any undertaking on that point, because I do not know whether the House will be sitting.

GRIEVANCES OF INDIANS DOMICILED IN SOUTH AFRICA.

276. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the latest position of Indians domiciled in South Africa ;
- (b) the grievances from which they are still suffering ; and
- (c) what steps, if any, they propose to take to redress these grievances ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) For a comprehensive account of matters of comparatively recent interest relating to Indians resident in South Africa, the Honourable Member is referred to the annual reports of the Agent of the Government of India in the Union, copies of which will be found in the Library.

(b) and (c). The most pressing grievance of Indians arises out of disabilities connected with the occupation and ownership of land in the mining areas of the Transvaal. This subject is under investigation by a special commission which the Government of the Union of South Africa appointed on the 4th October, 1932, in pursuance of representations made by the Government of India. Administration of the licensing laws has also been the subject of complaints from time to time. The Government of India delegation to the first Cape Town Conference suggested an overhauling of these laws but this has not been found possible so far. Other grievances, primarily of an administrative character and local or individual in scope, are dealt with, as they arise, by the Agent of the Government of India in South Africa whenever his intercession is invoked or considered necessary by himself. The Honourable Member is, I am sure, aware of the efforts made by the Government of India on behalf of Indians in South Africa in the past. Their present and continuing contribution to this cause is the maintenance of an Agency in South Africa to watch over and assist in the solution of day to day problems and to promote, by all possible methods, that sympathetic understanding of Indian difficulties and Indian aspirations by the Government and people of the Union on which the redress of Indian grievances ultimately depends.

Mr. B. Das : Have Government not received so far the Feetham Commission's report, an extract of which has been published in the Indian press ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Two parts of the Feetham Commission's report have been published, and I think copies have been placed in the Library of the House ; but those two parts do not complete the story : the third part is still awaited.

Mr. B. Das : Have Government examined these two parts and have they addressed the South African Government on these two parts ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I think it will be premature for the Government of India to address the Government of the Union until the result of investigation of the whole problem has been published by the Commission.

Mr. B. Das : Has the attention of the Honourable Member been drawn to the press report which appeared in the Statesman and the Hindustan Times that the third part of the report will take time to be published and it will take a year or more ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Not only do I take some interest in newspaper cuttings appearing on this subject, but the Agent in South Africa has instructions to report to us as occasion arises, regarding the progress of the Commission : and, as regards the information which my Honourable friend has imparted to me, I may enlighten him by saying that the completion of the third part of the report is shortly awaited.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are suitable facilities being provided to those repatriated Indians who wish to go back to South Africa because South India does not suit them ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not think that that arises out of the answer that I have given.

ALLOCATION OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES BETWEEN THE NEW ORISSA PROVINCE AND THE GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

277. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether there was any difference of opinion between the Madras Government and the Government of India on the question of the allocation of assets and liabilities between the new Orissa Province and the Government of Madras ;

(b) what is the claim of the Madras Government ; and

(c) what is the position of the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Government of India have not yet formally considered these questions.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to ask what is the claim of the Madras Government ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am not prepared to disclose that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know the reasons why ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Because the matter is still under consideration.

Mr. B. Das : Is it not a fact that the Madras Government has been very grabbing in this matter ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I will leave it to the two Honourable Members to settle between themselves.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But neither Mr. Das nor I am the Finance Member of the Government of India.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I saw a good many accounts from Madras sources of what the view of the Government of Madras was, and I suspect the Honourable Member knows pretty well what it is.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But what is the position of the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : As I say, the Government of India cannot have a view yet, because the question has not yet been formally considered.

Mr. B. Das : I hope the Government of India will be just.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : To Madras also!

FACILITIES ASKED FOR FROM GOVERNMENT BY AN AUTOMOBILE FACTORY IN INDIA.

278. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have been approached by the promoters of an automobile factory in India to raise the import duties to a higher figure on motor cars and bodies ;
- (b) whether they have been requested to agree to the purchase of cars and lorries required for the army from the factory ; and
- (c) what other facilities Government were asked to provide and what the answer of Government was ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a), (b) and (c). Government have received no such representations.

DELAY IN THE PUBLICATION OF THE REPORT OF THE TARIFF BOARD ON THE GLASS INDUSTRY.

279. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the reasons for the delay of three years in publishing the report of the Tariff Board on the glass industry ;
- (b) what the advice was which Government acted upon in turning down the Board's recommendation for protection to the industry ; and
- (c) whether they are prepared to obtain and act on the advice of this House in this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to paragraph 4 of Government of India, Department of Commerce, Resolution No. 458-T. (14), dated the 22nd June, 1935.

(b) The Government of India were guided by the principles laid down in paragraph 1 (c) of the Resolution adopted by this House on February 16, 1923.

(c) No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If the Government say that in deciding this, they acted on the opinion of this House, may I know the reasons why they are not prepared to obtain and act on the advice of this House in this specific matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I did not say that, in deciding this matter, the Government of India acted on the advice of this House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The Honourable Member said on the Resolution of this House.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : On the principles contained in that Resolution.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any difference between the Resolution and the principles contained in the Resolution ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes, Sir ; there is a difference between the principles contained in that Resolution and the application of those principles to cases in actual practice.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that in applying the principles they have departed from the decision of this House ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Sir ; Government claim that they are willing to accept the principles laid down in that Resolution, but they must be left to decide how to apply those principles to any particular cases, as it would be extremely embarrassing and would practically bring the administration to an end if whenever a question of the application of principles to particular cases arises the opinion of the whole House has to be taken rather than that the matter should be decided by the Executive Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government place the matter before the House for its opinion, and consider a change in their decision if the opinion of the House is against the decision of the Government ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already given the reason.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Because he wants to keep up the autocracy of Government ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Sir.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are Government aware that the Tariff Board Report is unanimous.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question please.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR TRADE AGREEMENTS WITH THE IRISH FREE STATE, CANADA AND ITALY.

280. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) at what stage the negotiations for trade agreements with the Irish Free State, Canada and Italy stand ;
- (b) when their agreements are expected to be concluded ; and
- (c) whether they will be placed before this House and if so, when ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the replies given to his starred questions Nos. 138, 139 and 209.

(c) Copies of such of the agreements as are eventually concluded with any of these countries will be laid on the table in due course.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact, Sir, that we have an adverse balance of trade with Canada ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That question does not arise.

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN EUROPEAN AND INDIAN MEMBERS OF THE INDIAN MEDICAL SERVICE IN THE MATTER OF PAYMENT OF RAILWAY FARES.

281. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether it is a fact that a Junior Indian Major of the Indian Medical Service travels first class on payment of full first class fare ;
- (b) whether a senior British Captain of the same service travels first class on payment of only a second class fare ; and
- (c) whether there are other such differences between Indian and European Members of this service, and if so, the reasons therefor ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). I would refer the Honourable Member to the answer I gave on the 4th September, 1935, to Mr. V. V. Giri's starred question No. 116.

(c) The distinction is not one of race.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I think, Sir, parts (a) and (b) have been answered. What is the answer to part (c) ? Are there Indian members of the service having this privilege, that is, of travelling first class on payment of second class fare ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Certainly, Sir.

INDIA'S BALANCE OF TRADE.

282. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have noted that the balance of trade in recent years is not as favourable to India as it was before ;
- (b) whether they have examined this question, and if so, what their conclusions are ; and
- (c) what steps, if any, they propose to take to bring the balance of trade in India's favour ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). The Government of India have examined the question and they are of opinion that India's total balance of trade has not deteriorated in the past few years. If the Honourable Member has in mind the balance of trade in merchandise only, I would point out that the decrease in value of that balance may be entirely attributed to the fall in world commodity prices since 1929, but that measured in terms of the quantum of trade, the position in 1934-35 is comparatively better than the average of the three pre-depression years 1926-27, 1927-28 and 1928-29.

(c) In view of the fact that India's balance of trade is a favourable one, I presume that the Honourable Member wishes to know what steps are contemplated to increase that balance. The Government of India are at all times watchful of the interests of India's export trade and are prepared to take any steps which, in their opinion, are to its ultimate advantage. The Honourable Member will, however, realise that it is not within the power of the Government of India alone or of any other single Government to raise the world prices of primary commodities.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I think I heard the Honourable Member say that the fall in the value of the trade may be due to the fall in world prices. What is the actual position, Sir ? Have Government examined the question, and have they come to any conclusion that this fall in prices is due to the fall in world prices, and not due to any other causes ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Government of India have examined the position, and if the Honourable Member desires, and if you, Sir, will permit me, I am prepared to give him figures which would bear out what I say. Assuming that I have your permission, I shall proceed to give the figures. I am afraid the matter is a little bit complicated, but I shall try to make it as clear as possible. The average price levels of exports as measured by the Calcutta Index No. was 139 for the three year period 1926-29. The figure now stands at 76. There has thus been a fall of 45.3 per cent. in the value of exports. Corresponding indices for imports are 150 and 111. These figures represent duty paid prices, and after making adjustments on the average for 10 per cent. duties for the pre-depression period and 25 per cent. for 1934-35, the ex-duty indices will work out at 136.3 and 88.8. The result would be a fall, so far as the imports are concerned in the index prices of 34.8 per cent. That being so, without wearying the House too much with figures, if these falls are applied to the figures for exports and imports, the result would be as follows. The average of exports for these three years is 325.37 crores. If the fall in prices is applied, to this figure, (the fall is 45.3 per cent., and therefore if one has to work out the 55.47 per cent. of this figure), should have been 177.9 crores. The average imports for those years were 242.73 crores. That worked out with a fall of 34.8 per cent. in the imports, would give the figure of 158.2 crores. On these figures the balance in the quantum of trade should have been a favourable balance valued at 19.7 crores. Actually the balance of merchandise in 1934-35 was valued at 23 crores.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the Government considered that this favourable balance of trade,—I am trespassing on the Honourable the Finance Member's portfolio perhaps,—but since the Honourable the Commerce Member is answering this question, I want to know, if the Government have considered that this balance of trade, such as it is, is kept up largely by the export of gold ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The figures I have given relate to merchandise alone.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am talking of the entire balance of trade. Has the attention of the Honourable the Commerce Member been drawn to the fact that that favourable balance of trade, such as it is, is kept up by the export of gold ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The entire favourable balance of trade is composed of merchandise and gold. If the Honourable Member means if I have seen the figures ; I have seen them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will he take steps to see that, excluding gold, the favourable balance of trade, which is not certainly anything like what it was some time ago, is kept up ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In Rupees not. In the quantum of trade, yes.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government consider for their purposes quantum of trade is more important than rupees ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, but I am giving the position as it stands. I do not wish it to be implied from my answers that Government consider that no efforts should be made to improve the balance of trade.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know what are the steps they are taking.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : A question like this cannot be satisfactorily discussed by means of a supplementary question.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : One supplementary question, Sir ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member cannot discuss this question in a supplementary question.

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO VISIT QUETTA FOR EARTHQUAKE RELIEF WORK.

253. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the names of the persons and the institutions who applied for permission to visit Quetta for earthquake relief work ;
- (b) whether any of them was permitted to visit Quetta ; and
- (c) the reasons why permission was refused to them to visit Quetta for this purpose ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) I lay on the table a list of applications made between June 3rd, and July 23rd. Having regard to the conditions which prevailed after the earthquake it is not certain that this list is complete.

(b) In addition to medical parties from Lahore, Amritsar and Karachi which worked at Quetta for a short time at the beginning of June, Mr. Hogg and fifty Rover Scouts from Lahore, were permitted to enter Quetta. More recently the Memon Relief Society (Calcutta) which had been doing good work in Karachi were offered permission to work in the rural areas near Quetta, but expressed their inability to under take further relief work. Special facilities have also been given to religious bodies, as far as the state of the buildings warrant, to remove their books and other sacred objects and also to collect ashes.

(c) I refer the Honourable Member to Chapter IV of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake. 1935".

Names of persons and institutions who applied for permission to visit Quetta for relief work.

1. Ghanshamal, Karachi, for several representatives of Dera Ghazi Khan District.
2. 12 Sikh volunteers c/o Guru Singh Sabha, Karachi.
3. Dr. Hiralal, Meerut.

4. Amritsar Congress, 100 persons.
5. Sevasamiti Volunteers, Lahore, 20 persons.
6. Mr. H. Beal, Calcutta.
7. Vice-Chancellor, Aligarh University, party, no number.
8. 30 scouts from Sevasamiti, Jammu.
9. Punjab Congress Committee, no numbers.
10. Khan Bahadur A. A. Khan, Superintendent, Transportation, Railway, Allahabad.
11. N. W. Railway Accounts Union, Lahore, 2 members.
12. Relief Committee, Hyderabad (S.), 5 members.
13. Relief Committee, Hyderabad (S.), 20 members.
14. Relief Party, Nagpur, if services needed (no numbers).
15. Delhi Muslim Quetta Relief Committee (no numbers).
16. Sevasamiti, Delhi (no numbers).
17. Captain A. E. Fitzpatrick, Murree.
18. Punjab Provincial Congress Committee, 20 volunteers.
19. Dr. Rajeshwar Singh, Ghaziabad, U. P.
20. Mr. Hogg and 50 Boy Scouts, Lahore.
21. Public of Phularwan (no numbers).
22. Karachi Indian Brokers Association (no numbers).
23. Baba Kartar Singh, Lahore (500 volunteers).
24. Hindu Seva Sadan, Hardwar, (20 volunteers).
25. Mr. Niranjare Lall, Gangab, Salicupur.
26. Jamiatulamai Hind, Delhi, 3 volunteers.
27. Major T. C. H. Shaw, Fern House, Murzapur Road, Ahmedabad.
28. Mr. Sewa Singh, Overseer, B. and N.W. Railway, Muzaffarpur.
29. Mr. S. M. G. Abbas Ali Khan, Alwar, Rajputana.
30. Mr. Nand Lal, Rangamahar, Ujjain.
31. The Kasht Nirawak Samiti, Agra, 10 volunteers.
32. Dr. Mehta Nandlal, Patna (party of doctors and engineers).
33. Vaish Orphanage, Meerut (3 persons).
34. Mr. P. Bharthi, Dinapore.
35. Mr. C. Franklin, Ex-Services' Association, Ajmer.
36. Mr. V. P. Chatterji, Calcutta.
37. President, Orphanage, Patiala.
38. Mr. R. F. Hunter, Khanpur Road, Ahmedabad.
39. The Delhi Territorial Troop (India).
40. Mr. E. A. Richards, Kurunegala, Ceylon.
41. Rohri Panchayat.
42. Mr. Rabindranath Mukerji, Benares.
43. 10 Boy Scouts from Bahraich.
44. Mr. Nanath Chand Ratra, Indore.
45. Baba Kartar Singh Bedi, Saharanpur (500 volunteers).
46. Sir Pheroze Sethna, Bombay, on behalf of Karachi Parsia.
47. Pribnidhi Maha Sabha, Rawalpindi (30 persons).

48. Sewa Samiti, Mardan (2 doctors and 15 boy scouts).
49. Mr. H. B. Maiske, Sindi (G. I. P. Railway), District Wardha.
50. Dr. M. N. Sen, 93½, Bakul Bagan Road, Bhowanipur, Calcutta.
51. Assistant Secretary, Ramkrishna Mission, Belur, Howrah District, Bengal.
52. Mr. Mohamed Afzal, Jagir Lambardar, Mozang, Lahore, with 200 men and a qualified doctor.
53. Thakurdas Pribhdas Manghirmalani, B.A., LL.B., Advocate, Hyderabad (Sind).
54. Messrs. P. K. Mukherji and B. K. Chandra, C/o Mr. D. K. Roy, Main Hostel, Hindu College, Delhi.
55. Mr. P. N. Barhanpurey, C/o Yamunabai, Potfode, Dhantoli, Nagpur.
56. Memon Relief Society (Calcutta), Baluchistan Earthquake Relief Camp, Karachi.
57. Chaudhri Bansi Lal, M.L.C., Masti Gate, Lahore.
58. Mr. D. N. Nandanwar, Kostipura, Nagpur.
59. Mr. S. F. Lakhani, Narain Mahal, Hirabad, Hyderabad (Sind).

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : May I know why the All-India Seva Samiti organisation of Allahabad was refused permission ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The reasons are explained in the pamphlet. There were no special reasons that were applied to special parties or special people. The reasons were the same for all.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : May I ask why, in the beginning of June, two or three days after the earthquake, a Karachi party was allowed to go to Quetta and that party was then returned by the authorities back to Karachi ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I do not know exactly which party the Honourable Member refers to, but I have stated in reply to part (b) of the question that a medical party from Karachi did go and work in Quetta for a short time.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : But they were asked to return to Karachi and not to remain in Quetta.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I do not know whether they were asked to return to Karachi or whether they returned of their own accord.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member if parties are now freely allowed to go to Quetta for doing relief work ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have no information, but I believe no parties have recently gone up in addition to those already present.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : But if any party wishes to go there ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : It is a hypothetical question. All requests will be considered on their individual merits.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Is it a fact that the Memon Relief Party was permitted to go to Quetta after three months when their funds had been exhausted ? They had already finished their funds in Karachi and then the Government permitted them to go to Quetta.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I do not know.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Is it not a fact that, on account of barring the entry of people into Quetta for relief work, there have been heavy losses in the matter of both life and property in Quetta ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir.

EXCISE DUTY ON STEEL.

284. Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the report of the speech of the Chairman of the Tata Iron Steel Company at its last annual meeting, regarding excise duty on steel ;

(b) whether they propose to remove the excise duty as early as possible ; and

(c) if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to the record of the debates on the Iron and Steel Duties Bill in July and August, 1934.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do not Government make any progress ? We are referred back for years. I want to know the present position !

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The present position is precisely what it was in 1934. I have got all the extracts here, and with your permission, Sir, I will read a short one :

"The Commerce Member (Sir Joseph Bhore) and myself (I was speaking) have both made our position in this matter absolutely clear, and if we went on paraphrasing and reiterating our views on that matter for a month I do not think we could make our position any clearer. Neither of us contemplate that this particular excise should form a permanent part of the fiscal system of this country. As to the time and circumstances in which it can be removed nobody can prophesy, but our desire and intention is that it should not be kept on a moment longer than it is necessary."

Mr. S. Satyamurti : It is now one year. This was said in 1934, and has nothing happened in this one year for the Finance Member to give serious consideration to this question ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : In the first place, in matters of taxation, it is not usual to give advance notice of your intentions, and in the second place, the question of necessity is in the last resort one for the Government to determine.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : This excise duty is maintained merely for revenue purposes.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have never heard of any excise duty being a protective duty before now. Quite the opposite.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that a very high dividend was declared last year ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Does the Honourable Member want to increase the excise duty ?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that a very high dividend was declared by the Tatas at the last meeting ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That seems to indicate that the excise duty is not felt as a hardship.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : Do Government contemplate the abolition of this excise duty when it will be financially possible for them to abolish the revenue duty ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I meant precisely what I have said.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the amount of excise duty recovered year after year for the last two years ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot say offhand, but I believe it was Rs. 11 lakhs in the partial period of last year.

RESULT OF THE IMPOSITION OF AN IMPORT DUTY ON BROKEN RICE AND PROHIBITION OF IMPORTS OF RICE FROM SIAM, INDO-CHINA, ETC.

285. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the result of the imposition of an import duty of 12 annas per maund on broken rice ;
- (b) whether it has resulted in any appreciable increase of prices ; and
- (c) whether Government are considering the prohibition of imports of rice from Siam and Indo-China, and fixing of quota from Burma ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). The Honourable Member is referred to the reply given by me to parts (a) and (b) of his question No. 194.

(c) No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then the Government are not considering this question ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe I have explained the whole position in answer to the supplementary questions to the question referred to in my answer to parts (a) and (b) of the question. I gave reasons to show that the position was not such as to justify the kind of action suggested by the Honourable Member.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to the answer to part (b) of the question, may I ask the Honourable Member if the prices have not slightly fallen owing to the import of Siam rice during the month of August ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have answered that question in the supplementaries. I laid on the table of the House a statement showing the prices up to the end of July, and then this question was put and my reply was that the figures with regard to the month of August had not become available and my reply is still the same.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : What about part (c) of the question, the fixing of a quota from Burma ? What is the answer to that question ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The answer was "No".

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the fixing of a quota from Burma, are Government considering it ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

TERMS OFFERED FOR THE TRANSFER OF BRITISH SERVICE OFFICERS TO THE INDIAN ARMY.

286. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the reasons why they have offered attractive terms for the transfer of British Service Officers to the Indian Army ;
- (b) whether these terms are offered by the Army Council without consulting the Government of India ; and
- (c) if they were consulted, what their opinion in the matter was ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply I gave the other day to Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar's starred question No. 170. It is true that, in order to increase the area of selection, certain conditions, which are normally imposed in the case of transfers, have been relaxed, e.g., the age limit and the time within which officers must qualify at certain examinations, but financially the terms are exactly the same as they have always been.

(b) No. The terms were formulated by the Government of India, and sanctioned by the Secretary of State. The Army Council had considerable difficulty in sparing the officers and went out of their way to do so in order to meet Indian requirements.

(c) Does not arise.

DAMAGE BY EARTHQUAKE AND RE-BUILDING OF QUETTA.

287. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have considered, or are considering, the question of the continuance of Quetta as a civil and military station either on the present scale or on a reduced scale ;
- (b) the actual extent of damage to Government in the Civil and Military Department by the earthquake ; and
- (c) the expenditure proposed to be met by the Government of India for re-building Quetta either at the present or on some other site ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Chapter VIII of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935". The matter is under consideration.

(b) and (c). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to my reply to Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon's starred question No. 163 on the 6th September, 1935.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was an estimate of expenditure given then ?

L200LAD

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If the Honourable Member would read the reply that I gave on the 6th September, the answer was :

“ The present estimate of the cost of reconstruction, which must necessarily be extremely rough, is between Rs. 7 and 8 crores.”

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether Government have considered, or are considering the means of finding this money ? Are they going to raise a loan ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I think that question should be addressed to the Honourable the Finance Member.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government considered the question of the site ? Have they come to a conclusion on that point ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No. The matter is still under consideration.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Is it possible, in the present state of the Government's finances, for this amount of Rs. 7 or 8 crores being spent on the reconstruction of Quetta ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I think that question ought to be addressed to the Honourable the Finance Member and not to me.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Are Government aware that I read day before yesterday an article in the Statesman that Karachi is a more suitable place for the Western Command than Quetta. Is not Karachi a more suitable place for the purpose ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I do not know what the Honourable Member read in the paper the day before yesterday.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask the Honourable the Finance Member how he proposes to get this amount of Rs. 7 or 8 crores ? Does he propose to consult this House on the need for spending, and the means of raising this money ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I would repudiate the suggestion that the question of the future policy regarding Quetta is a matter for me to bring before this House. The question of raising money will, in so far the expenditure is votable, be brought before this House, and, in so far as it is non-votable, it will not.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask whether the policy of re-building Quetta either on the present site or on the neighbouring site will be placed before this House at any time before the Government make up their mind ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is not for me.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask the Honourable Member, Mr. Tottenham, whether Government propose to consult the opinion of this House on the important and costly proposition of re-building Quetta, either on the present site or on the neighbouring site, which, I understand, is going to cost eight crores of rupees ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There is a Resolution on the paper on this subject ; and if Honourable Members opposite would agree to allow that Resolution to be discussed instead of the one they have themselves put down for the 19th, the House would have an opportunity of expressing its opinion on that point.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What Resolution ? Is it a Government Resolution ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There is a Resolution tabled by my Honourable friend, Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon, recommending that Government should not re-build on the existing site.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is Government's position ? Are they going to consult this House by means of a motion of their own on the question of re-building Quetta, either on the present or on the neighbouring site ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have nothing to add to what the Honourable the Finance Member said about that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When I ask the Army Secretary, he refers me to the Finance Member, and when I put the question to the Finance Member, I am told that the question should be put to the Army Secretary. I don't care who answers it. Somebody must answer it. Let the Home Member answer that. I don't mind.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The question is under consideration.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is the question of consulting the House also under consideration ?

(No answer.)

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Silence is the best answer ?

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST BRITISH SOLDIERS STATIONED AT JUBBULPORE.

Mr. Satya Narayan Sinha : Are Government aware whether the remark of the Honourable the Law Member in the Assembly the other day, while objecting to Mr. Satyamurti's motion for adjournment, regarding Benda incident, that the Court might hold that the soldiers acted in “ self-defence ”, is likely to prejudice the course of justice, because the remark has emanated from a responsible person like the Honourable the Law Member ? Is it not a direction to the Court as to its findings in the case which it is trying at present ? If so, how do Government propose to make amends for it ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Attention of Government has been drawn to an article in the Hindustan Times, which ended with a desire on its part that this matter should be taken up on the floor of the House by some M.L.A. and the arguments and language of which article including the wholly unjustified expression “ indiscreet ” have been reproduced in the question.

“ The expression ‘ indiscreet ’ has since been deleted under the orders of the Honourable the President.”
L200LAD

The remark attributed to the Law Member is wholly misleading by reason of part of a sentence being reproduced after omitting what precedes and follows it.

The entire sentence is as follows :

" We must take all theoretical objections and supposing that the Court finds, as a matter of fact, there was justification for the exercise of right of self-defence, and so on, it may not be a fact ultimately proved, etc."

The remark as actually made is not capable of being perverted into a direction or even a hint to the Court as to its findings in the case.

The argument expressly stated to be based on a theory which may not be the fact as ultimately proved was necessary for showing that the matter was sub judice—a contention which was upheld by the Honourable the President.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that the Law Member now categorically says that his statement is neither a direction, nor a hint, nor anything else to the Court ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I see that my Honourable friend uses the word " now ". The question of " now " does not arise.

Mr. Satyamurti : Does he again ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : What is the question ? I am quite prepared to answer it.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am prepared to put the supplementary question, if you will permit me. Does the Honourable the Law Member say that again—that his speech that day was not to be construed by the Court as either a direction, or a hint, or suggestion of any kind ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have nothing to add. I said that the grossest perversion which may be applied to it does not lead to that conclusion.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

APPOINTMENT OF AN EUROPEAN BUSINESSMAN AS THE PRESIDENT OF THE INDIAN TARIFF BOARD.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have received notice of a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House from Seth Govind Das, as follows : " The appointment of an European (Sir Alexander Murray) businessman as the President of the Indian Tariff Board ". I understand that the Honourable Member is not going to move it.

Seth Govind Das (Central Provinces Hindi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan) : I said that I am not going to move it.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS TO THE CENTRAL ADVISORY BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform the Assembly that Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad and Dr. Bhagavan Das have been elected to the Central Advisory Board of Education constituted by the Government of India.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL—contd.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The House will now resume consideration of the following motion moved by the Honourable the Home Member on the 5th September, 1935.

" That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration."

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, the case for this Bill rests mainly, if not exclusively, on the two pamphlets that have been supplied by the Home Department, one containing extracts from newspapers and other publications and the other containing the statements that were furnished by the Honourable the Home Member in reply to the Short Notice Questions put by Seth Govind Das. I submit that if anybody had ever a fantastic idea of raising a sky scraper on an arch of straw, he could not have hit upon anything better. Sir, look at the extracts that have been placed in this pamphlet which is headed " A few selections from press articles made in connection with Press legislation ". Sir, I reminded Honourable Members yesterday that there was no Press Act in force in this country between the years 1921 and 1931. I assume that the Government with their infinite resources, after making a microscopic examination of all the publications that have issued during this interval of ten years, have been able to cull together all that appears in this pamphlet.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : There are thousands.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : Well, I do not know if they have anything up their sleeves. If there is anything secret in the dark which they dare not expose lest it should burn and evaporate in the light we cannot take notice of it. If they have anything else in their possession we do not know. What they have considered deserving and worthy of being placed before us is contained in this pamphlet. Sir, this pamphlet does not contain anything for the years 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1927 and 1929. It does not contain anything for the Presidencies of Bombay and Madras or for the Provinces of the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, Assam, Central Provinces and the North-West Frontier Province. The extracts that have been given here are confined to the Provinces of Bengal and the Punjab and to the years 1926, 1929 and 1930 only. Sir, this general survey can lead only to one conclusion, namely, that the state of the press was never really as lamentable, scandalous and dangerous, ominous and disastrous as is now sought to be made out. Sir, what do these extracts contain, even as they are ? Before I do so I may tell the Honourable Members that so far as the United Provinces are concerned, I have read the Administration Reports issued by the Local Government and it is definitely, positively and unambiguously mentioned in those reports in the year 1923 and again in the year 1924 that the tone as well as the language of public press in the province improved considerably after the withdrawal and repeal of the Press Act. Sir, these stray extracts containing only a part of the article and being for the most part indifferent translations cannot be a safe guide ; but even if we take them at their face value, what do they indicate, and what do they prove ? The first nine extracts relate to the single district of Pabna in Bengal and were all published in the month of July 1926. When we proceed further, we find a number of descriptive articles. I have examined every article and I am satisfied that if this pamphlet is placed before any judicial tribunal, at least half of them will be declared to be perfectly innocent ; and that demonstrates unmistakably the mentality of those who have put them before us as the exemplars in support of this repressive piece of legislation. This pamphlet contains not only extracts from newspaper articles but also reprints from pamphlets, books, and cyclostyled and other posters. Well, Sir, I do not know how this Bill is intended or expected to reach cyclostyled posters, unless the Government have the intention of introducing an amendment at a later stage. Otherwise, so far as the present Bill goes, I do not see their relevancy. We find no jot or tittle smacking of Communism anywhere in it except in the cyclostyled poster or pamphlet. There is nothing in it that could amount to a direct incitement to violence, except one or two sentences from two articles from certain obscure papers which have revealed their existence for the first time in this pamphlet : and so far as communal dissensions are concerned, Sir, as I observed as many as nine concerning Pabna District were shot off within a week. We do not know what happened there at the time. Perhaps there was an immense excitement in those districts in Bengal then. I would like to know, Sir, whether, on the basis of these extracts, any responsible Government would dare to approach the Legislature for such a piece of legislation as they have placed before us after a lapse of nearly ten years. We were told the other day, Sir, that there were 4,600 newspapers and publications in this country. We are here making a survey of everything that emanated from the press, whether in the form of newspapers, or pamphlets, or posters or books or otherwise during the period of ten years. Remembering that some of these papers might be dailies, some weeklies, some bi-weeklies, some monthlies and so on, the number of publications must have amounted to millions if not to billions. Of these, the selections come to about thirty, and on those thirty, we are asked to penalize the press of this country for ever !

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : There were hundreds more.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : I do not know whether the "hundreds more" are merely in the brain or imagination of the Honourable the Home Member.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : So far as the published papers go, he has placed before us only these. I presume that these are the worst samples that he could lay his hands upon, and I would ask Honourable Members to read them and to see what they are like. I have a definite impression, Sir, of the articles that I used to read in newspapers in 1908, 1909 and 1910 and I dare say from the recollections I retain very distinctly to this day that some of the papers then published had more objectionable stuff in one issue than what is contained in the whole of this pamphlet today. Well, Sir, this is the comparative state of affairs. I could like to know from the Honourable the Home Member the true state of affairs. He has told us that communalism has never been so acute in this country as it is today. Well what measures has he taken to put an end to that ? And if this is the result of three years' administration of the Criminal Law Amendment Act—namely, that communalism today is in its worst phase—then, I ask, why should he prolong and perpetuate the tortuous course which has resulted in this calamity ?

Then I would ask the Honourable the Home Member if he ever took action under section 153A in respect of these papers mentioned here, and whether he took any action under section 108 against the printer or the publisher of any of these ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : If the Honourable Member refers to my speech in introducing the Bill, he would have found that repeated action was taken.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : So far as I am aware, none of these persons were prosecuted for any of these writings.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : We cannot get at them.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : That is an untenable proposition which I cannot accept. Sir, if the police are really so inefficient that you cannot get at the culprits, then you have no business to continue to employ them (Loud Applause), then you should disband your staff. Why do you engage this police force and impose taxation on us in order to keep them going, if you and they cannot get at the culprits ? (Hear, hear.) Sir, if your police force is designed only to get at innocent people, and if that is the purpose for which you are here, if your object merely is to frame these weapons and engines of oppression for innocent people, so that you may have some sort of fun and your police a ready handle and something by way of bait to book the innocent. The cat is out of the bag and I concede that this Bill will eminently and fully fulfil that object. Sir, I was just telling you that this bogey of communalism is a curious figment of the imagination : it has been sprung upon us with a view to frightening us. Sir, when I hear Members of the Government talking of a communal crash, I feel as though the chauffeur is losing hold of the brake and the crash is imminent. Perhaps, in some cases—I do not attribute any malice or malignancy—the wish may be the mother to the thought. (Hear, hear.) But, whatever it be, I say, Sir, that if the Government feel that communalism is in its worst form, then we must be prepared for the crop which must ensue out of such open declarations from the most responsible quarters. (Hear, hear.) They may not want their prophecies to turn true, yet we must be on our guard. Sir, we had once a good, old sturdy gentleman as Commissioner in the place where I live. In 1924-25, as Honourable Members are aware, there was a recrudescence of communal trouble. Once he was having a talk with me and he told me : " Well, Pandit, there is too much of communalism these days. Why is it so ? " I said there are many reasons. He said : " No, no. It is very easy to put an end to it ". I said how ? He asserted : " Well, put me in charge of the worst district and I will see that communalism will come to an end ". I asked him how he would manage it ? He gave me a story. He said that in his younger days while he was the District Magistrate at a certain place, a Tahsildar approached him and told him that his Tahsil was on fire and that a communal outburst was inevitable. He told the Tahsildar that that was the first time when he had ever heard such a report and while directing him to see him the next day with the latest information, warned him in the following words : " If you repeat tomorrow that your Tahsil is still in a combustible state, then I will make an entry in your service book and report you for transfer from this Tahsil ". He told me that the Tahsildar approached him the next day and told him : " Give me time : things are improving ". He replied : " Very well, you can have some more time". The man went back to him the next day and said : " Everything is all right ' Sub Khairiyat '." That is how communalism can be put an end to. I say if you are determined to put a stop to it, you can do it. I do not want to make remarks of an unpalatable and unpleasant type. But I would ask the Honourable Members opposite to read of some of the letters published by Lady Minto that passed between Lord Minto and Lord Morley. I ask them to ponder over what Lord Olivier wrote in the article that appeared in the Times soon after he retired from the office of the Secretary of State for India. I ask them to read what Wedgwood Benn observed some time ago and I ask them to read what the Earl of Salisbury has said only recently. I would not say more. But, Sir, I would remind them that communalism is not the monopoly of this land. Wherever you have foreign domination, there is a natural tendency to foster all those forces which contribute towards the perpetuation of that domination. It is but natural. That does not, however, absolve us from the responsibility that we owe to our country. I am one of those who feel that if our enemies can outwit us, we are fools. If our enemies can beat us, they must be abler. But I do not want to be beaten by them in any way and on any score whatsoever. I am not putting this forward as an apology or defence for any failure or lukewarmness on our part. but I am stating only a fact because it is a fact. In this connection, I would remind the Honourable Members that only recently there was an outburst in Belfast. Belfast is not Dublin which is the capital of the Sinn Fein or Irish Free State; but it is Belfast, the capital of the favourite province of the superb Lord Carson. I will just read out to you what happened in Belfast from an extract that appeared in the New Statesman and Nation recently. It says :

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

" More than the usual political significance underlies the rioting which has developed in Belfast from the annual celebrations on July 12th of the Battle of the.....better known in Northern Ireland as the glorious twelfth. The newspaper reports which have reached England tell us only of this great fighting, the rioting, the looting, the burning out of a dozen Government homes, the deaths of five persons and the wounding of well over a hundred, the use of rifles, revolvers and machine guns by the police and finally the calling out of the military who were patrolling the streets with fixed bayonets and steel helmets returning the desultory fire of the snipers who lie hidden in the network of poverty-stricken slum streets of the York Street area."

This is what happened in Belfast last month. Belfast is the place where the catholics are in very small number and where the protestants dominate. So, let not our people be entrapped by any insinuations about communalism being worse today than it has ever been before. I, for one, honestly believe—and I claim to possess some knowledge of the people and some experience of the affairs of this country and it is certainly more intimate and reliable than what any Honourable Member opposite can acquire as none of them has a direct approach to the hearts, to the sentiments and to the convictions of people,—that the worst phase of communalism has passed. There is more of harmony today than there was at any time before, at least during the last ten years. But for a few self-seekers and those who can always be incited to promote hatred between communities, the heart of the country is sounder today than it has ever been before, and I am convinced that if artificial restraints are not devised which must tend to cause greater distrust and mistrust in the future, the present rate of progress will continue until we have reached the millennium and the haven which we all desire.

Sir, I would like to refer to some of the extracts which have appeared in other places. I do not know if the Honourable the Home Member is aware of the sort of literature that is published in England. Has he ever seen the extracts that appear in the pamphlets or articles there ? I do not know if he has been reading the Workers' Daily or whether he has been reading the Labour Leader or whether he has been reading such like other papers. I see that there is more of Communism in a single issue of these papers than in all that you can collect here during the last ten years and yet they are not proscribed here and I am occasionally reading them. I will read out to you a few extracts from some of the pamphlets that have been published in England. These pamphlets have been published almost continuously and regularly by people who have taken pretty good care to keep themselves in the back-ground just as the imaginary dummy editors are supposed to be doing here. Well, Sir, now I propose to read from the Hansard and it is part of the speech delivered by the Attorney General of England in the last autumn session. He says :

" There is a corresponding leaflet with reference to the Navy, entitled ' The Red Signal ', which claims to be the organ of Communist sailors. I will trouble the House with a few illustrations, in order that Honourable Members may have in their minds the sort of incitements which are offered to members of His Majesty's Forces in this secret, underground fashion. The Soldier's Voice of October, 1931, invited its readers who were soldiers to understand that : ' The way to victory lies, not through voting, but through mass struggle. What is needed is a repetition of the general strike.' The issue of May, 1932, contained this passage : ' Let us use the knowledge of arms which they give us, when the opportunity presents itself, to overthrow their rule, and, in unity with our fellow-workers, to establish a free Socialist Britain.' In November, 1932, the same production said : ' We suggest that you, comrade reader, should make a beginning now in your unit. Get in touch with that other fellow in your lot who thinks like you. And then start in to convert the rest of your mates to your ideas. If you don't quite know how to begin, what about writing for advice to that Communist or member of the Unemployed Movement you used to know at home ? ' These are incitements addressed to and intended for members of His Majesty's Forces. The Red Signal, the organ of Communist Sailors, in October, 1932, said :

' They will put a gun in your hands. Take it and study the art of war. This knowledge is essential for workers in order to fight against the capitalists of their own countries, in order to put an end to capitalism.'

In May, 1933, it said :

' If war does come, then it must be turned into a civil war against the capitalist warmongers and their bankrupt system. We urge our comrades of the lower deck to get into touch with this great movement wherever possible.' "

Sir, I ask the Honourable the Home Member whether he has seen anything approaching this even within a hundred miles in this country. Has he seen such pamphlets being distributed in the Army anywhere in this country ? Has he seen people taking any interest of this wicked and malicious sort ? The Attorney General says in another place :

" The effect of the two or three prosecutions which have taken place in the last year or so has been to drive the chief offenders underground. A somewhat sly and almost skulking breed of inciter has come into existence. They are too shy or too cowardly to put their names and addresses to the literature which they are in the habit of producing."

The Attorney General again quotes from another paper :

" They say in the Soldier's Voice of May, 1932 :

' Leaflets were printed in English, French and Japanese and careful plans were laid for their distributions. They were strewn on parade grounds.

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

stuck on walls and fences, put in the dance halls and cabarets frequented by men of the Forces, and many soldiers and sailors alike were surprised to find leaflets in their pockets or thrust into their hands.

As I say, they are published anonymously by people who prefer to employ comparatively harmless and ill-paid persons to distribute them. The persons responsible for them have taken very good care to keep well in the background since the prosecutions of two or three years ago, when some of the offenders were properly dealt with under the existing law."

He says further :

"Some one may ask : How much of it is there ? During the year 1932, there were 17 different subversive pamphlets. I do not mean 17 issues, but 17 different pamphlets of different titles—The Soldier's Voice is the one and the Red Signal another—containing such incitements as I have mentioned ; and in that year there were 20 places of distribution. In 1933 there were 11 different subversive pamphlets and 14 places of distribution. The pamphlets are distributed among members of His Majesty's Forces by methods such as I have described. They are thrown over the barrack railings, or pushed into the hands of soldiers or sailors in places of refreshment or in music halls ; and it is estimated that in each of the last two years something like 50,000 copies of these subversive pamphlets have been produced and attempted to be distributed for circulation among members of His Majesty's Forces."

Sir, I have no desire to tax the patience of the Honourable the Home Member or those sitting opposite. I am not reading these passages because I approve of them or because I approve of the methods. What I want to impress on this House is this, that there is much more vitriolic, poisonous and combustible matter in circulation in England than here. Yet do the English people ever think of putting restraints like these on their Press ? Has it ever occurred to them that they should do anything of this sort ? The other day I was surprised to hear from Mr. Griffiths that there is no difference between the censorship of the cinema and the control of the Press. So far as my Honourable friend, Mr. Morgan is concerned, if he had said so, it did not very much matter, but when a gentleman in the position of a District Magistrate, one belonging to the Indian Civil Service, who has to try and dispose of cases of this sort shows such a confusion of thought, that is a conclusive argument as to why the executive should not be vested with these powers. (Hear, hear.) Does he not know, Sir, that the cinema is regulated and controlled all over the world ? Does he not know that in England, in France, in Canada, in Australia, in the United States and everywhere the cinema is subject to censorship ? Does he not know along with it that it will be against the Habeas Corpus Act, it will be against the Bill of Rights, it would be against the Magna Charta, if any Bill of this nature were introduced in the British House of Commons or the House of Lords for restraining the liberty of the Press ? Does he not know that it is against the fundamentals of the American constitution, and the House of Representatives or the Senate cannot pass any law that would interfere with the liberty of expression or freedom of association. (Hear, hear.) Does he not know that the Free State constitution contains laws of that type ? Does he not know that even in the Canadian constitution, you have laws of this nature ? Does he not know that these are fundamental rights to which greater value is attached than to anything else ? Does he not know that in the case of the cinema the criterion is simple—if the thing is obscene and vulgar, one can at once notice it ? If there is an objective standard of measurement and scrutiny, it is easy for people to arrive at right conclusions. I admit, that so far as India is concerned, even the regulation of the cinema is governed by political considerations. We know that here even the cinema is used or abused for political propaganda and as an aid towards the perpetuation of foreign rule. The cinema containing the pictures of the Bombay Congress was actually proscribed ! I ask the Honourable the Home Member, I ask those sitting on that side under which law, whether local or international, it is permissible. What was obscene, demoralising or vulgar in the pictures of the Bombay Congress ? Can anybody justify it ? Is that not proof positive of the fact that the executive at least in this land as it is constituted today does not deserve any exceptional powers ?

Sir, I am aware even at this very moment of how the executive are behaving against the rules that they have themselves framed although they find a solemn place in their own manuals of Government orders. In my province, the elections for the district and municipal boards are in progress and the Congress has set up candidates. There is a rule in the manual of Government orders that no Government servant should take any interest in the elections so much so that none should even indicate his preference for any particular candidate. In flagrant contravention of this rule there is a regular conspiracy and crusade on the part of officials all over the province to shut out Congressmen and to put up and extend support to rival candidates. I know, Sir, even today efforts are being made to organise all the reactionary forces in almost all the provinces and certainly in mine and to recruit to the bureaucratic army the lame, the blind, the halting and the cripple, whose docility and subservience is not open to any doubt. Sir, that is what is going on under our very eyes today ; and yet we are asked by the self same executive to have implicit confidence in them, so much so, as to surrender all our liberties to them.

Sir, let us look at the other pamphlet now. It contains the statements that were given in reply to Seth Govind Das' question. We find from this that security was forfeited in 17 cases, and Mr. Griffiths laid great stress on this. Well, Sir, what does it prove ? Out of 4,600 publications security was forfeited in 17 cases. May I know what is the proportion ? I think it comes to about 1.7 for 500 or about 1 for 300. Now, Sir, is there any profession anywhere in the world, is there any community, is there any class however noble and faultless it may be in which the number of defaulters and delinquents does not come at least to that limit ? Look at the Honourable Members opposite ; let them recall to their minds the Back Bay muddle of Bombay, the Lloyd Barrage scandal of Bombay, the Munitions Board scandal, the Mesopotamia muddle, and the like ? Is it not a fact that even amongst the holiest of the holy there are people who have been found to be guilty, in a much higher proportion, of offences much more reprehensible ? Then, Sir, why should not there be a law requiring every member of the Indian Civil Service to deposit a security of Rs. 10,000 for good behaviour and honesty ? We have just before us the Benda incident which happened but recently and we know other cases in which the soldiers of the army have been held to be guilty of violent offences of a very serious type, and their proportion is much higher again than that of the newspapers whose securities have been forfeited. Why should not there be a law then requiring every soldier who is imported into this country to give a security of his pay at least for a year so that he may be kept in good behaviour? Sir, I think it is implicit in the terms of the engagement of the Indian Civil Service and other Imperial Services that they will be faithful to the interests of this country. Yet many of us do not believe that all of them always behave accordingly. Then, Sir, if difference of views does not matter, why not appoint a Standing Commission consisting, for the matter of that, of Sir Zafullah Khan, Kunwar Jagdish Prasad and Sir Nripendra Sircar, who will impose a fine or forfeit the security of those members of the Indian Civil Service who, in their opinion, are definitely proved to have been unfaithful to the interests of this country? Just as members of the Indian Civil Service and other services are free to determine whether their critics have or have not excited disaffection or hatred towards them and will sit in judgment on us, why should not they trust their own colleagues of tried loyalty in the services and in Government to decide matters pertaining to them in relation to their loyalty to this country? Are they prepared to do that? If they agree I will be prepared to reconsider my position. But even the suggestion is giving offence to the Honourable the Home Member. He is tolerating it because he is in this House; otherwise, the idea that three Indians, brown in colour and belonging to those races about which a very apt description was given by another fellow European, Mussolini, it is intolerable to him that we should ever think of these people sitting in judgment over him. Then, Sir, what can they expect from us? After all, are we not human beings? Have we no sentiments? Sir, the Honourable the Home Member told us the other day that all murders were alike. I do not know, Sir, but does he exercise the power of reprieve? Does he grant pardon in some cases? If he does, does he make any distinction between one class of murder and another? Otherwise how are these petitions of mercy disposed of? And does he after all see no distinction between Kharag Bahadur murdering a rake with a view to protect the honour of a family and a rake murdering another person with a view to ravish his wife? Would both stand on the same footing? So far as my attitude towards terrorism is concerned, I do not want to make any declaration of faith, specially after the vulgar manner in which the statement of Mr. Asaf Ali was received by some of the Members opposite. I belong to the Congress: I have signed its creed, and those who do not believe my word receive from me nothing but contempt and I do not worry about what they think of me. But I should stress that there should be a sense of proportion, there should be a sense of proper perspective, which should never be lost. After all, even in the eye of the law, are all culprits alike? Is there the same procedure for the trial of Europeans and Americans as for the trial of Indians? Have we all forgotten the scandals that occurred about the rupture of spleen cases in the old days till the electric fan came to our rescue? And I remember a typical case, a case which, whenever I think of it, causes me immense mortification. Sir, in 1924 there was a case of rape in Tundla. Some Anglo-Indian lads belonging to the Railway Department ravished some Indian girls. They were convicted and sentenced to whipping. Sir Henry Gidney, who is unfortunately not here today, then made a representation to Government, and to what purpose and with what end? Not with a view to obtain their release, but his representation was to the effect that these meanest and most wretched miscreants should not be whipped by the Indian who normally performed that duty but by a non-Indian. (Cries of "Shame" from the Congress Party Benches.) And what happened? That representation was accepted and accepted by whom? By one who had been the Lord Chief Justice and Lord Chancellor of England, the Viscount of Reading who was the then Viceroy of India. (Cries of "Shame" from the Congress Party Benches.) Sir, with this attitude of the head of the executive towards these matters, to dangle before us these things and to tell us that there is no danger of discrimination, that there is nothing but unadulterated justice to be the guide of their conduct, is to tell us something which our experience belies and which we know is not true. Now, Sir, with these experiences, when even a man of that position, with that training, with that knowledge of law and justice can behave like that, how can you ask us to surrender our liberties and our cherished and valued rights to the minions of law who do not know law and who indulge and revel in lawlessness? Sir, how can that be done by us or with our consent? How can we voluntarily commit suicide?

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

I have given you 17 as the number of cases in which securities have been forfeited. Along with that I will give you the other side of the picture. Even in this year, according to these figures, security was demanded from 71; and out of these only 15 could find security and 56 papers had to go out of publication. Similarly we find that 448 other papers went out of publication. What do we infer from this? That this is a most repressive and oppressive law. And how? Even according to the executive judgment, of those who had been running the presses, only 17 were found to be guilty: but there were more than 500 who were throttled, practically strangled at the outset and were not even allowed a trial. That is the greatest mischief of the repressive law. It falls more heavily on the innocent than on the guilty. There is no doubt that most, if not every one, of these 500 would have been helpful to themselves and to others had the road not been blocked against them at the very beginning. The other day, the Honourable Member from Midnapore told us that the methods of the Government were humane and that they wanted to protect the young men from the snare and the net of terrorism. Is this the way to achieve that end? Just see. You have deprived 500 men who were going to adopt an independent vocation for earning their livelihood of what was perfectly legitimate. If these 500 persons had been allowed to work, there would have been work for at least five more in each press and you would have encouraged the employment of at least 3,000 men if these presses had not been proscribed and if security had not been demanded. I remember what I read some days ago and again something over which my heart wept. There were seven vacancies in the cadre of constables in Patna and there were 2,000 applicants: and how were they treated? There was such a scramble that the crowd of applicants were subjected to a lathi charge. That is the state of unemployment in this country. Seven posts of constables draw 2,000 applications, and instead of giving them bread you give them stone and something worse than that—lathis. On the other hand people try to find out careers for themselves and where 2,000 men would have been engaged and would have been in a position to earn their living for themselves, you stand in their way and these 2,000 are thrown on the streets and on the lanes and on the by-lanes. Is it a surprise that some of them should take to methods that are desperate, howsoever harmful, howsoever injurious they may be to the larger interests of the country ? I am one of those who feel that methods of violence should not be encouraged directly or indirectly, not because I have any tenderness for this Government, which if I could I would break to pieces this moment, but because I feel that in the interests of my country, situated as we are, if the cult of violence spreads, we will be nowhere, and there will be no end to it and things will go on from bad to worse and from worse to worst. Therefore I would not be a party to anything that encourages such a thing directly or indirectly. But the etiology of the disease should be dispassionately studied in a detached spirit and if you want to root it out effectively.

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

The Honourable Mr. Griffiths told us that he was anxious to help the youth of the country. I do not at all doubt the sincerity of his declaration ; he also told us that his methods and the methods of this Government were humane. I was reminded of what I read the other day, that an internee had been sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment for having written an innocent letter which contained nothing objectionable, but because he had not obtained permission of the jailor for writing it. These methods are humane par excellence : but we on our part are unable to appreciate their humaneness. Has it ever occurred to Mr. Griffiths as to why there is so much of discontent in this country ? He must be knowing what Bacon said about the cure of sedition : he said " the cure of sedition lies in taking the matter out of it, and the matter consists of much poverty and too much of discontentment ". I think he knows that. Has it ever occurred to him why he is there ? Has it ever occurred to him as to what had been the role of the service to which he belongs ? Does he not know that more than 40 years ago a resolution was passed in the House of Commons in favour of simultaneous examinations for the Indian Civil Service in India and England ? But why was it not put into practice ? Does he not know that even today out of 2,500 in the superior Civil Services occupying the higher posts, and 5,000 holding the King's Commissions, the Indian is not one in five or one in six ? Does he not know that if foreign recruitment were stopped even today, many of those who find a blind alley facing them wherever they go will take heart again and be restored to the ways of peace and prosperity for themselves as well as for this country ? I would appeal to him to work towards that end and join hands at least with those who want to put an end to foreign recruitment to all the services in this country. Even if that much is done and it alone, which does not ensure Swaraj, I assure him that he will be providing an effective remedy towards ending terrorism in this country.

Mr. Griffiths has a fine name : it reminds me of Mr. Arthur Griffith, the founder, the father of Sinn Féinism, the first president of the Sinn Féin Republic, the leader of the deputation that went to Downing Street to hammer out the Irish Treaty in collaboration with Michael Collins, with persons as proud as Lord Birkenhead and persons as powerful, mighty and celebrated at that date as Lloyd George ; and Griffith succeeded in doing wonders. I hope Mr. Griffiths will take a lesson from the name which has much to inspire and will do something to help the lot of the people in this country in reality ; and for that we will ever be grateful and thankful to him.

Sir, Mr. Griffiths told us that it was but logical that when an association is declared unlawful, then its funds must be forfeited. Well, Sir, I was reminded of the logic

1 P.M. of some of those pastimes with which Nero used to beguile himself in olden times. There were people known as gladiators in those days. Sometimes Nero used to apply a fixed number of lashes to the gladiators. If he died, the logical end was to throw him to the wolves ; if he did not die but blood came out of his nose, it was to set the wolves on him, but if neither of these two things happened but only his skin was split, then the logical treatment accorded to him was to strip off the skin with the knife, and Mr. Griffiths wants to see things to their logical perfection. But has it not occurred to him that even an unlawful association may have lawful activities ? Has it not occurred to him that there were and are Congress institutions like the hospital at the Swaraj Bhawan in Allahabad and the Prem Maha Vidyalaya in Muttra and Brindaban and various other useful institutions which did no more than humanitarian and constructive service ? So, it is not inconceivable that even unlawful associations may have activities which are beneficial to all classes and devoid of political taint.

Sir, I have taken much longer time, than I had intended and I shall now make only a few remarks as to the provisions of this Bill. As Sir Lawrence Jenkins said, human ingenuity has never hit upon anything more comprehensive than this, and he said that, Sir, about the Bill of 1910, and not about this Bill, which is much more wide and much more comprehensive in scope than the Bill of 1910. This is what Sir Lawrence Jenkins said about that Bill :

" The provisions of section 4 are very comprehensive, and its language is as wide as human ingenuity could make it. Indeed, it appears to me to embrace the whole range of varying degrees of assurance from certainty on one side to the very limits of impossibility on the other. It is difficult to see to what lengths the operation of the section might not be plausibly extended by an ingenious mind. They would certainly extend to writings that may even command approval. An attack on that degraded section of the public which lives on the misery and shame of others would come within their widespread net. The praise of a class might not be free from risks. Much that is regarded as standard literature might undoubtedly be caught."

Sir, the other day Mr. Morgan told us that we were irresponsible and lacking in a sense of responsibility, because we do not always see eye to eye with the Government. May I remind him, and may I also remind the Honourable Members belonging to the celestial service, as to what attitude they and the press they patronise adopted towards Lord Ripon's Government, when Sir Courtney Ilbert's Bill was on the anvil ? May I know what was their attitude when Sir Bamfylde Fuller submitted his resignation and when it was accepted by Lords Morley and Minto ? May I ask them what was their attitude when Mr. Montagu censored General Dyer for what he had done in Jallianwalla Bagh ? May I ask them what was their attitude even when Lord Irwin was conducting negotiations with Mahatma Gandhi which culminated in what is known as the Gandhi-Irwin Pact ? But, Sir, we are small men. I will not depend on myself, but I shall read out for the benefit of

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

Members opposite the opinion of one who has been for seven or eight years the foremost man in the British Cabinet either singly or jointly or in the alternative, with Mr. Baldwin, I mean the Right Honourable Ramsay Macdonald. This is what he said :

“ The English-owned papers in varying degrees of aggressiveness are pro-English in the sense that they maintain the British ascendancy with all its privileges and are vigilantly anti-Nationalist.”

Mr. F. E. James (Madras : European) : What is the date ?

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : Of course, before he became the Premier of England. Has wisdom dawned on Europeans since ? Then I congratulate my friend and I hope he will support us :

“ They attack the administration with candour when it seems to be yielding to Nationalistic claims, and carry on an anti-Indian propaganda which causes much offence and which frequently, in the case of some papers, oversteps the bounds of public policy. In a land subject to severe press law, these papers ought to have been dealt with, for their tone and temper have undoubtedly added to that feeling of resentment which has been played upon by the agents of disorder and political crime. Their criticism too often takes the form of insults, and Indian papers pursuing the same recklessly mischievous course would undoubtedly have had the law applied to them.”

Sir, we are said to be irresponsible men. I will again venture to bring to the notice of responsible Members opposite, whether official or non-official, the unambiguous opinion of the same great man who was Prime Minister for a series of years and is now holding a position second only to that of Mr. Baldwin about the Press Law and Criminal Law Amendment Act :

“ Here lies the fault of the Indian Government. Its Press Act of 1910 and its Criminal Law (Amendment) Acts of 1919 are contrary to freedom of peoples and responsibility of Governments, and ought to appear on the Statute-books of no country.

In the first place a power of repression habitually enjoyed tends to develop a habit of mind in the Government which regards all effectively troublesome criticism as sedition, and it allows a Government which is always partly responsible itself for seditious conspiracy to avoid its own share of the blame and impose the whole upon the shoulders of its opponents.....The power and policy of repression do not make for tranquillity, but for repression and nothing more.....Every foolish Government would like to be able to exercise absolute authority when, in its own opinion, it thinks it ought to do so, but no people with any regard for liberty will give its Government such power.”—I wish to bring the last few words to the notice of the non-official Members of this House—“ but no people with any regard for liberty will give its Government such power ”—“ Governments should be compelled to meet the growth of sedition by political wisdom and not allowed to burden other people with their mistakes, as the Indian Government does when it seeks to maintain order by its Press Laws and Rowlatt Acts.”

I will now read just two or three sentences from a speech delivered by Mr. Sheridan in the House of Commons as to the potency of the Press. He said :

“ Give me but the liberty of the Press, and I will give to the Minister a Venal House of Peers. I will give him a corrupt and servile House of Commons, I will give him the full swing of the patronage of office. I will give him the whole host of ministerial influence, I will give him all the power that place can confer upon him, to purchase up submission and overawe resistance ; and yet, armed with the liberty of the Press, I will go forth to meet him undismayed—I will attack the mighty fabric he has raised with that mightier engine. I will shake down from its height corruption, and bury it beneath the ruins of the abuse it was meant to shelter.”

Sir, one word more and I have done. These are the last two sentences from the Chapter on the Press from Mr. Ramsay Macdonald's book.

“ The last chapter in the history of bureaucracies is repression. They pass away like an old monarch driven from his throne, hurling accusations of sedition against his approaching successor.” (Applause.)

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

MEMBER SWORN.

Maulvi Badrul Hasan, M.L.A. (Tirhut Division : Muhammadan).

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL—contd.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan (Member for Commerce and Railways) : Sir, since the commencement of the discussion of this motion, the House has experienced a good deal of eloquence which has been expended in trying to establish that the measure with regard to the consideration of which the House is discussing this motion is so repressive, is so restrictive of the liberty of the subject, is so abhorrent to all notions of a liberal, representative and a civilised government that the House should throw this measure out at this stage. Sir, there was one sentiment expressed by the Honourable Member who spoke immediately before me with which I find myself in entire agreement and that sentiment was that he was afraid that on occasions there was a danger of a sense of proportion being disregarded. My object in intervening at this stage of the debate is to attempt, if possible, to bring the House back to a consideration of the merits of the measure itself divorced as far as possible from questions of sentiment and of passion. One is aware that one cannot rule sentiment and passion out of one's life altogether. They have their place but even there a sense of proportion would be extremely useful in keeping these matters within their due bounds. Sir, when I listened to the eloquent and impassioned speeches made by Honourable Members opposite in condemnation of this measure, I must confess that I was occasionally bewildered, as I could not discover the springs of that eloquence. During the course of the debate, however, there were two or three very illuminating flashes which did reveal some at least of the sources of all this flood of eloquence. For instance, one Honourable Member, I believe it was the Honourable Member who exhibits a limitless curiosity with regard to the actions and the intentions and the proposals and the designs of Government.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : They are so mysterious !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Possibly to you. He for once exhibited an amount of curiosity which let one into the secret of a great deal of what has been said on the other side and the curiosity was this. The Honourable Member anxiously wanted to discover from the Honourable the Home Member as to whether the Ministers of the Madras Government had or had not supported this proposed Bill.

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the answer ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As I have already said, the question was addressed to the Honourable the Home Member but whatever the answer to that question may be it certainly did supply—I might inform the Honourable Member that I do not know what the answer is—a clue to all the anxiety and to all the sentiment under which certain sections of the House opposite worked. Then, Sir, there was another illuminating flash and this time it was the Honourable Member against whom I had the honour to appear in the Delhi Conspiracy Case who said : “ how dare any elected Member vote in support of this Bill because elected Honourable Members dare vote in support of it only at the price of their seats ”. And then at a subsequent stage of his speech he informed the House that when that Honourable Member and his colleagues have walked across the floor of this House and are occupying the Benches now occupied by Honourable Members not one of whose actions can be attributed to any but a dishonest motive, those Honourable Members would then be able to dispense, not only with this particular measure in case it is placed on the Statute-book in spite of their vehement and concerted opposition, but also with all similar kinds of laws and enactments. That, Sir, revealed a very touching and pathetic degree of pessimism on the part of my Honourable friend and a great and immeasurable gulf of which he appeared to be conscious between his desire to walk over to this side of the House and occupy these seats and his estimate of any chance of his being able to do so, for it is perfectly obvious that no responsible Member would with regard to the future have made a declaration of that kind if he had the slightest hope that on some occasion or the other he may be called upon to give effect to that declaration. Before I go on to draw the attention of the House to the general features of this Bill, to which the Honourable the Home Member did draw the attention of the House in his opening speech but some of which have become rather obscure during the course of the debate.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They were obscure at the beginning.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I may be permitted to deal with some—it would be impossible, within the limits of the time available, in spite of there being no time-limit, admissible to Honourable Members for their speeches, to deal with all of them—I said I might be permitted to go on and deal with some of the general objections raised on the other side to the enactment of this measure. One Honourable Member's objection was—at any rate that was the only one that I was able to discover, as his speech proceeded, more particularly when it drew towards its close—his objection was that he did not object so much—he did object to the terms of the measure—but he did not object so much to them as to the proposal to enact this measure permanently as a separate measure by itself. I believe it was the Honourable Member who told us stories about kings and jackals. But he will, I am sure, forgive me if I was entirely unable to follow that line of argument. He said : “ why don't you amend the Penal Code ? Why don't you amend the Criminal Procedure Code ? Why do you bring this bunch of provisions in a separate Bill by itself ? ” Well, I do not know whether it would be any greater satisfaction to the Honourable Member to see these provisions incorporated into the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code rather than being enacted separately.....

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq (Bakarganj cum Faridpur : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I have not been correctly quoted.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Sir, at this stage I can but rely upon my recollection, and I do assure the House that, if I have not correctly quoted the Honourable Member's criticism of this part of the Bill, it is because I could not correctly follow him ; but, so far as I was able to follow him—and I venture to think the record of his speech, especially the last portion of it would bear me out—that was the criticism that he advanced. If he now withdraws that criticism, I need not pursue it any further, except only to say this, that there are certain provisions in this measure which are, though of a permanent character, proposed to be left in a state of suspended animation till they are called to life by Local Governments, having regard to the needs of any situations that might develop. That is one out of several reasons why it has been considered necessary that, although this measure proposes to make certain changes in the permanent criminal law of the country, they are not proposed to be incorporated in the permanent codes. Another reason of course is that if, at any time, a situation arose when the then Government—whether it is constituted by Honourable Members opposite or by any other party or combination of parties—came to the conclusion that the circumstances justified such a course, they might be able to repeal this Act as an Act by itself, without having to seek for its provisions in the various parts of the Indian Penal Code or the Criminal Procedure Code.

An Honourable Member : How very clever !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Sir, may I for a moment revert to the Honourable gentleman who has just paid me the compliment of telling me that I am proving very clever in advancing this reason. He made an appeal to me in the course of his speech with regard to certain experiences gained by me and a certain insight obtained by me into the methods of terrorists and certain other matters connected therewith in the course of the case in which we were engaged on opposite sides. He said that the experience gained by me in the course of that case would confirm his assertion that terrorists were not wont to carry on their activities, apart from their final manifestations—in offices which were labelled as such,—but that they worked in secret places. Sir, to that extent I am happy to be able to confirm the view of the Honourable Member. But there were certain other experiences and insights that I also gained in the course of the prosecution of that case. One of the pieces of information that I obtained, during the course of that case which was being tried during 1931-32, was that, in that one single case, the police were able to capture and to produce in Court as an exhibit a quantity of explosives that would have been sufficient to manufacture 360,000 bombs ! But apart from this terrifying knowledge that I obtained in the course of that case, there was another experience gained in the course of that case which has stood me in good stead in the course of this debate, and that experience was this. When my Honourable friend opposed me in that case—a very able and astute lawyer as he is—in the course of that case also, as he has done in the course of this debate, he was sometimes in the habit of expressing himself with great indignation and with a great exhibition of contempt for the position of the other side; and at first I confess that on one or two occasions that attitude rather frightened me; and, being in charge of the case on behalf of the Crown, I was afraid during those early exhibitions of indignation and contempt by my Honourable friend, that I had, probably, committed some unpardonable wrong which had been the cause of all this indignation. But, as our association proceeded, in the course of that case, experience forced me to the conclusion that, the more indignant my learned friend was and the more contemptuous he was towards the opposite side, the less conviction he had in his own mind that he had a good point to make.

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

Mr. M. Asaf Ali (Delhi : General) : That was a law Court.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : My Honourable friend says that that was a law Court. Sir, habits have a way of sticking on, once they have been formed (Laughter) : and, therefore, I rather drew comfort from the speech that my Honourable friend made condemning this Bill the other day, because, as his speech proceeded, the greater was his indignation, and the greater was his contempt for the opposite side, the less and less grew my fear that we were doing something which was so repressive as to negative all the canons of civilized government.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Habits stick on, don't they ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If I may refer to some of the general criticisms of the Bill, one of the criticisms advanced has been that when the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932, was introduced into this House by the then Home Member, he based the necessity for a measure of this kind entirely upon the existence of the Civil Disobedience Movement, that somehow or other the present Home Member and the Government of India are guilty of some kind of a Machiavellian design in trying to support the necessity of a measure like this on the ground of the triple threat to which the Honourable the Home Member made reference in his opening speech, namely, Communism, terrorism and communalism. As a matter of fact, one Honourable Member challenged the Home Member to show anything which was said on that occasion which would warrant the suggestion that even then this triple threat was in the mind of the then Home Member and that the Bill which subsequently became an Act was designed to meet that kind of threat. Now, in the first place, I would beg leave to observe that if during the course of the last three years Government have found that fresh threats have arisen and that a measure of this kind is useful for meeting those threats and that, therefore, it is necessary to enact it in a permanent form, it is no valid criticism of the provisions of the Bill to say that Government was not then conscious of the dangers to which a reference has now been made. But, apart from that, if it were necessary for the satisfaction of consciences of Honourable Members opposite to be assured that even on that occasion this triple threat was in existence and that it was contemplated that the measure would be helpful and useful in meeting that threat, I am able to assure them that that was so.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : Was the Bill introduced on that account ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In the speech which the Honourable the then Home Member delivered in making the motion for reference of the Bill to a Select Committee, this is what he said: The speech was made on the 21st September, 1932 :

“ We have had in India a triple threat to peaceful progress,—Civil Disobedience, Communism and terrorism ; and though the main provisions of this Bill are directed against the first of these, I hope the House will not forget that the provisions relating to the Press will exercise a strong controlling influence over the movements of Communism and terrorism. Discontented elements will always tend to coalesce. Though on the surface these three are very different movements, behind the scenes there are certain contacts. Terrorism threatens Government by open force. The other two, Civil Disobedience and Communism, are more subtle in their methods, but possibly even more disastrous in their results, for their object is to destroy the whole basis of respect for authority and the traditional institutions on which society is founded. Thomas Carlyle, the historian of the French Revolution, spoke of our whole being as an infinite abyss over-arched by habit. That image seems to me to be vividly true in the conditions of India, where a crust has been formed—and at times we seem to see in a flash how thin that crust is—a crust has been formed over a great abyss by the labours of many generations which have found expression in the instinctive beliefs and habits of the people. Let us beware, Sir, lest the crust give way and we find ourselves precipitated into the abyss.”

To this has been added the danger that arises from acute communal friction. One Honourable Member was pleased to remark that communalism had at no stage been at so low an ebb as it was today. All that I can say is that my own experience unfortunately shows that that statement is not justified. I need not go further into the matter at this stage. One argument was put forward and it was repeated several times and statistics were quoted in support of it, that the Act had not been effective in stamping out the dangers which it was designed to meet and that consequently it ought to be allowed to lapse. He came to a certain stage when I was expecting that the logical conclusion of the argument, which was being developed by the Honourable Member, who put forward this contention, would be that he would ask for the repeal of the whole of the Penal Code. I was disappointed that he did not go on to press that logical conclusion.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai (Bombay Northern Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : How is it a logical conclusion ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : We were told by that particular Honourable Member that out of—I did not note the figures and, therefore, I can only give them roughly—62,800 murders committed in this country in a particular year, convictions had been obtained only in 17,000 odd cases. I was rather afraid that an argument might be put forward that that being so and the death penalty provided in the Penal Code for murder and the procedure for the trial of criminal cases provided for in the Criminal Procedure Code and the rules of evidence laid down in the Evidence Act not having proved equal to the situation which was created by this large number of murders and because of such a large number of cases having ended in acquittal, all these three Codes should be repealed as having failed in their object. But, Sir, that argument was not developed and it is a novel argument to me that if you enact a measure to meet a particular situation and if that situation is not completely met by that measure within the space of three years, it is undeniably established that there is no justification for continuing that measure. The application of such a principle to the great body of law that governs all civilized societies would leave us with very little law indeed.

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

Now, Sir, may I go on to stress certain features of this Bill which I have said have been in danger of becoming rather obscure during the course of the debate. Government have been charged with a hunger for executive power, executive power which they would then misuse for the purpose of repression and oppression and all the other 'tions' to which reference has been made. Now, Sir, does an examination of the Bill now put forward reveal a mentality of that description? As has been stressed by Honourable Members opposite and as also appears from the quotation that I made only a few minutes ago from the speech of the then Home Member, the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932, although designed to meet all these dangers, was directed principally against the Civil Disobedience Movement which was then rife in the country. We have been assured by Honourable Members from the Opposite Benches that the Civil Disobedience Movement, though not ended—and they have been at pains to make it clear that it can never end or die—is for the moment, if I might again use the expression—in a State of suspended animation. Now, Sir, what were the provisions in that Act which were designed principally, almost entirely, to meet the dangers which the Civil Disobedience Movement threatened to create in the country? Those were sections 2, 3, 4, 6, 7 and 8.

An Honourable Member : Unlawful associations.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The provisions with regard to unlawful associations were only complementary to the provisions contained in the Act of 1908. The substantive provisions that were then brought into force for the first time to meet the Civil Disobedience Movement were, as I have submitted, sections 2, 3, 4, 6, 7 and 8. Out of these sections, this Government thirsting for unlimited executive power which they want to use for the purpose of oppression propose to repeal sections 2, 3, 4, 6 and 8.

An Honourable Member : Eye-wash.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It was not the view of Honourable Members when this Act was passed that these provisions were merely an eye-wash,.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They are all ugly.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan :.....and were so harmless that the Government thirsting for executive power might throw them away without suffering any diminution in their power. Now, it is proposed to repeal those sections. Does that show that the Government is acting with the kind of motives that have been ascribed to it?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Or that it wants to accumulate into its hands as much power as possible and then to hold on to that power once it has obtained it. Here is an instance where power which has been obtained is voluntarily sought to be discarded because the circumstances which it was designed to meet have for the moment at least disappeared or at least lost the greater part of their force.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : So it was intended as a sop.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : A very great abdication.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Honourable Members must give Government credit for being able to gauge the opinion in this House pretty accurately. (Hear, hear.) That being so, Government were under no delusion as to any sop with regard to these sections being thrown to the other section of the House. Government took this decision because they felt that at the present moment circumstances did not justify the continuance of these sections. They did it in the hope that at no time would it be necessary to re-enact provisions of this description. (Hear, hear.) If, unfortunately, it becomes necessary to revive provisions of this description Government would then be ready to discharge its duty.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You will not be there then.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Sir, my presence as a Member of the Government or my absence from the Government, I am sure would not make any difference.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am talking of the Government as a whole.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already made observations with regard to the duty and the hopes of the Government which might be formed by Members opposite when their turn comes.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Wait and see.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is what has been discarded from the old Act. Has anything been added? Not a line. Has any fresh power been sought to be taken in this Bill which has been presented to the House?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Permanent measure.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am fully conscious of that. Have I betrayed any indication that I do not realise either the character or the scope of this measure?

Sardar Sant Singh (West Punjab : Sikh) : Does the Honourable Member approve of substituting executive judgment for judicial judgment? That is the main question.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Honourable Members will please show the courtesy of listening without interrupting.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That was one general observation which I was anxious to make and that was one feature of the Bill which I was anxious to stress, namely, that that action of Government is a complete reply to this part of the criticism that Government are anxious to accumulate power of this description into their own hands. Now, Sir, I may be permitted to make some observations with regard to the various provisions which are sought to be made permanent without going of course into the details of those provisions. As Honourable Members are aware section 5 is designed to check, to stop the repetition of matters which have been considered obnoxious and the publication of which has been proscribed.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : By the executive.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Section 5 itself is only complementary to the various provisions of the law which give the executive power to proscribe literature that may be obnoxious.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Whether it is obnoxious or not, it is proscribed.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The question under discussion is not with regard to the power of the executive to proscribe literature. The question is whether conditions have arisen which require that in case the power of proscription is to be retained and is to be effectively exercised some further provision has become necessary. Now, Sir, it may be the experience of Honourable Members even on the Opposite Benches, it certainly must be the experience of a very large number of Members on that side that recently it has become the habit with a certain class of offenders to evade and to bring into contempt the provisions designed to stop the publication of offending literature by committing to memory portions of such proscribed poems or proscribed books or proscribed articles and then to repeat them from memory to large audiences and thus not only entirely to frustrate the object of the provisions designed to check the spread of such literature, but to cause a great deal more annoyance, a great deal more suffering than even the publication of the original book or poem or article. It has, therefore, become necessary that if Government are to discharge the duty laid upon them as a civilized government to protect cherished sentiments and ideals, the veneration felt for religious leaders and doctrines that the other provisions shall be supplemented by a provision of the description contained in section 5. As a matter of fact from various sections of the population there have been complaints, and grievances have been felt that during the last three years the powers given by section 5 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act have not been used oftener.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Oh ! Oh ! How many instances.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena (Lucknow Division · Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Perhaps you were one of those who made a complaint to that effect.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Another objection taken was to sub-section (2) of section 5. Sub-section (2), says that no prosecution shall be launched under subsection (1) of section 5 :

“ unless the Local Government has certified that the passage published, circulated or repeated contains, in the opinion of the Local Government, seditious or other matter of the nature referred to in sub-section (1) of section 99-A of the Criminal Procedure Code or sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act.”

And a grievance was made that here again it is a certificate from the executive that is required.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That is the point.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That, I am assured, was the point. I am glad that in this instance at least I did not misapprehend the point sought to be made. Now the criticism could have only two aspects ; either that no certificate should be required of this description, whatever may be the view of the Honourable Members with regard to sub-section (1), with regard to this point of procedure the criticism would be either that there is no need of a certificate and the Court before whom the case goes should decide whether the person who is being proceeded against has or has not offended the provisions of sub-section (1) ; or,—and this I apprehend was the real point,—that it should not be the executive who should grant that certificate but it should be a Court of law.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, on a point of personal explanation, my point was that the decision whether the passage was seditious, or otherwise offended against the various other provisions should be vested exclusively in the judiciary and not in the executive. That is the only point.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The criticism that I was trying to meet was with regard to sub-section (2), and not the general criticism that there should be no provision giving power to the executive to proceed against a person on the ground that he has offended in this respect. It was specifically against sub-section (2) and my reply is that the second aspect of the criticism is out of the question. You cannot say that the Court should first certify that this is an offending passage before the Court can try whether such passage has been offensive or not. The first criticism that there should be no such restriction has not much force for this reason that after all sub-section (2) is a restrictive section. All that it does,—and Honourable Members may not agree that it is very useful,—but all that it does is to check indiscriminate prosecutions. Honourable Members may think that that was not enough of a check or that it was not much of a check. But whenever the provisions of this sub-section are used they will be used to check the number of prosecutions.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the function of the Court left then ? Has the Court any judicial function at all ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already explained that the object of this section is that once the powers have been used which are contained in other enactments and which are not at present under discussion, those powers shall be effectively used.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : By the executive.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Even at the risk of repetition I will try to make that clear which Honourable Members opposite refuse to admit is clear, that whatever the justification for these provisions once a certain publication is sought to be checked the law shall not be evaded by other means which might cause far greater harm than the publication of the original offending document.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Even if there is no offence committed.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Then, Sir, before going on to the provisions relating to picketing, may I make one brief reference to the provisions, although they occur later in the Act, designed to meet certain kinds of activities of associations that have been declared unlawful ? I have said I shall make only a brief reference to these provisions for the reason that they have come in only for a brief criticism from the Opposition. I do not wish to imply that they are acceptable to them ; but I did apprehend during the course of the debate that their objection was far greater to the provisions with regard to picketing and the press than to those that are directed against unlawful associations. These provisions again are supplementary to the main provisions of the Act of 1908. Section 11 I am sure could not be objected to, not because

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

I consider that Honourable Members think that the executive should rightly have the power to declare associations unlawful,—I know they object to that,—and the objection would naturally be directed against the main provisions which enable the executive to declare associations unlawful at all. All that this section does is that powers which up to a certain date the Governor General did possess of declaring associations unlawful, powers which all the Governors do possess at the present moment and which under the Devolution Rules were conferred upon the Local Governments and of which the Governor General was deprived, shall again be vested in the Governor General. Section 12 only concerns procedure. Section 13 is the section which made substantive provisions supplementing the provisions of the Act of 1908 and this section provides by its various sub-sections that once an association has been declared unlawful the executive shall have the power to take possession of the headquarters or the offices of the association, to seize and forfeit their moveables and to seize and forfeit the monies and securities belonging to them.

Sardar Sant Singh : You want to legalise dacoity.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Now, Sir, here again whatever may be the criticism against the power to declare associations unlawful, so far as that stage is concerned with which this measure deals, that is to say, that you shall further have the power of seizing these funds and properties, the only question of a judicial nature that could arise, assuming that the Act of 1908 continued as it does continue in operation,.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Subject to repeal.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : .....the only question that could arise would be whether the property that was sought to be confiscated, the funds and securities that were sought to be confiscated, the building of which possession was sought to be taken as being the office of the unlawful association do or do not belong to the association and, therefore, are or are not liable to forfeiture. Before I go on to this aspect of the case, may I say one word with regard to the general nature of the activities of these associations? Once an association has been declared unlawful one of three results might follow. One is that that particular association might suspend or give up altogether the activities which have brought it within the mischief of the provisions of the Act of 1908. In that case the only action, provided that were established, that would follow would be a cancellation of the declaration of the unlawfulness of the association. Another result that might follow is that such a declaration might result in the association being dissolved in which case also the declaration would be cancelled,.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : No, there is section 18 of the Act.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : .....and, in any case, its operation by the action of the members of the association would have been nullified in the sense that it has no association to operate upon or a third result may follow and has very often followed; that the association's activities might be driven underground, with possibilities of greater mischief even than when the association operated in the open. If that happens and assuming that its activities were such as were of destructiv of the liberties of the population or a section of the population, it admittedly becomes the duty of the Government to see that the aspect that they have now taken on is dealt with and that the association is rendered harmless as was the object of the original declaration; and the only provisions that the Government could consider as possibly conducing towards that result—and in the case of underground societies not always achieving their object, but the only provisions that could conduce towards that result—are provisions that are contained in section 13. As I have said, the only question that would then arise would be, are Government misusing their powers to take possession of the premises or to seize and confiscate the property of individuals or associations who have no connection with the association that has been declared unlawful: and with regard to that, the Act contains provisions that that matter can be settled on a representation being lodged before the principal civil Court of the district in which the seizure or the proposed forfeiture is likely to take place.....

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : In most cases these representations are not successful.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That would be the result of the findings of the judiciary in which Honourable Members opposite have as great a confidence as the rest of the population has.

Before I pass on to picketing and the press, may I make another brief allusion to sections 9 and 10 which deal with matters of procedure: they have not been criticised in the House much, but there was some criticism of them by Mr. Satyamurti during the course of his speech. He said, here is something very oppressive in sections 9 and 10—certain offences have been made cognisable and non-bailable. Section 9 related to offences created by sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8; and as sections 2, 3, 4, 6 and 8 have disappeared, its scope has been limited to offences created by sections 5 and 7. As I have said, section 7, when it is enacted as a permanent measure, would not always be operative: it will be brought into operation only where circumstances justify it. Section 5 would continue in operation. In the case of section 5, the offence has not been made non-bailable, although it has been made cognisable; and rightly so. For after all, when a reproduction of the publication of offensive matter takes place in the manner which the section is designed to meet, which particular individual is expected to go and lodge a complaint? If such publication is to be made an offence, it follows as of necessity that it should be made cognisable. The offence, as Honourable Members will observe, has not been made non-bailable. Section 7 when it does constitute an offence, that is to say, when it has been brought into operation, circumstances having arisen justifying its bringing into operation, does make the offence both cognisable and non-bailable: cognisable for this particular reason that the offence contemplated by this section, that is to say, picketing, is directed against mostly, but not always, interference with business people.....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Who can always lodge a complaint!

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am just coming to that. It might be said that there is no difficulty here: here is the individual who is annoyed and molested, whose business is being interfered with and who can go and lodge his complaint. But experience shows that picketing is a form of overawing people and forcing them into submission to proposals which they intensively dislike at heart ; for after all, if a man is willing to come into line with the proposals which are being forced upon him, there is no necessity for picketing. Picketing arises only where by subjecting the individual or a section of society to a peculiar form of annoyance and molestation, it is hoped that he or they may be coerced into taking a line of action which they would not otherwise adopt. That being so, that being the object of picketing, it is useless to expect that a victim of this kind of annoyance and molestation, which often continues through days and weeks, should incur the risk of greater annoyance and molestation, by going and making a complaint against the persons who are subjecting him to this kind of annoyance. It is, therefore, necessary, that an offence of this kind should be made cognisable.

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

Now, Sir, may I be permitted to make some reference to the two main provisions of the Act which are sought to be revived by this Bill, to which objection has been taken ? The first of these is, as I have said, picketing, which is provided for by section 7. Part of the criticism I have already sought to meet. That criticism was that Civil Disobedience, though not dead, though it can never die—I am careful to repeat this lest I should be misunderstood that the Honourable Members opposite had committed themselves to a position which might become embarrassing to them as a political party—yet it is at the present moment at a very low ebb, and that, therefore, these provisions are not necessary. My submission is that the same is the case with section 7. If the Civil Disobedience Movement is not active, section 7 is not active either, and it is not intended to make it active. When and if activities of that description are revived, Local Governments will have power to bring into operation section 7. So long as one side does not resort to activities which this section is designed to prevent, the section will not be brought into force. Another criticism was that the ordinary law is sufficient to deal with illegal picketing.....

An Honourable Member : Picketing by illegal means.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Picketing by illegal means which I have briefly described as illegal picketing. That is begging the question. If picketing is resorted to by the adoption of illegal means the question begs itself : that is to say, the argument is this : there are certain provisions of the law which you can bring into operation to check certain kinds of picketing. Therefore, why do you want to take power under section 7 to check other kinds of picketing ? For the simple reason that other kinds of picketing do interfere very seriously with that cherished possession of the subject for which Honourable Members have shown such great solicitude, the liberty of the subject. It is the duty of all Governments having any pretence to civilized forms.....

An Honourable Member : Don't say civilized.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : .....to secure conditions which should enable all citizens to pursue their legitimate callings without being subjected to annoyances and molestations of this kind. It is all very well to say peaceful picketing.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In the first place, however good the intention behind this kind of picketing may be, experience shows that picketing of this description soon develops into anything but peaceful picketing.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Because of rowdyism by the police.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Let the Honourable Member go on without interruption. It is very unfair.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The object of this legislation is not to punish people at the later stages of this peaceful picketing when it ceases to be peaceful, but to prevent a state of affairs arising in which something will have been done upon which much graver punishment must necessarily follow, but the main object, as I have said, is to secure that every man shall be enabled to carry on his calling without interference and most obnoxious interference of the kind to which he is subjected in the name of peaceful picketing. Picketing of this kind interferes with the elementary right of the citizen, it interferes with the freedom of contract. It is said that criminal force is prohibited. So it is. It is said intimidation is prohibited, so it is, but what is not prohibited and what this section seeks to prohibit is half a dozen or a dozen men or even three or four men going and standing outside a shop, seeing a person approaching the shop to buy certain things from a shopkeeper and the shopkeeper willing to sell, and their jeering at the prospective buyer and the shopkeeper transacting the business, and this is what is described as peaceful picketing. Peaceful picketing often takes the form of jeering at and using insulting epithets both for the prospective customer and the shopkeeper, and human nature being what it is, this form of so-called peaceful picketing often develops into very much worse things. That is the experience of everybody. If you choose to shut your eyes to actual experience, I am afraid I cannot help to bring light to those who must keep the windows closed all the time round them. Sir, a quotation was made from one of Lord Morley's letters to the Earl of Minto. It was said what right have people who themselves shout from the housetops 'Buy British' to prevent other people from carrying on propaganda in favour of 'Buy Indian' ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That is Lord Irwin.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I stand corrected. Nobody on this side of the House differs from that sentiment.

Several Honourable Members : Oh, oh !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If every building in the country was placarded from top to bottom with placards saying 'Buy Indian', not the slightest objection could possibly be taken to that kind of propaganda by anyone on this side of the House.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Hundreds of prosecutions were undertaken on that ground alone.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Hundreds of prosecutions have taken place.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Honourable Members are aware.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Honourable Members had their opportunity to speak. They ought to listen to the other side with patience.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : On a point of personal explanation, Sir. I think it is a legitimate form of parliamentary procedure to interrupt whenever it is possible.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : So far as the Honourable Member is concerned, he is always interfering and making it impossible for the Chair and for most of the Members of this House to follow the proceedings, and the Chair does not think it is fair. He must accept the ruling of the Chair that it is not the proper parliamentary behaviour to be constantly interrupting.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : I accept your ruling, Sir.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As Honourable Members are aware, there is an Explanation appended to this section. I shall read out that Explanation, although I am sure that even in the absence of that Explanation the situation would be exactly the same as if that Explanation had been explicitly enacted, because the section does not even by implication make that illegal, which this Explanation declares expressly as perfectly legal. "Encouragement of indigenous industries or advocacy of temperance without the commission of any of the acts prohibited by this section is not an offence under this section, so that legitimate forms of propaganda, however intensively carried on are not sought to be restricted by the provisions of this section."

May I, Sir, now pass on to the portion which deals with the press ? It has been said that the press is the most potent instrument for the spread of knowledge, for the spread of culture and of civilization for bringing light into the dark corners of the life of the poor and ignorant people. Sir, I subscribe in the fullest degree to that general statement. As a matter of fact, a quotation was read out by one Honourable Member from Sheridan, who has described the press as a mighty engine. I accept it. But then, Sir, power, particularly great power, engines and more particularly mighty engines are sometimes liable to abuse. I hope that that also will not be denied, and if that is so, this power which may be used for good is sometimes apt to be used for evil, and it would be the function of a wise Government to devise such checks which, without unduly interfering with the beneficent activities of such a mighty engine, should safeguard society from the baneful activities of this mighty engine. To that principle no exception can be taken. I apprehend that the criticism was that the provisions which form part of this Act which is sought to be made permanent are unduly restrictive of the legitimate liberties of the press. Now, Sir, one comparison was made and it was stated that there were instances of not only liberty but even of the licence of the press in England, yet no restrictive powers had been found necessary there, and so why should we impose restrictions on the press here. I have spoken of licence, because the Honourable Member who read those instances himself said that he had not much sympathy with what had been said, he was not necessarily approving the subject matter but he was merely citing those instances to show what liberty or licence was allowed there. I have not had time to look up those instances since the Honourable Member concluded his speech, but I understand that those were instances cited in support of a restrictive measure which was then before the House of Commons,—Incitement to Mutiny Act, and therefore they lose their point from that particular point of view. But apart from that.....

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : A word of personal explanation, Sir. I did not argue that no sort of action is necessary where wrong is committed. What I was arguing was this that no power had been given to the executive to impose restraints on the press in spite of the existence of such licence. That was my point. (Cheers from Congress Benches.) I know that the discussion was in connection with a Bill which provided a sentence of three months for maliciously circulating such pamphlets. I have no objection to that.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The only point that I was making was that licence of the kind referred to by the Honourable Member had been made punishable in England.....

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : It is punishable here.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : By Courts.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I apprehend the distinction perfectly. I hope it has not been the experience of Honourable Members opposite during the very brief period that I have been a Member of this House that I have at any time failed to understand a point that they have been seeking to make. I will come back in a moment to the point which was sought to be made and which I did not intend to ignore as the second branch of the contention, but may I first interpose a remark ? Whenever Honourable Members in the course of their speeches and in the course of the debate on this motion were reminded that in most of the European countries liberty, especially the kind of liberty which was being pleaded for here, was much more restricted than it was in India, the retort from Honourable Members opposite was, we are not talking of countries where there are dictatorships, we are not talking of countries where there are non-democratic Governments, we are talking of a country which at least claims to possess a representative form of Government. Then they went on to cite instances from England in order to show that that was the only country with which conditions can stand comparison. But do conditions here stand comparison with conditions in England ? My contention is that in considering the provisions of a Bill of this description, you will have to consider all the circumstances which such a measure is designed to meet, not merely the word of the enactment, but also the conditions, the material to which they have to be applied, the state of society to which they have to be applied. Now, Sir, there are countries,—I will not more particularly specify any, but there are countries where voluntary restraints upon freedom of speech and freedom of the press are obeyed to such an extent that either no restrictive provisions of law are required to assure to persons who may become the object of the attentions of the right of free speech and the right of free press, the enjoyment of what was described by one Honourable Member as the repose of life, where it does not become necessary to impose any restriction by law, or the minimum restrictions suffice. There are such countries. There are countries where the sense of humour of the population itself would check any mischief that might be apprehended from propaganda of this description in other countries where conditions might be entirely different. As I said, allusion has been made to conditions in England. It has been said, Communism is preached in England far more openly and to a much larger degree than it is preached or attempted to be preached in India, they do not have provisions of this description, and why do you find it necessary to have provisions of this description? Yes, Sir, Communism is preached in England far more openly and to a far greater extent than it is done in India. It is generally done in the neighbourhood of the marble arch on Sunday afternoons in Hyde Park by preachers whose stock-in-trade generally consists of black flag and a stool to stand upon.

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

An Honourable Member : Red flag.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Red flag, I stand corrected. Sir, I confess to an ignorance of the details of the insignia of associations and organisations which carry on propaganda of this description.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Except the Union Jack!

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Certainly. It is preached openly, but what happens? When that kind of inflammatory speech is applied to the material which is available what is the result? People come on, they listen to this kind of language for a few minutes or longer, and in the end they laugh the speaker down in scorn. That is the safeguard.

An Honourable Member : Not always.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : People there make it unnecessary that laws of this description should be enacted. (Interruption.) Then, Sir, I believe it was my Honourable friend, Pandit Krishna Kanta Malaviya, who unfolded before the House a long tale of suffering, suffering inflicted upon the journalists and newspapermen by measures of this description. He seemed to be supremely unconscious of the suffering inflicted upon sections of the populace by the license of the press, by reputations destroyed or attempted to be destroyed, by peace of mind killed or attempted to be killed, and Government owe a duty both to the journalists and those who read the effusions of journalists. And their duty is to see that, whereas the press shall not be unduly restricted, no man's peace of mind shall be unduly constrained or interfered with by the publication of seditious or scurrilous literature in the form of newspapers and journals.

An Honourable Member : Prosecute them.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Experience has shown very often that when prosecutions are undertaken for this purpose there is far greater publicity, there is far greater suffering that is inflicted as a result of the prosecution than is likely to result from executive action being taken to check the evil. (Interruption.) I am rather glad to find that my speech is troubling Honourable Members opposite to such an extent, because, after all, that is only proof of the fact that the arguments are going home. (Cheers from Official Benches.) That sometimes the exercise of liberty might degenerate into the exercise of license has only been too manifest more especially in recent years in this country. Sentiments are openly expressed, not that there is a desire to change this form of Government—that has been recognised and nobody can have any possible objection to that, it is a legitimate and laudable desire,—sentiments have been openly expressed that if it were possible for the speaker he would break this form of Government this moment.....

An Honourable Member : Why not?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : .....breakage always involves violence. (Interruption.) Then a judgment was quoted of a very eminent Chief Justice, the Chief Justice both of Bombay and of Calcutta, in support of the condemnation of this measure. May I be permitted to make a very brief quotation from that very judgment of that learned Judge? He said:

“ Courts of law can only move on defined lines and act on information brought before them under limited conditions. It is not so with the executive authority. It would be paralysed if it had to observe the restrictions placed on the Courts. Its action can be prompted by information derived from sources not open to the Courts and based on considerations forbidden to them; it can be moved by impressions and personal experience to which no expression can be given in a Court but which may be a very potent incentive to executive action. Government may be in possession of information which it would be impossible to disclose in a Court of law and yet obviously requiring immediate action. Therefore a jurisdiction to pronounce on the wisdom or unwisdom of the executive action has been withheld.”

Later on the same Honourable Judge observes:

“ Political conditions and reasons of State are the life blood of executive action but they have no place in a Court of law.”

I do hope that Honourable Members who made quotations from this judgment in support of the argument that the provisions of the Act, designed to check the activities of a certain kind of press were unduly restrictive, will be convinced by the arguments of the same Honourable Judge, for it very often becomes the imperative duty of Government to take executive action without submitting their action to the scrutiny of a Court of law.

Sir, one word more and I have done. One Honourable Member told us, whatever he meant by it—you want to establish peace and tranquillity. He said sometimes tranquillity may be the tranquillity of death but that what he wanted was the repose of life. As I said, whatever he might have meant by the repose of life, it is because Government are anxious to secure to all sections of the population the repose to which they are entitled—protection against unwarranted attacks, whether against their reputation or against their cherished beliefs or traditions or the ideals which they hold sacred, that Government have been forced to the conclusion that it is necessary to continue those sections of the present Criminal Law Amendment Act with regard to which there is a motion for consideration before the House now. Sir, Government by this measure seek to guard the repose of life and to check the turbulence of license. I support the motion.

Mr. F. E. James : After the speech of the Honourable the Commerce Member, I do not propose to do more than examine a few general principles on which we on this side of the House support the Bill and a few of the general objections that have been raised by Members of the Opposition. In the first place, I would lay down four general propositions in regard to the relation between the State and the public order and private liberty on which I believe we shall find common ground with the Members of the Opposition. The first proposition is that any State is justified in assuming to itself powers to deal with movements which are directed against the stability of the State, public security and the liberty of the individual. All the movements we have been discussing during these past few days are essentially movements directed against these three objects. The second proposition is that the State is justified in taking special powers, if the ordinary law cannot deal with those movements. I take it that even my Honourable friends on the other side would accept,—and it has been demonstrated amply during the course of the debate—that these movements are such as cannot be dealt with under the ordinary law. Those friends of mine who are lawyers know that the Indian Evidence Act itself has no parallel in the world.....

[Mr. F. E. James.]

Mr. S. Satyamurti : It is one of the finest Acts.

Mr. F. E. James : ..... as an obstacle to the obtaining of convictions of palpable and known criminals. Perhaps that is the reason why my friend, Mr. Satyamurti, praises that amazing Statute. Now, the third proposition is that the State is justified in curtailing the liberty of the individual for the sake of the liberty of the community. My Honourable friend, the Commerce Member, has already referred to the existence of the Indian Penal Code which itself is a restriction upon the liberty of the individual for the sake of the liberty of the community. The final proposition which I would ask my Honourable friends to accept is that such special powers should not be of such a character as to stifle reasonable expression of opinion or to hinder the liberty of the individual to pursue his normal avocation. My Honourable friend, the Commerce Member, has already demonstrated that the system of picketing, which was part of the Civil Disobedience Movement and has now, as a result of that movement, come to stay in this country for social and economic purposes, is a system which aims directly at the liberty of the individual to pursue his normal avocation in life. If you look at these propositions from the point of view of the press, I suggest that there is no Honourable Member of this House who can affirm that the law as it stands today does not allow reasonable expression of opinion on the part of the press. If that is not the case, then why is it that since 1931, something like 700 persons, either journalists or owners of presses, have thought it worth while to start new presses, new periodicals or new newspapers? Does that look like strangulation? Does that look like interference with the liberty of the press? I am perfectly prepared to admit that control of any kind is regrettable but where it is necessary, it justifies itself. I am reminded of a conversation which I had with one of the most brilliant journalists in this country, the late Mr. Rangaswami Aiyangar, the Editor of the Hindu. Mr. Rangaswami Aiyangar shared this dislike, on principle, of any control of the press whatsoever. But, in the course of our conversation, I asked him what effect did these particular press laws have upon him as a working journalist. His answer was that "as far as I am concerned, and my articles, I feel just as free now as I was before those restrictions".

Mr. S. Satyamurti : He was opposed to the Press Act all the same.

Mr. F. E. James : He said : "The great difficulty with which I have to contend is that I have to be much more careful in examining the contributions which come from my correspondents in the mofussil, many of whom are correspondents only for a short time, and of whom many come and go and that is one of the great difficulties of the press today." My Honourable friends speak of the Press Law as though it is restrictive ;

they speak of the press as though it has suffered some great hardship because of these restrictions. I would suggest to them that the press today is as free as it deserves to be. (Cries of "Oh, oh".) The press of any country is as free as it deserves to be. In my country it deserves to be freer than in this country. To show why I make that statement, I would like to read a few extracts. I do not want to weary the House but I will read to you a few observations made by papers in this country in regard to the Quetta Earthquake and if any Member is interested he can have the names of the papers and the dates on which those articles appeared. Here is a paper in South India which, in regard to the Quetta Earthquake, stated that the Government kept the country ignorant of the facts ; that the extent of the loss was due to an explosion of ammunition, and that the Relief Fund which was raised by His Excellency the Viceroy was being used for the defence of India. (Cries of "Shame, shame".)

Here is another paper in South India :

"Hundreds of persons could have been saved, but the military did not pay adequate attention to the saving of life." (Interruptions.)

Here is another paper ; this is in the United Provinces : It quotes instances to show the highly diabolical nature of the military administration. It states that the military forcibly took away money, that hundreds and thousands might have been saved, that the prohibition of entry into Quetta was in order to prevent the military from coming into contact with the general public, and especially the Nationalist Party. (Laughter.) Here is another paper, also in the United Provinces :

An Honourable Member : What is the name of the paper ?

Mr. F. E. James : Gharib, published in Saharanpur ; this article appeared on the 11th June, 1935. This is what this paper alleged. (Interruptions.) Do not my Honourable friends want to hear them ? (Voices : "Go on, go on".) This is what is contained in this paper :

"White soldiers cut off the hands of half-dead women and took away their gold ornaments" (Cries of "Shame, shame!")

Now, does that paper deserve to exist ?

An Honourable Member : Were they prosecuted ?

Mr. F. E. James : Here is another one, of the same month, and the following day :

"Women had to hand over their ornaments before they were allowed to be rescued. They were then subjected to immoral treatment, and the chastity of girls was molested." (Cries of "Shame, shame!")

An Honourable Member : How many of these were prosecuted ?

Mr. F. E. James : I suggest, Sir, that illustrations like that indicate that the press in this country does not deserve to be as free as the press of my country, where (Cries of "Oh, oh!") public opinion would in such cases have risen up against it. After all, the whole must suffer for the part (Cries of "Oh, oh!")—that is the rule of law as well as the rule of life ; and if there is a section of the press which can descend to such low depths as I have quoted, I suggest there is every justification for such control as is suggested in this Bill. (Hear, hear.)

[Mr. F. E. James.]

Now, Sir, I turn to one or two of the general arguments advanced by the Members of the Opposition against this Bill. The first argument that I noted was that this Bill, in any circumstances, cannot receive our sanction because the present administration is thoroughly bad. That was the argument used by my friend, Mr. Fuzlu Huq, mainly on the ground that he did not receive a reply to a letter! But I suggest to him and to his friends that that argument begs the question. Whether or not the administration of this country is bad under its present rulers is a matter of opinion. Personally, I am not ashamed (interruptions), personally, I am not ashamed of the history of British administration in this country.

An Honourable Member : Of course you are not!

Another Honourable Member : Why should you?

Mr. F. E. James : Sir, I am not ashamed of the administration of this country under present circumstances, and I only hope that when my Honourable friends come to power, they will do half as well.

An Honourable Member : Hurrah!

Mr. F. E. James : But I would point out to my Honourable friends, when they say they do not like the present administration, that they are going to be given an opportunity to change it. In fact, all the present occupants of the Front Benches over there will in a very short time give way to Ministers who will be responsible to this House; and I would also point out to my Honourable friends that, in the provinces, which are so much criticised today, they will have plenty of opportunities of displaying their powers of administration. Sir, it is thus evading the issue to blame the present administration; but that is a particular kind of manoeuvre which Honourable Members opposite have been continually pursuing for the last three days. Then, Sir, another argument is that these movements which we are seeking to deal with are the result of the dissatisfaction with the existing political and economic conditions. Now let us examine that proposition. Take the political aspect first. That kind of argument leads directly to anarchism. If you believe that, because you do not like the present political conditions, therefore, you should give a free rein to anarchical and revolutionary movements, then you are yourself admitting that what you really want is some revolution in this country to change the administration by force. My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, had the hardihood to say—"things will be all right when we get Swaraj; give us Swaraj and then people will be free".

An Honourable Member : Three cheers!

Mr. F. E. James : Sir, if my friend thinks for one moment that when he gets Swaraj and becomes the chief minister in Madras, terrorism, Communism and communalism will cease, then he lives in a fool's paradise. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, my friend is a terrorist, and he knows more about terrorism than I do!

Mr. F. E. James : And I am afraid that is the only paradise he will ever reach. Now take the economic argument. Here I would like to express my agreement with some of the sentiments which have been uttered on the other side of the House.

An Honourable Member : Thank you.

Mr. F. E. James : Sir, I agree that the ultimate solution of the problem is to be found not merely in negative resistance but in the abolition of the conditions out of which these movements gain strength.

An Honourable Member : Thank you.

Mr. F. E. James : Yet, I would ask Honourable Members to consider what countries have solved their economic problems. Does that justify terrorism anywhere? Does that justify terrorism in my own country? Does it justify terrorism in the other countries where economic conditions are as bad as they are here? (Interruptions.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order.

Mr. F. E. James : And, furthermore, can Honourable Members say honestly that this Government or the existing Provincial Governments are indifferent to the great problem of economic conditions?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They are—they are.

Mr. F. E. James : I shall only refer to the white paper that was laid on the table the other day by the Honourable the Finance Member on this subject.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : "Paper" after all!

Mr. A. K. Fazlul Huq : Sir, I would like to ask....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Is it a personal explanation that the Honourable Member wants to make?

Mr. A. K. Fazlul Huq : I rise on a point of information, Sir. My Honourable friend was referring to other countries in comparison with the condition of things in India. Will my Honourable friend tell this House the average income per head in India as compared with England and other countries? (Hear, hear.)

Mr. F. E. James : And will my Honourable friend tell me the average cost of subsistence in this country as compared with other countries in the West? Sir, when I was interrupted, I was referring to the white paper that was laid on the table the other day by the Honourable the Finance Member. I am told there is nothing in that, there is nothing for the uplift of the poor in that. Yet I make bold to say that in that document there is contained more hope for the villages than have been put forward for them by the Village Industries Association.

An Honourable Member : Hurrah!

Mr. F. E. James : Now, Sir, I would come to the second point under this head and that is the argument as far as terrorism is concerned. In this connection I want to say something about my Honourable friend, Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya's speech. When I read that speech carefully I found that certain passages of it were definitely a laudation of terrorism and I will read the particular passages concerned. My friend need not rise to any personal explanation as he has already made too many of them. This is the first statement: "I plead guilty to the charge of admiration of terrorists." What is that but laudation? The second one is: "These are deeds of great sacrifice, deeds above the common run." Is that laudation or not?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Please go on.

Mr. F. E. James : I know he is getting very uncomfortable. Now, this is the third statement : " I should be less than human if I did not admire deeds which exact my respect and admiration." Is that laudation or is it not ? He referred to Midnapore and he spoke of the Honourable Member from Midnapore, Mr. Griffiths. He asked him to trust the people and they would give up terrorism. May I ask him what happened to those three predecessors of his who trusted the people ? May I ask him what happened to the man who trusted the people in the Court, the man who trusted the people in the District Board's office, nay, that man who trusted the people on the football field ? They were shot down like rats. And yet he tells me that if the Member for Midnapore will only trust the people, the terrorists will give up their nefarious crimes. I suggest to my Honourable friend that he is beginning at the wrong end and I hope that when he spoke he was not speaking for the Party which is led by my distinguished friend, Mr. Aney. Sir, let me say straightaway that economic conditions are not at the bottom of the organisation of terrorism. These men who are at the back of the movement are, and have been, well supplied with funds for many years. They are not starving. Where do they get their recruits ? I will tell my Honourable friend, the Pandit, where they get them from. They get their recruits from speeches and writings such as those of my Honourable friend on the floor of the House the other day which are listened to by those whose economic future is dark or by those who have an unbalanced but sentimental attachment to the country of their birth. That is where they get their recruits from. I would appeal to my Honourable friend not to dabble in such motions as the one which he has tabled at the present time. There is nothing in that. If he is really honest and sincere in his endeavour to root out terrorism from the land, let him go to Bengal and offer his services unreservedly to the authorities in that province who are, on the one hand, engaged in the difficult task of stamping out terrorism and, on the other hand, engaged in the still more difficult task of reconstructing the economic life of Bengal. My Honourable friend is under a great misapprehension and so are the Leaders of the Congress Party if they think for one moment that the terrorists want to free this country either politically or economically. What the terrorists want to do is to terrorise the country and it does not matter which Government is in power. They will terrorise the Swaraj Government of the year after next exactly in the same way as they are doing now.

Now, Sir, there is the final argument which my Honourable friends on the other side have used always. They say that these movements do not exist—then why are you raising a bogey about them ? Terrorism, they say, is already being controlled and it is practically finished. The speech of my Honourable friend, the Member from Midnapore, is a sufficient answer to that and the facts which are published practically every day show the existence of it. But, I want to deal for a moment with the same argument in reference to Communism and here I would like to refer briefly to my Honourable friend, the ex-Mayor of Bombay and the ex-President of the Rationalist Association. Now, Sir, he used the argument that there were plenty of books about Communism and anybody could read of its general principles in them. What was the harm ? He did not think that it was such a terrible thing that it had to be controlled by special methods. I would read to him, first of all, the aims of the Communist Party in India, at least some of them, and then their methods and then a number of extracts from the aims of the Communist International on which the programme of the Communist Party is based.

First of all, the Communist Party in India aims, among others, at the following :

" The complete independence of India by the violent overthrow of British rule. The cancellation of all debts. The confiscation and nationalisation of all British factories, banks, railways, sea and river transport and plantations.

The confiscation without compensation of all the lands, forests, and other property of the landlords, ruling princes, churches, the British Government, officials and money-lenders, (Why they should go hand in hand, I do not know), and handing them over for use of the toiling peasantry. Cancellation of slave agreements and all the indebtedness of the peasantry to moneylenders and banks."

Does my Honourable friend the ex-Mayor of Bombay still think that these are harmless notions ?

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : The confiscation of debts they must have taken from England.

Mr. F. E. James : When my Honourable friend comes into authority and has to deal with these Communists, does he think that these powers will not be necessary ?

Now, Sir, here are some of the methods which are supposed to be used :

" To develop a general strike and convert it into a general political strike.

To develop the spontaneous peasant movement for the non-payment of rent, debts and taxes into an All-India movement and direct it into the channels of an agrarian revolution.

To develop a nation-wide movement for independence, attracting the petty bourgeoisie to it besides workers and peasants and isolating the bourgeoisie and the bourgeoisie national Congress."

I am sure my Honourable friends do not like these methods.

Now, here is the programme of the Communist International on which the programme of the Indian Communist Party is based :

" Hatred of God and all forms of religion ; destruction of private property and inheritance ; absolute social and racial equality ; promotion of class hatred ; revolutionary propaganda through the Communist International, stirring up communist activities in foreign countries in order to cause strikes, riots, sabotage, bloodshed, and civil war.

Destruction of all forms of representative or democratic government, including civil liberties, such as freedom of speech or the Press, of Assembly and trial by jury."

Yet, my Honourable friend says that there is no harm in this Communist Party and there is no harm in this Communism. He reminds me of the story of three little pigs which was on the screen a short time ago. These three little pigs used to dance in joyous abandon and say : " Who is afraid of the big bad wolf ? " And yet the moment the big bad wolf appeared, these three little pigs used to rush to get under the bed. When this big bad wolf becomes a reality and my Honourable friend, the ex-Mayor of Bombay, sees something of its destructive force, I am sure he will be the first to try and place his portly body under the protection of some bed.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : You are not alluding to the Home Member I think.

Mr. F. E. James : I will now deal briefly with the third aspect of this problem and that is the problem of communalism. Here I wish to speak very carefully and in such a way as not to wound anybody's feelings. I do not want to suggest to those who have spoken about the third party in the matter that this constant reference to the third party is only shirking the real issue. They know it as well as I do. I would also like to remind them that this third party, however unpleasant its presence may have been in the past, has, on many occasions, saved India from a positive holocaust. I want to make it perfectly clear that communalism as such has no supporters in this Group. I want to say that if it is a fact that the communal tension today is greater than it has been in the past—I am not expressing any opinion on that,—it brings no pleasure either to the heart or mind of any Member of my Party. I would echo the words of my Honourable friend, the Mayor of Calcutta, which he used in his speech yesterday when he pleaded for toleration. I suggest to the Honourable Members that the issues involved are very delicate indeed and cannot be brushed aside by throwing the blame on the third party. There is the struggle for power, the economic problem in Bengal particularly, there is the power of fanaticism in spite of moderate leaders. All these issues are involved in this communal problem and there are many other difficulties. The future of India, whether under the present Constitution or under the next, will depend to a very large extent on the way in which communal difficulties are faced by the leaders of the various movements. I may also say that as far as it lies in our power as a small microscopic community in this country, we shall always be willing to lend whatever assistance we possibly can if it can in any way help towards settling some of these difficult communal problems. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then give up your ill-gotten eleven seats in Bengal.

Mr. F. E. James : I said nothing about any seat anywhere.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You are quite comfortable.

Mr. F. E. James : My Honourable friends are counting their chickens before they are hatched.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : But you will play the part of the monkey in the story of the monkey and the two cats.

Mr. F. E. James : I want to put it to my Honourable friends that they cannot deny the existence of these movements.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : We do.

Mr. F. E. James : My Honourable friend would deny his very existence.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Have you given any number as regards the Communists in this country? How many people are there? You talk of Communism in such a vast country as India!

Mr. F. E. James : My Honourable friend if he has the eyes to see can read the facts in the papers. Practically every day he will see events in the country which would lead him to conclude that there is terrorism, Communism and communalism existing in our land at the present moment.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I was referring only to Communism.

Mr. F. E. James : I have long ago passed that part of the subject. Nor can the Leaders of the Congress Party deny their own responsibility in these matters. It has been proved to the hilt in the past that the Congress Party, in different parts of the country, either directly or indirectly were connected with the terrorist movement.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Nonsense. Utter nonsense.

Mr. F. E. James : Any one who has read the speech delivered the other day by the Honourable the Leader of the House would come to that conclusion. That speech still remains uncontradicted.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : He has not yet finished his speech. We will reply to his allegations when our turn comes.

Mr. F. E. James : I say that the Honourable Members on the opposite side as members of the Congress cannot shirk their responsibility in the matter. Take the question of Communism and communalism. Can the Congress entirely divorce themselves of responsibility in regard to both these two menaces?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes. We can.

Mr. F. E. James : Can they still affirm that, in spite of the fact that the contrary is proved every day, the ordinary law of the land is enough?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes, perfectly. The ordinary law of the land is enough.

Mr. F. E. James : I would remind my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, that, able lawyer as he is, he cannot meet terrorism with theories of jurisprudence or with books of law.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You want to shoot them down!

Mr. F. E. James : You cannot meet terrorism with the ordinary law of the land. Even the powers that have been taken at present have not been sufficient to bring this movement under complete and absolute control. Therefore, I would ask my Honourable friends to let us know what is their alternative. They cannot ignore the existence of these evils. They cannot affirm with any reason that they can meet these evils by the ordinary law of the land. They cannot deny the right of the State to protect itself. What solution have they got for this menace?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Swaraj. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. F. E. James : What is their alternative? My Honourable friend is shouting Swaraj like a parrot. May I remind my Honourable friend that Swaraj will not bring a solution of all the evils, that flesh is heir to, in spite of the fact that the Honourable Member said in his recent lectures in the South of India that when he got Swaraj the rain would fall from the heavens.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am sorry to interrupt my Honourable friend. As he quoted me, I must rise to a point of personal explanation. I never said that, when Swaraj comes, rains will fall directly from heaven. What I said was, when Swaraj comes, the rains falling from heaven will not be allowed to go waste into the sea but will be conserved for irrigation purposes in this country. (Hear, hear.) (Applause.)

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

Mr. F. E. James : My Honourable friend said a lot of things in India during the summer.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : So did you.

Mr. F. E. James :.....some of them were authorised, some of them were not authorised. His description as given in one of the Congress papers as the "enfant terrible of the party" is not altogether unmerited. But I may tell my Honourable friends that if they have any constructive plan, we are prepared to consider it here and now. When I listened to the speech of my Honourable friend, I could not find any constructive suggestions for improving this Bill. If they have no constructive alternative, then, as far as we are concerned, we have to tell the Honourable the Home Member that we want the Bill, the whole Bill and nothing but the Bill. That is our final word.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : No amendments therefore.

Mr. F. E. James : Now, my last word is in reference to the appeal which has been made by the Honourable Members opposite to what they call the liberty of Englishmen. I am glad that they have paid us that compliment. We are proud of it. India's position today is due to the fact that England is the greatest liberty-loving country in the world.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Ask Egypt, ask Ireland, ask America. You call England a liberty-loving country !

Mr. F. E. James : I cannot blame my Honourable friends for not knowing when they are well-off. Under whom would they like to be ? Under Italy or Germany ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Under ourselves. Neither under Italy nor under Germany nor under you !

Mr. F. E. James : Under yourself !

Mr. S. Satyamurti : We will kick all of you out.

Mr. F. E. James : My Honourable friends say they would like to be under themselves. Let me tell them this. They can be under themselves the moment they deserve to be a free and united country.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : We shall become a free and united country by driving you all out.

Mr. F. E. James : May I also remind my Honourable friends that the liberty of England of which they have spoken so much, that liberty which we love and are proud of, is liberty because we have learned how to protect it. Let me give Honourable Members two pictures. During the economic crisis, when unemployment stalked the land, when credit was falling and when there was the threat of starvation at the door of many a home.....

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhamadan Rural) : When Charles I was killed. (Laughter.)

Mr. F. E. James : My Honourable friend's interruption is a measure of his own intellectuality. I said, why we love our liberty ? Because, even during those times, the head of terrorism or Communism had shown itself, the good sense of our people would in one united blow have shattered its hopes. I would remind my Honourable friends of what happened in England during the general strike. The general strike was a strike which was engineered by the Trades Union Congress. It was interpreted by the people of my country as an attempt by a section to intimidate the whole community. What happened ? Every one, whether he came from the university or whether he came from the workshop, came to the rescue of Government and determined to show the Trades Union Congress that the community of England would never be intimidated by one section. And the whole of the middle classes enrolled and made it possible for that strike to be called off and for England once more to be called the land of liberty. What happens here ? During the last 15 years terrorism has shown its head. What has been the attitude of my Honourable friends opposite ? What has been the attitude of the dominant party in the land ? That party did not fight it in the beginning (Cries of "We have, always.") That party was inextricably mixed up in Bengal with the terrorist organisation (Cries of "No")—these are facts which my Honourable friends cannot possibly refute. You can have your liberty if you know how to protect it. Liberty is not only something that grows in genial soil ; but it is something that has to be protected and guarded ; and until the common people of the land know how to protect themselves against those influences that are directed against their own liberties, the State must protect them. For liberty, let me remind my friends, "is not secure save in the hands of discipline".

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury (Assam : Muhammadan) : Sir, the Honourable the Home Member in concluding his speech appealed to the Members of this House to discuss this measure without any heat or passion. For my own part, Sir, I intend to respect that appeal. I would like to examine in the light of cold logic whether, under the circumstances that exist today, we cannot afford to dispense with this Criminal Law Amendment Act. In recent years, Sir, we have passed through very tumultuous times. The Congress had thrown a challenge to Government by launching the Civil Disobedience Movement. Terrorism had raised its head. I think the year 1932 marked a peak year of terrorist activities. Since then owing to the energetic action taken by Government and the open and unequivocal condemnation of terrorism by the public and the press the movement to a large extent has subsided. It has been brought under control. The Civil Disobedience Movement, according to Government themselves, is in abeyance. The only question with which we are concerned is whether in the tranquil atmosphere in which we live today we can arm the executive with the power which they do not need to exercise ; and on that question I think there is only one answer possible, and that is an emphatic negative. It has been said, Sir, that any relaxation of control will lead to the revival of terrorist activities. We all know, Sir, that the cult of terrorism thrives most in an atmosphere of intense political excitement and when that atmosphere is absent, when that stimulus is absent, that movement slackens ; it dies of inanition. The terrorists were most active during the Anti-Partition agitation days. Terrorism was again revived during the political turmoil of recent years. Now, Sir, while we can concede that the resort to extraordinary measures may be justified in dealing with such an emergent situation as existed a few years ago, with the cessation of that emergency the necessity for the legislation also ceases to exist. The Legislature cannot be expected to arm the executive with uncontrolled power over the liberty of the citizens when the emergency that led to the bestowal of that power no longer exists. Now what is the situation in the country today? I shall quote the testimony of an astute observer of political events like Sir Stanley Reed. After a visit to this country Sir Stanley Reed says that the country is weary of the political struggle and is anxious to get along with a constructive effort in the sphere of politics. Is this an occasion to enact more repressive laws in the country? His Excellency the Viceroy in one of his addresses before this House had said that in course of time the protagonists of direct action would be caught in the current of constructive forces which advent of Reforms was releasing on all sides. His prophecy has been more than fulfilled. Is this then the occasion, I would ask the Home Member, to enact a measure like this? The Honourable the Home Member has discovered a new and additional reason, a reason that was not advanced before, for the enactment of this measure. He has told us very gravely that the communal situation was never more tense than it is today. I entirely differ from that view. With all respect due to the Honourable the Home Member I differ from his appreciation of the situation. I maintain, Sir, that the situation was never more favourable for communal settlement than it is today. With all the agitation over the Government of India Act over and with a growing desire on the part of the Congressman to understand and appreciate and accommodate the Muslim point of view, I think we are nearer a communal settlement today than at any time before. In fact, Sir, we were within an ace of getting a communal settlement in April as a result of Jinnah-Rajendra Prasad conversations. I am not unmindful of the situation that may develop over Shahidgunj affair, but I am assured that a peaceful settlement of this question is not beyond the bounds of practical politics. Communal bitterness, communal tension and communal riots were at their worst in the years 1921-22, 1924-25 and 1926-27: but in those years Government never thought it necessary to introduce any measure to deal with the communal situation and now that the situation is returning to normal, the Government now put forward, as a justification for the continuance of the measure, the existence of communal tension in the country. That argument, it seems to me, is the least convincing. It seems that the Government is anxious to keep their armoury well equipped not so much for present or immediate use as for any emergency that may arise in the future. As for the future, we are now on the threshold of a new era of constitutional reforms. However much the Government of India Act may fall short of our expectations, it cannot be denied that in the sphere of provincial administration, provincial autonomy marks a definite advance. If the parliamentary system of Government is to be given a fair trial in this country, it is essential that every school of political thought should be given complete freedom of organisation of unhampered propaganda to advocate their own policy and programme. Now, it is quite possible that such organisation and such propaganda may undermine the position of the party in power in a particular province, and in that case it would be to the interest of that party in power to use all their influence to counteract those activities. I will give you an example. Supposing in Madras the Justice Party takes up the Ministry; and suppose that the Congress Socialists under the leadership of my Honourable friend, Professor Ranga, carry on an agitation and propaganda, organising peasants and workers throughout the province, educating the electorate and denouncing by the way the bourgeois mentality and the bureaucratic policy and the capitalistic outlook of the Justice Ministry, if the Professor becomes too obnoxious there is a great temptation for the Justice Ministry to denounce the Peasants and Workers Organisation as a Communist organisation and put him into jail. My friend, Mr. Joshi, was telling me the other day that a member of the Bombay Corporation in his speech once said that he was surprised how Government could, every time, nominate a Communist like Mr. Joshi to the Legislative Assembly....

[Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury.]

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah (Sind Jagirdars and Zamindars : Landholders) : I may assure him that Mr. Joshi is not a Communist.

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury : Just as the present Government use the power under this Act to defend and consolidate their own position, so it is quite likely that the future Ministers also will try and use the powers under this Act to crush their political adversaries, that is a contingency which we want to avoid. Once you depart from the principles by which the fundamental rights of the citizens are secured, there is no knowing where the mischief will end. It will pave the way for autocracy and despotism. Conscious of the power over the freedom and liberty of their own political adversaries, the party in power is sure to disregard and treat with contempt public opinion, and public criticism; and this will be fatal for the growth of parliamentary institutions in this country. There is no reason to suppose that the future Councils that are coming into being with the inauguration of the reforms will not, in an emergency, rise equal to the occasion or refuse to grant the executive the power when they need it. The sense of irresponsibility, which is sometimes associated with the attitude of non-official Members towards Government measures, is not going to be a feature of the Councils that are coming into being with the inauguration of the Reforms. With the prospect of themselves assuming the reins of the Government in case of the downfall of a Ministry, the opposition will scrutinise every Government measure with a due sense of responsibility; and in an emergency they are hardly likely to refuse sanction to a measure which they themselves may have to promulgate when they assume the reins of office. Under these circumstances, in view of the situation that exists today in the country and in view of the changes that are coming with the introduction of the Reforms, I think the enactment of this measure is entirely unjustifiable.

