

19/12/79

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEBATES

(Official Report)

Volume V, 1935

(2nd September to 16th September, 1935)

SECOND SESSION

OF THE
FIFTH LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY, 1935

Government of Madras.

SECRETARIAT LIBRARY

Class

No.

Ch. S. III-1—2,500—17-10-33.

GOVERNOR
SYED GHUL
DR. F. X.
MR. L.

NEW DELHI
GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS
1936

CONTENTS.

VOLUME V.—2nd September to 16th September, 1935.

|                                                                                                                                                                           | PAGES.      |                                                                                                                                                      | PAGES.  |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| MONDAY, 2ND SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                                              |             | MONDAY, 2ND SEPTEMBER, 1935— contd.                                                                                                           |         |
| Members Sworn                                                                                                                                                             | 1—2         | Election of a Member to serve on the Standing Committee for Roads                                                                                    | 136     |
| Deaths of Sir Basil Blackett, Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhi-kary, Lala Fakir Chand and Haji Abdulla Haji Qasim                                                                 | 2—8         | Election of a Muslim Member to sit on the Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hedjaz                                                             | 137     |
| Questions and Answers                                                                                                                                                     | 8—42        | Election of Two Members for the Central Advisory Board for Education                                                                                 | 137—42  |
| Unstarred Questions and Answers                                                                                                                                           | 42—51       | Election of a Member to sit on the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its Governing Body                                                  | 142     |
| Statements laid on the table                                                                                                                                              | 61—124      | The Payment of Wages Bill—Presentation of the Report of the Select Committee                                                                         | 143     |
| Motions for Adjournment re—                                                                                                                                        |             | The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Introduced                                                                                                           | 143—47  |
| Prohibition of Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena from entering into the District of Tippera—Disallowed by His Excellency the Governor General                                         | 125         | The Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill—Introduced                                                                                                | 147—48  |
| Refusal of permission to Mahatma Gandhi and Babu Rajendra Prasad to enter into the Earthquake Area of Quetta—Not moved                                                    | 125, 127    | The Indian Army (Amendment) Bill—Introduced                                                                                                          | 148     |
| Rioting of British Soldiers stationed at Jubbulpore—Ruled out of order                                                                                                    | 125—27      | The Provincial Small Cause Courts (Amendment) Bill—Introduced                                                                                        | 148     |
| Prohibition of the Convener of the Congress Assembly Party Committee re Deen's to enter certain Places in Bengal—Disallowed by His Excellency the Governor General | 127—28, 157 | The Repealing and Amending Bill—Introduced                                                                                                           | 148—49  |
| Governor General's assent to Bills                                                                                                                                        | 128         | The Indian Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Bill—Introduced                                                                                                | 149     |
| Panel of Chairmen                                                                                                                                                         | 128         | Resolution re Ratification of the Draft Convention of the International Labour Conference concerning employment of women during night—adopted | 149—57  |
| Committee on Petitions                                                                                                                                                    | 128         | The Factories (Amendment) Bill—Introduced                                                                                                            | 157     |
| Agreement between the Reserve Bank of India and the Imperial Bank of India                                                                                                | 129—32      | Statement of Business                                                                                                                                | 157     |
| Agreement between the Secretary of State for India in Council and the Reserve Bank of India                                                                               | 132—35      | TUESDAY, 3RD SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                        |         |
| Statement (laid on the table) showing the objects on which the Petrol Tax Fund was expended during 1934—35                                                                | 136         | Member Sworn                                                                                                                                         | 159     |
|                                                                                                                                                                           |             | Questions and Answers                                                                                                                                | 159—205 |
|                                                                                                                                                                           |             | Short Notice Questions and Answers                                                                                                                   | 205—08  |
|                                                                                                                                                                           |             | Statements laid on the table                                                                                                                         | 208—32  |
|                                                                                                                                                                           |             | Motions for Adjournment re—                                                                                                                   |         |
|                                                                                                                                                                           |             | Destruction of the Shahid-gunje Mosque at Lahore—Not moved                                                                                           | 232     |

THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEBATES

(Official Report)

---

Volume VI, 1935

(17th September to 26th September, 1935)

---

SECOND SESSION

OF THE

FIFTH LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY, 1935

NEW DELHI
GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESS
1936

Legislative Assembly.

President :

THE HONOURABLE SIR ABDUR RAHIM, K.C.S.I., K.T.

Deputy President :

MR. AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA, M.L.A.

Panel of Chairmen :

PANDIT GOVIND BALLABH PANT, M.L.A.

MR. ABDUL MATIN CHAUDHURY, M.L.A.

MR. G. MORGAN, C.I.E., M.L.A.

MR. M. S. ANEY, M.L.A.

Secretary :

MIAN MUHAMMAD RAFI, BAR.-AT-LAW.

Assistant of the Secretary :

RAI BAHADUR D. DUTT.

Marshal :

CAPTAIN HAJI SARDAR NUR AHMAD KHAN, M.C., I.O.M., I.A.

Committee on Petitions :

MR. AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA, M.L.A., Chairman.

PANDIT GOVIND BALLABH PANT, M.L.A.

SYED GHULAM BHIK NAIRANG, M.L.A.

DR. F. X. DESOUZA, M.L.A.

MR. LALCHAND NAVALRAI, M.L.A.

| PAGES.                                                                                                                            | PAGES.                                                                                                                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| TUESDAY, 3RD SEPTEMBER, 1935—contd.                                                                                 | THURSDAY, 5TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                    |
| Motion for Adjournment re — contd.                                                                                  | Questions and Answers . . . 399—433                                                                                      |
| Lack of discipline in certain Soldiers at Jubbulpore—Ruled out of order . . . 232—36                                              | Motions for Adjournment re —                                                                                      |
| Despatch of troops from British India to Addis Abbaba (Abyssinia)—Withdrawn . . . 236—37, 263—71                                  | Interests of Indians concerned in Zanzibar—Postponed . . . 433—34                                                        |
| Election of a Member to the Standing Finance Committee . . . 237                                                                  | Accoustics of the Assembly Chamber in Simla . . . 434                                                                    |
| The Cinematograph (Amendment) Bill—Referred to Select Committee . . . 237—53                                                      | Election of Members to the Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hedjaz and the Standing Committee for Roads . . . 434 |
| The Aligarh Muslim University (Amendment) Bill—Passed . . . 254—63, 271—72                                                        | The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Discussion on the motion to consider not concluded . . . 434—78                          |
| The Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Bill—Discussion on the motion to refer to Select Committee not concluded . . . 272—76     |                                                                                                                          |
| WEDNESDAY, 4TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                            | FRIDAY, 6TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                      |
| Questions and Answers . . . 277—315                                                                                               | Questions and Answers . . . 479—540                                                                                      |
| Short Notice Questions and Answers . . . 316—42                                                                                   | Statements laid on the table . . . 540—48                                                                                |
| Motions for Adjournment re —                                                                                               | Election of a Member to the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its Governing Body . . . 548—49                |
| Despatch of Troops to Abyssinia—Discussed previously . . . 343                                                                    | The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Discussion on the motion to consider not concluded . . . 549—55, 556—88, 555—56          |
| Firing by the Military at Lahore over the Shahidgunje Dispute—Disallowed by His Excellency the Governor General . . . 343         | Statement of Business . . .                                                                                              |
| Refusal of grant of protection to the Glass Industry—Ruled out of order . . . 343—47                                              | MONDAY, 9TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                      |
| Bombing of women and children in the Trans-Frontier villages by the Indian Army (Air Force)—Adopted . . . 348, 377—98             | Questions and Answers . . . 589—619                                                                                      |
| The Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill by Sardar Sant Singh—Presentation of the Report of the Select Committee . . . 348 | Unstarred Questions and Answers . . . 619—39                                                                             |
| Resolution re Manufacture of Locomotive requirements in State Railway Workshops—Adopted . . . 348—77                       | Motion for Adjournment re —                                                                                       |
|                                                                                                                                   | Interest of Indians concerned in Zanzibar—not moved . . . 639                                                            |
|                                                                                                                                   | Election of a Member to the Standing Finance Committee . . . 639                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                   | Statement laid on the table . . . 640—41                                                                                 |
|                                                                                                                                   | Election of a Member for the Standing Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department . . . 642                 |
|                                                                                                                                   | The Central Provinces Courts (Supplementary) Bill—Introduced . . . 642                                                   |
|                                                                                                                                   | The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Discussion on the motion to consider not concluded . . . 642—85                          |
|                                                                                                                                   | Member Sworn . . . 657                                                                                                   |
|                                                                                                                                   | TUESDAY, 10TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                    |
|                                                                                                                                   | Questions and Answers . . . 687—717                                                                                      |
|                                                                                                                                   | The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Discussion on the motion to consider not concluded . . . 717—69                          |
|                                                                                                                                   | Member Sworn . . . 731                                                                                                   |

| PAGES.                                                                                                                                                                        | PAGES.                                                                                                            |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| WEDNESDAY, 11TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                                       | FRIDAY, 13TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—contd.                                                                 |
| Supplementary Questions and Answers . . . 761—64                                                                                                                              | Statement of Business . . . 998                                                                                   |
| Questions and Answers . . . 764—95                                                                                                                                            | Resolution re Reduction of import duty on carbon blocks—Adopted . . . 997—1000                             |
| Short Notice Question and Answer . . . 795—96                                                                                                                                 | The Payment of Wages Bill—Motion to consider adopted . . . 1000—10                                                |
| Motion for Adjournment re —                                                                                                                                            | Amendments to Standing Orders—Referred to Select Committee . . . 1011—12                                          |
| Appointment of an European businessman as the President of the Indian Tariff Board—Not moved . . . 796                                                                        | Election of Members to the Select Committee on Amendments to Standing Orders . . . 1012                           |
| Election of Members to the Central Advisory Board of Education . . . 796                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                   |
| The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Discussion on the motion to consider not concluded . . . 797—810                                                                              | MONDAY, 16TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                              |
| Member Sworn . . . 809                                                                                                                                                        | Speech delivered to the Council of State and the Legislative Assembly by His Excellency the Viceroy . . . 1013—25 |
| THURSDAY, 12TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                                        | Questions and Answers . . . 1026—59                                                                               |
| Questions and Answers . . . 841—69                                                                                                                                            | Message from His Excellency the Governor General . . . 1059                                                       |
| Statements laid on the table . . . 869—83                                                                                                                                     | The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Motion for leave to introduce in the form recommended negatived . . . 1059—62     |
| Election of a Member to the Standing Advisory Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department . . . 883                                                              | The Jubbulpore and Chhat-tisgarh Divisions (Divorce Proceedings Validation) Bill—Introduced . . . 1062            |
| The Criminal Law Amendment Bill—Motion to consider negatived . . . 883—950                                                                                                    | The Central Provinces Courts (Supplementary) Bill—Passed . . . 1063—64                                            |
| FRIDAY, 13TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                                          | The Provincial Small Cause Courts (Amendment) Bill—Passed . . . 1064—65                                           |
| Questions and Answers . . . 951—85                                                                                                                                            | The Indian Army (Amendment) Bill—Passed . . . 1065—67                                                             |
| Motion for Adjournment re —                                                                                                                                            | The Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill—Passed . . . 1067—69                                                   |
| Government circular prohibiting the Congress Assembly Party Committee to enquire into and report upon the Administration of the Repressive Laws in Bengal—Not moved . . . 985 | The Indian Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Bill—Discussion on the motion to consider not concluded . . . 1069—76       |
| Circular regarding Governor General's address to the Members of the Indian Legislature . . . 986                                                                              |                                                                                                                   |
| The Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Bill—Referred to Select Committee . . . 986—96                                                                                        |                                                                                                                   |

CONTENTS.

VOLUME VI.—17th September to 26th September 1935.

| PAGES.                                                                                                                                                                                       | PAGES.                                                                                                                                 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| TUESDAY, 17TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                                                        | FRIDAY, 20TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                   |
| Questions and Answer . . . 1077—1112                                                                                                                                                         | Members Sworn . . . 1379                                                                                                               |
| Election of Members to theSelect Committee on theAmendment of StandingOrders . . . 1112                                                                                          | Questions and Answers . . . 1379—1412                                                                                                  |
| The Indian Criminal LawAmendment (Repeal) Bill—Discussion on the motionto consider not concluded . . . 1113—56                                                                   | Statement of Business . . . 1412                                                                                                       |
|                                                                                                                                                                                              | Short Notice Questions andAnswers . . . 1412—14                                                                                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                              | Cancellation of certain gal-lery passes . . . 1414                                                                                 |
|                                                                                                                                                                                              | Presentation of the Re-port of the Public Ac-counts Committee . . . 1415—1547                                                  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                              | Report of the Tribunal onFinancial Settlementbetween India and Burmaafter the separation . . . 1548—86                     |
| WEDNESDAY, 19TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                                                      | MONDAY, 23RD SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                   |
| Questions and Answers . . . 1157—92                                                                                                                                                          | Questions and Answers . . . 1587—1633                                                                                                  |
| Short Notice Question andAnswer . . . 1192—93                                                                                                                                            | Statements laid on the table . . . 1633—38                                                                                             |
| Motion for Adjournment reAllocation of certain re-sources between the Cen-tral and Provincial Gov-ernments—Not moved . . . 1194—97,1221                                  | Message from the Council ofState . . . 1638                                                                                        |
| The Code of Civil Procedure(Second Amendment) Bill—Presentation of the Re-port of the Select Com-mittee . . . 1197                                                           | The Indian Coffee Cess Bill—Passed . . . 1638—78                                                                                   |
| The Indian Coffee Cess Bill—Introduced . . . 1197                                                                                                                                        | The Jubbulpore and Chhat-tisgarh Divisions (DivorceProceedings Validation)Bill—Motion to consideradopted . . . 1678—83 |
| The Indian Motor Vehicles(Amendment) Bill—Re-ferred to Select Committee . . . 1198—1208                                                                                              | Statement of Business . . . 1684                                                                                                       |
| The Repealing and Amend-ing Bill—Passed . . . 1208—10                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                        |
| The Factories (Amendment)Bill—Passed . . . 1210—11                                                                                                                                       | TUESDAY, 24TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                  |
| Resolution re Position ofIndian Nationals settledin Zanzibar—Adopted . . . 1211—40                                                                                                   | Questions and Answers . . . 1685—1714                                                                                                  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                              | Short Notice Questions andAnswers . . . 1714—20                                                                                    |
| THURSDAY, 19TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                                                                       | The Cantonments (Amend-ment) Bill—Presentationof the Report of the SelectCommittee . . . 1720                              |
| Member Sworn . . . 1241                                                                                                                                                                      | The Indian Criminal Lawamendment (Repeal) Bill—Discussion on the consi-deration of clauses notconcluded . . . 1720—66  |
| Questions and Answers . . . 1241—1308                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                        |
| Statements laid on the table . . . 1308—10                                                                                                                                                   | WEDNESDAY, 25TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                                |
| Motions for Adjournment reAllocation of certain re-sources between the Cen-tral and Provincial Gov-ernments—Disallowed bythe Honourable the Presi-dent . . . 1310—13 | Questions and Answers . . . 1767—1803                                                                                                  |
| Resolution re Quetta Earth-quake—Negatived . . . 1313—78                                                                                                                                 | Short Notice Questions andAnswers . . . 1803—06                                                                                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                              | Message from the Councilof State . . . 1806                                                                                        |

Legislative Assembly.

President :

THE HONOURABLE SIR ABDUR RAHIM, K.C.S.I., KT.

Deputy President :

MR. AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA, M.L.A.

Panel of Chairmen :

PANDIT GOVIND BALLABH PANT, M.L.A.

ABDUL MATIN CHAUDHURY, M.L.A.

MR. G. MORGAN, C.I.E., M.L.A.

MR. M. S. ANEY, M.L.A.

Secretary :

MIAN MUHAMMAD RAFI, BAR.-AT-LAW.

Assistant of the Secretary :

RAI BAHADUR D. DUTT.

Marshal :

CAPTAIN HAJI SARDAR NUR AHMAD KHAN, M.C., I.O.M., I.A.

Committee on Petitions :

MR. AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA, M.L.A., Chairman.

PANDIT GOVIND BALLABH PANT, M.L.A.

SYED GHULAM BHIK NAIRANG, M.L.A.

DR. F. X. DESOUZA, M.L.A.

MR. LALCHAND NAVALRAI, M.L.A.

THE
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEBATES
(OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.)

---

VOLUME V—1935.

---

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 2nd September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber in Simla, at Eleven of the Clock, being the First Day of the Second Session of the Fifth Legislative Assembly, pursuant to Section 63-D (2) of the Government of India Act. Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim, K.C.S.I., Kt.), was in the Chair.

MEMBERS SWORN.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan, Kt. (Member for Commerce and Railways) ;

The Honourable Mr. David George Mitchell, C.S.I., C.I.E. (Member for Industries and Labour) ;

Mr. Thomas Chapman-Mortimer, M.L.A. (Bengal : European) ;

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya, M.L.A. (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) ;

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan, C.I.E., M.L.A. (Agra Division : Muhammadan Rural) ;

Mr. Frank Burton Leach, M.L.A. (Burma : European) ;

Mr. E. H. M. Bower, I.S.O., M.L.A. (Nominated Non-Official) ;

Mr. J. H. Blackwell, M.L.A. (Nominated Non-Official) ;

Mr. James Glasgow Acheson, C.I.E., M.L.A. (Foreign Secretary) ;

Mr. Alan Hubert Lloyd, C.S.I., C.I.E., M.L.A. (Government of India : Nominated Official) ;

Mr. Arthur Sheldon Hands, C.I.E., M.L.A. (Government of India : Nominated Official) ; Diwan Bahadur Rasipur Varada Krishna Ayyar, M.L.A. (Madras : Nominated Official) ;

Mr. Duncan MacLachlan, M.L.A. (Bombay : Nominated Official) ;

Mr. Madhusudan Damodar Bhat, M.L.A. (Bombay : Nominated Official) ;

( 1 )

| PAGES.                                                                                                                   | PAGES.                                                                                            |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| WEDNESDAY, 25TH SEPTEMBER, 1935— contd.                                                                           | WEDNESDAY, 25TH SEPTEMBER, 1935— contd.                                                    |
| Report on the working of the scheme of preferences resulting from the Ottawa Trade Agreement—Laid on the table . . . . . | Report of the Tribunal on Financial Settlement between India and Burma after separation . . . . . |
| 1807                                                                                                                     | 1942—67                                                                                           |
| The Jubbulpore and Chhat-tisgarh Divisions (Divorce Proceedings Validation) Bill—Passed, as amended . . . . .            | The Removal of Civic Dis-abilities Bill—I introduced . . . . .                                    |
| 1807—08                                                                                                                  | 1967                                                                                              |
| The Cantonments (Amend-ment) Bill—Circulated . . . . .                                                                   | The Hindu Women's Rights to Property Bill—Intro-duced . . . . .                                   |
| 1809—11                                                                                                                  | 1967                                                                                              |
| Demands for Supplementary Grants . . . . .                                                                               | The Arya Marriage Valida-tion Bill—Introduced . . . . .                                           |
| 1811—57                                                                                                                  | 1967—68                                                                                           |
| THURSDAY, 26TH SEPTEMBER, 1935—                                                                                          | The Hindu Marriage Vali-dity Bill—Introduced . . . . .                                            |
| Questions and Answers . . . . .                                                                                          | 1968                                                                                              |
| 1859—1905                                                                                                                | The Child Marriage Restraint (Amendment) Bill—Intro-duced . . . . .                               |
| Short Notice Question and Answer . . . . .                                                                               | 1968                                                                                              |
| 1005—06                                                                                                                  | The Moslem Personal Law (Shariat) Application Bill —Introduced. . . . .                           |
| 1907—24                                                                                                                  | 1968—69                                                                                           |
| Statements laid on the table . . . . .                                                                                   | Report of the Public Ac-counts Committee . . . . .                                                |
| 1924—38                                                                                                                  | 1969—70                                                                                           |
| Demands for Supplementary Grants . . . . .                                                                               | Message from the Council of State . . . . .                                                       |
| 1924—38                                                                                                                  | 1970                                                                                              |
| Demands for Excess Grants for 1933-34 . . . . .                                                                          |                                                                                                   |
| 1939—42                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                   |

CORRIGENDA.

In the Legislative Assembly Debates, Simla Session, 1935,—

(1) Vol. V, No. 1, dated the 2nd September, 1935, page 50, in the second line of Mr. P. R. Rau's answer to unstarred question No. 15, for "8'-0" Bogie" read "68'-0" Bogie".

(2) Vol. V, No. 2, dated the 3rd September, 1935,—

(i) page 250, last line, and page 251, line 1, for "useful to this country, can be tabooed by the Board of Censors" read "useful to this country, from an educational point of view, be tabooed by the Board of Censors".

(ii) page 267, line 18, for "country" read "cause".

(3) Vol. V, No. 3, dated the 4th September, 1935, page 297, in the supplementary questions, for "Mr. A. H. Ghuznavi" read "Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi".

(4) Vol. V, No. 4, dated the 5th September, 1935,—

(i) page 452, line 12, for "statement" read "statesman".

(ii) page 475, line 7, for "taings" read "things".

(5) Vol. V, No. 6, dated the 9th September, 1935, page 673, line 22 from the bottom, for "tittle" read "tittle".

(6) Vol. V, No. 10, dated the 13th September, 1935,—

(i) page 969, in the subject-heading to starred question No. 347, for "Ceylone" read "Ceylon".

(ii) page 977, line 10, for "pats" read "parts".

(7) Vol. VI, No. 3, dated the 19th September, 1935,—

(i) page 1313, in the subject-heading to the Resolution, for "Eathquake" read "Earthquake".

(ii) page 1346, line 16 from the bottom, for "I beg to leave" read "I beg leave".

(iii) page 1364, last line, for "have" read "gave".

(8) Vol. VI, No. 4, dated the 20th September, 1935, page 1552, line 11, for "Indian" read "India".

(9) Vol. VI, No. 6, dated the 24th September, 1935,—

(i) page 1699, in the subject-heading to starred question No. 635, for "against" read "against".

(ii) page 1712, in the subject-heading to starred question No. 650, for "Supervisor of Labour" read "Supervisor of Railway Labour".

(iii) page 1740, line 22, for "pround" read "proud".

(iv) page 1746, line 17 from the bottom, for "movemet" read "movement".

(v) page 1747, line 5 from the bottom, for "hear" read "bear".

(10) Vol. VI, No. 7, dated the 25th September, 1935, page 1782, line 15 from the bottom, for "rules" read "rates".

(11) Vol. VI, No. 8, dated the 26th September, 1935,—

(i) page 1905, insert the following head-line below the head-line "SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER":—
"DISTRESS OF QUETTA MERCHANTS".

(ii) page 1924, line 17, for "vulcano" read "volcano".

(iii) page 1965, line 24, for "fuad" read "fraud".

Mr. Percival Joseph Griffiths, M.L.A. (Bengal : Nominated Official) ;
 Mr. Leonard Owen, M.L.A. (United Provinces : Nominated Official) ;
 Mr. Dionys John Norris Lee, M.L.A. (Central Provinces : Nominated Official) ; Mr. Sankar Pandurang Desai, M.L.A. (Assam : Nominated Official) ; and
 Mr. Tom Lister, C.I.E., M.L.A. (Burma : Nominated Official).

DEATHS OF SIR BASIL BLACKETT, SIR DEVA PRASAD SARVADHIKARY, LALA FAKIR CHAND AND HAJI ABDULLA HAJI QASIM.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Sir, before you take up the day's work, may I have your permission to mention the deaths of some of the past and present Members of this Assembly.

The first name which I have to mention is that of Sir Basil Blackett. Long accounts of his life and of his activities have recently appeared in the press, particularly in every newspaper, English and vernacular, and I have no desire to take the House over the long history over again. I would like to remind the House very shortly that he was the Finance Member and a Member of this Assembly from 1923 to 1928, he was the Leader of this House from August 1927 to March 1928, he was the Secretary of the Indian Finance and Currency Commission in 1913-1914, and he was on a special mission to the United States Government in 1914. He was also a Member of the Anglo-French Financial Mission to the United States of America which raised the Anglo-French loan of 500,000,000 dollars in 1915. He was also the representative of the British Treasury in the United States of America from 1917 to 1919. His activities did not cease on his retirement and, as we all know from the biographies which have been published, he was holding a very responsible post at the time when the tragic occurrence took place as the result of a motor accident.

Sir, the second name I have to mention is that of Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhikary, who was a Member of the First Legislative Assembly, representing the Calcutta Non-Muhammadan constituency from 1921 to 1923. He was an elected Member of the Council of State from 1923 to 1925. Before this he had been a Member of the Indian Legislative Council and a Member of the Bengal Legislative Council. He was also a member of the Lytton Committee for Indian students in England ; and he was also a member of the Government of India Deputation (Paddison Commission) to South Africa. As we all know he took a prominent part and a great interest in all matters connected with education in Bengal and, generally speaking, the education of Indians. He was also a Substitute Delegate to the Assembly of the League of Nations in 1930 ; and he was for several years the President of the Incorporated Society of Law, Calcutta.

Sir I have yet to mention another name, that of Lala Fakir Chand, who was a Member of this House and whom I had the honour of knowing personally, having met him often outside the House ; and I think I am voicing the opinion of everybody here when I say that he always showed himself to be very frank in discussing the points he wanted to make against us, and he tried always to hear what we had to say against his views. Now, Sir, it is indeed sad that he is the fifth Member—and I think I am right in saying that he is the fifth Member of this House who has died untimely. Sir, I request you that the families of all these gentlemen may be informed through you of our sense of sorrow and loss at their untimely deaths.

DEATHS OF SIR BASIL BLACKETT, SIR DEVA PRASAD SARVADHIKARY, 3
 LALA FAKIR CHAND AND HAJI ABDULLA HAJI QASIM.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai (Leader of the Opposition) : Sir, it is a melancholy thing, on the eve of the opening of the present Session, that the Leader of the House should have had to mention and convey to the House the regretful news of the deaths of some of our immediate colleagues as well as of some of those who were the predecessors in this Assembly.

With reference to Sir Basil Blackett, a tragic accident brought to an end one of the most eminent careers in the history of men who have occupied such positions as he did. Sir, I had not the honour of having a personal acquaintance with Sir Basil Blackett, but, nonetheless, during the course of many controversies over financial matters that interested this country, I was able to perceive the clarity of mind and steadfast—as far as in him lay—maintenance of the point of view of India's credit and strength. Sir, he established some conventions, which I hope and trust will not die with him, notwithstanding his official retirement from here and his physical death from the world now ; and I have not the smallest doubt that those conventions will continue to be obeyed and honoured in the spirit in which they were framed. Sir, I associate myself with the loss of that great man.

The next person we have to mourn is Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhikary, who died full of years and also full of honours and whom I had the occasion to know, mainly on account of the profession to which he belonged. I knew him as an educationist, but undoubtedly more so as the President of the Incorporated Law Society of the Calcutta High Court. He was one of those who led a deputation with a desire that the different High Courts of India should cultivate a genuine, cordial, brotherly relationship of lawyers of all branches, and, among those who formed the deputation from his province to ours, we had great pleasure in having had the benefits of all his experience in the purpose of framing some of our rules on the Original Side of the High Court, but more so, on the broader aspects of the expeditious disposal of cases.

As regards Lala Fakir Chand, he was a gentleman of whom I cannot speak in terms adequate to this occasion because I deem it a personal loss. He was physically and mentally what he looked—a genuine stalwart in the maintenance of the traditions of the nationally-minded Members of this House. He always stood square and solid, and it is almost difficult to believe that he is not present here today. His reliability and loyalty were qualities which might be envied in any part of the House, and I am quite certain, they would receive unstinted recognition from any man to whichever side he belonged, as a man he distinguished himself by the part he played primarily in his profession of law, and, later on, in the public life which he represented here.

I join, Sir, with my Honourable friend, Sir Nripendra Sircar, in the tribute that he has paid to the departed who were associated with this Assembly in carrying on the great work of the legislation of this country.

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury (Assam : Muhammadan) : Sir, on behalf of my friends of the Independent Party, I desire to associate ourselves with the motion of condolence which has been moved by the Honourable the Leader of the House.

[Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi.]

loss of a dear personal friend, a great financier and a sincere well-wisher of India.

Sir Basil Blackett, as the Finance Member of the Viceroy's Executive Council, was certainly the centre of a great deal of controversy, as every person, having strong opinions, is bound to have, but, notwithstanding the same, his personal popularity with the Members of this House as well as the Indian business world outside grew from more to more as they recognised his sincerity of purpose and the value of his achievements. He displayed considerable independence of judgment in matters of public finance, and his claim to rank as Swarajist in matters financial was well-founded because of his determination to make India financial as well-founded because of his determination to make India financial. The separation of railway finance from the general budget was one of his best achievements. The education of the standing committees of the House in their powers was also another achievement of great importance. His sympathy with the political aspirations of India was well-known and was expressed more than once on the floor of this House. This sympathy he carried to his new spheres of activity in the United Kingdom. In his death the other day under tragic circumstances, India, determined to win self-rule, has lost one of her distinguished supporters and those of us who had the privilege of knowing him intimately a personal friend of great charm.

Sir, our deep sympathy goes to the desolate widow, Lady Blackett. No words of ours, no human sympathy can console her in her affliction, but, when she will know that this House mourns her husband's loss where he had been at one time such a popular and prominent figure, it will undoubtedly lighten the burden of her intense grief.

Sir, in the death of Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhikary, I have lost another personal and dear old friend. We have known each other for very many years. His father was one of the distinguished doctors in Bengal who was our family physician. His zeal for temperance movement was well-known. Bengal has lost in his death one of her noble sons who had throughout worked and dedicated his life for the benefit and uplift of the province.

In the death of Lala Fakir Chand, we have lost one of our sitting colleagues. When I first made his acquaintance in this House, I felt what charming manners he had.

I have not had the honour of knowing Haji Abdulla Haji Qasim, but from what I heard from the Deputy Leader of the Independent Party, I have no hesitation to associate myself with all that he has said about the late Mr. Haji Abdulla Haji Qasim.

With these words, I associate myself with what has fallen from the Honourable the Leader of the House and with other Honourable Members who have just spoken.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, Lala Fakir Chand was my personal friend. During the short interval he was a Member of this Assembly, he showed himself to be very obliging and social. In a short time, he made friends with me, and I am sorry to see that I do not see him in the House today. Lala Fakir Chand made himself popular during the brief stay in the House. I pay tribute to his memory, not only because he was my personal friend in the House, but also because he belonged to the same profession to which I have the honour to belong. In the House he showed himself to be very proficient in subjects relating to law. I express my full sympathy with his bereaved family.

As regards the other three Members, I express the same feelings of sympathy with their families. I did not know personally Sir Basil Blackett, but from the records he left behind of his work in the Assembly, I can say he was a very hard worked Member and was a very able man. We are, therefore, sorry to lose him. As regards the other two Members, I associate with what has fallen from the lips of other Honourable Members, and I would request the Chair to convey our sympathies to the bereaved families.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have just to say one word, and, that is, I wish to associate myself entirely with what has fallen from my Honourable friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, as regards the late Haji Abdulla Haji Qasim.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta (Chittagong and Rajshahi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : My Honourable friend, Sardar Sant Singh, has already spoken on behalf of the Congress-Nationalist Party, and, therefore, I should not be justified in speaking again for that Party, but, at the same time, I feel that I would be failing in my duty if I did not say a word or two about Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhikary, coming as I do from Bengal. Sir, I had the pleasure and honour of working with him as a colleague in the Bengal Legislative Council in the pre-reform days. Whenever he took part in the debates of the House, the whole House listened to him with great attention and respect. He was a great leader of men, and, although I did not belong to the same school with him in politics, I had the highest respect for his character, for his courage of conviction and for his honesty of purpose. His death will certainly be a great loss to Bengal, and, for the matter of that, to India.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It will be my mournful duty to convey the sense of loss of this House which has been expressed by the Leader of the House, the Leader of the Opposition and the other Honourable Members, to the bereaved members of the families of the deceased gentlemen, Sir Basil Blackett, Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhikary, Lala Fakir Chand and Haji Abdulla Haji Qasim. It has also been brought to my notice that another gentleman died recently who was a Member of this House, Mr. Sesha Ayyangar of Madras. At almost every Session, this House has to mourn the loss of some Member or other, and, on this occasion, we mourn the loss of no less than five gentlemen who were Members of this House at one time or another, including one sitting Member.

I do not desire to add anything to what has already been said regarding Haji Abdulla Haji Qasim by the Honourable Members who knew him.

As regards Sir Basil Blackett, his distinguished career as an exponent of finance is well-known, and his unfortunate death at an age when he was still capable of rendering great services to his nation is mourned by every one who knew him or was acquainted with the work that he did.

Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhikary I knew very well. He belonged to a distinguished family which produced men who rendered considerable inviting tenders or some other method? If the latter, will Government please state what that method is?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The Agent, East Indian Railway, states that as negotiations were in progress for the introduction of a co-ordinated rail and road service between Dehra Dun and Mussoorie, it was considered advisable, pending completion of the negotiations, to issue monthly permits instead of yearly ones. A second permit was given to one Company through a misunderstanding and was withdrawn ten days later.

(d) A representation was received by the Administration from one Company.

(e) and (f). There is no question of creating a monopoly. All that the East Indian Railway Administration did was to arrange with one company for direct booking between Mussoorie and all railway stations. This was done with the approval of the Local Government and was intended to promote the convenience of passengers who wished to avail themselves of it. The Railway Administration's enquiries showed that there were no other concerns of sufficient standing with whom they could consider entering into negotiations. There is nothing in the proposed arrangement which precludes passengers, who do not wish to book through, from availing themselves of the services provided by other Transport Companies who will be given similar facilities for parking their vehicles in the station area.

(g) No.

(h) Does not arise.

(i) As I have already explained, the Railway have not granted a monopoly nor are they in a position to do so.

RESTRICTIONS ON THE IMPORT OF INDIAN GOODS INTO ITALY.

4. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether they have been carrying on negotiations with the Government of Italy with respect to the restrictions on the import of Indian goods into their country?

(b) Are Government carrying on these negotiations directly or through Great Britain?

(c) Are Government aware of the Anglo-Italian Pact, in which the Government of Italy have conceded that 80 per cent. of the British goods will be allowed into Italy?

(d) At what stage are the negotiations between the Indian Government and the Italian Government?

(e) What are the results of the negotiations?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a), (b), (d) and (e). When the Government of India learnt of the new import régime imposed in February last by the Government of Italy against imports of all origins into Italy, they made immediate representations through His Majesty's Government asking that the restrictions thereby imposed should be relaxed so far as Indian goods were concerned, pending the completion of the negotiations for a trade agreement which were then under contemplation. It has not been possible to secure an assurance of the nature asked for from the Italian Government, but the Honourable Member will see from the Monthly Accounts of Sea-borne Trade of India that India's export trade to Italy has not been seriously affected. The Government of India continue, however, to watch the situation and will lose no opportunity of making further representations when such can usefully be made.

(c) Yes, Sir.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Through which officer of the Government of India have they made these representations to the Government of Italy?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Commerce Department.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are negotiations going on between this Government and the Government of Italy, direct?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I should like to know what the significance of "direct" is.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Direct means direct, and not through Downing Street.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Not through Downing Street.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know at what stage negotiations are standing now at this moment so far as the Honourable Member's knowledge goes?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already explained in my reply that the negotiations are not proceeding, because the assurances asked for were not forthcoming from the Italian Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has the matter been dropped since the negotiations have failed and have the Government of India accepted the defeat?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The matter has not been dropped, but the negotiations are not for the moment proceeding.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : At what stage, therefore, are the negotiations standing? In a state of suspended animation?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already explained the situation.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Reference has been made to a pending trade agreement with Italy: may I know what is that trade agreement?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have made no reference to a pending trade agreement with Italy.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : In the reply, there is a reference to a pending trade agreement.

(No answer was given.)

IMPORTS FROM INDIA BANNED BY ROUMANIA.

5. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether they are aware that Roumania has banned all imports from India?

(b) What is the cause of this ban?

(c) Have Government been negotiating with the Government of Roumania?

(d) What are the results of the negotiations ?

(e) In case Roumania does not agree to remove the ban on Indian goods, are Government prepared to put a similar ban on imports of Roumanian goods into India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). Restrictions were recently imposed by the Roumanian Government on the import of Indian goods into Roumania under the impression that the balance of trade between the two countries was in favour of India.

(c) and (d). On representations being made to the Roumanian Government that the balance of trade was not in India's favour that Government have since permitted the issue of import licences for goods coming from India.

(e) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : On what basis are these licences for imports issued ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Under these import licences, India is getting unrestricted exports into Roumania. The question, therefore, does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the meaning of this statement that licences are being issued ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Roumania has introduced a system by which imports into Roumania from other countries must be made under import licences. Import licences had been refused in the case of India except to a very small extent : but, on representations being made, Indian exports into Roumania have been permitted on the original basis.

COUNTRIES WITH BANNED OR RESTRICTED IMPORTS FROM INDIA.

6. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state which countries have either banned or restricted imports from India ?

(b) What are the causes for such bans and restrictions ?

(c) Have Government been negotiating with any of these countries for the removal of these bans and restrictions ?

(d) What are the results of these negotiations ?

(e) In case these countries do not agree to remove these bans and restrictions on Indian goods, are Government prepared to restrict the imports of goods from those countries into India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Several foreign countries have introduced restrictive measures against imports of various kinds from other countries. These measures are not directed specifically against India but apply generally to all countries. The more important countries from the point of view of India's export trade which have imposed such restrictions are Germany, Italy, Turkey and Iran.

(b) The restrictions have, generally speaking, been imposed by those countries for the purpose of safeguarding their industrial and monetary interests.

(c) Representations have been made in respect of India's trade relations with Italy, Turkey and Iran.

(d) As regards Italy, I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the reply given by me today to his starred question No. 4. Negotiations with regard to Turkey and Iran are still in progress.

(e) The question is engaging the attention of the Government of India and such action as may be found necessary and desirable will be taken to safeguard India's export trade with the countries in question.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : Is it a fact that the guiding principle of these restrictions is that India is not taking the exported articles from those countries ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : India is buying exported articles from those countries.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : In regard to the restrictions imposed by several foreign countries, is it or is it not a fact that the guiding principle of these restrictions is that India is not buying their manufactured goods ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already replied to that question : India is buying from them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government examined the question whether these bans and restrictions are due, wholly or partially, to the Ottawa preferences ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government are of the view that that implication is not justified.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the reasons of the Government, and what is the expert advice on which Government have come to that conclusion ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government have taken no expert advice, but have examined the course of trade between those countries and India and have come to the conclusion that the present state of affairs is due to the difficulties of those countries themselves with regard to their trade and monetary position and is not due to the Ottawa Agreement.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the reason as to why Government have come to the conclusion that, in spite of the Imperial Preference given to British and British Empire goods, as against these countries' goods, still that preference has not been, in part at least, responsible for these bans and restrictions ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is a matter of opinion, but the examination of this question by the Government of India leads them to the conclusion that it is not due to the operation of Imperial Preferences.

Dr. N. B. Khare : Is it not a fact that these bans were imposed only after the imposition of the Ottawa Agreement ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That involves a comparison of dates which Honourable Members can very well make for themselves.

(d) What are the results of the negotiations ?

(e) In case Roumania does not agree to remove the ban on Indian goods, are Government prepared to put a similar ban on imports of Roumanian goods into India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). Restrictions were recently imposed by the Roumanian Government on the import of Indian goods into Roumania under the impression that the balance of trade between the two countries was in favour of India.

(c) and (d). On representations being made to the Roumanian Government that the balance of trade was not in India's favour that Government have since permitted the issue of import licences for goods coming from India.

(e) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : On what basis are these licences for imports issued ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Under these import licences, India is getting unrestricted exports into Roumania. The question, therefore, does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the meaning of this statement that licences are being issued ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Roumania has introduced a system by which imports into Roumania from other countries must be made under import licences. Import licences had been refused in the case of India except to a very small extent ; but, on representations being made, Indian exports into Roumania have been permitted on the original basis.

COUNTRIES WITH BANNED OR RESTRICTED IMPORTS FROM INDIA.

6. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state which countries have either banned or restricted imports from India ?

(b) What are the causes for such bans and restrictions ?

(c) Have Government been negotiating with any of these countries for the removal of these bans and restrictions ?

(d) What are the results of these negotiations ?

(e) In case these countries do not agree to remove these bans and restrictions on Indian goods, are Government prepared to restrict the imports of goods from those countries into India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Several foreign countries have introduced restrictive measures against imports of various kinds from other countries. These measures are not directed specifically against India but apply generally to all countries. The more important countries from the point of view of India's export trade which have imposed such restrictions are Germany, Italy, Turkey and Iran.

(b) The restrictions have, generally speaking, been imposed by those countries for the purpose of safeguarding their industrial and monetary interests.

(c) Representations have been made in respect of India's trade relations with Italy, Turkey and Iran.

(d) As regards Italy, I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the reply given by me today to his starred question No. 4. Negotiations with regard to Turkey and Iran are still in progress.

(e) The question is engaging the attention of the Government of India and such action as may be found necessary and desirable will be taken to safeguard India's export trade with the countries in question.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Is it a fact that the guiding principle of these restrictions is that India is not taking the exported articles from those countries ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : India is buying exported articles from those countries.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : In regard to the restrictions imposed by several foreign countries, is it or is it not a fact that the guiding principle of these restrictions is that India is not buying their manufactured goods ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already replied to that question : India is buying from them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government examined the question whether these bans and restrictions are due, wholly or partially, to the Ottawa preferences ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government are of the view that that implication is not justified.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the reasons of the Government, and what is the expert advice on which Government have come to that conclusion ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government have taken no expert advice, but have examined the course of trade between these countries and India and have come to the conclusion that the present state of affairs is due to the difficulties of those countries themselves with regard to their trade and monetary position and is not due to the Ottawa Agreement.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the reason as to why Government have come to the conclusion that, in spite of the Imperial Preference given to British and British Empire goods, as against these countries' goods, still that preference has not been, in part at least, responsible for these bans and restrictions ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is a matter of opinion, but the examination of this question by the Government of India leads them to the conclusion that it is not due to the operation of Imperial Preferences.

Dr. N. B. Khare : Is it not a fact that these bans were imposed only after the imposition of the Ottawa Agreement ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That involves a comparison of dates which Honourable Members can very well make for themselves.

Seth Govind Das : Do Government not think it proper to have this matter examined with the help of expert advisers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government always consider these questions with such advice as may be necessary with reference to each question as it arises.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the percentage loss of export trade after all these restrictions were imposed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am afraid I could not say offhand.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (c), may I know if the Government propose to take the ameliorative action which this question asks ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As I have already said, Government have the position under examination. With regard to some countries, action has already been taken : with regard to some, negotiations are going on ; and, with regard to others, such action as will be justified will be taken when the time comes.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : With regard to these representations, have Government made them only through correspondence or have they sent any of their special representatives to carry on these negotiations with other countries ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No special representatives have been sent to carry on these negotiations.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that every other country sends representatives in similar circumstances to other countries ? And, if so, does it stand to reason that the Government of India should do the same ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am not aware of that.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : May I know where the negotiations with Germany stand at present ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have not said that we are carrying on any negotiations with Germany.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : May I know whether these bans were imposed after the Ottawa Agreement ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already replied to that.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : What are those countries which have imposed these bans and restrictions with which the Government of India are not carrying on any negotiations at all ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is perfectly clear from the replies that I have given.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Why have no negotiations been opened with Germany, when negotiations are carried on with other countries ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government consider that the stage has not yet arrived when it would be useful to open these negotiations with Germany.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : When do you think it will come ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I could not answer that question.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : I simply wanted to know whether these bans were imposed as a matter of sequence after the conclusion of the Ottawa Agreement.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have answered that question already.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Have these countries imposed bans on other countries besides India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes.

TRANSFERS OF BRITISH OFFICERS IN THE REMOUNT DEPARTMENT.

7. *Qazi Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi : (a) Is it a fact that in the Remount Department there are some British officers who have been posted to one station continuously for four years and more ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state the names of those officers, and the reason why the officers have not been transferred after the period of four years ? Is not the posting of those officers at one place for such a long time against paragraph 36 of the Regulations for the Army in India ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that under that Regulation, all military troops and officers are bound to be transferred from one station to another after the period of four years, and if so, why the Remount Department does not comply with the Regulation ?

(d) Do Government propose to take action under that Regulation and transfer those officers who have been posted to one station for more than four years ?

(e) Is it a fact that there are several superior employees, such as head clerks, godown-overseers, and A. F. Os. who have not been transferred from one place to another for more than twelve years ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes, there are three.

(b) to (e). The rule quoted by the Honourable Member applies to staff officers only. There are no definite rules to governing the postings of departmental personnel, but the Honourable Member can rest assured that the military authorities are fully aware of the dangers as well as the advantages of keeping their servants for considerable periods in one place.

RESTRICTION OF IMPORTS INTO INDIA.

8. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether they are aware :

(i) that the figures for exports and imports of India for the year 1933 are 135 crores and 132 crores, respectively, and that the figures for exports and imports for the year 1934 are 149 crores and 115 crores, respectively, and that the balances of trade in our favour are only three crores and 34 crores respectively for the years 1933 and 1934 ;

(ii) that about 40 crores of rupees are being spent by the Government of India every year in England ; and

(iii) that, besides these, there is an invisible drain from this country by way of moneys sent by European officers and trade concerns ?

(b) Have Government made any attempts to stop this drain ? If so, what ?

(c) Are Government aware that countries similarly situated, are seeking to set right their balance of trade by restricting imports from other countries ?

(d) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of restricting imports into this country ? If not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) (i). Yes.

(ii) About 35 crores.

(iii) A certain amount of money is remitted by European officers and trade concerns but no reliable figures are available.

(b) It is true that at present the balance of trade in merchandise is not sufficient to meet items (ii) and (iii) above, and that a portion is met by sales of gold. I have explained fully to the House my views about the export of gold in my speech introducing the Budget for 1935-36 and in my reply to the general discussion on the Budget.

(c) and (d). I am aware that some countries have tried to set right their balance of trade by restricting imports, but there is ample evidence to show that by doing so they have increased their own difficulties as well as the difficulties of other countries. I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member in this connection to the Review of World Trade, 1934, published by the League of Nations, a copy of which is in the Library of the Legislature.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Since the last Budget speech, 12 Noon. has the Honourable Member reviewed the position and found whether further export of gold is for the best interests of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am constantly reviewing the position.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is the Honourable Member going to be of the same opinion until the last piece of gold is exported from India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I never said anything of the sort.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What steps do Government propose to take to stop the further export of gold from India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have already answered that question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether the Honourable the Finance Member is considering the question of the reduction or abolition of sterling loans, by raising loans here, so as to partially at least reduce the drain of wealth from this country ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think it is safe to say that whenever it is advantageous to do so, other things being equal, I should always prefer to raise money here rather than in London.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : To pay off the sterling loans ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That can only be done on maturity and it is considered in connection with each individual maturity.

MONEY SENT OUT OF INDIA AND MONEYS SPENT IN ENGLAND BY THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

9. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Will Government state :

(a) the amounts of money sent out of this country by European officers receiving salaries in this country during the years 1928-29 and 1934-35 ;

(b) the amounts of profits sent by British and other foreign companies trading in India, outside the country during the years 1928-29 and 1934-35 ; and

(c) the total amount of moneys spent by Government (including the Army expenditure, etc.) in England and other foreign countries during the years 1928-29 and 1934-35 ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (b). No reliable figures are available.

(c) The figures for expenditure in England for 1928-29 are given in the Finance and Revenue Accounts for that year, copies of which are in the Library of the House. Final figures for 1934-35 are not yet available. The revised estimate for that year is given in the budget papers circulated to the Honourable Members. The figures of expenditure in foreign countries are not separately shown.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Can the Honourable Member give us approximate figures ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Honourable Member had better refer to the documents I have mentioned.

Mr. B. Das : With reference to part (b) of the question, if the Honourable Member does not know what amount of money foreign companies are sending out, how does he assess his income-tax on them ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think he should address that question to the representative of the Income-tax Department.

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I think the answer to that question is, we do not assess in India on the amount of income which persons export, but on the total amount of their earnings.

Mr. B. Das : So no party escapes you.

INCREASE IN THE IMPORT DUTIES ON PADDY AND FOOD STUFFS IMPORTED FROM INDIA INTO CEYLON.

10. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Are Government aware :

(i) that the Ceylon Government have recently increased the import duties on paddy and food stuffs, such as eggs, vegetables and ghee, imported from India into Ceylon ; and

(ii) whether copra from Ceylon is being given a preferential treatment in India ?

(b) Have Government opened up any negotiations with a view to getting preference for the import of Indian goods into Ceylon ?

(c) What is the result of the negotiations ?

(d) Is it a fact that the Ceylon Government have refused to give preference to Indian articles, and if so, are Government prepared to consider the advisability of withdrawing the preference that is being given to copra from Ceylon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) (i). The Ceylon Government have recently, increased the import duties on certain food stuffs such as eggs, vegetables and ghee. There has been no increase in the duty on paddy.

(ii) Yes.

(b) The Government of India have been in communication with the Government of Ceylon on the subject of the grant of preferences to Indian goods on import into Ceylon.

(c) and (d). The negotiations have not yet been concluded.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : With reference to the answer given to part (ii) of the question, are Government aware that there is a considerable amount of distress prevailing in Malabar and other parts of India as a result of the dumping of Ceylonese copra into this country ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Without admitting all the implications contained in the question, I can state that representations have been received to that effect.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are the Government of India aware of the fact that the preferential treatment given to Ceylonese copra is also one of the contributory factors for the distress of copra growers in this country ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That may be true.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of that position, are the Government of India prepared to review the position in regard to the preferential treatment given to Ceylonese copra ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As I have said, the Government of India are in communication with the Government of Ceylon.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : How long have the Government of India been in communication with the Ceylonese Government over this question ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot say that off hand.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that, during the last Budget Session, we were told again and again that the Government of India were in communication with the Government of Ceylon, and yet how is it that nothing has been done so far ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is a conclusion to be drawn by the Honourable Member.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Are Government aware that dried fish from Malabar is liable to an import duty in Ceylon ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am afraid I could not answer that without notice.

COMMISSION OF ENQUIRY TO SETTLE THE BURMA-YUNNAN FRONTIER.

11. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether it is true that notes have been exchanged between the Chinese and the British Governments to appoint a Commission of Enquiry to settle the Burma-Yunnan frontier ?

(b) Who will be the members of the Commission of Enquiry ?

(c) Will the Burman and the Indian Governments and the Legislatures be consulted before a final conclusion is come to ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) and (b). Yes. I invite the Honourable Member's attention to the Press Communiqué published by the Government of India on the 12th July, 1935.

(c) Both the Government of India and the Government of Burma have been consulted at all stages by His Majesty's Government. The Government of India are associated with the latter in an Agreement already reached with the Chinese Government by an Exchange of Notes, the texts of which have been published by the Government of India in their Press Communiqué, dated the 18th April, 1935, for the appointment of a Joint Boundary Commission with a Neutral Chairman, and will be consulted in regard to any points which may be left outstanding by the Commission and forming the subject of further negotiations with the Chinese Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the answer to part (c) of the question — will the Burman and Indian Legislatures be consulted, before final conclusions are reached ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I regret I have nothing to add to what I have already said.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : There is no answer to that.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member said that he was not prepared to give any further information.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I think I have already sufficiently answered this question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The Honourable Member has not answered my question.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE PRINCES IN REGARD TO THE COMING FEDERATION.

12. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether Government are carrying on any negotiations with the Princes in regard to the coming Federation ?

(b) If so, what are the results of these negotiations ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) Not at present.

(b) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the Government of India no information about the visit of Mr. Monckton who is carrying on negotiations on behalf of Hyderabad and various other Indian States ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am not prepared to answer that question. If the question is, are we carrying on negotiations, the answer is, no, we are not carrying on any negotiations.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I am asking whether the Government of India are aware that negotiations are being carried on, through Mr. Monckton ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : We are not carrying on negotiations through anybody, whether through Mr. Monckton or Mr. Foxton.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the Government of India any knowledge of the meeting of the Indian Princes in Bombay, to present Sample Instruments of Accession to His Majesty's Government and ask for their opinion, and then decide whether or not to join the Federation ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I submit, Sir, that is not a supplementary question. The question is whether we are carrying on any negotiations, and the reply is "No".

Dr. N. B. Khare : Have you finished negotiations ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : You cannot finish a thing which is not begun.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Can the Honourable Member tell me if the Government of India have no knowledge of the fact that the Secretary of State has been carrying on these negotiations ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If my Honourable friend is really curious about it, I would ask him to put down a question.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I think I should make myself clear.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If the Honourable Member will put down a question, I shall try to answer it. I have not come prepared to answer it now.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Does the Honourable the Law Member say that Government never began any negotiations with the Indian Princes on this point ? Did the Honourable Member say that you cannot finish a thing that never began ? I ask whether negotiations really never began ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If my Honourable friend will look at the form of the question, he will see it is stated here "whether Government are carrying on any negotiations with the Princes", and the reply is, as I have said, there are no negotiations going on at present.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : I am referring to the Honourable Member's reply to the supplementary question that was asked.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has said that no negotiations are being carried on.

INDIAN ARMY CADETS AND REFRAMING OF THE LIST OF MARTIAL CLASSES.

13. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the views of the London Times correspondent, republished in the Sind Observer of Karachi, dated the 17th April, 1935, under the heading 'Praise for Indian Army Cadets' ?

(b) Do Government propose to revise the policy of considering only some Indian castes to be fighting people ? If so, do Government propose to reframe the list of martial classes in India ? If not, why not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes.

(b) There is no list of 'martial' classes.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : What is a fact, Sir, whether, in practice, people are taken from non-martial classes or from all classes ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have often answered that question in this House. We recruit for the army those people whom we consider are likely to make the best soldiers.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Did the Honourable Member say that there is no scope in the army for non-martial classes ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I did not say that.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : May I know if a revision of the martial classes is made from time to time, and is there any revision list ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Every now and then we stop recruiting from classes from whom we have recruited in the past. We do not revise the list of martial classes, because there is no such list.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Are the lists of particular martial classes revised or not, and at what intervals are they revised ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I say there is no such list. According to our experience of the results we get, we may from time to time alter the classes we recruit from, but there is no fixed interval at which that is done, nor are there any rules on the subject.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : May I know when the revision was last made ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There is no such revision.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Is there any discrimination about castes by birth, either for or against ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No.

Captain Sardar Sher Muhammad Khan : Is there any list maintained in the Army Headquarters of martial classes ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There is no list of martial classes. I have said that about four times.

MODIFICATION IN THE CARDWELL SYSTEM.

14. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Are Government aware that officers in India are now emphatic in saying that the Cardwell system has become a dangerous anachronism in its present form and that they ask for its modification ?

(b) Do Government propose to take any step in this direction ? If so, what ? If not, why not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). No.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if, when the selection takes place for the Dehra Dun Academy, discrimination is being made between martial classes and non-martial classes ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That has nothing whatever to do with the present question.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : The first part of the question says that officers in India are now emphatic in saying that the Cardwell system has become a dangerous anachronism, and my query is whether this affects the recruitment to the Dehra Dun Academy or not.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Cardwell system has nothing whatever to do with the Indian Military Academy.

AMENDMENT OF SECTION 61 OF THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX ACT.

15. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what steps they have taken towards amending section 61 of the Income-tax Act XI of 1922 by restricting the scope of the section regarding representation by persons on behalf of the assessee ?

(b) Do Government remember that year before last when the Income-tax Act was being amended, the amendment of this section was under contemplation but Sir George Schuster, the then Finance Member, kept it in abeyance for further consideration ?

(c) Are Government aware that the wide scope of the section is doing a great disservice to the assessee and the public ?

(d) What materials and opinions have Government collected since the last amendment of the Income-tax Act with respect to the amendment of this section ? Will Government be pleased to place them on the table ?

(e) When do Government propose to amend this section ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a), (b) and (d). A clause proposing the amendment of section 61 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, was included in the Bill which passed into law as the Indian Income-tax (Second Amendment) Act, 1930. The clause was deleted by the Select Committee with the recommendation that the various suggestions made in that Committee should be further considered by Government and that definite proposal should be formulated thereon and circulated for opinion before legislation was undertaken. The Government of India accepted this recommendation and circulated revised proposals to Local Governments in April, 1930. A mass of widely divergent opinions was received, and the Government of India after considering these opinions decided to leave the subject in abeyance. The correspondence on this circular reference amounts to 100 printed foolscap pages and it would be inconvenient to place it on the table of the House ; but I will, if desired, have a copy of the correspondence placed in the Library.

(c) This is a matter upon which opinion is divided.

(e) I am unable to make any statement in answer to this part of the question.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I am thankful to the Honourable Member for offering to keep a copy of the correspondence in the Library, but I should like to know from him, if the question is still in abeyance, when it is going to be decided.

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The question will be decided when it is called out of abeyance.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : When will it be called out of abeyance ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I am not able to say.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will it be in the near future or after ten years ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I am unable to say.

ASSESSMENT OF INCOMES OF SMALL INCOME-TAX PAYERS IN SIND.

16. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state in how many cases in Sind the Income-tax officers in their respective district served notices under sub-clause (2) of section 22 of the Income-tax Act of 1922, in respect of the small income-tax payers under Rs. 2,000 during the years 1933-34 and 1934-35 ?

(b) In how many cases did the same Income-tax officers dispose of the cases of the small income-tax payers in each district in Sind by making summary assessment of incomes, during the aforesaid years ?

(c) In how many cases in the respective beats of the said Income-tax officers did the assessee apply for cancellation or revision of their assessments consequent on summary procedure, and in how many cases were they cancelled or revised to any extent ?

(d) In how many cases did the assessee of such income-tax file a return of their income under sub-section (2) of section 22 of the Income-tax Act, and in how many cases were such returns accepted wholly or partially ?

(e) How much time was usually given to the assessee of the aforesaid small income-tax for payment of their income-tax after notices of demand were served on them ?

(f) Will Government be pleased to state if there happened any cases during the aforesaid two years in Sind in each district where the escaped assessment of previous years was reassessed and collected ? If so, in how many cases ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a), (b), and the first parts of (c) and (d) statement giving the required information is laid on the table. 58-1001

(c) and (d), second part. The information asked for is not on record and could be compiled only at an expenditure of time and labour that would not be justified by the value of the results.

(e) One month.

(f) As regards the first part the answer is in the affirmative. As regards the second part, the answer is the same as that to the second parts of (c) and (d).

Statement.

| CIRCLE.                      | No. of notices issued under section 22 (2). |          | No. of cases disposed of by making summary assessments. |          | No. of cases in which assesses applied for cancellation or revision. |          | No. of cases in which such assesses filed returns of income under section 22 (2). |          |
|------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|----------|---------------------------------------------------------|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1                            | 2                                           |          | 3                                                       |          | 4                                                                    |          | 5                                                                                 |          |
|                              | 1933-34.                                    | 1934-35. | 1933-34.                                                | 1934-35. | 1933-34.                                                             | 1934-35. | 1933-34.                                                                          | 1934-35. |
| Karachi A Division ..        | 500                                         | 642      | 51                                                      | 43       | 27                                                                   | 29       | 13                                                                                | 8        |
| Karachi B Division ..        | 312                                         | 368      | ..                                                      | ..       | ..                                                                   | ..       | ..                                                                                | ..       |
| Temporary Income-tax Officer | 766                                         | 1,555    | 1,825                                                   | 1,554    | 1,177                                                                | 1,032    | 1,108                                                                             | 913      |
| Hyderabad .. ..              | 752                                         | 1,069    | 615                                                     | 212      | 241                                                                  | 10       | 241                                                                               | 10       |
| Sukkur .. ..                 | 484                                         | 806      | 351                                                     | 143      | 159                                                                  | 93       | 148                                                                               | 83       |
| Shikarpur .. ..              | 838                                         | 682      | 664                                                     | 409      | 408                                                                  | 293      | 345                                                                               | 263      |
| Larkana .. ..                | 1,106                                       | 1,364    | 366                                                     | 13       | 265                                                                  | 5        | 249                                                                               | 5        |
| Thar Parkar .. ..            | 1,000                                       | 787      | 78                                                      | 181      | 33                                                                   | 34       | 33                                                                                | 34       |
| Total .. ..                  | 5,758                                       | 7,273    | 3,950                                                   | 2,555    | 2,310                                                                | 1,501    | 2,137                                                                             | 1,316    |

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know then that there were no cases where the escaped assessment of previous years was re-assessed and collected, as stated in part (f) of the question ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I said that the answer to the first part of that question was in the affirmative.

INCOME DERIVED FROM SMALL INCOME-TAX AND EXPENDITURE INCURRED IN ITS COLLECTION IN SIND.

17. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will Government be pleased to state how much income was derived in Sind from the small income-tax under Rs. 2,000, during the years 1933-34 and 1934-35 and how much was the expenditure incurred by Government in recovering the same ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : A statement is laid on the table.

Statement.

|               | Revenue.Rs. | Expenditure.Rs. |
|---------------|-----------------|---------------------|
| 1933-34 .. .. | 1,98,107        | 33,571              |
| 1934-35 .. .. | 1,70,474        | 33,380              |

PRODUCTION OF BOOKS AND REGISTERS BY INCOME-TAX ASSESSEES IN SIND AND FIXATION OF MINIMUM AND MAXIMUM TIME LIMIT FOR THE PAYMENT OF INCOME-TAX.

18. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that in Sind the Income-tax officers invariably issue orders under section 23, clause 2, requiring the assessee to produce their books to support their returns ? If so, why is that practice followed in every case ? If not, will Government be pleased to state in how many cases in each district of Sind the respective Income-tax officers did not call for and examine books of accounts during the year 1934-35 ?

(b) Is it a fact that often times the Income-tax Department requires the production of books and registers, which are not maintained by the assessee, and the Income-tax officers make that failure an excuse to make final assessment under section 23, clause 4, of the Income-tax Act ? If so, do Government propose to issue directions in order to checkmate such a procedure ?

(c) Are there any orders of the Central Board of Revenue, fixing a reasonable time for payment of income-tax after a demand notice is served ? If not, do Government propose to fix the minimum and the maximum time limit for making such payments ? Is it a fact that there is no uniform system in all Income-tax offices ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) The answer to the first part is in the negative. As regards the last part, a statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

(b) The answer to the first part is in the negative. The second part does not arise.

(c) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative. The second part, therefore, does not arise. With regard to the third part, the orders of the Central Board of Revenue to which I have referred are applicable to all income-tax offices.

Statement.

| District.                               | Total number of returns filed. | No. of cases in which accounts were not called for. |
|-----------------------------------------|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Karachi .. ..                        | 7,663                          | 2,732                                               |
| 2. Hyderabad .. ..                      | 2,747                          | 298                                                 |
| 3. Sukkur .. ..                         | 1,338                          | 290                                                 |
| 4. Shikarpur .. ..                      | 2,524                          | 384                                                 |
| 5. Larkana .. ..                        | 1,431                          | 146                                                 |
| 6. Dadu .. ..                           | 857                            | 115                                                 |
| 7. Nawabsha .. ..                       | 740                            | 139                                                 |
| 8. Karachi and Thar Parkar Districts .. | 1,527                          | 40                                                  |
| Total .. ..                             | 18,827                         | 4,144                                               |

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : With regard to clause (a) of the question, if I heard the Honourable Member aright, he said that the answer was in the negative, that is to say, that books were not invariably sent for. May I tell him that when returns are given, the books are being sent for invariably ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I did not say that they were never sent for. I said they were not invariably sent for.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : What I want to know is this. Is it a fact or not that even when returns are given by respectable people and are verified, their books are sent for, and it is only in very rare cases that they are not sent for ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : When the Honourable Member sees the statement which I will lay on the table, I think, he will see that the expression "very rare cases" is incorrect. It is, however, true that in many cases when a return has been submitted, the accounts are sent for.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : If the Honourable Member has got figures for Sind, he will be in a position to know that what I am saying is correct.

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : May I again suggest that the Honourable Member should see the statement that I am laying on the table which gives the figures ?

TRANSFER OF CASES FROM ONE INCOME-TAX OFFICER TO ANOTHER IN THE BOMBAY PRESIDENCY.

19. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if there have arisen any cases in the Bombay Presidency where assessee having been dissatisfied on account of prejudice or bias of the Income-tax officers, applied for transfer of their cases from one Income-tax officer to another ? If so, how many such cases occurred in the Bombay Presidency during the last three years, and how were they disposed of ?

(b) Is there any practice or orders, allowing transfer of cases on the aforesaid grounds ? If so, what are they ? If not, do Government propose to make such orders ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) Yes, but it is not possible to state the exact number of such cases as no record is kept. I understand, however, that there were about half a dozen cases during the last three years and the request for transfer was not granted in any of them as it was found on enquiry not to be justifiable.

(b) Yes, under section 5 (4) of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, a Commissioner of Income-tax is authorised to appoint Income-tax Officers to perform their functions in respect of such persons as he may direct.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Has the Honourable Member sent for those cases and satisfied himself ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : No, Sir.

PERFORMANCE OF MARRIAGES BY THE PEOPLE OF SIND IN THE KHAIRPUR STATE TO EVADE PROSECUTIONS UNDER THE CHILD MARRIAGE RESTRAINT ACT.

20. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the Sarda Act (Restraint of Marriage Act) is being broken by Indian British subjects by performing illegal marriages in the Indian States ?

(b) Are Government aware that Sind people go to perform such marriages in 'Khairpur State' and come back to Sind to live with impunity ?

(c) If the answer to part (b) is in the affirmative, what steps do Government propose to take in this direction to stop such breaches of the Sarda Act being committed by people hopping over the British boundaries into the Indian States in India and into the neighbouring foreign States ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Government are aware that residents of British India have performed marriages, which if performed in British India would have been punishable under the Act in Indian States and elsewhere outside British India.

(b) Yes.

(c) The Honourable Member has already given notice of his intention to move for leave to introduce a Bill on the subject, and Government will have an opportunity of stating their attitude in the matter when the Bill comes up for consideration.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : If the Honourable Member means that this attitude is to go on until that Bill is passed by the House, does he know at it is causing injury to the public ? Why should not Indian States co-operate with us just as we are co-operating with them, and see that such marriages are not allowed to be performed ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : In a large number of States, there is an Act on the lines of, or similar to, the Sarda Act, and, as regards the other States, I do not see that Government have any ground for interfering in a matter of purely internal administration.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will Government advise the Khairpur State not to make money out of this business by taking hundred rupees a marriage and allowing marriages to be performed there ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am very doubtful whether that is a question that ought to be asked under Rule 33, proviso (2).

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask whether Government propose themselves to take any action to remove this evil ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Legislative action ?

Mr. N. M. Joshi : Yes.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No, Sir.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask whether Government will publish a report regarding the extent of this evil ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I will consider that.

Mr. B. Das : Will Government prohibit such Indian States as do not observe the provisions of the Sarda Act, from joining the Federation ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That does not arise.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Are Government aware that many Government servants are liable under the Act, and they escape it by going and performing marriages in the Indian States near by ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not aware of that, Sir.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : May I know whether the Government of India mean to take this Act seriously ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : They take all Acts seriously.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government make representations to the Indian States where these illegal marriages are being performed and see that they are prevented ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have already answered that.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Will Government take any notice of the action of their servants who violate the law by migrating into the States near by, if such action was brought to the notice of the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I think the Honourable Member is aware that under the Act criminal prosecutions can be launched only on complaint by an interested person.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Will they take any departmental action ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

KHEWRA SALT MINE SETTLEMENT.

21. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state when the Khewra Salt Mine settlement was started ?

(b) What was the establishment all told at the beginning, and what is it now, and what is its cost ?

(c) How much was the initial capital expense and how much has been spent since then on the buildings, mining and machinery ?

(d) What is its recurring expense every year ?

(e) What has been its produce of salt every year ? How much salt was sold and at what rate ?

(f) Is it a profitable concern ? If not, why is it continued to be run ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) The administration of the Khewra salt mine was taken over by the British Government in 1849.

(b) Government have no information as to what was the establishment in the beginning. A statement (A) showing the establishment and its cost in 1934-35 is placed on the table.

(c) No information is available in regard to the initial capital expenditure, but the accounts of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department were commercialised on the 1st April, 1924, and capital expenditure on buildings, works, plant and machinery, roads, bridges and land at Khewra incurred up to that date amounted to Rs. 10,85,419-12-6. Expenditure incurred subsequently up to 31st March, 1935, is Rs. 17,37,248-3-9.

(d) Separate figures for Khewra are available only from 1927-28. A statement (B) giving the recurring expenditure of the working of the mine and depôt at Khewra is laid on the table. This excludes capital charges, interest and depreciation paid on the assets, pensionary charges, etc.

(e) The information is given in statement (C) which is placed on the table.

(f) The answer to the first part is in the affirmative ; the second part does not arise.

A

Statement showing the establishment of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department at Khewra during 1934-35 and its cost.

| Designation.                                  | Number. | Annual cost. |    |    |
|-----------------------------------------------|---------|--------------|----|----|
|                                               |         | Rs.          | A. | P. |
| General Manager .. .. .                       | 1       | 15,600       | 0  | 0  |
| Assistant Commissioner .. .. .                | 2       | 22,275       | 8  | 0  |
| Superintendents .. .. .                       | 2       | 9,420        | 9  | 0  |
| Superintending Engineer .. .. .               | 1       | 11,898       | 6  | 0  |
| Assistant Surgeon .. .. .                     | 1       | 3,068        | 12 | 0  |
| Deputy Superintendent .. .. .                 | 1       | 18,511       | 12 | 0  |
| Inspectors .. .. .                            | 9       |              |    |    |
| Mine Overseers .. .. .                        | 2       |              |    |    |
| Survey Coolies .. .. .                        | 2       |              |    |    |
| Tracers .. .. .                               | 1       |              |    |    |
| Kotegasht .. .. .                             | 1       | 40,211       | 5  | 0  |
| Electric Overseer .. .. .                     | 1       |              |    |    |
| Clerks .. .. .                                | 38      |              |    |    |
| Construction Overseer .. .. .                 | 1       | 1,980        | 0  | 0  |
| Operators .. .. .                             | 3       | 889          | 0  | 0  |
| Power House Superintendent .. .. .            | 1       | 2,232        | 9  | 0  |
| Inferior establishment .. .. .                | 90      | 19,898       | 7  | 0  |
| Storekeeper and Assistant Storekeeper .. .. . | 2       | 1,942        | 12 | 0  |
| Foremen .. .. .                               | 1       | 2,035        | 0  | 0  |
| Compounder .. .. .                            | 3       | 1,156        | 7  | 0  |
| Dresser .. .. .                               |         |              |    |    |
| Midwife .. .. .                               |         |              |    |    |
| Total .. .. .                                 | ..      | 1,51,120     | 7  | 0  |

Preventive Staff.

| Designation.                   | Number. | Annual cost. |
|--------------------------------|---------|--------------|
| Superintendent .. .. .         | 1       | 860 0 0      |
| Deputy Superintendent .. .. .  | 1       | 9,356 15 0   |
| Inspectors .. .. .             | 3       |              |
| Kotegasht .. .. .              | 7       |              |
| Inferior establishment .. .. . | 206     | 45,627 14 0  |
| Total .. .. .                  | ..      | 56,844 13 0  |
| GRAND TOTAL .. .. .            | ..      | 2,06,965 4 0 |

B.

Statement showing recurring expenditure at Khewra from 1927-28.

| Year.           | Expenditure. |
|-----------------|--------------|
|                 | Rs.          |
| 1927-28 .. .. . | 11,04,612    |
| 1928-29 .. .. . | 10,11,373    |
| 1929-30 .. .. . | 9,63,796     |
| 1930-31 .. .. . | 9,55,979     |
| 1931-32 .. .. . | 9,11,370     |
| 1932-33 .. .. . | 8,77,289     |
| 1933-34 .. .. . | 8,98,525     |
| 1934-35 .. .. . | 7,34,436     |

C.

Statement showing the salt produced and sold at the Khewra Mine every year during the period from 1850-51 to 1934-35.

| Year.           | Quantity of salt produced. | Quantity of salt sold. | Selling price per maund. | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-----------------|----------------------------|------------------------|--------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1               | 2                          | 3                      | 4                        | 5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                 | Maunds.                    | Maunds.                | Rs. A. P.                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1850-51 .. .. . | ..                         | 4,64,624               | ..                       | There is no separate information regarding the production of salt during these years, but in paragraph 86 on page 177 of the Annual Administration Report of this Department for 1866-70 it is mentioned that production in 20 years previous to 1870 was a little over 154½ lakhs of maunds. |
| 1851-52 .. .. . | ..                         | 3,98,415               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1852-53 .. .. . | ..                         | 5,81,991               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1853-54 .. .. . | ..                         | 6,46,590               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1854-55 .. .. . | ..                         | 7,51,236               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1855-56 .. .. . | ..                         | 7,21,189               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1856-57 .. .. . | ..                         | 6,55,499               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1857-58 .. .. . | ..                         | 6,62,592               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1858-59 .. .. . | ..                         | 7,21,181               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1859-60 .. .. . | ..                         | 7,57,016               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1860-61 .. .. . | ..                         | 9,16,106               | ..                       | The information regarding the selling prices of these years is not available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 1861-62 .. .. . | ..                         | 7,50,491               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1862-63 .. .. . | ..                         | 7,35,136               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1863-64 .. .. . | ..                         | 8,29,123               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1864-65 .. .. . | ..                         | 8,85,330               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1865-66 .. .. . | ..                         | 8,92,333               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1866-67 .. .. . | ..                         | 9,72,417               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1867-67 .. .. . | ..                         | 9,46,863               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1868-69 .. .. . | ..                         | 9,63,480               | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1869-70 .. .. . | ..                         | 11,35,969              | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1870-71 .. .. . | ..                         | ..                     | ..                       | * No definite information for these years is available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 1871-72 .. .. . | ..                         | ..                     | ..                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1872-73 .. .. . | 10,85,140                  | 10,08,140              | ..                       | Information regarding selling price during this year not available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 1873-74 .. .. . | 12,43,500                  | 11,41,885              | 0 1 0                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1874-75 .. .. . | 10,40,755                  | 11,36,391              | 0 1 0                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

| Year.         | Quantity of salt produced. | Quantity of salt sold. | Selling price per maund. | Remarks. |
|---------------|----------------------------|------------------------|--------------------------|----------|
| 1             | 2                          | 3                      | 4                        | 5        |
|               | Maunds.                    | Maunds.                | Rs. A. P.                |          |
| 1875-76 .. .. | 10,97,668                  | 10,93,452              | 0 1 0                    |          |
| 1876-77 .. .. | 12,03,052                  | 11,43,923              | 0 1 0                    |          |
| 1877-78 .. .. | 11,17,817                  | 11,86,831              | 0 1 0                    |          |
| 1878-79 .. .. | 14,04,087                  | 13,04,392              | 0 1 0                    |          |
| 1879-80 .. .. | 13,67,420                  | 13,28,212              | 0 1 0                    |          |
| 1880-81 .. .. | 12,05,065                  | 12,73,767              | 0 1 0                    |          |
| 1881-82 .. .. | 17,78,267                  | 12,00,917              | 0 1 0                    |          |
| 1882-83 .. .. | 19,72,355                  | 13,98,283              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1883-84 .. .. | 14,44,512                  | 13,32,064              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1884-85 .. .. | 19,50,459                  | 13,88,513              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1885-86 .. .. | 11,07,135                  | 14,56,477              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1886-87 .. .. | 10,63,731                  | 15,73,364              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1887-88 .. .. | 11,52,298                  | 15,69,949              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1888-89 .. .. | 19,00,675                  | 17,46,566              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1889-90 .. .. | 14,37,091                  | 20,00,097              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1890-91 .. .. | 20,49,782                  | 17,47,250              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1891-92 .. .. | 19,95,627                  | 18,45,342              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1892-93 .. .. | 18,02,348                  | 19,46,227              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1893-94 .. .. | 18,19,233                  | 18,93,275              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1894-95 .. .. | 17,19,269                  | 16,55,027              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1895-96 .. .. | 18,82,229                  | 19,40,640              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1896-97 .. .. | 18,36,868                  | 18,40,229              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1897-98 .. .. | 19,57,792                  | 19,75,769              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1898-99 .. .. | 18,36,104                  | 20,21,712              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1899-00 .. .. | 23,36,138                  | 21,21,743              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1900-91 .. .. | 21,23,285                  | 21,75,463              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1901-02 .. .. | 21,57,115                  | 21,57,468              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1902-03 .. .. | 22,57,421                  | 22,86,446              | 0 0 9                    |          |
| 1903-04 .. .. | 20,83,149                  | 23,42,865              | 0 0 9                    |          |

| Year.         | Quantity of salt produced. | Quantity of salt sold. | Selling price per maund. | Remarks.                                                      |
|---------------|----------------------------|------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1             | 2                          | 3                      | 4                        | 5                                                             |
|               | Maunds.                    | Maunds.                | Rs. A. P.                |                                                               |
| 1904-05 .. .. | 25,40,002                  | 21,24,420              | 0 0 9                    |                                                               |
| 1905-06 .. .. | 23,08,285                  | 24,57,665              | 0 1 0                    |                                                               |
| 1906-07 .. .. | 23,97,593                  | 21,40,849              | 0 1 0                    |                                                               |
| 1907-08 .. .. | 23,73,197                  | 26,06,260              | 0 1 0                    |                                                               |
| 1908-09 .. .. | 25,74,390                  | 27,38,998              | 0 1 0                    |                                                               |
| 1909-10 .. .. | 29,52,002                  | 28,04,701              | 0 1 0                    |                                                               |
| 1910-11 .. .. | 26,82,204                  | 28,38,786              | 0 1 0                    | Up to 30th June 1910 and then Re. 0-1-1.                      |
| 1911-12 .. .. | 31,49,797                  | 30,02,541              | 0 1 1                    |                                                               |
| 1912-13 .. .. | 31,99,403                  | 30,79,106              | 0 1 2                    |                                                               |
| 1913-14 .. .. | 34,27,928                  | 31,06,613              | 0 1 2                    |                                                               |
| 1914-15 .. .. | 33,87,488                  | 37,65,134              | 0 1 2                    | Up to 31st October 1914 and Re. 0-1-6 from 1st November 1914. |
| 1915-16 .. .. | 35,82,169                  | 35,73,288              | 0 1 6                    |                                                               |
| 1916-17 .. .. | 39,54,616                  | 55,01,883              | 0 1 6                    |                                                               |
| 1917-18 .. .. | 32,77,660                  | 32,52,746              | 0 1 6                    |                                                               |
| 1918-19 .. .. | 41,89,859                  | 43,62,012              | 0 1 6                    |                                                               |
| 1919-20 .. .. | 38,27,658                  | 39,00,120              | 0 1 6                    | Up to 14th June 1919 and then Re. 0-2-0.                      |
| 1920-21 .. .. | 36,02,330                  | 33,00,654              | 0 2 0                    | From 1st March 1921 the price was raised to Re. 0-3-0.        |
| 1921-22 .. .. | 30,29,792                  | 28,89,212              | 0 3 0                    |                                                               |
| 1922-23 .. .. | 39,41,934                  | 38,40,329              | 0 3 0                    |                                                               |
| 1923-24 .. .. | 13,28,608                  | 13,00,177              | 0 3 0                    |                                                               |
| 1924-25 .. .. | 36,98,389                  | 38,54,328              | 0 3 0                    |                                                               |
| 1925-26 .. .. | 20,14,260                  | 21,42,351              | 0 3 0                    |                                                               |
| 1926-27 .. .. | 27,66,606                  | 28,41,606              | 0 3 0                    | Up to 19th February 1917 and then Re. 0-3-6.                  |
| 1927-28 .. .. | 26,95,776                  | 27,68,436              | 0 3 6                    |                                                               |
| 1928-29 .. .. | 30,56,478                  | 30,81,818              | 0 3 6                    |                                                               |

| Year.         | Quantity of salt produced. | Quantity of salt sold. | Selling price per maund. | Remarks.                                 |
|---------------|----------------------------|------------------------|--------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| 1             | 2                          | 3                      | 4                        | 5                                        |
|               | Maunds.                    | Maunds.                | Rs. A. P.                |                                          |
| 1929-30 .. .. | 29,90,078                  | 29,92,600              | 0 3 6                    | Up to 14th July 1929 and then Re. 0-4-6. |
| 1930-31 .. .. | 28,23,799                  | 27,56,619              | 0 4 6                    |                                          |
| 1931-32 .. .. | 29,12,902                  | 29,08,104              | 0 4 6                    |                                          |
| 1932-33 .. .. | 29,92,952                  | 29,91,760              | 0 4 6                    |                                          |
| 1933-34 .. .. | 28,75,661                  | 29,06,531              | 0 4 6                    |                                          |
| 1934-35 .. .. | 30,53,554                  | 30,12,838              | 0 4 6                    |                                          |

N.B.—The selling price as shown in column 4 above excludes duty levied by Government.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member if this concern is very profitable or it makes only a small profit over and above the expenditure ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : It is not the policy of Government to make large profits from their salt concerns. The general policy of Government is to sell salt at cost price.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : In view of the fact that the people round about this Khewra factory are suffering on account of the salt water going to their lands, will not the Government stop this concern altogether, especially as they are not making large profits ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I do not think that question arises, though I do not admit the truth of the statement upon which it is based.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : The Honourable Member knows about it.

LAPSING OF POSTAL CASH CERTIFICATES.

22. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state how many Postal Cash Certificates, and of what value, have lapsed to Government in all the Post Offices in Sind during the last ten years owing to the owners not having claimed the money after due date, probably through ignorance ?

(b) What steps were taken to trace out the owners in order to return the amounts to them after the due date ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the cause in each case for appropriating the amounts of the Cash Certificates so lapsed ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (c). As stated in the answers given by me on the 6th of August, 1934, to question No. 402 by Bhai Parma Nand, and to a supplementary question by the Honourable Member himself, Post Office Cash Certificates do not lapse to Government.

(b) Special notices were issued to investors throughout India, as a result a number of outstanding cash certificates which have completed ten years have been discharged.

CONNECTION OF CHITTOOR WITH A TRUNK TELEPHONE LINE.

23. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that in the Madras Presidency, Chittoor which is the headquarters District, is not connected with a trunk telephone line ?

(b) Do Government propose to connect the same ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Yes.

(b) There has been so far no demand from the public of Chittoor for a local telephone system and trunk facilities. The question is being investigated and if a sufficient number of applications for telephones are received the facility will be provided.

AMOUNT OF CONCESSION RATES OF POSTAGE ON PRINTED MARRIAGE INVITATION CARDS.

24. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that during the fixed seasons in the year (i.e., the middle of January to the middle of July) a large number of marriage invitation cards and letters are sent by post ?

(b) Are Government aware that printed invitation letters sent in open covers as packet post are charged like book packets, i.e., nine pies per packet ?

(c) Are Government prepared to give similar concession rates of postage for printed marriage invitation cards at half anna per card ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) No.

CONTEMPLATED CREATION OF A POST OF ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS AND RETRENCHMENT IN THE POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.

25. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Is it a fact that Government contemplate creating a post of Assistant Director of Posts and Telegraphs ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state the necessity for creating such an office and its probable expenditure per annum ?

(c) Has any retrenchment been effected in the personnel of the subordinate staff in the Posts and Telegraphs Department as a measure of economy, and was it effected in the year 1934-35 ?

(d) Is any retrenchment in the staff contemplated to be carried out during the year 1935-36 ?

(e) What are the probable savings expected per year owing to the proposed retrenchment ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

163LAD

(c) Yes.

(d) The special retrenchment concessions have been withdrawn since the beginning of the present financial year and it is not under contemplation to effect any extensive retrenchment in the staff of the department during the year 1935-36. Increases or decreases in the number of staff employed by the department in accordance with the variations in the volume of traffic handled are normal features of the administration. When a reduction in establishment has to be effected this is carried out as far as possible by utilising vacancies which occur in the ordinary course by deaths, retirements, resignations or dismissals.

(e) It is not possible to make any estimate of the probable savings due to reduction in staff.

REDUCTION IN THE PRICE OF SILVER AND INCREASE IN THE BALANCE OF TRADE IN FAVOUR OF INDIA.

26. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that the United States of America is steadily purchasing silver and the price of silver has gone up ?

(b) Do Government propose to take any further steps to reduce the price of silver in India ?

(c) What is the balance of trade regarding private merchandise during the year 1934-35 ?

(d) Do Government propose to take any steps, and if so what, to increase the balance of trade in favour of India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) I am aware that the United States of America have made considerable purchases of silver and I am aware that there have been considerable fluctuations of price.

(b) The only recent action of Government which has had any conceivable connection with the price of silver was the reduction of the import duty in April. This was taken purely on revenue grounds.

(c) The figures are given in the monthly Accounts relating to the Sea-Borne Trade and Navigation of British India for March, 1935, copies of which are in the Library of the House.

(d) Government have taken and will take whatever steps are both practicable and economically sound to this end. But no substantial advance is possible unless concerted action is taken by the principal countries of the world for currency stabilization and removal of trade restrictions.

Mr. B. Das : Is the Honourable the Finance Member aware that the American policy of purchase of silver has increased the gambling propensities of the Bombay bullion exchange market and has brought disaster to many brokers, and will Government give some subsidy to such brokers ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. The answer to the second part is a very decided "No".

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is it a fact that large quantities of silver were sold by Government and thus reduced the price of silver ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That does not arise.

CONTROL OVER THE AGRA CANAL.

27. *Mr. Sham Lal : (a) Is it a fact that the Agra Canal has no claim to a share of the Jumna supplies and its existence has not been recognised by the Punjab Government ? If so, why ?

(b) Is it a fact that Jumna supplies at Tajawala are under the control of the Punjab Government, and the Punjab Government take no interest in the irrigation of the Gurgaon District ?

(c) Is it a fact that the supplies in the Agra Canal are very irregular, as they are solely dependent on whether there is surplus water in the United Provinces Canals ?

(d) Is it a fact that the Punjab Government collects the abiana from the Gurgaon cultivators on the Agra Canal, and credit it to the United Provinces, while the question of remission in case of crop failure is solely controlled by the United Provinces Government ? What is the reason for this dual system ?

(e) Is it a fact that water rates were increased in the Agra Canal in the Gurgaon District (Punjab) and not in the United Provinces Districts in 1930 ? If so, why ?

(f) Is it a fact that water rates charged on the main crops, cane, cotton and wheat on the Agra Canal in the Gurgaon District are higher than those charged in the United Provinces or on the Western Jumna Canal in the Punjab ? If so, why ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The information has been called for and a reply will be placed on the table of the House in due course.

REFRESHER COURSE AT KOT LAKHPAT.

28. *Mr. Sham Lal : (a) Is it a fact that Refresher Course at Kot Lakhpat does not result in forfeiture of one's appointment, as per Agent, North Western Railway's report, dated the 18th July, 1934 ? If so, will Government be pleased to state if the Commercial staff discharged in 1930 on account of failing in Refresher Course will be recalled ? If so, when, and if not, why not ?

(b) If they are treated as incompetent, do the local authorities make any effort to provide them with equivalent posts, as required by the North Western Railway subsidiary rule laid down in the North Western Railway Weekly Gazette No. 25 of the 23rd June, 1930, page 565 ?

Mr. P. R. Bau : The Agent, North Western Railway, reports that failure to pass a refresher course in the case of permanent employees does not involve discharge. As regards the commercial staff discharged in 1930, the railway administration do not propose either to recall them or to provide them with equivalent posts as these men were temporary and their retention was dependent on their successfully passing the course in question. The subsidiary rule is, for the same reason, not applicable in their case.

CIRCULATION OF COUNTERFEIT COINS IN INDIA.

29. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether their attention has been drawn to a letter of the Karachi Indian Merchants' Association, sent to the Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department, and published in the Sind Observer of the 6th April, 1935 under the heading "Menace of Counterfeit Coins", "Too many Bad Rupees" ?

(b) Are Government aware that, as stated in that letter, there is a widespread circulation of counterfeit rupees in India ?

(c) Are Government by this time aware that people, particularly in the mofussil, are not inclined to accept rupees on account of the wide circulation of counterfeit rupees ?

(d) Is it a fact that the Banks, including the Imperial Bank of India, have on several occasions refused to accept rupees, which, however, have been certified as genuine by the Master of His Majesty's Mint ?

(e) Are Government aware that the trade and general public experience great hardship and inconvenience on account of people refusing to accept rupees, as well as small coins, on account of their not being able to distinguish genuine coins from bad ones easily ?

(f) What steps have Government taken to eradicate this evil and to create confidence in the public currency ?

(g) What steps have Government taken to revise the pattern of small nickel coins and silver rupees so as to make counterfeiting difficult ?

(h) Have Government devised any method to unearth the source of counterfeit coins, and checkmate the same ? If so, with what result ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Yes.

(b) Government are aware that in recent years there has been an increase in the circulation of counterfeit coins, but not to the extent that the Honourable Member suggests.

(c) and (e). Government are not aware of any general disinclination on the part of the public to accept rupees.

(d) There have been occasions on which the Banks have cut coins as counterfeit which later have been certified as genuine, but such occasions have been rare.

(f) and (h). Vigorous action is being taken by the Central Intelligence Bureau in conjunction with the local Criminal Intelligence Departments and the Controller of the Currency. Separate branches of the Criminal Intelligence Department have been established in Sind and the Punjab and their concerted action has met with success, especially in the Sukkur and Larkhana districts. Important captures have also been made recently in Bombay and, I understand, in Jodhpur State.

(g) None.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : With regard to the answer to clause (c), will the Honourable Member, in view of the fact that in the mofussil, money which is good tender is being refused on flimsy grounds, consider the advisability of issuing a communiqué urging people to accept coin which is otherwise good coin ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : My recollection is that a short time ago we did issue a communiqué about the Victoria coinage, which, I understand, is the coin chiefly concerned.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Is the Honourable Member in a position to tell me if people do not accept good coin as legal tender, what is the penalty ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : You must give me notice of that question. I am not a lawyer.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I inform the Honourable Member that I have communicated this question for the purpose of getting an answer, and I shall be thankful for getting an answer.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I will see that the Honourable Member gets an answer.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Will Government consider the advisability of issuing a circular and publish it in all the newspapers of this country as to the methods by which good coins could be identified from bad ones ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : If we knew all the processes by which bad coins were produced, they would not be produced.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Could you not mention the practical way whereby the ordinary man, the villager, would be able to test for himself and find out which is a good coin and which is a bad one ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not think they would find much difficulty about that.

Mr. B. Das : Is the Honourable the Finance Member aware that the 1862 rupee coin is not allowed to be accepted as legal coin in Orissa and that the traders return it back ? And what is the reason why the 1862 coin is not allowed to be accepted as a silver coin ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Did I understand the Honourable Member to say that the 1862 coin is not accepted as legal tender ? I think that is a mistake.

Mr. B. Das : But nobody accepts it in the market ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It is precisely that kind of coin on which we issued a press communiqué.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Sir, the same evil prevails all over India, and will the Honourable Member be pleased to say what steps they are taking in other parts of India apart from Sind ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the Honourable Member is a little exaggerating.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : I may say this particular evil prevails even in Simla, and there are several bad rupees.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : There may be special considerations.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will the Honourable Member accept those bad rupees and substitute new rupees ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Let the Honourable Member try them on the cinemas. (Laughter.)

ABOLITION OF THE INDIA STORE DEPARTMENT IN LONDON.

30. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) What is the annual expenditure on the Indian Stores Department ?

(b) What is the annual expenditure on the Stores Department in London ?

(c) Are these two departments run as parallel machineries for the same purpose ? If so, why do Government maintain the two departments ?

(d) Do Government propose to close the Stores Department in London and make all purchases, even of articles of foreign origin, in India ? If not, why not ? Has there been a demand in India for the abolition of this department ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) and (b). The Honourable Member will find the information he requires in the annual Administration Reports of the Indian Stores Department and the annual Reports on the work of the India Store Department, London, copies of which are available in the Library of the House.

(c) I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to pages 2395-97 of Volume VIII, No. 6, of the Legislative Assembly Debates, dated the 30th August, 1934, which contain a speech on the subject by the Honourable Sir Frank Noyce. The two departments are not parallel organisations ; they are to a great extent complementary.

(d) Government are actively considering the possibility of amalgamating the two departments. There has been a demand from some quarters for the abolition of the London Store Department, but Government consider that so long as any of their requirements have to be met from abroad, it will be essential to maintain an organization in London for inspection during manufacture and before shipment. The question has been fully discussed in the speech to which I have just referred.

Babu Baijnath Bajoria : Have Government taken any step to reduce the abnormal expenditure of the London Store Department ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Government do not admit that the expenditure of the London Store Department is abnormal.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government considered the question, not of abolishing this organization altogether, but of running it as a part of the Indian Stores Department ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I have already stated that Government are actively considering the possibility of amalgamating the two Departments.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have they arrived at any conclusion ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : None yet.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : May I ask if its function is confined to inspection only,—I mean the function of this London Branch ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : No ; it undertakes purchase, inspection and shipment.

Babu Baijnath Bajoria : Will Government put the London Store Department under the Chief Controller of Stores, Indian Stores Department, as one of its branch offices ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I don't know, Sir.

Babu Baijnath Bajoria : When will Government take action ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Government are considering the whole question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the total purchases, for the last year for which figures are available, of purchases made by this Department, and what is the expenditure for that year on this Department ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I would refer the Honourable Member to the reports which are in the Library of the House. I regret I cannot give accurate figures off-hand.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : Does he not now accept tenders in London ? Does not the London Branch make purchases by accepting tenders in London now ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Yes.

Mr. B. Das : Is the Honourable Member for Industries aware that while the London Stores Department is spending Rs. 25 lakhs on only purchasing articles worth one crore of rupees—while it was purchasing only four crores of rupees worth five years before—the Indian Stores Department in India was spending 21 lakhs and purchasing Rs. 3½ crores worth of articles a year ? (Hear, hear.)

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : This is a question which has been thrashed out in great detail before in the Public Accounts Committee and other places, and the Honourable Member is already perfectly aware of the answer. The answer is that the Stores Department in London does a great deal of important work for the Government of India other than mere purchase, and to assess the value of the two Departments by the amount of purchases made by them is entirely erroneous.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What other precious work are they doing for the Government of India ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The inspection of all materials bought in England.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I have not got the answer to my supplementary question : do they not make purchases there by accepting tenders ? We have a rule that all foreign tenders should be accepted in India by the Indian Stores Department. Do the foreign people give tenders in London ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The Honourable Member will find the details of stores purchase procedure in the Stores Purchase Rules of which there is a copy in the Library. The Government of India adhere to the system of rupee tenders in India, but in certain special cases, which are explained in the Stores Purchase Rules, departures have to be made and tenders called for in England.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Who makes the inspections with regard to the purchases of articles in England? Does the London Department make inspections and carry out negotiations with regard to articles purchased in countries other than England?

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

DEALING OF APPEALS AGAINST DISCHARGE ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1. Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : (a) Is it a fact that in the rules regulating the discharge and dismissal of State Railways non-gazetted Government servants, the Agent, East Indian Railway, vide his Circular No. 508/A.E.-1795 of the 22nd January, 1930, has laid down that appeals against discharge will be finally dealt with as follows :

“(iii) By a Divisional Superintendent or by a Deputy Chief Mechanical Engineer if the order of discharge was issued by a senior scale officer attached to his Division or Workshops as the case may be”?

(b) Is it also a fact that the Circular referred to in part (a) was published in the Weekly Gazette of the East Indian Railway?

(c) Will Government please state whether this rule is still in force?

(d) If the answer to part (c) be in the affirmative, will Government please state whether :

(i) the Divisional Superintendent is the final authority if he has not been consulted or in any way dealt with the case at any stage prior to the order of discharge by a senior scale officer ; and

(ii) if he has already dealt with the case before orders of discharge were passed, he is still the final appellate authority to dispose of an appeal against discharge?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a), (b) and (c). Yes.

(d) (i) Yes.

(ii) No. Where the order of discharge has been passed or dealt with by the Divisional Superintendent personally, the next appellate authority is the Head of the Department concerned. The general rules recently issued by Government provide for an appeal to the authority next above that imposing the penalty, or to such higher authority as the Agent may prescribe in respect of railway servants under his control.

NOTIFICATION OF THE RULES REGULATING THE DISCHARGE AND DISMISSAL OF STATE RAILWAY NON-GAZETTED SERVANTS TO THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY EMPLOYEES.

2. Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : (a) Is it a fact that the rules framed by the Railway Board regulating the discharge and dismissal of State Railway non-gazetted servants were notified to the subordinate staff on the East Indian Railway through an Appendix to the Weekly Gazette under the caption “Manual of Special Orders on matters of general importance concerning the staff, 1930”?

(b) Is it also a fact that in the Report by the Railway Board on Indian Railways for 1933-34, Volume I, Staff, Security of Service, Government have stated that certain modifications, and extensions have been notified to Railway Administrations in connection with these rules?

(c) Have these modifications, extensions and regulations of the rules been communicated to the subordinate staff on the East Indian Railway through the Weekly Gazette as an addendum to the Manual of Special Orders on matters of general importance concerning the staff, 1930? If not, why and when are these likely to be notified to the staff?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) Yes. The modifications were communicated to the subordinate staff through the Railway's Gazette. No separate amendment has been issued to the “Manual of special orders or matters of general importance concerning the staff (1930)”. The preface to the manual in question states that all orders concerning the staff will be published in the Railway Gazette.

EXAMINATIONS IN ESTABLISHMENT DUTIES PASSED BY THE SUPERINTENDENTS AND ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS, STAFF, ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

3. Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : (a) Will Government please state what qualifying examinations in Establishment Rules and Procedure the Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents, Staff, on the East Indian Railway, have passed?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of removing all such Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents who have not passed qualifying examinations in Establishment duties? If not, why not?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) State railway officers are not required to pass qualifying examinations in establishment rules and procedure.

(b) No. The Government do not see that any useful purpose will be served by holding such examinations.

DUTIES OF THE DEPUTY AGENT (GENERAL), EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

4. Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : (a) Does the Deputy Agent (General), East Indian Railway, deal with Establishment matters, appeals and cognate subjects governed by the Railway Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, the rules for the recruitment and training of the subordinate staff, the Government Servants' Conduct Rules and allied manuals?

(b) Has the Deputy Agent (General), passed any qualifying examinations to prove that he has a sound knowledge of Government Rules and Regulations governing the conduct, discipline, appeal and allied matters relating to Government servants? If not, are Government prepared to consider replacing him by a qualified officer trained by the Railway Board?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) The answer to both parts of the question is in the negative.

POSTS OF TRANSPORTATION INSPECTORS SANCTIONED BY THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

5. Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : (a) With reference to the reply to starred question No. 201 of the 13th February, 1935, regarding posts of Transportation Inspectors sanctioned by the East Indian Railway, will Government please state :

- (i) the names and designations of the officers who composed this Selection Board ;
- (ii) the place and date on which the Selection Board examined candidates for these seven posts ;
- (iii) the names and designations of the candidates considered by the Selection Board for these posts ; and
- (iv) the names of the candidates recommended by this Selection Board for these seven posts of Transportation Inspectors ?

(b) Did the Divisional Superintendents participate in this operation ? If so, in what manner ?

(c) Are these Inspectors required to perform combined duties of Transportation and Commercial or only Commercial duties ?

(d) Did the Chief Commercial Manager participate in this operation ? If not, why not ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that a Selection Board consisting of Mr. W. H. Burnard, Chief Operating Superintendent and Mr. H. A. Collet, Superintendent, Staff, met on the 16th August, 1934, at the Head Office, Calcutta. In exercise of the discretion vested in them by Note 2 to paragraph 61 of the Rules for the Recruitment and Training of Subordinate Staff on State-managed Railways, a copy of which is in the Library of the House, the Selection Board did not summon candidates for an interview. All senior grades of staff with the required experience were considered for promotion but no list of the names and designations of the individuals considered was retained. The following candidates were recommended by the Selection Board :

1. Mr. J. A. Titman.
2. Mr. J. A. Doran.
3. Mr. G. H. Johans.
4. Mr. E. J. England.
5. Mr. H. E. Monk.
6. Mr. I. B. Gantzar.
7. Mr. T. A. Ferrier.

(b) Substantive promotions to the posts of Transportation and Commercial Inspectors are controlled by the Head Office. Divisional Superintendents participated to the extent that they were consulted.

(c) Out of 44 Inspectors 38 are required to perform the combined duties of the Transportation and Commercial Branches.

(d) No. The Administration considered that a Selection Board, comprising the Chief Operating Superintendent and the Superintendent, Staff, was sufficient.

SERVICE CONDITIONS OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY EMPLOYEES.

6. Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : (a) Will Government please reconcile their reply to starred question No. 500 (d) of the 23rd February, 1935, with Clause 2 of the Service Agreement which states :

" I further agree to be subject to immediate dismissal or suspension without pay for refusal of duty, disobedience of orders, absence without leave, negligence or misconduct or any neglect of Government rules and orders applicable to my service " and state what Government rules relating to the procedure in cases of dismissal, removal, or reduction regulated the conduct and discipline of those employees who were employed by Government from 1st January, 1925 ?

(b) Will Government also reconcile their reply to starred question No. 500 (e) of the 23rd February, 1935, with the following statement in the Report by the Railway Board on Indian Railways for 1924-25, Chapter I, General Administration :

" The Agent of the Railway has been invested with the powers of an Agent of a State Railway " and lay on the table of the House a copy of the document detailing the powers that were vested in the Agent of the East Indian Railway ?

(c) Will Government please state whether the rules referred to in part (a) were communicated to the staff ? If so, in what manner ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) If my Honourable friend will refer again to the reply which I gave to parts (c) to (e) of question No. 500 on the 23rd February, 1935, he will find that those replies were given on the assumption that the questions related to the period before the East Indian Railway was taken over by the State. Clauses 3 and 4 of the service agreement executed by employees make it clear that in regard to matters such as conduct and discipline, ex-Company employees who became State employees after the transfer to State control would be governed by Government rules. The latter are contained in paragraphs 287 to 302 of the State Railway Open Line Code, Volume II, a copy of which is in the Library of the House.

(b) I have already explained the position in my reply to part (a) of this question. A copy of the Schedule of powers of an Agent of a State Railway is already in the Library of the House.

(c) It was not the practice to supply copies of the State Railway Open Line Code to railway servants. The publication was available for sale to who wished to purchase it.

T OF APPEAL TO THE HIGH COURT AGAINST THE DECISIONS OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF INCOME-TAX.

7. Bhai Parma Nand : Are Government prepared to amend the Income-tax Act, by giving a right of appeal to the High Court against the decision of the Commissioner of the Income-tax Department ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The question whether any other authority than officers of the Income-tax Department should be empowered to determine questions of fact is one of the questions which are to be considered by experts who are shortly to arrive in India.

CONTRIBUTION BY THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY PERMANENT STAFF TO THE PROVIDENT FUND.

8. Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that permanent staff on the East Indian Railway are allowed to contribute to the Provident Fund Institute ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Eligibility to become members of the State Railway Provident Fund and the East Indian Railway Provident Fund is governed by the State Railway Provident Fund Rules and the East Indian Railway Provident Fund Rules, respectively. Copies of both these are available in the Library.

PROMOTION OF TYPISTS TO THE CLERICAL CADRE ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

9. Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that the East Indian Railway Administration have imposed a condition on the typists that they cannot be promoted to the clerical cadre ?

(b) If the reply to part (a) be in the affirmative, will Government please state the rules under which this restriction has been imposed by the East Indian Railway Administration ?

(c) Are Government aware that typing is an additional qualification to enter into the service ?

(d) Will Government please state the minimum qualification fixed by the East Indian Railway Administration for clerical appointments ? If not, why not ?

(e) Is it a fact that the typists of the East Indian Railway (executive) submitted a memorial to the Agent as early as 9th July, 1934, and that that memorial is still lying undisposed ? If so, why ?

(f) Is it a fact that the claims of the typists, who are also qualified stenographers, are overlooked for promotion to a stenographer's post, whenever vacancies occur, and outsiders are being appointed from time to time ? If so, why ? If not, will Government please state the reasons in the following cases where this actually happened :

(i) Chief Commercial Manager's office—Research Section—appointment of Mr. Iyer ;

(ii) Agent's office—appointment of Mr. Brown, Deputy Agent (Works)—Mr. Gilbert's stenographer ; and

(iii) Chief Mechanical Engineer's office—appointment of a lady stenographer (Miss I. Tern-Duff) ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) Not necessarily.

(d) Generally speaking the matriculation examination or its equivalent.

(e) The Agent reports that the appeal in question was submitted by the typists employed in the central typing section at headquarters and the decision to disband that section so materially changed the position in regard to the matters referred to in the appeal that no action was called for and it was accordingly filed.

(f) The answer to the first part of the question is in the negative.

As regards the particular instances given, the appointments were made by selection of the most suitable candidates.

NON-ADMISSION OF ARYA SAMAJISTS IN THE ARMY.

10. Mr. Ghansham Singh Gupta : (a) Has the attention of Government been directed to a note published on page 12 of the Anathraksha of Ajmer, dated the 28th February, 1935, under the heading "Arya Sarva Deshik Sabha Dhyam De" ?

(b) Will Government please state how far the allegations made therein are correct ?

(c) Is it a fact that the Arya Samajists are refused admission in the Army ?

(d) Is it a fact that Arya Samajists serving in the Army suffer on account of obstruction in following their faith ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes.

(b) The allegations are not correct.

(c) No.

(d) No. Indian soldiers of every shade of religious opinion are free to carry out their religious duties in any way they like, so long as military efficiency is maintained and no offence is given to other communities.

LOCOMOTIVES ON CLASS I RAILWAYS.

11. Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the number of locomotives of each type for each gauge now in stock on each of the Class I Railways and the percentage of each type in use daily on the average ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state the average cost of repair and maintenance of the 59 locomotives on the Great Indian Peninsula and the North Western Railways proposed to be scrapped in 1936-37 without replacement ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state the number of locomotives on each Railway used in 1934-35 though replaced by new ones ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The available information on the subject will be found in statement 22, pages 136 to 139 of the Report by the Railway Board on Indian Railways, Volume II, of 1933-34. The information is not compiled for each type of locomotive.

(b) I presume the Honourable Member desires to know what expenditure would be incurred in repairs and maintenance if the 59 locomotives were allowed to run their normal life, and would be fully employed.

In the case of the 29 North Western Railway locomotives it has been estimated that the cost would be approximately 6½ lakhs.

Regarding the 30 Great Indian Peninsula Railway locomotives two have already exceeded their life limit and 20 more will be due condemnation in 1936-37.

[2ND SEP. 1935.]

The question of repairs to these engines, therefore, does not arise. The remaining eight locomotives would cost approximately four lakhs per annum in repairs and maintenance.

In this connection I would refer the Honourable Member to pages 54 and 68 of the Proceedings of the meeting of the Standing Finance Committee for Railways, Volume XII—No. 4.

(c) A statement giving the desired information is placed on the table.

Statement showing number of locomotives, by gauges, replaced but still running on each Class I Railway at the end of the year 1934-35.

| No.                                      | Railway. | Number replaced but still running. |
|------------------------------------------|----------|------------------------------------|
| 1                                        | 2        | 3                                  |
| 5' 6" Gauge.                      |          |                                    |
| Bengal Nagpur .. .. .                    | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India .. .. . | .. .. .  | 1                                  |
| Eastern Bengal .. .. .                   | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| East Indian .. .. .                      | .. .. .  | 6                                  |
| Great Indian Peninsula .. .. .           | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Madras and Southern Mahratta .. .. .     | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Nizam's State .. .. .                    | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| North Western .. .. .                    | .. .. .  | 5                                  |
| South Indian .. .. .                     | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| 3' 3/4" Gauge.                    |          |                                    |
| Assam Bengal .. .. .                     | .. .. .  | 1                                  |
| Bengal North Western .. .. .             | .. .. .  | 31                                 |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India .. .. . | .. .. .  | 14                                 |
| Burma .. .. .                            | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Eastern Bengal .. .. .                   | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Jodhpur .. .. .                          | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Madras and Southern Mahratta .. .. .     | .. .. .  | 2                                  |
| Nizam's State .. .. .                    | .. .. .  | 18                                 |
| Rohilkund and Kumaon .. .. .             | .. .. .  | 1                                  |
| South Indian .. .. .                     | .. .. .  | 1                                  |
|                                          | .. .. .  | ..                                 |

| No.                                      | Railway. | Number replaced but still running. |
|------------------------------------------|----------|------------------------------------|
| 1                                        | 2        | 3                                  |
| 2' 6" Gauge.                      |          |                                    |
| Bengal Nagpur .. .. .                    | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India .. .. . | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| Eastern Bengal .. .. .                   | .. .. .  | 1                                  |
| Great Indian Peninsula .. .. .           | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| North Western .. .. .                    | .. .. .  | ..                                 |
| South Indian .. .. .                     | .. .. .  | ..                                 |

SCRAP VALUE ON CONDEMNED LOCOMOTIVES, COACHING AND WAGON STOCK ON EACH RAILWAY.

12. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the scrap value realised every year on condemned locomotives, coaching and wagon stock on each Railway since 1931 and the respective difference between the book value and the actual scrap value of the condemned stock ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The information is not readily available and Government consider that the time and labour involved in collecting it is not likely to be justified by results.

DEPRECIATION FUND RULES OF STATE RAILWAYS.

13. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to lay a statement on the table comparing the present Depreciation Fund Rules on Indian State-managed Railways with those obtaining on principal Railways of foreign countries ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The revised method of calculation of the depreciation fund on the Indian State-managed Railways is explained in the memorandum printed at pages 46 and 47 of the Proceedings of the Meeting of the Standing Finance Committee for Railways held on the 2nd February, 1935 (Volume XII—No. 1). As regards the practice in other countries regarding depreciation fund, I have placed in the Library of the House a memorandum which furnishes the information available.

WAGON REQUIREMENTS OF INDIAN RAILWAYS.

14. Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what firms in India are in a position to meet wagon requirements of Indian Railways and the capacity of each workshop to manufacture wagon under-frames in one full year ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to lay a statement on the table showing production statistics including amount of indigenous material used, the amount of Indian capital invested, the number of Indians in the directorate and the number of workers employed, in each of the wagon manufacturing firms in India ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) A statement showing the required information is attached.

(b) Government have no information.

The following firms in India are engaged in the manufacture of wagons and underframes :

1. Messrs. the Indian Standard Wagon Company, Limited.
2. Messrs. Jessop and Company, Limited.
3. Messrs. Burn and Company, Limited.
4. Messrs. Braithwaite and Company (India), Limited.

The estimated annual potential outputs of wagons from the works of the above firms are :

|                                                          |       |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| 1. Messrs. the Indian Standard Wagon Company, Limited .. | 3,000 |
| 2. Messrs. Jessop and Company, Limited .. ..             | 1,800 |
| 3. Messrs. Burn and Company, Limited .. ..               | 1,800 |
| 4. Messrs. Braithwaite and Company (India), Limited ..   | 1,800 |

All the above firms can also manufacture underframes and for the purpose of estimates of potential outputs one Broad gauge underframe may be taken as equivalent to two wagons.

In addition to the firms mentioned above, Messrs. Herman and Mohatta, Karachi, can undertake the partial manufacture of wagons and their estimated annual output is 300 wagons per annum.

CAPACITY OF THE TATA RAILWAY WORKSHOPS TO MANUFACTURE CARRIAGE AND WAGON UNDER-FRAMES.

15. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the capacity of Tata Railway Workshops to manufacture carriage and wagon under-frames in a full year and the number of employees engaged in the works ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The maximum capacity of the Tatanagar Workshops is 550 I. R. S. Broad Gauge 8'-0" Bogie under-frames per annum. The number of employees who would be engaged if the works were manufacturing to full capacity would be between 900 and 1,000 depending upon the type of under-frames passing through the shops.

EQUIPMENT OF RAILWAY WORKSHOPS FOR MANUFACTURING CARRIAGE AND WAGON UNDER-FRAMES.

16. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state to what extent Railway workshops in India have necessary equipment for manufacturing carriage and wagon under-frames ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : With the exception of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Workshops at Ajmer and the Tatanagar Workshops, no railway workshops can be considered as completely equipped for this purpose. They are intended for and are ordinarily fully employed upon the repair of rolling stock.

WAGONS RE-CONDITIONED ON INDIAN RAILWAYS.

17. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to state the number of wagons re-conditioned on Indian Railways since 1926 obviating the necessity of replacement ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : It has recently been found that certain types of wagons built some 20 to 30 years ago are structurally too weak to stand up to modern traffic conditions with the result that the cost of a periodical overhaul to such vehicles is considerably above the average ; and it became a question of either replacing them by new wagons, or spending a certain amount of money in strengthening the under-frames, renewing their floors and otherwise enabling them to run their normal life without costing more than the average to repair. One thousand wagons are now being re-conditioned at Tatanagar. When the actual cost of re-conditioning those wagons is known the Railway Board will, after taking into consideration the financial implications, decide what other similar wagons should be re-conditioned and what should be replaced.

HEAVY REPAIR AND COST OF REPAIR IN WORKSHOPS PER UNIT OF ROLLING STOCK.

18. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to lay a statement on the table showing the improvement every year in the number of staff per heavy repair, the frequency of heavy repair, the cost of repair in workshops per unit of rolling stock since 1925 ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Information regarding the number of staff per heavy repair is not readily available. Regarding the frequency of heavy repairs and cost thereof no information is available prior to 1928 for locomotive and 1929 for carriages and wagons ; nor is information available in the precise form asked for by the Honourable Member.

Statements showing the average cost of a standard first class locomotive repair and the average mileage run since last heavy repair on each of the Class I Railways for the months of April, 1928, and April, 1934, and similar statements regarding carriages and wagons for the months of April, 1929, and April, 1934, have been however prepared and are laid on the table.

I would add for my Honourable friend's information that statement 26 (b) in Volume II of the Annual Report by the Railway Board on Indian Railways contains information regarding the cost of repairs per equated engine mile of locomotives and per carriage and per wagon which may be of interest to him.

Comparative abstract of Locomotive Workshop repairs on Class I Railways, 1934.

| Name of Railway.      | Average cost of a standard 1st class or unit repair during the previous 3 months (In hundreds.) | Average miles run by all engines despatched since being last repaired in mechanical workshops. (In thousands.) |
|-----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                       | Rs.                                                                                             | April.                                                                                                         |
| 5'-6" GAUGE.          |                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                |
| B. N. .. .. .         | 11,8                                                                                            | 69                                                                                                             |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 10,6                                                                                            | 73                                                                                                             |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 10,6                                                                                            | 63                                                                                                             |
| E. I. .. .. .         | 8,8                                                                                             | 78                                                                                                             |
| G. I. P. .. .. .      | 11,0                                                                                            | 73                                                                                                             |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 12,6                                                                                            | 45                                                                                                             |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 17,1                                                                                            | 94                                                                                                             |
| N. W. .. .. .         | 11,1                                                                                            | 72                                                                                                             |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 9,9                                                                                             | 72                                                                                                             |
| 3'-3½" GAUGE.         |                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                |
| A. B. .. .. .         | 15,3                                                                                            | 108                                                                                                            |
| B. & N. W. .. .. .    | 8,0                                                                                             | 61                                                                                                             |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 13,1                                                                                            | 56                                                                                                             |
| Burma .. .. .         | 11,7                                                                                            | 88                                                                                                             |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 12,9                                                                                            | 79                                                                                                             |
| Jodhpur .. .. .       | 8,6                                                                                             | 66                                                                                                             |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 9,2                                                                                             | 52                                                                                                             |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 12,4                                                                                            | 73                                                                                                             |
| R. & K. .. .. .       | 9,3                                                                                             | 47                                                                                                             |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 14,7                                                                                            | 65                                                                                                             |

[2ND SEP. 1935.]

Comparative abstract of Locomotive Workshop repairs on Class I Railways, 1928.

| Name of Railway.      | Average cost of a standard 1st class or unit repair during the previous three months. | Average number of miles run by engines despatched during the month after undergoing heavy repairs (since last heavy repairs). |
|-----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                       | Rs.                                                                                   | April.                                                                                                                        |
| 5'-6" Gauge.          |                                                                                       |                                                                                                                               |
| B. N. .. .. .         | 13,032                                                                                | 99,659                                                                                                                        |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 16,624                                                                                | 60,984                                                                                                                        |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 10,102                                                                                | 56,179                                                                                                                        |
| E. I. .. .. .         | 11,208                                                                                | 85,305                                                                                                                        |
| G. I. P. .. .. .      | 8,091                                                                                 | 60,166                                                                                                                        |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 17,365                                                                                | 84,845                                                                                                                        |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 11,436                                                                                | NIL.                                                                                                                          |
| N. W. .. .. .         | 18,328                                                                                | 61,934                                                                                                                        |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 20,194                                                                                | 39,007                                                                                                                        |
| 3'-3½" Gauge.         |                                                                                       |                                                                                                                               |
| A. B. .. .. .         | 15,432                                                                                | 198,605                                                                                                                       |
| B. & N. W. .. .. .    | 14,559                                                                                | 56,597                                                                                                                        |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 21,125                                                                                | 79,160                                                                                                                        |
| Burma .. .. .         | 15,918                                                                                | 119,440                                                                                                                       |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 15,223                                                                                | 71,336                                                                                                                        |
| Jodhpur .. .. .       | 24,026                                                                                | 107,890                                                                                                                       |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 14,301                                                                                | 75,896                                                                                                                        |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 18,819                                                                                | 107,743                                                                                                                       |
| R. & K. .. .. .       | 7,581                                                                                 | 69,130                                                                                                                        |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 33,885                                                                                | 89,193                                                                                                                        |

[2ND SEP. 1935.]

Comparative abstract of Carriage and Wagon Workshop repairs on Class I Railways. Passenger Carriages, 1929.

| Name of Railway.      | Average cost of repairs per passenger carriage (in terms of 4-wheelers) during the previous 3 months. | Average period in months passenger carriages despatched were in service prior to undergoing repairs. |
|-----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                       | Rs.                                                                                                   |                                                                                                      |
|                       | April.                                                                                                | April.                                                                                               |
| 5'-6" Gauge.          |                                                                                                       |                                                                                                      |
| B. N. .. .. .         | 1,207                                                                                                 | 19.4                                                                                                 |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 1,090                                                                                                 | 15.9                                                                                                 |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 276                                                                                                   | 7.78                                                                                                 |
| E. I. .. .. .         | 766                                                                                                   | 12.2                                                                                                 |
| G. I. P. .. .. .      | 1,045                                                                                                 | 9.02                                                                                                 |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 832                                                                                                   | 11.3                                                                                                 |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 619                                                                                                   | 11.8                                                                                                 |
| N. W. .. .. .         | 781                                                                                                   | 14.2                                                                                                 |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 522                                                                                                   | 24.5                                                                                                 |
| 3'-3½" Gauge.         |                                                                                                       |                                                                                                      |
| A. B. .. .. .         | 521                                                                                                   | 13.5                                                                                                 |
| B. & N. W. .. .. .    | 180                                                                                                   | 26.6                                                                                                 |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 511                                                                                                   | 15.8                                                                                                 |
| Burma .. .. .         | 512                                                                                                   | 26.7                                                                                                 |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 326                                                                                                   | 13.8                                                                                                 |
| Jodhpur .. .. .       | 956                                                                                                   | 15.0                                                                                                 |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 269                                                                                                   | 11.4                                                                                                 |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 769                                                                                                   | 2.78                                                                                                 |
| R. & K. .. .. .       | 448                                                                                                   | 17.0                                                                                                 |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 809                                                                                                   | 41.2                                                                                                 |

Comparative abstract of Carriage and Wagon Workshop repairs on Class I Railways. Passenger Carriages, 1934.

| Name of Railway.                         | Average cost of repairs per passenger carriage (in terms of 4-wheelers) during the previous 3 months. | Average period in months passenger carriages despatched were in service prior to undergoing repairs. |
|------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                          | Rs.                                                                                                   |                                                                                                      |
|                                          | April.                                                                                                | April.                                                                                               |
| 5'-6" Gauge.                             |                                                                                                       |                                                                                                      |
| Bengal Nagpur .. .. .                    | 915                                                                                                   | 10.9                                                                                                 |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India .. .. . | 712                                                                                                   | 8.52                                                                                                 |
| Eastern Bengal .. .. .                   | 942                                                                                                   | 10.0                                                                                                 |
| East Indian .. .. .                      | 741                                                                                                   | 12.2                                                                                                 |
| Great Indian Peninsula .. .. .           | 752                                                                                                   | 10.1                                                                                                 |
| Madras and Southern Mahratta .. .. .     | 834                                                                                                   | 14.0                                                                                                 |
| Nizam's State .. .. .                    | 1,342                                                                                                 | 21.6                                                                                                 |
| North Western .. .. .                    | 697                                                                                                   | 13.7                                                                                                 |
| South Indian .. .. .                     | 630                                                                                                   | 15.3                                                                                                 |
| 3'-3½" Gauge.                            |                                                                                                       |                                                                                                      |
| Assam Bengal .. .. .                     | 630                                                                                                   | 18.9                                                                                                 |
| Bengal and North Western .. .. .         | 207                                                                                                   | 13.0                                                                                                 |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India .. .. . | 563                                                                                                   | 13.6                                                                                                 |
| Burma .. .. .                            | 453                                                                                                   | 27.0                                                                                                 |
| Eastern Bengal .. .. .                   | 328                                                                                                   | 15.3                                                                                                 |
| Jodhpur .. .. .                          | 524                                                                                                   | 12.4                                                                                                 |
| Madras and Southern Mahratta .. .. .     | 360                                                                                                   | 13.1                                                                                                 |
| Nizam's State .. .. .                    | 1,132                                                                                                 | 21.2                                                                                                 |
| Rohilkund and Kumaon .. .. .             | 226                                                                                                   | 19.4                                                                                                 |
| South Indian .. .. .                     | 435                                                                                                   | 28.0                                                                                                 |

Comparative abstract of Carriage and Wagon Workshop repairs on Class I Railways.

Wagons.
1929.

| Name of Railway.      | Average cost of repairs per wagon (in terms of 4-wheelers) during the previous 3 months. | Average period in months wagons despatched were in service prior to undergoing repairs. |
|-----------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                       | Rs.                                                                                      |                                                                                         |
| 5'—6" Gauge.          | April.                                                                                   | April.                                                                                  |
| B. N. .. .. .         | 279                                                                                      | 26.8                                                                                    |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 140                                                                                      | 24.2                                                                                    |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 121                                                                                      | 22.5                                                                                    |
| E. I. .. .. .         | 153                                                                                      | 24.3                                                                                    |
| G. I. P. .. .. .      | 189                                                                                      | 23.0                                                                                    |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 288                                                                                      | 30.8                                                                                    |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 316                                                                                      | 24.7                                                                                    |
| N. W. .. .. .         | 59                                                                                       | 21.6                                                                                    |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 122                                                                                      | 24.4                                                                                    |
| 3'—3½" Gauge.         |                                                                                          |                                                                                         |
| A. B. .. .. .         | 130                                                                                      | 31.4                                                                                    |
| B. & N. W. .. .. .    | 144                                                                                      | 43.5                                                                                    |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 112                                                                                      | 45.6                                                                                    |
| Burma .. .. .         | 392                                                                                      | 50.5                                                                                    |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 133                                                                                      | 23.4                                                                                    |
| Jodhpur .. .. .       | 139                                                                                      | 28.5                                                                                    |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 138                                                                                      | 39.1                                                                                    |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 131                                                                                      | 24.0                                                                                    |
| R. & K. .. .. .       | 127                                                                                      | 25.0                                                                                    |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 118                                                                                      | 39.0                                                                                    |

Comparative abstract of Carriage and Wagon Workshop repairs on Class I Railways.

Wagons.
1934.

| Name of Railway.      | Average cost of repairs per wagon (in terms of 4-wheelers) during the previous 3 months. | Average period in months wagons despatched were in service prior to undergoing repairs. |
|-----------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                       | Rs.                                                                                      |                                                                                         |
| 5'—6" Gauge.          | April.                                                                                   | April.                                                                                  |
| B. N. .. .. .         | 224                                                                                      | 34.5                                                                                    |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 176                                                                                      | 26.9                                                                                    |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 160                                                                                      | 27.2                                                                                    |
| E. I. .. .. .         | 241                                                                                      | 23.4                                                                                    |
| G. I. P. .. .. .      | 220                                                                                      | 35.4                                                                                    |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 237                                                                                      | 28.7                                                                                    |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 394                                                                                      | 31.5                                                                                    |
| N. W. .. .. .         | 210                                                                                      | 30.8                                                                                    |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 212                                                                                      | 42.7                                                                                    |
| 3'—3½" Gauge.         |                                                                                          |                                                                                         |
| A. B. .. .. .         | 162                                                                                      | 40.4                                                                                    |
| B. & N. W. .. .. .    | 122                                                                                      | 34.3                                                                                    |
| B. B. & C. I. .. .. . | 145                                                                                      | 39.6                                                                                    |
| Burma .. .. .         | 338                                                                                      | 40.0                                                                                    |
| E. B. .. .. .         | 99                                                                                       | 28.9                                                                                    |
| Jodhpur .. .. .       | 86                                                                                       | 29.6                                                                                    |
| M. & S. M. .. .. .    | 127                                                                                      | 35.9                                                                                    |
| N. S. .. .. .         | 190                                                                                      | 39.8                                                                                    |
| R. & K. .. .. .       | 40                                                                                       | 35.0                                                                                    |
| S. I. .. .. .         | 119                                                                                      | 44.0                                                                                    |

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE STATE RAILWAY WORKSHOPS COMMITTEE.

19. Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the action so far taken on each of the recommendations of the State Railway Workshops Committee ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : A statement showing the action taken on the more important recommendations is attached.

Major recommendations of the State Railway Workshops Committee.

GENERAL.

- 347 A wholehearted attempt must be made by all railways to adopt standard locomotive, carriage and wagon details.
- 407 Improvements in the internal organi-
408 sation of all mechanical workshops are 409 & urgently called for.

Standard locomotive carriage and wagon details have been adopted by all railways.

Repairs are now scheduled in all State Railway Workshops. Production Engineers have also been appointed, and each shop has an organisation for the inspection, and ganging of work done in each shop. A Metallurgist has been appointed for the Moghalpura shops and is in charge of a laboratory where the inspection and testing of materials is carried out.

- 415 Accepted life of a loco. boiler should be reduced from 25 to 17 years.

A life of 17 years for locomotive boilers has been assumed for the purpose of forecasting their replacement but the actual condemnation of a boiler depends upon its condition.

- 423 An urgent need exists for the examina-427 tion of the present system of store-keeping and the substitution by one more satisfactory.

The system of store-keeping has since been revised on all railways.

NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

- 219 Proposals for extensions to the boiler shops and the iron foundry in Moghalpura shops are not justified.

No extension to these shops has been made.

- 220 Rawalpindi and Karachi locomotive & workshops are to be closed down entirely.
221 A new 40 pit locomotive shop is to be laid down at Sukkur capable of extension to 80.

Rawalpindi and Karachi locomotive shops have been closed down. A new locomotive shop at Sukkur has not been provided as owing to the improved out-turn from the Moghalpura shops there is no necessity for it.

- 266 Karachi and Rawalpindi are to be closed down as carriage repair shops, the work being concentrated at Sukkur in an up to date shop capable of dealing with all coaching stock previously repaired at smaller shops.

The carriage repair shops at Karachi and Rawalpindi have been closed down.

Wagon repair shops to be provided at Rawalpindi and Sukkur with covered accommodation for 50 wagons each and at Karachi for 100 wagons.

Wagon repair shops at Rawalpindi and Karachi have not been provided as due to improved organisation the Moghalpura and Sukkur shops can deal with all requirements.

- 420 The bonus system in the loco. shops at & Moghalpura is unsound and should be 422 substituted by one more satisfactory.

Has been substituted by a piece work system.

NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY—contd.

- 425 The distribution of carriage and wagon stores now carried out in the workshops at Moghalpura should be discontinued, the work being done by the Stores Department.

Has been done.

EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

- 275 The capacity of Lillooah for wagon repairs should be increased by 50 per cent. Further increase of a capacity of 300 units should be distributed between Lucknow and Ondal.

Due to improved methods of working the outturn of wagons repaired per day from Lillooah has been so increased that the necessity for this recommendation did not arise.

- 225 Recommendations regarding Lucknow
227 and Jamalpur Locomotive shops.
314
316
to
320

The recent earthquake at Jamalpur did extensive damage to the locomotive workshops. As considerable re-building was necessary, advantage has been taken of the opportunity to bring the whole shop lay-out up to modern standards. Certain of the machinery which was in the Lucknow shops is being transferred to Jamalpur. Work will then be concentrated more at Jamalpur with consequent economy in production.

- 353 Concentration of the building of as many of the lower class bogie vehicles for all railways as the shops can possibly undertake is recommended at Lillooah.

Not accepted as it would have involved the dislocation of labour in other provinces and in the event of labour trouble there jeopardise the supply of lower class stock to all railways.

GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY.

- 235 A gradual transference should be effected of all manufacturing work from Parel to Jhansi.

Transfer was completed some years ago. Jhansi is now a Carriage and Wagon repair workshop only.

- 234 The remodelling of Jhansi shops must be expedited.

Proposal was later abandoned. A minor re-modelling scheme to enable workshops to be more adequately employed as carriage and wagon repair shops has been sanctioned and is now in hand.

- 285 Jhansi remodelling proposals for 96 units (carriage repairs) should be curtailed.

- 287 Wagon repair shops should be put down at Jhansi of 120 wagon capacity and at Bhusawal of 75 wagon capacity.

All wagon repairs are now concentrated at Matunga and Jhansi.

- 325 New erecting boiler and tender shops are necessary for Jhansi and a large area may be made available for auxiliary shops if the erecting boiler and tender shops are removed from the present site.

All locomotive repairs are now carried out at Parel.

- 283 Coaching repair accommodation at Matunga should be extended by commencing the steel workshop, also additional crane power provided.

With improved scheduling and programme schemes for carriage and wagon repairs the desired out-turn has been obtained without putting the proposal into effect.

- 286 Covered wagon repair accommodation at Matunga should be increased from 72 to 105 units.

When the present minor remodelling of Jhansi shops is complete 85% of wagon repairs will be undertaken at Jhansi and there is no need for any additional covered accommodation at Matunga for the purpose.

EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

Saidpur Workshops.

- 241 The present Saidpur shops must be retained and an up to date efficient shop of about 50 pit capacity should be built. It has subsequently been represented that it will be more economical to carry out metre gauge wagon repairs at Kanchrapara and the matter is being investigated.
- 352 The building of four-wheeled miscellaneous vehicles, horse-boxes, motor-vans, etc., should be concentrated at Kanchrapara. Not accepted for reasons similar to those given against para. 353.
- 293 The existing repair shop accommodation for wagons should be doubled bringing the total capacity up to 120. Owing to improved methods of working a minor extension to the shops has been found sufficient to deal with all necessary wagon repairs.
- 296 Saidpur Carriage and Wagon shops & must be rebuilt on modern lines, the size of the shop being the same as at present for coaching stock but with respect to wagons increased to accommodate 80 units. Owing to financial stringency this matter has been postponed and is now under investigation.

SAFETY OF INDIANS IN ABYSSINIA.

20. Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta : (a) Are Government aware that there is a large Indian population residing and doing business in Abyssinia ?

(b) Have Government taken suitable steps to ensure their safety in the event of a break of war between Abyssinia and Italy ? If not, do Government propose to do so ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) Yes : there are about 1,000 Indians in Abyssinia.

(b) The Honourable Member is referred to the communiqué which appeared in the Press on the 23rd August, 1935.

QUESTION OF GRANTING JURISDICTION OF BARWALA VILLAGES TO THE LIMBDI STATE.

21. Mr. N. V. Gadgil : (a) Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the stage at which the question of granting jurisdiction of Barwala villages to Limbdi State stand at present ;

(b) whether the method of ascertaining the wishes of the inhabitants of the villages has been decided upon ; if so, what will be the method and the time when the said ascertaining of wishes will take place ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The matter is still under consideration.

(b) The reply to the first part of the question is in the negative and the second part does not arise.

CEDING OF JURISDICTION OVER CERTAIN VILLAGES IN VIRAMGAON TO THE PATDI DURBAR.

22. Mr. N. V. Gadgil : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact :

(i) that the Darbar of Patdi in Viramgaon Taluka in Ahmedabad District in Bombay Presidency has applied for ceding to them jurisdiction over his 17 revenue villages in Viramgaon Taluka ;

(ii) that the people of Patdi have sent to the Government their protest against this proposal and whether the said protest has been received by the Government of India ?

(b) What is the state at which this matter stands at present ?

(c) Whether the wishes of the people of Patdi villages will be consulted, before the matter is finally decided ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) (i). Yes.

(ii) Some protests have been received.

(b) The matter is under consideration.

(c) No decision to transfer the administration of the villages in question to the rule of the Patdi State will be taken without first ascertaining the wishes of the inhabitants of the villages.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 567 asked by Mr. Sitakanta Mahapatra on the 14th August, 1934.

TECHNICAL INSTITUTIONS IN INDIA.

Statement giving the Information regarding Technical Institutions in India* run or aided by the Central Government. The information relates to the years 1931-32, 1932-33 and 1933-34.

| Name of institution.                          | Whether Government of India or aided.       | Average annual expenditure or annual grant-in-aid. | Average annual number of students successful. | Average annual percentage of successful students provided with Government employment. |
|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Bombay.                                |                                             |                                                    |                                               |                                                                                       |
| Victoria Jubilee Technical Institute, Bombay. | Aided by G. I. P. Railway (Up to May 1935). | Rs. 5,147                                          | 16                                            | 54                                                                                    |
| Training Ship "Dufferin", Bombay              | Government of India.                        | 2,34,375                                           | 29†                                           | 25                                                                                    |

| Name of institution.                               | Whether Government of India or aided. | Average annual expenditure or annual grant-in-aid. | Average annual number of students successful.        | Average annual percentage of successful students provided with Government employment.                                               |
|----------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Bengal.                                     |                                       |                                                    |                                                      |                                                                                                                                     |
| Ordnance Technical School, Ishapore                | Government of India.                  | Rs. 6,200                                          | 5                                                    | 23                                                                                                                                  |
| Kanchrapara Technical School ..                    | Aided by E. B. Railway.               | 45,974                                             | 4                                                    | 28                                                                                                                                  |
| United Provinces.                           |                                       |                                                    |                                                      |                                                                                                                                     |
| Harcourt Butler Technological Institute, Cawnpore. | Aided ..                              | 20,000                                             | 11                                                   | 7                                                                                                                                   |
| Government Technical School, Lucknow.              | Aided by E. I. Railway.               | 240                                                | 96 (attending).                                      | All were already in employment.                                                                                                     |
| Government Technical School, Jhansi.               | Aided by G. I. P. Railway.            | 31                                                 | 13                                                   | 20                                                                                                                                  |
| Bihar and Orissa.                           |                                       |                                                    |                                                      |                                                                                                                                     |
| Technical School, Jamalpur ..                      | Maintained by E. I. Railway.          | 1,80,781                                           | 75                                                   | 40 Appren-ticeMechanics.60 Tradeappren-tices.(100 SpecialClass Ap-prenticesin 1933-34only). |
| Indian School of Mines, Dhanbad.                   | Government of India.                  | 1,54,217                                           | 12 Certifi-cate Ex-amination.14 Diploma. | 4                                                                                                                                   |
| Mysore.                                     |                                       |                                                    |                                                      |                                                                                                                                     |
| Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore             | Aided ..                              | 1,50,000                                           | 25                                                   | 26                                                                                                                                  |

* Technical and industrial institutions in centrally administered areas have not been included.

† A further apprenticeship at sea is necessary to secure Second Mate's Certificates: so far 20 ex-cadets have secured this.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 17 and 18 asked by Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad on the 5th February, 1935.

CONTRACTS FOR THE SUPPLY OF COOLIES ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

No. 17 (a).—Station Masters are responsible for arranging for coolies at the following stations :—

|           |             |                  |
|-----------|-------------|------------------|
| Bandel.   | Sitarampur. | Hazaribagh Road. |
| Burdwan.  | Madhupur.   | Burhee.          |
| Raniganj. | Girdih.     | Japla.           |
| Kulti.    | Simultala.  | Sheikhpura.      |
| Barakar.  | Jherria.    | Nawadah.         |
| Gomoh.    | Bermo.      | Kudra.           |
| Kodarma.  |             |                  |

(b) If the complaint is intended to be against a station master personally, it should be made to his superior officer.

(c) Convenience.

(d) There is no necessary analogy between the two.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST THE CONTRACTORS OF COOLIES ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

No. 18 (d).—The amount paid for loading and unloading goods at Moghalserai, Bareilly and Lucknow for the six months ending December 1934 was as follows :

|                     | Rs.   | A. | P. |
|---------------------|-------|----|----|
| Moghalserai .. .. . | 4,045 | 9  | 0  |
| Bareilly .. .. .    | 3,502 | 4  | 0  |
| Lucknow .. .. .     | 5,023 | 4  | 0  |

(Saharanpur station is worked by the North Western Railway).

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 7 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 5th February, 1935.

CONSTITUTION AND WORKING OF STAFF COMMITTEES ON STATE RAILWAYS.

Copies of circulars, etc., describing the constitution and working of the various forms of Staff Committees on State-owned railways have been placed in the library of the House.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 158, asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 12th February, 1935.

RE-EMPLOYMENT OF RETRENCHED STAFF ON STATE RAILWAYS.

(a) The number of persons who have been re-employed after retrenchment in 1931 on the different State-owned Railways and the number of persons still on the waiting list is as follows :

| Railways.                           | No. of persons who have been re-em-ployed afterretrenchmentin 1931. | No. of personsstill borneon the wait-ing list. |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|
| North Western .. .. .               | 4,841                                                                           | 1,263                                                      |
| Assam Bengal .. .. .                | 416                                                                             | 193                                                        |
| Burma .. .. .                       | 272                                                                             | 774                                                        |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India .. | 1,399                                                                           | 752                                                        |
| South Indian .. .. .                | 1,064                                                                           | 197                                                        |
| Great Indian Peninsula .. .. .      | 5,014                                                                           | 3,051                                                      |
| Eastern Bengal .. .. .              | 650                                                                             | 221                                                        |
| Madras and Southern Mahratta .. ..  | 152                                                                             | 135                                                        |
| Bengal Nagpur .. .. .               | 711                                                                             | 201                                                        |
| East Indian .. .. .                 | 3,963                                                                           | 3,759                                                      |

(b) The number of persons appointed without previous railway experience on the different State-owned Railways is as follows :

| Railways.                                | No. of persons appointed without previous railway experience. |
|------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|
| North Western .. .. .                    | Nil.                                                          |
| Assam Bengal .. .. .                     | 1,880                                                         |
| Burma .. .. .                            | 32                                                            |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India .. .. . | 3,018                                                         |
| South Indian .. .. .                     | (a)                                                           |
| Great Indian Peninsula .. .. .           | 1,356                                                         |
| Eastern Bengal .. .. .                   | 2,787                                                         |
| Madras and Southern Mahratta .. .. .     | 2,574                                                         |
| Bengal Nagpur .. .. .                    | 199                                                           |
| East Indian .. .. .                      | 6,342                                                         |

Government are informed that outsiders have been employed by railway administrations in categories in which no suitable men were available from the waiting list or in cases in which men did not accept employment offered to them for one reason or other.

Information promised in reply to questions Nos. 173 and 174 asked by Mr. Ahmed Ebrahim Haroon Jaffer on the 12th February, 1935.

TERMS OF THE OUDH BEQUEST ADMINISTERED BY HIS MAJESTY'S CONSULATE, BAGHDAD.

173. (a) The terms of the Oudh Bequest are given in treaty* No. LXII, dated the 17th August, 1825, printed on pages 161—164 of Aitchison's Treaties, Engagements and Sanads, Volume II, 5th Edition (1929), which is a priced publication. As regards the Oudh Bequest administered by His Majesty's Consul at Baghdad your attention is invited to Article 5 of the treaty.

(b) The information asked for is contained in the statement attached.

TREATY No. LXII.

Agreement between His Majesty Aboo-ul-Mozuffur Morzood Deen Ghazee-ood-Deen Hyder Shah, King of Oude, and the British Government on account of a sum which the former has given as a loan to the Honourable Company, settled by His Majesty on his part, and by M. Ricketts, Esq., Resident at the Court of the King of Oude, on the part of the British Government, in virtue of full powers vested in him by the Right Honourable William Pitt, Lord Amherst, Governor-General in Council, etc., etc., 17th August, 1825.

Article 1.

His Majesty the King of Oude has given as a loan, for ever, to the Honourable Company, one crore of Rupees, the interest whereof being five lakhs of Rupees per annum, will be paid from the 1st of Mohurram, 1241 Hegira, to the persons hereafter particularized, by monthly instalments ; and the interest of this sum will always remain at five per cent. per annum though the British Government may reduce their interest below or raise it above the aforesaid rate.

(a) Reports that no new recruitment has been made of categories of staff represented on the waiting list.

*Copy enclosed for ready reference.

Article 2.

This loan is made in perpetuity ; the sovereigns of the Kingdom of Oude shall never have the power to take it back, nor shall they exercise any interference with its interest.

Article 3.

The British Government guarantees that it will pay for ever the monthly sums hereafter mentioned out of the interest of the above loan, to the persons set down in this instrument, in the current coin of the place where they may reside, without any deduction whatever.

Article 4.

The Honourable Company will always protect the honour of the stipendiaries, who will be paid out of this fund, and it will be the protector of their possessions, such as houses and gardens (whether bestowed by the King of Oude, or purchased or built by themselves), from the hands of the sovereigns and their enemies ; and in whatever city or country they may be, their allowances will be paid to them there.

Article 5.

This Agreement having been settled by His Majesty the King of Oude for himself and by M. Ricketts, Esq., Resident at the Court of Lucknow, on the part of the British Government ; the Resident at Lucknow has delivered one copy thereof in Persian and English, signed and sealed by him, to His Majesty the King of Oude, from whom he has received a counterpart, also duly executed by His Majesty. The Resident engages to procure and deliver to His Majesty the King of Oude a copy of the same, under the seal and signature of the Right Honourable the Governor General in Council, when that executed by the Resident will be returned.

Interest Rupees Five Lakhs per annum, by Solar Years.

Twelve months, at per month Rupees forty-one thousand six hundred and sixty-six, ten annas, and eight English pie (Rs. 41,666-10-8).

To the persons attached to the new Imambareh, called Imambareh Nujuf Ushruf, according to a separate detail, Rupees one thousand one hundred and thirty-seven, ten annas, and eight pie (Rs. 1,137-10-8).

This sum will be paid for ever to the person who will be appointed to the charge of the Imambareh through the King and its Amlah or officers will be kept or discharged at the pleasure of the superintendent.

Nabob Mobaruk Muhul, Rupees ten thousand (Rs. 10,000).

This allowance will be paid to the Begum Nabob Mobaruk Muhul during her life-time, and after her demise one-third of the allowances will be paid to any person, or for any purpose, she may will : the remaining two-thirds and whatever may be the saving of the one-third agreeably to the will, which will be an addition to the two-thirds, or in case of her not making a will, the whole allowance is to be divided into two equal parts, one-half to be given to the Nujuf Ushruf, and the other half for Kerbulia to the High Priest and Majawurs, or persons who have its charge on the part of the said King, that His Majesty might thereby derive its benefits.

Sultan Marium Begum, Rupees two thousand five hundred (Rs. 2,500).

To be given during the life-time of Sultan Marium Begum, as to Nabob Mobaruk Muhul, and after her death to be appropriated in the same manner.

Moomtaz Muhul, Rupees one thousand one hundred (1,100).

As the foregoing.

Surfraz Muhul, Rupees one thousand (Rs. 1,000).

Ditto. Ditto. Ditto.

The servants and dependents of Surfraz Muhul, as per separate list, Rupees nine hundred and twenty-nine (Rs. 929).

163LAD

To be paid in perpetuity as per separate statement. The allowance of persons dying without heir, to be added to the sums for Nujuf Ushruf and Keroulla.

Nabob Moatummud-ood-Dowla Behauder, Rupees twenty thousand (Rs. 20,000).

This allowance is to be paid in perpetuity to the Nabob and his heirs. It will be paid in perpetuity after his demise, agreeably to his will, to his sons, daughters, and wives, and other dependents. If it happens that he makes no will, in that case the allowance is to be given to his lawful heirs, according to the laws of inheritance, in conformity to the tenets of the Sheeas. The allowances which are assigned to his wife, one son, and a daughter, from this fund, as specified below, are also to be continued in perpetuity separately, and whatever the Nabob may bequeath to them out of the above allowance, is to be given to them in perpetuity separately; and, in like manner, if a will be not made, shares are to be given to these three persons from the Nabob's allowance according to law.

Nabob Begum, the wife of Nabob Moatummud-ood-Dowla, Rupees two thousand (Rs. 2,000).

This allowance is to be paid to her during her life-time, and after her death to be paid to her lawful heirs, in perpetuity, according to the laws of inheritance, in conformity to the tenets of the Sheeas.

Nabob Aulecab Begum, the daughter of the said Nabob, Rupees one thousand (Rs. 1,000).

According to the foregoing rule.

Ameen-ood-Dowla Behauder, son of the Nabob, Rupees two thousand (Rs. 2,000).

Ditto.

Ditto.

Ditto.

Done at Lucknow, the 1st Mohurram, 1241 Hegira, corresponding with the 17th August, 1825.

MORDANT RICKETTS,
Resident.
AMHERST.
J. H. HARRINGTON.
W. B. BAYLEY.

Ratified by the Right Honourable the Governor General in Council at Fort William in Bengal, the Thirtieth day of September, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Twenty-five A. D.

GEO. SWINTON,
Secretary to Government.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Statement of account of Oudh Bequest administered by His Majesty's Consul at Baghdad.

| Receipts.                                                                                     | Id. Fila.               | Amount.              | Payments.                                                         | Id. Fila. | Amount.       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|---------------|
| To opening balance on 1st January, 1934.                                                      | Id. Fila. 387-273 3-000 | Rs. a. p. 5,203 10 0 | By amounts distributed at Najaf and Karbala during January, 1934. | 2349-050  | 31,320 10 6   |
| To drawal from Government of India during January, 1934. through A/C current with A. G. C. R. | ..                      | 30,654 0 0           | By amounts distributed at Najaf and Karbala during April, 1934.   | 2349-050  | 31,320 10 6   |
| Ditto April, 1934                                                                             | ..                      | 30,654 0 0           | By amounts distributed at Najaf and Karbala during July, 1934.    | 2349-050  | 31,320 10 6   |
| Ditto July, 1934                                                                              | ..                      | 30,654 0 0           | By amounts distributed at Najaf and Karbala during October, 1934. | 2199-390  | 29,325 3 0    |
| Ditto October, 1934                                                                           | ..                      | 30,654 0 0           | By miscellaneous expenses during the year.                        | 8-319     | 110 15 3      |
|                                                                                               |                         |                      | By closing balance on 31st December, 1934.                        | 9254-859  | 1,23,398 1 9  |
|                                                                                               |                         |                      |                                                                   | 331-614   | 4,421 8 3     |
|                                                                                               |                         |                      |                                                                   | 9586-473  | 1,27,819 10 0 |

(Sd.) ILLEGIBLE,
H. M. Consul

18 BAGDAD,
Dated April 3rd, 1935.

TERMS OF FATEH ULLAH KHAN'S ZINDIYAH BEQUEST.

174. (a) A memorandum giving a description of Fateh Ullah Khan's Zindiyah Bequest is enclosed.

(b) The information asked for will be found in the statement attached.

Annuity of Fatehullah Khan, otherwise known as Zandiyah Bequest.

In the year 1822, while on a visit to India, a Persian prince named Fatehullah Khan, son of Lutf Ali Khan, expressed to the Supreme Government a wish to deposit a certain sum in the Treasury, his object being to provide against the possible sequestration or extortion of a portion, at all events, of his fortune in the event of his falling into disfavour in his own country. The Supreme Government were disposed to meet his wishes, and eventually, on January 24, 1824, he paid a sum of Rs. 40,000 into the Treasury at Bombay, assigning the amount unconditionally to the Honourable East India Company. In return the Company undertook, in a document of which a translation is annexed to this memorandum, to pay the sum of Rs. 2,400 yearly, being interest at 6 per cent., to Fatehullah Khan during his life-time, to his mother and sister after his decease, and, on the death of these, to the "Mujtahid of all the priests at the 'sacred tomb' (i.e., Karbala), for the use and benefit of poor pilgrims and the indigent dwellers about the hallowed region".

Translation of a paper presented in the name of the Honourable the Governor in Council at Bombay to His Highness Prince Fatehullah Khan on the 24th day of January, 1824, by way of receipt for certain monies delivered by His Highness into the Honourable Company's Treasury.

This writing is to certify that an agreement has been made on the part of the Honourable Company's Government to pay yearly, and so long as their authority shall last, the sum of Rs. 2,400 Bombay rupees to His Highness the Most Noble and illustrious Prince Fatehullah Khan, etc., etc., and whereas this illustrious Prince is without progeny and the number of his heirs is confined to two, namely, his mother and his sister, the property and disposed of the above-mentioned yearly sum is hereby secured to him during his life time, with reversion after him to his mother and sister; and on their deaths to the Mujtahid of all the Priests residing at the sacred tomb to be employed by him for the use and benefit of poor pilgrims, and the indigent dwellers about that hallowed region. The above is written by way of document authorizing all the Agents of the Honourable Company residing in Persia, whether at Baghdad, or at Bushire, or at Bussora, when they shall have perfectly comprehend its contents and the object with which this paper has been written, to pay the sum therein specified, year by year, and without any delay or evasion either to the Agent of the above-named illustrious Prince or to the Agents of His Highness' mother and sister; and after them, to the said Moojtahid as above-mentioned, on receiving a proper receipt from such person or persons. It is necessary also briefly to notice that if by accident it should happen that the issue of any portion of the above-mentioned yearly payment should be stopped, interest shall be allowed by the Honourable Company's Government at the rate of 6 per cent. from the date on which such issue ceased to be regularly made.

(Sd.) WILLIAM SIMSON,

Ag. Persian Secretary to Government.

True translation.

(Sd.) WILLIAM SIMSON,

Ag. Persian Secretary to Government.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Statement of account of annuity of Fatehullah Khan otherwise known as Zindiyah Bequest.

| Receipts.                                                                                                                                  | Id. Fils. | Amount.             | Payments.                                                                              | Id. Fils. | Amount.              |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|---------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|----------------------|
| To opening balance on 1st May, 1933                                                                                                        | 4-678     | Rs. a. p.62 6 0 | By expenses on lighting chandelier at Kachhimain for the period upto 30th April, 1933. | 21-000    | Rs. a. p.280 0 0 |
| To drawal from Government of India through A./C. current with A. G. C. R. during May, 1933 (interest due for year ended 30th April, 1933). | 180-000   | 2,400 0 0           | By distribution at Karbala and Najaf during July, 1933.                                | 26-500    | 353 5 0              |
|                                                                                                                                            |           |                     | By distribution at Kachhimain during September, 1933.                                  | 47-000    | 626 12 0             |
|                                                                                                                                            |           |                     | By distribution at Karbala and Najaf during October, 1933.                             | 26-500    | 353 5 0              |
|                                                                                                                                            |           |                     | By distribution at Karbala and Najaf during January, 1934.                             | 26-500    | 353 5 0              |
|                                                                                                                                            |           |                     | By distribution at Karbala and Najaf during April, 1934.                               | 26-500    | 353 5 0              |
|                                                                                                                                            |           |                     | Closing balance on 30th April, 1934 ..                                                 | 174-000   | 2,320 0 0            |
|                                                                                                                                            |           |                     |                                                                                        | 10-678    | 142 6 0              |
|                                                                                                                                            |           |                     |                                                                                        | 184-678   | 2,462 6 0            |

BAGDAD,
Dated April 3rd, 1935.

(Sd.) ILLEGIBLE,
H. M. Consul.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 198 and 199 asked by Lieut.-Colonel Sir Henry Gidney on the 13th February, 1935.

INCOME-TAX OFFICERS IN BENGAL.

198. (a) and (b). The answer is in the affirmative.

(c) This apparently refers to the scheme of re-organisation to which effect was given from March, 1927. The initial pay of Income-tax Officers was from that date fixed at Rs. 500 and not three but six officers were allowed to draw pay at that rate with effect from 1st March, 1927. Ten more officers were allowed to draw pay at this rate with effect from 1st February, 1928.

(d) (i) and (ii). The reply is in the affirmative.

(iii) In the case of persons recruited to the Department but not transferred from the Provincial Subordinate Service of the Local Government, the designation of Assistant Income-tax Officer was continued till a particular officer was placed in charge of a district. In some cases, however, for special reasons Assistant Income-tax Officers were vested with the powers of an Income-tax Officer and placed in charge of Districts, but for departmental purposes were still treated as Assistant Income-tax Officers.

(e) Which three particular officers are intended is not understood. Of the six officers who were allowed to draw pay at the rate of Rs. 500 per month as stated in reply to part (c), four who came over from the subordinate civil service were designated Income-tax Officers from the date of their original appointment in this department. The last two of the batch of six were designated Assistant Income-tax Officers up till the time they were placed in charge of districts. The four referred to above passed their departmental examination before being placed in independent charge of districts; at the time the other two were placed in charge of districts, they had already passed in all subjects except the vernacular and they passed in these subjects later.

RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE SUPERIOR STAFF OF THE INCOME-TAX DEPARTMENT IN BENGAL.

199. (a), (b), (c) and (e). Yes.

(d) The reply is in the negative. The Civil List of April, 1927, shows in all 69 officers (Income-tax Officers and Assistant Income-tax Officers) grouped together and of these 32 officers were holding charge of districts at that date. Not all the Income-tax Officers and Assistant Income-tax Officers shown in the list were then confirmed.

(f) The answer is in the negative and the orders regarding the re-organisation were strictly adhered to. Those orders did not direct that full effect was to be given to the scheme from the 1st March, 1927; on the contrary they authorised the Commissioner to give gradual effect to the scheme.

(g) (i). The initial pay of these officers was fixed under Fundamental Rule 22 (b) in accordance with the orders of the Government of India.

(ii) and (iii). Of the six officers mentioned in the reply to part (c) of question No. 198 the pay of three was fixed at Rs. 500 from the 1st March, 1927. Their pay immediately prior to this date was Rs. 450 and they were given advance increments of Rs. 50 with effect from the 5th August, 1927, as sanctioned by the Government of India.

(h) All officers other than those referred to in the preceding part were not brought on to the new scale immediately and this was done with the approval of the Government of India.

(i), (j) and (ii). The answer is in the affirmative.

(iii) On a reference to the Civil List it is found that the increment of one Income-tax Officer is drawn from the 2nd of June and it is possible that this officer was transferred to the new scale with effect from the 2nd of June, 1928. If the Honourable Member gives the name of the officer or officers concerned, the matter can be traced.

(j) Representations were made by certain officers some of whom were drawing more than Rs. 500 when the reorganisation orders came into force and some of whom were drawing less. To the former the Commissioner replied that their initial pay in the new scale would be fixed under rule 22 (b) of the Fundamental Rules under which no benefit would accrue to them except that contemplated by that rule and to the latter he replied that as they had been appointed to a new time-scale of pay the question of exercising option under Fundamental Rule 23 did not arise.

(k) The question does not arise as the orders regarding re-organisation were fully observed.

(l) This question also does not arise, as the orders of the Government were fully complied with.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 296 asked by Mr. K. L. Gauba, on the 18th February, 1935.

STAFF AREA COUNCILS FORMED ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

(a) There are at present 39 Areas Staff Councils on the North Western Railway introduced with a view to provide staff both literate and illiterate, through their elected representatives with a means to discuss staff affairs and welfare questions.

(b) The Agent, North Western Railway, reports that no record has been maintained and that the compilation of the information would entail a great deal of labour not commensurate with the results to be obtained.

(c) The Agent, North Western Railway, further reports that glass tumblers are supplied to senior subordinates without racial discrimination. The request made by the Headquarters Area Staff Council was considered but it was not accepted as there are watermen employed in the headquarter's office, who have orders to supply drinking water to the staff.

(d) The Agent, North Western Railway, reports that only one Member of the Headquarters Area Staff Council resigned giving as his reason his inability to continue as a member and that this information in regard to other Area Staff Councils is not available in his office.

(e) and (f). Government understand that the Areas Staff Councils provide the staff both literate and illiterate through their elected representatives, with a means to discuss staff affairs and welfare question and that the resolutions passed by these Councils are given due consideration before decisions are reached and that judging by the extensive use made of this machinery it is much appreciated by the staff. The Government are, therefore, not prepared to accept the suggestion contained in the Honourable Member's question that any money is wasted in maintaining this machinery.

Information promised in reply to parts (b) to (e) of starred question No. 308 asked by Mr. Lalchand Navalrai on the 18th February, 1935.

ALTERATION IN THE DATE OF BIRTH OF LITERATE STAFF ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

308. (b) The Agent, North Western Railway, reports that since 1931 the procedure in connection with the alterations in the recorded dates of birth of illiterate staff has been that applications for alteration in the date of birth are investigated by examining the records and by interviewing the men concerned with a reference to the Medical Officer in case of doubt.

(c) The procedure hitherto did not provide for alterations in the case of literate staff of over five years' service.

(d) and (e). As the procedure followed on the North Western Railway was not strictly in accordance with the intentions of the Railway Board as stated in the reply given by the Chief Commissioner of Railways referred to in the question, the Agent, North Western Railway, has been instructed to modify the instructions so as to admit of each case being dealt with on its merits in accordance with the policy of the Railway Board.

[2ND SEP. 1935.]

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 331 and 590, asked by Sardar Sant Singh on the 20th and 27th February, 1935, respectively.

SECURITY DEMANDED FROM PRESSES, PRINTERS AND PUBLISHERS.
Community of Printers and Publishers as far as known.

| No. of Printing Presses required to give security. | No. of Publishers required to give security. | Europeans. | Anglo-Indians. | Hindus. | Muslims. | Sikhs. | Indian Christians. | Burmese. | Others. | No. of cases in which security has been forfeited. | No. of cases in which appeals have been filed. | Result of appeal.                                              | Remarks. |
|----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|------------|----------------|---------|----------|--------|--------------------|----------|---------|----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 322                                                | 509                                          | :          | :              | 574     | 142      | 83     | 5                  | 4        | 3       | 34                                                 | 17                                             | Appeals dismissed in 12 cases and orders set aside in 5 cases. |          |

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

73

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 341 asked by Khan Sahib Sheikh Fazl-i-Haq Piracha on the 20th February, 1935.

CONSIDERATION OF THE CLAIMS OF GUARDS OF THE RAWALPINDI DIVISION WHO FAILED IN THE NIGHT VISION TEST.

The Agent, North Western Railway, reports as follows :

(a) The duties and the functions of the Central Labour Exchange, Moghalpura, as they obtained in 1931 are contained in the attached Memorandum. Since then the work of absorbing surplus staff has also been placed under the control of that Exchange.

(b) and (g). Staff declared medically unfit for employment in their own category, but considered fit for employment in other classes in which at the moment no suitable appointment can be found, are considered eligible for leave due preparatory to retirement. Employees who are granted such leave may, if suitable appointments can be found for them while they are on leave, be recalled and put back to work in those appointments. In addition to this, orders have lately been issued that even after the expiration of leave pending retirement such staff should be considered to have a prior claim before outsiders for any suitable employment which may become available.

(c) and (d). Responsibility for attempting to find employment for Guards who have failed in night vision rests primarily with the Divisions, who register their names, sending a copy for information to the Central Labour Exchange. It has been found possible during the last two years to provide alternative employment for such Guards on the Lahore, Delhi, Multan and Quetta Divisions to a greater extent than on the Rawalpindi Division where a fewer number of vacancies have occurred.

(e) The following is a list of seven guards who have failed in vision test on the Rawalpindi Division since 1932 and for whom no suitable employment has yet been found. Out of these seven, four are still on leave preparatory to retirement and the remaining three have retired on expiration of their leave. Their names and the dates on which each of the seven men failed are given below :

| Name.                                     | Date on which failed.                               |
|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Mr. Kanshi Ram .. ..                   | 5th July, 1932 Passed C-2. Unfit for Luggage Guard. |
| 2. Mr. Des Raj, son of Devi Dial .. ..    | 29th October, 1932.                                 |
| 3. Mr. Krishen Lal .. ..                  | 9th May, 1933.                                      |
| 4. Mr. Khushwaqt Rai .. ..                | 12th September, 1933.                               |
| 5. Mr. Shiv Nath .. ..                    | 3rd November, 1933.                                 |
| 6. Mr. Allah Ditta .. ..                  | 10th April, 1934.                                   |
| 7. Mr. Des Raj, son of Shanker Dass .. .. | 19th November, 1934.                                |

(f) The names of such employees are not borne on any waiting list of retrenched staff, but they were noted for suitable employment, as described in the reply to parts (b) and (j) above from the dates mentioned in paragraph (e).

There are at present no vacancies of the Luggage or Road Van guards on the Rawalpindi Division to be filled up.

(h) Such Guards will only draw pay during the period of their leave pending retirement and not during any interval which may elapse between the expiration of that leave and the date of their re-employment.

Memorandum.

1. The Central Labour Exchange will maintain a complete record of the name with full particulars of every individual employee discharged as surplus to establishment under the present economy campaign on the new Labour Exchange Card.

2. The names and full particulars of such staff must, therefore, be communicated to the Central Labour Exchange irrespective of whether any such men have since been given fresh employment, have secured employment elsewhere, expressed their unwillingness to serve again or are unlikely to accept any offer of fresh employment for any other reason.

3. The Central Labour Exchange will perform the work of recruitment of all staff in classes and grades controlled by Head Office from amongst discharged surplus employees and therefore demands must be placed on him when vacancies in such categories occur.

4. Divisions and extra-divisional officers will perform the work of recruitment of all staff in classes and grades controlled by them from amongst discharged surplus employees so long as they are able to comply with certain conditions and when no longer able to do so, will place their demands on the Central Labour Exchange.

5. To enable Divisional and extra-divisional offices to work to these general principles and the Central Labour Exchange to supervise the offers of fresh employment Form C (copy attached) will continue to be used but will be amplified by the addition of columns to show the following information :

- (i) Community,
- (ii) Date of discharge,
- (iii) The offer of employment made with scale and rate of pay,
- (iv) Acceptances of offers of employment,
- (v) Rejections of offers of employment,
- (vi) Failures to reply to offers of employment.

6. Commencing with the week ending 4th July, 1931, Form C (copy attached) revised should be prepared in triplicate, one copy being forwarded to the Central Labour Exchange with a certificate that all names of discharged employees have been communicated and thereafter a weekly statement to show any further discharges that may take place accompanied by a certificate that no names have been omitted, a nil statement being submitted when no discharges have taken place, one copy handed to your Assistant Staff Warden and one kept by you.

7. When making offers of fresh employment to discharged staff of classes and grades controlled by you the order of seniority observed at the time of discharge will be applied when re-employing surplus staff, e.g., the most senior discharged employee, according to whether discharge was based on Divisional, Sub-divisional sectional seniority or the seniority at a station shed or in a trade or from among staff working under an individual, will be the first to be offered fresh employment subject to the instructions in regard to the adequate representation of minority communities.

8. A fresh service record is to be opened for each discharged employee given fresh employment and old records carefully filed, where such an employee has had previous service elsewhere his old record must be called and the Central Labour Exchange informed of his re-employment at the same time.

