Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Yes.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: With regard to another point that my Honourable friend Mr. Chaudhuri raised—the very serious inconvenience that is being caused to business people in Assam in regard to the traffic that passes through the Pakistan area—I have had various reports about it and I want to say I am concerned about what is happening. There are only two things that we here can do: one is to lodge a strong protest to the Pakistan Government for the serious interruption to traffic that is occurring now—it is very much more than interruption. Whether these protests will have any effect is more than I can tell. There is another direction in which we can help Assam and that is to try and speed up the construction of this new through rail connection. My advisers tell me that normally it would be a matter of at least two working seasons which would mean three years; but recently I have had further discussions with the Government of Assam on this question and I am trying to see if it would be possible by some means to shorten the period required for the construction of this through rail connection. We are not going to get a permanent solution of the problem to which my Honourable friend has referred unless we are able to get our own rail connection between Assam and India.

My friend Mr. Sidhwa raised the question of amenities for passengers to which I have already made a reference. I have great regard for the efforts that my Honourable friend has been making in his capacity as President of the Passengers' Association. Even before I met him here as a combatant in our debates, I used to have discussions of a fruitful character with him regarding the directions in which we might promote conditions of travel for third class passengers. Whenever he puts a question to me or makes a suggestion to me, I want to assure him, I listen with the greatest possible interest. Whatever I can do in the directions that he mentions I shall always be glad to do. He asked me what is going to happen to the "Silver Arrow" and the coaches which we put on exhibition in connection with the "Silver Arrow". Well, as soon as the exhibition was completed, we issued a large number of questionnaires to people who visited it and I am cheered by the fact that we have had a very large number of replies to our questionnaires making suggestions of various kinds. I do not know if Mr. Sidhwa still remembers the general set-up of the "Silver Arrow". On an analysis of all the replies that we have had I found that there are two matters to which probably all the criticism has been directed as regards the design of the third class coaches. One is the doorways and the footboard and the other is the amount of luggage space provided. In both these directions we are trying to improve the original design. In fact certain suggestions have already been formulated with regard to it and we are shortly going to place an order with the Hindustan Aircraft Company for two specimen coaches on the improved designs, revised in the light of replies to our questionnaires. I hope, to put it on a very conservative basis, to be able in the course of 1949 to put coaches of this design increasingly in service.

Seth Govinddas: What about the improvement of old coaches?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: We have to revise the designs of the new coaches. Meanwhile whatever construction we are undertaking now would be of old design coaches into which as many new amenities would be introduced as these coaches would allow. The main difference between the "Silver Arrow" and the old coaches is that the old coach is somewhere about 10 feet wide whereas the other is 11'8". That makes a lot of difference as regards the amenities that you can provide inside the coaches. But as much as possible of these improvements would be included in the construction of these designs.

My friend Mr. Balkrishna Sharma raised the question of the large number of people who are travelling in goods trains and finding their way into the border districts of the U. P. That is a problem that has given us a great deal of worry. What has been now done is this. There is a screening point beyond the U. P. border where with military assistance we are now trying to remove passengers who travel in an unauthorized manner in goods wagons and other trains. It is too soon to tell how far this screening arrangement has been a success. I had a discussion some time ago with the Commissioner of that area in the U. P. and I am inclined to feel from his reaction that probably things are a little better now. Of course if the military arrangements do not succeed I really do not know what we can do.

The question of the provision of locomotives has been raised. As far as the proposed indigenous factories are concerned the position at present is this. As regards the Kanchrapara workshops at which a small beginning had been made [Dr. John Matthai] in the way of construction, it has been decided to locate it at some other place. At one time under the notional division, Kanchrapara was on the border, now it is somewhere about 25 to 30 miles from the border but even now, we feel that it would be more desirable to locate the workshop elsewhere and we have taken in hand an examination of fresh location for the Kanchrapara shop. I do not want to anticipate the final decision but I am inclined to think it would be somewhere in the Asansol area. The advantage of that would be that it is nearer coal, nearer steel and is sufficiently away from the frontier. I do not know how soon it will be possible for us to get locomotives produced here. Already there has been a delay of nearly a year. So, I am not in a position at all to tell when the first locomotive will be delivered by the Kanchrapara factory.

As regards the other factory the Tata Locomotive Factory at Singbhum the original intention was that they would be in a position to supply boilers about a year ago. For various reasons they have not been able to do that. Deliveries began last July and they have been coming in progressively in small numbers. I hope they will be in a position to give us within a relatively short period at least a hundred boilers. Some of them are Broad Gauge and some Metre Gauge. Then the other Locomotive factory that we have is Ajmer. We have placed an order on the Ajmer Factory, I think, for 58 Metre Gauge locomotives and the boilers would be supplied by the Tata Locomotive Factory. There the work is progressing. The House will realize, therefore, from indigenous sources, it is not likely that in the near future we shall be able to replace any of our existing locomotives or add to them. We have therefore placed orders abroad of over 500 locomotives. The deliveries are likely to begin from the beginning of 1949.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Has the Honourable Minister's Department received locomotives for which orders were placed during the closing years of the war?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: They have all come. Since then we have been placing further orders. All the orders placed during the War have been delivered.

My Honourable friend Mr. Aney raised the question of the restoration of dismantled Railways and the general problem of road-rail co-ordination. As regards the restoration of dismantled railways the position of Government is briefly this. We propose to restore such dismantled railways as would be reasonably remunerative, and not lines which are likely to be unremunerative. My Honourable friend said it is not fair to the people in these areas that the Government should take this line. I have at least two reasons for taking that line. One is that we are not now in an affluent position—and we have got to consider very carefully that new enterprises which we are undertaking would be at least reasonably remunerative. There is another side to it which probably is more important. In all these areas where lines were dismantled some years ago during the war, I notice there has been a very substantial development of road traffic and road facilities. The problem, therefore that we are faced with is this. In view of the importance of encouraging road traffic wherever there are opportunities for such traffic, is it right that the Railway Ministry should restore these dismantled lines and introduce an element of competition which is not called for in the interests of public service. That to my mind is the issue, I have gone into the facts of a number of these cases, where we have had applications for the restoration of dismantled lines and I find in cases where the lines are likely to be unremunerative, it is largely due to the fact that in these areas the road traffic has developed to such an extent that railways would not be able to attract sufficient traffic to make their services remunerative. That really is the issue. My Honourable friend raised some particular cases. I will look into them. I have not got the facts ready.

My Honourable friend Mr. Anthony raised the important question of our attitude to labour. I need not say I am in entire agreement with it; the more I see the relations between management and labour on the railways, the more I realize that the real solution will come only by the establishment of better contacts between those in authority and those who work. That, of course, is a very old problem, but by actual experience I have realized that there is a great deal of truth in that principle that ultimately what is necessary for a satisfactory solution of these labour problem is to establish the right kind of personal relations. I have had some opportunities of looking into it—you will find the point at which personal relations between the management and labour are most important and if properly established, would be most effective—is the district administration. It is at the level of district administration that we ought to try and establish better contacts between those who do the primary work of the Railways and those who supervise and manage. While I agree, therefore, with Mr. Anthony that what is called for is personal contact, I would like to tell him that the point at which personal contact should be established is the district administration and as far as I am concerned, I am concentrating my attention on that.

Sir, I think that covers more or less the points that have been raised and I have no doubt I should have further opportunities of dealing with some of these matters in connection with the discussion on Cut Motions, tomorrow.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Wednesday the 26th November, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Wednesday, 26th November 1947.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(a) ORAL ANSWERS

USE OF BONES AS MANURE

314. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government are aware that as a result of the abnormal slaughter of animals and sheep during war-time, there was a huge collection of bones?

(b) Have Government made any arrangements for utilising these collections at different centres for the preparation of manure?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The normal output of bones is estimated at a million tons a year of which only some 3,00,000 tons are collected. Due to difficulties of transport and the stoppage of exports, the collection of bones decreased during the war but Government have no information about any accumulation of bones in any area.

(b) Does not arise. But the question of encouraging the collection of bones was brought to the notice of the Indian Chemical Manufacturers Association, early this year.

Shri P. Kakkan: May I know whether Government have issued any instructions to the provincial Governments to issue an order to each and every major and minor punchayet board to remove dead cattle and store the bones for manure?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: So far as I am aware, no order has been issued by the Government of India; but the provincial Governments may have issued orders like that.

Shri B. A. Mandloi: In view of the fact that bones are very useful for manure will Government take steps to stop completely the export of bones from the Union of India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said, we get every year only about one million tons of bones and we are not able to collect more than 3,00,000 tons. So it is no use stopping the export of bones. The real problem is to collect the bones, and if more bones could be collected we could have the foreign market as well as meet our own requirements.

BONE-MEAL AS FOOD FOR MILCH AND DRAUGHT CATTLE

315. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture please state:

(a) the total quantity of bone-meal produced;

(b) the quantity used as manure for different crops; and

(c) the food value of sterilized bone-meal for milch cattle and draught animals?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Between 25,000 and 30,000 tons a year.

(b) About 50 per cent of the production is used for plantation crops like Tea, Coffee, Rubber, etc.; the balance is used for paddy, sugarcane, fruits, etc. No details are available.

(c) Bone-meal provides two of the essential mineral elements—Calcium and Phosphorus which the milch as well as draught animals require for normal body metabolism. Their absence from the diet leads to structural and functional injuries. Bone-meal contains both these elements (minerals) in the proportion found in the animal body. It is generally fed in powder form mixed with salt in the ration given to cattle. The average percentages of Calcium and Phosphorus in steambone meal are 31.3 and 14.4 respectively.

Shri S. Nagappa: Are Government making any efforts to increase bone-meal production? If so, what are those efforts?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have stated in reply to the previous question, the question really is one of collection of bones. We have got a number of factories which are dealing in these bones, but they are not efficient enough to compete with foreign markets, and therefore the work is not making as much headway as it should.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What steps are Government taking to see that all the bones available in the country are collected and sent to these various factories and also to encourage the cottage industry that has grown up during war time, to utilise these bones for the manufacture of bone-meal?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is hardly necessary to collect the bones unless they can be utilised by the factories. And, as I have stated, the factories are not in a position to utilise the bones that are collected because they are not efficient enough to produce cheap bone-meal for our use.

Shri K. Santhanam: With reference to part (c) of the question, may I know in what provinces bone-meal is mixed with food for cattle?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is generally not used at all in this country, and some people even object to taking milk from cows fed on bone-meal. So it is not used in this country in that way.

Shri K. Santhanam: Will Government consider the desirability of investigating how it can be transformed in such a way that it may be used by our farmers for the use of cattle?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The point is not of converting it into a form in which it can be used. It is produced in a form in which it can be used; but the real objection is the religious prejudice which prevents its being used.

Mrs. Renuka Ray: In what quantity is bone and bone-meal exported outside the country?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is limited to about 40,000 tons.

Seth Govinddas: Are Government making any efforts to see that these factories become more efficient, and have they issued any instructions to provincial Governments in this regard?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We have advised that these factories may be subsidised.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Is it proposed to control the export of bones outside this country consistent with the requirements of our farmers?

Mr. Speaker: That has been answered already. Next question.

NUMBER OF BONE MILLS WITH DISINTEGRATORS

316. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture please state:

(a) the total number of Bone Mills in the Dominion of India;

(b) the number of disintegrators in each of them; and

(c) the amount of bones crushed by each of them in 1942-43, 1944-45 and 1945-46?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) There are 23 Bone Mills in the Indian Dominion.

(b) and (c). A statement giving the available information is placed on the table.

Statement showing the number of disintegrators and the amount of bones crushed in each Mill during 1942-43, 1944-45 and 1945-46

Serial No.	Name of Bone Mill.	Number of disintegrators in each Mill	Quantity of bones crushed in 1942-43	Quantity of bones crushed in 1944-45	Quantity of bones crushed in 1945-46
1	2	3	4	5	6
			Tons	Tons	Tons
1	Hubli Bone Mills, Hubli . .	2 big and 2 small	1,500	800	900
2	Premior Bone Mills, Tanjore .	2 in 1942 to 1945 3 since 1945.	600	472	564
3	Katpadi Bone Mills, Katpadi .	2	2,144	1,090	750
4	Kadambur Mill, Kadambur .	2	1,600	924	413
5	Southern India Manure and Tanning Works, Samalkot.	2	97	1,522	93
6	Jai Hind Bone Mill, Bombay	1	2,700	3,200	Nil
7	Fazalbhai Ibrahim & Co. Bone Mill, Bombay.	1	318	...	453
8	Hindustan Fertilizers, Kuppam	2	1,000	900	800
9	Hapur Bone Mills, Hapur .	1	...	4,000	6,825
10	Ranipet Bone Factory, Ranipet	2	1,916	1,857	2,198
11	Feroke Factories, Feroke .	1	...	...	...
12	Hindustan Bone Mills, Ennore	3	2,500	2,000	100
13	Burjor Ardeshir & Co., Bombay Kalal.	Giant Miracle crusher (capacity 50 tons a day of 10 hours).	...	2,500	3,000
14	Santra Gochi Mill, Calcutta .	3 also 2 roller crushing units.	3,656	5,066	6,086
15	Stanes & Co., Coimbatore .	2 (One dismantled since last 18 months, only one working.	202	320	400
16	Chingreehatta Bone Mill, Calcutta.	2 (also 2 sets of crushers).	2,373	2,014	2,153
17	Anderson Dawn Coy., Bombay	3	4,750	5,250	6,250
18	Ganges Valley Bone Mills, Calcutta.	4 Disintegrators .	11,800	9,300	10,900
19	Empire Bone Mills, Pagladarga	3 Roller Crushers. 3 Disintegrators .	2,500	4,000	6,250
		2 Units of Roller crushers.
20	East India Bone Mills, Neoapalli Rly. Station, Nandyal Distt., Kurnool.		...	...	...
21	Ahmed Nagar Tannery & Bone Mills, Dhulia, Bombay.		...	...	...
22	Ahmed Nagar Tannery & Bone Mills, Kulwa, Ahmednagar.		...	...	...
23	Ralli Brothers, Magarwara, near Cawnpore.	1	3,812	4,649	5,016

POLICY re UNIFORM PRICE OF OIL-CAKES AND OIL SEEDS

317. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government propose to adopt a uniform policy with regard to the fixing of the price of oil-cakes and oil-seeds throughout the Dominion?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: No such proposal is at present under consideration. The control over oilseeds and oils was lifted in March, 1947 after full consultation with the Provinces and States.

SUPPLY OF CHEAP FUEL AND SUBSIDIZED MANURES

318. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government propose to encourage fast-growing fuel plantation and arrange to supply cheap fuel to the rural population, so that the major portion of the farm-yard manure will find its way into the soil?

(b) Are Government aware that even if the whole of the farm-yard manure is made available, it will meet only one-third of the total requirements and that only one-third of the total production (of farm-yard manure) is used as manure?

(c) What are the measures that Government have taken towards the production of chemical manure in the Dominion?

(d) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of adopting a policy of supply of subsidized manures in view of the high prices and difficulties of transport and in view of the fact that the Ryat will not be induced to adequately manure his holding unless the use of different kinds of manure is encouraged by subsidisation?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Government are encouraging fuel plantations in order to supply cheap fuel.

(b) It is estimated that about 2/3rds of cow-dung manure is being used as fuel. The total quantity of cow-dung manure produced is estimated at 840 million tons green or 336 million tons dry.

(c) A large factory is in the course of erection at Sindhri (Bihar) for the production of 3,50,000 tons of Ammonium Sulphate per annum. The Ministry of Industry and Supplies except that the factory will start pilot production in about three years' time.

Steps are being taken to develop the super-phosphate industry in India. The present annual production capacity is about 50,000 tons and several units are being put up by private individuals. The export of bones from India has been restricted with a view to utilising them for the production of super-phosphates.

(d) In the Grow More Food Schemes for popularising the use of fertilizers and manures, subsidies are being offered wherever necessary to bring down high prices and high transport charges.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are any active steps being taken to encourage the production of green manure?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Nothing beyond propaganda steps, I should imagine!

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that all economists have agreed that green manure is the best form of manure that can be supplied to the soil, will Government consider the advisability of taking special steps to encourage the production of green manure on as much land as possible?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Scientists are not agreed on the point. As a matter of fact, I might inform the Honourable Member that our Chief Agricultural Officer here, Mr. Sethi, does not have much faith in green manures. But so far as is possible, green manures are being encouraged.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Is there any proposal of having any large-scale casuarina plantations anywhere in India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said, there is a proposal before all the Provincial Governments in their five year post-war development plan for increasing supply of fuel wood and they are thinking of encouraging plantations, and casuarina will necessarily be included in their plans.

Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: With regard to part (a) of the question, what success, if any, has the Government obtained in increasing the quantity of fuel production and what specific steps are the Government taking to further increase production?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have here with me a long report from all the provinces as to what they have done. If the Honourable Member wants it I will hand it over to him. It covers two foolscap pages and it will take a long time to read.

Shri K. Santhanam: With reference to (a) is there any Agricultural Research Station which is doing research on fuel plantation—such as which fuel plant can grow in which climate and the like?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The Forest Research Institute has been looking into this matter and they have been doing that.

Shri O. V. Alagesan: What are the results of the experiments at the Pusa Agricultural Institute for converting cow-dung into gas?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I could not answer that offhand.

CONSTRUCTION OF SILVER ARROW TRAIN COACHES

319. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state:

(a) whether the Silver Arrow train with special coaches touring the various parts of India has completed its itinerary;

(b) if so, the suggestions received from public and when Government intend to place orders for construction of these coaches; and

(c) the building programme for such coaches?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). A questionnaire dealing specifically with the amenities provided and the special features of these coaches was distributed to the visitors with a view to eliciting public opinion. From a scrutiny of the replies received it is evident that the various features incorporated in the design were well received by the public.

As a result of the opinions obtained on the 'Silver Arrow' train a revised schedule of requirements for coaching stock of all classes has been drawn up. Negotiations are in progress with certain indigenous firms for the building of sample light weight 11'-8" wide coaches incorporating these requirements.

The coaches comprising the 'Silver Arrow' were built on ordinary standard underframes for the purpose merely of conveying to the public the future scale and form of amenities proposed to be provided in the different classes. The sample coaches which will now be built will be of the stressed skin light weight type based on the most modern coach building practices. The sample coaches are expected to be ready by August next year after which it is hoped to place orders for bulk manufacture by indigenous firms.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know whether Government will be pleased to place first the orders for the third class coaches and after they are completed, the orders for the upper class and others?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: As a matter of fact that is not going to speed up the process of manufacture because most of the suggestions we have received in reply to the questionnaire had been with regard to the design of the third class coaches. So the redesigning would be more with regard to third class coaches than with regard to others. In any case, if we are able to get these sample coaches built by August, I think it will be possible for us to introduce these coaches within a reasonable time.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not possible to manufacture these coaches in our workshops?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: All the orders are being placed in India.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: In our railway workshops?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I do not think it will be possible to get these things made entirely in our railway workshops. It will be necessary to call in the assistance of outside workshops.

Seth Govinddas: Are not certain parts being built in our Government workshops?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: But the idea is, as indicated in my questionnaire, that we are to alter the whole composition of these coaches. As a matter of fact in the Silver Arrow train, as exhibited here, the under-frame was different from the body. What we are trying to do now is to have an integrated whole that will greatly reduce the weight. That means a comprehensive redesign.

Seth Govinddas: I wanted to know whether certain parts of these coaches—the Honourable Member said an order was being placed in India—would be built in Government workshops.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is it a fact that some of these coaches in the Silver Arrow train which were approved by the persons who inspected them were manufactured in the G.I.P. workshops in Bombay?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes, part of the work will be done in the workshop.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Was not one of the particular coaches wholly manufactured in a shop in Bombay?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes: What happened in the G.I.P. workshop was that we had the under-frame and the body was built on it. We are not going to repeat that because the under-frame and the body would hereafter be one complete whole.

(Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar again rose in his seat.)

Mr. Speaker: The information has now been given.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I ask the Government what is the extra cost involved in building these coaches?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I am not in a position to give the exact figure.

PRODUCTION OF STEEL IN INDIA

†320. *Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) the estimated production of steel in the Dominion of India in the year 1947;

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(b) the highest annual production of steel during the last five years;
(c) the total annual capacity of the present plants to produce steel; and
(d) the reasons for the reduced output and the steps that are being taken to obtain maximum production?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Approximately 900,000 tons.

(b) 1,166,204 tons in 1943.

(c) 1,254,000 tons.

(d) The main reason for the reduced output is labour unrest. Transport difficulties are a contributing factor. The Government intend to discuss with labour and employees the steps to be taken to eliminate labour unrest.

GOODS RAILWAY WAGONS AND ROLLING STOCK MAROONED IN PAKISTAN

†321. *Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) the total number of goods railway wagons available on the Indian State Railways before the partition of India;

(b) the number of such wagons or rolling stock for goods, which has been allotted to Pakistan, and the number that is now left with the Indian Dominion;

(c) whether it is a fact that a large number of wagons sent to Pakistan have not been returned by that Dominion to India; and

(d) if the answer to part (c) above be in the affirmative, their number, the steps that are being taken to get them back and with what prospects?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The number of goods wagons for public use on Indian Government Railways before partition was—

Broad Gauge	1,74,891
Metre Gauge	45,528
Narrow Gauge.	3,254

(b) The division of stock between India and Pakistan was arranged provisionally on the basis of notional boundary. The Partition Sub-Committee are meeting shortly to finalise the division in accordance with the Boundary Commission's award.

(c) and (d). Approximately, 3,855 Broad Gauge and 1,082 Meter Gauge Wagons sent to the Pakistan Railways on and after 16th August 1947 had not been returned by 31st October, 1947. Consequent on the partition, a general upsetting of operational conditions was inevitable. The Director of Wagon Interchange who controls the Board and Metre Gauge Wagon Pools to which the Pakistan Railways are a party, has been pressing upon the Pakistan Railways to return some of the stock, and has reported that a distinct improvement in the return of wagons by the Pakistan Railways is noticeable from 1st November 1947. With improvement in operational conditions, it is expected that the Pakistan Railways will be in a position to return more wagons, the number to be returned depending upon final allocation to those Railways of the Rolling stock, on division.

PRODUCTION OF COTTON CLOTH BY INDIAN MILLS

†322. *Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state what was the average monthly production of cotton cloth in the Indian Dominion during the last three months for which figures are available?

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent

(c) Government expect that the mills that will start working within the next two or three years are as follows:—

Year	No. of Mills	No. of Spindles	No. of Looms
		(Approximate)
1947-48	9	1,34,800	2,500
1948-49	9	1,28,740	2,200
1949-50	8	1,64,000	3,000
1950-51	11	2,38,500	4,700

But such estimates are clearly liable to error, since everything depends upon availability in foreign markets.

Statement

Province.	No. of Mills	No. of Spindles
Bombay	4	48,000
U. P.	10	1,86,420
C. P.	6	1,26,000
Bihar	8	1,97,540
Madras	23	2,67,200
East Punjab	4	54,000
West Bengal	9	1,24,524
Assam	2	1,00,000
Orissa	4	12,800
Total	70	12,22,684
States	33	6,40,302
Grand Total	103	18,62,986

New Mills in respect of which orders were placed before December 1944

Bombay	2	20,000
Delhi	2	50,000
Madras	5	54,000
Bengal	1	12,800
Total	10	1,36,800

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Statement II.

Province	No. of promoters who have placed orders.	Total Spindlage	Spindles expected to be delivered in
			1947-48	1948-49	1949-50	1950-51	After-wards
Assam	1	75,000	...	...	25,000	...	50,000
Orissa	4	1,19,000	44,000	...	...	25,000	50,000
Bengal	9	1,14,524	12,800	8,000	...	...	1,06,524
	1	12,800	...	...	...	25,000	29,000
East Punjab	4	54,000	...	...	...	19,000	82,000
C. P. & Berar	5	1,01,000	...	...	...	50,000	97,540
Bihar	8	1,97,540	...	...	50,000	50,000	1,94,960
Madras	20	2,31,200	24,000	40,740	12,000	13,500	...
	*5	54,000	...	...	...	...	25,000
Delhi	*2	50,000	25,000	...	...	...	...
Bombay	*2	20,000	...	10,000	10,000	...	...
U. P.	6	1,28,410	...	25,000	25,000	...	78,410
Total	67	1,157,474	105,800	83,740	122,000	132,500	713,434
States	30	571,302	29,000	45,000	42,000	106,000	349,302
Grand Total	97	1,728,776	134,800	128,740	164,000	238,500	1,062,736

*Denotes promoters who placed orders before December 1944.

Mr. Speaker: Has the Honourable Member been authorised to ask the question. (Addressing Shri M. A. Ayyangar). Has the questioner given the Honourable Member a written authority?

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Yes, he has.

Mr. Speaker: Then that question will come up last† and the authority will now apply to question No. 324 only.

DELAYED DELIVERY OF LETTERS, TELEGRAMS AND AIR MAILS

‡324. Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the constant delay that takes place in the delivery of letters and telegrams, including mails despatched by air?

(b) What steps, if any, have Government taken to remove this complaint?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the answer given by me to starred question No. 156 by Shri Gopal Narain on the 20th November, 1947.

RAILWAY CARRIAGES AND COACHES IN POSSESSION OF MILITARY AUTHORITIES

325. Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state the number of Railway carriages and coaches still in possession of the Military authorities in India on the Assam and other borders, which were requisitioned for evacuating the British and other Military personnel from those areas?

(b) Do Government propose to take action to see that all these carriages are released without delay?

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

‡ Could not be taken at during question hour.

(b) What was the highest annual production of cotton cloth during the last five years?

(c) What is the maximum producing capacity of Indian mills and what steps are being taken to increase the production?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) The average monthly production of mill-made cotton cloth in the Indian Dominion during the 3 months ending the 31st October 1947 was 302 million yards; it was 307 million yards in the whole sub-continent.

(b) 4,811 million yards of mill-made cotton cloth in 1944, in undivided India.

(c) The Post-war Planning Committee on Textiles estimated the maximum productive capacity of the mills in undivided India as about 4,800 million yards a year. As regards the latter part of the question, I invite the attention of the Honourable Member to the press note issued at the beginning of November, which is laid on the table of the House.

PRESS NOTE

The Government of India have viewed with concern the continued fall in the production of cloth and yarn during the last few months. A variety of reasons have contributed to this fall amongst which are a recent and progressive shift of production from coarse and medium varieties produced with Indian cotton, to relatively finer varieties, the reduction of the working day from 9 to 8 hours since August, 1946, and the general unrest and relaxation of effort which have followed the strain of the war years. In February, 1947, the Government of India appointed an ad hoc departmental Committee to investigate the causes of the fall in production, and the price structure which had apparently made it remunerative for the mills to shift production from coarse and medium to finer varieties. This Committee has prepared a scheme for standardisation of production, with two main features:—

(a) the lowering of the average count produced by each mill, and

(b) the reduction of the types and varieties so as to increase production by making the maximum use of the available supplies of yarn.

The scheme will restrict production to such varieties as are in popular demand, reduce unnecessary widths and specify the minimum breaking strength of yarn. The objective is to produce more and better cloth, at the expense of finer varieties worn only by a few classes. This scheme, which is expected to increase production by about 400 million yards of mill cloth and 400 million yards of handloom cloth, has found general support and has been endorsed by the Commodities Prices Board. The Committee also recommended a revision of the price structure which involved an increase in the price of coarse cloth and yarn. The Commodities Prices Board have viewed this proposal with dis favour and suggested that, if necessary, price adjustments should be secured by an Equalisation Fund where by the prices of fine varieties are utilised to subsidise coarse and medium varieties.

Government have carefully considered the report of the ad hoc Committee, and the views of the Commodities Prices Board, and have also taken into account the weight of public opinion against any increase in the price of an essential commodity like cloth. They have accordingly decided to remit the whole question to the Tariff Board for advice. As an immediate practical measure, however, Government are bringing into force from the 1st December 1947 the scheme for the standardisation of production referred to earlier. They are also constituting an Equalisation Fund to which will be credited

(a) the difference between existing ex-mill prices of fine and superfine cloth and the lower prices which the ad hoc Committee believe to be fair;

(b) half of the amount now being paid as quota-holders' commission which Government have decided to reduce with effect from the 1st January 1948 from 3 to 1½ per cent and (c) a surcharge on a sliding scale on "free" yarn sold by mills.

If Government decide on the recommendations of the Tariff Board to increase the prices of any types or varieties of cloth or yarn, such increase will be given retrospective effect on all cloth and yarn delivered by the mills under the Standardisation Scheme after 1st December 1947, provided a prescribed target of production has been reached. "On account" payments will be made to a mill if such assistance is shown to be necessary for the maintenance of production. Regional and Unit Production Committee consisting of representatives of labour and industry will also be set up to ensure that there is no leakage at the mill-end and that labour fully co-operates in the production programme.

Government will appeal to labour to work slightly longer hours than at present as an emergency measure. Any overtime will, of course, be adequately remunerated. Besides such compensation, suitable labour welfare measures in the Cotton Textile Industry will be financed by Government out of the Equalisation Fund which it is proposed to create on the lines suggested by the Commodities Prices Board.

During recent weeks there has been considerable controversy on the question of decontrol of cloth and yarn. Government are of the view that with supplies well below demand, immediate decontrol would only lead to a repetition of the shortages and the high prices which occurred in 1943 and were the direct reasons for the institution of the existing control over cloth and yarn. Apart from the grave hardships which will ensue, should such a situation recur, an increase of the price levels of cloth and yarn to those of 1943 would start an inflationary spiral dangerous to the country's economy. If, however, the present scheme for increase of production should produce the expected results, relaxation or withdrawal of existing control would become feasible. It is the policy of Government to continue the control only so long as is necessary in the best interests of the country, and in a form which will throw the least inconvenience on consumer and producer alike.

LICENSES FOR NEW COTTON MILLS IN INDIA

†323. Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the number of and the names of the provinces for which licences have been granted to start cotton mills in India, how many of the mills have been able to raise the necessary capital therefor, how many have placed orders for machinery and for what delivery, and how many have started operations for the building of factories?

(b) How many of such license-holders have returned their licences to Government and for what provinces?

(c) How many factories, under such licences, are expected to start working within the next 2 and 3 years, respectively, and how many Spindles and Looms are expected to start working during the same period?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) The number of promoters who have received licences for textile machinery to establish new cotton textile mills in India, including the States exceeding to India and Hyderabad, is 113. This includes 10 mills in respect of which orders were placed before December 1944, when Government initiated their textile expansion plan. Details are given in Statement I which is placed on the table of the House. Government have in all cases permitted the issue of the necessary capital, if applied for. 97 promoters have placed orders, and the total number of spindles ordered so far is 1,728,776. Details regarding expected delivery are given in Statement II which is placed on the table of the House. About 30 mills have started building operations.

(b) Three licences, involving 49,000 spindles, have been cancelled owing to the inability of the licence-holders to obtain machinery. The details are as follows:—

Province	No. of Mills	No. of Spindles
C. P.	1	25,000
Madras	2	24,000
Total.	3	49,000

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(c) Are Government aware that the retention of these carriages by the Military Authorities has caused the travelling public great hardship and difficulty?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) At present no such stock is in the possession of the Military Authorities in India.

(b) and (c). Does not arise.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know if all the coaches have been now restored to the Railway Board?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The Honourable Member's question here relates to coaches which have been used on the Assam and other borders. They are meter gauge coaches. No meter gauge coaches are at present on loan. All the coaches on loan to the Defence Department now are broad gauge coaches.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: How many coaches are still with the military authorities?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The latest figure is 509.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: By when are they likely to be released?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I am not in a position to say. Since I last reported to the House, that is last week, we have had 15 coaches released. If the release goes on at that rate I think we should be able to get them back within a fairly short time.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: To what railways do they belong?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Practically all the railways.

Begum Aizaz Rasul: What is the total number of broad gauge coaches?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The number of broad gauge coaches lent to the Defence Department is, as I said, 509.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member wants to know the total number of broad gauge coaches of which the 509 lent to the Defence Department is a part.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I am afraid I cannot give the answer off-hand. I will give the Honourable Member the figure later on.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact that the previous estimate of the Railway Member was that the coaches would be restored to the Railways in July 1947?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Various things have occurred which have upset our original programme.

Mr. Speaker: This question was dealt with fully during the discussion of the Railway Budget in the Honourable Member's speech.

SETTING UP OF AN ALL-INDIA CENTRAL MILK BOARD

326. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that one of the Agricultural Planning Panel Committees has recommended that an All-India Central Milk Board should be established; and

(b) if so, when Government propose to constitute such a Board?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The Policy Committee on Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries recommended that the Central Government should take steps to set up an Indian Central Milk and Dairy Committee to co-ordinate and guide the work of cattle breeding and dairying in India.

(b) The recommendation was considered by the Government who decided that instead of setting up Commodity Committees the Government of India should itself set up institutes, research stations, etc., as may be required.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: In pursuance of the decision of the Government that they should themselves set up such institutes and research stations, may I know if any steps have been taken in the direction and if so, what progress has been made?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: There is already one Dairy institute under the Government of India which is situated at Bangalore. Steps are being taken to improve and expand that institute. Then there is going to be started another institute at Jubbulpore and a proposal to start another institute near about Delhi is under consideration.

Seth Govinddas: By what time will the Jubbulpore scheme come into existence?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It has passed through the Standing Finance Committee and further steps are being taken.

CONSTITUTION OF AN ADVISORY COMMITTEE CONNECTION WITH MILK PRODUCTION

327. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the lack of contact between Agricultural Marketing Department and the public; and

(b) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of constituting an Advisory Committee including the representatives of Kisan Congress and the various organisations intimately connected with milk production?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) No.

(b) Government have under consideration a proposal to constitute an All India Agricultural Marketing Board to advise them as recommended by the Marketing Sub-Committee of the Policy Committee on Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries, presided over by Sir T. Vijayaraghavacharya.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister consider the advisability of including in the constitution of that Committee representatives of organisations interested in the development of agricultural marketing?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Of course the matter will be considered when the committee is to be constituted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: There are at present in each province provincial co-operative agricultural marketing boards and if that is so, with very little difficulty is it not possible for the Central Government to have a central organisation here at Delhi which would co-ordinate the activities of these various organisations?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The recommendation of the Vijayaraghavachariar Committee is under consideration and steps will be taken to constitute the committee.

JUTE FIBRE FROM PAKISTAN AND ITS PRODUCTION IN INDIA

328. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) to what extent India is dependent upon Pakistan for her needs for jute fibre;

(b) what steps are being taken to increase the production of jute and similar fibres in different parts of India and with what success; and

(c) whether it is not possible to raise the fibre plants along most of the railway and road linings of India without encroaching upon the crop areas of the country?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Cotton—9·2 lakh bales (of long and medium staple) and 3 lakh bales (of short staple).

Jute—45 lakhs bales.

(1 bale = 400 lbs.)

(b) As regards cotton, the problem is being tackled by recommending measures for increasing the area under desirable types to the maximum extent possible, without encroaching upon the area under food crops and for raising the yield per acre by extension of irrigation, use of manure, improved seed, judicious system of rotation and so forth. In fact the whole question has just been examined by the Indian Central Cotton Committee at its meeting held on 21st November 1947, its recommendations are not yet available.

The Indian Central Jute Committee is looking into the question of jute and it is considered that by increasing the yield per acre by the use of seeds of improved strains, by applying correct fertilisers, and by utilising tracts of waste land and current fallows and by adopting a judicious system of crop rotation in the jute growing areas of West Bengal, Bihar, Assam and Orissa, it will be possible to increase the production of jute without decreasing the area under paddy so as to reduce gradually India's dependence on imports to a very large extent in the course of next few years. The policy which will be followed by the Government of India in the matter is under active consideration.

As regards fibres other than Cotton and Jute, the Indian Council of Agricultural Research as under examination the recommendations made by the Fibre Development Officer.

The Indian Central Coconut Committee is also considering the question of increasing the production of heavy coir yielding coconuts.

(c) So long as the food position of the country remains difficult as it is now, such lands should be put under food crops rather than under fibre plants.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: With reference to part (c) of the question where I have suggested the use of railway and road linings for this purpose, will Government consider the advisability of using these spaces for the cultivation of fibre crops?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: So far as railway lands are concerned the question whether they can be utilised has been under consideration but that is a question which the Railway Minister will be in a better position to answer. As regards road lands whether they can be better utilised for fibre or food crops is a question on which there may be difference of opinion.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are Government aware of the fact that a fibre crop which is not very much different from jute is very generally grown in South India as one of the mixed crops and whether Government will consider the advisability of encouraging its production?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: If the Honourable Member will give me some details about the particular fibre I shall have the matter looked into.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: It is hemp.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether any survey has been made, particularly in Bihar and Orissa to find out what additional acreage is available for the cultivation of jute?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The matter is under consideration at the present moment. We are considering what steps we can take for expanding jute cultivation.

EXPENDITURE ON 'GROW MORE FOOD CAMPAIGN'.

329. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) how much money has so far been spent on 'Grow More Food Campaign' and in what years and in what provinces and with what results;

(b) whether Provincial Governments have been asked to send periodical reports;

(c) what amounts out of the development grants made in the last Budget for Provincial Governments have been set apart by Provincial Governments for this campaign; and

(d) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of reconstituting their earlier specific allotments for this campaign and its various items?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The Honourable Member may kindly see the statements appended to my reply to question No. 132 asked by Shri Biswanath Das on the 20th instant.

(b) Yes. Provinces are asked to send annual and quarterly progress reports.

(c) A statement giving the available information is placed on the table.

(d) It has been decided that provision will be made on a separate basis for Grow More Food schemes for the year 1948-49; the amounts so provided being shown separately from the general development block grants.

Statement showing the amounts set apart by Provincial Governments for Grow More Food Campaign out of the Development grants.

Serial No.	Name of the Province	Total Block Grant	Amount set apart
1	Ajmer-Merwara	+	5,62,919
2	Assam	2,25,00,000	23,81,000
3	Bihar	4,50,00,000	..
4	Bombay	2,00,00,000	..
5	C. P. & Berar	2,75,00,000	9,50,000
6	Coorg-Morcarra	+	2,00,000
7	Delhi	+	10,00,000
8	East Punjab	* 4,00,00,000	5,81,000
9	Madras	6,25,00,000	1,72,00,000
10	Orissa	2,00,00,000	99,80,666
11	United Provinces	7,50,00,000	42,00,000
12	West Bengal	*12,00,00,000	22,00,000

† These figures relate to the grants sanctioned for Bengal and Punjab before partition.

*Figures of total block grants sanctioned for centrally administered areas are not readily available.

Shrimati G. Durgabai: May I know from the Honourable Minister what is the total extent of uncultivable and available on the whole and to what extent it has been brought into use under this campaign and what steps the Government propose to take to bring the remaining land also under cultivation?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Sir, I would require notice of that question to give the Honourable Member the figures.

Shri Jadubans Sahay: In view of the fact that the aboriginal and Harijan cultivators have not been able to take full advantage of the Grow More Food Campaign, do the Government propose to reduce their contribution to the fund of eight annas in the rupee to four annas or less in the rupee, so that these aboriginal and Harijan cultivators may be able to take full advantage of the funds allowed to them by the Grow More Food Campaign?

An Honourable Member: Is it a levy?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is not a levy but for every scheme which is accepted, the cost is borne by three parties. The Provincial Government contributes four annas, the Central Government four annas and the remaining eight annas is contributed by the owner of the land himself. That has been the system up to now generally. The suggestion made by the Honourable Member is that in the case of aboriginal and Harijan cultivators the contribution made by them should be reduced. At present there is no such proposal before me and we have not considered it.

Mrs. Renuka Ray: May I know what steps are being taken by Government to increase the yield per acre of food crops, as distinct from increasing the acreage by irrigation schemes over a longer period?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The Grow More Food scheme contemplates three methods for increasing the yield per acre, namely, by improving irrigation, by supplying better quality of seed and by supplying manures. These three methods are utilised for increasing the yield per acre.

Mrs. Renuka Ray: What steps are being taken to distribute manure to cultivators for improving the yield?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is being distributed in some places through co-operative societies, in other places through government agencies. Other agencies are also employed for the purpose of distribution.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: Have the Government considered the question of regulating the rotation of crops with reference to the Grow More Food campaign?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The rotation of crops is very difficult to be regulated by Government. We have not got any all-India plan by which we could regulate the rotation of crops. It is done by the individual cultivator, and as we have got such a large body of cultivators it is not possible from the Centre to regulate the rotation or the growing of particular crops in particular periods.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are Government aware that owing to the controls put on the movement of oilcakes in South India and also the non-availability of iron for the manufacture of agricultural implements, the Grow More Food campaign is considerably impeded?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I am aware that the Grow More Food campaign has suffered from non-availability of certain material.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Owing to the controls put on the movement of oilcakes from one district to another oilcake is rotting in the factory premises whereas the agricultural producers are suffering for want of oilcake for manurial purposes.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We have removed all control from oil and oilseeds, and I do not think there is any control on oilcakes.

Seth Govinddas: As far as irrigation is concerned, are Government thinking of investigating where tube wells can be successfully put in different parts of the country?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Yes. The question has been under investigation and we have got a separate Officer and a separate Department working under him for the purpose of investigating this and putting tube wells wherever they can be found suitable.

Dr. V. Subrahmanyam: Is it a fact that while big agriculturists by recommendation or otherwise are able to get large quantities of manure distributed to them while, small agriculturists are not in a position to do so and are finding it difficult to get even one bag of manure?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have no information apart from what the Honourable Member has said. But it may be true that bigger people have advantages which smaller people may not have.

Shri M. S. Aney: Can the Honourable Minister say whether any officer in charge of these tube well operations was deputed to the Central Provinces, particularly to find out the possibility of irrigating lands in those parts of the Province which are not well supplied with water?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: He has been charged to have investigations made throughout the country. I could not answer off hand what steps he has taken with reference to the Central Provinces.

Begum Aizaz Rasul: May I know if the Government feel that the results achieved by this Grow More Food campaign justify the amount of money spent by Government?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is a question of policy in this respect.

Begum Aizaz Rasul: I want to know the Government's opinion.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Government is satisfied with the results.

PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT OF CROPS IN INDIA.

330. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether there is any directorate in the Ministry of Agriculture or Food for studying the manner in which the various crops are being raised in the different provinces, from year to year, in relation to the areas under them, their yields and their prices;

(b) whether any effort is sought to be made by Provincial Governments or the Central Government to bring about voluntary or statutory crop planning; and

(c) whether Government propose to hold a Crop Planning Conference to study the ways and means for a more useful and profitable crop development in India, to make the best use of our lands and to afford the largest incomes and wages to our peasants and agricultural workers, respectively?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The Economics and Statistics Section in the Ministry of Agriculture maintains statistics of the area, yield and prices of principal crops raised in different Provinces from year to year. The reorganisation of this Section so as to cover the entire sphere of agricultural statistics is under consideration.

(b) At present there is no overall voluntary or statutory crop planning either by Provincial Governments or the Central Government, in the sense of aiming to attain specific pre-determined acreage and production targets in respect of each crop. The 'Grow More Food' plans of the Government of India are, however, designed to increase the production of food crops to the maximum extent, and in this connection, some Provinces have made statutory provision for limiting the growth of non-food crops.

(c) Government do not consider that any useful purpose will be served by calling a Crop Planning Conference until the agricultural development plans which have already been prepared are put into operation and overall agricultural production has increased to a sufficient extent to permit of planned expansion or curtailment in respect of different crops. Moreover, crop planning involves enforcement of an accepted plan which will need provincial legislation. Unless all areas including acceding States simultaneously agree and enforce the plan, it will not serve any useful purpose.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that several Committees and Commissions have already drawn the attention of the Government to the very defective nature of their agricultural statistics and have asked Government to take steps to improve the statistics?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said, steps are being taken to improve the work of the Economics and Statistics Section.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that again and again for the last six or seven years the answer has been given that 'steps are being taken', will Government take some energetic steps to see that something is really done in the near future?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I may inform the Honourable Member that in two Provinces at least—the whole of Bengal and Bihar—plot to plot survey has been made in the last two years and statistics were collected. They were compared with the statistics which are collected normally in the ordinary course. The results have not been found always to tally. Evidently improvement is required and that is what is being done.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not possible for Government to hold such a conference as is suggested here and then give advice to the growers as to the growing of which crops will be more profitable, more patriotic and so on? If I may supply some information, there is the tobacco crop today. The market is completely dull and the bottom has gone out of it, and people are faced with bankruptcy. If Government is in a position to supply information to these people and warn them in time it will be possible to prevent such catastrophe.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It all assumes that the Government have the necessary information in time to give warning to the people. But I suppose the ordinary agriculturist gets the warning perhaps more promptly than the Government itself.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is it a fact that during last year a large acreage under foodgrains has been converted for the growing of commercial crops?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I understand that is so in Madras.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know what steps are taken by that Government to decrease the acreage of commercial crops and increase the acreage of food crops?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The food situation is such that we trust the local Government will take the necessary steps to improve the food production.

UTILIZATION OF RAILWAY BRIDGES FOR VEHICULAR AND PEDESTRIAN TRAFFIC

331. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government propose to consider the question of converting important railway bridges on the State-owned Railways into bridges for dual purposes, viz., rail, and other vehicular and pedestrian traffic with a view to developing road traffic and to save extra costs on construction of separate bridges over roads?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The Government have always been prepared to consider this question.

Decisions taken must however depend to a large extent upon the capacity of of structures to carry the extra loads which the addition of road decks would imply.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: May I know what steps are being taken to permit motor traffic over the Narbada bridge between Khandwa and Indore?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: That does not arise out of the question. I believe there is a question on that coming later.

ROAD TRANSPORT ON B. B. & C. I. AND G. I. P. RAILWAY BRIDGES OVER THE NERBUDDA

332. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government propose to examine the feasibility of adding road transport on the following railway bridges:

(i) the Nerbudda bridge on the B. B. and C. I. Railway (metre gauge) between Mortakka and Barwaha Railway Stations; and

(ii) the Nerbudda bridge on the G. I. P. Railway section between Vikrampur and the Marble Rock Stations?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: No request for adding roadway facilities to these two bridges, has been received from any Civil Authority. The Government of India would be prepared to examine the feasibility of these proposals, if requested to do so, by the Road Authority concerned with whom the initiative for such proposals rests.

IMPORT OF FOODGRAINS FROM ABROAD AND ALLOCATION TO PAKISTAN

333. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state the total volume of food-stuffs that have been procured from outside India during the current year up to the middle of November 1947?

(b) What are the categories of food stuffs that have been imported from different countries and what are their respective quantities?

(c) What is the total value of these imports?

(d) Has any portion of these food-stuffs been procured by exchange of commodities from India? If so, what is the nature of such transactions?

(e) What portions of the imported food-stuffs have been allocated to Pakistan and what is their total value?

(f) Is it a fact that the Government of Pakistan is also importing food-stuffs from abroad independently of the Government of India?

(g) If so, is it done without any previous reference to the Indian Dominion, and has it affected in any way the position of the Government of India in the matter of procurement of food from foreign countries?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a), (b) and (c). A statement is laid on the table of the House.

(d) A quantity of 4.4 lakh tons of foodgrains has been contracted for from Argentina against 60,000 tons of Hessian. 15,300 tons of foodgrains were received from Aden, Abyssinia and Iraq against quotas of 42 lakhs yards of textiles given in part cost of the grain.

(e) One shipment of 8,687 tons of wheat was given to Pakistan in November, 1947. The value of this shipment is approximately 26 lakhs. A quantity of 15,000 tons of Cuban sugar was allocated to Pakistan. The approximate cost of this sugar is Rupees 81 lakhs.

(f) Pakistan has imported a small quantity of rice from Burma. So far as the Government of India are aware no other imports of foodgrains have been made by Pakistan.

(g) Pakistan as an independent Member of the I.E.F.C. has a right to ask the council for allotment of foodgrains. The position of the Government of India is not affected by any demand placed by Pakistan on the I.E.F.C.

Statement of foodstuffs imported from January to November 15, 1947

Country	Kind of food-stuffs	Quantity (in '000 tons)	Value (in lakhs of rupees)
Australia	Wheat	151	568
East Africa	"	15	39
U. S. A.	"	312	1240
Abyssinia	"	3	6
Argentina	"	6	40
Turkey	"	83	448
Canada	Flour	90	521
Australia	"	13	73
Ceylon	"	8	48
U. S. A.	"	73	367
Burma	Rice	353	1630
Egypt	"	30	198
Saigon	"	7	33
Brazil	"	43	248
Siam	"	15	63
French Indo-China	"	2	11
Java	Paddy	10	16
Abyssinia	Maize	1	2
Iraq	"	4	2
U. S. A.	"	21	66
Turkey	"	5	18
Burma	"	11	30
East Africa	"	1	3
Argentina	"	118	413
Iraq	Barley	74	243
Turkey	"	37	150
Argentina	"	32	113
Australia	"	18	61
Iraq	Millets	10	25
Australia	"	7	2
East Africa	"	2.9	10
Ceylon	"	1	3
Argentina	"	3	8
Abyssinia	"	7	13
Egypt	"	1	1
U. S. A.	Milo	457	1346
Ceylon	"	9	28
Canada	Oats	8	22
Argentina	"	3	1
			81.06
Cuban	Sugar	30	1.62 crores

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Was any arrangement arrived at between the Indian Dominion and the Pakistan Dominion before partition as to the future distribution and allocation of food stuffs that should be acquired by the Government of India from foreign countries?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It was agreed that existing arrangements should continue.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Do I take it, Sir, that the Pakistan Government is allowing exchange of commodities such as jute and jute mixtures for procurement of foodgrains? Are they allowing that?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I am not aware of that. I do not think they are exchanging jute for foodgrains.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is the Honourable Member aware that last year a huge quantity of hessian went to Brazil and Argentine for getting food crops? Are these arrangements possible even now?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As a matter of fact we ourselves have arranged with Argentine for import of foodgrains in exchange of jute products, but I do not know if Pakistan has done that. It is open to them to have that kind of arrangement if they so desire.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is it obligatory on the Government of India to pass on a portion of the foodgrains so acquired to Pakistan under any arrangement?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: No, I think our obligation now is to our own territory.

Seth Govinddas: Did the Government approach Russia for foodgrains, and if so, what reply has been received from them?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We have approached Russia and the matter is still under negotiation. We have not reached a decision.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I ask Government whether there is any scheme under the contemplation of Government to make India self-sufficient so far as food is concerned? If so, when can we expect it?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The idea is to make India self-sufficient as to when we shall succeed in doing so is more than I can say at present.

Shri S. Nagappa: What attempts did Government make to make India self-sufficient in food?

Mr. Speaker: We are now getting into argument. Next question.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OVER NEW AIR SERVICES CONCERNS

†334. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that new air services have been licensed and that they have started functioning since 1945;

(b) the main centres between which air services operate today;

(c) the number of concerns which are predominantly owned and managed by Indians; and

(d) the nature of control Government have over these concerns regarding distribution of profits, service conditions for their employees, safety conveniences, rest places, hospitals and other facilities provided for passengers?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Yes.

(b) I lay on the table of the House a statement showing the air services which are in operation at present.

(c) All the air transport companies shown in the statement are predominantly owned and managed by Indians.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner having exhausted his quota.

(d) Part XIII of the Indian Aircraft Rules, 1937, provides that no scheduled air transport service may be operated in India without a licence granted for the purpose by the Air Transport Licensing Board. The system of licensing prescribed in the Rules ensures proper organization and equipment of air routes, competency of personnel, airworthiness of aircraft and other safety factors. The Air Transport Licensing Board have power to control the fixation of passenger fares, air mail rates and freight charges and thus have control over the profits distributed by the Operating Companies. The Government have no direct control in the matter of service conditions of the employees of the companies. Rest places and other facilities for passengers are provided as a part of Government's Aerodrome Organization.

Statement showing the Regular Air Services in Operation at Present

S. No.	Route	Frequency of Services	Company
1	Bombay—Madras	5 times a week	Air India Ltd., Bombay.
	Karachi—Bombay	7 times a week
	Bombay—Delhi (non-stop)	7 times a week
	Karachi—Ahmedabad—Bombay—Hyderabad—Madras—Colombo	7 times a week
	Bombay—Ahmedabad—Jaipur—Delhi	7 times a week
	Bombay—Calcutta	7 times a week
	Madras—Bangalore—Coimbatore—Cochin—Trivandrum	6 times a week
2	Delhi—Jodhpur—Karachi	7 times a week	Indian National Airways Ltd., New Delhi.
	Lahore—Bikaner—Jodhpur—Ahmedabad (Under suspension)	2 times a week
	Calcutta—Delhi—Lahore	7 times a week
	Delhi—Amritsar	7 times a week
	Calcutta—Rangoon	6 times a week
3	Bombay—Junagadh (Keshod)—Jamnagar—Bhuj—Karachi	7 times a week	Air Services of India Ltd, Bombay.
	Bombay—Bhopal—Cawnpore—Lucknow. (Under suspension.)	7 times a week
	Jamnagar—Wadhwan—Wankaner—Ahmedabad	1 time a week
	Bombay—Gwalior—Delhi	6 times a week
	Bombay—Bhavnagar	3 times a week
	Bombay—Porbandar—Jamnagar—Bhuj	2 times a week
4	Delhi—Gwalior—Bhopal—Nagpur—Hyderabad—Madras	7 times a week	Deccan Airways Ltd., Begumpet.
	Hyderabad—Bangalore	4 times a week
	Hyderabad—Bombay	7 times a week
5	Bombay—Nagpur—Calcutta	7 times a week	Mistry Airways Ltd. Bombay.
6	Bombay—Baroda—Ahmedabad	2 times a week	Ambica Air Lines Ltd., Bombay.
	Bombay—Rajkot—Morvi	7 times a week
7	Calcutta—Vizagapatam—Madras—Bangalore	3 times a week	Airways (India) Ltd., Calcutta.
8	Delhi—Lucknow—Gaya—Calcutta	3 times a week	Bharat Airways Ltd., Calcutta.
	Calcutta—Cawnpore—Allahabad—Delhi	4 times a week
	Delhi—Amritsar	4 times a week
	Delhi—Lucknow	3 times a week

AIR SERVICES BETWEEN HYDERABAD AND GANNAVARAM AND GANNAVARAM AND CALCUTTA

†335. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) whether there are any air service companies which are willing to run air services between Hyderabad and Gannavaram (Bezwada) to connect Bombay and Delhi with Bezwada and between Calcutta and Gannavaram; and

(b) whether Government propose to take any steps to facilitate the use of Gannavaram aerodrome as one of the principal halting places for one or more air services?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) No air transport companies have applied for licences for the operation of scheduled air services between Hyderabad and Gannavaram (Bezwada). The Mistry Airways Limited, the Airways (India) Limited and the Jupiter Airways Limited have applied to the Air Transport Licensing Board for the grant of licences for the operation of air services between Calcutta and Madras with Bezwada as one of the scheduled halts. These applications will be considered by the Board shortly.

(b) The aerodrome at Gannavaram is not yet properly equipped for the operation of a scheduled air service. It is scheduled for eventual development as an intermediate aerodrome, but having regard to the requirements of India as a whole, it occupies a comparatively low priority in Government's programme of Aerodrome Construction.

INSTALLATION OF TRUNK TELEPHONE EXCHANGE AT BHADRACHALAM

†336. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that Bhadrachalam in South India is a very important pilgrim centre and also a place centrally situated within the Agency as well as an important town of Hyderabad State;

(b) whether Government have received any representation for the installation of a Trunk Telephone Exchange at this place; and

(c) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of installing a Trunk Telephone Exchange at this place in view of its strategical and commercial importance?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Yes.

(b) A request for a Public Call Office at Bhadrachalam was received from the members of the Pilgrim's Board.

(c) The proposal has been examined but it was dropped on account of its being unremunerative. It will again be considered in connection with the Development programme of the Department and if it is not found feasible to provide trunk telephone facilities and additional channels of communication are found to be necessary, a wireless transmitting and receiving set will be installed.

CONSTRUCTION OF AERODROME AT ANANTAPUR IN RAYALASEEMA

†337. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to consider Anantapur in Rayalaseema (Ceded Districts) for one of the halting places on the air-routes between Bombay and Madras and Bombay and Bangalore, etc.; and

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner having exhausted his quota.

(b) if so, when Government propose to take up the construction of an aerodrome at that place?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) and (b). There is no aerodrome at Anantapore nor do the present plans of Government for civil aviation development include the provision of an aerodrome there. The services at present operating between Bombay and Madras and Bombay and Bangalore are through air services and are not intended to serve intermediate towns of secondary importance making Anantapore a halting station on a through route would be a matter for decision by the Air Transport Licensing Board.

PRODUCTION AND IMPORT OF SALT IN INDIA SINCE THE ABOLITION OF SALT DUTY

†338. Prof N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

- whether India has achieved self-sufficiency in salt production;
- if not, to what extent she is dependent upon imports;
- what the production position is since salt duty has been abolished;
- when controls on salt production will be removed;
- whether the price of salt has come down and if so, to what extent since the duty has been removed; and
- in what provinces and to what approximate extent is salt being freely manufactured by the people?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee. (a) No.

(b) The present production of salt in the country including Kathiawar and Travancore is about 5 crore maunds and the consumption including States is 5½ crore maunds: the difference represents the dependence of this country upon imported salt.

(c) Production has increased in Government works in Rajputana and in private factories in Madras. In Rajputana production has risen from the average of 1 crore 8 lakh maunds to 1 crore 40 lakh maunds this year and in Madras from the average of 1 crore 33 lakh maunds to 1 crore 65 lakh maunds. Unfortunately in Bombay production fell from 115 lakh maunds to about 60 lakh maunds owing to cyclones, unseasonal rains and labour and communal troubles.

(d) It is Government's intention to issue a Salt Control Order very shortly. Control of production in the sense of discouraging the opening of new factories or extending existing factories is being removed. The control of production envisaged by the Salt Control Order will be designed to secure conditions which would result in increased production of salt and improvement in quality of the salt produced.

(e) The price of salt has come down in some parts of the country since the duty has been removed. The areas in which it has come down and the extent of the drop is:—

Assam and Bengal	Average fall of -/-/6 per seer.
Madras	Average fall of -/-/6 per seer
North C. P., Ajmer	Average fall of -/-/6 per seer.
and Gujrat

(f) Salt is being freely manufactured by people in the coastal areas of Orissa and Bengal. The extent of the manufacture can be estimated at about 5 lakh maunds per year. In Madras manufacture of salt by people under the Gandhi-Irwin pact has been controlled to allow them enough salt for their own and surrounding villages. Over a lakh of maunds of salt are made under these conditions in the province. It is proposed to remove all restrictions on private manufacture of salt, Government control being retained only on organised manufacture.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner having exhausted his quota.

MANUFACTURE OF SUGAR BY CENTRIFUGAL OPEN PLANT SYSTEM

339. Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state Government's policy regarding the manufacture of sugar by centrifugal open plant system?—

- Is it a fact that manufacture of sugar by this process is prohibited?
- Are Government aware that such a plant was started at Chhindwara in Central Provinces?
- Is it a fact that the Central Excise Department ordered it to be closed down?
- Do Government propose to lay on the table of the House a statement giving all the relevant facts of the case?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The Sugar Control Order covers all kinds of sugar (sugar being defined as anything containing 90 per cent or more of sucrose by weight), and the Government have been regulating the production, movement and prices of factory made, that is, vacuum pan sugar only. The Honourable Member is presumably referring to khandsari sugar produced by the open pan system. This is the concern of the Provincial Governments concerned.

Khandsari is important only in the United Provinces where it is produced in large quantities, about a lakh of tons annually. In other Provinces, it is produced in very negligible quantities. The policy of the U. P. Government has not been to discourage its production except in factory areas.

(b) No. Except, perhaps, in Bombay where it is understood, khandsari manufacture was prohibited last year.

(c) Government have no knowledge of this.

(d) No.

(e) Does not arise.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Government thinking of removing all control from sugar in the near future?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We have already taken a decision to decontrol sugar and gur.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: With effect from?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is being worked out in the department.

NATIONALIZATION OF INDUSTRIES

340. Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement embodying the policy of Government so far as nationalization of industries is concerned?

(b) Is there any scheme under contemplation of Government for this purpose? If not, do Government propose to take up the matter now?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). A Statement of industrial policy was issued by the Government of India in April, 1945 and referred amongst other things to the question of nationalisation. The whole subject is, however, now being reconsidered and Government hope to make an announcement shortly.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Within what period is the announcement likely to be made? 'Shortly' can be interpreted to mean anything.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: In the course of the next one or two months.

INDUSTRIALIZATION OF INDIA

341. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether Government are aware that many experts from foreign countries are available for industrialization of India?

(b) If so, what steps have Government taken so far, to obtain the services of such experts?

(c) Do Government propose to make a plan of intensive manufacture of machinery extending over a definite period?

(d) Have Government done anything in the matter so far?

(e) If not, when do Government propose to move in the matter?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) first class experts are difficult to get from foreign countries on account of rehabilitation that is going in those countries, but some experts are available for work in India, specially from Germany.

(b) to (e). Various industrial concerns in India were circularised to estimate their requirements of technical personnel to be recruited from abroad. Replies were received from a very large number of firms requiring over 200 experts of different kinds. These requirements of various industries were communicated to the Indian Military Mission in Berlin who have made necessary enquiries. Some firms have been able to secure suitable experts and necessary travel facilities have been given to bring these experts over to India. Steps are also being taken to get some experts from Japan on the requisition of industries. Industries have also been helped to get experts from America on a short-term basis. Several nationals of enemy countries, who were interned in India during the war have been made available to various industries requiring their services.

Government had constituted a Panel on "Industrial Plant & Machinery" industry. The Report of the Panel is now under examination. Meanwhile, the question whether this industry should be selected for short-term execution will be discussed with Provinces and important Indian States at a conference proposed to be held early in December.

Pending the formation of such a plan the Government of India sponsored in 1946 a delegation to the U. K. under the chairmanship of Mr. Krishnaraj Thackersey with a view to establishing a Textile Machinery manufacturing concern in the country. An agreement was reached between this Delegation and the U. K. firm of Textile Machinery Manufacturers, and a Company has been formed under the name of National Machinery Manufacturers Ltd. This Company will shortly set up its plant near Bombay.

Attempts are being made to make available the surplus resources of Ordnance Factories for the manufacture of machinery requirements of industries, and, in some cases, the industries have availed themselves of this opportunity. All schemes for expansion of manufacturing facilities submitted to Government have been supported and technical advice has been given in many cases to modify the plants to suit the country's requirements. Bids have been made for securing suitable plant and equipment from Germany for extending the manufacture of machines in India. Four officers of I. and S. Ministry are helping in selecting equipment and machinery from Germany. Some of these plants have already arrived and are being allocated to various industries. Along with these plans, a certain number of foreign technicians are also being brought in on a contract basis.

Shri Gopikrishna Vijayavargiya: Is there any idea of getting experts from Russia also?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Yes, if they are available.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: May I take it that a definite plan for the manufacture of machinery would be available within a short time to the public?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We are working on that line.

Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur: May I know whether the Government has made any effort to get experts from America?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Yes, that is what I have stated.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know from the Honourable Minister whether 50 per cent of the capital is invested in foreign countries and whether managing agency also ought to be given to them?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: No decision on those points has been taken, but each case will be considered on its merits, and the interests of Indian capital will be safeguarded.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: With regard to the textile manufacturing plan to be established in India and the arrangement which the Honourable Member said is being entered into by Mr. Thackersay with some firms in the United Kingdom, I would like to know whether one of the conditions of that arrangement is that the United Kingdom people should have a share in the capital and also whether they would have their own managing agency?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Well, that is a matter for private arrangement but I think their share in the capital will not exceed 30 per cent.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is it not one of the terms of the Fiscal Policy Commission Report that foreign capital and foreign managing agents ought not to be allowed in this country except on special terms and for a special period, and also except with the approval of the Central Government? If so, what steps are the Government taking to scrutinise the arrangements before they are finalized?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: So far as this particular enterprise is concerned, the foreign capital will not exceed 26 to 30 per cent. So far as the other aspects of the question are concerned, Government will see to it that Indian interests are in no way prejudiced.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: The Honourable Member said that some of the Ordnance Factories have been closed down and their equipment has been made available for the manufacture of machinery. How many Ordnance Factories have been closed down?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Sir, I cannot give definite information—Ordnance Factories are under the Defence Ministry.

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid it hardly arises out of this question.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Did I understand the Honourable Member, in the course of his reply, to say that it is the policy of the Government to close down some of the Ordnance Factories and to utilise their equipment for the manufacture of machinery?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Sir, it is really a matter for the Defence Ministry.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Will the Government be pleased to state if they have approached any friendly foreign Government to open a machinery manufacturing plant in this country?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We are negotiating with different countries. Of course we have not been able to achieve any results which I can report to the House but that is a matter which is being seriously considered by the Government.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if Government are aware that the development of machine tool manufacturing in this country is being impeded by the lack of facilities for high grade training in machine drawing and designing?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That also is under consideration.

PROJECT TO CONNECT AMRAOTI WITH NARKHED BY RAIL

342. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government are aware that there was a proposal to connect Amraoti with Narkhed by rail?

(b) If so, what has happened to this project?

(c) Is there any possibility of its being taken up again?

(d) Are Government aware that this project would be highly helpful for the development of the areas through which the railway line would pass?

(e) Are Government aware that much of the tract through which it will pass is in great need of better facilities of transport?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) The Project is under investigation.

(c) Does not arise.

(d) This is under examination.

(e) This question will be settled by the Central Board of Transport when the Project is considered by them in close co-relation with facilities existing or anticipated in the alternative forms of surface transport.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I ask the Honourable Member, on his reply to clause (a), whether a scheme for the Amraoti-Narkhed line had already got very high priority even as back as back as 1930?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: That is perfectly true, Sir. But the whole question has had to be reconsidered in the light of present circumstances and what we have done now is to call for a report from the Railway concerned which is the G. I. P. Ry. I think portions of that report have already been received and we are having the whole scheme submitted to further examination from the point of view of whether it will be remunerative for the Railway to construct this new line.

Shri M. S. Aney: Is the Honourable Member aware that a survey had already taken place about the Amraoti-Narkhed line? Do they contemplate to have another survey made?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Before we come to a final decision on that question, there are certain points arising from the present circumstances of railways which have to be taken into account. I will tell the Honourable Member briefly what they are. First of all, at present the Railways have to be careful with regard to the money that they allot for fresh capital expenditure, due to the financial position of the Railways. Secondly, there is a more vital question: in view of the prevailing scarcity of building materials of all kinds, it is necessary for the Railways to take care that their new construction lines are such as are really called for by the traffic requirements of the area. Because, as the Honourable Member is aware, new railway construction makes a very big demand on the existing supply of building materials and, therefore, the Railways in the public interest have to be extremely careful in this matter.

PROJECT TO CONNECT AMRAOTI WITH BOMBAY-NAGPUR MAIN LINE

343. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state what steps, if any, are being taken to place Amraoti on the main line between Bombay and Nagpur?

(b) What is the present position of the project?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The question of diverting the main line between Bombay and Nagpur via Amraoti has been investigated recently, and in view of the poor financial prospects revealed by the Traffic Report, the Project has been dropped.

(b) As already stated in reply to part (a), the Project has been dropped.

IMPROVEMENT OF TELEPHONE SERVICE IN DELHI

344. *Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications please state whether Government propose to take any steps to improve the present telephone arrangements in Delhi? If so, what?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: Yes, Sir. The following steps have already been taken or are being taken to improve the telephone service in Delhi:

(i) Replacement of time-worn equipment of 1500 lines at Secretariat Exchange by 2000 lines at Connaught Place exchange. This may be completed by the end of August, 1948.

(ii) Attempts are being made to replace the time-worn equipment of 1670 lines in the Lothian Exchange.

(iii) With the partition of India, a large number of trained mechanics have left for Pakistan. Arrangements are being made for training of new staff.

(iv) A number of experienced telephone engineers have been posted at Delhi. The telephone service is showing signs of improvement and further improvement is expected in the near future.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: When do Government propose to restore the telephone connections that were recently cut off?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: So far as I know all the connections that were recently cut off have been restored.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Who has told the Honourable Member that the telephone service in Delhi has improved recently?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: My personal experience.

Mr. B. Paker Sahib Bahadur: Is the Government aware, Sir, that where ever the Government has undertaken the telephone enterprise, it has failed and that it has got on very unsatisfactorily—not only now but even before partition?

Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: Is the Honourable Member aware that his own telephone is out of order for hours every day?

Shri H. J. Khandekar: Is the Honourable Member aware of the fact that any telephone conversation between two persons is heard by a third one?

The Honourable Dr. Shama Prasad Mookerjee: (i). Rs. 41,57,000.

(ii) Rs. 27,43,865.

(iii) Other controls administered by the Ministry of Industry and Supply at present relate to Coal and Newsprint. Annual expenditure in respect of these are:—

(a) Coal—Rs. 17,40,192.

(b) Newsprint—Rs. 87,595.

SUPPLY OF CHEMICAL FERTILIZERS TO AGRICULTURISTS

348. *Shri V. 1. Munishwami Pillai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state what were the total requirements of the agriculturists of fertilizers (chemicals) province-wise during the year 1946-47 and what were the quantities made available to them?

(b) What were the different chemicals and quantities supplied to Indian Dominion from the world pool?

(c) Are Government aware that due to meagre supplies of fertilizers, much of the land (under 'Grow More Food Campaign and otherwise) prepared for cultivation had to go fallow?

(d) What steps do Government propose to take to supply large quantities of fertilizers during 1947-48 to enable ryots to undertake intensive cultivation?

(e) What are the recommendations of the Fertilizer Mission that toured India two years back and what have Government done to implement their recommendations?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) A statement showing the indents of the different provinces for chemical fertilizers during the year 1946/47 as well as the quantities allocated to them for that year is placed on the table.

(b) A statement showing the different Chemicals and quantities allocated to India by the International Emergency Food Council is placed on the table.

(c) So far as Government are aware no land is left fallow for want of fertilizers alone. It is, however, true that the yield from land which does not get enough fertilizers is poor.

(d) (i) Due to World shortage of Nitrogenous fertilizers, India has not been able to secure allocation of even 50 per cent. of her requirements of these fertilizers from the world pool. In order to make good this shortage for the current fertilizer year, producing countries outside the I.E.F.C. are being approached directly and negotiations are being carried on for the purchase of fertilizers from those sources on a barter system. So far we have been able to get a promise of 15,000 tons of sulphate of Ammonia from the U.S.S.R. for which, however, the price asked for is nearly 40 per cent. higher than that payable for I.E.F.C. allocations.

(ii) In order to step up the indigenous—production, assistance has been given in respect of petrol, steel etc. to the Travancore Factory.

(iii) Steps are being taken to develop the Superphosphate Industry in India.

(e) A summary of the recommendations of the Technical Mission appointed to advise on the production of artificial fertilizers in India will be found at pp. 40 and 41 of the report submitted by that mission. A copy of the report is available in the Library.

The Government of India have decided to construct a factory capable of producing 3,50,000 tons per annum of Ammonia Sulphate at Sindri in Bihar.

TOTAL REQUIREMENTS OF AGRICULTURISTS PROVINCE-WISE FOR 1946-47 AND THE QUANTITIES ALLOCATED TO THEM

Name of Province	Sulphate of Ammonia		Ammonium Phosphate
	Requirement	Allocation	Requirement	Allocation
	Tons	Tons	Tons	Tons
1. Bengal	15,000	14,400	3,000	644.30
2. Bihar	22,000	12,000	Adequate quantity.	1,100
3. Orissa	3,000	3,000	2	..
4. U. P.	25,000	20,000	1,800	600
5. Bombay	30,000	21,300	15,000	1,200
6. C. P.	3,000	2,000	1,100	1,059
7. Madras	70,000	61,000	6,000	5,910
8. Punjab	2,500	2,000	5	..
9. Sind	3,000	2,808	..	..
10. N. W. F. P.	70	50	..	..
11. Asam	155	155	..	5

I.E.F.C. ALLOCATIONS FOR 1946-47.

SULPHATE OF AMMONIA										Quantity
Name of Country										L. Tons
1. U. K.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	1,39,638
2. Canada.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	12,600
3. Belgium	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	11,940
Total										1,64,178
AMMONIUM PHOSPHATE
1. Canada	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	10,150
AMMONIUM NITRATE
1. Canada	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	6,600

I.E.F.O. ALLOCATIONS FOR 1947-8.

SULPHATE OF AMMONIA										Quantity
Name of Country										L. Tons
1. U. K.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	59,626
2. Belgium	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	27,058
3. U. S. A.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	17,410
4. Canada	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	1,741
Total										1,05,835
AMMONIUM PHOSPHATE
1. Canada	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	4,464
2. U. S. A.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	2,790
3. Belgium	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	2,000
Total										9,254
AMMONIUM NITRATE
1. Canada	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	7,950
SODIUM NITRATE
1. Chile	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	21,875
CALCIUM NITRATE
1. Norway	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	.	1,000

DELEGATIONS SENT FOR PROCUREMENT OF FOOD-GRAINS FROM ABROAD

345. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) the name of the Delegations sent to the various countries from the 1st August, 1946 to the 31st October, 1947, by the Government of India for the purpose of procuring foodgrain of all kinds;

(b) the result of each Delegation and the quantity of foodgrains actually procured and received in various parts of India together with the names of the ports they were received at;

(c) the total cost paid to the sellers of such quantity of grain imported into this country; and

(d) the expenses incurred by Government in sending each delegation to foreign countries, separately?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) (1) Food Mission to Argentina in September 1946 led by Diwan Chaman Lal.

(2) Visit to Middle East and Abyssinia in September 1946 by an officer of the Food Ministry, Mr. Ijaz Ahmed.

(3) Food Mission to Argentina in August, 1947 led by Mr. J. Vesugar.

(4) Visit to Iraq and Iran in September 1947 by an officer of the Food Ministry, by H. L. Khanna.

(5) Food Delegation to Australia in October 1947 led by Sir Raghunath Paranjapye.

(b) (1) Government of India had purchased 3,60,000 tons of foodgrains in Argentina out of which there was difficulty in obtaining export permits for about 3,20,000 tons. Diwan Chaman Lal Mission succeeded in obtaining export permits from the Argentine Government for this quantity.

(2) The visit of Mr. Ijaz Ahmed to Middle East and Abyssinia was of an exploratory character to find out the extent and possibilities of obtaining foodgrains from these countries. As a result of this visit it was possible to make purchases of foodgrains through private trade from Aden and Ethiopia on the basis of part payment of cost of the foodgrains in textiles

(3) Vesugar Mission was able to procure 6.5 lakh tons of foodgrains from Argentina.

(4) Mr. Khanna was able to purchase 12,700 tons of barley from Iraq. Negotiations with Iran Government for purchase of barley were not successful.

(5) The negotiations with the Australian Government for supply of wheat are still proceeding.

Out of 6.5 lakh tons of foodgrains purchased by Vesugar Mission a quantity of about 19,000 tons has already arrived in India. The name of the ports at which this consignment was cleared and its allocation to various parts of India are given below:—

Kind of grain	Quantity in tons	Port of clearance	Allocation
Wheat	9300	Madras Calcutta	6000 Madras
			3300 Bihar
			Orissa
			Collieries Depot
Maize	9528	Bombay	U. P.
			Bombay
			Hyderabad

Total quantities which have left Argentine upto 20th November 1947 are:—

Wheat	57,281 tons
Maize	119,794 tons
Barley	69,792 tons

(c) 440,000 tons of grains received from Argentine was on a barter basis against 60,000 tons of hessian to be supplied by India. The exact cost of grain cannot, therefore, be worked out yet. In approximate figures the c.i.f. price of all the 650,000 tons of grains would work out to Rs. 15 per maund.

The c.i.f. price of Iraq barley purchased by Mr. Khanna works out to Rs. 13 per maund.

(d) (1) Diwan Chaman Lal's Delegation—Rs. 72,000 appr.

(2) Mr. Ijaz Ahmed's visit to Iraq and Abyssinia—Rs. 6,500 appr.

(3) Mr. Vesugar's Mission—Rs. 33,900 appr.

(4) Mr. Khanna's visit to Iran and Iraq—Rs. 7,000 appr.

(5) Mr. Vishnu Sahay's delegation—Rs. 25,000 appr.

Total Rs. 1,44,400.

POISONOUS BURMA BEANS IMPORTED INTO MADRAS

346. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Government of India had imported Burma beans for Madras, which were found to contain hydrogencyanic poison?

(b) If so, is it a fact that several persons fell ill and some also died?

(c) To which parts of India other than Madras, were these beans also supplied?

(d) From whom were these beans purchased and what action have Government taken against the sellers?

(e) Have Government taken any steps to see that in future no such beans are imported in any part of India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad.—(a) The Government of India did not import any Burma beans. A quantity stated to be about 16,000 tons was imported by the trade in Madras on their own account.

(b) The Madras Government reported that a number of people were taken ill by eating these beans. It is not known if any person actually died.

(c) The stocks in Madras were frozen by the Madras Government and the quantity has not been allowed to be moved to any other part of the country.

(d) and (e). Government of India have no information about the actual sellers in Burma as the beans were not imported by them. Imports of Beans of all kinds is at present completely banned.

EXPENDITURE ON TEXTILE, IRON STEEL AND OTHER CONTROL DEPARTMENTS

347. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the total expenditure per year, on maintenance of the following Control Departments.

(i) Textile Department;

(ii) Steel and Iron Department; and

(iii) other such departments, which come within the purview of the Honourable Minister?

TRANSFER OF TELEPHONE EQUIPMENT FROM INDIA TO PAKISTAN.

349. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications please state whether any telephone equipment was transferred from India to Pakistan (i) between 1st January and 15th August 1947, and (ii) after 15th August 1947?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Between the 1st January and the 15th August, 1947, the territories which now constitute the Dominion of Pakistan formed part of India before partition. During the period from the 1st January to the 1st July 1947, there was no restriction of any sort on the issues and movement of stores to and from territories which now constitute the Dominions of India and Pakistan. On the 1st July, 1947, however, orders were issued that stores should be issued only for maintenance purposes or urgent works with the concurrence of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Ministry of Communications. On the 21st July, 1947, free movement of stores within the territories now forming the Indian Union was permitted. Between the 1st July and the 15th August, 1947, orders were issued for the release of stores to territories now constituting Pakistan in only two cases and this was done under the orders of the Partition Council. It may, however, be pointed out that stores and assets held in Pakistan areas on the 14th August, 1947, have been taken into account for the purpose of partition of assets and liabilities between the two Dominions.

(ii) After the 15th August, 1947 and upto now, orders have been issued for issue of stores to Pakistan in two cases only. The telegraph and telephone stores issued to Pakistan after the 15th August, 1947, will be set off against the share of stores and equipment to which the Pakistan Government is entitled according to the decision of the Partition Council.

DETERIORATION OF TELEGRAPH SERVICES.

350. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications please state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the deterioration in the telegraph services during the last three months; and

(b) the steps Government propose to take to restore their efficiency?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the answer given by me to starred question No. 156 by Shri Gopal Narain on the 20th November, 1947.

NEGOTIATION FOR IMPORT OF FOODGRAINS FROM SOVIET UNION.

351. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Government of the Soviet Union has been approached by the Government of India for import of food grains as pointed out by him in his press conference of the 28th September, 1947; and

(b) what is the outcome of such negotiations and whether there is any likelihood of getting food grains from that country?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) The matter is still under negotiation.

DIVISION OF ASSETS OF N. W. RAILWAY BETWEEN INDIA AND PAKISTAN.