With regard to the section dealing with the press: in 1931, the Government were faced with the revival of terrorist activities in a very acute form; and, as one of the measures to deal with that situation, they issued an Ordinance controlling the press: the main features of that Ordinance were, later on, put on the Statute-book. The ground on which they urged the enactment of that measure on the previous occasion was this: they said that an emergency had arisen because of the revival of the terrorist movement, and a section of the press by their eulogy of murders gave incentive and stimulus to that movement, and Government needed power to deal with them. In fact the Press Act was called the Press Emergency Act and it was made a temporary measure. Now, the temporary period is over and the Government want to enact it in permanent form. I am not going to argue whether the terrorists receive their inspiration from the newspaper writings or whether they receive their inspiration from standard books of English literature or from the incidents of English history or from the recent successes of the Irish Republican Party who by their methods of violence forced the Government to capitulate. My own impression is that the Chittagong Armoury raiders derived their inspiration more from the guerilla warfare of the Irish Republican Army than from any double column headline in the nationalist press. But for the sake of argument, I am prepared to concede that in the year 1931 circumstances justified the enactment of this measure, and that the knowledge that the Government had this weapon in their armoury tended to curb the excessive zeal of the leader writers in the nationalist press and that the Assembly in 1932 agreed to curtail the power of the press and took the risk of its possible abuse by the authorities because the authorities insisted that there was a great menace threatening the country and they needed the power to deal with it. Government gave us an assurance on that occasion that the powers would be very judiciously exercised. What is the situation today? That emergency no longer exists, and whatever the justification there might or might not have been for the enactment of this measure in 1931, today that justification no longer exists. Sir, the situation in the country at the present time is such that such a measure as this is entirely unnecessary. That is my view of the situation. If there is excitement anywhere, it is in the Home Department of the Government of India who are very busy forging weapons which are not necessary and manufacturing justifications which may appear plausible. Now, Sir, if, in 1931, a certain section of the press eulogised murder, I think even my friend, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, will admit that in recent months, the most characteristic feature of the writings in the Indian press has been an expression of loyalty to the Throne and eulogy of the Silver Jubilee....

[Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury.]

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi (Dacca cum Mymensingh : Muhammadan Rural) : Which are those papers?

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury : I think every section of the Indian press co-operated with authorities to make the Silver Jubilee a success. Even the Congress papers co-operated with the movement....

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I did not get any co-operation in Calcutta.

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury : Even well-known Congress newspapers went out of their way to publish Jubilee Supplements, and, I think, Congress newspapers like the Hindustan Times and the Hindu published Supplements....

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : But they were making money over it.

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury : I am sure even the Government will admit that there has been a distinct improvement in the tone and the temper of the Indian press in regard to their attitude towards terrorism. The policy of condemning the deed and admiring the motive has given place to a policy of unreserved condemnation of terrorists and their activities; you cannot say that this change of attitude is not entirely due to the existence of the press, because, Sir, the most that the press Acts can do, is to prevent direct and indirect laudation of terrorist activities; but it cannot extort whole-hearted condemnation unless the press is genuinely anxious to eradicate the evil? It is perfectly clear from the writings in the Nationalist press that they are anxious to co-operate with the authorities to uproot the evil. And, in Bengal particularly, they are making sincere efforts to co-operate with the authorities to wean the terrorists back from pursuing their misguided activities.

Sir, it is very often said that this Press Act is directed not against the well conducted and responsible papers, but it is directed against only those irresponsible extremist papers where writings have got a tendency to incite people to deeds of violence, and the well conducted papers, therefore, need have no fear whatever on account of the operation of this Act. Our past experience belies that assumption. Whenever the Press Act was before the House, Government was always assuring us that this Act would be directed only against those papers who incite people to deeds of violence. We are asked to believe in the infallible discretion of the District Magistrate; we are asked to believe in the judicial fairness of the Local Government, but these assurances in most cases are more honoured in their breach than in observance. I will give the House one classical instance of the abuse of the Press Act by the authorities. The Press Act of 1910 was enacted to deal with those writings which directly or indirectly encouraged anarchical crimes. Now, Sir, against whom was this Act directed? The most celebrated case under the Press Act of 1910 was the Comrade case, and why was the security demanded from the editor of the Comrade? Honourable Members who are not aware of the history of that case will be surprised to hear that security was demanded from the Comrade for publishing an humanitarian appeal. During the Balkan War, in Bulgaria, the Macedonian bandits committed inhuman atrocities on Turkish population. Sir Adam Block, who was the Chairman of the Imperial Ottoman Bank at Constantinople, issued an appeal to all the civilized world, describing the atrocities. The appeal was called "come over to Macedonia and help us". Mr. Mahomed Ali,—he was not Maulana in those days,—aristocratic and fashionable Mr. Mohamed Ali, a familiar figure in the social circles of the bureaucracy—committed the atrocious crime of publishing that appeal in his paper, and, therefore, he was asked to furnish security. He then appealed to the High Court, and the Chief Justice, Sir Lawrence Jenkins, who paid the highest tribute to the editor, said that under the provisions of the Act no relief could be granted to the appellant. That is how the Press Act is being administered.

Now, Sir, I want to address my remarks to my Muhammadan friends of this Assembly. Muslims have kept away from terrorist activities. Mussalmans except in the frontier have kept away, as a community, from the Civil Disobedience Movement, and still, Sir, proportionately speaking, the Mussulman press has suffered most from the operation of this Press Act. We have got only a handful of Muslim newspapers; they can be counted on the fingers of one hand, and yet, Sir, within the last 5 years the Press Act has been in operation, 61 Muslim papers have ceased publication because of the operation of the Press Act. (Cheers from the Congress Party Benches.) Can the Honourable the Home Member tell me whether during the same period of 5 years another 61 journals have been started and are still on circulation? My point is this that more Muslim papers have succumbed to this Press Act than have survived it. This Press Act has strangled the Muslim press in the past, and it will continue to strangle it in the future. And I would ask my Muslim friends here—are they going to be a party to the passing of a measure that will cripple the growth of the Muslim press in this country? I would leave them to answer that question. For every Muslim press that goes out of existence, because of the operation of this Act, the responsibility will be on the head of those Muslim Members who by their vote will support the passing of this measure. (Cheers from the Congress Party Benches.)

[Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury.]

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Thursday, the 12th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday, 12th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

INDIANISATION OF THE POSTS OF CHAIRMEN OF THE PORT TRUSTS IN INDIA.

288. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the fact that not one of the seven Chairmen of the Port Trusts in India is an Indian ;
- (b) whether they propose to take any steps to redress this racial inequality ; and
- (c) if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given to part (b) of his question No. 731 on the 8th March, 1935, and to the supplementary questions and answers thereto where the whole matter is discussed in great detail.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why the Government of India are against any Statutory provision for increasing the number of Indians on these Port Trusts, with a view to getting at least a few Indians elected as Chairmen of some of these Port Trusts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe that, in the supplementaries to the previous question, the Honourable the Finance Member has given an answer to that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I was told that that might raise racial considerations. I asked the question then, but I did not get an answer. I ask now the Honourable the Commerce Member with more hope, what is the racial consideration involved in reserving chairmanships of Indian Port Trusts to Indians ? Why do the Government think that, in India, Indians should not be protected as against other races ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Honourable Member says that he put that question to the Honourable the Finance Member, and I have no doubt that he received a reply when he put that question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I did not, and, therefore, I am asking the Honourable the Commerce Member who is now replying, he himself being an Indian. I ask why he thinks or the Government think that reserving membership or chairmanship to Indians on Indian Port Trusts is a racial matter.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is immaterial whether the question is put to a European Member or an Indian Member of Government. The position of Government with regard to these Port Trusts is that, as the Indianisation of Services continues, there will be a larger and larger number of Indians on the Port Trusts, and Government do not think it is either feasible or desirable to introduce legislation to reserve a certain proportion of membership to Indians as such.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the reasons why Government do not think it desirable that Indianisation should proceed much more rapidly in this branch of public administration, than it does today ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If Government take the action suggested, it would amount to disqualification of a particular race, and that is the racial consideration involved.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why should Europeans not be disqualified in this country ? This is Indians' country, and not Europeans' country.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : One more supplementary question, Sir. May I know why, in Chittagong uniformly, the Agent of the Assam Bengal Railway is made a member and Chairman again and again of the Port Trust there ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I do not know that any special answer is necessary. Agents of Railways are often members of Port Trusts, and, if an Agent is appointed Chairman, I do not think there is any extraordinary reason behind it.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government considered the inconvenience caused to Indian merchants, exporters and importers, by the continuous presence of a European as Chairman ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In Chittagong, a European has not been continuously Chairman of the Port Trust.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question, No. 289.

CONSTITUTION OF A PERMANENT TARIFF BOARD.

289. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have come to any decision on the question of constituting a permanent Tariff Board ;

(b) whether they have considered the evil effects of appointing ad hoc Tariff Boards from time to time ; and

(c) when they propose to come to a decision on this question ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Government are still of opinion that it is unnecessary to constitute a permanent Tariff Board.

(b) Government do not admit that evil effects result from the appointment of ad hoc Tariff Boards.

(c) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why Government have not yet come to a conclusion in favour of a permanent Tariff Board, especially in view of the fact that it is a judicial or at least a quasi-judicial body ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government do not consider that that is any reason for constituting a permanent Tariff Board.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the answer to part (b) of the question, have Government considered in their recent appointment of the ad hoc Tariff Board for textile duties, that they have appointed two gentlemen, one of whom is a representative of British commerce, and the other, a violent supporter of the Mody-Lees and Ottawa Pacts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If the reference is to Sir Alexander Murray, he is not a representative of British commerce. He was, I believe, connected for a long time with a firm that carried on business in jute in Bengal.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : For whom ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : For that firm.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : For Britain.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In the interests both of that firm and of India. And he has been Chairman of the Associated Chambers of India and Ceylon. He has been a member of the Bengal Legislative Council. He has been a Member of the late Imperial Legislative Council, he has been a Member of the Council of State, he has been a Member of this House, he has been a member of three Royal Commissions. He has twice represented India in International Labour Conventions at Washington and Geneva. With regard to the other gentleman, whether the reference is to Diwan Bahadur A. Ramaswami Mudaliar, or to Mr. Fazal Ibrahim Rahimtoola, I do not think that the allegation that they are violent supporters, either of one pact or the other, is justified.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am overwhelmed, but may I ask whether, apart from being violent, Diwan Bahadur Ramaswami Mudaliar is not a supporter of British preference, that is to say, of both the Mody-Lees Pact and the Ottawa Pact, and what are the reasons why Government appointed him to this Committee, considering that it has got to make very important recommendations on this particular matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government appointed Diwan Bahadur Ramaswami Mudaliar, because they thought that he was an excellent choice for this Committee.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I have no doubt about that, that suits them ; but I am asking only one more question. Have Government considered that appointing gentlemen to ad hoc Tariff Boards creates in them a feeling that they will not be there for ever, and, therefore, they find themselves in a more difficult position than they would be, if they were permanently appointed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, I do not agree.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether the Government propose to come to a decision on this question, namely, of having a permanent Tariff Board, and, if so, when? Part (c) of the question.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The answer to the first part of the question which I read out was that Government are still of opinion that it is unnecessary to constitute a permanent Tariff Board. The next question is, when will your intentions change, when will your opinion change. I am unable to say whether it will change, and, if it does, when.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that, in the interests of the consumers, protection should be granted only for so long and for such industries as there is a necessity, will Government consider the advisability of establishing a permanent Tariff Board to make enquiries from time to time to see whether the industries which are given protection are properly run and efficiently managed and that the protection is given only for the time being?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have heard the Honourable Member, but I am quite unable to follow the question.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

†290.*

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I do not put question No. 290. That has been already answered. I put No. 291.

NEW TYPE OF AEROPLANE FOR OPERATION IN INDIA.

291. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether it is a fact that a new type of aeroplane for operation in India and the middle East is at present undergoing trials before experts of the Air ministry in London ;
- (b) whether it is intended to use them for North-West Frontier work ; and
- (c) whether Government propose to continue the work of bombing the villages, and if so, why ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). The answer is in the negative.

(c) The position of the Government of India has always been that they are prepared to subscribe to any general international convention regarding the abolition of military aircraft, but that in the absence of such a convention they are not prepared to deprive themselves unilaterally of the use of a weapon which, in certain circumstances and subject to the restrictions and safeguards that are invariably imposed on its employment, has proved itself an effective and economical adjunct to the preservation of the peace of the Frontier.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it or is it not a fact that International Conferences have been asking for the abolition of bombing from the air on the civilian population, and that the Government of Great Britain opposed that International Convention?

†Not put by the questioner.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No. That is not a fact.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Were the Government of India consulted about the abolition of bombing from the air on civilian population?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : With reference to the Disarmament Conference? Yes, their views were asked for.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What were the views of the Government of India?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have just stated them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that the Government of India are against the abolition of bombing from air on the civil population?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Government of India were prepared, as I said, to subscribe to any general convention for the abolition of military aircraft, but they were not prepared in advance of any such general agreement to deprive themselves of a particular weapon which, under certain circumstances, can be and is of great value.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that the position of the Government of India is this—that, unless all military aircraft is abolished altogether, they will not give up bombing from air on the civil population?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have explained as clearly as I can what the policy of the Government is, but I must object to the statement that the policy of the Government is, or ever has been, to bomb the civil population. We have never done that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether they are willing to abolish unilaterally, if I may put that question to Mr. Tottenham, bombing from air on the civil population?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : We have never bombed the civil population.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Did the Government of India raise their voice when Great Britain wanted exception in favour of the North-West Frontier, Iraq and other places?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Government of India agreed with His Majesty's Government that it would be legitimate to make this reservation regarding police bombing in their own areas. They agreed to the establishment of the convention prohibiting bombing as an international weapon, but accepted the reservation of retaining the power of air bombing for police purposes in their own areas. That was at a certain stage in the Disarmament Conference.

PREVENTION OF CONGRESSMEN FROM VISITING QUETTA.

292. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state whether their policy of preventing Congressmen from visiting Quetta had any political considerations behind it?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The

SAFEGUARDING OF THE INTERESTS OF INDIAN IN ZANZIBAR.

293. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : (a) Have Government made any representation to His Majesty's Government with a view to safeguarding the interests of Indians in Zanzibar as recommended by Mr. K. P. S. Menon in his report ?

(b) If so, what has been the result of the representation ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me on the 4th September, 1935, to Mr. S. Satyamurti's question No. 118.

IMPOSITION OF A PROHIBITIVE IMPORT DUTY ON ZANZIBAR CLOVES.

294. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Is it a fact that the Indians in Zanzibar have asked Government to impose prohibitive import duty on Zanzibar cloves ? If so, have Government considered the advisability of legislating accordingly ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. As regards the second part, the attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me on the 5th September, 1935, to part (c) of Mr. S. Satyamurti's question No. 144.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Are Government aware that Indians in Zanzibar passed a Resolution urging upon the Government of India to take immediate action including imposition of prohibitive duty on cloves ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Government have received a copy of that Resolution.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : What action have the Government of India taken ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I explained that in my reply to Mr. Satyamurti the other day.

TREATY OF COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND ZANZIBAR.

295. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : (a) Is it a fact that a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation exists between Great Britain and Zanzibar ?

(b) If so, will Government state whether they have considered if the provisions of Clove Growers' Association and clove importers' decrees are in contravention of the provisions of the aforesaid treaty and further whether the provisions of other decrees in question are in consistence with its provisions ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the statement laid on the table of the House with reference to the reply given to starred question No. 1322 asked by Mr. S. Satyamurti on the 2nd April, 1935.

(b) In view of the fact that the treaty referred to by the Honourable Member is no longer in force, this question does not arise.

DISSATISFACTION AMONG INDIANS IN FIJI DUE TO THE PROPOSED CHANGE IN THE SYSTEM OF REPRESENTATION IN MUNICIPALITIES AND THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

296. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : (a) Is it a fact that steps are being taken by the Government in Fiji to replace the present system of representation in municipalities and the Legislative Council in Fiji by the system of nomination ?

(b) Are Government aware that the proposed change has caused great dissatisfaction among Indians in Fiji ?

(c) If so, what steps, if any, do Government propose to take to stop the proposed change in the system of representation ?

(d) Did the Colonies Committees, appointed by the Government of India, submit to the Colonial Office any memoranda on the position of Indians in Fiji ?

(e) If so, will Government be pleased to state what recommendations, if any, it made regarding municipal franchise ?

(f) Did the Colonial Office take any action on them ? If so, what ?

(g) Is the proposed change in the system of representation in conformity with the above mentioned recommendations ?

(h) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of sending, at an early date, a mission of enquiry to Fiji to study the situation on the spot and to report on the problems now confronting Indians in that colony ?

(i) Is it a fact that Indians in Fiji have asked for such an enquiry ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) to (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply given by me on the 5th September, 1935, to Mr. Avinashilingam Chettiar's question No. 149.

(d) to (g). With regard to municipal councils, the facts are these. There are two Municipal Councils in Fiji of whom only one, viz., Suva, is of importance to Indians. Under the Municipal Institutions Ordinance of 1909, this Council was composed of members elected on a common electoral roll, but as the franchise was restricted to persons who could read, write and speak the English language, and the town of Suva was one single constituency, no Indian was ever elected to this council. The Colonies Committee referred to by the Honourable Member suggested that in order to ensure Indian representation on the Municipal Council of Suva, the principal Indian vernaculars should be recognised as qualifying a person to vote, on the same footing as English, and the town should be divided into wards. This recommendation, though supported by the Government of India, was not accepted by the Colonial Office. The choice thus lay between no representation of Indians and representation in equal strength with the other communities, on a basis of nomination for all. The Government of India saw no objection to this arrangement, provided that this could be secured without prejudice to its subsequent revision, should circumstances make this possible, on the basis of a common electoral roll and recognition of Indian vernaculars as qualifying tests for the municipal franchise on the same terms as English. They have acquiesced in the change from the old system, which left the Indian unrepresented, to the present which gives him equal representation with Europeans and Fijians on a nominated Municipal Council, on this understanding.

(h) The matter is under consideration.

(i) The Indian Association of Fiji have asked for an enquiry.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : When does the next election to the Legislative Council take place ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The term of the Legislative Council has been extended by a period not exceeding one year in order to enable the different interests concerned to be consulted on this question of nomination versus election.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Are the Government of India sending a representation on behalf of Indians in Fiji to the Colonial Office ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : In reply to a question by Mr. Satyamurti the other day, I stated that the Government of India would be sending their representation to the Colonial Office after consulting the Standing Emigration Committee of the Legislature.

REPRESENTATION FROM CERTAIN DRIVERS OF THE MORADABAD DIVISION, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

297. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the Railway Board have received any representation from Abdul Shakoor and other drivers working in the Moradabad Sub-division of the East Indian Railway ? If so, what action have Government taken on it ?

(b) Is it a fact that in 1931 when they were made to accept reduced pay as a measure of economy, they were given an assurance that, on the improvement of financial position, they would be given the pay to which they would have been entitled in case they were drawing their original pay ?

(c) If so, why has their pay not been restored in accordance with the aforesaid assurance ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the information laid on the table of the House on the 2nd September, 1935, in reply to his starred question No. 395 asked on the 21st February, 1935.

APPOINTMENT OF A COMMITTEE BY THE CONGRESS PARTY IN THE ASSEMBLY TO ENQUIRE INTO AND REPORT UPON THE ADMINISTRATION OF REPRESSIVE LAWS IN BENGAL.

298. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : (a) Are Government aware of the appointment of a Committee by the Congress Party in this House to enquire into and report upon the administration of repressive laws in Bengal ?

(b) Is it a fact that the Government of India, in consultation with the Bengal Government, have issued a circular to the effect that the correspondence of the members of the Committee be specially censored and that the report of the Committee should not be allowed to be published ?

(c) If so, will Government be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the aforesaid circular ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state the reasons for issuing such a circular ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Yes.

(b), (c) and (d). If such a circular had been issued, it would necessarily have been of a confidential nature and an answer to these parts of the Honourable Member's question would, therefore, amount to giving publicity to the existence and contents of a confidential document, which would be contrary to the public interest.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Was such a circular issued at all ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I say that if such a circular had been issued, it would necessarily be of a confidential nature, and it would be contrary to the public interest to give publicity either to the existence or the contents of a confidential document.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Are Government aware of the United Press message of the 30th May, reporting that such a circular had been issued and which runs as follows :

"The United Press reliably understands that the Government of India after consultation with Provincial Governments especially the Government of Bengal, have finally decided to put a ban on the Report of the Committee appointed by the Assembly Congress Party to investigate and report on the question of repression in Bengal. The Government views this move on the part of the Congress with disfavour and allege that the Committee is collecting deliberately one-sided information which is calculated to bring the Government of India into contempt not only in this country but in the eyes of the nations of the world. It is understood that strict censorship has been advised to be kept on the correspondence between members of the Committee and immediately the report is ready to forfeit it under the Press Act."

Is it a fact that a circular has been issued on these lines ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have already said that I cannot answer that.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Is the Honourable Member aware that my correspondence is being strictly censored ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No, Sir.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Will the Honourable Member believe me when I say that letters addressed by two Honourable Members of this Assembly were despatched to me, but they have not been delivered to me ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have no knowledge about that.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Will the Honourable Member kindly make inquiries and find out ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No, Sir.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Why not ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

PUBLICITY GIVEN TO THE PART-DELIVERED SPEECH OF THE LAW MEMBER ON MR. B. DAS'S INDIAN CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT (REPEAL) BILL.

299. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : (a) Is it a fact that the part-delivered speech of the Law Member in connection with Mr. B. Das's Bill to repeal Criminal Law Amendment Act was sent to various Local Governments with instructions that it may be translated and distributed among the public ?

(b) Is it a fact that special efforts were made to give publicity to that speech ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) and (b). Government considered that the speech contained information of great importance which was not generally known to the public and that it merited wider circulation than it would obtain through the Press and for these reasons they arranged for copies of the speech to be widely distributed.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Why is it that Mr. Das's speech was not also circularised simultaneously, so that the public might be able to get an impartial idea of that debate ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That was for Mr. Das to do.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is this the first time that speeches delivered by Honourable Members of the Government are specially circularised to various Local Governments, with a view to giving them instructions to give them further publicity ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : It has been done frequently.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : What was the hurry about it ? What was the hurry about circulating the speech before it was actually completed ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The hurry was this that, obviously, the speech could not be completed before a period of at least six months.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government consider it fair to circulate a one-sided speech, without giving the Opposition an opportunity of meeting those one-sided facts ? They may be false facts. Without, at the same time, affording an opportunity to the Opposition to contradict those statements of so-called fact, is it fair on the part of the Government to circulate only a one-sided speech ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is a matter of opinion. Next question.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

300. *Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : (a) Are Government aware that lately there have been reports in the press of suicides by individuals and whole families on account of unemployment ?

(b) Have Government taken any steps to tackle the problem of unemployment in the centrally-administered areas ?

(c) Have Government got any information regarding the extent of unemployment prevailing amongst the educated classes of the centrally-administered areas ? If not, are Government prepared to make necessary arrangements for collecting statistics in this connection ?

(d) Do Government also propose to consider the advisability of appointing an enquiry committee ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) I have seen one or two reports of individual suicides attributed to unemployment : I am not aware of cases of suicide by whole families.

(b) Yes.

(c) I would refer to the answer I have already given to Mr. Asaf Ali's starred question No. 265.

(d) Government do not propose to appoint a committee to deal with the centrally-administered areas.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government please consider the advisability of establishing some labour exchanges and employment bureaus in centrally-administered areas ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : There is no such proposal.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Did Government take any steps to verify the reports published in the papers ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : No, Sir.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : In reply to clause (c) of the question, I gather, the answer was that no steps are being taken by the Government of India to organise unemployment relief and that no statistics have been gathered till now. If the Government propose at some future date to adopt or undertake such relief measures, is it not necessary for them to know what exactly is the number of people unemployed ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : It is no doubt most desirable to have that information if the information could be compiled in a form in which one could place any reliance, but the difficulty is that to compile statistics of unemployment is a practically impossible task.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are not similar statistics collected in America and England ? Does not the Honourable Member know that there are ten millions of unemployed people in America ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : "Unemployment" is a negative thing, and it is very difficult to establish a negative. The figures referred to, which are obtained in other countries, do not relate to negative things. They are called "statistics of unemployment", but they are, as a matter of fact, statistics of positive things, that is, of persons who are in receipt of relief of various kinds.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : How is relief given before it is known how many there are who are unemployed ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : These forms of relief were started in England, for instance, by the trades unions themselves and have been gradually expanded.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Were there no statistics of unemployment before relief measures were started in England ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The trades unions themselves provided them. Again, they were figures of positive things ; they were figures of members on the trade union registers who were out of job.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are not women also in England getting relief by way of maternity relief ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Sir, I fail to understand the Honourable Member's question. If there are figures of women in England in receipt of maternity relief, again they are positive things and could be easily counted.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Sir,.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question has been sufficiently answered. The position is quite clear now. Next question.

SECRETARY OF STATE'S CONCEPTION OF POLITICAL OFFENDERS OF THE CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE CLASS AND BOMB-THROWERS.

301. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Has Government's attention been drawn to a statement, which the Secretary of State is reported to have made in the House of Lords with reference to an amendment of Lord Faringdon to clause 26 of the Government of India Bill (disqualification of offenders) in which the Secretary of State opined that there was no difference between one who participated in civil disobedience and a person who threw a bomb at a Viceroy ?

(b) Are Government aware of the difference between the two classes of offenders described above ?

(c) If so, have they taken any step to rectify the Secretary of State's conception of political offenders of the civil disobedience class and bomb-throwers ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Yes. I will read an extract from the official report of the Secretary of State's speech :

" One of the difficulties in meeting the request of noble Lords opposite is due to the fact that in India there is no distinction between a political and a criminal offence. It is very often difficult to discriminate between a criminal and a political offence in any country, and certainly in Indian law no distinction is made. I am rather wondering whether my noble friends opposite would suggest that the Indian gentleman who bombed my noble friend here (Lord Halifax) was guilty of a criminal offence or a political offence. I think it would be found difficult to decide whether it was a criminal offence or a political offence."

The observations do not appear to me to justify the construction put on them by the Honourable Member.

(b) and (c). Do not arise.

DECREASE IN THE INDIAN EXPORTS TO CERTAIN COUNTRIES.

302. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Is it a fact that Indian exports to France, Germany, Italy and Japan have fallen during the last two years ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to furnish comparative figures for the last five years including 1935, to show the percentage of decrease ?

(c) Can Government explain the causes of this decrease and say how far it is due to the operation of the Ottawa Agreement ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). The Honourable Member is referred to Volume II of the Annual Statement of the Sea-borne Trade of British India for the year ending 31st March, 1934, and Monthly Accounts relating to the Sea-borne Trade and Navigation of British India for March, 1935, copies of which are available in the Library of the House.

(c) The decrease in Indian exports to certain countries is due partly to the continued depression in world trade and partly to the adoption of restrictive measures by these countries for the purpose of safeguarding their industrial and monetary interests.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : When were the first restrictions imposed on the imports of goods into Japan and other countries ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am not aware of the date.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Was it not after 1932—the date of the conclusion of the Ottawa Pact ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am unable to say.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that the exports of groundnut to Italy and Germany have considerably fallen during the last few years ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot say.

LEASE OF LAND BETWEEN DELHI AND SHAHDARA TO MR. WAUGH.

303. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) How many acres of land between Delhi and Shahdara, and on what terms, have the Delhi Government leased to Mr. Waugh ?

(b) How much of this land has been actually under cultivation, and for how long ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) 718.33 acres in Shahdara were leased to Mr. Waugh for a period of 25 years from the 1st April, 1923. The lessee was given the option of acquiring proprietary rights at any time during the currency of the lease, at a price to be determined at the time of purchase. He was to pay land revenue at Rs. 1 per acre for the first two years, Rs. 2 per acre for the next three and after that at current rates. A malikana at half the revenue rate was also to be paid.

(b) In 1934, 268 acres were actually under cultivation. The whole area was previously lying waste, and this portion of it was broken up and brought under cultivation between 1923 and 1934.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Will the Honourable Member kindly tell me whether he has any knowledge of the number of cultivators who had been dispossessed before 1923 on account of the acquisition of land in connection with New Delhi ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not think that this has anything to do with the acquisition of land for New Delhi. As regards this parti-ular area, as I have already informed the Honourable Member, my information is that at the time when it was leased it was lying waste, so no cultivators could have been dispossessed.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : May I ask, Sir, if Government have considered the suggestion of granting this land to a co-operative society of peasants so that they might be able to utilise it better than the individual who is using it only for himself?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, seeing that the lease to this particular individual was given eleven years ago, and I also gather that it was actually sold in October, 1934, it is not possible for Government, at any rate, to give it to a co-operative society.

CULTIVATORS AFFECTED BY ACQUISITION OF LAND FOR THE PUSA INSTITUTE IN DELHI.

304. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) How many cultivators of the Delhi Province are likely to be affected by acquisition of land for the Pusa Institute?

(b) How do Government propose to provide such persons with cultivable land elsewhere?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). Steps have been taken to acquire 474 acres of land. This area constitutes about a third of the total held by the 250 cultivators affected. The cultivators, portions of whose holdings have been acquired, were told that, if they wished, recommendation would be made to the Punjab Government to provide them with land in the neighbouring districts of the Punjab where Government lands are available but so far they have not made any application.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is there any culturable land at all in that neighbourhood which could possibly be granted to these people?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I can assure my Honourable friend that if culturable land in the neighbourhood in the possession of Government were available, assistance would have been given to these people to make use of it.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Could it not have been possible for Government to have thought of establishing this Institute a little farther off, so that these people might not have been dispossessed of their houses?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Unless this Institute had been established on waste land, somebody or other was sure to have been dispossessed.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Can these cultivators be accommodated by Mr. Waugh, because he possesses 718 acres of land?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The geographical position rather is that this land is taken on this side of Jumna whereas the other land is across the Jumna, and I hardly think that these people would care to go across the Jumna in order to cultivate the land there.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : They have already been dispossessed of their land which has been acquired by Government and so they will be prepared to go anywhere to cultivate land and certainly across the Jumna which is only a question of about two miles.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, I think my Honourable friend did not quite follow what I said. I said that it is only one-third of the land belonging to these cultivators that has been acquired. In other words, there has hardly been a single case of complete dispossession. What has happened is that a small plot of land has been taken from the total holding.

RELIEVING OF CONGESTION IN OLD DELHI.

305. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Have Government taken any steps to make nazul land in the Delhi Province referred to in my question No. 151 of the last session, available for relieving congestion in Old Delhi?

(b) Have Government invited the attention of the Delhi Municipal Committee to my questions Nos. 100 and 101 (c) to (g) and their answers? If so, when, and if not, why not?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : With your permission, Sir, I shall answer parts (a) and (b) together. The Government of India have decided to place an officer on special duty at Delhi to ascertain, with greater definiteness than has been attempted so far, (i) the nature and magnitude of the problem of congestion, (ii) the extent to which the measures already undertaken or now in progress provide a solution, (iii) the manner in and the extent to which these processes need to be supplemented, (iv) the agency to which the supplemental measures should be entrusted, and (v) the expenditure involved and the best way of providing it. As soon as the report of the investigating officer becomes available, Government will examine it and take up the question as to what action is desirable and practicable.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I know if the officer appointed is also an expert in matters which have been entrusted to him?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : It has not been possible to find an officer who was expert in town-planning, and, at the same time, expert in the local conditions of Delhi, but I can assure my Honourable friend that, in the process of investigation, if he needs expert assistance of a technical character, that assistance will be forthcoming.

REPORT CALLED FOR BY THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX, BIHAR AND ORISSA, IN APPEAL CASES.

306. *Mr. Ram Narayan Singh : Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that the Commissioner of Income-tax, Bihar and Orissa, calls for a report from subordinate authorities invariably in each case in which an appeal is filed to him? If so, is that report of a confidential nature, and is the assessee entitled to a copy of such report?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The Commissioner of Income-tax calls for reports from Income-tax Officers on the allegations made in the petitions of appeal under section 32 as well as on those in petitions under section 33, whenever there is any point raised which has not been properly or fully dealt with in the orders of the lower authorities. No report is called for where such report is not necessary.

In the ordinary course the reports of Income-tax Officers are treated as confidential. But very often the Commissioner of Income-tax, Bihar and Orissa, has given the assessee a copy of the report if asked for by the assessee when the report does not contain any confidential matter. It is often necessary to inform the assessee of the substance of the Income-tax Officer's report in order to enable the Commissioner to decide the assessee's objection.

REGULATION OF INCOME-TAX ASSESSMENT IN BIHAR AND ORISSA.

307. *Mr. Ram Narayan Singh : (a) Is it a fact that there is a practice prevalent in Bihar and Orissa of regulating income-tax assessments by means of confidential circulars and instructions issued by the Commissioner ?

(b) Is it a fact that a complaint of such a nature was made on behalf of the Maharajahdhiraja of Darbhanga in the civil suit instituted against the Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax, Bihar and Orissa ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) The answer is in the negative. The Income-tax Officers sometimes consult the Commissioner on points of law arising in the course of assessments and receive instructions asked for.

(b) It does not appear from the records that such a complaint was made in the civil suit instituted by the Maharajahdhiraja of Darbhanga.

Mr. Ram Narayan Singh : Is it not a fact that the Maharajahdhiraja of Darbhanga brought a civil suit against the Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax and that the suit was hushed up simply because the Commissioner was personally criminally involved in it ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative, and the answer to the second part is in the negative.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What happened to the civil suit ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : If the Honourable Member will put down a question, I will give an exact answer.

ABSENCE OF WAITING ACCOMMODATION FOR ASSESSEES IN INCOME-TAX OFFICES IN BIHAR AND ORISSA.

308. *Mr. Ram Narayan Singh : Are Government aware that in most of the Income-tax offices in Bihar and Orissa there is no proper accommodation for the waiting assessee ? If so, do Government propose to do anything for their comfort ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Steps are being taken to provide better accommodation for assessee. In several Income-tax Offices an extra room is already set apart for them.

GRIEVANCES OF THE INCOME-TAX STAFF IN BIHAR AND ORISSA.

309. *Mr. Ram Narayan Singh : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the articles published in the Indian Nation, Patna, dated the 12th and 24th June, 1935, under the caption "The grievances of the Income tax staff" ? If so, what action, if any, have they taken or propose to take to remove those grievances ?

(b) Are Government aware that there is great discontent among the Income-tax staff, Bihar and Orissa, against the unreasonably harsh and insulting treatment which is constantly meted out to them by the Commissioner of Income-tax ?

(c) Is it a fact that the Commissioner of Income-tax, Bihar and Orissa, uses unparliamentary and insulting language towards his subordinates in official letters and documents ?

(d) Are Government aware that an impression is abroad that the concurrence of the Commissioner of Income-tax, Bihar and Orissa, to the proposals of his office in the essential matters of promotion, postings and transfers of the staff is a mere formality ?

(e) Is it a fact that complaints of such nature were made against the office staff of the Commissioner from time to time ? If so, what action did Government take to eradicate the evil ?

(f) Is it a fact that when complaints of such nature were made in the past, the Commissioner of Income-tax reported to the Government of India that such complaints were made at the instance of interested persons ?

(g) Do Government propose to institute a regular enquiry into the existing administration of the Income-tax Department, Bihar and Orissa, in order to remove the complaints and defects and to place it on a satisfactory basis ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Yes. The two letters which appeared in the Indian Nation to which the Honourable Member refers suggest that there is a sense of insecurity in the Bihar and Orissa Income-tax Service, because there were some retrenchments of officers in 1932 ; and, secondly, that as all the officers of the Department are placed under the control of one officer, viz., the Commissioner of Income-tax,—if that officer is not strong and impartial, the interests of the subordinate officers may suffer by intrigues in the department and the officers may be subjected to undeserved "pin-pricks". The officers of the Department know that the retrenchments made in the Income-tax Department as well as in other Departments were non-recurrent measures necessitated by the financial stringency of the time, and are not likely to be repeated. They, therefore, have no reason for labouring under a sense of insecurity. The Government of India agree with the other sentiments expressed in the letters though not with the implication that the situation suggested actually exists and do not consider that any action is called for.

(b) and (c). The answer is in the negative. The Bihar and Orissa Income-tax staff both Gazetted and Ministerial have their own recognised Associations and have never complained of harsh or insulting treatment on the part of the head of the Department or unparliamentary language in official letters or documents.

(d) The suggestion made in the question has no foundation.

L206LAD

(e) The answer to the first part of the question is in the negative. The second part of the question does not therefore, arise.

(f) No.

(g) No.

MUSLIMS APPOINTED AS SUGAR INSPECTORS.

310. *Sir Muhammad Yakub : (a) How many Sugar Inspectors were appointed last year and how many of them were Muslims ?

(b) Is it a fact that one of the Muslims appointed last year has resigned ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : With your permission, Sir, I shall answer questions 310 and 311 together. The staff employed in connection with the administration of the sugar excise duty is under the control of the Provincial Governments. The Government of India have, therefore, no information regarding appointments of Sugar Inspectors, and the orders relating to the reservation of posts in Central Services do not apply to such appointments.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : What does the Honourable Member mean that the orders of the Government of India do not apply to "such appointments" ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The appointments of sugar inspectors made by Provincial Governments.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Are not the Government of India taking the excise duty from sugar ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The excise duty is levied on behalf of the Government of India by the Provincial Governments working as agents to the Government of India.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Cannot the Government of India direct the Provincial Governments to make recruitment according to the rules which have been issued by the Government of India about recruitment in the Central Services ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I am not aware that that question is being considered.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Will Government consider this question ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I am prepared to consider whether anything could be done in that direction.

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : Does it come to this that the Government of India cannot help the Muslims in this matter ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : It comes to this that the Government of India have not interfered with the arrangements of the Provincial Governments in a subject which the Provincial Governments are administering as their agents.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the Government of India are in a position to get information from the Provincial Governments on questions like these when Honourable Members of this House want information ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : It depends upon the opinion of the Government of India as to the value of the information if obtained.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Am I to understand that the Government of India attach no value to the questions put today ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The Government of India do not consider it necessary to interfere with the arrangements made by Local Governments for recruiting staff for the administration of a Central subject when the Local Governments are working as their agents.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Am I to understand that the Resolution which was issued by the Home Department last year was merely an eye-wash and there was no substance in it ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : No, Sir. The amount of staff employed by the Provincial Governments as agents of the Government of India—at least so far as the Board of Central Revenue is concerned—is negligible compared with the amount of staff employed directly by the Central Government.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Are Government aware that many back-doors are open in the Government of India to nullify the effect of the Home Department Resolution regarding communal representation ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : No, Sir.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Are the Government of India prepared to make a survey of the effect of their Resolution ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The Government of India are not prepared to undertake any survey of the kind mentioned by the Honourable Member unless they are satisfied that there is some foundation for an allegation of the nature made by the Honourable Member.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

RECRUITMENT OF MUSLIMS AS SUGAR INSPECTORS.

†311. *Sir Muhammad Yakub : (a) What is the total number of Sugar Inspectors which the Government of India are going to recruit this year ?

(b) Do Government propose to observe their orders for reservation of 25 per cent. of the posts for Muslims ? If not, why not ?

PERCENTAGE FIXED FOR MUSLIMS ON THE ASSAM BENGAL RAILWAY.

312. *Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the percentage which the Railway Board has fixed for Muhammadans on the Assam Bengal Railway

(b) Was this percentage communicated to the Agent of the Assam Bengal Railway ?

(c) Was the Agent instructed, directly or indirectly, to give the percentage fixed for the Mussalmans to other communities ?

(d) Did the Agent follow the instructions of the Railway Board in the recent recruitments ?

†For answer to this question, see answer to question No. 310.

860

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[12TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a), (b) and (d). The Railway Board suggested that 35 per cent. of all vacancies in the subordinate posts to be filled in future by direct recruitment should be reserved for Muslims. This has been accepted by the Board of Directors and the operation of the orders will be watched by the Government of India by means of statements which Railway Administrations are required to submit quarterly.

(c) No.

ENQUIRY INTO THE CONDUCT OF AN IMPERIAL SERVICE OFFICER.

313. *Sardar Mangal Singh : (a) Will Government please state who is a competent authority to order an enquiry under Act XXXVII of 1850 into the conduct of an Imperial Service Officer ?

(b) Will Government please state how many officers of the Imperial Services have been tried under Act XXXVII of 1850 by one Commissioner and how many by more than one ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) The authority is the Governor General in Council.

(b) I regret I am unable to supply this information the collection of which would necessitate an examination of the records of every inquiry held under the Act.

RECRUITMENT OF MUSLIMS IN THE ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT OF STATE RAILWAYS.

314. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the respective numbers of Muslim and non-Muslim employees in the Engineering Department of the several State-owned Railways ?

(b) In view of the paucity of Muslim employees in the Engineering Department of the State-owned Railways, are Government prepared to order that fresh recruitment to the said Department may be confined to the Muslims, when qualified Muslim candidates are available, till the proportion of Muslim employees in the Department comes up to that contemplated by Government orders bearing on the subject ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Government regret they are not prepared to supplement with figures for individual Departments the information in regard to communal representation in railway services which is given in the Annual Administration Report of Indian Railways.

(b) No. I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to paragraph 5 of the Memorandum of Supplementary Instructions, issued by the Government of India, Home Department, in May, 1935, a copy of which is, I believe, in the Library of the House.

CANCELLATION OF THE PASSPORT OF MR. MASANI OF BOMBAY.

315. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Are Government aware of the fact that the passport granted in India to Mr. Masani of Bombay, one of the secretaries of the All-India Congress Socialist Party was seized by the Police in England in order to prevent him from visiting any of the continental countries even for purposes of health ?

(b) If so, what are the special political or other reasons for which he is thus disabled and insulted ?

(c) Is it the intention of Government to prevent any or all the Indian Socialists from visiting any of the continental countries ?

(d) If not, why is Mr. Masani subjected to this disability ? If so, is it to prevent him or them from either studying the socialist activities and policies of the continental countries or from carrying on propaganda on behalf of the Indian Congress Socialists ?

(e) If so, what is the justification for such an action ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) to (e). I am aware that Mr. Masani's passport was impounded in England. This action was taken, not because Mr. Masani is a Socialist but because the Government of India considered that Mr. Masani's activities in India were such as to make it undesirable that he should be in possession of a passport for travel abroad. His passport was renewed subsequently in view of certain assurances being given on his behalf in England.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : With reference to the reply to part (c), is it the intention of the Government to prevent only Indian Socialists from visiting Continental countries ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I said that this action was not taken because Mr. Masani was a Socialist.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the nature of the activities of Mr. Masani or of any other person in India, which, in the judgment of the Government of India, will dis-entitle them to have passports to travel to foreign countries ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That is a very wide question which I cannot answer in a few words.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I have a rough idea ? Apart from violent activities, are there any non-violent activities which are likely to bring such people within the mischief of the prohibition which the Government of India apply in granting passports to travel to foreign countries ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Close association with the Communist Party would be one of the reasons, and, for example, if we knew that the person intended to visit a Communist Conference at Moscow, we would probably refuse to provide him with a passport.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was Mr. Masani going to attend the Communist Conference at Moscow ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not know.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, on what information, did Government withhold permission to Mr. Masani to travel to certain countries ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I did not say that was the exclusive reason ; there were other reasons.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are they ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Close association with the Communist Party is one of the chief reasons.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that Mr. Masani has, for the last two years, been carrying on Congress socialist propaganda and nothing else, and that he is not connected with any Communist organization or Communist propaganda ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think that is a fact.

PROTECTION TO THE INDIAN SERICULTURAL INDUSTRY.

316. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether the Tariff Board has made certain recommendations suggesting the imposition of protective duty upon the imports of foreign silk and silk-yarn in order to protect the Indian Sericulture ?

(b) If so, when and what are those recommendations ?

(c) What is the action taken by Government upon those recommendations ?

(d) Are Government aware of the fact that the imports of silk and silk-yarn are just the same or even more in spite of the import duty levied ?

(e) If so, what are the comparative figures of imports for the year preceding the raising of the import duty and the years since its imposition ?

(f) What are the prices quoted for those imports in the year preceding the raising of the import duty and since its imposition ?

(g) Are Government aware that the present import duty has not tended to give any appreciable protection to the Indian Sericultural Industry ?

(h) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of levying a higher import duty under the Safeguarding of Industries Act to protect the Indian sericultural industry ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) and (c). Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to (1) the Report of the Indian Tariff Board regarding the grant of protection to the Sericultural Industry, and (2) the Indian Tariff (Textile Protection) Amendment Act, 1934, copies of which are available in the Library.

(d), (e) and (f). Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the Accounts relating to the Seaborne Trade and Navigation of British India.

(g) Representations have recently been received to the effect that the existing import duties are inadequate. These are receiving the attention of Government.

(h) The Safeguarding of Industries Act, 1933, lapsed on the 31st March, 1935.

I may add to the written reply that, during my recent tour to South India, representations were made to me also, apart from the representations received by the Department, and the whole question is being very carefully considered.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When was the first representation received by the Government for protection to the sericulture industry ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Before the Tariff Board was set up ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When was it received ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Does the Honourable Member mean when the first representation was received that an enquiry should be made for affording protection before the Tariff Board was set up ? If so, I have no information.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it not some years ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I could not say.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How long do you propose to consider this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : So far as the Tariff Board report is concerned, it was considered and action taken upon it and the Indian Tariff Textile Protection Act of 1934 was passed. I think the Honourable Member is under a misapprehension. Since the Act was passed and the duty was imposed, further representations have been received that adequate duties have not been levied. With regard to this, further representations have been made since the duty was levied which was only a few months ago, and now the whole matter is being considered.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am asking about clause (g) of the question.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As I said, it is a question which requires consideration. The manufacturers of silk, or rather those who are interested in the rearing of silk worms and the preparation of silk, have made representations since the passing of that Act that the duty levied is not adequate. Inasmuch as the Act itself was passed in 1934 and these representations have only been received during the last few weeks, the matter is being taken up again and is being looked into. I have not been able to appreciate the real point of the question.

IMPROVEMENT IN THIRD CLASS CARRIAGES ON RAILWAYS IN INDIA.

317. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the progress made since last Session of the Assembly in the development of a new and better third class carriage ?

(b) Do Government propose to introduce this new model third class carriage upon all the railways in India ?

(c) If not, what steps do they propose to take to see that the third class carriages of all the railways and particularly the Company-managed Railways are also improved ?

(d) What is the estimate of additional cost to be incurred by introducing this new model carriage on State-managed Railways alone ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) A sample third class coach of improved type is at present being built by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway. It will be ready for inspection by the members of the Central Advisory Council for Railways during the next Delhi Session.

(b) and (c). If approved, the new type will be adopted as the future standard for the State-managed Railways. The Company-managed Railways will be requested to adopt this standard design.

(d) It is estimated that the cost of the new type carriage will exceed the cost of the present standard type carriage by Rs. 5,000.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the estimate of the Government of India for the construction of this new type of carriages as and when the old type carriages come to be scrapped and new carriages are put in their place ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I cannot frame an estimate of that at the present moment.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : What is the passenger capacity of the new third class carriage ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I believe it is 96.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Has there been any difference of opinion with regard to the total accommodation between the various State Railways and Company-managed Railways ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : A drawing of this type was placed before the Central Advisory Council last March or April, and it was discussed by the members there and it was finally decided that a coach of that type should be built in Bombay and should be brought to Delhi to be inspected by them, and, after their inspection, they would be in a position to give their advice as to whether any changes would be necessary.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : How many carriages come to be scrapped annually on account of their being too old ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I think my Honourable friend must give me notice of that question.

PLACING OF COMPLAINT BOOKS IN GUARDS' CARRIAGES AND AT JUNCTION STATIONS.

318. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government be pleased to state what action has been taken since last Session upon their promise to me in answer to my question to see that complaint books are placed in the guards' carriages in all trains and also at all the junction stations ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : In answer to the question to which my Honourable friend refers, I stated that I was having enquiries made with a view to considering whether the suggestion should be brought to the notice of other Railways and that when information was obtained I would place it on the table of the House.

The suggestion was brought to the notice of certain principal Railways and I am placing on the table of the House a statement summarising the replies received.

Statement.

Assam Bengal Railway.—Since 1932 guards carry complaint books and a notice to this effect is exhibited in the bath rooms of first and second class compartments. Arrangements are being made for these notices, printed in the vernacular, to be posted up in lower class carriages.

Bengal and North Western Railway.—Complaint books were introduced at some of the more important junctions from November 1931 and a notice is displayed at stations that this book is available. The Head Ticket Collector carries this book with him when checking trains and produces it on demand.

Bengal Nagpur Railway.—Had experimented with a somewhat similar proposal in 1928 when Conductor Guards were given forms to supply to upper class passengers in the event of their wishing to make any complaints. The experiment was not successful and the arrangement was therefore discontinued.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway.—Have introduced the complaint book at Ahmedabad station and propose waiting to see the result of the experiment at stations on other railways.

Eastern Bengal Railway.—Guards carry a complaint book, and a notice to this effect is exhibited in upper class carriages. Arrangements are being made for similar notices to be posted up in all carriages.

East Indian Railway.—Complaint books have been introduced at certain selected stations as an experimental measure for one year, when a report will be submitted to the Railway Board.

Great Indian Peninsula Railway.—Complaint books have been introduced at seven important stations as an experimental measure for one year, when a report will be submitted to the Railway Board.

Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.—Are experimenting by placing "Suggestion Books" at one station.

North Western Railway.—A complaint book has been maintained as an experiment at Lahore station since July 1933 and a notice to this effect is displayed at the station. Only three complaints had been recorded up to May 1935 and, in view of the small use made, the arrangement has not been extended to other stations. The experiment at Lahore station will be continued and a report submitted to the Railway Board after a year.

South Indian Railway.—Are arranging to introduce complaint books at some of the more important stations and a notice to this effect will be exhibited on notice boards : a paragraph regarding this being also inserted in the Railway's Coaching Time Table and Guide.

INFERIOR QUALITY OF FOOD SERVED IN THE VIZAGAPATAM INDIAN REFRESHMENT ROOM.

319. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Are Government aware of the fact that the sweets and other eatables sold in the Vizagapatam Indian Refreshment Room are cooked with oil and are unfit for human consumption and that a cup of coffee is charged 1½ annas as against 1¼ annas charged in other similar refreshment rooms ?

(b) Are Government aware also that the food given there is distinctly of inferior quality to that served in other refreshment rooms ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). I am not aware what refreshment room my Honourable friend is referring to. The Agent, Bengal Nagpur Railway, states that there is no Indian refreshment room at Vizagapatam station. He adds that the price for a cup of coffee in the Railway's Indian Refreshment rooms is one anna.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will the Honourable Member try to ascertain the true facts, because I myself have been to this Indian refreshment room at Vizagapatam, and it is still there ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : May I know when my Honourable friend visited that station ?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Only two months ago.

Mr. P. R. Rau : I will make further inquiries on the point, but the Agent has definitely told me that there is no such refreshment room.

RAILWAY CONCESSION TICKETS ISSUED TO STUDENTS.

320. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state on what conditions and principles are concession tickets issued to students to enable them to go to and from their schools ?

(b) Which schools are recognised for this purpose ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Concession tickets are issued on production of a certificate from the Head Master or Principal of the institution to which the parties belong as follows :

- (1) to parties of not less than 15, when travelling to or from the same stations ;
- (2) to parties of not less than 4, when travelling for examination or educational purposes :
  - (i) from their institution to their homes, or vice versa ;
  - (ii) from their institution to an examination centre, or vice versa ;
  - (iii) from their homes to an examination centre, or vice versa.
- (b) (i) Schools teaching up to the primary, middle, high school or entrance standards which are recognised by the Education Department.
- (ii) Colleges affiliated to a recognised University.
- (iii) Medical schools, technical, commercial, industrial and agricultural institutions under Government or recognised by Government.

REFUSAL TO GRANT CONCESSION TICKETS TO THE STUDENTS OF THE PEASANTS INSTITUTE, ANDHRA.

321. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Are Government aware of the fact that the Peasants Institute started and run by the Andhra Peasants Protection Committee applied in April, 1935, to the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway for concession tickets to its students who are all peasants ?

(b) Is it a fact that such concession tickets were refused to be granted ?

(c) If so, will Government state the reason for such a refusal ?

(d) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of granting such concession tickets to all educational institutions irrespective of the fact of their recognition by the educational department ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) I understand that the Honourable Member applied on the 11th March for concession rates to be granted to students of the Peasants Institute at Nidubrolu.

(b) Yes.

(c) and (d). The Honourable Member will have noticed from my reply to his previous question that the concession is restricted to students of certain recognised institutions. In view of the present financial position of railways, Government are not prepared to extend concessions of this sort unless it is clear that such an extension will result in an increase of earnings.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Why is a discrimination made between one institution and another, and why are some only recognised ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I have already replied to that. I said that, in view of the present financial position of Railways, Government are not prepared to extend the concession to other institutions.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE RURAL CREDIT DEPARTMENT OF THE RESERVE BANK OF INDIA.

322. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what measures have so far been taken by the Reserve Bank of India to develop its Rural Credit Department ?

(b) What is the nature of the recommendations made for its development and work by the special officer Mr. Darling ?

(c) What steps are proposed to be taken during the next year to help the agricultural interests ?

(d) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of appointing an Advisory Council consisting mostly of members of the Central Legislature to aid the Rural Credit Department of the Reserve Bank ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a), (b) and (c). Mr. Darling was appointed on special duty to report on the co-operative and agricultural credit movement to the Reserve Bank in order to assist it in the formation of the agricultural credit department. Mr. Darling's Report is now under the consideration of the Bank and until the Bank has considered the report, it is not possible to state what steps will be taken in the matter.

(d) The creation of the department is a matter for the Bank under section 54 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, and it would be improper for Government to consider the appointment of an Advisory Council to assist that department.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the information of the Government of India as to when the Reserve Bank of India will try to develop its Rural Credit Department and then begin to carry on its functions ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have no information on that. As I say, the report of Mr. Darling is under consideration, and that is all I can say.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that mention has been made here in his own report on rural development about the report submitted by Mr. Darling on the co-operative movement in India, will the Honourable Member inform the House whether he has considered that particular report, and, if so, what are his conclusions ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the Honourable Member is confusing two sets of reports. The primary set is that to the Reserve Bank in relation to the setting up of their Agricultural Credit Department. But Mr. Darling was asked by the Government of India to advise what should be the best way of spending the sum of 10 or 15 lakhs which was set aside from the crore in relation to the co-operative movement. If the Honourable Member wants to know any details about that 15 lakhs he should address the question to the Education, Health and Lands Department.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the nature of the recommendations made by Mr. Darling as to the best way of helping the rural co-operative movement ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The distribution of the 15 lakhs which the Government of India have set apart for assisting the co-operative movement in the provinces has already been made.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Apart from the distribution of 15 lakhs out of this rural development grant, will the Government of India be good enough to tell us the general trend of the recommendations made by Mr. Darling for the development of a Rural Credit Department for the Reserve Bank ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I certainly could not do that without the permission of the Reserve Bank.

CENSUS OF THIRD CLASS PASSENGERS ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY.

323. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Company took a census of third class passengers during the last summer ?

(b) If so, between what stations and for how many and which days ?

(c) What are the results of such a census ?

(d) Was any overcrowding discovered ?

(e) If so, to what extent ?

(f) What steps are proposed to be taken by the Railway authorities to improve the accommodation for third class passengers ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) I understand that a census of passenger trains was taken for a week in June, 1934.

(b), (c), (d) and (e). I am placing on the table a statement showing the number of trains and carriages checked and particulars of the over-crowding brought to notice. Over-crowding was discovered on three broad gauge trains out of 105 trains checked and on two metre gauge trains out of 123 trains checked.

(f) The Agent, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, states that the over-crowding on the broad gauge was due to large marriage parties travelling unexpectedly and that on the metre gauge was due to a sudden rush of traffic from Goa owing to coastal steamer services having been closed on account of the monsoon. This was relieved by the running of an extra train, through to Poona, with effect from the 21st June, 1934.

Statement showing particulars of overcrowding detected in trains during Census taken in June 1934.

| Date.       | Train No. | Station.        |                 | Station at which checked. | Extent of overcrowding. |                            |                                    |
|-------------|-----------|-----------------|-----------------|---------------------------|-------------------------|----------------------------|------------------------------------|
|             |           | From            | To              |                           | Seating capacity.       | Total passengers in train. | No. in excess of seating capacity. |
| 1934 June,— |           |                 |                 |                           |                         |                            |                                    |
| 14th ..     | 10 Up     | Waltair ..      | Madras ..       | Tenali ..                 | 346                     | 360                        | 14                                 |
| 15th ..     | 9 Dn.     | Madras ..       | Waltair ..      | Do. ..                    | 452                     | 473                        | 21                                 |
| 23rd ..     | 15        | Madras ..       | Bangalore City. | Jalarpet ..               | 496                     | 528                        | 32                                 |
| 18th ..     | 1 Up      | Bangalore City. | Poona ..        | Belgaum                   | 294                     | 313                        | 19                                 |
| 19th ..     | 1 Up      | Do. ..          | Do. ..          | Do. ..                    | 234                     | 247                        | 13                                 |

|                                      |   |          |    |    |     |
|--------------------------------------|---|----------|----|----|-----|
| Total number of trains checked ..    | { | B. G. .. | .. | .. | 105 |
|                                      |   | M. G. .. | .. | .. | 123 |
| Total number of carriages checked .. | { | B. G. .. | .. | .. | 555 |
|                                      |   | M. G. .. | .. | .. | 813 |

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do the Government of India understand from the Agent of the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway that any special carriages have to be attached to trains running between Waltair and Madras ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No, Sir ; I am not aware that he is proposing to add extra carriages between Waltair and Madras.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 485 asked by Mr. Sitakanta Mahapatra on the 7th of August, 1934.

POSTING OF CERTAIN INCOME-TAX OFFICIALS AT A PARTICULAR STATION FOR A LONG TIME IN BIHAR AND ORISSA.

(a) and (b). Only one Income-tax Officer and one Inspector-Accountant in Bihar and Orissa continued to remain in the same station for more than three years. They have since been transferred. Only six officers were posted in 1934 to their home districts. Income-tax Officers, as a rule, are transferred after every three years. Inspector-Accountants are transferred as occasion requires. Members of the clerical staff are not ordinarily liable to transfer. Transfers in their cases are made only in exceptional circumstances, e.g., when vacancies occur due to death, retirement or promotion or when there are reasons to believe that the retention of a clerk at a particular station is undesirable.

(c) Yes.

(d) In 1932 four Income-tax Officers applied for leave. It was granted to three of them but postponed in the case of the fourth at his own request. In 1933 also leave was applied for by four officers and was granted to two of them. One officer withdrew his application and the other was refused leave.

(e) The Government are not aware that any sense of insecurity in service exists. The resolution referred to was received and duly considered by Government who were satisfied that there were no grievances which required to be removed.

Information promised in reply to Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant's starred question No. 344 on the 20th February, 1935.

DAMAGE TO CROPS BY THE RECENT FROST.

There was slight or no damage to crops in Madras, Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Assam, Coorg, North-West Frontier Province and Burma. The position in regard to the other provinces is stated below :

Central Provinces.—No appreciable damage was done to crops except in parts of three districts. Remission of land revenue was granted by the Local Government to the extent of Rs. 34,000. In addition relief was given in the shape of suspension of land revenue amounting to Rs. 2,05,000.

Delhi.—Crops were damaged by frost but the rains which fell subsequently made good most of the damage that was done except in the case of oilseed and sugarcane crops, in the case of which loss was estimated to be below 25 per cent. A sum of Rs. 20,000 was set aside for distribution as takavi for the purchase of sugarcane seed. Efforts were made in co-operation with the Agricultural Department of the United Provinces to supply good sugarcane seed from the neighbouring United Provinces Districts.

Ajmer-Merwara.—Damage to standing crops in the Ajmer sub-division and the Beawar tahsil was very slight. In the Todgarh tahsil it was between 4 annas and 8 annas in the rupee but was not widespread. In the Kekri sub-division damage was caused to the gram crops to the extent of 8 annas in the rupee and the early sown barley crops in certain places were also affected. The damage was mitigated by the showers which followed the frost. The damage was not severe or widespread enough to require any special relief measures.

United Provinces.—Arhar was the only crop which suffered considerable damage. The loss to the other crops was negligible except in very limited areas chiefly damaged by hail. Beneficial rain in many districts soon after the frost did much to counteract the loss threatened by frost. Arhar is essentially a kharif crop though it is harvested in the Rabi, but as a special case the United Provinces Government allowed District Officers to treat Arhar as a Rabi crop for purposes of granting relief on account of agricultural calamities during Rabi 1342 Fash.

Baluchistan.—There was no damage to standing crops by frost. Damage was caused to fruit trees by frost while the standing wheat crops in certain parts of the Province were injured by hail but the damage did not prove to be so serious as to require any special relief measures.

Punjab.—The only appreciable damage done by frost in this Province was to the standing sugarcane crop, which was rendered unfit for being used as seed. The damage was mitigated by the fact (1) that the cane intended for seed purposes had already been buried in the ground in many places before the advent of frost, and (2) that most of the Coimbatore varieties which are now extensively grown in the Province are capable of giving a good ratoon crop next year, even if no seed is available for fresh sowings. In the district of Gurdaspur the damage to sugarcane was estimated to be 1/16th in irrigated and 1/4th in un-irrigated tracts. In order to mitigate the distress improved seed was introduced and takavi was distributed. Relief was also given in the shape of suspension of land revenue. Standing rabi crops were damaged in parts of certain districts, where the damage was not made good by subsequent rains, the situation was met by the grant of suspensions or remissions of land revenue and water rate. Fruit trees were also damaged in certain localities but the damage was not serious.

Bombay.—The damage to crops was severe in parts of the Gujarat districts in the Northern Division. There was some damage in certain districts of the Central Division especially Nasik and, to a lesser degree, Ahmadnagar. The districts of the Southern Division were immune from this calamity. In Sind slight damage was caused to rabi crops by a cold wave in Dadu, Thar Parkar, Upper Sind Frontier and Larkana districts. In order that relief might be granted, as far as possible, to the agriculturists whose crops were destroyed either wholly or partially by frost, the Government of Bombay sanctioned suspensions and remissions of land revenue and irrigation dues and also granted concessions in the matter of the recovery of takavi loans and the dues of co-operative societies. The suspensions and remissions of land revenue granted on this account amounted to Rs. 17,72,000 and Rs. 10,86,000 respectively.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 1218 and 1219 asked by Mr. M. S. Aney on the 30th March, 1935.

SALE OF QUININE.

No. 1218.—Statement showing the quantity of Quinine sold in provinces and the amount recovered for its price per Year from 1924-34.

| Province. | Year. | Quantity sold. | Amount recovered. | Remarks.                            |
|-----------|-------|----------------|-------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1         | 2     | 3              | 4                 | 5                                   |
|           |       | lbs.           | Rs.               |                                     |
| Madras    | 1925  | 7,900          | 1,37,097          | Figures for 1924 are not available. |
|           | 1926  | 7,645          | 1,72,355          |                                     |
|           | 1927  | 9,386          | 1,55,459          |                                     |
|           | 1928  | 9,600          | 1,63,157          |                                     |
|           | 1929  | 13,204         | 2,27,285          |                                     |
|           | 1930  | 13,710         | 2,34,203          |                                     |
|           | 1931  | 9,294          | 1,49,508          |                                     |
|           | 1932  | 8,816          | 1,44,433          |                                     |
|           | 1933  | 7,256          | 1,31,169          |                                     |
|           | 1934  | 8,981          | 1,53,747          |                                     |

| Province.           | Year. | Quantity sold. | Amount recovered. | Remarks.                                                |
|---------------------|-------|----------------|-------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| 1                   | 2     | 3              | 4                 | 5                                                       |
|                     |       | lbs.           | Rs.               |                                                         |
| Bombay .. ..        | 1924  | 1,768          | 46,865            |                                                         |
|                     | 1925  | 1,264          | 30,429            |                                                         |
|                     | 1926  | 1,334          | 31,707            |                                                         |
|                     | 1927  | 1,447          | 34,364            |                                                         |
|                     | 1928  | 1,721          | 43,418            |                                                         |
|                     | 1929  | 2,164          | 46,325            |                                                         |
|                     | 1930  | 2,218          | 37,962            |                                                         |
|                     | 1931  | 2,036          | 36,107            |                                                         |
|                     | 1932  | 2,091          | 34,233            |                                                         |
|                     | 1933  | 2,638          | 44,935            |                                                         |
|                     | 1934  | 2,812          | 42,622            |                                                         |
| Bengal .. ..        | 1924  | 38,236         | 7,29,291          | Figures are for the financial years 1924-25 to 1933-34. |
|                     | 1925  | 39,325         | 7,16,911          |                                                         |
|                     | 1926  | 31,510         | 5,34,687          |                                                         |
|                     | 1927  | 23,243         | 3,74,706          |                                                         |
|                     | 1928  | 29,814         | 4,71,692          |                                                         |
|                     | 1929  | 26,612         | 4,30,326          |                                                         |
|                     | 1930  | 28,668         | 4,39,703          |                                                         |
|                     | 1931  | 31,585         | 4,77,941          |                                                         |
|                     | 1932  | 35,493         | 5,21,650          |                                                         |
|                     | 1933  | 46,991         | 7,26,748          |                                                         |
|                     | 1934  | ..             | ..                |                                                         |
| United Provinces .. | 1924  | 646½           | 19,392            |                                                         |
|                     | 1925  | 601            | 18,026            |                                                         |
|                     | 1926  | 425            | 12,757            |                                                         |
|                     | 1927  | 508            | 15,240            |                                                         |
|                     | 1928  | 344            | 10,319            |                                                         |
|                     | 1929  | 550½           | 16,518            |                                                         |

| Province.                       | Year. | Quantity sold. | Amount recovered. | Remarks.                           |
|---------------------------------|-------|----------------|-------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1                               | 2     | 3              | 4                 | 5                                  |
|                                 |       | lbs. oz. dr.   | Rs. a. p.         |                                    |
| United Provinces— contd. | 1930  | 450½           | 13,512 0 0        | Financial year 1924-25 to 1934-35. |
|                                 | 1931  | 467            | 14,006 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1932  | 619½           | 14,853 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1933  | 690½           | 15,989 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1934  | 903            | 21,100 0 0        |                                    |
| Punjab .. ..                    | 1924  | 1,511          | 48,418 8 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1925  | 1,322          | 42,326 1 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1926  | 1,634          | 47,103 14 0       |                                    |
|                                 | 1927  | 1,567          | 34,056 13 0       |                                    |
|                                 | 1928  | 1,702          | 37,055 7 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1929  | 3,818          | 83,373 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1930  | 2,544          | 55,543 6 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1931  | 1,984          | 43,681 15 0       |                                    |
|                                 | 1932  | 2,137          | 46,756 10 0       |                                    |
|                                 | 1933  | 2,854          | 62,384 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1934  | 1,420          | 34,026 9 0        |                                    |
| Bihar and Orissa ..             | 1924  | 671·2          | 26,428 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1925  | 726·6          | 28,602 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1926  | 433·4          | 17,065 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1927  | 398·9          | 10,471 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1928  | 529·5          | 13,899 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1929  | 584·7          | 15,348 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1930  | 501·2          | 13,156 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1931  | 536·4          | 14,080 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1932  | 455·3          | 11,951 0 0        |                                    |
|                                 | 1933  | 344·7          | 9,048 0 0         |                                    |
|                                 | 1934  | 339·2          | 8,348 0 0         |                                    |

| Province.            | Year. | Quantity sold. | Amount recovered. | Remarks.                                                                                                            |
|----------------------|-------|----------------|-------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1                    | 2     | 3              | 4                 | 5                                                                                                                   |
|                      |       | lbs. oz. dr.   | Rs. a. p.         |                                                                                                                     |
| Burma .. ..          | 1924  | 2,147          | 23,482 13 0       | Figures for 1924-28 and 1934 relate to sales of cinchona febrifuge only.                                            |
|                      | 1925  | 2,070·11       | 22,641 14 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1926  | 1,917·49       | 20,972 8 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1927  | 2,343·49       | 25,631 14 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1928  | 1,926·17       | 21,067 8 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1929  | 3,754·57       | 55,958 6 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1930  | 4,246·17       | 65,453 14 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1931  | 5,435·37       | 90,232 0 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1932  | 3,633·66       | 54,704 0 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1933  | 3,579·03       | 57,230 10 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1934  | 1,926·62       | 23,413 12 0       |                                                                                                                     |
| Central Provinces .. | 1924  | 1,113 3 0      | 15,248 15 3       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1925  | 1,050 1 0      | 14,755 3 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1926  | 1,082 8 15     | 14,903 13 11      |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1927  | 1,206 0 4      | 16,453 13 9       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1928  | 1,155 4 8      | 16,348 10 9       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1929  | 1,721 2 0      | 24,047 10 3       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1930  | 1,543 0 0      | 21,462 11 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1931  | 1,548 0 0      | 21,494 14 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1932  | 1,962 0 0      | 21,343 5 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1933  | 1,820 0 0      | 25,264 13 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1934  | 1,710 11 5½    | 24,129 8 7        |                                                                                                                     |
| Assam .. ..          | 1924  | 493·25         | 21,761 0 0        | Figures for 1924-29 represent those for financial years and figures for 1930-34 represent those for calendar years. |
|                      | 1925  | 359·88         | 17,596 0 0        |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1926  | 498·28         | 14,868 14 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1927  | 650·85         | 11,532 14 0       |                                                                                                                     |
|                      | 1928  | 896·11         | 17,064 7 0        |                                                                                                                     |

| Province.                     | Year. | Quantity sold. | Amount recovered. | Remarks.                                              |
|-------------------------------|-------|----------------|-------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| 1                             | 2     | 3              | 4                 | 5                                                     |
|                               |       | lbs. oz. dr.   | Rs. a. p.         |                                                       |
| Assam—contd. ..               | 1929  | 838·62         | 15,745 6 0        | Quinine was distributed free by the local Government. |
|                               | 1930  | 923·88         | 16,696 12 0       |                                                       |
|                               | 1931  | 819·42         | 15,512 14 0       |                                                       |
|                               | 1932  | 717·82         | 13,753 5 0        |                                                       |
|                               | 1933  | 988·34         | 18,965 8 0        |                                                       |
|                               | 1934  | 907·20         | 15,710 8 0        |                                                       |
| North-West Frontier Province. |       | Nil.           |                   |                                                       |
| Coorg .. ..                   | 1924  | ..             | ..                |                                                       |
|                               | 1925  | ..             | ..                |                                                       |
|                               | 1926  | ..             | ..                |                                                       |
|                               | 1927  | 73             | 1,873 9 0         | Figures for 1924-26 are not available.                |
|                               | 1928  | 53             | 1,372 0 6         |                                                       |
|                               | 1929  | 38             | 962 12 3          |                                                       |
|                               | 1930  | 34             | 691 11 0          |                                                       |
|                               | 1931  | 34             | 550 15 6          |                                                       |
|                               | 1932  | 28             | 484 7 3           |                                                       |
|                               | 1933  | 22             | 358 14 9          |                                                       |
|                               | 1934  | 25             | 410 4 9           |                                                       |
| Delhi .. ..                   |       | Nil.           |                   | Quinine was distributed free by Government.           |
| Baluchistan ..                |       | Nil.           |                   |                                                       |
| Ajmer-Merwara ..              |       | Nil.           |                   |                                                       |
| Andamans .. ..                |       | Nil.           |                   |                                                       |
|                               |       |                |                   |                                                       |

EXPENSES INCURRED FOR THE PURCHASE OF QUININE AND FOR ITS DISTRIBUTION AND SALE.

No. 1219. Statement showing the expenses incurred by Government per year from 1924-34 for the distribution and sale of quinine in different provinces.

| Province.      | Year. | Expenses incurred. | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|----------------|-------|--------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1              | 2     | 3                  | 4                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                |       | Rs. a. p.          |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Madras .. .. . | 1924  | 8,256 0 0          | The cost of quinine sold or distributed free is not included in these figures, as the Government of Madras manufacture their own quinine. Figures relate to financial years 1924-25 to 1934-35. |
|                | 1925  | 7,444 0 0          |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1926  | 12,667 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1927  | 17,038 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1928  | 18,951 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1929  | 19,756 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1930  | 17,065 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1931  | 14,874 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1932  | 14,399 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1933  | 14,260 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1934  | 11,339 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Bombay .. .. . | 1924  | 1,29,798 0 0       |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1925  | 86,834 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1926  | 61,588 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1927  | 79,859 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1928  | 58,352 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1929  | 94,109 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1930  | 74,925 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1931  | 63,386 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1932  | 57,664 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1933  | 53,307 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                | 1934  | 67,289 0 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

| Province.             | Year. | Expenses incurred. | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----------------------|-------|--------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1                     | 2     | 3                  | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                       |       | Rs. a. p.          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Bengal .. .. .        | 1924  | ..                 | These figures relate to financial years 1925-26 to 1933-34. Figures for 1924-25 and 1934-35 are not available. The cost of quinine sold or distributed free has not been included in these figures, as the Government of Bengal manufacture their own quinine. |
|                       | 1925  | 20,615 10 0        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1926  | 24,780 3 6         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1927  | 18,125 4 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1928  | 20,370 0 6         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1929  | 21,526 13 3        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1930  | 19,825 13 3        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1931  | 21,979 11 0        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1932  | 26,169 15 9        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1933  | 33,435 15 9        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1934  | ..                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| United Provinces.. .. | 1924  | 23,205 7 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1925  | 34,761 8 2         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1926  | 17,620 11 6        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1927  | 23,045 0 10        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1928  | 17,065 2 8         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1929  | 28,530 6 6         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1930  | 31,823 9 0         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1931  | 31,734 13 0        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1932  | 28,359 7 9         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1933  | 33,391 13 11       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1934  | 37,443 8 9         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Punjab .. .. .        | 1924  | 71,995 0 0         | Figures relate to financial years 1924-25 to 1934-35.                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|                       | 1925  | 69,989 5 9         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1926  | 67,915 15 0        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1927  | 69,586 11 0        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                       | 1928  | 68,007 13 0        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| Province.           | Year. | Expenses incurred. | Remarks.                                                        |
|---------------------|-------|--------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1                   | 2     | 3                  | 4                                                               |
|                     |       | Rs. a. p.          |                                                                 |
| Punjab—contd.       | 1929  | 76,312 14 0        |                                                                 |
|                     | 1930  | 77,724 11 0        |                                                                 |
|                     | 1931  | 3,836 12 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1932  | 1,635 0 3          |                                                                 |
|                     | 1933  | 2,970 13 6         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1934  | 40,874 6 0         |                                                                 |
| Burma .. .. .       | 1924  | 25,176 4 0         | Figures for 1924-28 and 1934 relate to cinchona febrifuge only. |
|                     | 1925  | 23,786 4 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1926  | 21,480 10 0        |                                                                 |
|                     | 1927  | 30,721 14 0        |                                                                 |
|                     | 1928  | 27,152 8 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1929  | 60,582 2 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1930  | 68,467 10 0        |                                                                 |
|                     | 1931  | 91,608 4 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1932  | 55,447 12 0        |                                                                 |
|                     | 1933  | 59,568 2 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1934  | 24,865 0 0         |                                                                 |
| Bihar and Orissa .. | 1924  | 43,205 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1925  | 37,477 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1926  | 16,041 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1927  | 13,036 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1928  | 15,954 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1929  | 21,147 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1930  | 13,086 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1931  | 13,986 0 0         |                                                                 |
|                     | 1932  | 6,931 0 0          |                                                                 |
|                     | 1933  | 8,259 0 0          |                                                                 |
|                     | 1934  | 8,099 0 0          |                                                                 |

| Province.                            | Year. | Expenses incurred. | Remarks. |
|--------------------------------------|-------|--------------------|----------|
| 1                                    | 2     | 3                  | 4        |
|                                      |       | Rs. a. p.          |          |
| Central Provinces ..                 | 1924  | 70,960 0 0         |          |
|                                      | 1925  | 52,968 5 6         |          |
|                                      | 1926  | 55,092 5 6         |          |
|                                      | 1927  | 28,379 13 0        |          |
|                                      | 1928  | 41,552 0 0         |          |
|                                      | 1929  | 33,302 15 0        |          |
|                                      | 1930  | 32,931 2 9         |          |
|                                      | 1931  | 34,369 13 0        |          |
|                                      | 1932  | 34,131 4 3         |          |
|                                      | 1933  | 44,940 12 6        |          |
|                                      | 1934  | 44,459 5 0         |          |
| North-West Frontier] Pro-vinces. | 1924  | 8,600 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1925  | 8,600 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1926  | 6,600 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1927  | 5,820 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1928  | 4,800 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1929  | 4,800 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1930  | 5,500 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1931  | 6,000 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1932  | 6,000 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1933  | 7,500 0 0          |          |
|                                      | 1934  | 9,000 0 0          |          |
| Assam .. .. .                        | 1924  | 24,096 8 0         |          |
|                                      | 1925  | 19,846 8 0         |          |
|                                      | 1926  | 19,398 0 0         |          |
|                                      | 1927  | 20,842 12 0        |          |
|                                      | 1928  | 28,511 6 0         |          |
|                                      | 1929  | 26,906 12 0        |          |

| Province.           | Year. | Expenses incurred. | Remarks.                                 |
|---------------------|-------|--------------------|------------------------------------------|
| 1                   | 2     | 3                  | 4                                        |
|                     |       | Rs. a. p.          |                                          |
| Assam—contd. .. ..  | 1930  | 30,291 8 0         |                                          |
|                     | 1931  | 26,162 12 0        |                                          |
|                     | 1932  | 29,120 15 0        |                                          |
|                     | 1933  | 35,800 12 6        |                                          |
|                     | 1934  | 27,357 1 0         |                                          |
| Baluchistan .. ..   | 1928  | 6,011 0 0          | Figures for 1924-1927 are not available. |
|                     | 1929  | 6,456 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1930  | 6,612 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1931  | 5,111 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1932  | 3,876 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1933  | 5,835 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1934  | 7,682 0 0          |                                          |
| Delhi .. ..         | 1924  | 1,720 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1925  | 1,580 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1926  | 2,285 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1927  | 1,090 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1928  | 680 0 0            |                                          |
|                     | 1929  | 1,045 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1930  | 1,720 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1931  | 1,285 0 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1932  | 460 0 0            |                                          |
|                     | 1933  | 880 0 0            |                                          |
|                     | 1934  | 915 0 0            |                                          |
| Ajmer-Merwara .. .. | 1929  | 1,031 0 0          | Figures prior to 1929 are not available. |
|                     | 1930  | 1,537 1 0          |                                          |
|                     | 1931  | 983 12 0           |                                          |

| Province.                       | Year. | Expenses incurred. | Remarks.                                 |
|---------------------------------|-------|--------------------|------------------------------------------|
| 1                               | 2     | 3                  | 4                                        |
|                                 |       | Rs. a. p.          |                                          |
| Ajmer-Merwara—contd.            | 1932  | 1,201 0 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1933  | 1,031 6 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1934  | 1,359 5 0          |                                          |
| Andaman and Nicobar Islands. .. | 1924  | 4,158 8 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1925  | 3,273 8 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1926  | 5,880 0 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1927  | 5,558 0 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1928  | 2,103 0 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1929  | 2,319 6 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1930  | 5,590 12 0         |                                          |
|                                 | 1931  | 5,385 2 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1932  | 4,982 7 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1933  | 5,696 0 0          |                                          |
| Coorg .. ..                     | 1934  | 3,144 0 0          | Figures prior to 1927 are not available. |
|                                 | 1927  | 1,322 1 0          |                                          |
|                                 | 1928  | 953 15 0           |                                          |
|                                 | 1929  | 686 7 6            |                                          |
|                                 | 1930  | 607 9 6            |                                          |
|                                 | 1931  | 611 11 0           |                                          |
|                                 | 1932  | 508 0 6            |                                          |
|                                 | 1933  | 398 0 9            |                                          |
|                                 | 1934  | 453 14 0           |                                          |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1352 asked by Dr. N. B. Khare, on the 2nd April, 1935.

CLASS OF EMPLOYEES ON STATE-MANAGED RAILWAYS WHO ARE PAID PRESIDENCY ALLOWANCE.

A Presidency allowance as such is not paid on the State-managed Railways except to two employees (Running Shed Foreman, Bamangachie and Inspector of Works, Howrah), who are governed by the late East Indian Railway Company Rules, and are given an allowance at the rate of Rs. 50 per mensem. This allowance will not be permissible to subsequent holders of these posts, unless they are governed by the old East Indian Railway Company Rules. Local allowances are, however, paid at Bombay, Calcutta and Rangoon as follows :

Compensatory and local house rent allowances are granted to all gazetted officers, stationed at Bombay, Calcutta (including Howrah and Lillooh) and Rangoon. Subordinate staff at these stations are granted the following allowances :

At Bombay, a local house allowance (with a special local allowance for subordinates drawing less than Rs. 200 per mensem) is granted to all subordinate staff (including running staff) and clerical staff of all departments (excluding workmen in the shops, apprentices, coolies and other inferior servants). Inferior servants employed in Bombay offices are granted a house allowance of Rs. 4 per mensem, if not provided with railway quarters.

At Calcutta, subordinate staff other than clerical staff are not granted any compensatory local allowance except Station Superintendent, Cabin Master and Train Control staff. Clerical staff including draftsmen, typists, stenographers, etc., are granted a local or compensatory allowance, except in grades where the local allowance has been merged in pay. Inferior and lower paid staff are paid a zone allowance.

At Rangoon, all subordinates are granted a house allowance.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1461 asked by Mr. Muhammad Nauman on the 4th April, 1935.

COMMUNAL COMPOSITION OF THE INDIAN STAFF IN THE OFFICE OF THE HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR INDIA.

(a) No.

(b) 82 Indians of whom 27 are Bengali Hindus.

(c) Eight.

(d) 12. Of these, one has been filled by a Hindu and none by a Muslim, as no suitable Muslim candidates were available. It may be mentioned that, though the provisions of the Government of India Resolution of the 4th July, 1934, cannot in view of the exceptional conditions of recruitment of Indians in England, be made applicable in their entirety to the offices under the control of the High Commissioner for India, the question of recruiting suitable Muslims for those offices always receives the personal attention of the High Commissioner.

Information promised in reply to question No. 1493 asked by Mr. Ram Narayan Singh on the 4th April 1935.

GRIEVANCES OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

(a) I am not clear what information exactly is wanted by the Honourable Member. If he is referring to the enhanced rates of daily allowances payable to officers and subordinates visiting Calcutta on duty, the ordinary rate of daily allowance (and not double this rate) is only admissible for visits to Howrah on duty. The daily allowance is admissible only to officers and subordinates whose headquarters are outside Howrah. On the other hand, if the Honourable Member is referring to the local allowances paid to officers and subordinates stationed at Calcutta and Howrah (including Lillooh), I would refer him to the reply relating to Calcutta laid on the table to the question by Dr. N. B. Khare No. 1352. I should add that the scale of a local allowance granted has no relation to the daily (travelling) allowance which is given for a different purpose.

(b) Travelling Ticket Examiners are entitled to the same privileges as other subordinates, except that they are granted a consolidated travelling allowance in lieu of duty allowances.

Information promised in reply to part (b) of starred question No. 1542 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on the 5th April, 1935.

CERTAIN BENEFITS FOR MISTRIES AND MECHANICS OF THE POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.

(b) The total number of posts of mistries and mechanics in the non-pensionable cadre, is 158 and 8 respectively. The mistries and mechanics look after all instruments, power plants and battery installations in telegraph offices and telephone exchanges and attend to minor repairs of such apparatus. They also look after electric installations in Post and Telegraph offices and installations of electric bells and clocks.

ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO THE STANDING ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR THE INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.

Mr President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform the Assembly that upto 12 Noon on Wednesday, the 11th September, 1935, the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Advisory Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department, only one nomination was received. As there is only one vacancy I declare Mr. J. Ramsay Scott to be duly elected to the Standing Advisory Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL—concl'd.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The House 12 Noon. will now resume consideration of the following motion moved by the Honourable the Home Member :

“ That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration.”

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : Sir, I am very grateful to you for permitting me to put in a brief plea on behalf of human freedom. The legislation which the Assembly has been considering is one of a series of repressive Acts, firstly, restricting personal freedom in legitimate activities, and, secondly, investing the executive with powers which should belong to the judiciary. Legislation of this kind is abhorrent to my instincts and inconsistent with principles which I have imbibed during the course of my education and public life. When the original legislation was discussed in this Legislature in 1932, I had opposed it. I felt that such legislation unnecessarily restricts our freedom. It was said that we should not place too much value upon abstract principles of freedom. I do not share that view. I feel that abstract principles of freedom are of great value and we should try to follow them as much as possible. However, admitting that abstract principles require to be modified in real life, I would like to consider this legislation from a practical point of view as it affects the working classes of this country. I feel the Honourable the Home Member was unnecessarily pessimistic about his reading of the present situation. I think he and the supporters of the Government unnecessarily stressed the difference between the suspension and the withdrawal of the Civil Disobedience Movement. I feel there is no difference between suspension and withdrawal. There is nobody in this House who will insist upon any one of us here swearing an oath that we shall never offer civil resistance to a legislation, however outrageous, however unjust that legislation may be. (Opposition cries of "Hear, hear.") I wonder whether the Honourable the Home Member himself will swear an oath that he will never offer resistance to a legislation, however unjust that legislation may be. I feel that the terrorist movement in this country is, fortunately for us, admittedly declining. The economic depression has not only reduced the strength of the Communist movement, but has brought the ordinary labour movement to a very low level. Unfortunately, in our country, there are communal clashes; but I have every hope that, with the passing of the Government of India Act, providing for adequate separate representation to all the minorities and making Statutory provision for giving to the minorities their due share in the public services, communal ill-will in this country is sure to diminish. I, therefore, feel that, in the present situation of the country, there was absolutely no justification for the legislation which the Government of India have brought forward before the Assembly.

[Mr. N. M. Joshi.]

With your permission, Sir, I shall now very briefly examine the various clauses of the Bill; and, being interested in the welfare of the working classes, I shall first take up the clause referring to picketing. Picketing, when accompanied by intimidation, obstruction, violence or encroachment on private property, can be dealt with under the ordinary law. I have got some experience of how the magistrates deal with picketing during strikes. In nine strikes out of ten, the magistrates have succeeded, legitimately or sometimes illegitimately, in putting down picketing; and I, therefore, feel that there was absolutely no reason why this clause should have been introduced as affecting the working classes of this country. Picketing means peaceful persuasion and I feel that this is a right which the working classes value as being necessary for the maintenance of their standards of life. There is no method by which the working classes of this country or of any country can maintain their standards of life and also better their standards of life, without, sometimes, refusing to work for their employers. To refuse to work unless the conditions are satisfactory is a right of every human being. That action is sometimes called a strike. I feel that on some occasions a strike is not only desirable, but extremely necessary if the interests of the working classes are to be protected; and if a strike is declared by a majority of members in an industry, is it not the duty of the majority to try to persuade the minority to join them in that strike? I feel it is not only the right of the majority of workers to persuade the minority to join them in their strike, but it is their clear duty to do so. By enacting this section against peaceful picketing or peaceful persuasion, I feel that the Government of India are putting themselves on the side of the employers. The justification given by the Honourable the Commerce Member and the Honourable the Home Member is that there is no such thing as peaceful picketing. I admit on certain occasions picketing leads to violence; but what justification has the Honourable the Home Member or the Commerce Member to say that violence is due to the action of the working classes? When the working classes resort to picketing, what do the employers do? The employers try to collect together, not bonâ fide workers, but rowdies in the town and send them into the factory with the object of either frightening the workers who are on strike or sometimes of deliberately creating violence. It is not, therefore, right to say that violence is due to the action of the working classes or the workers. If picketing is to be prohibited because it leads to violence, not necessarily by the action of the workers, may I ask, Mr. President, why should not black-legging be made illegal? Unfortunately, black-legging is resorted to by the employers, and the Government of India, by passing this legislation, are anxious to place themselves on the side of the employers. (Cries of "Shame" from Congress Party Benches.)

Mr. President, the next section of this legislation with which I should like to deal very briefly is the section dealing with illegal organizations. It was said that this section is only a complementary section of another Act passed in 1908. Let me make it quite clear, Sir, that I am opposed to that Act also, and if I am opposed to the Act of 1908, I must oppose what is called a complementary or supplementary legislation to that Act. Freedom of association is another right greatly valued by the working classes.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : And peasants also.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : And, by passing this legislation, the Government of India is taking away that right. Mr. President, during last year, the Government of India declared certain labour organizations illegal. I do not know if the Government of India had inquired whether the majority of the members of these organizations were Communists. I am sure that the majority of the members of these organizations were not Communists. If there were any Communists in those organizations, their number was extremely small; and even if some members of these organizations were Communists, is it a sufficient ground to declare an organization illegal and to suppress it that a few of its members are Communists? I know that most of the organizations which were declared illegal were not engaged in doing any revolutionary work. They may have carried out a few strikes, but I am sure there is no evidence to show that they were engaged in revolutionary activities. I feel that legislation declaring organizations illegal will be very harmful to the interests of the working classes. It may be said that the Unions with which I am connected, or others who are of the same view as myself are connected, have not yet been declared illegal. But what guarantee is there that, when you have a law on the Statute-book which can declare almost any organization illegal, the organizations with which I am connected and the organizations with which my friends are connected will not be declared illegal next year or the year after that? Mr. President, I do not wish to deal any more with the details of this section.

I shall now say a word, Sir, about the sections dealing with propaganda. It was said that the section penalising re-publication of an article or a book which is proscribed or forfeited follows as a matter of logical sequence. I fail to understand how there is a logical sequence between the forfeiture of a book by Government by executive action and making the re-publication of that book a penal offence. The first act itself may be a wrong thing, the proscription of a book may be an unjust action, and, if that is so, the re-publication of that book cannot be made a penal offence. If there is a logical sequence at all, it can only be in the forfeiture of a book and the proscription of the re-published copies. But it is wrong by executive action to forfeit a book, and, then, when that book is re-published, consider it to be an offence. The original forfeiture may be a mistake unless that forfeiture was investigated and declared right by a judicial inquiry.

[Mr. N. M. Joshi.] Mr. President, the Honourable Member, the District Magistrate of Midnapore, asked—do we want men of straw to own presses and papers? I do not know, Sir, what the financial position of the Honourable Member is. He may be a wealthy man, but I want to ask him whether the poor people, the common people of this country, have absolutely no right to express their views by means of a newspaper or to maintain a press in order to express their views? Why does he insist that the printing industry and the newspapers should always be in the hands of wealthy people? I was surprised, Sir, to hear that phrase “men of straw” from a District Magistrate. I had always felt, Mr. President, that District Magistrates claimed to protect the poor people of this country. I never thought that a man, appointed specially to protect the poor people of this country, would have that contempt for the common people of this country. I shall not say anything more on that point.

Mr. President, I do not wish to deal with the details of the section dealing with the press, but I would like to make one remark as regards the sections which are intended to put down any propaganda which discourages recruitment either to the military or to the police service. That clause will prohibit even mere propaganda on behalf of what I may call pacifism. There are men in this world who do not believe in wars or in the military forces. Have they no right at all to say that the Governments have no business to maintain an army for wars? If tomorrow I publish an article saying that the police in this country are not properly paid, and if some magistrate takes the view that my statement has discouraged recruitment to the police, I shall be liable for prosecution. I feel, Sir, that all these sections dealing with picketing, illegal organizations and the press restrict our freedom without any justification.

It was said, Mr. President, that it is always better to prevent a wrong being done. I agree with the general principle that prevention is better than cure. The real difficulty in handing over powers to our magistrates and the authorities in general is the fact that we have no confidence in them. Our experience has shown that the preventive powers given to the magistrates in this country have not been properly used. They imagine dangers and risks where they do not exist.

I shall not detain the House by detailing many examples which have come in my experience, but I shall give a few. There was a strike in the province of Madras a few years ago. The backbone of the strike was broken, but some of the workers kept out of the factory, merely because they felt ashamed to join work after having gone on strike. My Honourable friend, Mr. Giri, and myself felt that it was wrong to allow these people to suffer. So, both of us together went to that place with the intention of telling those people to go to work immediately. I can swear on oath that I had no other intention. I persuaded the leaders of the men of the rightness of the course which I thought they should follow. The leaders asked me and Mr. Giri to address a meeting next day. The meeting was held, we went there, but an order was served both on Mr. Giri and myself (Cries of “Shame” from the Congress Party Benches) that our speeches were likely to cause bloodshed. It is only one example. I will give you another, a more recent one.

Last year, there was a strike of textile workers in Bombay. That strike has been declared legal both by the Chief Presidency Magistrate of Bombay and the High Court of Bombay. During that strike, some people took a leading part. The Government of Bombay, under the new emergency legislation, put in jail about 20 people, who were leading the strike, without trial. Mr. President, I shall give the latest example that has happened. Between Poona and Bombay, there is a place called Ambernath where there is a match factory. Only a few months ago, there was a strike there, and, without any provocation on the part of the workers there, the magistrate issued an order that within some miles of the factory no meeting should be held and that not even a leaflet should be distributed. (An Honourable Member: “They have done it in Malabar also.”) In spite of these restrictions, the strike was settled by negotiation. After the strike was settled, a friend of mine, who is interested in the workers of that factory, issued a leaflet explaining to the workers the terms of the settlement. The magistrate hauled up that gentleman (Cries of “Shame” from the Congress Party Benches) and fined him Rs. 200. With these experiences, Mr. President, do you expect me to invest the magistrates with these preventive powers? (Cries of “No, no” from the Congress Party Benches.)

I shall say only a few words now as to whether this legislation is likely to serve the object for which it is intended. It is said that this legislation is intended to put down terrorism. Many speakers have spoken on this point at length, but I shall say only one thing. I feel that if terrorism can at all be put down, it can only be done with the co-operation of the common people of the province in which terrorism exists. Unfortunately, in our present political situation, co-operation from the common people cannot be expected. Secondly, if we consider the economic situation of the province, I hold very strongly that so long as the permanent zemindari system with all its ramifications of first degree, second degree, tenth degree of landlordism exists in Bengal, it will not be easy to reduce unemployment in that province.

I feel that if the communal hatred is to be wiped out from our country, it can be done so, not by negative means of legislation, but by positive and constructive efforts. So long as there is religious fanaticism in this country, so long as there is religious orthodoxy in this country, communal hatred will remain. Unfortunately, the greatest supporter of the religious orthodoxy in this country is the Government of India.

I have said, during the last Session of the Assembly, that I am not a Communist. I agree with a part of the philosophy which the Communists preach, but I do not believe in the dictatorship even of the proletariat. I do not also believe in the use of mass violence in which the Communists believe. Although I hold that constitutional agitation and parliamentary method will give me what I want, I equally feel that the Communists have a right to say that constitutional methods and parliamentary work may not lead us to the goal which we all want to reach. I feel, Mr. President, that if Government are anxious that the people of this country should have a strong faith in constitutional agitation and parliamentary method, it will be wrong for Government to prevent discussion between the merits of constitutional agitation and Communism. If Communism is to be prohibited from this country on the ground that it preaches the use of violence, may I ask whether the Government of India have taken any steps to prohibit the entry of Fascist and Nazi ideas into this country? What is Nazism if it is not Communism in a different form?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Organised hooliganism.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : Why don't the Government of India prohibit Nazi ideas coming into India ? I feel that if Communism is not to be allowed into this country, that can happen only by two means. There must be perfect freedom of expression of views, and, secondly, constructive steps should be taken promptly and on a much vaster scale. I do not wish to deal with this point any further, but I should like to say that legislation of this kind which restricts our liberty hangs on our minds as a constant nightmare. It is all very well for people, who sit on my left and who themselves are the magistrates exercising authority to say that the law will be applied only to those who break it. The others have no fear. It is all very well for my friend, Mr. James, to say that the law will only be applied to those who break it. The law is not likely to be applied to any Europeans. If you will permit me a little exaggeration, I shall say, Mr. President, that if the Honourable gentleman from Midnapore or Mr. James commits a murder in broad daylight in this country, I am not sure whether any one of them will be hanged. Legislation of this kind frightens us. It hinders the free expression of our views. It prevents free action on our part. We must, therefore, continue to oppose such legislation.

Mr. President, before I close, may I say a word about what my Honourable friend, Mr. James, said yesterday. He said in England freedom is given, because the English people deserve freedom. The Honourable the Commerce Member said that the English people have a sense of humour. The English people may have a sense of humour, but may I ask him whether it is easy to develop that sense of humour under the conditions in which we live ? That sense of humour is developed in England, because in England there is freedom of speech, freedom of association and freedom of action. The English people maintain that sense of humour, because the British Parliament is supreme. The Englishman has a faith that, whatever he wants, he can achieve through his Parliament and through his platform and press. Indians have not got that faith. If our Government will create those conditions of confidence in the Government, if they will give us freedom, if they will give us self-government, I am quite sure, Indians will also develop a sense of humour. Unfortunately for us, when Britishers, who love freedom and self-government, leave their country for imperialist adventures which they try to ennoble by calling them imperialist responsibilities, they lose faith in freedom and self-government. May I suggest to them that, in order that they should be true to their traditions as Britishers, in order to be true to their history, as freedom-loving people, even when they go out to further their imperialistic responsibility, they should maintain their faith in freedom and in self-government. I hope, Sir, that the Government of India will withdraw this legislation, and, if they do not do it, I hope that this Legislative Assembly will throw it out.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan (Agra Division : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, in 1932, the Government of India brought forward a Bill which was intended to be a permanent legislation and those Honourable Members, who have seen the provisions of that Bill, as it was introduced in 1932, will find that it was somewhat different from the form in which it emerged out of the Select Committee. There was a suggestion that amendments to the Indian Penal Code should be made. This was objected to by the Members of the Assembly at that time. The idea of the Select Committee was accepted by the Government, and this Bill was made for three years. I happened to be a member of the Select Committee, and the reason why we proposed three years at that time was that it was believed in 1932 that the Federal Assembly would be set up by 1934 and we thought that the present Government should have these powers and that the future Government also must have this for one year extra. We thought that the present Government should exercise this power up to 1934 when the new Constitution was coming in.

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : You thought, but not the Committee. Mr. Gaya Prasad Singh and Mr. Azhar Ali walked out of the Committee.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : The Honourable Member has been long enough in the Assembly to know that I meant the majority of the body.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali (Delhi : General) : You said " We ".

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : I am saying " We " in the sense I said just now. It was considered desirable that the Act should remain in force for three years. Unfortunately, Federation has been postponed. We are now in 1935, and we have got no Federation yet. That might come after several years. We do not know how long afterwards it will come. Our chief idea at that time in making the life of the Bill three years was that the new Legislature must have freedom to deal with the laws as it thought fit in 1935. This is the real point. My Honourable friends, who were in the old Assembly, might remember the circumstances that existed in 1931 and 1932. We were having hartals every day. Hartals were the fashion of the day. People were forced to observe hartals. Volunteers forced people to observe hartals when they were not willing to do so, but this they did simply to please them. Whenever somebody was interned, there used to be a hartal in his honour almost every day. People coming from my province will bear me out when I say that hartals were forced by the volunteers. They were not the actions of the Congress leaders. They were the actions of the Congress volunteers and people who went in the name of the Congress volunteers. People were not allowed to have their own way, and, in my province, it was coming to be a source of great evil and annoyance to the poor shop-keepers, who were asked to close their shops, because they could not on this account earn their own livelihood. The poor tongawallas, for instance, were asked not to ply their tongas, simply because one man or another had been sent to jail ! For the sake of this and that person going to jail, poor tongawallas were asked not to ply their tongas and they had to leave their work ! Now, the poor tongawalla had to feed his horses and had to feed himself, his wife and his children. Where from could he do this, except by borrowing from the money-lenders whom he could never repay ? I know it for a fact that in several cases the tongawallas suffered so much that they had to part with their tongas and had to sell their horses in order to pay off debts. (Interruptions.) This was becoming the fashion of the day, and the blame, of course, did not lie with the leaders, but on the followers whom they could not control. And, why ? Once a spirit had been created, once an atmosphere had been created, everybody wanted to out-shine the other man and everybody was anxious to become the leader at that time, because, by showing that he had this spirit, this spirit of terrorising the people.

[Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan.]

he would be called a leader. This was in 1931 ; and I may remind Honourable Members—and here I am dealing only with picketing—when Bhagat Singh was executed, on that day, here, in the Assembly, my old friend, who is not here today unfortunately, and I do not know what has happened to him, Mr. Rangachariar, who was the Leader of the Opposition, walked out with his party from the Assembly, and he said that that action was taken as a demonstration and as a protest against the execution of Bhagat Singh. And, upon his walking out from the Assembly on that day, the press gave publicity to the news in bold letter head-lines saying that heroes were executed, and similar other things. The result was that everybody was asked in India to observe hartal. People in Cawnpore were asked to observe hartal. The Congress leaders and the Congress volunteers gave vent to their feelings also on the Muhammadan shops in Cawnpore and wanted to force the owners to close their shops. Now, those people naturally resented, and they said : “ we are not going to close our shops ”, but what the result was—Honourable Members know full well ! Thousands of people were butchered, thousands of people were killed, women and children....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : What ? Thousands ?

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : Men and women died of burns as a result of houses being set on fire. This is the story of Cawnpore.

An Honourable Member : It is all wrong.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : Please do not interrupt me. Honourable Members ought to have the patience to hear what is unpleasant to them. (Hear, hear.) The fact is that whatever Cawnpore suffered from, it suffered on account of unrestricted picketing. (Hear, hear.) If picketing had not been resorted to in Cawnpore, the people there would not have suffered from all these evil effects from which the City has been suffering even today. And, Sir, we had not only such terrible things in Cawnpore, where thousands of people died as a result thereof, but the effect of that picketing is that even today there is strained feeling between Hindus and Muhammadans, and they are not carrying on their peaceful profession of trade and commerce as they did in the good, old days. The repercussions were found not only in Cawnpore, but we had also the Bombay riots, we had in Agra a communal riot, we had in Ajodhya a communal riot which came up after that, we had riots all over the provinces. And, then, the press took up the side of all these picketers and it painted all these people as heroes,—which, of course, they really were not. People excited each other, and there was communal antagonism, and all this was very undesirable. Sir, if people had any responsibility, if it was our desire to see that there should not be any communal tension, if people wanted that peaceful avocations should go on, if people wished that murders and riots and other disorders should not happen, if people desired that women and children should not thus be exposed to dangers and harm, the position would have been different. But the volunteers went on causing excitement, and there was grave disorder, and this was the state of affairs when this Act was enacted. There is another thing. Even up here, Honourable Members were stopped by picketing from entering the Legislative Assembly. Ladies came here and waited at the entrances and they wanted Members not to enter the Assembly Chamber.

Some of my Honourable friends once said that the letters “ M. L. A. ” meant “ a member of the lunatic asylum ” ; well, they came to that lunatic asylum themselves, and those very people were forced to come and to sit here.

An Honourable Member : There are certain habituals.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : This was the state of things then, and that became the fashion, and, therefore, there was no other help. The volunteers continued to annoy the shopkeepers and others, and, of course, this could not be allowed to go on for ever, and it was all this which led to communal tension all over the country. Then, as regards the press, when Bhagat Singh threw a bomb in the Assembly Chamber, what did we learn from the press ? Was he condemned because the sanctity of this House had been violated ? The sanctity of this forum even was not observed. These people never thought that if a man wanted to kill the Members of the present Government, and if they were killed, there would be other people who would like to kill the Members of the future succeeding Governments ; that if a bomb is thrown into the Assembly on account of the fact that somebody does not agree with the present system of Government or with the deeds of the present Government, then he would have in future some other person who, because he does not agree with the then Government, might wish to throw bombs on the future Home Members. Now, that is what nobody can tolerate in any country. In my province, in fact in my own constituency in Aligarh, the Congress people came up and started the no-rent campaign, they wanted that no rent should be paid to zamindars, and much excitement was got up against the zamindars. And who was chosen as the target of the attack ? A most powerful and influential man, a great zamindar, Nawab Bahadur Sir Muhammad Muzammilullah Khan, who was for many years a Member of the Central Legislature ; he was chosen for attack, the programme was chalked out that his tenants should not pay any rent to him, and the whole attack was launched on one man and one man alone. The Congress did not choose any other person ; they did not like to excite the peasants of other people ; they chose only one man, Nawab Bahadur Sir Muhammad Muzammilullah Khan. His estate was the only place in the whole of the district of Aligarh where no-rent campaign was carried on. He is a powerful man, and he showed to the world that he could meet the situation very well.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Did he not crush his tenants ?

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : He has never tortured his tenants. His tenants love him like their father. He has saved his tenants from the hands of the money-lenders. He has never allowed any money-lender to enter into his estate, and that was the reason why he was chosen as a target. If my Honourable friend wants to know the real facts, I can tell him. It was after this no-rent campaign in his estate that when a zamindar in Allahabad went to collect his rent, he was victimised and for seven miles blood stains were found, and, out of the zamindar and his followers, only one man escaped to tell this story. Now, Sir, the point of my argument is this : What was the condition at that time and what is the condition now ? If we find peace in the country today, it is all due to this Act. If this Act had not come into force, all these things would not have been controlled. If the Act of 1932 had not been in force, we would not have been able to see the Congress Party decorating those Benches today.

[Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan.]

It has created a good effect in another way. The Act of 1932 has brought the Honourable Members opposite to co-operate in the enactment of legislation of the country rather than be its critics from outside. Whatever their views may be, they have, by coming into this House, created some satisfaction in the country. When they remained outside the Legislatures, they were merely agitating the people and leading them to violence. By coming into this House, they have created a healthy influence at least so far as Civil Disobedience is concerned. If they had been following Civil Disobedience, they would not have been here. They have stopped it and that has created a healthy influence, and that is the direct result of this Act of 1932. I would like to hear from the Benches, which are decorated by my Honourable friends on the other side, to give me any concrete example to show that picketing in such and such cases did not end in violence. Also I would like to know what justification they have for that section of the press which excites one community against the other.

My friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, quoted the case of the Comrade, and I know why he quoted it, but does the case of the Comrade come under the purview of the present Bill with which we are dealing? It has nothing to do with this. Even the Act of 1932 is going to be modified by the Act of 1935, and we have got nothing there to fear a case like this. My friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, said that he was an apostle of the Hindu-Muslim unity, and I was glad to hear that remark, because there is no other person who is more anxious for this unity than I am. I am one of those who believe that the progress of the country depends upon the solution of the communal problem. Sir, this country cannot make any progress as long as we have got that communal tension. That had been the cause of our downfall, and that will be the cause of keeping us down in the future.

Now, Sir, what is the press going to be stopped from? The press is going to be stopped from promoting feelings of enmity or hatred between different classes of His Majesty's subjects. Sir, you cannot improve the conditions in the country unless you prevent the press from disseminating communal literature which is driving one community against the other. The first thing that the press should do is to learn how to settle down differences between various communities. The liberty of the press does not lie in this that we should give them licence to say anything whatever they like. My friend said that 61 Muslim papers had been suppressed and that the responsibility would lie on the shoulders of those Mussalman Members who would vote for this Bill. May I ask him one question? If he believes in the unity of the Mussalmans and the Hindus, why should he not believe in the unity of the different sections of Mussalmans themselves. If he believes that the Mussalmans must first set up their house in order, then he will find that most of the papers that have been suppressed were the papers which had been exciting one class against the other. He did not quote a single instance, but may I give him the illustration of a few papers? There is a paper called AL-Najm of Lucknow which published on the 1st June, 1934, very nasty articles against the Shias. It said that the number of Shias was only about 18,000 in the whole of Lucknow, and it excited the feelings of the Sunnis against them. Another edition of this very paper was published on the 25th of August, 1934, in which the editor wrote a very nasty article about a personality which is held in the very highest respect by the Mussalmans. In fact, it is next to that of the prophet himself. I mean the personality of Hazrat Ali Karam-ullah-o-Wajho. This man said about him that he was licentious and he indulged in his lust. If a paper publishes an article of that kind, will my Honourable friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, ask any Mussalman to come forward and defend that paper simply because it was a Muslim organ? Probably my friend will not defend that paper at all.

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali (Lucknow and Fyzabad Divisions : Muhammadaui Rural) : I refuse to believe that story.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : I have given the date of that paper. It was published on the 25th August, 1934. I do not think it is worth while to repeat those nasty words which he wrote. They are so bad.....

An Honourable Member : Is that communalism?

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : My Honourable friend understands by communalism that it is fight between Hindus and Muhammadans. That is not the case. Even a fight between Shias and Sunnis is also communalism.

1 P.M.

There was another paper, called Al-Naqid of Cawnpore, which wrote on the 19th August, 1934, very nasty things about Hindus, and that tried to create ill-feeling between Hindus and Muslims. That paper wrote a very nasty article about Hindu women—all those nasty things are not worth mentioning in this House, and so I will not repeat them. That paper wrote about Hindu ladies and young boys coming within the provisions of the Sarda Act, and, in this way, that article incited hatred between Hindus and Muslims. Well, will my Honourable friend, standing up as the apostle of Hindu-Muslim unity, say that that paper should be allowed to continue its nefarious action of inciting hatred between the two communities? I say that such a paper is a great harm to the community, and that it is a disgrace to the Muslim community.

Then, there was another paper at Patna which wrote on the 23rd May, 1935, with reference to two Honourable Members of this House. It asked, whether there was no Muhammad Amin? My Honourable friends must know what it meant. Muhammad Amin was the man who killed Rajpal. This paper wanted that another Muhammad Amin should come up to deal with those two Honourable Members of the Assembly.

An Honourable Member : Probably you are that "Muhammad Amin", who wanted to incite people.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : Certainly I would have condemned it, if any paper asked that my Honourable friends Mr. Fuzul Huq or Maulana Shaukat Ali should be murdered. My Honourable friends seem to think that if a paper wrote like that, it was not exciting people to murder. This happened not in 1934, but in 1935. This article was written in May, 1935. Then, that paper was very rightly suppressed in Patna. My Honourable friends will perhaps say that it was not justifiable. If more examples are wanted, I can easily quote. There are hundreds of such instances which I kept in my file, but unfortunately I burnt them all last year. There may be persons who agree with my views and there may be other persons who might disagree with me. My religion teaches :

"Lakum dinakum wale yadin."

"You are pleased with what you believe to be right, and, I am pleased with what I believe to be right."

[Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan.]

This is the principle which my religion preaches. That is what my Prophet has taught me. You must leave me alone. I do not want to interfere with what other people believe to be right. I do not want that another man should be killed, simply because he disagrees with me. That may be the philosophy of other people, but that is not mine. That is not my phase. No two human beings are similar. My Prophet teaches me that I should not interfere with other men's ideas.

Now, coming to the liberty of the press, I say liberty is quite different from license. My Prophet teaches that you are at liberty to do whatever you like, provided that does not interfere with the inherent rights of others. You are at liberty to go and earn by hard work, but you are not at liberty to go and steal. Islamic law says that if a man steals, his hands should be cut off. So, this kind of license, namely, stealing is not allowed. He is to be stopped from stealing. If stealing is permitted, it would mean that you are abusing the principle of liberty. It is license which must be discriminated from liberty.

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : Where have you read all these ?

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : My Honourable friend will not read any book and he does not know anything. So it is no use to cure the incorrigible man. The point is, whether circumstances are such that we should allow the press to incite hatred among the different communities and different sections of Muslims. We should not give this power to the press, rather we should control the press from doing such mischief. However laudable an object it may be to have a free press, it should not be allowed to create ill-feeling between the Hindus and Muslims. At the present moment, the two communities are going to settle down to work the new Constitution. We have had bad times, and, in the interest of the future of India's progress, we should come to an amicable understanding and live like brothers. The only object of this Bill is to create peace and not allow the press to create dissension. Why should any press, which will confine its activities to legitimate proportions, be afraid of this measure ? The saner sections of the press need not be afraid of this measure. I read in the National Call the other day some story written by one of its correspondents which tends to create ill-feeling between Sikhs and Muslims. This is what the National Call says about the Meerut dispute :

" Meanwhile some mischief mongers spread a false rumour to the effect that the local Sikhs were bent upon demolishing the mosque close to the proposed site and that they had actually demolished a portion of a wall. This led the Muhammadans to visit the said mosque in groups of hundreds and thousands crying different slogans and alarming the public peace with the approach of Hindu-Muslim riots. It is said that about 10 to 15,000 Muslims gathered at the said mosque and the authorities and the Hindu public, what to say of the Sikhs had a very hard time for the whole night between September 1 and September 2, 1935. As a matter of fact, the Sikhs only learnt of it at about 9 P.M. on 1st September when they were holding their usual weekly meeting in the Gurdwara. Not a single Sikh ever visited the place of the site of the mosque in question and the allegations made against them were entirely baseless and false."

Now, the next sentence is very pertinent :

" The Sikhs resent it and look upon this misguided action of the Muhammadans with utmost abhorrence. The Sikhs of Meerut have all along been most loyal to the Government and friendly to their sister communities and would be pleased if the authorities would kindly take some legal action against the mischief mongers and request the saner elements amongst the Muhammadans to kindly publicly deplore the action of their fellow-brethren who are responsible for injuring the feelings of the Sikhs as a whole."

Well, Sir, I come from Meerut. I never heard anything about the supposed demolition of mosque. There is the Cantonment next door to my house. The place is not even a furlong from my house, and I never heard about this incident until I saw it published in the newspapers. From reading the report in the newspapers, one would have come to the conclusion that the Muhammadans gathered there in such large numbers simply to bring about a riot and that the Sikhs as a whole resented this. When I approached my Sikh friends in this House, they said they never heard about this incident at all. How could they have heard of it when such a thing did not take place at all ? This appeared only in the columns of the National Call and nowhere else. So I say that this kind of writing should be stopped and should not be allowed to go on, because it creates such bad blood, that Muslim constituents will not return those Muslim Members again if they have anything to do with the Hindus and the same will be the case with Hindu Members. We have to mould the future destiny of India, and those people who are the cause of dividing us should be put under control. I have very often seen reports in the press that a Muslim goonda has outraged a Hindu lady or a Hindu has outraged a Muslim. Why should not the name be published ? Why should you publish it as " a Muslim " or " a Hindu " ? The effect that is created in the minds of ignorant people is to excite them. For the sake of our country and for the future of our country, we should rise to the occasion and put down these people and curb them. The Government of India Act has come, and we must settle down. In the town of Meerut, we Muslims have lived always on terms of friendship with the Hindus and have enjoyed their confidence, and year after year they have elected members of my family as Chairman of the Municipal Board. And, now, it is very deplorable that bad blood is sought to be created between us there.

I admit, of course, that the press should not be badly treated and should have full liberty to criticise, and, in 1932, it was enacted, that criticism of measures of Government with a view to obtaining their alteration by lawful means, without exciting or attempting to excite hatred, contempt and disaffection, shall not be penalised. What is intended in the present Bill is to take off all the sections except section 16 and section 7 which deal with crimes ; the others deal with the procedure. Our anxiety in 1932 was that the measure should not be permanent, and we succeeded. The same is our anxiety today ; and the present Government should not bind the Government of the future. But that can be achieved only by taking the Bill into consideration. As the Bill stands, it is for permanency, and if it is not taken into consideration, no amendments are possible, and Government will be forced to have recourse to the extraordinary measure of certification. I honestly and sincerely believe that this Bill is necessary, though it may be in a modified form, until the future Government comes into being. Up to that time, picketing should not be allowed, because it takes away the liberty of the people, and the press also should not be allowed unbridled license to preach communal hatred and disaffection among different classes. But if the House fails to take it into consideration and to amend it as it likes, Government will, in my opinion, be justified in having resort to extraordinary powers. It is for the Honourable Members to join hands and carry out amendments according to their desire, rather than force the hands of Government to put the Bill, as introduced, permanently on the Statute-book. Sir, I support the motion for consideration.

[Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan.]

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta).]

Maulana Shaukat Ali (Cities of the United Provinces : Muhammadan Urban) : Sir, I was very anxious to intervene immediately after the Home Member had spoken, so that the House and the country might have been spared the flood of eloquence on both sides, rather of a stormy character. I know what eloquence means and what it can do. Before I go further, I may mention one incident. It is my duty, as an humble peacemaker, to take kicks from both sides of the House. However, I was very grateful that this Government made a small gesture in the right direction when they released my friend, Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru. He is a gentleman by instinct, by education and by family traditions ; and the Government may perfectly rest assured that he will never take undue advantage of any little gesture in his favour and I hope that all Honourable Members will agree with me in praying that his sweet wife and revered mother may be spared to him for many many years.

I heard the speech of the Honourable the Home Member very patiently. Personally I like him, and I have always received consideration and courtesy from him. He pieced together a number of things to make a case against what you may call the revolutionaries and terrorists or those advanced people who want to see a free India. As one who has experienced internment, has suffered imprisonment, and also has suffered under Regulation III of 1818, I can also make a case against this Government. If I was to relate all that happened to me and to my brother, Mohammed Ali and to our family, and if I piece together every little bit, every wrong done to us, every insult offered to us and our faith, every discomfort that we went through, then, I assure you, Sir, there will be a file ever so much bigger than the record which the Honourable the Home Member produced before us, but I do not want to do it. I am not here for that purpose. If I wanted to create fresh records of grievances against the Government, I could do it if this sort of thing is allowed to go on. And I assure the Honourable the Home Member that by the course you are taking and the kind of speeches you have made and are making, you have already created at least half a million of Indian youths who will be revolutionaries in the near future. The truth must be told to you. You have already done a great deal of harm to the British connection with India—I mean the Government and their supporters,—by their speeches and actions, have done more harm to the British connection, and I assure you, Sir, that the speech of the Honourable the Home Member will be read with glee and great pleasure by the die-hards in England who do not want that Indians should get rights to control their own affairs. He has done a great disservice to India whose salt he has been eating. As regards my friend, the Collector from Midnapore (Mr. Griffiths), I may say this. I am a fighter myself and I liked his fine fighting speech : and though he may appear a Bantam or a Featherweight, he has got self-assurance enough to take on a Primo Carnera, the heaviest giant, and fight him. I admire a man like that. His speech was a fighting speech, and I enjoyed it. I only hope that when these new elections take place in Bengal, and when I and men like myself go to Bengal and Midnapore and want to make speeches there, so that pliant and weak Muslims may not be elected, he may, if he wants, send for us and argue with us and convince us with his speeches but would not ban our entry under section 144 or lock us up.

I expected something better from my friend, Mr. James. His speech was a mighty sermon : it was very interesting : but, all the time he was speaking, he seemed to be under the impression that Mr. Aney and my own humble self and Mr. Lalchand Navalrai and Sardar Sant Singh—all communalists—would appreciate the pearls of wisdom he was scattering. The lecture was really meant for us. Before he spoke, I wanted to intervene again and to beg the Honourable the Home Member on my bended knees, saying, “For God’s sake, withdraw this Bill. It is not wanted. By this withdrawal, you will bring in better feeling and you would do a great service to your Empire”. Sir, the Government had tried these methods of repression before, and with what result ? During the last Great War, the people of India bled white for England and fought all over the world for England and saved the Empire. We were told in 1917 that we were fighting this war for self-determination and we expected self-government would come immediately after. Instead of that, we got the Rowlatt Act. Sikhs, Muslims and Hindus of the Punjab went and fought for the Empire : but, under the Defence of India Act, Muslims, Hindus, Sikhs, without any distinction, which really meant that all who had fought in the war, were made to crawl on their “tummies” simply because an English woman was insulted ; and for that one insult, hundreds and thousands of Indians were insulted and punished. I do not mind the punishment, but every Indian, who had to go out of that lane, had to crawl on his “tummy”, and there was no Sikh or Muslim or Hindu—and Sikhs are great Bahadurs, Muslims are great Bahadurs and Hindus are big Bahadurs today—who would have said “No, I will not crawl on my tummy” : I have legs to walk on. Do what you like”. With all those things in my mind, Sir, I went to the highest English official in this country, and he told me : “Yes—Dyer and O’Dwyer did let us down badly”. Please do not repeat that mistake.

I say, how, in spite of repressive laws, you have ten times more revolutionaries in this country than there were in 1920. Do you think you can stop the rising feeling of resentment by these Acts ? Let me tell you this, Sir. People were made to crawl on their “tummies” : poets had to write verses with their noses on the ground ; Sadhus were white-washed with lime, and all sorts of wonderful things were done. Mr. Bosworth Smith would go and insult women in Sheikhpura District saying “You are now in purdah : why did you not look after your men and tell them they should not stand up against the sirkar : I will remove now your veil with my stick, but my policemen will come, and lift your skirts.” These things happened. Every day, in spite such laws, the country is getting worse and worse. I have been imprisoned and know jail life. I do not know if my friend, the Collector of Midnapore, has seen imprisonment. I would like every official, especially in the Indian Civil Service, after he had passed his departmental examinations to be looked up like any ordinary prisoner for three months. (Laughter.) His clothes should be the same, his food should be the same, and he must be given ten stripes on his bare back ; and he will then understand what these laws mean to us. If the Honourable the Home Member wants at any time to introduce real, humane reforms in jails, I would be only too glad to offer him my humble services. There is a class of prisoners, Sir, who are called "Dohalias"—habituals—I do not know what they are called in Bengal : they have two blue stripes on their clothings instead of one for ordinary convicts, who have one blue stripe and one white. I assure you, Sir, there is nobody more flattered, more feared and more pampered in the jail by all the jail officials than these hardened habitual criminals. When I was a prisoner in Karachi, my Superintendent told me the story of a man called Razaack whom I had the pleasure of meeting later when I was in the jail office to consult my lawyers during the Karachi trial. This man was dressed in gunny bags,—a kind of jail punishment. He would not look at anybody, but would abuse every jail official. When he saw me and learnt who I was, he salamed me. The Superintendent told me a story about him: for disobedience of orders he was given 30 stripes: the procedure being that he was made stark naked, stripped of every inch of clothing and tied on a wooden triangle. A white cloth saturated with some kind of medicine—Dr. Deshmukh will be able to say what it was—was put on his bare buttocks, and he was given 30 stripes : these stripes were not ordinary : at the fourth stroke, they brought blood : he clenched his teeth and then received the remaining stripes without a cry : and when he had received them, he turned round to the Superintendent and before all said : " You have given me thirty stripes on the back : now give me thirty stripes in front ", and the whole jail was resounding with praises for this jail hero. So much for these wicked punishments. Now, Sir, are you wanting the whole country and every youth of India, Muslim, Sikh or Hindu, to say : " You have given us so many stripes on the back : give us as many more on the front ? Do you want them to become 'Dohalias' or habitual breakers of Law " ? It would be unwise and wrong.