9. An ex-employee refusing fresh employment in his substantive appointment, is not to be given another offer without reference to this office.

10. An ex-employee refusing fresh employment in lower post may be given another offer of employment in turn in his substantive appointment without penalty.

11. An employee accepting fresh employment in a post lower than that previously held by him substantively or demoted or having accepted employment in a lower post as an alternative to discharge under reduction of establishment should subject to good work, be given due consideration for promotion in turn as interpreted in item 7 above when a suitable opportunity offers to the class or grade in which he was formerly employed or to a post of an equivalent or lower rank.

12. All acceptances, rejections and failures to reply to offers of employment must be duly recorded.

13. It is not proposed to fix a time-limit during which offers of employment will remain open in view of the distances the homes of such men may be from their work and the possibility of poor facilities for transport but ordinarily not less than one week should be allowed.

14. No outsider is to be engaged without the authority of this office.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

| 1     | 2              | 3          | 4            | 5              | 6                    | 7             | 8                   | 9                       | 10                 | 11                                                       | 12                                                       | 13                                   | 14                                  | 15                                         | 16 | Remarks. |
|-------|----------------|------------|--------------|----------------|----------------------|---------------|---------------------|-------------------------|--------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----|----------|
| Name. | Father's name. | Community. | Designation. | Date of birth. | Date of appointment. | Scale of pay. | Pay actually drawn. | Date of last increment. | Date of discharge. | Posts other than his own for which considered qualified. | The offer of employment made with scale and rate of pay. | Acceptances of offers of employment. | Rejections of offers of employment. | Failures to reply to offers of employment. |    |          |

Divisional Superintendent,
Head of Office.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 393, 395 and 396 asked by Mr. Mohan Lal Saxena on the 21st February, 1935.

DEGRADATION OF PERSONS WHO FAIL TO PASS THE REFRESHER COURSES OF THE CHANDAUSI AND ASANSOL RAILWAY SCHOOLS.

393. (a) There is no Training School at Asansol. As regards the school at Chandausi, Government are informed that the Divisional Superintendents have been given discretion to decide on the merits of each case the fitness of staff who fail in Refresher Courses for continuance in their posts and whether further increments should or should not be withheld.

(b) Yes, according to the orders current at the time.

(c) The object of the Refresher Courses is to keep the staff posted up to date in rules directly connected with their duties and to maintain a uniform standard of efficiency. In the case of train passing staff these courses also serve a double purpose in that they ensure compliance with rules 327 and 350 of the Indian State Railways—General Rules for Open Lines of Railways in British India which require that an operator of block and token instruments shall hold a certificate of competency and that the certificate shall be periodically renewed. The danger to life and limb associated with train operation is a matter of such gravity to passengers and railway staff that the necessity for a periodical test of the efficiency of those responsible cannot be exaggerated.

(d) Government consider that it is necessary to take steps to see that the staff maintain the degree of efficiency required to ensure the safety and comfort of the travelling public and to prevent deterioration of the modern standard of proficiency which it is the aim of railways to maintain.

(e) Government do not propose to issue any general orders but Divisional Superintendents have been authorised to review past cases of failure to pass the Refresher Course.

DEMOTION OF CERTAIN DRIVERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

395. (a) Yes.

(b) These men were demoted in 1931 as a measure of economy. No undertaking was given to them, but in the instructions issued by the Railway Board for the guidance of the Agents, State-managed Railways, re. carrying out the reduction of staff, it was laid down that when an employee who is retained in a lower post is subsequently promoted to his former grade, due consideration should be paid to the length and character of his previous service in determining his pay on such promotion.

(c), (d), (e) and (f). The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that under the rules these employees could only be given pay on re-promotion to their former grades at the rates previously drawn by them.

The Chief Operating Superintendent, however, erroneously issued orders fixing their pay at rates which they would have drawn had they not been demoted. These orders were ultra vires of the terms of Fundamental Rule 26 (a) according to which only periods of service in a post on a time-scale count for increment in that scale. Revised orders were therefore issued in August, 1934, regarding the fixation of their pay in conformity with the rules.

(g) In view of the position explained in reply to parts (c), (d), (e) and (f) of the question, Government do not consider it necessary to order the re-fixation of their salaries.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN THE SUPPLY OF UNIFORMS AND OCCUPATION OF QUARTERS, ETC., IN THE MORADABAD DIVISION, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

396. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) Racial discrimination in the matter of supply of uniforms has been eliminated in the revised dress regulations. Quarters are provided for staff in accordance with their grades and modes of living and racial discrimination is not made. Running rooms are constructed so as to meet the requirements of the different communities, as different castes and creeds object to living and eating in the same rooms.

(b) Uniform is supplied in accordance with the grade of the Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters irrespective of whether the grade is occupied by a European, Anglo-Indian or an Indian.

(c) and (d). Government are informed that full uniforms are provided for certain grades of Assistant Station Masters while for other less important grades only jackets are provided. Government do not consider it necessary to provide full uniforms to all grades of Station Masters and Assistant Station Masters.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 406, 407 and 408, asked by Mr. Muhammad Anwar-ul-Azim, on the 21st February, 1935.

IGNORING OF THE CLAIMS OF OLD TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

406. (a) Special Ticket Examiners who have been given the option to retain the scales of pay, formerly allowed to Travelling Ticket Examiners, as personal to them throughout, will be borne on a pro forma list and their promotions regulated in accordance with the vacancies occurring among the old Travelling Ticket Examiners, according to the number of posts which existed on 31st May, 1931. Government are informed that no outsiders have been appointed on the old scales of pay of Travelling Ticket Examiners and their chances of promotion to higher grades on the old scales of pay have not been affected.

(b) and (d). No. Presumably the Honourable Member is referring to Mr. Bhagat Singh, Watch and Ward Inspector (pay Rs. 140 per mensem), who was selected to officiate as a Head Special Ticket Examiner on Rs. 210 per mensem (in the grade Rs. 210—10—270) on the 16th July, 1926. His service on the North Western Railway dates from 17th July, 1923, and his pay was regulated under Article 526 of the Civil Service Regulations.

(c) Government are informed that railway administrations have framed no rules relating to the pay of military pensioners on employment which is regulated under Article 526 of the Civil Service Regulations. Government are, however, informed that there has been no breach of the rule referred to above.

(e) This is a matter which has been left to the Agent to decide. Government are not prepared to interfere with the action taken.

NON-MAINTENANCE OF THE STRENGTH OF THE OLD TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

407. (a) No. In the letter referred to an option was given to special Ticket Examiners who prior to the 1st June, 1931, held permanent posts as Travelling Ticket Examiners in a substantive capacity of retaining the old scales of pay as personal to them.

(b) Yes.

(c) Seven with effect from January, 1932. The strength is in accordance with present requirements.

(d) Yes. The action taken is in accordance with that decision.

(e) Yes.

PROMOTION OF OLD TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

408. (a) (i). 12.

(ii) 1.

(b) 12.

(c) 12 from dates varying from June, 1932 to June, 1934.

(d) It is not the practice to publish the seniority lists of staff of this description.

(e) One for about 10 months.

Information promised in reply to part (d) of unstarred question No. 42 asked by Srijut N. C. Bardaloi on the 22nd February, 1935.

INDIAN TEA LICENSING COMMITTEE.

There are no tea estates in South India, in which existing members of the Licensing Committee are interested, which have been inspected by or on behalf of the Indian Tea Licensing Committee. One estate, namely Talliar, in which a previous member of the Licensing Committee is interested was, however, inspected by an Officer appointed by the Licensing Committee.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 51 asked by U Thien Maung, on the 22nd February, 1935.

BURMANS EMPLOYED AS OFFICERS IN CERTAIN DEPARTMENTS AND SERVICES IN BURMA.

| Name of Department or service.              | (a)Number and percentage of Burmans. | (b)All India percentage of Indians. | (c)Steps being taken by Government to increase the number of Burmans in the near future.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|---------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. RAILWAY DEPARTMENT. (GAZETTED OFFICERS.) | 8 and 7.2 ..                             | 41.25 ..                                | The Burma Railway Company accepted the recommendation of the Lee Commission with a reservation in regard to Burmans instead of Indians to the extent of 75 per cent. adding that this percentage could only be reached if the requisite number of qualified Burmans became available. Since the taking over of the Burma Railways by the Government of India in 1929 recruitment to the superior services on the Burma Railways has been made under the same arrangements as are applicable to recruitment to the Superior State Railway Services in India. The Railway Board have, however, appointed suitable qualified Burmans or persons of Burma domicile as far as possible. Two such persons were appointed last year, one for training in the Engineering Department and the other for training in the Mechanical Engineering and Transportation (Power) Departments; the former has since been appointed to the service. The future arrangements will be arrived at after discussion between the management of the Burma Railways and the Burma Government. |

| Name of Department or service.                                                                                                 | (a)Number and percentage of Burmans.      | (b)All India percentage of Indians.        | (c)Steps being taken by Government to increase the number of Burmans in the near future.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 2. TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT. (SUPERIOR TELEGRAPH ENGINEERING AND WIRELESS BRANCHES OF THE INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.) | Nil ..                                        | Does not arise                                 | In the rules for recruitment to the Superior Telegraphs Engineering and Wireless Branches published in 1932 and 1933 preference was given to a Burman in respect of the vacancy reserved for a member of a minority community, but on both occasions a qualified Burman was not available. As recruitment to these Branches is by competitive examination held by the Public Service Commission and in view of the revised rules published in July 1934 on the subject of communal representation in Central Services recruited on an all-India basis, Government regret that they are unable to take any special steps to recruit Burmans to the Superior Telegraph Engineering and Wireless Branches unless individual Burman candidates attain a high qualifying standard in the examination. |
| 3. CUSTOMS ..                                                                                                                  | Class I : Nil ..Class II : 3 and 12.50.   | Class I : 56%Class II : 57%                | No special reservation have been made for Burmans in the Customs service.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 4. MILITARY POLICE.                                                                                                            | 46 and 15.97 ..                               | The Military Police is not an all-India force. | A re-organisation of the Burma Military Police is proposed under which the number and percentage of Burman officers will be increased to 66 and 22.06 respectively.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 5. ARMY ..                                                                                                                     | 68 and 47.8 ..                                | 6.16 ..                                        | No particular steps are being taken to increase the number of Burmans for appointment to the Army. They are now recruited to the full establishment of the units of the Burma Rifles. They are, however, eligible for entry into the Indian Military Academy, Dehra Dun, as Indians are, either direct or through the ranks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 6. INCOME-TAX                                                                                                                  | Class I : 1 and 20%Class II : 27 and 47%. | Class I : 78Class II : 96                  | Same as for Customs.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

| Name of Department or service.                                     | (a)Number and percentage of Burmans.                                             | (b)All India percentage of Indians.              | (c)Steps being taken by Government to increase the number of Burmans in the near future.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 7. CURRENCY OFFICE, RANGOON.                                       | Nil ..                                                                               | Does not arise                                       | Same as for Customs.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 8. THE ACCOUNTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, RANGOON.                       | Officers of the I. 2 and 28.57 ..Nil ..Assistant Accounts Officers. 97.37 .. | A. and A. S. 86.83 ..Accounts Officers. 97.37 .. | Same as for Customs.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 9. INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE (INCLUDING OFFICERS HOLDING LISTED POSTS). | 39 and 25.49 ..                                                                      | 43.11 ..                                             | A certain number of vacancies in Burma is set apart for Burman candidates every year. Besides, officers of the Provincial Civil Service are eligible for promotion to listed posts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 10. INDIAN POLICE.                                                 | 8 and 10.67 ..                                                                       | 25.88 ..                                             | According to the scheme accepted by the Secretary of State the Indian Police cadre in Burma is eventually to consist of 50 per cent. Burmans. Recruitment in the province is being regulated accordingly and the number of Burmans is thus being gradually increased.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 11. INDIAN MEDICAL SERVICE.                                        | 3 and 9 ..(excluding temporary Commissioned officers.)                           | 34 (Excluding temporary Commissioned officers).      | Burmans are eligible for selection for commissions in the Indian Medical Service equally with other Indians. The numbers admitted depend upon the merits of the Burman candidates offering in comparison with others.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 12. THE RANGOON PORT TRUST.                                        | 23 and 27 ..                                                                         | Information not collected.                           | The power to fill appointments in the service of the Rangoon Port Commissioners, other than the appointments of Chairman and Vice-Chairman, vests in the Commissioners themselves by virtue of the Rangoon Port Act, 1905. The Commissioners normally fill their higher appointments by promotion from the lower grades. When, however, there is no employee available with the required qualifications and recruitment has to be made from outside, special consideration is given to candidates of Burman domicile. |

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 104 asked by Mr. Sri Prakasa on the 22nd February, 1935.

LAVATORIES IN THE THIRD CLASS CARRIAGES ON THE BENGAL AND NORTH WESTERN AND THE BOMBAY, BARODA AND CENTRAL INDIA RAILWAYS.

I. Lighting arrangements.

Bengal and North Western Railway.—There are no lavatories in third class carriages without lights but in some of the older carriages light is admitted from carriage lighting through panes of glass at the tops of lavatory doors. Separate bulbs are being fitted in the lavatories of these carriages as they pass through shops for periodical repairs and orders have been given to expedite the work.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway.—Lights have been provided in the latrines of all third class compartments on Metre Gauge system.

II. Accommodation.

Bengal and North Western Railway.—In coaches of recent construction the design admitted of third class latrines measuring 12 square feet and this scale of accommodation will be provided in stock to be built in future. The old carriages have latrines with an area of 8.54 square feet. When these carriages come into shops for rebuilding, the floor area of latrines will be increased to approximately 12 square feet.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway.—The latrines of old third class carriages, which are now few in number, have a floor area of 6 to 10.5 square feet. All the latrines of new stock now built have an area of 12 to 12.5 square feet and over, except Bogie third and Brake Vans, which have 9 square feet floor area owing to the position of the bogies and the Guard's hand-brake, top operated.

Information promised in reply to part (a) (ii) of starred question No. 540 asked by Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya on the 25th February, 1935.

CERTAIN PARTICULARS REGARDING EAST INDIAN RAILWAY EMPLOYEES.

The number of retrenched staff re-employed, after the retrenchment in 1931 up to July, 1935, on the East Indian Railway, was 3,963.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 573 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on the 26th February, 1935.

MILEAGE ALLOWANCE OF TRAIN DESPATCH CLERKS, ETC., OF THE OLD OUDH AND ROHILKUND RAILWAY.

The reply to the first part is in the affirmative. Government have, however, been informed since that the previous reply, referred to by the Honourable Member, related to Train Despatch Clerks who travel in trains taking and delivering railway dak on the old Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway portion of the East Indian Railway and are not entitled to mileage allowances. Persons now referred to by the Honourable Member are supernumerary brakemen of the old Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway who, pending absorption in some other suitable posts, are being utilised to work as letter delivery clerks and are being paid mileage allowance because they were entitled to it as brakemen. Government consider that the continuance of their mileage allowances to staff working as letter delivery clerks is not according to their present policies and the Agent, East Indian Railway, has been instructed to discontinue the practice and to absorb the men in categories the duties of which they are actually performing.

L163LAD

Information promised in reply to the supplementaries to starred question No. 598 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on the 27th February, 1935.

DIFFERENT CADRES OF THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The information readily available is contained in the following publications :

- (1) East Indian Railway Classified List of subordinate staff of all Departments on scales of pay rising to Rs. 250 and above.
- (2) East Indian Railway Revised scales of pay (1934) for non-gazetted staff.
- (3) Classified List of State Railway Establishment and Distribution Return of Establishment of all Railways.

Copies of these publications will be found in the Library of the House.

Information promised in reply to parts (d) and (e) of starred question No. 602 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on the 27th February, 1935.

TRANSFER OF CONTROL OF THE RAILWAY SCHOOL OF TRANSPORTATION, CHANDAUSI, TO THE AGENT, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

“(d) The staff of Railway Schools of Transportation at Chandausi were fitted into the revised scales of pay from the 16th August, 1933, the date from which they elected the revised scales of pay.

(e) The Circular in question was not applied with retrospective effect, but from the 16th August, 1933.”

Information promised in reply to a supplementary question by Professor N. G. Ranga to starred question No. 612 asked by Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad on the 27th February, 1935.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT OF A SUGAR FACTORY.

The minimum prices of sugar cane fixed by the Governments of the United Provinces and Bihar and Orissa, for the season 1934-35, were published in the United Provinces Government's notification No. 2918|XVIII-676-34, dated the 25th October, 1934, and the Bihar and Orissa Government's notification No. 2284-D., dated the 10th December, 1934, respectively. Copies of these notifications have been placed in the Library of the Legislature.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 628 asked by Dr. N. B. Khare on the 27th February, 1935.

PROMOTION OF INDIAN GUARDS ON THE GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY.

The Agent, Great Indian Peninsula Railway, reports :

(a) No Indian guards have been promoted to the passenger service. All vacancies since the current policy was introduced have been filled by retrenched passenger guards.

(b) No Anglo-Indian and European goods guards are stationed and working on branch lines. At present Anglo-Indian and European guards are in the higher grades which are not utilised for branch line working. Owing to the fall in traffic, etc., recruitment according to the current policy has been at a standstill.

(c) Although designated and paid as “goods” guards those working on branch lines are required to work all services on the branch lines. Indian goods guards are eligible for promotion to the passenger grades. None have yet been promoted because their turn for promotion on seniority has not occurred ; promotion generally has been restricted by the fall in traffic and economy measures.

(d) Yes, Indian goods guards have not been promoted to passenger service along with Anglo-Indian and European guards for the reasons given in parts (a) and (c) of the question.

(e) Indian goods guards are allowed to work off and on on passenger services on the main line. They have given satisfaction on such service. They have not been promoted to the passenger service for the reasons already stated in parts (a) and (c) of the question.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 127 asked by Mr. B. B. Varma on the 5th March, 1935.

NON-ADOPTION OF SHORT TIME METHOD OF SPREADING WORK IN STATE RAILWAY WORKSHOPS.

With the exception of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, State-owned Railways generally adopted short-time working in most of their workshops for varying periods. A statement giving the required information is placed below.

Statement showing the number of skilled, unskilled and semi-skilled labour employed in each of the State-owned Railway Workshops at the end of official year 1934-35.

| Name of Railway.                  | Number of labour employed. |               |            | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                     |
|-----------------------------------|----------------------------|---------------|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                   | Skilled.                   | Semi-skilled. | Unskilled. |                                                                                                                                                              |
| South Indian ..                   | 2,994                      | 257           | 879        | * The classification given in the question is not used. The number of employees of the artisan class and inferior labourers is 6,801 and 2,997 respectively. |
| Assam Bengal ..                   | 1,499                      | ..            | 707        |                                                                                                                                                              |
| Great Indian Peninsula            | *                          | *             | *          |                                                                                                                                                              |
| Madras and Southern Mahratta.     | 5,743                      | 1,272         | 1,572      | † Include 245, 532, 407; skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled temporary labourers respectively.                                                               |
| North Western ..                  | 6,330†                     | 2,458†        | 2,273†     |                                                                                                                                                              |
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India. | 6,233                      | 2,461         | 3,462      |                                                                                                                                                              |
| Burma ..                          | 1,693                      | 405           | 822        | ‡ In addition there are 90 men who have not yet been classified as skilled or semi-skilled.                                                                  |
| Bengal Nagpur ..                  | 3,661‡                     | 2,584‡        | 3,011      |                                                                                                                                                              |
| East Indian ..                    | 11,850§                    | 4,604§        | 4,249      | § Includes 330 Trade apprentices.                                                                                                                            |
| Eastern Bengal ..                 | 2,487                      | 3,386         | 1,621      |                                                                                                                                                              |

Information promised in reply to a supplementary question by Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad to starred question No. 723 asked by Mr. S. Satyamurti on the 7th March, 1935.

PERSONNEL OF THE INDIAN LAC RESEARCH INSTITUTE.

There are standing instructions for the supply to the Library of the Legislative Assembly of all publications issued by the Indian Lac Research Institute and a complete set of the publications issued so far is available in the Library of the House.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 146 asked by Mr. S.K. Hosmani on the 9th March, 1935.

EMPLOYMENT OF A WATCHMAN ON THE SHEDRAH LAKIN ROAD LEVEL CROSSING OF THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY.

The Agent, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, reports :

(a) Only one accident occurred at the level crossing referred to during the last two months. This was entirely due to the carelessness of the cart driver in not exercising sufficient caution before crossing the Railway.

(b) There is no permanent watchman at this crossing. It is not proposed to provide one, as the amount of traffic using the crossing does not justify such an appointment.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 149 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 9th March, 1935.

PROMOTIONS OF INDIAN GUARDS ON THE GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY.

The Agent, Great Indian Peninsula Railway, reports :

"(a) No representation has been received in this office at present. The question has been raised in the Railway Staff Council where it is under discussion.

(b) A statement, giving the required information is attached.

(c) Posts of passenger guards on the main line are not being denied to Indians. They are eligible and will undoubtedly be promoted to the grades working the main line, but up to the present, promotion has been slow owing to light traffic and economy measure.

(d) Yes.

(e) The procedure for promotion of present "B" grade guards, if suitable and when vacancies occur is under consideration with the Railway Staff Council on which the staff are represented."

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Summary Statement showing Number and Percentage of Guards by Communities employed on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

|                                             | Europeans. |       | Anglo-Indians. |       | Hindus. |       | Mahomedans. |       | Indian Christians. |       | Parsees. |      | Other classes. |      | Total No. of Guards. |    |
|---------------------------------------------|------------|-------|----------------|-------|---------|-------|-------------|-------|--------------------|-------|----------|------|----------------|------|----------------------|----|
|                                             | No.        | %     | No.            | %     | No.     | %     | No.         | %     | No.                | %     | No.      | %    | No.            | %    |                      |    |
| " A " Grade Passenger Guards ..             | 53         | 31.55 | 114            | 67.86 | ..      | ..    | ..          | ..    | ..                 | ..    | ..       | ..   | 1              | 0.59 | 168                  | .. |
| " A " Grade Goods Guards ..                 | 8          | 11.11 | 60             | 83.33 | 1       | 1.39  | 1           | 1.39  | 2                  | 2.78  | ..       | ..   | ..             | ..   | 72                   | .. |
| " B " Grade Goods Guards ..                 | ..         | ..    | 1              | 0.30  | 139     | 41.61 | 82          | 24.55 | 79                 | 23.65 | 27       | 8.09 | 6              | 1.80 | 334                  | .. |
| " C " Grade Goods Guards ..                 | ..         | ..    | 1              | 1.45  | 39      | 56.52 | 18          | 26.09 | 9                  | 13.04 | 1        | 1.45 | 1              | 1.45 | 69                   | .. |
| Branch Line Guards ..                       | ..         | ..    | ..             | ..    | 15      | 55.56 | 8           | 29.63 | 4                  | 14.81 | ..       | ..   | ..             | ..   | 27                   | .. |
| Pilot Guards ..                             | ..         | ..    | ..             | ..    | 6       | 46.16 | 6           | 46.16 | 1                  | 7.68  | ..       | ..   | ..             | ..   | 13                   | .. |
| " C " Grade Multiple Unit Service Guards .. | ..         | ..    | 1              | 1.61  | 41      | 66.13 | 12          | 19.36 | 8                  | 12.90 | ..       | ..   | ..             | ..   | 62                   | .. |

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 159 asked by Mr. B. B. Varma on the 9th March, 1935.

POSTING OF ASSISTANT SURGEONS TO HOSPITALS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) Three hospitals with 10 beds in each and 23 dispensaries with emergency beds ranging from 2 to 7 beds in each.

(b) No. With one exception the Sub-Assistant Surgeons on the East Indian Railway are qualified to practice medicine, surgery and midwifery under the various Medical Acts of the Legislature in force in this country and, therefore, are fully qualified to perform major operations.

(c) This is not necessary as no disability is suffered by employees owing to the absence of Assistant Surgeons in certain railway hospitals.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 198 asked by Mr. B. B. Varma on the 9th March, 1935.

TREATMENT OF INDIAN STAFF IN THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY HOSPITAL AT TUNDLA.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) Three.

(b) No.

(c) No.

(d) The number of Indian Maternity cases treated during the last three years is 36 with 1 mortality. The number of non-Indian Maternity cases treated during the last three years is 35 with no mortality.

(e) It is not known, whether the services of a private doctor are available in or about Tundla. There is no Assistant Surgeon posted at the Railway Hospital. It is not a fact that Indian patients do not obtain adequate medical assistance in serious cases at the Railway hospital.

(f) No. The District Medical Officer attends to all patients without racial discrimination. No separate records of Indians and non-Indians are kept in the out-Patient's Department.

During the last 3 years 124 non-Indians and 1,370 Indians were treated as indoor patients. The District Medical Officer is responsible to the Railway administration for all these patients.

(g) No fee is charged for accommodation and treatment. In addition employees drawing a salary up to Rs. 30 per month get free diet at the Hospital.

Information promised in reply to parts (a) to (c) of unstarred question No. 160 asked by Mr. B. B. Varma on the 9th March, 1935.

STAFF CLASSIFIED AS INTERMITTENT ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

(a) No.

(b) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports as follows :

| Division.         | Total number of intermittent workers. | Number of intermittent workers housed in Railway quarters near their places of work. |
|-------------------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Howrah .. .. .    | 2,748                                 | 1,099                                                                                |
| Asansol .. .. .   | 2,549                                 | 1,578                                                                                |
| Dinapore.. .. .   | 1,870                                 | 1,140                                                                                |
| Allahabad .. .. . | 2,098                                 | 1,329                                                                                |
| Lucknow.. .. .    | 1,536                                 | 1,337                                                                                |
| Moradabad .. .. . | 2,391                                 | 1,457                                                                                |

(c) The Hours of Employment Regulations do not provide rest days for intermittent workers.

Information promised in reply to unstarred questions Nos. 161, 169, 171, 172, 173, 177, 182 and 197 asked by Mr. B. B. Varma on the 9th March, 1935.

WORKING HOURS OF STATION MASTERS ON CERTAIN STATIONS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

161. No. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that :

(i) the duty hours of the station masters of Zamania, Chausa, Saiyadraja, Karmnasa, Majhwar, Twining Ganj and Sakaldiha are 58½ a week ;

(ii) the duty hours of the station master, Fatehpur, are 56 a week and that

(iii) the duty hours of the station master at Chandausi do not normally exceed 60 a week.

NON-SUPPLY OF WINTER UNIFORMS TO TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS AND INSPECTORS IN THE HOWRAH DIVISION.

169. (a) Government understand winter uniforms have not been supplied to the staff referred to employed on the three Lower Divisions, viz., Howrah, Dinapur and Asansol Divisions.

(b) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that during 1933-34 it was decided, as a measure of economy, to curtail the supply of winter uniforms to certain categories of staff on the three Lower Divisions by extending the period of use from one year to two years. It has since been decided from the coming winter of 1935-36 again to supply winter uniforms annually.

PROMOTION OF ASSISTANT STATION MASTERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

171. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that Grade II of guards is not regarded as a normal channel of promotion for Assistant Station Masters as the scales of pay for these classes of employees are more or less similar.

There have been cases in which Assistant Station Masters have been transferred to the guards' grade but these are exceptions.

FILLING UP OF RELIEVING VACANCIES ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

172. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

Relieving vacancies of controllers are filled by relieving guards or Senior Assistant Station Masters according as the duration of the vacancy justifies transfers of permanent staff or not.

Relieving vacancies of platform Assistants are normally filled by relieving guards.

UNIFORMS SUPPLIED TO INDIAN ASSISTANT STATION MASTERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

173. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that full uniforms are provided for certain grades of Assistant Station Masters while for other less important grades only jackets are provided.

REST AVAILABLE TO THE TICKET CHECKING STAFF AT GAYA, PATNA AND DINAPORE.

177. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that the average periods of inaction of ticket checking staff at Gaya, Patna Junction and Dinapore who are classed as intermittent under the Hours of Employment Regulations and whose duty hours are 12 a day, are 6½, 7½ and 7½ hours respectively.

SENIORITY LISTS OF ASSISTANT STATION MASTERS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

182. (a) The Agent, North Western Railway, reports that seniority of subordinates in a grade or class on the North Western Railway, is reckoned from the date, each employee is confirmed in the Grade or Class.

(b) This is considered unnecessary.

It may, however, be added for the information of the Honourable Member that on the State-managed Railways seniority lists of subordinate staff on scales of pay rising to more than Rs. 250 a month are published though it is not distributed to staff and that seniority lists in manuscript form for all grades and categories of subordinate staff are maintained and the staff concerned have no difficulty in obtaining access to them.

EAST INDIAN RAILWAY UNION AT DINAPORE.

197. (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) Government understand that the union has not been recognised by the Agent, East Indian Railway.

Information promised in reply to parts (b) and (f) of unstarred question No. 205 asked by Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Henry Gidney on the 9th March, 1935.

OPTION TO ELECT NEW LEAVE RULES TO THE STAFF ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

205. (b) and (f). The staff appointed on the North Western Railway between the 1st April, 1927 and the 22nd August, 1927 (both dates inclusive) have since been given the option either to come under the New State Railway Leave Rules or to continue to be governed by the old leave Rules.

Government see no reason to give any option to the staff appointed on or after the 23rd August, 1927, as they were made aware before their appointment that they would come under the New State Railway Leave Rules, when introduced.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 209 asked by Mr. N. M. Joshi on the 9th March, 1935.

FILLING UP OF THE POSTS OF TRANSPORTATION INSPECTORS AND TRAIN CONTROLLERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

“(a) 16 and 31 posts of Transportation Inspectors and Train Controllers, respectively, were filled permanently during the last two years.

(b) The cases of staff who, officiated as Transportation Inspector were considered when filling up vacancies. No Transportation Inspectors were demoted to lower grades on account of economy during the last two years.

Two Section Controllers who were demoted on account of economy did not wish to be restored to their original posts.”

Information promised in reply to the supplementary question asked by Mr. N. C. Bardoloi in connection with starred question No. 797 by Mr. Basanta Kumar Das on the 11th March, 1935.

REPORT OF THE ASSAM FLOOD ENQUIRY COMMITTEE.

The provision of waterways on the Section between Chaparmukh and Silghat Stations is as given below :

| Bridge.     | Mile.       | Old Bridge. | New Bridge.  | Lft. increase. | Old Channel area. | New Channel area. | Approximate increase on old Channel. |
|-------------|-------------|-------------|--------------|----------------|-------------------|-------------------|--------------------------------------|
| ..          | 424 C.S.    | 3'          | 30           | 27             | 10                | 253               | 2,330%                               |
| Kamarjan .. | 425½ C.S.   | 5×20        | 5×202×30 | 60             | 10,20             | 2,200             | 118%                                 |
| Ranthali .. | 426-71 C.S. | 5×20        | 4×40         | 60             | 1,027             | 2,250             | 119%                                 |
| Diman ..    | 431-47 C.S. | 3×20        | 2×301×20 | 20             | 400               | 800               | 100%                                 |

The reason for the enlargement of these waterways is a change in the course of the Jamuna river at Jamunamukh some 18 miles away ; there always have been waterways between Chaparmukh and Silghat which in the past had been sufficient.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 822 to 825 asked by Bhai Parma Nand on the 11th March, 1935.

DUTIES OF NUMBER-TAKERS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

822. The Agent, North Western Railway, reports :

(a) and (b). The duties of Number Takers employed on the North Western Railway are not similar to those performed by the Assistant Train Examiners on the East Indian Railway. A comparative statement showing the duties of the two is attached.

(c) All the Number Takers are literate, but only a few of them are Matriculates.

(d) On the East Indian Railway Assistant Train Examiners who successfully pass prescribed tests and examinations at the Training School and possess the requisite standard of qualifications are eligible for promotion to the grade of Train Examiner according to the vacancies available. As Number Takers on the North Western Railway receive no technical training either before or after entering service they cannot be considered for promotion to the post of Train Examiners.

Comparative statement showing the duties of Number Takers employed on the North Western Railway and those performed by the Assistant Train Examiners on the East Indian Railway.

| Duties of Number Takers employed on the North Western Railway.                                                   | Duties of Assistant Train Examiners employed on the East Indian Railway.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Notes numbers of vehicles of all trains on arrival and departure.                                             | Assistant Train Examiners who are in independent charge are personally responsible for detecting, on all vehicles examined by them, any defects which might cause an accident or which render a vehicle unfit to carry safely a load of goods or passengers. Other staff allotted to the Assistant Train Examiners do not in any way relieve Assistant Train Examiners of this responsibility. |
| 2. Assistant Train Examiners in maintaining records such as Vacuum Brakes Registers and Vacuum Repair Registers. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 3. Assistant Train Examiners in clerical work.                                                                   | Assistant Train Examiners when posted to work under Train Examiners, assist in the examination of trains but do not in any way relieve the Train Examiner of his responsibility for examination in general.                                                                                                                                                                                    |

TRAIN EXAMINERS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

823. (a) Yes, but steps are being taken to improve their standard of efficiency by means of Refresher Courses at the Walton Training School.

(b) Out of the total number of 270 Train Examiners employed at present on this Railway, there are 41 Train Examiners who were initially recruited as Number Takers. These men were, in the first instance, transferred as Apprentice Train Examiners and were promoted to Train Examiners on their completion of a training course in the Mechanical Workshops. This method became less and less successful as the technical qualifications of Train Examiners increased under modern conditions.

(c) Train Examiners on this Railway are literate employees, though a good many of them are non-Matriculates, having been recruited when more highly qualified men were not available.

(d) The recruitment of Train Examiners is now made in accordance with the Rules for "The recruitment and training of Apprentice Mechanics and Trade Apprentices in the Mechanical Workshops of State Managed Railways". Number Takers as a class, having insufficient education would be unable to cope with the competitive examination which the present prospective Train Examiner has to pass before entering the MacLagan Engineering College, Lahore, where with practical training in Shops he undergoes a five years' course before appointment as Train Examiner. Apart from this, the prospective Train Examiner has to enter the College before attaining the age of 19, which is another reason why Number Takers cannot qualify for the posts of Train Examiners.

NUMBER TAKERS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

824. (a) No. In the case of three stations on the Lahore Division this was done till recently but the practice has been discontinued.

(b) and (c). No.

(d) Reply to the first part is in the negative and to the second part in the affirmative.

(e) This is not the case. There are relieving Train Examiners.

(f) and (g). Do not arise.

(h) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given to part (d) of his question No. 823.

ELECTRICIANS ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

825. As regards the first part, a technical test is imposed, part of which must be written in English. Number Takers are not technical staff whereas Electric Examiners are so. As regards the second part, attention is invited to the reply given to part (d) of question No. 823.

Information promised in reply to parts (e) to (g) of starred question No. 828 asked by Mr. N. V. Gadgil on the 11th March, 1935.

RE-EMPLOYMENT OF THE GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY STRIKERS.

(e) Government do not propose to interfere with the discretion of the Agent in the matter.

(f) Government understand that an article in Marathi appeared in the Independent Railwayman in April, 1932, giving the names of 12 persons in the employment of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway alleged to have been sentenced to various punishments but it did not include particulars of the alleged offences. It cannot be inferred from the particulars furnished that all or any of the persons named had been guilty of offences such as murder, theft, safe breaking, etc. Government are informed that the Agent, Great Indian Peninsula Railway, has not knowingly employed any persons who have been convicted of such offences.

(g) Does not arise.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 840 asked by Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya on the 12th March, 1935.

HOUSE RENT ALLOWANCE OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

840. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

"(a) and (b). Under the new rent rules introduced in 1932 free quarters or house allowance in lieu is not admissible except to those individual employees who at any time in the course of their previous service held in a substantive capacity a post which carried the privilege of rent free quarters or house rent allowance in lieu of free quarters, and who in the course of their subsequent service from the date of the introduction of the revised rent rules hold (in an officiating or substantive capacity) posts which carried this concession prior to that date.

Under the old East Indian Railway Company's rules ticket checking staff were eligible for the privilege of free quarters or house allowance in lieu and accordingly those who held posts in this category substantively are still allowed the same privilege.

Ticket checking staff of the old Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway who were entitled to free quarters, when available, under old Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway Rules applicable to them are also still allowed this privilege but when quarters are not available for them they are eligible for house rent allowance in lieu.

It will thus be seen that the privilege of rent free quarters or house rent allowance has not been withdrawn as a measure of economy."

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 856 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on the 12th March, 1935.

METHOD FOR THE REDRESS OF GRIEVANCES OF THE RAILWAY STAFF.

856. (a) Yes.

(b) I would refer the Honourable Member to the "Rules regulating the discharge and dismissal of State Railway non-gazetted Government servants", a copy of which will be found in the Library. The aggrieved staff can under rule 11 of the rules referred to above appeal to the authority next above the officer passing the order. In this case the order was passed by the Staff Superintendent and the appeal lay to the Divisional Superintendent.

Information promised in reply to parts (d), (e), (f) and (g) of starred question No. 866 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on the 12th March, 1935.

MILEAGE ALLOWANCE PAID TO THE OLD TRAVELLING TICKET INSPECTORS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Agent, North Western Railway, reports :

(d) and (f). No. Mr. Bishen Singh's pay as Travelling Ticket Examiner on the Kalka-Simla Railway was Rs. 75 per mensem, in the scale of Rs. 55—5—105—10—155 at the time of his temporary transfer on the 29th August, 1926, to the Delhi Division to work as a Special Ticket Examiner (Batch-in-Charge of a Flying Squad). In consideration of the importance of the duties and the increased responsibilities attached to the post of a Batch-in-Charge, he was temporarily given Rs. 140 in the scale 105—5—140 and also daily allowance admissible under the rules. He was given the same pay later on when he officiated again for the same reason.

(e) On reversion as a Travelling Ticket Examiner he was given Rs. 90 per mensem in his substantive post on the scale of Rs. 55—5—105—10—155.

(g) No—because the special considerations in this case did not apply. Mr. Bishen Singh was not given 140 because it was 75 per cent. in excess of his old pay, but because it was considered that in view of his experience the maximum pay of the grade was justified.

Information promised in reply to parts (c) and (e) of question No. 871 asked by Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal on the 12th March, 1935.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST SOME RAILWAY OFFICIALS AT TUNDLA.

(c) and (e). Government are informed by the Agent, East Indian Railway, that so far as he is aware no Deputy Controller ran any raffles or lotteries nor was Mr. Marcon in any way connected therewith. Government are, however, informed that lorries Nos. 1337 and 1338 were registered in the name of the wife of a Deputy Controller and another person from the 25th March, 1933 to the 2nd August, 1933. The Deputy Controller in question has been suitably dealt with for indirectly engaging in trade in the name of his wife during the period referred to above, and the Agent, East Indian Railway, has issued a circular making it clear to the staff that the running of a business in the name of the wife of a railway servant amounts to the railway servant engaging indirectly in trade or business, which is prohibited under the Government Servants' Conduct Rules.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 877 asked by Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal on the 12th March, 1935.

PROVISION OF AN ASSISTANT SURGEON IN THE RAILWAY HOSPITAL AT TUNDLA.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) Yes.

(b) It is not known whether there is a Civil Assistant Surgeon in the town. The District Medical Officer, East Indian Railway at Tundla, has five sub-districts which he is required to visit once a month and he can always return to headquarters within 12 hours.

He, and not the Sub-Assistant Surgeon, is in charge of the work in the Hospital at his headquarters. His position is that of a Civil Surgeon in a Sadar Hospital and his medical personnel is comparable with that of a Civil Surgeon at such a station.

(c) There is no need for an Assistant Surgeon at Tundla as a District Medical Officer is stationed there.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 880 and 885 asked by Lieut.-Colonel Sir Henry Gidney on the 12th March, 1935.

RATES OF PAY AND OTHER PRIVILEGES OF CERTAIN APPRENTICES OF STATE RAILWAYS.

880. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) Yes.

(b) and (c). Yes, the apprentices in question were brought under the revised scales of pay pending a decision by Government as to whether the old or the revised scales of pay were admissible to them.

They have since been granted the old scales of pay.

(d) Does not arise.

SENIORITY OF SUBORDINATES OFFICIATING IN THE TRANSPORTATION INSPECTOR'S GRADE ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

885. The reply given to the question referred to by the Honourable Member was based on the practice followed in determining seniority in such cases. The exact date of the commencement of the practice is not traceable. I would, however, add that the posts of transportation inspectors are selection posts.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 942 asked by Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya on the 21st March, 1935.

CASE OF MR. K. C. DAS, AN ASSISTANT STATION MASTER AT NAIHATI, EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

(a) Yes. I would, however, add the orders contained in the Notification referred to have since been modified. A copy of the revised instructions is placed below.

(b) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that Assistant Station Master K. C. Das of Nalhati (not Naihati) failed for the second time in February, 1934, in the examination for Transportation and Commercial duties. He is at present working as a Number Taker at Jamalpur, and the Divisional Superintendent is endeavouring to find work for him as a signaller. This, of course, is conditional on Mr. Das passing the 20 word signalling test. Mr. Das has been instructed to advise the Divisional Superintendent when he wishes to appear for the test.

(c) No. The question of having a uniform procedure on all State-managed Railways for dealing with staff who fail to qualify at the Refresher Courses is under consideration.

Paragraph 632 of East Indian Railway Gazette, dated 3rd October, 1934.

632. Railway School of Transportation, Chandausi.—In modification of the orders contained in Gazette Notification No. 30 of East Indian Railway Gazette No. 2 of 24th January, 1934, it is notified that the penalties for failing in the examination will not be applied automatically but at the discretion of the Divisional Superintendent. Staff retained at the School under paragraph 3 (b) of the Notification will not be required to pay their own messing.

If a man is reported to have failed in any subject, it will rest entirely with the Divisional Superintendent whether he should be allowed to continue in his post or not, and whether his increment should be affected.

A special report on those who fail will be submitted by the School Superintendent to the Divisional Superintendent.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 966 asked by Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant on the 25th March, 1935.

handsari SUGAR WORKS IN THE ROHILKUND DIVISION SUBJECTED TO EXCISE DUTY.

(a) 147.

(b) and (c). A statement is attached.

STATEMENT.

| Name of factory.                    | Place.           | Number of workers.                                                                                                                   | Nature of power. | Officers who inspected the factory before the imposition of the duty. |
|-------------------------------------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                     |                  | BAREILLY.                                                                                                                     |                  |                                                                       |
| 1. Brij Kishore .. ..               | Alamgiri-ganj.   | The exact numbers are not known but each of these factories was reported to have employed more than 20 men in the season of 1933-34. | Electric ..      | District Sugar Officer.                                               |
| 2. Shiana Charan ..                 | Nai Basti        |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 3. Muklada Ali Khan ..              | Gher Zafar Khan. |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 4. Ramman Lal Ras Behari Lal.       | Masitganj        |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 5. Laloo Mal Suraj Bhan             | Alamgiri-ganj.   |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 6. Pooran Chand Kapoor Chand.       | Shahdana         |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 7. Ram Kumar Krishna Kumar.         | Jatavpura        |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 8. Seth Banwari Lal Purshottam Das. | Shahdana         |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 9. Govind Ram Umrao Singh.          | Siklapur ..      |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 10. Baboo Ram Radhey Shiam.         | Masitganj        |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 11. Ram Ratan Lal Lachmi Narain.    | Choki Math       |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 12. Banwari Lal Shanti Prasad.      | Alamgiri-ganj.   |                                                                                                                                      | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |

| Name of factory.                   | Place.           | Number of workers.     | Nature of power.                            | Officers who inspected the factory before the imposition of the duty. |
|------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------|---------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                    |                  | BAREILLY—contd. |                                             |                                                                       |
| 13. Bhavat Narain Tandon           | Nai Basti        |                        | Electric ..                                 | District Sugar Office.                                                |
| 14. Ahmad Ali Khan ..              | Jatavpura        |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 15. Niranjan Singh Umrao Singh.    | Lakhanganj       |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 16. Chander Sen .. ..              | Shahamat-ganj.   |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 17. Rahim Bux Aijaz Ahmad.         | Saidpuria        |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 18. Radhey Lal Saraf ..            | Alamgiriganj     |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 19. Ram Narain Tandan ..           | Beharipur        |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 20. Chabbi Mal Ram Lal ..          | Madari Darwaza.  |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 21. Shiam Sundar Lal Ram Das.      | Gangapur         |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 22. Murli Manohar ..               | Alamgiriganj     |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 23. Faiyaz Husain Khan ..          | Do.              |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 24. Shiam Behari Lal Shanti Kumar. | Do.              |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 25. Pt. Shiam Behari Lal ..        | Tah. Nawab-ganj. |                        | Either oil engine or steam engine Electric. | Do.                                                                   |
| 26. Raghu Nandan Pd. ..            | Alamgiri-ganj.   |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 27. Ram Das Harnam Das             | Sufi Tola        |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |
| 28. Sita Ram Badri Rakhan          | Phuta Darwaza.   |                        | Do.                                         | Do.                                                                   |

NOTE.—Twenty-eight other factories had previously been assessed but had closed down before the 31st of January 1935.

| Name of factory.          | Place.    | Number of workers. | Nature of power. | Officers who inspected the factory before the imposition of the duty. |
|---------------------------|-----------|--------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Bijnor.                   |           |                    |                  |                                                                       |
| 1. Pandit Alakh Prasad .. | Mandawar  | *                  | Electric ..      | Tahsil staff.                                                         |
| 2. L. Badri Prasad ..     | Chandpur  | 29                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 3. L. Ram Chandra Mal ..  | Bijnor .. | *                  | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 4. L. Lachman Dass ..     | Nehtor .. | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 5. Abdul Qaiyum ..        | Nagina .. | 30                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 6. H. Mohd. Ibrahim ..    | Do. ..    | 32                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 7. Mohammad Ismail ..     | Do. ..    | 21                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 8. Mohammad Afaq ..       | Do. ..    | *                  | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 9. Mohammad Ishaq ..      | Do. ..    | *                  | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 10. L. Kashi Nath ..      | Kiratpur  | 21                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 11. Mohammad Ismail ..    | Do. ..    | *                  | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |

* Exact number not known, but each of these factories was reported by the tahsil staff to have employed more than 20 men.

MORADABAD.

|                         |           |            |             |                      |
|-------------------------|-----------|------------|-------------|----------------------|
| 1. S. Brij Pal Saran .. | Dhosti .. | 21         | Oil engine  | Tahsildar, Hasanpur. |
| 2. Kalyan Das ..        | Kundarki  | Over 20 .. | Electric .. | Tahsildar, Bilari.   |

NOTE.—Two other factories were assessed but were subsequently exempted.

SHAHJAHANPUR.

|                                      |              |    |             |                         |
|--------------------------------------|--------------|----|-------------|-------------------------|
| 1. Shanti sugar works ..             | Jeshanpur    | 50 | Oil engine  | Tahsildar.              |
| 2. L. Sri Ram, s/o Angney Lal.       | Bahadurgung. | 37 | Electric .. | District Officer. Sugar |
| 3. L. Autarilal, s/o Mathura Prasad. | Taliaghuran  | 25 | Do. ..      | Do.                     |
| 4. L. Radhey Lal Horilal             | Do.          | 25 | Do. ..      | Do.                     |
| 5. L. Janki Prasad ..                | Chauksi ..   | 25 | Do. ..      | Do.                     |
| 6. L. Kesarilal, s/o Jhoo Lal.       | Bahadurgunj. | 25 | Do. ..      | Do.                     |

| Name of factory.                        | Place.           | Number of workers. | Nature of power. | Officers who inspected the factory before the imposition of the duty. |
|-----------------------------------------|------------------|--------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| SHAHJAHANPUR—contd.                     |                  |                    |                  |                                                                       |
| 7. Mohd. Hazabbarali Khan               | Khalilshaqi      | 25                 | Electric ..      | District Officer. Sugar                                               |
| 8. L. Maya Ram Arthi ..                 | Rangmahla        | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 9. L. Bankeylal ..                      | Katra Kham       | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 10. L. Damodar Das ..                   | Do.              | 37                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 11. Mohd. Yiah Khan ..                  | Tarin Tikli      | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 12. Moh. Yasinuddin Khan                | Katra Kham       | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 13. Ved Vrat Halwai ..                  | Bahadurgunj.     | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 14. L. Madho Ram, s/o Ram Kishan.       | Do.              | 37                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 15. L. Saliq Ram ..                     | Mahadeo          | 36                 | Oil engine       | Do.                                                                   |
| 16. L. Rup Kishore ..                   | Patai ..         | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 17. L. Bajrang Das ..                   | Kastak ..        | 28                 | Do. ..           | Tahsildar.                                                            |
| 18. Mohd. Latafatali Khan               | Ullia ..         | 27                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 19. L. Sita Ram, Ram Sarup              | Tilhat ..        | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 20. Shri Mahadeo Sugar and Flour Mills. | Nawadia Lachhan. | 100                | Steam engine.    | District Officer. Sugar                                               |
| 21. L. Hira Lal ..                      | Mundia Pamar.    | 50                 | Oil engine       | Do.                                                                   |
| 22. L. Gokal Prasad, Gaya Prasad.       | Do. ..           | 50                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 23. L. Khunnu Lal Sunar ..              | Nihal ..         | 23                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 24. L. Brij Bhukan Lal ..               | Khudaganj        | 24                 | Do. ..           | Tahsildar.                                                            |
| 25. L. Mahadeo Prasad ..                | Do. ..           | 24                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 26. L. Munna Lal Raj Kishan             | Tilhar ..        | 24                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 27. M. Lal Bahadur ..                   | Posil ..         | 26                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 28. L. Badri Prasad Bajnath             | Tilhar ..        | 30                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 29. L. Radhey Shiam ..                  | Talia Ghuran.    | 25                 | Electric ..      | District Officer. Sugar                                               |
| 30. Mohd. Ahmad Hussain                 | Mundia Chhoan.   | 35                 | Oil engine       | Do.                                                                   |

| Name of factory.                                 | Place.            | Number of workers. | Nature of power. | Officers who inspected the factory before the imposition of the duty. |
|--------------------------------------------------|-------------------|--------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| SHAHJAHANPUR—concl'd.                            |                   |                    |                  |                                                                       |
| 31. L. Jaganath Prasad Jwala Prasad.             | Dilawarganj       | 25                 | Electric ..      | District Officer. Sugar                                               |
| 32. L. Raghunandan Prasad                        | Do. ..            | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 33. L. Sukhbasi Lal ..                           | Bazaria Lalateli. | 26                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 34. L. Ram Das, Hiralal ..                       | Bahadurganj.      | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 35. Pt. Umrao Lal ..                             | Dilazak ..        | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 36. Pt. Debi Charan Chaubey                      | Bahadurganj.      | 28                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 37. L. Har Prasad Kurmi ..                       | Mohiuddinpur.     | 25                 | Oil engine       | Do.                                                                   |
| 38. L. Badri Dat ..                              | Bahadurganj.      | 25                 | Electric ..      | Do.                                                                   |
| 39. L. Sita Ram, s/o Radha Kishan.               | Masjidganj        | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 40. L. Shanker Lal, s/o Inder Lal.               | Aman Zai          | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 41. L. Ganga Ram Kapur ..                        | Baksaryao         | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 42. M. Sifat Ullah Khan, s/o Fahasat Ullah Khan. | Aman Zai          | 25                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 43. Prem Sugar Works ..                          | Baragaon          | 40                 | Steam engine.    | Do.                                                                   |
| 44. L. Sri Ram, Lakshmi Chand.                   | Khudaganj         | 27                 | Oil engine       | Sugar Officer. Excise                                                 |
| PILIBHIT.                                        |                   |                    |                  |                                                                       |
| 1. M. Mohd. Jilani ..                            | Lahoregunj        | 20                 | Steam engine.    | Tahsildar.                                                            |
| 2. L. Johri Mal ..                               | Pilibhit ..       | 33                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 3. L. Ram Sanchi Mal ..                          | Do. ..            | 28                 | Oil engine       | Do.                                                                   |
| 4. M. Mangal Khan ..                             | Do. ..            | 20                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 5. L. Sita Ram ..                                | Do. ..            | 22                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| C. I. Ram Kunor, Raj Kunor.                      | Do. ..            | 27                 | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |

| Name of factory.                      | Place.         | Number of workers.         | Nature of power. | Officers who inspected the factory before the imposition of the duty. |
|---------------------------------------|----------------|----------------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| PILIBHIT—cont'd.                      |                |                            |                  |                                                                       |
| 7. L. Ram Gopal ..                    | Pilibhit ..    | 22                         | Oil engine       | Tahsildar.                                                            |
| 8. L. Lachhmi Narain ..               | Do. ..         | 20                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 9. L. Ghasi Ram, Bhikari Dass.        | Do. ..         | 20                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 10. L. Gopi Nath ..                   | Do. ..         | 23                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 11. L. Ram Chander Lal, Radhey Shiam. | Do. ..         | 25                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 12. L. Sheo Raj Singh ..              | Do. ..         | 25                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 13. L. Sunder Lal Gupta ..            | Do. ..         | 20                         | Steam engine.    | Do.                                                                   |
| 14. L. Sant Lal ..                    | Do. ..         | 28                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 15. L. Mangni Ram ..                  | Do. ..         | 20                         | Oil engine       | Do.                                                                   |
| 16. Dr. Amolak Chand ..               | Do. ..         | 23                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 17. Sh. Hamid Husain ..               | Do. ..         | 21                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 18. L. Ram Dass ..                    | Do. ..         | 20                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 19. L. Ram Kunor ..                   | Do. ..         | 20                         | Steam engine.    | Do.                                                                   |
| 20. Sahu Ram Ballabh Saran            | Bisalpur ..    | 24                         | Do. ..           | District Officer. Excise                                              |
| 21. L. Kadher Mal ..                  | Ghuri Patti    | 20                         | Oil engine       | Tahsildar.                                                            |
| 22. L. Narain Dass ..                 | Richola Ghasi. | 25                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 23. L. Surender Nath ..               | Amirta ..      | 30                         | Steam engine.    | Do.                                                                   |
| 24. L. Sri Ram Gupta ..               | Puranpur       | 20                         | Oil engine       | Do.                                                                   |
| 25. M. Khursheed Hasan Khan.          | Do. ..         | 20                         | Do.              | Do.                                                                   |
| 26. Devji Ravi Dass ..                | Do. ..         | 20                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 27. Sadar Bhagga Singh ..             | Kalinager      | 21                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 28. Ch. Munna Singh ..                | Madho Tanda.   | 23                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 29. L. Sukh Lal ..                    | Puranpur       | 20                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 30. L. Laiq Ram ..                    | Dharmanpur.    | 26                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 31. Kr. Gopal Singh ..                | Madho Tanda.   | 22                         | Do. ..           | Do.                                                                   |
| 32. L. Tika Ram ..                    | Bilsanda       | Information not available. |                  | Do.                                                                   |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 979 asked by Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq on the 25th March, 1935.

COMMUNAL COMPOSITION OF TECHNICAL AND NON-TECHNICAL MEN EMPLOYED IN THE CENTRAL PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

(a) Government have no information, but most of the retrenched staff who have shown any desire to obtain re-employment in the Central Public Works Department have now been provided for in temporary vacancies. This excludes persons who are overage or inefficient.

(b) I presume that the Honourable Member refers to non-gazetted staff. A statement giving the information asked for is placed below.

Statement showing technical and non-technical appointments made in the Central Public Works Department since the last retrenchment.

| No. of appointments made.   |         |          |                    |        | No. of retrenched hands re-employed. |         |          |                    |        |
|-----------------------------|---------|----------|--------------------|--------|--------------------------------------|---------|----------|--------------------|--------|
| Class of post.              | Hindus. | Muslims. | Other communities. | Total. | Class of post.                       | Hindus. | Muslims. | Other communities. | Total. |
| 1                           | 2       | 3        | 4                  | 5      | 6                                    | 7       | 8        | 9                  | 10     |
| Subordinates and Surveyors. | 20      | 8        | 7                  | 35     | Subordinates and Surveyors.          | 3       | 1        | 1                  | 5      |
| Draftsmen ..                | 5       | 6        | 3                  | 14     | Draftsmen ..                         | 5       | 6        | 1                  | 12     |
| Clerks ..                   | 34      | 14       | 9                  | 57     | Clerks ..                            | 15      | 6        | 4                  | 25     |

NOTE.—This statement excludes (a) all appointments made for a period of less than three months, and (b) all appointments which had terminated before the 27th March, 1935, the date on which the statement was prepared.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 983 asked by Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar on the 25th March, 1935.

PUBLICITY OFFICERS WORKING ON STATE RAILWAYS.

(a) and (b). Two statements giving the required information are attached.

STATEMENT No. 1.

Statement showing the names of the various Publicity Officers working on the State Railways, and the monthly salary of each and the work they were doing before being appointed as such.

| Name of Railway.                | Name of Publicity Officer. | Salary per mensem.             | Appointment held before his employment as Publicity Officer.                    | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|---------------------------------|----------------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| East Indian Railway.            | Mr. A. Gumbrill.           | Rs.1,250 plus £30 S. O. P. | He was employed with Messrs. A. H. Wheeler & Co., as their Manager at Calcutta. | He was specially selected to fill the post of Publicity Officer, East Indian Railway, from the 15th March 1927.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Great Indian Peninsula Railway. | Mr. J. H. Carpenter.       | 1,300 plus £30 S. O. P.        | He was Secretary to the Agent, Great Indian Peninsula Railway.                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Burma Railways.                 | ..                         | ..                             | ....                                                                            | No Publicity Officer is employed on this Railway.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Eastern Bengal Railway.         | ..                         | ..                             | ....                                                                            | There is no officer exclusively employed on Publicity work on this Railway at present. The post of Publicity Officer has been held in abeyance since 1st September 1931.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| North Western Railway.          | ..                         | ..                             | ....                                                                            | There is no separate post of Publicity Officer on this Railway at present. The work in connection with Publicity is being done by Mr. C. D. Jordon, Sales Manager, as part of the work of the Sales Branch, which is at present on a temporary basis. Mr. Jordon is in receipt of Rs. 1,050 per mensem in the senior scale of the Transportation (Traffic) and Commercial Branch. He was employed as P. A. to the Chief Commercial Manager immediately prior to his posting as Sales Manager. |

STATEMENT No. 2.

Statement showing the dates from which the various Publicity Offices were started and the number of Indians who have held the posts till now and the periods during which they held these posts.

| Name of Railway.                | Date of starting of Publicity Office. | Indians who have so far held the posts. |                                        | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                 |                                       | Name.                                   | Period during which the post was held. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| East Indian Railway.            | 27-1-27                               | ..                                      | ..                                     | No Indian Officer has held the post of Publicity Officer on the East Indian Railway.                                                                                                                                                 |
| Great Indian Peninsula Railway. | April 1920                            | Mr. Pothan Joseph.                      | 16-4-1928 to 15-11-1928.               | As Publicity Officer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                 |                                       |                                         | 16-11-1928 to 31-2-1931.               | As Assistant Publicity Officer.                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Burma Railways.                 | ..                                    | ..                                      | ..                                     | No Publicity Officer is employed on this Railway.                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Eastern Bengal Railway.         | 15-11-1926                            | Mr. A. K. Gupta.                        | 15-11-1926 to 25-11-1928.              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| North Western Railway.          | 22-11-1926                            | Khan Sahib Z. H. Khan.                  | 22-11-1926 to 24-2-1931.               | The post was kept vacant from 25th February 1931 to 15th March 1931 and again from 24th April 1931 to 31st January 1932 and was finally abolished on account of the reduction in the Gazetted Officers cadre from 1st February 1932. |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 992 asked by Mr. Lalchand Navalrai on the 25th March, 1935.

VACANCIES IN THE COMMERCIAL GROUP ON THE NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

(a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) The Agent reports that in view of the very few applications received from minority communities in the Karachi Division, it was necessary to restrict the numbers which came up from that Division in order to give effect to the orders of Government regarding communal proportion in recruitment.

(d) The answer to the first part of the question is in the negative. Between May and December, 1934, the Divisional Superintendent reported 19 vacancies of Booking Clerks and seven vacancies of Commercial Clerks, which were all filled by old Commercial and Station Master Group Students who were discharged in 1931.

(e) No, except in so far as retrenched men, who were formerly employed on one Division may, on re-appointment, have been sent to other Divisions.

(f) The compilation of these statistics will involve a great deal of labour which Government do not consider likely to be justified by results.

(g) Yes, but certain categories of staff, including Commercial Group students, are finally recruited by Central Selection Boards for employment on the Railway as a whole.

(h) No. Government do not consider that the Karachi Division has been unfairly treated.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1003 asked by Pandit Nilakanta Das on the 26th March, 1935.

TECHNICALLY QUALIFIED MEN EMPLOYED IN AIRCRAFT AND AVIATION IN INDIA.

(a) (i). The number of military technical personnel employed is 1,534.

(ii) The number of civil technical employees in the civil aviation Directorate, flying clubs and air transport companies is 260. This figure includes unlicensed as well as licensed technical personnel.

(b) (i). The number of military technical personnel includes 1,245 British and 289 Indians.

(ii) Of the 260 civil employees, 108 are British, 147 Indians and 5 other nationalities.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 1014 and 1015 asked by Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya on the 26th March, 1935.

APPOINTMENTS OF THE TIME-EXPIRED APPRENTICES OF LILLOOAH WORKSHOPS UNDER THE CHIEF MECHANICAL ENGINEER, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1014. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

“(a) Appointments of ex-apprentices have not been made because primary consideration had to be given to ex-mechanics who were retrenched in 1931 and borne on the waiting list and vacancies occurring have been very few as until recently the workshop staff at Lillooah has been steadily reduced.

Though the Technical School results are given due consideration, the practical qualifications have to be taken into account and the apprentices' ability to control labour has also to be considered.

Since 1933, three Indian ex-apprentices have been taken on, one specially trained for Heat Treatment and two quite recently, for increased work in the Wagon Repair Shop.

(b) Four specially trained apprentices were taken on in 1931, namely two European and Anglo-Indian and two Indians. A fifth was added in May, 1934, as stated in answer to (a) above. These five appointments were for newly introduced sections in which none of the ex-apprentices senior to those engaged had had any training.”

(c) Does not arise.

APPOINTMENTS OF THE TIME-EXPIRED APPRENTICES OF THE JAMALPUR TECHNICAL SCHOOL TO POSTS UNDER THE CHIEF MECHANICAL ENGINEER AND CHIEF ELECTRICAL ENGINEER, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1015. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) The reply is in the affirmative.

(b) A statement giving the required information is attached.

EAST INDIAN

Statement of Apprentice Mechanics who have been provided

| Names.                  | Date of completion of apprenticeship training. | Name of Workshop from which training was completed.              | Division in which passed in Technical School. |
|-------------------------|------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|
| Sati Nath Mukherjee ..  | 6-4-33                                         | Jamalpur Workshops. (Mech. Department).                          | Honours .. ..                                 |
| Krishna Kumar Sanyal .. | 14-4-33                                        | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| M. G. Nair ..           | 31-8-33                                        | Do. ..                                                           | Honours .. ..                                 |
| M. Roy ..               | 24-5-33                                        | Do. ..                                                           | 2nd Division .. ..                            |
| H. N. Banerjee ..       | 30-4-33                                        | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| T. G. Watson ..         | 17-5-33                                        | Do. ..                                                           | Do. .. ..                                     |
| Muhammad A. Karim ..    | 19-9-33                                        | Do. ..                                                           | Honours .. ..                                 |
| C. S. Hosie ..          | 4-4-34                                         | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| S. N. Verma ..          | 8-4-34                                         | Do. ..                                                           | 2nd Division .. ..                            |
| B. N. Mishra ..         | 3-6-34                                         | Do. ..                                                           | Honours .. ..                                 |
| H. E. Ennis ..          | 8-4-34                                         | Do. ..                                                           | Do. .. ..                                     |
| N. L. Sackett ..        | 18-8-34                                        | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| B. A. Peacock ..        | 22-8-34                                        | Do. ..                                                           | Honours .. ..                                 |
| H. P. Okhandiar ..      | 8-9-34                                         | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| O. P. Callaghan ..      | 20-8-34                                        | Do. ..                                                           | Honours .. ..                                 |
| Mohammad Ansari ..      | 10-12-34                                       | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| P. Mukherjee ..         | 5-9-34                                         | Do. ..                                                           | Do. .. ..                                     |
| A. Bose ..              | 24-11-31                                       | Do. ..                                                           | Failed in Final Examination.                  |
| P. Biswas ..            | 15-3-32                                        | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| Mohammad Yusufally ..   | 3-9-31                                         | Do. ..                                                           | Failed in Final Examination.                  |
| S. C. Ghose ..          | 9-11-32                                        | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| N. C. Sarkar ..         | 4-9-25                                         | Do. ..                                                           | Passed 1st in 1924 Final Examination.         |
| S. B. Mukherjee ..      | 1-3-35                                         | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| A. C. Banerjee ..       | 16-3-35                                        | Do. ..                                                           | Do. .. ..                                     |
| P. N. Dutt ..           | 9-2-30                                         | C. and W. Shops, Lillooah                                        | Do. .. ..                                     |
| J. Carnegie ..          | 8-4-34                                         | Do. ..                                                           | Do. .. ..                                     |
| M. N. Ansari ..         | 21-1-34                                        | Lillooah Workshops ..                                            | Do. .. ..                                     |
| I. K. Dass ..           | 5-3-30                                         | Do. ..                                                           | 2nd Division .. ..                            |
| S. C. Ganguly ..        | 21-8-30                                        | Do. ..                                                           | 1st Division .. ..                            |
| S. N. Mukherjee ..      | 7-4-33                                         | Jamalpur Workshops and Technical School and Loco Shops, Lucknow. | Do. .. ..                                     |
| S. K. Rana ..           | 22-8-34                                        | Do. ..                                                           | Do. .. ..                                     |
| M. F. Ducasse ..        | 9-2-35                                         | Do. ..                                                           | Honours .. ..                                 |

RAILWAY.

with posts in the Mechanical Workshop since January 1933.

| Date of       |                    | Name of the workshop in which employed. | Designation.                    | Starting salaries.          |
|---------------|--------------------|-----------------------------------------|---------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Appoint-ment. | Confirma-tion.     |                                         |                                 |                             |
| 7-4-33        | ..                 | Charbagh (Loco) Lucknow                 | Chargeman (T. T.) H. T. (S.).   | Rs. 130                     |
| 15-4-33       | ..                 | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 130                         |
| Re. 6-2-34    | Not yet confirmed. | Jamalpur Workshops (Mech. Department).  | Out-turn Supervisor ..          | 110                         |
| Re. 12-5-34   | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 110                         |
| 1-5-33        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 110                         |
| 18-5-33       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 110                         |
| 20-9-33       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Mechanist).  | 130                         |
| 5-4-34        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Br. Maker).  | 130                         |
| 9-4-34        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Erector).    | 130                         |
| 4-6-34        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargehand—Grade I ..           | 85                          |
| 9-7-34        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Millwright). | 130                         |
| 19-8-34       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Erector).    | 130                         |
| 23-8-34       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Mechanist).  | 130                         |
| 4-9-34        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Blacksmith). | 130                         |
| 21-8-34       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Draftsman (T. T.) ..            | 170                         |
| 11-12-34      | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Blacksmith). | 110                         |
| 0-9-34        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (H. T. S.).   | 130                         |
| 5-11-34       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Gunner, Grade I ..              | 65                          |
| 14-3-33       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Out-turn Supervisor ..          | 110                         |
| 3-11-33       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 110                         |
| 14-3-33       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 110                         |
| 18-7-33       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Gunner, Grade I ..              | 85                          |
| 2-3-35        | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargeman (T. T.) (Machinist).  | 110                         |
| 17-3-35       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Chargehand (Machinist)          | 85                          |
| 5-2-35        | Temporary          | C. & W. Shops, Alambag, Lucknow.        | Journeyman ..                   | 85                          |
| 15-1-35       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Fitter ..                       | Rs. 2/6/0 in gr. 1 30-2-38. |
| 7-5-34        | Confirmed ..       | C. & W. Shops, Lillooah                 | Chargeman (T. T.) ..            | 150                         |
| 10-1-35       | Temporary          | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 100                         |
| 21-1-35       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 100                         |
| 8-4-33        | Confirmed ..       | Loco. Shops, Lucknow                    | Chargeman (T. T.) ..            | 130                         |
| 23-2-34       | Temporary          | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 130                         |
| 10-2-35       | Do. ..             | Do. ..                                  | Do. ..                          | 130                         |

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 1034 and 1036 asked by Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Haq on the 26th March, 1935.

SENIORITY LIST OF TICKET COLLECTORS AND TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS IN THE MORADABAD AND LUCKNOW DIVISIONS.

1034. (a), (b) and (d). The seniority list is not confidential. A copy of the Seniority List cannot be given to each employee owing to the volume of work involved; but the staff are, on request, furnished with the information they require in connection with their position on the list.

(c) No. The staff are not furnished with copies of the Seniority List on any division.

TESTS IMPOSED ON THE TICKET CHECKING STAFF ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY AT THE TIME OF PROMOTION.

1036. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(b) No, except on the Moradabad Division but instructions have been issued to the Divisional Superintendent, Moradabad, to abolish the procedure.

(d) No.

(e) The periodical examinations are held with a view to judge whether the staff are up to the required standard of efficiency in their respective grades and posts. These tests do not mean that they are also capable of holding posts which involve duties of greater importance and heavier responsibilities. Therefore when the question of promotion from a lower grade to the next higher grade arises, it is necessary to take into consideration not only the results of the periodical examination but also other qualifications for promotion.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1041 asked by Mr. N. M. Joshi on the 26th March, 1935.

NON-GRANT OF HOUSE ALLOWANCE TO CERTAIN RELIEVING CLERKS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that the practice in regard to grant of house allowance in lieu of free quarters to relieving clerks varies on the different divisions of the railway but that he has now issued orders that relieving clerks of the Traffic Department who were in service before the introduction of the new rent rules be provided with rent free quarters or given house rent allowance in lieu thereof.

Information promised in reply to part (c) of starred question No. 1048 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 26th March, 1935.

APPOINTMENT OF INEXPERIENCED CREW INSPECTORS ON THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway, reports :

(c) The new appointments did not contravene the instructions laid down by the Railway Board regarding the re-employment of retrenched staff as there were no suitable retrenched staff available.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1071 asked by Mr. T. S. Arinashilinjam Chettiar on the 27th March, 1935.

POLICE FORCE IN THE CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION DEPARTMENT IN THE CENTRALLY ADMINISTERED AREAS.

(a), (b) and (c). The information is given in the attached statement.

(d) and (e). The C. I. D. staff in these areas is employed partly on the investigation of ordinary crime partly on the investigation and prevention of crimes against the State which involves keeping a watch on persons suspected of being engaged in revolutionary activities. There is no fixed allocation of staff between these two duties.

STATEMENT.

|                             | (a)Numbers.                                                                                                                                | (b)Amount spent.   | (c)Whether expenditure is audited.                                                   |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Mysore Residency ..         | Sub-Inspectors .. 3Head Constables .. 6Constables .. 11                                                                                | 12,900 p.a.            | Yes.                                                                                     |
| Hyderabad Residency ..      | Sub-Inspectors .. 1Head Constables .. 8                                                                                                    | 431 p.m. or 5,172 p.a. | Yes.                                                                                     |
| Rajputana Agency ..         | D. S. P. .. 1Inspectors .. 2Sub-Inspectors (including 6 engaged on Finger Print work) .. 9Head Constables .. ..Constables .. 5 | 31,450                 | Yes.                                                                                     |
| Baluchistan Agency ..       | Inspectors .. 4Sub-Inspectors .. 9Head Constables .. 14Constables .. 19                                                            | 50,000                 | Yes.                                                                                     |
| Central India Agency ..     | No separate C. I. D.                                                                                                                           |                        |                                                                                          |
| Western India States Agency |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |
| Ajmer-Merwara ..            |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |
| Gujarat States Agency ..    |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |
| Aden ..                     |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |
| Coorg ..                    | Supdt. .. 1Dy. Supdt. .. 1Inspectors .. 3Sub-Inspectors .. 6Hd. Constables .. 19Constables .. 59                           | 1,06,500               | Yes, except that in the secret service Fund which is examined by the Chief Commissioner. |
| Andamans ..                 |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |
| Delhi ..                    |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |
|                             |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |
|                             |                                                                                                                                                |                        |                                                                                          |

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 1034 and 1036 asked by Mr. A. K. Fuzul Haq on the 26th March, 1935.

SENIORITY LIST OF TICKET COLLECTORS AND TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS IN THE MORADABAD AND LUCKNOW DIVISIONS.

1034. (a), (b) and (d). The seniority list is not confidential. A copy of the Seniority List cannot be given to each employee owing to the volume of work involved; but the staff are, on request, furnished with the information they require in connection with their position on the list.

(c) No. The staff are not furnished with copies of the Seniority List on any division.

TESTS IMPOSED ON THE TICKET CHECKING STAFF ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY AT THE TIME OF PROMOTION.

1036. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(b) No, except on the Moradabad Division but instructions have been issued to the Divisional Superintendent, Moradabad, to abolish the procedure.

(d) No.

(e) The periodical examinations are held with a view to judge whether the staff are up to the required standard of efficiency in their respective grades and posts. These tests do not mean that they are also capable of holding posts which involve duties of greater importance and heavier responsibilities. Therefore when the question of promotion from a lower grade to the next higher grade arises, it is necessary to take into consideration not only the results of the periodical examination but also other qualifications for promotion.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1041 asked by Mr. N. M. Joshi on the 26th March, 1935.

NON-GRANT OF HOUSE ALLOWANCE TO CERTAIN RELIEVING CLERKS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that the practice in regard to grant of house allowance in lieu of free quarters to relieving clerks varies on the different divisions of the railway but that he has now issued orders that relieving clerks of the Traffic Department who were in service before the introduction of the new rent rules be provided with rent free quarters or given house rent allowance in lieu thereof.

Information promised in reply to part (c) of starred question No. 1048 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 26th March, 1935.

APPOINTMENT OF INEXPERIENCED CREW INSPECTORS ON THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway, reports :

(c) The new appointments did not contravene the instructions laid down by the Railway Board regarding the re-employment of retrenched staff as there were no suitable retrenched staff available.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1071 asked by Mr. T. S. Arinashilingam Chettiar on the 27th March, 1935.

POLICE FORCE IN THE CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION DEPARTMENT IN THE CENTRALLY ADMINISTERED AREAS.

(a), (b) and (c). The information is given in the attached statement.

(d) and (e). The C. I. D. staff in these areas is employed partly on the investigation of ordinary crime partly on the investigation and prevention of crimes against the State which involves keeping a watch on persons suspected of being engaged in revolutionary activities. There is no fixed allocation of staff between these two duties.

STATEMENT.

|                             | (a)Numbers.                                                                                                                                          | (b)Amountspent.      | (c)Whether expenditureis audited.                                                            |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Mysore Residency ..         | Sub-Inspectors .. 3Head Constables .. 6Constables .. 11                                                                                          | 12,900p.a.               | Yes.                                                                                                 |
| Hyderabad Residency ..      | Sub-Inspectors .. 1Head Constables .. 8                                                                                                              | 431p.m. or5,172 p.a. | Yes.                                                                                                 |
| Rajputana Agency ..         | D. S. P. .. 1Inspectors .. 2Sub-Inspectors(including 6 engagedon Finger Printwork). .. 9Head Constables .. ..Constables .. 5 | 31,450                       | Yes.                                                                                                 |
| Baluchistan Agency ..       | Inspectors .. 4Sub-Inspectors .. 9Head Constables .. 14Constables .. 19                                                                      | 50,000                       | Yes.                                                                                                 |
| Central India Agency ..     | No separate C. I. D.                                                                                                                                     |                              |                                                                                                      |
| Western India States Agency |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |
| Ajmer-Merwara .. ..         |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |
| Gujarat States Agency ..    |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |
| Aden .. ..                  |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |
| Coorg .. ..                 | Supdt. .. 1Dy. Supdt. .. 1Inspectors .. 3Sub-Inspectors .. 6Hd. Constables .. 19Constables .. 59                                     | 1,06,500                     | Yes, except that inthe secret serviceFund which isexamined by theChief Commissioner. |
| Andamans .. ..              |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |
| Delhi .. ..                 |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |
|                             |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |
|                             |                                                                                                                                                          |                              |                                                                                                      |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1103 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on the 28th March, 1935.

SENIORITY LIST OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS AND TICKET COLLECTORS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

(a) and (b). The Honourable Member is referred to the information laid on the table of the House to-day in reply to starred question No. 1034 asked by Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Haq on the 26th March, 1935.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 1110 and 1111 asked by Maulvi Syed Murtaza Sahib Bahadur on the 28th March, 1935.

PRODUCE OF THE LAND OF THE ISTIMVARI AREA OF SATHANA, AJMER-MERWARA.

1110. (a) There are very few instances in the Khalsa area of Ajmer-Merwara in which cash rents are charged, and even in those very rare cases the amount of rent is settled for a group of fields of various kinds of soil, collectively. It is, therefore, not possible to determine the cash rate per bigha of Chahi or Barani land. The rates of rent, in kind, generally charged on (i) Chahi, and (ii) Barani land are respectively :

(i) half the gross produce when the landlord supplies manure, seed, etc., to the tenant,—otherwise one-third of the gross produce ; and

(ii) one-third of the gross produce.

(b) The cash rates of rent realised in Dolatpura are as under :

| Crop.            | Rate per bigha on |     |              |     |
|------------------|-------------------|-----|--------------|-----|
|                  | Chahi land.       |     | Barani land. |     |
|                  | Rs.               | as. | Rs.          | as. |
| Cotton .. .. .   | 1                 | 12  | 0            | 14  |
| Methi .. .. .    | 0                 | 14  | Nil.         |     |
| Chillies .. .. . | 0                 | 14  | Nil.         |     |

No cash rent is charged for other crops. One-third of the gross produce is generally recovered as rent on both Chahi and Barani areas. In addition there is a cess of 3½ seers per maund.

Information promised in reply to starred questions 1110 and 1111 asked by Maulvi Syed Murtaza Sahib Bahadur on the 28th March, 1935.

PRODUCE OF THE LAND OF THE ISTIMVARI AREA OF SATHANA, AJMER-MERWARA.

1111. (i) Attention is invited to the answer to part (a) of Honourable Member's question No. 1110.

(ii) One-third of the produce is generally recovered as rent, and in addition to this there is a cess of 3½ seers per maund.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1224 asked by Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang on the 30th March, 1935.

NUMBER OF MUSLIMS AND NON-MUSLIMS EMPLOYED AS ASSISTANT MANAGER AND HEADS OF BRANCHES, IN THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA PRESSES AND IN THE CENTRAL PUBLICATION BRANCH.

(a) 19 and 3 respectively.

(b) 244.

Information promised in reply to part (a) of starred question No. 1243 asked by Mr. N. V. Gadgil, on the 30th March, 1935.

DEPARTMENTS OF PUBLIC SERVICES DIRECTLY UNDER THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

| Name of Department.                                                                                                           | Headquarters. |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|
| 1. Southern Command (Indian Army) .. .. .                                                                                     | Poona.        |
| 2. Sind (Independent) Brigade Area, (Indian Army) .. .. .                                                                     | Karachi.      |
| 3. Royal Indian Navy .. .. .                                                                                                  | Bombay.       |
| 4. Royal Air Force Units and Indian Air Force .. .. .                                                                         | Karachi.      |
| 5. Office of the Agent, Great Indian Peninsula Railway .. .. .                                                                | Bombay.       |
| 6. Office of the Senior Government Inspector of Railways, Circle No. 5. .. .. .                                               | Bombay.       |
| 7. Office of the Chief Accounts Officer, Great Indian Peninsula Railway .. .. .                                               | Do.           |
| 8. Office of the Captain Superintendent, I. M. M. T. S. "Dufferin" .. .. .                                                    | Do.           |
| 9. Offices of the Principal Officers, Mercantile Marine Department, Bombay District and the Shipping Master, Bombay .. .. .   | Do.           |
| 10. Office of the Superintendent of Lighthouses, Bombay District .. .. .                                                      | Do.           |
| 11. Office of the Principal Officer, Mercantile Marine Department and Superintendent of Lighthouses, Karachi District .. .. . | Karachi.      |
| 12. Indian Meteorological Department .. .. .                                                                                  | Poona.        |
| 13. Office of the Deputy Controller of Currency (including the Currency Office, Bombay) .. .. .                               | Bombay.       |
| 14. Security Printing, India .. .. .                                                                                          | Nasik.        |
| 15. Office of the Accountant-General, Bombay .. .. .                                                                          | Bombay.       |
| 16. His Majesty's Mint .. .. .                                                                                                | Do.           |
| 17. Customs Department (Collector of Customs and Salt) .. .. .                                                                | Do.           |
| 18. Salt Department (Collector of Customs and Salt) .. .. .                                                                   | Do.           |
| 19. Income-tax Department (Commissioner of Income-tax) .. .. .                                                                | Do.           |
| 20. Office of the Controller of Military Accounts, Southern Command .. .. .                                                   | Poona.        |
| 21. Office of the Controller of Naval Accounts .. .. .                                                                        | Bombay.       |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1294 asked by Pandit Nilakantha Das on the 1st April, 1935.

POSITIONS UNDER GOVERNMENT (INCLUDING RAILWAYS) REQUIRING OUTSTANDING TECHNICAL QUALIFICATIONS TO SERVE AS HEADS.

(a) The Government of India are not concerned with provincial operations involving high technical skill. So far as their own Civil Departments are concerned, there are at present 22 posts of heads of engineering services, etc., the incumbents of which are required to possess outstanding technical qualifications. No non-official experts have been engaged for big building operations by the Government of India from outside during the last ten years.

(b) The Railway Department set up the following two Committees during the last 10 years :

(1) The Committee appointed in 1933 to report on the suitability of Ascu preservative for treating timber.

(2) The Hardinge Bridge Committee, 1934.

There is also a standing expert committee attached to the Department of Industries and Labour, known as the Central Board of Irrigation.

(c) Of the posts mentioned in (a), nine have been held by Indians. The Central Board of Irrigation mentioned consists of Chief Engineers (Irrigation) of the different provinces and four Indian Chief Engineers have served on it. The Chairman of the committee which dealt with the Ascu preservative was an Indian who did not belong to any railway service.

(d) In view of the fact that the works in question are usually carried out by the members of the services concerned, Government do not consider that any useful purpose would be served by publishing a yearly report.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 1324, 1325 and 1326 asked by Mr. D. K. Lahiri Chaudhury, on the 2nd April, 1935.

SUCCESSFUL MECHANICAL ex-APPRENTICES OF THE LILLOOAH WORKSHOPS, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1324. The Agent, East Indian Railway reports :

(a) Every endeavour is made to provide the successful mechanical ex-apprentices with posts when there are vacancies to be filled. Owing to the economy campaign and to retrenched mechanics on the waiting list having to be absorbed vacancies have been few. All mechanics on the waiting list have now been absorbed and in future ex-apprentices will be taken into consideration when vacancies occur.

(b) Yes, also by Deputy Chief Mechanical Engineer, Lillooah.

(c) The implication is inaccurate. The following Lillooah ex-apprentices have been given employment in the Lucknow Workshops :—

| Name.             | Completed apprenticeship. | Date appointed. |
|-------------------|---------------------------|-----------------|
| S. K. Rana .. ..  | 6 8 1933                  | 7 8 1933        |
| A. Beg .. ..      | 18 2 1929                 | 19 2 1929       |
| P. N. Dutta .. .. | 9 2 1930                  | March 1935      |
| J. Carnegie .. .. | 8 4 1934                  | 15 1 1935       |

(d) 35 per cent. of the Chargemen, Mechanics and Journeymen in the Locomotive and Carriage and Wagon Works at Lucknow are illiterate in English but with the exception of a very few cases, all are literate in their own vernacular. The exceptions are in the Journeymen's grade, a grade to which ex-apprentice mechanics are not normally appointed, although they are at times appointed, at their own request, to posts lower than that of the technically trained grades.

In regard to clerical staff appointed in the Workshop Supervising grade, there are three cases, all of which have been appointed in semi-technical posts, i.e., a Store Keeper, a Journeyman (who deals with workshop stores) and a Gunner.

(e) The staff in question were appointed prior to the amalgamation, as the then Locomotive Superintendent, Oudh and Rohilkund Railway considered that mechanics and mistries deserving of promotion should be encouraged by being promoted to supervising grades.

(f) This practice has been discontinued since the amalgamation and the posts in question have been reserved for ex-apprentice mechanics. This, however, does not indicate that deserving mistries have no longer any opportunities for promotion since posts carrying pay in the old scales up to Rs. 140 and in the new scales up to Rs. 120 are open to them.

(g) No, as it would be most unfair to replace these Indian Journeymen Mechanics and Chargemen by ex-apprentices. They have had long years of practical experience in workshops and have discharged the duties entrusted to them in an efficient and reliable manner. In many cases they have received technical education; although not up to the standard given at the present time to apprentices who pass through the Jamalpur Technical School.

Ex-APPRENTICES OF JAMALPUR TECHNICAL SCHOOL, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1325. The Agent, East Indian Railway reports :

(a) Ex-apprentices who cannot be absorbed on completion of their training are placed on a waiting list and from this list they are subsequently absorbed according to their training in their respective grades in order of seniority which is reckoned from the date of completion of their apprenticeship. Ex-apprentices are, however, retained on the waiting list for a period of two years only from the date of completion of apprenticeship. As between ex-apprentices on the waiting list and other apprentices who subsequently complete their training selection is entirely by merit. If merit is equal or nearly equal an ex-apprentice on the waiting list is given preference.

(b) Yes, those appointed as apprentices prior to the 16th July, 1931, and retained in service on completion of apprenticeship, are governed by the old scales of pay.

(c) Yes, ex-apprentices who were discharged on completion of apprenticeship and were re-engaged after the 15th July, 1931, are governed by the revised scales of pay of 1934.

(d) Five ex-apprentices were appointed in 1933 as Train-Examiners provisionally in the old scales of pay. On the introduction of the revised scales of pay (1934) their pay has been fixed in the new scales.

(e) No. Only apprentices who were appointed before the 16th July, 1931, and who were retained in service on completion of their apprenticeship, are entitled to the old scales of pay. The new scales of pay apply to apprentices engaged after a break in service if such break occurred after the 15th July, 1931.

(f) Does not arise.

CONFIRMATION OF CERTAIN MECHANICAL ex-APPRENTICES UNDER THE CHIEF MECHANICAL ENGINEER, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1326. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a), (b) (i) and (c). There are certain ex-apprentices who have been appointed temporarily both at Jamalpur and Lucknow in connection with the remodelling scheme and whose services will not necessarily be retained when this work is completed.

At Lillooah two ex-apprentices have been engaged in temporary posts to cope with a temporary rush of work.

(b) (ii). The question of the confirmation of these ex-apprentices will be considered when the Jamalpur remodelling has been completed.

Information promised in reply to parts (d) to (h), (k) and (l) of starred question No. 1359, asked by Dr. N. B. Khare on the 2nd April, 1935.

APPLICABILITY OF FINANCE DEPARTMENT CIRCULAR NO. F-78-XI-EX.-I-31, TO THE STAFF ON STATE-MANAGED RAILWAYS.

(d) No. It was not the intention that committees should be formed to select the staff for retrenchment.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(e) and (f). Six of the inferior staff at Chandausi School were retrenched from the 1st August, 1933 and the School Sergeant was retrenched in June, 1933.

(g) Yes.

(h) The surplus inferior staff at the Chandausi School were included in the number of Way and Works staff of the Moradabad division in the Gazette referred to. The post of School Sergeant was not included in the notification as the Agent was not aware at the time that it was intended to retrench this post.

(k) The duties performed by the School Sergeant were as under :

Supervision of—

Conservancy staff.

Watch and Ward staff.

Maintenance of buildings.

Messing arrangements of Catering.

Contractor.

Workshop staff.

Peons and coolies.

Games and upkeep of games material.

School furniture.

Mess and school equipment.

(l) The School Steward who has replaced the School Sergeant and the accounts clerk formerly employed, is responsible to the Superintendent for the office work inclusive of upkeep of Ledgers, etc., conservancy, school furniture, mess equipment, supervision of peons and maintenance of school buildings.

Information promised in reply to part (b) of starred question No. 1375, asked by Khan Sahib Nawab Siddique Ali Khan (on behalf of Mr. A. K. Fazlul Huq) on the 2nd April, 1935.

COMMUNAL COMPOSITION OF INFERIOR ESTABLISHMENT OF THE CENTRAL PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT INCLUDING CENTRAL INDIA AND RAJPUTANA, AT THE END OF 1934.

| Section.                       | Strength.      | Hindus. |                  | Muslims. |                  | Europeans and Anglo-Indians. |                  | Sikhs. |                  | Indian Christians. |                  | Other Communities. |                  |
|--------------------------------|----------------|---------|------------------|----------|------------------|------------------------------|------------------|--------|------------------|--------------------|------------------|--------------------|------------------|
|                                |                | No.     | Percent-age. | No.      | Percent-age. | No.                          | Percent-age. | No.    | Percent-age. | No.                | Percent-age. | No.                | Percent-age. |
| Office Establish-ment.     | { Permanent .. | 175     | 87               | 50       | 48               | ..                           | ..               | 4      | 2                | ..                 | ..               | ..                 | ..               |
|                                | { Temporary .. | 51      | 32               | 63       | 31               | ..                           | ..               | 2      | 4                | 2                  | 2                | ..                 | ..               |
| Caretaking Estab-lishment. | { Permanent .. | 114     | 79               | 69       | 22               | ..                           | ..               | 10     | 9                | ..                 | ..               | ..                 | ..               |
|                                | { Temporary .. | 32      | 17               | 53       | 22               | ..                           | ..               | 7      | 22               | 3                  | 3                | ..                 | ..               |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1379 asked by Sardar Sant Singh on the 2nd April, 1935.

APPOINTMENT OF APPRENTICE PERMANENT WAY INSPECTORS ON THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

(a) Yes.

(b) 2,075 applications were received. The number of vacancies to be filled was not mentioned in the advertisements. A preliminary selection was made by the Welfare Officer and the Personal Assistant to the Chief Engineer who selected 437 candidates for interview of whom five were employees of the Eastern Bengal Railway.

A selection Committee consisting of the Deputy Chief Engineer, the Personal Assistant to the Chief Engineer and the Welfare Officer interviewed 437 candidates and selected the following to fill up the eleven vacancies:

|                                    | Employees. | Outsiders. | Total. |
|------------------------------------|------------|------------|--------|
| Hindus .. .. .                     | 4          | 2          | 6      |
| Muslim .. .. .                     | ..         | 3          | 3      |
| Anglo Indians .. .. .              | ..         | 1          | 1      |
| Other Minority Communities .. .. . | ..         | 1          | 1      |

(Sikh).

(c) Out of the total number of Hindus selected, namely, six, four were already in railway employment and two were recruited from outside. The Selection Board followed the accepted principle, i.e., giving preferential consideration to the sons of railway servants who have rendered efficient service to the railway, provided the candidates were otherwise suitable. It is a mere coincidence that one of the candidates selected, who is a son of a District Traffic Superintendent who died some years ago, happens to be also the nephew of a Stores Department Officer at present employed on the Eastern Bengal Railway.

(d) Yes.

(e) As regards the first part Government are informed that the object of inviting outsiders to be interviewed was to secure a certain number of suitable candidates in the open market.

The reply to the second part is in the negative.

(f) In view of the reply to part (e) above and of the facts that the number of vacancies was not advertised and that seven out of the eleven vacancies were available for outsiders, it was not considered necessary to differentiate between the vacancies to be filled by departmental candidates and those to be filled by outsiders.

(g) If railway Administrations are to advertise vacancies to be filled, a very large number of applications must be expected in the present state of the labour market, and it is not possible to make the final selection without interviewing a fair percentage of the applicants. In the case in point about 80 per cent. of applications were weeded out in the preliminary selection and 20 per cent. were interviewed by the Selection Board.

(h) No. The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway, reports that the volume of work involved in going through all the applications, interviewing applicants and making the final selection, is so great that the Administrative officers mentioned in the question could not undertake it.

Information promised in reply to part (b) of starred question No. 1381, asked by Bhai Parma Nand on the 2nd April, 1935.

PROMOTION OF A CLERK OF THE ROUTINE DIVISION TO THE SECOND DIVISION IN THE DEPARTMENTS OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Vacancies filled in the second division by the Departments of the Government of India, since the coming into force of the Home Department office memorandum No. F.452/27-Ests., dated the 8th December, 1928 .. .. .

Vacancies filled by the promotion of unqualified men .. .. .

58

9

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 286 asked by Mr. B. B. Varma on the 3rd April, 1935.

RELIEF OF THE STAFF GRANTED LEAVE IN THE KOTAH DISTRICT OF THE BOMBAY, BARODA AND CENTRAL INDIA RAILWAY.

The Agent, Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, reports:

“(a) All leave and passes are sanctioned by the District Traffic Superintendent and relief arrangements for subordinate staff are made by the District Traffic Superintendent's office and for the inferior staff by the Traffic-Inspectors. Passes for the inferior staff are issued by the District Traffic Superintendent when the Traffic-Inspectors apply for them as soon as the latter are in a position to relieve the inferior staff. Staff are relieved as soon as relief becomes available.

(b) Pointsman Badri, son of Jodha of Rupbas, claimed damages of Rs. 1,500 from his Traffic-Inspector on the 4th January, 1935, for not relieving him in time.

(c) The case was investigated and it was found that the Station Master, Rupbas, had wired to the Traffic-Inspector on the 13th March, 1934, intimating that Badri's wife's condition was hopeless and he was relieved without undue delay on the 15th March, 1934, afternoon, when the first Relieving Pointsman became available.

Every possible effort is made to relieve staff promptly in urgent cases.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 296 asked by Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar on the 3rd April, 1935.

SEATS IN THE THIRD CLASS CARRIAGES ON THE SOUTH INDIAN RAILWAY.

(c) The carriages with two seater benches are not generally utilised on important main line trains. Steps are being taken by the South Indian Railway to replace these carriages by the latest type of third class carriages when the former are condemned or pass their time limit.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 299 asked by U Thein Maung on the 1st April, 1935.

CONTRACTS FOR THE SUPPLY OF BALLAST STONES TO THE BURMA RAILWAYS.

| Year.           | Percentage. |            |
|-----------------|-------------|------------|
|                 | By number.  | By amount. |
| 1932-33 .. .. . | 2.00%       | 2.64%      |
| 1933-34 .. .. . | 11.11%      | 9.73%      |
| 1934-35 .. .. . | 15.18%      | 9.79%      |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1446 asked by Seth Govind Das on the 4th April, 1935.

ARREST AND CONVICTION OF FOUR PERSONS DAILY, FOUND TRAVELLING WITHOUT TICKETS, AT JUBBULPORE.

A large number of passengers were being detected at Jubbulpore travelling without tickets. The number so detected during the months of October, 1934 to L163LAD .. .. .

March, 1935, and the number who paid the charges due on demand were as follows :

| Months.                | No. of passengers detected without tickets. | No. of passengers who paid the charges due on demand. |
|------------------------|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| October, 1934 .. .. .  | 60,0                                        | 64                                                    |
| November, 1934 .. .. . | 560                                         | 11                                                    |
| December, 1934 .. .. . | 660                                         | 31                                                    |
| January, 1935 .. .. .  | 675                                         | 28                                                    |
| February, 1935 .. .. . | 524                                         | 24                                                    |
| March, 1934 .. .. .    | 463                                         | 63                                                    |

As it was considered impracticable to prosecute all those who did not pay on demand, arrangements were made, in consultation with the local railway police and magisterial authorities for a maximum of four passengers per day to be sent up for prosecution. The numbers actually prosecuted, however, during the six months in question were :

40 under Section 113 of the Indian Railway Act.

138 under Section 112 of the Indian Railway Act.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1468 asked by Mr. D. K. Lahiri Chaudhury on the 4th April, 1935.

POST AND TELEGRAPH OFFICES MAINTAINED FOR MILITARY PURPOSES.

(a) The names of the Post and Telegraph offices maintained for military purposes are :

- |                    |                 |
|--------------------|-----------------|
| (1) Landikotal.    | (12) Wana.      |
| (2) Shahgai.       | (13) Manzai.    |
| (3) Jamrud.        | (14) Jandala.   |
| (4) Razmak.        | (15) Dattakhel. |
| (5) Thull.         | (16) Mirali.    |
| (6) Fort Lockhart. | (17) Miranshah. |
| (7) Dosalli.       | (18) Sarwakai.  |
| (8) Dargai.        | (19) Spinwam.   |
| (9) Malakand.      | (20) Sararogha. |
| (10) Chakdara.     | (21) Shewa.     |
| (11) Oghi.         |                 |

(b) A contribution to compensate for the loss involved is made by the military authorities in respect of the seven offices, Nos. 15 to 21, in the above statement. The working of the other offices does not involve any loss and hence no contribution is made.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1470 asked by Mr. S. Satyamurti on the 4th April, 1935.

SUBJECTS OF INDIAN STATES AGAINST WHOM PROCEEDINGS HAVE BEEN TAKEN BY LOCAL GOVERNMENTS UNDER THE FOREIGNERS' ACT.

| Province.                            | No. | No. of orders still in force. | No. of orders cancelled. |
|--------------------------------------|-----|-------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Madras .. .. .                       | 4   | 4                             | ..                       |
| Bengal .. .. .                       | 2   | 2                             | ..                       |
| United Provinces .. .. .             | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| Punjab .. .. .                       | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| Burma .. .. .                        | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| Bihar and Orissa .. .. .             | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| Central Provinces .. .. .            | 3   | ..                            | 3                        |
| Assam .. .. .                        | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| North-West Frontier Province .. .. . | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| Coorg .. .. .                        | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| Delhi .. .. .                        | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |
| Ajmer-Merwara .. .. .                | ..  | ..                            | ..                       |

None of the persons referred to above was convicted in connection with the Civil Disobedience Movement.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 1485, 1487 parts (a) and (b) of 1488 and 1491 asked by Mr. Ram Narayan Sinha on the 4th April, 1935.

GRIEVANCES OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1485. (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) The reply to the first part is in the negative. As regards the second part, Travelling Ticket Examiners frequently work on moving trains. So do many others.

(d) and (e). The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that the method of preparation of programme is not the same for Travelling Ticket Examiners and guards.

(f) Yes.

(g) There is a great difference between the nature of the duties of Guards and those of Travelling Ticket Examiners and, therefore, the two classes of staff cannot be treated on the same basis in respect of hours of duty and periods of rest. There are no fixed rules as regards the rest at out-stations, but the programme of work is so arranged that the men get adequate rest.

(h) Yes. If admissible according to rules.

(i) Travelling Ticket Examiners are not entitled to rest periods and allowances which are permissible to Guards. The Agent, East Indian Railway reports that on that railway the hours of duty of all Travelling Ticket Examiners are so regulated as to give them the benefit of the hours of employment rules, although this is not actually required under the conditions of their service, since they are classified as running staff for the purpose of those rules.

(j) The duties are different, and the rules regarding rest have also to be different.

GRIEVANCES OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1487. (a) Yes. In accordance with the Guards Allowance Rules.

(b) The rules for Guards' allowances are not applicable to Travelling Ticket Examiners. In this connection I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply given to part (g) of Question No. 1485 just laid on the table of the House.

GRIEVANCES OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1488. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) Exchange of duties between staff is generally discouraged as such exchanges are liable to cause dislocation of normal working. In emergent cases, however, it is permitted, with the prior sanction of the competent supervising senior subordinate, and Travelling Ticket Examiners are not made an exception of in this respect.

(b) To prevent disorganisation of work a severe view is always taken of cases in which staff fail to turn up in time for the train by which they are booked without authorised leave or without producing a proper medical certificate. The consumption of medicine is not considered an authority for unpunctuality or absence from duty.

GRIEVANCES OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

1491. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) The question is obscure for it is not clear in what connection the term "rest" is used.

(b) Until the obscurity referred to in reply to part (a) above is removed, differential treatment is not apparent and the question does not arise.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1513 asked by Prof. N. G. Ranga on the 4th April, 1935.

OFFERS OF SINKING OR CONSTRUCTING WELLS OR MYERS' PUMPS ON RAILWAY PLATFORMS OR WITHIN RAILWAY COMPOUNDS.

Government are informed that one such offer by the public of Indupalli to erect a "Myers Pump" on the Railway platform, was received by the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Administration in January, 1934, and that this request was later supported by the Andhra Desa Railway Passengers Association. As the arrangement for the supply of water to passengers which had meanwhile been augmented, were considered adequate, the offer was not accepted.

The administration do not consider it desirable that works of this nature, within Railway premises, should be provided by any agency other than the Railway.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1563 asked by Mr. Satya Narayan Sinha on the 5th April, 1935.

RECONSTRUCTION OF CERTAIN BRIDGES BETWEEN MADHUBANI AND JAYANAGAR ON THE BENGAL AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

(a) Yes.

(b) It is a fact that in certain instances existing spans which had ceased functioning were filled in. In other cases, the bridges were rebuilt with an increase in waterway.

(c) Government have no reason to doubt that the floods caused damage to standing crops, but the flooding was in no way due to any deficiency in the waterway provided by the Railway as supposed, but to the steady rise of the river bed by silting and possibly to subsidence of the flooded areas due to the earthquake of January, 1934.

(d) to (f). A representation was received from the Chief Manager, Raj Darhanga, but it was pointed out to him that the flooding was due to the rise in the river bed and to the change taking place in the course of the river which is tending to return to its old bed.

Information promised in reply to parts (a) and (b) of starred question No. 1577 asked by Mr. Ram Narayan Sinha on the 5th April, 1935.

APPLICATIONS MADE UNDER SECTION 30 OF THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX ACT.

(a) and (b). A statement giving the necessary information for the year 1934-35 is laid on the table.

STATEMENT.

1934-35.

| District or Circle.                        | *No. of applications made under section 30. | †No. of cases in which modifications were made in favour of the applicants. |
|--------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Patna .. .. .                              | 232                                         | 207                                                                         |
| Gaya .. .. .                               | 236                                         | 100                                                                         |
| Shahabad .. .. .                           | 172                                         | 40                                                                          |
| Bhagalpur (South) Sonthal Pargannas (East) | 379                                         | 239                                                                         |
| Muzaffarpur (Sadar) Champaran .. .. .      | 353                                         | 237                                                                         |
| Darbhanga-Sitamarhi .. .. .                | 281                                         | 160                                                                         |
| Saran-Hajipur .. .. .                      | 293                                         | 290                                                                         |
| Purnea-North Bhagalpur .. .. .             | 393                                         | 280                                                                         |
| Ranchi .. .. .                             | 59                                          | 36                                                                          |
| Manbhum Sadar .. .. .                      | 66                                          | 33                                                                          |
| Dhanbad .. .. .                            | 79                                          | 45                                                                          |
| Singhbhum .. .. .                          | 107                                         | 64                                                                          |
| Sambalpur .. .. .                          | 103                                         | 65                                                                          |
| Hazaribagh .. .. .                         | 110                                         | 56                                                                          |
| Palamau .. .. .                            | 45                                          | 17                                                                          |
| Cuttack .. .. .                            | 142                                         | 75                                                                          |
| Balasore .. .. .                           | 54                                          | 35                                                                          |
| Puri .. .. .                               | 75                                          | 28                                                                          |
| Salaries Circle .. .. .                    | 31                                          | 22                                                                          |
| Monghyr-Sonthal Pargannas (West) .. .. .   | 322                                         | 132                                                                         |

* Include appeals filed in previous years but disposed of in 1934-35.

† Include slight reductions.

Information promised in reply to part (b) of starred question No. 1580 asked by Mr. Ram Narayan Singh on the 5th April, 1935.

IMPOSITION OF PENALTIES UNDER SECTION 28 OF THE INCOME-TAX ACT IN CUTTACK, PURI AND BALASORE CIRCLES.

(b) No.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1659 asked by Mr. Umar Aly Shah on the 8th April, 1935.

CERTAIN SUBORDINATES OF THE CENTRAL PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, NEW DELHI.

(a) A list of permanent subordinates in the Central Public Works Department who have not passed any recognised technical examination is laid on the table.

(b) They were given permanent appointments on the merits of their practical experience and qualifications.

(c) There are only two such subordinates, namely—Mr. Manzoor Ali, and Mr. Harbans Swarup.

List of permanent Subordinates in the Central Public Works Department who have not passed any recognised technical examination.

| Subordinate Engineering Service. | Electrical and Mechanical Section. |
|-----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
| 1. Mr. Gurdit Singh.                    | 1. Mr. Kesar Chand.                       |
| 2. Mr. Shib Dayal.                      | 2. Mr. Sundar Singh.                      |
| 3. Mr. Ram Chand (Delhi).               | 3. Mr. W. Wylie.                          |
| 4. Mr. Chiranji Lal.                    | 4. Mr. F. D. Williams.                    |
| 5. Mr. Allah Ditta.                     | 5. Mr. Habibul Rahman.                    |
| 6. Mr. Badruddin I.                     | 6. Mr. Pooran Chand.                      |
| 7. Mr. Rulia Ram.                       | 7. Mr. Bua Ditta Mal.                     |
| 8. Mr. Basant Singh.                    | 8. Mr. Sant Ram.                          |
| 9. Mr. Noor Mohammed.                   | 9. Mr. R. H. Foster.                      |
| 10. Mr. Ram Chand (Ajmer).              |                                           |
| 11. Mr. Ghulam Sabir.                   |                                           |

Information promised in reply to unstarred questions Nos. 302, 303, 304, 307, 317 and 318 asked by Dr. N. B. Khare on the 9th April, 1935.

REMOVAL OF TRAVELLING TICKET COLLECTORS FROM THE CATEGORY OF TRAIN (TRAFFIC) OR RUNNING STAFF ON CERTAIN RAILWAYS.

302. So far as the grant of mileage allowances is concerned, the Travelling Ticket Checking staff ceased to be treated as running staff on :

|                                                   |                            |
|---------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| North Western Railway                             | } from the 1st June, 1931. |
| East Indian Railway                               |                            |
| Eastern Bengal Railway, from the 1st April, 1931. |                            |

On the Burma Railways, the question is still under consideration.

On the Great Indian Peninsula Railway the Travelling Ticket Checking staff were never, so far as I am aware, given mileage allowances. They have all along been given either daily or night allowance under the Travelling Allowance Rules.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE CREW SYSTEM IN THE HOWRAH AND LUCKNOW DIVISIONS, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

303. Mr. G. J. Harris's report from which the quotation has been taken has no bearing on the question of seniority. As regards fixation of seniority of Crew and other Travelling Ticket Checking staff on absorption in the Moody-Ward system, I would refer the Honourable Member to the information laid on the table of the House on the 19th July, 1934, in reply to part (i) of question No. 459, asked by Mr. S. G. Jog, on the 13th March, 1934.

PROMOTION AND SENIORITY OF THE TRAVELLING TICKET INSPECTORS OF THE ACCOUNT AND AUDIT DEPARTMENT TRANSFERRED TO THE TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

304. The Agent, East Indian Railway reports :

At each of the stages mentioned the seniority of the Ticket Checking Staff was maintained on the lines stated below :

1st May, 1931 : The seniority of Travelling Ticket Inspectors of the Accounts Department was distinct from the seniority of staff on the Crew System.

1st June, 1931 : A combined seniority list was made for each grade of the Moody-Ward system in which the Travelling Ticket Inspectors of the Accounts Department were positioned with other ticket checking staff, seniority being determined primarily according to pay and by length of service when pay was equal.

1st January, 1933. } In December, 1932, the old Travelling Ticket Inspectors
1st March, 1933. } of the Accounts Department who were absorbed in the Moody-Ward scheme as Travelling Ticket Examiners were allowed the option of retaining the scales of pay applicable to the former permanent posts held substantively by them with the benefit of increments therein.

CONSOLIDATED ALLOWANCE OF THE TICKET CHECKING STAFF ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

307. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

- (a) 1. Chief Inspectors (Tickets) = 6.
2. Inspectors (Ticket), Grade I = 6.
3. Inspectors (Ticket), Grade II = 5.
- (b) 1. Rs. 240—20—460.
2. Rs. 200—10—220.
3. Rs. 150—10—190.

(c) The Inspectors draw ordinary travelling allowance as applicable to other Inspectors under the State Railway or East Indian Railway Rules, the rates are as shown below :

| State Railway Rules.                                       | East Indian Railway Rules.                                       |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Staff drawing Rs. 501 and above Rs. 4 per day.                    | European and East Indian subordinates Rs. 4 per night.                  |
| Staff drawing Rs. 401 to Rs. 500, Rs. 3/8/0 per day.              | Indian employees drawing Rs. 350 and above, Rs. 3/8/0 per night.        |
| Staff drawing Rs. 301 to Rs. 400, Rs. 3 per day.                  | Indian employees drawing Rs. 250 to under Rs. 350 Rs. 2/8/0 per night.  |
| Staff drawing Rs. 201 to Rs. 300, Rs. 2/8/0 per day.              | Indian employees drawing Rs. 200 to under Rs. 250, Rs. 2 per night.     |
| Staff drawing Rs. 101 to Rs. 200, Rs. 1/8/0 per day.              | Indian employees drawing Rs. 100 to under Rs. 200, Rs. 1/8/0 per night. |
| (d) A statement giving the required information is attached. (A). |                                                                         |
| (e) A statement giving the required information is attached. (B). |                                                                         |

The old Travelling Ticket Inspectors and staff of the Crew System were fitted into appointments in the Moody-Ward Scheme according to their suitability, limited necessarily by the sanctioned number of posts in each grade.

"A".

List showing the rates of pay of the old Travelling Ticket Inspectors who are now employed as Head Ticket Collectors, Assistant Head Ticket Collectors or Ticket Collectors.

| Name.                 | Designation.                     | Grade held. | Pay. |
|-----------------------|----------------------------------|-------------|------|
|                       |                                  | Rs.         | Rs.  |
| F. L. Roberts .. ..   | Head Ticket Collector ..         | 200—10—220  | 210  |
| B. B. Nigam .. ..     | Assistant Head Ticket Collector. | 130—10—200  | 200  |
| D. Peck .. ..         | Head Ticket Collector ..         | 200—10—220  | 220  |
| D. Wheeler .. ..      | Do. ..                           | 150—10—190  | 190  |
| J. N. Sinha .. ..     | Do. ..                           | 150—10—190  | 180  |
| Shitab Rai .. ..      | Do. ..                           | 130—10—200  | 200  |
| M. A. Springett .. .. | Do. ..                           | 130—10—200  | 200  |
| Hamin Hussain .. ..   | Do. ..                           | 130—10—200  | 200  |
| S. Payambar .. ..     | Assistant Head Ticket Collector. | 110—5—140   | 125  |
| T. Liddle .. ..       | Do. ..                           | 130—10—160  | 160  |

"B".

Rates of pay last drawn by the staff of Crew System who are now employed as Ticket Inspectors.

| Name.              | Designation.               | Existing grade. | Rates of pay last drawn in Crew System. |                                |
|--------------------|----------------------------|-----------------|-----------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
|                    |                            |                 | Grade.                                  | Pay.                           |
|                    |                            | Rs.             | Rs.                                     | Rs.                            |
| A. H. Kurishy ..   | Inspector (Ticket)         | 200—10—220      | 220—20—300                              | 260 Station Inspector.         |
| A. L. Deefholts .. | Junior Inspector (Ticket). | 150—10—190      | 150—10—200                              | 190 Line Inspector.            |
| A. G. Khan ..      | Inspector (Ticket)         | 200—10—220      | 150—10—200                              | 200 Hostel Supervisor.         |
| T. N. Kitchlu ..   | Junior Inspector (Ticket). | 150—10—190      | 150—10—200                              | 180 Line Inspector.            |
| K. M. Asghar ..    | Do. ..                     | 150—10—190      | 150—10—200                              | 180 Do.                        |
| Mohd. Latiff ..    | Chief Inspector (Tickets). | 240—20—460      | 240—20—460                              | 260 Chief Inspector (Tickets). |

CONSOLIDATED ALLOWANCE OF THE TICKET CHECKING STAFF ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

317. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) In the Ticket Checking Branch the posts of Chief Inspectors (Tickets) are higher than the posts of the Travelling Ticket Inspectors. The rules for recruitment and training of subordinate staff referred to in part (c) of this question are followed.

(b) Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the information just laid on the table of the House in reply to parts (a) and (b) of his question No. 307 asked by him on the 9th April, 1935.

(c) With the circular referred to, the rules for the recruitment and training of subordinate staff, were published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

(d) and (e). Ticket Collectors form one of the classes in the group of staff called "Ticket Collectors" in Rule 25 of the recruitment rules. The group includes besides ticket collectors, Travelling Ticket Examiners, Assistant Head Ticket Collectors, Head Ticket Collectors, Inspectors and Chief Inspectors of Tickets. Recruitment is normally made initially to the lowest grade of the class "Ticket Collectors".

PROMOTION AND SENIORITY OF THE TRAVELLING TICKET INSPECTORS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

318. (a) Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the information just laid on the table of the House in reply to question No. 304 asked by him on the 9th April, 1935. Any changes that have taken place are the result of altered conditions due to the re-organisation of the ticket checking system and not of transfer from one Department to another.

(b) Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that there were only two grades, viz. :—

(i) Rs. 60—4—64—8—120, and

(ii) Rs. 130—10—200.

The number of staff in these grades was as follows :—

| Date.                 | Grade (i).Rs.60—4—64—8—120. | Grade (ii).Rs.130—10—200. |
|-----------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1st April, 1926 .. .. | 86                                  | 24                                |
| 31st May, 1931 .. ..  | 86                                  | 24                                |
| 1st June, 1931 .. ..  | 72                                  | 8                                 |
| 1st March, 1935 .. .. | 69                                  | 8                                 |

(c) There are no grades the maximum of which is Rs. 80 or Rs. 96, Rs. 180 and Rs. 210. In all branches of service staff after reaching the maximum of each grade normally wait until vacancies in the sanctioned cadre of the next higher grade occur.

(d) The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative.

(i) I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply given to part (c) above.

(ii) and (iii). The Railway Board's order in question allowed these men to retain the scales of pay applicable to the permanent posts held by each of them in a substantive capacity prior to the introduction of the Moody-Ward scheme. They held posts in the scales referred to in part (b) above and have been allowed increments in the scale of pay of the posts substantively held by them. The Board's orders did not allow these men to be given pay and increments in higher posts which were formerly in existence in the Accounts Department of which they were not the substantive holders at the time when they were absorbed in the Moody-Ward scheme.

(iv) Government are not prepared to go beyond the orders referred to above.

(e) The reply to the first part of the question is in the affirmative.

(i) For higher grade posts, I would refer the Honourable Member to the information just laid on the table of the House in reply to parts (a) and (b) of his question No. 317 asked on the 9th April, 1935. The employees concerned are, however, eligible, on the occurrence of vacancies.

for appointment to other posts carrying higher pay than those held by them substantively for which they may be qualified. The Agent, East Indian Railway reports that as the higher grade posts for which an employee may be qualified depend on the nature of his qualifications, it is not possible to name such posts or scales of pay attaching thereto.

- (ii) No.
- (iii) No. The latter part of the question does not arise.
- (iv) This is a hypothetical question. If, however, the Honourable Member is referring to the case of a Travelling Ticket Examiner on the Moradabad Division of the East Indian Railway, I would refer him to the information laid on the table of the House on the 25th January 1935 in reply to question No. 440 (b) asked by Maulvi Sayed Murtaza Sahib Bahadur on the 7th August, 1934.
- (v) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that there is no anomaly to be removed.
- (f) If the Honourable Member will quote specific cases, Government will be prepared to make enquiries.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 309 asked by Dr. N. B. Khare on the 9th April, 1935.

PROMOTION AND SENIORITY OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS AND TRAVELLING TICKET INSPECTORS OF THE ACCOUNTS AND AUDIT DEPARTMENT TRANSFERRED TO THE OPERATING DEPARTMENT OF THE NORTH WESTERN AND EAST INDIAN RAILWAYS.

The Agents, North Western and East Indian Railways, state :

North Western Railway.—The entire control of Travelling Ticket Examiners and special Ticket examiners (wrongly referred to as Travelling Ticket Inspectors) was transferred from the Accounts to the Executive with effect from 1st June, 1928. From 1st June, 1928 to 31st May, 1931, Travelling Ticket Examiners including Special Travelling Ticket Examiners and Special Ticket Examiners were borne on two separate cadres for the purpose of seniority and for temporary or permanent promotions to their respective higher grades.

2. From 1st June, 1931, the cadre of Travelling Ticket Examiners including Special Travelling Ticket Examiners was abolished and the incumbents of the post were fitted into the cadre of Special Ticket Examiners. Since then they have been borne on a combined seniority list for promotion to higher grades though due to surpluses in these higher grades no such promotions have been made. Travelling Ticket Examiners including Special Travelling Ticket Examiners who prior to 1st August, 1931, held permanent posts as such in a substantive capacity, have been informed that they must before 1st August, 1935, exercise an option of retaining their old scales as personal to themselves will effect from 1st June, 1931, the date on which they were fitted into the Special Ticket Examiner's cadre.

Further instructions as regards seniority and promotion will be issued when they have exercised this option.

East Indian Railway.—Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the information just laid on the table of the House in reply to question No. 304 asked by him on the 9th April, 1935. The remarks given against the stage 1st May, 1931, also refer to the period previous to that. The remarks given against the stage 1st June, 1931, indicates the position upto 1932.

MOTIONS FOR ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. I have received a notice from Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq that he intends to make a motion for adjournment today for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, "the situation created by the refusal of the Government to allow Mahatma Gandhi and Congress Leaders to visit the area affected by the Earthquake at Quetta for purposes of carrying on relief operations". As the Honourable Member is not in his seat, that notice of motion for adjournment lapses.

PROHIBITION OF MR. MOHAN LAL SAKSENA FROM ENTERING INTO THE DISTRICT OF TIPPERA.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have also received a notice from Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta that he intends to make a motion for adjournment today for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, viz., "the order passed by the District Magistrate of Tippera on the 11th July, 1935, prohibiting Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena, M.L.A., from entering into the District of Tippera where he was proceeding as a member of a committee appointed by the Congress Party of the Assembly to investigate into the administration of repressive laws in Bengal".

Since then I have received a Message from His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in which he says that, on the ground that this matter is not primarily the concern of the Governor General, he disallows the motion.

(Cries of "Shame, shame" from Congress Party Benches.)

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO MAHATMA GANDHI AND BABU RAJENDRA PRASAD TO ENTER INTO THE EARTHQUAKE AREA OF QUETTA.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order.

Mr. Avinashilingam Chettiar has also given notice of an adjournment motion which runs as follows :

"I propose to move a motion for adjournment of the business of this House on the opening day of the coming Session for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the Government of India's refusal to give permission to Mahatma Gandhi and Babu Rajendra Prasad to enter into the earthquake area of Quetta and do relief work."

I have to inquire whether any Honourable Member has any objection to this adjournment motion.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar (Salem and Coimbatore cum North Arcot : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I do not want to move my motion.

RIOTING OF BRITISH SOLDIERS STATIONED AT JUBBULPORE.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have also received notice of an adjournment motion from Seth Govind Das in which he proposes to discuss "the situation created by the rioting of the soldiers of the King's Regiment stationed at Jubbulpore in the village of Benda near Jubbulpore, Central Provinces". Does the Honourable Member wish to move his motion ?

Seth Govind Das (Central Provinces Hindi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan) : Yes, Sir, I wish to move my motion.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inquire whether any Honourable Member has any objection to it.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Sir, we object to the motion on the ground that the subject-matter is already being examined by Court, and, therefore, it is not in order. In whatever language the motion may be couched, reference will be made to the part the soldiers took in these disturbances, and I take objection on that ground also.

Seth Govind Das : May I point out to the Honourable Member that I do not want to touch the details of the question. I want to discuss the matter from the broader aspect of military discipline. At the time of the Meerut Conspiracy trial, though the question was sub judice, yet an adjournment motion was moved and the Honourable Mr. Patel, the then President, gave the ruling that, in spite of its being sub judice, it could be discussed on the floor of the House from the broader point of view.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What is that ruling ?

Seth Govind Das : Yesterday the Library was closed, and, therefore, I could not find it. It was at the time when the Meerut case was going on.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Is not the very fact of rioting one of the issues in the case ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Yes, Sir. Whether the soldiers committed a breach of discipline or whether they were justified to do what they did, are matters for the Court.

Seth Govind Das : But, as I have said, I want to discuss it from the broader aspect. Sir, now I have got the gist of Mr. Patel's ruling.

The following words are on page 36 of the book, named "Decisions from the Chair" in this respect :

"It was, however, contended for the motion that the Court had nothing to do with the policy underlying the action taken by the Government."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Is there any question of policy here ?

Seth Govind Das : Certainly, Sir, as I have twice said, I do not want to discuss whether the soldiers committed any offence or not, but I want to discuss whether it was proper on the ground of military discipline, because such offences are committed by soldiers every now and then.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : May I say a word in reply ? What happened then was that "Pandit Motilal Nehru sought to move the adjournment of the House in order to discuss the policy of the Government in sanctioning wholesale raids and arrests in different parts of India". That is to say, it was the "policy" which he was going to discuss. My friend has not suggested that it is the policy of the Government that he wishes to discuss. He is referring to a riot which is now being tried in a Court, and it has nothing to do with the present situation. As a matter of fact, all these raids were not the subject-matter of investigation by the Court when the riot was going on. It cannot be said that every single raid was then being investigated by the Court. So, the Honourable the President then rightly ruled that those cases were not sub judice. There, the Honourable Member wanted to discuss the policy of wholesale raids and arrests. I submit, therefore, that the position then was absolutely different from the present one.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : The point which my Honourable friend, Seth Govind Das, wants to raise has nothing to do with the facts of the case, which are now being placed before a Court of law. What he wants to discuss is the lack of discipline in this regiment.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : But the rioting by the soldiers is a point at issue.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The lack of discipline is admitted by the fact that these soldiers are being arrested by the army authorities themselves and are handed over for trial. They may be convicted or acquitted, that is quite a different matter. But, so far as the Government are concerned, they admit the facts and have proceeded on them. (Voices of "No, no" from Official Benches.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Is not rioting a point at issue in this case ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I admit that it is ; but the point my Honourable friend wants to raise by means of this adjournment motion is the lack of discipline.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : How is the lack of discipline proved ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : It is admitted by Government.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They have arrested these men, and have placed them for trial before the Court.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member wants to discuss the question of rioting and the situation created by the rioting, and I have no hesitation in ruling that this adjournment motion is out of order, because a principal issue at the trial must be whether there was rioting or not. The ruling which has been referred to and which is No. 33 of the "Selection from the Decisions from the Chair" has no bearing on this matter. There the question was whether the House should be allowed to discuss the policy of the Government in sanctioning wholesale raids and arrests in different parts of India. In this case, there is no question of any policy of Government.

REFUSAL OF PERMISSION TO MAHATMA GANDHI AND BABU RAJENDRA PRASAD TO ENTER INTO THE EARTHQUAKE AREA OF QUETTA.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Mr. Satyamurti has given notice of a motion for adjournment of the House which runs thus :

"The prohibition of Mahatma Gandhi and Babu Rajendra Prasad, President of the Indian National Congress, and other Congress leaders, from entering Quetta, for helping in relief operations to those who suffered on account of the Earthquake."

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, I do not want to move it.

PROHIBITION OF THE CONVENER OF THE CONGRESS ASSEMBLY PARTY COMMITTEE re DETENUS TO ENTER CERTAIN PLACES IN BENGAL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Mr. Satyamurti has given notice of another motion for adjournment of the House to consider the following definite matter of urgent public importance, namely :

"The prohibition of the Convener of the Committee appointed by the Congress Assembly Party to investigate and report on the condition of the detenues and their families in Bengal, from entering certain places in the province."

Does the Honourable Member want to move it ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Then I have to inquire whether any Honourable Member has objection to it.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : We object to the motion, but I am not asking you to rule it out. It requires 25 Members standing up.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : As an objection has been taken, I would like to know how many Members are in favour of the leave being granted.

As not less than 25 Members are in favour of leave being granted, the motion will be taken up for discussion at 4 P.M. today.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S ASSENT TO BILLS.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform Honourable Members that the following Bills which were passed by both Chambers of the Indian Legislature during the Delhi Session, 1935, have been assented to by His Excellency the Governor General under the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 68 of the Government of India Act :

- (1) The Indian Naturalization (Amendment) Act, 1935,
- (2) The Indian Tariff (Amendment) Act, 1935,
- (3) The Indian Tea Cess (Amendment) Act, 1935,
- (4) The Salt Additional Import Duty (Extending) Act, 1935, and
- (5) The Indian Mines (Amendment) Act, 1935.

PANEL OF CHAIRMEN.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform the House that under rule 3 (1) of the Indian Legislative Rules, I nominate Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, Mr. G. Morgan and Mr. M. S. Aney on the Panel of Chairmen for the current Session.

COMMITTEE ON PETITIONS.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to announce that under Standing Order 80 (1) of the Legislative Assembly Standing Orders the following Honourable Members will form the Committee on Petitions :

- (1) Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant,
- (2) Syed Ghulam Bhik Nairang,
- (3) Dr. F. X. DeSouza, and
- (4) Mr. Lalchand Navalrai.

According to the provision of the same Standing Order the Deputy President will be the Chairman of the Committee.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE RESERVE BANK OF INDIA AND THE IMPERIAL BANK OF INDIA.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg (Finance Member) : Sir, I lay on the table a copy of the Agreement between the Reserve Bank of India and the Imperial Bank of India.

An Agreement made the fifth day of April 1935, between the Reserve Bank of India (hereinafter called the "the Reserve Bank") of the one part and the Imperial Bank of India (hereinafter called "the Imperial Bank") of the other part WHEREAS the Imperial Bank was constituted and incorporated by the Imperial Bank of India Act, 1920 (being Act No. XLVII of 1920) and WHEREAS the Reserve Bank was constituted and incorporated and is regulated by the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (being Act No. II of 1934) hereinafter called "the Act" and WHEREAS by section 45 of the Act it is inter alia provided that the Reserve Bank should enter into an agreement with the Imperial Bank which should be subject to the approval of the Governor General in Council and should be expressed to come into force on the date on which Chapter III of the Act should come into force and should remain in force for 15 years and thereafter until terminated after 5 years' notice on either side and should further contain the provisions set forth in the Third Schedule to the Act subject nevertheless to the proviso that the agreement should be conditional on the maintenance of a sound financial position by the Imperial Bank, and that if, in the opinion of the Central Board of the Reserve Bank, the Imperial Bank failed either to fulfil the conditions of the agreement or to maintain a sound financial position, the said Central Board should make a recommendation to the Governor General in Council and the Governor General in Council after making such further enquiries as he thought fit might issue instructions to the Imperial Bank with reference either to the agreement or to any matter which in his opinion involved the security of the Government monies or the assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank in the custody of the Imperial Bank and in the event of the Imperial Bank disregarding such instructions might declare the agreement to be terminated and WHEREAS the agreement contemplated by the Act is the agreement hereinafter set out to which the Governor General in Council has already expressed his approval.

NOW IT IS HEREBY MUTUALLY AGREED AND DECLARED by and between the parties hereto as follows, that is to say :—

1. This agreement shall be deemed to have come into force on the 1st day of April 1935 being the day on which the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India appointed that Chapter III of the Act should come into force and this agreement shall remain in force for the term of twenty years from the aforesaid day and thereafter unless and until determined as hereinafter provided.

2. The Reserve Bank shall during the subsistence of this agreement employ the Imperial Bank as its sole agent at every place in British India where there is a branch of the Imperial Bank which was in existence at the date on which this agreement comes into force and where there is no branch of the Banking Department of the Reserve Bank.

3. The general banking business of the Governor General in Council which may be entrusted by the Reserve Bank to the Imperial Bank as sole agent of the Reserve Bank as aforesaid shall be managed by the Imperial Bank subject to the provisions of this agreement and with and to such orders and directions as may from time to time be given to the Imperial Bank by the Reserve Bank and for this purpose all such accounts shall be maintained by the Imperial Bank as shall be necessary or convenient or as the Reserve Bank shall from time to time direct :

Provided however that in conducting such business the responsibility of the Imperial Bank shall be solely to the Reserve Bank and shall be that of a Banker to an ordinary customer.

4. The Reserve Bank shall not maintain a balance with the Imperial Bank for the management of the accounts of the Governor General in Council, but all sums due to or from the Governor General in Council in the management of the aforesaid accounts shall be adjusted by the Imperial Bank by book transfer with the balances which it holds with the Reserve Bank at such place or places at which there is a branch of the Banking Department of the Reserve Bank and in such manner as may be agreed upon between the Reserve Bank and the Imperial Bank from time to time.

[Sir James Grigg.]

5. (a) In consideration of the performance at the places and in the manner specified in this agreement by the Imperial Bank on behalf of the Reserve Bank of the functions which the Imperial Bank was performing on behalf of the Governor General in Council before the coming into force of this agreement with the exception of functions relating to the management of the public debt, the Reserve Bank shall pay to the Imperial Bank as remuneration a sum which shall be for the first ten years during which this agreement is in force a commission calculated at one-sixteenth of one per cent. on the first 250 crores and one-thirty-second of one per cent. on the remainder of the total of the receipts and disbursements dealt with annually on account of Government by the Imperial Bank on behalf of the Reserve Bank. At the close of the said ten years the remuneration to be paid by the Reserve Bank to the Imperial Bank for the performance of these functions shall be revised and the remuneration for the ensuing five years shall be determined on the basis of the actual cost to the Imperial Bank, as ascertained by expert accounting investigation, of performing the said functions. The remuneration so determined shall thereafter be subject to revision in like manner at the end of each period of five years so long as this agreement remains in force. The amount of the said remuneration shall be arrived at by discussion in advance between the Reserve Bank and the Imperial Bank so that the new arrangements may come into force at the beginning of each such period :

Provided that if any dispute arises between the Reserve Bank and the Imperial Bank as to the amount of the said remuneration, the matter shall be referred for final decision to the Governor General in Council who may for the purpose of arriving at such decision require from the Imperial Bank such information and may order such accounting investigation as he thinks fit.

(b) The Reserve Bank shall pay to the Imperial Bank for acting as agent in matters other than that for which the Imperial Bank is remunerated under clause 5 (a) such remuneration as shall be agreed between the parties from time to time and failing agreement as shall be determined by the Governor General in Council whose decision shall be final and binding on the parties.

6. The Imperial Bank shall maintain branches not less in number than those existing at the time this agreement comes into force and in consideration thereof the Reserve Bank shall until the expiry of 15 years from the coming into force of this agreement make to the Imperial Bank the following payments, namely

- (a) during the first five years of this agreement—nine lakhs of rupees per annum ;
- (b) during the next five years of the agreement—six lakhs of rupees per annum ; and
- (c) during the next five years of the agreement—four lakhs of rupees per annum.

7. The Imperial Bank shall not without the approval of the Reserve Bank open any branch in substitution for a branch existing at the time this agreement comes into force.

8. If the Imperial Bank so desires, the Reserve Bank shall maintain a chest of its Issue Department and a small coin depot at each branch of the Imperial Bank managing the Government account situated at a place in British India where there is no office of the Banking or Issue Department of the Reserve Bank, and at any local head office or other branch of the Imperial Bank in India if the two Banks so agree and the Imperial Bank shall provide sufficient accommodation for such chests and small coin depots as may be required for the deposit of notes or coin. The Reserve Bank shall supply the said chests and depots with the necessary currency whether notes or coin, and the Imperial Bank shall, subject to any general or special directions received from the Reserve Bank in that behalf, exchange notes for coin and coin for notes and make deposits and withdrawal of notes and coin at such chests and depots and shall supply the Reserve Bank with such information as it may from time to time require as to the transactions at such chests and depots and the composition of the balances held thereat. The Imperial Bank shall be responsible for the safe custody in its strong rooms of the said chests and depots and their contents and the responsibility of the Imperial Bank in respect of the said chests and depots and their contents shall be that of a bailee as prescribed by section 151 of the Indian Contract Act (Act IX of 1872). The Imperial Bank shall allow the Reserve Bank to have access to the said chests and depots at all reasonable times for the purpose of inspecting the contents and the arrangements made for their safe custody. The Imperial Bank shall also be responsible for the examination and correctness of coin or notes at the time of deposit in or withdrawal of the same from the said chests or depots.

9. The Imperial Bank shall be at liberty for the purpose of the transfer of its funds from any of its local head offices or branches in India to any other or such offices or branches to make payments into and withdrawals from its account with any office or branch of the Banking Department of the Reserve Bank or any office or chest of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank or any small coin depot in its custody free of charge.

10. The Imperial Bank shall give to all banks included in the Second Schedule of the Act such facilities for remittances as may be prescribed from time to time by the Reserve Bank and shall also as far as practicable give the public every facility for the transfer of money at rates not exceeding such rates as the Reserve Bank may by special or general direction approve.

11. The Imperial Bank shall not be at liberty to close any of its offices or branches at which it performs agency functions for the Reserve Bank except on Sundays and on public holidays as defined by the explanation to section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act (Act XXVI of 1881).

12. The Imperial Bank shall forthwith supply the Reserve Bank with any information which it may by special or general direction from time to time require, regarding the security of the Government monies or the assets of the Issue Department in the custody of the Imperial Bank and the Reserve Bank shall be entitled to issue instructions to the Imperial Bank in respect of any matter which in its opinion vitally affects either of these matters provided that nothing in this clause shall operate to affect the obligations in regard to the supply of information imposed on the Imperial Bank as a Scheduled Bank under section 42 of the Act and the regulations framed under section 58 (2) (o) of the Act.

13. If in the opinion of the Reserve Bank the Imperial Bank has failed either to fulfil the conditions of this agreement or to maintain a sound financial position or has wilfully disregarded or failed to comply with the provisions of clause 12 of this agreement, the Reserve Bank shall be entitled to make a recommendation to the Governor General in Council and the Governor General in Council after making such further enquiry as he thinks fit may issue instructions to the Imperial Bank with reference either to this agreement or to any matter which in his opinion involves the security of the Government monies or the assets of the Issue Department of the Reserve Bank in the custody of the Imperial Bank and in the event of the Imperial Bank disregarding such instructions may by notification in the Gazette of India declare this agreement to be terminated and on such notification being issued this agreement shall forthwith be determined accordingly but without prejudice to any rights acquired or liabilities incurred by either party prior to such determination.

14. This agreement may be determined at or at any time after the expiration of the said term of twenty years by notice in writing given in manner hereinafter mentioned, that is to say, that if on or after the expiration of fifteen years from the date on which this agreement comes into force either of the parties hereto shall give to the other party a notice in writing expressing its desire to determine this agreement such notice if given by the Reserve Bank to be addressed to and served upon the Managing Director of the Imperial Bank and if given by the Imperial Bank to be addressed to and served upon the Governor of the Reserve Bank, this agreement shall immediately upon the expiration of five years from the day of such service absolutely cease and determine save as to rights or liabilities acquired or incurred prior to such termination.

[Sir James Grigg.]

IN WITNESS whereof the Common Seals of the Reserve Bank of India and the Imperial Bank of India have been hereunto affixed in the presence of their respective subscribing officials the day and year first above written.

The Common Seal of the Reserve Bank of India was hereunto affixed pursuant to a resolution of its Central Board in the presence of Sir Osborne Arkell Smith, K.C.I.E., the Governor and Sir Edward Charles Benthall, Kt., and Sir Badridas Goenka, Kt., C.I.E., two of the Directors of the Reserve Bank of India who in token of their presence have hereupon signed their names.

(Sd.) OSBORNE A. SMITH,
Governor.

(Sd.) BADRIDAS GOENKA,
E. C. BENTHALL,
Directors.

The Common Seal of the Imperial Bank of India was hereunto affixed in the presence of William Lamond, the Managing Director and Evelyn James Bunbury and Harry Harrison Burn, two of the Directors of the Imperial Bank of India who in token of their presence have hereupon signed their names.

(Sd.) W. LAMOND,
Managing Director.

(Sd.) E. J. BUNBURY,
H. H. BURN,
Directors.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL AND THE RESERVE BANK OF INDIA.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg (Finance Member) : Sir, I lay on the table a copy of the Agreement between the Secretary of State for India in Council and the Reserve Bank of India.

AN AGREEMENT made this fifth day of April 1935, BETWEEN THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL acting by and through THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL (hereinafter called "the Secretary of State") of the one part and THE RESERVE BANK OF INDIA (hereinafter called "the Bank") of the other part WHEREAS the Bank was constituted and incorporated and is regulated by the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (being Act No. II of 1934) (hereinafter called "the Act") with and subject to the various powers, provisions and restrictions in and by the Act set forth and it was thereby inter alia particularly provided as follows, viz.,

- (1) by section 20 of the Act that the Bank should undertake to accept monies for account of the Governor General in Council and to make payments up to the amount standing to the credit of his account and to carry out his exchange, remittance and other banking operations including the management of the public debt, and

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL AND THE RESERVE BANK OF INDIA. 133

- (2) by section 21 (1) of the Act that the Governor General in Council should entrust the Bank on such conditions as might be agreed upon with all his money, remittance, exchange and banking transactions in India and in particular should deposit free of interest all his cash balances with the Bank provided that nothing in that sub-section should prevent the Governor General in Council from carrying on money transactions at places where the Bank has no branches or agencies and that the Governor General in Council might hold at such places such balances as he may require, and

- (3) by section 21 (2) of the Act that the Governor General in Council should entrust the Bank on such conditions as might be agreed upon with the management of the public debt and with the issue of any new loans.

NOW IT IS HEREBY MUTUALLY AGREED AND DECLARED by and between the said parties hereto as follows, that is to say :—

1. This agreement shall come into force on the execution of these presents.

2. The general banking business of the Governor General in Council (in which business is included the payment, receipt, collection and remittance of money on behalf of the Governor General in Council and of such Local Governments as may not have the custody and management of their own provincial revenues) shall be carried on and transacted by the Bank in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this agreement and of the Act and with and to such orders and directions as may from time to time be given to the Bank by the Governor General in Council through any Government officer or officers authorised by him in that behalf and at any of the offices, branches or agencies of the Bank for the time being in existence as may from time to time be so directed and for this purpose such accounts shall be kept in the books of the Bank and at such offices, branches or agencies of the Bank as shall be necessary or convenient or as the Governor General in Council shall from time to time direct in the manner aforesaid.

3. The Secretary of State shall employ the Bank as the sole Banker in India of the Governor General in Council who shall deposit or cause to be deposited with the Bank or allow the Bank to receive and hold as banker the whole of his cash balances at any places at which for the time being the Bank shall have an office, branch or agency and the Bank shall subject to such orders as may from time to time be given by the Governor General in Council in the manner aforesaid receive and hold for the Governor General in Council all such monies as may be or become payable to him or on his account and the Bank shall transact at its offices, branches and agencies for the time being existing respectively all such business for the Governor General in Council regarding the receipt, collection, payment and remittance of money and other matters, as is usually transacted by bankers for their customers. The Bank shall make the said monies at the said offices, branches and agencies available for transfer to such places and at such times as the Governor General in Council may direct. No interest shall be payable to the Governor General in Council on any of the monies for the time being held by the Bank.

4. The management of the public debt and the issue of new loans by the Governor General in Council and the performance of all the duties relating thereto respectively including the collection and payment of interest and principal and the consolidation, division, conversion, cancellation and renewal of securities of the Governor General in Council and the keeping of all registers, books and accounts and the conduct of all correspondence incidental thereto shall be transacted by the Bank at its offices in Bombay, Calcutta and Madras and at any of its offices, branches or agencies at which respectively the administration of any portion or portions of the public debt is for the time being conducted or interest thereon is for the time being payable and the Bank shall also keep and maintain such registers, books and accounts in respect of the said public debt as the Governor General in Council may from time to time direct and shall audit all payments of such interest and act generally as agents in India for the Secretary of State and for the Governor General in Council in the management of the said public debt and shall conduct such agency subject to such orders and directions with regard to the general management thereof as may from time to time be given to the Bank by the Governor General in Council.

5. The Bank shall not be entitled to any remuneration for the conduct of the ordinary banking business of the Governor General in Council other than such advantage as may accrue to it from the holding of his cash balances free of obligation to pay interest thereon.

[Sir James Grigg.]

6. As remuneration to the Bank for the management of the public debt as aforesaid the Bank shall be entitled to charge to the Governor General in Council half-yearly a commission at the rate of Rs. 2,000 per crore per annum on the amount of the public debt as aforesaid at the close of the half-year for which the charge is made. In calculating this charge the following amounts shall be excluded from the amount of public debt, viz. :—

- (a) The amounts of loans discharged outstanding after one year from the date of a notice of discharge.
- (b) The amount of stock certificates for Rs. 50,000 and upwards held by the Governor General in Council or by a Local Government or by any officer or officers of the Government of India or of a Local Government authorised in that behalf.
- (c) The amount of the Government of India rupee securities held in the issue department of the Bank.
- (d) The amount of stock and notes outstanding in the London register.

And in addition to the charge of Rs. 2,000 per crore per annum the Bank shall be entitled to charge to the Governor General in Council a fixed sum of Rs. 2,000 a year on account of the stock certificates referred to in head (b) of this clause and the Bank shall be also entitled to charge the public (but not the Governor General in Council or a Local Government) all such fees and charges as are now or may hereafter from time to time be prescribed by the Governor General in Council under the powers conferred upon him by the Indian Securities Act, 1920 (Act No. X of 1920) for duplicate securities and for the renewal, consolidation, division or otherwise of all Government Securities which the Bank issues.

7. The Bank shall maintain currency chests of its issue department at such places as the Governor General in Council may prescribe and the Governor General in Council shall provide sufficient accommodation for such chests as may be required for the deposit of notes or coin and shall be responsible to the Bank for the safe custody of the said chests, notes and coin. The Bank shall keep the said chests supplied with sufficient notes and coin to provide currency for the transactions of the Governor General in Council and reasonable remittance facilities to the public at the said places. The Governor General in Council shall supply the Bank with such information and returns as the Bank may from time to time require as to the composition of the balances in the said chests and the amount and nature of the transfers to and from the said chests. The Bank shall have access to the said chests at all reasonable times for the purpose of inspecting and checking the contents. The Governor General in Council shall be responsible to the Bank for the examination and correctness of coin or notes at the time of deposit in or withdrawal from the said chests.

8. The Bank shall not be at liberty to close any of its offices or branches except on Sundays, New Year's Day, Christmas Day, Good Friday and on any other day declared to be a public holiday by any notification published in pursuance of the Negotiable Instruments Act (Act XXVI of 1881) subject nevertheless and notwithstanding the provisions of that Act to any special orders or directions which may be issued by the Governor General in Council and the Bank shall be responsible that no one of its agencies doing Government business for the time being existing shall be closed except on Sundays and on public holidays authorised by the Local Government within whose jurisdiction such agencies may be respectively situated.

9. The responsibility for all loss or damage to the Secretary of State and the Governor General in Council which may result from any act or negligence or omission of the Bank in conducting the business of the public debt aforesaid or the payment of interest or discharge value thereon or the renewal, conversion, consolidation, subdivision or cancellation of any Government security shall rest with and be borne by the Bank provided however that it shall not be incumbent on the Bank to verify signatures and endorsements on Government securities which prima facie appear to be in order and in the acceptance of which the Bank shall not be guilty of any negligence and in such cases no liability shall be incurred by the Bank in respect thereto PROVIDED ALSO that in regard to the ordinary banking business at the offices, branches and agencies of the Bank of receiving and realising money and securities for money on account of the Governor General in Council and paying cheques, orders, draft bills and other documents whether negotiable or not in the Bank's capacity of bankers for the Governor General in Council and whether such business be done by the Bank or by agencies on its behalf the responsibility to the Secretary of State and the Governor General in Council shall be that of the Bank and such responsibility shall be that of a banker to an ordinary customer.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL 135 AND THE RESERVE BANK OF INDIA.

10. The Bank shall remit on account of the Governor General in Council between India and London such amounts as may be required by him from time to time at the market rate of the day for telegraphic transfers, subject to the proviso that if a large transfer has to be effected in connection with the floatation or repayment of a sterling loan or analogous operation, and if it is considered by either party to be inappropriate to apply the rate of a single day, an average rate based on a longer period may be fixed by agreement between the two parties.

11. This agreement may be determined by either party giving to the other party one year's notice in writing expiring on the 31st day of March in any year, such notice if given by or on behalf of the Secretary of State to be addressed to the Governor of the Bank and to be served by being left at the Head Office of the Bank and if given by the Bank to be served by leaving the same with or addressing the same by registered post to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Finance Department and immediately upon the expiration of such notice this agreement shall absolutely cease and determine save as to rights or liabilities acquired or incurred prior to such termination.

12. Nothing in this agreement shall operate to affect in any way the obligations imposed either on the Governor General in Council or on the Bank by or under the Act or any subsequent amendment or amendments of the Act.

13. The Bank shall be entitled to perform all or any of the matters contained in this agreement through such agency or agencies as may be prescribed by the Act or any amendment thereof or as may be approved by the Governor General in Council.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF

Secretary to the Government of India in the Finance Department by the order and direction of the Governor General in Council acting for and on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council has hereunto set his hand and the common seal of the Reserve Bank of India pursuant to a Resolution of its Central Board has been hereunto affixed in the presence of its subscribing officials the day and year first above written.

Signed by the said the Honourable Mr. Philip Cubitt Tallents, C.S.I., C.I.E., I.C.S., Secretary to the Government of India in the Finance Department for and on behalf of the Governor General of India in Council acting in the premises for and on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council in the presence of (Sd.) H. S. STEPHENSON, Additional Under Secretary to the Government of India.

The Common Seal of the Reserve Bank of India was affixed hereto in the presence of Sir Edward Charles Benthall, Kt., and Sir Badridas Goenka, Kt., C.I.E., two of its Directors and Sir Osborne Arkell Smith, K.C.I.E., its Governor.

Common seal of the Reserve Bank of India

(Sd.) E. C. BENTHALL, BADRIDAS GOENKA,
Directors.

(Sd.) OSBORNE A. SMITH,
Governor.

STATEMENT (LAID ON THE TABLE) SHOWING THE OBJECTS ON WHICH THE PETROL TAX FUND WAS EXPENDED
DURING 1934-35.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I lay on the table the statement promised in reply to part (b) of short notice question No. 146 asked by the Honourable Mr. E. Miller in the Council of State on the 28th August, 1934, showing the objects on which the Petrol Tax Fund was expended during 1934-35.

| Object.                                                                                                        | Expenditure. |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| 1. Installation of an Illuminated Wind Indicator at the Karachi Air Port .. .. .                               | 2,768        |
| 2. Extra Expenditure in connection with the installation of a fixed floodlight at the Karachi Air Port .. .. . | 785          |
| 3. Experimental consolidation of ground at the Civil landing ground at Bassein .. .. .                         | 613          |
| 4. Purchase of an accelerometer for carrying out research in atmospheric turbulence. .. .. .                   | 777          |
| 5. Financial assistance and Scholarships to Indians for training in England in Civil Aviation .. .. .          | *16,000      |
| Total .. .. .                                                                                                  | 20,943       |

ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO SERVE ON THE STANDING COMMITTEE FOR ROADS.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I move :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to the election, in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the President, of a member to serve on the Standing Committee for Roads, in place of the late Mr. Fakir Chand, during the remaining months of the financial year 1935-36.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to the election, in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the President, of a member to serve on the Standing Committee for Roads, in place of the late Mr. Fakir Chand, during the remaining months of the financial year 1935-36.”

The motion was adopted.

* This is the revised estimate ; actual expenditure is not yet known.

ELECTION OF ONE MUSLIM MEMBER TO SIT ON THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON PILGRIMAGE TO THE HEDJAZ.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai (Secretary, Department of Education, Health and Lands) : Sir, I move :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the President may direct, one Muslim Member to sit on the Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hejaz, vice Mr. Ahmed Ebrahim Haroon Jaffer whose election to the Assembly has been declared void.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the President may direct, one Muslim Member to sit on the Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hejaz, vice Mr. Ahmed Ebrahim Haroon Jaffer whose election to the Assembly has been declared void.”

The motion was adopted.

ELECTION OF TWO MEMBERS FOR THE CENTRAL ADVISORY BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai (Secretary, Department of Education, Health and Lands) : Sir, I move :

“ That the Members of this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the President, two persons from among their own numbers to be members of the Central Advisory Board of Education constituted by the Government of India.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the Members of this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the President, two persons from among their own numbers to be members of the Central Advisory Board of Education constituted by the Government of India.”

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Sir, as experience grows on me about the fabrications and labyrinths of the Government of India, I feel more and more impressed that the Department of Education, Health and Lands happens to be the dustbin of the Government of India. (Hear, hear.) Only the other day, I found my Honourable friend, Mr. Clow, a great authority on labour, arguing in the role of the head of the Ecclesiastical Department, and I called him Bishop Clow in the Public Accounts Committee.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Is the Honourable Member objecting to this motion ?

Mr. B. Das : What I submit, Sir, is that this is a new proposal, and, as I proceed with my speech, I shall bring to the notice of the Government as to how they are trying to revive an old measure, and then I will leave it to the House and to you, Sir, whether the Government of India are justified in bringing forward this motion and in reviving a thing which was dead as long ago as 1922 or 1921. I would have preferred my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, being Bishop Bajpai and being placed in charge of the Ecclesiastical Department which my Honourable friend, Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan, has disowned.

The genesis of this Central Advisory Board of Education is in a Resolution of the Department of Education, Health and Lands, where—to be fair to the Department

—they have stated their case. What did the Government of India Act of

[Mr. B. Das.]

1919 bring about? It brought decentralization and gave the provinces full authority in the matter of education. The Government of India had and still have an Educational Commissioner. They want to give some work to that excellent officer on list of no work. The Incheape Committee came in 1925 and strongly recommended that the post of Educational Commissioner should be abolished; and I must give credit to my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, that he has mentioned that fact in this Resolution that it was the Incheape Committee that recommended the abolition of the post of Educational Commissioner. Now, Sir, my friend,.....

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, I wish to correct my Honourable friend. I have nowhere stated in this Resolution that the Incheape Committee recommended the abolition of the post of Educational Commissioner.

Mr. B. Das : It is said here in this Resolution :

"But, as a result of the recommendations of the Indian Retrenchment Committee, which was presided over by Lord Incheape, they were abolished in 1923 in the interest of economy."

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That was the Advisory Board that was abolished, and not the Educational Commissioner.

Mr. B. Das : I stand corrected. Then, the other part of the story my friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, has not cared to mention in his Resolution. One of the recommendations was that the Educational Commissioner's post should be abolished. And, Sir, in the old days, older Members like myself exercised pressure on Government to abolish that post. But Government, in their self-denying mood, must nourish and foster old antiquated jobs under them; and, so, in the year 1935, when, according to the Government, the country is supposed to envisage a new Constitution, they revive something that was dead so far as we are concerned.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : But this motion is only for filling up two places in the Committee.

Mr. B. Das : No, Sir; this Committee has not functioned for the last 15 years. The moment the House appoints these two persons they will authorise the Educational Commissioner with the Government of India to be the Chairman of the Central Advisory Board and they will authorise also, according to this Resolution, the appointment of a Secretary to the Board which will be a new post to be created. I do not know if my Honourable friend, Sir James Grigg, has sanctioned money for these idle deliberations of the Department of Education, Health and Lands.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg (Finance Member) : I do not agree that they are idle.

Mr. B. Das : Thank you! I am glad I have a valued friend on the other side! So, Sir, why this hurry! If the Government of India want to create a Central Education Board, they ought to have waited till that Federal Assembly, that they are dreaming of in three or four years' time, came in, and then brought forward this proposal. I have read cursorily the J. P. C. Report and the Government of India Act, and I have never seen that anywhere such power has been given to the new Education Minister, whoever he might be, under the Government of India. Sir, I would point out that the Government of India should pause at this moment and not create further jobs like the Education Commissioner's post which was recommended by the Incheape Committee to be abolished and create an Education Board to co-ordinate the educational movement in India. As I understand the system of education in India, as soon as provincial autonomy comes in, the provinces will try to evolve their system of education in their own way. Why should there be any control by the Education Department or the Education Minister who may be here in the Federal Assembly and why should there be any dictation as to the system of education they will give in particular provinces? The provinces must build up their own systems of education.

Sir, one particular line which this Resolution contains is this :

"The intention is that the Board should be a live organism."

I know the activities of the Department of Education, Health and Lands, and how it is a live organism in the Government of India! The treatment that Indians are receiving in South Africa, Kenya, Tanganyika and Zanzibar shows how lively the Department of Education, Health and Lands is! In creating this live organism today, I do not know whether it will be a live organism or a dead tissue. There are many eminent doctors here who will say whether it will be a dead tissue of the Department of Education, Health and Lands. I would strongly ask the Government of India to reconsider at this late hour this new mad scheme of theirs and allow the provinces to develop their own system of education without being controlled by the Government of India.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, it is rather surprising that this particular motion should be made in this House without, first of all, giving an opportunity to this House to say whether we really are anxious to have a Central Advisory Board of Education at all. This is, to put it shortly, short-circuiting the debates as well as the intentions of this House. To quietly bring it here as a matter of election of two members, and, then, merely because the House elects these two members, to come forward again for a grant for the maintenance of this particular Board, is really not a fair way of dealing with this House. Then, again, if you look to the constitution of this particular Board, you will find that only certain unimportant interests are to be represented on this, and, really, the most vital interests, commercial, industrial and agricultural, are not to have any place at all on this particular Board. I do not know how this Board can be expected to benefit these interests, especially when their representatives are not put on it at all. If only Sir Fazli Hussain had been in charge of this particular Department now, I am quite sure, he would have certainly thought many times before he committed this particular blunder. I have drawn the attention of Government again and again during the last Session to the absolute necessity of seeing that the representation of agricultural classes and peasants as well as the commercial interests is provided for on the constitution of this Board when it came to be constituted; and I was then given an assurance by Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai that certainly the Government of India would take every possible opportunity of trying to give representation for as many interests as possible. And yet I do not know why agricultural interests are not given any place at all.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The motion is for the filling up of two places on the Committee. Even supposing the motion is not carried, the only result will be that the Central Advisory Board will be without two members.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : The motion is for the acceptance of this particular Resolution that has been circulated to us and also the election of two persons to the Central Advisory Board of Education.

Then, again, coming to the functions of this particular Board, I find that it is.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair really cannot allow the policy to be discussed on this motion, because, even, if the motion is lost, the Central Advisory Board, the Chair takes it, will function without two members.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : The necessity for the establishment of the Central Advisory Board has not been placed till now before this House for discussion.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is not in question.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : May I just mention one fact for the information, both of Mr. B. Das and my Honourable friend, Mr. Ranga ? Both of them have been saying that Government are anticipating in some way the decision of the Standing Finance Committee and the decision of the Assembly. As a matter of fact, this proposal for creating a Central Advisory Board was put before the Standing Finance Committee in January, 1935, and funds have been actually voted by the Assembly as part of the annual budget for 1935-36.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair will not allow the discussion to proceed beyond the limits of the motion.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : All right, Sir. In view of the fact that this Central Advisory Board for Education has to deal with questions concerning the agricultural classes and also commercial interests, I think it is really wrong on the part of the Government of India not to have thought of providing any representation for these classes on this Board. I also find that out of this number—15—only two are to be elected by this House. It is this House which has to provide funds for this Board, and we know what will be the effect of electing only two members, because we have had the experience of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research : this House is expected to elect only two members there, and we have found that we do not have a sufficient say in its counsels and we do not have sufficient control over its affairs. I, therefore, suggest that the representation of this House should, first of all, be increased—should at least be trebled if not quadrupled—and that the interests of the peasants and agricultural classes and also commercial interests should be given representation on this Board and those classes should also give their advice, so that this Board can function properly in their interests.

Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad (United Provinces Southern Divisions : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I was rather surprised at the speech of Mr. B. Das who claimed to be one of the oldest Members of the Assembly. May I remind him that on the 16th February, 1932, we demanded of the Government of India to set up this Advisory Board, and Sir Frank Noyce, on behalf of the Government of India, gave us an assurance that it would be established at no distant date ? The year 1932 passed, and this Advisory Board was not there ; and the plea of financial stringency was brought forward at the time of the next budget. We again demanded it in 1933 in series of questions—in 1934, I again raised this question ; when the Demand for Grant came up for voting, I again raised the issue that we would not agree to vote for ordinary expenditure unless this that we would not agree to by the Government of India. Now, this Advisory Board was agreed to by the Government of India. Now, this year, the Standing Finance Committee and the Legislative Assembly both agreed to set up this Advisory Board. The only objection that I have is that they have taken three years to establish this Board which ought to have been established in the year 1932. As regards the constitution of the Board, I do not think my friend will have any objection that the Assembly should be represented on the Board. As regards the general constitution of the Board, I have myself some difficulties, but that can be raised either in the shape of questions or in the form of Resolutions. As far as the present issue is concerned, I think we should support that the Assembly should have representation on the Advisory Board.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, I do not think I need detain the House very long—there are just one or two points which I should like to deal with. My Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das, evidently wants this organisation to be dead before it is born. I am quite confident that no section of this House, which is in favour of this organisation being set up, will approve of that particular suggestion. He further seemed to suspect some Machiavellian move on the part of the Government of India to restrict the powers of autonomy which already vest in the provinces. I fear he could not have studied the Resolution which I took the precaution of placing on the tables of Honourable Members this morning, because the Resolution definitely says :

“ While recognising its title—(that is, the title of the Board)—to such legitimate latitude, it is necessary to emphasise that its recommendations will be entirely advisory and will not be binding on provincial Governments and authorities.”

That should dispose of the bogey which my Honourable friend has raised of some subtle move on the part of the Government of India to restrict the liberties of the provinces. Then, my Honourable friend, Mr. Ranga, complained that there was no representation of agricultural, commercial and industrial classes on the proposed Board. I am sure, from his experience he must know that the more unwieldy a board is, the less usefully does it function. This is primarily an educational board : we want educationists on it and we have a predominance of educationists provided for in the constitution. Then, there are in this House gentlemen not professionally connected with education who have taken an interest in educational problems : we provide for their representation on the Board ; but if my Honourable friend will read the Resolution carefully, he will find that in paragraph 4 we have specified the modus operandi as regards the study of particular problems by ad hoc committees. If a problem of agricultural or commercial education or industrial education comes up before the Board and is considered to be worthy of study or investigation, that is the method by which it will be tackled.

[Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai.]

That is all I have to say, and I hope that the House, which has in the past repeatedly expressed a desire that this Advisory Body should be set up, will give support to the motion which I have moved.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Members of this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the President, two persons from among their own numbers to be members of the Central Advisory Board of Education constituted by the Government of India.”

The motion was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO SIT ON THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH AND ITS GOVERNING BODY.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai (Secretary, Department of Education, Health and Lands) : Sir, I beg to move :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the President may direct, one member to sit on the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its Governing Body, vice Maulvi Muhammad Shafi Daudi, whose seat in the Legislative Assembly has been declared vacant by the Governor General in Council.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the President may direct, one member to sit on the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its Governing Body, vice Maulvi Muhammad Shafi Daudi, whose seat in the Legislative Assembly has been declared vacant by the Governor General in Council.”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform Honourable Members that for the purpose of election of members to the Standing Committee for Roads, the Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hedjaz, the Central Advisory Board of Education and the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its Governing Body the following dates have been fixed for receiving nominations and holding elections, if necessary, namely :

|                                                                       | Nominations.              | Election.             |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------|-----------------------|
| (1) Standing Committee for Roads                                      | 4th September, 1935       | 6th September, 1935.  |
| (2) Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hedjaz                    | .. 4th September, 1935    | 6th September, 1935.  |
| (3) Central Advisory Board of Education                               | .. .. 5th September, 1935 | 10th September, 1935. |
| (4) Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its governing body. | 5th September, 1935       | 10th September, 1935. |

The nominations for all the Committees will be received in the Notice Office upto 12 Noon on each day appointed for the purpose, while the elections which will be conducted in accordance with the principle of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote, will, as usual, be held in the Secretary's Room in the Assembly Building between the hours of 10-30 A.M. and 1 P.M.

THE PAYMENT OF WAGES BILL.

PRESENTATION OF THE REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I present the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to regulate the payment of wages to certain classes of persons employed in industry.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, at this the first stage of what I fear is likely to be a protracted—and possibly a hotly contentious—discussion, I do not propose to say anything that is contentious or argumentative, as I don't think it would be in accordance with the spirit of Standing Order 37 to do so. The Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to this Bill is, I venture to think, a sufficiently full explanation of its provisions except possibly on two points where the Statement of Objects and Reasons might have been a little fuller. The first of these is in regard to sub-clause (2) of clause 2 of the new Bill which repeals sub-section (3) of section 1 of the existing Act. The effect of that is to make those provisions of the existing Act, which we intend to retain, permanent and not merely temporary. We should perhaps have inserted in the Statement of Objects and Reasons very briefly our reasons for taking that course. They are, that it is, in our opinion, impossible to foresee within any reasonable time the cessation of the terrorist movement or of communal unrest, against both of which the provisions of this Bill are intended as a safeguard ; nor it is possible for us to say definitely that there is no chance within the next few years of a revival of the Civil Disobedience Movement, possibly in another form.

There is one other point, a less important point, in regard to which the Statement of Objects and Reasons might perhaps have been fuller, that is with regard to the retention of section 5 of the existing Act, the section which penalises the publication of a proscribed document. We are retaining that section, because in this respect the permanent law of the land as embodied in the Code of Criminal Procedure is obviously defective. Government have the power to proscribe a document, but it is not a penal offence to re-publish a document or any part of it that has been proscribed. Without such provision proscription is of course a comparatively valueless weapon.

That, Sir, is all I have to say. It is my earnest hope that in the further discussions on this Bill we shall be able to differ, if we have to differ, and I have no doubt we shall have to, without bitterness. I can assure the House that we on our side will do our best to keep any bitter feeling out of the discussion. Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Criminal Law.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to amend the Criminal Law.”

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Sir, on a point of order, or what I should call the privilege of the House, I should like to call your attention to a statement in the Statesman of today, purporting to have gone from Simla yesterday, dated the 1st September, in which the provisions of the new Criminal Law Amendment Bill, which the Honourable the Home Member has now asked leave of the House to introduce, are reproduced exactly as they appear in the Bill, which has been placed on the table this morning. I will read those paragraphs :

“ The new Criminal Law Amendment Bill differs from the existing one (which was passed in 1932 and expires next December) in that certain sections have been dropped and in that it will be permanent instead of having a limited duration. Altogether five sections will be dropped—section 2, which makes it an offence to dissuade people from joining the Army, Navy or Police Force, section 3, which makes it an offence to tamper with public servants, sections 4 and 6, which make it an offence to boycott public services and to publish or circulate false statements or rumours, and section 8, which makes fines inflicted on young persons recoverable from their parents or guardians. Apart from these five sections, the Act will be presented for permanent renewal substantially unaltered.”

Then follow a number of sentences, with which I will not trouble the House, because it is merely propaganda for this Bill. Again, it ends up by saying that there is much more of press freedom in this country than in any other country. We are not concerned with that now. That is a matter of comment.