352. *Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state whether Government propose to lay on the table of the House a copy of the agreement arrived at with the Government of Pakistan regarding the partition of the assets of the late North Western Railway?

(b) Has the physical division of the assets been completed?

(c) If not, why not?

(d) Is it a fact that while the Indian Railway authorities have been taking steps to fulfil their part of the undertaking, the Pakistan authorities have not been supplying stores and repairing the rolling stock that they undertook to do as one of the terms of the partition?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) I lay a statement on the table of the House giving the details of the recommendations of the Expert Committee constituted for the partition of the assets of the late North Western Railway.

(b) The physical division of the assets has not been completed except insofar as immovable assets are concerned. In respect of locomotives, carriages and wagons, the major portion of the assets due to India are already with us. The recalculation of the quantities consequent on the Radcliffe Award is being undertaken and until this is finished the exact position will not be known. The physical division of other assets has not taken place.

(c) The disruption of communications consequent on the Punjab disturbances and the abnormal conditions obtaining on both the systems, have up till now prevented action being taken to finalise the position. Steps have already been taken, however, to effect the division as soon as possible.

(d) It is correct that Pakistan Authorities have not fulfilled their obligations in respect of the assistance to be given to the Eastern Punjab Railway in repairing locomotives, carriages and wagons.

STATEMENT

In June 1947, the Partition Office decided to set up Expert Committees to make recommendations to the Partition Council, through the Steering Committee, on the administrative problems arising from partition. A Sub-Committee of Expert Committee No. II for Railways was entrusted with the work of distribution of assets and liabilities.

So far as immovable assets are concerned, the Sub-Committee agreed that their location should govern their division. It was also agreed that movable assets including stores and rolling stock should be distributed with due regard to the requirements of both sections. Certain measures for mutual assistance required by the Railways of the two dominions from each other in respect of major repairs to rolling stock and other items, until such time as each dominion could make its own arrangements, were agreed upon. The following are the details of such measures in respect of N. W. Railway:—

(a) Assistance from the Pakistan Government to India

Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon Workshops, Moghalpura (Lahore).	Broad Gauge Locomotives, carriages and wagon and narrow gauge locomotives and carriages belonging to India (E. P. Railway) will be given periodical overhaul, intermediate overhaul and nominated repairs (repairs arising out of accidents, casualties etc.) at these workshops.
--	---

These workshops will also manufacture and/or recondition for the Eastern Punjab Railway for a period which may not extend beyond two years:

(a) parts and fittings of locomotives, carriages and wagons;

(b) machines, machine parts and tools.

The Carriage and Wagon Workshops will construct coaches for the Eastern Punjab Railway and will machine timber for the workshops at Kalka.

(b) Assistance from the Indian Government to Pakistan

Crescenting Plant, Phillaur.	This depot will treat wooden sleepers for the Pakistan Section of the N. W. Railway.
------------------------------	--

MALADMINISTRATION OF EAST PUNJAB RAILWAY.

353. *Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state whether the East Punjab Railway is now in full working order?

(b) Are Government aware of the complaints about maladministration of this Railway?

(c) What arrangements have so far been made for office and residential accommodation for the staff of this Railway?

(d) How far the lack of such arrangements is responsible for the maladministration of this Railway?

(e) Are Government aware that the various Departments on the East Punjab Railway are understaffed?

(f) If so, what steps have been taken to complete the staff?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The E. P. Railway is not yet in full working order.

(b) No.

(c) The Headquarters Office of the E. P. Railway, except for the Traffic Accounts Branch for which office accommodation has been provided at Jullundur, is located in the Mall Barracks, Khyber Pass, Delhi. The staff have been accommodated partly in permanent quarters at Delhi and partly in temporary quarters at Muradnagar and Jullundur.

(d) Does not arise.

(e) There is a shortage among certain categories of the lower paid staff in the Locomotive, Transportation and Engineering Departments, but the existing staff is adequate to run essential services.

(f) The shortages referred to are being made up by recruiting suitable men from the open market and training them.

IMPLEMENTATION OF CENTRAL PAY COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATIONS RELATING TO RAILWAY EMPLOYEES.

354. *Shri Khandubhai K. Desai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state when the Government of India propose to implement the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission relating to Railway Employees?

(b) Are Government aware of the discontent among the pre-1931 entrants in the South India Railway and Oudh Tirhut Railway owing to the low scales of salary prevailing on those Railways as compared to the other Class I State Railways?

(c) Do Government propose to remove the disparity and bring their salaries on a level with those on other Railways?

(d) When do Government propose to publish the award of the Adjudicator?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Orders regarding the implementation of the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission, in so far as they relate to Pay and Allowances have been issued on the 31st October 1947, the other recommendations of the Central Pay Commission are at present under consideration. It is not possible to lay down the exact date by which orders on these recommendations will be issued.

(b) Yes.

(c) Government have given the option to the pre-31 entrants on all Indian Government Railways to elect for the scales of pay which have been introduced on the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission. This should result in the removal of the disparity referred to.

(d) Government regret to say that due to preoccupations with more urgent matters, it has not been possible yet to undertake a study of the Award but it is hoped that this will now be done and thereafter the Award will be published without further delay.

RETRENCHMENT ON SOUTH INDIAN RAILWAY.

355. *Shri Khandubhai K. Desai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state when Government propose to define their policy in regard to the retrenchment of railway employees appointed after September 1945?

(b) Are Government aware that more than 100 employees of the South India Railway alone have been discharged as surplus to requirements?

(c) Are Government aware that this is a violation of the undertaking given to the Railway employees recently?

(d) Have Government received any representation from the South India Railway Workers' Union, Trichinopoly, complaining about unfair promotions, transfers and punishments?

(e) If so, what action has been taken by Government so far?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The Government have already defined their policy in regard to the retrenchment of railway employees appointed after the 15th of September 1945 and this is that such staff if declared surplus are retrenched only if alternative employment is not available for them.

(b) No. Some temporary employees and substitutes appointed subsequent to the 15th of September 1945 have, however, been rendered surplus consequently on absorption of War service candidates. As far as possible these men are being absorbed against other temporary vacancies. The exact figure of men discharged as surplus is not readily available.

(c) No. The undertaking referred to related to the staff who were in service on 15th September 1945 and not to those engaged after this date.

(d) No.

(e) Does not arise.

DISTRIBUTION OF CAUSTIC SODA, SODA ASH, ETC. TO PROVINCES.

356. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) what control the Government of India exercise over the distribution of caustic soda, soda ash, sodium permanganate and such other chemicals;

(b) whether any quota is fixed for each province and if so on what basis;

(c) whether the above chemicals are distributed to individual consumers also, and

(d) if the answer to part (b) above be in the negative,—

(i) what facilities have been given to provinces for meeting their requirements in this respect;

(ii) whether Government are aware that without a proper quota being given to the provinces the progress of development of their industries is being hampered; and

(iii) whether Government propose to consider the desirability of fixing quotas for provinces according to their needs?

The Honourable Dr. Shama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) There is no statutory control over any of the chemicals mentioned. The main importers and producers have agreed to distribute caustic soda, soda ash and potassium chlorate, which are in short supply, in consultation with the Directorate General of Industry and Supply. There are no such arrangements for the distribution of Sodium Permanganate.

(b) No, Sir.

(c) Yes, Sir, in the manner already explained.

(d) (i), (ii) and (iii). I shall have the possibility of fixing provincial quotas examined; but the fixing of provincial quotas cannot alter the fact of inadequate supply.

SUPPLY OF SODA CAUSTIC TO COTTON MILLS AND ALL-INDIA SOAP MAKERS ASSOCIATION.

357. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether caustic soda is being supplied to cotton mills through the Textile Commissioner;

(b) whether the All-India Soap-makers' Association has been receiving any quota for distribution among its constituents; and

(c) how the requirements of individual soap-factories, i.e., those which are not members of any association, are being met?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Caustic soda is not under statutory control, but in order to distribute the available supplies as equitably as possible between the different industries the importers consult the Government authorities concerned. With regard to the Textile Industry, the distribution is made on the recommendation of the Textile Commissioner.

(b) No, Sir.

(c) Individual soap factories, whether or not they belong to any Association, buy their requirements directly from importers, who decide how much to sell to the soap industry, in consultation with the Directorate General of Industry and Supply.

DISTRIBUTION OF CAUSTIC SODA AND OTHER CHEMICALS BY I. C. I. (INDIA) LTD.

358. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether the I. C. I. (India) Ltd. distribute caustic soda, soda ash and such other chemicals only on permits issued by the Director of Chemicals to the Government of India.

(b) whether the said company distributes the above-mentioned chemicals on the requisition of the Provincial Governments also; and

(c) if the answer to part (b) above be in the negative, whether the Government of India propose to give authority for issuing permits for the above chemicals to the provincial governments who are primarily responsible for the development of Industry in their own areas?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) These Chemicals are not under statutory control. But in the interests of equitable distribution the I.C.I. (India) Ltd. distribute them in accordance with the suggestions of the Directorate General of Industry and Supply.

(b) No, Sir.

(c) As these chemicals are not under statutory control the question of empowering the Provincial Governments to issue permits does not arise.

SUPPLY OF SODA ASH TO GLASS MANUFACTURES

359. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the glass-manufacturers have been put to great difficulties due to acute shortage of supply of soda ash?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the desirability of meeting these demands in order to give proper facilities for manufacture of glass?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Yes, Sir; Government are aware of this fact.

(b) Yes, Sir. Licences for the import of this chemical are freely granted provided the price is not unreasonable. A portion of the stock available from Disposals has also been offered to the All-India Glass Manufacturers Federation. Government are making every effort to obtain increased imports and to step up indigenous production.

ABOLITION OF CONTROL OVER SALE OF CAUSTIC SODA AND OTHER CHEMICALS

360. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether the Government of India propose to consider the desirability of abolishing all control over the sale of caustic soda, soda ash and such other chemicals?

(b) If not, what are the reasons therefor?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) There is no statutory control over the sale of the chemicals mentioned by the Honourable Member.

(b) Does not arise.

SUIT AGAINST GOVERNMENT FOR ILLEGAL SALE OF SALT BELONGING TO SUMANDI SALT FACTORY.

361. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Sub-Judge's Court of Cuttack has passed a decree for about a lakh of rupees as damages against the Government of India for illegally selling salt belonging to a lessee of the Sumandi Salt Factory within the jurisdiction of the Calcutta Collectorate?

(b) If the Government of India were not a party, why should the Public Treasury pay this huge amount of damages?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). A suit against Government is pending. Full information has been called for and when received will be laid on the table of the House.

GRANTS TO PROVINCES FOR 'GROW MORE FOOD CAMPAIGNS'

362. *Shri Jadubans Sahay: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) the amounts of money allotted to the provinces of Bihar, United Provinces, Madras, Bombay and Central Provinces during the years 1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47 for 'Grow More Food' Campaign;

(b) the actual expenditure incurred by each of the provinces out of the amount allotted; and

(c) the reasons, if any, for the Provinces for not spending the entire amount allotted by the Government of India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The information required is being collected and will be supplied when received.

ABOLITION OF ZAMINDARY SYSTEM

363. *Shri Jadubans Sahay: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the system of zamindari is going to be abolished in all the provinces of India?

(b) Do Government propose to set up a central committee of Experts whose advice may be available to the provinces for the reconstruction of the land system in the various provinces after the abolition of the zamindari system?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Land Tenure is a Provincial subject and as such the subject matter of this question is one with which the Provincial Governments are directly concerned. It may, however, be stated that Bills dealing with the subject are before the Legislatures of some Provinces while some other Provincial Governments also proposed to undertake legislation abolishing the Zamindari System.

There is no big zamindari land in the Delhi Province or in Coorg. Most of the land owners cultivate their land themselves.

In Ajmer Merwara, Zamindari System only exists in the Istimari area. A bill to give the tenants fixity of tenure and ensure fair rent and compensation for improvements on ejection is under preparation and will be introduced in the Legislature as soon as it is ready.

(b) Government have no such intention as conditions differ considerably from province to province. Provincial Governments will take such action as appears to them feasible. If they need guidance from the Centre, the Government of India will examine how best it can be given, if and when a request to that effect is received.

REMITTANCE OF STATION EARNINGS BEYOND KANCHRAPARA ON B.A. RAILWAY TO EASTERN PAKISTAN

364. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state whether Government are aware that the authorities of the East Indian Railway issued an order in the beginning of August last directing that the earnings of all stations on the Bengal-Assam Railway beyond Kanchrapara be forwarded from the midnight of the 14th August, 1947, to the Railway authorities in Eastern Pakistan?

(b) Are Government aware that the order was subject to modification by the Award of the Bengal Boundary Commission?

(c) Was the order passed with the approval of the Government of India? If so, what are the reasons therefor?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes; Government are aware that such orders were issued.

(b) Yes; it was realized that modifications would be necessary as a result of the Award of the Bengal Boundary Commission.

(c) Yes; the orders formed part of the many that had to be issued well ahead of time in order to ensure that the maximum degree of partition was achieved immediately after the appointed date.

MONETARY LOSS DUE TO DELAY IN RETROCESSION OF SECTIONS OF B.A. RAILWAY APPORTIONED TO INDIA UNDER BOUNDARY COMMISSION AWARD

355. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state whether Government are aware that large portions of the Bengal-Assam Railway which had been placed in Pakistan under the Notional Division, had come within the Dominion of India under the award of the Boundary Commission?

(b) Have the Government of India taken over full administrative control and management of these portions now? If so, on what date?

(c) Are Government aware that for over 10 weeks after the date of the Award of the Bengal Boundary Commission, these portions remained under complete administrative control of Pakistan, while the salaries, allowances and grain concessions payable to the staff were met in full by the Dominion of India? If so, why was this state of things allowed to be continued so long?

(d) Who were the persons responsible for this? What action, if any, Government propose to take against them? If none, why?

(e) Are Government aware of the dislocation of traffic and inconvenience caused by it to the public?

(f) Are Government aware that vast sums of traffic receipts of railway stations affected by the Award have gone over to Pakistan and have been lost to the Indian Dominion? If so, what is the amount involved?

(g) How is it proposed to recover this amount from the Government of Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes; on 8th November 1947.

(c) Yes. There was delay in obtaining the concurrence of the Pakistan Government to the taking over of these sections.

(d) Government are satisfied that the primary responsibility for the delay rests with the Pakistan authorities and no specific action seems called for.

(e) Government are not aware that there has been any dislocation of traffic or inconvenience to the public since through booking has continued.

(f) Traffic receipts at the stations concerned have been remitted to the E. B. Railway, but it is not accepted that the amounts have been lost to India. Information regarding the amounts involved is being obtained and will be laid on the table of the House.

(g) Arrangements for the division of the earnings between Indian and Pakistan Railways exist under the provisions agreed between the two Dominions for the interchange of traffic. Moreover, sums collected by India on traffic booked to Calcutta include a share for Pakistan which it is believed will more than counterbalance the amounts due to India on the collections at the stations concerned.

SETTLEMENT OF DUES OF B. A. RAILWAY STAFF BY CHIEF AUDITOR, E. B. RAILWAY, CHITTAGONG

366. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state whether Government are aware of the following Circular issued by the Divisional Superintendent of Sealdah, East Indian Railway:

"Due to the disintegration of Bengal-Assam Railway it has been decided that the final settlement of Bengal-Assam Railway Staff, who retired, resigned or died prior to the 15th August, 1947 will be arranged by the Chief Auditor, East Bengal Railway, Chittagong. Personal file of papers with service sheet and all other documents have been forwarded to the Chief Auditor, East Bengal Railway, Chittagong, for necessary action and payment.

You are, therefore, directed to make further reference on the subject to the Chief Auditor, East Bengal Railway, Chittagong, and note that no further application on the subject will be entertained in this office".

(b) If so, at whose instance was this Circular issued? Was the approval of the Government of India obtained before the Circular was issued? If not, why not?

(c) Are Government aware that in accordance with the above circular the employees of the Bengal-Assam Railway who retired, resigned or died prior to the 15th August, 1947, have since applied to the Chief Auditor, East-Bengal Railway, Chittagong, in Eastern Pakistan, but they have either been refused payment or their petitions have been ignored in spite of repeated reminders sent by them?

(d) What relief do Government propose to give to these unfortunate ex-employees?

(e) How are their claims proposed to be finally settled?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) According to the arrangements made at the time of partition, the authority responsible for closing the accounts of the B. A. Railway for the period up to 14th August 1947 is the E. B. Railway. The correct procedure would, therefore, be for the office from which the employee retired to prepare the settlement papers and send them on to the E. B. Railway for check and authorization of the claims.

(b) Please see answer to part (a).

(c) No instances of non-payment or unusual delay have been brought to the notice of Government, but further enquiries are being made. It is quite likely, however, that delays may have occurred, as it would have taken some time for the E. B. Railway office at Chittagong to begin normal functioning.

(d) and (e). Government are prepared to take all possible measures for the speedy settlement of all claims and are calling for a report from the authorities concerned.

ABOLITION OF SALT DEPARTMENT.

367. *Shri M. C. Veerabahu Pillai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether in view of the abolition of Salt Duty, Government propose to consider the abolition of the entire Salt Department and employment of its staff on urgent rehabilitation and refugee work?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the abolition of the licensing system as well, with a view to avoid shortage in the supply of salt and to encourage its production?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) The abolition of Salt Duty has been followed not by availability of cheap salt of good quality all over the country, but by scarcity and high prices of this essential foodstuff in many areas. This state of affairs has been due mainly to the total production in India being about 10 per cent. less than total requirements even on the present unsatisfactory standard of consumption, to imports being not as plentiful as necessary, to transport bottlenecks and to certain middlemen in the distributory chain trying to make inordinate profits. Government, therefore, take the view that some control over salt is unavoidable in present circumstances. The control they propose to exercise will not, however, be restrictive but designed to ensure a fair deal to the consumers without hitting the producers. A corps of salt staff will, therefore, have to be retained.

(b) It is clear from (a) above that the licensing system cannot be abolished except at great peril to the country. Licences will be issued freely to applicants and will be designed inter alia to assist private manufacturers in raising the quantity and quality of production and to control ex-factory prices in the interests of the consumer.

IMPLEMENTATION OF RECOMMENDATIONS OF COAL COMMITTEE

368. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply please state what steps are being taken to implement the recommendations of the Coal Committee in regard to (i) State acquisition of mineral rights; and (ii) conservation of metallurgical coal?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (i) The Governments of Bengal and Bihar have been addressed regarding the procedure and principles of acquisition of mineral rights and their replies are still awaited.

(ii) A Committee has been set up to prepare a programme of sand-stowing for the next 10 years.

It will take some time yet to put into effect the recommendations of the Indian Coalfields Committee regarding the conservation of metallurgical coal, e.g.

- (i) prohibition of supplies to other than essential consumers;
- (ii) beneficiation of lower quality coals by washing and blending; and
- (iii) curtailment of output.

Enforcement of (i) must be deferred until the production of good quality non-metallurgical coal is stepped up sufficiently to meet requirements e.g. of the Railways. A start on washing is being made shortly when the equipment on order by a private concern arrives. But a good deal of study on the laboratory and pilot plant scales must precede large scale measures of beneficiation. This will be one of the principal tasks of the Fuel Research Institute when it is ready. Implementation of (iii) must be done in consultation with the Provincial Governments concerned who have been addressed on certain ancillary matters.

IRREGULAR SUPPLY OF WHEAT AND SUGAR RATIONS IN AJMER AND BEAWAR

369. *Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state whether the Government of India are aware that the supply of sugar at the ration shops in Ajmer, Beawar and in the rural areas of the province has been totally stopped during the last several weeks?

(b) If so, what steps are being taken to ensure regular supply of sugar in Ajmer-Merwara in future, and do Government propose to make up the deficiency in the supply of sugar to the consumers? If not, why not?

(c) Are Government aware that the supply of wheat at the ration shops in Ajmer-Merwara has been reduced to 2 chhataks only?

(d) If so, what are the reasons for this?

(e) Do Government propose to take steps at an early date to restore the cut to the normal quota of 4 chhataks?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) Due to transport difficulties caused by the shortage of locomotives and wagons on the O. and T. Railway and disturbances in certain areas, sugar could not be moved to Ajmer-Merwara in sufficient quantities in September and October. Ajmer-Merwara has now received sugar sufficient for four months' consumption. The weekly rations in the Province have been temporarily raised to make up for short supplies during the period of shortage.

(c) Yes.

(d) Reduction became necessary because of low stocks which could not be replenished owing to an unexpected delay in the arrival of the wheat ship from which quota was allotted.

(e) Sufficient quantity has been allotted to Ajmer in order to enable the Administration to issue a 4 chhataks wheat ration and it will be possible for the Administration to restore the cut as soon as the allotted quantity arrives there. Every endeavour is being made to speed up despatches of quotas to Ajmer.

DEVELOPMENT OF CIVIL AVIATION IN RAJPUTANA AND CONSTRUCTION OF AERODROME AT AJMER

370. *Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether Government are aware that Ajmer City occupies the central position in Rajputana and as such, is eminently suited to form the basis for the development of Civil Aviation in Rajputana?

(b) If so, do Government propose to consider the question of granting licence to such persons as may take initiative in the matter?

(c) Do Government propose to set up an aerodrome at Ajmer and include Ajmer in one of the main air routes of India?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmed Kidwai: (a) and (c). There is at present no aerodrome in Ajmer. The Civil aviation development plan include the provision of a minor aerodrome there, but having regard to the requirements of India, as a whole, it occupies a low priority.

(b) The grant of licences for scheduled air transport service is the function of the Air Transport Licensing Board, who will certainly give due consideration to any application for licences for operating air services to and from Ajmer.

OPPRESSION OF TENANTS IN Istimbari AREAS

371. *Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the tenants in Istimbari areas do not enjoy legal security of tenure and they are oppressed by various sorts of exploitation by the Istimrardars and the money-lenders?

(b) Have Government received the draft tenancy legislation from the Special Officer appointed by Government for the purpose?

(c) Are Government aware that the draft tenancy legislation has been the subject matter of scrutiny by the sub-committee which consists of representatives of all interests?

(d) How much time Government propose to take to enact the draft legislation into law, and are Government aware that there is great discontent and dissatisfaction amongst the tenants of Ajmer-Merwara against their exploitation?

(e) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of giving any relief to the tenants, till the proposed legislation is enacted into law?

(f) If so, in what form, and if not, why not?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Government are aware of the position.

(b) Yes.

(c) Yes.

(d) A bill is under preparation and will be introduced in the legislature as soon as it is ready.

(e) and (f). The question of giving interim relief is difficult and complicated but is under consideration.

372. *[Withdrawn.]

REMOVAL OF CONTROL ON ARTICLES OTHER THAN FOOD

373. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have given any consideration to the Cut Motion passed by the last Assembly on decontrolling all commodities excepting food;

(b) if so, what controls have been so far removed; and

(c) what are the plans of Government to decontrol other commodities, and how long do Government propose to take before decontrolling the internal production and trade of essential commodities of daily consumption?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). The question of decontrolling the various articles has been examined by Government from time to time since March last, but so far it has been practicable to lift only the following control.

Newsprint: The Newspaper Control Order 1945 has been superseded by the Newsprint Control (No. 2) Order, 1947. Under the new Order, control on the consumption of Newsprint for printing newspapers and periodicals which are published at regular intervals of not more than one month, has been lifted with effect from 3rd April, 1947.

(c) Government propose to examine the desirability of decontrolling the other commodities as soon as possible. It is proposed to convene a conference of Ministers in charge of Industries in the Provinces and important Indian States, early in December to ascertain, among other things, the views of the Provinces on the subject.

Articles of daily consumption at present under control are paper, kerosene and textiles. The position in respect of these items will also be examined at the forthcoming conference.

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

PRODUCTION AND IMPORT OF SALT AND EXPENDITURE ON SALT DEPARTMENT.

5. Shri M. C. Veerabahu Pillai: Will the Honourable Minister for Industry and Supply be pleased to place on the table of the House a statement (Province-wise) of the total production and import of salt and the total expenditure on the Salt Department, during the past ten years?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Three separate statements containing the information required by the Honourable Member are placed on the table of the House.

PROCEDURE RE PRINTING OF PAPERS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Shri Biswanath Das (Orissa: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to make a submission on the question of papers laid on the Table. My experience of provincial Assemblies and Councils is that whenever papers are said to be laid on the Table, they are made available at once to the members of the House, but I find a different practice here. I would therefore submit to you, Sir, that it will add to our convenience if these statements and papers laid on the Table of the House are made available to the Honourable Members at once.

Mr. Speaker: I appreciate the Honourable Member's point and I entirely concur with him that all facilities should be given to Members to have those statements. The practice here has been that they are laid on the Table of the House and remain there during the day and any Member who wishes to see them can get them from the Secretary and see them. Then, they are placed on the Library Table and members who wish to see them can go to the library and see them. That is the present arrangement. If any further supplementing is necessary, I shall be glad to consider what steps need be taken in the matter.

Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur (Madras: Muslim): May I submit, Sir, that placing these statements on the Table here or in the Library does not enable the Members of the House to put any supplementary questions on the basis of the information contained in them. Therefore the question for which the statements are given by way of answer loses its value as a starred question.

Mr. Speaker: I don't think it is not possible for members to put in supplementary questions because the statements are laid on the Table here. The real difficulty is that long statements require to be studied and even if printed copies were at once given here to Honourable Members it is not possible for them to study them and put supplementary questions. Therefore it was, that I suggested on previous occasion that, in the case of long statements laid on the Table of the House, the Honourable Members, instead of putting supplementaries then and there, might study the statements and then table questions. If there is any point of urgency, then the procedure of Short Notice Question is also open. The difficulty cannot be solved by placing the statements elsewhere or making them available to the Honourable Members immediately in the House.

Dr. B. Pattabi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): The difficulty, Sir, is that the Secretary and other officers naturally rise by the time we rise and then they disappear before we can get to the Table and they gather here just simultaneously with ourselves. I am not complaining against them; they must have their grub as well as we. The real point is that placing on the Table as far as this House is concerned is absolutely useless and we cannot get at the papers. The other day you were good enough to say that important papers would be printed immediately. Now, the Instrument of Accession is one such. I thought you would have given orders for its being printed, but till today we have not got it. Hyderabad has now acceded and we do not know what has taken place without that paper.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member refers to the delay in supplying printed copies. I have ordered the printing of those papers, but Honourable Members will appreciate that while the Assembly is in session, every day there is a lot of printing that is going on. That is one thing. They would have also seen besides that the Honourable the Railway Member's speech which was delivered extempore was to be in the hands of members before there was any discussion about it.

Dr. B. Pattabi Sitaramayya: We thought that it was printed before he delivered it.

Mr. Speaker: Not at all.—So there are priorities and priorities. But I can assure Honourable Members that every effort will be made to see that these papers are distributed to members as early as possible.

ELECTIONS TO THE STANDING COMMITTEES FOR THE MINISTRIES OF EDUCATION, FOOD, HEALTH AND HOME AFFAIRS 705

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): Can we not introduce the system of printing the answers as is done in many other Provincial Assemblies?

Mr. Speaker: As I stated, I will consider the matter, but my personal inclination is not now in favour of it, owing to the changed set-up of the circumstances. I have, however, an open mind on the subject.

ELECTIONS TO THE STANDING COMMITTEES FOR THE MINISTRIES OF EDUCATION, FOOD, HEALTH AND HOME AFFAIRS

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Committees for the Ministries of Education, Food, Health and Home Affairs, 11 nominations in the case of the first two and 10 nominations in the case of the other two were received. Subsequently one member in case of each of the first two withdrew his candidature. As the number of the remaining candidates was thus equal to the number of vacancies in each of the four Committees, I declare the following members to be duly elected:—

I. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Education—

- (1) Dr. H. C. Mookerjee.
- (2) Pandit Hiralal Shastri.
- (3) Prof. Yashwant Rai.
- (4) Shri S. Radhakrishnan.
- (5) Prof. K. T. Shah.
- (6) Shri V. C. Kesava Rao.
- (7) Shrimati Ammu Swaminadhan.
- (8) Shri T. Channiah.
- (9) Shrimati Sucheta Kripalani.
- (10) Mr. Raghib Ahsan.

II. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Health—

- (1) Pandit Govind Malaviya.
- (2) Prof. Yashwant Rai.
- (3) Prof. N. G. Ranga.
- (4) Shri Satish Chandra Samanta.
- (5) Shri Brijlal Nandlal Biyani.
- (6) Mr. R. K. Sidhwa.
- (7) Shri L. Krishnaswami Bharthi.
- (8) Durbar Gopaldas A. Desai.
- (9) Shri M. R. Masani.
- (10) Saiyid Jafer Imam.

III. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Food—

- (1) Dr. N. B. Khare.
- (2) Shri Ramnarayan Singh.
- (3) Shrimati Kamala Chaudhri.
- (4) Dr. P. K. Sen.
- (5) Shri Vinayakrao B. Vaidya.
- (6) Shri Sunder Lall.
- (7) Shrimati D. Velayudan.
- (8) Dr. H. C. Mookerjee.
- (9) Dr. V. Subrahmanyam.
- (10) Mr. Jasimuddin Ahmed.

STATEMENT I.—Salt production Figures of the various Salt sources in British India.

(In thousand maunds)

Source	Year
	35-36	36-37	37-38	38-39	39-40	40-41	41-42	42-43	43-44	44-45	45-46
1. N. W. F. P.	5,47	5,14	5,70	5,65	6,01	6,11	7,71	10,71	6,74	8,05	8,84
2. Punjab	41,12	43,77	43,48	43,79	50,39	46,52	44,43	57,39	73,05	55,50	75,55
3. Rajputana Sources	83,94	78,29	72,26	1,11,57	83,34	1,08,51	1,37,03	49,60	1,39,16	1,03,24	86,38
4. U. P. & Bihar	1,06	94	1,11	96	1,18	1,34	1,75	1,44	1,54	99	1,11
5. Bengal	1	1	5	11	14	23	24	24	12	15	30
6. Orissa	7,85	4,96	7,87	9,68	11,26	3,47	10,30	12,79	7,73	8,08	9,71
7. Bombay	1,08,89	1,33,37	1,10,81	1,36,90	1,24,93	1,30,15	1,67,70	1,46,39	1,47,14	1,50,23	1,48,39
8. Madras	1,14,76	91,53	1,14,16	1,18,68	1,22,79	1,01,23	1,39,52	1,53,82	1,18,55	1,48,54	1,66,16
9. Sind	29,47	37,25	31,84	26,49	33,26	36,24	38,37	38,17	35,80	25,87	42,06

STATEMENT II.—Imports of salt into India from foreign countries.

(In thousand tons)

Port of Import	Year
	35-36	36-37	37-38	38-39	39-40	40-41	41-42	42-43	43-44	44-45	45-46
1. Karachi	063	040	061	050	039	036	057	093	407	...	...
2. Bombay	180	157	143	161	150	128	214	387	029	284	...
3. Madras	164	133	300	186	161	139	222	022	032	848	...
4. Calcutta	293	264	302	288	273	157	236	133	166	266	213
5. Chittagong	35	36	45	24	41	46	25	...	...	...	4
Total	328	300	347	312	314	203	261	133	166	266	217

STATEMENT III.—Expenditure for collection of Salt Revenue including manufacturing charges, cost of Salt and other revenue expenditure of the Salt Section of the Central Excises and Salt Department Northern India.

(In thousand rupees)

Year	*N. I. Salt Revenue Department		North Eastern India		North Central India		Madras		Bombay		Bengal		Orissa		Sind		India General		Total	Remarks
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1937-38	62,20	...	...	...	...	20,26	17,58	3,78	82	1,29	26	1,06,19
1938-39	60,14	...	...	...	...	21,20	16,18	3,76	82	1,51	24	1,03,85
1939-40	61,90	...	...	...	...	19,94	16,72	1,53	82	1,43	15	1,02,49
1940-41	61,29(a)	4,91(b)	...	...	...	18,31	15,98	1,62	83	1,39	7	1,01,40
1941-42	61,01(a)	1,74(b)	...	...	...	10,97	18,49	1,61	84	1,38	12	96,16
1942-43	66,13(a)	1,75(b)	...	...	...	19,13	21,50	1,54	83	1,50	12	1,12,50
1943-44	77,49(a)	2,09(b)	...	...	...	20,19	24,89	1,61	83	1,60	16	1,28,86
1944-45	78,17(a)	2,73(b)	40(c)	...	...	20,25	18,70	1,74	...	1,71	13	1,23,83
1945-46	...	...	Audited figures not yet available.
1946-47	...	...

*Had jurisdiction over the whole of Northern India from Bihar upto the N. W. F. P. (including Rajputana & Ajmer-Merwara).

(a) North Western India comprising of the N. W. F. P., Punjab, Delhi, Rajputana, Ajmer-Merwara and upto 1943-44 Western U. P. and thereafter without it.

(b) North Eastern India comprising of Bihar, and Eastern U. P. upto 1943-44 and thereafter of Orissa and Bengal outside Calcutta and Chittagong.

(c) North Central India comprising of the U. P. and Bihar.

IV. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Home Affairs.—

- (1) Shri Jai Sukh Lal Hathi.
- (2) Mr. R. E. Patel.
- (3) Shri S. K. Patil.
- (4) Pandit Balkrishna Sharma.
- (5) Shri Deshbandhu Gupta.
- (6) Shri Jainarain Vyas.
- (7) Dr. P. S. Deshmukh.
- (8) Shri L. Krishnaswami Bharthi
- (9) Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar.
- (10) Nawab Muhammad Ismail Khan.

EXTRA-PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION BILL

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home Affairs, Information and Broadcasting and the States): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

ELECTRICITY (SUPPLY) BILL

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the rationalisation of the production and supply of electricity, and generally for taking measures conducive to the electrical development of the Provinces of India.

Mr. Speaker: The motion moved:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the rationalisation of the production and supply of electricity, and generally for taking measures conducive to the electrical development of the Provinces of India."

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): We do not know, Sir, what the objects of this Bill are.

Mr. Speaker: I stated on a previous occasion that the introduction of Bills is more or less a matter of form. After the Bills are introduced, copies will be supplied.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: I do not object to that, but it looks odd that we should say "Aye" to a Bill the nature or contents of which we do not know.

Mr. Speaker: The agenda is sent to Members; they know what Bills are going to be introduced and copies of these Bills are placed in the lobbies, so that Honourable Members who are really careful over this matter, have after seeing the agenda an opportunity of seeing the Bills in the lobbies. But that is a different matter. The motion for leave is more or less a formal thing.

The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the rationalisation of the production and supply of electricity, and generally for taking measures conducive to the electrical development of the Provinces of India."

The Motion was adopted.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN MERCHANT SHIPPING (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923."

The Motion was adopted.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

Mr. Speaker: Of course the object of putting the Motion, though traditionally the convention is that leave is to be granted as a matter of course; is to keep up the form because it is perfectly competent to a Member to oppose the introduction, and if he so wishes, to kill the Bill at the very initial stage.

Mr. Tajamul Husain (Bihar: Muslim): How can any Honourable Member do so when he has not read the Bill?

Mr. Speaker: He should read it in the lobbies.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: There is only one copy of the Bill and more than three hundred Members. How is it possible?

THE RAILWAY BUDGET—LIST OF DEMANDS

SECOND STAGE

Mr. Speaker: The House will discuss the Demands for Grants in respect of Railways now. I understand that a list showing the agreed Cut Motions which will be moved has been circulated to the Honourable Members.

As regards the time limit for speeches the usual practice has been to fix a limit of 15 minutes for all speakers including movers of the Cut Motions and 20 minutes for the Honourable Ministers replying. I might add that it may be necessary if a larger number of Honourable Members wish to speak on these Motions, to further curtail the limit to 10 minutes as we had to do yesterday. I trust this suits Honourable Members.

(Members expressed their assent.)

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth (Madras: Muslim): Before you call upon the Motion to be moved, there is a further point of agreement, which I want to bring to your notice with regard to our Cut Motion No. 6. It has been agreed that this Cut will be taken up at ten minutes past Four, whether the other Cuts are finished or not.

Incidentally I have some objection to the heading that is put to this cut, but I will raise it in your Chamber as I do not want to waste the time of the House.

Mr. Speaker: Well, if that is an agreed matter, I have no objection. I take it then that Cut No. 6 will be moved at ten minutes past four and the Cut under discussion at that time will close at that time.

Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur (Madras: Muslim): May I know, Sir, if it is taken at ten minutes past four, whether there will be twenty minutes time left for the Member to reply in view of the fact that at half past four we have some other business to attend to?

Mr. Speaker: I am sure the Honourable Members will adjust within themselves so far as the time is concerned. The point is that the Cut has to be disposed off within twenty minutes and I believe there is also a further agreement that cut-motion No. 2 will be taken up after No. 5.

[Mr. Speaker]

(Members expressed their assent.)

That is right. So we will proceed accordingly.

I think we might revise the procedure. I remember, last time at the time of General Budget, instead of putting in each Demand separately I stated that "the Demands included in the Order Paper be voted upon." That was the Motion and the House agreed to it, so that we disposed off all Motions in about a minute's time. So it is possible for us to deal similarly with the present demands instead of putting each of the Demands separately, to Honourable Members. First we may take those Demands in respect of which there are Cut Motions. Then after the Cut Motions are disposed of, in case any Cut Motion is carried, that Demand will have to be put to vote separately, and then the other Demands in respect of which no Cut Motions have been carried may be put up as a consolidated proposition, so that, we shall finish the voting in five minutes' time. That will mean that the time for discussion could be extended from 4-30 to 4-55 P.M.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): There is one point in this connection which I wish to bring to your notice. When you put all the demands to a consolidated vote, the right of a Member to record his vote against any particular Demand is taken away.

Mr. Speaker: Not taken away; I considered this point also and in case any Honourable Member wishes me to put a particular Demand separately, I shall split up the proposition and put it separately to the House.

Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur: May I know now whether this will require a re-arrangement about this ten minutes past Four business?

Mr. Speaker: The thing may be adjusted by agreement of parties outside the House so that I may be able to announce it by 2-30.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: Sir, May I point out that all these cuts can come under Demand No. 1, so that Members may in future see that all Cuts are sent under Demand No. 1.

Mr. Speaker: That is a different matter.

DEMAND NO. 1.—RAILWAY BOARD

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai (Minister for Railways and Transport): Sir, I beg to move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,80,000 be granted to the Governor-General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th Augst, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Railway Board'."

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,80,000, be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Railway Board'."

Overcrowding in Trains

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C.P. and Berar: General): I move:

"That the Demand under the head 'Railway Board' be reduced by Rs. 100".

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as you have told the House, by common agreement we are going to discuss only a specific number of Cuts and Motions. I had, as the House is aware and as you are aware, Sir, given a very large number of Cut

Motions. Some refer to the comfort of passengers; one of them refers to the overcrowding of trains; there were some of a more or less local nature which refer to my particular province; there were others which refer to the chronic thefts of Railway property and the want of switches, want of mirrors, want of hangers, impossibility of closing some doors and impossibility of opening others—all these things had been worked out by me and notice of them was given in the shape of different Cuts on different demands.

That position of course has altogether been altered on account of the agreement reached among various parties in the House, and it is now my specific business to move this particular cut on which I wanted to raise a discussion on the subject of overcrowding in trains. But because I had given notice of so many cuts my name was not included among those who were to speak on the general discussion. That is another difficulty of mine; but in view of the fact that there is going to be considerable saving of time on account of this agreement I hope the Honourable Minister will not mind my making a passing reference to subjects of which I had given notice in my cut motions. They are merely in the nature of asking for information, and I understand that one of the things that can be done in the voting on demands is to seek information on particular subjects. So, Sir, I hope you will permit me the latitude of referring to certain other items in this very speech of mine which should, properly speaking, be limited only to the question of overcrowding.

Sir, the whole House has listened very carefully to the very lucid and frank speech of the Railway Minister and, as my Honourable friend Mr. Aney remarked, the Minister of the present day sitting in this House has the enviable good fortune to get his budget through without any strong criticism against it and with congratulations from all sides, even though the budget reveals an increase in fares and although he has not been able to promise any modification of the present position on the railways to any appreciable extent. None the less this overcrowding in trains is a problem which has agitated my mind for a very long time, and I am sure that every one who has any consideration for the comforts of the travelling public must have experienced similar sentiments and must have been similarly affected. Sir, I think in this particular matter the Honourable Minister for Railways has not been able to pay that attention which in my view he should have paid. We know he has been working in very difficult circumstances, we know the various upheavals in the country which have caused considerable dislocation of the administration and intensified his difficulties; but none the less I consider the overcrowding of trains in India a matter of such serious importance that the earliest opportunity should have been taken by every one concerned in the department to rectify the present situation. Some of my Honourable friends said that people were herded together like cattle, and another honourable friend amended it by saying that they were packed like sardines. My view is that neither cattle nor sardines—if they were alive—would be able to tolerate the situation which is being forced upon people in the present circumstances. If my honourable friend would make it a point to stand on any of the bridges like the Jhansi bridge or the Bhusaval bridge or the Muttra bridge he will realise—as I do not think he does not realise—what discomforts the passengers of the third class and all other classes in fact are undergoing. For that I suggest that he should issue an order to the whole department that every one of his assistants who gets anything above Rs. 500 a month should not travel by any other class except the third. Only then will they realise the amount of humiliation and persecution that is being inflicted upon passengers, specially those in the third class. Although we are not often required to travel in the third class we still cannot help observing at the stations how people get into and out of these third class compartments and how the people who have occupied seats before them are also made to suffer injuries and hardships. Very often the only method of getting into a third class carriage is to throw your trunk through the window and then yourself climb through it.

[Dr. P. S. Deshmukh]

When the trunk is thrown in some people have to make room—although very reluctantly—for that passenger. The trunk is a good weapon and once you are able to throw it in you find it easy to get in also. This thing ought to stop and if a serious effort is made I feel certain that a great deal of improvement is possible. After all the average Indian is usually satisfied with very little and it is quite easy to please him and arrange for his comfort. If regular third class passenger coaches are not available, I am sure that if goods carriages are converted into third class coaches with some benches provided and some covering on them, people would be satisfied. But even that the railway authorities have not been able to do. I was told in my younger days that Englishmen believe that cows have no souls. Whether it is true or false I must say that the only other people who have no souls are the Railway Minister and his staff. The situation is so horrifying and so utterly disgraceful that if a foreigner were to come and see the way in which we treat our own people, I am sure he would be tempted to declare that India is not yet fit for self-government. Things which cattle or even inanimate things would not bear are being borne by the whole of India for the last six years. People were hoping that with the end of the war something would be done and the situation would improve; now independence has dawned on the country and our own Minister for Railways is sitting there to preside over the department. But the people have been sorely disappointed when he delivered his long speech without holding out any hope of the situation being rectified in the matter of overcrowding and without any hopes of additional comforts for passengers. I hope that even though he has not been able to hold out any hopes during his reply he will reconsider the position and tackle this issue in some way or the other. He has told us in reply to certain questions that they are trying to evolve certain new patterns of carriages. I for one am not enamoured of any new patterns; let the old patterns be there but let there be more room. That is the first request that I make to the Honourable Minister; and I am sure that if he sets his mind to it and his staff has any compassion for the public, there is much possibility of the present situation being rectified. It can be done by evolving some sort of temporary makeshift arrangement; even that will be a matter of some consolation. Travelling up and down the railways quite often and quite regularly I feel that there is no one who stops to consider if anything is possible. The whole railway administration has become so irresponsible that in the matter of inconveniences and complaints people have become quite despondent and they do not feel that there is any possibility of improving the railway administration in the country. I hope the Railway Minister is not so apathetic as this department and he should even now give us an assurance that every one of the discomforts from which the general public is suffering will be put an end to at the earliest possible moment. I cannot understand who arranges the time-tables and the number of carriages to be attached to a particular train. Very often I find on the Nagpur-Bombay line that sometimes there are fourteen bogeys and only one engine. But sometimes the number suddenly and without any notice comes down to ten. Consequently there is far more crowding. The situation is bad enough and it becomes still worse. There is no one who will listen to any complaints. At Bhadrua Station once I had no drinking water of my own with me. I went to the tap at the station and when I opened it I saw the water coming out contained profuse dirt and molasses. There was a guard standing nearby and I asked whether people were expected to drink such water. He said it was there for a long time and in spite of his own complaints nothing had been done. In the meantime a peasant came along with a small boy. I told them not to drink this water. But the peasant refused because he said the child was thirsty. Before I could make them listen to me the boy had drunk this water and gone away. Such is the condition in one of the important railway junctions. There is no one who appears prepared to listen to the complaints. Now, this sort of situation ought to end and there should be someone to look into these matters periodically. If it was really a Department which had some consideration for the comfort of the people, the situation at these stations could not have remained what it is. Already the Grand Trunk Express and other trains are fully loaded and yet at stations like Jhansi there are 200 to 300 people always waiting to get in. I have very often travelled in a second class where there is room for six passengers but in fact there are nineteen people, and then you have to imagine the luggage of these nineteen people which has also to get in. I am sure it is possible to have more trains in addition to those already running because this overcrowding is chronic. When we find that such obvious things are not attended to by the department, I am right in saying that the Department has ceased to function and ceased to have any compassion for the people. They appear to think that they are drawing their pay and the people are still travelling and the railway budget can be balanced and so long as their salaries are drawn and railways are running, and people are there to travel, they are satisfied. That is not the satisfaction for which we have come to this House and although it is our own Government and our own Minister, we are not satisfied merely by the lucidity of his speech or the expert presentation of his case. We want all that to be translated into the comforts of the people. As long as that does not happen, we cannot have much of a good word to say for the Honourable the Railway Minister or for his staff.

Another matter is this. Why should it not be possible to have more carriages manufactured at a shorter period? We have the whole Indian budget at the disposal of the Government. I think with greater impatience for doing good to the people much more could be achieved. We are prepared to pass Bills in a couple of minutes and give the most autocratic powers to the Government. If my honourable friend wants the power to shoot at sight anyone who takes away anything from the railways, we can give it to him. He cannot say that he cannot build carriages because there is no material. We are prepared to give him a short time, but he must improve matters, because here we have a Government in which we are prepared to place the fullest confidence, and we are prepared to empower it to the fullest extent. After that they can have no excuse. What does the building material consist of—bricks, cement and steel. The steel companies are there and the cement companies. If they can't supply they can get the material imported from elsewhere. All these things should be possible because we have a Government whose hands we are prepared to strengthen and to which we are prepared to concede any powers they want. With this they ought to achieve results in the shortest possible time. Sir, I move:

Mr. Speaker: Cut motion moved.

"That the demand under the head 'Railway Board' be reduced by Rs. 100".

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): I have great pain in supporting whatever my friend has stated. His is an experience which we have all shared for a long time. We have all witnessed the sufferings of the third class passengers. I had myself been for many years of my life—a major portion—a third-class passenger. Then I promoted myself to intermediate: later I was allowed the second class; on occasions although reservations were there, an earlier passengers had occupied the berths, I had to transfer myself to a first-class, and in my 68th year I have been travelling by air. It is not because I like to do so but because it is humanly impossible to execute third-class travel from its first to its last stages.

In the first place you cannot get a ticket. The booking clerk will not come till two minutes before the train comes. However much you may press for it, he will not come. These people are absolutely like buffaloes under rain. Nothing will move them and they are the lords of the station and they do not see that the Government has changed. The Government has not changed as yet for the officials. It has only changed for the Ministers. The department does things in the same ante-diluvian, wooden way that it used to do in the time of Mr. Mantague. Of course the Ministers might represent new engines but the departments represent the old bogeys, rickety and ramshackle, and the biggest speed that you can develop is the speed that the old bogeys can develop. As no chain is stronger than the weakest link, the Minister is no faster than his slowest department official. The railway officials are looked upon by the public with a feeling of bitterness and helplessness because they are not attentive to the comforts of the people nor are they sensitive to the growing changes in the times. You must put a little patriotism, common-sense and decency into the administration: then they will be able to act up to the requirements of the times and not otherwise. This requires not a departmental reminder but conferences—Agents of the railways and Ministers addressing the staff personally, telling them that the world and the times have changed, that the needs of the people have changed and they must change also.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

Then we get to the next stage when the gate of the waiting room is not open until the train has arrived. Then there is much crowding. The boxes on the porters' head strike your forehead and then you must attend to the injuries before you get into the train. When you try to go into the train there is no one to conduct third-class passengers. The porter is riding rough-shod over them: the station master is ringing the bell: the guard is sounding the whistle: the engine-driver is driving the train. No one waits to see whether the station platform is clear of passengers. There are no caretakers in the Railway Department. A watch and ward department there is which takes care of the thefts in the yard and they have done some good work but the passenger's caretaker department is not there. Often times there is only the Assistant station master who is the jack of all trades. He is the poor devil of the Railway institution. He is the cinderella of the Railway Station. He is the most hard-worked man and he has to issue tickets, collect them and see to this, that and the other business and it is an impossible task for him to attend to traffic. Now then comes the third stage when you must get into the train by the process which has been very graphically described by my Honourable friend the mover of the motion. You reach the doors, they are not open: they are banged from inside. People sit against them. Therefore you must adopt the new process, what is known as entry and exit through the window. It is an extraordinary procedure. At station after station, whether big or small all third and intermediate class passengers have to effect their entry or exit only through the windows.

I have often been asked as to why I do not keep a secretary. A certain friend of mine came to see me and when he saw me writing my letters, picking the envelopes, pasting them and posting them myself, he offered to pay me Rs. 500 a month to enable me to engage a secretary and asked me "Why don't you employ a secretary and take him along with you." I told him that I would have to look after the Secretary and the secretary could not look after me, because he cannot get out of the carriage. If he manages to come out of the carriage, he cannot get in. Then I have to go in search of him to see whether he has had his food or not. While I am in search of the poor fellow who has been locked up somewhere, the train moves in the meantime and I have to run at great peril to my life or at least to my health. Having experienced all these things I have decided not to have a secretary. I do my own business and do as much as I can do myself.

When all this has been done and we travel and we reach the destination we come out. That is the fourth stage. At the wicket gate you have another struggle to get your luggage out. Only one gate is open. Can't they open the other gate? No they do not open it. There is the station master, the assistant station master, the booking clerk, the luggage clerk and so on, every person simply smoking away and nobody takes charge of the second gate. Even if there are 500 persons only one gate is open. Why should it be the case?

There are other difficulties in travel. At Samalkot station we have to cross an over-bridge in order to take the train for Cocanada. There is no second class in the shuttle coach and we have to take an additional ticket at Samalkot for Cocanada or travel without a ticket. The booking clerk at the station is always absent, at any rate, this has been my experience ten times, twenty times.

Bezwada is a huge nice station. For 15 years I have been carrying on correspondence with the Traffic Superintendent and the railway authorities to prevent the channels of urine flowing on to the platform which we have to cross before we get to the Masulipatam train. Right in front of the intermediate and second class compartments these channels make streaks like the rivers of a deltaic system. I begged the authorities to dig a small drain, so that the urine may be drained off into the general pool but I was told that that would encourage people to commit nuisance there. But what are they doing now? They are compelling the passengers to tread upon this filth. In Andhra country and in South India generally 95 per cent. of the people do not wear shoes. It may be a bit of news to the House. These people have to tread upon these channels or caked up urine and get into their compartments. I do not know how much postage I wasted over this business. But the authorities are unmoved. Such an impenetrable mass of human material I cannot come across. It passes my comprehension why they could not do a simple thing when a friend like me has begged them to do it? Have I suggested anything wrong? I simply asked them to construct a small drain so that the flow of urine may be led into the main channel and not right on to our platform.

The mail train from Calcutta to Madras has to run 900 miles by the time she comes to Bezwada absolutely crowded. We can never get any seat in it. Booking is useless. The passengers who entered at earlier stations have occupied the seats. The station master says "Your name is there. Sir, but I cannot help you. You can prosecute the gentlemen inside." This is an additional penalty for us. Therefore I suggest that from Waltair to Madras a special mail train be run. You are now content with a mail train from Calcutta to Madras. From Calcutta to Waltair is the B. N. R. From Waltair to Madras is the M. S. M. Railway. Make the latter a separate link altogether. We can then be sure of seats: otherwise it is impossible to get any.

In the matter of relieving crowding, I would suggest, if that were possible (I do not know whether it will be possible) that you build an upper storey to the third class carriages as in the tram cars. That will considerably minimise the expenditure and double the accommodation.

An Honourable Member: And then build an overbridge!

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: No, you will have a staircase, not an over-bridge to go up to the upper storey. Unless the proposition is palpably absurd I wish it to be considered. There is a shaking of the head as well as of the hand of the Honourable Minister for Railways. A layman's suggestion should not be so summarily dispensed with, because technical men are hopeless. You should never trust them. As far as possible reject their advice and force a layman's sound commonsense on their (new sense) view.

As for crowding at the Booking offices I need not say much. You must pay the constable there, or you must pay somebody else to get a ticket. The booking clerk makes a point of not handing back the small change, he owes you, if you give Rs. 2 and the fare is Rs. 1/14/- or you give a Rs. 5 note and the fare is Rs. 4. All these things have to be controlled in big stations. I must say that in Bezwada on the whole things are not so bad.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

Then, at big or medium stations booking stations in the towns have been abolished during the war. They must be restored as early as possible. I have many things to mention but I may own I have not come prepared. Whatever positive suggestions of a constructive nature I may have I will send them to the Railway Minister.

Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur: Sir, as I had no opportunity of taking part in the general discussion I would now join the chorus of congratulations to the Honourable the Railway Minister for the lucid manner in which he has presented the budget? But I cannot agree with Mr. Aney when he said that he is the most fortunate member, because he has practically no opposition in this House. I would rather wish that he had a much better opposition than what there is now for then he would have been in a much better position than now to improve the railway system in the interests of the public.

From the way in which the Honourable Minister was making his speech on the budget I thought I was listening to a professor on railway economics lecturing to his students on account of the lucid way in which he was explaining his budget. At the same time I must also point out that he has treated this House also with some criticism which I think the House does not deserve. He says on page 8 of his printed speech, after quoting from an English journal on railway transport:

"I make a present of this to the House because I think that it is important that in discussing the problems of Indian railways we ought to develop a better comparative sense and a greater sense of proportion."

I do not think that in the discussions in this House the members had done or spoken anything so as to deserve this criticism from the Honourable the Railway Minister. I shall leave it at that.

Coming to the point which is covered by the motion before the House, viz., overcrowding, I must first of all say that it has been my experience that speeches made on cut motions or during the time of the general discussion on the budget ended with speeches alone. During the previous government an opportunity was given to Honourable Members to make eloquent speeches on various aspects. But if the object of these speeches is to give effect to the suggestions made I do not know whether even one in a thousand has been carried out. All that related to a time when the circumstances were entirely different from what obtains now. In those days we were under a bureaucratic foreign government whereas now we are our own masters. This is the first occasion when the Honourable Minister has an opportunity of showing what a popular government is. The taste of the pudding is in the eating of it. I would therefore ask the Honourable Minister to see that the suggestions made in the Honourable House are carried out in practice so far as it is practically possible for him. No doubt he has innumerable difficulties in carrying out these suggestion. As the Honourable Mover of this motion had already told him "we are ready to help you and to sanction anything that you want to carry out any of our suggestions." In the face of that I hope that he will take all the criticisms that are made in this House seriously and not treat them as was done by the previous Government, and give effect to them by translating them into action.

As regards overcrowding, some of the previous speakers have referred to the passengers as cattle, but I would go a step further because cattle will not bear such treatment. If you put a larger number of cattle in a truck than what it can contain, they will kick and make up a row. But what is being done in respect of passengers is that they are treated as chattel, as inanimate beings. If you see the overcrowding in certain carriages you will shed, not tears, but blood will come out of your eyes. The pathetic way in which these passengers are situated is such that there have been many cases in which people have been so crowded and affected so much by the overcrowding that some women and children have fallen out of the running train and have died on account of the fall. I know that some little babies were actually seen dying on the platforms after being brought out of the train because of overcrowding and the consequent suffocation. There have been so many instances of that nature. That such state of affairs should be allowed to continue in this country is the greatest disgrace. The question is put by the Government 'What are we to do? What are the remedies?' Certainly there are remedies and if the Government take it into their head seriously to consider the situation and ameliorate the condition of the passengers and avoid overcrowding, it is really possible and practicable to do so. Many remedies have been suggested to the railway authorities to avoid this overcrowding. For instance, the suggestion was made that where there are a certain number of trains running between two stations one more train could be introduced. Such practical suggestions have been made. But in the old bureaucratic manner they have turned a deaf ear to them.

In this connection I would suggest that there must be at least some kind of an Advisory Board representing passengers who should be consulted by the railway authorities. They will be in a position to suggest ways and means of easing the situation. If the Government are really serious about it they can constitute such a Board representing the passengers of all classes, so that they can make practical suggestions for easing the situation. I need not add much to what has already been said about overcrowding and the most unsatisfactory state of affairs regarding accommodation. I would submit that the present Government which is a popular Government, which claims to reflect the views of the people and says it is there to carry out the wishes of the people, must do everything in its power to see that the passengers travel comfortably and are able to use the railway carriages with safety and convenience. The present Government is not like the previous Government and is bound to do that. If they are not able to carry out the wishes of the people I would say let them plead their inability and quit their office.

Shrimati Dakshayani Velayudhan (Madras General): Sir, I wish to say a few words about the condition of the third class ladies' compartments on the railways. When a train leaves a station the most crowded compartment in the train will be the third class women's compartment. What is generally done is that the men bring their women and children and also the luggage into the third class women's compartment and push everything into that compartment. They can go and get into any compartment. But there will be only one third class compartment in the whole train for women and it will be packed with women and children and luggage. I think that third class compartments for women were made at a time when women seldom used to travel from one place to another. It is now high time that these compartments were replaced by bigger compartments and more facilities made available. Recently, though I did not have the misfortune to travel in the third class women's compartment, I had to face almost the same fate. When I reached New Delhi railway station there was no way to get out of the compartment. All the doors and windows were blocked as the whole compartment had been packed with women and children. It was with the greatest difficulty that I could get out of the compartment.

There is another difficulty with regard to third class compartments for females. Even when the train starts there will not be even a drop of water in the pipe. Sometimes a tug of war will be required to extract a drop of water

[श्रीमती कमला चौधरी]

में ७०-८० व्यक्ति उतरे थे जिन में से बहुत से बच्चे ऐसे थे जिन्हें निमोनिया हो गया था और उस में से कुछ मृत्यु को भी प्राप्त हुए। स्त्रियों से छूटने पर मालूम हुआ भीड़ के कारण गाड़ी की खिड़कियां बन्द करना असंभव था। अव्यवस्था के कारण ऐसी दुर्घटनाओं का होना मैं समझती हूं आज इस सरकार के लिए, हमारे देश के लिए बहुत शर्म की बात होगी।

इसलिये मंत्री महोदय का ध्यान मैं इस ओर आकर्षित करती हूं कि शीघ्र से शीघ्र जो भी उपयोगी उपाय वह उचित समझें कार्य में लायें जिससे कि स्टेशनों पर और रेलगाड़ी के डिब्बों के अंदर, प्लेटफार्म पर और कम्पार्टमेंट के अंदर जो अत्यधिक भीड़ होती है जिसके कारण यह अनेक प्रकार की घटनायें और अनेक प्रकार की हानियां हो रही हैं उसका शीघ्र ही उचित प्रबंध हो और रेलवे विभाग की व्यवस्था उत्तम हो।

इन शब्दों के साथ मैं माननीय सदस्य डाक्टर देशमुख के प्रस्ताव का समर्थन करती हूं।

English translation of the above speech.

Shrimati Kamala Chaudhri (U. P.: General): Mr. Speaker, through you I wish to invite the attention of the Honourable Minister for Railways, as I find, that though many Honourable Members of the House have spoken and have drawn your attention towards all such incidents that are taking place these days on account of tremendous rush on railways, yet the one, I feel, needs our attention most, is the harm that is being done to our society and culture as a result of the overcrowding besides other difficulties experienced on the way. Since the last war the entire working of the Railway Department has been going down day by day and it can be said that it has now reached the last stage of degradation. For this reason only various Members of the House just now drew the attention of the Honourable Minister and have shown to him that all sorts of accidents are taking place on account of overcrowding. Not only this but we are also told day by day that a very large number of men is dying as a result of these accidents. The passengers, particularly the ladies, have to face many difficulties. It is impossible for them to purchase their tickets in the rush, and if some how or other they get their tickets and enter the compartments they find it very difficult even to breathe there. While after occupying their seats they only witness such scenes as are totally against civilisation. In fact, the look of a third class compartment here these days is so dissatisfying that perhaps the animals are not packed so badly in a yard. Generally the little ones get overlayed or crushed. Other incidents like theft and death also take place. Every educated man realizes that there is a danger of catching a disease in a crowded place. Therefore, as a result of the overcrowding many children catch diseases from one and another and ultimately die.

Further, as I have pointed out before, there is a cultural loss too on account of this overcrowding. As it is impossible to obtain tickets in a rush and both men and women have to face that difficulty and people are gradually giving up that habit which they had imbibed and felt proud of occupying their seats after purchasing a ticket. Consequently those who do not want to buy their tickets now and do not care to follow the rule have found an easy pretext. If you try you will find that the idea of following the rules is disappearing from the minds of the public as well as of the Railway staff. It is, therefore, essential to bring home the idea of discipline to the men of the Railway Department. Because if they do not observe the rules, other departments will be affected in the like manner. The passengers are a part and parcel of our society, of our country. When they travel they come in contact with men of every section and society, if, therefore, they misbehave they will affect the whole society and the whole country. I therefore say that the shortcomings that have crept into the working of the Railway Department do not merely hit that very department but affect the whole country and its people. After the attainment of freedom, the responsibility of having bad discipline in a department, is on our country—on our Government.

I, therefore, want to draw the attention of the Honourable Minister for Railways towards the need of finding some methods to remove the defects. He is an expert in this matter and understands what methods he should adopt to remove the faults so that there is an improvement in this department, and the department flourishes again, there is more staff, there is a larger number of trains moving and there is ample accommodation for all and there is no overcrowding which causes miseries to others.

I have learnt that the Government is having a financial loss on Railways. With the financial loss, the cultural and the social losses are also increasing day by day, if there is nothing to check them.

I shall also like to invite the attention of the Honourable Minister towards irregularities that are increasing every day in the management of Railways after the trains have started carrying refugees from one place to another in all directions. On the Delhi—Saharanpur line I have seen men clinging to the railway compartments by holding on the iron-rods and resting their feet on the foot-boards because of the lack of accommodation within the compartments. Anybody travelling these days must have noticed this thing for himself. Besides this I have also seen people travelling on the roofs of the compartments when they could not find any room in the train. It is also within my knowledge, that a few of them actually fainted while a number of them met death. Hardly 3 or 4 days ago a number of passengers about 70 or 80, detained at Meerut. Some of the children among them were suffering from Pneumonia, and a number of them died later. It was stated by the women folk that due to overcrowding in the train it was impossible to close the windows. Such incidents which are due to lack of management, in my opinion, is a matter of great shame for this Government and for the country.

I, therefore, invite the attention of the Honourable Minister and request him to take such measures as are considered fit to stop overcrowding on Railway platforms, and in the Railway compartments, and to stop the occurrence of accidents caused by overcrowding and to take such measures as are necessary to improve the condition of the Railway Department.

With these words I support the cut motion of the Honourable Member Dr. Deshmukh.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai (Minister for Railways and Transport): Sir, in listening to the debate on this motion, I have not been told anything which I have not already known and have not been deeply conscious of. When Honourable Members tell me that I do not know by experience or observation what is happening in the case of our lowest class passengers, they do me less than justice. There is no question regarding railway administration which has been more acutely present to my mind and to which I am more anxious from the latrine pipe in the women's third class compartment. Sometimes there would be no water throughout the journey. It is the women who have to suffer all the way. When they have their children with them they need more water throughout the journey. I hope the Honourable Minister will see that more facilities are made available to women passengers in the third class compartments.

[Shrimati Dakshayani Velayudhan]

श्रीमती कमला चौधरी : माननीय अध्यक्ष, मैं आपके द्वारा रेलवे विभाग के माननीय मंत्री महोदय का ध्यान इस ओर ले जाना चाहती हूँ, हालांकि मैं देख रही हूँ कि बहुत से सदस्यों ने ऐसे सभी विषयों को लेकर रेलवे में आज जो अपार भीड़ के कारण दुर्घटनाएँ हो रही हैं, इस ओर आपका ध्यान आकृष्ट किया है। लेकिन मुझे सबसे अधिक यह बात चिंतनीय लग रही है कि आज भीड़ के कारण यात्रा में केवल यही दोष नहीं है कि यात्राओं में तरह तरह की कठिनाइयाँ होती हैं बल्कि इससे हमारे समाज की और हमारी संस्कृति की हानि हो रही है। दिन प्रति दिन गत युद्ध से आज तक रेलवे विभाग की सारी व्यवस्था एक प्रकार से नष्ट हो चुकी है जिस कारण आज यह कहा जा सकता है कि वह दुर्गति की और दुरावस्था की अंतिम सीमा, या चरम सीमा को पहुँच चुकी है। और इसी के कारण अभी अनेक मेम्बरों ने इस ओर माननीय मंत्री महोदय का ध्यान आकर्षित किया है और स्पष्ट किया है कि इससे अनेक प्रकार की कितनी ही दुर्घटनाएँ होती हैं। यहां तक दिन प्रति दिन ऐसे विवरण सुनने में आते हैं कि दुर्घटनाओं के फल स्वरूप मृत्यु कितनी अधिक संख्या में होती है। यात्रा करने वालों को, विशेष कर जो स्त्रियाँ हैं, उनको बहुत अधिक कठिनाई होती है। स्त्रियों के लिये भीड़ में टिकट खरीदना दुर्लभ होता है और किसी प्रकार टिकट खरीदकर भीड़ में डिब्बों में बैठ जाने पर भी सांस लेना मुश्किल होता है—बैठने पर वहाँ ऐसे दृश्य उपस्थित होते हैं कि थोड़ी देर के लिये ऐसा मालूम होता है कि जैसे मानवता के विरुद्ध कोई बात हो। साथ ही हमारे यहां के तीसरे क्लास की जो परिस्थिति आज कल होती है, उसमें तो ऐसा ही महसूस होता है कि शायद पशु भी इस प्रकार किसी वाड़े में बंद न किये जाते होंगे। छोटे छोटे वच्चे कुचल जाते हैं। और मृत्यु, चोरी आदि की बड़ी बड़ी दुर्घटनाएँ होती हैं। हर एक सुशिक्षित व्यक्ति इस बात को समझता है कि इतनी अधिक भीड़ में एक दूसरे को बहुत अधिक बीमारियाँ लगने का अंदेशा होता है। फल स्वरूप छोटे छोटे वच्चे एक दूसरे से बीमारी के कीटाणु लेते हैं और अनेक बीमारियों के शिकार होते हैं।

साथ ही मैंने जैसा अभी आपके सामने अपना विचार रक्खा इससे एक प्रकार से हमारी सांस्कृतिक हानि हो रही है, और वह यह कि भीड़ के कारण टिकट लेना असंभव होता है। स्त्रियों के लिये भी और पुरुषों के लिये भी इस प्रकार की कठिनाइयाँ मौजूद हैं। उससे जो अनुशासन हमारे यहां की जनता में था कि सब लोग टिकट लेकर बैठना ही

प्रतिष्ठा मानते थे, आज एक प्रकार वह समाप्त हो रहा है, और जो टिकट नहीं लेना चाहते हैं उनके लिये एक बहाना भी हो गया है इस अनुशासन के पालन न करने का। इसी प्रकार अगर आप देखें तो जनता से लगाकर रेलवे विभाग के कर्मचारियों तक में यह अनुशासन पालन की भावना नष्ट होती जा रही है। आज अनुशासन मानने की भावना रेलवे विभाग में लाना जरूरी है। अगर वहाँ अनुशासन नहीं रह जाता है तो इसका प्रभाव अन्य विभागों पर भी पड़ता है। रेलवे विभाग में जो जनता सफर करती है वह हमारे समाज की है, हमारे देश की है, जो प्रत्येक विभाग और समुदाय के सम्पर्क में आती है, अगर उसमें सदाचार की कमी होती है उसका अनुशासन एक जगह नष्ट होता है तो उसका प्रभाव सारे देश पर और सारे समाज पर पड़ सकता है इसलिये मैं समझती हूँ कि आज जो घटनाएँ और जो रेलवे विभाग की व्यवस्था में—भीड़ के कारण खराबियाँ पैदा हो गई हैं वह सिर्फ रेलवे विभाग तक ही सीमित नहीं हैं बल्कि उसका प्रभाव सारे देश पर और सारे समाज की जनता पर पड़ रहा है। आज आजाद होने के बाद सारी जिम्मेदारी, ऐसे किसी भी विभाग के अव्यवस्थित होने की हमारे देश के ऊपर है, हमारी सरकार के ऊपर है।

इसलिये मैं रेलवे विभाग के माननीय मंत्री महोदय का ध्यान इस ओर दिलाना चाहती हूँ। वे जिस प्रकार भी उचित समझें, इस अव्यवस्था को दूर करने का उपाय करें। इस विषय की वह स्वयं भी बहुत जानकारी रखते हैं और अच्छी तरह समझ सकते हैं कि कौन ऐसे उपाय प्रयोग में लाये जाय कि जल्द से जल्द रेलवे विभाग में सुधार हो, अव्यवस्था दूर हो जाय। और शीघ्र ही हमारे यहां के रेलवे विभाग की वृद्धि हो, वहाँ के कर्मचारियों की वृद्धि हो। अधिक से अधिक गाड़ियाँ चलने लगें जिससे अधिक संख्या में यह भीड़ न हो और यह जो खराबियाँ उत्पन्न हो गई हैं वह दूर हों।

मुझे ऐसा भी मालूम हुआ है कि आर्थिक हानि सरकार को रेलवे में हो रही है। आर्थिक हानि के साथ ही इससे सामाजिक और सांस्कृतिक हानि भी दिन प्रति दिन बढ़ती जायगी यदि शीघ्र सुधार का प्रयत्न न हुआ तो।

मैं उनका ध्यान इस ओर भी आकृष्ट करना चाहूंगी कि आजकल जब से शरणार्थियों का आना जाना इधर उधर शुरू हुआ है तब से इस रेलवे की व्यवस्था में और भी ज्यादा खराबियाँ और यात्रियों के लिये और भी ज्यादा कठिनाइयाँ उत्पन्न होती जा रही हैं। दिल्ली से सहारनपुर जाने वाली गाड़ी में मैंने यहां तक देखा है कि जब अपार जन राशि के कारण डिब्बों के अंदर जगह नहीं रहती है तो यात्री गाड़ी के बाहर राड (rod) के सहारे गाड़ी की सीड़ियों पर लटकाकर होते हैं। जो व्यक्ति आज कल यात्रा करते हैं उन्हें भली भाँति ऐसा अनुभव होगा। इसके अतिरिक्त ऐसा भी देखा गया है, मैंने स्वयं भी देखा है कि गाड़ी के भीतर स्थान के अभाव में लोग छतों पर भी बैठने लग जाते हैं जिससे मुझे ऐसी घटनाओं का पता है कि कुछ व्यक्ति बेहोश हो कर नीचे गिर गए और कुछ की मृत्यु हो गई। अभी तीन चार दिन का जिक्र है मेरठ

[Dr. John Matthai]

to give thought than the conditions under which our third class passengers are travelling. Now I am tired of offering explanations and putting forward excuses, and I do not want to do that any more. What one is out for if one is to be of any service at all is to see that definite practical steps are taken, that we get a move on with regard to these matters. That is an intensely practical matter. When I listened to my friend Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya I thought the solution to this whole question according to his way of thinking was that there should be a change of heart on the part of those who are responsible for the administration. I believe there is a great deal in it. But primarily this question is not a question of changing anybody's heart. Primarily this question is one to be dealt with on a concrete practical basis. What is the reason for this overcrowding? Overcrowding is the result of two factors: the amount of coaching capacity that you have and the amount of passenger traffic that you have to carry. It is really the coefficient of these two factors that gives you the problem, and with all the good intention in the world if one wants to make a change in the situation one has got to tackle it from one end or the other or from both.

As regards this question of the number of coaches—the amount of transport capacity that we have—I gave the House a few figures in my reply to the General Debate. Between April 1946 and August 1947, we have been able to put into service about 370 additional coaches which have been built in our Railway workshops. We have under construction, both in our Railway workshops and with outside concerns, about 2,500 coaches, in terms of four-wheelers. We have in addition, as I told the House in answer to a question this morning, about 500 coaches on loan to the Defence Ministry. That is the limit of our capacity for increasing our transport accommodation. My Honourable friend the Mover said that if only the Minister would put his heart into the business, he should be able to set the position right within the next few months. I wish I could. The only thing that I can say in reply to a challenge of that kind is to make him a sporting offer. Let him take my place. I have no particular motive for being here except to see that some little service is done and some improvement effected.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): I am prepared to help the Honourable Member without taking his place, if he is prepared to hear what I have to say.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The real point is this. We have placed as many orders as we are in a position to get carried out. The fabricating and manufacturing capacity of our country is extremely limited; we are putting the greatest pressure possible on the capacity available in our own workshops and using to the utmost extent possible all the fabricating and manufacturing capacity that we can utilise for this purpose in the country outside the Railway organisation. What more can we do?

If we are in a position, in the course of the next two or three years, to get all these coaches which are now on order to be put into service, I suggest that from the angle of transport capacity we shall have made some little difference; but that is not the sole question. The question, also, is the amount of passenger traffic that we have to deal with. I have been talking a great deal since I introduced the Budget, about ticketless travel and I do not want to say anything more about it. But I think this question of unauthorised travel has got to be dealt with if you want to make a difference to the quantum of traffic that the railways can conveniently carry with reference to their existing capacity. The House knows my views about it and what I propose to do with regard to it. When there is a question of adjusting the supply factor to the demand factor in a matter of this kind, under a free economy the only way in which you can adjust it is by leaving it to the operation of the price mechanism. That is to say, if the supply of transport is limited, you put up the price of transport, until at last supply and demand begin to equate themselves. We cannot do it in this case because we are running a public utility service in which the extent to which we can increase fares is limited by consideration of public interest. Therefore that course is not open to me.

There is only one other course which is open for dealing with excessive traffic, and that is to have a system of physical control. Opinion in this country seems to be against controls. Besides putting a control on passenger traffic is administratively not workable. Therefore, if the price mechanism is not open to me, if direct control is not open to me, what is one to do with regard to equating the relation between demand and supply of transport? That really is the practical issue.

There is one point which my Honourable friend Dr. Pattabhi made, which I think is a point of great importance. If it was possible for the Railway staff to treat people who are travelling under these difficult conditions with a little more consideration and patience we could improve the position. It is a point that has been borne in upon me ever since I took charge of the Railways. After all these people whom we are complaining about—our Railway staff—are our own countrymen; they have grown up under an entirely different system so far, and if they are not able to adapt themselves to new conditions as quickly as we would like, the fault is not entirely theirs. I have seen a good deal of the Railway staff; we have in our Railway organisation people who with proper training, and with proper direction, would I think be fully equal to their tasks. I have great confidence in my Railway staff.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Madras: General): Yes, that training is necessary; it has got to be given.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I entirely agree. There is the question of training to which I have given a certain amount of thought and I hope I shall be able to put my ideas into concrete shape. I do think that we might look for a perceptible improvement in the situation if we could get a corps of railway servants travelling on our trains in the capacity of social service workers—men and women whom we pay, but so selected that they would bring to bear upon this problem the mentality of social workers rather than of bureaucrat employees. That proposal I know is easily made but to get the kind of people that you want for that work is not an easy matter, but I am prepared to give thought to it.

Sir, I do not think I have anything more to say, but I do wish the House would bear in mind that this problem of overcrowding and all the connected problems relating to conditions of third class travel are matters in which I am deeply interested and whatever is practically possible I certainly will do.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Thirty-five Minutes Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Thirty-five minutes past Two of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the chair.

Mr. Speaker: There is another cut-motion by Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava to Demand No. 1.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): According to the understanding reached this morning, this is not to be moved, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: There is some confusion. There are two cut motions in respect of Demand No. 1. One of them by Shri Punjabrao Deshmukh has been disposed of Shri K. Santhanam: No, Sir. It has not been disposed of. It has not been put to the House.

An Honourable Member: He may like to withdraw it, Sir.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Yes, Sir. I beg leave of the House to withdraw my cut motion.

Mr. Speaker: Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw his cut motion?

The cut motion was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

DEMAND NO. 4—ORDINARY WORKING EXPENSES—ADMINISTRATION

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I beg to move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 13,60,93,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'."

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 13,60,93,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'."

Question of Economy, Efficiency and Corruption

Pandit Govind Malaviya (U.P. : General): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the demand under the head 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration', be reduced by Re. 1."

Sir, the Honourable the Railway Minister has presented to us an interim Budget, which contains naturally not very much of policies or programmes and which is more or less a formality only meant to cover the period up to 31st March. Yet, Sir, it is a Budget which is of vital importance for this country, for the reason that the situation in the country today hinges almost entirely upon the question of transport. Whether you look at the difficulties pervading one aspect or another aspect of life, you come finally to one and only one difficulty, the difficulty about transport. The Railway Minister has made a very lucid and masterly survey of the difficulties with which the Railways have been faced. We have every sympathy with him and we appreciate those difficulties fully, but, Sir, the Railway Minister has not been able, in his Budget, to tell us of any important or major step which is going to be taken to enforce economy. The situation appears to be very grave. The working expenses of the Railways are mounting up and the Minister's speech did not indicate to us any hope that they will not continue to do so hereafter. At the same time, the income of the Railways is not likely to increase very much. We may go on resorting to the obvious and easy—but I must say the undesirable—method of increasing fares and freights, but that cannot go on very long and it cannot meet the situation, as is obvious from the fact that last year the Government did increase the fares and still we are left with a huge deficit for which the reserve has to be tapped. This touching of the reserve is a dangerous thing with the present structure of the Railways. If I am not mistaken, even in the pre-war days, the Wedgwood Committee had suggested a reserve of Rs. 50 crores. If anything, we ought today to raise it to at least Rs. 200 crores. On the contrary, we shall have a paltry reserve of Rs. 4 crores. It is a dangerous thing to do so, but that was not the point that I wished to make. What I wish to submit is that there is a limit to the help we can get from the increase in fares. That problem is one which I should have liked to deal with, but in view of the time limit, I will leave it to my other Honourable Colleagues to do so.

I will, Sir, come to the requirements of economy, because, obviously, if expenses are increasing, if our income cannot be augmented, the only thing to make this great huge national concern solvent and successful is to cut down the expenses that we are now incurring. There is no other way and I submit that unless we lift ourselves out of the time-old ruts of the officialdom of the Railway Department, unless we take courage in our hands and boldly adopt new methods and new policies, howsoever revolutionary and unorthodox they might be, I am afraid, Sir, there is no getting out of the crisis in which we seem to be placed today.

I, Sir, would urge therefore upon the consideration of the Honourable the Railway Minister, as indeed of the whole Government, the utmost urgency of seriously and realistically tackling the problem of cutting down costs and expenditure. Let them appoint a retrenchment Committee; let them have an Economy Research Section—I do not know if the Research Sections, which the Pope Inquiry had suggested and which the Wedgwood Committee Report had supported; are functioning. If they are there, so much the better; let them be augmented; if they are not, let us seriously look upon the problem of research, research with a view to improvement, not only of efficiency, but research with a view to economy, with a view to the cutting down of expenses, with a view to the cheaper managing of our Railways, which, if I might say so, I hope I will not be misunderstood, are anything but solvent to-day. I urge that need, Sir, upon the Government and along with it, Sir, I beg to emphasize the need of re-grouping of the Railways to which the Honourable Minister referred in his speech. He referred, Sir, to the re-grouping of the three railways on our eastern borders. He did not refer, Sir, to the re-grouping of the railways on our western borders. It is a most important issue.