[Maulana Shaukat Ali.]

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : Is the Honourable Member going to be very long ?

Maulana Shaukat Ali : I shall not be very long ; I shall take only ten minutes more.

Several Honourable Members : After lunch.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member can go on.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Thank you, Sir. I am very sorry I have to detain the House, without lunch, but I shall not be very long. I beg on my knees the Honourable the Home Member to withdraw this Bill. I would beg of them even at this late stage to withdraw this Bill and save the poor people of this country and themselves from a great deal of trouble. If this Bill is sent to H. E. the Viceroy, I hope he will refuse to certify it. Sir, he is going away in a few months, and, after so many years' service to India, I do not think he will give this disagreeable parting gift to this country by certifying a measure of this character. If Government do not pay heed to our prayers and entreaties to withdraw this Bill, then the responsibility will be theirs ; they will lose many well-wishers. In this connection, Sir, I am reminded of a story, my brother, Mahomed Ali, told me when the Press Act of 1908 was passed. He thought it was meant only for the Bengalis, the Tilakites and Marathas and for others, but not for Muslims who were loyal and contented. But what happened ? The very first man who was caught by this Act was Mahomed Ali himself and his paper, the Comrade. (Laughter.) What for ? For publishing a quotation from the Bible " Come into Macedonia and help us ", taken from an Englishman's pamphlet in favour of the Turks. The case went up before Chief Justice Sir Lawrence Jenkins, and he said : " Mr. Mahomed Ali, I cannot give you back your papers, but I give you back your honour ". The Press Law is such that even quotations from the Bible and the Holy Koran, made in connection with humanitarian causes, come within its arm. (Cries of " Shame " from the Congress Party Benches). I was reading yesterday a weekly, Old Aligharian,—I am very sorry I have not got it here. It gave in full an old article from the Comrade, written by my brother himself in 1911. Mahomed Ali sent an appeal to every Muslim to start to collect a fund to found the King George Muslim University. I was then that abject being called a Government servant. He induced me to take long leave and made me go round as Secretary to H. H. the Aga Khan to beg Muslims to make contribution for the Muslim University to be named after King George. My friend, Mr. Asaf Ali, asked me not to mention too often that I have been a " rebel and an outlaw ", but I cannot help mentioning it, because I want to be frank ; because I want that a real effort should be made to bring about an honourable understanding. If you want to quarrel, you can go on quarrelling, but what will happen to India and what would you gain ?

The Home Member and the Government, front Benchers, have got devoted, if not wise, supporters. If it is desired that women and children of the independent tribes should not be bombed, somebody from that side and from the Frontier will get up and say that the people in the Frontier only needed and appreciated bombing and so there must be bombing ; if the Government say that a repressive Press Act is not necessary, somebody behind them and a press man too will urge and impress on the Government to deal it with a strong hand. I was expecting my friend, Mr. Yamin Khan, to speak after me, and to tear me to pieces, but I am very glad he spoke before me, and I am now able to give him an answer. Sir, they have tried all kinds of repressive laws, but that method has not improved conditions in the country. My brother used to tell me a story. It appears that, one night, in Piccadilly, a gay old dandy, well dressed in immaculate clothes, with a monocle and a gold headed cane and having dined well at his club with a couple of champagne bottles inside him, saw a salvation army preacher in his red uniform who was shouting : " Friends, come and get salvation, I will show you the road to salvation, I will guide you along the proper path ". This club man went up to him, put on his monocle and drawled out : " My friend, do you know the road to salvation ? " " Yes, I do " was the reply. " How do you know it ? " " I have been on this road to salvation for 40 years " was the reply. Then, said he : " My friend, if after being for 40 years on this road of salvation, you have reached only as far as Piccadilly, then I will advise you to try another road ". (Laughter.)

Then, Sir, I have one thing more to say. It is an incident from Islamic history. Every lawyer in the House knows the name of Imam Ahmmad Bin Hambal, one of the four jurists, who have done so much for Islamic Law. Imam Hambal, after each prayer, used to pray in fervent language for the rest of the soul of one Abu Hozema. His son one day asked him who this man was ? He must have been a great saint ? The Imam replied : " No ; he was the greatest blackguard in the whole of Iraq, he was a thief, a robber and a murderer, but he did me a yeomen service for which I will always be grateful ". And, here, I want to refer to what my friend, Mr. Yamin Khan, said : Does he not remember the Karachi State trial where Mahomed Ali, Maulana Hosain Ahmad, Mufti Nisar Ahmad, Pir Gholam Mojaddin, Dr. Kitchlew and myself were tried for preaching this commandment of the Holy Koran :

[Maulana Shaukat Ali.]

" Wa man Yaqtool Momenan Motaammadan, fa jazaho Jehannamo ", etc.

" If one Moslem intentionally killed another Moslem, then, his punishment was Jehannam, etc."

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : What is the punishment to one who excites one Mussalman to kill another ?

Maulana Shaukat Ali : I am not excited even by the interruption of my friend, Mr. Yamin Khan. No one has excited any Muslim against him. He has not been killed. (Laughter.) As I was saying, Sir, the great jurist informed his son that there was time when in a point of law I differed from the Ulema who surrounded the Khalif Mamurrasheed and they said :

" This man is spoiling the morals and the faith of the Muslims, he ought to get 100 stripes in the public market."

I was then escorted by thousands of police, in glittering uniforms, meant to browbeat, and the thousands and thousands of people who loved and respected me and they could not do anything but cry bitterly at the sight of my humiliation and shame. I was also very nervous and feeling weak. Just then, one man rushed through the crowd and came to me and said, " I am Abu Hozema ; I have this day come out of the prison, I am 45 years old ; 25 years I have passed in prison, I have had 24,000 lashes on my bare back ; and before I left the prison, I took an oath that this very day I will commit robbery. If 24,000 lashes and 25 years' imprisonment have not stopped me from doing the devil's work, will these 100 lashes stop you from doing God's work ?

I got new courage and knew that he was sent by God to warn me and give me courage, " That is why I pray for him ". Sir, I have suffered much, I have been a prisoner. When I came here, I thought I was the only man in the House who had spent a long time in jail, but I saw that my friend, Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya, surpassed me. He told me he had a bigger jail record than I had. Sir, all my speeches in this House are in print. I was trying hard to make an honourable peace with the Government. If there is honourable peace between India and England, I would welcome it. After the Government Members had refused to institute an official enquiry in spite of the decision of this House, then the Assembly and Council of State Muslim Members appointed a non-official commission to enquire into the Karachi firing. We wanted an impartial non-official inquiry. Some of us wanted to go there and find out the causes of the rioting there ; we merely wanted to investigate and find out whether really Muslims were at fault, whether they could have avoided the trouble, whether there was any justification for shooting, and that what steps should be taken to prevent a recurrence of such trouble. In fact, we wanted to find out the real cause of the trouble. The result was that the Bombay Government banned this and served notice on me, saying that I was doing acts prejudicial to public peace. The Honourable the Home Member was very angry with Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya and said : " You want to sympathise with murderers ? " Sir, I tell you frankly, there is no Mussalman who does not sincerely believe that 69 Muslims were murdered in Karachi. They would be justified to say, " I cannot co-operate with the Government, because they want to hide and condone official murderers ". We wanted to enquire into the actual facts of the firing and suggest how to deal with such situations in future, but we were not allowed to go. Though I was a non-co-operator and a " rebel and an outlaw ", yet never was any security demanded from the Khilafat newspaper, of which I am the Editor and no " dummy Editor " too, but, after this incident, the Government showed their displeasure by demanding a security of Rs. 3,000. I did not want to kill any body, I have not killed even a cat, and I make no personal grievance of this action of the Government. I would advise Government to withdraw this Bill and conciliate people, but, if they won't heed that advice, well, everything is in the hands of God and they alone would be responsible as to what happened. (Applause.)

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Five Minutes to Three of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Five Minutes to Three of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

Mr. M. S. Aney (Berar Representative) : Sir, I have to thank you for permitting me to intervene in this debate and make a few observations on the motion before the House. I shall be very brief. Not that I have not much to say, but I think that the motion has been debated at considerable length and from all points of view.

The motion before the House is for the consideration of the Bill to amend the Criminal Law Amendment Act. The motion evidently is intended to bring permanently on the Statute-book a law which has been detested and condemned all along from the time of its inception to the present day. I have not heard anybody, not now but since the time when the Act came into being, saying a good word for this, but it was then justified on grounds of emergency and so on. We thought the word " emergency " always meant some temporary aberration when normal conditions are not in existence, and when normal conditions are not in existence, probably such penal legislation may be justified. We were not here. Nor were we free outside to express our opinion on the basic principles of this legislation that was brought forward for the consideration of the House then, but I am prepared to admit this fact that the conditions in the country at the time when this legislation was brought forward were abnormal and probably that could be construed as an emergency for the Government to take these extraordinary powers. The real point is this. I thought that the present Executive Council had sufficient common sense in itself to appreciate the present position. What the Government has to see is whether there is any such thing as an emergency now to justify this extraordinary legislation at all. It is admitted that the emergency which existed in the year 1932 does not exist today. That fact is tacitly conceded by the Honourable Member in charge of this Bill. He has made that statement in the Statement of Objects and Reasons and he also claims that he has taken that fact into consideration. He has also conceded that the conditions which existed when this temporary legislation was brought into force do not exist today, and, therefore, the present Bill which he has brought forward is not exactly a renewal of the old Act but it is an attenuated form of that Act. Certain provisions are repealed and certain provisions are retained. He says that sections 2, 3, 4, 6 and 8 have been repealed. Some other provisions which are more or less of a procedural nature are also repealed because they related mainly to conditions which were a special feature of the Civil Disobedience Movement against which the first law was directed. I do not know whether the Honourable Member in charge of the Bill has really studied the conditions under which the Civil Disobedience Movement itself was run and whether he is aware that the conditions under which the Civil Disobedience Movement was run had anything to do with the clauses which he is now repealing. Clauses 2, 3, 4, 6 and 8 relate to certain conditions which no doubt are within the scope of what is known as a complete non-co-operation programme that was published in 1920 and which contained many things including the making of efforts to stop the enrolment to the army. I admit that fact, but the Civil Disobedience Movement of 1930 was run on special conditions which were laid down. It was for the breach of certain specific laws and for preventing the sales of foreign cloth and similar activity. It had nothing to do with dissuading people from joining the army. That was not the programme of the Civil Disobedience Movement of 1930 and you will find that the boycott of public servants or dissuading people from joining the army and the police had nothing to do with the Civil Disobedience Movement which we ran in 1930 and which continued up to the year 1933. All those sections which related to this were practically obsolete during the very period for which the law was intended. I do not think there was any occasion for the Government of India or for any Provincial Government to make use of any one of those sections which are now being omitted. They were obsolete even then. In drafting the Bill then, they probably took the copy of the programme which was described as the non-co-operation programme, found out what it contained and those provisions have been inserted in the form of several clauses of the Bill. But in doing so they did not only provide against the emergency that actually then existed but an emergency, which they imagined, might arise and develop out of the Civil Disobedience Movement. It never took that form and those provisions were never used and so they were obsolete. And the provisions which were even then exclusively intended for the suppression of the Civil Disobedience Movement have been retained in the present Bill also and, therefore, I do not want to give credit to the Honourable Member in charge of the Bill that he has taken note of the fact that the Civil Disobedience Movement is in abeyance and, therefore, certain provisions have been repealed, and only such provisions have been retained as have got nothing to do with the Civil Disobedience Movement. That is a wrong statement of fact in my opinion.

[Mr. M. S. Aney.]

Now, I want to know what was the justification for this measure?

Who required these powers. In a big speech and a very good speech, the Honourable Member in charge of the Bill has made out his case in support of this motion. He has stated that in 1932 various Provincial Governments expressed the urgent need of having some such extraordinary powers. He has quoted extensive extracts from the reports made by the Government of the Punjab and also by the Government of Bengal in 1932. But I am surprised to find that he has not quoted the opinions of any single Provincial Government urgently asking the Government of India to retain this law, so far as the present Bill is concerned, permanently on the Statute-book in one form or another. There must have been many Provincial Governments, I imagine, who would have said, perhaps, that as no such conditions exist today as they had existed previously, the continuance of these provisions was not called for, perhaps in their entirety, as a permanent measure. Then I would like to take up the third point in this connection, namely, this. This law is justified by him on the existence of certain conditions today,—that, though the Civil Disobedience Movement is in abeyance, according to him, he wanted to counteract certain other forces, such as Communism, communalism, terrorism, and so on. Well, Sir, I would like to say one thing, that I am perfectly sure that the sources which bring about Communism or even communalism are of a nature altogether different from the one which a Bill like this will ever be able to counteract. My Honourable friends have already successfully shown how and why and under what conditions these Communists can grow and become numerous in this country. And what are the reasons? Sir, unless the Government is prepared to analyse and find out the root causes and try to uproot those root causes, it will be difficult for them to combat Communism or any other "ism". Sir, so long as the root cause remains, I say all these are and will prove to be but superficial remedies. They may give ample powers to create an undesirable situation, a reign of terror in this country, but below that reign of terror, Sir, Communism, I say, or even communalism will grow and be fostered. And you ignore that! If, the executive creates a reign of terror in this country by the indiscriminate use of the extraordinary powers, as they have been doing, I am sure, they are creating the very conditions under which the disruptive forces like Communism and terrorism can thrive and prosper. (Hear, hear.) This is no cure for the remedy. On the other hand, it may aggravate the disease in such a manner that you will be bound to regard it as hopeless and beyond the scope of any remedy soon afterwards. Wait and see.

3 P.M.

Sir, one of the reasons which the Honourable the Home Member has given to make this Bill permanent is a psychological one. He has said that one reason why they want to make the Bill a permanent one is that temporary measures are likely to create a feeling in the minds of those who dabble in these movements that very soon the restraints will be over and they are thus likely to cherish the hope that some day or other they may be enabled again to resume their reactionary activities. Sir, here I believe he has not correctly understood the psychology of these terrorists. Sir the terrorists and for the matter of that even the civil resisters are not like ordinary people; they are men who are made of sterner stuff than what my Honourable friend imagines. They have developed within themselves a certain mentality which has grown on account of certain forces that exist in this country. The point is this. Unless you give a fair chance to these persons—who are either law-breakers or terrorists or revolutionaries to engage in pursuits where they can utilize their talents honourably and usefully and in which their desire for public service can be gratified, unless some such opportunities are created for them, no change of heart in them can be possible. I am sure my Honourable friend, in seeking to make this law permanent and to deprive the press of the opportunities under which they cherish the hope of carrying on their propaganda, is going to defeat his own professed object, if he really wants to bring about a change of heart in these young men. I want the Government to understand that they have to create the conditions under which these young men will be engaged in a more honourable way and in which their natural desire for public service will be gratified. So long as you do not create proper avenues and channels for them, and so long as you treat them merely as suspects in this land, so long as you continue to harass them like that, I say, Sir, terrorism, instead of being crushed, will be driven underground. This is the very position which you are creating. Sir, this is all that my Honourable friend, Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya, was trying in his speech the other day to explain to this House. He did not want to express his sympathy with murders. That is quite a wrong impression. What he wanted was this, that, if you want to deal with these terrorists, these misguided youths, then open your hearts frankly to respectable citizens in this country in whom they can trust, let there be a sincere understanding between the leaders in this country and the officials; there is no possibility of really tackling this problem effectively in any other way. My Honourable friend, Mr. James, who is always cautious in making his observations, missed the real purpose of the observations which my Honourable friend, Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya, had to make on that point. This is all that he said. (Hear, hear.)

[Mr. M. S. Aney.]

Sir, there was another point made by my Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, namely, where is the need of this law if you find that, after having these powers for so many years, the object of the previous legislation has not been served; and then what is the use of having a fresh law? Sir, the Honourable Member for Commerce, in his own way, tried to give a bit of an ingenious reply. He is a good lawyer, there is no question about that, but it was a special pleading; he looked to me like a lawyer arguing and advocating a hopeless cause for which he was briefed. It looked to me like this. He said, in all seriousness, well, if because of this law or in spite of this law, terrorism or such like things are not stifled, but on the other hand have been growing, if that is the reason advanced by you for the repeal of this law, well, why then don't you do away with the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code? Sir, that was the serious observation made by my Honourable friend, the Member in charge of the portfolio of Commerce. Sir, the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code are Acts which have nothing to do with the detection of crime. Figures were quoted to show that so many thousands of murders were committed and so few were detected, but what has the Indian Penal Code or the Criminal Procedure Code got to do with detection? If there is anybody who is to be blamed for that, it is the staff in charge of this work of detection. Sir, my Honourable friend should have understood the importance of the insinuation, the indictment that was contained in the statement made by my Honourable friend, Mr. Asaf Ali, and he failed to perceive the gravity of the observation that was made that the Government allowed so many thousands of murders to go undetected. Serious offences like that go on undetected and it is a charge against the Governmental agency and not against the Indian Penal Code or the Criminal Procedure Code. The Honourable the Commerce Member should have certainly seen that point very clearly. Sir, what I want to say is this that there is no need for a law like this. The reason why I do not want to have this law is that it will defeat its own object and I have said this so often. Government should see whether by pursuing a policy of this nature they are likely to reconcile public opinion and to help to establish those conditions under which peaceful progress of this country can be ensured.

Now, what are you doing? The most powerful party in the country has come and sat in this House and conditions under which certain emergency measures were passed have undoubtedly disappeared. What is your reply to the change of programme which the most powerful party in the country has deliberately made? It is made with a view to see the bona fides of your professions which you have made times without number on the floor of this House that if certain conditions are created, Government will be willing to co-operate and withdraw all repression. Now, members of the Congress have come here and are prepared to offer their hand of co-operation and are ready to give you every kind of help in establishing conditions for the peaceful progress of this country. But if you continue to ask for measures like this, you will be creating obstacles in their way and making their co-operation with you absolutely impossible. Is this a statesmanlike attitude to take? I must tell you that you are doing this in defiance of public opinion and that is a point which you must take into consideration. During the last Budget Session I had the privilege of moving a cut motion to protest against this repressive policy and that motion was carried by an overwhelming majority of this House. That motion said that all persons who have been detained in jails under these repressive laws should be set at liberty and all repressive measures that have been in existence should be withdrawn. The House recorded a clear and unequivocal verdict on that motion. Now, what is the way in which you have been treating that verdict? You say that, though it was the verdict of this House, you must proceed in your own way because you are responsible for the peace and order of this country. And you feel in your supreme wisdom that the conditions of this country require that one more reactionary weapon be added to your armoury. Sir, the Statute-book of this Government is already blackened by the existence of so many repressive laws and I am sure the addition of this law will make it almost abominable if you keep it permanently.

Sir, when I got up to make my speech, I made up my mind to confine my remarks to a few points only and I also agreed to take up only a short time of the House. I want to keep to my promise and if you, Sir, think that I have exceeded that limit, you are at liberty to point that fact to me and I shall sit down. Now, Sir, it is said that this measure is not only for the benefit of all of us today but it will make the position of those who will be in charge of this Government later more safe and secure. Sir, we know what that Government will be under the new Government of India Act. I am sure no man will shed a tear if that Act is altogether dropped today. I have to make one suggestion to the Government. You are only heaping one reactionary law upon the other for the sake of perpetuating the regime of prospective reactionary rule. Why don't you drop that law and this measure as well? (Applause from the Congress Party Benches.) It is in the hands of the Government of India even now before the new Act is actually put into operation to make a suggestion to the Secretary of State to save this country from this domination of the new law and all the other laws that are to come in its train for the sake of making it workable. If such measures are necessary to make that law workable, you will never succeed in giving any kind of self-government to this country. We are not fools to believe you when you say that such powers are necessary in order to enable the future Ministers to do their work successfully. I regard that the Government of India are like Manthara,—the maid in attendance on the Queen who gave advice to the Queen of Ayodhya, Kai Kai, and the foolish lady out of a sense of selfish interest imposed conditions upon the old Raja Dasharatha. Those conditions were that Rama was to be exiled for 12 years and her own son Bharat was to become the crowned king. Her son came back only to rebuke his mother instead of accepting the crown. Dasharath was dead and ultimately she found that she was a widow and nowhere. That is going to be your position. (Laughter.) Rama, the real aspirant to the throne of Ayodhya, gloriously returned after exile and occupied the throne of Ayodhya. Indian people like Rama will get their Swaraj and come back to their own today or tomorrow, and you will have to share the unenviable fate of Manthara and Kai Kai.

[Mr. M. S. Aney.]

This being the case, I want to give one piece of advice. Even now it is not too late for you to retrace your steps and be convinced that you are treading a wrong path. But if you think that nothing in this world can teach you wisdom, you are at liberty to do what you like and be prepared for the worst. With these words, Sir, I thank you once more for giving me an opportunity to speak and also the House for giving me a patient hearing for these few minutes that I had at my disposal. I wished to take up many other points and if I have not been able to take them up it was because I had a very short time at my command. However, I hope that other Honourable Members were able to convince the House that the old law was misused and there is no doubt that this Government will also abuse the powers which it is now asking us to give. I want to say, in conclusion, that these powers have not only been misused in Bengal and other parts of India, but also in my part of the country, the Central Provinces and Maharashtra. Sir, I oppose the measure. (Loud Applause from Congress Party Benches.)

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Sir, in taking part in this debate, which, I presume, is at its concluding stage, I do not propose to start by raising any contentions or advancing any arguments, but I wish to lay before this House certain facts to enable it to judge as to what were the consequences when, on each of the three previous occasions, the experiment was tried of repealing press legislation. My Honourable friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, said that he was giving a cold narration of facts, but somehow or other my experience has been that cold facts generate in certain quarter more heat than angry declamations.

Now, coming to the point at once, the first Press Act, i.e., of 1878, gave certain powers of forfeiture of press to the executive. Under that Act, there was not even a semblance of recourse to Courts for challenging the action of the executive. That is what is referred to by Sir Lawrence Jenkins in the portion of his judgment which was read out to the House by my Honourable colleague, the Commerce Member.

Now, Sir, that Act came to be repealed. Later on, when the situation required that some more powers should be taken, nothing was done in the shape of press legislation, but the Government thought that the situation would be sufficiently met by tinkering with the Indian Penal Code, and the result of that was that in 1898, two new sections were introduced. The one was section 124-A which relates to sedition, and the second was section 153-A which relates to exciting class hatred.

Therefore, Sir, in 1898, the position was that there was no press legislation, although the Indian Penal Code had been strengthened by the addition of these two sections.

Let us see, Sir, what was happening between the years 1903 and 1910 or rather 1908 when there was no press legislation of any kind whatsoever. I think I need hardly remind this House that the terrorist movement in Bengal had practically no history or a negligible history before the days of the partition of Bengal. (Hear, hear.) Under cover of the partition agitation, at a time when there was no question of any repression, due to other causes into which I need not digress just now, there was any amount of terrorist activity. What was then happening to the press?

As soon as this agitation started, a number of papers came out, and those, who have come from Bengal or those who have studied the history of Bengal, cannot forget the name of the Yugantar, the Sandhya, the Sarathi and others. There was open incitement to assassination and murder as a political weapon. In those days, the camouflage of profession of non-violence was not known. They were inciting the people to violence. They said, that is the only way in which the country could be liberated. What was the effect of these papers? I need not give them in my own words, but I shall give you reference to cases where it has been found—by Court that those papers were allies in the campaign of conspiracy and murder. Before the Press Act came into operation, these newspapers, particularly the Yugantar and the Sandhya, were responsible for dissemination, on a very large scale, of incitement to violence. Sir, as I said, I will give you one or two instances from the judgments of Courts. In what is known as the Manicktola Conspiracy case.....

An Honourable Member : Oh ! You are beginning from there.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : My Honourable friends will kindly make note of this fact, that I do not desire to give way either to casual interruptors or to habitual interruptors like my Honourable friend, Prof. Ranga, on the other side.

Now, Sir, in the Manicktola Conspiracy case—I am giving it from the judgment—the Court found that the accused employed newspapers in furtherance of the objects of the conspiracy, namely, assassination on a large scale. It found—(I am quoting the words)—the Yugantar was a limb of the conspiracy and that even young boys in remote parts of the country were corrupted by this newspaper.

[12TH SEP. 1935.]

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Now, Sir, I will give you one more. In the Naglla Conspiracy case, one of the documents exhibited was a little volume called "The Mukti Kône Pathê"—which means "In which way is the liberation"—and the judgment finds that this book consisted of reproductions of articles originally published in the Yugantar. These articles in the Yugantar point out that revolution has to be prepared in two stages, firstly, by the formation of public opinion, and, secondly, by brute force and collection of arms. "Mukti Kône Pathê" recommends publication of newspapers, and acknowledges the great service done to the revolutionaries by newspapers.

These newspapers, according to the findings of Courts, and what is common knowledge in Bengal, were the most potent allies in the cause of terrorism and they were the most useful agency for dissemination of these ideas of violence and murder as a political creed throughout the length and breadth of Bengal. This was the most powerful weapon in their hands. As it can be easily realised, the method of the terrorists by reason of the nature of their work must be to act in secret. It is not easy for them to get into touch with a large masses of men, but that difficulty was more than compensated by the publication of all these newspapers. The cult of murder was daily brought home to thousands, through the agency of the press.

Now, Sir, as I said, there was no press legislation at this time. The inevitable consequence of this class of writing came to be felt very soon, and, if I may remind this House, without going into unnecessary details, that the campaign of murder really started with the murder of Miss and Mrs. Kennedy in 1908, and a party to the conspiracy for this murder was Kanai Lal Dutt who murdered in jail a friend of his, who was another conspirator.

When things had come to that pass and when assassinations were taking place in the country, Government moved, and although this Government is described as greedy and credited with insatiable lust for power, as a matter of fact nothing was done in 1908 beyond passing the Act which was called the Newspapers (Incitement to Offences) Act of 1908. It is not surprising, but though it was not expected then, we know now, the Act of 1908 had very little effect in checking this dangerous propaganda with which the country had been over-run.

It is all very well to ask, after all how many papers were there of the kind of Yugantar. Sir, whether there were ten or whether there were 20 or 50, as I have shown from judgments of the highest Court in the land that the influence and the poisonous effect of these papers was incalculable and I agree with my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, if he is not asleep.....

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : I am listening to you very attentively.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : .....that statistics should not be taken in too dry and scientific a manner. He reminded us that when emotion comes, logic goes to the wall. I agree again. And here these poisonous papers were playing upon the emotion of the youths of the country, and logic was giving way, leading to disastrous results.

I have told the House that the situation could not be controlled by the Act of 1908, and I would like to place before the House four or five lines from the findings of the Rowlatt Committee :

" Though the Yugantar disappeared, other newspapers sprang up, and we are convinced that these publications produced ever a new succession of instruments of murder and outrage, and to this source, altogether independent of other causes, is largely due the continuation and extension of conspiracy."

It was then, Sir, that the Act of 1910, about which so much has been said,—and I do not want to go into its provisions—which may shortly be described as a far more comprehensive Act, was passed. What was the effect ? The morality of the tone,—that has been our experience,—changes with the existence or repeal of press laws. When the press law of 1910 came into existence, there was certainly an improvement, if not at once, but gradual and steady.

I will not tire you with a long history, year by year, but, as you have been informed, in 1921, there was a Press Law Committee which recommended the repeal of the Act of 1910. At any rate, from April, 1922, there was no Press Act ; and, therefore, this is the second interregnum. From 1922, right up to 1930, when Ordinances and other press legislation was started, the period may be described as the second interregnum.

We have seen what happened during the years when there was no press law, on the first occasion, and how in the period 1903 to 1908, a section of the press was directly responsible for incitement to murder and violence. From 1922, there was no press law till we come to 1930.

In 1922, when the press law was abolished, the Press Law Committee considered it desirable,—I am giving from summary of their findings,—that the demand for repeal should be met, though they said that a weighty case had been made out by some Local Governments for retention. That is to say, the position was this, that although a strong case, according to the Committee, had been made out by some of the Governments for not repealing the law, yet they thought some risk should be taken and the popular demand should be met. In introducing the Bill for the repeal of the Act of 1910, Sir William Vincent, said :

" In moving this Bill, I am conscious I am taking risk at the present juncture."

And the risk was taken. This Government which is a bloodthirsty Government, anxious to have as much power as possible to crush down the people by all possible means, deliberately took the risk in 1922, in spite of the warnings given by the Local Governments, and the Act was repealed.

Now, let us see what was happening between 1922 and 1929. In 1922, as this House has been already reminded by one, if not two, of the speakers, there was the non-co-operation movement, a movement started with the deliberate object of paralysing and ultimately destroying Government by breaking its laws.

Now, Sir, it has been known that on occasions, and I should say, in many instances, contrary to the direction given by the founder of this movement, crowds or mobs of Civil Disobedients have broken into violence. The point that I want to stress is, that even where they have not been guilty of any acts of violence, the studied contempt of law and order and of the authorities, who have got to maintain law and order, created a violent mentality and created an atmosphere in which the young and unbalanced mind was predisposed to fall a victim to the inspirations of the terrorists. Now, Sir, as I said, by 1922, the Act was repealed. We have then the Chittagong Conference which met in 1922 shortly after the repeal of the Act of 1922. At this Conference, they decided,—and I say it deliberately, without actually quoting the language of the Resolutions and speeches which were made,—(i) not to have any objection to violence and to resume violence if possible, and (ii) what is more important for the precise point, I am pressing before this House, to use the press. The result was that, as soon as the Act was repealed in 1922, the Yugantar re-appeared, and, if I may say so, a brood of vipers appeared. Their names are too many; the more well-known are the Sarathi, the Shankha and the Yugantar. They all appeared within a short time of the repeal of the press law of 1910.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

They had previously disappeared,—why? Was there no legitimate scope for newspapers? We have heard of newspapers being absolutely necessary for passing the torch of knowledge from hand to hand for propagation and exchange of ideas, for criticism, and the giving of information to the public. But this class of newspapers have no vocation left, they cannot meet the expenses for one week, if they are asked not to publish articles of dangerous nature, inciting people to violence. That is why they disappeared and why they re-appeared practically simultaneously with the repeal of Press Legislation in 1922. One fact is very significant. Not only in many cases the names of the newspapers were the same, but the management, the persons in charge of the papers, were the men who had been conducting these papers in the period 1904–1907. It may rightly be said that what disappeared as a result of press legislation,—the Yugantar and its tribe,—re-appeared simultaneously with the repeal of the law in 1922.

Now, Sir, what was happening in this period, 1922–29? My friend, Prof. Ranga, reminded me that, on the last occasion, I gave them 56 cases; he has not thanked me for not making it 86 or more as it could easily have been done. (An Honourable Member: “There is still time.”) I will not go into that aspect of the matter at all on this occasion, nor shall I give instances of glorification of murder or things of the kind which I dealt with on the last occasion.

We have been told that newspapers are required for spreading knowledge and increasing human happiness. Leaving alone the aspect of terrorism, and incitement to violence, let us have some idea of the actualities of the situation as to what a section of the gutter press was capable of doing in connection with fanning communal passions into flame.

Sir, I believe, many people, particularly those who come from Bengal, are aware of the name of the Ananda Bazar Patrika, which claims to have a larger number of subscribers than the Statesman; and, without entering into journalistic rivalries, one may say that it has a very large circulation. From the voluminous material available, I am giving instances from three districts and leave the House to judge as to what the effect of these writings would be on the masses.

In an article published in July, shortly I should say during the time of what is known as the Pabna riots of 1926, this paper asserted—and I have taken care to quote almost the exact words, so that it may not be said I am paraphrasing it:

“The Hindu public think that there is truth in the rumour circulated by Maulvis that Government have permitted the Mussalmans to loot Hindu houses for a week. Muslims in bodies are going in villages helping their co-religionists.”

In another article, in the same paper, after referring to the fiendish attack of, and the terrible oppression committed by, Moslems on Hindus, it deliberately excites the Hindus by ridiculing them as to why they are not retaliating—is it for fear of life?

A sample of the untruth and of the exaggeration which was indulged in, in connection with the communal trouble then existing, is given by the following quotation from another newspaper:

“Many villages in Pabna have today been converted into a cremation ground. People are fleeing from villages through fear. Their wealth and property have been looted: the images of their gods have been broken. The barbarians in broad daylight, without fear, are freely looting Hindu villagers, and the Hindus with their mothers and sisters are taking shelter in jungles with tigers and bears. The ruffians, with Satanic exaltation, have forced the Hindus to read the Kalma and tried to convert them to Islam. Are they Moslems or are they demons?”

Another paper, the Bishwamitra, had this writing:

“They have been unable to suppress the goondas, although numberless Hindu women have been dishonoured.”

This was the grossest exaggeration. I am sorry I have to make a reference to our Honourable President—but the paper goes on to say:

“One curious fact is that, in spite of all this bloodshed in Pabna, Haji Ghuznavi (not our Honourable friend here) and Sir Abdur Rahim have not thought fit to raise their fingers in protest.”

More than one paper insinuated or stated that Sir Abdur Rahim was party to a Machiavellian policy—he was an ally of the “third party” which had been exciting Muslims against Hindus, and why? For forming a Muslim bloc in the Bengal Council.

The Sakti, another paper, in a long venomous article under the caption “The Age of Nadir Shah” wrote:

“From the barbarous oppression and persecution that have been committed in Pabna, the question arises, whether Muslim religion means fiendishness.”

The Hindustan of Calcutta, writing on the situation, says:

“The Moslem plunderers come and loot houses, Hindu women hide themselves in jungles like dogs and jackals, seeing that their honour is in danger. The Moslems, who are fond of rioting, are wandering about in Pabna like mad beasts eager to destroy the property and honour of Hindus.”

The Jagaran, another paper, puts it in this language:

“We have heard that Mollas preach to illiterate Moslems that the Scriptures say that it is sin to remain a widow. For this reason one acquires profound virtue according to Islam by outraging by fraud, force or artifice, the honour of Hindus, particularly Hindu widows.”

A typical example of the glib platitude about the third party—the fighting communities having nothing to do with it—is shown by an article in the Forward—it is a long article:

“Possibly Sir Hugh Stephenson is not yet fully assured if the present communal tension is sufficient for Sir Abdur Rahim’s scheme of forming a Moslem bloc the want of which was keenly felt when dyarchy was killed in Bengal by Deshbandhu Das.”

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Our Honourable President was part and parcel of the third party which was following a Machiavellian policy of making the brothers quarrel among themselves.

The Servant in an article said :

"The cumulative effect of this campaign of Hindu hatred, the desecration of temples and images, defilement of houses, abduction of girls, has been that the Hindus living in villages have become panic-stricken, their women do not dare go out of the houses for fear of dishonour, and the men themselves live in constant fear of their Muhammadan neighbours."

Sir, in connection with this trouble in Pabna, I claim to know something about it, because, at that time, I was counsel in one of the cases that came to Court. This was a small matter, and, like any other ordinary squabble in a village, it would have died down in 48 hours : but it took months to subside and the trouble increased out of all proportion as a result of writings of this kind of which I have given you a few samples. ....

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena (Lucknow Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Did you condemn these writings then ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I did. If you had been allowed to make that inquiry which you were prevented from making, you might have discovered the part played by the Press, had that been the object of your enquiry. Sir, that was done by the Government of Bengal under the special Act which my Honourable friend, Mr. Fuzlul Huq, helped in passing. (Laughter.)

Mr. Fuzlul Huq (Bakargunj cum Faridpur : Muhammadan Rural) : It was a hireling vote !

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am sorry, I could not hear that interruption ; but if you search the proceedings of the Legislative Council in Bengal, it will be found that he did support the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Bill, although he decried it on the floor of the House. I have got the volumes here : in proper time I shall show that my friend is suffering from a curious lapse of memory. (Interruptions.) If I am allowed to go on without interruption, I may be able to carry out the gentlemen's agreement which I have arrived at with the Honourable the Leader of the Opposition ; but if this interruption goes on, my friend will surely understand that I am not bound by the bargain, on account of these half audible attempted interruptions.

Then, Sir, coming to another district, Hughli, the Pallivasi, writing under the caption "Orgy of Crime", stated :

"The news of repeated breaking of temples and images is making the blood grow warm in the veins of moribund Hindus. Not content with breaking temples and obstructing marriage processions, the miscreants are making Cow-korbanis. What Hindu is there, whose heart is not filled with hatred towards beastly Moslems. Lustful Moslems in batches are committing oppression on Hindu women."

Sir, I have given you samples from three districts, and not confined to one year. What, then, ....

Bhai Parma Nand (West Punjab : Non-Muhammadan) : You have discovered these after nine years ? You are speaking of things that occurred in 1926.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : No, Sir ; if my Honourable friend will hold his soul in patience, he will know what I am going to resently. This communal matter is rather unpleasant to my friend, Bhai Parma Nand. This is not confined to one year, nor was it discovered only today. As a matter of fact, I was going to tell the House that many of these papers were prosecuted, but, as has been stated by the Honourable the Home Member, the prosecution of dummy editors had no effect whatsoever. The infamous Yugantar was prosecuted five times between 1907 and 1908, and every time a man of straw was put forward. ....

Bhai Parma Nand : I am not talking of the Yugantar. ....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : If the Honourable Member wishes to address the House, he must rise in his seat.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : As I said, Sir, cold facts have heating effect in some quarters.

The situation, during the second interregnum, may be shortly summarised as follows : Throughout this period, a section of the press was flooding the country with articles urging people to break laws. Secondly, during this period, 1922 to 1929,—I purposely refrain from giving examples, because I dealt with this matter on the last occasion,—but this is the period when the glorification of murderers took an intensive form. One has got to turn to the pages of some of these papers only to see that column after column, day after day, there was nothing but canonisation of murderers, worshipping them, calling them saints and liberators, holding them as glorious examples to be followed by others.

Then, the third thing, that was going on, was the fanning of this communal bitterness. I presume, Sir, if any press law had been in existence, if any of these poisonous papers had been proceeded against by the authorities, we would have been told that the Satanic Government was crushing the spirit of Nationalism, that this torch of knowledge could no longer pass from hand to hand, that we could no longer have free discussion or free exchange of ideas which is so necessary for human advancement, as was pointed out by my friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant. ....

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : You dispute your principle ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I don't dispute it at all, so far as legitimate and permissible functions of the press is concerned. But these papers were not prevented from carrying the torch of knowledge, but they were prevented from emitting poison gas, which was the sole duty which they had taken upon themselves to discharge. ("Hear, hear" from Official Benches.)

I come now, Sir, to the third interregnum. The press legislation of 4 P.M. 1930 ceased to have any effect from March to end of October, 1930.

I need hardly remind the House that at this time the Press Ordinances were issued.

When the press law had been in operation, the situation had vastly improved, and this Government, greedy for power, once more took the risk in 1930 of repealing the press law.

Let us see, Sir, what happened within these six or seven months. We had, as was to be expected, because history had repeated itself twice and it was repeating itself for a third time,—the immediate appearance of articles, poems and stories,—poems and stories being the special feature of Bombay,—in glorification of murderers, of incitement to violence, unrestrained praise of persons like Bhagat Singh, Dinesh Gupta, Kanai Lal Dutti. This was the daily feature of numerous papers in most of the Provinces, as soon as the press law was repealed in 1930. One has only to read the articles to see the trend of them, and the object of most of them was in praise of murderers, and to indulge in outrageous and fulsome flattery of assassins. Any young person who, not having the subtlety of my friend, Pandit Malaviya, would at once be led to the conclusion that, after all, this is one of the noblest achievements possible for him, and that murder would earn for him the gratitude of a section of the press and the public. Then, the third, as I said, was the incitement to break all laws, because they are laws of a foreign Government. Then, fourthly, the articles like "Bravo Chittagong", somewhat on the lines of "Bravo Azad" of Pandit Malaviya, the "Martyrdom of Dinesh Gupta", published daily and in the most prominent fashion, would reasonably be expected to lead to the inevitable consequences of such writings, and you will find, Sir, that this period of six or seven months is crowded with terrorist outrages.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Can you give me, Sir, just a few minutes to tell you as to what happened within these six months?

I will just remind the House of the items without going into details. We have five cases, and I think I ought to take the precaution of saying that these remarks are confined to happenings in Bengal,—I do not intend these to apply to other provinces so far as this part of the argument is concerned. We had five cases of bomb throwing on police stations. The cases were tried in Court, and the accused were convicted.

In April, 1931, Mr. Peddie was murdered, and one has only to compare the writings in a certain section of the press in April, 1931, when there was no press law, with the writing which appeared on the death of Mr. Burge in 1934, when many of these papers had attained morality as the result of press legislation.

Then, Sir, we had the murder of Mr. Garlick, Sessions Judge, the attempt on Mr. Cassels, the murder of Mr. Ahsanulla, the police inspector of Chittagong, attempt on Mr. Dunro, the attempt on Mr. Villiers,—he was not killed, but was severely wounded,—and, during this third interregnum,—thanks to the spirit of lawlessness and of defiance of the constituted authorities created by Civil Disobedience or the law-breaking movement,—very intensive results were obtained within six months. The two movements were natural allies, having the same object, viz., paralysing and destroying the Government. That was the situation from April to November, 1930, when, for the third time, the press law had been repealed. History had shown the folly of repealing press laws for even six months. You will also notice from the dates, the periods during which this Government patiently waited before taking such a drastic step as the press legislation. On the first occasion, they waited from 1904, if not from the end of 1903. The first mild step was taken in 1908, and a real step was taken in 1910, a period of five to six years.

When the second press law was repealed, the Government waited for full seven years, relied on ordinary law and carried on prosecutions under section 153A and all other sections of the Indian Penal Code, and it was found to be ineffective.

The arguments for discontinuance shortly are these. First, it is said that terrorism is now negligible. Now, Sir, again I have no desire to go into facts and figures on this occasion, but my Honourable friend, Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta, either in his speech this time, or on the last occasion, or probably both, pointed out that there were a far less number of terrorist outrages in 1934 as compared with 1931-32. That is admitted. The number of outrages in 1934 were less. Probably, my Honourable friend has not taken notice of the fact that, in 1934, there were 49 cases in which arms, bombs, revolvers, had been found on searches. I am not referring to the discovery of arms, connected with those who were tried in Court and were convicted of specific acts of terrorism, but to cases of arms, found in illicit possession. These were 49 in number, and five cases are reported where no trace could be found of lost or stolen arms.

I think it is also a significant fact that, during these searches,—I do not remember the number—in some cases the police discovered country-made revolvers, one of them was exhibited in one case showing apparently that, in some part of the country, whether in Bengal or out of Bengal, I have no information, revolvers were being made.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta (Chittagong and Rajshahi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Some revolvers are made by the informers themselves. That has been the finding of the Courts.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : No, that is not the finding of the Court. I shall stand corrected if the Honourable Member will show me any judgment. The two cases which my Honourable friend thinks of and another case to which my Honourable friend did not refer—in those cases it was not that the revolvers were manufactured by the informers, nothing of the kind.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : That is the finding.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is not the finding in the cases I have in mind or he referred to. Once more, if I may make a short digression, those two cases which were cited by my Honourable friend go to show that the informers on these two occasions planted revolvers or bombs and laid a false charge against certain people.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Not only planted, but made.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : No, Sir. I deny that. There is no use contradicting a thing more than thrice.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Anyway, there is the finding.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I said there is no finding. I have denied four times, and let us stop after four times.

In these cases, it was the wretched Government which started prosecution of these informers. In one case, the sentence was considered low, and it was again this wretched Government which went up in appeal for an enhancement of the sentence. (Interruption by Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta.) I think my Honourable friend is too dangerously near other interrupters and is getting their habit.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Let me try to remember where I digressed from. As I have said, I have no desire once more to go into facts relating to terrorism, but I would like to place before this House one and one document only.

I should explain what this document is. This is a letter, rather long, which purports to be written by a gentleman of the name of Krishnadas Singh Roy. Mr. Krishnadas Singh Roy is not a police informer. He lived at Sabarmati for some time. He is the author of a book which is called, "Seven Months with Gandhi"—"Mahatma" has been omitted by him, and not by me. He came to Bengal early in 1930 to launch the Civil Disobedience Movement. Early in April, 1930, he addressed meetings in Calcutta, full accounts of which will be found in the Forward, Advance and other papers. The meetings were organised by the North Calcutta District Congress Committee, and, two days later, after his first speech, Mr. Krishnadas was introduced to the audience in another meeting by Mr. Sen-Gupta. Rightly or wrongly, Mr. Krishnadas Singh Roy described himself as Secretary of Mahatma Gandhi. In his earlier speech, Mr. Krishnadas explained the various stages of complete independence, namely, (1) Petition, (2) Non-Co-Operation, (3) Civil Disobedience, and (4) Anarchy.

In December, 1930, he started what is well-known to my Bengal friends, I am sure, the "Bengal Council of Action". Mr. Krishnadas Singh Roy, according to a statement in the press, the correctness of which we cannot vouch for, and which statement appeared on the 15th December, 1934, was appointed office Secretary of the All-India Congress Committee.

This gentleman was extensively touring in Bengal, and, fortunately, he had much better luck than my Honourable friend, Mr. Saksena. He was extensively touring in Bengal, and, as he was having interviews with persons who were suspected to be terrorists, Government took the precaution,—a precaution which Mr. Saksena says has also been taken in his case, but about which I know nothing—Government took the precaution of intercepting the letters which he was writing. From aboard "Masuda" at Chandpur—he was touring in East Bengal—he wrote a letter addressed to Mahatma Gandhi which never reached Mahatma Gandhi, because it was intercepted.

Mr. M. S. Aney : By another Mahatma !

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : By another person acting under Statutory authority, and not the way in which you get hold of Hallett's circulars.

In February, 1931, this letter, written from aboard "Masuda", was intercepted. May I read some extracts from this letter ? I am only keeping back two names, I, for obvious reasons, do not want to disclose those two names. I will refer to them as Mr. A and Mr. B.

The writer is talking of the Congress Party in Bengal :

"I interviewed Mr. 'A' on the 7th evening. What I gathered from him is that he appreciated your position on the subject of release of prisoners."

I may just make one digression to remind the House that, as Honourable Members may know from the correspondence and from what I said on the 29th March, violent pressure was being put upon Mahatma

Gandhi to intercede with the Viceroy for the release, not only of Civil Disobedience prisoners, but of terrorists, to which pressure Mahatma Gandhi would not yield :

"I interviewed Mr. 'A' on the 7th evening. What I gathered from him is that he appreciated your position on the subject of release of prisoners, but he pleaded and will plead before you that the situation in Bengal required that the group of revolutionaries in Bengal, if possible, be satisfied. I think, Babu (that is meant for Gandhi),—I think, Babu, I have correctly represented my talk with Mr. 'A'. I am in a fix. When I came out of jail in October last, I realised, and Panditji agreed with me when I sought his advice in the matter, that it was not possible to revive the movement in Bengal and make the Congress felt unless all our resources were combined. That was what led me to approach him to join hands with us which led to the Council of Action. But this much I know, that, judged from the standpoint of non-violence, there is not much to choose between Mr. 'A' and Mr. 'B'."

The writer then proceeds to say :

"Mr. 'B's' party consists of :

- (1) Anushilan group of revolutionaries,
- (2) Yatish Babu's group of revolutionaries, also pledged to violence,
- (3) Communists pledged to violence and terrorism, fundamentally opposed to non-violence. A small group, but very devoted.

Mr. 'A's' party consists of :

- (1) Yugantar group of revolutionaries—policy guided from Calcutta and Ranchi, but the organisation has ramifications throughout Bengal. The present B. P. C. C. is under control of this group of men pledged to the cult of violence, but not opposed to mass movements of non-violent kind, it being the opinion of this group that such movement is most helpful towards preparing the ground for greater revolution which was bound to be based on violence.

Hence this group did not oppose but participated in the movement of 1921 as also of this present movement and is mainstay of Mr. 'A'.

Bengal politics is nothing but struggle for power (whether in the B. P. C. C. or in the Calcutta Corporation) between this group and the Anushilan group. Mr. 'A' and Mr. 'B' are pawns in the game.

- (2) Bepin Ganguli's group of revolutionaries, originally belonging to Mr. 'B's' party, but has now gone over to Mr. 'A's' party.

My own impression is that Mr. 'A' has got a compact party, with some amount of discipline, whereas Mr. 'B's' party is a more or less ramshackle one, with elements which are bound together only by their common opposition to the present executive of the B. P. C. C."

The authorities in Bengal are in no way indebted to Mr. Krishna Das for his statements, because this was also their inevitable conclusion, not merely from people who are called police informers, but from cases tried in Court and from other sources. From the 56 cases, cited by me, any one with a little patience will find out from the number of documents which have been exhibited in these cases that the conclusions of Mr. Krishnadas are wholly justified. From these and numerous other materials, the Government of Bengal were perfectly well aware that the Congress in Bengal cannot go on without the sympathy and help of the terrorists. They knew perfectly well that all this fight between two groups in Bengal is really a fight between Anushilan group and the Yugantar group, the two well-known parties of terrorists, one under the guidance of one party in Bengal Congress, and the other under the guidance of another party.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

A few, who are ignorant of the facts, may complain of the light grounds on which Government come to conclusions, but I can assure the House that the common belief, that, as soon as an informer comes and says that Mr. 'A' or Mr. 'B' has done something, Government proceed to take action, is entirely wrong. Government know that it is a tainted source, and, therefore, wholly unreliable, and no responsible high official will take any action only upon the information given by a common informer unless that is corroborated by other incidents or other evidence. (An Honourable Member : "Question.") The question cannot be put by anyone who knows the facts. I have now dealt with the argument that terrorism has disappeared, as concisely as time permits.

Now, I come to the next argument that the Civil Disobedience Movement has been suspended. Sir, we acknowledge, and, I think, Mr. Datta, referred to the circular of June, 1934, in which it was stated that Civil Disobedience has been suspended, but, Sir, is it not also a fact that the leaders of the movement, ever since the date of that circular, have gone on giving us warning after warning that we are labouring under a delusion, that the mentality has not changed, that the ideal has not been diluted, and that the movement may be started as soon as the retired forces get a suitable opportunity.

Now, as I said, it is the leaders of the non-co-operation movement who have been warning us of one delusion in thinking that we can proceed on the footing that this movement is dead.

I think one of the Honourable Members, Dr. Khare, said in a speech in this House "For immediate effects, I am not ashamed to admit that the Civil Disobedience Movement has failed. That does not mean our mentality has changed". Of course, not. We had warnings in this House too. I am coming to that in a minute.

Dr. Sitaramayya said that the "Congress cannot be expected to die because of its non-co-operation ideal". We have had it from Babu Rajendra Prasad the other day that this movement has been only suspended and not given up. We have been assured in this House that this movement is a kind of birthright. It cannot be given up. It cannot be suppressed and it is idle to legislate against it.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Consult the Finance Member !

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I can assure my friend, Mr. Ranga, that I am taking no offence at his interruption. I know it is something like an involuntary and automatic action.

Now, Sir, as regards "birthright", I presume it is the "birthright" of the Gond to offer human sacrifice. I believe it is the birthright and the belief of some orthodox Hindus to obstruct the Harijan using the King's highway, and it is also the sincere and religious belief and birthright of some fanatics to assassinate people who, they think, are non-believers. With their beliefs or with their sincerity or the amount of delusion, under which they are suffering, we are not concerned. There is no punishment for ideas : but, if, in pursuance of those ideas, overt acts are committed which are unlawful, then the Government must be prepared to do one of two things. It ought either to say : "We abdicate, come, my brethren, my non-violent brethren, and break one another's heads" (Laughter), or it ought to pay no regard to what has been claimed as a birthright.

My Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, in his very breezy speech, said : "Civil Disobedience is an idea". Well, Sir, in so far as it is an idea, it is not punishable, and nobody has said or even suggested that from this side. In preaching an idea, there is no offence, unless you are setting up people to commit violence or things of that kind. There is no harm if a man gets the idea and publishes anywhere that the best thing which can happen is to take over the properties of all propertied men without compensation ; that we should nationalise all the means of production, and, after all, it has been said that women are the means of production (Cries of "Order, order" from the Opposition Benches).....(An Honourable Member : "It is unworthy of you.").....

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : On a point of order, Sir, I submit, there is such a thing as a rule of decency which all Honourable Members, even those on the Government Front Benches, should observe. I submit, Sir, it is indecent to say that women are the means of production, I submit there are rules of decorum, and I do ask your ruling, Sir.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, before you give your ruling, I should like to state that some men may preach this ; this has actually been preached ; I can give my Honourable friend books in which that has been preached. (An Honourable Member : "Never in India.") I have not said or suggested "in this country". What I am trying to show—if my Honourable friend will only not purposely misunderstand and restrain himself—I have not suggested that this has been done or can be done by any Indian ; but I am taking an extreme case to show that, even if one preaches such filthy ideas, which undoubtedly are abhorrent to all of us here, it is no crime, it is an idea, it is like "Civil Disobedience" an idea, and we have no quarrel with ideas, so long as you do not give effect to them by unlawful means.

Sir, about the breaking of laws being a birthright, I think it would be impossible to carry on any system of civilized Government if people are allowed to do that. (Interruption.) My interrupting friend can have his own opinion : he can keep it to himself.

No civilised Government can go on if anyone and everyone can come forward and pick out and choose laws and say that "this is the law which I am going to break". Sir, may I put it to the House in the very terse manner in which it was put by my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, in his speech in Bengal.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You read it before ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Not this portion.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Read the whole of it.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That will take a very long time. My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, said in his speech at Calcutta :

"Satyagraha and non-payment of taxes and disobedience of laws are all very well, when we are fighting a foreign bureaucracy. But I dread to think of the future Swaraj Government, if it has continually to fight among its own citizens,—Satyagrahis, passive resisters and law-breakers. There is a dangerous doctrine today that Satyagraha is a more potent weapon than the ballot-box. It may be or it may not be, but no civilised Government can exist, if every citizen thereof claims the right to decide for himself whether a tax should be paid or not, or whether a law should be obeyed or not."

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Sir, those are exactly our views: I have no doubt that when these unworthy people walk out from this side (An Honourable Member: "Driven out")—yes, or are driven out from this side, if then my Honourable friend (Mr. Satyamurti) is in charge of the affairs, in some province perhaps he will give a short shrift to the Justices.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti: We shall be prosecuting them in "Courts of law".

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: Yes, under this Act. The strongest argument in support of this Bill is to be gathered from what has happened on the floor of this House. I have referred to the assertion of right to start the Civil Disobedience Movement again, and I have no desire to refer to it again. We have been told that it is not going to be given up. Very well, let us proceed on the assumption that the army has only retreated, and is only biding its time, and is waiting to attack us till it is sufficiently strong again. May I refer to what my Honourable friend, Mr. Aney, said:

"This is not what Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya said. What he meant was this, etc."

But we know what my Honourable friend, Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya, said. We have got his words before us. But before I quote only three or four of his sentences, may I tell the House as to who was this Mr. Azad, for whom this poignant grief was expressed? Sir, in his speech, my Honourable friend, Pandit Malaviya, said:

"He was a great organiser, a gentleman to the core of his bones. Not one shot of Azad's missed the mark, who can help admiring this young man"— and he admitted that Azad was a terrorist, otherwise there is no sense in the sentence used by him that "some people were trying to make Azad give up terrorism". Then, my friend said that he was a great organizer. Organizer of what? Does my Honourable friend suggest in his speech that Azad had any activities other than terrorism? Was he an organizer of nursing homes and hospitals? Or was he a great organizer of terrorists?

Now, Sir, that is Mr. Azad. And, further, Pandit Malaviya said:

"I never met him, I do not know him, but, of course, he must be a good man." (Laughter.)

Sir, this Mr. Azad, in the years 1924 and 1925, committed a series of ruthless dacoities, with murder, which culminated in the notorious train dacoity at Kakori near Lucknow and in which a van was looted and an innocent Indian passenger was shot to death. His complicity in the crimes was proved beyond doubt by other witnesses who were examined in his absence, but he would not face trial to challenge the mass of evidence produced against him. He became "a proclaimed and absconding offender" with a reward of Rs. 5,000 for his arrest.

While absconding in the Kakori Conspiracy case, he joined Bhagat Singh and others. There was strong evidence to prove that he covered Bhagat Singh and Rajguru when they murdered Mr. Saunders on the 17th December, 1928. He shot constable Chanan Singh dead when he was pursued. He thus again became an accused in the Lahore Conspiracy Case of 1930, in which he became a "proclaimed and absconding offender" with a further reward of Rs. 5,000 for his arrest. But he would not come and appear in Court! He would have been tried by the judiciary and not detained by the executive!

Mr. Azad, the admittedly successful organizer of terrorism, then joined the group of the accused in the Delhi Conspiracy Case. They not only committed dacoity on the Gadodia Stores, but they were manufacturing explosives in a house which, when searched, yielded explosives sufficient for the preparation of 6,000 bombs. Referring to this gentleman.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti: May I know from my Honourable friend what he is reading from? If he is reading from any document, I suggest that it should be placed on the table of the House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Honourable Member may inform the House what he is reading from.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: Sir, when my Honourable friends say that on a certain occasion five persons were arrested and assaulted in Midnapore by the police, do they produce any documents in support of their statements? What I am reading is the purport extracted from three heavy paper books and these paper books are available to anybody.

Referring to Azad, Pandit Malaviya stated:

"He was a great organiser, a gentleman to the core of his bones. Not one shot of Azad's missed the mark, who can help admiring this youngman? I say, Sir, we Indians could have slept soundly without caring for the defence of our country, by making him our Commander-in-Chief. We could have placed him in charge of the Army."

Sir, my Honourable friend, Pandit Malaviya, an exponent of the creed of non-violence, a follower of the Civil Disobedience Movement, has nothing, I regret to say, but unstinted praise and admiration for the murderers, and, whatever the inner state of his feelings may be, this kind of speech read by the young and the unbalanced can lead to one conclusion, the conclusion to which I have already referred. (Applause from Official Benches and Official Box.)

Mr. S. Satyamurti: I rise on a point of order. I see cheers from the Official Box. They have no right to cheer from there. They are mere visitors and they ought to be called to order.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The occupants of the Official Box should not cheer.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: The cheers, I believe, are from the official Benches. Sir, my Honourable friend, Pandit Malaviya, is equally a violent admirer of Kanai Lal Dutt. Why? Because he was one of the men who was responsible for the murder of two defenceless innocent women, Mrs. and Miss Kennedy, and who has also at his credit the additional fact of murdering.....

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions : Non-Muhammedan Rural) : I said that the editor of the Pioneer admired him.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am not giving way. If there is any personal explanation which the Honourable Member wants to make, he should take the Chair's permission. I am quoting from his speech as it was taken down.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member is not giving way, and if the Honourable Member (Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya) has any personal explanation to offer, he can do that at the end of his speech.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I know this much that my Honourable friend had taken the precaution—rather an unusual one—of taking away the manuscript for correcting it twice instead of the usual process of correcting it once.

Mr. M. S. Aney : Whence did the Honourable Member get that information ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If my Honourable friend is thinking that I got hold of it as my friend got of the Hallett Circular, he is wrong. That is not the way I got it. I got it by perfectly legitimate means.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : On a point of personal explanation. When I was talking about Kanai Lal Dutt, the Honourable the Home Member inquired from me as to who was the editor of the Pioneer. I said that I do not remember the name. It was about 1908, perhaps the editor was Mr. Chasney. But I was not sure about it. This being the case, my Honourable friend, the Law Member, should remember it.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is altogether irrelevant, because I had not referred to that incident at all. But, as a matter of fact, it is incorrect to say that the Pioneer had glorified the deeds (which are the words used by my Honourable friend) of Kanai Lal Dutt.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : My exact words are "He paid a tribute to that man".

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If this is the evidence before the House, then it is clear that the Civil Disobedience is suspended only for a time (whatever the reasons may be), and it may come on at any time. Judging by the applause with which the part of the speech of my Honourable friend, Pandit Malaviya, which I have quoted, was received, can we not infer that he is not shining in solitary glory. If that is the evidence before this House, is this House going to be told that all causes for the continuance of this Act have disappeared ? Reasons for continuance are as great as they were before.

Sir, Sardar Sant Singh gave us a warning. He said that the Government will have to pay a very heavy price if they do not learn by the lessons of history. Sir, we have learnt by the lessons of history. We tried the repeal of press laws three times, and every time the history has shown that repeal is followed by the springing up of a number of papers which indulge mainly in the glorification of murder, incitement to violence, breaking of laws and fanning into flame of communal passions. That is what history has taught us and as it is the executive on whom, at the present moment, falls the duty of maintaining law and order, they will be failing in their duty if they would not ask this House to continue this Act instead of repealing it.

Sir, one word I must say about my Honourable friend, Mr. Asaf Ali, with regard to the threat which he held over Members. He said, if you vote in support of the consideration of the Bill, then there is no chance of your coming next time. Now, Sir, those to whom this remark is addressed may either think that the motion ought to be supported on its merits or their conclusions may be otherwise. If you think that it ought not to be supported, then you do not require the bogey of the disaster which will meet you at the next election. If you think on the merits that it ought to be supported, then are you going to be told that whatever your honest conviction may be, please do not vote for it, because, in the opinion of my Honourable friend, Mr. Asaf Ali, you will not come back.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Where are your friends of last year ? They are all gone.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am glad that you are coming back to form by interrupting. May I remind the House that Mr. Gaya Prasad Singh, Mr. Bhuput Sing, Mr. S. C. Mitra, Sir Hari Singh Gour, Mr. Amar Nath Dutt, Mr. Jog, all those who violently resisted the reference to the Select Committee have not been returned by a grateful country. (Official Applause.) I hope my Honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, will not mind if I take a little more time than I wanted to.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : The Honourable Member has exceeded his time.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member can go on.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I hope, Sir, you will give me some rebate for the interruptions.

Now, Sir, may I have a passing word about my Honourable friend, Mr. Fuziul Huq, who boldly asserted that, if you look to the proceedings of the Legislative Council in Bengal, you will find that he never supported the Criminal Law Amendment Bill. Sir, I have got the proceedings of what happened in the Bengal Council before me. The Bill was moved and asked to be taken into consideration on the 21st August, 1930, in the Bengal Council by the Honourable Mr. Prentice. Sir, on that date the House sat till 7 p.m. or a little later than 7 p.m. There were six divisions, and, if the records are right, there was no voting on that occasion by Mr. Fuziul Huq at all. He can very well say that he did not support on that date that Bill, as we might also say, he did not oppose the Bill on that date.

But, Sir, the next day, that is on the 22nd August, in the first division, there was no voting by Mr. Huq ; the second division was occasioned by Mr. Satish Chandra Roy having moved an amendment which was to this effect. As Honourable Members are aware, under this Act, men suspected by the executive can on executive suspicion be detained in jail. I am giving this in colloquial language. Mr. Satish Chandra Roy moved an amendment that they should at least be told in writing as to what the charges are. What did my Honourable friend, Mr. Huq, do? Did he support the Government? Yes, he did.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Then, there are two more divisions. I won't tire the House with details as to the occasions on which he supported the Government, in passing the Criminal Law Amendment Bill—a Bill which, as he has been stated by one of the Honourable Members here, with which statement I am in entire agreement, a Bill which gives hundred times more power to the executive than the Bill we are discussing—that is the Bill which my Honourable friend supported, and when he was informed of this by my Honourable friend, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, my Honourable friend, Mr. Fuzlul Huq, got up and said: “If you look into the records, you will find that I have not supported even on a single occasion”. That is the position.

✓ Sir, the Honourable the Commerce Member referred to the speech of my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, who said that when we get Swaraj—Swaraj is the panacea for all the ills including failure of monsoon—rains will fall from heaven. My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, contradicted and said: “What I meant was that in our time, when rain does fall, we shall not allow it to waste”. There was tremendous applause from his friends. Let us see what is the report as given in the press, because, after all, we have to proceed on published reports, and they are not contradicted by my Honourable friend. I am quoting from the Madras Mail.

Mr. S. Satyamurti: My enemy.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: What he said was this: we will bring water from the heavens—and, so far as the text of his speech is concerned, they are the same in all the newspapers, and the Madras Mail—the enemy of my Honourable friend,—may have twisted the headlines. Now, let me read from the extract of his speech:

“There are many rivers in this country, but no water. Whom are we to blame, God, the Government or our enemies, the Justice party. At no time, in the hoary history of India, has India experienced such a dearth of water and poverty. But in the days of swaraj we will bring water from the heavens as Bhagiratha did in the days of the epic and make it flow in all the rivers.”

Mr. S. Satyamurti: On a point of personal explanation. I was speaking in my mother tongue, i.e., Tamil. I was speaking colloquially as I always do in my part of the country, and I can do so now; however, it is no good for this House. What I did say and what I meant was that, as in the epic days, Bhagiratha did bring water from the heavens and as he dug canals—that is a well-known story in our epics—we must also conserve our water and make them flow into all the rivers. I do say that when we get Swaraj, we shall construct more irrigation works than this Government has done. ✓

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: Sir, I am glad that I do not know that language, Tamil. It is such a dangerous language that my Honourable friend had often recourse to the defences, namely, that he spoke in Tamil.

Before I resume my seat, I may be permitted to summarise my position concisely. I say we have tried the experiment of repeal of Press Laws three times, and every time with disastrous results. I say, Sir, that the Press Act has not suppressed the Press.

My Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant's figures do not bear out the conclusion arrived at by him. In fact, Sir, the progressive increase has not only been maintained, but it has been much greater after the Press Act was introduced for the last time in 1930. That is what the figures show. What my Honourable friend did was that he lumped up the figures for seven years. We must always remember that the newspaper reading public is increasing and that newspapers are increasing. Have I made a mistake in summing up what my Honourable friend said.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant: Where am I wrong? That is the explanation I want. They are increasing; but the facts are there that they increased between 1922 and 1930 in much greater proportion than between 1910 and 1922. I stand on the statistics which are published in Government publications. I would place the statistics before the Finance Member and ask him to decide as an umpire.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: I took some trouble to work out the statistics from year to year. I find in 1920-21 it has increased by 26, next there was an increase of 77. I have got all the figures. Then there was an unexpected reduction in 1925 and 1926 by 23 which of course was the time when there was no press legislation. However, that is not relevant. I find from the figures for 1930 to 1934 that the increase in 1931, was 61, in 1932, it was 84, in 1933, it was 85 and in 1934, it was 335, and so on. Sir, one has only to read the papers in the morning which we receive and to see what criticism has been stopped by this legislation. Criticism reasonable, and unreasonable, and partly reasonable and partly unreasonable, criticisms bitter and severe—I am making no point or grievance about it, all these are quite entitled to appear and are appearing in the papers now. Criticisms most severe and sometimes extremely bitter have come out now in the daily columns of the newspapers every morning. What has been stopped? The grievance is that what has been stopped is that you cannot incite people to murder, and the other matters which the Honourable the Home Member has mentioned.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant: Do not these papers come within the purview of the scope of the present Act? If you wanted it, why did you not stop it?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: If I take my friend's assumption to be right that we could stop them.....

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant: I do not want you to take my assumption, but to answer it as an expert whether it is so or not.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: Either I can stop it and I am not stopping it. That would be charging Government with a generosity which has never been done before. But surely I cannot answer a question whether a paper comes within it or not. There may be a particular article which comes within it. I have no special paper in mind, but if it is my friend's reading that some of these papers do urge things which come within this Act and we have not prosecuted them, if I am right in the assumption.....

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : I am putting this to the Honourable the Law Member. My suggestion is that the Act as it stands today with its comprehensive scope is such that every single paper can be roped in only if Government wanted to do so. I want to know whether that impression of mine is correct or not, and I seek your expert advice ; I am not putting it as an argument at all.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : My advice is that all papers cannot be roped in, and, even where they can be roped in, no action is taken, unless they are so objectionable that they should be roped in, in public interest.

Sir, I am afraid I have come to the limit of my time. I have put the points which I desired to make about the continuance of the Act as shortly as I could. I have no desire to go into any of the sections except that I may be allowed, before I resume my seat, to point out that certain matters in connection with law which fell from my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, do not seem to be correct. They are not very important, but I may refer for instance to this. I find from his speech a statement that in England you cannot convict for sedition unless there is an overt act. If he has said that, it is not correct. I have looked up the English law of sedition and find that an overt act is not necessary. But after all it is a minute point.

Then, Sir, either my Honourable friend or somebody else said that what is called peaceful picketing is no offence in England. I beg to differ from him and I will refer my Honourable friend to Archbold's Criminal Practice. He will find there reference to Statutes which enact that inducement by what is called peaceful picketing has been made punishable. But I do not think I should tire the House with small matters like these. I submit, Sir, the present position of the House has to be remembered. We are having legislation discussed in this House. I know that the legislation is being done by at least one section who have admiration not for law but for breaking the law. And I mean no offence, but law-breakers are now the law-makers, and that applies to a large section of this House. One has got to remember what was so clearly stated by the Leader of the Opposition in the clearest language when he delivered his short speech of six lines on the Silver Jubilee grant. He said : " You cannot expect us to directly or indirectly help in any measure which will help this present rule ". I am not giving his exact words though I have got them here. That is to say, the test to apply in connection with any measure is whether that measure is going directly or indirectly to help this Government ; if it helps them to maintain law and order, if it enables them to smoothly carry on the administration, they must vote against it.

If the Criminal Law Amendment Act helps this Government, which is a Government which according to them has got to be extinguished and paralysed, if this Bill helps this Government, then they must oppose it. No measure must directly or indirectly help this Government ; that is the test to be applied. I submit, Sir, those who, however much they may be dissatisfied with the present Constitution, are not willing to see that the Government should succumb to subversive methods, should support this Bill. Sir, I support the motion.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : Sir, I wish to amend the last statement that the Honourable the Leader of the House quoted from what I am stated to have said in connection with the Silver Jubilee celebrations. I have always held, and I still hold, that I will not support this Government or any Government for the matter of that, contrary to the interests of my own country and contrary to my own convictions. If that is any satisfaction to those who, for the last one hour and a half, have been treating this House to an argumentum ad hominem, never going anywhere even approximately near to the subject under discussion, they can have it. They ought to have realised that it was not their business to get up and merely carry on and take man by man and contradiction by contradiction of single individual acts or sentences and feel that they have proved their case. If they think so, I leave that flattering unction to be laid to their soul by themselves. I expect a somewhat higher level, indeed a much higher level, of debate, argument, persuasion and conviction than the one with which we have been entertained. I say that, and the more so, because of the respect that I personally have for the Leader of the House as he well knows. But, none the less, he had to deflect the argument ; he had to get out of the argument ; he had to get at a tangent ; he had to entertain some of his friends who felt a little low during the course of this discussion ; and I am very glad that they have been very much entertained indeed.

5 P.M.

Sir, I stand before this House confessedly a man who at one time broke what was called " law " in the sense in which it is used by Government in the definition of Austin, the great jurist. But, from that, even for a lawyer of the eminence of the Law Member to get up and say that the line that divides us two is the law-breaker and the law-maker is indeed a logic which my mind fails to fathom altogether. Undoubtedly there are many on the other side, I hope and trust, who, as and when their conscience requires, their national interest demands, would not be wanting in courage as not to break the law. I make a present to them of the argument which was advanced that I was one of those people,—and I particularly accept the title,—who dared break what was called law which I shall presently describe. During the time that I have allotted to myself, I will say that I will not indulge in that type of argument of a personal nature, though I could very well do so. I have got a long line of speakers on the other side, and I know how to deal with every single one of them, either personally or in their statements. But it is not a dignified thing to do : and, lawbreaker that I am, I wish to set a better example, if I may. We oppose this Bill forgetting all the past : we oppose this Bill on the grounds, which I shall presently state, of the well being of the State, which my friends are at present trying to govern and carry on, and we also oppose the Bill for the very nature of the provisions which are contained in the proposed enactment. When it comes to law, let me remind my Honourable friends on the other side that it is easy to cheer a very cheap observation, but I may remind them that law, in the sense in which Austin gave it, means the expression of the will of the sovereign power to do or to omit to do a particular act ordained to any of the citizens with a sanction behind it : in that sense, what was then promulgated was law. But, before a State could expect obedience to law, it has also got to see that what they give as law is not what supports their supreme absolute tyrannical authority, but a law which accords with the well being of society and which it becomes the duty of every citizen to support in the interests of the common good : The law which they promulgated did not accord either with justice or the well-being or progress of my country ; and that was the law I have broken, and I am not in the least ashamed of having done so. Indeed I am one of those who are fully familiar with how the provisions which are sought to be retained now have been worked ; and it will be my duty, without wearying the House and within the limits of my time, to tell them exactly what they have done of which they cannot be very proud. To the extent to which they will make laws and propose laws of the type they are doing today, they must be prepared for Civil Disobedience. I am not one of those who are afraid to meet the argument when you are told " Oh, but we are told that Civil Disobedience will come some day, and, therefore, we must arm ourselves ". Let them arm themselves all the time ; but if they arm themselves all the time more and more by the type of what is called law, restricting the liberty of the subject as we apprehend it, I am not at all afraid to tell you that if that is the ground on which you want this law, at all events, so far as we are concerned, you will not have it, not in your interest, not in our interest, but in those very interests which you profess to protect. You profess that you wish to govern the State, as Mr. Griffiths said, founded on the will of the people ; and indeed you may defy the will of the people ; but you cannot shut your eyes to the existence of the will of the people ; and if you think that you have entrenched yourself by means of measures of this character, so that, in your own unstinted absolute authority, you will find it easier to govern, you may carry on with the course that you have set to yourselves.

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

I fully remember the somewhat animated address of my friend, Mr. James, yesterday. He told us—and I want him to believe that I appreciate it—that we shall get the liberty of the press that we deserve, and we shall get the kind of government that we deserve. It is for that, and we shall get the kind of government that we deserve. It is for that, it is in defence of those very desserts that I stand before you this evening. I wish to assure him that we shall deserve the freedom of the press by the rejection of this Bill (Opposition cries of " Hear, hear ") if there is any nationalism in us, if there is any self-respect, if there is any intelligence in any part of the House. For we shall undoubtedly deserve this measure of freedom from the restrictions of the proposed Bill, if only our will will prevail ; because, at one time, we broke the law, we have not become unfit to think, we have not become unfit to judge : perhaps we are all the more rendered stronger and better fit to judge what the elements of the law ought to be and not merely every freakish will and expression of the Sovereign Power, because it happens to have sanction behind it. We shall not bow our heads, however strong that sanction may be ; and after the insult which was hurled at us that it was a camouflage—this non-violence—I wish they would not quote Mahatma Gandhi again ; in one breath they call him as an apostle of non-violence,—and when it suits them, they turn round and laugh or think they raise a laugh—but they do not realise that they raise a laugh at their own expense, at their own timidity, at their own pusillanimity, at their own want of patriotism. Sir, we on this side stand for non-violence and truth, and will ever do so, God willing ; and no amount of ridicule, no amount of contempt, no amount of insinuation will ever swerve us from that straight path, and we hope we shall tread it to the honour of our country and perhaps to the glory of the civilized world. (Opposition Cheers.) It is no use indulging in this pettyfogging manner of indirect thrusts which for a time calls a few cheers and thumpings. That is not the way to judge of us. If you expect us to think that you are honourable men, that we should treat you as such, then you must realise that there are certainly as honourable, if not much more honourable, men on this side of the House ; and why do you make this a personal question ? Sir Muhammad Zafrullah or Sir Nripendra Nath should not treat this as a mere personal issue as if it was a question between us and them, or between Mahatma Gandhi and the Government of the country. It is a sorry plight, the way in which the issues have been presented on this Bill during the course of this discussion. It has got nothing to do with errors of Mr. Satyamurti or the mistakes of Mr. Asaf Ali or even the lapse of memory, as it is called, of any individual. That is not the way to judge of measures of this kind.

But I realised one thing during the course of this debate, and it makes me sorry for it ; and that is that those on the other side do not believe that freedom or liberty has got any good influence : They do not also believe that, so far as inculcation of knowledge by the press is concerned, it is any good. It is doing good only if their will is to prevail, if their qualifications are to be given effect to and their restrictions are there. I am one of those on the other hand who is a realist. Some of you may call yourself realists : for you realism is nothing more than that we should acquiesce in what you want us to do. That is a realism which I have not yet learnt. I am a realist in the sense that I fully appreciate the indirect and the direct consequences of every measure that you bring before this House, the effect it will have in the long run on the minds and the education of the people at large ; and that your professions if they accord with your convictions, you ought not to have brought this Bill. We, therefore, believe that you have begun at the wrong end : you are administrators, pure and simple, and it is an unfortunate part that the administrator and the legislator should ever get together in one person. For indeed the executive cannot approach these issues from the larger and broader point of view, except what serves them and assists them, and except what they think will make their work and their task comfortable and easy. It is a matter of no consequence whatever to them what deleterious and deteriorating influence it will have either on the growth of the public mind or men. To them all that matters is a comfortable easy Government. Well, that being their state of mind, of course they say : " Did I not tell you that, during the course of these years, so many articles were written, and have I not shown that there are so many poisonous articles ? " And, therefore, what ? Therefore, according to them, the logical result is that they want a measure of this kind to prevent any articles being written. In fact, if I am not doing an injustice to Sir Muhammad Zafrullah, he said : " If you do not like this, then the logical conclusion is to repeal the whole of the Penal Code. " In other words, if you will not have a restriction on the press, you might as well have no restriction on anything at all, not even theft and murder. If that is the state of mind of the administrator, in which he has placed himself, I agree that there is little in common, that there can be little in common between those who ask this law and those who refuse it : for the way they look at and read history is " What does it matter ? Some newspapers do this sort of thing, and this is the logical consequence : what does it matter if they are three or five or ten ? " But do they realise and do they understand how many—and it is a thing which cannot be proved—may have grown but for the baneful influence of your repression ? (Opposition Cheers.)

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

I am almost reminded on this occasion, after hearing the speeches that I have done, of the saying that the times are out of joint and men have lost their reason ("Hear, hear" from Congress Party Benches), and I have not the slightest doubt that, if they had not been mere administrators, if they had not been in the position in which they are, I may have appealed to them with better effect, but whether I do that or not, I owe it to them, to say that because the Government require a measure, therefore a gift must be made to them. To such men, with all the high education they have, with the positions they have filled, with the honourable life they have led, it could not be that their honour, rooted in dishonour, stands, because they would vote for the Bill, because they must.

The position, Sir, is this. I am one of those who believe that the matter is not to be tested in the way in which the administrator tests this matter. "I find it difficult to carry on the administration comfortably in my province, there was a little trouble, if you give me a little more power, I hope there will be none". That is not the approach by any decent Government of any kind according to our conception, and I have been assured, and I take that assurance without any cynicism or without feeling that, within a reasonable period of time, we have no chance of so working the Government as to be ever responsible. I take it as a compliment that if the conditions of Government are those which are laid down by Honourable Members on the other side, if the objects of the Government are those which are laid down by Members on the other side, I quite agree, it is not a Government we would care to touch at all. We will certainly carry on and remain under subjection until, whether by means of Satyagraha or any other form of struggle founded on truth and non-violence, we see to it that the Government is what it ought to be, until it becomes in our view fit, to take charge of it and willing to take charge of it to the extent to which we can. After all, who are those who speak of power? They are of us. They might easily have been on this side of the House, and it is a matter of complete despondency to me that we talk as if we have no points in common, as if the one side must look at us with suspicion and the only thing we deserve is suppression, repression, if not extinction. If that is your motive, I am going to make a present of all these motives to you to carry on that Government. We have been under it for 150 years, and we shall remain under it longer, but we shall not touch or assist that type of Government, an expression which again I repeat,—so long as it does not serve the interests of my country, and, in so far as it is against the interests of my country. ("Hear, hear" from Congress Party Benches.) It is, Sir, with these feelings that I rise to oppose this motion. Of course, it is easy to say, "Oh, what have you got to do? You are not administrators, you can refuse this to us, but you want a vote next time". I do not want to mention the name of the learned gentleman who said it, but I know who said it,—"What is wrong in a vote?"—this is what he said. By your very sentences you entirely give away your case. If my countrymen are going to give me a vote, because I vote against this Bill, what is the conclusion it leads to? The conclusion is that my countrymen think that I was right in opposing this measure. ("Hear, hear" from Congress Party Benches.) Therefore, what is there so insidious, what is there so base, what is there so wrong, when it was said: "Yes, you will have to face your constituency". In fact, when that was said, we give an acid test of what the country thinks, feels and requires. If the country is behind us, and if you think that the country will return us, because we oppose this measure, you entirely destroy your own case. In these little personal supposed repartees, the implications for the moment are not perceived. But I welcome the suggestion that if we wish to face our constituency, if we wish to get a vote, we must oppose this measure. Why not? It is an actual test of what the country requires and demands, not in the comfortable situation of my friend, Mr. James, who can say, you cannot have this, you cannot have that. He is neither the Government, nor one of us (Laughter), and yet how could he say that you cannot have this and you cannot have that. That exactly accords with what I have read in Mr. Ramsay Macdonald's Book. The position of the European in India and the position of the Anglo-Indian press in India is, to the extent to which it subserves their interests, to support the Government, and for the rest of the time to preach to us (Loud Laughter), and I hope and trust that, whenever there is a better purpose in the Government, I would regard them, as I wish they would regard themselves, as members of the same Indian community. (Hear, hear.) And if they do regard themselves as such, I hope and trust, they will not talk in the manner in which they do talk in a very comprehensive term: "Oh, these Congressmen". That is about all that we get (Laughter) by way of admiration, respect, or understanding from our friends on the other side. Well, Sir, all I can say is this, that before we can proceed to a real discussion of the actual measure which is before the House, we must fully understand the premises from which we start. I am one of those who would ask the House to start from two premises. When a quotation was read out from Sheridan's book, I suppose they all thought,—now it has become a common place,—liberty of the press, liberty of man,—"Oh,—they are common place, they are no use to us, they are very elementary things, they are all right in schools, to us grown up men, administrators, liberty of the subject is only a secondary matter—restricted as to make our positions comfortable". If that is the approach, then, I say, it is entirely wrong. You must start from the premises, as civilized men, if you have any intelligence, you must start with the premises that the liberty of man and the liberty of the press are the first fundamentals with which you ought to start before we begin to legislate (Hear, hear), and if you want to legislate in the sense in which you mean, there is nothing in common between us. I am not at all afraid of telling you that if you make your laws worse and worse still, we may some day resort to Satyagraha, and if you stand for that creed, principally of force, of non-recognition of liberty of men and liberty of press, let this House have a present from those who believe in those uncivilized doctrines. I have nothing in common with them, and I do not venture to ask for their vote, and I do not want their vote, and I won't ask for it. Therefore, it is, Sir, that we must start in matters of this kind with great fundamentals. Now, only one sentence was quoted from Sheridan and it was said: "Oh, Sheridan called the press a great engine, but great engines are very powerful engines, and very powerful engines are very undesirable engines, and very undesirable engines are very dangerous engines". If I may return that compliment, I may say that engine there (the Government of India today) which moves with all the oil, with all the fuel, with the blood that my countrymen provide, should not be an engine of tyranny. At all events, the engine of press cannot be so tyrannical, but the engine of an autocratic Government can be worse, and we see the plight of this country today. Therefore, we are one of those who stand for two broad principles from different standpoints, and to the extent to which the liberty of the subject and the liberty of the press is to be restricted for subversing the higher interests and the more common interests of society. But when the object is "Oh, you will start the struggle again, you will perhaps expect us to change our form of Government". That is the argument that is presented from the opposite Benches. "You, Congressmen, are going to have a Satyagraha struggle, and then we must beware". And why? "Not because of any bad reason or good reason, but because we do not want to improve, we want to remain, where you are". My Honourable friends may call it birthright or not, I do not wish to use that expression, but I hope and trust that there is something in human mind, some noble quality or character that makes man man, and if that quality is some day raised in us, we hope and trust that we shall struggle,—we shall struggle all the time notwithstanding this Press Act or fifty other Press Acts. (Hear, hear.) Therefore, if you are going to forge instruments, in order that you may destroy the moral power of the Congress, I think you are coming to the wrong house to ask for the passing of this Bill. Whether we get power or not, we certainly shall have the satisfaction of approaching every piece of legislation of this kind from the right angle and the right point of view. All right minded men, be they administrators, or not, will recognise the two principles.

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

I now come to one or two other matters on which this Bill is sought to be justified. I say that this is sought to be justified on the ground that there is a possibility, even a probability, of a Satyagraha struggle in future. We are here to caution you that you, by your own act, are forging the instruments, the very danger which you wish to avert. If you go on making laws suppressing men,—men, if they are men, will struggle, and no amount of administrative authority will prevent the possibility and the growth of that struggle. Then, it is said that there is terrorism, that there is Communism, that there is communalism. I am not one of those who flinch from the fact: "On your own confession you have only suspended the Civil Disobedience Movement, you have not abandoned it, and, therefore, we should have an Act." I make a present of that argument. I do not wish to make the smallest secret of the fact that if you restrain, and unduly restrain the liberty of men, if you do not improve the constitution of the Government as it exists, you must be prepared for a Satyagraha struggle. It is those who are afraid of that confession—my Honourable friend almost gloried in the idea that they had extracted an admission, what they thought an unwary admission from my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti. There is nothing unwary about it, no, nothing of the kind, nothing that we are ashamed of, nothing that we do not believe, nothing that we desire to conceal. But, none the less, we are here to tell you, don't do things in order only to accentuate the situation, so that this struggle may be rendered necessary. Therefore, please don't bring forward the argument; "Because there may be a possibility"—yes you do not like Satyagraha, of course you don't. How would you like it? You do not want to change, you want to retain all the power, you want to retain all the exploitation, and I do not expect you will like it. I am not one of those who is under a delusion that you are ever going to like it, but, at the same time, I want you to know that we shall resort to it in the teeth of any laws that you frame which make it necessary for us to do so. The blame, the responsibility is entirely yours, and not ours, and, therefore, if this Bill is asked for on the ground that if it is made law, it shall put an end, to what? Not to the exercise of the right of Satyagraha, but to the abolition from human mind of the principle of Satyagraha. Even Sir Harry Haig had a better sense of humour and a better sense of justice than his successor. He said: "We cannot expect,—we can only expect by the word 'suspension', that you won't exercise the right that you possess, but we do not expect that you will forswear your creed." But his successor goes further. Once people are clothed with authority of any kind, absolute and unquestioned, they have always a habit of mind in which they say, you shall surrender and surrender in the most abject manner. If we are not given the Government that we desire, and, I hope, in the language of Mr. James, that we deserve, as early as we can,—Satyagraha is the only means left to man other than force. It is not merely a question of foreign Government and foreign citizen. Wherever there is an undue concentration of power, whether in their own country of England or elsewhere, the struggle by the man to shake off the tyranny of the superior is the rule of life and shall remain the rule of life, and that we shall not forswear our faith in Satyagraha. Therefore, we come back to the two grounds which were stated,—terrorism and Communism.

As regards terrorism, the first point that I wish to make is this. My Honourable friend, Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan, read out a few extracts from the speech of Sir Harry Haig at the end of the debate last time in which he did refer to terrorism and Communism. I have again made myself sure, and I do not wish to go over the ground once again,—I have made myself thoroughly sure, the words that he has used are: "The object of the Bill, the purpose of the Bill can be described in two or three words, Civil Disobedience Movement." Not only that, but I think those on the other side, clever administrators as they are, cleverer lawyers as they are,—I am sure, they will understand the implication. If these were the evils which pre-existed before the Civil Disobedience, which were intended to be dealt with by the Act, there could be no meaning or purpose or sense in limiting it to three years. With such logic as I possess, and I commend this view to the rest of the House, it is impossible to believe that those permanent evils as they are called, if they were to be met by means of this legislation, there could have been any question of limiting to a period of years. Therefore, it is beyond all doubt and beyond all question that it was intended for the purpose of meeting only the Civil Disobedience Movement. It only illustrates the fact that, once power is enjoyed, it is difficult to give it up. I remember reading all these questions and answers in my solitude at Nasik. Sir Harry Haig went on enlarging the formula from time to time. First he said, the moment the Civil Disobedience is suspended, the extraordinary laws will all cease to operate. After a little time, he became a little more alert and vigilant. He said, but not for a period of six months, it may be—in the language of my Honourable friend, it has become a little fashionable—a camouflage, and, therefore, we must wait for a period of six months after the suspension to see that it is genuine. If it is genuine in the sense that for all time you will have absolute Government and we shall be subject citizens, then you are satisfied. But if you mean that this suspension is bonâ fide in the sense in which such struggles and cessations of them are bonâ fide, you must take it from us that it is a bonâ fide suspension, and, therefore, that period of six months and more has gone. And, yet, when the vision of the next December comes, these laws would not be there, the Yugantars will rise.

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

The picture that my Honourable friend painted is all right as an advocate. It is all right for an advocate, but if, out of 1,600 newspapers circulating in the country with millions and millions of copies, if you take the 365 days of the year, and these things are printed and circulated by the millions, if you can only pick up this yellow pamphlet and the one-and-a-half hours' speech of my Honourable friend, that has proved our case. I venture to say that it is impossible that, out of 1,600 papers, multiplied by 365, omitting Sundays we should have 313 days,—that you should be able to pick up a dozen or 100 articles during a period of one year, the very exception proves the rule by the very confession of those who seemed to think that they have made out a case from labours and pains to which they had to go in order to print a pamphlet with translations and a few more cases, as my Honourable friend, Mr. Govind Ballabh Pant, said, if it were brought up to date. But, with all your resources, all your powers, all your Secretaries, all your C. I. D.'s, if you can only produce instances of the abuse of the power to the extent and in the manner it exists today, then, I say, you stand self-condemned. That is to say, you have not made out a case for the purpose of renewing the powers that you want. I will not repeat the arguments that were addressed to the House as to the manner and the effect of this legislation or the other argument that the number of convictions bear such an infinitesimal proportion to the number of publications. I put it to you as ordinary normal men, if, out of thousands and thousands of daily publications, you can pick up only a hundred or two, leading to violence or incitement to violence, you can please yourself and say "how nice, how good, how spicy". But the fact remains that the number of articles which the Government have been able to produce as the best specimens of those which have been the subject of their research from the year 1922 to the year 1935, and the number of prosecutions that they have produced prove the contrary. You may turn round and tell me "You must remember that there were periods when the press law was not in existence". I am going to read to you with your forbearance a short statement from a journalist whose probity, whose integrity and whose moderation, a favourite word with you, is beyond all question. This is what he said at the last Journalists' Conference which was an altogether representative gathering, if you look at the number of editors and pressmen who were present. Mr. Ramananda Chatterjee said this :

"Friends, I wish to remind you that, though capital punishment has either been removed from the Statute-book or fallen into abeyance in very many civilized countries it not only exists in India, but may be has been inflicted on newspapers without any trial, without a trial by even a court martial. Securities are demanded again and again, and finally there may come the extinction of the paper concerned and even the confiscation of its press. It is often a long-drawn affair, which ordinary executions are not. I have no doubt this subject of capital punishment by instalments, inflicted on newspapers, will receive your attention."

You are very fond of indulging in the phrase "A Government must govern". I dare say, it must; but I hope there are those on the other side who also realise that there is another side to this case. If they say that the Government must govern, I hope the citizens will turn round and say: "Yes, only so long as you properly govern". They seem to think that there is no second side to this question. They seem to think all the time "We know what is good for you. You don't know what is good for you". They seem to think that these few articles are responsible for creating the terrorist activity. I should like to believe that that type of mind is honest. Imagine asking us, on the basis of these few articles, to believe that the newspapers are responsible for bringing about this terrorist activity. We are not such credulous fools. There may be others who are prepared to believe it, but none on this side at all events. You want us to believe that because a few articles are written, therefore springs up a terrorist at the other end of the psychological factory. I ask you not to be under any such delusion. I understand, the Honourable Member, who comes from the Midnapore district, is a man of great erudition, great education. I ask him to read the history of the world. There has never been a revolution in this world which has not had, as its immediate and proximate cause, the tyrannical abuse of powers by those who govern. Of that you may be quite certain. Therefore, it is not the newspaper which creates the terrorist. It is the state of the country's subjection that creates it. I am here to say what is the root cause which is responsible for bringing the terrorist into existence. The French Revolution was not created by Voltaire or Rousseau. It was created by the grinding condition of the peasantry at that time. You may, therefore, take it from me that we are not such children as to be taught by you that terrorists are produced by the Yugantar or some other paper raising its head. We are not going to accept that proposition. I admit, it is undoubtedly an evil. We are of those who do not stand for these methods. We condemn these ways, but how can we, as human beings, deny that those misguided fellows laid down their lives for something in which they did believe. You may deny it if you like. You may call him a criminal, but you cannot deny, that however wrong and misguided the man and however atrocious the crime, that there was at the back of it all a noble motive which impelled him to lay down his life. You cannot ask me to dismiss it altogether. I am going to condemn him. I am going to tell you that you have rightly killed him, but I am going to tell you at the same time that you created the soil which made it possible for that sentiment to grow and but for which he would have been a better and an innocent man. After all, I shall ask you: "why does he do it?" Is it out of mere frolic? No, because he believes, wrongly I admit, that, by doing the act that he does, he is going to achieve the freedom of his country. What is wrong in making that statement? I am not feeling so abashed or downhearted at being heckled by anybody else as my friend Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya. (Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya: "I am not abashed.") I mean you can easily exaggerate these things. Have some sense of proportion in the words of my friend, Sir Muhammad Zafrullah. Have some sense of justice. Have some sense of propriety. Don't expect me to render my allegiance to you under all circumstances. That you will not have. That you will never have and that you do not deserve in the words of my friend, Mr. James. Therefore, you must not look at these matters from the way in which they are looked. The revolutionary commits crimes, and, yet, when it is a successful revolution, it becomes the Government established by law in the eye of constitutional law. So let us not go into hysterics over these things. I cannot deny that it is an evil which must be met in the best way you can. You may not accept our view, but we believe the proper method is to eradicate the cause. You believe that the proper method is to suppress it for the time being. Well, whether you succeed in suppressing it or not, it is your own business. I know you will tell me : "you are not there to govern, you don't know the business". Sir, thank God, during the public life I look forward to, I won't have to handle the heritage of this type of Government.

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

I now come very briefly to section 5, and seeing that I only have a quarter of an hour, I shall go over each section very briefly, without dilating upon it.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Take as long as you can.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : If you prefer it, certainly. Sir, I am one of those who believe that, if I am likely to convince you—I should present you my case, and I want you to take it not merely as a case placed in the way which it has been sometimes placed ; I want you to believe that we start with some accepted principles of human life, conduct and construction of society ; and if I start with these principles, if you believe them in your own land, do not think that we are so low, we are so depraved, we are so degenerate that there are different principles to be applied in our country. Thank God, we at all events, during the last few years, have come to think and believe that we shall be men enough to observe the application of the same principles which are applied in most civilised societies anywhere else : and, if you think we deserve a lower treatment, at all events I appeal to my friends on the other side who think with me : "Don't, for your own honour, associate with them." (Hear, hear.)

Sir, I come now to section 5. There is only one observation I have got to make on that section 5. There was a certain amount of confusion—whether it was a misunderstanding or not, I cannot say ; but I think my Honourable friend, Sir Zafrullah Khan, will not deny that section 5 makes punishable that which, by an act of the executive, has been regarded as unpunishable, so that you begin with that assumption. Then, what it makes punishable is its circulation or repetition : and it makes it punishable if the Local Government has certified that the passage published contains, in the opinion of the Local Government, seditious or other matter referred to in section 4A, and so on. I, therefore, say, Sir, that is par excellence executive upon executive ! There is first the executive order of proscription, there is the second executive order of certification that it is seditious,—and, on that, well, what has the devil of a magistrate got to do ? All he has got to do is this. He asks : "Is this article proscribed ?" The police-man says : "Yes." Then he asks : "Is this the writing certified ?" The police-man says : "Yes." Then he says : "Sentenced to six months." (Laughter.) You seek to clothe certain things with forms of law, because you yourself are afraid that naked autocracy will expose you to a certain amount of disgrace. What happened during the last Civil Disobedience Movement ? Take my own case. I was arrested one fine morning and taken to Nasik on the allegation that I was disturbing the peace of the land. I was detained there for two months. I am going to show you, Sir, what this "law and order" is of which you are so proud, and what "law" is of which you are so proud. Sir, if this is "law", you must be prepared for its disobedience. (Hear, hear.) Then, a very suave Secretary to Government comes round and says : "I have got an order for you, because you are going out tomorrow. You will remain within the precincts of Nasik in which you have got no house, no food, no water. If you get out of that place, you have committed an offence". Imagine the word "offence". Having done that, the magistrate comes on to me after two or three days. I happened to remain in the city, because I wanted to meet my children ; and, at the end of three days, the magistrate comes round and says : "It is very inconvenient, Mr. Desai, you can neither practise your profession nor do anything else. What is the good of that ? Why don't you do this ? If you drive past my Bungalow (that is, a furlong outside), you thereby commit an offence. Then, your car will be boarded by my Deputy Inspector of Police. Then, you will come to my house ; you do not want to embarrass us by a trial Court which is sure to attract large crowds. Then, I will punish you. And, then, I will send you to jail". (Laughter.) Sir, this is what you call "law", "justice", "trial" ! Instead of that, it would have been much more honest, much more straightforward, during the course of that movement, to say : "I suspect A. B. I sentence him to five years without any trial on the mere order of the executive Government that he be imprisoned for a period of five years". But they realise, shrewd as they are,—that they must make it appear to the people that a magistrate has tried me for an offence : and, therefore, it is with a view to creating a false, deceptive effect upon the mind that you resort to these mere forms. (Hear, hear.) I would, rather, that the executive had the power to confine in jail a man who they did not like. Therefore, you are at pains to invent "forms",—and we, Sir, are here to make them "naked" and make them out to be atrocious which they are. (Loud Applause.) What you want to do is to put in a section under which a man will be taken to a magistrate, then a certificate will be presented and everything else leading to a conviction. That is what happened to me. "Imprisonment for two years, and Rs. 10,000 fine"—for what ? "You went out of Nasik". Is that an offence ? Sir, I never knew travelling in India was an offence,—but that is your executive law, those are the "laws" you expect us to obey, and, if we do not obey it, you say it is a breach of law and order ! You create the "law breakers" by the very hypocrisy of your ways. (Cries of "Shame, shame.")

Then, take section 8 : picketing. My friend, the Law Member, said he had looked up some law, and, well, I also have looked up some law, but the question is not if either of us have looked up the law, but what is the section ? My friend, Mr. Satyamurti, pointed out that if a man uses any force during the course of the prosecution of his aim to picket, he is punishable and I hope it is correct. I hope it is also correct that there is such a section as section 504 which makes insult also an offence. Therefore, if you use force, if you use insult as part of your propaganda of picketing, you are within the mischief of the law, and, therefore, you will be punished. But what you want is something more. Even though a person may not use force, even though he may not insult, you want to prevent him from peacefully telling a man what he owes to his country, and that you call "interference with the freedom of contract". Sir, is there no such thing as public opinion? Freedom of contract, to do what? To starve my children and feed the foreigner? Sir, that is a freedom of contract which my countrymen do not want. (Hear, hear.) That is the mischief which I am up against. It is no use telling me what a few boys did at a cinema; because a particular instrument may be debased, therefore its use cannot be made punishable. The fact remains, what you don't want is, what you don't like is that my countrymen should have freedom, and I have had some experience of picketing—I claim it with some measure of pride—in the year 1932, from the 4th January to the 25th July. I have been a witness to a young woman standing with her hands folded as a mere indication that people going to buy foreign articles do the wrong to their country. You cannot take the bread out of your children and feed outsiders. If it is wrong, I think we must be allowed to do the wrong. If you make that punishable, we cannot help seeing the sinister motive behind it, and the assistance that you give for any legislation of this kind is an assistance which is fraught with danger to my country. We wish to preserve the land. Who daresay that picketing is unlawful in England? I know myself of a case, and, I am sure, many of you must have read about it. There was a foreign woman who had the misfortune to own a milliner's shop in Bond Street and ladies in the highest society in England caused it to be shut down in a period of four days. I wonder which Government would have regarded this act as punishable. Therefore, it is no use saying that if you promote Swadeshi, it is not punishable. If you do that without resort to picketing it is like tying a man's legs and then asking him to run. You have to say that we can encourage Swadeshi, because you have to pay lip respect to accepted nationalist principles, and you have to pay respect to things which even out of decency you cannot deny. Therefore, you must say: Practise Swadeshi. How can you say that you want to prevent Swadeshi? You won't be able to see your own face. Therefore, you have got to say: Promote Swadeshi, but do not peacefully persuade your countrymen that it is in the interests of your own countrymen that they should buy your goods and not foreign goods. It is a piece of nationalism; it is a piece of national right, and it is a piece of national duty which, whether it was an offence or not, we shall continue to do. Sir, I am only trying to point out to you that every section of this Act is aimed at the destruction of national spirit, national life, national movement and national regeneration. It can very easily be said that there is terrorism, there is Communism or some other "ism" and, therefore, this law is needed. I hope my Honourable friend, Mr. Yamin Khan, won't say that there is communalism in it.

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan: Picketing.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai: Is picketing communalism? Well, Sir, I will pass on. I have no time, and, therefore, I will not deal with the question of cognizable and non-cognizable, and so on. My friend said: We must make it cognizable, because the poor devil of a shopkeeper may not complain.

Now, I come to the press section. So far as the press section is concerned, nobody has ever attempted to read it, and it is taken for granted that it is such a nice piece of legislation that it will bring about the great millennium which the learned Leader of the House talks about. He has not even cared to look at the section. That section is this:

"In sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, after the clause.....[I shall only read (1) because that has been the subject, at all events, of a well-known prosecution.] (1) which tend directly or indirectly to bring into hatred or contempt His Majesty or the Government established by law, or to encourage, or incite any person to interfere with the administration of law."

Now, Sir, I wish to present to the House the views that have been held by the three High Courts in India, not so much because they are the views which cannot be otherwise expressed, but because of the great respect that you have, and when you have seen the exposition of what this section means and involves, I trust you will appreciate it. The first judgment to which I wish to call your attention has already been referred to, namely, the judgment of Sir Lawrence Jenkins. My Honourable friend, Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan, interrupted the reader and said: "Oh, you have read only the first portion: what was the rest?" I will tell you what the rest of it was. Take that very case, and do you know what he said? He said:

"I have read the article. It is an honourable article; it is a proper article. But the whole process of the law (in the language of your judgment in Madras, Sir) is reversed."

If you are called upon to show cause why you are not within the section. That is the first objection. The second objection is that the Judges have in all the three cases held:

"In our opinion, all these are perfectly innocent writings."

The first of these articles was by my late lamented friend, Mr. Mohamed Ali, the second was by Dr. Annie Besant, and the third was by Pothan Joseph, the editor of the Bombay Chronicle. In all these cases, be it said to the credit of the judiciary, they all said:

"We are helpless; we are the minions of the law; and we cannot help them."

This is the law you now ask us to pass. Therefore, be careful that you do not lay down any such rules. Sir Lawrence Jenkins, in agreement with Sir Abdur Rahim, held in this case:

"There is no article on earth, however innocent, which does not come within the clutches of this law."

That was the reason why my friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, dared ask that question to the Leader of the House, but he evaded it, because there was no other way of getting out of it. Dr. Annie Besant wrote about Home Rule, and His Lordship was obliged to say:

"Who can say that it may not tend indirectly to do something of that kind."

Now, with regard to contempt. You must earn respect, you must deserve respect, you cannot enforce respect. Therefore, I say that the matter of contempt is a matter of mutual accommodation of conduct on your part with a reaction on our part. If, therefore, you are going to make contempt punishable, because, forsooth, by any act of his, your officer may make himself worthy of that contempt, then you should not make that punishable in the manner you have done. No justice loving man, no man who loves the liberty of the press will ever stand or vote for this measure. It was assumed throughout the course of the argument, but nobody ever approached the question from the point of view of the all-embracing nature of the section. Sir Lawrence Jenkins pointed out that even a standard work of literature can easily come under this Act. I am quoting his actual words. Supposing I say liberty is good and we must struggle for it, I am quite certain that you will say that it tends indirectly to bring the present Government into contempt, and we are trying to get something out of you. Sir, there are so many ways of getting at us by means of this law, and it is so comprehensive, that I must, at all events, give a few words which I cannot help reading out to you. I have always seen that when laws are passed purely on broad grounds without consideration of the language which it is intended to hit, it proves a most powerful and potent instrument of mischief in the hands of the administrator. I will give you a modest instance that has occurred. In the year 1908, by creating a scare which perhaps might or might not have been justifiable, the Criminal Law Amendment Act was passed. Every Member on the other side who got up—I have read their speeches—said that there was so much murder in the land and also looting and other forms of offence that it was necessary to put it down. Therefore, they must have the Act. And the section ran like this: Whereas, etc., etc., an association which is likely to be carried by violence may be declared unlawful, and also any other association which, in the opinion of the Government, is likely to cause breach of peace. I am one of those who, in the first Civil Disobedience Movement argued numerous cases before the High Court of Bombay, and I put it to their Lordships of the High Court: “Do you really mean that an association which is, we shall say, a praying association—all that the Government have to do is to say that a Congressman is in charge of it and so declare it an illegal association, and, as soon as it is declared illegal, that association comes under the operations of section 17—should be called an unlawful assembly”. I did my best to ask him to say, for at least heaven’s sake read the words ‘assisting illegal operations of an illegal association’, but the Judge said: “No, if you assist the operation of any association, whatever it may be, you must be declared unlawful”. That is how the Statutes have always been abused. Therefore, I never rely on any statement of any assurance given at the time (Hear, hear.) Instances have occurred in the past where assurances have been given. In fact, two instances have been given. If a man on this side of this House gets up and says something, on the other side gets up my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, and says: “How mild these provisions are. I have never seen more mild provisions”. May I ask him, when some one of us is prosecuted and when somebody else is the Judge, Mr. Griffiths will not come and help us, and yet he says this is the law by which an unconscious and unvigilant and stupid people are scared away and they want to oppose such a simple and mild law. Now, I will read a passage from that judgment of Sir Lawrence Jenkins. Sir, this is what the Judge says:

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

“The Advocate General has admitted, and, I think, very properly, that the pamphlet is not seditious and does not offend against any provision of the Criminal Law of India. But he has contended and rightly in my opinion that the provisions of the Press Act extend far beyond the Criminal law; and he has argued that the burden of proof is cast on the applicant so that however meritorious the pamphlet may be, still if the applicant cannot establish the negative the Act requires his application must fail.”

That is precisely what happened to us. We have once had a law which was assumed by many of the Members opposite including my Honourable friend, Sir Zafrullah Khan, and that law was the Criminal Law Amendment Act, and, as that law is there, the present Bill is its logic. I have not dealt with these two sections of forfeiture, because I do not wish to exceed my time limit. If there was logic, how did it escape them in 1908? There is no logic in this sense that you want to cast your fangs or net much wider or longer in order only to suppress us. I say, we will not be suppressed. It is in that way, therefore, there is no logic. You have got to the point of declaring an association unlawful, and yet you may not carry all the provisions that you have hitherto given, because, if you were logical men, if your draftsmen were not stupid, I am sure, they would have known how to draft this Bill in 1908. But they did not then do so? With reference to what? With reference to associations professedly committed to violence and murder, and yet they did not think it right to add those provisions about forfeiture.

“If the applicant cannot establish the negative, the Act requires his application must fail. And what is the negative?”

Please hear the negative. It will throw some light, it will have some little open windows which please do not shut them out:

“It is not enough for the applicant to show that the words of the pamphlet are likely to bring into hatred or contempt any class or section of His Majesty’s subjects in British India or that they have not a tendency in fact to bring about that result. But he must go further and show that it is impossible for them to have that tendency either directly or indirectly and whether by way of inference, suggestion, allusion, metaphor or implication. Nor is that all, for we find that the legislature has added to this the all-embracing phrase ‘or otherwise’.”

What I wish to point out to my Honourable friends is this. The language of the section is such that none of us know in what way a man may be caught. It is all very well to say, do not read the section, leave it. It is all very well to speak about some Yugantar or Sandhya, there is no ratiocination, there is no logic. It is all very well to have the Yugantar at one end and the terrorist at the other end and squeeze all the rest in between for argument. This is the way this case has been argued by the other side, and, I, therefore, do beg of every Member of the House, after he has known the wide implications, I would appeal even to my Honourable friend, Mr. James, that he will not stand for a piece of legislation that enables the Government to forfeit the security and ultimately the Press, with the aid of that all embracing section which, in the wisdom or unwisdom of Government, it is possible to make an order against and the negative cannot be proved.

Sir, I have done. I shall summarise my points in a few sentences. I say, Sir, it is perfectly useless to state in a legislature: “This Bill will not affect you. It is a very innocent law. You will not be hurt; only the wicked press will be hurt”. These are the kind of arguments that no responsible man, no sensible legislator, no people who have the power and the initiative of legislation of a big land consisting of one-fifth of the human race will take seriously. They must take their task very seriously and very earnestly and not in this flippant way. They seem to think: “It is enough for us to say, Oh! it will not affect us, it does not work hardship to us; the laws are made and they are given by the Government in their beneficence and not to create any hardship”. That is not the test to look at the law introduced in the Legislature. The test of a good law is the necessity of it, its propriety, its subservience for the good of the society ; there is no other test and we stand by that test. We say that no man may curtail the liberty of another man or the liberty of the Press unless it is required to subserve the important purpose that we may hold dear, and, starting from that premise, I have examined each section and each point of view, and, for the reasons I have given, I oppose the measure. (Loud Cheers.)

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Sir, I move that the question be now put.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the question be now put.”

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Sir, I am glad that we have come to a point in this debate on which the entire House is in agreement, that is that the debate should now end. There is no one who is more heartily in agreement with that than myself. In approaching my task of winding up the debate, I would most seriously ask for the forbearance and the indulgence of the House. In the first place, the House will agree that a mere administrator like myself, in the Honourable Mr. Desai's opinion almost the lowest of human beings, is handicapped by having to follow two extremely eminent lawyers ; and secondly, I am handicapped by the fact that a strong sense of duty has kept me in this House during the six days of the debate. I think I can honestly say that I have not missed, almost literally, one word of what has been said, and while my Honourable friends on each side of me and my Honourable friends opposite were free to slip out and enjoy cigarette or a cup of tea or whatever form of solace they prefer, I have sat here. “ The boy on the burning deck ” was not in it ! Thirdly, I am the only person taking part in this debate twice, the only person who is privileged, or rather I should say who is under an obligation, to speak twice. I can tell the House in all honesty that if there is one thing in this world that I dislike more than listening to speeches it is making them. I am profoundly bored, as I have no doubt a great many in the House are, with my own speeches. I have the deepest sympathy with that eminent statesman, the late Duke of Devonshire, who is credibly reported to have fallen asleep when addressing the House of Lords. I am in danger of doing that myself. I will do my best to be brief as I know the House is weary and wants “ to cut the cackle and come to the ‘ osses ’ ” But, before I come to my two main points, there are one or two small things which, if the House will allow me, I should like to clear up. The first is in regard to section 5 of the present Act, which the Leader of the Opposition referred to in tones of some indignation. I do not think it is generally understood that when Government proscribes a document, book or newspaper, that action in my experience,—and my experience is fairly wide,—is in at least three cases out of five taken on the complaint of the person who feels himself insulted or aggrieved by the document. And speed is of the essence of the matter. If a document is to be proscribed, if it is a really harmful document that grossly insults some other person in his religious beliefs,—and that is the commonest case in which the section is used,—proscription is useless unless it is done at once. And if that action could only be taken after a court had come to a finding that the document was sedition or offensive to the religious beliefs of other persons, then that action would be perfectly useless. I can give an instance of that which will be within the recollection of many Honourable Members. Some years ago, I think it was in 1926 or 1927, a book was published called “ Rangila Rasul ” which was taken by all Muslims as a gross insult to their Prophet. Feeling after the publication of that book ran extremely high, so high that if Government had not taken prompt steps to proscribe it and to seize all available copies, there undoubtedly would have been communal rioting on a large scale in many places in the Punjab. As it was, the author of that work was subsequently murdered by some one who took the insult to heart. That, Sir, is the sort of thing with which the ordinary law does not profess to deal, and my point is that action of that kind, if it is to be effective, must be taken at once without the delay involved in a reference to the Courts.

The second point that I should like to take up is the one made by my Honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, in regard to picketing. He repudiated with great scorn the argument that picketing is an interference with the freedom of contract. “ Nonsense ” he said ; “ The only sort of contract it interferes with is the contract that I shall starve my children in order that the foreigner shall benefit ”. That is a two-edged argument, because picketing may be carried out not in the interest of the whole community, not even in the interests of that part of the community which is represented by the Congress, but in the interests of one section to the detriment of another. Oddly enough I have here an article which has appeared in the last few days in a newspaper called the Milap of Lahore, a Hindu organ of the strongly nationalist type. It reproduces an article from a Hindu paper of Peshawar, the Frontier Advocate, also I understand a nationalist paper. This article complains bitterly of picketing going on at present at Nowshera Kalan, picketing by Muslims of Muslims who go and buy things in Hindu shops. “ Buy Muslim ” is the latest cry, and possibly,—I do not deny it,—a very legitimate cry. But some Muslims are picketing in order to prevent other Muslims from visiting Hindu shops, and indeed the article alleges that if the picketers catch one doing so they blacken his face, and the Hindu shopkeepers are not unnaturally protesting. My Honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, was a little premature in denying altogether that there can be anything communal about picketing. Here is an instance of picketing on communal lines that is going on at this moment.

Another point that has been taken by both the Leader of the Opposition and the Deputy Leader is this yellow pamphlet of 25 pages. The line they have taken is : “ Is this all that you can show of undesirable writings in the press ? Here you are with your great Secretariat at your disposal and all that you can produce is this little thin pamphlet of 25 pages.” I admit, Sir, that this pamphlet might have been made a great deal more effective, but as I said in my opening speech, I have in dealing with the press such an enormous mass of material that my difficulty is where to select. Here is my mass of material, 429 foolscap pages of extracts of seditious or inflammatory or communal writings in the press ; in the case of one province there are 53 pages alone of extracts between the expiry of the first press Ordinance and the promulgation of the second one, a period of less than six months. Any Honourable Member who cares to wade through this mass of sedition, incitement to murder, obscenity and vulgarity is welcome to do so ; but I warn Honourable Members that it takes a strong stomach to get through more than a few pages at a time. There is, therefore, no force in the argument that this yellow pamphlet is all that we can produce.

[Sir Henry Craik.]

I should like to go back, if I may very briefly, to the argument put forward, notably by Mr. Satyamurti, that the ordinary law is sufficient to deal with the worst sections of the press, because that argument led him to make in the course of what I thought at the time an excellent and well-reasoned speech a somewhat personal attack on myself. The Honourable Member was arguing that the ordinary Penal Code is sufficient for punishing offences committed by the press and he was dealing with my argument that it is not so because of the common device of the dummy editor, and the impossibility of securing the conviction of the man really responsible. He said that if there are people who go on abetting these dummy editors why don't we get hold of them. I said we cannot prove it. The Honourable Member then entirely shifted his ground and said : " Therefore, you punish innocent people against whom you cannot prove the guilt. That is the greatest confession you can make against this Bill ; you cannot prove a thing and yet you must punish him." I said that we know it, that is who is really responsible. And then the Honourable Member said something which I know he did not mean and which he would not have said if he had not been carried away by excitement. He said I knew nothing. I think the Honourable Member has not really appreciated the position. What happens is that a newspaper is registered with a dummy as editor. The dummy is usually, as I have said, an ex-convict for whom the jail has no terrors. He has no legitimate duties to perform though possibly he may be used to lick stamps or post letters ; but his job is, when there is a conviction, to go to jail. I quoted the case of two newspapers within my knowledge which had been prosecuted, I forget now how often, but certainly six or seven times in one year, and in each case the dummy editor went to jail. The Honourable Member wants to know why I cannot get the man who is really responsible. In each case, I know perfectly well who the person is ; everybody knows it and he himself glories in it ; he is the proprietor and of course the real editor. But how can I get him ? The only way would be if I could find in the press a manuscript in his handwriting. But they are too astute for that. Directly a manuscript is set up in type, it is torn up, and there is no possibility of proving the authorship. We have tried again and again. The device is like so many of the ingenious tricks thought out by the man who starts to get round the law. There is no flaw in it and indeed the device of the dummy editor goes on even under the present law. But my point is that the Honourable Member was wrong in thinking that the ordinary law is sufficient to catch these people ; and moreover there is this about the ordinary law, and this argument has not been met by a single speaker on the other side of the House. The ordinary law may in certain cases, if it can be applied, punish the evil doer ; but the mischief is done. What we aim at is not to punish the evil doer but to prevent the mischief being done ; and that applies with peculiar force to the case of publications in the press. It is little or no use punishing a man who publishes an article inciting to communal hatred or to murder, because before you can punish him the mischief is done. The whole virtue of this law is that it is preventive and not punitive. As I say that is an argument which no speaker on the other side has even attempted to meet.

Another point that has been taken is that this law has been used with such severity that 400 or 500 newspapers or presses that had applied for permission to start had not in fact been started. The retort to that is, is it after all so very serious a thing that the country should be deprived of 400 or 500 newspapers which were intended to be run by men of so little substance and so little responsibility that they could not get a backer to pay up 500 rupees or a thousand rupees as guarantee of their responsibility ? Some Honourable Member, I forget who but I think it was Mr. Joshi, rebutted that argument by saying that it was most unfair that these poor men should not have an opportunity of making their livelihood as journalists. I do not know if that argument is put forward seriously, but really when you consider the character of the mushroom class of Indian newspapers it is, I think, very difficult to say seriously that the country is the poorer because there are 500 fewer of them than there might have been. Really is journalism, either the editing of newspapers or writing for newspapers, a profession that ought to be taken up by a man who is entirely penniless himself and of so little repute or so friendless that nobody will even put up a few hundred rupees to guarantee his responsibility ? In that connection the House may be interested to hear that some years ago a very respected and very eminent journalist told me quite seriously that at that time—it was when the Press Act was not in force—if you put up Rs. 50 you could find someone to start a newspaper. This was in fact constantly done. It might only run for a day or two : its sole object would be blackmail or something like that ; but there were dozens of people prepared to come forward and declare themselves as editors of a newspaper which they knew had only Rs. 50 behind it and whose sole object was to attack or blackmail some individual ; and, mind you, it is very often a paying proposition. If one man pays you Rs. 50 to start this newspaper, the odds are that the victim would be quite ready to pay Rs. 100 to stop it, and there you are in a vicious circle. My friend told me this quite seriously ; it was no exaggeration : he knew perfectly well what he was talking about : he is dead now but he had been a working journalist all his life.

I am afraid I have taken longer than I had intended over what are really preliminary points and of comparatively minor importance. I come now to what is certainly the part of the Bill that has attracted most of the criticism—I mean those sections which continue the existing Emergency Press Act. I think it is important that the House should bear in mind that while the press is, I quite agree, a potential engine of the greatest value to the country, it is also a potential engine of the greatest evil. There is no medium or no machinery which can be used to the harm of the country so easily as the Press, and I am not exaggerating when I say that in India there is a certain section of the press—I hope not a large section—which is constantly so used. This section of the press owes allegiance to no principles and to no party. It is run entirely for personal profit and generally run for the personal profit of a single individual. Such a newspaper to gain its profit must be right in the swim. If sedition is the fashion, it must be as seditious as possible. If communal unrest is in the air it must seek out and publish causes of unrest and give currency to rumours likely to fan that unrest. It is journalism of that kind and presses that feed that journalism that this Act attacks ; but not newspapers with a proper sense of responsibility and balance.

[Sir Henry Craik.]

Now, I am afraid this argument has been used before, but it is so essential that I will repeat it very briefly : the experience of the three periods within which press legislation was suspended has shown, I think, conclusively that directly that legislation is suspended the deterioration in the tone of a certain section of the press is serious and immediate. It seems to me as certain as that the day follows the night that if we again relax those provisions, exactly the same effect will be produced ; and if any one does not believe that, they have only to turn to the speech made by the Honourable Member, Mr. Krishna Kant Malaviya, who claims to be a working journalist. If anything said in this debate has been a strong argument in favour of this Bill, that speech was, because, even now, when this legislation is in force, the Honourable Member comes forward in open praise of murderers. It seems to me idle to assert that the same result will not be produced again if we take the same action as we took on those three occasions and relax this law. While on that subject, I would like with great respect to refer very briefly to what Mr. Bhulabhai Desai said in summing up his opinions about that speech. I cannot quarrel with the views he takes, that is his own affair, but I think that though he put his point of view extremely shrewdly and extremely cleverly, I must, I fear, differ from him at least in this, that even if he feels like that, it is a pity that he says so publicly. He is perfectly entitled,—I do not deny for a moment,—he is perfectly entitled to think of these people as brave and misguided youths. Personally, I do not share that view at all. If I have formed any views about them, I would look on them rather as mad dogs, as dangerous animals ; but even if he holds that view, I must say it does seem to me unfortunate that he should give expression to that view in public, not of course that it is likely to have any effect on sensible men of mature years, but I do think that when a leader of his eminence publishes such a view, it is exactly the kind of thing which does have or is likely to have an effect on immature minds.

Now, Sir, I have done with the press sections, and I have no doubt everybody will be relieved at hearing it. The main argument of a good many, but not all, of the speakers on the other side against the whole scheme of this legislation seemed to me to be based on a denial that the dangers which I apprehend existed at all. They took the view that these dangers existed only in my prolific imagination, that as a matter of fact there is no terrorism, that communal unrest does not really exist, and that communism is a figment of my brain and nothing else. Of course, it is useless to dispute with people like that, because I do not know what their sources of information may be and they do not know what my sources of information are. I will only say this, that if there can be any efficient part of such a universally condemned machine as the Government of India, it seems to me that it is its intelligence system, which is extraordinarily wide, extremely prompt and is, in my opinion,—possibly other Honourable Members will not agree,—very shrewdly drawn up. And my information,—I happen to be more or less at the centre of this system,—definitely is what I stated to the House, namely that terrorism, although there has been some slight diminution in Bengal, is by no means dead. Within the last five months we have had, I think, 25 terrorist incidents.