The point to which I want to draw your attention is particularly this, that this is a gross abuse of the privileges of this House. A Bill which has been kept back from us all these days, and the contents of which we saw for the first time this morning and which my Honourable friend, the Home Member, now wants the leave of the House to introduce has already appeared in a paper, on the basis of a message sent at least twenty-four hours before this morning. I do not know if it is a mere journalistic scoop ; if that is so, I have no fault to find. If there are enterprising journalists who can divine without any help from the department concerned the main provisions of the Bill, that is another matter. But I think you will enquire of the department concerned whether there was any conference or any communication of the contents of this Bill formally or informally to certain correspondents of newspapers, and, if so, whether any discrimination, racial or otherwise, was made in the choice of the papers to whom the contents of this Bill were communicated. You have laid down, Mr. President, last Session, that even questions or Resolutions should not be sent to the press, before they are admitted by you. We have tried to respect that convention, as one of the privileges of this House, and I do suggest that the first stage of asking for leave to introduce a Bill becomes almost a farce, if the contents of the Bill are to be published in advance, and that too, in one section of the press. As for a journalistic scoop, you know as well as I do, that there are enterprising journalists here belonging to all kinds of press and they would all have done it ; but the significant fact is that the Statesman alone contained this information, and I do suggest that it is a matter worth enquiring into, whether this information was obtained by the journalist concerned without any kind of help from the Government, or whether the Government communicated the contents of this Bill to the Editor or representative of the Statesman in Simla, and, if it is so, whether it does not constitute a breach of the privileges of this House. It is not right that the means of communication to the public and to the House, which is this platform and nothing else, should be overshadowed by pre-publication, not to the press as a whole, but to one section of the press alone.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has quoted the analogy of questions and Resolutions. But those have to be admitted by the President before they can be brought up before this House. There is no question of admitting a Bill.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But there is this point, the House has got to give leave ; it may refuse to give leave to introduce the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is another matter. Before any Resolution or question is admitted, nobody can introduce that business into this House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If, at this stage, leave is refused by this House for the introduction of my Honourable friend's Bill, the Bill dies unwept, unhonoured, and unsung.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : But are not Government entitled to ascertain beforehand public opinion,—what the attitude of the public is likely to be ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I submit, the only constitutional and legal forum in which they can ascertain public opinion is this House so far as Bills are concerned, unless there is a motion to circulate which is moved in this House and is passed, in which case Government circulates to all relevant people, public bodies, or associations or individuals.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Government may want to find out what the public opinion is as regards any measure.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In that case, they will not ask for leave to introduce till that public opinion is obtained. They will say, we propose to legislate on the following lines and we would like to know what public bodies think. Having obtained that opinion, they will then put it in the form of a Bill. I can see, Mr. President, what is in your mind. If the Government do not make up their mind finally to ask for leave to introduce a Bill and it is in a nebulous state, I can perfectly understand their publishing proposals, not in a legislative form, but in a series of propositions, any saying, we propose to legislate on these lines, and they can publish them, by the various means open to them, such as in the Gazette or elsewhere, and then invite public opinion. In this case, my submission is they have not submitted it to public opinion impartially.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is another matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : My submission is, it is not a case of sounding public opinion before making up their mind to introduce this Bill. In this case, they have made up their mind to introduce the Bill, they have drafted the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : But are they not entitled, until the very last moment before introduction, to know what is the public opinion and derive assistance in a matter like this ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : If the suggestion is that between 4 P.M. yesterday when this message was sent, and 11 A.M. this morning, they intended to consult public opinion in this huge country, and to receive public opinion and then change their mind, it would simply be ludicrous. You will notice that the agenda that was sent to us for today is dated the 30th August. That agenda contains an item, "The Honourable Sir Henry Craik to move for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Criminal Law".

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : But they could alter it any time.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But they have given no notice of any alteration, till this morning. My suggestion is that this was not a case of publication for public opinion at all. It was a case of giving news, according to some people, to one particular favoured paper, or if that is denied, it is a journalistic scoop which I hardly believe.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Has the Honourable Member got any authority in his favour ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : It cannot happen in decent countries ; it can only happen in India, where we have got to legislate in a House which is peculiarly placed. We can get no help from the Mother of Parliaments ; they would never do it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Do they not carry on a lot of propaganda before they start a new measure ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They will do it much more decently, and not in this fashion. I know Government are carrying on propaganda, but this is not right. It is an insult to this House to give to one paper the actual contents. I think we are entitled to the co-operation of the press in this House and we can hardly hope to get it, if Government set an example of this kind. That I say is a matter of privilege of this House and I would like you to take suitable action in the matter.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I submit that there is no question of privilege involved. Nothing that I have done is irregular or in any way out of accord with what is the ordinary and regular practice in Parliament in England. A few days ago, I had a conference with a certain number of pressmen, not the representative of one newspaper, but seven or eight pressmen, but I did not give any of them a copy of the Bill. I simply informed them what the intentions of the Government were and explained to them in general conversation what were broadly our reasons for the policy that we had decided to adopt. It was a friendly discussion. There were many questions asked of me, to which I replied to the best of my ability. That is, to my personal knowledge, the regular practice of Government Departments at home. When introducing legislation, they prepare the ground in the press.

An Honourable Member : All the press ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : In the friendly press. The Congress press had many speculative articles as to what the contents of the Bill were, and all of them condemned the Bill in advance. Why should we not use the press that is friendly to us to secure a favourable reception for the Bill ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That is a confession.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That is a perfectly legitimate practice, and, so long as I am in charge of this Department, I propose to continue the practice. There is no question of breach of privilege of any kind. If I had given to any of these gentlemen a copy of any confidential communication printed by the Legislative Assembly Office, then that might possibly have been a breach of privilege. I did no such thing. I had before me only my own copy of the Bill. I submit that my conduct was completely regular and was in no sense either a breach of privilege or any disrespect to this House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair holds that there is no breach of privilege in this case, and, as the matter is absolutely clear, it is not necessary for the Chair to go any further into it.

The question is :

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to amend the Criminal Law."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty (Madras : Indian Commerce) : May I make a small request to you ? I request that Honourable Members of this House may be supplied with a copy of the original Act in order to find out the changes which are proposed to be made ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I will do my best to do so.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair thinks that a sufficient number of copies might be circulated.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I cannot say that there are enough copies to supply one to every Member of the House, but I will try to make as many copies as possible available to Honourable Members.

THE PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, for a certain purpose.

This Bill is rendered necessary by a judgment of the Madras High Court which recommends that the Act should be modified in the way in which we have proposed it. Very shortly, the position is this. The scheme and the spirit of both the Acts, the Provincial Act and the Presidency Act, is that once there is a discharge of a debtor, he is not to be bothered with any further debts provable in insolvency. That is the provision of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act. In connection with the Provincial Insolvency Act, there have been conflicting rulings and on a recent occasion the Madras High Court recommended that the Bill should be amended. The object of the present amendment is that the debtor should be put on the same footing in the Provincial Insolvency Act as in the case of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, namely, that the discharge should cover all creditors. Now the position is that if one of the creditors keeps out and takes no part in the proceedings either negligently or deliberately, he gains an advantage over the other creditors. That is not the position under the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act. That is not the position under this Act also according to certain rulings but there have been conflicting rulings and the learned Chief Justice of Madras who was one of a division bench in Madras strongly recommended that this should be brought into line with the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, by making a change in the law. That is the object of the Bill.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, for a certain purpose.”

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

THE INDIAN ARMY (AMENDMENT) BILL.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham (Army Secretary) : I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911, for certain purposes.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911, for certain purposes.”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

THE PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, for a certain purpose.

I do not think I need refer to anything further than what is stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. The whole object is to make the meaning perfectly clear, as we now understand that different Presidency Small Cause Courts have been construing the section in different ways.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, for a certain purpose.”

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

THE REPEALING AND AMENDING BILL.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : I move for leave to introduce a Bill to amend certain enactments and to repeal certain other enactments.

I need not say anything more than what is contained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. This Bill does not introduce any change in the law. What we want to do is that we want formally to repeal certain Acts which have ceased to be in operation. Also there have been small inaccuracies like omitting the word ‘ the ’ and so on, which are set out in a schedule and I can assure my Honourable friends here that this Bill does not seek to effect any important change in the law.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to amend certain enactments and to repeal certain other enactments.”

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

THE INDIAN MOTOR VEHICLES (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, for certain purposes.

I do not think I need add anything to the Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914, for certain purposes.”

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

RESOLUTION RE RATIFICATION OF THE DRAFT CONVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE CONCERNING EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN DURING NIGHT.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I move :

“ That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council that he should ratify the Draft Convention concerning employment of women during the night (Revised 1934) adopted at the Eighteenth Session of the International Labour Conference.”

Sir, at the first session of the International Labour Conference, which sat in Washington in 1919, a convention was adopted concerning the industrial employment of women during the hours of night. Copies of this Convention have been supplied to Honourable Members, but I may say that the gist of the Convention is that no woman worker shall work during eleven hours of the night and that those eleven hours shall cover the period between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. The Convention was ratified by India in 1921, but, in pursuance of article 5, it has been applied to factory workers only. It was assumed when the ratification was made that the Factories Act of 1911 as it then stood was sufficient to justify the act of ratification and that no special legislation was required. Several years later the question was raised whether the Convention applied, or did not apply, to women in positions of supervision and management. The question was discussed by the Governing Body of the International Labour Office and was finally referred to the Permanent Court of International Justice, which ruled that the Convention did apply to women holding positions of supervision and management. This placed several nations in a difficulty, including India. Our section 29 of the Factories Act of 1911 allowed us to exempt from this particular restriction, and from other restrictions, persons holding positions of supervision or management or who are employed in a confidential position in a factory. The matter was of very small practical importance in India where very few such women exist. However, it was of some practical importance to certain other countries which pressed the point, and finally in 1934 a new Convention was adopted at Geneva. The Convention is practically the same as the old one, with the one difference that article 8 now lays down that the Convention does not apply to women holding responsible positions of management who are not ordinarily engaged in manual work.

[Mr. D. G. Mitchell.]

The passing of this Convention and the ruling of the Permanent Court of International Justice has left India in somewhat of a dilemma. Section 29 of the Act of 1911 has been substantially reproduced in section 43 of the present Act of 1934. It still gives us the power to exempt women holding positions of management and supervision. To that extent, it is contrary to the Convention of 1919, the last Convention. Also the description of women given in that Convention is somewhat narrower than the description of women given in our Indian Act of 1934 and to that extent also our present legislation is inconsistent even with the later Convention. Obviously we must legislate, the only other course being the impossible one of denouncing the earlier Convention and refusing to ratify the later. The Government of India propose to take the straightforward course. They intend to adhere to the original Convention of 1919 and to ratify the new Convention of 1934. In order to do so, they propose to legislate at once, and if the House agrees to my present motion, I shall at once introduce the necessary Bill. The position of the Government of India is that they are prepared to go somewhat further than either of the two Conventions. The Bill will make an amendment in the Act which will prevent all women workers from working in factories between the hours of 7 P.M. and 6 A.M. Our reasons for this, very shortly, are two-fold. In the first place there are very few, if any, women in positions of trust and management working in factories. Secondly, if there were, then, as ordinary women workers may not work at night, these women would find themselves alone in the factory, in charge of a gang of men; and that is a position which I do not think we are required to provide for.

However, the immediate question is the ratification of this new Convention of 1934. There is no reason why we should not ratify it. It gives us a certain power to do a thing which we at present do not want to do; but if we do ratify it, and if conditions should so develop of management to work in factories at night, then we will be free to do so. Sir, I move.

RATIFICATION OF THE DRAFT CONVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE CONCERNING EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN DURING NIGHT.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

"That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council that he should ratify the Draft Convention concerning employment of women during the night (Revised 1934) adopted at the Eighteenth Session of the International Labour Conference."

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Sir, it would appear to the House perhaps a little bit surprising, when the House hears from me, that I propose to oppose the ratification of this Convention, not on the ground that I am not one of those who desire to see an amelioration of the conditions of women working in mines, but on the ground that a mandate has come from an international body situated far away in Europe and which body is controlled in all its actions by the League of Nations, which happens to be a committee of old women, now almost gasping for its breath,—a body which may perhaps be vanishing into thin air soon as World situation would seem to show.

Sir, I notice from the report in my hand that my Honourable friend, Mr. Clow, was a delegate to that Eighteenth International Conference. Sir, I have great respect for my Honourable friend, Mr. Clow, particularly his heart, as I know, melts for his friends, the workers of India, and I know he has done good service to the workers of India (Hear, hear) which my Honourable friend, Mr. Joshi, will recognize, though sometimes at the cost of the industries of India. Yet, Sir, what do we find? The Government of India send delegates. They are treating this International Conference—I must point out at this stage—with a little bit of contempt. The Government of India sent out that year four delegates to represent the Government of India. They allowed the employers of India to be represented by one delegate only—Seth Kasturbhai Lalbhai—and the workers to be represented by only one delegate—Mr. Jamnadas Mehta. Now while in the body of the report they mention that they had to do the difficult work of attending to the committees which reached the alarming total of twelve, and thus forced the Government side to distribute the three gentlemen and the one distinguished lady that formed part of that delegation into those twelve committees, it would have been humanly impossible for the employers' delegate or the workers' delegate to identify themselves with all the twelve committees that sat that year. Sir, that shows how even the Government of India treat this International Labour Conference with supreme contempt. We find now that the deliberations of these so-called International Conferences have resulted in no good. The European countries that brought into existence this League of Nations after the Treaty of Versailles have set them at naught. They do not obey the mandates of the League of Nations and why should we, in India, obey its mandate particularly when a foreign power like the Government of Italy had the audacity through its spokesman to say that the coloured people and the people of Asia are "barbarians". When the League of Nations consists of such people who now want to go back on the idea and principles of democracy, why should the British Government or their handmaids, the Government of India, compel India even to ratify a particular convention however beneficial it may be to the working classes in India. We could ourselves confer benefits on India. The representatives of industries, the representatives of workers and also the representatives of the Government of India can devise ameliorating conditions whereby the conditions of workers will improve. There I do not think my Honourable friend, Mr. Joshi, or my Honourable friend, Mr. Giri, will find us lagging behind. We will respond to them whenever it is for the betterment of the industries and of the workers. I want my Honourable friend, Mr. Joshi, who is a member of the Governing Body of the I. L. O., to say how he likes this attitude of the League of Nations towards Asiatic nations (interruptions from Mr. Joshi)—as article 11 of this Convention says that unless the Secretary of the League of Nations writes to the Secretary General of the International Labour Conference the Convention cannot be ratified. Sir, I am opposed to the idea that India should be any more a member of the League of Nations and probably the Government of India in their supine policy wants to go on sleeping a few more months till the League of Nations is dead and buried. The other day I saw an excellent cartoon in the Hindustan Times. The League of Nations was shown as a serpent following another serpent, Italy. Both the serpents are trying to swallow each other's tail and in the end Italy will be smashed and so will the League of Nations.

[Mr. B. Das.]

Sir, if I have followed this unusual procedure of asking the House not to ratify a convention which will improve the conditions of the workers, it is because of the insult which Mussolini has hurled against the Asiatics and the people of Africa. What right has any European however mighty he may be to say that Asiatics are barbarians, that the coloured people have no place on this earth and that it is only the European big powers, who want to dictate terms to Asia, to Africa and to other countries, have the right of existence. As war clouds are threatening on the horizon, it may be a friendly neighbour, an Abyssinia, which may pass out as a free people and independent country.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I rise on a point of order, Sir. Is the Honourable Member in order on the question of ratifying a convention regarding labour, to discuss the relations between two foreign powers ?

Mr. B. Das : Certainly I am.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member is giving his reasons why this House should not ratify the Convention of a body which is connected with the League of Nations, but the Chair hopes he will not dilate on it too much.

Mr. B. Das : I do not wish to add to the agony by again referring to Italy, but every Indian, who is present here—be he on this side or the other side of the House—feels it very much and his heart boils and his sense of injury burns in him and he feels indignant that there should be such an old body like the League of Nations that will perpetuate such distress and will allow its principal bodies to insult Asiatic nations ! Now, Sir, my advice to my Honourable friend, Mr. Mitchell, is this : “withdraw from the League of Nations”. But if the International Labour Conference can become a real international body independent from the League of Nations and does look into the interests of workers and employers all over the world, then I would ask the Government of India to become a subscriber of that international body. But when internationalism is dead and the dictatorship is the order of the day, I would like India to develop aggressive nationalism even with the help of that immobile bureaucratic Government which sits on the Treasury Benches opposite. Sir, I would welcome such aggressive nationalism and I will co-operate with them in the matter of legislating for the amelioration of the conditions of the workers. Therefore, I would ask the House to throw out this proposal for ratification and I will ask the Government of India to join hands with us to get out of the League of Nations.

RATIFICATION OF THE DRAFT CONVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE CONCERNING EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN DURING NIGHT.

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : Mr. President, I admit that the subject-matter of this Resolution is not of great importance to the working classes of this country. India, as the Honourable Member in charge of the Department stated, has ratified the Convention of 1919. Personally, I do not think there is any necessity for us to ratify this Convention. The Honourable Member in charge of the Department explained that the new Convention has introduced one, what I may call, a reactionary proposal. I should have said two. The proposal which he mentioned authorises women in a supervisory position to work during certain hours of the night. I admit, again, that this is not a matter of very great importance. At the same time, I do not like that we should ratify a convention which admittedly is a little reactionary one. I was unable to follow the reasons given by the Honourable Member in charge of the Department in support of his view for the ratification of this Convention. He said that India practically does not need it. He proposes to introduce legislation which will put right the position of India as regards the ratification of the Convention of 1919. I do not really see what practical advantage the Government of India will get by ratifying this Convention. The Honourable Member said that it is no use to us for the present, because they are not inclined to put in practice the proposal of the new Convention. What he said was that time may come when we can make use of this what I consider to be a reactionary power. I was wondering, Sir, why the Government were showing so much far-sightedness and forethought. Generally, I hear them saying and stating in this Legislature that they do not like to legislate ahead. They look to the present and I want to ask them why they are not content this time by looking to the present and why are they so much far-sighted when they should not be so. I, therefore, feel that nothing will be lost by the working classes in this country if the convention is not ratified. On the contrary, they will get something, if they will at all get, by not ratifying this Convention. However, Sir, I feel that the matter is not of very great consequence. If the Government of India carry this Resolution, I shall not shed many tears.

One word more about what my Honourable friend, Mr. Das, has said. I was unable to understand his attitude towards the League of Nations and the International Labour Conference. He said that India really wants internationalism. I thought he approved of internationalism, at least a real kind of internationalism. Then he said that India does not want to be a member of the League of Nations. What will happen if India does not remain a member of the League of Nations and India does not obey the mandates of the League of Nations as he wants India not to obey. I feel that not only India but the whole world will return to a condition of savagery. The whole world will begin to fight amongst one another and there will be such a continuous and constant fighting that we will not make any progress towards civilization, but whatever civilization we may have achieved so far will be destroyed. I am not here to make a speech in support of the League of Nations. But I feel that by even a country like India leaving the League of Nations, we shall not serve the cause of peace and internationalism, but we shall weaken whatever international organisation exists in the world for the promotion of peace.

[Mr. N. M. Joshi.]

Mr. B. Das : Does it exist ?

Mr. N. M. Joshi : One word more as regards the statement made by my Honourable friend, Mr. Das. He has some grudge against the League of Nations. Let him have it.

Mr. B. Das : Have you not got ?

Mr. N. M. Joshi : He was wrong in saying that the International Labour Organisation is controlled by the League of Nations in the passing of Conventions.

Mr. B. Das : See Article 11.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : Not even Article 11. The International Labour Conference and the International Labour Organisation have their own power to pass Conventions. I hope, Sir, the Government of India will not insist upon passing this Resolution.

Mr. A. G. Clow (Government of India : Nominated Official) : Mr. President, I must confess like Mr. Joshi that I was a little surprised at the tone of my Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das. He has received part of his reply from Mr. Joshi who has pointed out that the International Labour Organisation, although undoubtedly part of the organization of the League of Nations, is, in a sense, a separate organization. I may say at once that I have no knowledge of meetings of the League of Nations—I have never attended any—but I have attended several meetings of this organization and I can say that India there counts for much. Her views expressed there carry weight and India is there as a partner in what I regard as one of the most truly international organizations we have at present. Indeed, if my memory serves me rightly, I think my Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das, once assisted at one of those conferences which he now affects to despise. I was struck by the singular inconsistency, if I heard him rightly, in that while he seemed to be trying to pour contempt on this organization, he complained that we do not send enough advisers there. Surely he cannot have it both ways. I might add for his information that in the present year, we have sent one Adviser for every Delegate and we sent a distinguished Indian lady in addition.

As regards my Honourable friend, Mr. Joshi, I was a little surprised at the tone of his speech. Generally he complains that when we come forward we do not propose to ratify the Conventions, but when we come forward as in the present case and propose to ratify one of the Conventions, he is equally ready to complain. What I thought was the fundamental weakness in his position was that he seemed to attach no weight whatever to a convention. He took the line that we should have sound and strong reasons for ratifying. I would prefer to put it the other way and would prefer to say : here you have a Conference in which you have the collected wisdom of the greater part of the labour world met to devise suitable measures for labour ; and if they adopt a Convention, the least that you can do is to say that we shall consider its ratification favourably unless we find that our national conditions are such as to render it undesirable. I have a lurking suspicion that if we had brought forward a Resolution in the negative sense, namely, " That this Assembly recommends that he do not ratify, etc.," then Mr. Joshi would have come forward and said, " Why not ? "

RATIFICATION OF THE DRAFT CONVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR 155

CONFERENCE CONCERNING EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN DURING NIGHT.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : No, Sir.

Mr. A. G. Clow : Then I say it. Here you have a Convention : are there any sound reasons why we should not ratify ? It lays no further obligation upon India than she has already accepted and I think it is up to her to ratify the Convention.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, Mr. Clow was saying that the International Labour Conference is really the collective wisdom of a major portion of the world and therefore it is up to this House as well as similar Houses in other countries to accept that particular wisdom and then try to ratify the conventions and accept the recommendations which they make. I should like to put one question to him and also to the Government of India. Why is it that whenever any good convention has been passed by the International Labour Conference and recommended to these Governments, then the Government of India comes forward with its own proposals that it be not ratified. Why is it, Sir, on their own admission, when a reactionary and a practically useless Convention is passed by them and is circulated among all these Governments, the Government of India comes forward in this House and says that it be ratified. I should like this paradox to be solved by this Government of India. They alone seem to be competent to solve it.

Coming to the other question of the advantages that India can derive from being a member of the League of Nations—so far as this particular International Labour Conference is concerned,—I would only like to bring to the notice of this House the insult that was meted out to India's delegates at the last International Labour Conference, when the labour delegates were constrained to walk out of that conference being also supported in their action by the representatives of employers also. Therefore it must mean that India as such and Indians as such were not treated properly and were not given as much consideration as they deserved, and the point of view they presented in the International Labour Conference was not considered as weightily and as carefully as it should have been. I am a strong and firm believer in the necessity for an International Labour Conference and I am also in favour of the present International Labour Conference although I hold just as strong views against the League of Nations as it exists today as my Honourable friend, Mr. Das.

Of course, I do not agree with Mr. Das when he said that in some cases the recommendations of the International Labour Conference had gone against the employers. It may be that because our employers simply look at their problems from their own point of view and from their own self-interest and profits that they have come to this particular conclusion on some of their recommendations that have come to be accepted by this Government and that have gone against them. But, at the same time, I must sound this note of warning that if such a conference, as the International Labour Conference, did not exist, I do not feel quite confident that our employers would have been just as generous as they have been obliged to be in granting the few privileges that our workers have come to enjoy from this Government and also from this International Labour Conference.

[Prof. N. G. Ranga.]

In conclusion, Sir, I would like to recommend to the Government of India their own policy of not ratifying a convention which is not good and not accepting a convention which is really reactionary and reactionary in more than one sense. My Honourable friend, Mr. Joshi, has explained one sense in which it is reactionary, and I will mention the other one also for the information of this House. Sir, according to the old Convention, women were prohibited from working at night time between 10 P.M. at night and 5 o'clock in the morning. The new Convention states that they should be prevented from working between 11 o'clock in the night and 6 o'clock in the morning. To allow women to work in factories till 11 o'clock in the night is itself a dangerous thing and it is this reactionary measure which this Convention proposes and expects us to accept. And I am really glad that my Honourable friend, Mr. Mitchell, is going to come forward here with a legislative proposal to prohibit all women from working in factories during night time; and certainly his proposal is far more liberal than this particular Convention. And, therefore, if those legislative proposals were to be accepted by this House, this country and the working classes will certainly have no advantage to derive from this reactionary Convention and nothing to gain from its ratification. I, therefore, suggest that this Convention should not be ratified at all, because it is reactionary and it is bad.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Sir, on the whole I think Mr. Joshi's reactions to this motion do not differ very much from my own. I agree with him that if the Resolution is not passed I should not shed any tears over it. As a practical measure it has very little application to India; but I would impress upon the House that the International Labour Conference is a going concern. I am not going to allow myself to be dragged into any general discussion about the League of Nations. This is not the time for it. But I would again point out,—and Mr. Joshi, I understand, agrees and I think other Members of the House who are closely connected with labour matters will also agree,—that the International Labour Conference is a going concern and it will be a very great pity indeed if India were now to take action which would virtually amount to a declaration of her intention to secede. There has been some talk about the new Convention being reactionary as compared with the old one. From the point of view that it will allow a selected class of women to work at night it is reactionary. But I would remind Mr. Joshi that he himself has several times in this Assembly advocated the cause of the emancipation of women; and it has been held, and may be held even by some Members opposite, that a condition in the Convention whereby women in a position of supervision and management may be allowed to work at night is in some ways not reactionary.

I do not wish to say very much on Mr. Das' remarks. It seemed to me that his general attitude was, "Do not do a thing, which in itself is sound and which you want to do, because somebody you do not like asks you to do it". I do not think the position is a very convincing one, and

RATIFICATION OF THE DRAFT CONVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE CONCERNING EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN DURING NIGHT.

I would again appeal to the House not to make any breach in the walls of the International Labour Conference but to agree to this very sound Convention and to pass the Resolution.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

"That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council that he should ratify the Draft Convention concerning employment of women during the night (Revised 1934) adopted at the Eighteenth Session of the International Labour Conference."

The motion was adopted.

THE FACTORIES (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell (Member for Industries and Labour) : Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Factories Act, 1934, for a certain purpose.

This is a Bill to which I have already referred and which I understand several Honourable Members opposite will prefer to the Convention itself.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to amend the Factories Act, 1934, for a certain purpose."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Sir, I introduce the Bill.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

PROHIBITION OF THE CONVENER OF THE CONGRESS ASSEMBLY PARTY COMMITTEE re DETENUS TO ENTER CERTAIN PLACES IN BENGAL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : As regards the motion for adjournment standing in the name of Mr. Satyamurti, I have received a Message from the Viceroy and Governor General that he disallows the motion on the ground that it relates to a matter which is not primarily the concern of the Governor General in Council.

STATEMENT OF BUSINESS.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : With your permission, Sir, I desire to make a statement as to the probable course of Government business for the rest of the week. The list of business for Tuesday, the 3rd, is already in the hands of Honourable Members. On Thursday, the 5th, a motion will be made to take into consideration the Criminal Law Amendment Bill which has been introduced today. The discussion of this motion will be continued on Friday, the 6th September. Wednesday, the 4th, has been allotted by His Excellency the Governor General for the discussion of non-official Resolutions, and it is not proposed at present that the House should sit on Saturday, the 7th September.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Tuesday, the 3rd September, 1935.

L163LAD

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Tuesday, 3rd September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

MEMBER SWORN.

Mr. Nirmal Chandra Chunder, M.L.A. (Calcutta : Non-Muhammaddan Urban).

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

PURCHASE OF ARTICLES REQUIRED BY THE MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

31. *Sardar Sant Singh : What was the total amount spent by the Military Department in the year 1933-34 in making purchases of articles required by that department ? What portion was spent through the Indian Stores Department, and what portion was spent through the Stores Department, London ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The total amount spent by the Defence Departments (including Military Engineer Services, Royal Air Force, Royal Indian Navy and manufacturing concerns) on stores purchased in India and England during the year 1933-34 was Rs. 5.64 crores in round figures. The value of purchases made by the Indian and London Stores Departments, respectively, is contained in the annual reports of the two Departments, copies of which are available in the Library of the House.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if only those things are purchased in London which cannot be obtained in India ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Yes, Sir ; those things which cannot be purchased in India are alone purchased in London, that is to say, motor cars, aeroplanes, and in this particular case a new ship for the Royal Indian Navy.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are any articles required for the army purchased in foreign countries or only in England ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There may be a few : I have not got details.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Through what agency are those articles, bought in countries other than England, purchased ? Who makes the inspection ? Who negotiates for their purchase ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Some of them are purchased through the Indian Stores Department and some through the London Stores Department ?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do you purchase any things directly in London without the mediation of the London Stores Department ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I think there are a few things that are bought direct through the War Office.

PURCHASE OF ARTICLES REQUIRED BY THE RAILWAY BOARD.

32. *Sardar Sant Singh : What was the total amount spent by the Railway Board in the year 1933-34 in making purchases of articles required by that Department? What portion was spent through the Indian Stores Department, and what portion was spent through the Stores Department, London?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The total value of all stores (both indigenous and foreign) purchased for the State-managed Railways during 1933-34 was Rs. 7.52 lakhs. Out of this, the value of stores purchased by the Indian Stores Department and the India Store Department, London, on behalf of those railways during the same year was approximately Rs. 171 lakhs and six lakhs, respectively.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the same rule as in the military is being followed and only those articles are purchased in London which cannot be purchased in India?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Yes, Sir.

VALUE OF IMPORTS FROM, AND EXPORTS TO, THE UNITED KINGDOM.

33. *Sardar Sant Singh : Since the Ottawa Agreement became operative, what has been the total value of imports from the United Kingdom into India and what is the total value of exports from India to the United Kingdom?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I lay on the table a statement containing the information asked for as far as it is available.

Statement showing imports from and exports to the United Kingdom from January, 1933 to July, 1935.

|                                 | Imports.(In lakhs ofRs.) |
|---------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| January, 1933 .. .. .           | 3.99                             |
| February, 1933 .. .. .          | 3.87                             |
| March, 1933 .. .. .             | 4.48                             |
| April, 1933—March, 1934 .. .. . | 12.34                            |
| April, 1934—March, 1935 .. .. . | 47.59                            |
| April, 1935 .. .. .             | 53.73                            |
| May, 1935 .. .. .               | 4.53                             |
| June, 1935 .. .. .              | 4.44                             |
| July, 1935 .. .. .              | 3.60                             |
|                                 | 4.09                             |
|                                 | 16.66                            |
| Total .. .. .                   | 1,30.32                          |

|                                 | Exports.(In lakhs ofRs.) |
|---------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| January, 1933 .. .. .           | 2.95                             |
| February, 1933 .. .. .          | 2.67                             |
| March, 1933 .. .. .             | 2.93                             |
|                                 | 8.55                             |
| April, 1933—March, 1934 .. .. . | 47.21                            |
| April, 1934—March, 1935 .. .. . | 47.81                            |
| April, 1935 .. .. .             | 2.24                             |
| May, 1935 .. .. .               | 3.49                             |
| June, 1935 .. .. .              | 3.36                             |
| July, 1935 .. .. .              | 3.76                             |
|                                 | 12.85                            |
| Total .. .. .                   | 1,16.42                          |

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not the fact that the imports from the United Kingdom have increased to a greater extent than our exports to the United Kingdom in the same period ever since the Ottawa Pact was concluded?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is a question of figures : I have supplied the figures.

ALLEGED DISCRIMINATION AGAINST INDIAN PRODUCTS BY BRITISH CONCERNS IN INDIA.

34. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the following published in the London Times?

“ A branch of the Tata Iron and Steel Company is obtaining an increasingly large share of the trade in hoes, axes, chisels, billhooks, pickaxes, hammer heads, except for those required by the British-managed concerns.... ”

If so, are Government aware that there is a discrimination against Indian products at the hands of British-managed concerns in India? If so, do Government propose to do anything about it?

(b) Is it a fact that the Railways in India were making such a discrimination against the local products?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Government have no information on the point.

(b) No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why Government could not make inquiries after receipt of the question, part (a), especially considering this is a vital matter?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The question is whether British firms make discrimination against Indian manufactures : if I made inquiries from the British firms, is it reasonable to expect them to tell me whether they do or do not discriminate?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if any inquiry was made of these concerns, and they declined to furnish any information?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I did not make any enquiry, because the firms would at once say : " This is no business of yours, and we will not give you any information ". I did not wish to place the Government in that position.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Has any attempt been made to ascertain from the High Commissioner in London with respect to the discrimination of some European firms ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There is no question of European firms in England : the question does not relate to them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why was no inquiry made of the Tata Iron and Steel Company ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : How could Tatas give me information whether this discrimination was being practised against them by any British firm or not ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did the Honourable Member make any attempt to get the information ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I did not, because I knew no useful information could be supplied by them on this point.

OVERHAULING OF THE INCOME-TAX SYSTEM OF INDIA.

35. *Sardar Sant Singh : (a) Have Government taken any steps towards the fulfilment of their promise to undertake the overhauling of the Income-tax system of India ? If so, what steps have been taken so far ?

(b) Do Government propose to associate some Indian businessmen with this enquiry ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : May I answer this question on behalf of the Honourable the Finance Member who is unfortunately prevented by indisposition from attending today ?

I would refer the Honourable Member to the remarks of the Honourable the Finance Member on this subject in the Report of the Proceedings of the Assembly for the 4th of April last (pages 3650-51 and page 3667). Definite arrangements have now been made for the expert review there mentioned to begin during the coming cold weather.

Mr. F. E. James : I understand that memoranda may be sent by commercial associations in respect of this committee's work : is the initiative left to the associations or will Government send the usual circular inviting such memoranda ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The position is that the procedure to be followed by the experts will not be determined until they have arrived, but I have personally no doubt that in due course these representative bodies will be invited to submit memoranda to Government.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : May I know the answer to clause (b) ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The answer to that is contained in what I have already said, if the Honourable Member will refer to the proceedings of the Assembly which I have quoted.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : May we know that ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I have quoted the reference—pages 3650-51 and page 3667.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : But the Honourable Member may be pleased to give that reply : it is a matter of " yes " or " no ".

(No answer was given.)

APPOINTMENTS OF SUCCESSFUL EX-APPRENTICES OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY WORKSHOP, LILLOOAH, IN OTHER WORKSHOPS.

36. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government please state whether they took action in accordance with the procedure cited in answers to starred question No. 918 (d) of the 7th November, 1932, and unstarred question No. 23 (b) of the 5th September, 1932, regarding the appointments of successful ex-apprentices of the East Indian Railway Workshop, Lillooah, in other workshops, such as Tatanagar, Charbagh and Alambagh, which are under the Chief Mechanical Engineer ? If so, will Government please state the number of vacancies which occurred in these workshops since 1934 and the names of the ex-apprentices, if any, who have been taken in ? If not, why not ?

(b) Are Government aware that illiterate workmen, mistries, clerks, etc., who never received any technical education at all are promoted to the grade of journeymen, mechanics, chargemen and even to the grade of Assistant Foremen in those workshops, although many successful technically trained ex-apprentices of Jamalpore Technical School were available ? If so, why ?

(c) Are Government aware that a considerable amount of money is spent on the theoretical and practical training of the first grade Mechanical Bound Apprentices of East Indian Railway Technical School, Jamalpore ?

(d) Are Government aware that some outsiders are also appointed as journeymen, chargemen, etc., in those workshops in preference to the ex-apprentices who were trained under them ? If so, why ?

(e) If the answers to parts (b) and (d) above be in the negative, will Government please state whether they are prepared to make an enquiry into the matter and lay on the table of this House a statement showing the names of the supervising staff such as Assistant Foremen, chargemen, journeymen, etc., of those workshops with the following :

- (i) particulars of practical training,
- (ii) particulars of service,
- (iii) particulars of technical education,
- (iv) division in which passed from the technical school,
- (v) designations and grades of the posts,
- (vi) present salary, and
- (vii) the university examination passed ?

If not, why not ?

Engineer, East Indian Railway, since 1933, together with the following information about them :

- (i) dates of completion of apprenticeship training ;
- (ii) division in which passed in technical school ;
- (iii) workshop in which appointed ;
- (iv) designations ;
- (v) starting pay ; and
- (vi) dates of appointments ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the information laid on the table in connection with Mr. D. K. Lahiri Chaudhry's starred question No. 1325 asked on the 2nd April, 1935.

(b) Government do not consider an enquiry necessary.

DEMOTION OF ELECTRICAL LINESMEN AND WIREMEN ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

40. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the actual number of the linesmen and wiremen in the Electrical Department on the East Indian Railway in each Division ?

(b) What was their grade of pay before the retrenchment took place in 1931, and what is their present grade ?

(c) Is it not a fact that certain electrical linesmen and wiremen have been demoted, on the plea of retrenchment, from the grade of Rs. 84 to Rs. 51 ?

(d) What is the number of such demoted persons in each Division ?

(e) Is it a fact that the persons who were demoted, were given an assurance that their grades will be restored after six months ?

(f) Will Government be pleased to state whether their grades have been restored, or not ? If not, why not ?

(g) Will Government also be pleased to state what action has been taken on the representations made by the demoted persons every now and then ? If none, will Government be pleased to state the reasons why no action was taken ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). I lay on the table a statement giving the required information.

(c) Yes. The reduction in grade was accepted by them as an alternative to discharge.

(d) Three wiremen and two linesmen in the Lucknow Division.

(e) No.

(f) No vacancies have arisen in the higher grade for which these demoted men are suitable. Orders have been issued by the East Indian Railway Administration that when vacancies occur in the higher grade for which these demoted men are suitable they are to be restored to their original grade.

(g) A petition was received in May, 1932, from the men concerned and they were informed in reply that as they had accepted the reduced grade, they must abide by the decision.

EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.
Statement showing scales of pay of Linesmen and Wiremen in the Electrical Department.

| Stations.                                             | Upto 31st August 1931. |                |                | From 1st September 1931. |                |                   | Revised grades for new entrants appointed on or after 16th July 1931, introduced from 1st September 1934. | Remarks. |
|-------------------------------------------------------|------------------------|----------------|----------------|--------------------------|----------------|-------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
|                                                       | Grade I.               | Grade II.      | Grade III.     | Grade I.                 | Grade II.      | Grade III.        |                                                                                                           |          |
| JAMALPUR—Linesmen and Wiremen.                    | Rs.54-5-84         | Rs.39-3-51 | Rs.15-3-36 | Rs.54-5-84           | Rs.42-3-54 | Rs.18/22-2-38 | Rs.44-2-60                                                                                            | 22-1-28  |
| LALOOAH—Linesmen and Wiremen.                     | 54-5-84                | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 54-5-84                  | 40-2-55        | 22-2-262-41   | 44-2-60                                                                                                   | 22-1-28  |
| LUCKNOW—(Monthly rated)—Linesmen and Wiremen. | 54-5-84                | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 54-5-84                  | 42-3-54        | 18/22-2-38        | 44-2-60                                                                                                   | 22-1-28  |
| LUCKNOW—(Daily rated)(Old O. and R. Section)  | As.                    | As.            | As.            | Annas per day.As.    | As.            | As.               | As.                                                                                                       | As.      |
| Linesmen and Wiremen.                                 | 39-3-54                | 26-2-36        | 16-2-28        | 39-3-54                  | 30-2-36        | 19-2-29           | As.                                                                                                       | As.      |

Daily rates have been eliminated except for those employees at Lucknow who were appointed before the 16th July, 1931, and were daily rated.

(f) Will Government please state whether they are prepared to put a stop to promoting to such posts, persons who received no technical education at all, in all future cases and appoint time-expired apprentices of Jamalpore Technical School, who were trained under them, and issue necessary orders to the Agent, East Indian Railway to this effect? If not, why not?

(g) If the answer to part (f) above be in the affirmative, will Government please lay a copy of the orders on the table? If not, why not?

(h) Will Government please state the amount spent on the practical and theoretical training of each apprentice of Jamalpore Technical School, East Indian Railway, during the five years of training?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The information has been called for and will be placed on the table of the House in due course.

(b) Government understand that on the Oudh and Rohilkund Railway the supervising grades were filled by promoting mechanics and mistries deserving of such promotion. Since the amalgamation of that railway with the East Indian Railway posts in the supervising grades are reserved for ex-apprentice mechanics. If these are not available, mistries are eligible for promotion to certain lower grade of chargemen.

(c) and (h). Government understand that approximately Rs. 3,600 is spent on each apprentice in five years.

(d) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that it has been necessary on occasion to appoint outsiders when ex-apprentices with the required training have not been available.

(e) Does not arise.

(f) Government understand that the present practice is to appoint other persons to supervisory posts only if ex-apprentices with the requisite training are not available. They do not, therefore, consider the issue of further orders necessary.

(g) Does not arise.

Mr. V. V. Giri : With reference to part (d) of this question, will the Honourable Member find out from the Agent of the East Indian Railway as to how many outsiders have been taken?

Mr. P. R. Rau : My Honourable friend is at liberty to put a question on the paper.

DIFFERENT GRADES OF PAY FOR THE SUPERVISING STAFF IN THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY WORKSHOPS.

37. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Are Government aware that there are different grades of pay for the supervising staff in different workshops on the East Indian Railway, although they are under one and the same head, i.e., the Chief Mechanical Engineer? If so, will Government please state the reasons for the differences? Are Government prepared to bring them on to one standard?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Yes. The difference in the scales of pay is due to the difference in the degree of responsibility attaching to the respective posts. The Government do not see any necessity for bringing them on to one standard.

APPOINTMENT OF APPRENTICES ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

38. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Are Government aware that in spite of repeated assurances, given in answer to starred questions No. 424 (d) of the 16th September, 1931, and 1528 (c) of the 5th December, 1932, one junior ex-apprentice, who passed in a lower division has been appointed this year in the Alambagh workshop under the Chief Mechanical Engineer, East Indian Railway? If so, will Government please state the reasons for appointing him in preference to many seniors of 1931, who passed in the first division? Are Government prepared to take immediate action against this act of the railway administration? If so, in what way?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the negative, are Government prepared to enquire into the matter?

(c) Will Government please state how the selection for the post referred to in part (a) above was made, who made the selection and what were their qualifications?

(d) Will Government please lay on the table a statement showing the name of the ex-apprentice referred to in part (a) above, the date of his completion of apprenticeship training, the division in which he passed from the Technical School, and starting salary?

(e) With reference to the starred questions Nos. 1014 and 1015 of the 26th March, 1935, and starred questions Nos. 1324 to 1326 of the 2nd April, 1935, regarding the appointments of the time-expired apprentices of Lillooah Workshops under the Chief Mechanical Engineer, East Indian Railway, will Government please state :

(i) whether they have received the required information from the Agent, East Indian Railway, and

(ii) whether they are now prepared to lay the statement asked for in the question referred to on the table?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) to (d). The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that it is not clear which ex-apprentice is referred to but two ex-apprentices were engaged in the Alambagh Workshops, Lucknow, this year, one in the capacity of a chargehand on Rs. 85 per mensem and the other as a fitter on Rs. 2-6-0 a day. Both these men passed in the First Division. Government do not consider any action necessary.

(e) The statement has been laid on the table.

APPOINTMENT OF APPRENTICES ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

39. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Are Government aware that in spite of the assurance given, the ex-apprentices of the East Indian Railway Workshop, Lillooah, are not appointed from the waiting list according to seniority, and that the result of the Technical School is not considered at the time of appointments under the Chief Mechanical Engineer?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the negative, will Government please state whether they are prepared to make an enquiry into the matter, and lay on the floor of this House a statement showing the names of those who have been provided with posts under the Chief Mechanical

| Stations.                                                       | Up to 31st August 1931. |                |                | From 1st September 1931. |                |                | Revised grades for new entrants appointed on or after 16th July 1931 introduced from 1st September 1934. | Remarks.                                                                                                                                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|----------------|----------------|--------------------------|----------------|----------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                 | Grade I.                | Grade II.      | Grade III.     | Grade I.                 | Grade II.      | Grade III.     |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                            |
| LUCKNOW DISTRICT.—Old O. and R. Section.(Daily rated).— |                         |                |                |                          |                |                |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                            |
| Linesmen and Wiremen.                                           | As.39-3-54          | As.26-2-36 | As.16-2-28 | As.39-3-54           | As.30-2-38 | As.19-2-29 | As...                                                                                                | Daily rates have been eliminated except for those employees at Lucknow who were appointed before the 16th July 1931, and were daily rated. |
| LUCKNOW DISTRICT.—(Monthly rated).—                         |                         |                |                |                          |                |                |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                            |
| Linesmen and Wiremen.                                           | Rs.54-5-84          | Rs.39-3-51 | Rs.15-3-36 | Rs.54-5-84           | Rs.39-3-51 | Rs.15-3-36 | Rs.22-1-28                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                            |
| LILLOOAH DISTRICT.—                                             |                         |                |                |                          |                |                |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                            |
| Linesmen and Wiremen                                            | 54-5-84                 | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 54-5-84                  | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 22-1-28                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                            |
| DHARBAD DISTRICT.—                                              |                         |                |                |                          |                |                |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                            |
| Linesmen and Wiremen                                            | 54-5-84                 | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 54-5-84                  | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 22-1-28                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                            |
| COLLEBY DISTRICT.—                                              |                         |                |                |                          |                |                |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                            |
| Linesmen and Wiremen                                            | 54-5-84                 | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 54-5-84                  | 39-3-51        | 15-3-36        | 22-1-28                                                                                                  | Staff transferred to the Colliery Department with effect from the 1st July 1933.                                                           |

AMOUNT SANCTIONED TO CONDUCT THE CASE OF MR. DORAN, LATE STAFF SUPERINTENDENT OF THE DINAPUR DIVISION.

41. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that Government have sanctioned a sum of Rs. 10,000 to conduct the case of Mr. Doran, late Staff Superintendent of the Dinapur Division, who filed a complaint against the Mazdur, an official organ of the East Indian Railway Union, Dinapur, under sections 500, 504 and 506, Indian Penal Code, and the accused claimed a privilege under Chapter 33, section 443, Criminal Procedure Code for jury trial consisting of the majority of Indian jurymen ?

(b) Is it a fact that the learned Session Judge of Patna accepted the application for a jury trial and gave a privilege to the accused persons under Chapter 33, section 443, of the Criminal Procedure Code and observed in his judgment on the 2nd January, 1935, that the complaint was not filed by Mr. Doran in his official capacity and the accused were entitled to trial by a jury of his countrymen, if he desired it ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state the reasons and the grounds under which a sum of Rs. 10,000 of the public money was sanctioned to conduct the case of Mr. Doran ?

(d) Will Government also be pleased to state whether similar privileges of financing the cases of subordinates were allowed when they defended the case while they were on duty ? If not, will Government be pleased to state why this favour has been shown to Mr. Doran in this case ?

Mr. P. B. Rau : (a) Government have so far sanctioned an expenditure of Rs. 5,376-12-0 in connection with this case.

(b) The learned Sessions Judge of Patna allowed the application for a jury trial under section 443 of the Criminal Procedure Code. He observed that in lodging the complaint Mr. Doran acted not only with the approval but under the express orders of his official superiors ; but he did not consider it to be any part of Mr. Doran's normal duties to prosecute the editors of newspapers who may publish articles defamatory of him.

(c) Mr. Doran was attacked in the Mazdur on the subject of acts performed by him in his official capacity. The Railway Administration accordingly instructed him to prosecute the editor and printer of the Mazdur and undertook to pay expenses as it was considered necessary to protect its officers against such attacks.

(d) As Mr. Doran instituted the prosecution under the orders of the Railway Administration, the expenses were borne by the latter. I have not been able to trace readily any similar case of a subordinate being instructed by the Administration to institute prosecution.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Were the accused acquitted in that case ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : With regard to the answer to part (a) of this question, may I know if the opinion of the Legal Remembrancer or of any legal adviser of the Crown was obtained before instituting this case ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe the East Indian Railway authorities did obtain advice.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member what is the practice adopted in giving assistance to a railway employé for conducting a case ? Does the Railway Board first of all decide the matter, or what is the procedure ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If a railway servant, as was the case in this case, is instructed to institute a prosecution, the expenses are paid by the railway administration.

Mr. Sami Venkatachalam Chetty : Did Government approve of the act of the Railway Administration in this case ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : What distinction is the Honourable Member making between the Railway Administration and the Government ?

Mr. Sami Venkatachalam Chetty : I thought that the Government were an appellate authority. May I know if the Railway Administration has got any power to institute cases like this without the approval of the Railway Board ?

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Are there any rules under which orders are given for instituting such prosecutions ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Each question is decided on its merits.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to part (c), may I know whether the Government obtained any independent legal opinion as to the soundness of this prosecution, before they sanctioned this sum of public money ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As I said before, the prosecution was instituted by the East Indian Railway Administration, and they did obtain legal advice before instituting this prosecution. I do not know what is meant by independent legal advice.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to know whether the Government of India, before they sanctioned this sum of public money, obtained any other legal advice ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Does the Honourable Member mean any other advice than that which the East Indian Railway had already obtained ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Are Government aware of the judgment in this case ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government are aware of the judgment in this case.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the prosecution was initiated by the Railway Department or by the railway employé, Mr. Doran ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As the answer says, the East Indian Railway Administration directed Mr. Doran to institute this prosecution.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not the duty of the Railway Board to see that the prosecutions that are ordered by the various companies under them are properly conducted and taken up ? Has the Railway Board consulted its own legal adviser as to the rightness of this prosecution ?

(No reply.)

ENHANCEMENT OF THE BEAT OF THE KEYMEN ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

42. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what action they have taken in connection with the speech of Mr. N. V. Gadgil, delivered in this House on the 26th February, 1935, in connection with the cut motion on Railway Budget, regarding the enhancement of the beat of the keymen on the East Indian Railway ?

(b) Is it a fact that the Chief Engineer, East Indian Railway, Calcutta, had issued a circular letter, No. 1174, dated nil, to all the S. S. W.'s on the East Indian Railway and asked for their suggestions to increase the beat of the keymen on the East Indian Railway from three to six miles on double line and four miles to twelve on single lines per day ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table the suggestions made by the P. W. I.'s, A. S. W.'s and S. W.'s of six Divisions on the East Indian Railway regarding the increase of the beat of the keymen on the East Indian Railway ?

(d) Is it also a fact that the beat of the keymen has been increased from three to six miles on double lines and from four to twelve miles on single lines per day with effect from the 15th March, 1935 ?

(e) Will Government be pleased to state the distance between two keys ?

(f) How many keys does each mile contain ?

(g) What is the average time to set one key ?

(h) Is it a fact that when the wage-cut was imposed on the railway employees, the Honourable the Railway Member gave an assurance that in future no retrenchment will be made ? If so, what is the reason for the enhancement of the beat of the keymen ?

Mr. P. B. Rau : (a) No action was considered necessary on the speech of Mr. Gadgil, referred to.

(b) It was decided in January, 1935, to extend the length of keymen's beats. This change was adopted after consideration of the proposals put forward by the Deputy Agent (Organisation) with a view to securing economy by a more intensive employment of permanent way staff. The increased limits represented the maximum beat prescribed for keymen under the most favourable conditions.

(c) Reports on the working of the revised orders have been received and are under consideration together with suggestions for their modification. These are administrative documents not intended for publication and Government are not prepared to lay them on the table.

(d) The beat was increased from the 15th February, 1935.

(e) The distance between two sleepers is generally between two and three feet.

(f) About four thousand.

(g) A few seconds. In any one day only a very small percentage of keys require attention.

(h) I have not been able to trace any such statement. My Honourable friend will, no doubt, realise that in the course of investigations by railways into fresh avenues of economy, it is inevitable that some staff will be found surplus to requirements from time to time.

PAY OF CERTAIN RAILWAY STAFF.

43. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will the Honourable Member in charge of Railways be pleased to state the pay of (i) Pointsmen, (ii) Clock-winders, (iii) Relieving Ticket Collectors, (iv) Relieving Assistant Station Masters, (v) Engine Assistants, i.e., firemen and state if they are paid any monthly allowance ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I lay on the table a statement giving the information.

Statement showing the pay and monthly allowances of Pointsmen, Clock Winders, Relieving Ticket Collectors, Relieving Assistant Station Masters and Firemen on the East Indian Railway.

| Scales of pay 1934.                       |                       | Monthly allowance.                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| (i) Pointsmen—                            |                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| In running sheds                          | Rs. 12—1—17           | (a) (a) Local and bad climate allowances are given in certain localities in accordance with the scale shown, at page XIII of the pamphlet containing the revised scales of pay 1934 a copy of which is in the library of the House. |
| At stations                               | Rs. 14—1—19           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| (ii) Clock Winders                        | Rs. 22—1—28           | (b) Nil.                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| (iii) Relieving Ticket Collectors         | Rs. 30—3—45           | (c) (c) No monthly allowance other than ordinary travelling allowance when relieving away from their headquarters.                                                                                                                  |
| (iv) Relieving Assistant Station Masters. | Rs. 30—2—45/5—60 (c). |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| (v) Firemen—                              |                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Grade I                                   | Rs. 30—3—50           | (d) (d) Running allowances under the rules applicable to locomotive running staff.                                                                                                                                                  |
| Grade II                                  | Rs. 17—18             | (d).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Grade III                                 | Rs. 15—16             | (d).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

MONTHLY ALLOWANCE PAID TO THE TRAVELLING TICKET INSPECTORS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

44. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will the Honourable Member in charge of the Railways be pleased to state if the travelling inspectors of A and B grades under Mody-Ward system on the East Indian Railway, are paid any monthly allowance ? If so, will he be pleased to state the amount ? If not, why not ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I would refer the Honourable Member to the information laid on the table of the House in reply to part (c) of question No. 307 asked by Dr. N. B. Khare on the 9th April, 1935.

PURCHASE OF SCALES BY THE RAILWAYS.

45. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether weigh-bridge scales are purchased by the Railways or by the State ?

(b) Is it a fact that T. Avery's scales are generally preferred by State Railways to B. W. Company and that the latter are cheaper than the former by not less than Rs. 500 ?

(c) If the answer to part (b) be in the affirmative, will Government be pleased to state the reason for the preference ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state the number of Avery's scales purchased during the last five years and the rate at which they were purchased ?

(e) Will Government be pleased to state if the weigh-bridge scales are purchased by calling regular tenders from suppliers, and if so, whose tenders were lowest during all these years ?

(f) Are Government aware of the fact that B. W. Company's weigh-bridge scales are purchased by almost all the factories in India for their cheapness and durability ?

(g) Do Government propose to stop the purchase of Avery's scales in future, and start purchasing B. W. Company's scales ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Prior to the 29th January, 1935, State-managed Railways purchased their requirements of weigh-bridges and weighing machines directly. From that date such purchases are being made through the Indian Stores Department.

(b) and (c). Avery's scales have been in use on Indian Railways for many years past and have, I understand, proved generally satisfactory. There is no question, however, of giving a preference to this Company over others since the purchase is decided on quality and price. I understand the B. W. Scales Company, which has apparently started operations quite recently, have not yet tendered for railway requirements. If they do, I am sure, the Indian Stores Department will give them the same consideration as other tenderers.

(d) The information is not readily available.

(e) Weigh-bridges and scales have in the past been chiefly purchased by calling for tenders. In certain instances when a special type of machine of a proprietary nature has been required the single tender system of purchase has been adopted. Tenders will in future be called for by the Indian Stores Department. Government have no information regarding the lowest tenders during the last five years.

(f) No.

(g) Government propose to purchase from the most suitable tenderer.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government ever tried to ascertain whether the B. W. Company's scales are cheaper than the Avery's scales ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : That will be easily found out when the tenders are received.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Do I understand the Honourable Member to say that the Avery's scales are the very best ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Has the Honourable Member ever tried to ascertain whether equally good weigh-bridges can be had at lower prices ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I have never said that the Avery's scales are the very best. I have said that they have been in use on Indian Railways for many years past and they have proved generally satisfactory. I have also said that there is no question of giving preference to this Company over others since the purchase is decided on quality and price.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Why did not the Government think it desirable to call for tenders to see if equally good scales can be had elsewhere at a lesser price ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Open tenders will be called for by the Indian Stores Department in future.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government tried to make experiments with B. W. Company's scales and find out whether they are just as good as Avery's scales ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I must leave that to the Indian Stores Department.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not the duty of the Indian Stores Department simply to sell the scales to the Indian Railways ?

Mr President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has given an answer.

DIFFERENTIAL TREATMENT IN RE-EMPLOYING THE DISCHARGED TICKET CHECKING STAFF ON THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

46. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that in the year 1928 when transferring the Ticket Checking Staff from the control of the Audit Department to that of the Traffic Department on the Eastern Bengal Railway, all the staff of the Ticket Checking Department were medically examined as to their fitness in Class "A" ?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state how many of them were passed in Class "A" and how many in Class "B" ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that some of the Travelling Ticket Collectors failed to pass in Class "A" but passed in Class "B" ?

(d) If so, will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that some of them who passed in Class "B" were discharged and subsequently absorbed as Ticket Collectors in the Traffic Department, and some were taken back to the Ticket Checking Department without break of service ?

(e) If so, will Government be pleased to state why differential treatment was meted out to the few who were discharged and subsequently taken back as new recruits ?

(f) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that for the sake of economy, the representation like that of the other fortunate men, was rejected ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) They were examined only in Class 'A' as that was the minimum standard laid down at the time for ticket checking staff. 158 passed.

(c) Those who failed to pass in Class 'A' were not at that time tested in Class 'B'.

(d) and (e). If my Honourable friend means that while some of those who failed to pass in Class 'A' and were subsequently re-appointed were treated as re-appointed after a break in service, the rest were taken back without a break, the reply is in the negative. All were treated as re-appointed after a break in service.

(f) Does not arise.

DETACHMENT OF BRITISH TROOPS STATIONED IN CERTAIN BIKRAMPUR VILLAGES IN DACCA.

47. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Are Government aware of the facts that two detachments of British troops have been stationed in parts of Bikrampur (Munshiganj area) in the district of Dacca ?

(b) Are Government aware of the fact that a detachment of the Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire Regiment was stationed in Bikrampur in September last and that they remained there till the end of February, 1935 ?

(c) Are Government aware of the fact that the above detachments were divided into seven batches, and as many as seven military camps were set up at the following villages, namely, Taltala, Arial, Bhagyakul, Abdullapur, Baherak, Bahar and Hashara ?

(d) Are Government aware that the soldiers placed in the above places were advised to move about freely in the villages at all hours of the day and even late at night and that they thereby caused difficulty and inconvenience to the women of the villages in going about for drawing water and buying food in the market and attending Pujahs in the temples ?

(e) Is it not a fact that the soldiers used to enter the houses of the local people without asking for permission of the owners ?

L168LAD

B

(f) Is it not a fact that the soldiers used to cut down trees for fuel without waiting for the consent of the owners of the trees ?

(g) Is it not a fact that these detachments were stationed in the villages where the population is predominantly Hindus and that cows were daily slaughtered in the slaughter house to supply them with beef ?

(h) If the answer to part (g) be in the affirmative, will Government be pleased to state if they are aware that this affected the susceptibilities of the Hindu population of the locality ?

(i) Is it not a fact that troops visit the houses of the young men under restraint order (sunset and curfew order) and rouse them up from sleep more than once the same night and create a row thereby by knocking at the doors and beating the corrugated-sheet roofs and disturb the peace of the household and the locality ?

(j) Are Government aware that the soldiers killed a large number of watch-dogs in the villages to the great inconvenience of the people ?

(k) Is it a fact that in spite of the prohibitory orders of Government on the young men regarding the movement in the streets between sunset and sunrise, the soldiers forced them to accompany them to be left at some distant out-of-the-way place in the darkness and shift for themselves as best as they could ?

(l) Is it a fact that detachments are placed in the interior of the villages to put down terrorism ? If so, will Government be pleased to state if there were any acts of terrorism in Bikrampur during the last five years, and when the last act of terrorism took place there ?

(m) Will Government be pleased to state if they have considered whether any further stationing of troops is required under the present peaceful situation there ? If so, are Government prepared to withdraw the regiments from these places and restore normal conditions there without delay ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a), (b) and (c). Detachments of the 1st Battalion of the Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire Regiment were in Camp in the Munshiganj Sub-Division from the 7th December, 1934, to the 9th March, 1935. There were at no one time more than eight separate camps, situated at Fursail, Abdullapur, Beltali, Hasara, Telirbag, Baharak, Arial, Munshiganj and Bhagyakul ; the last camp was occupied only for a very short time.

(d) No. Troops were permitted to use the open country but resort to populated areas, tanks and places used by women for bathing was expressly prohibited, and no soldier was permitted to leave camp between sunset and sunrise, except on duty. Orders to ensure respect for the convenience and susceptibilities of the inhabitants were made in consultation with Union Boards and no complaints of the molestation of women have been received.

(e) and (f). The allegations made are untrue. Government have received no such complaints and are satisfied that none were ever made.

(g) and (h). Shelters for the slaughter of cattle were constructed in consultation with Cricle Officers and Presidents of Union Boards. No such shelter was built on land belonging to a Hindu and every shelter was constructed so as not to give offence. No complaint regarding the slaughter of cattle or the position of these shelters was received.

(i) It was necessary on occasions for combined patrols of police and military to visit persons living under orders of restriction.

(j) No dogs were killed in any village. In one or two camps a few stray dogs were killed but only after the wishes of the local inhabitants had been ascertained. The action called forth the gratitude of the villagers in the neighbourhood.

(k) The allegation is entirely unfounded. On the contrary, some young men under restriction volunteered to guide patrols at night. In some instances their help was invited.

(l) No less than 17 terrorist crimes including three murders and three attempted murders were committed between 29th August, 1930 and 8th May, 1934, either in Munshiganj Sub-division, or by persons belonging to that sub-division.

(m) Troops will be withdrawn as soon as the necessity for their presence disappears.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : I could not hear the answer to part (k) of the question.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The allegation is entirely unfounded. On the contrary, some young men under restriction volunteered to guide patrols at night. In some instances their help was invited.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if, after the receipt of these questions, Government made any enquiries, and, if so, of whom and in what manner ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : We enquired of the Government of Bengal.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : With reference to the Honourable Member's answer to part (l) of the question, may I know when the last terrorist outrage was committed ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : In the Munshiganj sub-division, the last terrorist outrage was committed on the 14th September, 1932, and by the inhabitants of the Munshiganj sub-division the last terrorist outrage was committed on the 8th May, 1934.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Knowing the character of soldiers as the Honourable Member does, does he believe the statement of the Government of Bengal that the posting of this regiment there has not caused any inconvenience to the people of the locality ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Knowing the character of the soldiers and having referred to the Government of Bengal, I am of opinion that, so far from causing any inconvenience to the inhabitants of the locality, the presence of the troops was of great material benefit to, and was welcomed by, the inhabitants. (Cries of " Oh, oh ! " from Congress Party Benches and " Hear, hear " from Government Benches.)

Mr. Sri Prakasa : The Honourable Member has said that he has received no complaints. But would he kindly inform the House if there are any avenues open for making complaints in the face of the existing law? Are not papers prohibited from publishing any complaints? Are not people terrorised if they make any complaints?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Honourable Member seems to be indulging in a speech. My information is entirely different from his.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What are the grounds for saying that the troops were welcomed?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That is the information supplied to me by the Government of Bengal.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are not newspapers in Bengal being advised by a special officer not to publish any such accounts?

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Did the Honourable Member make any enquiries of the Member of the Assembly representing that district?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Will he make an enquiry of him now?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No.

Seth Govind Das : As the Honourable Member has just stated that no offence has been committed since 1934, does he consider that the regiment should remain there even now in spite of the fact that no offence has been committed for a year?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : That is primarily a matter for the Government of Bengal.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Is the Honourable Member aware that there is a press officer in Bengal and rigid censorship is applied there and complaints against the lawlessness of the military cannot find a place in the papers?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not aware of that. In any case, there are other avenues of making complaints besides the press.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Do I understand from the Honourable Member that he is not aware that there is a press officer in the Government of Bengal who censors all news about the activities and lawlessness committed by the military people in the village areas?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : There is certainly a press officer in Bengal.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Is it not a fact that this press officer immediately censors all news concerning these military people?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not aware of that.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : And is it not a fact that all information about detenus and military people is rigidly banned by the press officer in Bengal?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has answered that question.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Is the Honourable Member aware that complaints were received by the convener of the committee appointed by the Congress Party and they were taken away by the police in Bengal?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Why should I be aware of that?

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Is the Honourable Member aware that complaints were received from this very district by the convener of the Committee appointed by the Congress Party in this Assembly, that his papers were left in Calcutta for being verified and that these papers were taken from the person with whom they were left and he was arrested?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Honourable Member was himself, I understand, the convener. So, he can answer the first part of that question himself. As regards the second part, all I know is this, that the person with whom these documents were left was arrested for connection with a terrorist conspiracy of some kind, and, in the search of his house, certain papers were found and the police took possession of them.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Will they be returned to me?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

STAFF OF THE OFFICES OF THE DIRECTOR OF WAGONS INTERCHANGE AND INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION TRANSFERRED TO DELHI.

48. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether the original office of the Director of Wagons Interchange was located in Allahabad?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state if they are aware that the removal of the said office to Delhi has proved to be convenient for the working hands in the office?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state if the office of the Indian Railway Conference has been removed from Agra to Delhi, and if they are aware that this has caused inconvenience to numerous working hands?

(d) Is it a fact that the offices of the Director, Wagons Interchange and the Indian Railway Conference, have been amalgamated and renamed "Office of the General Secretary, Indian Railways Conference Association"?

(e) Will Government be pleased to state if the proposal of the removal of the office to Delhi was made by Mr. C. V. Bliss, General Secretary of the Indian Railways Conference Association, in 1930 and was given effect to against the vote of the majority of members present, and against vehement protests from various Railway companies?

(f) Is it a fact that the majority of the staff were locally appointed men, having their dwelling houses in the station of their appointment?

(g) Will Government be pleased to state if any extra allowance has been granted to the staff on their removal to Delhi, where they have to pay house-rent and other extra expenses?

(h) Will Government be pleased to state if any sort of allowance in the shape of house allowance, increment in pay and other necessary expenses for removal, has been granted to this staff as is customary with other offices?

(i) Is it a fact that the staff is given a meagre salary—Rs. 60 being the maximum?

(j) Is it a fact that living at Delhi is more costly than at Allahabad, and will Government be pleased to state if they are aware that in consequence of this shifting and of there being no increase in their pay or no grant of any allowance in any shape, these poor people in the department are hit hard ?

(k) Will Government be pleased to state how many representations were made by the aggrieved staff to the General Secretary for the redress of their grievances and why they have not received any consideration ?

(l) Is it a fact that the officers getting fat salaries get house allowance also, while clerks drawing small salaries get no such allowance ?

(m) Is it a fact that most of the clerks who have been shifted from Allahabad and Agra are suffering from malaria and other epidemics in Delhi, and are Government aware that this has added to their expenses on account of extra medical help ?

(n) Are Government aware that these clerks have to suffer from pay-cuts which, along with their poor income, do not enable them to make both ends meet ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a), (b) and (c). Both the offices mentioned were transferred to Delhi in 1930. Some complaints that this transfer has caused inconvenience to the staff have been received.

(d) Yes.

(e) No. The Association decided on the transfer of headquarters in 1927.

(f) The staff have been recruited from railways and locally at the headquarters of the Association.

(g) Government have been informed that prior to and in view of the proposed transfer of the headquarters of the Association from Allahabad to Delhi the scales of pay of the staff were revised and a considerable increase was made in the maximum rates of pay, particularly in the lower grades.

(h) At the time of the transfer, an advance (recoverable in instalments) of two months pay (which was extended to four months' pay in special cases) was granted to the staff in addition to the travelling concessions usually admissible.

(i) Rs. 60 is only the maximum of the lowest grade of the subordinate staff

(j) I am unable to verify these statements.

(k) I understand that since the transfer to Delhi, eleven complaints have been received from the staff from time to time and have received the consideration of the Association.

(l) Two of the junior officers of the Association were granted a fixed personal allowance.

(m) Government have no information.

(n) The emergency cut in pay was imposed on the staff of the Association in the same way as on railway employees generally and has been withdrawn similarly.

NON-OBSERVANCE OF CERTAIN HOLIDAYS IN THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION, DELHI.

49. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association, Delhi, is kept open even on Holi and Dewali festival days of Hindus, and their religious susceptibilities are not respected by the authorities concerned ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : With your permission, Sir, I propose to deal with questions Nos. 49 and 50 together. The Indian Railways Conference Association is an autonomous body, not under the control of Government in these matters, and the Fundamental Rules and other similar orders relating to Government servants do not apply to them.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : What are the rules which govern these railway associations in the matter of leave, and so on.

Mr. P. R. Rau : They have their own rules.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : Who finances these railway conference associations ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : It is financed by contributions from the members of the Association.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask whether the members pay from their personal salaries or from the different railways.

Mr. P. R. Rau : The members are the railways concerned.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask whether Government cannot have any control over this conference in this matter ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government do not propose to have any control over the minor domestic affairs of this association.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask, when the Government of India spend the whole amount of money for this purpose, why they should not control the association in the matter of securing fair conditions for the employees ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The Honourable Member seems to be under a misapprehension. This is not a branch of the Government. There are a number of railways that are members of the association who have nothing to do with Government.

NON-OBSERVANCE OF FUNDAMENTAL RULES IN THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION, DELHI.

†50. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that Fundamental Rules are not strictly observed in the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association, Delhi ?

(b) Is it a fact that the clerks do not get facilities for leave also ?

REMOVAL OF THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION TO ALLAHABAD.

51. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the Railway Board propose to purchase the Secretariat building at Allahabad, which will fall vacant on the removal of the secretariat to Lucknow ?

†For answer to this question, see answer to question No. 49.

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state if the office of the Railways Conference Association will be removed from Delhi to Allahabad again ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

RECRUITMENT OF TEMPORARY ASSISTANT EXECUTIVE ENGINEERS ON THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

52. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that two temporary Assistant Executive Engineers are going to be appointed on the Eastern Bengal Railway during the year 1935-36 ?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that there are a large number of Sub-Engineers on the Eastern Bengal Railway, who have been acting for a long time as Sub-Divisional Officers ?

(c) If so, will Government be pleased to state if the Eastern Bengal Railway Administration is going to promote them to the newly created posts of Assistant Executive Engineers, or to recruit direct from outsiders ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Government are not aware of such a proposal.

(b) Three Sub-Engineers have officiated from time to time as Sub-Divisional Officers.

(c) In filling any vacancies that may occur in the Lower Gazetted Service of the Eastern Bengal Railway, I have no doubt the Administration will consider the claims of Sub-Engineers along with those of others.

FILLING UP OF THE POSTS OF SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICERS ON THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

53. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that the cases of Sub-Engineers were not considered in filling up the posts of Sub-Divisional Officers in the Engineering Department of the Eastern Bengal Railway ? If so, why ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : With your permission, Sir, I propose to reply to questions Nos. 53 and 54 together.

Government have no information, but are making enquiries and will lay a reply on the table in due course.

FILLING UP OF THE POSTS OF SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICERS ON THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

†54. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Are Government aware that on the Eastern Bengal Railway, men from the rank of Permanent Way Inspectors have been promoted to the posts of Sub-Divisional

*For answer to this question, see answer to question No. 53.

Officer ? Had they any practical knowledge in roads and building construction or had they received any education from an Engineering College ? If not, why were they so promoted ?

NON-FILLING UP OF VACANCIES IN THE ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT OF THE EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY.

55. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that the ministerial staff of the Engineering Department on the Eastern Bengal Railway submitted a representation to the Chief Engineer, Eastern Bengal Railway, complaining that the existing vacancies in the Department were not filled up for a long time ?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state what action has been taken on the representation ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) The vacancies have been filled.

VENDING CONTRACTS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

56. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the names of the contractors who were allowed to vend all sorts of food-stuffs, stationeries, toys and fruits, drinks and tea, and other miscellaneous articles up to the 31st March, 1934, on the East Indian Railway up to Dinapore Division and the loopline up to Kiul ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table the complaints received from the passengers against supply of articles of food, drinks, such as tea, (i) as to quality of food-stuff, or (ii) quality of other things sold at the Railway stations, (iii) prices of food-stuff and drink, (iv) behaviour of vendors, (v) acts of dishonesty on the part of vendors, and (vi) indifference on the part of contractors or any negligence on their part for which passengers suffer ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the agreement between the Railway Company, and the contractors, who were allowed to arrange for vending on platform up to the 31st March, 1934, in the above two divisions ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the contractors who were supplying food-stuff and drinks and other articles have been given notice of the termination of their contract ? If so, why ?

(e) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that one, Ballavdas Issardas, has been given contract for vending all sorts of things and food-stuff for Hindus and Mussalmans under the new agreement since 1934 ?

(f) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a true copy of the aforesaid agreement ?

(g) Will Government be pleased to state if there are any complaints against the vendors of all these things, such as food-stuffs, drink and other articles regarding (i) price, (ii) conduct of vendors, or (iii) dishonesty on the part of vendors, under the present system of contract in Howrah and Dinapore Divisions ?

(h) Will Government be pleased to state if the contractors who catered up to the 31st March, 1934, belonged to the retired Railway Staff ?

(i) Will Government be pleased to state, if by giving a monopoly of this vending on Railway platforms in the Howrah Division, i.e., up to Jamalpore (East Indian Railway) to Ballavdas, several contractors have been thrown out of employment ? If so, why has this been done and how many men have been thrown out of employment and deprived of their income ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I assume that the Honourable Member's question refers to the Howrah and Dinapore Divisions. If this is correct,

(a) On the Howrah Division, petty vendors were displaced in 1932 by an area contractor, i.e., Messrs. Ballavdas Issardas at stations Bandel to Syaria, and Burdwan to Jamalpur, including the Barharwa Bandel loop and branches. I am placing on the table a statement showing the names of those who held vending contracts during 1933-34.

On the Dinapore Division, petty vendors were displaced by area contractors during the months of March and April, 1934. The names of the vendors displaced are not readily available.

(b) Government regret that they cannot collect the information required as this would involve an exhaustive investigation into past records.

(c) and (f). I am placing in the Library of the House a copy of the agreement which was being executed by petty vendors and of those that have been executed by Messrs. Ballavdas Issardas for contracts on the Howrah and Dinapore Divisions. The agreements with other area contractors were drawn up on similar lines.

(d) and (i). The vendors who were displaced by area contractors were given notice. It was found difficult to obtain the required standard of cleanliness and catering with petty vendors. The number displaced was 97.

(e) Messrs. Ballavdas Issardas have contracts for vending Hindu food-stuffs and other articles in the Moghalsarai and Gaya areas of the Dinapore Division and for vending Hindu and Muslim food-stuffs and other articles at the stations referred to in my reply to part (a) of this question, and also for a sweetmeat and tea stall at Howrah station.

(g) The Agent states that there have been some complaints.

(h) Some of the petty vendors who were displaced were ex-railway employees.

VENDING ARRANGEMENT OF HOWRAH DIVISION FOR 1933-34.

| Name of Vendor or Contractor.                                        | Station.                      | Articles sold.                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Hindu Refreshment Room. (Proprietor M. M. Das).                      | Howrah .. ..                  | Indian refreshment of all kinds for Hindus.                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Mohd. Refreshment Room (Pro. Isa Bros.)                              | Do. .. ..                     | Indian refreshment of all kinds for Mohammadans.                                                                                                                                                                      |
| G. C. Chakrabarty. (Cancelled—Now taken over by Ballabhadashwardas). | Do. .. ..                     | Sweetmeat, curd, milk, zilabi, gaja, balusai, laddoo, dalpuri, (cooked in oil) cheera, puri, battasa, chatoo, bhujia, murki, khau, cigarettes.                                                                        |
| Ballabhadashwardas                                                   | Do. .. ..                     | Biscuits, cake, tea, etc.                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Ali Hossain Khan .. ..                                               | Do. .. ..                     | Tea, cakes, mutton, fowl preparation, parata, pherni, bread, butter, betel and cigarettes.                                                                                                                            |
| Saroda Prosad .. ..                                                  | Do. .. ..                     | Ground nuts, roasted rice, betel, cigarettes and fans.                                                                                                                                                                |
| M/S Dutta Bros. .. ..                                                | Do. .. ..                     | Tea, biscuits, bread and butter.                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Rahamat Khan .. ..                                                   | Do. .. ..                     | Tea, biscuits, cakes, cigarettes, biri and matches.                                                                                                                                                                   |
| N. N. Das & Son. .. ..                                               | Do. .. ..                     | Fruits, betel, biri, cigar, cigarettes, matches and punkhas.                                                                                                                                                          |
| Ishar Singh & Son .. ..                                              | Do. .. ..                     | Betel, pan, cigarettes, matches, and fruits on platform; betel, pan, cigarettes, and matches in south concourse; tea, sweets, fruits, betel, biri, oilcooked food on for shore pavement, the cab and the Lorry stand. |
| Ballabhadashwardas                                                   | Howrah (Clerks' Tiffin Room). | All kinds of Indian food.                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Basanta Kumar Ghose                                                  | Belur .. ..                   | Sweets, fruits, betel, cigarettes and matches.                                                                                                                                                                        |
| K. S. Banerjee .. ..                                                 | Dankuni .. ..                 | Betel, biri and matches.                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| U. N. Santra .. ..                                                   | Begumpur .. ..                | Sweets, fruits, betel, cigarettes and cigar.                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Sudhir Ch. Paul .. ..                                                | Manirampur .. ..              | Fruits, betel, biri and cigarettes.                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| N. L. Modhak .. ..                                                   | Chandanpur .. ..              | Sweets, fruits, betel, biri, cigarettes and matches.                                                                                                                                                                  |
| K. P. Modhak .. ..                                                   | Belmuri .. ..                 | Betel, biri, matches and sweets.                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| M. N. Ghose .. ..                                                    | Mosagram .. ..                | Sweets, betel, biri, cigarettes.                                                                                                                                                                                      |

| Name of Vendor or Contractor.  | Station.                                                                                                | Articles sold.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| J. N. Shaw .. ..               | Serampore ..                                                                                            | Tea, coffee, fruits, betel, biri, cigarettes, oilcooked food.                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| K. D. Chatterjee .. ..         | Sheoraphuli ..                                                                                          | Sweets, tea, fruits, betel, cigarettes and punkhas.                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| C. M. Banerjee .. ..           | Do. ..                                                                                                  | Fruits, beguni, ghoghni, jhalbara, dalpuri, bhujia (cooked in oil), pan, biri, and cigarettes.                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A. C. Dutta .. ..              | Kamarkundu ..                                                                                           | Sweets, fruits, betel, cigarettes and matches.                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| K. M. Muherjee .. ..           | Do. ..                                                                                                  | Tea, biscuits, toasts, cigarettes and biri.                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Panchanan Das .. ..            | Haripal ..                                                                                              | Fruits, betel, cigarettes and matches.                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| S. C. Das .. ..                | Do. ..                                                                                                  | Tea, breads, biscuits and cakes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Khedan Shaw .. ..              | Tarakeswar ..                                                                                           | Betel, cigar, cigarettes and matches.                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Badri Shaw .. ..               | Do. ..                                                                                                  | Sweets, oilcooked articles, biri, milk, fruits and tobacco.                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Dwarka .. ..                   | Bhadreswar ..                                                                                           | Fruits, betel, cigarettes and matches.                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Khuban Mistry .. ..            | Chandernagore ..                                                                                        | Fruits, betel, cigarettes, biri and matches.                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Aghornath Ghose .. ..          | Do. ..                                                                                                  | Fruits, betel, cigar, biri, cigarettes, matches and punkhas.                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Jamuna .. ..                   | Chinsurah ..                                                                                            | Fruits, sweets, betel, cigarettes, matches, cigar, golapi biri.                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| M/S. Ballabhadras Ishwardas .. | Bandel to Oyaria both inclusive, Burdwan to Jamalpur both inclusive including BAK Section and Branches. | (1) Hindu and Mohamedan Refreshment Room at Burdwan.(2) Tea for Hindu and Mohamadan in the area.(3) Vending of Indian sweets, food-stuff and fruits over the area.(4) Sale of pan, biri and cigarettes over the area.(5) Miscellaneous articles. |

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : May I ask the Honourable Member whether the whole question of contracts has not been hanging fire for some time past, and that the Honourable Member was put several questions during the Delhi Session, and he promised that the whole subject of contractors would be looked into and decided? Is the Honourable Member in a position to say when these old food-stuff vendors will be re-instated, without calling for tenders?

Mr. P. R. Rau : As the House is aware, we had asked all the railway administrations to let us have reports on the system of vending contractors in each railway together with the advice of their local advisory committees in this matter. I understand that the replies have since been received and they consist of about 398 pages. The Railway Board are considering the whole question now and will probably place the matter for advice before the Central Advisory Council for Railways?

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : I hope the Honourable Member knows it as a fact that the Advisory Council of the East Indian Railway has decided that the contracts should be given to the old vendors?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The views of the Advisory Committee members are very divergent.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : The majority favour the re-instatement of the men who have been displaced?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am afraid I cannot verify that statement.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : Will the Honourable Member take pains to verify whether it is a fact or not that the majority of the members of the Advisory Council of the East Indian Railway had decided that the old contracts should be let out to the old people now displaced?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Certainly, Sir, all the views expressed by members of these local Advisory Committees will be taken into consideration when the question is being decided.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : And I am sure the Honourable Member realises that the travelling public as well as the contractors and vendors are concerned in this matter, that there is a keen feeling over it, and that the matter is not a very light one?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I quite realise, Sir, that a keen feeling exists among the displaced vendors, but I am not aware that such a keen feeling exists among the travelling public. (Laughter.)

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST ONE BALLAVDAS ISSARDAS, VENDING CONTRACTOR FOR RAILWAY STATIONS FROM HOWRAH TO BANDEL.

57. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether there were any complaints against those contractors who had been supplying tea and confectionary for the past 18 years to the public and passengers at stations from Howrah, East Indian Railway, up to Bandel? If not, why has the contract for the same area now been given to one Ballavdas Issardas?

(b) Is it a fact that the old contractors, Messrs. Dutta Brothers, had been catering tea and confectionaries all these years and had to invest several thousand rupees in this business?

(c) Did they not approach the Railway authority with their petition to the Divisional Superintendent, Howrah, on the 24th July, 1934?

(d) Did the Agent receive the application? If so, what action did he take thereon, and what was his reply?

(e) Was the price of tea and confectionaries, supplied by Messrs. Dutta Brothers, high and quality of tea and confectionaries bad?

(f) Did Government get any complaints from the passengers or public against Messrs. Dutta Brothers?

(g) Is it a fact that the District Medical Officer, Gaya, after receiving several complaints against food-stuff, specimens of which were supplied to him for examination by the Assistant Station Master, C. Blanchette, on the 10th August, 1934, reported that the sweet-meats sent for examination were not fit for human consumption ?

(h) Is it not a fact that in spite of the assurance from the manager of the contractor, Ballavdas Issardas, sweet-meats taken for examination on the 25th August, 1934, by the same Medical Officer, were declared to be unfit for use ?

(i) Is it a fact that the same Medical Officer stated that the vendors of Ballavdas Issardas and others' managers were persistently ignoring the warning of the station staff and Medical Department, and that some sort of adequate action is necessary to bring to their notice that this will not be allowed to be a cause of an out-break of cholera in their colony which had up to that time practically escaped it, vide minute sheet No. 1f(Lab.)| 2 of the 28th February, 1935 ?

(j) Will Government be pleased to state whether the same Medical Officer gave a bad report on milk supply in his minute sheet No. 1f(Lab.)| 3 of the 7th September, 1934 ?

(k) Will Government be pleased to state if the same Medical Officer complained against vendors in his minute sheet No. 1f(Lab.)| 2 of the 11th September, 1934 ?

(l) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the complaints against the vendor of the said contractor, Ballavdas Issardas, by the crew staff, the Government Railway Police, Gaya, as contained in their diaries, D. S. Office and public ?

(m) Will Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken against the vendors and the contractor on account of such complaints ?

(n) Will Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken to redress the grievances and complaints regarding deterioration in quality, and enhancement of price, of food-stuff supplied by the present contractor, on the complaints by Mr. R. C. Pandit, General Manager, Bank of Behar ?

(o) Is it not a fact that four of the Indian Members out of the six of the Railway Advisory Committee were of the opinion that the present system of contract should be abolished and licence should be granted to different vendors under different contractors, as was the arrangement previously, and that the licence for refreshments for Hindus should be given to Hindus and for refreshments for Muslims to Muslims ?

(p) Is it not a fact that the Railway Advisory Committee recommended that one man should not be given the licence for several stations, or several articles ?

(q) Will Government be pleased to state why in spite of such complaints against Ballavdas and Issardas, the Railway authorities are allowing their contract to continue ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Agent states that there were frequent complaints. Messrs. Ballavdas Issardas have, however, not been given the contracts for this section.

(b) Messrs. Dutta Brothers have been contractors for tea, etc., at Howrah station since July, 1917, and still hold the contract. The Administration have no information as regards the amount invested by the contractors in this business.

(c) and (d). The Agent states that there is no trace of any such petition.

(e) The prices were fixed by the Administration who do not consider that they were high, and are not able to trace any complaints.

(f) No.

(g) to (k). Yes.

(l) No complaints by the crew staff can be traced, but the Agent has sent me a copy of the correspondence with the Government Railway Police which I can show to the Honourable Member at any time convenient to him.

(m) No action was taken at the outset, as, in the opinion of the Agent, it was desirable to give the Area Contractors an opportunity to settle down to their work. It was also considered likely that most of the complaints were being engineered at the instance of those vendors who had been displaced. Government are informed, however, that when complaints were substantiated, punishments were inflicted.

(n) Two complaints were made by Mr. Pandit, and in both cases punishments were inflicted.

(o) to (q). I am placing on the table an extract from the minutes of the discussion on this subject which took place at a meeting of the Calcutta Advisory Committee on the 24th November, 1933, where it is stated that the meeting agreed generally with the proposed policy of the administration.

---

Single contract for refreshments and other articles at stations :

Maulvi Abul Kasem had complained that the system of granting the monopoly on a division for the sale of refreshments and other articles at stations was unsatisfactory and furthermore, it was objectionable to give the Mohammedan Refreshment Rooms to a Hindu for management. It was explained to the meeting that it was proposed to continue to grant extended contracts but to a much more limited extent than has been done on the Howrah Division. It was proposed that the contract would be for all sales at a large station and would include an area of say 25 to 30 miles from this station, and stations would have separate Hindu and Mohammedan food vendors.

The Chairman further explained that the Administration was not in favour of throwing such contracts open to tender. It was, however, agreed that applications should be called for by the Divisional Superintendent so as to ensure that all suitable contractors were given the opportunity of being able to apply for such contracts. The meeting agreed generally with the proposed policy of the Administration.

---

Prof. N. G. Ranga : When reviewing this whole question of the sale of food-stuffs, will Government consider the advisability of selling these food-stuffs through their own railway authorities ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I do not think, Sir, that that is really a thing which will be financially in the interests of the railways.

SUB-LETTING OF VENDING CONTRACTS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

58. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that it is stated in the agreement of the vending contract for food and other stuff at Railway stations that the contractors cannot sublet their contracts ? If so, will Government be pleased to state if the following persons are sub-contractors at the stations standing against their names :

| Station.       | Contractors.                                           |
|----------------|--------------------------------------------------------|
| Moghalsarai .. | .. Mangal Chand, Hanuman, Mangroo, Mahadeo ;           |
| Buxar ..       | .. Thakon, Chauroo, Babuameah, Chakan ;                |
| Behea ..       | .. Dasrath ;                                           |
| Arrah ..       | .. Dihopuaran ;                                        |
| Dinapore ..    | .. Mangal, Bansai and others ;                         |
| Patna Junction | .. Bhoomoon, Nathuni, Mangal, Yusuf, Habib Omar Meah ; |
| Kiul ..        | .. Baijnath, Ghasita, Girdhari, Jugal, Faudar Rosan ;  |
| Jhajha ..      | .. Baijnath Shew ;                                     |
| Jehanabad ..   | .. Khedaran and others ;                               |
| Gaya ..        | .. Lahori, Somaroo and others ;                        |
| Palmergunge .. | .. Bishnu ;                                            |
| Rafigunge ..   | .. Dewa ; and                                          |
| Sasaram ..     | .. Raghunandan ?                                       |

(b) Was Mr. Pandey's contract cancelled on the grounds of giving sub-contract at Kiul Junction in the Dinapore Division, East Indian Railway, on the report of Mr. Stoon, D. L., in 1930 ?

(c) Is it a fact that previously a contractor's term could be terminated at a month's notice, and that it requires six months' notice at present ? If so, will Government state the reasons for this privilege ?

(d) Is giving sub-contract a condition for the termination of contract ? If so, is it not necessary that the agreement of the contractor, who has given sub-contract, should be terminated without any notice ?

(e) Is it not a fact that sub-letting by the contractor Ballavdas Issardas, has been proved beyond any shadow of doubt ? If so, do Government propose to take immediate steps to terminate the contract of Ballavdas Issardas and revert to the former practice in the matter of giving out contracts ?

(f) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table the opinions and statements of the Agent of the East Indian Railway on the petitions made by the old contractors and on complaints made by the passengers and also by the public and the Medical Officers ?

(g) Will Government be pleased to state who was Mr. Marriot who made all these new arrangements for contracts ?

(h) Is it a fact that he is going to be the Divisional Superintendent at Allahabad and, simultaneously with his appointment at Allahabad, it is rumoured that the same policy of giving out contracts monopoly is in contemplation ? If so, do Government propose to take steps to stop such an evil process ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative. As regards the second part, enquiries are being made.

(b) Yes, on the report of a Transportation Inspector in 1927.

(c) Yes, as it is considered desirable where considerable capital is involved and elaborate arrangements made at a large number of stations that the contractors should have reasonable notice to enable them to liquidate their stock-in-trade, fittings, etc.

(d) The reply to the first portion is in the affirmative. As regards the second, discretion vests in the Administration.

(e) The Administration state that they have no evidence to show that Messrs. Ballavdas Issardas have sub-let their contract. Prices are fixed in consultation with the local civil authorities. Government see no reason to interfere with the Administration's discretion in this matter.

(f) Government are not prepared to call for opinions or statements recorded on their office files by administrative officers on railways.

(g) and (h). Mr. Marriot was formerly Divisional Superintendent at Dinapore and is now Divisional Superintendent at Allahabad. Government have no knowledge of the rumour referred to.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government made experiments anywhere on their railways to ascertain whether it is not in the financial interests of the railways that a departmental supply of food-stuffs should be made ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Sir, the business of the railways is transport, and not providing refreshments. (Laughter.)

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Sir, is it not part of that transport business that a supply of food-stuffs also should be made ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. The Honourable Member cannot discuss the details of the railway administration.

SETTING UP OF COMMITTEES TO WATCH THE FLUCTUATIONS IN THE PRICES OF ARTICLES OF FOOD AND PURITY OF THEM ON RAILWAY STATIONS.

59. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Are Government prepared to set up different committees of five or seven members consisting of local public and the Railway Station Masters, Superintendents and Medical Advisers, at all big stations to constantly watch the fluctuations in the prices of the articles and purity thereof, and see that the individual contractors do not create difficulties in the supply of food, drink and other articles to the passengers ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The suggestion is under consideration.
L168LAD

FACILITIES GIVEN TO THE NEW VENDING CONTRACTORS AT RAILWAY STATIONS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

60. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that new vending contractors at railway stations on the East Indian Railway are given passes of all classes, while old contractors were never allowed any such concession ? If so, why ?

(b) What is the amount the new contractors pay to the Railway on account of the contract ? Is it higher than the old rate ?

(c) Is it a fact that the new contractors have not got to pay any freight on their luggage of food-stuffs carried from station to station ? If so, why ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state the difference in incomes derived under the new system of contracts and the old system ?

(e) Is it a fact that the new contract agreement has expired on the 31st March, 1935 ? Do Government propose to discontinue it ? If not, are Government prepared to terminate the contract by a month's notice and invite fresh tenders of the old contractors and start again the old system ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Agent explains that Area Contractors are given passes, as they have to supervise catering arrangements at a number of stations within the areas allotted to them.

(b) Government are informed that no licence fee is paid, but if hawkers are employed hawking fees, which vary at different places, are paid.

(c) A certain number of passes are allowed for the carriage of bona fide provisions within a specified weight limit. I am obtaining from the Agent, East Indian Railway, particulars of what these limits are, and am enquiring why it has been considered desirable to issue such passes.

(d) The information is being obtained.

(e) Contracts were entered into on different dates for a period of one year, and automatically continue thereafter subject to six months notice of termination. The Agent, East Indian Railway, states that the present arrangement has not been a failure and he does not propose to alter it at present.

TRANSFER OF OFFICES OF THE DIRECTOR OF WAGONS INTERCHANGE AND THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION TO DELHI.

61. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it not a fact that the office of the Director of Wagons Interchange was located at Allahabad, as it was considered to be a central place and close to the colliery areas, apart from the consideration that the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association was already there ?

(b) Is it not the fact that the Agent, Bengal Nagpur Railway, as well as certain Mining Associations of Bengal, put in a vehement protest against the move of the Indian Railways Conference Association office from Allahabad to Delhi, on the ground that they will be adversely affected by this move, and the Railway Board also discouraged the move for the reason that, Delhi, being a thickly populated and expensive place, the staff will badly suffer for want of housing accommodation ?

(c) Is it a fact that the United Provinces Secretariat is to be transferred from Allahabad to Lucknow shortly ? If so, will there be accommodation available at Allahabad for Indian Railways Conference Association in the Secretariat building ? If so, will Government please state whether they have considered the question that the Indian Railways Conference Association office may be sent back to Allahabad, instead of erecting a new building for the office and quarters for the staff in Delhi, and thus effecting a great saving ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) When the office was originally created, it was decided, on the recommendation of the Indian Railway Conference Association that the headquarters should be at the headquarters of the Association.

(b) The Agent, Bengal Nagpur Railway, and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce advocated the transfer of the office of the Director of Wagon Interchange to Calcutta. They opposed the transfer of the office to Delhi, but not for the reasons suggested.

(c) The question of the location of the headquarters of the Association is one for the Association itself to decide, and Government see no reason to interfere. The fact that there may be accommodation available at Allahabad cannot be the sole consideration.

PAY OF THE STAFF IN THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION.

62. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that in the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association, Delhi, there is one subordinate who is getting Rs. 600 and that nearly 70 per cent. of the staff get a meagre salary of Rs. 60 each ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government are informed that the Office Superintendent is in receipt of a salary of Rs. 600 per mensem.

Fifty-eight per cent. of the staff are in the grade of Rs. 39—3—60 and 25 per cent. are in the grade of Rs. 65—5—100.

PAY OF THE STAFF IN THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION.

63. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that in the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association, Delhi, clerks with ten to twelve years' service at their credit are getting only Rs. 60 and have been blocked at the same pay for several years ?

(b) Is it also a fact that there actually exist vacancies in the upper grades of that office ? If so, what is the reason for the blockade mentioned in part (a) above ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes. This is inevitable as in a small office chances for promotion do not occur often.

(b) Government are informed that the clerks in the grade Rs. 39—3—60 are doing work for which the maximum pay is Rs. 60 per mensem and that the vacancies in the Rs. 65—5—100 grade cannot be filled until the work of the office justifies the filling of the more responsible posts.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Sir, would Government recommend special allowances being granted for those who are blocked in the grades ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government do not consider that this is a time for the grant of special allowances.

PERSONAL ALLOWANCE GIVEN TO THE OFFICERS OF THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION.

64. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will Government please state why officers of the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association are paid house allowance, in the shape of personal allowance, and why poor clerks are not paid the allowance ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The officers have been given an allowance to compensate them for the higher rents for accommodation prevailing at Delhi. Their pay was not revised when the office was moved to Delhi. Government understand that no allowance is granted to clerks because of the fact that prior to and in view of the proposed transfer of the Headquarters of the Association from Allahabad to Delhi, the scales of pay of the subordinate staff were revised and a considerable increase was made in the maximum rates of pay, particularly in the lower grades. Clerks belonging to the local railway offices draw no house allowance.

STAFF OF THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION, DELHI.

65. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a list of subordinate staff of the headquarters office of the Indian Railways Conference Association at Delhi showing their grades, present pay and date of appointment ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : A copy of the seniority list of the staff has been kept in the Library of the House.

STAFF OF THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION, DELHI.

66. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a list, certified by the District Medical Officer, North Western Railway, Delhi, of the staff of the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association, Delhi, who have been suffering from malaria and other epidemic diseases ever since their transfer to Delhi ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No, Sir, Government do not consider that such statistics are worth the labour and expense involved in collecting and publishing them in the debates of this House.

TRANSFER OF THE OFFICE OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION TO DELHI.

67. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will Government be pleased to state why the Indian Railways Conference Association was moved from Allahabad to Delhi, and in what respect the Association has benefited since its transfer to Delhi ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The office of the Association was moved for administrative convenience. Agents of Railways have frequently to visit Delhi, as the headquarters of Government and the Railway Board, and consequently the General Secretary of the Association, if located at Delhi, is able to keep in closer personal touch with the railways. Considerable saving of expenditure was also anticipated by having the Director of Wagon Interchange in close touch with the Clearing Accounts Office.

GRIEVANCES OF THE STAFF OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION, DELHI.

68. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that out of 32 per cent. of the staff of the Indian Railways Conference Association, Delhi, occupying Government quarters, the majority is paying scheduled rent which almost comes to 20 per cent. of their salaries ? If so, will the Member in charge of Railways be pleased to state if any grievance in any shape from any of the staff had been put in ? If so, was any action taken to redress the grievance ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government are informed that 32 per cent. of the staff of the Indian Railways Conference Association are occupying Government quarters and are paying under ordinary rules the scheduled rent which ranges from 1.8 to 12.5 per cent. of their salaries. Representations have been made that the rent chargeable should be limited to 10 per cent. of pay as for Government servants but this recommendation was not accepted as the staff are not Government servants.

NON-GRANT OF TRANSFER CONCESSIONS TO THE STAFF OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION.

69. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that the staff of the Railway Clearing Accounts Office were granted two advance increments, plus two months' salary as bonus (i.e., establishment breaking charges) and also expenses for shifting their luggage and family on their transfer from Lahore to Delhi ? If so, why were the same privileges not given to the staff of the Indian Railways Conference Association, in spite of their repeated request for the same, in view of change of province and increased expenses caused by their transfer ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The reply to the first part of the question is in the negative. An advance of two months pay and travelling allowance were granted to the staff of the Railway Clearing Accounts Office. A personal pay of ten per cent. to be absorbed in future increments was also allowed to those who elected the Clearing Accounts Office scales of pay. Government understand that the staff of the Indian Railways Conference Association were also granted an advance of two months pay generally, and four months pay in special cases. They were granted, in addition, the usual travelling concessions.

NON-REVISION OF THE PAY OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION STAFF.

70. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that the grades of subordinate staff of Railway Clearing Accounts Office and Divisional Superintendents' Office, Delhi, have recently been revised and raised from Rs. 60 to Rs. 90 with effect from 1st January, 1935, but nothing has been done in the case of the Indian Railways Conference Association staff ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : The Railway Clearing Accounts Office, classes III and II of clerks on scales Rs. 40—4—80 and Rs. 60—5—90, respectively, were amalgamated into a single class on a scale of Rs. 40—4—80—5—90 with an Efficiency Bar at Rs. 80. I am not aware of any recent change in scales of pay in the office of the Divisional Superintendent.

GRANT OF CERTAIN FACILITIES TO THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION STAFF.

71. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that the majority of the staff of the Indian Railways Conference Association have to take loan after loan to meet their hardships caused by the move of this office, as well as due to the emergency cut being enforced soon after their transfer to Delhi ? If so, are Government prepared to waive the recovery of the money advanced to them under "relaxed rules", which they had to borrow during their hardships and emergency cut period, and compensate those who had not taken a loan to that extent in order to reduce their losses to a certain extent ? If not, why not ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government understand that loans from balances at their credit in the Provident Fund have been granted from time to time. Waiving recovery of these amounts will not help the staff in any way, the amounts recovered are credited to their accounts.

SALARIES OF THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION STAFF.

72. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that prior to the move of the Indian Railways Conference Association from Allahabad to Delhi the majority of the staff were getting a poor salary, Rs. 52 being the maximum, and it was raised to Rs. 60 by annual increments of Rs. 2 to 3 in view of this move ?

(b) Is it a fact that lacs of rupees are sanctioned every year for the establishment expenditure of the Indian Railways Conference Association, but only a meagre portion of the amount goes towards the salaries of the poor clerks, and the rest goes towards the salaries and travelling allowance of the officers ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the reply which I gave to part (g) of question No. 48. Government are informed that prior to the move of the Indian Railways Conference Association from Allahabad to Delhi there were five grades in the lowest cadre of the three branches of the Association's office as under :

Rs. 44—4—52.

35—4—55.

42—4—50.

34—3—40—4—44.

30—4—38

and these were amalgamated into one grade, viz., 39—3—60.

(b) The total expenditure in 1934-35 on establishments was about Rs. 3,68,000 of which about Rs. 1,02,000 was on officers.

Seth Govind Das : Do Government publish the detailed accounts of this Department every year ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government do not publish the detailed account, because it is not a Government Department.

APPLICATION OF FUNDAMENTAL RULES TO THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION STAFF.

73. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that Fundamental Rules are not applied to the staff of the Indian Railways Conference Association, Delhi, where it is considered that their application would be beneficial to them, i.e., in the matter of officiating allowance, etc. ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : As I have explained to an earlier question, the Fundamental Rules are not applicable as the staff of the Association are not Government servants.

APPLICATION OF FUNDAMENTAL RULES TO THE INDIAN RAILWAYS CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION STAFF.

74. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Is it a fact that the office of the Indian Railways Conference Association is not considered to be a Government Department ? If so, why were the staff subjected to emergency cut and why were the Fundamental Rules applied in the matter of travelling allowance, etc. ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I have already explained that the emergency cut in pay was made applicable to the staff of the Association in the same way as to railway employees generally. It is open to the Association to adopt rules on the same lines as Government rules.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Will Government recommend to the Association to restore the wage cut ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : It has been restored.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : In view of the fact that most of the money required for this Conference comes from, what I may call, State Railways, why should not Government treat this body as a Government body ? May I know what are the reasons for treating this body as a private body ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : It is not a Government body, because quite a number of the members of the Association belong to private railways with which Government have no concern. Secondly, my Honourable friend must be aware that even the State-owned but Company-managed Railways have got their own rules with regard to leave and travelling allowances and Government do not interfere with them.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : Is it not a fact that the Government of India have got some control over the servants even of the State Railways which are managed by Companies ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Government determine the maxima.

EXTRA-DEPARTMENTAL POSTAL OFFICIALS.

75. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : With reference to paragraph 34 of the Annual Report of the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department, will Government be pleased to state how many of the 241 postal officials were extra-departmental ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I presume that the Honourable Member is referring to the Annual Report for the year 1933-34. Of the 241 postal officials involved, 84 were extra-departmental agents.

SAVINGS BANK ACCOUNTS AND GOVERNMENT SECURITIES HELD IN CUSTODY OF THE ACCOUNTANT GENERAL, POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS.

76. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing, (i) the number of active Savings Bank Accounts as stood on the 31st March, 1931 and on the 31st March, 1934, (ii) the value of Government securities held in custody of the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs, on behalf of the depositors on the 31st March, 1931, and on the 31st March, 1934, and (iii) the percentage of increase between the figures for the years 1930-31 and 1933-34 ?

(b) What amount was credited to the postal side as cost of maintenance of the Savings Banks and Government security work in the years 1930-31 and 1933-34, separately ?

(c) On what calculation have these figures been based ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) A statement giving the information required by the Honourable Member is laid on the table.

(b) The credits afforded to the Posts and Telegraphs Department on account of the cost of management of Post Office Savings Bank and Government security work in 1930-31 and 1933-34 were Rs. 40,61,165 and Rs. 53,72,536, respectively.

(c) The attention of the Honourable Member is drawn to the reply given to part (a) of starred question No. 776 put by Mr. S. C. Mitra in the Legislative Assembly on the 20th March, 1933.

Statement.

|                         |    |    | No. of Active savings Bank accounts. | Value of Government Securities held in custody of Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs, on behalf of Savings Bank Depositors. |
|-------------------------|----|----|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                         |    |    |                                      | Rs.                                                                                                                               |
| On the 31st March, 1931 | .. | .. | 2,478,000                            | 5,78,43,000                                                                                                                       |
| On the 31st March, 1934 | .. | .. | 3,089,000                            | 13,39,88,000                                                                                                                      |
| Percentage of increase  | .. | .. | 24.66                                | 131.64                                                                                                                            |

INADEQUACY OF SELECTION GRADE POSTS IN THE CALCUTTA GENERAL POST OFFICE.

77. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Is it a fact that on the 10th March, 1934, the late Director General of Posts and Telegraphs gave an assurance that he would consider the question of inadequacy of selection grade posts at Calcutta ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state whether they have considered the question ? If so, have they since arrived at any decision ?

(c) Is it a fact that in the Report on Time Test, Mr. G. V. Bewoor, C.I.E., I.C.S., the present Director General, Posts and Telegraphs, mentioned that 13 Supervisors were justified for the Money Order Department and six Supervisors for the Savings Bank Department of the Calcutta General Post Office ?

(d) Is it a fact that since then the number of clerks in those two departments has increased, but the number of Supervisors has not been increased, as mentioned in part (c) ?

(e) Are Government prepared to consider the question of increasing the number of selection grade posts in these two departments ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) The fact is not exactly as stated by the Honourable Member. The statement made by the late Director General was as follows : " The principal point made by my Honourable friend, Mr. Mitra, regarding the disparity between Bombay and Calcutta (with regard to selection grade posts) is being examined although I do not necessarily admit that there must be an equality ".

(b) The question has been examined and some additional supervisory posts have already been sanctioned in Calcutta. Further examination of the question is still going on, and the Postmaster General, Bombay, has been asked to justify the number of selection grade posts in Bombay.

(c) Yes, on the basis of the statistics of work then performed in those departments.

(d) The number of clerks in the money order department has increased from 61 to 69 and in the savings bank department from 23 to 34. The supervisory staff in the savings bank department has been increased by two supervisors and it has been decided to increase the strength of the supervisory staff in the money order department by the creation of two supervisors' posts.

(e) In view of the reply given to part (d), Government do not consider that there is at present any necessity for increasing the number of selection grade posts in the two departments.

SELECTION GRADE POSTS IN CERTAIN POSTAL CIRCLES.

78. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement giving the following information :

(i) the number of selection grade posts of officials in the grade of Rs. 250—350 in Bombay, Bombay Circle (excluding Bombay), Calcutta, and Bengal and Assam Circle (excluding Calcutta), separately ;

(ii) the number of selection grade posts in the grade of Rs. 160—250 (including Inspectors of Post Offices) in Bombay, Bombay Circle (excluding Bombay), Calcutta, and Bengal and Assam Circle (excluding Calcutta), separately ; and

(iii) the number of upper division time scale clerks in Bombay, Bombay Circle (excluding Bombay), Calcutta, and Bengal and Assam Circle (excluding Calcutta) ?

(b) Is it a fact that for the purpose of promotion in the grade of Rs. 250—350, all officials in the grade of Rs. 160—250 (including the Inspectors) are treated as one unit ?

(c) Is it a fact that the Inspectors who are promoted to the grade of Rs. 160—250 after completing eight to ten years of service, are always at an advantage ?

(d) Is it a fact that in Calcutta and Bombay most of the vacancies in the grade of Rs. 250—350 have been filled up by the officials working outside those cities ?

(e) If the answer to part (d) be in the negative, will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the number of officials promoted to the grade of Rs. 250 to 350, either as officiating or as permanent, in the years 1933-34 and up to 28th February, 1935, in the year 1934-35, in Bombay and Calcutta, separately, as well as the position they held before their promotion in the grade ?

(f) Are Government aware of the fact that the officials working in Calcutta have got practically no chance to get promotion to the grade of Rs. 250—350, even in Calcutta ?

(g) If the answer to part (f) be in the negative, will Government be pleased to state how many officials in the grade of Rs. 160—250 working in Calcutta and muffasil are likely to get promotion to the grade of Rs. 250—350 during the next two years ?

(h) Is it a fact that about a year ago, officials of the Bombay General Post Office submitted a representation to the Director General, requesting him to treat Bombay as a self-contained unit for the purpose of promotion in the grade of Rs. 250—350 ?

(i) If the reply to part (h) be in the affirmative, will Government be pleased to state whether they have since arrived at any decision ?

(j) Are Government prepared to consider the hardships of the officials working in Bombay and Calcutta in this respect ?

(k) If not, will Government be pleased to state why a section of employees should get advantage over others in the matter of promotion ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) A statement is laid on the table.

(b) and (c). Yes.

(d) Recently this has been so.

(e) Does not arise.

(f) The facts are not as stated by the Honourable Member.

(g) Government are unable to give any estimate, as promotions must depend on the number of vacancies that may occur.

(h) Yes.

(i) The representations were rejected by the Director General in June, 1934.

(j) and (k). Promotions to the grade of Rs. 250—350 are made by selection from the combined list of senior officials in the grade of Rs. 160—250 whether working in a Presidency town or in the mofussil, and Government do not admit that the officials in Calcutta and Bombay have been put to any hardship.

Statement.

|                                                      | Number of posts in the grade of Rs. 250—350.                                        |
|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| (a) (i) Bombay .. .. .                               | 9                                                                                   |
| Bombay Circle (excluding Bombay) .. .. .             | 11                                                                                  |
| Calcutta .. .. .                                     | 16                                                                                  |
| Bengal and Assam Circle (excluding Calcutta) .. .. . | 14                                                                                  |
|                                                      | Number of posts in the grade of Rs. 160—250 (including Inspectors of post offices). |
| (ii) Bombay .. .. .                                  | 63                                                                                  |
| Bombay Circle (excluding Bombay) .. .. .             | 120                                                                                 |
| Calcutta .. .. .                                     | 70                                                                                  |
| Bengal and Assam Circle (excluding Calcutta) .. .. . | 149                                                                                 |
|                                                      | Number of upper division time-scale clerks.                                         |
| (iii) Bombay .. .. .                                 | 866                                                                                 |
| Bombay Circle (excluding Bombay) .. .. .             | 1,728                                                                               |
| Calcutta .. .. .                                     | 1,385                                                                               |
| Bengal and Assam Circle (excluding Calcutta) .. .. . | 2,584                                                                               |

SUPERVISORS AND CLERKS IN THE AMHERST STREET POST OFFICE, CALCUTTA.

79. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the number of (i) supervisors and (ii) clerks, working in the Amherst Street Post Office, Calcutta ?

(b) Is it a fact that there is no other supervisor, except the Deputy Sub-Postmaster, who is required to look into the working of all branches of the office ?

(c) Is it a fact that according to the standard laid down by Government, one additional supervisor is justified to look into the working of the Registration, Parcel, and Sorting Branches of the office ?

(d) If the reply to part (b) be in the negative, will Government be pleased to state who is required to supervise the work of those branches ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) (i) and (ii). There are two whole time supervisors, viz., the sub-postmaster and the deputy sub-postmaster and one part time supervisor, viz., the head clerk. The number of clerks excluding the head clerk is 22.

(b) and (c). No.

(d) The deputy sub-postmaster and the head clerk of the office.

EXPORT DUTY ON RAW JUTE.

80. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Has Government's attention been drawn to the fact that the export duty on raw jute and manufactures, since the depression of the jute trade commenced in 1930, has been very high according to the calculation of Mr. N. C. Choudhury, late of Provincial Agricultural Services of Bengal and Bihar and Orissa, in his well-known work "Jute and Substitutes" ?

(b) Is it a fact that the export duty on raw jute is about three annas per rupee, and one and a half annas on hessian, equivalent to twenty per cent. on raw jute and ten per cent. on hessian ?

(c) Is it not a fact that prior to 1930, the duty was about one anna per rupee on raw jute and nine pies on hessian when the prices of raw jute and manufactures were much higher ?

(d) Are Government prepared to reduce the duty to about five per cent. of the value of the exports of both raw jute and manufactures, in order to relieve both the *raiya*s and the manufacturers ?

(e) Will Government be pleased to state if the rates of railway freight on raw jute for carrying it from districts to Calcutta are different on different Railways, Bengal-Nagpur Railway and East Indian Railway charging 0.1 pie per maund per mile, in wagon loads, while the Eastern Bengal Railway charges at 0.42 pie per maund per mile, usually, although the Eastern Bengal Railway carries the largest quantity of jute to the extent of 90 per cent. ?

(f) Do Government propose to spend a considerable portion of the duty on jute for direct benefit of the cultivators of Bengal, e.g., on improvements of traffic and opening of golas or marts at different centres for selling jute and other commercial crops ?

(g) Is it a fact that the I. G. S. N. and R. S. N. Companies charge steamer freights for carrying jute to Calcutta from different places at the same rate of Rs. 1-14-10 per bale of 3½ maunds each, coming to about Rs. 15 per ton, distance from Seraiganj to Calcutta being 544 miles, from Narainganj 492 miles, from Chandpur 455 miles, and from Madaripur 415 miles ?

(h) Do Government propose inducing the Railways and the Steamer Companies concerned to reduce the fares on this most important commercial crop of the Bengal Province ?

(i) Are Government prepared to appoint a committee to suggest improvements in the dying country boat traffic system (vide page 145, "Jute and Substitutes") ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Government have seen the reference quoted by the Honourable Member.

(b) and (c). The export duties on raw jute and hessians are specific duties based on weight and the ad valorem incidence of the duties has naturally varied with changes in prices.

(d) No. The financial position does not permit of the duty being reduced at this stage.

(e) The rate for wagon loads over the Bengal Nagpur Railway is 0.42 pie per maund per mile for jute, pressed, and 0.62 pie per maund per mile for jute, unpressed ; whereas on the East Indian Railway the scale is on a telescopic basis as follows :

| Miles.            | Pie per maund per mile. |
|-------------------|-------------------------|
| First 100 .. ..   | 0.38                    |
| + 101 — 300 .. .. | 0.22                    |
| + 301 — 600 .. .. | 0.13                    |
| Over 600 .. ..    | 0.11                    |

On the Eastern Bengal Railway the maximum rate permissible is 0.83 pie per maund per mile but a large number of special rates are quoted for traffic to Calcutta on a lower basis than the maximum permissible.

(f) Half the export duty on jute is handed over to the jute growing provinces and it is for them to consider the point.

(g) No.

(h) No.

(i) Honourable Member will appreciate that if there is a reduction in the steamer fares, as suggested by him, it is likely to press hardly on the country boats themselves. No Committee has been suggested at page 145 of the publication referred to by him and in any case Government do not propose to appoint any Committee.

WILLINGDON BRIDGE OF THE CALCUTTA CHORD RAILWAY.

81. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : Will Government please state the amount of tolls collected for the year 1934, over the road traffic on the Willingdon Bridge of the Calcutta Chord Railway and the number of vehicles and pedestrians which passed over this bridge ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am endeavouring to ascertain if the information is readily available ; if it is, I shall place it on the table of the House on receipt.

OPENING OF THE CALCUTTA CHORD RAILWAY FOR REGULAR TRAIN TRAFFIC.

82. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Will Government please state when the Calcutta Chord Railway will be opened for the regular train traffic, both for passenger and goods ?

(b) What is the cause of this unusual delay when the bridge over the river Hooghly and the line have long been completed ?

(c) Are Government aware that this delay has caused heavy loss, as there is no return yet on the huge capital outlay on the project ?

(d) Is the line open to goods traffic ? If so, is it a regular traffic, or only a few trains pass as a trial ?

(e) Are goods booked from stations on the Burdwan-Howrah Chord section of the East Indian Railway for Calcutta stations on the Eastern Bengal Railway, sent through this Calcutta Chord route, or are they still sent by the roundabout route, e.g., via Burdwan, Bandel and Naihati ?

(f) How is it that goods booked from these stations take more than two to three weeks to reach Calcutta stations, though the distance is less than 50 miles ?

(g) Do Government propose to enquire into the matter and ask the Railways concerned to expedite that traffic ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) and (b). The Calcutta Chord Railway was opened to goods traffic on the 1st February, 1932 ; but as the passenger traffic existing at present can be handled without passing over the Chord line there is no intention at present of opening the line to passenger traffic.

(c) No.

(d) Yes : the average number of trains run daily in each direction is nine during the busy season and six during the slack season.

(e) This traffic is sent via Howrah, Bandel and Naihati, as this routing is found to be more economical, the traffic being comparatively small. To arrange for its carriage over the Calcutta Chord Railway would necessitate interfering with the loads of through trains running from or to Burdwan over the Calcutta Chord Railway.

(f) The East Indian Railway Administration deny the allegation that goods take so long a time in transit.

(g) Does not arise.

ABSENCE OF OVERBRIDGES AND RAISED PLATFORMS ON THE BURDWAN-HOWRAH SECTION OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

83. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Are Government aware of the dangerous conditions of the stations on the Burdwan-Howrah section of the East Indian Railway, as there are no raised platforms and over-bridges in these sections ?

(b) Is it not a fact that every year several accidents take place on this section of the line for the absence of these over-bridges and raised platforms ?

(c) Is it not a fact that most of these stations are entitled to have these necessities in consideration of the passenger as well as goods traffic they have ?

(d) Do Government propose to take up these works ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Government do not consider that the absence of a high level platform can be described as resulting in the stations being in a dangerous condition.

(b) No.

(c) Not in preference to other stations. The volume of passengers dealt with at a station is always taken into account in considering where such facilities should first be provided.

(d) There is already a raised platform and over-bridge at Dankuni and the East Indian Railway are providing platforms at Begumpur and Kamarkundu and over-bridges at Chandanpur and Jaugram this year.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ITALO-ABYSSINIAN DISPUTE.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they are being kept informed from time to time, as the British Dominions are, about the developments in the Italo-Abyssinian dispute, and the attitude of Great Britain towards the same ;

(b) whether the despatch of Indian troops to Ethiopia was on the initiative of the Government of India, or under orders from the British Government, or on their suggestion ;

(c) what the cost of sending these Indian troops is, and who is bearing the same ;

(d) what are the purposes for which the Indian soldiers are being sent, and for what period ; and

(e) whether Government will be consulted before Britain takes any decisive step in this matter ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) Yes.

(b) The initiative in the discussions regarding the protection of Indians in Abyssinia, the outcome of which was to strengthen the Legation Guard at Addis Ababa, was naturally taken by the Government of India. There is of course no question of the detachment being sent under orders from His Majesty's Government.

(c) The cost of the voyage from India to Jibuti in French Somaliland will be about Rs. 20,000 and the pay and allowances of the troops approximately Rs. 13,000 a month. I regret that it is not possible at such short notice to give details of further incidental expenditure. His Majesty's Government have agreed to pay the entire cost.

(d) As stated in the communiqué issued by the Government of India on the 22nd August, the object of the sending of this detachment is to facilitate the protection of British and Indian subjects of His Majesty in Abyssinia in the event of an emergency. The reinforcement will remain as long as is necessitated by the situation.

(e) Government of India will naturally be consulted regarding any further measures affecting the safety of British Indian subjects in Abyssinia, a matter which is engaging their close and constant attention.

Mr. Satyamurti : With reference to part (a), may I know what is the latest information in the possession of the Government of India, as regards the stage of the dispute and the attitude of Great Britain ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I think this supplementary question substantially repeats the portion of the original question which has already been disallowed by the Honourable the President, if I remember correctly.

206

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[3RD SEP. 1935.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What is the question ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I understood the Honourable Member to say "yes" in reply to part (a) of my question. My supplementary question is, if the Government of India are being kept informed, from time to time, as the British Dominions are, about the developments in the Italo-Abyssinian dispute and the attitude of Great Britain towards the same, what is the latest information in the possession of the Government on this matter, if they are being consulted ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Do Government choose to answer this supplementary question ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I think perhaps the Honourable the President has not heard my objection. My objection was that this supplementary question of the Honourable Member substantially repeats the portion of the original question to which I took objection on the ground that it affected the relations between His Majesty's Government and a Foreign State, and that objection was upheld by the Honourable the President.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does the Chair take it that the Honourable Member does not wish to answer the supplementary question because it affects foreign relations ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Yes, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the reply to part (b), do I understand the Honourable Member to say—I am sorry I did not hear him quite plainly—that the entire action was taken on the sole responsibility of the Government of India and not under the orders of the Government of Great Britain ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I think I had better repeat the answer I gave to part (b). I said :

"The initiative in the discussions regarding the protection of Indians in Abyssinia, the outcome of which was to strengthen the Legation Guard at Addis Ababa was naturally taken by the Government of India. There is of course no question of the detachment being sent under orders from His Majesty's Government."

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to part (d), may I know if the Government of India do not consider the possibility of acts of hostility being precipitated, by the presence of these troops when they are sent there ?

An Honourable Member : By whom ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Either by Italy or by Abyssinia ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : We do not consider there is any such possibility.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are not Government aware that certain Indians have already been arrested by the Italian Government in Eretria ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have seen notices in the Press to that effect, but there is no official confirmation.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : How many Indians are there in Addis Ababa for whose protection these troops are sent ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Approximately one thousand.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is it consistent with their protection to send so many troops ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I thought the Honourable Member wanted to know how many Indian subjects there are in Abyssinia. The answer to that is one thousand.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if, apart from the safety of Indians involved for which these troops have been sent, this Government will be consulted by Great Britain if she decides to declare War ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I object to this supplementary question on the same ground on which I objected to his previous question.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the number of Britishers there for whose safety the regiment is sent from here ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The number of Britishers is approximately about 1,600 out of whom one thousand are Indians.

POSITION ON THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the latest position on the North-West Frontier ?

(b) How long this year have British and Indian troops been engaged in what may be termed guerilla warfare with the Frontier tribes ?

(c) What has been the cost on the whole, in money and in men ?

(d) What are the reasons why this miniature warfare is going on ?

(e) What is the policy of Government towards the frontier tribes.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The position is that a lashkar of Mohmands, which had attacked the Peshawar District and the Gandab Road, has been repelled from administered territory and the neighbourhood of the road by combined land and air operations. A column of troops has advanced into the Gandab valley and has effected repairs to the road which had been damaged by the tribesmen. Tribal lashkars, though repelled from the neighbourhood of the border, are still in being and have as yet shown no disposition to come in for settlement.

On another part of the Frontier on the border of the Hazara District there has been an incursion by armed tribesmen who have attacked and murdered villagers in the administered territory. Troops have been moved up from Abbottabad, and repelled the attack.

(b) In the earlier part of this year operations took place in the Agra salient for a period of two months. The present operations on the Mohmand border have hitherto lasted only a little over fortnight, and on the Hazara border less than a week.

(c) The cost of the current operations is not yet known. The cost of the Loe Agra operations, so far as is known at present, and including the cost of a motor road from Kot to Loe Agra, is 3½ lakhs.

The total casualties to date in all operations on the Frontier this year are :

|                          | Killed. | Died of wounds. | Wounded. |
|--------------------------|---------|-----------------|----------|
| Loe Agra .. ..           | 3       | ..              | 16       |
| Gandab Valley to date .. | 5       | 1               | 27       |
| Total .. ..              | 8       | 1               | 43       |

L168LAD

D

These figures include Mr. Best, the Political Agent, Malakand, who was killed during the Loe Agra operations.

(d) The reason for the operations on the Mohmand border is that in defiance of Government's agreement with the Mohmands of 1933 a tribal lashkar attacked and broke up the Gandab Road, and sent gangs to fire on constabulary posts in the Peshawar District. The main object of the lashkar, which was led by the eldest son of the Haji of Turangzai, was to bring pressure to bear on Government to release certain tribal hostages held as security for the presence of a number of outlaws and murderers taking sanctuary with the Safi tribe. The Hazara rising is communal in inspiration.

(e) The Honourable Member is referred to the reply given to question No. 880 put by Mr. M. Maswood Ahmad on the 12th September, 1933.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (a), may I know if these operations include air raids, specially on women and children in their houses, dropping bombs ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (e), may I know if, since 1933, the policy has remained unchanged, and, if so, why Government pursue this cat and mouse policy towards these Frontier tribes ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. As regards the second, I would point out that it contains an innuendo.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why Government do not either make peace with these tribes, or settle with them in the manner known to Great Britain ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Government do all in their power to make peace with these tribes and have succeeded to a very large extent. The cases referred to are isolated cases covering only a small portion of the Frontier.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 160 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 12th February, 1935.

RE-EMPLOYMENT OF GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY STRIKERS.

The Agent, Great Indian Peninsula Railway, reports :

(a) The number of ex-strikers on the first and second waiting lists was on 1st February, 1935, 154 and two, respectively.

(b) 2,184.

(c) Only 7 transfers have so far been effected as from experience it is found to be most difficult to exchange ex-strikers re-employed on other railways with men newly engaged on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway during the last strike for the reasons that men between whom the exchange is to take place must be on somewhat equal salaries and possessing knowledge and experience to suit each other's duties and also as men are required to be willing to accept the posts offered as such transfers could not be enforced upon either the ex-strikers employed on other railways or on men engaged on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 28 asked by Mr. Sham Lal on the 13th February, 1935.

AMOUNT GIVEN TO THE SADAR BAZAR MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE FROM THE CASH BALANCE IN THE CANTONMENT FUND, AMBALA.

(a) (i) Rs. 85,013-12-0 with contingent liabilities of Rs. 52,994 consisting of—

Rs. 12,825 for payment of outstanding bills in connection with Water Works, Rs. 10,615 as an advance received from Messrs. Herman and Mohatta for the part purchase of Electric Distribution and Stores,

Rs. 11,925 contribution for the construction of the Tangri Bund,

Rs. 6,700 due to the Military Engineer Services for water supply,

Rs. 3,072 due to the Military Engineer Services for Duct water and electricity,

Rs. 258 Government share of rents from land under the management of the Cantonment Authority, and

Rs. 7,599 securities deposited by private persons for the supply of electric current.

The balance left for distribution between the two local bodies was Rs. 32,019.

(ii) Rs. 17,052 were paid in cash. Bills amounting to Rs. 11,312 were also paid from the cantonment fund being part of the liabilities to which the Municipality was committed.

Rs. 3,738-12-3 were subsequently paid to the Municipality from the unspent balance of the amount set apart for the construction of the Tangri Bund.

(iii) The assets were divided into equal parts by a committee consisting of the Executive Officer, the Secretary, Municipal Committee, and a First Class Magistrate appointed by the Government of the Punjab with the concurrence of the Government of India. In case of any difference of opinion either party had the option of appealing to the Commissioner, Ambala Division. No appeal was made against the division made by the committee and the inference is that both parties were satisfied with the decision.

(b) No. The population of the sadar bazar is 27,596 approximately and that of the Cantonment, 18,516.

(c) Yes. The terminal tax is divided with the concurrence of the Government of India and the Local Government on a population basis in the proportion of 60 per cent. to the municipality and 40 per cent. to the cantonment. The Sadar Bazar Separation Committee appointed by the Local Government in March, 1934, recommended that the terminal tax should be divided equally between the two bodies.

(d) No. In addition to cash the municipality also received more than half a lakh of rupees in the shape of water works.

(e) No.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 311 asked by Prof. N. G. Ranga on the 18th February, 1935.

CONTEMPLATED RETRENCHMENT IN THE MADRAS DEAD LETTER OFFICE.

(a) to (i). The proposal to retrench the clerks in question has been abandoned and the rest of the question does not therefore arise.

L168LAD

Information promised in reply to Dr. P. N. Banerjee's supplementary question to starred question No. 332 asked by Sardar Sant Singh on the 20th February, 1935.

ANNUAL COST OF EMPLOYMENT OF TROOPS IN BENGAL TO SUPPRESS THE TERRORIST MOVEMENT.

The incidental charges paid by the Local Government in connection with the acquisition of land, etc., are as follows:

| Year.                                                                                         | 1932-33.  | 1933-34.  | 1934-35.  | 1935-36.  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                                                                               | Rs. a. p. | Rs. a. p. | Rs. a. p. | Rs. a. p. |
| Compensation to Saidpur Station Committee for loss of grazing rights within the station area. | 80 ) 0    | 160 0 0   | 160 0 0   | 160 0 0   |
| Rent of land for location of troops.                                                          | 110 2 0   | 100 0 0   | 384 8 3   | ..        |
| Compensation for occupation of lands or private individuals.                                  | ..        | 59 0 0    | 79 0 0    | ..        |
| Compensation for rights, etc. ..                                                              | ..        | 1,075 9 0 | ..        | ..        |
| Grazing rights .. ..                                                                          | ..        | ..        | 75 0 0    | ..        |

Information promised in reply to parts (b) and (c) of starred question No. 497 asked by Mr. Muhammad Nauman on the 25th February, 1935.

COMMUNAL COMPOSITION OF NON-GAZETTED STAFF RECRUITED IN THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

| COMMUNAL COMPOSITION OF NON-GAZETTED STAFF RECRUITED |                                                             |                  |                 |               |                 |                        |                                 |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------|---------------|-----------------|------------------------|---------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Name of Department or Office.                        | Recruitment made from 4th July, 1934 to 1st February, 1935. |                  |                 |               |                 |                        | Whether permanent or temporary. | Total number of permanent subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Total number of temporary subordinate Staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Remarks.                        |
|                                                      | First Division.                                             | Second Division. | Third Division. | Stenographer. | Community.      |                        |                                 |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                 |
| 1                                                    | 2                                                           | 3                | 4               | 5             | 6               | 7                      | 8                               | 9                                                                                                            | 10                                                                                                           |                                 |
| Home ..                                              | ..                                                          | ..               | 1               | ..            | Muslim          | Provisional permanent. | ..                              | 13                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | ..               | ..              | 1             | Do.             | Temporary              | ..                              | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | ..               | 1               | ..            | Do.             | Do.                    | ..                              | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | ..               | 1               | ..            | Hindu           | Do.                    | ..                              | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | 1                | ..              | ..            | Do.             | Do.                    | ..                              | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | ..               | 1               | ..            | Do.             | Provisional permanent. | ..                              | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | ..               | 1               | ..            | ..              | Temporary              | ..                              | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | 1                                                           | ..               | ..              | ..            | Muslim          | Do.                    | ..                              | 3                                                                                                            |                                                                                                              | *Exempted from the examination. |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | ..               | 1               | ..            | Sikh            | Do.                    | 2*                              | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | ..               | 10              | ..            | 4 Hindus        | Do.                    | 7                               | 32                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      | ..                                                          | /                |                 |               | 4 Muslims.      |                        |                                 |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                 |
|                                                      |                                                             |                  |                 |               | 2 Anglo-Indians |                        |                                 |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                 |
| Director, Public Information.                        |                                                             |                  |                 |               |                 |                        |                                 |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                 |
| Foreign and Political.                               |                                                             |                  |                 |               |                 |                        |                                 |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                 |

| Name of Department or Office.                    | Recruitment made from 4th July, 1934 to 1st February, 1935. |                  |                 |                |                                                          | Whether permanent or temporary.      | Total number of permanent subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Total number of temporary subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Remarks.                                                |
|--------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------|----------------|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                  | First Division.                                             | Second Division. | Third Division. | Steno-grapher. | Community.                                               |                                      |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                                         |
| 1                                                | 2                                                           | 3                | 4               | 5              | 6                                                        | 7                                    | 8                                                                                                            | 9                                                                                                            | 10                                                      |
| Military Adviser-in-Chief, Indian States Forces. | 1                                                           | ..               | ..              | ..             | European                                                 | Permanent (on probation).            | ..                                                                                                           | ..                                                                                                           |                                                         |
| Finance                                          | ..                                                          | ..               | 11*             | ..             | 4 Hindus4 Muslims1 Sikh.2 Indian Christians. | Permanent Muslim—1.Temporary—10. | ..                                                                                                           | 10                                                                                                           | * Includes 2 (Hindus) recruited prior to 4th July 1934. |
| Central Board of Revenue.                        | 2                                                           | ..               | 4               | 1              | 3 Hindus1 Sikh.2 Muslims.1 Anglo-Indian.     | Temporary                            | ..                                                                                                           | ..                                                                                                           |                                                         |
|                                                  | ..                                                          | ..               | 7               | 1              | 4 Hindus1 Muslim.2 Sikhs.                        | Officiating                          | ..                                                                                                           | 7                                                                                                            |                                                         |
|                                                  | ..                                                          | ..               | 5               | 1              | 3 Hindus1 Muslim.1 Sikh.                         | Do.                                  | ..                                                                                                           | 5                                                                                                            |                                                         |
|                                                  | ..                                                          | ..               | 6               | 1              | 4 Hindus1 Muslim1 Sikh.                          | Do.                                  | ..                                                                                                           | 6                                                                                                            |                                                         |

| Month          | Day | Religion              | Age | Service   | Rank | Remarks |
|----------------|-----|-----------------------|-----|-----------|------|---------|
| October 1934.  | 5   | 4 Hindus2 Muslims | 1   | Do.       | ..   | 5       |
| November 1934. | 4   | 3 Hindus1 Muslim. | ..  | Do.       | ..   | 4       |
| December 1934. | 4   | 3 Hindus1 Muslim. | ..  | Do.       | ..   | 4       |
| January 1935.  | 3   | 2 Hindus1 Muslim. | ..  | Do.       | ..   | 3       |
|                | 1   | Anglo-Indian          | ..  | Temporary | ..   | 15      |

*All the individuals were specially exempted by the Public Service Commission.

†Holding appointments against the quota reserved by the Home Department for the personnel recruited otherwise than through the Public Service Commission.

Military Finance Department.

Military Accountant General's Office.

| Name of Department or Office.             | Recruitment made from 4th July, 1934 to 1st February, 1935. |                  |                 |                |                                                         |                                                                                             |       | Total number of permanent subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Total number of temporary subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------|----------------|---------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                           | First Division.                                             | Second Division. | Third Division. | Steno-grapher. | Community.                                              | Whether permanent or temporary.                                                             |       |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 1                                         | 2                                                           | 3                | 4               | 5              | 6                                                       | 7                                                                                           |       | 8                                                                                                            | 9                                                                                                            | 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Judge Advocate General's Branch.          | ..                                                          | ..               | 2               | ..             | Hindus                                                  | Officiating in a leave vacancy                                                              | ..    | ..                                                                                                           | ..                                                                                                           | (a) Including (i) Soldier and ex-soldier clerks, recruited from the I. A. O. C. and units, (ii) civilian clerks recruited from the I. A. O. C. in accordance with Government orders relating to recruitment to this office. |
| Assistant Director of Supplies Provision. | ..                                                          | ..               | 6               | ..             | 3 Hindus2 Muslims.1 Anglo-Indian (Lady typist). | 2 Permanent (1 Hindu and 1 Muslim).4 Temporary (2 Hindus, 1 Muslim and 1 Anglo-Indian). | 32(a) | ..                                                                                                           | 5 (employed in deputations vacancies).                                                                       | Does not include soldier and ex-soldier clerks, whose recruitment is not controlled by the P. S. C.                                                                                                                         |
| Assistant Military Secretary (Personal).  | ..                                                          | ..               | ..              | ..             | ..                                                      | ..                                                                                          | ..    | ..                                                                                                           | 1                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Royal Air Force Headquarters.             | ..                                                          | ..               | 8               | ..             | 5 Hindus2 Muslims.1 Sikh.                       | Temporary                                                                                   | ..    | ..                                                                                                           | 8                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Legislative                               | ..                                                          | ..               | 2               | ..             | 1 Hindu1 Muslim                                     | PermanentTemporary.                                                                     | 6*    | ..                                                                                                           | ..                                                                                                           | *Of this, 3 were appointed in relaxation of the rules relating to recruitment through the Staff Selection Board, 3 were appointed after getting the necessary exemption from the Commission.                                |
| Commerce                                  | 3                                                           | ..               | ..              | ..             | 1 Muslim1 Do. †1 Hindu †                        | PermanentTemporaryOfficiating.                                                      | 4†    | ..                                                                                                           | 8                                                                                                            | †Were in service in the Department when appointed to these posts.                                                                                                                                                           |

| Name of Department or Office.                           | Recruitment made from 4th July, 1934 to 1st February, 1935. |                  |                 |                |                        |                                        |    | Total number of permanent subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Total number of temporary subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|---------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------|----------------|------------------------|----------------------------------------|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                         | First Division.                                             | Second Division. | Third Division. | Steno-grapher. | Community.             | Whether permanent or temporary.        |    |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 1                                                       | 2                                                           | 3                | 4               | 5              | 6                      | 7                                      |    | 8                                                                                                            | 9                                                                                                            | 10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Railway                                                 | ..                                                          | ..               | 3               | ..             | Anglo-Indian           | One permanentTwo temporary.        | .. | ..                                                                                                           | 20                                                                                                           | †Of this 2 men were exempted from the Public Service Commission test, and the remaining 2 clerks were holding permanent appointments in the Q. M. G.'s Branch and in the Office of the Controller of Printing and Stationery, India, New Delhi. |
| Education, Health and Lands.                            | 2                                                           | ..               | 18              | 6              | HindusMuslims      | Do.Do.                             | 4§ | ..                                                                                                           | 5                                                                                                            | §One of these holds a technical appointment in the Imperial Secretariat Library for which he was recruited through the Public Service Commission.                                                                                               |
| Director General, Indian Medical Service.               | 1                                                           | ..               | 2               | 6              | MuslimHindus       | PermanentDo.                       | .. | ..                                                                                                           | 3                                                                                                            | One of these, a Muslim, has since left the Department.                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Director General of Archaeology.                        | ..                                                          | ..               | 2               | ..             | 1 Hindu1 Muslim.   | Temporary (officiating).               | 3  | ..                                                                                                           | 1                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Industries and Labour.                                  | ..                                                          | ..               | 7               | ..             | 4 Hindus3 Muslims. | Permanent on probation 1. Temporary 6. | .. | ..                                                                                                           | 3                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Consulting Engineer to the Government of India (Roads). | ..                                                          | ..               | 3               | ..             | 1 Hindu2 Sikhs.    | Temporary                              | .. | 1 (Services terminated).                                                                                     | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

| Name of Department or Office.             | Recruitment made from 4th July 1934 to 1st February 1935. |                  |                 |                |                                         |                                                                                                    |  | Total number of permanent subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Total number of temporary subordinate staff who have not passed the Public Service Commission's examination. | Remarks. |
|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------|----------------|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
|                                           | First Division.                                           | Second Division. | Third Division. | Steno-grapher. | Community.                              | Whether permanent or temporary.                                                                    |  |                                                                                                              |                                                                                                              |          |
| 1                                         | 2                                                         | 3                | 4               | 5              | 6                                       | 7                                                                                                  |  | 8                                                                                                            | 9                                                                                                            | 10       |
| Director of Civil Aviation.               | ..                                                        | ..               | 2               | 1 4            | Hindu ..3 Hindus ..2 Muslims .. | Permanent.                                                                                         |  | ..                                                                                                           | 3                                                                                                            |          |
| Controller of Printing and Stationery.    | 1                                                         | ..               | ..              | ..             | 3 Europeans and Anglo-Indians.          | Permanent (on probation for one year). Provisional permanent (on probation in the first instance). |  | 2 (excluding 1 Superintendent).                                                                              | 4                                                                                                            |          |
| Director General of Posts and Telegraphs. | ..                                                        | ..               | ..              | ..             | Do.                                     | Temporary.                                                                                         |  | ..                                                                                                           | 14                                                                                                           |          |
|                                           | ..                                                        | ..               | ..              | ..             | 1 Hindu                                 | Do.                                                                                                |  | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |          |
|                                           | ..                                                        | ..               | ..              | ..             | Muslim                                  | Temporary.                                                                                         |  | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |          |
|                                           | ..                                                        | ..               | ..              | ..             | 7 Hindus2 Muslims                   | Permanent.                                                                                         |  | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |          |
|                                           | ..                                                        | ..               | ..              | ..             | 1 Hindu2 Indian Christians          | Temporary.                                                                                         |  | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |          |
|                                           | ..                                                        | 1                | ..              | ..             | 1 SikhHindu                         | Permanent.                                                                                         |  | ..                                                                                                           |                                                                                                              |          |

|                           | 1  | 2  | 3  | 4  | 5  | 6  | 7  | 8  | 9  | 10 |
|---------------------------|----|----|----|----|----|----|----|----|----|----|
| Indian Stores Department. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | 1  | 1  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. |
|                           |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |

Information promised in reply : (i) to supplementaries in connection with question No. 639 asked by Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (on behalf of Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad) on the 5th March, 1935, and (ii) to question No. 643 asked by Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad on the 5th March, 1935.

CONTRACTORS AT RAILWAY STATIONS IN THE DINAPORE AND HOWRAH DIVISIONS.

639. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that enquiries have been made with the following result :

- (i) On the Howrah Division there were allegations against the Area Contractors having sublet the contract at two stations. The allegations were, on enquiry, found to be incorrect.
- (ii) On the Dinapore Division complaints were made against three Area Contractors. The complaints against two of them were, on enquiry, found to be incorrect. As regards the third it was ascertained that the contractors had arranged for the sale of food-stuffs at certain stations through men who were not their paid servants. The Contractors, however, maintained that the men engaged were directly under their control, wore their badges and uniform and that they (the Contractors) were responsible for any irregularities committed. The Administration, however, did not accept this contention and instructed the Contractors to discontinue the arrangement.

FOOD-STUFF SOLD BY VENDORS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

643. The Agent, East Indian Railway, states that the reply to parts (a) and (b) of the question is in the affirmative. The matter is receiving attention.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 669 to 676 asked by Mr. Fakir Chand on the 5th March, 1935.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST THE PRESIDENT OF THE LAHORE CANTONMENT BOARD.

669. (a) Powers have been delegated to the Vice-Presidents of the following cantonments under the sections mentioned against each—

Allahabad—Sections 25 and 114 (1) of the Cantonments Act, 1924.

Dehra Dun—Sections 25, 114 (1), 162 (2), 166 (3), 207 (1) and 253.

Dinapore—Sections 162 (2) and 166 (3).

Fyzabad—Section 22 (1) (b), 166 (3), 207 (1) and 242.

Certain powers were delegated to the Vice-President at Lucknow under section 22 (2), in 1927, but no such powers have been delegated since the last general election in December, 1933. In most cantonments, even if there are no specific delegations of powers, Vice-Presidents act for the Presidents during their absence and exercise all their powers under the Act.

(b) Yes. The power under section 22 (2) is discretionary vested in the President and the President of the Lahore Cantonment Board, considered that the Board was not competent to pass such a resolution.

(c) The reply to the first part is in the affirmative. As regards the second part, the President invited the attention of the mover of the resolution to the provisions of section 22 (2).

ACTION TAKEN BY THE EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF THE LAHORE CANTONMENT UNDER SECTION 25 OF THE CANTONMENTS ACT.

670. (a) 26 times.

(b) Government have examined all the cases and find that the action in each case was taken with the sanction of the President and was subsequently confirmed by the Board. They are satisfied that in each case the action was justified on the grounds mentioned in the question.

APPOINTMENT OF CHAIRMEN OF VARIOUS SUB-COMMITTEES OF THE LAHORE CANTONMENT BOARD.

671. Yes. The President did not consider it necessary to appoint different elected members to be Chairmen of the different committees because, under the Regulations framed under section 44 of the Cantonments Act, the Vice-President being the senior elected member on the committees concerned, would ordinarily be the Chairman of the committee in preference to any other elected member on the same committee.

PRESIDING OVER THE MEETINGS OF THE LAHORE CANTONMENT BOARD BY VICE-PRESIDENT.

672. Four times.

ACTING MILITARY OFFICERS AS PRESIDENTS OF THE LAHORE CANTONMENT BOARD.

673. None.

RESIGNATION OF THE NOMINATED MEMBERS OF THE LAHORE CANTONMENT BOARD.

674. The necessity for doing so has not arisen because the acceptance of the resignation of a nominated member and the notification nominating another member in his place have occurred simultaneously.

ATTENDANCE OF MEMBERS AT THE MEETINGS OF THE LAHORE CANTONMENT BOARD.

675. Yes.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED OR REJECTED IN THE LAHORE CANTONMENT BOARD.

676. (a) and (b). Two were passed and one was rejected. All three resolutions related to the disposal of building applications, and the regulation of building does concern the health and welfare of the troops.

(c) Yes. Attention is invited to the statement laid on the table of the Legislative Assembly on the 21st November, 1932, in reply to starred question No. 834 asked by Sardar Sohan Singh on the 26th September, 1932, regarding the appointment of an elected member to perform the duties of the Executive Officer, Lahore Cantonment.

Information promised in reply to Munshi Iswar Saran's supplementary question to starred question No. 708 asked by Mr. M. Asaf Ali on the 7th March, 1935.

INDIANS AND BRITISHERS WITH KING'S COMMISSION IN THE INDIAN ARMY.

The number of King's Commissioned Indian Officers who have been called on to retire from the service or to resign their commissions cannot exceed 12. Four of these are old cases the records of which are no longer available and the correct number may be only 8.

Information promised in reply to starred questions Nos. 809 and 811 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 11th March, 1935.

SELECTION GRADE POSTS ABOLISHED OR CONVERTED INTO TIME-SCALE APPOINTMENTS IN THE POST OFFICES AND THE RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE.

809. (a) The following selection grade posts in the Post Office and Railway Mail Service were retrenched or converted into time scale posts during the period from the 1st April 1932 to the 31st December 1934.

| Designation of Posts.                             | Number abolished. | Number converted. |
|---------------------------------------------------|-------------------|-------------------|
| Postmasters .. .. .                               | ..                | 1                 |
| Deputy Postmasters .. .. .                        | 1                 | 93                |
| Assistant Postmasters .. .. .                     | 3                 | 17                |
| Assistant Presidency Postmasters .. .. .          | 1                 | ..                |
| Sub-Postmasters .. .. .                           | 9                 | 13                |
| Deputy Sub-Postmasters .. .. .                    | 1                 | 9                 |
| Assistant Sub-Postmasters .. .. .                 | ..                | 4                 |
| Town Inspectors .. .. .                           | 3                 | 63                |
| Inspectors of Post Offices .. .. .                | 26                | ..                |
| Head clerks (including Joint Head clerks) .. .. . | 4                 | 25                |
| Head signallers .. .. .                           | ..                | 1                 |
| Accountants .. .. .                               | 1                 | 3                 |
| Head Assistants .. .. .                           | 2                 | ..                |
| General Supervisors .. .. .                       | 3                 | 4                 |
| Sanitary Superintendents .. .. .                  | ..                | 1                 |
| Head Record clerks .. .. .                        | 1                 | 3                 |
| Sub-Record clerks .. .. .                         | 1                 | 1                 |
| Head Sorters .. .. .                              | 4                 | 7                 |
| Inspectors Railway Mail Service .. .. .           | 11                | 3                 |
| Total .. .. .                                     | 71                | 248               |

(b) The posts which were abolished were those which on a careful examination of each case were found to be superfluous. The conversion of posts from the selection grade to the time-scale was carried out as justified by the application of the Bewoor Time Tests, read with the administrative instructions issued from time to time by the Director General or the Government of India governing the respective classes of posts.

(c) The additional selection grade posts sanctioned and the offices to which they are attached are given below :

Bengal and Assam Circle.

|                                      |                               |
|--------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Calcutta General Post Office .. .. . | 1 Inspecting Postmaster.      |
| Dum Dum Sub Office .. .. .           | 1 Selection Grade Postmaster. |
| Tinsukia Sub Office .. .. .          | Do.                           |
| Patiya Sub Office .. .. .            | Do.                           |
| Digboi Sub Office .. .. .            | Do.                           |

United Provinces Circle.

|                                          |                           |
|------------------------------------------|---------------------------|
| Railway Mail Service 0-8 Section .. .. . | 1 Selection Grade Sorter. |
|------------------------------------------|---------------------------|

Punjab and N.-W. F. Circle.

|                                               |                                    |
|-----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| Rawalpindi City .. .. .                       | 1 Selection Grade Sub-Postmaster.  |
| Kasauli .. .. .                               | 1 Selection Grade Sub-Postmaster.  |
| Murree .. .. .                                | 1 Deputy Sub-Postmaster.           |
| Railway Mail Service D-4 Sub-Division .. .. . | 1 Inspector, Railway Mail Service. |

Burma Circle.

|                             |                               |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Bassein head office .. .. . | 1 Selection Grade Supervisor. |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------|

Sind and Baluchistan Circle.

|                                   |                                    |
|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| Sukkur Head Office .. .. .        | 1 Assistant Postmaster Telegraphs. |
| Sub-Record Office, Rohri .. .. .  | 1 sub-record clerk.                |
| Sub-Record Office, Quetta .. .. . | 1 sub-record clerk.                |

SELECTION GRADE APPOINTMENTS IN THE POST OFFICES AND THE RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE.

811. (a) The total number of selection grade appointments in the Post Office and Railway Mail Service as it stood on the 31st March, 1935, was 1,459.

(b) The percentage of such appointments

(i) to the total number of clerical appointments, both in the ordinary and lower division time-scales in the Post Office, is 5.85 ; and

(ii) to the total number of sorters' appointments, both in the ordinary and lower division time-scales in the Railway Mail Service, is 4.43.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 846 asked by Mr. Satya Narayan Sinha on the 12th March, 1935.

ABSORPTION OF THE PERMANENT STAFF IN THE MOODY-WARD SYSTEM ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

(a), (b) and (d). The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that majority of the retrenched men have been re-employed with the exception of those who refused the offers of re-employment made to them or who were found unsuitable for re-engagement. Government are unable to give any particular date by which they will all be absorbed. As regards the reference to demoted staff, Government are informed that staff, retained in lower posts an alternative to discharge at the time of introduction of the Moody-Ward System on the East Indian Railway were not given any assurance that they would be restored to their former or equivalent grades. As regards the employees who were demoted as a measure of economy, the Honourable Member is referred to the Railway Board's letter No. 1635-E.G., dated the 30th December, 1932, a copy of which is in the Library of the House.

(c) The reply to the first part is in the negative.

As regards the second part, the Honourable Member is referred to the reply given to part (d) of question No. 869 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on 12th March, 1935.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 852 asked by Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali on 12th March, 1935.

PROMOTIONS TO THE POSTS IN HEADQUARTERS OFFICES OF THE TRANSPORTATION AND COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENTS.

(a) and (b). The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that substantive promotions to the grades of Transportation and Commercial Inspectors are decided at headquarters and not in the divisional offices. The only post to which promotion was made between the 1st June, 1934, and the 31st January, 1935, was that of a Claims Inspector.

(c) and (d). The selection board in connection with the promotion referred to above was held in the headquarters office at Calcutta on the 19th September, 1934, and consisted of the Superintendent Staff, the Superintendent Claims and the Superintendent Rates.

(e) Candidates were not called to appear before the selection board, as it was not considered necessary.

(f) Traffic Canvassers and staff with commercial training and experience were eligible.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 873 asked by Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal on the 12th March, 1935.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST THE DIVISIONAL SUPERINTENDENT, ALLAHABAD.

(a) Government are informed that no travelling allowance is charged in such cases.

(b) The reply to the first part of the question is in the affirmative and the latter part does not arise.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 970 asked by Mr. A. K. Fazlul Huq on the 25th March, 1935.

FIDELITY SECURITIES OF INSURANCE COMPANIES.

(a) The following Insurance Companies have been approved and recognised by the Posts and Telegraphs Department for the purpose of fidelity bonds :

- (1) Clive Insurance Company, Calcutta,
- (2) Guardian Assurance Company, Calcutta,
- (3) National Insurance Company, Calcutta,
- (4) Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society, Calcutta,
- (5) Royal Insurance Company, Calcutta,
- (6) Sun Insurance Office, Calcutta (does not now carry on fidelity bond business),
- (7) Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, Calcutta,
- (8) Commercial Union Assurance Company, Calcutta,
- (9) Empire of India Life Assurance Company, Bombay, and
- (10) Palatine Insurance Company, Limited, Calcutta.

(b) Yes.

(c) The reply to the first part is in the negative. The second part does not arise.

(d) Does not arise in view of the reply given at (a) above.

(e) Presumably the acceptance of any class of business which Insurance Companies regard as sound will be an encouragement to the development of the Insurance system.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 989 asked by Mr. C. N. Mulhuranga Mudaliar on the 25th March, 1935.

RETRENCHMENT IN THE MADRAS DEAD LETTER OFFICE.

(a) The reply to the first part of the question is in the negative. As regards the second part no maximum outturn has been prescribed.

|                                               |    |    |    |        |
|-----------------------------------------------|----|----|----|--------|
| (b) (i) August, 1933                          | .. | .. | .. | 26,834 |
| (ii) February, 1934                           | .. | .. | .. | 25,852 |
| (iii) Special enumeration taken in July, 1934 | .. | .. | .. | 24,091 |

(c) Particulars of figures under the sub-heads referred to by the Honourable Member are not available in respect of the enumeration weeks of August, 1933 and February, 1934. As regards the special enumeration taken in a week of July, 1934, the number of paid and unpaid unregistered articles received during the period are 9,607 and 14,484, respectively, while the number of such articles despatched are 8,873 and 11,036, respectively.

|                             |    |    |    |        |
|-----------------------------|----|----|----|--------|
| (d) (i) Registered articles | .. | .. | .. | 19,909 |
| Registered parcels          | .. | .. | .. | 1,371  |
| (ii) Registered articles    | .. | .. | .. | 18,227 |
| Registered parcels          | .. | .. | .. | 2,163  |
| (iii) Registered articles   | .. | .. | .. | 16,325 |
| Registered parcels          | .. | .. | .. | 1,618  |

(e) No.

(f) The staff in the Madras Dead Letter Office was found by actual observation by a senior and experienced officer of the Department to be excessive, a fact which was confirmed by statistics obtained by special enumeration of the articles received and despatched.

(g) and (h). No. Government are satisfied that the retrenchments, which have already been carried out, are fully justified.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1043, asked by Mr. N. M. Joshi on the 26th March, 1935.

BOX Khalasies FOR EUROPEAN AND ANGLO-INDIAN DRIVERS ON STATE RAILWAYS.

On the Great Indian Peninsula and North Western Railways box khalasies are provided for the carriage of boxes of all engine drivers. As already stated, on the East Indian Railway coolies are provided for the carriage of boxes of drivers in grades I and II. On the Eastern Bengal Railway box khalasies are provided for the European and Anglo-Indian drivers only, for the reason that the size of boxes used by the European and Anglo-Indian drivers is larger and cannot be carried without the assistance of a box khalasi. The Indian drivers carry small boxes which can easily be carried by hand without the assistance of box khalasies. To obtain uniformity Railway Administrations have been instructed that there should be no racial discrimination in this matter and that box khalasies should be provided for all drivers when the circumstances render this necessary.

Information promised in reply to parts (b) and (c) of starred question No. 1220 asked by Mr. M. S. Aney on the 30th March, 1935.

INCREASE IN THE QUANTITY AND VALUE OF QUININE SOLD.

(b) and (c). A statement is attached. Compared with the figures for 1932-33 there was an increase during 1933-34 in the quantity and value of quinine sold of 14.86 per cent. and 14.77 per cent. respectively, and not 14.98 per cent. and 17.6 per cent. as shown in the Annual Report of the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department for the year 1933-34. The mistake in the Annual Report was due to inaccurate reports originally furnished by certain Circles.

STATEMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

3RD SEP. 1935.

| Circle.             | 1933-34. |        | 1934-35. |        | Value.   |       | Quantity sold. |        | Value.   |       | Quantity sold. |        | Increase (+) or decrease (-) in quantity. |        | Increase (+) or decrease (-) in value. |       | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|---------------------|----------|--------|----------|--------|----------|-------|----------------|--------|----------|-------|----------------|--------|-------------------------------------------|--------|----------------------------------------|-------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                     | lbs.     | gr.    | lbs.     | gr.    | Ra.      | a. p. | lbs.           | gr.    | Ra.      | a. p. | lbs.           | gr.    | lbs.                                      | gr.    | Ra.                                    | a. p. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Bengal and Assam    | 10,487   | 1,920  | 12,353   | 6,193  | 2,23,673 | 14 4  | 12,353         | 6,193  | 2,63,485 | 3 1   | 12,353         | 6,193  | +1,866                                    | 4,273  | +39,811                                | 4 9   | Increase in quantity was due to malaria.                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Bihar and Orissa .. | 242      | 4,254  | 285      | 1,425  | 6,369    | 5 0   | 285            | 1,425  | 7,486    | 12 0  | 285            | 1,425  | +42                                       | 4,171  | +1,117                                 | 7 0   | Increase in quantity was due to (i) malaria and (ii) increased popularity of drug.                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Bombay ..           | 1,299    | 5,570  | 1,671    | 5,630  | 24,686   | 0 0   | 1,671          | 5,630  | 31,482   | 8 0   | 1,671          | 5,630  | +372                                      | 60     | +6,796                                 | 8 0   | Increase in quantity was due to malaria.                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Burma ..            | 186      | 15     | 191      | 1,622½ | 2,034    | 6 5   | 191            | 1,622½ | 2,091    | 9 7   | 191            | 1,622½ | +5                                        | 1,607½ | +57                                    | 3 2   | No special reason for the slight increase in quantity.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Central ..          | 745      | 4,917½ | 782      | 5,430  | 14,417   | 12 7  | 782            | 5,430  | 15,237   | 11 2  | 782            | 5,430  | +37                                       | 512½   | +819                                   | 14 7  | No special reasons for the increase in quantity. The slight increase of .73% in value over the percentage of quantity is due to fluctuations in the cost of the drug.                                                                                |
| Madras              | 1,951    | 4,000  | 1,859    | 1,600  | 39,916   | 4 6   | 1,859          | 1,600  | 37,615   | 8 9   | 1,859          | 1,600  | -92                                       | 2,406  | -2,300                                 | 11 9  | Decrease in quantity was due to the free supply of quinine by the Public Health Department in several districts, and the larger decrease in value was due to the increased sale of 10 gr. packets by post offices in the Mysore State and elsewhere. |

|                       |        |        |          |      |        |       |          |      |        |         |       |         |      |         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |
|-----------------------|--------|--------|----------|------|--------|-------|----------|------|--------|---------|-------|---------|------|---------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Punjab and N.W. F.    | 102    | 5,065  | 1,964    | 15 7 | 95     | 265   | 1,818    | 12 1 | -7     | -7.48%  | 4,810 | -146    | 3 6  | -7.43%  | Decrease in quantity was due to free supply by Itinerary Dispensaries.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |
| Sind and Baluchistan. | 46     | 3,330  | 994      | 3 9  | 69     | 6,265 | 1,502    | 5 0  | +23    | +50.38% | 2,935 | +508    | 1 3  | +51.10% | Increase in quantity was due to less free distribution of quinine by local bodies and a widespread epidemic of malaria. The difference in percentage was due to variations in actual and selling price of a tin of quinine supplied to the offices in Baluchistan by the Inspector-General, Civil Hospitals, Punjab. |  |
| United Provinces..    | 155    | ..     | 3,993    | 0 0  | 169    | ..    | 4,295    | 11 0 | +14    | +9.03%  | ..    | +302    | 11 0 | +7.59%  | Satisfactory reasons not given, but apparently due to (1) the drug having been supplied in 1933-34 in lieu of money received during the preceding year and (2) the drug having been supplied during the year (1933-34) by V. P. P., so that its value was received during the succeeding year (1934-35).             |  |
| Total                 | 15,217 | 1,071½ | 3,18,049 | 14 2 | 17,478 | 420½  | 3,65,016 | 0 8  | +2,260 | +14.86% | 6,349 | +45,966 | 2 6  | +14.77% |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Information promised in reply to supplementaries to starred question No. 1322 asked by Mr. S. Satyamurti on the 2nd April, 1935.

TREATY BETWEEN THE SULTAN OF ZANZIBAR AND GREAT BRITAIN.

(a) In 1908 a treaty was signed abrogating the treaty of 1886 between Great Britain and Zanzibar.

(b) The rights of Indian settlers and other British subjects in Zanzibar were safeguarded in certain respects by the provisions of the Treaty between Great Britain and Muscat of the 31st of May, 1839. Provision was also made in the Treaty for the reciprocal recognition of Consuls appointed by the High Contracting Parties on a most-favoured-nation footing. This treaty was abrogated as regards Zanzibar on the 3rd of April, 1911.

(c) As this Treaty is not now in force it would serve no useful purpose to table it.

Information promised in reply to parts (b) and (d) to (g) of starred question No. 1395 asked by Mr. D. K. Lahiri Chaudhury on the 3rd April, 1935.

TIME TEST FOR CORRESPONDENCE WORK IN FIRST CLASS HEAD POST OFFICES.

(b) The reduction was effected on the basis of the actual reduction of work due to fall in traffic.

(d) The number of clerks who worked in the Correspondence Department of the Calcutta General Post Office in 1931-32 and the number reduced up to the 28th February, 1935, is as follows :—

|                                                                                                          |    |    |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|----|-----|
| Number of clerks in the Correspondence Department of the Calcutta General Post Office on 1st April, 1931 | .. | .. | 112 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|----|-----|

|                                                        |    |    |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------|----|----|----|
| Number of clerks reduced up to the 28th February, 1935 | .. | .. | 18 |
|--------------------------------------------------------|----|----|----|

(of these 11 were reduced in 1932 and 7 in 1934).

(e) The facts are substantially as stated.

(f) The number of selection grade, time-scale supervisory and other clerical posts in the Bombay General Post Office, Correspondence Department, which includes the offices of the two Inspecting Postmasters, Bombay, is as follows—

|                                   |    |    |    |     |
|-----------------------------------|----|----|----|-----|
| (i) Selection grade posts         | .. | .. | .. | 4   |
| (ii) Time-scale supervisory posts | .. | .. | .. | nil |
| (iii) Clerks                      | .. | .. | .. | 26  |

(g) The entire question of the staff requirements of the Correspondence Department of the Calcutta General Post Office is being closely examined by the Postmaster-General, Bengal, and Assam Circle, and Government are not yet in a position to state what re-adjustments of staff may ultimately be found to be necessary.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 262 asked by Mr. D. K. Lahiri Chaudhury on the 3rd April, 1935.

CERTAIN INFORMATION IN RESPECT OF THE BOMBAY, CALCUTTA AND MADRAS GENERAL POST OFFICES.

|                                                       | BombayGeneralPostOffice. | CalcuttaGeneralPostOffice. | MadrasGeneralPostOffice. |
|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| (i) Number of selection grade posts of Rs. 250—350    | 8                                    | 12                                     | 5                                    |
| (ii) Number of selection grade posts of Rs. 160—250   | 40                                   | 41                                     | 10                                   |
| (iii) Number of time-scale supervisors .. ..          | 12                                   | 8                                      | 2                                    |
| (iv) Number of clerks (Upper Division) .. ..          | 446(a)                               | 883(a)                                 | 187(a)                               |
| (v) Number of clerks (Lower Division) .. ..           | 98(b)                                | 174(b)                                 | 59(b)                                |
| (vi) Number of sorting postmen .. ..                  | 22                                   | 39                                     | 10                                   |
| (vii) Number of overseers .. ..                       | 12(c)                                | 6(c)                                   | 2(c)                                 |
| (viii) Number of postmen .. ..                        | 239                                  | 182                                    | 118                                  |
| (ix) Number of inferior and other miscellaneous staff | 325                                  | 391                                    | 78                                   |

(a) Operative clerks including leave reserves but excluding town Inspectors and assistant accountants.

(b) Including leave reserves.