Sir, at present there are nine systems of railways in the country, over the administration cost of which alone, as this demand indicates, we are spending nearly 14 crores every year. Now, Sir, the Honourable the Railway Minister has laid down three conditions according to which the question of re-grouping should be considered. Sir, I submit that we should give the fullest consideration to those considerations, but Sir, we should give the supreme and overriding consideration to the question of economy, and, if economy would justify, if economy would demand, I would suggest that, if need be, all other considerations should be relegated to the background and everything should be done which might make it possible for us to run the Railways more cheaply and to carry on its administration at a lesser cost.

I submit, Sir, for the consideration of the Government that the nine separate Railway administrations in this country should be grouped into three administrations only. It might appear fantastic to die hard railway experts that I should make that proposal, but there is absolutely nothing impracticable about it, besides, difficult circumstances require extraordinary remedies. I suggest these three systems. We could amalgamate the G.I.P. and the B.B.C.I. Railways on the one hand; we could amalgamate the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway and the South Indian Railway and the B.N.R. into one group; and we could group up all the five Railways in the north of India right from Amritsar to our borders in Assam, and thus we could have three systems which would make a great deal of saving. Sir, it will be said that these might become unwieldy. I will submit that the Wedgwood Report itself recommended that the Southern Mahratta and the South Indian Railways should be grouped together, even though they gave specious arguments against the re-grouping of Railways as a whole. One can understand that because, in those days the more the administrations of Railways in this country, the bigger were the number of big offices which could be doled out to the Europeans and Englishmen coming out from their country. Those days luckily are gone. Even they had suggested it. It may be argued that the re-grouping of the Railways in this manner may make them unwieldy. I submit, Sir, it would not be so. Even in the past the North Western Railway had a mileage of 7,000 miles which it was administering. Under my proposal, Sir, the B.B. & C.I. and the G.I.P. Railway will only be 7,069 miles, very much like 7,000. There would be no difference. And the M.S.M. and South Indian and the B.N.R., all the three together would have only 9,000 miles; while all the five systems in the North together would not come to more than 10,000 miles. If that seems to be an impossibility, I would say, very well, instead of all the five northern systems being grouped into one, they might be grouped up into two. The Eastern Punjab, the East Indian and the Bengal Railways, all the Broad-gauge Sections should be amalgamated into one administration so that all these three Broad-gauge Railways can be combined into one and that, Sir, will give us only 6,176 miles, substantially less than the old total mileage of the North Western Railway. We could group the O.T. Railway and the Assam Railways—all Metre Gauge sections—into the second group which would give us only 4,187 miles. So Sir, we could have these four groups, and even the most conservative officers will admit we will have every Section of perfectly manageable dimensions, not much more than the old N.W. Railway. We can imagine Sir that if instead of the present nine systems, we have to run only four, obviously, the 14 crores which we have to spend today over them will be very substantially reduced. A saving of several crores of Rupees annually will not be a small thing, Sir, and I hope the Ministry of Railways will not fail to do the needful in this matter.

[Pandit Govind Malaviya]

Sir, it may be said that it will involve a very long run to amalgamate these three Railways in the North. I submit, Sir, that it will not be so and not only that, actually it will lead to greater efficiency; it will lead to better working. The Wedgwood Report, Sir, said: "Too much time is lost in passing traffic forward from Division to Division and from one Railway system to another. Delays to through traffic from 8 to 16 hours at yards and exchange points are not regarded as abnormal." I submit, Sir, that if we could combine these administrations we will increase our efficiency. It will shorten our delays and will cut down the time and thereby it will help the present situation considerably. Then, Sir, there are other considerations in this matter. Sir, from the strategic point of view also one single Railway system running from one frontier to the other will be a very important and helpful factor. Sir I am fully satisfied that under the proposal I have made, all the three conditions laid down by the Honourable Minister will be fully met. But, Sir, to show how paramount is the need for such re-grouping, I would say that even if they are not, then for the sake of economy, this must be done. The Administrative Offices, Sir, should be located at central places, from where greater efficiency and still greater economy may be possible.

Besides this urgent need for economy and efficiency, Sir, corruption in the Railways is rampant today. For that purpose I would suggest an all out hereafter lean programme. The turn-about which has been pointed out by the Honourable the Railway Minister as having gone down to 14 to 15 days per wagon as against 9 to 10 days per wagon during the pre war days, has a very grave reason behind it. A very high railway officer told a Minister that nearly 30 to 40 per cent. of wagons are being utilised unlawfully by dishonest and corrupt Railway officials to earn illegal income by supplying them to black-marketeers, without any record, without any entry into the books or registers at fantastic charges which are pocketed by these officials and that they do so by changing the numbers on these wagons and reporting them for the time as untraceable. If we could stop that, Sir, we could bring about a big difference. If we cannot still improve the transport requirements substantially, we must do something more.

We have got to deliver the goods. We have got to succeed. Let us take to new methods, if necessary. Let us confine our passenger traffic to two days a week and on these days run special duplicate trains composed, if need be, even of open wagons and run, if need be, even by goods locos, and thus complete the passenger traffic on those two days. On the remaining five days for the present, let us cancel all passenger trains and let us utilise the locos of passenger trains even, one or even more in each train as the load may require, and run hundreds of special goods trains on those days and run them at passenger speed if possible and take away the accumulated goods and ease the situation.

Then, Sir, there is the question of repairs and spare parts also.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member has by now exceeded his time limit.

Pandit Govind Malaviya: I submit, Sir, that all these points should be taken into consideration by Government and the needful done.

Mr. Speaker: Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration' be reduced by Rs. 1."

I understand that the next motion on Demand No. 9 also covers some of the ground which this motion has covered.

Shri B. Das (Orissa: General): That is an economy cut.

Mr. Speaker: The question of economy is raised in the present motion also. Therefore instead of having a double discussion I think Demand No. 9 may be moved at this stage so that there may be a common discussion.

DEMAND NO. 9—ORDINARY WORKING EXPENSES—MISCELLANEOUS EXPENSES.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Sir, I move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,40,32,000, be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947, to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'."

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,40,32,000, be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'."

Economy

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I beg to move:

"That the demand under the head 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses' be reduced by Rs. 1,00,00,000."

This is an economy cut. My Honourable friend Pandit Malaviya gave some general considerations about the need for economy. I want to take the House to a more detailed discussion of one single item. Sir, the gross traffic receipts of all Indian railways in 1938-39 was 100 crores and the working expenses were 54 crores. In order to reduce these figures to the figures comparable to the budget we have to make two adjustments; one is that we have to multiply it by 4/5 to exclude the expenditure over the Pakistan railways. And to reduce the figures further for these 7½ months you will have to multiply them by 5/8. These multiplications give us the beautifully simple figure of just one-half. Therefore for the comparable period of 1938-39 we have a revenue of 50 crores and an expenditure of 27 crores. The budget figures presented by the Honourable Minister are 107 crores for revenue and 107 crores for expenditure. I want the House to reflect on these two figures; the revenue has doubled while the expenditure has quadrupled. The Honourable Minister was very anxious to drive home to us a lag in the revenue owing to the fares and freights not being raised pari passu with the increase in prices. Of course he made out a strong case for that purpose. While the index figure of prices is near 300 our revenue has only doubled; but he has not stressed the other fact that the working expenses have gone far beyond whatever may be justified by the increase in prices. While the index figure is near 300 our working expenses have gone up four times. Therefore if the working expenses had increased only in proportion to the increase in prices the present expenditure would be 25 per cent less; and if you work out the figures this 25 per cent. is exactly the amount of taxation which he is levying. Therefore the increased taxation that he is levying is not to cover the increase in prices but to cover the inefficiency that has crept into the railway administration during these four years. This inefficiency has crept in in many ways; there is deterioration in equipment, there is lesser outturn per worker, and there are more workers for the same amount of work. In all these ways our expenditure has become so swollen that while it should be only three times the expenditure of 1938-39 if only prices had their operation, it is now four times.

[Shri K. Santhanam]

3 P. M. Therefore I suggest to the Honourable Minister that economy is even more important than the raising of revenue, because unless he effects economy he will have to raise fares far beyond even what is justified by increase in prices.

Now, Sir, the people of India have paid actually whatever is necessary not so much by increase in fares and freights as by taking less accommodation. He has himself said that the railways have carried double the number of passengers with practically no increase in accommodation. That means that they paid double fares for the same accommodation and in this way they have already paid whatever is due. But on the other hand the expenditure has become disproportionately swollen. Sir, I want to illustrate my point by a more specific illustration. I should like the House to turn to pages 30-31 of the Demands for Grants. I have taken this head "Miscellaneous Expenses" not because it is an item under which the greatest economy is possible but for the very opposite reason; it is one of those heads where the items are ordinarily highly inelastic. For instance, you cannot change Contributions to Provident Funds or Gratuities or other items. Still what do we find under this head? The total budget estimate for 1947-48 as presented by the Honourable Minister in February last was roughly 25 crores; and according to the formula I have given it should be only 12½ crores under this item for this period of 7½ months. And we have got 21 crores; there is an excess of 8½ crores. In such an inelastic head this increase of 8½ crores is very serious. I have got figures for each one of these heads; I do not want to weary the House by giving too many figures. What I find on analysis is that this 8½ crores is accounted for by two items,—loss on grain shops and additional expenditure on account of the Central Pay Commission's recommendations. I leave out the second item (2½ crores) and then there is an increase of 6 crores due to loss on grain shops. That is, it should have been 8½ crores but it is actually 14½ crores. It may be imagined that prices of grains rose up and therefore this loss was incurred. But on further analysis this thing is wrong; because I find that out of these 6 crores 4½ crores are accounted for by (i) the East Indian Railway (3 crores) and (ii) the Bengal Nagpur Railway (1½ crores). So far as I know the foodgrains have been controlled all over India more or less on a uniform basis. Therefore there should be some special reason for an increase of three crores over the normal budgeted figure in the East Indian Railway and an increased loss of one and a half crores in the Bengal Nagpur Railway. I think there is a big loophole somewhere. I think a lot of grain must have been lost or something is wrong in accounting. This four and a half crores in one item is an expenditure for which some valid explanation should have been offered, but we find not a bit of explanation offered in the demand for grants or in the explanatory memorandum or in the budget speech. If there is a loophole to cause a loss of this four and a half crores, it must be explained. I do not say it cannot be explained, but I am not able to find an explanation. Therefore, I suggest to the Railway Minister that he may begin his enquiries for economy on this one item. If he takes up this loss of grain shops and begin with the East Indian Railway and the Bengal Nagpur Railway, he will find that out of the 14½ crores he will be able to recover two or three crores. My own cut motion is for a cut of one crore. I think he should accept this cut and pursue this enquiry and tell us during the next budget debate what happened. I think it is only by pursuing these large items one by one and finding where the loopholes are that we can really effect economy in the Indian railways.

I have tried to analyse other items like these. I do not think I shall be justified in taking up the time of this House for such a purpose. If you take Repairs and Maintenance, I find that on the Bengal Nagpur Railway it is the same story; also in the East Indian Railway. In the East Indian Railway the total budgeted figure for the whole year was Rs. 7.8 crores, while you find that for the 7½ months it is 7.58 crores. If you look at the figures for the other railways they are not so bad, though in every railway, I find not only increased pay commission's allowances but all kinds of extraneous things have come in and swelled the figures. Therefore, these details must be given to us at the next budget time in the form of a tabular statement. You must take the standard figures for 1938-39 and give us the figures for 1948-49 and give a detailed explanation as to how the increase has happened, whether legitimate, and if not what steps are being taken to curtail them. I can realise the difficulties of our Railway Minister. I do not expect him to perform miracles. But he must set in motion the machinery and adopt the policy of reducing everything to a normal level. Unless he tells the railway bureaucracy that they have to cut down all superfluous expenditure which has grown up in all kinds of directions during these war years, without any effective control or audit, he cannot manage the railways at all and he could not get any proper appreciation or sanction from this House. It is to strengthen his hands that I have moved this motion. We are on his side and he is himself anxious. But a Minister between the bureaucracy and the Legislature is between the devil and the deep sea. If he joins us and takes our co-operation, he is certain to make the bureaucracy realize that hereafter it is the Legislature that is the master and not the bureaucracy. Therefore, I hope that this particular cut will be accepted and the particular line of enquiry which I have suggested will be started and I also hope that similar lines of enquiry will be started under every item, so that by the time the Railway Minister comes before us with the annual budget for 1948-49, he will have started at least enquiries and policies which would result in a great deal of economy and will raise the efficiency of the Indian railways at least to the level of 1938-39 in one or two years. I agree that level was not high. It was comparatively low and he is taking steps by sending persons to America and other places to give us a standard of American efficiency. Of course we should aim at that but today our aim should be to get back to the 1938-39 efficiency and we should do it in the next year or two, I wish him all success in that effort.

Mr. Speaker: Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses' be reduced by Rs. 1,00,00,000."

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, I do not wish to take the time of this House in discussing matters of detail. I will only supplement some comments just now made in the House. I join with the previous speakers in their desire for economy. I request the Honourable Railway Minister to look into the matter carefully and effect as much retrenchment as possible. I should also request him to consider the technical matters raised by Mr. Santhanam. With regard to retrenchment, I do not think there is much scope in effecting pay-cuts in the lower services. We have had much bitter experience only recently in the railway strikes, and the Central Pay Commission's recommendations came in to save the situation. Quickly upon the heel of those recommendations

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena]

107 crores and in 1945-46, they rose to 243 crores, i.e., by about 127 per cent. But the train miles run in 1938-39 were 197 millions and they fell in 1945-46 to 190 million miles, so that the train miles were reduced by 4 per cent. whereas the revenue increased by 127 per cent. This means that for the same train mile or for the same distance every passenger had to pay $1\frac{1}{3}$ times more than he originally paid, so that after the war you are paying already $2\frac{1}{3}$ times the prewar fare. The number of passengers carried are also $2\frac{1}{3}$ times the prewar figure though the number of coaches on the line is less than that before the war. Thus the amount of fare is $2\frac{1}{3}$ times and the amount of space provided is $\frac{2}{5}$ th of the prewar space even if we assume that the present number of coaches on the line is equal to the prewar figure. So the real fare is about $5\frac{1}{2}$ times the previous cost. I do not think it is fair that he should say that further increase in travelling cost is justified.

I have very carefully analysed the figures and also the rates that prevailed before the war. The rates on the O. T. Railway were 2.6 for ordinary and express trains up to 50 miles, 2.3 up to 150 miles. After that it is 1.7 pies for ordinary trains for distances above 300 miles. A passenger going from Gorakhpur to Katihar has to pay Rs. 12 today whereas under the present recommendation he will have to pay Rs. 24. It will be impossible for me to defend that position of doubling the third class fare. The condition of trains on the O. T. Railway is very well known to the Honourable Minister. He himself said the other day that it is a headache to him. Can I go and tell people that the fares have been increased by this amount merely because our national government has come into existence? I cannot defend this increase in fares. I can say emphatically that I am absolutely opposed to all these increases.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (West Bengal: General): What about meeting expenditure resulting from the Pay Commission's Report?

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: My friend has suggested that the increase is necessary for implementing the recommendations of the Pay Commission. I have been in close touch with the Pay Commission from the very beginning. As a member of the Railwaymen's Federation I was one of those who took the initiative in 1946 when the General strike on the Railways was scheduled to take place on 27th June 1946 in trying to see that the strike did not take place. We were given assurances, but I am sorry to say that they have not been honoured. It has been said that the total additional expenditure, after implementing the Pay Commission's recommendations, will cost about Rs. 48 crores. But what is the net result? The net result is that 81,000 subordinates and 60,000 men in the workshops will be losing and their present pay will be reduced by amounts ranging between Rs. 5 and Rs. 100. Thus some 1,41,000 persons on the railways will get their salaries reduced to this extent. For instance, an Assistant Surgeon on the M. S. M. Railway who is now getting Rs. 360 will get hereafter only Rs. 220 because he was on the pre-1931 scale and now he will come back to the new scale and be given three increments, resulting in his pay being reduced from Rs. 360 to Rs. 220. That shows how the Pay Commission's recommendations have been implemented. Similarly a journeyman on the G. I. P. Railway who is now getting Rs. 150 will get Rs. 100 under the new arrangement. I can give many other instances but I do not wish to do so because there is not enough time for it. I would only say that these recommendations of the Pay Commission which are now being implemented will result in the decrease of pay of 1,41,000 persons, a large number of whom are workshopmen. Railway efficiency depends on the workshops more than on anything else. The Honourable Minister should therefore see that nobody loses in his emoluments as a result of the Pay Commission's recommendations and that everybody is given sufficient increment to make up for the increased cost of living. One of the arguments used for increase of fares is the rise in the cost of living whose present index number is 290. But in the case of these $1\frac{1}{2}$ lac subordinates and workshopmen forming 18 per cent. of all Railway employees, the salary is reduced. That is something extraordinary.

Coming to the detailed proposals, the main item of expenditure which has been mentioned is the recommendations of the Pay Commission. The additional expenditure has been put at Rs. 48 crores in all. I am unable to find out how the figure has been arrived at. From my contact with the Federation from the beginning I know that the Secretary of the Federation has challenged the figures. At present at least 80 per cent. of the salaries on Railways have not been fixed. Therefore it is not possible actually to find out what the additional cost will be. Workshop salaries have not been fixed, for instance. I would therefore say that this item which is sought to be covered is really an item arrived at by conjecture. Since my Honourable friend Mr. Maitra has raised the question I want to say that he should not grudge to pay the labourer a living wage. I want that labour should remain contented.

I have been hearing in the House about complaints on the railways. I am myself very bitter about them. But I know how things happen. I have seen so many ticket examiners on the O. T. Railway. The maximum pay of this ticket examining staff on this railway is Rs. 60 after a service of 30 years beginning with Rs. 30. And they ask me, "Tell us whether we can live and maintain ourselves on Rs. 60 per month?" They reach Rs. 60 after about 30 years of service. It is absurd. The man might have got two sons to keep at school or college. By honest living he cannot keep them there. What happens therefore, is that when passengers go and ask for tickets, no tickets are given to them. They are told that tickets are short. The passengers are allowed to travel ticketless and the amount is pocketed by the railway ticket examiners. I know in the journey from Gorakhpur to Nantanwa which is a distance of about 50 miles, at least 50 per cent. of the passengers do not pay the fare, but the money is taken by the ticket examiners and is divided between themselves. The result is that you lose the revenue. I think the revenues will increase by much more than Rs. 8 crores if, instead of having police to arrest ticketless passengers, there are police to check this corrupt practice by the staff, and to chalan the guilty officials. But you cannot arrest or chalan them unless you give them at least a living wage. If you reduce their salaries by Rs. 100 and Rs. 50 and also want to prosecute them it is not fair. They should have a living wage. Then only can you be strict and demand honest work from them. I would say to Pandit Maitra also that he should not grudge to pay a living wage to the labourer. He runs your industry and he must be paid his full wages. Then you can expect him to be honest. Otherwise it is impossible to expect him to be honest. Give him a living wage and see that the recommendations of the Pay Commission are not applied in an irrational manner. Then you can expect full and honest work from him. With the new free spirit abroad I am sure the workers will do patriotic work as the Honourable Minister has said. As he said they have done wonderful work during the riots and partition days. Under great risk they have been able to carry on their work during those days. As Mr. Anthony said the other day they have been able to make up for the shortage of firemen and other staff by extraordinary adjustment among themselves. They can rise to the occasion and can probably do miracles. You must therefore give these heroic men at least a living wage. Then corruption can be stopped. I hope therefore that this part of the subject will receive the careful attention of the Honourable Minister.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

and their implementation by the Government, we should not try hastily to effect retrenchment in that direction. There is, however, I believe, some scope for retrenchment in the higher services. But there again the difficulty is that cuts in the higher services will not effect much financial saving. However, there is some scope there and the Honourable Minister would be pleased to do as much as possible without impairing efficiency or making the services discontented.

With regard to efficiency, I have one or two suggestions to make. I feel that the service is not really insolent to the public or foreign to a sense of discipline. But I feel on the contrary—it is my personal feeling—that they display much indolence and inattention to their duties. That seems to be more characteristic of the middle and lower class officers in the discharge of their duties. If anybody goes to a booking office, and asks for a ticket, he will find that the booking clerks are talking to one another—supremely unconcerned as to their duty towards the public. And then after repeated calls, he wakes up in a listless fashion and if he is asked a question, or if a suggestion is made to him he continues in a dreamy condition, replies as little as possible and does as little work as possible for the pay he gets. It has already been pointed out in the House that there is trouble about the getting back of change from some booking clerks. The time may be urgent; the passenger cannot wait; and the change is not often given.

Then there is the other head of corruption about which I wish to make one or two comments. The fact is that ticketless travel which has so far been so much of a menace in the railway administration, is largely the result of corruption among some railway officials. I shall cite to the Honourable Minister one or two typical examples. If anybody would care to travel in an inter or third class compartment or to have a peep into the working of the railway officials in those compartments, he will often find that a ticket examiner gets into the compartment at a wayside station and asks for tickets. It is found that many people have not got tickets. At once there is a thundering order that they should get down to be sent up for prosecution or pay the fare and so forth. Some of the passengers say that they have not got the fare. They are taken down to the platform and then it will be noticed that a conversation of a more intimate and affectionate character is now taking place between the passengers and the official. The passengers are taken away from the gaze of the persons who witnessed the preliminary stage. The ticketless passengers are then taken to another compartment or to a distant place and there the matter is satisfactorily adjusted of which however there would be no evidence in the railway books.

Then at the terminus stations or big junctions where tickets are supposed to be collected what is largely and openly done is that many persons who have no tickets adopt a well known course. There is a well established convention as to how things are managed. Any Honourable Member or official can privately find it out. At the Howrah station as also at other big railway stations the thing is managed so openly and systematically that it seems to be the accepted business principle on the subject. The man who has no ticket just hands to the ticket collector at the gate a one rupee or two rupee note in lieu of a ticket and without any argument or fuss the man is allowed to pass. I have referred to only two out of the many ways of corruption. I think this kind of corruption can be checked largely, though it cannot be rooted out altogether. It is ingrained in our nature. I submit that the Honourable Minister should appoint or cause to be appointed a few secret agents and ask them to pass as men travelling without tickets and go through the experience. Let them report to him or to some suitable officer. I think the experience which I have mentioned before the House will be borne out by facts. I think that if the idea gets abroad that there are officials or secret agents who are going about, then it will strike terror in the hearts of the wrong-doers and that would act as a deterrent.

The other kind of machinery which I think should be adopted would be to encourage complaints. Nowadays if there is a complaint, it takes years even to get a reply. The complainant never gets satisfaction from the ultimate reply. I should submit that complaints should be encouraged, they should be inquired into secretly, identity of the complainants should not be disclosed and the men reported against should be punished in a summary fashion on summary enquiry. If there is a large number of complaints about one particular station or a particular batch of staff or a particular officer, it is a sure indication that the batch or the individual official are or is corrupt. It is contrary to human experience that there would be a combination of men against any honest official. As soon as there is a dishonest official complaints grow. These complaints are very welcome in the postal department. The postal department makes very thorough enquiries into the complaints. The postal department is thus remarkably free from corruption. The railway department should take a leaf out of their books and adopt a similar system. I have made some concrete suggestions which I hope the Government will be pleased to take into consideration. With these few words I support the motion.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Sir, before coming to my subject I would make a request to the Honourable Minister. Formerly this budget used to be discussed in two days in a lower House of one hundred elected members and in one day in the Council of State. Now the number of members has increased to 300, and there is only one chamber. The former Government was a bureaucratic Government, which did not care to have suggestions from the House. But the popular Government must enable every member to have his full say on the budget and give careful consideration to his suggestions. This is the prevailing practice in the Legislative Assemblies of the Provincial Governments since 1937. Members here are anxious to give their suggestions but they cannot find time even to speak out their mind. I would request the Government to give more time when the next budget is presented to the House for discussion.

I now come to my subject. I have been following very closely the debate since yesterday and I listened very attentively to the speech of the Honourable Minister. I have very carefully studied his speech and the budget. I can say that the Honourable Minister has delivered a very lucid speech giving a most simple exposition of a most complicated subject. But his is the speech of a great professor and not of a great statesman, and I cannot approve the measures he has suggested to meet the crisis. The biggest question that was raised in the debate yesterday was by my Honourable friend Mr. S. K. Patil, who said that on the successful and prosperous working of the railways hangs the fate of all nationalisation in this country but the manner in which it was answered by the Honourable Minister was not, I think, satisfactory. He said that we apply a very high standard in judging the administration of Railways, but we do not apply the same standard to the working of other industrial concerns like the textile industry. I would tell him that the textile industry is an industry run by capitalists for their own benefit, whereas the railways are run by the Government not only for their own interest but in the interests of the people. I think we have a right to demand from the Government a full explanation of every thing done and a much higher standard of efficiency. I therefore hope that he will not mind even if I am a bit fierce in my criticism and I trust he will take it in the spirit in which I make it. We as members here represent crores of people and if we tell him that this is not what the people expect from him I hope he will take it in the spirit in which it is said.

The Honourable Minister is demanding an increase in fares, which is always an unpopular thing. The present amenities to passengers, as the Honourable Minister himself has said, are far less than what they were even 20 years ago. I have here some figures. The prewar total gross earnings of Railways were Coming to the question of nationalisation, I think nationalisation cannot be judged by the past record of Railways. So far there had been no nationalisation and a foreign government was exploiting our railways. The amount earned by the railways was not spent in the best interests of the railways. I would suggest that it is only from now on that nationalisation has to be judged, whether it is good or not. I have with me the Reports of the Mackay Committee and the Acworth Committee. In fact we are working under the Acworth Committee recommendations. They had suggested that Railway Finance should be separated from the General Budget. It is at present so, of course. But the railways are contributing a sufficiently large amount to general revenues. You want to judge the advantages of Nationalisation by the progress made by the railways. If that is so, you must give them full liberty to devote their profits to their development and not ask them to contribute to the general revenues. They are themselves performing a national function. Therefore if you take away some money from them you will stunt their growth to that extent. Except interest on invested capital, no contribution to General Revenues should be demanded from them. In other countries also the railways have been allowed to develop and the revenue from them has been spent wholly on railways. Today there is only about 40,000 miles of railway in India as against 36,700 miles in 1920. After 25 years we have only an increase of 4,000 miles, i.e. by 10 per cent. though the capital cost has increased from Rs. 380 crores to 808 crores, i.e., by 135 per cent. Of this mileage, too, some 7,000 miles has gone to Pakistan. The Mackay Committee had recommended that India needed at least one lac miles of Railways. The budget shows that our greatest need is the ability to produce Railway Engines and Wagons in our Workshops. If the Honourable Minister will put in a programme of starting capital work on new lines and starting shops which produce engines and the like, I am prepared to bear any increase in fares. But merely to meet the deficiencies which can be well met by economies in expenditure, we are not prepared to give a single pie. If there is a big programme of establishing big engine shops, having more coaches, having things manufactured here, so that in a sufficiently small period of time we may really have a great railway system, then I am prepared to bear any increase in fares. The Honourable Minister has said that it will take three years for normal railway conditions to return. Surely this is a confession of utter bankruptcy in statesmanship. In 12 years from 1929 onwards, Russia could by her five year plans become the greatest power in the world in 1941. Hitler made Germany the greatest power in the world in five years from 1934 to 1939. If we desire to rise to our full stature and to realise our destiny of being the greatest power in the world, then the same spirit of urgency must inspire us. Three years is an unconscionably long time for railways to return to their normal prewar condition. The spirit of Free India and its great destiny must inspire us, and our railways must soon become the pride of our nation.

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena]

Mr. Speaker: Before I call upon any Honourable Member to speak may I know as to what time should be fixed for the last cut motion to be taken?

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth (Madras: Muslim): Half past four.

Mr. Speaker: Then it will be taken at 4-30 instead of at 4-10.

Shri B. Das: Sir, I rise to support the economy cut moved by my friend Mr. Santhanam. Sir, I also support the points that have been raised by my friend Pandit Govind Malaviya regarding economy, efficiency and eradication of corruption. If I had my own way, I would have liked Mr. Santhanam's motion to have been for an economy cut of 10 crores and not 1 crore. Talking of 10 crores, I am reminded of the historic debate we had in 1944 when Sir Edward Benthall wanted, just like my Honourable friend Dr. John Matthai, enhancement of railway rates and fares and wanted to keep 10 crores earmarked for the benefit of the third class passengers and for the comforts of the third class travelling public. Well, the House as it was constituted was wise enough to deduct 10 crores and the Benthalleian idea could not be realised.

Sir, I have been a little pained in hearing the debates in the last two days. There seems to be an exaltation. Although to me there is dawn of free India, there has been no nationalization and except for the Ministers nothing has been nationalized. It has been very painful for me to hear talk of nationalization of railways and to gloat over it!

Then, Sir, I would not have liked my very esteemed friend Dr. Matthai, a great scholar and a great economist, to follow the advice of his bureaucratic advisers in regard to Railways having provided "cheap service in spite of all-round rise in prices and wages" as long as it was possible for them to do. Why this self-complacency, this bravado? This advice which his advisers in the Railway Board gave him, he expounded a little more fully yesterday. I wish he had waited till the February Budget session, till circumstances had adjusted themselves and he had realised fully whether the railway concern is run as a national concern.

And talking of bureaucratic advisers, I am surprised that the Chief Commissioner and the Financial Commissioner included that political statement in the explanatory memorandum. It sounds a Benthalleian doctrine. We have become free only for the last three months. I cannot expect even if the Railway Board had been to a great extent Indianized, those gentlemen have become completely nationalistic in outlook. They are carrying on the tradition of the old railway bureaucrats, and what was their tradition? If we would not have been free today and if the old Government of India Act were to be working, there would have been a Statutory Railway Authority which would control all Indian railways and would have taken them away from the scope of criticism of the legislature. That was in contemplation. Thank God the British have quitted India and today we can control our railways.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Are you better now?

Shri B. Das: My Honourable friend Mr. Aney has asked me 'Are we better?'. We will be better when the Honourable Minister of Railways reflects our hearts, our ideals, and is not guided by his bureaucratic advisers who were henchmen of the British Raj three months ago. Any European who had signed petitions, intrigued and represented that there should be Statutory Railway Authority in 1930-1931 must go out of India. Let us pay off compensations and pensions and let him go back, stock and barrel. If we want foreign experts, the English experts are no good. We must get them from America. Let us get them on contract basis. What has the Englishman done in controlling Indian railways? He has seen that the Indian railways have continuously fed the engineering industries in England. Hundreds of crores of rupees have gone to England and yet we cannot produce one locomotive, though we have been told during the last 20 or 25 years, after the Lee loot was conceded to the railway employees, that locomotives will be manufactured at Ajmer and other Railway Workshops. How can the English bureaucrats, and Railway bosses who placed orders with English factories in England and created and supported large British engineering industries do that? Sir, economy and efficiency will result when these fifth columnists go away from India; and my Honourable friend Dr. Matthai must understand, and appreciate the spirit with which I am speaking and with which we all are inspired today. They should not have fifth columnists in India to destroy the largest industry which my Honourable friend said is a nationalised concern. I hope I will live to congratulate him that he has nationalised Indian railways. Sir, it is a shame, it is our humiliation that we cannot produce railway appliances in India. For that the Railway Boards that were in existence before the 15th August 1947 were and are responsible. Until you get rid of these fifth columnists you cannot think of nationalising our railways.

[Shri B. Das]

Sir, I compliment my friend Mr. Frank Anthony for interpreting very courageously the maladies of our Railways. He represents in this House a large number of railway employees. The attitude of the railway employees has been "more and more pay and less and less work". I listened very attentively to my friend Professor Saxena. I cannot understand why labour must be pampered and feared. Sir, I condemn the attitude of the railway employees getting cheap grains as a special grace. Why should they be singled out among all the employees of the Government of India and among all the poor labourers all over India and the middle classes of India even? Why should they be pampered with Rs. 14 or 15 crores in subsidy? They are getting things which you and I do not get. They feed black market. They get very many things and this privilege was conceded out of fear of communism or socialism. We are now a free country. We should not be afraid of socialists or communists in borrowed dreams and the days when labour could paralyse the government by railway strikes are over. Those days are over. Those who borrowed such cheap phrases from Karl Marx or Lenin are now trying to think in other ways and my Honourable friend Dr. Matthai will try and deal with these socialists or congressmen or communists in a different and new frame of mind.

An Honourable Member: Patriots.

Shri B. Das: My labour friends should be patriots first and then they should follow and imitate ideas from foreign countries.

Sir, my friend Mr. Santhanam analysed the various items of Demand No. 9 and said why it has been selected for this economic cut. Sir, I think the Railway Publicity Department should be completely abolished. It has brought more infamy to India in foreign countries in the past than any other activities of the old Railway Board that was there to propagate British rule in India. The expenditure under this head has been steadily going up. In the original Budget which my Honourable friend the Railway Minister introduced it was six lakhs; now the expenditure asked for is something to the tune of 6.80 lakhs for 7½ months. I think this an useless item of expenditure and a burden on the public when the railway carriages cannot provide convenience to the travelling public, when the Railways cannot carry goods from Bombay to Calcutta or to Cuttack for want of wagons. It is no use wasting money and giving them cheap rations and so many other benefits that fortunately or unfortunately the railway servants are entitled to.

Sir, why should there be a Health Department in the Railways? Better abolish it. The Railways were company-managed; they were completely controlled by Britishers; they had British elements—British doctors and others—in all these Railways. Now we are one; this is our own country. Why should not the Railway Companies take advantage of our own doctors that are working under the Provincial or the Central Government?

I will make a few other suggestions. Sir, I endorse the suggestion of Pandit Govind Malaviya that the amalgamation of certain Railways should immediately take place. There is no need for so many groups of Railways. In the past it was so because it was under the British tradition; several senior jobs like the Agents were the preserve of Europeans—many wanted to be Agents. But now the European is out of the whole job; now we do not want too many satraps. Three or four should be the limit of General Managers and thereby lots of saving will result.

Then about economy in staff. The Honourable Minister need not be afraid of strikes by the Socialists or Communists. The railway employees who are surplus must be disbanded. What large numbers of staff had been working in war time? Do we require all of them? The Honourable Minister was controlling a very large business in India; I think at that time he had not got that partiality towards labour or towards any others; he functioned as an employer. I want him to behave, in the next Budget speech that he will introduce, as an employer; no useless labour should be retained in the Railway service. More labour means more expensive overheads, and I say, had I my own way, I would have opposed the enhancement of rates and taxes. Why this hurry? The Honourable Minister could have waited another three months; he could have seen the way his staff are responding under the new conditions of Free India. Are they responding? In the engineering shops of the Railways, his workmen are not working—they are non-co-operating; production has gone down—everybody admits that, the world knows that. Why should production go down? So I say it is no use paying higher allowances or keeping surplus labour. He has brought the enhancements before us and I am bound by my Party decisions; I have not tabled any motion to oppose the enhancement of rates. But why is he in this hurry? Let the Honourable Minister take stock of his House—the Railways fully under the Swaraj condition, not under the old bureaucratic condition. We have gone through the bureaucratic tradition and we must come under the National tradition.

With these few remarks, Sir, I support the motion moved by my Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai (one of the panel of Chairmen.)]

Mr. Frank R. Anthony (C.P. and Berar: General): Mr. Chairman, Sir, as I listened to the debate, I felt that we have got into rather a vicious circle. From one side of the House, from the majority of the Members, we heard complaints of inefficiency, of corruption, of pampering labour. From one Member of this House the Honourable friend Mr. Saksena, we heard partially the point of view of labour.

I admit, Sir, that many of the complaints against the Railway staff are more than justified today. But this House has not heard even partially the point of view of Railway labour and between these two points of view, I do not envy the Honourable Minister in charge of Railways at all. I was a member of the Pay Commission; we recognised in common with most other people the need for scaling down salaries in the upper reaches. By and large we accepted the principle that salaries up to a maximum of between Rs. 850 and 1,000 should not be materially affected. Apart from that we did scale down the upper limits of the senior cadre; we also scaled down the administrative posts' salaries—both the junior and the senior administrative posts. For instance, where a General Manager now gets about Rs. 3,500, under our recommendations he will get about Rs. 2,250. Where a Member of the Railway Board now gets about Rs. 4,000, under the recommendation of the Pay Commission he will get about Rs. 2,500. On the other hand, Sir, the Pay Commission deliberately upgraded scales in the lower wage brackets. We had to do that. Any body with any sense of social justice had to apply itself to raising what we regarded as a starvation level of scales, particularly in a concern so important as the Railways. We have definitely upgraded those in the lower wage brackets. The difficulty is that the bulk of the railway employees are in the lower wage brackets and consequently the bulk of the increase in these wages will go to the people in the lower wage brackets.

[Mr. Frank R. Anthony]

An Honourable Member: Nobody objects to that, but what about the additional facilities?

Mr. Frank R. Anthony: I do not doubt, Sir, that there are many items on which the Government can and should retrench. My Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam has indicated certain items. I have no doubt that certain retrenchments are overdue and can be made, but by and large the bulk of the increase that has been envisaged is involved in the increase of wages to people in the lower wage brackets. I say this: that the Government is committed to implementing the scales as recommended by the Pay Commission. I go further and say—not about pampering labour—but the conditions ought to be accepted as they are, and if the recommendations of the Pay Commission as they apply to the employees in the lower wage brackets are not implemented, the whole Railway system will immediately be caught up in a wide-spread and paralysing strike. But I do say this to the Honourable Minister of Transport, that he should make it known much more widely to the “inferior” staff—the people who are now known as the Class IV employees—that the Commission has dealt not only fairly but has dealt liberally with them. Wherever I went recently—and I did a very extensive tour—I got this one complaint that the Pay Commission scales which my friend there regarded as ultra generous, are regarded by the railway employee, particularly the “inferior” staff, as niggardly. He feels that the Pay Commission has let the people in the lower wage brackets down. The average member in the Class IV cadre feels that we have dealt with them in a niggardly, shabby and unfair way. This it is very necessary to counteract. The only explaining that is being done is being done by irresponsible elements who have got a hold and are getting an increasing hold on the bulk of the Railway labour who tell them that the Pay Commission has not dealt with them fairly. Yesterday, Sir, I dealt with this question of increasingly low output on the Railways. I agree entirely with the contention made by many of my friends that there is inefficiency in the Railway, that this inefficiency is increasing. As a matter of fact I am alarmed by it. I mentioned yesterday in my speech that an expert had assessed that in one of the largest workshops in this country, the average output of an “inferior” worker is two man-hours a day. My Honourable friend the Minister of Transport—who unfortunately is not listening to me now—did not make any comment on this yesterday.

I thought it was a very vital matter, this definite acceptance by the Railway official that efficiency is rapidly on the decline, particularly among the inferior staff and that the average output in the most important railway centres today of an inferior class worker is two man-hours per day. No answer to this was given. No comment was made. As I see it, it is a chronic condition. It is due mainly to one thing. I say it unequivocally and without qualification. It is due to dissatisfaction, increasing dissatisfaction. Indeed, there is more dissatisfaction among the railway employees today than there is in any other Department of Government that I know of. As I said, there are two main reasons. One is the gulf between the railway officials and the railway subordinates. The railway official has very little contact with and no understanding of the employee. In the old days, under the old bureaucratic regime, he ruled by fear. That fear has disappeared today and he has no weapon with which to substitute it. The other reason is the sense of frustration on the part of the railway employee. The average railway employee today is suffering acutely from it. He feels that he has no security of service. He feels that justice and fairplay are things which he cannot expect from the present Railway Administration and I say this—I say it with regret—that in spite of a change-over in the Administration, I myself can see no perceptible signs of any change in the spirit of railway officialdom. The railway employee today does not know when he will be condemned, when he will be removed or dismissed from service, but he does know that however unfair a punishment may be, he has one chance in a million of having his grievance redressed. There is no right of appeal. Whatever right there is, it is illusory. The appeal provisions are farcical and that is one of the main reasons why we have this dissatisfaction among the railway employees today. They feel that their needs and their legitimate grievances have no chance of being met by the Railway Administration. When Sir Edward Benthall was in charge of this portfolio, I used to protest vigorously and repeatedly against this unresponsive attitude of railway officials. I am repeating that today. Probably, it is no fault of the railway officials that they have been reared in the old traditions of the bureaucracy and whatever protests I may make, whatever suggestions I may make, they will perhaps be treated with the same superciliousness, the same lack of consideration which their European predecessors used to treat them with. I am not blaming the Honourable Minister for Transport at all. He is getting all his information, all his knowledge of railway conditions, from officials who are not in touch with the men. I say to him he does not really know what the men are feeling and thinking today. I am in touch with more than 80 railway centres, large and small, important and unimportant. I get thousands of appeals and representations and I know what is the feeling of the men. So unresponsive is your officialdom today that I find even the sober and stable elements

4 P.M. among the railwaymen are being weaned away from their traditions of loyalty and service. They are being stampeded into organisations which will call a strike as soon as it suits them. And I give this House an assurance that unless some firm action is taken by the Minister of Transport, that unless he is prepared to ride roughshod over his die-hard Railway Board Members—be they Indian or anybody else—that unless he is prepared to put aside his officials who have been reared in this wrong psychology, that unless he is prepared to come down and meet the men and get to know their real needs and grievances,—that unless he does these things I give this House an assurance that whatever you may do, within six months, if you carry on in this way, the Railway Administration will be caught up in a gigantic paralysis. There will be nothing which you can do about it. Even today, if a strike is called, not 50, not 60 but 99 per cent. of the men, whether members of the Unions or not, will go on strike. (An Honourable Member: So it is a warning’.) They are all united on one point, in their general dissatisfaction with and detestation of the railway officials and the spirit of bureaucracy which is continuing. That is what I find today.

But the men are not unresponsive. They are amenable to reason. I have talked to them. I have seen them in their hundreds and thousands. I know their feelings. It is not so much an increase in wages which they want today. They want an increase in understanding. I asked the Honourable Minister to appoint an ex-Judge of the Federal Court, an ex-Judge of the High Court. I got no reply. I do not know why the Railway officials should balk at this suggestion. What prevents the Railway Administration from appointing a high judicial personage to deal with appeals. This is one of the main sources of discontent today. The men feel that they have grievances which have no chance of being redressed. Whatever decision is taken by the railway official, that is endorsed by the Railway Administration right up to the Honourable Minister in charge of Railways as a matter of form. Not only is it endorsed, but the whole Administration today is based on the same old principle: “Our officers, right or wrong”. Three weeks ago, I was discussing the matter with a General Manager. He confessed to me that he always works on this principle: “My officers, right or wrong.” I say this is what is wrong with your system. I beg of the Railway Minister to refuse to accept this principle and apply himself to this matter. The men are not entirely unresponsive. They do not merely want an increase of wages, so much as they do an increase in understanding.

[Mr. Frank R. Anthony]

Finally, Sir, my Honourable friend Mr. Saksena mentioned that under the Pay Commission's recommendations, 81,000 people would have their salaries cut. I was a member of that Commission and I can say that it was never the intention of the Pay Commission that anyone should have his salary cut under these recommendations. It was our intention that everybody more or less up to Rs. 850 should have their salaries upgraded. I am certain that it was never an intention that people who are drawing less than that should also have their salaries cut. I state that, and I state that as one of the members of the Pay Commission—I do not want it to be felt that I, as one who lent myself to the suggestion that even men in the lower wage brackets should, under our recommendations, have their salaries cut.

In conclusion, Sir, I repeat to my Honourable friend my appeal for more understanding. I ask him not to resent what I have said. What I have said, I have said in a spirit of constructive criticism. There is much scope today for harnessing the goodwill of the inferior employee. And if my Honourable friend, the Railway Minister, will discard the advice of his railway officials where he should, and he will make, through the necessary channels, greater contact with the employees in the lower wage brackets, I feel certain that the Railways will re-capture the efficiency for which they once had a very proud tradition.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Sir, in the various debates that have taken place on the Demands, this last debate that we have had, if I may say so respectfully, has been the most profitable and the most illuminating. I should like straightaway, Sir, in view of the limited time allotted to me, to get down to brass tacks. One of the most important points which has been made in the course of the debate, I think by my Honourable friend, Mr. Santhanam, is that we have an increase in the working expenses which is more than proportionate to the increase in the level of prices. It is a perfectly legitimate point to make, and if I may say so, that constitutes in a nutshell our problem on the Railways. What has happened is this: That while we have increased our expenditure on staff and labour and on various other things, we have not been able to get in return for our expenditure a proportionate output. Now that is the whole point, the whole problem with which we are faced. Why is it that we cannot get a better output of services from our staff? My Honourable friend Mr. Anthony, in a tone of righteous indignation, has told me that we are not likely to get an increase in the output of work done by our staff unless we fundamentally change our whole relationship to them. I am aware of the importance of that point. But when you try to look at it in a practical way the problem is not quite so simple as my Honourable friend makes out. Here am I at the head of this great Railway Organization with more than a million people engaged in it. My Honourable friend, does not surely expect me to get into personal touch with every one of these employees! The only way in which I can get into touch with the labour who are working for our Railways is by working through the organised Labour Associations. One of the most important things that I have in mind—and it is an idea that has been present in my mind for some time is that there ought to be better, more effective, more continuous contact between the Railway management and the Railwaymen's Federation and as I said in my Budget Speech, I have already started discussions with the Committee of the All India Railwaymen's Federation, so that we might be able to come to some arrangement on the basis of which not merely personal contacts could be established but labour know what exactly is the point of view of the Management; the Management could know what exactly is the point of view of labour, and so there might be introduced into our Organization a better co-operative spirit. That is the only basis on which I can proceed as far as this question of labour relationship is concerned. It is not possible for me in view of my commitments, and the fact that there are only 24 hours in the day to fulfil them, to go round the whole country and establish personal contacts, individual contacts with our workers. In fact it is, I think, an unsound thing for the head of the Railway Administration to contact individual persons in labour except through the organisation which has been set up by labour itself; otherwise you introduce into your labour organization a disruptive element which will react adversely both on the management and on labour.

My Honourable friend, Mr. Anthony has dilated at great length on the sense of injustice and hardship experienced by our Railway staff. I am sorry he thinks so. I am aware there have been cases where injustice has been done and hardships have been inflicted and I will do everything in my power to see that injustices are rectified and that hardships are eliminated. But there is one thing to which he did not give any attention and that is a question which is very closely bound up with this problem of output, and that is that the sense of discipline among the staff and among labour, has greatly weakened in recent years. I am not one who for a moment would suggest enforcing discipline which would involve injustice. Discipline should be enforced firmly, but discipline should be enforced with a proper sense of justice and fairness. Therefore, while I am asking for a higher degree of discipline and for measures required for raising the standard of discipline, I propose to do it on a basis of understanding with the organised Associations of labour. My Honourable friend said there is no opportunity for appeal. My idea is that in a business organization like the Railways, if you are going to offer an unlimited latitude for appeals, you will never get on with your job. One of the troubles I think that the Railway Organization is faced with is the undue facilities for appeal, which a Government Organization offers. Our Railway Organization therefore is neither a properly organised Government Department nor a properly organised business concern. We are neither the one nor the other. I personally think while it is of the utmost importance that our staff, our labour as a whole, should feel that they will at every moment get a fair deal from us, I think at the same time it is most important that they should recognise that a proper standard of discipline should be maintained.

My Honourable friend, Mr. Santhanam, put a problem to me. He asked me, as an illustration of the lack of attention that we pay to details of finance, "Why is it on certain Railway Administrations our expenditure on grain shops is far more than on others?" I should like to tell him, without going into details, that the object for which our grain shops work is partly for securing a regular, continuous supply of essential commodities and partly also that these supplies should be made available at lower prices than in the open market. It happens that certain Railway Administrations think it necessary to make these grain shop organisation a means of providing their labour with as many of the essential commodities they require as possible. The larger the number of commodities that you sell through your grain shop, the greater the expenditure that you incur. If the East Indian Railway thought—and they may have had important reasons for doing so—that they ought to make their grain shop organisation a means of providing a wider range of essential commodities you cannot altogether blame them for it. As a matter of fact, one of the demands that the Railwaymen's Federation have made over and over again is: "If you are going to have these grain shops, make them really effective and really useful—" a demand with which I have a great deal of sympathy—and as far as I am concerned, I am going to see that while we have this grain shop organisation it is an organisation which will provide as far as possible for the men and their families all really essential commodities.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena (U.P. : General): Is it not a fact that when the Honourable Minister was Chairman of the Public Accounts Committee the

738

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [26TH Nov. 1947]

[Shri Mohan Lal Saksena]

Committee unanimously recommended that these cheap grain shops should go and instead of that cash allowances should be given?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Well, Sir, I was then in a different position. This matter I am prepared to put before the Standing Finance Committee and I am certain in the circumstances which prevail now, I should be able to carry the Standing Finance Committee with me. I am prepared to explain the position when the time comes.

There is another point to which I should like to refer with regard to this question that my Honourable friend, Mr. Santhanam raised. The level of prices, that is to say, the cost of living index does not operate at uniform levels throughout the country. In the Calcutta area and the surrounding areas you will find a higher cost of living index than in most other parts of the country.

Yesterday I was speaking of the possibilities of economy in the course of my reply to the general debate, and I pointed out that as far as matters like staff and coal are concerned the margin that I have for economy is not very considerable. But I am quite prepared to look into that question and in the light of criticisms made by Honourable Members I am prepared to have that matter examined again. But the House will remember that last year in connection with our negotiations with railway labour we decided to set up a High-power railway inquiry committee. Unfortunately it has not been possible for that committee to complete its work. It is now in abeyance; but I am going to have it re-assembled at an early date, and I have no doubt that these questions will be gone into in detail by that committee. Whatever proposals it makes will be put before the Standing Finance Committee for Railways and I have no doubt some measure of economy will materialise from it. But as regards the particular cut that my Honourable friend has moved, with every intention in the world to effect economies in the working of the railways it is not possible for me between now and next March to do anything by way of radical economising of expenditure; it is not possible within this limited period. Therefore my difficulties are these. In view of the fact that on things like staff and coal the immediate prospect of economy is limited and the period that I have between now and the presentation of the next budget is very short, the possibility open to me of carrying out the recommendation contained in this motion is very restricted. But in view of the fact that the House has strong feelings on the subject of economy—and I understand it perfectly—and as a token of my earnest personal desire to carry out the wishes of the House in this matter and to implement its suggestions, I would propose to the Honourable Member who has moved this motion that if he would reduce the cut figure from one crore to 50 lakhs I would be prepared to accept it. Although I see at present no light as regards the possibility of effecting economy I would put this amount of compulsion on myself in response to the wishes of the House.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Sir, with your permission I should like to move a small amendment to Mr. Santhanam's cut motion. I move:

"That in Mr. Santhanam's cut motion for the figures 1,00,00,000 the figures 50,00,000 be substituted."

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I accept the amendment.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Sir, I accept it.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That in Mr. Santhanam's cut motion for the figures 1,00,00,000 the figures 50,00,000 be substituted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the demand under the head 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses, reduced by Rs. 50,00,000'."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That a reduced sum not exceeding Rs. 19,90,32,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'."

The motion was adopted.

Pandit Govind Malaviya: Sir, what about my cut motion? I heard nothing from Government member about it.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Sir, both Mr. Santhanam's motion and the Honourable Member's motion relate to the question of economy and my reply was intended for both of them. It is the general question of economy on railways which is covered by both the motions.

Pandit Govind Malaviya: Sir, I beg leave of the House to withdraw my motion.

Mr. Chairman: Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw his cut motion?

The cut motion was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

DEMAND No. 15—CONSTRUCTION OF NEW LINES—CAPITAL AND DEPRECIATION FUND.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Sir, I move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,23,73,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund'."

Mr. Chairman: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,23,73,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund'."

Reconstruction of lines dismantled during war—Darwha Pusad Line.

Shri M. S. Aney: Sir, I Move:

"That the demand under the head 'Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund' be reduced by Rs. 100."

Yesterday, I discussed the question of restoring dismantled lines to some extent and a reply was given by the Honourable Minister. To save time I propose not to repeat the arguments I advanced yesterday. In the course of his reply the Honourable Minister stated that the question of restoration of lines which were dismantled as a war measure will be considered by him mainly on the ground of their being remunerative or otherwise. Now I ask him to consider the question from a broader point of view. I said yesterday that it was only fair to the people who have suffered during the war that the lines should be restored now. I also said that it was a kind of moral obligation on Government to restore them now that the war is over. Today I will give my third ground so that the Honourable Minister may have an opportunity of replying on that point. Sir, every one knows that every line that is constructed in this country is taken on hand only after a vote of this House is recorded. A certain procedure is gone through and certain plans and estimates are prepared. These are considered by various committees and ultimately the grant for the construction of that new line is put in a statement and it is this House which in the end passes it. So it is on the vote of this House that a new line is constructed. I therefore submit that what is done on the vote of this House can only be undone by the vote of this House and not by any one else. As a war measure it may be permissible for the Executive Government to dismantle some line but immediately the emergency is over, the Executive Government must come before the House either to justify what has been done or to restore whatever damage they were required to do resulting in inconvenience to the people in order that the people's sufferings may be ended. I want the Honourable Member to bear this point in mind. If this House has given its vote for the construction of these branch lines on certain considerations, and they are now destroyed, it is necessary for the Government in the ordinary course to restore them without any excuse. Of course if they have strong reasons they should come before the House and say that it is for these reasons we are unable to restore these lines. There are also other considerations. If the consideration of a remunerative character is the only criterion for taking up lines for destruction at the time of war, then the Kalka-Simla and the Darjeeling-Himalayan railways were the proper lines that should have been taken up. These lines were less remunerative than several other lines that they dilapidated during the course of the war. So those lines that were going to be of some convenience to a particular class of passengers were maintained although unremunerative, while lines which mainly catered to the convenience of ordinary people were dilapidated.

[Shri M. S. Aney]

There is also one more point which the Honourable Minister should know. Some of these lines were mainly used by the pilgrims. There is the case of the Nimisar line. Before the protest could be heard by the House or the Honourable Minister, or before the Honourable Minister in charge of Railways could do anything, the railway authorities on instruction from the Defence Department had already dismantled the line and there was nothing for the Railway Board to do. Things were carried out before instructions for doing so were issued by the Railway Board. Under these circumstances there was not much time for the representatives of the people and the Honourable Minister in charge to consider the matter coolly.

One more consideration is this. Even as regards the remunerative character of the line, I would ask the Honourable Minister to consider that there was no time at all. The Defence Department addressed the Railway Board and the Railway Board circulated it to the various agencies and then within a few days replies were received and the process of destruction began. It was war time and things had to be done quickly and there was no question of going through the usual red-tape procedure. Even as regards the remunerative character, there are various factors which will have to be considered before a hurried judgment can be given on a point that a particular line is remunerative or not. I humbly request the Honourable Minister to note that on the question of the lines being remunerative or not, he should not go by the opinion that he receives from the Agent of a particular railway or some other authority. That is a question which he should be prepared to discuss with the Railway Finance Standing Committee, the Central Advisory Council and the deputation of the people which may like to wait upon him. I am personally prepared to discuss with him the question of the remunerative or otherwise character of some of these lines.

Having said this much, there is one more consideration I would like to invite his attention to. In the altered geographical condition of Dominion Frontiers, he must look upon these lines not merely in the old way. We have a frontier today not only on the north-west and to the east of the dominion, but it is very likely that you may have a frontier in the interior of the country itself also somewhere. This being the position the Honourable Minister must see whether some of these lines which have been dismantled are not necessary in order to have as a means of easy access to our own interior border lands, so that any State or tribe that may be hostile can be effectively checked from doing anything wrong.

Mr. Chairman: Will the Honourable Member resume his seat. It is now 4-30 of the Clock.

Shri M. S. Aney: Therefore these special features also should be borne in mind. With these words I beg to move the cut.

Mr. Chairman: Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund' be reduced by Rs. 100."

As agreed upon this morning, we will take up Demand No. 1.

DEMAND No. 1—RAILWAY BOARD.

More adequate provisions for safeguarding the Person and Property of Passengers.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: (Madras: Muslim): I am moving it. Sir, I move:

"That the demand under the head 'Railway Board' be reduced by Rs. 100."

My object in moving this cut is to give my Honourable friend an opportunity to tell the House and the country the steps that he has taken and that are in force for the protection of the lives and property of the passengers. Generally speaking, the country is not aware of all that he has done in this respect. I am not going to dilate upon what has happened in the last three months. It is well known that life and property of passengers were unsafe for a considerable period of time on the railways, operating in northern India. There were a number of cases on almost all the trains working there. There were such cases in the G. I. P. line up to Jhansi and Bina. There were such cases on the B. B. and C. I. line, particularly on the meter gauge section, on the E. I. R. and probably on some other lines. I am sure, Sir, that my Honourable friend has done all that is possible for him under the circumstances to protect people but for a time all the measures that he might have taken proved of no avail. He can now tell the house what the position is at present. As far as I know, it appears that even today to travel by railway lines in these particular areas is not at all safe. This morning's papers reported a case of a woman being thrown out of a running train in the vicinity of Delhi near about Ghaziabad. That, Sir, envisages a position which is dangerous and which we cannot look upon with equanimity. I am sure certain measures have been taken. I wish he issued a statement to tell the country what he has been doing and what the present position is.

We in the South read in the papers that an experiment was tried in the U. P. of setting apart certain carriages and compartments in trains for passengers belonging to a particular community and having those carriages and compartments heavily guarded. I do not know whether that experiment has proved a success. I do not know officially. A friend of mine, and an esteemed Member of this House, told me that it has been working well, and if that is so may I suggest to him that this experiment should be extended to other parts of the country also. Then, Sir, there are cases of railway officials who have risked their lives in trying to protect some passengers. I have heard such stories. But in regard to that I have heard of no encouragement given for doing such services. I have heard of a Railway Officer who lost his life in trying to protect some passengers. I have not heard of what was done to help the family of that officer who lost his life, so that that would be an encouragement for others to follow in his footsteps. The same thing can be said of the military and the police who are sent along with these trains. Every thing should be done to encourage them so that they might even risk their lives to save the lives of passengers. My difficulty is that I am speaking without any knowledge of what my friend might have done and therefore he may be in a position to enlighten me and the House and remove some of our misunderstandings.

[Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Sethi]

In the South on the M. S. M. Railway the section south of Bezvada is nowadays disturbed. It is necessary that this should be brought to the notice of my Honourable friend so that he might do whatever is possible. With this object in view I move this cut.

Mr. Chairman: Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Railway Board' be reduced by Rs. 100."

Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur (Madras: Muslim): Sir, in supporting this cut motion I would just like to bring home to the Government the great importance of the matter with reference to which this cut motion has been moved. Sir, you know that the elementary right of every citizen in this country is that his life and property are protected by the Government, whatever the Government might be. If any section of the people in this country feel that their life is not secure either while travelling or otherwise, I say that the Government is not worth its name, if it cannot secure and guarantee to the people the right to be protected, particularly in a railway journey. What has been happening during the last few weeks or months is well known. People who have been going in a railway carriage are not sure of their lives. They are not sure whether they will reach their destination. Innocent women and children and men have been slaughtered for no fault of theirs and that too in a very brutal manner. I do not want to dilate upon all this. Certainly it is the madness of some people that is responsible for it. I say the Government cannot take protection on the ground that it is the madness of those murderers that is responsible for it and therefore the Government is not to be blamed for it. I say the Government certainly has got a duty to discharge. If these people are mad they are mad only at the time of the killing but in all other respects they do not show any sign of insanity. I say it is the fundamental and elementary right of every citizen to be protected, his life and property to be protected whether he is in a railway train or otherwise. I do not know whether the Government has taken the matter sufficiently seriously so as to guarantee the lives of persons who are travelling by railway. I do not wish to dilate beyond this, because it is only a railway demand. So far as the railway is concerned when the passenger has paid his fare it is a contract to take him safely to his destination and if sufficient safeguards are not given for the protection of the lives of these passengers, whoever is the authority, they certainly have to bear the blame. I submit that if the answer is that such things are done elsewhere in another Dominion, my answer is certainly it is no defence at all. That makes the crime more heinous. If a heinous crime is committed by another Dominion that certainly deserves to be condemned and doubly condemned but certainly that is not a justification for repeating such things here. If such a defence is advanced I say that makes the crime much more heinous than it otherwise would be. I submit that it is very necessary that in the interest not only of the fair name of this country but it would also do great harm to the civilization of this country and of the whole world if we allow such things to be done in this country, which has gained its independence only a short time ago. Just after achieving our independence if such things are allowed to be done I submit that we are doing a grave wrong not only to the people of this country as one of the nations of the world but we are doing a great deal of harm even to the progress of civilization of the world.

As to the measures to be taken for the protection of these people I dare say that the Government has not made sufficiently serious attempts. No doubt the members of the Constituent Assembly have been advised to travel by air and for our protection we are thankful that some guard is given to us. But so far as railway journey is concerned it is still very unsafe. I do not know how far the experiment that is being tried in the U. P. is successful but for a long time to come, that is until we are out of this danger of being killed in running trains, it is the bounden duty of the Government to make sufficient arrangements to protect each and every passenger.

There is no doubt that the matter began with a communal colour but it is passing beyond that. As was stated by my Honourable friend you see in this morning's papers that a lady was killed in a train and thrown out by dacoits and other ladies were robbed of their jewels. Now what began as a communal technique of killing people in running trains has gained ground and that is being utilised by robbers to kill and rob other people also. Before this gets stronger ground, it is necessary that such things should be nipped in the bud with the strongest measures taken by the Government. I thought that the Government would have taken very strong measures as soon as they found that such things were happening but I am sorry to note that sufficiently strong measures were not taken. The Railway Minister might say that it is the concern of the Minister for Law and Order. I say it is not merely the concern of the Minister for Law and Order but it is also the concern of the railway authorities to see that passengers are sufficiently protected.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Sir, I will reply briefly to the question that the Honourable the Mover and seconder have raised. As far as the railways are concerned before this period of civil disturbances began we depended entirely upon the railway police for protecting the life and property of our passengers. The railway police, as the House knows, consists of two sections. One is concerned with crime and the other is concerned with the maintenance of order. But since civil disturbances started about the middle of 1946 the railways have taken certain special steps in order to meet the problem. It has taken the form of the organisation of a special armed police force for the protection of railway traffic. The position at present is that in Bengal we have something between 1,200 and 1,500 police constables specially organised into this armed force. In Bihar there are 1,100, in the U.P. there are 1,250, in Orissa there are about 350 to 360. I believe Assam is going to have a force organised shortly. The basis on which we are doing it is this. The railways undertake the financial liability for the maintenance of this force but we depend on the provincial government for the recruitment, training and administration of the force. But the whole bill is met by the railways.

When these very serious disturbances started in the Punjab it was found necessary to organise something more than this and we called in the assistance of the army. During the worst period of the Punjab disturbances no train was allowed to move within the disturbed area except with the assistance of strong army escorts. During the two months, September and October, the strength of these armed escorts reached as high a figure as 65 men for a train of 13 or 14 coaches, generally armed with automatic weapons. That is as far as we have been able to go in the way of meeting this new situation. Although as the Honourable Member pointed out we still have attacks upon trains, the arrangements made by Government—both by the railways and by the army—have been to a substantial extent successful in meeting the new problem. I do not believe that we shall find a complete solution of the problem until the general atmosphere in the country has improved and the forces of law and order are generally strengthened in the country. It does not seem to me possible for the Railways to do anything more in the matter.

A certain experiment which is being tried in the United Provinces has been referred to. I would watch that as an experiment, because when you segregate people belonging to one particular community in this way on trains, however heavily you escort and protect that section in the train, it seems to me it involves the danger of providing a target for those who have evil intentions. I would not try to adopt that system until I am satisfied that the experiment has worked satisfactorily.

[Dr. John Matthai]

[At this stage Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) resumed the Chair].

I may say that the Railway Ministry has in mind also the organisation in the near future, if the Defence Ministry would agree, of a railway auxiliary force, something on the lines of the Territorial Force for the protection of railway property and the lives of railway officials. But that, I think, will take a little time to materialise. I think we have done what we possibly could be expected to do in this matter.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Sir, the cut motion moved by Mr. Aney has not yet been disposed of. I want to have half a minute to speak on it. It has not been put to the House.

Mr. Speaker: The agreement was that at 4-30 of the Clock, whatever discussion was going on in the House must end and the other motion was to be taken up. Hence Mr. Aney's motion was left unfinished. The motion must be taken to have been talked out.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Sir, before the budget speech we have got about ten minutes.

Mr. Speaker: I am sorry I cannot allow it.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: Sir, my cut motion was meant only for a discussion of the subject and a statement from the Honourable Minister in charge. Since my purpose has been served, I seek the leave of the House to withdraw my cut motion.

The cut motion was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Sir, the Honourable Member in charge has not replied to Mr. Aney's cut motion at all.

Mr. Speaker: That motion has been talked out, not in pursuance of any rules of the House but in pursuance of the agreement arrived at between the parties.

Now I would put the demands for grants collectively if the House has no objection.

Demand No. 9 is disposed of. All other Demands except Demand No. 9 are now put to the House together.

The question is:

"That the respective sums not exceeding the amounts shown in the third column of the Order Paper, except in case of head of Demand No. 9 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947, to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of the corresponding heads of Demands entered in the second column thereof."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: That disposes of Demands for Grants. We will begin at 5 o'clock. The House, if it likes, may adjourn for five minutes and reassemble at 5 o'clock.

[As directed by the Honourable the Speaker, the motions for Demands for grants which were adopted by the Assembly are reproduced below.—Ed. of D.]

DEMAND NO. 1.—RAILWAY BOARD.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,80,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Railway Board.'"

DEMAND NO. 2.—AUDIT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,02,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Audit'."

DEMAND NO. 3.—MISCELLANEOUS EXPENDITURE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 44,33,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Miscellaneous Expenditure'."

DEMAND NO. 4.—WORKING EXPENSES—ADMINISTRATION.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 13,60,93,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Working Expenses—Administration'."

DEMAND NO. 5.—WORKING EXPENSES—REPAIRS AND MAINTENANCE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 29,48,81,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Working Expenses—Repairs and Maintenance'."

DEMAND NO. 6.—WORKING EXPENSES—OPERATING STAFF.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 18,05,07,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Working Expenses—Operating Staff'."

DEMAND NO. 7.—WORKING EXPENSES—OPERATION (FUEL).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 13,61,34,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Working Expenses—Operation (Fuel)'."

DEMAND NO. 8.—WORKING EXPENSES—OPERATION OTHER THAN STAFF AND FUEL.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 4,44,95,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Working Expenses—Operation Other than Staff and Fuel'."

DEMAND NO. 10.—PAYMENTS TO INDIAN STATES AND COMPANIES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 81,57,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Payments to Indian States and Companies'."

DEMAND NO. 11.—WORKING EXPENSES—APPROPRIATION TO DEPRECIATION FUND.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 6,81,51,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Working Expenses—Appropriation to Depreciation Fund'."

DEMAND NO. 14-A.—WITHDRAWAL FROM RESERVE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 3,29,08,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Withdrawal from Reserve'."

DEMAND NO. 15.—CONSTRUCTION OF NEW LINES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,23,73,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Construction of New Lines'."

DEMAND No. 16.—OPEN LINE WORKS—ADDITIONS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 14,00,00,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Open Line Works—Additions'."

DEMAND No. 17.—OPEN LINE WORKS—REPLACEMENTS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 16,00,00,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Open Line Works—Replacements'."

DEMAND No. 18.—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON VIZAGAPATAM PORT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 14,15,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947, to the 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Vizagapatam Port'."

The Assembly then adjourned till 5 in the Afternoon.

The Assembly re-assembled at 5 in the Afternoon, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

THE BUDGET FOR 15TH AUGUST, 1947 TO 31ST MARCH, 1948

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (Minister for Finance):

Sir, I rise to present the first Budget of a free and independent India. This occasion may well be considered an historic one and I count it a rare privilege that it has fallen to me to be the Finance Minister to present this Budget. While I am conscious of the honour that is implied in this position, I am even more conscious of the responsibilities that face the custodian of the finances of India at this critical juncture. I have no doubt that in the discharge of my responsibilities I may count on the sympathetic and wholehearted co-operation of every Honourable Member in this House.

2. It is not necessary to dwell at any length on the political developments which have led to the momentous changes that have taken place since the Budget for the current year was presented to the Legislative Assembly last February. The partition of the country has cut across its economic and cultural unity and the growth of centuries of common life to which all the communities have contributed. The long-term effects of the division of the country still remain to be assessed and we are too near the events to take a dispassionate view. When the ashes of controversy have died down, it will be for the future historian to judge the wisdom of the step and its consequences on the destiny of one-fifth of the human race. Whatever might be the immediate political justification of partition, its economic consequences must be fully appreciated if the two Dominions are to safeguard the interests of the ordinary man in both the new States. Regions which have functioned for centuries on a complementary basis have been suddenly cut asunder. To have had as a single economic unit a sub-continent peopled by a fifth of the human race meant by itself a great advantage for the teeming millions of its population—an advantage not fully realised, and perhaps not properly utilized while the unity was a fact. While it may be comparatively easy matter to make the necessary political adjustments resulting from partition, it would require time, patience, goodwill and mutual understanding to effect the adjustments necessitated by the economic consequences of partition. Economically India and Pakistan have each points of advantages and disadvantages. In general, it may be said that, while India is much the stronger at present in industrial production and mineral resources, Pakistan has some advantage in agricultural resources, especially foodstuffs. But the complementary character of their economies is even deeper than is indicated by this generalisation. The compelling forces of economic necessity must create a friendly and co-operative spirit between the two Dominions and I trust that, when the present passions subside and normal conditions of life return, our people will work together to secure that, notwithstanding the political division, the economic life of the common man is not injured. So far as we are concerned, the Indian Union with its population of nearly 300 millions will be the second largest country in the world next to China. Our economy is more balanced than that of most countries and, in spite of the set-backs resulting from partition, our large natural resources and sound financial position will enable us to launch a vigorous economic plan for substantially raising the living standard of our people.

3. The Budget Statement that I am presenting today will cover a period of 7½ months from the 15th August 1947 to the 31st March 1948. I may briefly explain the circumstances in which it has been necessary to present a fresh Budget for this period. With the division of the country and the emergence of two independent Governments in place of the old Central Government, the Budget for the current year 1947-48 passed by the Legislature last March ceased to be operative. Although under the transitional provisions of the constitution, Government could authorize the expenditure necessary for the rest of the financial year, it was felt that it will be in accordance with the public wish that a Budget should be placed before the representatives of the people at the earliest possible moment. There is nothing spectacular about my statement and there will be no surprises associated with a Budget. I shall place before the House our estimate of revenue and expenditure for this period and I shall try to indicate in broad outlines the pattern of the economic life of the country and the problems that we will have to face in the immediate future.

Partition Arrangements

4. Before I proceed to deal with the estimates for the year, the House would doubtless wish to have a brief account of the broad details of the partition and its immediate financial and economic results. As soon as the decision to divide the country was taken, a Partition Council, consisting of the representatives of both the future Governments, was set up to implement the decision. A number of Expert Committees, on which both the future Governments were equally represented, were appointed under the aegis of the Partition Council to work out the administrative and other consequences of the partition. These Committees, some of which were assisted by a number of departmental sub-committees, dealt with all aspects of the problems arising out of the partition such as the transfer of staff and organisations, the division of assets and liabilities, the arrangements for the coinage and currency in the two Dominions, the trade and economic relations between them, the continuance of economic controls and so on. These Committees had to complete their work in a matter of four to six weeks and the House will appreciate that in the short time available to deal with these issues, some of which were of the utmost complexity and importance, it was not possible to reach an agreement on all matters before the 15th August 1947 when the two Dominions came into existence and took over the Government of their respective territories. A number of important points were accordingly left over for further consideration by the two Dominions and, in the absence of an agreement between them, for reference

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

The situation would not have been so bad if the unbalance between money and goods was confined to these factors only. The most disturbing factor which affects the situation today is the unspent balances of individuals and institutions accumulated during the peak years of inflation which are being spent on the deferred wants of individuals, repairs to industry and on the building of trade inventory. In other words, the money demand for goods is colossal compared to their local production. While the inflation in war time was due to the large increases in currency circulation (which rose from Rs. 172 crores in 1939 to over Rs. 1200 crores at the end of 1945) without any tangible increase in the supply of goods the present inflation is not due to further increase of currency but to a steady fall in the supply of goods. Although the total available money, whether currency or bank deposits, has slightly fallen it has spread out more among a wider circle of people in the form of wages and salaries and thus the actual purchasing power in the hands of those who spend it on ordinary goods has greatly increased. But the supply of goods has meanwhile fallen and has resulted in an upward trend of prices. To take only a few examples of the marked fall in internal production, it may be mentioned that as against a production of 4,000 million yards of mill-made cloth and 1,500 million yards of handloom cloth in 1945 the production this year is estimated at 3,900 million yards and 1,200 million yards respectively. The production of steel in the current year is also expected to show a drop of nearly 400,000 tons compared with the peak production of 1,200,000 tons during the war. The production of cement has also grown steadily worse, the estimated production this year showing a drop of 700,000 tons over the capacity of over 2½ million tons. In recent months the production of coal has shown some improvement, but so far as the consuming public is concerned, this has been more than neutralised by difficulties in transport resulting in large accumulation of coal at the pit heads. Transport and other difficulties explain the drop in production to some extent, but this is also partly due to labour unrest and strikes.

9. If the economy of this country is to be placed on a sound footing and maintained in a healthy conditions, it is of the utmost importance to increase internal production. The chances of increasing the supplies of commodities by imports are not very bright. Until recently we had a fair chance of sizable imports of consumer goods from the British Commonwealth countries from accumulated balances, but with the blocking of the major part of these and the growing adverse balance resulting from the large scale importation of foodgrains, the hope of procuring supplies from abroad is growing weak. We have therefore to fall back on our own resources. Government have recently announced their scheme for increasing the production of cotton textiles which, if worked in a spirit of co-operation between industry and labour, will result in the production of an additional 1,000 million yards over the estimated production of the current year. It is intended to explore the possibilities of restoring the level of production in other fields in a similar manner. I am fully conscious of the fact that any policy of stabilisation must aim not merely at the increase of production of both consumer and producer goods but also at the pegging of money incomes at an agreed and accepted level so that the increased volume of trading resulting from the increase of production may neutralise the inflationary effects of the large volume of uncovered money income. If this policy is to be carried out successfully, it would require an appreciation of the situation by labour and its wholehearted co-operation.

Revenue

10. I shall now proceed to a brief review of the financial position for the rest of the current year. But I must warn the House that the estimates now presented must be treated as very tentative as it has not been possible to assess with any measure of accuracy the effects of the partition on our revenue and expenditure. I hope it will be possible to present a more accurate picture when the revised estimates are placed before the House along with the budget for the next year.

11. I have budgetted for a revenue of Rs. 171.15 crores and a revenue expenditure of Rs. 197.39 crores. The net deficit on revenue account in the period covered by these estimates will be Rs. 26.24 crores. But the final figure may be higher because the actual amount likely to be required for meeting the expenditure in connection with the relief and rehabilitation of refugees is still very uncertain and some help may also have to be given to the new Provinces of West Bengal and East Punjab for which, in the absence of any reliable data, no provision has been included.

12. The revenue receipts, as I have said, are estimated at Rs. 171.51 crores. Customs receipts have been placed at Rs. 50.5 crores and take into account the effect of the recent restrictions on imports for conserving our foreign exchange resources. Income-tax is expected to yield Rs. 29.5 crores on account of E.P.T. and Rs. 88.5 crores on account of ordinary collections. Although the Niemeyer Award has now ceased to have effect it is proposed to maintain the share of the Provinces in the income-tax revenue at approximately the same level as now after making an adjustment in respect of the Provinces and parts of Provinces now included in Pakistan. The Centre will retain Rs. 3 crores out of the Provincial moiety as provided in the original budget. On this basis, the divisible pool of income-tax is estimated at Rs. 66 crores and the Provincial share at Rs. 30 crores.

13. Revenue from the Posts and Telegraphs Department is expected to amount to Rs. 15.9 crores and the working expenses and interest to Rs. 13.9 crores leaving a net surplus of Rs. 2 crores. The outright contribution of the department to general revenues will be three-fourths of the realised surplus, the department retaining the balance. The department will get a rebate of interest on its share of the accumulated profits in the past which, after allowing for the portion of the department transferred to Pakistan, is expected to amount to Rs. 7½ crores. As regards the contribution from Railways we do not expect anything in the current year. The House is already aware of the reasons for this from the Railway Budget.

Expenditure

14. The total expenditure for the year is estimated at Rs. 197.39 crores, of which Rs. 92.74 crores is on account of the Defence Services, the balance representing Civil expenditure. Following the customary procedure, I shall first deal with the Defence Estimates which remain, as in the past, the largest single item of expenditure.

Defence Services

15. The reconstitution of the Armed Forces in India into two Dominion forces was an inevitable consequence of the partition of the country. This decision came at a time when the Armed Forces were in the process of rapid demobilisation. While a substantial measure of demobilisation had already been achieved, the process was arrested as a consequence of the decision to divide the remaining forces between the two Dominions on a communal-cum-option basis. The strength of the Army at the time stood roughly at 410,000 troops. After the completion of the reconstitution of the Army, India will have roughly 200,000 troops. An organisation under a Supreme Commander, acting under the direction of the Joint Defence Council, was set up and made responsible for carrying out the reconstitution, and for general administrative control of the entire to an Arbitral Tribunal which has been set up. Among the important issues on which it has not been possible to reach an agreement, I may mention the allocation of debt between the two Dominions, the method of discharging the pensionary liability, the valuation of the Railways, the division of the assets of the Reserve Bank and the division of the movable stores held by the Army. Some of these issues are likely to go before the Arbitral Tribunal and the House will not expect me to say anything further about them at this stage. It was also found impossible to reconstitute the Armed Forces between the two Dominions and allocate the military stores, equipment and installations between them before the 15th August 1947. For the completion of this work, and for clothing, feeding and paying the Armed Forces till their reconstitution had been completed, a Joint Defence Council representing the two Dominions with an independent Chairman and with a Supreme Commander responsible to the Council, has been set up. This Council was originally expected to complete its work by the 1st of April 1948 but it is now hoped that this may be mostly achieved by the end of this month.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

5. The long range fiscal, financial and economic relations between the two Dominions still remain to be considered, but for the rest of the current year the intention is to maintain, within the framework of the agreements arrived at, the status quo before the partition. For the present both the Dominions will continue the existing taxes and duties, there will be a free movement of trade between them without any internal barriers and the import and exchange controls of the two Dominions will be co-ordinated. It has also been agreed that till the end of September 1948 the two Dominions will remain under a common currency system managed by the Reserve Bank, although from the 1st April next Pakistan will have its own over-printed notes and coin. So far as revenue is concerned, each Dominion will ordinarily retain what it collects but in respect of income-tax on assessments for 1946-47 and earlier years and uncollected demands on the date of the partition an arrangement for sharing the receipts arising in both the Dominions has been arrived at. In the matter of the division of assets and liabilities, it has not been possible, as I have explained earlier, to reach an agreement on a number of important points including the allocation of debt and the discharge of the liability for pensions. But the responsibility for the outstanding liabilities of the old Government could not, for obvious reasons, be left vague and undetermined and the only practicable course was for one of the Dominions to accept the initial liability to the creditors and settle with the other the contribution to be made by it. The initial liability for the outstanding loans, guarantees and financial obligations of the late Central Government at the time of the partition and for the pensions chargeable to it has been placed by law on the Indian Dominion subject to an equitable contribution from Pakistan. I am sure the House will welcome this decision because in the interests of the credit of both the successor Governments it is obviously undesirable to leave those who had lent money to the previous Government or had earned pensions under it in any doubt as to the Government they should approach for their dues.