Three of them were murders, one a very determined, but fortunately not successful attempted murder, and the rest of them dacoities, robberies, the discovery of arms, the discovery of bombs and so on. Now, by no means all these incidents were confined to Bengal. Eight, I think, were in the United Provinces, one, the attempted murder to which I referred, was in Ajmer, two were in Assam, and I think one or two in Bihar and the Punjab. These are all incidents that have occurred since the 1st of April last. In the face of that, it is idle to assert that terrorism is a mere bugbear, and that as a movement it is dead.

As regards communal unrest, all I can say is that every Local Government informs me of incidents that are portentous and threatening, and the whole country knows that since we last met, there has been bloodshed at Ferozabad, at Champaran, at Lahore, and only the other day at Secunderabad, that is to say, in the United Provinces, in the Punjab, in the South of India, and in Bihar. There again, it seems to me that you are merely behaving like the ostrich and burying your head in the sand if you say that danger exists.

As regards Communism, much less is known about it, because as I said before it is a movement that works secretly and underground, but I suppose I am in a better position than any one else in this House to know what there is to be known of its methods. I do not assert that Communism is a movement which is likely to come to the top in India for some years to come, but undoubtedly it is a dangerous movement and one which is likely to raise its head when it finds a favourable opportunity, and when it does so we must have weapons to deal with it.

The denial of the existence of all dangers was not, however, the view, as I have said, taken by all speakers on the other side, and notably, I think, it was not the view of the Honourable Member from Madras. I don't think he denied for a moment the existence of the dangers which I foreshadowed, but he took the line : " Oh, yes, those dangers may be there, but we can deal with them perfectly well under the ordinary law, and as for future Governments, they can deal with them perfectly well without special laws ". Well, now, I sometimes wonder whether optimism so complete as that of my friend deserves our admiration, or whether we should weep at its pathetic side. The Honourable Member has cast himself for the rôle of Chief Minister under the new form of Government and I sincerely trust that he may live to realise that ambition ; but let him remember that most of his friends, at any rate all of them who know that they themselves have no possible chance of ever securing office, are likely to be trying to wreck his Government. How is he going to deal with these efforts of his friends if he has only the ordinary law as a weapon for dealing with such dangers ? Let me assure him, speaking from experience of a good many years of trying to cope with Civil Disobedience, that it is not a matter that can be dealt with under the ordinary law. If it had been possible, we should have been only too glad to do so. It was only with the help of special measures that we were able to suppress it. I am afraid if that is the hope in which the Honourable Member is going to accept office, his period of office will be comparatively a brief one. (Laughter from Government Party Benches.) I really do not see how any Minister of the future, even so able and versatile a gentleman as the Honourable Member from Madras, can hope to resist the subversive movements and forces that will criticise and attack his ministry without the special powers which we have found necessary. Remember, he will have an uncontrolled press, a great part of it run by his political opponents, he will have no power of declaring any association illegal, in fact it seems to me he will be perfectly helpless and will inevitably be driven out of office in a week or two.

[Sir Henry Craik.]

Sir, I have noticed all through this debate a repetition of such phrases,—and I have no doubt these phrases enshrine very great principles,—such phrases as the freedom of the individual, freedom of the press, liberty of speech, liberty of association and so on. Those are of course very fine principles, but the mere repetition of fine principles does not, to my mind, carry any great measure of conviction. In fact, their constant repetition seems to me to rub the guilt off and reduce these principles into tedious “cliches”. I think two frequent iteration of such principles is a little bit inclined to make speakers lose their sense of proportion. After all, whose freedom is it we are attacking by this Bill? Against whose liberty is the Bill designed? Against the revolutionary, against the sedition-monger, against the terrorist, against the communist, but not surely against the average peaceful citizen who is none of those four things. How is the average citizen affected by the Bill? Let the House consider. Has any lawyer been affected, any merchant, any shop-keeper, any artisan, any landlord, any tenant? Certainly not. It is only, as I have said, those four classes against whom the Bill is directed. And what have those classes done to deserve it? Surely they have interfered most seriously with the liberty of other people. Take the victims of the terrorists. Can there be a more serious interference, a more drastic interference with liberty than murdering a man? Again who have been the victims of the Civil Disobedience Movement? The man who has been picketed, the merchant who sees his trade steadily declining, the shop-keeper who sees his clients scared or frightened away, the lawyer who is prevented from going to court, the student who is prevented from carrying on his studies, the Government servant who is restrained by the boycott from enjoying the ordinary conveniences of life. Is that not interference with liberty, is that not trespassing on the freedom of the individual? Surely, that is a far worse infringement of liberty than anything that is proposed by this Bill. Those are the people whom any Government is bound to protect in the pursuit their lawful occupations, and any Government that failed to give them that elementary form of protection from movements, all of which are in essence unlawful, would be failing grossly in its duty. That, Sir, seems to me to be the issue before this House. Naturally the Congress are bitterly opposed to this Bill. The main plank of their political programme is the repeal of all repressive laws, and the one they desire most to repeal is this law which brought about the end and collapse of the Civil Disobedience Movement. They make no secret of the fact that the movement will be revived, and revived whenever it suits their convenience. We should be fools in such a situation to deprive ourselves of this weapon which has been successful in the past, and to start all over again meeting such a movement, as the Congress always wish us to meet their attacks, with one hand tied behind our back? Why should we?

I regret that I have been so long. The time has now come when the issue must be put to the test. The Honourable Member from Delhi gives a Nazi salute and waves his hand in agreement. He exhorted the elected Members of the House to remember that every one who votes in favour of this Bill will be bound to lose his seat. To put that at its highest, it is surely the merest opportunism. I do not ask Members to vote on such a ground. I ask them to follow the dictates of their conscience. Honourable Members opposite came to this House a year ago pledged in advance to do their utmost to repeal this Bill. I am not appealing to them, I know it would be useless, but to those Honourable Members who have come here with an open mind. I would ask them not to think what the result will be in their constituency, but to vote honestly according to their conscience. Let them bear in mind what are the real issues before the House. Are we going to give the new form of Government a chance of developing in moderately peaceful conditions? Are we going to give them some means of grappling with the antagonistic forces which are certain to encompass and attack them? Or are we, in our inveterate desire to destroy and discredit the present administration,—are we going to let loose on the country again those forces of chaos and anarchy which produced such misery and such economic loss in 1931 and 1932? (Loud and Continued Applause.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question

7 P.M. is :

“That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration.”

The Assembly divided :

AYES—61.

Abdoola Haroon, Seth Haji.
Abdul Aziz, Khan Bahadur Mian.
Acheson, Mr. J. G.
Ahmad Nawaz Khan, Major Nawab.
Allah Bakhsh Khan Tiwana, Khan Bahadur Nawab Malik.
Anwar-ul-Azim, Mr. Muhammad.
Ayyar, Diwan Bahadur R. V. Krishna.
Ayyar, Rao Bahadur A. A. Venkatarama.
Bajoria, Babu Baijnath.
Bajpai, Sir Girja Shankar.
Bhat, Mr. Madhusudan Damodar.
Bhutto, Mr. Nabi Baksh Illahi Baksh.
Blackwell, Mr. J. H.
Bower, Mr. E. H. M.
Boyle, Mr. J. D.
Chapman-Mortimer, Mr. T.
Chatarji, Mr. J. M.
Clow, Mr. A. G.
Craik, The Honourable Sir Henry.
Dalal, Dr. R. D.
Desai, Mr. S. P.
DeSouza, Dr. F. X.
Fazli-i-Haq Piracha, Khan Sahib Shaikh.
Gajapatiraj, Maharaj Kumar Vijaya Ananda.
Ghiasuddin, Mr. M.
Ghuznavi, Sir Abdul Halim.
Graham, Sir Lancelot.
Griffiths, Mr. P. J.
Grigg, The Honourable Sir James.
Hands, Mr. A. S.
Hidayatallah, Sir Ghulam Hussain.
Hockenhull, Mr. F. W.
Hossack, Mr. W. B.

James, Mr. F. E.
Jawahar Singh, Sardar Bahadur Sardar Sir.
Lal Chand, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri.
Lee, Mr. D. J. N.
Lister, Mr. T.
Lloyd, Mr. A. H.
MacLachlan, Mr. D.
Mehr Shah, Nawab Sahibzada Sir Sayad Muhammad.
Milligan, Mr. J. A.
Mitchell, The Honourable Mr. D. G.
Morgan, Mr. G.
Muhammad Nauman, Mr.
Mukherjee, Rai Bahadur Sir Satya Charan.
Owen, Mr. L.
Rajah, Rao Bahadur M. C.
Rau, Mr. P. R.
Row, Mr. K. Sanjiva.
Sarma, Mr. R. S.
Scott, Mr. J. Ramsay.
Sher Muhammad Khan, Captain Sardar.
Singh, Mr. Pradyumna Prashad.
Sinha, Raja Bahadur Harihar Prosad Narayan.
Sircar, The Honourable Sir Nripendra.
Tottenham, Mr. G. R. F.
Yakub, Sir Muhammad.
Yamin Khan, Mr. Muhammad.
Zafrullah Khan, The Honourable Sir Muhammad.
Ziauddin Ahmad, Dr.

NOES—71.

Aaron, Mr. Samuel.
 Abdul Matin Chaudhury, Mr.
 Aney, Mr. M. S.
 Asaf Ali, Mr. M.
 Ayyangar, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam.
 Azhar Ali, Mr. Muhammad.
 Ba Si, U.
 Badi-uz-Zaman, Maulvi.
 Badrul Hasan, Maulvi.
 Banerjee, Dr. P. N.
 Baqui, Mr. M. A.
 Bardaloi, Srijut N. C.
 Bhagavan Das, Dr.
 Chattopadhyaya, Mr. Amarendra Nath.
 Chettiar, Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam.
 Chetty, Mr. Sami Venkatachalam.
 Chunder, Mr. N. C.
 Das, Mr. B.
 Das, Mr. Basanta Kumar.
 Das, Pandit Nilakantha.
 Datta, Mr. Akhil Chandra.
 Desai, Mr. Bhulabhai J.
 Deshmukh, Dr. G. V.
 Essak Sait, Mr. H. A. Sathar H.
 Fuzul Huq, Mr. A. K.
 Gadgil, Mr. N. V.
 Gauba, Mr. K. L.
 Ghulam Bhik Nairang, Syed.
 Giri, Mr. V. V.
 Govind Das, Seth.
 Gupta, Mr. Ghaushiam Singh.
 Hosmani, Mr. S. K.
 Jedhe, Mr. K. M.
 Jogendra Singh, Sardar.
 Joshi, Mr. N. M.
 Khan Sahib, Dr.

Khare, Dr. N. B.
 Lalchand Navalrai, Mr.
 Laljee, Mr. Huseenbhai Abdullabhai.
 Maitra, Pandit Lakshmi Kanta.
 Malaviya, Pandit Krishna Kant.
 Mangul Singh, Sardar.
 Mudaliar, Mr. C. N. Muthuranga.
 Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Qazi.
 Murtuza Sahib Bahadur, Maulvi Syed.
 Nageswara Rao, Mr. K.
 Paliwal, Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta.
 Pant, Pandit Govind Ballabh.
 Parma Nand, Bhai.
 Raghubir Narayan Singh, Choudhri.
 Rajan, Dr. T. S. S.
 Raju, Mr. P. S. Kumaraswami.
 Ranga, Prof. N. G.
 Saksena, Mr. Mohan Lal.
 Sant Singh, Sardar.
 Satyamurti, Mr. S.
 Sham Lal, Mr.
 Shaikat Ali, Maulana.
 Sheodass Daga, Seth.
 Siddique Ali Khan, Khan Sahib Nawab.
 Singh, Mr. Ram Narayan.
 Sinha, Mr. Anugrah Narayan.
 Sinha, Mr. Satya Narayan.
 Sinha, Mr. Shri Krishna.
 Soni, Mr. Suryya Kumar.
 Sri Prakasa, Mr.
 Thein Maung, Dr.
 Thein Maung, U.
 Umar Aly Shah, Mr.
 Varma, Mr. B. B.
 Vissanji, Mr. Mathuradas.

The motion was negatived.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Friday, the 13th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, 13th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

THIRD CLASS CARRIAGES ON MAIL TRAINS ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY.

324. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Are Government aware of the fact that there is now no uniformity observed by Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway and South Indian Railway in placing their third class carriages on their Mail Trains and that owing to the third class carriages being attached in different positions on different days in different sections of the Mail Trains, the passengers who have to board the Mail trains on any of the small stations in the three or five minutes halts are put to considerable trouble, inconvenience and danger ?

(b) Are Government aware that there are often too few third class carriages for the number of passengers to be carried as compared with the first class accommodation provided on the Mail trains ?

(c) If so, are Government prepared to consider the advisability of increasing the number of third class carriages on all Mail trains of all the railways, regulating the first class accommodation as need arises ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Agent, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, states that the mail trains on that line are worked with set rakes and the position of the vehicles is never altered except in abnormal circumstances.

The Agent, South Indian Railway, states that the position of third class carriages on their express trains has remained constant during the last three years. Through carriages running between specified points which have indication boards giving the name of the starting and destination stations are attached in the position in which it is most convenient for shunting purposes at junctions.

(b) The number of each class of carriage provided on the various trains is determined by the volume of the traffic offered. Both the Agents state that spare third class stock is stabled at various stations, and station masters have instructions to attach them to trains whenever necessity arises.

(c) The composition of trains must be determined by local conditions which vary from section to section on the different railways, and it is impracticable for Government to regulate such details of railway working.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware of the fact that even at junction stations, such as Waltair and Bezwada, when request is made and notice is given for additional third class carriages because of the existing overcrowding, no action is taken ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am not aware of that.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government see that one or two third class carriages at least are attached to every mail train that passes between Waltair and Madras ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Sir, this is a matter of local interest, and I think it is desirable that the Honourable Member should take it up in the Local Advisory Council.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that no Member of this House is a member of the Local Advisory Council, will the Honourable Member in charge of the Department be good enough to convey the wish of this House that there should be more third class carriages attached to the mail train running between Waltair and Madras and also between Madras and Colombo ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I shall be glad to send a copy of my Honourable friend's observations to the Agents.

LUGGAGE ALLOWANCE GIVEN TO THIRD CLASS PASSENGERS.

325. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the luggage allowances given on different trains for each of the third class passengers ?

(b) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of increasing such luggage allowance by another three pounds ?

P. R. Rau : (a) On practically all railways, the free allowance of luggage is 25 seers in addition to bedding, walking sticks, umbrellas and such articles of food as may be required on the journey.

(b) On the recommendation of the Indian Railway Conference Association, the free allowance was raised in December, 1929, from 15 seers to 25 seers. Government are not prepared to consider any further enhancement under present conditions.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that this question was considered so long ago as 1929, are not Government of the opinion that time has come when these things should be reconsidered in view of the increasing rail-road competition ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : As a member of the Public Accounts Committee, my Honourable friend was most assiduous in asking the railways to increase their net earnings.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : It is only because we are anxious that the railways should increase their earnings that we ask that the conveniences afforded to the third class passengers should be increased. Will Government, therefore, consider the advisability of increasing the facilities of third class passengers in this direction ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I do not think that the addition of three seers to 25 seers is likely to increase traffic.

WEIGHING MACHINES ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY.

326. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Are Government aware of the fact that at many places the weighing machines of the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway are very defective, to the detriment of the third class passengers and that weighing machines are often not properly and sufficiently tested ?

(b) Are Government aware that the weighing machine installed for third class passengers at the central station, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, Madras, was found on the 12th July to show 3 lbs. more than that installed for the first and second class passengers ?

(c) Do Government propose to see that special care is taken to test periodically the weighing machines installed in all stations and especially those machines intended for the third class passengers ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). The Agent, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, states that the Administration is not aware of the facts alleged.

(c) Government are satisfied that the instructions issued by the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Administration for the care and handling of weighing machines provide for as high a standard of accuracy being maintained as is practicable. They understand that similar instructions have been issued on other railways.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that I myself have had this experience at the Madras Central Station and drew the attention of the Station Master also on that day to this particular defect, will Government try to refresh their memory as well as their information and see that such inaccurate information is not placed before this House ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I understand that my Honourable friend's general allegation is based on one single instance, and when he has brought it to the notice of the authorities concerned, I am sure, that defect must have been rectified.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that the Honourable Member in his answer has stated that this particular defect to which I have drawn attention as far as the Madras Central Station is concerned does not exist and did not exist on that day ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I could not follow the Honourable Member's question. Will he kindly repeat it ?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is your answer to part (a) of my question ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The answer to parts (a) and (b) is :

"The Agent, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, states that the Administration is not aware of the facts alleged."

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that I myself have had this experience and drew the attention of the Station Master to this defect, I wish to inform the Honourable Member that his information is absolutely wrong and that that kind of information should not be placed on the table of the House.

Mr. P. R. Rau : May I ask whether my Honourable friend made a complaint in writing to the Agent of the Railway or what steps did he take to bring the defect to the notice of the Agent ?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : I personally informed him of what had happened.

Mr. P. R. Rau : In such cases, it is probably desirable for the Honourable Member to write to the Agent about it.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : I hope the Honourable Member will provide me with the expenses that I will incur on correspondence.

WEIGHT OF LUGGAGE OF THIRD CLASS PASSENGERS.

327. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of instructing the Railways to see that passengers, especially the third class passengers, are not troubled at any of the intermediate stations or junctions about the weight of their luggages, if they bear with them the railway receipt for their luggage from their starting stations and that if any doubt is felt about the correctness of the weight recorded on the receipt, that fact may be communicated to the station master of the destination through the guard on duty ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I will convey the Honourable Member's suggestion to the Indian Railway Conference Association for their consideration.

GOVERNMENT'S POLICY TOWARDS COMMUNISM.

328. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Are Government aware of the judgment given by Justices Williams and Jacks on the 17th of July in the High Court of Calcutta in setting aside the sentence on Kamala Krishna Sircar on the kind of propaganda carried on in favour of the establishment of a Bolshevik form of Government in India provided violent means are not advocated ?

(b) If so, will Government place on the table of the House the full text of that judgment ?

(c) Are Government prepared to revise their policy in the light of that judgment towards communists, communist organisations and communist propaganda and also their G. O. on communists ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) and (b). A copy of the judgment is laid on the table.

(c) The judgment had reference to prosecutions under the provisions of section 124-A of the Indian Penal Code. No question of revising the policy of Government towards Communism arises.

IN THE HIGH COURT OF JUDICATURE AT FORT WILLIAM IN BENGAL.

Criminal Appellate Jurisdiction.

The 17th July, 1935.

Present :

The Honourable Mr. Justice Lort-Williams

and

The Honourable Mr. Justice Jack.

Appeal No. 173 of 1935.

Kamal Krishna Sircar, .. .. . Appellant, versus

The Emperor .. .. . Respondent.

For the Accused—Mr. B. Das, Counsel, with Mr. Hiran Kumar Roy.

For the Crown—Mr. D. N. Bhattacharya, officiating Deputy Legal Remembrancer.

Lort-Williams, J.—

In this case, the appellant was convicted of sedition under section 124A, Indian Penal Code, and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for one year.

The speech in which he made the remarks complained of was delivered at Shradhdhananda Park on November 22, 1934. There was a meeting of the Bengal Youth League, and there was a red banner with hammer, sickle and star. The audience were composed mostly of Bengali youths of the student community and a number of speeches were made.

The accused moved a resolution, expressing emphatic condemnation of Government legislation as being calculated to gag the working class movement in India, in declaring the Communist party of India and various trade unions and labour organisations illegal, while anti-working class organisations like the Indian National Congress and the Congress Socialist Party had not been banned, and had been allowed to prosecute their aims of sabotaging the real class struggle for emancipating the toiling masses of India. The resolution also condemned the banning of the Communist party of India and other militant class organisations in the Punjab and Bombay.

In his speech the accused referred to these orders made by the Government, and explained that what was meant was that the Government by such banning of certain organisations were making it easier for the organisations which were carried on by the well-to-do and the capitalists one of the aims of which was to put down the workers' movement, to pursue the new reformist movements which were favoured by these other bodies. The rich, Gandhi and the Congress were all lumped together by the speaker as being supported by the Government. Then he proceeded to deal with the Round Table Conference and pointed out that at one time the Government had declared the Congress illegal, but that it was the object of the Government, and by reference the speaker obviously wanted to include all Governments, to encourage the reformist movement as a method of checking the revolutionary movement represented by the Communist party, the Bolsheviks and others. The rest of the speech was a mere recital of facts either of recent or past history. A great deal of it was obviously taken from well-known and quite respectable books which have been published recently about the world economic depression, the alleged failure of the capitalistic system, and the necessity of finding some other method for the distribution of goods. In fact, all that the speech amounted to was a recommendation of the Bolshevik form of Government as preferable to what is generally called the "capitalistic" form of Government, i.e., the present form of Government. And all that the speaker did was to encourage the young men, whom he was addressing, to join the Bengal Youth League and to carry on a propaganda for the purpose of inducing as large a number of people in India as possible to become supporters of the idea of communism as represented by the present Bolshevik system in Russia.

It is really absurd to say that speeches of this kind amount to sedition. If such were the case, then every argument against the present form of Government and in favour of some other form of Government might be alleged to lead to hatred of the Government, and it might be suggested that such ideas brought the Government into contempt. To suggest some other form of Government is not necessarily to bring the present Government into hatred or contempt.

The learned Magistrate, who tried the case, obviously takes a strong view with regard to Bolshevism. He does not like it; neither do I, nor do a very large number of sensible people. That does not mean that one may not make speeches of the kind. I do not like quite a lot of things that people do constantly from day to day. That is no reason for suggesting that those people are guilty of sedition or of attempting to bring the Government into hatred or contempt.

In my opinion, it is not wise to institute prosecution against the makers of speeches of this kind. The effect of it is to give the impression that the Government are desirous of taking the kind of steps which, we understand, have been taken in countries like Germany and Italy, where the right of free speech has practically disappeared. So far as we know, that is not the present position in India. In any case, the present speech is a long way from coming within the provisions of section 124A, Indian Penal Code.

The conviction and sentence passed on the appellant are, accordingly, set aside, and he is acquitted.

The appellant, who is on bail, will be discharged from his bail-bond.

(Sd.) J. LORT-WILLIAMS.

The 17th July, 1935.

Jack, J.—

I agree.

(Sd.) R. E. JACK.

The 17th July, 1935.

J. W. McKAY,

Secretary to the Bengal Legislative Council.

CALCUTTA ;

The 10th August, 1935.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the policy of Government towards Communism ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That was defined at considerable length in a statement I laid on the table in reply to a question about this time last year. The Honourable Member will find it in the Library.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government propose to continue to punish opinions, even if those opinions are not expressed in favour of any acts of violence ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : It has never been the policy of Government to punish opinions so long as those opinions are not published.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government propose to punish the opinions even in those publications, which do not incite to any acts of violence ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : So long as those opinions do not incite to acts of violence or encourage disaffection or tend to bring Government into hatred or contempt, it is not the policy of Government to punish them.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it wrong to publish in original the Communist manifesto issued by Karl Marx and also to translate it ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That depends upon the contents of the manifesto.

TRADE TREATIES WITH ITALY AND ROUMANIA.

329. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether they have been able to conclude any trade treaties with Italy and Roumania in order to remove or reduce the import duties recently levied by those Governments upon our Indian Imports ?

(b) If not, what stage has been reached by their negotiations with the Governments of those countries ?

(c) When were those negotiations begun ?

(d) When are they expected to be concluded ?

(e) If trade treaties are concluded, what are the terms of such treaties ?

(f) How do those terms compare with those of the treaties concluded by Great Britain with Italy during this year ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) to (f). I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the replies given to Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar's starred questions Nos. 4 and 5.

MARKETING OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

330. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the progress made by the marketing section of the Imperial Council of Agriculture in carrying on any marketing surveys or in organising marketing of any of the Agricultural produce ?

(b) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of publishing a periodical survey of the prospects for the marketing of Agricultural produce in foreign countries with the aid of the reports received from the Trade Commissioners ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) A copy of the progress report of the marketing scheme till the end of June, 1935, as circulated to the Advisory Board of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research, has been placed in the Library.

(b) The quarterly reports issued by the Indian Trade Commissioners already contain sufficient information regarding the marketing of Indian agricultural products in foreign countries and the prospects of expansion of the trade. These reports are published in the Indian Trade Journal.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government consider the advisability of publishing a comprehensive report of all the remarks made by the Trade Commissioners, so that it will be easy for those who are interested in agricultural problems to get it and study it ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already informed my Honourable friend that quarterly reports, which I have no doubt are as comprehensive as the subject matter requires, are issued and published in the Indian Trade Journal.

LOSS SUSTAINED BY THE PEASANTS IN THE QUETTA EARTHQUAKE.

331. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if they have estimated the loss sustained by the peasants in the Quetta earthquake ?

(b) If so, how much is that loss ?

(c) How many peasants have been made homeless and landless ?

(d) What are the steps taken or proposed to be taken to settle them anywhere else and provide them with land ?

(e) Will Government state whether any lands in the newly irrigated portions of the Punjab or Sind are proposed to be granted to them ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) Approximately rupees five and a half lakhs.

(c) About 2,676 houses were destroyed and roughly 12,800 peasants were rendered homeless. No peasants have been rendered landless as damage to land has been comparatively insignificant.

(d) Grants have been made for the reconstruction of houses but as there has been no appreciable damage to land it has not been found necessary to take steps to settle the peasants elsewhere.

(e) No, Sir.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that in the report published by the Government of India it is said that this earthquake has affected several hundreds of square miles of land, does the answer given by the Honourable Member relate to all the peasants affected by the earthquake ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Does the Honourable Member want to know if my answer refers to the whole of the area ? If so, yes, Sir.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the lands of these peasants have been destroyed ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : There were quite a considerable number of casualties among the villagers ; but they were not so heavy as in the city.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I was asking whether the cultivated lands were affected ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I thought the Honourable Member was enquiring about loss of life. Land has scarcely been affected. That also applies to orchards which are, of course, very important in Baluchistan.

GRANT FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE HANDLOOM WEAVING INDUSTRY TO THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

332. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state (i) the principles on which they are allocating the handloom weaving development grant between the various provinces, (ii) if such a principle was objected to by the Madras Government, and (iii) if so, on what grounds ?

(b) Are Government aware of the fact that the Madras Government has been spending larger sums upon the development of handloom weaving than other Provincial Governments and is it a fact that the expenditure of Provincial Governments on handloom weaving only during the last four or five years was taken into consideration, and that the Madras Presidency gets very much less than what is really due to her, if her total expenditure during the last decade is considered ?

(c) Are Government prepared to reconsider their method of allocating the grant so as to allot more to the Madras Presidency ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) (i). The Sixth Industries Conference proposed that the grant for the first year should be distributed half in proportion to the consumption of cotton yarn in handloom weaving in the provinces and half in proportion to the actual expenditure of the Local Governments on the improvement of the cotton handloom weaving industry under certain specified heads during the five years ending the 31st March, 1934. This basis was accepted by Government for the first 17 months of the scheme, i.e., up to the 31st March, 1936.

(a) (ii). No.

(a) (iii). Does not arise.

(b) The reply to the first part is in the negative and to the second part in the affirmative. As regards the last part, the allocation was made according to the principles recommended by the Conference.

(c) The basis of allocation of grants in future years will be considered by the Seventh Industries Conference to be held in October.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government any scheme by which this total grant is likely to be increased in the near future ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I believe at the present moment there is little prospect of the total grant being increased.

BILL re EXEMPTION OF A PORTION OF THE LANDS OWNED BY PEASANTS FROM THE PROPERTIES LIABLE TO BE ATTACHED FOR THE PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

333. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if they are thinking of introducing legislation to amend the Civil Procedure Code Act of 1908 so as to exempt a portion of the lands owned by peasants from the property or properties liable to be attached for the payment of debts ?

(b) If so, when will such a Bill be introduced into the Assembly ?

(c) If not, are Government prepared to consider the advisability of introducing such a Bill ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) The answer is in the negative.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) As the Honourable Member is aware, Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar gave notice, last Session, of his intention to move for the introduction of a Bill to amend section 60 of the Civil Procedure Code with the same object in view. Notice of a Bill which inter alia seeks to protect from attachment small agricultural holdings has also been received from the Honourable Member himself. Government will have an opportunity in due course of stating their attitude on the subject in the House in connection with these Bills.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the attitude of Government towards the Bill proposed to be introduced by Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have said that Government will have an opportunity of stating their attitude when the Bill comes up.

CLAIMS OVER THE WATERS OF THE TUNGABHADRA RIVER.

334. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what progress has been made in regard to the request of the Madras Government that the Government of India should appoint a tribunal to decide the claims of the four Governments over the waters of the Tungabhadra river ?

(b) What is the reply received from the Bombay Government ?

(c) What are the obstacles standing in the way of developing this project ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) The proposal that a Court of Arbitration should be appointed has been put to the Governments of Bombay, Mysore and Hyderabad.

(b) The Government of Bombay have agreed to the appointment of a Court.

(c) The project is beset by political, engineering and financial difficulties.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the nature of the reply received by the Government of India from the Mysore Government ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : So far no reply has been received.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : How long ago did the Government of India address the Mysore Government ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I want notice.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will the Government of India remind the Mysore Government to send an early reply ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : We have already done so.

ACTS PASSED BY PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURES TO RELIEVE THE BURDEN OF AGRICULTURAL INDEBTEDNESS.

335. *Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government be pleased to place in the Library of the House the Acts passed since 1934 by various Provincial Legislatures to relieve the burden of agricultural indebtedness in order to enable the House to see how far the recommendations of the Economic Conference 1934 have been carried out ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I lay on the table a list of Acts, copies of which have been placed in the Library of the Indian Legislature.

List of Acts.

The Agriculturists' Loans United Provinces (Amendment) Act, 1934.

The Assam Money Lenders Act, 1934.

The Central Provinces Debt Conciliation (Amendment) Act, 1934.

The Central Provinces Debt Conciliation (Amendment) Act, 1935.

The Central Provinces Money Lenders Act, 1934.

The Madras Co-operative Land Mortgage Banks Act, 1934.

The Madras Debtors' Protection Act, 1934.

The North-West Frontier Province Redemption of Mortgages Act, 1935.

The Punjab Relief of Indebtedness Act, 1934.

The United Provinces Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1934.

The United Provinces Agriculturists' Relief (Amendment) Act, 1935.

The United Provinces Encumbered Estates Act, 1934.

The United Provinces Encumbered Estates (Amendment) Act, 1935.

The United Provinces Regulation of Sales Act, 1934.

The United Provinces Temporary Regulation of Execution Act, 1934.

The Usurious Loans (Central Provinces Amendment) Act, 1934.

The Usurious Loans (North-West Frontier Province Amendment) Act, 1935.

The Usurious Loans (United Provinces Amendment) Act, 1934.

AGREEMENT WITH THE KATHIAWAR STATES ABOUT CUSTOMS.

336. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether any agreement has been arrived at between them and the Kathiawar States about customs ; and

(b) if so, what the terms of the agreement are ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am not yet in a position to make any statement on this subject.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know what the position is ? Is it that a lot of smuggling is going on through the Kathiawar ports ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not think there is smuggling, for that can be checked at Viramgam line. But it is a matter of common suspicion that rebates are being given.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government lost large sums of money over this ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The problem is not only one of loss of revenue, but of diversion of trade from Bombay. In one case, of course, the diversion of trade, which is held by the Durbar to be within the terms of their treaty, has been very heavy indeed, and the diversion of revenue has consequently been very big also.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why is there such a diversion of trade ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the Honourable Member had better leave me to try and deal with that question. I will promise to make a statement as soon as I can.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Before the next Budget Session ? If so, I shall not ask any more questions.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I hope so ; but I cannot make any promise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of this non-possumus attitude, my Honourable friend will forgive me for using that word, I want to know why there is this continual diversion of trade from Bombay to Kathiawar ports. There is something which my Honourable friend does not want to disclose and which exists.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : One obvious reason is that for certain areas the Kathiawar ports have a definite economic advantage in having a shorter railway route as compared with the ports of British India. But that is not the whole story.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the whole story ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am not in a position to say.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable Member expedite this matter, as much as possible ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am trying to do so.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government spending large sums of money to buy up their opposition ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Honourable Member is now fishing.

FORMATION OF COFFEE POOLS IN KENYA WITH A VIEW TO DRIVE OUT THE INDIAN SETTLERS.

337. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the attempt of the White settlers in Kenya to form coffee pools with a view to drive out the Indian traders in the same way as they are being driven out of the clove trade in Zanzibar ;

(b) if not, whether they are prepared to make enquiries in the matter ; and

(c) what steps they propose to take ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) to (c). Government have seen reports in the Press of certain proposals said to have been made by an unofficial organisation called the Coffee Board of Kenya for the better distribution of coffee but have received no representations on the subject from the Indian community in Kenya, and do not, therefore, propose to take any action in the matter.

TRANSFER OF THE CIVIL AND MILITARY ADMINISTRATION OF GILGIT TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

338. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that the treaty between the Kashmir Government and the Government of India, whereby the civil and military administration of the Gilgit area will be transferred to the Government of India, has been signed ; and

(b) the extra cost involved in this transfer ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the communiqué on the subject issued on the 8th January, 1935.

(b) Nil.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : So there is no extra cost at all ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : No, Sir ; on the contrary, there has been a net saving of approximately one lakh.

CUSTOMS QUESTIONS RELATING TO THE KATHIAWAR AND MARITIME STATES.

339. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that an important conference between the officers of the Political Department and the Central Board of Revenue was held early in May to discuss the issue relating to customs questions with the Maritime and Kathiawar States ;

(b) what the points were that were discussed ; and

(c) what the decisions are ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Inter-departmental conferences constitute a normal method of Secretariat procedure in important and complicated cases, and this method has been frequently adopted in dealing with customs questions. The proceedings of such conferences, like the noting on Secretariat files, are confidential, and I am unable to disclose any information in regard to this particular or any other one.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will these decisions be taken by Government, before they are placed before this House ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think that is extremely likely.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of the fact that a lot of money is involved in this matter, and Government are not in as strong a position as it ought to be in view of this proposed Federation, will Government try to strengthen themselves by taking the opinion of this House, representing as it does the Indian taxpayer ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not admit the Honourable Member's premise.

RELIEF TO THE FAMILIES OF THE PUBLIC SERVANTS KILLED IN THE EARTHQUAKE AT QUETTA.

340. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Do Government propose to provide any earthquake compassionate allowance, or some such relief, for the families of those public servants killed in the earthquake at Quetta ? If so, which and under what conditions ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : In regard to certain establishments whose conditions of service are regulated by the Royal Warrant and the King's Regulations for the Royal Air Force, it has been held by competent authority that death in the earthquake at Quetta should be treated as attributable to military service. The dependents of deceased members of such establishments become, therefore, eligible for pensions. The same principle will be applied in the Indian Army. In regard to establishments for which the rules prescribe two scales of pension, the question of which scale should be applied is under consideration. Under the rules applicable to civil personnel contained in the Civil Service Regulations, no pensions are admissible to the dependents of such personnel killed in the earthquake, but the Government of India have decided to relax these rules and to grant pensions and gratuities.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will any gratuity be given where pension is not allowable ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I assume the Honourable Member is concerning himself only with the civilian personnel. I said that, under the rules applicable to civil personnel contained in the Civil Service Regulations, no pensions are admissible to the dependants of such personnel killed in the earthquake, but the Government of India have decided to relax these rules and to grant pensions and gratuities.

CONSTRUCTION OF ROADS IN ASSAM.

341. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Is it a fact that the Central Reserve Fund for Development of Roads from income derived from petrol tax, amounted to over four lakhs ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state how much of it was derived from petrol raised and refined in the Assam oil-fields ?

(c) What was the amount allocated to Assam from the Central Reserve Fund ?

(d) How much of that sum was spent in the Assam Valley ?

(e) Is the oil-field situated in the Assam Valley ?

(f) What are the areas of Assam Valley Districts and the Surma Valley Districts, excluding Hill Districts, separately ?

(g) How many miles of *kutch*a roads exist in the Assam Valley and how many miles of pucca roads ?

(h) Are Government prepared to take up the question of construction of roads in Assam, so that the country may be opened up ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes. On a ten per cent. basis the annual credit to the reserve was about Rs. ten lakhs per annum. On a 15 per cent. basis (from 1934-35) the annual credit is likely to be over Rs. 15 lakhs per annum.

(b) The quantity of petrol produced in Assam is not constant, but the production in recent years is equivalent to a credit to the reserve in the Road Account of between 1½ and two lakhs of rupees per annum.

(c) Rs. 27.30 lakhs. This grant has been made partly from revenue already received and a lump sum contribution of Rs. 40 lakhs, and partly by anticipating future revenue.

(d) A sum of Rs. 14.25 lakhs has been allocated to the Assam Valley, but works are only now being commenced and the expenditure to date is negligible.

(e) Yes.

(f) The combined areas of the Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong, Sibsagar, and Lakhimpur districts in the Assam Valley are 23,932 square miles and the combined areas of the Sylhet and Cachar Plains districts in the Surma Valley are 9,340 square miles.

(g) The Government of India have no information. The total mileage in Assam is 600 miles of metalled and 7,186 miles of unmetalled roads.

(h) The Government of India have already made very substantial grants to Assam as indicated in reply to part (c) of the question.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Of course the Government of India have made substantial grants, but are Government aware that, in the northern portion of Assam from Dhubri to Lakshmipur, i.e., one-half of Assam, there are no metalled roads, and in the southern portion all the important roads of Kamrup to Goalpara are *cutch*a ? And will Government consider these facts when they consider the question of contribution to the Road Fund ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The Government of India have already taken into consideration the well-known fact that Assam is very badly off for roads. As regards the allocation between the two different valleys, that must be left to the Local Government.

Mr. F. W. Hockenhuil : Will the Honourable Member tell us whether any schemes have already been sanctioned from the central fund ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Yes, quite a large number.

CLAIMS FOR PROMOTIONS AND PREFERMENTS OF ASSAMESE SOLDIERS.

342. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Will Government be pleased to state how many natives of Assam Valley Districts, belonging to the Koch, Rajbangsi, Kachari, Jharuas, Mikir and Saloi castes are serving in the Regiment known as "Assam Rifles", who are stationed to guard the North-Eastern Frontier ?

(b) Will Government state how many persons of those castes fought in the Great War ?

(c) Will Government enquire of the Assam Government and inform this House whether the Assamese soldiers of these castes were praised for their bravery and fighting qualities by the respective commanders of the regiments in which they served during the War ?

(d) Will Government state whether fairly educated youths of the above castes are now finding employment in the Gurkha regiments in larger numbers ? If not, why not ?

(e) Will Government state who, besides the following, are now holding non-commissioned officers' ranks among the soldiers in the North-Eastern Frontier, who are inhabitants of the Assam Valley Districts :

- (1) Jemadar Debi Singh Mech,
- (2) Jemadar Dhananjay Kachari,
- (3) Havildar Gangaprasad Rajbangsi,
- (4) Hayildar Tarak Chandra Rajbangsi,
- (5) Havildar Bahadur Chandra Uzir,
- (6) Havildar Jatra Mikir,
- (7) Havildar Mayaram Rajbangsi ?

(f) Are Government prepared to take steps to recruit more men from among these castes ?

(g) Are Government prepared to consider the claims for promotions and preferments of these soldiers, who belong to British India, in the same way as in the case of inhabitants of Nepal ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) 348.

(b) 448.

(c) Several Commanding Officers expressed appreciation of the fine services rendered by men of the Assam Rifles generally, but no particular classes or castes were specially mentioned.

(d) Practically no Assamese with any education apply for enlistment in the Assam Rifles, and they are not recruited to Gurkha Regiments of the Army because they are not Gurkhas.

(e) Besides the men named in the question there are five Subedars, three Jemadars, 19 Havildars and 17 Naiks who are inhabitants of the Assam Valley districts. A list of their names can be laid on the table if the Honourable Member wishes.

(f) According to the class composition of the Assam Rifles the number of Assamese should be 37½ per cent. This percentage has never been reached by recruits from these or other Assamese castes. Government would be glad to see them come forward in larger numbers provided they intend to stick to the service.

(g) Promotion is made by merit alone and the claims of all castes and tribes are equally considered.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Is it a fact that those Assamese, who are in the ranks of non-commissioned officers, are mostly well educated and belong to the educated classes ? Will Government take these facts into consideration in matters of promotion ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : My information is that, on enlistment, practically none of the recruits are educated. Possibly they receive some education in the regiment ; but presuming they all enlist as sepoy in the first instance, my information is not in accordance with that of the Honourable Member.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : As a matter of fact, I may inform the Honourable Member that they all originally enlist as sepoy, but only in matters of promotion somehow their race intervenes and the Gurkhas get promotion and they do not get the promotion which they deserve. Will the Honourable Member make an inquiry into this grievance ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not quite see what I am to inquire into. I have said that promotion is made by merit alone, and the claims of all castes and tribes are equally considered.

ASSAM VALLEY PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION.

343. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Are Government aware that an Indian Planters' Association, known as the Assam Valley Planters' Association, has been started in Assam ?

(b) Are Government prepared to give representation to this body on the Tea Cess Committee as well as on the Tea Licensing Committee ?

(c) Have Government instructed the Tea Cess Committee to take in representative Indians in the executive of the Tea Cess Committee, as well as in the general committee, as assured by Sir Joseph Bhore during the last Session of this House ?

(d) Do Government propose to lay down the method of electing Indian members to the above bodies, so that Indian planters of Assam Valley may also get representation ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrulla Khan : (a) No, Sir.

(b) In view of the reply to part (a) of the question, Government are unable to express any opinion as to the desirability of giving representation to the body referred to.

(c) Government are unaware that any assurance of the nature mentioned was given by Sir Joseph Bhore last Session.

(d) Government understand that the existing provisions of the Indian Tea Cess Act and the Indian Tea Control Act have in effect provided for the representation of Indian planters of the Assam Valley on the Indian Tea Cess Committee and the Indian Tea Licensing Committee.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : That is not my question : my question is this : certainly it provides for representation of the people interested, in the Assam Valley, especially those who are members of the association like the Indian Tea Association ; but the pledge given by the Honourable Sir Joseph Bhore in the last Assembly was that the Government will see that Indians are taken into the executive committee as well as the general committee of the Association : have Government done anything towards that ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already submitted that Government are unaware that any assurance of the nature mentioned was given by Sir Joseph Bhore last Session.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : It should be in the Assembly Proceedings. I am the person who started it, and, in his reply, Sir Joseph Bhore said that Government in future would see that more Indians are taken in in this committee : that was one of the conditions why the Bill was supported by me.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe all that Sir Joseph Bhore gave an assurance about was that when the Tea Cess Association puts forward more comprehensive proposals for the amendment of the Tea Cess Act, the question of the proper representation of Indian interests on the committee would be carefully borne in mind. That stage has not yet arrived. Any assurance given by Sir Joseph Bhore will be fully honoured.

APPOINTMENT OF AN INDIAN AS THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOMBAY PORT TRUST.

344. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Will Government be pleased to state if there is any bar to the appointment of an Indian as the Chairman of the Bombay Port Trust ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : None.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Have the Indian Merchants' Chamber and Bureau and other bodies been urging the desirability of appointing an Indian during the last 11 years ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The desirability of appointing Indians has been urged in several questions to which I have already given a reply.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, why has no Indian been appointed ? Is there no Indian fit for that place ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Indians have on several occasions been Chairmen of Port Trusts.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Here in Bombay ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Not in Bombay.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why not ? Are there no Indians in Bombay ? I thought it was an Indian city.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No answer is necessary—Bombay is an Indian city.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are there no competent Indians to be Chairmen of the Port Trust there, when Indians can be Commerce Members ?

(No answer.)

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Is it a fact that the administration of the Port Trust has been extravagant ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if there has been an Indian Chairman of the Karachi Port Trust ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Not so far as I am aware.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Then, which are those other places ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The other places are Aden and Chittagong : I believe a question to that effect has already been put down, and, when it is reached, I will be able to reply to it more fully.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Is it true that the financial difficulties of the Port Trust have contributed to the diversion of trade from Bombay.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe there is a question with regard to the alleged extravagant administration of the Bombay Port Trust put down, and, when it is reached, I will be able to give a reply.

ENQUIRY INTO THE FINANCIAL RELATIONS BETWEEN INDIA AND BURMA.

345. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Have Government taken any steps to associate members of this House and the public with the enquiry into the financial relations between India and Burma finally ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : If the Honourable Member is referring to the financial adjustments between the two Governments, I would remind him that the subject is to be debated in this House during the present Session.

DISABILITIES OF INDIANS IN ZANZIBAR.

346. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : What steps have Government taken to remove the disabilities from which Indians in Zanzibar are suffering, as reported by the Government representative sent there to investigate the grievances of Indians ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me on the 4th September, 1935, to Mr. S. Satyamurti's question No. 118.

INDIANS IN COCHIN-CHINA, JAVA, CEYLON AND SINGAPORE.

347. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Are Government aware that Indians in Cochin-China, Java, Ceylon and Singapore are being ill-treated ? If so, what steps are Government taking to remedy the same ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The reply to the Honourable Member's question is as follows :

(I) (a) An expulsion order against certain Indian Chettiar Bankers by the Indo China Government was cancelled upon representations being made by the Government of India through His Majesty's Government and diplomatic channels.

(b) There is no truth in the allegation that Indians in Ceylon and Singapore are being ill-treated.

(c) Government have received no complaints of ill-treatment of Indians in Java.

(II) The question does not arise.

ABOLITION OF THE INDIA STORES DEPARTMENT IN LONDON.

348. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Is it a fact that the High Commissioner in England has to attend many social and political functions ?

(b) Is it a fact that he is a layman as regards Stores purchases are concerned ?

(c) Do Government propose to abolish the Stores Department in London and entrust the Indian Stores Department with the duties of inspection and other necessary functions in connection with the large purchases for Government in India and abroad ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes.

(b) I do not know what my Honourable friend means by 'layman'. The position of the High Commissioner is the same as that of any person holding high office who has experts working under him.

(c) No ; the Government of India are considering the possibility of amalgamating the London Store Department and the Indian Stores Department.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know, when this amalgamation takes place, whether it will be in England or in India ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The investigation has still to be carried out, and it is impossible to give any exact date at present.

970

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[13TH SEP. 1935.]

EFFECT OF THE OTTAWA AGREEMENT ON INDIA AND THE DOMINIONS.

349. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Has the Ottawa Pact benefitted the British producers on account of substantial preferential duties ?

(b) Will Government state to what extent India has benefitted on account of that Pact ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). Government do not propose to offer an opinion on the results of the Ottawa Trade Agreement pending the discussion of the matter in the next Budget Session. Meanwhile, a report on the working of the Ottawa Agreement for the year 1934-35 will be laid on the table of the House at an early date.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When does this Pact expire ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe some time in the spring of 1936.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government place the matter before the House, before the expiry ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe so : it will be possible to do so, I think.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Is it a fact that from England 224 crores worth of articles less was exported to India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already replied to all questions in detail on this matter.

PURCHASE OF IRON AND STEEL MATERIALS BY INDIAN RAILWAYS.

350. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Are the Railways in India purchasing all available iron and steel materials in India, or mostly in the United Kingdom ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : State-managed Railways in India follow the Stores Purchase Rules and purchase all their requirements of articles manufactured from iron and steel in India on the rupee tender system. Preference is given to articles of Indian manufacture when the quality is satisfactory and the price not unreasonable.

Company-managed Railways also make large purchases of iron and steel articles of Indian manufacture.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : May I know from the Honourable Member the extent of the purchases made in England ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I must have notice.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the percentage of iron and steel materials purchased by Company-managed Railways outside this country every year ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am afraid I have not got the figures here : I shall be glad to get them if my Honourable friend so desires.

ENQUIRY INTO THE SYSTEM OF LEVYING INCOME-TAX.

351. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Is there any chance of an enquiry by British experts about the system of levying income-tax ?

(b) If so, do Government propose to see that Indian businessmen are also associated with that Committee ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply to question No. 35 asked by Sardar Sant Singh.

RE-TRANSFER OF SYLHET TO BENGAL.

352. *Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : (a) Are Government aware that a resolution was passed in the Assam Legislative Council some time back, at the instance of the members from Sylhet, that Sylhet should be transferred to Bengal on the ground that Sylhet is a part of Bengal by race and culture and as such it should be re-transferred to Bengal ?

(b) Do Government now propose to consider the question, in view of that resolution ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) I am aware of the Resolutions which have been discussed in the Local Legislative Council on this subject from time to time. But I might remind the Honourable Member that the last of these Resolutions, that was passed in 1928, opposed the transfer of Sylhet to Bengal. A Resolution moved in favour of the transfer in 1932 was withdrawn after discussion.

(b) No.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : Is the Honourable Member aware that there is a strong movement in the Assam Valley districts regarding this transfer of Sylhet to Bengal which is now being carried on ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : If there is such a feeling, it has not been reflected in the Local Legislative Council.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Is the Honourable Member aware that the people of Sylhet are in favour of being transferred to Bengal ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not aware that there is any unanimity of feeling in that direction.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Is the Honourable Member aware that there is a vast volume of public opinion among the people of Sylhet that they should be transferred to Bengal ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No doubt there is some opinion in favour of the transfer : I am not prepared to admit that it is large.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Is the Honourable Member aware that the Assamese people are willing that the people of Sylhet should be taken over by Bengal ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have already said that, if there is such a feeling, it is not reflected in the decisions of the Legislative Council.

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COCOANUT INDUSTRY COMMITTEE.

353. *Mr. Samuel Aaron : Will Government be pleased :

(a) to state whether they have considered the report and the recommendations of the Committee appointed to enquire into the cocoanut industry in India ;

(b) if so, to place on the table of this House a copy of the report of the Committee ; and

(c) to state what they have already done, or propose to do, to protect this industry from foreign competition ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) to (c). The Report and the recommendations of the sub-committee are under the consideration of the Government of India. The question of releasing the Report will be considered after the Government of India have completed their examination of the case.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : When did Government receive that Report ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have not got the exact date.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : May I know how long has this Report been under the consideration of the Government ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It has been under the consideration of the Government of India for some weeks, but I do not believe there has been any undue delay in considering this matter.

Mr. Samuel Aaron : May I know if there has been any increase in duty on cocoanuts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is obvious I cannot give an answer to that question before consideration of the Report has been completed.

EXPORT AND IMPORT TRADE BETWEEN INDIA AND CEYLON.

354. *Mr. Samuel Aaron : Will Government please state :

(a) if it is a fact that the Government of Ceylon have sent, or propose to send, a representative of theirs to confer with the Government of India and enter into a pact in regard to the export and import trade between India and Ceylon ; and

(b) if so, at what stage the matter stands at present ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) In May, 1933, an official deputation from the Government of Ceylon visited Simla to discuss the question of the reciprocal grant of preferences between India and Ceylon.

(b) The discussions have been suspended pending a decision as to the appropriateness of the existing import duties on cocoanuts and cocoanut products.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : When do they propose to take up the discussion again ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : After they have come to some decision with regard to the scale of duty on cocoanuts and cocoanut products.

Mr. F. E. James : May I ask, Sir, in view of the fact that this matter has been pending for a long time now, whether the Honourable the Commerce Member will do his best to expedite Government conclusions after they consider the Report ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have recently been in the Kerala country, and several representations were made to me that the scale of duties on cocoanuts and cocoanut products required the immediate attention of the Government, and, being impressed by those representations, I am trying to do my very best to expedite the decision on the matter.

LEGITIMATE RIGHTS OF INDIANS IN CEYLON.

355. *Mr. Samuel Aaron : (a) With reference to their reply to parts (d) and (e) of the starred question No. 428, dated the 22nd February, 1935, regarding the legitimate rights of Indian Settlers in Ceylon, will Government please state whether any notice has been received from the Government of Ceylon regarding the appointment of a commission ; and

(b) if so, what action has been taken by Government in the matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) No, Sir.

(b) Does not arise.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE DRUGS ENQUIRY COMMITTEE.

356. *Mr. Mathuradas Vissanji : (a) Is it a fact that the Drugs Enquiry Committee, appointed by the Government of India, submitted their report so far back as 1931 ?

(b) Have Government received representations from the Indian Merchants' Chamber and other Chambers of Commerce, as also from the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry, urging Government to initiate necessary legislation giving effect to the recommendations of the Drugs Enquiry Committee ?

(c) If so, will Government be pleased to state the reasons, if any, why action has been delayed for such a long time on this matter of all-India importance ?

(d) Are Government aware that, throughout the country, cases of adulteration of drugs, etc., are on the increase every year and that the public suffer helplessly through want of necessary and effective legislation to check this evil ?

(e) Will Government be pleased to state when they intend introducing a Bill giving effect to the various recommendations of the Drugs Enquiry Committee ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) Government have received such representations from several commercial associations.

(c) and (e). Legislation can be effective only if organisations to enforce its provisions as proposed by the Committee are set up both by the Government of India and by the Provinces. For financial reasons this has not been found possible so far. No scheme undertaken by the Government of India alone could be effective.

(d) The position may possibly be as stated by the Honourable Member.

BANIA SHOPS IN THE MARKET BAZAR, KASAUJI.

357. *Sirdar Jogendra Singh (on behalf of Mr. Sham Lal) : (a) Is it a fact that up to the year 1928 all kinds of shops, including what are called bania shops, or provision shops, were allowed to be opened, and continued to be in the Market Bazar, Kasauli, without any objection on the part of the Cantonment Authority ?

(b) Is it a fact that owing to a few plague cases having occurred in 1928, all bania or provision shops were closed down in order to prevent the breeding of rats, supposed to carry plague germs ?

(c) Are Government aware that there are a large number of stalls in the Market Bazar owned by the Cantonment Authority and rented yearly for unusually large sums and that, despite the prohibition of bania shops, all sorts of provisions and Indian sweetmeats have been allowed to be kept in the stalls, in spite of the repeated objections raised by the shopkeepers of Kasauli ?

(d) Is it a fact that in 1934 three shop-keepers, namely, Messrs. Baroo Mall & Sons, L. Mansa Ram Sud, and Messrs. Ram Chand Bool Chand, were allowed the monopoly for opening bania shops in the Market Bazar ?

(e) Are Government aware that the result of monopoly granted to these shop-keepers has been the practical ruin of the business of old and permanent shop-keepers in the old bazar of Kasauli ?

(f) Are Government aware that there exists a great feeling of resentment over this policy of discrimination and favouritism of the Cantonment Authority, and a number of representations had been made by All-India Cantonments' Association and the shop-keepers of Kasauli ?

(g) Are Government prepared to take immediate steps to see that either the bania shops and provision shops are removed from the Market Bazar, or all persons, without any discrimination, are allowed to open such shops in the Market Bazar on equal terms and conditions ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) There are 37 stalls in the Market Bazar, Kasauli Cantonment, which belong to the Cantonment Authority and have existed there for a long time. These stalls are leased annually on rents which are either auctioned or determined by tenders. This year seven stalls were rented to betelsellers who also sell sweetmeats, tea, biscuits, etc. The sale of dhal, ghee and other foodstuffs is prohibited.

(d) In 1934, three licenses were given to the persons named, but there was no question of monopoly.

(e) No.

(f) Government understood that the Cantonment Authority has received many representations and has given them due consideration. There is no intention of granting a monopoly to any of the shopkeepers. The Cantonment Authority do not consider it desirable to allow more bania shops dealing in food grains in that locality owing to its close proximity to the barracks. Rats are increasing in the Cantonment.

(g) Government are not prepared to interfere in the municipal administration of the Cantonment.

ENQUIRY INTO THE CONDUCT OF AN IMPERIAL SERVICE OFFICER.

358. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Will Government please state the number of Imperial Services officers who have been tried under Act XXXVII of 1850 ?

(b) Will Government please state how many of them were tried by one Commissioner and how many by two or more ?

(c) Will Government please state who is the competent authority to order an enquiry into the conduct of an Imperial Service officer ?

(d) Will Government please state whether any Local Government has any authority to order or institute an enquiry, under Act XXXVII of 1850, into the conduct of an Imperial Service officer ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a), (b) and (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply given to Sardar Mangal Singh's starred question No. 313.

(d) No.

PERMANENT WAY INSPECTORS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

359. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Will Government please state the number of Permanent Way Inspectors on the North Western Railway ? How many of them are Hindus, Sikhs, Muslims, Anglo-Indians, domiciled Europeans, Indian Christians, and Parsis ?

(b) What is the total population of the Sikhs in the Punjab, North-West Frontier Provinces, Sindh and the Delhi Province, through which the North Western Railway passes ?

(c) What is the proportion of Sikhs to the population of the Muslims, Hindus, Anglo-Indians, domiciled Europeans, Indian Christians and Parsis ?

(d) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the notice issued by the North Western Railway, inviting applications for admission to the Walton Training School, Lahore Cantt., to undergo training as Permanent Way Apprentices from the 16th September, 1935 ? If so, what proportion of the vacancies has been reserved for each community and why ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The available information will be found in the North Western Railway Classified List of subordinate staff of all Branches in receipt of Rs. 250 per mensem and over or on scales of pay rising to Rs. 250 per mensem and over, a copy of which is in the Library of the House.

(b) and (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to the Census of India, 1931, Volume I, India, Part II, a copy of which is in the Library of the House.

(d) The Agent, North Western Railway, reports that of the ten vacancies, eight have been reserved—six for Muslims, one for Anglo-Indians and one for other minority communities. These proportions were fixed in accordance with the instructions regarding the representation of Muslims and other minority communities in railway service.

EQUIPMENT OF THE AJMER RAILWAY WORKSHOPS WITH ADDITIONAL PLANT AND MACHINERY FOR THE MANUFACTURE OF LOCOMOTIVES.

360. *Mr. V. V. Giri : What additional amount of capital has been invested to equip the Ajmere Railway Workshops with necessary additional plant and machinery for the manufacture of locomotives ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The Ajmer Railway Workshops have carried out repairs to locomotives as well as the building of locomotives for the past 39 years. The greater part of the machinery is employed both on repairs and building. It is, therefore, not possible to state how much of the capital invested in the workshops is attributable to repair work and how much to the building of locomotives.

LOCOMOTIVES MANUFACTURED IN THE AJMER RAILWAY WORKSHOPS.

361. *Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the number of new locomotives of different type manufactured in Ajmere Railway Workshops during each of the last five years and the respective cost per locomotive of each type ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I place on the table a statement giving the information required.

Locomotives manufactured in Locomotive Shops, Ajmer.

| Item No. | Year in which manufactured. | Number manufactured. | Class manufactured. | Cost per locomotive. | Remarks. |
|----------|-----------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|----------------------|----------|
|          |                             |                      |                     | Rs.                  |          |
| 1        | 1930-31 ..                  | 7                    | G2                  | 51,729               |          |
| 2        | " ..                        | 2                    | YD                  | 77,680               |          |
| 3        | 1931-32 ..                  | 13                   | YD                  | 77,680               |          |
| 4        | 1932-33 ..                  | 15                   | YD                  | 73,396               |          |
| 5        | 1933-34 ..                  | 13                   | YD                  | 84,183               |          |
| 6        | 1934-35 ..                  | 2                    | YD                  | 84,183               |          |
| 7        | " ..                        | 14                   | YB                  | 81,264               |          |

These locomotives were fitted with Poppet Valve gear.
These figures are estimated ones. Completion costs are not yet available, but they will probably be lower than the estimated ones.

Mr. V. V. Giri : May I ask the Honourable Member, apart from the assembling of parts of locomotives, whether there is any real manufacture of locomotives in Ajmer Workshops ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I think the position was fully explained by the Honourable the Railway Member the other day. What the Ajmer Workshops do, to the best of my knowledge, is to purchase a certain amount of fittings and parts. They do not, I believe, manufacture all the parts of the locomotives themselves.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Can the Honourable Member give us information as to what parts are manufactured in Ajmer Workshops or at least can he give us that information at a future date ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I should have notice of that question, Sir.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What percentage of parts are manufactured in Ajmer Workshops and what percentage of parts are imported ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I should like to have notice of that question, Sir.

SALOONS AND INSPECTION CARRIAGES ON EACH RAILWAY.

362. *Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the number of saloons that were utilised, without ordering for new ones, by pooling the existing stock on different Railways ?

(b) What is the present number of saloons and inspection carriages on each Railway ?

(c) Is it a fact that nearly 40 per cent. of the officers have saloons provided for them and if not, what is the actual percentage ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state the annual costs of repair and maintenance incurred on saloons on each Railway since 1931 ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). The latest information available is in the statement placed before the Standing Finance Committee for Railways in June, 1934, and contained in the Proceedings of their Meeting, Volume XI, No. 2. The extent to which pooling has been resorted to is shown in that statement.

(c) The percentage differs on different railways. The percentage for each railway will be found in the statement I have referred to.

(d) I regret that the information is not available as accounts for reserved inspection carriages are not kept separately.

RENEWAL OF WAGONS ON INDIAN RAILWAYS.

363. *Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Indian Railway Conference Association have pressed for renewal of nearly 21,900 wagons on Indian Railways ? If so, will Government be pleased to state the data on which the Association came to the above conclusion ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The Operating Committee of the Indian Railway Conference Association expressed the opinion that at present 21,923 wagons are uneconomical to run and has recommended that they should be re-conditioned or replaced during the three years commencing 1936-37.

The opinion of the Committee is based on a consideration of the ages of the wagons, the cost of a periodical overhaul for certain types compared with the average cost and their unsuitability to conform with and to stand up to modern traffic conditions.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Have they submitted any report ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I think, Sir, they have sent a letter to the Government of India on the point.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Will that letter be placed before the Railway Standing Finance Committee for consideration ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No, when proposals are placed before the Standing Finance Committee for re-conditioning or purchasing wagons, the information contained there will be available to them.

ENQUIRY INTO THE CONDUCT OF AN IMPERIAL SERVICE OFFICER.

364. *Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : Will Government please state how many officers of the Imperial Service have been tried under Act XXXVII of 1850, and how many of them were tried by one Commissioner and how many by two or more ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I would refer the Honourable Member to the answer given to Sardar Mangal Singh's starred question No. 313.

PRESSES AND NEWSPAPERS PUNISHED IN CONNECTION WITH ARTICLES ON THE SILVER JUBILEE FUND OR THE QUETTA EARTHQUAKE RELIEF.

365. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : Will Government be pleased to state the names of the presses and papers whose securities have been confiscated, or from whom securities have been demanded under the Press Act, in connection with the articles on the Silver Jubilee Fund or the Quetta earthquake relief, together with the amount of securities demanded or confiscated from each ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I lay on the table a statement which gives the information desired.

Statement showing action taken against newspapers and presses under the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931 for Publication of articles on the Silver Jubilee Fund and the Quetta Earthquake Relief.

| Serial No. | Name of newspaper or Press. | Amount of security demanded. | Amount of security forfeited. | Remarks.                                                          |
|------------|-----------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|
|            |                             | Rs.                          | Rs.                           |                                                                   |
| 1          | Bandemataram, Calcutta ..   | 500                          | ..                            | For publication of an article on the Silver Jubilee celebrations. |
| 2          | Santi Press, Calcutta ..    | 500                          | ..                            | Ditto.                                                            |

| Serial No. | Name of newspaper or Press.                          | Amount of security demanded. | Amount of security forfeited. | Remarks.                                                                   |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|            |                                                      | Rs.                          | Rs.                           |                                                                            |
| 3          | Kistna Patrika, Masulipatam ..                       | 2,000                        | ..                            | For publication of an article or articles on the Quetta Earthquake Relief. |
| 4          | Trilinga, Madras .. ..                               | 1,500                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 5          | Dhinamani, Madras .. ..                              | 2,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 6          | Prabhat, Mangalore .. ..                             | 2,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 7          | Mangalore Press, Mangalore ..                        | 2,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 8          | Indian Express Press, Madras ..                      | 2,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 9          | Free Press Journal, Bombay ..                        | ..                           | 10,000                        | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 10         | Free Press Bulletin Press, Bombay .. ..              | ..                           | 10,000                        | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 11         | Khilafat Daily (or Roznama-e-Khilafat), Bombay ..    | 1,500                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 12         | Khilafat Press, Bombay .. ..                         | 1,500                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 13         | Bombay Standard, Bombay ..                           | ..                           | 1,000                         | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 14         | Sun Printing Press, Bombay ..                        | 1,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 15         | Siyasat Hyderabad (Sind) ..                          | 1,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 16         | Chandan Electric Printing Press, Hyderabad (Sind) .. | 1,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 17         | Khadim Quadim, Calcutta ..                           | 500                          | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 18         | Kamali Press, Calcutta .. ..                         | 500                          | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 19         | Medina, Bijnor .. ..                                 | ..                           | 1,000                         | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 20         | Vikas, Saharanpur .. ..                              | 1,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 21         | Shujaat, Lahore .. ..                                | 1,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 22         | Hindustan Press, Lahore ..                           | 1,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 23         | Tej, Delhi .. ..                                     | ..                           | 1,000                         | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 24         | Qaumi Gazette, Delhi ..                              | 1,000                        | ..                            | Ditto.                                                                     |
| 25         | Arjun, Delhi .. ..                                   | ..                           | 2,000                         | Ditto.                                                                     |

Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : Will Government be pleased to lay on the table copies of the offending articles ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I think we have got them all, at any rate I am quite prepared to lay such as we have.

NON-APPOINTMENT OF AN INDIAN AS PRESIDENT OF THE TARIFF BOARD.

366. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : Will Government please state the reason or reasons for not appointing an Indian as President of the Tariff Board in place of Mr. Wiles ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Mr. Fazal Ibrahim Rahimtoola was appointed President of the Tariff Board in place of Mr. Wiles, and the question, therefore, does not arise.

MEMBERS OF THE INCOME-TAX ENQUIRY COMMITTEE.

367. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the names of the members of the Income-tax Inquiry Committee ?

(b) How many of them are Indians ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply to question No. 35 asked by Sardar Sant Singh. The enquiry will be conducted by two experts from the British Inland Revenue and one Indian member of the Indian Income-tax Department.

PROHIBITIVE DUTY ON CLOVE IMPORTS AND PROTECTION AGAINST INDEFINITE MORATORIUMS DEMANDED BY INDIANS IN ZANZIBAR.

368. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : Are Government aware that Indians in Zanzibar at a mass meeting on the 16th June, 1935, demanded prohibitive duty on clove imports and protection against indefinite moratoriums ? If so, what steps, if any, have Government taken, or propose to take, to see that these demands are fulfilled ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. As regards the second part I would refer the Honourable Member to the answers I have already given during this Session to the numerous questions about Indian grievances in Zanzibar.

CONSIGNMENTS OF GOODS FOR INDIAN IMPORT THROUGH EMPIRE SHIPPING.

369. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that Government issued a circular letter to all the Local Governments, asking them to suggest to the major municipalities of their provinces that exporters should be directed to consign goods for Indian import through Empire shipping ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to lay a copy of the circular on the table of this House ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) A copy of the letter is laid on the table.

FROM H. S. MALIK, ESQUIRE, I.C.S., DEPUTY SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA, DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, TO ALL LOCAL GOVERNMENTS AND ADMINISTRATIONS, No. 33-M.I.34, DATED NEW DELHI, THE 22ND MARCH, 1935.

SUBJECT :—Utilisation of British Shipping for the carriage of cargo to and from the countries of the British Commonwealth.

I am directed to refer to the letter, which was forwarded with the letter from the Government of India, Home Department, No. F. 55/83-Ests., dated the 23rd March, 1934, requesting officers entitled to Lee Concession passages to travel by Empire Ships. It was pointed out in that letter that the promotion and development of Imperial trade are dependent to a large extent upon the maintenance of the shipping of the British Empire and that this Shipping is at present meeting with severe and unequal competition from State-aided foreign lines.

2. I am to say that, in order to secure the growth and maintenance of Imperial Shipping which is an interest of the whole Empire, it has now been suggested that public or semi-public organisations concerned with the shipment of produce or the importation of goods from overseas should give the fullest possible employment to Empire ships. I am accordingly to request that, if there is no objection, Port Trusts, the control of the Government of important municipalities and other local bodies under your control

Bengal may be addressed in the matter.
etc.,

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why did they do that ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : A copy has been laid on the table, because it has been asked for.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Surely my Honourable friend must take it a little more seriously. I am asking why this Government issued this circular letter.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I beg your pardon.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I thought it was very obvious.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It was not so. If it were so, I would have replied to the question certainly. The letter was issued in order to encourage Empire shipping as against non-Empire shipping.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the proportion of Indian shipping in Empire shipping ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The question does not arise out of my reply.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes, it does. I am asking what is the benefit to this country by asking Local Governments to suggest to their major municipalities that exporters should be directed to consign goods for Indian import through Empire shipping. I want to know what is the benefit to this country.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As I have already said, the question does not arise out of my reply.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : It is for you, Sir, to rule.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member had better put down another question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That will be Delhi Session, Sir.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Is that a suggestion or an order, Sir ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is not an order.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was this Government asked by the British Government to issue this communiqué, or was it a spontaneous act of Empire loyalty ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If my Honourable friend will put down a question on the subject, I will ascertain and give a reply.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I shall put down a short notice question, and I hope the Honourable Member will be able to give me a reply.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I will not accept short notice. It is not a matter of urgency.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, I ask for a definite ruling from you, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : If the Honourable Member is not prepared to accept short notice, what can the Chair do ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am asking for a ruling, Sir. My question is this, did Government issue the circular out of their own spontaneous loyalty, or was there any suggestion, direct or indirect, by the British Government to the Government of India ? This supplementary question arises out of part (a) of the original question.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : My reply is that I require notice of that question.

EXTERNED OR EXILED PERSONS NOT ALLOWED TO RETURN TO INDIA.

370. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the names of the persons who have been externed or exiled from India, as also of those who are not allowed to return to their motherland ?

(b) Do Government propose to allow them to return to their country ? If so, when ? If not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) and (b). There are only two British Indian subjects who have applied for and been refused facilities to return to India during the past ten years. One is Sailendra Nath Ghose with whose case I dealt very fully in the replies given in this House on the 15th August, 1934, and 1st April last to Messrs. Mitra's and Satyamurti's questions Nos. 622 and 1287, respectively, and the supplementary questions thereon. I have nothing further to add to what was stated by me on those occasions. The second is Benoy Roy Chaudhuri who was released from detention under Regulation III of 1818 and allowed to go to Europe for medical treatment on the understanding that if he returned to India without permission he would again become liable to detention under the Regulation.

Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : May I know what are the offence or offences for which these people have been externed ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : There is no question of an offence.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Then why were they refused permission ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have explained that in the case of Sailendra Nath Ghose at considerable length. As regards the other person, Benoy Roy Chaudhuri, he has not been allowed to return to India, because his presence in this country would be a source of danger to the public peace, but, as a matter of fact, his case is at the moment under consideration.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did Mr. Subhash Chandra Bose apply for permission to return to India ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : He has not applied ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Is he free to come back ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That does not arise ?

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : The question was : Will Government be pleased to state the names of the persons who have been externed or exiled from India, as also of those who are not allowed to return to their motherland. And my supplementary question is, whether Mr. Subhash Chandra Bose is free to come back to India. That arises out of, "as also of those who are not allowed to return to their motherland".

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The question asked me to state the names of the persons who have been externed or exiled from India.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : See the latter portion, "as also of those who are not allowed to return to their motherland." My question is, is Mr. Subhash Chandra Bose free to return to India ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : So far as I know.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I know whether Mr. Hardyal and Barendra Nath Chattopadhyaya are free to come back to India ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : So far as I am aware, Mr. Hardyal is free to come back to India. I have no information that he is not.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : He is free to come back ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Of course, if he takes the consequences.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : What about Mr. Barendra Nath Chattopadhyaya ?

Members on the Congress Nationalist Benches : We cannot hear anything on this side.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Is Mr. Barendra Nath Chattopadhyaya free to come back to India—Mr. Sarojini Naidu's brother ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : So far as I know, he is but the Honourable Member had better put down a question.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Is Kazi Abdul Wali free to return to this country ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Honourable Member had better put down a question. I have not got his name here, but I imagine he is free. In any case, the Honourable Member had better put down a question.

Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : What about Raja Mahendra Pratap ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have explained in answer to a previous question. He is not a British Indian subject to the best of my belief.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY HOSPITAL AT TUNDLA.

371. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that in the East Indian Railway Hospital at Tundla, European and Anglo-Indian nurses attend to the Indian patients only in specific cases, when the District Medical Officer considers it necessary ? If so, will Government be pleased to state the reason or reasons for this racial discrimination ?

(b) Is it also a fact that Indians are not allowed to use the swimming bath at Tundla ? If so, why ? Do Government propose to remove this racial discrimination ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Government are informed that this is not the case and that there is no racial discrimination in the matter of nursing in the medical department of the East Indian Railway.

(b) Government understand that the swimming bath at Tundla is run by the Euporean Institute Swimming Club, whose members pay subscriptions from which the expenses of water, electric current, etc., are met, and that no demand has so far been made by the Indian community for a swimming bath.

Mr. E. H. M. Bower : In view of the obvious inference from part (a) of the question that Indian patients prefer to be attended to by European and Anglo-Indian nurses, will Government see that the proportion of European and Anglo-Indian nurses in hospitals is not reduced ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I do not think that arises out of this question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to part (b) of the question, does the Railway Authority make any contribution to this institution ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I think the swimming bath was probably built at the expense of the railway, but the maintenance is by the European Institute.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Is it entirely maintained by the European Institute ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I understand that the members pay subscription from which the expenses of water, electric current, etc., are met.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Does the Railway Authority contribute any portion of the expense of maintaining this bath ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I must have notice of that question. They say that the expenses of water, electric current, etc., are met by the subscriptions that the members pay. But there may be other items of expenditure on maintenance which I am not sure of.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable Member make an enquiry and find out whether there is any racial discrimination practised, and, if so, will he see that it is removed ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am sure that if the Indian members of the staff form a club and are prepared to pay for the expenses of water, electric current, etc., the administration would be prepared to allot to them certain time in which they can use the bath.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Supposing the members of the Indian community who want that are few, will the benefit of this Club be denied to them on racial grounds ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : That is a hypothetical question.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

GOVERNMENT CIRCULAR PROHIBITING THE CONGRESS ASSEMBLY PARTY COMMITTEE TO ENQUIRE INTO AND REPORT UPON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE REPRESSIVE LAWS IN BENGAL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order.

12 NOON. I have received notice from Mr. Paliwal that he proposes to ask for leave to move a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House today for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the issuing of a circular by the Government of India prohibiting the work of the Committee appointed by the Congress Assembly Party to enquire into and report upon the administration of the repressive laws in Bengal. I should like to know from the Honourable Member how he thinks his motion is in order. A number of questions have been asked in this House on this subject already.

Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal (Agra Division : Non-Muham-madan Rural) : The questions did not lead to any discussion. We understood only yesterday in reply to certain questions that a circular has been issued by the Government.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does this matter refer to Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena's visit to Bengal ?

Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena has received an answer from the Home Member that the circular is a confidential one and Government are not prepared to disclose it in the public interest.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : I do not admit that there was a circular.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do you deny it ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Why should I deny it ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does your motion refer to Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena's visit and to the prohibition to make this inquiry ?

Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : The point is that a circular has been issued by the Government of India to all the Local Governments prohibiting the inquiry which the Congress Party was conducting and putting impediments in the way of that inquiry.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No such circular was issued.
L209LAD

CIRCULAR REGARDING GOVERNOR GENERAL'S ADDRESS TO THE MEMBERS OF THE INDIAN LEGISLATURE.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Honourable Members are aware that His Excellency the Governor General will address the Members of the Indian Legislature on Monday, the 16th September, 1935, at 11 o'clock in this Chamber. In connection with the said Address, the Secretary of the Legislative Assembly has issued Circular No. LXXII, dated the 21st August, 1935, informing Members about the dress which is to be worn on the occasion. He has also suggested therein that Honourable Members should arrive at the Chamber by a specified time. Mr. Sri Prakasa has given notice of a question asking under what authority such Circulars are issued by the Secretary and has also informed the Chair that there are several other Honourable Members who are also interested in this matter. The question referred to is not admissible as it relates to a matter which is not primarily the concern of the Governor General in Council, but I think it desirable to make a statement in the House to clarify the position.

Under sub-section (3) of section 63-B of the Government of India Act, the Governor General has the right of addressing the Legislative Assembly and may for that purpose require the attendance of its Members. In exercise of this right, the Governor General, by a written order, fixes the place, date and time of the Address which is communicated to Honourable Members by the Secretary of the Legislative Assembly. Under instructions from His Excellency, the Military Secretary informs the Secretary of the Assembly as to the dress which should be worn by Honourable Members on the occasion of the Address, and the Secretary of the Assembly communicates these instructions to Members through a circular. The Secretary in such cases merely acts as a medium between the Governor General and the Members of the Assembly just as the Secretary of the Council of State does as far as the Council of State is concerned. I may also point out that the Legislative Assembly Department is included in the portfolio of the Governor General.

Honourable Members are aware that the traffic outside the Assembly Building is regulated by the Police who are under the administrative control of the Local Government. With a view to avoiding congestion of traffic at the time of His Excellency's arrival at the Assembly Building on the day of the Address, the Police always issue special instructions to close all avenues and approaches to the Building before 11 A.M. In order that the Honourable Members may not be put to any inconvenience on account of Police instructions regarding the regulation of traffic outside, the Secretary in his Circular suggests to them that they should arrive at the Chamber by a particular time.

I may inform Honourable Members that the procedure of issuing such a Circular to Members of the Legislative Assembly is not a new one, but has been followed since 1921 and no objection whatsoever has been taken before.

THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL—contd.

AMENDMENT OF SECTION 51.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Assembly will now resume further consideration of the following motion moved by the Honourable Sir Henry Craik on Tuesday, the 3rd September, 1935, viz. :

" That the Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes (Amendment of section 51), be referred to a Select Committee consisting of Mr. Sham Lal, Qazi Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Mr. M. Asaf Ali, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali, Mr. M. Ghiasuddin, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri Lal Chand, Mr. A. G. Clow, Mr. J. M. Chatarji and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) :

When this Bill was brought before this House for circulation, I wanted the Honourable the Home Member to give me an assurance that the peasants' associations also, wherever they have existed, should be circulated on this Bill, with a view to ascertain their views. I find from the papers that have been circulated in this House and the opinions that have been obtained by the Government of India that not even one peasants' association has been approached for its opinion anywhere in this country. Sir, if this Bill is to benefit any one at all, it must be the industrial workers, agricultural workers and peasants mostly and I find that not even the Trade Union Congress has been sounded for its opinion and, of course, the agricultural workers have not been approached at all for their opinion. We find here opinions of High Court Judges and other Government officials, of Chambers of Commerce, big merchants, Nattukottai Chettians and several others who are deeply interested in the moneylending business or whose relatives are themselves moneylenders. Naturally any Bill, however little it may affect adversely the interests of the moneylender, will be abnoxious to them and, therefore, it is no wonder that many of these opinions are opposed to this harmless and even inadequate Bill. Even in case, where the Governors in Council are in favour of this particular Bill, District Magistrates, Judges and several other officers are found to be opposed to this. High Court Judges, especially in the Punjab, Bengal and the United Provinces have supported this Bill and yet some judges have thought it fit to note their individual opinions against this Bill and several District Judges are found opposing this Bill. Sir, if this is the way in which opinion is canvassed in this country, for a Bill which is expected to benefit peasants and workers industrial and agricultural, and other masses even to the slightest possible extent, then it would be impossible to find on record any opinion which will be found to be in favour of a Bill like this. I, therefore, Sir, again submit for the consideration of this House, as well as of the Government, that at least in future, whenever any such Bill is proposed to be circulated in this country, proper steps should be taken so that the people who will be materially benefited by a Bill like this should themselves be consulted and their opinion canvassed and their feelings ascertained, so that this House as well as the Government will be in a better position to judge how the real public opinion in this country stands. Sir, I find that only a few District Judges and one Governor in Council and one acting Governor were in favour of the main principle that imprisonment for debt should be abolished altogether. Yet one of them, the Director of Industries, Madras, maintains, that this question of imprisonment for debt cannot be taken up now seriously by legislators in view of the fact that opinion in its favour or against it has not been properly canvassed in this country. If only this Bill had been placed and circulated amongst peasants, then this Government as well as this House would have been overwhelmed with their definite view in favour of the abolition of imprisonment for debts. Sir, with regard to this barbaric practice of handing over not only the property, not only the assets, movable and immovable but also the persons of the unfortunate debtors to the creditors for whatever they may like to do with those assets.

[Prof. N. G. Ranga.]

Sir, I am reminded of the days of Shylock when for every pound of gold pound, that had remained unpaid, a pound of flesh was demanded. Sir, if in these days a pound of human flesh is not demanded, at least a more valuable asset, the living flesh, is being demanded by our moneylenders in this country in satisfaction of the monies owing to them. Sir, when money is lent to anybody, we expect the moneylender to do so not because he has the vicarious right of putting this particular man in jail but because he has a faith in the property owned by that debtor, movable and immovable and also in the credit possessed by that man. It is quite true that credit in any country will become impossible if the creditors can have no faith in the honesty and straightforwardness of the debtors. But, at the same time, it is not fair to expect debtors to be constantly afraid of this particular contingency that some day they may fail in their business owing to some unforeseen circumstances like the earthquake or a cyclone or some economic depression, when their assets may shrink suddenly, and they may then find themselves in a helpless and hopeless condition and unable to pay their debts and, therefore, they have to stand this risk, this inhuman risk of being put in jail for no fault of their own. Sir, it is not fair to subject the debtors of this country in their millions to this terrible and inhuman risk. It would not have mattered if only this risk had remained there unused and disused, but unfortunately it has been so badly used and taken advantage of by moneylenders and so very badly and inhumanly permitted by the judges that millions of the poor people are placed in this unhappy position.

Sir, we were charged during the course of the last few days' debate in one breath of not having any faith in our judges and in another breath of having a faith in our judges. Yet while our judges seem to me, sometimes, especially in criminal matters, to be a little more favourable to us than the executive, the judges in civil affairs seem to be, Sir, with due respect for your profession, seem to be very much on the side of the moneyed classes, very much on the side of the powerful and the influential and the privileged classes, very much on the side of the moneylenders. It is very difficult, Sir, anywhere in this country, to find many district Munsifs or judges who really can be said even to be impartial as between creditors and debtors. Invariably it has been found in our experience, namely, that of the peasants, that judges have weighted the scales against the debtors, against the poor, against the peasant, against the worker, and it is not an unfair criticism, it is not an unfair statement of the conduct of the Courts for me to have to state, on behalf of the poor peasants and workers in this country, that the poor peasants and workers in this country have lost their faith in the Courts, at any rate in the civil Courts of this country,—not because the peasants and workers are dishonest, not because the peasants and workers are not anxious to have justice, not because the peasants and workers themselves are not willing to be on the side of justice, but because justice has not been doled out by the so-called suppliers of justice, the Courts, to the poor peasants and the workers of this country. If in any other country they had been faced with an economic depression half as serious, half as bad as we have been faced with, the peasants there would certainly have received very much better and more lenient treatment than they have been permitted to receive from the hands of our Courts and judges in this country. Sir, in thousands and thousands of cases the moneylenders have allowed themselves to be panicky and to be harassed by bigger moneylenders and have rushed down upon the poor peasants and workers with their demands for the liquidation of their debts. Sir, what has happened in the innumerable villages we have, in the last five years, is not very dissimilar to a run on a bank that we come across now and then in the western countries, and yet what have those western Governments done, Sir, on such occasions? In Germany, when there was a similar run on the Reichsbank, the Government of the day issued a decree that the bank should close its doors and any creditor who insisted upon the payment of his total deposits was liable to be put in jail for a certain period. Again, Sir, in America there was a similar run and a disastrous run on banks in 1929 and 1930, and similar and equally momentous steps were taken by Government there to protect their banks and also to protect the depositors from committing economic suicide. But here in this country we have found our Government doing nothing at all, we have found our Government napping, we have found our Government snapping their fingers at anybody who dared to mention any idea. We have found our Government talking even of muddleheadedness when anyone had the courage or good sense to bring forward, for the consideration of this Government, any idea of economic planning or economic reconstruction,—which is the vogue of the day everywhere else in the world. At least, thanks to the experience that our Home Member has had in that agrarian province of the Punjab, we are faced now today with this very inadequate Bill. It does not go far enough at all. It does not touch even the fringe of the problem and it still keeps that obnoxious provision that a man may still be put into jail for not having been able to pay his debts. It still keeps that provision according to which, in the opinion of the Courts, a man may be put into jail for very flimsy and very trivial reasons. A man may not be able to find money in his own house, in his own village or in his neighbourhood and he may be thinking of going to some other village in his neighbourhood and bringing some money in order to pay off his debt. And yet, if by any chance, he goes beyond the particular geographical limit prescribed by the Court for its own jurisdiction, he is liable to be hauled up and put into jail. If it is found that after a due inquiry has been held by the Court the man has been unable to pay the decretal sum within the ten days that are prescribed here, it would be impossible for him to escape from the clutches of the jailor and of the civil debtors' jail. And yet my Honourable friend, Mr. Clow, looked a bit surprised when I said that this Bill does not even touch the fringe of the problem.

Why is it that Government are really so very solicitous about the needs of the moneylenders? Is it because the moneylenders, apart from being able to put their debtors into jail, are not able otherwise to recover their sums? If they are afraid that a man may try to alienate his property, it is still open to them to approach the Court to give an injunction so that all movable properties as well as the standing crops could be attached. It would still be open to them to approach the Courts for attaching the immovable properties of the debtors. It would still be open to them to see that any sale deeds that may be registered after the decree has been issued should be cancelled. If these provisions and if these safeguards are not enough to enable the moneylenders to recover their debts, then, Sir, the proper solution is not that the judgment-debtors should be sent to jail but that moneylenders should cease lending any money at all. Among the opinions circulated to us I find an opinion expressed by the Secretary of the Madras Provincial Co-operative Bank. This bank is the biggest moneylender in the whole of the Madras Presidency and even Raja Sir Anamalai Chettiar with all his crores and with all his credit at the Imperial Bank and other banks cannot claim to compete with this Co-operative Bank. And what is it that the Secretary of this bank says in regard to this particular Bill? He says that it does not go far enough. He goes even further and says that it is really barbarous in these days of 1935 to still keep on the Statute-book this wretched provision of putting civil debtors into jail. He maintains that there is no fear at all that, if this particular provision were to be removed, the debtors will not re-pay their debts and the creditors will not be able to recover their debts because, he says with great authority that nearly 70 crores of rupees is being borrowed every year for short term needs by peasants and is regularly re-paid. If Government want any other facts, they are themselves in possession of some remarkable facts. Let them look into the statistics they have got in regard to the operation of the Agricultural Land Improvement Loans Act. Then they will be able to satisfy themselves that agriculturists have not been found wanting in their willingness to pay. They have always paid their debts to the fullest possible extent if their resources have permitted them to do so. Now, Sir, what is it that has happened during the last four or five years? Even the Imperial Bank has been able to recover a large portion of its own investments amongst the agricultural classes simply because it had more sense and more wisdom to grant sufficient times wherever it was needed for its debtors to re-pay their debts. But, unfortunately, our moneylenders have not been in all cases actuated by merely commercial or financial motives. In many cases they have been actuated by personal motives of malice, of envy and of jealousy. They have for a long time been coveting the lands of the agriculturists and, except in the Punjab, they have not been controlled in their powers for acquiring the land of their peasants. They have been anxious to become landholders so that they may raise their social status in this country of peasant proprietors. And they have found their best chance in the economic depression. Once they found that their debtors were not in a position to pay, they jumped on them, began to harass them and succeeded in their ambition of obtaining as much land as possible for their own use and thus depriving the poor peasants of their lands which they had inherited from their forefathers, which are their only assets and which they have come to love. Some timely steps were needed at that time to protect these peasants from these moneylenders and from their ravages. And yet the Government of India as well as the Provincial Governments have kept themselves mum. They, however, called an Economic Conference in order to throw off this responsibility of having to deal with the agrarian problems and especially the financial side of them on to the shoulders of the provinces, so that the Central Government may not be harassed either by the Legislative Assembly or by any inconvenient public opinion. And what is it that the Provincial Governments have done? In the Punjab, I admit, something has been attempted to be done and they have passed certain laws which, if properly executed, might be able to relieve a portion of the agrarian distress. In the United Provinces as well as in the Central Provinces some action has been taken. In regard to the other provinces, however, we have had so far only a talk of introducing some Bills, ordering some investigations and attempting to do something to alleviate the distress of the peasants. Nothing more has been done and nothing more is likely to be done. In all these provinces we find that the moneylenders and all those who are dependent on them for their influence and for their return to the Legislatures are supremely powerful in the Legislatures and are not likely to allow any legislation, affecting adversely their interests and favouring the interests of the peasants, to be passed or to be approved. Even if some legislation had been passed as is the case in the Central Provinces and the United Provinces, Conciliation Boards had to be established and it is left to the decision of the Provincial Government whether timely action should be taken or not in appointing these Conciliation Boards. In the Central Provinces the Government have complained that they have not got sufficient money to appoint as many Boards as are needed. The peasants have been hard put to it to march on the Government House in order to ask for the constitution of these Conciliation Boards. These Conciliation Boards are not expected to simply cancel all the debts owing to the moneylenders by agriculturists. The Conciliation Boards are only expected to bring the two parties, the debtors and the creditors together and to bring about some sort of compromise between them so that the debtors might not be completely ruined. Even for such a laudable purpose the Government of the Central Provinces will not find money and the Central Provinces Government have had to ask the permission of the Government of India to devote some money out of the grant of one crore placed by the Government of India at the disposal of the Provincial Governments for the development of rural interests and the Central Provinces Government wanted to appoint four more Conciliation Boards out of this grant. At this rate, how many more years will it take in that Province for the peasants to gain even this little help and assistance from that legislation. If that is the state of affairs in a fairly advanced Province like the Central Provinces, and it is not very dissimilar in the United Provinces and the Punjab, then what are we to say of the plight of the peasants in all other provinces especially in Madras. No wonder that the Madras Revenue Board has, for once in all its life and career, committed the sin of expressing certain liberal views in regard to the peasants and their economic needs. The Madras Revenue Board has had the hardihood of imposing an enhancement of land tax upon district after district and even now proposes to impose another enhancement upon the Guntur District and it is carrying on resettlement operations in two other districts. Is this the time, Sir, when definite and strong and even revolutionary measures ought to have been taken by the Government of Madras as well as by other Provincial Governments, to relieve agricultural and economic distress, to think of imposing additional burdens upon the shoulders of peasants and workers? It is not only the Madras Government, it is not only the Provincial Governments, but also the Central Government which has been the culprit in this regard. In the last twelve years, even within the last five years how many crores of taxation have been imposed by the Central Government upon the shoulders of the peasants and workers? Their action is quite unconscionable. They have done it and yet the Honourable the Finance Member went the other day to Bombay and wanted to conciliate the monied classes, wanted to conciliate the industrial classes by offering them another hope, another promise, to fulfil which, of course, this Government never finds it very difficult although it would certainly not hesitate to disregard many more important and much needed assurances and pledges so far as the peasants are concerned. The Honourable the Finance Member would go to Bombay and assure them that if there were any surplus budget for the next year, he would take the earliest opportunity of utilising that surplus for the cancellation of the surcharge on income-tax. He would not think of the additional burdens which he himself and his predecessors have imposed upon the shoulders of the peasants, but he would think first of the moneylenders and the capitalists and the big industrialists who have been really growing fat, thanks to the Swadeshi movement, thanks to the Government of India and their anxiety to help only the rich and only the powerful and only the organised; he would remove the tax burden from off their shoulders.

[Prof. N. G. Ranga.]

[Prof. N. G. Ranga.]

I submit, Sir, that it is high time that this Government should try to do something for the peasants even at this late stage and they should try to incorporate the provisions of the Bill given notice of by my Honourable friend, Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, and by myself, and see that the poor agriculturists are placed at least on the same footing as the salaried employees are proposed to be placed, as the industrial employees are proposed to be placed and that this obnoxious provision of putting people into jail is completely done away with and removed from the Statute-book.

Sir, it has grieved me much to find that some Honourable Members, even on this side, got up, the other day and tried to oppose an absolutely inadequate Bill like this. If only I have been assured here of the presence of a sufficient number of Members on behalf of the peasants and workers and if only I had been sure of a sufficiently large number of people who are prepared to come here and speak in the name of the masses, I certainly would have opposed this inadequate measure. I would throw it away in preference to another Bill which would contain more suitable provisions and which would contain provisions for the abolition of the punishment of debtors by the way of sending people to jail for inability to pay their debts. But most unfortunately in this country, we have been obliged, thanks to the Government and its repressive policy, to go to the masses not with an economic programme, not with an economic mandate, but with a political programme which naturally precludes me from having the authority to say to the Honourable the Home Member that certainly the masses are not prepared to work a Bill like this and that they would like to have some other more suitable Bill. With these words, I support the motion for reference of the Bill to the Select Committee. I hope the Honourable the Home Member will try to go a little further and help the peasants in getting these two remedial amendments also incorporated into this. If he does so, I can tell him that although he has earned many a bad feeling from this side of the House, for all the things he has most unfortunately been obliged to do here, in his capacity as the Home Member, certainly there would be some peasants here and there who will thank the man who fortunately has had some experience of the troubles of the peasantry in the Punjab and who has come forward with some sort of Bill to ameliorate the condition of the peasants.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till a Quarter Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at a Quarter Past Two of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

STATEMENT OF BUSINESS.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : With your permission, Sir, I desire to make a statement as to the probable course of Government business in the week beginning Monday, the 16th September. You have already directed, Sir, that in that week the Assembly shall sit for Government business on Monday, the 16th, Wednesday, the 18th, and Friday, the 20th.

On Monday, the first business will be a motion for leave to introduce a Bill to remove certain doubts and to validate certain proceedings of the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad. Thereafter, business, if any, not concluded today will be taken up in the order in which it stands on today's list. Motions will then be made for taking into consideration and passing the following Bills :

- (1) The Central Provinces Courts (Supplementary) Bill,
- (2) The Provincial Small Cause Courts (Amendment) Bill,
- (3) The Indian Army (Amendment) Bill.
- (4) The Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill,
- (5) The Indian Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Bill,
- (6) The Repealing and Amending Bill, and
- (7) The Factories (Amendment) Bill.

Business not concluded on Monday will be taken on Wednesday in the order in which it stands on Monday's list. On Friday, leave will be asked to introduce a Bill to provide for the creation of a fund for the promotion of the cultivation, manufacture and sale of Indian coffee. Thereafter, there will be a debate on the motion :

"That the report of the Tribunal appointed to advise on the formulation of a financial settlement between India and Burma in the event of separation be taken into consideration."

THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL--contd.

AMENDMENT OF SECTION 51.

Mr. N. V. Gadgil (Bombay Central Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, my Honourable friend, Prof. Ranga, wants considerable relief for the agriculturists. I am bringing to the notice of the Honourable the Home Member that in the Bombay Presidency there is a special enactment called the Deccan Agriculturists' Relief Act. Under that Act agriculturists as defined in section 2 are absolutely immune from arrest in execution of a money decree. In the present Bill although it claims to apply to all industrial labourers and agriculturists also, no absolute immunity from arrest has been provided. I am making this suggestion to the Select Committee that is proposed to be constituted under this motion that those provisions which deal with immunity from arrest in the Deccan Agriculturists' Relief Act may be taken into consideration, and that is the only justification for my intervening in this debate. There are other provisions in the said Act which also provide that no immovable property of an agriculturist can be attached or sold in execution of decree unless it has been specifically mortgaged. If the object of this Bill, as I understand it, is to give relief to agriculturists and to industrial labourers, I think those very healthy provisions in that Act should be inserted here as they have been found useful by experience extending over 50 years, for the said Act was passed in 1879. I think that experience can be usefully utilised by the Select Committee and the real object of the Bill can be further improved if those provisions are incorporated in the Bill at the Committee stage.

[Mr. N. V. Gadgil.]

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : Sir, as I had already taken part in the discussion that took place in the Assembly during the last Session when the motion for circulation of this Bill was discussed, I shall not detain the House very long. Sir, the Bill before the House is a very modest, I should have said a very halting, Bill. It makes an inquiry obligatory upon the Courts before they permit debtors being detained in jail. It also prohibits imprisonment for failure to repay the debt, in those cases where it is proved that the debtor has no means of repaying his debt. But, Sir, the Bill permits imprisonments for failure to repay a debt where the Court feels that there is a likelihood of the debtor escaping from the jurisdiction of the Court, or where in the opinion of the Court the debtor has committed some fraud in order to avoid repayment of the debt, or in those cases where in the opinion of the Court the debtor has acquired property since he incurred the debt. Sir, I consider this Bill to be halting because I feel that it is wrong that a man should at all be put in jail for failure to repay his debt. It is a wrong thing for a man in the first place to pledge his personal freedom in order to secure a loan and it is also wrong for the State to help in the recovery of a debt by restraining a man's personal freedom. I also feel that when a man is imprisoned for failure to repay a debt we treat a civil wrong as a criminal offence. I hope, Sir, that when the Select Committee considers this Bill, it will widen the scope of the measure proposed by the Government of India. There are very few civilised countries at present in which people are sent to jail for failure to repay their debts; and I should like the Government of India to take up a bolder attitude and get rid of what I may call this barbarous practice.

Going through the opinions circulated among the Members, opinions expressed by Provincial Governments and various organisations, I think there is a good deal of support for the proposals of the Government of India. I was somewhat surprised to hear criticism of this Bill, not that it was inadequate, but that it would not achieve its object, from a Member of the Congress Party. My Honourable friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, who I am sorry is not present here, made some statements which I was unable to follow. He said that he did not believe in any kind of imprisonment for any kind of wrong. But he said : "So long as you imprison people for criminal offences you have no right to remove imprisonment as a punishment for indebtedness." I know that my Honourable friend belongs to a group of people who may be whole-hoggers, but I feel that I cannot accept his logic. I am against all kinds of imprisonment as a penalty, but I shall be quite content, if I cannot secure the wiping out of imprisonment as a penalty, to secure relief from imprisonment even step by step. Then my Honourable friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, said, that if you do not permit imprisonment for the failure to repay debt, you must at the same time compel banks or moneylenders to give loans where loans are necessary. I am not against compelling banks or moneylenders to give loans where loans are necessary. As a matter of fact, although not by law, by convention a doctor is bound to offer his services to a patient where he finds his services are necessary. So there is absolutely nothing wrong in compelling a man who has got money to give his money to any one who has the greatest need for it. At the same time, if I cannot secure a law compelling a moneylender to lend his money to the man who needs it, I am quite prepared to be content with having a law which will prevent at least imprisonment for the failure to repay a debt. A step is enough for me. The Honourable Member and several people who have expressed their opinions on the Bill have a fear that if imprisonment is not permitted for failure to repay debt, it will be difficult for people who need some loans to secure those loans. I am prepared to admit that there are occasions when loans become quite necessary; and I am prepared to admit also that if you take away the easy means of recovering debts, it will not be so easy to secure loans. At the same time in India we experience that many people take loans simply because there are moneylenders who are willing to offer loans or there are moneylenders who will make their moneylending business attractive. The Royal Commission which investigated this problem came to the conclusion that if we take the advantages and disadvantages of restricting credit, on the whole there is an advantage in restricting credit to the person who takes loans. I, therefore, feel, that on the whole the poorer classes of the people will not suffer even though their credit is restricted and even though they may sometimes find it difficult to get a loan where a loan is absolutely necessary. I feel that when the Bill is considered by the Select Committee the Select Committee will try to improve it in the direction I have suggested.

Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer (Bengal : European) : Sir, the intention of this Bill has been so clearly set out in the Statement of Objects and Reasons that I do not propose to detain the House for more than a very few moments to explain why I am supporting the motion of the Honourable the Home Member for reference of this Bill to a Select Committee. Even among the critics of the Bill there is general agreement as to its principles. We are all agreed that it would be a good thing to abolish imprisonment for debt, except in the case of a dishonest debtor : so that there is no real argument about the principle. If the Bill is passed I am quite sure that it will greatly help some day—not at once but one day—the problem of rural indebtedness ; because we all know how great a hold the moneylender has over the debtor nowadays when he can always threaten him with imprisonment.

[Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer.]

There are just a few small points that I should like to mention. First of all, it is very important that the Bill should contain, within it, a provision that it is for the debtor to show cause why he should not be imprisoned. That was one of the criticisms put up on the original proposals of the Government and we are all very glad to see that it has been incorporated in the Bill. The second point is that a slight amendment will probably be necessary to make it more difficult for a debtor to evade payment. At present, the debtor, if he wants to evade his creditors, may assign his property before he is actually brought into Court at all. We should like to see something in the Bill to make that impossible. Thirdly, there is the question of the kind of man who, though he does not go out of the jurisdiction of the Court, still is evading the Court's officers, so that they cannot serve a summons on him to show cause why he should not be committed to prison. That it does not provide for this is a weakness of the Bill which I have no doubt the Select Committee will very adequately deal with.

Lastly, there is the question of commercial debts. There are many people who support the principle of this Bill who are gravely anxious about it on administrative grounds. They feel that the fact that there is no provision in the present Bill for the retention of the existing powers whereby judgment-debtors in commercial transactions can be committed to prison is a very grave mistake. I am confident the Select Committee will deal very adequately with it.

These, Sir, are the only points that it is necessary to refer to now and I strongly support the motion for reference of this Bill to a Select Committee.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, before you put the motion, may I, with your permission, move an amendment :

" That in the motion to refer to a Select Committee the Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes, the name of Mr. J. A. Milligan be substituted for that of Mr. Chapman-Mortimer " †

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

" That in the motion to refer to a Select Committee the Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes, the name of Mr. J. A. Milligan be substituted for that of Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Sir, I have nothing more to say before the main motion is put.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

" That the Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes (Amendment of section 51), be referred to a Select Committee consisting of Mr. Sham Lal, Qazi Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Mr. M. Asaf Ali, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali, Mr. M. Ghiasuddin, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, Mr. J. A. Milligan, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri Lal Chand, Mr. A. G. Clow, Mr. J. M. Chatarji and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

The motion was adopted.

RESOLUTION RE REDUCTION OF IMPORT DUTY ON CARBON BLOCKS.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan (Member for Commerce and Railways) : Sir, I move :

" That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council to accept the recommendation of the Tariff Board that the import duty on carbon blocks, such as are ordinarily used for the manufacture of carbon brushes for electrical motors and generators, be reduced from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent. ad valorem."

Sir, the history of this matter is this. As the House is aware, the Tariff Board has power under Resolution No. 38-T (2) of the 28th March, 1925, to entertain applications directed towards obtaining the removal of tariff inequalities. Tariff inequality, I might be permitted to explain, means such inequality in the tariff duties upon finished articles imported into the country and on raw material out of which such articles may be manufactured in the country which lay a heavier burden upon the Indian manufacturer as compared with the manufactured article imported into the country. That is to say, if it is found that the raw material, which is manufactured in the country into a finished article, has to pay on the whole a heavier duty than the duty imposed upon the finished article, then the Indian manufacturer is entitled to claim that the burden should be equalised either by raising the duty on the finished article or by lowering the duty on the raw materials. Now, Sir, with regard to this particular matter which is now under the consideration of the House, an application was made to the Tariff Board with respect to the duties imposed upon the raw material required for the manufacture of carbon brushes. These brushes are used in electrical generators and motors, and the raw material required for the manufacture of these brushes consists principally of three articles, namely (1) carbon blocks, (2) flexible wire connecting these brushes with the rest of the machinery of the generator or the motor, and (3) patent cement which is used for connecting the wire to the brush. The duty payable on the finished article imported into India is ten per cent., the duty payable on carbon blocks out of which brushes are manufactured is 25 per cent., in each case ad valorem. The duty payable on the other two articles is 20 per cent. ad valorem. It does not necessarily follow that just because these duties vary and are at a higher rate on the raw material than on the finished article that there is an inequality of tariff. The inequality depends upon the proportion of the value of the raw material to that of the finished article. It may be that in certain cases the duty levied on the raw material may be higher than on the finished article so far as the rate is concerned, but when you take the sum total of the duty paid upon the raw materials which go to the manufacture of the finished article that sum total may be less than the duty on the finished article. In such a case, there would be no inequality of tariff. As a matter of fact, if the total of the duty paid on the finished article was found to be higher than the total duty on the raw material, there would be some advantage in that respect to the Indian manufacturer. If the House will bear with me, I might illustrate that with reference to this very article, carbon brushes, because if I give one or two simple illustrations, it would become easier for the House to follow the calculations made by the Tariff Board which are set out at page 3 of their Report. For the sake of illustration purely, take, Sir, the value of ten carbon brushes imported into India from outside, and let us assume that the landed cost of ten carbon brushes, without duty, is Rs. 50. Then, as I have explained, the duty being ten per cent. ad valorem, the duty payable in respect of these ten carbon brushes would be Rs. 5. Assuming that the value of carbon blocks required for the manufacture of ten carbon brushes were Rs. 12, the duty being 25 per cent. ad valorem, it would amount to Rs. three, and supposing that the cost of wire and cement required were Rs. five, the duty on these articles being 20 per cent. it would work out at Re. one. In this illustration, Sir, it would appear that the raw material required for the manufacture of ten carbon brushes would be liable to a total duty of Rs. four, and the finished article would be liable to a total duty of Rs. five. Therefore, there is no disadvantage to the Indian manufacturer. There is an inequality, but it is an inequality in favour of the Indian manufacturer, and no action in that case is necessary. Let me carry the matter a step further. Let us assume that the cost of carbon blocks required for manufacturing ten carbon brushes, were Rs. 16; then the duty at 25 per cent. would be Rs. four, and if the cost of cement and wire were Rs. five, the duty at 20 per cent. would be Re. one, and the total duty payable would be Rs. five on the raw material, and the total duty payable on the finished article being also Rs. five, there would still be no tariff inequality.

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

Now, Sir, let me go a step further. If we assume that the cost of the carbon blocks required is Rs. 20, the duty payable at the rate of 25 per cent. ad valorem would be Rs. five, and the duty on the other two articles, I mean cement and wire, being Re. one, the total duty payable on the raw material would work out at Rs. six, and the duty payable on the finished article being Rs. five in such a case there would at once be apparent a tariff inequality. In order to remove that tariff inequality, it would be necessary that the total duty of Rs. six payable on all these three articles should be reduced to Rs. five, and if on a consideration of the question it became apparent, as it has become apparent in this case for reasons that I shall give later, that it was feasible to reduce the duty only on one of these articles and not on all three of them, the reduction must take place in respect of one of these articles, that is to say, carbon blocks, from Rs. five to Rs. four. That is to say, the incidence of duty instead of being Rs. five on Rs. 20 at the rate of 25 per cent. should be reduced to Rs. four on Rs. 20, that is to say, it should be brought down to 20 per cent. instead of 25 per cent. This last illustration that I have given would show the method of determining whether there is or is not a tariff inequality and also of determining how it is to be adjusted. One more illustration would show how the adjustment would work out with different figures. Assume, that the cost of carbon blocks required for the manufacture of ten carbon brushes is Rs. 24, in that case the duty on the carbon blocks would be Rs. six, the duty on the other two articles would be Re. one, the total would be Rs. seven, and this Rs. seven, in order to remove inequality, would have to be reduced to Rs. five. And assuming that the inequality is to be adjusted out of the duty imposed on carbon blocks alone, the duty of Rs. six on Rs. 24 must be reduced to Rs. four on Rs. 24, that is to say, it would work out at the rate of 16.6 per cent. This is the method which the Board adopted, that is to say, they determined the total duty payable upon the finished article, deducted from it the duty payable upon wire and cement required, and held that the balance of the duty was the duty which should be imposed upon carbon blocks. They discovered that this adjustment necessitated that the duty on carbon blocks instead of being 25 per cent. ad valorem should be reduced to 15.8 per cent. ad valorem, and the recommendation, therefore, is that the duty should be reduced to 15 per cent., ignoring .8 per cent. in order to give a tariff equality in this respect. This finding of the Tariff Board was accepted by the Government and Government issued a Resolution No. 38-T-(10), dated the 23rd March, 1935, saying that this recommendation of the Tariff Board had been accepted by them, that the matter being a small one they intended to take action under section 23 of the Sea-Customs Act instead of by legislation, but that before doing so they would place this matter before this House for their approval. I may explain that the total amount of revenue sacrificed in reducing this duty from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent. would be Rs. 9,600. The figures are, the value of imported carbon blocks, landed cost, ex-duty is at present Rs. 96,000, duty at 25 per cent. is Rs. 24,000, the total is Rs. 1,20,000. If the duty is reduced to 15 per cent. the amount of duty would be Rs. 14,400 and the sacrifice of revenue would be Rs. 9,600. As I have submitted to the House, it was open to the Tariff Board to do one of two things. They could either have recommended an increase in the duty on carbon brushes to an extent which would have equalised the incidence of this duty with that imposed upon raw materials, or they could have recommended, as they have recommended, a reduction of the duty on raw materials, and, as I have said, they have recommended a reduction of the duty only in respect of carbon blocks. They have adopted this latter course for the reason which they explain in their Report :

"The bewildering number and variety of carbon brushes which are imported would have made it impossible for the Board to calculate the effect on other industries of raising the duty on the finished product. An increase of duty on carbon brushes would affect the cost of electrical machinery generally and thus create an undesirable burden on consumers."

On the other hand, the effect on the revenue, as I have explained, of reducing the duty on carbon blocks, would be very small, almost negligible. Then coming to the raw materials, they have confined their recommendation to carbon blocks alone, that is to say, they have recommended that the inequality should be removed by a reduction in the duty imposed upon carbon blocks alone without touching the flexible wire or patent cement, and for this reason. The customs authorities are satisfied that it would be quite easy for them to distinguish carbon blocks which are required for the manufacture of this kind of carbon brushes from other kinds of carbon blocks, so that the reduction would apply only to the raw material required for the purpose of manufacture of carbon brushes, whereas flexible wire and patent cement are required for a variety of purposes and, therefore, it would be difficult to reduce the duty in respect of these last two articles and confine it only to so much of them as are required for the purpose of manufacture of carbon brushes. That is the brief history of the matter. The House will realise that it is not a matter involving very large figures, but it is a matter in which those engaged in the manufacture of carbon brushes can put forward a legitimate claim that the burden should be equalised. With these observations, Sir, I submit this Resolution for the consideration of the House.

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi (Assam Valley : Non-Muhammadan) : On a point of information, Sir. May I ask how many factories there are in India which manufacture carbon brushes and how they will be affected by this reduction in duty ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : My information is that there are two fairly substantial companies and a large number of small manufacturers not having large factories, and how they will be affected is that to the extent of Rs. 9,600 a year they will be helped in the manufacture of carbon brushes. That is to say, their costs will be reduced to the extent of a total of Rs. 9,600 per year. It will be some small help to them in order to develop this industry. At present the cost of brushes imported is about Rs. 1,50,000. More or less roughly half are imported and half are manufactured in the country, and if this reduction of duty helps the Indian manufacturer he might possibly be able to capture the remaining half of the market.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Resolution moved :

“ That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council to accept the recommendation of the Tariff Board that the import duty on carbon blocks, such as are ordinarily used for the manufacture of carbon brushes for electrical motors and generators, be reduced from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent. ad valorem. ”

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : I rise to support the Resolution, and I am glad that the Honourable the Commerce Member has brought it up this Session. It ought to have been brought up last Session, but I do not know why it was not done so. The electrical manufacturing industry is rapidly growing in India. There are firms in Calcutta who are manufacturing electric fans, electric motors and electric dynamos and this little relief, however small it might be, will give them a chance to compete with the imported machinery. For a long time in India we cannot manufacture carbon brushes, although there is the necessary raw material—graphite to be found in India. It has only reached the stage of pencil manufacture in Madras and Calcutta and it has not gone to other articles that may be manufactured out of it. Therefore, the electrical manufacturing firms that are engaged in the making of dynamos, motors and fans will have long to depend on imported parts such as insulating materials, stampings, copper wires and so on and this relief, however slight it may be, is very welcome to the industry and, therefore, I support it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is that the following Resolution be adopted :

“ That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council to accept the recommendation of the Tariff Board that the import duty on carbon blocks, such as are ordinarily used for the manufacture of carbon brushes for electrical motors and generators, be reduced from 25 per cent. to 15 per cent. ad valorem. ”

The motion was adopted.

THE PAYMENT OF WAGES BILL.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I move :

“ That the Bill to regulate the payment of wages to certain classes of persons employed in industry, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration. ”

Sir, we have listened during the past week to much passionate eloquence from certain quarters of the House on the beauty of unrestricted freedom and we have listened to many earnest arguments from other parts of the House on the ugliness of unrestrained licence. I now proffer this Bill as what I trust will be a pleasant and harmonious interlude in which all parts of the House, I hope, will co-operate in the humane task of securing to the humble workman the prompt and full payment of the wages he has earned.

If I may be permitted, I would recall to the House very briefly the history of this measure. In 1933 a Payment of Wages Bill was introduced and by the direction of the House was circulated to elicit public opinion. The criticisms received were very voluminous and many of them were very cogent. The Bill was redrafted very considerably and was reintroduced in February of 1935. In his speech on the motion to refer the Bill to a Select Committee, Sir Frank Noyce indicated the chief points on which advance had been made in the new Bill. The Bill was criticised and was welcomed by the House generally speaking and was then referred to the Select Committee. As a result of the discussions in that body, further very considerable advances have been made and I cannot do better than follow Sir Frank Noyce's example and indicate the further advances made. In order to do so, I would divide the Bill into four parts, one part relating to the scope of the Bill, that is to the industrial undertakings which it covers, the second part covering those provisions intended to secure the prompt payment of wages, the third part covering those provisions of the Bill intended to secure that the wages shall be paid in full and the fourth part the administrative and other ancillary provisions intended to carry the Act into effect. I will deal with these in turn.

As regards the scope of the Bill, the Bill, as introduced into this House, applied in toto to all workers in factories, including 3 P.M. railway factories. The Bill, excluding those provisions relating to the prompt payment of wages, applied to workers on railways other than those in railway factories. Local Governments were given power to extend the provisions of the Bill, or such of them as they chose to select, with such modifications and relaxations as they thought expedient, to certain other industrial undertakings, namely, mines, quarries, plantations and workshops. In the debate on the second reading, the restricted scope of the Bill was severely criticised by several Honourable Members including my indomitable friends, Mr. Joshi, Prof. Ranga and Mr. Giri. The criticisms were very carefully considered by the Select Committee at considerable length and the result is that the Bill which is now before the House applies in toto to all factories and all railways. The Local Government has been given the power to extend the provisions of the Bill without relaxation or adaptation not only to mines, quarries, plantations and workshops but also to tramways, docks and oilfields. I think my Honourable friends who are keenly interested in this Bill will admit that this is a very considerable advance.

As regards the prompt payment of wages, the Bill as introduced required that the wages should be paid on the seventh day after the expiry of the wage period or, if the seventh day should be a holiday, on the next working day after the holiday ; and the Local Governments were given power to relax these provisions when they were satisfied that they were impracticable in regard to any particular industry. This provision, as I have already mentioned, did not apply to the railways. Again these provisions were attacked in this House by several Members, particularly in regard to the exemption of railways, and they were also attacked in con-

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the Bill to regulate the payment of wages to certain classes of persons employed in industry, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration.”

In addition to the amendments which are already on the agenda paper, an amendment has just been handed to the Chair by Mr. James and Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer, to the effect that the Bill be re-circulated for the purpose of obtaining further opinion thereon. The Chair would like to know why no notice of this amendment was given earlier, and if there is any objection to this motion being moved.

Mr. F. E. James (Madras : European) : Mr. President, I should like to explain to you and to take the House into my confidence as to why we were not able to give notice of this amendment earlier. The report of the Select Committee was only laid on the table last Monday week. The moment we received copies of the report we sent it to our constituents who are scattered throughout India down to the south and across to Burma. It is only during the last 24 hours that we have received overwhelming expressions of opinion from those of our constituents who are now being brought within the scope of the Bill as a result of the changes made by the Select Committee. They would like to have further opportunity of being consulted as to the present position and, therefore, I do ask that under the circumstances the House would not object to this motion and that you, Sir, will allow this motion to be moved in accordance with the Standing Orders and powers which lie in your hands.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I object to the motion that this Bill be re-circulated again because it is more than six years since the Labour Commission made this particular recommendation that legislation on these lines is needed.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : In view of the explanation given by Mr. James, I do not wish to object to the moving of this amendment, but I must inform him and the House that I shall oppose it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair is not quite clear whether the provisions of Standing Order 46 requiring two clear days' notice apply to a motion of this character, and the Chair is informed that there is no ruling on this point. However, the Chair does not wish to decide that question now. The Chair would assume that the provision requiring notice of two clear days does apply to a motion of this character, but, under the circumstances mentioned by Mr. James, and having regard to the fact that the Honourable Member in charge of the Bill raises no objection to the motion being moved, the Chair suspends the application of the Standing Order 46 assuming that it does apply to this motion.

Mr. F. E. James : Sir, I am deeply grateful to you for using your powers under the Standing Orders to permit me to move my motion and I would like to say immediately that the purpose of my motion is not the usual dilatory purpose. The Honourable Member in charge of the Bill has already given the history of this measure. The Bill was originally circulated in 1933 and a revised Bill was placed before this House in 1935 and referred to a Select Committee. That revised Bill was not circulated although it differed in a substantial measure from the original Bill which was circulated in 1933. Then, Sir, the Select Committee met and they signed their report on the 1st of June. Had that report been made public on the 1st of June, I should not have moved this motion. But the report of a Select Committee cannot be made public until it is laid upon the table of the House and that report was not laid on the table of the House until last Monday week, when we, for the first time, received a copy of that report. We found then that the report of the Select Committee and the Bill, as it emerged from the Select Committee, made most extensive and material changes in the Bill which had been referred to that Committee by this House during the Budget Session. I will just mention one or two main changes to illustrate what I am now claiming. In the first place, the Bill, as it emerges from the Select Committee, is now extended to a class of industrial establishments which was never originally contemplated when this Bill was first referred to the Select Committee. The report of the Select Committee, indeed, recommends the wholesale extension of the provisions of this Bill to large industrial establishments which never expected to be included within the scope of this Bill and which, therefore, were not consulted. I have already explained, that owing to the fact that the report of the Select Committee was in our hands only about ten days ago, it has been impossible for large scale industries with very important interests both in British India excluding Burma and in Burma which is included within the scope of the Bill, to send us their detailed views. We have only received certain telegraphic communications but we still await their views in detail. That is the first point. Then the second major change is that the wage-limit has been raised from Rs. 100 to Rs. 200 as will be seen from sub-clause (6) of clause 1. I am quite sure the House will readily recognise that whatever may have been the justification for this change—and I am not expressing any opinion on that now—the extension of this Bill from a limit of Rs. 100 per month to Rs. 200 per month makes a very substantial alteration in its scope. Then, Sir, the third major change refers to the matter of deductions. The title of the Bill suggests that it will confine itself to providing for the regular payment of wages due and to protecting the wage-earner from unfair deductions, and irregularities in payment. The Bill, however, goes further. The Bill, as it emerges from the Select Committee, certainly goes further than what was originally contemplated and it prohibits either directly or by implication certain practices with which there is nothing wrong inherently and whose prohibition ought to be the subject of special legislation. I would refer more particularly to sub-clause (1) of clause 7 and sub-clause (1) of clause 2 dealing with this matter of deductions. Then, Sir, there is a fourth major alteration that has been made to which I should like to refer for a moment. In fact, I might say that so many alterations have been made in the Bill by the Select Committee that it is very difficult to be precisely sure as to the interpretation of some of the new amended sections. But, like every other Act, of course, this Bill will, if passed, be interpreted without any reference to the intentions of its framers or to any assurances which may be given on the floor of this House as to the probable effects of any particular amendment. Local Governments, Inspectors appointed under clause 14 whoever they may be, authorities appointed under clause 15, appellate authorities specified under clause 17, will all interpret the provisions of this measure without any reference to what was said before. We, therefore, feel that it is most essential that the provisions in certain clauses of this Bill should be so framed as to make the intentions of the Government of India and the Assembly absolutely clear. They are certainly not absolutely clear in quite a number of clauses at the moment. We would also suggest that it is most important that certain clauses of the Bill should be so safeguarded as to prevent such injustice as might easily arise by the present interpretation which applies to some of these clauses, both to the employers and to the employees.

[Mr. F. E. James.]

Now, Sir, I have been perfectly frank to the House. We are not opposing this Bill. We agree with its fundamental principles. We support its underlying intention. But our difficulty is, that owing to the shortness of the time, we are not in a position to present adequately the views of our constituents, as we are face to face with a Bill which in many essentials is a completely different Bill from the Bill which went to the Select Committee.

I wish to emphasize once more that we do not wish to suggest that this is a dilatory motion and if there is any other way which my Honourable friend, the Member in charge of the Bill, would suggest, whereby we, at any rate and others who are interested in the Bill, might be given breathing space during which we can secure the views in detail of our constituents, constituents who did not anticipate being affected but who are now affected by the revised Bill, we should be quite prepared to accept such a suggestion. I, therefore, hope that the Government of India will not merely oppose this motion of mine on the ground that it is a dilatory motion because that is not our intention; I hope they will perhaps suggest some other method whereby the real object of my motion can be achieved without undue loss of time. Sir, I move :

“ That the Bill be re-circulated for the purpose of obtaining further opinion thereon.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Amendment moved :

“ That the Bill be re-circulated for the purpose of obtaining further opinion thereon.”