(c) Overseer postmen.

| Name of Department.  | Bombay.                              |                                 |           | Calcutta.                            |                                 |           | Madras.                                                                                    |                                 |           |
|----------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------|-----------|--------------------------------------|---------------------------------|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|-----------|
|                      | Seleo-tiongrade.             | Time scaleSuper-visory. | Clerical. | Seleo-tiongrade.             | Time scaleSuper-visory. | Clerical. | Seleo-tiongrade.                                                                   | Time scaleSuper-visory. | Clerical. |
| 1. Staff ..          | 1                                    | ..                              | 5         | ..                                   | 1                               | 7         | ..                                                                                         | ..                              | ..        |
| 2. Accounts ..       | 5                                    | ..                              | 12*       | 2                                    | ..                              | 16*       | 1                                                                                          | ..                              | 6*        |
| 3. Correspondence .. | 3                                    | ..                              | 21        | 3                                    | ..                              | 94        | 1                                                                                          | ..                              | 30        |
| 4. Sorting ..        | 6                                    | 1                               | 119       | 4                                    | 1                               | 132       | ..                                                                                         | ..                              | 7         |
| 5. Money Order ..    | 5                                    | ..                              | 41        | 4                                    | 2                               | 69        | 1                                                                                          | 1                               | 32        |
| 6. Savings Bank ..   | 4                                    | ..                              | 23        | 3                                    | 2                               | 34        | 2†                                                                                         | ..                              | 11        |
| 7. Delivery ..       | 2                                    | ..                              | 17        | 3                                    | ..                              | 50        | 1                                                                                          | ..                              | 8         |
| 8. Deposit ..        | 2                                    | ..                              | 14        | 2                                    | ..                              | 16        | ..                                                                                         | ..                              | 5         |
| 9. Sub Account ..    | 2                                    | ..                              | 9         | 1                                    | ..                              | 8         | ..                                                                                         | ..                              | 4         |
| 10. Registration ..  | 5                                    | 6                               | 91        | 7                                    | 2                               | 125       | 3                                                                                          | ..                              | 36        |
| 11. Parcel ..        | 5                                    | 4                               | 67        | 8                                    | 1                               | 101       | 1                                                                                          | 1                               | 21        |
|                      | * Including 4 Assistant Accountants. |                                 |           | * Including 3 Assistant Accountants. |                                 |           | * Including one Assistant Accountant. † Including the Manager M. O. and S. B. Departments. |                                 |           |

Part (b) 11, 9 and 7 respectively.
Part (c) 58, 63 and 39 respectively.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 297, asked by Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar on 3rd April, 1935.

CLOSING OF LEVEL CROSSINGS ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY BETWEEN ARKANAM AND AMTATTUR.

(a) and (b). Government have made enquiries and are informed that such is not the case. Out of the 18 level crossings between Arkanam and Amtattur, only 5, at which the road traffic is insufficient to justify gatemmen during night hours, have their gates kept locked by night and the keys kept by the station master who arranges for the gates to be opened on application. Of the remainder 4 are manned both day and night and 9 are continually open for road traffic.

(c) No, the cost will be prohibitive.

(d) Government are informed that every effort is being made to reduce the time the gates are closed to road traffic.

Information promised in reply to part (b) of starred question No. 1482, asked by Mr. Ram Narayan Singh on the 4th April, 1935.

GRIEVANCES OF TRAVELLING TICKET EXAMINERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

Passes to Travelling Ticket Inspectors on the East Indian Railway are being given according to the pay of the individual concerned. On the Moradabad Division, however, prior to April, 1935, all Travelling Ticket Inspectors were given inter class duty passes. The procedure has since then been brought into line with that on other Divisions.

Information promised in reply to the supplementary questions to Mr. Mohan Lal Sakseena's starred question No. 1519, asked by Mr. S. Satyamurti on the 5th April, 1935.

CERTAIN PARTICULARS IN CONNECTION WITH STATE PRISONERS AT PRESENT CONFINED IN INDIA.

Statement of the number of detenus released under the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1930.

The latest figure of releases available is that given by the Honourable Mr. R. N. Reid in reply to a question in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 31st July, 1935. In accordance with his statement ill persons were released from January to June, this year, including those who are free to move about, but have to report periodically to the police.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1624, asked by Mr. Ram Narayan Singh, on the 6th April, 1935.

POST AND TELEGRAPH OFFICES IN THE CHOTA NAGPUR DIVISION.

| Districts in the Chota Nagpur Division. | Number of combined post and telegraph offices. | Number of post offices. | Total. |
|-----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|--------|
| Hazaribagh .. ..                        | 14                                             | 38                      | 52     |
| Ranchi .. ..                            | 11                                             | 42                      | 53     |
| Palamau .. ..                           | 4                                              | 29                      | 33     |
| Manbhum .. ..                           | 7                                              | 43                      | 50     |
| Singhbhum .. ..                         | 15                                             | 38                      | 53     |
| Total .. ..                             | 51                                             | 190                     | 241    |

Information promised in reply to part (c) of starred question No. 1657, asked by Qazi Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi on the 8th April, 1935.

HAPUR REMOUNT DEPOT AT BABUGARH IN THE MEERUT DISTRICT.

(c) Efforts have been made to procure the information but the Local Government have reported that it would involve a prolonged search into old records, the labour and cost of which would not be commensurate with the value of the results.

MOTIONS FOR ADJOURNMENT.

DESTRUCTION OF THE SHAHIDGUNJE MOSQUE AT LAHORE.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have received notice of a motion for adjournment from Mr. Gauba who wants to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the facilities afforded by the military, police and district authorities of Lahore for the destruction of the Shahidgunje mosque under cover of the plea of the exercise of legal rights. Does the Honourable Member want to move it ?

Mr. K. L. Gauba (East Central Punjab : Muhammadan) : I will not move the first motion standing in my name, but I propose to move the second.

LACK OF DISCIPLINE IN CERTAIN SOLDIERS AT JUBBULPORE.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have received notice from Mr. Satyamurti that he proposes to move for adjournment of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the lack of discipline in the King's Regiment as evidenced by the conduct of some soldiers of that Regiment in the village of Benda near Jubbulpore. I understand that a prosecution has been instituted against a certain number of soldiers in that regiment with reference to the incident mentioned here. I should like to know from the Honourable Member if it is possible to discuss the question of lack of discipline in the regiment without reference to the facts of this incident.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Sir, the only point that I want to bring before the House is the lack of discipline in the regiment. I undertake not to discuss or bring within the scope of my motion the actual facts which are now pending trial before the civil Courts of the country. I may mention in this connection certain facts which are admitted by Government. I will read from a communiqué issued from Simla on the 29th August by the Government of India. They say :

"In their communiqué of the 24th July the Government of India stated that a court of inquiry was examining the facts in the case in which it was alleged that certain soldiers in the King's Regiment had made an attack on the village Benda in Jubbulpore and the result of the inquiry must be awaited. The report of the court of inquiry has now been examined and it has been decided with the full approval of the military authority to hand the case over to the civil Court to be dealt with. Twentythree men of the battalion are being placed on their trial under the Indian Penal Code on charges of murder and rioting and the proceedings are expected to commence immediately."

I submit, Sir, that I am not discussing whether these particular men who are charged before His Majesty's Courts are actually guilty of this offence, and, if so, what the evidence amounts to, in respect of the actual offences they are alleged to have committed. The point, I am on, is that the Government of India, on the report of the court of inquiry appointed, I take it, by the Army Department, have decided that certain incidents took place. (Cries of "No, no" from Official Benches.)

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : They say an inquiry should be made.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The report of the court of inquiry has now been examined by the Government of India. I presume, and it has been decided, with the full approval of the military authority, to hand the case over to the civil Court to be dealt with. What they are dealing with is whether A or B or C is guilty of certain acts, and if so what those acts amount to under the Indian Penal Code. I am not on that question now. What I am on is the preceding state of affairs in the regiment which made it possible for this incident to happen. What that incident amounts to in law, what the responsibility of A or B is in respect of that incident, are matters which are at the moment before a Court of law.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I understand that the Honourable Member wishes to establish the lack of discipline by the facts of this very incident.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : By the fact that certain men have been found by a court of inquiry, appointed by the Government of India, to have been guilty of certain offences. (Cries of "No, no" from Government Benches.) According to them, at least a prima facie case has been established for handing over these men to the civil authorities. You will notice, Sir, that in the ruling cited by Seth Govind Das yesterday this point was elaborately discussed ; and so long as I, and you as President, see that matters which are actually sub judice are not actually brought under discussion, it seems to me that it is eminently a matter to be discussed by this House. And I will say another thing. Assuming that this trial is over and these people are found guilty, the matter will cease to be urgent. It comes to this, therefore, that when a thing like this happens we are neither here nor there.

An Honourable Member : You can put down a Resolution.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : My Honourable friend knows or ought to know that a Resolution has to go through a hurdle race.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : After the trial, cannot a motion for adjournment be put down ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Subject to what you say, Sir, it seems to me that they may take it up to the High Court, in which case months will elapse, and it will cease to be a matter of urgent importance. We are now in a cleft stick. We cannot discuss it, and I submit that the Court as such has nothing to do with discipline in the regiment. The Court cannot punish the regiment and cannot censure the Government. It can only find A or B guilty of assault or manslaughter or murder and hang him. The question which I want to bring up is the absence of discipline. I do not want to put it forward as a matter of argument now but you will have noticed, as any reader of newspapers has noticed, that this thing is a growing evil everywhere. This want of discipline is becoming apparent and these British soldiers take the law into their own hands. What I want to discuss is the question of lack of discipline, which no Court can deal with.

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Sir, I oppose this motion. I need hardly remind you that in a motion like this only one single specific matter can be discussed and my Honourable friend has really mentioned one single specific matter. And what is that ? The lack of discipline in the King's Regiment as evidenced by the conduct of certain soldiers of that regiment in the village of Benda. Therefore, the sole specific matter is the conduct of these soldiers in the village of Benda.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Lack of discipline.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : As evidenced by the conduct of some soldiers.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : He puts it on the ground of lack of discipline.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : True : but the lack of discipline is based on the specific matter of the conduct of some of these soldiers in the regiment in the village of Benda. He is thus including a matter which is going to be discussed in a Court of law. If I may remind you, Sir, of a previous ruling on this matter, such a motion must be restricted to a single specific matter of recent occurrence and must be of an urgent nature. I read through the notice again : it says "lack of discipline in the King's Regiment as evidenced by the conduct of some soldiers of that regiment". Therefore, the conclusion that there is lack of discipline is based on one matter only, namely, the conduct of some soldiers of that regiment in the village of Benda. There is no other ground for suggesting lack of discipline and there is nothing further which can be made really the basis of this lack of discipline.

Then I take another point. When you talk of lack of discipline it is only when the case has been tried then we will know what the facts of the case are. Surely by using the word 'discipline' nothing is advanced. What I mean is this : we must take all theoretical objections : supposing the Court finds, as a matter of fact, that there was justification for the exercise of the right of self-defence and so on,—it may not be a fact which may be ultimately proved—but if that is so, there will be no question of lack of discipline. Again, supposing these soldiers were not at the time of alleged occurrence under military orders or disciplinary orders to remain inside the barracks or inside the cantonment : they were out, they committed murder, they committed other offences : those are crimes for which anybody would be punishable, irrespective of the fact whether they are subject to military discipline or not : whether in doing that they simply broke the ordinary law of the land like committing murder or assault or so on or not has nothing to do with the question of discipline. All these matters can be discussed really after the case has been tried. Then, what is the urgency about this ? Supposing, as a matter of fact, some soldiers in the regiment did behave in an improper way, where is the urgency ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The urgency is stated here—lack of discipline in the regiment, so that the authorities may take proper action.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Is it right to expect that the authorities would take action when the matter has been taken to Court before the lack of discipline is established ? Is that right or fair ? I do not deny that it is a matter of recent occurrence, but that is not enough to carry my friend through.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question comes to this : whether the lack of discipline can be proved in any other way excepting by what has occurred.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The notice specifically confines itself to this evidence : if he had cited no evidence whatsoever, then I could understand—but the language is perfectly clear—'lack of discipline as evidenced by the conduct of some soldiers of the regiment'. That is the whole gravamen of the charge ; that is the sole foundation for making this complaint of lack of discipline : there is no other. I submit on this motion as drafted, knowing that the conduct of these soldiers is now being investigated in Court, you should not allow this motion.

May I just say one word more in answer to my Honourable friend's arguments ? If it is not urgent now, then he says this may go on for two months and after that it may be dragged on in the High Court for a year and then when he comes here he will be told : "Too late". Whether he will be told that he is too late or not I do not know : that will be a matter for your ruling, if the occasion arises. But surely the whole fallacy of that argument is as if a motion for adjournment is the only method of discussing a grievance before this House. Unless you make that basic assumption, unless you assume that there is no other way in which a thing can be done, that argument has no force.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What can be done now ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : It may be done not now, but later, by a Resolution. (Laughter from the Opposition Benches.) I am meeting the point that it is not urgent : supposing the matter comes up after a year or six months.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : There may be some other kind of remedy.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : My friend is assuming as if he has no other remedy at any time.....

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai (Bombay Northern Division : Non-Muham-madan Rural) : But why "any time" ? We want it now.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I am meeting the argument there will be no remedy later. Before I resume my seat, I will read from page 30 of the Book of Rulings :

"The formal moving of the adjournment of the House as a tactical method of introducing new matter into the day's work has during the nineteenth century been gradually but steadily discouraged by the rules of the House", says Joseph Redlich in his Procedure of the House of Commons.

Of course, my Honourable friends may say this is the 20th century.

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Further on, the same author says :

“ By the present rules such a motion for adjournment can only be permitted in case of special urgency ” ; and I am anxious that the same principle should be established in this House.

I submit, Sir, that if this trial goes on we shall know the facts, and then it will be time for us as well as for the Government to decide what should be done.

Seth Govind Das (Central Provinces Hindi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan) : Sir, as regards the urgency of this matter, which has been disputed, I may say that I come from the place where this incident has taken place, and I can tell you that round about the place, where the soldiers are stationed, there are many small villages.....

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : On a point of order, Sir, is my friend right in discussing these matters now ?

An Honourable Member : What is the point of order ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : My Honourable friend is referring to evidence about the conduct of these soldiers.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I would like to hear what the Honourable Member, Seth Govind Das, says.

Seth Govind Das : I was pointing out, Sir, that the place where the soldiers live is surrounded by many small villages, and, on account of this incident, the villagers who live there are afraid of such incidents or even more serious incidents in future ; what I want to point out, therefore, is that this matter is very urgent and the discussion on it might enable the military authorities to prevent the recurrence of such offences in the near future ; it is, therefore, a matter of very great urgency.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have considered this matter carefully, and I think I must hold that this motion cannot be discussed usefully without investigating the conduct of the soldiers of the King's Regiment implicated in the incidents alluded to. The sole evidence in the notice of motion before the House, as stated here, is the conduct of those soldiers. The House cannot discuss the conduct of those soldiers without taking into consideration the incidents of this occurrence, and, as the whole matter is sub judice, I feel that the rules stand in the way of this motion being allowed. I, therefore, disallow this motion.

DESPATCH OF TROOPS FROM BRITISH INDIA. TO ADDIS ABBABA (ABYSSINIA).

The President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The next motion is in the name of Pandit Nilakantha Das. He proposes to ask for leave for adjournment of the House to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance as follows :

“ The despatch of troops from British India to Addis Abbaba (Abyssinia). ”

Is there any objection to this motion ?

(No objection was taken.)

Does the Honourable Member wish to move this ?

Pandit Nilakantha Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Yes.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The motion will be taken up at 4 o'clock.

ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO THE STANDING FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. A. H. Lloyd (Government of India : Nominated Official) : Sir, in the absence of the Honourable Sir James Grigg, and, on his behalf, I beg to make the following motion, with your permission :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such method as may be approved by the Honourable the President, a member of the Standing Finance Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of his seat on the Assembly by Sir Leslie Sewell Hudson. ”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such method as may be approved by the Honourable the President, a member of the Standing Finance Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of his seat on the Assembly by Sir Leslie Sewell Hudson. ”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform Honourable Members that for the purpose of election of a member to the Standing Finance Committee the Notice Office will be open to receive nominations upto 12 Noon on Friday, the 6th September, and the election, if necessary, will, as usual, be held in the Secretary's Room in the Assembly Building on Wednesday, the 11th September, 1935, between the hours of 10-30 A.M. and 1 P.M. The election will be conducted in accordance with the principle of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote.

THE CINEMATOGRAPH (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, I beg to move :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Cinematograph Act, 1918, for a certain purpose, as passed by the Council of State, be taken into consideration. ”

This Bill has been passed by the Council of State and we would have proceeded with it in this House last Session had time permitted. The Bill is designed to meet an evil which has been felt and commented on for some years, namely, the improper and suggestive form occasionally taken by certain cinematograph posters and advertisements. The evil came to notice a good many years ago when the Cinematograph Committee of 1928 reported that it was desirable that it should be checked, but the only suggestion they made to check it was that the police or the magistracy should have statutory power to remove an objectionable poster, and that disobedience to any order of removal should be made punishable. That suggestion was considered by the Government of India, but it was not thought very satisfactory, as it was felt that it would fail to achieve the object desired, that is to prevent the exhibition of objectionable posters. The bulk of the Local Governments who were consulted on that occasion preferred the remedy which has been embodied in this Bill, namely pre-censorship. We had many protests about cinematograph posters, and I shall quote a few of the bodies and people who have made such protests. The Association for Moral and Social Hygiene writing quite recently said that these posters do much harm, and added, "when we consider the standards of courtesy observed between the two sexes in households in India, it is difficult to see any reason for the delay in prohibiting these undesirable posters, often American in origin". Another protest was made by the All-India Women's Conference which met at Calcutta in January last year, and another one by the National Council of Women in India, a body of which Her Highness the Maharani of Baroda is the President, another one by the Bengal Welfare Association, of which Sir P. C. Ray is the President, and yet another by the Bombay Presidency Women's Council. Finally, the Municipal Corporation of Bombay, during the presidency of Dr. Deshmukh, now a Member of this Assembly, wrote in October, 1934, thus :

[Sir Henry Craik.]

"It has been brought to the notice of the Corporation that posters depicting love scenes were exhibited by cinematograph companies in prominent places and that in the opinion of the Corporation there should be censors to prevent the exhibition of objectionable posters."

There were a number of other protests. I have only quoted a few of them. A large number of representations were made to Government to take legislative steps to cure this evil.

Now, Sir, the Bill which is before the House today has been prepared after consulting Local Governments and also Boards of Film Censors. Such Boards exist, I think, in five provinces, Bombay, Bengal, Burma, the Punjab and Madras,—I think I am right in saying that. The Bill provides that advertising matter of a pictorial nature should be censored by the Boards of Censors. We do not propose to extend the censorship to literary matter such as pamphlets and advertisements in newspapers unless they contain pictures, because we do not think that much harm is done by advertising matter of that kind. But posters and pictorial advertisements are sometimes indecent. If any Honourable Member is not prepared to accept my statement, I have had some examples of objectionable posters put up in the Library, and I think any Honourable Member looking at these posters will agree with me that they are, I won't say, obscene in the sense that they amount to an offence under the Penal Code, but they are I venture to hold distinctly suggestive, and in some cases it would not be an exaggeration to describe them as indecent.

Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta (Chittagong and Rajshahi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : They are all foreign and not Indian.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Most of them are foreign, but there are some Indian too.

Broadly speaking, the provisions of the Bill are that these pictorial advertisements must be exhibited for pre-censorship before the Board of Censors and the penalty provided for exhibiting publicly posters which have not been passed by the Censors is a fine of Rs. 500, and in certain cases, a recurring fine as well if the offence is repeated after warning. I hope that the Bill will be treated as non-controversial and that the House will accept its principle. Since the Bill passed the Council of State in February or March last, we have taken the opportunity of consulting Local Governments, Boards of Censors, and through them the trade. Certain objections have been put forward by the trade, but from a great many of the trade bodies and corporations that we consulted no replies have been received, thus showing that they are indifferent in the matter. Those that have objected have had their objections considered both by the Local Governments and by the Boards of Censors who are, of course, in constant touch with the trade, and the Board of Censors report that the apprehensions which the trade entertains are in fact ungrounded and that little or no inconvenience will be caused to the trade if this Bill becomes law.

The Honourable the Deputy President suggested that there was no need to apply this law to posters of Indian films. It would be difficult to distinguish between films produced in one country and films produced in another, and although I admit that taking it by and large the Indian posters are less objectionable than those that come from abroad, it is not the case that we have not had any complaints about Indian films. That was a matter specifically considered by the Board of Censors of Bengal which is the province particularly affected, being the province where I think most of the films produced in India are made.

That is all I have to say on the general lines of the Bill. I think the Bill, as it passed the Council of State, is capable of improvement in certain respects. We have had certain definite suggestions made to us by one or two of the provincial Boards of Censors for the modification of the Bill, and I have myself given notice of one or two amendments to that effect. I see that there is an amendment to my motion, for the appointment of a Select Committee. If that is the general wish of the House, I am quite prepared that the Bill should go to a Select Committee, but I must warn the House that that may possibly mean considerable delay in passing the Bill. I doubt very much whether we shall have time to get it through a Select Committee this Session in view of the pressure of business, but I quite agree that the Bill does want amendment in its present form and I am perfectly ready to give the House, or a Select Committee if that is the general view, an opportunity of considering and adjudicating on such objections as have been made by the trade to the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

"That the Bill further to amend the Cinematograph Act, 1918, for a certain purpose, as passed by the Council of State, be taken into consideration."

Notice has been given by Mr. Gadgil of an amendment which he wishes to move.

Mr. N. V. Gadgil (Bombay Central Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I move :

"That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of Dr. G. V. Deshmukh, Seth Govind Das, Mr. Samuel Aaron, Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya, Mr. Muhammad Nauman, Mr. H. A. Sathar H. Essak Sait, Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, Mr. J. Ramsay Scott, Mr. Pradyumna Prashad Singh, the Honourable the Home Member, Rao Bahadur M. C. Rajah, Mr. A. S. Hands, and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be six."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

" That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of Dr. G. V. Deshmukh, Seth Govind Das, Mr. Samuel Aaron, Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya, Mr. Muhammad Nauman, Mr. H. A. Sathar H. Essak Sait, Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, Mr. J. Ramsay Scott, Mr. Pradyumna Prashad Singh, the Honourable the Home Member, Rao Bahadur M. C. Rajah, Mr. A. S. Hands, and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be six."

Discussion will now go on on both the original motion and the amendment.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Sir, there can be no controversy over a Bill like this when we are as much interested in regulating the exhibition of pictures as the Honourable the Home Member. We have to remember that the object of this Act was to regulate the exhibition of pictures, but now I want to put before the House the other side of the shield. Under this Bill, we cannot forget that more and more power is being given to the so-called authority, the licensing authority, call it the Board of Censors—more and more power is being given, and it cannot be denied, and, I hope, it will not be denied even by the Honourable the Home Member, that this power has not always been exercised with reason. Indeed, I may say that very often this power has been exercised in an autocratic fashion, and there is a good deal of feeling in the public against the Board of Censors. To quote an instance that happened not so very long ago, some films were imported into this country as educational films. Those films were passed by the International Board as educational films. I happened to see some correspondence on them, and I believe I am correct when I say that in one of the letters from the Government of India it was asked what was the meaning of educational films ; they did not understand. If that is the position, I say, by all means give wider powers in the interests of moral hygiene if you like to the Board of Censors. But then you must be very particular as to how this Board of Censors is constituted. We find that, all over the country, the authority in many places is given to District Magistrates and Police Officers and Police Commissioners. It seems to me that this is behaving in a very backward fashion. After all, India is not such a country where, particularly in big cities like Bombay, Calcutta and Madras and other cities, you will not get public men or public bodies to associate themselves with the censors so that the films may be properly judged when they come up for inspection and there would be less of feeling amongst the merchants as well as the film importers. What I would suggest is this. I take it that the Bill is now going to the Select Committee and the Home Member has himself agreed to it. For instance, in cities like Bombay and Calcutta, where there are public bodies like the Bombay Corporation and the Senate of the University of Bombay, you would find many public spirited men perfectly willing to co-operate with the work of the Police Commissioners. In the different cities of India, you will find the same condition of things, and, if you associate them, there would be less of grievance and less of heart-burning when a film is censored. I would like that in this business of censorship educational institutions and public bodies should be more and more associated. If that is taken up in the Select Committee, I think that would be a very wise measure, and I do not suppose there would be much difficulty about passing the Bill in this House.

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury (Assam : Muhammadan) : I quite appreciate the desire of the Government of India to safeguard the morals of the public by prohibiting the exhibition of objectionable posters. Having seen the samples of the posters that have been put in the Library and also the posters in the streets, I am not convinced that they are so devastating in their effect on public morals as to require the enactment of this measure. Holding as I do a rather unorthodox view regarding this matter, I am not very nervous about the consequences of exhibition of a certain type of posters. As to the question of what is objectionable, opinions differ and the opinions of the highly respectable citizens who constitute the Board of Censors are not always above criticism. When the film producers produce some film they produce also the advertising material and naturally they take care to see that these materials are of such a character as not to offend against the accepted notions of obscenity or immorality and so far as my information goes the posters produced by the Indian producers have not been found objectionable anywhere. It is only the posters that are imported from outside to which objection has been taken by the authorities. I do not understand why the posters that can be exhibited in England and America should come under ban in India. I think, Sir, it is too late in the day to suggest that Eastern people will have a wrong conception of European life from the posters that are printed in the West. Cinema has familiarised the Western life to Eastern masses and it is generally recognised that human nature is the same all the world over. I do not see any reason why if these posters are allowed to be shown and exhibited in England and America they should be banned in India. The Home Member referred to the report of the Cinematograph Committee. The Committee found that there were some tendencies to exhibit objectionable posters but they did not recommend that the cinema producers ought to be put to the inconvenience and trouble of submitting the posters to the Board of Censors. They thought that it would be sufficient if the police took away the objectionable posters. I think that no cinema producer will go to the length of spending money on printing the posters when he knows that they are likely to be snatched away by the police when exhibited in public. I think the recommendation of the Cinematograph Committee was quite a cautious one and it should meet the needs of the situation. I would again say that the Indian film producers have not been found guilty of showing objectionable posters and why should they be penalised for the sins of the European producers ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I said that there have been some cases which have been objectionable.

Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury : Opinions will differ. The posters held objectionable by Board of Censors may not really be objectionable. As I said, my views are unorthodox in this matter. I do not consider that the posters that I have seen on the streets are so objectionable that they should be banned. I am glad that the Home Member has accepted the motion for reference of the Bill to the Select Committee and I think the matter can be thrashed out there.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Kural) : Mr. President, like my friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, I am opposed to this measure, but on grounds exactly opposite to his. Before I proceed further, I should like very respectfully to congratulate the Honourable the Home Member for keeping his eyes and ears open and alert at least in the matter of complaints that come on such matters as he likes, while his eyes and ears are absolutely closed to complaints of other kinds, such as those that come from Bengal. You will remember, and I am sure many Members of this House will remember, that Lord Irwin on one occasion said that the Indian people get a very wrong idea of European life owing to the cinemas. I agree with Lord Irwin. Having been myself abroad, I do not think European life is so corrupt and so utterly bad as is depicted in the cinemas that are exhibited in this country. Being a human being and not being governed by racial considerations, I feel it as hurtful to my own self-respect if any other human being is traduced or libelled; and I stand for the proper representation of European life in my country as much as I do for the proper representation of Indian life in countries abroad. It may perhaps satisfy the morbid taste of some gentlemen opposite to see to it that Indian life is traduced and painted in very evil colours abroad. It may even satisfy their lust for slander, to see that Miss Mayo's scandalous book is distributed free of cost abroad; but it does not satisfy me to see that Europeans are shown in a wrong and bad light in my country. Despite the European clothes worn by many of my countrymen in this House, I know that their homes are not European and that they do not live exactly as Europeans do. Ideas of decency and of morality differ in certain aspects, in different countries, despite all that my friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, may say. I am not an expert on cinemas; I am not even an expert on the posters of cinemas. If I may confess candidly, I have not been to a cinema house more than twelve times in my whole life of forty-five years. (Laughter.) I have not looked at many of the posters that are exposed; but the few posters and the few films that I have seen have given me the idea that the whole thing is seriously corrupt. If the Cinematograph Act itself were under consideration, I should be the first to propose that all cinemas in this country should be abolished (Oh! Oh!) (Hear, hear) unless decency and educational value could be ensured in the shows together with recreative pleasantness. But we are here limited by the terms of this Bill. I am one of those that do not like over-loading the Statute-book. I do not like lots of laws which are only honoured in the breach....

[Mr. Sri Prakasa.]

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: "More honoured in the breach...."

Mr. Sri Prakasa: If the Honourable Member is correcting my English, I may say that he himself is wrong. 'More' is used when a comparison is made. I did not say: "more honoured in the breach than in the observance". If I had said that, he would have been right; but I did not use the latter expression at all. I simply said: "which are only honoured in the breach". I do not know to what university my Honourable friend belongs. I suppose he belongs to Oxford, but I belong to Cambridge (Hear, hear), and we Cambridge men yield to no one. I was just going to say that the Indian Penal Code and the police laws, as they exist in the country, are quite enough to meet the danger that the Honourable Member is afraid of. There are laws about decency, there are laws against obscenity; and I am sure the police is not doing its duty when it allows objectionable posters to be exhibited in public places. If only the police authorities look into the laws that they are supposed to administer, they will see to it that these posters are abolished without the help of any additional laws. The reason why I am opposed to this measure is that I have no faith in the censors. As my Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, has already explained, these censors behave in a funny and autocratic manner. They don't care for their duty but act according to their own notions of things. Though the Honourable the Home Member assured the House or seemed to assure the House that his purpose was to stop indecency and immorality, I may assure you, Sir, from such experience as I have had of his Government and of himself, that all this censorship is going to be used mostly for political purposes. (Hear, hear.) I will give you only one illustration. The other day, in Farrukhabad in my Province, and in my constituency, a cinema company wanted to exhibit a film showing scenes from the Bombay Congress. The District Magistrate of that place advised the manager of the cinema company not to exhibit this film. We all know what the "advice" of a District Magistrate means: if that "advice" had been disregarded, the manager and his company would have gone to pieces! This is the way the censors work here. Sir, I have no trust in these censors any more than I have any trust in this Government and its personnel (Hear, hear), and, therefore, I am most anxious that there should be no law on the subject, and no addition to the existing law. What are these posters, after all? They are only a replica, so far as I know, of the films that have been passed by the censors. In European countries they have a standard of clothing; for instance, they see nothing very indecent in a lady of rank and title appearing in a skirt not lower than her knees, but in India—we may be wrong—we regard this as indecent, and we think that women should be more clothed than this. I have no objection to European women putting on whatever clothes they like; they follow their own standards; but we do not want those standards to come here. I have seen on the few occasions that I have been in a cinema hall (Laughter) the audience indulging in ribald laughter whenever they see some scene thrown on the screen which would not have elicited even a smile from a European audience. Here they feel that it is something very amusing.

I will refer—if you will permit me to do so, Sir,—to the rather embarrassing subject of kissing. (Laughter.) Now, in India, we are not much used to being kissed or to kissing (A Voice: What?) in public. In India—I am not talking about those gentlemen who have been aping European manners (Laughter), I am talking of the vast mass of the people—I can tell you, Sir, that if you take a census, you will find that about 90 per cent of husbands have never kissed their wives (Laughter) (Voices of "What?" "What?"), and certainly 99 per cent of Indian wives have never kissed their husbands (Laughter) in public. Now, kissing in public here is almost reserved to babies; but in European countries public kissing is a very common thing. In England, for instance, men and women kiss each other without creating any confusion at railway stations. (Laughter.) On the continent of Europe, men kiss each other without creating any similar confusion. If men kiss each other in England, there would be confusion, because that is not the custom there. In England, you are only authorised to kiss ladies, and if you go beyond that, you will get into trouble. Now, whenever these films of indiscriminate kissing are exhibited, there is always ribald laughter here from those who are witnessing these scenes.

An Honourable Member : They are beginning to like it.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : They are beginning to like it, and I am sorry for them : and I wish that Government, if they mean to be a Government—I doubt if they mean to be a Government, they only mean to be a tyrant—if they really are a Government in any sense of the word, they will see to it that the immoral in human nature is not encouraged.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Is kissing prohibited ?

Mr. Sri Prakasa : I ask the Honourable Member who is pretending to indulge in a moral lecture to this country, in the case of everything that a human being does in private, why should not all that be exposed on the screen, and why bring in this law ? Sir, I cannot understand the Honourable Member indulging in moral lectures ; I can understand him in the realm of politics. My clear submission to this House is that we must stand against all exhibition of immorality and indecency according to our standards and not according to the standards of Europe. I say that the whole of the cinema censorship is wrong in principle because persons who are in charge of censorship are themselves rather fond, as one of my friends said, of those things which they pass as good. And what happens in Mofussil towns ? I can give many examples from my own city of Benares. The policemen themselves are rather fond of seeing cinemas and so are the magistrates. I know of deputy collectors phoning to the police station, and asking the thanadar to inform the neighbouring cinema house that His Majesty the Deputy Collector with his family wants to visit the cinema ; and seats are thereupon reserved for them without any payment. When policemen and magistrates are allowed free admission to cinema houses, of course, they are very chary of running cinema men for indecency and immorality. How does the Home Member expect that this evil of his Government will be abolished ? If any wrong doing on the part of magistrates and the police are mentioned to him, he says : “ I have never heard about them. All this is absolutely false and untrue.” He was saying the same thing when informed of the actual happenings in Bengal. Any complaint that is made against his subordinates is false and untrue ; and anything that he likes to believe is true. We have seen how sensitive he was when the motion for adjournment was moved this morning. He seemed to me to be treating very lightly the life that was taken in Jubbulpore. But when it comes to his own subordinates and members of his own Government, he becomes awfully sensitive. I shall have more to say if I get an opportunity, when his infamous Bill re Criminal Law Amendment comes before the House. But for the present I shall be satisfied with saying that this Bill be withdrawn and that the Home Member and his Government should instruct all subordinates throughout the country to see that immoral and indecent posters are not exhibited in the public streets. I may assure the House that there is plenty of scope under the terms of the various existing laws, for example, the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code, for the local magistracy and the local police to take action against offenders. As I said at the beginning, I do not want to overburden the Statute-book. The larger the number of laws that you enact the lesser the possibility of their being followed in action. With these few words, I wish to appeal to both sides of the House to throw out this Bill and to depend upon the ordinary law of the land.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

Seth Govind Das (Central Provinces Hindi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan) : Sir, I do not want to give a silent vote on this question as I am personally connected with this industry and I know its difficulties. At the very outset, I want to make it clear that I am one of those who want to censor films from a moral point of view, and the concern with which I am connected is floated to produce such films which are clean from a moral point of view. But, at the same time, I do not want that such restrictions should be imposed on this industry, which will kill the industry itself.

Now, Sir, according to this Bill, representation of every picture will have to be brought before the Board of Censors. This pictorial representation will not contain only big screens and posters, but even photographs and blocks, the number of which goes sometimes even to hundreds. Sir, to bring all this material before the Censor would be not only too difficult a job for these film concerns, but would be too expensive. In different papers, when the cinema advertisements appear, those papers also make blocks in different ways and in different combinations. These papers are published from different parts of the country. It would be very difficult, I should say, it would be practically impossible, for these papers to get their blocks censored by the Board of Censors. Then, generally, all photographs of these blocks are prepared from the material of the films which are censored. I do not see the need of censoring these things again when the film is already censored.

When this Bill was being discussed in the Council of State, the Honourable Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan asked whether Government had received any complaint about the advertisements concerning the films which were prepared in India to which the Honourable Mr. Hallett replied, “ No, Sir, I do not think we have ”. The Honourable Raja Ghazanfar Ali Khan again asked if he would not confine this Bill to imported films alone, to which the Honourable Mr. Hallett said, “ No, Sir ”. I do not understand why, when complaints are not received as far as the Indian films are concerned, this Bill should not be restricted to the imported films only and why should this Bill be applied to indigenous films also ?

I do not want to take up much of the time of the House, but, before I sit down, I must say one thing more, and that is that I do not think this Bill is a safe one from the political point of view as well. Recently a film was produced by a film concern in Bombay, namely, Ajanta, its name was “ Mazdur ”, and the story of that film was written by a famous Hindi writer, Babu Prem Chand. This film has been banned in most of the provinces from the political point of view. This Government calls itself the Government of India, but there is no denying the fact that it is not our Government, and I shall be the last person to give any more powers in any direction in the hands of the present Government of India. Therefore, I must oppose this Bill both on principle and on its merits.

Dr. F. X. DeSouza (Nominated Non-Official) : Sir, although the Bill is being treated more or less as a non-controversial measure, yet I should like to intervene in this debate for a few moments to express my gratitude to the Honourable the Home Member for introducing this Bill, on behalf of the Indian Christian community which I represent in this House. No community, Sir, views with more concern the mischief done by obnoxious films than the Indian Christian community. Representing as these films profess to do the types of culture and modes of life prevailing in Christian countries, people in the East have a tendency to regard these films as typical of the Christian culture of the West. Therefore, we, the Indian Christians in this country, feel as if Christianity itself was on trial in the East. It is, however, unnecessary to inform this enlightened House that these films are not typical of Christian culture at all. They represent the culture which Hitler has called the Bolshevisation of culture and are no more representative of the true Christian culture than the Bolshevik State represents the ideals of a Christian State.

[Dr. F. X. DeSouza.]

Sir, there is indeed a school of thought in this country which was referred to this morning by my Honourable friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, which regards these disgraceful exhibitions of European life not without some satisfaction. They do not wholly condemn these exhibitions, because they think that they tend to lower the prestige of the Western races in the eyes of the Eastern people. I, for one, do not share these feelings. As my Honourable friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, expressed it this morning in his best Cambridge manner, these films are a degradation of our common humanity.

As I have said the measure is being treated more or less as a non-controversial measure, there is general agreement about its being referred to a Select committee. Two types of mind were brought to light in the course of the debate this morning. One type was that of extreme conservatism which regards kissing as mischievous and short skirts as a source of great danger. There is another school of thought represented by my Honourable friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, who thinks that no harm can be done by a picture however bad it may be. I shall leave these two extremes aside and I think the general sense of the House is that the posters which are now advertised do contain very objectionable matter, and it is up to the Select Committee to inquire to what extent they should be stopped.

My Honourable friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, said, after all what is a poster? A poster is merely a replica of the film and if the film is not censored, why censor the poster? Well, Sir, I do not agree with him nor did the Cinema Committee which inquired into the matter in 1928. I will use the words which the Cinema Committee used:

"Posters like other catchpenny devices are often more lurid than the goods which they advertise and at times refer to scenes which have been excised either by the censor or the exhibitor himself."

As an instance they say that they themselves witnessed an enlarged poster advertised "Kiss me Again" in too suggestive a manner but the film itself was absolutely harmless. True, the old proverb says that good wine needs no bush. Apparently, according to the experience of the Cinema Committee, a good film requires a bad poster in order to make it more alluring.

Sir, I shall not detain the House further except to mention one thing and that is that when the Select Committee comes to consider this Bill they will bear in mind one or two points referred to this morning. The first was the constitution of the Board of Censors about which I see there is general dissatisfaction in the larger cities of Bombay, Madras and Calcutta. They consider that superannuated old gentlemen are not in touch with modern ideas and they want that the Board of Censors should be more representative by having men interested in education, social reform and other public activities to be included in them. The second point to which I should like to draw the attention of the Select Committee is that more facilities should be given to producers of films than exist at present. I understand that both in Madras and Bombay there are no decent projection boards at all provided, and the unfortunate producer has considerable expense in hiring a theatre from one of the cinema exhibitors and he has to pay the taxi hire of inspectors and incur expense before the film is passed. Third and last, I should also draw the attention of the Select Committee to the fact that the industry has now become a national industry. I hear that in Bombay nearly 20,000 men are employed in this industry and therefore a national Government which this Government is gradually becoming should feel that it is its duty to make it a national industry by abolishing the duty on raw films, by having educational films or patriotic films produced or in any other way that may suggest itself to the Select Committee. Sir, I support the motion.

Mr. M. Ghiasuddin (Punjab : Landholders) : Sir, I wish to draw the attention of the House to the fact that no good can come out of this measure unless a radical change is made in the type of persons who are to be appointed as film censors. How will anybody feel if a blind man were made a judge of art, or a deaf person a judge of music or a teetotaller were made a wine taster in a hotel? At present the only qualification which is required of a man to be appointed as a film censor is that he should have ultra-puritanical views and so we see some of the best pictures being slaughtered because the persons so appointed have no sense of art. I can illustrate my point by quoting what happened very recently in Lahore. A picture called "The Private Life of Henry the Eighth" which was exhibited both in America and in England and to which the critics of both countries gave very fine certificates was censored because they thought it would bring hatred and contempt on the English race here. It was shown in London where it was a great success and I suppose there are a few English people in London. It did not hurt any of their susceptibilities; yet it was thought that this picture would bring into hatred and contempt the English people over here. On the other hand, pictures which show Asiatics as villains and Englishmen as heroes and in which Asiatics are depicted in the worst colours are freely exhibited without any restraint. So I wish to submit that, before this Bill is passed into law, the Select Committee would see that provisions are made to remove these defects.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadian Rural) : Sir, I feel much concerned with this Bill. Having taken some interest in this matter, I found that there are some matters which must be attended to by the Government. On account of that I had communications with the Home Member and I drew his attention to the fact that in this Bill or in some other Bill provision should be made to checkmate the production of pictures in India which are quietly photographed here and taken to the other countries, developed there and exhibited to the detriment of Indian people. On that point I had some correspondence with the Home Member and the House knows that at the last Session in Delhi two instances were brought before the House to show how attempts are being made in that direction by showing such films in countries outside India. I also suggested some remedy for that purpose but as the Home Member then stated that he would look into the question we waited to see what he would actually do in that respect. I hope I have made clear to the House what I mean. Some people come over here from America and other places and take incorrect pictures here of things which do not sometimes even exist. Thus many things manipulated are to the detriment of the Indian people and the country of India. These people take such photographs round to America and other places and exhibit them there : this is a thing that must be stopped with a strong hand, and for that purpose I hope that some method will be found out by the Government to check it. The last reply that I got from the Honourable Member showed his sympathy : it also showed that he had at his heart the question of safeguarding the interests of India in that direction, but he was not able to find out any remedy. He asked : "How can we prevent it ? There are secret ways of photographing and taking away these films." But I submit that in this matter if the Government have vision they will certainly find a way out. It cannot be that a mischief like this cannot be prevented : Government have got their own C. I. D. and their inspecting and other staff to find out whether things are being done illegally or not. At the customs offices and at the ports, inspections are always going on and so much money is being spent on inspectors' salaries and other precautions, and I am sorry to say that I get this reply. However, I do not despair—I never despair—and I hope the Government will think over this question and the Select Committee will give attention to this question and arrive at some method by which this evil could be checked.

[Mr. Lalchand Navalrai.]

Now, coming to the Bill itself, there are two motions before the House : one is to take the Bill into consideration and the other is to refer it to a Select Committee : and I think the Home Member has been wise in accepting the motion to refer it to a Select Committee. There is no doubt that it is not a contentious Bill ; it is also not objectionable if the provisions are worked properly. I would here submit that the original Cinematograph Act has not been worked properly, as was pointed out by Dr. Deshmukh : it is left in the hands of the District Magistrates, as so many other things are left in their hands : in many instances European District Magistrates do not know our customs and manners, our feelings and our tastes, and they give permission to show pictures, judging from the standard of their own country. I say the Censor Board should be constituted in such a manner that it should consist of Indian experts jointly though with European experts, of persons who feel themselves responsible to the people and who consult the views of the public and find out what is good and what is bad.

So far as the throwing out of the Bill is concerned, I am sorry I cannot join hands with my friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa. He has put his case very well ; but does he know that the Cinematograph Act exists today and that this Bill is only supplementary to it, adding one or two sections to it ? If it is suggested that the original Act itself should go off and that there should be no legislation in this matter at all, I for myself would not agree to it at all. Therefore, to reject this Bill will not achieve the object in view. Our destinies and the destinies of the British have been mixed together and we cannot avoid their joining us in passing legislation for safeguarding this country and theirs. In this matter, however, the sense of morality itself is different, and I cannot agree with my Honourable friend, Mr. Abdul Matin Chaudhury, that any picture which is good in America is good here. In fact, I do not think his own community will accept what he says here : I do not know where he got those ideas from. Is it Koranic law which tells him that an obscene picture should be accepted in this country ? (Interruption.) My friend is still young and he will revise his views later on : I know from my experience of him of so many years that he is open to correction and is not incorrigible. (Laughter.) I have seen the world and I can form my own judgment....

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (Presidency Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Are you within the 90 per cent, or within the 10 per cent. category of Mr. Sri Prakasa ?

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : As I say I do not agree with those who think that this Bill should be thrown out. I do not also agree with those who say that what is good for America or for the British people is good for India. I say we must have a good body of censors in India. Some people say we must do away with cinemas altogether : if you can have Congress rule you can certainly do it : but at present it is no use saying those things. What I say and emphatically say is that precautions must be adopted for proper censorship before the Bill passes out of the Select Committee. The Committee should consider all these views. If no provisions are to be made and no precautions taken to get a better Board of Censors, then it is no use having this legislation. I think this side of the House is agreed that the censorship now is not impartial or good. Now if you want to censor films but you do not want to censor posters and advertisements it will be an anomaly. It is said there is no such law in England ; true, but even the Royal Cinematograph Commission, considering the condition in India, recommended it for India. I think they have sense enough, in fact they have more sense than some of us have here. My Honourable friend opposite asked how to meet the differences of opinion as to the kind of posters and pictures ? Are there not differences of opinion in this House ? How are such differences got over ? Such differences of opinion are got over by a majority. Have a useful Board of Censors, and if by a majority they consider that a certain film or poster is harmless, you can pass it, but if it is considered objectionable by the majority, certainly don't pass it. Therefore, I say that this is only a supplementary Bill, and so all necessary precautions and safeguards should be taken to see that the Act itself is also worked properly. We know in India how Bills when they become an Act are worked, how their provisions are carried out in practice. The whole measure is considered very nice by this House and it becomes an Act, and when it is sent out, how does the Executive work it ? They try to whittle down everything and then tell you that it is working very well. All I want to say is this. When the Bill comes out of the Select Committee and again comes before this House if necessary precautions are not taken or if certain provisions are not embodied in it as safeguards, I for one would ask the whole House to throw it out.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras ceded Districts and Chittoor : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I wish to say a few words in respect of this Bill. Some of us on this side are sharply divided on this Bill according to their age. Persons as they grow old find objectionable matter in everything. I would say, Sir, that this Amending Bill is not necessary. Instead of making the original Bill more and more useful so that better films may be produced, and the industry as a whole is encouraged, every kind of obstacle is sought to be placed in the way of the further progress of this film industry. Recently, Sir, in an exhibition which was opened by Sir M. Vishweshwarayya, he explained how this industry is full of promise for the future and what great potentialities it has before it. Persons of various professions are engaged in this industry,—artists, play-wrights, photographers and engineers find occupation in this industry. Again and again resolutions have been passed and representations have been made to the Government that raw films brought into this country might be let off easily without charging a heavy import duty. Far from taking action in the direction suggested by the public, unfortunately every kind of stringent measure is sought to be adopted with a view to kill this infant industry. I would submit that if the original film itself cannot be exhibited without its passing through a Board of Censors, there is no need putting before that Board the advertising matter also relating to that film. Whatever the advertisement may be, a person takes the trouble of advertising a film only for the purpose of exhibiting that film. If the film is likely to be censored, the advertiser will not be foolish enough to send up posters at a huge cost to advertise his film, and if it is to be exhibited, there is absolutely nothing objectionable in allowing pictorial representations thereof to go in advance. Already the film producers are put to an enormous cost by way of fees for inspection and they have made various representations to Government from time to time. Under the Act, 50 per cent. of those who are nominated on the Board of Censors are officials and the other 50 per cent. are non-officials. Views are changing everyday regarding decency, and they are naturally different in different countries. Recently, an M. L. A. was found to be an obnoxious being, not a fit person to be admitted to society, because he had not put on western costume. We do not know where this will end. A kind of dress that is usually adopted in one country may be objected to by persons in another country. I would, therefore, say that if you select persons of the type who recently sought to avoid or exclude an Honourable Member of this House from a club, if such persons are put on the Board of Censors, we do not know if this industry will be allowed to flourish in this country at all. We are trying to be too sensitive in this matter.

With regard to sending advertising matter before the Board of Censors, I would say there is absolutely no need for it. It is not necessary and it puts the film producers to a very great expense.

Then, Sir, as regards the restrictions. In these days, we are trying to empower the Government with certain powers which can be used adversely to the interests of this country. "Dandi March" and similar films which are exhibited in other countries are not allowed to be exhibited in this country. This Amending Bill does not restrict the pictorial advertisements to obscene pictures or pictorial advertisements alone. Anything on political grounds can be tabooed. You are placing once again too much power in the hands of the Board of Censors, 50 per cent. of which is nominated by Government. Anything, however, useful to this country, can be tabooed by the Board of Censors. I would, therefore, request Honourable Members of this House to consider whether it is desirable to place much more power than already exists in the hands of the Board of Censors over whose nomination or appointment this House has absolutely no control.

Then, even after a film is produced and exhibited, there is the District Magistrate or the local Superintendent of Police to throttle it, who says that even if the film has passed through the fire, even if it has been passed by the Board of Censors, it is objectionable so far as a small place is concerned, as if the morals contained in a picture exhibited in a small place differ from the morals in the presidency headquarters, so that films which are passed by a Board of Censors as fit for a big place become absolutely objectionable to a small place. That is how at any stage a film which is produced at an enormous cost is likely to be banned. Under these circumstances, I suggest that this is not a measure which should receive support from this side of the House. However, as my friend has moved for reference to a Select Committee, I suggest that sufficient precautions should be taken in the Select Committee, at least with respect to this portion of the Amending Bill, to see that the Board of Censors consist of some representatives who will be free from bias or who would not be absolutely under the thumb of the Government.

Further, Sir, I would say that it is just and proper that film producers should have adequate representation on such Board of Censors. No doubt, this would mean a modification of the original Bill itself, but at least with respect to this portion,—the preamble not having been modified,—at the Select Committee stage necessary amendments should be made so that suitable provisions may be incorporated in the Bill in order to give proper representation to the film producers as also to the non-official public on the Board to ensure that proper films are not unnecessarily tabooed.

Then, as regards the difficulty which my friend, Mr. Lalechand Navalrai, raised, that films produced in this country are taken surreptitiously to other countries where we are made a laughing stock, he was at pains to find out a remedy, and it appears that in spite of repeated representations the Government also expressed its inability to remedy this evil. I would suggest that there ought to be an International convention that unless a film is certified in the place of its origin, it ought not to be allowed to be exhibited in another country. Such a convention is not hard to get, because if other countries do not accept that convention, it is easy for us to exhibit in our country films depicting damaging things about those countries. Therefore all countries should be interested in bringing about that convention if it is possible. Of course, this may be a matter foreign to the scope of the present Bill and of the Select Committee, but I would suggest that the Honourable the Mover might bring the Bill in a modified form so that it may do more justice to the industry and the public at large. You will not prevent books, you may prevent these films and advertisements. I was really surprised when I went through the posters collected and kept in the Library. I did not find much of objectionable material therein, and I wonder how they should take objection to this when we find exhibited in every railway station nude pictures in journals of the nude society and sun bathing journals containing pictures of nude sun bathers. I do not know if the Government or the Honourable Member have ever seen those pictures. Here at least there is an attempt to cover up the coverable portions, but in those pictures there is absolutely no attempt to do so.

[Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.]

We are unfortunately in a position in this country where we have not got the means to cover both the waist and the upper portion of the body, and a sun bath is absolutely unnecessary in those circumstances. I find that there is no censorship in the case of the nude cult and sun bathing societies. You do not prohibit that, and still you try to prohibit this branch of industry in this country when it has not yet been able to raise its head. It is full of promise and, therefore, let us not be too careful and meticulous about this and kill the industry even in its infancy. I just want to say one word more. My Honourable friend, Mr. Sri Prakasa, being quite young I thought that he would feel like a young man. But he seems to be a puritan from his birth. He, incidentally, said that 90 per cent. of our people do not know what it is to kiss. I hope that he confines his objection to kissing in public. (Laughter.)

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Most of the speeches delivered by objectors to this Bill have dealt with the censoring, not of posters, but of films, and that is a subject with which the Bill does not deal in any way whatever. The Bill is wholly confined to a proposal that pictorial posters should be pre-censored. One or two objections have been taken on the ground that the Bill would prove a serious obstacle to the film producing or film exhibiting industry, and the Honourable gentleman opposite said that if the films themselves have to be censored, what is the point in censoring the advertisements which are merely a part of the film. That is not, strictly speaking, accurate. Advertisements very often represent scenes that are not actually in the films themselves. I imagine that most of the particularly objectionable advertisements are of that description. Further, it was said that the Bill would put additional expense on the industry. But there is no proposal that any additional fee should be charged in the censoring of advertisements. It is merely proposed that the advertisements should be shown to the Board of Censors at the same time as the films to which they refer. Honestly I do not think that it would really involve any additional expense or hindrance to the development of the trade. However, that is a matter that can and will certainly be gone into if the Select Committee is appointed.

My Honourable friend, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, introduced quite a different subject when he referred to the correspondence which he recently had with myself about films manufactured in India. He asked me, so far as I recollect the correspondence,—I have not seen it recently—he asked me whether there was not some way in which films manufactured in India could be censored before they were taken out of the country. But I am afraid that is not practicable because a staff of photographers come out here and take photographs, but they do not develop them in this country and it is impossible to show them to the censor or to any one else, even if we were aware, as we cannot always be, where they were being made and when they were being taken out of the country.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : The Honourable Member will excuse me if I interrupt him. My point was whether the Government could not have means to find out when the productions are secretly made and taken out of the country. My correspondence will show that.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am sorry I cannot hear the Honourable Member. I will be glad to discuss this subject with him and to show him what the practical difficulties in the way of his suggestion are.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : My Honourable friend said that when they are secretly made and taken out they could not be censored. My point was, and I have explained it today in my speech, that those pictures are secretly made and taken out of India, and some method should be devised to see that this does not happen.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I had better have a discussion with the Honourable Member outside the House ; if he can make any practicable suggestion I will only be too glad to consider it. But it is very difficult to discuss it on the floor of this House by way of question and answer, and after all, it has nothing whatever to do with the Bill now under consideration.

I think I am right in saying that on the whole the House is sympathetic to the object of this Bill, and I trust that it will agree that it should be further considered either by Select Committee or by a Committee of the whole House, I do not really mind which. I do not think that the views expressed by the Honourable Member from Benares, which seemed to be of a very pessimistic nature, really reflect any large body of opinion either in this House or in the country. The Honourable Member dislikes films altogether. He dislikes cinema houses, he dislikes kissing, he dislikes Government, he dislikes me.... (Laughter.)

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : He is opposed to kissing in public, and not in bed.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : He dislikes nearly everything. When the Honourable Member was speaking, to me he seemed to have the outlook of a gouty, pessimistic old gentleman of 85, and I suggest that he should try to model his outlook on life slightly more closely on the lines of the bright young gentleman sitting straight in front of him. (Laughter.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Before the amendment is put, the Chair would mention to the House that the Mover of the amendment wants to add the name of Babu Baijnath Bajoria to the personnel of the Select Committee. The question is :

“ That the name of Babu Baijnath Bajoria be added to the Select Committee.”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of Dr. G. V. Deshmukh, Seth Govind Das, Mr. Samuel Aaron, Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya, Mr. H. A. Sathar H. Essak Sait, Sir Ghulam Hussain, Mr. Muhammad Nauman, Mr. J. Ramsay Scott, Mr. Pradyumna Hidayatallah, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, Mr. Rao Bahadur M. C. Rajah, Prashad Singh, the Honourable the Home Member, and that the number of Members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be six.”

The motion was adopted.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai (Secretary, Department of Education, Health and Lands) : Sir, I beg to move :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Aligarh Muslim University Act, 1920, for a certain purpose, as passed by the Council of State, be taken into consideration.”

This is a very simple measure, Sir, and I hope that it will prove to be non-controversial. Towards the end of April, 1934, the Court of the Aligarh Muslim University decided to recommend to the Governor General in Council through the Board of Visitors that the Aligarh Muslim University Act should be amended so as to abolish the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor. They made that recommendation in pursuance of a recommendation of a retrenchment committee which had been appointed earlier suggesting that the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor be abolished as a measure of economy. The Board of Visitors, Sir, forwarded the recommendation of the Court to the Governor General in Council but with a modification that, instead of abolishing the post, the power shall be left to the Court either to keep the appointment or to abolish the appointment. Their point of view, and that is also the point of view of the Government of India, is that in the case of a growing institution like the Aligarh Muslim University it is impossible to anticipate when circumstances may arise when the appointment of a Pro-Vice-Chancellor may be necessary. After all there is the sister university of Benares. The Act which constituted that University made the appointment of Pro-Vice-Chancellor there obligatory and from all that I have heard from the Vice-Chancellor and from others the business of the University has been so pressing and the functions of the Vice-Chancellor especially in an ambassadorial capacity have been so varied that they have persistently felt the need of keeping the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor filled. What we felt was that rather than adopt the restrictive recommendation of the Court, because it would be a restrictive recommendation if the Court were deprived of the liberty to fill the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor later on if necessary, we should so amend the Act as to leave the Court free to appoint a Pro-Vice-Chancellor when circumstances required it and to abolish that when circumstances recommended that particular course. That is the amendment which was made by the Bill as passed by the Council of State and that is the amendment, Sir, to which we now seek the support of this House. Sir, I move.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Aligarh Muslim University Act, 1920, for a certain purpose, as passed by the Council of State, be taken into consideration.”

There is an amendment of which notice has been given.

Maulana Shaukat Ali (Cities of the United Provinces : Muhammadan Urban) : I beg to propose an amendment to the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is to the second clause.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : My amendment would read thus....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Clause 2 is not yet before the House.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan (Agra Division : Muhammadan Rural) : We have received no notice.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The amendment of which notice has been given by Maulana Shaukat Ali is only relating to clause 2. That is not before the House. This is the motion for consideration.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : We have received no copy of the amendment.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That will be dealt with when the time comes.

The question is :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Aligarh Muslim University Act, 1920, for a certain purpose, as passed by the Council of State, be taken into consideration.”

The motion was adopted.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is : “ That clause 2 stand part of the Bill.”

Notice of an amendment has been given by Maulana Shaukat Ali.

Sir Muhammad Yakub (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Muhammadan Rural) : I rise to a point of order. Is this amendment in order according to Order 46, sub-section (1) ? Notice has not been given within the prescribed time, and, therefore, it cannot be moved.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does the Honourable Member want to move his amendment ?

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Yes, my amendment would read thus :

“ In clause 2 of the Bill, for the proposed section 41, the following be substituted : “ The office of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor shall be abolished ”.”

This was the recommendation made by the Court of the University.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : May I raise the point of order at this stage ? My submission is that under Order 46, sub-section (1) notice ought to have been given two days earlier, and, as that rule has not been complied with, the amendment cannot be taken up at this moment.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : When was the notice given ?

Maulana Shaukat Ali : I admit that I gave notice of this motion only a few hours ago. I am very sorry for this mistake, because I am a new Member and I have been busy arranging about my accommodation and other things. If you allow my amendment, it will be more acceptable to the Muslim community. You, Sir, can use your power in my favour, Government can use their power to help me. But if that power cannot be used, then I accept the position.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair would rule this amendment out of order. Objection has been taken that notice was not given in time, and no justification has been made out for not giving the notice in time.

The question is :

“ That clause 2 stand part of the Bill.”

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Then I want to oppose this Bill. I have my reasons for opposing it. If my amendment could have been accepted, I am sure that it would have been in the best interests, not only of the Government, but also of the Muslim community and of Aligarh.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I should like to suggest to my Honourable friend that his opposition would be more appropriate at the stage when I move that the Bill be passed, and not at this stage.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair would like to hear what the Honourable Member has got to say.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Sir, I see it is very easy to try to thwart an honest motion. I want to put up a straightforward and honest fight. If every obstacle,—legal or otherwise, that is put in front of me, all I can say today is that I will be able to meet it when I make a careful study of the rules and regulations of this House. Today, however, on this matter, I must ask the indulgence of the House to give me a patient hearing. I am an Aligarh boy. (Laughter.) (A Voice : "Boy ?") Yes, I am an Aligarh boy, and am proud of it. I am very much younger at heart than the youngest man in this House. I know Aligarh well ; I have worked for it ; and even my worst enemy cannot say that many more people love Aligarh better than myself or better than my late brother did to the collection of funds for the Muslim University. I devoted myself, and I gave up Government service and took part in making its constitution. We took our full share and we took the greatest interest always in every aspect of life of the Aligarh University. Now, I want to tell you, Sir, and through you, the House, that the reason on account of which feelings were strained between the Government and the Muslim people, so much so that men like me and others became rebels and outlaws, was on account of Government's constant interference in the internal affairs of Aligarh dearly loved by all. It has always been our plea that we Muslims were entirely responsible for the working of the constitution. The great founder from the very beginning laid stress on the point that nobody should be a Trustee except a Muslim. On account of our feelings of resentment against the Government interference, we became rebels and outlaws. We, Muslims, know how to look after our own interests and resent others interfering in matters concerning ourselves. We have got enough capable men in our University Court, and we are perfectly alive to the best interests of the University,....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair has heard the Honourable Member's preliminary remarks, and it thinks the Honourable Member must now address himself to the clause.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : I want to show why the University Court unanimously recommended to the Government....

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Not unanimously, by a majority of two or three.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : I am talking of April, 1934.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Then also.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : The Vice-Chancellor, Sir Ross Maswood, realising the position, proposed and the Court accepted it, that the post of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor should be abolished. And the Pro-Vice-Chancellor himself, who was an English gentleman and for whom we have the greatest respect, said with emphasis that this post was not really needed ; that it has caused and will cause friction and differences and intrigues. When you have got a whole-time Vice-Chancellor,—there was no need for the post of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor carrying nearly Rs. 4,000 a month. Everybody connected with the University work accepted it. The Academic Council, consisting of responsible members of the staff, unanimously accepted it, and the gentleman concerned himself, Mr. Ransbotham, in the interests of truth, efficiency and smooth-working, said that the post was not needed and should be abolished. Then came a communication after April, 1934, to the Government of India, giving the considered decision of all these people who were intimately connected with the University. No answer was given nor any notice taken of this recommendation. There were reminders sent also but to no effect and I would very much like the Honourable Member in charge to lay on the table of the House all the correspondence that passed after the University had asked for the amendment of the Muslim University Bill, so that the House may be able to judge and form an opinion whether the recommendation of the unanimous Court was right or wrong or whether the Government Department concerned had treated them with due respect. Sir, all I want is that there should be no corruption, there should be no jobbery in our University organization. I know there had been corruption, there had been jobbery which we wanted to stop.

Here I have got a report in my hand which very few gentlemen in this House have seen. There was a Vice-Chancellor, of the type of Sahabzada Aftab Ahmed Khan,—a man who had devoted all his life to the cause of Aligarh, and then there was a Pro-Vice-Chancellor, the quarrels started between the Pro-Vice-Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellor, which ruined the work of our University. There was indiscipline, and every rule and reputation of the University was broken to further party politics, so much so that there were complaints and scandalous quarrels all round and it was openly said that money was wasted and salaries increased, in favour of partisans, while others got into trouble because they could not belong to a certain party and because the Pro-Vice-Chancellor thought that he should control and have power and they fought and the University suffered. Sahabzada Aftab Ahmad Khan, the Vice-Chancellor, is dead, but Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad, the then Pro-Vice-Chancellor, is here and he will bear me out that there was constant friction and open quarrels. This scandalous condition got so bad that the Government officials complained. After consultation between Rector Lord Irwin and Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal, the Chancellor, an impartial commission was appointed. There were no Congress people on it nor Muslim Nationalists were on it. The Commission had as President Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola. He was formerly an Executive Councillor of the Bombay Government. Later on he became the President of the Legislative Council of Bombay, and still later he occupied the Chair that you, Sir, now occupy, and on that Commission were Sir Philip Hartog, the educational expert, and also Sir George Anderson, now Educational Commissioner with the Government of India—men responsible.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : How is that relevant to this clause ?

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Because I want to tell you that the Commissioners had to look in the quarrels between the Pro-Vice-Chancellor and the Vice-Chancellor. Sir, there is a Persian proverb :

" Deh Darvesh der galimey ba khuspand,
Do Padshah der aqlimey na gunjand."

[Maulana Shaukat Ali.]

That is "ten Faqirs can sleep under one blanket but two Sultans cannot be accommodated in a big Empire." Sir, I want to warn my Honourable friend of the danger and that we want to close the door for corruption. Any partisan can come forward with canvassed votes to have someone of his party as Pro-Vice-Chancellor to pull down the Vice-Chancellor. I hope, Dr. Ziauddin will have no objection to it because he will have no rival to interfere with his work; he alone would be responsible for the good work or the bad work, that had been done. There would be no constant friction and I want to shut the door to all intrigue,—and this impartial and powerful commission's report supports me in everything I have said. I do not want to read it all out, there is no time for it, but I do say that the Bill should be dropped now, and later on, say in the next Delhi Session it may be taken up, after consulting the Muslim public. This is my position. The recommendation of the Commission was that Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad should be made to retire and give up his Aligarh connection. He left Aligarh and after seven years he is brought back again by means of a miserable intrigue started in Delhi. I want to tell the Government in clear terms, as far as Aligarh is concerned, it is very clear to me. This Muslim University is very important, and is our future hope, I do not want that the Government of India should interfere and be connected with any underhand intrigue to rob it of its independent character.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : Sir, it is a matter of good fortune that I am present in this House today when this Bill comes here after my having seen this Bill through in the Council of State. (Hear, hear.) Sir, I am one of the few members of the Court of the Muslim University who are the Members of this House also. I am not going to traverse all the ground which has been covered by my friend, Maulana Shaukat Ali. I do not want to say what were the causes which made him a rebel or an outlaw or how he came over to the other side, as he himself has expressed his feelings. The question for me is what is the opinion of the Court of the Muslim University and how far has Government acted according to the wishes of that Court.

The Court considered this matter in April, 1934, when Sir Syed Ross Masood was the Vice-Chancellor and at that time there were certain persuasions made by him and there was something in the minds of the members of the Court which led them hurriedly to accept the recommendation that the post of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor be abolished. But when this proposition came again before the Court on November 25th, 1934, the members of the Court, who were not present in the meeting of April, 1934, and who now became aware of the previous decision, challenged that decision and they came in full strength in November, 1934, to reconsider that decision. At that time the decision of sticking to the former resolution of the Court was decided by 42 votes against 38. This was a very close division and, as the Honourable Members of this House are aware, this agitated the whole Muslim public in India. Members of the Court came from all parts of India, such as Hyderabad, Madras, Peshawar, Assam and other far distant places in the country simply to give expression to their views. The members voted in favour of the old decision simply because some of them did not like to go back on their former decision. I was present throughout and I know that the opinion was closely divided. The chief thing that prevailed in the mind of the people who had voted on the side of 42 was this that as they had taken a decision only a few months back, they did not like to change it. There was other side also and members who were absent in the first meeting thought that they must hold that that decision was wrong and they must revise it. Besides, on the side of 38 votes there were people who had been subscribing greatly towards the funds of the Muslim University. Therefore, although they were in the minority by four votes only, their views certainly carried great weight. This opinion was forwarded to the Government of India and I think the Government of India could not find a better solution than to say that they left the matter entirely to the Court. Sir, up to this time it has been obligatory under the Act to have a Pro-Vice-Chancellor. That post must be filled and must continue. When the decision came up, however, by a slight majority, it was the duty of the Government of India to leave it aside and to give an option to the future Courts not to be bound by a slight majority but to revise it whenever they thought fit. Therefore the Government of India gave this power to the Court of the Muslim University by providing that in future the Court may fill up the post of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor or not as it thought fit. I think this is the best solution which the Government of India could come to and it was unanimously accepted by the Council of State. I hope that under the circumstances this House will not go beyond this because if the views of Maulana Shaukat Ali are accepted, they would be having the views of one party only which voted once in the strength of 42. But if the House accepts the proposal as contained in the Bill, then it will be giving an option to the members of the Court to have the Pro-Vice-Chancellor or not to have the Pro-Vice-Chancellor as they deem fit in the future. If we get a Vice-Chancellor who can run this show properly, we will certainly not require a Pro-Vice-Chancellor. But if we find ourselves in some difficulty in future when we have to keep a Vice-Chancellor who cannot perform the duties of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor as detailed in the Muslim University Act, then certainly the Court must have an option to appoint a Pro-Vice-Chancellor also and that is the only thing on which we, the members of the Court, would like to have the vote of this House. We will ask the House to vote simply giving an option to the future Courts of the Muslim University and not be led by the washing of the dirty linen which the Maulana has done in this House.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : I object to the use of that expression. Where can I get redress for this party intrigue? I say abolish the post of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan : I know, Sir, that my friend, Maulana Shaukat Ali, has got a very excitable temper and I never meant any offence to him. What I meant to say was that the House should not be led by anything of a controversial nature but be guided only by the desire of the Muslim community as a whole.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, my Honourable friend, the Maulana, spoke with great feeling, and I have no doubt those feelings have been deeply stirred, but I shall be forgiven if I do not go into much of what he said for the very simple reason that I submit and I submit that without any idea of giving him offence that much of what he said really is not relevant to the consideration of this clause at all. He said a great deal about the Rahimatulla Committee. The only point with which I am concerned here and with which the House is concerned today is whether the Rahimatulla Committee had anything to say on the subject of the abolition of the post of the Pro-Vice-Chancellor. The Rahimatulla Committee is silent on that point. Then, Sir, my Honourable friend went on to say that there was a great deal of effort made by the Government to interfere with the affairs of the University and he challenged me to produce the correspondence that passed between us and the University or rather the Vice-Chancellor on the subject of this particular amendment, because he suspected that, if that correspondence were produced, signs of this interference would be forthcoming. Now, Sir, as a matter of convention, we do not ordinarily place correspondence that passes between us and other autonomous bodies on the table of the House, but I am quite prepared to show my Honourable friend, the Maulana, the correspondence that has passed.....

[Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai.]

Maulana Shaukat Ali : May I interrupt the Honourable Member and say whether he is prepared to give me permission to expose the intrigue.....

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not give way. I am merely concerned with the point which he made and I say that I am prepared to show to the Maulana himself the correspondence that passed between us and the University on the subject of this amendment and he will, I am sure, be satisfied, being a fair-minded man, that there was absolutely no question of interference or intrigue in regard to that matter.

Now, Sir, my Honourable friend might say that the amendment which we are undertaking now will give the Government directly or indirectly authority to interfere with the Court. May I draw your attention to subsection (1) of section 20 of the Aligarh Muslim University Act? Subsection (1) of section 20 says :

“ The Pro-Vice-Chancellor shall be appointed by the Court.”

We are leaving to the Court the option to appoint the Pro-Vice-Chancellor if they wish to. We are equally leaving it to the Court not to appoint a Pro-Vice-Chancellor if they do not want to. I would further point out that, unlike the appointment of the Vice-Chancellor, the approval of the Governor General in Council is not necessary to the appointment of a Pro-Vice-Chancellor, so that this matter is entirely within the jurisdiction of the Court, and has neither directly nor indirectly anything to do with the jurisdiction of the Governor General in Council over the University. That, Sir, disposes of the point which he made in regard to interference by the Governor General in Council. Then he did make a great point of the decision taken by the Court in April, 1934, and he sought to minimise the decisions of the Court taken in November, 1934. May I draw your attention to the fact that what the Court was considering in April, 1934, was not so much the merits of option versus obligation to appoint a Pro-Vice-Chancellor. What it was influenced by was the recommendation of the Retrenchment Committee to abolish the post of Pro-

Vice-Chancellor as a measure of economy. The amendment that we are proposing does not in any way fetter the discretionary power of the Court to abolish the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor whenever they wish to. There is one further point with regard to the meeting of the Court in November, 1934. That meeting was not considering the question whether the power shall be optional or not. The resolution upon which the Court divided was this. I have got the terms of the resolution before me :

“ I beg to propose that the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor should not be abolished and steps should be taken to appoint a Pro-Vice-Chancellor as soon as possible.”

That, Sir, was what the Court divided upon and not the question whether the Governor General in Council would be acting rightly in leaving discretion to the Court instead of statutorily abolishing the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Who proposed this resolution ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : It was proposed by Khwaja Nizamuddin.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : There you are. That makes all the difference.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That was the decision taken by the Court. I think, Sir, that is all I have got to say in answer to the large number of charges made of an attempt on the part of the Government to interfere with the discretion of the Court. I submit that this particular amendment instead of restricting the power of the Court actually enlarges the power of the Court and is in the best interests of the University.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That clause 2 stand part of the Bill.”

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That clause 1 stand part of the Bill.”

The motion was adopted.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Title and the Preamble stand part of the Bill.”

The motion was adopted.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, I beg to move :

“ That the Bill, as passed by the Council of State, be passed.”

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Bill, as passed by the Council of State, be passed.”

Sir Muhammad Yakub (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Muhammadan Rural) : Mr. President, I have also the honour of being an old boy of Aligarh. I have also been a member of the Board of Trustees of the M. A. O. College, Aligarh, since 1913. I am also one of the foundation members of the Aligarh Muslim University. I was also a member of the Committee which drafted the constitution of the Muslim University. I am also one of those lovers of my dear alma mater who ran away from Moradabad to Aligarh in 1920 when a horde of rebels went to Aligarh to destroy our mother University and wanted also to set fire to the buildings that were in existence. Therefore, I can claim as much love for my alma mater as anybody else in this House. Sir, I am very sorry, extremely sorry indeed, that a little heat has been introduced in this purely non-controversial Bill. It is not right to say that a particular gentleman alone has the right to speak in the name of Muslims.....

[Sir Muhammad Yakub.]

Maulana Shaukat Ali : As if a Knight has the right to speak in the name of the Mussalmans even when he does not know the subject and even when he has done no service for the community.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : I do not wish to wash dirty linen in the public.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : They ought to be washed in the public if they are dirty and deserved to be cleaned.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : I am afraid that Mr. Shaukat Ali has provoked me and probably I will have to say something now before the House about this affair.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Do so with pleasure.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member should not enter into personalities.

Sir Muhammad Yakub : Very well, Sir, I will act according to the Persian proverb :

“ Jawab Jahelân Bashad Khamoshee. ”

“ Silence is the proper answer to a rustic. ”

I will not produce any more heat, but I will briefly show whether the amendment that is intended to be introduced in the Bill is for the benefit of the institution or not. As has been pointed out, the idea of abolishing the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor was mooted on account of financial stringency. We borrowed the services of a Pro-Vice-Chancellor from the Government and we were paying him about Rs. 3,500 a month, on account of pension rights and all those things. Then, Sir, we had a Registrar whose services also were borrowed from another University and we were paying him about Rs. 1,200 or Rs. 1,400 a month. Then we had to pay about Rs. 2,000 a month as honorarium to our Vice-Chancellor. This was a burden of about Rs. 7,000 a month on the exchequers of our University. I also happen to be a Member of the Finance Committee of the Muslim University and we found that some retrenchment was extremely necessary in order to make the budget balance. We had deficit budgets for over two years and therefore a Retrenchment Committee was appointed. No doubt that Retrenchment Committee recommended that, as a measure of retrenchment, the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor should be abolished. Now, Sir, what I want to lay stress upon is the fact that the abolition of the post of Pro-Vice-Chancellor was recommended as a measure of retrenchment and not because the post was not needed. Sir, we know that the case of denominational Universities is quite different from that of Government Universities. The Vice-Chancellor of a Government University has nothing to do with the public outside. He can work as the Principal of the Colleges. While the Vice-Chancellor of a denominational University stands on quite a different footing. On one side, he has to deal with the public outside, send deputations, collect money, raise subscriptions and do a lot of things. On the other hand he has to manage a very big educational institution. Now, Sir, in India there are only two denominational Universities.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. It being four of the Clock, the motion for adjournment will be taken up now.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

DESPATCH OF TROOPS FROM BRITISH INDIA TO ADDIS ABBABA (ABYSSINIA).

Pandit Nilakantha Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) :

4 P.M.

Sir, I move that the House do now adjourn. My motion is in connection with the sending out of troops from British India to Abyssinia. This morning, fortunately, my friend and colleague, Mr. Satyamurti, asked some short notice questions on the subject, and, by now, we know that the Indian Government, in their anxiety, it appears, to protect the Indian nationals in Abyssinia, asked the British Government to do their duty by sending some troops to Abyssinia. And, as troops were better available in India and it was to protect the Indian nationals, Indian troops were sent, His Majesty's Government agreeing to pay for them. There can be no objection so far as it goes. It is our duty to protect Indian nationals, and, as it is also the duty of the Empire, they will pay for it. But the object of my motion today is quite different. My objection is based on our experience that our troops have in the past been frequently sent out to foreign lands. Very often they were, first of all, sent out from this land under some pretext or other, either to protect our own financial interests, or to guard our fiscal policy or sell our opium, and things like that. Now, undoubtedly, it appears that a war is imminent, it is on the horizon. If Abyssinia can be made somehow to come to her knees, there may not be war. That is the only chance. The high-sounding League of Nations, we know what it is,.....

Mr. J. G. Acheson (Foreign Secretary) : Sir, on a point of order, the Honourable Member appears to me to be referring to a matter affecting the relations of His Majesty's Government with foreign powers.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair would warn Honourable Members that in this discussion no matter should be brought in which is likely to affect the foreign relations of the Government.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I should like to clear this position that our troops should in no way be utilised for purposes other than protecting the interests of Indian nationals.

Maulana Shaukat Ali (Cities of the United Provinces : Muhammadan Urban) : And not for Abyssinia ?

[3RD SEP. 1935.]

Pandit Nilakantha Das : No. And when Abyssinia is going to be the theatre of war most probably very soon, contingencies may arise when our troops may be compelled to join this side or that. In that case, what I press today is that, before any such steps are taken, this House should be consulted, and all the cards should be put on the table. We shall be the judge....

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan (Nominated Non-Official) : If the House is not sitting, what then ?

Pandit Nilakantha Das : There will be a special and emergent meeting, for it is not such an affair where things should be done behind our back. In fact, my Resolution was that Indian opinion was not consulted, and I press that Indian opinion should be consulted ; for it is quite likely that Imperial interests may demand that our troops should be utilised in some way, and, as it is quite evident, we may require it in some other ways. In spite of all our European dresses and dinners and other paraphernalia, all the words and phrases of the European constitution sticking all around us like peacocks' feathers, we are what we are. We are among the black and brown races, and we have heard what Mussolini said the other day....

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Sir, I again rise to a point of order.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member ought to refrain from making any comments on foreign powers.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I am not intruding upon the foreign relations of the Government of India or His Majesty's Government. What I mean to say is this. Our sympathies naturally go towards Abyssinia, and it may be that when Italy is to be fought by people who are in charge of our troops....

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Sir, I rise on a point of order. This matter was very elaborately discussed as to what is permissible, when a similar question was raised about sending troops to China, and I would draw your attention to the ruling which was given then. You will find it on pages 11 and 12 of the Collection of Rulings. Mr. S. Srinivasa Iyengar sought to move the adjournment of the House in order to discuss the question whether the Government of India were entitled to, or should send Indian troops to, China without consulting the Indian Legislature, whereupon objection was taken by Government that the motion could not be discussed without referring to questions of foreign policy, and, therefore, was out of order. The President's ruling was this :

"The Honourable the Home Member does not question that the motion now before the House raises a definite matter or a matter of urgent public importance. I take it, therefore, that the subject matter of the motion is a definite matter of urgent public importance. The main ground on which he objects to this motion is that it relates to a matter affecting the relations of the British Government with the Chinese Government. This Assembly is certainly not entitled to criticise or discuss the foreign policy of the British Government or of the Government of India, and any motion which directly or indirectly raises any discussion of that foreign policy would certainly be out of order. But the Honourable Member in charge of this motion has clearly indicated that his intention is to restrict this motion to a narrow issue, namely, that the Government of India should not have agreed to send Indian troops to China for military operations without reference to this Assembly."

And, now, I come to the important portion :

"There is, therefore, no danger of the Assembly discussing or criticising the foreign policy of any Government. I fully appreciate the point of view of the Home Member that any discussion on the subject-matter of this motion at this stage would lead to disastrous consequences. But, as I have already pointed out to this Assembly, it is not a question for the Chair to consider. The Chair is bound by the rules and regulations, and if the motion does not raise any question of foreign policy of the British Government or of the Government of India and merely calls in question the action of the Government of India in agreeing to send Indian troops without any reference to this Legislature, I do not see how I can disallow it."

That is the ruling that has been given before, and however much one may be sympathetic to Abyssinia, the making of such a declaration on the floor of this House is not permissible on a motion for adjournment.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Cannot the Honourable Member give his reasons why troops should not be sent out of India ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : He might as well say that the British Government should fight for Abyssinia and we can then discuss the whole foreign policy. It is for the President to draw a line, and, I submit, my friend is dangerously near the line, if he has not already overstepped it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member cannot be too careful not to trench upon any question which may affect the foreign relations, because the situation is extremely delicate as Honourable Members know, and nothing should be said in this House that would complicate matters still further.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : We want to avoid wars.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I have been all along quite careful : I simply put some problematic propositions that some contingency might arise where....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair wants to understand what is really the object of this motion : is it to censure the Government of India for sending troops from British India to Addis Abbaba ?

Pandit Nilakantha Das : Yes : my motion is that they have sent troops without consulting any public opinion in India, and I also make this point....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Then the Honourable Member can confine his motion to the right of this House to be consulted. If he does that, he can perhaps avoid all questions relating to foreign policy.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I am simply explaining as to why consultation of the opinion of this House is necessary ; for it may be even now that our troops may be utilised in foreign theatres of war without our knowing it for purposes which are not conducive to Indian interests. That is my whole point : and I have made this point clear, I believe ; and I should like to hear what the Government have to say as to the attitude of Government in this matter and the purpose for which these troops have been sent out, and I should like to make it clear that we would like to be assured that, without consulting this House, they should not be used for purposes of war. Sir, I move.

[Pandit Nilakantha Das.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the House do now adjourn.”

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham (Army Secretary) : Sir, I should like to read to the House the actual terms of the notice of this adjournment motion, which was given by the Honourable Member opposite—“ to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the despatch of troops from British India to Abyssinia thereby putting a burden on Indian revenues.....

Pandit Nilakantha Das : That is not my motion : that has not been moved. This is the other motion.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That is the copy I received.....

Pandit Nilakantha Das : Mine is “ The despatch of troops from British India to Addis Abbaba ”.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I apologise. After what the Foreign Secretary said this morning, I think I can explain the whole position of Government in a very few sentences. It is perfectly true that over a year ago, speaking in this House on the Indian Navy Bill, I said that, with the approval of the Secretary of State for India, I was authorised to announce that “ it is the intention of the Government to consult the Indian Legislature, so far as may be possible, whenever any question arises of lending the Indian Navy to the Admiralty for operations other than in the defence of India ”. That undertaking applies by implication equally to the Indian Army as well as the Indian Navy : that is to say, we are under an obligation when any question arises of sending troops overseas for purposes other than the defence of India, to consult the Legislature beforehand whenever it is possible to do so. On this occasion we have not deviated in any way from that undertaking. The facts are simply as follows. There are in Abyssinia about 1,600 British subjects, of whom about 1,000 are Indians. There is already in Addis Abbaba a small legation guard of Indian soldiers, about 10 of them, who are well-known and popular in Addis Abbaba. We had been asked through the press and by receiving notice of a number of questions from Honourable Members opposite what steps Government were taking to protect Indian interests in Abyssinia. We were advised that if we were going to take any steps to protect Indian interests in Abyssinia we must do it at once. That was in the month of August. In the month of August the Legislative Assembly was not sitting. It was therefore impossible for us to consult the Legislature. We finally decided to send a small body of one hundred men to reinforce the legation guard at Addis Abbaba and His Majesty's Government are paying the cost of that reinforcement. I do not think it can be maintained that the despatch of a force of 100 men means that we in India are maintaining an army in excess of Indian requirements, and that is usually the argument that is brought against us when we send troops overseas. The number is extremely small, and if I were to venture to embark upon that topic, I do not think 100 men could make any difference in any possible larger war that may supervene. Those are the plain facts. I admit it is perfectly open to this House to censure the Government on those facts, but I do honestly and most respectfully put it to them that by censuring Government for taking this action they would merely be calling ridicule upon their own heads.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Sir, I have no quarrel with the Honourable Member who has just made the speech on behalf of the Government except on one matter—that the number of troops he has sent is much too few. Whatever relations we may have with foreign Governments, I say this that, if any Indian, even one single Indian's life is in danger at the hands of any power, friendly or unfriendly, it is the duty of the whole of the Indian army to go out and save that man. I do not want to make a speech : I only want to make an announcement that if the people of Abyssinia, who are under-dogs, are being treated disgracefully and are to be trampled down, then it is the duty of India to send out, not one hundred soldiers, but ten divisions, if necessary ; and if the Government ask for money, I hope I will be one who will persuade all my friends and the whole of India to sanction all the money and men needed to serve this noble country. Leaving that aside for the moment, I was just going to say that if Captain Sher Muhammad Khan was the Field Marshal willing to lead us, then, I, though a broken down athlete limping along, hardly able to stand and walk, I will be very glad to offer to be a soldier and work in that army that goes to defend the weak and the oppressed and fight unjust people out to rob others of liberty, hearth and house.

Sardar Mangal Singh (East Punjab : Sikh) : Sir, I support my Honourable friend, Maulana Shaukat Ali, that if and when the occasion arises to help Indian nationals in Abyssinia or to defend poor Abyssinia against European capitalism, the Indian Army should be allowed to go there and help those people. But this adjournment motion raises another important point from the point of view of the Indian Army. It is acknowledged that the Indian army is kept, trained and maintained here for Imperial purposes, and, from that point of view, we can, I think, rightly and legitimately claim a proper share of expenses from the British Government. It is true that the expeditionary force will be financed by the British Government. (An Honourable Member : “ it is not an expeditionary force.”) My point is that even in maintaining the Indian army, the British Government should pay something to the Indian Government.....

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : But the British Government already pay one and half million pounds.

Sardar Mangal Singh : That is not at all sufficient ; it is too little. I maintain, Sir, that the British Government should pay at least one-half of the expenditure incurred on the maintenance and the training of the European army in India.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That has nothing to do with this motion. The Honourable Member must confine himself to the motion before the House.

Sardar Mangal Singh : Sir, this motion has raised a point relating to the employment of Indian army outside the frontiers of India.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Without consulting ..... ?

[Pandit Nilakantha Das.]

assured that, without consulting this House, they should not be used for purposes of war. Sir, I move.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the House do now adjourn.”

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham (Army Secretary) : Sir, I should like to read to the House the actual terms of the notice of this adjournment motion, which was given by the Honourable Member opposite—“ to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the despatch of troops from British India to Abyssinia thereby putting a burden on Indian revenues.....

Pandit Nilakantha Das : That is not my motion : that has not been moved. This is the other motion.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That is the copy I received.....

Pandit Nilakantha Das : Mine is “ The despatch of troops from British India to Addis Abbaba ”.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I apologise. After what the Foreign Secretary said this morning, I think I can explain the whole position of Government in a very few sentences. It is perfectly true that over a year ago, speaking in this House on the Indian Navy Bill, I said that, with the approval of the Secretary of State for India, I was authorised to announce that “ it is the intention of the Government to consult the Indian Legislature, so far as may be possible, whenever any question arises of lending the Indian Navy to the Admiralty for operations other than in the defence of India ”. That undertaking applies by implication equally to the Indian Army as well as the Indian Navy : that is to say, we are under an obligation when any question arises of sending troops overseas for purposes other than the defence of India, to consult the Legislature beforehand whenever it is possible to do so. On this occasion we have not deviated in any way from that undertaking. The facts are simply as follows. There are in Abyssinia about 1,600 British subjects, of whom about 1,000 are Indians. There is already in Addis Abbaba a small legation guard of Indian soldiers, about 10 of them, who are well-known and popular in Addis Abbaba. We had been asked through the press and by receiving notice of a number of questions from Honourable Members opposite what steps Government were taking to protect Indian interests in Abyssinia. We were advised that if we were going to take any steps to protect Indian interests in Abyssinia we must do it at once. That was in the month of August. In the month of August the Legislative Assembly was not sitting. It was therefore impossible for us to consult the Legislature. We finally decided to send a small body of one hundred men to reinforce the legation guard at Addis Abbaba and His Majesty's Government are paying the cost of that reinforcement. I do not think it can be maintained that the despatch of a force of 100 men means that we in India are maintaining an army in excess of Indian requirements, and that is usually the argument that is brought against us when we send troops overseas. The number is extremely small, and if I were to venture to embark upon that topic, I do not think 100 men could make any difference in any possible larger war that may supervene. Those are the plain facts. I admit it is perfectly open to this House to censure the Government on those facts, but I do honestly and most respectfully put it to them that by censuring Government for taking this action they would merely be calling ridicule upon their own heads.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Sir, I have no quarrel with the Honourable Member who has just made the speech on behalf of the Government except on one matter—that the number of troops he has sent is much too few. Whatever relations we may have with foreign Governments, I say this that, if any Indian, even one single Indian's life is in danger at the hands of any power, friendly or unfriendly, it is the duty of the whole of the Indian army to go out and save that man. I do not want to make a speech : I only want to make an announcement that if the people of Abyssinia, who are under-dogs, are being treated disgracefully and are to be trampled down, then it is the duty of India to send out, not one hundred soldiers, but ten divisions, if necessary ; and if the Government ask for money, I hope I will be one who will persuade all my friends and the whole of India to sanction all the money and men needed to serve this noble country. Leaving that aside for the moment, I was just going to say that if Captain Sher Muhammad Khan was the Field Marshal willing to lead us, then, I, though a broken down athlete limping along, hardly able to stand and walk, I will be very glad to offer to be a soldier and work in that army that goes to defend the weak and the oppressed and fight unjust people out to rob others of liberty, hearth and house.

Sardar Mangal Singh (East Punjab : Sikh) : Sir, I support my Honourable friend, Maulana Shaukat Ali, that if and when the occasion arises to help Indian nationals in Abyssinia or to defend poor Abyssinia against European capitalism, the Indian Army should be allowed to go there and help those people. But this adjournment motion raises another important point from the point of view of the Indian Army. It is acknowledged that the Indian army is kept, trained and maintained here for Imperial purposes, and, from that point of view, we can, I think, rightly and legitimately claim a proper share of expenses from the British Government. It is true that the expeditionary force will be financed by the British Government. (An Honourable Member : “ it is not an expeditionary force.”) My point is that even in maintaining the Indian army, the British Government should pay something to the Indian Government.....

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : But the British Government already pay one and half million pounds.

Sardar Mangal Singh : That is not at all sufficient ; it is too little. I maintain, Sir, that the British Government should pay at least one-half of the expenditure incurred on the maintenance and the training of the European army in India.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That has nothing to do with this motion. The Honourable Member must confine himself to the motion before the House.

Sardar Mangal Singh : Sir, this motion has raised a point relating to the employment of Indian army outside the frontiers of India.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Without consulting ..... ?

Pandit Nilakantha Das : No. And when Abyssinia is going to be the theatre of war most probably very soon, contingencies may arise when our troops may be compelled to join this side or that. In that case, what I press today is that, before any such steps are taken, this House should be consulted, and all the cards should be put on the table. We shall be the judge....

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan (Nominated Non-Official) : If the House is not sitting, what then ?

Pandit Nilakantha Das : There will be a special and emergent meeting, for it is not such an affair where things should be done behind our back. In fact, my Resolution was that Indian opinion was not consulted, and I press that Indian opinion should be consulted ; for it is quite likely that Imperial interests may demand that our troops should be utilised in some way, and, as it is quite evident, we may require it in some other ways. In spite of all our European dresses and dinners and other paraphernalia, all the words and phrases of the European constitution sticking all around us like peacocks' feathers, we are what we are. We are among the black and brown races, and we have heard what Mussolini said the other day....

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Sir, I again rise to a point of order.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member ought to refrain from making any comments on foreign powers.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I am not intruding upon the foreign relations of the Government of India or His Majesty's Government. What I mean to say is this. Our sympathies naturally go towards Abyssinia, and it may be that when Italy is to be fought by people who are in charge of our troops....

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : Sir, I rise on a point of order. This matter was very elaborately discussed as to what is permissible, when a similar question was raised about sending troops to China, and I would draw your attention to the ruling which was given then. You will find it on pages 11 and 12 of the Collection of Rulings. Mr. S. Srinivasa Iyengar sought to move the adjournment of the House in order to discuss the question whether the Government of India were entitled to, or should send Indian troops to, China without consulting the Indian Legislature, whereupon objection was taken by Government that the motion could not be discussed without referring to questions of foreign policy, and, therefore, was out of order. The President's ruling was this :

"The Honourable the Home Member does not question that the motion now before the House raises a definite matter or a matter of urgent public importance. I take it, therefore, that the subject matter of the motion is a definite matter of urgent public importance. The main ground on which he objects to this motion is that it relates to a matter affecting the relations of the British Government with the Chinese Government. This Assembly is certainly not entitled to criticise or discuss the foreign policy of the British Government or of the Government of India, and any motion which directly or indirectly raises any discussion of that foreign policy would certainly be out of order. But the Honourable Member in charge of this motion has clearly indicated that his intention is to restrict this motion to a narrow issue, namely, that the Government of India should not have agreed to send Indian troops to China for military operations without reference to this Assembly."

And, now, I come to the important portion :

"There is, therefore, no danger of the Assembly discussing or criticising the foreign policy of any Government. I fully appreciate the point of view of the Home Member that any discussion on the subject-matter of this motion at this stage would lead to disastrous consequences. But, as I have already pointed out to this Assembly, it is not a question for the Chair to consider. The Chair is bound by the rules and regulations, and if the motion does not raise any question of foreign policy of the British Government or of the Government of India and merely calls in question the action of the Government of India in agreeing to send Indian troops without any reference to this Legislature, I do not see how I can disallow it."

That is the ruling that has been given before, and however much one may be sympathetic to Abyssinia, the making of such a declaration on the floor of this House is not permissible on a motion for adjournment.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Cannot the Honourable Member give his reasons why troops should not be sent out of India ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : He might as well say that the British Government should fight for Abyssinia and we can then discuss the whole foreign policy. It is for the President to draw a line, and, I submit, my friend is dangerously near the line, if he has not already overstepped it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member cannot be too careful not to trench upon any question which may affect the foreign relations, because the situation is extremely delicate as Honourable Members know, and nothing should be said in this House that would complicate matters still further.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : We want to avoid wars.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I have been all along quite careful : I simply put some problematic propositions that some contingency might arise where....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair wants to understand what is really the object of this motion : is it to censure the Government of India for sending troops from British India to Addis Abbaba ?

Pandit Nilakantha Das : Yes : my motion is that they have sent troops without consulting any public opinion in India, and I also make this point....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Then the Honourable Member can confine his motion to the right of this House to be consulted. If he does that, he can perhaps avoid all questions relating to foreign policy.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I am simply explaining as to why consultation of the opinion of this House is necessary ; for it may be even now that our troops may be utilised in foreign theatres of war without our knowing it for purposes which are not conducive to Indian interests. That is my whole point : and I have made this point clear, I believe ; and I should like to hear what the Government have to say as to the attitude of Government in this matter and the purpose for which these troops have been sent out, and I should like to make it clear that we would like to be

Sardar Mangal Singh : From that point of view, Sir, I maintain that the British Government should pay at least 50 per cent. of the charges of the European army in India.

As regards the rights of this House, I am very glad that the Honourable the Army Secretary has agreed to a certain extent that, whenever possible, the Government of India would consult the wishes of this House, when the occasion arises, to send Indian troops outside India. Personally, Sir, I do not feel inclined to censure the Government of India on this account, because they have sent only 100 men to Abyssinia to protect the Indian nationals there. I hope that my Honourable friend, the Mover, will withdraw the motion after the discussion is over. (Applause.)

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty (Madras : Indian Commerce) : Sir, the view that every adjournment motion is a censure motion is a bygone view. That is not the only reason why adjournment motions are tabled. More often adjournment motions are tabled in order to bring to the notice of the Government the urgency, the importance and the necessity of the subject-matter of the motion. I believe it is in that view that my friend, Pandit Nilakantha Das, has tabled this motion. So far as the actual action of the Government in despatching so small a number of troops as 100 to Abyssinia is concerned, I do not think there is much difference of opinion. I would rather like to put it this way, that it is a matter on which we should feel satisfied that the Government took early steps in this matter ; but, as the Honourable the Army Secretary just mentioned, it would have been probably possible for the Government to consult the Legislature in this matter also if it had been in Session. Of course, it is easy enough to say that, in the month of August, the Assembly was not sitting, and that the Government were compelled, owing to urgency, to send this small contingent to Abyssinia. But does he mean, therefore, to say, Sir, that a similar situation is not still on the tapis of the Government, that there are not yet certain matters in which the Assembly could be consulted in regard to the Italo-Abyssinian trouble ? It may probably be said by the time when we meet next that the Assembly was not again in Session, and, therefore, there was no opportunity to consult the Legislature. So what the Government have promised in spirit in regard to matters concerning the Legislature will not be given effect to, though they may even now be in possession of information in regard to which they can even now consult the Legislature. But it is very difficult for persons sitting on this side of the House to say whether Government have got any such questions under consideration. But what I would like to say is that the promise that has been made by the Government today that they would consult the Legislature in respect of the despatch of troops to other countries should be scrupulously carried out in actual practice. The reason as to why we are anxious that the Legislature should be consulted in regard to this matter is, even according to Government, that India is put upon a status somewhat equal to that of the dominions, that every other dominion Government consults its own Legislature or its own Parliament in regard to despatch of troops for action outside their own dominions. We expect, though it will not be incumbent under this Constitution or under the coming Constitution for the Government to consult the Legislature, some voluntary response in regard to this matter and they would consult the Legislature, so that they may carry the people with them in acts such as these involving the peace of this country as well. It is from that view, Sir, that I think my friend, Pandit Nilakantha Das, has tabled this motion, and I rather think that carrying this motion will not mean that it is a censure on the Government, but it will only mean the urgency and necessity of consulting the Legislature in matters like these.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I would just like to ask a question from the Honourable the Army Secretary. He said that, as the Assembly was not in sitting in the month of August, the Legislature could not be consulted before the troops were sent to Abyssinia. May I know from him whether he will agree to the appointment of a Standing Committee to be associated with the Army Department just as other Departments have, so that, in cases of such urgency, that Standing Committee could be summoned and consulted ? Because, whenever things are done without consulting this House, shelter is always taken under the plea that the Legislature was not in Session, and so they could not consult the House. I would like to know from the Honourable Member whether he would like to appoint a Standing Committee to advise his Department and to consult on such matters as these when the Legislature is not in Session.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Sir, I obviously cannot answer on behalf of the Government a question such as that put to me on the spur of the moment, but it seems to me that there is a good deal in it. We will certainly take the matter into consideration and see whether anything can be done in that direction. (Applause from all sides of the House.)

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : (The Honourable Member who was not in his own seat rose to address the House.)

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : If the Honourable Member wishes to address the House, he must address it from his own place.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I am sorry, Sir. (The Honourable Member then took his own seat.)

Sardar Sant Singh (West Punjab : Sikh) : May I point out, Sir, that we on this side are labouring under a very great disadvantage in that we are not able to follow the proceedings of the House properly as we cannot hear what is said on that side ? That is why we from this side have often to go to a place from where we could hear speeches properly.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Sir, I entirely agree with the proposition laid down by my friend, Pandit Nilakantha Das, that the House should be consulted before Indian troops are sent for action overseas. At the same time, I am not prepared to censure the Government for having done a right thing at the proper time. I think, during the past ten years, if Government have ever acted rightly, they have done so on this occasion. I go further and say this. I feel, Sir, like my friend, Maulana Shaukat Ali, that the Government of India should have forced the hands of His Majesty's Government also to enter the war, instead of wavering, and help the Abyssinian Government. It is said, Sir, that we are the original members of the League of Nations, which I have always called "League of Robbers", and, as such, I think we have a right to say that we should go to war to protect a weak nation, to prevent a war of aggression ; otherwise it is no use our being members of the League of Nations. ....

[Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya.]

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I rise to a point of order. I would point out that the Honourable Member is going beyond the scope of the motion and discussing international policy. ....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member is speaking of the League of Nations and not about foreign policy.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I think, Sir, as members of the League of Nations, which is constituted to prevent wars of aggression, we, as representatives of the people of India, have a right to have our say. We do feel that His Majesty's Government is not doing what it should do. We feel that it is only interested in the water of the Blue Nile. ....

Mr. J. G. Acheson : On a point of order, Sir. I apologise for giving trouble to the Chair, but it is my duty to point out that the Honourable Member is dealing with international affairs.

Some Honourable Members : Why not ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. The Honourable Member cannot criticise the foreign policy of the British Government or of the Government of India.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I bow to your ruling, Sir. I was trying to obey your orders, but let me say this much that I was not criticising the foreign policy of His Majesty's Government. What I wanted to urge was that if Indian troops have to be sent there, they should be sent to protect the interests of Abyssinia, and not merely the flow of the Blue Nile. We are not interested in making a motor road from Lake Tsana to Sudan. That is what we want to say. As I said, Sir, we are not interested in the flow of Lake Tsana, we want to protect the tap, the reservoir, the territory of Abyssinia. If we had any voice in the affairs of our own country, if our opinion was asked as to what was the right thing to do, we would say that our opinion is, as representatives of this country, and a member of the League of Nations, that we want to go to help Abyssinia and we want to go to war with Italy in order to show her that she has no right to invade Abyssinia. I think I am expressing the opinion of my Honourable friends present here. I request you, and through you, the Honourable Members on the Government Benches, to communicate to His Majesty's Government that the opinion of the Legislature of this country is that we want that His Majesty's Government and the Indian Government combined should go to help Abyssinia in her distress. We are entitled to make this request. We, as representatives of this country, are fully entitled to request Honourable Members sitting on the Treasury Benches here to communicate to His Majesty's Government. ....

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Sir, once again I must rise on a point of order to point out that the observations of the Honourable Member. ....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair thinks the Honourable Member is not in order. He must not pursue that line of argument.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : But the line of argument is ..
.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member is aware that the wording of the Rules and Standing Orders is so wide and sweeping on that point that there is really no room for discussing any aspect of the foreign policy.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : In our own country, we are not entitled to express our opinions ; in our own country, we are not to say when our troops are sent out, whether they should be sent out or not, and for what purposes they should be used.

An Honourable Member : We are a subject race.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I know that, I know that we are a subject race, and that is why I want that Abyssinia should not be subjugated. All the same, I would request Honourable Members to express the opinion of this House that we do want that His Majesty's Government should go in for war. ....

Some Honourable Members : Order, order.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : I have achieved my object. I have got an assurance from the Government, and I do not want to press my motion.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That leave be granted to withdraw the motion.”

The motion was adopted.

The motion was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

THE ALIGARH MUSLIM UNIVERSITY (AMENDMENT) BILL— continued.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Discussion on the Aligarh Muslim University Bill will now be resumed.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not think that it is necessary for me to say anything more. ....

Maulana Shaukat Ali : Is the debate going to be closed now ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Of course.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : I wanted to speak. ....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair gave a chance to Honourable Members, if they wanted to say anything, to rise in their seats, and nobody did so. Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have nothing to add to what I said when the second clause was being discussed. Most of what my Honourable friend, Sir Muhammad Yakub, was saying was really, if I may presume to say so, an elaboration of what I had said already in defence of the attitude of Government, and I have nothing more to say. I hope the House will pass the Bill.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Aligarh Muslim University Act, 1920, for a certain purpose, as passed by the Council of State, be passed.”

The motion was adopted.

THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL.

AMENDMENT OF SECTION 51.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, I move :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes (Amendment of Section 51), be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of Mr. Sham Lal, Qazi Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Mr. M. Asaf Ali, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali, Mr. M. Ghiasuddin, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri Lal Chand, Mr. A. G. Clow, Mr. J. M. Chatarji, and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five.”

This is the Bill which seeks to abolish imprisonment for debt except for the dishonest or recalcitrant debtor, that is, for the debtor who is able to pay but refuses to pay, or for the debtor who has dishonestly concealed or removed part of his assets. The House will remember that towards the end of last Session I moved that this Bill should be circulated for the purpose of eliciting public opinion. There was some criticism and I was pressed that the Bill should be proceeded with at once, and in deference to that criticism I promised that I would arrange, if possible, that circulation should be completed so that the Bill could be taken up at the beginning of the present Session. That circulation has been completed and the opinions received are in the hands of Honourable Members. I do not propose to analyse the opinions in any detail but I think I am justified in saying that they make it clear that there is a very considerable body of opinion in favour of the principle of the Bill. At the same time, the opinions received do disclose a certain amount of opposition to the principle of the Bill and a certain amount of criticism of its details. However, they are there and I think that the opinions received undoubtedly require the careful consideration of the Select Committee. That is all I have got to say. Sir, I move.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes (Amendment of Section 51), be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of Mr. Sham Lal, Qazi Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Mr. M. Asaf Ali, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali, Mr. M. Ghiasuddin, Mr. Lalchand Navalrai, Mr. T. Chapman-Mortimer, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri Lal Chand, Mr. A. G. Clow, Mr. J. M. Chatarji, and the Mover, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five.”

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Mr. President, this Bill, so far as I am able to find out, seeks to protect debtors from being imprisoned and seeks particularly to protect Government servants.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Honourable Member is mistaken. It covers all debtors.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : It says “ Government servants in receipt of ”..

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Honourable Member is mixing up two Bills. That provision is in a different Bill.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta).]

Mr. Sri Prakasa : It seeks to protect persons in receipt of salaries. (Voices : “ No, no ”.)

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : May I explain to the Honourable Member ? It is rather puzzling. There are two Bills. One deals with the attachment of salaries. This Bill does not deal with that subject at all. This Bill merely abolishes imprisonment for debt except in certain circumstances.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : The Statement of Objects and Reasons says :

“ This Bill is the outcome of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Labour in India to the effect that in the case of industrial workers in receipt of wages less than Rs. 100 a month ”.....

and so on.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Nothing about Government servants....

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Cannot Government employ industrial workers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan (Member for Commerce and Railways) : Which particular clause are you referring to ?

Mr. Sri Prakasa : I am referring to the whole Bill.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is confined to industrial workers.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Cannot there be industries run by Government ? Of course, there are ; and will not those employed in that industry be protected ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : If the Honourable Member will only read the whole of the Statement of Objects and Reasons, at the end he will see that it refers to all judgment debtors. No distinction is made between Government servants and any one else. It merely abolishes the system of imprisonment for debt for every kind of debtor.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : I will confess that I was not expecting that the Bill would come up today for discussion and, therefore, I have not read its provisions carefully. The unfortunate withdrawal of a very important motion for adjournment has resulted in this confusion. I think that has also resulted in the House being deprived of a delightful speech from Maulana Shaukat Ali. In any case as the Bill is not likely to last beyond this day, I should like to say only one thing and that is that personally I am against imprisonment for anything. (Laughter.) If it were a consolidated Bill for the abolition of all imprisonment, I should be very glad. Most of us on this side of the House have had experience of what prisons are and we can say that they serve no useful purpose. If that is so in the case of imprisonment for what are regarded as criminal offences it stands to reason that this is also true in the case of civil offences. What I am most anxious about is just this. We must not forget that to be able to borrow money at an emergency is a very important factor of domestic economy. Many occasions can arise where we find ourselves suddenly in need of money and we have not the necessary amount in our coffers. We have to go to some one who lends that money. What I am afraid of is this, that people, if they are deprived of the means of recovering their money, may not lend money to persons in emergencies. That is a serious point. It is all very nice to say that people who have no money should not spend it or people who have no money should be in no need of it; but there are occasions of illness; of litigation that may be forced upon us; of marriages which are rather important social functions in Indian life; when money is necessary. Persons in receipt of wages less than Rs. 100 a month are not likely to be able to save much against a wet day. Therefore they need the money-lender or banker or by whatever name you may call the person who gives them money; and he gives them that money in the hope that he will be able to realise it. If you want to make this Bill effective, I think you will have to add a clause—I do not know whether that clause is here, I am going to study it tonight—making it a penal offence for any banker or money-lender to refuse to lend money (Laughter) to persons who are in need of it, because I assure you that, however much you may dislike the money-lender—you apparently do not dislike those who are in charge of Reserve Banks and Imperial Banks—he forms an important part of village economy; and he comes to the rescue of many unfortunate men who are in straits. Therefore you must not have a law which will make it impossible for persons in need of money in emergencies to be able to borrow the money at all. The money-lender will say to the man in need: “I cannot give you money because I am not sure of getting it back, you are not penally bound to repay it, I am not going to give you money”. Therefore I say, if you are honest, if you are earnest, have that additional clause, namely, that all persons who carry on the trade of money-lending and of banking shall be obliged under threat of imprisonment themselves to lend out money to any person who needs the money. I think this Bill was introduced in the last Session of the Assembly. It was at that time circulated for opinion and a mass of opinion has been obtained upon it. I cannot pretend to have read all the volumes that have been sent out by the Department to me, but I have glanced through many opinions and I find that opinion is sharply divided. In any case I stand by the opinion I originally formed, namely, that you should either allow money-lenders and bankers some effective means of getting their money back or you must force them to lend out money. I can see no other way. It is possible that Government may have their own banks from which wage-earners may be able to get money. I have known of the operations of Co-operative Societies in my own province. No law applies to them and they can take hold of their debtors’ goods without much ado. All the trouble falls on the non-official who carries on this trade or any other trade. I do not like this one-sided procedure, and I personally cannot support this Bill unless you make adequate provision for persons who are in need of money and who cannot find it in any other way. I have no objection to Government making that provision. When Government wants to collect its own dues, which it calls fines, or revenue demands, it does not care to see whether the man whose goods it is attaching is in receipt of an income of less or more than one hundred rupees per month.

[Mr. Sri Prakasa.]

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : What has “one hundred rupees” got to do with this Bill?

Mr. Sri Prakasa : In supporting the motion to send this Bill to a Select Committee, I suggest that it should find some way out of the difficulty that I have mentioned. You will create, to my mind, a great deal of confusion if you pass laws which are unpractical. It is no use having counsels of perfection and talking very big in this House when the effect of the law you enact will react badly on the man and the woman in the cottage and the factory.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar (Salem and Coimbatore cum North Arcot : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, while accepting the principle of this Bill, I would like to offer one or two suggestions. The issue of a notice before arrest for civil debts is not quite new. It is provided that notice may be given to show cause why he should not be arrested. But what this Bill seeks to do is to substitute the word “shall” for the word “may”, that is, to make it compulsory that notice shall be issued to every debtor to show cause why he should not be arrested for the debt; and if the civil authority is satisfied that the judgment-debtor is likely to abscond, or that he has alienated a certain property, then he can be arrested and put into jail. What I would suggest is that one clause more may be added,—that is,—“provided the money was not borrowed either for speculative purposes or for immoral purposes”. My reason is that this may encourage people who have no money to borrow money and employ it for speculative purposes, and, when the money is lost, it is the creditor’s money that is lost, and, when he gains, then it is for himself; and this he does without any loss to himself, because he cannot be put into jail, he is a pauper and has no money, he neither absconds nor alienates. I would, therefore, like that a clause should be added that, even when he borrows money, it should not be utilised for purely speculative or immoral purposes, for he can easily prove that he neither means to abscond or to alienate property, and, in those circumstances, when he consciously borrows money and employs it for speculative purposes, the risk is to the creditor and not to himself. I would therefore suggest that this provision of protecting men from arrest should be given only to bonâ fide debtors—people who borrow money and invest it in proper and legitimate purposes, and not for purposes which are either immoral or speculative. This is a provision which, I think, will be useful to the Select Committee in considering this proposal, for, Sir, it is dangerous to allow people to borrow for speculative purposes and still not to allow them to suffer for the sins that they commit.

Mr. B. Das : The money-lenders, when they lend, know the sins of these borrowers and their sins equally.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Sir, the consequences of such a Bill may be that creditors, when they find that they may be asked to lend to people who may engage in lucrative business, but who have no stake in the matter, may stop such credit altogether, which is available to the ordinary merchants and traders today. I, therefore, would like that, along with (a) and (b) in clause 2 of this Bill, another clause should be added, thus :

[Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar.]

“ unless it is proved that it is borrowed either for speculative or for immoral purposes ”, etc., etc.,

and that is the only suggestion I would like to offer to the Select Committee in this matter.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Wednesday, the 4th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Wednesday, 4th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ABSENCE OF LADIES WAITING ROOMS ON STATIONS ON THE BURDWAN-HOWRAH SECTION OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

84. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Are Government aware that there are no arrangements for ladies waiting rooms at the stations on the Burdwan-Howrah section of the East Indian Railway ?

(b) Do Government propose to remove this want by putting wooden screens in the waiting halls for the present ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) The East Indian Railway are considering a programme for the provision of ladies waiting rooms at certain stations during the next three years.

RECRUITMENT OF DEPRESSED CLASSES IN THE CENTRAL SERVICES.

85. *Rao Bahadur M. C. Rajah : With reference to the A. P. I. news published in the Madras Mail, dated the 13th May, 1935, will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the progress of recruitment of depressed classes in the various central services ; and

(b) the number of depressed class candidates recruited for the different departments of the Government of India services since July, 1934 ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Information for years before 1934 is not available, as the annual statements showing the communal composition of the various services have not hitherto contained a column to show the number of members of the depressed classes. For 1934 and following years the figures will be given in the statements prescribed in connection with the Instructions Supplementary to the Resolution of the 4th July, 1934. A copy of these Instructions has been placed in the Library of the House.

(b) I presume the Honourable Member has in mind the recruitment to the Ministerial Staff of the Government of India Secretariat and the matter, may stop such credit altogether, which is available to the ordinary merchants and traders today. I, therefore, would like that, along with (a) and (b) in clause 2 of this Bill, another clause should be added, thus :

[Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar.]

“ unless it is proved that it is borrowed either for speculative or for immoral purposes ”, etc., etc.,

and that is the only suggestion I would like to offer to the Select Committee in this matter.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Wednesday, the 4th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Wednesday, 4th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ABSENCE OF LADIES WAITING ROOMS ON STATIONS ON THE BURDWAN-HOWRAH SECTION OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

84. *Mr. Amarendra Nath Chattopadhyaya : (a) Are Government aware that there are no arrangements for ladies waiting rooms at the stations on the Burdwan-Howrah section of the East Indian Railway ?

(b) Do Government propose to remove this want by putting wooden screens in the waiting halls for the present ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) The East Indian Railway are considering a programme for the provision of ladies waiting rooms at certain stations during the next three years.

RECRUITMENT OF DEPRESSED CLASSES IN THE CENTRAL SERVICES.

85. *Rao Bahadur M. C. Rajah : With reference to the A. P. I. news published in the Madras Mail, dated the 13th May, 1935, will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the progress of recruitment of depressed classes in the various central services ; and

(b) the number of depressed class candidates recruited for the different departments of the Government of India services since July, 1934 ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Information for years before 1934 is not available, as the annual statements showing the communal composition of the various services have not hitherto contained a column to show the number of members of the depressed classes. For 1934 and following years the figures will be given in the statements prescribed in connection with the Instructions Supplementary to the Resolution of the 4th July, 1934. A copy of these Instructions has been placed in the Library of the House.

(b) I presume the Honourable Member has in mind the recruitment to the Ministerial Staff of the Government of India Secretariat and Attached Offices. So far as the First and Second Divisions are concerned, none of the candidates on the current list of approved candidates has claimed to belong to the depressed classes.

As regards the Third Division the list of approved candidates, now current, showed one candidate belonging to a depressed class, and he has been nominated to a permanent vacancy.

DELHI CIVIL STATION NOTIFIED AREA COMMITTEE.

86. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Will Government be pleased to state :

(i) if it is not a fact that under section 241 (3) of the Punjab Municipal Act II of 1933, no area with more than 10,000 inhabitants can be declared a Notified Area Committee ; and

(ii) if the Delhi Civil Station Notified Area has more than 15,000 inhabitants ?

(b) Are Government prepared to take steps to remove this anomaly ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) (i). Yes.

(ii) The population of the Civil Station Notified Area according to the last census (1931) was 16,349.

(b) Government are not aware of any legal anomaly.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Considering the fact that a notified area can only be constituted on the basis of 10,000 population, is it not an anomaly that this notified area should continue to exist in spite of the fact that the population has gone up to 16,000 ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The legal position is that an area cannot be constituted into a notified area if its population exceeds 10,000, but it is optional for the local authority or Government concerned to cancel the notification if the population exceeds 10,000. It is not obligatory on the Local Administration.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Will Government cancel this notification now ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That is a matter really for the Chief Commissioner of Delhi to consider in the first instance.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Are Government aware that there are no elected members on this Notified Area Committee ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That is perfectly true. According to the provisions of the law, members have to be only appointed.

MOVE OF THE OFFICES OF THE ARMY HEADQUARTERS TO DELHI DURING WINTER.

87. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Is it a fact that the offices of the Army Headquarters are, under the present system of move of offices to Delhi for the winter months, classified into migratory and non-migratory categories and that establishments of certain offices, or parts thereof, are made to stay at Simla and undergo the rigours of winter from year to year ?

(b) Is it a fact that all the grades of the migratory establishments draw a monthly allowance, called Delhi Camp Allowance, on a scale of about 30 per cent. of pay, whereas no winter allowance is granted to certain grades of non-migratory establishments retained in Simla ?

(c) Is it a fact that the basis of grant of allowances is that they are intended to cover additional expenditure of a specified nature and should not be a source of profit to the recipient ?

(d) Is it a fact that the same rates of Delhi Camp Allowance are at present drawn by single and married persons of the Army Headquarters establishments, whereas in the case of Simla house rent allowance admissible to the Civil Secretariat establishments and Local Allowance admissible to the establishments of the Military Accountant General, there are different scales for single and married persons ?

(e) Is it a fact that there is at present no differentiation in the scales of Delhi Camp Allowance between the establishments of Army Headquarters who are allotted Government quarters in Simla on a rental of ten per cent. of pay for the summer season and the establishments who hire private residential accommodation on payment of year's rent in Simla ?

(f) Is it a fact that before the winter season of 1929-30 Delhi Conveyance Allowance was drawn by Superintendents of Army Headquarters on the scale of Rs. 100 per mensem and that it was reduced to Rs. 50 per mensem from that winter season, on the ground that it was found excessive ?

(g) Is it a fact that the scale of Delhi Camp Allowance admissible to the establishments of attached offices of the Government of India is lower than that sanctioned for establishments of Army Headquarters and that the maximum scale for the former is about Rs. 60 against Rs. 100 per mensem for the latter ?

(h) Is it a fact that Government proposed to grant with effect from the winter season 1934-35 adequate winter allowance to all the grades of the establishments by readjustment of Delhi-Simla allowances on an equitable basis ?

(i) Is it a fact that the proposed revised scales of Delhi-Simla allowances were worked out by an expert retrenchment officer in the Army Department on definite data ?

(j) Is it a fact that representations were made before the issue of Government orders by migratory establishments, urging prescriptive claim to the existing rates of Delhi Camp Allowance and that Government have not given effect to the proposed revised scales of Delhi-Simla allowances from the winter of 1934-35 ?

(k) If the answers to the preceding parts be in the affirmative, will Government please lay on the table of this House the file dealing with the subject, and expedite the issue of revised scales of Delhi-Simla allowances for Army Headquarters establishments on an equitable basis ?

(l) Do Government also propose to consider the question of making some sort of provision in the system of move of Army Headquarters offices to Delhi for the winter months to afford a chance to the non-migratory establishments, of moving down to Delhi by turn ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The information furnished by the Honourable Member in the first seven parts of this question is substantially correct and I do not, therefore, propose to reply to them in detail. I will refer the Honourable Member, if he so desires further information, to previous questions and answers on the same subject.

As regards the next four parts, the Honourable Member or his informant, appears to have had access to certain confidential files in the Army Department but to have given a very inaccurate account of the discussions contained therein.

The answer to part (l) is in the negative.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I know, Sir, if the non-migratory European officers find it rather economical to stay here in Simla during the winter and that is why the clerical staff has to be kept in Simla ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir. I do not think that is the case. I do not think they find it very economical to stay in Simla during the winter.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Are there educational facilities provided for the children of the Indian non-migratory staff in Simla who have to stay here in winter ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Does the Honourable Member mean any special educational facilities ?

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I mean any ordinary educational facilities.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I should like to have notice of that question. I do not know how far the schools in Simla remain open during the cold weather.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I may inform the Honourable Member that there are no schools available during winter here. Would that be a hardship for these people or not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If there are no schools, certainly that would be a hardship.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Do Government propose to provide any educational facilities or compensate these people in some other way ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The whole question is under consideration at present, of the numbers who remain in Simla and the numbers who go down to Delhi. I do not think we can take any special steps to provide educational facilities for those who remain in Simla.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Is it not possible to shift all these people to Delhi permanently ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : We have made calculations about that, and I believe it would cost a very large sum of money to bring down to Delhi the whole of the establishments of Army Headquarters who now remain in Simla.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : It will cost the Government just the same if all of them remain in Delhi.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

BRITISH TROOPS IN INDIA.

88. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that :

(i) the British troops in India are, under the Cardwell system, part and parcel of corresponding units in the United Kingdom ;

(ii) one-third of the British Army is permanently kept in India at India's expense ; and

(iii) the total strength of the standing Army in the United Kingdom is 158 thousand in the United Kingdom and 58 thousand in India, besides Reservists and Territorials ?

(b) What is the limit of the Army prescribed for (i) United Kingdom, and (ii) India, under (1) the Peace Treaty and (2) Article 8 of the Convention of the League of Nations, and will Government please lay on the table the communications periodically sent under Article 8 of the Convention ?

(c) What is the present ratio between Indian and non-Indian officers and other ranks in :

(1) Royal Artillery (different branches separately, especially Field Artillery and Light Artillery) ;

(2) Royal Air Force ;

(3) Engineers Corps ;

(4) Tanks Corps ;

(5) Signals Corps ;

(6) Adjutant General's Branch ;

(7) Quartermaster General's Branch ;

(8) Master General, Ordnance Branch ;

(9) General Staff Branch ;

(10) Railway Reserve Regiment ; and

(11) The Post and Telegraph Nucleus ?

(d) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a complete list of the Indian troops now serving outside India ?

(e) Will Government state what is the total annual cost of the British troops to India, particularly taking into consideration the cost of :

(i) the ecclesiastical establishment maintained for the troops ;

(ii) the strategic railways, especially those maintained for conveying British troops from ports direct to the frontiers ;

(iii) strategic telegraphs and telephones ; and

(iv) capitation charges, oversea allowances, pensions, contributions towards the payment to the Reservists ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) (i). It would be more correct to say that British troops in India are linked to corresponding units, arms, etc., of the British Army in the United Kingdom in order to simplify the process of recruiting and drafting, rather than that they are part and parcel of other units.

(ii) and (iii). The actual strength of the standing Army of Great Britain, exclusive of Reservists and Territorials, is 209,754. This number is distributed as follows :

|                |    |    |    |                     |
|----------------|----|----|----|---------------------|
| United Kingdom | .. | .. | .. | 117,591             |
| India          | .. | .. | .. | 57,554              |
| Colonies       | .. | .. | .. | 34,609              |
|                |    |    |    | <hr/> 209,754 <hr/> |

From this it will be seen that approximately 27 per cent. of the British regular army is in India.

(b) No limit to the strength of the army, either for the United Kingdom or for India, is prescribed either by the Treaty of Versailles or by the Covenant of the League of Nations. In this connection I would refer the Honourable Member to the reply I gave to his unstarred question No. 48 on the 22nd February, 1935. The information conveyed by both His Majesty's Government and the Government of India to the League of Nations as regards the strength and armaments of their forces under Article 8 of the Covenant is contained in the Armaments Year Book published by the League, a copy of which is available in the Library of the House.

(c) and (d). I lay two statements on the table.

(e) The Defence Service Estimates are not framed in such a way as to make it possible to separate accurately the figure of cost of British troops, but it has been estimated that it amounts to about Rs. 13 crores. I would add that, whatever may be the correct view regarding the charging of the loss on the so-called strategic railways, etc., to those Estimates, this item of expenditure has nothing to do with the presence of British troops in India.

STATEMENT No. I.

Ratio between Indian and non-Indian officers and other ranks.

|                                                | Indian. | Non-Indian. |
|------------------------------------------------|---------|-------------|
| (1) Field Artillery (R. A.)                    | 1       | 3.5         |
| Field Artillery (Indian)                       | 24      | 1           |
| Mountain Artillery (including Light Batteries) | 9       | 1           |
| Horse Artillery                                | 1       | 3           |
| Heavy Artillery                                | 1       | 1           |
| (2) Royal Air Force                            | 1       | 19.5        |
| (3) Engineer Corps                             | 31      | 1           |
| (4) Tank Corps                                 | 0       | 1           |
| (5) Signal Corps                               | 1.7     | 1           |
| (6) Adjutant General's Branch                  | 1       | 40          |
| (7) Quartermaster General's Branch             | 1       | 40          |
| (8) Master General of the Ordnance Branch      | 0       | 38          |
| (9) General Staff Branch                       | 1       | 70          |
| (10) Railway Reserve Regiment                  | ..      | ..          |
| (11) The Post and Telegraphs Nucleus           | ..      | ..          |

Not yet in existence.
There is no such nucleus.

STATEMENT No. II.

List of Indian units serving outside India.

|                                    |    |    |               |
|------------------------------------|----|----|---------------|
| 1st Battalion, 8th Punjab Regiment | .. | .. | Hong Kong.    |
| 2nd Battalion, 20th Burma Rifles   | .. | .. | Malay States. |
| The Hong Kong Mule Corps           | .. | .. | Hong Kong.    |

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : What about (c) (1) to (c) (11) ? The Honourable Member has omitted to answer that.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have said that a statement is laid on the table.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I know what the ratio is ? I cannot put any supplementary questions unless I know what the answer is.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I will read out the statement.

Ratio between Indian and non-Indian officers and other ranks.

|                                                | Indian. | Non-Indian. |
|------------------------------------------------|---------|-------------|
| (1) Field Artillery (R. A.)                    | 1       | 3.5         |
| Field Artillery (Indian)                       | 24      | 1           |
| Mountain Artillery (including Light Batteries) | 9       | 1           |
| Horse Artillery                                | 1       | 3           |
| Heavy Artillery                                | 1       | 1           |

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Surely it is not necessary to recite all these numerous figures now. They cannot be of much value to the House, unless sufficient time is allowed for considering the implications of these figures.

Some Honourable Members : They are of great use to the House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : A statement like this ought to be laid on the table of the House.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I know the figures relating to parts (6), (7), (8) and (9) of part (c) of my question ? That is to say, about the four Branches of the Army Headquarters ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The figures refer to the ratio between Indian and non-Indian officers and other ranks.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : I want the figures about officers particularly. The Honourable Member need not worry about the ranks.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I am afraid I have not got separate figures. I have got figures for both.

|                                           | Indian. | Non-Indian. |
|-------------------------------------------|---------|-------------|
| (6) Adjutant General's Branch             | 1       | 40          |
| (7) Quartermaster General's Branch        | 1       | 40          |
| (8) Master General of the Ordnance Branch | 0       | 38          |
| (9) General Staff Branch                  | 1       | 70          |

But I must explain that there are a large number of Indian civilian clerks on the establishments of these Branches. The figures I have given just now refer merely to Indian officers and other ranks.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : Is it a fact that, in the Master General of Ordnance Branch, until recently, an Indian used to perform the duties of the Personal Assistant to the Master General ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I do not think that question arises out of this. In any case, I should want notice of any question asking for details about particular officers employed in particular branches.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to part (a) (ii), may I know whether the 57,554 British soldiers are at the disposal of the British War Office or whether they are, while serving here and while they are being paid by us, at the disposal of the Government of India ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : They are at the disposal of the Government of India.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : But the Government of India are at the disposal of the British War Office.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : May I know if it is a fact that there are three sections of the army "Covering Troops", "Field Army" and "Internal Security Troops" ? What is the ratio among these ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That information is, I think, already contained in a pamphlet which we supplied to Honourable Members of this House. I cannot repeat the ratio from memory, but I would be glad to supply the Honourable Member with a copy of the pamphlet from which he will be able to get the information required.

MECHANISATION OF BRITISH AND INDIAN ARMY.

89. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Will Government please state the relative extent of the mechanisation of British and Indian Army, especially in respect of the artillery ?

(b) Is it not a fact that the equipment of the Indian section of the Artillery is half of the equipment of the British Artillery ?

(c) Does India pay for the equipment and mechanisation of the British troops ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) (i) Cavalry.—Two British cavalry regiments, one in the United Kingdom and one in Egypt, have been converted into armoured car regiments. No mechanisation of cavalry regiments has taken place or is contemplated in India.

(ii) Royal Artillery.—Of 18 Field Brigades, Royal Artillery, in England, four are mechanised. Of the ten Field Brigades, Royal Artillery, in India, two are mechanised. The Field Brigade, Indian Regiment of Artillery, is not mechanised.

Two Horse Artillery Batteries, one in the United Kingdom and one in Egypt, have been mechanised. Trials are being carried out in India to find a suitable type of vehicle for the mechanisation of Horse Artillery batteries in this country.

All Medium Artillery both in the United Kingdom and in India are mechanised.

(iii) Infantry.—Experiments are being carried out in England with mechanised first line transport for Infantry Battalions. No such mechanisation is contemplated in India.

(iv) Royal Tank Corps.—All units are mechanised.

(v) Engineers.—In the United Kingdom the tendency is to mechanise the Divisional Engineers entirely. In India the corresponding units are only mechanised to such limited extent, as is suited to local conditions.

(vi) Signals.—In both countries the mechanisation of signal units has followed generally the degree of mechanisation in the formations which they serve.

(b) Presumably the Honourable Member refers to the Field Brigade of Indian Artillery. This Brigade, which is organised into four batteries of four guns each, has armaments and vehicles on exactly the same scale as a Royal Artillery Field Brigade of four batteries on the Indian establishment.

(c) India pays for the equipment and vehicles of the units on its establishment.

DISPOSAL OF THE DISCARDED ARTICLES OF THE ARMY.

90. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : What is usually done to dispose of discarded and out of date articles of equipment and particularly (a) weapons, (b) surgical instruments and other equipments of Army hospitals, and discarded accoutrements, etc. ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : They are ordinarily disposed of by sale to the best advantage of the State either under local arrangements or through the Director of Contracts, after any components which may be of use to Government have been removed. Weapons and other lethal stores are rendered useless before sale and are usually sold as scrap.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Where are the stores sold ? In India or abroad ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : In India.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : When did the last sale take place ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : They are held every year from month to month.

APPLICATION OF THE PUNJAB SAHUKARA ACT TO THE DELHI PROVINCE.

91. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Has Government's attention been drawn to the resolutions passed by the Delhi Province Rural Conference, held on the 27th February, 1935 in village Bawana under the presidentship of Sardar Vallabh Bhai Patel ?

(b) What steps do Government propose to take in regard to the grievances and demands contained in these resolutions ?

(c) Are Government prepared to apply the Sahukara Act, Punjab (1934) to the Delhi Province to afford the rural population the relief asked for by the said Conference ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) A statement explaining the position is laid on the table.

(c) The question is under consideration.

Mr. P. R. Rau : I am replying that there are no advantages in doing it.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : The Posts and Telegraphs Department is an all-India service department, similarly the Railways are all-India. When the Posts and Telegraphs Department have made that distinction in the matter of recruitment, what are the difficulties in the way of railways doing it ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Unless there are any advantages in the proposal, I do not see any reason why the Government should ask the railways to adopt the proposal.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will the Honourable Member please make enquiries from the Divisional Superintendents and find out if it is necessary to adopt my suggestion ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I do not see any necessity for doing so.

PURCHASE OF CERTAIN ARTICLES BY THE DIRECTOR OF CONTRACTS THROUGH THE INDIAN STORES DEPARTMENT.

94. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that the Director of Contracts for military purchases articles, such as textile and machinery, through the Indian Stores Department ?

(b) If so, why does he not purchase oils, paints, soaps and hardware items through the Indian Stores Department ?

(c) What is the good of having two organizations for purchases ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). The various Defence Services have discretion to employ the agency of the Indian Stores Department or that of the Director of Contracts to supply their requirements according as they consider the one or the other will best serve their interests.

(c) The question of having a single organisation capable of purchasing, both in peace and war, all the requirements of the Central Government has been repeatedly considered, and it has been decided that the present system should be retained on grounds of efficiency.

INCLUSION OF CERTAIN DETAILS IN THE JOURNAL ISSUED BY THE DIRECTOR OF CONTRACTS.

95. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that the Indian Trade Journal cites all details, including the quantity of articles purchased and the rate at which they are purchased, whereas the journal issued by the Director of the Contracts shows only the description, name and the value of the article purchased, but not the quantity and the rate at which it is purchased ?

(b) If so, do Government propose to direct the Director of Contracts to show the aforesaid details ? If not, why not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) No. The practice on the Army side has for years past been to limit the publication of details regarding contracts in the manner stated.

s system works satisfactorily and is understood to be favoured by that of the contractors, with whom the Director of Contracts has dealings. Government, therefore, see no reason to alter it.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Is the Honourable Member aware that the Indian Stores Department prepare the statistics and the lists in such a manner as to show the price as well as the quality of article purchased, that it would be possible to find out if there is fraud ? Is the Honourable Member going to adopt the same system in his Department ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir. We see no reason to alter the existing system adopted by the Director of Contracts.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Does the Honourable Member know that hilly no rates are given and no quantities are being given ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : As I said, the practice on the army side for years past been to limit the publication of details in the manner stated by the Honourable Member.

PROVIDENT INSURANCE SOCIETIES IN SIND.

96. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) how many provident insurance and funds societies have been started in Sind during the last five years ;

(b) whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the proceedings of the meeting held at Karachi on the 13th January at the Buyers and Shippers office in connection with the working of these societies ;

(c) whether Government intend taking any action to safeguard the interests of subscribers to these funds ; if so, what ;

(d) whether it is a fact that Government have instituted an inquiry into the working of these provident insurance societies ; if so, what the result of the inquiry is ; if not, whether Government intend holding such an enquiry ;

(e) whether Government contemplate any legislation in connection with such societies ; if so, what the nature of such a legislation is ; if not, what they propose to do in the matter ; and

(f) whether it is a fact that this is a Central subject and that the Bombay Government have already brought this subject to the attention of this Government and suggested amendment of the Insurance Law ? If so, what steps have Government taken ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) 71 provident insurance societies.

(b) Yes.

(c), (d), (e) and (f). The law relating to the regulation of provident insurance societies is contained in the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, which is administered by the Local Governments. The Government of India have not made any enquiries into the working of the societies in Sind but the Government of Bombay have drawn their attention to various unsatisfactory features attending the growth of such societies in Sind and have also suggested amendment of the insurance law. The matter is at present under the consideration of the Officer on Special Duty appointed by the Government of India to examine the desirability of amending the insurance law in India.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I inform the Honourable Member....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member is not required to give information, but he should put his question.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know from the Honourable Member if it is a fact that in Sind, since this enquiry has been going on, lakhs of rupees have been contributed to these Funds and that many of these Funds are closing down and people are thereby being affected adversely ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The information which the Honourable Member has supplied to me may be correct.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I, therefore, request that the matter may be expedited ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Matters are progressing as fast as they can.

Mr. B. Das : When is the Special Officer likely to report on the amendment of the Insurance Act ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am afraid I could not say.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is the Honourable Member aware of the fact that similar unsatisfactory conditions prevail even in the Madras Presidency ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have no information.

ALLEGED HOSTILE ATTITUDE OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY ADMINISTRATION TOWARDS TRADE UNIONS.

97. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if they have received a telegram from the East Indian Railway Union, complaining of the hostile attitude of the Railway administration towards trade unions ?

(b) If so, how far are the grievances mentioned in the telegram true ?

(c) What steps do Government propose to take to investigate the complaints and give relief ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The matters referred to in the telegram are generally within the competence of the Agent, East Indian Railway, to decide, and the telegram has been referred to him for disposal.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Has the Honourable Member heard from the Agent with respect to this matter ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : No, Sir. We did not ask for a reply.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Are Government aware that many workers who are taking an active part in the Trade Union movement on the East Indian Railway have been victimised ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : That does not arise out of this question.

FIXATION OF THE TIME FOR THE ISSUE OF DEMAND NOTICES OF INCOME-TAX.

98. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if the Central Board of Revenue have laid down any rule or given any instructions to the Income-tax officers, fixing the reasonable maximum and minimum limit of time for giving a demand notice for payment of ordinary and super income-tax under section 29 of the Income-tax Act ?

(b) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the remarks of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner in Sind, condemning the practice of issuing notices of demand after a long time—in that case it having been issued after about two years ?

(c) If the answer to part (a) be in the negative, do Government propose, in view of the instances such as pointed out in part (b), to make a rule fixing the time for the issue of demand notices under section 29 of the Income-tax Act ? If not, why not ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) No.

(b) Yes.

(c) The Commissioner of Income-tax has applied for leave to appeal against the order of the Judicial Commissioner in Sind referred to in part (b) of the question. The point raised in this part of the question will be considered by the Government when they have the result of the appeal before them.

INCOME-TAX ASSESSMENTS RE-OPENED IN SIND.

99. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will Government be pleased to state in how many cases in each Income-tax office in Sind, assessments were re-opened under section 34, as having escaped notice, and after how much time during the years 1933-34 and 1934-35, respectively ? Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement thereof, showing briefly the reasons for such re-opening ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The information required is not on record and could be compiled only at an expenditure of time and labour that would not be justified by the value of the results.

APPEALS DECIDED BY THE ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX IN SIND.

100. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will Government be pleased to state the number of appeals decided by the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax in Sind in the year 1934-35 and the time taken in deciding each appeal from the day of the institution of each of them ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The number of appeals decided by the Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax in Sind in the year 1934-35 was 1,529. As regards the time taken in deciding each appeal, the information is not on record and could be compiled only at an expenditure of time and labour that would not be justified by the value of the results.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Is not the Honourable Member able to find out from the judgments what time was taken ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : By going through 1,529 proceedings, yes.

INCOME-TAX CASES IN SIND CALLED FOR REVIEW BY THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX, BOMBAY.

101. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will Government be pleased to state in how many cases the Commissioner of Income-tax, Bombay, called for review cases from the Income-tax offices in Sind under section 33 of the Income-tax Act in 1934-35, and after how much time from the day of the decisions given by the respective Income-tax officers in Sind ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Presumably the Honourable Member refers to cases where the review was undertaken by the Commissioner of Income-tax, Bombay, himself, without a representation from the assessee, for the purpose of enhancing the assessment. There were only two such cases. One of them was taken up after six months and the other eight and a half months from the date of the decision given by the Income-tax Officer concerned.

STATEMENT OF INCOME-TAX CASES LAID BEFORE THE COURT OF THE JUDICIAL COMMISSIONER IN SIND.

102. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will Government be pleased to state in how many cases in all statements of cases were laid before the Court of the Judicial Commissioner in Sind under section 66 of the Income-tax Act in the years 1933-34 and 1934-35, and with what result ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : One in 1933-34 which was decided against the Department and three in 1934-35 which have not yet been heard by the Court.

AMENDMENT OF SECTION 61 OF THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX ACT.

103. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : What steps do Government propose to take in order to amend section 61 of the Income-tax Act ? Is it a fact that the said section was proposed to be amended in the year 1929 but was kept in abeyance pending further consideration ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I would refer the Honourable Member to my answer to his question No. 15.

PLATFORMS AT CERTAIN STATIONS ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY.

104. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that the Gudur broad gauge platform on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway is too low for passengers to get down and get up easily ?

(b) Do Government propose to raise the level of the platform for the convenience of the passengers at Gudur, Thaduku and Vepagunta on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, broad gauge line ?

(c) Are Government aware that the platforms at Gudur, Renigunta, Katpadi and Arkonam are only partly covered and other stations like Chittoor, Tirupati, etc., are not covered at all and great difficulty is felt by passengers during summer to get down in the hot sun ?

(d) Do Government propose to put up coverings for the entire platforms at all important stations on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) No. The platform is the standard height for medium level platforms.

(b) It is the policy of Government to leave the allocation of funds allotted for this purpose to the Agent, who is in touch with the relative importance of stations and has the benefit of the advice of his local advisory committee.

(c) No. But Government have no reason to dispute the statements made by the Honourable Member.

(d) No. I may add that the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway propose to have a partly covered platform at Tirupati.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are Government aware that the Local Advisory Committee suggested and recommended that, so far as Thaduku and Vepagunta are concerned, they should be covered and the level of the platforms also should be raised ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : Possibly, Sir ; but it is a question for the Agent to decide what is the best way of utilising the sums allotted to him for this purpose.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will the Honourable Member kindly bring this suggestion to the notice of the Agent ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I understood from the Honourable Member that the suggestion had been brought to the notice of the Agent by his Advisory Committee.

BRINGING IN OF TRAINS NEAR THE PLATFORMS AT CERTAIN STATIONS ON THE MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RAILWAY.

105. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that on many stations on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, such as Chittoor, Puthalpet, Renigunta, etc., when two trains cross each other, one of the trains is stopped on the loop-line and passengers including old men, women and children with heavy luggage are made to alight on the ground and cross the railway line at great inconvenience and risk ?

(b) Are Government prepared to issue instructions that all trains should be brought near the platforms without exception and the passengers made to alight and get in from there ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The Agent, Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, states that at single line stations on the metre gauge, when two passenger trains have to cross, the first train is, wherever possible, received on the platform line and the second on another line. The rules provide for the trains not being allowed to stop opposite each other where this can be avoided, and require that the train on one line must be drawn ahead of the other so that the rear brake van of one train is at least 10 yards clear of the rear brake van of the other train.

STATEMENT.

No. 1 (a) of Resolutions.—The abiana levied on wells is not a tax, but is an element in the apportionment (bachh) of land revenue assessed by the Settlement Officer. The villagers themselves have a large say in this apportionment.

No. 1 (b) of Resolutions.—All grievances in this regard receive the careful attention of the Deputy Commissioner in conjunction with the canal authorities, who endeavour to provide an equitable distribution.

No. 1 (c) of Resolutions.—Remission or suspension of land revenues, in accordance with damage to crops, is always granted after each harvest. A sum as large as Rs. 1,41,604, i.e., about 75 per cent. of the total demand, was remitted on account of damage done to crops by heavy rains and floods in kharif, 1933.

No. 2 of Resolutions.—The improvement of communications in the Delhi rural area will be pushed forward as and when funds permit. In the current financial year, it is intended to spend Rs. 10,000 on repairs to Kachha roads.

No. 4 of Resolutions.—Attention is invited to the relevant portion of the Honourable the Finance Member's speech in this House on the 14th February, 1935, in connection with Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad's resolution on the revision of the taxation policy of the Government of India.

No. 5 of Resolutions.—There used to be a post office at Bawana, but it was closed down on account of insufficient work. The possibility of reopening the office is being examined. As regards the improvement of sanitation and the establishment of more hospitals, etc., in the Delhi rural area, it is the intention of the local Administration to take suitable action as funds permit.

SALE OF ELECTRICITY BY THE NEW DELHI MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE TO THE DELHI ELECTRIC SUPPLY COMPANY.

92. *Mr. M. Asaf Ali : (a) Are Government aware that the New Delhi Municipal Committee has offered to sell electric current to the Delhi Electric Supply Company at the rate of .4 anna per unit ?

(b) What is the rate which Government pay to the Supply Company and New Delhi Municipal Committee for electricity purchased for Government offices situated in Delhi and New Delhi ?

(c) By whom was the plant in New Delhi installed, and is there any reason why the tax-payer should be forced to pay such high rates when the Committee sell current at .4 anna per unit to a foreign concern ?

(d) Are Government aware that the Delhi Electric Supply Company purchase current at low rates and supply it to Government offices and public in Old Delhi at rates which yield them an average profit of nearly 900 per cent. ?

(e) Will Government state whether they are prepared to take step to create a Joint Electric Supply Board with (1) Old Delhi Municipal Committee, (2) Joint Water Board, (3) New Delhi Municipal Committee, and (4) Notified Area Committees as its constituents, to purchase electric current from New Delhi Municipal Committee and distribute it to the various constituents at reasonable rates ? If not, why not ?

(f) Is it not a fact that the Indian Electricity Act does not permit monopoly of electric supply ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) If the Honourable Member refers to negotiations for additional supply which Government understand are in progress the answer is in the affirmative.

(b) A statement is laid on the table.

(c) The plant was installed by the Government of India and transferred to the New Delhi Municipal Committee in March, 1932, for due financial consideration. Government are looking into the point raised in the latter part of the Honourable Member's question.

(d) Government are not aware of the exact rates of profit made by the Company but the disparity between the rates at which they buy current from the New Delhi Municipal Committee and those at which they sell it to the consumer is being investigated.

(e) Government are advised that such an arrangement will involve very considerable additional capital expenditure.

(f) No. The Act merely says that the grant of a licence to one person shall not prevent the grant of another to another person for the same area.

STATEMENT.

The New Delhi Municipal Committee supplies electricity to Government offices and private consumers alike at four annas per unit, less 10 per cent. discount if paid within a certain time, for light and fans ; and at two annas per unit for power. For Government offices in Old Delhi, Government pay to the Electric Supply Company on a sliding scale of 4 to 6 annas per unit according to consumption ; up to 250 units 6 annas, 250 to 500 units 5 annas, 500 and over 4 annas.

RECRUITMENT FROM WITHIN DIVISIONAL CIRCLES ON STATE RAILWAYS.

93. *Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : (a) Will Government be pleased to state if they are aware of the policy of the Government of India (Posts and Telegraphs Department) which provides for the recruitment of candidates for service ordinarily from within the revenue division ?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to state whether they adopt the same policy of recruitment from within the respective divisional circles on State Railways ? If not, why not ?

(c) Are Government aware that there arises dissatisfaction, specially amongst the lower class of Railway servants, when they are not placed within the revenue circle of the Railways within which they reside ?

(d) Do Government propose to adopt such a policy on the Railways, so as to facilitate the incumbents to be placed in their respective revenue divisions as has been done by the Posts and Telegraphs Department ? If not, why not ?

Mr. P. B. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) and (d). The Railway Department see no necessity to restrict recruitment in the manner proposed.

(c) No.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Of course the Railway Department may not think it necessary, but may I know if there are any difficulties in the way of adopting the suggestion made by me ?

Mr. P. B. Rau : Government see no advantage in accepting the suggestion.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Are there any difficulties in doing so, I ask ?

When this is not possible, passengers are not allowed to alight between the two trains or to pass between the vehicles of either train. The distance from the footboards of vehicles to the ground is comparatively small, and it is not considered that passengers are put to any inconvenience or risk by being required to alight on the ground between two tracks instead of one to the platform.

On the broad gauge, where two trains cross, both trains are taken on to the platform line.

(b) The acceptance of my Honourable friend's suggestion would involve considerable delay to passenger trains at stations at which such trains cross, and Government are, therefore, unable to accept it.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are Government aware that at Chittoor, the district headquarters in Chittoor district in the Madras Presidency, on the metre gauge line two trains stand on two different lines, halt there for more than 15 minutes, and there is sufficient time for both trains to come to the platform, but that still women and children have to get down on the ground and cross the railway line with heavy luggage at great risk? I would ask the Honourable Member to lay on the table what information he received and what kind of inquiry was made, after this question was put, to conclude that there is absolutely no such inconvenience, when day after day we are feeling the inconvenience.

Mr. P. R. Rau : I will send a copy of my Honourable friend's speech to the Agent of the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.

NON-REDUCTION OF THE EXCISE DUTY ON SALT MANUFACTURED FROM SEA-WATER.

106. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Will Government be pleased to state why they have not reduced the excise duty on salt manufactured from sea-water as in the case of salt and saltpetre produced in the Punjab and other mines in Northern India?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Excise duty has not been reduced on salt produced in the Northern India salt sources, as stated by the Honourable Member, and there is no duty on saltpetre. Reduced rates of duty are levied on salt and sitta eduved in saltpetre refineries in Northern India. The concession has been granted because eduved salt is much inferior in quality to ordinary salt. Sitta is so impure as to be unfit for human consumption. Moreover the license fee for the manufacture of saltpetre includes an element of duty on the eduved salt.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is the Honourable Member aware that in Anantpore and the Ceded Districts of the Madras Presidency, such inferior kind of salt is produced by the local men, and that, with respect to that kind of salt, similar concessions should be allowed?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I answered the question about Northern India. I have no reason to believe that the salt produced in the area to which the Honourable Member refers is of the same inferior quality as that which is eduved in the production of salt in saltpetre refineries.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Will the Honourable Member kindly make inquiries, and, if he is satisfied, extend the concession?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I do not think it is necessary to make such inquiries.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is the Honourable Member aware that in those districts there has been famine for over a year and we have been repeatedly requesting that concessions should be given?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I do not think, Sir, that is relevant to the rates of duty in Northern India.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : With respect to salt produced in other parts of India, similar concessions are given as for salt produced in Northern India. Therefore, this comes under that question. Will the Honourable Member consider my suggestion after making inquiries?

(No reply.)

PROMOTION OF LONG STAPLE AND MIDDLE STAPLE COTTON IN INDIA.

107. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that in Brazil experiments on a large scale are being made for the production of medium staple cotton for supply to the world markets and England?

(b) Are Government aware that annually seven crores worth of long staple cotton are being imported into India from the United States of America, and if so, are any steps being taken in India to make her self-sufficient in cotton? If so, what?

(c) Are any measures taken for the promotion of long staple and middle staple cotton in India, and if so, what are they?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Government are aware of a marked increase in the production of cotton in Brazil in recent years.

(b) and (c). During the five years ending 1933-34 the average annual imports into India of cotton from the United States of America were valued at Rs. 1½ crores. The largest imports were in 1932-33, worth Rs. 3.84 crores. Liberal grants are made by the Indian Central Cotton Committee to promote the more extensive cultivation and the marketing of improved varieties in India and to make pure seed easily available to the cultivators at a reasonable price and also for purposes of demonstration and propaganda. For a detailed account of the Committee's activities I would refer the Honourable Member to the Committee's latest report for the year ending the 31st August, 1934, a copy of which is available in the Library of the House. These measures have already met with much success.

Mr. B. Das : Has the Honourable Member suggested to the Finance Department to put heavier duty on imported American cotton?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I think that if the Finance Department were to take any such action, it would be a very severe blow indeed to those mills in this country which go in for the finer counts.

Mr. B. Das : What about the agriculturists who produce cotton in India?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already informed the House that the Indian Central Cotton Committee is doing its duty by the agriculturists.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the quantity of middle staple cotton produced in India ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I can give my Honourable friend the figures for the year 1933-34 : staple one inch—25,000 bales : 7/8th inch to one inch—1.346 million bales ; 5/8th to 13/16th inch—1.254 million bales.

AMOUNT RAISED IN INDIA BY SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE SILVER JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS.

108. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) What is the total amount raised in India by subscriptions from the public and by contributions from the Local and Central Governments for the Silver Jubilee celebrations ? What amount was spent out of it, and how was the balance disposed of ?

(b) Are Government aware that an extract from an article in the Manchester Guardian appeared in the Madras Mail, pointing out that the Silver Jubilees of Queen Victoria and other Sovereigns were not celebrated and that the celebration was unnecessary and expensive ?

(c) Are Government aware that in Madras and Delhi arrests were made of some persons for carrying on alleged anti-Jubilee propaganda ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) I have no information in regard to the amount raised or contributed, and expended, in the provinces. The Government of India allotted a sum of two lakhs, all of which was spent on the celebrations.

(b) I have seen an article in this sense in the Madras Mail of April 13th last, but there is nothing in the article to show that it was extracted from the Manchester Guardian. It was an article from a London correspondent of the Madras Mail.

(c) In Madras five persons were convicted under the Press Act in connection with leaflets, some of a violent revolutionary character, in which boycott of the Jubilee was advocated. In Delhi eight persons were arrested in connection with the circulation of leaflets of a similar nature. In all these cases action was justified not because the leaflets advocated boycott of the Jubilee but because they were otherwise of a seditious nature.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : As regards clause (a), how is it difficult for the Honourable Member to collect information regarding the total amounts raised in the several provinces ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The difficulty is that there were a very large number of local committees in the different provinces, unofficial committees, collecting subscriptions, and it would have entailed a very large amount of correspondence to ascertain how much they collected and how much they spent.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Does the Honourable Member suggest that the Central Committee in each Presidency is itself not aware of the amounts raised throughout that Presidency, and, if it is so aware, how is it difficult to collect statistics from eleven Presidency headquarters and place them before this Honourable House ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not aware whether the Central Committees in each province are aware of what is collected by purely local committees : I imagine they were not ; but, in any case, the matter is one for the Local Governments, and not for the Government of India.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Can it be a crore of rupees approximately ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I cannot say.

Dr. N. B. Khare : Will Government send for the information required ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think it is of sufficient importance.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : With reference to the arrests made, is it seditious to say that India cannot afford to celebrate the Jubilee at such enormous expense ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is asking for an opinion.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Is the Honourable Member aware that in Dera Ismail Khan, on the 5th of May, a Congress shopkeeper was beaten by a Dera Ismail Khan Government Honorary Magistrate and the police came there on the spot, but took no notice of it, because they wanted him to put some flag on his shop in celebration of the Jubilee and he refused to do it ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : How does that arise out of my reply ?

Dr. Khan Sahib : Because it is in connection with the Jubilee celebration.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : It has nothing to do with the collection of subscriptions.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Is the Honourable Member aware of the amount collected by the Central Committee at Delhi and how it has been spent ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No : I have not the details.

Mr. A. H. Ghuznavi : Is it not a fact that only two British sovereigns before His Majesty reigned long enough to reach the stage of Silver Jubilee—one being Queen Victoria, and the other was one who became a lunatic at the time ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : On a point of order, Sir : how does this arise ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair does not think that arises out of the answer.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think it arises, but I do not think that the Honourable Member's statement is correct.

Mr. A. H. Ghuznavi : Is it not further the fact that the Silver Jubilee Celebration was stopped by Queen Victoria on account of the death of the Prince Consort, and that of the lunatic king did not take place on account of his lunacy ?

(No answer.)

INSTITUTION OF THE SYSTEM OF JOB ANALYSIS IN THE POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.

109. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Are Government prepared to institute the system of job analysis in the Posts and Telegraphs Department for devising economy in expenditure on the lines, suggested by Mr. Pope regarding the Railway Administration ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The organisation and the methods of work of the different branches of the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department have been examined from time to time since 1921 by six different committees with a view to secure all possible economy consistent with efficiency, which is the object of the system of the job analysis. Government do not, therefore, consider it necessary at present to institute another investigation of the nature contemplated by the Honourable Member.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Instead of carrying on the analysis by separate committees, cannot it be concurrently done and information gathered in the department itself ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The department is continually carrying out a scrutiny of the methods of work of its subordinate offices.

CONSTITUTIONAL ASPECT OF CERTAIN TERRITORIES IN BALUCHISTAN.

110. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the Constitutional aspect of the following territories in Baluchistan :

Las Bela, Bugti, Kharan, Makran, Brohi, Marri, and such other tribal units ?

(b) Are these territories under the direct control of British India or connected with the United Confederation of Kalat State ?

(c) If the constitutional composition of the territories in question is a different one than the two mentioned above, will Government be pleased to describe the reality of the fact and throw light on it ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : So far as this question relates to tribal areas, namely, Marri and Bugti country, the information is as follows :

(a) The Marri and Bugti territories are tribal areas in the Sibi Political Agency.

(b) These areas are not included in British India. They are tribal areas under the Political control of the Government of India through the Agent to the Governor General in Baluchistan and the Political Agent, Sibi.

(c) Does not arise.

The remaining areas are Indian State territory.

ALLOWANCES PAID TO THE TRIBAL SARDARS OF BALUCHISTAN.

111. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether the tribal Sardars of Baluchistan, such as Marri, Bugti, Kharan and other territories in Baluchistan, get monthly allowances from the Government of India for personal use ?

(b) Is it a fact that these Sardars, apart from the above mentioned allowances, also get certain amounts for maintenance of their administration from the Government of India ?

(c) If the reply to parts (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, will Government be pleased to lay on the table a consolidated statement showing therein yearly amounts paid to individual Sardars ?

(d) Do the tribal Sardars of Marri and Bugti render any service to the British India and if so, what kind of service ?

(e) Do the Sardars mentioned in part (d) get the above stated allowances in virtue of some treaties made between them and Government, and if so, will Government please place copies of those treaties on the table ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : So far as tribal Sardars are concerned the information is :

(a) Certain Sardars of Baluchistan draw monthly allowances from Government and in return they are made responsible for the tranquillity of their tribal areas. Some of them have to maintain a specified number of tribal levies for this purpose. When called upon to do so they serve as members of Jirgas.

(b) No, except in so far as the upkeep of levies and the duties described in the answer to part (a) can be described as 'maintenance of administration'.

(c) A consolidated statement of such allowances is furnished.

(d) Of the Sardars whose names are shown in the consolidated statement which is laid on the table, only four belong to British Baluchistan and, therefore, to British India. They render services to British India in the manner described in the answer to part (a). The remainder do not render any direct service to British India except that they serve on Jirgas and that they keep order in their tribal areas which has a direct effect on conditions in the neighbouring areas of British India.

(e) There are no treaties but regular agreements with the Marris and Bugtis, copies of which are laid on the table. There are neither treaties nor agreements with other Sardars. Kharan is a part of Indian State territory, regarding which Government are not prepared to answer questions in this House.

STATEMENT SHOWING ALLOWANCES PAID TO SARDARS IN BALUCHISTAN.

Quetta Pishin District.

|                                         | Rs.   |
|-----------------------------------------|-------|
| K. S. Sardar Ghulam Mohd. Tarin .. .. . | 1,800 |

Kalat and Chagai District.

Chagai District.

|                                           |        |
|-------------------------------------------|--------|
| Sardar Mohd. Ali Khan Mengal .. .. .      | 19,260 |
| Sardar Abdul Aziz Khan Badini .. .. .     | 9,600  |
| Sardar Mebrullah Khan Jamaldini .. .. .   | 9,726  |
| Mir Chandan Khan Tarasezai Mengal .. .. . | 1,440  |
| Sardar Taj Mohd. Sanjerani .. .. .        | 28,800 |

Loralai District.

|                                       | Rs.   |
|---------------------------------------|-------|
| Sardar Shahbaz Khan Wanechi .. ..     | 840   |
| Sardar Habib Ullah Khan Belkhel .. .. | 960   |
| Sardar Allah Dad Khan Jaffar .. ..    | 720   |
| K. B. Sardar Shah Ghazi Khan .. ..    | 840   |
| Sardar Sobha Khan Lehrzai .. ..       | 960   |
| K. S. Sardar Baz Mohd. Khan .. ..     | 1,800 |

Sibi District.

|                                                         |        |
|---------------------------------------------------------|--------|
| Marri Service (excluding Kohlu and Ry. Sub-Division) .. | 47,460 |
| Bugti Service .. ..                                     | 70,200 |
| K. B. Sardar Samundar Khan Barozai .. ..                | 1,320  |
| K. B. Sardar Wahab Khan, M.B.E. .. ..                   | 1,380  |
| K. S. Murad Khan Sarangzai .. ..                        | 990    |
| Sardar Rustam Khan Jamali .. ..                         | 600    |

Zhob District.

|                                                  |       |
|--------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Sardar Bahadur Sardar Mohd. Khan Jogezei .. ..   | 1,800 |
| Sardar Bahadur Sardar Zarghun Khan Jogezei .. .. | 1,800 |

Agreement given by Sirdar Miharullah Khan and the Chiefs of the Marri Tribe, to Major Sir Robert Sandeman, K.C.S.I., Agent, Governor General, Baluchistan, at his camp at Quat on the 6th January, 1881.

We, Sirdar Miharullah Khan, Tumandar, Karram Khan, Chief of the Bijerani section, Bakhtiyar Khan and Sobdar Khan, Chiefs of the Tingani section, Nihal Khan Loharani, Mir Hazar, Gazani, Kote Khan, Bijerani, Sheran, Kalwani, Batil, Shaheja, Gul Muhammad, Chilgri, and other chiefs of the Marris, agree as follows on the following conditions :

- (1) The whole country shall remain at peace, and all the roads shall be kept open without hinderance. If any evil-doing is perpetrated by the Marri tribe in Sind, the Punjab, or any part of British territory, Government is to have the right of stopping this service, and of cutting off all intercourse with the tribe.
- (2) When any theft is committed in British territory, or on the British roads, the Tumandar and chiefs will immediately restore the stolen property. If serious offences, such as murder or highway robbery, are committed either within British territory or on trade roads, or in their neighbourhood, the Tumandar and Chiefs will be responsible for the production of the actual offenders. If the Tumandar and Chiefs are not concerned and are faithful in this, the Political Officer will assist them in carrying out this condition ; but if it appears that the Tumandar and Chiefs are in any way concerned in the crime, they will be themselves held responsible.
- (3) The Marri tribe shall have no claim to any additional pay on account of protection of the railway or telegraph lines, and they shall prevent their people doing any damage to these. The Government will, of course, exercise its pleasure as to employing Marris or any others to carry posts, or to act as telegraph line riders.
- (4) The condition on which the Sirdar draws his pay is, that either he himself, or his son, shall be present in attendance on the Political Officer, as long as he is in his own country on this duty he shall not receive any subsistence allowance (for the attendance), but when he goes out of his own country to Quetta, Hurnai, or Sibi, he shall receive the usual subsistence allowance.
- (5) We (the Marri Chiefs) will produce individuals to perform service to be approved of by the Government, and they shall be posted wherever Government please within the Marri country or in the country close to it.

- (6) The Wakil and his two sowars shall, so long as required remain in attendance on the Agent, Governor General. When Agent, Governor General, does not himself require him, he shall be in attendance on the Political Officer.
- (7) Whenever the Political Officer or the Agent, Governor General, summons the Tumandar or any of the Chiefs, he shall at once attend without making excuses.
- (8) Hostages, as specified in the separate list annexed, with one Ressaldar and ten sowars, shall remain continually, till further orders, present at Sibi. The Marri Ressaldar and sowars will be responsible for their production daily before the Political Officer at Sibi. The hostages shall be changed in regular turn in the manner specified in the list, with the permission of the Political Officer, Sibi.

We will remain subject to the British Government, and will not wage war, nor make any attempt at inflicting retribution on any other people or tribe, without the permission of Government.

We have written these words as our agreement and sunnud.

Seal of Sirdar Miharullah Khan.
 Mark of Karram Khan, Bijerani.
 Mark of Bakhtiyar Khan, Tingani.
 Mark of Sobdar Tingani.
 Mark of Nihal Khan, Laharani.
 Mark of Mir Hazar, Gazani, Nozbandagani.
 Mark of Kote, Bijerani.
 Mark of Sheran, Kalwani.
 Mark of Batil, Shaheja.
 Mark of Gul Muhammad, Chilgri.
 Mark of Koti, Tingani.
 Mark of Jamal, Tingani.

Witnesses.

(Sd.) Sirdar Asad Khan, Raisani.

(Seal of) Mir Yar Muhammad, son of Sirdar Alladina Kurd.

(Seal of) Sirdar Alladina Kurd.

Dated 6th January, 1935.