Review of economic conditions.

6. There has been a marked deterioration in the economic situation in the country since March last. The situation has been aggravated by the large scale disturbances which burst out suddenly, more specially in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province. Apart from the serious economic consequences arising out of these disturbances, the human misery that it has caused cannot be measured in terms of money. Thousands of innocent lives have been lost in the two Dominions and migration on a scale unprecedented in history has taken place. The total number of people involved in this mass migration of population has reached colossal figures on either side giving rise to problems of great magnitude affecting the economy of the country. The immediate effect of these tragic developments has been to divert the attention of the Government almost completely from normal activities. There has been an almost total breakdown of the economy of the East and West Punjabs. While Government have done and are doing everything possible to relieve the immediate distress and suffering of the refugees, the formulation of long-range plans for their rehabilitation raises formidable issues both in the financial and administrative fields. These problems have imposed a heavy burden on the Central exchequer, the magnitude of which it is not possible to assess at present. The budget of the Central Government for the next few years will be materially affected by this unexpected development in the country. Our whole programme of post-war development will have to be reviewed in the light of this context.

7. The food position has continued to cause grave anxiety both to the Provincial Governments and the Central Government. The country has just weathered a serious threat of a breakdown of its rationing system. The results of the "Grow More Food Campaign" have been on the whole disappointing. During the three years 1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47 we had to import from abroad 43.80 lakhs of tons of foodgrains at a cost over 127 crores of rupees. During the current year from April to September we have already imported 10.62 lakhs of tons of foodgrains at a cost of over 42 crores of rupees. Apart from its being a constant source of anxiety, the reliance on the import of foodgrains from abroad of such magnitude imposes a heavy strain on the finances of the Government. In recent years our exchange difficulty is almost entirely due to the import of foodgrains on such a large scale. The meagre exchange resources available to us are consumed by the purchase of foodstuffs abroad with the result that we have to impose the most stringent restrictions on the import of many other essential articles. The various steps necessary for making the country self-sufficient in foodgrains must now claim the highest priority. The implementation of this policy must largely depend on the Provincial Governments though the Government of India has been and will always be prepared to afford all possible help in this direction. We have sent a mission to Australia for the purchase of the surplus wheat of that country and we are hoping that we might be in a position to get from Australia a substantial quantity of wheat during the next year. An expert committee under the Chairmanship of Sir Purushottamdas Thakurdas has been examining the food position in the country and the Committee has submitted an interim report which is receiving the attention of the Government.

8. The deterioration in the economic situation has been particularly noticed in respect of prices which have shown an unchecked upward tendency. Between the 5th April and the 9th August this year the Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices rose by 7 points while the Bombay cost of living index advanced by 14 points. Taking the Bombay cost of living index number, while it was 243 in August 1945 it rose to 267 in August 1946 and reached 284 in August 1947. The chief factor which has contributed to this development is the general decline in agricultural and industrial production in the country due partly to the wide prevalence of communal disorders and generally to the increasing industrial unrest. While the supply position has been deteriorating, increases in wages and salaries given by private employers and the Government had the effect of augmenting the purchasing power of the people and widening the gap between current money income and production of goods.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

Armed Forces until the completion of reconstitution. From the 15th August 1947, however, the operational control of the troops in each Dominion was transferred to the Dominion Government. It was originally expected that the reconstitution would be completed by the 31st March 1948. But the Armed Forces Headquarters of each of the Dominion have been able to take over administrative responsibilities in a greater measure and earlier than was originally anticipated and the reconstitution of the Forces has in consequence been accelerated. It is now expected that this will be completed in the more important fields by the end of this month when the Supreme Commander's organisation will be disbanded.

16. The future size and composition of the Armed Forces have been engaging the attention of Government, as it is obvious that they must be related to the altered strategic needs of the country as well as to its reduced financial resources. Under the pre-partition demobilisation plan the Army was to be reduced to about 230,000 men for undivided India by the 1st April 1949 against which we shall have about 260,000 men for our share alone after the reconstitution of the Armed Forces. Due to the widespread communal disturbances in the Punjab and the sporadic outbursts of disorder in other parts of the country, there has been an unprecedented call on the Armed Forces in aid of the civil power. Government have accordingly come to the conclusion that the existing forces should be retained until the 31st March 1948 but the position will be reviewed next month. The financial effect of this is that in spite of a reduction of revenue resources the expenditure on Defence Services will be running higher than it normally should during the year. In the present fluid conditions it is impossible to forecast the position in 1948-49.

17. India had never an adequate Navy or Air Force and the effect of the partition has been to reduce them still further, so far as the Dominion of India is concerned. It is obvious that even without the disturbances there could be no question of an overall demobilisation of these services. The future development plans of these services are now under consideration.

18. The complete nationalisation of India's Armed Forces in the shortest time possible is the accepted policy of Government. Due, however, to various reasons which are now a matter of history, we have had a shortage of Indian officers for filling some of the posts in the technical services and the senior appointments. This holds good to a varying degree for all the three services. It was therefore decided to employ a number of British officers who volunteered to stay, for one year in the first instance, from the 15th August 1947. As these officers hold the King's Commission they were transferred to a special list of the British Army and the Supreme Commander assumed control over them. When the subsequent developments indicated that the Supreme Commander's office may not continue beyond the 31st December 1947 it was decided to terminate the services of these British officers by the same date, leaving it to the two Dominions to offer fresh terms to any British officers they may wish to employ. The British officers have, therefore, been served with three months' notice, as laid down in their present terms of service, with effect from the 1st October 1947. The number of British officers whom it is essential for India to retain and the terms of service to be offered are now under the active consideration of Government and the actual terms under which they have been employed have now been agreed upon between the Government of India and H.M.G. in the U.K. It may, however, be stated that the number of British officers to be retained will be relatively small and it is hoped that all operational Commands, at least in the Army and the Air Force, will be filled by Indian officers.

19. As has already been announced, an agreement was reached with the United Kingdom Government that the withdrawal of the British Forces from India should commence immediately after the transfer of power and completed as early as possible. The first detachment of British troops actually left India on the 17th August 1947. It was hoped at one time that the withdrawals would be completed before the end of 1947 but due to shipping difficulties it now appears that this may take up to April 1948. The British troops remaining in the country have, however, no operational functions. Except two R. A. F. Transport Squadrons the rest are merely awaiting repatriation.

20. The rapidly changing conditions this year have made it difficult to frame a close estimate of Defence expenditure and the position is further complicated by the fact that the proportion in which the joint expenditure incurred by the Supreme Commander's organisation should be allocated between the two Dominions is yet to be decided. On the best estimate that can be made at this stage, the net expenditure on Defence Services during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948 is estimated at Rs. 92.74 crores. The following main factors have contributed to an increase in the expenditure:—

(1) The decision to suspend demobilisation and to withdraw troops from overseas.

(2) The implementation of the Post-war Pay Committee's recommendations in respect of Defence Services personnel. No provision for this was included in the original estimates.

(3) The movement of troops and stores in connection with the reconstitution of the Armed Forces.

(4) The calling out of troops in aid of the civil power during the disturbances in the Punjab and elsewhere.

The withdrawal of British troops from India earlier than was anticipated originally has resulted in a saving but this has been to some extent counter-balanced by expenditure in moving them to the United Kingdom and other destinations.

Civil Estimates

21. Details of the estimates under individual heads are given in the Explanatory Memorandum circulated with the Budget papers and I propose to draw the attention of Honourable Members to only the more important items included in them. As I have explained elsewhere, the initial liability in respect of the outstanding debt of the late Central Government and the pensions chargeable to it has been placed on the Indian Dominion subject to the levy of an equitable contribution from Pakistan. This contribution still remains to be settled and, for the present, no credit has been taken in these estimates for any recovery from Pakistan. The estimates also include Rs. 22½ crores on account of subsidies on imported foodgrains and a lump sum provision of Rs. 22 crores for expenditure on the evacuation, relief and rehabilitation of refugees from Western Pakistan. I have briefly referred elsewhere to the problems raised by the widespread communal disturbances in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province and the mass migration of refugees between the two Dominions. There are two aspects to this problem viz. the short term one of giving immediate relief to the refugees pouring into this country from Pakistan, practically destitute, and the long term one of resettling them in India. All the resources at the disposal of the Government of India have been mobilised in arranging the evacuation and relief of these refugees and the railways and the Armed Forces have been utilised to the maximum extent possible on this work. It is not possible to estimate the expenditure likely to fall on Central revenues on account of these developments and I have provisionally included a sum of Rs. 22 crores on this account in the Revenue Budget. In addition, a sum of Rs. 5 crores is being included in the ways and means budget for advances to the East Punjab Government. But I must mention that this does not give any idea of the magnitude of the burden that may be placed on Central revenues by these developments. Indeed, the basis on which the expenditure on relief and rehabilitation should be shared between the Centre and the East Punjab, the province most vitally affected, still remains to be decided and may take some time to decide. Whatever the final arrangement in this behalf may be, I have no doubt that it is the desire of all sections of the House that financial considerations should not stand in the way of affording relief to these unfortunate people and in alleviating their sufferings in one of the most poignant human tragedies that could take place outside a war.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

22. Before I leave this subject I should like to give a brief analysis of the total provision included for civil expenditure, so that a balanced view of the position may be obtained. Of the total provision of Rs. 104½ crores, Rs. 44½ crores are accounted for by the expenditure on refugees and the subsidising of imported foodgrains, leaving Rs. 60 crores for normal expenditure. This includes Rs. 5 crores for tax collection, obligatory expenditure of Rs. 22½ crores on payment of interest and pensions and provision for debt redemption, Rs. 2 crores on planning and resettlement and Rs. 12 crores for expenditure on nation building activities such as education, medical, public health, the running of scientific institutions and scientific surveys, aviation, broadcasting, etc., in which the Centre largely supplements the work of the Provincial Governments by providing valuable assistance by way of specialised services and research, leaving a balance of Rs. 18½ crores for the ordinary expenditure on administration, civil works etc. This expenditure only constitutes 18 per cent. of the total civil expenditure included in the budget. In addition to the expenditure of Rs. 12 crores on nation building activities mentioned above, provision has also been made in the Capital Budget for a grant of Rs. 20.39 crores to Provincial Governments for development and Rs. 15 crores for loans.

Ways and Means

23. I shall now turn to give a brief account of the ways and means position. The budget for the current year provided for a borrowing of Rs. 150 crores but this target will not be reached. Owing to the communal disturbances in the country and the uncertainties of the political situation, the securities market was very unsettled in the opening months of the year and no loan was actually floated before the 15th August 1947. After the doubts about the political future had been cleared by the decision to partition the country, there was some improvement in the position and although the market has been fairly steady in recent weeks, there is not as yet any large sustained demand for investment. Government issued early this month a fifteen year loan for Rs. 40 crores carrying interest at two and three quarter per cent. with facilities for holders of the 3½ per cent. Loan, 1947-50, falling due for discharge on the 15th of this month to convert their holdings. The loan was issued at the beginning of the busy season and was not expected to be oversubscribed. But the public still seem to be hesitant in taking up Government loans and if their holding off is due to any lingering doubts about the responsibility for the repayment of the outstanding debt, I hope they will be reassured by what I have stated that the Indian Dominion remains responsible to the bond-holder. The need for money is now as urgent as ever if Government are to finance their own development plans and assist the Provincial Governments to implement their plans for development. There is also the short-term aspect to this problem, viz. the urgent necessity to counter the inflationary forces which are still present by withdrawing from the public as much surplus purchasing power as possible through Government loans.

24. Honourable Members must have noticed that in recent months there has been some criticism in certain quarters of the cheap money policy of Government. At the last Annual General Meeting of the shareholders of the Reserve Bank the Governor of the Bank made some observations on this question. Under the influence of that eminent economist the late Lord Keynes, cheap money has been the cardinal feature of the monetary policy in many countries. It is no wonder that the Government of India fell in line with this trend in monetary policy. The House will realise that there is no absolute criterion by which to judge the propriety of rates at which Government borrow in the market. In the long run it is mainly a question of keeping a balance between the demands of Government on the market and the demands of industry so that the available funds in the country are used to the best advantage. In the United Kingdom where the pursuit of this policy culminated in the issue of a 2½ per cent. irredeemable loan last year, attempts are being made to consolidate the progress made so far and not to proceed further in the same direction. I realise that if there is the need for such a cautious policy in a country where the economy is mature and the money and capital markets are highly developed, it is all the more necessary in the case of an economically backward country like India. Our efforts will now be directed towards consolidating and stabilising the position so far gained. There is no intention on the part of the Government to reverse the policy and thereby jeopardize the interests of those who have trusted the Government with their money. Our borrowing programme will be such as will enable us to obtain the funds required by Government as cheaply as possible without in any way affecting the flow of investment into industry. It is also my intention to reorganise the small savings movement which was considerably expanded during the war years, so that it might be retained as a peace-time organisation with the primary purpose of encouraging savings among the middle classes. In co-operation with the Provincial Governments, steps will be taken to place the movement on a permanent footing. I take this opportunity of appealing to the chosen representatives of the people in this House to co-operate with Government fully in their borrowing programme. If the standard of living of our people is to be substantially raised by undertaking large schemes of development, both the rich and the middle classes should come forward to place their savings at the disposal of the Government.

Sterling Balances

25. The House will, I am sure, be interested to get some information on the subject of the sterling balances, the recent agreement regarding which between ourselves and His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom I placed on the table of the House a few days ago. The peak figure which the sterling balances reached was Rs. 1,733 crores on the 5th April 1946. Thereafter, they have declined very rapidly. At the end of March 1947 they stood at Rs. 1,612 crores showing a reduction of Rs. 121 crores in twelve months. In the middle of July 1947, from when our new agreement became effective, they stood at about Rs. 1,547 crores. We had thus drawn as much as Rs. 65 crores in a little over six months. These large decreases were due largely to heavy imports mainly of foodgrains and of consumer goods, of which the country had been starved during the period of the war. They also reflected some movement of capital from India, largely British.

26. This rapid depletion of the sterling balances caused some anxiety to the Government of India. These balances represent the entire foreign exchange reserves of this country and it is of the utmost importance that they should not be lightly frittered away on the import of unessential and luxury articles or on luxury living in foreign countries for they thereby reduce pro tanto the capacity of this country to finance capital and developmental expenditure abroad. The view of the Government of India is that these balances should not be used to finance deficits in the balances of payments on what may be called normal current account. Our aim should be to meet our normal day-to-day requirements from abroad through the earnings of our current exports and we should draw upon these accumulated reserves, broadly speaking, only for the purpose of purchasing capital goods, the import of which is necessary for developing the agricultural and industrial productivity of this country.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

27. With this aim in view, the Government of India decided to follow a more restrictive import policy from the second half of the calendar year 1947. Broadly speaking, that policy consists of dividing imports into three categories: free, restricted and prohibited. Imports of food, capital goods, the raw materials of industry and certain essential consumer goods are free and no exchange restrictions are placed upon their import. Consumer goods which are not absolutely essential are licensed on a quota basis, while others which in the context of the economy of this country must be regarded as totally unessential and luxury imports have been altogether prohibited. Together with the restrictions on imports were introduced certain restrictions on remittances abroad, in particular on the transference of Indian capital. These new policies are now showing the effects which they were calculated to have and the reduction in the sterling balances between the middle of July and the beginning of November 1947 has only been Rs. 21 crores. I should like to point out, however, that in one substantial respect the import policy now in force differs from that in force previously, in that in the licences issued for the licensing period June to December 1947 no discrimination has been made between currencies and imports from the dollar area have been allowed on the same basis as imports from the sterling area. This position, which the House will no doubt welcome, has been brought about by the terms obtained by us in our interim negotiations on the sterling balances. The main features of this agreement, which holds good to the 31st December 1947, are that the Indian sterling balances have been divided into two accounts which may well be likened to a deposit account and a current account. The current account has been opened with a credit of £65 millions. All fresh earnings of foreign exchange are credited to the current account and all balances in the current account are available for expenditure in any part of the world including the United States of America. The deposit account is not available for ordinary current transactions but can be drawn upon only for certain limited purposes such as the repatriation of British capital from India, the payments of pensions, provident funds and gratuities outside India and certain other defined categories of payments.

28. Shortly after this agreement had been signed there arose the dollar crisis. The strain on the dollar reserves of the United Kingdom Government was felt by them to be so great that they were compelled to break their agreement with various countries regarding the free convertibility of sterling into dollars. I am glad to be able to report to the House that our agreement stands unaltered and intact and that as long as we have any balance to our credit in the current account we shall be able to spend it without question in any currency area. The United Kingdom Government have, however, appealed to us for our co-operation in the matter of saving dollars and we have promised them this co-operation. We are now engaged on a review of our import policy and are investigating other means to save dollar expenditure and we may have, I fear, to reintroduce in the next licensing period the discrimination in favour of imports from the sterling area which we removed only so short a time ago. We trust, however, that it will be possible so to arrange this discrimination as not to injure the vital needs of the country's economy.

Empire Dollar Pool

29. The country has always displayed an interest in the arrangement commonly known as the Empire Dollar Pool. As has been explained before, the arrangement is that the countries of the sterling area hold all their foreign exchange reserve in sterling, selling currencies which they do not need to the Bank of England and buying from the Bank of England currencies of which they are in short supply. As a consequence, there is always in the custody of the Bank of England a pool of foreign exchange from which members of the sterling area can buy for sterling the currencies which they need. A more correct name for this arrangement would be "the Sterling Area Pool of Foreign Exchange." It has come to be known as the Empire Dollar Pool only because the most important of the foreign exchanges in the pool is the United States dollar.

30. Figures have been published by Government from time to time of India's earnings of dollars and other hard currencies and of her expenditure of these currencies and I shall now bring these figures up to date. From September 1939 up to the 31st March 1946 we earned Rs. 405 crores worth of United States dollars and spent Rs. 240 crores worth of United States dollars, leaving a surplus of Rs. 165 crores. On the other hand, in the same period we spent net Rs. 51 crores worth of other hard currencies, namely those of Canada, Switzerland, Sweden and Portugal so that our net surplus on hard currency account was Rs. 114 crores. During the year 1946-47 we had a deficit in the balance of payments with the United States of Rs. 15 crores, having earned Rs. 83 crores and spent Rs. 98 crores, and a deficit in the balance of payments with other hard currency countries of Rs. 7 crores. It may therefore be assumed that we contributed net to the pool between September 1939 and March 1947 Rs. 92 crores worth of hard currencies, which is the equivalent of 275 million dollars. During the quarter April to June 1947 we have had a net deficit on hard currency account of Rs. 15 crores. It will be observed, therefore, that since the financial year 1946-47 we have been consistently drawing on the pool for our dollar requirements and that we are at the moment also in heavy deficit with the United States and other hard currency countries. Generally speaking, however, I would say that, thanks to our policy of foreign exchange restriction, we hope to end the year in a fairly comfortable financial position externally. What definite policy we will follow from the next year I am not now in a position to say because our agreement terminates at the end of this year and we do not yet know what kind of agreement will replace it. I fear however, that in view of the dollar crisis which has threatened not only the United Kingdom but the entire world, we may be in somewhat greater difficulty in the matter of dollar exchange than we are now. We hope to enter shortly into further discussions with the United Kingdom Government on the subject of the sterling balances. An official delegation from the United Kingdom is coming to our country very shortly for this purpose.

Post-war Planning and Development

31. The House will remember that in the budget for the current year provision of Rs. 100 crores was made for development expenditure, including a provision of Rs. 45 crores for grants to Provinces. The partition of the country has naturally affected the scale of this expenditure as the Government of India are no longer concerned with the expenditure on development in the Provinces and areas now included in Pakistan. When the partition of the country was decided upon, Provincial Governments were informed last July that so far as the period up to the 15th August 1947 was concerned, the Government of India would make advance payments to cover expenditure on approved schemes up to the maximum of the proportion of the budget grant for this period. The Provinces were also advised not to enter into any major commitments that were likely to embarrass either of the successor Governments. It has since been decided that for the remainder of this year grants will be available to the Provinces now remaining in the Indian Dominion on the same scale as was originally planned subject to a proportionate adjustment on account of the division of the Punjab and Bengal and the transfer of most of the Sylhet district to East Bengal. In the estimates now placed before the House a provision of Rs. 20.39 crores has been included for grants to Provinces and a sum of Rs. 15 crores for loans to them.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

32. In the last budget speech my predecessor drew attention to the fact that the resources available to the then Central Government for planning and development were likely to be less than was originally estimated. What he said then for the then Central Government is equally applicable to the present Government of India would make advance payments to cover expenditure on and in the light of the reduced resources likely to be available it may be necessary to redraw the development plans and rearrange their priorities. This does not however mean that there has been any change in the Government's policy of giving all the assistance in their power to the Provincial Governments for implementing their development schemes. It merely emphasises the need for the Provinces mobilising all the resources for this purpose and I have no doubt that this is recognised by the Provinces themselves. The House will appreciate that there is a large measure of uncertainty about the future allocation of resources between the Centre and the Provinces and till this is decided it will be difficult to make any forecast of Central resources or determine the extent to which they will be available for development and I hope to take this question of re-examining the development schemes with the Provincial Governments shortly. Meanwhile, all the approved schemes of development will be continued and the necessary funds will be made available for them. Having given this assurance on behalf of the Central Government, I would earnestly urge on the Provinces the need for conserving all their resources and securing the most rigid economy in expenditure. As I have stated, the whole basis on which post-war development plans were conceived has now been upset. The substantial revenue surpluses which were anticipated in the Central budget will now be turned into substantial deficits. In the context of this new development, the need for utilizing all the available funds in the most effective manner possible should be appreciated by the Provincial Governments.

33. In the Central field the progress on development schemes is being maintained and we are going forward with all the sanctioned schemes particularly those schemes of river development with long range benefits to the country. In this connection, the House will be interested to know that an agreement has been reached between the Central Government and the Provincial Governments concerned regarding the setting up of the Damodar Valley Authority. Another scheme which is likely to be taken up very shortly is the construction of the Hirakud Dam in Orissa at an estimated cost of Rs. 48 crores, the benefits from which will include irrigation for over a million acres, 350,000 kilo-watts of power and a considerable degree of protection from floods to the coastal districts of Orissa. It is hoped shortly to reach an agreement on this project with the Orissa Government and the Orissa States after which the actual work of construction would begin early in 1948. It is also proposed to concentrate on the construction of the Bhakra Dam in the East Punjab.

The Deficit

34. I will now come to the problem of deficit. I have carefully considered if any part of the deficit for this year should be covered by additional taxation and I have come to the conclusion that it should be left largely uncovered. If, for any reason, our ordinary expenditure threatens to outrun our revenue there will be a clear case for either reducing the expenditure to within the available revenue or raising additional revenue to meet the expenditure. But the circumstances during the period under review have been abnormal and the deficit is entirely due to these abnormal factors. The expenditure estimates include Rs. 22 crores for the evacuation and relief of refugees while subsidies for imported foodgrains are expected to cost Rs. 22½ crores. Defence expenditure is also considerably inflated due to the slowing down of demobilisation following the partition of the country and the necessity to maintain larger forces than would normally be necessary. It must also be remembered that no credit has been taken in the estimates for Pakistan's share of the expenditure on pensions and interest. If these factors are allowed for the budget deficit of Rs. 26.24 crores will be converted into a surplus. Notwithstanding this I feel justified in tapping any available source of income if it could be done without adding to the burden of the ordinary man. After a careful consideration of all the available sources I have decided to replace the existing export duty of three per cent. on cotton cloth and yarn by a duty of four annas per square yard on cotton cloth and six annas a pound on cotton yarn. In a full year this will yield Rs. 8 crores but in the current year the net additional revenue will amount to only Rs. 166 lakhs leaving a final deficit of Rs. 24.59 crores. A Bill to give effect to this proposal will be introduced at the end of my speech.

General Financial Position

35. This is the eighth consecutive deficit budget and the House may well ask itself if our revenue position is sound. I have myself no hesitation in answering that question with in emphatic 'yes'. The years covered by these budgets have been overshadowed by the greatest war in history and no country, whether neutral or belligerent, has been able to escape its economic effects or its aftermath. The deficits in the war years were wholly due to the high level of Defence expenditure and were met as far as possible by raising additional taxation. The return to peace time conditions has been slower than we anticipated and even this tardy progress has been retarded by the recent partition of the country and the unhappy developments in the Punjab. I have just mentioned the large burden thrown on this year's budget by the unavoidable expenditure on refugees and the payment of subsidies for foodgrains. In addition, the expenditure on Defence is much higher than it would be in a normal year. If these special factors are taken into account it will be seen that we have not been living beyond our means or heading towards bankruptcy. I do not wish in any way to minimise our present difficulties or to underrate the effort required to surmount them but I have no doubt that once we reach fairly normal conditions and are able to reduce our Defence expenditure to peace-time proportions and curtail our reliance upon import of foodgrains we should be able to balance our budget. It will be too optimistic to expect normal conditions for the next year but I feel that with a determined all-round effort we should be able to achieve this result in 1949-50.

36. And what about the general financial position of the country? Here again while there is no room for complacency there is equally no reason to take a pessimistic view. There is no doubt that economically and strategically the partition of the country has weakened both the Dominions created by it and it is a truism that an undivided India would have been in every way a stronger State than either. But the Indian Dominion with its acceding States would still cover the larger part of our country, with immense resources in men, material and industrial potential. Our debt position is also intrinsically sound and for a country of its size, India carries only a relatively small burden of unproductive debt. Our external debt is negligible and we have considerable external resources in the accumulated sterling balances. At the beginning of this year the total public debt and interest bearing obligations of undivided India stood at roughly Rs. 2,531 crores of which only Rs. 864 crores represented unproductive debt and Rs. 36 crores external debt, while her external reserves amounted to over Rs. 1,600 crores. The share of Pakistan in these has not yet been determined but it is unlikely to affect the broad proportions of this picture.

37. The only disturbing features in the position are the persistence of inflationary trends and the unsatisfactory food position to both of which I have drawn

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]
The only real answer to inflation is to increase our industrial production and thereby close the gap between the available supplies and the purchasing power in the hands of the community which in present circumstances is impossible to bridge. Till this position is reached the community must co-operate in its purchasing power by lending it to Government. As regards food, I am sure the House will agree that the country cannot indefinitely rely on imports. For one thing this places us at the mercy of foreign countries for our vital necessities and for another large scale imports of food grains seriously affect our foreign exchange position and threaten to consume the bulk of the available resources which are badly required for the industrialisation and development of the country. We must concentrate all our energies on producing as much food as possible within the country. I suggest that this is not an impossible task, for after all the total imports from abroad, which have never touched more than 2½ million tons in any year so far, represent only a fraction of the total food grains amounting to 45 million tons that we produce, although they make a large hole in our available foreign exchange.

I should like to make a few observations on the criticism made in certain quarters that the level of taxation introduced in the last Budget has seriously affected the incentive for investment. In the last Annual Report the Central Board of Directors of the Reserve Bank of India have observed "There seems little doubt now that the severity of the last Budget is defeating its own purpose and is hindering the formation of capital for productive purposes. Unless corrective measures are applied without delay, there is a danger of the very foundations of society and economic life of the country being undermined by deepening penury and despair." A pronouncement of this kind coming from such an authoritative source must receive serious notice. I have no doubt in my mind that it was not the intention of the Government to so arrange its taxation policy as to stifle the growth of industry in the country. On the contrary, it is of the utmost importance that the country should be industrialised rapidly so as to secure increased production and a widening range of employment for our people. There is no need for any serious difference of opinion based on mere ideologies. Whatever might be the ultimate pattern of our economic structure, I hold the belief that for many years to come there is need and scope for private enterprise in industry. We cannot afford to lose the benefit of the long years of experience which private enterprise has gained in the building up of our industrial economy. I believe that the general pattern of our economy must be a mixed economy in which there is scope both for private enterprise and for State enterprise. Before I present the annual Budget to this House next February, I shall make a careful examination of the consequences of our taxation policy and endeavour to make any adjustments that may be necessary to instil confidence in private enterprise. In the meantime, I may assure the House that it is not the policy of the Government to hamper in any way the expansion of business enterprise or the accumulation of savings likely to flow into investment.

Conclusion

Mr. Speaker, I would now conclude the Speech with an appeal to this House and through the House to the country at large. For the first time in two centuries we have a Government of our own answerable to the people for its actions. It is the duty and the privilege of such a Government to render an account of its stewardship to the representatives of the people, but the Government has also the right to ask for the co-operation of the entire community in the carrying out of the accepted policies. Events of the last few weeks have unmistakably shown that the political problems arising out of our status have not yet been fully solved. While we have secured freedom from foreign yoke, mainly through the operation of world events and partly through a unique act of enlightened self-abnegation on behalf of the erstwhile rulers of this country, we have yet to consolidate into one unified whole the many discordant elements in our national life. This can be achieved only by the rigorous establishment of the rule of law which is the only durable foundation on which the fabric of any democratic State can be raised. Respect for law is essentially a matter of political training and tradition and transition from a dependent to an independent status always makes it difficult in the initial stages to secure that unflinching obedience to the rule of law which always acquires a new meaning in a new political context. If the fabric of the State is not built on durable foundations, it will be futile to try and fill it with the material and moral contents of a good life. If India, just risen from bondage, is to realise her destiny as the leader of Asia and take her place in the front rank of free nations, she would require all the disciplined effort her sons and daughters can put forth in the years immediately ahead. The willing help and co-operation of all sections of the community is required in maintaining peace and order, in increasing production and in avoiding internecine quarrels whether communities or between capital and labour. I am sure my appeal for this help and co-operation will not go in vain.

INDIAN FINANCE (SUPPLEMENTARY) BILL

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to give effect to the supplementary financial proposals of the Central Government for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1947.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to give effect to the supplementary financial proposals of the Central Government for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1948.

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Thursday, the 27th November, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Thursday, 27th November, 1947.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

INDIAN DELEGATION TO GENEVA CONFERENCE ON WORLD TRADE RELATIONS

374. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have received any interim reports regarding the work and achievements of Indian Delegation to Geneva Conference and World Trade relations;

(b) whether India has been invited to become a permanent member of the Executive of I. T. O. and whether she has accepted the invitation;

(c) whether India has reached any provisional Trade agreements with any European or American countries and if so, with which countries and for what commodities; and

(d) whether the important points of the agreements will be placed on the table of the House, and if so, when?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) I presume the Honourable Member is referring to the Second Session of the Preparatory Committee of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Employment, if so, the answer is in the affirmative.

(b) The question of an invitation being extended to India to become a permanent member of the Executive of International Trade Organisation does not arise at this stage as the Charter that would give birth to the International Trade Organisation is still in the draft stage and is being discussed at Havana.

(c) and (d). The information required by the Honourable Member has since been released to the public, vide Press Communique of the 18th November 1947, a copy of which has been placed on the table of the House.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Government be pleased to state, Sir, on what basis are they taking part in the Havana Conference?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: On the same basis on which other nations are taking part in the deliberations of the Havana Conference.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: That does not give any indication at all. Does it mean that this Havana Conference work is only in continuation of the work carried on in Geneva, and has the Geneva Conference reached any definite conclusion?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The Geneva Conference has made a Report and passed what is known as the Final Act. That Final Act will be the basis of discussion at Havana and the main principle on which all these Conferences have proceeded is multilateral international trade.

†Not printed in these debates. A copy placed in the Library of the House.—Ed. of D.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What steps were taken, Sir, by Government to ascertain the public opinion prevailing among the agricultural, commercial and trade communities in this country, before they formulated their instrument of accession to the Delegates to Havana?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Several consultations were held with the representatives of the commercial community here and in Bombay, at every stage before our representatives went to Geneva for the first time and for the second time. These principles were observed. As regards consulting the agricultural classes I plead guilty that the Government has not consulted the Honourable the questioner.

Shri S. Nagappa: As regards the selection of personnel to these delegations, will Government consult at least hereafter the interested parties, especially when they send delegations on behalf of agricultural labour will they consult the labour organisations?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Well, as far as possible all these factors are taken into consideration. However, I promise to bear in mind the suggestion made by the Honourable Member.

ECONOMIC ADVISER TO GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

375. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

- the name of the present Economic Adviser to the Government of India;
- his present scale of pay;
- whether the post is held on a contractual basis for a limited term or whether it is a permanent one; and
- whether Government propose to keep the post on a permanent basis hereafter?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) The post is vacant at present.

- Does not arise.
- The post is permanent.
- Yes.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: How long has the post been vacant?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Pretty long.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: If it has been vacant for pretty long, will the Government consider the advisability of abolishing it altogether?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The post is a permanent one. The matter of appointing a suitable person is under active consideration.

DEVELOPMENT OF INDIAN MERCANTINE MARINE

376. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state the various steps taken by Government to develop the Indian Mercantile Marine after the year 1944-45 and with what results?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: During recent years Government's efforts to develop the Indian Mercantile Marine have been directed towards the acquisition of additional tonnage and the expansion of the activities of Indian shipping. A Sub-Committee of the Policy Committee on Shipping was appointed in 1945 to suggest ways and means of promoting the above objectives and the main recommendations of the Committee have been accepted by the Government. In regard to acquisition of tonnage, Government's assistance has hitherto mainly taken the form of sponsoring applications for building new tonnage in the U.K., etc., and also of rendering necessary assistance to Indian Companies in the purchase of ships from overseas countries, including the release of the foreign exchange required. As a result of these measures, Indian registered shipping has increased from 1.3 lakh tons in 1946 to about double this figure and further additions are being made. Government have also supported the efforts of Indian Companies in entering additional trades and have given special consideration to Indian ships in allotting cargoes moving on Government account. With a view to explore the possibility of further expansion in this direction by negotiation and understanding with the interest concerned, an officially sponsored Shipowners' Delegation visited the U.K. last summer. Government are at present also considering a scheme for the rapid acquisition, on a joint State-cum-Private ownership basis, of additional tonnage and for the expansion of the activities of Indian Shipping in the various trades.

Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Member be pleased to state whether any progress has been made in the ship building industry in India and if insufficient progress has not been made, what are the impediments in the way and what steps Government propose to take?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Assuming, Sir, that this supplementary arises out of the question, I require notice.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Have Government ascertained to what extent the British shipping companies are prepared to forego their tonnage to accommodate Indian shipping interests?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I have no information just at present; I will give it later on.

Shri B. Das: May I know, Sir, if the Indian mercantile marine is getting facilities in U.K. ports just as the U.K. shipping companies are getting facilities in Indian ports?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The answer is that there is no reciprocity as such at present, but Government are making every effort to push the Indian shipping interests as far as possible on the lines already indicated in my reply.

Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: May I know, Sir, whether the Government have fixed any target which they propose to achieve within a fixed period.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Notice.

Shri Biswanath Das: Sir, it has been published in the Press that the British shipping interests refused to see and discuss with representatives of the Indian shipping interests who were deputed by the Government of India to U.K. Has the Government seen that report, and if so, what steps have they taken?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The report that has appeared in the Press has certainly been seen by the Government. As regards what the Government proposes to do, the matter is receiving active consideration.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if the Honourable Minister is aware that the facilities for mercantile officer training are inadequate and will he state what steps Government propose to take to remedy this defect.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I require notice.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: In view of the extreme importance of this industry, will the Honourable Minister please state in what manner Government propose to develop it rapidly?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The shipping industry as such or the marine personnel?

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: The marine personnel.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It will be one of the items of the programme which has been chalked out by the Policy Committee.

Shri Biswanath Das: There is no definite reply from the Honourable Minister to my question, Sir. Will he further state or place on the table the correspondence that has passed between the Government of Britain and India on this question?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I cannot say "Yes" just now, but I will bear the suggestion in mind and, if possible, I shall keep the correspondence on the table of the Library.

HANDLING OF EXPORTS AND IMPORTS OF INDIA BY INDIAN MERCANTILE MARINE

377. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state the total exports from and imports into India in the years 1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47, and what proportion of it was handled by the Indian Mercantile Marine?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The total value of exports including re-exports from British India on both private and Government account during each of the years 1944-45 to 1946-47, in crores of rupees, were 228.9, 266.4 and 320.1 respectively. Corresponding figures for imports were, in crores of rupees, 231.7, 292.1 and 333.8 respectively. It is regretted that information regarding the percentage share of the Indian Mercantile Marine in the quantum of trade is not available. I place, however, on the table a statement showing the net registered tonnages of Indian vessels, other than country craft which entered or cleared from Indian ports with cargoes and the percentage of such tonnages to the total tonnages which entered or cleared from Indian ports during the three years in question.

Statement showing the net registered tonnage of Indian vessels, other than country craft engaged in foreign trade and their percentage of the total tonnage entered or cleared during the three years 1944-45 to 1946-47.

Year	Tonnage of Indian registered ships which entered Indian ports with cargoes	Percentage of Indian tonnage to total tonnage which entered with cargoes.	Tonnage of Indian registered ships which cleared with cargoes	Percentage of Indian tonnage to total tonnage which cleared with cargoes.
1944-45	152,869	2.5%	146,890	4.1%
1945-46	152,383	2.4%	155,607	4.2%
1946-47	128,118	2.4%	125,668	2.6%

Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister be pleased to state the steps Government have taken and propose to take to ensure greater business for the Indian shipping?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I think that is already covered by the question that was just answered by me.

Seth Govinddas: Will the Government see that as far as imports into this country are concerned, consumer goods are not imported to the extent they are being imported or have been imported, so that our dollar credit may not dwindle?

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid this is outside the scope of the present question.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saxena: Will the Honourable Minister tell us by what date the entire Indian sea-borne trade will be carried by Indian mercantile?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Not being a prophet, I cannot give a particular date, but there is a programme for 5-years within which there will be a considerable increase in the Indian-owned tonnage.

Shri B. Das: Has the Government started patronising Indian shipping for the business of carrying mails to foreign countries and vice versa as well as for carrying Government cargo from and to U.K. and other countries?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Government is considering the proposition.

TERMINATION OF SERVICES OF INDIANS BY GOVERNMENT OF BURMA AND THEIR ABSORPTION BY GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

378. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the Government of Burma have asked their Indian servants to leave their services?

(b) Have the Government of India received any request from the Indians who are in the service of the Government of Burma, about the termination of their services?

(c) What action do Government propose to take to absorb these servants of the Government of Burma in India?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) No, Sir. On the contrary, the Government of Burma have announced that their policy is not to discharge all Government servants of Indian origin; that those Government servants who are eligible for and are prepared to accept Burma citizenship under their new Constitution will be accorded equal treatment with Government servants of Burma origin; and that while Burma citizens will be preferred for appointment to posts and for retention in posts in the event of retrenchment in particular services, endeavour will be made to cause as little hardship as possible to those who are not citizens of Burma.

(b) Government have received representations from Burma Government employees of Indian origin, both direct and through the High Commissioner for India in Burma, asking that they should be absorbed in Government services and commercial undertakings in India.

(c) Urgent attention is being given to this question, and information about the numbers and categories involved is being collected in order to draw up a definite plan for their re-employment in India.

Seth Govinddas: May I take it, Sir, that no Government servants from Burma are discharged on the ground of their being Indians?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Is the Honourable Member talking of the past, the present or the future?

Seth Govinddas: I mean the past, recently.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I cannot say definitely that not a single case has occurred without making express enquiry. What I have stated is the policy laid down by the Burma Government, but it is quite possible that in spite of that policy, its implementation may not be wholly in keeping with it.

APPOINTMENT OF NON-OFFICIAL LEGISLATORS TO CABINET SUB-COMMITTEES

379. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that several Sub-Committees of the Cabinet have been appointed for more detailed and urgent consideration of certain subjects and for offering advice to the Cabinet, and if so, for what departments or subjects;

(b) whether Government propose to attach 3 or 4 non-official legislators and others to each one of these Sub-Committees in order to enlarge the experience to be utilised by the Cabinet for Advisory purposes; and

(c) whether Government propose to appoint similar committees for other departments also?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) and (c). An Emergency Committee of the Cabinet was set up in August last to deal more specially with the Punjab situation and connected matters. A Defence Committee of the Cabinet has also been formed. In addition ad-hoc committees of the Cabinet have been appointed from time to time to make recommendations on specific problems requiring detailed examination. These Committees are not restricted to particular departments and generally cover a larger field.

(b) Cabinet Committees consist of members of the Cabinet only. Apart from their advisory capacity they are sometimes charged with executive powers to deal with any particular matter. The purpose which the Honourable Member has in mind will be served by the setting up of Standing Advisory Committees of the Legislature for which steps have already been taken.

COMPENSATION TO INDIAN SHIPPING COMPANIES.

380. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) whether the losses of ships suffered by Indian Shipping Companies during the war have been made good by the purchase of ships or construction of new ones;

(b) what steps are being taken to assure that at least coastal shipping comes completely into the hands of Indian shipping industry; and

(c) whether any steps are being taken under private or public auspices to start ocean liners between India, Europe, the United States of America and China?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) and (c). Government have already declared that it is their intention to secure the entire coastal trade and reasonable shares in the overseas trades for Indian Shipping in accordance with the recommendations of the Reconstruction Policy Sub-Committee on Shipping. Certain Indian Companies are already participating in the trades with U.K. and U.S.A. Before Indian Shipping can participate however in other trades and meet the entire coastal requirements, Indian tonnage must increase sufficiently and Government are at present considering certain proposals for the rapid acquisition, on a joint State-cum-Private ownership basis, of additional tonnage.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Does that answer cover my question here, part (c), regarding ocean liners?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I think so.

Mr. Speaker: He is not talking of overseas trade but of passenger traffic.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Yes, Sir. That is what I meant by "ocean liners".

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I again repeat, Sir, that my answer covers that.

TRADE WITH U.S.S.R.

381. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) the steps that are being taken to increase our trade with the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics;

(b) the main commodities which today enter into our trade with the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics and the prospect of its improvement; and

(c) whether any report has been received by our Representatives in Russia in regard to this matter and if so, when and what are its main suggestions?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) I would refer the Honourable Member in this connection to my predecessor's reply to para. (a) of Question No. 301 put by Mr. Manu Subedar on the 7th November 1946 and to Mr. Dani's Question No. 717 of the 3rd March 1947. It may be expected, however, that with the opening of the Indian Embassy in Moscow the development of our economic relations with the Soviet Union will soon be taken up for active consideration.

(b) Raw jute, jute goods and groundnut oil constitute at present the principal items of export to Russia. Imports from that country are negligible, however, presumably in view of the lack of surpluses of manufactured and consumer goods in that country.

(c) No, Sir.

Shri K. Santhanam: On a point of order, can a Minister refer to proceedings of the previous Legislatures. This Legislature is not a continuation of the previous Legislature and we cannot claim that the old Assembly is a predecessor, and I do not think he will be entitled to refer to the answers given by a former Member?

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member raises a very large question, and it is very difficult to decide just on the spur of the moment; but I am inclined to think that this Legislature coming as a successor to the previous one inherits everything and therefore the previous answers to the questions are included in the inheritance. As incidentally the question has been raised, there is one point to which I might invite the Honourable Member's attention generally to the nature and the substance of questions put, whether original or supplementaries. I have found ever since I am here that, practically the same questions are being asked over and over again and the questions are new only because the session is a new one. If this is borne in mind, and questions put accordingly, a lot of other important work could be put through and information on grounds not covered by previous questions may be obtained by fresh questions. I am saying, this incidentally and the Honourable Members are entitled to put any questions they like. If, therefore, a question has been answered previously, I think the Honourable Minister is entitled also to refer to those previous questions. There is continuity of administration and Legislature.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it admissible that when a question that was answered as long ago as November last is referred to that the Honourable Minister concerned, if the former answer is not a very long one, should try to give out that answer now and is it also advisable that Members should be exhorted not to repeat a question or a part of a question that must have been given a year or two years ago?

Mr. Speaker: Nowhere: The Honourable Member was a Member of the last Legislature. It is difficult to say categorically and lay down a general rule for all these cases. Every question will have to be judged on its own facts. I do not now want a further discussion on this. All I would say with reference to this question is: "The later developments have already been referred to by the Honourable Minister when he said that an Embassy has been recently established in Russia."

Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: May I know, Sir, what are the imports from Russia?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Apart from impracticable ideas which enter in spite of custom barriers, the imports are negligible.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: The Honourable Minister has said so far they have not received any report at all from their representatives in Russia. How then do Government expect to receive reports from Russia?

Conference	Place	Date
32. International Tin Conference	Brussels	April	47.
33. The Combined Tin Committee Meetings	Washington	May—Aug.	47.
34. 13th Congress of the Universal Postal Union	Paris	May—July	47.
35. International Radio Communications Conference	Atlantic City	May—October 1947.
36. Plenipotentiary Conference Tele-communications	Atlantic City	July—October 1947.
37. Administrative High Frequency Broadcasting Conference	Atlantic City	August—October 1947.
38. Meeting of the Assembly of the International Civil Aviation Organization	Montreal	May	47.
39. Meeting of the Commonwealth Air Transport Council	Montreal	May	47.
40. Conference of Directors of the Meteorological Services of the World	Washington	Sept.—Octr.	47.
41. Conference on a Multilateral Air Transport Agreement	Geneva	November	47.
42. International Conference of Military Medicine and Pharmacy	Switzerland	June	47.
43. Conference on Medical History of War.	Ottawa	October	47.
44. International Red Cross Committee	Geneva	April	47.
45. International Conference of Military Surgery	USA	July	47.
46. First Special Session of the General Assembly of the U.N.	New York	April—May	47.
47. Second Regular Session of the General Assembly of the U.N.	New York	September—Nov.	47.
48. 4th Session of the Economic and Social Council	New York	Febry. —March	47.
49. 5th Session of the Economic & Social Council	New York	July —August	47.
50. First and Second Session of the Economic and Employment Commission	-do-	Jany.—Feb and June 1947.
51. Sub-Commission on Economic Development	-do-	November	47.
52. Transport and Communications Commission	-do-	February	47.
53. First and Second Sessions of the Statistical Commission	-do-	Jany-Aug.	47.
54. Sub-Commission on Statistical Sampling	-do-	September	47.
55. Commission Human Rights.	-do-	Jany-Feb.	47.
56. Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities	-do-	November	47.
57. Commission on Status of Women	-do-	February	47.
58. Commission on Narcotic Drugs	New York	July—August	47.
59. Fiscal Commission	-do-	May	47.
60. First and Second Sessions of the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East.	Shanghai Manila	June 1947. November	47.
61. Conference of Experts on Passports and Frontier Formalities	Geneva	April	47.
62. Conference of British Commonwealth Countries to consider the Japanese peace treaties	Caberra	August	47.
63. Special Committee on Palestine	New York Jerusalem etc.	June — August	47.
64. Committee on the Progressive Development of International Law and its Codification	New York	May—June	47.
65. Conference on Social Welfare in South East Asia (only an observer attended).	Singapore	August	47.

Conference	Place	Date
66. Second session of the Preparatory Committee of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Employment	Geneva	April —October	47.
67. International Conference on Trade and Employment	Havana	from November 1947.
68. Study Group of European Customs Union Meeting	Brussels	-do-
69. Provisional Maritime Consultative Council	Paris	June	47.
70. International Wheat Conference	London	March	47

PAKISTANI BADGES FOR SCHEDULED CASTES AND HARASSMENT OF HINDU EVACUEES IN EAST BENGAL.

383. *Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government are aware that in East Bengal badges are being, or are promised to be distributed to those members of the Scheduled Castes who are willing to get themselves converted to Mohamadanism on the promise that no harm will be done to their life and property if they wear them for identification?

(b) If so, what steps do the Government of India propose to take in regard to this matter?

(c) Are Government aware that there is continuous harassment of Hindus leaving East Bengal, and that both at trains and steamer ghats men posing as Muslim League volunteers, under threat of violence, examine the boxes and other packages of the Hindu passengers, taking away their clothes, valuables or anything that such volunteers can lay their hands on?

(d) What steps do Government propose to take to keep the belongings of Hindus coming from East Bengal in safe custody?

(e) Are Government aware that the attitude of the Muslims in East Bengal has created great panic, specially when the Hindus find that no steps are being taken by the East Bengal Government to punish the Muslim offenders when definite incidents are reported?

(f) Do Government propose to consider the desirability of inviting information on definite incidents to be reported to them which can be placed before the East Bengal Government?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Government have no information.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) Government have received several complaints of this nature.

(d) The High Commissioner for India at Karachi has made representations to the Government of Pakistan to stop such harassment to non-Muslims in East Bengal but has not yet received any reply.

(e) Government are aware that some panic has been created among the non-Muslims of East Bengal by the attitude of Muslim volunteers and National Guards.

(f) Action is being taken on specific cases brought to the notice of the Government of India, but Government do not consider it desirable to invite complaints from the non-Muslim public of East Bengal.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The question may be more appropriately directed to the Honourable the Prime Minister.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: I wish to submit that the reports are expected to be received by Government from their Commercial Attachés that are attached to the Embassy.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: There are no Commercial Attachés.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know, S'r, whose responsibility is it in regard to our Embassy in Soviet Russia to send reports in regard to our commercial prospects for trading in that country?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Nobody. No one is there, because there is no trade there.

REPRESENTATION OF INDIA AT INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

382. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) the International Conferences at which India has been officially or semi-officially represented since January last;

(b) whether there is a separate Directorate in the Ministry of External Affairs or any other Ministry which keeps itself in touch with all these delegations, their work, their reports and the contacts made by Indian delegates with the statesmen, experts and others of other countries;

(c) if not, whether Government propose to create such a Directorate; and

(d) what steps are being taken or are proposed to be taken to consult the former representatives of India at these Conferences in regard to India's attitude to be adopted about the Agenda of the new Conferences or further sessions of the old organisations and their Conferences?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) A statement has been laid on the table.

(b) and (c). There is in the Ministry of External Affairs a Branch which handles matters connected with International Conferences, and in particular work connected with the United Nations Organisation. While the selection and briefing of delegations is done by the Ministry which is primarily concerned with the subject matter of a particular Conference, the briefs are normally discussed at inter-departmental meetings and the Ministry of External Affairs sees that divergent instructions are not issued to different delegations. This procedure is not generally followed in the case of meetings of experts on technical subjects unless it appears that any general question of foreign policy is likely to be involved.

Reports submitted by delegations are circulated to the Ministries which are likely to be interested. Members of delegations are encouraged to report any matter of interest in the international sphere which comes to their notice, and where necessary a meeting of representatives of the various Ministries concerned is called to receive their observations.

(d) Reports received from previous delegations are invariably referred to when instructions are drawn up for any new delegation to a conference. Personal consultation with former delegates is arranged when necessary.

List of International Conferences etc., at which India has been represented since January 1947.

Conference	Place	Date
1. The Sterling Area Conference	London	September — October 47.
2. World Power Conference to consider "Fuel Economy"	Hague	September 47.
3. Meeting of Executive Committee of International Commission on High Dams.	Hague	September 47.
4. International Labour Conference	Geneva	June—July 47.
5. Asian Regional Labour Conference	New Delhi	Octr—Novr. 47.
6. Committees of I. L. O.
i. Industrial Committee on Coal Mining.	Geneva	April-May 47.
ii. Industrial Committee on Inland Transport	-do-	-do-
iii. Industrial Committee on Iron and Steel	Stockholm.	August-Sept. 47.
iv. Industrial Committee on Metal Trades.	-do-	-do-
7. Meetings of the Governing Body of the I.L.O. and Permanent Agriculture Committee.	Geneva
8. 10th International Dental Congress	Boston (USA).	August 47.
9. 4th International Cancer Research Congress	St. Louis (USA).	September 47.
10. Commonwealth and Empire Health and Tuberculosis Conference	London	July 47.
11. 25th Session of the International Statistical Institute	Washington	September 47.
12. World Statistical Congress	-do-	-do-
13. 3rd and 4th sessions of the Interim Commission of the World Health Organisation.	Geneva	March—August 47.
14. FAO. Preparatory Commission on World Food Proposals	Washington	Octr. 46—January 47.
15. Conference on control of Infestation of stored foodstuffs	London	Octr. 46, August 47.
16. International Rice Study Group	Trivandrum	May—June 47.
17. 3rd session of the F.A.O.	Geneva	Aug.—Sept. 47.
18. 1st Meeting of the World Food Council	Washington	November 47.
19. Conference of British Commonwealth Survey Officers			1947.
20. 5th British Commonwealth Forestry Conference	U.K.		1947.
21. International Conference for Tourism	Paris	October 47.
22. Special Cereals Conference	Paris	July 47.
23. 10th International Conference on Public Education	Geneva	July 47.
24. UNESCO Summer Seminar (A study conference for member States of the UNESCO)	Paris	July—Aug. 47.
25. UNESCO Regional Conference on Fundamental Education	Nanaking	September 47.
26. UNESCO Second General Conference	Mexico	Novr.—Dec. 47.
27. Meeting of the American Society for Engineering Education	Minnesota	June 47.
28. International Conference in Physics	Paris	November 47.
29. Conference of the International Railway Congress Association	Lucerne	June 47.
30. International Congress of Administrative Science	Switzerland	July—Aug. 47.
31. International Management Congress	Sweden	-do-

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know from the Honourable the Prime Minister if there is any procedure whereby the wishes of the Members of the House here are gathered if any of them want to serve in any of these delegations abroad?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I should have personally thought that that was not a suitable procedure to adopt. The idea of applications from Honourable Members is neither in consonance with their dignity nor with the dignity of the work.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if the Honourable Prime Minister will consider the desirability of issuing an annual resume of all the conferences and their results, so that the Members may be kept informed?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: If the Honourable Member wants a kind of compendious resume that would be done, but I think it is much more advantageous for each Ministry to deal with the particular subjects which it can deal with and issue their resume. As far as the summary which is dealing with commerce or trade, people interested in commerce and trade can get the information in one full book. It may be difficult to compile. It may take much more time, because so many people are concerned in compiling it, and the people who wish to read might be interested in one chapter and not the rest. I think such summaries can be issued by the different Ministries and on further consideration, if need be, they can be more methodically done.

GRANT OF POLITICAL PENSIONS.

384. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement giving the names of the political pension-holders, the amounts of pensions paid to each of them and the reasons for the grant of such pensions?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of States. It has accordingly been transferred to the list of questions for the 3rd December 1947, when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister of States.

INDIAN EMBASSIES ABROAD.

385. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to make a statement about the various Indian Embassies that have already been established and the names of the persons who are in charge of them?

(b) What is the expenditure incurred on account of each Embassy?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The Honourable Member is referred to the answer given to the Honourable Prof. N. G. Ranga's Question No. 31 on the 18th November 1947.

EXPENDITURE ON DELEGATIONS SENT TO U.N.O.

386. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state as to how many Delegations have been sent to U.N.O. since the Interim Government was formed?

(b) What was the total expenditure incurred on each Delegation, in respect of transport allowances and parties?

(c) Is it a fact that four thousand Dollars were spent by India at a New York reception in the first week of October last, when the leader of the Indian Delegation to U.N.O. entertained representatives from other countries by way of courtesy?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Six.

(b) Full information is not readily available. It has been called for from the Accounts authorities and a statement will be laid on the table of the House when it is received.

(c) Yes, Sir.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiar: Mr. Speaker, may I suggest that the statements may be circulated to the Members at least after the questions are answered here, because, Sir, so many statements are said to be laid on the table and we get them only when official reports are sent two or three months later. So it will be better if these statements are circulated at least in the evening after they are laid on the table.

Mr. Speaker: The same question was raised a few days back, and then I had stated that it is impossible to circulate each and every item laid on the table of the House. It will not be a practicable proposition. We get a few copies and circulation will imply multiplying the number of copies. We must either go to the Press or they have to be cyclostyled and a good deal of unnecessary expenditure will be involved in that. If there be important statements—just the other day Dr. Pattabhi requested, for example, the printing and circulation of the Instrument of Accession—then I shall certainly order those papers to be printed and circulated to the Members. In the interest of economy of time and money, I do not think it is desirable to print every statement and send it round to the Members. The Honourable Member knows that the statements are laid here on the table. Any member, desirous of having a look at them or wishing to study them, will have them from the Secretary here and now, and then they are placed on the table of the Library. He can go to the Library after the Assembly session is over and see those statements; and ultimately, after some time, if he wants to read them at leisure, say after a month or two, he will find these printed in the report. So all reasonable facilities, to my mind, which are required for the purposes of making the statements available to the Members are there. Of course, in the case of statements of exceptional importance they can be printed and circulated.

Shri Biswanath Das: May I inform you that I went to the Library and enquired about certain statements and I found no statements there as some one had removed them!

Mr. Speaker: I do not know what reasonable steps I could take to prevent the statements laid there from being removed in an unauthorised manner. All I can do is that I can request Honourable Members who visit the Library not to remove the statements from there. However, this does not require any further discussion.

Shri Biswanath Das: I personally went and requested the Librarian to hand me those statements. He told me that those statements were not available as they had not been supplied.

Mr. Speaker: If that is so, I will enquire into the matter. My information is the other way.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: The general practice is that statements laid on the table of the House are not then and there laid in the Library.

Mr. Speaker: I will enquire and then settle the matter. These are matters of small inconvenience. If any Member feels any inconvenience about any matter, he can get into touch with the Secretary and get the convenience he wants.

APPOINTMENT OF SCHEDULED CASTE. CANDIDATES TRAINED UNDER BEVIN SCHEME

387. *Shri V. O. Kesava Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state the number of Scheduled caste candidates trained under the Bevin Scheme during the last war and how many of them were appointed by Government?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: No information is available as to the number of Scheduled Caste Bevin trainees sent in the first six batches. The number of such candidates sent in the subsequent batches is 41.

As regards the latter part of the question, all the trainees were found employment by Government, except in the case of five who have just returned from the United Kingdom.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: May I know if Indians are still being trained as Bevin Boys under that scheme in England?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: The answer is in the negative.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: How much money was spent by India for the training of these boys in Europe in the last war?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: I want notice of that question.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether the Government is continuing the scheme of sending boys, and if so, how many have the Government sent in the latest batch?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: I think I have already answered that question in reply to Mr. Tajamul Husain's supplementary.

Shri S. Nagappa: In view of the fact that a free India needs more technical personnel, does not the Government think it necessary to send people to foreign countries for training?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: There is now a difficulty in foreign countries. In spite of our best efforts, industrialists and factory owners there are not in a position to take our candidates and train them at the cost of a reduction in their own production. But we are making all possible efforts to induce them to take some of our trainees there.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether these trained personnel are appointed to any administrative posts or are they put there to train other Indians?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: In both positions as feasible and practicable.

Shri R. R. Diwakar: Does the Honourable Minister while sending these people for training or choosing them for their appointments, do so on a communal basis?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: Not necessarily.

Shri V. I. Muniswami Pillai: Arising out of the answer of the Minister, does the Government propose to start similar institutions in India to give training to those people who are willing to take it?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: We have already started training centres under the Director of Resettlement and Employment and ex-service personnel are being trained in handicrafts and arts.

REFUGEES REGISTERED IN DELHI AND EAST PUNJAB

388. *R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state the total number of refugees registered in the Delhi Province and the Province of the East Punjab, separately?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The number of refugees registered in Delhi Province upto 24th November 1947, was 2,75,800.

In the East Punjab, instructions regarding registration of refugees have been issued by the East Punjab Government, but actual registration will begin next week.

At Kurukshetra the registration has commenced with effect from the 25th November 1947.

ज्ञानी गुरुमुखसिंह मुसाफर : क्या आनरेबल मिनिस्टर यह बतलावेंगे कि रिफ्यूजीज को बसाने और कारोबार में फिर से लगाने का क्या इन्तजाम किया गया है ?

Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister please state what steps have been taken to resettle and rehabilitate the refugees?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid that does not arise out of the question.

ज्ञानी गुरुमुखसिंह मुसाफर : साहबे सदर, मेरा मतलब यह सवाल पूछने से यह है कि देहली में रेफ्यूजीज को बसाने का इन्तजाम क्या किया गया है, क्योंकि जो प्रोसीजर अस्तियार किया गया है और जो महकमा उसके लिये बनाया गया है उसका काम बिलकुल निकम्मा है और उसका कोई डेफनीट प्रोसीजर नहीं है और वह efficiently काम नहीं कर रहा है ।

Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: Mr. Speaker, what I mean in putting this question is to ask what steps have been taken to resettle the refugees in Delhi; because the procedure which has been adopted and the work of the Department set up for the purpose is absolutely hopeless. Further that Department has got no definite procedure and it is not functioning efficiently.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The Honourable Member is not permitted to argue. He must ask for information. If the Honourable Minister is able to supply it, he will do so.

ज्ञानी गुरुमुखसिंह मुसाफर : मैं तो सिर्फ यह सवाल करना चाहता था कि क्या इस महकमे की इनएफीसियेन्सी inefficiency की कोई शिकायत पंजी है कि नहीं ?

Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: I simply wanted to put this question: "Whether any report regarding the inefficiency of this Department has been received or not?"

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. Does the Honourable Member wish to put a question.

R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Could the Honourable Minister say how many refugees still remain to be registered in the Delhi Province?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I expect that the registration of refugees in Delhi Province will be completed within the next few weeks.

NUMBER OF EVACUEES STILL IN PAKISTAN

389. *R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state the total number of persons who still remain to be evacuated from:

(i) Pakistan, and

(ii) Insecure areas in India?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clauses (b) and (c) of Starred Question No. 9 and clauses (d) and (f) of the Starred Question No. 12, on the 18th November, 1947.

Shri K. Santhanam: Has any progress been made since then?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid definite figures are not yet available.

COMPENSATION FOR LOSSES AWARDED TO EVACUEES

390. *R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state the amount of compensation, if any, so far paid to the evacuees for the losses suffered by them?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clause (e) of the Starred Question No. 23, on the 18th November, 1947.

PROPOSED ANTI-INDIAN IMMIGRATION LEGISLATION BY FIJI GOVERNMENT

(1) whether the Fiji Government have introduced an Immigration Bill forfeiting domiciliary rights of Indians if they are absent from Fiji for more than twelve months;

(2) whether the Fiji Indians have appealed to the Government of India for support in resisting this legislation; and

(3) whether the Government of India have taken any steps in the matter?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (1) The Government of India received on the 11th November, 1947 a telegram from the Acting Governor of Fiji stating that a further amendment to clause 3 of the previously published Fiji Immigration Ordinance had been introduced, under which a person absent from Fiji for twelve months or more would lose exemption from the provisions of the Ordinance and would have to apply for an entry permit. Under the Bill as it originally stood, a British subject or a British protected person domiciled in the Colony would be exempt from the provisions of the Immigration Ordinance subject to the condition that if such a person wished to leave the Colony with the intention of returning thereto, he would have to obtain a permit to re-enter the Colony from the Principal Immigration Officer, which would be valid for a period of two years.

(2) We have received a telegram from the Indian members of the Fiji Legislative Council asking for the Government of India's intervention in preventing the proposed amendment from becoming law.

(3) Yes. We have already taken up the matter direct with the Governor of Fiji in order to save time and are making suitable representation to the United Kingdom Government.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Government aware that wherever such restrictions of permits are introduced, they are always used for stopping Indian Immigration back to those countries. Under these circumstances will the Government see that such restrictions are not imposed.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The Government will certainly see. In fact it has been continually seeing but the Honourable Member has not suggested what to do about the seeing.

HIRAKUND DAM PROJECT

392. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power please state:

(a) whether the Hirakud Dam Project of the Mahanadi Valley Development scheme has been finally sanctioned by the Government of India;

(b) the total cost of the project;

(c) whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the criticism of the project by Mr. M. G. Rangaiya, retired Chief Engineer of Mysore; and

(d) whether Government have examined those criticisms with the help of experts not directly connected with the project?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) The Hirakud Dam Scheme was discussed on the 14th November, 1947 at an Inter-Provincial Conference, consisting of the representatives of the Central Government and the Governments of Orissa and C. P. and Berar and some representatives of the States; and it was agreed to proceed with the project as fast as possible.

(b) Rs. 45.5 crores roughly.

(c) Yes.

(d) Government propose to appoint a high level Committee consisting of (i) Dr. J. L. Savage, Consulting Engineer and international authority on large dams, formerly, Chief Designing Engineer, U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, (ii) Mr. L. N. MacLellan, Chief Electrical Engineer and Mechanical Engineer, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, (iii) Mr. M. Narasimhaiah, Chief Engineer, Mysore, and (iv) Mr. S. A. Gadkary, Chief Engineer, Electricity, East Punjab—to advise on the scheme in general and its detailed features of design etc.

It is further proposed to request Sir M. Visweswariaya to give his advice on the scheme in general and on matters referred to him by the Committee mentioned above.

Shri K. Santhanam: Will this Committee have power to advise whether this scheme at least in a particular form should be proceeded with or altered on fundamental matters or will it advise merely on the method of carrying out the project?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is open to the Committee to advise on any matter incidental to and connected with the carrying out of the scheme.

ACCESSION OF JUNAGADH TO PAKISTAN AND OF KASHMIR TO INDIA

393. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to make a full statement on the discussions that took place between him and the Governor General of India on the one hand, and the Prime Minister and the Governor General of Pakistan on the other, on the issue of the accession of Junagadh to Pakistan and of Kashmir to the Dominion of India?

(b) What was the outcome of these discussions?

(c) Do Government propose to hold further discussions with the Pakistan authorities on these questions? If so, where and when?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) No such discussion has taken place.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) The Government of India are prepared to have friendly discussions on these issues with the Pakistan Government.

INVASION OF KASHMIR BY FRONTIER TRIBESMEN

394. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the Government of India have made any detailed report to the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom about the invasion of Kashmir by the Frontier tribes?

(b) If so, have the circumstances leading to the accession of Kashmir State to the Dominion of India and the subsequent intervention of the Government of India on behalf of Kashmir been brought to the notice of the other Dominions of the British Commonwealth also? If so, with what results?

(c) Do Government propose to bring the whole matter before the United Nations Organisation? If not, why not?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) I sent a telegram on the 25th October 1947 to the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom regarding events in Kashmir. To this I received a reply and there has been some further correspondence since.

(b) No. The latter part of the question does not arise.

(c) I would refer the Honourable Member to my statement in the House on the 25th November on Kashmir.

INDIA'S COASTAL AND OVERSEAS TRADE

†395. Shri M. C. Veerabahu Pillai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state the names of the Shipping Companies whose Steamers regularly ply between India and her neighbouring countries like Burma, Malaya and Ceylon, carrying passengers and cargo?

(b) How many of them are Indian Steamer Companies and how many foreign?

(c) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of reserving for Indian Steamer Companies at least the passenger services as a first step towards reserving for them the India's entire coastal and overseas trade with her neighbouring countries?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). The names of the Shipping Companies and their nationality are as given below:

INDIA/BURMA/CEYLON:

Indian.—The Scindia Steam Navigation Company Limited.

Non-Indian.—The British India Steam Navigation Company Limited.

The Asiatic Steam Navigation Company Limited.

INDIA/MALAYA:

Indian.—Nil.

Non-Indian.—The British India Steam Navigation Company Limited.

The Indo-China Steam Navigation Company Limited.

(c) It is not feasible to reserve the passenger services as suggested, particularly in the overseas trades. Government have, however, already announced their intention ultimately to secure the entire coastal trade as also reasonable shares in the overseas trades for Indian shipping.

EXPORT OF ONIONS AND OILCAKES TO CEYLON

†396. Shri M. C. Veerabahu Pillai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the export of onions from Madras Province to Ceylon, has recently been stopped and if so, for what reasons?

(b) Are Government aware that with the stoppage of the export of onions and oilcakes, the export trade of South India with Ceylon has practically been crippled?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Yes, Sir. Export of onions from the Province of Madras to Ceylon was suspended with effect from the 26th August 1947 on a representation from the Madras Government that the crop position was unsatisfactory and that prices had gone up as the result.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(b) The Honourable Member would appear to be misinformed with regard to this matter. The total volume of trade in onions and oilcakes does not, from the information readily available, represent more than 10 per cent. of the total trade of South India with Ceylon. The stoppage of exports of these two commodities cannot therefore be said to have materially affected South India's trade with that country.

MISAPPROPRIATION OF INCOME BY HINDU CHARITABLE AND RELIGIOUS TRUSTS

†397. Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Law be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the extent of waste and misappropriation of the income from Hindu Charitable and Religious Trusts?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of introducing legislation for abolishing all these Trusts so as to utilize the properties for nation-building purposes?

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: (a) No, Sir.

(b) No, Sir. Quite apart from the question whether legislation abolishing all Hindu religious and charitable trusts is necessary or even desirable, such legislation falls within the provincial field under entry 34 of the Provincial Legislative List, and the Central Government cannot, therefore, initiate the suggested legislation.

ANTI-INDIA ACTIVITIES OF GOVERNMENT OF GOA

398. Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Government of Goa (i) has recently imported nearly 2,000 European and Negro troops in addition to their normal military force of 3,000;

(ii) has been storing for sometime a large number of American-made arms, ammunition and trucks;

(iii) has been carrying on propaganda against the Indian Union and in favour of Pakistan;

(iv) has regularly been smuggling arms and ammunition out of Goa, with the assistance of certain influential merchants of Panjim; and

(v) has been allowing the Portuguese cruiser to enter the docks at Mormugo and to take fresh arms and ammunition to Diu which is next door to Junagadh?

(b) If the answer to any of the sub-parts (i) to (v) above be in the affirmative, what steps have been taken by Government so far, to prevent and counteract these activities?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) The Government of India are aware—(i) and (ii) that the normal peace time strength of the military force in Goa has been recently augmented. They have no official information about the exact numbers.

(iii) and (iv). The Government of India have no precise information on this subject.

(v) Both Mormugao and Diu are part of the Portuguese Possessions in India and from time to time Portuguese ships touch at these places.

(b) The Government of India do not consider that any action in regard to these matters is called for at present.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Do not Government make inquiries through their Ambassador or Agent as to these allegations, soon after the question is tabled, or keep in touch with developments on the frontier from time to time?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: This answer was framed after due inquiry.

†Answer to this question laid on the table the questioner being absent.

784

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [27TH NOV. 1947]

(c) The Government of France has agreed to consider with the Government of India the future of French Establishments in India with due regard to the interests and aspirations of the populations of these territories. Discussions have been going on with the French authorities in this connection.

The question of the Portuguese Possessions is also receiving attention.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I know whether the Mandapam health camp is in the possession and control of the Ceylonese Government or of the Government of India?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I do not know how that comes in; we are dealing with the French possessions.

Mr. Speaker: The question relates to "foreign settlements in India". Is this a foreign settlement?

Shri M. S. Aney: Yes. Mandapam camp of the Ceylonese Government is in India. I asked the question for getting that information whether that camp is under the control of the Ceylonese Government or of the Government of India.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I do not know if the Honourable Member wants to draw me out. I suspect some motive about that question because the Honourable Member knows more about it than I do.

Shri M. S. Aney: Sir, I have no such motive. I do not want to pursue it either also.

APPOINTMENT OF GOVERNORS, AMBASSADORS AND HIGH COMMISSIONERS

104. Shri S. Nagappa: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the policy of Government in appointing Governors, Ambassadors and High Commissioners?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: No fixed policy or rules are laid down for appointment of high officers of State. Merit, capacity and suitability are the criteria for such appointments.

Shri S. Nagappa: In view of the fact that no Andhara and no harijan is appointed, is it the view of Government that they are unfit for such posts?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I must say that I strongly deprecate such insinuations. So far as this Government is concerned, no appointment is going to be made to any high office on provincial or other considerations.

Shri S. Nagappa: In view of the fact that no offices are going to these people may I know what the practical policy of Government is in making such appointments, specially those of Governors, Ambassadors, High Commissioners, etc?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The practical policy is to appoint a person who can serve the cause of India most efficiently.

Shri S. Nagappa: Do Government mean to convey that people or Harijans coming from Andhradesha are incapable of discharging these duties most efficiently?

Mr. Speaker: That is a matter of opinion.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: May I know if Government have decided to retain European Governors and the Indian I.C.S. Governors till the next election?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Till when? They are there: they are functioning there and they will function till the end of their term or till something else happens. There is no question of any fresh decision by Government on the matter. The decision was taken when they were kept on. As to how long they will continue the answer is till further change takes place or till some of them retire.

Mr. B. Poker Sahib Bahadur: May I know how long the present European Governor of Madras is to continue in office?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

Shri Biswanath Das: While agreeing with the principles underlying the reply given by the Honourable the Prime Minister, may I know what method is being adopted by the Government of India for their own information to ascertain men of capacity and their availability in every province?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: We are discussing at the present moment appointments of very high officers of state. You cannot apply any particular rule of thumb for their appointment. After all the persons who are responsible for the appointments—whether a committee or a board or the Cabinet or individual—have to exercise their judgment.

Shri Biswanath Das: I have not desired that any rule of thumb should be applied but what I wanted to know was that since the Government of India do not know the availability of persons necessary for certain specified appointments, have they any basis or principle which they have been following to ascertain the availability of such persons from different provinces in India? They must be consulting provincial ministries, premiers or Governors in the matter.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: So far as the appointment of a Governor is concerned he is only appointed after consulting the provincial government—at least the Prime Minister.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: May I know how long the Government propose to keep the present British Governor General in India?

Mr. Speaker: These are all questions relating to individual cases: I should not permit them.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: The question under reply is with regard to Governors, Ambassadors and High Commissioners.

Mr. Speaker: That may be. The question refers to the general policy of the Government and not to individual cases. I should not allow questions to be raised as regards individual appointments.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: My question was with regard to policy only. How long do the Government propose to retain a Britisher as Governor General in India?

(No answer was given)

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: May I know if the Government have accepted it as their policy not to appoint a man, however qualified he may be, as Governor of his own province?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: There is no final fixed policy: it is generally considered desirable not to appoint a person as Governor in his own province, except perhaps temporarily.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: May I know why it is not considered desirable to appoint a man as Governor in his own province, in view of the fact that the office of Governor is going to be an elected one under the new constitution?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Simply because the functions of the Governor then would be somewhat different from what they are now. In appointing a person as Governor it is better to appoint an outsider. In case of election another party is responsible for putting him in.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know whether the Honourable the Prime Minister is aware that there is a very strong feeling in the country against the continuance of Europeans as Governors and will he take steps in this matter?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I am totally unaware of this.

RELEASE OF MUSLIM COMMUNAL RIOT CONVICTS BY GOVERNMENTS OF WEST PUNJAB AND SIND

†399. *Shri Ram Chandra Gupta: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the Government are aware that the Sind and West Punjab Governments have released from Jail all those Muslim prisoners who were convicted in Communal riots?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: As far as can be ascertained, an unknown number of prisoners including several convicted in communal riots before the 15th August 1947 were released from jails in Sind in celebration of the establishment of Pakistan. Government are not aware of any such releases in the West Punjab.

PRIME MINISTER'S ADDRESS TO CONGRESS WORKERS IN NEW DELHI

400. *Shri Biswanath Das: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have seen the report of his address made to the Congress workers in New Delhi on the 3rd October 1947 and published in the Moffusil edition of the Hindu, dated the 6th October 1947;

(b) whether the same is correctly reported; and

(c) the basis for his conclusion that "it was generally forgotten, that the New State of Pakistan was not capable of waging any war"?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Yes.

(b) The address referred to was delivered at a private gathering and was not reported fully. The very brief report published in the Hindu is likely to create a wrong impression of what was said at some length.

(c) There was no such conclusion.

INCLUSION OF FRENCH POSSESSION IN INDIAN UNION

401. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the handing over of small French pockets in India by French authorities to the Government of India is a prelude to the handing over of all French possessions in India; and

(b) what is the attitude of the Government of India in regard to the request made by a number of prominent citizens and Mayors of various places in French India to include those places in the Indian Union?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) and (b). The French Government have declared the transfer of the areas known as the French Loges in India to be "a token of their will to settle all questions pending between the two countries in the most friendly and comprehensive manner". The French Government have also agreed to explore, with the Government of India, ways and means of a friendly regulation of the problems of French Establishments in India, with due regard to the interests and aspirations of the population of these territories. Discussions have been going on with the French authorities on the subject.

Seth Govinddas: To facilitate such negotiations and for the sake of better relations in future with countries like France, are Government thinking of sending an Embassy to that country?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: It has already been decided to exchange diplomatic representatives with the French Republic. We have heard a French Embassy functioning and it is proposed in the near future to send a Charge d'Affaires for the Indian Embassy in Paris. But that has no particular relation to this subject. We are dealing with the subject and as soon as our Ambassador or Charge d'Affaires goes there no doubt he will take it up immediately.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Have the Government of India received any representations from any responsible organisations of the people of these French possessions in India that the Government of India should initiate discussions to get these French possessions also to join the Indian Union?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Yes, Sir.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Then what line of action are the Government of India pursuing in order to get these possessions also to join the Indian Union?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: We are discussing the subject.

'BLOOD AND IRON' TALK BY GOA GOVERNMENT

402. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that the Goa Indians are anxious to join the Indian Union;

(b) whether Government are aware of the talk of 'blood and iron' by the Governor of Goa; and

(c) the action the Government of India propose to take to meet the challenge of the Portuguese Goan Governor, and to save Portuguese Indians from slavery?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) According to the information received by Government, large numbers of the residents of Goa are anxious to join the Indian Union.

(b) Government have seen no report of any such speech by the Governor-General of Goa. But the Portuguese Minister for Colonies said something to this effect in June last.

(c) The Government of India propose to deal with the question of Goa as well as of other foreign territories in India at an early date.

ABSORPTION OF FOREIGN SETTLEMENTS IN INDIAN UNION

403. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state what are the foreign settlements in India with the area and population of each such settlement and whether the population in each settlement is predominantly Indian?

(b) Have the people in these settlements expressed their intention and determination to join the Union of India?

(c) Have any steps been taken by the Government of India to do away with these foreign settlements and to absorb the territories in different units of the Indian Union and make them parts of the Union of India?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) There are two foreign settlements in India namely:

(1) The French Establishments in India comprising Pondicherry, Chandernagore, Karikal, Mahe and Yanam with a total area of 196 sq. miles and a population of 323,295 (in 1941).

(2) The Portuguese Possessions in India comprising Goa, Daman and Diu with an area of 1,537 sq. miles and a population of 624,177.

The population in these places is predominantly of Indian descent.

(b) A large number of people in these settlements have expressed these sentiments.

PRODUCTION, CONSUMPTION, AND EXPORT OF TEA

405. *Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state what was the total output of tea in the several tea producing provinces in the Indian Dominion during the years 1936-37 and 1945-46 and how much was consumed locally and how much was exported?

(b) Is it a fact that due to the operation of the Indian Tea Restriction Act, small growers are working at a loss?

(c) Do Government contemplate not to revive the Tea Restriction Act after 31st March, 1948?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Sir, statistics regarding the total output of tea manufactured in India are compiled for the calendar year and not the financial year. Moreover no separate figures exist in regard to production of the areas which now form a part of the Dominion of Pakistan. I, therefore, lay on the table of the House a statement showing the output of made tea in the several tea producing provinces of India as a whole for the calendar years 1936, 1937 and 1945 and the estimated all-India tea crop for those years as well as for 1946. I also lay on the table of the House a statement showing the quantity of tea consumed in India and exported outside India during the financial years 1936-37 and 1945-46.