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : Sir, I had no intention of taking part in the discussion on the motion which was originally made by the Honourable Member in charge of the Department of Industries and Labour. I had spoken more than once regarding the general provisions of this Bill. I shall, therefore, as I am speaking now, confine myself mostly to the amendment proposed by my Honourable friend, Mr. James. Sir, the Mover of this amendment assures us that his amendment is not a dilatory one, at least his intention is not to delay the passing of this measure. But, Sir, the Honourable the Mover of this amendment will agree with me that if his amendment is carried, the passing of this measure will be delayed. In a matter of this kind, the intention is not of much consequence when the result is the same. I feel that the argument used by my Honourable friend, Mr. James, in support of his amendment, was that the Select Committee has extended the scope of this measure to certain other industries. The first item of extension which he mentioned was that the Bill, introduced in the last Session at Delhi, did not contain provisions relating to the application of this Bill to some industries. He said that those industries were of great importance. I do not wish to belittle the importance of the new industries which are included in this Bill. But I am quite sure my Honourable friend, Mr. James, will agree with me that if you consider the number of men employed in the industries to which the Bill of 1935 was intended to be applied and the number of people employed in the new industries to which the Bill now is extended, I am sure he will agree with me that the number of people is extremely small compared with the number of people to which the original Bill was intended to apply.

Mr. F. E. James : Question. 40,000 in oil alone.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : My Honourable friend, Mr. James, was not quite fair when he stated that these industries had absolutely no idea that the Bill would ever be applied to these industries. Mr. James knows very well that the Government of India had introduced a Bill for this purpose in 1933. That Bill gave power to the Local Governments to apply to any industrial undertaking the provisions of that Bill. Sir, I shall read that section :

“ The Local Government in any province may, after giving three months' notice of its intention of so doing by notification in the local official Gazette, apply the provisions of the Act or any of them subject to such relaxations as may be specified in the notification of the payment of wages to any class of persons employed in the industrial establishment.”

These industrial establishments had notice in the year 1933 and that Bill was circulated and on that Bill opinions were invited and expressed. I do not, therefore, feel, why my Honourable friend, Mr. James, should take any objection on the ground that these industries had had no notice at all. As a matter of fact, every industrial undertaking had notice. If these industrial undertakings were really interested in this measure it was their duty to study the measure and express their opinions on its provisions. I, therefore, feel, that the ground which my Honourable friend, Mr. James, has put forward before the House, namely, some industries which are now included in the Bill had no notice, does not hold much water. Then, my Honourable friend mentioned one or two other items which have been included in the Bill by the Select Committee. He mentioned that the original Bill applied to persons whose wages or salaries did not exceed Rs. 100 and the Select Committee now proposes that the Bill should apply to persons whose wages or salaries do not exceed Rs. 200 a month. May I ask my Honourable friend, Mr. James, how many persons there will be in the industries to which the Bill has to be applied whose wages vary between Rs. 100 and Rs. 200 a month ? The number of people who receive more than Rs. 100 in all these industries is extremely small compared with the total number of people engaged in these industries. It is, therefore, wrong on his part to say that they had no notice that the Bill will be applied to persons whose wages are more than Rs. 100 and less than Rs. 200 a month.

Then, Sir, he mentioned several other amendments made by the Select Committee. I feel that the amendments made by the Select Committee do not go beyond the scope of this Bill. The very fact that the Honourable the Law Member was the Chairman of the Select Committee should be a guarantee to my Honourable friend, Mr. James, that he would not have allowed amendments to be made which were outside the scope of this Bill. Sir, I am against his motion because I feel that this measure should become a law without any delay. If the House knows the full history of this measure the House will entirely agree with me. So far as I am personally concerned, Sir, I became interested in this subject many years ago while I was doing some social work in Bombay. It came to my notice that a great evil prevailed in the factories in Bombay as regards fining the workers who were engaged in the textile industry. As I believe in constitutional methods, when that evil came to my attention I wrote a letter to the Bombay Government asking them only to inquire whether such an evil existed, and, if it did exist, to find out the extent of that evil. Do you know what the reply of the Bombay Government was? The Bombay Government wrote to me a letter, that in their opinion the evil did not exist and they were not prepared to make any investigation or any inquiry unless the demand for that investigation and inquiry was a spontaneous one. I thought, Sir, the Bombay Government were waiting for a strike and a spontaneous strike to persuade them to make an inquiry into this evil. Then, Sir, I asked some questions in the Legislative Assembly as to whether the Government of India would inquire. It took me some time to persuade the Government of India to make an inquiry into this subject. Then the Government of India became willing to make an inquiry and issued circulars to the Local Governments asking for information and for proposals. I do not know exactly in what year the Government of India got the replies from the Local Governments, perhaps it was in 1926 or 1927. Then the Government of India, as we all know, takes time to consider proposals of this kind. They sat over the opinions of the Local Governments for a year. Then when we thought that the Government of India would frame proposals on the information received from the Local Governments and I inquired whether any legislation would be introduced on this subject, I was told that a Royal Commission was appointed to investigate labour conditions in India and, therefore, consideration of this subject must wait till the Royal Commission reported on it. Well, Sir, the Royal Commission reported on it in the year 1930 and today it is the latter part of 1935.

[Mr. N. M. Joshi.]

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : What happened in between ?

Mr. N. M. Joshi : If we now insist upon the Bill being passed without delay, are we showing any impatience? I hope the House will not consider that any delay can be tolerated in the passing of this measure. We are patient, but there should be and there is some limit to our patience. I, therefore, hope that the Assembly will not approve of the amendment proposed by my Honourable friend, Mr. James.

As regards the motion made by my Honourable friend, the Member in charge of the Department of Industries and Labour, I do not wish to speak at any great length. This Bill was considered in detail by the Select Committee and I am prepared to admit, that on the whole, although the Select Committee have made some very reactionary amendments, they have improved the Bill. I do not wish to go into the details of the proposals which we propose to make when the Bill will be considered in detail, but I hope that the consideration of this Bill will not be delayed.

Mr. V. V. Giri (Ganjam cum Vizagapatam : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, on this side of the House we associate ourselves with the points raised by Mr. Joshi in opposing the motion of Mr. James. I am really surprised that my Honourable friend, Mr. James, should have brought forward this motion. It has been pointed out that for the first time in the year 1933 a Bill of this character was brought before the Assembly. Before that the Royal Commission on Labour had gone into the details of this matter, and they stated in their recommendations clearly on page 241 as follows :

“ In our opinion, the law should be applicable to factories, mines, railways and plantations, and it should provide for possible extension to other branches of industry.”

I am sure, my Honourable friend, Mr. James, must have had enough notice that it was the intention of the Royal Commission on Labour to extend the scope of this Bill. Again, Sir, in February, 1935, when the Bill was brought before this House for reference to Select Committee, some of the Members who spoke on that occasion referred to this question, namely, that the Select Committee should consider the question of extension of the scope of the Bill to plantations and other things referred to by the Royal Commission. And, therefore, I cannot understand why Mr. James should have stated that they had no notice that an expression of view would be made in the Select Committee for possible extension of the Bill to industries other than railways and factories. Moreover, Sir, my Honourable friend, Mr. James, and his friends had time enough to send amendments to the Bill which is now before the House. I, therefore, feel that it is very unreasonable and unjust on the part of Mr. James to have brought forward this motion which is certainly a dilatory motion. So, on this side of the House, we oppose the motion made by my Honourable friend, Mr. James.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Sir, I should like to make just a few remarks on the speech by my most pertinacious friend, Mr. Joshi. He referred to what he regarded as the misdeeds or crimes of omission of the Government of Bombay in some remote year. I can assure Mr. Joshi and the House that if the Government of Bombay were guilty then of any omission then, they have since repented ; out of all Governments they have given the Government of India most assistance in the preparation of this Bill. They have carried out certain special inquiries which have been most valuable ; and they lent to us the services of Mr. Mehrban, regarding whom the Select Committee itself in its opening paragraph says :

“ We desire to acknowledge the valuable assistance given to us by Mr. Mehrban who attended our sessions and placed at our disposal his intimate knowledge on the subject of the payment of wages.”

Mr. N. M. Joshi : Sir, may I interrupt the Honourable Member just for a minute? Although I made certain remarks about the Bombay Government's unwillingness to make an inquiry when I first asked them to do so, I am prepared to agree with the Honourable Member that on the whole the Bombay Government have assisted the improvement of the Bill much more than any other Government have done.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Is there any Government in the whole of India which has done more for labour than the Bombay Government ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Again, he made some animadversions on the space of time which has passed between the publication of the Report of the Royal Commission and the introduction of this Bill. Mr. Joshi himself knows perfectly well that that is an unfair remark. We quite admit that it is four or five years since the Royal Commission reported ; but I would ask Mr. Joshi if he can point to any country in the world which in that space of time has put so much labour legislation on the Statute-book.

I come now to the amendment moved by my friend, Mr. James. I do not wish to agree entirely with his criticisms of the Bill, nor do I wish to controvert them. I do not subscribe either to Mr. Joshi's criticism or Mr. James' criticism. But I regret that I am not in a position to accept Mr. James' amendment. To re-circulate this Bill now would mean reference of the Bill again to a Select Committee. We could not give Local Governments and industrial concerns less than four months to consider these provisions, and I doubt very much if we can have a Select Committee meeting before next summer : it would mean a delay of a whole year. I do not wish to enter into the merits of Mr. James' case : I cannot controvert him entirely, as I have already admitted in my speech before he raised this question that the Bill had emerged from the Select Committee with very substantial advances in favour of labour. I should like to meet Mr. James and at the same time to meet Mr. Joshi as far as possible. There is a very large number of amendments tabled, which I would like to discuss with the Members most concerned tomorrow. If we go through these amendments one by one, I think we may save the time of the House, perhaps by a day or two. At the same time we might consider this question raised by Mr. James. It might be possible to pass the motion for consideration of this Bill today and then to defer further proceedings until the next Session. The Bill could then be taken up at the beginning of the Budget Session, and passed with the minimum of delay. But I regret that I am unable to agree to the motion for re-circulation.

Mr. F. E. James : Sir, I would ask your permission and the permission of the House to withdraw my amendment in view of the statement of the Honourable the Member in charge of the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Has the Honourable Member the leave of the House to withdraw his motion ?

Honourable Members : Yes.

The amendment was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Bill to regulate the payment of wages to certain classes of persons employed in industry, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration.”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does the House agree that the consideration of the amendments, of which notice has been given, be postponed until next Monday ?

Honourable Members : Yes.

AMENDMENTS TO STANDING ORDERS.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Amendment to Standing Orders.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar (South Arcot cum Chingleput : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : Sir, I move for.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : No speech is allowed.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Sir, I move for leave to amend the Standing Orders of the Legislative Assembly in the following manner :

“ That in Standing Order 17, after the words ‘ Questions, which have not been disallowed, shall be entered ’ the words ‘ together with their answers ’ be inserted.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to amend the Standing Orders of the Legislative Assembly in the following manner :

“ That in Standing Order 17, after the words ‘ Questions, which have not been disallowed, shall be entered ’ the words ‘ together with their answers ’ be inserted.”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Sir, I move that the proposed amendment be referred to a Select Committee.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the proposed amendment be referred to a Select Committee.”

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I don't want to make a speech, but I only want to say that I agree to the Select Committee. But I want to make it clear that reference to the Select Committee does not mean acceptance of the principle.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the proposed amendment be referred to a Select Committee.”

The motion was adopted.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadian Urban) : Sir, I beg to move for leave to amend the Standing Orders of the Legislative Assembly in the following manner :

“ That to sub-order (2) of Standing Order 7A, the following proviso be added, namely :

‘ Provided, however, that no Bill which has received the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council and has obtained a place in the ballot in a particular Session, is shut out from being introduced during that particular Session ’.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to amend the Standing Orders of the Legislative Assembly in the following manner :

‘ That to sub-order (2) of Standing Order 7A, the following proviso be added, namely :

‘ Provided, however, that no Bill which has received the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council and has obtained a place in the ballot in a particular Session, is shut out from being introduced during that particular Session ’.”

The motion was adopted.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : Sir, I beg to move :

" That the proposed amendment be referred to a Select Committee."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

" That the proposed amendment be referred to a Select Committee."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The next motion is the one standing in the name of Mr. Ghansham Singh Gupta. It is really to the same effect as the motion moved by Mr. Muthuranga Mudaliar. It is, therefore, barred.

The Chair suggests to the House that both these motions, the one moved by Mr. Muthuranga Mudaliar and the other moved by Dr. Deshmukh, be referred to one Select Committee. The Chair supposes that is agreeable to the House.

Several Honourable Members : Yes.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS TO THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON AMENDMENTS TO STANDING ORDERS.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to 4 P.M. announce that nominations for the Select Committee on the amendments to Standing Orders of the Legislative Assembly will be received upto 12 Noon on Monday, the 16th September, and the election, if necessary, will, as usual, be held in the Secretary's Room in the Assembly Building on Thursday, the 19th September, 1935, between the hours of 10-30 A.M. and 1 P.M. Under Standing Order 56 (2) of the Legislative Assembly Standing Orders, the Committee will be composed of the President, the Deputy President and seven Members elected by the Assembly in accordance with the principle of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Assembly will now adjourn till next Monday at 2-30 P.M. As His Excellency will address the Assembly in the morning, time has to be allowed to make the necessary arrangements. The Chair would suggest to the House that questions may be dispensed with on that day, otherwise sufficient time will not be left for the ordinary business of the day. Is that agreeable to the House ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : No, Sir. Questions are important. We have heaps of questions, and we want to get through them this Session.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : There will be nothing else done.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Only one hour, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Well, then, questions will go on as usual.

The Assembly then adjourned till Half Past Two of the Clock on Monday, the 16th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 16th September, 1935.

SPEECH DELIVERED TO THE COUNCIL OF STATE AND THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY.

His Excellency the Viceroy having arrived in procession with the Presidents of the Council of State and the Legislative Assembly took his seat on the Dais at Eleven of the Clock.

His Excellency the Viceroy : Gentlemen, once again it is my privilege as Viceroy to address Honourable Members of both Houses and to give a brief review of the general conditions affecting India, but before doing so, I wish to make a brief reference of a personal character.

Before I shall have an opportunity of addressing you again, my Government will have said farewell to a valued colleague, and the Upper House to one of its most distinguished Members. Field-Marshal Sir Philip Chetwode's term of office as Commander-in-Chief has been one of the most eventful within living memory for the Army in India, and I cannot let this opportunity pass without paying my heartfelt tribute to the value of the outstanding services that he has rendered to India.

In addressing the Members of the Legislative Assembly in January last I expressed the hope that local Governments and local committees would receive the support of all communities in celebrating the 25th anniversary of the accession of His Majesty the King-Emperor to the Throne, and that the princes and people of India would once more give proof of their devotion to the Crown and of their sympathy for those in need by responding to my appeal on behalf of a fund to commemorate the occasion in an appropriate manner. I am glad to be able today to acknowledge how magnificently my expectations have been fulfilled. From every part of India my Government received reports of the genuine and spontaneous exhibitions of enthusiasm which accompanied the Jubilee celebrations not only in the larger towns but also in small and remote villages. The efforts of a few misguided people here and there to mar the occasion only served to show how few such persons were, and how out of sympathy with the general spirit of the people of India, who everywhere were eager to show their loyalty and devotion to the Crown. The response to my appeal has been equally gratifying and it is evidence of the generosity of the princes and people of India that the total collections for the Silver Jubilee fund amount to the splendid sum of over Rs. 125 lakhs. This result could not have been achieved without good organisation and much well-directed effort, and to all those, throughout the length and breadth of the land, who have contributed in any way to the success of the Fund I accord my grateful thanks. It will, I am certain, be a cause of great satisfaction to His Majesty the King-Emperor to know that his Silver Jubilee will for all time be associated in India with so great an increase in the resources of institutions which bring relief to those in sickness and distress.

[H. E. the Viceroy.]

I now turn to Foreign Affairs. As regards Nepal, I would only say that 1934 added still another year to the long tale of unbroken friendship and mutual confidence which are traditional between India and this her only Asiatic neighbour within the Himalayan wall.

In another frontier field there are interesting developments to record. As the result of an agreement concluded with His Highness the Maharaja of Kashmir in March last, the Civil and Military Administration of the trans-Indus portion of the Gilgit Wazarat was taken over by the Government of India on the 1st of last month. The change, without diminishing the suzerain rights of His Highness, places undivided local control in the hands of the Government of India on an important sector of the Indian frontier. I am happy to be in a position to assure the House that the reorganisation has been completed without additional expenditure to Indian revenues.

Beyond the Gilgit frontier stands Sinkiang or Chinese Turkestan, the westernmost province of China. In this Province the situation continues to be obscure and uncertain. My Government learnt with concern of the distress caused by the recent civil turmoil in this friendly and important Province and the ensuing dislocation of the ancient commerce between India and China by the Karakoram passes. The Indian traders in Sinkiang have unfortunately suffered much hardship and loss both to life and property, but there are signs that the efforts of His Majesty's Consulate at Kashgar in their behalf are bearing fruit. Indeed one of the most affecting tributes of loyalty to the King-Emperor came from these very traders, who despite all hardships and losses in this distant land combined to contribute a sum of several thousand rupees to His Majesty's Silver Jubilee fund. Our sympathies are with the local Sinkiang authorities and with the Central Chinese Government in their task of maintaining order and control, a matter of no little neighbourly concern to India.

My Government have under active consideration the question of the improvement of trade facilities between India and Afghanistan in the light of the report of the Trade Delegation which visited that country from India in the spring of last year. In particular it is our desire, if possible, to devise means of lessening the difficulties to Indian trade created by the recent adoption by the Afghan Government of a State trade monopoly system.

His Majesty's Government and the Government of India have special relations of long standing with the independent rulers of the States on the Arab Coast of the Persian Gulf and have accepted special responsibilities towards them. In order to strengthen these ties and in view of the fact that the Arab Coast has acquired a new and increasing importance as a result of the establishment of the Imperial Airways route on that coast and of recent commercial developments, His Majesty's Government, with the concurrence of His Excellency the Shaikh of Bahrain, have now transferred to Bahrain their naval stations hitherto existing at Henjam and Basidu. His Highness the Sultan of Muscat, Their Excellencies the Shaikhs of Kuwait and Bahrain, and certain of the Trucial Coast Shaikhs have concluded agreements with the British Government, which facilitate the passage of the aircraft which form a link of ever-increasing importance in the Empire chain of communications—a link in which the Government of India have a vital interest. I shall always remember with pleasure my meetings with certain of the Arab rulers in the course of my recent journeys by air through their territories. Their loyalty to their ancient associations with the British Government and the Government of India was on that occasion expressed in the most marked manner, and they may rest assured that no Viceroy in India can fail to have their interest at heart.

The frontier province of Baluchistan has been the focus of world-wide sympathy on account of the terrible earthquake which, as Honourable Members are aware, recently overtook the city of Quetta and the surrounding areas and which caused a loss of life and destruction of property probably unprecedented in the history of this country. The outstanding feature of the scene of suffering and devastation that followed this catastrophe was the prompt and effective manner in which the troops of the Quetta garrison—officers and men—were organised for relief and rescue work. I had the privilege of paying them all my personal tribute of admiration during my recent visit to Quetta. I now take this opportunity again of expressing on behalf of the Government of India and myself our heartfelt sympathy with all those who have suffered and our deep gratitude to those, including the various relief organisations, who have spared no efforts to alleviate their suffering and losses; and, in this connection, I wish particularly to bring publicly to your notice the magnificent work that was done by the ladies of Quetta for whose untiring and devoted service it is difficult to find words of sufficient praise and appreciation. I must also make mention of the most generous way in which Local Governments, particularly of the Punjab, Bombay and the North-West Frontier Province, have responded to our appeal for help with staff, money and medical and other facilities and we are indebted to them and their officers for the efficient organisations set up by them for the reception and relief of refugees. My very sincere thanks are also due for the generous and world-wide sympathy that has been shown in response to my appeal for funds. It is evident that the damage which has been caused amounts to several crores of rupees, and we shall need all the money we can collect if we are to be able effectively to relieve the thousands who have been rendered homeless and destitute.

The problem of the delimitation of the undemarcated frontier between Burma and China to which I referred when I last addressed this House has advanced a stage nearer to solution. As the result of an agreement reached between His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and the Government of India on the one hand and the Chinese Government on the other hand by an Exchange of Notes, a Joint Boundary Commission, with a neutral Chairman nominated by the League of Nations, has been appointed to determine the southern section of the undemarcated boundary between Burma and Yunnan. The League has been fortunate in securing the services of Colonel Iselin of the Swiss Army as Chairman of the Commission. This officer has the experience of having successfully and impartially determined the frontier between Iraq and Syria, and is thus particularly well qualified to preside over the labours of the Commission on the Indo-Chinese frontier. The Commission hopes to assemble by the 1st December next and start operations immediately.

Whilst on the subject of Burma I would remind Honourable Members that when I addressed them in January last, I mentioned that the question of the trade relations between India and Burma after separation was the subject of conversations between my Government and the Government of Burma. These negotiations have now been concluded and the agreement which has been reached has been embodied in the Draft Orders in Council which were recently published for general information. These Draft Orders will in due course be laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution Act, and it would perhaps be inappropriate at this stage to discuss them in any detail. I would, however, say that they represent the agreed opinions of my Government and of the Government of Burma as to the régime which is best calculated to create an atmosphere in which the two countries may, during the period of transition, soberly and dispassionately consider the problems of their future relations.

[H. E. the Viceroy.]

I am aware of the deep interest which Honourable Members have consistently evinced, since the legislation of last year, in the position of Indians in Zanzibar. The general question is still the subject of discussion between the Secretary of State for India and the Secretary of State for the Colonies. The decision of the Secretary of State for the Colonies that, if specific cases of hardship alleged to have resulted from the operation of the Cloves Decrees, are brought locally to the notice of the Government of Zanzibar, they will be most carefully investigated by that Government and, if necessary, brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for the Colonies has already been announced. All that I can do at this stage is to assure Honourable Members of the unceasing vigilance and solicitude of my Government.

Honourable Members will remember that in the course of my last address to the two Houses of the Central Legislature I referred to the outcome of Mr. Menon's enquiries regarding the probable effects of the Marketing Bill, which had been gazetted in Kenya, on the interests of Indians. His report has since been published together with the comments of the Governors of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika. I also informed Honourable Members that in deference to the wishes of the Government of India the Kenya Government had agreed to defer progress with the Bill pending consideration of Mr. Menon's report. It was not to be expected that legislation, which had already been announced on the lines of that existing in the sister territories of Uganda and Tanganyika, and of which the primary object was to improve methods of marketing, would be abandoned. The Government of India, therefore, bent their efforts to securing such amendments in the Bill as would reduce the hardships and remove the apprehensions of the Indian trading community in Kenya. The provision of the Bill which evoked the liveliest criticism was that relating to the grant of exclusive licences. It was feared that if, as was originally proposed, the Governor-in-Council was entitled to issue exclusive licences without reference to the Legislative Council, there would be neither sufficient publicity nor adequate opportunity for discussing the question whether the issue of such licences was necessary or justified. In order to meet this objection the Government of Kenya have inserted a provision in the Bill to the effect that the application of the principle of an exclusive licence to any particular type of produce shall be effected by motion in the Legislative Council after 14 days' notice has been given. Apart from the question of exclusive licences, the chief anxiety of Indians was that the number of buying centres might be unduly restricted, and that they might be located at inconvenient distances from existing markets. In this respect the Government of Kenya had agreed to give an assurance that all important markets existing at present would be declared as buying centres. It is understood that the Government of Kenya have gone further and have inserted an amendment in the Bill itself providing that trading centres will automatically be markets under the Ordinance. Certain subsidiary amendments, such as the provision that reasons for the refusal to grant or renew a licence shall be recorded in writing, have also been effected. Above all a categorical assurance has been given both by the Colonial Office and by the Government of Kenya that the Bill is not racial in its intention and will not be racial in its operation. These are important safeguards. As Honourable Members are aware, the Secretary of State for the Colonies has agreed that the Bill should not be brought into operation until he has had an opportunity of considering it as passed, if necessary, in consultation with the Secretary of State for India. The way is, therefore, still open to further representations by us, should these become necessary.

A subject of considerable general interest and importance on which I should like to dwell is the activities of the Indian Research Fund Association. The Association depends for its activities primarily on funds provided by Government. The Central Legislature is represented on its Governing Body by two members elected by the Legislative Assembly and one member elected by the Council of State, but I am not sure whether the nature or extent of the work done by the Association are widely known. This must be my excuse for referring to the subject.

I think I am correct in saying that the Association which was founded in 1911 was the first organisation of its kind to be constituted in the British Empire; the Medical Research Council in England was started only during the Great War. An increasing degree of public interest is being directed towards the graver diseases which afflict our country, such as malaria, kala-azar and cholera. In kala-azar notable success has been achieved through investigations made by a special Commission appointed by the Association and through ancillary enquiries which it partly financed. As a result, this disease which at one time seemed so menacing a problem in the Eastern parts of India may now be said to have been brought definitely under control. During more recent years the problems associated with cholera have been receiving intensive study, and I am informed that there is considerable hope that the enquiries now being carried out will throw new light on many of the puzzling features of this formidable epidemic disease. Malaria is a disease of more widespread incidence and presents more varied problems. I need hardly remind Honourable Members that it was an officer of the Indian Medical Service who discovered how the disease is transmitted and thereby pointed out the course of subsequent investigation. It is, therefore, in the fitness of things that India should continue to take a leading part in the investigation of malarial problems. The Malaria Survey of India organised by the Indian Research Fund Association has been at work for years past and has achieved notable results. As an illustration of its activities I may add that, at the moment, one of its parties is engaged in a survey of Quetta and its environments where malaria has been, and is, one of the major problems of public health.

[H. E. the Viceroy.]

All of us, perhaps, are familiar by now with the term "deficiency disease" and all that it connotes. The Research Fund Association has been for long cognisant of its fundamental importance and among its most notable achievements are the researches in nutrition carried out in Coonoor by Sir Robert McCarrison who has earned a world-wide reputation and has brought credit to himself and to India. The results of researches carried out under the auspices of the Association are published from time to time in the Indian Journal of Medical Research and the Records of the Malaria Survey—publications issued under its authority—but for the convenience of the general public non-technical articles are also issued periodically to the lay press.

The account that I have given of the activities of the Association has had to be brief. It must not be regarded as exhaustive. But if it should serve to focus interest on a branch of research which is of the utmost importance to the welfare of the country, my object will have been served. For interest begets sympathy and sympathy encouragement. The lot of the research worker is often to miss both, because of the highly technical nature of his investigation and the comparative infrequency of dramatic discoveries. But these latter, when they come, are the culmination of years of patient toil by men whose normal reward is only the satisfaction that comes of duty conscientiously done. Our more enlightened age should at least lend them the encouragement of a public consciousness of the essentially cumulative character of scientific discovery.

Honourable Members will be interested to hear of a recent decision taken by my Government about the disposal of our surplus stocks of quinine. Although Public Health is a transferred provincial subject, the Government of India decided, some time ago, that they should maintain a reserve of 150,000 lbs. of this drug in order to meet possible emergencies. The recent distressing experience of Ceylon where the incidence of malaria on an unprecedented scale last year rapidly depleted locally available supplies has emphasised the wisdom of this decision. The surplus to which I have referred represents the stock of quinine in the possession of the Government of India over and above this reserve. The question of its disposal has been engaging the attention of my Government for some time past. Considering the constitutional position, we were under no obligation to distribute it to Local Governments below the prevailing market rates. Nevertheless in 1932 Local Governments were offered supplies, in addition to their normal annual requirements, at a price lower than the cost of production, so that they may be enabled to extend "quininisation" of the people at a smaller cost than would be incurred if these additional requirements were obtained at current market prices. This scheme fell through mainly because Local Governments found themselves unable to buy the entire surplus stock with sufficient rapidity even at the reduced price. The Government of India then endeavoured, with the full consent of past Public Accounts Committees, to sell this surplus to trade agencies, not with a view to financial profit but in order to convert into cash a commodity for which there was no effective official demand and thus make available funds that might be utilised for some useful purpose of public benefit. These efforts not having met with appreciable success, it was decided recently to distribute 45,000 lbs. free to Local Governments subject to the condition that this amount will be distributed free over and above the quantities which Local Governments may now be distributing at their expense. The amount which is proposed to be distributed comes to more than half the available surplus, which at the end of June last was only 79,000 lbs. and represents, at the current market price of quinine, a gift of Rs. 10 lakhs to the provinces. It is hoped that the bulk of this will reach the masses in the rural areas and supplement, in the field of public health, the assistance that the contribution of one crore announced by the Honourable the Finance Member during his last budget speech was designed to provide towards rural reconstruction.

You will, I think, expect me to make some mention of a matter which, particularly at the present time, is of great public interest. I refer to India's foreign trade. Nine months ago I ventured to express some degree of cautious optimism in spite of the disabilities under which international trade was then labouring. It is a matter for regret that world conditions still show little sign of the long awaited recovery. On the contrary, yet another of our most important markets, namely, Italy, has been obliged to impose a system of drastic control over imports, in order to protect her foreign exchange position. Nevertheless, I feel that I am justified, so far as India is concerned, in repeating that note of optimism. India's exports of merchandise for the first four months of the present trade year show an increase of more than 4½ crores over the figures for the corresponding period of 1933, and though they show a comparatively small increase of 1½ lakhs over last year's total, it must be remembered that 1934 was marked by exceptional purchases of raw cotton by Japan. On this one head of our trade accounts alone, namely, cotton purchase by Japan, there has been a decrease of over 3½ crores in the present year. Omitting this exceptional item, India's export trade in other commodities has improved by 3 crores in comparison with last year. Honourable Members may be interested more particularly in the results of our trading with Germany and Italy—countries in which the most stringent measures of control have been imposed. In the case of Germany our information is based on the reports of our Trade Commissioner in Hamburg, who has made a critical examination of the German import statistics. Mr. Gupta informs us that in the last quarter of 1934 the balance of trade was against India to the extent of 2½ per cent. In the first quarter of 1935 the balance was even, showing an exchange of goods valued at 26 million Reichsmarks. For the second quarter of 1935 the balance has again swung in India's favour and Germany has imported from India goods valued at 31 million Reichsmarks against exports to India of 24 million only. Again, in the case of Italy, contrary to what might have been expected from the new and stringent system of import control, our exports in the first four months of this year have fallen off by 6 per cent. only.

I quote these figures in no spirit of complacency. My Government are fully alive to the dangers with which the course of international trade is now beset and they will continue to watch the situation with the most anxious care.

Before I leave this subject, may I bring one circumstance to the notice of those who may have found little consolation in a comparison of the trade figures of pre-depression years with those of the present day? I would ask the currency and exchange, and for making the sterling remittances of the Government of India. The Gold Standard Reserve and the Paper Currency Reserve were on that date amalgamated and transferred to the control of the Bank. The Bank is at present continuing to issue Government of India currency notes in the form with which the public is familiar. In due course these will be replaced by the Bank's own notes. The Bank did not assume its full responsibilities as head of the credit organisation of India until the beginning of July when the scheduled banks were required to make their deposits. From that date the Reserve Bank became a central bank in the full meaning of the term and on 4th July declared its bank rate for the first time.

[H. E. the Viceroy.]

In March last the Legislature approved of the proposal that out of last year's revenue surplus a sum of Rs. 113 lakhs should be distributed to the Provinces for the purpose of improving the conditions of life in the villages. This action, I am glad to say, has been universally welcomed throughout India. Rs. 15 lakhs of this grant were set apart for assisting the co-operative movement. The Local Governments were invited to make recommendations as to the most profitable use to which the balance could be put, and their proposals have been scrutinised by the Government of India before their approval was accorded. A statement has recently been laid on the table of this House which shows the objects to which the money is being devoted. The objects are various, since they are adjusted to the needs of the different parts of the country. Out of the total grant, over Rs. 25 lakhs will be spent on village water-supply and irrigation, nearly Rs. 19 lakhs on schemes for general improvement in the villages, Rs. 12 lakhs on the improvement of village roads, and Rs. 10 lakhs on sanitation and medical work. A sign of the times is that in certain Provinces money will be spent on arrangements for broadcasting instruction and entertainment in the villages. My hope is that this grant will prove the beginning of a steady advance throughout India in improving the conditions of life in the villages in which nine-tenths of the population live.

Since I last addressed you the Government of India Bill has received the Royal Assent and has become the Government of India Act, 1935. A great and difficult task has thus been completed by Parliament, after an expression, direct or indirect, of the views of all sections of the peoples of British India and prolonged consultation with the Princes of India. Here and in England views of every nature, extreme or moderate, advanced or conservative, have been expressed. We have all sought to obtain this provision or that in the Constitution and we have all sometimes succeeded and sometimes failed. It is the business of men of practical wisdom now to forget the individual issues upon which opinion has differed and to consider the sum and substance of our total achievement. On such a consideration we must, I think, conclude that the gain to India is great.

I do not, therefore, on this occasion desire to invite your attention to any of the particular provisions of the Act, but I would ask you to consider two broad features of the new Constitution and desire to give you, if I may, one word of advice.

It is a matter of great satisfaction to me that during my Viceroyalty there has been made possible a consummation which many of the great rulers of India through the ages desired to see but did not see and which was hardly in sight when I myself took office over four years ago. I mean that the Act for the first time in the history of India consolidates the whole of India, State and British, for purposes of common concern under a single Government. India for the first time can become one great country.

The second broad feature, in contrast with the existing Constitution, is that the Governments of India under the new Constitution will draw their authority by direct devolution from the Crown just as Dominion Governments do. They will cease to be agents and will stand forth as full political and juristic personalities exercising the functions of His Majesty.

The first feature to which I have referred is the consummation of age-long efforts, not only of the British Government but of all great Rulers in India from Asoka onwards. The second feature is the necessary preliminary and best augury for the full attainment by India of the political character which the most developed of His Majesty's dominions enjoy.

My experience of India now extends over two decades, and I have also had no inconsiderable experience of the theory and practice of political life in other parts of the British Empire. It is out of that long and full experience and out of the genuine sympathy which I have ever felt for India's political aspirations that I give you this word of sincere advice. Nothing is to be gained by working the Constitution in a spirit of mere destruction or by the abandonment of constitutional methods. The new Constitution contains within it great potentialities of development. Everything is to be gained by taking up the new proffered rôle of a consolidated India and a full political personality and by developing the Constitution till it, in due season, sheds those limitations and restrictions which have been designed for the period of its growth. The abandonment of constitutional methods has never led us anywhere in the past and will never lead us anywhere in the future.

It will not be my task to introduce the new Constitution, nor to join with you in its constitutional and, I trust, harmonious development. I shall hand over that task to one who comes equipped with great technical knowledge of our new Constitution, for he has himself been a builder in the construction of your policy, one who will I know bring to the service of the Crown here the fullest sympathy with your aspirations and ideals. I feel the greatest confidence that, when he comes to the stage which I have now reached in my life here as Viceroy he will look back on a period fraught with great good to the fortunes of India, enriched by the same kindliness which you will assuredly accord to him as you have so generously accorded to me.

Your thoughts are no doubt occupied, as mine are, by forecasts of the steps by which and at which the new Constitution will be brought into operation. It is impossible for me at this stage to give any indication of precise dates. But, as you are no doubt aware, all branches of my Government and all the Provincial Governments in India are actively and industriously engaged on the problems which must be solved before the new Constitutions in Provinces and at the Centre can be introduced. We shall spare no efforts which will enable us to introduce the new order of things at the earliest possible date.

[H. E. the Viceroy.]

In conformity with this intention, the Committee appointed by His Majesty's Government to report on the delimitation of constituencies and connected problems will assemble in Simla before the end of the present month, that is within two months of the date of the Royal Assent. We have secured as the Chairman of that Committee an electoral authority of great eminence in Sir Laurie Hammond, while with him will be associated two Indian members whose experience as High Court Judges ensures that judicial outlook and strict impartiality which are so essential. The problems which face the Committee are of great complexity, but I am confident that they will prove equal to the task.

In conclusion I wish to make an appeal, which is not new, but which is uppermost in my mind at the present time. No system of Parliamentary Government can be expected to work successfully and for the benefit of the people as a whole without the existence of a spirit of accommodation and a willingness on the part of all sections of the people to prefer the wider interests of the whole body-politic to the narrower interests of their own particular section. As I said not long ago in a speech at Allahabad, the shadow of communal strife is hanging at this time over India. It is a shadow of evil portent and a cause of constant anxiety not only to all Governments in India but to all thoughtful and responsible people. If India is to enter on her new Constitution in conditions favourable to its successful development, that shadow must be dispelled and I would appeal to all those who love this country and desire to see it well governed by its own people to show a spirit of tolerance and goodwill and to work for the creation of greater friendliness among all communities.

On Thursday last the Legislative Assembly to the regret of my Government and myself refused by a majority to take into consideration the Bill to give permanence to the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, and to certain provisions of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932. I had hoped that the Assembly would share with Government the responsibility for this measure. Their refusal to do so has transferred the responsibility to me and after taking time to consider all the implications of action or inaction on my part I have decided, in discharge of my responsibility for the safety, tranquillity and interests of British India, to give the Assembly an opportunity to reconsider their decision, and the Bill will be brought before that House again in a recommended form. The arguments for and against the Bill have already been discussed at great length on the floor of the Legislative Assembly, and I shall, therefore, state as briefly as possible my own reasons for considering the passage of the Bill to be essential. We are on the eve of important changes in the Constitution of India. Within the next two years the primary responsibility for the maintenance of peace and good government in the Provinces will be transferred to Ministries responsible to the Legislatures. I consider it my imperative duty to use such powers as I possess to secure that that transfer takes place in the most favourable conditions possible to the stability and success of these new Governments. Dangerous subversive movements are still active in the country. Communal unrest as I have already said is unfortunately a more serious danger than for many years past. The experience of all Local Governments has been that the provisions of this Bill give them powers which are effective in keeping these movements in check and in preventing the publication of incitements to communal dissension. They are unanimous in considering the retention of these powers essential. I am myself satisfied that they are right and that I would be failing in my duty if I did not use my special powers to secure that these Governments have these powers during the remainder of the present Constitution and that the new Governments shall also have them when they take over the reins of Government.

And now I leave you, Gentlemen, to continue your labours of this present Session, and I do so with full confidence that you will continue to maintain the traditions and dignity which have always characterised the proceedings of both our Legislative Chambers. (Loud and Prolonged Applause.)

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

INCONVENIENCES TO PASSENGERS AT RAJA-KI-MANDI RAILWAY STATION IN AGRA.

372. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that Raja-Ki-Mandi railway station in Agra, on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway line, is the only station in the heart of the city ?

(b) Is it also a fact that even mail trains stop there ?

(c) Is it further a fact that the platform at that station is very low ?

(d) What is the stoppage of trains at the above station ?

(e) Are Government aware that most of the Agra passengers are put to great inconvenience on account of the lowness of the platform and short stoppage ? If so, what steps, if any, do Government propose to take to remove these inconveniences ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) The down platform is one foot and the up platform eleven inches above rail level.

(d) Two trains stop for two minutes each, six stop for three minutes each, two for five minutes each, one for eight minutes and one for ten minutes.

(e) I am bringing the Honourable Member's suggestion to the notice of the Agent, Great Indian Peninsula Railway, for consideration.

NON-EXISTENCE OF LABELS ON COOLIES INDICATING LUGGAGE FARE AT THE AGRA FORT RAILWAY STATION.

373. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that the coolies at both (East Indian Railway and Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway) the Fort Stations in Agra wear no label indicating their luggage fare ?

(b) Are Government aware that passengers are put to great inconvenience on account of the non-existence of the labels indicating luggage fare ? If so, what steps do Government propose to take to remove this inconvenience to the travelling public ?

M. P. R. Rau : (a) There is only one Agra Fort station which is worked by the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway. I understand that the coolies at that station wear no such label.

(b) The Agent has reported that the inconvenience has not been brought to his notice. He has been asked to consider the desirability of arranging for such labels.

WANT OF A BRIDGE AT THE RAILWAY CROSSING NEAR THE AGRA CANTONMENT STATION ON THE AGRA-JOGNAR ROAD.

374. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that there is no bridge at the railway crossing near the Agra Cantt. Station of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway on the Agra-Jognar Road Line ?

(b) Is it also a fact that people are put to great hardship on account of the above fact ?

(c) Have Government received any representations from public asking them to construct a bridge there ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to lay those representations on the table of this House and also state the date of each representation together with the steps taken on them ?

(e) Have any complaints been lodged or legal steps taken by any member of the public against the railway authorities in connection with the hardship ? If so, when, by whom, and with what results ?

(f) What steps do Government propose to take to remove this hardship ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Enquiries are being made from the Railway Administration and a reply will be laid on the table in due course.

EXEMPTION OF DISABILITY PENSIONS FROM THE INCOME-TAX.

375. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : Is it a fact that disability pensions are exempt from the income-tax ? If so, to what extent ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Yes, pensions granted to members of His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air Forces, British or Indian, or of the Auxiliary Force, India, or of the Indian Territorial Force, or of the Royal Indian Marine, who have been invalided from service with such forces on account of bodily disability attributable to, or aggravated by, such service are totally exempt from income-tax.

DOUBLE DISABILITY WAR PENSION CASES.

376. *Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal : (a) Is it a fact that the pension of an officer, suffering from double disability, one due to service in the Great War, and the other due to post war service, shall be specially assessed, vide paragraphs 40 and 81 of the Pension Regulations, India ?

(b) Is it a fact that the post war service in Cantonments in India is included in the term "Post War service" ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). Yes.

PROPAGANDA AGAINST INDIA THROUGH FILMS LIKE "BENGALI" AND "INDIA SPEAKS" IN EUROPE AND AMERICA.

377. *Dr. P. N. Banerjee : Will Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken to prevent the spread of false propaganda against India through scandalous films like 'Bengali' and 'India Speaks' in Europe and America ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : As I stated in reply to questions on March 27th last, the Government of India addressed the Secretary of State in this matter, pointing out that censorship in India is conducted so as to exclude from exhibition films which are calculated to wound the susceptibilities of any foreign nation and that, for that reason, the Government of India were of opinion that India should be accorded reciprocal treatment in this matter whenever necessary. We have since heard from the Secretary of State that there is no official censorship on films in America, but there is an unofficial arrangement whereby producing companies in Hollywood do, in their own interests, make a practice of seeking advice on the suitability for Empire audiences of films which they propose to produce. This is in the interests of the companies themselves because the Empire market is a very valuable one. It is most unfortunate that this arrangement did not prevent the production of the offensive parts of the two films mentioned by the Honourable Member. But the Government of India have been informed that the producers of the film "India Speaks" have taken to heart the adverse reception of that film both in America and elsewhere and its ban by the British Board of Censors, whose lead is usually followed by censors in other parts of the Empire, and will be reluctant to allow any similar films to be released in future. As it was believed that the film was no longer being produced and as there is no official censorship in America His Majesty's Government felt that no useful purpose would be served by making representations to the Government of the United States of America.

2. The film "Bengali" is reported to be the same as the film "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" which has been exhibited in many places in India without objection. Certain portions of the film were excised by the Madras and Bombay Boards of Censors and, as a result of representations made by His Majesty's Government, the publishers of the film agreed to excise some portions from the copies of the film issued for exhibition in England. The copy shown in Vienna, to which references were made in the Indian Press, seems to have been an original copy and, by the time that the representation made by His Majesty's Government reached His Majesty's Ambassador in Austria, the film was at the end of its run in Vienna and the Ambassador thought that it would then be neither advisable nor appropriate to make any representation to the Austrian Government.

3. I should like to assure the House that the Government of India share the resentment of Honourable Members against the exhibition of films picturing India in an unfavourable light. They hope that the arrangement at Hollywood will in future prevent the production of such films at that place and they will take such steps as are possible to stop the exhibition of any such films both in India and elsewhere whenever they come to notice.

Dr. P. N. Banerjee : Are Government aware that a third film entitled "Everybody Loves Music" has recently been exhibited in which Mahatma Gandhi has been depicted as dancing with a European woman?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have not heard of it. Where was it exhibited?

Dr. P. N. Banerjee : In America, produced most probably by the "American Company".

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : If the Honourable Member will kindly give me details, I will make enquiries.

Dr. P. N. Banerjee : Will Government consider the desirability of banning all "American Company" films if our representations do not bear fruit?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think that arises. Our representations have so far proved fruitful. The Honourable Member means banning of entry of all American films into India?

Dr. P. N. Banerjee : American films issued by this Company, the American Company, which issued "India Speaks", "Bengali" and the third film.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : They are all of the same company?

Dr. P. N. Banerjee : Yes, this particular company,—the "American Company".

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I will consider it.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is the Honourable Member aware of the fact that a new film is projected which is supported by missionaries in this country, depicting the scandalous habits of the people, the disgraceful religions of the people? May I ask the Honourable Member if he will be good enough to make enquiries? I am obliged to the Honourable Member for the full and sympathetic answer he has given.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not aware of that. Is it the Honourable Member's point that the film is being manufactured in India?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Outside India, but supported by the missionaries in this country.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : If the Honourable Member will give me full details, I will make an enquiry.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Will the Honourable Member be pleased to state whether there is no law by which objectionable film or picture can be banned in America?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : We have made enquiries, and we are told that there is no official censorship there.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Apart from official censorship, if an obscene picture is put on boards, is there no law by which that film can be banned?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not sure about the American law, but I understand that there is no official censorship. All that happens is that Hollywood producing firms regularly consult our Consul at Los Angeles or somewhere and take his advice as to the suitability of films for British Empire audiences.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What does the American Government themselves do in case they desire to prohibit any picture on political or moral grounds? Is there any method whereby they can do this?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : As far as I know, there is no censorship at all.

INDIANS EMPLOYED IN, AND INDIA'S CONTRIBUTION TOWARDS, THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

378. *Dr. P. N. Banerjee : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the number of Indians employed in the different departments of the League of Nations during the recent years; and

(b) the amount of annual contribution made by India to the League of Nations as compared to the contributions of other countries?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) During recent years the number of permanent Indian employees has been seven. The number has recently been reduced to six by the death of Mr. Chatterjee, in whose place, however, another Indian will, it is believed, be appointed. There are also understood to be about three temporary Indian employees, but temporary employees are not shown in the staff lists.

(b) The Honourable Member will find complete information on pages 1264-1265 of the League of Nations Official Journal, 15th Year, No. 10 (Part II) of October, 1934, a copy of which is in the Library.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : With regard to clause (a), what is the number of Britishers employed in the office of the League of Nations ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have given a complete list twice in answer to questions since I came into this House. All the names and nationalities will be found in the pages of the list I have referred to.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the speech of His Highness the Aga Khan in which he declared that Indian criticism of the League was growing and complained of the League's lack of universality, want of representation of Indians on it and also the magnitude of the contribution made by India to the League of Nations ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have not seen it, Sir.

SELECTION OF DELEGATES TO THE SESSION OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

379. *Dr. P. N. Banerjea : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the method so far adopted in selecting delegates to the sessions of the League of Nations ?

(b) Are Government prepared to consider the desirability of selecting delegates in future on the recommendation of this House ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) The delegates are appointed by the Secretary of State acting in consultation with the Government of India.

(b) No.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Is it not a fact that the representatives of other Governments are also representatives of the Legislatures of those countries ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I do not believe that is correct, but I have not got full information.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Will there be any harm if the Assembly be consulted at the time of sending the delegates ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The difficulty is that the delegate who goes there is supposed to represent the views of the Government of India and not the views of this House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it the postulate of Government that the Government and this House can never agree, and whoever the House elects is bound to have an opinion different from the Government. Cannot the Government make an honest attempt to agree with us in this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : He may have, but he may not have.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask the reason why Government refuse to consider the desirability of selecting delegates in consultation with this House ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Because he may not have the same opinion as the Government of India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that this House ought to have no representative on the League of Nations, but the Government alone should select him ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is an inference that the Honourable Member is entitled to draw, though I do not agree.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is this House to be treated not as a part, but as an excrescence of the Government of India ?

(No answer.)

AMOUNT COLLECTED UNDER THE SALT (ADDITIONAL IMPORT DUTY) ACT IN BENGAL.

380. *Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the total amount collected under the Salt Duty (Additional) Act in Bengal from the commencement up to the end of the financial year 1933-34 ;

(b) the amount made over to the Government of Bengal ; and

(c) the amount spent by the Government of Bengal for the resuscitation of the salt industry in Bengal ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Rs. 25,02,518.

(b) Rs. 13,52,700.

(c) I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply that I gave to Mr. S. C. Mitra's question No. 645 on the 20th August, 1934.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Have the Government of India asked the Government of Bengal why they have not spent the money for legitimate purposes ? Is this not a misapplication of public funds ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Certainly not. If the Honourable Member will refer to the question to which I have given him a reference, he will see quite clearly that the Government of Bengal have not misapplied the money.

TERMS OF REFERENCE OF THE INCOME-TAX ENQUIRY COMMITTEE.

381. *Dr. P. N. Banerjea : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the terms of reference under which a committee has recently been appointed to investigate the existing system of income-tax administration ?

(b) Do Government intend to invite the opinions of public bodies and individuals interested in the matter ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I would refer the Honourable Member to my remarks on these points in the Report of the Proceedings of the Assembly for the 4th of April last. (Page 3667.)

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : What were those remarks ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot repeat them at length.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Will the Legislative Assembly be asked to express an opinion on the Report ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot say. When the report is made, I will consider the question of publication and placing it before the Assembly.

ACCELERATION OF THE SUBURBAN SERVICES ON THE EAST INDIAN AND EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAYS.

382. *Dr. P. N. Banerjee : Are Government prepared to consider the desirability of accelerating the suburban services on the East Indian and Eastern Bengal Railways ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The average time table speed of suburban trains on the Eastern Bengal Railway is 21.7 miles per hour and cannot be considered unsatisfactory compared with the electrically operated suburban services on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India and Great Indian Peninsula Railways whose average time table speeds are 23.8 and 22 miles per hour, respectively.

On the East Indian Railway the average time table speed of suburban trains is 19.4 miles per hour : the lower speed being due to the engineering restrictions necessary on account of relaying, reconstruction of bridges and the entire alteration and modernising of the method of signalling trains in and out of Howrah station. These works are being undertaken in order to speed up the service.

I am conveying the Honourable Member's suggestion to the Agents of these two Railways for consideration.

RECRUITMENT IN THE SUBORDINATE POSTAL SERVICE.

383. *Mr. Suryya Kumar Som : (a) Is it a fact that recruitment to the subordinate Postal service is to be made according to the Revenue Division basis ?

(b) Is it a fact that an exception has been made with regard to such recruitment in cities like Calcutta and Bombay ?

(c) Is it a fact that recruitment in Calcutta is not to be confined only to the Presidency Revenue Division wherein it is situated ?

(d) Is it a fact that according to the orders, recruitment in Calcutta is to be made also from the Revenue Divisions adjacent to the Presidency Revenue Division ?

(e) Are Government aware that Mr. M. L. Pasricha, late Postmaster-General, Bengal and Assam Circle, interpreted the said orders that as Calcutta is situated within the Presidency Revenue Division, with reference to appointment in Calcutta, Revenue Divisions adjacent to Presidency Revenue Division, such as Rajshahi, Dacca, and Burdwan, should be considered adjacent Revenue Divisions ?

(f) Do not the Government approve of this interpretation of the then Postmaster-General, Bengal and Assam Circle ? If not, are Government aware that there is no such Revenue Division as Calcutta Revenue Division and that Calcutta is within the Presidency Revenue Division ?

(g) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of revising the orders of the present Postmaster-General, Bengal and Assam, who has interpreted the orders of the Director-General of the year 1926, that Calcutta City is a Revenue Division by itself and that Revenue Divisions adjacent to Calcutta City alone are to be considered as adjacent Revenue Divisions in connection with appointments in Calcutta Posts and Telegraph offices ?

(h) Is it a fact that Calcutta being the capital city of Bengal, all the districts of Bengal contribute to its development, and if so, do Government propose to consider the claim of all the districts of Bengal to such appointments ?

(i) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table the note of the present Postmaster-General, Bengal, requesting the Director-General, to accept the interpretation of adjacent Revenue Divisions as applying to Calcutta City alone ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) to (c). Yes.

(d) The fact is not as stated by the Honourable Member. Recruitment in Calcutta is from residents of that city and also from those of the Revenue Divisions adjacent to it, i.e., the Presidency Division and the Burdwan Division. The Honourable Member is referred to the Director General's demi-official letter, dated the 17th December, 1934, a copy of which was laid on the table of this House in reply to parts (c) and (d) of Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra's starred question No. 1455 on the 4th April, 1935.

(e) Yes.

(f) The reply to the first part of the question is in the negative and to the second part in the affirmative.

(g) The reply is in the negative. The Honourable Member's assumption, that the present Postmaster-General, Bengal and Assam, has wrongly interpreted the orders of the Director General, is incorrect, as the Honourable Member will see from the reply given to part (d) above.

(h) As regards the first part of the question, the fact may be as stated. The reply to the second part is in the negative.

(i) Government are not prepared to lay on the table copies of departmental notes.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member who fixes the revenue divisions ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The Local Government fixes the revenue divisions.

Mr. Suryya Kumar Som : Is it not a fact that Calcutta itself is within the Presidency Division ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I understand that Calcutta is within the Presidency revenue division.

Mr. Suryya Kumar Som : Then the previous Postmaster General's interpretation has been overruled or differed from ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : It has been overruled, because it was not in accordance with the standing instructions of the Department.

Mr. Suryya Kumar Som : Do not Government feel that injustice will be done to the other districts which are adjacent to the Presidency revenue division, because, as a matter of fact, big cities like Bombay and Calcutta are practically supplied by the revenues of these districts ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I think that would also apply to Assam, Bihar and Orissa and other parts of India. Does the Honourable gentleman contemplate that the posts of these inferior servants in Calcutta should be recruited from half of upper India ?

Mr. Suryya Kumar Som : I meant the adjacent parts of the revenue divisions, not all over India.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Government consider that the present arrangement is the most equitable for all concerned.

RECRUITMENT OF THE QUALIFIED SONS AND DEPENDANTS OF THE POSTAL EMPLOYEES IN THE BENGAL AND ASSAM POSTAL CIRCLE.

384. *Mr. Suryya Kumar Som : (a) Is it a fact that the Director General of Posts and Telegraphs, issued orders to the effect that the qualified sons and dependents of the existing employees are to be recruited freely in the Divisions wherein they are employed and that the restrictions on this score of Revenue Division should not act as bar in their cases ?

(b) Is it a fact that the aforesaid orders of the Director General are not being carried out in the Bengal and Assam Circle at present ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) The orders are that recruitment to the subordinate services in the Posts and Telegraphs Department should ordinarily be confined to candidates who belong to or are domiciled in the revenue divisions in which the vacancies occur ; but Heads of Circles have been authorised to depart from this rule at their discretion and to treat with considerable liberality the applications of dependants of postal employees for employment in the same place in which the officials themselves are employed, provided such candidates belong to or are domiciled in the postal Circle in which they seek employment.

(b) No.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Do Government give these appointments away by selection on a consideration of personal qualifications or only on the ground that so and so is the son of these people ? Are these appointments given away by selection ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : As far as I remember, all posts are filled by selection, but the idea is that, other things being equal, the relatives and other dependants of Government employees will be given a certain degree of preference.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Without any selection ? Are the appointments given away by competition, or by selection ? If by selection, then are these people given preference, or they are not given any preference ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I could not say off-hand if all these appointments are by selection or by examination or other method, but, in any case, whatever the method may be, other things being equal, these relatives of Government officials are given a certain degree of preference.

RECRUITMENT IN THE SUBORDINATE POSTAL SERVICE.

385. *Mr. Suryya Kumar Som : (a) Is it a fact that according to a circular issued by the Director-General, Posts and Telegraphs, in the year 1926, recruitment in the subordinate Postal service is to be made on Revenue Division basis ?

(b) Is it a fact that the heads of Circles are authorised to use their discretion in special cases ?

(c) Will Government please state what those special cases are ?

(d) Will Government please state if the question of recruitment of the sons and dependents of the existing employees comes under special cases ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) and (b). The facts are substantially as stated by the Honourable Member.

(c) and (d). Government regret that it is not possible to give a complete list of the special cases that might arise but the general position has been explained in the reply given to part (a) of the late Mr. Fakir Chand's starred question No. 494 in this House on the 23rd February, 1935, to which the Honourable Member's attention is invited.

SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICERS AND ASSISTANT GARRISON ENGINEERS IN THE ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL ENGINEERING BRANCH IN THE ARMY.

386. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Will Government please state the number of Sub-divisional Officers and Assistant Garrison Engineers in the Electrical and Mechanical Engineering Branch in the Army in each command, separately ?

(b) How many of them are Europeans and how many Indians in each command ? Out of Indians, how many are Hindus, Muslims or Sikhs ?

(c) What is the starting salary of such officials, and for what period they work as Sub-divisional Officers or Garrison Engineers ?

(d) What are the prescribed minimum academical qualifications for such posts ?

(e) Is it a fact that ordinary European Sergeants are given a short training as mechanics and posted as Sub-divisional Officers without any mechanical, or academic qualifications, while Indians with high academical qualifications and with practical mechanical and electrical training are not posted as Sub-divisional Officers ? If so, why ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) There is only one Assistant Garrison Engineer in the Electrical and Mechanical Branch of the Military Engineer Services.

The number of Sub-Divisional Officers (military and civilian) in this Branch is shown below :

|                             | No. |
|-----------------------------|-----|
| In Northern Command .. .. . | 22  |
| In Southern Command .. .. . | 13  |
| In Eastern Command .. .. .  | 13  |
| In Western Command .. .. .  | 6   |
| Total .. .. .               | 54  |

(b) I lay on the table a statement giving the information asked for.

(c) The starting pay of military Sub-Divisional Officers is Rs. 220 per mensem and of civilian Sub-Divisional Officers Rs. 150 per mensem. Except for military mechanists who come to India for a five years tour and revert to the United Kingdom on its completion, military personnel of the Sub-Divisional Officer class serve up to the age of 52 when they retire after an average service of 22 years in the Military Engineer Services. Civilians normally retire at the age of 55 after an average service as Sub-Divisional Officers of 20 years.

(d) Military Sub-Divisional Officers have to qualify at a special two years' course at the School of Military Engineering, Chatham, which provides a high standard of electrical and mechanical training to individuals who have already acquired technical knowledge from practical experience in this Branch of engineering in the United Kingdom. In addition, they are required to pass subsequently special examinations conducted by the City and Guilds Institute. Civilian Sub-Divisional Officers are normally promoted from subordinate positions in the various electrical and mechanical installations run by the Military Engineer Services and selection is confined to those who have passed a departmental examination based on the City and Guilds examinations referred to above.

(e) What I have just said shows that it is not a fact.

Statement.

| Command.    | Europeans. |            | Indian (civilians). |          |        | Total. |
|-------------|------------|------------|---------------------|----------|--------|--------|
|             | Military.  | Civilians. | Hindus.             | Muslims. | Sikhs. |        |
| Northern .. | 22         | ..         | ..                  | ..       | ..     | 22     |
| Southern .. | 11         | 2          | ..                  | ..       | ..     | 13     |
| Eastern ..  | 8          | 3          | 2                   | ..       | ..     | 13     |
| Western ..  | 4          | ..         | 2                   | ..       | ..     | 6      |
| Total ..    | 45         | 5          | 4                   | ..       | ..     | 54     |

SALE OF SILVER.

387. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the resolutions recently passed at the annual meeting of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce regarding the dangers of silver sales ?

(b) How much loss did Government suffer by the sale of silver from 1926 to date ?

(c) Is it in the neighbourhood of 26 crores ?

(d) How was this loss met ?

(e) In view of the obligations of Government to keep the Reserve Bank supplied with silver rupees, do they intend selling more silver ?

(f) Will Government state the total value of silver rupees and bullion held by them against currency reserve at the present level of prices (without taking the gold standard reserve into consideration) ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Yes.

(b), (c) and (d). I would refer the Honourable Member to Account No. 93A in the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India for the year 1933-34. The loss shown there of course only covers realisations since 1927-28 ; in the years prior to this there was of course a very large net profit which cannot however be exactly calculated.

(e) I do not think that it is desirable in present circumstances to make any statement on this subject.

(f) Government no longer hold silver against currency notes. The amounts of rupees held by the Reserve Bank in their reserve against notes are shown in their weekly published statements.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are Government aware that in the paper Currency Reserve the Government of India's silver rupee securities have gone down in amount from Rs. 43 crores to 26 crores in a period of two months ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am afraid I cannot understand in the least what the Honourable Member is talking about. The reserves held against currency notes are entirely in the hands of the Reserve Bank.

CONSTRUCTION OF MORE QUARTERS FOR THE EMPLOYEES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS, NEW DELHI.

388. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : (a) Are Government aware that several employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, have been made to live in inferior type quarters due to the paucity of proper and superior type of quarters in the Press Area ?

(b) Is it a fact that many Readers, Revisers and Copy-holders, as well as clerks, have been allotted and are occupying Duftary type quarters (which are primarily meant for the menial staff), as there is a tremendous shortage of suitable quarters ?

(c) Are Government aware that on the 1st June, 1935, a memorial praying for the construction of more quarters of the type required was submitted by several employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Department of Industries and Labour ?

(d) If the answer to part (c) be in the affirmative, what decision have Government reached as to the said memorial ?

(e) Do Government propose to build more quarters for the employees of the New Delhi Press ? If so, when will these quarters be made available to them ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Under the rules and orders at present in force no press employee is compelled to occupy Government accommodation in New Delhi.

(b) Yes—but the type of quarters referred to is intended for all employees drawing less than Rs. 45 per mensem and not for Duftaries and inferior servants only.

(c) to (e). Memorials from certain employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, praying for the construction of additional quarters have just been received and will be considered by Government.

and revert to the United Kingdom on its completion, military personnel of the Sub-Divisional Officer class serve up to the age of 52 when they retire after an average service of 22 years in the Military Engineer Services. Civilians normally retire at the age of 55 after an average service as Sub-Divisional Officers of 20 years.

(d) Military Sub-Divisional Officers have to qualify at a special two years' course at the School of Military Engineering, Chatham, which provides a high standard of electrical and mechanical training to individuals who have already acquired technical knowledge from practical experience in this Branch of engineering in the United Kingdom. In addition, they are required to pass subsequently special examinations conducted by the City and Guilds Institute. Civilian Sub-Divisional Officers are normally promoted from subordinate positions in the various electrical and mechanical installations run by the Military Engineer Services and selection is confined to those who have passed a departmental examination based on the City and Guilds examinations referred to above.

(e) What I have just said shows that it is not a fact.

Statement.

| Command.    | Europeans. |            | Indian (civilians). |          |        | Total. |
|-------------|------------|------------|---------------------|----------|--------|--------|
|             | Military.  | Civilians. | Hindus.             | Muslims. | Sikhs. |        |
| Northern .. | 22         | ..         | ..                  | ..       | ..     | 22     |
| Southern .. | 11         | 2          | ..                  | ..       | ..     | 13     |
| Eastern ..  | 8          | 3          | 2                   | ..       | ..     | 13     |
| Western ..  | 4          | ..         | 2                   | ..       | ..     | 6      |
| Total ..    | 45         | 5          | 4                   | ..       | ..     | 54     |

SALE OF SILVER.

387. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the resolutions recently passed at the annual meeting of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce regarding the dangers of silver sales ?

(b) How much loss did Government suffer by the sale of silver from 1926 to date ?

(c) Is it in the neighbourhood of 26 crores ?

(d) How was this loss met ?

(e) In view of the obligations of Government to keep the Reserve Bank supplied with silver rupees, do they intend selling more silver ?

(f) Will Government state the total value of silver rupees and bullion held by them against currency reserve at the present level of prices (without taking the gold standard reserve into consideration) ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Yes.

(b), (c) and (d). I would refer the Honourable Member to Account No. 93A in the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India for the year 1933-34. The loss shown there of course only covers realisations since 1927-28 ; in the years prior to this there was of course a very large net profit which cannot however be exactly calculated.

(e) I do not think that it is desirable in present circumstances to make any statement on this subject.

(f) Government no longer hold silver against currency notes. The amounts of rupees held by the Reserve Bank in their reserve against notes are shewn in their weekly published statements.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are Government aware that in the paper Currency Reserve the Government of India's silver rupee securities have gone down in amount from Rs. 43 crores to 26 crores in a period of two months ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am afraid I cannot understand in the least what the Honourable Member is talking about. The reserves held against currency notes are entirely in the hands of the Reserve Bank.

CONSTRUCTION OF MORE QUARTERS FOR THE EMPLOYEES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS, NEW DELHI.

388. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : (a) Are Government aware that several employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, have been made to live in inferior type quarters due to the paucity of proper and superior type of quarters in the Press Area ?

(b) Is it a fact that many Readers, Revisers and Copy-holders, as well as clerks, have been allotted and are occupying Duffery type quarters (which are primarily meant for the menial staff), as there is a tremendous shortage of suitable quarters ?

(c) Are Government aware that on the 1st June, 1935, a memorial praying for the construction of more quarters of the type required was submitted by several employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Department of Industries and Labour ?

(d) If the answer to part (c) be in the affirmative, what decision have Government reached as to the said memorial ?

(e) Do Government propose to build more quarters for the employees of the New Delhi Press ? If so, when will these quarters be made available to them ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Under the rules and orders at present in force no press employee is compelled to occupy Government accommodation in New Delhi.

(b) Yes—but the type of quarters referred to is intended for all employees drawing less than Rs. 45 per mensem and not for Duffries and inferior servants only.

(c) to (e). Memorials from certain employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, praying for the construction of additional quarters have just been received and will be considered by Government.

RULES GOVERNING THE ALLOTMENT OF QUARTERS TO THE EMPLOYEES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS, NEW DELHI.

389. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : Is there a separate set of rules governing the allotment of quarters to the employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi ? If so, will Government be pleased to lay a copy of those rules on the table of this House ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : There are no separate rules for the Press quarters at New Delhi.

WANT OF SMOKE-CHIMNEYS IN THE DUFTARY TYPE QUARTERS OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS, NEW DELHI.

390. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : (a) Are Government aware that there are no smoke-chimneys in the Duftary type quarters of the Government Press, New Delhi ?

(b) Is it a fact that smoke-chimneys have been provided in the newly-built Duftary type quarters that have been erected to the east of the Press Area ?

(c) If so, do Government propose to provide similar chimneys in the Duftary type quarters of the Press Area as well ? If not, why not ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) No. Funds cannot at present be made available for the work.

CLASSIFICATION OF THE EMPLOYEES OF THE READING BRANCH OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS, NEW DELHI.

391. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : (a) Are Government aware that a memorial was submitted to the Government of India by the members of the Reading Branch of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, urging their classification as " ministerial " workers instead of " industrial " workers, which is their present designation ?

(b) Have Government considered this memorial and reached a conclusion ? If so, what is the decision arrived at ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) and (b). The memorial was not submitted to the Government of India ; it was addressed to the Controller of Printing and Stationery and rejected by him, after careful consideration.

ALLEGED COMPULSION FOR OVERTIME WORK IN THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA
PRESS, NEW DELHI.

392. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : (a) Is it a fact that the employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, work over-time during the winter season ?

(b) Is it a fact that very often they have to work eleven hours a day ?

(c) Are Government aware that this over-work is telling upon the health of the employees and that those who do not want to work over-time are forcibly made to do so ?

(d) If so, under what rule of the Press Hand-book is this compulsion justified ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes, at times.

(b) In order to deal with an exceptional press of work generally during the winter season, the men are sometimes required to work for more than ten hours.

(c) Government have no reason to suppose that the amount of over-time has been such as to produce adverse effects on health. The liability to work overtime is part of the ordinary conditions of service of press employees.

(d) Under the last sub-paragraph of paragraph 30 of the Press Hand-book.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : What is the ordinary time for them to work—how many hours ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : About forty-eight hours a week.

EXEMPTION OF MUSLIM EMPLOYEES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS,
NEW DELHI, FROM WORKING OVERTIME ON FRIDAYS.

393. *Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang : (a) Is it a fact that one hour's leave is allowed to Muslim employees of the Government of India Press, New Delhi, to say their Friday prayers ?

(b) Is it a fact that if the Muslim employees work over-time on Friday this one hour is deducted from their over-time ? If so, why ?

(c) Do Government propose to make payments to Muslim employees for over-time work on Fridays ? If not, why not ?

(d) Do Government propose to exempt as many Muslim employees as possible from working over-time on Fridays and specially when non-Muslim employees are available ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given in the Legislative Assembly on the 20th August, 1934, by the Honourable Sir Frank Noyce to starred question No. 668.

(d) Government are anxious to reduce overtime as much as possible for all employees. But it would not be fair to members of other communities to detain those who had already worked full time, while those who had worked a shorter time were released.

EFFECT OF THE RISE IN THE PRICE OF SILVER ON THE RUPEE.

394. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will Government state :

(a) whether they are aware of the intention of the Government of the United States of America to push up the price of silver to 80d. ; and

(b) what Government propose to do, if, by this rise of price of silver, the rupee ceases to become a token coin ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to the reply given by me to Mr. Satyamurti's starred question No. 223 during the current Session.

APPLICATIONS FROM MAHATMA GANDHI AND BABU RAJENDRA PRASAD FOR PERMISSION TO ENTER THE EARTHQUAKE AREA IN QUETTA.

395. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will Government state :

(a) whether it is a fact that Mahatma Gandhi and Babu Rajendra Prasad, the President of the Indian National Congress, had applied for permission to enter the earthquake area in Quetta for doing relief work ;

(b) whether their applications were rejected ; and

(c) if so, on what grounds and for what reasons ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to the answer given by me to Mr. Satyamurti's starred question No. 219.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Are the Government of India prepared to publish the correspondence with Babu Rajendra Prasad on the subject ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I said in answer to the previous question that I was prepared to do it, but I have not got the permission of the people to whom the letters were addressed.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Are Government aware that Babu Rajendra Prasad has sent out to the press his letter, and are Government free to publish such correspondence ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I saw something in the press, but he did not say that the Government had asked his permission to publish.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government propose to publish it, or to ask him for permission to publish it ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think it would be for Government to ask him for permission.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government ask for permission ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : If the Honourable Member wants his consent, I suggest the Honourable Member should ask him.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If I communicate his consent to Government, will Government publish it ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes.

TENDERS FOR WAGONS FOR 1935-36.

396. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will Government state :

(a) whether it is a fact that tenders for wagons for 1935-36 were called for in three lots ;

(b) that the third call was for 2,050 wagons, and that for this world tenders were invited and Belgian, German and British firms gave tenders ;

(c) that the tenders of the Indian firms were the lowest, except for Metro-cammell whose price was ten per cent. less and a German group who quoted five per cent. lower ;

(d) that, though Metro-cammell quoted for the whole lot, the delivery schedule they had given was such that they could complete only 750 wagons in this fiscal year, and so they got an order for 750 wagons ;

(e) that 500 wagons were withdrawn, and with regard to the balance of 800 wagons, the Indian firms were offered prices which were far below their tender prices ;

(f) Whether it is a fact that the saving effected by placing the order with Metro-cammell was only Rs. 3 lakhs ;

(g) supposing this order to have gone to Indian firms, what the increased railway freight is that this manufacture should have occasioned ; what the extra excise duty and additional income-tax is that Government may have obtained ;

(h) whether Government are aware that, in response to the insistence of the Select Committee of this House in 1927, Sir George Rainy, the then Commerce Member, accepted that all future orders should be placed in India ; and

(i) in the face of this assurance, why orders for these wagons were given to a foreign non-Indian company ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) Four types of wagons were included in the world call for tenders, viz.,—

O—Train piped and with hand brake.

O—fully vacuum braked.

OM—and

CR—

For the two O types and the OM type, one British tender and one German tender were lower than the lowest Indian tender. For the CR type, two British tenders and one German tender were lower than the lowest Indian tender. For the types for which the order was placed abroad (viz., O fully vacuum braked and CR) the British tenders were ten per cent. and 14 per cent. and the German tenders 4.5 per cent. and nine per cent., respectively, below the lowest Indian tender.

(d) It was estimated that it was unlikely that they could deliver more than 750 wagons before the middle of February, 1936, i.e., before our peak period of traffic for the year. Consequently only that number was ordered.

(e) The answer to the first part is in the affirmative ; as regards the second, 800 wagons were allotted to Indian firms at an agreed price, which is lower than their original tender but higher than the lowest foreign tender.

(f) The savings effected on 750 wagons, ordered with Messrs. Metro-Cammell, amounted to about 3½ lakhs and on 800 wagons ordered in India, at the negotiated price, to over Rs. 1½ lakhs.

(g) It has been estimated that the profit to Railways on the additional railway freight, if orders had been placed in India, would have been about Rs. 20 to Rs. 25 per wagon. It is impossible to say how much additional income-tax Government would have obtained. The excise duty would almost certainly have been less than the import duty on the imported wagons.

(h) I presume my Honourable friend is referring to Sir George Rainy's minute of dissent to the report of the Select Committee on the Steel Industry (Protection) Bill of 1928. If so, what he said was as follows :

" I fully accept the view of the Tariff Board that, until orders for wagons can again be placed on a normal scale, all orders should be placed in India subject to a maximum price, and that in fixing the maximum price an addition of 12½ per cent. to the prices paid in 1925-26 will serve as a general guide. But if the Indian wagon building firms refuse to take the orders at the maximum prices which Government consider reasonable, there will be no alternative but to call for simultaneous tenders, and if the duty remains at ten per cent. there is a danger that some of them may be lost to the Indian firms."

(i) The main reason which induced Government to call for simultaneous tenders in India and abroad was that for a long time there had been no price regulator in the shape of foreign prices and Government could not be sure whether the prices quoted by Indian firms were reasonable or not. Moreover, they had grounds to suspect that the internal competition in India between the four wagon building firms had also ceased to exist. Consequently they decided that, specially in view of the fact that the total number of wagons to be purchased during the year was much higher than in past years, tenders for part of the requirements of railways should be called for both in India and abroad, and dealt with according to the Stores Purchase Rules which allow a price preference for articles of Indian manufacture. Out of the total of 4,972 wagons, 722 wagons had been purchased in India in the first call ; of the balance of 4,250 wagons, tenders were called for 2,200 in India only and 2,050 in India and abroad. The results showed that the action taken was fully justified, for the call for open tenders disclosed that the cost to the railways of restricting the second call (for 2,200 wagons) to India was something like ten lakhs.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : May I ask, Sir, in regard to part (e), by how much was the price of Indian Companies above the English price ?

3 P.M.

Mr. P. R. Rau : The English price was 2,610 ; the original Indian quotation was 2,930, and we placed the order for 2,700.

RETRENCHED AND RETAINED PERSONNEL IN THE RAILWAY RATES ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

397. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government please lay on the table a comparative statement showing the names of retrenched and retained persons of the Railway Rates Advisory Committee, their educational qualifications, experiences, pay, length of services of each, both in the Committee and outside ?

(b) Will Government please state the action taken for the re-employment of the retrenched persons of the Committee ?

(c) If the reply be in the affirmative, will Government please state their whereabouts ?

(d) If the reply to part (b) be in the negative, will Government please state the reasons thereof ?

(e) Will Government please lay on the table a statement showing the posts revived in the Committee since its reconstitution and names of the holder of each of them giving details of recruitment, i.e., whether they are retrenched persons or outsiders ?

(f) Will Government please state the reasons for not following the rules of re-employment of retrenched personnel promulgated by the Government of India ?

(g) Will Government please state the present strength of the subordinate staff of the Committee by community, caste and provinces ?

(h) Will Government please state the future of the Committee and whether there is any possibility of calling back of the retrenched persons ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) (e) and (g). The information is not readily available and Government regret they cannot undertake the compilation as the labour and expense involved will, they consider, be out of all proportion to any possible use it can be put to.

(b), (c), (d) and (f). Government are informed that the rules for the re-employment of retrenched personnel have been duly followed. The details have been left to the President.

(h) For the future of the Committee I would refer the Honourable Member to section 191 of the Government of India Act, 1935. I am unable to give a definite answer to the second part of his question.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Before I reply to question No. 398, you will perhaps allow me to say a few words in connection with my answer to Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar's supplementary question which I did not then properly hear. I now understand that the Honourable Member asked what was the explanation of the fall in the Government of India's securities in the Currency Reserves. If the Honourable Member will look into the returns, he will find that that is compensated for by an increase in sterling securities. This means, of course, that the external Currency Reserves have been strengthened.

SALE OF SILVER BY THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

398. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Has any quantity of silver been sold by the Government of India since March, 1935 ? If so, what is the quantity and what is its value ?

(b) What has been done with the proceeds, if any ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to the reply given by me to part (e) of Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta's starred question No. 387 during the current Session.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : The Honourable Member has only stated in answer to Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta's question that it is confidential and he is not prepared to state what the silver policy of the Government will be in the future ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I said on a previous occasion, and I repeat it now, that I am quite unwilling to make any statement whatever about silver so long as the market remains in its present condition, the reason being that I think the less said in the way of giving a lead in any direction to speculators the better.

PROTECTION OF INDIANS IN ABYSSINIA.

399. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : How many Indians are there in Abyssinia ? What steps, if any, have been taken to protect their person and property in view of the impending war between Italy and Abyssinia ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The information asked for by Honourable Member has already been supplied by me in reply to a short notice question by Mr. Satyamurti on the 3rd September, 1935.

SIR GEORGE SCHUSTER'S OPINION ABOUT THE BOMBING OF INDIANS.

400. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the statement made by Sir George Schuster at the Peace Congress, that he is opposed to the bombing of Indians ;
- (b) whether Government propose to stop this practice ; and
- (c) if not, why not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Government have seen the cutting but have ascertained that no such version of Sir George Schuster's statement can be traced in the London Press reports of the meeting.

(b) and (c). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply I gave to his starred question No. 291 on the 12th September, 1935.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Apart from Sir George Schuster's speech, may I ask one question ? What is the position today of the Government of India in respect of bombing from aeroplanes ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I gave a full statement of that position in reply to the Honourable Member's questions only two or three days ago.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I think my Honourable friend said that they do not bomb civil population. May I take it that the Government of India use their aeroplanes only for bombing those tribesmen who are fighting in the fields ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The main purpose of bombing is to disperse hostile lashkars in the field. As I explained the other day, in certain cases the Royal Air Force also use their aeroplanes to blockade certain area.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask the Honourable Member if these aeroplanes throw bombs on the civil population, after giving notice ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : They do not.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know what are these blockaded areas to which my Honourable friend refers ? Do they or do they not contain civil population ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : They contain villages, but notice is given beforehand so as to enable the villages to be evacuated before the bombing takes place.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government satisfy themselves before bombing that the villages are actually evacuated, and that there are no men, women and children in them ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : They do satisfy themselves as far as it is possible to do so.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that the Government take the risk of bombing the civil population ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir. It is the civil population that takes the risk of being bombed.

OFFICIAL WATCH OVER NEWS AND EDITORIAL COMMENTS IN NEWSPAPERS RELATING TO THE QUETTA EARTHQUAKE DISASTER.

401. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether it is a fact that they have instructed Local Governments to keep a watch over news and editorial comments in papers relating to the Quetta earthquake disaster ;
- (b) if so, the reasons therefor ; and
- (c) the names of newspapers or Presses, whose securities have been forfeited on account of comments on the Quetta earthquake and matters relating thereto ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Yes.

(b) These instructions were issued in view of the venomous campaign of lies which was conducted in certain sections of the Press to vilify Government and the Army over action taken in regard to Quetta.

(c) I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply given to Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal's question No. 365.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why the Government of India prefer to proceed against these presses by way of forfeiting their security instead of prosecuting them in a Court of law under the ordinary law.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Because the ordinary law has been found to be ineffective for the purpose.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did they try a single case of any newspaper which published any mischievous article about Quetta under the ordinary law ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The discretion was left to the Local Governments. It was the Local Governments which actually took the action.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did the Government of India issue any general circular or instructions or a demi-official letter to Local Governments to take action under the Press Act with regard to the Quetta affairs.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have said they did.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What was the nature and contents of that letter ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not remember exactly now, but it was left to the Local Governments to take action under the Press Act.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why did the Government of India instruct the Local Governments to take action under the Press Act, and not under the ordinary law, in view of the fact that in this case no prosecution can be stated to have failed ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Because experience has shown that the Press Act is the most effective means of dealing with such cases.

RESULTS OF THE OTTAWA TRADE AGREEMENT.

402. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have seen a letter addressed by the Indian Merchants' Chamber to the Commerce Department of the Government of India about the result of the Ottawa Pact ;
- (b) whether Government will place on the table of this House the latest figures of export and import trade of India with Great Britain, the Empire countries and other countries ; and
- (c) whether Government propose to examine this question with a view to place before this House material which would help the Assembly to come to a final decision on the continuance or otherwise of the Ottawa Pact ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) I presume the Honourable Member is referring to the letter of the Indian Merchants' Chamber, Bombay, dated the 23rd August, 1934. If so, the reply is in the affirmative.

(b) A report of the nature referred to by the Honourable Member will be laid on the table of the House in the course of the present Session.

(c) All the material that is available and relevant will be placed before the House when it is given an opportunity of discussing the results of the Ottawa Trade Agreement in the next Budget Session.

TRADE NEGOTIATIONS WITH OTHER COUNTRIES.

403. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the progress of trade negotiations on behalf of India with other countries ?
- (b) with how many countries trade agreements have been effected ; and
- (c) when all such trade agreements will be completed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) to (c). I have nothing to add to the replies already given in this Session to the Honourable Member's questions on this subject and to questions Nos. 4 and 10 of Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar and No. 354 of Mr. Samuel Aaron on the subject of Trade Agreements.

PROTECTION OF INDIANS IN ABYSSINIA.

404. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether it is a fact that there are two thousand Indians in Abyssinia ;
- (b) whether Government are aware that the United States of America has taken all possible measures for the safety of American missionaries in Abyssinia, as also France ; and
- (c) what steps Government propose to take to protect the life and property of Indians in Abyssinia ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) There are approximately 1,000 British Indian Subjects, including British protected persons, residing in Abyssinia.

(b) and (c). The Honourable Member is referred to the answer given on the 3rd September, 1935, to his short notice question on the same subject.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government aware of the fact that, this morning or yesterday morning, it appeared in the newspapers that the British Consul in Abyssinia has invited all the Indians to come and live in a stated area, and promised to give them protection, and would Government get into touch with the latest developments with regard to the protection of Indians in Abyssinia ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Government have no information to that effect, but they are making enquiries.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government get into touch with the latest developments ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Yes, Sir.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What is the meaning of the expression " British protected persons " ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : " Protected persons " mean the inhabitants of Indian States who are protected by British Government.

FALL IN RAILWAY EARNINGS.

405. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the total Railway earnings up to date, and the fall in the earnings compared with previous years ;
- (b) whether they have investigated this matter, and if so, the results of such investigation ; and
- (c) what steps Government have been taking or propose to take in this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) The approximate earnings up to the end of August, amount to 35½ crores. They are about 70 lakhs below those of the corresponding period of last year and about 135 lakhs more than those of the corresponding period of 1933-34.

(b) The decrease is mainly in goods earnings and indicates a fall in traffic, the commodities principally affected being cotton, oilseeds and rice.

(c) The position is being watched by Government. Agents of Railways have been asked to restrict working expenses wherever possible and to examine every possibility of increasing net earnings. The whole position will be reviewed next month in consultation with Agents and the Railway Board.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if Government's special attention is being devoted to the question of rail-road competition, both in respect of passenger and goods traffic ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have replied to this in answer to one of the supplementary questions on a previous occasion.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government heard from the Agents in answer to their suggestions to consider ways and means of increasing the income, and reducing the expenditure ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have also explained this in answer to a supplementary question on a previous occasion that certain suggestions were tentatively discussed with the Agents when they were called up to Simla in August and they were asked to consider these suggestions and any others that might occur to them. The whole question will be considered in detail early next month.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Half the financial year is over ; and so may I know when the Government propose to come to any conclusion so as to have any effect on the earnings or the expenses of this financial year ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have submitted that the discussion will take place early next month.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government taking any steps to stimulate internal trade and traffic ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe I have answered that question in the answers I have given already.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any person in the Railway Board whose specific duty it is to consider these matters, that is to say, increase traffic receipts ? Is there any Member of the Railway Board or any officer there, whose job it is to concentrate on this matter and make suggestions for the acceptance of the Government ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There is the Director of Traffic, the Deputy Director of Traffic and the Railway Board itself.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With so many people, what is the result ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In spite of the help of the opposition in this matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But you won't take our help ; if you do, you will be better off.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : We welcome all help from any quarter.

RENEWAL OF THE TRADE TREATY WITH TURKEY.

406. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have received a communication from the Muslim Chamber of Commerce, urging the renewal of the trade treaty with Turkey ;

(b) at what stage the matter stands ; and

(c) when the trade treaty will be completed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) The matter is still under discussion.

(c) I regret I am unable to fix the exact date.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How long has this matter been under discussion ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Some months.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the average period for settling important questions ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It depends upon the opposite party. Government cannot arrive at an ex parte decision.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Government cannot arrive at any decision. That is my trouble.

WALK-OUT BY THE INDIAN MEMBERS OF THE KENYA LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

407. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have heard that the Indian Members of the Kenya Legislative Council walked out of the Council when the Marketing legislation was being discussed ;

(b) whether Government took any steps in the matter ;

(c) what the results of these steps were ;

(d) whether Government have ascertained the reasons for the walk-out, and if so, what they are ; and

(e) whether they propose to have an Agent of their own in the East African territories, and if not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Government understand that four out of five Indian members walked out of the Legislative Council on the 3rd July, 1935.

(b) to (d). On receipt of information that a walk-out was intended by some Indian members Government caused them to be informed of the changes effected and contemplated in the Bill, in the hope that they would reconsider their decision ; but the walk-out took place, nevertheless, because the members concerned were not satisfied with the Bill.

(e) Not at present.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know the reason why Government do not propose to appoint an Agent of their own in East African territories now ?

1050

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[16TH SEP. 1935.]

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Primarily financial.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did my Honourable friend's Department put up a proposal to the Finance Department, and did the Finance Department turn it down ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Department of Education, Health and Lands has to consider the claims of all competing cases before it approaches the Finance Department.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Among the competing claims within the scope of the Honourable Member's Department, does he consider that this is not as important as many others ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Considering the general financial outlook, I should say that there are other claims that are more important than this.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Other claims in his Department ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am referring to my Department which is not limited to overseas.

DISABILITIES OF INDIANS IN ZANZIBAR.

408. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they are considering the question of Indian disabilities in Zanzibar ;
- (b) what they have so far done in the matter ; and
- (c) the latest position in respect of this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a), (b) and (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply given by me on the 4th September, 1935, to his question No. 118.

SCHEME FOR THE UTILISATION OF THE GRANT FOR RURAL DEVELOPMENT IN THE PUNJAB.

409. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether the Punjab Government have submitted to the Government of India their final scheme for the utilisation of the grant for rural development ;
- (b) whether Government will place the same on the table of this House ; and
- (c) whether they propose to send it to all the other Local Governments for information and guidance ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Yes.

(b) The Honourable Member is referred to the statement laid on the table of the House in reply to Mr. Basanta Kumar Das's question No. 162, regarding the schemes for rural development.

(c) The statement referred to above is a published document and available to Local Governments equally with the general public.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is the Honourable Member aware of the fact that no provision is made at all for water supply or for Harijans in the Punjab ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I answered that question in reply to a supplementary question of the Honourable Member the other day.

INDIANISATION OF THE INDIAN ARMY VETERINARY CORPS.

410. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) their policy with regard to the Indianisation of the Indian Army Veterinary Corps ;
- (b) the reasons why to obtain a commission in this service a candidate must first obtain the diploma of M. R. C. V. S. after five years' study in a recognised Veterinary College in England ; and
- (c) the reasons why they have not prescribed an alternative Indian qualification ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) The policy is to provide Indian mounted units with Indian veterinary officers holding the diploma of Member of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons.

(b) and (c). A qualification of this standard is essential for the application of modern veterinary science to the problem of reducing animal wastage, but no such qualifications can be obtained in India at present. The M. R. C. V. S., is the qualification possessed by British Officers of the Royal Army Veterinary Corps in close co-operation with whom the Indian Commissioned Officers will have to work so long as there are British troops in this country.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any attempt made by the Government to institute or develop a corresponding qualification in this country ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Sir, I believe the Royal Commission on Agriculture did make certain recommendations with regard to improving the standard of veterinary education in this country. Of course it is for the Local Governments and their Ministers to take action on that report.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India address Local Governments in view of the need, which the Honourable the Army Secretary states, exists, to have this qualification, to evolve or develop corresponding qualifications in their own spheres of action ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If the Honourable Member wishes, I will pass on that suggestion to my Honourable friend, the Secretary for Education, Health and Lands.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Does the Honourable Member remember his promise in the last Budget Session that he will appoint Indian officers to this post in the Army Department ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Indian officers are being appointed.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : How many ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I require notice.

PROVINCIAL LOANS.

411. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the latest decision with regard to the Provincial loans, that is, the amounts which stand to the debit of each Province ;
- (b) the principles on which these loans are given, and interest thereon is charged ; and
- (c) whether there is any intention to introduce a new system ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (c). The matter is being considered in connection with the financial arrangements under the new constitution.

(b) I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to Appendix VI-A of Audit Code, Volume II, copies of which are in the Library of the House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the Local Governments are getting the full benefit of the prevalent low rates of interest to the extent to which the Government of India get such benefit.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : This depends on a rather complicated series of arrangements. At the moment and to the extent to which individual issues are converted to the extent that Local Governments may be presumed to have borrowed out of the proceeds of those particular issues, they get the benefit of the conversion.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there no proposal to abolish provincial loans funds and distribute them to the various provinces to operate on their own responsibility ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a large question which I cannot answer without being obliged to make a considerably longer statement than is possible now.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the Government of India have considered in this connection the desirability of avoiding competing loans by various public bodies in this country ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is precisely one of the functions of a Central Bank.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What are the principles governing provincial loans ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : If the Honourable Member would refer to the document I have mentioned in answer to this question, he will find that out.

SYSTEM OF NOMINATIONS TO THE MUNICIPALITIES IN FIJI.

*Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the statement of Pandit Shree Krishan Sarma on the system of nominations to the municipalities in Fiji to the effect that what the Indians care for is a common roll, and to effect this they want the qualifications for voters to be broadened ;

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

- (b) what the attitude of the officials in Fiji is towards this demand of Indians ; and
- (c) what action Government propose to take in this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me on the 12th September, 1935, to Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena's question No. 296.

HIGHER IMPORT DUTY ON FOREIGN PADDY IN THE UNITED KINGDOM.

413. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have made a strong representation to the British Government on the question of higher import duty on foreign paddy in the United Kingdom ;
- (b) the reason for this representation ; and
- (c) the latest figures with regard to the import of foreign paddy and Indian rice into England ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). The Government of India were informed that increasing imports of foreign paddy into the United Kingdom were likely to deprive Indian rice of the full benefits of the preference secured under the United Kingdom-India Trade Agreement. This possibility was brought to the notice of His Majesty's Government and as a result of the representations made by the Government of India an import duty of 2/3 d. per lb. has been imposed by His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom on paddy imports of non-empire origin.

(c) I lay on the table a statement containing the required information.

Statement showing the imports of paddy other than Indian and of Indian rice into the United Kingdom.

| Imports of               | Year.                  | January.  | February. | March.   | April.    | May.      | June.       | July.     | August.     | September.  | October.  | November.   | December.   | Total.       |
|--------------------------|------------------------|-----------|-----------|----------|-----------|-----------|-------------|-----------|-------------|-------------|-----------|-------------|-------------|--------------|
| Paddy other than Indian. | 1933                   | Cwts. Nil | Cwts. 405 | Cwts. 45 | Cwts. Nil | Cwts. 600 | Cwts. 2,000 | Cwts. Nil | Cwts. 1,000 | Cwts. 2,000 | Cwts. 240 | Cwts. 8,039 | Cwts. 5,166 | Cwts. 19,495 |
|                          | 1934                   | 21,242    | 10,075    | 24,467   | 22,324    | 9,339     | 18,750      | 18,750    | 94,664      | 105,071     | 6,791     | Nil         | 2,100       | 333,573      |
|                          | 1935 (upto June only). | 26,942    | 63,174    | 60,472   | 20,992    | 1,003     | 35          | ..        | ..          | ..          | ..        | ..          | ..          | 172,618      |
| dian Rice ..             | 1933                   | 12,857    | 11,395    | 145,196  | 136,329   | 86,642    | 59,451      | 28,368    | 32,286      | 54,182      | 28,398    | 39,939      | 17,353      | 652,396      |
|                          | 1934                   | 3,678     | 16,164    | 88,164   | 184,047   | 205,112   | 113,187     | 38,485    | 69,786      | 13,654      | 41,933    | 24,286      | 10,736      | 809,232      |
|                          | 1935 (upto July only). | 7,288     | 25,328    | 112,245  | 238,235   | 214,657   | 104,823     | 75,368    | ..          | ..          | ..        | ..          | ..          | 777,944      |

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has the position improved from the point of view of imported Indian rice into England ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Certainly.

PROGRESS OF SUGAR RESEARCH IN INDIA.

414. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- whether on a review of the work done till now, the Sugar Committee of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research has come to the conclusion that the progress made had not kept pace with anticipations, and that India would not be able to stand on her own legs if the present rate was not accelerated, and that the chief reasons for this are paucity of funds for sugar research and the late starting of the Central Research Institute ;
- whether it is a fact that the Committee noted with regret that there were many sanctioned schemes of research which had been held up for want of funds ;
- whether Sir George Rainy, the then Commerce Member, pointed out that adequate funds should be placed at the disposal of the Committee for this research work ;
- whether the Committee have suggested that two annas out of the sugar excise duty should be assigned for the purpose of promoting research, both on the agricultural and on the manufacturing side ; and
- what steps Government propose to take in the matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (d). The Sugar Committee's views are crystallised in a resolution which states that progress in sugar research and agricultural development has not been as rapid as it ought to have been but does not make any mention of delay in starting the Central Sugar Research Institute. The Committee has recommended more intensive work, especially on cane and has expressed the view that a settled and growing source of income should be provided for sugar research either by allocation annually of a sum equal to two annas per cwt. of the excise duty levied on the excisable sugar produced in India or by an annual grant of not less than Rs. ten lakhs.

(b) No.

(c) Yes.

(e) Government have already made or promised grants aggregating Rs. 84 lakhs for sugar research. Requests for financial provision for specific proposals for more intensive work on the lines recommended by the Committee will receive most careful consideration.

TARIFF BOARD ENQUIRY INTO THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

415. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to whether they intend to order an enquiry by the Tariff Board into textile industry, and if so, what the nature of the enquiry will be ?

Statement showing the imports of paddy other than Indian and of Indian rice into the United Kingdom.

| Imports of               | Year.                  | January.  | February. | March.   | April.    | May.      | June.       | July.     | August.     | September.  | October.  | November.   | December.   | Total.       |
|--------------------------|------------------------|-----------|-----------|----------|-----------|-----------|-------------|-----------|-------------|-------------|-----------|-------------|-------------|--------------|
| Paddy other than Indian. | 1933                   | Cwts. Nil | Cwts. 405 | Cwts. 45 | Cwts. Nil | Cwts. 600 | Cwts. 2,000 | Cwts. Nil | Cwts. 1,000 | Cwts. 2,000 | Cwts. 240 | Cwts. 8,039 | Cwts. 5,166 | Cwts. 19,495 |
|                          | 1934                   | 21,242    | 10,075    | 24,467   | 22,324    | 9,339     | 18,750      | 18,750    | 94,664      | 105,071     | 6,791     | Nil         | 2,100       | 333,573      |
|                          | 1935 (upto June only). | 26,942    | 63,174    | 60,472   | 20,992    | 1,003     | 35          | ..        | ..          | ..          | ..        | ..          | ..          | 172,618      |
| Indian Rice ..           | 1933                   | 12,857    | 11,395    | 145,196  | 136,329   | 86,642    | 59,451      | 28,368    | 32,286      | 54,182      | 26,398    | 39,939      | 17,353      | 652,396      |
|                          | 1934                   | 3,678     | 16,164    | 88,164   | 184,047   | 205,112   | 113,187     | 38,495    | 69,786      | 13,654      | 41,933    | 24,286      | 10,786      | 809,232      |
|                          | 1935 (upto July only). | 7,288     | 25,328    | 112,245  | 238,235   | 214,657   | 104,823     | 75,368    | ..          | ..          | ..        | ..          | ..          | 777,944      |

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has the position improved from the point of view of imported Indian rice into England ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Certainly.

PROGRESS OF SUGAR RESEARCH IN INDIA.

414. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- whether on a review of the work done till now, the Sugar Committee of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research has come to the conclusion that the progress made had not kept pace with anticipations, and that India would not be able to stand on her own legs if the present rate was not accelerated, and that the chief reasons for this are paucity of funds for sugar research and the late starting of the Central Research Institute ;
- whether it is a fact that the Committee noted with regret that there were many sanctioned schemes of research which had been held up for want of funds ;
- whether Sir George Rainy, the then Commerce Member, pointed out that adequate funds should be placed at the disposal of the Committee for this research work ;
- whether the Committee have suggested that two annas out of the sugar excise duty should be assigned for the purpose of promoting research, both on the agricultural and on the manufacturing side ; and
- what steps Government propose to take in the matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (d). The Sugar Committee's views are crystallised in a resolution which states that progress in sugar research and agricultural development has not been as rapid as it ought to have been but does not make any mention of delay in starting the Central Sugar Research Institute. The Committee has recommended more intensive work, especially on cane and has expressed the view that a settled and growing source of income should be provided for sugar research either by allocation annually of a sum equal to two annas per cwt. of the excise duty levied on the excisable sugar produced in India or by an annual grant of not less than Rs. ten lakhs.

(b) No.

(c) Yes.

(e) Government have already made or promised grants aggregating Rs. 84 lakhs for sugar research. Requests for financial provision for specific proposals for more intensive work on the lines recommended by the Committee will receive most careful consideration.

TARIFF BOARD ENQUIRY INTO THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

415. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to whether they intend to order an enquiry by the Tariff Board into textile industry, and if so, what the nature of the enquiry will be ?

[16TH SEP. 1935.]

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Honourable Member is referred to the Commerce Department Resolution No. 341-T. (12)35, dated the 10th September, 1935, which was published in the Gazette of India Extraordinary of that date, copies of which are in the Library.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of the fact that this Assembly rejected, by a decisive majority, the Indo-British Trade Agreement, which inter alia provided that British interests ought to be given a hearing before the Indian Tariff Boards, may I know the reason why Government turned down that recommendation of this House, and have now provided for British textile interests being heard by this Tariff Board ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government had already given an undertaking to that effect.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the undertaking was given before the House gave its verdict or after it ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe, before.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why Government did not consider the need for changing their opinion, in view of the verdict of this House ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There is no question of changing their opinion. Government are carrying out an undertaking given.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why Government have prescribed as one of the terms of reference for this Tariff Board that they ought to equate what is called the fair-selling price of Indian textile products with the price of imported articles plus the duty ? Have Government considered that the Indian textile industry may require further or greater or other protection ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In case the Indian textile industry requires further or other or greater protection, I have no doubt they will take the usual course of making an application with reference to this question to the Tariff Board.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if this Tariff Board is incompetent to go into this question ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : This Tariff Board will go into those questions that are detailed in the Resolution, and not others.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the criticism of Mr. Manu Subedar, the President of the Bombay Indian Merchants' Chamber, on this Tariff Board ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If my Honourable friend will refer to the specific criticisms he has in mind, I will be able to answer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether his attention has been drawn to the particular criticism that membership of this Board has been overweighted in favour of those who are in favour of Imperial preference ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That implication is not justified.

REGULATION ISSUED IN RESPECT OF THE QUETTA EARTHQUAKE DISASTER.

416. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the reasons why a Regulation, and not an Ordinance, was issued in respect of the Quetta earthquake disaster ;
- (b) whether the Regulation contemplates giving unlimited powers to local authorities to make rules which will have the force of law ; and
- (c) what the authority was which gave the Military authorities control over the area before the British Baluchistan (Emergency Administration) Regulation, 1935 was issued ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) and (c). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Chapter VII of the pamphlet "Quetta Earthquake, 1935", a copy of which has been sent to all the Members of this House.

(b) No, Sir. The scope of rule-making power conferred on the Local Government is defined in section 2 of the Regulation to which the Honourable Member is referred.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (c), may I have a definite answer as to who the authority was which gave the military authorities control over the area before the Regulation ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The only answer which I can give now is that the alternative was control by the military authorities or complete anarchy.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know the authority of the person,—the Government of India, or the Government of Baluchistan, or the military authorities themselves,—who took control ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : That is a legal question which I think perhaps the Honourable the Law Member will be in a better position to answer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable the Law Member kindly give an answer ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Nobody made over the control of Quetta to the military authorities. There was no martial law which was declared. The military authorities had to take charge, because the civil administration had broken down and the civil officers were not available. Those were the circumstances which compelled them to take charge.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I know the facts ; but what is the law or the authority under which the military took charge of Quetta ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The law, as has been said,—and this can be discussed at the time of the Resolution,—was the law of compelling necessity. And, if it is strictly illegal, it has got to be remedied by an Indemnity Act which has been legalised.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it then that the position is that this act was illegal and that they have since legalised it by an indemnity Act ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It is all there : it is only the endorsement now.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : My point of order is different : it is whether this Bill can be allowed to be moved, without giving us copies of the Bill just to be moved.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It is exactly the same Bill without any sort of alteration, except that there is the endorsement which the Chair has read out to the House. If the Honourable Member wants copies of the Bill with the endorsement, the Secretary will distribute them.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai (Bombay Northern Division : Non-Muham-madan Rural) : Mr. President,.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Do you want to oppose the motion for introduction ?

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : Yes.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does the Honourable the Home Member wish to make any statement ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think I have any statement to make. I have merely to say that the Bill is exactly the same as the Bill which has been discussed at length last week and the week before, and it has been discussed at such length that I can add nothing useful to what has already been said.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : Mr. President, I am glad to notice a certain amount of good humour in the House. In the somewhat unusual step of opposing the leave that is asked for, I am doing so under circumstances which, I think, are fairly well described by the Honourable the Home Member himself. He has told the House that we are asked now to reconsider the measure which has been fully discussed and which, by a decisive vote, last Thursday, the House rejected. They refused to consider it. If there is a constitutional sense in the House, this is a matter that ought to affect the House itself—not merely those who rejected the measure, but also the minority who, as a matter of law, are bound by the same, if there is any propriety, any sense, any value in all the legal phraseology and Acts of the Government of India. Therefore, it is not a matter merely for those who opposed the Bill. The vote of the majority, I think the Honourable the Leader of the House will acknowledge, is the vote of the House ; and loyalty demands that, at all events, in decency, all that they would do when asked for this leave is not to vote in support of it, for the simple reason that legislation in any Assembly of this kind would be impossible, and the Government of the country would be reduced to a mockery if this is the manner in which the House is to be treated by reason of the fact that there is a provision for a recommendation of the same Bill for reconsideration by the same House. I do not wish to use somewhat hackneyed language about an insult to this House or an offence to this House ; but I do wish to say this, in all earnestness, that if this House is merely to be used, whenever convenient, to register the decrees of the executive, and where they think it their duty to oppose it, then it is the will of the executive that should prevail, then it is one of those one-sided affairs in any Legislature in the world where they say then we agree, they should prevail, and where we disagree, then also they should prevail. It is, therefore, a matter of serious moment for the Members opposite to consider with a certain degree of greater earnestness than they are likely probably, in a sort of lighthearted way, to give to it, whether their very existence here is a matter which is not called into question by the recommended Bill which has been brought before this House. If they feel still that nothing is a matter of moment to them, no Constitution, no law, no democracy, no validity of the majority vote of the House, they are entitled to take the course which they did before.

We have often talked of the breakdown of constitutions. At all events, for the second time, during the course of two Sessions in this House, I have witnessed this, and this is the second. And, here, I wish to remind you of an article which a member of the "friendly press" published only yesterday—even that press has the decency and the honesty to recognise that on a proper analysis of the vote of the House, it was a vote of the bulk of the country against this measure (Opposition cries of "Hear, hear") ; and, yet within less than a few hours, an executive decree has been issued that the Bill shall be brought back to you, in substance and in words the same as it was here before, and passed. It is not merely a question, as it is sometimes said, of self-respect—it is a deeper and a higher question ; and there is a section of the House to whom I wish to appeal in order that they may follow the same traditions which they say obtain in their own country, while governing their own country, and that they will recognise their obligation to the majority of the House, and, therefore, to the sense of the House itself and not lend any further support to the Bill at a time when it is brought back to us again on this occasion : and, but for the fact that the Bill is in terms the same, and, in fact, we are asked to reconsider what is already decided, I should not have taken the course which I am doing and which I am asking the House now to take, that this House do refuse to grant leave for the introduction of this Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :
"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to amend the Criminal Law in the form recommended."

The Assembly divided :

AYES—57.

Abdul Aziz, Khan Bahadur Mian.
Acheson, Mr. J. G.
Ahmad Nawaz Khan, Major Nawab.
Allah Bakhsh Khan Tiwana, Khan Bahadur Nawab Malik.
Anwar-ul-Azim, Mr. Muhammad.
Ayyar, Diwan Bahadur R. V. Krishna.
Ayyar, Rao Bahadur A. A. Venkatarama.
Bajoria, Babu Baijnath.
Bajpai, Sir Girja Shankar.
Bhagchand Soni, Rai Bahadur Seth.
Bhat, Mr. Madhusudan Damodar.
Bhutto, Mr. Nabi Baksh Ilahi Baksh.
Blackwell, Mr. J. H.
Bower, Mr. E. H. M.
Boyle, Mr. J. D.
Chapman-Mortimer, Mr. T.
Chatarji, Mr. J. M.
Clow, Mr. A. G.
Craik, The Honourable Sir Henry.
Dalal, Dr. R. D.
L217LAD

Desai, Mr. S. P.
Fazl-i-Haq Piracha, Khan Sahib Shaikh.
Gajapatiraj, Maharaj Kumar Vijaya Ananda.
Ghuznavi, Sir Abdul Halim.
Graham, Sir Lancelot.
Griffiths, Mr. P. J.
Grigg, The Honourable Sir James.
Hands, Mr. A. S.
Hidayatallah, Sir Ghulam Hussain.
Hockenhill, Mr. F. W.
Hossack, Mr. W. B.
James, Mr. F. E.
Jawahar Singh, Sardar Bahadur Sardar Sir.
Lal Chand, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri.
Leach, Mr. F. B.
Lee, Mr. D. J. N.
Lister, Mr. T.
Lloyd, Mr. A. H.

AYES—contd.

MacLachlan, Mr. D.
 Mehr Shah, Nawab Sahibzada Sir Sayad Muhammad.
 Milligan, Mr. J. A.
 Mitchell, The Honourable Mr. D. G.
 Morgan, Mr. G.
 Mukherjee, Rai Bahadur Sir Satya Charan.
 Owen, Mr. L.
 Rajah, Rao Bahadur M. C.
 Rau, Mr. P. R.
 Row, Mr. K. Sanjiva.

Sarma, Mr. R. S.
 Scott, Mr. J. Ramsay.
 Sher Muhammad Khan, Captain Sardar.
 Singh, Mr. Pradyumna Prasad.
 Sinha, Raja Bahadur Harihar Prosad Narayan.
 Sircar, The Honourable Sir Nripendra.
 Tottenham, Mr. G. R. F.
 Yamin Khan, Mr. Muhammad.
 Zafrullah Khan, The Honourable Sir Muhammad.

NOES—69.

Aaron, Mr. Samuel.
 Abdul Matin Chaudhury, Mr.
 Aney, Mr. M. S.
 Asaf Ali, Mr. M.
 Ayyangar, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam.
 Azhar Ali, Mr. Muhammad.
 Ba Si, U
 Badi-uz-Zaman, Maulvi.
 Badrul Hasan, Maulvi.
 Banerjee, Dr. P. N.
 Baqui, Mr. M. A.
 Bardoloi, Sriji N. C.
 Bhagavan Das, Dr.
 Chattopadhyaya, Mr. Amarendra Nath.
 Chettiar, Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam.
 Chetty, Mr. Sami Vencatachelam.
 Chunder, Mr. N. C.
 Das, Mr. B.
 Das, Mr. Basanta Kumar.
 Das, Pandit Nilakantha.
 Datta, Mr. Akhil Chandra.
 Desai, Mr. Bhulabhai J.
 Deshmukh, Dr. G. V.
 Essak Sait, Mr. H. A. Sathar H.
 Fuzlul Huq, Mr. A. K.
 Gadgil, Mr. N. V.
 Ghulam Bhik Nairang, Syed.
 Giri, Mr. V. V.
 Gupta, Mr. Ghansham Singh.
 Hosmani, Mr. S. K.
 Jedhe, Mr. K. M.
 Jogendra Singh, Sirdar.
 Joshi, Mr. N. M.
 Khan Sahib, Dr.
 Khare, Dr. N. B.

Lalchand Navalrai, Mr.
 Laljee, Mr. Husenbhai Abdullahbai.
 Maitra, Pandit Lakshmi Kanta.
 Malaviya, Pandit Krishna Kant.
 Mangal Singh, Sardar.
 Mudaliar, Mr. C. N. Muthuranga.
 Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Qazi.
 Murtuza Sahib Bahadur, Maulvi Syed.
 Nageswara Rao, Mr. K.
 Paliwal, Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta.
 Pant, Pandit Govind Ballabh.
 Parmia Nand, Bhai.
 Raghubir Narayan Singh, Choudhri.
 Rajan, Dr. T. S. S.
 Raju, Mr. P. S. Kumaraswami.
 Ranga, Prof. N. G.
 Sakseena, Mr. Mohan Lal.
 Sant Singh, Sardar.
 Satyamurti, Mr. S.
 Sham Lal, Mr.
 Shaikat Ali, Maulana.
 Sheodass Daga, Seth.
 Siddique Ali Khan, Khan Sahib Nawab.
 Singh, Mr. Ram Narayan.
 Sinha, Mr. Anugrah Narayan.
 Sinha, Mr. Satya Narayan.
 Sinha, Mr. Shri Krishna.
 Som, Mr. Suryya Kumar.
 Sri Prakasa, Mr.
 Thein Maung, Dr.
 Thein Maung, U
 Umar Aly Shah, Mr.
 Varma, Mr. B. B.
 Vissanji, Mr. Mathuradas.

The motion was negatived.

THE JUBBULPORE AND CHHATTISGARH DIVISIONS (DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS VALIDATION) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to remove certain doubts and to validate certain proceedings of the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is : "That leave be given to introduce a Bill to remove certain doubts and to validate certain proceedings of the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

THE CENTRAL PROVINCES COURTS (SUPPLEMENTARY) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill to supplement the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917, be taken into consideration."

I do not think that I shall occupy the time of the House for more than two minutes. The Bill has been necessitated by reason of the intention to have a High Court for the Central Provinces. Owing to that, certain consequential changes have become necessary in various Acts, such as, the Indian Stamp Act, the Code of Criminal Procedure, and so on.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

"That the Bill to supplement the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917, be taken into consideration."

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : I want to say a few words on this Bill. In the last item of the Schedule it is intended by this Bill to insert the words "Chief Courts of Oudh and Sind" in place of the words "the Chief Court of Oudh, the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Sind". My submission is this. Sind is going to be separated.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : This Bill does not relate to Sind : it relates to the Central Provinces.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : In the last item of the Schedule, these words occur, and I am myself wondering why they should appear in a Bill relating to the Central Provinces.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am rather in a difficult position, because I have not followed the exact point of the Honourable Member, but probably what I am going to say will meet his point, or rather the point which I expect he has put forward. The Sind Courts (Supplementary) Act, 1926, is not in operation now. When it comes into operation, all that this Bill provides for is this, that the Court, instead of being called the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Sind, will be called the Chief Court of Sind. If that is the point of my Honourable friend I have given the answer.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I do not think the answer has been given because when that Act comes into operation, the words "Judicial Commissioner's Court" will be taken away and the words "Chief Court" will be substituted. My point is that if any substitution is going to be made in the original Act,—the Sind Courts (Supplementary) Act, 1926,—the words "High Court" should be put in and not the words "Chief Court". My reason is this. Sind is now sought to be separated though it may be against the wishes of certain people. However, as Sind is going to be separated and made into a separate province there is absolutely no reason whatsoever why the Court should remain a Chief Court. The Nagpur Chief Court is going to be made into a High Court and why should there not be a High Court for Sind? The people of Sind have passed resolutions and I have had communications with the Honourable the Home Member asking if a High Court is going to be established in Sind or it is going to be left with only a Chief Court or a Judicial Commissioner's Court. The reply was that the Secretary of State and the Government of India are considering that question. Now, when the question

[16TH SEP. 1935.]

The Honourable Sir Nripendar Sircar : If it was illegal, it has been made legal. I do not concede, and, if necessary, I shall maintain, that it was not illegal.

DEPUTATION IN LONDON OF MR. E. C. MIEVILLE, PRIVATE SECRETARY TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY TO EXAMINE THE WORKING OF THE CABINET SECRETARIAT.

417. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether Mr. E. C. Mievill, Private Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy, has been placed on deputation in London to examine the working of the Cabinet Secretariat ;
- (b) the reasons for this deputation and the cost of this deputation ; and
- (c) whether it is intended to create a post of Cabinet Secretary, and if so, the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a), (b) and (c). Mr. Mievill was deputed to study the working of the Cabinet Secretariat in London in connection with a proposal to create a new post of Secretary to the Executive Council of the Governor General. Government have felt that the procedure under which the business of the Government of India is at present transacted can be improved and made more suited to existing and future conditions by the appointment of an officer whose main duty will be to co-ordinate the work that comes before the Government as a whole and to make and maintain a record of the discussions and decisions in Council. The extra cost involved in Mr. Mievill's deputation, was Rs. 2,618.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether this Cabinet Secretary will be a kind of super Secretary who will report all Cabinet proceedings to the Viceroy and Governor General with a view to his employing his safeguards effectively ? Is that the idea ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No, Sir ; he will be Secretary to the Executive Council.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : And not to the Ministers ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : After Federation comes in, he will certainly be Secretary to the Council of Ministers. It will be for them to decide whether they wish to continue this post or not.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is this gentleman going to attend meetings of the Executive Council and meetings of the future Cabinet ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it consistent with Parliamentary responsibility that a permanent servant should be present at meetings of the Executive Council, although he is not a Member of the Council ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes, it is done in England.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Since when ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Tentatively since 1909 I think, it became a fixed arrangement during the war.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do I understand the Home Member and the Finance Member, jointly to say that, today, in the British Cabinet, permanent servants are allowed to attend and watch the proceedings ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Yes, one permanent civil servant who is Secretary to the Cabinet.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : And does he keep any minutes of the Cabinet proceedings ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Yes, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Since when ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think informally just before the war, and then there was a regular appointment during the war.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will you consult the Prime Minister and find out ? I do not think you are correct.

MESSAGE FROM H. E. THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have received the following Message from His Excellency the Governor General :

"Whereas by its vote of the 12th September, 1935, the Legislative Assembly has refused to take into consideration a Bill entitled a Bill to amend the Criminal Law :

Now, therefore, I, Freeman, Earl of Willingdon, in pursuance of the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 67B of the Government of India Act, do recommend to the Legislative Assembly that it do pass the Bill in the form hereto annexed."

CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, with reference to the Message that you have just read to the House, I should like, with your permission, to be allowed to move for leave to introduce the Bill referred to. Have I your permission, Sir ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Yes.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Then, Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Criminal Law in the form recommended.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to amend the Criminal Law in the form recommended."

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rur. .. a point of order, Sir : may I know if it can be moved without a copy of the Bill being given to us here ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It cannot be moved without the Chair's leave, unless it is on the agenda. The Chair has given leave to the Honourable the Home Member to make the motion.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Where is the Bill, Sir ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : It is the same Bill.

*Not included in these debates.

[16TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham.]

are aware, are a new class, being introduced for the first time in the Indian Army owing to indianization, and it was always the intention that a district court martial should be empowered to award the same punishments to warrant officers of the Indian Army as is the case under the British Army Act for British warrant officers. We, therefore, propose to include by this clause the punishments of forfeiture of seniority and of reprimand and severe reprimand, which are awardable under the British Army Act to British warrant officers. Then we come to clause 4 of the Bill, which is a little bit more elaborate. Under section 103-A of the Indian Army Act at present, whenever, in the course of a trial by a court martial, it appears to the court that the person charged is of unsound mind and, consequently, incapable of making his defence, or that such person committed the act alleged but was by reason of unsoundness of mind incapable of knowing the nature of the act or that it was wrong or contrary to law, the court may record a finding accordingly and then it is possible, under sub-clause (3) of the existing section, to order the accused person to be kept in custody pending a report to the Governor General in Council. Finally, the Governor General in Council may pass an order for his detention in a lunatic asylum. Under sub-clause (5) of the existing section it is also possible, when the accused person is declared to be capable of making his defence, to call him back and have him tried. But there is at present no provision in the Indian Army Act corresponding to sections 474 and 475 of the Criminal Procedure Code by which the release of a lunatic can be ordered or by which he can be delivered to the care of his relatives, if it is not considered necessary to bring him back to trial. Clause 4 of this Bill adds two sub-sections to section 103-A of the Indian Army Act which correspond almost word for word with the provisions of sections 474 and 475 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Sir, in the Army we do not have many lunatics to deal with, but a case did actually arise the other day in which a certain rifleman of the Burma Rifles went off his head and committed a petty theft. He was brought up for trial by court martial and it was found that he was insane. Therefore we took the necessary steps to get him transferred to a mental hospital. After he had been there for some time, the mental hospital reported that he had recovered his sanity but it was discovered that there was no legal power under which we could release him. We took our courage in both hands and ordered his release although it may not have been strictly legal, and we now hope he is enjoying himself in the care of his family. But, Sir, in order to avoid such an anomaly in future, we have brought forward this amendment to the Indian Army Act to cover a case of that kind in future. Sir, I move.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911, for certain purposes, be taken into consideration.”

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2, 3, 4 and 1 were added to the Bill.

The Preamble and the Title were added to the Bill.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Sir, I move :

“ That the Bill be passed.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Bill be passed.”

The motion was adopted.

THE PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I beg to move :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, for a certain purpose, be taken into consideration.”

Sir this Bill was rather over-due, and we have merely taken action as the result of a judgment of the Madras High Court which pointed out that this amendment is very necessary. Shortly speaking, Sir, the position is this. The scheme of both the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act and the Provincial Insolvency Act is that once an insolvent gets his discharge, he should not be harassed any further by such of his creditors as could have proved their case or taken steps against him in the insolvency proceedings. Now, there is a confusion. In regard to the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, there is no difficulty, and there is no conflict of judgment ; but, as regards the Provincial Insolvency Act, the position is that there are two judgments. According to one—which we believe is the sounder judgment—unless the language is changed, an undesirable consequence follows. The result is that there arises a curiously anomalous position, namely, that if insolvency proceedings are taken in a mufassil and not in a Presidency-town, then, if the insolvent has six creditors, and, say, one of them holds out and he does not come into the insolvency proceedings at all, and he takes no steps, and proves no claim, then, if there is a composition, according to this decision—and the language of the section is not very happy—the result of it has been that the man who purposelessly held out is not held to be bound by the composition, so that he can ask for his pound of flesh and get an advantage over the other creditors. Now, that was never intended, and the High Court of Madras pointed out that the Act should be amended in the way that we have done. The result of this Bill being passed will be that the two Acts will be on exactly the same footing, and the creditor who purposelessly does not come into the insolvency proceedings will gain no advantage over those who come. Sir, I move.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved

“ That the Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, for a certain purpose, be taken into consideration.”

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras ceded Districts and Chittoor : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I want to make one or two observations as to how the Bill places the creditor at an enormous disadvantage. Under the present Act, section 33, a schedule of creditors has to be prepared, and, until an order of discharge is made, it is open to the creditor to have his name included in the schedule even though the debt might not have been given the name or the address or have included the name of the creditor in the petition, or even if he fails to give information before the schedule of creditors is prepared. But under the Bill the creditor's name will be limited. As soon as an order of adjudication is passed months or a year is the period ordinarily given for the debtor to apply for his discharge and till then it is open to any creditor, even though his name might have been purposely omitted by the debtor, to come in and have his name entered in the schedule and if the Official Receiver divides the property among the creditors, he is also entitled to have a ratable distribution of the property according to the amount of the debt that is due to him.

[16TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.]

Now, with respect to composition, there is no period of time fixed within which a proposal should be made. Besides the period of six months or a year under the Code and the original period of six months or a year that is granted for the debtor to apply for an order of discharge may be extended from time to time on an application to the Court. Therefore, in practice, this time for applying for an order of discharge is extended beyond one year. It is nearly extended to two years—by a year more. It is open, therefore, to a creditor to come in before the end of two years to apply to be included in the schedule so that he may have the benefit by way of ratable distribution of the property of the insolvent debtor. Here no such period of limitation is fixed within which a debtor could apply for a composition. I submit that in the proposal for composition the inference, that a suitable provision should be made in order to enable the creditor to come in. It ought not to be a one-sided Act of the insolvent with a view to defraud any creditor he chooses. It is open to him to make a proposal at any time after an order of adjudication is made showing only a few persons as persons to whom debts are due. He may try to avoid certain persons who may have been a little harsh on him and those persons may not have had a notice that he applied to be adjudicated an insolvent or that an order of adjudication was passed against him. If this Bill is thrown out, it will prevent them from doing so. Therefore, I submit, that whatever might have been the suggestion of the Learned Judges of the Madras High Court, in this matter, this invaluable right of the creditor should not be taken away. I submit, therefore, that this House should not accept this Bill.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, my Honourable friend has given notice of no amendment.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : I have.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The only answer which I need give to my Honourable friend is this that if there has been a fraud, proceedings because his name was kept back by the debtor and he received no notice, then under the present law he can challenge the composition and have it set aside, so that there need not be any fear for that kind of creditor. Surely, my Honourable friend has not said one word as to why a creditor who purposely does not come into the insolvency proceedings should have this advantage in a provincial insolvency Court when he gets no such advantage in an insolvency under the Insolvency Act, is there any reason whatsoever for it because that gives an incentive to one of the creditors to try to be cleverer than others. The results of insolvency proceedings are nullified if some creditors get an undue advantage. I submit, therefore, that in the absence of any definite amendment, the only point which my friend has made is completely answered by the fact that such a creditor is not put at any disadvantage.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is:

“ That the Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, for a certain purpose, be taken into consideration.”

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 and 1 were added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I move :

“ That the Bill be passed.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is:

“ That the Bill be passed.”