Terms regarding service, behaviour, and hostages agreed to by the Sirdars, Chiefs, and Mucaddams of the Bugti Tribe.

Whereas Lieutenant-Colonel Reynolds, Political Agent, Lieutenant Jennings, Officiating Assistant Agent to the Governor General, have, with the sanction of the Agent, Governor General, planned the service as shown in List 2 attached.

We, Mir Shabaz Khan, eldest son of Sirdar Ghulam Murtaza Khan, and on his behalf, Gohram Khan, uncle of Kechi Khan, Shambani, and on his behalf, Shah Ali Mucaddam, Musori Bijar Nothani, Touriz Nothani, Rehan Nothani, Dilijan Nothani, Rugha Kulpar, Futtuhul, Kulpar, Mirdost, Kulpar, Haidar Kulpar, Easab Kulpar, Zunu Kulpar, Barani Mundrani, Sobdar Khiazai, Futtah Khan Shambani, and Ghuna Khan, Shambani, agree as follows :

(1) That we will at once give six hostages who will remain in Jacobabad or wherever the Agent, Governor General, may order. They will be from the following sections :

- 1 from the Musori section.
- 1 from the Nothani section.
- 2 from the Kulpar section.
- 1 from the Mundrani section.
- 1 from the Shambani section.

They will be changed as per detail in the annexed List No. 3.

One of the Bugti Sirdar's sons will also remain with the hostages, who will be under his orders. He will be responsible for their daily reporting themselves to the Political Agent in charge.

(2) If any of the Bugtis hereafter commit petty thefts, etc., within British territory, the sirdar will at once recover the stolen property. But if the offence committed be such as murder, highway robbery or other serious offence, the offender will be produced and made over to the Political Agent. If more than reasonable delay occurs, the hostage belonging to the criminal section will be kept in close custody until the actual offender or offenders are produced.

(3) The amount of pay will be the same as hitherto sanctioned by Government; but this will be disbursed in future only to those who are actually in the performance of duty.

Detail of service has been given in the annexed list No. 2.

Mir Shabaz Khan, eldest son of Sirdar Ghulam Murtaza Khan, will be recognized as Kesaldar or commandant of the sowars. All the sowars will remain under his orders.

Shabaz Khan will himself work under the direction of his father, but will, when necessary, send out sowars to recover stolen cattle, etc.

At present Ghulam Murtaza Khan being ill, Shabaz Khan will officiate as sirdar of the Bugtis in addition to his own work; when the former recovers, he will resume the charge of his own duties.

(4) One Jemadar, a kind, if possible, with 12 Biluch Guide sowars, will, be stationed at Bibrak Dera to see that the terms of this agreement are properly executed. If necessary, some of these sowars may be detached to Thusu to keep the Shambanis up to their agreement.

Kechi Khan and Gohram Khan will be held responsible for keeping the peace on the part of the Shambani section, and Ghulam Murtaza Khan and Mir Shabaz Khan on the part of the rest of the tribe.

(5) In future when any sirdars or mucaddams are sent for on Government duty and out of their own district, they will receive subsistence allowance at the rate allowed to the Marris.

When they are summoned, the number of the men to accompany them should always be clearly stated by the summoning officer.

(6) If people of any section refuse to obey the order of their sirdar, and the sirdar wishes them punished, Government will have this punishment carried out, on the Assistant Agent, Governor General's ascertaining that the sirdar's complaint is true and that punishment is deserved.

(7) We, the sirdar and mucaddams, agree that in future we will remain subject to the British Government, and will not wage war against Marris, Shambanis, or others without the permission of Government.

(8) The hostages will be allowed to go when Government is satisfied, from the good behaviour of the tribe, that the arrangements are of a permanent character. This point to be decided by the Agent, Governor General.

(9) When the sirdar or any of the chiefs are summoned by the Assistant Agent, Governor General, he shall at once attend without making excuses.

- (Sd.) Mir Shabaz Khan, son of Bugti Tumandar.
- (Sd.) Gohram Khan, uncle of Tumandar Shambani.
- (Sd.) Shah Ali, Musori Mucaddam.
- (Sd.) Bijar Khan, Nothani.
- (Sd.) Touriz Khan, Nothani.
- (Sd.) Rehan Khan, Nothani.
- (Sd.) Dilijan Khan, Nothani.
- (Sd.) Rugha Khan, Kulpar.
- (Sd.) Puttuhull, Kulpar.
- (Sd.) Mir Dost, Kulpar.
- (Sd.) Hyder, Kulpar.
- (Sd.) Easab, Kulpar.
- (Sd.) Zunu, Kulpar.
- (Sd.) Barani Mundrani.
- (Sd.) Sobdar Khiazai.
- (Sd.) Futteh Khan, Shambani.
- (Sd.) Guhna Khan, Shambani.

Witnesses.

(Sd.) Nawab Imam Baksh Khan, Mazari.

(Sd.) Sirdar Assad Khan, Raisani.

(Sd.) Naib Mulla Pirjan.

Countersigned and approved, pending sanction of Government.

(Sd.) E. REYNOLDS, Lieut.-Colonel,
Political Agent.

(Sd.) R. H. JENNINGS, Lieut.-Colonel,

R.E.,

Offg. Assistant Agent, Governor General.

TERRITORIES OF KALAT STATE.

112. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what territories of Kalat State are on lease ?

(b) Is it a fact that the expenditure on the administration of these territories is heavy in comparison with their income, resulting in loss to Government and if so, what is the total amount of loss sustained every year ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The following territories of the Kalat State are on lease :

1. District and Niabat of Quetta.
2. Bolan Pass.
3. District and Niabat of Nushki.
4. Niabat of Nasirabad.

The terms on which these territories have been given on lease are stated in Agreements Nos. XIV, XXVI and XXVIII published in Aitcheson's Treaties, Volume XI, 5th Edition, 1929.

(b) The loss sustained is as under :

1. District and Niabat of Quetta.—The figures for this area are not available as the records of the Office of the Political Agent, Quetta-Pishin, were buried in the earthquake and have not yet been fully salvaged.
2. Bolan Pass.—The average deficit for the past three years in round figures is Rs. 65,000 a year.
3. District and Niabat of Nushki.—The annual deficit is Rs. 58,000.
4. Niabat of Nasirabad.—The average annual deficit for the three years (1928-29 to 1930-31) prior to the opening of the Khirtar Canal was Rs. 62,000 a year. No reliable figures after the opening of the Khirtar Canal are available as a consolidated land revenue and water rate is being recovered from the land-holders and no financial adjustment between the Baluchistan and Bombay Governments regarding the cost of the Khirtar Canal and its working has yet been arranged. Development operations are still proceeding and a considerable portion of the waste lands has still to be colonized. The income from these lands is on the increase. The deficit on the average of the past four years after the opening of the Khirtar Canal has been reduced to Rs. 14,675 per annum subject to any adjustment referred to above.

POSITION OF THE POLITICAL AGENCY IN THE TERRITORIES OF YOB AND KHATRANO IN BALUCHISTAN.

113. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Will Government be pleased to state the real position of the Political Agency of the Government of India in the territories of Yob and Khatrano (Baluchistan) and whether these territories are permanently under British India, and if not, then what the real position is ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : It is presumed that the Honourable Member refers to the Zhob and Loralai Political Agencies. These are not included in British India but are tribal areas known as Agency territories legally on the same footing as the tribal territory on the North-West Frontier.

CONSTITUTIONAL CHARACTER OF THE SHAHI AND OTHER JIRGAS IN BALUCHISTAN.

114. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the constitutional character of Shahi Jirga in Baluchistan, and its powers, and in what capacity outsider Sardars and other representatives participate in the said Shahi Jirga ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state the constitutional character of other local Jirgas of Baluchistan and their powers and responsibilities ?

(c) Will Government be pleased to state :

(i) whether the Presidents of the Shahi and other Jirgas in Baluchistan are nominated by Government or elected by their members, and, in case they are nominated, the reasons for the same and the qualifications required for such Presidents ; and

(ii) whether Government are prepared to allow the Jirgas to elect their own Presidents instead of the Government's nominee ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) The Shahi Jirga is a Council of Elders consisting of the Chiefs of the tribes in Baluchistan. The members of the Jirga are appointed by the Agent to the Governor General. Important civil and criminal cases and questions of tribal customary law which cannot be settled by District and Joint Jirgas are referred to the Shahi Jirga for opinion. It is not understood exactly what is meant by " Outsider Sardar " but there is nothing to prevent the Agent to the Governor General from nominating Sardars and others who are not normally members of the Shahi Jirga to be members of that body to assist in their deliberations for special reasons.

(b) (i) District Jirgas are appointed by Political Agents from the leading men of the various tribes in their districts. Such Jirgas deal with cases within the district and they make recommendations according to the customary law of the tribes concerned. Orders on their findings are passed by Political Agents.

(ii) Joint Jirgas.—These Jirgas function in the same way as District Jirgas but deal with cases which occur between residents of different districts.

(iii) Inter-Provincial Jirgas.—These Jirgas deal with cases which occur between residents of Baluchistan and residents of the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province.

(c) (i) The Presidents of the Shahi and other Jirgas are nominated. There are no special qualifications but the President of a Jirga has to see that cases are heard promptly ; that the proceedings are correctly drawn up and that the hearing is impartial. He must also have a thorough knowledge of customary law and of jirga procedure. For these reasons nomination is necessary.

(ii) Government do not see any reason to make a change, for which there has been no demand, in the existing system.

ALLEGED MONOPOLY OF NON-SINDHIS IN THE KARACHI GENERAL POST OFFICE.

115. *Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to an article, with the heading " Monopoly of Non-Scindhis in the Karachi General Post Office ", appearing in the Daily Alwahid, in its issue of the 14th March, 1935 ;

(b) if so, what action they have taken or propose to take in the matter ; and

(c) if not, whether Government propose to make any enquiry or to take any action in regard to the subject matter of the article ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The attention of the Honourable Member is drawn to the reply given by Mr. Bewoor on the 9th April, 1935, to his identical starred question No. 1680.

DISTINCTION IN THE PAYMENT OF RAILWAY FARE BY AN INDIAN MAJOR AND A BRITISH CAPTAIN.

116. *Mr. V. V. Giri : (a) Are Government aware that a Junior Indian Major (I.M.S.) drawing less pay than a Senior British Captain (I.M.S.) has to travel first class on payment of full first class fare, whereas the latter though drawing more pay (including overseas pay) travels first class on payment of only second class fare ?

(b) If the reply to part (a) be in the affirmative, will Government please state the reasons for this distinction ?

(c) Are Government prepared to allow the above concession on salary basis rather than on rank ? If not, why not ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). The answer to part (a) is in the affirmative but the reason has nothing to do with either the pay or the nationality of the officer. The concession of travelling first class at second class rates is given to all Captains and Subalterns whether British or Indian, but not to Majors, either Indian or British.

(c) No, Sir. I imagine a concession of this kind based on salary would be exceedingly difficult to work.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra : May I know from the Honourable Member if there is any rule in the Military Department which permits Captains to travel in higher class compartments than those for which fares are paid? Are they permitted to travel in first class though they pay fares for second class? If so, may I know the grounds for this concession?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Military Department see no reason to depart from the present practice by which the concession of travelling first class at second class rates is confined to the junior ranks, that is, Captains and Subalterns. They see no reason to alter that practice.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE HIDES CESS COMMITTEE.

117. *Qazi Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the expenditure incurred on the Hides Cess Committee appointed in 1929?

(b) What were, in brief, the main recommendations of that Committee?

(c) How far have those recommendations been adopted by Government?

(d) If no action has been taken, what unforeseen reasons have been responsible for it?

(e) Do Government now contemplate taking any steps in pursuance of those recommendations and, if so, when?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) The actual expenditure incurred on the Hides Cess Enquiry Committee was Rs. 46,426.

(b) The Honourable Member is referred to Chapter XI of the Report of the Hides Cess Enquiry Committee, a copy of which is in the Library.

(c), (d) and (e). I would refer the Honourable Member to Sir Joseph Bhore's speech in this House on the Finance Bill of 1934 as printed on pages 2632-2634 of the Legislative Assembly Debates, dated the 22nd March, 1934. The imposition of a suitable cess on the exports of hides and skins from India is a necessary precedent to the adoption of the other recommendations of the Hides Cess Enquiry Committee and in the present depressed condition of the export trade it is felt that any action which may tend to raise the prices of Indian hides and skins in the export markets and so place them in an unfavourable position vis-a-vis their competitors would be injurious to the industry itself.

POSITION OF INDIANS IN ZANZIBAR.

118. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that the Colonial Secretary has definitely turned down the representation of the Government of India on the position of Indians in Zanzibar ;

(b) what is the actual position to-day ;

(c) whether Government will take any action to vindicate the position of Indians in Zanzibar ; and

(d) if so, when, and what those steps are ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) No.

(b) to (d). The general question is still the subject of discussion between the Secretary of State for India and the Secretary of State for the Colonies. Meanwhile, I am authorised to announce that if any specific cases of hardship alleged to have resulted from application of the new arrangement are brought locally to the notice of the Government of Zanzibar, they will be most carefully investigated by that Government and, if necessary, brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (a) of the question, may I know, Sir, whether the Government reported to the Emigration Committee, at the meeting held earlier in the year, that the Colonial Secretary had turned down the representation of the Government of India?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The proceedings of the Standing Emigration Committee are confidential, and I cannot disclose what transpired in those meetings without the approval of the Committee itself, but I think I can tell my friend that what was reported to the Committee was merely an intermediate stage of the negotiations.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The Standing Emigration Committee is a Committee of this House, and is there any rule or convention that things which take place there cannot be disclosed or told in the House? What is this Committee for? I want a ruling from you, Sir.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That rule applies to Select Committees.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The position is that, so far the Standing Emigration Committee has always been consulted as to whether questions which are discussed there should be made public or not. The particular point as to whether information should be conveyed to the House or not has not been considered before, and if you, Sir, wish me to explain to the House what happened in that Committee, I am prepared to do so.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes, I want that information.

Several Honourable Members : We all want that information.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have already conveyed that information to my Honourable friend without going into details. I said what was reported to the Committee was an intermediate stage of the negotiations.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know, therefore, whether this representation was turned down at the intermediate stage, and, after that, the Government of India went with their begging bowls in their hand and are now considering the whole position?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There is no question of a begging bowl or any other kind of eleemosynary instrument being used. The problem is really a difficult one. The suggestion that the Honourable Member is referring to is a suggestion for a particular kind of inquiry. The Secretary of State for the Colonies said that he did not feel justified at that stage in embarking upon an inquiry, because sufficient time had not elapsed since the passing of the legislation to enable him or the local authorities to say how the legislation was working. It was only natural in the circumstances that the Government of India should say : "Very well, we shall wait for a little time in order to enable you to gather experience of the working of the legislation, but meanwhile if there are any difficulties that individuals are experiencing, you must provide relief for them", and that relief is provided for by the statement which I have made in the latter part of my reply.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of this courageous attitude of the Government, may I know what is the latest position in this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The latest position as, I understand, is that the general question is still the subject of discussion between the Secretary of State for India and the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are the Government of India considering the question of levying an embargo on the import of cloves into this country as a measure of retaliation ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : My Honourable friend may rest assured that everything connected with this question is receiving the attention of the Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That, Sir, is a very poor assurance in view of the fact that the Government of India have failed all these years to do anything effective.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has put his question and he has got an answer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : No, Sir ; the answer was that everything connected with this question was receiving the attention of the Government. I want to know whether Government are considering this particular question of putting an embargo on the import of cloves from Zanzibar into this country. That question has not been answered.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair thinks the answer is in the affirmative, is it not ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : No, Sir ; he said that he is considering everything connected with this question. I want to know particularly whether they are considering this question of putting an embargo on the import of cloves.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has already replied to his question.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Everything connected with this question is being considered by the Government of India, and if my friend, Mr. Satyamurti, thinks that this particular question is not sufficiently relevant, then, in that case, he is not justified in assuming or suggesting....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The point is whether the question of the import of cloves is being considered, or not.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Everything connected with this question is under consideration....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does the Honourable Member mean that it is under consideration ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, you cannot give an answer for the Government. They must give the answer.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has said that he is considering everything including this. That is how the Chair understands his answer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : He has not stated so.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I know whether the Government of India are aware that a company is being formed in London for dealing in cloves ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not know whether that actually arises out of this question, but the Government of India have no information on that subject.

Mr. N. M. Joshi : May I ask if the Government of India will make inquiries ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : If my friend will be good enough to disclose to me the source of his information and if it is of sufficient importance to justify an inquiry being made, the Government of India will certainly make an inquiry.

Mr. B. Das : With reference to the reply to the last part of the question, will the Honourable Member kindly tell me if the Government of India have brought to the notice of the Colonial Minister any special cases of difficulties of Zanzibar merchants ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : We may be making inquiries from the Imperial Citizenship Association of Bombay, but if my friend had listened to my answer, he would have gathered that it is open to individuals in Zanzibar, if they so wished, to make representations direct to the Government of Zanzibar.

Mr. B. Das : Direct to the Government of Zanzibar ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Yes.

Mr. B. Das : And not to the Government of India ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : It is open to them to report to the Government of India and suggest to them that they should take action, but if they think that this is likely to be a dilatory process, it is open to them to make representations direct to the Government of Zanzibar.

Mr. B. Das : Will the Government of Zanzibar forward these representations to the Colonial Secretary in London ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : He has been definitely asked to forward important cases to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Seth Govind Das : Who is to decide whether these individual cases are important or not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There is nothing to prevent the individuals concerned representing to the Secretary of State for the Colonies if the local authorities, by any chance, consider an important case to be unimportant.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : Did the Government of India receive any representation from Indians in Zanzibar to take retaliatory measures ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Government of India have received representation from the Indian National Association in Zanzibar to take retaliatory action. They have also seen reports of Resolutions on the subject in the press.

INCLUSION OF PROVISIONS FOR A STATUTORY RAILWAY AUTHORITY IN THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT.

119. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether the Government of India, in their despatch on this subject, asked the Secretary of State for provisions for a Statutory Railway Authority to be included in the Government of India Act ?

(b) Will they be pleased to lay their correspondence with the Secretary of State on the table ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government are not prepared to disclose the nature of their confidential communications with the Secretary of State, and, in this connection, I may draw the Honourable Member's attention to the supplementary questions put by him to question No. 21 on the 6th February, 1935, to Sir Joseph Bore and the replies thereto.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know if the Government of India contemplate introducing any further legislation on this matter, and, if so, when ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I believe the Honourable Member has already put down a question to that effect.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Is it to be held secret from people who make the contribution ? (After a pause.) No answer ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has said that it is a confidential communication and he cannot disclose it.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Confidential from those who contribute funds ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Yes, apparently.

OUTLAY ON THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH.

120. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state the total outlay on the Imperial Agricultural Research Council since it was set up, and the results achieved so far ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : A statement is laid on the table. Particulars of the research schemes and of the progress made are published in the annual reports of the Council, copies of which are available in the Library of the House.

STATEMENT.

| Actuals1929-30. | Actuals1930-31. | Actuals1931-32. | Actuals1932-33. | Actuals1933-34. | Actuals1934-35. | BudgetEstimate1935-36. |
|---------------------|---------------------|---------------------|---------------------|---------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------|
| Rs.                 | Rs.                 | Rs.                 | Rs.                 | Rs.                 | Rs.                 | Rs.                            |
| 1,46,181            | 6,91,355            | 6,91,061            | 8,60,739            | 12,05,762           | 14,61,947           | 22,49,100                      |

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are the results of the investigations being made by the Council into the cost of cultivation of certain crops now available ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I should like to have notice of that question. I could not say whether the results are available or not.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Are the agricultural interests represented on the Imperial Council ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : This question relates to the amounts of grants made by the Governor General in Council and the activities of the Council ; it does not relate to the constitution of the Council.

REDUCTION IN INDIA'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

121. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what reduction they have been able to secure in India's contribution to the League of Nations ?

(b) Are Government aware of any reasons why India should contribute more than any of the self-governing Dominions ?

(c) What is the indirect return to this country in the form of salaries of Indian employees of the League per year ?

(d) What steps are Government taking to get India's contribution reduced and to get the employment of Indians in the League organization increased ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) India's contribution for 1935 has been reduced by one unit as the result of the distribution among existing Members of units allotted to Russia on her entering the League.

(b) Government see no reason to suppose that the comparative assessments of India and the Dominions indicate any failure properly to apply the principles on which the existing assessment is based, for those principles recognise population as one of the factors to be taken into account.

(c) The aggregate amount of the salaries of the Indian employees of the League in 1934 appears to have been one hundred and thirteen thousand, three hundred Swiss Francs.

(d) As regards the first part of the question, I would refer the Honourable Member to part (b) of my reply to question No. 590, asked by Lala Rameshwar Prasad Bagla, on the 14th August, 1934. The matter is now under consideration in connection with the forthcoming preparation of a revised scale of allocation.

As regards the second part of the question, for the reasons explained in my reply to part (c) of question No. 500, asked by Dr. Ziauddin Ahmad, on the 9th August, 1934, no means exist of securing an early material increase in the number of Indians employed in the League's organisations, but I may mention that certain informal representations on the subject have recently been addressed to the Secretary General and have elicited a sympathetic reply. I take the opportunity of laying on the table a statement showing the number of officers employed in the League Secretariat and the International Labour Office on a minimum salary of not less than 12,000 Swiss Francs per annum, from which the Honourable Member will observe that, leaving out of account Great Britain, France, Italy and Switzerland, the scale of whose representation is necessarily influenced by geographical and linguistic considerations, the number of Indian employees compares by no means unfavourably with the number of nationals of other States Members.

Statement showing the number of officers employed in the League Secretariat and in the International Labour Office whose minimum salary is not less than 12,000 Swiss Francs per annum.

| Nationality.      | Secretariat. | Remarks.                          | I. L. O. | Remarks.                          | Total (exclusive of Interpreters, Translators, &c.). |
|-------------------|--------------|-----------------------------------|----------|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| British .. ..     | 47           | 21 Interpreters, translators, &c. | 39       | 14 Interpreters, translators, &c. | 51                                                   |
| French .. ..      | 31           | 16 Do. ..                         | 41       | 7 Do. ..                          | 49                                                   |
| Russia .. ..      | ..           | ..                                | 1        | 1 do. ..                          | ..                                                   |
| Germany .. ..     | 6            | ..                                | 11       | 6 do. ..                          | 11                                                   |
| Italy .. ..       | 13           | ..                                | 8        | 2 do. ..                          | 19                                                   |
| India .. ..       | 3            | ..                                | 3        | ..                                | 6                                                    |
| China .. ..       | 2            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 2                                                    |
| Spain .. ..       | 3            | ..                                | 2        | 1 do. ..                          | 4                                                    |
| Canada .. ..      | 3            | ..                                | 3        | 1 do. ..                          | 5                                                    |
| Poland .. ..      | 6            | ..                                | 2        | 1 do. ..                          | 7                                                    |
| Argentina .. ..   | ..           | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | ..                                                   |
| Czechoslovakia .. | 4            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 5                                                    |
| Australia .. ..   | 3            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 4                                                    |
| Holland .. ..     | 5            | ..                                | 3        | ..                                | 8                                                    |

| Nationality.       | Secretariat. | Remarks.                          | I. L. O. | Remarks.                          | Total (exclusive of Interpreters, Translators, &c.). |
|--------------------|--------------|-----------------------------------|----------|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| Roumania .. ..     | 1            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 2                                                    |
| Belgium .. ..      | 5            | ..                                | 3        | 1 Interpreters, translators, etc. | 7                                                    |
| Sweden .. ..       | 3            | ..                                | 2        | ..                                | 5                                                    |
| Switzerland .. ..  | 10           | 1 Interpreters, translators, etc. | 19       | 7 Interpreter, translators, etc.  | 21                                                   |
| South Africa .. .. | 1            | ..                                | 1        | 1 Do. ..                          | 1                                                    |
| Japan .. ..        | 4            | ..                                | 3        | 1 Do. ..                          | 6                                                    |
| Mexico .. ..       | ..           | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | ..                                                   |
| Denmark .. ..      | 3            | ..                                | 2        | ..                                | 5                                                    |
| Finland .. ..      | 1            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 2                                                    |
| Ireland .. ..      | 1            | ..                                | 3        | ..                                | 4                                                    |
| New Zealand .. ..  | 2            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 3                                                    |
| Turkey .. ..       | 1            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 1                                                    |
| Chile .. ..        | 1            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 1                                                    |
| Norway .. ..       | 3            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 4                                                    |
| Peru .. ..         | ..           | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | ..                                                   |
| Hungary .. ..      | 2            | ..                                | 2        | 1 Interpreters, translators, etc. | 3                                                    |
| Austria .. ..      | 4            | ..                                | 2        | ..                                | 6                                                    |
| Greece .. ..       | 2            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 2                                                    |
| Siam .. ..         | 1            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 1                                                    |
| Portugal .. ..     | ..           | ..                                | 1        | 1 Interpreters, translators, etc. | ..                                                   |
| Cuba .. ..         | ..           | Interpreters and translators.     | ..       | Interpreters and translators.     | ..                                                   |
| Bulgaria .. ..     | 1            | ..                                | 1        | 1 Do. ..                          | 1                                                    |
| Persia .. ..       | 1            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 2                                                    |
| Columbia .. ..     | ..           | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | ..                                                   |
| Uruguay .. ..      | 2            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 2                                                    |
| Venezuela .. ..    | 1            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 1                                                    |
| Lithuania .. ..    | 1            | ..                                | 1        | ..                                | 2                                                    |
| Bolivia .. ..      | ..           | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | ..                                                   |
| Latvia .. ..       | 1            | ..                                | ..       | ..                                | 1                                                    |

| Nationality.             | Secretariat. | Remarks. | I. L. O. | Remarks. | Total (exclusive of Interpreters, Translators, etc.). |
|--------------------------|--------------|----------|----------|----------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| Estonia .. ..            | 1            | ..       | ..       | ..       | 1                                                     |
| Iraq .. ..               | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Abyssinia .. ..          | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Afghanistan .. ..        | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Albania .. ..            | 1            | ..       | ..       | ..       | 1                                                     |
| Dominican Republic .. .. | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Guatemala .. ..          | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Haiti .. ..              | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Honduras .. ..           | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Salvador .. ..           | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Liberia .. ..            | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Luxemburg .. ..          | 2            | ..       | 1        | ..       | 3                                                     |
| Nicaragua .. ..          | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| Panama .. ..             | 1            | ..       | ..       | ..       | 1                                                     |
| Paraguay .. ..           | ..           | ..       | ..       | ..       | ..                                                    |
| America .. ..            | 5            | ..       | ..       | ..       | 5                                                     |

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the Honourable Member's answer to clause (a) of the question, may I know what is the percentage of reduction ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Do I understand that my Honourable friend wants to know what that is in rupees, annas and pies ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want the percentage. Percentage should be the same for all coins.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The position is this if I may just explain. This time there are 951 units, and a unit is also not a fixed quantity, because 951 units represent the whole amount budgeted, which may vary from time to time. But, roughly speaking, one unit is in this case Rs. 25,000.

Mr. Satyamurti : May I know, with regard to the answer to clause (b) of the question, apart from population, whether there is any other reason why we should contribute more than Canada, Australia, or South Africa ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I find various items are taken into consideration. Speaking from memory, apart from population, other items like the number of labourers, the number of schools and other educational institutions, and various other factors are taken into consideration. I cannot give any more definite reply to my Honourable friend than what I have said. That is, on the working of these principles, they have arrived at their figure, and, as a result of our representation, only one unit has been reduced.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has India got a free vote in the League of Nations ? In view of the fact that she is an appendage of Great Britain, should there not be at least some monetary concession ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The question of India having a free vote does not arise out of this question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to know whether the fact that India has no free vote is no consideration to be taken into account, in determining the contribution to the League of Nations ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair thinks that should be raised by a separate question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the answer to clause (c) of the question, may I know, in view of this very "sympathetic" reply of the Secretary General, whether there has been any improvement in the number and the emoluments of Indian employees in the various Secretariats of the League ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : To my knowledge, there has been improvement in the case of one, but I cannot possibly just now give information about every individual.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Does the Honourable Member know that, so far as the United Kingdom is concerned, she gets far more by way of salaries of her nationals employed in the League, than she contributes ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is conceded in the last part of my answer, which is this :

"Leaving out of account Great Britain, France, Italy and Switzerland, the scale of whose representation is necessarily influenced by geographical and linguistic considerations, the number of Indian employees compares by no means unfavourably with the number of nationals of other States Members."

That is conceded.

Mr. Satyamurti : Why should you leave out of account Great Britain or France ? I can understand Switzerland for geographical reasons.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : It is not a question of leaving out of account in that sense. It means that those four States have got more representatives proportionately than other States.

Seth Govind Das : Will the Honourable Member kindly say whether other countries have also reduced their contributions ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I believe two or three have, but I have not got them just now. I shall be able to inform my Honourable friend later on if he wants the information.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. There are two short notice questions by Seth Govind Das. Seth Govind Das.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

ACTION TAKEN AGAINST NEWSPAPERS UNDER THE INDIAN PRESS (EMERGENCY POWERS) ACT, 1931.

Seth Govind Das : Will Government be pleased to state :

12 NOON.

- (a) the number of newspapers in India which have been called upon to deposit securities during the year 1935 ;
- (b) their names and places of publication ;
- (c) the number of papers that have deposited the amounts demanded,
  - (i) their names ;
  - (ii) the amounts so deposited ; and
  - (iii) the total amount of deposits so received towards securities.
- (d) the particular reasons for which each newspaper was called upon to deposit securities ;
- (e) the number of newspapers that failed to deposit the securities so demanded and went out of publication ;
- (f) the names of such newspapers ;
- (g) the total number of newspapers that have been asked to deposit securities only for the reason that they published articles on the Quetta earthquake ;
- (h) the number of newspapers that ran out of running as a result of their failure to deposit the security sums required of them ; and
- (i) the particular offence in each case of publishing an article on the Quetta earthquake ?

ACTION TAKEN AGAINST NEWSPAPERS UNDER THE INDIAN PRESS (EMERGENCY POWERS) ACT, 1931.

Seth Govind Das : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the number of newspapers that have been asked to deposit securities since the Press Ordinance, 1930 ;
- (b) the amounts that have been asked of each newspaper ;
- (c) the reasons for which each newspaper had been so called upon to deposit the securities ;
- (d) the amount of security and total in each case ;
- (e) the number of newspapers that failed to deposit securities ;
- (f) the total number of forfeitures of deposits ;
- (g) the total amount so forfeited ;
- (h) the names of the newspapers that forfeited deposits and the amounts so forfeited ;
- (i) the number of newspapers that failed to deposit the requisite securities ; and
- (j) the names and number of such newspapers that went out of running as a sequence of the failure referred to in part (i) ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : With your permission, Sir, I propose to answer both Seth Govind Das' short notice questions regarding action taken against newspapers under the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, together. I lay on the table five statements giving the information so far as it is available.

STATEMENT NO. I.

Statement showing the action taken against newspapers in India under the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, during the year 1935.

| Serial No. | Name of newspaper, with place of publication. | Amount of security demanded. | Whether security deposited or newspaper closed down on failure to deposit security. | Remarks.  |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1          | 2                                             | 3                            | 4                                                                                   | 5         |
|            | MADRAS.                                       | Rs.                          |                                                                                     |           |
| 1          | Pahuttarivu, Erode .. ..                      | 1,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |           |
| 2          | Truth, Madras .. ..                           | 300                          | Not deposited. Declaration became void.                                             |           |
| 3          | Azad-i-Hind .. ..                             | ..                           | Not deposited. Paper ceased publication.                                            |           |
| 4          | Prabha, Yellamarru, Gudivada                  | 2,000                        | ....                                                                                |           |
| 5          | Kistna Patrika, Masulipatam ..                | 2,000                        | ....                                                                                |           |
| 6          | Prabatham, Shoranur, Malabar District.        | 2,000                        | ....                                                                                |           |
| 7          | Trilinga, Madras .. ..                        | 1,500                        | ....                                                                                |           |
| 8          | Dhinamani, Madras .. ..                       | 2,000                        | ....                                                                                |           |
| 9          | Prabhat, Mangalore .. ..                      | 2,000                        | ....                                                                                |           |
|            | BOMBAY.                                       |                              |                                                                                     |           |
| 10         | Western Racing Journal, Bombay.               | 1,000                        | Not deposited. Paper not started.                                                   |           |
| 11         | Kamshastra, Bombay .. ..                      | 1,000                        | Not deposited. Paper not started.                                                   |           |
| 12         | Cinema Jagat, Bombay .. ..                    | 1,000                        | Not deposited. Paper not started.                                                   |           |
| 13         | Daily Aftab, Bombay .. ..                     | 1,000                        | Not deposited. Paper not started.                                                   |           |
| 14         | Bombay Standard, Bombay ..                    | (i) 1,000(ii) 3,000      | (i) Deposited(ii) Not deposited.                                                | Forfeited |
| 15         | Hilal, Bombay .. ..                           | 3,000                        | Not deposited. Paper ceased publication.                                            |           |

| Serial No. | Name of newspaper, with place of publication.  | Amount of security demanded. | Whether security deposited or newspaper closed down on failure to deposit security. | Remarks. |
|------------|------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                              | 3                            | 4                                                                                   | 5        |
|            | BOMBAY— contd.                          | Rs.                          |                                                                                     |          |
| 16         | Azad, Bombay .. ..                             | 3,000                        | Not deposited.Paper ceased publication.                                         |          |
| 17         | Raushni, Bombay .. ..                          | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |          |
| 18         | People, Bombay .. ..                           | 1,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 19         | Nav-Saurashtra, Ahmedabad ..                   | 2,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 20         | Khetiwadi .. ..                                | 500                          | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 21         | Mahetaji, Ahmedabad .. ..                      | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |          |
| 22         | Hind Nauchatan .. ..                           | 500                          | ....                                                                                |          |
| 23         | Manasi, Ahmedabad .. ..                        | 1,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 24         | Rashtriya Vaishya, Bombay ..                   | 2,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 25         | Hilal-i-Jadid-i-Ukab, Bombay                   | 1,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 26         | Chand, Hyderabad (Sind) ..                     | 500                          | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 27         | Okab, Bombay .. ..                             | 750                          | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 28         | Pramod, Bombay .. ..                           | 1,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 29         | Janamabhumi Mudranalaya, Bombay.               | 1,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 30         | Gaddha, Bombay .. ..                           | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |          |
| 31         | Nav Shakti, Bombay .. ..                       | 3,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 32         | Rashtrateja, Kolaba .. ..                      | 1,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 33         | Khilafat, Daily (or Rozma-e-Khilafat), Bombay. | 1,500                        | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 34         | Lokasatta, Nasik .. ..                         | 1,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |          |
| 35         | Ittehad, Bombay .. ..                          | 1,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 36         | Nav Bharat, Bombay .. ..                       | 1,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |          |
| 37         | Roshni, Ahmedabad .. ..                        | 3,000                        | ....                                                                                |          |
| 38         | Siyasat, Hyderabad (Sind) ..                   | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |          |
| 39         | Saptahik Sakal, Poona .. ..                    | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |          |
| 40         | Prawasi .. ..                                  | 3,000                        | ....                                                                                |          |

| Serial No. | Name of newspaper, with place of publication. | Amount of security demanded. | Whether security deposited or newspaper closed down on failure to deposit security. | Remarks.   |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 1          | 2                                             | 3                            | 4                                                                                   | 5          |
|            | BENGAL.                                       | Rs.                          |                                                                                     |            |
| 41         | Bande Matram, Calcutta .. ..                  | 3,000                        | ....                                                                                |            |
| 42         | Mazdur Dunia .. ..                            | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |            |
| 43         | Khadim .. ..                                  | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |            |
| 44         | Khadim Quadim, Calcutta .. ..                 | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |            |
|            | UNITED PROVINCES.                             |                              |                                                                                     |            |
| 45         | Vijai, Agra .. ..                             | 500                          | Not deposited.Paper ceased publication.                                         |            |
| 46         | Ahrar, Agra .. ..                             | 1,000                        | Not deposited.Paper ceased publication.                                         |            |
| 47         | Vikas, Saharanpur .. ..                       | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |            |
|            | PUNJAB.                                       |                              |                                                                                     |            |
| 48         | Alankar, Lahore .. ..                         | 1,000                        | Not deposited.Paper ceased publication.                                         |            |
| 49         | Balidan, Lahore .. ..                         | 1,000                        | Not deposited.Paper ceased publication.                                         |            |
| 50         | Student Outlook, Lahore .. ..                 | 1,000                        | Not deposited.Paper not published.                                              |            |
| 51         | Dastan, Lahore .. ..                          | 500                          | Not deposited.Paper not published.                                              |            |
| 52         | Yasrab, Lahore .. ..                          | 500                          | Not deposited.Paper not published.                                              |            |
| 53         | Pratap, Lahore .. ..                          | 3,000                        | Deposited.                                                                          |            |
| 54         | State Representative, Lahore ..               | 1,000                        | Not deposited.Paper not published.                                              |            |
| 55         | Matwala, Lahore .. ..                         | 200                          | Deposited.                                                                          |            |
| 56         | Mushkal Kusha, Qadian .. ..                   | 250                          | Deposited .. ..                                                                     | Forfeited. |
| 57         | Shujaat, Lahore .. ..                         | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |            |
| 58         | Mohsin, Multan .. ..                          | 2,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |            |
| 59         | Jiwan, Multan .. ..                           | 2,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |            |

| Serial No. | Name of newspaper, with place of publication. | Amount of security demanded. | Whether security deposited or newspaper closed down on failure to deposit security. | Remarks.    |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| 1          | 2                                             | 3                            | 4                                                                                   | 5           |
|            | BURMA.                                        | Rs.                          |                                                                                     |             |
| 60         | New Light of Burma .. ..                      | 1,500                        | Deposited.                                                                          |             |
| 61         | Bandoola .. ..                                | 500                          | ....                                                                                |             |
| 62         | Whip .. ..                                    | 3,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |             |
| 63         | Azad, Burma, Rangoon ..                       | 500                          | ....                                                                                |             |
|            | BIHAR AND ORISSA.                             |                              |                                                                                     |             |
| 64         | Jamhoor, Patna .. ..                          | 2,000                        | Not deposited.Paper ceased publication.                                         |             |
|            | DELHI.                                        |                              |                                                                                     |             |
| 65         | Zaban-i-Khanjar, Delhi ..                     | 500                          | ....                                                                                |             |
| 66         | Daily Tej, Delhi .. ..                        | (i) 1,000*(ii) 3,000     | Deposited ..Deposited.                                                          | *Forfeited. |
| 67         | Qaumi Gazette, Delhi ..                       | 1,000                        | Not deposited.Paper ceased publication.                                         |             |
| 68         | Arjun, Delhi .. ..                            | (i) 2,000*(ii) 5,000     | (i) Deposited(ii) Deposited.                                                    | *Forfeited. |
| 69         | Dindar, Delhi .. ..                           | 1,000                        | Not deposited.                                                                      |             |
| 70         | National Gazette, Delhi ..                    | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |             |
| 71         | Kainat, Delhi .. ..                           | 500                          | ....                                                                                |             |
| 72         | Taj, Delhi .. ..                              | 1,000                        | ....                                                                                |             |

NOTE—(i) The total amount of securities deposited is Rs. 25,950.

(ii) Information as to the reasons for which each newspaper was called upon to deposit security is not available.

(iii) Cases in which demands for security were made on account of the publication of articles on the Quetta earthquake relief are included in the statement.

STATEMENT No. II.

Statement showing action taken against newspapers under the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, 1931, for publication of articles on the Quetta Earthquake Relief.

| Serial No. | Name of newspaper, with place of publication.   | Reasons for action taken.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|------------|-------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1          | Kistna Patrika, Masulipatam .. ..               | Article not known.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 2          | Trilinga, Madras .. ..                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 3          | Dhinamani, Madras .. ..                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 4          | Prabhat, Mangalore .. ..                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 5          | * † Free Press Journal, Bombay ..               | For publication of articles headed "Lives can even now be saved" and "Anomalies of Quetta Relief" published in the issues of the 7th and 9th June, 1935, respectively.                                                                                           |
| 6          | Khilafat Daily (or Roznama-e-Khilafat), Bombay. | For publication of an article headed "Bribery" in the issue, dated the 7th June, 1935.                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 7          | * Bombay Standard, Bombay ..                    | For publication of an article headed "Quake Relief and Quack Remedies" in the issue of the 16th June, 1935.                                                                                                                                                      |
| 8          | Siyasat, Hyderabad (Sind) .. ..                 | For publication of an article headed "Viceroy's Utterances" containing inter alia a reference to relief measures at Quetta in the issue, dated the 15th July, 1935.                                                                                       |
| 9          | Khadim Quadim, Calcutta .. ..                   | For publication of an article on the Quetta Earthquake relief in the issue of the 23rd June, 1935.                                                                                                                                                               |
| 10         | * Medina, Bijnor .. ..                          | For publication of an article headed "The great duty; the cry of pain and the note of sympathy" in the issue, dated the 21st June, 1935.                                                                                                                         |
| 11         | Vikas, Saharanpur .. ..                         | For publication of an article headed "Horripilating stories of the atrocities of the military" in the issue of the 16th June, 1935.                                                                                                                              |
| 12         | Shujaat, Lahore .. ..                           | For publication of an objectionable article which tried to bring into disrepute the British soldiers employed in the relief work at Quetta.                                                                                                                      |
| 13         | * Daily Tej, Delhi .. ..                        | For publication of articles headed "The distressed Indians and Europeans deplorable discrimination" and "The Congress and the Quetta Relief, the Government should realise their responsibility" in the issues dated the 12th and 14th June, 1935, respectively. |
| 14         | † Qaumi Gazette, Delhi .. ..                    | For publication of an article headed "Piles of dead bodies are being burnt with petrol" in the issue of the 11th June, 1935.                                                                                                                                     |
| 15         | * Arjun, Delhi .. ..                            | For publication of articles on the Quetta Earthquake relief in the issues of the 4th, 6th, 13th and 14th June, 1935.                                                                                                                                             |

* In the case of these newspapers security was forfeited, not demanded.

† Ceased publication

STATEMENT No. III.

Statement showing the number and names of newspapers that have been asked to deposit securities, together with the amount of securities, since the Press Ordinance, 1930.

| Serial No. | Name of paper.                                      | Amount of security and total in each case. | Remarks. |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                                   | 3                                          | 4        |
| MADRAS.    |                                                     | Rs.                                        |          |
| 1          | Citizen of India, Madras .. .. .                    | 250                                        |          |
| 2          | Gandhi, Madras (Tri-weekly) .. { 1,000500 }     | 1,500                                      |          |
| 3          | India, Madras .. .. .                               | 1,000                                      |          |
| 4          | Indian Express, Madras .. { 1,0005003,000 } | 4,500                                      |          |
| 5          | Jaya Bharati, Madras .. .. .                        | 500                                        |          |
| 6          | Kudi Arasu, Erode .. .. .                           | 1,000                                      |          |
| 7          | Manikkodi, Madras .. .. .                           | 250                                        |          |
| 8          | Mathrubhumi, Calicut .. .. .                        | 1,000                                      |          |
| 9          | Oplian, Karaikudi .. .. .                           | 1,000                                      |          |
| 10         | Rajakula Dipikai .. .. .                            | 500                                        |          |
| 11         | Sunday News, Bezwada .. .. .                        | 1,000                                      |          |
| 12         | Sutandira Sangu, Madras .. .. .                     | 500                                        |          |
| 13         | Thenindia, Madras .. .. .                           | 500                                        |          |
| 14         | Vasanta Vikatan, Madura .. .. .                     | 100                                        |          |
| 15         | Vedi Gundu, Madura .. .. .                          | 100                                        |          |
| 16         | Pahuttarivu, Erode .. .. .                          | 1,000                                      |          |
| 17         | Prabhu, Yellamaru, Gudivada .. .. .                 | 2,000                                      |          |
| 18         | Kistna Patrika, Masulipatam .. .. .                 | 2,000                                      |          |
| 19         | Prabatham, Shoranur, Malabar Distt. .. .. .         | 2,000                                      |          |
| 20         | Trilinga, Madras .. .. .                            | 1,500                                      |          |
| 21         | Dhinamani, Madras .. .. .                           | 2,000                                      |          |
| 22         | Prabhat, Mangalore .. .. .                          | 2,000                                      |          |
| BOMBAY.    |                                                     |                                            |          |
| 23         | Gujarat Samachar, Ahmedabad .. .. .                 | 500                                        |          |

| Serial No.    | Name of paper.                                                                        | Amount of security and total in each case. | Remarks. |
|---------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1             | 2                                                                                     | 3                                          | 4        |
| BOMBAY—contd. |                                                                                       | Rs.                                        |          |
| 24            | Mahratta, Poona .. .. . { 1,0001,0002,0002,0003,000 }                 | 9,000                                      |          |
| 25            | Free Press Journal, Bombay .. { 3,0003,0003,0005,00010,0005,000 } | 31,000                                     |          |
| 26            | Bhavya Bharat and Rajasthan, Ahmedabad .. .. .                                        | 300                                        |          |
| 27            | Samyukta Karnatak, Belgaum .. .. .                                                    | 750                                        |          |
| 28            | Rajhansa, Dharwar .. .. .                                                             | 101                                        |          |
| 29            | Chitramaya Jagat, Poona .. .. .                                                       | 2,000                                      |          |
| 30            | Bombay Chronicle, Bombay .. .. .                                                      | 2,000                                      |          |
| 31            | Nava Bharat, Bombay .. .. .                                                           | 1,000                                      |          |
| 32            | Jay Swadeshi, Ahmedabad .. .. .                                                       | 500                                        |          |
| 33            | Balwant, Ratnagiri .. .. .                                                            | 1,000                                      |          |
| 34            | Kumar, Ahmedabad .. .. .                                                              | 2,000                                      |          |
| 35            | Sansar Samachar, Karachi .. .. .                                                      | 500                                        |          |
| 36            | Piyush Patrika, Nadiad .. .. .                                                        | 500                                        |          |
| 37            | Morning Post of India, Karachi .. .. .                                                | 500                                        |          |
| 38            | Majur Sandesh .. .. .                                                                 | 500                                        |          |
| 39            | Loka Dharma, Kaira .. .. .                                                            | 300                                        |          |
| 40            | Partap, Hyderabad .. .. .                                                             | 1,000                                      |          |
| 41            | Navakal, Bombay .. .. .                                                               | 8,000                                      |          |
| 42            | Prabhat, Surat .. .. .                                                                | 300                                        |          |
| 43            | Jaya Swadeshi, Ahmedabad .. .. .                                                      | 500                                        |          |
| 44            | Prabhat, Bombay .. .. .                                                               | 1,000                                      |          |
| 45            | Nav Shakti, Bombay .. .. .                                                            | 3,000                                      |          |
| 46            | Raushni, Ahmedabad .. .. .                                                            | 3,500                                      |          |

| Serial No. | Name of paper.                                       | Amount of security and total in each case. | Remarks. |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                                    | 3                                          | 4        |
|            | BOMBAY— contd.                                | Rs.                                        |          |
| 47         | Sind Hindu, Hyderabad .. .. .                        | 500                                        |          |
| 48         | The Sun, Bombay .. .. .                              | 1,000                                      |          |
| 49         | Praja Bandhu, Ahmedabad .. .. .                      | 1,000                                      |          |
| 50         | Arogya Darpan, Ahmedabad .. .. .                     | 500                                        |          |
| 51         | Tarun Karnatak, Hubli, Dharwar .. .. .               | 500                                        |          |
| 52         | Janmabhumi, Bombay .. .. .                           | 1,000                                      |          |
| 53         | Illustrated Weekly, Shetkari, Nasik .. .. .          | 100                                        |          |
| 54         | Hilal, Bombay .. .. .                                | 2,000                                      |          |
| 55         | Lokwani, Surat .. .. .                               | 100                                        |          |
| 56         | Daily Sun, Bombay .. .. .                            | 1,000                                      |          |
| 57         | Bombay Standard .. .. .                              | 4,000                                      |          |
| 58         | Raushni, Bombay .. .. .                              | 1,000                                      |          |
| 59         | People, Bombay .. .. .                               | 1,000                                      |          |
| 60         | Nav-Saurashtra, Ahmedabad .. .. .                    | 2,000                                      |          |
| 61         | Khetwadi .. .. .                                     | 500                                        |          |
| 62         | Mahetaji, Ahmedabad .. .. .                          | 1,000                                      |          |
| 63         | Hind Nauchatan .. .. .                               | 500                                        |          |
| 64         | Manasi, Ahmedabad .. .. .                            | 1,000                                      |          |
| 65         | Rashtriya Vaishya, Bombay .. .. .                    | 2,000                                      |          |
| 66         | Hial-i-Jadid-i-Ukab .. .. .                          | 1,000                                      |          |
| 67         | Chand, Hyderabad (Sind) .. .. .                      | 500                                        |          |
| 68         | Okab, Bombay .. .. .                                 | 750                                        |          |
| 69         | Pramod, Bombay .. .. .                               | 1,000                                      |          |
| 70         | Gaddha, Bombay .. .. .                               | 1,000                                      |          |
| 71         | Rashtrateja, Kolaba .. .. .                          | 1,000                                      |          |
| 72         | Khilafat Daily or Roznama-e-Khilafat, Bombay .. .. . | 1,500                                      |          |
| 73         | Lokasatta, Nasik .. .. .                             | 1,000                                      |          |

| Serial No. | Name of paper.                             | Amount of security and total in each case. | Remarks. |
|------------|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                          | 3                                          | 4        |
|            | BOMBAY— contd.                      | Rs.                                        |          |
| 74         | Ittehad, Bombay .. .. .                    | 1,000                                      |          |
| 75         | Siyasat, Hyderabad (Sind) .. .. .          | 1,000                                      |          |
| 76         | Saptahik Sakal, Poona .. .. .              | 1,000                                      |          |
| 77         | Prawasi .. .. .                            | 3,000                                      |          |
|            | BENGAL.                                    |                                            |          |
| 78         | The Liberty .. .. .                        | 6,000                                      |          |
| 79         | The Nayak .. .. .                          | 1,500                                      |          |
| 80         | The Lokmanya .. .. .                       | 1,000                                      |          |
| 81         | The Biharee .. .. .                        | 500                                        |          |
| 82         | The Jamhoor .. .. .                        | 500                                        |          |
| 83         | The Anand Bazar Partika .. .. .            | 3,000                                      |          |
| 84         | The Amrita Bazar Patrika, Calcutta .. .. . | 3,000                                      |          |
| 85         | The Dainik Basumati .. .. .                | 3,500                                      |          |
| 86         | The Viswamitra .. .. .                     | 2,500                                      |          |
| 87         | The Jayasree, Dacca .. .. .                | 300                                        |          |
| 88         | The Harijan .. .. .                        | 500                                        |          |
| 89         | Advance .. .. .                            | 2,000                                      |          |
| 90         | Commercial India .. .. .                   | 500                                        |          |
| 91         | Pravartak .. .. .                          | 500                                        |          |
| 92         | Hind-e-Jadid .. .. .                       | 500                                        |          |
| 93         | Asri Jadid .. .. .                         | 500                                        |          |
| 94         | Free India .. .. .                         | 500                                        |          |
| 95         | Kashatriya Sansar .. .. .                  | 500                                        |          |

| Serial No. | Name of paper.                                | Amount of security and total in each case. | Remarks. |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                             | 3                                          | 4        |
|            | BENGAL— contd.                         | Rs.                                        |          |
| 96         | Bande Matram, Calcutta .. .. .                | 3,000                                      |          |
| 97         | Mazdur Dunya .. .. .                          | 1,000                                      |          |
| 98         | Khadim Quadim, Calcutta .. .. .               | 1,000                                      |          |
|            | UNITED PROVINCES.                             |                                            |          |
| 99         | The Brahman Saraswati, Etawah .. .. .         | 100                                        |          |
| 100        | The Lodhi Kshattriya, Cawnpore .. .. .        | 200                                        |          |
| 101        | The Chand, Allahabad .. .. .                  | 500                                        |          |
| 102        | The Aj, Benares .. .. .                       | 1,000                                      |          |
| 103        | The Madina, Bijnor .. .. .                    | 2,000                                      |          |
| 104        | The Sainik, Agra .. .. .                      | 1,500                                      |          |
| 105        | Vikas, Saharanpur .. .. .                     | 1,000                                      |          |
|            | PUNJAB.                                       |                                            |          |
| 106        | Akali, Lahore .. .. .                         | 500                                        |          |
| 107        | Milap, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .             | 500                                        |          |
| 108        | Inqilab, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .           | 500                                        |          |
| 109        | Pratap, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .            | 6,000                                      |          |
| 110        | Mutalaa, Urdu weekly, Ludhiana .. .. .        | 250                                        |          |
| 111        | Zamindar, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .          | 20,000                                     |          |
| 112        | Akali-te-Pardesi, Lahore .. .. .              | 500                                        |          |
| 113        | Vir Bharat, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .        | 3,000                                      |          |
| 114        | Nawan Yug, Lahore .. .. .                     | 500                                        |          |
| 115        | Akali Patrika, Gurmukhi daily, Lahore .. .. . | 1,000                                      |          |
| 116        | Chandan, Lahore .. .. .                       | 500                                        |          |

| Serial No. | Name of paper.                             | Amount of security and total in each case. | Remarks. |
|------------|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                          | 3                                          | 4        |
|            | PUNJAB— contd.                      | Rs.                                        |          |
| 117        | Tiryaq, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .         | 700                                        |          |
| 118        | Nawan Yug, Gurmukhi weekly, Lahore .. .. . | 1,000                                      |          |
| 119        | Dawn, Lahore .. .. .                       | 500                                        |          |
| 120        | Azad, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .           | 200                                        |          |
| 121        | Kirti, Gurmukhi weekly, Amritsar .. .. .   | 1,000                                      |          |
| 122        | Akali Patrika, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .  | 500                                        |          |
| 123        | Siyasat, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .        | 500                                        |          |
| 124        | Ihsan, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .          | 500                                        |          |
| 125        | Arya Gazette, Urdu weekly, Lahore .. .. .  | 1,000                                      |          |
| 126        | Rahnuma, Rawalpindi .. .. .                | 100                                        |          |
| 127        | Nawan Dhandora .. .. .                     | 250                                        |          |
| 128        | Naujawan Sikh, Rawalpindi .. .. .          | 300                                        |          |
| 129        | Young Punjab, Lahore .. .. .               | 200                                        |          |
| 130        | Naujawan, Urdu weekly, Lahore .. .. .      | 500                                        |          |
| 131        | Balidan, Hindi monthly, Lahore .. .. .     | 1,000                                      |          |
| 132        | Ahrar, Urdu daily, Lahore .. .. .          | 500                                        |          |
| 133        | Mushkal Kusha, Qadian .. .. .              | 250                                        |          |
| 134        | Shujaat, Lahore .. .. .                    | 1,000                                      |          |
| 135        | Mohsin, Multan .. .. .                     | 2,000                                      |          |
| 136        | Jiwan, Multan .. .. .                      | 2,000                                      |          |
|            | BURMA.                                     |                                            |          |
| 137        | Azad, Burma .. .. .                        | 500                                        |          |
| 138        | Bandoola .. .. .                           | 1,000                                      |          |
| 139        | New Light of Burma .. .. .                 | 1,500                                      |          |
| 140        | Whip .. .. .                               | 3,000                                      |          |
| 141        | Azad Burma, Rangoon .. .. .                | 500                                        |          |
|            | BIHAR AND ORISSA.                          |                                            |          |
| 142        | Searchlight .. .. .                        | 1,500                                      |          |

| Serial No. | Name of paper.                                             | Amount of security and total in each case. | Remarks. |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                                          | 3                                          | 4        |
|            | BIHAR AND ORISSA—contd.                             | Rs.                                        |          |
| 143        | Samaj, Cuttack .. .. .                                     | 1,000                                      |          |
| 144        | Utkal Sebak, Sambalpur .. .. .                             | 1,000                                      |          |
| 145        | Yogi, Patna .. .. .                                        | 500                                        |          |
| 146        | Nava Shakti, Patna .. .. .                                 | 1,000                                      |          |
|            | CENTRAL PROVINCES.                                  |                                            |          |
| 147        | Wageshwari Magazine, Nagpur .. .. .                        | 1,000                                      |          |
|            | NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.                       |                                            |          |
| 148        | The Sher-i-Sarhad, Peshawar .. .. { 150 }Coorg { 350 } | 500                                        |          |
| 149        | Kodagu .. .. .                                             | 1,000                                      |          |
|            | DELHI.                                              |                                            |          |
| 150        | Hindustan Times .. .. .                                    | 2,500                                      |          |
| 151        | Arjun .. .. . { 2,000 }{ 1,000 }{ 5,000 }          | 8,000                                      |          |
| 152        | Weekly Shradha Nand .. .. .                                | 200                                        |          |
| 153        | Tej .. .. . { 1,000 }{ 3,000 }                         | 4,000                                      |          |
| 154        | National Call .. .. .                                      | 1,000                                      |          |
| 155        | Weekly Sanjaya .. .. .                                     | 200                                        |          |
| 156        | Chitra Pat .. .. .                                         | 500                                        |          |
| 157        | Chhaya .. .. .                                             | 500                                        |          |
| 158        | Jaban-i-Khanjar, Delhi .. .. .                             | 500                                        |          |
| 159        | Dindar .. .. .                                             | 1,000                                      |          |
| 160        | National Gazette, Delhi .. .. .                            | 1,000                                      |          |
| 161        | Kamat, Delhi .. .. .                                       | 500                                        |          |
| 162        | Taj, Delhi .. .. .                                         | 1,000                                      |          |
| 163        | Khadim .. .. .                                             | 1,000                                      |          |
|            | AJMER-MERWARA.                                      |                                            |          |
| 164        | Muslim Rajasthan .. .. .                                   | 200                                        |          |
| 165        | Rajasthan .. .. .                                          | 1,000                                      |          |
| 166        | Parasar Hiteshi .. .. .                                    | 500                                        |          |
|            | Total .. .. .                                       | 2,52,851                                   |          |

STATEMENT No. IV.

Statement showing the number and names of newspapers whose securities were forfeited, together with the amount of forfeited securities, since the Press Ordinance, 1930.

| Serial No. | Name of Newspaper.                                                                                                   | Amounts of securities forfeited. | Remarks. |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|----------|
|            | MADRAS.                                                                                                       | Rs.                              |          |
| 1          | Gandhi, Madras (Daily) .. .. .                                                                                       | 500                              |          |
|            | BOMBAY.                                                                                                       |                                  |          |
| 2          | Free Press Journal, Bombay .. .. . $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} 3,000 \\ 5,000 \\ 5,000 \\ 10,000 \end{array} \right\}$ | 23,000                           |          |
| 3          | Nava Kal, Bombay .. .. .                                                                                             | 3,000                            |          |
| 4          | Navashakti, Bombay .. .. .                                                                                           | 1,000                            |          |
| 5          | Bombay Standard .. .. .                                                                                              | 1,000                            |          |
|            | BENGAL.                                                                                                       |                                  |          |
| 6          | The Liberty .. .. .                                                                                                  | 500                              |          |
| 7          | The Nayak .. .. .                                                                                                    | 100                              |          |
| 8          | The Ananda Bazar Patrika .. .. .                                                                                     | 1,500                            |          |
| 9          | The Dainik Basumati .. .. .                                                                                          | 500                              |          |
| 10         | The Viswamitra .. .. . $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} 100 \\ 100 \end{array} \right\}$                                    | 200                              |          |
| 11         | Kshatriya Sansar .. .. .                                                                                             | 500                              |          |
|            | PUNJAB.                                                                                                       |                                  |          |
| 12         | Ahrar, Urdu Daily, Lahore .. .. .                                                                                    | 500                              |          |
| 13         | Zamindar, Urdu Daily, Lahore .. .. . $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} 1,000 \\ 2,000 \end{array} \right\}$                  | 3,000                            |          |
| 14         | Mushkal Kusha, Qadian .. .. .                                                                                        | 250                              |          |
|            | UNITED PROVINCES.                                                                                             |                                  |          |
| 15         | Madina, Bijnor .. .. .                                                                                               | 1,000                            |          |
|            | DELHI.                                                                                                        |                                  |          |
| 16         | Daily Tej, Delhi .. .. .                                                                                             | 1,000                            |          |
| 17         | Arjun, Delhi .. .. .                                                                                                 | 2,000                            |          |
|            | Total ..                                                                                                      | 39,550                    |          |

STATEMENT No. V.

Statement showing the number and names of newspapers that failed to deposit the requisite securities and were, in consequence not started, ceased publication or whose declarations became null and void, since the Press Ordinance of 1930.

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                            | Remarks.                                     |
|------------|-------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| 1          | 2                                         | 3                                            |
|            | MADRAS.                                   |                                              |
| 1          | Adivara Patrika, Madras.                  |                                              |
| 2          | Daridra Narayana, Gudivada.               |                                              |
| 3          | Dharama Rakshani, Bezwada.                |                                              |
| 4          | Gandhi, Madras (Bi-weekly).               |                                              |
| 5          | Gandhi, Madras (Daily).                   |                                              |
| 6          | Gnanathoothan, Tuticorin.                 |                                              |
| 7          | Ilan Tamilan, Tuticorin.                  |                                              |
| 8          | Janavani, Madras.                         |                                              |
| 9          | Janmabhumi, Madras.                       |                                              |
| 10         | Jaya Bharathi, Madras.                    |                                              |
| 11         | Karnataka Kesari, Bellary.                |                                              |
| 12         | Khaddar, Madura.                          |                                              |
| 13         | Korada, Madras.                           |                                              |
| 14         | Labour Herald, Madras.                    |                                              |
| 15         | Mooladhanam, Tanjore.                     |                                              |
| 16         | Puratchi, Erode.                          |                                              |
| 17         | Quami Report, Madras.                     |                                              |
| 18         | Science, Madras.                          |                                              |
| 19         | Sunday Herald.                            |                                              |
| 20         | Sutandira, Sangu, Madras .. ..            | The paper failed to deposit security thrice. |
| 21         | Swarajyam Madras.                         |                                              |
| 22         | Swastika, Madras.                         |                                              |
| 23         | Vedi Gundu, Madura.                       |                                              |
| 24         | Yuva Deepam, Guruvayur, Malabar District. |                                              |
| 25         | Kathaikadal, Madras.                      |                                              |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                            | Remarks.                                                                           |
|------------|-------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1          | 2                                         | 3                                                                                  |
|            | MADRAS—contd.                             |                                                                                    |
| 26         | Liberty (English, Tamil and Telugu) .. .. | Security was demanded in each case separately, but the paper failed to deposit it. |
| 27         | Truth, Madras.                            |                                                                                    |
| 28         | Azadi-i-Hind.                             |                                                                                    |
|            | BOMBAY.                                   |                                                                                    |
| 29         | Hutatma, Shradhanand, Bombay.             |                                                                                    |
| 30         | Bhil Kshtriya, Broach.                    |                                                                                    |
| 31         | Mehsana Prant Patrika, Ahmedabad.         |                                                                                    |
| 32         | Cinema, Rangbhumi, Bombay.                |                                                                                    |
| 33         | Mahi Kantha Vartaman, Ahmedabad.          |                                                                                    |
| 34         | Veer, Broach.                             |                                                                                    |
| 35         | Hindvasi, Hyderabad .. ..                 | Security was demanded twice but the paper failed to deposit it.                    |
| 36         | Free Press Journal, Bombay .. ..          | Security demanded on 8th February 1932 for Rs. 3,000 was not deposited.            |
| 37         | Tarun Karnatak, Hubli, Dharwar.           |                                                                                    |
| 38         | Navjivan, Ahmedabad.                      |                                                                                    |
| 39         | Pragati, Bombay.                          |                                                                                    |
| 40         | Hindu, Hyderabad.                         |                                                                                    |
| 41         | Week, Bombay.                             |                                                                                    |
| 42         | Kaliyuga, Bombay.                         |                                                                                    |
| 43         | Sind, Herald, Karachi.                    |                                                                                    |
| 44         | Samyukta Karnatak, Belgaum .. ..          | The paper could not deposit security thrice.                                       |
| 45         | Indian Daily Mail, Bombay.                |                                                                                    |
| 46         | Vartaman, Bombay.                         |                                                                                    |
| 47         | Dil Bahar, Bombay.                        |                                                                                    |
| 48         | Tej, Bombay.                              |                                                                                    |
| 49         | Vijaya Danka.                             |                                                                                    |
| 50         | Swatantrya, Nasik.                        |                                                                                    |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                         | Remarks.                                                             |
|------------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1          | 2                                      | 3                                                                    |
|            | BOMBAY—contd.                   |                                                                      |
| 51         | Muslim Rajasthan, Bombay.              |                                                                      |
| 52         | Muslim Rampur (Ahmedabad).             |                                                                      |
| 53         | Navayuga, Hyderabad.                   |                                                                      |
| 54         | Bene Israel Star, Bombay.              |                                                                      |
| 55         | Swaraj, Hyderabad.                     |                                                                      |
| 56         | Prija, Hyderabad.                      |                                                                      |
| 57         | Veer Rajasthan, Bombay.                |                                                                      |
| 58         | Hindu Jati, Karachi.                   |                                                                      |
| 59         | Muslim Ranpur, Ahmedabad.              |                                                                      |
| 60         | Sudarshan, Ahmedabad.                  |                                                                      |
| 61         | Pratap, Hyderabad .. .. .              | Security was demanded four times but the paper failed to deposit it. |
| 62         | Dharmik, Nadiad.                       |                                                                      |
| 63         | Jananu Bhumi, Karachi.                 |                                                                      |
| 64         | Manranjan, Ahmedabad.                  |                                                                      |
| 65         | Lohana Vijaya, Ahmedabad.              |                                                                      |
| 66         | Mahratta, Bombay.                      |                                                                      |
| 67         | Kamdar, Ahmedabad.                     |                                                                      |
| 68         | Indian Jails (or Hindi jailkhana).     |                                                                      |
| 69         | Udyogi Bharat, Amalner, East Khandesh. |                                                                      |
| 70         | Mufis, Bombay.                         |                                                                      |
| 71         | Prabudha Jain, Bombay.                 |                                                                      |
| 72         | Sindwasi, Sukkur.                      |                                                                      |
| 73         | Shaitan, Hyderabad.                    |                                                                      |
| 74         | Moortipooja Virodhak Patrika, Bombay.  |                                                                      |
| 75         | Cutohi Memon Pal Patrika, Bombay.      |                                                                      |
| 76         | Kamgar Bulletin, Bombay                |                                                                      |
| 77         | Tofan, Bombay.                         |                                                                      |
| 78         | Swadeshi Patrika, Bombay.              |                                                                      |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                                          | Remarks.                                     |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| 1          | 2                                                       | 3                                            |
|            | BOMBAY—contd.                                    |                                              |
| 79         | Anandi Mouj, Bombay.                                    |                                              |
| 80         | New Reformer, Bombay .. .. .                            | Security was demanded twice.                 |
| 81         | Navashakti, Bombay .. .. .                              | Did not deposit one security out of the two. |
| 82         | Sphurti, Poona.                                         |                                              |
| 83         | Vismi Sadi, Bombay.                                     |                                              |
| 84         | Port Trust Kamgar, Bombay.                              |                                              |
| 85         | Urania, Bombay.                                         |                                              |
| 86         | Insaf, Hyderabad.                                       |                                              |
| 87         | Baj Khedwal, Ahmedabad.                                 |                                              |
| 88         | The Sudharak, Shikarpur, Sukkur.                        |                                              |
| 89         | Phulwari, Sukkur.                                       |                                              |
| 90         | Noor-i-Islam, Hyderabad.                                |                                              |
| 91         | Tairan Ababil, Hyderabad.                               |                                              |
| 92         | Arogya Darpan, Ahmedabad .. .. .                        | Did not deposit one security out of the two. |
| 93         | O Anglo Lusitano, Illustrated Konkani Magazine, Bombay. |                                              |
| 94         | Al Baloch, Karachi.                                     |                                              |
| 95         | Congress Samachar, Bombay.                              |                                              |
| 96         | Hindu, Karachi.                                         |                                              |
| 97         | New Era, Bombay.                                        |                                              |
| 98         | Baluchistan-e-Jadid, Karachi.                           |                                              |
| 99         | Virbhumi, Bombay.                                       |                                              |
| 100        | Al-Harmani, Bombay.                                     |                                              |
| 101        | Prem, Karachi.                                          |                                              |
| 102        | Pratap, Hyderabad.                                      |                                              |
| 103        | Murgh-i-Falak, Hyderabad.                               |                                              |
| 104        | Pol Prakash, Ahmedabad.                                 |                                              |
| 105        | Fateh, Hyderabad.                                       |                                              |
| 106        | Indian Socialist, Bombay.                               |                                              |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                  | Remarks. |
|------------|---------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                               | 3        |
|            | BOMBAY—concl'd.                 |          |
| 107        | Western Racing Journal, Bombay. |          |
| 108        | Kamshastra, Bombay.             |          |
| 109        | Cinema Jagat, Bombay.           |          |
| 110        | Daily Aftab, Bombay.            |          |
| 111        | Hilal, Bombay.                  |          |
| 112        | Azad, Bombay.                   |          |
|            | BENGAL.                         |          |
| 113        | Hindu Punch, Calcutta.          |          |
| 114        | The Hind.                       |          |
| 115        | The Yugasankha, Calcutta.       |          |
| 116        | The Benu, Calcutta.             |          |
| 117        | The Sahafat.                    |          |
| 118        | The Nari Gaurab.                |          |
| 119        | The Swadesh, Calcutta.          |          |
| 120        | The Chasimazur.                 |          |
| 121        | The Sarathi, Bakarganj.         |          |
| 122        | The Jewan, Calcutta.            |          |
| 123        | The Karkhana, Calcutta.         |          |
| 124        | The Har Har Mahadeo.            |          |
| 125        | The Al-Muslim, Calcutta.        |          |
| 126        | The Vihari, Calcutta.           |          |
| 127        | The Bijoli, Calcutta.           |          |
| 128        | The Sankalpa.                   |          |
| 129        | The Punjab.                     |          |
| 130        | Jangi Mazdoor.                  |          |
| 131        | Gana Nayak.                     |          |
| 132        | Marx Panthi.                    |          |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                             | Remarks. |
|------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                          | 3        |
|            | UNITED PROVINCES.                          |          |
| 133        | The Sahas, Jhansi.                         |          |
| 134        | The Samik, Agra.                           |          |
| 135        | The Rangeswar, Allahabad.                  |          |
| 136        | The Swadeshi, Allahabad.                   |          |
| 137        | The Agarwal Sewa, Allahabad.               |          |
| 138        | The Bhainker, Cawnpore.                    |          |
| 139        | The Mazdoor Sansar, Lucknow.               |          |
| 140        | The Guncha-i-Itihad, Cawnpore.             |          |
| 141        | The U. P. Local Bodies Magazine, Mainpuri. |          |
| 142        | The Chandrahas, Cawnpore.                  |          |
| 143        | The Uttar Bharat, Garhwal.                 |          |
| 144        | The Achhut Sewak, Cawnpore.                |          |
| 145        | The Zarif, Saharanpur.                     |          |
| 146        | The Yuwak, Cawnpore.                       |          |
| 147        | The Amal, Cawnpore.                        |          |
| 148        | The Chitrakut Ashram, Cawnpore.            |          |
| 149        | The Lal Jhanda, Cawnpore.                  |          |
| 150        | The Banaspati-Vigyan, Cawnpore.            |          |
| 151        | The Mazdoor, Cawnpore.                     |          |
| 152        | The Nayak, Etawah.                         |          |
| 153        | The Tufan, Lucknow.                        |          |
| 154        | The Swadhin Praja, Almora.                 |          |
| 155        | The Labour Herald, Lucknow.                |          |
| 156        | The Desh Bhagat, Meerut.                   |          |
| 157        | The District Gazette, Azamgarh.            |          |
| 158        | The Sadai Muslim, Cawnpore.                |          |
| 159        | The Hind Rajasthan, Jhansi.                |          |
| 160        | The Al Na'jid, Agra.                       |          |
| 161        | The Sudharak, Etawah.                      |          |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                             | Remarks. |
|------------|--------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                                          | 3        |
|            | UNITED PROVINCES— contd.            |          |
| 162        | Vija, Agra.                                |          |
| 163        | Ahrar, Agra.                               |          |
|            | PUNJAB.                                    |          |
| 164        | Kirpan Bahadur, Amritsar.                  |          |
| 165        | Mazdur Kisan, Amritsar.                    |          |
| 166        | Ajit, Lahore.                              |          |
| 167        | Punjab Kesari, Lahore.                     |          |
| 168        | Desh Sewak, Gurmukhi weekly, Jullundur.    |          |
| 169        | Desh Sewak, Urdu fortnightly, Lahore.      |          |
| 170        | Akali, Amritsar.                           |          |
| 171        | Akali-te-Pardesi, Amritsar.                |          |
| 172        | Vir Kesari, Lahore.                        |          |
| 173        | Vir Bharat, Urdu daily, Lahore.            |          |
| 174        | Asli Qaumi Dard, Gurmukhi daily, Amritsar. |          |
| 175        | Vir Bharat, Urdu daily, Sialkot.           |          |
| 176        | Sadaqath, Urdu weekly, Lahore.             |          |
| 177        | Daler, Urdu Weekly, Montgomery.            |          |
| 178        | Sadu Samachar, Amritsar.                   |          |
| 179        | Desh Bandhu, Lahore.                       |          |
| 180        | Mehnat Kash, Urdu, Lahore.                 |          |
| 181        | Mehnat Kash, Gurmukhi, Lahore.             |          |
| 182        | Danda Pir, Amritsar.                       |          |
| 183        | Ajit, Amritsar.                            |          |
| 184        | Sadh Samachar, Amritsar.                   |          |
| 185        | Sant Parcharak, Amritsar.                  |          |
| 186        | Azad, Lahore.                              |          |
| 187        | Nidharak, Gujranwala.                      |          |
| 188        | Yalghar, Lahore.                           |          |
| 189        | Afsana, Gujranwala.                        |          |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                      | Remarks.                                       |
|------------|-------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| 1          | 2                                   | 3                                              |
|            | PUNJAB— contd.               |                                                |
| 189a       | Ganga Sewak, Amritsar.              |                                                |
| 190        | Paigam-i-Wattan, Hoshiarpur.        |                                                |
| 191        | Islami Danda, Lahore.               |                                                |
| 192        | Trade Union, Lahore.                |                                                |
| 193        | Rafiq-i-Tijarat, Rawalpindi.        |                                                |
| 194        | Nawan Yug, Gurmukhi weekly, Lahore  | .. The security was not paid out of the three. |
| 195        | Mubahila, Amritsar.                 |                                                |
| 196        | Amrit, Montgomery.                  |                                                |
| 197        | Akali Dhandora, Amritsar.           |                                                |
| 198        | Al-Azhar, Panipat, District Karnal. |                                                |
| 199        | Dukhi Bharat, Amritsar.             |                                                |
| 200        | Sewak, Montgomery.                  |                                                |
| 201        | Montgomery Gazette.                 |                                                |
| 202        | Trade News, Montgomery .. ..        | Security was demanded twice.                   |
| 203        | Naujawan Bharat, Amritsar.          |                                                |
| 204        | Zafat Punch, Amritsar.              |                                                |
| 205        | Sadaqat, Amritsar.                  |                                                |
| 206        | Islah, Amritsar.                    |                                                |
| 207        | Rahbar-i-Punjab, Amritsar.          |                                                |
| 208        | Zalzala, Amritsar.                  |                                                |
| 209        | Tiryaq, Urdu, Lahore.               |                                                |
| 210        | Tiryaq, English, Lahore.            |                                                |
| 211        | Kirti, Lahore.                      |                                                |
| 212        | Indar, Ferozepore.                  |                                                |
| 213        | Bijli, Fazilka.                     |                                                |
| 214        | Tabligh-ul-Hanf, Amritsar.          |                                                |
| 215        | Afghanistan, Lahore.                |                                                |
| 216        | Khurshid, Ferozepore.               |                                                |
| 217        | Nirbhai, Gujranwala.                |                                                |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                | Remarks.                 |
|------------|-------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1          | 2                             | 3                        |
|            | PUNJAB—contd.                 |                          |
| 218        | Sukh Dharam, Ferozepore.      |                          |
| 219        | Akali, Lahore.                |                          |
| 220        | Iqdam, Urdu daily, Lahore.    |                          |
| 220a       | Iqdam, Urdu weekly, Lahore.   |                          |
| 221        | Cinema Art, Amritsar.         |                          |
| 222        | Punjabi Vir, Gujranwala.      |                          |
| 223        | Ajit, Lahore.                 |                          |
| 224        | Sitara, Lahore.               |                          |
| 225        | Punjabi, Lahore.              |                          |
| 226        | Chandan, Lahore.              |                          |
| 227        | Watan, Ferozepore.            |                          |
| 228        | Rasti, Gujranwala.            |                          |
| 229        | Rastgo, Gujranwala.           |                          |
| 230        | Samaya Vada, Lahore.          |                          |
| 231        | Master, Amritsar.             |                          |
| 232        | Railway Mazdoor, Lahore.      |                          |
| 233        | Afghan, Lahore.               |                          |
| 234        | Hindi Kesri, Lahore.          |                          |
| 235        | Daily News, Lahore .. .. .    | Security demanded twice. |
| 235a       | Mazdur, Lahore.               |                          |
| 236        | Desh Bhagat, Lahore.          |                          |
| 237        | Babbar Sher, Amritsar.        |                          |
| 238        | Prabhat, Hindi Daily, Lahore. |                          |
| 239        | Azad, Urdu daily, Lahore.     |                          |
| 240        | Kanwal, Rawalpindi.           |                          |
| 241        | Virat Pattar, Amritsar.       |                          |
| 242        | Kirti, Lahore.                |                          |
| 243        | M ttar, Lahore.               |                          |
| 244        | Socialist, Lahore.            |                          |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                 | Remarks. |
|------------|--------------------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                              | 3        |
|            | PUNJAB—contd.                  |          |
| 245        | Tabra-tul-Atibba, Sheikhpura.  |          |
| 246        | Guru Khalsa, Sheikhpura.       |          |
| 247        | Mazlum, Rawalpindi.            |          |
| 248        | Sadaqat, Hoshiarpur.           |          |
| 249        | Revenue Gazette, Rawalpindi.   |          |
| 250        | Harijan, Lahore.               |          |
| 251        | Rajpal, Lahore.                |          |
| 252        | Fitrat, Sheikhpura.            |          |
| 253        | Munadi, Rawalpindi.            |          |
| 254        | Sunny Magazine, Lahore.        |          |
| 255        | New Outlook, Lahore.           |          |
| 256        | Khiyaban, Rawalpindi.          |          |
| 257        | Hindi Kesari, Lahore.          |          |
| 258        | Faryad, Lahore.                |          |
| 259        | Salak, Rawalpindi.             |          |
| 260        | Bhagat, Gujranwala.            |          |
| 261        | Sangla Market Report.          |          |
| 262        | Himmat, Lahore.                |          |
| 263        | Sanat-O-Hirfat, Rawalpindi.    |          |
| 264        | Farzain, Lahore.               |          |
| 265        | Tasmin, Lahore.                |          |
| 266        | Nishat, Lahore.                |          |
| 267        | Acchut Sewak, Amritsar.        |          |
| 268        | Paghal, Amritsar.              |          |
| 269        | Azad Akali, Amritsar.          |          |
| 270        | Doaba Gazette, Hoshiarpur.     |          |
| 271        | Insaf, Helan, District Gujrat. |          |
| 272        | Talim, Rawalpindi.             |          |
| 273        | Raz-i-Film, Rawalpindi.        |          |

| Serial No. | Name of Paper.                         | Remarks.                 |
|------------|----------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1          | 2                                      | 3                        |
|            | PUNJAB—concl'd.                        |                          |
| 274        | Quresh, Gujranwala.                    |                          |
| 275        | Panja Sahib Magazine, Rawalpindi.      |                          |
| 276        | Punjab, Rawalpindi.                    |                          |
| 277        | Mazlum, Rawalpindi.                    |                          |
| 278        | Akali Patrika, Urdu newspaper, Lahore. |                          |
| 279        | Shamaa, Rawalpindi.                    |                          |
| 280        | Matwala, Lahore.                       |                          |
| 281        | New Leader, Lahore.                    |                          |
| 282        | Amrit Sagar, Lahore.                   |                          |
| 283        | Mufis, Lahore.                         |                          |
| 284        | Taskeen, Ambala.                       |                          |
| 285        | Alankar, Lahore.                       |                          |
| 286        | Balidan, Lahore.                       |                          |
| 287        | Student Outlook, Lahore.               |                          |
| 288        | Dastan, Lahore.                        |                          |
| 289        | Yasrab, Lahore.                        |                          |
| 290        | State Representative, Lahore.          |                          |
|            | BURMA.                                 |                          |
| 291        | Rangoon Mail.                          |                          |
| 292        | Swatantran.                            |                          |
| 293        | Wunthanu Thadinsa.                     |                          |
| 294        | Prachi Prakash.                        |                          |
| 295        | Desopkari .. .. .                      | Security demanded twice. |
| 296        | Bramadesh.                             |                          |
| 296a       | Swatantran.                            |                          |
| 297        | Viduthalai.                            |                          |
| 298        | Dho Khit.                              |                          |

| Serial No | Name of Paper.                                            | Remarks. |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1         | 2                                                         | 3        |
|           | BIHAR AND ORISSA.                                         |          |
| 299       | Mahabir, Patna.                                           |          |
| 300       | Prajatantra, Balasore.                                    |          |
| 301       | Imarat, Patna.                                            |          |
| 302       | Al-Imarat, Patna.                                         |          |
| 303       | Jamhoor, Patna.                                           |          |
|           | ASSAM.                                                    |          |
| 304       | Jana Sakti.                                               |          |
| 305       | Purabi.                                                   |          |
| 306       | Samachar.                                                 |          |
|           | NORTH WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.                             |          |
| 307       | Sailab.                                                   |          |
| 308       | Frontier Advocate.                                        |          |
| 309       | Islah-i-Rasum.                                            |          |
| 310       | The Humanity.                                             |          |
| 311       | The "Mashriq", weekly newspaper.                          |          |
| 312       | The Sadaqat.                                              |          |
| 313       | The "Israr-i-Sarhad".                                     |          |
| 314       | The "Sher-i-Sarhad" of Hazara.                            |          |
| 315       | A newspaper by Jagan Nath, son of Hiranand of Bannu City. |          |
|           | DELHI.                                                    |          |
| 316       | Monthly Shudhi Samachar.                                  |          |
| 317       | Weekly Shudhi Samachar.                                   |          |
| 318       | Khadi Sandesh.                                            |          |
| 319       | Hindu.                                                    |          |
| 320       | Nagrik.                                                   |          |
| 321       | Kashmere Pandit.                                          |          |
| 322       | Rajwari.                                                  |          |
| 323       | Urdu Harijan.                                             |          |

| Serial No. | Name of paper.        | Remarks. |
|------------|-----------------------|----------|
| 1          | 2                     | 3        |
|            | DELHI— contd.  |          |
| 324        | Yugantar.             |          |
| 325        | Vir Bharat.           |          |
| 326        | Arya Prakash.         |          |
| 327        | Bhavish Bharat.       |          |
| 328        | Uthan.                |          |
| 329        | Kainat.               |          |
| 330        | Mohan.                |          |
| 331        | Hindustan.            |          |
| 332        | Darbar.               |          |
| 333        | Arafat.               |          |
| 334        | Inqilab-Hind.         |          |
| 335        | Chal Chitra.          |          |
| 336        | Nava Sandesh.         |          |
| 337        | Tyagbhumi.            |          |
| 338        | Azad.                 |          |
| 339        | Muballigh.            |          |
| 340        | Chitra.               |          |
| 341        | Guardian.             |          |
| 342        | Qaumi Gazette, Delhi. |          |
|            | AJMER-MERWARA.        |          |
| 343        | Rajasthan Sandesh.    |          |
| 344        | Parivartan.           |          |
| Total      |                       |          |
| 448        |                       |          |

Seth Govind Das : It will not be possible for us to put supplementary questions ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will copies of these statements be made available to us ? Will you kindly direct your office to have them printed and circulated ? It will be very helpful to us in view of the legislation coming before the House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That will be done. 2

DESPATCH OF TROOPS TO ABYSSINIA.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Pandit Nilakantha Das has given notice of a motion for the adjournment of the business of the House to discuss the question of the despatch of troops to Abyssinia. This subject has already been disposed of.

FIRING BY THE MILITARY AT LAHORE OVER THE SHAHIDGUNJ DISPUTE.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Mr. K. L. Gauba has given notice of a motion for adjournment. He proposes to ask for leave to make a motion for an adjournment of the business of the Assembly today for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely :

“ The failure of the Government of India to institute an inquiry into the circumstances resulting in firing by the Military at Lahore over the Shahidganj dispute.”

I have to inform the House that His Excellency the Governor General has disallowed this motion on the ground that it cannot be moved without detriment to public interest.

REFUSAL OF GRANT OF PROTECTION TO THE GLASS INDUSTRY.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant has given notice of a motion for adjournment. He proposes to ask for leave to make a motion for an adjournment of the business of the Assembly today for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, as follows :

“ The refusal of the Government to grant protection to the glass industry in spite of the recommendation of the Indian Tariff Board to that effect.”

I should like to know whether a subject like that is a proper subject to discuss on an adjournment motion.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : The subject of the motion is undoubtedly one of public importance. The case of the glass industry was referred by the Government to the Tariff Board and it was the subject of an exhaustive inquiry and an elaborate report by that Board. The fact that the Government considered it so important and so urgent as to be the subject of an inquiry by the Tariff Board, I think, demonstrates its public importance. There can be no question about its being a question which does involve matters of public importance. It was the subject of a recent Resolution by the Government of India which was issued on the 25th June, this year.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : This is a matter for legislation. Protection cannot be granted without legislation.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : The Resolution refused to grant the protection that was recommended by Tariff Board. The report of the Tariff Board was published by the Government on the 25th June, this year, and, while publishing that report, they also published their decision on that report refusing to accept the recommendations of the Board.

(343)

[Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant.]

In these circumstances, I submit there can be no question about the matter being of public importance.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : A passage in May's Parliamentary Practice, page 249, says that matters involving legislation cannot be discussed on an adjournment motion.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : There is no question of legislation involved. We, the non-official Members, cannot take any initiative in the matter of legislation of this type. I have not brought any motion recommending the introduction of a Bill by anybody. Of course it is not open to me to introduce such a Bill nor to any other non-official Member of the House. What we are concerned with today is the administrative question whether the recommendations of the Tariff Board, an authoritative expert body appointed for the purpose of inquiring into questions of this character, should be treated so unceremoniously and whether an industry which is almost on its last legs and in a pitiable plight should be denied even that much of assistance which even the Tariff Board had recommended for it. In the case of all industries, the subject of protection is ordinarily referred to the Tariff Board. In this case, the Tariff Board made an inquiry into the matter and then submitted its report to the Government and Government, after taking considerable time in examining the recommendations of the Tariff Board, threw its proposals overboard. I submit that it is a matter of urgent public importance which involves, not only the question whether protection should or should not be granted to the glass industry, but also whether it is proper and appropriate that the Government should treat the recommendations of such an expert body in the manner it has done.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Are Government bound to accept the recommendations of the Tariff Board ?

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : So far as the practical aspect of the question is concerned, Government are expected to accept the recommendations of the Board. If the Government have not done what they were bound to do, then their action is illegal. If, on the other hand, Government have exercised their discretion in an objectionable and, as I am prepared to say in this case, in a vicious and erratic manner, then too this should be the subject of discussion in this House. In this particular case, there is special emergency as the industry will go to ruins and be destroyed altogether if the protection suggested by the Tariff Board is not given. I would refer you to a ruling which appears on page 41, No. 40, which is almost on all fours, when the Government turned down the report of the Sandhurst Committee, and a motion for adjournment was allowed. My case is much stronger than this. In fact, immediate action is needed in this case. In the other case, the matter could not be said to be so very urgent, as there were large questions of policy involved. The turning down of the report of a body appointed by the Government to go into the question must, therefore, I submit, be regarded as a sufficient ground for the admission of an adjournment motion.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan (Member for Commerce and Railways) : Sir, I have several objections to the motion which is proposed to be made by my Honourable friend being discussed as an adjournment motion. In the first place, my submission is that the matter is not urgent in the sense in which that expression has been interpreted as applying to adjournment motions. The matter of the grant of protection to the glass industry has been under consideration for some time

.....
An Honourable Member : Four years.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : .....and it cannot be said that unless this matter is discussed on an adjournment motion, the appropriate relief to the glass industry cannot be brought into operation. If it were held that executive or administrative decisions of the Government with regard to matters like the one that the Honourable Member proposes to discuss on an adjournment motion could validly and properly form the subject-matter of adjournment motions, I cannot conceive of any executive or administrative decision of Government which is taken during the sitting or during the adjournment of the House which could not be brought up for discussion on an adjournment motion.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : In that case, every matter, which is decided on the executive side, could be discussed on an adjournment motion, and, with all respect, I would submit that that is not the normal method of discussing such matters.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : When was that inquiry started by the Tariff Board ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : This inquiry was started several years ago—four years at least. Then, Sir, my second submission is that with regard to this very matter, it was open to Honourable Members to table Resolutions for discussion in this House. Not only was it open to them but as a matter of fact the Honourable Member who has moved this motion for adjournment of the House has tabled a Resolution for discussion; a notice of a motion has been given by Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant that :

“ This Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council to take effective and adequate measures for the protection of the glass industry in India.”

That is No. 215 of the Admitted List No. 12-A, issued on the 29th August, 1935, and it is quite possible that the matter may be coming up for discussion in the form of a Resolution as tabled by my Honourable friend.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Has it been put down ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It has been put down ; I have read out Resolution No. 215. I am not discussing the chances of the Resolution coming up for discussion or not, I am referring to rule 12 of the Indian Legislative Rules at page 85 of the Manual of Business, which says :

“ The right to move the adjournment of either Chamber for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance shall be subject to the following restrictions, namely :

* * * * *

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

(iv) The motion must not anticipate a matter which has been previously appointed for consideration"—(I am not referring to that part but to the next part)—"or with reference to which a notice of motion has been previously given"— and a notice of motion in respect of this matter has previously been given by the Honourable Member himself.

My next objection, Sir, is the objection which you have yourself been pleased to point out to the Honourable Member; that is to say, that the matter is one that involves legislation. The Honourable Member proposes to censure Government for having refused to introduce legislation in order to afford protection to the glass industry. He wishes, by this motion of adjournment, to censure the Government for failing to introduce legislation to that end; and, in case the adjournment motion is carried, I have no doubt that he would expect Government to give effect to the wishes of the House in respect of this matter; that is to say, he would expect Government to introduce legislation in order to give protection to the glass industry. Related to this matter is a second objection on the same score, that is to say, that the motion does not propose to discuss a definite matter. I would submit, Sir, that one of the reasons why it has not been considered proper to permit matters to be discussed on an adjournment motion which involve legislation is that matters likely to involve legislation are generally of a detailed nature. It would not be possible in the course of two hours, with speeches restricted to fifteen minutes each, to discuss the question whether Government were or were not justified, on the merits, to refuse to give protection, or rather, as I would put it in this particular case, to postpone the consideration of the question of protection to the glass industry. The motion has been put down in a wide manner to discuss the failure of the Government or the refusal of the Government to give protection to the glass industry: but there are a hundred and one questions likely to arise for discussion to enable Honourable Members to make up their minds before it could be said whether protection should or should not be granted to the glass industry. A matter which has been under the consideration of the Tariff Board for a whole year is proposed to be discussed.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): All that is necessary for the Honourable Member is to state his point.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan: I have almost concluded; and I submit, therefore, that the matter is not a definite matter of urgent public importance, as it would lead to a discussion all over the field with regard to various considerations affecting the glass industry.

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division: Non-Muhammadan): May I just submit a few words, Sir?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Chair does not want a regular discussion on this motion.

Mr. B. Das: There are only one or two points which I wish to submit. I wish to point out to the Honourable the Commerce Member that the matter is a very definite one. I will remind the House that the Government brought a Resolution on the convention of sheet glass industry, and this House threw it out, because Government did not give protection to the glass industry nor publish the report of the Tariff Board on glass industry. Thereafter, the Government published that report after the Session adjourned and they gave only a partial effect to the excellent recommendations of the Tariff Board. It was for the Government to bring a Resolution before the House to take measures.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The Chair would inform the Honourable Member that the House does not want a discussion on this motion.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant: I wish to submit just one or two words. If you will be pleased to look at ruling No. 40, you will find that it says:

"I understand that the object of the motion is to censure the Government of India for turning down the unanimous recommendations of the Committee of their own creation."

That is, in fact, my main purpose in placing this motion before the House in the form in which I have tabled it.

The other point was about rule 12 (4). Now, this rule 12 (4) can apply when a matter has been appointed for consideration. It can apply only if a Resolution has been ballotted for and is included in the list, otherwise it does not apply.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): This Resolution has not been ballotted?

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant: No, Sir. The second part of this rule is with reference to the question of notice having been given previously. No such notice was given in respect of this matter, and, therefore, this rule does not apply at all. I think I should not insult the intelligence of the House by arguing the point whether it is a definite matter or not.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): The question which the Chair has got to decide is whether this motion is in order. The motion wants that the business of the House should be adjourned in order to discuss a matter of definite and urgent public importance, namely, the refusal of the Government to grant protection to the glass industry in spite of the recommendation of the Indian Tariff Board to that effect. Protection cannot be granted ordinarily except by means of legislation, and there is a distinct authority mentioned in May's Parliamentary Practice, on page 249, which leaves no room for doubt in a matter like this. It runs thus:

"Matters arising out of the debates of the same session, or the terms of a bill before the House of Lords,..... cannot be submitted to the house under this Standing Order", (that is, the Standing Order relating to motions of adjournment of the business of the House) "and as on other motions for the adjournment of the house matters involving legislation cannot be discussed."

I have no hesitation in following this authority as I am not aware that any doubt has been cast on the ruling cited here. I need not go into the other arguments that have been urged before the House. I, therefore, rule that the motion is not in order.

BOMBING OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN THE TRANS-FRONTIER VILLAGES BY THE INDIAN ARMY (AIR FORCE).

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Dr. Khan Sahib has given notice of a motion for the adjournment of the business today for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, and it runs as follows :

“ The bombing of innocent women and children in the trans-Frontier villages by the Indian Army (Air Force) which is going on now.”

I want to know if there is any objection to the motion being taken up.

(No objection was taken.)

As there is no objection, the motion will be taken up at 4 o'clock today.

Mr. N. M. Joshi (Nominated Non-Official) : May I be permitted to draw your attention, Sir, to the fact that today is a non-official day, and, in view of the fact that there is very little.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It is a non-official Member who has given notice of the motion.

THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL.

PRESENTATION OF THE REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

Sardar Sant Singh (West Punjab : Sikh) : Sir, I beg to present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Amendment of Section 406).

RESOLUTION RE MANUFACTURE OF LOCOMOTIVE REQUIREMENTS IN STATE RAILWAY WORKSHOPS.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty (Madras : Indian Commerce) : Sir, I beg to move :

“ That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council that immediate steps be taken to equip State Railway Workshops with necessary additional plant and machinery to ensure manufacture of all locomotive requirements within the Railway Workshops.”

It is a curious coincidence that the year of this motion should synchronise with the year by which the Government guaranteed and hoped to equip their State Railway workshops with complete machinery for the construction of locomotive engines in India. In the year 1921, they issued a communiqué in the following terms :

“ In pursuance of their expressed policy of making India as far as possible independent of outside sources in the supply of materials, the Government of India have had under consideration the question of the construction of locomotive engines in India and they are now in a position to give a general undertaking that tenders will be invited only in India for all the railway locomotives and the locomotive boilers required by Government during the 12 years commencing with the year 1923.”

Similarly, a promise was made in respect of the construction of wagons on the 1st March, 1918. The Government of India said :

“ The Government of India have recently had under consideration the methods of making India more independent of outside sources in the supply of raw materials. One case, in particular, which they have recently examined, in consultation with the Indian Engineering Association and Railway Administration, is the construction of wagons in India and as a result of inquiries they have made they are now able to announce that they will guarantee to purchase in India 2,500 broad gauge and 500 metre or narrow gauge wagons only for ten years.”

This was said in the year 1918, but the actual working of this policy began in the year 1921 and was cancelled in the year 1924, though they guaranteed to buy these wagons at the rate of 2,500 broad gauge wagons and 500 metre gauge wagons for the next ten years. The excuse for cancelling this policy is found in the subsequent statements made by the Honourable Members of the Government representing this department. It was that in consultation with the companies which they have encouraged to come about into existence for the purpose of construction of wagons they have decided that they should place no orders with those companies, for, at any rate, the next few years. Under those circumstances the Government suggested, very nicely indeed, that those companies might be bought off.

Sir, it so happened that last evening I visited the picture palace in Simla and I saw the film, “ the House of Rothschild ”. There was a loan floated by the Government of the day for many millions of pounds and the “ House of Rothschild ” was one of the tenderers who bid for that loan. Their bid though most favourable was not accepted and when the representative of the “ House of Rothschild ” questioned the Government as to why their bid was not accepted, the Member of the Government said that on account of some “ technicality ” they rejected the tender. It was on a similar technicality, flimsy as it was, that this policy of the Government to purchase their wagons and locomotives in India was canceled. The Honourable the Finance Member during his recent tour to Bombay tried very hard indeed to convince the Bombay merchants that the allegation that Government were favouring British interests more than the Indian interests was not true. I dare say he was clever enough to find out that his arguments did not carry much conviction so far as the Bombay merchants are concerned.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg (Finance Member) : No. I did not.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : If instances of broken promises should be necessary to convince the Honourable the Finance Member that the Government of India have been consistently working in the interests of the British labourer and British worker more than those of the Indian labourer and Indian worker, I can quote them ad nauseam. But a previous Member of the Government resented the charge made by a non-official Member of the Legislative Assembly that they have been breaking pledges. He said, “ No charge is more resented by the Englishmen and the Scotsmen than the charge of breaking pledges ” even though this Government can claim to its credit an unbroken record of broken pledges. (Hear, hear.)

Ever since 1921, there has been in this Assembly a demand from the Government of India to equip their State Railway workshops with such machinery as would make it possible to manufacture their whole requirements, not only wagons but also locomotive engines. Particularly last year, in 1934, during the budget debate, more than one Member representing various points of view in the Assembly brought to the notice of the Government the necessity of making their workshops and making their railway administrations independent of imported articles particularly in wagons and locomotives. Probably it will be considered to be the best recommendation for the acceptance of this motion by the Assembly if I should quote a statement from no less a person than Colonel Sir Henry Gidney in regard to this very question. I dare say his successor in this Assembly will please note that his predecessor was in favour of compelling the Government of India to see that their locomotive requirements are fulfilled in India. I would particularly draw the attention of Mr. Bower to what Sir Henry Gidney said on that occasion. He said on the occasion of discussion on the Railway Budget :

[Mr. Sami Vencatachelum Chetty.]

" We cannot control our railways unless we have the manufacturing and building of all the wagons and carriages and engines in this country. Today we have to spend hundreds and thousands of pounds in indenting on foreign countries including Germany for the supply of locomotives."

Now, Sir, a greater authority than that, an authority which I dare say the Honourable the Finance Member and the Honourable the Commerce Member dare not disagree with, is that of Sir Leslie Hudson, the Leader of the European Group, whose absence owing to illness I really deplore. Sir Leslie Hudson said :

" We are looking forward to the time when India will be able to manufacture most things for herself. There seems to be no very strong reason why skilled mechanics should not be brought out from England to teach our artizans out here how to construct locomotives in this country."

To all these representations, strong representations as they were, Sir Joseph Bhowe, the predecessor of the present Commerce Member said :

" I can tell my Honourable friend ", (he was addressing with reference to Sir Henry Gidney, particularly), " that the question has already been taken up, it was taken up some months ago and I can assure the House that the possibilities will be most carefully examined."

This was only a repetition of the policy which they have laid down in 1921. It took thirteen years for a reiteration of that policy in much more diluted terms. In 1921, they definitely said that they were then in a position to go in for the manufacture of locomotive engines within a few years and that they would, in the meantime, call for tenders in India for locomotive engines and wagons. But all that was forgotten and again in 1934, the then Commerce Member stated that the question has already been taken up some months ago and the possibilities will be examined in the course of those months. The same reply was given by the Financial Commissioner in the Standing Finance Committee for Railways. Every time we ask for this policy being executed by the Government of India, every time the Government of India will repeat the assurance that it will be looked into. Where do we stand ? Does it take 13 years to examine the policy whether they could manufacture locomotive engines in India or not ? If this delay is not deliberate, if this delay is not quite intentional to see that Indian industries do not come up and to see that the British interests are served properly, I ask, Sir, what is the other explanation that the Government can give with justification and with real truth behind it for delaying the execution of this policy ? Now, surely the Government Members cannot say that this is not done in the interests of British unemployment. In this connection I am compelled to quote a statement of the Under Secretary of State for India in 1922. He was addressing the Members of Parliament who charged him with not doing anything in the way of relieving unemployment question in England. They charged the Secretary of State for India with not persuading the Government of India to give more work to the British labour. In replying to those charges, the Under Secretary of State for India said in 1922 :

" To those of my Honourable friends—some of them have approached me privately while others spoke in the debate—who have expressed apprehension very largely on account of their constituents in regard to the purchase of manufactured railway and other materials required in India, I will say that there is no reason for their thinking that they will not get the bulk of this business."

Then, Sir, when the Under Secretary of State for India promises to his constituents that they will get the bulk of their business particularly of railway works and if the Members of the Government here say that they are not delaying these things on account of the interests of the British labourer, well, I leave it to the House to judge what should be the real intention of this Government in delaying the execution of this policy.

We have spent more than eight crores of rupees in equipping these workshops. For what purpose was it done ? When the Government wanted these eight crores to be spent upon equipment of workshops, they made the House believe that they will take up this question and that they would equip the workshops in such a fashion as not to be put to the necessity of going for imported locomotives or wagons. It is upon such promises and upon such misleading promises that the Government obtained the vote of this House for equipping the railway workshops on eight crores. After taking eight crores, they spent a large sum out of that and perhaps even more to equip the workshops, but they never cared to look at the basic question upon which they took this grant from the Assembly. I will not call it a dishonest transaction, but it is certainly not a moral transaction for the Government to make a promise to the Assembly on a particular thing and not perform it. And what is more reprehensible in the act of the Government of the day is that while they have completely neglected the question of locomotive engines, even with regard to wagon construction, it was after a great persuasion that we were able to carry a resolution in the Railway Standing Finance Committee that the first tenders should be called for in India and if these tenders were not satisfactory they should then advertise for tenders outside India. I am told,—I do not know how far it is accurate and I speak subject to correction,—that only 750 wagons were given for construction in India and about 500 were given to other countries. And in course of the currency of the promise which Government have given to this Assembly that wagons will be bought in India, particularly with those firms which they have encouraged to come into existence, during the particular year they have bought wagons from another concern and foreign concern; and when questioned as to why they broke their promise, the reply was that those wagons were of a special type. Who asked them to prescribe a special type? What was the intention of prescribing this special type? Was it only to put down the Indian manufacturer or was it something else? If a special type was required why was it not placed before these Indian manufacturers to see if they could adjust their machinery to manufacture this special type of wagon? The whole truth is that the heart of the Government is not in it and Government are not quite sincere in encouraging Indian industries and in reducing unemployment in this country. The trouble is that they are dominated by the higher powers at Whitehall. Whether it is an Indian Member that is there or whether it is a European Member that is there, it is impossible to expect them to be honest and frank to this Assembly while they are being pulled by the reins from behind. We only want that at any rate in matters economic Government should pay great regard to the expression of public opinion as evidenced in the Resolutions of this Assembly and give effect to the promise which they very grudgingly, however, made to the Assembly. With these words I have great pleasure in commending this proposition to the acceptance of the House.

[Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Resolution moved :

"That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council that immediate steps be taken to equip State Railway Workshops with necessary additional plant and machinery to ensure manufacture of all locomotive requirements within the Railway Workshops."

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi (Dacca cum Mymensingh : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I have a very high regard for my Honourable friend who has just moved this Resolution, and I am very sorry that I have to oppose the Resolution; but I shall presently give my reasons for doing so. Sir, I have been studying this railway problem very closely for the last nine years, and I have been a member of the Standing Finance Committee for Railways all these years excepting one year when I was not here. We all want that the railways here should be able to make everything they require in India. The question is, whether the railways can get that done here cheaply to reduce the cost instead of bringing these from outside. At the moment, I think, if we agree to this Resolution it would not be to the interest of the railways or to the interest of India as a whole. Firstly, it is improvident, secondly, it is at the moment inopportune, and, thirdly, it is at the moment undesirable. Sir, regarding its being improvident, I say that the cost of equipping the present railway workshops would be appalling; I think at least a crore of rupees will be required to equip these workshops in order that they may be able to make their locomotives here. In these days of depression, when the railways are not making any money at all and are losing day in and day out, will it be proper and reasonable to embark on an expenditure of this huge amount of money for equipping the workshops? And, Sir, we should not forget that the days of engines are probably coming to an end, because electrification is coming on. Who knows that, in another ten years, half of these railway engines may not be required. See what has happened in Bombay where the number of locomotives has been reduced. What has happened in Madras? Electrification is going on, and, on about 60 or 70 miles, these engines are not required. Unfortunately the predecessor of the present Railway Member did not give us that facility in Calcutta although it is the second City in the British Empire. That grievance we have still got against the railway officials seeing that they have given it to other provinces, but not to Calcutta.

Then, Sir, I come to the type of the locomotives. At the moment, we are using a type of engine which, perhaps, in a few years' time, we may not require. Take, for instance, Diesel Engines which have already begun to replace our time honoured locomotives. Then, what shall we be making in our workshops? Then, Sir, we have to consider that we have to import from abroad most of the materials which we require to make locomotives here.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I may just point out that what I stated was with regard to all locomotive requirements. It may be Diesel Oil or it may be anything.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Then, I think my Honourable friend has not realised that they will have to make different kinds of workshops for different kinds of locomotives. You cannot anticipate what kinds of locomotives you will require ten years hence; and, then, if you start now, probably this equipment of workshops will require at least five years. After five years, we do not know what sort of locomotives we will require. We shall be going in at the present time for the present type of locomotives. But why has not a start been made in India? If it had been a paying proposition was not money available in India for an Indian company to start making locomotives here? Why did not Tata's do it here? Because, they know that they cannot compete with firms outside India manufacturing locomotives.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : They were not assured of the contracts.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Contracts for Indian requirements only will not be sufficient for the workshops here: they must supply countries beyond. How are the locomotive workshops in London getting on? Because they provide not for India alone, but for the whole world? How many locomotive workshops exist in the world? Very few. The world's demands are supplied by those few. If we start making locomotives here, we shall be making them at an enormous cost compared to the cost at which we now get them from outside India. Is it in the interest of the railways to make these locomotives here merely as my Honourable friend said, to provide a little more work for labour? Is it fair to the railways and is it fair for us to give sanction to this Resolution? We know that the railways will not be able to make their locomotives as cheap as they get it from outside India. As regards wagons I know they are being made here and they are being bought by the railways—I have no grievance now as regards wagons. At the meeting in Bangalore, this was thoroughly discussed, and we made it a point to press on the Financial Commissioner that he must purchase his requirements as regards wagons in India and not from outside.

[Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi.]

I say, it is undesirable, because the depression is continuing and we do not know the number of engines we may be able to utilise a few years hence : we do not know if we will use the present number even. Only the other day, we noticed in the papers that the railways are losing money and they are doing their very best to meet the deficit. Is it fair to ask the railways to find this huge sum now to construct locomotives which they may not require at all a few years hence ? The types may be scrapped and we may have to go in for another type of workshops altogether. What we should do now is this : we must see to the railways working efficiently and economically, and also cut down, as much as possible, the expenses incurred which, in my opinion, they should not have incurred. I have given one instance. Look at the tremendous expense they incur in Calcutta—two railways, the E. B. and the E. I. have their head offices across the street : a huge amount can be saved by amalgamating them : they have two Agents, two Chief Medical Officers, two Deputy Agents, and so on. If the two are amalgamated the Agent of the Amalgamated Railways will be in charge of a shorter length of mileage than the North Western. That they do not do. We should press them to economise their expenses and also look to the comforts of the third class passengers and reduce fares and freights as much as they can. It is not the time now to ask them to erect or equip workshops at a huge cost for manufacturing locomotives, which may not be required at all or which may have to be scrapped a few years hence. With these words, I oppose the motion in as much as it proposes that the extension of the workshops should be taken in hand immediately.

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali (Lucknow and Fyzabad Divisions : Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I had no mind to stand on my legs today on this Resolution ; but when I found my friend, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, opposing this motion, I was very much surprised. Here is an occasion when this House asks the Government to take up certain works which may employ Indians in very large numbers just as Tatas are doing ; and, then, I find that my own countrymen rise to oppose such Resolutions. When my Honourable friend suggests that by economies and amalgamation money may be saved on the railways, I do not find any reason why and on what grounds he thinks that the railways must not take up this business in their hands. The greatest need of the country is that we must have employment. If these workshops are started, we shall also not have to go to foreign countries and invest our money there and buy from them. This is one of the greatest reasons why we must have some sort of workshops in India. If we can manufacture wagons, if we can turn out other things, I see no reason why we cannot manufacture locomotives in India : to say that there will be a paucity of engineers I doubt it very much. ....

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan (Member for Commerce and Railways) : Has anybody said that ?

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : That may be an argument hereafter : I anticipate that argument of my friends on the other side—that there may not be engineers enough in India to supply the want : my submission is that India is even now prepared to supply technical knowledge and everything required in the shape of engineering. We know what the state of Hyderabad is doing and what the state of Mysore is doing as regards engineering and I see no reason why we, in British India, cannot supply such qualified men for engineering purposes. To say that Tatas are not yet sure of their success and, therefore, if the Government of India take up such business it may be very risky—as regards that I say that the Government itself has given protection to Tatas and knows the business. And why cannot Government give protection to such a company which is started by Indians themselves hereafter, to manufacture locomotives or things like that if the Indians start a company ?

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : Start one, and Government will give protection.

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : I know that my friend will say that : we do not want the Government to do that only ; but we want Government and Indians to start manufacturing locomotives now.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is not the motion at any rate.

Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : The motion is that Government should take up such matters themselves, and I submit that it is high time now for the Government to take this business into their hands : when Government have got enough money to spend on other things, I see no reason why they should not start this, and if they take the Indian public into confidence and ask them to invest money, I am sure, India can afford to do it and will do it : India has sent out gold worth crores and crores : why cannot India invest money in such lucrative business as making locomotives ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The only question is whether they are lucrative.

Mr. V. V. Giri (Ganjam cum Vizagapatam : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Mr. President, many words are not necessary from me to commend this Resolution for acceptance of this House. If I may say so, this subject of locomotive manufacture is a subject which is as old as the hills. Promises have been made on the floor of this House that India will be made self-contained in the matter of manufacture of locomotives and locomotive requirements, but these promises have remained mere promises and they have never been put into practice by the Government of India. I would not like to traverse the same ground that was traversed by other speakers, but I would like to mention briefly that the history of the locomotive industry began with the year 1918 when the Government of India issued a communiqué, dated the 1st March, 1918, wherein they stated :

“ The Government of India have recently under consideration methods of making India more independent of outside sources in supply of raw materials.”

The communiqué of the 30th September, 1921, has been referred to and commented upon by the Honourable the Mover of this Resolution, and I do not like to repeat it again.

Again, Sir, in the year 1924, the Tariff Board, in their first Report, have made some observations regarding the manufacture of locomotives in this country, and, incidentally, I would like to reply to my friend, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi. He stated that, in order to make locomotives in this country, a lot of materials have to be brought from England, that raw materials have to be imported from abroad. In this connection, I should like to refer you, Sir, to paragraph 13, Chapter II, of the Tariff

[Mr. V. V. Giri.]

Board Report relating to the locomotive building industry, which states as follows :

" The industry is very valuable from the national point of view. Apart from its importance as affecting the question of national defence, it is an industry which gives ample opportunities for the purpose of training Indians in mechanical engineering, and if India is to make itself independent as far as possible in the supply of its railway requirements, it is essential that it should possess a well-established locomotive industry.

With regard to the supply of labour also, it is favourably situated, for it cannot be regarded as an industry in which all labour has to be specially trained. There are many engineering works, railway workshops and factories where labour of the kind required in this industry is available at reasonable cost and in sufficient quantity.

With regard to raw materials, it is estimated that about 50 per cent. of the quantity of raw materials required in the manufacture of locomotives can be obtained in India either from the Tata Iron and Steel Company or from other local works engaged in the manufacture of steel products, especially castings."

Now, Sir, again this matter came to the fore when the Raven Committee inquired into this question. This Committee's observations are also quite relevant to show that the manufacture of all railway requirements will be cheaper if made in railway workshops than in private firms, and I would only refer to a few lines in the Report of the Raven Committee. I quote from pages 76 and 77 of the Report :

" Assuming equal efficiency of organization and control on either side, all the elements of cost such as labour, materials and oncost have necessarily a tendency to be lower in a Railway Workshop than in a private workshop. . . . We only wish to emphasise here that, with respect to such components of locomotives and spare parts of carriages and wagons that have till now been manufactured almost entirely in railway workshops in India, their conclusions are these—" that the rates at which spare parts of rolling stock are being manufactured in railway workshops do bear favourable comparison with the rates which outside agencies could or would charge; that nevertheless such manufacture is not being carried on as efficiently and economically as it could be, owing either to lack of organization and co-ordination or lack of suitable plant; and that with the concentration of the manufacturing work, in such existing shops as are advantageously situated with respect to cheap labour, fuel and suitable equipment, on the lines we have recommended, great economies could be achieved."

It was stated,—I hope I am correct,—the Financial Commissioner for Railways stated that they have been attempting to adjust the manufacture of the locomotive industry in the shops that are existing at present in India without establishing new shops. I do not know if I am correct in the statement I have made. I think the Financial Commissioner made that statement to us when the Standing Finance Committee met at Bangalore. . . .

Mr. P. R. Rau (Financial Commissioner, Railways) : What statement ?

Mr. V. V. Giri : That the question is being considered by a Committee and they are trying to see if the existing workshops could not be equipped.

Mr. P. R. Rau : May I read a line from the proceedings ?

" The Board were considering the possibility of utilising any one or other of the existing workshops for the purpose in order to reduce the initial cost."

It did not state that the Board had arrived at any conclusion on that.

An Honourable Member : You never do.

Mr. P. R. Rau : I said we had come to no conclusion at the time I made that statement.

Mr. V. V. Giri : Again, Sir, in the year 1927, this subject came to the fore, and it was mooted by a Member of the Swaraj Party which was then under the distinguished leadership of the late lamented Pandit Motilal Nehru, and there was a discussion on this matter. I am glad to see again, under the distinguished leadership of my esteemed leader, Mr. Bhalabhai Desai, a Resolution on this very subject has been moved. Thus, Sir, from the year 1918 to the year 1935, on several occasions this subject came before this Assembly, and promises were made that the matter would be looked into, that investigation was being made, that the report was expected and that it would be placed before the Standing Finance Committee or before this House. This shows the malā fides of this Government and the reason for it is not far to seek. The Government of India are represented by a bureaucracy which is interested as agents of England to promote the interests of England. I am bound to say that the Government of India are the agents of English and foreign capitalists, and they are not interested so much in solving the unemployment problem in this country. I am bound to make this statement, because the Government of India have shown, so far as this question is concerned, extreme inefficiency, inactivity, indifference and insincerity of purpose. I would like, Sir, to prove that, during the last 15 years, crores have been spent in the matter of purchase of locomotives from other countries, and reference to the debates in the Legislative Assembly in 1934 will bear out my statement. On the 13th March, 1934, the Financial Commissioner submitted to the House a statement showing the number of broad gauge and metre gauge locomotives provided in Class I railways from 1927-28 to 1934-35. You will find, Sir, that 427 broad gauge locomotives have been purchased during this period, and 501 metre gauge locomotives have also been purchased during the same period, and if the Government were true to their professions and promises and if they had established this industry years ago, as they ought to have done according to their assertions, India by now would have had a splendid locomotive industry, and she would have been in a position, not only to supply the wants of this country, but also to supply the wants of other countries; we could not merely have manufactured and supplied all the necessary locomotives that this country wanted, but we could have manufactured and sent them to other countries. ("Hear, hear" from Congress Party Benches.) I am bound to say, therefore, Sir, that if today the Government are having the barren policy of retrenchment, if today 47,000 workers and their families are starving in the streets, the sin lies at the door of the Government of India and nobody else. ("Hear, hear" from Congress Party Benches.) When Russia or Italy or Germany or England are having their planned economy and solving their economic problems and unemployment problems, in India we are simply told that all matters would be looked into and investigations made. I am sure that, if India had a responsible Government of her own, such "monkeying" with affairs of Indians would never have taken place. My Honourable friend, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, has made a statement on the floor of this House that if locomotives are manufactured here, a crore will have to be spent and the cost will be very prohibitive. In that connection, I would only refer to a statement of no less a person than my Honourable friend, Mr. Rau, who said on the floor of this House, in answer to a question in 1934, put by Diwan Bahadur Harbilas Sarda. This was with reference to the metre gauge engines that are manufactured in the Ajmer workshops. Mr. Rau stated :

[Mr. V. V. Giri.]

“ I understand that owing to the fact that the prices in England are now low, according to the latest information available to the Railway Board, there is very little difference in the cost of manufacture at Ajmer and the cost of purchase in England, the difference being only Rs. 26.”

It does not matter whether the difference is only Rs. 26 or even Rs. 260 ; neither the Standing Finance Committee nor the public in this country would mind spending that amount. Therefore, on all grounds, it is absolutely necessary that the Government of this country, even at this late day, should take upon themselves the responsibility of undertaking the manufacture of locomotive engines and locomotive requirements that are needed for this country. Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi has stated that tomorrow the engines may be replaced by the electric engines. Most probably all the engines may be replaced by aeroplanes ; all the aeroplanes may be replaced by something else ; and I suggest to the Government of India that they must have a long-headed view of things, a long vision, to see how they can adjust their workshops on which they have spent crores and crores of rupees in this country. I would suggest to them that they should have not only a locomotive industry, but along with it they should have a subsidiary automobile industry, an aeroplane industry, and certainly the manufacture of electric engines. The whole trouble is this. The Government of India have no long vision, because it is not a national Government, because it is a Government that represents English interests and not Indian interests. That is our trouble.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has only one minute more.

Mr. V. V. Giri : I would not like to take even one minute, and I resume my seat.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) in the Chair.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The House will now resume discussion on the Resolution by Mr. Chetty.

Sardar Sant Singh (West Punjab : Sikh) : Sir, this Resolution, if placed before the Legislature of any civilised country, would not find any opposition from any quarter ; but, to our regret, we find, in India, situated as we are, opposition coming from unexpected quarters. I am sorry that my friend, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, is not in his seat now, but his speech in this House has been regarded by all people to be of a nature which will checkmate the growth of Indian industries if taken seriously. In his speech, he said that there are three reasons for opposing this Resolution, namely, that such a Resolution, in the first instance, is improvident, secondly inopportune and thirdly undesirable. He took us by surprise when he said that it was improvident because it would cost the Indian exchequer a very heavy sum of money. Every industry embracing big enterprises will have to involve a good deal of expenditure but the business proposition we have to look into is not the cost of the industry but the return which the proposed industry is expected to yield. If the return is proportionate and adequate then it is certainly worth while spending money. Therefore, this argument that the manufacture of locomotives in India would involve the taxpayers in a good deal of cost does not much stand to reason. Then he said it was inopportune and in support of this argument he said that the world was advancing, that science was making progress and that within another five years, according to his calculation, the present locomotives will be of no service. When I heard this argument from him, I was reminded of a personal experience which I had during the last Delhi Session. I had gone to purchase a radio and on the way I met a friend of mine who asked me where I was going. I told him the object, when he told me : “ Don't purchase a radio because improvements are being effected every year ”. If that argument were accepted, then nobody would ever purchase a radio.

WORKSHOPS.

Captain Sardar Sher Muhammad Khan (Nominated Non-Official) : Did you purchase it ?

Sardar Sant Singh : I did not. If this argument were to prevail that science is advancing and on that account we should not manufacture locomotives, then we had better stop all progress and all business in this country. This manufacture of our own requirements is necessary because India is a big country with a system of railways running from north to south and from east to west and it has the second biggest railway system in the world. It is incomprehensible why small countries like Germany and Great Britain should supply all our requirements. The question naturally arises—why should we depend upon other countries for our locomotives and why should we not manufacture our own requirements. Why should not India be self-contained in this matter ? I have not been convinced by the reasons that have been given from time to time for postponing action on this matter. When the Standing Committee for Railways met last time I actually committed the impertinence of suggesting to the members of the Committee to stop all purchases of locomotives even if it brings the administration of railways to a standstill. The reason for my suggestion was that this demand has been made by Indians so often and for such a long time that unless some strong measures were adopted by the Standing Committee for Railways the Government would not be persuaded to agree with us to establish some plant for manufacturing locomotives in India. I am of opinion that it is not merely the policy of “ Buy Indian ” that persuades me in this point of view. There is the danger arising from the disturbed condition of the world which makes it incumbent upon us to make provision while there is still time for meeting our own requirements. There is no knowing what may have happened up to this time in the League of Nations which is meeting today to discuss Italo-Ethiopian relations and what will happen if Italy and Abyssinia go to war. The conflagration may spread to other parts of the world. In that case, where shall we get our requirements from, especially if the Suez Canal is closed ? If India is to fulfil her obligation towards her people then she ought to manufacture her own needs. Why not start immediately ?

Captain Sardar Sher Muhammad Khan : You can get from Japan.
L173LAD

[4TH SEP. 1935.]

Sardar Sant Singh : My friend who belongs to the military class thinks that Japan would supply us. I am not of that opinion because when he will require tanks and other military requirements he will come to the Legislature and ask it for his needs. It is the Legislature that will be responsible for supplying him with the things that he will need so that he can carry on his war. It is not a thing which should be looked at lightly, especially in the present state of world affairs. I will, therefore, support this Resolution and will expect the Honourable Member in charge of the Railways to take steps immediately to make the necessary arrangements, so that the manufacture of locomotives may be taken in hand as early as possible.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I propose to intervene in this debate for a very limited purpose, and that is in the main to enunciate a general principle, which, except in the speech of my Honourable friend, Sir A. H. Ghuznavi, has been completely ignored by every other speaker in the Assembly. This general principle is concerned with the limits within which Government are justified in promoting the establishment of new industries in this country. In some ways, of course, I shall be merely repeating what I have said over and over again on previous occasions in this Assembly but I make no apology for that because, in my view at any rate, it cannot be said too often. The Government of India is justified in taking active steps to establish an industry in India on one or two grounds. The first I need only mention, because it exists very rarely, if at all, and that is in cases where the existence of an indigenous industry of that character is absolutely essential to the very existence of the country. The second occasion is when it can be seen from the start that the industry will, before very long, become self-supporting, so that the burden imposed on the country by the establishment of the industry is definitely foreseeable and is not excessive and, of course, this applies whether the assistance is given by way of subsidy or protection. The only difference between the two is that the cost of protection is much higher and it much more often falls on the wrong shoulders, but there is no great difference in principle between them. In my view it is definitely not reasonable to expect the Government of India to embark on the task of establishing an industry in this country if it is certain from the start that the industry in question will never be self-supporting and, therefore, that its establishment will impose upon the country a permanent and very heavy burden, and by "country" I mean either the consumer or the tax-payer; in the long run it does not make very much difference. And I would also like to say that I do not think this conclusion is vitiated in the least when the agency for the establishment of the industry is one of the State commercialized services. If the railways are to foster uneconomic industries, whether it be by giving orders to outside firms or by setting up industries in their own workshops, one of two things is bound to happen. Either the general tax-payer has got to subsidise the railways, or the user of the railways has got to pay more for the services which they provide. There is no escaping that dilemma: and if the Assembly is inclined to think that the present is an opportune time for the railways to embark on large unremunerative expenditure on the establishment of new uneconomic industries, well, I think I can say that those Members of the Assembly, from all sides of it, who were present at the recent discussions at the Public Accounts Committee on the financial position of the railways are not likely to share that view. Perhaps I might make two remarks before I leave this point. The first relates to the general question of policy, and on that I would like to say that one of the tragedies of India's protective policy has been that, with the single exception of steel, not a single one of the industries which it has been sought to establish in this country has yet become self-supporting.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : What about textiles?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Well, there is a duty of 50 per cent. plus a quota against Japan and a duty of 25 per cent. against Lancashire: and each time the textile industry has been up for protection, the protection has had to be increased! It is one of the tragedies of India's protectionist policy that every single industry, except possibly one, has become more and more in need of State assistance. The other is a passing observation on a remark of Mr. Giri's. Mr. Giri said that one of the advantages of establishing a locomotive industry in this country is that ultimately it would become big enough to export its surplus products. How on earth does he imagine that an Indian industry is going to be able to export, if it cannot produce at something like competitive prices? It really shows the muddled thinking that goes on about this subject that such a remark could have been made. My purpose in saying what I have said so far is merely to enunciate a general principle. The application of that general principle to the particular case under discussion I can leave in the capable hands of my Honourable Colleague, the Commerce Member. But I do want, if I may, to take up two or three definite mis-statements made by the Mover of the motion. He first of all made some quotations from the English Hansard of 1922 at the time when there was an unemployment debate or questions on unemployment. Well, I happened to have been very closely concerned in those discussions on unemployment in 1922 in England and I can assure him that the question under consideration there was entirely one of the placing of Indian orders on the continent or in England. The policy of the Government of India in the matter of the purchase of stores then was, to the best of my recollection, that they should buy in the cheapest market—whatever that implied,—in India, in Germany or in any other place, and what was happening then was that representations were made to the Secretary of State for India to see if he could avoid the diversion of orders which had hitherto been placed in England to the continent of Europe; they had nothing to do whatever with the competition between British and Indian orders.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : Sir, I wish to draw the attention of the Honourable the Finance Member to our own Hansard of the year 1927.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am talking about the events of 1922. [At this stage, Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty rose again to his feet.] I am not going to give way.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : It is not you who has to give way, it is myself who has to give way. (Cries of "Order, order.") He had already given way.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I gave way, because I thought the Honourable Member was dealing with the unemployment discussions of 1922. What happened here in 1927 has nothing to do with that.

[4TH SEP. 1935.]

Sardar Sant Singh : My friend who belongs to the military class thinks that Japan would supply us. I am not of that opinion because when he will require tanks and other military requirements he will come to the Legislature and ask it for his needs. It is the Legislature that will be responsible for supplying him with the things that he will need so that he can carry on his war. It is not a thing which should be looked at lightly, especially in the present state of world affairs. I will, therefore, support this Resolution and will expect the Honourable Member in charge of the Railways to take steps immediately to make the necessary arrangements, so that the manufacture of locomotives may be taken in hand as early as possible.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I propose to intervene in this debate for a very limited purpose, and that is in the main to enunciate a general principle, which, except in the speech of my Honourable friend, Sir A. H. Ghaznavi, has been completely ignored by every other speaker in the Assembly. This general principle is concerned with the limits within which Government are justified in promoting the establishment of new industries in this country. In some ways, of course, I shall be merely repeating what I have said over and over again on previous occasions in this Assembly but I make no apology for that because, in my view at any rate, it cannot be said too often. The Government of India is justified in taking active steps to establish an industry in India on one or two grounds. The first I need only mention, because it exists very rarely, if at all, and that is in cases where the existence of an indigenous industry of that character is absolutely essential to the very existence of the country. The second occasion is when it can be seen from the start that the industry will, before very long, become self-supporting, so that the burden imposed on the country by the establishment of the industry is definitely foreseeable and is not excessive and, of course, this applies whether the assistance is given by way of subsidy or protection. The only difference between the two is that the cost of protection is much higher and it much more often falls on the wrong shoulders, but there is no great difference in principle between them. In my view it is definitely not reasonable to expect the Government of India to embark on the task of establishing an industry in this country if it is certain from the start that the industry in question will never be self-supporting and, therefore, that its establishment will impose upon the country a permanent and very heavy burden, and by "country" I mean either the consumer or the tax-payer; in the long run it does not make very much difference. And I would also like to say that I do not think this conclusion is vitiated in the least when the agency for the establishment of the industry is one of the State commercialized services. If the railways are to foster uneconomic industries, whether it be by giving orders to outside firms or by setting up industries in their own workshops, one of two things is bound to happen. Either the general tax-payer has got to subsidise the railways, or the user of the railways has got to pay more for the services which they provide. There is no escaping that dilemma: and if the Assembly is inclined to think that the present is an opportune time for the railways to embark on large unremunerative expenditure on the establishment of new uneconomic industries, well, I think I can say that those Members of the Assembly, from all sides of it, who were present at the recent discussions at the Public Accounts Committee on the financial position of the railways are not likely to share that view. Perhaps I might make two remarks before I leave this point. The first relates to the general question of policy, and on that I would like to say that one of the tragedies of India's protective policy has been that, with the single exception of steel, not a single one of the industries which it has been sought to establish in this country has yet become self-supporting.

WORKSHOPS.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : What about textiles ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Well, there is a duty of 50 per cent. plus a quota against Japan and a duty of 25 per cent. against Lancashire : and each time the textile industry has been up for protection, the protection has had to be increased ! It is one of the tragedies of India's protectionist policy that every single industry, except possibly one, has become more and more in need of State assistance. The other is a passing observation on a remark of Mr. Giri's. Mr. Giri said that one of the advantages of establishing a locomotive industry in this country is that ultimately it would become big enough to export its surplus products. How on earth does he imagine that an Indian industry is going to be able to export, if it cannot produce at something like competitive prices ? It really shows the muddled thinking that goes on about this subject that such a remark could have been made. My purpose in saying what I have said so far is merely to enunciate a general principle. The application of that general principle to the particular case under discussion I can leave in the capable hands of my Honourable Colleague, the Commerce Member. But I do want, if I may, to take up two or three definite mis-statements made by the Mover of the motion. He first of all made some quotations from the English Hansard of 1922 at the time when there was an unemployment debate or questions on unemployment. Well, I happened to have been very closely concerned in those discussions on unemployment in 1922 in England and I can assure him that the question under consideration there was entirely one of the placing of Indian orders on the continent or in England. The policy of the Government of India in the matter of the purchase of stores then was, to the best of my recollection, that they should buy in the cheapest market—whatever that implied,—in India, in Germany or in any other place, and what was happening then was that representations were made to the Secretary of State for India to see if he could avoid the diversion of orders which had hitherto been placed in England to the continent of Europe ; they had nothing to do whatever with the competition between British and Indian orders.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : Sir, I wish to draw the attention of the Honourable the Finance Member to our own Hansard of the year 1927.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am talking about the events of 1922. [At this stage, Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty rose again to his feet.] I am not going to give way.

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : It is not you who has to give way, it is myself who has to give way. (Cries of "Order, order.") He had already given way.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I gave way, because I thought the Honourable Member was dealing with the unemployment discussions of 1922. What happened here in 1927 has nothing to do with that.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : On a point of personal explanation.....

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : Yes, if the Honourable Member gives way.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : In the 1927 Hansard, there is a reproduction of a statement said to have been made by the Secretary of State for India.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Surely there is some mistake.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : It is not a mistake, but if it is a mistake, it is a mistake in the debates.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I say that your interpretation of the statement is absolutely wrong, because I was in a position at the time to know the correct interpretation. That is in connection with the events of 1922. The second thing I think the Honourable Member said was that the whole object of the Government of India policy was to do everything possible to place locomotive orders in England. That is why, I suppose, recent orders have been placed in Germany?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have they been?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Certainly. Then he gave some figures about wagons. He protected himself by saying—"I have been told". Well, let me tell him that his figures, which were, I think, that orders for 750 wagons had been placed in India and five hundred elsewhere.....

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I did not use those figures. I said that 750 wagons were given to Indian firms and orders for 500 were placed outside.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is precisely what I have said. Now the true figures are these. Out of 4,472 wagons, 750 wagons were purchased in England and 3,722 wagons were purchased in India.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I am glad.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I doubt that because you have lost a grievance. From these three mis-statements which I have been able to disprove without any difficulty whatever, you can judge of the character of the evidence on which the Honourable the Mover arrives at his somewhat malicious conclusion that the whole policy of the Government of India is concerned in protecting British interests and in downing Indian interests.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Is that not true?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Well, nothing that I can say will make my Honourable friend alter his conclusion. There are two possible explanations of that conclusion. The first is that by repeating it so often he has come to believe it without any thought about the matter. The second is that his object is not the pursuit of truth but to stir up bad blood,—and he does not much mind what he does, in the process. I would like in conclusion to make one observation in regard to this general accusation made by the Party opposite that the Government of India runs India in the interests of the United Kingdom.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not so?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Does he believe that if the Government of India, backed by His Majesty's Government, had started out to run this country in the interests of the United Kingdom, that they would have so severely damaged Lancashire in the attempt to establish textile industries in this country? (Hear, hear.) Does he believe that if we had started out to run this country in the interests of the United Kingdom, we should have spent crores and crores and crores directly and in addition placed very heavy burden on the consumer in this country in order to make it independent of the United Kingdom in the matter of steel? Does he believe that in the matter of placing wagon orders for railways, which the Honourable Member referred to, we would have given a preference to Indian firms to the extent of fourteen per cent. in price, if our dearest object had been to place orders in England? I submit, Sir, that the thing is self-contradictory. Honourable Members opposite will no doubt go on believing that the Government of India and the English are knaves but I really think that they cannot simultaneously assume that we are so incompetent as to use such ineffective methods to produce the end which they say we have been seeking. So, having fulfilled the purpose for which I stood up I leave, as I said in the beginning, the main burden of the reply on the particular application of the general principles to my Honourable Colleague, the Commerce Member.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, it is no pleasure to me to have to stand up and support an important Resolution like the one which has been moved by my Honourable friend, Mr. Chetty. It is most annoying and it brings home to us the utterly hopeless condition in which we are in our own country. In any other country, Sir, where the existence of the Government depended upon the will of the people, a Resolution like this would be considered superfluous. The Government themselves would take steps to encourage the indigenous industries of the country and place as many orders as possible in the hands of their own countrymen. The officials themselves would feel that it is to their own interests and to the interests of the Government that they should see that the country is self-dependent, self-reliant and self-contained. The officials would feel that they ought to make some arrangement to be ready for emergencies, for times of war when they may not be able to import things from other countries. Moreover, Sir, the position of a Government which did not do these things, would become untenable. The populace and the vote of the country will condemn that Government and they will be compelled to see to the interests of the country and of the indigenous industries. I have not had the honour of listening to my Honourable friend, Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi, unfortunately I was not present in the House then.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : He spoke against India.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : That he always does. I am not at all surprised at the charge which has been laid against my Honourable friend, but what surprised me most was the proposition that he laid before this House, namely, that it would be uneconomical and improper for us to go in for an industry like this.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi : It is not for us to undertake this industry, but it is for the State Railways.

[4TH SEP. 1935.]

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : What ! State Railways ? They all belong to us and we are the masters of those State Railways. (A Voice : "In theory only.") Those are our railways. It is unfortunate that we are slaves and have not got the power. This may also be due, to some extent, to the fact that some friends of ours, who come here as representatives of the people, do not really look after the interests of the people. However, the proposition that my Honourable friend laid before the House was that it would not be conducive to the welfare of this country that we should go in for the production of these locomotives. I ask him whether locomotives are not a key industry and whether it is our duty or not to be self-contained and to be self-reliant ? How long are we going to depend on other countries for our own key industries and for our necessities which we need in our every day life ? I am sorry, Sir, that I am sitting at a place which has this disadvantage that I cannot hear anything which is talked about in this House. I am very sorry I have not been able to follow the Honourable the Finance Member but I have been able to catch one or two words here and there. One of the things that he said was that protection meant high cost of production. I would like to ask the Honourable the Finance Member whether this is the policy of the Imperial Government so far as the Government of Great Britain is concerned. I would like to know from the Honourable the Finance Member, Sir, if that is the policy of the Imperial Government these days. What is France doing ? What is England doing ? They are anxious to be self-contained so far as their own Empire is concerned. They know that high tariff walls are being erected all round, they know that they themselves are doing the same thing and they are keen that they should not have to depend upon the outside world for their needs. We know how and why the Ottawa Agreement was arrived at ; we know its history. Why, then, it is not proper for us to manufacture our own locomotives ? This is a question that ought to be answered by the Members sitting on the Treasury Benches. The Honourable the Finance Member made some statements. I could not follow them. All that I could follow was that he was putting two or three questions to the Mover of this Resolution and asking him whether he had faith in the bona fides of the Government. My only answer to those questions is that one who excuses himself accuses himself. If that reply satisfies my Honourable friend, he is at liberty to have it. I want to know from him also, Sir, whether there is any nation on earth which has been generous where other nations were concerned ? Whatever a nation does, it does in its own interests. It is guided by its own interests. May I know from the Honourable the Finance Member if it is in the interests of England that this country should be self-contained and self-reliant and that we should have all the key industries in our own hands, that we should be able to produce all the things that we need and that we should not import anything from Great Britain and other foreign countries ? I am sorry he is not here to reply to all these questions.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Who is not here ?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Oh, he is there. Sir, not only can we not hear properly from here but we cannot even see properly from this place. Anyway, I feel that it is high time that we should develop our own indigenous industries and that we should go in for the manufacture of locomotives. With these few remarks I support the Resolution moved by my Honourable friend, Mr. Vencatachalam Chetty.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Sir, before 1 3 P.M. reply to the particular criticisms of the lack of enthusiasm with which Government have been sought to be charged in this matter, I shall attempt briefly to give a history of the matter on behalf of the Department and try to show to what extent the matter has been pursued already. It was the intention of the Department to place the material, a part of which I shall attempt to place before the House now, before the Standing Finance Committee for Railways, in order to enable them to arrive at some sort of conclusion from that material. I am glad, however, that the present opportunity has been availed of by certain Honourable Members to have the matter discussed on the floor of the House which would dispense with the necessity of now taking this matter to the Standing Finance Committee. Another preliminary observation which I might be permitted to make is with regard to the scope of the motion before the House. No doubt the motion is fairly widely worded and at one stage the Honourable the Mover was under the necessity of explaining to the House that his motion was not limited to locomotives, but extended to locomotive requirements, and that, if there was any difficulty with regard to other means of propulsion having come into the field, for instance, electric locomotives and Diesel engines, there was no difficulty within the scope of his Resolution for Government to equip their workshops so as to be able to deal with these new requirements also : so that that is one aspect of the matter which the House will have to keep in mind when judging Government on this particular motion. As I said, I shall proceed to give a brief history of this matter so far as the Railway Department is concerned. This matter is not, as has been said, as old as the hills although it certainly has been pending for a certain number of years and took active shape in the early twenties of this century—I hope that satisfies my Honourable friends. Now, the main obstacle from the very beginning has been the uncertain and fluctuating nature of the demand for locomotives. Let me illustrate that with reference to one enterprise that was set up to deal with this demand and to supply this particular want of India. The Peninsular Locomotive Company was set up, as I have said, in the early twenties of this century at Tatanagar. From the very beginning they felt the need of State protection if they were to be able to compete with industries outside the country of a similar nature.

An Honourable Member : Long established.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : True. I am not condemning them on that ground, nor am I saying that the position adopted by them was not legitimate. The matter was gone into by the Tariff Board set up in 1924 and their conclusion was that although this was an essential industry and although under different circumstances there might be a fair chance for the industry to establish itself, conditions were such that it could not be said with certainty that with a reasonable measure of protection the industry would establish itself. I would draw the attention of Honourable Members to paragraph 18 of Chapter II of the Tariff Board's Report at the top of page 173. The Tariff Board observe :

"For the reasons which we have given we are unable to make any recommendations for the grant of protection to the locomotive building industry. We consider it desirable on national grounds that the industry should be established in India (hear, hear), and we believe that this could eventually be done, provided substantial assistance were given by Government in the earlier years. But the existence of a sufficient market for locomotives in India is an indispensable preliminary condition and at present this condition is not satisfied....."

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Sir,.....

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan :

" If protection were given now the country would carry a heavy burden during the next five years, and at the end of that period the progress made would be insufficient to justify the sacrifice."

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Sir, I rise to a point of order. Is it proper for an Honourable Member, sitting on the Government Benches, not to give way when another Honourable Member of the House gets up to ask for some information or to put some question? I wanted to get some information but the Honourable Member would not yield.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Honourable Member tried to interrupt me in the middle of my quotation.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I am loath to interrupt the Honourable Member in his speech, but I wanted some information.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member cannot ask for information at this stage, unless the Honourable Member gives way. He should be allowed to proceed with his speech.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Had the Honourable Member attempted to interrupt me in my speech, I would have gladly given way. But he attempted to interrupt me in my quotation which I was anxious to finish. In 1924, the Board took that view and with regard to some observations of the Board there was applause from the other side of the House. I join in that applause. I do not differ from the policy that the Board laid down there. But the Board went on to observe what was the essential condition for the establishment of an industry and they found that at that date that essential condition did not exist. I hope to be able to show as I proceed that it exists still less and to a far less degree today than it existed on that date.

Well, then, Sir, this particular company, the Peninsular Locomotive Company was set up in Tatanagar and they found that the cost of production was so high that they could not quote prices that could at all compete with the prices of foreign manufactured locomotives. Here, Sir, I am at liberty to repeat and endorse the stores policy of the Government of India. We all recognise that if we are to promote and encourage Indian industries we cannot, in each case, insist upon absolutely competitive prices and Indian stores are continuously being purchased in India on the principle that a reasonable amount of difference between the prices should be borne by the Government in favour of the Indian manufacturers for the purpose of encouraging Indian manufacturers. Therefore, if the difference in the prices quoted by the Peninsular Locomotive Company and the foreign companies had been at all a reasonable difference, I have not the slightest doubt that orders from the Indian railways would have been placed with the Peninsular Locomotive Company but the disparity of prices was so great and so unreasonable that the Railways found themselves unable to place their orders with the Peninsular Locomotive Company. The Company finding itself in such a position then turned its attention to the manufacture of wagons and there also they found that the demand had steadily begun to go down and that the requirements of the railways could not be maintained at the rate at which even the Railways had antici-ated their requirements would continue to arise and, therefore, the Company failed even to carry on as a company for the manufacture of wagons. Being placed in that position the Government came to the rescue of the Company and, in 1929, they purchased the workshops of the Company.

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Only to shut it down.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I wish the Honourable Member would hear me out, and then, if he thinks that I am omitting any essential point, he can supply it. In 1929, the Railway Department purchased these workshops and they proceeded to utilize them for the manufacture of underframes. In 1932, the Railway Department were compelled to shut down the workshops which they had purchased from the Peninsular Locomotive Company for want of requirements even of underframes. That is the history of the one attempt in which both private enterprise and, subsequently, Government assistance took part in order to encourage the manufacture of locomotives in this country.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

That, Sir, will illustrate the difficulties with which the industry has to contend. The next stage was that the Railway Board themselves undertook an examination of the question. They found that in order to be able to manufacture locomotives on an economic basis in this country there must be a demand for at least 200 locomotives per annum. That demand has not existed at any time but the Board did not surrender the attempt to find out whether a start could be made for the manufacture of locomotives in this country because there was not a sufficient demand to set up a fully equipped locomotive manufactory in the country. They took up the question again in 1931 and they found that the likelihood of there being the normal demand required for a locomotive factory was still less in 1931 than it was in 1925. Nevertheless, they went into the question on the basis of a demand for 50 to 60 locomotives per year. They found that in order to begin with they could possibly run a factory which could subsequently be enlarged on the basis of a demand from 50 to 60 locomotives per year, and they went into the question of estimates. The first question naturally that confronted them was whether the factory should be established in connection with one of the existing workshops or it should be a new factory altogether. They looked into the question whether they could utilise the Tatanagar factory which they had taken over from the Peninsular Locomotive Company for the purpose of the manufacture of locomotives, but they discovered that the factory was not suited for the purpose at all and that it would involve very heavy cost in order to adapt it for the manufacture of locomotives. There were no adequate lifting facilities, the columns and the crane runways were not strong enough and other structural alterations and additions to the machinery would be required; and, therefore, they were forced to consider the question of an entirely new workshop for the manufacture of locomotives. Their estimate eventually was,—without going into details,—that assuming a constant demand of from 50 to 60 locomotives per year of standard types and also assuming that steel castings would have to be purchased and that iron castings and forgings could be supplied in India, the minimum estimate would be

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Sir,.....

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan :

" If protection were given now the country would carry a heavy burden during the next five years, and at the end of that period the progress made would be insufficient to justify the sacrifice."

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Sir, I rise to a point of order. Is it proper for an Honourable Member, sitting on the Government Benches, not to give way when another Honourable Member of the House gets up to ask for some information or to put some question? I wanted to get some information but the Honourable Member would not yield.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Honourable Member tried to interrupt me in the middle of my quotation.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I am loath to interrupt the Honourable Member in his speech, but I wanted some information.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member cannot ask for information at this stage, unless the Honourable Member gives way. He should be allowed to proceed with his speech.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Had the Honourable Member attempted to interrupt me in my speech, I would have gladly given way. But he attempted to interrupt me in my quotation which I was anxious to finish. In 1924, the Board took that view and with regard to some observations of the Board there was applause from the other side of the House. I join in that applause. I do not differ from the policy that the Board laid down there. But the Board went on to observe what was the essential condition for the establishment of an industry and they found that at that date that essential condition did not exist. I hope to be able to show as I proceed that it exists still less and to a far less degree today than it existed on that date.

Well, then, Sir, this particular company, the Peninsular Locomotive Company was set up in Tatanagar and they found that the cost of production was so high that they could not quote prices that could at all compete with the prices of foreign manufactured locomotives. Here, Sir, I am at liberty to repeat and endorse the stores policy of the Government of India. We all recognise that if we are to promote and encourage Indian industries we cannot, in each case, insist upon absolutely competitive prices and Indian stores are continuously being purchased in India on the principle that a reasonable amount of difference between the prices should be borne by the Government in favour of the Indian manufacturers for the purpose of encouraging Indian manufacturers. Therefore, if the difference in the prices quoted by the Peninsular Locomotive Company and the foreign companies had been at all a reasonable difference, I have not the slightest doubt that orders from the Indian railways would have been placed with the Peninsular Locomotive Company but the disparity of prices was so great and so unreasonable that the Railways found themselves unable to place their orders with the Peninsular Locomotive Company. The Company finding itself in such a position then turned its attention to the manufacture of wagons and there also they found that the demand had steadily begun to go down and that the requirements of the railways could not be maintained at the rate at which even the Railways had anticipated their requirements would continue to arise and, therefore, the Company failed even to carry on as a company for the manufacture of wagons. Being placed in that position the Government came to the rescue of the Company and, in 1929, they purchased the workshops of the Company.

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Only to shut it down.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I wish the Honourable Member would hear me out, and then, if he thinks that I am omitting any essential point, he can supply it. In 1929, the Railway Department purchased these workshops and they proceeded to utilize them for the manufacture of underframes. In 1932, the Railway Department were compelled to shut down the workshops which they had purchased from the Peninsular Locomotive Company for want of requirements even of underframes. That is the history of the one attempt in which both private enterprise and, subsequently, Government assistance took part in order to encourage the manufacture of locomotives in this country.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

That, Sir, will illustrate the difficulties with which the industry has to contend. The next stage was that the Railway Board themselves undertook an examination of the question. They found that in order to be able to manufacture locomotives on an economic basis in this country there must be a demand for at least 200 locomotives per annum. That demand has not existed at any time but the Board did not surrender the attempt to find out whether a start could be made for the manufacture of locomotives in this country because there was not a sufficient demand to set up a fully equipped locomotive manufactory in the country. They took up the question again in 1931 and they found that the likelihood of there being the normal demand required for a locomotive factory was still less in 1931 than it was in 1925. Nevertheless, they went into the question on the basis of a demand for 50 to 60 locomotives per year. They found that in order to begin with they could possibly run a factory which could subsequently be enlarged on the basis of a demand from 50 to 60 locomotives per year, and they went into the question of estimates. The first question naturally that confronted them was whether the factory should be established in connection with one of the existing workshops or it should be a new factory altogether. They looked into the question whether they could utilise the Tatanagar factory which they had taken over from the Peninsular Locomotive Company for the purpose of the manufacture of locomotives, but they discovered that the factory was not suited for the purpose at all and that it would involve very heavy cost in order to adapt it for the manufacture of locomotives. There were no adequate lifting facilities, the columns and the crane runways were not strong enough and other structural alterations and additions to the machinery would be required; and, therefore, they were forced to consider the question of an entirely new workshop for the manufacture of locomotives. Their estimate eventually was,—without going into details,—that assuming a constant demand of from 50 to 60 locomotives per year of standard types and also assuming that steel castings would have to be purchased and that iron castings and forgings could be supplied in India, the minimum estimate would be from 70 to 80 lakhs to start with. In the meantime, another factor that had developed was that the price of locomotives manufactured in Britain and in foreign countries had been going down rapidly and that made the proposal still more uneconomical than it had been previously. Having arrived at that stage and having found that it would not be economic to set up a factory to manufacture locomotives, mainly on the ground that a continuous and steady demand could not be guaranteed and also that apart from the capital cost the working costs would be too high, they, even at this stage, did not altogether abandon the attempt to make a beginning of what might eventually develop into a locomotive industry in India. They then turned their attention to the question whether it was not possible to start with a boiler factory in which locomotive boilers could be manufactured, in the hope that if that factory could be established upon an economic basis it might eventually develop into a factory for the manufacture of locomotives. With regard to this matter again they went into detailed figures and estimates and eventually they arrived at the conclusion that the cost of a boiler which could be purchased in a foreign country for Rs. 20,500 would in India at the very minimum be Rs. 23,800; that is to say, nearly 16 per cent. higher than the price of a foreign boiler.

[Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan.]

Pandit Nilakantha Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : What is the reason for that ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I will give the reason. And even there it could not be guaranteed that the demand would be steady. The question is asked, what is the reason ? Some of the reasons are these. The House has already been told by the Honourable the Mover of this Resolution that the Board that was set up in 1924 estimated that even for the manufacture of locomotives 50 per cent. of the material must be imported. I will add for the information of the House that in the case of boilers 95 per cent. of the material must be imported. That is one reason for the higher cost that would result from manufacturing in India than elsewhere. Another reason is this that no doubt it has been said that labour could be obtained from various railway workshops but to begin with, in the earlier years certainly till the industry became well established, the overhead charges would be very high. We would have to import,—I am not putting that forward as an objection but merely as an explanation of the high cost to begin with,—we would have to import a considerable number of highly skilled mechanics and engineers at covenanted rates for a certain number of years in order to set up a boiler factory; and all these considerations would certainly add to the cost. But that alone really would not have altogether defeated the project. We come back to the main question as to the requirements that are likely to arise both with regard to locomotives as well as with regard to boilers, let us say, during the next 10 or 15 years; and here the difficulty is this. Reference has already been made, during the course of the debate, to the existing facilities at Ajmere, that at Ajmere a certain number of metre-gauge locomotives are being manufactured at the present moment, or rather perhaps I should use the expression "are being assembled" because the Ajmere workshops are mainly repair workshops and all that really happens is that the greater part of these locomotive parts have to be imported in a finished or semi-finished condition and the assembling takes place in the Ajmere workshops. It has been said that in 1934 the position of the Financial Commissioner was that the Ajmere workshops were not doing too badly. They were just able to do this assembling at a cost which was not un-economic. Since then, I am perfectly certain Honourable Members will be sorry to hear, conditions have still further worsened, and owing to various factors the Agent of the B. B. and C. I. Railway is anxiously considering the question whether as a part of the system of his railway it is a commercial proposition to continue to run these Ajmere workshops and so far as they are concerned with the assembling of locomotives; and one of the matters which causes him reluctance is,—and it is a matter which requires anxious thought,—that it would throw out of work over a thousand Indian workmen which would be both uneconomic at the moment having regard to possible claims for compensation and so on, and also would cause considerable economic distress in Ajmere where a very large section of the population depend upon their obtaining work in the railway workshops.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : And no skilled labour has developed in the meantime so that we may utilise them ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : This labour which would be thrown out of work would be skilled labour.

Pandit Nilakantha Das : Then why did the Honourable Member say we would have to import foreign skilled labour ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I did not say skilled labour. I referred to mechanics and engineers, not so much mechanics as engineers.

Now, Sir, as I said, the difficulty was with regard to the demand and the continuity of the demand. Here certain factors have already been alluded to, and those factors, if I might sum up are these. In the first place, a great deal has been done with regard to the efficiency and the quickness of repairs effected in railway workshops, which means that out of the locomotives that are available, a much larger number can now be put on the running lines than it was possible when repairs took a much longer time and were not quite so efficient. The second factor is that having regard to greater technical knowledge, a great deal more work is being taken out of each locomotive than before. That again reduces the number of locomotives that are required. Thirdly, as Honourable Members are aware,—as a matter of fact, one Honourable Member made a complaint that it is not being pushed forward rapidly,—there has been on certain systems a certain amount of electrification since the question of setting up a manufactory of locomotives was taken into consideration. That has made available for use on ordinary lines a certain number of locomotives that were then being used on lines which have since been electrified. So that the present position is that the Railways have at the present moment between 400 and 500 surplus locomotives; in addition, experiments are being tried on certain sections of the North Western Railway with Diesel engines, and those experiments lead one to think that it would be very economical under certain conditions to introduce Diesel engines in place of the ordinary steam engines....

[4TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. S. Satyamurti : And you can go on importing them ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That brings me to the consideration which was put forward by the Honourable the Mover. He said :

“ My Resolution does not confine you to set up a factory for the manufacture of ordinary steam locomotives, my motion is that Government should consider the whole question and set up a works which will be able to manufacture all types of locomotives that might be required, Diesel engines, electric engines or ordinary steam locomotives..... ”

Pandit Nilakantha Das : What about technical skill ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : By this time the House will realise .....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They can do nothing.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : With regard to electrification, progress is being made in certain directions. It is possible, it is even probable, that it will be pushed forward, especially as the hydro-electric resources of the country continue to be developed .....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali (Delhi : General) : Electrification of what ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Electrification of railway lines.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : By importing railway engines ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Even with regard to Diesel engines, we are in an experimental stage. And what is the charge that the Honourable Member brings against the Government ? The charge is, why are you not in a position today to estimate exactly to what extent you will require electric locomotives, to what extent you will require Diesel engines, and to what extent you will require steam locomotives, so that, on the basis of that, you can set up a sort of combined works for the manufacture of all these different kinds of locomotives. I would, with due respect to the Honourable the Mover, submit that it is impossible, with the material that is at our disposal, with any reasonable certainty, to make any estimate of the different types of locomotives that would be required during the next ten years.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Therefore, do nothing.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : But one thing is certain, and that is that the requirements with regard to steam locomotives will be considerably less than what even the Railway Board had been led to imagine a few years ago. My learned friend interjected by saying, because you cannot estimate these requirements therefore do nothing. I hope I have given sufficient material to the House, even though I have given it in outline, to show that the question is being constantly studied .....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : God help us !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : And as soon as Government are in a position to be able to make a fairly definite estimate, .....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Wait till the Greek kalends !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan :.....they will be able to arrive at some definite conclusion with regard to this matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You will never make up your mind.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There is one aspect of the matter to which my Honourable Colleague, the Finance Member, has already made reference, and to which I must also draw particular attention .....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Of course !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : And it is this. This Resolution requires Government to equip their railway workshops with necessary additional plant and machinery to ensure manufacture of all locomotive requirements. Now, Sir, the Railways, subject to the principle to which I have already given expression with regard to the purchase of stores, are not in charge, as a department, of the economics of the country. What I mean is, Railways are being run on commercial principles, and surely it is not right for Honourable Members to expect that if the Railway Department as a department on such material as is available to them have come to the conclusion that it would not be an economic proposition to set up these works which, as I have said, on a very modest scale, and even then depending upon foreign material, must cost at least, to begin with, 80 lakhs, they should undertake this project ; unless the Railways are certain that there would be an adequate and commensurate return, within a certain number of years upon their capital outlay, it is no use starting a works of this nature. As I have said, the Railways are not charged as a department with providing work for the unemployed, nor are they charged as a department for carrying out experiments in which without regard to cost, as has been urged by some Honourable Members, Government should try to help either the unemployed of this country or the industries of this country .....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Whose business is it ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is the business of the Government, and wherever that is possible, Government is doing it. As I have said, subject to this principle that ultimately the project should be a commercial project yielding a certain percentage of revenue, the Railways would be willing .....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They are not paying now, they are insolvents, why not wind up your department ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Another subject to which I must draw the attention of Honourable Members is this, that in a short time,—I cannot define it more precisely,—but I think during the course of the next two or three years the Railways will be placed under the management of a Federal Railway Authority .....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That will be the funeral of the Railways.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : And it is the concern of the Government to hand over the railway system of India to the Federal Railway Authority in a condition not too much hampered or burdened by experiments of the kind that have been suggested on the floor of the House this afternoon .....

Dr. Bhagavan Das (Cities of the United Provinces : Non-Muhamadan Urban) : On a point of information, Sir. The Honourable Member will please pardon my ignorance. I understood him to say that, in order to make the existing workshops useful, 80 lakhs more would have to be spent. I would like to know if the eight crores, that have already been spent, are serving any useful purpose now. How is that plant being utilised ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I did not say that. I am sorry I have been misunderstood. I did not say that, in order to convert the Tatanagar Workshops, 80 lakhs of rupees would be required. I thought I had made it clear, that the Board had come to the conclusion that it would be very expensive and entirely uneconomic to convert the Tatanagar Workshops, but that a new workshop for the purpose of manufacturing locomotives would cost 80 lakhs. That is my reply to the first part of the question put by my friend. With regard to the second part, the eight crores spent on the present workshops is serving the purpose for which it has been spent. The workshops were set up for certain definite purposes, and those purposes are being fulfilled. The object of this Resolution is that steps should be taken to equip the State Railway Workshops with necessary additional plant and machinery, and I have given estimates which the Board have been able to prepare for that definite purpose.

I shall not attempt to answer at this stage the charges that have been levelled freely during the course of this debate at the motives of Government as well as individual Members thereof. I was extremely sorry to hear that the view of the opposite side is that Members of Government on this side, whether Indian or English, were dishonest tools of Whitehall. Sir, having come to the conclusion on such material as has been available, that the setting up of any such works would be not only uneconomical, but, in the present condition of demand for locomotives, would probably lead to the works having to be abandoned altogether within a certain number of years, I would certainly be dishonest in the discharge of my duty if merely for the sake of propitiating certain views I gave my support to any proposal which was likely to place the Railways in an unenviable position. That is my position with regard to this Resolution. (Applause.)

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You oppose it ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I am not much surprised at the turn that the debate has taken excepting for the very unfortunate heat that has been imported into this debate by the Honourable the Finance Member. The only contribution of the Honourable the Finance Member to the Indian public and the Government of India seems to be to butt in any motion, whether it concerns his department or not, and have a fling at his pet aversion, the Indian industries. I dare say that in the speeches which he has delivered in public and in the Assembly there has not been a single occasion on which he did not throw a fling or two at the Indian industries and the necessity for the encouragement of those industries. But I have no quarrel with the view that he has taken. We all know where he stands and we are determined to fight his view. But apart from that, he has charged me with having made mis-statements.

From the manner in which he has charged me, but for parliamentary etiquette, he would have merely stated that I was lying. I desire to return that compliment to the Honourable the Finance Member by reading from the corrected version of the proceedings of the Legislative Assembly of the year 1927. Mr. K. C. Neogy, speaking on the general discussion of the Railway Budget, made these following statements. I know the Honourable the Finance Member is in a hurry to say that Mr. Neogy is not the Hansard of Parliament. I shall come to that later. This is what Mr. Neogy said. ....

Mr. B. Das : Mr. Neogy is an authority on railways.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty :

“.....when Sir Charles Innes took charge of this portfolio, and the first attempt which he made to put the Railways on a proper basis was to get this House—rather the predecessor of this House—to agree to a programme of rehabilitation to the extent of 150 crores of rupees. That was in 1922. That was followed by a legislative measure (with which the Honourable the Finance Member is personally familiar) in the House of Commons, the East India Loans Bill, and we find that, while this Bill was under discussion, also on previous occasions, the Members of the House of Commons brought a good deal of pressure to bear on the Government, and asked them to see their way to expedite the railway programme in India. They said, ‘Here is the report of the Acworth Committee recommending expansion of the Railways : what are you doing ? There is unemployment in this land (referring to England).’ Members of Parliament pressed the Government of India to give effect to the policy of expansion of the Railways as recommended by the Acworth Committee. One Honourable Member of the House of Commons put it like this. ‘Employment might then be found for the people there (that is to say India) and that employment might again percolate in this country through the supply to India of engines and other things they are in need of.’”

Mr. Neogy then went on :

“Sir, it is impossible for any one to go through the proceedings of the House of Commons in those days and not to be struck by the insistence with which this question was brought up time after time. One Member, whose ire was roused by the fact (I dare say must have been the counterpart of the Honourable the Finance Member) that some small contract had been placed in Germany, raised a hue and cry, and suggested that the East India Loans Act itself should be amended in order to make this impossible in future. Sir, in April, 1922, we find no less a person than the Under Secretary of State for India making this statement :

‘To those of my Honourable Friends—’,

The statement which I am reading is the statement of the Under Secretary of State for India which I have read out in the speech in which I moved this Resolution, and which was considered to be a mis-statement of fact....

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : May I rise to a personal explanation.....

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I shall not yield. He has refused when I wanted to rise.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : But on a personal explanation I did give way.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Very well.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I never accused the Honourable Member of any mis-statement of the quotation. What I did accuse him of—and I would do the same in the case of Mr. Neogy—was the drawing of wrong inferences from the question about facts which I was in a position to know and they were not.

[Sir James Grigg.]

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I did anticipate that the Honourable Member would not consider Mr. Neogy accurate enough, and, therefore, I am going to quote Sir Charles Innes's admission that Mr. Neogy was right in saying that. Then it is needless for me to read the statement of the Under Secretary of State for India. With regard to the point that Mr. Neogy may be inaccurate, I may read to you this which by implication admits that Mr. Neogy's statement is correct. These are the words of Sir Charles Innes :

"And let me tell Mr. Neogy, since he has been reading the House of Commons debates to the House, that I myself was taxed at the Imperial Economic Conference."

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is not inconsistent with what I said.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Then there is no difference of opinion happily. (Laughter.)

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : If the Honourable Member wants me to repeat what I said, it was that the whole discussion in the English House of Commons and at the Imperial Economic Conference—I was actually present at the meeting at which Sir Charles Innes was tackled—was the question whether, if they had got orders to place in Europe they should place them in England in preference to the continent. That is what I said, and the insinuation of the Honourable Member was that the pressure put upon Sir Charles Innes was to place orders in England rather than in India. That is not so.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : There is no insinuation. There is an open claim made in the Parliament that the East India Loans Act must be amended in order to place orders.....