(b) Government have no information on the subject.

(c) The question of the continuance or otherwise of the Indian Tea Control Act after 31st March 1948 is receiving the consideration of Government.

Statement showing the total output of made tea in the several tea producing provinces of India for the calendar years 1936, 1937 and 1945 and the estimated all-India tea crop for those years as well as for 1946

Province	1936 lbs.	1937 lbs.	1945 lbs.	1946
*Assam.	224,250,518	241,807,853	288,107,740	All - India
Bengal	97,537,102	107,550,144	140,779,538	580.21
Bihar	854,230	944,509	1,912,203	million lbs.
United Provinces	1,830,518	2,003,837	1,524,941	(estimated)
Punjab (Kangra)		Not available
Madras & Coorg	32,152,300	34,523,987	46,152,580
All-India total including Indian States and Nepal	390,433,393	423,408,776	527,555,599	580.21 million lbs. (estimated).

*Includes Sylhet which is now part of Pakistan and for which no separate figure is available.
Includes Chittagong and Chittagong Hill Tracts, which are now part of Pakistan and for which no separate figures are available.

Statement showing the quantity of tea consumed in India and exported outside India during the years 1936-37 and 1945-46

Year	Quantity consumed in India (estimated) Million lbs.	Quantity exported outside India lbs.
1936-37	79.0	301,866,146†
1945-46	160.0*	362,769,834†

*Preliminary.

†Including 10,268 lbs. and 54,811 lbs. representing the share respectively of Sind and Burma.

‡Including 20,931 lbs. representing the share of Sind.

Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: Is the Honourable Member aware that on account of this Act the small growers are greatly affected and much of the suitable for tea cultivation is lying fallow because of the existence of this Act?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The Government does not think that the Act has affected the small tea growers at all.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government be good enough to make proper enquiry in regard to this particular point made by Mr. Pillai—whether this Act is working to the injury or harm of the small tea grower?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The answer to the question is that the Act was undertaken in order to implement the International Tea Agreement which itself was the result of a desire to have somewhat restricted production and to keep production in proportion.

Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: Is the Government aware that middlemen have to export at a very small rate quota thereby the small growers as well as the big ones are greatly affected?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Middlemen are known to do these things only in the matter of tea but in all commodities.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that it was the influential bigger growers who were responsible for getting this Act passed and getting the Government to be a party to that agreement as well, will Government consider the advisability of instituting enquiries into the fact that the small growers suffering today and to what extent this agreement can possibly be modified if the Act amended?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is a very large question to answer. As regards the first part the Government does not agree with the view that the tea growers have influenced the decision made either here or in the matter of the International Agreement. As regards the advisability of instituting enquiries, I may inform the Honourable Member that this Act expires on the 31st March, 1948 and the matter is receiving active consideration.

PROTECTION OF PROPERTY AND FUNDS OF EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS AT LAHORE

406. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state what steps, if any, were taken for the protection of the property and funds of various educational institutes at Lahore which were founded and maintained by Indians who have been forced to evacuate to India?

(b) Have Government considered the advisability of arranging for their being shifted to India till existing conditions improve?

(c) Have Government any information regarding the funds of such institutions?

(d) Have the buildings of any of the educational institutions been requisitioned by the Government of Pakistan? If so, whether they are paying any rent for the same and to whom?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) The whole question of the future of Educational Institutions of Non-Muslims including those maintained by Trusts and Societies is proposed to be discussed with representatives of Pakistan Government shortly.

(b) Shifting of these Institutions will be one of the points to be discussed.

(c) No precise information is available.

(d) The Sohanlal College, Lahore, was looted and about three weeks later some time in September, 1947, the building was taken over by the West Punjab

Government. It is understood that it is now known as the Madrassa Tul Bat and was for some time used as a Muslim Refugee Camp.

The buildings of Sir Ganga Ram Girls' School and Training College, D.A.V. High School and Middle School and Sanatan Dharam College and School and the Fateh Chand College are also known to have been taken over by the West Punjab Government for different purposes. No information is available in regard to the procedure adopted by the West Punjab before the buildings were taken over.

Definite information regarding requisitioning by the Government of Pakistan of buildings of other educational institutions is being collected and will be placed on the table when available.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know if any protests were made by our Government to the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Oh, yes.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: With what result?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I do not know of any definite result having been achieved. But this question, as I have already stated, has been included in the list of points that will come up for discussion with the Pakistan Government, and it occupies a prominent place in the memorandum that we have already sent to that Government.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable Minister consider the advisability of utilising the services of our Nationalist Muslim members or the Muslim members of this House in persuading the Pakistan Government to release these buildings?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I do not know exactly how the services of these gentlemen could be usefully employed. If my Honourable friend were in a position to give me a more specific suggestion I would certainly consider it.

UNSTARRED QUESTION AND ANSWER

EXPORT OF COMMODITIES FROM MADRAS TO CEYLON DURING THE YEARS 1937-38 AND 1946-47

6. Shri M. C. Veerabahu Pillai: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to place on the table of the House a list of the commodities with their tonnage and value, which were exported from the Province of Madras to Ceylon during the years 1937-38 and 1946-47?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The information is being obtained and will be laid on the table of the House in due course.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

DETENTION AND PILFERAGE OF GOODS IN TRANSIT ON E. B. RAILWAY AT SANTAHAR AND PARBATIPUR IN EASTERN PAKISTAN

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that foodstuffs and other essential goods despatched by through booking from Calcutta and other parts of India to Assam are detained at Santahar and Parbatipur Railway Stations of Pakistan, that most of them are not allowed to proceed further and that the major portion of those goods is pilfered at these stations?

(b) If so, what steps Government propose to take to see that the goods under through booking reach the destination within a reasonable time?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Although there have been rumours to the effect that goods despatched from Calcutta to Assam are delayed or lost on the journey over the E. B. Railway, no report as such has reached this office officially. It is understood, however, that the Assam Government are finding great difficulty in obtaining their goods from Calcutta via the E. B. Railway.

Santahar and Parbatipur are both transshipment points from broad to metre gauge and it is quite possible that owing to the E. B. Railway system not having yet settled down since partition, delays are occurring at these transshipment points—both of which are in Pakistan. On the question of pilferage it is also possible that essential goods like food and cloth are purloined and do not reach destination in Assam.

(b) The only step which the Government of India can take in this matter is to make a representation to the Pakistan Government and bring the matter to their knowledge and to ask the Pakistan Government to assist in avoiding detentions and pilferage.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: In the meantime may I know what will be the condition of the Province of Assam if it does not get the foodstuffs which are booked from other parts of India?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: There is nothing that we can do in the matter except the course that I have suggested. There is of course the possibility of our trying by some means to expedite the completion of the new through rail connection that we have in view, but that will take a certain amount of time. Apart from that I think there is nothing else that we can do.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Will the Government consider the question of requisitioning the services of a few cargo steamers and have the goods despatched from Calcutta?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I take it that these cargo steamers will also pass through the Pakistan area.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: The Honourable Minister said that he did not have any report about the delays. May I know whether he actually called for any report from the railway administration?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes, I have since called for information.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Apart from the question of Assam, is the Honourable Minister aware of complaints that foodstuffs despatched from the Indian Union to Darjeeling and Dinajpur districts are either held up in transit or they do not reach the destination at all?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is quite conceivable that happens.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is it also within the knowledge of the Honourable Minister and has he any positive information that foodstuffs, particularly rice which is in short supply in Bengal in the Indian Union, despatched from Dinajpur had not been delivered to the Indian Union by the Pakistan portion of B. A. Railway?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I have had reports from the railway administration.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is he aware that tremendous smuggling is going on of food commodities and rationed articles at railway stations in Pakistan, for instance Ranaghat and is the Honourable Minister's Department taking effective steps to stop this surreptitious smuggling?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: This occurred in an area over which my Ministry has no jurisdiction.

790

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [27TH NOV. 1947]

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: In the signal yard of the Ranaghat station itself they have an arrangement by which to remove commodities. Will the Honourable Minister kindly look into the matter with the assistance of the G.R.P. assisted by the local police?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: We have the matter in hand already.

Prof. Shibban Lal Sakseña: Has the Honourable Minister represented the matter to the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes, we have made a representation to the Pakistan Government.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Is the Government aware that the wagons which are despatched from Assam with goods are not returned to the Assam Railway by the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: That has occurred not only in regard to Bengal-Assam Railway but in regard to the North Western Railway as well. That is not however going to present any serious difficulty because in the case of excess wagons they have to pay hire charges to the wagon pool, and that acts as a deterrent.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is the Honourable Minister hopeful that he will get back the wagons at all?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: We have sufficient sanctions in our hands for that purpose.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Do Government propose to depute some of their own responsible Officers to these stations of Parbatipur and Santahar and ask them to give a correct report of these matters, so that the Pakistan Government may be made to co-operate in the matter of despatch of these goods?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The important thing is not the question of obtaining information but to be able to act upon information we already have.

Shri Biswanath Das: As the Honourable the Railway Minister has admitted that there is smuggling and also expressed the view that it does not relate to his Department I should like to know whether he has sought the co-operation and co-ordination of his brother Ministers in this regard—particularly of Ministers who have got jurisdiction on this subject—or of the Provincial Government with a view to stopping this smuggling?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The first thing is for the Railway Ministry in India to take this matter up with the railway authorities in Pakistan. That obviously is the first step.

Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur: May I know whether the Government has received any reply from the Pakistan Government to the representations made to them by this Government in this behalf?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Not yet, Sir.

EVACUATION OF HINDUS AND SIKHS FROM SIND

Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the summary of the speech of Professor Ghanshyam, Leader of the Congress Party in the Sind Assembly, published in the National Call, dated the 19th November 1947 to the effect "that 30,000 Hindus and Sikhs anxious to leave Sind were living on the premises of the Congress Office in Hyderabad Sind alone and more were coming in. As against this only 260 persons could leave daily by train"?

(b) Do Government propose to provide greater facilities for the evacuation of the said refugees? If so, what?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) Yes. Indeed Professor Ghanshyam discussed this matter at length with the Secretary of the Ministry and immediate action was initiated.

(b) As desired by Professor Ghanshyam, efforts are being made to run one Refugee Special per day for a month from Hyderabad Sind to Marwar in addition to the Bombay Mail. The High Commissioner in Pakistan has been requested to take up the matter with the Pakistan Government so that the Refugee Special may start running as soon as possible.

Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: Have the Government made any effort to find out how many of the non-Muslims anxious to leave Sind for India are panic-stricken and how many are in real danger? What steps do Government propose to take in respect of people who want to leave Sind out of panic?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: It is rather difficult to give a definite reply to this question. There is a general desire on the part of the non-Muslims who are still in Sind to leave that province. I am sure that our High Commissioner in Pakistan is doing all that is possible to allay the panic that the Honourable Member refers to.

Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: Have the Government prepared any scheme for the resettlement of those who are coming from Sind? If so, what is that scheme?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: So far as the people who have been coming from Sind are concerned, they are mostly coming to Bombay and to the Kathiawar States. We know that the Bombay Government as also the Kathiawar State administrations are making all possible arrangements for their reception. Quite a number of them have also come to Ajmer-Merwara and we are doing what is possible for the purpose of providing them with accommodation and other amenities.

Shri Jainarain Vyas: Has the Honourable Minister come to know that rations are not being supplied to refugees from Hyderabad to Marwar Junction and that protection also is absent?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: So far as rations are concerned, I do not exactly know whose responsibility it is at that particular point. I may mention that although the railway concerned belongs to the Jodhpur State, it traverses quite a distance of Pakistan territory. So far as protection goes, it is the Pakistan Government alone that can provide that protection over that bit of territory.

Shri O. V. Alagesan: Will the Honourable Minister please state what is the position in respect of Madrasis in Sind who were anxious to be evacuated?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I remember having seen a reference to the Madrasis who were living in Sind and who have come away. I understand most of them are now in the Madras Presidency.

Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: Is the Honourable Minister aware that a large number of Sindhis have come to Alwar State and they are having no facilities either of boarding or lodging there?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I have no information about Sindhis in Alwar State, but I know that the refugee population in Alwar consists of a large number of people from the Frontier, but I shall make enquiries into the point raised.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: What is the capacity of the special train to which the Honourable Minister referred to evacuate refugees in one trip?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: It would be in the neighbourhood of 4,000.

Shri H. J. Khandekar: Has the Government any information about the Harijan residents of Sind who are ready to be evacuated but the Sind Government is obstructing them and is forcibly converting them into Islam?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I know that certain special difficulties are being felt by the Harijans in Sind in the matter of their evacuation and we have just decided to appoint a special officer from among Harijans to proceed to Karachi to look after their interests in this matter.

Mr. B. Poker Sahib Bahadur: May I know, Sir, whether it is the definite policy of the Government to discourage evacuation from Pakistan to India and from India to Pakistan, and if so, what steps Government are taking to give effect to that?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The policy is to provide facilities for those who are anxious to come away. This applies also to those who are anxious to leave India for Pakistan.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: What is the policy that has been adopted by the Government of India to protect the properties left behind by refugees?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I do not know whether my Honourable friend raises this as a general kind of question or he limits the question to Sind.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: To Sind. We have been talking of Sind.

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: So far as Sind is concerned, I have no definite information as regards the attitude of the Sind Government in the matter of the protection of property left behind by the evacuees. At one stage I knew that the Sind Government had not adopted a law corresponding to the law that we have on this side and also the West Punjab Government had, as regards the appointment of a Custodian of evacuee property. I do not know the latest position.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: Will the Government pursue this matter with the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I know this much that our High Commissioner in Karachi is in constant touch with the Pakistan Government and this is one of the specific points he has raised with that Government.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Does my Honourable friend get periodical reports from our High Commissioner in Pakistan on this question?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: We do receive reports. We have asked our High Commissioner in Pakistan to keep us informed as regards all important matters relating to refugees.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: May I say, Sir, that we receive full information from the High Commissioner in Pakistan, not only full reports but also daily reports on all these issues.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Will Government be pleased to inform us the method by which we can find out whether a particular individual is a citizen of Pakistan or is of India?

Mr. B. Poker Sahib Bahadur: May I know, Sir, whether the Government has accepted the policy underlying the resolution passed by the All-India Congress Committee recently as regards evacuation of persons from Pakistan to India and from India to Pakistan?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Certainly Sir.

Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: Will the Government be pleased to acquaint Members of this House with the result of the enquiry the Harijan member will be making in Sind?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Yes certainly, if that is desired.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Do Government propose to fix a date by which all those who want to leave this country for Pakistan and vice versa can do so, and then we will know as to who is a Pakistani and who belongs to India?

Mr. Speaker: Next short notice question.

CREATION OF NEW PROVINCES ON LINGUISTIC AND CULTURAL BASIS.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the attention of the Government has been drawn to the resolution on linguistic Provinces adopted by the joint session of the Union Constitution Committee and the Provincial Constitution Committee of the Constituent Assembly to the effect that as soon as the Dominion Constitution comes into operation (on or before August 15, 1947), the Dominion Government should appoint a Commission to examine the question of creating certain new Provinces on linguistic and cultural basis?

(b) What is the policy of Government with regard to the said resolution and what steps do Government propose to take to implement that resolution?

(c) What is the policy of Government with regard to the incorporation of Andhra as a separate Province in the new Constitution?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The attention of Government has been drawn to the resolution referred to in the question.

2. Government are fully aware of the demand in some parts of the country for new provinces to be formed primarily on a linguistic and cultural basis. Many years ago this demand was recognised by the Congress and Government accept the principle underlying that demand. In giving effect to that principle however many other considerations have to be borne in mind. Apart from linguistic and cultural aspects sometimes also there is no clear demarcation and cultural and linguistic areas overlap. Hence a very careful enquiry is necessary before a decision can be arrived at. Government are anxious not to delay the enquiry or the decision. But, as the House is fully aware, the country has had to face, ever since the new order started functioning, a very critical situation resulting from partition. A living entity had a part severed from it and this unnatural operation resulted in all manner of distempers which have naturally affected the political, social and economic structure of the country. Reactionary forces took advantage of this situation to consolidate themselves and to raise separatist cries. The old equilibrium having been shaken up, disruptionist tendencies came to the fore. To a large extent we have faced this crisis and overcome it. But many dangers still surround us. There are numerous urgent demands in the economic and other spheres. When there are a multitude of such demands a certain priority has to be observed, otherwise there would be dispersion of effort and ineffectiveness. First things must come first and the first thing is the security and stability of India. Before we can undertake any major schemes we must have a strong state and a smoothly running governmental machinery. The first essential therefore is for India as a whole to be strong and firmly established, confident in her capacity to meet all possible dangers and face and solve all problems. If India lives, all parts of India also live and prosper. If India is enfeebled, all her component elements grow weak.

3. I suggest to the House that every problem must be viewed in this context today.

4. It is necessary to have a reconstitution of the provinces, or some of them. But if we tackle this problem in a large way at present, there is grave danger of our energies being diverted from some of the more urgent tasks. In the case of some provinces the problem may be relatively easy, in the case of others it would be very difficult and very controversial.

[Mr. Speaker.]

- (6) Shri U. Srinivasa Mallayya.
- (7) Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.
- (8) Shri Sarangdhar Das.
- (9) Shri M. R. Masani, and
- (10) Begum Aizaz Rasul.

II. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting.

- (1) Shri Arun Chandra Guha.
- (2) Shri Ramnath Goenka.
- (3) Shrimati G. Durgabai.
- (4) Dr. Dharam Prakash.
- (5) Shri Ram Sahai.
- (6) Rai Bahadur Sri Narain Mahtha.
- (7) Pāndit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava.
- (8) Raja of Bobbili.
- (9) Shri Feroze Gandhi, and
- (10) Mr. Abdul Kadar Mohammad Shaikh.

III. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Labour.

- (1) Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena.
- (2) Shri Chunilal P. Shah.
- (3) Shri V. C. Kesava Rao.
- (4) Shri Khandubhai K. Desai.
- (5) Shri C. Subrahmanyam.
- (6) Shrimati Renuka Ray.
- (7) Shri Gokulbhai Daulatram Bhatt.
- (8) Shri Nand Kishore Das.
- (9) Shri Gopikrishna Vijayavargiya, and
- (10) Shri Harihar Nath Shastri.

RESOLUTION RE ORGANISATION OF A NATIONAL MILITIA

Mr. Speaker: The House will now proceed with the Resolutions tabled by the Honourable Members.

Shri H. V. Pataskar (Bombay: General): In view of the statement of policy and the steps proposed to be taken to implement the same made by the Honourable the Prime Minister, I do not propose to move the Resolution standing in my name.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir the Resolution that stands in my name and which I have the honour to move before the House, runs as follows:

"This Assembly is of opinion that with a view to ensuring the effective defence of the country in all circumstances, assisting the Provincial Governments to maintain law and order in emergencies, enabling law-abiding citizens to defend themselves against lawless and anti-social elements and removing the fear and feeling of helplessness produced by the policy of disarming and emasculating the people pursued under foreign rule, immediate steps be taken to organise a national militia and to provide on a country-wide basis facilities for training in the use of arms and the arts of self-defence."

This Resolution, I may at once state, is self-explanatory and I venture to hope that it is one which is also non-contentious, although the word "militia" may require a little bit of explanation. The expression "National Militia" has been so much in vogue in the country that it hardly requires a definition. It is more or less of an axiomatic nature. "Militia" comes from miles meaning a soldier, and militia means military service. It is a term applied to forces which are doubtless organised but are not professional. In ancient times, all the armies were recruited like this, except the personal guards of their leaders. They were under arms during times of war and they resumed their normal occupations in life soon after the war was over. In America you have got this Militia well organised. All able-bodied citizens between the age of 18, and unless the law otherwise states, 45 years, are brought under the scope of the National Militia and they are known as 'National Guards' or 'Naval Militia' or 'Unorganised Militia'. The scheme came into existence in the year 1903 under what is called the Dick Act, which provides for the organisation, armament and discipline, pay, transportation and subsistence, encampments and training, all at Government expense—on the same scale and in the same manner as are applicable to the Regular Army.

Now, it is but right to consider whether in our country where there is always a Standing Army almost on a war footing this Militia is necessary. I shall deal with the question of composition of the Army as it exists today, as it has existed till recently and as it may be modified very soon, presently. But let me tell you the condition in which we find ourselves today. The Honourable the Prime Minister, in answer to the question on linguistic provinces, gave certain indications of the present state of the country. He stated and rightly that the attainment of liberty by India on the 15th August has released all kinds of reactionary forces in the country. The fact that the British Government has terminated its paramountcy among the 562 States of India—a thing which came to us as a surprise—has created a false impression that each of these States, petty and small, middling and big, is an independent area and local, parochial provincial and communal considerations and ideas of patriotism have predominated over the national element. In Dholpur and Bharatpur, the Jat consciousness has been kindled; in Udaipur and in Jodhpur, particularly in Jodhpur and Alwar, the Rajput consciousness has been kindled; in Patiala, in Nabha, in Faridkot, in Jhind and in Kapurthala the Sikh consciousness has been kindled. Thus some want Jatsthan, others want Rajputsthan, and few Sikhsthan. This is a wholly fissiparous process. Instead of developing a centripetal tendency in order to establish the Central Government on a firm basis, these centrifugal tendencies have been released and the result is that unless adequate care is taken betimes, the position of India may become exceedingly dangerous and become a matter for anxiety. While this is so, recent experiences have revealed the astounding fact that private armies and arms are being organised in almost all parts of India.

I shall refer to the private armies later but would invite the attention of the House to statements in the Press which have occurred from time to time disclosing the discovery of arms dumps. I shall give a few extracts from one such report. In Subzi Mandi in Delhi, a simple and old-fashioned building which has the appearance of a Beedi dukan, has concealed behind it three quadrangles of huge palatial quarters which were inter-connected underground. It contained an oil engine in a subterranean room, fire-proof bricks and cement, oxygen cylinders and gas pipes and a tube-well and some machinery for manufacturing munitions. Again, in Jubbulpore a handcart proceeding from a godown met with an accident which revealed that ammunition was being transported concealed under pieces of cloth. When the godown nearby was searched, there were cartridges weighing over eleven tons and lead pellets weighing about 26 maunds. A cartridge-filling machine, several fire-arms and a huge quantity of ammunition were discovered at Borgi near Jubbulpore in some Muslim houses. Searches at Patna have yielded also similar results. A car held up near Government House contained ten bottle bombs, 77 cartridges, some sulphur, a phial containing mercury and some paper bombs. Twenty-three dynamites in long

5. The final determination in regard to the creation of new provinces appropriately rests with the Constituent Assembly. Government propose to take up this matter in the Constituent Assembly and ask for steps to be taken for preliminary enquiries to be made on this subject. One or more boundary commissions may also be appointed. It would be desirable not to complicate the issue by having too many simultaneous enquiries.

6. The demand for the province of Andhra, which, if I may say so, is a perfectly legitimate demand, raises relatively few difficulties and it can be included among the provinces in the constitution as was done in the case of Orissa and Sind under the Government of India Act of 1935. This decision can be implemented soon after the constitution is adopted.

7. The creation of the provinces of Mahrashira and Karnatak involve greater difficulties as any marked change will powerfully affect the structure and economy of the provinces concerned. This question will require very careful consideration in all its bearings so that the final decision may be a just one and acceptable to the parties concerned.

8. It must be remembered that the creation of a new province inevitably affects all the neighbouring provinces and the interests of these will have to be considered. Every decision must of course be considered from the point of view of the country as a whole.

9. There is no reason why enquiries referred to above may not be completed within a year or so.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Sir, may I enquire of the Honourable Prime Minister whether the Government will consider the question of re-distribution of the boundaries of existing provinces on the same principle of cultural and linguistic affinities? If so, will he kindly keep in view this aspect of the question when he thinks of the creation of new provinces?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Naturally, Sir, all these questions can be considered at the right time.

Shrimati Renuka Ray: Arising out of the answer given by the Honourable Prime Minister that the question of re-distribution of provincial boundaries will be considered by a boundary commission set up by the Constituent Assembly later, is Government aware of the fact that although strong arguments do exist and there is a strong demand for the re-alignment of the Provinces of Bihar and Bengal on linguistic lines, this demand has not been put forward because of the very reasons that the Honourable the Prime Minister has put before the House, namely the difficulties the Government face at present? Will he give us an assurance that if this question does come up, the fact that this demand has not been put forward before this House in the form of a tabled resolution of amendment, will not mean that this matter of the re-alignment of the Provinces of Bengal and Bihar on linguistic basis will go by default?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I must express my appreciation of the fact pointed out by the Honourable Member that because of wider considerations, they did not press a certain demand that they had in their hearts or minds. But I must say that the grace of all that has been taken away by a fresh demand for an assurance.

Dr. N. B. Khare: May I know under what section of the Adaptation Act will this boundary commission be appointed?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I cannot mention any particular Act but without any Act I am quite sure we can appoint any number of boundary commissions.

Shri R. R. Diwakar: May I know, Sir, if the Honourable Prime Minister is aware that Kannada people are the greatest sufferers under the present dispensation being distributed over several administrations?

ELECTIONS TO STANDING COMMITTEES FOR MINISTRIES OF INDUSTRY AND SUPPLY, INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING AND LABOUR

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I certainly realise the feelings in Karnatak and the desire to take action on this matter.

Shri R. R. Diwakar: May I know, Sir, if it would be possible under the circumstances to see that Karnatak becomes a Province before the New Constitution Act comes into operation?

Mr. Speaker: Here I want to make a suggestion to the Honourable Members. This is really to my mind a question to be decided by the Assembly when it is functioning as a constitution-making body. And therefore instead of raising questions which really imply arguments in favour or against a particular kind of action, the questions may be limited only to the intentions of the Government which have been amply clarified by the Honourable the Prime Minister. So questions may only be limited to facts and not arguments.

Shri R. R. Diwakar: Excuse me, Sir, simply because the matter came up here I asked this question.

Mr. Speaker: But that would be going beyond the scope of the limitations within which questions can be put in a legislature.

Shri H. J. Khandekar: While considering the formation of Provinces on cultural and linguistic basis, will the Government be pleased to keep in view that there is a demand from the people of the C. P. (Mahrathi) and Berar for a separate Mahakoshal Province?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The Government has so much to remember that it is very hard to forget anything.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: With reference to the answer given in regard to Andhra, when is the commission likely to be appointed? Is it before the meeting of the Constituent Assembly or after that?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: As the Speaker has already pointed out, the right course is to proceed through the constitution-making body.

Shri H. V. Pataskar: Will the proposed enquiry include the question of Maharashtra?

Shri L. Krishnaswami Bharathi: Is the Prime Minister aware of the fact that Tamil Nad is equally, if not more, anxious than Andhra for separation?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. We are now getting into arguments.

ELECTIONS TO STANDING COMMITTEES FOR MINISTRIES OF INDUSTRY AND SUPPLY, INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING AND LABOUR.

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Committees for the Ministries of Industry and Supply, Information and Broadcasting and Labour, 11 nominations in the case of the first two and 10 nominations in the case of the last one were received. Subsequently one member in case of each of the first two withdrew his candidature. As the number of the remaining candidates was thus equal to the number of vacancies in each of the three Committees, I declare the following members to be duly elected:—

I. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Industry and Supply.

- (1) Shri A. B. Latthe.
- (2) Shri Bikramlal Sondhi.
- (3) Shri C. Subrahmanayam.
- (4) Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar.
- (5) Shri Ramnath Goenka.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

paper tubes were also recovered. Eight bottle bombs, some revolvers, ammunition and paper bombs were recovered from two persons going in a car. A sealed cigarette tin picked up from a dust-bin near Patna Secretariat exploded. Likewise illegal arms in the Central Provinces were discovered, arms in Agra Hotel; a Bren gun, a complete wireless receiving apparatus was discovered; a powder magazine was unearthed by the Calcutta police; seizure included one double barrelled gun, 24 bombs, about 40 cartridges and a large number of bullet cases; the Bomb Squad of the Bombay C. I. D. raided a miniature arsenal in South-West Bombay and 19 crude bombs; an Ammunition factory was unearthed near Vincent Hill area and so on. It is a sad tale of unending length. Why have all these come into existence? In Delhi, in some of the most fashionable bungalows such as in 6 Keeling Road and in the Barakhamba Road, arms were discovered. What may be the cause of all these arms? What may be the purpose? Were they meant to be used at a particular point of time for a particular purpose or was it an accident that all these bombs and ammunition were discovered there? Thus you see that the condition of the country is extremely dangerous. I do not wish to strike a note of panic or alarm, but at the same time, if any Government were to rest in a state of complacency, I should say that panic is much better than complacency.

That being the case, you may well ask the question: "Why, we have got an excellent army? Are we not able to cope with the needs of the country and overcome all the dangers that may lie imbedded in the future?" The Indian element in the army was 150,000 and the English element till recently was 61,000 which has recently been reduced by 10,000. Altogether we had 210,000 men in the Army. Yesterday the Honourable the Finance Minister was saying that the present strength of the Army is 260,000 and perhaps there is no immediate prospect of reducing this strength unless conditions permit it. Now we were also told the other day that the European soldier cost us Rs. 3,600 per capita against an Indian soldier costing Rs. 1,200. In any case, by the departure of the European soldiers, which will presently take place, we shall save a lot of money. We are lucky if we get rid of these English soldiers, in getting rid of them much sooner than Canada which had Self-Government in 1840 and Government on a Federal basis in 1867 but the British Army left only in 1905. In South Africa the British Army left only in 1922. In Australia, however, it had left in the year 1870. Thus we should be unexpectedly lucky if these gentlemen quit India by the end of this year. Now, that being the case, we shall have to take care of this country ourselves. But an Army is a means of distant protection. It is like a Reserve fund or a fixed deposit in a bank and is not a current account. When a danger breaks out, you will have to send for the Army. The Civil authorities have to move first and the Civil authorities have then to move the Military authorities and the Military authorities must reach the Railway Station; the station people must arrange the transport and wagons must be available and the Military then moves and perhaps all these may take four or five days and within these five days all the necessary destruction will have successfully taken place and those who are bent upon mischief, you may rest assured, know their calculations fairly well.

Thus an Army cannot be depended upon for times of emergency, especially when there are numerous cases of disturbances scattered over the whole country and the figures that I have shown and the dumps that I have revealed fairly prove that there are secret spots of danger which are interspersed over the whole area. The only means, therefore, of protecting people is by setting up centres of Military training here, there and elsewhere. Within easy reach. If India is to protect herself, India must not only protect herself by a centralised Army placed at a distant centre, but India must be able to command the services of duly armed people, well trained in the use of arms, at a moment's notice, which means that each province must be self-sufficient, each district must be self-sufficient, each tahsil, each town and village, each street and each home. It is only then that India can rest secure and not till then. How is this to be brought about? Only by organising what is called the National Militia. I do not for one moment suggest that we should all be conscripted. I am afraid that the population is far too large and the expenditure involved is far too prohibitive and the staff required is far too numerous, to make possible such a scheme of compulsion. In our country the enthusiasm of the youth is so great that without any conscription or compulsion the young people are quite willing to come forward and sacrifice their lives in the cause of the nation. Their inborn enthusiasm, their nascent patriotism and their love of the country can always be counted upon by the Government of the day for the necessary measure of sacrifice for the protection of the country. The spirits of the youth so long pent up, so long cribbed and cabined under foreign rule, are waiting to burst out. The youth is bubbling with enthusiasm everywhere. It wants an opportunity to express itself, express itself not merely in the Civil, but also in the Military line, a line which has been forbidden to the mass of population so far. You know that the armies of India have largely been recruited from the professional classes, chiefly confined to the Punjab and other places. Not only this, a stigma has been cast moreover since the report of Lord Roberts that the South Indian people are unfit to be recruited into the Army but the slur has been cast off in the recent war. There is no such thing as a man being born brave. It is a training like training in music or painting which creates the faculty or the quality.

An Honourable Member: Will the Honourable Member please address the Chair?

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Being a Congressman of 50 years standing, I have forgotten the rule. Moreover the position of the Mike does not enable me to face the audience.

Mr. Speaker: I was just thinking of communicating that point by a note addressed to the Honourable Member, but I did not wish to interfere.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: I am very grateful for your considerateness, but, . . . however, let me not explain.

The South Indian has been stigmatized as wanting in the martial spirit. After all the strong man is not a brave man, you may rest assured. I have asked many strong soldiers and they are sometimes funks. They do not want to go to the Front. It is the lean, thin, wizened and withered, half-starved, semi-cadaverous looking man that is really energetic and brave, that does not hesitate to sacrifice his life. So bravery and strength have nothing to do with each other. It is the spirit that animates a person that really counts and that spirit is predominantly present in the youth of the Nation. Therefore, it is time now to canalise that enthusiasm into the proper channels by means of which the dangerous spots can be made safe. It is for this purpose that I plead for the National Militia now.

I may tell you also that already private organisations are coming into existence and people prompted by narrow ideas, provincial or communal, have thus organised themselves. The R. S. S. is there. Then there is the Akali Dal; then one or two Muslim National Guards. All these have taken time by the forelock, but if you want to deal with the question on a national basis and make it necessary for the nation to look into the matter aright, then you must envelope all these organisations which is the only way of engulfing them and thus absorbing them and assimilating them into the National Militia. Of course it will be a costly affair, but you have saved a lot by the British people—60,000 of them having gone—who have been costing us thrice the amount which the Indian soldiery was costing us; at the same time self-Government itself is costly; two brothers are joint; the elder brother is taking care of the family; all expenditure is minimised, but they break up; partition is effected and then their expenses are reduplicated. Independence means responsibility; Independence is not a bed of roses, but a bed of thorns and we are already beginning to feel the pricks of these thorns. Therefore we must be prepared to bear the expenditure and bear the burden which independence inevitably means to us; and the only way of dealing with these private armies which have come into existence is by the formation of a national militia.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

An Honourable Member: There is no compulsion.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Moral force is much higher than physical force; otherwise you could have easily prohibited these bodies by law. But I have a better remedy and that remedy is to make a better organisation which they will consider it a matter of pride to join and not joining which they will consider a matter of humiliation. Thus you see that the national militia does not require any deep argumentation to support it. It is like an umbrella in hand to protect you against rain as against your home which may give you a safe canopy at a distance. It is like a hand-stick with which to beat a snake across the path, as against a snake-charmer who is far away. It is like an overcoat to protect you against cold rather than the home fires that are burning ablaze in your own home at a distance. This is the right weapon which will qualify you for liberty. Most of the Honourable Members here may or may not perhaps—have seen the beautiful inscription on the biggest arch in the southern block of the Secretariat; it says, "Liberty will not descend to a people. A people must raise themselves to liberty. It is a blessing that must be earned before it can be enjoyed." I say that a national militia is the right means of earning this Liberty and it will be the symbol and proof of such liberty. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Resolution moved:

"This Assembly is of opinion that with a view to ensuring the effective defence of the country in all circumstances, assisting the Provincial Governments to maintain law and order in emergencies, enabling law-abiding citizens to defend themselves against lawless and anti-social elements and removing the fear and feeling of helplessness produced by the policy of disarming and emasculating the people pursued under foreign rule, immediate steps be taken to organise a national militia and to provide on a country-wide basis facilities for training in the use of arms and the arts of self-defence."

I will remind the House that the time limit for speeches prescribed under the rules is 15 minutes and no more. For the Mover it is 30 minutes as also for the Government reply, though that period may be extended if required.

I will now call upon the Honourable Members who have given notice of amendments to move them and after that there will be a general discussion.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P. General): Sir, I am not moving my amendment.

Shri B. M. Gupte (Bombay: General): Sir, I am not moving my amendment.

Mr. Speaker: Then the general discussion will proceed.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Sir, today is a great day when this important Resolution is being moved in this Sovereign Parliament of free India. For the last 200 years we have been a slave nation, and after the first war of Indian independence, which has so long been called the Great Mutiny, we were disarmed in 1878, and the Arms Act is still on the statute-book to remind us of that day of humiliation when the arms of the whole nation were deposited in the British armoury. From that day—perhaps the day of our greatest humiliation—our nation has felt as if it would never again rise to freedom. But through the efforts of our great leader Mahatma Gandhi and through the sacrifice of innumerable heroes, we today find ourselves again a free State. I think our Prime Minister said only this morning that first things must come first; and the first thing is that our country and our new free State must become secure; and that security can only come when the emasculation of the last 200 years is done away with. I must congratulate the Mover of the Resolution on having brought this motion and I hope it will be adopted and given effect to in the spirit which is necessary to bring the country back to its proper state of preparation for meeting its new obligations. The Finance Minister told us yesterday that India is the second greatest nation in the world. We have got 30 crores of population next only to China which is in the throes of a civil war, and so we must be the greatest, and the most powerful nation of the world today. But today unfortunately Russia and America are mentioned as the greatest powers; India is not even a member of the Security Council of the U. N. O. I therefore think that we must come into our own and for that we must have a planned programme. I hope that will come soon; but, as the Prime Minister just said, the first thing is to secure what we have already got. That can only be done when we have converted the whole nation into an army which will protect this newly-won freedom. I therefore commend this Resolution to the House so that the spirit of Free India which is now abroad may be harnessed for the great task that lies ahead. I have been in contact with the masses for a very long time; even during the last two or three months I have been going about and meeting thousands of people; and I know what eagerness is there among the people for military training. Recently the U. P. Government has brought out a scheme to enrol 12 lakh national guards. Out of every 500 men in a village 11 persons will be trained in the use of arms; and in that way out of one hundred and ten lakh villages in the province there will be 12 lakhs of men who will be trained in the use of arms. There was a selection of officers for training them; perhaps 45 men will be selected, but on the day of selection about 3,000 young men with bubbling spirit came forward to be selected as instructors for imparting this military training. There were I. N. A. men and demobilised personnel. And I found there that if that enthusiasm can be really harnessed we can very soon become the greatest power on earth. Today no country can live unless it has got the means to defend itself. Russia and America have all got virtual conscription, and every student in school there becomes a fine soldier; whereas, in our country our health is perhaps the worst in the whole world, our rate of mortality is also very high and our average age is only 23 years. I think all this will be a thing of the past if this resolution is given effect to and acted upon in the spirit in which it is brought. I have just heard a reference to reactionary organisations which threaten our existence. I think we should not be afraid. A reference was made to the Rashtriya Swayam Sevak Sangh. I think the Sangh was a logical product of the psychology of frustration created by the bureaucratic Government of the past; when that Government was not making any provision for utilising the martial spirit among the people and people had no other way to learn military training, they started these clubs and societies. The Sangha has done very useful service during the last 25 years of its existence and recently during the Punjab massacre it rendered miraculous service to the people. If now the Government comes forward to give universal military training and to raise a national militia, I am sure every Indian youth and every member of the R. S. S. will come forward and take military training. I know none of them is inimical to the State. Every one of them wants that the State of Bharatvarsha must be the strongest and the mightiest State in the world. If this same purpose inspires the Government in the forming of its national militia, then, whether these people are in the Rashtriya Swayam Sevak Sangh, or in the Sikh Akali Dal, they will come forward and join the National Militia whole heartedly. I am glad that these volunteer organisations have been in existence. Probably they will spur the Government to take up this question seriously. I now hope it will be done in a proper and systematic way and very soon India will be able to boast of the fact that out of 30 crores of people, every adult man and woman has training in the use of arms. We are now in the new age. We know that in this last war, every man and woman in other countries did his bit for the war. Our great hero, Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, organised the famous Rani of Jhansi Regiment as part of the great Azad Hind Fouz. We must not let our women be forgotten. Napoleon used to say that unless there are great mothers, the nation cannot be great. Our women must imbibe the discipline and the spirit of chivalry and all that military training gives. By passing this resolution and by putting it into effect I hope that very soon our country, will be a nation of young men, fully trained and fully disciplined. Our country today is said to be an indisciplined country. Probably this resolution, if given effect to properly, will discipline our nation. When I read about and when I think of the horrors and tragedies which have occurred in the last few months, in the Punjab, I am surprised if anywhere else in the world in history such things have happened. Why did such things happen in our country? If our country had arms and people knew how to use arms, they would not have suffered the torture, rape and other humiliation which they have had to undergo. I do not think policemen can be present on every street nor can the military protect everyone everywhere. If everyone has arms no one will dare to molest anybody or threaten him or kill him. By giving this resolution full effect, you can thus solve all your problems. Yesterday we learnt that a standing army of 260,000 soldiers will cost us Rs. 98 crores. Well, two lakhs is a small drop in the ocean. Such a small army cannot safeguard the interests of a nation of 30 crores in the modern world. The only way to protect ourselves is to arm every individual citizen. It will not cost anything and it will give in return discipline, health and less mortality. We shall then have a great national army in reserve and we shall be respected according to its strength. I feel mortified that our candidature to the membership of the Security Council of the U. N. O. was contested. We were not given a seat there, although we are the second greatest nation in the world. And that is because today we are not as strong as Russia or America. But tomorrow if we have 30 crores of people trained under conscription in a national militia and this huge national militia is kept in reserve to be called to arms when necessary, then I am sure our great leader in the U. N. O. will not have to withdraw her candidature and explain the reason for it. If we have to rise to our full stature, we must give effect to this resolution with our full heart. If the Government works it properly, the people will co-operate wholeheartedly. There is latent longing in the people for use of arms. When I go into the country-side, they say: "Will we get arms"? They are so anxious about arms. Recently in our province it was said that people could apply for licenses for arms, and we had hundreds of applications coming in our committees. I think if this scheme is put into effect, then there will be no part of the country which will be said to be inhabited by non-martial races. The Mover said that his part of the country is a non-martial area. I do not think so. Everyone in the country has a latent faculty in him to become a well-disciplined soldier and who knows that there may be many great warriors and leaders of arms in those provinces which are called non-martial. In the last great war the Madrasis became very good air pilots; Bengalees also were very efficient. And who knows in this great continent, where every part of the country has its special aptitude, we may not be able to supply all the requirements of a great army. By this conscription or compulsory military training we will be able to know who are those who have special aptitudes for particular jobs in the army. Out of these men of special aptitude for the army we shall choose the standing army which will have to be kept at a much higher figure than 260,000. Then we shall have in the army chosen men after their aptitudes have been tested. We shall then know who are fit for which career of the army. Then we shall be able to find the best men to officer the army, and then our army will become the finest army in the world. Today the results have shown that our army fought with very great bravery compared with other armies and among its ranks have been the best fighters in the world. If everyone is given a chance, and his capabilities tested and a selection made, our army will become the finest in the world and people will not have to spend much because the chosen men will be in the army and the rest of the nation will be in the reserve. If any nation casts its eyes upon us, we can mobilise the whole nation and probably nobody will be able to stand against us. Then alone we can come to our full stature and give to the world what we want to give. We have a great culture, and a most ancient civilisation. But a slave nation could not give these things to the world. Now when we have become a free nation, and are fully prepared to hold our own before any other nation in the world, we will give to the world all that our country has got to give—its culture, its heritage and its civilization.

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena]

Dr. N. B. Khare (Alwar State): Sir, I have great pleasure to give my humble support to this very important resolution and it gladdens my heart very much that my friend and fellow-medico of the Congress persuasion of a very high Congress status—almost approaching that of the President of the Congress—has moved this resolution. Congress, Sir, always preached ahimsa. It is still doing it. Some say that there was no such creed of ahimsa, but only a policy. Whatever that may be, I am so glad that a high-placed Congressman like that has at long last come forward to move this very essential resolution. We in this country have been the slaves of the British for so many years, for over a century and a half, and the British deliberately, as all imperialists do, have kept us absolutely away from anything and everything pertaining to military. That is the reason why we are as we are today. We have been very systematically emasculated and I think if we want to be men again we must not only support strongly this resolution but also act up to it. I hope the Government will accept the resolution without any hesitation.

My Honourable friend has also said that freedom has descended upon us. It has descended upon us when perhaps we were unprepared in more ways than one and if we are wise people and want to maintain our freedom I have not the slightest doubt that unless we do some such thing as detailed in this resolution we will not be able to maintain it for long. They say in Sanskrit:

वीर भोग्या वसुधैरा which means those who are brave can alone enjoy the earth or the Kingdom of the earth. But we are always talking of the Kingdom of Heaven as has been our wont for generations. I hope we will stop forever doing it. We have to live on this mundane earth and for that purpose we must have an army. Besides that, I see that our race is deteriorating physically. We see in every generation that we are deteriorating and unless we compel our young men to take military training, I do not suppose there is any other way of either increasing our capacity or improving our health. I am one of those who believe in conscription. I am absolutely certain and I warn my friends on all sides that at present we are passing through very critical times and in the future, in the very immediate future I think this country will pass through anarchical times. I do not like it and I do not want it but I cannot shut my eyes to what I see before me. I hope the Government will accept this resolution and immediately try to implement it and ask every young man to enlist in this national militia. Sir, I do not want to say much more, because you have been very kind to give me some time fixing the outside limit of 15 minutes I think it will please you to know that I have finished my speech much before that.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly reassembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

श्री गोपीकृष्ण विजयवर्गीय : श्रीमान् अध्यक्ष महोदय, मैं डा० पट्टाभि साहेब के रखे हुये प्रस्ताव का समर्थन करने के लिये खड़ा हुआ हूँ। वास्तव में मेरा खुद खयाल था कि इस तरह का प्रस्ताव यहां भेजूं लेकिन समय पर नहीं भेज सका। इस वक्त जो प्रस्ताव नेशनल मिलिशिया (National Militia) बनाने के बारे में डाक्टर पट्टाभि साहेब ने पेश किया उसका हार्दिक समर्थन करने के लिये मैं खड़ा हुआ हूँ।

अध्यक्ष महोदय, यह सवाल सिर्फ प्रान्तों का ही नहीं है बल्कि रियासतों की जनता के इन्टरेस्ट (interest) का भी है। हम चाहते हैं कि हिन्दुस्तान में इस तरह की संस्था, मिलिशिया, होनी चाहिये जिसमें नागरिकों को तालीम दी जाय, सैनिक शिक्षा दी जाय जिससे हिन्दुस्तान की रक्षा हो सके। यह सवाल धीरे धीरे करने का भी नहीं है। आज हिन्दुस्तान में जितनी खराब बातें पैदा हो गई हैं और हो रही हैं वह इस मिलिशिया के बनाने से दूर हो सकती हैं। इस लिये जितना यह प्रश्न आवश्यक है उतना ही जल्दी इसको करना भी चाहिये।

हिन्दुस्तान को सारी जनता ने मिलकर स्वतंत्र किया है और हमें सबको मिल कर ही इस लोकतंत्री भारतवर्ष की रक्षा करनी चाहिये। जब जनता ने इसको स्वतंत्र किया है तो उसकी रक्षा का भार भी जनता के ऊपर ही होना चाहिये। जनता को उसकी रक्षा करने के लिये उस चीज की ट्रेनिंग (training) दी जानी चाहिये। ब्रिटिश साम्राज्यवाद ने हमारे देश को आर्म्स एक्ट (Arms Act) वगैरा जैसे कानूनों के जरिये निशस्त्र कर दिया। उन्होंने हमारे देश को कमजोर और निर्बल बना दिया। उन्होंने हमारे हृदयों को और हमारे हाथों और पैरों को बिल्कुल कमजोर बना दिया। मैं समझता हूँ कि अगर यह असेम्बली और हमारी गवर्नमेंट आज मिलिशिया बनाने का निश्चय करती है तो हम में फिर वही ताकत पैदा हो जायगी, फिर बल पैदा हो जायगा और आत्मविश्वास पैदा हो जायगा। इसके अलावा हम इस मिलिशिया के जरिये ट्रेनिंग हासिल करके हिन्दुस्तान की रक्षा करेंगे, निर्बलों की रक्षा करेंगे और समाज का हित करेंगे।

सभापति महोदय, गांधी जी ने हाल में ही कृपाण के बारे में बोलते हुये कहा था कि यह बेगुनाहों के खून वहाने के लिये नहीं है, बल्कि निर्बलों की रक्षा करने के लिये और समाज की सेवा करने के लिये है। मैं समझता हूँ कि यही सच्चा क्षत्रिय धर्म है और क्षत्रियत्व है। जब हम इस तरह की ट्रेनिंग हासिल करें तो उसका इस्तेमाल हम निर्बलों के रक्षा के लिये, समाज की रक्षा के लिये और देश की रक्षा के लिये करें। जैसा कि हमारे यहां साहित्य में क्षत्रियधर्म के बारे में कालिदास ने कहा है “क्षतात्किल त्रायत इत्युदधः क्षत्रस्य शब्दो भुवनेषु हृदः”। फिर दूसरी जगह कालिदास ने बतलाया है कि : “आर्तत्राणाय वः शस्त्रं न प्रहर्तुमनागसि”। अर्थात् निर्बलों की रक्षा की जाय,

समाज की सेवा की जाय, यही सच्चा क्षत्रियत्व है। यह मैं इसलिये कह रहा हूँ कि आजकल हम क्षत्रिय संगठन का नाम बहुत सुनते हैं। भरतपुर में गेट संगठन शुरू हो रहा है। उधर पटियाला में सिक्खों का संगठन हो रहा है। उधर जोधपुर में राजपूतों का संगठन हो रहा है। अलवर में भी इसी तरह के संगठन बन रहे हैं। इसी तरह के साम्प्रदायिक संगठन सब जगह हो रहे हैं। पाकिस्तान में मुस्लिम नेशनल गार्ड (Muslim National Guards) के नाम से संगठन किया जा रहा है। हैदराबाद में भी मुस्लिम गार्ड (Muslim Guards) के नाम से संगठन किया जा रहा है। हमारी जो मिलिशिया होगी वह शस्त्र का दुरुपयोग करने के लिये नहीं होगी, बल्कि हमारा आदर्श समाज की रक्षा करना, शोषण का अन्त करना और देश की रक्षा करना होगा। इन चीजों के लिये यह शस्त्र इस्तेमाल होने चाहिये। लेकिन हो क्या रहा है कि ‘वीर भोग्या वसुन्धरा’ के गलत नारे लगाये जा रहे हैं। अगर इस नारे का मतलब ‘जिसकी लाठी उसकी भैंस’ है तब तो यह फासिस्ट (Fascist) नारा है। एक गलत नारा होगा लेकिन सचमुच भावना यह होनी चाहिये कि हम अपने हथियार और वीरता को समाज की सेवा के लिये, हिन्दुस्तान की रक्षा के लिये, इस्तेमाल करें। हमने जो नई आजादी हासिल की है वह लोकतन्त्रात्मक और डेमोक्रेटिक (Democratic) होनी चाहिये। अगर यह नारा इसके लिये इस्तेमाल होगा तो उपयुक्त होगा। आजकल के जमाने के अनुकूल होगा, और हमारे पुराने आदर्श के अनुसार होगा।

इस विषय में बड़ा साम्प्रदायिक खतरा चारों तरफ फैल रहा है। हमारी केन्द्रीय सरकार और देहली के आसपास अनेक राजे रजवाड़े हैं। इस समय वहां साम्प्रदायिकता की भावना बहुत फैली हुई है, और इस समय कांग्रेसके असूलों की तरफ, कांग्रेस गवर्नमेंट के असूलों के बारे में, बहुत सी गलतफहमियां फैलाई जा रही हैं। कांग्रेस को मिस-रिप्रेजेंट (mis-represent) किया जा रहा है। कांग्रेस के अहिंसावाद के असूल के गलत माने लगाये जा रहे हैं। इस तरह की बातें फैलाकर राजे और सामन्ती व्यक्ति लोगों को बहका कर अपना स्वार्थ सिद्ध करना चाहते हैं। इस चीज से नौजवानों को बचाने के लिये उनको सैनिक काम दिया जाना बहुत जरूरी है। हम नौजवानों का संगठन करें और हर स्त्री, पुरुष को शिक्षा दे कर मिलिशिया में ले लें। इस तरह से जो साम्प्रदायिकता का खतरा है वह दूर हो जायगा। बहुत सी गलतफहमियां जो देश में फैली हुई हैं वह इस तरह की मिलिट्री ट्रेनिंग (military training) जारी करने से दूर हो जायंगी।

१५ अगस्त से पहिले हमारे देश में ब्रिटिश साम्राज्यवाद का राज्य था। अब वह बात नहीं रही है। मगर जब यह मिलिशिया बनाई जाय तो इस बात का जरूर खयाल किया जाय कि इसमें उन लोगों को न लिया जाय जो राष्ट्रवादी विचारधारा के नहीं हैं। दरअसल सच बात यह है कि हमको इस बात का ध्यान रखना चाहिये कि जो राष्ट्रियता चाहते हैं, देश में एकता चाहते हैं और तिरंगे झण्डे के नीचे काम करना चाहते हैं उनको

[Shri Gopikrishna Vijayavargiya]
used only for such things. But what we find today is quite otherwise. False slogans of "Only the brave can enjoy the terrestrial pleasures" are being raised. If this means 'Might is Right', it is nothing but a Fascist slogan. It is wrong. Our real feeling and desire should be to use our arms and valour for the service of our society and for the defence of our country. The freedom that we have recently achieved should mean a people's Government here; it should mean a democratic country. If this is our slogan, we are right, and it would be what the modern times demand and what our ancient ideals stood for.

Seeds of such factious organisation are being sown all round us. The seat of our Government and the Province of Delhi is surrounded by many native states. Communal feelings are the most tense there at this time. The ideals of the Congress and the present Congress Government are being misconstrued in these states. The Congress is being misrepresented. Wrong explanations are being given for the Congress idea of non-violence. To gain their selfish ends, the princes and the feudal lords are exploiting the masses. We must, therefore, give military work to the youth of our country if we want to check them from swallowing this bait. Let us organise our youngmen and women let us give them military training and then absorb them in the militia. This will allay the danger of communal trouble which exists today. The military training that will be given to the public will remove the present misconceptions which are prevalent among the people.

Before the 15th of August we had here the Government of the British Imperialists. Things have changed now. When, however, this militia is raised care must be taken to see that no such persons are recruited who do not hold national views. As a matter of fact, what we should see is that this militia takes up only those who want nationalism, who want union in this country and who are prepared to work under our National Tricolour Flag. We must turn them out who are found to be disloyal to this country.

One thing more, I would like to say. So far as it is a question of raising a militia in the states we must not leave it to them. It is imperative that we do not entrust this responsibility to the princes alone. It is because the communal feelings are at their highest pitch in these places. We can, however, consider it from a different point of view in the case of those states which have Governments responsible to the people.

About the railways, I have to say that many Indian railways pass through a number of native states. The smouldering fire of communal feelings is fanned here. This Resolution solves this problem. There would be no room left for communalism if we raise this militia. This would amount to what we call in English "taking wind out of their sails". Communal Organisations will not be able to flourish if we take steps of this kind. Not only the princes and feudal lords but even the capitalists have joined to make this baneful propaganda of Communalism. We must make a strong National Militia if we want to remove this danger. I want to tell it in clear terms that our Congress is being misrepresented. This Organisation will go a long way in combating these misrepresentations. It should, therefore, be the duty of every congressman, today, to see that for the defence of India he keeps with him a pistol just as he keeps a spindle and that he keeps with him a machine gun as he keeps a 'Charkha' (spinning wheel). In this way alone we will be able to save our country.

Just as there has been an infiltration of tribesmen into Kashmir and just as the forces of Pakistan have gone there, dangers of similar kind can also crop up before us. An ordinance for conscription has been promulgated in Pakistan and we in India are sitting merely in the form of a Constituent Assembly. We do not know how much value does Pakistan attach to legislature. We do not know when will its Constituent Assembly meet and along what lines will it proceeds. But we here are moving along the lines of democracy. We must, therefore, be on the alert; we must watch carefully what is going on in Pakistan. It is necessary that every Indian should know how to handle arms and, if need be, how to use them lest we are taken unawares. Let us always be on our guard lest there is an infiltration into India as there has been into Kashmir. For the defence of our country, for the protection of our freedom and for the upkeep of the ideals of democracy it is absolutely necessary that we should raise a militia. With these words, Sir, I strongly support this Resolution.

Shrimati G. Durgabai (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have great pleasure in rising to support the Honourable the Mover of this resolution. Coming as it does at an opportune time, I hope that it is welcome to all sections of the people of the country irrespective of caste, creed or religion. Sir, I think that the subject matter of this resolution has got closely to deal with the very fundamental rights of the individual, that is the right to live. It is not quite sufficient if such fundamental rights are simply incorporated in the constitution and guaranteed by the constitution of any country. But it is equally the duty of the State to see that conditions are created to see that individuals are enabled to exercise this right, that is the right to live. Therefore it is the duty of the State to see that this kind of training as contemplated under this resolution is provided and organized by the State in order to afford facilities for the men and women of India.

I would, Sir, concentrate only on one aspect of this resolution, that is if it is considered that it is necessary to give training for men, it is equally necessary to provide facilities for women also to be trained. We have got great traditions of the past. We have got very thrilling and inspiring stories and examples set by the great daughters of India. We have the thrilling example of the very notable part played by the Rani of Jhansi who had taken up arms against the enemy who invaded her country, and also we have the illustrious examples set by Rani Samyukta, Rani Ahalyabai and Rani Rudramma, queens who had taken up arms whenever occasions demanded that they should take up arms. The daughters of India have got to live by those examples and keep the great traditions of this great country, India. I do not know whether we are, in the name of civilization, proceeding onwards or backwards, that is to conditions of some centuries ago. The very gloomy conditions which were prevailing some centuries ago have now come back; we have got stories of how women are thrown into wells and how they have been killed; how women have been pulled out of trains and how they have been butchered; how these women have been made to run from place to place when they have become helpless widows having lost their husbands in various struggles. Sir, the country is full of communal passions now; they are rising very high. So, women have got to defend themselves. They have got to rise to the occasion. They have also to defend their person whenever their chastity and their modesty are at stake.

Sir, we have to train our women to follow the examples of such historic and heroic queens and live as they lived. Neither the home nor the school has given us the training. We have stories of Jijabai, the mother of Shivaji, who used to sing lullaby to her son reminding him of all the great parts played by heroes and heroines. But now, instead, our mothers have begun to sing only to tell us "Don't go out, my dear child; there is thief", and "Don't go out after it is dark; please return home before it gets dark". Such is the training we have received in our homes by our mothers, and such is the training which we have received in the schools from our teachers. The teachers and the professors themselves are cowards; what is it they can give to the students?

Therefore, now we look to the Independent India and to our State to see that we have become again men as men, and women have become women in their true sense; that we must be strong and be able to protect our country

[श्री गोपीकृष्ण विजयवर्गीय]

इस मिलीशिया में लिया जाना चाहिये। जो वफादार न पाये जायें उन्हें हटा दिया जाय।

एक बात मैं यह भी कहना चाहता हूँ कि जहां तक रियासतों में मिलीशिया बनाने का सवाल है उसको रियासतों पर नहीं छोड़ देना चाहिये। इस बात का खयाल रखना जरूरी है कि रियासतों में जब यह मिलीशिया बनाई जाय तो वहां राजाओं के हाथों में ही नहीं छोड़ देनी चाहिये। इसका कारण यह है कि रियासतों में साम्प्रदायिक भावना भरी हुई है। मगर जहां उत्तरदायी सरकार है वहां दूसरी तरह से इस प्रश्न पर गौर किया जा सकता है।

रेलों के बारे में भी मुझे यह कहना है कि हिन्दुस्तान की रेलें बहुतेरी देशी रियासतों में से जाती हैं, और वहां साम्प्रदायिकता भड़कायी जाती है। इस प्रस्ताव से समस्या का हल हो जाता है। अगर हम अपनी मिलीशिया रैज (raise) कर लेते हैं, तो साम्प्रदायिकता के लिये कोई जगह ही नहीं रहती। जिसको अंग्रेजी में कहते हैं "taking wind out of their sails" इस तरीके के कारण साम्प्रदायिक संस्थाएँ पनप नहीं सकेंगी आज कल साम्प्रदायिकता को बढ़ाने में न सिर्फ देशी राजा, रईस बल्कि पूंजीपति लोग भी अपना जहरीला प्रचार कर रहे हैं। इसको दूर करने के लिये हमको एक स्ट्रांग नेशनल मिलीशिया (strong National Militia) का निर्माण करना चाहिये। मैं यह बात स्पष्ट कहना चाहता हूँ कि हमारी कांग्रेस को आज misrepresent किया जाता है। यह गलतफहमियाँ इससे बहुत दूर हो जायेंगी। इस लिये हर एक कांग्रेस भक्त का आज यह कर्तव्य है कि हिन्दुस्तान की रक्षा के लिये जैसे वह एक तकली रखता है उसी के साथ वह एक पिस्तौल भी रखे और जैसे वह एक चरखा रखता है उसी के साथ उसको एक मशीनगन (machine gun) भी रखनी चाहिये। सिर्फ इसी तरीके से हम हिन्दुस्तान को बचा सकेंगे। जिस तरीके से काश्मीर में इन्फिल्ट्रेशन (infiltration) हुआ और पाकिस्तान की फौजें वहां आ गयीं इसी तरह का खतरा हमारे सामने भी आ सकता है वहां तो उधर एक कान्सक्रिप्शन ऑर्डिनेन्स (conscription ordinance) लगाया गया है। यहां तो हिन्दुस्तान में हम धारा सभा के रूप में बैठे हुये हैं। मालूम नहीं पाकिस्तान लेजिस्लेचर (Legislature) में कहां तक विश्वास करता है। उनकी कान्स्टीच्यूएंट असेम्बली (Constituent Assembly) कब बैठेगी, किस पद्धति पर चलेगी मालूम नहीं। लेकिन हम तो यहां डेमोक्रेसी (democracy) की पद्धति पर चल रहे हैं। इस लिये हम लोगों को यहां उससे खबरदार रहना चाहिये जो कि पाकिस्तान में हो रहा है। यह जरूरी है कि हिन्दुस्तान का हर एक आदमी हथियार चलाना और जरूरत पर इस्तेमाल करना सीख जाय और ऐसा न हो कि हम बेखबरी में पकड़े जायें। और काश्मीर की तरह यहां इन्फिल्ट्रेशन (infiltration) हो जाय। यह आवश्यक है कि हम अपने देश की रक्षा कर सकें। इस लिये अपने देश की आजादी और डेमोक्रेसी की रक्षा के लिये यह अत्यन्त आवश्यक है कि मिलीशिया बनाई जाय। इतना कह कर मैं इस प्रस्ताव का पूर्ण समर्थन करता हूँ।

(English translation of the above speech)

Shri Gopikrishna Vijayavargiya (Gwalior State): Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the Resolution moved by Dr. Pattabhi. As a matter of fact I personally intended to bring before the House a Resolution of this kind, but I was not able to send it in time. I have stood up now to give my heartiest support to this Resolution regarding the National Militia which has been moved by Dr. Pattabhi.

This thing concerns not only the provinces, but it is also vital to the interests of the people of the states. We want that India should have an Organisation, a Militia, of this type which should impart military training to the civilians so that the defences of our country may be made strong. And this is a question which can brook no further delay. All such undesirable things as have recently happened and are still happening in India can be combated by this militia. This question, therefore, needs as quick a solution as it is important.

It is the people who have freed India from the shackles of slavery, and we must all unite to defend this democratic government against any aggressors. When it is the people who have brought independence to this vast sub-continent, the responsibility of its defence must also be entrusted to them, and the public must be given adequate training for it. By means of laws and Acts, like the 'Arms Act' and others, the British Imperialism had disarmed our men. They had made our country weak and dependent on others. They had injected weakness into our hearts, into our hands and feet, in fact, into every part of our body. If this Assembly and our Government decide today to raise a militia, I am sure, we can, recover our lost strength and vigour, we can become strong, and we can, once again, develop our old self confidence. Over and above that the training imparted by this militia will enable us to make our defences strong; it will enable us to protect the weak and to render service to the society.

Mr. Speaker, recently, referring to the use of Kirpan, in one of his speeches, Mahatma Gandhi told us that this weapon was not meant to murder the innocent; its right use lay in the protection of the unprotected and in the service of humanity. I believe that this is the real duty of a Kshatriya and in this alone lies his respect. When we receive a training of this type, let us also learn to use it for protecting the weak, for safeguarding the society and for defending our country. Writing about the duties of a Kshatriya, Kautilya says in one of his literary works:

“क्षतात्किल त्रायत इत्युदग्रः क्षत्रस्य शब्दो भुवनेषु रूढः ॥”

At another place he says:

“आर्तत्राणाय वः शस्त्रं न प्रहर्तुमनागसि ।”

These two quotations mean that in the protection of the weak and in the service of the society lie the real duties of a Kshatriya. I am referring to it because these days very often we hear about the various organisation of the Kshatriyas. The organisation of the Jats is going on in Bharatpur while the Sikhs are busy organising themselves in Patiala. Rajputs are being organised in Jodhpur, and Alwar is not immune from the fever of this activity. Such communal organisation are springing up almost everywhere. Pakistan is organising one under the name of Muslim National Guards. Hyderabad is also raising a militia under the garb of Muslim Guards. But our militia would be trained not to misuse the arms; our idea would be to protect the society, to quell the disturbances and to defend our country. Arms should be [Shrimati G. Durgabai] whenever it is in danger. Some kind of efforts have been made by some organisations, namely the Hindustan Sevadai, which started giving some kind of training under the organisation of the Congress. Some Universities had also started schemes like the U.T.C. training. The Scout organisation has also sought to impart some kind of training in this direction. But we know what the fate of these organisations was; they were all to prosper and then do their part under a foreign domination. The foreign Government was really afraid of any one of these organisations playing its part well, because they thought that these organisations and the individuals trained under these organisations, might prove dangerous to them any day. Therefore we have instances when these organisations, from time to time, have been declared unlawful and had to be closed down. Now that the conditions are different, now that we have got our independence and our own State, it should consider this as its preliminary duty—to make every man a man and to make every woman a woman.

Now that we have got alarming stories coming from the borders of Kashmir and from the borders of Hyderabad—and I do not know how many more instances of this kind we may have to face—having been reminded of the past and of how the great daughters of India have played their part, now since the times are similar to those, it is all the more our duty to see that we get some kind of training in the use of arms, which is contemplated by this Resolution. I am glad that Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya has brought forward this Resolution which has the support of the whole House—I am sure, not only of the House, but of the country at large; it has support from every quarter in this country. With these words I commend the Resolution for the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Tajamul Hussain (Bihar: Muslim): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot but offer my humble congratulations to Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya for the very important resolution that he has so ably moved. There was an amendment to the effect that there should be compulsory military training. The learned Mover, Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, did not see his way to accept it, and ultimately it was not moved at all. I, Sir, personally would have preferred the amendment to the original resolution, but since there is no amendment I have no alternative but to accept it and I accept it and support it in its entirety.

Now, Sir, this is a resolution which I think every Member in this House accepts and I am sure Government too will accept it. As regards the cost, I think, Sir, this is such an important measure that whatever be the cost, Government should be prepared to meet it. Sir, one of the worst features of the British rule in India for 150 years has been that we had no military training; we became lazy and indolent and in a sense a nation of cowards. Now, Sir, that time has gone; we are now an independent nation; we are as great as any other nation in the world.

It is necessary that there should be compulsory military training and conscription; that everybody from the age of 18 to 21 should be under training. It does not matter to what religion or caste or creed one belongs—after all he is an Indian; it is his duty to defend his country against any foreign country—it does not matter whether that foreign country is Pakistan or any other stan. It is the duty of every Indian to shed his blood and to die for his country. I know, Sir, how in independent countries like England and other countries, everybody came forward to lay down his life to defend his country. In the same way I want my country to be

Now, Sir, what will happen if with this compulsory military training or with a national militia, everybody is trained? Our moral character will develop; we will become a nation which can be proud of her character. As our population is one of the largest in the world—perhaps the second or the third—and as we are in intelligence superior to many other countries, I have no doubt that in times to come, we will become the greatest nation in the world—greater even than Great Britain or the United States of America.

811
RESOLUTION re-ORGANISATION OF A NATIONAL MILITIA

I do not want to speak at length on this motion. There is nothing much to say; this is not a contentious resolution—this is a resolution which has been supported and which will be accepted by the whole House. With these words, Sir, I support the resolution. I would request the Honourable Minister for Defence to accept it wholeheartedly and give us the promise that within a very short time he will see that every Indian is a soldier and is fit and capable to defend his country against any other country. Sir, I support the resolution.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma (U. P.: General): Sir, Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya's motion before the House is just the sort of motion which many of us wanted to move and I am happy that his resolution found the second place in the ballot. The fundamental question before us all is how shall we protect the Revolution which we have been instrumental in bringing into being? Every one of us who has read anything about the history of revolutions in various countries in the world knows that invariably revolutions bring in their trail tendencies of counter-revolution. The French Revolution brought counter-revolutionary tendencies with it. The German Revolution brought the seeds of Nazism with it. The Russian Revolution also brought counter-revolutionary tendencies along with it. In the countries where those who had worked for the revolution were wide awake, their efforts were not nullified by counter-revolutionary forces, but in the countries where the makers of revolution were not alert, their revolution was swamped by counter-revolution. The same tendency is visible in our country today. Only yesterday the Finance Minister of India, while referring to the causes that led to the independence of the country, studiously avoided mentioning any part which the nationals of this country had played in bringing about this happy end to our efforts. He mentioned only the international developments and the supreme spirit of self-abnegation by the Britishers as the two causes which brought about Indian independence. It is useless to join issues with a Finance Minister who has perhaps very little acumen to understand political developments in the country, but anybody who scans over the pages of Indian history for the last 25 or 30 years, will not fail to see the immense amount of effort which was put in by the Congress organisation under the inspiring leadership of Mahatma Gandhi to achieve Indian independence.

When we have achieved independence, we are seeing before our very eyes forces of reaction rearing their heads in various forms and in various ways. It is therefore necessary that we should take heed befitting. A trite saying has often been quoted: "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty", but, Sir, though the saying be trite yet it cannot be repeated too often. If the Indian nation today appears to think that all is well with the world and that Lord God is in his Heaven, well, I think we shall come to grief. We have to keep eternal vigilance in order to protect our freedom, and how can we do it unless we make every son and every daughter of India strong enough and fit enough to defend the freedom of the country. Dr. Pattabhi's Resolution is a step in that direction. Long before it came before this House, various provincial governments had launched upon schemes of creating Home Guard organisations, but as I pointed out in a supplementary question, difficulties are being experienced. The Defence Department for many days could not see their way to provide arms—ordinary rifles—for our Home Guards. At long last in my province, the requirements have been satisfied and we are going ahead with our organisation. Most of the members of the House must know that there is a scheme before us in the United Provinces whereby we shall be in a position to create as many as 12 lakh volunteers whom we shall give military training and they will be at the beck and call of the Central Government whenever a national crisis arises.

[Pandit Balkrishna Sharma]

It is just possible, Sir, that when we are discussing this Resolution, somebody may twit us by the remark "What has happened to your non-violence after all?" And somebody else might as well ask "Are you all of a sudden turning yourself into a bellicose nation?" I respectfully beg to submit—that neither we have given a go-by to non-violence nor are we turning India into a bellicose nation overnight. Even while passing this Resolution, even while we are wholeheartedly supporting this Resolution, let it be clearly understood that in no way are we against disarmament. In no way are we against collective security. In no way are we giving a go-by to our cherished principle of non-violence. What we are doing today is that we are courageously facing a reality which has become too obnoxious. What we are doing today is that we are not permitting ourselves to be entwined into ideological cobwebs so that whenever a critical situation arises in the country, we may be found wanting. That is all we are doing, but as a previous speaker has said, the amount of strength that we thus will be in a position to gather and the capacity that we will acquire to defend ourselves will never be used for aggressive purposes. India traditionally has never believed in oppression. Even though she has been a prey of aggressions for centuries on end, she has never thought of marching her armies, her hordes, against any of her neighbours. So, while we are passing this Resolution, I want the Pakistan Government to understand that it is not in a spirit of war-mongering that we are passing this Resolution. We are only trying to create a nation of strong men and strong women and nothing more. Let nobody outside the House understand the aim and object of this Resolution of Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya to be any other.

Sir, I do not know when that happy time will come when men will begin to believe in that great and noble principle which 2,500 years was preached in this land.

अक्रोधिन् जयति क्रोधम

"Anger should be conquered by non-anger". I do not know when the world will actually realize and will be in a position to act up to this principle. More than once I have stated that today, constituted as we are, it is impossible for us to accept in toto the principle of non-violence. Perhaps at the stage of evolution at which human society today finds itself, acceptance of non-violence in every form is a difficult thing, and therefore some sort of preparation to meet the violence of the aggressor is necessary and it is in that spirit that we are offering our wholehearted support to the Resolution of my Honourable friend, Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya.

पण्डित ठाकुरदास भार्गव : माननीय स्पीकर साहब, इस रेवोल्यूशनरी रेजोल्यूशन (Revolutionary) Resolution के बारे में डाक्टर पट्टाभि साहब को अपनी दिली मुबारक बाद पेश करता हूँ डाक्टर पट्टाभि साहब हमारे देश के नेशन बिल्डर्स (nation-builders) की उस लाईन में से हैं, जो निहायत प्रोमिनेंट (prominent) हैं और कोई ताज्जुब की बात नहीं है कि उन्होंने इस मौके पर इस देश पर बड़ा भारी अहसान इस रेजोल्यूशन को पेश करके किया है।

जनाब ने बहुत सी तकरीर इस रेजोल्यूशन के बारे में सुन ली हैं। मैं उन सब बातों को दोहराना नहीं चाहता, लेकिन जिस नुस्खे खयाल से मैं इस रेजोल्यूशन की तार्ईद करता हूँ और इस रेजोल्यूशनको वेलकम (welcome) करता हूँ। इसके सम्बन्धमें इशारतन दलील पेश की जा चुकी है, लेकिन मैं एक नये पैराये से उसको पेश करना चाहता हूँ। आज तक हजारहा

[वर्ष से हिन्दुस्तान में जो असूल काम करता रहा है और जो सिविलाइजेशन (Civilization) रही है, वह बहुत अरसे दराज से कास्टसिस्टम (Caste System) की बेसिस (basis) पर रही है अगर मुसलमानों ने दसवीं सदी में हिन्दुस्तान पर हमला किया, तो उस वक्त बहुत से क्षत्री देशभक्तों ने अपने देश के वास्ते अपनी जानें कुरबान की दूसरी जातियों ने नहीं। जब से ब्रिटिश गवर्नमेंट आई, तब भी हमने देखा कि इस मुल्क पर राज्य करने के वास्ते उन्होंने सोसायटी (society) को मार्शल (martial) और नान-मार्शल (non-martial) जातियों में बांट दिया और काश्तकार और गैर-काश्तकार की तमीज खड़ी कर दी। इस तरह से सोसायटी के टुकड़े टुकड़े कर दिये। सोसायटी में इस तरीके से काम बंट गया कि किसी को व्यापार मिला, किसी को खिदमत का काम मिला और जाति की बुनियाद पक्की हो गई। आज जो कि कान्स्टीच्यूएंट असेम्बली ने ओब्जेक्टिव रेजोल्यूशन (objective resolution) मंजूर कर लिया है जो हमारे प्राइमिनिस्टर (Prime Minister) ने पेश किया था और जिसका ध्येय अनडाइल्यूटेड डेमोक्रेसी (undiluted democracy) है हर एक आदमी को खाह वह किसी जाति का हो, एक सा हक देता है। बिल्कुल आज हम उस असूल का एक्सप्रेशन (expression) इस रेजोल्यूशन के जरिये देखते हैं, जिसकी रूह से हर एक शख्स चाहे वह चमार हो, क्षत्री हो, वैश्य हो, सिक्ख हो, अकाली हो, सनातन-धर्मी हो, मुसलमान हो, पारसी हो, हर एक आदमी को दावत दी जाती है कि वह इस देश के वास्ते कुरबानी करे। और फौजी खिदमत में हिस्सा लेवे। आज सुबह ही अखबार में देखा कि हमारे प्राइम मिनिस्टर सीहब ने ईस्ट पंजाब गवर्नमेंट (East Punjab Government) को एक डाइरेक्टिव (directive) भेजा है कि अकाली दल, राष्ट्र सेवा संघ तथा और कम्यूनल लाइन्ज (Communal lines) पर आर्गनाइज्ड (organised) की हुई फौजें डिस्बैंड (disband) कर दी जायें। उस वक्त जब मैंने रेजोल्यूशन की तरफ देखा और उस खबर की तरफ ध्यान किया तो मैंने एक ही ख्याल के दो फेसेट्स (facets) देखे। एक तरफ यह ताकीद थी कि जितनी कम्यूनल संस्थाएँ हैं उनके जितने आर्मी बैंड्स (army bands) हैं, उनको खत्म किया जाय और दूसरी तरफ यह प्रस्ताव। असल में वह डाइरेक्टिव उनको दावत थी कि अब कम्यूनल बातों को छोड़ कर आप अपने देश की आजादी की रक्षा के लिये अपनी एक नेशनल मिलीशिया आर्गनाइज करें जिसमें सबके हक बराबर हैं और जिस पर महात्मा गांधी का वह क्लासलेस सोसाइटी ड्रीम (Classless Society) (dream) जिसके अन्दर सब कौमों एक सा हक रखेंगी जल्द से जल्द हमको कार्य रूप में परिणत करना नसीब होगा। मैं आम तौर पर और साफ तौर पर अपने दोस्तों को बतलाया करता हूँ कि मैं हर एक कौम का सेवक हूँ, लेकिन मैं इज्म (ism) का एक बड़ा भारी दुश्मन हूँ। जाटिज्म, सिक्खिज्म और बुनियाद इज्म, ब्राह्मनिज्म, यह एक ऐसा हलाहल जहर है जो हमारे देश की हर एक कौम के अन्दर चला गया है।

असलियत यह है कि हमारी सृष्टि में यह चीज दाखिल हो गई है कि हर एक सवाल को चाहे वह इकोनोमिक (economic) हो, पोलिटिकल (political) हो, इस नुस्ते

[पण्डित ठाकुर दास भार्गव]

खयाल से देखते हैं कि वह हमारे खास सम्प्रदाय और जाति विशेष पर क्या असर रखता है। यह रेजोल्यूशन उस खयाल पर काफी ज़बर्दगामी और आइन्दा के वास्ते देश के अन्दर जितने ऐसे दल और संस्थाएँ हैं, उनको सीधे रास्ते पर ले आवेगा। लफ्ज फकत मिलीशिया की बजाय नेशनल मिलीशिया इस्तमाल किया गया है।

दूसरी भलाई जो मैं इस प्रस्ताव में देखता हूँ वह यह है कि पिछले ५-६ महीनों में इतने अत्याचार हुये जिनका कोई ठिकाना नहीं, देश के अन्दर निहत्थे आदमियों और औरतों वच्चों पर जुल्म दिये गये, उनको बेदरदी से कतल कर दिया। हमें सबसे पहले देश के अन्दर से इस बुजदिली की भावना को हटाना है जो इस सारे हत्याकांड की जिम्मेवार है।

मैं चाहता हूँ कि कोई शख्स अगर किसी शख्स को मारने के लिये आये, किसी पर हमला करे, तो वह अपनी जान चुपचाप न दे दे और बेचारगी महसूस न करे। सन १८६० में जब 'इण्डियन पीनल कोड' (Indian Penal Code) बनाया गया उस वक्त 'इण्डियन पीनल कोड' बनाने वालों ने उसमें 'सेल्फ डिफेन्स' (Self defence) के सेक्शन (Section) रखे और साफ तौर से बयान किया कि उसमें कुछ मामूली से ज्यादा रक्षा करने के सेक्शन्स इस देश के लिये रखते हैं क्योंकि यहां के लोग अपने आप लूट मार को मारधाड़ से नहीं बचा सकते और डरपोकपने से अत्याचार का मुकाबला नहीं करते। मैं नहीं जानता कि ऐसे सेक्शन्स क्यों रखे जब कि ब्रिटिश सरकार की सारी पालिसी लोगों को हर तरह से कमजोर करने के, बुजदिल बनाने के वास्ते थी। लेकिन शायद जिन्होंने यह कानून बनाया था, उनके दिमाग में यह पालिसी न थी।

मैं आज इस रेजोल्यूशन के अन्दर ऐसी फिजा देखता हूँ कि जिसकी रू से व्यक्तिगत तरीके से हर एक आदमी बहादुरी हासिल करेगा, हर एक आदमी उस किस्म का बन जायगा जिसके अन्दर हर वक्त हर तरह से लूटमार से बेखोफी होगी और मुकाबले का उत्साह होगा और खतरे से न सिर्फ अपने आपको बचा सकेगा बल्कि सभी निहत्थों को बचा सकेगा। इस प्रस्ताव पर अमल करने से हमारा जो स्पैन जिन्दगी (Span of life—२३ साल का है वह जरूर लम्बा हो जावेगा और फौजी डिसिपलन (discipline की वजह से हमारी तन्दुरुस्ती व करेक्टर Character) पर बहुत अच्छा असर पड़ेगा। जो बहादुरी की मिसालें हम 'मार्शल क्लासेज' (martial class) के लिये सुनते आये हैं वह हिन्दुस्तान में सब जगह सब कौमों में मिल सकेंगी। हमारी आज तक जितनी फौजें योरोप में गई हैं उनकी बहुत सी तारीफें हम अपने मास्टर्स (masters) यानी अंग्रेजों से सुनते रहे हैं लेकिन आयन्दा जो इस हिन्दुस्तान देश के सिपाही अपने देश की खातिर लड़ेंगे वह बहादुरी के ऐसे काम करेंगे कि जिसके अन्दर जापान की जो पिछली दुर्ग दुफा कथाएँ हम सुनते आये थे वह सब मंद पड़ जावेंगी और उससे कई दर्जा ज्यादा हिन्दुस्तान की कथाएँ दुनिया में प्रचलित हो जावेंगी।

मुझे कोई शक नहीं है कि यह रेजोल्यूशन हमारे देश के लिये अति लाभदायक है और मैं इसकी जोर से तार्द करता हूँ।

(English translation of the above speech)

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker, I heartily congratulate Dr. Pattabhi on this revolutionary resolution; Dr. Pattabhi belongs to that line of nation-builders of our country, which is very prominent and there is no surprise that by presenting this resolution at this time he has obliged the country very much.