The motion was adopted.

THE INDIAN MOTOR VEHICLES (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, I beg to move :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, for certain purposes, be taken into consideration.”

This is a simple Bill, and I hope it will commend itself to the whole House as a desirable measure. It deals with two points. The first is one of comparatively minor importance and is somewhat technical. I will deal with that first.

Sub-clause (a) of clause 2 of the Bill which is marked (ddd) gives the Local Government power to make rules regulating the manner in which and the duration for which licences may be endorsed. At present, a Local Government has power to make rules regarding the suspension and the cancellation of licences but has not power to make rules regarding the endorsement of licences and it is proposed by this sub-clause to fill that gap. The second and more important part of the Bill is that it proposes to give Courts power to compound certain motoring offences. If the House will compare the new clause 16A which we propose to add to the Act with the various sections in the Act which prescribe the offences, it will be seen that we propose to make compoundable the following offences: Any offence under section 4 of the Act, that is, a driver of the motor vehicle not stopping his vehicle when required to do so by a police officer or by a person in charge of an animal that has been frightened or when he is mixed up in an act. Next, we propose to make compoundable an offence under section 8 of the Act, that is to say, failure to produce a licence when called upon to do so by a police officer. Next, an offence under section 10 of the Act, that is, failure to have a vehicle registered. Next, an offence under section 18, sub-section (5) of the Act, that is, failure of a driver to produce a licence before any authority acting under section 18, which means a Court or a Local Government. Lastly, an offence under section 18, sub-section (7) of the Act, that is, a driver whose licence has been endorsed or who has been disqualified from obtaining a licence applies for or obtains a licence without giving particulars of a is being considered, what is the reason, when the Act itself has not yet come into force, for this supplementary provision in this Bill? It will be an anomaly. The Preamble says: 'to supplement the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917' and at the end something is shoved in like this, I would not say surreptitiously. What I mean to say is, at any rate, it will be redundant in this Bill and, therefore, this Bill should not be passed with respect to this item. If the Honourable Member is prepared even at this moment to say that he would allow an amendment to the effect that instead of 'Chief Court' the words 'High Court' will be substituted, I welcome it but if not, I will oppose it.

[Mr. Lalchand Navalrai.]

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I now see the point. We are making no change in substance and when we are legislating for the Central Provinces my friend wants to get this High Court for Sind established. That cannot be done. If and when the High Court of Sind is established, some further provisions may be necessary in some other Acts.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

"That the Bill to supplement the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 and 1 were added to the Bill.

The Schedule, the Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

THE PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill further to amend the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, for a certain purpose, be taken into consideration."

The matter is so simple that probably nothing need be said beyond to draw the attention of the House to the Statement of Objects and Reasons :

"This Bill is designed to remove certain doubts which have arisen in the interpretation of the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887. As the section stands, an applicant is required to give security to the satisfaction of the Court at the time of presenting his application. It follows that, in order to ascertain what security satisfies the Court, the applicant must already have made an application in that behalf. There is also some doubt whether the words 'as the Court may direct' apply to the deposit of the whole decretal amount as well as to the giving of approved security. The Bill is intended to make it clear that the preliminary application to ascertain what security will satisfy the Court must be made and decided before the substantive application for the order to set aside the decree, and that it is always open to the applicant to adopt the alternative course of depositing the total decretal amount."

THE PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

1065

I only need say in supplementing this statement that there is doubt whether the words 'as the Court may direct' apply to the deposit of the whole decretal amount as well as to the giving of approved security. Different Courts have been giving different interpretations.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

"That the Bill further to amend the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, for a certain purpose, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 and 1 were added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

THE INDIAN ARMY (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham (Army Secretary) : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911, for certain purposes, be taken into consideration."

I am aware that amendments to the Indian Army Act are sometimes looked upon with suspicion by Honourable Members opposite, but I can honestly lay my hand on my heart and say that not even the most captious critic can find anything to cavil at in this small Bill. At the same time, as Honourable Members may find some difficulty in understanding the Bill in its present form, I will do my best to explain very briefly what its three operative sections really mean. Clause 2 (a) of the Bill merely includes among the deductions from pay which are authorised by section 50 of the Indian Army Act, the forfeiture of certain classes of pay, which is awardable as a minor punishment under section 20. Under section 20, certain officers are empowered to award certain minor punishments like forfeiture of good conduct pay, etc., whereas section 50 purports to set out a complete list of all possible legal deductions from pay and makes no mention of the forfeitures under section 20. That is to say, this clause sets right an anomaly which has existed in the Act for some time. Clause 2 (b) is merely a consequential amendment, following an amendment of the Indian Army Act made last year. By that Amending Act of last year, section 42 of the Indian Army Act was deleted and, therefore, the reference to section 42 which has been left in this particular part of section 50 is meaningless and we are now removing it. Then, Sir, clause 3 of the Bill also makes good an accidental omission in last year's Amending Act, which laid down the punishments that could be awarded to warrant officers by a district court martial. Warrant officers, as Honourable Members endorsement or disqualification. All those offences we propose to make compoundable. The graver offences under the Motor Vehicles Act, namely, those mentioned in sections 3, 5, 6 and 7 will not be compoundable. We also propose to make an offence against a rule laid down by the Local Government under the Act compoundable. Naturally, offences against rules are of a less serious nature than offences against the substantive sections of the law. We do not propose that composition will be automatic in every case of these comparatively minor offences. The composition will only be allowed with the permission of the Court and the offender will not be entitled to claim composition as of right. There may be instances where, although the offence is of a comparatively trivial nature, the offender may have committed the same offence before and in such cases probably composition should not be allowed, at any rate not as a matter of course. Secondly, the sum for which the offence may be compounded must be fixed by the Court and cannot exceed the fine which is the maximum for the offence. The maximum fine for a first offence is Rs. 100 and for a second offence it is Rs. 200.

[Sir Henry Craik.]

There are just two other points I might mention. One is that it will be within the discretion of the Court to dispense with the attendance of the accused person if it thinks fit. That will prevent people from being dragged into Court unnecessarily for trivial offences which they are quite prepared to admit. Secondly, composition of an offence will rank as a conviction, that is to say, it can be endorsed on the licence which, I think, is a reasonable provision. That I think is all I have to say about the Bill.

There is one other provision which I ought perhaps to mention, namely, that we propose to give Local Governments power to make rules regulating the procedure to be adopted by Courts when they decide that an offence could be compounded. I do not think there is anything else that I need explain to the House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, for certain purposes, be taken into consideration.”

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, the Honourable the Home Member said that the provisions of this Bill are very simple. But they appear to me to be very extraordinary. When you refer to clause 3 of the Bill, you will find that I am perfectly justified in saying that the provisions of this Bill are very extraordinary. If I am able to show to the House that the provisions are unusual, I hope at least the lawyer Members of this House will consider that point from the point of view of the principle involved therein and will then say whether they should accede to the passing of such a measure with such a principle embodied therein. I submit that the House should properly understand the Bill before giving its assent to it. For the benefit of those Honourable Members who might not have read clause 3 of the Bill, I will read it. It runs :

“(1) Offences punishable under this Act (other than offences under sections 3, 5, 6 and 7 and such offences against rules made under this Act as the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, have declared to be non-compoundable) shall, with the permission of the Court, be compoundable, either before or after the appearance of the accused, on payment by the accused of such sum, not exceeding the maximum amount of fine with which the offences are made punishable by this Act, as the Court may determine.

(2) The composition of an offence under this section shall have the effect of a conviction of the accused with whom the offence has been compounded.”

Now, my difficulty is this. Under the general law or under the fundamental principles of general law, when a compromise is effected, that does not mean that the guilt has been admitted. Lawyer Members of this House will realise that under the Criminal Procedure Code, if any offence has been compounded, that means an acquittal. It leaves no stigma of criminality upon the person and it cannot be that a compromise would mean punishing the man to pay as much fine as could be levied under that very section. Because it is left to the magistrate to give permission or not for compounding an offence, it does not mean that he should impose a fine on the person even if after he compounds the offence. According to this provision contained in the Bill, it comes to this that a man is asked to plead guilty. After he pleads guilty, the magistrate will punish him with fine up to the maximum limit to which he can go. Then, I ask what is the use of compounding an offence, if the man is really going to be punished. I cannot understand this law. I have never come across any law in which compounding is treated as an acknowledgment of one's guilt and fine is imposed on the man with the result that a stain is left on the character of the man, so that the next time he commits the same offence, he is treated as an old offender and enhanced punishment is awarded to him. I do not think this House will lend its support to a drastic law of this nature. If the provisions of the Criminal Law Amendment Act are considered to be such as the most harassing to the people of this country, then a Bill of the present nature would amount to nothing less. If you become a party to it next time the Government might come forward with another Bill amending the Criminal Procedure Code to the effect that compounding will always mean admission of guilt and also a liability to punishment with fine to the maximum extent allowed by the Act. A Bill like this might be thrown on our face by the Home Member and then he may say that there is a precedent for such a measure because the House passed the Indian Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act. I would, therefore, request the House to seriously consider the position. I am sure this would appeal to the Members of the House. As I have explained it clearly, I am sure it would also appeal to the non-lawyer Members of the House also. Would the House like that an accused, when he comes before a Court upon a summons and is willing to compromise and the other party also agrees to it, the magistrate should not allow him to enter into a compromise, except on payment of fine? The magistrate will say : “ You are fined and you are, therefore, not acquitted of guilt ”. I cannot accept a law like this. I thought that if there were any reasons for bringing forward a measure like this, those reasons must be found in the Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill. But what does a perusal of the Statement of Objects and Reasons reveal? There also I got disappointed, because it is a mere repetition of what is said in the clause of the Bill. It reads :

“ The Bill seeks to give effect to this recommendation. It is thought that offences under sections 3, 5, 6 and 7 of the Act should not be made compoundable, and as regards offences against the rules made by Local Governments under section 11 of the Act, it is proposed to leave it to them to notify what such offences are to be made non-compoundable.”

[Mr. Lalchand Navalrai.]

I can understand this. But, further on, it says :

" Other offences should be made compoundable, with the permission of the Court, either before or after the appearance of the accused in the Court, for a sum not exceeding the maximum amount of fine for the offence concerned."

This throws no further light on what is said in the clauses of the Bill. I would request the Honourable the Law Member to explain this law. Unless the Honourable the Law Member says that this is an extraordinary law and shows that there are valid reasons for enacting such an extraordinary law, I submit that this House should not give its consent for the passing of such a measure.

Further on, it is said, in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, that composition should count as a conviction. I have never heard that composition would count as a conviction. If it is a composition amounting to conviction, I submit you do not call it a compromise. Call it conviction. In such a case, it would only amount to this much that the offender will be excused from personal attendance in Court. That is the only concession to be made. That concession is allowed even under the ordinary law. An accused is often exempted from putting in personal appearance. Therefore, I submit, that the provisions contained in this Act are such that they should not be passed light-heartedly by Honourable Members of this House without giving serious consideration to the provisions.

Then, it is said :

" Such composition should count as a conviction, and the driver's licence will be liable to be endorsed under sub-section (2) of section 18. The machinery for composition of offences is left to be governed by rules to be made under the Act."

Now, Sir, my first objection is that this Bill should not be passed, but I would even go further and ask leave of the Chair to allow me to move an amendment with regard to the Select Committee, that this Bill be sent to the Select Committee and it should undergo a fresh and very careful examination in view of the peculiar nature of it. I would, therefore, request you to give me permission to move this amendment.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muham-madan Rural) : Sir, I rise to support Mr. Lalchand Navalrai. The motor car is a dangerous vehicle that has come on our roads ; and any legislation about it must be carefully considered. I may say at the outset that I am a driver myself ; and, therefore, I know the difficulties of driving, and I also know the difficulties of those who use the roads for walking and cycling and for other purposes. I hope I shall not be accused of imputing any motive to any one, but it seems to me that this law is meant to facilitate the wealthy folk who own motor cars. The Honourable the Home Member thinks that offences against sub-section (7) of section 18 of the Original Act are only of a technical nature, and I think, on the contrary, that those offences are serious offences and should not be allowed to be compounded. The section runs :

" No person whose licence has been endorsed or who has been disqualified for obtaining a licence shall apply for, or obtain, a licence without giving particulars of each endorsement or disqualification."

Any offence against this is not compoundable according to the amendment now moved. Now, I want to draw the attention of this House to this particular section which is worked in an amazing manner. I know at least two boys in my own city of Benares who, in the absence of their parents, got licenses for driving motor cars although they were not 18. And later on, I had to warn their parents against the danger that they were running under the Act if their boys actually drove those cars. Boys will be boys ; and they have actually been driving those cars in public places. Luckily no accidents have so far occurred, but I am surprised at the Licensing Officer who can give licences to boys when they go to him for a licence even though they are quite obviously below 18. If the Honourable the Home Member were to add some sort of a sub-clause making it an offence for a Licensing Officer to give a licence like that I should be with him. My great complaint against this Government is that in whatever it does it makes the non-official responsible and not the official. According to sub-section (2) of section 3 of the original Act, the parent who, in the beginning, did not even know that the boy had gone out and taken a licence like that, is made punishable. Surely the Honourable the Home Member should find some way by which the Licensing Officers should be made punishable for dereliction of duty and gross carelessness. I could go on pointing to other defects in this amending Bill but if my Honourable friend Mr. Lalchand Navalrai's motion is allowed by you, then it will be possible for the Select Committee to go into the question. I certainly would plead with you to suspend the Standing Order and permit that motion to be moved so that this question may be taken into consideration more carefully. The House has been rather excited over a most unfortunate Bill for the last so many days ; and I will confess that many of us did not bother much about the other Bills which were on the agenda. I will confess myself that it is only now that I have looked into this Bill.

I will only refer to one other section. Though I hold a couple of legal degrees they are only academic, because I am not really a practising lawyer. So, if I make some mistakes, you and my other friends here will please excuse me. There is a section, section 5, offences against which have been made non-compoundable. The section runs thus :

" Whoever drives a motor vehicle in a public place recklessly or negligently or at a speed or in a manner which is dangerous to the public having regard to all the circumstances of the case, including the nature, condition and use of the place and the amount of traffic it actually has at the time or which might reasonably be expected to be in the place, shall, on conviction, be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees."

Now, what actually happens is this. Most motor drivers,—and I am sure I can include most of the Members opposite who are so fond of law and order—most motor drivers, if not all, contravene the rules under which they hold their licences, and they clearly say that they take the risk. Many of them are not licensed to drive over 15 to 25 miles an hour. I myself have a licence to drive only at 15 miles an hour ; but I scarcely drive a car at that low speed, because, as all drivers know, engines are in danger of being spoiled if motors are driven at too slow a speed. Now, I am myself a fairly nervous man and so I never go beyond 20 or 25 miles, but most Honourable Members opposite must have enjoyed the fun of driving at the rate of 50 or 60 miles an hour.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I do not drive at all.

[16TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Now, Sir, this clause, as it stands, can be interpreted to mean that if an accident happens when a car is driven at a dangerous speed, in a crowded place, then only is the driver punishable. If he drives at an enormous speed, when, say, he is running between Delhi and Meerut and an accident happens, he can take shelter behind the wording of the amending Bill, and make his offence compoundable, because he will say that he does not come within the terms of this section because he was not driving at a speed or in a manner which is dangerous to the public having regard to all the circumstances including the nature, condition, etc. He will say that it was an open road where old men and children are not usually found; and if one came up and got crushed under the wheels of his car, then he should be allowed to take advantage of this amendment and compound the offence. Rich men can also buy off poor people. If the Honourable the Home Member really seriously means that even in those cases the offence will not be compoundable, then, I think, he should say so definitely in his Bill.

Before I close, I should like to draw the attention of the Law Member to a particular point. It is not exactly connected with this Bill, but it seems to me rather important. You know that the Honourable the Law Member is often quoting May's Parliamentary Practice; and when, after we have defeated the Bill this afternoon, I find other Bills being brought forward, I was anxious to know on what page of May's Parliamentary Practice it was given that the Government should not resign after such a thundering defeat but continue introducing other Bills. It is surprising that after sustaining that defeat they still have the gumption to come before the House with many minor Bills which also are quite dangerous in their own way. While the Criminal Law Amendment Bill was dangerous to the public peace, this particular Bill is a positive danger to those who use the public roads; and I should certainly ask the Honourable the Home Member to bring forward amendments to this Act, if he thinks of bringing them forward at all, in such a manner that the keeping of motors and the driving of motors may be regulated very strictly.

I know that the motor vehicles have come to stay, and I also know that this civilisation, which may be described as a civilisation on wheels, will invent other vehicles that will go faster than motors or such vehicles as are not in vogue today. But with the coming of these dangerous vehicles, the laws must be strengthened; and I personally suggest strongly that the laws should be so amended that we should have a decent set of Licensing Officers. I personally have very little faith in the type of men who are Licensing Officers today. They are usually police officers. Now, it is a pity that the force, that should be loved by the people, is a force that is most hated. It cannot be that our people are congenitally so perverse as to dislike a useful class of public servants without cause. They are our brothers and we should ordinarily like them. I know that the dislike that we have for the ways of the police is not minded by them, because from time to time, high officers of the Government come down and give them certificates of merit. I have never yet heard of certificates of merit being given to the London police, for the simple reason that the whole world praises them and they are not in need of such certificates. Now, to give police officers the right of granting licences to those who want to drive these vehicles is very dangerous; and I will tell you why. The first reason is that most of the well-to-do persons in a town always to be in the good books of the police officers; and I know for a fact that many licences have been given to persons who have not known driving at all, simply because some friend of the Licensing Police Officer has requested him to give a licence to a friend of his who after receiving the licence learns how to drive. It should be made incumbent on the Licensing Officer to examine carefully and strictly the person who is seeking a licence before that licence is given.

The second thing is that there is another class of motor drivers,—lorry drivers and others—who, by ways not unfamiliar to any side of the House, keep themselves in the good books of the police, and, therefore, escape many wrongs that they do. I will give you an illustration out of an experience of my own. I was going for Congress propaganda in the interior of a district. They brought out the usual drums and slogans and flags, which are so anathema to the Honourable the Law Member and to which he referred in scathing terms in his still unfinished speech at Delhi and which we hope will at last be finished tomorrow (Laughter).....

An Honourable Member : No; it will not.

Mr. Sri Prakasa :....When I was taken out with these drums and slogans, which I dislike as much as the Honourable the Law Member—I am sick of them—I was seated on a lorry and the flags were fastened on, and as the lorry started, I happened to mark that the driver, instead of using the brake, he always used the gear, bringing it from the top to the first gear, as soon as he saw any old person or child in front. This happened about half a dozen times, when I got suspicious; and I said to the man: "Have you not got a brake? Why should you meddle with your gear in this way?" He said: "The brake is out of order; but it does not matter: there is going to be an inspection the day after tomorrow and I am going to get it put right tomorrow." I said: "But I am going to die today: what is the use of your getting it put right tomorrow?" He said: "Do not worry. I am usually taking policemen about, free of all cost, and so nobody will interfere." My death mattered very little to him, though it mattered very much to me; and with great anxiety I proceeded on my journey. Now, if this is the way in which licences are to be given, and offences made compoundable to boot, then I think you had better give up the system of issuing licences at all and delete all law on the subject. But if, really, seriously, you mean to control motor and other dangerous traffic, you ought to have a more stringent Bill than the one before the House today.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair understands the Honourable Mr. Mitchell wishes to make a statement with regard to certain business in his charge.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, in connection with Mr. James's motion last Friday for the re-circulation of the Payment of Wages Bill, I said that I would consult some of the Members of the House specially interested and would decide whether to proceed with the Bill this Session or not. Government have considered this question, and have been influenced in their decision by two main considerations. Firstly, the interval of time elapsing since the publication of the Select Committee's Report has undoubtedly not been sufficient to allow the interests concerned to study carefully the important changes made by the Select Committee. Secondly, numerous amendments have already been proposed, and these require detailed consideration. Government, therefore, propose not to proceed with the Bill till the beginning of the Budget Session.

[16TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. D. G. Mitchell.]

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Tuesday, 17th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 17th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

OFFICER ON SPECIAL DUTY IN THE REFORMS OFFICE.

418. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they have placed an officer on special duty in the Reforms Office for the purpose of revising the Statute Book in the light of the new Constitution ;
- (b) what the scope of the work will be ; and
- (c) what the extra cost will be ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) The reply is in the affirmative.

(b) The provisions of section 293 of the Government of India Act, 1935, render it necessary that as a preliminary to the issue of the Order in Council referred to therein, an examination of all-India Acts, Ordinances, Orders, bye-laws, rules and regulations should be undertaken with a view to the preparation of draft amendments bringing such Acts, Ordinances, etc., into accord with the provisions of the said Act. The Special Officer will be required to take up this examination and the preparation of draft amendments : he will also have to scrutinise the proposals of Local Governments who will be undertaking similar work in respect of the revision of Provincial Acts, etc.

(c) The officer has been appointed for a period of six months in the first instance and the extra cost for this period including that of his establishment will be approximately Rs. 35,000.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know to what my Honourable friend refers, when he talks of Ordinances, in connection with this Special Officer's work ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I was quoting the language of section 293—whatever Ordinances, orders, bye-laws, rules and regulations which are in force and which, according to section 293, have now got to be amended and brought into conformity with the present Act. That is the work which has been taken up by him.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Apart from Statutes, that is to say, Acts, are there, to the knowledge of the Honourable the Law Member, any Ordinances, Regulations or bye-laws which will come within the scope of the work of this officer ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Speaking offhand, I can think of some Regulations which are still called Regulations,—not only Regulation III of 1818 which has been much discussed, but other Regulations relating to permanent settlement and similar other matters. So far as I know, there are no Ordinances at present.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are there any terms of reference to the special officer for his work, apart from that wording of the Government of India Act? Have the Government of India laid down the scope of his work, by any order, or by any terms of reference?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : No. So far as I know, he works under the Reforms Commissioner and instructions to him are really to be found in the language of section 293. No special instructions have been given.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the intention of Government with regard to this legislation? Do they intend bringing it up before the next Delhi Session of the Assembly?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : So far as I can see, that has not got to be done under section 293.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that the work of this special officer will not require, at any stage, the consent of this Legislature?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : My Honourable friend is correct.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask one more question? How long is this Reforms Office going to be continued, even though the Government of India Act has been placed on the Statute-book?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If my Honourable friend will tell me when the Federation is coming into operation, I may be able to answer his question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If I were the Law Member, I would be jolly glad to tell you. (Laughter.)

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : You would be equally ignorant, even if you were Law Member.

INDIAN TRADE COMMISSIONERS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

419. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) how many Trade Commissioners there are representing India in foreign countries ;
- (b) whether they intend appointing a Trade Commissioner in Japan ; and
- (c) what the countries are in respect of which they intend appointing Trade Commissioners shortly ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Two, one at Hamburg and one in Milan.

(b) The question is under consideration.

(c) No decision has yet been taken.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When was the last Trade Commissioner appointed?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I could not give the exact date, but I should imagine about a year ago.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why this question has been hanging fire all this time? Do not Government realise that, at least in certain parts of the world, there is urgent and imperative need for the appointment of Trade Commissioners to protect Indian interests?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If my Honourable friend will point out the quarters in which there is an urgent need, I shall consider the matter.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : When do Government propose to appoint a Trade Commissioner in the United States of America?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have not said that we are going to appoint one there.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government considering the appointment of Trade Commissioners to any other countries, except these two countries?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If by considering my Honourable friend means whether Government are considering the possibility of doing so, yes.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Which countries?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The countries that are under consideration are Japan, British East Africa or rather Kenya, the United States of America, and possibly, although I do not think there is much hope of that, Egypt.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How long do Government propose to consider this matter? Is there any inherent difficulty in the subject, or is it because of the usual indifference of the Government to vital matters affecting this country?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I deny the implication contained in the latter part of the question. One difficulty, for instance, is finance.

Sardar Mangal Singh : Will the Honourable Member be pleased to state whether all the Trade Commissioners to be appointed will be Indians?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I could not say.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it a fact that the question of appointing a Trade Commissioner in the United States of America has been hanging fire for the last three years?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I do not know what my Honourable friend means by hanging fire, but it has been under consideration for some time.

Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : What is the annual cost of the Trade Commissioner in Hamburg?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I should require notice of that question. I have not got the figures with me here.

(e) A copy of the report, when published, will be supplied to each Member of the Legislature. Copies will also be placed in the Library. The conclusions of Government on the Report are published in the Gazette of India, Part I, and proposals, if any, requiring legislation will, as usual, be brought before the House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether, before Government finally pass orders, they will consult the opinion of this House ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why not, Sir ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am not bound to give reasons.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why Government, in a matter of this vital importance to the development of industries and trade in this country, refuse to consult this House or even refuse to give reasons why they will not consult this House ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Whatever decision Government take will come before this House, if it involves legislation. That will be the time for the House to express its opinion on these proposals.

RESULTS OF THE OTTAWA TRADE AGREEMENT.

422. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the statement of Lord Snowden in his autobiography that :

(i) the British Delegation admitted to him that they had a difficult time and the proceedings were anything but harmonious ;

(ii) a complete break-up was averted at the last moment by further concession on the part of Britain ; and

(iii) the British Delegation were out-maneuvred at every point

(b) whether they have seen his summing up of the results of the Ottawa Pact as follows :

“ Britain lost her fiscal autonomy and her power of bargaining through tariffs. The Dominions made no concessions of any value, but gained a free market in Britain, while maintaining their tariff walls intact ” ;

(c) whether they have considered the bearing of this on India and whether they will keep this in mind in making their recommendations in this House with regard to the Ottawa Pact ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) The Government of India fail to see what bearing Lord Snowden's statements have on India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if Government have considered this particular statement contained in clause (b) ?

“ Britain lost her fiscal autonomy and her power of bargaining through tariffs. The Dominions made no concessions of any value, but gained a free market in Britain, while maintaining their tariff walls intact.”

May I know if my friend, the Commerce Member, has considered the bearing of that statement of Lord Snowden on India, and whether he is satisfied that India also was not let down ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If my Honourable friend will explain the first portion of the question and say what bearing this has on India, I may be in a position to reply to the second part ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I cannot help my friend.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Then it is obvious I cannot answer the question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I know you cannot understand the question.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I said “ I cannot answer the question ”.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If you understood it, you will have answered it.

DISPUTE BETWEEN THE MYSORE GOVERNMENT AND THE GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS re CAUVERY WATERS.

423. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether the dispute regarding the Cauvery waters concerning the amount to be paid by the Mysore Government to the Government of Madras has been referred to the Government of India for arbitration ;

(b) at what stage the matter stands ; and

(c) whether the case for the Government of Madras has been presented and considered by the Government of India ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The case for the Madras Government has been presented and the matter is under the consideration of the Government of India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it “ consideration ” by the Government of India themselves, or are they going to appoint an arbitrator or judicial authority to advise them on this matter ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : It is the Government of India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When do they hope to come to a conclusion on this matter ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I cannot give any reply to that at present, Sir.

DEMAND FOR INDIANISATION OF INDIAN PORT TRUSTS.

424. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the communication of the Secretary of the Indian Merchants' Chamber, to the Secretary to Government in the Commerce Department, relating to Indian Port Trusts ;

(b) whether they are aware of the demand of an Indian majority on the Indian Port Trusts, and an Indian Chairman; and

(c) what steps Government have taken or propose to take in the matter?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a), (b) and (c). The Honourable Member is referred to the answer already given to Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar's question No. 148 answered in this House on the 5th September, 1935, by the Honourable the Law Member.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What is the answer to clause (c)?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Clause (c) has been answered already by the Law Member.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : When do Government expect to appoint an Indian as President of the Port Trust.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : This was answered several times on the floor of the House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Very unsatisfactory, Sir.

RE-BUILDING OF QUETTA

425. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the statement made by Mrs. Karlake, wife of Major-General Karlake, General Officer Commanding the Baluchistan District, that, devastated by the recent earthquake, Quetta can never be re-built on the same spot ;

(b) whether Government have considered the site for the re-building of Quetta ;

(c) whether they are considering any alternative to re-building Quetta ; and

(d) what steps they propose to take for locating the Army if Quetta is not to be re-built ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes.

(b), (c) and (d). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Chapter VIII of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935".

The matter is now under consideration.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know—I will only ask for some further light, if any is available—whether Government, before making up their minds on this very important question, will consult the opinion of this House? Has there been any change in the position of the Government?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : We dealt with that matter a day or two ago, when I explained the position.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government propose to consult the House on this matter?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I explained that it was open to Honourable Members to bring a Resolution before the House on this subject, if they wish. Government have no immediate intention of bringing the matter before the House themselves.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know when the consideration will come to an end and we will know the result?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I hope within the next fortnight or a month.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : At the end of the red pamphlet, it is said that the Legislature will be consulted before forming plans for re-building Quetta?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : What is actually said on the last page is that possibly the Legislative Assembly may wish to discuss the matter. It was open to them to do so, if they wanted to.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Now that the Legislative Assembly wishes to discuss this matter, will Government place it before the House?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have already answered that question.

POSITION OF THE INDIAN BUSINESS COMMUNITY IN KENYA.

426. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the news published in the Madras Mail of June 29th, that the Indian business community in Kenya have abandoned their shops and have gathered at the Government headquarters for protection ;

(b) what steps Government have taken in the matter ; and

(c) the latest position with regard to the same?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a), (b) and (c). Government have seen the report in the Madras Mail referred to by the Honourable Member. According to information received from the Colonial Government the trouble occurred in Narok district and the disturbance, which appears to have been purely local and was in no way directed against the Indian community, was promptly suppressed. Government have had no representation on the subject from the Indian community in Kenya.

ALLEGATIONS OF LOOTING, ETC., AGAINST THE SOLDIERS AT QUETTA AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE.

427. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the statement contained in the Daily Worker, London, dated the 24th July, 1935, making serious allegations of looting, etc., against the soldiers at Quetta after the recent earthquake ;

(b) whether they propose to examine the accuracy or otherwise of the statements contained therein ; and

(c) whether they will place the result of such examination on the table of this House?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes.

(b) The Government made inquiries and satisfied themselves that the allegations are without foundation. The eye-witness alleged to have been responsible for making them was traced and on being questioned, he contradicted practically every statement attributed to him.

(c) No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Who was the eye-witness, Sir ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I forget his name, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was he an Indian or a European ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : An Indian.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Who examined him ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The civil authorities in Sind ; I think the Chief Commissioner, Sind.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : About six weeks ago.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Where ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : In Karachi.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was any written statement taken from him, and has he signed that statement contradicting all these statements ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I believe so, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are the Government of India aware whether His Majesty's Government proceeded against the Daily Worker for publishing these statements ? That was in your country—not mine ? Was any action taken against the Daily Worker of London by His Majesty's Government for publishing all these, to the knowledge of this Government ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That is not the concern of the Government of India ; I do not know whether any action was taken at home ; I imagine not.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why, then, was similar action taken in this country, Sir ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Against what paper ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The Free Press, Sir. The Government of India admit that the Daily Worker published these statements in London. I am asking the question, in view of that statement, whether any action was, to the knowledge of the Government of India, taken against this paper in London ; if no action was taken, why no such action was taken, and why was such action taken only against the Free Press and other journal in this country ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The reason why action was taken in India against various papers was that those papers published a tissue of most disgraceful lies. I do not know whether action was taken against the Daily Worker or not, but I imagine it was not worth prosecution, because it represents a minute fraction of public opinion there, and statements like that carry in England their own refutation.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why, then, should Government not follow the same good policy in this country ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Because the circumstances in India are completely different ; because a large part of the reading public here believes anything that is published. In England, a large part of the reading public does not believe anything and everything that is published in papers like the Daily Worker.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the basis of this opinion of the Home Member that in this country the reading public is so credulous or so foolish as to believe anything and everything, that is published in the papers ?

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : May I ask the Home Member whether, in the opinion of the Government, any daily paper in England can publish the most serious libels about people in India and get off scot-free ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not see that that arises.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : Is it the opinion of the Government that any paper in England can publish the most serious libel about people in India, whether they be Englishmen or Indians, and go scot-free ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : It depends on the standing and influence of the paper. If the paper is one of any standing and influence, we should certainly ask His Majesty's Government at home to take action in respect of any allegation of this nature. In the case of the Daily Worker, we think His Majesty's Government are perfectly competent to form their own judgment.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Army Secretary if he will place the papers with regard to these things at Karachi on the table ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Why not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Because it is not in the public interest to do so.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Are Government aware that the very fact that they refuse to place these papers on the table raises a suspicion in our minds that there is something wrong at Quetta ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : If this gentleman has contradicted and signed that statement, what is the difficulty in the way of the Government placing that statement on the table of the House ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : It would merely give unnecessary publicity to these disgraceful lies.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will the Honourable Member show those papers to Honourable Members of this House ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If the Honourable Member wishes to see the papers, then I will show them to him personally.

HARDSHIPS CAUSED TO PILGRIMS ATTENDING THE KANDURI FESTIVAL, NAGORE, BY THE CUSTOMS OFFICERS, SANNAMEANGALAM CHOWKI.

428. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to the representations received by the Central Board of Revenue from the Muslim Association, Nagore, to the effect that the public, the Negapatam Municipality and the pilgrims attending the Kanduri Festival, Nagore, are put to much hardship by the Customs Officers, Sannamangalam Chowki ;
- (b) whether such officers act contrary to the provisions contained in paragraph 38, sub-paragraphs 1 to 3 (Chapter IV) of the Madras Land Customs Manual, in not exempting the cloth actually worn on and articles of less than the exempted value belonging to the passengers through the chowki ;
- (c) whether even gosha ladies are compelled to doff their clothing under the pretext of having to weigh them for duty assessment, and indirectly compelling them to pay maximum duty to avoid the ignominy of changing clothing publicly ; and
- (d) whether Government have taken any action in the matter, and if not, why not ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) Yes.

(b) No. The exemption in respect of wearing apparel has been withdrawn as the concession was being greatly abused.

(c) The examination of lady passengers is always conducted by a lady clerk in a private room set apart for the purpose.

(d) Government do not consider that any further action is required.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (c) of the question, may I know if Government have made inquiries if such representations were received by them and if they have satisfied themselves that the rules which my Honourable friend laid down,—that is to say, that gosha ladies shall be examined only in privacy and only by lady customs examiners—is being observed in all cases ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Yes, Sir.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What was the answer to clause (c), Sir ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd :

“ The examination of lady passengers is always conducted by a lady clerk in a private room set apart for the purpose.”

SALE OF SURPLUS STOCK OF QUININE.

429. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether it is a fact that they are carrying on certain negotiations for the sale of surplus stock of quinine to the Kina Bureau,
- (b) whether Government have at present nearly 300,000 lbs. of quinine in stock ;

- (c) the reasons why they want to dispose of this surplus stock ;
- (d) whether, before they do so, they would call a conference of the representatives of the Provincial Governments with a view to evolving a plan of co-ordinated action to solve the problem of surplus stock ;
- (e) whether they have come to any conclusion about the minimum requirements of the country to fight out malaria satisfactorily ; and the actual output of the Government plantations and the ways and means to make India self-sufficient in her requirements of quinine ; and
- (f) what steps Government propose to take to make India self-sufficient in the matter of the supply of quinine ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) No.

(b) At the end of June, 1935, the total stock of quinine held by the Government of India was 229,133 lbs. This includes 150,000 lbs. which the Government of India have decided to maintain as a reserve to meet national emergencies.

(c) and (d). In pursuance of recommendations of past Public Accounts Committees Government sought to get rid of the surplus, which was much greater before than it is now, because it represented capital uselessly locked up. Of the surplus of 79,000 lbs. which the Government of India had at the end of June, 1935, after deducting the reserve of 150,000 lbs., 45,000 lbs. have been given to Local Governments for free distribution. Only a balance of 34,000 lbs. thus remains, and it is not considered necessary to call a conference of the representatives of Provincial Governments to discuss the disposal of this amount.

(e) and (f). Public health being a subject of joint responsibility and responsibility for this matter rests with the Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (c) of the question, may I know if there is any all-India survey contemplated, to find out the data for conclusions on these very important questions,—namely, the minimum requirements of quinine to fight malaria, and the actual output of the Government plantations now, and the ways and means to make India self-sufficient ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Well, Sir, I have already answered that question. I have said that even in future this matter will be entirely one for Local Governments, and it is for Local Governments to take such initiative in the matter as they desire. I have had an estimate from the Public Health Commissioner that the total requirements of India are something like 500,000 lbs.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the Honourable Member realises the total toll of deaths and of permanent injury to health and suffering in the whole of India, owing to this scourge of malaria year after year ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I can assure my Honourable friend that the Public Health Commissioner with the Government of India, whose business it is to study provincial reports and co-ordinate such information as is available in the matter year after year, does emphasise the need for Local Governments to take suitable action.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know whether the Trade Commissioners who have been appointed up till now are Indians or Europeans ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The one at Hamburg and the other in Milan are both Indians.

Sir Hormusji Peroshaw Mody : Is it not a fact that Government have been repeatedly requested by industrial and commercial bodies in India to nominate at least one representative in British East Africa ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The question has been on several occasions brought to the notice of Government.

Sir Hormusji Peroshaw Mody : Are Government aware that this is probably the fiftieth time that the same answer has been given, namely, that financial considerations do not permit of any such appointment at the moment ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Sir, this is not the 50th time.

Sir Hormusji Peroshaw Mody : Is it the tenth time ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has the Department of Government in charge of my friend, the Commerce Member, approached the Finance Department for the appointment of a Trade Commissioner, and has that Department turned it down ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is a sort of question to which I would give no reply.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government taken any initiative in this matter, and, if so, what is the initiative they have taken ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The initiative they have taken is that they have made enquiries and are prosecuting them in connection with these appointments.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How long do they propose to go on making these inquiries ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No Member of Government can give a reply to that sort of question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Of this Government ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Of any Government.

INTERESTS OF INDIANS OVERSEAS.

420. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have considered the suggestion put forward by the Indian Imperial Citizenship Association for the creation of a separate Secretariat to watch, protect and promote the interests of Indians overseas ;

(b) whether they have decided to form such a Secretariat, and if not, why not ; and

(c) whether they are aware of the sufferings of Indians in South Africa, Zanzibar, Kenya, Fiji, West Indies, British Guiana and elsewhere; and whether they propose to take steps to create a separate Department ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). There is no intention in the immediate future of appointing a separate Secretary for Indians overseas because the post of Joint Secretary in the Education, Health and Lands Department was primarily created for enabling the Department to give more attention to the problems of Indians overseas and the post of Additional Deputy Secretary was also created partially for the same purpose.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the answer to (c) ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have answered a number of questions during this Session in regard to Africa, Zanzibar, Kenya and Fiji. I must say that the West Indies and British Guiana have been left out.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know the reason why Government do not propose, in view of the statement in clause (c) which they do not deny, to create a separate Secretariat for this specific purpose ? Are Government aware that this is a very important matter to which India attaches great importance ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : My Honourable friend may rest assured that the Government of India realise the importance of the subject themselves and they are also conscious of the importance which public opinion attaches to it. All that I tried to explain in answer to parts (b) and (c) was that, at the present moment, the staff that we have is quite adequate for the work that is required to be done.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government satisfied that all these questions concerning these unfortunate Indians in these foreign countries receive prompt, adequate and effective treatment at the hands of this Department ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : In so far as it is possible for any Secretariat to give prompt, adequate and effective treatment, the staff at my disposal is giving it.

REPORT OF THE TARIFF BOARD ON THE WOOLLEN INDUSTRY.

421. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have considered the report of the Tariff Board on the Woollen Industry ;

(b) how long they have been considering it ;

(c) whether they intend putting the Report, as also the conclusions thereon, on the table of the House ; and

(d) whether the Tariff Board has suggested differential duties for British goods ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (d). The Report is under consideration at present and Government are not yet prepared to disclose any of the recommendations made therein.

(b) Since the middle of June when the Report was received from the Tariff Board.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India address the Local Governments, and ask them to pool their resources, so as to find out the data for coming to the proper conclusions on these matters ; and also may I ask, with reference to clause (f) of this question, what steps they would recommend that India should take in order to make her self-sufficient in the matter of the supply of quinine ? Do not Government consider the matter to be of sufficient importance to give a push to Local Governments, who may not otherwise move in the matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, the Government of India have taken more than one step in the past in order, if I may say so, to stimulate the Local Governments, but the attitude of the Local Governments in this matter has not been particularly encouraging.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India consider the possibility, under the new Government of India Act—when, as I imagine, they will have a Central Board of Public Health, or the Public Health Commissioner will continue as now—in the interests of the health of this country which suffers grievously year after year from this dreadful scourge, of doing something concrete to lay down an all-India policy and enjoin that policy on the Local Governments ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, there is no question really of laying down an all-India policy, because there is no mystery involved in it. Everybody knows that the best remedy for malaria is quininisation, and the Local Governments are aware of that fact too. It is for Local Governments to make up their minds that they will popularise the use of quinine progressively ; that requires the expenditure of funds ; and, unfortunately, the Local Governments are not prepared, or rather not able, to meet the expenditure involved in a more intensive use of quinine.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Therefore, should we take the position to be this ? Local Governments will not move, the Government of India will not ask them to move, and malaria must flourish in this country ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not know really as to what my Honourable friend should assume as regards the Local Governments. But so far as the Government of India are concerned, they have made the only possible practical gesture by giving away 45,000 lbs. of quinine free of cost with the intimation to Local Governments that they should distribute it free and try to follow this good example. They cannot do anything more than that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India continue to do this good work, and go on giving year after year as much quinine as is available, to fight the scourge of malaria ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already informed my Honourable friend that the balance that the Government of India have is 34,000 lbs. They will certainly consider the desirability of giving this 34,000 lbs. also to Local Governments but, considering the incidence of the disease in this country, my Honourable friend will realise that 34,000 lbs. would not solve the problem.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : May I ask whether it is not a remedy in the opinion of the Government for the complaint of my Honourable friend that my Honourable friend should become a Minister of the Local Government ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I hope that my Honourable friend will follow the good advice of Sir Cowasji Jehangir.

APPOINTMENT OF A BROADCASTING EXPERT IN ENGLAND FOR INDIA.

430. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Is it a fact that a broadcasting expert has been engaged in England for India ?

(b) What are his technical qualifications ?

(c) What is going to be his pay and conditions of service ?

(d) Was he in employment in England ? If so, what pay did he get there in 1932, 1933, and 1934, respectively ?

(e) What is he going to be an expert of ?

(f) Have Government no expert in India with knowledge of Indian conditions ?

(g) Was the post advertised in India ? If so, what was the result ? If not, why not ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) A member of the staff of the British Broadcasting Corporation has been appointed as the Controller of Broadcasting.

(b) He has been employed with the British Broadcasting Corporation for the last seven years in various capacities on the programme side and was largely concerned with the development of the department which deals with what are known as " Talks ".

(c) He has been engaged on a five years' contract on a salary of Rs. 2,000—50—2,200.

(d) Yes. The Government of India are unable to furnish the information asked for in the latter part of the question.

(e) The Controller of Broadcasting will be the expert with the Government of India on the programme side and will advise them on the general administration and development of broadcasting.

(f) Government have two officers employed as Directors of Broadcasting Stations in India, who have knowledge of Indian conditions. But in making the offer to a member of the staff of the British Broadcasting Corporation, they wished to take advantage of the enormously greater experience of the British Broadcasting Corporation which is generally admitted to be the most successful broadcasting institution in the world.

(g) No. As the object of the Government of India was to obtain a man with British Broadcasting Corporation experience, there would have been no object, whatever, in issuing an advertisement in this country.

Sardar Sant Singh : May I know what position did he hold in England in the years 1932, 1933 and 1934 ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I would refer the Honourable Member to my answer to part (b) where I said :

" He was engaged in various capacities on the programme side and was largely concerned with the development of the Department which deals with what are known as ' Talks '."

and 1935 by (i) Secretaries, (ii) Deputy Secretaries, and (iii) Under Secretaries, for the accommodation allotted to them by Government ?

(e) Is it not a fact that accommodation for such classes of officers is comparatively cheaper than at Delhi, and if so, does this influence the decision of Government in moving up to Simla ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) About 200 bungalows and 430 clerks' quarters remained vacant in New Delhi during the summer of 1934.

(b) A statement is laid on the table.

(c) Yes.

(d) Four Secretaries and five Deputy Secretaries occupied Government accommodation in Simla during 1934. Of the five Deputy Secretaries two occupied the accommodation allotted to them for only a part of the season. No Under Secretary occupied Government accommodation. The figures for rent for the summer season of 1934 are as follows. The figures for 1935 are not available :

|                         |       |
|-------------------------|-------|
| (i) Secretaries         | Rs.   |
| (ii) Deputy Secretaries | 4,244 |
| (iii) Under Secretaries | 2,646 |
|                         | Nil.  |

(e) Government accommodation for these officers is cheaper at Simla than at Delhi, but the accommodation available at Simla is insufficient, and private accommodation is extremely expensive. The fact that a few officers pay less rent at Simla than at Delhi has no bearing whatever on the question of the move of the Government of India to Simla.

Statement showing the offices of the Government of India for which private accommodation has been hired in Simla for the summer season of 1935.

| Name of office.                                                                  | Name of the house.              | Annual Rental. | Remarks.                                                           |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|----------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                  |                                 | Rs.            |                                                                    |
| Reforms Office                                                                   | "Carlton Grove"                 | *3,000         |                                                                    |
|                                                                                  | "Cleveland"                     | *2,800         |                                                                    |
| Imperial Council of Agricultural Research Department.                            | "Rock House"                    | 4,000          |                                                                    |
| Commercial Intelligence and Statistics Department (Statistical Research Branch). | "Dalziel" (upper flat)          | 2,200          |                                                                    |
| Army Head Quarters                                                               | "Piccadilly House" (1st floor). | †1,800         | Accommodation has been hired only from 1st August to 15th October. |

* Plus Municipal taxes.

† Plus water tax.

PRIVATE HOUSES RENTED FOR CERTAIN OFFICES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN SIMLA.

435. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is not a fact that private houses have been taken for accommodating certain offices of the Government of India in Simla for the current season? If so what are their names ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state the reasons why these offices could not be kept down in Delhi, if they could not be accommodated in the existing Government buildings in Simla ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state what the cost is of such accommodation taken in Simla for these offices and whether they are prepared to consider the question of keeping them down in Delhi throughout the year with effect from the next year at least ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a), (b) and first part of (c). A statement giving the necessary information is laid on the table.

The answer to the latter portion of part (c) is in the negative.

Statement giving information regarding private houses hired for accommodating certain Government Offices in Simla.

| Part (a) of the question.                                                                    | Part (b) of the question.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | First portion of Part (c) of the question.                         |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------|
| (Name of the Office for which private house has been hired in Simla for the current season.) | (Why the Office could not be kept down in Delhi.)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (Cost of hired accommodation.)                                     |
| (1) Imperial Council of Agricultural Research Department                                     | It is necessary that these two offices should move to and from Simla along with other Departments of the Government of India, because (1) is a regular Department of the Government of India, and (2) works directly under His Excellency the Viceroy, in close co-operation with other Departments | Rs. 4,000 for the season.                                          |
| (2) Reforms Office                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 5,800 for the season.                                              |
| (3) Army Headquarters                                                                        | Does not arise as the staff is temporarily employed for a part of the current Simla season.                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1,800 for the period from the 1st August to the 15th October 1935. |
| (4) Statistical Research Branch of the Commercial Intelligence and Statistics Department.    | The Branch works in close co-operation with the Commerce and other Departments of the Government of India and it cannot therefore be permanently located in Delhi.                                                                                                                                  | 2,200 for the year.                                                |

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware that considerable inconvenience and expense are being experienced by most of their clerical staff and others because of want of sufficient accommodation in Simla ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think that arises out of this question. It only relates to accommodation for offices.

OFFICE OF THE CIVIL AVIATION IN INDIA.

436. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the office of the Civil Aviation in India is an office attached to the Department of Industries and Labour ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state what the strength of the office was at the time of its formation and what its present strength is, giving details ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state (i) the reasons why this office should move to Simla during the summer, and (ii) the annual cost of the move up and down ?

(d) Will Government please state if it is a fact that it was decided by an Order in Council some years ago that offices, or portion of offices, which cannot be properly accommodated in Simla without hiring private houses, should be kept down in Delhi during the summer ?

(e) If the answer to part (d) above be in the affirmative, will Government please state why a departure from the decision is being made every year and why such offices cannot be located permanently at Delhi ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes.

(b) A statement giving the information required is laid on the table.

(c) Because the Civil Aviation Office is part of the Department of Industries and Labour and deals with Secretariat as well as " executive " work. The cost of the move was Rs. 21,136 for the year 1934-35.

(d) I am not prepared to give information regarding the contents of Orders in Council ; but it is a fact that the provision of extra accommodation in Simla is discouraged.

(e) No private accommodation has been hired for the Civil Aviation Office. The question of leaving a part of the office in New Delhi during the summer is under consideration.

Sanctioned strength of the Civil Aviation Office.

|                           | At the time of its formation. | On the 1st August 1935. |            |
|---------------------------|-------------------------------|-------------------------|------------|
|                           |                               | Permanent.              | Temporary. |
| Officers .. .. .          | 1                             | 5                       | 2          |
| Superintendents .. .. .   | 1                             | 5                       | ..         |
| Assistants .. .. .        | 2                             | 13                      | 1          |
| Stenographers .. .. .     | 1                             | 4                       | 1          |
| Clerks .. .. .            | 2                             | 31                      | 2          |
| Draftsmen .. .. .         | ..                            | 2                       | 1          |
| Inferior servants .. .. . | 5                             | 28                      | 2          |

RECRUITMENT OF SIKH KHATRIS IN THE INDIAN ARMY.

437. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Will Government please state the total population of Sikh Khatri in India in 1925 and at present, respectively ?

(b) Are Government aware that Sikh Khatri were recruited in the Indian Army in various capacities and rendered meritorious services during the Great War ?

(c) Are Government aware that many members of the sect have held and are holding commissions in the Army ?

(d) Are Government aware that Sikh Khatri are not being enlisted in the Indian Army by recruiting officers for the last few years ?

(e) How do Government justify the stoppage of recruitment of Sikh Khatri in the Indian Army ? When was it stopped and under which order ?

(f) Do Government propose to issue express instructions to the recruiting authorities to enlist Sikh Khatri also ?

(g) Do Government further propose to raise separate regiments from these castes ? If not, what are the difficulties ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) According to census figures, the male population of Sikh Khatri in 1921 was 37,297 and in 1931, 32,465. No figures are available for 1925.

(b) Yes.

(c) Yes.

(d) The Honourable Member is mistaken. Sikh Khatri are enlisted in the Army. They are eligible for enlistment in all units the composition of which includes Sikhs (other than Jat Sikhs).

(e) and (f). Do not arise.

(g) No. Neither the past records of their services nor the present figures of population warrant the assumption that it would be possible to maintain regiments recruited exclusively from Sikh Khatri on an efficient basis in War.

RECKONING OF SENIORITY ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

438. *Sardar Sant Singh : With reference to Government's reply to the unstarred question No. 74, dated 13th September, 1933, will Government now please put on the table of the House a list of the staff whose cases have so far been considered by the Agent, North Western Railway as promised by Mr. P. R. Rau, in which preference has been given to the men who were superseded by their colleagues on account of racial discrimination and high start of pay, and if no action has so far been taken by the said Agent, what steps do Government propose to take in the matter ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : As stated in the reply to question No. 74, which has already been laid on the table of the House, the practice on the North Western Railway is to base promotion from grade to grade on seniority and fitness. Seniority in a grade is based on the date of confirmation in that grade and between grades an individual on a higher

Sardar Sant Singh : Would the Honourable Member kindly say what are his educational qualifications ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I require notice of that question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it one of the conditions of his appointment that he should train an Indian or Indians to take his place ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The whole conception is that he would develop broadcasting as far as possible, and, in doing so, the staff of the various stations will, as far as may be necessary and possible, be Indians.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is he now asked, as part of the condition of his appointment, to train any Indian or Indians to take his place ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : There is no such condition in the terms of his appointment, but he will necessarily train the members of the staff who are under him.

INDIAN BROADCASTING SERVICE.

431. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Are Government going to run the Indian broadcasting service on the same lines and principles as the B. B. C. in England ?

(b) Will it be used for purposes of political propaganda ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) It is Government's intention to run the Indian State Broadcasting Service on the same lines and principles as the British Broadcasting Corporation in England.

(b) It is not the intention to use it for purposes of political propaganda.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Does not the British Broadcasting Corporation allow certain political leaders and Ministers to address on certain important political questions ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I understand that is a fact.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If that is so, why do not the Government of India propose to permit certain political leaders in this country to use the broadcasting apparatus for broadcasting their speeches ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : We should like broadcasting service to be put on a proper footing first. That is one of the questions of principle which the new Controller of Broadcasting will consider, but the Honourable Member will realise that in India it may be somewhat difficult to undertake.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of the fact that many millions are going to be enfranchised in this country, and many millions among them will be illiterate for a long time, does not the Honourable Member consider it much more important in this country, than in his own country that the broadcasting apparatus should be availed of by leading politicians for the sound political education of the masses ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I personally do not agree.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Am I to take, therefore, that the position of the Government is this—that they do not propose to follow the example of the British Broadcasting Station and allow the Indian Broadcasting Station to be availed of by political leaders ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The position, as I have already explained, has not yet been considered. That would be one of the points that the new Controller of Broadcasting will consider.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

EDUCATION OF INDIANS IN BROADCASTING TECHNIQUE.

432. *Sardar Sant Singh : What steps are Government going to take to educate Indians in broadcasting technique ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The staff of the Indian Stations will be recruited in India and will be trained in the Indian State Broadcasting Service Stations. They will be predominantly Indian.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I ask the Honourable Member what would be the qualifications of the Indians for training in broadcasting ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I must have notice of that question.

POWER IN THE AERIAL OF THE DELHI BROADCASTING STATION.

433. *Sardar Sant Singh : What is going to be the actual power in the aerial of the Delhi broadcasting station ? Is this being guaranteed by the makers of the plant ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The power delivered to the aerial will be 20 K.-W., according to the specification of the makers of the plant and as guaranteed by them.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : When will this plant be ready ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Sometime in the first half of the cold weather.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is to be the range of this Broadcasting Station ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : That is an impossible question to answer. It depends entirely on the atmospheric conditions. Its range may be 70 miles or 700 miles or even 1,000 miles at different times.

ACCOMMODATION FOR OFFICERS AND STAFF IN NEW DELHI AND SIMLA.

434. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Will Government be pleased to state approximately how many bungalows and clerks' quarters fall vacant in New Delhi when the Government of India move up to Simla ?

(b) Will Government lay on the table a statement showing how many private houses have been taken for the use of Government offices in Simla for the current Simla season and what are the rents thereof, and for what offices they have been taken ?

(c) Is it not a fact that the rents mentioned in part (b) above could be saved if those offices were kept down in Delhi during the summer ;

(d) Will Government lay a statement on the table showing the actual rent paid during the season in Simla in the years 1934

Master's Grade VI and upwards is made from the next lower grade without racial discrimination.

Three Indian Foremen are at present employed in the workshops (two permanent and one officiating). Three more Indians are employed as Train Lighting Inspectors in a grade corresponding to that of Foreman in Sheds and Shops.

(c) In view of the reply to part (b) this question does not arise."

EMPLOYEES FAILING IN NIGHT VISION TESTS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

442. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Is it a fact that Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters hold better qualifications than ordinary Commercial Clerks on the North Western Railway ? If so, will Government please state their eligibility for filling up the posts of other ranks in case of their having been partially incapacitated on account of night vision tests ?

(b) If the reply to part (a) be in the affirmative, will Government please place a list of Station and Assistant Station Masters who failed in night vision tests for their own posts since 1930, but who were still eligible for another rank, giving a list showing how they have been provided ?

(c) Is it a fact that such incumbents having failed in night vision tests for their own posts, have been given leave due, and the posts for which they were considered fit were being occupied by most junior men and they were drawing cent. per cent. officiating allowances ? If so, why ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Agent, North Western Railway, reports :

" Station Masters are required to qualify in both Coaching and Goods duties in addition to Transportation and General duties. Assistant Station Masters must be qualified in Coaching duties as well as in Transportation and General duties but need not necessarily be qualified in Goods duties, although some of them are so qualified. Commercial Clerks must be qualified in both Coaching and Goods duties and are not required to qualify in Transportation and General duties. From the above it may be said that Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters have more qualifications than ordinary Commercial Clerks and it will be seen that, as far as qualifications are concerned, Station Masters, though not necessarily Assistant Station Masters, who fail in night vision test could be employed as Commercial Clerks."

(b) I lay on the table a statement prepared in April, 1935, giving the numbers of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters who have been provided with other employment, how many have refused other employment and how many have not been so provided.

(c) The employment of these employees in other posts depends on their suitability for such posts.

| No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters failed in vision test in their own class but declared fit for other post since 1930. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters shown under item 1 provided in other posts since 1930. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters shown under item 1 who have refused offer for other posts since 1930. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters shown under item 1 who are now on leave due for want of suitable posts. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters who have completed their leave due and for whom no posts could be provided. | Remarks. |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 120*                                                                                                                                      | 75†                                                                                                         | 5                                                                                                                          | 23                                                                                                                           | 16                                                                                                                               |          |

* One man has since died.

† Seven out of the number shown under item 2 have since passed a medical test under the new rules and have been provided against their own posts.

Sardar Sant Singh : The Honourable Member, in answering my question, made the preliminary remark that "The Agent, North Western Railway, reports". May I know whether the Railway Board believes in the report ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Why should the Railway Board doubt it ?

Sardar Sant Singh : Then, why preface your reply with those remarks ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Because that is the fact.

BAND AT THE CONNAUGHT PLACE, NEW DELHI.

443. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Are Government aware that the New Delhi Municipal Committee engage an English Band for purposes of public amusement and recreation in Connaught Place during the winter season every year ?

(b) What is the procedure observed in such appointments and how much is paid for that ?

(c) Are Government aware that the Indian public who go to listen to the Band do not enjoy it, as they cannot follow the same ?

(d) Do Government propose to move the Municipal Committee, New Delhi that in future they should appoint Indian Band as well, if not for all times, at least on alternate days in a week ? If not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Military Regimental Bands from British and Indian Regiments are engaged to play music to the public.

(b) In the winter of 1934-35, the Band of 4th Battalion (P. W. O.), 8th Punjab Regiment was engaged. The Committee paid Rs. 65 for each entertainment ; the amount included transport charges from and to the Cantonments.

(c) No.

(d) The matter is within the discretion of the New Delhi Municipal Committee.

Sardar Sant Singh : In reply to part (c), what justification has the Honourable Member to say that the Indian public generally enjoys the music which is given there.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have at times not actually gone to the band stand, but happened to pass through Connaught Place, and I have seen a large concourse of people collected round the band. That is not exactly evidence of their disapproval of the music.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Does the Honourable Member mean that when people collect in that place, they understand the music.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : They enjoy the music.

INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF THE NEW DELHI MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

444. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) What was the comparative expenditure of the New Delhi Municipal Committee during 1922, 1925, 1930, 1933 and 1935 under all different heads, and what were the different sources of income in each of the above mentioned years ?

(b) Have Government ever thought of economy or reduction in the expenditure of this Municipal Committee ? If so, when and in what way ?

(c) Do Government propose to have a thorough examination of the expenditure made again in order to bring down the expenditure to the minimum ? If not, why not and if so, when do they propose to do so ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

(b) and (c). Government do not consider that the affairs of the New Delhi Municipal Committee are not conducted with due regard to economy. The budget of the Committee receives the double scrutiny of the Local Administration and the Government of India every year. No further examination is necessary.

NEW DELHI MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

Sources of Income.

| Sources of Income.           | During1921-22. | During1924-25. | During1929-30. | During1932-33. | During1934-35. |
|------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|
|                              | Rs.                | Rs.                | Rs.                | Rs.                | Rs.                |
| (1) Taxes .. .. .            | ..                 | ..                 | 1,20,629           | 1,49,689           | 2,96,558           |
| (2) Rents .. .. .            | 25                 | 2,972              | 44,883             | 43,210             | 47,199             |
| (3) Fees and Fines .. ..     | 6,266              | 11,261             | 54,264             | 74,562             | 91,192             |
| (4) Electric Supply .. ..    | ..                 | ..                 | ..                 | 8,31,341           | 10,49,095          |
| (5) Water Supply .. ..       | 218                | 659                | 1,793              | 2,03,787           | 2,98,158           |
| (6) Miscellaneous .. ..      | ..                 | 602                | 12,097             | 41,822             | 86,165             |
| (7) Grant from Government .. | 11,437             | 22,100             | 29,609             | 2,51,825           | 5,68,525           |
| Total .. .. .                | 17,946             | 37,594             | 2,63,275           | 15,96,236          | 24,36,892          |

Detail of Expenditure under different heads.

| Heads of Account.                                | During1921-22. | During1924-25. | During1929-30. | During1932-33 | During1934-35. |
|--------------------------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|-------------------|--------------------|
|                                                  | Rs.                | Rs.                | Rs.                | Rs.               | Rs.                |
| (1) General Administration ..                    | 2,838              | 4,539              | 37,590             | 76,582            | 1,00,125           |
| (2) Education .. .. .                            | 7,024              | 12,886             | 40,509             | 62,450            | 65,180             |
| (3) Medical .. .. .                              | ..                 | ..                 | ..                 | 56,382            | 83,174             |
| (4) Public Health and Sanitation                 | 2,538              | 3,492              | 41,430             | 2,49,927          | 2,79,951           |
| (5) Water Supply .. .. .                         | 218                | 425                | 17,689             | 1,70,622          | 1,81,668           |
| (6) Electric Supply .. .. .                      | ..                 | ..                 | 5,175              | 5,19,532          | 5,14,028           |
| (7) Arboriculture .. .. .                        | ..                 | 2,610              | 58,650             | 82,618            | 1,23,359           |
| (8) Veterinary .. .. .                           | ..                 | ..                 | 8,157              | 7,821             | 8,014              |
| (9) Provident Fund .. .. .                       | ..                 | 784                | 3,210              | 9,199             | 17,817             |
| (10) Cattle Pound .. .. .                        | 302                | 1,405              | 3,875              | 2,699             | 2,708              |
| (11) Fire Brigade .. .. .                        | ..                 | ..                 | 2,120              | 7,672             | 8,269              |
| (12) Maintenance of Roads ..                     | ..                 | ..                 | ..                 | 1,79,516          | 3,05,000           |
| (13) Original works and Repairs ofbuildings. | ..                 | 6,649              | 33,709             | 83,934            | 2,53,222           |
| (14) Depreciation and Sinking Fund               | ..                 | ..                 | ..                 | ..                | 1,57,000           |
| (15) Servicing the Government Loan               | ..                 | ..                 | ..                 | ..                | 3,66,912           |
| Total .. .. .                                    | 12,920             | 32,770             | 2,62,114           | 15,08,954         | 24,66,427          |

NOTE.—The increase in expenditure since 1929-30 has been due to progressive expansion of the Committee's functions by the transfer to it of services which were formerly performed by Government Departments.

LEASE-HOLD LAND IN NEW DELHI.

445. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Are Government aware that most of the lease-hold land in New Delhi is held by the contractors, their dependents, or Government tenants, or their dependents ?

(b) Are Government aware that under the lease, the final decision as to whether a breach of any of the conditions of the lease occurred, is left to the C. C. ?

(c) Are Government aware that there is serious discontent amongst the lessees on the ground that the terms of the lease are used to harass them ?

(d) Is it a fact that even public institutions have strongly protested against such treatment and invoked the intervention of certain members of the Viceroy's Executive Council ?

(17TH SEP. 1935.)

Three Indian Foremen are at present employed in the workshops (two permanent and one officiating). These three Indians are employed as Train Lighting Inspectors in a grade corresponding to that of Foreman in Sheds and Shops.

(c) In view of the reply to part (b) this question does not arise.

EMPLOYEES FAILING IN NIGHT VISION TESTS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

442. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Is it a fact that Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters hold better qualifications than ordinary Commercial Clerks on the North Western Railway ? If so, will Government please state their eligibility for filling up the posts of other ranks in case of their having been partially incapacitated on account of night vision tests ?

(b) If the reply to part (a) be in the affirmative, will Government please place a list of Station and Assistant Station Masters who failed in night vision tests for their own posts since 1930, but who were still eligible for another rank, giving a list showing how they have been provided ?

(c) Is it a fact that such incumbents having failed in night vision tests for their own posts, have been given leave due, and the posts for which they were considered fit were being occupied by most junior men and they were drawing cent. per cent. officiating allowances ? If so, why ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Agent, North Western Railway, reports :

"Station Masters are required to qualify in both Coaching and Goods duties in addition to Transportation and General duties. Assistant Station Masters must be qualified in Coaching duties as well as in Transportation and General duties but need not necessarily be qualified in Goods duties, although some of them are so qualified. Commercial Clerks must be qualified in both Coaching and Goods duties and are not required to qualify in Transportation and General duties. From the above it may be said that Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters have more qualifications than ordinary Commercial Clerks and it will be seen that, as far as qualifications are concerned, Station Masters, though not necessarily Assistant Station Masters, who fail in night vision test could be employed as Commercial Clerks."

(b) I lay on the table a statement prepared in April, 1935, giving the numbers of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters who have been provided with other employment, how many have refused other employment and how many have not been so provided.

(c) The employment of these employees in other posts depends on their suitability for such posts.

| No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters failed in vision test in their own class but declared fit for other post since 1930. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters shown under item 1 provided in other posts since 1930. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters shown under item 1 who have refused offer for other posts since 1930. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters shown under item 1 who are now on leave due for want of suitable posts. | No. of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters who have completed their leave due and for whom no posts could be provided. | Remarks. |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 120*                                                                                                                                      | 75†                                                                                                         | 5                                                                                                                          | 23                                                                                                                           | 16                                                                                                                               |          |

* One man has since died.

† Seven out of the number shown under item 2 have since passed a medical test under the new rules and have been provided against their own posts.

Sardar Sant Singh : The Honourable Member, in answering my question, made the preliminary remark that "The Agent, North Western Railway, reports". May I know whether the Railway Board believes in the report ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Why should the Railway Board doubt it ?

Sardar Sant Singh : Then, why preface your reply with those remarks ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Because that is the fact.

BAND AT THE CONNAUGHT PLACE, NEW DELHI.

443. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Are Government aware that the New Delhi Municipal Committee engage an English Band for purposes of public amusement and recreation in Connaught Place during the winter season every year ?

(b) What is the procedure observed in such appointments and how much is paid for that ?

(c) Are Government aware that the Indian public who go to listen to the Band do not enjoy it, as they cannot follow the same ?

(d) Do Government propose to move the Municipal Committee, New Delhi that in future they should appoint Indian Band as well, if not for all times, at least on alternate days in a week ? If not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Military Regimental Bands from British and Indian Regiments are engaged to play music to the public.

(b) In the winter of 1934-35, the Band of 4th Battalion (P. W. O.), 8th Punjab Regiment was engaged. The Committee paid Rs. 65 for each entertainment ; the amount included transport charges from and to the Cantonnments.

(c) No.

(d) The matter is within the discretion of the New Delhi Municipal Committee.

| Particulars.                                       | 1933-34.   | 1934-35.   |
|----------------------------------------------------|------------|------------|
| Expenditure.                                | Rs. | Rs. |
| (1) Municipal charges including public works ..    | 15,50,000  | 16,98,943  |
| (2) Maintenance of Roads and Storm Water Drains .. | 3,05,000   | 3,05,000   |
| * (3) Servicing the Government loan ..             | 3,00,000   | * 6,67,000 |
| † (4) Depreciation and Sinking Fund ..             | ....       | 1,35,000   |
| Total ..                                           | 21,55,000  | 28,05,943  |

* Government loans the service charges for which are provided in item (3) are :

(i) Rs. 60 lakhs on account of assets connected with the various activities transferred to the New Delhi Municipal Committee.

(ii) Rs. 12.70 lakhs (in round figures) advanced to the Municipality for construction of certain original works in the locality.

The increased provision of Rs. 6.67 lakhs during 1934-35 is due to (a) the non-payment of Rs. 3 lakhs provided on this account during 1933-34, and (b) the amortisation charges (.67 lakhs) for item (ii) above.

† The New Delhi Municipal Committee have instituted a depreciation fund to provide ready money for repairs and replacement of machinery. Payments are to be made annually to this fund.

APPOINTMENT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE NEW DELHI MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

448. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Did Government of India decide to appoint a whole time President for the New Delhi Municipal Committee ?

(b) Is it a fact that the post was already advertised in papers ? What was the pay and what were qualifications fixed for it ?

(c) Why was this appointment not made ?

(d) In making the decision to postpone the appointment of the permanent President, was the C. C. consulted ? At the time the decision was made, who was the Secretary to the C. C. and who was the President ?

(e) If the decision was mainly on financial grounds, do Government realise the risk in transferring various activities without having a suitable whole-time President ?

(f) Is it a fact that at present the office of the S. E., Construction Circle, the President, New Delhi Municipal Committee and the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner is held by the same person ?

(g) What is the total amount of combined budgets for 1934-35 under the three heads which are under the control of this officer ?

(h) Do Government consider that for the post of a President of such importance, previous experience of municipal administration is necessary ?

(i) What experience did this officer have of municipal administration prior to his appointment as President of the New Delhi Municipal Committee ?

5704 (j). What is the constitution of the New Delhi Municipal Committee ?

(k) Do Government realise that by transferring certain departments to the New Delhi Municipal Committee, the control of even the Chief Engineer is removed and transferred to the President who is acting in triple capacity ?

(l) Is it a fact that contractor-members of the New Delhi Municipal Committee have been given contracts for construction under the committee and that the municipal buildings were constructed by one of the sitting members ? Is this permissible under the Punjab Municipal Act ? If not, what action do they propose to take ?

(m) What is the amount of the contract given to the sitting members of the New Delhi Municipal Committee :

(i) under the Central Public Works Department ;

(ii) under S. E., C. C. and

(iii) under other S. Es. in 1934-35 ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes, in 1930.

(b) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative. A statement giving the pay then proposed for the post and the qualifications required of the candidates is laid on the table.

(c) Because of the pressing need for economy.

(d) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative. Presumably the Honourable Member wishes to know who was Secretary to the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, in the Public Works Department. He was Mr. F. T. Jones. The Civil Surgeon, New Delhi, was President of the New Delhi Municipal Committee at the time.

(e) Government arranged for the appointment of an experienced whole time Secretary to the Committee so as to provide adequate assistance to the Chairman.

(f) Yes.

(g) So far as New Delhi Municipality is concerned the Honourable Member is referred to the reply just given to his starred question No. 447. The budget of the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, for 1934-35 amounted to Rs. seven lakhs. The Superintending Engineer, Construction Circle, has not got a separate budget.

(h) Yes.

(i) The present President has served continuously on various Municipal Committees for the past 20 years.

(j) The constitution is six members ex-officio and ten nominated.

(k) Such activities as have been transferred to the New Delhi Municipal Committee are subject to the same kind and degree of control as similar activities entrusted to other Municipalities.

(l) Under existing arrangements, the Central Public Works Department undertake all work required by the New Delhi Municipal Committee as its agents, as the Committee has no engineering staff of its

(e) Are Government prepared to make an impartial enquiry into this state of affairs ?

(f) Are Government prepared to separate the office of the S. E., Construction Circle, President, N. D. M. C. and the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner or in any case the Presidentship of the N. D. M. C. and the Secretaryship of the C. C. ? If not, why not ?

(g) Are Government aware that private lessees have brought this state of affairs to the notice of the present C. C. and also the acting C. C. on numerous occasions informally ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) As all the land in New Delhi belongs to Government, all lessees of land in New Delhi are Government tenants. It is not, however, a fact that most of the lease-hold land is held by contractors or their dependants.

(b) Yes.

(c) No.

(d) Government have received no such protests.

(e) If the Honourable Member will furnish any specific instances of alleged harsh treatment of lessees, Government will be glad to look into them.

(f) It has been decided that the combination of the Chairmanship, New Delhi Municipal Committee, with the two other offices mentioned by the Honourable Member shall cease after 15th April, 1936, as the officer concerned cannot spare the time required for this work.

(g) No.

SUPERINTENDING ENGINEER OF THE CENTRAL PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

446. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) What is the amount of money spent by and what are the works under the construction circle under a separate Superintending Engineer of the Central Public Works Department ?

(b) Is the post of a Superintending Engineer under the Central Public Works Department, a whole time job ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) The amount spent on works in the Construction Circle, which was formed from the 1st July, 1933, was Rs. 86,92,555 up to the end of the year 1934-35. The works in this Circle are :

- (1) Construction of residential and other buildings charged to the New Capital Project.
- (2) All Provincial works in Delhi Province.
- (3) Construction of residential buildings for the staff of the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs.
- (4) Work done on behalf of the New Delhi Municipal Committee and Notified Area Committee, Delhi, on buildings excluding services.
- (5) Construction of buildings for the Imperial Institute of Agricultural Research.

(6) All work (excluding Civil Aviation work) undertaken in the United Provinces by the Central Public Works Department.

(b) Yes.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : Is this Superintending Engineer also the chairman of the Municipality ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Yes, of the New Delhi Municipal Committee.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : What are the other duties which he is required to do in addition to the supervision of all these buildings and the Municipal Committee of New Delhi ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have answered that in reply to my Honourable friend's earlier question. He happens to be the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Delhi in the Public Works Department.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : Are not all these duties too much for one individual, and will not the work of Government suffer by this arrangement ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : It is because of that that Government propose to terminate the arrangement from the middle of April, 1936.

BUDGET OF THE NEW DELHI MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

447. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) What was the budget of the New Delhi Municipal Committee for 1933-34 and 1934-35 and how much of it comes under the income side of the New Delhi Municipal Committee and how much is in the nature of grants direct and indirect from the central funds ?

(b) What was the budget before the transfer of certain important activities to the New Delhi Municipal Committee ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) A statement is laid on the table.

(b) Until the Honourable Member specifies the activities that he has in mind, I regret that I cannot answer his question.

Statement.

| Particulars.                       | 1933-34.  | 1934-35.  |
|------------------------------------|-----------|-----------|
| Income.                     |           |           |
|                                    | Ra.       | Ra.       |
| (1) Municipal sources .. .. .      | 14,07,319 | 17,26,300 |
| (2) Grants from Government .. .. . | 5,30,000  | 5,64,200  |
| Total .. .. .                      | 19,37,319 | 22,90,500 |

own. There is, therefore, no question of contractors doing any work under the Committee. The Municipal buildings were constructed by a member of the Municipality, but the contract for the work was given by a Superintending Engineer of the Central Public Works Department.

(m) A statement is laid on the table.

Statements.

I.

Qualifications.—The appointment was open to all applicants whether officials, retired officials or non-officials, who had had experience of municipal work and were generally suitable. No particular qualifications were laid down for candidates for the post, but candidates were required to possess experience of municipal administration.

Pay.—The appointment was to carry the following rate of pay and allowances :

(a) If an official were appointed, he was to be given his ordinary service pay, plus overseas pay, if admissible, plus a special pay of Rs. 150 per mensem and a motor car allowance of Rs. 150 per mensem; the pay and overseas pay to be drawn were, however, to be limited to that admissible on the senior time-scale of the Indian Civil Service in the 14th year of service, viz., Rs. 1,600 per mensem, plus £30 overseas pay.

(b) If a non-official or a retired official were appointed, his emoluments were to be fixed according to individual qualifications, subject to a maximum of Rs. 2,000 (inclusive of pension in the case of a retired official) per mensem, plus a motor car allowance of Rs. 150 per mensem.

II.

| Name of sitting member of the New Delhi Municipal Committee who got work from the Central Public Works Department in 1934-35. | Under Superintending Engineer, Construction Circle. | Under other Superintending Engineers. | Total.   |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|----------|
|                                                                                                                               | Rs.                                                 | Rs.                                   | Rs.      |
| Sardar Bahadur Sobha Singh .. ..                                                                                              | 1,10,170                                            | ..                                    | 1,10,170 |
| Khan Bahadur Raja Akbar Ali .. ..                                                                                             | 84,770                                              | 62,095                                | 1,46,865 |

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : Will the Honourable Member inform this House how many members of the New Delhi Municipal Committee are contractors or servants of the P. W. D. ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : As far as I know, there are three members of the New Delhi Municipal Committee who, at one time or another, have had contract from the Central Public Works Department.

CONTRACTORS IN THE CENTRAL PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

449. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) What are the classes of the contractors in the Central Public Works Department, and what is the object of such classifications ?

(b) In how many cases were the works not given by the Superintending Engineer, Construction Circle, to the lowest tenderer, even though he was a first class contractor and had deposited earnest money, and what were the reasons therefor ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) A statement giving the required information is laid on the table. The object is to classify contractors according to their capabilities.

(b) The Honourable Member has not mentioned any period, but in any case I could not have given the full information asked for. It would clearly not be in the interests either of Government or of the contractors concerned to disclose the details of individual cases.

Classification of contractors in the Central Public Works Department.

|                             | Original works.    | Repairs.         |
|-----------------------------|--------------------|------------------|
| I class contractors .. ..   | Upto any amount .. | Upto any amount. |
| II class contractors .. ..  | Upto Rs. 50,000 .. | Upto Rs. 10,000  |
| III class contractors .. .. | Upto Rs. 20,000 .. | Upto Rs. 5,000   |
| Petty contractors .. ..     | Upto Rs. 2,500 ..  | Upto Rs. 2,500   |

Sardar Sant Singh : Is this principle accepted that ordinarily the contract should go to the person who gives the lowest tender ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : That is the general principle, subject to exceptions.

ELECTRIC METER RENT CHARGED IN NEW DELHI.

450. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Are Government aware that the Simla Municipal Committee has further reduced the rent of electric meters from Government of India employees and other public ? If so, what was the rent previously charged and what is it at present ?

(b) On what principles this present reduction has been made ?

(c) Are Government aware that the rent of similar sort of meters charged by the New Delhi Municipal Committee, is about four times the rent charged at present by the Simla Municipal Committee ? If so, why ?

(d) Are Government prepared to reduce the rent of electric meters, etc., to the minimum by the New Delhi Municipal Committee when Simla has reduced it to such an extent ?

(e) Are Government aware of the general feeling amongst the residents of the New Delhi Municipal Area, and particularly the Government servants, that in spite of the fact that these meters were installed in Government buildings by the Government of India Public Works Department, the New Delhi Municipal Committee was allowed to burden the Government servants with the addition of meter rents and that too at such a high rate ?

(f) Are Government further aware that the general public of New Delhi regard this charge due to the fact that as the Municipal Committee is composed of either Government officials or nominated members who are no less than officials, the members of Municipal Committee simply look after the interest of maintaining the most expensive administration only and do not at all look to the limit of the burden that this charge, or similar kind of other taxes, entail upon them or even upon the Government clerks residing in New Delhi ?

(g) Do Government propose to have this rent either removed altogether or brought down to a minimum which may compare with that charged by other Municipal Committees, e.g., Simla ? If not what are the difficulties and on what basis is this allowed to continue ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes. The rent for electric meters has been reduced to four annas per month. It was eight annas in 1934 and one rupee per month in 1933.

(b) The reduction has been made owing to economies in costs.

(c) and (d). No. The New Delhi Municipal Committee now charge a rent of eight annas per month. Rent for meters in private buildings which used to be Re. 1 per mensem before has also been reduced to eight annas. The rent is based on cost of installation and maintenance which is not uniform. The New Delhi Municipal Committee rate, which is just adequate to cover costs, compares favourably with the rents charged in the Delhi City, Amritsar and Mussoorie. These rates vary from twelve annas to one rupee.

(e) The electric meters have been transferred by the Government of India to the New Delhi Municipal Committee at a fixed value and the latter are responsible for repayment of the capital value charged, with interest, besides the cost of maintenance, replacements and renewals. Payment of meter rent is, therefore, inevitable.

(f) No.

(g) No. For the reasons I would refer the Honourable Member to the answer I have just given to parts (c) and (d) of this question.

Mr. B. Das : May I inquire, with regard to the capital which has been written off by the Government of India, whether they have evaluated the various assets and the Government of India have fixed the valuation of the various properties handed over to the New Delhi Municipality ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That is so. I do not know what my Honourable friend meant by saying that there has been something written off. Nothing has been written off ; it has been transferred to the New Delhi Municipal Committee at a fixed valuation.

Mr. B. Das : Does not the Honourable Member know that the New Delhi Municipality's assets stood at a value of 1.71 lakhs and have been written down to 60 lakhs ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : If it has been, it must be because of depreciation.

Mr. B. Das : Does the Honourable Member say that everything is due to depreciation, this reduction of 1.11 lakhs in the value of the assets of the New Delhi Municipal Committee ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am speaking on the basis of such information as I have.

Mr. B. Das : But I have different information in the Public Accounts Committee.

PAYMENT OF THE RENT OF LAND BY LEASE-HOLDERS IN DELHI.

451. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Are Government aware of a condition in the agreement between a lease-holder of a piece of land and the Government of India as a lessee that the rent of the land leased out to the tenants should be paid to Government either through the Lambardar of Naqa or by money order direct to the Government Treasury or Nazul Officer ?

(b) Are Government aware that in accordance with this condition the rent money sent by money order by certain lease-holders of Karol Bagh, Delhi, has not been accepted by the Nazul Office or the Treasury at Delhi since January, 1934 ?

(c) If the reply to part (b) be in the affirmative, will Government please state the circumstances under which the Nazul Office compels the lease-holders to pay the rents only through the Lambardars ?

(d) Are Government aware that the treatment of the Lambardar of Gurdwara Road, Karol Bagh, towards the lease-holders of that area is impolite and generally most objectionable and as such certain people desire to pay the rent-money direct to the Treasury ?

(e) Are Government also aware that sometimes the lease-holders are away for long from Delhi and cannot personally either pay to the Lambardar or the Nazul Office ?

(f) Do Government propose to order that in future payments of rents on account of lands leased out to the tenants or lease-holders may be paid at the fixed time in any way convenient to the lease-holders, e.g., through the Lambardar, personally in the Treasury or Nazul Office, or by money-order ? If not, what are the difficulties ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) The terms of the lease provide for payment of rent either at the office of the Deputy Commissioner or to 'lambardars' who are appointed, from time to time, to receive payment.

(b) The refusal referred to by the Honourable Member would be in accord with the requirements of the lease.

(c) Lessees have the option to pay the rent at the office of the Deputy Commissioner.

(d) The local administration report that two or three lessees made complaints which were found on investigation to be frivolous and inspired by enmity.

(e) Lessees can pay rent to lambardars by cheque or money order through the medium of the post.

(f) Government do not consider that any change of procedure is required.

SCHEME FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE INTERNAL MARKETS.

452. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) What steps have been taken by Government to give effect to the recommendations of the Crop
L219LAD

Planning Conference, 1934, with regard to the development of the internal markets ?

(b) Have Government formulated any scheme for the development of internal markets other than the marketing scheme ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state all the proposals involved in the marketing scheme ?

(d) What steps, if any, have actually been taken to give effect to the said proposals ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (c). Attention is invited to the Government of India, Imperial Council of Agricultural Research Department, Resolution No. F-16-M.34, dated the 10th January, 1935, published in the Gazette of India of the 12th January, 1935, on the subject of agricultural marketing. The recommendations of the Crop Planning Conference about the constitution of the Standing Committees on Wheat and Rice have been followed up by the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research. Local Governments and other bodies concerned have been consulted and action to constitute these two committees will shortly be taken. The Conference also recommended that the Government of India should consider the question of an import duty on rice and paddy from non-Empire countries. The decision of Government on this point will be found in the Indian Tariff (Amendment) Act of 1935.

(b) No.

(d) Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given by me to part (a) of starred question No. 330 asked by Professor N. G. Ranga on the 13th September, 1935.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will the peasants be represented on these two committees on paddy and wheat ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : According to the letter which has been addressed to Local Governments, they have been asked to arrange for the appointment of a committee of eight representatives of rice growers : I presume, rice growers are peasants.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Thank you.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS TO THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE AMENDMENT OF STANDING ORDERS.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform the Assembly that up to 12 Noon on Monday, the 16th September, 1935, the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Select Committee on the Amendment of Standing Orders, only seven nominations were received. As the number of candidates is equal to the number of vacancies, I declare the following Members to be duly elected, namely :

- (1) Dr. G. V. Deshmukh,
- (2) Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar,
- (3) Mr. Ghanshiam Singh Gupta,
- (4) Mr. G. Morgan,
- (5) The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar,
- (6) Sir Lancelot Graham, and
- (7) Mr. M. S. Aney.

THE INDIAN CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT (REPEAL) BILL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Further, consideration of the following motion moved by Mr. B. Das on Friday, the 29th March, 1935 :

“ That the Bill to repeal the Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1908, be taken into consideration.”

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I am resuming my speech of the 29th March—after five months and a half—and, in the meantime, the matter of the Criminal Law Amendment Bill has been thrashed out on the floor of this House for six full days. Therefore, it will probably be some relief to my friends on the opposite side to hear that I shall not really detain them long. (Opposition cries of “ Hear, hear ”.) In fact, I propose to confine myself mainly to one point and one point only ; and that is in reference to a question which was put to me by my Honourable friend, Mr. Ghanshiam Singh Gupta. That question was put in all sincerity, and I do not take it as an interruption for causing obstruction as has sometimes been done. I am not giving the exact words, but what he said was :

“ The Honourable the Law Member is probably aware of the percentage of the terrorists, whose action he is complaining of, to the total population.”

The purport of his question was—and a very pertinent question indeed it was—that the percentage of the people whose conduct I was complaining of was very small indeed, and, therefore, no generalisations should be made. That is the point on which I want to address the House today.

I may preface this by saying that when I referred this House to the 56 cases (which, out of regard to the feelings of my Honourable friends over there, I shall not increase in number), I did not want to present them as unrelated and isolated cases of crimes. That was not my desire at all. If that were the case, I might as well have picked out 56 unconnected murder cases from the Punjab or some other province. The point which I was making and the point which is clearly apparent, not only from the result of those cases, but from the documents which have been exhibited in those cases—and from, literally speaking, more than 1,000 witnesses examined in those cases—the point is this : they prove conclusively that a very large number of associations, including some of the Congress organisations to which I specifically referred by name, were dominated by men who believed in violence, although for purposes of expediency they were sailing under the flag of non-violence, just as sometimes we have been told that Chinese pirates fly the Red Cross flag over their ships.

On the percentage question, what I have got to tell the House very shortly, is that this House has to remember—and that is my submission—that forceful and active minorities who have powers of organisation, energy and courage to take action, where others flinch, can drag on large masses into acquiescence and ultimate conversion to the same opinion.

I had the honour of receiving as a present a book from my Honourable friend, Dr. Bhagavan Das : I found from that book that the Bolsheviks, the Fascists and the Hitlerites, when they started their campaign of extirpating or subduing their enemies or people who did not agree with their views, formed a microscopic minority of the entire population of those countries. Their small percentage was immaterial.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Then, to answer my friend, Mr. Ghansham Singh Gupta's question as to what is the percentage, I would place before him and before this House certain facts from which, though they may not be able to work out any percentage, yet they can very well draw the reasonable conclusion that this percentage is much wider than what at first sight it would appear to be.

Again, I repeat my promise that I will not take up the list of cases, but I would like to remind the House of a case which is well known to them, and which I referred to as one of the 56 on the last occasion—I mean the Chittagong Armoury Raid Conspiracy Case.

What is the answer to the question as to how many people in Chittagong were directly or indirectly involved in this outrage? That is to say, how many people were there in Chittagong who believed in violence as a means of bringing about the salvation of the country and helped the terrorists? If I confine myself to the actual raiders, they were probably one hundred or two hundred or two hundred and fifty—a very small number compared to the population of Chittagong. But is it not right to say that apart from these 200 or 250, there were a large number of persons who were, not only actively sympathising with them, but were, in fact, part and parcel of the terrorist organisation? One has only to read the findings of the Court in that case, to see what was done by the seven Congress members of the working committee who started all sorts of associations, youths' leagues, girl leagues, volunteer corps, and so on. These associations were found in the first trial, on evidence, to be part of the terrorist organisation; and I may tell the House that the accused were defended by very experienced counsel, and, from the judgment, as well as from their addresses, it will be found that this part of the case was not denied. This was found and proved in the first trial which took place some time in 1930. But, at that time, the real leader of the conspiracy, Mr. Suryya Kumar Sen, had not been arrested: he was arrested and tried in or after 1932, after a few more murders and outrages had been committed by this terrorist conspiracy. After 1932, when he and one of his lieutenants were tried, the police produced certain documents in the handwriting of the leader, Suryya Kumar Sen. I may as well tell the House that the really important documents were three or possibly four; and, so far as these documents are concerned, learned counsel appearing for the accused—again very experienced counsel—admitted, as regards three documents, that they were in the handwriting of Suryya Kumar Sen. As regards the fourth document, he said that he would neither admit nor deny it,—a course which counsel appearing in a Criminal Court was legitimately entitled to take,—and the result was that this one document had to be strictly proved by the prosecution. But, Sir, the extract which I am going to read is not found in this document which the prosecution was called upon to prove, but is to be found in one of the three admitted documents. Why Mr. Suryya Kumar Sen should keep a diary, I do not know, but there it is. It is a hard fact, it is admitted to be in his own handwriting, and it was not denied during the trial that this document was not Suryya Kumar Sen's. Now, I will read an extract from this diary:

"In January, 1929, we, the members of the revolutionary organisation, took over charge of the Chittagong Congress District Committee and reformed the same. Myself became the Secretary of the Congress Committee and my co-workers Anantlal Ganesh, Loke Nath, Nirmal, Ambica Babu and others were elected as members of the working committee. In the month of May of the same year, we arranged for the District Conference, the Students' Conference and the Youths' Conference. I agreed also to Ashim's proposal for a Ladies Conference. After gaining my consent, he obtained the sympathy of the old leaders and started working in right earnest. Eight or nine months"—(this is another portion from another long document—it is not a regular diary)—"eight or nine months after, it was in 1930, that the revolutionary souls of Bengal asserted themselves at Chittagong. The novel revolutionary demonstration of 18th April, and the subsequent unprecedented events such as Jalalabad fight and the conflicts of Feni and Kalarpole were all over then. The eyes of the whole of India were turned towards Chittagong then, and the people were in general looking expectedly for fresh incidents."

As regards girls, Sir, if they were being approached, it was not for securing independence or freedom of India by spinning Khaddar, but what was actually being done would be clear from the four lines I propose to read from that document again. Talking of one of the three girls—who afterwards became prominent, I am not going into all details,—Mr. Sen writes:

"The guardians were very strict at home and she had recently come to the auspicious notice"—(it is not suspicious notice, this is a satiric expression)—"to the auspicious notice of the Intelligence Branch."

The question he was discussing in the document was about the difficulty of getting this girl to come to Sen's headquarters and of having a talk with her, and then he goes on to say:

"She came"—(I will not give the name),—"she came by what a horrible village path full of mud and water. She had to walk two miles. We finished our important talks. She was told how and through whom she was to keep up the link with us."

The link is used in English. "She was shown and tested how she could handle a machine". I think I told this House on the last occasion that in this correspondence "Machine" or the letter "M" stands for a revolver or a pistol. "She was shown and tested how she could handle a machine. We also talked to her of the ideal of creed of violence".....

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division: Non-Muhammadan): Is it a diary or autobiography?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar: My friend, Mr. B. Das, may choose the proper word for it, and he can call it a diary or autobiography, but it so happens that I have called it Mr. Sen's diary.

Mr. Sen further states,—and I would draw the attention of the House to this portion:

"When in the month of March, the curfew order got slackened, and the activity of the soldiers became lesser a bit, myself and Nirmal Babu began moving about."

Now, Sir, if you go through the records of that case, what is your conclusion as to the number of people who were helping this movement? The preparation took eight or nine months. All these Associations which professedly were non-violent associations were part and parcel of this conspiracy. Sir, I shall read only two more lines to give you another instance.

In the list of cases I gave to this House on the last occasion, Honourable Members will find one case which has been called the second Chachua-Hat case,—Chachua-Hat is one of the Hats in the district of Midnapore. There, knowing that the police officers would come the next day, the Congress volunteers began assembling from all parts of the district. There was an assemblage of three or four thousand congress volunteers, and we know what happened, how the police officers were dragged from the house where they had taken shelter and were murdered. Therefore, it is very difficult to say what is the exact percentage or what is the number of people who took part in that conspiracy. But one thing, Sir, I want to make perfectly clear, because I find that a certain amount of distortion of what I said has appeared in the press. I do not think that I said at any time in my last speech that I was charging the whole of the Congress body as being violent or composed of violent people, or that whosoever they may be those who professed non-violence, they were really violent at heart. I want to make it perfectly clear that I said nothing from which that inference could be drawn. At the very outset I said I would confine my remarks to Bengal, not because there had been no terrorism outside Bengal,—there had been crimes in some other parts of India as well,—but my whole speech was confined to Bengal. Secondly, Sir, I said in my speech that it was in some parts of Bengal, more in East Bengal than in West Bengal, but in fairly large parts of Bengal that the machinery had been taken hold of by the terrorists, who are dominating the situation, and a situation dangerous and with large ramifications, had to be met by the authorities. I made no general remark. I made no general sweeping remark. Again, Sir, because I confined myself to Bengal, because I am more familiar with conditions in Bengal and not because there has been no terrorism outside Bengal, I did not intend to convey the idea, which has found favour with some of the speakers, that Bengal should be amputated and Bengal should be dealt with locally and provincially, and there is no reason for an All-India Act because some untoward events have happened in the Punjab and in Bengal. Apart from anything else, Sir, it is not a practical proposition at all. In many of the conspiracy cases we have found that the ramifications are far and wide, covering several Provinces, and if an Act is passed confining it to Bengal and Bengal only, all that need be done is to remove the headquarters from Calcutta or some other part of Bengal to a few miles outside Asansol, so that the Bengal Act will not apply.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

I read to you, Sir, on the last occasion a letter, a letter showing the hold of terrorists in Bengal and to which I am not going to refer again, from which it will be found that as regards one of the two well-known revolutionary parties, it was said that instructions used to come from Ranchi, which is outside Bengal. Therefore, it is not possible to treat such terrorist conspiracies by local legislation. Conspirators pay no respect to geographical boundaries.

Now, Sir, one point more and I have done. I have noticed the argument, a perfectly valid argument, that repression alone cannot remove terrorism. I agree, and none, I venture to submit, has asserted that this evil can be completely extinguished or extirpated by repression only, just as murder or other crimes cannot completely be extirpated by the use of the sections in the Indian Penal Code—but it can be crippled and controlled by what are called repressive measures. Nor is it suggested that attempt should not be made to remove causes for terrorism—the contrary being the fact? I admit, Sir, that we are in a vicious circle for this reason, that when secret conspiracies, or subversive movements though not secret, are on such a vast scale, that the ordinary law completely fails, compelling necessity requires the passing of repressive laws. I said it is a vicious circle because these dangerous and subversive movements lead to repressive law, and the moment there is repressive law there is bound to be resentment,—that is perfectly intelligible—there will be widespread opposition to and resentment of a law under which executive judgment is substituted for trial by judicial tribunals or courts of law. This is not the first time I have said it, and I think I said in the last Session,—that this is not a trifling matter, it is very serious matter indeed. I would put it very shortly in this way. If repressive law is an abomination,—and, Sir, I agree that to the ordinary legal mind the detention of a man without trial is an abomination—its sole justification would be (and there we may disagree as to facts, but I maintain that the facts are such that the repressive law is absolutely necessary), the getting rid of a much greater abomination, namely, terrorism, and other dangerous and subversive movements. We have been reminded by Mr. Desai that we are people who do not realise that freedom or liberty have any influence. That may be the view of ourselves, of the Honourable speaker who said that, but I repudiate it, and may I put the matter before the House in another way? Much as we value the influence of liberty, what we have got to consider is not merely the liberty of the suspect and of the terrorist, but also the liberty of the people who will be their victims. It is a question of choice of two evils—whether the interests of a smaller section—by a smaller section I mean people who are shut up without trial on executive suspicion—whether the interests of a smaller section should or should not give way in the much larger interests of the peace and order of the entire community. That depends on facts, and on the facts—I am perfectly aware that we are not agreed on that—but on the mass of reliable and over-whelming evidence before me, I having my own view of the facts, desire to state before this House, that I do not for one moment minimise the serious departure from the ordinary law contained in an enactment which enables detention without trial.

I think my Honourable friend, Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta, dealing with this matter, said—I believe he was talking of terrorism—that this is due to hunger for food and hunger for freedom. I would ask my Honourable friend if shortage of food and love of freedom are confined to the geographical boundaries of Bengal. Is there no love of freedom, is there no shortage of food in other provinces like Madras and Bombay? Are those provinces flowing with milk and honey so that the question does not arise?

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta (Chittagong and Rajshahi Divisions : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : I have given my explanation.

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : Permanent settlement.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I shall say only one word about a remark which was made—I forget the speaker, but I think it was by the Leader of the Opposition—that if you do not repeal this Act, or rather putting it the other way, if you continue the Act there will be a probability of re-launching or re-starting the Civil Disobedience Movement. Now, that, of course, from our point of view, would be an evil.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai (Bombay Northern Division : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : I was not referring to this Act. I was referring to the Bill that was then before the House.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am not referring to any speech of his on the Bill which is now under discussion. That is why he 1118

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[17TH SEP. 1935.]

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

be accurate I should say that the Honourable the Leader of the Opposition said, "if you continue this Bill (that is the other Bill), then there is the probability of Civil Disobedience being again started".

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : I did not quite say that. What I said was that measures of this kind necessarily provoke civil resistance because you make such bad laws. That is what I said.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I like to stand corrected, although I do not know where the correction comes in.

If bad law like this or some other law make the probability of a re-appearance of Civil Disobedience Movement, I say that, then it is a choice of two evils, the first evil being the probability of a re-appearance of Civil Disobedience Movement, and the other being, that if this legislation is withdrawn and thereby we lose all control over unlawful assemblies and over other matters which are the subject matter of this measure, there will be almost the certainty of this subversive movement gaining upperhand, a much greater probability than the mere chance of there being a recrudescence of the Civil Disobedience Movement by reason of the passing of this law. Sir, this Bill has been thrashed out for seven days and I have nothing more to add. But may I make a reference to the good humoured joke of my Honourable friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, about myself. He referred to me in a good humoured way and followed it up immediately—while discussing the Motor Vehicles Act yesterday—by giving his experience of his journey in a lorry bedecked with Congress flags, but which was a danger to his life by having no brakes. My Honourable friend thinks that he was in a very unusual and unexpected situation, but, so far as the opposite side is concerned, we do not expect Congress lorry to have any brakes. (Applause.)

Dr. Bhagavan Das (Cities of the United Provinces : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : May I ask for just one piece of information from the Honourable the Law Member in order to be able to make up my mind properly on which side to vote ? The Honourable the Law Member has disagreed with my Honourable friend, Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta, in his analysis of the causes of this outbreak of terrorism, but he has not given us his own view as to the real causes of the outbreak. Will he kindly enlighten us on that point ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am quite prepared to do that if the House is willing to hear me and if the Chair allows.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has finished his speech ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Yes, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : In that case, he cannot speak again.

Mr. Sham Lal (Ambala Division : Non-Muhammadan) : After all, the katha of the Pandit from Bengal is over. We thought that it would never end, but the family priest of Bengal is here and is being paid in proportion to the amount of work that is done by him. My only claim to speak on this Bill is that while the Honourable the Law Member has dealt with records, I have dealt with human beings. I have been conducting the Lahore Conspiracy Cases and the Delhi Conspiracy Case for the last four years, and I have also argued the Delhi Conspiracy Case in appeal, and, just as the Law Member has stated that his conclusions are not based on gossip but on facts and that the conclusions are based on judicial records, I shall also confine myself to judicial records and the judgments of the High Courts and the statements of the witnesses produced by the Crown in those cases. The Honourable Dr. Bhagavan Das put one question and asked how these terrorists are recruited and how this Civil Disobedience Movement and Non-Co-Operation Movement grew, and I think he will have the answer from the records of those cases.

I am glad that the Honourable the Law Member confined his speech to Bengal. At one time it appeared to me that in Bengal there is nothing but murder, robbery and dacoity. I thought that perhaps Miss Mayo had again visited Bengal and exposed all the dirt and filth of Bengal. Bengal might well be proud of the Law Member, but the position is not as stated by the Law Member. As regards the Punjab, I have got here the judgment of the High Court, and I have got the evidence on record, and I am going to show how the terrorists are recruited, how special powers given to the Government are being abused and how the evidence is fabricated in murder cases, how the police officers and magistrates are held guilty by the High Court of fabricating false evidence and committing perjury in Court, how these police officers and magistrates are rewarded, how titles are conferred upon them, and how, in a way, all their offences are condoned. The Honourable the Law Member has stated how, under the guise of non-violence, persons have committed murders and violent crimes. I am going to show from the records of the cases that the officers of Government, interested in the maintenance of law and order, fabricate false evidence in murder cases which is no less a crime than the murder itself, and how they pounce upon the special powers and usurp them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : On a point of order, Mr. President. I do not see the Law Member here. Is it not discourtesy to the House that he should make a speech and then walk out of the House, when references are made to his speech ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member perhaps knows that even the Law Member is human.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I may point out that, even on the last occasion when our Leader was addressing the House, he left the House and did not come back until he had finished.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : The Honourable the Law Member asked me if I was remaining in the House for the next few minutes, as he has been called away on urgent business. I am the Member in charge of this Bill.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I thought he was, but you are ?

Mr. Sham Lal : My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, need not have raised this point of order, because all my arguments were directed to the Home Member, because all my facts are within the knowledge of the Home Member. He was at the head, practically regulating the procedure in the Conspiracy Cases. Everything was being done after consulting him and the statements that I am going to make are within his knowledge.

[Mr. Shama Lal.]

Now, Sir, the political case was tried under a special Act, Act IV of 1930. This Act was introduced by the Honourable Sir Henry Craik in the Punjab Legislative Council. Having bitter experience of the case of Sardar Bhagat Singh, he wanted that the case might be disposed of soon, and he got that Act from the Punjab Council and all these accused, about 30 in number, were tried under that Act. Now, of course, the Punjab Government had a very bitter experience of that Act and the Punjab Government had to confess that that Act did not serve its purpose. The Punjab Government was told by the C. I. D. that the case had been prolonged and that the accused had prolonged it. That is not the case. I would read to you the judgment of the High Court in order to show that the case was prolonged, not by the defence, but by the prosecution. The police officers having committed perjury and forgery in Court tried to maintain their position, and, therefore, the cross examination was justified, and, therefore, so much time was taken. They got an Act and then they condemned the Act, because the police informed them that the case could not be finished very soon. I will come to that judgment later and you will see that the Government took an undue advantage of the special powers invested in them under the Criminal Procedure Code. Now, Sir, an approver, Inderpal was produced in Court. After three or four days' confinement, Inderpal said :

" I am confined in police custody in the Lahore Fort, and, if I am kept there, I shall have to stick to the statement prepared by the police for me. If I am removed from the police custody to judicial custody, I would be able to make a proper statement."

An application was made by the accused that the approvers, five in number, should be removed from the police custody to the judicial custody, so that they might be able to make their statement voluntarily and freely. What did the Government of Sir Henry Craik do? The High Court was moved. Government issued a Notification under section 541, that the Government declare the Fort to be a jail and that the custody is judicial custody. (Cries of "Shame".) Section 541 says :

" Unless, when otherwise provided by any law for the time being in force, the Local Government may direct in what place any person liable to be imprisoned or committed to custody under this Code shall be confined ! "

Now, this section applies only to cases where there are no jails. Formerly no jails were established in the districts, and, therefore, this provision was laid down that unless there is some jail, the Local Government may declare any place to be a jail. The wording of the section is very clear, but the Punjab Government abused their power, and, in order that the approvers might remain under police custody, and against law made this Notification, and that was done by the Government of Sir Henry Craik. An appeal was filed against this order and the High Court declared this Notification to be illegal and the High Court ordered that all the five approvers should be removed from police custody to the jail. Here is a Government exercising their power under a section and abusing the clear wording of the section. Now, they want special powers. I do not say that Sir Henry Craik or the Punjab Government really wanted that the police should have influence over the witnesses. I do not make any such charge. What I say is that if once the Punjab Government or Sir Henry Craik is told that these witnesses might go wrong, on some excuse or other, they accept the directions of the C. I. D.

Now, the High Court did not take one minute in declaring this Notification to be illegal and still the Police refused to obey the orders of the High Court. The approvers were transferred to the Central Jail in Lahore, but all the police guard, all the sub-inspectors were admitted into the jail, and they were ordered to keep a guard on those approvers. We put in an application in the Court that the conditions of those approvers in the Lahore case had been reproduced in the Central Jail, and that it was practically a police custody, and the Court asked the Government to supply information with regard to the custody of the approvers, how they were being kept, who were the guards, and so forth, and it was the Government of Sir Henry Craik who refused to supply such information to the Court ; and, knowing full well that they had not obeyed the orders of the High Court, the Government Advocate stated that jails being under the administration of the Local Government, the Courts have got no jurisdiction and they refused to give any information with regard to the custody of the approvers. Then, Sir, the Chief Justice, Sir Shadi Lal, was going to commit the Punjab Government for contempt of Court (Hear, hear), and I am told that it was the Governor of the Punjab who intervened, but the other executive officers stuck to their guns ; they would not supply any information to the High Court ; and when the High Court held out the threat that the Government of the Punjab would be punished, it was then and then only that an apology was offered in the High Court, and the police guard was removed. (Cries of "Shame, shame".)

Mr. M. S. Aney (Berar Representative) : " Apology " on behalf of whom ?

Mr. Shama Lal : On behalf of the Government. I am going to read that judgment ; it will be very interesting.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (Presidency Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Interesting, illuminating and instructive.

Mr. Shama Lal : Then, Sir, I will read out that judgment which Chief Justice Sir Shadi Lal gave in the High Court.

Now, after having removed them from the judicial lock-up, of course, they had to comply with the orders of the High Court, what did they do ? A certain part of the Borstal Jail was put under the charge of an assistant jailor, and the Superintendent of Jails had no jurisdiction. They, again, reproduced those very conditions here, they would not obey the law,—these preachers of " law and order ", they disobeyed every direction of the High Court, and they disobeyed every provision of the law. (Cries of "Shame, shame".) Then, what happened ? The C. I. D. police officers stealthily came in contact with a number of the approvers in the Borstal Jail, because the assistant jailor was their own man, and they visited those approvers. Those approvers came into Court, produced the writings given by the police to them, and those were in the hand-writing of the C. I. D. officers themselves, and they said they were being asked to commit these things to memory and to give such and such evidence accordingly, and we had to produce those police officers, and they had to admit that these things were in their own hands. (Cries of "Shame, shame".)

Sir, here are these preachers of law and order ! You can see what disgraceful things can happen in political cases conducted, as it was con-

1122

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[17TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. Sham Lal.]

ducted, under the direct supervision, as here, of the Punjab Government ! This, Sir, is the judgment of Sir Shadi Lal delivered in 1931 (A. I. R., page 473). Let us confine ourselves to judicial records : and if Congress people, sailing under the Congress flag of non-violence, do commit violence here and there, let us condemn them, unreservedly, but let us see whether the Government who preach law and order and ask people to maintain it, what do they do in the case of their high officers, what do they do in the case of their officers who refuse to obey the very orders of the High Court :

“ The Court is entitled to call upon the parties to a case to make a full and true disclosure of all the facts within their knowledge which have a bearing upon the question to be determined and to visit with punishment any attempt to evade this duty cast upon them. The Crown or Local Government occupies in a criminal case no higher position than that of a litigant and cannot claim any privilege which is denied to a private prosecutor unless there is a special legislative authority for it.....

When an allegation is made by one party and not denied by the other party, it must ordinarily be presumed to be correct.....

It is the function of the Court to determine an issue upon the material before it, and a litigant cannot be allowed to arrogate to himself the right to decide it.....

The circumstances, which have given rise to this application, may be shortly stated. The applicants are accused in a criminal case, which is being tried by three Commissioners appointed under section 4, Criminal Procedure (Punjab Amendment) Act of 1930. It appears that among the witnesses for the prosecution there are five approvers, and the first approver, Indar Pal, during the course of his examination stated that he had been supplied by the police, in whose custody he was being kept, with copies of the statements made by the other approvers before a Magistrate, and that pressure was being brought to bear upon him to modify his statement in certain respects in order to bring it into conformity with the statements made by the other approvers. In order to substantiate his complaint that he had been supplied with copies of the statements of the other approvers, which he was asked to study in order to make his own deposition tally with them, he declared that those copies would be found in the cell in which he was detained in the Lahore Fort ; and that he had read them and could repeat before the Court a summary thereof. He added that as he was not prepared to comply with the wishes of the investigating officers, he was afraid of being tortured by the police ; and he accordingly requested that he should be removed from the police custody. The accused also made an application on the 13th January, 1931, suggesting that arrangements be made for the immediate search of the cell of the approver in order to seize the copies referred to by him. This request was, however, refused by the Commissioners, but the approver was transferred from the police custody to judicial custody. The question was then raised whether the other approvers should remain in the custody of the police or should be transferred to judicial custody. The Commissioners decided it in favour of their detention in police custody. But against that decision the accused preferred to the High Court an application for revision.

That application was heard, in the first instance, by a Judge sitting alone, who in view of the importance of the question involved made an order on 18th March, 1931, referring the case to a Division Bench for decision. On 18th April, 1931, the learned Judges of the Division Bench, who heard the case, delivered concurrent judgments, holding that there was no legal authority for the detention of the approvers in police custody. The learned Judges accordingly directed that the approvers be detained in judicial custody, in other words, either in a prison or in a judicial lock-up, during the trial of the case.

This judgment was duly communicated to the Commissioners who issued orders for the transfer of the approvers to jail. The accused, however, urge that various devices have been adopted by the servants of the Crown to avoid compliance with the direction of the High Court ; and they have made the present application asking the High Court to enforce obedience to its direction, as the Commissioners have expressed their helplessness in the matter.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Was that a trial under the ordinary law ?

Mr. Sham Lal : Those persons were tried under Act IV of 1930 ; so much of the Criminal Procedure Code, as was consistent with Act IV of 1930, was applicable to that case.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It was under Act IV of 1930 ? Is that one of the Acts in question in this Bill ? The Honourable Member must confine himself to the Bill.

Mr. Sham Lal : I want to make it relevant, Sir, in this way. When the Local Government has got any discretion with regard to any matter, it always exercises it in its own favour ; and if power is given to the Government, it always exercises it in its own favour, and, not only this, if it has got no power, it tries to bring that power under some section or other, and that the Local Government in such cases abuses all the powers and accepts the recommendation of the C. I. D. If these powers are given under the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908, to declare any association unlawful and to forfeit their property and money, they would only accept the recommendations of the C. I. D. Only executive considerations would guide them. That is our experience. My submission, therefore, is that the Government would always abuse their powers and no special powers should be given to them. And I want to prove this from the judgment of the High Court as to how they disobeyed. Not only this, but when this order had been passed by Justice Shadi Lal—and the Honourable Sir Henry Craik, the Home Member, can testify to this—they moved even the Government of India to pass an Ordinance to give them powers that the approver should be kept in the police custody. Is there any Honourable Member who can argue with any justification that an approver in a Crown case should be kept in the police custody like the attached property and can those witnesses be called free and voluntary ? With regard to these witnesses Members of Government are of this opinion that, if they are removed from the police custody to the judicial custody, there will be a grievance, and, in order to remove that grievance, a special Ordinance should be passed.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I must rise on a point of personal explanation. The Honourable gentleman has given a completely ex parte account of all these things, and, in any case, it is completely irrelevant. But I must say at once that I never asked the Government of India to pass an Ordinance. That is fantastically untrue.

Mr. Sham Lal : I stand corrected. My information was as reliable as it could be, but if the Honourable the Home Member says that he did not move the Government of India, I accept his statement. Anyhow, this much is true. What action did the Honourable Member take when it had been discovered that the approvers were being still approached in the Borstal Jail through the assistant jailor and that notes were being given by police officers ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Individual cases like this cannot be discussed.

Mr. Sham Lal : It is not an individual case. I am going to show that, with regard to the whole of the C. I. D. of the Punjab, there is a doubt expressed by the High Court that they have committed perjury and officers and in the magistracy? Is this not interference with the course of justice on the part of the police and the magistracy? In the English language, there is only one word for this action, and that is "perjury". A police officer who commits perjury in a Court does not deserve to be in the service of the Crown. These are the words of Justice Munroe who heard this case. Now, Sir, that police officer is not only in service, but he is being rewarded by the Government. Government Members come to this House and preach maintenance of law and order and they want to have certain enactments in the name of law and order. But they try to shield such police officers who commit forgery and perjury and they are even given promotion. If we, belonging to the Congress, commit any such act, immediately we are hauled up for perjury and forgery. The aim of the Government seems to be that no course is dishonourable for them to suppress the Congress movement. The police can freely commit forgery and perjury in the name of suppressing the Congress and no harm would be done to the police. That is the way in which these records were prepared and the House must be surprised at this.

[Mr. Sham Lal.]

Perhaps the House will remember the Conspiracy Case which was started with reference to the explosion of Lord Irwin's special train and the simultaneous explosion that took place on the 19th June, 1930, in the Punjab. When actually the explosions took place, the culprits could not be traced. Certain witnesses were examined. Now, Sir, those statements were made in June, 1930. Afterwards this conspiracy was traced and certain suspects were arrested and certain people were taken as approvers and they made those statements. Now, what the police wanted was that the statements of the witnesses who were examined in June, 1930, should tally with the statements of the approvers who were examined in October, 1930. As the House is aware, under section 172, every police officer is required to submit a diary to the Superintendent of Police. That is the safeguard provided in the Criminal Procedure Code so that subsequently any fabrication may not take place. The Superintendent of Police is required to keep those original zimmies in his custody. What this Khan Sahib, the D. S. P., did was this. Against all rules of Government, this police officer removed those statements from the custody of the Police Superintendent and altered them by committing extensive forgeries so as to suit his purpose. With regard to these statements, 75 per cent. of the police officers were held to be guilty of having altered the statements. Now, the position comes to this. The Government depend upon the evidence of these police officers for the suppression of the terrorist movement and the Congress movement. The House can very well imagine the nature of the evidence concocted by these C. I. D. officers against the Congress. They can fabricate any evidence, commit any amount of forgery. Of course, the Government might say that they could not vouch for the integrity and veracity of the police officers. Just as the Honourable the Law Member remarked, they will say that there are always black sheep in every fold. But my submission is that this is not the question. I can well understand if there are stray cases of corruption in the police ranks, if there are stray cases of perjury or forgery. In such cases, the Government are not at all to blame. But when the cases of perjury and forgery are found to be quite rampant among the police officers, to the extent of more than 75 per cent. of the police force, and on the top of that, when the Government retain the services of such delinquents, even in spite of the finding of the High Court against such officers, I would say that the Government are as much guilty as those police officers and the magistrates. What is the use of Government coming to this House and saying that they must maintain law and order. Is law and order only to be maintained to suppress nationalism and not in the interest of the purity of administration? Questions were put in the Punjab Legislative Council and the reply was that the Government saw no reason to interfere. The Government do not even want to institute an enquiry. I offer my services free if an enquiry is held with regard to the conduct of these police officers and the magistrates. I make bold to say that practically 75 per cent. of the C. I. D. officers in the Punjab have committed perjury and forgery and still they are retained in service. Formerly this case was heard by a Divisional Bench of the Punjab High Court consisting of Justice Dalip Singh and Justice Currie and they held that perjury and forgery had been committed by the police. After that this trial was held and though it was proved that forgery and perjury were committed by these officers, no action was taken by the Government. Of course, the Government might say regarding the Congressmen, "you preach non-violence, but many of the rank and file among the Congressmen practise violence". I will reply by saying that the Government sail under the flag of law and order, but they are the first to upset law and order. (Hear, hear.) The Government do not take any action against its officers who break law and order by committing perjury and forgery. So the Government cannot lay any claim to any honesty of purpose in their dealings with the Congress. Therefore, I say that any more power given to the executive as under this Act of 1908 is bound to be abused.

Now, coming to the statement of Inderpal, that gives you a clue as to how the terrorists were recruited. There was no terrorist crime in the Punjab before 1928. Of course there was only one in 1915, but that is past history. I do not want to take the House to the martial law days when people were made to crawl on their bellies, but afterwards those very persons were released and knighted and some of them even adorned the High Court Benches and others were made Ministers of Government. I do not want to go to those days. I make this assertion on the floor of the House that there was no terrorist crime in the Punjab before 1928. What is the story of Inderpal who was the chief approver? How did they decide to murder Mr. Saunders? What is the story of the approver in the case against Sardar Bhagat Singh? How did terrorism grow in the Punjab? It grew like this. There was no terrorism in the Punjab till 1928. On October 25, 1928, there was a demonstration against the Simon Commission led by Lala Lajpat Rai. Now, I am saying what your own witnesses said. (Interruption by Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan.) My Honourable friend does not know. There is the judgment of the High Court, and if my Honourable friend wants, he can read the judgment and find out if what I say is correct or not. The Judge himself remarked that I put the case squarely and fairly before him when I was arguing the case. It was on the 25th October, that there was a demonstration against the Simon Commission. The approvers in both the conspiracy cases say that Lala Lajpat Rai was hit with a lathi by the Superintendent of Police and that exasperated the people in the Punjab. The approver says: "We were very much upset and we took a vow to murder the police officer who had hit Lala Lajpat Rai". Of course, those young men committed a crime by taking such a vow. I do not admire them. I do not adore them.

[Mr. Sham Lal.]

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That is an entirely ex-parte statement, the truth of which I do not admit. It has never been admitted.

Mr. Sham Lal : Here is the testimony of your own witnesses. It is the approver who says that Lala Lajpat Rai was hit by the Superintendent of Police. I would go further and say—let the Honourable the Home Member deny its accuracy if he can—there was the Boyd Enquiry Committee and a pleader of Lyallpur was produced as a witness who deposed that Lala Lajpat Rai was not beaten. That pleader afterwards issued a statement to the effect that his statement before the Enquiry Committee was a false statement made on the promise of some reward from Government. He even brought a suit against certain officers of the Government for not fulfilling their promise to reward him.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That is quite untrue.

Mr. Sham Lal : Well, Sir, the pleader came to me to consult me. I know him very well. He brought a suit against the Government. My submission is this : that I have not got all those facilities which the Honourable the Law Member has of stealing some letter under some Statute. Otherwise, I could have produced all the letters connected with that case. I have no power to intercept those letters. Of course, my letter can be intercepted. In a recent case, a letter containing instructions for me was intercepted in connection with a case with which the Government had nothing to do. But the Government were interested in one party, and when I got the case settled, the party told me : "We know your case ; we have engaged the Public Prosecutor and we have managed to intercept your letter." That is to say, these letters are not intercepted in the interest of the administration alone, but also in the interest of persons who are supporters of Government. I could give the case and I could name the person, but, as I got the case compromised, I do not want to give that to the House. Here is a case of interception of letters and the stealing of letters. It was not like the Hallett Circular which was taken stealthily, but Government got this letter under a Statute,—that is what the Law Member says. When you take unlawfully and immorally it is not theft, because you take under the Statute, but what we do is theft. It is not maintenance of law and order, it makes the abuse of law and order more easy. Just as the Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan said : "Why do we want these provisions in the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1935 ? We want to make the Act of 1908 more effective." More effective means that formerly the police officers used to take possession of our Congress houses and used to loot our property. That was not allowed by law. Now, they will be able to loot this property. A horse of the value of Rs. 250 was sold to a police officer who paid only Rs. 5 for it. This is only to appropriate the property of Congressmen. And this is law and order.

Sir, I was saying how the recruits are made. It would perhaps be a point in favour of the Law Member that witness Inderpal said : "I believed in non-violence, but when I saw Lala Lajpat Rai being hit,

I became a terrorist and made up my mind to murder the police officer on that very day." Here is the evidence which was never challenged in the Tribunal and the Honourable the Home Member can consult the Public Prosecutor whether that was his case in Court.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock. Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

Mr. Sham Lal : Sir, the Honourable the Home Member made a remark that my statements were ex parte and he did not accept the accuracy of those statements. I was really surprised to hear that remark. I have got here a certified copy of the judgment, and there it is given that the learned Sessions Judge thought this statement to be a fabricated one and the learned Public Prosecutor admitted it in the High Court. I am going to read it :

"There are excellent reasons in support of this conclusion, but it is not necessary to state them here. The learned Sessions Judge himself declined to accept the statement of the police officers that the Exhibit P. E. W. was the original statement made by Inderpal from the 28th August to the 2nd September, 1930. He also held that corrections and alterations were made in the original statement from time to time, though the precise date on which it assumed its final date could not be ascertained. The learned Public Prosecutor was not able to challenge the correctness of this finding, though he urged that additions and alterations were made with the consent of Inderpal. We are not prepared to consider the explanation when the Police officers concerned do not admit that any additions and alterations were made after the 2nd of September, 1930."

These facts are admitted, and the only question that arises is that these officers and these magistrates are still in the service of the Crown—I do not want to put the case higher—I appeal to the whole House, even the supporters of the Government—supposing there is a finding by the High Court that police officers and magistrates have committed forgery and perjury and the Government do not take any action, what would be their sense of justice ? I appeal to their sense of justice that in the case of a finding by the High Court where the police officers and magistrates had full opportunity, does it not call for an inquiry ? Does it not call for any action, and does it call for rewards and titles ? One officer is a Deputy Superintendent of Police, other officers are inspectors and sub-inspectors of police, and one officer, who tore away one sheet from the approver's statement and substituted another, is a section 30 magistrate, who can sentence a man to seven years' rigorous imprisonment ; and the question is this : if we read the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908, the Government made a declaration that any terrorist association or any other association which is a danger to the peace of the country to be an unlawful one : what I want is that if the Government can act upon C. I. D. reports and declare an association to be an unlawful one, should that power be given to such police officers who are capable of committing such perjury and forgery ; and, if the Government is not taking any action, what should be the attitude of the House ? If this case was decided in June, 1935, the Government can still say that they might take action. If the Government do take action, well then there is something to be said : or if any undertaking or assurance is given that the inquiry will be made it might be something. The Honourable the Home Member forgery. Sir, Punjab and Bengal are being accused of revolutionary crimes, and the question is, whether the crimes are being committed by these revolutionaries or they are being committed by police officers and magistrate getting Rs. 1,000 and Rs. 2,000 a month? Forgery and perjury in the interests of the Crown are not punishable in the Punjab, and that is not my statement, but there is the decision of the High Court.