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It was not accepted.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : It might not have been accepted, but that shows the way the wind was blowing. When the Under Secretary of State said, "I am thoroughly alive to the issue and appreciate the claims made by Honourable Members on account of their constituents", does the Honourable the Finance Member mean that he is greater than the Under Secretary of State? I do not believe it. I have been charged with stirring up bad blood. If anything is far distant from my idea and object it is this. It is exactly to avoid stirring up bad blood by killing indigenous industries and encouraging foreign industries that we want this Resolution to be carried. It is the consistent, insistent and persistent speech of the Honourable the Finance Member, always discouraging the encouragement of Indian industries and also interfering in the portfolios of other Government Members and pre-judging the case, that is stirring up bad blood unnecessarily.

Coming to the Honourable the Commerce Member, I have not much quarrel with him. He is a new gentleman.....

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have always been a gentleman.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I never meant it. I only meant that he is a new Member of this House.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Not that either. I have been a Member before.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : As a new Member of Government.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am not even a new Member of Government. I was a Member three years ago.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : I am very inaccurate in these small and minor matters. However, it does not matter. But I do not quarrel with him so far as he has represented the Government case. But the whole trouble is this. In 1921 the Government made a promise that they would equip their railway workshops.....

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No. That was never said. All that was said was that tenders for the purchase of locomotives would be placed in India. They did not say that they would equip their workshops.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : For what purpose?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : They thought that the Peninsular Locomotive Company was going to manufacture locomotives in India.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Therefore, they intended at one time to encourage the manufacture of locomotives in this country. So their policy must have been to go along with that policy until they found that it was thoroughly uneconomical by actually putting into practice the policy which they have professed, but they do nothing of the sort. In 1921 they issued a communiqué. At every budget discussion the matter is being raised by one Honourable Member or other on this side of the House and every time the Railway Board used to promise that the matter is being looked into. Is that an honest way of dealing with things. If they were really convinced that it was thoroughly uneconomical and that it was not in the interests either of the Railways or of Indian labour and Indian prosperity, it was quite open to them to say so and make it clear that it is impossible to carry out the policy which they at one time thought feasible. They did not do so from 1921 to 1934. They kept quiet. In 1934 again a hue and cry is raised against the policy of the Government and the Commerce Member said on that occasion that he was examining the subject and that his conclusion would be published within a few months. By that time I dare say the Honourable the Commerce Member knew the reply that he would have had to give on account of other considerations, namely, to stop the policy of manufacture of locomotives and engines but he did not say so. Even in the Railway Finance Standing Committee we were told that the matter is being examined and it is now stated that it is practically impossible to do so. Well, Sir, we are not willing to take that statement merely because the Government has said so. Let us have the opportunities of examining the data upon which they have come to this conclusion.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : You are welcome to do so.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Give us this opportunity and if you had given us this opportunity before this motion was tabled and convinced us that the case of the Government was sound, we would not have tabled this motion. But you keep everything in the dark. At least you are afraid to publish these things, lest they should be critically examined and the case of the Government exposed. Now, Sir, I do not want to weary either the Honourable the Commerce Member or this House by quoting examples of countries, having a smaller demand for locomotives, having their own workshops. The Honourable the Commerce Member himself must be apprised of that information as to how other countries are getting their supplies fulfilled. Is it suggested that India alone should be the country which should depend upon foreign supplies, when every other country, whatever its requirements, can have its own workshops. If so, it is only a credulous public that can accept this statement, without critically examining the basis upon which it is made. The Honourable the Finance Member, I am afraid, has attempted to kill two birds with one stone. He not only prejudiced the case for the railway workshops being equipped for the construction of locomotive engines but also referred to Indian industries generally. He has laid down a policy today, that he is not going to accept any proposition for taking up and encouraging any industry which will not produce articles at a price which can compete with imported articles. I suppose that was what he said. That is the proposition which he should bring forward when a suitable opportunity arises and then it will be time enough for us to discuss that in detail. It will be unjust on the part of the Honourable the Finance Member to give expression to such *ipse dixit*s, knowing as he does the views of this Assembly and I hope that this Assembly will take an early opportunity to contradict the *ipse dixit*s of the Honourable the Finance Member.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That this Assembly recommends to the Governor General in Council that immediate steps be taken to equip State Railway Workshops with necessary additional plant and machinery to ensure manufacture of all locomotive requirements within the Railway Workshops.”

The Assembly divided :

AYES—65.

Aaron, Mr. Samuel.
Abdul Matin Chaudhury, Mr.
Abdullah, Mr. H. M.
Asaf Ali, Mr. M.
Ayyangar, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam.
Azhar Ali, Mr. Muhammad.
Bajoria, Babu Baijnath.
Banerjee, Dr. P. N.
Baqui, Mr. M. A.
Bardaloi, Sriji N. C.
Bhagavan Das, Dr.
Chattopadhyaya, Mr. Amarendra Nath.
Chettiar, Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam.
Chetty, Mr. Sami Vencatachelam.
Chunder, Mr. N. C.
Das, Mr. B.
Das, Pandit Nilakantha.
Datta, Mr. Akhil Chandra.

Desai, Mr. Bhulabhai J.
Deshmukh, Dr. G. V.
Essak Sait, Mr. H. A. Sathar H.
Fazl-i-Haq Piracha, Khan Sahib Shaikh.
Gadgil, Mr. N. V.
Gaubha, Mr. K. L.
Ghulam Bhik Nairang, Syed.
Giri, Mr. V. V.
Govind Das, Seth.
Gupta, Mr. Ghansham Singh.
Hosmani, Mr. S. K.
Jodha, Mr. K. M.
Jogendra Singh, Sardar.
Joshi, Mr. N. M.
Khan Sahib, Dr.
Khare, Dr. N. B.
Lalehand Navalrai, Mr.
Maitra, Pandit Lakshmi Kanta.

MANUFACTURE OF LOCOMOTIVE REQUIREMENTS IN STATE RAILWAY WORKSHOPS.

377

AYES—contd.

Malaviya, Pandit Krishna Kant.
Mangal Singh, Sardar.
Mudaliar, Mr. C. N. Muthuranga.
Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Qazi.
Muhammad Nauman, Mr.
Murtuza Sahib Bahadur, Maulvi Syed.
Nageswara Rao, Mr. K.
Pant, Pandit Govind Ballabh.
Parma Nand, Bhai.
Raghubir Narayan Singh, Choudhri.
Rajan, Dr. T. S. S.
Raju, Mr. P. S. Kumaraswami.
Ranga, Prof. N. G.
Saksena, Mr. Mohan Lal.
Sant Singh, Sardar.

Satyamurti, Mr. S.
Sham Lal, Mr.
Shaukat Ali, Maulana.
Sheodass Daga, Seth.
Siddique Ali Khan, Khan Sahib Nawab.
Singh, Mr. Ram Narayan.
Sinha, Mr. Anugrah Narayan.
Sinha, Mr. Satya Narayan.
Sinha, Mr. Shri Krishna.
Som, Mr. Suryya Kumar.
Sri Prakasa, Mr.
Umar Aly Shah, Mr.
Varma, Mr. B. B.
Vissanji, Mr. Mathuradas.

NOES—45.

Abdul Aziz, Khan Bahadur Mian.
Acheson, Mr. J. G.
Ahmad Nawaz Khan, Major Nawab.
Ayyar, Diwan Bahadur R. V. Krishna.
Ayyar, Rao Bahadur A. A. Venkatarama.
Bajpai, Sir Girja Shankar.
Bhat, Mr. Madhusudan Damodar.
Blackwell, Mr. J. H.
Bower, Mr. E. H. M.
Chapman-Mortimer, Mr. T.
Chatarji, Mr. J. M.
Clow, Mr. A. G.
Craik, The Honourable Sir Henry.
Dahal, Dr. R. D.
Desai, Mr. S. P.
DeSouza, Dr. F. X.
Gajapatiraj, Maharaj Kumar Vijaya Ananda.
Ghuznavi, Sir Abdul Halim.
Graham, Sir Lancelot.
Griffiths, Mr. P. J.
Grigg, The Honourable Sir James.
Hands, Mr. A. S.
Hockenull, Mr. F. W.
James, Mr. F. E.

Lal Chand, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri.
Leach, Mr. F. B.
Lee, Mr. D. J. N.
Lister, Mr. T.
Lloyd, Mr. A. H.
MacLachlan, Mr. D.
Milligan, Mr. J. A.
Mitchell, The Honourable Mr. D. G.
Morgan, Mr. G.
Mukherjee, Rai Bahadur Sir Satya Charan.
Owen, Mr. L.
Rajah, Rao Bahadur M. C.
Rau, Mr. P. R.
Row, Mr. K. Sanjiva.
Sarma, Mr. R. S.
Scott, Mr. J. Ramsay.
Sher Muhammad Khan, Captain Sardar.
Singh, Mr. Pradyumna Prashad.
Sircar, The Honourable Sir Nripendra.
Tottenham, Mr. G. R. F.
Zafrullah Khan, The Honourable Sir Muhammad.

The motion was adopted.

At this stage, Mr. N. M. Joshi rose to his feet to move his Resolution.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order. The Chair cannot allow any more Resolutions to be moved today, as there is no time left. Dr. Khan Sahib.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT.

BOMBING OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN THE TRANS-FRONTIER VILLAGES BY THE INDIAN ARMY (AIR FORCE).

Dr. Khan Sahib (North-West Frontier Province : General) : Sir,
4 P.M. I move :

“ That the House do now adjourn.”

Sir, I am going to speak on this motion and to lay before the House all the facts which are in my possession. It is for the House to condemn or justify the action of this so-called civilized Government. As for myself, I am convinced that the whole system is immoral. It is based on discrimination and exploitation which leads to indignation and ultimately brings about its own destruction. I am sure that the treatment which this Government are meting out to the Frontier tribesmen today is enough to bring about its end in the very near future. To say that I can lay before the House the exact number of women and children killed, buffaloes, cows and goats destroyed, houses of the poor Pathans (and by house you should understand the mud hut in which they live) destroyed, will be not true and I will be deviating from the correct line and will be adopting the methods of a false propagandist which is not my creed. Sir, on the 19th of August, above the Gandab valley, aeroplanes began bombing the houses of the trans-Frontier tribesmen. As for giving them notice, the first notice which I saw personally in the Peshawar press was published on the 22nd of August. You hear again and again Government declaring in their communiqués that they warn the people to get out of their houses, but I can assure you that the first warning they get is the first bomb which is dropped on them by the aeroplanes. What I say is an absolute fact. As soon as this warning is dropped on them which may cost them some lives, some of them do clear out of their houses, but others stay, and this will be appreciated by those who know the Pathan mentality, they hate to leave their houses, because all that they possess is round about them in their houses, and they would rather like to be buried in them than leave them. So they remain in their houses, and this barbarous action of the Government does not frighten them. They prefer death in their own houses like brave people, and let me ask you where can they go? Everyone has not got even a mud hut there. Anyhow, they have got to face the destruction and why should they not face it in their own houses. In this connection, let me tell you that when the German aeroplanes were flying over London and though they had given the assurance that they will never bomb the civil population, an awful panic was caused among the people there, and as they rushed out for safety, I remember that on one occasion at the Liverpool underground tube station nine people were crushed to death. So, you could imagine the feeling of the people here when bombs are dropped when the mere appearance of aeroplanes over London creates such panic though their anti-aircraft guns were firing for their defence. Also there were some aeroplanes in London which went up to fight for their defence. But what is the case here? They have no anti-aircraft guns and you can drop bombs on them without any fear and without taking much risk. Besides, the aeroplanes fly so high that they cannot be hit and are out of the range of the ordinary rifle. I will tell you how indiscriminately they drop bombs. They dropped one bomb on a Qafra beyond Matta, which is not very far from this scene of action and had damaged many people. In one case they dropped a bomb on one of their own informers who was killed and you will never know anything about that man because his life was only worth eight annas. The only thing that some people might know will be that his dependants will be condemned both by the Government and the people of that part. Then, there is another thing I would like to tell you. On the 26th of August, Luckily the bomb dropped into a muddy ground and did not do any damage. So, you can see how this bombing is going on. All these aeroplanes pass over my village when they go for bombing purposes and I know how many of them go at night and how many during the day. Now, Sir, I want to bring to the notice of the House the real facts why these conditions are created. I will just read out to the House a communiqué of the Government and then I will explain it because it is very deceptive. The communiqué reads thus :

[Dr. Khan Sahib.]

"About 21st July a lashkar of Upper Mohmands under Ghulam Nabi, son of the late Chaknaur Mullah, crossed the border into Gandab and attacked the Halimzai Mohmands. The latter assisted by detachments from the Musa Khel and Tarakzais succeeded after heavy fighting in driving the hostile lashkar across the border inflicting casualties which are reported to have numbered about 20. Gandab is now clear of hostile lashkars and the situation is at present quiet. It is unlikely however that Ghulam Nabi will accept this defeat and further attacks on the Halimzais are feared. It has therefore been decided to send a column into the Gandab valley to assist the Halimzais and in connection with this move to construct a track fit to carry M. T. from administered territory into Gandab. There is no intention of keeping troops permanently in the Gandab valley and they will be withdrawn as soon as conditions return to normal. It is hoped that its presence will have the effect of deterring the upper Mohmands from further incursions into Gandab and will also have a steadying effect on the tribesmen in Bajaur where Government have demanded the surrender of three agitators who have recently been attempting to disturb the peace of the country."

Now, Sir, all these tribes are not in the British territory. When they have trouble amongst themselves, what right the Government have to interfere with them. There is a man who was unknown. He is a Halimzai. The Government took him into their hands and gave him money. They made him a big Malik and provided him with service rifles and encouraged him to fight the tribesmen. I hope the Foreign Secretary who comes from Peshawar knows the man. Although in all probability he will not like to mention his name, I think he will realise in his own heart that what I am saying is true. Sir, this road was made. What for? Did these people go and attack British territory? That, you are not told. Why all this false propaganda of the tribes disturbing the British area? They never do so. In every case of disturbance, it is the Government that take the first step. The Government destroy their homes, they interfere with their internal affairs. Sir, suppose a man goes into your house and takes away some things from your house. If you have got any power to kick him out, do you think you will keep quiet? That is the whole question. The point is that Government are always making incursions into their territory without any provocation on the part of the tribes. The Government provoke these tribesmen and then they create trouble. There is another point which I have already referred to and which you should remember, that is, that the interpreters between these tribesmen and the British Government are corrupt. (Hear, hear.) It is these interpreters that create the trouble for economic purposes. They want to make money by creating this mischief. I may tell you, Sir, that every Political Officer knows this, but he has not the courage to confess this. (Shame, shame.) I suppose his political position does not allow him to tell the truth. Sir, I know personally some of these Assistant Political Officers who make money on these occasions. I may tell you that some of the British officers are afraid of these Political Agents.

Now, Sir, coming to the road that was made, may I ask, Sir, what was the idea in making a road? The people on the Frontier are left to wonder what is the idea of the British in making these roads. The people on the Frontier think that the British are going to extend this road to Nawagai and from there straight off to Khar, Munda and Barwa connecting it with Chakdara, Chitral road. It is for that purpose that the Government are creating this situation. If so, why not be straightforward and say so, why make the poor people fight for nothing. Why not have an honest person as an Agent, and why not have an honest understanding?

[Dr. Khan Sahib.]

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : I rise to a point of order. The adjournment motion refers to a specific matter, that is to discuss the matter of the bombing of women and children on the Frontier. But the Honourable Member now seeks to discuss the whole policy of Government in the Frontier.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair understands the Honourable Member does not want to go into the general Frontier policy and that he was saying that this bombing has taken place in pursuance of a certain plan of the Government.

Dr. Khan Sahib : I am going into the whole affair with a view to giving the House the correct information as to how this bombing is brought about. (Hear, hear.) I want to tell the House as to what is at the bottom of this whole affair, as to what is the real cause of all this trouble. I submit, Sir, that unless you know the real cause, you cannot pass judgment on the effect. Unless the real cause is known, the House cannot decide whether the action of the Government is right or wrong.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member has only one minute more left. The time limit is fixed at 15 minutes.

Dr. Khan Sahib : I have got much to say, and I hope you will give me a few minutes more.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member must finish within his time limit.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Then, Sir, I move that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

“ That the House do now adjourn.”

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham (Army Secretary) : Sir, in dealing with this motion on behalf of the military authorities, I may say at once that, if the Royal Air Force were bombing innocent women and children on the Frontier, both they, that is the Royal Air Force, and I would agree with the Honourable Member who seeks to condemn that action. But, Sir, the Royal Air Force do not bomb women and children on the Frontier. Incidentally I may point out—and the Honourable Member should have known it himself—that they are not at present engaged in bombing trans-frontier tribes. Their action is being taken against certain definite hostile sections of the tribes in that area which lies between the administered border of the North-West Frontier Province and the Durand line, which is the Frontier of India, and not beyond the Frontier of India. Now, Sir, it is not for me, even if I had the time, to describe the situation that has led up to the present operations or to defend the policy of Government in ordering these operations. That is an aspect of the case which can be dealt with more fitly and far better by my Honourable friend, the Foreign Secretary, who I hope will speak later. I am only concerned with the action taken by the defence forces, that is to say, in this particular case by the Royal Air Force, in implementing the policy of the Government of India ; and I must confine myself strictly to that topic. Now, Sir, it is sufficient in order to explain that action to say that certain definite and repeated acts of aggression have wantonly been perpetrated against the Gandab road, in the lower Mohmand area, in defiance of the agreement which was made with the tribes when that road was built just two years ago ; and Government have decided that military operations are necessary in order to disperse those lashkars, to protect the road and to restore law and order. I must ask the House to take it from me that no Government could tolerate the existence of such a state of affairs without taking some action of some kind. Well, Sir, that decision having been taken, the question was what action should be taken. We now have at our disposal both the Army and the Royal Air Force. There are Honourable Members opposite who have urged us from time to time to increase the strength of our Air Force.

An Honourable Member : But not to murder people.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : They would, therefore, probably agree that we are fully justified in using that Air Force, provided that we do so in the proper manner. Now, Sir, the great advantage that the tribesmen have always possessed in the past in the mountainous and remote regions that they inhabit is the advantage of inaccessibility ; and the great advantage that the air arm has given to us is that it enables us to annihilate distance and so to bring it home to the tribes that their inaccessibility is, or is becoming, a thing of the past. In suitable circumstances and with proper precautions and safeguards, the Air Force can be of inestimable value. It can save time, it can save money and it can be more humane in that it causes a smaller number of casualties both amongst our own troops and amongst the enemy. Let us now, therefore, consider the conditions in which the Air Force is always used and in which it is being used on the present occasion. I have explained these general principles before, in a debate which took place exactly two years ago today, about the bombing of a village known as Kotkai, but I think the explanation can stand repetition. Well, Sir, in the first place the Air Force can be, and is often, used for the dispersal of hostile bodies in the field. The nature of the country, it is true, makes it comparatively easy for these hostile bodies to take cover, but still effective action can be, and often is, taken against them from the air ; and, as far as I know, no objection has ever been raised to such action. In the second place, air action can be taken to carry the war into the enemy's country and to bomb the areas from which these lashkars have come. But, Sir, if ever, in the process of these operations, a village has to be bombed, it is an invariable practice to give at least 24 hours' notice. These notices are dropped in the village itself from the aeroplane and no bombing takes place until at least 24 hours after the notice has been dropped. There is thus ample time to remove women and children and valuable property from the village, and in practice, we know that the village is generally completely evacuated before the bombing takes place. In the third place, Sir, when it is a question of bombing areas rather than of bombing hostile bodies actually in the field, there is no such thing as indiscriminate bombing to which the Honourable Member opposite referred.

Dr. Bhagavan Das (Cities of the United Provinces : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Sir, on a point of information, may I ask why, after a village has thus been completely evacuated, it should be necessary to drop bombs on it ?

Mr. G. E. F. Tottenham : If the Honourable Member will kindly let me proceed with my speech, I will endeavour to explain that. I was saying that when it is a question of dropping bombs on an area rather than of bombing of hostile bodies in the field there is no such thing as indiscriminate bombing. Every aeroplane that goes up for the purpose of bombing an area is provided with a map on which the precise target to be aimed at is marked clearly and a photograph is taken of every bomb that is dropped for that purpose in order to see whether that target was hit or not. And that, Sir, provides a very effective check against indiscriminate bombing. Lastly,—and I will now meet the Honourable Member's point,—it is by no means always necessary or desirable to bomb or destroy houses even in a village that has been completely evacuated. A bomb or two may be dropped in the vicinity of the village merely to warn inhabitants that it is still unsafe for them to return to their habitations and so in course of time, sometimes quickly and sometimes not so quickly, the discomfort caused and economic pressure does eventually induce surrender without any serious loss of life. Now, Sir, if that form of warfare can be effective,—I do not claim that it can be always effective in all circumstances or that it is always suitable,—but if in certain circumstances that form of warfare can be effective, then I do maintain that no one can criticise it on the ground of its being inhumane. Any form of warfare which secures the object in view with less loss of life and less expenditure of money must have a great deal to commend it ; and I, Sir, for one cannot comprehend the mentality of those who profess to be horrified at the idea of killing a few of the enemy but seem to pay no attention to loss of life amongst our own Indian and British soldiers, and who see nothing monstrous in the idea of discharging a shell or a bomb from the muzzle of a gun or a howitzer up into the air and thence eventually into a village but who hold up their hands in horror when practically the same bomb is carried by an aeroplane and dropped on precisely the same target.

Now, Sir, to turn to the present operations. In the present operations the Royal Air Force are co-operating with the Army ; they are not carrying out operations on their own. The Army has advanced up the Gandab road and in co-operation with the Royal Air Force they have repelled attacks from these lashkars in the field and have inflicted a certain number of casualties. In the meanwhile, other aeroplanes have proceeded further afield and by the sort of action that I have just described they have been carrying out a blockade of the areas on which the lashkars are based. A few villages have actually been bombed, but in this case more than the usual notice has been given. The bombing notice was actually issued on August 17 and bombing operations did not commence until August 19. Moreover, in some of these villages which have been bombed particular targets have been selected,—the houses of well-known leaders of these hostile bodies. It is possible, I do not deny it, that a few casualties may have been caused in this process, but we have no official information that there have been such casualties, much less that there have been casualties amongst women and children ; and I notice that the Honourable Member who moved this motion had no definite information on that subject himself. But the point I want to make clear is that, in carrying out blockading operations of this kind, it certainly is not the intention to cause loss of human life. To my mind, as I said before, the great value of the Royal Air Force on the North-West Frontier is that it is gradually depriving the tribesmen of the advantages of inaccessibility. As the realisation of that loss is borne in upon them, so we may hope that the corresponding advantages of accessibility will be realised and that they will begin to wish to exchange a life of adventure and disregard for order for a more orderly existence ; that they will begin to ask for proper communications and to follow peaceful pursuits. If the aeroplane could be regarded as the forerunner of the homely motor-bus,—and I am sure that all Honourable Members here will agree with me that there can be nothing more civilising or more civilised than that respectable vehicle,—then I am sure that Honourable Members opposite would not be so ready to criticise action by the Air Force on the Frontier, but instead would learn to welcome it.

Mr. K. L. Gauba (East Central Punjab : Muhammadan) : Sir, I think we can congratulate Dr. Khan Sahib on having found an adjournment motion which can be discussed on the floor of the House. (Laughter.) We can equally congratulate the Army Secretary on having boldly come and faced the House instead of seeking the shelter of a Viceregal veto.

The point in justification of the bombing of villages that the Honourable Member, who has just spoken, made was that adequate notice is given to these villages before bombing is resorted to. Now, Sir, I would ask him this thing. If instead of 24 hours' notice, a week's notice were given to London to evacuate before it was bombed, would the bombing of London be justified ? After all, is it only a question of notice ? If an act is improper and unjustified, according to the canons of international law or the so-called civilised law of my Honourable friend opposite, no amount of notice can make an improper act proper. (Cheers.) Sir, we had a great deal of criticism of the Germans during the war. They were described as barbarians, as Huns, as baby-killers, etc., because they dropped bombs on London. I ask, Sir, are these brave persons, who go up in a few bombs on London. I ask, Sir, are these brave persons, who sit in Simla and the Royal Air Force machines, these brave persons, who sit in Simla and authorise these acts, are they in a different category from those persons who dropped and authorised bombs on London and Belgium ? I ask, what is the difference between the two ? Is it the difference of the people and the country on which these bombs were dropped rather than the nature of the persons who dropped those bombs ? Not many weeks ago, I was in London walking in Hyde Park on a Sunday afternoon. There was a tub thumper of the British Empire Society who was haranguing an audience on the question of friendship with Germany. He was criticising the Prince of Wales for saying that we should forget the deeds of the War and make friends with the Germans. He said : " How can we make friends with these people ? How can we shake hands with these people, who dropped bombs on innocent women and children, who behaved in a barbarous manner during the War ; how can we shake hands with them ? " There was an Englishman present, not an Indian, and he stood up and said : " But all this is happening in the North-West Frontier of India ? " The policy, therefore, Sir, that my learned friend opposite has sought to defend is not a policy that can be defended. The case he has made out in justification of bombing of these villages is a very very poor case. In these villages you had not only mud huts, but you have also places of worship.

[Mr. K. L. Gauba.]

Bombs are dropped on these places of worship, and these places of worship are destroyed. What would my learned friend say if a bomb is dropped on St. Pauls? Does it make any difference if bombs are dropped on St. Pauls, or on a mosque or on a temple? You want to have one code for your own acts and another code for the acts of others.

Sir, I will not detain the House any longer. After all, we hope to censure the Government on this question. The Government may or may not take notice of it. It may be consigned to the record of the limbo of the long list of Government defeats, but, any way the civilized world will know that, so far as India is concerned, India is no party to the barbarism of bombing innocent women and children. (Applause.)

Fandit Krishna Kant Malaviya (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, from what little I know of the Army Secretary and from what I have heard from my Honourable Colleagues here, I think and I believe, Sir, that he is the most reasonable amongst the officials who adorn the Treasury Benches opposite.

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta).]

But I was surprised to hear from him this evening that he thought that the use of bombs was justified if that was used for the purpose of civilizing a tribe that inhabits the North-West Frontier of India. I know, Sir, that during the War, as has been just said by my Honourable Colleague, Mr. Gauba, when bombs were dropped on London, a hue and cry was raised, and soon after the War was over, this question was raised before the League of Nations whether the dropping of bombs on civil population would be justified even in wars. So far as I remember, Sir, the League of Nations decided that the dropping of bombs on civil population was a most unjust and improper thing to do. I also remember, Sir, that His Majesty's Government then and there pleaded for an exception in their favour by saying that they would be justified in the use of bombs so far as the North-West Frontier of India was concerned. What was bad for the White races thus became justified and good for us coloured people. I knew, Sir, then, that the emergency would be created and that His Majesty's Government as well as the Indian Government would always be ready with their bombs so far as the North-West Frontier was concerned. Neither the Army Secretary nor the Honourable the Mover of this motion have taken us into their confidence and told the House what was the underlying motive, what was the cause of this civilizing mission. But this much I can tell the House and the Honourable the Army Secretary, that in the year 1933, I had information from responsible friends that there was going to be a miniature war on the North-West Frontier of India. I am not prepared to name the persons, because it will be a breach of confidence, where friends meet they discuss so many things, but I am prepared to place before the Army Secretary, to prove the truth of my assertion, an article which I wrote for my paper the Abhyudaya in 1933, in which I said that there was going to be a miniature war in 1934 and 1935. I did not mention the North-West Frontier for I would have been hauled up in the name of Official Secrets Act. I could not then mention all the facts relevant to the raid that is being conducted, but the printed article is there, and a reference can be made to it, and it will be seen that it referred to nothing else but what is going on today and what has been happening during the past months on the North-West Frontier. I can very well understand the Honourable the Army Secretary pleading and defending the use of bombs and proving it to be as economical as compared to that of the rifle. In this connection I might say that there is a book published in London by, I think, the Daily Telegraph Press, and the title of the book is "Tax Collection by Bombs". It is mentioned there that in Mesopotamia when these friends of ours, who are bent on civilizing the backward races of the world, wanted to realise their dues, they used to drop a notice near the defaulter's hut, giving 12 or 24 hours' notice, and as soon as that hour arrived, the aeroplane would be seen hovering in the sky and it dropped bombs on the huts of the defaulters. It did not care whether the inmates of the house were old people, whether they were women or children, whether they were confined to bed or what their condition was. My friends, here, can well realise that when these friends of ours can drop bombs for the realization of a few rupees, they would easily do much more when there is a question of making roads acquiring territory, and expansion of boundary. I am very sorry, Sir, that the Army Secretary, for whom I have a great regard, should, of all the official Members here, have taken upon himself the responsibility of laying down this principle that the dropping of bombs was the only economical and effective measure by which he could civilize the backward tribes of the North-West Frontier. I can only say that we Indians, who have a civilization of our own, can never, never fall in with his views. With these few words, Sir, I support the adjournment motion moved by my Honourable friend, Dr. Khan Sahib.

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan (Nominated Non-Official) : I have great regard and respect for my Honourable friend, Dr. Khan Sahib, who comes from the same province as myself and for his sentiment and sympathy for the people of the North-West Frontier Province for which I have the same too. But I am sorry to say that I cannot understand the object of the adjournment motion. If it is for the sake of saving women and children from being bombed, he has not given us any figures, he has not said a word as to how many women or children were killed during the recent bombing. So far as my personal knowledge goes, there has been no such death.

An Honourable Member : How do you know ?

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : If there had been any private information or official communiqué or newspaper reports, I would have understood his point to be right. But I have not heard anything to show that women or children were killed. Secondly, he has not criticised the bombing system, which was discussed a few years ago in this House and it was properly replied to. If the new Members of the House want to acquaint themselves with it, they can see the debates of this House (Simla Session, 1933) and satisfy for themselves....

Dr. Khan Sahib : On a point of personal explanation, Sir. I have said distinctly that women and children were killed, buffaloes, cows and goats were killed, houses were destroyed, but I could not give the exact number.

An Honourable Member : The Army Secretary has admitted the fact.

[4TH SEP. 1935.]

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : Let me take it for the sake of argument. But Dr. Khan Sahib has no personal knowledge ; he was simply informed by some irresponsible people, he himself was not there. We know that even in newspapers sometimes all sorts of lies for propaganda are published.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : On a point of order, Sir. The Honourable Member has no right to say that newspapers tell all kinds of lies.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : I am sure, the Honourable Member will not repeat it.

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : If the Honourable Member wishes to be satisfied by Kissa Khani Gazette, he must see the Khyber Mail. It is an English paper and not Urdu, and he can read it. Sir, so far as I know there have been no casualties amongst women and children, at all. (Interruption.) Has any Member got any extraordinary means of information ?

An Honourable Member : Were you in one of those aeroplanes ?

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : My Honourable friend, Mr. Gauba, has stated that 24 hours' notice or 48 hours' notice is not sufficient, and he has compared those small villages with London, the biggest city in the world.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : On a point of personal explanation. I said time and notice are immaterial.

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : The frontier villages are very small, and generally for the whole day the people are out, and they come back only in the evenings. 24 or 48 hours' notice is quite sufficient to warn people to save themselves, their wives and children and their property. There is one important thing to be remembered. The North-West Frontier Government does not want to bombard the villages. It is only when crimes are committed by the tribesmen that Government are compelled to take strong measures against them. There are two ways of punishing the tribesmen for their crimes, and that is, to send forces either by land or by air.

An Honourable Member : Or by sea.

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : There is no sea fortunately. It is for Madras and Calcutta, and for that purpose the Indian Navy is being trained. I ask this House that if the Frontier Government are compelled to take strong measures against the tribes then what course should they adopt ? There are two courses open, either by bombing or by sending forces by land.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why not make peace with them ? What is the difficulty ?

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : We do always try to make peace.....

Mr. S. Satyamurti : " We " ? Who are you ? Are you the Government ?

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : When nothing else avails, the last resort is to punish them. Then, as I have said, there are two ways, one is bombing and the other is to send force by land. By land is more expensive and there is a greater loss of life both to the tribes and to the Indian army, therefore, bombing is more humane, economical, quick and effective one.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : In what way are the 24 hours' notices sent ?

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : Papers are thrown by aeroplanes and there is no other notice because people know it very well. I would ask the Chair to kindly ask the Opposition not to interrupt me too much unnecessarily.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : The best thing is to sit down.

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : I would ask Honourable Members not to hear one side only. They must also hear the other side from me. To punish the tribes by sending forces by land would be very costly and also would involve a greater loss of life both to the tribes and to our Indian Army, which is undesirable from economic and humane point of view. If the Honourable Members would only go there and see for themselves, they will come to the conclusion that bombing is more humane, because there is no loss of life and it is also very cheap. It is of very great advantage to India that we should save our lives and save our money.

An Honourable Member : Our honour does not count ?

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : If we send aeroplanes, we shall spend only one thousand rupees, whereas if we send land forces, we shall have to spend one lakh of rupees—mark the difference please. If Honourable Members like Mr. Desai will go to see the Frontier with other Congressite Members, they will request the Government to send only aeroplanes and not land forces.

Maulana Shaukat Ali (Cities of the United Provinces : Muhammadan Urban) : I want myself to go tomorrow.

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : In response to the request made by Maulana Shaukat Ali, I would ask him that he should also accompany Mr. Bhulabhai Desai and go to the Frontier, that there should not be two opinions which is customary with us, Indians, unfortunately.

An Honourable Member : Is it an offer on behalf of Government ?

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : I say that we should all go together.

Some Honourable Members : The Honourable Member's time is up.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : There is one minute more.

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : I must be given the advantage of too much and unnecessary interruptions that have been made. Sir, then there is another mistake which my friend, Dr. Khan Sahib, has made.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member's time is up. As it is an adjournment motion, the Chair cannot give him more time.

Several Honourable Members : I move that the question be now put.

Mr. J. G. Acheson (Foreign Secretary) : Before the debate is ended, I should like to say a few words. First of all, I would like to say that I was very much interested indeed, for the first time, to have the pleasure of listening to the speech of the Honourable Member from the North-West Frontier Province. I must confess, however, that I was a little surprised by the general tenor of his remarks. He rather reminded me of a famous character in one of Charles Dickens' stories, a gentleman, I believe, of the name of Mr. Dick, who whatever subject of conversation was introduced could not avoid introducing into it the mention of the head of King Charles. The head of King Charles appears to the Honourable Member from the North-West Frontier Province to be some mythical creature in the shape of a Political Officer or political subordinate and it is a matter of great regret, from the point of view of accuracy of presentment of facts that the Honourable Member cannot keep this particular King Charles' head out of his discourse. I was also very interested to hear Mr. Krishna Kant Malaviya's display of his powers of prophecy or of his powers of extracting information from secret sources, information which was not known even to myself and I claim to have considerable knowledge of these matters. I should be very much interested to know in confidence what were exactly the sources of his information.

Seriously, I think it is necessary that the House should turn from the presentation of facts made by the Honourable Member from the North-West Frontier Province and listen for a little to the actual political history of the present disturbances, which have given rise to this debate—in other words the recent history of the relations of Government with the Mohmands. I would ask Honourable Members kindly to listen to these facts with a dispassionate mind and to banish all prejudice from their minds and I am sure they will agree with me in the conclusions which I reach. The Mohmands—I apologise for a little history—are one of the chief tribes in the North-West Frontier Province. They are divided roughly into the Upper Mohmands and the Lower Mohmands. The Indo-Afghan frontier through the Mohmand territory has never been demarcated, with the result that there has been a great deal of confusion regarding which of the Upper Mohmands belong to India and which to the neighbouring country. The Government of India have been engaged in warfare with these Mohmands more than with any other tribe on the Frontier, and that is saying a great deal. It was found necessary, owing to aggression by this tribe, to send expeditions into their country in 1898 and again in 1908. There were further troubles with the Mohmands in the succeeding years, and they again came to notice prominently at the beginning of the Great War, when they were the first tribe to take advantage of the hostilities in Europe to embarrass Government. This they did by invading the Peshawar district and embarking on wanton acts of aggression against the people of British India. That is a point of view which I would like Members to appreciate, as also the people of the Peshawar district, including the Honourable Member for the North-West Frontier Province. Again there were invasions in 1915 and 1917; these were carried out under the aegis of a very well-known personage known as the Haji of Turangzai. I would remind the House that these operations were carried out not in the hills—there was no question of Government forces advancing wantonly into the hills to lift the tribal “purdah”—but in the plains of Peshawar which were invaded by these people. After these operations, the Lower Mohmands entered into closer relations with Government and entered into engagements which they have on the whole carried out with conspicuous loyalty. In the Upper Mohmand country, however, the nucleus of hostile activity remained and not only was this the centre of the hostile activities which were directed against Government and against the law abiding people of the Peshawar District but it also became the centre also of a number of desperate and dangerous outlaws wanted on charges of murder, chiefly in the Peshawar district. The more dangerous the murder, often of women and sometimes even of children, the more welcome the perpetrator appeared to be and the more friendly the asylum did he seem to receive. It would have been perhaps not quite so serious a matter if these desperate characters had remained inactive in their trans-border asylum, as does happen in other parts of the trans-border country; but they did not do so. From their centre in the Upper Mohmand country, they proceeded to make a series of raids and incursions, open or secret, chiefly into the Peshawar district, for the purpose of engaging in robberies, assassinations and abductions. These inroads continued and were a constant source of friction between the Government and the Upper Mohmands. Armed raids again took place in 1927, 1930, 1932 and 1933 and again in 1935. In 1933, in order to protect the lower Mohmands and the law-abiding people of the Peshawar district from being invaded by the tribesmen from the Upper Mohmand country, Government had to come to the assistance of the Lower Mohmands with armed force. Otherwise the lower tribes complained that they would be unable any longer to maintain their footing and would have no option but to accept the dictation of the upper tribes. The troops advanced, and a route was made at the request of the Lower Mohmands and very largely with their own labour, with their own hands,—so anxious were they to get some security from these perpetual inroads.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Guntur cum Nellore : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Was it not forced labour ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Not at all, it was very willing indeed, as I can testify myself. The road was made and an agreement was entered into with the Upper Mohmands, very willingly on their side, after a certain amount of hostilities, that, provided the road was not carried over into their own country, they would on their side refrain from attacks against the Lower Mohmands, British India, and the new road. This state of affairs lasted until this year of 1935. This year a number of particularly atrocious murders were committed in the Peshawar district by outlaws operating from their base in the Upper Mohmand country. Government could no longer disregard this state of affairs which were becoming extremely serious, and it was found necessary to call on the Safi tribe—the tribe of the Haji of Turangzai—who were giving harbour to these outlaws and—also a very unusual thing—giving them an honoured position in their tribe, whereas the ordinary outlaw living in the tribal country has to eke out a very miserable existence there; Government, I say, had to call on the Safi tribe to discharge its responsibilities by either turning out these outlaws or at least restraining them from their criminal activities in the district. No notice was taken, and a certain number of the Safi tribe were ultimately arrested and held as hostages by Government. The reply to this action was a descent by Badshahgul, the eldest son of the Haji of Turangzai, on the Gandab road with a lashkar consisting of contingents of Upper Mohmand tribesmen, together with some malcontents from the Lower Mohmands. The road was broken up and attacks were made on posts actually within the Peshawar district. The Ghalanai agreement, whereby the Upper Mohmands had undertaken to respect the road and to refrain from aggression on their neighbours and the District, was thereby flagrantly and wantonly broken. To repel this aggression, Government have had to move troops into the Gandab valley, and they are now engaged in operations in order to prevent a recurrence of this aggression. Honourable Members will see from this account, which I have made as brief as I can, that the whole history of this tribe has been one of wanton and repeated aggression, (Voices of "Oh! Oh!"), and from all this and particularly from these recent events it is quite evident—and I think the entire House will agree with me—that it was incumbent on Government to take action to remove the immediate threat to the traffic on the road, including the traffic of Upper Mohmand tribes who are the chief users of the road, and the menace to the Peshawar district. Government had to take this action, and if they had not taken this action, they would have been failing in their duty. Now it is a question whether minimum action to remove the immediate menace is sufficient or whether it is not necessary to take such action as will prevent any future recurrence of these repeated inroads—so expensive to life and property. I think in a question the other day by the Honourable Member from Madras he referred to the "cat and mouse policy" of the Government. If by that he meant that Government, instead of making what is known as "burn and scuttle" expeditions, should grasp the nettle firmly, then there is a good deal to be said for that point of view.

[Mr. J. G. Acheson.]

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Make an honest peace with them !

Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan : If they do not make peace with us, what shall we do ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The question is whether Government are really to surrender to these constant acts of aggression committed in recent years under the leadership of well-known murderers and outlaws. I have here a few details. I should like to read out an account of the activities of some of the people at present living under the Haji's patronage in this nest of outlaws in the Safi country. These are just a few at random :

" On the 27th May, 1934, Bahadur Sher of Tarnab in Peshawar District crept up behind one Aziz-ur-Rahman, with whom Bahadur Sher was at enmity, while Aziz-ur-Rahman was ploughing with another man called Nauroz. The murderers shot at both men and succeeded in killing Nauroz. The murder was particularly cold-blooded as the culprits had no enmity whatever with Nauroz, but only shot him as he happened to be a servant of Aziz-ur-Rahman. Bahadur Sher then absconded and took refuge with the Haji at Lakarai. Subsequently in September, 1934, he came down again to the Peshawar District and waylaid a Sikh marriage procession. A lorry driver was wounded and one of the male passengers was shot dead. The womenfolk were treated mercilessly, one girl having her wrists dislocated by the outlaws while they were wrenching off her bangles."

I do not wish to take up too much of the time of the House, and I will give only two more of the instances I have marked here. One of the outlaws.....

Mr. M. Asaf Ali (Delhi : General) : May I know what exactly does the Honourable the Foreign Secretary mean by "outlaw" ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : An outlaw is a man who has committed an offence in British India and who refuses to surrender himself to justice.

Mr. M. Asaf Ali : He is not a British subject ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Yes, he is a British subject.

Then, Sher Afzal (the accomplice of Nauroz already mentioned), after absconding joined the gang of the notorious miscreant Chimnai who was being harboured by the Haji of Turangzai. On 16th November, 1934, he accompanied the gang when they ambushed a police patrol killing one constable and wounding three others. Some weeks later the gang including Sher Afzal wreaked its vengeance on the whole family of a Lambardar who had helped the police, by murdering a man, a woman and a child aged 12 years, and wounding three other children, one a baby of two years. The gang then returned to the asylum afforded by the Haji.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do you swear by it all ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have got full particulars of all these cases here. The most notorious is that of Mahmud, who last year at Mardan took a little boy into an out-house to cut his throat and then murdered two defenceless ladies while they were tending the sick. I have always heard that Dr. Khan Sahib is a man well-known and respected for his charity and humanity in the N.-W. F. Province. I believe he keeps a dispensary in which he attends to the sick free of charge. (Loud Applause.) But, Sir, from the facts which I have just recited to the House, I fear that politics have brought the worthy Doctor into rather bad company.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Bad company !

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member has one minute more.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Well, I would just say this, that it is quite clear that action has to be taken ; and I think everyone will agree that the action to be taken should be action which is the most economical of the lives of our own British and Indian soldiers and also of the tribes—people themselves ; and I think my friend, the Army Secretary, has in his speech amply established that this action involves, as an essential ingredient, the use of air power under proper regulation and control. (Loud Applause.)

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai (Bombay Northern Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I regret very much that in the enthusiasm of defending his position and in his very first maiden speech, if I am not mistaken, the Honourable the Foreign Secretary should have classed us by one comprehensive name of what he called "bad company". I am extremely glad, however, that the bad company.....

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

Mr. J. G. Acheson : On a point of personal explanation, Sir, I was not referring to the Honourable Member's Party.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : Sir, I would not have intervened in this debate but for the fact that from our point of view this particular matter involves a question of principle, on which, though we may not have the power and the authority to enforce our views and our decisions, God willing, some day we shall do so.

The question that is involved in this is this—the propriety of the use of bombs and instruments of that character during semi-warlike or warlike operations on civil population. It is a question on which I have no doubt—and I have studied it to a certain extent—opinions have differed at many conferences including the Disarmament Conference where, if I am not mistaken, Sir John Simon was not prepared to assent to that broad proposition. It is perfectly clear and there is no doubt in the matter that there are people who stand for that view and it is, therefore, up to us who stand for that view to assert it to the extent to which we can, whether we can actually stop it or not. The issue before the House is not whether this particular expedition should have been undertaken or not. It is an entirely wrong view of the present motion before the House. In fact, on the one hand, both my honourable friends opposite and the Chair are very keen on confining us to the one particular matter—I am repeating the words of my honourable friend opposite—but when it suits them they lay themselves out as broadly as they like. Who ever wanted a discussion on this present occasion whether or not this particular expedition was justified and yet I venture within the limited time that I have got at my disposal to say that the policy on the Frontier, considering the very history that the Foreign Secretary has chosen to give to this House, is one of which we have always and constantly complained. On his own showing here is a tribe against which, from the year 1908 to the year 1935, there may have been some grounds for an expedition but more often it is just an excuse, I believe, for the maintenance of the army at the North-West Frontier as being a danger and menace to India without which the present expenditure of 58 crores cannot be justified. Once you have got an army there is always an inclination—almost a justification for its use, and I will presently point that out when I deal with the speech, the almost adroit speech, of my honourable friend Mr. Tottenham on which I congratulate him. I almost wish he had been a lawyer and not a soldier. For, indeed, the very fact that they have got this army is said to be an excuse for the purpose of what? Each time, he said, when we are within our borders, we must take under our wing a little beyond our border. If we have taken them within our wing, we must fly a little beyond that border and keep on doing that all the time. In fact, it is this talk of warfare piling up the armaments at the expense of the poor people of this country. I would not have referred to this but for the justification that was attempted by the Honourable the Foreign Secretary by giving the history this evening.

I now come to the real issue. The only issue that is raised on this motion is whether or not, according to the opinion of this House, bombing of civil population during an expedition is justified, and I believe Dr. Khan Sahib himself has said that we may not have the actual control of the direct action of the policy of the Government, because, on their own confession, they have demonstrated themselves to be first irresponsible and, secondly, demonstrated themselves on their own confession to be the agents of a foreign autocrat. That is the position they have taken up. It is a position of which I make a present to them. But the fact remains that so far as the moral responsibility of any of their acts is concerned, this House will always rise to the occasion and assert its opinion even though it may not actually be listened to. I know they have got used to these defeats. I do not know the meaning of that word. I wonder if it is this that the Government in India is going to be conducted according to their opinions and contrary to the feelings and opinions of those who are solemnly invited here as the representatives of the people and who had to undergo the immense expense of elections under the pretence of a representative Government. I hope and trust that what has become with them a habit shall be an exception in the future. I hope and trust that this Government if it is ever going to justify itself will justify itself only in exceptional matters in differing from the majority of the House. If they will not do that, then what will happen is a matter the consequences of which will be entirely on their own heads. I hope they will not be able to say that they want more and more laws—the subject of a future discussion—in order to put down the awakening of national consciousness and in order that we may not be able to assert our rights against those who choose to govern this country in this irresponsible manner.

The issue therefore is a grave one. We stand here for this principle that whatever may be the peril,—we shall always stand for a civilised principle, and, indeed, we are more civilized though we may be less scientific and less mechanised. I do claim that we are certainly more civilised. We shall certainly stand for civilized methods even if we have to enter upon a war. Therefore, we stand for the principle that even during warfare, so far as the civil population is concerned, it shall be safe from the ravages of the instruments like bombs that were attempted to be used. Now, what was the reply of the Honourable Mr. Tottenham. He said that the Honourable Members on this side wanted more aeroplanes and therefore he drew the most extraordinary conclusion that those aeroplanes must be used. I think that is the principle of the Government of India. They always say "Remember, we can always disregard it though we are not bound to do so". Therefore, the argument is this: because there are aeroplanes, therefore they must be used. If that is the argument, I hope and trust that that conclusion will not commend itself to such common sense as we possess. Therefore, the fact that we desire more air-arm for our future protection against great eventualities will not, I hope and trust, be twisted into a desire or a requirement or a request that it shall be used against women and children on the trans-Frontier tribes. In fact, he did not deny bombing of civil population. The only ground on which he justified this action was notice. Well, I am one of those who believe that this is not a matter of notice at all. If it is a matter of notice, then it becomes a very different proposition. Then you wipe out the principle altogether. Then you admit the justification of that particular use of that arm in those particular conditions and then you leave them at the mercy of those who think what is good notice, what is notice and what is adequate notice. I am familiar with such excuses. Sir, it is practically admitted that bombing was done. All that is said is that notice was given on the 17th and the bombing took place on the 19th and that is all that is said in justification of it. Indeed, if you take out the beginning and the end of all the speeches that have been made on behalf of the Government, all that is said is this : Does this House stand for this that a notice having been given on the 17th, bombing on the civil population on the 19th is justified or not.

[Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai.]

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

There is no other issue before the House so far as I can see. That is the only justification that was sought to be given. I further say that the economy of it is no excuse. I am not one of those who believe that economy justifies means fair or foul. In fact, where is the question of economy when we are concerned. There is no economy when this country's administration or expense is concerned. There is no question of economy, but some excuse must always be trotted out and economy is now trotted out as an excuse for an act which otherwise would be held to be wrong. If the act is wrong, it is wrong and no question of economy will justify it. I, therefore, say that we are amongst those who stand for this principle that the civil population shall not be treated in the manner in which it has been done.

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I began my speech by saying that if it were a fact that the civil population were being bombed, I should unhesitatingly have condemned it. But my whole speech was intended to show that the civil population were not being bombed, and, as far as I know, there is no evidence before the House that they are.

Mr. Bhulabhai J. Desai : Well, there is no evidence before the House that the civil population was not bombed, and if the civil population was not bombed, what was the point of bringing in the question of notice. It is impossible to believe that the civil population was not bombed. Why was notice necessary ? Why was notice pleaded ? To whom was the notice given ? Why was the notice given at all ? Why was it pleaded that two days notice was regarded as adequate ? I wish to say two things. I say that notwithstanding the fact that we may stand, and we are prepared to stand, any type of treatment at the neglect, at the contempt and at the rejection of every vote which we shall have the right to call for, we shall still stand and register our opinions and not only register our opinions, but make the Government of India believe that the discretionary power of flouting our opinions should not become the habit of the rulers of this land. It is against the scandalous way in which the opinions of this House have been treated during the last three months that we are here to protest ; and whether or not this expedition goes on, whether or not many more or many less women and children die by the striking of bombs, God willing, we shall not stand here in justification of such acts. We do not care whether it is economic or uneconomic to carry on a warfare in other ways. In my humble view, it is not justified ; in my humble view, it is merely baiting and keeping up the show that you are fighting in the Frontier if only to justify the maintenance of such a huge armament as a burden on this country. That is my humble view. The only issue I stand upon now is this, that neither economy nor notice shall be a justification for the barbarous behaviour displayed by the Government on the Frontier, and, by the vote we are going to register, we shall show to the Government that this shall not be done. (Applause.)

Maulvi Syed Murtuza Sahib Bahadur (South Madras : Muhammadan) : Sir, I want to congratulate both the Army Secretary and the Foreign Secretary on their having secured the services of our Honourable friend, Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan, who attempted to support the Government cause much more ably and effectively than the two Secretaries have done. So our Honourable Major deserves the thanks of the Government. Now, Sir, my Honourable friend, Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan, poses himself to be a great sympathiser of the Frontier people. Every Pathan of the North-West Frontier will exclaim : " Save us from these so-called friends and so-called sympathisers ! " Sir, on every occasion when the question relating to the North-West Frontier comes up before this House, our friend the Nawab Sahib gets up and takes delight in justifying every inhumane action on the part of the Government. The Army Secretary wanted to prove that bombing was a very effective, economic and humane action. But he failed to use superlative degree. None could have prevented him from saying that throwing bombs was the most effective and most humane action. After the able speech of the Leader of the Opposition, no speech, in my opinion, was necessary, but I participated in the debate simply to show to the House that the so-called sympathetic representative of the North-West Frontier is not at all their sympathiser, nor is he their representative and that the real sympathiser is only Dr. Khan Sahib. (Hear, hear.) Again, Sir, he said that as one of the oldest Members of this Assembly he could say and prove anything and everything which he has given expression to. But I may tell him that I am the oldest Member of the Assembly (hear, hear) and so, my Honourable friend cannot pride himself as being the oldest Member of the House which is not at all a fact. What is the meaning of his criticising the Opposition saying " you are new to the Assembly and therefore you must refer to the previous debates that took place on previous occasions on this subject " ? I submit, Sir, that every time this gentleman comes forward to justify the action of the Government however inhumane and however unsympathetic and however highly revolutionary such actions may be to the sense of humanity. But for the intervention in the debate of my Honourable friend, Major Nawab Ahmad Nawaz Khan, I would not have stood up to make these remarks. With these few observations I support the motion for adjournment so ably moved by my Honourable friend, Dr. Khan Sahib. (Applause.)

Several Honourable Members : The question may now be put.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Does the Honourable Member, Dr. Khan Sahib, wish to reply ?

Dr. Khan Sahib : Yes, Sir. Only for a few minutes. Sir, I shall begin my reply by saying just a word about the Foreign Secretary. He referred to the expedition of 1897. I think by that he meant the Malakand-Chitral expedition.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I rise to correct a point of fact, Sir. I referred to the Mohmand operation of 1898, not the Malakand-Chitral expedition.

Dr. Khan Sahib : The Honourable Member referred to events after that expedition.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : What all I said was in connection with the Mohmand operations.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Well, Sir, the Government made an agreement with the Malkand tribes. I will tell you how they make their agreements with the tribes. They made an agreement with the tribes with whom they are now at war. They said in that agreement of 1897 that Government would never interfere with their internal affairs, that the Government would never go near their land. Now, you have seen it, Sir, how they have bombed Agra....

Mr. J. G. Acheson : With which tribes are you dealing now ?

Dr. Khan Sahib : Just near the Malakand. As I already said, it is all a question of foreign policy. Now the Government have made a road and they have taken their land. By this action of Government that agreement has gone to pieces. The agreement which the Government draw up is always an agreement of the oppressor. What they say must be right. There is no argument allowed and when an agreement is made, the other party has to obey it implicitly, though the Government may disobey certain parts of the agreement. It is by force that the Government enforce these agreements and the tribesmen are always dissatisfied.

Another point, to which I wish to refer, is the question of outlaws. They have got on the Frontier, the Scouts, the Militia, the Khassadars and the Frontier Constabulary : with all of them they cannot protect us from these outlaws. I say that the fault lies with the police in many cases and they are supposed to be in league with the outlaws. It is said that the police take a share in the loot of these outlaws.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : King Charles' head again.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Another thing which he referred to was about the corruption on the Frontier. He says, there is one corrupt man on the Frontier. I will ask the Foreign Secretary to think over this matter. I do not like to say things in this House which may not be true. Let the Government appoint a committee to go into the question of corruption and put me as a member on it.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The House is not dealing with the question of corruption in the Frontier.

Dr. Khan Sahib : It was the Foreign Secretary that first referred to it. The Government had appointed a committee for investigating into the corruption, and, as soon as they read my speech in the Assembly inience yet. So, Sir, I say, if the Government are sincere, they can come to an honest agreement with the tribes. I assure the Government that everything will be alright provided they use the right means, because the tribes are an honest lot, they are the most straightforward people and they are always afraid of the Political Department, who say one thing and do another. That is the difficulty.

Now, I come to the Army Secretary. I think he said that a warning was given on the 17th. I am not aware of it. In what way did they give notice ? Did they send a motor car loaded with pamphlets ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The warnings were dropped from aeroplanes and they were also communicated verbally.

Dr. Khan Sahib : In what language was the pamphlet issued ? Who was there to read them out to the men ? They are all illiterate. Another thing is, did the Army Secretary send motor cars and aeroplanes for their luggage and babies and cattle to be removed in two days ? They have no conveyance but have to walk. They have to carry their loads on their backs.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Sir, on a point of fact, they publish a newspaper in Pushtu and English.

Dr. Khan Sahib : I am very sorry that the Foreign Secretary does not know that the Mohmands are absolutely illiterate. He may be talking of those people who come and live in this country but there I think they cannot read anything. Of course they read the Quran but they do not understand it.

As for my Honourable friend, the Nāwab Sahib, the less said the better. He is an adopted child of the Government (Laughter) and, whether right or wrong, he must stand for his nation. But, luckily for us, and unluckily for the Government, his speeches are so self-condemned,—that it requires no answer.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The question is :

“ That the House do now adjourn.”

The Assembly divided :

AYES—57.

Aaron, Mr. Samuel.
Abdul Matin Chaudhury, Mr.
Abdullah, Mr. H. M.
Asaf Ali, Mr. M.
Ayyangar, Mr. M. Ananthasayanam.
Azhar Ali, Mr. Muhammad.
Ba Si, U.
Banerjee, Dr. P. N.
Baqi, Mr. M. A.
Bardaloi, Srijut N. C.
Bhagavan Das, Dr.
Chattopadhyaya, Mr. Amarendra Nath.
Chettiar, Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam.
Chetty, Mr. Sami Vencatachalam.
Chunder, Mr. N. C.
Das, Mr. B.
Das, Mr. Basanta Kumar.
Das, Pandit Nilakantha.
Datta, Mr. Akhil Chandra.
Desai, Mr. Bhulabhai J.
Deshmukh, Dr. G. V.
Essak Sait, Mr. H. A. Sathar H.
Fazl-i-Haq Piracha, Khan Sahib Shaikh.
Gadgil, Mr. N. V.
Gauga, Mr. K. L.
Ghiasuddin, Mr. M.

Ghulam Bhik Nairang, Syed.
Giri, Mr. V. V.
Govind Das, Seth.
Gupta, Mr. Ghansham Singh.
Hosmani, Mr. S. K.
Jedhe, Mr. K. M.
Jogendra Singh, Sirdar.
Joshi, Mr. N. M.
Khan Sahib, Dr.
Khare, Dr. N. B.
Lalchand Navalrai, Mr.
Maitra, Pandit Lakshmi Kanta.
Malaviya, Pandit Krishna Kant.
Mangal Singh, Sardar.
Mudaliar, Mr. C. N. Muthuranga.
Muhammad Ahmad Kazmi, Qazi.
Muhammad Nauman, Mr.
Murtuza Sahib Bahadur, Maulvi Syed.
Nageswara Rao, Mr. K.
Pant, Pandit Govind Ballabh.
Raghubir Narayan Singh, Choudhri.
Rajan, Dr. T. S. S.
Raju, Mr. P. S. Kumaraswami.
Ranga, Prof. N. G.
Saksena, Mr. Mohan Lal.

AYES—contd.

Sant Singh, Sardar.
Satyamurti, Mr. S.
Sham Lal, Mr.
Shaukat Ali, Maulana.
Sheodass Daga, Seth.
Siddique Ali Khan, Khan Sahib Nawab.
Singh, Mr. Ram Narayan.
Sinha, Mr. Anugrah Narayan.

Sinha, Mr. Satya Narayan.
Sinha, Mr. Shri Krishna.
Som, Mr. Suryya Kumar.
Sri Prakasa, Mr.
Thein Maung, Dr.
Umar Aly Shah, Mr.
Varma, Mr. B. B.
Vissanji, Mr. Mathuradas.

NOES—44.

Abdul Aziz, Khan Bahadur Mian.
Acheson, Mr. J. G.
Ahmad Nawaz Khan, Major Nawab.
Ayyar, Diwan Bahadur R. V. Krishna.
Ayyar, Rao Bahadur A. A. Venkatarama.
Bajpai, Sir Girja Shankar.
Bhat, Mr. Madhusudan Damodar.
Blackwell, Mr. J. H.
Bower, Mr. E. H. M.
Chapman-Mortimer, Mr. T.
Chatarji, Mr. J. M.
Clow, Mr. A. G.
Craik, The Honourable Sir Henry.
Dalal, Dr. R. D.
Desai, Mr. S. P.
DeSouza, Dr. F. X.
Gajapatiraj, Maharaj Kumar Vijaya Ananda.
Ghuznavi, Sir Abdul Halim.
Graham, Sir Lancelot.
Griffiths, Mr. P. J.
Hands, Mr. A. S.
Hockenhull, Mr. F. W.
James, Mr. F. E.

Lal Chand, Captain Rao Bahadur Chaudhri.
Leach, Mr. F. B.
Lee, Mr. D. J. N.
Lister, Mr. T.
Lloyd, Mr. A. H.
MacLachlan, Mr. D.
Milligan, Mr. J. A.
Mitchell, The Honourable Mr. D. G.
Morgan, Mr. G.
Mukherjee, Rai Bahadur Sir Satya Charan.
Owen, Mr. L.
Rajah, Rao Bahadur M. C.
Rau, Mr. P. R.
Row, Mr. K. Sanjiva.
Sarma, Mr. R. S.
Scott, Mr. J. Ramsay.
Sher Muhammad Khan, Captain Sardar.
Singh, Mr. Pradyumna Prashad.
Sircar, The Honourable Sir Nripendra.
Tottenham, Mr. G. R. F.
Zafrullah Khan, The Honourable Sir Muhammad.

The motion was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Thursday, the 5th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday, 5th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

COST OF INDIA'S DELEGATION TO THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE AND THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

122. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the cost of India's delegation to the Labour Conference and to the League, separately, during each of the last five years ?

(b) Has any member of such delegation, being a Prince or a rich merchant, ever declined to receive travelling and other allowances from Government ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) A statement is laid on the table.

(b) No.

Statement showing the cost of India's delegations to the International Labour Conference and the Assembly of the League of Nations during the last five years.

| Year.           | International Labour Conference. | Assembly of the League of Nations. |
|-----------------|----------------------------------|------------------------------------|
|                 | Rs.                              | Rs.                                |
| 1930-31 .. .. . | 44,449                           | 50,552                             |
| 1931-32 .. .. . | 43,918                           | 21,428                             |
| 1932-33 .. .. . | 15,111                           | 3,710                              |
| 1933-34 .. .. . | 14,967                           | 2,320                              |
| 1934-35 .. .. . | *20,900                          | †726-15-0                          |

*Actual expenditure not available. Figure constitutes revised estimate.

†Actual expenditure not available. A sum of £2,550 has been provided in the revised estimate, and the figure shown above represents the expenditure incurred in India only.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : When do Government propose to review the working of the Tariff Board ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That does not arise out of this question.

COST INCURRED BY THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN THE TRANSPORT OF BRITISH TROOPS AND OFFICERS.

125. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the cost incurred by them in the transport of British troops and officers to and from India when they are joining service, or when they are retiring, or on leave, during each of the years 1932-33, 1933-34 and 1934-35 ?

(b) How much of this cost was paid to private shipping enterprise and to whom ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). The expenditure incurred in England on the transport of British troops and officers during each of the years 1932-33, 1933-34 and 1934-35 was as follows :

|                 | Rs.       |
|-----------------|-----------|
| 1932-33 .. .. . | 49,36,080 |
| 1933-34 .. .. . | 54,67,933 |
| 1934-35 .. .. . | 59,84,000 |

Most of this expenditure represents India's share of the troop transport service which is paid for through the War Office. No figures are available of amounts paid by the India Office to private shipping firms on account of individual passages engaged by them.

The statement which I am laying on the table in reply to part (b) of the question gives the information asked for in respect of expenditure incurred in India.

Statement showing amounts paid to various shipping enterprise on account of packet, freight and Lee concession passages.

| Shipping Company.                   | 1932-33.  | 1933-34.  | 1934-35.  |
|-------------------------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                     | Rs.       | Rs.       | Rs.       |
| 1. Peninsular Oriental S. N. Co. .. | 13,10,798 | 12,50,518 | 13,36,549 |
| 2. British India S. N. Co. .. ..    | 78,281    | 78,587    | 99,138    |
| 3. Orient S. N. Co. .. .. .         | 21,336    | 6,750     | 25,172    |
| 4. Ellerman's City & Hall Line ..   | 1,07,644  | 1,52,280  | 1,03,276  |
| 5. Anchor Line .. .. .              | 1,83,905  | 1,70,610  | 1,52,945  |

| Shipping Company.                           | 1932-33.  | 1933-34.  | 1934-35.  |
|---------------------------------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                             | Rs.       | Rs.       | Rs.       |
| 6. Bibby Line .. .. .                       | 38,858    | 28,138    | 29,870    |
| 7. Henderson Line .. .. .                   | 28,845    | 11,970    | 15,246    |
| 8. Lloyd Triestine Line .. .. .             | 1,67,973  | 1,48,144  | 1,45,504  |
| 9. Imperial Airways, Ltd. .. ..             | 16,392    | 19,120    | 51,918    |
| 10. Indian National Airways Coy. ..         | ..        | ..        | 1,680     |
| 11. Canadian Pacific Line .. .. .           | 2,920     | 2,145     | 3,900     |
| 12. N. Y. K. Line .. .. .                   | 6,217     | 3,775     | 5,527     |
| 13. Blue Funnel Line .. .. .                | 54        | 7,513     | 1,640     |
| 14. Cunard Line .. .. .                     | 374       | ..        | 2,747     |
| 15. Hansa Line .. .. .                      | ..        | ..        | 1,613     |
| 16. Indian African Line .. .. .             | 560       | 1,210     | 3,549     |
| 17. Aberdeen Commonwealth Line ..           | 3,081     | ..        | ..        |
| 18. Messageries Maritimes .. ..             | 267       | 987       | ..        |
| 19. Union Castle Line .. .. .               | 1,000     | ..        | 2,812     |
| 20. Union Steamship Coy. of New Zealand. .. | 1,600     | ..        | ..        |
| 21. Indo-China S. N. Co. .. .. .            | 325       | 1,056     | ..        |
| 22. East Asiatic Line .. .. .               | ..        | ..        | 2,805     |
| 23. Dollar Line .. .. .                     | 1,063     | ..        | 4,434     |
| 24. Royal Dutch Mail (Rotterdamsche Lloyd)  | 2,389     | ..        | 4,189     |
| 25. C. S. K. Line .. .. .                   | 710       | ..        | ..        |
| Total .. .. .                               | 19,74,592 | 18,82,603 | 19,94,604 |

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it, therefore, that no Indian shipping interest had any share in this expenditure ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There is a list of about 25 different shipping companies to whom payments are made. I do not think any of them are Indian shipping companies, and that would not be so, because the traffic is between England and India.

[5TH SEP. 1935.]

EXPANSION IN THE ROYAL INDIAN MARINE AND FACILITIES FOR THE TRAINING OF INDIANS.

126. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether, and if so, what expansion in the Royal Indian Marine they are contemplating ?

(b) What facilities they propose to give for the training of Indian officers and men in connection with the defence of India at sea ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Honourable Member should know that the Royal Indian Marine has been replaced by the Royal Indian Navy.

(a) None at the moment.

(b) Facilities already exist at the Indian Naval Dockyard in Bombay for the training of ratings for the Royal Indian Navy. Its Indian officers receive their initial training in England, mainly at Royal Naval establishments or in Royal Navy vessels.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How many Indians are being trained as officers at the present moment ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I should require notice. I think five or six are under training at the present moment.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : How many of them are being trained in India and how many in England ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : All the officers are trained in England.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are there no facilities for training in India ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : There is no training of officers in India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are there any proposals for their training in India ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Is there no Indian who has finished his training ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Yes. There are a good many of them who are already serving in the Royal Indian Navy. They have all been trained.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why are there no proposals for training in India Indian officers for the defence of India at sea ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : In order to train Indian naval officers in India, it would be necessary to establish a training centre, and that would be very expensive for the extremely small naval force that we maintain. It would not be possible to train naval officers at the Indian Military Academy at Dehra Dun, and we should have to have a separate institution at Bombay or elsewhere and the expense would be out of all proportion to our requirements.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is expense any consideration of the Army Department of the Government ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Oh, yes. Constantly.

REVISION OF THE MAXIMUM AND MINIMUM CHARGES ON THE INDIAN RAILWAYS.

127. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state what steps they are taking for a revision of the maximum and minimum charges on the Indian Railways ?

(b) Have they received representations from the Railways expressing their desire to charge under the minimum, through the fear that they would otherwise lose the traffic ?

(c) In how many cases have they permitted the Railways to go under the minimum ?

(d) On what basis were these minima fixed and when ?

(e) Are Government prepared to associate non-official businessmen with the task of readjusting the minimum and maximum at present fixed and also of revising the classification under Railways generally, which has become obsolete ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) The question of revising the Indian Railways' General Classification of Goods, which determines the limits within which Railway Administrations may fix freight rates, was referred to the Indian Railway Conference Association in 1933 for recommendations as to the statistics that should be compiled before any action could be taken to consider on what lines the revision should be based. The Association appointed a Special Committee in April, 1934, to report on the statistics that would be necessary. The report of this Committee was considered by the Association at their meeting in October, 1934, when they recommended that as an alternative to the compilation of statistics proposed which would involve an initial expenditure of perhaps about Rs. 20 lakhs, the Calcutta group of Railways should examine whether the revision could not be made on other lines with less preliminary expenditure. The point was further considered by the Association at a meeting in March, 1935, and in accordance with the recommendations then made by the Association, a Committee appointed by them met representatives of commerce, industry and agriculture at Delhi on the 29th July, 1935, for an informal discussion. Meantime, the Calcutta group of Railways are pursuing their investigation and their report will be considered at the meeting of the Conference Association in October next when their conclusions and final recommendations will be submitted to the Railway Board.

(b) No.

(c) Except as regards coal, I have not been able to trace any case in which rates for public traffic below the prescribed minima have been permitted.

(d) The existing minima of 1/10th pie in some cases and 1/6th pie in others were prescribed in 1891 ; the former was for commodities of low value and was apparently fixed as it approximated to the average cost of carrying goods on State lines at the time. The latter was for higher class goods and was the average rate then earned over State lines.

(e) It has always been the intention of Government to consult trade and commercial interests before coming to any final conclusions in regard to the revision of the classification of goods.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there any principle observed by the Government in granting or refusing the grant of permission, and, if so, what is it ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The question is somewhat vague. I do not quite follow what the Honourable Member means.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the considerations which weigh with the Government in giving or refusing permission to other countries, that is, foreign countries, outside the Empire, when they want to run aeroplanes over India regularly ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : So far I am not aware that we have refused permission to any regular air service. So long as we have the ground organisation in working order, we are prepared to allow any foreign country to operate a regular air service across India in accordance with the ordinary International Regulations.

DISABILITIES OF INDIAN RESIDENTS IN SINGAPORE.

130. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether they have heard that the Indian residents in Singapore are not receiving proper treatment and full legal rights, and whether the Government of India ever represented this matter to the Colonial Office ?

(b) Have Government received any complaint of the inadequacy of advice and facilities given to Indians by the British Councils in Java ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is that a technical answer (I mean no offence), or do Government say that they have no knowledge at all of the ill-treatment of Indians in Singapore ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : It is not a technical answer. On receipt of the notice of this question, I actually made inquiries from the Agent of the Government of India in the Federated Malay States and the Straits Settlements, and he says he is not aware of any ill-treatment of Indians. If my Honourable friend will give me any specific instances, I shall be very glad to make inquiries.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it a fact that there are certain parks to which Indians cannot have admission ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : No, Sir. I have no information to that effect.

MANUFACTURE OF AEROPLANES IN INDIA.

131. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether they are aware that the progress of aviation in India is materially checked on account of the cost of imported aeroplanes ?

(b) In connection with the air defence of India has the Military Department represented to Government that it is essential that the aeroplanes should be manufactured in this country ?

(c) What steps are Government taking to promote the manufacture of aeroplanes in India ?

(d) Have Government made any enquiries whether all the materials for the making of an aeroplane are not available in the country ?

(e) In any negotiations with the manufacturers of aeroplanes, do Government propose to give equal opportunity and preference to an Indian company ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) No. It is true that the cost of aeroplanes in India is higher than in the countries of origin, but the market in India is at present so small that the cost of manufacture in India would almost certainly be prohibitive.

(b) No.

(c) The first stage in the development of a manufacturing industry is the assembly of imported manufactured components. This business is being developed both by aircraft operators in India and by agents of the manufacturing firms. With business at its present volume it would be unwise to accelerate the process artificially.

(d) The component parts of an aeroplane contain a large variety of materials which are developed to a very high standard of perfection in the course of manufacture. For reasons which I have already given, manufacture in India is not at present possible, and the only profitable line of enquiry is in connection with raw materials. An investigation into the suitability of Indian timber for use in the manufacture of aircraft is in progress.

(e) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it, therefore, that there are no negotiations contemplated with the manufacturers of aeroplanes ? I am talking of clause (e) of the question.

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : There are no negotiations at present going on for the manufacture of aeroplanes in India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (a) of the question, have Government considered the possibility of developing a market outside India ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : That would be even more unprofitable, when there is no market in India itself.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it, therefore, that we can never compete with foreign countries at some time or other ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : As soon as the demand in India grows large enough to justify the erection of a manufacturing plant for the manufacture of aeroplanes at a reasonable cost, then, after satisfying the Indian demand, we may perhaps hope that India itself will be able to get into the position of an exporting country.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will my Honourable friend, in conjunction with his colleague to his left, develop a demand for the manufacture of aeroplanes ?

AMENDMENT OF THE INDIAN COMPANIES ACT.

132. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether Mr. Sen, the Special Officer in connection with the revision of the Indian Companies Act, has submitted his report ;

- (b) when this report will be published ;
- (c) whether it is the intention of Government to appoint a committee consisting of a businessman, a chartered accountant and a senior Registrar of Companies, to consider the issues and make their recommendations, on which a Bill could be framed ;
- (d) when Government propose to introduce a Bill amending the Indian Companies Act ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a), (b) and (d). The Honourable Member is referred to the reply given to Mr. B. Das's starred question No. 1068 on the 27th March, 1935.

(c) Government have received opinions of the Registrar of Companies, of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, and also opinions of businessmen, and they are still receiving further opinions. Government has not yet decided whether the appointment of a Committee will be necessary.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, since the last answer was given, has any progress been made ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Yes, Sir ; I believe there is another question directed to that, but I have no objection to giving the information to my Honourable friend. Since the last answer was given, we have received, not only further opinions, but certain bodies representing mercantile interests have also made certain representations to us.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government aware of the imperative and urgent need for the amendment of this Act, and will they be good enough to expedite it ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I can assure my Honourable friend that I am doing my very best to expedite it, and I am losing no time over it.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know, with respect to clause (d), when the report will be published ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : I have got to refer my Honourable friend to the answer given on the previous occasion. There is no intention of doing so at present. The report is purely departmental.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I also know from the Honourable Member if Mr. Sen has given any attention to the question of Provident Funds in Karachi ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : If there is no desire to publish that confidential departmental report, I am not going to disclose part of it by answering this question.

PLIGHT OF INDIANS IN REGARD TO THE CLOVE TRADE IN ZANZIBAR.

133. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether they have seen a copy of the views of the London Chamber of Commerce, desiring that the clove trade in Zanzibar should be run as a monopoly trade by the Clove Growers Association ?

(b) Is it true that Mr. Menon's report also has expressed an apprehension on this matter ?

(c) If this is true, are Government prepared to consider the plight of the Indian merchants who have built up the clove trade in Zanzibar ?

(d) What do Government propose to do about it ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) The Honourable Member presumably refers to certain Press reports of an alleged resolution of the London Chamber of Commerce, criticising certain functions of the Clove Growers' Association. Government are informed that the reports are incorrect. The Chamber passed no resolution on the subject.

(b) Yes.

(c) and (d). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me yesterday to his question No. 118.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But, are Government doing anything to protect the rights of Indian merchants, in view of this possibility, because Mr. Menon expressed an apprehension in this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Sir, Mr. Menon's report was primarily concerned with what he apprehended would result from the operation of the Clove Growers' Decree, and, as I explained to my Honourable friend yesterday, at the stage when he wrote the report, it was merely an apprehension. Since then the matter has been the subject of correspondence between the Government of India and the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the Secretary of State for the Colonies says that the local authorities say that those apprehensions have not been realised in fact ; and Government are now aiming at ascertaining the exact facts with a view to determining what action is needed.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are they in a position to say that the Clove Growers' Association has definitely dropped this proposal ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I do not know which particular proposal my Honourable friend is referring to. The Clove Growers' Association was brought into being for the purpose of being put in a privileged position as regards the purchasing of cloves from the producer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have they dropped this proposal to run this, as a monopoly trade ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Strictly, in the legal sense of the words, there is no monopoly, so far as the export business is concerned, the Clove Growers' Association is exporting, and there are at least six other firms—I am speaking from memory—who are also exporting, private firms.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A LONDON BRANCH OF THE RESERVE BANK OF INDIA.

134. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) when they propose to establish a London Branch of the Reserve Bank of India ;

(b) on the Branch being established, whether Government propose to place the whole of their London balances with the Reserve Bank ; and

(c) what is the amount of their balances and with whom they are at present on deposit or on loan ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Government are informed by the Reserve Bank that they hope to be in a position to establish the London Branch about the beginning of October.

(b) Since the Reserve Bank assumed its full banking functions on the 1st of July, Government are placing the whole of their balances both in India and London with it and the Secretary of State's balance is being reduced to a Current Account which he maintains with the Bank of England to fulfil his statutory requirements.

(c) The amount of Government balance with the Reserve Bank can be ascertained from the statements which the latter publishes weekly. The Reserve Bank is bound to keep the Secretary of State's balance with the Bank of England at a figure sufficient to meet his requirements from time to time and has full discretion to employ the remainder as and where it pleases subject to the provisions of the Reserve Bank Act.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : As a matter of fact, where are they placing these balances—the balances remaining over after the minimum necessary to meet the Secretary of State's statutory requirements?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have not the recent returns before me, but I shall be quite glad to show them to the Honourable Member and he can see quite readily how much of the balances are kept in India and how much are kept in sterling securities.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are they being kept to the best advantage of this country?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Sir, the Indian Legislature having decided to entrust the control of that sort of thing to the Reserve Bank, I must assume that the Bank will do it better than the Government of India did it in the past.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will the management of our loan policy in London be entrusted to the Reserve Bank of India?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : So long as the present regime holds, i.e., until the new Government of India Act comes into operation, the Secretary of State remains responsible for sterling loans in London.

PURCHASE OF STORES MADE ABROAD.

135. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the result of the scrutiny by the Indian Stores Department of indents by Government Departments sent to the London Stores Department through the High Commissioner?

(b) Is it true that the purchases made abroad are on the increase in spite of this precaution and that many items are still being purchased abroad, which are either made in India, or could be produced in India?

(c) Is it true that the rupee tender system is not strictly applied to purchases for :

- (i) the Master-General of Supplies,
- ii) the Canteen Control Syndicate,

(iii) the Chief Controller of Stores of various Railways, and

(iv) the Railway Board?

(d) If this is so, what is the reason for the departure from this system recommended by the Legislature and accepted by Government?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) The information desired by the Honourable Member is contained in the Annual Administration Reports of the Indian Stores Department which are available in the Library of the House. The Report for 1934-35 will be published shortly.

(b) There was an increase in the value of the purchases during 1934-35, but there has been no departure from the Stores Purchase Rules.

(c) The Master General of the Ordnance, the Railway Board and the State-managed Railways strictly observe the rupee tender system. The Company-managed Railways are free, under the terms of their contracts with the Secretary of State, to make their own arrangements for the purchase of stores and cannot be compelled to adopt the rupee tender system, though efforts are being made to induce them to adopt it as far as possible. The system does not apply to the Canteen Contractors Syndicate, which is a private concern.

(d) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, with reference to the answer to clause (b) of the question, may I know the reason for the increased purchases abroad?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The increase was almost entirely due to special purchases of equipment made on behalf of the Royal Air Force.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (c) of the question—I did not hear my Honourable friend clearly—may I take it that of the four classes mentioned there, except two, all others observe the rupee tender system strictly?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I am sorry I did not hear the Honourable Member clearly. Will he kindly repeat the question?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (c) of the question, may I know if, of the four categories I have mentioned there, all of them observe the rupee tender system, except two?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : That is correct.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know what are the functions of this private concern, what Departments of the Government they supply, what they supply, and what the values of their supplies are?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I am afraid I must require notice of that question. I know nothing about the Canteen Contractors Syndicate.

RETURN ON THE TOTAL CAPITAL COST OF NEW DELHI.

136. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state what return on the total capital cost (including interest) of New Delhi they received during the years 1933-34 and 1934-35, stated as percentage on the total outlay ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : The information is being collected and a reply will be placed on the table of the House in due course.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government any proposal to increase this inadequate return ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : Can the Honourable Member ask a supplementary question on an answer which has not yet been given ?

Mr. B. Das : May I remind the Honourable Member for Industries that the Accountant General, in connection with the Appropriation Accounts of 1933-34 on the civil works, made out the receipts that are coming in in respect of buildings in certain areas, and that he estimated the actual returns that are coming in in respect of those buildings ? Was not the attention of the Honourable Member drawn by anybody of his Department to those remarks ?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : I suggest Honourable Members wait and see the figures given in the reply before they ask supplementaries.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government satisfied that they are getting an adequate return on the capital outlay on New Delhi ?

RETURN ON THE TOTAL CAPITAL COST OF SUKKUR BARRAGE.

137. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state what return on the total capital cost (including interest) of Sukkur Barrage they received during the years 1933-34 and 1934-35, stated as percentage on the total outlay ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The figures for 1933-34 are given in Account No. 33 of the Finance and Revenue Accounts for that year, copies of which are in the library. The accounts for 1934-35 are not yet ready.

Mr. B. Das : Is the Bombay Government paying any interest on this loan ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Honourable Member had better look into the account first and then put supplementary questions.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the respective liabilities of the Bombay Government of the new province of Sind, and of the Government of India in respect of this Sukkur Barrage, been settled ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, but I think they are in the process of being settled.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR A TRADE AGREEMENT WITH THE IRISH FREE STATE.

138. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state how far the negotiations for a trade treaty have advanced with the Irish Free State ?

(b) What are the principal difficulties and objections ?

(c) Who is negotiating on behalf of the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Negotiations are still in progress.

(b) I am not yet in a position to make any statement on the subject.

(c) The High Commissioner for India is conducting the negotiations on behalf of the Government of India and under their instructions.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : For how long, have the negotiations been going on ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot say exactly.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What is the answer to clause (b) ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I am not yet in a position to make any statement on the subject as to what the difficulties are.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the latest information with reference to answer to part (c) of the question ? I am not asking about difficulties, but I want to know what is the latest stage of these negotiations.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The latest stage is that they are progressing and correspondence is being exchanged.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do Government give any trade preference to the Irish Free State commodities ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The subject is being discussed and certain proposals are being examined by the Government of India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the regime today ? Are we giving any preference to Irish Free State goods ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Not so far as I am aware.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is the balance of trade in favour of India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Heavily.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR A TRADE AGREEMENT WITH CANADA.

139. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : (a) Will Government be pleased to state how far the negotiations for a trade treaty have advanced with Canada ?

(b) What are the principal difficulties and objections ?

(c) Who is negotiating on behalf of the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) The proposals of the Canadian Government are at present under the consideration of the Government of India ;

(b) I am not yet in a position to make any statement on the subject.

(c) The negotiations are being conducted by direct correspondence between the Governments of India and Canada.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : For how long, have these negotiations been going on ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : For some months.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When do they hope to finish ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah : In the course of the next few months.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S RECOMMENDATIONS WITH REGARD TO THE SUPPLEMENTARY DEMANDS UNDER THE GENERAL AND RAILWAY BUDGETS.

140. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable the Finance Member be pleased to state :

(a) the date or dates of the Governor General's recommendations under section 67 of the Act with regard to the supplementary demands under the General and Railway budgets for the year ;

(b) the form in which that recommendation is made ; and

(c) whether a copy of the recommendations will be placed on the table of the House, and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) There were no supplementary demands for Railways during the current year. The Governor General's recommendation for the supplementary demands under the General budget was obtained on the 4th April.

(b) and (c). This is purely a domestic matter and there is no specific form in which the recommendation is made. I would invite reference to the ruling given by the Chair on the 30th March, 1935, that a recommendation of the Governor General for a certain appropriation of revenues need not be communicated to the Assembly in a formal manner through the Chair.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the informal manner in which they are usually communicated ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a question on which the Honourable Member has already been answered.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to know whether the recommendation is actually made. I want to know whether the Governor General at all makes the recommendation, or whether the Members of Government simply say that he has made the recommendation ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Honourable Member had better put that question to the legal authorities.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to know, for the purpose of the enlightenment of this House, whether this recommendation was actually made by the Governor General as an obligation on the part of the authorities to the Members of this House ?

Sir Lancelot Graham : Our position remains unchanged. The actual publication of the blue book which contains the demands is evidence enough of the fact that a recommendation was made. I think you, Sir, were satisfied at the time, but I am sorry to say that we have not been able to satisfy my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti. The endorsement of the recommendation of the blue book has been made merely to comfort my friend. It is quite unnecessary constitutionally.

ALLOTMENT OF CERTAIN SHARES OF THE RESERVE BANK TO THE EMPLOYEES OF THE IMPERIAL BANK OF INDIA.

141. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable the Finance Member be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that certain shares in the Reserve Bank were promised to the employees of the Imperial Bank of India, before or after the allotment to the general public ;

(b) if so, how many and on what principle or authority ; and

(c) whether it is a fact that shares which are refused to the general public are being allotted to the employees of the Imperial Bank, and if so, for what reasons ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) No.

CREATION OF AN ADDITIONAL POST OF SECRETARY IN THE FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

142. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable the Finance Member be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that an additional post of Secretary, or Assistant, or Under Secretary is being created in the Finance Department of the Government of India ;

(b) if so, for what reason ; and

(c) whether it is not a fact that a not inconsiderable share of the work of the Finance Department has been taken over by the Reserve Bank ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Reserve Bank of India has taken over the currency functions of the Government of India which were previously performed by the Currency Department. The work of the Finance Department of the Government of India itself has not been appreciably affected by the inauguration of the Reserve Bank.

A post of Additional Secretary in the Department was created last winter in connection with the inauguration of the Reserve Bank. This post was held by Sir James Taylor till his appointment on the 11th February last as Deputy Governor of the Bank. It then lapsed. A post of Additional Secretary was again created with effect from the 29th March, 1935, and Mr. J. C. Nixon was appointed to it in order to deal with the special financial problems which arise in connection with the creation of new Provinces and the inception of Provincial Autonomy, all of which is, of course, new work. It has been found necessary to afford Mr. Nixon some assistance, and Mr. K. C. Srinivasan, a Class II Officer of the Indian Audit and Accounts Service, has been placed on special duty in the Department for the purpose from the 24th July, 1935, for a period of three months. It is proposed further to appoint temporarily an Additional Under Secretary to meet the growth of work in the Department.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Who sanctions these extra appointments ? Is it the Finance Department ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am afraid I do.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it, therefore, that the petitioner and the judge are the same in this case ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Unfortunately, Sir, that is only too true.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : For how many years have these temporary appointments been going on in this Department ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am afraid my memory goes back only to 15 months.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : All this time, they have been having extra appointments ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Most of the time.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When do Government hope to have this Department reduced to its sanctioned strength, and not have these extra appointments ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I should have thought from the views which the Honourable Member has expressed that the Finance Department ought to be strengthened and not weakened.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Strengthened by the individuals becoming more intelligent and more efficient, and not by adding to the number of officers uselessly ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : How can that be done ?

NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE INDO-BURMAN TRADE AGREEMENT.

143. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Honourable the Commerce Member be pleased to state :

- (a) whether the negotiations for the Indo-Burman Trade Agreement have been completed ;
- (b) if not, at what stage they are at present ;
- (c) whether Government propose to place the matter before the Assembly during this session ; and
- (d) if not, why not ?

I do not want answers to parts (a) and (b), as they have already been answered.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is what I was going to say myself.

(c) and (d). The Honourable Member will have noticed that the agreement has been drawn up in the form of provisional draft Orders in Council. These Orders will not assume final shape till they have been considered by Parliament under the procedure laid down in sections 309 and 475 of the Government of India Act. The Government of India are, therefore, of opinion that no useful purpose would be served by these Orders being discussed in the House at this stage.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government of opinion that Parliament will not pay any weight to the opinion of this House, before confirming these draft Orders in Council ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have not said that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then why do Government say that no useful purpose will be served by discussing that matter in this House ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As these draft Orders in Council have not yet been issued, any opinion expressed at this stage could serve no useful purpose.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it, therefore, that Government propose that, after these draft Orders in Council are issued, and before they are confirmed by Parliament, this House will be given an opportunity to discuss these draft Orders in Council, and express its opinion on them ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot undertake to afford that opportunity.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know the reasons why Government refuse to undertake the elementary duty of consulting public opinion in this country ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government have in their possession a good deal of public opinion expressed on this subject in this country.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government think that this Assembly is not the best authority to express the public opinion of India on this vital matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have not said that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why, then, do Government not propose to give an opportunity to this Assembly to express its opinion on this matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have explained my position.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is that position ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The position is that the matter is at a stage when it cannot be discussed in this House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it too early to discuss it ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There will be time enough for this House to express its opinion on the two agreements when they are issued as Orders in Council.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to know if the Honourable Member proposes to consult this House after the agreement has been concluded and not before. Sir, you remember the history of this case. Are we to be treated in the same way again ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member, the Chair thinks, has answered that question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : My question is whether Government propose to say that it is too early now to submit the agreement before this House, and they propose to submit it when it is too late ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The position of Government is that these agreements have been arrived at between the two Governments, and, therefore, any criticism of these agreements must wait till the question of their renewal arises.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Therefore, Government do not believe in taking the opinion of this House before they make up their minds !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : They have already made up their minds and have published their views on the subject.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : And they cannot change their mind ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : They can, and the House will not be too late in expressing its opinion with regard to any changes which may be suggested in those agreements.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : When does the Honourable Member expect to place these agreements before this House ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It will be open to the House to take proper steps to discuss these agreements once they are published as final agreements.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : If the Honourable Member to the left continues to interrupt by his loud conversations, the Chair cannot follow the proceeding.

SUGGESTION re IMPOSITION OF A PROHIBITIVE DUTY ON ZANZIBAR CLOVES.

144. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they have received a representation from the Imperial Indian Citizens' Association, Bombay, on the question of the recently passed decrees by the Government of Zanzibar ;

(b) whether the Association suggested the imposition of a prohibitive duty on Zanzibar cloves so long as Indian grievances remain unredressed ; and

(c) whether Government have considered their representation, and what action they propose thereon ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) The representation is under the consideration of Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to part (c), do I understand the Honourable Member to say that they are considering all the representations, or the suggestion contained in part (b) of the question ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I referred specifically to the suggestion contained in part (b) of the question.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : May I know whether, in considering the position of Indian settlers in Zanzibar, Government consider the position of Indian settlers to be more important than that of the original inhabitants of Zanzibar who have been doing this clove trade for several years ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The protector of the original inhabitants of Zanzibar is the Government of Zanzibar, and I, therefore, cannot answer that part of the question which relates to the protection of the interests of the original inhabitants of Zanzibar. The Government of India are the protectors of Indian interests, and those interests are constantly receiving their attention.

Maulana Shaukat Ali : While the Indian settlers of Zanzibar complain of being exploited by the White European Settlers, there are also the original inhabitants of Zanzibar who are also exploited. If there is any discrimination made between the Indian merchants and other European merchants, Government are justified in taking action. Is it not the duty of the Government to see that the original inhabitants are not exploited by any outsider and that their interests also are not overlooked ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I can assure my Honourable friend that the Government of Zanzibar will fully look after the interests of the original inhabitants of Zanzibar.

INDIAN MILITARY SERVICE FAMILY PENSION FUND.

145. *Mr. F. E. James : (a) Will Government kindly state when the existing Indian Military Service Family Pension Fund (pre-war for regular officers of the Indian Army) was established ?

(b) What are the conditions of the Fund as to subscriptions and donations, and what are the pension and other benefits enjoyed by the families of subscribers ? When were these last determined ?

(c) When was this Fund closed to new entrants ?

(d) Do Government make any contribution to the Fund, or is it raised solely by the subscriptions of members and interest thereon ?

(e) What is the average rate of interest earned by the Fund, since it was closed to new entrants ? Has the interest thus earned been added to the capital of the Fund ?

(f) Are annual balance sheets published for the benefit of subscribers ? If not, why not ?

(g) When was the last balance-sheet published ?

(h) What is the total amount now standing to the credit of the Fund ? In what account and with what banks is that amount held ?

(i) What is the approximate present number of beneficiaries (1) actual and (2) contingent, and the total amount of pensions now being paid ?

(j) Is any actuarial valuation of assets and liabilities made periodically ? If so, what was the date and result of the last valuation ? If not, why not ?

(k) By whom and through what agency in India is the Fund administered ? Have the subscribers, as such, any direct voice or representation in the Fund ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) 1st January, 1873.

(b) The information is available in Appendix I of Pension Regulations for the Army in India, a copy of which is in the Library. The rates of pension, etc., were last revised from 1st January, 1932.

(c) 1st January, 1915.

(d) The fund is raised solely by members' subscriptions and the interest thereon.

(e) The rates of interest since 1st January, 1915 are :

|                                            |              |              |             |
|--------------------------------------------|--------------|--------------|-------------|
| to 31st March, 1919                        | ..           | ..           | 4 per cent. |
| 1st April, 1919 to 31st October, 1928      | ..           | 5½ per cent. |             |
| 1st November, 1928, to 31st December, 1932 | 5 per cent.  |              |             |
| 1st January, 1933, to 31st December, 1934  | 4½ per cent. |              |             |
| Average annual rate 4.977 per cent.        |              |              |             |

Interest, so far as it is not required for payment of current pensions, is added to the balance each half year.

(f) Yes.

(g) In November, 1934, giving the accounts for the year ending 31st March, 1934.

(h) £6,600,369-18-10 on 31st March, 1934, the last completed year for which figures are available.

The balance forms part of the general balances of the Government of India to which contributions are credited and pensions charged.

(i) As at 31st March, 1934 :

|            |    |           |    |    |    |       |
|------------|----|-----------|----|----|----|-------|
| Actual     | .. | Widows    | .. | .. | .. | 1,592 |
|            |    | Sons      | .. | .. | .. | 205   |
|            |    | Daughters | .. | .. | .. | 1,018 |
| Contingent |    | Wives     | .. | .. | .. | 2,931 |
|            |    | Sons      | .. | .. | .. | 1,376 |
|            |    | Daughters | .. | .. | .. | 2,003 |

Pensions paid during 1933-34 amounted to £313,729.

(j) Yes, every five years. The report of the Actuary on the last valuation was published in the Gazette of India, Army Department notification No. 672, dated the 14th November, 1931.

(k) The fund is administered by the Secretary of State for India, but the accounts of receipts and payments made in India are maintained by the Controller of Army Factory Accounts. Though the Secretary of State for India in Council has reserved to himself the absolute right to make any alterations in the regulations of the Fund, it is his practice to obtain the wishes of the subscribers before any major alteration is carried out.

Mr. F. E. James : May I ask whether copies of the annual reports are made available to all subscribers and beneficiaries ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Yes, Sir.

Mr. F. E. James : In view of the fact that the fund is raised solely from the subscriptions of members and interests thereon, will the Government of India represent to the Secretary of State the desirability of early appointment of Commissioners under section 273 of the Government of India Act and the removal of the fund from the general balances of the Government of India ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : A reference to the new Government of India Act which the Honourable Member has quoted makes it clear that the initiative in that matter must come from the beneficiaries of the fund. It is not for the Government to take the initiative.

Captain Sardar Sher Muhammad Khan : Is there any scheme under the consideration of the Government of India to open this fund to officers recruited from the Indian Military Academy ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : Not this fund. This fund was closed in 1915.

Captain Sardar Sher Muhammad Khan : Will Government create this sort of fund for the regular officers of the Indian army ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have no doubt that such arrangements will be made.

NUMBER OF EXCESS OFFICERS AND SUBORDINATES ON STATE RAILWAYS.

146. *Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali : (a) Is it a fact that in the Report by the Railway Board on Indian Railways for 1933-34, Volume I, under the caption 'Staff', it has been stated :

" It will be noticed from the statement that during the year no appointments were made in the gazetted ranks of State-managed railways, mainly on account of financial stringency and excess of officers in certain departments in consequence of abolition of a number of posts during the years 1931-32 and 1932-33 " ?

(b) If the answer to part (a) be in the affirmative, will Government please state :

- (i) the number of excess officers ;
- (ii) the railways on which these excesses are ;
- (iii) the number of excess subordinates ; and
- (iv) the railways on which these excesses are ?

(c) If there be no excess among subordinates, will Government please state why this distinction in treatment has been made to these servants of the Crown in India ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). Excesses existed in the superior services but were counterbalanced by vacancies in the Lower Gazetted Service ; and there were no excesses among gazetted officers as a whole. The number of subordinates who were in excess of requirements varied from time to time. Every effort was made to absorb surplus subordinate staff but owing to the large number of such staff as compared with vacancies many of them had to be discharged.

INCREASE IN THE BRITISH IMPORTS INTO INDIA.

147. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether it is true that the British imports into India have increased since 1932 ? If so, by how many crores ?

(b) What are the reasons for this increase ?

(c) Is it mainly due to the Ottawa Agreement ?

(d) Have the Indian exports to Britain increased ? If so, by what amount ?

(e) Is it true that the export trade of India with other countries has suffered since the Ottawa Agreement ?

(f) If so, are Government prepared to consider the advisability of terminating the Ottawa Agreement and forming new trade agreements with other countries ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (d). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the Annual Statement of the Sea-borne Trade of British India for the fiscal year ending the 31st March, 1934, Volume II, and the Accounts relating to the Sea-borne Trade and Navigation of British India for March, 1935, copies of which are in the Library of the Legislature.

(b), (c) and (e). Government do not propose to offer an opinion on these questions pending the discussion of the results of the Ottawa Agreement which has been promised for next Budget Session.

(f) Does not arise.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What is the reply to the second part of (a) ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : All this information is available in the published statements.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it or is it not true that British imports into India have increased since 1932 ? The Honourable Member has not given a reply to that part.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is a matter of figures, and the Honourable Member can make the calculation himself.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : The Honourable Member representing Government is expected to have made the calculation and given a direct answer to the question, whether it is true or not that British imports have increased.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I do know the results from the information contained in the published Annual Statements just as it is possible for the Honourable Member to know the results from the same statements. It is for them to draw their own conclusions. If the statistics say that the one is 5 and the other is 7, then they could surely make a deduction and reply that the result is 2.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : I want to have a definite answer, " Yes ", or " No ", to my question whether the imports have increased ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member is referring him to the publications. He can find out the answer.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Then, how to put supplementary questions ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Afterwards.

REFUSAL OF SANCTION BY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF A BILL TO AMEND THE BOMBAY PORT TRUST ACT.

148. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether they are aware that Mr. L. R. Tairsee, Member of the Bombay Legislative Council, had given notice of a Bill to amend the Bombay Port Trust Act so as to secure the appointment of an Indian as the Chairman of the Bombay Port Trust and that he had asked for the previous sanction of the Governor General ?

(b) Is it a fact that the Governor General has refused to give sanction for the introduction of the Bill ?

(c) Has the Indian Merchants' Chamber, Bombay, sent up a memorandum to Government in this connection ?

(d) What reply have Government given ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) Yes.

(d) A copy of Government's reply is laid on the table.

No. 232-P. & L. (5)/35.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

Simla, the 18th July, 1935.

FROM

H. DOW, ESQUIRE, C.I.E., I.C.S.,
Joint Secretary to the Government of India,

TO

THE SECRETARY,
INDIAN MERCHANTS' CHAMBER,
JEHANGIR WADIA BUILDING,
ESPLANADE ROAD, FORT, BOMBAY.

SIR,

I am directed to reply to your letter No. 1477 of the 12th June, 1935. In that letter you ask Government to define their attitude with regard to legislation recently proposed by a member of your Chamber to render compulsory the appointment of an 426

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[5TH SEP. 1935.]

Indian to the post of Chairman of the Bombay Port Trust. You further request that measures be taken to secure that all Port Trusts in India, and the Bombay Port Trust in particular, should have a majority of Indian trustees.

2. As regards the first point, I am to point out that the reasons of the Governor General for refusing assent to the introduction of a Bill under sub-section (3) of Section 80A of the Government of India Act cannot be called in question and are not open to discussion. The Government of India, however, have no difficulty in defining their own attitude to the general question. They consider that it would be contrary alike to public policy and to the interests of the port to make a statutory provision that Chairman of Port Trusts should be appointed on racial grounds. In this connection I am also to invite your attention to Section 111 (1) of the Government of India Bill which is now before Parliament.

3. As you point out, the Bombay Port Trust Act was amended as recently as 1922 in order to give wider representation to Indian business interests. It is the policy of Government to see that, in the constitution of Port Trusts, due weightage is given to all important interests concerned in the welfare of the trade of the Port, and, so far as the elected element is concerned, Government are not aware of any recent changes in relative interests of such importance as to make a further adjustment again necessary. At the same time, there seems no reason to doubt that, pari passu with the progress of Indianisation in Government services, those interests which have to rely on nomination by the Local Government will be increasingly represented by Indians.

4. The considerations given above apply equally to other Port Trusts in India, with regard to which also you will realise that Government must give greater weight to expressions of local opinion than to the views of your Chamber.

I have the, etc.,

(Sd.) H. DOW,

Joint Secretary to the Government of India.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What are the grounds on which sanction was refused ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The grounds are contained in the copy of the letter which I have laid on the table.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Do Government consider that, to reserve the Chairmanship of a Port Trust to an Indian in his own country, is racial ? It is never considered racial in any other country. What are the racial considerations involved in this, please ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : They are to be found in the letter which I have laid on the table.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I have read that letter where it is said that to give sanction to a Bill of this kind will mean raising racial considerations. I am asking the Government for a statement of the reasons as to why they consider reserving the Chairmanship of an Indian Port Trust to an Indian in his own country will raise racial considerations. I have never heard of such a proposition anywhere in the world.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : The reasons have been stated in that letter. My Honourable friend is entitled to draw an opinion opposite to that which has been drawn by others.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the opinion of the Government of India on which they base this statement that reserving the Chairmanship of an Indian Port Trust for Indians will raise racial considerations ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is contained in the letter. There is nothing further for me to add.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : There is nothing in that letter. Zero plus Zero is Zero.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : That is a matter for opinion, whether it is zero or one hundred.

DIRECT REPRESENTATION OF INDIANS ON THE FIJI CENTRAL LEGISLATURE.

149. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether it is a fact that the Central Legislature of the Fiji Islands has deprived Indians of their rights enjoyed till now in regard to direct representation on the Legislature ?

(b) Has the Indian Association approached the Colonial Office with an appeal to protect the Indian interest ?

(c) What action have Government taken in this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a), (b) and (c). The Honourable Member presumably refers to a Resolution passed by the Fiji Legislative Council, recommending that for the system of election to the Legislative Council, the system of nomination should be substituted. The Indian Association, Fiji, have made representations against this proposal to the Colonial Office. The Government of India will consult the Standing Emigration Committee of the two Houses of the Central Legislature and then communicate their views to the Colonial Office.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Has the Resolution come into effect ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Resolution has not come into effect. As a matter of fact, the dissolution of the Legislative Council has been postponed by one year in order to enable this question to be considered.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Is it a fact that the Government of Fiji have decided to take over the municipalities of Suva and Levuka ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There is a question on that subject down on the order paper. When that comes up, my Honourable friend will, I hope, get satisfaction.

BENEFIT OF POOR RELIEF TO THE INDIANS IN NATAL.

150. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Are Government aware that the Finance Minister of Natal has stated, in his reply to the recent representation by the Natal Indian Congress for the extension of the benefit of poor relief to the Indian cases, that it is not possible to introduce legislation to include Indians under the Old Age Pension Scheme which applies to Europeans ?

(b) Have Government made any representations to the Government of Natal in this matter ?

(c) If so, what is the result of such representations ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The Minister promised to do what he could to see that some provision was made for aged and indigent Indians. No representations were considered necessary after this assurance.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : What is the result of the representations ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : They are still under consideration.

DEVALUATION OF INDIAN CURRENCY.

151. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Are Government aware that most of the countries of the world have been devaluating their currencies ?

(b) Are Government aware that through devaluation they have been seeking to give an encouragement to their export trade ?

(c) Are Government aware that the export trade of India has considerably suffered because of this policy of devaluation adopted by other countries ?

(d) Do Government intend to devalue the Indian currency to counteract the harm done by the devaluation of currencies by other countries ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Government are aware that the currency of some countries has been devalued.

(b) The devaluation was in most cases occasioned by the absolute impossibility of preserving the old parties and not by a deliberate act of policy having for its object the encouragement of export trade.

(c) This is a matter of opinion.

(d) Certainly not. I can imagine nothing more damaging to the true interests of India, particularly those of the cultivator.

DEFICIT IN THE RAILWAY BUDGET.

152. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Are Government aware that the actuals in the Railway Budget estimate for the current year are much below the estimates for the year ?

(b) What is Government's revised estimate for the year ?

(c) Do Government expect to have a deficit ? If so, by what amount, and how do they propose to meet the deficit ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) It is too early to frame a revised estimate.

(c) The budget estimates anticipated a deficit of about two crores, but they were based on the assumption that our earnings would be about three crores better than last year. As, however, the earnings for the first four months are below last year's, it is likely that, unless the position improves, the deficit in the year will be considerably more than anticipated. Any deficit that is ultimately found to exist will be met by temporary borrowings from the Depreciation Fund ; but I may add that railway administrations have been asked to reduce working expenses wherever possible and to examine every possibility of increasing revenue.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : Do they propose to impose a cut in salaries again ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : There is no such proposal at present under consideration.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government heard from the Railway administrations, in answer to their exhortation to reduce working expenses and to increase the revenue ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : A meeting was held between the Honourable the Finance Member, the Agents of Railways, the Members of the Railway Board and myself some time ago when this question was discussed and tentative suggestions were made. The Agents were asked to consider those suggestions in detail and any others that might occur to them or be sent to them, and the question will be more fully discussed with the Agents next October.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government considered the particular question of rail-road competition, in respect specially of passenger traffic ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : That is also one of the questions that is being considered.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government decided that, if there is a deficit next year, they will raid the depreciation fund again ? Have they consulted the Finance Department and have the Finance Department any voice in the matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have answered that question in reading out my written answer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government come to their conclusions, after consulting the Finance Department ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government includes the Finance Department.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Was the suggestion ever considered of offering better facilities for third class passengers and making third class travelling more popular ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes, Government have considered that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government taken any steps to see that the third class passenger is made a welcome visitor, and not an unwelcome stranger who is not wanted on the railways ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : They are constantly considering the comfort and convenience of third class passengers and making such improvements as are possible.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the recent improvements made ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : One of the recent improvements contemplated is a new type of third class carriage which is in course of construction and which Honourable Members or such of them as are interested will be invited to examine in the cold weather at Delhi.

Seth Govind Das : Do Government really know what are the difficulties of third class passengers ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : They are being constantly told.

Mr. Sri Prakasa : Does not the Honourable Member think that the best way of making third class carriages popular is to ask the high officers of Government to travel third class and give them only third class travelling allowances ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : May I answer that question, Sir ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It is not necessary.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I did travel third-class myself last March, to find out.

DEPRECIATION ALLOWED UNDER THE INCOME-TAX RULES.

153. *Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : (a) Will Government state whether it is true that under the Income-tax Rules, a definite sum of five per cent. is allowed on machinery for depreciation ?

(b) Is it a fact that this five per cent. is calculated on the basis that the machinery will last for twenty years, under the presumption that it is worked only during day ?

(c) Are Government aware that many of the cotton-mills, factories and others are being worked both during day and night, and yet a depreciation of only five per cent. is allowed by the Income-tax authorities ?

(d) Is it true that under the British Income-tax Law, depreciation is allowed on machineries according to the number of hours of working ?

(e) Are Government prepared to consider introducing in Indian Income-tax law the same principle allowing a depreciation according to the hours worked by the machineries concerned ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) No. There is a variety of rates ranging from five per cent. to 25 per cent. but the general rate for unspecified machinery is 5 per cent.

(b) It is not a fact that the presumption mentioned by the Honourable Member has been made in estimating the probable life of different classes of machinery.

(c) Yes, except in cases where the prescribed rate of allowance exceeds 5 per cent.

(d) There is no such provision in the British law ; but I understand that in practice the Commissioners have allowed increased depreciation in the case of certain particular industries or particular mills in which unusually long hours have been worked. The industries affected do not include the cotton textile industry.

(e) Government have the whole question under consideration.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : On what basis is the rate of five per cent. allowed ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Roughly on the basis that the machinery will probably last for 20 years.

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar : When a greater amount of work is done in mills, etc., as mentioned in clause (c), will Government consider a greater percentage of depreciation ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I have answered that question in my reply to part (e) of the question.

RECRUITMENT OF PROBATIONERS IN THE TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT OF THE CALCUTTA PORT TRUST.

154. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that towards the end of the year 1929, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta appointed probationers in their Traffic Department in order to train them up for the officers' posts ?

(b) Were probationers in the Traffic Department of the Calcutta Port Trust appointed in the years 1930 to 1934 ?

(c) If the answer to parts (a) and (b) be in the affirmative, how many such probationers were taken in, and what different nationalities and religions do they belong to ? What are their respective qualifications and on what emoluments were they appointed ?

(d) Did the Port Trust authorities while recruiting these probationers have in view the object of absorbing them in the permanent establishment against probable vacancies which were anticipated to occur by the time the probationers completed their period of training ?

(e) What was the period of training prescribed for these probationers ?

(f) How many probationers completed their period of training in the years 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1934 ?

(g) Did any vacancy, or vacancies, occur or were any new posts created in the senior rank of Calcutta Port Trust services in the Traffic, as also in other Departments, such as Marine and Engineering, in the years 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1934 ? If so, how many of these vacancies and posts were filled up by probationers who completed their period of training ?

(h) If none of the probationers were appointed in any of the vacancies or posts in the senior rank of the Port Trust services in the Traffic or in other Departments, will Government be pleased to state the reason why they were not appointed ?

(i) Is it a fact that of the candidates from all over India who applied for appointment as 'Traffic Probationers' on that occasion, those who were, after a preliminary elimination, asked to appear before a Board for final selection were paid second class fare from their respective stations to Calcutta and back ? If so, how many of the candidates living outside Calcutta were granted interviews, and what was the amount spent on their travelling allowances ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) Eight probationers were appointed in 1934.

(c) A statement containing the information asked for is laid on the table.

(d) Yes.

(e) Three years with the possibility of the period being extended to four years.

(f) 1930 and 1931—none.

1932—Six.

1933 and 1934—none.

(g) and (h). Vacancies in senior ranks did occur, but none of these were filled by probationers as they were not qualified to fill senior posts. No new posts were created in the senior ranks of the Traffic Department. Traffic probationers had no qualifications for posts in the Marine and Engineering branches.

(i) Yes. Twenty-six candidates were interviewed. Second class fares to and from Calcutta were given to candidates who came from outside Calcutta, but it is not possible now to give the total amount spent on travelling allowance, as a detailed investigation of old records would require to be made, involving an expenditure of time and labour that would be entirely incommensurate with the value of the results obtained.

Statement showing the qualifications, nationality, etc., of the probationers recruited in the Traffic Department of the Calcutta Port Commissioners.

PROBATIONERS APPOINTED IN 1929.

| Educational qualifications. | Nationality.       | Religion.  |
|-----------------------------|--------------------|------------|
| B. A. .. ..                 | Indian .. ..       | Hindu.     |
| Senior Cambridge .. ..      | Anglo-Indian .. .. | Christian. |
| B. Sc. .. ..                | Indian .. ..       | Hindu.     |
| Senior Cambridge .. ..      | Anglo-Indian .. .. | Christian. |
| B. Sc. .. ..                | Indian .. ..       | Hindu.     |
| B. Sc. .. ..                | Indian .. ..       | Muslim.    |
| Senior Cambridge .. ..      | Anglo-Indian .. .. | Christian. |

PROBATIONERS APPOINTED IN 1934.

|                        |                    |            |
|------------------------|--------------------|------------|
| B. A. .. ..            | Indian .. ..       | Hindu.     |
| B. A. .. ..            | Anglo-Indian .. .. | Christian. |
| B. A. .. ..            | Indian .. ..       | Sikh.      |
| Senior Cambridge .. .. | Anglo-Indian .. .. | Christian. |
| Matric .. ..           | Indian .. ..       | Hindu.     |
| I. A. .. ..            | Anglo-Indian .. .. | Christian. |
| B. A. .. ..            | Indian .. ..       | Hindu.     |
| Senior Cambridge .. .. | Anglo-Indian .. .. | Christian. |

All 15 probationers were appointed on a salary of Rs. 100—50—200 per mensem.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : With regard to part (i) of the question, how many of those who came from outside were appointed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have no information at present : if the Honourable Member is anxious to have the information, I shall obtain it for him, if it is readily available.

MOTIONS FOR ADJOURNMENT.

INTERESTS OF INDIANS CONCERNED IN ZANZIBAR.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have received notice of a motion for adjournment from Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant : he proposes to ask for leave to move for an adjournment of the business of the House today with a view to discuss a matter of urgent public importance, namely, the extension of the moratorium by the Zanzibar Government and the failure of the Government to safeguard the interests of Indians concerned in Zanzibar. Have Government anything to say in the matter ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House) : If I might make a submission.....

Mr. F. E. James (Madras : European) : May I rise to a point of order ? It has been unfortunately quite impossible for Members on this side of the House to hear what the adjournment motion is on. I wonder, Sir, if you would be so kind as to explain to us what the motion is.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I will read it again : there is already a notice of an adjournment motion regarding the accoustics of the House. But I shall read out this motion again : it is that the business of the House be adjourned for the purpose of discussing a matter of urgent public importance, namely, the extension of the moratorium by the Zanzibar Government and the failure of the Government to safeguard the interests of Indians concerned in Zanzibar.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Sir, I say that if the matter is forced on us today, I have certain objections : but I am proposing a course which can only be sanctioned by the Chair : I understand my Honourable friend has no objection to it or rather he would like it : I have no objection to this matter coming on on Monday, reserving to myself the liberty to raise such objections as I may be advised—such objections as I might have taken today. I find that the Chair has power to do that and it has been done on previous occasions. If you agree with this course, you might let this stand over till Monday, because there is some chance of our coming to some kind of arrangement : if it is not, then the motion could be disposed of then.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It is very unusual to adjourn a motion of this sort for several days : I know what has been done before : it has been taken up the next day or the day after—so far as I can recollect : but, so far as I am aware, there is nothing in the rules to prevent me from doing it, and if the Honourable Member, who has given notice of the motion, has no objection, I shall take it up on Monday, and I shall hear any point of order or any objection that may be raised then.

Pandit Govind Ballabh Pant (Rohilkund and Kumaon Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : I have no objection, and I expect that the occasion for raising objections will not arise.

ACOUSTICS OF THE ASSEMBLY CHAMBER IN SIMLA.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : As regards the other motion, several complaints have been made to me regarding the acoustics of this House : we are all familiar with the difficulties of making ourselves heard to the more distant parts of the House. This is a difficulty which has been experienced all along, and the matter has been under consideration whether anything can be done to improve the position, and I am hoping that before the next Session at any rate something will have been done and that the Government will help the Assembly in this matter. In the meantime, I may announce to the Members of this House that if any Member who is sitting far away wishes to speak, he may come closer to the seats available lower down.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (Presidency Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : What about hearing, Sir ? What about those who want to hear the Honourable Members sitting in front ? We want a ruling in respect of that.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Nothing more can be done now.

ELECTIONS OF MEMBERS TO THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON PILGRIMAGE TO THE HEDJAZ AND THE STANDING COMMITTEE FOR ROADS.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : I have to inform the Assembly that upto 12 noon on Wednesday, the 4th September, 1935, the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hedjaz and the Standing Committee for Roads, one nomination for each of the Committees was received. As there is only one vacancy in each of the Committees, I declare Khan Sahib Shaikh Fazli-Haq Piracha and Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra to be duly elected to the Standing Committee on Pilgrimage to the Hedjaz and the Standing Committee for Roads, respectively.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : Sir, I must begin.....

Sardar Sant Singh (West Punjab : Sikh) : May I rise to a point of order in this connection ? The copy of the Bill that was introduced in this House some days back contains a mere reference to certain sections of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932. May I know if Honourable Members of this House wishing to propose certain amendments to the various sections—will those amendments be directed to the Act which has not yet expired or will the amendments be directed with reference to the clauses there ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That question does not arise at present : when the time comes, the Honourable Member can raise his point.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I was going to say that I owe an apology to the House for the somewhat unintelligible form of the Bill which I am asking it to take into consideration. But that is the worst of amending and consolidating Bills, that they are not intelligible unless they are read in connection with the original Acts. I have, however, made arrangements that copies of the original Acts, that is the Emergency Press Act of 1931 and the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932, should be placed in the hands of Honourable Members, and I hope that those are now in the possession of all Honourable Members.....

Some Honourable Members : Not all Members : only half.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I can only regret that, but I have done my best, and I think probably more copies will be available today. Meanwhile, I might venture to suggest that if Honourable Members would follow my observations by the Act of 1932, they will, I think, be able to find them intelligible.

The House is aware that the Criminal Law Amendment Act, passed in 1932, expires about three months hence. The Bill which I am now asking the House to take into consideration proposes to renew most but not all of the provisions of that Act. It adds nothing new to that Act. I am very conscious that in inviting the House to share the responsibility of renewing those provisions I am asking it to undertake a very real responsibility ; but I would ask the House to believe that we should not have made this request had we not been honestly convinced that we should have been false to our own responsibility if we had decided to take what would obviously have been a far easier course.....

Sardar Sant Singh : What is the motion before the House ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I will move it at the end of my speech : I was saying that we would have been false to our own responsibility if we had decided to take what would obviously have been a far easier course and decided to discard the weapons which the present Act provides for dealing with movements which threaten the peaceful progress of India.

Sardar Sant Singh : What is the motion before the House ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The motion before the House is that the Bill be taken into consideration. I can move it at the end of my speech.

Sardar Sant Singh : In that case, I will be deprived of the opportunity of raising my point of order.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : That is the usual practice.

Sardar Sant Singh : If he moves it at the end of his speech, then I cannot move.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What is the Honourable Member's point of order ?

Sardar Sant Singh : My point is that there is no proper Bill before the House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Then the Honourable Member ought to have objected at the introduction stage.

Sardar Sant Singh : The convention is not to oppose a Bill at the introduction stage. Now, there is no proper Bill before the House.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What is the meaning of "no proper Bill before the House" ?

Sardar Sant Singh : My submission is that the Bill is framed in such a way,—for instance, I will read clause 2 of the Bill. It says :

"Sub-section (3) of section 1 and sections 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 15, 17 and 20 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932, are hereby repealed."

Then, clause 4 says :

"In sub-section (4) of section 1 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1932, the words and figures....."

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : What is the objection ?

Sardar Sant Singh : My objection is that, during the Second Reading stage, if Honourable Members of this House wish to propose certain amendments, it will not be possible for them to do so in the absence of the wording of the clauses that are not given in the Bill itself. We cannot, of course, be expected to propose amendments to the sections of an Act that has not yet expired.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair does not think that is a proper objection.

Sardar Sant Singh : Sir, the Act has not expired yet.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : All the Chair can say at present is that the Honourable Member must make his best attempt to frame any amendment he likes, and, if he finds any difficulty, he can ask for a ruling from the Chair as to whether the form adopted by him is in proper form or not.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena (Lucknow Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : I rise to a point of order, Sir. At page 27 of the Legislative Manual of Business and Procedure, in paragraph 76, it is stated—I am referring to the proviso at the bottom of the page :

"Provided that no such motion shall be made until after copies of the Bill have been made available for the use of Members, and that any Member may object to any such motion being made unless copies of the Bill have been so made available for three days before the day on which the motion is made."

My objection is this, that the motion is being made today, and three days before today copies of the Bill were not made available.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair understands copies of the Bill were placed on the table on the morning of the second.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : No doubt, a copy of the Bill was made available on the morning of the second, but my submission is this, it is not three days, and the Bill is not complete by itself, because it relates to another Act which is made available only today, and only a few Honourable Members have got copies.....

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Chair does not think there is any substance in the point of order. The Bill was made available on the morning of the second.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Act of 1932 was admittedly directed mainly, but not entirely, against the Civil Disobedience Movement. In putting it before the House in 1932, Sir Harry Haig made it quite clear that Government had in mind not only the Civil Disobedience Movement, but two other threats to peaceful progress, namely, terrorism and Communism. To these I would like to add what now seems to be an even more dangerous threat, and that is the baneful shadow of communal dissension. That evil is, to our deep regret, becoming day by day a graver menace to the peace of the country. It is against these three dangers, terrorism, Communism and communal unrest, as well as against Civil Disobedience, that the existing Act provides most necessary safeguards, and we should be acting contrary to our convictions, and, in our view, endangering the peace of the country, if we had decided to relax these safeguards so long as the triple menace in question is still in existence....

An Honourable Member : Quadruple.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Triple, I think.

An Honourable Member : Civil Disobedience.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am coming to Civil Disobedience. As regards Civil Disobedience, it is, of course, accepted that the movement has been suspended. I have the highest authority, that of the Congress President himself, for the statement that while it has been suspended, it has not been stopped.....

An Honourable Member : Thank God.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : But certain manifestations of that movement have now been quiescent for a long time, and it is for this reason that we have decided to drop those sections of the existing Act that are directed particularly against such manifestations, but at the same time we cannot ignore the possibility that there may be a revival of Civil Disobedience in the comparatively near future. That is another possibility in addition to the triple menace to which I have referred which we have constantly to bear in mind.

Sir, before coming to the actual details of the Bill, I think I owe it to the House to explain why my motion is for consideration and not for reference to a Select Committee. For one thing time is an important consideration, though not, I quite admit, the conclusive consideration, but my main reason for not suggesting that the Bill should be referred to a Select Committee is the fact that while we are dropping certain provisions of the existing law, we are not adding in any way to the existing law,—our Bill includes nothing whatever that is new. Now the provisions of the existing law have of course been before the country for the last three years, and all interested in the question, directly or indirectly, must be familiar with those provisions. The existing Act was discussed at very great length in this Assembly in 1932. The discussion lasted, I think, for no less than 19 days, apart from the discussion in the Select Committee. In these circumstances, we do not consider that it is desirable or necessary that this Bill should be committed to a Select Committee to be considered in detail. We think it preferable that consideration should take place before a Committee of the whole House.

Sir, the first operative clause of the Bill is that which repeals certain sections of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932, and perhaps the most important and certainly the most contentious of these is the sub-clause which repeals the sub-section of the Act of 1932 which limited the duration of that Act to three years, or, in other words, the sub-clause which proposes to give permanency to those measures which we suggest should be retained. The House will, of course, expect some justification of that proposal. It may be argued, and no doubt will be argued, that if the Act of 1932 was limited in its duration to three years, why should it be now considered necessary to make part of the Act permanent? In the first place, I would like to remind the House that the Act of 1932, when introduced in the form of a Bill, was designed to be permanent. It was only in its passage through the Select Committee that Government accepted the proposal that its duration should be limited. Events have proved, in our view though I have no doubt not in the view of Honourable Members opposite, that the period given was not, in fact, long enough. Then there is the general consideration that temporary legislation designed to counter subversive movements must have this unsatisfactory feature, that it encourages those who are promoting such movements to cherish the hope that the time will come when their unlawful activities can be resumed. There is no inducement for them to drop plotting and planning for the future. There is, in fact, no inducement for them to bring about what we so ardently desire, and that is a change of heart. On the other hand, a permanent Act can always be repealed if the Government and the Legislature are satisfied that it is no longer required. Now, Sir, that of course is a general consideration with which no doubt all will not agree. And it is not really our primary or main reason for proposing to give this Bill permanency. Our main reason is that of the three dangers to which I have referred, terrorism, communal unrest, and the communist movement, it is impossible to foresee any reasonable period of time within which, at any rate, the first two of these will not be a serious menace to the public peace. The terrorist movement has now been in existence for over thirty years, and though I admit that there has been some improvement recently in this respect, at any rate in Bengal, partly owing to the sterner measures adopted to deal with it, and, partly, I gladly acknowledge, owing to the revulsion of public opinion against the movement, yet the movement is still active and is still drawing recruits and it is impossible at present for us to relax any of our more important precautions. In the last three or four months, there have been several murders and attempted murders—I am speaking of India as a whole and not only of Bengal.....

[Sir Henry Craik.]

An Honourable Member : Including Jubbulpore.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : .....and numerous other instances pointing to the conclusion that terrorist conspiracies are still in being. In the north of India we have reason to think that there has been within the last few months a distinct revival of terrorism. As regards the second grave danger, I mean communal unrest, I regret that I can recall no time within my long experience of India when tension has been more acute.....

An Honourable Member : So long as the third party remains.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : .....and more widespread, nor I think any time when all thoughtful opinion, both official and non-official, has been more apprehensive of the future.

An Honourable Member : Is not the Communal Award responsible for it? (There were other interruptions also.)

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I would ask Honourable Members not to interrupt me.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Order, order. The Honourable Member is making a serious proposal, and the Chair hopes Honourable Members will listen to what the Honourable the Home Member has to say without interrupting him.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I have dealt with terrorism and communal unrest. As regards the third menace, the Communist movement the danger of that movement is one which, I think, is not perhaps fully appreciated by the general public. And that is, of course, very natural. It is not for obvious reasons possible for us to publish all the information we obtain about that movement, but I can assure the House that it is a movement which is becoming steadily and increasingly active and that it is a serious threat, not merely to Government, but to the whole fabric and organisation of society as at present constituted. I will, if the House will allow me, amplify that point at a later stage in the course of my remarks.

I have given very briefly our reasons for making this measure permanent. I do not propose to examine the question of permanency in relation to each individual clause; that would hardly be within the scope of a second reading speech. But I would like to emphasise this. The Bill is intended as a safeguard against revolutionary and subversive movements generally, and in particular, against the three imminent dangers to the public peace which I have described. As regards none of these dangers can we foresee at present any reasonable time when we can safely relax our precautions.

I will now deal with individual clauses of the Bill. To begin with, as I have said, recognising the fact that Civil Disobedience is in abeyance, we are proposing the repeal of five sections which deal with particular forms of the illegal manifestations of that movement. The first is section 2—I am referring throughout to the Act of 1932. We propose to repeal section 2 which deals with the offence of dissuading from enlisting in the Army, Navy, Air force or Police service, section 3 which deals with inducing or attempting to induce public servants to fail in their duty, section 4 which deals with the boycott of public servants, section 6 which makes penal the dissemination of false rumours, and section 8 which confers power on the Courts to compel the parent or guardian of a young person convicted of certain offences to pay the fine inflicted. All these provisions are proposed to be repealed. We propose to retain section 5 which, as I explained at the introduction stage, fills an obvious gap in the ordinary law. That section makes it penal to republish, in whole or in part, a document which has once been proscribed.

Now I come to section 7, a more important section than any of those with which I have dealt already. Section 7 deals with the offence of picketing. It is proposed to retain this section and also to retain the provision that it does not automatically come into force in any area but comes into force only when it is notified by the Local Government. It might, of course, be argued and perhaps will be argued that picketing was a form and indeed one of the principal forms of the Civil Disobedience Movement. We recognise that that movement is in abeyance, that picketing by promoters of that movement has been stopped, but that is not the reason why we are seeking to retain this section. Every Local Government or practically every Local Government, every Administration in India has stressed the necessity for its retention, for although it is perfectly true that picketing was started as part of the Civil Disobedience Movement or anyhow became a very prominent feature of the Civil Disobedience Movement, it is what I feel I must describe as an evil legacy left by that movement, which has been adopted as a regular method of expressing opposition to Government or opposition to any private persons with whom the picketers happen to differ on religious, political or economic grounds. I will develop that point in a moment but in any case picketing is undoubtedly a form of intimidation and a grave invasion of private rights. As my predecessor said, the public must be protected against this particular form of tyranny. To illustrate what I said just now about picketing having been adopted as a regular method of expressing opposition either to Government or to private persons, I have information to show that picketing is now constantly employed in strikes, more particularly in strikes of Communist origin, and that when so employed it almost invariably leads to violence. Section 7, the section which we propose to retain, has actually been found most useful in dealing with that form of picketing, quite apart from the Civil Disobedience Movement, particularly in Bombay and in Nagpur. In Burma, picketing of an intensive type is a very common feature of school strikes and rapidly becomes intimidation in an extreme form. In the Punjab too this feature has been present. Picketing was employed there only recently in a strike by the students of a Hindu technical institution, not a Government institution. The strike was directed not against Government in any way but against the private persons who were the managing body of that institution. There was another case of picketing in a Government Engineering College which certainly did lead to force and violence. I have rather an interesting story to tell the House as to this form of the use of picketing. In Amritsar there were two rival cinema houses, situated close together, and the proprietor of one of those houses managed to get hold of a particularly popular film, an Indian film. The proprietor of the other house saw all his clientele going day after day into the rival house. So he decided that that would not do at all. He spread about rumours that the film in question contained several gross insults to the Islamic religion and he hired men to picket the rival Cinema house. That went on for several days. The police had to be called in. There were several assaults and so far as I remember there was a really grave danger to the public peace. The movement was put down only by dealing with the picketers under this section. Eventually a small committee of leading and respected Muslims was appointed to undertake a private censorship of the film. They said that there was nothing whatever in the film that could be claimed even by the wildest stretch of imagination to contain any sort of insulting reference to Islam. It was merely a trade dodge to prevent people going into the rival cinema house.

[Sir Henry Craik.]

Sir, the experience of every province has been that picketing almost invariably leads to disorder and violence even when it was employed by people who nominally follow the creed of non-violence and that, I think, is sufficient justification for the retention of section 7.

I need not detain the House for more than a minute or two on the next two sections which are of comparatively minor importance and which it is proposed to retain with a few small consequential amendments. The offence of picketing will continue to be cognisable and non-bailable. This is essential, because persons, who are exposed to picketing, have very seldom in our experience the courage to institute complaints. Section 11, another section which is to be retained, gives the Government of India, as opposed to Local Governments, power to declare an association an unlawful association. That was a provision of the original Act of 1908 but it was dropped when the Act was amended in 1922. It is obviously a matter of convenience that in the case of associations of an all-India character which it is necessary to declare unlawful the declaration should be by the Government of India.

Next I come to an important and, I admit, a very controversial section, that is section 13 of the present Act of 1932. That was the section that added six new sections to Act XIV of 1908, the Act which gives Government power to declare associations to be unlawful. The new sections gave Government power to notify and take possession of places used by unlawful associations, to take possession of moveable property found in such places, and to forfeit the funds of such associations. Now my broad general case for the retention of these powers is as follows. If you admit that Government should have the power of formally declaring as unlawful certain associations, certain subversive movements, then I claim that that power should be of an effective nature, that is to say, it should be sufficient to enable Government to bring to a halt the activities of the association which has been declared unlawful. The Act of 1908, without these additions, has been found in practice to be of comparatively little use. It only makes possible the institution of proceedings against individuals either for being members of the unlawful association or for assisting in its activities or in its management. Without these additions, the Act gave no practical power of suppressing the association itself; and in the case of dangerous subversive movements, I submit that what you want, what is really a more effective and indeed humane remedy, is not to prosecute individuals but to suppress the association. Assuming that the revolutionary movements which I have spoken of continue, then it is our case that Government will remain under the duty of countering such associations, and this, we consider, can only be effected if Government has the power to seize their headquarters and to confiscate their funds. Remember that such headquarters have only one purpose, and that is an unlawful purpose. These powers will be specially useful, in our judgment, in dealing with Communist associations—and there are many such associations operating secretly and underground. Their literature, their propaganda and their stock-in-trade are often secreted in carefully concealed headquarters. They are, to our knowledge, receiving regular and steady remittances of money from abroad; and although it is not easy to lay hands on such remittances, the knowledge that we have the power to do so at any rate closes the ordinary channels of communication and adds to the difficulties of the organization. It is, moreover, likely to deter people from subscribing to such movements.

I am well aware that the use of the special additions made by the Act of 1932 to the Act of 1908 has been criticized; the use of these sections has been criticized especially in regard to their application to

[Sir Henry Craik.]

Congress organizations. Now, I am not at the moment going to defend their use ; it would hardly be relevant, but I want to point out that those powers have frequently been used in the past against unlawful associations completely distinct from and having no connection with Congress. They have been used against terrorist organizations and latterly against several Communist bodies, and I believe in Burma against a number of associations connected with the recent disastrous rebellion.

Sir, I have spoken more than once of Communism, and I have said that it is a growing danger the seriousness of which is perhaps not generally appreciated by the public. Perhaps I may be allowed at this stage to amplify those remarks, because Communism is one of the three subversive movements against which this Bill is directed. The movement, as I have said, works underground, in India at any rate, and the average citizen knows comparatively little about it. But those of us who have had the chance of studying its methods and its literature are left in no kind of doubt that it aims at bringing about, as quickly as it can, an armed revolution. That revolution is to be brought about—I quote their own words—“ by the armed insurrection of the widest possible masses of the working class, the peasantry, and the revolutionary petty bourgeoisie ”. The movement is, of course, aimed against all forms of what is broadly described as “ imperialism ”, but it is even more hostile to the political aims and methods of the Honourable gentlemen opposite. (Laughter.)

An Honourable Member : Not hostile to yourself ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Communist movement condemns the objects and aims of the Congress Party root and branch, and it seems to be specially hostile, curiously enough, to the left wing of the Congress—to what is generally known as the Congress Socialist Party, which in a very recent publication it described as “ having the aim of drawing the oppressed and exploited masses to its side under the show of sham socialist promises ”. Its latest pronouncements are absolutely opposed to any alliance, any form of alliance, with any section of the Congress. Its object is—here again I quote its own words—“ to be a completely independent political organization of the vanguard of the working classes, carrying on a merciless struggle both against Imperialism and against Bourgeois National Reformism ”, that is, against the Congress movement. (Laughter.) The first step in its struggle is to be the organization of political general strikes, and from that it is of course an easy step to an armed rising of the masses, with the object of sweeping away, not only the Government but the whole fabric of society as now constituted, including of course eventually all religions and all the great social structures which in this country are based on religion. At the moment the objects of the Communist Party are directed especially towards a general strike ; and with this object it is trying—I am glad to say not very successfully—to capture the genuine trades unions. What the genuine trades unions themselves think of the Communist Party, I have ample evidence to show. They are perfectly alive to the danger, and in some cases have expelled from their unions people who are avowed Communists. (Interruptions.) In one case an important Railway Union, one of the largest, I believe, in India, expelled the Communists from its body, and the General Secretary of the union issued a statement which I should like to quote. He said :

“ We have now come to realise that these organisers (that is the communists) are not primarily interested in the immediate work of the genuine trades unions. Belonging as they do to the communist school of thought and openly professing the communist philosophy involving undisguised preaching of violence, they were primarily interested in exploiting the union for their specific objective. We find them giving the slogan of a general political strike in season and out of season, when we definitely know that the workers in their present disorganised condition cannot be effectively mobilised to a strike even for their own economic demands.”

He added :

“ Many of the branches strongly protested against the activity of these Communist workers and the headquarters of the union have been called upon to disown and denounce their policy.”

Now, Sir, surely nobody can deny that that is potentially a most dangerous movement. Remember that it is financed largely from outside India. There is a regular traffic, I am sorry to say, of young Indians being sent to Moscow for training in Communist and revolutionary methods.

Mr. B. Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Question !

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am absolutely sure of my facts, and I can quote instance after instance. It is absurd to say “ question ”. Some of these young men actually found their way back to India and are actively engaged in propagating the Communist doctrine of violent rebellion.

Now, Sir, I leave that subject and come to what is probably the most controversial part of what I fear is likely to be an extremely controversial Bill, and that is sections 14, 15 and 16 of the existing Act, which continued in its present form the Emergency Press Act of 1931. We propose that those provisions should be continued. Now, on this subject of the history and activities of the Indian Press I have an almost embarrassing amount of material and I have had considerable difficulty in picking and choosing what I should place before the House today. I think, however, that it is desirable that I should begin by briefly reminding the House of the recent history of press legislation. In 1910 a Press Act was passed which was broadly, though not in details, on the lines of the Act now in force, that is to say, the Emergency Act of 1931. It enabled security to be demanded and in certain cases to be forfeited and so on. That Act was passed in 1910 and continued in force till 1922 when it was repealed. After its repeal for a period of about eight years, that is until the promulgation of the first Ordinance of April 1930, the only control that could be exercised over the Press was under the ordinary law, that is the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code. The experience of those eight years showed that the ordinary law was entirely insufficient to stop inflammatory writings of the most dangerous description in support of terrorism, in praise of terrorist murderers and in the most violent incitement to communal hatred. I think a collection of extracts has been circulated or is going to be circulated to Honourable Members to illustrate that and I will not weary the House with extracts now. I hope at a later stage of the debate other speakers may have an opportunity of amplifying this point and may also have an opportunity of describing how for those eight years a large section of the Press—I do not say, of course, the whole Press but I must say that it was an important section of the Press—was devoted to encouraging terrorism and to praising terrorist murderers. I would only like to read to the House one little extract to show that my view is shared (or was shared) in a somewhat unexpected quarter. The extract is from an article published on the 28th of May, 1931, and the writer said :

[Sir Henry Craik.]

" I have before me extracts from journals containing some gruesome news, that is, communal incitement, gross misrepresentation and incitement to political violence bordering on murder."

The writer of those lines, Sir, was Mahatma Gandhi himself and the article appeared in his paper Young India on the 28th of May, 1931.

Now, I have said that, apart from encouragement to terrorism in those eight years in which the press was under no control, there was steady fomentation and encouragement of communal hatred by a certain section of the press. The House will remember that in April, 1926, there were very serious communal riots in Calcutta which lasted, so far as I remember, for some months off and on. In 1927 the Bengal Government reported that since the riots of April, 1926 :

" Almost every Indian newspaper, forgetful of the larger issues at stake, completely lost its balance and ranging itself uncompromisingly on the side of dissension proceeded to fill its pages with the most provocative articles and to indulge in the most extravagant and biased accounts of alleged incidents. Naturally, the result of this irresponsibility on the part of the Press, together with the equally irresponsible references of a number of prominent Indians, was to spread discord and unrest throughout the mofussil."

The same thing was happening at the same time in the Punjab, where I was then working. Throughout 1926 and in the early part of 1927 the communal situation was most serious and it culminated in severe riots at Lahore in May, 1927, when 27 persons were killed and about 300 wounded as a result of mob violence. Shortly after these riots, the Punjab Government reported as follows :

" It is notorious that many weekly and daily newspapers depend for their circulation on the publication of matter deliberately designed to increase communal hostility and that there exists a considerable class of pamphleteers and cartoonists who thrive by the dissemination of such matter. It is generally admitted by those in close touch with the journalistic profession that the more exaggerated are the stories to which they give currency and the more alarmist the rumours which they spread, the greater is their sale."

That is the sad part of it. It is done only for pecuniary gain. The letter went on to say :

" Attacks on religious leaders are by no means the only stock-in-trade of these journals, nor are they the monopoly of any one community. Vilification of historical personages is another common feature. Thus, abuse of Shivaji appears in Muslim papers, while Timur, Aurungzeb and Mohammad Bin Kasim are frequently held up to obloquy in Hindu journals. Several papers make it a practice to quote obscene passages, especially those dealing with sexual relations, from the scriptures of the opposite religion and the social habits of the different communities are constantly held up to ridicule."

Now, Sir, that was the situation which led up to the promulgation of the first Press Ordinance in April, 1930. The situation was, of course, aggravated by the launching of the Civil Disobedience Movement and the Ordinance was necessitated partly by that but mainly by the very dangerous situation that had by then arisen in regard to terrorism. The Ordinance was promulgated in April, 1930, and expired towards the end of October of the same year. Within one month of its expiry inflammatory writings were again appearing in the Press and, of course, the Ordinance having expired there was no means left but the ordinary law from checking them. Writing on the 13th December, 1930, that is, about six weeks after the expiry of the Ordinance, the Punjab Government reported :

" Since the Indian Press Ordinance of 1930 lapsed the tone of the Indian-edited newspapers in the Punjab has steadily deteriorated and recently articles of such virulence have appeared as to indicate that the ordinary law has no terrors for editors who are bent on creating disaffection against Government. Since the expiry of the Ordinance prosecutions under section 124-A of the Indian Penal Code have been ordered in two cases and proscriptions in two other cases on account of articles published in the newspapers. But these are only extreme cases where the law has been manifestly broken. Apart from such cases there is a daily flood of articles on the border line, all of which are calculated to arouse disaffection, although they may not be of sufficient virulence to make it worth while to prosecute."

Only 19 days after the lapse of the Ordinance, a Bihar paper published the following poem which is a rough translation :

" Set fire to every house "
 " Stir up life everywhere "
 " Allow the breast to be riddled by gun shot "
 " Drive out the country's enemies "
 " Dye the cloth with your blood "
 " Destroy the British rule "
 " Let the head hang on the gallows "
 " Throw away the foreign goods."

An Honourable Member : What is the name of the paper which published this poem ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I had better not mention the name of the paper. All the other Local Governments similarly reported a rapid deterioration in the tone of the Press and the publication of articles which would have come within the provisions of the Ordinance had it been in force. The Bengal Government, for instance, said :

" Many papers threw off all pretence of opposition to violence. Several papers openly expressed sentiments of approval of the Chittagong Armoury Raid. The Swadhamith features an article entitled ' Bravo Chittagong '. An attempt on the life of Sir Charles Tegart passed almost un-noticed, such sympathy as there was being almost entirely for the assassins, one of whom was killed by his own bomb. The assassinations of Mr. Lowman and Lieutenant-Colonel Simpson were condemned so half-heartedly as to leave no doubt as to the insincerity of the writers, while the murderers were praised."

That was the situation when the second Ordinance had to be promulgated in December, 1930. It was necessitated by the complete and rapid deterioration of the Press all over the country in every Province, practically immediately the first Ordinance lapsed. The second Ordinance lasted till the 6th March, 1931, when all the Ordinances were withdrawn after the Pact. Then, again, from March, 1931, till October of that year, a period of about seven months, there was no further control over the Press other than the ordinary law, but unfortunately any hope that the extremist Press would observe a reasonable amount of restraint was disappointed. In all Provinces there was once again an immediate and steady deterioration. In Bengal direct or indirect approbation of terrorism in the Press gained in volume and boldness of expression. Apart from the open glorification of terrorist murderers there were constant histories of revolution in different countries and of the lives of revolutionaries, constant poems extolling revolutionary activities in language designedly obscure and professed condemnation of terrorist crimes, coupled with the praise of the self-sacrifice and idealism of the terrorist murderers :

[Sir Henry Craik.]

“ There can be no manner of doubt ”,

—the Bengal Government wrote at that time, that was in 1931,—

“ that this elevation of cowardly murder to the plane of heroism and the criminal's expiation of his crime to that of martyrdom had an enormous effect in inciting immature and sentimental minds to follow the example of these so-called patriots. There is no possibility that better counsels will prevail or that the more sober and saner section of society will have any influence in restraining the Press. It is true that there has been a slight improvement in the local Press in the last few days, but this is attributable solely,.....”

—this, I think, is significant,—

“ to fear bred of talk and rumour that the Press Ordinance is to be revived.”

Thus, in the periods from 1922 to early 1930, in November, 1930 and in March and April, 1931, similar causes produced exactly similar effects.

So much for past history of Press legislation. I have shown, I think conclusively, from the experience of no less than three periods, that whenever the control of the Press has been relaxed there has been in certain sections an immediate and dangerous deterioration in its tone. It is idle to argue in face of these incontrovertible facts that all sections of the Press are actuated by a proper sense of responsibility. But the point I wish to make is this, that responsible and properly conducted newspapers which do not indulge in such writings have nothing to fear from this law.

Now, there is one other point in this connection and that is the complete inadequacy of the permanent laws embodied in the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code to restrain the undesirable activities of the Press. I quote again from a letter of a Local Government dealing with this very point :

“ The power of proscription under section 99-A of the Procedure Code is of little avail because the objectionable matter is already published and in circulation before Government can take action. In fact in some cases proscription merely gives an undesirable advertisement to the document which is proscribed. Action under section 108,”.....

—that is the security section of the Criminal Procedure Code,—

“ and prosecutions under sections 124-A and 153-A ”.....

—that is, for promoting communal hatred,—

“ are rendered fruitless by the employment of dummy editors, publishers or printers who are put up for prosecution while the actual person responsible cannot be touched by the law. This practice was not new in 1927.”

This practice is a very old one and has been I believe common in Bengal so far back as 1907. In the north of India during the eight years that there was no control over the Press it became in the case of these gutter journals a regular practice :

“ While proceedings under the Criminal Procedure Code or the Penal Code are frequently protracted, there is nothing in the existing law to restrain the offending press or newspaper from republishing the very matter which is the subject of prosecution.”

Actually to my personal knowledge there is nothing which some of the lowest class of journals welcome more than a criminal prosecution.

Only the dummy editor goes to jail, and the more protracted the prosecution, the greater is the advertisement and the higher goes the circulation of the paper. In the Punjab in the year 1926,—that was when there was of course no special law,—prosecutions under section 153-A, i.e., for incitement to communal unrest, were instituted against the editors of seven newspapers, three being Muslims, two Hindus and two Sikhs. In the first eight months of 1927,—that was when communal unrest was extremely bad and the House will remember that there was a serious communal riot in May, 1927,—the Punjab Government proscribed 11 newspapers and eight books. During the same period 17 papers were warned and proceedings taken under section 153-A of the Indian Penal Code or section 108 of the Criminal Procedure Code against these newspapers. These proceedings, however, had little or no effect in restraining the dissemination of undesirable matter. The Punjab Government's letter went on to say :

“ At the present moment (August, 1927), the tone of the vernacular press as a whole is probably more virulent and more obscene than at any time since 1922.”

That was the year when the Press Act was repealed :

“ The power to proscribe publications that offend.....is of little practical use in the case of newspapers, for objectionable articles can obviously only come to the knowledge of Government after publication, and once a newspaper has obtained two or three hours' start the mischief is done.”

Then, the letter went on to deal with what I have said was a common practice, and I am afraid still is in some cases, of employing dummy editors, and I should like the House to listen to this quotation because it shows how this practice renders the common law of the land entirely futile :

“ Within a short period as many as 10 successive editors were registered for the Siyasat of Lahore. The Zamindar has in recent years been warned no less than 14 times ; and about a dozen separate prosecutions under the Penal Code have been instituted, most of which have ended in conviction. In not one of these prosecutions, however, was it possible to proceed against the real editor and proprietor. On each occasion a dummy editor had been the victim. Only a few days ago on the arrest of such a nominal editor under section 153-A.....a man who is illiterate and totally blind has been registered as editor of the journal. Similarly on the recent conviction of the editor and proprietor of the Muslim Outlook for contempt of court in respect of an article commenting on a High Court judgment, the nominal editorship of this daily paper passed to a man who was formerly a railway guard and later a member of a gang of currency notes forgers, who has escaped conviction by becoming an approver. The present editor of a Sikh newspaper which is now being prosecuted under the Indian States (Protection against Disaffection) Act, 1922, is an ex-convict, a barber by caste, who was for a time a syce in a labour corps and was sentenced to imprisonment for desertion. Nearly all the worst vernacular journals have dummy editors of this type, most of them being ex-convicts for whom imprisonment is no real deterrent.”

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : We are all ex-convicts on this side.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Then imprisonment has no terror for you also. But you don't forge currency notes.

As regards the press provisions I want to emphasise the point that we have no desire whatever to throttle criticism even of the most vigorous kind, provided it is not based on malicious lies and false rumours. The Act is not directed and has not been used against responsible newspapers or presses. It has been used, I claim, with moderation and restraint. I will not quote figures now but no doubt they will come up later in the debate.

[Sir Henry Craik.]

So much, Sir, for the Press Act. I do not think I need trouble the House at this stage with any observations on the remaining sections of the Act of 1932 as none of them are really of any great importance.

Sir, I have endeavoured to present the case for my Bill as dispassionately as possible. I have endeavoured to justify its provisions in no offensive spirit. I am extremely grateful to the House for the patient hearing which they have given me. I should like, before I sit down, to repeat my hope that the debate which will follow will be conducted, though I know it must be controversial, without undue heat or undue bitterness. Many Honourable Members will no doubt differ from us but I would ask them at any rate to give us credit for acting on our sincere convictions. We have to bear in mind two main considerations, we have to keep before us two objects which we think it our duty to pursue. The first is that we have to hand over to the new Governments which are very shortly coming into existence an administrative machine provided with the necessary means of countering the subversive and disruptive forces which may attack it. The new Governments will, as I see the future, be probably more sensitive to the more subtle and dangerous forms of agitation than the present Governments. In particular I fear that they may find more difficulty in dealing effectively with dangerous situations arising out of communal strife. It would obviously be unfair to deprive them at the outset of their career of weapons which we have found indispensable and to place on them the odium of having to forge such weapons anew.

The second object which we conceive it our duty to pursue is this. There is a large section of the population of this country which really has very little interest, if any, in political movements of any kind. All up and down the country there are millions, even in the constituencies represented by Honourable Members opposite, there are millions of quiet decent people with but little interest in national development, who take no part, if they can help it, in any form of agitation. (Interruptions.) I think Honourable Members might allow me to conclude without interruption.

✓ Some Honourable Members : Please go on.

✓ The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : All that these people ask for is to be allowed to pursue in peace "their lawful occasions", to enjoy freedom and toleration in their possessions and freedom and toleration in the observance of their religion. To these innumerable and voiceless millions what is called in cant phrase "countrywide agitation" of any kind usually entails a certain amount of suffering and misery, either economic or domestic. From being drawn into such suffering it is the duty of Government to protect these people.

Sir, my final word is this : that the object of this legislation is not to crush the spirit of nationalism. That spirit we are doing our best to develop on peaceful and orderly lines. (Cries of 'Oh !' and Opposition laughter.) While we pursue that object, we must keep before us the words of a very wise statesman, the present Prime Minister of England :

"The price of liberty is eternal vigilance, and it is our duty to keep the State steady at a point where liberty is neither curtailed by untoward restrictions nor abused by unseemly licence."

✓ Sir, I beg to move :

"That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration." ✓

Mr. President : (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Motion moved :

"That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration."

There was a notice from the Honourable Member, Mr. Gauba, that he intended to move an amendment, to refer the Bill to a Select Committee : the Chair understands the Honourable Member does not wish to move it.

Mr. K. L. Gauba (East Central Punjab : Muhammadan) : No, Sir : I do not wish to move it.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till a Quarter to Three of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at a Quarter to Three of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

✓ Mr. S. Satyamurti : Mr. President, the Honourable the Home Member, whose absence from his seat I regret, in his opening speech the other day, as well as today, appealed for the elimination of bitterness from this discussion. I think, Sir, I can promise him in advance that, so far as in us lies, we shall do our best to avoid all bitterness. But, Sir, he claimed that he introduced this Bill on behalf of the Government of India, with a very real sense of responsibility. I want him to believe, Sir, that when we oppose the consideration of this Bill, we do so with an equally serious sense of full responsibility. If today, Sir, we are to run this Government, we shall have no use for this Bill at all. We are absolutely confident that we can govern this country peacefully and in its best interests, without the help of this Bill. He also wanted us, Sir, to believe that they were honestly convinced that this Bill was necessary. I again want him to believe that we are equally honestly convinced that this Bill is not in the best interests of this country. Nearly a generation ago, Mr. President, Lord Morley, the then Secretary of State for India, wrote to Lord Minto, the then Viceroy, "for intractable blindness to all the signs of the times give me a certain sort of high Indian Civilian", and, I think, Sir, for a generation now, the Honourable the Home Member has remained stationary, not only sartorially on his own admission, but also mentally ; and today, we have the same phenomenon of purblindness to all the signs of the times ; otherwise, I cannot understand why, if they have passed the Government of India Act with a flourish of trumpets saying that Swaraj is on the horizon, they should introduce this Bill. A sane but not very progressive Viceroy, Lord Minto,—I read this in Lady Minto's very interesting book "India, Minto and Morley",—said :

"As to repressive legislation, it is all important that it should precede your announcement of reforms in Parliament. I am most anxious that we should get our disagreeable work over, before your announcement is made. We must give the medicine first, and then do all we can to take the case away. If we were to follow up your announcement with stiff legislation and deportation, we should make a fatal mistake. The taste of the last dose would remain in the patient's mouth."

I commend the last sentence to the Honourable the Home Member and his advisers.

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

Then, Sir, in answer to a point I raised about the prepublication of the contents of the Bill in the Statesman, the Honourable the Home Member categorically and with some temper, I was sorry to note.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No, no.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I accept the correction,—stated that the Government had two categories of press in this country, the “friendly” and the “unfriendly” press, and they would use the friendly press for their propaganda and look askance at the unfriendly press.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I did not say that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You did not say that, but you meant it, and I want to commend to him a piece of advice which a very ancient man, Maricha, gave to a very ancient Rakshasa, Ravana :

*Sulabhā purashā rājan satatam priya vādinah,
Apriyasya tu tashyasya vaktā shrotācha durlabhah,*

I will translate it for the Honourable the Home Member :

“Men who talk pleasant inanities are plenty, but those who speak the truth, be it pleasant or unpleasant, are very few, and those who listen to that truth are fewer indeed”; and I would suggest to my Honourable friend, the Home Member, that, after that admission,—I am very glad the Honourable the Law Member appreciates it, and I hope, Sir, he will act on that, in his dealings with the Government and talk the unpleasant truth, and not the pleasant untruth.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : I have always done that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, I suggest to my friend, the Home Member, that when a Member of Government says “I look upon one section of the press as friendly, and upon another section as unfriendly”, he is giving away the entire case for any confidence being reposed in the Government to administer the Press Act impartially. On their own showing, all editors of presses are not equal in their eyes. Some of them are black, some of them are white, some of them, I believe, are black and white in their eyes ; and, therefore, I say that this attitude of the Government is proof positive that the Press Act is a dangerous weapon in the hands of this Government.

Sir, the ugliest feature of this Bill is the cool, audacious assertion that it shall remain permanently on the Statute-book ; and in trying to justify that, Sir, the Honourable the Home Member said temporary legislation against subversive movements encourages the hope that those movements may be resumed. Now, Sir, the Honourable the Home Member evidently believes in only one method of dealing with these movements, namely, attempting to suppress them, but I suggest to him that, from the political philosophy and history of his own country, there is another, saner, better and more effective method of dealing with these movements, and that is, to remove the causes which cause these movements. (“Hear, hear” from Congress Party Benches.) And, so long as the Honourable the Home Member believes that he can suppress these movements, he will find he is grossly mistaken, if he does not adopt ameliorative measures to remove the causes entirely. I congratulate, Sir, the Honourable the Home Member on having paid the Mahatma the sincerest form of compliment by adopting his phrase “change of heart”. Now, I want to know whether there is any change of heart on the part of this Government when, after having made an Ordinance for six months, after having enacted a law for three years, they now come and say : “We want a permanent measure on the Statute-book”.

Then, my Honourable friend said that it is impossible to see any reasonable period of time within which terrorism, communism or communal menace may come to an end. On that matter, I desire to make two submissions. The Honourable the Home Member read a series of extracts. I listened to them very carefully, and I think I am right in saying that all those extracts came from Bengal or from the Punjab.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : There are plenty of them from other provinces.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I know my Honourable friend's resources are unlimited, but he thought that, for the purpose of proving his case, those extracts were enough. I take him at his word.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Should I not take you at your word ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I did not wish to weary the House with more extracts.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You chose the most important, the most significant, and the most dangerous.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The most telling.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Therefore, so far as the Honourable the Home Member's sense of values is concerned, the danger is very great in Bengal and in the Punjab. The danger is admittedly, I put it at the lowest, not so great in other provinces. Now, I want to put it to him that, in Bengal, they have a special Act which they have passed recently into law, I believe, for another period of five years, and there are many other Acts besides this permanently on the Statute-book. The same is the case in the Punjab. I want to know why, when these two provinces are supposed to be particularly criminal and when in those provinces there are special Acts, an all-India permanent Act should be sought to be placed on the Statute-book. As for communal troubles I do not want to say a word which will make a bad situation worse. But I do suggest to the Honourable the Home Member to lay his hand on his heart and to say to himself and not to us, whether this Government have done all that they can to promote communal peace and harmony in this country, whether they have not on the whole played the game, sometimes successfully, sometimes unsuccessfully, of pitting one community against another. I, therefore, think that, if the communal situation is not better than what it is, part at least of that responsibility must lie at the doors of this Government.

Mr. Sri Prakasa (Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : It will end with them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Therefore, it seems to me that there are no valid reasons given for making this measure permanent. For that one reason alone, we should oppose this. The Honourable the Home Member's predecessor, Sir Harry Haig, in the course of more than one speech on this Bill in the last Assembly said, "The origin of the Bill is Civil Disobedience," "So long as the movement continues we must have these powers". And in the Statement of Objects and Reasons of this Bill you will notice in paragraph 2 the first sentence reads as follows :

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

"The Civil Disobedience Movement is at present in abeyance. Government have, therefore, decided not to continue the provisions against those forms of intimidation which were a special feature of that movement, namely, etc."

I do suggest to the Honourable the Home Member that, if he is to go by the statements of his predecessor he should not have introduced this Bill, and I suggest to him the wise words of a statement :

"When a political emergency becomes the normal state of affairs, the time has definitely passed for dealing with it either by executive decree or by legislative enactment. The question, then, is of ameliorative and conciliatory statesmanship."

Then, Sir, we had a few words from the Honourable the Home Member which showed deep and grave concern for the future of the new Governments to be established in this country. The Honourable the Home Member's heart is overflowing with sympathy for these unfortunate new Governments, and, therefore, he must put this weapon on the Statute-book in order to help them start the administration peacefully. What are these new Governments ? On the Government's own showing the new Governments in the provinces are going to be fully responsible Governments, Governors' safeguards being there merely for the sake of being there, and never going to be used. If there is a little of sincerity in that claim for these new Governments, I put it to my Honourable friend that he should show that sincerity by allowing these Provincial Governments to administer these provinces on their own responsibility. Law and order are supposed to be, under the Government of India Act, provincial transferred subjects, for which there will be Ministers responsible to the provincial Legislatures. I want to know why the Honourable the Home Member thinks that he must give a free gift of this Bill to the provincial Ministers, when they have to start their work under the new reforms. And I suggest that the Ministers can be trusted to deal with the situation, with a full knowledge of their own responsibility. Moreover, I want to point out, if I may, that unlike under the present Government of India Act, under the new Government of India Act there are at least seven authorities who can make emergency laws besides the Legislatures,—the Governor General, all the Governors, the Ministers, and so on, and so forth. Therefore, even if an emergency arises, there is ample statutory provision under the new Government of India Act. The real reason, may I suggest, is this, that they contemplate the Government of this country by means of safeguards, and, therefore, in order to protect these autocratic Governors and the Governor General, they want this Bill on the Statute-book, in order to stifle public opinion in the Press and on the platform. Otherwise, I can see no justification for this measure at all. Again, whenever we ask questions here on any matter, even of an all-India importance, if it is technically Local Governments', the questions are over-ruled.—I am not questioning your ruling at all, Mr. President, I am merely drawing a lesson from it—on the ground that they are questions which primarily concern the Local Governments. Do not law and order primarily concern Local Governments ? Why should the Government of India be so anxious to pass this all-India legislation ? Is it not inconsistent with the spirit of the so-called provincial autonomy ?

I hope that even this Government have not yet become wholly impervious to public opinion. I would ask my Honourable friend, the Home Member, to tell me, apart from Local Governments, what public opinion is in favour of this Bill ? Which associations have sent memorials to the Government in support of this Bill ? Have any public bodies supported this Bill ? Has any Indian newspaper supported this Bill ? For whom are you enacting it ?

An Honourable Member : The Statesman.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is this idea of naked autocracy ? Why do you want to enact the law in the teeth of all relevant public opinion ? And, I submit, public opinion is the most relevant consideration in a repressive measure of this extensive kind. I will read the words of a man, whose authority even this Government dare not question on the floor of this House :

"This Bill is a mere copy with certain provisions of the Ordinance which was passed by the Governor General in exercise of his prerogative. But we are asked now to add to the ordinary criminal law of the land, provisions which, I submit with entire confidence to the House, are absolutely inconsistent with the principles of criminal jurisdiction, even as prevalent in this country. The importance of this measure, the serious character of its effects on the lives of the citizens, on their most cherished rights, on their rights of personal protection, and personal liberty, on their rights of property, on their rights of association are all of a character which cannot be said to be at all slight or which can be brushed aside as something unimportant. Now, a measure of this magnitude and importance and seriousness can only be passed by us if we find it absolutely necessary to meet a condition of things which exists at the present moment and if we had the support of public opinion. If public opinion is against it, does he expect us to defy public opinion ? We are here in order to represent and voice public opinion, to din it into the ears of the Government ; and are we the persons to be asked to act contrary to public opinion ? Is not this enough to show that this measure is wholly unjustified and cannot be forced down upon us ? The officials are in a different position. I understand that, they can defy public opinion and they have often done it. But our position is very different. So, I say, we are not in a position to support this measure as admittedly public opinion is hostile to it. This is one conclusive answer. Another conclusive answer is that Government have not proved their case."

These were your words when the Criminal Law Amendment Act was before this House, and even this Government dare not question the impartiality of your judgment or your capacity to pronounce on public questions.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Bill was passed by a large majority.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You will find a different tale this time.

An Honourable Member : He had a foretaste of it yesterday.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to ask a question. It arose also on my point. Did Government consult public opinion ? Did they consult only the European Chambers of Commerce ? Did they consult the European associations ? I want to ask another question—are all Local Governments in favour of this Bill and do Local Governments mean Ministers also, especially in my province ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I cannot recollect.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did that Government say in their opinions that their Ministers support them in their demand ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Some of them certainly but I cannot remember.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the Madras Government said that their Ministers are in favour of this Bill ? Now, Sir, so far as this Bill is concerned, there are four matters really sought to be dealt with. First is picketing, the second is unlawful associations, the third is more control of the Press, and a new offence, section 5, reading from a proscribed book or document. Now, I suggest that, so far as picketing is done by illegal or unlawful means, it can be dealt with by the ordinary law of the land. I ask my friend, the Law Member, to use his legal conscience, if he interferes in this debate at all, and to tell the House whether I am not right, humble as I am, in my contention that picketing carried on illegally or by unlawful means can be dealt with by the ordinary law of the land.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : Are you charging me with having a conscience ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I apologise. As for other forms of picketing, if it is peaceful, I suggest that it should not be interfered with by the Government. I will come to that presently, but let me deal at once with section 5 of the old Act. I must say, as one who has spent two weeks on this very difficult task that it is almost impossible to follow this referential legislation. We have got two or three Acts and we have got to go backwards and forwards. However, I will do my best. Section 5 of the old Act is sought to be re-enacted. That section says :

“Whoever publishes, circulates or repeats in public any passage from a newspaper, a book or other document, copies whereof have been declared to be forfeited to His Majesty under any law for the time being in force, shall be punishable, etc.”

The second clause says :

“No Court shall take cognisance of an offence punishable under this section unless the Local Government has certified that the passage published, circulated or repeated contains in the opinion of the Local Government seditious or other matter of the nature contained in section 99A of the Criminal Procedure Code or sub-section (1) of section 1 of the Press Emergency Powers Act.”