You have already listened to a number of speeches on this resolution. I do not want to repeat what has been said before, but I desire to place the point of view with which I support and welcome this resolution, in a different way, before the House, than as a mere allusion of it in our arguments. The principle, we have been following in India for the last thousands of years and the civilisation we have had, were based on the caste system. In the tenth century when India was attacked by Mohammadans, many devoted Kshatriyas only and people of no other caste, sacrificed their lives for the sake of their motherland! When the British came into power we saw, that they divided our society into martial and non-martial races, to rule over the country. They also made a distinction between agriculturists and non-agriculturists. Thus they split up our society into different groups. One group of the society took to business, another was allotted service, and thus the roots of the caste system were strengthened. The objective resolution which was passed by the Constituent Assembly and which was presented by the Honourable Prime Minister, aims at undiluted democracy and provides equal rights for all, irrespective of their caste or creed. We find, in this resolution, the expression of that principle which invites every individual whether he is a Chamar, Kshatriya, Vaishya, Sikh, Akali, Sanatan Dharmi, Muslim, or a Parsi to make sacrifice for the love of this country and join the military services. We also saw in the papers this morning that our Honourable Prime Minister has sent a directive to the Government of the East Punjab directing them to disband the Akali-Dal, the Rashtriya Sevak Sangh, and other military bands organised on communal lines. As I reflected on the resolution and thought of the news I had read, I found the same thing appearing in two ways. On the one hand it was desired to ban the army bands of all the Communal Organisation, while on the other it was the resolution itself. In fact, this directive was a signal for them to give up all communal prejudices and to form a National Militia, in which all have equal rights and which will protect the freedom of the country. With the foundation of that militia we shall have very soon, obtained the objective of Mahatma Gandhi, in a practical shape, viz., his dream of a classless society in which all castes have equal rights. I generally and specially tell my friends that I am a servant of all classes and sections, but I am an enemy of "ism". Names such as Jatism, Sikhism, Baniaism, Bhahmanism, are like a deadly poison and have penetrated our classes. In fact, it has become our nature to see every problem, whether it is economic or political, from the point of finding its effect on our particular community or class. This resolution will dispell all such narrow thinking and will bring them in line with one another. The difference lies in the word which will be used viz., the word National Militia has been adopted instead of bare militia. The second thing that we gain by this resolution is this that during the last five or six months there was so much of blood-shed and oppression in the country that men, women and even innocent children were subjected to enormous atrocities and were mercilessly killed. We have to remove the weakness first of all which was behind all this, the weakness which is responsible for this chapter of murder and loot in our country. I wish if a man is attacked he should not die the death of a coward; he must have courage and should not feel helpless. When in 1890, the Indian Penal Code was being prepared and when some sections of Self defence were being included in the Code it was clearly stated by the compilers that they were including some sections for special defence since the people of this country are unable to defend themselves and do not offer any resistance against oppression through their weakness. I cannot understand why these sections were kept there when the policy of the British Government was only to make people weak and timid. May be that the people who were compiling the Code had not that policy in their mind.

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

Further, in this resolution, I find that spirit, which will make people brave individually and no man will have any fear of loot or murder. Thus he will not only be able to save his life from danger but will be able to protect those who are helpless and poor.

Moreover, by following the resolution in a practical way our "Span of Life" which is now of 23 years will also increase. The military training will also have a very good effect on our health and character. Examples of chivalry that we have known and heard about the martial races of other countries will be found everywhere in this country. So far we had heard only our masters, the Britishers, praise our forces for their gallant part overseas but henceforth our forces will fight for the cause of their own country and will set such glowing examples of bravery as all the best examples of Japan that we hear will fall short, and examples of Indian Chivalry will be heard instead all over the world.

I have the least doubt of the usefulness of this resolution for this country, and I fully support it.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Sir, I do not wish to record a silent vote on this Resolution. My Honourable friend Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya has not moved it a day too soon. The need for a National Militia is recognised by all sections of this House. From the speeches that have been delivered up to this time, we see that there is not one who has expressed any kind of dissent whatsoever to this Resolution. My object in getting up is to give support to it from a particular point of view. My Honourable friend Mr. Thakur Das Bhargava has partially touched the aspect which I wanted to speak of. I think the duties that any man is expected to perform fall under four categories,—intellectual, martial, economic and manual. In the past Hindu society used to allocate each one of these duties to a separate set of people, and in that way Varnashrama came into existence. It might have served a useful purpose at that time; but the history of India during the last two thousand years and more has shown that that order of things has perhaps outlived its utility and a radical change is now necessary. In my view this allocation of special duties to a different class of people, leaving one class indifferent to the duties of another class, creates a dangerous situation, and we sometimes find ourselves unable to meet an emergency or a grave situation. The result is that we succumb. That is what has happened in India. That is one of the reasons which can account for the prolonged state of captivity of India under the domination of different people. If we have to get over that there is no other way of meeting it. In fact this four-fold classification of duties is a permanent thing in this world. But if we find that the allotment of one of these duties to an individual or a set of people has not tended to create stability and continuous march of progress in the country but on the other hand has created serious difficulties and even danger, we must revise our methods. And one of the ways of revising it is that each man should be capable of performing all or any of these fourfold duties. I look upon this Resolution from that point of view. No man should be merely an intellectual or economic or manual or martial worker. Each man should be capable of performing any of these duties as occasion demands. Unless that is done a man's education should not be considered as complete. I consider a man's education as complete when it enables him to perform all these four-fold duties efficiently when he is called upon to perform it. If he fails to perform any of these duties to that extent his education is defective and so it requires to be supplemented. I regard this Resolution as starting a new epoch of education in this country by calling upon people to learn the most important duty of a citizen, namely, to be a soldier. No one can be a proper citizen unless he is a soldier also. So the Resolution in my opinion gives an opportunity to the country to open a new leaf in the pursuit of education. The creation of a national militia will not bring into existence a large force of people with a martial spirit but it opens a new school for the complete education of the people of India. I therefore regard this as an epoch-making Resolution and the beginning of a very important and new phase in the progress of our country.

Sir, there is one point to which I wish to refer. One of my Honourable friends for whom I have very great respect made in his eloquent speech an unfortunate reference to the Finance Minister. He took certain passages from his speech and tried to show that on that bench he represents something in the nature of a reactionary element that is raising its head. I do not know what justification there was for making that statement, but I have no hesitation in saying most emphatically that it was a most improper occasion for him to make that reference. He could have ample opportunity for that in the budget debate when the Finance Minister also could have given him a proper reply.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: Sir, on a point of personal explanation, when I said that reactionary elements were rearing their heads here it did not necessarily mean that I was directing my remarks against the Finance Minister. If my Honourable friend Mr. Aney thinks so he is wholly wrong.

Shri M. S. Aney: I am glad to hear it. I thought it my duty to tell him what impression was created on certain parts of the House; and I am happy to find that nothing was meant against the Finance Minister.

Sir, this is a Resolution which does not require a long speech to support it. I hope it will be carried unanimously.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (West Bengal: General): Sir, I am deeply grateful to you for giving me this opportunity at long last of speaking in this session, particularly on this memorable occasion when a prominent leader of the Indian National Congress has, on behalf of the whole country, brought forward a motion for voluntary, militarisation of India. I call it a memorable occasion in more senses than one, for it is the first occasion in the history of the Indian legislature when such a measure has been brought forward for consideration. Speaking today, I am reminded of a somewhat similar occasion more than a decade ago, when in Simla we had a very much milder Resolution on the subject. We only requested the Government of the day to abolish the invidious distinction between martial and non-martial classes then prevalent in the army, and we requested them to throw open the ranks of the army to all provinces and classes of people. I realise today the difference in the atmosphere, then and now. On that day half a dozen speakers were put up, after I spoke to undo the so-called mischievous effect of my speech, which was in their opinion calculated to foster indiscipline and insubordination in the ranks of the army. Today it is a pleasant thing to see that Honourable friends from different parts of the country have stood up in support of the Resolution, which is the need of the hour.

Sir, my Honourable friend, Dr. Pattabhi, the Mover, has, in his beautiful speech, detailed his own reasons for the raising of a national militia in this country. I do not think the grounds he put forward can be challenged by any one,—not even by those who are conscientious objectors and do not believe in the cult of warfare. But there are certain things to be considered by the National Government that is now in the saddle. I am told this Government is going to accept this resolution. But what does the acceptance mean?

[Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra]

Does it simply mean that the Honourable the Defence Minister will stand up and say, "Yes, we are in full sympathy with this resolution but our hands are full. So many things have to be done. We will do all that is humanly possible in the circumstances."? If such a reply is forthcoming, I shall be very much discouraged, and I am sure the House will receive his speech with profound disappointment. I am giving him this warning. He is a lovable personality. But let him not be misled. Let him stand up here and now and tell us that he has up his sleeve a scheme which will go to implement the resolution immediately, within a month of its acceptance.

I am told, Sir, that the Government is now over-burdened with all manner of things. I agree. But next to the question of rehabilitation of the unfortunate refugees of the Punjab and of other people who have been uprooted from their homelands, this matter should have the highest of all priorities. If you want to be spared further worries with regard to rehabilitation and relief on a much larger scale than at present, then you should have no complacency now. Therefore, what is proposed is more a preventive than a remedial measure. Sir, I can well anticipate the objections that will be trotted out: "Where is the requisite personnel for giving the necessary training? Where is the equipment?" There will be so many difficulties to train men in this art of self-defence on such a gigantic scale, so on and so forth. But, Sir, I want to remind my Honourable friend that he who excuses himself too much accuses himself. After the cessation of hostilities in 1945, there was such a tremendous upsurge—I mean national upsurge—in the country particularly among the young people—when the I.N.A. trials started in this country—that if the Government of those days had not really understood and grasped the significance of that tremendous upheaval, they would not have come down on their knees as they did before they left this country. Do you now want this emotional upsurge to be frittered away in simple volunteer organisations, such as Hindu Sevak Sanghs, Home Brigades or Peace Brigades, or this or that? You must have a well-planned drive for educating the people of this country to carry arms, to use them for self-defence and, if necessary, for attack. I am not merely concerned with 'defence' business. I am also in favour of offensive, if need be, for armed preparedness, and armed offensive is sometimes the best form of defence. You may ask: Where are you to get the funds and arms? The normal size of the army used to be 260,000 of which 60,000 were Britishers, which was reduced before the war. Of this, 200,000 were Indian personnel. Now by the end of this year we shall be able to eliminate the British troops. So we shall effect substantial savings on that account. We can utilize this huge savings for this purpose.

Mr. Speaker: May I request the Honourable Member to address the Chair?

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: I am sorry. I was feeling the glare in front of me. I did not mean any offence to you.

With regard to training and personnel, may I tell my Honourable friend that there are thousands of I.N.A. officers at large. Government has not yet any clear definite policy about them. Many of them can be excellent trainers. Their services can be procured. If there is any technical difficulty in their recognition and in taking them back in the army for the reasons that they will have to be treated as prisoners of war, I may say that given this opportunity, these I.N.A. people would forego their demands and volunteer their services and give excellent training to our young men and women.

Now comes the question of arms. I know it is a terrific problem. At the moment, arms are in short supply and there is very great want. Go to any shop in a town or city and you will see that you cannot have a gun or rifle for less than Rs. 1,500 to Rs. 1,600. Then how is it possible to have national military training unless you have firearms? Are you going to do it with small daggers, knives, dandas and lathis? I want to know from the Defence Minister whether he has closed down the Ordnance Factories that had been brought into being during the last war. What are they doing? Are they functioning? Are they producing armaments? If not, cannot they be re-conditioned and made to produce small arms in abundance which would also be cheap and within the easy reach of people? Unless in this country you can buy arms at Rs. 50 or Rs. 60, all talk of militarisation or national militia will be bunkum,—mere idle talk. At the moment I am told that the Cossipore Gun Shell Factory, the Ishapur Rifles Factory, have practically closed down. Nothing is being manufactured. Everyday you will read in the newspapers three or four reports from different places where you find huge hauls of firearms. I am left wondering where these people get these Bren guns, Sten guns etc., whereas we civilians cannot get any guns in any shop? The position is that there are disposals departments of the Government of India which we thought were simply disposing of useless material. But they have very valuable war material. I would request the Defence Minister to stop this business immediately and to salvage and rescue as many firearms as possible, so that they may be made available for training our youngmen.

Now as regards my province of West Bengal, which has now been reduced to a-third of its original size, thanks to the Radcliffe Award, it forms the boundary of the Indian Union on one side. Now on either side of the border line between West Bengal and Eastern Pakistan, there is a huge belt of population which is not very friendly, if not positively hostile, to the Indian Union. In this area we have not got any effective arrangements for defence or for safeguarding all this boundary line. My friend, Mr. Baldev Singh, has not enough of troops to spare. He has many a call on him.—Kashmir, Jammu, Junagadh, Tripura, and what not, wherever my Pakistan friends want to create trouble. What is necessary, at the moment, for us to realise is that he cannot go on indefinitely sending troops everywhere on the scale that he is doing. Therefore, we should have a second line prepared. The second line should be this national militia, for which this resolution has been tabled. With regard to equipment, in Bengal, there are several military organisations such as the Frontier Rifles, the East Indian Railway Auxiliary Force, the Bengal Nagpur Railway Auxiliary Force and such like. (Some Honourable Members: "They have been disbanded".) They have already been disbanded? Then where have all their equipment and arms gone? Have they gone to Pakistan?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: To the Ordnance depots.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Thank you very much. Then, you may be sure, they have been smuggled. Then I am afraid they have been smuggled away either to Karachi, Lahore or to Hyderabad. I am not in a jesting mood: I am very serious, because I feel there are fifth columnists at work around us. Sir, I live on the border. I have seen with my eyes the day to day miseries that are being inflicted on our people who have been running away from the districts of Eastern Bengal. I know the threatening attitude which the people on the Eastern frontier and Eastern Pakistan continue to maintain and we have no defence against it. Hence we feel the utmost necessity for a well-trained militia in every province. If the Government at the Centre send a directive to all the provincial governments immediately to the effect that they should organise their own militia and the Government of India would give the necessary help, I am sure such a force will soon come into existence. Within the next two or three months the Budget sessions of most of the provincial assemblies would be held and they would also make some provincial contributions for this purpose under Central direction and guidance. I hope my Honourable friend the Finance Minister will not grudge a few additional crores for this purpose in the initial stages. I would also suggest to the Honourable Defence Minister that if at the moment he is not in a position to supply the arms, I mean small arms,—not machine guns, trench mortars, flame throwers and things of that sort,—but ordinary double-barrelled guns, pistols and rifles, he should at once get into contact with foreign countries and see that a sufficient quantity of arms of these categories is imported for this purpose. I feel that if the Indian Ordnance factories are made to work full blast they can give the necessary equipment in a short time. My information from different quarters is that they are practically idle now. I have got several questions on the subject. Some of them have not been reached, and others are pending. I do not know what the reply would be. But I have drawn the attention of the Honourable Defence Minister particularly to this point.

[Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra]

When we talk of a militia it does not mean that we should simply have a land force. In every province there are air fields which were brought into existence during the last war. They should be renovated and brought into working order. They should be kept in such a condition that they can be easily or immediately put into use as soon as any emergency arises.

It is a constant complaint in these days that with the advent of freedom after long bondage, there has followed a sphere of irregular activities, of lawlessness, restlessness and exuberance of animal spirits among our youngmen. I do realise that and appreciate it. But what is the remedy? The remedy is not to penalise the restlessness of those people but to canalise it into positive and constructive channels like this military training. That will give them sound training in discipline. You can begin at once with the top classes of educational institutions. You can compel the colleges and the educational institutions and I am sure a sufficient number will forthwith volunteer. I would suggest to the Honourable Defence Minister that he should take positive steps in this direction. He should make the policy of the Government clear in this respect. Besides, there are dozens of military establishments in different parts of India, which are gradually getting dilapidated by disuse. They are becoming ruins. There is a big one near Kancharapara, another at Krishnagar. These are important strategic points. My Honourable friend Dr. Matthai seems to have decided not to establish the Locomotive factory near the Kancharapara workshop. These are places which are being neglected. I want the authorities to pay serious attention to them. I would be willing to give my Honourable friend a lot of details about the location of these aerodromes, air fields, and other military installations in different parts of my province. Meanwhile I would request my Honourable friend to have a thorough investigation into the whole matter and make a clear and unequivocal declaration of the policy of the Government in this matter as to what practical steps the Government is going to take. I should think my Honourable friend Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya for giving this House this opportunity. I was personally thinking of tabling such a motion but had I sent it from Calcutta, in these days of postal delays the motion would not have reached Delhi in a fortnight. This resolution should receive its due weight from the Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh. I am anxiously awaiting his reply. I hope it will not be in the usual way "every thing humanly possible is being done." Let it be inhuman but let something be done to make possible what is otherwise impossible. Please do something at this crisis. The whole India looks up to the Central Government at this crucial hour. If yesterday, all could vote for a Wages Bill of 22 crores in the shape of implementation of the Pay Commission's recommendations, is there anyone in this House who would grudge 25 crores for a scheme of practical military training of our youngmen? I am sure not a single member would object to it. We are prepared to vote the money provided the Government show sufficient determination. Nothing can be more useful and profitable than this expenditure on the military training of our people, as by this they will be able to defend the honour of themselves, their women folk and their country. Sir, I support the Resolution with all my heart.

Pandit Govind Malaviya (U.P.: General): Sir, I rise to support the resolution and the appeal, which has been made by my Honourable friend who preceded me, to the Honourable the Defence Minister. This is a question on which India has been agitating with one voice for several decades that we should have a national militia in this land. I am happy that we are now under changed circumstances and I hope that the Government today will do the needful with regard to the resolution which has been so ably moved by my Honourable friend and leader Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya.

Sir, the resolution has referred to the need of the defence of the country, maintenance of law and order, self-defence and removing of fear from the minds of the people. All these are very important things: but I submit that it is not necessary only for these reasons, but it is necessary for the entire future of this country, for the success of its government and for the well-being of our people that we should do something on the lines of the resolution which is before us today. It is well known that in no country is any progress or life possible without a proper arrangement for defence. Therefore there are large standing armies in every country which are maintained at whatever may be the cost, so that the people may be able to live and progress in peace and tranquillity. Similarly it is necessary that we also should have a suitable standing army not for any conquest but for the peace and tranquillity and safety of our land. We have one. It is quite large. But who can say with all the experience that we have had even in these few months that it is sufficient for our purposes? What are we then to do? Are we going to increase that army? During the last 200 years we have been exploited; we have been ruined; the country has been bled white in every direction. We have therefore today to think of the rehabilitation of our life in every sphere. We have to think of development, we have to think of providing these things which are essential to make the country live and to grow. All that means money. We listened only last night to the Finance Minister's Budget as to what huge amounts we have to provide for our military budget even today. I do not know from where we will get all that money. On the contrary if we do not provide it, we may have no peace, and no tranquillity and therefore we may have no progress and no prosperity. Therefore the only course for us to adopt is that while we should make the fullest provision for defence we should have to pay as little for it as possible. The basis of all military organisation, the scientific basis of all armies in every country is that their standing army should be reduced to the lowest possible level, so that expenditure on the army which is so essential and yet expenditure which is so totally unproductive, should be brought down to the very minimum possible. Yet there should be provision within the machinery of that army and the defence scheme of the country for a rapid, immediate and efficient expansion of the army to whatever limits may be required at any time of emergency. That is the system of armies in all modern countries which have to think of making their budgets meet their requirements. Similarly, we should also do so in this country. For long we have been talking of a second line of defence and of a national militia. It is time for us now to act on those lines. Even the British Government in India had a reserve militia in the past. They improved upon its constitution and made big provisions for it. They did all that in order that they should be able to have a reserve upon which they might fall back in times of need. Today our need is greater. Therefore I submit that the Government should take immediate steps and appoint a Committee to go into the whole question and prepare a defence scheme for the country in which our standing army should be reduced to the minimum possible. Our expenditure on the army should be brought down as low as may be consistent with the requirements of safety of the country, and yet we should have a second line of reserve. We should have compulsory military training in all schools and colleges to begin with. We may extend it as soon as we might to all the eligible sections of the population, so that, having received that training at low cost if this resolution is carried into effect, as Pandit Maitra has insisted, if it is really given effect to, then the virus which has poisoned our life so long will largely and quickly be eliminated.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

Then the Militia has another importance. A large standing army in peace time should be too costly and therefore would be ruled out. In these circumstances a Militia should be raised which, in times of war, can take the place of the regular army, and therefore, for that reason also I support the resolution.

Then, if the United Nations' Organization comes into effect, if they are in a position to implement their resolutions, then they will have an international army and they will call for quotas and India will be asked to contribute her quota of man power. Where would you get a sufficient quota unless you trained young men from now on?

Therefore, judging the matter from every angle, it seems that the resolution should be accepted, and what is more important, should be actually given effect to.

Then, along with this militarization of our young men, there should be the development of armament industry. That must go hand in hand with the militarization of our country. That would solve largely the question of unemployment, and also, as I have already suggested, cure much of the communal misunderstanding and bitterness among the various communities. So from every conceivable point of view I think the whole House should not only accept it, but press the Honourable Minister for Defence for actually giving effect to it, and as Pandit Maitra has pointed out, the entire House as well as, I believe, people outside this House will support him in any expenditure which the real and proper acceptance of this resolution will entail. With these few words I support the resolution.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh (Minister for Defence): Sir, I am very glad that Dr. Pattabhi has moved this resolution as it gives me an opportunity to explain the present position. All of us had expected that after the division of the country we would have peace, and would go ahead with our constructive programmes. Unfortunately due to the communal disturbances, we had to face a problem which the world had not seen before. Unfortunate occurrences of communal nature, steps taken in our neighbouring country, and the cowardly attack on Kashmir upset all our plans and raised doubts in the youth of the country and the public began to fear that the Government was sitting quiet and doing nothing. It is, Sir, I think this fear that is in the mind of the public. Dr. Pattabhi in moving this resolution wants to bring to the notice of Government that we should do all we can to train the youth of this country and to get ready to protect it from any aggression.

Before I go ahead, Sir, with some of the criticisms that have been made and the points that have been raised by other Honourable Members, I wish to make it clear that we are perfectly alive to our responsibilities. I can tell the House not as a mere formality but sincerely that we shall protect the honour of this country by all possible means. The days when the Members from these seats used to give false hopes and evasive replies have gone. We are responsible to the legislature and through this legislature to the country. Bearing this in view we have to share our responsibility with the House.

Sir, before I tell the House what my views are about this resolution, I want to put before you certain facts which we have to bear in mind. In the last Budget session when we discussed the military expenditure, as the House will remember, the total strength of the army was fixed at 2,80,000, and the total expenditure that we had to incur on all our Armed Forces was Rs. 107 crores. Now, after the division, and after taking out the Pakistan share from the Indian Armed Forces, the total strength of the army that we have is between 2,60,000 and 2,70,000. That means the expenditure on the Armed Forces that we have at present is bound to be much more than what we had originally anticipated. I do not wish to minimise the importance of maintaining the present strength of the Army; and the House already knows that the Government has decided not to reduce it. I think this is a right decision in present uncertain circumstances when it is not possible for us to take risks. Although I personally feel that we have nothing to be afraid of, we have just attained our freedom, we have just got rid of the foreign rule after 150 years or more, we must take every precaution that our country remains safe from any kind of danger. It is for this reason that we have agreed to maintain the present strength of the Army, and this is far in excess of what the finances of this country can afford.

Some Honourable Members have stressed the desirability of having Home Guards. Home Guards organisation is the second line of defence and it is also necessary. But that is not a Central responsibility; it is the responsibility of Provincial Governments. All that the Central Government is required to do is to provide officers for the training of Home Guards and also make available the requisite arms. My friend Mr. Maitra pointed out that there was delay in the supply of arms to the Provincial Governments. May I point out that up till the 30th of this month the distribution or supply of arms does not rest in our hands? As the House will remember, according to the decision of the Partition Council, Ordnance Factories and Ordnance Depots were under the joint control of both Pakistan and India. That is why there was delay in the supply of arms. I am glad to say however that whatever demands were made on us by the Provincial Governments have all been met by now.

Sir, Mr. Maitra also asked about the Ordnance Factories. He wanted to know what had happened to them. The Ordnance Factories will be under the joint control of Pakistan and the Government of India up to the end of this month. Only yesterday it was agreed that from the 1st of December the Ordnance Factories and the Ordnance Depots will pass under the administrative control of the Government of India.

As regards the manufacture of arms, we have a scheme which I am discussing with my colleagues. The scheme is not only that these Factories should work in full swing but that we should make India self-supporting as far as her requirements of arms and equipment were concerned.

This point, Sir, I hope the Honourable Members will appreciate. I am one with them as regards the need of a National Militia or Territorial Army for the defence of the country. But we should not forget that mere numbers do not count. For instance, if we decide today that India must have, say, about a million men, and we do not have arms or do not make arrangements to manufacture them, what use will a million men be on our registers? The greater need is that all our requirements must be manufactured in this country. Unless that is done simultaneously, the raising of mere numbers will not help.

Then, Sir, another point was raised which is a little out of date. That is about the martial and non-martial classes. This point was in fact settled during the last war. I would only say that the policy of the present Government is that we do not stand in the way of anybody who wants to serve his country, every one who is suitable is at liberty to join the Defence Forces. We do not want to reserve the right of serving in Armed Forces to some select classes—the policy of the Government is to give an opportunity to every citizen who wants to serve his motherland.

An Honourable Member: It is not being done in the States, Sir.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: As regards the States we will try our best to impress upon the Rulers to adopt the same practice; but as the House knows it is not possible for us to enforce in the States the same policy we have in India.

[Pandit Govind Malaviya]

they will be able not only to inspire confidence among our people, not only to drive away the fear and the panic which has permeated our society, today, but also be able to feel and act in the spirit that whenever there might be need they would be able to stand up as one to lay down their lives for the defence of their motherland. For that alone will be the most invincible armour, that alone will be the guarantee, that nobody, no country, no state near or far, small or big, will even dream of acting towards India in manner that may not be right or fair, that may not be in keeping with the dignity and the honour of this great land. At a time of need Lord Birkenhead once said in England that in the old days the principle used to be that there should be "No representation without taxation".

Shri M. S. Aney: It is the other way, Sir.

Pandit Govind Malaviya: No, Sir, Lord Birkenhead said that in the old days the principle used to be that there should be "No representation without taxation". He said that the new principle should be that there should be "No representation without military service". Lord Birkenhead said that in England. I submit that if England, with all its efficiency and old organisation and experience, felt that such a thing was needed, for a new state like our own, with all the problems that face us, with all the eyes of avarice and malice that seem focussed upon us from many quarters, it is all the more necessary that we should do something of that sort. I therefore submit that the only right thing for this Government to do is to go into this whole question most carefully and expeditiously and to reorganise the entire defence system on the lines of this resolution. I hope the Honourable the Defence Minister will rise equal to the occasion by appointing a Committee to go into the matter and report on these lines, and that he will by quickly giving effect to its recommendations lay, well and truly, the foundations upon which alone the peace and the progress, the happiness and the prosperity of our motherland will depend.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support the resolution wholeheartedly. It has been pointed out by the Honourable the Mover of the Resolution that there are private armies already in being. They should be harnessed for the service of the country. It is also well known that arms are found everyday, almost everywhere, in the most unlooked for places. Dr. Pattabhi was inclined to think that they were collected for aggressive purposes. But I have reason to believe that they were sometimes for defensive purposes too. When the trouble arose in Calcutta I was within about sixty miles from the place and I knew that there was a regular scramble for securing guns as well as for housing in various families people who have guns. Shot gun cartridges were sold in the Black market at over Rs. 100 for 100 cartridges. There was the panic collection and the arms collections. There are of course the collections for offensive purposes. Firearms of the most modern types were largely used during the Calcutta killings. The resolution, if carried into effect, will be a very important step in the national life of this country. There are riots and murders taking place everywhere; there are the civic jobs which require attention and serious troubles may arise anywhere at any time. There is the ardent desire of our young men to be of service to our country. In these circumstances, if that desire could be harnessed for the service of the country then it would be directing them to a useful channel. If not they will probably be directed to wrong channels.

I view the situation from another point of view also, that of another war. A war on a world-wide scale is not out of the question. Wars take place without any open warning and in spite of all the best men in the world trying to prevent them. But when war will come there will always be the apologists for it. On the last occasion there was the attractive slogan that it was a 'war to end war', as if there could be such a thing as malaria for the preventing malaria or the use of purgatives for curing diarrhoea. So we had the last war 'to prevent war'. Now the U.N.O. is a result of the experience of the failure of the League of Nations. They want to unite the Nations in a common confederation with sufficient arms and ammunition and army to give effect to their decisions. There would be sanction behind their decisions. But everything depends on an international understanding. We however find that the big powers are not agreeing with one another. There is plenty of misunderstanding and rivalry on the stage and behind the scenes between the big powers. The smaller powers are moving like satellites. In these circumstances, although they are pacifists by their professions, there is secret and open preparations for war in every quarter. The possibility of another world war cannot therefore be ruled out. An organised militia would be important to preserve order in the country and to prepare for a switchover from the militia to the regular army if and when that is necessary.

Then there is the old adage that if you want peace you must make preparations for war. That was said by Napoleon, and even modern authorities say that peace is nursed in the cradle of superior armaments. Militarisation of the country does not mean that we are on the war path, but rather that we are on the peace path.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (one of the Panel of Chairmen)].

One of the speakers, Dr. Khare, said in a moment of bitterness that the Congress was banking upon ahimsa so long and it has now given it up altogether. I believe that the Congress adopted ahimsa so long as that was necessary. In fact ahimsa was a proper weapon to get rid of the British and get swaraj without bloodshed, and that has been achieved. But new situations are now arising and it is a happy sign that we find that the Congress is living up to the times and to realities. The fact that a Congress leader of high rank has sponsored this resolution shows that the Congress is a living organisation, for which I heartily congratulate it.

Then, as to the so called distinction between martial and non-martial races, I think we have heard of it for the last time before the last war. During the last war, necessity drove the authorities to throw open the military profession to Bengalis, Madrasis, and other so called non-martial races. It is on record that these so called non-martial races have risen up to the mark and have received tremendous praise and good recognition from all quarters. I once met a high military official of the Baluch Regiment who was a Baluchi, a Muslim, and from him I heard that the Bengali soldiers and officers were wonderfully brave and resourceful, and they were ideal soldiers. There are no more non-martial races in India. Gone are the days when war was fought by physical force alone. War is now an intellectual business as well as the business of highly specialised scientific weapons. The distinction is gone and we have heard the last word about it.

Then there is another aspect of the resolution. We have in our country considerable misunderstanding on communal matters. Although we are not yet out of the wood, we have turned the corner and things are improving. But I think that militarization of our young men would be all to the good. I have moved among some of the Indian military personnel during the last war and I have found there is a considerable amount of brotherliness among various soldiers or officers of various castes. I asked the reason, and one of them explained the situation thus: 'We have to die by the hands of the same enemy; we have to kill the same enemy; we have to face common dangers; questions of castes or communities do not at all enter because in matters of life and death such things do not count. If you want to get rid of communal misunderstandings, just join the army.' I submit that in these circumstances,

[Sardar Baldev Singh]

There is another difficulty to which I wish to draw the attention of the House and that is about the officer position. The House knows that we have decided to nationalize the Armed Forces; every officer in the Armed Forces of this country will be an Indian; and those British officers whom we retain after the 1st of January 1947 or a little longer will be entirely in Training Centres or on non-operational duties. All operational commands will be held by Indians. To get more officers we have tapped every possible source of supply to meet the requirements of an Army of 2,70,000. A big effort is being made but even then we will not be able to find all the officers that we need. That is why we are pressing to employ British officers for the time being.

Sir, in this connection, as the House will remember, we had Air Force training courses in the Universities. These courses had to be given up because we have been short of officers. As far as the Navy is concerned, the position is worse. As for the army this too is difficult now but if the conditions return to normal after a few months then we will have some officers available for the job. Government has definitely decided that it is no use having amateur officers for the training of a militia or territorial force. If we want to have a well-organised force, it is essential that it be trained by efficient officers. We do not want to give half-hearted training.

Sir, as I said in the beginning, we have not been sitting idle in all the difficulties which exist. The Government has taken active steps to give training to our youth. Although the Government has not been able to come to a final decision, the scheme has been discussed informally. Though every colleague of mine is of the opinion that India should have the smallest possible Army consistent with the safety of this country, we agree at the same time that we must have a Territorial Force. What the strength of this force should be or whether it should be called a national militia is yet to be decided. The need of a territorial force is fully realised. We will, in the near future, when we have fixed the peace time size of the Army, begin to organise a territorial force alongside the Army.

Then, Sir, about the training of young men in the schools and colleges. Sometime in 1946 a Committee was appointed under the chairmanship of the Honourable Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru. The Committee submitted its report sometime at the beginning of this year. On account of the political changes and the division of the country, the Report of the Committee could not be examined and no decision could be taken earlier; it came up for discussion before the Defence Committee of India only a few days ago. I am glad to inform the House of the Government's entire agreement with the Committee that it is absolutely essential to give military training to the youth of the country, people may think that by giving military training to the youth of the country, we are making warlike preparations. Nothing of the kind. We want to have adequate forces to protect our country against aggression. I do feel that such training to the youth builds up their health and character.

The National Cadet Corps Committee has recommended that, to begin with, we should start with a Junior Division and a Senior Division. Junior Division is meant for school-going children, the 9th or 10th class students in the schools and the Senior Division for college boys. The number of the boys to be trained under this scheme will be 1,75,000. The total expenditure that is to be incurred, if it is accepted wholly and the responsibility is taken either by the Centre or by the Provincial Government, will be Rs. 3½ crores initial and Rs. 2½ crores recurring. If we assume total number of the school-going children between the age of 15 and 21 to about a million, the total expenditure required to give training will be Rs. 21 crores initial expenditure and Rs. 15 crores recurring. I am not mentioning these figures to frighten the House but just to show the nature and extent of the expenditure likely to be involved if this scheme is accepted. The Government have accepted the principle of the scheme and we have addressed all the provinces to enquire how far they are prepared to share the burden of this expenditure. We have fixed four weeks within which they must reply. Thereafter the Government will take definite steps to get on with the scheme.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): May I interrupt the Honourable Minister and make a suggestion that if it is a question of funds, let the Prime Minister issue an appeal. I am sure he will get Rs. 15 crores or 20 crores—any amount—within a month.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: As I have said before, I did not give these figures to frighten the House. It was intended to give an idea of the nature of the expenditure likely to be involved. I hope when the scheme is matured and put before the House, the House will accept it with the same willingness with which it has expressed its views on this particular Resolution.

Now, Sir, a lady member pointed out about the desirability of giving military training to girls. I wish to inform her that the scheme of the National Cadet Corps Committee includes training for the Girls' Division also.

Then, Sir, there are one or two other points to which I want to reply. One of them is that about private armies, to which so many Honourable Members have referred. In regard to these, Sir, it is just possible that in the old regime there was some necessity. But after the 15th of August when our country became free, I do not see the necessity of any such private organisations. The defence of the country is the responsibility of the Government and Government must make adequate arrangements to protect the country. No private army, of whatever nature it may be, can give adequate protection to the country or be of use to it. For instance, Sir, take the case of our neighbouring country, Pakistan. Honourable Members must have read about the raid or invasion of the tribesmen in Kashmir. The other day the Prime Minister made a clear statement. I do not want to say anything in that connection. All I will say is that tribesmen form a part of that territory—Pakistan. I cannot imagine that these tribesmen can come fully armed in another country without the knowledge of that State. Now, take the case of those tribesmen. They are fully armed; they have got rifles; they have got machine guns; they have got mortars and so on. Such irregulars, irresponsible people, if they are not kept under proper check under a proper organisation, instead of being a help to the country, have proved a great danger to the country. That is how private armies function. I am not afraid of private armies or such organisations, but I hope our countrymen will themselves realise their responsibilities and will not indulge in such unlawful activities.

Coming to the Resolution before us, I find it difficult to agree to the whole of the Resolution as it stands. As regards the Home Guards, as I have stated before, it is the responsibility of the Provincial Government and I have not the least doubt that the Provincial Government will go ahead with their scheme and whatever help is necessary from the Centre, it will be given willingly and without any hesitation.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: What about the Centrally Administered Areas?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: About the National Guards, of which there is a specific proposal in this Resolution, I want to say that the Government accept its principle. The Government have not yet decided whether we should have a National Militia or a Territorial Force and what [Sardar Baldev Singh] should be its strength. If there is no intention on the part of the Mover of the Resolution to bind the Government to a specific thing like National Militia and his purpose is that Government must take steps to do something for the military training of our youth. I wish to assure the House beyond all doubt that Government have already taken steps and I will not be found lacking in implementing these steps as far as possible.

Sir, Pandit Govind Malaviya suggested the appointment of a Committee. May I suggest it to him that this is not a matter for a Committee of this House. I know that among the Honourable Members of this House there are those who have some experience of the Armed Forces and have made very good suggestions. But as regards the scheme itself we have now left this to our Military Advisers. The scheme is already before them and is receiving their attention. After they have formulated their views, their report will come before the Defence Committee of India and will be considered by it. I think that is the correct procedure which should be followed.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is the report likely to come up before the Defence Committee?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: It has gone to the Provinces and we have asked them to send in their views within four weeks.

Now, Sir, this is what the Government has done and I hope that in view of what I have said, the House will be satisfied that Government has not made only vague promises, but have taken definite steps to make a move in the right direction.

Now, Sir, in the end, I would warn the House about the several suggestions that have been made that this State is preparing and that State is preparing for war. In fairness to the Armed Forces of India, I have to request the House not to magnify these things. Our Indian Armed Forces are not afraid of the armed forces of any particular State. If I may put it in another way, I say that it is an insult to the Armed Forces of India to ask them to get ready, because of the preparedness of a State here or there. We are absolutely alive to our duty and our Armed Forces are in a position to meet any danger from any quarter.

I would suggest to the House not to get panicky. I get a large number of anonymous letters and representations about the Ordnance Depots, about the Ordnance Factories and about our Armed Forces. Sir, if I were to believe all that is said in these nothing would be left in our Ordnance Depots or Ordnance Factories! In the past, the management of these factories and depots was under joint control. I want to inform the House that rumours and thefts, etc., which are current and which appear in the papers from time to time are highly exaggerated. There is no doubt that arms have been stolen from here and there, but these thefts are nothing of the kind as has been mentioned in these representations to us and what is said in public. There is not much of truth in these rumours.

In the end, Sir, I would suggest that in view of the proposals that are before the Government at present, and in view of the decisions and the steps which the Government have taken, the Honourable Mover of the Resolution should not press the Resolution at this stage. If in one or two months' time he is not satisfied with the arrangements or the steps which the Government takes, then he can put it in a definite form whether India should have a Militia or whether India should have a territorial force, or whether we should have some other kind of organisation. At present my difficulty is that I do not want to bind the Government to the creation of a National Militia as we have schemes of other types such as the territorial force under consideration. As I told you in the very beginning of my speech I do not want to give any vague promises; I do not want to state on the floor of the House that I will accept this scheme and find myself in difficulty later on especially as we have the formation of a Territorial Army under our consideration. This is my difficulty, Sir, and if the House will accept my assurances and the suggestion that I have made, I will request the Mover not to press this Resolution. Sir, I hope the Honourable the Mover of the Resolution will accept my suggestion.

An Honourable Member: Could we get any idea when the Government scheme will be ready?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: As already stated we have referred it to our Military Advisers; they are examining it and we expect that it will come before the Government within the next few weeks.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Mr. Chairman, I have listened with great attention to the lucid statement of the Honourable Member of Defence.

An Honourable Member: Honourable Minister of Defence.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Perhaps the mistake is not unjustified, for I am taken back to the days when Members were sitting on the other side, not Ministers. The reply that he has vouchsafed to us is not a reply of a Minister. I was thinking whether we were in the days of Sir Andrew Skeen or Lord Esher or Sir Archibald Wavell in the Military Department answering the questions in the Legislature. I never had the good fortune of being a Member in this House in those days. I thought I would never be in a Legislature, but this hardship is forced upon us against our will, and therefore, I am surprised Government should have taken this kind of attitude. I should have expected Government to come forward with a definite reply, and if they were not prepared to accept my proposition, they should have tabled an amendment and then stated their difficulties, but they have certainly transported themselves to ten years ago and that is what I cannot really appreciate. It is no use my being merely courteous and all that. I must say that in a House which is enjoying democratic self-Government on the basis of responsibility, this is not the way in which a Member ought to be treated. Of course, I have no desire to embarrass the Government. I can appreciate the difficulties of Government. I can appreciate in particular the difficulties by which Government is embarrassed, being confronted with so many complications and complexities everywhere. I know they have no peace of mind for even a quarter of an hour. They do not know what the next telegram brings, whether it is the invasion of the Eastern Punjab or Western Bengal or whether it is a recrudescence of trouble in Kashmir or whether it is something worse. I perfectly sympathise with them for they have not the equanimity, the balance of mind, and a clear judgment and therefore, I should have liked them to have tabled a suitable amendment and then that would have been easy. As things stand, what is the position? People who read these debates are transported into heights of emotion; they would feel that the millennium was nigh; and now they are suddenly taken to the depths of disappointment. Well, the whole matter says the Government requires examination; they add that the Government has been quite mindful of all these matters raised in the debate and suggest that the Resolution should not be pressed. Of course I am not pressing it. I shall withdraw, but I am not withdrawing it with grace. I must say that.

Before doing so, I would only like to invite the Honourable Member's attention to the fact that lots of arms are sent to the States and in the States they are distributed to these very people who are organising these fissiparous forces—the Jagirdars. So the Honourable Member may make a note of this point and then see that we are not supplying weapons to our possible enemies. There have been during the days of peace, instances of firms in Europe and perhaps in England which sold weapons to Japan and with these very weapons Japan fought them. So let us not make such mistakes. As for the rest, I have, I do not say, great pleasure, but great pain in withdrawing this Resolution.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

Mr. Chairman: Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw the Resolution?

The Resolution was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

RESOLUTION re AMELIORATION OF THE CONDITION OF SCHEDULED CASTES

Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to move the Resolution that stands in my name:

"This Assembly is of opinion that the Government of India should spend at least one crore of rupees each year for the next ten years for the amelioration of the condition of the Scheduled Castes by way of providing them with house sites and drinking water and also by way of supplementing the educational grants sanctioned by Provincial Governments."

Sir, seeing what has happened around us it may be thought that I am not responsible to this House or the country in bringing a Resolution of this kind asking for alms from the National Government which was set up on the 15th August last. I know as a matter of fact that if I go before this Government with a begging bowl to safeguard the interests and also to improve the conditions of a community which represents one-fifth of the population of this great land, I am not going against the established laws of this land. We know as a matter of fact that Mahatma Gandhi, the Avatar who has spent and is spending all his time for the betterment of the Indian nation day in and day out, is extending his hands for charity not for the aggrandisement of himself or his colleagues but to improve the condition of a community that has been kept away from the pale of society and undergoing hardships for several centuries. When this Charter of Freedom was drawn by the Constituent Assembly the other day it was said therein:

"Wherein shall be guaranteed, granted and secured to all the people of India justice—social, economic and political—and equality of status."

Again when the Advisory Committee's report was presented to the Constituent Assembly it was clearly stated there:

"We wish to make it clear, however, that our general approach to the whole problem of minorities is that the State should be so run that they should stop feeling oppressed by the mere fact that they are minorities, and that on the contrary they should feel that they have as honourable a part to play in the national life as any other section of the community."

Sir, yesterday when the Finance Minister presented his budget he made a very long speech and I was wondering whether he would give effect to what was stated in the Charter or what was approved by the Constituent Assembly in the Minority Committee's report. I failed to see one word to the effect that the interests of the scheduled castes and untouchables will be safeguarded to some extent at least by providing amenities for this community. It may be asked why it was necessary for me to bring forward this Resolution at a time like this. I may tell the House that recent events in provinces where Acts to remove their disabilities have been passed, a great agitation has been started whereby the landlords and zamindars have taken upon themselves to evict the harijans from their lands. As you are aware, Sir, the scheduled castes form the bulk of agricultural labour and now they are being deprived of the habitation which they have been enjoying for years. Recently I have been touring Malabar and South Canara and I saw how the Jenmies have given notice to the tenants to evict them from their habitation. At a time when we feel that we have entered the arena of an independent India, one section of people is told that they have no habitations. It is a sad thing and I think it is time for Government to take up this matter. Yesterday during the budget speech the Finance Minister told us that they are going to have great national industries, and he also told us that in the matter of 'Grow More Food' the result was disappointing. Now, Sir, agricultural labourers, dock workers and industrial labourers who are mostly drawn from the scheduled castes have no habitation; and how can these industries and the 'Grow More Food' scheme succeed? These are matters of vital importance and Government must come to the rescue of the depressed classes and safeguard their interests.

Sir, my Resolution is a very modest one. I ask for the provision of housing sites. According to Mahatma Gandhi's scheme of independence a man must at least have a habitation and he must have at least one square meal a day. Without a habitation what will be the fate of these people? The agricultural labourers who mostly live in the villages are practically in the clutches of the landlords, and if these people are told to vacate what will be their fate? Moreover, recently suggestions have been made for making co-operative societies of house building, and the depressed classes have been left alone. We know that for centuries the agricultural labourers in the villages have been suffering, and it is a matter of infamy for any Government that it is only the middle and the upper classes who should have a habitation.

Secondly if you go to any village in the south and in Malabar you will find that the villages are not provided with ordinary facilities for human existence in the way of drinking water. The wells are meant not only for the use of human beings but pigs and animals all go to the same well. This is the state of affairs in most of the provinces. It is high time that Government should take up the question of habitation as well as that of drinking water. Moreover, when the Poona Pact was signed one of the terms was that the Central Government should give an allotment to the various provinces so that the education of the depressed classes may be more advanced. It is in this view that I have taken up this matter, and I am sure that Government, composed as it is today of men like Honourable Pandit Nehru and Honourable Deputy Prime Minister Sardar Patel and the Minister for Public Health who come under the aura of Mahatma Gandhi and live under his inspiration will see that something is done for the Harijans so that they also may feel that they are living in an independent India where all their interests are safeguarded by Government. Sir, I move.

Mr. Chairman: Resolution moved:

"This Assembly is of opinion that the Government of India should spend at least one crore of rupees each year for the next ten years for the amelioration of the condition of the Scheduled Castes by way of providing them with house sites and drinking water and also by way of supplementing the educational grants sanctioned by Provincial Governments."

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur (Minister for Health): Inasmuch as the Resolution before the House refers to certain aspects of the general question of amelioration for the scheduled castes, I would like to say that Government is wholly in sympathy with its spirit and its aims. It is the clear and definite policy of the Government that living conditions for all those who today live in hovel's—and it is not only scheduled castes—should be ameliorated. Naturally, the scheduled castes will benefit as well as anyone else. Development grants, as is known to the House, are made to the provinces. They can use them for any purpose and doubtless no province but keeps the needs of the backward and the poor classes in the forefront of all their programmes.

As far as the Centrally Administered Areas are concerned and for which the Centre is responsible, the Improvement Trust in Delhi has decided to clear all slum areas, and I would like to assure the Mover of the Resolution that those slum areas in which the scheduled castes live will be the first to go. All the poor that will thus be displaced will be given new sites.

[Rajkumari Amrit Kaur]

There is also a poor class housing scheme, which will also benefit the scheduled castes. In this scheme the criterion is not going to be community: it is going to be income. This is only correct, because it is the earnest desire of the Government not only to banish untouchability, root and branch, but also to give to the backward and poor classes all the help that they need for improvement of their living conditions and for their general uplift.

As far as the water-supply is concerned, all public sources of water are legally open to the scheduled castes, but we are all aware that custom and usage deal harshly with them. Recently, therefore, the provisions of the Bombay Removal of Social Disabilities Act of 1946 have been extended to the Delhi Province and they are going to be extended to the other Centrally Administered Areas also.

Any schemes for the amelioration of the condition of the scheduled castes will certainly have the full sympathy of the Central Government. Supplementary grants to provinces for any schemes of such amelioration or uplift will obviously depend on what the provinces have ready in the way of schemes and what they are able to work out, and I may assure the House that it will be the policy of the Central Government to help the provinces all they can to ameliorate the condition of these unfortunate people.

It is, however, difficult to accept any specific figure for such grants at this stage. The House may rest assured that the uplift of the scheduled castes is in the forefront and will remain in the forefront of this Government until such time as there is no such class as scheduled castes in our society.

Shri S. Nagappa (Madras: General): I was not convinced with the statement made by the Honourable Minister for Health. But now, Sir, I do not want to say anything about the Resolution, that was moved by my Honourable friend, Mr. Pillai. I move the amendment that stands in my name. Sir, I move:

"That in the Resolution for the words 'at least one crore' the words 'a minimum of ten crores', be substituted."

I know my responsibility in moving this amendment. For a Congress Government which has pledged itself to elevate its Harijans in the shortest time possible, to the highest level, I think it is a meagre figure, if you take into consideration the vast numbers of these down trodden people, and the miseries they have undergone for all these centuries. Now, I think, Sir, if this Government is sincere, if it wants to do it, it can do it. But my Honourable friend, the Minister for Health has been kind enough to say that they have been kind enough to bring in some legislation. No amount of legislation will change the heart of people unless and until they make it a point to change their hearts and treat the Harijans as human beings. Without this nothing can make these people come to the higher level, no matter how many years may pass. Mahatmaji himself has been trying to uplift these people for the last 15 years. I am certain not even 15 per cent. of the untouchability has disappeared to-day. So at this rate, I do not know for how many years more in a free India will these poor down trodden millions have to toil. I am glad to bring to the notice of this House that the Madras Government during the regime of Shri Prakasam was kind enough to earmark one crore for the speedy elevation of these Harijans.

Shrimati Dakshayani Velayudhan (Madras: General): Was one pie spent out of that one crore!

Shri S. Nagappa: I do not think that simply because funds have been allotted therefore we can spend whatever be the need. We must see that every pie that has been allotted is spent in the best interests of these people. So if one province goes ahead it is no use to other Harijans in other provinces who are lagging behind. So this Government can direct each and every province to look after the interests of these people. They can say if you take up the question we are here to give you Rs. 100,000,000 more, as you do in the case of the 'Grow More Food' and as in the case of the Rural Water Supply. Therefore you can also do something for these people if you are really interested in their elevation. No amount of lip sympathy will help. It is material sympathy that is required. I want the Congress Government which has pledged itself to elevate these people to spend the money and see that the people are brought forward. We have been finding fault with South Africans for ill-treating Indians in South Africa. Do not you think the South Africans will find fault with you if you treat these people like this here? You must keep yourselves always above all such things. We have been asking you because we have nothing. When we ask, you say why do you ask? Why do you separate yourself from us? Where is the need if you separate us? It is you who have to change your way of treatment and your hearts. As regards legal sanctions, many Governments have been moving in this matter. But what is the good? Do you expect that every Harijan is legally minded enough that he can go to court and seek redress at the courts of law? Let me give you my own personal experience. So many temples have been thrown open to Harijans. That is all right when the right man especially a man in the lime light comes along. But the next moment when the local Harijan of the villages comes, he is not permitted to enter. They say that it was intended for the people who came from outside and not for the local men. They would say "You fellow are toiling under me, you are serving under me, you are my servant. You want to enter the temple and worship with me? How dare you are?" Some have been even beaten.

I will narrate another experience of mine. In a village of a population of 2,000, there are only two public wells. There are 300 to 400 Harijans there and they are not allowed to draw water from the public wells. They can pull the string but the touching of the pot is done by a caste Hindu and he pours the water into the pot of the Harijan. So even if there is legal sanction they cannot make use of it. They cannot assert themselves. I had to go myself personally. I had to represent to the police and with a police escort I went and saw in my own presence that these people were allowed to draw water from the wells. The village folks came with lathies and other weapons 5 P. M. and threatened me. I said "You kill me if you want but I am not going to budge an inch. I am going to draw water from the well." So I was able to draw water.

Shri H. J. Khandekar (C. P. and Berar: General): Sir, may I point out that the time is up. I would request you to take up this Resolution on the next non-official day and give it priority.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Let the Honourable Member finish his speech.

Mr. Chairman: Under the rules this Resolution would get priority on the next non-official day. I wished to give you opportunity for moving your amendment. But as you are not anxious to speak now the House will be adjourned when the member speaking has finished his speech.

Shri S. Nagappa: The Honourable the Health Minister was kind enough to say that we are having legal sanctions but may I point out that no amount of legal sanction is any use until and unless you create the machinery to put it into practice. Bills are passed but who is there to enforce them? If these people go to draw water their heads will be broken the next moment.

[Shri S. Nagappa]

My Honourable friend Mr. Munishwami Pillai was kind enough to bring in the Resolution and if the Government is also equally kind enough they could easily grant the ten crores. Is ten crores a big sum? We are not a few in number, we are some crores. Ten crores for five crores of Harijans mean Rs. 2 per head per annum. Cannot this Government, which is a Congress Government, the people's Government, which wants to give equal opportunities to everybody, grant this sum? I expected the Honourable Lady Minister to be more kind to the Harijans than the 'Lord Ministers'. Even now I expect the Minister for Health will reconsider her position and try to grant us this sum. She cannot only grant the ten crores but she can also ask the Provincial Governments to see that legislations are passed, not only passed but also translated into action by an administrative machinery. Then alone we will be able to come up to the level to which you expect us to come at the earliest possible time. If you are really sincere spend something on us in an organised way. No amount of sympathy will solve our problem; we want material sympathy. I want the Honourable Minister to come forward and accept this Resolution with the amendment.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That in the Resolution for the words 'at least one crore' the words 'a minimum of ten crores', be substituted."

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Saturday, the 29th November, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Saturday, 29th November, 1947.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

SUSPENSION OF QUESTION HOUR

Mr. Speaker: In view of the importance of the subject of today's motion and the desire of a large number of Honourable Members to participate in the debate a request has been made to me to suspend the Question Hour so that the House may get one more hour for discussion of the motion. The practice, as I said on the last occasion, has been that the Question Hour is suspended by me only if the House is unanimous on that—not that the Chair has not got the power otherwise, but generally the power is not exercised, if there is a single dissentient voice. It appeared to me that the request was a very reasonable one in view of the importance of the subject; and in view of the very small number of questions we are able to put through everyday the Question Hour may as well be suspended. Honourable Members should know that the effect of the suspension is that the questions will be treated as unstarred questions and will find a place, along with their answers, in the proceedings, so that there is not much of a loss by suspending the Question Hour. Are Honourable Members agreeable for the suspension?

Several Honourable Members: Yes, yes.

Mr. Speaker: Then the Question Hour is suspended.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: What will be the time-limit for speeches Sir?

Mr. Speaker: I thought I would mention that after the Honourable Minister has made his motion. So far as he is concerned I do not want to prescribe any time limit. Before I call upon the Honourable Minister to make his motion there are some formal motions to be made which we shall take up first.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS†

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

EXPENDITURE AND NUMBER OF GENERAL HOSPITALS IN INDIA

407. Shri S. Nagappa: Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state:

(a) the number of general Hospitals with the number of beds in each of the following categories of hospitals (i) tuberculosis hospitals (ii) ophthalmic hospitals (iii) maternity hospitals (iv) sanatoria and (v) mental hospitals throughout the Indian Union—province wise and State wise;

(b) the number of specialists in the different categories;

(c) the number of candidates that are sent abroad for specialisation in different medical subjects; and

(d) the amount of money spent on the training of each specialist?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the tables given on pages 41 and 43 of Volume I of the †Answers to these questions laid on the table, the question hour having been dispensed with.

Report of the Health Survey and Development Committee, a copy of which is available in the Library of the House. The figures relate to India as a whole, excluding the Indian States, before partition. Particulars regarding the Indian States are not available.

(b) Accurate figures regarding the number of specialists in different categories are not available. A statement is laid on the table showing the membership of certain specialist Associations.

(c) A statement showing the number of candidates so far selected for study abroad in medical and allied subjects is laid on the table.

(d) The amount of expenditure varies in individual cases according to the duration of the course. Ordinarily a two years' course costs approximately Rs. 16,000 per student.

Statement showing the Membership of Certain Specialist Associations

ASSOCIATION	Membership
Association of Surgeons of India	339
Association of Physicians of India	140
Radiologists	150
Obstetricians & Gynaecologists	261 (Excluding Punjab).
Dermatologists and Venereologists	26 (this relates only to the province of Bombay).
Ophthalmologists	200
Specialists in mental diseases	52
Leprosy
Number of doctors who have received special training in leprosy under the auspices of British Empire Leprosy Relief Association	1,121

Statement showing the number of students selected for study abroad in medical and allied Subjects.

Subject	Number of Candidates selected in each year
	1945			1946			1947
	Cen.	Prov.	States	Cen.	Prov.	States	Cen.	Prov.	States
Biochemistry	5	..	..	..	..	..	..	1	..
Pharmacy	4	4	..	..	1	..	..	..	..
P. H. Engineering	2	2	..	..	2	..	..	..	..
Medical Librarian	..	..	..	2	..	..	..	..	..
Medicine & its Branches	..	..	..	..	8	..	5	9	1
Public Health	..	..	..	1	3	..	..	1	..
Surgery	..	..	..	4	5	..	4	6	1

Subject	Number of candidates selected in each year.
	1945			1946			1947
	Cen.	Prov.	States	Cen.	Prov.	States	Cen.	Prov.	States
Obstetrics & Gynaecology and Maternity & child welfare.	..	..	..	2	5	..	7	1	1
Maternity & child welfare	..	..	..	1	1	..	..	3	..
Anatomy	..	..	..	..	1	..	..	2	..
Physiology	..	..	..	..	1	..	..	..	..
Pathology	..	..	..	1	2	..	1	..	..
Pharmacology	..	..	..	1	1	..	..	..	..
Industrial Health	..	..	..	1	1	..	..	2	..
Tuberculosis	..	..	..	1	1	..	1	1	..
Venereal Diseases	..	..	..	1	1	..	1	..	..
Ear, Nose & Throat	..	..	..	1	2	..	..	..	..
Radiology	..	..	..	2	..	..	2	2	2
Anaesthesia	..	..	..	2	..	..	1	1	..
Epidemiology	..	..	..	..	1	..	..	..	..
Orthopedics	..	..	..	..	3	..	..	..	..
Ophthalmology	..	..	..	..	..	..	2	3	..
Medical Statistics	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
Psychiatry	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	2	..
Dentistry	..	..	..	..	..	..	6	3	..
Nutrition	..	..	..	..	1	..	2	6	..

PUBLIC HEALTH AND MEDICAL SERVICES.

408 *Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state what percentage of the population of India can be looked after medically with the present technically trained medical staff?

(b) Is there any scheme under the contemplation of Government to reorganise present public health and medical services?

(c) If so, when do Government propose to give effect to the scheme and if not, why not?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) The Health Survey and Development Committee in their report submitted in 1945 calculated that there was one doctor for every 6300 persons in British India.

(b) and (c). The Health Survey and Development Committee made comprehensive recommendations for the reorganisation of the present medical and public health systems in India. The Provincial Governments have these recommendations in view while framing their post-war medical and public health

MANUFACTURE OF AEROPLANES IN INDIA.

409. Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number of aeroplanes owned by the Royal Indian Air Force?

(b) Have Government any scheme or proposal under contemplation for manufacturing aeroplanes in India?

(c) If so, when will it be given effect to?

(d) If not, why not?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) It would not be in the public interest to disclose this information.

(b) and (c). Arrangements have been made for the assembly and manufacture of Percival Prentice Elementary Trainer Aircraft by the Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. with the assistance of the Percival Aircraft Company, Ltd., England, but work will commence only when the proto-type which is now undergoing tests in England has been approved. In due course manufacture of other types of aircrafts will be undertaken.

(d) Does not arise.

LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY DUE TO COMMUNAL DISTURBANCES

410. Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state the names of the places where communal disturbances broke out during the last 2 years?

(b) What is the estimated loss of property and life?

(c) How do Government propose to prevent such disturbances and safeguard the lives, property and honour of the people?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). The information is not readily available and the special effort involved in collecting it will not be commensurate with the result achieved.

(c) Government are taking all appropriate steps.

BRITISH PERSONNEL IN SERVICE OF GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

411. Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state how many British personnel were in service of the Government of India upto the end of October 1947, giving separate figures for each Department?

(b) Is there any period of service agreed upon in the case of those who are still in service?

(c) If so, what are the conditions and period of their service?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) The number of British personnel in service on the 31st October 1947 under the Government of India (excluding the Armed Forces Personnel) is 2032. A statement giving separate figures for each Ministry is placed on the table of the House.

(b) and (c). The Government of India have guaranteed to all their employees including Europeans that they will be continued in service on the same conditions of service as before the Transfer of Power.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Number of British personnel in service under the Government of India on the 31st October 1947 (excluding Armed forces personnel).

Name of Ministry	No. of British personnel employed
	Permanent	Contract for a specified period	Temporary
1. Ministry of Agriculture	23	2	2
2. Ministry of Commerce	10	5	4
3. Ministry of Communications	45	7	10
4. Ministry of Defence	209	22	135
5. Ministry of Education	1	3	2
6. Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations	395	6	296
7. Ministry of Finance	57	8	3
8. Ministry of Food	2	1	5
9. Ministry of Health	2	6	1
10. Ministry of Home Affairs	2	..	..
11. Ministry of Industry and Supply	7	7	93
12. Ministry of Information and Broadcasting	..	2	11
13. Ministry of Labour	1	22	2
14. Ministry of Railways	562	2	10
15. Ministry of States	4	..	1
16. Ministry of Transport	24	..	7
17. Ministry of Works, Mines and Power	7	3	2
18. Cabinet Secretariat	..	..	1
Total	1,351	96	585
TOTAL	2,032

UNAUTHORISED POSSESSION OF MODERN WEAPONS SURREPTITIOUSLY OBTAINED FROM BRITISH AND AMERICAN FORCES

412. Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state the sources through which unauthorized, but most modern type of guns, rifles, ammunition, were obtained by some persons who have been responsible for using them during the recent disturbances in certain parts of India?

(b) Is it a fact that these modern weapons have been surreptitiously obtained from the American and British armed forces in India during and after the last War?

(c) What is the number of such weapons obtained from those forces?

(d) Do Government propose to make thorough searches for all such concealed weapons, in different parts of India?

(e) What is the number of such weapons found in the possession of unauthorized persons and confiscated?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). As far as Government of India are aware illicit arms of modern type have been obtained from various sources including some members of the American and British forces operating in India during the war. But I regret any detailed disclosure of these sources would not be in the public interests.

(c) and (e). Special effort would be necessary to collect this information all over India and I do not consider that the time and labour involved would be justified by the utility of the information.

(d) If the Honourable Member has carefully followed Press reports he will realise that large scale searches are being made all over the country.

CLOSING OF SUPREME COMMAND HEAD QUARTERS

413. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence please state whether it is a fact that the Supreme Command Headquarters will be closed before the date originally fixed?

(b) If so, what is the date now fixed for its being closed?

(c) What are the reasons for closing this headquarters?

(d) What are the views of the Dominion of Pakistan in this matter?

(e) Is it a fact that the closing of this headquarters is the result of the disagreement between the Supreme Command and the Dominion of India?

(f) If not, what is the relationship which so far existed with regard to their functions between the Supreme Command and the Dominion of India?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) 30th November, 1947.

(c) to (f). I would refer the Honourable Member to the Press Communique on this subject published on the 13th November, 1947.

BROADCASTING OF THE PAKISTAN GOVERNMENT NEWS BY B. B. C

414. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the facilities given by All-India Radio to B.B.C. authorities for broadcasting news of the Pakistan Government to foreign countries?

(b) Are Government aware that the B.B.C. has been using these facilities for doing anti-Indian propaganda?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what action Government of India propose to take in the matter?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) No, Sir.

(b) and (c). Do not arise.

DIRECT COMMISSION IN THE I. A. O. C.

415. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government are aware that under Army Instruction (India) No. 23/S of 1947 fresh University Graduates are eligible for direct commission in the I.A.O.C.?

(b) Do Government propose to consider Ordnance Civilian Gazetted Officers' claims in this respect?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) and (b). Yes.

REGULAR COMMISSION FOR ORDNANCE CIVILIAN GAZETTED OFFICERS IN THE I.A.O.C.

416. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government are aware that in a recent press communique of the Government of India, it has been stated that owing to the shortage of Indian Officers in the Army, some direct Regular Commissions will be granted to V.C.Os and also to Emergency Commissioned Officers who were graded in category VI and VII?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the cases of well-educated and technically experienced Ordnance Civilian Gazetted Officers of the I.A.O.C. also for such direct Commissions in the I.A.O.C.?

(c) In case it is not found possible to grant direct commissions, do Government propose to utilise their services in their present cadre on a permanent basis, or to find suitable posts in other departments for those not required in the I.A.O.C.?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). These suggestions will be considered.

DIVISION OF LOAN BETWEEN INDIA AND PAKISTAN

417. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) the total value of Government loans of various denominations, in both the Dominions, India and Pakistan;

(b) how these loans will be divided between these two Dominions; and

(c) whether a holder of a loan in the Dominion of Pakistan can cash it or transact it in the Dominion of India and vice versa; if so, under what terms and conditions?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) The outstanding rupee loans on the 31st May, 1947, the latest date for which figures are available, amounted to Rs. 1,781 crores roundly.

(b) Under the Indian Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order, 1947, the liability for the outstanding loans of the late Central Government has been placed on the Indian Dominion subject to Pakistan making an equitable contribution. The amount of this contribution has not yet been determined.

(c) If the Honourable Member desires to know whether a Pakistan holder can transfer his holding to the Indian Dominion for drawing interest or encashment when the loan falls due, the answer is in the affirmative. Such transfers can be made at any time. Drawal of interest and encashment in Pakistan will need special arrangements with the Pakistan Government and it is therefore contemplated that the privilege should be limited to present holdings and any encashments transferred on or before the 31st December 1947. No transfers of encashments to Pakistan will be made after that date.

RADIO STATION FOR ANDHRA PROVINCE

418. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to open a separate Radio Station for the Andhra Province; and

(b) if so, whether Government propose to consider the advisability of opening the radio station in Rayalaseema (Ceded Districts) either at Guntakal or any other central place in Rayalaseema?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The Station for Andhra area is proposed to be established at Bezawada on the recommendations of the Government of Madras.

SUBSIDY TO ORISSA FOR DEALING WITH LEPROSY

419. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state the number of cases of leprosy in the different Provinces of India?

(b) Are Government aware that out of every 70 cases, one belongs to Orissa?

(c) Do Government propose to give larger subsidies to Orissa for dealing with leprosy?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) Government have no information beyond what is stated on pages 186-188 of the Health Survey and Development Committee's Report, Vol. II.

(b) It is estimated that the number of people suffering from Leprosy in Orissa Province is about 120,000. The Special Committee on Leprosy appointed by the Central Advisory Board of Health in 1941 estimated that the total number of cases of leprosy in the whole of India was probably about one million.

(c) It should be possible for the expenditure on their anti-leprosy schemes to be adjusted by the Orissa Government from the Central Government's over all contribution towards their general development programmes.

RECOMMENDATION re CONTROL OF LEPROSY BY ALL INDIA LEPROSY WORKERS CONFERENCE HELD AT WARDHA

420. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the All-India Leprosy Workers' Conference at Wardha in their recommendation relating to the control of leprosy has stated that isolation is the only sure way of controlling leprosy and that agricultural or occupational colonies for lepers are the most suitable methods of applying isolation?

(b) What action Government propose to take in this direction?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) Government have not so far received the recommendations of the All India Leprosy Workers' Conference held at Wardha, but it is understood that one of the recommendations of that Conference is on the lines indicated by the Honourable Member in his question.

(b) Government propose to bring the recommendations of the Wardha Conference to the notice of the Provincial Governments, if and when received from the authorities of the Conference.

TRANSFER OF CENTRAL GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES FROM PAKISTAN TO INDIA

421. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state the expenditure incurred on transfer of Central Government employees from the Dominion of Pakistan to the Dominion of India?

(b) Have travelling allowance and other expenses of their families been paid to the employees? If so, how much?

(c) Does the total cost include the expenditure on travelling of their families?

(d) Do Government propose to pay their full salary from the date of their being relieved by the Dominion of Pakistan until their joining the service of the Dominion of India?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a), (b), (c) and (d). Staff of the Central Government serving in the Dominion of Pakistan and opting service in India are on transfer entitled to travelling allowance under the rules for themselves and their families. Such staff on transfer will also be entitled to joining time pay. In the circumstances in which evacuation from Pakistan has taken place it is not possible to say whether all India opted staff have drawn advances towards their travelling expenses. In some cases as personnel have been evacuated in Government transport the exact expenditure incurred on their account is not ascertainable. The exact figure of cost on account of the transfer or evacuation of Government personnel and their families is not available and unlikely to be available for a considerable time even after the transfer of personnel is completed. The collection of the information will in the present circumstances involve time, labour and expense, which Government would like to avoid.

LOAN FROM INTER-NATIONAL BANK

422. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Inter-National Bank is chiefly concentrating on investments to be made for the speedy recovery of Europe;

(b) whether Government are aware that such preoccupation is likely to detract attention from the rehabilitation of the Far East and industrial expansion of India;

(c) whether the Government of India propose to press for proper help by the Bank to the countries of the East; and

(d) do Government propose to apply to the Inter-National Bank for a loan in order to implement many schemes of India's post-war reconstruction which require immediate investment for the good of the people of India?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) and (b). Under Article III Section I of the Articles of Agreement of the Bank for Reconstruction and Development the resources and facilities of the Bank shall be used exclusively for the benefit of members. The number of members of the Bank in the Far East is small compared with those in Europe; and, among the latter, a considerable number have made applications for loans, while, among the former, none has up to date. As the Bank can grant a loan only on application made by a member, and not suo moto, the present position can only be remedied by action on the part of the member-countries themselves. The Bank is, however, fully aware of the position and I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the Second Annual Report of the Bank, a copy of which is available in the Library of the House, where it is stated that it should not be very long before the financing of development projects in other areas, including Asia, will tend to become its primary concern.

(c) India's representatives on the Bank will use their best endeavours to ensure that, when applications from member-countries in the East are under examination, and consistent with the Rules and Regulations of the Bank, such requests for financial assistance are examined with sympathy.

(d) Government will consider this matter at the appropriate time as necessity arises.

EXPENDITURE re GUN CARRIAGE FACTORY, JUBBULPORE

423. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence please state:

(a) the articles manufactured in the Gun Carriage Factory, Jubbulpore during the period from 1st October 1946 to 1st October 1947;

(b) the total cost of maintaining the Establishment of the Gun Carriage Factory, Jubbulpore, during the above period; and

(c) the cost of production of the articles referred to in part (a) above with their market value?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a), (b) and (c). The information is being collected and will be laid on the table of the House in due course.

CIRCUIT HIGH COURT AT DELHI

424. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the fact that great inconvenience is being caused to the people of Delhi on account of the location of the High Court of the East Punjab at a place like Simla;

(b) whether Government have considered the desirability of asking the Government of the East Punjab to make immediate arrangement for providing a Circuit High Court at Delhi; and

(c) if not, whether Government propose to do so now?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) I appreciate that the location of the High Court at Simla has caused inconvenience to the litigants but I am sure Honourable Members realise as also the general public, that it is a comparatively minor part of the general dislocation and consequent manifold major inconveniences that have attended partition.

(b) and (c). The question of a Circuit High Court in Delhi has been engaging the attention of Government independent of the point made by the Honourable Member but it is obvious that a matter of this kind must await until conditions settle down.

RECOVERY OF UNLICENCED ARMS FROM MUSLIMS

425. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) the number and description of fire arms and other unlicenced arms and the quantity of ammunition that has been recovered during the last two months by police from the possession of Muslims in the province of Delhi;

(b) how many persons have been arrested and are being prosecuted in that connection; and

(c) why timely steps were not taken to prevent this accumulation of unauthorised arms?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) A statement is laid on the table.

(b) 110 persons were arrested and 112 are being prosecuted.

(c) The accumulations appear to have been made over a long period when communal tension was at its highest and when the so-called coalition Government was in office. I am sure the Honourable Member will appreciate the difficulty of instituting large-scale searches under such conditions and without such searches it would have been impossible to unearth these accumulations. Moreover the Honourable Member must bear in mind the communal composition of the Police during this period.

Statement of Fire arms, ammunition, bombs, acid, lethal weapons etc., recovered with a very few exceptions from Muslims in September and October, 1947 in the Delhi Province

Description	Unauthorised
Guns D.B.B.L.	41
Shot Guns	10
Rifles	21
Pistols or Revolvers	32
Cartridges rifle	1950
Stengun Cartridges	243
Ammunition	3 boxes
Swords and Kirpans	63
Guptis (Sword sticks and gun sticks)	14
Mortars etc.	45
Bombs	154
Wireless Transmitter Sets	13
Petrol	Gallons 15
Kerosine Oil	" 14
Spears	32
Empty Cartridges	869
Khukhris	3
Mould for the preparation of cartridges	13
Sulphur	9 seer and 15 chhataks
Gun Powder	8 seers
Lead Shots	4 Maunds

DIVISION OF DELHI PROVINCE IN FOUR DISTRICTS

426. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Government propose to divide the Delhi Province in four districts and appoint a separate I.C.S. Officer as District Magistrate and a separate Superintendent of Police for each such District for the maintenance of law and order?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: The answer is in the negative.

SCHOLARS SENT TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES

427. *Shri Jadubans Sahay: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the number of scholars who have been sent by the Government of India to foreign countries for receiving training or higher Education during the period from January, 1946 to April 1947?

(b) What is their number province-wise and is there any disparity in selecting candidates from the Provinces?

(c) If so, what steps Government propose to take to create parity in selecting candidates from the Provinces?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) A statement showing the number of scholars sent by the Government of India to foreign countries during the period from January, 1946 to April, 1947, arranged province-wise, is placed on the table of the House.

(b) No, Sir. The Selection Board, Overseas Scholarships, selects Central scholars who are drawn from Provinces also on consideration of merit on an All-India competition basis, though attention is paid to the rights of minority communities in accordance with the communal ratio prescribed by the Ministry of Home Affairs for purposes of recruitment to services.

(c) For provincial scholarships for which selections are recommended by Provincial Governments, every province is allocated a definite quota in accordance with the requirements of the province and the question of disparity does not arise.

Statement showing the number of Scholars sent by the Government of India to foreign countries for Training or higher education during the period January, 1946 to April, 1947 and the Province (or State) to which they belong

S. No.	Province (or state)	Govt. of India Overseas Scholarships Scheme			Scheduled Castes Scholarships Scheme	Central States Scholarships Scheme	Scheme for promotion of Cultural contacts with China	Total for all Schemes
		Central	Provl.	Total
1	Assam	3	5	8	Nil	Nil	Nil	8
2	Bengal	43	20	63	2	Nil	Nil	65
3	Bihar	2	7	9	Nil	Nil	Nil	9
4	Bombay	6	27	33	1	Nil	Nil	34
5	C.P. & Berar	2	14	16	Nil	Nil	Nil	16
6	Delhi	1	1	1	Nil	2	Nil	3
7	Madras	36	28	64	1	Nil	Nil	65
8	N.W.F.P.	2	1	3	Nil	Nil	Nil	3
9	Orissa	2	16	18	Nil	Nil	Nil	18
10	Punjab	26	29	55	1	Nil	Nil	56
11	U. P.	19	23	42	Nil	Nil	Nil	42
12	Sind	Nil	5	5	Nil	Nil	Nil	5
13	Cochin State	2	...	2	Nil	Nil	Nil	2
14	C. I. Agency	1	...	1	Nil	Nil	Nil	1
15	Hyderabad State	1	...	1	Nil	Nil	Nil	1
16	Indore State	1	...	1	Nil	Nil	Nil	1
17	Kashmere State	1	...	1	Nil	Nil	Nil	1
18	Jaipur State	1	...	1	Nil	Nil	Nil	1
19	Travancore State	7	...	7	Nil	Nil	Nil	7
20	Mysore State	16	...	16	Nil	Nil	Nil	16
TOTAL		172	175	347	5	2	Nil	354

MAINTENANCE OF AERODROMES CONSTRUCTED DURING WAR

428. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) whether any steps are being taken to keep in working order all the aerodromes and landing places which were constructed during the war, in view of the prevailing uncertain conditions of world security;

(b) what will be the maintenance cost of these places; and

(c) whether the Defence and the Communications Ministries of the Government of India have come to any agreement as to their respective shares in their maintenance?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No, Sir. Only those aerodromes and landing grounds are maintained which are required by the Government of India in the post-war organisation.

(b) Expenditure incurred on the maintenance of airfields by the Defence Services is as follows:—

1946-47 Rs. 1,68,31,000
(actual)

1947-48 Rs. 99,68,000
(estimated)

Expenditure incurred on the maintenance of airfields transferred to the Director-General of Civil Aviation is as follows:—

1946-47 Not available.