[Mr. Sham Lal.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member should confine himself to the provisions of this Bill. The Chair cannot allow him to discuss the general administration of law in the Punjab.

Mr. Sham Lal : With all due deference to you, Sir, I may submit that the Honourable the Law Member could cite 56 cases and could read judgments and could read the statements of the approvers in order to show that the Congress is an unlawful organisation, and, therefore, it must be declared unlawful.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That related to terrorist crimes against which the Bill is directed.

Mr. Sham Lal : He dealt with terrorist crimes, and I want to show that there is another association, the association of the C. I. D. and of the magistrates which is more unlawful and which is not being declared unlawful, but it is only the organisation of the Congress which is being declared unlawful. Whom are you going to give these special powers? Are you going to give these special powers under the Criminal Law Amendment Act to the executive authority who, in murder cases, commit forgery and perjury and are allowed to retain their seats? Sir, this is not my statement, nor is it a bazaar gossip, but it is the judgment of the High Court. Now, Sir, I do not want to take much time of the House, and I will at once read the judgment of the High Court on this point and that would make the position clear. The judgment says :

"We desire to emphasise that the original trial and this trial have become so complicated and have been prolonged so inordinately merely because the Police did not wish to place a true picture of investigation as it proceeded before the Court. It has been most painful for us to record that responsible officers have committed perjury in Court in order to maintain the untenable position they had taken up....."

Sir Cowasji Jehangir (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Sir, I rise on a point of order. Standing Order 31 says :

"A motion must not raise a question substantially identical with one on which the Assembly has given a decision in the same Session."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : A point of order like this ought to have been raised at the very beginning.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : May I point out, Sir, that a point of order may be raised whenever it strikes a Member of the House. If it did not strike me before and has struck me just now, am I debarred from raising it?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair will not say that the Honourable Member is not entitled to raise it at this stage, but the Chair thinks that it is not fair to the House after the debate has proceeded so far that the Honourable Member should raise a preliminary objection like this. Preliminary objections ought to be taken at the very first opportunity.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : If it had struck me before, I would have raised it straightaway. It struck me only a few minutes ago. The point of order I wish to raise is this. Having referred the House to Standing Order 31, a part of which I have just read out, I contend that the Bill which was sought to be introduced yesterday by the Honourable the Home Member covers a good deal of the ground of the Act which my Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das, desires to repeal.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair would allow the Honourable Member who is in possession of the House to conclude his speech first.

Mr. Sham Lal : I was quoting from the judgment of the High Court when I was interrupted. The judgment runs :

"We trust that the lesson learnt from that trial will be taken to heart and the police officers who have at all times to perform a difficult task will never again disgrace their force and cause such a waste of public time and money as in this case."

With regard to the magistrate the finding is :

"It is alleged that the magistrate re-wrote the whole sheet and substituted it for the original in order to correct the mistakes as to the date and the proceedings of a political meeting. All the facts taken together raise a very strong suspicion in our mind that the sheet in question was re-written by the magistrate. We are prepared to believe that this substitution was made out of their false.....but the emphatic denial of the magistrate on this point. There is a great doubt in our mind on his fairness as a magistrate and his veracity as a witness."

My point is that this cantonment magistrate and these police officers, who have committed forgery and perjury, are getting Rs. 700 or Rs. 800 a month, and the chief culprit is the Czar of the C. I. D. of the Punjab. Every person is being detained and every association is being declared unlawful on his report. He is a title holder and he has been given squares of land and he is still held in respect and it is being freely stated that if any case is got up against him, he would expose the entire police, because it is also stated that the perjury and the forgery were committed because of the connivance of the superior officers concerned. I am going to show from this judgment that the perjury and the forgery could not be committed unless the whole C. I. D. was involved in it. Now, Sir, this Act of 1908 is before this House, and if I can show that these police officers, upon whose report these associations are declared unlawful and persons are detained without any trial, concoct false evidence, will it not be in order? Just as it was relevant for the Law Member to quote those cases, so it is relevant for me to show what our experience has been in such cases.

Now, Sir, this is not a bare instance, but it involves the entire police force and the House will be able to follow the manner in which perjuries were committed. I would also like to refer to the two remarks made by the Judge when I was arguing the case. Justice Munroe observes that : "so far as the magistrate is concerned, he has been maliciously false in tearing off one sheet of Indar Pal's statement and substituting it by another". If a Judge of the High Court remarks like that, does it not shake the credit of the people in the police our voice will not be heard. We know that the rule of game in this House is that even if we win, we lose. If we lose, we lose; even if we win in this House, still we must admit defeat. I remember an incident in a Munsiff's Court, and that has an exact parallel to our position here. In a mufassil Court, when the judgment was pronounced against the defendant, the defendant threw the paper weight at the head of the Munsiff and the Munsiff was seriously injured. The defendant was arrested and sent to jail. He was there beaten by the warders as a mischievous person, and the warders fearing lest he should complain challanned him for a jail offence in the Court of the magistrate. The magistrate heard all the evidence; but that man, the alleged culprit, protested and said that he was quite innocent, but the magistrate gave him two months imprisonment. The magistrate, however, asked him to argue the case in which he had beaten the Munsiff. The man said: "I have no further arguments to urge; my only argument is that in this case the Munsiff should be imprisoned". The magistrate asked, why? The reply was: "Well, so far as I can find the rule of this Court is that he who is beaten is sent to jail. I was beaten by the warders, and I was given two months. I had beaten the Munsiff, and, therefore, it is the Munsiff who should be sent to jail". (Laughter.) The rule of this House, it appears to me, is that he who is aggrieved should be imprisoned. We are to be imprisoned in any case, whether violent or non-violent, and even if all these criminal laws are repealed by this House, orders will still be passed by executive decree against us. We now find that everything is changed. Democracy here means loss of liberty. Young people come and preach to us saying: "Oh, you do not understand democracy, this democracy has been made safe by the world war". A claim was made at the time of the Great War that Britain was making democracy safe for the world, and we now find how safe it is, and, therefore, it is we say that democracy in this country means loss of liberty. And what is more, air bombing is a humanitarian act of Government. The whole order of things has been upset, all our calculations, all our values are being upset, and the only root cause responsible for terrorism and for oppressive laws is the British Government and British exploitation. If we can remove this dominating spirit, if we can remove this spirit of exploitation, my submission is, there will be no terrorism, and there will be peace and tranquillity and true democracy.

[Mr. Sham Lal.]

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : Sir, I wish to say.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : On the point of order?

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : Yes, Sir. Standing Order 31 says that a motion must not raise a question substantially identical to the one on which the Assembly has given a decision in the same Session. I am not going to read the whole of it, because it is not relevant to my point. Yesterday, the House considered the introduction of a Bill, and the House had been considering the same Bill during the whole of last week which sought to make permanent certain sections which are today the law of the land and which are included in this Act of 1908.

Some Honourable Members : Some sections.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : I did not say all. Sections 17A, B and C were sought to be made permanent on the Statute-book. That was being discussed during the last few days. The present Bill seeks to repeal the whole of the Act which contains these sections. I contend, Mr. President, that this motion does raise a question substantially identical. The whole question is not identical, a part of it is identical.....

Mr. N. M. Joshi : No, no.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : You are not the President. As I have said, and I will repeat, we were discussing making permanent sections 17A, 17B and 17C of the Act of 1908. This Bill seeks to repeal the whole Act.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Bill which the House disposed of yesterday sought to make permanent certain sections of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932. Those sections will expire in December.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : They will expire in December, and the Bill that was before us sought to make them permanent, but today they are part of this Act.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Supposing this Bill now before the House is passed, that will mean that it will come into operation at once.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : Yes, and it will repeal all those sections which we were discussing for the last number of days.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Upon the Honourable Member's statement that all those sections he has mentioned are now sought to be repealed, the Chair takes it, the object of the present Bill is to repeal the Act altogether at once, while the result of the discussion of the Bill that was disposed of yesterday, that is to say, the rejection of the consideration motion of that Bill means that those sections will not become permanent, but they expire in December.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : That is exactly the position. The Bill yesterday sought to make permanent certain sections of the Act, which are to expire in December. The Bill that we are now discussing seeks to repeal the whole Act including those sections.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : To repeal it at once.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : Yes, to repeal at once, and, therefore, I contend that although the whole of this Bill that we are now discussing does not fall within Standing Order 31, part of it does.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Then, why does the Honourable Member say that there is any inconsistency between the two Bills? So far as the operation of the sections in question is concerned, it goes on until they expire next December.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : If they had already expired, my point would not arise. My point simply arises, because they do not expire and we have not come to December.

[Mr. Sham Lal.]

may go through the certified copy of the judgment of the High Court. If no action is taken, what will be the presumption? If a man commits theft and if I have any sort of control over that man and I do not punish him or admonish him, what would be the natural presumption? It may be very difficult for us to prove that this had been done with the connivance of the Government but what is the natural presumption? Government may be keeping up their high position of domination and we may be helpless, but what is the natural presumption? My submission is—and I say it with all the emphasis at my command—that really very high police officers were involved in this investigation and it is for this reason that no action has been taken.

I was dealing with the beating of Lala Lajpat Rai : the Boyd Inquiry Committee reported that no beating had taken place, while there was clear evidence of the Crown witnesses that Lala Lajpat Rai had been beaten, and there is the Crown evidence that it was on account of the beating of Lala Lajpat Rai that the terrorist crime began in the Punjab. With regard to the demonstration against the Simon Commission, my point is that the non-violent demonstration against the Simon Commission was justified ; even subsequent events have shown that the appointment of the Simon Commission was a mistake. And if a demonstration is led by a man of the position of Lala Lajpat Rai and he is beaten with lathis by a Superintendent of Police, what would be the feelings in other countries? Supposing in England a demonstration against some measure of the Government is led by the Leader of the Opposition, and he is beaten with lathis, what would be the attitude of mind of the young men of England? If they lose their temper or if they become terrorists, who is to blame for this terrorism? Dr. Bhagavan Das put a question to the Honourable the Leader of the House to be answered : I can understand the Law Member's position that the Congress volunteers or the Congress members of the committee, on account of oppression and on account of terrorism of the Government, might have been converted to terrorism ; but the question is, who is responsible for this Civil Disobedience and for this terrorism? I had occasion to see Lala Lajpat Rai after the beating he had received : what he told me was : " I can bear all these pains and the physical injury : what I cannot bear is this, that I should be beaten like an ordinary criminal by a police officer, when I was not doing anything wrongful." He was tired of his life : he told me : " I do not want to live in a country where, after having dedicated the whole of my life to the service of the country, I should be beaten like a criminal." Those were his feelings. Mahatma Gandhi may be able to control himself. But what would you think the ordinary person would do, when he finds that in their own country for a justifiable demonstration they are beaten with lathis? You will not take these incidents into consideration : you merely say : " These persons have become terrorists : they must be executed." I do not want that you should slacken or relax the law in their favour ; but I want to tell you that if you go on like this, treating non-violent demonstrators like this—and the position of Lala Lajpat Rai who was respected throughout the country was such that if there was any calamity or earthquake or famine anywhere, Lala Lajpat Rai was there. He was called " The Lion of the Punjab " : I put it to you, Sir, was there any terrorist crime in 1926 or 1927? How is it that, just one month after the death of Lala Lajpat Rai, you find this crime, and who is responsible for this crime? You might punish the crime, but you must go to the root cause, because it is the Government oppression that is at the bottom of this terrorism : I must say that the exploitation by the Government and this unemployment problem are responsible for these terrorist crimes.

Let us now come to the question of recruitment of other accused in the conspiracy case and go through the statement of Inderpal. Inderpal himself said that their movement could not succeed with all their efforts, but the Press Ordinances having come to their help, they succeeded. Sir, the copy-writers in the newspapers in the Punjab were thrown out of work. They had nothing to do with politics ; they did not know politics, but they became idle, and they were recruited as members of conspiracy instead of remaining as copy-writers for newspapers and they began to make bombs. This is the statement of Inderpal. He said, this was the work of the Press and other Ordinances, and if Government threw people out of work, if educated men were thrown out of employment, if educated people could not make a living, they found terrorism was the only way open to them. Whatever amount of preaching Mahatma Gandhi might do,—and it must be acknowledged that he has been able to wean most of the terrorists from terrorism,—what would be the position of an ordinary human being? My submission is that it is the Ordinances, it is the oppressive laws of the Government that are responsible for the recruitment of members to these conspiracies.

Let us again go through another part of the statement of Inderpal. He says, when ladies and volunteers were beaten by the police, they decided to throw bombs on police. In every case, whatever the ultimate cause may be, the root cause is the oppression of the Government. Youngmen get no employment ; even now, though most of the accused have been acquitted or discharged or have served their sentence, they cannot make even Rs. 15 a month ; they cannot find any kind of employment anywhere. My submission, therefore, is that this kind of oppression on the part of Government, coupled with unemployment, is driving youngmen to terrorism, and, as I said, every high salaried Government servant is a potential revolutionary himself. He is responsible for unemployment in the country. Everybody is trying to keep up a high standard of life. That was not the case a few years ago. In the districts, the Deputy Commissioners who were the highest officials used to lead a simple life ; there was not much disparity in the life led by the ordinary people and that led by the highest officials. But, now, high salaries are paid to officials and every one of them wants to join that class of exploiters with the result that the whole burden is thrown on the poor people. It is not so much a question of patriotism or nationalism. My submission is that it is a question of bread and butter. People who have not got anything to fall back upon are kept back at the point of the bayonet, and these criminal laws and other kinds of oppressive laws are being enacted so that the few may enjoy the sumptuous dinner served to them. Sir, you may appeal to the people in the name of law and order, but what is law and order to them when they don't get sufficient food? Therefore, my point is that the root cause of terrorism is unemployment and exploitation by the Government, and, unless and until that root cause is removed, you can enact any number of criminal laws or other oppressive laws, but they will not serve the purpose and terrorism will not disappear. Sir, I know that

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena (Lucknow Division : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : Is not that a proscribed book ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I do not think so.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Where did you get it from ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : It was sent to me by a terrorist. And, first of all, from this book I find that in Lower Circular Road, Calcutta, they had their association. Now, they made a "bookbomb", that is, a bomb in the shape of a book and they sent it to Mr. Kingsford, so that, in case he happened to open it, he might be dead. Well, that did not succeed with Mr. Kingsford ; by some accident or other, Mr. Kingsford did not open that book at all. Then Khudi Ram and Prafulla were deputed to murder Mr. Kingsford at Muzaffarpur. Sir, many of us, who come from Bengal, know that instead of murdering Mr. Kingsford, unfortunately Mrs. Kennedy and Miss Kennedy, two European ladies were murdered. Now, the Criminal Law Amendment Act was passed in 1908 after the murder of Mrs. and Miss Kennedy.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : And still that Act did not stop the murders ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : It would have stopped the murders and I will tell you now why it did not stop them. This is the information I get from this book—not from Government or from any other person.

An Honourable Member : That is your Bible ? What is the name of that book ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I have said it half a dozen times,—“Khudi Ram”, “Khudi Ram” (Laughter.)

An Honourable Member : Was it sent to you as a present ? When was it sent to you ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : It was sent recently to me.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member had better address the Chair.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Sir, my good friend, the Honourable Member for Bakargunj cum Faridpur in Bengal, and the Mayor of Calcutta, in his speech the other day said this :

“ Since the year 1910, efforts have been made to pass various Acts in order to put down terrorism, anarchism and Communism. Has any attempt been made to find out the root causes of this anarchism, terrorism and Communism ? I say, no attempt has been made. A faint voice says, ‘ yes ’ ”—(that faint voice was mine)—“ but I say that no attempt has been made to find out the root cause of these. Sir, if there is a headache, is that the way to eradicate the disease,—to cut off the head ?.....”

My Honourable friend, Mr. James, asked :

“ What efforts did you make to eradicate this evil of terrorism ? ”

My Honourable friend from Bengal replied :

“ I was not given a chance at all.”

May I point out to him—that my Honourable friend then was serving this Satanic Government as a Deputy Magistrate, and, if I am not wrong, he was then posted at Jamalpur, where he used to lash Hindu boys who used to shout “Bande Mataram”.....

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq (Bakargunj cum Faridpur : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I could not hear what the Honourable Member said about me ? But if this is what he said about me, it was absolutely false, I say. (Hear, hear.) I warn the Honourable Member and must ask him to drop that expression. Will he ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : If it hurts him, certainly I will.

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : Sir, I never tried a single case, as Deputy Magistrate,—a case between Hindus and Muslims, and I never sentenced a Hindu to jail or any such thing to which the Honourable Member refers.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Then he sentenced to jail only Mussalmans ? (Laughter.)

My Honourable friend's memory is so defective that only the other day he said when my Honourable friend, Mr. James, asked him.....

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : On a point of order, Sir. Will my Honourable friend withdraw his statement which I say is absolutely false ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I have already said that if it hurts my Honourable friend, I withdraw it. When I asked him the other day :

“ How many repressive laws did you support while you were a Minister in Bengal ? ”

What reply did my friend give ? He said :

“ I do not think the pages of the proceedings of the Bengal Legislative Council can show a single instance where I supported any repressive measure. (Applause.) ” (Laughter.)

Now, what do we find ? The Honourable the Law Member, the Leader of the House, in his speech has shown an instance from the debates of the Bengal Legislative Council where he lent his support to these repressive measures. (Dr. P. N. Banerjea : “ He was not a Minister then.”) He might not be a Minister, but he was a member of the Bengal Legislative Council all the same. If time is given to me to go through the proceedings of the Bengal Legislative Council, I shall be able to show at least dozens of instances where he had supported these measures.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : We are now discussing the Bill and not any individual Honourable Member.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Mention has been made even today : Did you find out the root cause ? Why do Government not find out the root cause ? I want to tell the House that they did find out the root cause. When these terrorist activities were going on, Government wanted to find out what was the cause. They were told that the root cause was the Partition of Bengal. Well, the Partition of Bengal was annulled in 1912 to remove the root cause of terrorism in Bengal.

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : On a point of information. Was not the agitation against the Partition led by Sir Surendra Nath Banerjea.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member is not giving way.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : If Mr. President will permit him, I will let him put the question to me.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has not perhaps understood the difficulty which the Chair is feeling. The difficulty which the Chair is feeling is, supposing his premises are correct that certain clauses are sought to be continued by the clause which are mentioned in the Bill which was disposed of yesterday,—supposing that is the fact, the present Bill seeks to repeal them at once.

Sir Cowasji Jehangir : Then, under Standing Order 31, we are discussing the same subject.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : May I say a word ? Standing Order No. 31 says :

“ A motion must not raise a question substantially identical with one on which the Assembly has given a decision in the same session.”

The shortest way to put the issue is this, has our decision of yesterday repealed the Act of 1908 ? That must be the only possible test. If my Honourable friend says, yes, I have no objection ; but, I am sure, he won't say that. The true test is this. If it is the case of the Leader of the House—I am sure, he would not support any such thing, I am almost confident, but supposing it was so, he would have to answer the question in the affirmative, namely, inasmuch as yesterday's decision necessarily involves a repeal of the Act of 1908, there can be no debate now.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Yesterday's decision was that it shall remain.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : Yesterday's decision does not touch the Act of 1908 in so far as the main provisions are concerned. The Act of 1908,—the main provisions, at all events, which have survived, are the power given to Government to declare associations unlawful, (a) those which incite to violence, and (b) any other associations which, in their opinion, disturb, I am using substantially the same words, disturb public peace. Having done that, there are certain other provisions dealing with being a member of an unlawful association and assisting in the operations of an unlawful association. Those are the substantive provisions of that Act. Undoubtedly, added to that, were certain provisions, all those which have been repealed by the House yesterday, namely, confiscating property or taking charge of it, and so on. The point on which I lay emphasis is this. Is the question raised substantially identical, because, in so long as what we call declaring an association unlawful and punishing people who are members of an unlawful association and for assisting in the operations of an unlawful association are concerned, the Act remains untouched by these provisions so to say, and, as was said by my Honourable friend, Sir Muhammad Zafullah Khan, they are what is called the logical extension of the thing. In order to test what is substantially identical, you ought to say that our decision covers this, and it cannot possibly be said that our decision does it. I should be very glad if the Government thought so, inasmuch as we turned down the motion, we will now agree to repeal all this also. But, I am sure, they would not do any such thing. There has been strenuous effort spread over for more than 5½ hours to argue out the case. What we submit is that the motion for repealing the substantive provisions of the Criminal Law Amendment of 1908 is not a motion substantially identical with refusing to pass the further provisions of certain Acts.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The decision was that it shall not be made permanent.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : The Act of 1932. The decision is that the Act of 1932 shall not be made permanent, but it does not, in the least degree, affect any decision, either direct or indirect, whether or not the Act of 1908 shall remain. There are some provisions which refer to the Act of 1908.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What are those provisions ?

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : Section 6 of the Bill that was presented here deals with section 13 of the Act of 1932, which provides for section 17A, etc., in the Act of 1908. Substantially what remains of the Act of 1908 after repeal is this,—section 15, “ ‘ association ’ means any combination or body of persons, whether the same be known by any distinctive name or not ”, “ ‘ unlawful association ’ means an association—(a) which encourages or aids persons to commit acts of violence or intimidation or of which the members habitually commit such acts, or (b) which has been declared to be unlawful by the Local Government under the powers hereby conferred ”, then, section 16 which gives power to declare an association unlawful, section 17 is penalty section which was sought to be supplemented by clause 13 of the Bill dealt with yesterday, and section 13 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932, says. “ So long as this Act remains in force ” the following section shall be deemed to be inserted in the Act of 1908, and so on, so that the position is this, that in so far as the Act of 1908 is concerned, irrespective of whether these provisions are passed or not, and, in fact, up to the year 1932, when these provisions were not a part of the law at all, the Act of 1908 had still an operation as part of the law, and really that is the substantive part of the law, that is power to declare an association unlawful and punishment in respect of persons who are members or who aid the operations. The other sections were sought to be added to that Act with a view to making it stronger and more effective. That does not affect the question we are discussing. You may not declare any class or group of persons unlawful by means of executive orders under section 16, and, consequently, you may not punish any person under section 17, so that the real and substantial point is this, that though the motion yesterday covered a part of the supplementary powers sought to be added to the Act, the motion which is before you today intends to deal with a substantive Act itself, and, therefore, they are not substantially identical, one with the other, that is my submission.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The position shortly is this.

8 P.M. Consistency or inconsistency is not the test of the situation. The idea is that the same question should not be put twice in the same Session. If we compare the two Bills, speaking in colloquial language, the sections making picketing and certain other offences non-bailable, and so on, and the Press sections are not in the Act which my Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das, is trying to repeal. Conversely, there are some in this Act which are not there.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

The position is that although there is a certain amount of overlapping, the two motions are not substantially the same.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair holds that the question raised by the Bill under discussion is not substantially the same on which the Assembly gave a decision yesterday. The Chair need not go into the details of the provisions of the two Bills which have been very clearly dealt with by the Leader of the Opposition and the Leader of the House.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi (Dacca cum Mymensingh : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, my good friend, the Honourable Member from Orissa, Mr. B. Das, is, I think, pursuing a Chinese policy—of “no see” and “no hear”. If my Honourable friend will not pursue that policy, I shall be able from the facts, that I shall place before the Honourable House, to convince him that it is not practical politics to repeal this Act. Now, Sir, I shall place before the House some facts as to what the terrorists themselves say and what the Communists themselves say. It is not what the Government say or we say. I shall produce the literature I have received from time to time (An Honourable Member : “From whom?”) From these terrorists. My terrorist friends give me notice saying “Your time is up, you scoundrel!” Bhagat Singh dropped a bomb in the Assembly during the Delhi Session of 1929, and, immediately after that, a notice was sent to me by my terrorist friends.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Who are they ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Mr. Satyamurti may know them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I do not know them.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : This is the plan of the Assembly Chamber (showing it to the House), and the aim of the terrorists was to wipe out the Treasury Benches, the European Group and the Central Muslim Party of which I was the Secretary. This is from the “Hindusthan Socialistic Republican Association”. I shall not read the whole of it. (An Honourable Member : “Please do.”) You want to hear it ? This is how it runs :

“Notice to A. H. Ghuznavi, M.L.A., Secretary, Central Muslim Party, Legislative Assembly, New Delhi.....”

(Interruptions.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member had better take no notice of these interruptions.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi :

“Whereas you and the other members of your party are blindly supporting Government, knowing it is a Government of foreign exploiters, against the larger national interests ; Beware, therefore, that any further support you may give to the present foreign Satanic Government will draw upon you the just punishment that all treachery to the National Cause deserves at the hands of those who are determined to avenge all national treachery and dishonour. Issued on Monday night, 8th April, Delhi Camp, Dharam Raj, Minister of Justice.”

When I went back to Calcutta, I received this literature. (An Honourable Member : “You have preserved it all this time?”) This is a book about Khudi Ram, the first terrorist of Bengal.....

An Honourable Member : Is it proscribed ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : It is proscribed.

An Honourable Member : Then, where from and how did you get it ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Sir, terrorism was first started in 1897 (A Voice : “Not 1757?”) during the plague at Poona where a bomb was thrown at an English doctor.....

Mr. N. V. Gadgil (Bombay Central Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : It was not a bomb—it was a revolver shot.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Sir, I have been listening to my Honourable friend, Mr. Sham Lal, who said that the Satanic Government is responsible for all these terrorists because they have been taking such actions as were irritating people and compelling them to become terrorists. May I ask my Honourable friend, what did the Satanic Government do in 1897 ?

Mr. N. V. Gadgil : Do you know the acute troubles the people had to undergo in connection with the segregation measures ? You know nothing about these, I tell you.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Well, the Government wanted to prevent people from dying of plague by segregating people. And the result was a shot at the English doctor !

Mr. M. S. Aney : My Honourable friend knows nothing about the affair.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Sir, the next shot was in London. (A Voice : “From Poona to London !”) At that time, Mr. Curzon (Wyllie was shot. Then, Sir, I gather from this book that the first Gupta Samiti (secret society) was started at Midnapore in Bengal, and then what happens ? There was an “extensive organisation”—the book has given me that information, and, on the Partition of Bengal in 1905, Bengal was very much agitated, and what do we find ? This Gupta Samiti sends a gentleman—one of its own members—to murder Sir Bamfylde Fuller. The man was one Prafulla Chaki. But this attempt was frustrated. However, in 1908, a lot of agitation was going on against the Partition of Bengal.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea (Calcutta Suburbs : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : You yourself were against the partition.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I am not ashamed of that. (Laughter.) Sir, Mr. Kingsford, who was then the Presidency Magistrate of Calcutta, sentenced the Naba Sakti, a terrorist newspaper, once and he sentenced another terrorist paper, the Yugantar, thrice—and Honourable Members must by now be familiar with the name of the Yugantar to which reference was so often made by my Honourable friend, the Law Member, only the other day,—the Bande Mataram once, and the result was that Mr. Kingsford had, as a safeguard, to leave Calcutta and was posted at Muzaffarpore as District Judge (A Voice : “Promotion ?”) (A Voice : “What is that book ?”)

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is that book ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : “Khudi Ram”. (Laughter.)

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq : I wish to ask a simple question. Is it not a fact that the agitation against the Partition of Bengal was led by Sir Surendra Nath Banerjea and the Honourable Member was his right-hand man ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Yes. My Honourable friend, Mr. Fuzlul Huq, in his speech in Machua Bazaar Park declared me to be a Kafir as my Honourable friend then called Hindus Kajirs. Sir, the Partition was annulled, and there was a general amnesty, and all the detenus and political prisoners were let out. Now, what was the result ? They started with double force and double vigour. Then, Sir, in 1916, the Home Rule Agitation was started. Again, my friend will ask me : " Why did you not go to the root cause of this agitation of terrorism ? " They went to the root cause and the result was—the Montagu-Chelmsford Reforms. There was another amnesty, and they were all let out.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : What about the Amritsar disturbances ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I will answer that in the lobby.

Sardar Sant Singh (West Punjab : Sikh) : Do not come to the Punjab please. You had better confine yourself to Bengal. We are practical people in the Punjab.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Sir, after the amnesty, the usual thing happened. They went on with full force again. The first part of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908 was repealed to soothe them down. Nothing happened. When Sir Stanley Jackson came to Bengal as the Governor in 1927, there was another amnesty, and the result was that terrorism increased with treble force. So, we know now that by repealing these Acts and by giving them the general amnesty, they take more courage and they come out stronger to destroy the whole fabric of Government. Sir, what happened in 1930 ? Part I of the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1925 was repealed. Now, this Part I gives the executive power to arrest and detain without trial members of the revolutionary organisations who have for their object violence and assassination. A Bill was introduced in the Bengal Council early in 1930 to repeal the powers of arrest and detention to which I referred just now. This Bill was passed in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 1st April, 1930, and it received the assent of the Governor General on the 5th April, 1930. Thereafter, there was no power to arrest and detain without trial members of revolutionary organisations planning violence and murder. Now, Sir, what was the result of the repeal of these powers which Government had ? The result was that, on the 18th of April, the Chittagong armoury raid took place. Sir, the Chittagong armoury raid was so well devised, so well organised, and so well planned that if the two machine guns which had been in the armoury, but had been already removed, could be seized—and they went there to get hold of those two machine guns—the result would have been the complete wiping out of the whole European colony.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali (Delhi : General) : Why did not the Act of 1908 stop it ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Because it had been repealed, as I have just now said. The Government had no power to arrest even when they knew that the raiders were coming there. That power was repealed. The result was the Chittagong armoury raid. That was my point.

In 1931, the Indian Press Act was passed. The assent of the Governor General was obtained on the 9th October, 1931. What do we find ? There was a murder, by two girl terrorists, of the District Magistrate of Comilla. Sir, I have heard a lot from my Honourable friends opposite. Why don't you get into touch with the people ? That was the cry of my Honourable friends opposite. You cannot do it yourself. You must get into touch with the people to help you. That is the burden of the song of my Honourable friends opposite. Let us now see how that helps us, namely, getting into touch with the people. The District of Midnapur is one of the districts, as I have already said, where terrorism first started. What do we see ? In 1931, at Midnapur, Mr. James Peddie was the District Magistrate. He came into touch with the people and he wanted to help the whole district by going about from door to door and making necessary arrangements for the improvement of the district. He wanted to help Swadeshi in his district. There was a Swadeshi Exhibition in Midnapur which was being held at the Collegiate School, and the District Magistrate was asked to open the Exhibition. He had no suspicion in his mind as to any malpractice, because, after all, he was going there to open the Swadeshi Exhibition at the request of the people of the district with whom he had been in touch for some time then. Of course, he did a very foolish thing. There is no electricity in Midnapur and he went to open the Exhibition in the darkness of the night with a hurricane lantern in his hand. He was shot in the Exhibition grounds when he went there to open the Swadeshi Exhibition. Still my Honourable friends opposite say ; " Why don't you get into touch with the people ? Unless you get into touch with the people, how can you help these things not going on ? " What is the next incident ? In the following year, that is, 30th April, 1932, Mr. Douglas was murdered. He went there to help the people. As the Chairman of the District Board, he made various improvements for the district, he opened roads, he opened hospitals and dispensaries. He went to the District Board to preside over one of its meetings. He also had no suspicion in his mind of any danger for his life. He was in close touch with the people, he improved the district in several respects ; he never even allowed an attendant to follow him with a revolver behind him. What was the result ? One of the employees of the District Board—if I remember rightly, one of the very men whom he appointed—shot poor Douglas. That is the outcome of getting into touch with the people and mixing with people and trying to help the District Board and trying to help the country to achieve prosperity.

What is the next incident ? Mr. Burge was murdered. He was a very popular officer. He used to mix with students freely. He opened a football ground for the students to play in. He was asked one day to play football with the boys on the football ground. He went there unarmed without any suspicion of the impending danger. He was shot by those very boys who were playing in the football ground. Still my Honourable friend, Mr. Das, wants to repeal this Act, so that tomorrow anarchy, terrorism, and, what not, will spread from one end of the country to the other. Then, there was the murder of Mr. Garlie, the District Judge of Alipore. He was known in Bengal as the padri judge, and I was told that, excepting in one terrorist case, in which he sentenced the accused to death, he never passed a sentence of death in any other case. I may be wrong. That was his only folly. He was murdered in the open

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I want to show that this Act should not be repealed : that is the point. In Bengal, in 1933, 42 ; in 1934, 16 ; in 1935, 6 :

An Honourable Member : Why are they decreasing ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Because of the existence of this Act. In the United Provinces, in 1933, 7 ; in 1934, 9 ; in 1935, 7 ; in the Punjab, in 1933, 1 ; in 1934, nil ; in 1935, 1 ; in Assam, in 1933, 3 ; in 1934, 6 ; in 1935, 3 : in Bihar and Orissa, in 1933, nil ; in 1934, 1 ; in 1935, 2 : in the Central Provinces, in 1933, nil ; in 1934, 1 ; in 1935, nil ; in Ajmer-Merwara, in 1933, nil ; in 1934, nil ; in 1935, 1.....

An Honourable Member : The number goes up !

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : The number is going down : the Honourable Member has not heard. (Laughter.) Everywhere it is going down.....

An Honourable Member : Read your last figures.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair would ask Honourable Members on its left to hear patiently what the Honourable Member, who is now addressing the House, is saying. It is not fair to the House to go on interrupting speakers in this way.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : As regards Communistic speeches and writings, there were 46 prosecutions all over India in places so far apart as Calcutta, Cawnpore, Sholapur, Lucknow, Bombay, Amritsar, Etawah, Nasik and Agra. The point I am making is this : that I have placed these statistics for 1933, 1934, and 1935, in order that Honourable Members may be able to judge the advantages of the Act of 1932, and, therefore, it should not be repealed. (Interruption.) It may be irrelevant to my Honourable friend, Mr. Saksena, but it is quite relevant to the House. As regards prosecutions under section 18 (1) of the Press (Emergency Powers) Act of 1931, this Honourable House has already heard that there have been 4,004 convictions out of a total of 4,214. Taking Bengal, in particular, with which I am better acquainted, the matter regarding securities from papers and presses stands as follows....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How is this relevant ? Presses have nothing to do with this Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair would remind the Honourable Member that the whole subject has been debated at length for six days.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I admit, the matter has been debated, but the figures that I am placing before the House show how the Act has worked and the benefit that has accrued.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How is it relevant to this Bill ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I say, you must not repeal this Act.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : This is not the Press Act.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : These are the points which should convince you that you should withdraw this Bill. If it is your ruling, Sir, I will not read it ; but I think it ought to be on the record once for all to show that this Act has been beneficial so far as terrorism, Communism and this sort of writings is concerned and also communal unrest to a certain extent. The security demanded in.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : This Bill has nothing to do with the press. (Opposition Laughter.)

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : All right, Sir. One word about my Honourable friend whom I do not see here—Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhuri. He was shedding crocodile tears about the Muslim presses..... (Interruption.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Act of 1908 has nothing to do with the press.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Sir, I have not yet finished the sentence—in connection with that, what he said was this : that is what I was coming to : he said that the Muslims are not terrorists : why this zoolum on the Muslim presses ? I say, he forgets that the Islamic injunction forbids them to be terrorists : but there is nothing against being Communists which they are. Communist Muslims there are in large numbers : and, if those presses had been suppressed, it was for the Communist literature that they used to publish.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair is doubtful if the Honourable Member has read the Act sought to be repealed.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : This is a red leaflet—a terrorist leaflet (Interruption) sent to me after three warnings that I should behave properly.....

An Honourable Member : They seem to be very fond of you !

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Because they get the truth from me. It has been translated : they have sent me the translation also : what they want they have said very clearly in this document. This red leaflet, entitled “Swadhin Bharat”,—“Free India”, says this :

“Who do speak ill of revolution, it is they who deceive the masses by holding before them alluring hopes with a view to satisfy their individual or class interests. We never understand what is individual good. We never know of any special class. We want to wet the earth with torrents of blood coming from the heart with a view to do good to the oppressed mankind..... A class of people term us as terrorists and try to convince the country that freedom cannot be attained by means of such secret murders. On the other hand, the Government also circulate in foreign countries that these murders are being committed by a handful of terrorists. We once again proclaim to our people—we are not terrorists,—our object is to establish a revolutionary Government by a country-wide armed revolution.”

Now, Sir, may I read something of what they say about the Congress ?.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How is it relevant ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : This is what they say, and it will show the House in what esteem they hold the Congress :

4 P.M.

“Oh, the deceased men and women of this persecuted country ! Say ye—how can freedom come without the help of revolution ? There is only one party in the whole of India who speak about complete independence, and it is the Congress. But it does not do the thing with all the sympathy it can offer. Congress has done many things for the country. We have not the meanness to deny its offering in the national sacrifice, but we cannot also deny this fact that behind all the doings of the

[Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi.]

Court. Then, there was a meeting at the Dalhousie Institute, Calcutta, in which four of us were asked to speak. The Morning Post reported the proceedings of that meeting thus :

" It was significant that the loudest British cheers were reserved for Mr. Ghuznavi, a delegate to the Round Table Conference, who demanded that the British should govern or get out."

Four of us were the speakers at that meeting. Mr. C. C. Biswas, whose father was shot by a terrorist, was one of the speakers. Myself was another speaker.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Were you also shot at ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : There was also an attempt on me. What do we find ? I got a terrorist letter for making that speech. This is what the letter says :

" Now the time has come to warn you that you will be shot or bombed down soon. You are going to have this punishment for your going against your native country with the co-operation of your English friends."

This is the liberty of speech and freedom of talk that we have been hearing so much about for the last one week, that I must not talk in the way I did. This is only oppression by the minority against the majority that they must not talk in a manner they do not like. Then, the letter says :

" You delivered a lecture in the Dalhousie Institute attacking Congress, Corporation and Revolutionaries and condemned violence and non-violence also."

—I do not know when I said that—

" Moreover, you and your white friends sent a deputation to the Governor to control the power of Corporation, to revive Press Ordinance and to chain the youths of Bengal. You said that India will not be independent by such coward attack upon British officers. Will you please tell how India will be free ; by flattering and licking the feet of the Englishmen like you ? (Laughter.) You fool : do you know what is the punishment for the betrayers of their own countries—a righteous retribution—Death. Now time is come to send all betrayers like yourself in hell, none will be able to protect you in this world, because, one will kill you even at the sacrifice of his life for motherland to remove the sin like you of this country.

Bengal Revolutionaries,
Calcutta, 25th May, 1931."

What was the condition of that time ? I will read only one passage from the speech that I delivered in 1931 on the 11th September on the Press Bill.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, I am sorry to interrupt my Honourable friend, but I would invite your attention to Standing Order 29 which says that the matter of any speech shall be strictly relevant to the matter before the Assembly. My Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das, wants to repeal the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908 which gives power to Government to declare certain associations unlawful. The Law Member undoubtedly tried to connect Congress membership with terrorist organisations, and suggested that, since terrorist organisations sometimes flourish as Congress organisations, this power ought to remain. The Honourable Member, who is speaking now, has not attempted to connect these interesting incidents with any association whatever ; unless my friend contends that all these acts or speeches were made by persons professing to be members of lawful associations, but who pursue unlawful activities, and, therefore, Government ought to have this power, I submit, the speech is irrelevant.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : In several parts of the Honourable Member's speech, he has been wandering from the point. The Chair hopes the Honourable Member will try to stick more closely to the Bill.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : My aim was to impress on this House that this Act should not be repealed. In trying to convince my Honourable friends on the other side, I am showing that, every time an Act has been repealed, terrorism has increased, and, for every amnesty that has been granted, terrorism has increased doubly and triplefold. There was also a question asked today as to why Government does not go to the root cause. I showed that the first root cause was the Partition of Bengal. That was annulled, but there was no improvement. Then, the new reforms were introduced, but I want to show that the terrorists did not want those reforms at all.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How is that relevant ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : The relevancy is that, if you repeal this Act, you will encourage the terrorists to come in full strength and upset the Government. Your idea is that if you repeal this Act, they will agree to settle down in life, but, I say, it is all a mistake. I will just show in what respect they hold the Congress. Their own literature which they sent me and which I will read out will show that. Let me tell you frankly what they really want. They want no ordered Government at all ; there is no communalism in them, and they do not care a tuppence how many seats the Muslims get and how many seats the Hindus get. What they want is a Communistic Republic, and nothing short of that.

Sir, I find that Honourable Members opposite are getting impatient, because I am saying the whole truth, and, so, my Honourable friend jumps up to say that I am speaking irrelevant matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The Chair called the Honourable Member to order.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : My Honourable friend has drawn the attention of the Chair, as if we are not accustomed here to listen to all sorts of things which are quite irrelevant to the point under discussion. If my Honourable friend will have a little patience, he will see the relevancy.

Before I go into this literature, I should like to say that dangerous associations and conspiracies exist, that terrorism, Communism and communalism and Civil Disobedience, in some form or other, still exist, and I shall show that. I have prepared a statement of terrorist incidents in India after the passing of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932,—that is, in the years 1933, 1934, and 1935. The number of cases in Madras in 1933, were 3 ; in 1934, nil ; in 1935, nil. In Bombay, in 1933, 3 ; in 1934, 10 ; and, in 1935, 3.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How is this relevant to this Bill ? Perhaps this speech was all prepared for the other Bill !

[Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi.]

Congress there lies the mentality of a tradesman. There, the supremacy, is in the hands of traders who are blind for their self-interest. They want reforms; they want wider chances to satisfy their self-interests—”.

--referring to my friends from Bombay,—

“Not only that, Congress wants to bring freedom through non-violence. There may be self-progress of the nation by initiation to non-violence, but the value of freedom is much more than that. We might have been able to reach our goal by non-violent agitation if the majority of the men and women of the country would have tried in all possible ways to make the movement a success. It is not possible for men to make that sacrifice and accept that hardship which are necessary to undermine the very foundation of that throne by non-violent means which have been firmly implanted in India by a people covering a period of more than 175 years. Victory is only possible in the path aligned by the Congress if for over a year the trade and commerce and the agricultural production of the country may be stopped and the country may be turned into a cremation ground like the Rajput age, if the railway or other vehicles of locomotion are closed for a long time, and if Indians in bands resign Government appointments.”

Next, Sir, there was what was called the “United Socialistic Republican Party”, and, in their programme, they say :

“Propaganda, agitation, and destructive and terroristic activity. Terroristic activities consist in the destruction of the most harmful persons in the Government, the protection of the party from spies and the punishment of official lawlessness, the organization of small secret societies with all sorts of revolutionary aims is indispensable.”

Then, there was another pamphlet called the “Call to Revolt”. It says its policy is :

“An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and, therefore, a life for a life”.....

An Honourable Member : Supposing there are false teeth, then what happens ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : One more, and this is from the “Hindustan Socialistic Republican Association”, and this is what they say :

“The object of the Association shall be to establish a Socialist Republic of the United States of India by an organized and armed Revolution”.....

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : With yourself as its President ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi :

“By the armed insurrection of the widest possible masses of the working class, the peasantry, and the revolutionary petty bourgeoisie.”

Now, Sir, what was the position before this Act was passed ? The Corporation of Calcutta, the Second City in the British Empire, paid a tribute to Dinesh Gupta who was executed.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What has that got to do with the motion before us ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : The Corporation adjourned its meeting as a mark of respect to Dinesh Gupta. The Corporation of Calcutta expressed its sorrow at the execution of Dinesh Gupta and adjourned its meeting on the 8th of July. When the Corporation assembled, Councillor Mr. B. N. Banerjee moved :

“This Corporation records its sense of grief at the execution of Dinesh Gupta who sacrificed his life in the pursuit of his ideal.”

and the House adopted the Resolution standing. On the motion of another Councillor, a meeting was adjourned till Friday, the 10th of July. The Mayor of the Calcutta Corporation, in associating himself with the Resolution, paid a tribute to the courage and devotion of the deceased. Sir, this was published in the Corporation Gazette, and still my friends say that we must.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The Honourable Member can declare the Corporation unlawful.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Sir, what happened ? In 1931, while I was passing, I noticed the Corporation free schools were holding morning and night classes. A beautiful song was being sung. I saw that one day, and I thought that it was only on that day. But, next day, I found the same, and so on. What was this song ? This is the lesson which the Corporation teaches to its boys numbering 40,000 in the Calcutta free schools. What is the lesson ? It is in Bengali, but I shall translate it also. (An Honourable Member : “Sing it in Bengali.”)

Mr. B. Das : On a point of order, Sir. My Honourable friend, when he was “Mr. Ghuznavi”, gave out this song on the floor of this House. Then, the Mayor of Calcutta, sent a telegram which was read out by Mr. S. C. Mitra. The Mayor of Calcutta denied that in the Calcutta schools any such education was being given, and that is in the records of the Assembly debates.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : I will completely answer my Honourable friend, but let me finish this song :

“Ek, Dooi, Tin, Bharat Hoyibe Swadhin ;”

The English translation is : “One, two, three, India will be free.” I say Amen :

“Chhār, Pāñch, Chhāi, Ghandhi Maharajki jai ;”

The English translation is : “Four, five, six, Mahatma Gandhiki Jai”. I say Amen also. Now comes the sting :

“Saat, Aat, Naai, Picketing karite Haai ;”

The English translation is : “Seven, eight, nine, learn picketing”. (An Honourable Member : “Say Amen”) I would not say Amen. Then, comes the greatest sting :

“Dash, Egara, Baara, Ingrejoko Dharo aur maro.”

“Ten, eleven, twelve, catch hold of the Englishman and give him a thrashing.”

I received a terrorist notice wherein they said : “Because you went to the Governor and asked him to legislate against the Corporation” ;—the Government was helpless without the Act as the Corporation was not taking any grant from the Government. I asked the Governor to stop that education which was being given to 40,000 little boys inculcating the hatred of the British and the boycott of British goods and picketing. My Honourable friend, Mr. Das, said just now that the Mayor denied this when I referred to it in connection with another Bill of the same type as this in this Assembly. What happened was this. In 1931, I made this statement in the Round Table Conference when Mahatma Gandhi and Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya were there. When I said, one, two, three, Malaviyaji said “Amen”. But, after I had finished my speech at 12 o'clock at night, Mahatma Gandhi rose to answer and regretted if what I had stated was a fact, and he apologised on behalf of the Corporation. What do I see? On the following morning, I saw in the London Times the Mayor of Calcutta calling a meeting regarding the statement that had been made by me in the Round Table Conference. A Resolution was passed to prosecute me. I was prepared for that prosecution, because, I had evidence in my pocket before I made a statement of that kind. It was in their educational curriculum which is in my possession still. After that, many of the teachers have been sentenced to imprisonment over this teaching. But I was prepared to receive a summons for making a statement which was not true, but what did I find? On the fourth day, it was said: "Don't give publicity by prosecuting him, he is too small, ignore what he has said." And, still, the then Mayor of Calcutta had the audacity and cheek to say that it is not a fact. (An Honourable Member: "Withdraw.") Yes, I will withdraw. I will make the statement outside the House, and let him prosecute me.

[Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi.]

Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq: I said nothing of the kind.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi: I am very sorry. I never meant the Honourable Member. This happened long before him. This took place in 1932, and he was not anywhere near it. All the statement that I have made is not during the Honourable Member's term as Mayor.

Sir, we have heard of high political philosophy, liberty of association. Who, in his sense, I ask, would ever think of disputing the proposition that these are sacred rights, fundamental rights, valuable possessions? But every right, if I may say so, implies a corresponding obligation, a duty on the part of the citizens not to abuse those rights and privileges and turn them into veritable engines of oppression for a section of the people and create and foment those disruptive tendencies which operate as clogs in the wheel of administration and act in such a way as to make ordered progress impossible. Sir, the liberty of person, the liberty of press, liberty of association are not rights unrestricted in character. I shall not give this House instances of countries where there are no parliamentary institutions, but let me take the House to what England has done. These rights are often restricted there by the existence of strong public opinion in the first instance, and, where and when necessary, by exceptional legislation. One recent instance of this exceptional legislation in England was to be found in the reference to Hansard quoted by my Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, and to which attention was pointedly drawn by my Honourable friend, the Commerce Member. Legislation regarding trade unions in England, during recent years, was a clear restriction of the right of association. The New Deal in the United States is a clear restriction of various individual rights which the citizens had learnt to appreciate and value, so that, even in the most go-ahead countries, where Parliamentary Government prevails, exceptional circumstances would seem to justify exceptional legislation. The exceptional attitude of the people in general and the press in particular towards similar exceptional manifestations of cankerous growths in the body politic would also justify exceptional legislation. If the great strike in England, for instance, which was the biggest instance of direct action in recent times in England, failed, it was because of the unmistakable force of public opinion which asserted itself through the press and otherwise. Now, Sir, there were exceptional circumstances in the country which justified the enactment of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908 and the existence of those circumstances has not been very much questioned. If the Partition of Bengal had been the proximate cause, it was undone in 1911, and still terrorism went on. Then, Sir, there was the general amnesty of political prisoners and still this is going on and the revolutionary movements have continued. I have been able to show that these various amnesties that have been granted had only given more time to the terrorists and they came out with full vigour and stronger than they had been before. There is no doubt that law and order are at a discount, the seeds of revolution are abroad and public opinion has not yet fully asserted itself against these subversive movements, and, but for the preventive measures taken by Government and permitted by the provisions of the Act of 1908, which we are now called upon to drop, ordered progress will be impossible, constitutional government a mockery and the reign of the rule of law a figure of speech. Sir, I ask my friends, do they not see even now what is happening at Chittagong? Have you not heard of another manifesto which has been plastered all over Chittagong—red leaflets—immediately when this Session of the Assembly began? What did that leaflet say? It incited the students to terrorism and threatened with violence and death those who worked against the terrorist organisations. With your permission, I will read....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Honourable Member has already taken one hour and 20 minutes and there are other Honourable Members who want to speak.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi: Why should I not be allowed to read, when I have got the materials with me?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Provided the Honourable Member does not repeat himself and repeat the arguments of other speakers.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi: I am not going to repeat what other speakers have spoken:

"The teachers of the English High School at Chittagong....."

An Honourable Member: Where did you get it?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi: This is a photographic reproduction of the notice.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Honourable Member had better address the Chair.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi: I will read only the last paragraph of that notice:

"I, therefore, warn you not to do anything that may offend the national feeling."

(Interruption.) I have repeatedly told my Honourable friends on the opposite side that, every time I get a notice, I get some literature also. Will you see the number of literatures I have got? There you are, look.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Honourable Member is again reminded that he should address the Chair.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghumanavi :

"Patriotic culture of students, not to harm or punish any student for his love of country and not to help the police or the military in any repressive measures against the student community. If in spite of this warning, you still resort to reactionary, unpatriotic and immoral methods, the Indian Republican Army will be compelled to take drastic steps against you which the Army has not done so long, as you are the sons of the same Mother India whose independence is the ever cherished goal of the army."

I will read only one paragraph of the Indian Republican Army's second notice :

"While thus vindicating before the world the claim of humanity on behalf of India's down-trodden millions, the Indian Republican Army craves the sympathy and hearty approval of every Indian people and hereby proclaims its emphatic condemnation of the conduct of the public leaders who are juggling with the solemn sentiment of the nation at this hour, in the name of emasculated non-violence."

The Indian Republican Army further declares that any person who will be able to produce any Englishman, woman or child of any age to its headquarters, dead or alive, will be amply rewarded.

Sir, I think I have been able to show that this Act has done a lot of good to the country, and that, if it is repealed, the same thing will happen as had happened before. Once you repeal the Act, you can realise from the instances, I have already given, what will happen. Sir, I ask the Honourable Members—do not pursue the Chinese policy of "no see", and "no hear". I say, do your duty by voting against this Bill, as, I dare say, a good case has been clearly made out for the retention on the Statute-book of Part II of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908. (Loud Applause.)

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi (Assam Valley : Non-Muhammadan) : Sir, after the long and tedious oration of my Honourable friend opposite, I hope this House will excuse me if I speak for sometime about a few facts which are within my own personal knowledge concerning the administration of this very Bill which has been the subject-matter of discussion. Sir, the Honourable the Law Member began his speech during the discussion at Delhi by saying :

"The question at issue before this Honourable House is whether this Act of 1908 should be repealed. Is there any justification for its continuance ?"

And, then, the Honourable the Law Member confined all his arguments to the cases of Bengal alone, as he said he was well-conversant with Bengal and was not so well-conversant with the instances that occurred in other provinces. Sir, although I do not belong to Bengal, I did pass a long number of years of my life in Bengal from 1893 till 1915. So, as a disinterested observer, I have been observing all the time how the soul of Bengal has been troubled, how Bengal has suffered all these years from different cruel circumstances. But, before I begin with Bengal, I will begin with my own province of Assam and shall give you some examples of the numerous acts of lawlessness of the police and the magistracy in the name of law and order.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta).]

Sir, Assam never knew anything about anarchy or terrorism before, but, after the shooting at Amritsar, when men, women and children were mercilessly murdered by a high European military officer,—after that, the soul of India got troubled and Assam could not avoid that excitement. Before that, things were different. I, myself, Sir, belong to a family of loyalists, and was myself a loyalist, and I followed English ways of food and dress and used to feel like a Sahib ; but, after I read the accounts of those barbarous atrocities and after I read the statement of Dr. Rabindra Nath Tagore and when I read the words by which he gave up his knighthood, after that I had to give up my ways of life, my ways of food and clothing, and then I came to know that a slave is a slave, however, much you ape the ways of your rulers. (Hear, hear.) Well, Sir, Mahatma Gandhi then came to the front, and after that he said that for a subject-nation to get redress from insolent and arrogant rulers, the only way is Civil Disobedience, the only way is non-co-operation, non-violent non-co-operation. (Hear, hear.) I am still, Sir, a strong believer in non-violent non-co-operation. I am a humble follower of Mahatma Gandhi. I believe in non-violence, and nobody regrets more in this House the violence committed by our own fellow-countrymen in Bengal or elsewhere, and also the acts of violence perpetrated by the Government party, nobody regrets this more than I do. Sir, I do not eulogise or praise those men who commit violence ; I say a murderer is a murderer who ought not to be eulogized : but the fact remains, Sir, why do these people commit all these murders ? I will first begin with my own province of Assam. In 1921, suddenly a notification appeared in the Assam Gazette that all the Congress volunteer organizations were unlawful. After the publication of that notification, the orgy of oppression began. Wholesale arrests of innocent men were made after wholesale house searches, people were sent to jail in numbers, all the leaders were sent to jail, and then what happened ? I will give you a few instances of all these acts of cruel oppression. While I was in Jorhat jail a number of volunteers—some Muhammadans and some Hindus, at a distance of about four miles from the town, were holding a common ground. The Muhammadans were saying their Molud Sharif and the Hindus also were saying their prayers. Suddenly, a lot of Gurkhas surrounded the house and set fire to the house, and the poor volunteers could escape only with very great difficulty from that house, and everything was burnt down ! The police officer—I can even name him, he was a Ghose—was ultimately imprisoned and lost his service for other misdeeds, but were these officers, including this man, at all punished then ? The District Magistrate, who was a European, and who was almost as fluent a speaker as my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, the District Magistrate of Midnapore, was at the station while this act of arson was taking place ! Then, Sir, in Assam, many Congress offices were cut down with the help of Gurkhas and many such houses were set fire to. Were not these cases of arson ? Then, there were many other cases. Is one case at Lakhimpore, a volunteer was being married, he sat down before the sacred fire with his would-be wife on his left, and then the police officer came and said : "I arrest you, you must come at once !" And, then, what happened ? The bridegroom went away leaving his photograph on the seat ! Sir, I can cite innumerable other authentic and pathetic cases like this.

Sir, was this Act of 1908 properly used ? Who misused its provisions ? Did the volunteers misuse it ? I say, no. I challenge anybody to say that any of the Assam volunteers committed any act of violence or assault on any policeman or anybody else. Then why were they treated like this ? Sir, when I came to know of all these things, I was inside the

[Srijut N. C. Bardaloi.]

Jorhat jail, and then I felt how terrorism was being generated in Bengal. Possibly, the Assamese being not as sentimental as Bengalis, there was no revolutionary manifestations there. Then, I shall give you another example. In 1921, a batch of Gurkhas, under a civilian officer, went to Boko to realise fines from the Boko men, because that was a stronghold of non-co-operation. And how, Sir, were the fines realised? Well, those who paid the fines, it was all right with them. But, alas, with those who did not, what happened to them? Some of them were put into the cold waters of the river during the night, for hours and hours together, and, in the morning, they were brought out, and their hands were tied down, and they were made to stand facing the sun, and this used to be continued unless and until they paid their fines. They were tortured like that: (Cries of "Shame, shame".) Sir, did this Act of 1908 authorise them to do all these acts of oppression? Then, in Sylhet, a Muhammadan sub-inspector, with a posse of Gurkhas, went round and tore a copy of the Holy Koran in the house of a Muhammadan besides doing other injuries to his house and properties. A newspaper had written that a copy of the Holy Koran had been torn in this way, and the editor of that paper was hauled up in Court; but, because there was a very honest and impartial judge at that time, he went to the place of occurrence, saw it, and then acquitted the editor, and afterwards a case was brought against the persons who committed this act, a Resolution was also passed in the Assam Legislative Council, condemning the action. And, then, Sir, there was the famous shooting case of Kanaighat. In that case, a constable was shot and it was said that a European I. C. S. officer shot him, because he disobeyed his orders, and there was also a lot of repression at that time. Later on, notice was given for the filing of a civil suit against that officer, but by that time that officer had left the country. These facts are not mine. They can be corroborated by the proceedings of the Assam Council of 1924 of which my friend, Mr. Basanta Kumar Das, was a Member. All these facts were mentioned in the Legislative Council and Mr. Bentinck, who was the Commissioner of Sarma Valley and the Deputy Commissioner of Gauhati in those days and was in the Council as Chief Secretary, did not contradict these facts. He himself said later on:

"When all these things occurred, when we arrested our respectable friends and when we sent them to jail, there was lot of searching of the heart. Now, my friends, forgive and forget and let bygones be bygones."

That was the reply. Now, I ask, was good use made of this Act of 1908? Whenever any extraordinary power is given to the executive, they always abuse it right and left. Sir, this Act of 1908 came as a bolt from the blue in Assam because there was no necessity of such an Act there. During the days of the Non-Co-Operation Movement this Act was used extensively. After that the Non-Co-Operation Movement subsided in Assam. In 1930, the movement began again and as it was an All-India movement, Assam also took her part in it. If I were to recite one or two instances of oppression of those days, I am sure the House would be shocked. The Deputy Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council, Babu Brojendra Narayan Chaudhuri, a great zamindar, a great patriot and a man who is held in the highest reverence, and my Honourable friend, Mr. Basanta Kumar Das, another great leader, were leading a procession. What happened was that they were stopped on the street.

Gurkhas assaulted them and they were thrown into the ditches. They were caught hold of by their necks with their own chadars and were shoved into a motor lorry and were then taken to the jail. What was their offence? They were leading a procession. Was all that authorised by this Act of 1908? They were tried and sentenced to two years rigorous imprisonment each. Now, when they were in Sylhet jail, what happened? In this jail, there were a number of boys some of them of the best families. A warder insulted them and they came in a body to the jailor to make a complaint against him. My friends were then confined in the European ward. Suddenly an alarm signal was given and a lot of warders and police constables rushed into the jail and gave such a beating to these men that some of them got their arms broken, some had their legs injured and others had other injuries. After that good beating, they were transferred to different jails. All the men who were assaulted complained to the District Magistrate and a sort of inquiry was made and it was said that the boys were to blame. All this beating and all this breaking of bones went for nothing. I myself was imprisoned at Gauhati in 1932, and I will tell you why I was arrested. On one occasion, I hoisted the national flag and this I did inside a private compound where the Congress office was. I and my friends were at once surrounded by the Gurkhas and the police constables with their regulation lathis and the Deputy Superintendent of Police was there in full uniform. I asked him: "How could you come inside this private compound? Is it an offence to hoist a flag?" He said: "I have come here under section 144. I don't care what you say, but I have been ordered by the Deputy Commissioner to arrest you, and so I will arrest you." So, all of us were arrested and were taken to jail. Probably the Deputy Superintendent of Police reported to the Deputy Commissioner who wired to Shillong, and, after the close of the day, we were let off. We came home thinking that good sense had prevailed with the authorities. After seven days, I was again arrested, not on the previous charge, but because I was the head of the volunteer organisation. I was not the captain, but I was the President of the District Congress Committee. I was hauled up under section 17 of this Act, and, then, I was given three months. Of course, the magistrate was an honest man and a friend of mine, and I have got all respect for him. He wrote in his judgment that so far as Mr. Bardaloi was concerned, he was connected with many good movements and public activities, and there was nothing wrong in his speeches. As, however, I was the head of the organisation, I was sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment and was sent to Sylhet jail. I expected two years, but I was sent for three months. On the previous occasion, I was sent for 18 months. Now, when I went to Sylhet jail, what did I find there? I found a serious rebellious spirit inside the Sylhet jail. The boys in that jail were highly spirited boys and were well educated, but they had become very glum, because they were so much offended on account of the above beating. The Superintendent of the Jail, who was a good man by the name of Colonel Sen, could not manage them easily and he came to me and said: "Look here, what can I do? These boys do not obey my orders." So, I sent for all of them and argued with them and said: "Look here, as you have come inside the jail, you must obey the jail rules. That is the injunction of Mahatma Gandhi. I have been doing work and you can also do the same. You must obey the orders." So, I made them obey the orders and the Superintendent of the Jail came and thanked me. While I was in jail, I made two bamboo and cane stools which I have got still with me as memento. I asked them to emulate me. If I had not been there to pour oil on troubled waters, perhaps there would have been another case of beating. At that time I felt that, because of the way in which these boys were treated, Sylhet may see some terrorist activities hereafter, because every boy was dissatisfied, every boy was angry and every boy was punished for it. One day I saw a number of boys—about 12 of them—being ordered to put on gunny clothing for 15 days, because they had said something to the jailor. Probably, those gentlemen sitting opposite have no idea what gunny clothing means. They may say : “ You have done some wrong, and, therefore, you must put on gunny clothing.” But, even as a tamasha, I would ask them to put on gunny clothing in great heat like that of Sylhet and see how they like it. Now, Sir, these boys had to put on this gunny clothing for 15 days and suffered tremendously. After all, they were human beings. Do you mean to say that their hearts were not rebellious at that moment when they were suffering from itchings day and night and they could not sleep because of it ? And, mind you, they were all educated and members of respectable families. Do you mean to say that these punishments did not bring some sort of anger into their hearts ? At that time I felt that something was coming to Sylhet as it is part of Bengal and as it was suffering like this. There was no terrorist movement at that time in Sylhet.

[Srijut N. C. Bardaloi.]

Another fact which attracted my attention very much was that in some places in the Assam Valley the punishments were light. Even an old offender like myself was sent to three months only, but when I went to Sylhet I was simply shocked to see the condition of things there. Girls of 16 and 17 and wives of very respectable lawyers with little babies were sent to two years' rigorous imprisonment and some of them also got 2½ years' rigorous imprisonment simply because they were picketing foreign cloth shops. They were awarded two years and 2½ years' imprisonment. In one instance, I saw a pleader's wife sentenced to two years' imprisonment. She had a little baby, and, because the pleader could not maintain the little baby, the baby also was kept in the prison along with the mother. I used to see the pleader every day, after attending the Court, would come in the evening to the jail gate with a bottle of milk for the baby. Was it humane ? This was not any isolated instance of a lady going to jail. There were several other instances where ladies were sent to prison with small babies. Those ladies all belonged to respectable families and their husbands were respectable members of society. In Sylhet, there was no light punishment for anybody, everybody was sentenced to hard labour, sometimes ranging over two years period. There were a number of subdivisions in which the European officials and the policemen assaulted young boys. Can the Government show a single instance in which a European official or a policeman was assaulted by boys ? The District Magistrate of Midnapur, Mr. Griffiths, while speaking in the House, the other day, asserted with great vehemence and eloquence that civil resisters used to begin with non-violence, but ended by violence. I want to know how many heads have been broken in Bengal on account of that ? How many heads of magistrates and policemen were broken on account of violence on the part of the people ? None. All the violence was on the other side. Now, Sir, I think I have finished with the instances in Assam. Though there are innumerable cases left, I think I will now come to Bengal.

I was in Bengal from 1893 to 1915, most of the time as a student, and, afterwards, as a legal practitioner in the High Court. I observed that Bengal has always been suffering. I have always been observing from a distance, because I was not in it. I always hated terrorism. I submit that the whole trouble began from the partition days. The partition of Bengal was effected in spite of the unanimous opposition from the Bengalis of all classes. There were very few who did not oppose it. There were meetings all over the country. The public voice was silenced without being able to get its objective. What did these men do in Bengal ? They first started the swadeshi movement, that is boycott of British goods. The British people are a dominant race. They have got plenty of soldiers and bayonets and cannons. In their pride of power, the British people did not hear the wailings of the poor people of this country. They did not take into account the sincere prayers of the people of this country. The people of Bengal thought there was no use of fighting the British physically. They also thought there would be class war if violence is resorted to. So, as a subject race, the only instrument in their hands for the redress of their grievances was the instrument of boycotting British goods. What did they do ? They boycotted British goods by way of retaliation. They went to every shop and picketed those shops and dissuaded people from buying foreign goods. In fact the seeds of swadeshim were sown only at that time. Out of evil cometh good. Every Bengali, whether he is an official, in the police service or in any other Government service—go wherever you like into the interior of the country—has got that national sentiment within him. Buy swadeshi, that is the slogan of all.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

The Bengali has suffered the greatest of oppression and repression at the hands of this Government. The people have come to believe firmly that Swadeshim is the only panacea for all the economic ills of this country. At that time when swadeshi preaching was at its height, we know what sort of repression was going on in Bengal. The people were mercilessly beaten. People were sent to jail in numbers. What is all this due to ? The chief aim of this Government is to set up one class against another. During the days of the partition of Bengal, Sir Bampfylde Fuller was the Governor. He had the bad taste of saying that Muhammadans in Eastern Bengal were his favourite wives. That was a very bad taste. In that way, one class was set up against another. In those days, there were many riots and lootings. It was only from that time anarchy began in Bengal. I hope my Honourable friends, including the Honourable the Law Member, would not take me to task if I say that before that everywhere in India, especially among Englishmen, the Bengali was considered to be a cowardly man. I know of one incident which happened in the St. Xavier's College in my college days. There were 150 or so Bengali boys sitting in the college, and a European boy came and said : “ I wish I could kick out all the Babus from this college ”. Not a single Bengali boy replied to that challenge. All the boys pocketed that insult. Now, what is the position ? Even if a hundred Europeans should come and taunt a single Bengali boy with advanced ideals, he will give a proper reply. The Bengalis have got rid of that cowardly mentality. (Hear, hear.) Who has changed the mentality of the Bengalis ? It is only the Government by their oppression and repression have stirred up the nationalism of the Bengali young men. These young men read all the literature of Europe and their imaginations were fired by such literature and they actually began to form secret societies with a view to liberate India from foreign domination. Formerly when a handful of Muhammadan hooligans attacked the Hindus, the Hindus were so cowardly as not to retaliate. Afterwards, the Hindus began to practise lathi play and sword play, with the result that, when the Hindus are now attacked by the surrounding Muhammadans in a village, they will be able to repel all their attack. Similar was the case with Muhammadans formerly. When the Muhammadans were attacked formerly by the Hindus, they kept quiet. Now, the Muhammadans also have practised all the lathi play and the sword play and now they are able to defend themselves against the attack of their neighbours. The people in Bengal have become much more manly than the older race in Bengal. Unfortunately, the Government could not divert that manliness among the Bengalis to proper channels, but by oppressions diverted that to a wrong channel. That is why anarchism broke forth. That is why secret societies sprung up and that is why the cult of murder became generated in the minds of young Bengal. We have been hearing of several instances of murder. Nobody denies that. I say there are murderers, there are anarchists. I deplore the incidents, I regret that these young men have taken to acts of terrorism. Being a follower of Mahatma Gandhi, I deplore the violence of these young men. They should not take the life of a single individual. Though I regret their acts of violence, I regret much more the apathy of the Government because though they see all these sorrows and miseries of the people, yet they do not take any steps to remove these sufferings and miseries. The case of Khudi Ram was mentioned. If you go into the history of the case, possibly you will find behind it some strong cause. Possibly the attempt to murder Kingsford was due to the fact that one man was publicly flogged by his order. I think there are many people in the world who think that life is not worth living after being flogged publicly. Personally I would also think so. I may not commit murder, but I may commit murder to my own self, or immolate myself in some way. There are men with such mentality, that if you do any wrong to them, if you oppress them or if you insult them publicly, they would not take that insult lying down.

[Srijut N. C. Bardaloi.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Will the Honourable Member be able to conclude his speech today ?

Srijut N. C. Bardaloi : I will take some time more.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The House will now adjourn till tomorrow.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Wednesday, the 18th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Wednesday, 18th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

CONSTITUTION OF A STANDING COMMITTEE ON RICE.

453. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Has the Standing Committee on Rice recommended by the Crop Planning Conference of 1934, been constituted ? If so, who are the members appointed and what are the terms of their appointment ?

(b) What is the approximate annual expenditure on the Committee ?

(c) What amount, if any, has been sanctioned by the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) The Imperial Council of Agricultural Research is still in correspondence with the various Local Governments, Indian States and others concerned and the Committee will be set up as soon as preliminary negotiations are complete.

(b) and (c). The question of providing funds will be considered when the constitution of the Committee has been settled.

PREFERENCE FOR INDIAN RICE IN BRITISH MALAYA AND CEYLON AND FOR INDIAN PADDY IN THE UNITED KINGDOM.

454. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Has any preference been obtained for Indian rice in British Malaya and for Indian paddy in the United Kingdom in consequence of the representations made by the Government of India to the proper authorities in that behalf ?

(b) Have any steps been taken to obtain preference for Indian rice in Ceylon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) No preference has been obtained for Indian rice in Malaya but a preference of 2½ penny per lb. has been obtained for Indian paddy in the United Kingdom.

(b) The grant of reciprocal preferences between India and Ceylon is still under negotiation. I may, however, add with regard to (a) that the Honourable Member is no doubt aware that Indian rice has a preference of a penny a pound in the United Kingdom. And, with regard to Malaya, the position is that all duties on foreign rice have been removed in Malaya and rice now enters Malaya duty free, and, therefore, the Government of India cannot press for a preference in that respect.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : At what stage do the negotiations for a trade agreement between Ceylon and India stand now ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have explained that in detail before that the matter is awaiting settlement of the scale of duties on cocoanut and cocoanut produce. As soon as we are able to settle that, we shall proceed with the question of preferences.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has any agent been deputed by the Government of Ceylon to the Government of India about this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : A deputation arrived some time ago, and as a result of the visit of that deputation, negotiations started. They are now awaiting the result of the Government of India's action with regard to cocoanut and cocoanut produce before they can be carried further. Nobody from India has been deputed to go down to Ceylon.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will anybody be deputed to go to Ceylon and finish these negotiations, and, if so, when will they be completed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The question of sending anybody or asking anybody to come here or to carry on negotiations by correspondence will be taken up as soon as this matter of cocoanut and cocoanut produce is out of the way. With regard to the date, I am sure, the Honourable Member will understand that nothing definite can be said now. The matter is being pushed forward with regard to cocoanut as quickly as we possibly can.

SPECIAL RAILWAY RATES FOR SPECIAL CROPS.

455. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Have the Agents of any Railways implemented the undertaking given by the representative of the Railway Board to the Sub-Committee of the Advisory Board of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research, that special rates would be allowed to facilitate particular movements of special crops ? If so, will Government cite the instances and extent of special rates ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The undertaking given was that sympathetic consideration would be given to the question of allowing special rates when these were required to facilitate particular movements of special crops and that the Railway Board would consult agricultural officers and the new marketing staff in connection with any proposals put up to them. The Railway Board have not received any proposals as yet.

The quotation of special rates is influenced entirely by local conditions and is, therefore, a question primarily for consideration by Railway Administrations who have been advised of the undertaking given by the Railway Board and asked to take action in consultation with agricultural officers and marketing staff to ensure that it was implemented.

I am placing on the table a statement summarising briefly the action taken by Railway Administrations in cases in which requests were received for special rates to be quoted.

Assam Bengal Railway.—The question of special rates for rice and paddy from milling stations in paddy growing areas served by the Gauhati Branch, is under correspondence with the Marketing Officer.

At the request of the Director of Agriculture, Assam, quarter parcels rates for pine-apples have been quoted from stations on the northern section to via Pandu (for traffic to Calcutta).

At the request of the Director of Agriculture, Bengal, quarter parcels rates have been quoted for grafts, fruit plants and shrubs.

Bengal and North Western Railway.—At the request of the Director of Agriculture, United Provinces, it has been agreed to quote special rates for ground-nuts to Cawnpore.

The question of reducing rates for wheat to Bengal and Assam is under correspondence.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway.—At the request of the Director of Agriculture, United Provinces, reduced rates for ground-nuts have been quoted on the Cawnpore-Achnera Section.

Eastern Bengal Railway.—A large number of special rates have been quoted for grain and pulses, rice and paddy, seeds common, garlic, onions, potatoes, ginger, chillies and tobacco from and to various stations.

North Western Railway.—At the request of the Marketing Officer reduced rate is being quoted for wheat from Lyallpur to Bombay.

South Indian Railway.—Special rates have been quoted for rice, paddy, ground-nuts, cotton, cocoanuts, plantains, potatoes and sugarcane.

PROTECTIVE DUTY ON IMPORT OF DAIRY PRODUCTS.

456. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Has the Tariff Board examined the question of a protective duty on all imports of dairy products ? If so, what has been their recommendation ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The question has never been examined by the Tariff Board.

REDUCTION IN THE NUMBER OF CLASSES ON INDIAN RAILWAYS.

457. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : Has any decision been taken on the question of a reduction in the number of classes on Indian Railways ? If not, what specific proposals are under consideration ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The reply to the first part is in the negative. As regards the second part, no specific proposals are at present under consideration, but the general question was discussed with the Central Advisory Council for Railways on the 14th instant.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : Is it not a fact that the Ackworth Committee recommended that the classifications should be simplified and reduced ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I think the Honourable Member is referring to the number of classes for passengers ?

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : And is it not also a fact that Government also promised a consideration of such reduction as published in their Administration Report ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Is my Honourable friend referring to the classification of goods or of passengers ?

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : I am talking of the reduction in the number of classification on the Indian Railways.

Mr. P. R. Rau : I do not remember if the Ackworth Committee suggested any such reduction in the number of classes into which the Indian Railways are divided. The Indian Railways are divided roughly into three classes, the first class consisting of those whose gross earnings are over 50 lakhs, the second class of those of over 10 lakhs, and the rest belonging to the third class.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : And there are a number of items in the third class of all possible things owned by the district boards, owned by private companies, and so on ; and it was recommended that they should be amalgamated, if possible, into smaller units.

Mr. P. R. Rau : This question refers to the number of classes for passengers, viz., first, second, intermediate and third, and whether they should be reduced.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : May I know what were the specific proposals made in the Central Advisory Council about the classes for passengers ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The opinions were varied. Some members thought that the present classification ought to be retained while others thought that the number of classes should be reduced by one and we should have one upper class, one lower class and one intermediate class.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Is the matter still awaiting the decision of the Central Advisory Council or has any final decision been reached ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The Central Advisory Council discussed this question only on Saturday last.

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : Is it a fact that, as reported in the Hindustan Times yesterday, the intermediate class is proposed to be abolished ? Did the Honourable Member see it ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I do not believe all that I read in the newspapers.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Was there not a proposal like that that the intermediate class should be abolished ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If it is meant whether there have been proposals of that description in the meeting of the Central Advisory Council, there have been proposals of all kinds, almost all the permutations and combinations which can be imagined with regard to classification and reclassification. But, as has been explained, the meeting was held only on last Saturday and the proposals have been collected together, and the matter will now receive the consideration of the Railway Board.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Will the Honourable Member place the final decision before this House ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

REPORT OF THE INDIAN DELEGATION TO THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

458. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Do Government propose to give an opportunity to this House to discuss the report of the Indian Delegation to the League of Nations, published in the Gazette of India of the 26th January, 1935 ?

(b) Are Government aware that there is a demand for such an opportunity ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) and (b). The Honourable Member is referred to my reply to question No. 572 on the 14th August, 1934, in which I stated that if Government were made aware through the recognised channel of Party Leaders that there was a general desire to discuss any future Report, otherwise than on a Resolution making specific recommendations with reference thereto, they would be prepared to consider the possibility of allotting time for the purpose. No representation on the subject having been made to Government, they are not in a position to infer the existence of such a demand. They have, however, themselves considered the matter and reached the conclusion that the extreme diversity of the subjects dealt with in any Report of the Indian Delegation would render any general discussion thereof impracticable and I would suggest that any Honourable Member who desires to discuss specific questions arising on the Report should give notice of a Resolution relating to that specific question.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : In view of the fact that the number of days allotted for Resolutions are so few and a Resolution like this has been tabled half a dozen times during the last four years, but had never a chance to be discussed, may I request the Honourable Member to consider the proposal of allotting a day or half a day in this Session for the discussion of this question ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I may remind the Honourable Member that I said on the 14th August, 1934, more than a year ago, that Government would be prepared to consider it should any information be given to them through the usual channels of Party Leaders that there was a demand for it. They have received no such demand for a year and two months. If such a demand is made, the matter has to be considered.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad : Thanks.

Dr. P. N. Banerjee : Was that not in the last Assembly, and not in the present one ?

INTRODUCTION OF REFORMS IN THE PROVINCES.

459. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Will Government please state the approximate time by which the Reforms are likely to be introduced in the provinces ?

(b) When do Government propose to have the election for the formation of the reformed Legislatures in the provinces ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) and (b). While every effort is being made to ensure that the Reforms are introduced into the provinces with the least possible delay, Government cannot at this stage commit themselves to any statement as to the probable date of their introduction or of the elections. Both matters depend largely upon the course and duration of the electoral preparations which cannot at present be forecasted with any accuracy.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Are Government aware that some of the Provincial Legislative Councils have already run for six years, that is, twice the usual period and that more delay means more number of years for the same Council ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The Honourable Member is giving me information, which is not new to me.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : So far as the Bengal Council is concerned, it has already lived to a life of seven years.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is not a question : that is information which is not wanted.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Does the Honourable Member propose to have re-election under the present Constitution itself if it will take longer for the new Constitution to come in ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I cannot express an opinion as to what will happen, not knowing when the new Constitution is going to be introduced.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Apart from the time required for completing the electoral arrangements under the new Constitution in the provinces, are there any questions outstanding which must, to the knowledge of Government, be settled before the elections can be held to the various Provincial Legislatures ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If there are any questions outstanding, certainly they do not stand in the way. Therefore, my answer is that the only ground is what I have already given in my answer to the original question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government attempted to make any rough calculation of the time required for preparing the electoral rolls in the various provinces ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : No.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the reforms in Sind are going to be in operation earlier ? If so, when, and who will be our Governor ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have no information ; but I believe the Honourable Member will be quite eligible for the post. (Laughter.)

CONSTRUCTION OF THE DACCA-ARICHA RAILWAY.

460. *Dr. P. N. Banerjea : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the proceedings of a Dacca-Aricha Railway Conference, held at Dacca on the 14th July 1935, at which the representatives of the people of the district of Dacca expressed their emphatic opinion that in the interest of the public the construction of the Dacca-Aricha Railway should be proceeded with without delay ?

(b) If so, are Government prepared to re-consider their decision with regard to the construction of this Railway ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Is it not under contemplation of the Government to construct the Aricha Railway ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Was there no such scheme before the Government ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : There was a scheme which was under consideration for a long time, but, as I explained to the House some time ago, the Government of Bengal considered that this scheme would have seriously bad effects on the public health of the province, and so the Government of India had to give it up.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Was not a copy of the proceedings of this conference sent to the Honourable Member ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No.

BAGGAGE FREE ALLOWANCE FOR THIRD CLASS PASSENGERS FROM CEYLON TO INDIA.

461. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether it is a fact :

(i) that the Central Board of Revenue have issued notification No. 31, dated 30th August, 1930, regarding baggage free allowance for passengers from Ceylon to India ;

(ii) that no specific free allowances have been prescribed for third class passengers ; and

(iii) that, as a result of the indefiniteness of this provision, third class passengers are open to petty persecutions ?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of fixing specifically the allowances for the third class passengers, as has been done for the higher two classes ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) (i). Customs notification No. 31, dated the 30th of August, 1930, as amended by Customs notification No. 56, dated the 27th of August, 1932, exempts from duty, subject to certain conditions and exceptions, bona fide personal baggage brought by passengers from Ceylon.

(ii) No specific free allowances have been prescribed by the Central Board of Revenue for any class of passengers.

(iii) Government have no reason to believe that Customs Officers are abusing the discretion which is vested in them.

(b) No. It must be left to the local officers to decide what can be regarded as bona fide personal baggage in each individual case.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Is it not necessary that definite allowances should be provided for each class of passenger ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I would only say that, in view of the great opportunities for abuse on such a short journey as the run from Dhanushkodi, if any cast iron rule were laid down, the limit would have to be so rigid as to inconvenience many passengers.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it or is not a fact that Indians who go to Ceylon and return, are compelled to pay taxes or duties on goods which they have imported into Ceylon for their own use, and on which duties have already been levied and paid ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : That can happen.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the Government realise that it is double taxation and may involve injustice, and will they examine it and see if this double taxation can be avoided ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : A representation on the subject is before the Central Board of Revenue and will be examined.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : With regard to part (iii) of this question, I was inquiring whether the Honourable Member has made any inquiry whether there are petty persecutions like that ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Certainly we have made inquiries.

RICE, BROKEN-RICE AND PADDY IMPORTED INTO INDIA FROM SIAM AND INDO-CHINA.

462. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will Government state :

(a) the amount of rice, broken-rice and paddy imported into India from Siam and Indo-China since the levy of the import duty on broken-rice ; and

(b) the effect of the import duty on broken-rice on the above imports ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) A statement is laid on the table furnishing the information asked for as far as it is available.

(b) The Government are unable to offer an opinion at this stage, but of course it is open to the Honourable Member to draw his own conclusions from the figures in the statement.

Statement showing imports into India of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Siam and Indo-China during April to August, 1935.

| Month.    | Rice. |             |        | Broken-rice. |             |        | Paddy. |             |        |
|-----------|-------|-------------|--------|--------------|-------------|--------|--------|-------------|--------|
|           | Siam. | Indo-China. | Total. | Siam.        | Indo-China. | Total. | Siam.  | Indo-China. | Total. |
|           | Tons. | Tons.       | Tons.  | Tons.        | Tons.       | Tons.  | Tons.  | Tons.       | Tons.  |
| April ..  | 300   | 607         | 907    | 3,918        | 600         | 4,518  | ..     | 1,442       | 1,442  |
| May ..    | 500   | ..          | 500    | ..           | ..          | ..     | ..     | 10,548      | 10,548 |
| June ..   | ..    | ..          | ..     | ..           | ..          | ..     | ..     | 7,360       | 7,360  |
| July ..   | 500   | ..          | 500    | ..           | ..          | ..     | 5,073  | 3,411       | 8,484  |
| August .. | 750   | ..          | 750    | 9,035        | ..          | 9,035  | 550    | ..          | 550    |
| Total ..  | 2,050 | 607         | 2,657  | 12,953       | 600         | 13,553 | 5,623  | 22,761      | 28,384 |

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Are Government aware that large quantities of paddy and rice are being imported into this country from Siam ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : So far as the information available goes, there were no such imports during May, June and July : there have been imports of broken-rice—not paddy—of a fairly substantial quantity during August.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Does the statement contain figures for August ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Can the Honourable Member give us an idea of the quantity of imports ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am prepared to read out any portion of the figures required.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the last import of broken-rice ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : 9.035 tons from Siam.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the fact that this duty has been imposed on broken-rice imports, does it not clearly show that this duty does not, after all, operate in the interests of our Indian producers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have submitted that it is too early to express an opinion, because, during May, June and July, there was absolutely no import of broken-rice at all.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will Government be prepared to revise the duty in the light of the figures given in these statistics ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government are not prepared to take any action as a result of one month's imports.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will the Honourable Member kindly give the figure for June, July and August ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : For broken-rice—June nil, July nil, August, I have already given the figures.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : And for ordinary rice ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : June nil, July 500 tons, August 750 tons.

SUGGESTION REGARDING IMPOSITION OF A PROHIBITIVE IMPORT DUTY ON ZANZIBAR CLOVES.

463. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will Government state :

(a) whether they have received any representations from the Zanzibar Indians that the extension of moratorium to Arab producers and the increase in the licensing fees have had disastrous effect on Indians :

(b) whether they have suggested that the Government of India should impose a prohibitive import duty on Zanzibar cloves as a retaliatory measure :

- (c) what reply have Government given to the Zanzibar Indians ;
 (d) whether they are negotiating with the Zanzibar Government ;
 and
 (e) if so, what the results are ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Representations on the subjects mentioned by the Honourable Member have been received.

(b) Yes.

(c) The Zanzibar Indians have been informed that the matter is receiving attention.

(d) and (e). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me on the 4th September, 1935, to Mr. S. Satyamurti's question No. 118.

TEMPORARY CLERKS IN THE OFFICE OF THE CONTROLLER OF TELEGRAPH STORES, ALIPORE.

464. *Dr. P. N. Banerjee : (a) Is it a fact that there are some clerks in the office of the Controller of Telegraph Stores, Alipore, Calcutta, who have been retained on temporary basis for periods ranging from six to ten years without being made permanent ? If so, will Government be pleased to state the reason for retaining them on a fixed pay for a considerable number of years without annual increase in emoluments ?

(b) Is it a fact that these temporary posts were first created in the year 1923 ?

(c) Have these clerks been drawing Rs. 50 per month since the year 1929, and, according to Fundamental Rule 39, does not the maximum limit of Rs. 50 per month constitute the minimum stage of the grade Rs. 50—6—110—5—160 prevalent in the Store Office for "A" Cadre posts ? If the reply be in the affirmative, are Government prepared to consider the desirability of confirming these clerks in the existing scale Rs. 50—6—110—5—160 ?

(d) Was there any preferential provision for graduate and under-graduate clerks in the Posts and Telegraphs Department ?

(e) Was the said concession withdrawn long after the graduate and under-graduate incumbents had entered the Department ? If so, do Government propose to grant them the said concession ?

(f) Did some of these officers submit any petition to Government in July, 1934 ? If so, what action has been taken on their appeals and what do Government propose to do with them ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) As regards the first part of the question, some clerks in the office of the Controller, Telegraph Stores, Alipore, were retained on a temporary basis for periods ranging from two to nine years. As regards the second part, the question of the reorganisation of the office of the Controller of Telegraph Stores was under consideration for some time but for administrative and financial reasons it was found impracticable to bring the temporary staff earlier on to the permanent establishment. In March last, a decision was finally arrived at and orders were issued to bring the temporary staff on to the permanent establishment with effect from the 1st April, 1935. The officials in question were not eligible for any increments as they were only holding temporary posts sanctioned on a fixed pay from year to year.

(b) Yes.

(c) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative but the position with regard to the fixation of pay of the temporary posts is not as stated by the Honourable Member. The clerks in question have been drawing a fixed pay of Rs. 50 in the temporary posts held by them and the rule cited by the Honourable Member does not require them to be brought on to the scale mentioned by him. The last part of the question does not arise.

(d) Yes.

(e) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative, and to the second part in the negative. As stated in the reply to part (a), the question of confirmation of the temporary men was deferred on financial and administrative grounds ; and they are not eligible for the concession now.

(f) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative. As regards the second part, the petitions have been carefully considered and such of the concessions prayed for as were admissible according to the rules were granted.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Does the period of temporary service count for pension ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Yes, Sir.

GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT OF INDIGENOUS INSURANCE BUSINESS.

465. *Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Are Government aware that non-Indian Insurance Companies are dumping their business in India ?

(b) Have Government considered the necessity of adopting anti-dumping measures against the non-Indian Companies in order to stop the drain of Indian money and to afford protection to the indigenous insurance Companies ?

(c) Are Government aware that such measures are adopted even in most of the advanced countries of the world ?

(d) Is it in the contemplation of the Government to amend the existing Insurance Law of this country ? If so, when is the Bill likely to be introduced in this House ? What progress has been made in this connection ?

(e) What is the main object of the proposed amendment ?

(f) Is it their object or is it one of their objects to make effective provision to help the growth and development of indigenous insurance business ?

(g) Have Government considered the advisability of appointing a committee of enquiry consisting of representative insurance men to ascertain the real problems of Indian insurance business and their requirements and drafting the Bill in the light of their recommendations ? If not, are Government prepared to do so ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) No. On the other hand business of non-Indian Companies is declining.

(b) No.

(c) No.

(d), (e) and (f). Government are provisionally of opinion that the rapid development of insurance business during the last few years has created numerous circumstances in which the existing law is inadequate. They have, therefore, appointed an Officer on Special Duty to examine the question and to indicate broadly the lines on which new legislation should be undertaken. Representations relating to provisions for growth and development of indigenous insurance business have been received from public bodies and are being considered by the Officer on Special Duty. This Officer's report is expected to be ready about October, and it is impossible for Government to state in what directions amendments will be made until the report of the Special Officer has been received and considered.

(g) Government will consider what their further procedure should be after the report of the Special Officer has been received, but they will certainly consider the suggestion made by the Honourable Member.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the amount of insurance business now done by Indian and non-Indian companies in this country ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am afraid I have not got that information.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I think I heard the Honourable Member say that non-Indian business is declining. May I know on what basis he made that statement ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : On the basis of the information I have received. I have not got the exact figures before me, but there is no question that non-Indian insurance business is declining and, if my Honourable friend wants the exact information, I shall be able to give it at short notice.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it not a fact, Sir, that even today a not inconsiderable share of the insurance business is done by non-Indian companies in this country ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : A not inconsiderable share ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Yes, that is right.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether Government propose to take steps to conserve, as far as possible, insurance business which is almost fool proof and knave proof for Indian companies.....

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I must really raise a point of order on this. During the last two months, we have been having these questions loaded with observations which are no part of the question itself,—they have been more by way of criticism of Government or reflections on the Government, but surely they did not form part of the question. A question is directed only to get information.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I can understand the Government saying there is some class of business in which we cannot interfere, because it may upset the canons of honesty. My point is that insurance business is fool proof and knave proof. There is a real law in the country which governs insurance companies, and almost any company may be trusted to conform to it. It is no reflection on the Honourable the Law Member.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : With regard to the point of order that has been raised, I have observed that often in supplementary questions reflections and criticisms are introduced which is contrary to the rules and Standing Orders.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : In the meantime I have forgotten what the question was.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : My Honourable friend is always after other things than the question itself. My question is this: Will the Honourable the Law Member say why Government don't propose to consider taking steps to conserve as much of insurance business as possible, by such steps as the Government can take, for Indian companies ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I ignore your remark and I say that Government do not propose to take any steps before this Report is received and considered. We expect this Report to be ready about October.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government bring up proposals in the next cold weather in the Assembly on this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I think I answered that question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to raise a point of order, Sir. I can understand the Government saying "We won't answer the question...."

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I said I answered it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is what the Chair heard.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If you have heard the answer, I am satisfied, but I have not heard the answer.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : May I just repeat what I said ? This officer's Report is expected to be ready about October, and it is impossible for Government in what directions amendments will be made until the Report of the Special Officer has been received and considered. Therefore, our proposals are not yet ready, and I cannot say definitely the date on which such proposals would be brought forward.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You have now answered. That was not the original answer.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That was the original answer.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has now got the answer. Next question please.

IMPOSITION OF DUTIES ON PERSONAL EFFECTS CARRIED BY PASSENGERS FROM CEYLON TO INDIA.

466. Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have heard from the Nadar Mahajana Sangam, Ceylon, about the unjustifiable imposition of duties on personal effects carried by passengers from Ceylon to India via Tuticorin or Dhanushkodi ;

- (b) whether Government have replied to them, and if not, why not ;
- (c) whether duties are levied on the following articles, inter alia, a piano carried by a pianist passenger or a similar musical instrument by people interested in the line, a typewriter by a professional typist, a few yards of cloth either cotton or silk to be conveniently made into a parcel, and if so, why ;
- (d) whether it is a fact that no specific free allowance is prescribed for third-class passengers ; and if not, why not ;
- (e) whether it is left to the discretion of individual Customs Collectors ; and
- (f) whether they propose to enquire into the matter, and take steps to redress these grievances ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) A representation was received from the Nadar Mahajana Sangam, Ceylon, in 1933.

(b) A copy of the reply is laid on the table.

(c), (d), (e) and (f). In so far as these parts of the question relate to the application of the Baggage Rules, I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply which I gave to question No. 461 asked by Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar and to the notifications quoted in that reply. In so far as they relate to the disposal of claims to the benefit of No. 77 (1) of the Indian Customs Tariff, the reply is that every case must be decided on its merits.

FROM RAI BAHADUR PANDIT RAM NATH, B.A., SECRETARY, CENTRAL BOARD OF REVENUE, TO THE HONORARY SECRETARIES, THE NADAR MAHAJANA SANGAM, 77, MALIBAN STREET, COLOMBO (CEYLON), R. DIS. NO. 536-CUS.I|33, DATED SIMLA, THE 18TH AUGUST, 1933.

Baggage—Passengers from Ceylon—Notification regarding—Proposed amendment of—Your letter, dated the 29th May, 1933.

I am directed to refer to the letter quoted above.

2. The Government of India have already decided not to prescribe any scale of free allowance in the baggage rules, as the question of what is or is not covered by the term personal effects is one which must be decided by reference to the facts of each case. It has, however, been ascertained from the Collector of Customs, Madras, that instructions have been issued to the Inspectors of Customs to be as helpful as possible to the travelling public. Also that the baggage regulations should be enforced in a liberal spirit subject to adequate safeguards to the revenue. No complaints have been received from the travelling public since the issue of these instructions.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (e) of the question, may I know, Sir, why free allowance is not specifically mentioned ? Individual Customs Collectors prescribe these free allowances, and, if so, do they do it in each individual case or from time to time, and, if so, on what principles ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I believe the position is, the Customs Collectors have general Standing Orders which are subject to adjustments in individual cases.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the principles on which these Customs Collectors lay down the specific free allowance ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The principle, I think, may be said to be the desire to be reasonable.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if my Honourable friend realises that, if these specific free allowances are laid down from time to time, and again they are subject to exemptions or additions at the discretion of individual officers doing duty at the time, it may give rise to injustice ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I think I have already said that if we were to frame our rules so as to guard ourselves against any chance of abuse, they would have to be so extremely rigid and limited as to be unjust and unfair to many passengers.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What steps do Government propose to take to protect individual passengers from injustice ? Apart from the general rules which they have laid down, do Government propose to take any safeguards to protect individuals against cases of abuse of this power ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The safeguard is the supervision and control by superior officers.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the present limit of free allowance, Sir ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : That I cannot answer.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it a fact that no free allowance is fixed merely in the interest of the passengers and not in the interest of the Collectors ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I think, Sir, one of the principal interests to be considered is that of British Indian traders.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : If no free allowance is fixed, how do the customs people regulate this free allowance ? Do they do it according to their own whims and caprices ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I think, Sir, I have already answered that question. There must be an element of discretion, otherwise there will be serious abuse.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is there any minimum limit at all of this free allowance ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Not so far as I am aware.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it a fact then that Government do not wish to fix even a minimum of free allowance in the interests of passengers ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : We have other interests besides those of passengers to consider.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In what way do Government propose to safeguard the interests of passengers also ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : By giving instructions to their officers to be reasonable and fair in the administration of their duties. If the Honourable Member will bear with me, I will read out the reply, a copy of which I have just laid on the table, but which the Honourable Member has not seen yet. It says :

"The Government of India have already decided not to prescribe any scale of free allowance in the baggage rules, as the question of what is or is not covered by the term personal effects is one which must be decided by reference to the facts of each case. It has, however, been ascertained from the Collector of Customs, Madras, that instructions have been issued to the Inspector of Customs to be as helpful as possible to the travelling public. Also that the baggage regulations should be enforced in a liberal spirit subject to adequate safeguards to the revenue. No complaints have been received from the travelling public since the issue of these instructions."

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are we to take it that the allowances which are usually granted are not in any way less than the allowances granted on the Ceylonese and Indian Railways?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I fail to understand that question.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST SOME RAILWAY OFFICIALS AT TUNDLA.

467. *Pandit Sri Krishna Datta Paliwal : (a) With reference to the replies to question No. 871 (c), (e) and (f), dated the 12th March, 1935, are Government making enquiries from the said Deputy Controller himself or from the Superintendent, Police, Agra, who registered the lorries in the name of his wife in the year 1933 or thereabouts?

(b) Will Government please also enquire and state whether the said Deputy Controller of Tundla borrowed big sums of money for the purpose from the East Indian Railway Employees Co-operative Credit Society on false pretences in 1932 or 1933?

(c) Is it also a fact that he borrowed large sums of money from the local money-lenders of Tundla also in 1933 and is it a fact that for the payment thereof his pay is still attached and the major portion of the pay is attached for payment of these debts?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) I would invite the attention of my Honourable friend to the information laid on the table of the House on the 2nd September, 1935, in connection with parts (c) and (e) of question No. 871 asked by him on the 12th March, 1935.

(b) and (c). I am sending a copy of these parts of the question to the Agent, East Indian Railway, for any action that may be necessary.

VENDORS AT THE TUNDLA RAILWAY STATION.

468. *Pandit Sri Krishna Datta Paliwal : (a) With reference to the reply given to question 878 (e), dated the 12th March, 1935, will Government please state the exact grounds on which it is believed that the particular outsiders selected for vendorship at Tundla in preference to old retired Railway servants can give better service?

(b) What are the exact requirements of the Railway authority and what are the criteria to judge capacity for service?

(c) Will Government kindly lay on the table a copy of the rules governing the grant of vendorships?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). The selection of vendors is largely a matter of discretion, and it rests with the appointing authority to exercise its own judgment as to which of the applicants are the most suitable.

(c) Government have issued no rules in regard to this matter. On the East Indian Railway applications are called for when occasion arises and the most suitable firm is selected by the authority empowered to appoint vendors.

ELECTION TO THE ALL-INDIA MEDICAL COUNCIL.

469. *Mr. S. Satyamurti (on behalf of Dr. T. S. S. Rajan) : (a) Is the All-India Medical Council subject to the control of the Government of India?

(b) Who is responsible for the conduct of the elections to the All-India Medical Council?

(c) Are Government aware that a number of voters to the Council belonging to the province of Madras sent a letter protesting against the way in which the secrecy of ballot paper was not maintained in the recent election to the vacant seat?

(d) Is the local Government the final authority in deciding the method and manner of the election?

(e) If so, how does the Government of India become responsible for the body whose election and nomination is not subject to their control?

(f) How do Government justify the position taken up by the Government of Madras that they will not consider the question even after the error has been pointed out by the voters and a way out of it suggested by them?

(g) Under the conditions mentioned do Government hold that the election has been conducted fairly?

(h) If not, are Government prepared to order a fresh election to that constituency after declaring the past election null and void?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) The powers exercisable by the Governor General in Council in relation to the Indian Medical Council are defined in the Indian Medical Council Act, 1933, copies of which are available in the Library.

(b), (d) and (e). I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to section 4 of the Act.

(c), (f) and (g). The Government of India have no information regarding the manner in which the election referred to by the Honourable Member was conducted in Madras. No instructions were issued by them.

(h) I may point out that under the provisions of the Act the decision of the Local Government in matters of dispute regarding any election to the Council is final.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government make enquiries from the Madras Government, and find out if it is or if it is not a fact that this election was so conducted that the returning officer knew in every case who voted for which candidate, and will Government take steps or request the Local Government to take steps to ensure secrecy of the ballot, which is essential for the purity of elections?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Honourable gentleman who has tabled this question has also addressed a representation to me on the subject. That is receiving consideration.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India address the Local Government, and find out whether this particular election was so conducted as to destroy any secrecy in the voting ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : My Honourable friend is asking me to anticipate the result of the consideration. I got the letter only yesterday, but I can assure my friend that I shall do what I can.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Are Government aware that the Surgeon-General himself took deep interest in a particular candidate in this election ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I think if my Honourable friend had listened to the answer which I gave to parts (c), (f) and (g) of the question, he would have realised that the Government of India have no information regarding the manner in which the election referred to by the Honourable Member was conducted in Madras.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Will Government make inquiries into this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already informed the House that I have received a separate representation from Dr. Rajan and that that is receiving consideration.

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF APPOINTMENTS HELD BY INDIANS BY THE INDIAN MEDICAL SERVICE.

470. *Mr. S. Satyamurti (on behalf of Dr. T. S. S. Rajan) :
(a) Do Indians in the Indian Medical Service hold any administrative staff appointments ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a list of such appointments held by Indians till now ?

(c) If no such appointment is held by Indians till now, will Government explain the reason for such non-appointment ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes.

(b) I lay a statement on the table.

(c) Does not arise.

List of Administrative Appointments held by Indian Officers of the Indian Medical Service during the period from 1921 to July 1935.

CIVIL.

|                               |                                                      |
|-------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| Colonel C. R. Bakhle .. ..    | I. G. C. H., Punjab.                                 |
| " K. V. Kukday, C.I.E. ..     | I. G. C. H., Central Provinces.                      |
| " D. P. Goil .. ..            | I. G. C. H., Punjab.                                 |
| Lt.-Col. K. G. Gharpurey ..   | Offg. Surgeon-General with the Government of Bombay. |
| Major-General D. P. Gell ..   | Surgeon-General with the Government of Bengal.       |
| Lt.-Col. M. S. Irani .. ..    | Offg. Surgeon-General, Bombay.                       |
| Colonel N. S. Sodhi, M.C. ..  | I. G. C. H., Burma.                                  |
| Lt.-Col. D. H. Rai, M.C. ..   | Offg. I. G. C. H., Punjab.                           |
| Lt.-Col. H. L. Batra, M.C. .. | Offg. I. G. C. H. and Prisons, Assam.                |

CIVIL—contd.

|                                     |                                                        |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|
| Lt.-Col. P. K. Tarapore ..          | Inspector-General of Prisons, Burma.                   |
| " C. M. Ganapathy, M.C. ..          | Offg. Director of Public Health, Central Provinces.    |
| " S. L. Mitra .. ..                 | Offg. D. P. H., Bihar and Orissa.                      |
| " N. D. Puri .. ..                  | Offg. Inspector-General of Prisons, Punjab.            |
| Major R. C. Malhotra. (deceased)    | Director of Public Health, Punjab.                     |
| Lt.-Col. A. Y. Dabholkar, M.C. ..   | Offg. Director of Public Health, Bombay.               |
| " L. H. Khan. (deceased)            | Offg. Inspector-General of Prisons, Central Provinces. |
| " M. A. Singh .. ..                 | Offg. Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal.            |
| " N. S. Jatar, D.S.O. ..            | Offg. I. G. of Prisons, Central Provinces.             |
| " M. M. Khan .. ..                  | Offg. I. G. of Prisons, Madras.                        |
| " J. C. Bharucha .. ..              | Offg. I. G. of Prisons, Bihar and Orissa.              |
| Major (Now Lt.-Col.) S. L. Mitra .. | Offg. Director of Public Health, Assam.                |
| Lt.-Col. C. M. Ganapathy, M.C. ..   | Director of Public Health, Madras.                     |
| Major H. M. Salamat Ullah ..        | Offg. I. G. of Prisons, United Provinces.              |
| " S. N. Makand .. ..                | Offg. Director of Public Health, Central Provinces.    |

MILITARY.

|                                     |                                                   |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|
| Colonel B. Nath, C.I.E. ..          | A. D. M. S., Allahabad Brigade Area.              |
| Major H. J. M. Cursetjee, D.S.O. .. | Temporary D. A. D. M. S. (Mobn.), Meerut.         |
|                                     | D. A. D. M. S. (Mobn.), Meerut.                   |
| Lt.-Col. H. J. M. Cursetjee, D.S.O. | Offg. A. D. M. S., Kohat.                         |
| " M. D. A. Kureishi ..              | Offg. A. D. M. S., Bombay.                        |
| Major S. S. Sokhey .. ..            | D. A. D. P., Waziristan District.                 |
| " N. B. Mehta .. ..                 | D. A. D. H., Rawalpindi District.                 |
| " R. N. Khosla .. ..                | D. A. D. M. S. (Mobilization), Lucknow.           |
| " J. W. F. Albuquerque ..           | D. A. D. H., Madras District.                     |
| " V. N. Agate .. ..                 | Offg. D. A. D. M. S. (Mobilization), Meerut.      |
| Captain R. C. Wats .. ..            | D. A. D. P., Waziristan.                          |
|                                     | D. A. D. P., Mhow.                                |
| Major R. C. Wats .. ..              | D. A. D. P., Maymyo.                              |
| Bt.-Major M. S. Gupta .. ..         | Offg. D. A. D. P., Presidency and Assam District. |
| " A. C. Chatterji .. ..             | D. A. D. P., Kohat.                               |
| " M. L. Bhargava .. ..              | D. A. D. M. S. (Sanitation), Razmak Field Force.  |
| " P. N. Basu .. ..                  | D. A. D. P., Bombay.                              |
| " G. Verghese .. ..                 | D. A. D. P., Burma.                               |
|                                     | D. A. D. P., Bangalore.                           |
| " J. C. Chukerbuti .. ..            | Offg. D. A. D. P., Kohat.                         |
| " P. M. Antia .. ..                 | D. A. D. P., Bombay.                              |
|                                     | Offg. D. A. D. H., Bombay.                        |
| " T. B. Pahlajani .. ..             | Offg. D. A. D. P., Waziristan.                    |
| " T. C. Puri .. ..                  | D. A. D. P., Presidency and Assam District.       |
| " J. R. Dogra .. ..                 | Offg. D. A. D. P., Waziristan.                    |
| " R. C. Dracup .. ..                | Offg. D. A. D. P., Quetta.                        |

MILITARY—contd.

|                                 |                                             |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| Captain M. K. Afridi .. ..      | Offg. D. A. D. P., Kohat.                   |
| .. S. W. H. Askari .. ..        | Offg. D. A. D. P., Lucknow.                 |
| .. E. Benjamin (T. C.) ..       | Offg. D. A. D. P., Waziristan.              |
| .. V. D. Madgavkar (T. C.) ..   | D. A. D. P., Waziristan.                    |
| .. P. S. Varadarajan (T. C.) .. | Offg. D. A. D. P., Bombay.                  |
| Major J. W. F. Albuquerque ..   | D. A. D. H., Meerut District.               |
| .. K. M. Bharucha .. ..         | D. A. D. H., Lahore District.               |
| Captain T. B. Pahlajani .. ..   | D. A. D. P., Kohat District.                |
| .. J. R. Dogra .. ..            | D. A. D. P., Waziristan District.           |
| .. M. K. Afridi .. ..           | D. A. D. P., Presidency and Assam District. |

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How many Indians are now holding the appointments ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have a list here of about three type-written pages. I do not know the exact number.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the proportion of appointments held by Indians roughly ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I should like to have notice of that question.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN THE RECRUITMENT OF ASSISTANT SURGEONS IN THE INDIAN MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

471. *Mr. S. Satyamurti (on behalf of Dr. T. S. S. Rajan) : (a) Is it a fact that appointments of Assistant Surgeons in the Indian Medical Department are exclusively reserved for the Anglo-Indian community ?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state the reasons ?

(c) Are the Pupil Candidates given a stipend for a period of five years of their training and posts given at the end of this period to successful candidates ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state their reasons for favouring this particular community with stipends from public funds even for their professional education ?

(e) Are Government prepared to discontinue this procedure of privilege for a particular community and throw open the whole cadre to all statutory natives of India, irrespective of caste and creed ?

(f) Are Government prepared to stop, as a measure of economy of public funds, granting scholarships to particular communities on account of there being hundreds of university qualified medical men who are unemployed ?

(g) Are Government committed to the policy of racial discrimination to the recruitment of services ?

(h) If not, how do Government justify this procedure in the Indian Medical Department ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) These appointments are open to Europeans or members of the Anglo-Indian and domiciled community.

(b) Because they are required for employment with British troops.

(c) Yes.

(d) Because assistant surgeons of the communities mentioned would not otherwise be obtainable.

(e) No.

(f) No.

(g) and (h). The present system must continue so long as the conditions of employment of British troops in India include the right to medical attendance by officers of their own race.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : By whom has this condition been laid down ? By the Secretary of State, or by the Government of India ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The conditions are approved by the Secretary of State.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know the reason why the Government of India have laid down this condition that British troops shall be treated only by Europeans or by Anglo-Indians and not by Indian doctors ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Government of India have not laid down that condition, Sir. It is a condition under which the War Office supply British troops for service in India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the Government of India no voice in the matter ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The views of the Government of India in this matter are, I think, well-known ; and it would be impossible for me in reply to a supplementary question to explain at length what those views are.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Is it a fact that any Christian can join that service, and will the Honourable Member be pleased to state if a Christian is considered an Anglo-Indian or European for the purpose ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Is the Honourable Member referring to Indian Christians ?

Dr. Khan Sahib : Yes.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Indian Christians are not allowed to join.

Dr. N. B. Khare : Do the Anglo-Indians belong to the British race ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. Next question.

INDIANS AND EUROPEANS IN THE WOMEN MEDICAL SERVICE.

472. *Mr. S. Satyamurti (on behalf of Dr. T. S. S. Rajan) :

(a) Will Government be pleased to state what the respective number of Indians and Europeans in the All-India Women Medical Service is ?

(b) What is the total number of Indian women drawing salaries of rupees five hundred and above, and the total number of European women drawing the same salary ?

(c) What are the qualifications required for the appointment ?

(d) Is the selection made by competitive examination or merely by personal selection by a board of members ?

(e) In the present cadre of the Indian Women Medical Service, how many of them have had their past services in the Mission Hospitals ?

(f) What is the scale of pay of the service and allowances in addition to teaching grants and presidency allowance ?

(g) Are there any restrictions with regard to married women entering the service ?

(h) Do Government still think it necessary to recruit women outside India for this service, and if so, will they be pleased to state the reasons ?

(i) What is the reason for the small percentage of Indian women in the higher grade of the service ?

(j) Do Government propose to restrict recruitment to the service from Indian women medical graduates and others who are domiciled in India ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a), (b), (c) and (f). A statement is laid on the table.

(d) The selection is initially made by Selection Committees both in India and in the United Kingdom, the final selection being made by the Executive Committee of the Central Council in India.

(e) Seven.

(g) An officer on marriage may be called on by the Executive Committee of the Countess of Dufferin's Fund to resign, but there are several married women at present in the service.

(h) and (j). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given to parts (b) and (f) of Dr. N. B. Khare's starred question No. 1316 on the 2nd April, 1935.

(i) The preponderance of Europeans amongst senior members is explained by the fact that when the service was first constituted, and for some years subsequently, Indians with adequate qualifications were not available.

Statement.

|             |    |
|-------------|----|
| (a) Indians | 27 |
| Europeans   | 23 |
| (b) Indians | 20 |
| Europeans   | 23 |

(v) Medical qualifications registrable in the United Kingdom under the Medical Act or the degree of a British Indian University.

(f) The scale of pay of the Women's Medical Service and allowances are as follows :

|                    | Per mensem. |
|--------------------|-------------|
|                    | Ra.         |
| (1) 1—3 years      | 450         |
| 4—6 years          | 500         |
| 7—9 years          | 550         |
| 10—12 years        | 600         |
| 13—15 years        | 650         |
| 16—18 years        | 700         |
| 19—21 years        | 750         |
| 22—24 years        | 800         |
| 24 years and after | 850         |

(2) In addition an overseas allowance is paid to officers of non-Asiatic domicile—
Rs. 150 per mensem to those with 12 years' service and over, and Rs. 100 per mensem to those with less than 12 years' service.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the percentage of Indians and Europeans today, according to the information available to my Honourable friend ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There are in all 50 officers, of which 27 are Indians and 23 Europeans.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the ratio in which recruitment is going on now, between Europeans and Indians ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There is no fixed ratio.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How does the ratio work out ? For example, what was the ratio for the last year for which figures are available ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am speaking from memory. On the last occasion, when the recruitment was made, I think it was in the proportion of four Indians to two Europeans.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it the policy of the Government to Indianise the service at the earliest possible moment ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have explained previously that this is not a Government service, but, from the facts which I have given, my Honourable friend will be able to infer that it is the policy of the Association concerned to Indianise the service.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Has the recruitment of women doctors from abroad been stopped ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : No. I said on the last occasion when I was questioned on the subject, that it has not been stopped.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : And has there been no change at all in the policy since then ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : If there had been no change in the policy, the number of Indians in the service would not have increased from 4 in 1913 to 27 in 1935.

(d) Is the selection made by competitive examination or merely by personal selection by a board of members ?

(e) In the present cadre of the Indian Women Medical Service, how many of them have had their past services in the Mission Hospitals ?

(f) What is the scale of pay of the service and allowances in addition to teaching grants and presidency allowance ?

(g) Are there any restrictions with regard to married women entering the service ?

(h) Do Government still think it necessary to recruit women outside India for this service, and if so, will they be pleased to state the reasons ?

(i) What is the reason for the small percentage of Indian women in the higher grade of the service ?

(j) Do Government propose to restrict recruitment to the service from Indian women medical graduates and others who are domiciled in India ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a), (b), (c) and (f). A statement is laid on the table.

(d) The selection is initially made by Selection Committees both in India and in the United Kingdom, the final selection being made by the Executive Committee of the Central Council in India.

(e) Seven.

(g) An officer on marriage may be called on by the Executive Committee of the Countess of Dufferin's Fund to resign, but there are several married women at present in the service.

(h) and (j). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given to parts (b) and (f) of Dr. N. B. Khare's starred question No. 1316 on the 2nd April, 1935.

(i) The preponderance of Europeans amongst senior members is explained by the fact that when the service was first constituted, and for some years subsequently, Indians with adequate qualifications were not available.

Statement.

|             |    |
|-------------|----|
| (a) Indians | 27 |
| Europeans   | 23 |
| (b) Indians | 20 |
| Europeans   | 23 |

(v) Medical qualifications registrable in the United Kingdom under the Medical Act or the degree of a British Indian University.

(f) The scale of pay of the Women's Medical Service and allowances are as follows :

|                    | Per mensem. |
|--------------------|-------------|
|                    | Rs.         |
| (1) 1—3 years      | 450         |
| 4—6 years          | 500         |
| 7—9 years          | 550         |
| 10—12 years        | 600         |
| 13—15 years        | 650         |
| 16—18 years        | 700         |
| 19—21 years        | 750         |
| 22—24 years        | 800         |
| 24 years and after | 850         |

(2) In addition an overseas allowance is paid to officers of non-Asiatic domicile—Rs. 150 per mensem to those with 12 years' service and over, and Rs. 100 per mensem to those with less than 12 years' service.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the percentage of Indians and Europeans today, according to the information available to my Honourable friend ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There are in all 50 officers, of which 27 are Indians and 23 Europeans.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the ratio in which recruitment is going on now, between Europeans and Indians ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There is no fixed ratio.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How does the ratio work out ? For example, what was the ratio for the last year for which figures are available ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I am speaking from memory. On the last occasion, when the recruitment was made, I think it was in the proportion of four Indians to two Europeans.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it the policy of the Government to Indianise the service at the earliest possible moment ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have explained previously that this is not a Government service, but, from the facts which I have given, my Honourable friend will be able to infer that it is the policy of the Association concerned to Indianise the service.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Has the recruitment of women doctors from abroad been stopped ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : No. I said on the last occasion when I was questioned on the subject, that it has not been stopped.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : And has there been no change at all in the policy since then ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : If there had been no change in the policy, the number of Indians in the service would not have increased from 4 in 1913 to 27 in 1935.

SELECTION OF CANDIDATES FOR THE INDIAN RESEARCH FUND:

473. *Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the rules for selection of candidates to the Medical Research Fund ?

(b) What is the total strength of the research workers ?

(c) How many vacancies occurred in this cadre during this year ?

(d) What is the total number of candidates who applied for the vacancies and their academic qualifications ?

(e) How many applicants were there from the Indian Medical Service ?

(f) How many Indian Medical Service men were selected ?

(g) Is there any reservation for the Indian Medical Service men in the vacancies independent of their qualifications ?

(h) Will Government be pleased to state their reasons for reserving a certain number of seats for the Indian Medical Service ?

(i) Are Government prepared to remove the reservation of seats for Indian Medical Service men and hold the selection on the merits of candidates independent of their being members of a particular service ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) If the Honourable Member is referring to recruitment for the Medical Research Department, I would invite his attention to paragraphs 8—10 of the Government of India, Department of Education, Health and Lands, Resolution No. F. 55-19/32-II., dated the 2nd February, 1933, a copy of which has been placed in the Library of the House.

(b) The prescribed strength of the Medical Research Department is 30.

(c) Six vacancies which were advertised last year have been filled this year.

(d) 77. The candidates possessed various qualifications some of which were obtained in India, some in Europe and some in America.

(e) 34.

(f) Four.

(g), (h) and (i). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the replies given by me to the supplementary questions to Mr. Samuel Aaron's starred question No. 1392 on the 3rd April, 1935.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if these four Indian Medical Service men, out of the six, were selected because of their special aptitude for research ; and, if so, what was the evidence before the selecting authority which justified the choice of these four men ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The evidence was the evidence of the usual kind, namely, the nature of work which had been done by them before they were appointed to the I. M. S. and the work done subsequently in the service, but, as I have explained on the last occasion, apart from this, there is a really effective period of 'two years' probation, and these men are on probation still.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was the selecting authority satisfied that, of all the applicants who applied for these places, these four men were absolutely the best, from the point of view of carrying on research ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I can assure my Honourable friend that if they had not been the best candidates available, the recruiting authority would not have appointed them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the fact that they belonged to this service had no weight at all with the selecting authority ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The only weight that it had with the Selection Authority was that it had to observe the proportion. Four vacancies had to be filled by I. M. S. officers and two by non-I. M. S. men.

Dr. N. B. Khare : Was it not a fact that of those who presented themselves for interview, the non-I. M. S. candidates were certainly far better qualified than the I. M. S. candidates ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : My Honourable friend who, I think, was on the Selection Board, is entitled to his own opinion, but the fact nevertheless remains that the Recruitment Board has to conform to the proportions which have already been laid down.

TRANSFERS BACK TO INDIA OF INDIANS SERVING IN ALL-INDIA SERVICES AND CADRES IN BURMA.

474. *Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) what convention or conventions, if any, exist regarding the periodical transfers back to India of Indians serving in All-India Government Services and cadres in Burma ;

(b) whether they are aware that there is a preponderance of feeling among the Indian servants of the Government of India in Burma for their transfer to India in consideration of the recent anti-Indian riots and the impending separation of Burma, and whether the Government of India have taken up the question of their re-absorption within India ;

(c) if the answer to (b) be in the affirmative, do Government propose to take into consideration the transfer to India of even such of their servants of Burma as are not liable in the ordinary course of events to be transferred out of Burma ; and

(d) if the answer to (c) be in the negative, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Members of the All-India Services are not transferred periodically between India and Burma. In so far as members of the Central Services are concerned such transfers are made according to the requirements of the public service and not necessarily periodically.

(b) The Government of India have taken up the question in view of the impending separation of Burma.

(c) and (d). It is not possible to transfer to India personnel recruited for service in Burma alone, since the Government of India are not in a position to offer them employment in India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it that the consideration will be completed before separation becomes a fact, in so far as those services which are entitled to transfer to India are concerned ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I presume that is so.

OFFICERS AND SERVANTS OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE INDIAN MUSEUM, CALCUTTA.

475. *Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Will Government be pleased to refer to the answers to starred questions Nos. 1122 and 1123, dated the 28th March, 1935, in the Legislative Assembly and state :

- (a) whether there is a clause in the Preamble to Act XXII of 1876 that the Government of India should keep the Museum building in repair, pay and defray the salaries, allowances and pensions of the officers and servants and all other expenses connected with the said Museum ;
- (b) whether any change in the above financial arrangement has been contemplated in any of the subsequent Museum Acts ;
- (c) if so, the exact sections showing the change ;
- (d) whether in all the Museum Acts, the officers and servants of the Trustees of the Indian Museum have been classified as public servants ;
- (e) if the answer to parts (a) to (d) be in the affirmative, will Government be pleased to explain how public servants holding office in an institution built and maintained entirely at the cost of the Government of India and whose salaries, allowances and pensions are paid and defrayed by the Government of India, are not Government servants ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) No. The words which the Honourable Member quotes are governed by the words " whereas by Act XVII of 1866 it was also enacted that ", and if he can spare the time to read the whole of the Preamble to Act XXII of 1876 he will find the further recital that it is expedient to amend the law relating to the appointment and salaries of the said officers and to repeal Act XVII of 1866.

(b) Yes. The financial arrangement in question, which was the arrangement set up by the Act of 1866, was altered by the Act of 1876.

(c) In the absence from the Acts subsequent to the Act of 1866 of provision imposing on Government the liability to keep the museum in repair and to defray the salaries of officers and servants, that liability necessarily rests with the trustees in whom the building is vested by section 6 and on whom the power to appoint officers and servants is conferred by section 9 of the existing Act (No. X of 1910).

(d) The Acts have all contained provision whereby the officers and servants appointed thereunder are deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. The Honourable Member is mistaken if he supposes that a person so deemed to be a public servant is as such a Government servant.

(e) Does r

Mr. B. Das : Do Government propose to amend the Indian Museum Act, so as to give the governing body an all-India character instead of a purely Bengali character ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I submit that that does not arise out of this question.

Dr. P. N. Banerjea : Will Government be pleased to consider the case of Mr. B. C. Batabyal with regard to pension ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I don't think so.

RICE, BROKEN-RICE AND PADDY IMPORTED INTO INDIA FROM SIAM, INDO-CHINA AND RANGOON.

476. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the quantity of rice, broken-rice and paddy imported from Siam and Indo-China :

- (i) from 1st December, 1934 to 31st March, 1935, and
- (ii) from 1st April, 1935 to 31st August, 1935 ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the quantity of rice, broken-rice and paddy imported from Rangoon :

- (i) from 1st December, 1934 to 31st March, 1935, and
- (ii) from 1st April, 1935 to 31st August, 1935 ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). I lay on the table two statements giving the information as far as available. With regard to part (b) of the question Government have collected figures of exports from Rangoon to the other ports in India to avoid the delay involved in the collection of import figures at the various ports separately.