These are very comprehensive words. Sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Press Emergency Powers Act contains only two clauses, inciting to the offence of murder or other offences involving any violence or expressing admiration of any such offence or person, but according to this Criminal Law Amendment Act, which is sought to be made permanent, there are six clauses added to it, seducing any officer or soldier from the army, sedition, causing annoyance to any person engaged in the administration of law, inducing public servants to resign from office, etc., promoting feelings of enmity, prejudicing the recruitment of persons, etc. Now, Sir, if you take the very comprehensive nature of this clause and see what is exactly sought to be done, you will see at once the mischief of this clause. What is sought to be prohibited is not the publication of a seditious book, not the publication of a document which comes within any one of these numerous and comprehensive categories, but the publication of a document or a passage which the Executive in its own unaided discretion will declare to be seditious or otherwise. It may have been proscribed by the Government, but the Government is the last person in the world to administer any law judicially. Every civilised Government knows it, and leaves it very rightly to the Courts of law.

My objection to section 5 is that it enthrones executive arbitrary discretion in the place of the decisions of the ordinary Courts of law in this country. And that I am right there, I will prove by a quotation from the Honourable Sir Harry Haig himself when he was Home Member. Replying to a similar attack as mine on this clause, he said :

“It has been said that in fact the magistrate will have very little to do in such cases. Now, I quite admit it ; this is really in essence an executive proceeding—the proscription of a book or document. Now, in order to make that executive proceeding effective, one must provide that the publication of any portion of that book or document in defiance of that order should be punishable, and that it is required to prove that the book has been proscribed and that it has been deliberately published or circulated. I frankly admit it—that this is an executive proceeding which, if there is any defiance of it, has got to be completed and followed by a legal process.”

Therefore, there is no judicial discretion in the matter at all ; and I think I may point out that, so far as this particular offence of publishing a seditious document is concerned, if the Government are merely anxious to prevent really seditious books from being published, the Government have got ample power, under section 124A of the Indian Penal Code, section 108 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and section 99A of the Criminal Procedure Code. They need not have this power at all. Only they want to substitute pure executive discretion for judicial decision in such matters. I submit that this is a very dangerous position, and no Legislature, which claims to be representative or even reasonable, can allow the executive Government to usurp these powers. On this matter again, I have the high authority of a distinguished Englishman which I trust this Government will not brush aside. I am referring to Chief Justice Hewart's book, ‘The New Despotism’. This is what Chief Justice Hewart writes about the tendency of the executive in such matters :

“The business of the executive is to govern. The only persons fit to govern are experts. The experts in the art of Government are the permanent officials, who, exhibiting an ancient and too much neglected virtue, ‘think themselves worthy of great things, being worthy’. Two main obstacles hamper the beneficent work of the expert. One is the sovereignty of Parliament, and the other is the rule of law. To this end, let him clothe himself with despotic power and then because the forms are Parliamentary, defy the law courts.”

This course will prove tolerably simple if he can :

- (a) get legislation passed in a skeleton form, fill up the gap with his own rules, orders and regulations, (b) make it difficult or impossible for Parliament to check the said rules, orders and regulations, (c) secure for them the force of statute, (d) make his own decision final, and (e) arrange that the fact of his decision shall be conclusive proof of its legality, (f) take power to modify the provisions of statutes, and (g) prevent and avoid any sort of appeal to a court of law.”

I think, Sir, every Member of this House will agree with Chief Justice Hewart when he says that :

“We cannot really prefer the executive jurisdiction to the jurisdiction of courts, and our faith in courts is not a mere fetish. It is based on certain fundamental reasons. The work of a court involves many important ingredients, as for example the judge is identified and is responsible for his decision, the case is conducted in public. The result is governed by impartial application of principles. All parties to the controversy are fully and fairly heard. All these elements are absent from executive decisions.”

My objection to section 5, therefore, is that it seeks to punish as an offence, not an offence which is found on evidence, sifted by Courts of law in public and found as such, but offences so prescribed by the executive; and if, perhaps, Chief Justice Hewart is a little too strong for the Members of the Front Treasury Bench, I may quote a more respectable individual. Lord Morley, Sir, in one of those numerous delightful letters which he wrote to Lord Minto—he writes in answer to a high official like one of those Honourable Occupants of the Treasury Bench:

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

“So and so said to me this morning”—he has left out the name unfortunately—“You see the great executive officers never like or trust lawyers.” “I will tell you why.”—I said—“It is because they do not like or trust law.” (Laughter.) “They in their hearts believe before all else the virtues of will and arbitrary power.” “That system may have worked in its own way in old days, and in those days the people may have had no particular objection to arbitrary rule, but, as you have said to me scores of times, the old days are gone and the times breathe a new spirit, and we cannot carry on upon the old maxims. This is not to say that we are to watch the evil-doers with folded arms, waiting to see what the Devil will send us. You will tell me what you think is needed. I trust and fully believe that you will not judge me to be callous, sitting comfortably in an armchair at Whitehall, while bombs are scattering violent death in India, while men like—so and so are running the risk of murder every hour, for year after year, upon the frontier, while all sorts and conditions of men and women are enveloped in possibilities of hideous horrors like those of fifty years ago. All I can say is”—and I respectfully commend those words to the Honourable the Home Member—“we have to take every precaution that law and administration can supply us with”—not this illegal law, lawless law—“and meanwhile to face what comes in the same spirit of energy and stoicism combined in which good generals face a prolonged and hazardous campaign.”

Then, Sir, the next section in this Bill which is sought to be perpetuated is section 7—“molesting a person to prejudice of employment on business.”

Now, Sir, in paragraph 2 of the Statement of Objects and Reasons, we find these statements:

“Picketing has not ceased with the civil disobedience movement. It is now recognized not only as a means of opposition to any form of constituted authority but also of causing annoyance to private persons who differ from the political, economic or religious views of the picketers. It is likely to be a main feature of any subversive movement and it cannot be dealt with effectively under the ordinary law.”

I propose, Sir, to contest every one of these statements. As for the question of annoyance, Mr. President, I speak with great hesitation, but it does seem to me to be that public morality, to a certain extent at least, depends upon the fear of annoyance by others, if we do certain flagrant acts in public. No one can live in a community or society without fearing some kind of annoyance or other. We annoy our friends without fearing and I am sure they annoy us. Are we then to enact a law that, to prevent annoyance to my friends, we shall all be wiped out, or per contra. Sir, annoyance is inevitable in some form or other in the scheme of society. Not all of us are made of the same sweet temper always, and it does seem to me that to try to protect a man from annoyance, even God cannot do it, and it is only the Government of India that dare attempt to do it. No man can do just what he pleases, and I put it to my Honourable friend, Sir, that, if social reform in any civilised society is to depend merely on legislation, on the fear of punishment, this poor humanity of ours would have made no progress at all. It is because there have been great reformers who, to the annoyance of others, have perpetually brought forth their doctrines, reiterated them and educated public opinion that we have made some progress from the level of the savage and the barbarian:

and it, therefore, seems to me, that we should not attempt this impossible task of eliminating annoyance altogether from public life.

Then, Sir, the Statement of Objects says this:

“It is likely to be a permanent feature of any subversive movement.”

Now, why should there be a subversive movement? Are there subversive movements in England? Why not? Because you govern yourselves: and if we govern ourselves, there will be no subversive movements here. Therefore, the cure for every subversive movement is not suppressive or repressive legislation, but to remove the causes which precipitate such subversive movements. Moreover, I want to suggest to the Government, who have such a pathetic faith in repressive legislation, that affection for Government or respect for law and order cannot be manufactured to order, any more than affection for anybody else.

As for the Civil Disobedience Movement, Sir, to which reference is made in these paragraphs, I am quite sure my Honourable friend, the Home Member, realizes that the Civil Disobedience Movement, as such, cannot be put down by prescribing imprisonment for those who break the laws of the land. That is part of the Civil Disobedience creed, and there is no point in saying that we shall send people to prison. Therefore, so far as that aspect of this paragraph is concerned, there is no point in imagining that by prescribing imprisonment you can put down this picketing.

Then, Sir, there is another sentence in this paragraph: “It cannot be dealt with under the ordinary law.” I join strong issue with the Honourable the Home Member on that. I will merely state the sections, Sir, and read them presently: section 141 of the Indian Penal Code defining unlawful assemblies, especially the fifth clause, sections 349 and 350 of the Indian Penal Code, section 351, section 120A and section 43 and section 505: all these are sections under which, as I say, if there is any molestation by illegal means, people can be punished.

Now, Sir, I want to read only the fifth clause of section 141 of the Indian Penal Code which defines unlawful assemblies. It runs thus:

“An assembly of five or more persons is designated an ‘unlawful assembly’ if the common object of the persons composing that assembly is—

fifth—by means of criminal force or show of criminal force, to compel any person to do what he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do what he is legally entitled to do.”

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: Suppose there are not as many as five persons.

Mr. S. Satyamurti: I will come to that. Does my Honourable friend agree that at least so far as five persons are concerned, he will eliminate this section?

An Honourable Member: No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti: Then what is the use of asking this question? Now, do you know what criminal force means according to the Indian Penal Code? My Honourable friend, the Deputy Leader of the Congress Party, reminds me that there can be no organised picketing, except by at least five people, and Congress Members are much more numerous than but I decided not to do so. But I will suggest as an argument that the Criminal Procedure Code is an All-India Act, enacted by this Legislature for the whole of India. This section says :

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

“ In certain areas at the discretion of the Local Government the Criminal Procedure Code shall not apply.”

Perhaps it is technically right, but I suggest to the House that it is very dangerous to give power to the Executive to abrogate from time to time and in certain selected places the application of All-India laws. It is a dangerous thing, and I think this House, on that single ground, must reject these two clauses, along with the other clauses of the Bill.

We have sections 12 and 13 which really contain a number of sections. This is a most extraordinary Bill. Section 13 is called one section, while really there are five or six sections under that one section. I hope, Sir, that the Government have got some good draftsmen who can really make sense out of these, at least in words. I am sorry these references forwards and backwards are really outrageous. Now, Sir, these two sections are sought to be made permanent. The Statement of Objects and Reasons says that it was enacted to strengthen the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908, which is a permanent Act. How do the Government know that it is a permanent Act? My Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das, has got a Bill to repeal only a part of the Criminal Law Amendment Act. Have the Government already made up their mind that even if this House passes that measure, they will advise the Governor General to veto the measure and that the Governor General will listen to their advice and certify the Act to be a permanent Act? It is rather very cool even for the Government of India, when there is a Bill to repeal a particular Act, to say that that Act is permanently on the Statute-book.

Mr. B. Das : They take shelter behind the Governor General. They have also postponed the date for the discussion of my Bill.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They have also postponed the date. There is another aspect of the question, on which I should like to say a few words :

“ If the Governor General in Council is satisfied to the effect, he may by notification declare an association unlawful.”

The original Act gives power only to the Local Government, whereas this Act wants to give the Government of India that power. The Honourable the Home Member says, if there is an all-India organization, how are we to prohibit it? I submit, Sir, this provision is likely to provoke conflict between the Provincial Governments and the Government of India. Suppose a Provincial Minister in charge of law and order says, “ I do not want to proclaim the Congress an unlawful association in my Province ”, then what is the position of the Government of India? Are they going to treat the association as an unlawful association in spite of the opinion of the Provincial Minister? Otherwise, why do Government want to have this power?

Now, let us see what is an unlawful association? For that, we have got to go back to an ancient Act, Act XIV of 1908 :

“ If the Local Government is of opinion that any association interferes or has for its object the interference with the administration of the law or with the maintenance of law and order or that it constitutes a danger to the public peace, the Government may declare such an association to be unlawful.”

Again, I submit, if there are associations whose object is interference with the administration of the law or with the maintenance of law and order, the present law is amply sufficient and adequate to meet the activities of those associations. The danger comes in only when the Local Government wants to declare as unlawful associations, those which in their opinion “ constitutes a danger to the public peace ”. That power, in the hands of any executive Government, is a real danger to the public peace, not the unlawful association. Who is to be the Judge as to whether these associations are unlawful or not? In this connection, I want to draw your attention, Mr. President, and the attention of the House, to section 17-F, which is the last clause of section 13 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act which says :

“ Save as provided in sections 17-B to 17-E no proceedings purporting to be taken under section 17-A to 17-E shall be called in question by any court and no civil or criminal proceedings shall be instituted against any person for having done, etc.....”

These two sections, sections 17-B. and 17-E. are very small protection. Section 17-B (vi) merely says “ that when movable property is forfeited, a person may make a representation that the property is not liable to forfeiture and the District Judge or the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court will decide whether the property is or is not liable for forfeiture ”. On that matter, Sir, he cannot go into the question whether the association is really an unlawful association or even whether the information of the Government is correct that this property is likely to be used in furtherance of the activities of the association.

We have got the other section, section 17-E, which gives them power to forfeit the funds of the unlawful associations, and under sub-section (iii) they can again go to a Court, but here again the Court's jurisdiction is limited. They can only say whether the sums are not liable to forfeiture. With these two special exceptions, all the activities of the Government in connection with what they call unlawful associations, on their own judgment—f forfeiting the property and taking possession of immovable property—all these things are not to be questioned in any Court of law. The Government say that their decision is final.

On this matter, I again want to draw the attention of the House to the words of Chief Justice Hewart who said :

“ It is usual to provide that the decision of the Minister shall be final and conclusive. When this is the case, the Courts are powerless to intervene however unjust and absurd a decision may appear to be, and even though it is obviously based on an erroneous view of the law.”

“ But where one is dealing with a decision given without reasons, by an anonymous official, who is not ascertainable, how can any such matter be proved.”

“ It may be that the decision is apparently so perverse that the party against whom it is given has a reasonable suspicion that it was dictated by spite or vindictiveness, or was even corrupt. But without knowing who the deciding official is, it is of course impossible for a person aggrieved to prove anything of the kind, or even to furnish grounds for suspecting it. The victim is, in such a case, perfectly helpless, and entirely without remedy.”

“ It may be said that there is no substantial ground for the fear of unfairness or corruption in the Civil service. As to unfairness, people who have had disputes with public officials may sometimes conceivably hold a contrary opinion. As to corruption, that is a vice from which the Service is completely and undoubtedly free. It is of vital importance that it should so continue.”

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

These are the important words :

" But if there were any great extension of the system of giving uncontrolled and arbitrary powers to public officials, it is as certain as that night follows day that corruption might creep in. We might then be cursed with the corrupt bureaucrat. The bureaucratic despot we already have."

Therefore, it seems to me that from whatever point of view you look at it, these sections cannot be tolerated. I want merely to state how these provisions have been applied in the past. Almost every Congress Committee throughout India was suppressed, as unlawful associations. In Madras, I was in charge of a Khadi and Swadeshi exhibition, run not by the Congress, but by the Madras Mahajana Sabha. This exhibition was invaded and all articles were forfeited. But, afterwards, they were returned on our representation. Perhaps my Leader, when he speaks, will add to this list from his ampler knowledge, but I may tell you, Sir, that I know that in Bombay they declared the following associations as unlawful associations :

Labour Welfare Centre,
Foreign Cloth Boycott Swadeshi Committee,
Anti-Untouchability Committee,
Prohibition Committee,
Municipal Sub-Committee,
Swadeshi Prachar Mandir,
Women's Association,
Nationalist Muslim Party,
Nationalist Christian Party.

An Honourable Member : Sweetmeat shops.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Yes, and even sweetmeat shops.

I hope, Sir, as Honourable Members on this side speak later, they will give their own experiences from their own provinces. This law has been ruthlessly abused in the past, and I suggest, therefore, that there is no guarantee that this law will be properly used.

Then, Sir, I come to the piece de resistance, as I may call it, of this Act, and that is the provision for what they call the better control of the Press. I suggest that the extracts which my Honourable friend, the Home Member, read prove that in two provinces there are journals which write such things. But I want to ask him whether these journals were proceeded against under the ordinary law, and whether they were convicted and sentenced.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I want to know whether, in spite of his punishment and sentence, all these papers went on writing in the same strain. What I want to know is this. There is no use throwing at me extracts for which the editors were prosecuted and sentenced, unless the Honourable the Home Member is able to supplement that information with the further information that, in spite of these continuous punishments, the newspapers went on publishing such extracts and articles.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Yes.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I have not heard that yet. I shall be obliged if at the proper time that can be stated. If that is so, I suggest that the remedy is under the ordinary law to find out who the real man is who abets this crime. You know perfectly well, Sir, that abetment is an offence under the Indian Penal Code. Why are the police so helpless ? They shadow us all the time ; they waste public money, but they are not able to get the criminals. That is what it comes to. If there are people who go on abetting these dummy editors, why do you not find them out ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : We cannot prove it.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : And, therefore, you punish the innocent people, against whom you cannot prove the guilt. That is the greatest confession which you can make against this Bill. You cannot prove a thing against a man, and yet you want to punish him.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : But we know.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : You know nothing. What do you know about us ? You think we are all ex-convicts, but you really know nothing about us. What do you know about your own Colleagues ? All civilised jurisprudence is based on this—that every man shall be presumed to be innocent, until he is proved to be guilty. Is this Government of India going to say, " I cannot find out who the real editor is ; I am helpless, I am not able to prove it but I know who he is and, therefore, I will punish him " ? When it suits them they say, Fiat justitia ruat coelum (let justice be done even though the heavens fall). What is this justice ? You want this power. I am glad I got this from the Home Member, " I cannot prove the charge against certain people, and, therefore, I want to punish those whom I suspect. Therefore, enact this law ". Is any single Member of this House going to give this power to this Government to punish, not those who are found to be guilty, but those who may be guilty or innocent but against whom there is no evidence worth proving ? It seems to me, therefore, that they give away the whole case for these Press provisions.

Then they say that when the Press Act was in force it was all very good and when the Press Act was removed it was all very bad. Sir, I shall tell you one thing as to how they administer the censorship of news in this country. You know the incident in Jubbulpore, which we could not discuss. Do you know that a week before the news appeared in any Indian paper it appeared in the London papers ? The Daily Herald flashed it on its front page with big headlines. This Government of India suppressed that news in this country. That is their idea of running the Press Act, and publishing news or running the Government. They have neither the big imagination of a decent Government nor the sense of justice of even the ordinary man. And you have got ample powers to deal with seditious newspapers,—sections 124A, 153A, 99A and 108 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Why don't you use them ? And, Sir, I shall quote the distinguished editor of the Leader, Mr. C. Y. Chintamani, who cannot be confused even by this Government as a Congress extremist. He says, and very rightly :

" While in one breath we are mockingly told that while the dogs bark the caravan passes on, even the consolation of a cry or a bark is grudged to us and laws have been placed on the Statutebook in restraint of our legitimate liberty to speak out our mind. Frederick the Great told Voltaire that there was a complete understanding between him and his subjects ; they were to say what they liked but he was to do what he pleased. Here in India, God knows our Government do what they please but are jealous of our liberty to say what we think."

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

✓ That is a most eloquent commentary on these provisions which are sought to be continued in this Press Act.

Now, what do we stand for? We stand for the liberty of the Press, that no man ought to be punished for what he writes in his Press, except by due process of law and after trial and conviction. We do not want any special freedom of the Press, but we do not want any special restriction on the Press. Now, Sir, in contrast to the present Home Member's attitude towards the Press, dividing them into sheep and goats and patronising the sheep and leaving the goats outside, a previous Home Member, Sir James Crerar, had a slightly different conception of Government's attitude towards the Press. He said :

" Now, Sir, the main argument which was repeated by those who opposed the Bill was that under colour of a measure directed against the terrorist movement Government were seeking to establish a general control over the press for other, and it was implied, for illegitimate purposes. I hope I have already made it clear that it is not the case. But if it is necessary, I desire to repeat in the most emphatic terms that that is not the case, and it is our desire to enlist the press as a whole in the best interests of the country."

And I suggest, Sir, to the Honourable the Home Member that this attempt to antagonise the Press bodes no good to anybody in this country. We must have the help of the Press, especially when the electorate is going to be enlarged ; and if the Press is to be put under a ban of suspicion and to be treated under these repressive laws, we are mounting up difficulties for ourselves.

Now, Sir, in answer to my friend, Seth Govind Das' question, a statement was placed on the table yesterday morning, copies of which, thanks to the courtesy of the Secretary, have been circulated to us this day ; and I have made a rough calculation. In 1935, 72 newspapers were proceeded against and securities of Rs. 25,950 were taken ; and for publishing articles on the Quetta earthquake 15 newspapers were penalised. ✓

Mr. F. E. James : Have you read them ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I have read some of them, but not all. ✓ And I think that, because an article is mischievous, you ought not to forfeit the securities. If you do that, the Statesman ought to have been dealt with long ago because it writes more mischievous articles than any other paper.

Under the Act of 1931, 166 newspapers have been proceeded against, and security to the extent of two lakhs and a half has been forfeited and 343 papers ceased publication. I submit that this is a ruthless application of the Press law in this country. ✓

An Honourable Member : 448.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : 448 : I stand corrected. The words of this section are—I only want to read one of these—" If it appears to the special Bench on an application, etc., etc., that the words, signs or visible representations contained in the newspaper, book or other document were not of the nature described in section 4..." then the High Court may set aside the order. I had intended to refer to all these cases, but I do not propose to do so. ✓ I will read again, with your leave, what you, Sir, said on this : I want to remind the House that you, Sir, presided with distinction in the Madras High Court for many years and that you were acting Chief Justice : and you said—and I respectfully agree with every word of what you said :

" I have had something to do with the administration of the old Press Act : and I know what the difficulties are. Every judicial authority has felt and has expressed it in unmistakeable terms. Are you going by this Bill to relieve them of those difficulties ? Most certainly not. You are having the same provisions which have been condemned more than once. Cannot Government learn by experience, the experience of the past ? "

They have not learnt. Like the Bourbons of old, the Government of India neither learn nor forget :

" When you vest the control of the press in the Government, that is, to find whether certain sections of the press have or have not offended against the provisions of clause 4 of this Bill, it really means that the Government will exercise that control, as we know from past experience, against the press which criticises its measures, and it will not apply those provisions to that section of the press which carries on propaganda in favour of Government." ✓

I did not say that, Sir. You did ; and I agree with that. All these sub-sections which are sought to be added to this by section 16 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act are provided for in the ordinary law. As regards this seduction of the army, it seems to me, according to the Government it should be an insult : for Sir James Crerar said :

" The section to which he refers is no doubt a good punitive section against seduction of troops from their allegiance ; but what we rely far more upon than that section is the unshaken and steadfast loyalty of our troops and not on any punitive measure whatsoever."

Then why do you want this sub-section (d) ? Sub-section (e) is already provided for in the Indian Penal Code. Sub-section (f) 4 P.M. —refuse or defer payment of any land revenue or tax—according to this, if I advise a man who is poor not to borrow money or pay land tax, but to defer it until he gets some money after harvest, shall be guilty of an offence. Clause (i)—to prejudice the recruitment of persons to serve in any of His Majesty's Forces. What " prejudice " means I do not know, and, therefore, either this section is already provided for in the ordinary law or is mischievous to the extent it tries to go beyond that. ✓ ✓ I submit that, on a careful reading of all these sections, you will find that it is impossible for any one to escape the wrath of the Executive. If I criticise a Government measure, if I am an editor of a press, the heavy hand of the Government can come upon me and the High Courts can give me precious little relief. I have got cases reported in 41 Calcutta, 5 Madras and 56 Bombay. I do not propose to take more of the time of the House by quoting from those decisions ; but I think I should commend to those who are interested in this matter to peruse those decisions—one of them by Chief Justice Jenkins, one by yourself, Sir, and one by Chief Justice Beaumont : and all of them say that this so-called appeal to the High Court is illusory and meaningless. These sections are intended to strengthen the control of the Executive over the press.

I want to make another point—it arises from one of these decisions. What does " government established by law " mean ? Does it mean or does it not mean the executive government ? A high judicial authority says it means that. In the provinces we are going to have, I am told, ✓ responsible government, which means that the entire Government will be the government established by law. Supposing I am in the Opposition, how can I displace that Government, by an appeal to the electorate, unless I bring them into hatred and contempt, by exposing their actions, their omissions and pointing out where they have failed and where they have misbehaved? It seems to me that a moment's thought ought to convince anybody that the working of responsible democratic party government is wholly inconsistent with this Bill. In England you have no such section: you have got to prove overt acts: you cannot punish a man for holding an opinion or expressing it; and it does seem to me that in the future executive Government once a ministry becomes a ministry, it can prevent its being destroyed any time, because whatever the opposition may say will come within the all-pervasive clauses of this Bill and democratic Government will become impossible.

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

While on this matter, may I say one thing more? The reason why in democratically governed countries there is no necessity for such laws at all is that the oppressed people know that by the use of the ballot box, they can change the Government and put themselves in power. It is this sense of impotency in this country against an irremovable executive, against a conscienceless bureaucracy which goes on governing as it likes in spite of the people, which does cause these various movements; and it does seem to me that the way to deal with these movements is not to try to suppress them, but to deal with them in the only manner known to democratic and civilised countries, namely, by establishing responsible party government in those countries.

I want again to echo your own words, Sir:

"I submit that unless there is really something much deeper behind this Bill than we can fathom, on the face of it, this Bill is a measure which lacks justification altogether."

We are not able to see any justification for it; and in the words of Lord Irwin:

"In so far as the present movement involves any of the forces that we call nationalism, I would repeat what I have said more than once, that an attempt to meet the case with rigid and unyielding opposition is merely to repeat the unintelligent mistake of King Canute."

On the whole, Sir, it seems to me that the Government are legislating in a fit of temper; and legislating in a fit of temper is not statesmanship. The futility of repressive legislation ought to be apparent to the Government. The history of all countries shows it. Has repressive legislation killed nationalism in Ireland, in Egypt, or in Russia, or in any country? Why do you believe that you can kill nationalism by this repressive legislation? And after all are Government so clear in their minds that Civil Disobedience ought to be killed? It is the inherent right of man, and it does seem to me that all government must depend upon this fundamental basis that while in normal times subjects ought to give unquestioning obedience to the Government, when crises arise it is undoubtedly the duty of citizens to break unjust laws, so long as they take the consequences; and you cannot put down that movement by any stretch of imagination. They may feel horrified. Supposing we come into power and we enact that Europeans in this country shall wear Khaddar dhoties alone and go about in Khaddar shirts, I should not be surprised if these gentlemen break into Civil Disobedience then. Therefore, it does seem to me...

The Honourable Sir James Grigg (Finance Member): Not civil.

Mr. S. Satyamurti: My friend says not civil,—I agree,—disobedience, but not civil, and that is the note which I want to strike. Sir, is the Government perfectly clear that the ills of humanity can be better solved by physical warfare, and not by Civil Disobedience? Today Italy and Abyssinia are almost going to war. Britain and France stand helpless, Germany's ways are mysterious, Russia, no one knows. And is the Honourable the Home Member perfectly clear in his mind that Mahatma Gandhi in India is not doing a service, not alone to his own country but to the whole of humanity, by substituting soul force for physical force? ("Hear, hear", from Congress Party Benches.) Are we clear in our own minds that Civil Disobedience may not be the saviour of human civilization to set right individual and national wrongs, that Civil Disobedience may not be the far more humane, the far more civilized method, than the brutal warfare which kills innocent women and children? It does seem to me, therefore, that even on fundamentals, the Government is hopelessly wrong. The true remedy is Swaraj for all these things. Even then there may be Civil Disobedience, but we shall meet it by administering the laws judicially, or by resigning and giving place to those who want to practise Civil Disobedience. Then, they will learn that they cannot or need not practise Civil Disobedience.

And what is the object of the Government in this Bill? I suggest they want to enthrone bureaucracy, they want to stifle all criticism, they want to obstruct Swadeshi and prohibition and any kind of decent social reform. They want to interfere with peaceful picketing, they want to introduce a new criminal procedure in the country, they want to prevent all associations which the Government dislike from functioning, they want to stifle the Press. What is the kind of public opinion or public activity they want? A certain class of animals whom I shall not name, invited another class of animals to attend and sing at a marriage party. At that party music was going on, and each said to the other. "Oh, what a fine voice you have, what a fine figure you have!" I shall not name the animals....

An Honourable Member: Who are those animals?

Mr. S. Satyamurti: I suggest, therefore, that the Government want to live in their own way, taking public opinion from their sycophants who say "Oh, what a Sircar? What a Grigg, what a Sir Henry? There is a lot of statesmanship in them; they know what there is to know, what they do not know is not worth knowing, and they are serving and working for the best interests of the country. Long live the Executive Government of India". Is that the kind of public opinion they want? It seems to me, Sir, that this Bill shows the wicked intention that is behind their minds.

Therefore, I come to these conclusions. You don't believe in your own reforms. You treat yourselves as an armed camp in a hostile country, and therefore you want these powers. You do not trust your own Courts of justice, and you want the angry planter or the angry colonel or the angry civilian to rule this country. I know you will enact this measure in spite of us, but I want to say this. This is not only bad law, but it purports to abrogate whatever rule of law we have to regulate the political activities in this country. This measure seeks to substitute executive discretion and power for the judgment of the Courts. And it seems to me, Sir, that if in spite of the warning of this House, if in spite of the experience of other countries, if in spite of the experience in their own country, the Government will enact this measure in spite of public opinion, they are ignoring the writing on the wall and they are driving another nail in their own coffin, for, Sir,—

[Mr. S. Satyamurti.]

“ The moving finger writes and having writ
Moves on ; Nor all thy piety nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all thy tears wash a word of it.”

I oppose this motion. (Loud and Prolonged Applause.) ✓

Mr. P. J. Griffiths (Bengal : Nominated Official) : Sir, it is with no little trepidation that I rise to make this my maiden speech in this Assembly upon so controversial a matter, a matter which has already called forth the splendid eloquence of Mr. Satyamurti and will no doubt attract into the arena other speakers of his calibre. I can only justify my temerity on this occasion by the fact that I have some personal experience of the matters to which this Bill relates. During the past two years as District Magistrate of the notorious district of Midnapore, I have been in close contact,—may I say, Sir, in unpleasantly close contact,—with terrorism and other subversive movements, and, as a result, the point of view from which I regard this Bill is entirely different from that from which the Honourable Member opposite regards it. To many Members of this House, Sir, this Bill deals with abstract principles, and they are content to oppose it upon academic grounds, but to us, who are called upon to maintain peace and tranquillity in the districts of this country, it deals with powers which we know are vitally necessary for the maintenance of the peace and that tranquillity. (“Hear, hear” from Official Benches.) I must congratulate Mr. Satyamurti upon the restraint with which he has conducted his opposition, but, unfortunately, Sir, that same restraint has not been practised in the campaign carried on against this measure in the press in recent weeks. We have been told that this Bill strikes a serious blow at the liberties of India, that it symbolises the enslavement of the Indian people, and that it indicates the unfitness of the bureaucracy to govern this country. I hope to satisfy Honourable Members of this House that those apprehensions are quite groundless, that this Bill is in no sense drastic, and that it in no sense interferes with any of the fundamental liberties of the subject. I challenge Honourable Members opposite on this point. Which fundamental liberties of the subject does this Bill touch ? Does it touch the right of Habeas Corpus ? Does it touch the right of open trial ? (Several Honourable Members : “Yes.”) Does it touch the liberty of the individual to record his vote ? Does it affect the right of Honourable Members to use every possible legitimate influence in their own constituencies ? All these things are the main ingredients of the fundamental liberties of the citizen and they are left untouched by this Bill. The ordinary peaceful citizen is untouched in pocket, unhampered in his work, and unrestricted in his recreations by this measure, unless Honourable Members contend that picketing is one of the reasonable recreations of a peaceful citizen. That this measure is in no sense drastic may be readily seen, Sir, by comparison with the legislation in other countries which have a terrorist problem to face.

May I, in the first place, call the attention of my friends to a country which is, I believe, dear to the hearts of many of my friends,—I refer to Soviet Russia. No doubt, Honourable Members have read in the press recently an account of the execution of 63 citizens of Soviet Russia without trial, without evidence, simply on suspicion that they were hatching a conspiracy. Again, let us turn to a more civilized country. Let us turn to Italy. During the past few years, confiscation of wealth of leading citizens without trial, and without evidence, has become part and parcel of the ordinary administration of the country. I am not here to defend those acts, but I am here to ask Honourable Members to preserve a sense of proportion and to remember that, if they are prepared to call methods of this kind drastic, they will have no words left in their vocabulary to describe the measures in force in those other countries.

Several Honourable Members. : There they have National Governments.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : As Honourable Members will probably not be prepared to accept the analogy of Italy or of Soviet Russia, may I call to their attention the analogy of England ? Honourable Members have no doubt very much more detailed knowledge of English history than I can claim, and they will remember the exceedingly severe legislation which was passed in England before, at the time of and after the Chartist movement. England, at the time of the Chartist movement, was in very much the same position as India has been in during the past few years, and the legislation which is now being proposed is very much milder than the six Acts or the other legislation which was enacted in the early part of the nineteenth century in England. The plain truth is that no country, which has to deal with subversive movements, can avoid having special legislation, but the Government of India, largely because it is a Government based upon the will of the people.... (Some Members on the Opposition Benches : “Oh !”)—I repeat, largely because it is a Government based upon the will of the people, has always had a rooted dislike to unnecessarily drastic legislation, and that Government has, therefore, placed before the House a Bill which would be considered milk and water in any other country where the terrorist problem exists.

Now, Sir, let us consider briefly what the effect of the present Bill will be. Its effect is fourfold. In the first place, it will make the Indian Press Emergency Powers Act permanent. In the second place, it will make permanent the power to take possession of a notified place used for the purposes of an unlawful association. In the third place, it creates permanently two substantive offences. In the fourth place,—and this point has been lost sight of by Honourable Members on that side of the House,—in the fourth place, it deletes from the Statute-book four very serious offences which exist at the present time. From the date of the passing of this Bill, dissuasion from enlistment, tampering with public servants, boycotting public servants, and dissemination of false rumours, will, in general, not be offences under the law of this land. It will be open to any citizen of this country, who wishes to do so, to dissuade from enlistment to that very army which Honourable Members opposite wanted to send to Abyssinia. It will be open to any citizen without fear of consequences to induce petty Government subordinates to neglect or misdo their duties. It will be open to any ordinary citizen to boycott public servants, be they high or low. It will be open to any ordinary citizen to conduct himself in such a way as to paralyse the administration of this country. These four things which have ceased to be offences were actually done in many parts of British India not so very long ago, and there is no certainty that they will not be done again. But notwithstanding that fact, the Government of India in their anxiety to avoid being too drastic are prepared to give up these offences and to delete them from the Statute-book.

[Mr. P. J. Griffiths.]

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta).]

Let me turn now to the specific question of the Indian Press Emergency Powers Act. If we are to justify the continuance of this Act, we have to make out two propositions. The first proposition is that at every time when the press of this country has been free from restrictions similar to those under the present Act, the irresponsible section of the press has indulged in deliberately inflammatory writing. Having proved that proposition, my next task will be to show that such deliberately inflammatory writing actually is dangerous in practice and does lend practical support to the terrorist movement. Let me deal first with the contention that, on every occasion, when no such legislation is in force a section of the press has been inflammatory. Instead of indulging in long, and perhaps unconvincing, arguments, I propose to read to the House three very brief extracts. The first extract is taken from a paper in Bengal and was written just after the Chittagong Armoury Raid, at a time when no restriction on the press was in force. This is the extract :

The Swadhinata, 24th April, 1930.—“ Revolutionary Bengal has revealed itself in Chittagong on the distant frontier of Bengal, as a result of the ruthless oppression of the English Nation extending over hundred years, the rebellious soul of India has more than once struck Government in different places. But such success as at Chittagong was never noticed anywhere. Remembering this military expedition of revolutionary Bengal, the head of the Nation is today bent in respect, their hearts are inflated with hope, enthusiasm and joy and glory.”

Do Honourable Members want to lend their support to publication of deliberately revolutionary matter of that nature ?

An Honourable Member : What is the name of the paper ?

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : Swadhinata of the 24th April, 1930, page 3 of the printed extracts. I will pass on to another extract from Mukti, dated the 3rd December, 1928.....

Mr. B. Das : On a point of information, Sir. The Honourable the Home Member said that the extracts would be circulated to all Members. I have not received a copy, and I do not think that anybody else on this side has received it.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : If the Honourable Member is anxious, I will let him have a copy of the extract. This is an extract from the Mukti of 1928.

The Mukti, 3rd December, 1928.—“ The sacred fire of the Revolution was lighted by Rousseau and Voltaire, and Lenin led the fire of the Russian revolution like this. We want that fire should burn in our country like the same. If that fire burns everything, let it burn ; but it has become our greatest need.”

I would call the special attention of Honourable Members to the last sentence, “ If that fire burns everything, let it burn ”. In other words, “ Revolution may proceed to disastrous lengths, but revolution we will have ”. I should like to know whether Honourable Members on that side of the House approve of publication of matters of this nature.

(Dr. Bhagavan Das rose in his place on a point of information.)

Some Honourable Members : Order, order. He does not give way.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : I may request my Honourable friend to wait till the conclusion of my speech.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : Is it a point of order ?

Dr. Bhagavan Das (Cities of the United Provinces : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : On a point of information, Sir.

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member does not give way.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : The last extract which I propose to read and to which I hope Honourable Members will listen carefully is an extract from the Advance of the 7th July, 1931, an extract which has no doubt been debated before in this House, but I quote it here again, because it is the worst of all examples that I have come across of deliberately inflammatory writing. It reads :

The Advance (Calcutta), 7th July, 1931.—

“ Dauntless Dinesh Dies with the Dawn.
Thousands gather at Street Crossings.
Body cremated inside Prison Compound.
Immediate Hartal all over the City.

And death is all the brighter that he died.

And Heaven is all the happier that he's there.

Yes what is all that fires a hero's scorn of death—
the hope to live in hearts unborn.”

My only comment on that is that Dinesh Gupta was a murderer, and, in accordance with the tradition of a certain section of the irresponsible press, murderers were adulated. These are the facts in support of my contention that, whenever any such law as the present one is not in force, very large sections of the press become irresponsible.

I now come to the second part of my argument. Honourable Members may say that, though these things are written in the press, they do not do any practical harm. I want to contradict that statement from my own personal knowledge and the personal knowledge of everybody who is concerned with the terrorist movement. I do not know whether Honourable Members have any idea as to what is the ordinary process of recruitment to the terrorist party.

An Honourable Member : All unemployed.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : Terrorist recruiting agents do not go and say “ We are terrorist agents ”. They start off by giving the recent literature to read. In the first place, they give him comparatively harmless literature to read, and, then, in the second place, they lead him on to inflammatory articles in the irresponsible press. I am not speaking of one case. I have seen the cases of two or three hundred boys who were being recruited into the terrorist movement. Many of these two or three hundred boys have made statements, and, in literally every case, the path of recruitment has been through inflammatory literature. If, Sir, we are to permit literature of this nature to be published, we can make up our minds once for all that terrorism will continue to be a menace in this country. Those, Sir, are the grounds on which I contend that the press sections of this Act are essential.

[Mr. P. J. Griffiths.]

I now wish to deal with the obvious objections which will be raised by Honourable Members opposite. We shall be told in the first place that if this Act passes into law no reasonable freedom will be left to the press. We shall be told that the press has been deprived of the power of reasonable criticism of the actions of Government. On that point, I hope to convince Members of this House merely by reading to them three extracts from articles which have appeared in the press, even under the aegis of the present law. By so doing I hope to satisfy Honourable Members that the present law allows ample scope not merely for just criticism, not merely for reasonable criticism but for unjust, untrue and unreasonable criticism. In reading these extracts, I am not concerned with the truth or the falsity of the matters referred to. I merely wish to show Honourable Members that very great freedom of criticism does exist in the press under the present law. This is from the Rangoon Mail :

" We have often drawn attention in these columns to the hard lot of the Bengali detenus and the very unfair, inequitable and harsh treatment generally meted out to them."

I am not concerned with the question as to whether the treatment meted out to them is unfair, inequitable and harsh. The point at issue is that under the present law, which is exactly the law which the present Bill proposes to reproduce, harsh criticism of this kind can be levelled against the Government from day to day. I shall quote another example, and this refers to the situation in Lahore and Amritsar :

" The Journalists' Association records its emphatic protest against the action of the District Magistrates of Lahore and Amritsar in imposing indiscriminately a most hateful and illegal form of censorship on all newspapers, which constitutes an unwarranted attack on the self-respect and independence of the Press."

That may or may not be true, but would that writing be possible if Government, with the present powers in its hands, were determined to suppress the freedom of the press. The very fact that articles of this kind are published from day to day is a clear and convincing proof that under the present law, the Press has ample and perhaps more than ample freedom.

I turn briefly to the next objection of the opposite side of the House, the objection that the ordinary laws should suffice. This argument is based on a misunderstanding. Apparently the desire of Members on the opposite side of the House is to punish miscreants, whereas the desire of the Government of India is to prevent mischief. We are quite aware that there are ample powers under the various Codes to punish people after they have done something wrong but our aim is to have preventive sections which will induce those people not to commit that particular offence. It is perfectly true that one such section exists in the ordinary law. I refer to section 99A of the Criminal Procedure Code. My objection to section 99A of the Criminal Procedure Code is that it applies to only one issue of the paper in which the offensive article appeared. One more point in that connection I will touch briefly. The Honourable the Home Member spoke of the question of dummy editors. My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, argued that the Honourable the Home Member wished to punish people regarding whose guilt he had no proof. If I may say so, my Honourable friend entirely missed the point. It is not a question of punishment by any process of law. If security is to be deposited, who is going to deposit the security? Does the Honourable Member imagine that the dummy editor will deposit the security? The security will be deposited by the person actually concerned in the running of the paper and when the security is forfeited, it is that person who will have lost his money. Government may not know, it does not matter whether they know, who the real editor of the paper is but whosoever was responsible for the paper will have lost his thousand rupees or whatever the figure may be. I think that sufficiently disposes off the point made by my friend, Mr. Satyamurti.

Then, Sir, we are told that this Act is unnecessary because the Civil Disobedience Movement has now been abandoned. That, Sir, is a point on which my Honourable friends opposite are more competent to speak than myself. From their speeches and from the wording of the resolutions of the Congress Working Committee, the ordinary plain man in the street would by no means feel so certain that Civil Disobedience had been finally abandoned.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : It will never be. It can never be.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : That being so, that disposes of Mr. Satyamurti's other arguments. It is because my friend says that that movement will never be abandoned that we on this side of the House claim that permanent legislation is required. If my Honourable friend could say that the Civil Disobedience Movement would probably be abandoned in three years time then there might be some justification for the argument that this should be temporary legislation but we have just been told that it will never be abandoned and as long as so subversive a movement is not abandoned, so long an Act of this kind will be necessary.

I pass on from the question of Civil Disobedience. Civil Disobedience is not the only subversive movement which we have known in this country. I have already spoken of terrorism. I do not quite know how far Honourable Members on the opposite side of the House are prepared to admit that terrorism is still a living factor in the situation. If they are not so prepared, I can prove it to them but it will save a great deal of time, if it is admitted that terrorism is as real a problem now as it was five years ago. I admit that there has been great improvement in public opinion, particularly in the province in which I serve and in the district in which I serve. That I readily acknowledge but in spite of that the fact remains that terrorist plans, terrorist outrages and terrorist recruitment are still going on and as long as those plans, those outrages and that recruitment continue, so long it is necessary to ensure that deliberately inflammatory articles are not published in the vernacular press. Another objection which may be raised to this Bill is that it interferes with liberty. Speaking for myself, I consider that there is very little foundation in this objection. Of course, it interferes with liberty. Every Statute placed upon the Statute-book in this House interferes with somebody's liberty. The only question is whose liberty it interferes with. Does it interfere with the liberty of the majority of decent, peaceful citizens or does it interfere only with the liberty of those who wish to plunge this country into civil war?

[5TH SEP. 1935.]

[Mr. P. J. Griffiths.]

Only a few days ago we were discussing the Cinematograph Bill on the floor of the House. I understand that under that Act every film exhibited to the public has to be censored. I did not hear my Honourable friends objecting to that on the ground that it interferes with liberty. If it is reasonable to interfere with the exhibition of objectionable and dangerous films, why is it not reasonable to interfere with the publication of objectionable and even more dangerous literature? As a matter of fact, there is perhaps no word which is more abused in this House and elsewhere than this unfortunate word 'Liberty'. The essence of civilisation is the subordination of the liberty of the individual for the benefit of the community. I understand, Sir, that the purveying of poisons requires an infringement of liberty? Would they propose that that constitutes an infringement of liberty? Would they propose that fire-arms, guns and poisons should be handed about freely to whosoever asks for them? If they are prepared to concede that the purveying of poisons and dangerous drugs requires restrictions to be placed on it, why are some such restrictions not required on the most dangerous of all poisons? I refer to dangerous and inflammatory literature. (Loud Applause.) Once we get to the hard ground of practical fact, Sir, we at once realize that it is the bounden duty of Government to protect the youth of this country from contamination by the lying and dangerous statements which have appeared from time to time in certain sections of the press. During the course of the last few years I have had a good deal of connection with the terrorist youths in Bengal. I have been struck in every case with their extreme ignorance, their extreme immaturity, their extreme emotional instability and the extremely dangerous way in which their feelings can be played upon by any kind of sentimentality. Now, it is our duty to protect those youths, while they are still immature, from contamination by this dangerous poison. (Hear, hear.) The policy of the Government is radically opposite to the policy advocated by the Members on the opposite side. Their policy is: "wait till an offence is committed and then send the offender to jail".

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That is the civilized policy.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : I am surprised that it can be suggested that we should wait till we are forced to send young boys to jail, I am surprised at Mr. Satyamurti's remark. As far as we can, we try to administer justice but it is also our concern and our constant ambition not to send young boys to jail. (Interruptions.) The Honourable Member interrupting may believe me when I say that it was a pitiable sight three years ago to see the jails in Bengal crammed with youths who certainly would not have been there but for the dissemination of this poisonous literature. (Hear, hear.)

I turn now, Sir, briefly to the question of the working of the Act. In the first place, I would ask Honourable Members to observe that the effect of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act is very moderate in its working. (Voices : "Oh, Oh!") It imposes no kind of censorship and it does not involve suppression. It lays down two simple principles. The first is that if a newspaper publishes certain kinds of objectionable articles, that newspaper has to deposit security. Is there any very great hardship in that, Sir? It lays down, secondly, that if that newspaper repeats the offence after this definite and formal warning, if that newspaper again publishes inflammatory articles, that newspaper then has to forfeit its security deposit. Is it a very great injustice, is it a very great hardship (Voices : "Not at all!"), that some financial penalty should be levied upon a newspaper which has deliberately on two separate occasions, and after one solemn warning, published inflammatory literature? After all, Sir, what are the particular kinds of taings which the newspaper may not publish? They are these :

Firstly, "which incites to or tends to incite or to encourage the commission of any offence of murder". Do Honourable Members want that newspapers should be free to publish incitements to murder?

An Honourable Member : They may be punished by a Court of law.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : Secondly, "which tends to seduce any officer, soldier, sailor or airman or any police officer from his allegiance or duty". In a very short time, Sir, Honourable Members on that side will be the Government of India. (Voices : "Oh, Oh!") Do they then wish that, under their regime, every Tom, Dick and Harry shall be at liberty to seduce their soldiers, their sailors, their police officers, their Civil Surgeons, from their allegiance to them? (Hear, hear.) Well, if they do so want, then I can only suggest that they are laying a rod in pickle for their own backs. (Hear, hear.)

Now, Sir, let me deal with the question of the administration of this Act. I have told the House that the Act is moderate; I have now to convince the House that the administration of the Act has been still more moderate. (Voices : "Oh, Oh!") I wonder if Honourable Members have any idea how many newspapers there are in British India. I will tell them. There are 4,630 newspapers. The total number of security orders—and this includes both newspapers and presses—is 781, that is, a little less than one in six; in less than one out of six cases newspapers have been required to deposit security. Of these 781 newspapers, in how many cases has the deposit been forfeited? Twenty-five. These are not my figures but are available to the Honourable Member opposite himself. Out of 4,630 cases, in only 25 cases has the security deposit been forfeited,—a little less than one in 180! Can it be pretended that Government has secured a strangle-hold upon the press of this country merely because one in 180 has had to forfeit its security deposit? (Loud Applause.) And what are the amounts of these security deposit? Doubtless Honourable Members know that the Local Governments can demand a security deposit up to Rs. 3,000, but Government does not do this. Government never wishes to proceed to extremes. (A Voice : "Infinite kindness!") Yes, it is a great kindness. Of the newspapers, only in one case out of six has that security exceeded a thousand rupees. I would like to ask Honourable Members whether they wish that the press of this country should be in the hands of such men of straw that they cannot deposit one thousand rupees. (Voices : "Oh, Oh!") Again, Sir, while I deal with the question of the moderate administration of this Act, I may say that of some 4,200 prosecutions launched under section 18 (1) of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers) Act, some four thousand have resulted in a conviction! My Honourable friend has told us that he has complete faith in the Courts of this country but not in the Executive. He will observe that practically every case sent up by the Executive has resulted in a conviction by the very Courts in which he has faith. (Loud Applause.) I have only one other point to make in this connection, Sir, and that is to deal with the allegation that the Act is stifling the press. I wonder if Honourable Members opposite have troubled to get the figures as to the number of newspapers in existence five years ago and the number of newspapers now in existence. They will be interested to know that the number of newspapers in British India has increased by 716 in the last four years, and the number of printing presses has increased by 1,029. (Hear, hear.) Does that suggest to an impartial mind that Government is exercising a strangle-hold upon the press? Does it not conclusively prove that the people most concerned, the people who run the newspaper business themselves realize that as long as they can comport themselves with some kind of decency, they have ample safety, ample liberty and complete justice? (Loud and Prolonged Applause.) Finally, Sir, I wish to read to you in this connection a quotation from the very high authority whom the Honourable the Home Member quoted this morning, but as the latter part of the quotation is more germane to my present point, I should like to read that part of the quotation. This is from Young India of the 28th May, 1931, and purports to come from Mr. Gandhi:

[Mr. P. J. Griffiths.]

"I have before me extracts from journals containing some gruesome things—These are communal incitement, gross misrepresentation, and incitement to political violence bordering on murder."

Now, this is the important point. I suggest Honourable Members should listen to the important point which is now coming:

"The real remedy is a healthy public opinion." (Hear, hear.)

I hope the applause will continue:

"We have our journalist association. Why should it not create a department whose business would be to study various journals and find objectionable articles and bring them to the notice of their respective editors?"

That was an article by Mr. Gandhi in May, 1931, when there was no Press Act in force. The Government of India waited patiently for a long time; they hoped that some notice would be taken of that appeal by Mr. Gandhi. Was anything done? Did the Journalists Association make the least attempt to bring its influence or to bring public opinion to bear upon the question of the publication of these inflammatory articles? No, Sir. For five months after that warning the Association remained silent, and, as a result, Government were compelled to bring in in October, 1931, the Press Emergency Powers Act. Mr. Gandhi's words were the correct words—the real remedy lies in the hands of the journalists themselves. And it is because a certain section—I do not say the majority—of journalists refused to take their responsibility seriously that Government has had to step in and enforce this responsibility for them.

The next effect of the Act is the power to take possession of notified places or to confiscate funds. I understand this subject will be dealt with more in detail by other speakers and therefore I propose to be very brief about it. I merely wish to say this that the power to take possession of a place which is used by an unlawful association is merely a logical corollary to the fact that you have declared that association unlawful. We are not discussing here today whether Government should or should not have the power to declare associations unlawful. Under the present law Government has that power and I cannot conceive of any man of reason maintaining that Government can declare an association unlawful but should not have power to confiscate the funds of that association—or in other words, that we should be compelled to sit by idly and watch an admittedly unlawful association carry out its nefarious activities. I may also say in this connection that without some such power it would be utterly impossible to prevent or even to make less likely secret meetings of those very associations which have been declared illegal. I must pass on quickly. The last effect of the Act is to create two substantive offences. The first of those substantive offences is that laid down in section 5 of the existing Criminal Law Amendment Act which refers to the dissemination of the contents of forfeited documents. Here we are not dealing with the question as to whether any document should be forfeited or should not be forfeited. If the view of the opposite side of the House is that no document should be forfeited, then they will have to introduce a very great body of legislation. They will have to repeal the Sea Customs Act, the Posts and Telegraphs Act and a dozen other Acts which could easily be named. As the law at present stands, certain documents are liable to forfeiture and are forfeited. What could be more illogical and what could be more stupid than to confiscate those documents and allow some one to memorise them and read them out? No sane Government could contemplate such an extreme inconsistency. As long as you have a law for the forfeiture of documents, so long you must have a power to make dissemination of those documents or the contents of those documents a penal offence. One more point which is perhaps hardly relevant here and which I missed in my remarks about the press. My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, said: Why do you want this central legislation about the press? He said the worst trouble is in Bengal and in the Punjab and in Bengal you have special Acts which deal with these matters: so there is no necessity for such legislation here. I am afraid, my Honourable friend is misinformed. There is no special legislation in Bengal which gives Government any kind of control over the press. I presume he had in mind sections 35 and 36 of the Bengal Suppression of Terrorists Outrages Act. Those sections deal with an exceedingly limited class of cases and are meant not so much for application to the press but for application to private individuals who pass round printed or manuscript copies of seditious literature. My Honourable friend is misinformed when he says that that legislation for this purpose is available in Bengal.

The last point with which I wish to deal is section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act at present in force. That deals with molesting and picketing. The Government of India object to molesting and picketing because experience has shown that there is no such thing as peaceful picketing. Picketing may start as peaceful—this is not theory that I am talking but it is what every Member of this House has seen with his own eyes—but it invariably finishes up in disorder and violence. If Honourable Members want concrete examples, I will give them one that comes to my mind. Take, for example, Dacca. I hope there is some Honourable Member who comes from Dacca and who can corroborate what I say. There in the year 1929-30, picketing molestation and enforced hartals were the order of the day.

Mr. Suryya Kumar Som (Dacca Division: Non-Muhammadian Rural): It is absolutely false.

[5TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. P. J. Griffiths : I fear, Sir, the Honourable Member must have stayed inside of his house. But I was the whole time in Dacca and saw it happening day after day and week after week. Here the shopkeepers were forced to join in hartals and were picketed if they refused to do so. It so happened that most of the poor shopkeepers were Muhammadans whereas most of the wealthier people were Hindus. That was an unfortunate accident but the effect of this picketing and enforced hartals was that there were communal riots in 1930 and I challenge any Member of this House who was in Dacca at that time to repudiate those facts in detail. But, Sir, Dacca is not the only example. You have Cawnpore and you have a dozen other examples in the last ten years where picketing and molestation have led, as they always must lead, to violence and to defiance of law and order. It is very common to say, as my Honourable friend has said, that the ordinary law is quite adequate to deal with picketing and molestation. He read out a very interesting series of extracts from rulings and he tried to establish conclusively the argument that those acts are offences under the ordinary law. I do not know if my friend is a lawyer but if he is I can only hope that he will be a High Court Judge before long and I hope that he will then persuade Courts to take that very view which he has now enunciated. These sections are introduced because our practical experience shows that convictions cannot be secured for molestation and picketing under the ordinary law except in the most exceptional circumstances. Do not let the Honourable Member think that this is a new idea. The Honourable Member is apt to think that all this time neither the Government of India nor its officials have ever read the Indian Penal Code. I can assure the Honourable Member that for the last few years we have been reading the Indian Penal Code most diligently. We have been most diligently looking for ways of dealing with miscreants and in particular of dealing with picketers and people who molest and it is because we have failed to find a remedy under the ordinary criminal law that the Government of India have had to resort to the proposed present section.

I have nothing more to say, Sir, except this that this Assembly is the forerunner of what will be the Government of India in a very short time and the best service that this Assembly can render to that future Government is to arm that Government with the very weapons which they will otherwise have to seek for themselves. If Honourable Members opposite had a true sense of gratitude they would be thanking the Honourable the Home Member for saving them the most unpleasant task which would assuredly fall to their lot in two or three years' time. But, Sir, the best augury for the future Government of India will be if this Assembly will display its sense of responsibility by lending its support to a measure which steers the midway course between liberty on the one hand and licence on the other hand. (Loud and Prolonged Applause.)

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Friday, the 6th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, 6th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

RECRUITMENT OF PROBATIONERS IN THE TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT OF THE CALCUTTA PORT TRUST.

155. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Did the Calcutta Port Trust authorities ever hold any departmental examination, as was set forth in the programme of training for the probationers appointed by them in 1929 in the Traffic Department, to test their relative ability, efficiency and intelligence ? If not, why not ?

(b) Is it not a fact that Government employees of almost all grades of services, including those in the Imperial ranks, have to sit, before their confirmation in the services, for departmental examinations and the results thereof go to determine their progress at the early stages of their careers ?

(c) If the answer to part (b) be in the affirmative, do the Calcutta Port Trust authorities adopt a similar system with regard to the services under them ? If not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) No. The probationers were required to submit monthly reports on the work done by them. The sectional heads also interviewed them and reported on their progress. They were further interviewed at regular intervals by the head of the Department and interrogated as to their work. It was considered that the manner in which the probationers did their work furnished sufficient indication of their ability.

(b) It is not a fact, although there are a few Government services in which the passing of departmental examinations after appointment is a necessary preliminary to confirmation.

(c) Departmental examinations are not held by the Calcutta Port Commissioners because they consider that the results of such examinations would not give a correct index as to a man's qualifications for an outdoor supervising post where character, personality and temperament are of at least as great importance as ability to secure high results in examinations.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : If examinations are not held, on what basis are the entrants to the services confirmed in their respective posts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : On the progress report of their work.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : Do the Port Trust authorities draw up any comparative statement of the quality of the work done by the candidates in order to see whether any man should be promoted in preference to another man ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As I have already read out in the answer, reports are made from time to time on the progress they are making with regard to their work, and, it is on the basis of these reports, that the result is arrived at as to the comparative merits of the different probationers.

APPOINTMENT OF ONE MR. HOGAN AS A YARD MASTER IN THE TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT OF THE CALCUTTA PORT TRUST.

156. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that towards the middle of the year 1934, the Calcutta Port Trust authorities appointed one Mr. Hogan as a Yard Master in their Traffic Department ?

(b) If the answer to part (a) be in the affirmative, what are the qualifications, academic or otherwise, of Mr. Hogan and on what salary has he been appointed ?

(c) Is it a fact that Mr. Hogan has been appointed on a higher initial salary than what usually happens to be the "Scale" of a Yard Master in the Port Trust ? If so, what are the special reasons for doing so ?

(d) Was the vacancy, before it was filled up, at all notified ? If not, how did the Port Trust authorities ascertain that no Indian with qualifications similar to or better than Mr. Hogan's would offer himself as a candidate for appointment, and what made them to come to the conclusion that Mr. Hogan was the best available person for the post ?

(e) Is it a fact that one Mr. Crawford, an outsider, has been appointed by the Calcutta Port Trust authorities ? If so, was his post advertised, and why was no probationer appointed ?

(f) Is it a fact that Messrs. Bolst and Ward, who had retired from the services, have again been taken in by the Calcutta Port Trust authorities ? If so, will Government be pleased to state the circumstances under which they have been re-appointed ?

(g) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table of the House the correspondence that passed between them and the Calcutta Port Trust authorities and the Bengal Government with regard to the resolution passed in the Council of State in September, 1932, on the question of Indianisation of Port Trust services ?

(h) Is it a fact that in pursuance of the resolution passed in the Council of State in September, 1932, on the question of Indianisation of Port Trust services, the Calcutta Port Trust authorities formulated the policy that in the ordinary circumstances it would not be necessary to recruit non-Indians for most of their Departments and Sections ?

(i) If so, will Government be pleased to state why that policy has been departed from in the case of the appointments referred to in parts (a), (e) and (f) above ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) Mr. Hogan had 15 years' Railway experience. He had passed the Guard's and Assistant Station Master's examination and the Junior and Senior Audit Examinations. He had also passed as Section Controller at the A. S. M. Training School. While on ten months' leave out of India in 1933-34 he passed in "Railway Economics" at Cardiff Technical College, was attached to the G. W. Railway at Cardiff for five months and studied Goods and Docks working, Yard working, Train control, Goods Depot work, Claims and Rates and Parcels work. He was appointed as Yard Master in the Traffic Department of the Calcutta Port Commissioners on a pay of Rs. 440 per mensem in the scale of Rs. 300—20—600.

(c) Yes. His services could not have been secured on the minimum pay.

(d) No. About this time there was a sudden and unexpected increase of work in the Transportation Section, an increase which coincided with the death of one and the retirement of two experienced officers. In consequence the Port Commissioners required an experienced Railway man at short notice and applied to the Railways. Mr. Hogan was strongly recommended by the East Indian Railway authorities.

(e) Yes. The post was advertised. No probationer was found qualified for the post.

(f) Yes, on a temporary basis, because there was a rush of work and experienced traffic officers were required.

(g) A copy of the correspondence is laid on the table of the House.

(h) Yes.

(i) The position has been explained in reply to parts (a), (d), (e) and (f) of this question. I would, however, add that Mr. Crawford is a statutory Indian.

*Madras, Marine (Finance) Department,
Bombay, Political Department,
Bengal, Marine Department,
Burma, Revenue Department, and the Chief Commissioner, Aden, No. 204-P. & L. 32, dated the 19th April, 1933.*

I am directed to address you on the subject of the Indianization of Port Trust Services.

2. As the Local Government (you) are (no doubt) aware Sir (then Mr.) P. C.

Sethna, in January, 1922, moved a Resolution to the following effect in the Council of State :

"This Council recommends to the Governor General in Council that steps be taken to increase the number of Indians in the higher grades in the services of the Port Trusts, and to lay down a definite policy in regard to the same for the future."

The Government of India in accepting the Resolution made it clear that in their view the most practical way in which Government could give effect to it would be the amendment of the Port Acts so as to strengthen Indian representation on the Port Trust Boards. Accordingly, the Port Acts of all major ports except Aden were amended with this end in view.

[6TH SEP. 1935.]

3. Since the acceptance of the above Resolution by the Government of India, the question of the appointment of Indians in substantial numbers to the higher grades of the Port Trust Services has received considerable attention both in and outside the Legislature. Questions have been asked on numerous occasions in the Central Legislature as to the action taken by Government and the Port Trusts on the Resolution and as to the progress achieved in the direction of Indianization in the different branches of the Port Trust Services. Frequently also, more especially in recent years, representations have been made by Indian commercial bodies and others expressing dissatisfaction with the slow rate of Indianization or alleging specific instances in which appointments have been filled without due regard to the possibility of employing eligible Indians. In September, 1932, the Honourable Sir P. C. Sethna again moved a Resolution on the subject in the Council of State in the following terms :

“ This Council recommends to the Governor General in Council to adopt effective measures to secure a substantial improvement in the matter of Indianizing the services of the Port Trusts to an appreciable extent.”

This Resolution, as will be seen from the Council of State Debates, Volume II—No. 4, pages 169—186, was accepted by the Government of India on the understanding that it did not commit Government to further amendment of the constitutions of Port Trusts.

4. The Government of India note with satisfaction that Port Trusts are generally in sympathy with the principle of Indianization and recognize the importance of adopting measures to secure a wider employment of Indians in their Superior Services. The stage has, however, now been reached at which it is desirable that concrete proposals or programme should be formulated for carrying through an effective policy of Indianization. Under the various Port Acts, except in the case of certain high posts, the statutory power to make appointments to their Superior Services is vested in the Port Trusts, and the power to implement a policy of Indianization of these Services lies therefore mainly with the Port Trusts themselves. They are, moreover, in the best position to judge, having regard to the special conditions of each port, what steps should be taken to hasten the pace of Indianization, and also to indicate the practical limitations or difficulties, if any, which oppose themselves to the recruitment of Indians in particular Departments. The Government of India, therefore, consider that the onus of formulating detailed schemes for carrying out the purpose of the Resolution lies primarily on the Port Trusts themselves, I am accordingly to request that the Resolution may be brought to the notice of the Madras, Port Trust

Bombay and Karachi Port Trusts
Calcutta Port Commissioners
Rangoon Port Commissioners
Aden Port Trust and the Government of India informed in detail, as soon as possible, of the specific measures which the Port Trust(s)

Commissioners* propose to take to give effect to the Resolution. The Government of India would be glad if the Local Government would at the same time favour them with their views as to the adequacy of any proposals made by the Port Trust(s)
Commissioners* together with suggestions as to any further action which may usefully be taken for the attainment of the object in view.

5. A number of the superior posts under the Port Trusts require mercantile marine qualifications, and one of the factors which have militated against the appointment of Indians to these posts has been the dearth of Indian candidates possessing the requisite qualifications. The position, however, will be rectified when passed cadets of the Indian Mercantile Marine Training Ship “ Dufferin ” have obtained their certificates of competency and have acquired the necessary experience. It is in should be utilized to the fullest extent possible in filling appointments for which the possession of mercantile marine qualifications is considered essential. The Government of India have accordingly already embodied in the recruitment rules of the Bengal Pilot Service provision to the effect that preference shall be given to candidates who have passed through the “ Dufferin ”. I am to enquire whether the Madras Port Trust

Bombay and Karachi Port Trusts
Port Commissioners
Aden Port Trust

would be prepared, in filling such posts under them, to give a similar preference to ex-“ Dufferin ” cadets possessing the requisite qualifications.

6. The Government of India are frequently called upon to answer questions in the Legislature regarding the progress of Indianization in the Port Trust Services and are obliged on practically all such occasions to call for the requisite information from the Local Governments. In order to obviate, as far as possible, the labour and inconvenience involved in the compilation of the relevant data at frequent intervals, I am to request that the Government of India may be furnished in January each year with :

(a) a report on the progress of Indianization of the Superior Services under Madras Port Trust
Bombay and Karachi Port Trusts
the control of the Calcutta Port Commissioners
Rangoon Port Commissioners
Aden Port Trust during the preceding twelve months, in which the circumstances attending the various appointments made in the course of the year should be fairly fully explained, and

(b) a statement in the attached form showing the superior staff of the various branches of their Services as on the 31st December of the previous year.

I am also to say that the Government of India consider it desirable that they should remain in close touch with current developments in regard to the process of Indianization and would therefore be glad if they could be kept fully and constantly supplied with all relevant information on the subject which is likely to be of interest to them.

Name.

Nationality and Religion*.

Designation.

Scale of pay.

Present pay.

Total Service.

Remarks.

Copy of letter No. 2646-Mne., dated the 12th December, 1933, from the Government of Bengal, Commerce and Marine Departments, to the Government of India, Department of Commerce, New Delhi.

SUBJECT :—Indianization of Port Trust Services.

I am directed to refer to Mr. Raisman's letter No. 204-P. & L.32, dated the 19th April, 1933, on the above subject, and to say that, as requested by the Government of India, the Resolution of Honourable Sir P. C. Sethna was brought to the notice of the Port Commissioners, Calcutta. A copy of the reply of the Chairman in his letter No. 58402, dated the 11th September, 1933, is enclosed for the information of the Government of India.

2. The Chairman states that the policy of the Calcutta Port Commissioners is that if there is any person already in their service fully qualified and in every way suitable for the vacant post, that person will be promoted, and the appointment made regardless of race. If there is no suitable person in their service, and in consequence the vacancy has to be filled from outside, full opportunities will be given to Indians to apply for the vacancy, and when an Indian with the necessary qualification is available and candidates of other nationalities are not better fitted for the post, the

*I.e., whether European, Anglo-Indian or Indian.

Indian candidates will be appointed. The Chairman states that this policy has been unanimously accepted by the Commissioners, and, as the Government of India are aware, three of the Commissioners are elected by the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, one by the Indian Chamber of Commerce, and one by the Corporation of Calcutta.

3. The Chairman also states that the Commissioners have taken action to ensure that, as far as possible, Indians will be appointed to their service suitable for promotion to higher appointments. In the Traffic Department, probationers have been appointed for special training as officers; in the Accounts Department, qualified accountants have been appointed as Inspectors of Accounts, so that it should no longer be necessary for the Commissioners to recruit from outside for the senior appointments in the Accounts Department. Indian assistants have also been appointed in the Engineering Department.

4. From further enquiries it has been ascertained that the system of appointing probationers in the Traffic Department for special training as officers was started in 1922. Two men were then appointed and both are now officiating as Deputy Dock Superintendents, each drawing Rs. 1,000 per mensem. Another probationer was appointed in 1924, but, as he was found unsuitable for the service, his services were terminated in 1927. Another was appointed in his place, but he also proved unsuitable and was transferred to a post of Head Shed Clerk. In 1928 three probationers were appointed. One was transferred to the Secretary's Department, and he is now an Assistant Secretary; one is now officiating as Superintendent, Kantapukur, on a salary of Rs. 600 per mensem while the third proved unsuitable and his services were terminated in 1932. Six more probationers were appointed towards the end of 1929, and they are still in the Commissioners' service.

5. As regards the Accounts Department, the appointment of qualified accountants as Inspectors of Accounts was started only in 1931. Three qualified Indians were appointed in 1931 (of these one was a promoted clerk), and two more were appointed from outside in 1932, while some men already in the service have also qualified as accountants. In this connection I am to refer to the correspondence ending with the Local Government's letter No. 402-Mne., dated the 11th February, 1933, from which it will be seen that, with the exception of the present Chief Accountant and Deputy Chief Accountant, all the present accounts staff of the Commissioners are statutory natives of India, that the Commissioners have accepted the position that as regards future recruits to their Accounts Department enrolment on the Register of Accountants will be regarded as a sufficient qualification, and that owing to the arrangements made for the recruitment of qualified officers to junior posts in the Accounts Department it should ordinarily be unnecessary to recruit from outside to the posts of Chief and Deputy Chief Accountant. Since then the Commissioners as the result of a reference made to them by the Local Government in connection with the letter of the Government of India, Department of Commerce, No. 28 (1)-T. & E. (R.A.), dated the 1st September, have revised their further decision that in future all appointments from outside to posts of Audit Inspector or senior posts will be restricted to persons enrolled on the Register of Accountants (vide the Port Commissioners' letter No. 05840, dated the 31st January, 1933, a copy of which was forwarded to the Government of India with the letter quoted earlier in this paragraph from the Local Government). The reason for this change in view, which the Local Government regard as reasonable, is contained in the enclosed letter of the Chairman, No. 66112, dated the 23rd October, 1933.

6. With regard to the engineering side of the Port Commissioner's work, it has been ascertained that there are now five Indian Assistant Engineers in the Commissioners' service, one of whom is now officiating as an Assistant Executive Engineer. Two of these engineers however are promoted subordinates, and are said to be not fully qualified for further promotion.

7. With regard to paragraph 5 of Mr. Raisman's letter, it will be seen that the Commissioners will be prepared to give preference to ex-"Dufferin" cadets possessing Master Mariner's certificates when such candidates are available. The Commissioners, however, expect candidates to have served afloat at least as second officers and prefer them to have served as Chief officers. Apart from posts which must be filled by Master Mariners, it is said that there are several posts requiring sea experience, which have in the past been necessarily filled by Europeans, but which the Commissioners intend to fill with ex-"Dufferin" cadets with second mates certificates when they are available. Such posts are second officers in the Commissioners' Dredger and Despatch vessel service and it is the Commissioners' intention to appoint ex-"Dufferin" cadets possessing second mates certificates to these posts with a view to training them as Berthing Masters. It is stated also that in the River Survey the recruitment of Europeans has ceased, and that three out of the last four appointments have been made direct from the "Dufferin". This method of recruitment the Commissioners intend to follow in future.

8. The Chairman states that the recruitment of some Europeans will still be necessary in the Chief Mechanical Engineer's Department owing to the dearth of qualified Indian mechanical engineers with the necessary practical experience, especially of ship repair work. Marine Engineers with Board of Trade Certificates are also required, and it is stated that there are few Indians available with this qualification. It is also stated that there are no Indian shipwrights. Whenever Indians with the necessary qualifications are available however they are being appointed and it is stated that the electrical section is already under an Indian Electrical Engineer.

9. I am to say that the Local Government have nothing to add to the letter of the Chairman with respect to the policy pursued by the Commissioners. The Chairman states that the Commissioners have taken such action as is within their power to Indianize their services. He goes on to say that the rate of Indianization must depend upon the retirement of the European officers now in their service. The Local Government are of the opinion that as the Commissioners have accepted generally the principle that where properly qualified Indians are available, they will receive preference, no further action can be taken by Government towards Indianization. In particular, the Local Government invite the attention of the Government of India to the fact that the Commissioners are unanimously opposed to any suggestion that Europeans should be compulsorily retired to make way for Indians. With this sentiment the Local Government are in entire agreement, and they trust that any such idea would be strongly opposed by the Government of India.

10. I am to add that the information requested in paragraph 6 of Mr. Raisman's letter as amended by Mr. Stuart-Smith's letter No. 233-P. & L. (4)33, dated the 23rd September, 1933, will be forwarded regularly to the Government of India.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

(Sd.)

Joint Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Copy of a letter No. 58402, dated the 11th September, 1933, from the Chairman of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Marine Department.

I have the honour to refer to your letter No. 60-T. Marine, dated the 1st May, 1933, forwarding a copy of letter from the Government of India, Department of Commerce, No. 204-P. & L.32, dated the 19th April, 1933, on the subject of the Indianization of Port Trust services.

2. The policy of the Calcutta Port Commissioners in the matter of filling appointments is as follows. If there is any person already in their service fully qualified and in every way suitable for a vacant post, he will be promoted and the appointment will be made regardless of race. If there is no suitable person in their service and in consequence the vacancy has to be filled from outside, full opportunities will be given to Indians to apply and when an Indian with the necessary qualifications is available and candidates of other nationalities are not better fitted for the post, the Indian candidates will be appointed. This policy was unanimously accepted by the Commissioners.

3. The Commissioners have taken action to ensure as far as possible that there will be Indians in the service suitable for promotion to higher appointments. In the Traffic Department probationers have been appointed for special training as officers; in the Accounts Department, qualified accountants have been appointed as Inspectors of Accounts so that it should no longer be necessary for the Commissioners to recruit from outside for the senior posts in this Department; and Indian assistants have been appointed in the Engineering Department.

4. As a result of the action taken, it will not be necessary in ordinary circumstances to recruit Europeans for any post in the Trust, other than posts in the Deputy Conservator's and Chief Mechanical Engineer's departments. I say in ordinary circumstances because it is always possible that the necessity for an outside appointment may arise, and there may not be a suitable Indian candidate available.

[6TH SEP. 1935.]

5. The recruitment of Europeans will still be necessary for the Deputy Conservator's department because the incumbents of many posts must be holders of Master Mariner's certificates, and Indians with this qualification are not now available. They will be available in the future, and the Government of India ask whether the Commissioners will then be prepared to give them preference. The reply is in the affirmative, but it must be remembered that the mere possession of a Master Mariner's certificate is not sufficient as the Commissioners expect candidates to have served afloat at least as second officers and prefer them to have served as Chief Officers. Apart from posts which must be filled by Master Mariners, there are several posts requiring sea experience, which have in the past necessarily been filled by Europeans. Ex. "Dufferin" cadets with Second Mates certificates will shortly be available and it is intended to appoint them when vacancies occur as second officers in the Commissioners' Dredger and Despatch vessel service with a view to training them as Berthing Masters. In another important section of the Deputy Conservator's Department, viz., the River Survey, men can be recruited young and receive the necessary training in the service. The recruitment of Europeans for this section has ceased, the three out of the last four appointments made have been direct from the "Dufferin". This method of recruitment will be followed in future.

6. The recruitment of some Europeans will still be necessary in the Chief Mechanical Engineer's Department owing to the dearth of qualified Indian Mechanical Engineers with the necessary practical experience, especially of ship repair work which is such an important part of the work of this department. Also, Marine Engineers with B. O. T. certificates are necessary and there are at present few Indians available with this qualification, and there are no Indian shipwrights. Whenever Indians with the necessary qualifications are available, they are being appointed and the electrical section is already under an Indian Electrical Engineer.

7. The Commissioners have taken such action as is within their power to Indianise their services, but the rate of Indianization must depend upon the rate of retirement of the European officers now in their service. It has never been suggested that Europeans should be compulsorily retired to make way for Indians, and the Commissioners would be unanimously opposed to any such action. The rate of Indianization has also been adversely effected by the abolition of posts on account of trade depression.

8. The Commissioners will in future forward to you annually the report and statement referred to in paragraph 6 of the letter from the Government of India.

THE COMMISSIONERS FOR THE PORT OF CALOUTTA.

No. 66112.

The 23rd October, 1935.

FROM

T. H. ELDERTON, Esq.,

Chairman,

TO

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, MARINE DEPARTMENT.

SIR,

I have the honour to refer to your letter No. 422-T.Mne., dated the 9th October, 1933, forwarding copy of a letter from the Government of India, Department of Commerce, No. 28 (1)-T. & E. (R.A.), dated the 1st September, 1933, regarding Auditor's Certificates Rules, 1932.

The Government of India in the last paragraph of their letter ask the Local Government to consider the desirability of prescribing enrolment on the Register of Accountants as the qualification required of candidates for various posts requiring knowledge of accountancy. The Port Commissioners would not be prepared to insist upon this qualification in the case of their service, for the following reasons:

- (a) No person will be eligible for enrolment on the Register under Rule 6 (a) unless he has completed a certain period of service under articles. This would exclude from enrolment all persons who have received their early practical training in the Commissioners' service.

- (b) There would appear to be no justification for insisting upon a person qualified for enrolment under rule 6 to incur the cost of enrolment when he had no desire to act as a public accountant and would not be permitted by the Commissioners to do so.

At present men who are obtaining their practical experience in the Commissioners' service can acquire by private study the theoretical knowledge which is necessary for promotion to the highest posts, and they can prove the possession of this knowledge by passing the examination qualifying for the Government Diploma of Accountancy or the examinations held by bodies such as the London Association of Accountants. The Commissioners would certainly not be prepared to adopt any course which would unnecessarily exclude from promotion men who have all the theoretical knowledge required for enrolment on the Register and also have long experience of the practical side of their duties in the Commissioners' service.

I take this opportunity to correct the statement made in the penultimate paragraph of this office letter No. 5840, dated the 31st January, 1933. Although anyone enrolled on the Register of Accountants will be deemed sufficiently qualified for any post in the Commissioners' Accounts Department, future appointment from outside to posts of Audit Inspector or senior posts cannot be restricted to such persons. Theoretical qualifications such as the qualification G. D. A. will certainly be insisted upon but to prescribe the further condition of enrolment on the Register of Accountants might only render it impossible to appoint the most suitable candidate.

I have, etc.,

(Sd.) T. H. ELDERTON,

Chairman.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : How long will these men be retained ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I can discover that if the Honourable Member is anxious to know.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : How long after their retirement they were taken in ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have no information on the point, but I can discover that if the Honourable Member wants.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to part (h), may I know if this policy is being enforced now ? Are they recruiting only Indians now ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, if you mean only Indians. If you mean progressive recruitment of Indians, yes.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What proportion of Indians and non-Indians is recruited ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot state the exact proportion of recruitment of Indians, but I may say that every year the recruitment of Indians has been on an increasing scale.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the exact proportion ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I can give that. In 1927, there were 64 Indians, including Anglo-Indians and 235 Europeans. The percentage of Indians, including Anglo-Indians, was 21 per cent. In 1932, Indians including Anglo-Indians were 147, and Europeans 293. The percentage of Indians including Anglo-Indians was 33. In 1935, there are 204 Indians including Anglo-Indians and Europeans 295. The percentage of Indians including Anglo-Indians is 40. In 1927, Indians, excluding Anglo-Indians, were 14 and the percentage was 4.6. In 1935, Indians, excluding Anglo-Indians, are 88, percentage 17.6.

RECRUITMENT OF INDIANS IN THE CALCUTTA PORT TRUST.

157. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Is it not a fact that in the latest Administration Report of the Bombay Port Trust it has been maintained that during the last ten years, the authorities at Bombay while filling up vacancies did not appoint any European, if Indian candidates with the requisite qualifications were available ?

(b) What steps do Government propose to take in order that the legitimate aspirations of qualified Indians may not be neglected by the Calcutta Port Trust authorities ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) It is presumed that the Honourable Member refers to the following statement in the Administration Report of the Bombay Port Trust for 1933-34 :

“ * * * no European has been recruited to any post in the Trust carrying a salary of Rs. 500 and over during the past ten years, except in the case of certain specialised appointments in the Port and Engineering Departments requiring technical qualifications not yet possessed by Indians, such as Dredging Masters and Engineers with Board of Trade certificates or Master Mariners with Foreign-going certificates.”

(b) Government have no reason to suppose that the legitimate aspirations of qualified Indians are being neglected by the Calcutta Port Trust authorities.

APPOINTMENT OF NON-INDIANS AS PROBATIONARY ASSISTANT RIVER SURVEYORS IN THE CALCUTTA PORT TRUST.

158. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that in the month of June, 1934, two non-Indians, as distinct from persons of pure Indian parentage, were appointed as probationary Assistant River Surveyors by the Calcutta Port Trust authorities ?

(b) If the answer to part (a) be in the affirmative, were those non-Indians appointed due to Indians with similar qualifications not being available or not offering as candidates for appointment ?

(c) What are the qualifications of the persons appointed, and what is the scale of salary for an Assistant River Surveyor during the probationary period and on confirmation ?

(d) Were the posts, before being filled up, properly advertised ? If not, what was the reason for the Calcutta Port Trust authorities for not providing adequate opportunities to Indians who might have otherwise offered themselves as candidates for appointments, and how did the authorities determine that the persons appointed were with their qualifications the best available for the posts ?

(e) Is it not a fact that the persons appointed never served as cadets in the Mercantile Marine Training Ship Dufferin ?

(f) Was it not decided by the Calcutta Port Trust authorities that River Survey section of the Deputy Conservator's Department could be Indianised without difficulty by taking in cadets from the Mercantile Marine Training Ship Dufferin, as being eminently suitable for the purpose ?

(g) If the answer to parts (e) and (f) be in the affirmative, what is the reason for prescribing one set of qualifications for non-Indians and another for Indians ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Two Anglo-Indians who are Statutory Indians were appointed as probationary Assistant River Surveyors on the 1st June, 1934.

(b) The names of three Indian candidates were received from the Principal, Bengal Engineering College, but the candidates were found to be over-age.

(c) The qualifications required of probationary Assistant River Surveyors are given in the statement laid on the table. The probationers appointed possessed these qualifications.

The salary during the probationary period of three years is Rs. 75, Rs. 95 and Rs. 115 per mensem, respectively. The pay on confirmation is Rs. 200 in the scale of Rs. 75—20—95—115—200—250—310—30—400—450—50—1,200 per mensem.

(d) The posts have not been advertised in the past. The names of three Indian candidates were received through the Principal of the Bengal Engineering College. I believe it is intended to advertise these posts in the future. The two probationers appointed were considered suitable.

(e) Yes.

(f) The following is an extract from a letter of the Chairman of the Port Commissioners to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, dated the 11th September, 1933 :

“ In another important section of the Deputy Conservator's Department, viz., the River Survey, men can be recruited young and receive the necessary training in the service. The recruitment of Europeans for this section has ceased and three out of the last four appointments made have been direct from the ‘Dufferin’. This method of recruitment will be followed in future.”

(g) The qualifications required are the same for all candidates, Indians and non-Indians.

Statement showing the qualifications required of probationary Assistant River Surveyors in the service of the Calcutta Port Commissioners.

(1) The candidate should be less than 18 years of age.

(2) The candidate should have passed the Senior Cambridge Examination, or its equivalent, with credit in Mathematics, which must include Trigonometry.

(3) The candidate should be of good physique and produce a medical certificate of fitness with specific reference to absence of any defect or weakness of eye-sight. The candidate will be further examined by the Commissioners' Medical Officer prior to entry.

(4) The candidate must produce a certificate of conduct and character from the head of his last school.

INDIANS, ANGLO-INDIANS AND EUROPEANS SERVING IN PORT TRUST IN INDIA.

159. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : With reference to the answers to starred questions Nos. 537 and 308 (b) and (c), asked in this House on the 29th February, 1932, and 31st August, 1933, respectively, will Government be pleased to state separately the number of the Indian, European, and Anglo-Indian officers serving up to date in the higher and more remunerative posts in all the Port Trusts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

Statement showing the number of Superior Officers in the various Port Trusts holding appointments carrying a maximum salary of Rs. 500 and over as on the 31st March, 1935 (in the case of Aden upto the 31st December, 1934).

| Port Trust.         | Indian. | European. | Anglo-Indian. | Mauritius. | Chinese. | Armerian. |
|---------------------|---------|-----------|---------------|------------|----------|-----------|
| 1. Madras .. ..     | 6       | 12        | ..            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 2. Calcutta .. ..   | 25      | 114       | 85            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 3. Bombay .. ..     | 32      | 74        | 11            | 1          | ..       | ..        |
| 4. Karachi .. ..    | 10      | 18        | 2             | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 5. Chittagong .. .. | ..      | 8         | ..            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 6. Rangoon .. ..    | 12      | 59        | 20            | ..         | 2        | 1         |
| 7. Aden .. ..       | 1       | 10        | ..            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| Totals .. ..        | 86      | 295       | 118           | 1          | 2        | 1         |

INDIANISATION OF SERVICES IN PORT TRUSTS IN INDIA.

160. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : What measures do Government propose to adopt in order to ensure the speeding up of the Indianisation of the services in all the Port Trusts in India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The desirability of Indianising the superior services under them has been brought to the notice of the Port Trusts and the Government of India have been informed that the Port Trusts have generally taken and will continue to take such action as lies within their power to accelerate the process of Indianisation.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : Has any time limit been fixed within which Indianisation of the services in the Port Trusts is to be completed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When was this communication sent to the Port Trusts by Government ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The correspondence I have laid on the table supplies all the information. I think it was on the 19th April, 1933.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Since then, how many Indians have been appointed to the superior services of the Port Trusts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I shall require notice of that question.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if there are any Indians as Chairmen of Port Trusts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Notice of this question has already been received and it will be replied to when it is reached.

REPORT ON THE CO-OPERATIVE MOVEMENT IN INDIA SUBMITTED BY MR. M. L. DARLING.

161. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Is it a fact that Mr. M. L. Darling, I.C.S., Special Officer in the Finance Department of the Government of India, has submitted to Government a report on the Co-operative movement in India ?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to lay on the table of the House a copy of the said report and to state what action they propose to take on the said report ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (b). Mr. Darling was primarily appointed to advise on the constitution of the Agricultural Credit Department of the Reserve Bank and the methods by which this Department could best assist agricultural credit including the co-operative movement. To his main report Mr. Darling has added a report on the co-operative movement in India as a whole and notes on the movement in the various provinces. The reports are primarily intended for the consideration of the Board of the Reserve Bank to whom they have been forwarded, and Government are not in a position to make any statement regarding their publication until they have received the views of the Board.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government reviewed those reports ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : As I say, it is primarily for the Board of the Reserve Bank to review them. The duty of considering the question of agricultural credit has been placed upon them by Statute.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Has it been reviewed by the Board of Directors of the Reserve Bank ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It is under consideration. Whether they have completed their review I cannot say.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : When was the report sent to the Reserve Bank ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not know exactly, but some months ago.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What have the Reserve Bank done till now ?

INDIANS, ANGLO-INDIANS AND EUROPEANS SERVING IN PORT TRUST IN INDIA.

159. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : With reference to the answers to starred questions Nos. 537 and 308 (b) and (c), asked in this House on the 29th February, 1932, and 31st August, 1933, respectively, will Government be pleased to state separately the number of the Indian, European, and Anglo-Indian officers serving up to date in the higher and more remunerative posts in all the Port Trusts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : A statement giving the required information is laid on the table.

Statement showing the number of Superior Officers in the various Port Trusts holding appointments carrying a maximum salary of Rs. 500 and over as on the 31st March, 1935 (in the case of Aden upto the 31st December, 1934).

| Port Trust.      | Indian. | European. | Anglo-Indian. | Mauritius. | Chinese. | Armerian. |
|------------------|---------|-----------|---------------|------------|----------|-----------|
| 1. Madras ..     | 6       | 12        | ..            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 2. Calcutta ..   | 25      | 114       | 85            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 3. Bombay ..     | 32      | 74        | 11            | 1          | ..       | ..        |
| 4. Karachi ..    | 10      | 18        | 2             | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 5. Chittagong .. | ..      | 8         | ..            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| 6. Rangoon ..    | 12      | 59        | 20            | ..         | 2        | 1         |
| 7. Aden ..       | 1       | 10        | ..            | ..         | ..       | ..        |
| Totals ..        | 86      | 295       | 118           | 1          | 2        | 1         |

INDIANISATION OF SERVICES IN PORT TRUSTS IN INDIA.

160. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : What measures do Government propose to adopt in order to ensure the speeding up of the Indianisation of the services in all the Port Trusts in India ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The desirability of Indianising the superior services under them has been brought to the notice of the Port Trusts and the Government of India have been informed that the Port Trusts have generally taken and will continue to take such action as lies within their power to accelerate the process of Indianisation.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : Has any time limit been fixed within which Indianisation of the services in the Port Trusts is to be completed ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : When was this communication sent to the Port Trusts by Government ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The correspondence I have laid on the table supplies all the information. I think it was on the 19th April, 1933.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Since then, how many Indians have been appointed to the superior services of the Port Trusts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I shall require notice of that question.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if there are any Indians as Chairmen of Port Trusts ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Notice of this question has already been received and it will be replied to when it is reached.

REPORT ON THE CO-OPERATIVE MOVEMENT IN INDIA SUBMITTED BY MR. M. L. DARLING.

161. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Is it a fact that Mr. M. L. Darling, I.C.S., Special Officer in the Finance Department of the Government of India, has submitted to Government a report on the Co-operative movement in India ?

(b) If so, will Government be pleased to lay on the table of the House a copy of the said report and to state what action they propose to take on the said report ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (b). Mr. Darling was primarily appointed to advise on the constitution of the Agricultural Credit Department of the Reserve Bank and the methods by which this Department could best assist agricultural credit including the co-operative movement. To his main report Mr. Darling has added a report on the co-operative movement in India as a whole and notes on the movement in the various provinces. The reports are primarily intended for the consideration of the Board of the Reserve Bank to whom they have been forwarded, and Government are not in a position to make any statement regarding their publication until they have received the views of the Board.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government reviewed those reports ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : As I say, it is primarily for the Board of the Reserve Bank to review them. The duty of considering the question of agricultural credit has been placed upon them by Statute.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Has it been reviewed by the Board of Directors of the Reserve Bank ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It is under consideration. Whether they have completed their review I cannot say.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : When was the report sent to the Reserve Bank ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not know exactly, but some months ago.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What have the Reserve Bank done till now ?

[6TH SEP. 1935.]

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have just answered that question. The Report is under their consideration, but I cannot say whether they have completed their consideration of it or not.

Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : Did Mr. Darling investigate into the working of the department in all the various provinces ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot say off-hand about every province, but he certainly did it in most of them.

SCHEMES FOR RURAL DEVELOPMENT RECEIVED FROM THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS.

162. *Mr. Basanta Kumar Das : (a) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table the schemes for rural uplift received from the Provincial Governments ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state how the one crore of rupees, granted for the rural uplift, has been allotted to the different provinces ?

(c) Have Government made an estimate of the sum that will be required for thorough rural uplift work to be carried on with a programme involving continuous work for the next few years ?

(d) Do Government propose to include in the programme of work for rural uplift the work of reviving village industries ? If so, are Government scheme with that of the Congress scheme that may be formulated under the auspices of the Village Industries Association ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (b). A statement showing the distribution of the grant and the schemes recommended by the Local Governments and approved by the Government of India is laid on the table.

(c) It would be impossible to form such an estimate.

(d) As the Honourable Member will see from the statement, some of the Provinces propose to devote part of their grants to the improvement of village industries. The Government of India have not required Local Governments to co-ordinate their schemes with schemes formulated under the auspices of the Congress Village Industries Association.

Perhaps I may say that I think there is now available a full supply of this statement for the use of Honourable Members.

The Government of India Grant for Rural Development in 1935-36.

In the budget speech for 1935-36 it was announced that the Government of India proposed to make a grant of Rs. 1 crore for distribution to the Provinces to be spent on schemes for the economic development and improvement of rural areas. It was indicated that 10 or 15 lakhs of this sum would be earmarked for the purpose of assisting the co-operative movement and that the remainder would be allocated among the Provinces on the basis of rural population. The money was to be spent on schemes approved by the Government of India which would improve the economic position of the people in rural areas. The term 'economic position' was intended in its broadest sense, i.e., it was meant to cover measures designed to improve the actual money incomes of the people as well as those designed to improve their health and education. The schemes were of course to be additional schemes, i.e., over and above the ordinary activities of the Provincial Governments.

A demand was laid before the Legislative Assembly for the transfer of one crore from the 1934-35 surplus to a special fund to be devoted to the economic development of rural areas. At a later stage it was proposed to transfer to the fund the unallocated balance of that surplus, then estimated to amount to 13 lakhs, in order to provide scope for varying the allotments payable on the rural population basis where it seemed desirable to do so, particularly in the case of some of the economically backward Provinces.

In the first place, 15 lakhs have been set aside for developing the co-operative movement. Even before the decision to make a grant of Rs. 1 crore was taken, the Government of India had placed Mr. M. L. Darling, formerly Registrar of Co-operative Societies, Punjab, and an acknowledged authority on the subject, on special duty to enquire into the state of the co-operative movement in each Province with a view to assisting the Reserve Bank in developing its proposals for the creation of its agricultural credit department. As the result of his enquiries Mr. Darling was impressed with the neglect from which, in certain of the Provinces at any rate, education in the principles and practice of the movement of official as well as non-official workers engaged in it had suffered. He was strongly of opinion that unless this neglect were promptly remedied, there would be no real revival of co-operation. The Government of India recognise how wide is the scope for co-operative principles in rural reconstruction. They, therefore, agreed with Mr. Darling's view that their proposed contribution for developing the co-operative movement should be devoted to giving effect to the educational schemes which he had worked out in consultation with the Provincial Registrars of Co-operative Societies. Local Governments have been informed of this and the Government of India now await their final views on Mr. Darling's proposals. On receipt of these the sum of Rs. 15 lakhs will be distributed.

Next 85 lakhs were allocated on the basis of rural population as follows :—

|                                      | Rs. |    |    |    |    |    | Lakhs. |
|--------------------------------------|-----|----|----|----|----|----|--------|
| Madras .. .. .                       | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 14     |
| Bombay .. .. .                       | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 6      |
| Bengal .. .. .                       | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 16     |
| United Provinces .. .. .             | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 15     |
| Punjab .. .. .                       | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 7.5    |
| Burma .. .. .                        | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5      |
| Bihar and Orissa .. .. .             | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 12.5   |
| Central Provinces .. .. .            | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 5      |
| North-West Frontier Province .. .. . | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 1      |
| Assam .. .. .                        | ..  | .. | .. | .. | .. | .. | 3      |

Then from the supplementary amount available,  $\frac{1}{2}$  lakh was set aside for each of Coorg, Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara, while an additional 2 lakhs each were assigned to Assam and the North-West Frontier Province. These two village selected, the local body or villagers undertaking to maintain them, and (2) for the supply of concrete slabs at half cost and the full supply of borers necessary for installing private latrines in a few houses in each village, subject to the condition that the house-owner finds funds for the enclosure, labour for boring and construction, and also the other half of the cost of the slabs. Work will be confined to about 100 important villages in a typical taluk of each district and the needs of areas inhabited by depressed classes will also receive due consideration. The work will be executed by the Public Health Department.

(ii) Poonamallee Health Unit Scheme.—It is proposed to utilise a sum not exceeding Rs. 25,000 on a scheme of intensive health work in a selected area to demonstrate the benefits that will accrue thereby to the health and welfare of the rural population. The health unit will work under the Public Health Department.

(4) The following anti-malarial measures will be carried out in four typical areas :

- (a) provision of sub-soil and open drainage at a place in the Vizagapatam Agency ;
- (b) sub-soil drainage at a place in the Nilgiris (hilly tracts) ;
- (c) anti-malarial measures in the Rameswaram Island ; and
- (d) anti-malarial measures in certain coastal areas in the Nellore district.

The works will be executed by the Public Health Department.

(5) The discretionary grants will be spent on urgent village necessities in particular localities and will be non-recurring. The objects on which the grants may be spent are restricted to the following :

- (i) Construction or improvement of public baths ;
- (ii) Improvement or provision of minor village communications such as river landings, foot-bridges, culverts, foot paths, boats for crossing streams and canals.
- (iii) Wells or other drinking water sources for the poorer classes.
- (iv) Playgrounds for village schools.
- (v) Burial and burning grounds.
- (vi) Relief of poor people who have suffered from fire, flood, cyclone or other sudden calamities or who are obliged to vacate their houses owing to plague, etc.

The question whether Collectors should be authorised to spend this grant of Rs. 50,000 on objects other than those specified above is under the consideration of the Local Government.

Bombay.

| (1) Village Improvement scheme :                  |    |    |    | Rs.      | Rs.      |
|---------------------------------------------------|----|----|----|----------|----------|
| Northern Division                                 | .. | .. | .. | 1,08,000 |          |
| Central Division                                  | .. | .. | .. | 2,02,000 |          |
| Southern Division                                 | .. | .. | .. | 1,58,000 |          |
| Sind ..                                           | .. | .. | .. | 1,38,000 |          |
|                                                   |    |    |    |          | 6,06,000 |
| (2) Improvement of buffaloes and disposal of milk | .. | .. | .. | 42,000   |          |
| (3) Improvement of poultry ..                     | .. | .. | .. | 15,000   |          |
| (4) Co-operative egg-collecting and marketing ..  | .. | .. | .. | 2,000    |          |
| (5) Improved preserving and tanning of hides ..   | .. | .. | .. | 25,000   |          |
| (6) Inland fisheries ..                           | .. | .. | .. | 10,000   |          |
| Total ..                                          |    |    |    |          | 7,00,000 |

(1) The Village Improvement Scheme of the Bombay Government organised on the lines laid down by the late Governor, Sir Frederick Sykes, has now been in actual operation for nearly two years.

The essential factor of the scheme is the co-operation of all agencies—Government, local authorities, non-official associations and local effort, to improve all sides of the life of the cultivator, concentrating in the first instance on the more pressing needs of the particular village concerned. The scheme is based on the view that no effective progress is possible without the co-operation of the villagers themselves and that the first task is to arouse in them an interest in, and a desire for, improvement of their condition.

Under the scheme the primary agency is the District Executive Committee for village improvement of which the Collector is the ex-officio Chairman and the President of the District Local Board is the Vice-Chairman. The Committee normally includes Government officers representing the social service departments of Government, representatives of local bodies, such as Local Boards and the like, and persons concerned with social service, education, charitable organisations, etc.

Under the District Executive Committee, work is carried on in the talukas of the districts, either through the existing Taluka Development Associations or by the formation of Taluka Committees. In villages themselves Panchayats established under the Village Panchayats Act or local committees are made use of. Particular subjects, as for instance, education, co-operation, agricultural improvements, etc., can also be dealt with by the appointment of special sub-committees.

In each Division the Commissioner secures the general co-ordination of the village improvement work being carried on by the District Executive Committees in co-operation with the various Departments of Government. District Executive Committees have been formed in all districts of the Presidency proper, except the Bombay Suburban District, where the work of village improvement is entrusted to the District Local Board. Taluka and village committees have also been established in most talukas and villages. Up to the present secretaries have been appointed in eleven districts to carry on propaganda and organise activities in the districts, the necessary financial provision for them being made by Government.

The manner of development has not been the same in all districts. In some a start was made at the top with District Executive Committees, from which the movement spread downwards to the talukas and villages, while in other districts there was concentration on villages from the start, certain villages being selected to test the experiment or to serve as models.

The Local Government recommended and the Government of India agreed that the greater part of the grant should, in the case of Bombay, be utilised for furthering this scheme which has already produced striking results. Out of the Rs. 6,06,000 to be devoted to the scheme, Rs. 2,00,000 will be distributed to District Officers for expenditure on the objects which the scheme seeks to promote, and of this Rs. 2 lakhs, Rs. 1 lakh will be reserved for villages where the scheme has not been introduced. The balance will be distributed through District Committees and other local bodies. Rs. 55,000 out of the provision for Sind will be utilized for agricultural and industrial improvement.

The following schemes will be confined to the Presidency proper and will be in charge of the officers of the departments concerned.

(2) The scheme for the improvement of buffaloes will be spread over 5 years. It is proposed to employ the agency of the village improvement committees or other similar bodies, or, where such bodies are not available, the agency of Government officials. One inspector and 4 non-graduates will be specially employed.

(3) The scheme for the improvement of poultry is in two parts. Cocks of improved breed will be introduced in a certain number of villages, and a limited number of premiums will be awarded to poultry farmers who undertake to abide by certain conditions, one of which is that their eggs will be sold locally for breeding purposes at controlled prices.

(4) It is proposed to institute a pioneer co-operative society in order to improve the marketing of eggs.

(5) For the improvement of preserving and tanning of hides two touring demonstration parties will be employed for a period of 3 years.

(6) It is proposed to stock 5 or 6 selected tanks with small fish from the Madras Presidency. Little or no recurring expenditure is anticipated when once the tanks have been stocked.

Bengal.

|                                                                                                                         | Rs.              |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|
| (1) Establishment of seed, paddy and crop demonstration centres ..                                                      | 1,09,000         |
| (2) Improvement of cattle and of fodder crops .. ..                                                                     | 1,75,000         |
| (3) Improvement of poultry .. ..                                                                                        | 500              |
| (4) Propaganda in the districts—loud speakers and gramophones ..                                                        | 20,000           |
| (5) Wireless transmission in Midnapore district .. ..                                                                   | 82,000           |
| (6) Improved marketing—jute and paddy .. ..                                                                             | 50,000           |
| (7) Coir spinning and weaving .. ..                                                                                     | 40,700           |
| (8) Union Board dispensaries and improvement of water supply ..                                                         | 3,50,000         |
| (9) Attachment of agricultural farms, etc., to secondary schools, and provision of play-grounds and village halls .. .. | 1,80,000         |
| (10) Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and Bratachari .. ..                                                                       | 20,000           |
| (11) Minor drainage and flushing schemes .. ..                                                                          | 3,30,000         |
| (12) Chittagong Hill Tracts .. ..                                                                                       | 25,000           |
| (13) Discretionary grants to Commissioners and District Officers ..                                                     | 2,17,800         |
| Total ..                                                                                                         | 16,00,000 |

(1) The spread of improved paddy seed is hindered by the heavy cost of distribution. Local centres have therefore been opened for the multiplication and distribution of better types of seed by 114 Union Boards in Bengal. More Boards are willing to provide land for opening such centres. It is therefore proposed to extend the scheme to 450 Union Boards in all. 8 acres will be provided at each centre, 5 for multiplication of seed and 3 for general demonstration. The Union Boards will pay for the cost of cultivation and recoup themselves from the money received for the produce.

(2) There are at present 2 temporary live-stock officers working in Bengal and 3 more will now be employed. These officers will work in 10 districts, in each of which a temporary Veterinary Assistant Surgeon will also be employed on the work. It is proposed to introduce 100 pure bred bulls in each of the districts and thus to promote the development of an indigenous breed of cattle and eliminate the necessity of importing bullocks from outside the Province, which costs Bengal at the present time Rs. 50 lakhs a year.

It is also proposed to introduce on a larger scale the cultivation of Napier grass as green fodder for cattle. This grass can be grown on areas at present not under cultivation; one acre of such grass will keep 8 animals fully supplied. It is proposed to introduce sufficient cuttings of Napier grass to grow 100 acres in each of the 10 districts at a total cost of Rs. 10,000.

The total cost of giving effect to the Local Government's schemes under this head is Rs. 1,90,000 of which the Local Government will themselves provide Rs. 15,000.

(3) The nucleus of the scheme for improving poultry in Bengal will be the Dacca Farm, which is under the charge of a specially trained officer. In each of the 10 districts mentioned above 20 selected mating birds will be supplied from this farm to villages which agree to get rid of their old male stock. Three centres have already been developed on these lines in Bengal as an experiment, and the experiments appear to have been successful.

(4) One of the most effective and established methods of rural uplift propaganda in the districts is through mass meetings. It is proposed to provide 30 loud speakers with dry cell batteries, 30 gramophones and 30 sets of musical records for use with the loud-speakers. It is proposed to use this grant to meet the initial cost and the recurring cost for one year.

(5) It is proposed to establish a rural broad-casting service in Midnapore district with a medium-wave transmitter installed in the Midnapore Court building. From this will be served 50 receiving sets installed in different parts of the district. The transmitter will be used for broadcasting the amusements programme from the Calcutta Broadcasting Station, and also to broadcast from Midnapore in the local dialect news, instructions and propaganda talks of the kind required by the people of the district and in the form likely to appeal to them. The station will be worked for the 6 months of the year during which the reception of the programme can be guaranteed to be satisfactory. The scheme will be worked for 2 years, at the end of which it is hoped to establish it on a business footing.

(6) The Government of Bengal have been considering a scheme estimated to cost Rs. 1½ lakhs for establishing jute-marketing and paddy-marketing societies. There is a general desire for some scheme for the improved marketing of agricultural products in Bengal, but past experience has indicated the need for caution. The Local Government therefore intend to use Rs. 50,000 of this grant for opening one jute-marketing and one paddy-marketing society by way of further experiment. A special officer will be attached to the Agriculture and Industries Department of the Local Government to work out the scheme.

500

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[6TH SEP. 1935.]

(7) A prolific supply of cocoanuts is available in the deltaic districts of Bengal the fibre of which is at present used only for fuel. But there is the prospect of its being put to a more remunerative use as string, rope, matting, tatties, etc. The articles of these kinds at present sold in the bazars of Bengal come mostly from Southern India. An experimental coir-making and spinning demonstration party was created in November, 1934, which showed that there is a reasonable prospect of developing a local industry. It is therefore proposed to organise 4 demonstration parties with suitable equipment, to tour the deltaic areas and demonstrate the method of turning cocoanut fibre to economic use. The sum which the Local Government propose to utilise for this purpose will enable this experiment to be conducted for 3 years.

(8) The Local Government propose that half this sum of Rs. 3½ lakhs, should go towards the establishment of Union Board dispensaries, and the other half towards the improvement of rural water-supply. But if local opinion in any district does not favour dispensaries, any amount which is made available thereby will be diverted from dispensaries to water-supply in that district. A cheap form of dispensary with brick walls and corrugated iron roof will be erected, provided with a tube well if required. No such dispensary will be opened unless there is a definite assurance that the recurring expenditure involved will be forthcoming from local sources.

In the distribution of the money available for improved water-supply those areas in which cholera is endemic will be given preference. Money will be allotted to specific projects by the District Officers in consultation with the Chairmen of District Boards.

(9) It is proposed to attach a farm, dairy or workshop to selected schools in the province so as to provide a vocational or rural bias and keep the schools in touch with the rural population. This will be the first step in the Government of Bengal's new policy of introducing a rural bias in education.

The Local Government also propose to establish village halls, with small libraries attached, in certain selected villages to form the centres of village life. It is also proposed to construct and equip village play grounds in connection with and in close proximity to the village halls. It is also proposed to acquire and prepare playgrounds for selected schools, particularly girls' schools, many of which have at present no playground or open space attached to them.

It is hoped to establish a village hall and playground in each sub-division. The Local Government have been asked to consider whether some economy could not be effected by utilising the school building itself for the purpose of a village hall and library.

(10) A sum of Rs. 20,000 is to be spent on approved schemes for the promotion of the Boy Scouts and similar movements.

(11) Money will only be spent on minor drainage and flushing schemes examined and approved by the Local Government's technical experts. In selecting projects the following principles will be observed as far as possible :

(a) that the expenditure is calculated to effect a permanent improvement,

(b) that the schemes are schemes which are really wanted by the people themselves,

(c) that money will be available locally for maintenance if required.

(12) This sum will be expended on water-supply, drainage (sanitary and agricultural), and communications (including wooden bridges).

(13) The balance of the grant will be used to augment the discretionary grants of Commissioners of Divisions and District Officers, who will be instructed that these additional sums are to be spent only on supplementary projects within the intention of this grant.

United Provinces.

|                                                      | Rs.       |
|------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| (1) Main Scheme .. .. .                              | 7,00,000  |
| (2) Agricultural schemes .. .. .                     | 3,28,000  |
| (3) Public Health and medical relief schemes .. .. . | 3,16,000  |
| (4) Industrial schemes .. .. .                       | 70,000    |
| (5) Publicity and propaganda schemes .. .. .         | 36,000    |
| (6) Kumaun district .. .. .                          | 50,000    |
|                                                      | <hr/>     |
|                                                      | 15,00,000 |

(1) The "Main Scheme" referred to is the Local Government's scheme of rural development, the object of which is to promote the spirit of selfhelp in the villages. To this end the Local Government propose to employ for about two years a special staff consisting of :

(i) at least six organisers in each one of the 45 districts (the three hill districts of Kumaun being excluded) ;

(ii) one inspector in each district to guide and supervise the work of the organisers.

Each organiser will work more or less on the lines on which the "Village Guides" work in connection with the co-operative movement. It is expected that he will be able to look after about 12 villages ; but this number may later on be increased. The organisers as well as inspectors will, before appointment, undergo special training in sanitation and hygiene, agricultural practice and co-operative methods. This special staff will be under the control of the District Officer. There will be district rural development associations with consultative functions. For the execution of minor local works of public utility a sum of at least Rs. 5,000 (on the average) will be placed at the disposal of each of the 45 District Officers.

For the initial two years the cost of the staff and the district allotments, together with a small reserve for unforeseen opportunities, is estimated to amount to Rs. 9 lakhs. Out of this the Local Government propose to provide Rs. 2 lakhs, which will be utilised towards the cost of the staff. The balance, viz., Rs. 7 lakhs, will be debited to the Central Government's grant.

(2) It is proposed to spend Rs. 1,20,000 in making grants-in-aid, up to one-third in each case, towards the cost of sinking tubes in existing wells. 3,000 such borings will be carried out over a period of two years in areas unserved by canals or tube wells. An extra sum of Rs. 18,000 is added to provide guarantees against cases of failure.

A sum of Rs. 79,000 will be spent in constructing embankments to prevent soil erosion and to retain moisture, particularly in the eastern districts. For the construction of these embankments a tractor will be purchased which at other times of the year will be utilised for the eradication of kans grass. It is also hoped to excavate 250 temporary reservoirs, towards which Government will contribute up to one-third of the cost, subject to a maximum of Rs. 300 in each case.

To develop the culture of fruit in the Province, grafts, plants and seed will be supplied to villages included in the "Main Scheme". A fruit chowdhuri will be employed in each district. The total cost of these measures will amount to Rs. 20,000.

Rs. 80,000 will be spent partly in buying up inferior seed in the villages and replacing it by good seed supplied by the Agricultural Department, and partly in improving the system of distribution of departmental seed. This will involve the subsidizing of privately managed seed stores and also, if necessary, of developing the system of seed multiplication.

Rs. 3,000 will be utilized in the establishment of poultry farms at Jaleswar and Etawah, and Rs. 8,000 on "goat improvement" by the maintenance and distribution of suitable bucks.

(3) The Local Government propose to establish nine health units, each of which will cover a compact and exclusively rural area of about 50 villages with a population of about 30,000 at an estimated cost of Rs. 11,000 a year. They propose also to introduce a scheme (estimated to cost Rs. 2,540 per unit per year) for medical relief in conjunction with these health units, and also a scheme estimated to cost Rs. 36,000 a year for the supply of village medicine chests in villages included in the Main Scheme.

The total estimated cost during the initial two years is Rs. 3,16,000.

(4) The Local Government consider that the development of marketing is one of the most promising lines for giving help to village industries. With this object a sum of Rs. 8,000 will be set apart for the existing Government Emporium of Arts and Crafts at Lucknow to cover the initial outlay on preparing catalogues, price lists, samples, etc., and as insurance against the risk of possible losses from the marketing of products of village industry. It is also proposed to subsidise local retail shops to induce them to sell articles of local manufacture, the annual subsidy being Rs. 50 each. It is proposed to establish co-operative arrangements for the marketing of ghi in the five important ghi producing districts of Etawah, Agra, Muttra, Aligarh and Etah, and to subsidize private associations at Hathras and Agra for the testing and control of the purity of ghi on the lines of the institution which has already been established at Etawah. It is also proposed to expend a further Rs. 40,000 under this head, but the Local Government's final recommendations have not yet been received.

(5) In order to ensure abiding results from rural uplift work, the 3,240 villages to which the Main Scheme is to apply will receive gratis newspapers, monthlies and reprints, featuring rural uplift articles and news, at least once a week; the estimated cost of this is Rs. 30,000 for the initial two years.

A hundred sets of double-sided records pertaining to rural uplift will also be prepared at a cost of Rs. 6,000.

(6) The "Main Scheme" will not be applied to the hilly region comprised in the Kumaun Division. It is, however, proposed to spend Rs. 50,000 for its benefit, and suitable schemes are under preparation.

Punjab.

|                                                                    | Rs.      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| (1) Consolidation of holdings .. .. .                              | 1,04,000 |
| (2) Sanitary improvements in 31 villages in Gujrat district ..     | 9,000    |
| (3) Bore-hole latrines in Shakargarh tashil of Gurgaon district .. | 10,000   |
| (4) Water-supply schemes .. .. .                                   | 2,25,000 |
| (5) Serum cellars .. .. .                                          | 20,000   |
| (6) Reconstruction of veterinary hospitals in Rohtak district ..   | 12,000   |
| (7) Construction of 10 veterinary hospitals .. .. .                | 60,000   |
| (8) Broadcasting scheme .. .. .                                    | 48,000   |
| (9) Tanning scheme .. .. .                                         | 76,000   |
| (10) Fruit growing .. .. .                                         | 62,000   |
| (11) Well-boring .. .. .                                           | 50,000   |
| (12) Cinema films and loud-speakers .. .. .                        | 59,000   |
| (13) Sheep development .. .. .                                     | 15,000   |
| (14) District Officers' discretionary grants .. .. .               | 1,00,000 |
| Total .. .. .                                                      | 8,50,000 |

(1) It is universally admitted that no measure can confer greater benefit on zamindars in the Punjab than consolidation of their holdings. The work is at present progressing in 11 districts at the rate of 60,000 acres a year through the agency of co-operative societies formed for the purpose, under the guidance and supervision of a staff of 8 inspectors and 104 sub-inspectors employed and paid by Government, assisted by a staff of 3 assistant inspectors and 22 sub-inspectors paid for from the contributions of applicants for consolidation. It is now proposed to employ a special consolidation officer and 8 inspectors and 88 sub-inspectors in order to expedite the progress of the work. Any sums which may be collected from zamindars who are benefited will be used to employ additional staff.

(2) These improvements will consist in the provision of sullage drains, pavements of dry brick on edge, hand-pumps, repairs and roofing of percolation wells, etc. The villages have been selected in consultation with the district officers. One-third of the cost will be debited to this grant, one-third to the district boards, and one-third to the Islah-o-Taraqqi committees of the villages.

(3) The Shakargarh tashil in Gurgaon district is infected with hook-worm disease. The construction of bore-hole latrines is intended to prove to the people their advantage in preventing re-infection from the soil. The money will be spent in purchasing augers and squatting seats. The further expenditure involved will be met by the district board.

(4) The water-supply schemes will provide a protected supply of drinking water in selected villages in Kangra, Shahpur, Mianwali, Dera Ghazi Khan and Jhelum districts, where it is particularly required.

(5) 100 serum cellars will be constructed at suitable centres so as to facilitate the prompt despatch of sera and vaccines on the occasion of outbreaks of cattle disease. The recurring expenditure involved will be met by the district boards.

(6) Great damage was done to the veterinary buildings in Rohtak district by floods in 1933, and the district board cannot afford to restore them. This will now be done at the expense of this grant.

(7) 10 new veterinary hospitals will be constructed on a standard plan in the areas covered by the Dhanni and Hariana cattle-breeding schemes, where the district boards are too poor to afford the cost. The boards will, however, be liable for the recurring expenditure.

(8) For the instruction and entertainment of the people of the districts nearest to the Delhi Broadcasting Station, namely, Rohtak, Karnal and Gurgaon, it is proposed to instal 40 receiver sets and maintain them for two years. Arrangements will be made in consultation with the Government of India to broadcast suitable programmes from Delhi to the villages, under the control of the Commissioner of Rural Reconstruction.

(9) The Punjab is one of the principal centres in India for the export of goat skins and has practically a monopoly of the export of lamb skins. Approximately 8 per cent. only of the skins exported are tanned in the Punjab. Punjab hides also are of good quality and there is a local supply of tanning material. It is proposed to create a central tanning institute for research and demonstration, with two travelling demonstration parties.

(10) Rs. 47,000 will be spent in producing and distributing reliable fruit nursery plants at cheap rates and on a large scale, and Rs. 15,000 on installing a fruit preservation plant on a semi-commercial scale for experimental and demonstration purposes. To achieve the former object existing nurseries will be extended and new nurseries opened: after two years the scheme should be self-supporting. The other part of the grant will be spent in opening a small canning plant at Lyallpur, which is regarded as of primary importance to the Punjab fruit industry. It is hoped that after the first year the recurring expenses of this factory will be covered by the receipts.

(11) Experience in the Province has shown that the boring of wells increases their yield by anything up to 300 per cent. In addition to the cost of the pipes and strainers left in the wells after boring, Government at present charge 12 annas a foot for all bores, whether successful or not. In order to assist and encourage the public in this direction, they now propose to remit the charge of 12 annas a foot for 2 years. The cost is estimated at Rs. 50,000.

(12) Cinema shows are extremely popular and useful in the Punjab and the public are prepared to pay for attending them. The local Government already possess two touring outfits; three more are required to provide one for each Division and another as a reserve. In addition, more and better films are required for instructional purposes: it is proposed to spend Rs. 36,000 on films of this kind, and Rs. 4,000 on films for entertainment. Two loud-speaker sets will also be provided.

(13) The sheep development scheme will be confined to the 6 districts of the Multan Division. The unit of the scheme will be the flock consisting of 1 ram and 50 ewes. Breeders at selected centres will be provided with one or more such units as the lessees of Government on the understanding that they will carry out the instructions of the Civil Veterinary department, keep no mature rams in their flock unless approved by the department, and only dispose of their surplus animals at prices fixed by the department.

(14) The District Officers' discretionary grants will be used for carrying out petty works of local improvement.

| Burma.                                  |    |    |    |    | Rs.      |
|------------------------------------------------|----|----|----|----|----------|
| (1) Rural development centres                  | .. | .. | .. | .. | 3,35,000 |
| (2) Deputy Commissioners' discretionary grants | .. | .. | .. | .. | 50,000   |
| (3) Anti-malarial measures                     | .. | .. | .. | .. | 1,15,000 |
| Total ..                                       |    |    |    |    | 5,00,000 |

(1) The object of the scheme for rural development centres is partly the formation of model village groups from which it is hoped that the idea of rural uplift will gradually spread to surrounding areas, and partly to furnish a means by which each department can experiment in intensive development. It is proposed that four rural development centres should be opened in different parts of Burma. Each centre will comprise a typical group of villages with an area of probably 30 square miles, but varying according to density of population. Within this unit expenditure will be incurred in four principal directions.

(i) Public Health.—There will be a dispensary and health centre. Steps will be taken to improve the record of vital statistics, investigation and control of diseases, sanitation, and propaganda and to introduce maternity and child welfare clinics.

(ii) Education.—School buildings will be increased and improved. Probably 6 primary schools and one central school with a High department will be required. Compulsory education will be introduced if possible, and special attention will be paid to the possibilities of technical education. Playing fields will be provided and also a library.

506

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[6TH SEP. 1935.]

(iii) Agriculture.—A farm school will be established if there is not one already in the vicinity, and short courses will be given in practical agriculture to sons of cultivators with special reference to the improvements effected by the Agricultural Department. There will also be a special Agricultural Assistant who will conduct an intensive campaign within the centre in order to demonstrate agricultural improvements, and attempts will also be made to improve the marketing of crops.

(iv) Veterinary.—Increased facilities will be provided for inoculation, etc.

General work, such as improvement of tanks, wells, roads, etc., will also be undertaken in each unit. It is intended to use the assistance of the Co-operative Department and various non-official agencies.

It is hoped that as the experiment proceeds, the need for supervision and the cost will decrease, and that eventually the control of the units will be taken over by the local bodies. Until then the estimate of expenditure assumes that the work will continue for 4 years.

Each centre will be under the control of an Executive Officer who will be advised by a local committee consisting of officials and non-officials.

(2) The sum set aside for Deputy Commissioners' discretionary grants will be utilised for the improvement of village wells and tanks, for roads and small bridges, for improving village schools and assisting village libraries, for providing recreation grounds or equipment, for assisting poor communities to start boy scouts or girl guides associations, and to encourage rural industries.

(3) The sum provided for anti-malarial measures will be expended on the extensive issue of cinchona febrifuge over a period of 5 years, and on the general free issue of quinine in schools in areas where malaria is endemic. Larvae-eating fish will also be bred at certain centres near the malarial areas.

Bihar and Orissa.

|                                                                                   | Rs.             |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| (1) Village communications .. .. .                                                | 6,00,000        |
| (2) Rural water-supply .. .. .                                                    | 5,00,000        |
| (3) Schemes for draining chaurs and desilting tanks in North Bihar .. .. . | 1,00,000        |
| (4) Village welfare .. .. .                                                       | 50,000          |
|                                                                                   | <hr/> 12,50,000 |

(1) The improvement of village communications is one of the most urgent needs of the province, particularly in order that the cultivator may be able to dispose of his crops more easily and profitably. It is therefore proposed to spend Rs. 6 lakhs on the making or improving of cart tracks which will connect the villages with main roads and so with markets and railways. It is also hoped that this expenditure will further increase the utility of the marketing officers recently appointed by the Local Government. The intention is that the work should be carried out under the direct control of the District and Sub-divisional Officers, who will invoke the assistance of the leading men in the area where any particular project is undertaken and get them to make themselves responsible for the actual supervision of the work. The villagers themselves will be encouraged to co-operate by making free gifts of the land required for these village roads and by providing labour free or on reduced wages. Preference will in all cases be given to schemes where practical co-operation of this sort is forthcoming.

(2) The need for improved rural water-supply is universally recognised. More wells and more village irrigation dams are required. This work will be carried out on the same lines as the projects for the improvement of village communications, and special attention will be paid to the needs of the depressed classes.

(3) The necessity for draining certain of the chaurs in North Bihar has frequently been pressed on the Local Government for years past. The present is a suitable opportunity to undertake some of the more promising of these schemes through the agency of the Irrigation Department. Part of this provision will also be used for desilting tanks in North Bihar; the expenditure incurred in desilting tanks in other parts of the Province will be met from the allotment for rural water supply.

The choice of the actual schemes to be carried out under heads (1), (2) and (3) will rest with the District Officers after canvassing the views of the local public.

(4) A sum of Rs. 50,000 will be placed at the disposal of the Hon'ble Education Minister for experimental village-welfare schemes. These schemes will not involve any recurring commitments, but they will aim at setting up village organisations which will be capable of self-development in future if the experiments meet with success. The programme of work which these village organisations will set before themselves will include the introduction of improved methods of agriculture, the encouragement of cottage industries, the improvement of village sanitation, the provision of good drinking water, etc.

Central Provinces.

|                                                                 | Rs.            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| (1) Rural water supply .. .. .                                  | 1,20,000       |
| (2) District Officers' discretionary grants .. .. .             | 1,00,000       |
| (3) Welfare of aboriginal tribes in scheduled districts .. .. . | 40,000         |
| (4) Dispensary buildings in villages .. .. .                    | 15,000         |
| (5) Experiments in poultry farming .. .. .                      | 10,000         |
| (6) Better bulls for District Councils .. .. .                  | 30,000         |
| (7) Farm in Mandla district .. .. .                             | 30,000         |
| (8) 5 additional debt conciliation boards .. .. .               | 1,00,000       |
| (9) Cinemas on lorries for demonstration work .. .. .           | 20,000         |
| (10) 2 tractors for use in Saugor district .. .. .              | 15,000         |
| (11) Storage accommodation for cultivators' produce .. .. .     | 20,000         |
| Total .. .. .                                                   | <hr/> 5,00,000 |

(1) The Local Government report that there is a constant demand for assistance in the provision of proper water-supply in villages, especially in certain tracts of Berar, and that the amount which could be spent for this purpose is almost unlimited.

(2) The discretionary grants placed at District Officers' disposal are for small works of village utility, the carrying out of which will greatly add to the amenities of rural life. Instances of the kind of works contemplated by the Local Government are the construction of small culverts over bad nala crossings, repairs to village tanks and wells, construction of fair weather roads and building of village rest houses.

(3) The grant for the welfare of aboriginal tribes will be devoted to the development of certain areas inhabited by backward and aboriginal tribes with special reference to improved water-supply and educational and medical facilities.

(4) 27 cheap plan dispensaries have already been established and a number of schemes are still pending on account of financial stringency. The policy of the Local Government is to give a non-recurring grant equal to half the estimated cost of the dispensary building and to provide an Assistant Medical Officer and a small contribution towards maintenance. The balance of the cost of the buildings and of the recurring charges is met locally. The sum provided will enable more institutions of this kind to be opened.

(5) A scheme has been prepared by the Department of Agriculture for the distribution, free of cost, of pure bred cockerels from Government farms, and the grant proposed is to bring this scheme into effect. It is hoped that particularly in the neighbourhood of large towns an industry subsidiary to agriculture will spring up which will add considerably to the village income.

(6) It is proposed to supply a better class of bull free of cost to the District Councils for breeding purposes. The Councils will be required to keep the animals suitably fed and in good condition.

(7) Large quantities of seed are imported every year into Mandla district. The provision of Rs. 30,000 will cover the non-recurring and recurring expenditure for one year of a seed farm in that district. Thereafter the Local Government will assume responsibility. The scheme was approved by the Board of Agriculture in 1923, but the Local Government have never been able to give effect to it.

(8) A Debt Conciliation Act was passed in this Province in 1933, and the first two debt conciliation boards were established in July, 1933. The Act provides for the conciliation of accumulated debts by a debt conciliation board by means of mutual agreement between debtors and creditors. So far six boards have been at work, and four more are being added during the current year. But for the financial difficulty more boards would have been established. The six boards already at work have reduced a total debt of Rs. 63·57 lakhs to Rs. 36·38 lakhs. 27 to 55 per cent of the original debts has been remitted. Easy instalments, worked out according to the paying capacity of the debtor and generally not exceeding the amount of the annual rent payable by him, have been fixed for the reduced debt. The entire debt is to be repaid in such instalments in periods of 10 to 12 years. The area of operations of a board generally covers one or two tahsils, and it is expected to complete its work in about 2 years. The annual cost of each board is Rs. 10,000. The cost of one board thus comes to Rs. 20,000.

(9) A lorry and cinema outfit for demonstration purposes was purchased in 1928-29 and the demonstrations given by it have been much appreciated by the public. It is proposed with this grant to purchase three more lorries. These lorries will be accompanied by officers of the Agricultural Department and they will also be used by other departments which are concerned with village uplift.

(10) It is proposed to provide tractors for ploughing up land which has been thrown out of cultivation by the growth of kans grass. The land will be ploughed at cost price so that the cultivators may get the benefit of the gift of the tractors from the Government of India.

(11) It is proposed to construct godowns in market towns where cultivators can store their produce temporarily when they are faced with the necessity of disposing of it at disadvantageous rates. One or two experimental godowns will be constructed in the first place. No recurring expenditure is anticipated.

Assam.

|                                                                      | Rs.      |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| (1) Rural water-supply .. .. .                                       | 3,00,000 |
| (2) Village roads .. .. .                                            | 1,00,000 |
| (3) Discretionary grants to Divisional Commissioners .. .. .         | 40,000   |
| (4) Village sanitation .. .. .                                       | 40,000   |
| (5) Purchase of pumps for irrigating boro paddy lands .. .. . | 20,000   |
| Total .. .. .                                                        | 5,00,000 |

(1) The improvement of the rural water-supply in Assam is a crying need which has been urged again and again in the local Legislative Council. This is a particularly suitable opportunity for effecting improvements in this direction for which it has hitherto been impossible to find funds. It is proposed to sink wells or (if this proves absolutely necessary owing to the failure of wells) to dig tanks as may be dictated by local conditions. The money will be allotted by the Local Government on conditions approved by the Public Health Department. The recommendations of the District Officers will be made after consultation with ad hoc committees constituted in each sub-division. This arrangement will be adopted in connection with village roads and village sanitation also.

(2) The sum allotted for village roads will be distributed by the Divisional Commissioners after consultation with District Officers and local boards. The allotment of money will be conditional on the local boards concerned undertaking to maintain the roads on completion at their own cost.

(3) The discretionary grants will be administered by the Divisional Commissioners for purposes of public utility and works of petty local improvement.

(4) The provision for village sanitation will be given out in the form of grants by Commissioners to village authorities or other suitable agencies.

(5) In certain low-lying areas of the Surma valley the aman or long stemmed paddy crop has proved very insecure in recent years owing to recurring floods, and it is expected that the condition of the people will be much improved if they are enabled to grow another (spring) variety of long stemmed paddy, called boro, which can be harvested before the flood season. The Agricultural Department has been working on this problem and experiments have shown that one portable pump can irrigate 800 bighas in a month. It is proposed to purchase 10 portable pumps for use in this valley. Experiments with a pump will also be made in suitable areas of the Assam valley. They will be worked under the charge of an Inspector. After the crop has been harvested, it is intended that  $1\frac{1}{2}$  maunds of paddy per bigha should be recovered as hire for the use of the pump.

North-West Frontier Province.

|                                                                  | Rs.      |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| (1) Drinking water supply .. .. .                                | 1,20,000 |
| (2) Discretionary grants to Deputy Commissioners .. .. .         | 90,000   |
| (3) Village roads .. .. .                                        | 10,000   |
| (4) Anti-malarial measures including purchase of quinine .. .. . | 15,000   |
| (5) School farms .. .. .                                         | 10,000   |
| (6) Marketing facilities for local industries .. .. .            | 3,000    |
| (7) Damming of torrents in D. I. Khan District .. .. .           | 10,000   |
| (8) Headworks on the Bara River in Peshawar District .. .. .     | 5,000    |
| (9) Industrial shop .. .. .                                      | 7,000    |
| (10) Other miscellaneous schemes .. .. .                         | 30,000   |
| Total .. .. .                                                    | 3,00,000 |

(1) In certain parts of the province drinking water has to be fetched during the hot season from as far as twelve miles away, and the necessity for improvement in this respect is continually being pressed upon Government. The difficulty is particularly acute between Dera Ismail Khan and Tank, in the sandy Marwat tract in Bannu, in the Khattak country of Kohat District and at Mansehra in the Hazara District.

(2) Of the District Officers' discretionary grants a part will be earmarked for expenditure on schools, and the balance will be spent on providing materials themselves are prepared to provide the labour. It has been decided to allot Rs. 15,000 to each district and Mardan sub-division.

(3) This amount will be spent in small sums, distributed as widely as possible throughout the districts on small improvements to existing roads and construction of short tracks to connect villages with main roads. It is intended that this money should be spent on materials only and that labour should be obtained from the villages concerned.

(4) This sum will be earmarked for the purchase of quinine and cinchona sbrifuge for distribution among the rural population through hospitals and travelling dispensaries throughout the province.

(5) With the sum of Rs. 10,000 provided for school farms, it is proposed to buy plots of land adjoining schools for the purpose of giving the pupils practical training in agriculture and gardening. This system has given satisfactory results in the adjoining province of the Punjab.

(6) For the improvement of marketing it is proposed to construct small wandis at selected places and to encourage the exhibition of locally made articles.

(7) The irrigation scheme in Dera Ismail Khan District is intended to control the flow of flood water in certain hill streams which is at present unmanageable though of vital importance to cultivation.

(8) The scheme on the Bara River is for the purpose of assisting the villagers to make pucca distribution heads instead of the existing kutchas heads.

(9) To encourage and develop minor industries of the province (blanket making, embroidery, basket work, pottery, copper work, etc.) a retail shop has been opened in the Peshawar Cantonment. The buying organisation will comb the province for suitable wares, find the best markets in India, and possibly Europe, and establish direct relations with the producers. The shop is expected to be a self-supporting concern within a period of three to four years. The scheme will be subsidized from provincial revenues as may be necessary in future years.

(10) The Local Government are considering other schemes calculated to benefit the rural areas and no expenditure on these schemes will be incurred till the Government of India have accorded approval.

|                                  | Coorg. | Rs. |
|----------------------------------|--------|-----|
| (1) Water supply .. .. .         | 32,500 |     |
| (2) Cattle breeding .. .. .      | 2,500  |     |
| (3) Discretionary grants .. .. . | 15,000 |     |
| Total .. .. .                    | 50,000 |     |

(1) Of the provision for water supply, Rs. 10,000 will be spent on constructing 28 draw-wells to provide drinking water for the villagers in selected villages; the balance of the cost of constructing the wells will be met by subscriptions of the residents.

Rs. 15,800 will be spent on repairing 64 tanks which have silted up and ceased to be useful. These tanks are required for the purpose not only of providing drinking water for men and cattle but for irrigation also. The local people have promised to supply free labour to complete the work.

Rs. 6,700 will be spent on excavating or repairing 12 irrigation channels. Each of these channels is designed to irrigate over 100 acres of wet cultivation. The villagers will supply free labour.

(2) The provision for cattle breeding will be spent in accordance with the recommendations of the Animal Husbandry Expert of the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research.

(3) The discretionary grant of Rs. 15,000 will be at the disposal of the Commissioner, and is intended for improving village communications, for anti-malarial work and improvements in village sanitation, as well as for assistance to certain occupations subsidiary to agriculture.

Delhi.

|                                           | Rs.    |
|-------------------------------------------|--------|
| (1) Wells (a) repairs .. .. .             | 24,000 |
| (b) new .. .. .                           | 8,000  |
| (2) Re-modelling village .. .. .          | 3,000  |
| (3) Roads and communications .. .. .      | 10,000 |
| (4) Deputy Commissioner's reserve .. .. . | 5,000  |
| Total .. .. .                             | 50,000 |

(1) A survey of wells throughout the rural area administered by the Chief Commissioner of Delhi has been carried out by officers of the Public Health Department. In order to ensure the supply of drinking water, wells which have fallen into disrepair will be repaired and new wells will be constructed where they are urgently required.

(2) The Assistant Director of Public Health has prepared a scheme for re-modelling a small village by the main Delhi-Najafgarh Road. It is hoped to make this village a valuable object-lesson to the public.

(3) It is proposed to repair certain kutcha roads which are important arteries of communication in the rural area and which have fallen into such serious disrepair that they are at present of little use.

(4) Rs. 5,000 will be placed at the disposal of the Deputy Commissioner who during his cold weather tour will distribute this sum in supplying urgent necessities in the villages.

Ajmer-Merwara.

|                                                                                          | Rs.    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|
| (1) Improvement of village roads and construction of small bridges and culverts. .. .. . | 23,000 |
| (2) Propaganda for improvement of agriculture .. .. .                                    | 23,000 |
| (3) Improvement of live-stock .. .. .                                                    | 1,000  |
| (4) Discretionary grant at the disposal of the Commissioner .. .. .                      | 3,000  |
| Total .. .. .                                                                            | 50,000 |

(1) Rs. 23,000 will be spent on improving 97 miles of the more important village cart tracks, so as to convert them into ordinary fairweather roads.

(2) For the purpose of agricultural propaganda 3 Agricultural Assistants with 3 demonstrators will be appointed, one for each of the 3 sub-divisions. The function of this staff will be to give practical demonstrations in the cultivators' fields of improved methods of cultivation, and to supervise the distribution of good seed from seed depots to be opened for the purpose.

(3) 20 bulls will be purchased and maintained at different places in the district under the control of the veterinary staff of the district board.

(4) Rs. 3,000 will be placed at the disposal of the Commissioner for petty works of local improvement.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is the Honourable Member aware of the fact that in the Madras Mail a report has appeared that the Chief Minister of Madras.....

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I know what is coming ; there is a question down about that. I made inquiries from the Madras Government and received a most categorical denial of the truth of that report.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the statement placed on the table shows for what purpose the money has been raised ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Certainly, but the Honourable Member can get the statement in two minutes or at any rate in the next half hour, and he will be able to satisfy the whole of his curiosity, I hope.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (d) of the question, may I know the reason why Government did not ask the Local Governments to seek the co-ordination of the Congress Village Industries Association ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : For several reasons ; partly because they did not think it was necessary, and partly because they did not wish to interfere unduly with the discretion of the Local Governments.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government watched the working of this Association, and have they any reasons to believe that such co-ordination will be undesirable or unnecessary ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : To be quite honest with the Honourable Member, the information in the possession of Government about the working of this Association is of an extremely sketchy character.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government put any ban against the Local Governments inviting or utilising their co-operation ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir ; the Government of India have been completely passive in the matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answers to clauses (a) and (b), have all these schemes been examined by the Finance Member in the light of the tests laid down by him, I think in his Budget speech, as to the manner in which this money should be spent, and is he satisfied that these schemes are all in conformity with those tests ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Yes, Sir.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Have Government considered the advisability of setting apart a part of this one crore of rupees for the working of new village post offices ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir ; I think I undertook to consider that independently in connection with the general budget, but not in connection with this grant.

LOSSES CAUSED TO GOVERNMENT IN THE QUETTA EARTHQUAKE.

163. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing separately the approximate figures of losses caused to Government, military and civil buildings in the recent Quetta earthquake disaster ?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state what approximate amount of expenditure they will have to incur if they re-build the Quetta military and civil buildings ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) The approximate book value of the Government buildings destroyed or damaged by the earthquake is as follows :

|                                                              | Rs.        |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| Army .. .. .                                                 | 2½ crores. |
| Railways .. .. .                                             | 25½ lakhs. |
| Posts and Telegraphs .. .                                    | 3 lakhs.   |
| Other civil departments (including municipal buildings) .. . | 70 lakhs.  |

(b) The present estimate of the cost of reconstruction, which must necessarily be extremely rough, is between seven and eight crores.

CASUALTIES IN THE QUETTA EARTHQUAKE.

164. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Will Government be pleased to state how many persons died and how many were injured in the Quetta earthquake, giving, separately, the approximate number of Military, Royal Air Force and civil and railway employees ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I lay a statement on the table, giving, so far as possible, the figures of casualties among officials and their families.

Statement showing the number of persons killed and injured in the Quetta Earthquake amongst Military, Royal Air Force, and civil and railway employees.

|                                                                           | Killed. | Injured. |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|----------|
| (i) Military (including families) ..                                      | 447     | 127      |
| (ii) Royal Air Force (including families) ..                              | 120     | 132      |
| (iii) Civil Department (in some cases families have not been included) .. | 948     | 362      |
| (iv) Railway employees (including families) ..                            | 975     | 813      |
| Total ..                                                                  | 2,490   | 1,434    |

RE-BUILDING OF QUETTA.

165. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to state whether it is their intention to re-build the city of Quetta ?

(b) If the reply to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose not to invest large amounts in re-building Quetta, and to transfer the Western Command of Quetta to Karachi or some such other place, in view of the speedy means of communication and transportation by Railway, road, and air, nowadays ready at hand for cases of emergency ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Chapter VIII of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", copies of which were sent to all Members of the House on the 29th August, 1935.

The whole matter is still under consideration.

LOSSES TO CIVIL POPULATION IN QUETTA.

166. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Will Government be pleased to state the approximate amount of losses to civil population and their movable and immovable properties in Quetta ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The Honourable Member is referred to Chapters I and II of the Pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", a copy of which has been sent to him. It is not possible at present to give even an approximate estimate of the amount of the losses to the civil population of Quetta. But some idea of the magnitude of the losses can be gained from the fact that approximately 15,000 shops and houses were destroyed or badly damaged.

CASUALTIES IN THE SUBURBS OF QUETTA.

167. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : (a) Will Government be pleased to state the approximate number of casualties in the suburbs of Quetta in British Baluchistan ?

(b) What was the :

(i) number of casualties, both dead and injured ;

(ii) approximate amount of losses to Government and railway properties ; and

(iii) the approximate amount of losses to civil population ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b) (i) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to pages 1, 8 and 16 of the pamphlet "The Quetta Earthquake, 1935", a copy of which was sent to him on the 29th August, 1935. He will, however, realise that it is impossible as yet to give accurate figures of deaths among the civil population.

(b) (ii) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply I gave to part (a) of his question No. 163.

(b) (iii) It is impossible even to hazard a guess.

LOSSES IN TRIBAL AREAS IN BALUCHISTAN DUE TO EARTHQUAKE.

168. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing detailed particulars of losses experienced in tribal areas in Baluchistan ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : There were no losses in the tribal areas in Baluchistan.

CERTAIN FACILITIES PROVIDED IN QUETTA AFTER THE EARTHQUAKE.

169. *Seth Haji Abdoola Haroon : Will Government be pleased to state what provisions for medical aid, supplying of food, water and clothes and other available resources, were provided by Government in the following territories after the earthquake catastrophe :

(i) Suburbs of Quetta ; and

(ii) Quetta City ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : The Honourable Member's attention is invited to Chapters III, IV and V of the pamphlet " The Quetta Earthquake, 1935 ", a copy of which has been sent to all Members of this House.

APPLICATIONS INVITED FOR POSTS OF ARMY OFFICERS FROM ENGLAND.

170. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Is it a fact that applications have been invited for posts of Army Officers from England ?

(b) Why is it that no similar applications are called for from Indians ?

(c) How many posts are vacant, and how many applications have been received ?

(d) Are the posts to be filled up permanently or temporarily ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Owing to over-recruitment during the war, and under-recruitment in the years immediately succeeding it, it recently became necessary, in order to make the establishment in each rank correct, to eliminate from the Indian Army a large number of senior officers and take on a smaller number of less senior officers. It is for this latter reason that it was recently decided to revive the practice, which had been held in abeyance for a few years, of allowing transfers from the British service and invite applications from officers of the required seniority.

(b) Because all the Indian officers of the required seniority are already serving in the Indian Army, and there is no other outside source from which they could be procured.

(c) The War Office have agreed to permit up to 100 officers to volunteer for transfer to the Indian Army. Applications may reach the War Office or Army Headquarters, India, up to the 22nd September, 1935.

(d) Permanently.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Before this, are there any Indian officers who were taken temporarily to these posts and sent away ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir : there are no Indian officers taken temporarily. All the Indian officers that there are, are already employed permanently in the Indian army.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Have all these posts, for which applications have been invited in England, been held by British officers till now ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : As I explained, we are just getting rid of about 400 officers practically all of whom are British officers, and we are taking in 100 British officers from the British service to fill up the gaps in the lower ranks.

SELECTION OF Dufferin CADETS FROM THE ROYAL INDIAN MARINE.

171. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) How many of the students who have received training in the Ship Dufferin have been selected for the Royal Indian Marine Force, year after year, during the past seven years, and how many from outside have been appointed in that Force ?

(b) What is the principle of selection, and why have not more men been selected from among the Dufferin cadets ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) Since 1926, 19 Indians have been selected for employment in the commissioned ranks of the Royal Indian Navy. Of these, six came from the Indian Mercantile Marine Training Ship Dufferin. I lay on the table a statement showing the recruitment year by year.

(b) The principle of selection is to obtain the best material available, but in putting this principle into effect Government have been influenced by a knowledge that public opinion in this country attaches considerable importance to the retention of the open competitive examination.

Statement showing the recruitment since 1928 of Indian commissioned officers in the Royal Indian Navy.

| Year.      | No. of candidates recruited.                              |           |                    | Total. | Remarks.                                    |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|-----------|--------------------|--------|---------------------------------------------|
|            | On the results of the open and " Dufferin " examinations. |           | As direct entries. |        |                                             |
|            | Open.                                                     | Dufferin. |                    |        |                                             |
| 1928 .. .. | ..                                                        | ..        | 1                  | 1      | * Since permitted to resign his commission. |
| 1929 .. .. | 2                                                         | ..        | ..                 | 2      |                                             |
| 1930 .. .. | 1                                                         | ..        | ..                 | 1      |                                             |
| 1931 .. .. | ..                                                        | 4         | 1*                 | 5      |                                             |
| 1932 .. .. | 4                                                         | ..        | ..                 | 4      |                                             |
| 1933 .. .. | ..                                                        | 1         | 1                  | 2      |                                             |
| 1934 .. .. | 3                                                         | 1         | ..                 | 4      |                                             |

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Besides the six officers who were trained on the Dufferin, what are the qualifications of the other thirteen ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I could not possibly give a list of the qualifications of all the men who have joined since 1928.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is there any other ship besides the Dufferin in which naval training is given to Indians ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir ; nor is naval training given in the Dufferin which is a Mercantile Marine training ship.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Besides these six who were trained on the Dufferin, can the Honourable Member say whether the other thirteen had any training at all, either mercantile marine or naval ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No, Sir ; neither did the six who were taken from the Dufferin possess any naval training, i.e., training for work in the Navy. This training they received after passing the examination and being sent to England to be trained in the naval dock-yards there.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Why were not all of them taken from among those who had the same training on the sea ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : I have explained that the idea is to throw open to open competition throughout India the officer ranks of the Indian navy, and it is quite impossible to afford sea training of any kind to all the boys in India.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE HILTON-YOUNG CURRENCY COMMISSION.

172. Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) What are the recommendations of the Hilton-Young Currency Commission, which have been given effect to ?

(b) What other recommendations do Government propose adopting during the current year ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (b). The recommendations of the Hilton-Young Currency Commission can be divided into three parts :

(i) a recommendation for the establishment of a gold bullion standard ;

(ii) the establishment of a Central Reserve Bank ; and

(iii) the fixation of the ratio of the rupee to gold at 1s. 6d.

(i) and (iii) were put into effect in 1927 but have since been suspended while (ii) was put into effect as from 1st January last.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : When they were put into effect in 1927, what was the amount of gold in the reserve ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot say off-hand : if the Honourable Member likes to put down a question, I can find it out for him.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Was any quantity of gold kept in the reserve at all ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the amount of gold in the gold reserve appears in the weekly statement of the Reserve Bank. I cannot remember off-hand the last figure, but I may say that the gold figures in that statement at the old parity, so that it under-estimates or under-represents the amount of the gold reserve at current market values.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do Government propose to increase their gold holdings ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a matter for the Reserve Bank now : Government itself is no longer concerned with the custody of the gold reserves of India.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Why was it suspended in 1927 ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It was not suspended in 1927, but in 1931 when the United Kingdom left the gold standard.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the increase in counterfeit rupee coins.....

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Really, Sir, I do not think that arises.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Was it in pursuance of that policy that ten crores worth of silver were sold away by the Government of India in the year 1930-31 ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think if the Honourable Member wants to discuss silver, he had better put down a question separately : it does not arise directly out of this.

COMPILATION OF STATISTICS FOR AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL WAGES.

173. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that both in the Economic Enquiry Committee Report and the Hilton-Young Commission Report, there is a suggestion that index numbers should be prepared for wages, agricultural and industrial ?

(b) Have Government been compiling such statistics ? If so, for how long ? If not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) No. The compilation of such statistics is properly a function of Local Governments.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Have the Local Governments prepared such statistics regarding wages, agricultural and industrial ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I cannot answer that question : I do not know.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Will Government supply us information regarding this ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If the Honourable Member desires that an inquiry should be made from Local Governments and this information obtained, and if he puts down a question on the paper, I shall see if it can be obtained.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not one of the recommendations of the Economic Inquiry Committee that there should be a Central Economic Enquiry Board established by the Central Government here ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I would require notice of that : it does not arise out of this question.

REVISION OF THE EXCHANGE RATIO.

174. *Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : (a) Are Government aware that in paragraph 190 of the Hilton-Young Commission Report, they state it as an argument for the fixing of the ratio at 1s. 6d. that India's foreign trade had not been adversely affected, after 12 months of the 1s. 6d. ratio till then ?

(b) Are Government aware that India's balance of trade since the Hilton-Young Commission Report, dwindled from nearly 75 crores to nothing ?

(c) Do Government propose to take immediate steps to revise the exchange ratio ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (b) India's favourable balance of trade in 1925-26, when the Hilton-Young Commission Report was issued, was Rs. 109.25 lakhs. In the year 1934-35, it was Rs. 78.10 lakhs. Obviously the shrinkage in trade is due to world conditions and not to the ratio. In any case the ratio in 1925-26 was 1s. 6d. gold whereas it is now 1s. 6d. sterling which, expressed in terms of gold, is approximately the equivalent of 11d. only.

(c) Quite definitely, No.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Does the balance of trade of 78 crores in 1934-35 include export of gold in specie ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Yes.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : To what extent ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I believe about two-thirds.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : The balance of trade has, therefore, gone down to 15 crores ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : 15 is wrong : in one year it was 30 and in another year about 23.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is it not a fact that in 1924 the balance of trade was 115 crores ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am quite prepared to take that from the Honourable Member.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What steps do the Government of India propose to take in order to improve our position in regard to the balance of trade ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is too long a question to be dealt with in answer to a supplementary question.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do Government propose to take any action ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Yes.

MONOPOLY OF SUPPLYING PETROLEUM PRODUCTS IN THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY HELD BY THE BURMA OIL COMPANY.

175. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government please state whether it is a fact that the Burma Oil Company has the monopoly of supplying petroleum products in the Madras Presidency ?

(b) Was it at least so for some time after the Great War ?

(c) Is it a fact that liquid fuel is largely needed by the agriculturists for their pumping plants, wherever there are no irrigation facilities ?

(d) Was liquid fuel being sold in the Madras Presidency at Rs. 30 to Rs. 40 per ton before the War ?

(e) Is it a fact that the price rose to Rs. 60 per ton during the War and to Rs. 90 per ton after the War ?

(f) Is it a fact that Government are allowing a protective duty of two annas and nine pies to the Burma Oil Company products, while Indian companies who import foreign oils are assessed to a duty of three annas nine pies ?

(g) Do Government propose to fix a fair selling minimum price for all petroleum products and thus protect the agriculturists from abnormally high prices for their needs ?

(h) Is it not a fact that the Burma Oil Company import also Persian, American and Russian petroleum products besides the Burma Oils ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I feel, Sir, in view of the strictures passed upon me for butting into other people's affairs yesterday, I ought to apologise in advance for answering this question which concerns both the Finance and the Commerce Departments jointly.

(a) No.

(b) No.

(c) Yes : if the pumping plants are worked by oil engines.

(d) and (e). Government have no precise information as to the sale prices of fuel oil at the periods referred to.

(f) No. The duties in question are revenue duties.

(g) Government are not aware that the agriculturists are paying abnormally high prices.

(h) The Burma Oil Company import petroleum products from Persia and America.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : May I know why differential rates should prevail, if this is only a revenue duty and not a protective duty ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That question has a long history, and it is not possible to deal with it in reply to a supplementary question : if the Honourable Member will put down a question, I will give a considered answer.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will Government try to abolish these differential duties ?

522

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[6TH SEP. 1935.]

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think the Honourable Member had better look at the terms of the Indo-Burma trade agreement.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : With reference to clause (f), may I know whether the Indian companies and the Burma Oil Company are paying the same import duty ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is the question I have answered : the question is whether Government are allowing a protective duty to the Burma Oil Company.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Am I to understand that there are differential duties ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : They are certainly differential duties.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : May I know how much they are ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : They are given in the question itself in part (f).

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the reason for this difference, even if they are revenue duties ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have just answered that : I am not prepared to answer that in answer to a supplementary question : if a question is put down, I will give a considered reply.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : With reference to part (g), does the Honourable Member consider the price not high when it is between 86 to 90 rupees a ton nowadays, as compared with Rs. 30 a ton in pre-war days ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have some hesitation about dealing with that part of the question which concerns the Commerce Department : I think the Honourable Member had better put down a question separately.

APPOINTMENT OF INDIANS AS TEACHERS IN ENGLAND.

176. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to questions and answers in the House of Commons on the 26th March, 1935, regarding the difficulties experienced by English-born Indians seeking appointments as teachers in Great Britain, despite their educational qualifications ?

(b) Will Government state if they have information of any kind regarding the numbers of such Indians employed as teachers in Great Britain ? If not, do they propose to obtain such information as can be available from the India Office or any other such authority in England ?

(c) Are Government prepared to take necessary steps to represent to the Secretary of State for India that not only English-born Indians but Indian-born Indians, who have got the requisite qualifications, obtain a fair chance in applying for teachers' appointments in Great Britain should they desire to do so ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) The Board of Education, London, who were consulted in the matter, regret that the information asked for by the Honourable Member is not available.

(c) The appointment of teachers in Great Britain is a matter which is in the hands of local educational authorities or other bodies responsible for the management of the schools. The Board of Education state that they are not aware that any considerations other than the general suitability of the applicants are taken into consideration in making an appointment.

INADEQUACY OF INDIANS EMPLOYED IN THE OFFICES OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

177. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Are Government aware of the feeling of dissatisfaction prevailing in India as regards the inadequacy of the number of Indians employed in the offices of the League of Nations, and if so, are Government prepared to take suitable action to acquaint the authorities of the League at Geneva of these feelings ?

(b) Are Government prepared to take early action to make representations to the authorities of the League of Nations to so increase the number of Indians employed in its various offices that it may be in proportion to the contribution made by India ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) The League authorities are fully aware of Indian feeling in this matter and an informal representation on the subject has been very recently addressed to the Secretary General. In these circumstances, and in view of the fact that the League authorities are not, as the Honourable Member appears to suppose, unsympathetic towards Indian feeling, no purpose would be served by a further communication.

(b) I would refer the Honourable Member to the latter part of my reply to part (d) of question No. 121 asked by my Honourable friend, Mr. S. Satyamurti, on the 4th September, 1935.

APPOINTMENT OF AN INDIAN IN PLACE OF THE LATE MR. A. C. CHATTERJEE, A MEMBER OF THE INFORMATION SECTION OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS SECRETARIAT.

178. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Are Government prepared to move the authorities of the League of Nations to appoint an Indian in the place of Mr. A. C. Chatterjee, a member of the Information Section of the League Secretariat who died recently ?

(b) Are there already Indians in the Information Section of the League Secretariat who are qualified to fill the place rendered vacant by the death of Mr. A. C. Chatterjee ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : (a) Government have already taken steps in this direction and they have been informally assured that an Indian will be appointed.

(b) From the latest Staff List of the League Secretariat it appears that one other Indian, Mr. S. N. Ghose, is employed in the Information Section. Government have no information regarding his qualifications to fill the appointment held by the late Mr. A. C. Chatterjee.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the usual practice followed by the League Secretariat in making these appointments ? Do they consult the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : No, Sir ; but this question I have answered during the last three Sessions about eight times, and I have placed before the House information relating to the number of appointments made, names of the officers appointed, their salaries, and so on, and I have nothing further to add ; but, in making these appointments, the League Secretariat do not consult the Government of India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has this vacancy been filled ?

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar : To the best of my information, not yet.

ESTABLISHMENT OF RURAL LIBRARIES.

179. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Are Government aware that recently rural libraries have been started in many villages ?

(b) Are Government aware that the various Provincial Governments insist that such rural libraries associations should be registered under the Societies Registration Act XXI of 1860, before grants-in-aid could be sanctioned for such libraries ?

(c) Is it a fact that the said Act requires that a fee of Rs. 50 should be paid as registration fee for registering literary, scientific and charitable societies ?

(d) Are Government aware that almost all the rural libraries have got very slender resources and cannot pay a high registration fee of Rs. 50 ?

(e) If the answer to part (d) above be in the affirmative, are Government prepared to consider the advisability of fixing a nominal fee of Rs. 5 for registration of such rural libraries under section 3 of the Act ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (c) Yes.

(b) and (d) The information asked for by the Honourable Member is not readily available.

(e) It is within the power of Provincial Governments to amend the Act with the previous sanction of the Governor General, if they desire to do so, in order to reduce the registration fee, and the matter will be brought to their notice for such action as they may consider desirable.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that it is in the power of the Governor General in Council to amend the rules made under this particular Act in order to bring down the figure of Rs. 50 ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I have had that particular point examined, and the information given to me is that this is a matter which can best be dealt with by each Local Government.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : But Societies Registration Act is an All-India Act ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : It may be an All-India Act, but according to my information, the libraries are provincial libraries.

SALT TRADE OF MADRAS.

180. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Is it a fact that the exports of salt from Madras to Calcutta have been steadily decreasing during recent years ?

(b) Are Government aware that large quantities of foreign salt are being dumped in Calcutta ?

(c) Are Government prepared to take steps to improve the expansion of salt trade from Madras to other places in India by putting adequate duties on foreign salt ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) There was a steady decline in the three years ending with March, 1934, but there was a noticeable revival in the year ending with March, 1935.

(b) No.

(c) The attention of the Honourable Member is drawn to the provisions of the Salt (Additional Import Duty) Act, 1931, which has been extended up to the 30th April, 1936.

FACTORIES WORKING UNDER THE MONOPOLY SYSTEM OF MANUFACTURING SALT IN THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

181. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Is it a fact that the only factories working under the monopoly system of manufacturing salt in the Madras Presidency are (i) Polavaram, (ii) the Ennore Group and (iii) the Karambalam block ?

(b) Is it a fact that all other factories in the Presidency work under the excise system ?

(c) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of introducing the excise system uniformly for the factories referred to in part (a) above ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) Yes.

(b) All the other factories in the Presidency are worked under either the Excise or the Modified Excise system.

(c) The Central Board of Revenue have issued orders for the closure of the Monopoly factories in the Ennore group with effect from 1st January, 1936, and the existing licensees of these factories have been given the option of taking Modified Excise licenses. The Government will examine the question of the conversion of the remaining Monopoly factories into Excise or Modified Excise factories.

CONCESSION OF COLLECTING OR MAKING SALT IN CERTAIN Taluqs OF THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

182. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) What are the specific abuses referred to in paragraph 4 of the Administration Report of the Salt Department, Madras Presidency for 1933-34, which led to the withdrawal of the concession of collecting or making salt in Chingleput taluq ?

(b) Were the local residents in the taluq apprised of the abuses before the concession was withdrawn, and was any enquiry held ? If so, will Government please place the results of the enquiry on the table of the House ?

(c) If the residents were not previously warned, are Government prepared to re-introduce the concessions in that taluq once more on getting an undertaking from them against future abuses ?

(d) Are Government also prepared to allow this concession to the residents of the coastal villages in Ponneri and Saidapat taluqs?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Salt much in excess of local requirements was removed from swamps in the Chingleput taluq of the Chingleput District. Many cases of removal to distant places by carts and boats were detected.

(b) The villagers in the taluq were given warning to the effect that if the abuse did not cease the concession would be withdrawn. The warning was published in the villages on the 7th, 8th and 9th of September, 1933, but the abuses continued. No formal enquiry was held, but the decision was reached on the basis of continual reports from the salt staff and the results of proceedings in the criminal courts.

(c) Does not arise.

(d) The concession has not yet been withdrawn from the taluqs named in this part of the question.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Will it not be possible to grant the concession after getting an undertaking from the people?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I answered a lot of questions in the last Session about the machinery for applying for restoration of these concessions. That machinery still holds good.

POSITION OF INDIANS IN FIJI.

183. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to an article by 'Seafarer' in the Hindustan Times of the 17th March, 1935, regarding the position of Indians in Fiji?

(b) Is it a fact that restrictions are placed in the way of Indian settlers getting leases of land from the Fijian landlords for agricultural purposes?

(c) Are Government prepared to consider the advisability of sending out a Commission to enquire into the question of the land settlement in Fiji?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c) Under the Fiji Native Lands Ordinance of 1905, the consent of the Governor in Council is necessary to the lease of land by Fijian landlords to all non-Fijians, Indian or European. The Regulations relating to the conditions on which such consent is granted contained certain provisions which discriminated against Indians in the matter of area of land and terms of lease, but these were deleted by the Ordinance of 1933. The Government of India have made certain inquiries as to the actual working of the Ordinance and the relevant regulations. The question what further action on their part is necessary will be decided when the result of these inquiries becomes available.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : For how long have these inquiries been going on?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The inquiry, Sir, if I remember aright, was addressed to the India Office about six weeks ago.

RE-OPENING OF SALT WORKS IN CERTAIN PLACES IN THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

184. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Is it a fact that Government have not been allowing the people in Kattur village, Ponneri taluq and Kandadu village in Tindivanam taluq, Madras Presidency, to work on salt pans in those places?

(b) Are Government aware that the people have been put to heavy loss on account of stoppage of works?

(c) Do Government propose to allow the people to re-open the salt works in those places?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) The Kattur Salt Factory is at present open and is being worked under the Monopoly System. Formal orders for the closure of this factory as a monopoly factory, with effect from 1st January, 1936, have issued but the existing licensees have been given the option to take modified excise licenses. The Kandadu Salt Factory was closed in 1897 as there was no necessity for it.

(b) The people have suffered no recent loss by the closure of the Kandadu Salt Factory which occurred many years ago. Government are now paying compensation in accordance with the provisions of the Madras Salt Act as this was not done at the time of the closure. Compensation admissible under the Act will also be paid to the licensees of the Kattur Salt Factory.

(c) At present there is no necessity to re-open the Kandadu Salt Factory as adjoining factories are overstocked and prices are very low.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : It is a fact that the compensation now offered is on the basis of the reduced dittam?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : The dittam in recent years has been taken into consideration in fixing the compensation.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Reduced dittam?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I think the reduction of dittam has been taken into account, but, speaking from memory, the compensation has not been based on the lowest dittam. However, if the Honourable Member will put down a question, I shall try and give him the information.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : Are the Government of India aware that the compensation offered is very inadequate?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : I am quite prepared to take it from the Honourable Member that there have been complaints of this.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : For how many years is this compensation to be paid? Is it paid annually?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : It is a lump sum.

OFFICERS IN ARCHAEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

185. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government please state who are the officers in Archaeological Survey with qualifications in :

(i) Architecture ; and

(ii) Archæology ?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of restricting the work of officers qualified in Architecture to purposes of conservation and excavation?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) A statement is laid on the table.

(b) Financial considerations impose limits on the size of the cadre which renders the Honourable Member's suggestion impracticable.

Names of officers in the Archaeological Department with qualifications in (i) Architecture, and (ii) Archaeology.

(i) Architecture.

1. Mr. J. F. Blakiston.
2. Mr. G. C. Chandra.
3. Mr. H. H. Khan.

(ii) Archaeology.

1. Khan Bahadur Maulvi Zafar Hasan.
2. Mr. K. N. Dikshit.
3. Mr. Mya.
4. Mr. M. S. Vats.
5. Mr. M. H. Kuraishi.
6. Mr. N. G. Majumdar.
7. Dr. M. Nazim.
8. Mr. H. L. Srivastava.
9. Mr. Q. M. Moneer.

COUNTRIES WITH BANNED OR RESTRICTED IMPORTS FROM INDIA.

186. *Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : (a) Will Government please state the names of countries which have either banned or restricted the import of Indian goods into their countries?

(b) What is the amount of loss of trade caused to India by each of such countries?

(c) What steps have Government taken in regard to this matter?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (c). The Honourable Member is referred to the reply given by me to parts (a), (c) and (d) of Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar's starred question No. 6 on the 2nd September, 1935.

(b) No estimate of the loss to India on account of these restrictions can be made.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I know if the Government of India have raised any objection to that?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have already replied on the supplementaries to the question to which I have referred.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What is the answer to clause (c), Sir?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I said that the Honourable Member is referred to previous replies given by me to Mr. Chettiar's question No. 6 on the 2nd September, 1935.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will any attempt be made at all to estimate this loss of trade caused to India?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It is not possible to make any estimate of the loss of trade caused to India on account of these restrictions owing to the complexity of the factors that enter into the situation.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the recent establishment of an Industrial Research Bureau, will Government be pleased to refer this question to them for making the necessary estimate?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Which particular Research Bureau is the Honourable Member referring to?