1947-48 Rs. 23,00,000
(estimated)

(c) Yes, Sir. The Ministry of Defence has transferred to the Director-General of Civil Aviation such aerodromes and landing grounds constructed by the Defence Services during the war as were considered to be necessary for the implementation of post-war plans for the development of Civil-Aviation in India.

NILGRIS ANTIQUITIES IN THE MUSEUM FOR VULKERKUNDO, BERLIN.

429. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether Government are aware that there is an excellent collection of antiquities in the Museum for Vulkerkundo, Berlin, from the megaliths of the Nilgiris of South India?

(b) Can the Museum authorities at Stersinan Strasse, Berlin, be approached for information regarding literature or photographs about these?

(c) Are Government aware that the scholars in India working on this subject of megaliths are greatly handicapped for want of the above-mentioned literature or photographs?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) It is understood that there is or at least was a collection of antiquities from South India in the Museum for Volkerkundo at Berlin, but the character and extent of the material is not known.

(b) Government have under their consideration a proposal to depute a small delegation of experts to the United States of America, the United Kingdom and other countries of Europe to gather all information regarding the existence of antiquities and other material of cultural interest to India. If the proposal materialises the Berlin Museum will also be visited in due course.

(c) As megalithic material is very abundant in South India and Indian scholars working upon the subject are not seriously handicapped by the temporary absence of the information referred to.

TRAINING OF HOME GUARDS.

430. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether Government propose to train Home Guards on the lines on which Home Guards were trained in England during the War?

(b) If so, do Government propose to give full information regarding the scheme?

(c) What is the number of Home Guards proposed to be trained?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a), (b) and (c). Most of the Provincial Governments have already passed necessary legislation to raise and train forces known as Home Guards to augment the police. The question of raising similar forces in the Centrally administered areas is under consideration. The question of raising an auxiliary force to serve as a second line of defence is being examined.

EXPANSION OF ARMED FORCES BY PAKISTAN GOVERNMENT.

431. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the decision of the Government of Pakistan to raise National Guards under the control of the Commander-in-Chief of the Pakistan Army?

(b) Are Government aware that this decision is tantamount to a breach of Agreement with the Government of India in so far as the Partition Council had agreed that during the period of reorganisation of the Army neither Dominion would directly or indirectly increase its Armed Forces?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what steps have Government taken to combat this open breach of the Agreement?

(d) Are Government aware of the danger to the safety of India if large scale militarisation of Pakistan is allowed to proceed unchecked in this manner?

(e) What measures, if any, have Government taken or propose to take to counteract this menace?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes, but the Pakistan Government do not accept this contention.

(c) Government have made their own views known to the Pakistan Government.

(d) The Honourable Member will appreciate that it is not within the power of this Government to foster or restrict the scale of militarisation in Pakistan.

(e) Government have in view dangers which may arise. It will not be in the public interest to disclose further details.

RELEASE OF STERLING ASSETS.

432. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that out of the £35 million released to India under Clause 1, Article IV, of the Interim Agreement on Sterling Assets concluded between the Government of India and the British Government in August last, £15 million was spent between 15th July and 14th August of this year;

(b) whether the balance available to India up to the end of December this year would be only £20 million; and

(c) whether any portion of the working balance of £30 million under Article V of the Interim Agreement on Sterling Assets, would be available for normal commercial transactions, in view of the condition that the "balance may be drawn upon, from time to time, to meet any temporary shortage in India's available means of payment abroad"?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) and (b). It is not in the public interest to give current information relating to operations in the No. 1 Account.

(c) Yes.

INDIA'S POSITION IN "DOLLAR POOL".

433. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state what was the position of the Dollar Pool and India's interest therein since the convertibility of sterling earned in current transactions came into force from 15th July?

(b) What was the position of India's Balance of Trade with the United States of America as well as other hard currency countries during the year 1946?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to my answer to question No. 270 given on the 25th November 1947, and to my Budget Speech.

(b) The balance of trade in merchandise between India and the United States of America and other countries is shown in the Accounts relating to the Sea-borne Trade and Navigation of British India which are published every month. Copies of these are available in the library of the House. Statistics regarding India's balance of payments have been given in my Budget Speech.

TAXATION ENQUIRY COMMITTEE.

434. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of announcement made by the Minister of Finance, Government of India, in his Budget Speech in March, 1946, regarding the appointment of a Taxation Enquiry Committee to review the whole taxation system of the country and to make recommendations;

(b) whether this enquiry was postponed pending the constitutional developments;

(c) whether Government propose to appoint such a Committee in the near future; and

(d) whether Government propose to make such Committee a broad based one by including representatives of Indian commercial and Industrial interests as well as representatives of the Indian States?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) and (b). Yes, Sir.

(c) and (d). The appropriate time for the appointment of such a Committee will be after the financial provisions of the new constitution regarding allocation of the resources as between the Centre and the Provinces have been settled. At that time the suggestion of the Honourable Member given in part (d) will be borne in mind.

COINING OF INDIAN MONEY BY MEXICAN TREASURY.

435. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to a press report stating that Mexican Treasury is going to undertake the coining of Indian money and if so, the reasons for assigning this work to the mints in Mexico?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The press report is without foundation.

ALLOTMENT RELEASED FROM STERLING BALANCE TO PAKISTAN.

436. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether the Government of India have agreed to spare Rs. 9 crores for the Government of Pakistan out of the total amount of Rs. 85 crores which Britain has agreed to release from the sterling balances;

(b) whether it is a fact that the Government of Pakistan's legitimate demand did not exceed Rs. 6 crores and that the Government of India had previously agreed to release Rs. 6 crores to Pakistan;

(c) the basis on which the allotment of the amount of Rs. 9 crores to the Government of Pakistan, has been agreed to; and

(d) the reasons for the Government of India agreeing to increase the amount from Rs. 6 crores to Rs. 9 crores?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a), (b), (c) and (d). The answer to all the parts of the question is in the negative. The Honourable Member is presumably referring to the release of sterling as a result of the recent Interim Agreement with His Majesty's Government and the distribution of the £. 65 million placed in the No. 1 Account. The sterling balances are the property of the Reserve Bank and any releases now obtained are shared between the two Dominions for the financing of their import trade. The two Dominions have agreed to follow the same import policy as was in existence before the partition. Under this procedure each Dominion issues its own import licences imported articles being devided for the purpose of allocating foreign exchange into three categories—(a) those for which there is no exchange restriction, otherwise known as "no-limit" items; (b) those for which a definite allocation of foreign exchange has been made, called "Limit" items; and (c) those for which no foreign exchange is available, the imports of which are totally excluded.

For (a) both Pakistan and India issue import licences freely. For (c) no licences are issued by either Dominion. As regards (b), it was decided by the Partition Council that India and Pakistan should issue licences after partition to the extent of Rs. 16 crores and Rs. 4 crores respectively. On a review of the position it was subsequently decided to increase India's allocation in this respect to Rs. 26 crores and Pakistan's allocation to Rs. 6½ crores for the period ending 31st December, 1947.

USE OF PLANES FOR OPERATIONS IN KASHMIR.

437. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state how many planes of the Indian Air Force and Royal Air Force and transport planes belonging to the Ministry of Defence were requisitioned and put into use by the Ministry of Defence for repelling the invasion of Kashmir by the raiders?

(b) How many planes of the Indian Air Force were in mechanically perfect condition for immediate use?

(c) Is it a fact that many of the fighters, bombers and transport planes were not in order?

(d) How many planes belong to the Civil aviation companies were requisitioned and put into use in Kashmir?

(e) What is the loss, if any, caused to the planes, Civil and Military, in the whole operation?

(f) What is the number of casualties of the air personnel, if any?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) to (f). It is not in the public interest to disclose the information asked for, but I would make it clear that no Royal Air Force aircraft have been used in the Kashmir operations.

PERMANENT COMMISSIONS TO I. E. C. O.'s.

438. *Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state what was the number of Indian Emergency Commissioned Officers who attended the camp which was held at Yole last summer?

(b) How many of them have been declared fit to be granted Permanent Commissions?

(c) How many of them will receive Permanent Commissions in the Indian Artillery, Signals, Engineers and Corps of Electrical and Mechanical Engineers respectively?

(d) Is it a fact that many technical officers have left the Army during the last two years?

((e) Have Government taken any steps to persuade them to re-enter the Army?

(f) If so, how many of them have agreed to do so?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) 1783.

(b) The number selected for the Indian Army is 563.

(c) Royal Indian Artillery. 58.

Indian Signal Corps. 35.

Royal Indian Engineers. 24.

Indian Electrical & Mechanical Engineers. 10.

(d) No. not many.

(e) and (f). Government have announced that officers who took their release may again apply for re-commissioning in the Army.

DEMobilIZATION OF COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

439. *Shri S. Nagappa: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) the total number of King's Commissions, Emergency Commissions and Viceroy's Commissions that were granted during the last war;

(b) how many of those Commissioned officers have been demobilised;

(c) how many of such demobilised Commissioned officers have been provided with jobs; and

(d) what Government propose to do with regard to those who are not provided with jobs?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) King's Commissions to Indians

Emergency Commissions to Indians Nil.

Viceroy's Commissions 15,460

(b) Released up to 1st October 1947: Commissioned Officers: 34,500

V. C. Os. 6,070

(c) The information is not readily available. There are many ways in which employment has been found for demobilised officers and it will not be possible to answer this question fully without considerable labour and delay.

(d) Government have created an employment organisation to help demobilised officers in obtaining re-employment.

RECRUITMENT FOR ALL INDIA SERVICES.

440. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the system of recruitment in Government services in the Bombay Presidency?

(b) If so, do Government propose to evolve a similar scheme of recruitment for the All India Services?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No.

(b) Yes. All such machines are of obsolete type and have been carefully inspected by technical experts. Before an armoured vehicle is disposed of, it is rendered useless under Military supervision.

(c) Government have seen many reports to this effect.

(d) Government are fully alive to the situation in Hyderabad.

FORMATION OF PAKISTAN NATIONAL GUARD UNDER ARMY CONTROL.

447. *Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Partition Council had agreed that during the reconstruction period none of the Dominions of India and Pakistan will increase its armed forces?

(b) If so, are Government aware of the recent Ordinance promulgated by the Governor-General of Pakistan, announcing the formation of the National Guard in Pakistan under the control of the Commander-in-Chief of the Pakistan Army?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what action do the Government of India intend to take in this connection?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) and (b). Yes.

(c) I would refer the Honourable Member to my answer to Starred Question No. 431 asked by Shri Deshbandhu Gupta a short while ago.

ELECTION TO CENTRAL BOARD OF EDUCATION

— آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد - جناب مجھے یہ تجویز پیش کرنی ہے —

وہ اس اسمبلی کو چاہئے کہ ایسے طریقے سے جیسے آنریبل سپیکر منظور کریں اپنی

تعداد میں سے پانچ شخصوں کے چناؤ کی کارروائی اختیار کرے یہ پانچ شخص

(Central Advisory Board of Education India) کے ممبر قرار پائیں گے اور

جس تاریخ کو انکا چناؤ ہوگا - اسی تاریخ سے انکی ممبری شروع ہوگی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad (Minister for Education): Sir I move:

"That the members of this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the Speaker, five persons from among their own numbers to be members of the Central Advisory Board of Education in India with effect from the date of election"

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the members of this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the Speaker, five persons from among their own numbers to be members of the Central Advisory Board of Education in India, with effect from the date of election."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform Honourable Members that for the purpose of election by means of the single transferable vote of members to the Central Advisory Board of Education the programme of dates will be as follows:—

(1) Nominations to be filled in the Notice Office upto 12 noon on Wednesday, the 3rd December.

(2) Election, if necessary, will be held on Saturday, the 6th December in the Assistant Secretary's room (No. 21) in the Council House between the hours of 10.30 A.M. and 1 P.M.

ELECTION TO STANDING COMMITTEE FOR MINISTRY OF LAW

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto 12 noon on Thursday, the 27th November, 1947, the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Committee for the Ministry of Law, five nominations were received. As the number of candidates is equal to the number of vacancies, I declare the following members to be duly elected:—(1) Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar, (2) Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand, (3) Dr. P. K. Sen. (4) Shrimati G. Durgabai, and (5) Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur.

INCOME-TAX AND BUSINESS PROFITS TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, and the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act 1922, and the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN ARMY AND THE INDIAN AIR FORCE (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh (Minister for Defence): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the time appointed for the presentation of the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911 and the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, for certain purposes and to make certain consequential amendments to the Administrator General's Act 1913, be extended upto the opening day of the next session of the Assembly."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the time appointed for the presentation of the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911 and the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, for certain purposes and to make certain consequential amendments to the Administrator General's Act 1913, be extended upto the opening day of the next session of the Assembly."

The motion was adopted.

MOTION RE RELIEF AND REHABILITATION OF REFUGEES

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy (Minister for Relief and Rehabilitation): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the problem of the relief and rehabilitation of refugees be taken into consideration".

I am grateful for this opportunity to place before the house a picture of the refugee problem in so far as I am able to envisage it. The House, I am sure, will understand that the magnitude of the problem has been such that there has been no historical parallel to it. Nowhere in history has a transfer of population of such dimensions taken place in such a short time and under such conditions. The House will also realise that the Government was faced with this problem at a time when the administrative machinery was partly out of joint as a result of the Partition, and we had hardly settled down to the task of the governance of Free India. The problem that faced us in so far as refugees are concerned was not really one problem, but literally scores of problems each one having an importance and urgency of its own. I would like to tell the House of our shortcomings, of our frustrations and of our failures for which the blame is not entirely ours but must be shared in a large degree by

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) No.

NAMES AND CASTES OF SCHOLARSHIP HOLDERS SENT ABROAD.

441. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the names and castes of all persons who have received scholarships for studies abroad from the Government of India and the Provincial Governments for each year beginning from 1940 up to the present day?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: †The statements showing the required information are placed on the table of the House.

STATEMENT re SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED FOR STUDIES ABROAD.

442. *Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: Will the Honourable Minister of Education please lay a statement on the table of the House giving the names of those to whom over-seas scholarships have been awarded, the respective amounts of money, the duration of scholarship, and the place of study?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: †Statements showing the required information are placed on the table of the House.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST COMMANDER OF BOUNDARY FORCE.

443. *Shrimati Dakshayani Velayudhan: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state who was in charge of the Boundary Force for the Indian Union when the partition was effected in the Punjab?

(b) Is the allegation that the European Chief of the Boundary Force for Indian Union did not care to protect the people of the Union living in the area of the Boundary correct?

(c) Is the allegation that the same Commander sided with the Pakistan troops to create disturbance in the Punjab correct?

(d) Is the allegation that the Dogra troops of the Union Boundary Force were removed from the Hindu localities in order to aid the Pakistan Boundary Force correct?

(e) Is it a fact that the Indian Forces left in Pakistan were disarmed in many places by orders of the Military Commander?

(f) Will Government be pleased to reveal the strength of the Military used by the Union for the Boundary Force?

(g) How was the Boundary line ascertained?

(h) What action Government have taken to demarcate the Boundary?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The Punjab Bombay Force was under the control of the Supreme Commander and the Joint Defence Council representing both India and Pakistan. It was commanded by Major General T. W. Rees. Brig. Digambar Singh Brar was attached to him in an advisory capacity on behalf of India.

(b) to (e). No, Government are aware that there have been allegations of partiality against this Force, which had a very difficult task to perform. Government do not however consider that any investigation of these is now possible or of any real use.

(f) Approximately 16,000.

(g) and (h). I am afraid, the Honourable Member is under a misapprehension. There was no question of demarcating any Boundary in regard to this Force. The Punjab Boundary Force was formed as a special joint military command to help the civil authorities in East and West Punjab in maintaining law and order in the disputed border districts of Sialkot, Gujranwala, Sheikhpura, Lyallpur, Montgomery, Lahore, Amritsar, Gurdaspur, Hoshiarpur, Jullundur, Ferozepore and Ludhiana.

†Not printed in these Debates. A copy placed in the Library of the House.—Ed. of D.

STATES WITH AND WITHOUT RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENTS.

444. *Shri S. Nagappa: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state:

- (a) the number of States where there is full responsible Government; and
- (b) the number of States where there is no such responsible Government?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). The information is not readily available. It is being collected and will be placed on the table of the House in due course.

PURCHASE OF BRITISH WAR MATERIALS BY PAKISTAN GOVERNMENT.

445. *Shri Phool Singh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Pakistan Government are buying 50,000 Mark V Rifles from the Supreme Commander out of the surplus stocks of British War materials lying in India?

(b) Does any agreement exist between the Indian Union and the British Government regarding the disposal of such materials?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to lay on the table of the House a copy of the same?

(d) Are Government satisfied that the British Government are not violating the terms of the agreement?

(e) Are the Indian Government in need of Arms?

(f) What steps have Government so far taken to make good the deficiency?

(g) What steps Government propose to take to meet the menace from the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No.

(b) There is no formal agreement but the British Government's stocks or stores in India which were not acquired by the old Government of India are intended to meet H.M.G.'s requirements outside India and Pakistan. They are therefore being shipped out under H.M.G.'s instructions.

(c) and (d). Do not arise.

(e) No.

(f) Does not arise.

(g) Government are alive to the dangers from inside or outside the borders of India. It will not be in the public interest to disclose further details.

PURCHASE OF BRITISH WAR MATERIAL BY HYDERABAD STATE.

446. *Shri Phool Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Hyderabad State is purchasing 300 armoured Sherman tanks as scrap from the British war material stocks lying in India;

(b) have Government satisfied themselves that the machines represented as scrap in the Supreme Command are really so;

(c) are Government aware that the Hyderabad Government are fast increasing their Armed Forces and are arming the League National Guards; and

(d) what steps do Government propose to take to meet the menace from the Hyderabad State?

[Shri K. C. Neogy]

Pakistan authorities, and, against the background of a bleak picture, of our modest achievements.

Today we have recovered over 4 million non-Muslims from West Pakistan. The M. E. O. started active operations on the 4th September and has evacuated so far by rail, by road transport and by foot convoy 25,83,000 persons. Some 5 lakhs had come out before 15th August and it is estimated that another 8 lakhs came out between 15th August and 4th September. It may be said that about five lakhs still remain to be evacuated, but no accurate figures are yet available, and this is a matter which is still the subject of investigation. Amongst those that remain to be evacuated about 50,000 are in N. W. F. P.

From Sind out of a total non-Muslim population of 13 to 14 lakhs, 2½ lakhs have already come out. We provided all available shipping to promote evacuation from Karachi. With the assistance of the Jodhpur Government we had arranged for Refugee Specials to be run from Hyderabad-Sind in addition to the scheduled trains.

In regard to the non-Muslim population still left behind in Pakistan, I would like to emphasise that there are three classes of persons, who have been engaging our serious attention. These are abducted women, persons forcibly converted to Islam and the Harijans.

In regard to abducted women, we have to depend on the active assistance of Military authorities, District authorities, women social workers and prominent persons of the locality concerned. Such activity must be organized on both sides of the border and must be complementary. A machinery for this purpose is already in operation and further proposals have been made to the Pakistan Government for the enlarging of such machinery, and in the light of the reports we are receiving I am hopeful of some co-operation.

The problem of the Harijans still remaining in Pakistan is engaging the earnest attention of the Government. The Government recognise that the economic position of this class of people is such that they could not themselves move in the matter of leaving Pakistan and getting over to India without special assistance. It also seems likely that the services that they have been rendering to the people in the area in which they are living would make the Pakistan authorities unwilling to assist in their evacuation. I can assure the House that everything that is possible for this Government to do in this connection will be done.

Broadly speaking, the question of Relief and Rehabilitation of refugees can be classified under the following heads: Reception to Refugees at the time of their arrival from Pakistan; Provision of adequate shelter; Provision of food; Provision of clothing; Medical Relief; Dispersal of Refugees; Resettlement of refugees in rural areas and finding employment for them; Settlement of urban refugees, not to speak of other ancillary problems that baffle classification.

I now turn to the question of affording relief to the Refugees and would at once admit that the magnitude of the task with which we were faced was such that it was impossible to achieve any high degree of perfection. I do not claim that the present arrangements are anywhere near being as good as I would like them to be. All I claim is that we and the East Punjab Government have put out our maximum effort. After making allowances for the disorganisation and disruption of governmental machinery in the affected areas and the abnormality of conditions under which the Government were working I feel that the East Punjab Government have done their best. The House will remember that the late rains and the consequent floods in the rivers considerably added to our difficulties. The refugees that were in transit and in some of the camps were badly exposed to the weather. The breakdown of communications over the greater part of East Punjab hampered our work. We were and are still badly off in the matter of providing suitable arrangements for the reception of refugees at the time of their arrival from Pakistan. This defect is partly due to the fact that the ultimate destination of railway trains from Pakistan in East Punjab are determined by the Pakistan M. E. O. who are responsible for drawing up the programme for evacuation of Muslims from East Punjab into Pakistan. With the assistance of my esteemed colleague Shri Gopalaswami Ayyangar and the collaboration of the East Punjab Government we are endeavouring to remedy our shortcomings in this matter.

The provision of adequate shelter for the incoming refugees is proving one of the most baffling of our problems. All available educational religious and charitable institutions were impressed into service for the accommodation of refugees. Surplus military barracks, wherever available, were utilised for this purpose. It is needless for me to add that a large proportion of refugees have found accommodation with friends and relatives. Tents that were available were, or are being, put out for this purpose to provide accommodation by some amount of squeezing to about 7 lakhs of persons. The present position is that there have been and now still are concentrations of refugees in East Punjab towns on the main railway line from Amritsar to Karnal. Accommodation is, however, still available in tehsil headquarter towns and other small towns in the interior of the districts. Attempts have been made to house refugees in such tehsil towns, but they have not always met with success as the refugees prefer not to move out of headquarter towns. Some of the refugees prefer to remain at the platforms of railway stations in the hope of being able to travel and reach the houses of their friends and relations living in other towns.

As soon as it became apparent that exchange of population between East and West Punjab had become inevitable and that many of the refugees entering India were coming in with nothing except the clothes that they had on, Government took immediate steps for securing blankets, quilts and such other warm clothing as were available in the market. Orders were placed for the supply of nearly 10 lacs of quilts and over 3 lacs blankets for free distribution amongst indigent refugees. Orders were also placed for the supply of 2½ lacs cotton-filled coats and 3½ lacs jerseys. About 1,25,000 lbs. of knitting wool has been issued to the Provincial Governments for distribution to the various voluntary committees and societies in their areas for knitting jerseys. This, it is expected, will enable Government to secure 6 lacs jerseys and bandis ready by the end of this month. Arrangements have also been made for the supply of about forty lacs yards of various kinds of cloth for the use of refugees. Ready-made garments such as shirts, shorts, trousers numbering about 20 lacs pieces have been obtained from the Director-General of Disposals and are being rushed to East Punjab for the use of refugees. A few thousand of blankets have been despatched to the Chief Liaison Officer, Lahore, for the relief of non-Muslim refugees in Sargodha and some other areas in West Punjab. Apart from the efforts of Government in the matter of obtaining clothing, large quantities of old and new ready-made garments, blankets, etc., are being received from all over India and abroad. In Delhi the Cloth Collecting Committee of the United Council of Relief and Welfare is collecting clothing and organizing knitting parties. Government have also waived the levy of customs duty on gift parcels received from abroad and also exempted such parcels from the payment of railway freight and postal charges.

Government in consultation with the East Punjab Government has prescribed a standard ration scale for refugees who are in camps. For the use of refugees in the Kurukshetra Camp Government is sending approximately 80 tons of atta per day. On account of the damage to Kharif crop, the food position of East Punjab has deteriorated considerably. In order to assist the Punjab Government in the matter of food the Central Government allotted 10,000 tons of food-grains in October, and 16,000 tons in November. These allotments are exclusive of the despatches to the refugee camp in Kurukshetra. On receipt of information that our refugees in some places in West Punjab were starving, government had on several occasions to rush food supplies to them by air or road. Splendid efforts on the part of Delhi public made it possible on three such occasions to fly several aeroplanes loaded with cooked food for the starving Hindus and Sikhs in different refugee camps in Pakistan.

[Shri K. C. Neogy.]

Up to the 16th November, medical stores to the extent of over 76,000 lbs. have been supplied not only to East Punjab, Kurukshetra and Delhi but also to non-Muslim camps in West Punjab and Kashmir. Over 70 lacs doses of vaccines have been supplied to East Punjab. Thanks to the energetic steps taken by the Health Ministry, and the personal attention given to the matter by my colleague Rajkumari Amrit Kaur, there was no serious outbreak of any epidemic. As in other fields, here also voluntary organisations have been of immense help to Government. A large number of doctors and nurses have been provided by such organisations and they are doing splendid work in many parts of the country.

Immediate dispersal of refugees if not on the basis of resettlement, at least on the basis of temporary shelter and care, is our first object. On the 24th November, a Conference of Prime Ministers of a number of Provinces and representatives of a number of Indian States was convened and measures for the immediate provision of shelter in different parts of the country were discussed. I would be failing in an elementary duty if I do not acknowledge in this connection the splendid response of people all over India to our call for help to accommodate refugees which has been the most heartening feature in an otherwise tragic situation. We have decided on implementing almost immediately a programme of dispersal to various places such as Gwalior, Bharatpur, Kotah, Ratlam, Alwar, Indore, Bombay, Central Provinces, Bihar, Orissa and Madras. The pace of dispersal is, however, limited by the number of trains that are available for the purpose. I have requested the Ministry of States to investigate immediately the possibility of finding accommodation in Indian States in East Punjab. I am not satisfied that the accommodation available there has been fully taken advantage of. A conference of the Rulers of these States is likely to be held shortly to discuss this matter.

The natural desire of Punjabis not to move too far away from East Punjab, partly explains the congestion in East Punjab, and the influx of a very large number of persons in Delhi and in U. P. The stage has now been reached when dispersal must take place, if lives are to be saved during the next two or three months and any progress is to be made with the tasks of resettlement and rehabilitation.

There are several States which are prepared to absorb agriculturist refugees in their economy. While East Punjab is expected primarily to undertake the rehabilitation of refugees from West Punjab, men from N. W. F. P., Sind, Baluchistan and Bahawalpur State have no special place to go to. It has, therefore, been decided that accommodation in some of the States and Provinces outside East Punjab should, as far as possible, be reserved for refugees from N. W. F. P., Sind, Baluchistan and Bahawalpur. It is estimated that over one lakh persons will be absorbed by Provinces and States outside East Punjab, in addition to those that have already found refuge in those areas—and their number runs into several lakhs.

It is estimated that out of the 42 lakhs refugees arriving in India, about 30 to 32 lakhs will be from rural areas. They must be settled in villages so as to enable them to pursue the occupation they are accustomed to as agriculturists.

as agricultural labourers or as artisans. It has been decided that lands vacated by Muslims in East Punjab should be allotted to non-Muslim refugees for the period upto Rabi 1948. The allotment is to be made on a group basis. The Deputy Commissioners are, however, authorised to make a departure from this general rule in the case of gardens and well-irrigated lands. It has also been decided by the East Punjab Government that refugees arriving from certain districts in the West Punjab are to be allotted lands situated in particular districts in East Punjab, though it has not been possible to adhere to this scheme in all cases.

So far 20 lakh acres have been allotted to over two lakhs of families. It is obvious that agriculturists and village artisans who have been deprived of all that they possessed, will need assistance from Government in the matter of purchase of cattle, implements and seed. They will also require help for the repair of houses which have been left by the previous Muslim occupants in a dilapidated condition. For these purposes, Government would desire Provinces and States to advance loans to such people; and if the Provinces and States are unable to bear the financial burden, the Central Government will give them financial help. It is obvious that refugees who will settle down on land will stand in need of food for themselves and fodder for their bullocks till the next crop is harvested. It is our intention in such cases, to give free grants to refugees, and the Centre and the Provinces and States will share the financial burden. The East Punjab Government have already sanctioned the distribution of taccavi loans amounting to 1,57,50,000 rupees. Of these, Rs. 32½ lakhs is for the purchase of bullocks, Rs. 25 lakhs for the repair of houses and Rs. 50 lakhs for the purchase of fodder.

One of the principal problems in the settlement of evacuees, particularly in rural areas, is that the occupational structure of the groups of evacuees is largely dissimilar between the non-Muslim evacuees who have come in and the Muslim evacuees who have left the area. I would like to observe in this connection that it might be necessary to make skilled artisans give up their hereditary craft and take to something new because of the fact that there are already in the areas in which they are to be settled quite a large number of skilled artisans plying the craft with which the refugee is familiar. As an example, I would like to tell the House that in the East Punjab while the carpenters are generally non-Muslims, the blacksmiths were by and large Muslims. The position in East Punjab is that there are a large number of carpenters available and more have come in from West Punjab, while the blacksmiths who were Muslims have migrated, and there are few non-Muslim refugee blacksmiths to take their place. It is really a question of either training non-Muslims in the blacksmith's craft or making some non-Muslim carpenters take to blacksmithy.

On account of inadequacy of staff, rehabilitation in rural areas has not proceeded according to plan. Instances have come to our notice where the permanent inhabitants of East Punjab took possession of more land than they were entitled to. Instances are not also lacking where refugees have taken possession of land in more than one District. These are some of the difficulties which are but inevitable, in dealing with a problem of this magnitude.

Government are faced with the problem of rehabilitation of about 12 to 15 lakhs of people from urban areas belonging to all sections of the community. It is obvious that existing towns in East Punjab are incapable of absorbing this large number of urban population from West Punjab. With a view to accommodating refugees, steps have been taken to carry out repairs to houses and Bungalows which were damaged. It has also been decided that allotment of residential accommodation will be made only to those who have come from urban areas in West Punjab. It is estimated that there will be about 5½ lakhs of non-Muslim urban refugees for whom no accommodation is immediately available. These refugees will have to remain under canvas and in refugee camps for a longer period than others, until arrangements are made to absorb them in urban areas. In this context, schemes such as urban redevelopment of large cities, building of new capital for the East Punjab are being examined. We have addressed all Provincial Governments and Indian States to consider immediately and report on the possibilities of suburban development in the vicinity of large towns and cities all over India. We have also requested certain States to give priorities to refugees in the matter of exploitation of business opportunities created from the evacuation of Muslims from those States.

[Shri K. C. Neogy]

According to an Ordinance promulgated in Delhi, a refugee must register himself within a specified period from the date of his arrival in Delhi. So far 2,64,000 refugees have thus been registered. The registration work in the East Punjab will commence shortly. While registration and tabulation results will take time to complete, plans for rehabilitation have not been held up on that account.

The registration of refugees at Delhi has revealed that there are a large number of highly educated, qualified and experienced refugees, suitable for being placed in employment all over the country. The task of bringing the talented refugees together and providing Central and Provincial Boards to find them employment throughout the country, is now engaging the attention of the Ministry, and we propose to accept the offer of help that has come from the Tata organisation in this connection.

Employment Exchanges have been opened in Delhi and Simla. Exchanges have also been opened in East Punjab and West U. P. at places where large concentration of refugees has occurred. A large number of refugees have already been registered by the Exchanges and many of them have secured employment. A Transfer Bureau has been opened by the Ministry of Home Affairs and instruction issued to all Ministries that vacancies should not be filled until it has been ascertained that suitable candidates cannot be supplied by the Transfer Bureau. Up to the middle of November, over 8 thousand refugees secured employment under the Government of India and in certain Provinces.

I would like to draw the attention of the House to one feature running through all the schemes that I have dealt with above. That is, the plans that have been devised are largely in the nature of ad hoc plans and some of them have a short-term validity. The question of the refugee rehabilitation must be dove-tailed into a bigger all-India plan of reconstruction. For the time being my Ministry has to concentrate on the immediate needs of the situation, but we have not lost sight of the fact that a permanent settlement of this issue will only be possible as a part of an all-India plan of Reconstruction and development.

Training of semi-skilled and skilled persons is of the utmost importance in any programme of rehabilitation. The programme of industrial development requires that supply of trained man-power should be substantial. With this object in view it has been arranged that over 4 thousand men will be immediately trained in Labour Ministry centre for ex-Servicemen in a number of technical and vocational trades. Large stocks of goods available in the Disposals Directorate have been frozen with the idea of utilising them for rehabilitation of refugees. The stocks cover equipment required for 27 different trades.

Government has sanctioned an advance of a sum upto Rs 300/- to an individual in order to facilitate resettlement. These loans are meant for traders, businessmen, artisans, persons wishing to set up their own workshops or cottage industry. This scheme will be brought into operation almost immediately in the Centrally administered areas. The Central Government will be prepared to render financial assistance to any Province or administration which decides to adopt a similar scheme with such modifications as it may consider necessary.

A scheme for granting loans to students and trainees abroad whose guardians are no longer in a position to finance them, has been sanctioned. An extension of the scheme to students in India is also under consideration. For helping big industry and business, proposals to have a Rehabilitation and Financial Corporation are under consideration in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India.

In order to provide facilities for refugees coming from Pakistan who have been unable to transfer their savings bank accounts to Post Offices in India, it has been decided to allow withdrawals from postal savings Banks in respect of investments made prior to 14th August, under certain conditions.

The payment of advances to Central Government Civil pensioners who have come as refugees from Pakistan has been authorised. Indian military pensioners have also been permitted to draw pensions subject to certain conditions.

All the various schemes of rehabilitation may help in mitigating the hardships to which refugees have been subjected, but there is no denying the fact that these are merely palliatives. Many of these refugees who were in affluent circumstances have been reduced to a state of penury. It is inconceivable that they will contentedly settle down to a standard of life which is far below that to which they have been accustomed in the past. The Government will undoubtedly try to do their best to salvage as much as possible of the assets left behind by such people in Pakistan. But there is a limiting factor to Government's efforts in this direction; and that is that full and hearty co-operation on the part of Pakistan Government cannot be taken for granted.

Now, let me turn to some of the ancillary activities of the Ministry. We have an Information Bureau, which despite difficulties, defects and short-comings is now organised to render good service. We have a Fact Finding Organization which is collecting authentic details of difficulties and hardships which non-Muslims in Pakistan had to endure. A large number of cases have been investigated and a number of witnesses have been examined. We have an organization for registration of property claims. An Enquiries and Search Service working under the Indian Red Cross Society and St. John's Ambulance Unit, is beginning to produce useful results.

We have a Custodian of Evacuee's Property in Delhi. There have been many complaints about the functioning of this organisation. I am aware of these complaints. The personnel running this organization might not be all as it ought to be. The fact has, however, to be borne in mind that the task of this Organization is of some magnitude and the very nature of its work is bound to give cause for complaints. Applicants for residential and other accommodation number several times the units available. A large residue of discontent cannot thus be avoided under the most perfectly conceived management. While I recognize the genuineness of some of the complaints, I would like to emphasize that complaints as such cannot be eliminated when we are faced with a simple but none the less inexorable economic factor of a state of short supply in the face of a large demand.

Sir, no account of the activities of the Ministry will be complete without special mention of the Women's Section. All activities pertaining to women and children amongst refugees are now the special concern of the Women's Section, which is in charge of Mrs. Rameshwari Nehru as Honorary Director, who is not likely to spare either time or effort to start Homes for unattended women and children, place orphan children in Foster Homes, and take every measure for securing rehabilitation of these classes of persons. The organization is already busy working on these problems.

[Shri K. C. Neogy]

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru (U. P.: General): May I know whether the rehabilitation of women and children is going on in Delhi or in East Punjab?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Primarily in Delhi but the influence of this organisation is likely to pervade the whole of the East Punjab. As a matter of fact, certain schemes of the East Punjab in this context are already under the consideration of our Ministry.

I cannot pass on without a reference to the work of the United Council of Relief and Welfare and the bodies affiliated to it. The bringing together all these various voluntary bodies has been mainly the work of Her Excellency Lady Mountbatten. Apart from this, she has personally rendered great service in the cause of refugees, and assisted the Ministry in many ways for which she deserves the gratitude of the country. Some of the prominent bodies affiliated to this Council deserve mention. They are the Indian Red Cross Society, St. John Ambulance Unit, Friends' Service Unit, Marwari Relief Society and National Christian Council. In addition to these bodies, the Ramakrishna Mission has been doing useful work at the Kurukshetra Camp.

The Congress workers have brought into being another organisation styled the Central Relief Committee, which under the inspiring leadership of its President, Shrimati Sucheta Kripalani has rendered very useful service by organising certain camps in Delhi, besides looking after the reception arrangements of refugees arriving in Delhi.

Assistance has come from all quarters and in many shapes. I am very thankful for the useful suggestions I have received from individual members of this House and from individual refugees themselves. I cannot adequately express my gratitude to the Advisory Committee attached to my Ministry for the valuable help I am continuously receiving from them.

Sir, I have tried in a small compass to give the House a glimpse of the nature of the problems and an account of what has been done. Much has to be done still. As I have said before, the response of the country has been magnificent so far but the final and satisfactory solution of the problems created by this huge transfer of population can only be arrived at by the nation's representatives exercising a diligent and continued interest in the matter. I am aware that there have been criticisms of the Ministry. I welcome all criticisms. I do hope that this debate will reveal to the Ministry the wishes of the House in the shape of concrete suggestions, so that the Ministry can go forward to the bigger and more serious task ahead with the assurance that it has the House behind it and through it, the confidence of the nation.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the problem of the relief and rehabilitation of refugees be taken into consideration".

I have already referred to the time limit for the speeches—10 minutes ordinarily, which may be extended to 15, in case the Honourable Member is giving useful information or suggestions.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): May I request you to arrange the Mike in such a manner that the speaker standing behind it will face the whole House. One of the mikes may be placed there (pointing to a place below the dias) as in the Constituent Assembly.

Several Honourable Members: No, no.

Mr. Speaker: The convention here is, has always been and should be that every speaker scrupulously addresses the Chair, and of course, the Chamber is so constructed that wherever he stands he will be facing the House practically.

Diwan Chaman Lall (East Punjab: General): The House is grateful to my Honourable friend and colleague, Mr. Neogy, for the bird's eye view of the problem facing the refugees of the Punjab, which he has placed before the House. He has told the House of the work done by the Ministry; He has told the House quite rightly of the great efforts made by individuals and organisations, by the States and the Provinces, as regards the solution of the problem of rehabilitation and relief of the refugees. I hope he will not misunderstand me when I say that he has prepared an inventory of the activities of the Ministry in regard to the refugee problem, and as he has said quite rightly, that it is a colossal problem. The words he used were: "It is unprecedented in the history of the world". But 'colossal' as it is, my Honourable friend will pardon me if I suggest that there is a great deal yet to be done before we congratulate ourselves on having arrived anywhere near a solution of this problem. I probably am the only refugee, may I say the only genuine refugee in this House, and as such I have a claim to the attention of the House in regard to the problems which have faced us day in and day out.

Let me to begin with, Mr. Speaker, congratulate the Head of this Government, the Prime Minister, for the deep attention, care and anxiety that he has always shown in the matter of the refugee problem. As soon as the disaster was upon us, he took it upon himself to visit the Punjab, not once, but frequently. Immediately after the 15th of August, he visited Ambala, Amritsar and Lahore and thereafter on many an occasion he went to see for himself what the problem was like and attempted to bring some measure of relief and comfort and succour to those who have been the victims of this great disaster. Not only did he show a tenderness of heart, but with his characteristic leonine courage he tackled the problem and he asked my friend, Mr. Neogy, to take charge of this Ministry, which he created for this special purpose. Not content with this, when he saw how colossal the problem was, he asked one of the most able administrators that this country knows, one of the finest administrators that this country has ever known—I refer to Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar—to take charge, of the Ministry without Portfolio. I take it, I do not quite know what exactly the designation means, but I take it that in this terrible disaster facing the East Punjab Government which had neither files, nor office, nor staff at any rate to meet this great need; it was found by the Prime Minister that it was necessary that there should be a Minister at the Centre; who might co-ordinate the activities of the East Punjab Government with the activities of the Central Government. It is to his credit, Mr. Speaker, that he has soon after taking charge of this Portfolio set up an organization for the rapid evacuation of the refugees who still remained in Western Punjab and the colossal figures pointed out by my Honourable friend, Mr. Neogy, in regard to the evacuation and the methodical manner in which that evacuation was taken charge of with the assistance of my Honourable friend in charge of the Defence Department, bears testimony to the ability, the experience and the courage with which he undertook this problem. Today it is stated that there may be possibly 5 lakh refugees still left in Western Punjab.

Now, Sir, I will not proceed with my speech without making a reference also to the Great Man, who is now rightly known as 'the Father of the Nation'—Mahatma Gandhi—for the great and keen interest that he has consistently displayed in the refugee problem and the guidance and advice that he has always given us for the good of this nation.

Having said all this, we must realize that the problem is not so easy as it seems after hearing the speech of my Honourable friend. I do not want

[Diwan Chaman Lall]

Honourable members to go away with the impression that everything possible that can be done has been done for the refugees. My Honourable friend said so, but the difficulties that face the refugees—I only wish my Honourable friend had referred in detail to those difficulties—are colossal and whether they can be tackled in this manner without proper co-ordination between the two Governments, whether it can be tackled without a plan is a matter not for me to decide; but it is quite patent that unless and until we can take full powers in our hands at the Centre to deal with this problem, this problem will never be satisfactorily settled to the refugees who came away from West Punjab. Take the question, Mr. Speaker, of the figures alone. We have been given different sets of figures, in regard to the numbers of refugees who have come away. I ask how is it possible for any Government to rehabilitate these refugees unless you are aware at least of the approximate numbers of these refugees? It is for this reason that we asked the Prime Minister, and he very rightly consented, that he should appoint an Advisory Committee attached to the Office of my Honourable friend, Mr. Neogy, and I am very grateful to Mr. Neogy for the references that he has made to the work of this Advisory Committee. We also suggested to the Prime Minister that he should introduce, as far as this area is concerned, an ordinance for the purpose of compulsory registration of every refugee. Unless and until you compulsorily register every refugee, you will not be in a position to know what type of refugee has come away, and if you are not in a position to know what type of refugee he is, you will certainly not be in a position to rehabilitate him. We have been begging the East Punjab Government for the last 2½ months asking them to do what has been done very efficiently in Delhi. Within a period between the 14th of October and the 31st of October this little organization set going by my Honourable friend for the compulsory registration of every refugee, was able to register one lakh ten thousand refugees, within a period of a few days and that organization, Mr. Speaker, you will be amazed to know, consisting of 19 experts from Bombay and 12 experts lent by the Government of India—31 experts—have today practically completed the registration of all the refugees, numbering practically 300,000. If all this could be done in Delhi within a few days at the Centre, why could it not be done equally efficiently by the East Punjab Government, so that we could know exactly what is the type of refugee who has come away, instead of merely guessing that urban refugees are more than rural refugees, and therefore stating that we shall not be able to rehabilitate them in East Punjab.

Now I submit, Sir, that if we look at the figures we find, for instance, that in the Lahore Division the Hindus and Sikhs who have come away are about 24½ lakhs, from the Rawalpindi Division about 6½ lakhs and from the Multan Division about 10½ lakhs. Taking out the figures of Gurdaspur and Amritsar this gives us a total of about 37 lakhs. This is the figure according to the census reports. We have not got the figures according to the actual facts as evidenced by this exodus; We would have had the figures if the registration had been compulsory. To this day we are being told that the registration to be done in East Punjab will not be compulsory but on a voluntary basis. I do not know what that means. If you are going voluntarily to register these refugees you have still got to have some sort of organisation for that purpose; and if you are going to have an organisation why not have that organisation for compulsory registration? It may not cost anything much more. Now out of these 37 lakh refugees—and in this figure is included the refugees from the Frontier Province and Baluchistan—what have we got on the other side? How many people have gone out of East Punjab as compared with the numbers who have come into East Punjab? The figure totalled up according to the census reports is not less than 53 lakhs; 53 lakhs have gone, according to the census figures, out of East Punjab and the Delhi area into West Pakistan.

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar (Minister without Portfolio): Including the States.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Yes, including the Punjab States.

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: Sir, may I correct my Honourable friend? He does not suggest that all the 53 lakhs have actually gone out yet? That is the figure which had to go out if the evacuation was complete.

Diwan Chaman Lall: I speak subject to correction. I quite see that these are the figures that had to go out. Can my Honourable friend say how many have still not gone out? Have Government got any figures to that effect? Let me inform my Honourable friend that out of seven lakhs in Kapurthala State and Patiala State there is not a single Muslim who remains there; they have all gone out of these States. It may be that there are certain pockets in East Punjab and a certain number of Muslims who have not gone out. I hope they will not go out; I am one of those who do not believe in this compulsory and forcible exodus of our own nationals. But let me see how many remain. It may be possible—of course it is just guess work—that out of 53 lakhs there will be 3 lakhs. That is a figure which I hope my Honourable friend will accept.

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I hope to be able to give some figures when I speak.

Diwan Chaman Lall: My Honourable friend will accept this argument that many more Muslims have gone out of East Punjab than Hindus and Sikhs who have come in from West Punjab into East Punjab. My figure is this, that even if you take it at 50 lakhs there is a very large difference between the two. Mian Iftikharuddin, speaking at Lahore a few days ago, put it at 20 lakhs; I put it at 15 lakhs. Let us take it that it is 15 lakhs. Then why, I ask, has this policy been adopted by the East Punjab Government of asking the Punjabis to get out of East Punjab? The Punjabis have no doubt been ruined; the Hindus and Sikhs of West Punjab have been ruined. But why try to ruin them further by scattering them all over the country, instead of letting them settle down in this land of the Punjab? What is the idea of scattering them all over and saying to the world, "We have not got room in East Punjab for these people", when actually 15 lakh more Muslims have gone out of East Punjab and in whose place the Hindus and Sikhs can be accommodated? Why is it that Government are so eager and so keen that there should be this second exodus after the first exodus that has taken place and that there should be a dispersal of the Punjabi race to the four winds of the world? I submit that this is the problem that my Honourable friend will have to face and face it with the East Punjab Government. It is said that a large number of refugees have come in who are of the urban type. Actually the figure as given by my Honourable friend is 5½ lakhs. It is quite possible that the figure is much higher according to the statistics that have been given to us. There are at least three lakh urban families that have to be provided for, which means nearly 15 lakh people if you take a family unit at five which it is as far as the Punjab is concerned. Now where are you going to provide them? My Honourable friend would like to turn a carpenter into a blacksmith. I should like him to give us an idea as to what this Government's plans are for the rehabilitation of these urban refugees from West Punjab. Why is it not possible for Government to try thinking in terms of building a new series of towns and townships where these people will be housed and where they can lead a corporate life? Take the case of Rawalpindi; if the Rawalpindi people can be settled in one new town built for this particular purpose, their own social and homogeneous life will continue. The same is true of every city. I see no reason, then, why Government should not think in these terms rather than the easier term which is to disperse them wherever anybody is willing to have them, whether in the Indian States or whether from here right down to Madras. It must be realised, Sir, that the Punjabi is used to a particular type of life and a particular type of climate; and it will not be possible for the Punjabi to go and settle down in any large numbers in a place where his language is not known, where his food is not the same and where the climate is not the climate to which he is used. Therefore it is a problem which has to be faced not in terms of ten crores, not in terms of 25 crores but in terms of hundreds of crores. If really Government are anxious to rehabilitate and build the life of the Punjab refugee there are many things that can be done. For instance, we must realise that there is great need at the present moment of thinking in terms of a big plan; my Honourable friend referred to it. Yes, that is the only manner in which we can do the right thing to the Punjab refugees. We see today hundreds and thousands of them lying on railway platforms not because they are anxious to catch trains but because there is no arrangement made for them. And I am glad that my Honourable friend paid this tribute to Lady Mountbatten. I think it was her interest which brought about the necessity of turning Kurukshetra into a camp run by government. I suggest that every relief camp and refugee camp and transit camp should be taken over by the Central Government. You have in the Punjab today an administration which has broken down, not through the fault of our administrators but because of the exigencies of the circumstances. You have got one Minister running the portfolios of nearly three Ministers and running all sorts of departments. It is impossible for these Ministers running all these important departments to pay any attention to the problem of rehabilitating these refugees. It is necessary that the Central Government should take over all this task and not only be responsible financially as they eventually will be—but to take over the execution of the administration of this particular problem in order that they may be able to build a new country for those of us who have lost the country which belonged to our ancestors. I suggest that there are a few things that they can do. Take the case of properties.

[Diwan Chaman Lall]

Huge properties have been left, the other side and practically lost. May I suggest to the Government that they may take this matter up with the Pakistan Government and settle it on a Government to Government basis, meanwhile allowing exchanges and sales of property—hundreds of crores worth of property. This matter can be settled by the Government taking it in hand and making an assessment of the value of the property left in Pakistan and an assessment of the value of the property left this side. This is an urgent and important problem.

Take the case of the problem of relief of refugees. It is no use dumping these refugees as if they were bags of ordure to be carted from one dump heap to another. It must be done on a proper scientifically systematised basis, and it can only be done, because of the difficulties in East Punjab, by the Central Government. I give credit to my Honourable friend's department and officers. They are doing a grand job of work. But it is necessary to expand this department, and I suggest that my Honourable friend may set up a Board which may be in charge not only of the finance for relief and rehabilitation but have the power to execute whatever decisions are arrived at, consisting of a Minister from East Punjab, my Honourable friend, Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar and a few others here may be appointed on this Board so that from day to day this problem of the refugees, their relief and rehabilitation remains before the country and before the Government, and proper plans evolved for the purpose of giving them adequate relief.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Mr. Speaker, today we are to discuss the refugees and the refugee problem. At the outset I take objection to that word 'refugee'. It is an abominable word. The people that come to us in India in a helpless state from West Punjab are not refugees. They are natives of this country, born of the soil, brought up in the midst of surroundings in which we grew. They have title and a right to live in these portions of the country. It is not as if they are strangers, coming to seek refuge and shelter at your hands. I would therefore like to warn the Government to avoid the word 'refugee' and not hurt the sense of self-respect of those who have come here and I may say many of them have objected to that denomination.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya (West Bengal: General): What do you suggest?

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: I would call them pravasis or evacuees. A pravasi is one who is exiled, and they have been either voluntarily or involuntarily exiled and if my phraseology is not adequate, I would like you to consult a dictionary!

But the word used carries with it a tinge of inferiority and humiliation and that must be removed. The other day in the course of the answers to a question on 'Refugees' I put a supplementary question and asked whether the Government had any scheme of building a town at Kurukshetra. I believe the answer was in the negative.

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I said the matter was under consideration. But personally I was not very hopeful of the practical possibility.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Yes, there was a tinge of pessimism about it. That is what lingered in my mind.

I have gone to Kurukshetra. There were 150,000 people when I went and I was informed that another 50,000 were expected. There were tents to accommodate only 20,000 people. They were not tents but apologies for tents—two sheets of cloth on either side, with the front and back open, furnishing hardly any shelter against the growing cold. I do not blame the Government. The Government has to readjust itself to the requirements of an emergency for which it was not prepared, although it should have been able to foresee these things, having once assented to the partition of the country.

On close examination I found that what was ailing the people was not the absence of protection against the cold—and certainly not food, because there was no complaint against food. And when one person complained against food, ten persons pounced upon him and said, 'You should not say that. There is adequate food'. That was indeed gratifying to hear. But it is the note of despair and despondency, the feeling of helplessness, and of irritation, and the feeling of revengefulness that was visible in the people there that drew my attention. If you mentioned anything about work, they got wild and rose like a cobra on its tail. 'What do you mean? We are not going to work. You have destroyed us. You have divided the country against our will. Who asked you to divide the country?' And then they began to make wild gestures as if they would, if only they could see the persons responsible for the partition, assail them physically. This feeling of irritation, this feeling of wild revengefulness, was their only animating feature. Of course, there was good excuse for that kind of feeling in their state of helplessness, exposure to cold, want of blankets and of other conveniences.

I was told that there were 2,700 blankets there and they were to be assigned to the inhabitants on a medical certificate. There were nineteen doctors, and each of them had to be approached by the people there. It was a very good arrangement. I do not object to it although it was somewhat departmental. But in the end there were not enough blankets and when I enquired here I was told that samples of blankets sent to the Supply Department were under examination on the sixteenth day of despatch.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Who gave this information to the Honourable Member?

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: If you want the name of the person I will find out and write to you. But I shall be glad to be assured that there was no delay in the Supply Department in the purchase of blankets. I shall be more than gratified if you can assure me of that. These things have to be done as if in war time—quickly, and without regard to the economies of peace time. Time is the essence of relief and people exposed to cold are apt to catch pneumonia and die. That is the real difficulty. But what struck me in Kurukshetra was that a beautiful city could be erected, and you know the urban population, as my Honourable friend, the earlier speaker has stated, is finding it difficult to be provided with suitable means of accommodation and settlement. The urban population can only be accommodated and easily accommodated in an urban area, and to bring them to Delhi or to Lucknow or any other place would be to congest places already crowded and to introduce an element of competition which is most undesirable. The best thing is to build a town. They will feed themselves. What do we all do in the city? We feed upon one another. That may look extravagant, when so stated, that may be even comic looking, but that is a fact. I am a doctor, I treat a patient. I have a legal case I go to the lawyer and give him a fee. The lawyer goes to the teacher: the teacher goes to the printer: the printer goes to the publishers: the publishers pay the manufacturers of machines: the manufacturers pay the sellers of galvanised sheets: and so on.

Thus it is an economy which circulates and which rotates and it would be the best economy if the money is conserved within the area. That is the kind of economy which we are trying to establish in the village economy scheme, and therefore I say that the best thing is that once you start the construction of a town each man will get some occupation. All that the Government has to do is to provide the necessary money and the material.

I think we are spending some thing like a couple of lakhs or 3 lakhs a day. You are spending a crore a month and in a year twelve crores. With this money you can build four towns easily and there nearly two million people can be accommodated. Of course I am not an expert. I am not an engineer. I am not an architect. Perhaps I am only a little bit of a mason, a carpenter, a smith, a weaver and perhaps a good spinner. But the fact is that the suggestions that are made by laymen should be examined by Government with some care. There are three tubewells in Kurukshetra which give abundant water supply. There is a beautiful tank which is traceable to the time of the Pandavas and it would provide a lovely scenery to the new town. I do not swear by Kurukshetra. Anyway, as my Honourable friend Diwan Chaman Lal has said, bring into existence some towns.

I do not want to emphasise other points, as I have not the time, but I want to invite pointed attention to this one suggestion.

Mr. Speaker: Mrs. Sucheta Kripalani.

Shrimati Sucheta Kripalani (U. P. : General): Sir, I would prefer to speak in the afternoon.

Mr. Speaker: Preferences are not given to speakers. Whosoever is called upon to speak must address the House at the time, otherwise the Honourable Member would lose the opportunity to speak.

Shrimati Sucheta Kripalani: Sir, I have heard very carefully the case placed before the House by the Honourable Mr. Neogy and I do appreciate the work that has been done by the Government in bringing out people from the Punjab and the N.-W.F.P. Though much has been done, a great deal remains to be done, particularly with regard to the rescue of abducted women. I myself have not much personal knowledge about the rescue of these women but I have heard from people who have been doing rescue work in the Punjab and other places that that all is being done is not enough. For instance about 300 women were rescued from Sheikpura and taken to a place called Sheritpura but no trace of these women can be found. We have brought them out from West Punjab but have not succeeded in restoring them to their homes.

Another instance that was given to me was that in Sheikpura there used to be a women's section in the Camp. Under the orders of the Deputy Commissioner it was decided that this section should be shifted to the women's camp in Amritsar proper. When these women were brought over to the women's camp in Amritsar only old women and children were found but young women could not be traced. What I want to emphasise is that not only our women are having a bad time in the West Punjab but when they are brought over here no proper arrangements exist to give them the protection they need.

I have heard of other cases also. In the Gujranwala camp an old Sikh leader who was running the camp had to organise special guards to protect the women there. Not only are there difficulties in rescuing women but there are difficulties of protecting them after rescue. Government should take care to see that after women are rescued they do not fall into bad hands. I am told on very reliable authority that there is a very heavy traffic in women going on in the Punjab. Therefore I suggest that after women are brought over here they should be registered and should only be handed over to reliable organisations or reliable persons who would look after them. In this connection I am glad to learn that a women's department has been opened in the Secretariat. I hope the department will work quickly. I know that there are considerable difficulties in the way but camps should be started as early as possible, so that the women rescued are not ruined for ever and lost to society.

There is another difficulty. Many of these abducted women, even when our parties go to rescue them, do not wish to come, because they feel that they have no place in Hindu society. They feel that their lives have been almost ruined and that they would rather continue where they are than return back. I believe these women can be brought back provided the Government can give them an assurance that they would be the charge of the Government and that the Government would give them all the necessary protection and look after them, if their families are not prepared to take them back. In Bengal too we had like difficulties but as the number was very small, and we were able to manage the thing privately and induced the original families to take back the women. Here however the number is very large and some more appropriate measures will be necessary. I do not know if Mr. Neogy can give us an idea of the number of abducted women. I do not know if this aspect of the rescue work has been realised. As a matter of fact I myself had not realised that women were being harassed like this after they came to our own country. I can give more instances but I do not like to take more time of the House on this one item.

As regards evacuation in general I congratulate the Government for the work that they have done but at the same time I think there is lack of co-ordination and a great deal of confusion. Trains are sent to all kinds of places without any previous arrangement for the reception of the evacuees. As a matter of fact sometimes trains start without knowing where they are going. For instance, I got a telephone message yesterday from Ambala to the effect that the refugees boarded the train under the impression that they were being taken to Rohtak and Karnal while actually they were taken only to Ambala and were asked to get out there. 5,000 people who were to go to Rohtak and Karnal had then to lie on the platforms without food or shelter. The relief workers had a very bad time of it: they were able to look after them with very great difficulty. Another train which was supposed to go to Gurdaspur also came to Ambala. I do not know if Ambala is on the route to Gurdaspur from West Punjab. There are other similar instances. Not only does this create confusion but it adds to the very great misery already existing.

[Shrimati Sucheta Kripalani]

Again people from the West Punjab as also refugees from Delhi have been sent to other places without knowing what sort of reception they would get at the other end. We are told that the U.P. could take no more refugees. I know for a fact that a refugee train had to go to the U.P. without any previous intimation to the U.P. Government. I have heard of one instance in which a train started from Abdullapur. It was a goods train and the doors were closed. When it came to Kalanaur station and the doors of the train were opened it was found that the wagons contained refugees and not goods! What miseries and sufferings the poor refugees would have undergone in the goods wagons could easily be imagined. A few of them had died in the wagons. Such things are happening, not because the Government does not wish to help them but there is a lack of co-ordination between the departments. I had to suffer myself in Delhi during the days of the riots. Government passed orders that no more refugees were to come to Delhi. In the Emergency Council our President told me that my troubles were at an end and that I had not to bother about reception at Delhi. For a day or two I thought that I had got some relief but soon refugees were pouring in at the rate of three to four thousands per day. Daily refugee trains were coming into Delhi. So you can very well realise that there is enough scope for better co-ordination in this work. The Government must see that proper reception arrangements are made for the refugees.

As regards reception too I would like to point out the magnitude of the work that is before us. For instance in Ambala there are 40,000 refugees in the camp—there are about 20,000 outside the camp, 10,000 at the station and another 10,000 here and there. The refugees in the camp are given their rations and clothes, whereas the refugees outside the camp do not get either their food rations or clothes. How are these people to go on? We have similar cases in Delhi also. We did not have adequate reception arrangements and we did not get any food for the people whom we had to feed outside the camp and the amount of confusion and human misery that was caused to the refugees as a consequence can easily be imagined.

About relief itself I want to point out one or two things. I know much is being done but something more can be done. Accommodation is the biggest problem in any refugee work. I understand that there are a very large number of military barracks, most of which are not in use. There are lots of barracks in East Punjab, round about Delhi area, in the U.P. and also in Bombay and several other places, where the refugee problem is very great. But these barracks are not available for the accommodation of the refugees and I do not know for what reason. For instance, in Bombay, where I was recently, I saw the Worli Barracks, which can easily accommodate 20,000, whereas the refugees were lying on the roads and at the docks living in the most inhuman and miserable condition. Here in Delhi too we had very great difficulty with regard to accommodation, though I was fortunate enough to secure military barracks through the kind help of the Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh. But I would like to point out one or two small things here. Sardar Baldev Singh very kindly gave me an order that I could get 1,000 military tents and although three months have passed up to this day I have got only 50 tents. Then I saw I could not get any more. I therefore hired whatever tents I could from the Delhi shops for which I had to pay a few thousand rupees. It was a waste of money, but there was no other course. I feel that the Defence Department should be very willing to give these barracks. They are available. But for some reason or another we are not getting them, and the consequence is that people have to suffer. Many of them are being dismantled when there is terrible housing shortage. I do not know for what reason they are being dismantled. If all the Departments put their heads together we can still create greater facilities to do the work.

There is another point about relief and that is food. We usually give food only in the camps. I can only quote from my own experience of the arrangements in Delhi. In Delhi we have about 20 thousand refugees in camps. The rests are in houses. All of them are not rich and more than 50 per cent of them require help in some form or another. We are not giving them any help with regard to rations. It is a tremendous task, I know, and there can be lot of corruption, but we must set up some machinery by which we can give help to these people also. As it is the refugees in the houses, are not getting any help.

The same thing can be said with regard to the distribution of clothing and quilts. In Delhi, whatever we get from the Government we distribute in the camps and whatever we get from private organisations we distribute to refugees who are not living in the camps. It is a tremendous task and we cannot get through it merely through private help. I would like the Ministry to consider this point of the need for helping refugees who are not living inside the camps.

Regarding rehabilitation I am very glad to learn from the Honourable Minister that they have decided to give loans to the refugees. I remember more than a month back I went to the Honourable Minister in this connection. We were trying to settle some refugees in the rural areas of Delhi and give them some lands. But the condition that the Custodian of Evacuee Property imposed was that if the refugees had enough money and resources to get ploughs and the other necessary implements, then alone the lands could be given to them. But as they were destitutes they could not do so. We did not also have any resources and so I approached the Honourable Minister, Mr. Neogy, for loans. At that time he said that he could not take up the matter. Now I am glad to find that they are in a position to give loans, though I do not know whether they have actually started giving loans or not. Hundreds of people flock to me everyday asking for loans. The people who have come from the Punjab are not people who like to go and beg; they are very self-respecting and self-reliant and anxious to do something by themselves. But because our rehabilitation measures are taking such a long time they are not getting the opportunity to establish themselves.

In this connection I would like to suggest that for the rural people to whom we wish to give loans we can start new settlements and co-operative societies, and through the help of these societies they can get land and start working. We have got an opportunity for reconstruction. Mr. Neogy just now said that our rehabilitation plan should be dove-tailed with the all-India reconstruction plan. If we are planning to start a new society for these people why not do it on a new basis? If you eliminate exploitation and the middleman in this matter it will be a very great work done. It will be a very great experiment for which we have a golden opportunity today, and I would ask the Ministry to think over it and institute measures by which we can start new societies on this basis.

For cottage industries also we can proceed by establishing small co-operatives. I have myself started a very small experiment in one of the villages of Delhi where we are taking up 10 cottage crafts. We shall see how we succeed. The result of our experiment will of course be before the Ministry.

Somebody mentioned that a new town should be brought into existence. I quite agree with him because if this large urban population that is coming in cur hand is not settled soon there will be too much discontent and the entire problem will be so complicated that we won't be able to meet the problem. I took a census of the refugees coming to Delhi. 70 per cent of them are small or big traders. It is very difficult to settle them because all these traders will not find enough work in East Punjab or in Delhi. Therefore, if we want to give them an opportunity to live, new towns have got to come into existence. Even this can be done on a co-operative basis. We could have finance corporations and these finance corporations can produce enough funds to give them an opportunity to work.

[Shrimati Sucheta Kripalani]

Housing also is a very big problem. Something was said about the work of the Delhi Custodian of Evacuee Property. As I am a member of the Advisory Committee of the Custodian I know how difficult is his task. The best of men would get lot of blame even if he tried to do the work as fairly as possible. But I would say that the work is not being done as it should be. I do not wish to go into the details of the difficulties that face the work, but the difficulties that they have had to face in connection with this work can be minimised. Other Members of the Advisory Committee may be able to tell you—some of them are Members of this House—that some of us have stopped going to the Advisory Committee meetings because we feel it is useless to go there. Our advice is accepted only on paper; it is never given effect to. I feel that the greater the time we take in doing this work the greater will be the corruption and other evils that will creep in. If we had finished allocation of the houses within a month the work could have been done easily. But unfortunately there is too much red-tapism and too much of the official method of working with the result that nothing is quickly done. What is happening is that as we are taking more and more time, houses are being forcibly occupied. When a house is already forcibly occupied it is very difficult to oust the man. You can oust him only if you can give him alternative accommodation. As we have not got so much accommodation, the houses are now more or less occupied by people as they want. Sometimes people who have strength are able to occupy two houses: the man occupies one house and the other is occupied in the name of his brother. Houses are being occupied in this chaotic fashion and not kept vacant. In the meantime we are doing all the work on paper. By the time our paper work is completed I am quite confident that occupation of houses in Delhi would have been over.

Sir, as I have reached my time limit I do not wish to say more. I hope the Ministry will consider the several points made by me.

Shri K. M. Munshi (Bombay: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I also join in the chorus of congratulations offered to the Honourable the Minister in charge of the refugee problem for having done the best that could possibly be done under the circumstances. But I only want to make a point which is perhaps to my mind the most important and without which I am sure his best efforts are not going to succeed to the extent to which they should. The Honourable Minister himself has said the refugee problem is a matter of all-India importance. It has come as a great calamity. It is an emergency almost as great as the war. Why, may I ask, has not the refugee problem been taken over as a Central subject for all purposes? I am not quite familiar from personal knowledge about the East Punjab situation and I would not like to rely upon hear-say evidence that has been coming to me from time to time, but I would like him to give an answer to the questions which I propose to put to him. Is the East Punjab Government in such a position as to handle locally the refugee problem in East Punjab? Has its machinery been set up in such an efficient manner that it can tackle all the very vital problems which deal with refugees and rehabilitation? Is it not a fact that complaints after complaints are being heard even in Delhi with regard to the complete lack of efficiency so far as the East Punjab Government is concerned? I am saying this subject to correction. Is it not a fact that in the Kurukshetra Camp, which is intended for 2 lakhs of refugees, the East Punjab Government has sent more than 3 lakhs of refugees, making it impossible for the camp to function in an efficient manner? I further ask him to enquire and let the House know whether refugees are not being dumped in East Punjab in villages and left to shift for themselves. I do not blame the East Punjab Government. It is a new government. It has not got yet in its stride. It has not yet set up a complete machinery of government, and to leave such an important and vital problem as of the refugees to such a machinery is, if, Sir, you will excuse me, almost a sin. This can only be tackled at the high level of the Government of India and with all the resources of men and materials at its disposal. Is it not possible, Sir, may I ask, for this government to make the refugee problem a Central subject both for legislation and administration, not merely in East Punjab but in the whole country? I think it is a very vital question. It is all very well for the moment, with all the resources at the command of the Government of India to have brought back so many lakhs of people: but their rehabilitation will create problems of a very wide character which no provincial government can every hope to settle. For instance we are now only concerned with their housing problem, with their food problem: very soon their economic problem will stare the country in the face: the social and moral problem of their being absorbed in new surroundings will be a problem which simply cannot be tackled by any provincial government. Therefore, I would again request the government to consider seriously whether the whole problem, including rehabilitation, should not be taken over by the Centre. I may give an instance of my own personal knowledge so far as Bombay is concerned. Sir, I do not want to criticize any provincial government; they are all doing their best. But the consciousness which exists in Delhi that the refugee problem is an all-India problem of the most vital importance generally has not penetrated into the provincial capitals, and the result very often is that the refugees are left to shift for themselves and to make their own arrangements. Sir, I may give a few instances. In Bombay about 5 or 6 months ago a camp was opened for Sindhi refugees at a place called Chimur. Curiously enough for 5 days there were no ration cards issued to them. They had applied but some local machinery somewhere was creaking and the result was that there were no ration cards and they had to do with whatever little neighbours could supply. Ultimately Ministers were approached, a Minister visited it and then things were straightened out. But had there been a Government of India officer sitting there in Bombay to look after the Sindhi refugees' needs, he could have immediately walked up to the Prime Minister and these difficulties would not have arisen. A small officer of the Bombay Government who is looking after refugees naturally finds it very difficult to have that weight and that influence which would enable the official machinery to move faster or at least move fast enough to save a lot of inconvenience. Another thing of which I know is that the refugees who have come to Bombay are not needy refugees. They are what we call upper middle class people, business men in a large way, men with money, landed proprietors who have got means. They for the last six months are going from place to place trying to acquire a few hundred acres in the suburb of Bombay where they can put up a large suburb in order to house themselves in a comfortable manner. Sir, they just go about like an ordinary purchaser. If they want to approach a Government department, they have got to approach at the lowest possible level and the result has been that purchases take a long time. Here is money, here are men prepared to put up a large amount of money and there is any amount of space outside Bandra even in Greater Bombay which the Bombay Government could easily acquire and make available for them. I do not say there is no will to do it. The only question is Government machinery moves just in the same red-tapist manner as if an ordinary purchaser trying to acquire land for himself. This is a very unfortunate state of affairs and therefore unless the Government of India takes it up as a Central subject, this difficulty will continue. Sir, during the days when the war began I remember that a very large property belonging to a school was acquired by the Government of India. I happened to be a trustee. In about half an hour's time the Government of India had a deal with me and within 48 hours we vacated and gave possession of it. I wish something of this kind might be done by the Government of India. The Government of India alone can do it. The provincial government, as I said, cannot possibly do it and therefore the only appeal that I make to the Honourable Minister is though he has done his best, the best requires to be bettered still and that better can only be achieved if through out the whole of India the refugee problem is made a Central subject at any rate if the Government of India representatives are in each province to look after the needs of these refugees. That is all I have to submit, Sir.

[Shri K. M. Munshi]

Shri Khurshed Lal (U.P. : General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is no doubt that the problem which is before the House today is one of immense importance and great complexity, and the only reason why I have ventured to take part in this debate is that I come from a district namely Dehra Dun, which outside Eastern Punjab has one of the biggest concentrations of our refugee friends from West Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province. My district, along with the neighbouring district of Saharanpur which includes the town of Hardwar, has got a refugee population of about a lakh. Sir, my honourable friend Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya objected to the use of the word 'refugee' I can assure him that this word is as much disliked by those to whom it is applied as it is by my honourable friend here. The reason, Sir, is that the word 'refugee' implies as if they were some foreigners, some aliens who have come to our land to take shelter, and they resent this word for this reason. I think, Sir, the correct attitude to look at this problem is that they are people who till yesterday belonged to our own country, sharing in the fight for freedom with us, and who have been driven from their hearth and home simply because they belonged to a part of the country which had to be torn asunder so that India may be free. They have paid the real price for freedom and they have suffered for it, and it is time that we tried to share this burden with them and did not leave it to them alone to pay the price of freedom.

Sir, it was about the month of March or April that bands of refugees began to arrive in my District. That was after the happenings in the Districts of Rawalpindi and Hazara. So even before the 15th of August, their number had swelled; they had come in great numbers and actually the towns of Dehra Dun, Mussorie and Hardwar had a far larger number of refugees than we should possibly accommodate. My District is the smallest in the Province; we have no trade and no industry; Hardwar is important only as a centre of pilgrimage. These refugees could not find any occupation there and throughout the long summer months nothing was done for them. They simply drifted with the result that they grew more and more desperate every day.

Sir, the complexion of the whole problem changed after the 15th of August, because after that date it did not remain a question of a portion of the Hindu or Sikh population of this or that District shifting here or there, but of the entire Hindu and Sikh population of the Western Punjab moving over to the East Punjab or the western districts of U.P. Sir, all credit is due to the Government of India for the great organisation and the remarkable manner in which this large exodus of population, unprecedented perhaps in human history, was accomplished. In about three months time, Sir, over four million people have been brought from the Western Punjab to the Eastern Punjab and the great amount of organisation and all the details that had to be worked out can only be imagined. The very fact that this vast migration was accomplished at a time when there was civil strife, floods and other disorders, is itself a great tribute to the Government of India; that was done without leaving behind it any trail of large epidemics like cholera, malaria or typhoid, speaks volumes for the organisation which was set up.

Having said that, Sir, I must say that in the matter of evacuation there was not that amount of co-ordination between the various Provincial Governments, and the Central Government and the Provincial Governments, which should have been there. Mrs. Sucheta Kripalani referred to one incident at Kalanour railway station. Sir, that incident was not the only one of its kind. The United Provinces Government passed an order prohibiting the incoming of refugees from Eastern Punjab to the United Provinces; for I all know, there was ample justification for that order. But after that order, one would have expected that no more refugees would arrive in the U. P. and that some control or check would be initiated to prevent their coming in. But, Sir, the fact is that one day there were as many as seven trains arriving at Kalanour station containing thousands and thousands of refugees. They were left there on the station platform with only the sky over their heads; they could not go forward, they could not go backward; and they did not know what to do. Sir, after all the sufferings, horrors and trials which these people from the Western Punjab had experienced, an incident like this should definitely have been avoided. Even now, Sir, I understand that refugees are still coming to Kalanour; there is a sort of check at Jagadhri, the last station in the Eastern Punjab on the U.P. border. And what happens at that station. Some official is supposed to check all the passengers who arrive by trains. Day before yesterday a train arrived at Delhi 18 hours late; one of the factors which contributed to its late arrival was that it had to wait 12 hours at Jagadhri for the pleasure of that officer to come and check. And that checking, Sir, is such a farce; after the checking is done practically nobody is excluded and they all come to the United Provinces.

In a way, Sir, the problem of evacuation is now practically over and there is not much use discussing its shortcomings. As I have already said, in spite of shortcomings a great task has been truly achieved. Now the question is, what next? The more important question is rehabilitation. Up till now, quite rightly, the energies of the Government were devoted to bringing out our brothers and sisters whose very lives were in danger in the Western Punjab; but now we have to settle them down. The winter is now upon us. In the Eastern Punjab even now there are thousands and thousands of men and women lying on the railway stations—men and women who have no shelter or accommodation. I submit, Sir, that we have got to see that in this cold weather—during the next two or three days—everybody is put under some sort of roof. The Eastern Punjab Government have done well in closing down all schools and colleges and accommodating in them refugees. I submit we have to go beyond that; there should be a rationing of accommodation and people should be billeted in houses. During the last war in European countries soldiers were billeted in houses with families. Where is the reason that people now having big houses and having more accommodation than they need, should not part with it and share it with the refugees? I submit this is a problem which brooks of no delay; immediate steps should be taken to provide at least shelter and food to all those who are now left under the sky.

Thereafter, Sir, comes the question of permanent rehabilitation. We are told that there would be about three lakhs of agriculturist refugees who cannot find a place in the Eastern Punjab and that they have to be accommodated somewhere else. If we look at the problem it is not a problem which ought to be difficult of solution. My own Province, the United Provinces, has got over a lakh of villages. Sir, India before partition had about seven lakhs of villages and even now I think we have got about five lakhs. If we could organise with the help of the vast Congress organisation, all the District Congress Committees, the Mandal Congress Committees and the Village Congress Committees, and persuade them to arrange to take at least one family in each village, and to adopt that family and provide it with the land needed by it, the whole problem could be solved quite satisfactorily. Instead of one village even groups of five villages could take one family. The question requires tackling on an all-India basis and putting drive and energy into it.

[Shri Khurshed Lal]

The more difficult problem is that of the urban refugees. They have been entirely uprooted. Among them are businessmen, professional men, lawyers, doctors, teachers and others. They have lost all they had. They cannot find another occupation and are going about from pillar to post getting more and more desperate every day. Sir, they have lost huge properties in the Western Punjab. I do not know, Sir, as to how matters stand with the Pakistan Government so far as any compensation to these people is concerned; I believe it may be possible to get some compensation for them. Why is it that they alone should pay the price of liberty? After all they have been turned out from there because India had to be free. Therefore, why is it that we should all not share the privations and hardships together? I would suggest that if it were possible, there should be a per capita levy on the whole of the country, so that these people could be compensated to the extent to which they have lost. I suggest that an estimate should be made of the money and property that they have lost there and some part of it, one-fourth, one-fifth or one-sixth, with an upper limit should be advanced to them for the present against the compensation they get some day, so that they may at least make a start in life. Something has got to be done.

I understand that in the U.P. our Prime Minister has got a scheme to set up a new industrial city some where between Lucknow and Kanpur, and let the refugees develop it. I suggest, Sir, that not one city but any number of cities which can be set up in this manner should be set up and more important than that, something which can be done easier and earlier is the development of our small towns and of their suburbs where these people can be accommodated.

Sir, I know that the Government would do all that it can for our friends from the Western Punjab who have come here, but there is another aspect of this problem to which I wish to draw the attention of the Government. During the last three months, my district and the district of Saharanpur have been the scenes of violent disturbances. The reactions of happenings in the Punjab have been there and the result has been that some thousands of our Muslim citizens have been displaced from their homes. Their houses have either been burnt or looted. They are our citizens and speaking for my district and the district of Saharanpur, I say they have a particular claim on our sympathies because they were the people who voted for the Congress during the last elections and we won our seats against the Muslim League. When we are thinking of rehabilitation, when we are thinking of affording relief, let us not forget these people who have suffered, may be as a reaction for the happenings in the Western Punjab but for no fault of theirs. They have suffered, Sir, for the fault of those who preached the hymn of hate and violence. I hope, Sir, when the Honourable Minister thinks of rehabilitation and relief, he will also bear in mind people who have been displaced in this manner.