I. Statement showing imports into British India of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Siam and Indo-China.

|                                     | Rice.      |        | Broken-Rice. |        | Paddy.           |        |
|-------------------------------------|------------|--------|--------------|--------|------------------|--------|
|                                     | From Siam. | Total. | From Siam.   | Total. | From Indo-China. | Total. |
|                                     | Tons.      | Tons.  | Tons.        | Tons.  | Tons.            | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 .. .. . | 8,223      | 7,997  | 63,709       | 10,580 | 24,707           | 31,548 |
| April 1935 to August 1935 .. .. .   | 2,050      | 607    | 12,953       | 600    | 5,623            | 28,384 |
|                                     |            |        |              |        |                  |        |

II. Statement showing exports to India (excluding Burma) of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Rangoon.

|                                     | Rice.             |         | Broken-Rice.      |        | Paddy.                       |        |
|-------------------------------------|-------------------|---------|-------------------|--------|------------------------------|--------|
|                                     | To British India. | Total.  | To British India. | Total. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. |
|                                     | Tons.             | Tons.   | Tons.             | Tons.  | Tons.                        | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 .. .. . | 376,153           | 411,969 | 31,885            | 33,124 | 1,276                        | 4,569  |
| April 1935 to July 1935 .. .. .     | 282,853           | 315,453 | 32,363            | 33,174 | 350                          | 1,319  |
|                                     |                   |         |                   |        |                              |        |

Mr. G. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to (b), may I know from the Government whether they will consider favourably the recommendations of the Director of Agriculture, Madras, to fix a quota for the imports of rice from Rangoon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Burma is a part of India and no question of quota can arise between the different provinces of India.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Irrespective of separation, the Director of Agriculture, Madras, has recommended the fixing of a quota. I am asking whether Government will consider that favourably.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : After separation ?

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Before separation.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Government of India cannot consider the question of quotas from one province to another. Burma is a province of India.

ACCOMMODATION FOR OFFICERS AND STAFF IN NEW DELHI AND SIMLA.

477. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state approximately how many bungalows and clerks' quarters have fallen vacant in New Delhi on account of the Government of India move to Simla ?

(b) Will Government lay on the table a statement showing how many private houses have been taken for the use of Government Offices in Simla during summer season 1935 and what are the rents thereof and for what offices they have been taken ?

(c) Is it not a fact that the amounts mentioned in part (b) above could be saved if those offices are kept down in Delhi during the summer ?

(d) Will Government lay a statement on the table showing the actual rent paid during the season in Simla in the years 1934 and 1933 by (i) Secretaries, (ii) Deputy Secretaries, and (iii) Under-Secretaries, for the accommodation allotted to them by Government ?

(e) Is it not a fact that accommodation for such classes of officers is comparatively cheaper in Simla than at Delhi, and if so, does this influence the decision of Government in moving up to Simla ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given on the 17th September, 1935, to starred question No. 434 asked by Sardar Sant Singh. The figures of rent for the summer season of 1933 are as follows :

|                                     | Rs.   |
|-------------------------------------|-------|
| (i) Secretaries (6) .. .. .         | 6,347 |
| (ii) Deputy Secretaries (4) .. .. . | 3,171 |
| (iii) Under Secretaries .. .. .     | N/A   |

I. Statement showing imports into British India of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Siam and Indo-China.

|                                     | Rice.      |                  |        | Broken-Rice. |                  |        | Paddy.     |                  |        |
|-------------------------------------|------------|------------------|--------|--------------|------------------|--------|------------|------------------|--------|
|                                     | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam.   | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. |
|                                     | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.        | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 .. .. . | 8,223      | 7,997            | 16,220 | 63,709       | 10,580           | 74,289 | 6,837      | 24,707           | 31,544 |
| April 1935 to August 1935 .. .. .   | 2,050      | 607              | 2,657  | 12,953       | 600              | 13,553 | 5,923      | 22,761           | 28,384 |

II. Statement showing exports to India (excluding Burma) of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Rangoon.

|                                     | Rice.             |                              |         | Broken-Rice.      |                              |        | Paddy.            |                              |        |
|-------------------------------------|-------------------|------------------------------|---------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|
|                                     | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total.  | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. |
|                                     | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.   | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 .. .. . | 376,153           | 35,816                       | 411,969 | 31,885            | 1,239                        | 33,124 | 3,293             | 1,276                        | 4,569  |
| April 1935 to July 1935 .. .. .     | 282,853           | 32,609                       | 315,463 | 32,363            | 811                          | 33,174 | 1,329             | 350                          | 1,679  |

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to (b), may I know from the Government whether they will consider favourably the recommendations of the Director of Agriculture, Madras, to fix a quota for the imports of rice from Rangoon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Burma is a part of India and no question of quota can arise between the different provinces of India.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Irrespective of separation, the Director of Agriculture, Madras, has recommended the fixing of a quota. I am asking whether Government will consider that favourably.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : After separation ?

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Before separation.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Government of India cannot consider the question of quotas from one province to another. Burma is a province of India.

ACCOMMODATION FOR OFFICERS AND STAFF IN NEW DELHI AND SIMLA.

477. Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state approximately how many bungalows and clerks' quarters have fallen vacant in New Delhi on account of the Government of India move to Simla ?

(b) Will Government lay on the table a statement showing how many private houses have been taken for the use of Government Offices in Simla during summer season 1935 and what are the rents thereof and for what offices they have been taken ?

(c) Is it not a fact that the amounts mentioned in part (b) above could be saved if those offices are kept down in Delhi during the summer ?

(d) Will Government lay a statement on the table showing the actual rent paid during the season in Simla in the years 1934 and 1933 by (i) Secretaries, (ii) Deputy Secretaries, and (iii) Under-Secretaries, for the accommodation allotted to them by Government ?

(e) Is it not a fact that accommodation for such classes of officers is comparatively cheaper in Simla than at Delhi, and if so, does this influence the decision of Government in moving up to Simla ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given on the 17th September, 1935, to starred question No. 434 asked by Sardar Sant Singh. The figures of rent for the summer season of 1933 are as follows :

|                                     | Rs.   |
|-------------------------------------|-------|
| (i) Secretaries (6) .. .. .         | 6,347 |
| (ii) Deputy Secretaries (4) .. .. . | 3,171 |
| (iii) Under Secretaries .. .. .     | Nil.  |

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : In view of the fact that such a large number of clerks' quarters and officers' bungalows have fallen vacant during this season, will Government consider the question of keeping at least a portion of the staff in Delhi itself in the coming years ?

I. Statement showing imports into British India of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Siam and Indo-China.

|                                     | Rice.      |                  |        | Broken-Rice. |                  |        | Paddy.     |                  |        |
|-------------------------------------|------------|------------------|--------|--------------|------------------|--------|------------|------------------|--------|
|                                     | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam.   | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. |
|                                     | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.        | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 .. .. . | 8,223      | 7,997            | 16,220 | 63,709       | 10,580           | 74,289 | 6,837      | 24,707           | 31,544 |
| April 1935 to August 1935 .. .. .   | 2,050      | 607              | 2,657  | 12,953       | 600              | 13,553 | 5,623      | 22,761           | 28,384 |

II. Statement showing exports to India (excluding Burma) of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Rangoon.

|                                     | Rice.             |                              |         | Broken-Rice.      |                              |        | Paddy.            |                              |        |
|-------------------------------------|-------------------|------------------------------|---------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|
|                                     | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total.  | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. |
|                                     | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.   | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 .. .. . | 376,153           | 35,816                       | 411,969 | 31,885            | 1,239                        | 33,124 | 3,293             | 1,276                        | 4,569  |
| April 1935 to July 1935 .. .. .     | 282,853           | 32,609                       | 315,463 | 32,363            | 811                          | 33,174 | 1,329             | 350                          | 1,679  |

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to (b), may I know from the Government whether they will consider favourably the recommendations of the Director of Agriculture, Madras, to fix a quota for the imports of rice from Rangoon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Burma is a part of India and no question of quota can arise between the different provinces of India.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Irrespective of separation, the Director of Agriculture, Madras, has recommended the fixing of a quota. I am asking whether Government will consider that favourably.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : After separation ?

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Before separation.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Government of India cannot consider the question of quotas from one province to another. Burma is a province of India.

ACCOMMODATION FOR OFFICERS AND STAFF IN NEW DELHI AND SIMLA.

477. Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state approximately how many bungalows and clerks' quarters have fallen vacant in New Delhi on account of the Government of India move to Simla ?

(b) Will Government lay on the table a statement showing how many private houses have been taken for the use of Government Offices in Simla during summer season 1935 and what are the rents thereof and for what offices they have been taken ?

(c) Is it not a fact that the amounts mentioned in part (b) above could be saved if those offices are kept down in Delhi during the summer ?

(d) Will Government lay a statement on the table showing the actual rent paid during the season in Simla in the years 1934 and 1933 by (i) Secretaries, (ii) Deputy Secretaries, and (iii) Under-Secretaries, for the accommodation allotted to them by Government ?

(e) Is it not a fact that accommodation for such classes of officers is comparatively cheaper in Simla than at Delhi, and if so, does this influence the decision of Government in moving up to Simla ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given on the 17th September, 1935, to starred question No. 434 asked by Sardar Sant Singh. The figures of rent for the summer season of 1933 are as follows :

|                                     | Rs.   |
|-------------------------------------|-------|
| (i) Secretaries (6) .. .. .         | 6,347 |
| (ii) Deputy Secretaries (4) .. .. . | 3,171 |
| (iii) Under Secretaries .. .. .     | Nil.  |

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : In view of the fact that such a large number of clerks' quarters and officers' bungalows have fallen vacant during this season, will Government consider the question of keeping at least a portion of the staff in Delhi itself in the coming years ?

I. Statement showing imports into British India of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Siam and Indo-China.

|                             | Rice.      |                  |        | Broken-Rice. |                  |        | Paddy.     |                  |        |
|-----------------------------|------------|------------------|--------|--------------|------------------|--------|------------|------------------|--------|
|                             | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam.   | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. |
|                             | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.        | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 | 8,223      | 7,997            | 16,220 | 63,709       | 10,580           | 74,289 | 6,837      | 24,707           | 31,544 |
| April 1935 to August 1935   | 2,050      | 607              | 2,657  | 12,953       | 600              | 13,553 | 5,623      | 22,761           | 28,384 |

II. Statement showing exports to India (excluding Burma) of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Rangoon.

|                             | Rice.             |                              |         | Broken-Rice.      |                              |        | Paddy.            |                              |        |
|-----------------------------|-------------------|------------------------------|---------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|
|                             | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total.  | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. |
|                             | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.   | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 | 376,153           | 35,816                       | 411,969 | 31,885            | 1,239                        | 33,124 | 3,293             | 1,276                        | 4,569  |
| April 1935 to July 1935     | 282,853           | 32,609                       | 315,463 | 32,363            | 811                          | 33,174 | 1,329             | 350                          | 1,679  |

Mr. G. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to (b), may I know from the Government whether they will consider favourably the recommendations of the Director of Agriculture, Madras, to fix a quota for the imports of rice from Rangoon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Burma is a part of India and no question of quota can arise between the different provinces of India.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Irrespective of separation, the Director of Agriculture, Madras, has recommended the fixing of a quota. I am asking whether Government will consider that favourably.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : After separation ?

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Before separation.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Government of India cannot consider the question of quotas from one province to another. Burma is a province of India.

ACCOMMODATION FOR OFFICERS AND STAFF IN NEW DELHI AND SIMLA.

477. Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state approximately how many bungalows and clerks' quarters have fallen vacant in New Delhi on account of the Government of India move to Simla ?

(b) Will Government lay on the table a statement showing how many private houses have been taken for the use of Government Offices in Simla during summer season 1935 and what are the rents thereof and for what offices they have been taken ?

(c) Is it not a fact that the amounts mentioned in part (b) above could be saved if those offices are kept down in Delhi during the summer ?

(d) Will Government lay a statement on the table showing the actual rent paid during the season in Simla in the years 1934 and 1933 by (i) Secretaries, (ii) Deputy Secretaries, and (iii) Under-Secretaries, for the accommodation allotted to them by Government ?

(e) Is it not a fact that accommodation for such classes of officers is comparatively cheaper in Simla than at Delhi, and if so, does this influence the decision of Government in moving up to Simla ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given on the 17th September, 1935, to starred question No. 434 asked by Sardar Sant Singh. The figures of rent for the summer season of 1933 are as follows :

|                             | Rs.   |
|-----------------------------|-------|
| (i) Secretaries (6)         | 6,347 |
| (ii) Deputy Secretaries (4) | 3,171 |
| (iii) Under Secretaries     | Nil.  |

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : In view of the fact that such a large number of clerks' quarters and officers' bungalows have fallen vacant during this season, will Government consider the question of keeping at least a portion of the staff in Delhi itself in the coming years ?

I. Statement showing imports into British India of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Siam and Indo-China.

|                             | Rice.      |                  |        | Broken-Rice. |                  |        | Paddy.     |                  |        |
|-----------------------------|------------|------------------|--------|--------------|------------------|--------|------------|------------------|--------|
|                             | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam.   | From Indo-China. | Total. | From Siam. | From Indo-China. | Total. |
|                             | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.        | Tons.            | Tons.  | Tons.      | Tons.            | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 | 8,223      | 7,997            | 16,220 | 63,709       | 10,580           | 74,289 | 6,837      | 24,707           | 31,544 |
| April 1935 to August 1935   | 2,050      | 607              | 2,657  | 12,953       | 600              | 13,553 | 5,623      | 22,761           | 28,384 |

II. Statement showing exports to India (excluding Burma) of rice, broken-rice and paddy from Rangoon.

|                             | Rice.             |                              |         | Broken-Rice.      |                              |        | Paddy.            |                              |        |
|-----------------------------|-------------------|------------------------------|---------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|-------------------|------------------------------|--------|
|                             | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total.  | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. | To British India. | To Non-British Indian ports. | Total. |
|                             | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.   | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  | Tons.             | Tons.                        | Tons.  |
| December 1934 to March 1935 | 376,153           | 35,816                       | 411,969 | 31,885            | 1,239                        | 33,124 | 3,293             | 1,276                        | 4,569  |
| April 1935 to July 1935     | 282,853           | 32,609                       | 315,463 | 32,363            | 811                          | 33,174 | 1,329             | 350                          | 1,679  |

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With regard to (b), may I know from the Government whether they will consider favourably the recommendations of the Director of Agriculture, Madras, to fix a quota for the imports of rice from Rangoon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Burma is a part of India and no question of quota can arise between the different provinces of India.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Irrespective of separation, the Director of Agriculture, Madras, has recommended the fixing of a quota. I am asking whether Government will consider that favourably.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : After separation ?

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Before separation.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Government of India cannot consider the question of quotas from one province to another. Burma is a province of India.

ACCOMMODATION FOR OFFICERS AND STAFF IN NEW DELHI AND SIMLA.

477. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state approximately how many bungalows and clerks' quarters have fallen vacant in New Delhi on account of the Government of India move to Simla ?

(b) Will Government lay on the table a statement showing how many private houses have been taken for the use of Government Offices in Simla during summer season 1935 and what are the rents thereof and for what offices they have been taken ?

(c) Is it not a fact that the amounts mentioned in part (b) above could be saved if those offices are kept down in Delhi during the summer ?

(d) Will Government lay a statement on the table showing the actual rent paid during the season in Simla in the years 1934 and 1933 by (i) Secretaries, (ii) Deputy Secretaries, and (iii) Under-Secretaries, for the accommodation allotted to them by Government ?

(e) Is it not a fact that accommodation for such classes of officers is comparatively cheaper in Simla than at Delhi, and if so, does this influence the decision of Government in moving up to Simla ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given on the 17th September, 1935, to starred question No. 434 asked by Sardar Sant Singh. The figures of rent for the summer season of 1933 are as follows :

|                             | Rs.   |
|-----------------------------|-------|
| (i) Secretaries (6)         | 6,347 |
| (ii) Deputy Secretaries (4) | 3,171 |
| (iii) Under Secretaries     | Nil.  |

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : In view of the fact that such a large number of clerks' quarters and officers' bungalows have fallen vacant during this season, will Government consider the question of keeping at least a portion of the staff in Delhi itself in the coming years ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : A portion of the staff is now kept in Delhi. Certain offices are kept in Delhi.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are Government aware that considerable amount of inconvenience and loss are sustained by clerks in Simla, owing to housing congestion ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : In Simla ?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Yes.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I admit that there is housing congestion in Simla.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Sir, in view of the fact that clerks and other low-paid officers have to suffer immensely owing to housing congestion in Simla, will Government consider the advisability of keeping some of them in Delhi ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : All clerks and all officers in Simla suffer from lack of housing accommodation.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Then, why do Government come up to Simla at all ?

(No answer.)

PRIVATE HOUSES RENTED FOR THE OFFICE OF THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH AND THE REFORMS OFFICE IN SIMLA.

478. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is not a fact that private houses have been taken for accommodating the Office of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and the Reforms Office in Simla during summer season 1935 ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state the reasons why these Offices could not be kept down in Delhi, if they could not be accommodated in the existing Government buildings in Simla ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state what is the cost of such accommodation taken in Simla for these two offices, and whether they are prepared to consider the question of keeping them down in Delhi throughout the year with effect from the next year at least ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Yes.

(b) The Imperial Council of Agricultural Research Department is a regular Department of the Government of India and the Reforms Office works directly under His Excellency the Viceroy, in close co-operation with other Departments of the Government of India. It is, therefore, necessary that both these offices should move to and from Simla along with other Departments.

(c) The rent paid for office accommodation for the current season is Rs. 4,000 for the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research Department and Rs. 5,800 for the Reforms Office. The answer to the latter part of the question is in the negative.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Sir, is there any proposal for keeping the Government of India itself in Delhi in view of the fact that their staff, high and low, as they themselves admit, are suffering from housing congestion and inconvenience here ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That question has already been sufficiently answered. Next question.

OFFICE OF THE CIVIL AVIATION IN INDIA.

479. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the Office of the Civil Aviation in India is an office attached to the Department of Industries and Labour ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state what was the strength of the office at the time of its formation and what is its present strength, giving details ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state the reasons why this office moves to Simla during the summer and what is the annual cost of the move up and down ?

(d) Is it a fact that this Office is located in Simla in two separate buildings about 2 furlongs apart ? If so, how is effective supervision exercised over the staff ?

(e) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that it was decided by an Order in Council some years ago that offices, or portions of offices, which cannot be properly accommodated in Simla without hiring private houses, should be kept down in Delhi during summer ?

(f) If the answer to part (e) above be in the affirmative, will Government state why offices which have expanded since their original formation are still taken up to Simla ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a), (b), (c) and (f). I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply given to Sardar Sant Singh's starred question No. 436 on the 17th September, 1935.

(d) One branch is accommodated in the Telegraph Building; the remainder of the Office is in Kennedy House. The isolated branch is in the charge of two officers who are responsible for its work.

OFFICERS IN THE ARCHÆOLOGICAL SURVEY WITH QUALIFICATIONS IN ARCHITECTURE AND ARCHÆOLOGY.

480. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) What is the number of officers in the Archæological Survey with qualifications in architecture ?

(b) What is the number of officers in the Archæological Survey with qualifications in archæology ?

(c) Are Government prepared to consider the desirability of restricting the work of officers qualified in architecture to purposes of conservation and excavation alone ?

Sir Girja Shankar Rajpai : (a) Three.

(b) Nine.

(c) Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer to part (b) of his question No. 185 given by me on the 6th September, 1935.

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am aware, Sir, that on the South Indian Railway, the railway has departmental catering at certain stations. I am not aware if it is a fact that there are similar arrangements on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : This question relates to Bengal and North Western Railway.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Sir, in view of the fact that the South Indian Railway finds it a profitable affair to run its own catering departmentally, will Government consider the advisability of suggesting to the Bengal and North Western Railway also to have their own catering department ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No, Sir, this is a matter for each railway administration to consider for itself.

ABSENCE OF FENCING ON CERTAIN SECTIONS OF THE BENGAL AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

484. *Mr. B. B. Varma : (a) Are Government aware that there are no fencing on Narkatiagang-Biknathoori and Narkatiagang-Bagha lines, Bengal and North Western Railway, to indicate the boundary of the railway lands ?

(b) Are Government aware that the cattle of the poor villagers are often impounded by Railway servants even when the cattle are nowhere near the railway land and are unnecessarily harassed ?

(c) Do Government propose to take any action ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes, but the railway boundary is clearly defined by boundary stones.

(b) The Agent of the Bengal and North Western Railway reports that so far as is known this is not the case.

(c) Does not arise.

LATRINES IN THIRD CLASS CARRIAGES ON THE BENGAL AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

485. *Mr. B. B. Varma : Are Government aware that in spite of the assurances given by the Bengal and North Western Railway administration in reply to my starred question No. 714, asked by me on the 7th March, 1935, that the question of increasing the number of third class carriages fitted with latrines is being taken up by the railway administration, still remains unfulfilled and the third class passengers are put to great inconvenience to the detriment of their health ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The Bengal and North Western Railway have since informed the Railway Board that they are shortly replacing six-wheeled carriages by full bogie carriages which contain latrine accommodation on certain trains and also propose to build 16 new bogie carriages fitted with ample latrine accommodation in replacement of four-wheeled carriages not so equipped.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I ask what is meant by "shortly replacing" ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : "Shortly" means 'in a short time', (Laughter.)

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Does "shortly" mean shortly, according to the Government dictionary ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

SUPPLY OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEBATES TO RAILWAY ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

486. *Mr. B. B. Varma : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the proceedings of the Legislative Assembly on railway matters are supplied to the different railway advisory committees ? If not, why not ?

(b) Are Government aware that in the 40th meeting of the advisory committee of the Bengal and North Western Railway held in the month of June, 1935, the Chairman of the said committee failed to give any explanation in the debate raised by Rai Bahadur Dwarkanath, M.L.C. when he drew the attention of the members, to a debate which had taken place in the Legislative Assembly on the inconveniences to which the passengers were put to, on the ground that the Rai Bahadur was unable to produce the report of the debate ?

(c) Do Government propose to supply the railway advisory committees with the proceedings on railway matters so that in future the matters may receive proper attention of the committees ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (c). Government have not taken any steps to supply such proceedings to the members of the Railway Advisory Committees, as they consider that those who require such copies can at present have no difficulty in obtaining them.

(b) From the minutes of the fortieth meeting of the Committee which was held in May last, it appears that the Chairman stated that the Administration had no information regarding the debate in question and as Rai Bahadur Dwarkanath was unable to produce the report of the debate or lay any specific grievances before the meeting, there was nothing to discuss. He added that if the Rai Bahadur would furnish him with any specific cases of inconvenience to passengers which, to his personal knowledge were genuine, they would be looked into.

WAGONS FILLED WITH PIGS BOOKED FOR KISHANGANJ.

487. *Mr. B. B. Varma : (a) Are Government aware that four wagons filled with 198 pigs booked for Kishanganj on the 17th June, 1935, from Parsarma arrived Kishanganj (Eastern Bengal Railway) Station at 1-30 A.M., on the 20th June, by 247 Up passenger and that, out of 198 pigs, 130 were dead and the station compound and its neighbourhood became filled with very foul smell which was intolerable ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state :

(i) why were the wagons which emitted such foul smell at Barsoi station allowed to go to Kishanganj ?

(ii) why was the nuisance allowed to remain in the station premises of Kishanganj for about 16 hours, without being attended to by the railway authorities ; and

(ii) what was the cause of the death of so many pigs, and who is responsible for it?

P. R. Rau : (a) Not till my Honourable friend's question.

The Agent of the Eastern Bengal Railway states :

- (i) that the foul smell was not noticed at Barsoi.
- (ii) that the railway staff at Kishenganj did all in their power to get the dead pigs disposed of as early as possible. They asked the Chairman of the Municipality and the Sub-Divisional Officer for assistance, which was denied, and finally the Station Master got the Deputy Superintendent of Police to arrange for the disposal of the dead pigs.
- (iii) that the actual cause of death is not known, but it is reported to be due to heat and insufficient supply of water to the pigs en route. Four attendants were allowed by the Railway to travel free with the animals in order to look after them en route, but it transpires that the attendants did not travel with the wagons up to Katihar. The matter is under investigation.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER.

APPOINTMENT OF A SPECIAL TARIFF BOARD.

r. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : With reference to the Resolution of the Government, dated the 10th September, 1935, appointing a special Tariff Board, will Government be good enough to state :

- (a) why the inquiry foreshadowed in Sir Joseph Bhore's speech was not made soon after the period of two years was over, and why it has been delayed so long?

he Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Before I give my reply to the whole question, I hope the Honourable Member will be able to make clear the point involved in part (a) of the question. A period of two years does he refer to?

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : I refer to the period from 1932 to 1934, Sir.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Do I understand the question to be that the inquiry should have been undertaken before the period of two years expired, and that it should not have been taken so long after the expiry of the period of two years?

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Yes, Sir.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If that is so, my reply is that I am happy to be able to inform the Honourable Member that the period of two years does not expire till the 31st of September, 1935, and that his wishes are being met with regard to the time at which the inquiry should have been instituted.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (b) What the special qualifications are, if any, which the members of the Board have for the task entrusted to them?

(c) What effects the Mody-Lees Agreement had on the hand-loom industry and the textile industry during the past years; and

(d) If Government are prepared to include in the terms of reference the exploring of special means and measures to protect the cotton hand-loom industry in particular?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (b) (i) Sir Alexander Murray is a prominent business man with great experience of business conditions both in India and the United Kingdom. He has been a member of both Houses of the Indian Legislature, has represented India at two International Conventions and served as a Member of the Retrenchment Committee in 1922, of the Royal Commission on Indian Currency and Finance 1925-26, and of the Royal Commission on Labour 1929-31.

(Interruptions by Prof. N. G. Ranga.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member should not take any notice of these interruptions. The Chair is very sorry to observe that this particular Honourable Member (Prof. N. G. Ranga) is fond of interrupting at every step. The Chair would ask him to control himself.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (ii) Diwan Bahadur Ramaswamy Mudaliar is a prominent public man who has, in this House and elsewhere, established a reputation for fair and independent judgment. (Ironical Cheers from the Congress Party Benches.) Possibly his only disqualification is that he is not a member of a particular political party.

(iii) Mr. Fazal Ibrahim Rahimtoola has also been a Member of this House and has since been a member of the Tariff Board. In particular, he was a member of the Tariff Board which investigated the Cotton Textile Industry in 1932.

(c) Government are not at this stage in a position to offer an opinion.

(d) No. I might add that the Government of India are of opinion that the Local Administrations through their Departments of Industries are in the best position to devise measures to foster the hand-loom industry. In this connection, I would refer the Honourable Member to Sir Joseph Bhore's speech in the course of the debate in which he announced the intention of the Government of India to make grants-in-aid to Local Administrations for that purpose. I lay on the table a statement showing the grants which have already been made. It is estimated that for the ensuing years of the period of protection, i.e., up to October, 1939, the annual grants will amount to about five lakhs per annum.

2196
2211
Mr. M. S. Aney.]

Legislative Rules govern motions for adjournment of the House. Rule 11 says :

"A motion for an adjournment of the business of either Chamber for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance may be made without the consent of the President."

Rule 12 lays down certain conditions which are by way of restriction upon this right to move adjournment motion :

"The right to move the adjournment of either Chamber for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance shall be subject to the following restrictions....."

Sir, these are the only restrictions which the House recognises in the matter of motions of this nature. Those restrictions are :

- (i) not more than one such motion shall be made at the same sitting ;
- (ii) not more than one matter can be discussed on the same motion, and the motion must be restricted to a specific matter of recent occurrence ;
- (iii) the motion must not revive discussion on a matter which has been discussed in the same session ;
- (iv) the motion must not anticipate a matter which has been previously appointed for consideration or with reference to which a notice of motion has been previously given ; and
- (v) the motion must not deal with a matter on which a resolution could not be moved."

The first four conditions obviously have no application in this case. The only point is whether we are entitled to move any Resolution on this point. If we can move a Resolution on the point, then we can certainly move a motion for adjournment. The matter is one of urgent importance, and it is a definite one. No matter can be of more urgent importance to the people of this country and to this House than the one which is going to decide finally the financial adjustments between the Provincial Governments and the Central Government and on which the stability of the future Provincial Governments will depend. There will be no occasion again for this House to consider this question if this opportunity is lost sight of. By that time probably everything will be so arranged and will be so decided that there would be nothing left for us with a view to making any suggestion in the matter. For these reasons, I think the motion for adjournment must be allowed.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What has the Honourable Member got to say with regard to Ruling No. 24 ?

Mr. M. S. Aney : Even as regards the ruling, the particular point on which that motion was allowed last time was one of importance. It was allowed to be discussed from the point of view of the personnel. I think, on the present motion, we can express our opinion on that point.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : As regards the point of order and the objection taken by the Honourable the Finance Member, the Chair is of opinion that it is not a valid one. The House is governed in this matter by the provisions contained in Rules 11 and 12 of the Indian Legislative Rules, and there can be no doubt that this is a matter of public importance, and it is in the sense that the appointment has just now been announced. Therefore, the House is entitled to express its opinion on the question of the appointment. If the objection taken by the Honourable the Finance Member should prevail, it would preclude the House from discussing a motion for adjournment on practically any action taken by the Government which may be of very great public importance. As regards the ruling referred to, namely, Ruling No. 24, in the book "Selections from the Decisions from the Chair", as a matter of fact, the motion was allowed on another ground, and the Chair does not take it as an express ruling laying down that a matter of this character cannot be a subject for discussion on a motion for adjournment. The Chair, therefore, holds that the motion is in order. (Applause.)

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

As objection has been taken, the Chair would ask those Honourable Members, who are in favour of leave being granted, to rise in their places.

(More than 25 Honourable Members rose in their places.)

As not less than 25 Members have risen in their places, I declare that the Honourable Member has the leave of the House. The motion will be taken up for discussion at 4 p.m. today.

THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE (SECOND AMENDMENT) BILL

PRESENTATION OF THE REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I beg to present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes (Insertion of new section 44-A).

Sir, I apologise to the House for the slight delay in presenting the report.

THE INDIAN COFFEE CESS BILL.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan (Member for Commerce and Railways) : Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the creation of a fund for the promotion of the cultivation, manufacture and sale of Indian coffee. Sir, at this stage, I need say no further than this that I venture to hope that this will be a non-contentious Bill as it is being introduced at the desire of an overwhelming number of coffee planters in India. Sir, I move.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the creation of a fund for the promotion of the cultivation, manufacture and sale of Indian coffee."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

Memorandum showing the distribution of the grant-in-aid for the development of hand-loom industry.

|                                      | 1934-35. | 1935-36. |
|--------------------------------------|----------|----------|
|                                      | Rs.      | Rs.      |
| Madras .. .. .                       | 26,500   | 59,500   |
| Bombay .. .. .                       | 17,500   | 39,500   |
| Calcutta .. .. .                     | 35,500   | 80,000   |
| United Provinces .. .. .             | 32,000   | 72,000   |
| Punjab .. .. .                       | 17,000   | 38,000   |
| Bihar and Orissa .. .. .             | 23,000   | 52,500   |
| Central Provinces .. .. .            | 7,500    | 17,000   |
| Burma .. .. .                        | 7,500    | 17,000   |
| Assam .. .. .                        | 7,500    | 17,000   |
| North-West Frontier Province .. .. . | ..       | 5,500    |
| Delhi .. .. .                        | 2,000    | 5,000    |
| Total .. .. .                        | 1,76,000 | 4,03,000 |
| Grand Total .. .. .                  | 5,79,000 |          |

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is the Honourable Member of opinion that no special tariff adjustment might be made with a view to protect the hand-loom industry in particular ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I do not think, Sir, I am bound to state my opinion.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the objection to the Honourable Member referring the matter to the Tariff Board to invite their opinion, their opinion being the opinion of special officers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There may not be an objection to all sorts of things, but things have got to be done in some relevant fashion.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : How is it not relevant ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I cannot allow the Honourable Member to argue.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : I am only trying to give the other side of the case. What harm is there to include this industry in the Memorandum ?

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

ALLOCATION OF CERTAIN RESOURCES BETWEEN THE CENTRAL AND PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order : I have received notice of a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House from Mr. Aney. The Honourable Member says that he proposes to make a motion for the adjournment of the business of the Assembly for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely :

“ The terms of the Communiqué, dated Simla, the 17th September, announcing the appointment of Sir Otto Niemeyer, G.B.E., K.C.B., to undertake an inquiry into the recommendations to His Majesty's Government regarding the allocation of certain resources between the Central and Provincial Governments, which shall have to be settled by Order in Council under the Government of India Act, 1935.”

I have to inquire if any Honourable Member takes objection to this ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg (Finance Member) : Yes, Sir, I take objection to this motion. There is no doubt this action is being taken by the Secretary of State. If you will refer to page 26 of the Manual of Decisions of the Legislative Assembly on this matter, you will find that the question of urgency was discussed in relation to the appointment of the Royal Commission. In that decision of your predecessor, it was ruled that the fact of the appointment of the Royal Commission and the publication of the terms of reference of the Royal Commission were not open to discussion because of non-urgency. In that particular case, the personnel had not been announced and the actual representation of India on that Royal Commission was under consideration, and the President admitted that, if the motion for adjournment were confined to the question which was still open, he would admit the motion. In this case, there is no such question and the Secretary of State has arrived at his final decision which has been announced.

Mr. M. S. Aney (Bengal Representative) : Sir, I have not been able to follow what the Honourable Member said.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable the Finance Member has raised the question whether the motion refers to an urgent matter, and he has referred to the ruling on page 26 of the Selection from the Decisions of the Chair. I think the Honourable Member had better come nearer, so that he may be able to follow the discussion better.

(Mr. M. S. Aney was still in doubt about the point raised by the Honourable the Finance Member.)

The point raised by the Honourable the Finance Member is that the final decision has been taken, and there is nothing left to be done, and, therefore, the matter cannot be said to be an urgent matter of public importance.

Mr. M. S. Aney : My point is this, whether a matter, which has been finally settled, is or is not a fit subject for an adjournment motion can only be decided by the Rules of this House, viz., the rules laid down on this point in the Assembly Manual. We are to be governed by the Standing Orders and the Legislative Rules on this point, and, unless this motion is debarred by any one of the considerations mentioned here, I do not think the fact that the matter has been finally decided by any other Government will affect our right of moving a motion for adjournment on this point here. Rules 11 and 12 of the

THE INDIAN MOTOR VEHICLES (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Further consideration of the following motion moved by the Honourable Sir Henry Craik on the 16th September, 1935 :

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, for certain purposes, be taken into consideration."

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, there is an amendment in my name. If you allow me, I shall move it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Has the Honourable Member spoken already on the Bill ?

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Yes, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Then the Honourable Member cannot be allowed to speak again.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I will simply move my motion.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Rules do not permit a second speech to be made by the same Member.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I will not make a second speech, but move my amendment.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is not permitted by the rules. This identical motion has been given notice of by other Members. Mr. Asaf Ali.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali (Delhi : General) : Sir, I have given notice of a similar motion. I beg to move :

"That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Honourable Nripendra Sircar, the Honourable Sir Henry Craik, Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai, Mr. Suryya Kumar Som, Mr. Sri Prakasa, Mr. R. S. Sarma, Maulana Shaikat Ali, Huseinbhai Abdullahai Laljee, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Iyengar and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair understands the Honourable Member did not supply the Assembly office with the names of members for the Select Committee. The usual practice is to hand over a list of names to the office. However, in this case, the Chair will accept the list. In future, the list should be handed over to the office beforehand.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Sir, it was stated in the motion, notice of which I have given, that the names of the members would be mentioned at the time of making the motion. I was misled by that form.

Sir, this Bill appears to be a perfectly innocent measure, and, if I had not sought to introduce some innovations which are unknown to the juristic world, I do not think there would have been any objection taken by any one on this side of the House. We have to recognise the fact that, owing to the existence of automobiles in India and the natural conditions of modern life which require an increase of speed from day to day and the means of transportation, laws of this nature are absolutely essential. I do not take objection to any part of this Bill on any political grounds ; it has no political colour about it. It is merely a matter of law which has moved me to point out certain defects, as I may call them, to which objection can easily be taken on purely legal grounds.

Now, Sir, in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, it has been stated that this measure has been necessitated by the report of a Committee that was appointed by the Government of the United Provinces which Committee considered it desirable that certain offences under the Motor Vehicles Act should be made compoundable. In so far as the recommendation of that Committee is concerned, I am in absolute agreement with it because certain offences under the Motor Vehicles Act are of a perfectly venial nature. I should not call them exactly technical offences ; they are offences right enough but they are of a venial nature and they are the pettiest misdemeanours, and if they were not made compoundable it would be an act of injustice. But unfortunately, I find, that in this Bill, as I was saying before, certain principles have been adopted which are not known to the juristic world. For instance, if you turn to sub-clause (2) of clause 3, it reads as follows :

"The composition of an offence under this section shall have the effect of a conviction of the accused with whom the offence has been compounded."

It is a perfectly ridiculous proposition.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, the Honourable Member will forgive me for interrupting him but it may save his time if I say that I am prepared to accept an amendment to this clause. I agree that it is wrong in principle and if the clause can be so amended as to provide that the fact of composition should be endorsed on the licence, I am quite prepared to accept that.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I am very glad to hear that the Honourable the Home Member is prepared to accept an amendment of this clause which certainly is nothing else but a subversion of all the principles known to law. A composition has always had the effect of an acquittal under the existing law and this is the first time that I find that a composition is proposed to have the effect of a conviction. What would be the incentive for an accused person to agree to a composition if it did not mean also the washing out of his offence ? But I am very glad that the Home Member has agreed to accept an amendment to that effect. But that is not the only point to which objection has been taken or can be taken. Let us refer again to sub-clause (1) of clause 3 which reads as follows :

"Offences punishable under this Act (other than offences under sections 3, 5, 6 and 7) and such offences"— and I particularly draw the attention of the Home Member and the Honourable the Law Member to this point—

"and such offences against rules made under this Act as the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, have declared to be non-compoundable", etc.

Now that gives the discretion to the Local Governments to create new offences as it were, and not only to create new offences but to make certain offences compoundable or non-compoundable. This means that you are increasing the power of the Local Governments, you are increasing the power of the executive, to which we have always taken exception and to which we shall continue to take exception because we want the judiciary to be separated from the executive as far as possible. And here you are intensifying the powers which the Local Governments already enjoy. Further still it goes on to say :

"shall, with the permission of the court, be compoundable, either before or after the appearance of the accused," etc.

1200

[Mr. M. Asaf Ali.]

Now, I should like to know under what conditions it can be possible for an accused person to agree to a composition before his appearance. Can we imagine those circumstances. The accused has not even appeared.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He can appear by Counsel.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I was not thinking merely of his appearance by Counsel because it has no reference to appearance by Counsel.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : And he may not be able to pay for a Counsel.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : It is quite possible, in those circumstances, for the accused person not to compound the offence and not to agree to the composition of the offence but actually to grease the palm of the gentleman who holds him up and quietly say to him, "Let me go". So it opens the door to peculation and to corruption, and I very strongly object to it.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He can grease the palm of the constable even now.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I quite recognise that and I am glad that the Home Member recognises the fact that the police are not like Caesar's wife. But in any case this is a wrong principle of law altogether. Composition before appearance in court is certainly possible but only in individual cases, in cases in which the Crown is not the complainant. I am not suggesting for a single second that any criminal case can possibly be instituted without the Crown being the complainant. But in individual cases, for instance, in cases of simple hurt or adultery or defamation, and so on, composition would be a perfectly reasonable and exceptionable thing even before the accused has appeared before the court. But in these cases allowing the accused or rather allowing the constable or allowing any police officer or any person who holds up a driver to compound the offence behind the Crown is I think open to every serious objection.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That is not the object of the Bill. The constable has no power to compound.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I have not the slightest doubt that a constable has no power to do so, but how does this Bill read? It says :

"Such offences shall, with the permission of the Court, be compoundable, either before or after the appearance of the accused."

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : "With the permission of the Court."

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Quite so : but I am just suggesting that a police constable or any other person on traffic duty might be there and might say to the person, "You are held up : I shall obtain permission of the court right enough, will you compound the case?" He may never go to the Court at all. Therefore, I think, it is a wrong principle altogether.

Now, Sir, I do not desire to detain the House any longer because it is not a matter which requires any dissertation on law or otherwise. These are the two relevant objectionable points in this Bill and it is on these grounds that I suggest that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee.

I should like to say one word more and then I shall resume my seat. The Motor Vehicles Act is unfortunately, to my mind, not an exhaustive measure at all. The offences which are made compoundable or which are sought to be made compoundable under the proposed legislation would be confined, I think, after excluding sections 5, 6, and 7, to section 8 and such rules as may be made by Local Governments under section 11.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Also section 4.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Now, let us turn to section 8 and see how unreasonable that section is : section 8 says :

"The driver of a motor vehicle shall produce his licence upon demand by any police officer."

In cases which are almost countless this section has been interpreted to mean that the driver of a motor vehicle shall produce his licence on demand by any police officer on the spot. For instance, I am driving my car and I am hauled up somewhere in the middle of a street and just by chance I have forgotten to carry my licence in my pocket, although I possess that licence—probably it was left at home. But I am hauled up and brought before the court, and the court has no discretion in the matter whatsoever. These are cases which must be made compoundable. I have not the slightest doubt about that.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : There is a way here.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : It is made compoundable under this Bill, I agree. But the point I am driving at is slightly different. What I was saying was this, that section 8 is far too conclusive, far too drastic : it allows no discretion to the court whatsoever : it ought to be made a little more exhaustive and it ought to give a little more discretion to the court : this is only by way of illustration....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The law in England is exactly the same, where there are many more thousands of motor cars : the driver must produce his licence on the spot.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I should not be surprised if the law in England was just the same but I should like to know if the interpretation upon this law is also the same....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I doubt it : I very seriously doubt it. What should it not be possible for me to say : "Oh, yes : I have my licence only I did not happen to have it on the occasion...."

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I happen to know from personal knowledge that no magistrate ever accepts that excuse : he insists on the driver producing his licence on the spot.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Even if that is so, I think it is a most unreasonable position. It is not as if I did not possess a licence : I have got the licence : it is merely a question of my having committed a very venial kind of omission which would be sufficiently punished if I am brought up before the court any time subsequently and I have to waste my time by going to the court and waiting there, probably the whole day, before my case is called up : is that no sufficient punishment for me? I am only just illustrating the fact that the Motor Vehicles Act is susceptible of many amendments which might be considered if this Bill is referred to a Select Committee. It ought not to take us very long there: if it goes to the Select Committee, it will probably take us about an hour or two hours and the whole thing can be finished within that time. But as it stands it certainly is not and cannot be acceptable for the reasons which I have stated.

1902

[Mr. M. Asaf Ali.]

May I be permitted, Sir, to add one more name to the number of persons in the Committee—the name of Mr. James? That is all I have got to say.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Amendment moved:

“That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar, the Honourable Sir Henry Craik, Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai, Mr. Suryya Kumar Som, Mr. Sri Prakasa, Mr. R. S. Sarma, Maulana Shaukat Ali, Mr. Husenbhai Abdullahai Laljee, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Mr. F. E. James and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five.”

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras ceded Districts and Chittoor: Non-Muhammadan Rural): Sir, the objects of this Bill are that greater latitude may be given to Courts in treating offences punishable under this Act. It is intended to enable persons charged with offences under this Act to compound offences. Far from enabling that purpose to be achieved, the phraseology of this Bill makes the noose against the accused tighter. I, therefore, object both to the form of the Bill and to the substance of the various clauses of this Bill. It is, on this ground that I support the motion for reference to a Select Committee. I will take the last clause first. No doubt it is the last clause that makes composition also a conviction under this Act. Mr. Asaf Ali and Mr. Lalchand Navalrai have both taken objection to this, and the Honourable the Mover has said that he has since discovered that the composition ought not to be placed on the same footing as a conviction and, therefore, if a suitable amendment is brought he is prepared to accept it. But I heard him say—subject to correction, I did not hear him quite audibly—that the facts might be endorsed on the licence: am I correct? Yes. The mischief of this clause is still there. If my Honourable friend the Mover wants that the facts leading to the charge and the further composition of the offence should be endorsed on the licence, the Honourable the Mover forgets the further consequences of such an endorsement. Under section 18, facts have to be endorsed on a licence so that those facts may constitute a first offence and disqualify the owner of a licence from obtaining a licence for a period to be stated, or to be fixed under the rules to be framed by the Local Governments or disqualify him for ever otherwise, the endorsement does not serve any purpose. Composition, by the very nature of it, implies that neither the prosecutor nor the accused can definitely say that an offence has been committed, in that, while it is still undetermined the parties do not go into the evidence and come to terms. The very object of the composition will be frustrated if my friend agrees to have it amended to a statement that it amounts to conviction, which will be the meaning if the facts are endorsed on the licence. Unless there is a conviction under section 18, even if the facts are endorsed on the licence, it may not disqualify a man from obtaining a licence for the future.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta).]

Therefore, after the admission by the Honourable the Home Member that he is prepared to have a suitable amendment, he must also not insist upon the facts being endorsed on the licence. Sir, this is a very important matter, and, if the endorsement of these facts is insisted upon, it will frustrate the very object of acceding to the amendment.

I would also point out, Sir, that the Honourable the Home Member has not considered another aspect of this case. If under clause 2, a composition amounts to conviction, it will entail a further amendment of the Act, because once a conviction is made there is a right of appeal. If there is only a composition, there is no right of appeal. In one breath the Honourable the Home Member allows the accused to enter into a composition and takes away the right of appeal, while in another breath makes him a convict or a person convicted under an offence, which is more or less the same. I would, therefore, say, that this clause requires radical modification, and a mere amendment on the floor of this House will not do.

We shall then go to the substantial portion in clause 16, clause (a) (i) dealing with the enabling powers or the privileges that are given to an accused to enter into a composition. The remedy, Sir, is worse than the evil. There is no option left either to the prosecutor or even to the Court to allow a composition except on payment of a sum, howsoever small it may be. I take objection to this. Under the Criminal Procedure Code, even with respect to very grave offences, it is open to the Court to absolve or to leave alone a first offender. The Honourable the Mover may himself,—though I have not been able to learn driving and I have had to engage a driver,—the Honourable the Home Member may himself have the chance of driving a car many a time and he may be an accused under this Act if he should commit a small offence for driving his car on the wrong side of the road, or if he does not take care to see that the Number Plate is properly kept up or at the back the tail lamp is lit properly. There is no similar provision here, whatever might be the anxiety with which the Report of the Committee of the United Provinces is sought to be followed in this Bill, and, I would, therefore, say that to insist upon payment of some amount of money, whatever might be the magnitude of that sum, is very wrong, and I take serious objection to it. Option must be allowed to the Court or to the Prosecutor to allow a composition, even without payment, in proper cases. There is such a provision in section 562 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

Then, Sir, with respect to the payment, it does not appear that my Honourable friend has taken notice of the fact that once there is a conviction and subsequently the same man is charged under section 16 of the Act, the amount of fine that may be inflicted on him is twice the original amount. Thus if the amount of fine to be inflicted for a first conviction is Rs. 100, the amount of fine for a subsequent conviction may go up to Rs. 200, because, Sir, “on payment by the accused of such sum, not exceeding the maximum amount of fine with which the offences are made punishable by this Act”, would mean twice the amount in the case of a second offence. It is also necessary here to point out that it has not been shown as to who is the person that is competent to enter into a composition or compound these offences. In Local Acts such as the Abkari Act and the Forest Act, I find that provision is made for particular officers of Government above a particular rank to enter into a composition. Even a head constable can charge a man with having committed an offence under this section, and it is the head constable who attends the Magistrate's Court. And should it be left to him, Sir, to compound this offence? I shall just read a section, section 67 of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, where power is given to Abkari Officers specially empowered to enter into a composition. I have not been able to get the Forest Act where also such compositions are allowed even though the Government or the Forest Officer is the prosecutor. "Any Abkari Officer specially empowered....." If the Honourable the Home Member will kindly read the clause in the Bill, he will observe that no provision is made for prescribing the procedure or the qualifications of a person who is entitled to enter into a composition. It is stated in the Bill that in sub-clause (b) after clause (h), the following clause shall be inserted, namely "(hh) prescribing the procedure to be observed by Courts in permitting offences to be compounded under section 16A", and under this particular clause, a sub-clause is added by which power is given to the Local Government to prescribe the procedure to be followed by Courts in permitting offences to be compounded. Therefore, it regulates only the procedure that is to be adopted in Courts, but it does not refer to the qualifications of the person or the status of the officer who is empowered to enter into a composition. Therefore, Sir, when these things are not mentioned in the Bill itself, I submit, that at least rules must be framed to empower particular classes of officers to enter into a composition. It is not a private offence in which the prosecutor and the accused can enter into a composition of this kind. When the Government itself under the Indian Motor Vehicles Act is the officer that enters into the composition, I submit that the rank of the officer of the Government who is empowered to enter into a composition must be specified in the Act itself or otherwise, rules must be framed to empower particular classes of officers to enter into a composition. Therefore, Sir, it is very necessary that the whole Bill should be referred to a Select Committee.

[Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.]

Lastly, Sir, I would submit that under the main Criminal Procedure Code, section 345, offences which could be compounded have been divided into two categories,—those that could be compounded without the leave of the Court and those that could be compounded only with the leave of the Court where the offences are graver. If a person who wants to compound had already committed two previous offences he may be considered to have committed a more serious offence, and he can compound only with the leave of the Court. If really the benefit of the composition is sought to be given to a person who is charged under the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, it ought to be made easy for him to compound an offence with a superior officer of the police or with the prosecutor even before he comes to a Court of law. No doubt, it is stated in clause 3 that even before the accused puts in his appearance in Court, it might be open to him to enter into a composition, but then, even though the accused does not appear before the Court, this clause insists that the composition should be made only with the leave of the Court. There does not seem to be much meaning in insisting upon the composition being made only with the leave of the Court. I think a distinction of that kind can be made by rules framed under the Act to decide as to what class of cases can be compounded without the leave of the Court and what class of cases can be compounded only with the leave of the Court. Therefore, in these three respects I suggest that this Bill requires a radical modification so as to really carry out the objects for which it has been introduced. It is not by an amendment here or an amendment there on the floor of the House that the object of this Bill can be carried out. I would, therefore, strongly support the motion for reference to the Select Committee that has been made by my friend, Mr. Asaf Ali.

Mr. J. D. Boyle (Bombay : European) : In rising to speak on the motion before the House, I should like to make it clear that I do not wish to oppose the reference of this Bill to a Select Committee. But I hope I shall have the indulgence of the House if I make a few observations on the Motor Vehicles Act and the advantages to be gained from its amendment. When the Act of 1914 was passed it was of a general character. The Local Governments were given power to make rules to deal with conditions that were peculiar to their provinces and also with the enormous and inevitable increase in the use of motor cars in their provinces. The Local Governments have made full use of those powers, and now it can be said that there is no uniformity whatever between the provinces on those matters of major importance on which I think the House will agree that it is both possible and desirable to have uniformity. I should like to take three examples from those matters which I think should, in their application, be general to the whole of India. The first of those points is the question of driving test. That a universal test is eminently desirable I think the House will agree with me. Such a test has recently been introduced in England. The Deputy Commissioner of Police in Bombay, whose special duty it is to control traffic, has given it as his opinion within the last few days that 70 per cent. of the total number of accidents that occurred within his jurisdiction could have been avoided if drivers had had more ability and more road sense. I hope the House will agree with me that this is one of those matters in which there should be a universal test laid down in the body of the Act. The second point is one of fees and their application. I do not refer to taxation, by which I mean tolls, municipal wheel tax and that sort of thing. Even on that there is a considerable volume of doubt in the country. By fees I mean simply registration and renewal registration fees and the issue of driving licence, and, if I may refer once more to Bombay, I may say that the Bombay Government have recently been faced with a very difficult situation on the question of fees. The subject of fees and their enhancement and the possibility of their application to provincial revenues was a matter of considerable doubt both in the non-official and official mind. This is a matter of such importance that I think the House will agree with me it is one on which there should be all-India legislation. The third point which I wish to make is in reference to the question of third party insurance. I shall not waste the time of the House by going into this matter in detail, but I would go so far as to say that it is a matter of such vital importance, having in view the number of accidents that take place every year throughout India, that I do not think it should be a matter governed by rules only, but it should be a matter embodied in the Act and made a statutory obligation. Finally, if I may just very briefly summarise, I hold that this 1914 Act is now enforced in the provinces only by rules, and I have always understood that it is a fundamental principle of legislation that where an Act itself has fallen into the background and important provisions are governed by rules, it is high time that those important provisions were incorporated in the body of the Act itself. I would suggest, therefore, that, if it is at all possible, the Government should produce a consolidated amending Bill and not indulge in piecemeal legislation. (Applause.)

[Mr. J. D. Boyle.]

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : I wish to make a few remarks from the layman's point of view regarding the provisions of this Bill. I also wish to place before the House the apprehensions which I am feeling as a pedestrian from the speeches which I heard this morning and yesterday. I feel that in India the restrictions for regulating motor driving are not sufficiently stringent, and my own experience is, whatever may be the restrictions laid down by the rules, those restrictions are not properly observed. My further experience is that, even though accidents take place on the streets, sufficient steps are not taken against the people who cause those accidents. I shall give you one or two instances that I have come across in my own experience. I was once sitting in a car and an accident took place. It was not my car, nor was I the driver. The accident took place, a man was hurt, and I felt that there would be a case made against the driver and that I would be called as a witness. Nothing happened. I will give you another instance. I thought, after that accident, that it is my duty to tell the police that I was willing to give evidence. I was once standing on the terrace of the Bombay Municipal Corporation and I saw an accident taking place. The driver was obviously going by the wrong side of the tramway. I saw that a man was hurt. I wrote to the police that I had seen the accident and that I would like to give evidence in the case. After having written, the police once called me, but I think the case was not taken up that day or something happened. After that, nothing was heard of the case.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : You are too innocent, Mr. Joshi !

Mr. N. M. Joshi : I feel that there is very little protection in India to the pedestrian against the rashness of the motor drivers. From a cursory reading of the Bill, I feel that the Government of India are relaxing the restrictions which are laid down by the Motor Vehicles Act, and I think it is a wrong thing altogether to relax those restrictions. I do not wish to oppose the motion for reference to a Select Committee, but I think that, when a Select Committee is being formed, it should be so formed that there should be some representative of pedestrians on that Committee. I have heard the speeches from the Congress side, from the Nationalist side, and from the European Group,....

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I am a pedestrian.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : .....and, from their speeches, it appears to me that they generally represent either the owners of cars or the drivers of cars. I would, therefore, suggest to the gentleman, who made the motion for the appointment of a Select Committee, to appoint on the Select Committee some people who would make it their business to represent the cause of pedestrians.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : With your permission, Sir, if Mr. Joshi would only allow me to add his name, I should only be too glad to do so.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : I do not mind serving on the Select Committee if the House is willing to appoint me on the Select Committee. But let me assure you, Mr. Deputy President, that that was not the object of my rising to speak. My object in rising was to show that this Bill has another side than the side which has been placed before the Legislature. Some Members said that compounding an offence should not be regarded as a conviction. I do not know why. A rich man may break the rule, and he may be liable to a fine of Rs. 500. The rich man may say : "Here is a five hundred-rupee note, you may take it." But, by doing so, he should not be made to escape the conviction.

An Honourable Member : But the pedestrian will get it.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : I do not want the pedestrian to get it, but I want these people who own cars and who drive cars on roads to be very careful, and, when they break the rules, I want them to be severely punished. I hope the Select Committee will look into the question from the point of view of the pedestrian also.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : I would like to make a few remarks in answer to the points raised by Mr. Boyle which seemed to receive a certain amount of approbation from the House. As a result of recent discussions with the Transport Advisory Council, the Government of India have decided to take into consideration some fairly extensive amendments of the Motor Vehicles Act, and they have addressed Local Governments concerning these matters. They cover most of the points raised by Mr. Boyle, particularly questions relating to all-India registration of vehicles, the all-India validity of driving licences and insurance against third party risks. It is probable that, if the proposals of the Government of India receive any degree of agreement from Local Governments, the necessary amendments to the Act will be fairly extensive and it will then be for consideration whether instead of bringing in an amending Bill it will be desirable to redraft the whole Act in order to include these new provisions and other matters mentioned by Mr. Boyle, and also to make provision for what certainly will happen, namely, further development in the control of motor traffic.

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali (Lucknow and Fyzabad Divisions : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, from the aims and objects
1 P.M. of the Bill, I conclude that the Honourable the Home Member, in this small Simla Session, is trying to ride rough-shod and to do his best to trample the rights of the people as much as he can. To me it appears that the real objects of this Bill are a bit concealed. There seem to be two objects, one is to increase the number of offenders in India and the other seems to be to raise more money by means of prosecutions. Now, Sir, in spite of the fact that the matter may be compoundable and the parties may agree to compound the offence, still the Government leave some sort of loophole for raising money by means of fines. It is an ordinary dictum of criminal law that no punishment will be inflicted on an offender unless he is proved guilty. Now, don't we find in this Act, that in spite of the fact that the parties are prepared to compromise, still without any evidence and procedure prescribed by law for the production of evidence and witnesses, you force the parties to admit that they are offenders? I have never seen or heard of a law like this. The motion before the House is that this Bill may be sent to a Select Committee. I think this point struck Mr. Lalchand Navalrai very early and I hope that Government will agree to send this Bill to the Select Committee, so as to purge it of all the stupid things which this Bill contains, which are really against humanity and which ought to be really repulsive to every good Government and to the good sense of the people of this country. With these words, I support the motion for Select Committee.

[Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali.]

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The question is :

"That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar, the Honourable Sir Henry Craik, Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai, Mr. Suryya Kumar Som, Mr. Sri Prakasa, Mr. R. S. Sarma, Maulana Shaukat Ali, Mr. Huseinbhai Abdullahai Laljee, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Mr. F. E. James, Mr. N. M. Joshi, and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

The motion was adopted.

THE REPEALING AND AMENDING BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I beg to move :

"That the Bill to amend certain enactments and to repeal certain other enactments be taken into consideration."

I need hardly say anything on this motion but for the fact that I find a notice of a motion for referring the matter to a Select Committee. I do not know whether that is going to be moved but the matter, as I explained to the House the other day, is purely formal and nothing can be done before any Select Committee. In fact, similar Repealing Acts have been passed from time to time and they have never been referred to a Select Committee. May I explain to the House four or five points which are involved in this Bill, which are intended to get rid of enactments which have expired by efflux of time and correct certain accidental slips.

Now, as regards the Income-tax Act, if Honourable Members will turn to the Statement of Objects and Reasons, they will find that the substance of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 57 of the Act was, by Act XVIII of 1933, incorporated in sub-sections (3C) and (3D) of section 18. What has happened is that by inadvertence sub-section (9) of section 18 ignores the fact that the sub-sections (3C) and (3D) refer to payment of dividends, not of interest. I do not think that the department has taken any advantage of the slip but that slip has got to be corrected. That is the whole object. Then, Sir, as regards the Cantonments Act, clause (ix) is alphabetically out of place amongst the definitions. That is to say the definition of 'Officer Commanding the station' is in the wrong place alphabetically and that is going to be corrected. Then with regard to the Repealing and Amending Act, 1920, with the repeal of the Indian Aircraft Act, 1911, by Act XXII of 1934, the reference to the former Act in the Schedule to Act XXXI of 1920 has become obsolete and is being removed. As regards the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, while other references in the Act to "native passenger ships" were, by Act XXV of 1933, altered to "unberthed passenger ships", the words "native passenger ships" in section 146 (1) (e) of the parent Act were inadvertently left unaltered. This was corrected in all other places but this one mistake was made inadvertently. This is now being rectified. Then in sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 209A of the Act the word "the" was, in two places, inadvertently retained by the amending Act, XI of 1933, before the words "His Majesty's Representative"; that is, the word "the" has been mentioned twice, and it is now being excised, because one of the "the"s has got to be struck out. Next, with regard to the Mechanical Lighters (Excise Duty) Act, 1934, with the repeal by Act XXXII of 1934 of Act VIII of 1894, section 16 of Act XXIII of 1934 becomes otiose and is now repealed. That is, that is necessary by reason of the repeal by Act XXXII of 1934 of Act VIII of 1894. Then with regard to the Repealing and Amending Act, 1934, we have followed the ordinary rules and according to precedent, the repealing provisions of this Act are now themselves repealed, that is, the whole Act has been repealed. As regards the Iron and Steel Duties Act, 1934, the references in this Act to Act VIII of 1894, now repealed, have become redundant and are here repealed. Section 10 is itself a repealing provision, and this has also, according to precedent, been repealed. Then there are six Regulations which are called Manipur Regulations. They are now of no use, because they have become spent as the result of the cession, on the 15th of August, 1932, of Manipur to His Highness Maharaja Holkar, and, therefore, they have now got to be formally repealed as they have spent their force. Then there are seven Regulations applicable to the North-West Frontier Province and British Baluchistan. They are all time-expired, but they are still on the Statute-book, and we want to repeal them. I submit, Sir, this is all extremely formal business, and that there is nothing which really need be seriously considered by any Select Committee or even by the Members of this House. Sir, I move.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : Motion moved :

"That the Bill to amend certain enactments and to repeal certain other enactments be taken into consideration."

The Honourable Member, Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, has sent in notice of an amendment to this motion. Does the Honourable Member propose to move his amendment?

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras ceded Districts and Chittoor : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, in view of the statement made by the Honourable the Law Member, I do not move the amendment.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I want one point to be explained. I find that the Honourable the Law Member said that there are several Regulations applicable to the North-West Frontier Province and British Baluchistan which are now time-expired, and are, therefore, hereby repealed. My difficulty is this. I do not know if these several Regulations were to remain in existence for certain times. If it was so, where is the necessity of repealing them by this Act? They have "repealed" themselves by the time-expiry itself, and I would like that point to be explained.

[Mr. Lalchand Navalrai.]

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, they have spent their force; they were for a certain number of years, they have now expired, they have no operative value now; but they will not now come off the Statute-book unless they are formally removed.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : What is the rule which says that they will not be non-existent until they are repealed and removed from the Statute-book?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : There is no rule except the rule of practice and common sense.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : The common sense of the Honourable the Law Member, I believe? But my common sense says that when a Bill repeals itself by time, this further thing is not necessary, and I do not think such a practice is a good practice.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The question is :

"That the Bill to amend certain enactments and to repeal certain other enactments be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 to 4 were added to the Bill.

The First Schedule and the Second Schedule were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The question is :

"That the Bill to amend certain enactments and to repeal certain other enactments be passed."

The motion was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) in the Chair.

THE FACTORIES (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill to amend the Factories Act, 1934, for a certain purpose, be taken into consideration."

Honourable Members may remember that on the 2nd of September last this House adopted a Resolution recommending to the Governor General in Council that he should ratify the Geneva Convention of 1934 which relates to the employment of women during the night.

Dr. N. B. Khare (Nagpur Division : Non-Muhammadian) : Is there a quorum, Sir?

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : (After a count was taken.) There is a quorum.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : In moving that Resolution, I mentioned that in order to clear the way for the ratification of the Convention, it would be necessary to make a small amendment in the Factories Act of 1934. I also mentioned that it was the intention of the Government not to take advantage of the exemption contained in Article 8 of that Convention which allows the exemption of women holding higher positions of supervision in factories. I introduced a Bill immediately after the House had adopted the Resolution, which I now ask the House to take into consideration. As I have said, the passage of this Bill will clear the way towards the ratification of the Convention. Apart from that, the Bill is of very little practical importance under the existing conditions in India. I do not, therefore, propose to take up the time of Members any longer as I know they are longing to sniff the spicy breezes of Zanzibar.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The question is :

"That the Bill to amend the Factories Act, 1934, for a certain purpose, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 and 1 were added to the Bill.

The Preamble and the Title were added to the Bill.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : Sir, I fear there is a technical omission. The Honourable Mr. Mitchell has only moved that the Bill be taken into consideration. He has not yet moved that the Bill be passed.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : That he will do now.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The question is :

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

RESOLUTION RE POSITION OF INDIAN NATIONALS SETTLED IN ZANZIBAR.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : Sir, I move :

"That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council to take all effective steps in the interests and to vindicate the position of Indian nationals settled in Zanzibar."

Sir, I owe this opportunity to the courtesy of the Honourable the Leader of the House and the Education Secretary, and I offer them my thanks for enabling the House to discuss a matter of supreme importance. The history of Indians overseas is a dismal tale of unrelieved agony, harassment and humiliation. Strange though it may look, it is none the less a fact that the difficulties of Indians have been particularly marked in countries which are included in that pretentious euphemism, the British Commonwealth of Nations, and they have grown worse with the tightening of the British grip and the extension of the British influence. It is an irony, it is a matter for regret, and it is a tragedy, but it is all the same the truth, the naked truth. Even in the matter of Zanzibar, the situation was much better in pre-British days, and it was only because of the interests of Indians in Zanzibar and of the avowed solicitude for Indian traders there that the first British Consulate was established there about 125 years ago, though the present regency was established there on the adjustment of the differences and the apportionment of the areas of influence between Germany and England in that zone only about 50 years ago. The position of Indians was much better then than it is today. What is true of Zanzibar is also true of other countries. We know that the position of Indians in South Africa and in a number of States included in the Union of South Africa today was much better before 1904 and 1905 and, in fact, the grievances of Indians in South Africa was a very strong reason, as was then mentioned by Lord Lansdowne and Earl of Selborne, for the controversy and the actual war that ultimately ensued between England and the then occupants of South Africa. Sir, these are matters of history. I will be saving time if I concentrate on the facts of the present situation. Before doing so and before taking up the questions appertaining to Indians in Zanzibar, I should like to make a few observations of a general character, observations which I very much wish may be borne in mind by the Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. Malcolm Macdonald or Sir Cunliffe-Lister whoever he might be.

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

The first thing that I would like to impress upon those interested in the destinies of Indians overseas is this that Indians were never carried away by any greed or avarice or by any desire to grab or exploit, and they never thrust themselves upon any country or State with a view to extending their sphere of political influence or economic control. They were, in fact, invited by the countries concerned. The initiative was taken by the Governments and the peoples of needy countries and they appealed to the then Government of India and to the Indian people for man power in order to develop and utilise their resources so as to enrich them and to better the lot of the residents of those countries. The Indians were never intruders. They went always as the invited and honoured guests. That is what I would like to burn into the hearts of those who have to deal with this question, lest they should forget its moral implications and the manifest obligations of the country which had invited Indians to her shores in her hour of need. The migration of Indians to Zanzibar was not due to any predatory instincts, but to their response to the earnest invitations coupled with assurances of the Sultans of Zanzibar. What I am saying is supported by historians, mainly British historians. I need not mention their names. In these circumstances, it is atrocious that the descendants of those very people who were invited in this manner should be treated in such an invidious way with a deliberate design to squeeze them out of the islands, which is the real objective of the decrees that were introduced by the Resident of Zanzibar in June, 1934. Sir, that is one fact that I wish to impress with all the emphasis that I am capable of on the people who are now concerned in or connected with these affairs.

There is another fact which I would like to impress upon the Government of India, and it is this that they were active agents in sending Indians abroad to these foreign countries. It was with their active assistance, with their co-operation, at their instance and on the basis of the guarantees given by them that Indians migrated to these foreign States. In the circumstances, there is a special responsibility attaching to the Government of India and they will be guilty of breach of faith if they do not do their utmost to save Indians from this bad predicament. I do not suggest that they are not doing the best they can situated as they are. If there is any question over which the differences between the Government and the Opposition narrow down, it is this question pertaining to Indians overseas. Otherwise, the gulf seems to me to be wide and deep so far as domestic issues are concerned. But the Government of India can never be too careful in these matters. There is another point which also I want all concerned to have prominently before their minds' eye. The Indians do not want in any country any reservations or safeguards. The Indian does not like to be spoon-fed nor does he want to be kept within glass cases. In fact, Sir, the hardships and the difficulties of the Indian today are due to his superior moral quality. It is because of his enterprise, grit, perseverance, industry, thrift and plain and simple living that the Indian is the target of all sorts of invidious discriminations because in open field the Indian is invincible. Therefore artificial hurdles have to be devised in order to handicap him. I concede to every country the right of self-determination, economic as well as political, but that is subject to the canons of international morality and it should not be open to any country to forge any fetters to the disadvantage of people invited to and settled in those countries who have contributed towards the well-being and progress of those countries and who have been mainly responsible for their uplift and enrichment. Sir, the Indian wants no more than fair field. He does not want any commercial safeguards. He does not want to prevent the people of any country from developing the coastal traffic. He does not want to stand in their way. In other ways too, he claims, specially those of them who have been settled there for generations, who are as good Zanzibarians as the old inhabitants of Zanzibar themselves are, that no sort of penal legislation should be allowed which tends to annihilate the Indian or the Indian interests. Sir, the Indian stands on a moral footing and he will continue to stand on that alone. If on the basis of fair competition, he is wiped out, he will have no grievance, but where measures are adopted definitely, designedly with the intention of handicapping the Indian in such a competition, we have a legitimate right to complain. Sir, what happened when Zanzibar was first brought under Indian influence 100 years ago? The clove industry practically did not exist. If it did exist, it was not more than a parochial industry. It is the Indian who has given it the position that it occupies in the world today. If it has expanded, if it has developed, it is because of the contribution made by the Indian, it is because of the sacrifices of the Indian, it is because of the risk that the Indian took in migrating to a foreign land with a view to develop it. Sir, I want these facts to be borne in mind. I may as well state here that the Indians are nowhere anything but a minority in these strange lands, and unless their interests are watched and protected by the Home Government there is no hope for them. The world today is in a very dubious if not in a depraved mood. Intensive nationalism of a very condensed and oppressive character has taken grip of the souls of people, if people are still having any souls in those countries. And unless the nationals of a country are effectively protected by the motherland the difficulties are sure to be aggravated and increased. Sir, it is painful that the Indian should be treated in the British Dominions, Colonies, Protectorates and Mandated Territories as a Jew is hunted in the Nazi land of Germany. That is almost the fate of the Indian today in the British Dominions, and he finds himself in the net everywhere.

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

Now, Sir, having stated a few of the general and salient aspects of the question of Indians overseas, which, according to me, are entitled to a great deal of consideration, attention, and even respect, I will now mention a few facts bearing on the question of Indians settled in Zanzibar. Sir, six decrees were introduced by the Resident in June 1934. They were put on the Statute-book with indecent precipitancy. If I remember the words of Mr. Menon all right, within an interval of 12 days. There were thus two days for each decree. Sir, the Indian has been subjected to unprecedented oppression by means of these decrees. As though they were not enough, other things have since been heaped upon the disabilities then imposed. Then a moratorium was prescribed for 12 months. Now the period of the moratorium has been extended for another six months with the probability that it may still be prolonged further. Sir, in fact the extension of six months means the prolongation at least by one year, for the only crop that people have in Zanzibar is that of cloves, and the harvest is reaped in the month of July. If the debtors are given the option not to pay their creditors at the time when they happen to have their crop, then they will not be able to pay anything till the whole of that year is out and the next crop is reaped and garnered. So, I submit that in fact it means postponement of all debts and decrees at least for one more year. Then, Sir, the report of the Agricultural Commission that was then appointed to inquire into the state of indebtedness in the island has not yet been published. Grave charges were made against Indians, scandals and stigmas were circulated against them, and their hope was concentrated on this inquiry, but to this day that report has not been published. I have a shrewd suspicion, Sir, that that report is in favour of Indians and that all the insinuations and charges that were recklessly made against them have been disproved to the hilt. That seems to me to be the reason why that report has been held back, so long.

Now, as to the decrees of the last year I do not intend to refer to the minor ones; it is only the three major decrees to which I wish to invite the attention of the House. First in order comes the Land Alienation Decree, then we had the Clove Growers' Association Decree, and the third was the Clove Exporters' Decree. Sir, the Land Alienation Decree is a racial decree and it was admitted by the Attorney General that in fact it had a racial object before it. It imposes a bar on Indians in the matter of acquisition of land by them. It allows not only the Arabs and the Africans settled in Zanzibar, but any Arabs or any Africans who may happen to go there at any time, to acquire and purchase land; but it prohibits and forbids Indians whose ancestors had been in the Protectorate for more than three or four generations and who have lost all touch with India from acquiring any land there. The fact that one might be allowed to acquire land with the special grace of the Resident makes no difference; none can acquire it by virtue of his right. Sir, is the acquisition of land an illegitimate aspiration? Is there any justification for this sort of invidious distinction? The Indian who has been there for generations, the Indian to whom the Protectorate owes its prosperity, is subjected to a ban from which the new-comer from Arabia or from the rest of Africa is exempted. Can there be any justification, can a word be said, in support of such an invidious and penal discrimination? Sir, the Indians have invested as much as eight millions of rupees in land alone there and the Indian has done his best to promote the growth of clove industry. In these circumstances there is absolutely no justification for this sort of invidious treatment of Indians. Sir, it is said that the Indians are not all of them agriculturists. I do not know what is exactly meant by agriculture there, for we have in fact in Zanzibar no agriculture and no husbandry of the real type. What we have there is merely the plantation of clove trees and coconut trees, and all that is done, so far as I am aware, by swahili labour. In these circumstances, what is there to distinguish the agricultural class from others? I submit, Sir, no self-respecting country can tolerate such treatment. I am reminded that there was a treaty between Zanzibar and the Government of India when Indians migrated to that island. It was guaranteed by that treaty that there would be freedom in the matter of acquisition of land and in the matter of trade and that the Government would never be a party to any monopoly, whether by itself or by any other association, in the matter of trade. I do not know if that treaty has been since modified. What I am concerned with is this that the Indians settled there under the guarantees which were held out to them by these positive, solemn clauses of a mutually agreed upon treaty; and any deviation therefrom today should be regarded as a breach of faith.

Then, Sir, that is the story about the Land Alienation Decree. Now we have got the Clove Growers' Association Decree. It is a curious decree. By virtue of this decree an association was established consisting of seven members none of whom is a clove grower himself. None of them has himself been at any time interested in the plantation or the cultivation of clove trees. Of these seven persons one is Mr. Bartlett who had not been able to compete with Indians when he was carrying this trade independently but is now in fact bossing the whole show. I will read out to you what we have been told by Mr. Menon about the constitution of this association:

"It is hardly even an association in the ordinary sense of the word; for, apart from the Board of management, it has no members. At present 3 P.M. the Board is composed of 3 officials, the Manager of the National Bank of India—(the National Bank of India is as truly Indian as the Indian Civil Service used to be in olden days or the Indian Army until very recently)—and the Secretary, Manager, Mr. C. A. Bartlett, formerly a partner of Messrs. Grazebrook-Bartlett and Company, which used to compete, not too successfully, with Indian exporters in the clove trade. There is not a single clove grower in the Clove Growers' Association, nor is the body of clove growers directly or indirectly represented on the Board of management. It is, however, claimed that its name is justified, because it genuinely represents the interests of the clove growers. The Zanzibar Government might as well call themselves the Zanzibar People's Association!"

That is the comment of Mr. Menon.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta): The Honourable Member has got one minute more.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : I am entitled to 30 minutes, and I started, I think, about 2-40 or so.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : At 2-35. He can have a few minutes more.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : Thank you, Sir. I want just a little more time as I do not want to tire the House. The Zanzibar Clove Growers Association is anything except an association, or an association of any class of growers of any produce, much less of the growers of cloves. Nothing could be a greater travesty of facts than to call such an organisation an association. Now, this Clove Growers Association is free from all duties that are otherwise leviable under the law, and it is besides entitled to a commission of seven annas on every frasila, (i.e., 35 lbs.) of cloves exported from the island. The natural consequence is that the clove industry is placed under the direct sway and absolute control of Mr. Bartlett, who had not succeeded in competing too well with Indians, as Mr. Menon observes : and obviously the Clove Growers Association will be always able to under-sell Indians at least to the tune of seven annas per frasila, besides enjoying other advantages. Tacked on to that is the Clove Exporters' Decree, under which nobody can export cloves from Zanzibar except by virtue of a licence for which the fee may go up to Rs. 5,000. When the House bears in mind that the clove exporters have mostly been Indians, that the clove trade in the island has always been in the hands of Indians and whether it be the small traders in villages scattered here and there who collected the cloves or the big firms who exported cloves, they were all Indians, one can easily understand the natural consequences that must follow from such a decree, and that is what Mr. Menon has emphasised in his report in his own inimitable style. He says :

“Legislative ingenuity can go no further than the measures which have been devised for the elimination of Indian traders from the clove industry. Armed with such powers, privileges and immunities as those noted above, the Clove Growers Association strikes Indian traders as a Leviathan, brushing them aside, casting them adrift and trampling upon that freedom of trade which they have enjoyed for generations.”

I cannot improve upon this language. I will not take more time. I will only read out what was said by one who cannot be accused of any partisanship for Indians, one whom we have known only as the arch-enemy of Indian political aspirations continuously during the last five years—the great Mr. Winston Churchill : this is what he said :

“It is the Indian banker who supplied perhaps the larger part of the capital yet available for business and to whom even the white settlers have not hesitated to go for financial aid. The Indian was here long before the first British officer. Is it possible for any Government with a scrap of respect for honest dealing between man and man to embark on a policy of deliberately squeezing out the native of India from regions in which he has established himself under every security of public faith ?”

I will not say more : there I close the chapter and I shall wait to hear what the Government of India is going to do. We are told that it has made representations. Presumably it has made representations with all the earnestness it can command. I need not doubt the good faith of the Government of India in the matter of Indians overseas, I realise that so long as they hold that de facto position, albeit against our will and in the teeth of our opposition, they happen to be the only constitutional machinery and agency through whom our claims or demands can reach appropriate quarters, we can make an effort to vindicate our position. May I ask the Government of India what have they done ? They told us some time back that they were doing their utmost ; I have before me the report of the questions and answers in the House of Commons that were answered by Mr. Malcolm Macdonald and Mr. Butler in June last. Mr. Butler said then that the matter was still under consideration. Sir Ounliffe-Lister has since the introduction of the new decrees been replaced by Mr. Malcolm Macdonald. I do not know whether there is much difference between the two : but one happens to be the bearer of a name which at one time at least was reputed for its far-sightedness if not for wide sympathies. Well, Sir, I ask what is the Government of India going to do ? They will repeat their best and utmost, but what is that utmost going to be now ? Mr. Andrews than whom we have not got a greater protector of Indians overseas, that selfless, sublime soul who has made the cause of Indians overseas his own cause (Cheers), has warned us again and again that the time had come when we should proceed further and not rest on diplomatic negotiations alone. Sir, the Indian National Association of Zanzibar, whose President is one of the members of the Zanzibar Legislative Council, has earnestly asked us to adopt measures of a retaliatory character. Sir, the public who take an interest in these affairs have pressed the Government to do likewise. Sir Purshotumdas Thakurdas, the President of the Imperial Citizenship Association, has endorsed that appeal. Now, what is the Government of India going to do ? I submit, Sir, that the stage is past when we could rely on mere persuasion, on the moral strength of our claim and on our appeal. Sir, the Zanzibar Government cannot exist unless they have the goodwill of the Government of India. As I told you, Sir, the clove industry supplemented by copra is the sole industry of Zanzibar. Zanzibar supplies 80 per cent. of the cloves, and the major portion of these cloves are purchased by Indians, and for those which we purchase, we pay the highest value, so that, if the Government of India were to put a complete ban, if they were to put even a prohibitive duty on the imports from Zanzibar into this country, the problem would be solved. The Government of Zanzibar cannot possibly flout the wishes of the Government of India ; they are not in a position to do so. Already Zanzibar cloves are being ousted by Madagascar cloves, and so far as America is concerned, Americans have prepared a synthetic substitute for Zanzibar cloves. Then, Sir, is all the solicitude for the indigenous clove grower really honest ? The other day, I think it was Mr. Joshi, who put the question as to whether a company had been formed in England for dealing in cloves, and I find that a company has actually been formed.—I have got the names of the constituents, of the manager and of all those who are going to control and run the distillery for cloves in Zanzibar. Sir, I repeat that Zanzibar cannot afford to defy the wishes of the Indians. Even if it did, Sir, so far as I am concerned, as an oriental, I care more for the soul than for the bread. I care more for the self-respect of the nation than for the few francs or dollars that one might be able to import from countries outside. Even where our requests and means have been completely legitimate, I would not be a party to anything that might cast the least reflection on my honour, on my national pride and on the self-respect of my country. I may remind Honourable Members of what one of the Viceroys, Lord Hardinge, said, when Mahatma Gandhi was conducting the Satyagraha campaign in South Africa. We have heard much in this House, lately, Sir, about Satyagraha being finally abandoned. I was reminded here, when I recalled that passage, of what one of the Viceroy's of India in office had himself stated in unequivocal terms when he applauded Mahatma Gandhi for launching the campaign of civil disobedience in South Africa with a view to publicly associate the Government of India with the struggle of Indian settlers in South Africa for the vindication of the self-respect of India. That is what they did in days gone by. Will not the Government of India take courage in both hands, specially here when they have to deal with a somewhat negligible State, and not with Italy or Mussolini? I think the Government of India can easily take courage and do the right thing.

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

One word more, Sir, and I have done. I have looked up the exports and imports from Zanzibar. I cannot vouch for the accuracy of these statistics, because, Sir, I have not been keeping well, and I could not check these figures, but I believe they are correct. I find, Sir, that the exports from India to Zanzibar have gone down considerably during the last three years, while the imports have gone down in a much lesser proportion. The exports have gone down from 56 lakhs to 20 lakhs, while the imports which were 45 lakhs in 1929 are only 35 lakhs today, so that at present there is an adverse balance against India in the matter of trade between Zanzibar and India to the tune of 15 lakhs. If Zanzibar adopts a policy of retaliation, I would welcome it, because, Sir, today we are giving more to Zanzibar than we are taking from Zanzibar. So why should we continue to subject ourselves voluntarily to this insult in addition to ceaseless injury? I hope, Sir, the House will with one emphatic and unanimous voice ask the Government to adopt retaliatory measures without delay for the vindication of the interests and rights and self-respect of Indians and India in relation to Zanzibar. (Applause.)

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Dutta) : Motion moved :

“That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council to take all effective steps in the interests and to vindicate the position of Indian nationals settled in Zanzibar.”

Mr. Husenbhai Abdullabhai Laljee (Bombay Central Division : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I am very much obliged to you for giving me this early opportunity to speak on a subject with which I am very familiar. I am sorry, Sir, it has fallen to my lot to speak on this subject, and, if I speak, Sir, with a certain amount of feeling, if I exhibit any feeling in the course of my observations, I hope the House will forgive me. Sir, my family has been connected with the Colonial Administration for now well nigh 135 years. (Hear, hear.) We had our business in East Africa, in Zanzibar, in Somaliland, and in Arabia. We, together with our Indian brethren, from all parts of India, went to these places as common traders. We went there, Sir, in our country crafts; we never went there by steamers or by warships. We did there honest business. We had no police to protect us. We had no Government to protect us, and we had not a single Indian on the judiciary to help us even in case of litigation. This was the position, Sir. In that position, right up to the time that the Colonial Government of the British Empire came in, not only the people of those countries, but the rulers of those countries loved us and liked us. Therefore, we have to take into consideration one of the most important questions as to why and who is responsible for our present condition in the colonies. My Honourable friend has spoken about the Zanzibar people. I am prepared to prove that even today the people of Zanzibar, as well as His Highness the Sultan of Zanzibar, do not wish any strained relationship being exhibited between Indians and the people of the soil. Sir, this policy of squeezing out the Indian has come in after the South African war. In that war, we fought for Great Britain, for the rights of the British Empire in South Africa. It is the Boer policy that has really, I honestly believe, influenced the British Government—the use of that policy against Asiatics generally and against Indians in particular. (Voices : “Shame.”) We have had lands in East Africa and as I told you, we maintained our trade relationship and our lands, not with any force, but with love, with business-like dealings. And when we have got now our own Government in charge of those colonies which were under the Sultans of those times, how are we treated? We are the first persons who are required to go out.

It is a fact that we were there first, it is a fact that the British people followed us. We welcomed them, and it is a fact that after them came the European Group. My Honourable friend, Mr. James, desires to call himself of a European Group although I must say that the space in this House is for British subjects only, but this seems to be the result of a policy adopted by certain people who would like to do anything for Europeans, but not for Indians or any Asiatics. If my Honourable friend will deny that, I am prepared to prove this and something more. Go to South Africa or East Africa, go to Zanzibar, and you will find that in acquiring lands or in doing any business there is no differentiation made between an Englishman and any other European whether he be an Italian or otherwise the gentleman under whom my Honourable friend, Mr. James, asked an Honourable Member of this House whether he would like to be. Under the protection of the British flag any European whether he be an Italian can get better treatment than a British Indian subject. (Cries of “Shame.”) This is the real position, and that is due to the fact that our Government here is a subordinate Government to the British Cabinet. It is a fact, and I do beg of my Government to press upon the British Cabinet (if they are not still aware of the fact), that Indians, when they return from those colonies to their country here will ask a straight question. “We went out from our country to earn a living, to help our countrymen with what little saving we can make. We are thrown out, and we have come back to our own country and we go on starving.” Why did we go out? Why are my countrymen going out to the colonies? To save ourselves when we could not find sufficient employment in our own country. What is going to be the effect when 3, 4 or 5 lakhs of our people are slowly going to be turned out from their honest livelihood in countries far off from their motherland and are coming back to this country? What will be the effect? Will they tolerate anybody else in this country? It is a safety valve. I specially warn my Honourable friend, Mr. James, and his friends, to remember that this is the safety valve. I also warn those Honourable friends of mine who are not taking that interest in their brethren in other countries and who have lived a life of denigration outside their own country. When they come back here, they will ask that clear question and it is for the British Government to calculate the result of that very carefully, very seriously. We stand by the British Empire. We owe allegiance to His Majesty the King Emperor, and we demand equal treatment wherever the British flag flies. Let them prove that we have not behaved properly in foreign countries. We have never tried by force or by some insidious method to do anything ill to the people of foreign countries. But what do we find? On the one hand, we are asked to leave those countries and come back to our own country, (miserable as we are here). And on the other hand, we find in this Italo-Abyssinian business that the British statesmen in Europe say, "We must find some outlet for Italians". Even the Leader of the Labour Party, Mr. Lansbury, said the other day, "Oh, we ought to be very careful. The Italians are growing and we must find out some avenues for them. We have got a big Empire and we ought to consider that as well". This is the feeling that they have got for all Europeans including the Italians. And what is the feeling that is exhibited for my countrymen? "You are not required there!" (Cries of "Shame.") See what happens in my own country. Not only the British people,—they are with us, they have been with us, they have got some vested interests, I admit, but the safeguards that have been provided recently are for all Europeans.

[Mr. Husenbhai Abdullabhai Laljee.]

An Honourable Member : Is that so?

Mr. Husenbhai Abdullabhai Laljee : Yes. Let them deny. Well, Sir, we have got in our own country many European firms, who have captured lot of our business, not British, I make a clear distinction between—not like my Honourable friend, Mr. James. He is a British European, but he still wants to call himself a European. A European Group has no space in this House, it is only for the British Europeans, but for reasons best known to himself my Honourable friend calls himself European and not a British European. (Laughter.) We have got here large business firms, big European concerns, and in season and out of season for years together we have asked our Government to restrict their activities. But what has been done? Nothing. On the other hand, we are told, keep our doors open for anybody and everybody. Remember, Sir, those who will come back from the colonies will demand their rightful place in their own country. I once again ask the Government of India to tell the British Cabinet clearly that people in India have fully realised that it is the act of the British Colonial Government and of nobody else that is responsible for the Indians having to leave the colonies,—the colonies which they built, the colonies to which they invited the British flag, the colonies in which they helped the British Government in season and out of season, and in the Great War. I just remember one instance over which I cannot speak without some feeling. I happen to be an unfortunate Indian who possesses some land, some building in the British Somaliland and in the port of Zeila. Sir, that port of Zeila in Somaliland was under the care of British Indians. We paid for it. It was transferred to the Colonial Government. Sir, we were told during the great struggle about the Abyssinian question one morning that the Foreign Minister to the British Government was proposing to transfer this port and a port of Somaliland to the tender mercies of Abyssinians. Will any Englishman tolerate such a thing. What has our Government done? Nothing. I owe allegiance to my country and to the King Emperor. What right have they to transfer me to the Abyssinians. That is the thing that is going on. It is no use telling us that it is for this reason and that. Let me, therefore, appeal to the Treasury Benches and point out that you are going to create great trouble if this sort of thing goes on. We know how we have been treated and we shall not tolerate it, if we are not given sufficient scope. With these words, I support the Resolution that has been moved.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai (Secretary, Department of Education, Health and Lands) : Mr. Deputy President, the Honourable the Deputy Leader of the Opposition has already established a reputation in this House for robust and vigorous eloquence. That is appropriate; as a French critic Buffon said long ago, the style is the man, and it is only appropriate that the robust and vigorous Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant should move his Resolution in vigorous and eloquent language. But, although he had spoken with characteristic eloquence, I am happy to say that he has not spoken with quite his customary disapproval, because he did say that in this matter of Indians overseas Honourable Members opposite and the Government of India think alike and I am very glad of that admission. But I must say that my Honourable friend from Bombay, Mr. Husenbhai Laljee, has actually excelled the Honourable Pandit, if not in the logic or relevance of his argument, at any rate in the vigour, because while we are discussing today the question of Zanzibar, my Honourable friend has roamed over all the Colonies and fastened on Abyssinia.

An Honourable Member : Quite justified.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, my Honourable friend seems to assume that on any conceivable question the subject of world policy can be raised. After he has been in this House some time longer, I hope, he will change his views.

An Honourable Member : He knows where the shoe pinches.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I stand corrected, but I do not think it is worth while, in the time available to me, to pursue hares, shall we say, in Abyssinia or elsewhere. I had better limit myself to Zanzibar. The House has taken keen and continuous interest in the question of Zanzibar. The number of questions which I have answered last Session and this Session bears testimony to it. But it has not been possible, in the course of replies to interpellations, to unfold all the aspects of this problem and also to indicate the limitations within which action is circumscribed. And for that, if for no other reason, we welcome the discussion that has been raised today, because it gives one an opportunity of explaining exactly what the problem is and how and to what extent it can be dealt with by action on the part of the Government of India.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member will allow the Chair to make an announcement. Mr. Aney has sent intimation that he does not propose to move his adjournment motion. Therefore, the discussion on this Resolution will proceed up to the usual hour.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I wish I had known that earlier, because, in that case, I would have reserved my remarks to a later stage, but that does not matter.

[Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai.]

Now, Sir, I was saying that we are glad of this opportunity. We can now state to the House all the aspects and implications of this problem. It may be that, in whatever I have to say in regard to it, I shall be indulging in something very elementary to those Honourable Members who have studied this subject deeply but, then, I shall ask them to bear with me for the sake of those who have not been able to bestow upon it an equal measure of time and attention.

The territories with which we are dealing today comprise the islands of Pemba and Zanzibar. The population is 235 thousand. Six per cent. of these are Indians. The producers of cloves—80 per cent. of the world's output of this commodity comes from these islands—are in the majority of cases Africans or Arabs—small men who according to a report which was submitted by Mr. Strickland some time ago, are singularly unorganised and pathetically unable to regulate the very difficult and important business of marketing. (Interruption by Prof. Ranga.) I am very glad that Prof. Ranga agrees with Mr. Strickland and his colleagues. The reports of Mr. Strickland, who was a Registrar of Co-operative Societies in this country, and Sir Allan Pim corroborate the contention of the Government of Zanzibar that the problem of marketing in Zanzibar is of the utmost importance, because of the complete dependence for the price that the Zanzibari gets for his cloves upon the operations of dealers and of exporters. Now, the economic position of Zanzibar is this. The Arab is the producer of cloves, the Indian is the dealer in cloves and is the exporter of cloves. Here again the peasant, I hope my friend, Prof. Ranga, will corroborate me, deep in indebtedness, has been particularly hit by the depression that has come over this clove trade along with trades in other primary commodities since 1930 and the legislation to which my Honourable friend, Mr. Pant, referred represents the attempt of the Government of Zanzibar to find a solution for the two-fold problem of alleviating the burden of indebtedness and of improving the marketing of cloves. Now my Honourable friend mentioned three decrees, the Land Alienation Decree, the Clove Growers' Association Decree and the Clove Exporters' Decree. Really the two major documents are the Land Alienation Decree and the Clove Growers' Association Decree and those are the decrees with which I propose to deal. The Land Alienation Decree, Sir, has two provisions which are of interest to us, one which restricts the sale of land by an Arab or an African to an Arab or an African unless the Resident directs otherwise. That provision, Sir, has been described as racial and, further, in the report which Mr. Menon submitted, he pointed out that in conjunction with another section of the decree, section 19, by which the moratorium to which my Honourable friend referred was declared, section 4, by reason of its retrospective character would have the effect of preventing the Indian, although he held a mortgage on the land, from bidding for it at an auction. To that extent the legislation has been described as confiscatory by reason of the fact that it reduces the value of the security. But, Mr. Menon also pointed out that the main object of this particular legislation, I am talking of the Land Alienation Decree, was economic. He further pointed out that the Government of Zanzibar had appointed a commission to go into the question of agricultural indebtedness and that for that reason his opinion was that we could not object either to the moratorium, nor we could at this stage suitably make representations in regard to the provision of the decree which restricts the transfer of land in the manner I have described. He wanted us, Sir, to wait for the report of that Commission. The report of that Commission became available to the Government of Zanzibar in April. It was received by us, I think, some time in the month of May. We at once represented to the Secretary of State for India that action should be taken to publish this report. We were informed that the Resident in Zanzibar wanted time to consider this report, and that it would be desirable to defer publication until the recommendations of the Resident in Zanzibar were available to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Now, Sir, in this country, during the last few years, as Honourable Members are aware, a great deal has been done in order to tackle this question of agricultural indebtedness. Those Honourable Members who have interested themselves in this question will appreciate the fact that a solution which is fair and equitable to both parties is not easy to evolve. I am not for a moment suggesting that the Government of India have no duty in this matter. I am not for a moment suggesting that the Government of India propose to relax in any way their efforts to ensure that, when a solution is finally reached of this problem of agricultural indebtedness, the Indians' interests will not be safeguarded. Equally I am not suggesting that the Government of India have given up their intention—indeed it is more than their intention, it is their duty—of pressing that the racial character of the provisions to which I have referred, namely, section 4 of the Land Alienation Decree, should be altered. But I am, all the time, simply contending that, considering the complexity of this question, it would not be right for us to be impatient and say, “no matter what happens, you have got to undertake, here and now, legislation to amend this particular decree”. My Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, Sir, referred to the hardship of the Indian by reason of the moratorium which was declared first by the provision of section 19 and which has since been extended until the end of the year. That is perfectly true, Sir; I recognize that there is hardship involved in that, and when you are dealing with a matter of this kind, a certain element of hardship has to be suffered by some people. But I think it is only fair to draw the attention of Honourable Members to the assurance which the Resident in Zanzibar gave when he was dealing with this question in November 1934. He said :

“It should be distinctly understood that in any measures which the Government may find it necessary to take the legitimate claims of creditors are as much its concern as those of the debtors, and that every effort will be made to ensure that these legitimate claims are satisfied as circumstances permit.”

Now, Sir I, think we may at any rate give some measure of credit to this statement, reflecting as it does the policy of the Government of Zanzibar in this respect.

Sir, having dealt with the question of the Land Alienation Decree, I pass on to the Clove Growers' Association Decree. My Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, said that, that Association was set up by the decree which was passed last year. The facts, Sir, are slightly different. The Association actually came into being in 1927.....

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : This Association ?
L221LAD

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : .....the Clove Growers' Association not as constituted now but the Clove Growers' Association with functions which I am now going to describe. Its functions were then to make advances and to store cloves. In 1931, Mr. Strickland, went into this question. He recommended, and Sir Alan Pim, who reported next year, also recommended that the Clove Growers' Association should be strengthened. The recommendation of both was that the strengthening should be in the interest of the producer. It was further recommended that the functions of the old Association, in so far as the storage of cloves and the making of advances were concerned, should be continued. Mr. Strickland was, in respect of the matter of the strengthening of the Association, concentrating upon propaganda as a means of educating the clove grower to improve the methods of marketing. Sir Alan Pim went one stage further and said that the Association should take a direct hand in marketing cloves. The Zanzibar Government, in the decree which they ultimately brought in, went one stage further and said that the Association should deal in agricultural produce and actually export it. And, with regard to finance, the Government of Zanzibar improved, according to their lights, on the recommendation made by Mr. Strickland : for the two-anna commission per frasila of cloves sold which Mr. Strickland had recommended, they said there should be a levy of seven annas per frasila of cloves exported from the country and the proceeds of it should be credited to the Clove Growers' Association. My Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, has referred to what Mr. Menon had to say with regard to the probable effect of this legislation upon Indians engaged in the clove trade in Zanzibar. When Mr. Menon visited Zanzibar, the Clove Growers' Association Decree had not been in operation even for a period of one month. It will be admitted, therefore, Sir, that he was not in a position to pronounce any judgment on the basis of any experience actually gained of the operation of the legislation. What he expressed was reasonable apprehensions as to the effect of this legislation upon Indian interests in Zanzibar. Now what did the Government of India do ? The Government of India did not say : " what you have said represents merely a stage of apprehension ; therefore, we shall do nothing until experience has actually been gained of the operation of this legislation ". The Government of India, on the contrary, proceeded at once to represent to the Secretary of State that the apprehensions expressed, that the apprehensions voiced, were reasonable apprehensions and that action should be taken in order to modify that legislation. Well, the answer that we got was : " it is not possible, when you are discussing a measure of this kind, to pronounce in favour of apprehensions as against an unascertained fact. You have got to wait until that fact becomes available ". Now, Sir, as I have already said, the decree became operative in July, 1934. One clove season has gone, a second clove season is in progress now. The problem with which we are confronted now is one of ascertaining the facts. If the Indian, be he the middleman, be he the exporter, has actually suffered from the operation of the decree, it should not be difficult to supply the facts : inasmuch as for our purposes, if the facts establish a widespread hardship, we do not merely want individual relief, we want really a modification of the decree itself, and because, Sir, the ascertainment, shall we say, of facts on a comprehensive scale and in a convincing measure may take time, it is because of that that the other day I announced to the House the decision of the Secretary of State for the Colonies that cases of individual hardship could be represented to the Government of Zanzibar and, if necessary, to him. That, Sir, is the position as it stands today in regard to the Clove Growers' Association.

Now, Sir, it is possible that the trend of my remarks may give Honourable Members to think that what I have been indulging in is an apologia on behalf of the Government of Zanzibar (Ironical Cries of "Hear, hear" from the Opposition Benches). Nothing, Sir, is further from the truth. I am not indulging in an apologia on behalf of the Government of Zanzibar. All I am trying to do is to state the problem as we visualize it and to persuade the House to realize that it is not quite so simple an affair as Honourable Members may have thought. After all, the question of agricultural indebtedness or the question of marketing are not the questions which are peculiar to Zanzibar. They are questions in which we are profoundly interested in this country. It so happens that in Zanzibar the producer, as I have already said, and the exporter, happen to belong to different nationalities. It also happens that in Zanzibar the debtor and the creditor happen to belong to different nationalities. But I maintain that this House is a fair-minded House and my Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, himself said that the Indian wishes to take his stand on moral considerations. I do not think that any Honourable Member in the House will say that we should insist on the application of principles to the solution of these problems in Zanzibar which we shall not apply in this country ourselves. That is the basis on which I put the whole problem and I say this to the House. They have done Government the compliment of saying that in this matter they think with Indian opinion and they feel with Indian opinion. I can assure them that because I have pleaded for time for the solution of this problem it does not follow that any fair, any feasible method of protecting Indian interests, of vindicating Indian honour, will not be adopted by the Governor General in Council should an occasion arise. All that I plead for is that we should follow what my Honourable friend, the Leader of the Opposition, has been constantly reminding us of. Do unto others as you wish that they should do unto you. Sir, in the confidence that the House will wish us to proceed on that basis, I accept the Resolution moved by my Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.

Maulana Shaukat Ali (Cities of the United Provinces : Muhammadan Urban) : Sir, in my wanderings round the world, I had the opportunity of visiting Zanzibar twice. I had the honour of meeting the very pathetic figure, the Sultan of Zanzibar, and I was right royally entertained by my Indian brethren who are trading there and also by the Arabs and the Swahilis. My Arab and Indian friends there told me that the former Sultan wanted his country to be independent, but the British said that his administration was bad and the British nationals suffered, and, therefore, he was robbed of his property. Now, he is a pensioner on a few thousand rupees a month and keeps a very poor sort of a Court and has nothing to do with the administration of Zanzibar. The British Resident has the control of the purse. Sir, very few Arabs and Swahilis are educated in modern ways, with the result that all the higher appointments in various departments have gone to Europeans, be they Britishers, Italians or Germans. That I saw myself. The country is a wonderful country, and the people have got nothing but agriculture. I asked my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, how the action that he wanted to take would affect the original people of Zanzibar, who have lived in the land for centuries? He said that he was not interested in them. The Zanzibar administration will look after them. He has got to look after the interests of the Indians who have settled there. Our complaint is that when we were weak and demoralised ourselves in India, exploiters came in and took advantage of our position. I am sure, I will have the support of this House when I say that any legislation, which hurts the Arab and Swahili and the cultivator of Zanzibar, will be to our great shame, and I for one would not support it. If any discrimination is made in the Zanzibar administration, that a European can get land while an Indian cannot get it, then, certainly, I will support fully the case of the Indian. But if anybody wants something at the expense of the Zanzibar Arab and Swahili, then I will fight tooth and nail for them, because they have got no voice here nor in the British Parliament. It is a small country and a wonderful country. The people are very fine, and I have been to their clove gardens, and they have entertained me. The depression has hurt them. Sir, I am not an expert in matters financial. The first time I heard about the moratorium was when I was in America; where I could not get money from banks, because there was moratorium. Luckily, I had some dollars in my pocket, and I could reach London. I do not know how this financial arrangement will affect the people of Zanzibar. I do not want to take advantage of these people. I have got the whole world where I can go. Zanzibar is a small island, and I do not want to rob these people of their money, hearth and home. My country is big enough for me. Please do not rob these poor people. Sir, there is an Urdu proverb which says :

[Maulana Shaukat Ali.]

“Mare ko mare Shah Madar.”

“The Saint Shah Madar further kills him who was already dead.”

I do not want that India should have any hand in this dirty work. Will my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, or my brother, Mr. Hussenbhai Laljee, or Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, tell me honestly as to how this Act is going to act on the Arabs and Swahilis? If it is going to hurt them, I for one will oppose it tooth and nail.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar (Salem and Coimbatore cum North Arcot : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, it is very regrettable that time after time we have to come to this House and pass adjournment motions or Resolutions to the effect that the Indian nationals in the Colonies should be protected. It is really a matter of shame that there should be need for such Resolutions.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : We cannot hear you. Please speak louder.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : When Sir James Grigg speaks, you do not hear him which is much more important and yet you do not mind it. But now you are asking me to speak louder.

Sir, it is really a matter of shame that we have to come time and again to this House with motions of adjournment or 4 P.M. Resolution in the matter of Indians who are settled in Colonies. Sir, we have read history, nay, we were forced to read British history, and time and again we have seen that simply because a few British nationals were insulted or ill-treated, wars were declared. England has fought with them and has vindicated the claims of her nationals. Here we are helpless and can only pass Resolutions. Only the other day a Bill was introduced in the Bombay Legislative Council asking that only an Indian may be appointed as the President of the Port Trust. It was disallowed by the Governor General. And on what grounds? It was said that it is racial to ask for the appointment of an Indian in his own country! Sir, we boast in this country of such altruistic and universal ideas. How can we help Indians in other countries when Indians are being deprived of their rights in their own country. Nobody could have heard the speech of Mr. Husenbhai Laljee without some feeling. They are trying to oust Indians from their own country. They are trying to deprive the Indians of their trade and of the ownership of the wealth that they have built up. Sir, we ask for nothing but justice. We do not ask that the natives of the country should go away, we only ask that the rights that we have built up there, the rights that our colonials have built up there should not be jeopardised and wiped away. In whose interests are they sought to be wiped out? Not in the interests of the Arabs, not in the interests of the natives of the soil, but in the interests of the very Britisher who claims universalism in this country. It is a damn shame that such things should occur. I am glad in this connection of the full mouthed expression which my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, has given expression to as he is usually accustomed to. Nothing unexpected has happened in his supporting the Resolution. We all expected that he would support it. The other day we heard from the lips of Sir Fazli-Hussain that India being in a helpless position, she can only make representations, and do nothing more. I suggest to them that they are men; let them be a little more manly. Instead of meekly saying, we will make representations, let them show their mettle. It is not as if we are up against Kenya or any other country where we cannot retaliate. As regards Zanzibar we are in a very good position to retaliate. In this case, with a little strong-mindedness, with a little grit and with a strong arm and sound judgment, we can bring the Government of Zanzibar to its knees. I am told—I cannot vouch for the accuracy of the figures—that India is purchasing cloves from Zanzibar to the extent of 40 per cent. of her output. Are we not then in an advantageous position to bargain for our rights being maintained and honoured? We are not so helpless as my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, would make us think. We have some means by which we can retaliate against Zanzibar, if our rights are trampled under. So far as the question of suffering is concerned, we are willing to take any step to vindicate our position as the nationals of this country. We do not want to shirk if it comes to a question of suffering. The explanations of Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, some of them at least, were very ingenious. He said that Mr. Menon went there and he found that the decree had worked only for one month and so he was not in a position to know how the Ordinance will work now. He advised us to wait for one year to see the real effect of the Ordinance. He also assured us that exceptional cases in which the decree has worked hardship, if they are brought to the notice of the authorities in the meantime, will be attended to. So he asked us to wait for one year before taking any action to get the decree annulled. Sir, I am always afraid of the word 'exceptional', because when you concede the exception, you also concede the rule. When you say exceptional cases where hardships occur, you agree to the generality of cases do not cause hardship. That is the mischief which I would not like to tolerate.

[Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar.]

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I never used the expression, "exceptional cases". I said cases of hardship.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Very well, I am content with the expression "cases of hardship". Our complaint is that your own officer, whom you deputed to enquire into the matter, has reported that cases of hardship are bound to occur very often. So, instead of being the exception it will be the rule. In this connection, I am reminded of a story told about Napoleon. He wanted to make an experiment as to through how many people a bullet would pass. So he got hold of his brothers and sisters and made them stand in a row and told them : "well, my brothers and sisters, I am going to send a bullet through all of you to see through how many people it would pass". Immediately his brothers and sisters rushed to their mother and complained about the behaviour of Napoleon. His mother asked Napoleon as to what he was doing when he said that he was trying to see as to through how many people would a bullet pass and he took his brothers and sisters for that experiment. Similarly, Sir, our Government is trying to see as to how many people this decree of the Resident of Zanzibar will affect. Just as a single bullet if it passes through the body of any man will instantaneously kill him, similarly this decree if applied even to a man but once will immediately kill him and his trade. The Honourable Member, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, has no doubts about the effect of these decrees in his mind. He is sure that the decrees will ruin the Indians. He only wants to postpone taking action to see how much hardship will be caused. By this postponement, after some time, the eyes of people will be shifted to other things and if the decrees should be allowed to operate even for a single year, then they will become a settled fact and the Indians will ever be under the subjection of these hardships caused by the decrees.

The Honourable Member also made another statement that the Indian honour will be vindicated should occasion arise. In his own eloquent language he said that he would always be ready to vindicate India's honour. I submit that the occasion will not come hereafter, the occasion has already come and I want that the Government should rise to the occasion to vindicate India's honour. I have nothing more to add except this, that merely assenting to Resolutions will not do. Mere acceptance is no good, explanations to this Assembly are not necessary. All these excuses are not wanted. What we want is action. What we want is vindication of India's honour and the honour of the Indian nationals. (Applause.)

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena (Lucknow Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I rise to support the Resolution before the House. After the very eloquent and comprehensive speech of my Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, and the frank speech of my Honourable friend, Mr. Husenbhai Laljee, based on his first-hand knowledge of the conditions obtaining in Zanzibar, I had thought the Secretary to the Education, Health and Lands Department will be taking a different attitude and would welcome these speeches as they would strengthen his hands in taking effective action to bring redress to the grievances of our countrymen in Zanzibar. But that was not to be. I, therefore, rise to bring to the notice of the House a few facts and to impress upon the Government and this House the necessity of taking effective steps to bring redress to our countrymen in Zanzibar. Our friend has told us that new facts had been ascertained. He says that when Mr. Menon went to Zanzibar, the Ordinance had worked only for one month. On the other hand, let us see what the report of Mr. Menon says in regard to this decree about cloves. He says definitely that :

"The Clove Growers Association Decree of 1934 and the Clove Exporters decree of 1934 are in my opinion calculated to cause irretrievable damage to Indian interests and will practically oust the Indian trader from Zanzibar. I would therefore urge that the strongest possible representation may be made for their removal from the statute-book."

This report was written on the 10th September, 1934. One year has passed since then. Mr. Menon did not make any conditional recommendation that the Ordinance had worked only for one month and so he could not say what effect it would ultimately have. He was positive that the Ordinances would work great hardship. He did not say that other facts might come to light thereafter, and the recommendation might be examined in the light of those ascertained facts. There is no such condition attached to Mr. Menon's report. After having slept over the report for nearly a year, after having allowed one full year to lapse, the Honourable Member, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, now comes up and says that certain facts have come to his knowledge which show that no action was necessary. This is how he brushes aside the report of his own Deputy. The Honourable the Education Secretary also has given the assurance that individual cases of hardship could be brought to the notice of the Colonial Secretary and suitable action would be taken to bring redress in such cases. In this connection, I would say that not only the report of Mr. Menon is there, but there is also the letter of the Imperial Citizenship Association which I want to read to the House. We know that the Imperial Citizenship Association is the one Association which takes active interest in the welfare of Indians abroad and I should say greater interest in the position of Indians outside India than even the Government. What does that Association say? The Association particularly calls attention to Mr. Menon's report and says :

"That the cumulative effect of these decrees is to squeeze out all the natives of India from regions in which they have established themselves under every security of public faith. In view of the uncompromising attitude adopted by the British Resident in support of these decrees and in view of the absence so far of any indication of the views of His Majesty's Government, the Council feels that no further time should be lost by the Government of India in taking a definite stand for the protection of Indian interests. One clove season has passed and the next will begin in July. After careful consideration and with a full sense of responsibility the Council is obliged to request that the Government should take an early opportunity of intimating to the Colonial Office in London and of announcing to the Indian public here and in Zanzibar that it would have no alternative but to consider the imposition of prohibitive duties on Zanzibar cloves so long as the grievances of Indians in that Protectorate remain unredressed."

So this is the considered opinion of the Council of the Imperial Citizenship Association. What are the views of the Indians in Zanzibar themselves? The other day I put a question to the Education Secretary between the Indian agriculturists and the Arab agriculturists. After whether he had received any Resolution passed by the Indians in Zanzibar and the reply was in the affirmative. And this Resolution was passed in June, 1935, after the decree had been in force for one year and not after one month as was the case when Mr. Menon went to Zanzibar. The Resolution says :

[Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena.]

"That this meeting puts on record its feelings of great dismay and disappointment at the studied and continued indifference of the Local Government of the interests of the Indian community and its legitimate grievances relating to the recent group of legislations and respectfully urges the Government of India to immediately take drastic measures including imposition of prohibitive import duty on cloves if deemed expedient to obtain redress of the Indian community's grievances."

So, certainly one would have expected that after this Resolution, after the representation by the Council of the Imperial Citizenship Association, after the unqualified recommendation by Mr. Menon, the Education Secretary should have placed before the House facts which would show that the fears of these associations and of Mr. Menon have been falsified ; but he has done nothing of the kind. He has only said something about this Clove Growers' Association. He said that it had existed, and had been formed in the interests of the agriculturists themselves and to help the clove trade. On that I will refer him only to one passage in Mr. Menon's report. In paragraph 23 of Mr. Menon's report, after giving the history of the Clove Growers' Association, he said that it is a misnomer to call it a Clove Growers' Association and it should not be so called. Then he says that it was recommended by Mr. Strickland that the Clove Growers' Association should be formed for helping the clove growers in the development of this trade and the growth of cloves ; but he says that this Association does not satisfy the conditions laid down by Mr. Strickland. Then in paragraph 24, Mr. Menon says :

"The Association, however never really became a living institution, because as Mr. Strickland remarks in his 'Report on co-operation and certain aspects of the economic condition of agriculture in Zanzibar', it was 'a function of Government without the authority of Government'; and the proper task of Government was 'to create but not to conduct the Association'."

But we find that this Association is not at all looking to the interests of the clove growers. On the other hand it has entered into competition with the clove traders and we find that this Association will be competing with those very exporters of cloves who will be getting their licences from it. This Association will be deriving a duty, as has been pointed out by Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, of seven annas per frasila of clove, and this will not be used for the benefit of clove growers or for the development of the clove industry but it will be used for the purposes of the Association itself. Then there is one thing more which was said by the Education Secretary about agriculturists, taking the word from Prof. Ranga. He said that this Association has been formed and also that the Land Alienation Decree has been enacted, in the interests of agriculturists. In reply to this I have nothing else to say but to quote a passage from the speech of Mr. Ghulam Ali Kaderbhoy, an Advocate of Zanzibar and a prominent public man of that place. He said that it is not proper to say that these decrees have been enacted in the interests of agriculturists. He says that if they were in the interests of agriculturists, as certain Acts have been enacted in India in the interests of agriculturists, then there should not have been made any difference between the Indian agriculturists and the Arab agriculturists. After all these Arab clove growers also live in the cities. Clove trees are just like mango trees. It is only at the time of the harvest that these people go from the towns and reap the harvest. It is not like agriculture here, as has been pointed out before, that cloves are grown.

Sir, in the end I have only to say that even if no case of hardship has been brought to its notice, it is for the Government to see whether the decree itself has got provisions which will cause hardship to Indians in the future. It is no question of hardship for the time being ; what steps did the Education Secretary take to find out from those engaged in the trade in Zanzibar as to whether or not they have been hit hard ? The very fact that they may have to pay a licence fee upto Rs. 5,000 is itself something which may cause hardship later on. It is another thing that no fee has been charged or a smaller fee has been charged just now ; but when by this decree they are authorised to levy a licence fee to the extent of Rs. 5,000 on every exporter of cloves, it is implied that they can charge a fee to that extent any time they consider necessary. It will not be then for the Government of India to say that because in the first year they did not realise a fee to the extent of Rs. 5,000, therefore, they could not realise a licence fee higher than what they have realised in the first year. Then there is this duty of seven annas per frasila which this Association is getting and to that extent this Association is having an advantage over other dealers in clove.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

Lastly, Sir, I want to point out that so far as India is concerned, we are importing cloves worth about 33 lakhs of rupees ; in addition to that we are getting only about Rs. 40,000 worth of cloves. As has been pointed out by my Honourable friend, Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, even if the Zanzibar Government were to adopt counter retaliatory measures, we shall not stand to lose but, on the other hand, as has been pointed out, we shall not be only vindicating the position of countrymen there but shall also be giving protection to them who went there under assurances of the British Government. Sir, the other day I put a question whether there was a treaty of trade and friendship between the British Government and the Zanzibar Government, and the reply was that that the treaty had been abrogated. The treaty might have been abrogated, but there were its provisions and the Education Secretary will admit that these decrees are directly in contravention of its provisions. The treaty provided that no citizen of the British Empire will be treated differently from any resident of Zanzibar, that there shall be no monopoly in any trade either in the hands of any Government or of any individual or association, and that the Indians and the British subjects shall have the right to acquire land in Zanzibar. And since they are being deprived of this very valuable right, I think it is for the Government of India to take at the earliest possible date effective steps to see that these cherished rights of our countrymen are not jeopardised. There has been considerable delay in this direction.

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : Mr. President, the question of Indians abroad is a very difficult one. Indians either were taken to some British colonies in order to develop them, or were encouraged to go to them in order to carry on some useful occupations. There is no doubt that, in the case of Zanzibar, the Indians have played a very important part in its development. Unfortunately, as has happened in other colonies, when Indians by their efforts developed those colonies, the same thing has happened in Zanzibar. The Indians, by their peaceful methods and business habits, have developed that colony, and I have no doubt in my mind that the effect of some of the measures, which the Colonial Government propose to take, will be greatly harmful to the interests of Indians in that colony. The difficulty of the solution of this question, in the first place, arises out of the fact that the Government of India are a subordinate Government, and when anything has to be done for the protection of Indians abroad, the Government of India have to depend upon the British Government, and the British Government, when they are asked to protect the interests of Indians in Zanzibar, the Europeans in Zanzibar and the natives of Zanzibar, have their own tests of deciding the comparative merits of the cases of the Indians, the natives and the Europeans. The Government of India, on account of this subordinate position of theirs, and, on account of the differences of values which the Government of India and the British Government place upon the merits of the cases of the different people, have been unable to protect the interests of the Indians as we want them to do. But there is another difficulty, and that difficulty is the real one. That difficulty was mentioned by my Honourable friend, Moulana Shaukat Ali. We Indians go to colonies which were not our original homes : there were people in those colonies who had gone there, even if they were not the inhabitants of those colonies, before us ; and, when any measures are taken to protect the interests of the inhabitants of those colonies and when those measures are likely to affect us injuriously, the problem does become complicated and difficult of solution. I would, therefore, like this Assembly to consider this question very seriously and carefully, not only looking to the interests of ourselves, but to the interests also of those people who are the natives of those colonies.

[Mr. N. M. Joshi.]

This question of the Indians in Zanzibar and the report made by Mr. Menon on this subject was carefully considered by the Standing Emigration Committee. Before I speak about what the Standing Emigration Committee did, I would like to pay a word of tribute to Mr. Menon on the excellent report which he has made. The Standing Emigration Committee considered this report, and we requested the Government of India to make very strong representations to the Colonial Government and to the British Government to see that justice was done to Indians. The questions which are dealt with in Mr. Menon's report and which have caused Indians some anxiety as to the protection of their interests are mainly two : first, the question of the Land Alienation legislation. I am glad to hear from my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, that the Government of India strongly feels as we do that there should be no racial discrimination in this matter. Legislation to restrict the alienation of land is not unknown to India. We have this kind of legislation ; but we object to legislation which is based upon racial grounds. So far as I am concerned I would like the land belonging to any country to remain only in the hands of people who would cultivate the land. There should be no consideration of any other kind, much less a racial consideration. Although therefore I am in favour of some legislation which will prevent alienation of land from the hands of agriculturists into the hands of those who never cultivate the land, I feel that it is wrong to make any racial discrimination in this matter. So far as the Clove Growers' Association is concerned, we must also consider whether it is not the right of any Government to make arrangements for the marketing of produce of that country. So far as I am concerned, again, I feel that it is not only the right of a Government but it is the duty of a Government to see that the trade of a country does not suffer. I, therefore, feel that we cannot take any objection on the ground of principle to the Government in Zanzibar taking control over the trade in cloves. But I equally feel that if the Government in Zanzibar is taking control of the trade in cloves in Zanzibar, it is the duty of that Government to see that the Indians who were engaged in that trade do not suffer any losses. May I say a word to our friends in Zanzibar—I mean Indian friends in Zanzibar ? There are some occupations and some kinds of business which are not very popular, and, in my humble judgment, which ought not to be very popular, and one is the business of a middleman. A middleman is not always popular anywhere. I would, therefore, suggest to the Indians in Zanzibar that, whatever they may have done so long, they should now try to become the real citizens of Zanzibar, begin to cultivate themselves the land which they own at present, which will give them a right and a very good right to complain and demand that they should have a right to own more land. I would like the Indians.....

Mr. Husenbhai Abdullabhai Laljee : You can address this to every human being and not merely to Indians.

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : You don't want Indian middlemen, yet you want European middlemen.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : Well, Sir, I should like Indians to be, in the first place, primary producers ; I would like them to engage themselves in agriculture and industry. I would also like them to engage themselves in the work of distributing the produce.....

Mr. Husenbhai Abdullabhai Laljee : You just said that you did not want middlemen ?

Mr. N. M. Joshi : I do want the middlemen. On the whole, Indians in Zanzibar are, to a very large extent, middlemen, but I would like them, as I said just now, to be primary producers of land and to engage themselves in industry.

I don't wish to say more on this subject, but I would like to say a word to our British Government. Sir, Indians abroad have suffered a great deal, and although I feel that we should depend upon our own efforts to protect ourselves under our present political conditions, I would warn the British Government that for the present we are willing and even sometimes proud to become Members of the British Commonwealth of Nations. But, Sir, if the interests of Indians abroad are not adequately protected, not only shall we cease to feel proud of our position as Members of the British Commonwealth, but we shall have to think very seriously whether we should remain members of that Commonwealth.

Mr. B. Das : Very good, very good.

[18TH SEP. 1935.]

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : Sir, I am not one of those who believe either in the advisability or in the utility for India of our membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations ("Hear, hear" from the Congress Party Benches), but, in spite of ourselves, we happen to be a part and parcel of this British Empire, and as long as we remain a member of this British Empire, I claim that we should be privileged, we should be helped, and we should be enabled to enjoy the same privileges within its scope as are permitted for anybody else in the whole of this British Empire.

Then, Sir, I wish to state just one other fact, that none of us here on this side, at least in the Congress Party, like to associate ourselves with Imperialism. We are all opposed to Imperialism, whether it is religious Imperialism, economic or political Imperialism, and we are opposed to the British Empire and all that it stands for, because, we know, Sir, that it stands for political as well as economic exploitation all over the Empire and also in the rest of the world. I find Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai saying and growing eloquent about the needs and disabilities of the poor peasant in Zanzibar. I can sincerely assure him, Sir, that my heart also goes out in sympathy for the sufferings of the peasants in Zanzibar. I would certainly have been the very first to ask my Indian friends and Indian traders there to come away from that country if a demand had come from the Zanzibar clove growers themselves for the removal of Indians from their own country, but the fact, Sir, is entirely different. The clove growers in Zanzibar have not made any such irrational demand, they have not made any such revolutionary demand, they have not asked for the removal of Indian traders from their own country.