Prof. N. G. Ranga : The Honourable the Finance Member will answer it.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Again and again with reference to answers (a) to (c), it has been said that negotiations are going on. Whenever any other country put an embargo, are we to go on prostrating every time? Why don't you immediately put a ban on the import of their articles?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If the implication is that our inquiries and efforts result in nothing, I would draw the attention of the Honourable Member to the case of Roumania.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : What has been the case with regard to Italy?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have explained that correspondence started with Italy, and it was expected that the correspondence would lead to negotiations, but owing to the refusal of Italy to start with an initial concession which had been considered as absolutely necessary before negotiations could start, that correspondence is at the present moment in abeyance, and negotiations have not begun.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Why have not retaliatory measures been taken against Ceylon since 1932, and why has preference been shown to Ceylonese articles?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : How does that arise out of this question?

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Yes, it does, part (c) of the question.

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : My general answer to that criticism is that, with regard to a large number of these countries, the balance of trade is in favour of India. I need not go on explaining the implications of that. I am sure, Honourable Members will understand that retaliatory measures become impossible under those conditions.

PUBLICATION OF DAILY LISTS OF EXPORTS AND IMPORTS BY CUSTOMS HOUSES.

187. *Mr. Mathuradas Vissanji : (a) Will Government be pleased to state, if it is a fact that Calcutta, Madras and Rangoon Custom Houses publish daily lists of exports and imports? If so, what is the expenditure incurred by each Custom House in this regard, and what is the income received by the respective Custom Houses by way of subscriptions to these lists?

(b) Will Government be pleased to state whether Bombay and Karachi Custom Houses publish such daily exports and imports lists? If not, why not?

(c) Is it a fact that in Bombay and Karachi, the Bombay Chamber of Commerce and the Karachi Chamber of Commerce publish such daily lists? If so, what facilities do the Bombay and Karachi Custom Houses give to the above-mentioned private agencies for such publications?

(d) Will Government be pleased to place on the table the comparative statements of subscriptions for daily exports and imports lists issued by the Calcutta, Madras and Rangoon Custom Houses and subscriptions charged by the Bombay and Karachi Chambers of Commerce for their daily lists?

(e) Is it a fact that recently the Indian Merchants' Chamber, Bombay, approached Government with a request to arrange for publication of such lists by Bombay and Karachi Custom Houses on the lines of the Calcutta, Madras and Rangoon lists? Is it also a fact that Government refused the above request? If so, why?

(f) Are Government prepared to get the lists published by the Bombay and Karachi Custom Houses instead of assigning the same to private agencies?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : (a) Yes. A statement showing the income and expenditure is laid on the table.

(b) and (c). At Bombay, daily lists are published by the Bombay Chamber of Commerce. At Karachi, in accordance with an agreement reached in 1930, lists dealing mainly with foreign trade are issued by the Karachi Chamber of Commerce, and lists dealing mainly with the coasting trade are issued by the Joint Board of the Karachi Merchants' Association and the Buyers' and Shippers' Chamber, Karachi. Since April, 1935, the Karachi Chamber has discontinued the publication of daily lists of imports and exports but has issued enlarged monthly statements. Clerks deputed by these bodies are allowed to work in the Custom Houses and are given access to the relevant documents.

(d) A statement is laid on the table.

(e) and (f). A representation suggesting that the Bombay list should be issued by the Bombay Custom House was received from the Indian Merchants' Chamber in December, 1934. Government do not see sufficient reason for altering the existing practice, since they are not satisfied that if the work were undertaken by the Custom Houses they would be able to recover the cost without raising the rates of subscription.

STATEMENT I.

Expenditure incurred by Custom Houses on the publication of daily lists of exports and imports.

|             | Income.Rs. | Expenditure.Rs. |
|-------------|----------------|---------------------|
| Calcutta .. | 26,241         | 28,551              |
| Madras ..   | 6,589          | 6,405               |
| Rangoon ..  | 18,446         | 17,000              |

Note.—The figures for Calcutta relate to the calendar year 1934 and the figures for Madras and Rangoon relate to the financial year 1934-35.

STATEMENT II.

Annual subscription for Daily Lists of Imports and Exports.

|                                                                                                                | Rs. |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Calcutta—                                                                                                      |     |
| Import .. .. .                                                                                                 | 100 |
| Export .. .. .                                                                                                 | 100 |
| Madras .. .. .                                                                                                 | 90  |
| Rangoon—                                                                                                       |     |
| First copy .. .. .                                                                                             | 240 |
| Every additional copy .. .. .                                                                                  | 120 |
| Bombay Chamber of Commerce—                                                                                    |     |
| Members .. .. .                                                                                                | 160 |
| Non-members .. .. .                                                                                            | 320 |
| Karachi Chamber of Commerce (monthly statements) .. .. .                                                       | 100 |
| Joint Board of the Karachi Indian Merchants Association and the Buyers' and Shippers' Chamber, Karachi .. .. . | 6   |

EMPLOYMENT OF INDIAN SEAMEN ON BRITISH SHIPS.

188. *Mr. Mathuradas Vissanji : (a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the Debate in the House of Commons on the 4th December, 1934, and in the House of Lords on the 12th February, 1935, with regard to subsidies to British Tramp Shipping?

(b) Is it true that, in the course of the debates, Official Labour Opposition took up an anti-Indian attitude, demanding that no subsidy should be given to any ship which employs Indian seamen, so long as there was unemployment among white British seamen?

(c) Are Government aware that some Companies owning some of these ships are receiving patronage from the Government of India in Mail subsidies and are also receiving freight on Indian products and on Indian imports, and in virtue thereof there is a general feeling among the public in India that there should be no interference with the scope and employment of Indian seamen?

(d) Do Government propose to make a representation to the Secretary of State on the subject, pointing out the strong feeling thereon in India?

(e) Do Government support racial discrimination against Indians in this matter?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) Yes.

(b) Government are aware that certain Members of the Labour Party in the course of the debate advocated that the subsidy should be given only if employment was given by preference to European seamen.

(c) So far as Government are aware, no subsidy has been given to a company having mail contracts with the Government of India.

(d) In view of the statement made in the course of the debate on behalf of His Majesty's Government, the Government of India consider it quite unnecessary to make any representation on the subject.

(e) The question does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know what is the statement of the Secretary of State ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade stated :

" I am asking the Committee to allow me to emphasise the enormous consequences and implications of any suggestion that you can subdivide British nationality and allegiance into different groups. I am content to say at the moment that the vast majority of these Lascars are British subjects, entitled to British passports and to all the advantages of British citizenship to which any Honourable Member of this House is entitled."

PREPARATIONS IN INDIA FOR A WAR IN EUROPE.

189. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they are preparing for any war in Europe by any arrangements in India ;

(b) whether it is a fact that military contractors are being sounded about their capacity to supply provisions to the Army in certain eventualities ; and

(c) whether there is any proposal to increase or re-arrange the distribution of armaments and forces in India ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a), (b) and (c). No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know, apart from any immediate war, whether any contractors are being sounded in order to test their capacity to supply provisions to the army ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : No.

GOVERNMENT'S POLICY WITH REGARD TO THE TRIBES ON THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

190. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) what their definite policy is with regard to their dealings with the tribes on the North-West Frontier ;

(b) whether it is a policy of peaceful penetration, or of ultimate conquest ; and

(c) which tribes are friendly, and which are unfriendly ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) and (b). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given on the 12th September, 1933, to Mr. Maswood Ahmad's question No. 880.

(c) The present position is that out of the great transborder tribes for which the Government of India is responsible, the Yusafzai, the Baluch, and the Brahui only one small clan on the Hazara border, three of the lesser Mohmand clans, and one of the Wazirs can be described as hostile or unfriendly.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the answer of 1933 please ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have pleasure in reading it out. The answer given by Mr. Glancy was as follows :

" The policy of the Government of India is to maintain the peace of the border and foster good relations with the tribes in the hope that in time civilisation will spread gradually through the tribal area. For further particulars regarding this policy, I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to the speech made by Sir Deuys Bray on the 5th March, 1923, in this Assembly."

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What are the means which the Government of India are pursuing to spread civilisation among these tribes ? Air bombs ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, what are the other means ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Mainly the construction of roads.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : But may I know whether they recognise the independent position of these tribes, or whether they consider them semi-independent, whether they consider them hostile or friendly ? What is the exact relationship in the international law between Great Britain in India and these unfortunate tribes ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The question contains an innuendo, but I will overlook that. The position is that the tribes are with India, though not with British India, and the Government of India is responsible for them.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is meant by India ? Is it an independent state ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The question raises difficult legal point with which I am not prepared to deal offhand. The status of the tribal territory has in the past been described as that of Indian States, but I understand that there will be in future an alteration in status as a result of the new Constitution Act.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is any attempt being made to make honourable peace with these tribes ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Certainly.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know with regard to the answer to clause (b) of the question, whether it is the policy of ultimate conquest of these tribes ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I do not think that that inference can be put on the statement of policy which I have made.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Is it a fact that a tribe of the Mohmand Halimzais has been helped by the Government with rifles and money to fight the Upper Mohmands in order to create a feeling of blood feud among them ? Is it for helping or destroying them ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : It is a fact that the Halimzai Mohmands are in friendly relations with the Government and they have always carried out their relations loyally since they entered into them. They have been helped in repelling attacks upon them by the Upper Mohmands, but the rest of the Honourable Member's statement I cannot admit.

[6TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it the policy of the Government to make these tribes fight among themselves, in order to justify the enormous army expenditure on the North-West Frontier ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Certainly not. One of the main difficulties is the maintaining of peace among the tribes, and one of our chief roles is that of arbitrator between warring sections.

WOUND RECEIVED BY MR. L. W. B. H. BEST, POLITICAL AGENT IN THE MALAKAND AGENCY.

191. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the circumstances under which Mr. L. W. B. H. Best of the Indian Civil Service, Political Agent in the Malakand Agency Area, was mortally wounded in action on the 11th of April ;

(b) the causes which led to this incident ; and

(c) what the relations are between Government and the Faqir of Alingar ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) and (b). The information is contained in the Associated Press message from Peshawar, dated the 16th April, 1935, which appeared in the Civil and Military Gazette of the 17th April and other newspapers.

(c) The Faqir of Alingar has not entered into relations with Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is he an enemy of the Government ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I think that is a pretty fair description of the person in question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did Government make any enquiry into the causes of this unfortunate incident after the Associated Press message and really satisfy themselves that the telegram sent out was accurate ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The facts given in the telegram were substantially correct.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did Government investigate and find out whether the facts were accurate ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : The Government were already aware of the facts.

ARTICLE IN THE Amrita Bazar Patrika ABOUT THE FAQIR OF ALINGAR.

192. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to an article in the Amrita Bazar Patrika about the Faqir of Alingar ;

(b) whether the facts stated therein are correct ; and

(c) the reasons why this Faqir of Alingar goes on creating trouble ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) Yes.

(b) No Sir. There has been some confusion of two distinct actions ; but the article is correct in suggesting that the Alingar Faqir is an incorrigible fomenter of armed rebellion in the tribal territory.

(c) His chief motive is believed to be to gain power among the ignorant and turbulent tribesmen.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Is it a fact that on the Frontier there is a rumour that the Faqir of Alingar is bribed by some of the political officers in order to create this trouble ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have never heard the rumour, and I should think it has only to be stated to condemn itself.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Does this Faqir of Alingar possess a charmed person ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I should be very glad if the Honourable Member will give me some information on that point. I have none myself.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government helpless in this matter ?

PROHIBITION OF CERTAIN IMPORTS FROM PERSIA AND AFGHANISTAN INTO CERTAIN PARTS OF INDIA.

193. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that the prohibition of certain imports from Persia into British India and into the Baluchistan Agency territories has been extended to imports from Afghanistan as well as into the Political Agencies of the North-West Frontier Province ;

(b) the reasons therefor ; and

(c) what the effect of such prohibition has been ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) Yes.

(b) The protection of the revenues of India.

(c) Imports of the prohibited articles have been checked.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask for some more elucidation than is contained in the cryptic answer "The protection of the revenues of India" ? How were they going to be adversely affected by these imports from Afghanistan not having been prohibited ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : There is no land customs line there.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was there any question of smuggling ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : A great deal.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : To what extent ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I will try and find out some information.

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : A very large number of articles liable to heavy duties had been landed on the coast of Makran and the eastern part of Iran and were finding their way over this frontier into British India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has the prohibition been effective ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It has been particularly effective in the case of silver. Owing to the reduction of the import duty last April, the inducement for smuggling is substantially less.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What about other articles ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I could not answer that without notice, except in so far as it is covered by my general answer that imports have been checked.

EFFECT OF THE FIXATION OF IMPORT DUTY ON BROKEN RICE.

194. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the effect of the fixation of the import duty on broken rice, in so far as the imports of rice and paddy into Madras are concerned ;

(b) whether the import duty has had the desired effect ; and

(c) whether Government propose to take any further action in the matter ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). I lay on the table a statement showing imports of rice and paddy from foreign countries into the Madras Presidency up to July, 1935, and also a comparative statement of prices of all qualities of rice at Madras ports in April and July during the three years 1933, 1934 and 1935. It is too early as yet to express an opinion on the effectiveness of the new duty which came into force only on the 13th April, 1935, but prices have generally risen since then and are substantially higher than those prevailing in April and July of 1934 and 1933.

(c) No, Sir.

Imports of rice from foreign countries in o Madras Presidency.

|                         | Rice. | Broken rice. | Paddy. |
|-------------------------|-------|--------------|--------|
|                         | Tons. | Tons.        | Tons.  |
| August, 1934 .. .. .    | 4,109 | 17,713       | 10,516 |
| September, 1934 .. .. . | 7,202 | 11,426       | 6,708  |
| October, 1934 .. .. .   | 2,632 | 35,402       | 16,794 |
| November, 1934 .. .. .  | 3,866 | 23,591       | 8,449  |
| December, 1934 .. .. .  | 4,875 | 29,073       | 26,093 |
| January, 1935 .. .. .   | 1,395 | 4,396        | 1,517  |
| February, 1935 .. .. .  | 3,138 | 13,213       | 3,935  |
| March, 1935 .. .. .     | 6,008 | 27,758       | ..     |
| April, 1935 .. .. .     | 907   | 4,518        | 1,442  |
| May, 1935 .. .. .       | 500   | ..           | 10,548 |
| June, 1935 .. .. .      | 4     | ..           | 7,363  |
| July, 1935 .. .. .      | 506   | ..           | 8,484  |

Statement showing the prices of all qualities of rice at Madras Ports.

| Centre and quality.               | Year. | Prices in April.(last week). | Prices in July.(as on 19th July). |
|-----------------------------------|-------|----------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Madras—                    |       |                                  |                                       |
| (In rupees per maund.)            |       |                                  |                                       |
| Caleutta Nagara Boiled .. .. .    | 1933  | 3.23                             | 3.86                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 3.36                             | 3.83                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.83                             | 4.08                                  |
| Cocanada Boiled Delta .. .. .     | 1933  | 3.01                             | 3.01                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 2.82                             | 2.94                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.55                             | 3.60                                  |
| Rangoon Boiled Milchar .. .. .    | 1933  | 2.76                             | 2.88                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 2.70                             | 2.82                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.41                             | 3.54                                  |
| Rangoon Raw Broken A1 .. .. .     | 1933  | 2.55                             | 2.67                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 2.18                             | 2.55                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.21                             | 3.34                                  |
| Calicut—                   |       |                                  |                                       |
| Cocanada Boiled .. .. .           | 1933  | 2.48                             | 2.79                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 2.91                             | 3.09                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.65                             | 3.85                                  |
| Rangoon Milchar Rice .. .. .      | 1933  | 2.41                             | 2.73                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 2.54                             | 2.73                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.53                             | 3.59                                  |
| Rangoon Raw Broken .. .. .        | 1933  | 2.55                             | 2.59                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 2.25                             | 2.25                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.04                             | 3.23                                  |
| Cochin—                    |       |                                  |                                       |
| Inferior Milcher Burma II .. .. . | 1933  | 2.32                             | 2.38                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 2.32                             | 2.76                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.51                             | 3.45                                  |
| Siam Broken A1 .. .. .            | 1933  | 2.12                             | 2.22                                  |
|                                   | 1934  | 1.93                             | 2.39                                  |
|                                   | 1935  | 3.24                             | 3.34                                  |

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government aware of the fact that, very recently, there have been increased imports of Siamese rice into the Madras Presidency as compared with the period just after the levy of the import duty ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I think, if I read out a few figures supplementing those in the statement which I have laid on the table, the Honourable Member will be able to see the position quite clearly. In May, 1935, there was import of rice to the extent of 500 tons and the import of paddy was 10,548. In June, 1935, the import of rice was four tons as compared with June, 1934—14,620 tons. Imports of paddy in June, 1935—7,363 tons as compared with June, 1934—15,884 tons. In July, 1935, imports of rice 506 tons as compared with 15,609 tons in the previous year and imports of paddy of 8,484 as compared with 5,600 previously. Honourable Members will see that there has been a slight increase in imports in July, 1935, as against paddy, but the total of paddy and rice imported in July, 1935, is much less than the total of paddy and rice imported in July, 1934.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Is the Honourable the Commerce Member aware that just before the Act to levy a duty on imported rice, there was a very heavy importation of broken rice and paddy in the Madras Presidency ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have laid on the table all the figures for the last twelve months.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Does this include broken rice ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : The figures I have quoted, namely, 500, 4, and 506 for May, June and July, 1935, are for rice and broken rice together, but up to April, 1935, beginning with August, 1934, in the statement which I have laid on the table, figures are given for rice and broken rice separately.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Does not the Honourable Member think that the reduction in the imports of rice from May last might have been due partly to the larger imports earlier than May and also to the off-season for importation of rice ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have no means of judging at present, but, possibly, a few months hence, a comparison of the figures will enable me to arrive at some conclusion with regard to it.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Is the Honourable the Commerce Member aware that already complaints are pouring in to the Government of India that imports are increasing ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Some complaints have been received to that effect, but the figures do not seem to justify them.

Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar : May I know from the Honourable Member that more than 3,000 tons of rice and paddy have been imported into the Madras Presidency in the course of August ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have not yet received the August figures.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : Has the import duty raised the price of rice and paddy ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes. The figures I have laid on the table justify that conclusion. That is with regard to both broken rice and rice, the price has gone up.

Dr. T. S. S. Rajan : The import duty is only on broken rice ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Yes.

SENDING OF BRITISH TROOPS TO INDIA.

195. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether there has been any change in the practice of sending British troops to India ;

(b) whether more senior troops are now being drafted for India with resultant increase in cost ; and

(c) if so, the reasons therefor ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : (a) and (b). No.

(c) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I take it, therefore, that the same practice which prevailed before still continues ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : That is the meaning of my answer.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then the statements in the newspapers on this subject are inaccurate ?

Mr. G. R. F. Tottenham : If there have been any such statements, they must have been inaccurate.

DISABILITIES SUFFERED BY MATCH MANUFACTURERS IN BRITISH INDIA.

196. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to a statement by the Association of Indian Match Manufacturers, Bombay, as published by the Associated Press, regarding the disabilities suffered by match manufacturers in British India ;

(b) whether Government propose to take any steps to remove the disabilities under which the match industry is suffering ; and

(c) if not, why not ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : Government have seen only a press report of the statement to which the Honourable Member refers. Any representation which may be received from the Association of Indian Match Manufacturers or from other representatives of the industry will naturally be carefully considered.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the large increase in the price of matches, do Government propose to fix the maximum price for a match box ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : There is no such proposal before Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government considering the question of the abolition of the excise duty at least on the smaller match factories ?

Mr. A. H. Lloyd : No.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Why ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : That is a separate question. If the Honourable Member puts down a question, I will give him the usual answer that Government do not give advance notice of their intentions in regard to taxation.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not because of this excise duty on matches that the demand for matchwood produced by Government in their Andaman forest has gone down ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I think it is extremely likely that the heavy tax on matches has reduced the consumption. There can be no doubt about that, but I would point out to the Honourable Member that, as far as I remember, the excise duty in itself is no more burden on the consumer than the corresponding customs duty.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Information promised in reply to the starred question No. 138 asked by Mr. M. Maswood Ahmad on 19th July, 1934.

TRANSFERS OF THE ASSISTANT COMMISSIONERS OF INCOME-TAX.

The answer is in the negative.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 92 asked by Mr. Bhuput Sing on the 20th August, 1934.

NON-CONFIRMATION OF CERTAIN CLERKS IN THE OFFICES OF THE TELEGRAPH STOREYARD, ALIPORE, CALCUTTA.

(a) The undermentioned five officers are at present located in the Telegraph Storeyard, Alipore :

- (i) Office of the Controller of Telegraph Stores, Alipore,
- (ii) Office of the Electrical Engineer-in-Chief, Alipore,
- (iii) Office of the Superintendent of Telegraph Workshops, Alipore,
- (iv) Office of the Divisional Engineer, Eastern Wireless Division, Alipore,
- (v) Office of the Accounts Officer, Telephone Revenue, Stores and Workshops, Alipore.

Except in the office of the Controller of Telegraph Stores there are no clerks who have been in temporary service for seven or eight years, but in that office there were 23 clerks with temporary service ranging from two to nine years.

(b) The question of the re-organisation of the office of the Controller of Telegraph Stores has been under consideration for some time, but for administrative and financial reasons it was not possible for some time to bring the temporary staff of the office on to the permanent establishment. But in March last, after a decision had been arrived at as to the re-organisation of the office, orders were issued to bring the temporary staff on to the permanent establishment with effect from the 1st April, 1935.

(c) As regards the first part of the question it is a fact that officials appointed on a temporary basis are not eligible for increments. As regards the second part the there is any case for their amendment on the lines suggested by the Honourable Member.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 163 asked by Mr. V. V. Giri on the 12th February, 1935.

LEAVE RESERVE FOR EACH CATEGORY OF EMPLOYMENT ON STATE RAILWAYS.

Government are informed that it is the practice on State-owned Railways to provide regular leave reserve for certain categories of staff in the different Departments and to take substitutes in leave vacancies in other categories. The provision of regular leave reserve which depends on local conditions varies considerably. It is not possible to specify percentage of substitutes taken in leave vacancies as the number of such vacancies fluctuates considerably from time to time.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 751 asked by Sardar Mangal Singh on the 8th March, 1935.

DEMOTIONS AND SUPERSESSIONS IN CERTAIN DIVISIONS OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

(a) If the question relates to the travelling ticket examiner on the Moradabad Division referred to in the answer to question 440 (a) quoted whose former substantive pay prior to the introduction of the Moody-Ward scheme was Rs. 160 per mensem plus Rs. 50 consolidated allowance and who was absorbed as a travelling ticket examiner under the Moody-Ward scheme in the grade Rs. 70—5—95, the position is as follows :—

In accordance with the orders communicated in the Railway Board's letter No. 822-E.G., dated the 22nd December, 1932, to absorb higher paid travelling ticket examiners in posts carrying rates of pay equivalent or as near as possible to the rates of pay drawn by them in their substantive posts prior to their absorption in the Moody-Ward scheme, this travelling ticket examiner was subsequently appointed as assistant head ticket collector (grade Rs. 110—5—140) and was allowed to continue to draw Rs. 160 per mensem but the consolidated allowance was discontinued as the post in which he was appointed involved stationary duties.

(b) and (c). An assistant head ticket collector drawing pay at Rs. 140 in the grade Rs. 110—5—140 was promoted to the grade of junior inspector of tickets in the grade Rs. 150—10—190 when the individual referred to in part (a) to this question was still a travelling ticket examiner in grade Rs. 70—5—95. The former being in a higher grade was senior to the latter.

(d) and (g). I would refer the Honourable Member to the information laid on the table of the House, in reply to question No. 304 asked by Dr. N. B. Khare on the 9th April, 1935.

(e) and (f). Government are unable to make enquiries as the Honourable Member has not quoted specific cases in which supersessions have taken place.

(h) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative, but with this qualification that the restoration was limited to such as were eligible and exercised the option accorded. There are no grades under the Moody-Ward scheme equivalent to old East Indian Railway grades, mentioned in the question.

(i) Absorption of "the holders of the restored substantive grades" in grades in the Moody-Ward scheme commensurate with their pay is a matter dependent not only on the availability of vacancy in such grades, but also on the ability of the men concerned and their qualifications to be considered suitable for holding such grades. There can, therefore, be no rigid direction that all who were restored to their old scales of pay should be absorbed indiscriminately in vacancies within any fixed limit of time.

(j) Copy of Railway Board's letter No. 822-E.G., dated the 22nd December, 1932, to the Agent, East Indian Railway, is attached herewith. It may, however, be mentioned that notwithstanding the option given under certain conditions for the election of old substantive grades the policy is that the holders of such posts should be considered for vacancies in existing higher scales which approximate in value as nearly as possible to the pay drawn by them in the old scales.

Copy of letter No. 822-E.G., dated the 22nd December, 1932, from the Director, Railway Board, to the Agent, East Indian Railway.

TICKET CHECKING STAFF.

With reference to the correspondence ending with your letter No. 157, dated the 25th August, 1932, I am directed to state that, while the Railway Board are convinced that there is no justification for paying the ticket inspecting or examining staff mileage allowance as running staff, they are inclined to think that some consideration should be shown to those employees who now hold the posts of Travelling Ticket Examiners and who, prior to the Crew System, held permanent posts of Travelling Ticket Inspectors in a substantive capacity and drew a mileage or running allowance, in view of the comparatively large reduction in their emoluments. The Governor General has accordingly decided, as an ex gratia measure, that with effect from the 1st December, 1932, the following scale of monthly consolidated travelling allowances should be sanctioned to such employees :

|                                                                  | Per mensem. |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| For staff drawing less than Rs. 100 .. .. .                      | Rs. 35      |
| For staff drawing Rs. 100 and over but less than Rs. 200 .. .. . | 50          |
| For staff drawing Rs. 200 and over .. .. .                       | 65          |

2. I am further to state that the Railway Board have decided that an employee who held a permanent post in a substantive capacity as a Travelling Ticket Inspector prior to the introduction of the Crew System and who on the introduction of the duties the same or approximately the same as he discharged prior to the introduction of the Crew System should be allowed the option, with effect from the introduction of the Moody-Ward scheme, of retaining the scale of pay applicable to the permanent post held by him in a substantive capacity prior to the introduction of the Moody-Ward scheme with the benefit of increments therein. With a view to reducing the extra expense arising from the grant of this concession the Board desire that such employees should be considered for promotion to higher posts for which they may be qualified as vacancies occur in such posts.

3. I am to add that the Railway Board do not agree with the recommendation made in paragraph 29 of the 'Report of the Committee appointed to consider the appeals received from the Ticket Checking Staff absorbed in the Moody-Ward Scheme on the East Indian Railway'. The Railway Board are of the opinion that if a mistake has been made it should be rectified and the pay of the staff in question readjusted in the manner suggested in paragraph 29 of the Report, viz., in the lower grade of Rs. 37-3-52, the number of posts in this grade being temporarily increased as proposed in paragraph 29 of the Committee's report, the men in question being, however, allowed to retain the rate of pay actually drawn by them at present, and the difference treated as personal pay to be absorbed in future increments. The Board would like you to take steps accordingly unless you have any further representation to make on this point.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 165 asked by Mr. B. B. Varma on the 9th March, 1935.

TREATING OF LOCOMOTIVE ASSISTANT RUNNING SHED FOREMEN AS CONTINUOUS WORKERS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

(a) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that the daily duty hours of the Assistant Running Shed Foremen at Bandel, Ondal, Allahabad, and Tundla are 12 based on the nature of the duty they perform in accordance with the Hours of Employment Regulations.

(b) The question whether they should continue to be treated as Supervisory staff or should be treated as continuous workers and brought under the Hours of Employment Regulations is under investigation by the Supervisor of Railway Labour. If the conditions of work of these employees justify a reclassification from supervisory to continuous, necessary action will be taken in due course.

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 207, asked by Mr. N. M. Joshi, on the 9th March, 1935.

ACTION TAKEN ON THE RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT THE CONFERENCE OF THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY EMPLOYEES' ASSOCIATION.

Government are informed that the Association referred to by the Honourable Member has not, so far, been recognised by the Agent, East Indian Railway, and consequently he is not bound to consider representations which may be made by that Association either direct or by means of resolutions. The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that he, nevertheless, took action on resolutions which concerned the East Indian Railway Administration. He accepted resolutions Nos. 7, 10 and 19. Resolutions Nos. 4, 9, 11, 11-B, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20 and 21 were not accepted. As regards the matter dealt with in resolution No. 13, orders have since been issued that arrangements should be made for the provision of Box Khallasies for the carriage of boxes of all classes of drivers when circumstances render this necessary. The matter referred to in resolution No. 6 is under consideration. As regards resolution No. 5, the Honourable Member is referred to the replies given to starred questions Nos. 1545 and 1546 asked by Bhai Parmanand in the Legislative Assembly on the 5th April, 1935. It is understood that the statements made in resolutions Nos. 8, 18 and 25 are not based on facts.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 957 asked by Mr. Sri Prakasa on the 21st March, 1935.

EXAMINATION HELD AT CHANDSAU FOR THE SELECTION OF CANDIDATES FOR ASSISTANT STATION MASTERS' COURSE.

The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports :

"(a) Yes.

(b), (c) and (d). Requests for application forms together with the fee were required to reach the Divisional Superintendent's office, Moradabad, not later than the 28th December, 1934. Accordingly, application forms were correctly issued up to the 28th December, 1934, afternoon. Candidates who obtained the application forms on payment of Re. 1 up to the 28th December, 1934, were given time to submit their applications up to the 4th January, 1935. Application forms received after the 4th January, 1935, were not considered.

(e) Applicants were required to be qualified in telegraphy with a speed of 20 words per minute in receiving and sending. Several of the candidates who passed the test or were finally selected did not attain a speed of 20 words a minute in telegraphy. The final selection did not necessarily depend only on the speed in telegraphy. Some candidates with higher speed in telegraphy were not selected as the Selection Board did not consider them otherwise suitable.

(f) 96 candidates with better claims and qualifications were selected for the Telegraphy Test, i.e., four times the number required. The fee of Re. 1 was not refunded in terms of the advertisement.

(g) This was due to late arrival of the train by which an officer of the committee was returning to Headquarters. The Selection Board had to sit late in order to avoid inconvenience to candidates who would otherwise have had to remain at Moradabad for another day.

(h) 13.

(i) Six candidates were selected for signallers' posts. Candidates having a higher speed in telegraphy but otherwise considered unsuitable by the Selection Board were not selected.

(j) No. The candidates not selected were not considered suitable for appointment.

L187LAD

Information promised in reply to unstarred question No. 238, asked by Sir Muhammad Yakub on the 25th March, 1935.

CANDIDATES FOR LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY ELECTION WHO LOST THEIR SECURITIES.

List of candidates whose deposits were forfeited under rule 12(3) of the Legislative Assembly Electoral Rules in connection with the general election of 1934.

| Name.                                        | Constituency.                                                   |
|----------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Mr. V. Subrahmanyam .. ..                 | East Godavari, West Godavari cum Kistna (Non-Muhammadan Rural). |
| 2. Mr. T. Kanthimathinatha Pillai ..         | Madura and Ramnad cum Tinnevely (Non-Muhammadan Rural).         |
| 3. Mr. P. Varadarajulu Nayudu ..             | Salem and Coimbatore cum North Arcot (Non-Muhammadan Rural).    |
| 4. Mr. T. R. Venugopal Chetti .. ..          | Tanjore cum Trichinopoly (Non-Muhammadan Rural).                |
| 5. Kalami Sahib J. A. alias Nawab Sahib      | North Madras (Muhammadan).                                      |
| 6. Mr. J. M. Mehta .. ..                     | Bombay City (Non-Muhammadan Urban).                             |
| 7. Mr. A. O. Koreishi .. ..                  | Bombay Central Division (Muhammadan Rural).                     |
| 8. Mr. Narayan Ramji Gunjal .. ..            | Bombay Central Division (Non-Muhammadan Rural).                 |
| 9. Mr. Baburao Vishwanatha Batane ..         |                                                                 |
| 10. Capt. Sardar Bhimrao Nagojirao Patankar. |                                                                 |
| 11. Mr. Nasservanji Navroji Anklesaria ..    | Bombay Northern Division (Non-Muhammadan Rural).                |
| 12. Mr. Amar Nath Dutt .. ..                 | Burdwan Division (Non-Muhammadan Rural).                        |
| 13. Mr. Joy Kumar Singh Dudhoria ..          | Presidency Division (Non-Muhammadan Rural).                     |
| 14. Rai Bahadur Rameshwar Prasad Bagla       | Allahabad and Jhansi Divisions (Non-Muhammadan Rural).          |
| 15. Mr. Yusuf Imam .. ..                     | United Provinces Southern Divisions (Muhammadan Rural).         |
| 16. Mr. Khayali Ram .. ..                    |                                                                 |
| 17. Kunwar Gajendra Pal Singh .. ..          |                                                                 |
| 18. Sardar Rajindra Singh .. ..              | Agra Division (Non-Muhammadan Rural).                           |
| 19. Resaldar Anup Singh .. ..                | East Punjab (Sikh).                                             |
| 20. Mr. Jagat Narain Lal .. ..               | West Punjab (Sikh).                                             |
| 21. Mr. Ram Krishna Jha .. ..                | Patna cum Shahbad (Non-Muhammadan).                             |
| 22. Mr. N. K. Chaudhuri .. ..                | Darbhanga cum Saran (Non-Muhammadan).                           |
| 23. Khan Bahadur H. M. Wilayatullah ..       | Chota Nagpur Division (Non-Muhammadan).                         |
| 24. Mr. Kunjilal Dube .. ..                  | Central Provinces (Muhammadan).                                 |
| 25. Rao Sahib Baburao Ramji .. ..            | Central Provinces Hindi Divisions (Non-Muhammadan).             |
| 26. Mr. S. G. Jog .. ..                      | Berar (Non-Muhammadan).                                         |
| 27. Mr. Maganlal .. ..                       |                                                                 |
|                                              | Ajmer-Merwara (General).                                        |

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1012 asked by Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar on the 28th March, 1935.

ATTACHED OFFICES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA SECRETARIAT.

STATEMENT.

| Offices.                                                                                                                        | Personnel. |                              |                    | Whether any portion of the office is kept at Delhi during the summer. |                              |                    | Cost of Annual move.      | Remarks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|------------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|--------------------|---------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                 | Officers.  | Minis-terial Estab-lishment. | Inferior servants. | Officers.                                                             | Minis-terial Estab-lishment. | Inferior servants. | Latest figures available. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                 |            |                              |                    |                                                                       |                              |                    | Rs. a. p.                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Office of the Central Board of Revenue.                                                                                         | 7          | 44                           | 32                 |                                                                       | Nil.                         |                    | 24,120 0 0                | A considerable portion of the expenditure on the move returns to Government in the shape of railway fare and freight on the N. W. Railway, and the net expenditure is therefore actually much less than the gross expenditure shown under column "cost of annual move." |
| Office of the Controller of Printing and Stationery, India.                                                                     | 3          | 38                           | 19                 | 2                                                                     | 33                           | 14                 | 3,158 0 0                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Office of the Chief Controller of Stores, Indian Stores Department, including the Industrial, Intelligence and Research Bureau. | 15         | 165                          | 64                 | ..                                                                    | 1                            | 1                  | 67,800 0 0                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Office of the Director General, Posts and Telegraphs.                                                                           | 19         | 182                          | 103                | 11                                                                    | 172                          | 81                 | 12,625 0 0                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Office of the Director of Civil Aviation.                                                                                       | 6          | 49                           | 24                 |                                                                       | Nil.                         |                    | 19,484 0 0                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Office of the Chief Engineer, Central Public Works Department.                                                                  | 11         | 95                           | 71                 | 10                                                                    | 93                           | 67                 | 1,116 0 0                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

| Offices.                                                | Personnel. |                            |                    | Whether any portion of the office is kept at Delhi during the summer. |                            |                    | Cost of Annual move.    | Remarks.                                                                                                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------|------------|----------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|--------------------|-------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                         | Officers.  | Ministerial Establishment. | Inferior servants. | Officers.                                                             | Ministerial Establishment. | Inferior servants. |                         |                                                                                                               |
| Office of the Public Service Commission.                | 6          | 28                         | 27                 | ..                                                                    | ..                         | 1                  | Rs. a. p.13,450 0 0 |                                                                                                               |
| Office of the Intelligence Bureau ..                    | 8          | 39                         | 44                 | ..                                                                    | ..                         | 1                  | 26,597 0 0              |                                                                                                               |
| Office of the Director General, Indian Medical Service. | 4          | 37                         | 25                 |                                                                       | Nil.                       |                    | 18,670 0 0              |                                                                                                               |
| Office of the Bureau of Public Information.             | 2          | 12                         | 11                 |                                                                       | Nil.                       |                    | 9,384 0 0               |                                                                                                               |
| Office of the Director General of Archaeology.          | 3          | 15*                        | 14*                |                                                                       | Nil.                       |                    | 11,400 0 0              | * 1 clerk and 3 inferior servants are kept at Simla permanently. A considerable portion of the expenditure on |

|                                                                                       |    |     |    |    |      |    |              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|-----|----|----|------|----|--------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Office of the Military Accountant General.                                            | 6  | 100 | 29 |    | Nil. |    | 1,16,984 0 0 | the move returns to Government in the shape of railway fare and freight on the N. W. Railway, and the net expenditure is therefore actually much less than the gross expenditure shown under column "cost of annual move."                                                                                                           |
| Central Standards Office of Railways.                                                 | 7  | 46  | 21 |    | Nil. |    | 19,220 0 0   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Supervisor of Railway Labour ..                                                       | 1  | 3   | 3  |    | Nil. |    | 2,140 0 0    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Statistical Research Branch of the Commercial Intelligence and Statistics Department. | 2  | 14  | 10 |    | Nil. |    | 5,257 0 0    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Office of the Agricultural Marketing Adviser to the Government of India.              | 19 | 17* | 20 | .. | ..   | .. | ..           | This office has been constituted with effect from the 1st January, 1935 and located permanently at Old Delhi. The head of the office will move with the Government of India between Delhi and Simla and two senior officers under him will be permitted to recess in Simla for not more than two months during the summer each year. |

* One post to be filled up from 1st April 1936.

Information promised in reply to part (b) of starred question No. 1038 asked by Mr. A. K. Fuzlul Huq on the 26th March, 1935.

RECOVERY OF HOUSE RENT FROM TICKET COLLECTORS ON THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

(b) Yes. Applications for remission in whole or in part are being considered on the merits of each case.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1235 asked by Pandit Sri Krishna Dutta Paliwal on the 30th March, 1935.

HEARING OF APPEALS BY THE DIVISIONAL SUPERINTENDENT OF THE ALLAHABAD DIVISION, EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

(a) The Agent, East Indian Railway, reports that it is not a fact that appeals in the Allahabad Division are always left to be disposed of by the very officers who initiate the punishment. Government do not consider that any useful purpose will be served by collecting statistics of appeals personally enquired into by Divisional Superintendent, Allahabad, in which the orders of subordinate authority were reversed.

(b) Yes, in the cases which are covered by the Rules regulating the discharge and dismissal of State Railway non-gazetted Government servants.

(c) The Chief Operating Superintendent personally reviews all appeals that lie to him under the Rules.

(d) The orders of the Divisional Superintendent are reversed only if the Chief Operating Superintendent on examining the grounds of an appeal which lies to him finds that the orders of the Divisional Superintendent are not justified.

Information promised in reply to starred question No. 1355 asked by Dr. N. B. Khare on the 2nd April, 1935.

APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN PARAGRAPHS OF THE STATE RAILWAY OPEN LINE CODE, VOLUME II, ON STATE RAILWAYS.

Many of the rules contained in paragraphs 155 to 302, 319 to 384 and 403 and Appendix 8 of State Railway Open Line Code, Volume II, have been superseded by new rules and regulations. An up to date Establishment Manual is under preparation at present, a copy of which will be placed in the Library of the House when ready.

Paragraphs 562 to 589 have been superseded by Volume I of Railway Audit and Account Code.

Appendix 2 of the State Railway Open Line Code, Volume II, has been superseded by Book of Financial Powers.

Appendix 3.—The rules for issue of free passes are at present undergoing revision, a copy of which will be placed in the Library of the House when ready.

Appendix 5 is still operative.

Appendix 6 has been superseded by the State Railway Code (Revised).

Appendix 10 has been amended to some extent by later orders.

ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH AND ITS GOVERNING BODY.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Order, order.

12 Noon. I have to inform the Assembly that upto 12 NOON on Thursday, the 5th September, 1935, the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its Governing Body, only one nomination was received. As there is only one vacancy I declare Mr. Muhammad Azhar Ali to be duly elected to the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and its Governing Body.

ELECTION OF A MEMBER TO THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH AND ITS GOVERNING BODY. 549

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The House will now resume consideration of the following motion moved yesterday by the Honourable Sir Henry Craik :

“ That the Bill to amend the Criminal Law be taken into consideration.”

Mr. K. L. Gauba (East Central Punjab : Muhammadan) : Mr. President, the Honourable the Home Member referred to the triple menace of terrorism, Communism and communalism. I am afraid the Honourable Member forgot a fourth menace, and a much bigger one, namely, an irresponsible executive. “ In 1927 ”, said the Home Member, “ after the Calcutta riots, every Indian newspaper lost its balance.” We would like to know, Sir, how many Provincial Governments, in the intoxication derived from the powers of the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1932, kept their balance ! The Home Member referred to the voiceless millions of India. These voiceless millions have had many friends : the Morning Post (Laughter), Sir Michael O'Dwyer, and Mr. Winston Churchill ! Perhaps the Home Member does not know the silent prayer of the voiceless millions—“ God save us from our friends ! ”

The picture of India, Sir, which the Honourable the Home Member has painted, is a picture which shows that India is undermined with terroristic activity, that it is overrun by Communists, that communalism is rampant in the country. If these facts are really correct, I am afraid the Honourable Member has come to the wrong shop for the wrong remedy. If these are the necessities of the situation as he has painted it, the proper place for the proper remedy is the Viceregal Lodge for an Ordinance ! But, Sir, we know that the picture is not the picture of the country in substance. Terrorist activity, whatever it was in the past, is certainly not now what it was before,—and Communism is a much too exaggerated danger. It is merely a plea to get powers, which this House might not otherwise be ready to concede. When, Sir, we see officials waxing pathetic over communalism, we are reminded of the fact that even crocodiles can weep !

The Government, Sir, have come here for legislation. If this legislation is to go through, and if this House is to consider that legislation, it must be based on four essential facts : it must be tested by four distinct criteria. Firstly, Government must prove that there is a present and a proximate necessity. Secondly, Government must establish that the ordinary law is insufficient to meet the requirements of the situation. Thirdly, the Government must give a guarantee that the powers which they want under the legislation will not be abused.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (Presidency Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : What is the value of that guarantee ?

Mr. K. L. Gauba : Fourthly, Sir, the objects and terms of the legislation must be clearly and distinctly defined.

[Mr. K. L. Gauba.]

Let us for a moment consider the question of the present necessity. My learned friend referred to a terrorism which was rampant. Of course, in the case of terrorism, we are supposed to accept the statement that terrorism is rampant. That statement is based not on any published facts, but merely on confidential records. I would remind the House of only one thing. In January last, there was a motion for adjournment of this House on the question of the internment of a Member of this Assembly—Mr. Sarat Chandra Bose, and the reason for his detention. The reason why he had been prevented from coming to this House was said to be based on confidential information. The Government could not take any of the Leaders of the Parties into confidence over those facts; Government could not even place those facts before three eminent Judges for consideration. Sir, those were allegedly very damaging facts against an Honourable Member of this House. What happens six months after? Government releases Mr. Sarat Chandra Bose! I say, Sir, if that is the test of Government's confidential information, well, we know what value to attach to that confidential information.

Communism is the next of the menaces with which this country is alleged to be faced. Here also we are expected to accept the statement that Communism is rampant. Has the Honourable the Home Member put forward any evidence, whatsoever, before this House to convince this House that Communism is actually rampant in the country? We have had a harrowing picture of communalism in the shape of riots of 1926 and 1927, the outbursts of 1921 and the fierce articles of 1930. Has the Honourable the Home Member made out any case on the ground of communalism in 1935?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik (Home Member) : I thought that was obvious.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : On that point I am ready at any time to join issue with the Honourable the Home Member. Well, Sir, we are told over and over again that India must prove her fitness before she can be given a further measure of responsibility. How has she managed the powers which have already been given to her? Well, so far as the executive is concerned, I think this House is entitled to put the very same test. We entrusted them with certain powers in 1932, and now they have come to us for further powers or for the continuation of those very powers for ever. We are entitled to know and the country is entitled to ask : "You have had three years of these extraordinary powers, and how have you used those powers during that time?" We are entitled to put that question, and, unless we get a definite, proper and convincing answer, we are not prepared to give them any further powers. Sir, we gave them certain powers to meet terrorist activities, Communist activities and communal activities, but we did not give them power to muzzle the press in such matters as the Quetta earthquake. I did not know until last evening, when I was looking at the statement which was laid on the table yesterday, that 15 papers had been penalised for articles about the Quetta earthquake. Well, Sir, if the Government want powers for terrorism, Communism and communalism, the Quetta earthquake does not come within that category.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Have you read those articles?

Mr. K. L. Gauba : You might circulate those articles, and we will consider them on one of these days. Well, Sir, day before yesterday, there was an intimation in the newspapers that the security of the Ahsan of Lahore had been forfeited for an article entitled "Government and Shahidganj". I have not seen that particular article, but from the nature indicated by the title of that article it is perfectly clear that that article cannot come within either of the three categories mentioned by my learned friend opposite. The control and censorship of the press during the Shahidganj agitation was not directed towards avoiding so much of the conflict between one community and another.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Question.

Mr. K. L. Gauba :..... as to conceal the illegal acts, violent acts and unjustifiable acts of the military and the Punjab Government.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Oh, no.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : The Honourable the Home Member may say "Oh, no" over and over again, but he knows it definitely, and every Member of the Punjab Government knows it well, that on the question of Shahidganj they are not prepared to face an inquiry. If that is the case, how can they blame us if we put the worst interpretations on their avoiding of an inquiry.

Well, Sir, one could understand if the Government of India had come to this House and said : "You gave us powers then and they were emergent powers. In 1932, we were desperately in need of legislation and the clauses of the Bill of 1932 were passed in a hurry. We think that those powers are necessary in the interests of the country and in a case of necessity, justice, equity and good conscience may be over-ridden. Now, that necessity has gone but we still want those powers. We have no objection if those powers are put into legal and proper form." But, Sir, Government have done absolutely nothing of the kind. They have put forward the legislation of 1932 and 1931, mutatis mutandis, for this House to re-nact in perpetuity. I will refer to only one instance. Take section 7 regarding picketing. Now, what was the case which the Honourable the Home Member made out as regards picketing? After all, it is a very important provision and great deal of the speech of the Honourable the Home Member was devoted to picketing. What case did he make out of picketing? He said there had been picketing in the MacLagan Engineering College at Lahore; there had been picketing in the Technical College of Lahore; and there had been picketing in a cinema at Amritsar. The MacLagan Engineering College incident is, I think, fresh to most members of this House. That was not directed against Government but the feelings of the students were outraged by certain remarks which are alleged to have been made by the Principal of that college. The dispute over the Hindu Technical College, Lahore, was more or less of a similar character. As regards the cinema incident, we are entitled to ask whether the cinema incident in Amritsar is a sufficient argument or a sufficient reason to saddle the whole of the country with legislation of this character? That is the type of argument and reasoning which has been put forward. Sir, I came here yesterday with an absolutely open mind. If Government had made out a clear and convincing case of the necessities of this situation, I think many Members of this House would have been ready to give this legislation their best consideration. But so far they have made out no case at all.

[Mr. K. L. Gauba.]

Sir, I will refer to the Bill in a very slight detail. Might I draw the attention of the House to section 5 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act? This section refers to the reproduction of certain books, newspapers and documents which have been proscribed. The procedure laid down in the section is, that if Government takes any objection to any reproduction, it will issue a certificate to a Court and that Court must regard that certificate as final in the nature of its being either seditious or otherwise. We are not having emergent legislation now. We are considering an Act which Government want to be permanently placed on the Statute-book. If Government really want a section of this kind, the proper wording for it should be, that if any Court on a prosecution lodged by Government is of the opinion that a particular proscribed passage or seditious passage has been reproduced, the Court having arrived at that decision might convict the offender. If Government is to institute the prosecution, if Government is to be the judge, why shouldn't Government itself pass the sentence. Why shouldn't the Local Government itself issue a warrant of arrest, take the man and lodge him in prison instead of going through the farce of a proceeding in a Court of law. That is one instance of the crude phraseology, the crude provisions of this Act. Look at section 16. Section 16 adds various clauses to the powers given under the Emergency Press Act of 1931. In 1931, it was considered sufficient to control the Press in respect of certain articles about terrorist and those persons who praised murder. If that was the case in 1931, how is the situation in the country worse in 1935 to justify the continuance of section 16.

There is one question on which I think every Honourable Member of this House has a right to demand of Government a frank and straightforward answer. Do the Government want this legislation to meet terrorism, Communism or communalism? Are the Government willing to confine this Act for these three purposes? Or are they taking this Act from us on the pretext of three purposes but in reality to be employed for 50 purposes afterwards. Sir, I think before this House decides whether it is to give this Bill consideration or not, we should have from the Government a clear and frank answer on this subject, namely, whether Government really want this Act to meet these three purposes only or whether they want it for other purposes and whether the Government are prepared to confine the provisions of this Act to the three purposes which the Honourable the Home Member has mentioned.

There is another question which I think the Honourable the Home Member should answer for the benefit of Honourable Members of this House, namely, whether he wants this Bill as it stands, word for word, of the House with the Members of this House fair and proper amendments to this Bill.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Certainly.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : I am very glad to hear from the Honourable the Home Member that he is open to consider proper amendments.

Mr. S. Satyamurti (Madras City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Will he accept them?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I did not say, accept. Obviously I cannot commit myself in advance.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : Neither, Sir, do we commit ourselves to accept the Bill in the final form in which it might appear. (Hear, hear.) The purpose of the Bill has been stated to be to help the new Governments that are coming into force. Well, Sir, I think that the new Governments, like those voiceless millions, can be left to look after themselves. The new Governments have been amply armed. Their armoury is full of defensive weapons, safeguards, Ordinances, individual discretions. If there were any armaments required for the new Governments, I am sure Mr. Winston Churchill would have discovered them. I do not wish to detain the House any longer. All I wish to say is this and I say it frankly and openly to the Honourable the Home Member opposite that so far as the Bill stands in its present form, it is entirely unacceptable (Applause) to every community in this country. (Hear, hear.) In any other form one cannot say, but in its present form, it is an insult to the intelligence of this House (Hear, hear) and it is an insult to the people of this country. (Applause.)

Mr. G. Morgan (Bengal : European) : Mr. President, before I state the views of the European Group on the motion before the House, I desire to congratulate most heartily my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, on his excellent maiden speech. I may say, Sir, that it is the best maiden speech I have ever heard in this House. My Honourable friend showed a complete grasp of the subject, and from what I could see, no one in this Honourable House was more astonished than my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : That he could make such a good case out of a bad one.

Mr. G. Morgan : Sir, I have risen to support the resolution before the House.

My Honourable friend Mr. Satyamurti stated that the Opposition in opposing this resolution were acting under a deep sense of responsibility. Sir, I say that to vote against this resolution would show that one had no conception of what one's responsibility was as a Member of this House, or what was one's duty to India.

My Honourable friend Mr. Satyamurti stated that if his....

Mr. Satyamurti : You will always vote with the Government. That is your sense of responsibility.

Mr. G. Morgan : My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, stated that if his Party were in power they could rule the country without this Bill. He is an optimist. Mr. Satyamurti's points were, in the course of a long speech, three, so far as I could gather :

1. That Government were seeking to rule by executive action without any interference from Courts of law.

[Mr. G. Morgan.]

2. To suppress all journalists who were not friendly to Government.
3. That the ordinary law of the land was quite sufficient to cope with all subversive activities, and objectionable press publications.

Sir, with regard to the first point, no one in their senses could interpret this Bill as meaning what Mr. Satyamurti says it does.

The second point is pure imagination on my friend's part.

The third point, in regard to the press, the House has been assured that the existing Act is an obstructive measure which makes it practically impossible for responsible journalists to carry on their work. The answers to questions recently put in the Bengal Legislative Council reveal that only in an insignificant number of cases have deposits been forfeited, which seems to show that no very great hardship exists. There is no foreign country where the press is so free as in India, as a perusal of the daily papers shows.

Under the Act of 1932, a large number of presses have been started. So it cannot be argued that the Act has been a deterrent to journalists. Can it be said that there has been any misuse of the Act of 1932?

The press is at liberty to criticise Government. This legislation is designed not to restrict that freedom, but to prevent open incitement of people to lawlessness, and sympathy with subversive crime. No one in this Honourable House can object to that. No one can say that this legislation interferes with the real liberty of the press. No decently run press has anything to fear. The press is absolutely free to carry on the activities for which the press is intended.

I would refer the Honourable Members to the explanations at the foot of section 16 which is retained.

Sir, when I was taking notes yesterday morning, I put down cinematograph vs. press pamphlets, &c., but my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, has already made the point I had hoped to make.

Sir, Government desire to continue the powers they have at present to curb certain subversive activities, which Government have reiterated, time after time, they cannot do under the ordinary law of the land. My Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, has explained this point very clearly. The ordinary law as stated by the Honourable the Home Member has no terror for those who decide on revolutionary activities.

Now, Sir, the opposition say the Bill is unnecessary, because,

- (1) Emergency has gone and the country is now quiet.
- (2) The ordinary law is sufficient.

But in fact though the country is quiet this is only because the Civil Disobedience Movement is quiescent and Congress themselves have emphasised that Civil Disobedience has only been suspended, and not abandoned. But this argument—namely that Civil Disobedience has been suspended and that therefore the Bill is unnecessary—is, as a matter of fact, off the point, because as the Statement of Objects and Reasons shows, the sections of the existing Acts, directed against special features of the Civil Disobedience Movement, have been dropped in the Bill now before the House.

Sir, I repeat the Bill is a preventive measure designed to fill in gaps in the Indian Penal Code and the Criminal Procedure Code. As the Honourable the Home Member has explained, these are not sufficient under modern conditions to cope with certain forms of subversive or lawless activity.

Sir, the drastic sections 6 and 8 of Act 23 of 1932 have been dropped.

The main provisions of the new Bill are designed :

1. to deal with picketing,
2. to enable Government to take action in connection with premises and funds used for the purpose of unlawful associations,
3. to extend the period of the Indian Press Emergency Powers Act, 1931.

Under section 503 of the I. P. C. the intention is clear that picketing should be unlawful, but as the experience of recent years has shown this form of lawless activity has been and is being used against individuals who do not share the political, social or economic views of the picketers, or (as in some cases) are simply trade rivals. Section 7 of Act 23 of 1932 remains, therefore, urgently necessary. Moreover it should not be forgotten that, as a safeguard against its abuse, it only comes into force in areas notified by the Provincial Governments and action can only be taken upon it on reports made by senior police officers.

In regard to section 13 of the Act of 1932 this section remains as necessary today as it was in 1932, to enable Government to deal with unlawful bodies such as communist or terrorist organisations. The Honourable the Home Member has explained fully the reasons for this section and I heartily support him.

Sir, I share with the Honourable the Home Member the desire to make this Bill a permanent Act on the Statute-book.

If it is of a temporary nature, those who are busy with subversive activities will always cherish the hope that the Act may not be renewed. In any case Honourable Members are aware that an Act can always be repealed.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Today being Friday, I adjourn the House now to 2-15 P.M. The Honourable Member can resume his speech when the House meets again.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till a Quarter Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at a Quarter Past Two of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

STATEMENT OF BUSINESS.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Law Member) : Sir, with your permission, I desire to make a statement as to the probable course of

[Sir Nripendra Sircar.]

Government business in the week beginning Monday, the 9th September. You have already directed, Sir, that in that week the Assembly shall sit for official business on Monday, the 9th, Tuesday, the 10th, Wednesday, the 11th, Thursday, the 12th, and Friday, the 13th.

On Monday, the first item of business will be a motion for the election of a Member to the Standing Advisory Committee for the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department. Leave will then be asked to introduce a Bill to supplement the Central Provinces Courts Act, 1917. Thereafter, the discussion of the motion to take the Criminal Law Amendment Bill into consideration will be resumed. Honourable Members will realise that it is difficult for me to say at this stage how much time will be occupied next week by this Bill. All that I can say is that, if time allows, we shall proceed to dispose of business left unfinished on Tuesday's List, and, thereafter, we shall take the consideration of the Payment of Wages Bill as reported by the Select Committee.

THE CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT BILL—contd.

Mr. G. Morgan : Sir, the Honourable the Home Member referred to four things which have to be guarded against, namely, (1) Civil Disobedience, (2) Terrorism, (3) Communism, and (4) Communal Unrest. My friend, Mr. Gauba, mentioned another, I think, and that was the irresponsible executive, but he forgot that the new Government of India Act was legislation to accomplish the very object he had in view. With regard to Nos. 1, 2 and 4, we know more or less where we are, but, with regard to No. 3, Communism, we are in considerable danger. It is a much bigger thing than any of the other three. Communism is in open conflict with the democratic as well as the capitalistic system. In this connection, I would like to quote what the Bulgarian Communist declared at a recent meeting of International Communists in Moscow held early in August. He declared that Communists must remain irreconcilable enemies to every Bourgeois Government. He said that Communists must constantly endeavour to persuade their fellow workers that overthrow of existing Governments and establishment of proletarian dictatorships are the only final solution. Those who favour democratic institutions would do well to take note of this fact. The Honourable the Home Member has pointed out that the Congress views would be opposed by Communism. My friend, Mr. Gauba, said that Communism was a much exaggerated thing, that Government could not prove that Communism was rampant in India. That may be so, but we do not want to wait until anything is rampant in the country to pass the necessary laws to enable the Government to deal with any situation which may arise. We should not wait until the danger has got to such a pitch when it can be called rampant and then have to take much more drastic measures than a measure of this description to check it.

Sir, to conclude, we support this resolution, because we feel that it is in the best interests of India. I come from Bengal, and I endorse every word spoken by my friend, Mr. Griffiths. We wish to save the youth of this country from all subversive crime and we wish Government to have all powers that are necessary to achieve their object, and save India from disaster.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah (Sind Jagirdars and Zamindars : Landholders) : Sir, I will not take much time of this House. I shall make only a few observations. The Honourable the Home Member has in his lucid statement told us the objects of this Bill, and those objects are to check terrorism, Communism, Civil Disobedience and communal unrest. Before I show this House the necessity for this legislation, I will deal with the various objections that have been raised in this House against this measure. I request Honourable Members to consider this measure on its merits. Face the facts as they are, and don't be led away by prejudices or fancies.

Now, Sir, I shall first deal with the objection that was raised by the Opposition, including my friend, Mr. Gauba, whom I don't see here. He said there was no necessity for emergency laws, because we can deal with all these by the ordinary laws. I may remind the House that this is an emergency measure. When the Government find that this cannot deal with some of these evils by the ordinary law, when they find that they cannot adequately and effectively deal with some of the activities or movements which are not covered by any of the existing laws, this must bring forward a measure which can effectively deal with all these evils, and, therefore, they have brought forward this Bill. Take, for instance, terrorism. No doubt, it can be dealt with by the ordinary law, but what has been the result? In most cases, we cannot get evidence. When witnesses come forward to give evidence, what is their fate? They are shot down. Therefore, Sir, special measures are necessary to deal with evils like terrorism. My friend, Mr. Gauba, said that he would not be satisfied till Government had made out a strong case in justification of this measure and proved that terrorism was rampant. I will draw his attention to the debate in this Assembly last March in Delhi, when the Honourable the Leader of the House quoted a catalogue of cases which were the reports of judicial proceedings of Courts and proved that terrorism was rampant, and if my friend likes it, I will make a present of those proceedings to him. Sir, even when Government have these emergency powers, there are the terrorist crimes committed, and the Honourable the Leader of the House had quoted a number of cases that had occurred from 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935 and 1936....

Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar (Salem and Coimbatore cum North Arcot : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Not 1935 or 1936. 1936 has yet to come. (Loud Laughter from Opposition Benches.)

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Sir, I am used to these laughters. When things are unpalatable, you can only laugh. I am quite used to these laughters for the last 14 years. I am used to laughters even at my home, because I have four noisy boys who create laughter.... (Interruptions.)

Pandit Nilakantha Das (Orissa Division : Non-Muhammadan) : Why do you always speak unpalatable things then?

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : I have very good experience. You never listen to reason. Whenever truth is told to you, you never listen. Everybody must have patience to hear the other side. Afterwards, you may decide the case as you like. I do not like interruptions. Otherwise, I will every time interrupt you, it is hardly fair to a speaker to interrupt him incessantly.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member can go on. The Chair hopes Honourable Members will not interrupt him.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Otherwise I will also adopt the same tactics. I now come to picketing. On that point I join issue with my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, that it is an offence under the Indian Penal Code.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : On a point of personal explanation, Sir. I said picketing carried on by unlawful or illegal means is an offence under the ordinary criminal law of the land.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Not picketing by itself. That is my point. And I may tell my Honourable friend, Mr. Gauba, that had he been, as we were, in the thick of the fight in Bombay when there was Civil Disobedience, he would have found in every street and in every market picketing, boycotting and nothing else.

Mr. K. L. Gauba : That is an old story now.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : They have suspended it, the Honourable Member should realise they may revive that movement any time. (Interruptions.) I object to all these interruptions.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member does not like to be interrupted, and the Chair hopes that Honourable Members on the Opposition Benches will give him a chance to speak without being interrupted.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : They are talking of the liberty of speech, the liberty of the citizen. Is this not restraining the liberty of speech ? As regards picketing almost all the commercial associations in the City of Bombay, I am speaking from memory, were tired of this picketing. They actually made representations to the Government of Bombay to tighten the law in regard to picketing. I am sorry I do not find my Honourable friends from Bombay.

Some Honourable Members : Here we are, half a dozen are here.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Those who made those representations I mean. How can you know of those representations when they were against you ? Those representations were made, I am speaking from memory, by the Millowners' Association and several other commercial associations.

An Honourable Member : Mainly European.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Indians also. And when Government want to make picketing an offence, my Honourable friends oppose it. Suppose picketing is an offence under the ordinary law, it will not serve the purpose unless, as provided in the Bill, it is made cognisable and non-bailable. Whenever any person has protested against picketing, what has been his fate ? The picketers redouble their efforts to harass him, and they make his life miserable by picketing, by social boycott and other means. Therefore, the object will not be served unless the picketer is at once arrested and is not released on bail. If he is released on bail he will start picketing again and the very object will be frustrated. My Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti, says that section 7 will be directed against temperance and swadeshi movements. I may assure him, if he reads the section carefully, he will find that if those movements are carried on peacefully by mere speeches, by persuasion, by distributing leaflets, they will not come under this section at all. My reading of that section is, that intention to coerce followed by overt acts will be an offence. Therefore, the legitimate activities of temperance and Swadeshi movements cannot be covered by this section.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena (Lucknow Division : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : They have been covered.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : I do not know.

Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena : I was convicted.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Another point that was made by the Opposition was that public opinion has not supported this Bill. May I ask the opponents of this Bill, have they produced any evidence that any public association has opposed this Bill ?

An Honourable Member : Every association.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Where are they ? What are they ? Who are their leaders ? I have not received any complaint. What is public opinion ? Are not the members of local Legislatures representatives of public opinion ? Have they not passed three years ago supplementary legislation to this legislation, and I assure this House that even supplementary legislation with regard to this present Bill will be passed in all the provinces. They are the representatives of the people. (Interruption.) You may say the press is against these provisions, but I may tell the House that the opinion of the press is divided ; the sober and moderate press is in favour of the measure, only the extremist section is afraid of being affected by this Bill.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know which Indian newspaper has supported this Bill ?

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : (Interruptions.) We have two Hindu Associations—the Hindu Mahasabha, and the Sind Hindu Association. What is their programme for the new Assembly of Sind ? They say they will oppose the activities of the Congress. Openly they have declared in the press, and I challenge anybody to contradict it.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai (Sind : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : They have not done so yet.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : But I know they have done so. Then, the Muhammadans are against these subversive activities, and they form three-fourths of the population of Sind. So, I have popular support at my back in what I say.

An Honourable Member : What is the percentage of people behind you ?

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : The whole of Sind. I represent the Hindu and Muhammadan Zamindars and Jagirdars of Sind, those who have a stake in the country, and some of them have 15,000 to 20,000 tenants. (Interruption.) The other argument that I heard against this Bill is that it will interfere with the liberty of the citizens. It has been replied to, that every law to a certain extent interferes with the liberty of the citizen. Is not picketing and boycotting interference with the liberty of the people? What is this measure going to do? Restoring the liberty of those whose liberty has been restrained by picketing and by boycotting. It will only restrain the liberty of those who wish to restrain the liberty of the ordinary citizen.

[Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah.]

Now, Sir, the question was whether this legislation should be made permanent or not. The Honourable the Home Member gave very cogent reasons on that subject. When we have temporary legislation we raise hopes in the minds of people that it will expire and those affected by the legislation will think of renewing their activities. In the meantime, they organise themselves. My friend, Mr. Satyamurti, said that the Congress is not going to withdraw the Civil Disobedience Movement and that confirmed my belief that they want to resort again to their picketing, disobedience and boycott. Therefore, I am convinced that the measure should be made permanent. It seems from their attitude that they will not work the reforms but wreck them, and how can they do it if these emergency laws are on the Statute-book. They do not want the new Ministers should have this additional weapon in their armoury to deal with them. Now, Sir, as regards the temporary legislation, I may quote a case cited by the Leader of the House. He says :

"I would ask Members of this House to realise the fact that this apparent quiescence for four years did not mean that if pressure were relaxed there was not going to be any further trouble. In this trial, letters written by or to some of these six detenus or six leaders, whatever one might like to call them, were exhibited, from which it appears that one was actually writing to the others that now that the Ordinance has dropped and we are not being watched by the police, this is the time for us to prepare."

So, Sir, those who oppose this Bill are afraid that if this Act is made permanent, they will have no time for preparation.

Now, I come to terrorism. Is it still in existence or is it dead? The Honourable the Leader of the House had quoted a number of cases. I shall not waste the time of the House by repeating them. Terrorism is still in existence in spite of these laws and but for these laws, it would have been still worse. When terrorism exists, are we not justified in legislating this measure?

I now come to Communism. It is also making rapid strides. The Honourable Members who belong to the Congress know that there is a Communist party in the Congress also but their platform is quite different. I think the day is not far distant when they will capture the Congress and my friends will be a back number. Now, I will quote the reply of the Honourable the Home Member to a question on the 14th August, 1934, by Mr. Gaya Prasad Singh :

"In its draft platform of action the communist party of India has, amongst others, laid down the following :

- (1) The complete independence of India by the violent overthrow of British rule, (2) the cancellation of all debts, (3) the abolition of the Indian States, (4) the creation of an Indian Federal Workers and Peasant Soviet Republic, (5) the confiscation without compensation of all the lands, forest and other property of landlords, Ruling Princes, Churches, British Government officials and money-lenders and handing them over for the use of the toiling peasantry.

The more important of the stated methods by which the communist party propose to achieve these ends are (1) to develop a general strike and convert into a general political strike, (2) to develop a spontaneous peasant movement for the non-payment of rent, debts and taxes into an all-India movement directed into channels of agrarian revolution, and (3) to spread revolutionary propaganda among soldiers and police and to explain to them the necessity of their armed insurrection together with the masses of the country, against British rule."

Now, Sir, how can any Government satisfy the communist unless they abdicate? When such a movement exists, is not Government justified in having this emergency Bill?

Now, I come to communal strife. We must all admit to our shame and humiliation that we have not been able to compose our differences. It is no use throwing the blame on the third party.

An Honourable Member : So long as jobs are there.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : I have heard the leaders of the Hindu community say "Hindustan is for the Hindus". I did not want to say this, but you are compelling me to speak about it. Those feelings are there. I think, on that matter, the less said the better.

Now, I come to the Civil Disobedience Movement. Had it been withdrawn, there was a case to ask Government to drop certain sections which might be directed against that. What is the past history of the Congress? It might be non-violent in theory but, in practice, I will show you what they have been doing. What is picketing? By boycott and picketing they have sought to destroy the whole trade, commerce and industry of the City of Bombay. Now, Sir, what have they been doing in regard to the various murders committed by the terrorists? What resolutions have they been passing? They have been passing resolutions condemning the murders, but praising the murderers. (Hear, hear.) What have they said of the various murderers? They have eulogized them for their patriotism, for their heroism, and have held them up as martyrs for the country. What is the effect of such resolutions on the impressionable minds of young students? Well, the student will say it is a good thing to be a martyr, to sacrifice one's life for the country. What has the greatest man of India, Mahatma Gandhi, said about these resolutions? He calls them a form of self-deception; he says, these resolutions are against the principles of non-violence. I think there cannot be a greater authority than the Mahatma who has condemned these resolutions of the Congress.

An Honourable Member : Do you follow him?

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Well, wherever his theories are not destructive. (Laughter.)

An Honourable Member : The Deputy Mahatma!

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : Sir, I will not waste the time of this Honourable House by quoting various cases that were already quoted at one of the meetings of the last Assembly by the Honourable the Leader of the House, showing the connection of some of the members and office-bearers of the Congress with the terrorist movement.

Now, Sir, I come to deal with the various clauses. Objection was taken first to clause 5. Sir, the object of clause 5 is this. Under the Criminal Law Amendment Act the executive Government has the power of proscribing any publication whether it be a book, newspaper or anything else. Now they have under that Act that power already. They are not seeking that power now. They want to make penal the republication under this clause. If the Government have the power to proscribe, and they have no power to punish re-publication that power is not effective. Therefore they are seeking this power. Already the Legislature has given the executive the power of proscribing. We should not mis-interpret this clause 5. Then, Sir, clause 7 only punishes "whoever with intent to cause any person to abstain from doing or to do any act which such person has a right to do or to abstain from doing, obstructs or uses violence to or intimidates such person or member of his family or person in his employ, etc., etc."—swadeshi or temperance movement will not be affected by this clause. Again to clause 11, Sir, some objection was raised. Under the Criminal Law Amendment Act Government has already the power of declaring any association illegal; that is, the executive is already armed with that power, but the further power that they want is to take possession of the place where these subversive activities are being carried on and to confiscate the moveable property and all the funds with which those activities are carried on. So the executive has already the power; but to make that power effective, these clauses are added. Sir, I do not want to say anything about the Press. It has been dealt with very ably by our new recruit to this Assembly, my Honourable friend, Mr. Griffiths, from Midnapore, the hot-bed of terrorists (Hear, hear): and I must congratulate him on his very able maiden speech, and on the excellent way in which he has placed the case. (Loud and Prolonged Cheers.) With these remarks, Sir, I support the motion.

[Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah.]

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya (Benares and Gorakhpur Divisions : Non-Muhammadan Rural) : Sir, I had no mind to intervene in this debate at this stage. As a matter of fact, I had requested the Honourable the Home Member yesterday to supply me with a proof copy of his speech so that I might be able to refer to it and not rely upon my memory alone. I had planned, Sir, that I would speak on the third or the fourth day of the debate, after having enjoyed the privilege of having listened to the speeches of all the supporters of the Bill and after having heard all that could be urged in favour of this Bill. But, as we know, Sir, in this world of ours, man is a mere creature of circumstances. He proposes, God disposes, and so, in spite of me, the speech of the Honourable Member from Midnapore has driven me to my feet. But, before I take up his speech, I, with your permission, Sir, would like to publicly congratulate him on his very admirable maiden performance. (Loud Applause.) His zeal, his earnestness and the manner in which he defended this outrageously indefensible Bill, in spite of the fact that his was a hostile speech, has won our admiration. I hope, Sir, that in the near future he will one day be sitting on the Front Treasury Benches. (Hear, hear),—for I think these are the essential qualifications which are necessary for the officials of the Front Treasury Benches. So far as he is concerned, Sir, I can only say that his zeal, his earnestness, his great powers of expression were worthy of a better cause. (Hear, hear.)

Coming to his speech, Sir, I must say that his was the outlook of an administrator: he looked at the matter solely from the point of view of a magistrate, and it was only natural for him to overlook the point of view of those who have to suffer the rigours of this lawless law. This Bill is a negation of all laws, and, by one stroke of the pen, it deprives us of even the elementary rights of a man. Sir, I have been a journalist for the last 25 years and more. A magistrate does not and cannot know what we have to suffer from. He cannot even imagine all that. It is only we, poor editors, who know where the shoe pinches, how and where it hurts and how it draws the blood from our bare bodies. I wish I had the ease and the advocacy of the Honourable the Leader of the Opposition. I wish I had the debating skill, the power of repartee and the fluency of my Honourable friend, Mr. Satyamurti. I wish that, for pleading this cause of mine, I had the analytical power of the Leader of my Party, the Honourable Mr. Aney, and I wish I had the choice of language and diction of my Honourable friend, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai. Sir, I know, I can demolish every argument that has been advanced by the supporters of the Bill. Truth is on my side, justice is on my side, and mine is the cause of righteousness, the defence of the God-given gift of freedom of expression. This tongue would be a useless thing if it did not exert itself in defence of its own birth right. I do not, Sir, remember exactly the name of the person who said it, but it has been said by a great thinker that all the evils of this world would have disappeared had not the man gagged the babbling child from saying his innermost thoughts. This was said in by-gone ages. In our own day, Sir, a great writer, a great thinker, has said that :

"The man whose tongue is constricted by laws or taboos against free speech, whose pen is constricted by the censorship, whose loves are constricted by an ethic which considers jealousy a better thing than affection, whose childhood has been imprisoned in a code of manners and whose youth has been drilled in a cruel orthodoxy, will feel against the world that hampers him the same rage that is felt by the infant whose arms and legs are held motionless."

The author of these lines is no less than Bertrand Russell, an illustrious countryman of the Honourable the Home Member. I leave this point here. I will not argue it. It can take care of itself.

Sir, the House had had a glimpse into the life of an administrator through the eyes of the Honourable Member from Midnapore. I beg you, Sir, just to have a glimpse into the life of a poor editor who has to look after the management of the press, the editing of the paper, and also to beg, borrow or steal and find money for the press to make both ends meet. The Honourable Member from Midnapore narrated his own experiences, and I will, with your permission, Sir, narrate mine. My troubles began soon after the Press Act was passed in 1910. Fortunately or unfortunately, I claim a smattering knowledge of international politics and affairs. About the year 1912-13, I began a series of articles in my paper Abhyudaya, the title of which was Sansar-Sankat or the "World Crisis". In this series I forecasted a world war in the near future. I said, Sir, that England and Germany would fight, that England was itching for a war to annihilate Germany and that Germany was dying to strangle the throat of England. I do not exactly remember at this late date what exactly I had written. But whatever I wrote was the precursor of troubles. I began to be sent for by the magistrates of my town and received warnings and advices. When the war began, I perhaps wrote that if only Sir Edward Grey, may his soul rest in peace, had spoken out his mind and had told Germany that he would make a drastic jump in, there would have been no war and no bloodshed. This was more than the little Mughal could bear, and I was again sent for to be reprimanded, advised and cajoled. The greatest trouble began, Sir, when I advocated the in India. I stopped the paper, because I regarded the demand of security as an insult and as an attack upon my personality. A great hue and cry was raised in the country, and, as my good fortune would have it, Lord Hardinge, the good, was then ruling as the Viceroy. He intervened, and I think, for the first and the last time in the history of the Press Act, an order for the deposit of security was withdrawn. In my life, Sir, I have been twice hauled up in the name of sedition, under section 124-A, the prince of repressive laws. Once, while I was in jail and undergoing a sentence of nine months on account of the Civil Disobedience Movement, sometime back a poem had appeared in my paper. Generally I write the editorials and do not see what else is being published in the paper. A poem, a very old one, which was culled out by some one in the office from a book which was selling in the market, appeared in my paper. The trying magistrate gave me another nine months, but he was good enough to write in his judgment that the creed of the paper was non-violence, that in that very issue there was enough evidence to show that non-violence was urged and preached, or some such thing. I was in jail and cannot be sure, but when the matter reached the High Court, a Lordship there came to the conclusion that violence was preached. The trying magistrate was an Indian; he is a good poet himself. He knew the language and arrived at his conclusions by reading the paper himself. But this mighty Judge of the High Court, who was innocent of my language, opined that violence was preached and thus I had to suffer for his ignorance of my language. Once, while I was in jail, Sir, the police pounced upon my press and searched it. The suspicion was that the leaflet which was thrown in this Assembly together with the bomb Member is not aware of the fact that in every press there are some police informers and spies. One of the compositors, who was a spy and had been in my press for only a few months, gave the information that he had composed the matter himself. Fortunately for us, the authorities in Allahabad know us well. They know full well that we are as far removed from violence and things of this sort as the Home Member himself. They made inquiries and were convinced that the alleged types in which the leaflet was said to have been printed were received by us only a few months before from the Bombay Gujrati Type Foundry, that Bhagat Singh's (may his soul rest in peace!) leaflet was thrown in the Assembly years before, and so nothing was heard of the affair. A security was demanded at this time or a little before it, and it was only due to the goodness of a few friends of mine that the paper could deposit the security. I had no money and would not have been able to deposit the security.

[Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya.]

The Honourable Member thinks that the deposit of security is an easy matter. He does not know our condition. He talks glibly, only because he does not know. May I tell him, Sir, that we are always running into debts? That we can hardly manage to make both ends meet? Speaking for myself, I resent such treatment at the hands of the executive. I know I am an honest man. I will never injure a fly, I will not lie and I will not prevaricate. I will not compromise with truth. I will never disgrace the editorial chair by writing something which I know to be untrue, but Government now compel us to fight shy of naked truths and have recourse to half truths and all that. I feel, Sir, that that editor is not worth his salt who, for the favours of Government or for his own selfish ends or for saving his skin, writes matter which he knows to be untrue or says things which he knows ought not to be said in the best interests of the country. The editor, according to me, Sir, is the preceptor, the guru, he is for the time being above Kings and should only sit on the chair if he is confident that he will be impartial, will say nothing which is untrue or which is not in the best interests of mankind. The Press Act wants us to be dishonest, it wants us to stifle truth, to curb our own thoughts and to be more careful, lest, by blurring out the naked truth, we might become His Majesty's permanent guests. I have at times differed from Mahatmaji. I have differed, at times, from my own uncle, I have differed from the Congress, I have always differed from the Government. But when I differ from my own people, these rulers of ours are happy, but when I criticise them, they think I am committing a crime. I tell you, Sir, that the Press Act has made it impossible for any man to be an honest journalist. To secure safety, one must pass over so many things that happen every day. I will give you an instance. As soon as some security from a paper was demanded in the name of Quetta, I wrote in my paper that the name of Quetta need no more be mentioned in my paper. I also requested my other brother journalists to forget for the time being that there is any such place in this country which is known by the name of Quetta. During the periods of the Civil Disobedience Campaign, I have a standing rule not to publish any editorials, "we" disappears for the time being, only news are published. We would be hauled up every minute, if we were to write what we feel or what we see or know. I ask my Honourable friends here whether they have read in any papers that are being published in this country anything written about Chittagong, about Midnapore, about Dacca and all that has been going on there. This is how things are being suppressed. I will not take up this question; I leave it to my Bengal friends to tell you, Sir, what Black and Tan methods have been tried in those parts of our country. I want to know, why cannot the members of the executive regard us as honest men? Why cannot they trust us? Have we no love for our country? Are we not patriots? Are we not competent enough to be good judges of what is best for our country? Do they think that we will mislead our own youths? What for and why? Are they not our own children? Are they not of the same blood? Have we no feelings for them? Do not we want to better their lot? The Britishers are entitled and justified in taking away their youths from their own universities to fight an unrighteous war in the name of Belgium, but we are not entitled to ask our youths to join us in a non-violent civil fight with these Masters of ours for just securing to us our human rights. One thing in this connection is noteworthy. We who preach these things do not take cover behind the lines; we who preach these things are always in the front.

The Honourable Member from Midnapore said that it was the bounden duty of Government to protect the youths of this country from falling into the hands of terrorists. But he forgets that the duty of Government neither begins nor ends there. May I know, if it is or it is not the duty of the Government to see that these youths have enough to maintain their bodies and souls together? Is it or is it not the duty of this Government to see that these youths are employed? Has it made any arrangement to see that these youths should have sufficient clothing and food and a roof to give them shelter? He talks as if he cares more for the good of these young men than we. He tries to befool us by posing as their benefactor and tries to lead us to believe that he is more anxious for the well-being of our youths. We have a proverb which says, Sir, that a woman who says that she loves a child more than its mother is not a woman but a she-demon. I wish to draw the attention of the Honourable Member to what is being done in other countries by their Governments to fight unemployment. What about the doles in England? What about the schemes that are every day being thought of in America? Will the Honourable Member from Midnapore or the Honourable the Home Member tell us, Sir, what their Government have done or are doing to help these educated unemployment young men except driving them to despair, suicides and terrorism? He has talked of terrorists and the Honourable the Home Member has dilated upon three menaces. May I tell him that they are not three menaces, they are only the triplets born of foreign domination? They are the products of their own creation: by their repressive policy and for their own ends they have given birth to them. They are driving our young men to despair, so much so that they take their lives in their own hands and prefer death to this life. Do the Government realize, Sir, that the repression has reached to such heights that it has goaded even our young sisters and daughters to bid goodbye to their ordained lives and join the fray, the end of which cannot but be death and the gallows? Have they ever considered that these terrorists will disappear if the repression was not there? If they had employment to keep them busy and engaged, if they could act up to their ideals and realise their ambitions in life here, these terrorists will become the most responsible members of our society. If we had our own Government, every one of these youths would have risen high both in the civil and military service of our motherland. Those who were in Chittagong, those misguided youths of our country, if they only had been in the army and responsible members of society could have very well led an army and fought on any battle-field with honour and success. You deny them opportunities, you want them to remain hewers of wood and drawers of water in their own land; you do nothing to provide them with a living wage; you do not trust them; you would not make them captains and generals in the Army and the Navy for which they are most fitted; you will take thousands of years to Indianise our Army and, in the meantime, the flowers of our race, our hopes of the future, are withering and dying an unnatural death.

[Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya.]

Let those who have eyes to see note that terrorism, communalism and Communism are all fruits of the economic situation—and some of them have been directly fostered by our Masters. Do we not know how communalism is spread, how it has been planted in our own land? Do we not know the history of separate electorates? Do we not know the history of the Communal Award? Does it lie in their mouth, Sir, to talk of communalism?

We are being warned further and a bogey is being set up before us of Communism. May I know if there are not Communists in England? May I know what the British Government is going to do with them or has so far done to them? May I know if the British Government has passed laws like the one which this Government is going to pass in this country? My friend here reminds me, that England has now entered into a treaty with Russia. Why and wherefore then this talk of Communism? But assuming for argument's sake that Communism is a bad thing, I hold no brief for it, may I know whether democracy has succeeded or whether democracy has failed in Europe? Will any Honourable Member kindly point out to me whether there is democracy in France, whether there is democracy in Italy, whether there is democracy in Germany, whether there is democracy in Turkey, whether there is democracy in any part of Europe to-day? May I tell you, Sir, that in England, Parliament no doubt rules, but these Parliaments are ruled by unaudited Party Funds? Do our Honourable Members want us to have a Fascist regime here? Do they want us to have National Socialism here? Then, why this bogey of Communism? We know our men: we can sit down, talk and discuss things with them: they are our own kith and kin; we will settle our differences or even fight amongst ourselves; but what we are interested in, in the beginning, is to get rid of this foreign domination; and replace it by a responsible Government, in which they also can have a share, if they want to settle here as fellow citizens, when we have got rid of a third party which magnifies our differences and makes capital out of it, then, Sir, there will be time enough to settle our own domestic quarrels and differences!

While we are talking of terrorism, I am reminded of agents provocateurs. You must have read, Sir, about them, how they induce the youth, egg them on and then give information to their masters. There are cases on record of informers planting bombs in the houses of innocent people and implicating them. I will tell you of cases of which I have personal knowledge or just as good as personal knowledge. One agent provocateur seduced a young boy, and, after some time, gave him a revolver and taught him how to use it. The boy began to move about with the revolver in his pocket and a few days after he began to be shadowed by the police. After all, he was young; he got terrified and ran to a brother journalist friend of mine and told him his trouble. My friend reprimanded him and asked him to go and deliver the revolver back to the man who gave it to him, and, after he had done that, he took him in his care and saved him from future gallows. I want to inform the Honourable the Home Member that this very same revolver was found in the Lahore Conspiracy case. The Honourable Member should also know that this very journalist friend of mine, a most selfless worker, the honour and pride of our profession, who is unfortunately no more, was no other than Ganesh Shankar Vidyarthi, the man who worked hard in hot haste that the attempt on Lord Irwin should be foiled. As soon as he somehow got the information he used his personal influence to see that the attempt should not be made. The Honourable Member from Midnapore has nothing but curses for us journalists. I want to tell him that but for us journalists I do not know where this ruthless exploitation of our country and these repressive laws will drive our young men and what will happen in this country.

I will tell you another story. A young man came to me not long ago at dead of night and told me that he was in trouble and wanted my help and advice: he told me that he was a revolutionary that he was being hunted down by the police, that he hid himself in the day and moved about by night, was constantly moving to avoid arrest and never lived in a place for more than a few hours, that he had been asked to attempt the life of so and so on such and such a date, but that he was nervous: he had spent all the money he had in moving about and hiding himself, that he was hungry and badly in need of money. I saw his weapons with my own eyes: he had two of them. I gave him food, gave him money after I had extracted a solemn promise from him that he would desist from the path, and instead of proceeding to the appointed place he will go back to his mother and leave his friends who were training him in these ways and leading him astray. He promised with tears in his eyes and went away. If he was a police spy and had been sent to find out my views, the Honourable the Home Member must be aware of this by now, but if he was a genuine misguided revolutionary, I know that he acted up to the promise he gave me as a gentleman. I might, here, as well, refer to the much-maligned admiration of terrorists. I myself plead guilty to the charge; and say, Sir, that one would be less or more than human who would not at times be led away to admire uncommon deeds of self-sacrifice and valour although one may be religiously observing non-violence as a creed, as a supreme faith of life and although temperamentally one may even shudder at the thought of murder or violence. Does the Honourable Member from Midnapore or the Honourable the Home Member know who paid the highest tribute to Kanai Lal Dutt, the man who shot the informer Gossain in the Alipore Jail? May I tell you, Sir, that the man who could not resist admiring was a perfectly honest and most trusted pucca Englishman, a cent. per cent. Britisher, I mean the editor of the Pioneer. Our difficulty is this....

[Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya.]

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The editor of the Pioneer? Was it Mr. Wilson? What was his name?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I don't remember his name, it is an old story of the year 1908 or thereabout. I think it was Mr. Chesney. I am not speaking of the Pioneer of today. I am speaking of the Pioneer as it was conducted some years ago, when every single editorial was written by the best I. C. S. people in the land. I am talking of the Pioneer when it was at the top of its glory, when it was regarded as the best paper in India. This honest English gentleman, I mean the editor of the Pioneer, could not be suspected, he was above suspicion and nobody could dare misunderstand or put a different meaning on his writings but we are suspects, and whatever we may do or say, we will remain suspects, and our ordinary writings will be made to bear meanings which they should not. I will only narrate one case more, that of poor Azad. He is no more. May his soul rest in peace. But may I say, Sir.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Is he another murderer too?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : You may call him a murderer, if you so choose. I am only pleading for those who are not here to defend themselves, but please first hear what I have got to say.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Is he also another murderer?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : I am speaking of Azad.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Also another murderer?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : If you are so anxious and curious to know about him, I shall tell you presently what I have heard about him. I say, Sir, that we Indians could have slept soundly, without caring for the defences of our country, by making him our Commander-in-Chief. A man of valour, a great organizer, a gentleman to the core of his bones, from all that I have heard of him, and one of the best shots that was ever born on this earth. I am sorry I never met him in life, but I want to tell you, Sir, that this Azad was persuaded by some people to give up terrorism.

He had agreed to do so, but the difficulty was that the police was hunting him down; he would have been arrested, even if he had given up his way of life, and had honestly decided to live like us. If he had been caught, he would have been either transported or hanged. If we were trusted by the Government, if we were in their confidence, I could have gone to the Honourable the Home Member and told him that henceforth this youngman is in my charge, I am responsible for him; he has given up the life of terrorism, so do not molest him any more, if you find him deviating from the right path, just drop a hint to me, do not harass him, let him settle down in life. This is what I would have told the Home Member. The life of this young man would have been saved, he would have lived a useful life and adorned any place, wherever he may have been, but this is not possible. We ourselves are suspects, what then about those who are recommended by us? Well, Sir, I heard that Azad had agreed to change his mode of life, and because it was not possible for him to live in safety in this country, some friends decided that he should leave the country and go and settle down somewhere else in a distant place like Japan or America or anywhere else. Where was the money to come from? Some friends agreed to raise the money, and they raised about Rs. 1,500 or Rs. 1,600 for him. He was paid about Rs. 1,300, and only about Rs. 300 was wanting, and he was sitting in the Alfred Park in Allahabad, because someone had promised him that somebody would give him the balance there. He was sitting there to receive the money. He would have got it within 15 or 20 minutes, and he would have left Allahabad and bid India also good-bye for ever, but some one informed the police, and he was all of a sudden surrounded on all sides unawares. He had no knowledge and he was shot at and maimed, because the police knew him to be the best shot, and no one would approach him even from a distance of say 100 yards. He was shot while he was sitting under a tree talking to some friend, perhaps bidding good-bye to him for ever. He was maimed and lamed before he had any knowledge of the danger. What happened afterwards? Would you care to know, Sir, he was being shot at from all sides, and he was defending himself all alone; he could not rise, he could not run, he could not even get up. He was under a tree, in the open, and the defenders of law and order and justice were shooting at him from all sides from behind the trunks of the trees. You will be surprised to learn, Sir, that not one shot of Azad missed the mark. The marks left by the bullets on the trunks of the trees showed that every shot was correct to the point of an inch, was pointed at the heads of the shooters. Whichever side he shot, the marksmanship was perfect. Who can help pitying and admiring this misguided unfortunate youngman, a picture of physical health, in the prime of his life, if you see his photograph, but it is not the admiration.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I can't admire him.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Will you please bear with me for a little while?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : It is very difficult to be patient.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : But, Sir, it is not admiration. We weep and shed tears for the loss of young lives of great promise. I was in jail then. What could I have done even if I had been outside? But I want to impress upon you, Sir, that the life of this youngman could have been saved if we knew that we enjoyed the confidence of the powers that be, if we could only depend upon them and approach them to get pardon for the young man when he was changing his way of life.....

[Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya.]

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Pardon for a murderer ?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : We could have placed him in charge of an Army.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : The Army does not take murderers.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : The Honourable the Home Member is getting very excited, I beg him not to bring heat in the discussion. I have to plead for those who are not here to plead for themselves, he refuses to see the tragedy of our lives, and I would, therefore, like to talk to him about another Home Member who was adorning the Front Benches in this very House. I tell him there was one Home Member,—may his soul rest in peace. (Interruption by the Honourable the Home Member.) I am sure, my friend, the Home Member, will not be proud of the expression he had used when I tell him that I am referring to no less a person than the late Sir Alexander Muddiman. I am sorry, Sir, he said something about his predecessor which he should never have said.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I said nothing at all about him.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : Well, Sir, Sir Alexander Muddiman died an untimely death, his death is mourned by everybody who knew him. Sir, I was a Member of this House, I was a non-co-operator, and I never mixed with any officials, in fact I remained in this House for a pretty long time without talking to many officials. But, one day, I approached the late Sir Alexander Muddiman, with diffidence. I told him that I was interested in a bomb case prisoner who was under a sentence of transportation for life, that I had never met the man in my life, that I knew nothing about his antecedents, that I by chance happened to meet him while I was in jail, and that he might give him a chance to start his life again. May I tell you, Sir, the reply that I got from him ? He said that he hated keeping these young men in jail. He asked me whether I would be responsible for him, and on my saying yes, he said, your man will be released. He further asked me whether he should write to the Deputy Commissioner of the district to keep an eye upon him and give him a post, and on my saying that I would find him a place somewhere, orders were issued, the man was released, and this Siddique Ahmed, a God-fearing man, is in service now and is enjoying married life in peace and contentment. Government has not lost anything by this act of grace and mercy. The Honourable the Home Member and the Honourable Member from Midnapore know not our difficulties. I must have become a most dangerous suspect even now in the eyes of the Honourable the Home Member. He won't trust us. Let him trust us, let us co-operate with perfect good will and trust and every young man will give up this path of terrorism.

Mr. F. E. James (Madras : European) : May I remind my Honourable friend that the three immediate predecessors of the Member from Midnapore, most beloved of Englishmen, who were popular with the people, have been murdered by these men ?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : My Honourable friend ought to know that I am not defending murders, I am a Brahmin, they are revolting to me, but I will give an answer to that later. Trust begets trust and I will reply to what you have said later, when I have a talk with you outside this House. As I was saying, Sir, I must have become a most dangerous suspect in the eyes of the Honourable the Home Member even now. I may be charged with association with terrorists. I may be charged with hiding and helping suspects having sympathy for them and one thousand and one other things. But very few people realise that these misguided youths are our own kith and kin, of our own blood, and our own countrymen and as you know, Sir, sons may be truants, they may be wayward children, they may be even bad, but a mother is a mother and she loves even her worst son. Who can be more interested in their welfare than ourselves ? We want them to change, but they look to us and are not fed. When they drift we have no knowledge of them, when we know them we cannot help them. Even talking to them is beset with danger. You know not where they are and they will not come to you, even if they do, you know not their inner thoughts. May I tell the Home Member, Sir, that I met a famous revolutionary in a town where I had gone to address a meeting, he was introduced to me under a false name and it is only now, after three or four years that I have come to know who he was ?

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta).]

Does the Honourable the Home Member know that there is one sitting in this House on my side for whose arrest, alive or dead, this Government of his had announced a prize of Rs. 25,000 ? Does the Honourable the Home Member realise now how good and tame these terrorists are ? Will they even now repent for their mistakes ? Will they change their methods ? Every one of these terrorists would be an M. L. A. and sit with us here and be a most responsible member of our society, only if the police will not hunt them down, will not thirst for their blood but allow them to live in peace the moment they come back to us and solemnly give us a promise that henceforth they will be like us and will have nothing to do with terrorism. After all the terrorists also must have been fed up with the life of hide and seek and constant dangers which at the best cannot bring about much.

While talking about terrorists, I think it would not be amiss if I refer, Sir, to one more matter in this connection. The one great complaint of the Honourable the Home Member and the Member from Midnapore is that why are these terrorists painted and admired as martyrs ? They want to know why these are not condemned as mere simple murderers. My reply to this is, Sir, that they are the loyal subjects of the Crown and imitate their Masters. I am afraid I will have to explain it. I will not say much. I will refer to only one unfortunate incident, and I hope the House and my Mussalman friends especially will pardon me for this reference. I am only referring to it as a reply to the Honourable the Home Member. I believe in "Reville not the dead" and I have nothing to say against the departed soul. Does the Honourable the Home Member remember the genesis of the Karachi firing? Was the Government very anxious not to hurt the susceptibilities of my Mussalman friends?

[Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya.]

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : But you did not support us,—your Party.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : You know not what you talk. You have not heard what I have said. Were the Government anxious not to hurt the susceptibilities of my Mussalman friends? Were the Government very keen to see that the last honours were duly paid to the departed soul? Am I to understand that the Government regarded the soul departed as a martyr? What Government do in the name of placating the Mussalman friends, we do in the name of humanity, for every controversy ceases with death. I think this answer will satisfy the Honourable the Home Member.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : On point of order, Sir. Has this anything on earth to do with the Bill under discussion?

Mr. Deputy President (Mr. Akhil Chandra Datta) : The Honourable Member appears to be in order, because he is giving some of his grounds for opposing the Bill.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : The Honourable the Member from Midnapore knows not, he professes his love for the youths of this country, he knows not what we, poor and powerless as we are, do. We have no power in our own land, we are not trusted by the Government. If we had the power, if we could only throw open opportunities in life, we would have every young man employed and engaged. The Honourable the Home Member is moving in a vicious circle. He wants to have mango fruits by planting "Babul". He forgets that as you sow, so you reap. He wants to kill and extirpate terrorism which is a by-product of his own terrorism, by repression and more and more repression. He knows that his Government has not succeeded so far. He had had these laws for years, but they have not proved effective. He knows all this, but still he is for repression more and more. He will not learn that terrorism begets terrorism. His thirst for repression like that of wine leads him to cry for more and more. He will not change his methods, he will not learn, he will not take us into his confidence, he will not trust us. He will not believe us when we tell him that we are as anxious to extirpate terrorism as he, perhaps more because we want to save the lives of our youths. He will not give us power and say, manage your youths and make them responsible citizens. He will not give us a chance even. I want to tell him, Sir, "Trust us, have faith in us, give us power to remove poverty and unemployment. Open out fresh fields and pastures new for our young men" and then this phase of terrorism will fade away like a bad dream. Will he listen to us? Will he be good enough to follow this advice for even a few months?

My friend has talked of picketing. He says it is not peaceful and it cannot remain peaceful. I may or may not agree with the first part but with the latter part I do agree, and why? During the last Civil Disobedience Campaign picketing was going on in the market of Allahabad. Ladies of the most respectable families in Allahabad were picketing a foreign cloth shop. I was sitting at a distance. Some senior man had to remain in the market so long as these sisters and daughters of ours were there. At about noon, one man came and told me that two riff-rafs of the town had been given drinks and had been persuaded to come to the shop for purchases, create trouble and insult the ladies. I at once left my place and went and sat in a neighbouring shop. Within five or ten minutes the drunken riff-rafs arrived and can you imagine, Sir, what they did? Their first act was to rush through the chain of the pickets, abusing them and trying to molest them. I had informed the ladies. They were careful and nothing untoward could happen and the situation was saved. By this time some people assembled. Those who knew the riff-rafs, reprimanded them and they were persuaded to go back. I do not insinuate anything. I blame nobody. I can say for the authorities in Allahabad that they are very civil to us. They have never failed in showing me every courtesy. They have to carry out orders and they carry them out honestly without at the same time bidding good-bye to their good manners and civility. But I ask the Member from Midnapore and the Home Member how can we encourage the use of Swadeshi, how can we carry on a campaign of "Buy Indian goods", how can we protect our key industries? We have not the power to pass a law and protect them. We have not the power to erect high tariff walls around us or ban the imports of foreign goods. We have not these powers and the Government will not pass such laws to help us. What is left to us, then, but picketing, entreating and begging our people not to buy foreign goods or not to go in for liquorshops. If we had the power we could achieve all this by one stroke of the pen. But does the Honourable Member know how his people in England behaved when Indian fabrics were exported in large quantities to England? Those who wore them could be fined, if I mistake not, £75 and the Honourable the Home Member will, I hope, not be surprised if I tell him that ladies wearing Indian fabrics were molested and their clothes torn off in public streets.

Sir Abdul Halim Ghuznavi (Dacca cum Mymensingh : Muhamadan Rural) : When and where?

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : In London, during the times the East India Company was here. It is very good to sermonise and preach where your interests are not at stake, where you do not suffer and where you have to gain all and lose nothing. The truth of the matter in the words of a poet is :

"Ham ah bhi karte hain to hojate hain badnam"

"Voh Kati bhi karte hain to charcha nahin hota."

Even if we sigh, complain or criticise and say that we are suffering, we are given bad names, while when they commit murders, the news of those murders are not even allowed to be published and they are not known. I would not, Sir, pursue this line of argument any further. I would only draw your attention to what the Honourable the President said in this Assembly in 1932 when the Press Law was being passed. The Honourable the President, an Honourable Member as he then was, called it, Sir, a double-faced and deceptive measure, professing to control violent writings but really aimed at taking control of the entire Press. We know, Sir, that we are powerless, the executive is bent upon passing this Bill into a law. We can only say, let them have it, if they so choose, in spite of us. We will not share the responsibility of disfiguring the Statute-book. His Excellency the Viceroy has powers of veto, he has the powers of certification, let His Excellency certify this Bill also and bear the responsibility but, at the same time, Sir, I want to draw the attention of the Honourable the Home Member to a very wholesome principle laid down by his own colleagues in the Repressive Laws Committee Report. They said, Sir, in their report that it is undesirable that any Statutes should remain in force which are regarded with deep and genuine disapproval by a majority of the Members of the Legislatures. The Report of the Press Laws Committee is also before us. The whole question was judged by three tests (1) has it been effective (2) whether an Act like this is necessary for the maintenance of law and order (3) whether on a comparison of the advantages and disadvantages which the retention of this Act will involve, its continuance is desirable and the conclusion at which they arrived at after mature consideration was that the law should be repealed. As the Honourable the Home Member must be aware, these committees were presided over by the Right Honourable Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and Sir William Vincent was a prominent member of these committees. I have nothing more to say. The Home Member, Sir, has not proved his case. He began as if he was going to convince us why the measure was necessary and why the ordinary law of the land was found to be insufficient. I am sorry that he began by assertions, went on with assertions and ended with assertions without proving anything or convincing us. To give this Bill the name of 'law' will be insulting and degrading the word 'law' itself. To me it seems that the best name that we can give to this gravest encroachment that any Government has ever made on the liberty of the Press and the public in times of peace should be "Sir Henry Craik's Boa Constrictor". I want the Honourable the Home Member to tell you, Sir, why this indecent haste, why this hurry to place this enactment on the Statute-book. Will Heavens fall down if the measure does not become law by December, 1935, or 1936? Will the British domination disappear if he does not arm himself with this poisonous gas, the use of which should be tabooed by all civilized Governments. I know, Sir, that constitutional reforms have always been preceded by such Press Acts. We had the Press Act in 1910 when the Montagu-Chelmsford Reforms were coming. The new Constitution has been passed into law. The executive knows that it has to be thrust upon our heads in spite of us. It knows that the new Constitution has been condemned by every shade of public opinion in this country, that there are people here who are pledged to destroy it, mend it or end it: The bureaucracy is anxious to see, Sir, that it is worked, and they want to have the points of their bayonets raised at us every minute of our lives and to be ready for all emergencies. Their Damocles' sword of this Bill will be dangling at our heads, so that if we raise our heads even by an inch, if we want to carry on agitation for the rejection of the new Constitution they will be able to draw out blood. I, therefore, say Sir, that this Bill is unfair, unjust and has no moral sanction behind it, and I only end by saying in the words of an Urdu poet :

[Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya.]

"Ham ne dekhi thi ada kal tere diwano ki
Dhajjiyan kuch liye baithe the garibano ki
Aj darband kiye jate hain zindano ke
Aur bigadenge misaj ap ke diwano ke."

(Loud Applause.)

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : Go on cheering. He has praised murderers !

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh (Bombay City : Non-Muhammadan Urban) : Mr. President, I must say that I like the Honourable the Home Member's speech better than many of the speeches that I have heard from the other side. Well, Sir, although the Home Member has left the Hall and although he has not himself observed, what he has so very much preached to this side of the House, that is, to keep dispassionate and cool, in spite of all that, I will say that I stick to what I said originally, namely, that I like his speech better than the other speeches I have heard from over there, and I will tell you why. It is for this reason that it has seemed to me to be a little less panicky, and there seemed to be a little more analysis in his speech than in the speeches I have so far heard on the other side. What did we find in Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah? Sir, he allowed himself to be panicky and nervous and heated, and he was talking about terrorism, Communism and communalism without giving any thought to the subject.

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : I have given the matter better thought than you.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : Sir, I do feel that when the Home Member comes forward before this House in connection with a measure that was passed simply because it was a temporary measure at the time of an emergency, I do think that when it is sought to be put permanently on the Statute-book, there should be something more than the mere desire of their having more and more authority in the hands of the executive. Sir, as is well-known, the appetite grows by eating. You very well know, Sir, and those who have been old Members of the Assembly know, that when this measure first came up before this House, it was considered in its legal aspects, and when it was considered in its legal aspects, it was absolutely demonstrated that this measure violated every principle of law, that it was indeed a misnomer to call it a law, that it must be called a lawless law, that it violated the first principles of jurisprudence, that it adjudged a man guilty when by all the codes of jurisprudence a man ought to be considered innocent till he is proved to be guilty. It took away the right of appeal. It subordinated the powers of the Legislature and of the judiciary to those of the executive, and what is more, it handed over powers to the magistracy which are not given even in ordinary cases. I do not want to deal with this subject from the legal aspect. Sir, the Home Member very adroitly has avoided this aspect in introducing this Bill even though he has suggested that this temporary measure should be permanent. I have a shrewd guess as to why he did it. I believe he still finds that there still is that small band of fighters who fought this Bill to the last, especially the Press Emergency Bill when it was managed to be brought up at the fag end of the Session : and perhaps it may be that the Honourable the Home Member might have been frightened and dared not deal with the Bill in its legal aspects in view of the fact that the Honourable gentleman who adorns the Chair today is the Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim of that band of fighters. The Home Member has come up for the sanction of this House to the passage of this Bill on four grounds and they are these. The first ground is the Civil Disobedience Movement—and I will say it to his credit that whereas other speakers merely got panicky over Civil Disobedience, the Home Member qualified his remarks by saying that the Civil Disobedience Movement has nearly disappeared, so that it was a disappearing Civil Disobedience.

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

As to the second alleged ground, terrorism, the Home Member was good enough to say “reviving terrorism” ; he did not say it in the same way as other speakers have done, and he also admitted that there are some signs of “reviving terrorism” only in Northern India—I think I am rightly quoting the Home Member. Then with regard to advancing communalism—the third of the alleged grounds for this measure—we should like to know whether there are any valid grounds at all for this panicky state of things and committing us to putting a piece of legislation on the Statute-book of this country and disgracing it in this fashion. Sir, let me take Civil Disobedience first. The Honourable Member who spoke yesterday afternoon was very pleased when my colleague, Mr. Satyamurti, admitted and admitted frankly and honestly that Civil Disobedience will never be given up.

Mr. P. J. Griffiths (Bengal : Nominated Official) : I was sorry.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : After all, what is Civil Disobedience? Civil Disobedience is an idea, and I may assure the Honourable Member who made his speech yesterday that, whether you like it or not, Civil Disobedience has come to stay not only in India but all the world over because once an idea comes into this world, the idea is immortal. And what is Civil Disobedience? The principle of Civil Disobedience is this that when a helpless people has to deal with an oppressive and unjust Government, then with which you can fight any unjust and oppressive Government, then if my Honourable friend is not pleased with this, under the circumstances, what is wrong with the answer that Civil Disobedience can only be suspended and cannot be stopped? I say it can only be suspended and cannot be stopped. May I tell the Honourable gentleman who spoke so much about What did the waitresses of Regent Street do? England, is not free from it? dience? I suppose you think that is too insignificant an illustration. Then, I will refer him to the farmers of Kent. What did they do? Did they not use Civil Disobedience? If you do not call it Civil Disobedience, then what is it? Therefore, I repeat again that it is absolutely impossible accurate diagnosis of the situation, section 7 seems to have been retained, Disobedience Movement is going to be launched again, then it will be by means of picketing. Now, here, again, my Honourable friend, who spoke yesterday afternoon, said that picketing can never be peaceful. If that is so, then do away with it completely. In that case where is the necessity of the explanation of section 7? You have the section above in which you mention the things which must not be done and then to save your own face, because you are not certain whether picketing really can be considered illegal, to show you are reasonable, you add an explanation saying that for indigenous goods and for temperance purposes it may be used and it will not come under this section. I will refer him again to the history of his own country. Does he mean to tell me that when picketing is done in this fashion in connection with temperance it can ever be peaceful? I will refer him to what happened in England when a certain gentleman came there whose name I forget.

Some Honourable Members : Pussyfoot Johnson.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : Yes, he was the man. I want to ask you whether those movements in the interests of temperance were ever peaceful. I must say to the credit of my medical colleagues and students of all the hospitals that in London they took a leading part in this movement. In spite of all our activities, I did not see any legislation from the Parliament or from the executive authority of England saying that this is a very bad sign and that if this temperament develops it will again be used for other movements and, therefore, it will lead to disorder ; therefore, they must have the concentration of authority into the executive hands. I can understand your attitude if you go the whole hog with it. I can understand you if you say that we will have nothing to do whether picketing is legal or illegal ; we want to abolish it. But what is the meaning of the saving clause in this explanation? That only goes to show that you yourself are not certain about what you are doing and that it is only a pretext to concentrate all the authority in your own hands. We were also told yesterday that so far as liberty in this country is concerned, we are very much better off and we were given instances of Russia and Italy. We were told that we were very much better off and we had no reason to grumble. Now, if you take the case of Russia and Italy, then what are the Governments there? Do they pretend that they are democratic Governments? They say downright they are dictatorial Governments. If you are prepared to do that, I will agree with you. But so long as you do not do that, then I say there is such a thing as noblesse oblige. If you pride yourself on your parliamentary institutions and if you pride yourself that you are going to rule your vast Empire by means of parliamentary institutions, then I say that in your own interests do not give us instances from these dictatorial countries. It will not help you. If, on the other hand, you say that whatever it may be in England, we are not going to rule in India according to the forms of Government in England, there again I agree with you. I will have no complaint against you if you do that openly and frankly. But, then, you should not have these farces of parliamentary government such as, Round Table Conferences, Joint Parliamentary Committee Reports, White Papers and Parliamentary Acts. Wind up all that and say that we want to establish a miniature Mussolini in every district and a hefty Hitler at the centre and we want to rule like a dictatorial and despotic Government. If you do that, I will agree with you. But till such time as you do not do that, then it is either hypocrisy or you want to concentrate all your power into the hands of the executive:

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

Figures and statistics are very good things and I have to deal with them a great deal but they are only valuable if you look at them in a dry way. But where vital values are concerned, I can tell you that statistics do not mean anything. My friend, the Honourable gentleman from Midnapore, spoke yesterday with earnestness and sincerity and I think I was one of those who congratulated him at the end of his speech. Now, what was the point he made? He said why should Indians grumble so much for, after all, these laws, even if they are repressive laws, are not working so harshly and he gave a few statistics. The statistics were that in this country there are 4,000 odd newspapers and there were only 70 or 80 prosecutions and the proportion of prosecutions was something like 1 to 180. Therefore, we have to accept that the laws here are exercised very mildly. He will pardon me if I give him another illustration. Now, the population of this country is 350 millions and I will not make any difference between the Europeans who are in this country and the Indians who are in this country. I should like to treat the whole lot for my purposes as one. Now, how many terrorist outrages have taken place? I take it that there are about 300.

An Honourable Member : Much more.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : I do not mind whatever you say. But what is the proportion that works out? It works out to about one in a million. Does my Honourable friend want me to wait till the proportion comes down to 1 to 180? Does he mean to say that until that time terrorism is exercised very mildly in this country and, therefore, nothing should be done? If that is the kind of argument, I would despise myself as a man. I repeat again that where human values are concerned, it is not the statistics which help us but it is the principle of the thing which is important. I know that Indians, as a class, deplore terrorist crime; they are not fond of terrorist crime. If the principle is bad, then it matters very little to me whether one press has been prosecuted or 100 presses have been prosecuted or whether the proportion comes to 1 in 180 or 1 in 18,000. I am on the question of figures, I might refer to another thing. Now, that told by some other speaker that in spite of these repressive laws, we were printing presses have gone up in this country. The conclusion drawn of the printing presses, then the figure would not have gone up. Now, figures, as I said, are always correct but the interpretations that you can put on them may be different. I do not say that my Honourable friend's interpretation may not be correct, but what I do say is this that there are many other interpretations that can be put. And the interpretation that I am going to put may also be correct and I hope the Honourable Member will do me the justice of saying so. India is a poor country and according to your own estimates there is a large number of educated in their villages and only wanting to follow their religion. I am not talking about the poor millions resting peacefully about them. I am talking about those discontented graduates, educated persons. What are the avenues left for them? Nothing. Therefore, especially in times of world depression when practically every profession was in distress, then these young men took to small and petty up? So, I submit that the number of presses does not mean anything. What I would like to know is this. If printing profession or the press was thriving on account of this law, how many of the big presses were instituted into this country. Until I know that and until I know that the big presses, which were existing in this country before the Press Act, have actually made more profit after that time, I will pay no attention to this figure of 4,000 presses which are existing in this country. Then again about the papers, we were told that there are about 4,000 odd papers. I am taking a little time over this because it does seem to me that an attempt was made to misguide the House by means of statistics and figures. My opinion is that unless you have vital values and human values considered with these figures, these figures do not mean anything. We are told again that there are a large number of papers in this country, as many as 4,000 odd newspapers in this country. What does that mean? That does not mean anything. Does the circulation of all these papers put together come up even to the circulation of a single paper like the Times. I am not referring to the Times of India, I am talking of the London Times. On the one hand you yourself will say, that our masses are very ignorant, that literacy is very poor and, therefore, you must necessarily admit that the circulation of these papers must be very little and that possibly even though a paper might have a circulation of 100, or 200 or even 500 that would be included in your statistics as a newspaper to swell up the number of papers which go on your record. But I say that the circulation of all these papers put together, I doubt very much, whether it will come up to the circulation of one paper like the Times of London or the New York Herald in the West or in Europe. You cannot have it both ways. You cannot have an argument that the masses of this country are ignorant, illiterate, very apathetic and that they do not care what kind of political Government there is, they pay their taxes, and remain quiet; and at the same time say that the presses somehow or other must be choked, must be throttled, because otherwise they diffuse and spread widespread discontent, that they spread inflammatory material to the public and that it will lead to public danger. I say that this is not a fair argument to apply. I think I have pretty nearly disposed of some of the statistical fallacies connected with the speech of my Honourable friend of yesterday afternoon.

Now, so far as Civil Disobedience is concerned, what are you going to do with it? Are you going to stop Civil Disobedience by means of this Act? The object of this Act any one can see, it does not need very much acumen to find out where it is driving at. It is not so much the Civil Disobedience. You are not frightened by these terrorists. You cannot tell that now to the Indian people. I know that the Britisher is a brave person, he has fought Germany, he is constantly fighting wars on the different frontiers of the Empire. It is not that. I tell you what is the whole idea behind this measure. You want to attack the Press; that is the whole objective behind this game (hear, hear). You are not going to tell me that you, who fought perhaps some of the bravest nations on the face of this earth, that you, are frightened by 100 or 200 terrorists and that you cannot take care of them. I will not believe it. I say that in every measure that you propound there is something quite different behind it. We are no more children in this country to take your measures at their face value. The facade is quite different; there is something inside the house which is entirely different. I will now try my best to prove it to you and to the people who are willing to be convinced by reason that this is the whole and main objective behind all this. In the case of the Civil Disobedience Movement, in case it is going to be revived, if you admit that it is a principle which has come to stay, how are your press laws, or how is the Criminal Law Amendment Act going to prevent the Civil Disobedience Movement? Therefore, it cannot be prevented.

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

I will now come down perhaps to the second ground which the Honourable the Home Member has given to the House to authorize him to place this Act on the Statute-book, and that is on account of terrorists. The best thing when one becomes panicky or frightened is to analyse the situation. I believe that that course will not be denied to me by the Opposite Benches. What is terrorism? Is terrorism foreign to our nature, to our culture and to our traditions or is it something that we will take to readily? You have only to look at the traditions and culture of India to realise that terrorism is something that is very foreign to the people of this country. I do not do any injustice by saying this, I do not claim very much more than what has already been granted to the Indian, the mild Hindu if you please. Terrorism is so foreign to his nature that actually it has become a fault of his and the opprobrious name of "mild Hindu" has been applied to him. I am convinced that it will also comfort my Honourable friend, Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah, to know that he is not included under very much of a different category to the mild Hindu. Therefore, terrorism is after all against the tradition of the country. Well, then, I am not talking of reviving terrorism of today or the terrorism that was during this preceding period when it was nearly wiped out. I want to be fair to the opposite of the Ganges, in Southern India and in the Central India, where were the cases of terrorism? There were none. Mind you, Sir, it is a vast tract of country, perhaps five-sixths of India and with all that, in these, it was not that the papers were not being circulated. I will presently try to explain it in a better way. Where was terrorism? Terrorism was localised to two Provinces, that is the Punjab and Bengal or the north of India. It is merely common sense that when a vast country like this is practically free from terrorism and when only in a few provinces it is localised, then what a good physician or a good doctor will do? How will he diagnose? Will he condemn the whole country or will he be right in saying that this is a local disease and, therefore, when a treatment is to be undertaken it is to be entirely local.

The Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar (Leader of the House): Amputate that portion.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh: But you do not amputate the whole body. I am glad that the Honourable Sir Nripendra Sircar has taken the very words out of my mouth. I am coming to the very argument presently. I am glad that the Honourable Member has anticipated me. I say it is a local disease and if there had been any terrorism in any other part of the country I can assure you that the Honourable the Home Member would have informed us of it, but even yesterday in an apologetic way, he said that terrorism seemed to be reviving in Northern India. Well, Sir, if that is so, what I say is this.

Mr. Muhammad Yamin Khan: What about the attack on the Bombay Governor?

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh: You are very good, I was not going to forget it; I was going to mention it. It was not an act of terrorism, if you have read the case. That is why I say you are panicky, and, with the names of terrorism and Civil Disobedience, you seem to lose your brains and get panicky (Laughter), and that is how an attempt is being made to stampede you and people of your type into voting for this measure (Laughter). Now, Sir, I say that if the disease is local you must try to find out local remedies for it. Why is it that terrorism does not exist in the rest of India but seems to exist only in the land of the Jallianwalla Bagh and in the land of detenus where detenus are kept in prison without trial, without giving them a chance to defend themselves and without bringing them to trial?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: Has there been no terrorism in Bombay?

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh: No, Sir.

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: What about the attempt to murder Sir Ernest Hotson?

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh: Would you call that an act of terrorism? What is an act of terrorism? If, without warning in the middle of the night, somebody tries to come and kill you, that may be called an act of terrorism. After all, you yourself have never proved that it was an act of terrorism. It might have been a private grievance; I am not here to defend it. But I do deny that that particular act was an act of terrorism. But even supposing for the sake of argument that there was one attempt which fortunately did not result in any loss of life, in the whole of the 5/6ths of India with a population of about 200 million.....

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik: That is quite inaccurate; there were acts of terrorism in Madras too.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh: I am absolutely in love with your style of making assertions. What I say is that if there was only an attempt in a vast territory containing about more than 200 million population, would you call that terrorism in the country? When it suits you, you say that India is a big country, it is not a country, but it is a continent; it consists of different races and different provinces. But can you show me a single week in which in the continent of Europe there is not one single act of violence? You see terrorism in the civilised parts of Europe such as France, Germany and England and in other parts but you do not on that account have repressive laws and laws concentrating the whole of the power in the executive authority.

Mr. F. E. James: My Honourable friend is probably not aware that, over a greater part of the continent of Europe, there are such repressive laws as my Honourable friend does not dream of.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh: My Honourable friend does not seem to have either heard or understood what I said in the earlier part of my speech. If you have a dictatorial and despotic Government here tomorrow, I am with you; I have no complaint against you. But because you make a pretence of democratic and Parliamentary Government, that is why I am coming forward before you, and I say that if you want to keep your prestige as a Parliamentary nation, you must grant us Parliamentary institutions and you must behave in a democratic fashion. And it is no good your picking up instances from countries which are ruled autocratically and applying those to us and then saying that you are still a Parliamentary nation. That is my complaint ; I hope you are satisfied. (Laughter.)

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

Well, Sir, coming back to this terrorism, will you penalise the whole country by having a general measure like this ? I say that for a local complaint you can certainly by all means have a local remedy. And you cannot deny that you have plenty of weapons in your armoury. And I do not know why so much fuss is being made about the future Constitution and trying to see that the future Ministers may be left in comparative peace. That does not mean much of a compliment to my own compatriots and countrymen because it is an insidious insult if only my countrymen will look at it. The argument is put forward that they want to give to the future Government these Acts so that their administration may be easy. I suppose the Members of this House well know that the future Constitution is supposed to be provincial autonomy and that all the authorities are supposed to be transferred to Indian hands ; and they have no confidence that my own countrymen, the Indian Ministers, will be able to administer properly under criticism unless from now on they make this preparation that there shall be no criticism by the press. Sir, this is an insidious underground insult to my own countrymen and under the garb of saying that they want to leave the future Constitution safe and smooth to work. This is the insult that is being hurled at my own countrymen. In the case, therefore, of this local terrorism I have no complaint if you have local measures. It is not that even in the future Constitution you are not supplied with the proper remedies. Why, you have the discretion of the Governor ; it is not merely the Governor General in Council but you have his independent judgment. He is responsible for the safety, he can have Ordinances and even Ordinance Acts. With all these powers and with provincial autonomy soon to come in, I fail to see the force of the argument that in the interests of the future Constitution that is coming in, let us have an all-India measure so that the future Constitution may be safe to work. I say that there is something behind this and that something, so far as I can guess, is nothing but attack on the press.

Now, Sir, let me come to the third ground on which the Home Member wants the permission of this House for this Statute, and that is Communism. There again I am not very much frightened of Communism. And after all is said and done, in spite of the lurid picture that was drawn before our eyes so that our hair may stand on end that there will be armed revolution and the fabric of the society will be destroyed, I say here again I am not frightened at all. Can you prevent the principles of Communism coming into this country ? You go round the bookshelves and their shelves are full of Russian history and the principles of Communism. They are not written in Russian, if you please, but by your own English authors. And they are not revolutionary authors but men like Bertrand Russell and H. G. Wells and others. You will find libraries full of this Russian literature. Therefore, so far as the principles of Communism are concerned you cannot absolutely prevent them ; you cannot prevent the intercourse of nations in these days much as any tyrant would like to do. It is impossible, the times are not with them.

Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya : And there is the judgment of the Calcutta High Court.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : Yes, I will come to that.

Then, so far as the principles of Communism are concerned, I do not think anybody can prevent them. And what is more, if you object to those principles, how is the progress of humanity to go on ? It is the glory of England and perhaps the one consolation that we have,—it might be a very poor consolation but it is a consolation and a grievance also,—that a nation which stands so much for free thought and has given shelter to so many persecuted Princes and Governments of Europe should by chance govern us but at the same time deny us the same privileges which they accord, not only to their own people, but particularly to those people whom they have nothing to do with. That is our grievance. All these books you cannot prevent. What is going to happen to your judicial Courts ?

[At this stage, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) resumed the Chair.]

What is going to happen after the decision in the Calcutta High Court the other day ? For mere designing or planning you cannot put a man in prison. I suppose there again the Government of India will say " We cannot bring these culprits to book and, therefore, let us have new legislation, which will take away the power of the High Courts and put it in the hands of the District Magistrate as has been done in the case of the press in this very Act ". I take it that that is going to be the next step under this democratic parliamentary Government. What are you going to do by having this Press Act ? By preventing papers saying anything about Communism, you cannot prevent the principles being disseminated amongst the intellectuals or amongst the reading public of this country ; and, therefore, you might as well not make the attempt to muzzle the press. If it comes to action which goes against the law of the land or against society, I take it that the Honourable the Home Member will not sleep as he is doing now : we will certainly expect him to stir and sit up and do something—there is sufficient power in the country to prevent that. But in the hope that some day danger might arise you are not going to fetter the country by all kinds of measures at the present time.

But even here, the analysis of Communism does not stop. I might be permitted and excused if I give some of my personal experiences that I have had with the leaders of this Communism. I think that the first real display of the Communistic spirit, that might be said to have occurred in this country, was in 1928—I think it was in connection with the textile strike that took place in Bombay. My friend, Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah, will bear me out that I took a considerable part, occupying an important position—the chair of honour in that city, that is the President of the Bombay Municipal Corporation which gave two such illustrious Presidents to this Assembly. (A Voice : " You will be the third ".) May be. During that time—this strike went on for nearly ten weeks or three months and it was a regular textile strike : I happened to go amongst the majority of men who were prisoners in the

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

Meerut Conspiracy Case later under the charge of Communism or Bolshevism or something of the sort—I will tell you the genesis of this and that might suggest a remedy to the Government, if they mean to take it up : I say that this Communism in India as everywhere else is nothing but a struggle between the haves and the have-nots : and if the have-nots have not got sufficient to feed themselves and if they are starved and if they have to go and live their lives in misery, then call it Communism or call it Bolshevism or call it capitalism and labour trouble—you are going to have trouble ; and if it has developed further into the so-called Communism I say that the genesis is entirely there, because to my mind when they went on strike it was not so entirely unreasonable : I had conferences with the Millowners' Association—I think my Honourable friend, Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah, was in charge of the department of Government which deals with this and what is more, not only was I of the opinion, but here is one who was also of the same opinion. I ask him whether he can deny it : he cannot ; because he had a conference with them at the Secretariat : if he had thought that they were Communists that they were red-hot Bolsheviks, I take that he would not have conferred with them.....

Sir Ghulam Hussain Hidayatallah : May I rise to a personal explanation and as the Honourable Member has spoken of me ? At that time I was in charge of Labour and I wanted to settle the strike : therefore, I had to call the leaders whether they were Communists or others ; and I succeeded in settling that dispute.

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh : I am very glad that Sir Ghulam Hussain has given his explanation. The dispute was finally settled by Sir Ghulam Hussain on the last day ; but if you ask those gentlemen themselves they will have to admit that practically all the preparation for it was done by the Bombay Municipal Corporation. I do not grudge Sir Ghulam having the credit—let him have it. I do not care even if the present Government of India take the credit. What I stand for is the weal and welfare of my people and it is from that point of view that I am discussing all these things. I say if you want to prevent Communism or Bolshevism coming in, it will not be by throttling the press : it will not be by repressive measures ; but it will be by improving the industries of this country. I see the Finance Minister puffing out his cheeks and smiling. (Laughter.) I am glad he has done that. If he had a chance, I am sure he would have quoted some Professor Pegu or somebody or other—he is fond of quoting books. I will ask him very simple questions which perhaps he has neglected to this day ; but Indians, like Romesh Chunder Dutt and Mahadev Govind Ranade, found out a long time ago, perhaps 50 years ago, before either the Finance Member or I was born. By the statistics and producing power of this country, they proved conclusively that this country has no hope unless it takes to maintain the population in this country. It is all very well for him to maintain the balance of trade by selling the precious metals : I suppose if in England they had a Finance Minister like this who kept up the balance of trade by exporting precious metals he would soon have been exported. (Laughter.) I do not know if that is the cause of his being here. (Renewed Laughter.) Here, with no responsibility, with no power of criticism in the people, he can go about preaching his old ancient ideas which do not suit present conditions of the country, quote professors, bully merchants wherever he goes, talk to them what he likes as he did in Bombay and do generally as he likes with the country. But I do not think he could have done it in his or in any other country. (Interruptions and cries of "Go on.") Therefore, the real remedy against this is the industrial regeneration of the country. What country is there on this earth which will on grounds of economy say—where the Commerce Member will be allowed to continue if he uses the arguments : "We can buy our materials outside at a cheaper rate in the case of vital industries." The labourers of that country, the industrial labourers would not make his life as a Commerce Member worth while even for two days : they will soon see to it that he has to vacate his office. We hear all kinds of arguments here. We hear that because it is cheaper to buy some materials from outside,—I do not want to allude personally to anybody, and I hope that nobody will take my remarks as personal,—it is not from the present Commerce Member alone that we hear it but we also heard it from his predecessors,—we hear that because it is cheaper to buy some material from outside we should buy it in preference to the indigenous material. Sir, whoever has heard in regard to commercial policy that when you start thinking of an industry, the deliberations go on for 13 years, and at the end of 13 years you say that it is not profitable to get the material in this country because according to statistics it is cheaper for you to buy that stuff from outside ! Sir, I say that all vital industries of the country must first be started irrespective of whether they are profitable or not, because, Sir, besides calculating the return in pounds, shilling and pence, it gives employment to labour, it improves the status, the manhood of the nation, it improves the level of life. It has so many indirect advantages which cannot be calculated in rupees, annas and pies. Therefore, I say that so long as the policy of this country continues to be what it is at present, if vital industries are ignored or neglected, if industries are not started, fostered and developed in this country, what is the industrial labour to do ? Your law and order may be all right, peace and tranquillity may be all right, but they are only means to an end. Where the Honourable Member who spoke yesterday and we on this side differ is in this. He wants peace and tranquillity as an end in itself ; we want peace and tranquillity as a means to an end. You will have peace and tranquillity when you have the tranquillity of death ; we also want the repose, but we want the repose of life. That is the difference between your way of looking at things and our way of looking at things, hence arises all this difference between you and us and the difference in point of view between you and us. That is the vital difference, and, therefore, whatever you may say cannot appeal to us, and I daresay whatever we say cannot and will not appeal to you, because our way of looking at things is quite different from yours. Sir, I think it is Balzac who mentions in one of his novels about somebody's wife crying. He was one of those ultra scientists very fond of facts and figures. His wife happened to be crying, and he tells her, "Why are you crying? Do you know what your tears mean? They mean 99.94 per cent. of water and perhaps .06 per cent. of sodium chloride". (Laughter.) Whenever our own wife and child cry we realise the pain and feeling, but that realisation cannot be the same when we see the wife and child of somebody else crying. Logic and life cannot go together. You are talking merely of your dry facts and figures, whereas we are vitally concerned in our country's welfare in this question. You are merely concerned with the interests of your office, you are concerned to that extent alone, and no more. As soon as your term of office is over, you take your pay and whatever fortune you make and clear out of this country. And what is still more regrettable, you take away with you the experience that you gain from this country. What we want to do,—and that is what we are trying to do for the welfare of our people,—we want to keep all that talent and experience in this country. Now, we as human beings are not very different from you, but we look at things from different viewpoints, or to use a very common expression, from a different angle of vision. We look at baby's tears as our baby's tears which will move us from an emotional point of view; you look at them from an economist's point of view so far as India is concerned; not that you are incapable of feeling when the emotions are stirred. Why? You saw the attitude and conduct of the Home Member just a little while ago when the passions were stirred. In spite of his advice to us yesterday that we should not introduce bitterness or emotion into the discussion we saw him perturbed and agitated, and he could not hear the speech of my friend, Pandit Malaviya. You may thoroughly dislike it. We hear many things from your side which we thoroughly dislike. I suppose yesterday the Home Member was prominent on that side in shouting 'Order, order', if I am not very much mistaken. I don't say he was wrong; he was perfectly right; and I would do the same on this side. But it is very easy to talk about being dispassionate, being cold and looking at things merely in the light of cold reason and logic when things do not touch you. As soon as things really touch you, not merely in the matter of emotions, but in the matter of interests, then every human being is apt to lose his logic.....

[Dr. G. V. Deshmukh.]

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): If the 5 P.M. Honourable Member has much more to say.....

Dr. G. V. Deshmukh: Sir, I have a great deal more to say, and I shall require a little more time.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim): Then it is better we adjourn now.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Monday, the 9th September, 1935.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Monday, 9th September, 1935.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) in the Chair.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

TRIBAL VENDETTA ON THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

197. *Mr. S. Satyamurti: Will Government be pleased to state:

(a) whether the facts regarding the tribal vendetta on the North-West Frontier published on the 22nd May, 1935, are correct;

(b) what part Government played therein; and

(c) whether Government observe neutrality in such matters?

Mr. J. G. Acheson: With your permission, Sir, I propose to reply to questions Nos. 197, 210 and 213 together, as they all relate to the murder of Khan Sahib Zangi Khan, Madda Khel, and the events which followed it.

The reports published in the papers were noticed by Government. The facts stated in the account published on the 22nd May, 1935, are based on information supplied by Government to the Press and are substantially correct.

These events took place in unadministered tribal territory, where Government do not exercise control in regard to purely internal tribal matters.

Information regarding important events on the North-West Frontier is invariably furnished, as in this instance, to the Press. Government do not consider it necessary to table the papers.

Mr. S. Satyamurti: May I know what is meant by unadministered areas? What is the extent and nature of Government control in these areas?

Mr. J. G. Acheson: Government control is of a general nature and is mainly confined to protecting the interests of the inhabitants of the neighbouring administered districts of British India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti: With regard to the Honourable Member's answer to clause (c) of question No. 197, may I know whether in these unadministered areas the Government observe strict neutrality among those tribes or whether they support one tribe as against the other, and, if so, on what considerations?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : It is extremely difficult to give answers to general questions regarding unadministered tribal territory as the conditions vary enormously from place to place. If the Honourable Member will specify any particular area, I will give an answer.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Is it a fact that in the unadministered area round about Loe Agra the woods there are kept as a preserve for the pleasure shoots of the Political Officer and his British friends, and is it also a fact that, if any tribal man intercedes, he is fined Rs. 50 and given three months' rigorous imprisonment?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have no information, but the story sounds to me extremely improbable.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know what is meant by purely inter-tribal matters?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : It is difficult to give legal definition at such short notice, but speaking offhand, I should define purely inter-tribal matters as being matters which do not concern the inhabitants of the neighbouring districts of British India.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Will the Honourable Member kindly take the trouble of finding out if what I have stated is true?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Certainly.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know the reasons why Government at all interfere as between these tribes? What are the reasons why Government interfere?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : In the interests of the security of the neighbouring districts of British India and the interests of the security of India as a whole.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government tried to come to any terms with those people, in order to observe certain rules in their relations with one another?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Certainly. In most cases agreements have been executed with the tribes, and these are being observed.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In how many cases, have such agreements been executed?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I cannot give the exact number, but I would refer the Honourable Member to Aitchison's Treaties, a copy of which is, I believe, in the Library of the House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is that the latest word on the subject?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : It is the latest word up to, I believe, 1928, when the last edition was revised.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are there any treaties after 1928?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I believe there have been one or two agreements—one, for instance, the Jhalanai Agreement of 1933 which has recently been broken by the Upper Mohmands.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the Honourable Member's answers to question No. 210 which was also answered along with question No. 197, may I know whether the Durand Line is still the Frontier recognised by the tribes as such?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Yes, Sir. I will suggest that I should meet my Honourable friend and some of his friends and give them a lecture on the subject and give answers to questions. I find it very difficult to answer this miscellaneous mass of questions in the House though I am very happy to give all the information I possibly can.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : I do not want lectures, but I want some intelligible information about the Frontier. I am asking the Honourable Member why, in spite of all these various treaties, the tribal warfare perpetually goes on costing enormous sums to the Indian Exchequer and loss of life?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It is a big question, and it cannot be answered by means of questions and answers.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Sir, it is a non-voted subject, and what else can we do? We can only ask questions.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : It deals with a big question of policy, and the Chair thinks it can be more appropriately discussed on the budget.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : We are seeking information, and we cannot get information on the budget discussion. Anyhow, I leave it at that. As regards the Honourable Member's answer to question No. 213, I thought I heard the Honourable Member say that this was in connection with the construction of a road.

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I did not say that, it had no connection with the construction of a road.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Then, what was this murder due to?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : As far as can be ascertained, it was committed in prosecution of a typical Pathan blood feud.

Dr. Khan Sahib : Is it a fact that people who know about this murder on the Frontier attribute it to the Political Department?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I resent that question very much. I have never heard of any such allegation, and it is entirely false.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the Honourable Member's answer to part (c) of question No. 213, will Government place all the relevant papers on the table of the House?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : Government do not consider it necessary to place the papers on the table of the House.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know why they do not consider it necessary?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : I have nothing to add to my answer.

SAFEGUARDING OF THE INTERESTS OF INDIANS IN KENYA.

198. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether, after the debate in this House during the last Session on the adjournment motion on the question of Indians in

Kenya, especially as regards the reservation of the highlands for Europeans, any correspondence has passed between them and the British Government, and if so, whether they will place the correspondence on the table ;

(b) whether there has been any change in the situation, and if so, for better or for worse ; and

(c) what steps Government propose to take to safeguard the interests of Indians in Kenya ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Since the debate referred to by the Honourable Member the representations foreshadowed by me have been made to His Majesty's Government, and the result is awaited. Government regret that publication of the correspondence cannot be considered until the negotiations have been completed.

(b) So far as Government are aware there has been no change in the situation for the worse.

(c) Government have already taken such steps as seemed desirable to safeguard Indian interests in this matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (a) of the question, may I know when the Government of India addressed His Majesty's Government on this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Soon after the debate. I do not exactly remember the date.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have they had any reply to it or none at all ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The position is that the Secretary of State for India and the Secretary of State for the Colonies are discussing this matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (b), I take it there has been no change for the better either.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There is no change at all. The status quo remains.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (c), I thought my Honourable friend said that Government have taken some steps. May I know definitely what steps they have taken ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : At this stage, the only step taken is the step of representing the position to His Majesty's Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India remind His Majesty's Government and ask them to expedite a decision on this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I think my Honourable friend will appreciate the fact that we do not want to hustle the Colonial Office unduly. It is not that we are altogether contented with the existing position. At the same time, it is very much better than the position which would be if the Order in Council were passed and we want to let the Colonial Office have as much time as they like in order to consider this matter so long as the result of the consideration is favourable to us.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government satisfied that no final order will be passed, until the Government of India have had their final say in the matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Secretary of State for the Colonies gave an assurance to that effect in the House of Commons.

Mr. B. Das : Is the Honourable Member aware of the statement of Mr. Pandya and has he approached the Honourable Member in that connection ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : With the exception of the interview that he gave to the press, Mr. Pandya has taken no steps to approach the Government of India either in regard to this matter or any other matter affecting Indians in Kenya.

Mr. B. Das : He is probably disappointed with the Government of India.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That is a question which my friend might address to Mr. Pandya, but my recollection of the interview is that he expressed satisfaction with the steps taken by the Government of India.

POSITIONS OF INDIANS IN ZANZIBAR WITH REGARD TO THE CLOVE ORDINANCES.

199. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the latest position of Indians in Zanzibar with regard to the clove ordinances ;

(b) what steps the Government of India have taken and are taking ; and

(c) whether the question will be settled when the next clove crop comes in, and if not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me on the 4th September, 1935, to question No. 118.

(c) I hope so, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know, apart from this optimistic temperament which I entirely share with my Honourable friend, he has any reasons for this hope ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The mere fact that the Colonial Office have not told us definitely that they propose to do nothing, is, in my opinion, a circumstance that gives rise to hope.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there nothing more hopeful than that in the situation ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : My friend will appreciate that there can be nothing more definite until we have had a definite reply, which has not yet materialised.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India ask the Colonial Office to expedite the reply ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I can assure my Honourable friend that the Government of India are stimulating the Colonial Office to such an extent as they consider desirable.

Kenya, especially as regards the reservation of the highlands for Europeans, any correspondence has passed between them and the British Government, and if so, whether they will place the correspondence on the table ;

(b) whether there has been any change in the situation, and if so, for better or for worse ; and

(c) what steps Government propose to take to safeguard the interests of Indians in Kenya ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Since the debate referred to by the Honourable Member the representations foreshadowed by me have been made to His Majesty's Government, and the result is awaited. Government regret that publication of the correspondence cannot be considered until the negotiations have been completed.

(b) So far as Government are aware there has been no change in the situation for the worse.

(c) Government have already taken such steps as seemed desirable to safeguard Indian interests in this matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to the answer to clause (a) of the question, may I know when the Government of India addressed His Majesty's Government on this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Soon after the debate. I do not exactly remember the date.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have they had any reply to it or none at all ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The position is that the Secretary of State for India and the Secretary of State for the Colonies are discussing this matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (b), I take it there has been no change for the better either.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : There is no change at all. The status quo remains.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (c), I thought my Honourable friend said that Government have taken some steps. May I know definitely what steps they have taken ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : At this stage, the only step taken is the step of representing the position to His Majesty's Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India remind His Majesty's Government and ask them to expedite a decision on this matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I think my Honourable friend will appreciate the fact that we do not want to hustle the Colonial Office unduly. It is not that we are altogether contented with the existing position. At the same time, it is very much better than the position which would be if the Order in Council were passed and we want to let the Colonial Office have as much time as they like in order to consider this matter so long as the result of the consideration is favourable to us.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government satisfied that no final order will be passed, until the Government of India have had their final say in the matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Secretary of State for the Colonies gave an assurance to that effect in the House of Commons.

Mr. B. Das : Is the Honourable Member aware of the statement of Mr. Pandya and has he approached the Honourable Member in that connection ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : With the exception of the interview that he gave to the press, Mr. Pandya has taken no steps to approach the Government of India either in regard to this matter or any other matter affecting Indians in Kenya.

Mr. B. Das : He is probably disappointed with the Government of India.

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : That is a question which my friend might address to Mr. Pandya, but my recollection of the interview is that he expressed satisfaction with the steps taken by the Government of India.

POSITIONS OF INDIANS IN ZANZIBAR WITH REGARD TO THE CLOVE ORDINANCES.

199. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) the latest position of Indians in Zanzibar with regard to the clove ordinances ;

(b) what steps the Government of India have taken and are taking ; and

(c) whether the question will be settled when the next clove crop comes in, and if not, why not ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) and (b). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me on the 4th September, 1935, to question No. 118.

(c) I hope so, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know, apart from this optimistic temperament which I entirely share with my Honourable friend, he has any reasons for this hope ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The mere fact that the Colonial Office have not told us definitely that they propose to do nothing, is, in my opinion, a circumstance that gives rise to hope.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is there nothing more hopeful than that in the situation ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : My friend will appreciate that there can be nothing more definite until we have had a definite reply, which has not yet materialised.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will the Government of India ask the Colonial Office to expedite the reply ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I can assure my Honourable friend that the Government of India are stimulating the Colonial Office to such an extent as they consider desirable.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is the Honourable Member aware of an Associated Press message that a company has been floated in England by name Zanzibar Distilleries Company ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : I think my Honourable friend, Mr. Joshi, put a similar question, and I asked him to supply information so that I might consider whether an inquiry is desirable. If my Honourable friend will do likewise, I shall be very glad to oblige him.

RATE-WAR BETWEEN THE BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY AND THE AGARWAL STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.

200. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether they are aware of the rate-war going on between the B. I. S. N. Company and the Agarwal Steam Navigation Company ;
- (b) whether Government propose to take any steps in the matter ; and
- (c) if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : With your permission, Sir, I shall answer questions Nos. 200 and 225 together.

The Government of India recently received from the Agarwal Steam Navigation Company a complaint alleging that the British India Steam Navigation Company had started a rate-war against them by reducing the passenger fares on the run between Rangoon and Calcutta, and requesting the intervention of Government in the matter. Shortly thereafter a representation was also received from Messrs. Ganga Singh and S. C. Bhattacharjee, on behalf of one Passenger Service League, Rangoon, requesting the intervention of the Government of India in regard to the question of reducing passage rates between Rangoon and the Indian ports to the pre-war level and in the rate-war alleged to have been started by the British India Steam Navigation Company. As regards the alleged rate-war, the Agarwal Company, on their own showing, were the first to reduce their passage rate between Rangoon and Calcutta and only complained when a further reduction of rates was made by the other Company. The Government of India, therefore, decided not to take any action in the matter. With regard to the general question of reduction of passage rates between Rangoon and the Indian ports, reference is invited to the reply given by the Honourable Sir Joseph Bhore to Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar's unstarred questions Nos. 116 and 118 on the 27th February, 1935.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the position of the Government of India ? Do they refuse to interfere to reduce the fares between Rangoon and Indian ports ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : As the Government of India found that the rate-war which had been complained of had been started by the complainant company, they did not consider it fair to call it to the notice of the other company concerned. In this case, the rate-war had been started by the Agarwal Company themselves.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Apart from the original responsibility, do not the Government of India consider that, in the interests of the development of Indian shipping, they should lay down certain maxima and minima rates, so that there may be a fair chance for Indian shipping ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Under what authority ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the Government examined that question ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government have looked into the question which was raised, to which I have given a reply, but if my Honourable friend will tell me under what authority he expects Government to interfere, I shall look into the question further.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have Government considered the need for giving some opportunity for Indian shipping to develop ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : It appears from the correspondence carried on between the two companies that according to one of these companies the rates are already so low as to be uneconomical.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to clause (b) of question No. 225, may I know what is the reason why the Government do not propose to reduce these fares to the economic level prevailing immediately before the War ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I have suggested that if my friend will refer me to the authority under which Government can interfere, I shall be very happy to look into the matter.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Am I the legal adviser to the Government of India ?

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : The Honourable Member's reply is that Government have no authority.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : They could easily say so !

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : Is it the contention of the Government that the Agarwal Company violated the agreement entered into by them with the B. I. S. N. Co. ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Was there any agreement entered into ?

Mr. Sami Vencatachalam Chetty : I thought Sir Joseph Bhore brought about certain compromise between these two companies !

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : These were not the companies concerned.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Do Government consider that the unfettered rate-war now going on is in the interests of Indian shipping ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : If I am bound to offer an opinion on that, I think, when companies start a rate-war between themselves, it is bound to injure some interest or other, but I am not in a position to give an opinion as to this particular rate-war and the limits that it has reached.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Will Government make a similar arrangement as in the case of the other companies ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government's good offices were invited in connection with one or two previous disputes and Government were ready to offer their good offices when they found that the companies concerned were willing that Government should take a hand in the matter. When Government find a similar readiness on behalf of any other group, I think Government will not be behind-hand in offering their help, if, by the offer of such good offices, they can help to bring about a settlement.

Mr. Sami Vencatachelam Chetty : Having regard to the fact that one of the companies stands to gain by this struggle, would it not be possible for the Government themselves to intervene and bring about a settlement ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : At the stage where matters stand, Government are not sure which company is likely to gain and which is likely to lose. When they come to a stage when they require the good offices of Government and the intervention of Government is likely to lead to good results, Government will not be unwilling to render such assistance as they can ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are Government not aware that Indian shipping is in an infant stage as compared with these giants ? Will not Government offer their good offices in the interests of the development of Indian shipping ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Government's experience is that the offer of good offices at a stage when the good offices are likely to be rejected by those concerned does not lead to any useful purpose. A stage might arise when such good offices might lead to good results.

GOLD EXPORTED FROM INDIA SINCE ENGLAND WENT OFF THE GOLD STANDARD.

201. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) the total quantity of gold exported from this country since England went off the gold standard ;
- (b) the effect of it on the internal or the external trade of India ; and
- (c) whether Government propose to take any step to prohibit and restrict the export of gold from this country, and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) About 30½ million ounces between 22nd September, 1931, and the 25th August, 1935.

(b) and (c). I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to the reply given by me to starred question No. 8 by Mr. T. S. Avinashilingam Chettiar during the current Session.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has the Finance Member not changed his opinion yet ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Not yet.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has the Finance Member examined the question as to how much of this gold is what is called "distress gold", that is, not gold which can be spared easily, but gold which is given up out of distress of the unfortunate people concerned ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have considered that aspect of the question in so far as it is possible to do it without a special inquiry. A special inquiry would, of course, be extraordinarily expensive, and, I think, would lead to very indefinite results.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : What is the conclusion of the Finance Member's examination of this question ? How much of this is distress gold ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Not very much, in my own opinion, but I do not claim that it is more than a matter of opinion.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is the Honourable Member aware of a book called "Wisdom and Waste" written by one of their own experts, Mr. Darling, in which it is definitely stated that a great part of this gold is, naturally, very distress gold ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I do not entirely agree with Mr. Darling, though, of course, this may be presumptuous on my part.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government institute an inquiry and find out how much of this is distress gold, and whether the interests of the country do not demand at least a limited embargo on this gold export ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : What is the extent of the scope for the further exports of gold from India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Do you mean how much gold is left in India ? Some figures were given in one of the League of Nations publications. I can look it up, and I can give the Honourable Member the reference.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I ask what have been the aggregate exports to date and how much of gold is still left ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : My recollection is—if you look at the League of Nations publication to which I have referred—that only about a fifth or sixth of the gold stocks has left the country.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : In view of the deplorable condition of our present balance of trade, how much longer does the Finance Member expect our unrestricted gold exports to help him in the balance of trade ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : As long as is necessary.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Does the Honourable Member wish and expect all the gold to be exported ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to clause (b) of the question—I am not prying into Budget secrets—may I ask, whether the Honourable Member has considered the possibility of these gold exports falling, and of his apple cart being then upset ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I have considered that possibility, but I do not think it is probable in the near future.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : How much gold does the Honourable Member wish should remain in India ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am not prepared to answer a hypothetical question like that.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I only want the Honourable Member to give us the aggregate quantity that has been exported and I want to know how much scope for further exports there is now ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I am not prepared to answer that offhand.

Mr. President (The Honourable Sir Abdur Rahim) : Next question.

RIGHTS OF INDIANS IN ZANZIBAR.

202. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the statement made by Mr. Ghulam Ali Qadarbhoi, Zanzibar Indian Leader, published by the Associated Press of India, on the 19th May, 1935, regarding the rights of Indians in Zanzibar ;

(b) whether the statements made therein are true ; and

(c) what step if any, Government propose to take in the matter ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : (a) Yes.

(b) The statements referred to by the Honourable Member contain both facts and inferences. Of the former, only those relating to Zanzibar appear to be precise. These are substantially correct.

(c) The position of Indians in the territories mentioned continues to engage the attention of Government. As regards the Zanzibar Land Alienation Decree, a Commission was appointed by the Government of Zanzibar to report on the problem of agricultural indebtedness in the Protectorate. Its report has been submitted and is under the consideration of the Colonial Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have the Government of India got a copy of that report ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Yes, Sir, but it is still confidential.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have this Government made any representations to His Majesty's Government on that report ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Yes, Sir, we have represented to His Majesty's Government that the report should be published as soon as possible.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Have they made any recommendations from the point of India to His Majesty's Government ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Government of India prefer to defer representations until they are in possession of the views of the Colonial Government.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Are the Government of India satisfied that the Colonial Government will not pass final orders, till the Government of India have had an opportunity of expressing their opinion ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : The Secretary of State for the Colonies has been asked to take no action on the report or on the recommendations of the Government of Zanzibar until the Government of India have had an opportunity of making their representations ?

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Has he made any yet ?

Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai : Yes.

FINANCIAL ADJUSTMENT FOR THE CREATION OF THE NEW PROVINCES OF ORISSA AND SIND.

203. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether the financial adjustment for the creation of the new provinces of Orissa and Sind have been completed ;

(b) if so, what they are ; and

(c) if not, whether the Governments of Madras and Bihar and Orissa in respect of Orissa, and the Government of Bombay in respect of Sind, will be given opportunities to state their case before a final solution is arrived at ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : (a) and (b). Final conclusions in these matters have not yet been reached.

(c) The Governments concerned have already been given the fullest opportunities to state their cases.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did they state their cases ? Are their cases being considered ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Naturally.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know whether, before Draft Orders in Council on this matter are placed before Parliament, the Government will have an opportunity of stating their opinions with regard to these arrangements ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Indubitably.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will this House be given an opportunity of expressing its opinion ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot give any undertaking in that matter. For the most part these are accounting arrangements, and the questions of principle are very simple.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I know since the Federal Government will presumably have to foot a portion of the Bill at least in respect of these provinces, what are the reasons why this House should not be given an opportunity of expressing its opinion on these fundamental matters ?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The questions of principle concerned have been in the main determined by the Imperial Parliament.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With regard to the actual amount of contribution which should be paid by the Central Government, no principle has been laid down. May I know whether the actual proportion will be laid before the House for its opinion?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot give any undertaking in that matter.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : May I ask if a non-official is going to be joined with the officers who are investigating into this financial question of separation?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : No, Sir.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Why not?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Because I consider it is more expeditious and, in the end, more satisfactory if the question is determined impartially and if there is no wrangle between members representing the various provinces.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Does the Honourable Member think that, if a non-official were joined to this committee of officials, he would not be impartial?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I cannot hear the Honourable Member.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : I am talking quite loudly.

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : It reverberates.

Mr. Lalchand Navalrai : Will the Honourable Member say, if a non-official Member is joined to the committee of officers who are investigating this question, that he will not be impartial?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : Of course not; non-officials will represent the provinces they come from.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : May I ask if the very important question of the financial solvency of the proposed federation and of these provinces is not a matter which should be discussed on the floor of this House? What are the reasons why the Government propose to conduct the inquiry in camera, and pass orders over our heads?

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : The Honourable Member had better put down a question and then I can give a considered answer. In any case, the main responsibility in the matter is the Government's.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A GERMAN AUTOMOBILE FACTORY IN BOMBAY.

204. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that a German automobile factory is being established in Bombay with a capacity for turning over fifteen thousand cars and one thousand omnibuses annually;

(b) whether any permission is sought for or given for the opening of that factory; and

(c) if so, on what conditions?

The Honourable Mr. D. G. Mitchell : (a) Not so far as I am aware.
(b) and (c). Do not arise.

INDIAN EXPORTS AND IMPORTS AND INDIA'S TRADE POSITION.

205. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether it is a fact that during the year 1934-35 Indian exports to the United Kingdom showed only a small increase of about 32 lakhs;

(b) whether during the same period Indian imports from the United Kingdom increased by over six crores of rupees;

(c) whether India's trade with other Empire countries showed any appreciable rise in exports;

(d) whether imports from Empire countries into India showed an increase from 67 crores to 69 crores;

(e) whether Government have considered these figures as bearing on India's trade position;

(f) whether Japan contributed considerably to India's export trade; and

(g) whether India's exports to foreign countries have increased in spite of the great decline in export to Germany, France, Italy and Turkey?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) According to the latest available figures, exports from India to the United Kingdom were Rs. 47.81 crores in 1934-35 as compared with 47.21 crores in 1933-34, an increase of Rs. 60 lakhs.

(b) Imports into India from the United Kingdom amounted to 53.73 crores in 1934-35 as compared with 47.59 crores in 1933-34, an increase of Rs. 6.1 crores.

(c) India's exports to the other Empire countries amounted to 21.53 crores in 1934-35, as against 20.94 crores in the preceding year.

(d) Imports into India from Empire countries, other than the United Kingdom, were valued at Rs. 11.62 crores in 1934-35 as against Rs. 10.11 crores in 1933-34.

(e) Government are fully aware of the position disclosed by these figures of India's export and import trade.

(f) Yes.

(g) Yes. An increase of Rs. 10 crores in Japan's taking of raw cotton more than counterbalanced decreases of Rs. 2 crores in exports to both France and Germany. Exports to Italy, however, showed an increase while in the case of Turkey there was a small decrease.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : With reference to answer to clause (d) of the question, did I hear the Honourable Member to say imports from other than Empire countries?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : I said the imports which came to India from Empire countries other than the United Kingdom for which I have already given the figures.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of the answers to clauses (a), (b), (c) and (d) of the question, may I know if the Honourable Member has examined these figures, in the light of the working of the Ottawa Agreement?

Mr. B. Das : Is it not a fact that except the Department of Education, Health and Lands, there is no Indian Deputy Secretary or Joint Secretary or Secretary in any other Department of the Government of India ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not think that is the case.

Mr. B. Das : Is it not a fact that there was a Joint Secretary in the Finance Department and there was a Deputy Secretary in the Home Department and now.....

The Honourable Sir James Grigg : I suggest to my Honourable friend that he should talk to me personally and I will tell him some facts about that which he does not know.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE SHAMOZAI TRIBE ON THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER FOR A FRIENDLY AGREEMENT.

208. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to a telegram from the Free Press of India, dated Simla, the 1st May, regarding negotiation with the Shamozai tribe on the North-West Frontier for a friendly agreement ;

(b) whether the facts stated therein are true ; and

(c) whether any further progress has been made in this matter ?

Mr. J. G. Acheson : (a) Yes.

(b) In the main—the Shamozai were at their own request permitted, not invited or pressed, to come into a jirga.

(c) Yes ; the road to Loe Agra has since been completed and it has been possible to allow normal traffic across the river.

TRADE NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE UNITED KINGDOM AND ITALY AND INDIA.

209. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the statement made by Colonel Colville in the House of Commons, with regard to the trade negotiations between the United Kingdom and Italy ;

(b) whether the Government of India have made any progress in negotiating such arrangement with the countries mentioned therein ; and

(c) if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) On the assumption that the Honourable Member is referring to the statement made by Lieut.-Colonel Colville, Secretary of the Department of Overseas Trade, in the House of Commons, on the 29th April, 1935, the reply is in the affirmative.

(b) and (c). The countries mentioned by Colonel Colville were, Italy, Turkey, Egypt, Spain, Peru and Uruguay. Representations have already been made in respect of India's trade relations with Italy and Turkey. The trade relations of India with the other countries mentioned do not appear yet to justify the initiation of negotiations.

Mr. M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar : Is it a fact that all articles from India to Italy have been banned ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : No.

TROUBLE ON THE DURAND LINE ON THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

†210. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether their attention has been drawn to the telegram of the Free Press of India, dated the 1st May, 1935 from Simla regarding the trouble on the Durand Line on the North-West Frontier ;

(b) whether the facts stated therein are correct ; and

(c) whether Government from time to time are prepared to issue authoritative communiqués so as to give accurate and up-to-date information to the public ?

INDIAN AND EUROPEAN ASSOCIATIONS CONSULTED ABOUT THE EXTENSION OF REPRESSIVE LEGISLATION.

211. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

(a) whether they consulted the European Associations in the country with regard to the extension of repressive legislation, some of which expires by the end of this year and if so, which are the Associations they consulted ;

(b) whether they will place the information they have received on the table of the House, and if not, why not ; and

(c) whether any Indian Associations were consulted, and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) and (c). No Associations, either European or Indian, was consulted in the matter.

(b) Does not arise.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did any Association forward their opinions to the Government of India, without being consulted ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I think a good many individuals and Associations submitted their opinions to the Government of India.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did any Indian Association send its opinion ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I cannot remember that, but we have had a good many opinions.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Did any European Association offer any opinion ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I am not sure about that.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was any European Association against this Bill ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I must have notice of that question.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Was any Indian Association in favour of this Bill ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : There, again, I must have notice.

†For answer to this question, see answer to question No. 197.

CONSUMPTION OF INDIAN LINSEED IN GREAT BRITAIN.

1212. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- whether it is a fact that during the year 1934-35 Great Britain's consumption of Indian linseed dropped by about 65 thousand tons ;
- whether it is a fact that the Argentine imports of linseed increased by ten thousand tons ; and
- whether this decline and increase are growing, and what are the latest figures ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : (a) and (b). The position stated by the Honourable Member is correct as compared with the year 1933-34.

(c) I lay a statement on the table showing the imports of linseed into the United Kingdom from India and Argentine during the three years ending 1934-35 and the months of April to June during 1933, 1934 and 1935. It is not yet possible to say whether the tendency to which the Honourable Member refers still continues.

Statement showing the imports of linseed into the United Kingdom from India and Argentine during the period 1932-33 to 1934-35.

|                 | Total.  | From India. | From Argentine. |
|-----------------|---------|-------------|-----------------|
|                 | Tons.   | Tons.       | Tons.           |
| 1932-33 .. .. . | 338,557 | 13,520      | 316,059         |
| 1933-34 .. .. . | 243,474 | 173,988     | 67,113          |
| 1934-35 .. .. . | 186,657 | 108,697     | 77,411          |

Statement showing the imports of linseed into the United Kingdom from India and Argentine for the months April to June in the year 1933, 1934 and 1935.

|                     | Total. | From India. | From Argentine. |
|---------------------|--------|-------------|-----------------|
|                     | Tons.  | Tons.       | Tons.           |
| April 1933 .. .. .  | 23,747 | 2,220       | 21,017          |
| May, 1933 .. .. .   | 14,612 | 4,118       | 9,486           |
| June, 1933 .. .. .  | 14,128 | 8,674       | 4,799           |
| April, 1934 .. .. . | 19,347 | 4,928       | 14,419          |
| May, 1934 .. .. .   | 15,738 | 10,788      | 4,950           |
| June, 1934 .. .. .  | 10,617 | 6,276       | 4,341           |
| April, 1935 .. .. . | 10,223 | 55          | 17,164          |
| May, 1935 .. .. .   | 16,047 | 1,742       | 14,305          |
| June, 1935 .. .. .  | 14,549 | 7,451       | 7,087           |

Mr. S. Satyamurti : In view of the fact that there has been a frantic propaganda about linseed after the Ottawa Agreement, will the Honourable the Commerce Member examine this phenomenal drop, and see how far it is due to mere laws of supply and demand, and preference had nothing to do with it ?

The Honourable Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan : Sir, the drop is not phenomenal as a reference to the figures that I have submitted would show. For instance, in 1931-32, the export of linseed from India was 15,933 tons altogether. In 1932-33, it was 13,520 tons. In 1933-34, it was 173,988 tons, and, in 1934-35, it was 108,697 tons. There has been some drop, but I do not think that the inference can be drawn that there has been a phenomenal drop. Besides, it might be due to seasonal factors.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is a drop of 65,000 tons only a small one ?

(No answer.)

MURDER OF KHAN SAHEB ZANGI KHAN OF MADDAKHEL, NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

†213. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- whether their attention has been drawn to the Associated Press statement published from Peshawar, on the 18th May, regarding the murder of Khan Saheb Zangi Khan of Maddakhel, North-West Frontier ;
- whether the facts stated therein are true ; and
- whether Government will place all the relevant papers on the table of this House ?

COMMITTEE FOR THE CLASSIFICATION OF RAILWAY GOODS.

214. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- whether their attention has been drawn to the leading article in the Hindu, dated the 2nd May and entitled " Railway Goods Classification Committee " ;
- whether they propose to deal with the complaints stated therein ; and
- if so, what steps they will take to meet them ?

Mr. P. E. Rau : (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The difficulties experienced by the public to which reference is made in the article have been recognised by Railway Administrations, and the investigation, which is at present being made by the Indian Railway Conference Association in connection with the revision of the Railways' General Classification of Goods, has simplification as one of its objects.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : At what stage does this investigation stand ? When was it started, and when is it expected to finish ?

†For answer to this question, see answer to question No. 197.

608

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

[9TH SEP. 1935.]

Mr. P. R. Rau : I gave a full reply to this question only last week.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : May I know if the Andhra Chamber of Commerce has brought to the notice of the Honourable Member certain anomalies in the rates classification that prevail on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : If my Honourable friend is referring to the interview that I had with the Andhra Chamber of Commerce, I may inform him that they have given me a printed memorandum which is under the consideration of the Railway Board.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government expedite their decision on this question ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I informed my Honourable friend last week that Government would do their best to expedite their decision.

Mr. F. E. James : May I ask, Sir, whether there will be another meeting of the conference which was held between the representatives of the Railway Conference and the representatives of the Chambers of Commerce in regard to this classification of rates ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I have not seen the proceedings of the last Conference, and, I am not sure, whether it was intended that they should meet again.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Will all the interests concerned—industrial, commercial and agricultural—be given an opportunity of expressing their views before a final decision is reached in regard to this re-classification of rates ?

Mr. P. R. Rau : I think that has always been the intention of the Government.

ARTICLE ENTITLED "THE CIVIL SERVICE BOMB" IN THE Amrita Bazar Patrika.

215. *Mr. S. Satyamurti : Will Government be pleased to state :

- (a) whether their attention has been drawn to an article, entitled "The Civil Service Bomb", in the Amrita Bazar Patrika ;
- (b) whether they propose to follow up the publication of this circular with a view to finding out the real authors thereof ; and
- (c) whether they propose to take any disciplinary action against them, and if not, why not ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) No.

(c) No, because the opinions expressed in the note were private opinions which were never intended for publication.

Mr. S. Satyamurti : Is it the position of the Government of India that their services can express any opinions in private for being considered by Service Associations, however much they may be against the policy of the Government ?

The Honourable Sir Henry Craik : I do not see how the Government of India can stop it.