श्री० देशबन्धु गुप्ता : जनाब सदर, मैंने इससे पहले की गई तकरीरों को बहुत गौर से सुना। मुझे अफसोस है कि अब तक इस मसले की नजाकत का सही अन्दाजा नहीं किया जा रहा है। जो तजवीज मेरे एक दो लायक दोस्तों ने रखी है उससे जाहिर होता है कि उनके ख्याल में यह मसला इतना आसान है कि ईस्ट पंजाब के गवर्नमेंट के बजाय अगर सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट उसे बराह रास्त अपने हाथ में ले लेगी तो जादू की छड़ी से वह मसला हल हो जायगा। हकीकत यह है कि यह मसला इतना संगीन है, इतना नाजुक है कि चाहे सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट हो चाहे कोई प्राविन्शियल गवर्नमेंट हो इसे इतमीनान बक्श तरीके पर हल नहीं कर सकती। जरूरत आज इस बात की नहीं है कि आप पंजाब गवर्नमेंट के बजाय सारा काम सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट के हाथ में दे दें और एक नया झगडा सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट और पंजाब गवर्नमेंट के बीच खड़ा कर दिया जाय। जरूरत इस बात की है कि आज सेंटर और प्राविंस के दम्यानि को-ऑर्डिनेशन (Co-ordination) हो। और आज पंजाब गवर्नमेंट की जो खामियां हैं, रिसोर्सेज (resources) की जो कमी है, तजुबों की जो कमी है, उनको पूरा करने की कोशिश की जाय। आज यह कह देने से कि पंजाब गवर्नमेंट के वजीर नालायक हैं पंजाब गवर्नमेंट कमजोरी का सुबूत दे रही है पंजाब गवर्नमेंट को जो कुछ करना चाहिये था नहीं किया और समझलें कि हमारा कर्तव्य पूरा हो गया तो मैं समझता हूं कि हम न केवल पंजाब गवर्नमेंट के साथ बेइन्साफी करेंगे अपितु इस मसले को हल करने में कोई सहायता नहीं देंगे। मेरी राय में इस प्रकार का क्रिटिसिज्म (criticism) करने का वक्त चला गया। आज देखना यह है कि हमें आगे क्या करना चाहिये। मैं उस काम के लिये जो मेरे लायक दोस्त मि० नियोगी व मि० गोपाल स्वामी आयरंगर और दूसरे भाइयों ने जो इस महकमे से बाबस्ता है किया है उसकी तारीफ करता हूं लेकिन अगर गौर से देखा जाय तो क्या वह लोग कह सकते हैं या कोई और कह सकता है कि सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट ने दिल्ली में जहां के लिये वह डाईरेक्टली (directly) जिम्मेदार थी जिस तरीके से काम किया है वह ऐसा था कि जिससे हर शख्स को इतमीनान हो।

मैं समझता हूं कि उस बात का सही अंदाजा करने के लिये हमें रिफ्यूजीज (refugees) की जो हालत यहां है उसे देखना पड़ेगा। अगर आप चांदनी चौक में चले जाय जो यहां का सब से बड़ा बाजार है, तो आप देखेंगे कि बाजार के बीच में चार-चार पांच-पांच कतारें ऐसी होती हैं जहां रिफ्यूजीज छोटी छोटी दुकानें लगाए बैठे हैं। यह लोग सुबह चार बजे आते हैं और इनमें जमीन के एक एक फुट के टुकड़ों पर झगडा होता है यह शाम तक वहां छावड़ी लगाकर सामान बेचते हैं। बदइतजामी की यह हालत है कि चांदनी चौक में आज "अंडा दो-दो आने" की आवाजें हमारे कानों में आती रहती हैं। यही हालत कनाटप्लेस की है।

मैं पूछता हूं कि क्या इस तीन महीनों के असें में सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट ने इस मसले का हल सोचा, और क्या इस के मुखतलिफ पहलुओं पर गौर किया। जो शरणार्थी हैं, इतने

[श्री देशबन्धु गुप्ता]

मुसीबत जदा होने के बावजूद फिर भी मांग कर नहीं खाना चाहते और अपने हाथ से कमाकर खाना चाहते हैं क्या उनको यहां काम मिला। या इन दो लाख ८५ हजार शरणार्थियों की जिनके नाम रजिस्टर हो चुके हैं आजीविका की समस्या को हल करने की कोशिश की गई। अगर सरकार हिंद अभी तक इनकी समस्या का कोई हल नहीं कर सकी और सोच कर कोई कन्सट्रक्टिव (Constructive) तजवीज नहीं कर सकी तो ईस्टर्न पंजाब के इंतजाम को संभालकर जहां तीस लाख से अधिक रूरल ऐरियाज (Rural areas) के आदिमियों को बसाने की जरूरत है, क्या कर सकेगी। मेरा यह मतलब नहीं कि सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट की कोशिशों में कमी है। वास्तव में जरूरत इस बात की है कि हमारे पास सेल्फलेस वर्कर्स (Selfless workers) की एक आर्मी (army) हो। जब तक ऐसे वर्कर्स आगे नहीं आयेंगे तब तक कोई गवर्नमेंट इतने बड़े काम को अंजाम नहीं दे सकेगी। आज मैं देखता हूं कि पंजाब के जो लोग तबाह होकर आये हैं, हजारों की तादाद में दिल्ली में मौजूद हैं, सुबह से शाम तक बीस बीस मर्तबे इधर से उधर चक्कर लगाते हैं कि सर छुपाने के लिए कहीं एक मकान मिल जाय, कभी किसी एडवाइजरी काउन्सिल (Advisory Council) के मेंबर के पास पहुंचते हैं, कभी कस्टोडियन आफ इवेक्वीज प्रापर्टी (Custodian of Evacuees' Property) के पास पहुंचते हैं, अगर हम इस मसले को हल कर सकते और इन तमाम लोगों के वक्त को और इनकी एनर्जीज (energies) को एम्प्लाय (employ) कर सकते तो बहुत बड़ा काम कर सकते लेकिन हकीकत यह है कि हमने इस तरफ ध्यान नहीं दिया।

मेरे लायक दोस्त ने कहा है कि हमें शहरी वाशिंग्टन के मसले पर गौर करना है। लेकिन मैं पूछता हूं कि दिल्ली में जो दो लाख पचासी हजार या तीन लाख के करीब शरणार्थी आ चुके हैं वह आज तीन महीने से यहां पड़े हैं क्या कभी हमने सोचा कि हम दिल्ली से दो या चार मील के फासले पर कोई जगह उनके लिए रिजर्व (reserve) कर दें और उन्हें बसाने के लिए एलीमेंट्री (elementry) आसानियां दी जायें। यह तजवीज एक कमेटी ने जिसका मैं भी सदस्य था की और एक से ज्यादा मरतबे हमारे सामने यह मसला आया लेकिन अभी तक हमने इस तरफ कोई अमली कदम नहीं उठाया। अगर हम दिल्ली से तीन चार मील के फासले पर सड़क के किनारे जो जमीनें पड़ी हैं उनमें से हजार या पांच सौ एकड़ का कोई प्लॉट (plot) रिजर्व (reserve) कर दें और वहां मकान बंगले वगैरह बनाने में सहायता कर सकें लोगों के लिए ट्रांसपोर्ट आदि का इंतजाम कर पाते तो यह कोई अमली काम होता। लेकिन ऐसा नहीं हुआ। आज हालत यह है कि कस्टोडियन आफ इवेक्वीज प्रापर्टी की जो सलाहकार कमेटी है जिसकी ओर मिसेज सुचेता कृपलानी ने हाउस की तबज्जह दिलायी है मैं भी उसका एक मेंबर हूं और यह समझता हूं कि उसके काम में जो वक्त लगा बहुत कुछ जाया हुआ क्योंकि आज लाहौर आदि से दिल्ली में बहुत से बड़े बड़े डाक्टर, वैद्य, रेडियोलॉजिस्ट (Radio-

logists) और होमियोपैथ आए हुए हैं, दो ढाई महीने से यहां मौजूद हैं लेकिन हमने एक को भी अभी तक मकान नहीं दिया। एक्सरे (X-Ray) के एक डाक्टर यहां आए हैं उनके पास एक्सरे का प्लान्ट (Plant) है इसके लिये डाइरेक्टर जनरल आफ हेल्थ ने कस्टोडियन आफ इवेक्वीज प्रापर्टी को लिखा कि उसे उस काम के योग्य जगह दी जाय। उसे दो महीने हो गए हैं और वह प्लान्ट बेकार पड़ा है लेकिन दिल्ली में अभी तक उन्हें जगह नहीं दी जा सकी। आज हमारे यहां गंगाराम हास्पिटल के डाक्टर जिन्होंने अपनी जान को खतरे में डालकर रिफ्यूजीज की मदद की वह मारे मारे फिर रहे हैं। और हम उनको जगह नहीं दे सके। लायक से लायक वैद्य हैं, होमियोपैथ हैं उनको जगह नहीं दे सकते। जो मकान रायट्स (riots) में मुसलमान छोड़ कर गये हैं उनकी मरम्मत कराकर रहने लायक बना सकते हैं। लेकिन अभी गवर्नमेंट की तरफ से ऐसा कोई अमली कदम नहीं उठाया गया। मैं समझता हूं कि अरबन ऐरियाज (Urban areas) के जो लोग आ गए हैं उनके लिए कनाट प्लेस के मैदान में एक आर्केड (arcade) बना सकते हैं, जहां लकड़ी की दूकानें बना कर उन्हें शीघ्र खड़ा किया जा सकता है और इस प्रकार उन्हें काम दिया जा सकता है। लेकिन इस तरफ भी कोई तबज्जह नहीं हुई। हालत यह है, जनाब कि लगभग दो हजार बिजनेस प्रेमिसेज (business premises) दिल्ली में खाली हुई हैं उनमें से १८०० ऐसी प्रेमिसेज पर लोगों ने खुद कब्जा कर लिया। करीब दो सौ प्रेमिसेज ऐसी हैं जिनको हम दे सकते थे लेकिन आज तक ऐसा नहीं हो सका।

मैं समझता हूं कि सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट का काम यह नहीं जिसकी तरफ मेरे वाज दोस्त उसे ले जाना चाहते हैं। सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट का काम यह है पाकिस्तान गवर्नमेंट से जो फैसले करने हैं उन्हें जोर देकर करे। आज सेफ डिपोजिट्स वाल्ट्स (Safe deposits Vaults) का मसला इसी तरह लटक रहा है। बहुत रिफ्यूजीज ऐसे हैं जो अपने रुपये से अपने को आवाद करना चाहते हैं, और दूसरों की मदद नहीं चाहते लेकिन हमारी सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट आज तक इस काविल नहीं हुई कि जिन लोगों का सामान वेस्ट (West) पंजाब में पड़ा है और लूटने से बच गया है, या ९० फी सदी लुट चुका है लेकिन दस फी सदी जो बच गया है उसे इधर लाने के लिए कोई अमली काम करे। लाहौर में हालत यह है कि कोई सिक्ख या हिंदू नहीं जा सकता, पुलिस के प्रोटेक्शन (protection) में भी जाकर अपना सामान नहीं ला सकता। सेफ डिपोजिट्स में जो सामान पड़ा है वह भी अभी तक नहीं लाया जा सका और यह मसला हल नहीं हुआ। यह काम है सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट के करने का। यह हो जाय तो आज रिफ्यूजीज को महसूस हो कि उनकी सरकार मजबूत है। और उनको धीरज हो। आज दिल्ली में हम एक नमूना पेश करें और उन्हें कारोबार में लगा सकें और उन्हें आराम देने की कोशिश करें तो मैं समझता हूं कि ईस्ट (East) पंजाब के लिए एक मिसाल बन जाय। ऐसा न करके केवल पंजाब गवर्नमेंट पर निर्भर रहने से काम नहीं चलेगा। हालत यह है कि वह खुद अभी तक पूरी तरह जमी नहीं है।

[Shri Deshbandhu Gupta]

I am afraid it cannot fair better in handling the problem of the East Punjab where it is a question of settling down more than thirty lakhs of people of the rural areas. I do not mean to say that the Central Government is not taking enough pains, what we need today is an army of selfless workers. And unless these men are coming forth no Government can accomplish such a heavy task. There are thousands of people in Delhi today, who have come from the Punjab, completely ruined. They have to go over place to place at least 20 times a day, in order to secure a house or some place of shelter for them. They go and see a member of the Advisory Council, then they go to see the Custodian of Evacuees' Property, and so on and so forth. We had indeed done a bit of solid work if we could have saved all their time and had employed their energies in a better way. We must admit that we paid no attention to it.

My able friend has said that we have to consider the problem of the urban population. But may I ask, "What is being done about those refugees who are already here for the last three months? They number about three lakhs now. Did we ever consider to reserve any plot for them say at about two to four miles from Delhi, and ever thought to give them the elementary facilities to live there? This was actually the proposal of a Committee, of which I was also a member, and the question came before us several times, but so far no practical step has been taken in that direction. It would have been a piece of our practical work if we had reserved a plot of land for refugees at a distance of about three to four miles from Delhi, measuring about 500—1000 acres in length, out of the land extending on the sides of the road; and had given them the facilities to build houses and bungalows etc. there, and had provided them with transport facilities. But that is not the case today. I must say that most of the time spent on the Advisory Committee of the Custodian of Evacuees' Property has been wasted, the committee of which I am also a member, the committee to which Mrs. Sucheta Kriplani drew the attention of the House; as we see today, that there are many doctors, vaidyas, radiologists and homeopaths who arrived from Lahore, and are here for the last 2 months but they have not so far been provided with a house. Another doctor who is an expert in X-Ray treatment and has an X-Ray plant with him, has also not yet got a suitable house. The Director General of Health wrote to the Custodian of Evacuees' Property, that a suitable house be allotted to him. This has taken two months now, the plant is kept idle and the man is without a house. Even that famous doctor of the Sir Ganga Ram Hospital, who helped refugees at the risk of his own life has to wander about today from place to place in search of a house. We have not provided a house for him either. There are many more eminent doctors, vaidyas and homeopaths who are still without a house. We could at least, after necessary repairs make those houses inhabitable for them that were vacated by Mohanunadans during the riot period. But the Government has not taken any practical steps towards that end too. For those coming from the urban areas we could have arcades erected on the plot in Connaught Place, and had provided them with shops there made of wood. This too did not receive the attention of the Government. The present position is that about two thousand business premises were vacated in Delhi, about one thousand eight hundred of them have actually been occupied by men at their own will. So there were only about two hundred left now that were to let, but this has also not been done.

It is perhaps not the task of the Central Government towards which some of my friends have been drawing it. The task of the Central Government is to bear its pressure on the Pakistan Government to come to decisions on the matters that have to be settled now. The matter relating to Safe Deposit vaults is still pending. Many refugees have the desire to establish themselves again on the strength of their money and they do not want any outside help. But our Central Government has not proved itself equal to the task of bringing the whole or even the part of the belongings of the people from the West Punjab. There is such a bad state of affairs going on in Lahore now that a Hindu or Sikh cannot go there to collect his belongings even under a police escort. The entire contents of the Safe Deposit Vaults are therefore there and could not be brought here so far. Thus the problem of the Safe Deposit Vaults remains unsolved. This is of course one of the tasks of the Government. If she can do it, the refugees will feel that their Government is strong and they will have much satisfaction. Therefore let us set an example in Delhi, let us give comforts to our refugees; let us provide them with suitable work. We will thus set an example before the Punjab Government. While if we cannot do this, our mere depending on the Punjab Government will not help us a long way. The position is such that that Government is also not yet fully established. It has its offices, one at Simla, another at Jullundher and yet another at a third place. We cannot therefore expect much from that Government either as we who have all the resources at our disposal here have not been able to do anything practical so far.

Sir, I do not propose to take much time, but I suggest that the Honourable Prime Minister may appeal to the Honourable Members of this House, as well as to those of the Provincial Legislatures that they should volunteer their services for this task. We should sit together for 2 months at a time at each centre, thus our work will be speeded up and will be done more systematically. Today the Central as well as the Provincial Governments are functioning through the P. C. S. and the I. C. S. They can get work out of them in a better way. And this is how we can do it. Members of this House and those of the Provincial Legislatures should come forward in numbers say one hundred, two hundred or five hundred, and volunteer their services. Let them take charge of one Camp each. Then the other public workers also will join them and give them their help. The Central Government should issue the orders that men from the provinces must volunteer their services.

It is more than 3 months now when we wrote to the Government of India, through the Custodian Advisory Committee, that the former should negotiate with the Government of Pakistan and settle the question of those factories and concerns etc., that were abandoned by the people going to Pakistan, so that we could either dispose of those concerns or demand their eviction, and thus provide employment for those who come from the West Punjab. These are the matters which deserve the very first attention of the Government and should be solved immediately in consultation with the Pakistan Government. There is no use criticising the Punjab Government or having a "postmortem" of these matters. There is no doubt that the two Governments are doing their best. I therefore wish that their hands are further strengthened so that they can do much better. I shall appeal to the Government once more that only the essential matter should be taken up first with Pakistan Government. Next, I speak to those refugees who have been always criticising the Government. They should try to help the Government in every way possible, and should not impede the work of the Administration. I have never seen the leaders of the West Punjab who are in Delhi ever going personally to the place of refugees that are near at hand; it is of no help if they have flown over these areas once or twice before.

We have today to pay more attention to the Refugee Problem. Responsible workers should therefore go to Refugee Camps and help the officers there in the task of giving aid to the refugees. They should thus help the Government now.

With these words I close my speech.

[श्री देशबन्धु गुप्ता]

उसका एक दफतर शिमला में है एक जालंधर में है एक कहीं और है उससे हम क्या तबक्कोह कर सकते हैं। जब कि यहां जहां सब कुछ मौजूद है वहां हम अमली तौर पर कुछ नहीं कर सके।

जनाब, मैं ज्यादा वक्त नहीं लेना चाहता। मेरी तजवीज यह है कि आज प्राईम मिनिस्टर (Prime Minister) साहब अपील करें और इस हाउस के मੈम्बरों से और दूसरे सूबों की एसेम्बली के मੈम्बरों से कहें कि अपनी सर्विसेज (Services) वालन्टीयर (Nolunteer) करें। और हम लोग दो दो महीने के लिए एक एक सेंटर (Centre) में बैठें तो काम अवश्य आगे बढ़ेगा और कायदे से होगा। आज सेन्ट्रल गवर्नमेंट हो या प्राविन्शियल गवर्नमेंट हो दोनों आई० सी० एस० (I. C. S.) और पी० सी० एस० (P.C.S.) के जरिये काम करती हैं, उनसे ढङ्ग से काम लिया जा सके।

इसका तरीका यह है कि इस हाउस के मੈम्बर और दूसरे सूबों के मੈम्बर एक सौ, दो सौ या पांच सौ जितने भी आगे आएँ अपनी सर्विसेज पेश करें और किसी न किसी कैम्प की जिम्मेदारी को अपने हाथ में लें। दूसरे पब्लिक वर्कर्स भी इस काम में सब जगह लग जाये और वह हर कैम्प में काम अपने हाथों में लें। आज सेंटर को इस तरह का आर्डर जारी कर देना चाहिये ताकि सूबों से भी लोग अपनी खिदमत दे सकें।

आज तीन महीने से ज्यादा हो गये कि हमने कस्टोडियन एडवाइजरी कमेटी के जरिये गवर्नमेंट आफ इंडिया को यह लिखा था कि जो लोग अपने कारखाने और बिजनेस छोड़कर पाकिस्तान चले गये हैं उनके बारे में पाकिस्तान गवर्नमेंट से बातचीत करके जल्द तय किया जाय ताकि हम उनको डिस्पोज आफ (dispose of) कर सकें या आक्शन (auction) कर दें ताकि उन लोगों को काम दिया जाय जो यहां वैस्ट पंजाब से आये हुए हैं। यह वह चीज है जिनकी तरफ सरकार को अपनी पहली तवज्जो करनी चाहिये और इन मामलों को पाकिस्तान के साथ शीघ्र तय करना चाहिये। यहां पर सिर्फ पंजाब सरकार पर नुकताचीनी करने से फायदा नहीं पहुंच सकता या पोस्ट मार्टेम (postmortem) करने से कोई फायदा नहीं पहुंचेगा। दोनों सरकारें अपनी शक्ति भर काम कर रही हैं इसमें कोई शक नहीं है। मैं यह चाहता हूं कि उन लोगों के हाथ खूब मजबूत किये जायें ताकि वे और भी अधिक और अच्छा काम कर सकें। मैं एक बार फिर गवर्नमेंट से यह कहूंगा कि पाकिस्तान से उन बातों के बारे में पहिले बात चीत की जाय जोकि बहुत जरूरी हैं। दूसरी बात मैं उन रिफ्यूजीज से कहूंगा जो कि हर समय गवर्नमेंट को क्रिटिसाइज (criticise) करते रहते हैं। उनको इस बात की कोशिश करनी चाहिये कि वह हर तरह से गवर्नमेंट के हाथों को मजबूत बनाये और उसके एडमिनिस्ट्रेशन (administration) में किसी किस्म की ट्कावट न डालें। मैंने नहीं देखा कि वेस्टर्न (Western) पंजाब के जो लीडर यहां दिल्ली में हैं वे कभी किसी आसपास

के इलाके में जहां शरणार्थी हैं जाकर बैठे हों। सिवाय इसके कि एक दो दफा वे हवाई जहाज से देखने चले गये वह दूसरी बात है। आज हमें रिफ्यूजीज के मसले की तरफ ज्यादा तवज्जो देने की जरूरत है इसलिये जिम्मेदार वर्कर्स को इस काम के लिए कैम्पों में जाकर अफसरों को सहायता के काम में कोपरेशन (cooperation) देना चाहिये और इस तरह से सरकार का हाथ बटाना चाहिये। इन अल्फाज के साथ मैं अपनी तकरीर खत्म करता हूं।

(English translation of the above speech).

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): Mr. Speaker, I have very attentively listened to the speech made by the last speaker. I regret to say that the delicacy of the subject has not so far been estimated properly. From the suggestion put forth by one or two of my able friends it appears that they take this subject to be such an easy matter that it could be solved in no time—as if by a magic—if it was entrusted to the Central Government instead of the Government of the East Punjab. In fact, it is such a difficult problem that no Government whether Central or Provincial can solve it in a really satisfactory way. It is not necessary today that the work should be handed over to the Central Government in place of the Punjab Government; this might set up a quarrel between the two Governments. Our present day need is to establish perfect co-ordination between the Centre and the Province. We must really try to make up for the present shortcomings of the Punjab Government, for their inadequacy of resources, and for their lack of experience. It would not suffice for us to say today that the Ministers of the Punjab Government are incompetent, that the Government is giving a proof of its weakness, that the Government has not discharged its duties; and should we, thereby, think that we have done our duty, then, in my opinion, we are not only doing an injustice to the Punjab Government, but are also not giving any help to that Government in solving the present problem. I, think, the time for such criticisms has now passed. We must think what are the steps we have to take now. I quite appreciate the work done by my able friends the Honourable Mr. Neogy and the Honourable Mr. Gopalaswami Ayengar and those attached with that department. But if the matter is looked into carefully, can they say, or can anybody else say, that the work done by the Central Government in Delhi, the place for which it is directly responsible, is to the entire satisfaction of all?

I think to have an exact idea of this, we shall have to look into the very condition of the refugees here. If you go to Chandni Chowk—the most important street of Delhi—you will see many refugees sitting in rows right in the middle of the bazar with their small shops before them: and there are at least 4 or 5 such rows. They reach there in the very early hours of the morning and have to quarrel over small pieces of space. They sit there and sell their articles till late in the evening. Mis-management is visible to that extent today that we will hear a hawker selling his eggs in Chandni Chowk at 2 annas each. It is the same way in Connaught Place.

I may ask the question, “Did the Government during the period of the last three months, think out a plan to solve this problem? Did they examine the different aspects of this problem? Have the Government secured an employment for those refugees, who inspite of being in a very distressed condition still prefer to earn their bread themselves rather than resorting to begging? Have the Government also attempted to solve the question of employment of those 2 lakhs 85 thousand refugees whose names have been registered?” If the Government of India have not so far been able to solve their problem and have not suggested any constructive measures to overcome the difficulty then

श्री अजीत प्रसाद जैन : जनाब बाला, आज हम एक निहायत मुतासिब मसले पर बहस कर रहे हैं। यह एक ऐसा मसला है जो लाखों इंसानों की मुश्किलों से ताल्लुक रखता है। उनके खाने के उनके कपड़े के और उनको मुस्तलिफ जगह आबाद करने के सवाल से ताल्लुक रखता है। मुझे इस बात की खुशी है कि आज इस ऐवान में इस मसले पर एक अमली तौर से बहस हुई और हम एक अमली तौर से बहस करके ही किसी खास नतीजे पर पहुँच सकते हैं।

मैं पंजाब के मुताल्लिक तो बहुत ज्यादा अर्ज नहीं करूँगा बल्कि सूबे मुतहदा के मगरबी हिस्से के मुताल्लिक अर्ज करूँगा। हमारे यहां मेरठ डिवीजन में करीब २ तमाम रिफ्यूजीज जो सूबे मुतहदा में हैं उनके आधे वहाँ बसे हुए हैं। हमारे जिले सहारनपुर में जहाँ से मैं आया हूँ वह पंजाब की सरहद पर बाक्या है और पंजाब से जो लोग वहाँ आ रहे हैं उससे हमारे शहर में काफी असर पड़ता है। यही वजह है कि मैं पंजाब के बारे में कुछ अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ। आज हर स्टेशन पर करीब दस हजार और पंद्रह हजार रिफ्यूजीज पड़े हुए हैं। वहीं पर वह लोग खाना बनाते हैं और वहीं पर रहते हैं। कभी कोई मर जाता है तो कई कई दिनों तक वहाँ पर लाश पड़ी रहती है। जगाधरी पर करीब तीन चार हजार रिफ्यूजीज पड़े हैं और सब के सब आसमान के साये तले हैं और उनके लिए कोई दूसरा साया नहीं है। पंजाब में कोई निजाम नहीं रहा पंजाब में कोई तरीका नहीं रहा। पंजाब में किसी रिफ्यूजी को मालूम नहीं कि कहां जगह मिलेगी और कहां हमको रहना होगा।

मैं अपने जिले सहारनपुर का जाती तजुर्बा इस सभा के सामने बतलाना चाहता हूँ। तीन सितम्बर को सहारनपुर में बड़े जोरों से बलवा हो रहा था। हिंदू मुसलमान को और मुसलमान हिंदू को कत्ल कर रहा था और वहाँ पर करफ्यू लगा हुआ था ऐसे में एक मालगाड़ी पंजाब से आई। माल गाड़ी में उम्मेद यह थी कि माल और सामान आयगा, लेकिन उस माल गाड़ी के ऊपर १५०० रिफ्यूजी पंजाब से आये जब कि यू० पी० गवर्नमेंट ने बिला परमिट आना रोक दिया था। हमारे सामने दिक्कत पेश हुई कि अगर वह रिफ्यूजीज सहारनपुर में आजाते हैं, तो ईश्वर जाने उनकी क्या गति होगी। सहारनपुर से पंजाब की तरफ एक छोटा सा स्टेशन है, वहाँ पर हमने उस रेल को २४ घंटे तक रोक रखा। मर्दे, औरत, बच्चे, छोटे, बड़े बूढ़े सब के सब इस गाड़ी में बैठे रहे। हम चाहते थे कि इस गाड़ी को पंजाब वापिस भेज दिया जाय चूंकि हमारे शहर की हालत ऐसी न थी कि वह वहाँ ठहराये जाय और हमने अम्बाला के डिप्टी कमिश्नर को टेलीफोन किया कि मेहरबानी करके आप इन लोगों को वापिस

बुला लीजिये चूंकि इनकी जिंदगी यहां पर खतरे में रहेगी। डिप्टी कमिश्नर अम्बाला ने फरमाया कि वह अहकाम जारी कर सकते हैं, लेकिन उसको अमल में लाने के लिए उनके पास पुलिस या और कोई दूसरी ताकत नहीं है जिससे वह अपने जारी किये हुए अहकाम पर ठीक तरह से अमल करा सके। हमने उनसे कहा कि पंजाब गवर्नमेंट और यू० पी० गवर्नमेंट में तय पाया गया है कि वह बिला परमिट के रिफ्यूजी नहीं भेजेंगे तो यह पन्द्रह सौ यहां कैसे आगये। उन्होंने फरमाया कि मुझे इसका इल्म नहीं है। रेलवे के मुलाजिम जिस तरीके से भी चाहते हैं करते हैं, हमारा कहना नहीं मानते। यह हालत हमारे डोमिनियन के एक सूबे में हो रही है जहां कि कोई administration ही नहीं है। इसके बाद भी हमने देखा जैसा कि अभी यहां मेरे एक लायक दोस्त ने बतलाया था कि गाड़ियों में औरतों के बच्चे होगये, कई आदमी कई कई रोज तक खाना न मिलने से भूखे मर गये। यह बतनी भाई जो मगरबी पंजाब से आये, इस मुल्क में लाकर फेंक दिये गये।

मेरे लायक दोस्त श्री मुंशी ने यहां पर यह तजवीज पेश की कि रिफ्यूजीज के मामले को सेन्ट्रल गवर्नमेंट खुद अपने हाथ में लेले। मैं समझता हूँ कि इससे कोई बात हल होने वाली नहीं है। असल चीज यह है कि किस तरीके से हम काम करना चाहते हैं और किस तरह से सूबे और सेन्ट्रल गवर्नमेंट में मेल जोल हो सकता है आखिर सेन्ट्रल गवर्नमेंट भी इस मामले को अपने हाथ में लेगी, तो काम उन्हीं आदमियों से करायेगी जो वहाँ हाकिम या मुलाजिम की हैसियत से या दूसरी तौर उन जगहों पर आबाद हैं। सेन्ट्रल गवर्नमेंट को उन्हीं डिप्टी कमिश्नर अम्बाला से काम लेना होगा।

(English translation of the above speech.)

Shri Ajit Prasad Jain (U.P.: General): Sir, here we are today discussing a very proper subject. It is related with the difficulties of lakhs of people today. It is a matter connected with the question of their food, the question of their clothing, and the question of their settlement in different places. I am glad to see that the subject has been discussed in a very practical manner 1. P.M. in the House today; as only by discussing a matter in a practical way we can arrive at a certain conclusions.

I have not to say much about the Punjab, but I would like to say something about the Western parts of the United Provinces. In the Meerut Division alone, there are about half the number of refugees settled in the whole of the province. The district of Saharanpur where I belong to, is situated on the boarder of the Punjab province and has been directly affected by the influx of refugees from that side. For this reason, I might here say something about the Punjab as well. On every railway station there, there are about ten to fifteen thousand refugees staying on the platforms living there and cooking their food (on the platforms). If any one dies there the body is not immediately removed and continues to lie there for days together. On the Jagadhri Railway station alone, there are about three to four thousand refugees lying without any cover or shelter over their heads. That is the state of the Punjab now, there is no management, there is no system prevailing there. The refugees there do not even know where they will have to stay and where they will get a place to stay.

[Shri Ajit Prasad Jain]

I wish to place before the House my own experience of the Saharanpur district. Saharanpur was in the grip of serious riots on the 3rd of September, 1947. Muslims and Hindus were killing one another recklessly. The city was under curfew order. Just then it was learnt that a goods train had arrived from the Punjab. Naturally it was thought that it must have brought some goods, but it brought 1,500 refugees instead; though the U. P. Government had stopped the entry of refugees without a permit. We were, therefore, immediately faced with the question of their safety if they were allowed to enter the city. We had the train halted at the nearby station next to Saharanpur on the Punjab side, and kept it there for 24 hours. There were men, women, and children, of all ages among the passengers. As the conditions in our city were not satisfactory and their bringing into the city was not free from danger we wanted the goods-train to be sent back to the Punjab. We, therefore, communicated to the Deputy Commissioner, Ambala, on telephone and requested him that those men should be called back as their lives were not safe there. The Deputy Commissioner, Ambala, replied that while he could issue the orders he had neither the police nor any other force to see that the orders were carried in the right spirit. We referred to him and asked him that though it had been agreed upon by the Government of the United Provinces and the Government of the Punjab that the latter would not send refugees without obtaining a permit, how then the present number of 1,500 was sent over? And he replied that he had no knowledge of it; and said that the railway people were doing all that as they liked to do, and did not listen to them. This is the state of affairs in a province of our Dominion; there is no administration there. And this is not the only one example. Even after this we heard, as pointed out by one of my learned friends, that the mothers gave births to the babies while they were on the trains. In other instances, people died of hunger for not receiving anything to eat, for days together. Therefore our brothers and fellow countrymen who came from the Western Punjab have been thrown open in this part of the country.

My learned friend, the Honourable Mr. Munshi, has suggested before the House that the matter of refugees should be taken up by the Central Government itself. I do not think this will help very much. In fact, it is the spirit with which we do a work and the way how we can establish co-ordination between the Centre and the Province. Even if the Central Government takes over the matter into her hands the work will have to be done by the same team of officers and men who are serving there or living there and the same Deputy Commissioner will be required to function.

PANEL OF CHAIRMEN

Mr. Speaker: Before we adjourn for lunch, I have to make a couple of announcements. One of them refers to the request made to me by the Honourable Home Minister for permission to make a statement on the Hyderabad situation. I have permitted him to make it and he will make that statement at 2.30 p.m. Honourable Members may note so that they may be present if they want to.

The other is about the Panel of Chairmen. I have received a communication from Shri Munishwami Pillai who, was one of the Panel of Chairmen in which he says that "in view of the Leader of the House having pointed out the propriety of a Member not continuing as a Member of two legislative bodies.

he feels inclined to resign his Chairmanship in the Panel". I have accepted this resignation and I appoint Shri Ananthasayanam Ayyangar in his place. That leaves one vacancy still to be filled up because I have only nominated three and not four; in the fourth vacancy I nominate Shrimati Durga Bai.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

*The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock
Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair*

STAND-STILL AGREEMENT WITH H. E. H. THE NIZAM OF HYDERABAD

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): With your permission, Sir, I should like to make a statement on the result of the negotiations with the Hyderabad Government on the future relationship between that State and the Government of India. The House will recall that I stated on the floor of this House that this was the last phase of these negotiations. I am happy to say that an agreement has been reached and I lay on the table of the House a copy of the Agreement signed this morning, as well as a copy of the Collateral letters exchanged between H. E. H. and H. E. the Governor-General.

As the House is aware, it was in July last that we initiated negotiations with the States for their accession to the Dominion of India, which due to the spirit of co-operation evinced by the Rulers resulted in the accession before the 15th August of all States except Hyderabad, Kashmir and Junagadh. We had negotiations with representatives of His Exalted Highness the Nizam also at the same time. I do not wish to take the House through the many phases of the negotiations. I need only say that when 15th August came no agreement could be reached. At the same time, His Exalted Highness the Nizam was anxious not to break off negotiations and accordingly at his request we decided to give him an extension of two months within which to finalise his attitude. When the negotiations were resumed, His Excellency the Governor-General, with the concurrence of the Cabinet, undertook to continue them on our behalf. He had several meetings with the Delegations sent by His Exalted Highness and about a month ago a complete agreement had resulted but owing to developments of which the House is aware the old Delegation resigned and a new one was sent by His Exalted Highness the Nizam in its place. During the negotiations with the new Delegation we adhered to the stand we had already taken up and finally the agreement which we have now succeeded in obtaining from the present Delegation is exactly the same as we had negotiated with the old one.

Under this settlement, all agreements and administrative arrangements on matters of common concern which formerly existed between the Crown Representative and the Hyderabad State, except the Paramountcy functions are to be continued as between the Government of India and the Hyderabad State for a period of one year. These agreements and arrangements cover a wide variety of matters including the three subjects on which accession of all the States has been accepted, viz., Defence, External Affairs and Communications.

I know that Honourable Members would have been much more gratified if as a result of these talks His Exalted Highness had found it possible for the State of Hyderabad to accede to the Indian Dominion. Such an accession would have been in accord not only with our cherished desire but also with the interests of both the Indian Dominion and the Hyderabad State. We, however, fully appreciated the internal difficulties in the State and consistent with our policy to secure agreement, not by coercion, but as far as possible with the maximum degree of goodwill on both sides and with due regard to the overall position in India, we felt that an agreement of this nature, even for a limited period, would have considerable advantages over the absence of any agreement whatsoever. The period of one year would enable both of us to forge closer relations and would, it is hoped, pave the way for a permanent accession.

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

The settlement makes it clear that Hyderabad does not propose to accede to Pakistan. This, if I may say so, is only right, for, placed as Hyderabad is, its destiny is inextricably bound up with that of India.

I fully realise that Honourable Members of this House as well as the public outside have been considerably concerned over the happenings in the State in recent months. Now that accord has been reached, I am sure it will have a wholesome effect on the existing situation and will exercise a beneficial influence on the relations between the two communities, both in the State and outside. We can thus put these happenings back in the past and look forward to a relationship in which amity and cordiality will prevail. An atmosphere will thus be created which will enable people who have left the State to return to their homes. I am also certain that as this settlement is intended to serve as the basis of friendly and cordial relations it will be worked in that spirit. We on our part will do our best to secure this end.

I would also like to refer briefly to the fact that proposals for constitutional reforms are now engaging the attention of His Exalted Highness. On this, as well as on the question of final accession, I hope he will readily agree that in the ultimate analysis it is the will of the people that should guide his judgment. There are unmistakable signs in several other States of the triumph of this principle and I feel certain that His Exalted Highness will, as becomes a Ruler of his pre-eminent position, set an example which others can follow.

Finally, I am sure the House would like me to place on record our sense of appreciation of all that His Excellency the Governor-General has done in bringing about such a happy conclusion to the prolonged negotiations.

AGREEMENT.

Agreement made this Twenty-ninth day of November Nineteen Hundred and Forty-seven between the Dominion of India and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar.

Whereas it is the aim and policy of the Dominion of India and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar to work together in close association and amity for the mutual benefit of both, but a final agreement as to the form and nature of the relationship between them has not yet been reached;

And whereas it is to the advantage of both parties that existing agreements and administrative arrangements in matters of common concern should, pending such final agreement as aforesaid, be continued:

Now, therefore, it is hereby agreed as follows:—

Article 1.—Until new agreements in this behalf are made, all agreements and administrative arrangements as to the matters of common concern, including External Affairs, Defence and Communications, which were existing between the Crown and the Nizam immediately before the 15th August 1947 shall, in so far as may be appropriate, continue as between the Dominion of India (or any part thereof) and the Nizam.

Nothing herein contained shall impose any obligation or confer any right on the Dominion

(i) to send troops to assist the Nizam in the maintenance of internal order,

(ii) to station troops in Hyderabad territory except in time of war and with the consent of the Nizam which will not be unreasonably withheld, any troops so stationed to be withdrawn from Hyderabad territory within 6 months of the termination of hostilities.

Article 2.—The Government of India and the Nizam agree for the better execution of the purposes of this Agreement to appoint Agents in Hyderabad and Delhi respectively, and to give every facility to them for the discharge of their functions.

Article 3.—(i) Nothing herein contained shall include or introduce paramountcy functions or create any paramountcy relationship.

(ii) Nothing herein contained and nothing done in pursuance hereof shall be deemed to create in favour of either party any right continuing after the date of termination of this agreement, and nothing herein contained and nothing done in pursuance hereof shall be deemed to derogate from any right which, but for this agreement, would have been exercisable by either party to it after the date of termination hereof.

Article 4.—Any dispute arising out of this agreement or out of agreements or arrangements hereby continued shall be referred to the arbitration of two arbitrators, one appointed by each of the parties, and an umpire appointed by those arbitrators.

Article 5.—This Agreement shall come into force at once and shall remain in force for a period of one year.

In confirmation whereof the Governor-General of India and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar have appended their signatures.

Mir Osman Ali Khan,
Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar.
Mountbatten of Burma,
Governor-General of India.

Copy of a letter from H. E. H. the Nizam to H. E. the Governor General, dated the 29th November 1947.

I regret that we have not been able to reach a final agreement as to the eventual nature of the association between Hyderabad and the Dominion of India. As Your Excellency knows, I have not been prepared to contemplate accession to either Dominion, but short of this, I have been ready to negotiate with your Government upon any other basis. I am now enclosing a Standstill Agreement which I am prepared to execute if Your Excellency's Government are also prepared to sign it. It is a disappointment to me that after such protracted negotiations we are unable to do more for the present than carry on existing arrangements subject to such changes as the departure of paramountcy imposes. On the other hand it is essential to put an end to the present state of uncertainty and the fact that the Agreement now to be executed is to endure for a year means that both Governments will be able to turn their attention more fully to the problems of administration without constant preoccupation with the question of our constitutional relationship. To that question we shall eventually have to return, but I am confident that, if during the next year our association in accordance with the terms of the Standstill Agreement is marked by goodwill on both sides, we shall be more likely at the end of that period to reach a satisfactory agreement as to the nature of our longterm association. I regard this Standstill Agreement accordingly as founded upon the principle of good neighbourliness and I am sure that Your Excellency and Your Government will approach it in the same spirit. By executing this Standstill Agreement I am in no way permanently prejudicing my rights as an independent sovereign, but I am of course conscious that I am in some important respects suspending the exercise of certain of these rights during the currency of the agreement.

2. It is plain that an Agreement in this general form will necessitate a good deal of adjustment in regard to particular arrangements. In this connection I learn that Your Government is prepared as soon as possible to negotiate with mine arrangements for the posts, telegraphs and telephones within Hyderabad to be worked as a Hyderabad system in harmony with the Dominion system. There are, in addition, problems about the Hyderabad Forces, both in regard to the troops and their equipment, which our Government will need to discuss in the light of the fact that on the 15th August 1947, the Hyderabad Forces and Police available for the maintenance of internal order could no longer rely upon the backing of the troops stationed in and near the State by the Paramount Power. This question has already been discussed with the late Military Adviser-in-Chief and with his successor and I have no doubt that Your Excellency's Government will have no objection to making any necessary adjustments in these respects and indeed in other cases of the same character, (having their origin in the exercise of paramountcy functions) which are already apparent or which may come to light in giving effect to the general provision contained in Article I of the Standstill Agreement. So far as arms and equipment are concerned, I understand Your Excellency's Government are ready and willing to provide Hyderabad with the necessary requirements of its Forces and Police. It is only if for any reason the Dominion Government cannot supply such requirements within a reasonable time that I shall approach other sources of supply, and then only after previous intimation to your Government.

3. There is also the question which has been much discussed between my Delegation and the representatives of your Government about diplomatic and trade representatives for Hyderabad abroad. I am prepared to execute the Agreement on the understanding that the Government of the Dominion will take no objection to the maintenance of the Hyderabad Agent-General in U. K. or to the appointment of similar representatives in any other country. I shall be prepared to arrange for the complete co-ordination of the work of these representatives with the diplomatic and commercial representatives of the Dominion of India in such countries and to inform you in advance of any representatives whom I may decide to appoint. I am confident that Your Excellency's Government will be equally ready to co-operate with mine in regard to the import and export trade of Hyderabad.

4. There are several matters which have been outstanding between us for some time and which I should like to see cleared out of the way as soon as the Agreement comes into force :

(I) No Paramountcy functions remain to be exercised nor was the Hyderabad Residency retained except as a house for the British Resident when there was one in the past. In these circumstances I should be glad if your Government would now hand it over to Hyderabad. Suitable arrangements can be immediately made about the Treasury and your Treasury Officials.

(II) It is urgently necessary that arms, equipment and, in particular, ammunition should be immediately made available to Hyderabad. We have had no supplies since July and the shortage is interfering with the training of the Hyderabad Army.

(III) In the same way, there has been difficulty in securing the importation of 'soft' vehicles for the use of the Army and, in the special circumstances of Hyderabad you will appreciate the importance of mobility having regard to the areas to be covered.

(IV) I understand that the last of the Dominion troops stationed in Hyderabad will be removed in the course of the next month and I shall be glad of confirmation of this matter.

(V) The transfer to Hyderabad of all jurisdiction within the State was agreed in principle before the 15th August 1947 and was largely effected before that date and has continued since. There are however some points still outstanding in this regard in relation to Police jurisdiction on part of the Railways which run through the State. I assume that such jurisdiction will be immediately restored to Hyderabad.

5. It is of course manifest that my rights in regard to such matters as currency, coinage and postal rights are in no way impaired by the Standstill Agreement, but I should be glad if Your Excellency would give me an express assurance that the rights to which I have just referred continue undiminished.

6. I should like to take this opportunity of suggesting that, in relation to passports, the Dominion of India should agree, as a matter of convenience in a question which is becoming urgent, to the Chief Secretary of my Government or some other appropriate officer issuing passports to Hyderabad subjects which would be countersigned by the Dominion.

7. I am sure that in entering into this Agreement both our Governments intend to do all they can to prevent subversive movements and propaganda in the territory of the other.

8. I know well Your Excellency's interests in all steps taken to abate communal antagonism. It may therefore, be of interest to you to know that, in conformity with earlier declarations on my part, I propose to issue a Firman in the immediate future expressing my firm resolve to protect the lives, rights and interests of all my subjects alike, irrespective of caste or creed.

Copy of a letter from His Excellency the Governor-General to His Exalted Highness the Nizam, dated the 29th November 1947.

I acknowledge with thanks the receipt of Your Exalted Highness's letter dated the 29th November and the Agreement. While my Government and I note that Your Exalted Highness has an intention of acceding to Pakistan, we very much regret that you should have been unable to execute an Instrument of Accession with India. Both my Minister for States in his Statement of the 5th July and I myself in my speech of the 25th July to the representatives of the States have made it clear that it is the earnest desire of the Government of India to maintain the sovereignty of the States and to work with them as full partners in the administration of the three subjects proposed for accession. My Government cordially reciprocate your hope that, given goodwill on both sides, the working of the standstill agreement will provide a basis for a satisfactory long term solution. Placed as Hyderabad is its interests are inextricably bound up with those of India; and my Government hope that before the present agreement expires, it will be possible for Hyderabad to accede to the Dominion of India.

2. My Government will be prepared to discuss with your representative as soon as possible the question of handing over the posts, telegraphs and telephones; and also the future strength and equipment of the Hyderabad Forces.

As regards the supply of arms and equipment, the Dominion Government will be able to supply your legitimate requirements.

3. My Government have no objection to your maintaining an Agent-General in London and appointing similar representative elsewhere, if necessary. In this connection they are very glad to have your assurance, to which you will appreciate that the Government of India attach great importance, that the activities of such representatives will be fully co-ordinated with those of the representatives of the Dominion of India and will be confined to matters properly relating to trade and commerce.

The Government of India are certainly prepared to co-operate with Hyderabad fully in regard to its import and export trade.

4. As regards the points raised in para 4 of your letter, my Government have authorised me to say as follows :—

- (1) My Government gladly agree that the Residency buildings at Hyderabad will be returned to your Government as soon as alternative accommodation promised by you is made available for our Treasury and officials employed there.
- (2) My Government will take the necessary action in regard to the early supply of arms and ammunition for which an indent has been received from your Government.
- (3) My Government will help your Government in securing the vehicles that they require.
- (4) It is the definite intention of my Government that the troops at present stationed inside Hyderabad territory should be progressively withdrawn according to an agreed programme and that the withdrawal should be completed by the end of February 1948 at the latest.
- (5) On the points remaining to be settled regarding the retrocession of jurisdiction, these can be discussed with my Government by your representative as soon as he is appointed.

5. I am authorised to assure Your Exalted Highness that your rights in regard to currency, coinage and postal matters will in no way be impaired by the standstill agreement.

6. My Government will take up the question of passports mentioned in paragraph 6 of your letter. They are fully prepared to assist you in this respect.

7. With reference to paras 7 and 8 of your letter, the Government of India desire to assure Your Exalted Highness that it is their earnest desire to promote communal harmony and to maintain peace and security, and they will co-operate wholeheartedly with you to that end.

8. I enclose the agreement duly signed by me.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): May I seek your permission for a motion of appreciation to be recorded on behalf of this House for the able manner in which Ministry of States has conducted these negotiations?

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid the motion is not permissible. But the Honourable Member has expressed the same and the House accepts it.

MOTION RE RELIEF AND REHABILITATION OF REFUGEES—cont.

श्री अजीत प्रसाद जैन : मैं कह रहा था कि अगर रिफ्यूजीज (refugees) के काम को मर्कजी हुकुमत ने अपने हाथ में ले लिया तो आखिर उसे मुकामी अफसरों के जरिये से ही करना होगा, और अगर आपने कोई अपना मर्कजी अफसर भी मुकर्रर किया तो उससे कोई बड़ी बेहतरी पैदा नहीं हो सकती।

एक दो चीजें और हैं जो मैं कोआर्डिनेशन (Co-ordination) के सिलसिले में अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ। धनवाद के अंदर एक कैम्प खोला गया जहाँ स्त्री और बच्चों का खासा

[श्री अजीत प्रसाद जैन]

इन सबसे बड़ी समस्या है इन लोगों को मुस्तकिल तौर से आबाद करने की। आखिर में खाना कपड़ा और आर्जी मकान थोड़े दिन के लिए ही दिये जा सकते हैं। दिल्ली के अंदर शरणार्थी लोगों को रक्खा गया। इसका नतीजा बहुत अच्छा होगा। लेकिन यह जरूरी है कि तमाम पूर्वी पंजाब के अंदर और दूसरे हिंदुस्तान के हिस्सों में जहां शरणार्थी मौजूद हैं उनको जल्द से जल्द रजिस्ट्रेशन किया जाय क्योंकि इससे इसका अंदाजा कर सकते हैं कि कौन आदमी किस काम को चाहता है। किस सूबे में बसने की काबिलियत रखता है और कहां उनको भेजा जाय। बगैर रजिस्ट्रेशन के कोई चीज चल नहीं सकती। और साथ ही साथ हमको यह भी देखना होगा कि कितने आदमी कहां भेजे जायें। कैसा शहर बसाया जाय। और किस तरह से लोगों को बसाया जाय। हमारे यहां यू० पी० के अंदर इस बात की कोशिश हो रही है कि एक शहर आबाद किया जाय। लेकिन हमारा अंदाजा यह है कि जो हमारे इस वक्त छोटे छोटे शहर मौजूद हैं उनके आस पास की जमीन देकर हम उन शरणार्थियों को आबाद कर सकते हैं। मैं महज इतना ही अर्ज करना चाहता हूं।

(English translation of the above speech.)

Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: I was saying that even if the Central Government takes over the task of rehabilitation of Refugees, the work ultimately would have to be done by the local officers. Even if we appoint an officer under the Central Government, we cannot make much improvement.

Besides this, there are one or two more things which I like to say in connexion with the work of co-ordination. A camp was opened at Dhanbad where special arrangements had been made for ladies and children. But inspite of this, women and children in thousands are wandering from door to door in different places. No arrangements have been made to transport them to this camp. My friend, Seth Govinddas, said before this House that the Central Provinces Government were prepared to absorb ten thousand refugees. But even these have not been sent there. As a matter of fact what is required is such as close co-ordination of the Central and the Provincial Governments as would enable them to solve adequately the problem of all these refugees. That is the only way which can bring us success.

The Honourable Minister for Relief and Rehabilitation has told us what things are necessary for the refugees and for their reception. The question of evacuating them is over. Almost all of them who wanted to come out of the West Punjab have been evacuated. Now we must attend to their immediate requirements. The problems of accommodating them in the houses; of providing them with food rations; and of giving them clothes are the most pressing at this time, and may I say that they need improvement.

With regard to the problem of housing the Honourable Minister has told us that a Custodian of Evacuees' Property has been appointed to do this work. There was a time when I also thought that this would improve matters. But experience has shown us otherwise. Instead of improving, the conditions have worsened. I have seen at many places that nearly one thousand to twelve hundred houses are lying either in the possession of the Custodian of Evacuees' Property or the refugees have forcibly occupied them. One day my friend Mr. Deshbandhu Gupta said in this Assembly that the occupation of the evacuees houses in Delhi by the refugees from Pakistan was illegal. He added that this occupation, though illegal, was recognised by the Government as authorised, for there was no other alternative. Where such occupation was not allowed, it was found that all the wooden and iron fixtures in the houses were removed. Because the Custodian of Evacuees' Property could not manage it properly, the public dismantled these fittings and made off with them. The result was: the houses became dilapidated. I want to point out that on the one hand we have so many houses unoccupied while, on the other, the refugees, men, women and children, who have come from the West Punjab, are lying on the roadside along with their belongings. Both these things are quite queer. In a resolution recently passed by the A.I.C.C. it was said that the policies of the provincial Governments were not to allot the Muslim evacuees' houses until and unless it was ascertained that these premises had been abandoned by the Muslims voluntarily. I beg to submit, sir, that it is an improper policy not to allow a refugee to occupy a house which a Muslim thinks he has not vacated willingly. The result is evident. On the one side we find many houses which are unoccupied whereas, on the other, the refugees, women and children, are lying in the open, shivering in the cold. This looks strange. If not permanently, these houses should be allotted provisionally. And this, I think, will also help in solving the problem of looking after these houses. Not only will the refugees get shelter, but these houses will also receive a better care than they do at present. A friend of mine, who has gone to Pakistan, asked me what he should do with his house. I advised him that it would be better for him to give it to a refugee. And if he returned, the house would be given back to him. That would ensure the safety of his house.

It is said that people in big numbers, and as far as I think, not less than seven lakhs of men, are such as are living in the camps. About the camp in the Punjab, the one at Kurukshetra, I have heard that one and a half times the people for whom the camp was intended have been squeezed into this place. Except for an ordinary routine there are no other proper arrangements for meals. Conditions are different in the U.P. Many military barracks are available with us. I brought this thing to the notice of the Honourable Minister for Defence; I told him that in our Western district of Badshah Bagh there are as many vacant barracks as can accommodate thirty to forty thousands of people. But upto this time neither have they been used by the military authorities nor have they been given to the refugees. I want to draw the attention of the Honourable Minister to it so that he may be able to carefully examine this position regarding the barracks.

The Honourable Minister told us in the course of his speech that the refugees put up on the railway stations because they hope to catch trains. With respect to this I want to tell him that he is wrong there. About three thousand to three thousand and a half of men were putting up at the railway station of my city. These people lived there, cooked their meals, and tried to live what may be called a domestic life. I made a small camp. All these men, who were living at the station, rushed to it and passed their days in a hutment made of straw. These men have to live at the railway stations because they have no other place to go to.

The same applies to meals. Some of the refugees had some money with them. They settled at Mussorie, some tried to accommodate themselves in Dehra Dun while others took shelter at Hardwar. But those who are coming now have nothing but the clothes they are wearing. Eight to ten such families came who had nothing with them. Even at this time the United Provinces are feeding a big number of refugees. I have to request the Honourable Minister that he should carefully consider the question of giving meals to a good number of men.

[श्री अजीत प्रसाद जैन]

इंतजाम था, लेकिन अब तक वावजूद इसके जगह जगह हजारों की तादाद में स्त्री बच्चे दरबदर डोल रहे हैं, उन्हें वहां भेजने का इंतजाम नहीं किया गया। इस सभा-गृह के अंदर मेरे दोस्त सेठ गोविन्द दास ने एक सवाल किया था कि मध्य प्रांत की हुकूमत दस हजार शरणार्थियों को लेने के लिये तैयार है लेकिन अभी वह भेजे नहीं गये। असल चीज यह है कि सूबों और मर्कज के अंदर इस किस्म का मेल जोल होना चाहिये कि जिससे तमाम शरणार्थियों की समस्या अच्छी तरह से हल हो सके और इसी तरीके से हम लोग कामयाबी हासिल कर सकते हैं।

मिनिस्टर साहब ने अपनी तकरीर के अंदर उन तमाम चीजों को बतलाया जो शरणार्थी लोगों के रिसेप्शन (reception) के सिलसिले में जरूरी हैं। उनके इस्तकबाल का मामला खत्म हो चुका क्योंकि करीब करीब जो शरणार्थी पश्चिमी पंजाब से आने वाले थे वह आ चुके। अब जो उनके फौरी मामलात हैं यानी उनके लिए रहने को मकान के, खाने और कपड़े के यह तीनों चीजें हैं जिनकी फौरन बेहतरी जरूरी है।

मकान के सिलसिले में मिनिस्टर साहब ने फरमाया कि जितना मकानों का काम है वह कस्टोडियन ऑफ इवेक्यूई प्रापर्टी के हाथ में है। एक जमाने तक मेरा भी ख्याल रहा कि इससे कोई बेहतरी होगी लेकिन तजुर्वे ने बताया कि इससे हालात बेहतर नहीं बदतर होती है। कई जगह मैंने देखा कि हजार और बारह सौ मकान कस्टोडियन ऑफ इवेक्यूई प्रापर्टी के हाथ में हैं या उन पर शरणार्थियों ने कब्जा कर लिया है। और इस सभा के अंदर मेरे दोस्त देशबन्धु गुप्ता ने एक रोज यह कहा था कि दिल्ली के अंदर जिन शरणार्थी लोगों ने मकानों के ऊपर कब्जा कर लिये हैं कब्जा नाजायज था, पर उसे जायज बना दिया क्योंकि इसके अलावा कोई चारा नहीं था। जहां इस किस्म का कब्जा नहीं होने दिया गया वहां देखा गया कि मकानों में जितने लकड़ी के दर्वाजे, किवाड या लोहे का सामान लगा हुआ था क्योंकि कस्टोडियन ऑफ प्रापर्टी इसके लिये इंतजाम नहीं कर सकते थे इसलिये सब का सब सामान उखाड़ कर ले गये, और उन मकानों की हालत बदतर हो गई। मैं अर्ज करना चाहता हूं कि एक तरफ कितने ही मकान खाली पड़े हुए हैं दूसरी तरफ शरणार्थी मर्द और बच्चे जो पश्चिमी पंजाब से आये हैं वह तमाम सड़कों पर आसमान के साये में पड़े हुए हैं। यह दोनों चीजें अजीबो गरीब हैं। अभी ए०आई०सी०सी० (A. I. C. C.) ने एक रेज्योल्यूशन पास किया कि सूबों की हुकूमतों की पालिसी है कि जो मकान मुसलमानों के खाली हैं जिस वक्त तक उन्होंने रजामन्दी से अपने मकान खाली न किये हों वह शरणार्थी लोगों को न दिये जायें। मैं अदब से अर्ज करना चाहता हूं कि यह पालिसी गैर मुनासिब है कि कोई ऐसा मकान

शरणार्थी को न मिले जिसको मुसलमान ने रजामन्दी से खाली न किया हो। नतीजा यह है इसका कि एक तरफ मकान खाली पड़े हैं, दूसरी तरफ औरत और बच्चे और शरणार्थी इस ठंडक के जमाने में पड़े हैं। यह चीज अजीबो गरीब मालूम होती है। अगर मुस्तकिल तरीके पर नहीं तो आजी तौर पर मकान उन्हें दिये जायें और मैं समझता हूं इससे मकानों की समस्या हल हो सकती है। न इन शरणार्थियों को मकान ही मिलेंगे बल्कि उनकी बेहतर हिफाजत हो सकेगी। मेरे एक दोस्त जो पाकिस्तान गए उन्होंने मुझसे सलाह मांगी कि अपने मकान का क्या करें, तो मैंने कहा कि आपके लिए बेहतर होगा कि आप मकान किसी शरणार्थी को दे जायें। और अगर आप वापिस आएं तो ऐसी सूरत में आने पर वह आपको वापस दे देंगे। इससे आपका मकान महफूज रहेगा।

कहा जाता है कि एक काफी तादाद में और जहां तक मेरा ख्याल है कि सात लाख आदमी ऐसे हैं जो कैम्पों में मौजूद हैं। पंजाब के कैम्प के बारे में कुश्नेत्र के बारे में, मैंने सुना कि वहां पर करीब करीब जितनी जगह थी उससे ड्योढ़े आदमी मौजूद हैं और वहां पर सिवाय एक मामूली तौर के कोई खाने का माकूल इंतजाम नहीं है। यह हालत हमारे यू०पी० की नहीं है। बहुत सी फौजी बैरकें इस वक्त भी मौजूद हैं। मैंने डिफेन्स मिनिस्टर से इस बारे में अर्ज किया था कि कुछ हमारे पश्चिमी जिलों में, बादशाह बाग में इतनी बैरकें मौजूद हैं कि जिसमें तीस, चालीस हजार आदमी आबाद हो सकते हैं। लेकिन अब तक वह बैरकें न फौजी काम में लायी गईं न उनमें शरणार्थी बसाये गये। मैं मिनिस्टर साहब की तवज्जह इस तरफ दिलाना चाहता हूं कि वह इन बैरकों के मसले पर अच्छी तरह से गौर फर्मायें।

मिनिस्टर साहब ने अपनी तकरीर के अंदर यह बात फर्माई कि स्टेशन के अंदर शरणार्थी इसलिए रहते हैं कि उनको गाडी मिल जाय। मैं कहना चाहता हूं निहायत अदब से कि उनका ख्याल गलत है। मेरे स्टेशन पर तीन साढ़े तीन हजार आदमी पड़े थे जो वहां रहते थे, खाते पकाते थे, जिन्दगी बसर करते थे। मैंने एक छोटा सा कैम्प डाला जिसमें सब भाग कर आए और एक चटाई के झोपड़ों में तमाम शरणार्थी वहां रहे। स्टेशनों पर वे इसलिये रहते हैं चूंकि उनके लिये कोई इंतजाम नहीं है।

खान के संबंध में भी यही बात है। कुछ शरणार्थी आए, जिनके पास पैसा था वह मसूरी में आबाद हुए। कुछ देहरादून में आबाद हुए। कुछ हरिद्वार में आबाद हुए लेकिन इस वक्त जो शरणार्थी आ रहे हैं उनके पास सिर्फ बदन के कपड़े रहते हैं। आठ दस परिवार आए उनके पास कोई चीज नहीं है। इस वक्त भी हमारे यहां कम से कम यू०पी० के अंदर बहुत काफी तादाद में लोगों को खाना दिया जा रहा है। मैं मिनिस्टर साहब से अर्ज करना चाहता हूं कि वह इस मसले पर गौर करें कि काफी तादाद में लोगों को खाना दिया जाय।

[Shri Ajit Prasad Jain.]

But the greatest of all these is the problem of settling these persons permanently. After all, meals, clothing and temporary accommodation can be given only for a few days. The refugees have been 'stationed' at Delhi. This will have very good result. But it is essential to register, as soon as possible, all these refugees who are living in the East Punjab and other parts of India. We can, in this way, have an idea as to what sort of work suits them. What province would suit him, and where he should be sent. Without registration it is difficult to proceed. Along with this we must also see how many men should be transported and to what places, what kind of a city should be built and how the people should be settled!

We, in the U.P., have been endeavouring to build a new city. But what we think at present is that we can settle these refugees on lands that lie in the vicinity of small towns. I have only to say this much.

पंडित ठाकुरदास भार्गव : माननीय स्पीकर साहब, मैंने अभी तक जो तकरीरें हुई हैं उनको बहुत तवज्जो के साथ सुना। इस हाउस में करीब २०० से ज्यादा मेंबर हैं मगर उन ३० लाख शरणार्थियों का जो रूरल एरिया (rural area) से आये हैं कोई रिप्रेजेन्टेटिव (Representative) मुझे नजर नहीं आया मैं यह भी जानता हूँ कि जो यहां मौजूद हैं उनमें से किसी ने गांव में जाकर नहीं देखा कि इन शरणार्थियों को कहां बसाया गया है और इनकी हालत क्या है। पंजाब गवर्नमेंट ने उनके बारे में क्या इंतजाम किया है। मैं जानता हूँ कई साहवान जो यहां मौजूद हैं वह शरणार्थियों से जो दहली में आए हुए हैं वाकिफ हैं और मुझसे ज्यादा वाकिफियत रखते हैं लेकिन मैं यह अर्ज करने से तामूल नहीं करता कि जो ये तीस लाख शरणार्थी रूरल एरिया (rural area) वाले हैं वह किस हालत में हैं, उनकी क्या क्या जरूरत है उनके साथ कैसा सलूक हुआ है और उनके साथ क्या सलूक होना चाहिये इसका ज्ञान उनको नहीं है।

मैं आपकी खिदमत में यह अर्ज करूंगा कि मैंने अपने जिले में तकरीबन आठ दिन तक शरणार्थियों के पास जाकर उनकी तकलीफें देखीं, और यह भी देखा कि पंजाब गवर्नमेंट के अफसरान किस तरह से उनसे पेश आ रहे हैं। मुझे यह भी मालूम है कि मुस्लिम सूबों में यानी भावलपुर और वेस्टर्न पंजाब (Western Punjab) में यहां से जो गए हैं उन के ऊपर क्या क्या मुसीबत आई है।

असल बात यह है कि जो लोग बहुत नुकताचीनी करते हैं वह इस बात से वाकिफ नहीं हैं। मैं मानने को तैयार हूँ कि हमारे कैबिनेट (Cabinet) में मि० नियोगी हैं वह इस काम के लिये मुकर्रर किये गये हैं उनसे बेहतर आदमी हमको नहीं मिल सकता था मैं अहसास करता हूँ कि पंजाब कोआरिडीनेन्स (Punjab Coordinauce) के लिए गोपाला स्वामी आयरंगर से बेहतर आदमी नहीं मिल सकता था। मैं उनसे मिला हूँ

और उनको जानता हूँ किस तरह वे सवालों को सोचते और समझते हैं। मैंने खुद देखा है किमिस्टर नियोगी साहब के पास लोग जाते हैं और उनको धमकाते हैं और बंदसलूकी से पेश आते हैं मगर फिर भी उनके माथे पर बल नहीं आता। मैं उनकी मुसीबतों को जानता हूँ। लेकिन मैं अदब के साथ अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ कि अगर इन दो साहबों की जगह पर दो देवता मुकर्रर कर दिये जाते तो तब भी यह रिफ्यूजीज (refugees) का सवाल वे हल नहीं कर पाते जो इतना बड़ा मुश्किल है।

हमारी इस गवर्नमेंट में बड़े बड़े नेता मौजूद हैं, ऐसे नेता हैं जिनके ऊपर हमारा पूरा विश्वास है और जो अच्छी तरह से सब बातों पर तवज्जो देते हैं। मैंने खुद सरदार पटेल के वहां सुबह के वक्त कितने शरणार्थियों को मुसीबत का जिक्र करते देखा। मैं खुद कितने एक डैपुटेशन (deputations) के साथ पं० जवाहरलाल नेहरू जी के वहां गया। उन्होंने बड़ी अच्छी तरह से हमारे दुःखों को हमदर्दी के साथ सुना।

कोई भी गवर्नमेंट क्यों न हो इतने भारी रीहैबिलिटेशन (Rehabilitation) का काम इतनी जल्दी नहीं कर सकती। क्योंकि इस काम में बहुत कठिनाइयां हैं। जिस तरह से हमारी गवर्नमेंट ने रिलीफ का काम किया उससे बेहतर तरीके से कोई इतने थोड़े समय में नहीं कर सकती। इससे बेहतर भी हो सकता है वह इस तरह से कि गवर्नमेंट ने जो गलतियां की हैं उनको न दुहराया जावे। मैं एक अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ। वह यह है कि गवर्नमेंट को जो चीज पहले करना चाहिये थी, और वह अब तक न कर सकी, तो उसको अब जल्द से जल्द पूरा करना चाहिये। मिसाल के तौर पर पंजाब के अंदर तीन बैंक हैं सिवाय पंजाब नेशनल के, न्यू बैंक, ट्रेडर्स बैंक, और लक्ष्मी कमशियल बैंक। यह तीनों बैंक पंजाब के अंदर बड़ी अच्छी तरह से काम कर रहे थे उनके हिस्सों की कीमत बड़ी ऊंची थी— उनकी पूंजी और रिजर्व (reserve) बहुत काफी थी लेकिन उनके पांच करोड़ के एसेट्स (assets) पाकिस्तान के अंदर मौजूद हैं। इन बैंकों में करीब ६० हजार परिवारों के एकाउन्ट्स (accounts) हैं। यह बैंक सरकार से अपने एसेट्स (assets) पाकिस्तान वालों पर ७० फी सदी कर्जा मांगते हैं। अगर सरकार ने कर्जा न दिया तो इन बैंकों को काफी नुकसान उठाना पड़ेगा इन बैंकों के सेफ डिपोजिट वाल्ट्स (Safe deposit vaults) में इन परिवारों के स्त्रियों के जेबरात हैं और सिक्युरिटीज (Securities) हैं जो उनकी जिन्दगी भर की कमाई है। घर से और जायदाद से तो शरणार्थियों को हाथ धोना पड़ा है, और सिवाय इस रकम के अब उनके पास कोई चीज नहीं है। अगर यह बैंक डूब जाते हैं तो इन शरणार्थियों को ऐसी मुसीबत का सामना करना होगा जिसका कोई ठिकाना नहीं।

१५ अगस्त के बाद जिस वक्त पंडित जवाहर लाल नेहरू जी पंजाब गये थे उस समय हमारे लीडरों ने यह कहा था कि "डटे रहो"। सो इन लीडरों के कहने पर

[पंडित ठाकुरदास भार्गव]

वे बैंक वाले, जब तक उनका एक नौकर भी रहा, वह काम करते रहे। जिसकी वजह से लोगों के वहां से भागने के पहिले ही भागना शुरू नहीं किया और न अपनी किताबें व माल हटाया। अगर बैंक वाले चले आते तो उनके चले आने पर लोगों में डर फैल जाता। बैंक वाले वहां अन्त तक काम करते रहे जिसका नतीजा यह हुआ कि बैंक वालों की किताबें सब पाकिस्तान में पड़ी रहीं। वहां से अब जो सेफ डिपोजिट वाल्ट्स (Safe deposit vaults) में धन है वह शरणार्थियों को नहीं मिल सकता और न उनका हिसाब मिल सकता है। हम अपने धन पर हाथ नहीं लगा सकते हैं और पाकिस्तान वाले जब चाहेंगे उस माल को ले लेंगे।

मैं अदब से पूछना चाहता हूं कि इन दो तीन महीनों के अर्से में इन तीनों बैंकों ने गवर्नमेंट से कर्जा मांगा था और कहा था कि जब तक हमारा रुपया वसूल न होगा तो हम अपने शेयर होल्डरों (Share holders) को तब तक पैसा नहीं देगे रिजर्व बैंक को हमारा हिसाब देखने के लिये मुकर्रर कर दिया जाय। मगर इन तीन महीनों में अब तक कोई इमदाद उन बैंकों को नहीं मिली। यह सब रेड टेपिज्म (Red-Tapism) की वजह से हो रहा है। फाइनेंस डिपार्टमेंट (Finance Department) से पूछा जाता है तो वहां से जवाब मिलता है कि रिजर्व बैंक में मामला गया हुआ है। जब आगे जाते हैं तो कहा जाता है कि ईस्ट पंजाब (East Punjab) की गवर्नमेंट के पास मामला गया है। मैं जानता हूं कि फाइनेंस मिनिस्टर (Finance Minister) हमदर्दी रखते हैं तो भी मामला जल्द तैय नहीं होता।

दूसरी बात यहां रिलीफ व रिहैबिलिटेशन (Relief and Rehabilitation) के बारे में कही गई है। रिहैबिलिटेशन (Rehabilitation) के माने हैं शरणार्थियों को जमीन और मकान दिया जाना। जब तक पाकिस्तान से जायदाद की मिलकियत का फैसला नहीं किया जाता तो कैसे इन चीजों को पक्की तौर से शरणार्थियों को दिया जा सकता है, तीस लाख आदमियों को सिर्फ छः महीने के लिए जमीन और घर दिया जाता है तो उसको रिहैबिलिटेशन नहीं कहते। रिलीफ (Relief) के माने यह हैं कि उन लोगों को इस तरह की इमदाद दी जाय जिससे जब तक वह बस नहीं जाते हैं उनको तकलीफ न हो इसका भी पूरा इंतजाम नहीं हुआ।

रजिस्ट्रेशन (Registration) के बारे में भी एक बात अर्ज करना चाहता हूं और वह बड़ी अहमियत रखती है। मार्च से लेकर अगस्त तक ५ लाख शरणार्थी वेस्ट पंजाब (West Punjab) से ईस्ट पंजाब (East Punjab) में आगये और दूसरी जगह चले गये। इतने आदमियों का रजिस्ट्रेशन (Registration) कैसे हो सकता था। अब गांव में बसे हुए रिफ्यूजीज (refugees) का रजिस्ट्रेशन भटवारी सुविधा से कर सकते हैं

मैं जनाब की तवज्जो एक बात की तरफ दिलाना चाहता हूं, जो शरणार्थियों के दिलों पर बहुत खराब असर करती है। मैंने बहुत सी शिकायतें सुनी हैं कि वेस्ट पंजाब (West Punjab) से आए हुए लोगों ने सहारनपुर, देहरादून में ऊधम मचाया। इसी तरह से दिल्ली के लोग पंजाब से आये हुये शरणार्थियों से नाला हैं। यह जितनी पापूलेशन (population) वेस्ट पंजाब (West Punjab) से आई है वह गवर्नमेंट आफ इंडिया (Government of India) की रेस्पॉन्सिबिलिटी (Responsibility) है, किसी प्राविंस (Province) को यह हक नहीं है कि वह यह कह सके कि हम शरणार्थियों को अपने प्रांत में नहीं आने देंगे। तुम्हारी तो जगह ईस्ट पंजाब (East Punjab) ही में है, वहां से बाहर नहीं जा सकते। मैं बिल्कुल अदब से पूछना चाहता हूं कि किस कानून की वजह से यह कह सकते हैं कि वेस्ट पंजाब (West Punjab) से आये हुए लोग ईस्ट पंजाब (East Punjab) के अंदर ही स्क्वीज (Squeeze) कर दिये जाय। कोई सवाल पंजाबियों की सोलीडैरिटी (Solidarity) तोड़ने का पैदा नहीं होता रावलपिंडी और गुरदासपुर के लोग मुरादाबाद तथा गुडगांवा में एकसां तौर पर स्ट्रेंजर्स (strangers) की तरह रहेंगे। उनका खान-पान रहन सहन जैसे रोहतक, हिसार वालों से नहीं मिलता वैसे ही आगरा व लखनऊ वालों से नहीं मिलता। लेकिन इसका मतलब यह नहीं है कि हम (East Punjab) वाले उनको वेलकम (welcome) नहीं करते हैं। हम उनको अपना भाई समझते हैं और हमें कितनी ही तकलीफ हो, हम उन्हें बसाने को तैयार हैं।

इधर कहा जाता है कि एक आदमी को इतनी जमीन दो जिसकी इकोनोमिक यूनिटी (economic unity) हो और दूसरी तरफ जब जमीन का हिसाब बतलाया जाता है, तो सिर्फ तीस लाख एकड़ जमीन पंजाब में ऐसी है जो कि मुसलमानों ने छोड़ी है हालांकि हिंदू-सिख ५७ लाख एकड़ छोड़कर आये हैं इसलिये जमीन पर्याप्त नहीं है।

पंजाब गवर्नमेंट के बड़े रिहैबिलिटेशन अफसर (rehabilitation officer) हिसार में तशरीफ लाए उन्होंने एक कमेटी बिठाई। उन्होंने पूछा कि इकोनोमिक यूनिटी (economic unity) के मुताबिक हम एक कुनबे के वास्ते कितनी जमीन दें। हमने बतलाया कि आपको इस कदर जमीन देनी चाहिये, उसके वगैर एक कुनबे का गुजारा मुमकिन नहीं है। लेकिन उन अफसर साहब ने बहुत कम जमीन दी जिससे वैसा गुजारा तो क्या जैसा पंजाब में था पूरा गुजारा भी नहीं चलेगा। यह तो अब असंभव है कि वह लोग ऐसे रह सकें जिस तरीके से वह लोग पाकिस्तान के अंदर रहा करते थे। क्योंकि वहां पैदावार बहुत थी यहां तक कि दो जिलों की पैदावार लायलपुर और मिटगोमरी की हमारे यहां के तेरह जिलों की पैदावार से ज्यादा थी। यह दरअसल एक अच्छे और खुशहाल कस्म की जिंदगी के ऐकस्टमड (accustomed) हैं।

902

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [29TH NOV. 1947]

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava.]

taken hold of the people if the bankers had come out first. Upto the last moment the bank employees were working there. The result was that at the eleventh hour they could bring nothing out of Pakistan, not even their records. The refugees can neither get their money lying in the safe deposit vaults of Pakistan, nor can they know anything about their accounts. We cannot even touch our money, and Pakistan will have it whenever it likes.

With respect, Sir, I want to say, that for the last two or three months the three banks have been requesting the Government for a loan. They offered that they would pay no dividends to their shareholders till the debt they owed to the Government was cleared. They even offered to let the Reserve Bank of India be empowered to examine their accounts during this period. But no help has so far been given to these banks. And this is all due to the 'red tapism'. When enquiries are made at the Finance Department offices it is said that the case with the Reserve Bank of India. When we proceed further, it is said that the case has been referred to the East Punjab Government. I know that the Honourable Minister for Finance is very sympathetic, but in spite of that things are not expedited.

The second point is concerned with the Relief and Rehabilitation. The latter word means that the refugees should be given lands and houses. So long as it is not settled with the Pakistan authorities as to who should be the owner of the evacuees' property, how can we permanently give it to the refugees. Lands and houses have been given to them only for six months. But that is not what we call Rehabilitation. By relief is meant that refugees should be given such help, till they are settled, as would lessen their difficulties. But proper arrangements have not been made even for this.

About the registration of refugees also, I have to say one thing, and that is very important. Between the months of March and April, about five lakhs of refugees migrated from West Punjab into the East Punjab and other parts of India. It was difficult to register them then. Now when many of them have been settled in the villages, the patwaris can easily register these immigrants.

Sir, I want to draw your attention to one thing which is having a very bad effect on the minds of the refugees. Many people have complained to me that the refugees from the West Punjab are responsible for the disturbances in Saharanpur and Dehradun. Similarly, the Delhi public is fed up with the refugees who have come from the Punjab. May I say, Sir, that it is the Government of India which are responsible for all this influx of the West Punjabis into Delhi. No province has a right to say that it would not allow Refugees to come in. No province is entitled to say that the East Punjab is meant for them and that they could not come out of it. With due respect I want to ask, Sir, where is the law by means of which it is desired to squeeze the refugees from the West Punjab in the East Punjab. There is no question of dissipating the solidarity of the Punjabis. People from Rawalpindi and Gurdaspur will be strangers alike in Moradabad or Gurgaon. Their habits and their manners differ as much from those of the people of Rohtak and Hissar as they do from the residents of Agra and Lucknow. But it does not mean that people of the East Punjab do not welcome the refugees. We look upon them as our brethren, and we are prepared to embrace them at all costs.

On the one hand it is said that a refugee should be given as much land as has an 'economic unity'. And on the other hand, when we look to the land left by the Muslim evacuees, we find that it is only thirty lakhs of acres whereas Hindus and Sikhs have left in Pakistan about 57 lakhs of acres. The land with us, therefore, is insufficient.

The Chief Officer of Rehabilitation of the Punjab Government visited Hissar. He convened a meeting of the people and asked them how much land should be given to a family according to the 'economic unity'. We suggested a minimum measure and told him that with a land less than that it was difficult for a man to meet the bare expenses of his family. But that officer sanctioned a measure of land, which could not suffice even for bare dal and chapati, leave aside the question of the previous standard of the refugees. It is not possible for the refugees to live a life they had been accustomed to in Pakistan. The harvests on that side were great, so much so that the produce of only two districts of Lyallpur and Montgomery was more than that of all our thirteen districts put together. These refugees, as a matter of fact, are accustomed to a happy and well to do life.

The same is the case with the urban refugees. We can give them all the houses that are available with us. But from the point of view of accommodation, they are neither good, nor sufficient nor are they fit for the people who have come from the cities. Moreover, the mere allotment of houses does not mean rehabilitation. So long as they are not made economically fit for earning their livelihoods, it is difficult for them to pull on.

Until and unless we do that this problem will remain unsolved. I want to ask, Sir, if we give even a palatial building in a lane of Hissar to a fellow who has come from Lahore, do you think he will be able to live there? Impossible! Those who have lived in the cities cannot live in the villages. It is easy to say: let us build many towns. It is easy to wish to have a town near Kurukshetra and another between Lucknow and Cawnpore. But it is not a holiday excursion. It is not so easy to build a town as people think. Bricks are selling at sixty rupees a thousand. Other building materials are not available. In the face of all this, it is not a child's play to have a new town built, as with Alladin's lamp. I, therefore, submit that there should be a Planning Committee which should include representatives of the Punjab Government and the Government of India. Let it sit for a week and bring out an agreed plan to settle these refugees. It would not at all be difficult then, to send these refugees to particular places according to a plan. Let, therefore, a Planning Committee sit in Delhi for a week and evolve a plan once for all. That will make the task of Rehabilitation very easy.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I congratulate the Honourable Minister and the Government for the splendid feat of organization which they have displayed in tackling the enormous refugee problem during these very difficult and anxious times. The statement of the Honourable Minister is notable for its sobriety, its temperateness and its dispassionate note. Criticisms have been made in this House. It is very easy to criticize, but I would like to ask any Honourable Member to tell the House whether any thing better or more splendid could have been done by any human hand. One of the honourable speakers has justly remarked that even the Gods would have failed if they had come and taken charge of the refugee problem. Let us compare the achievement of the present Government with what we saw at the time of the last Burma evacuation—and insignificant problem in comparison to what we have now experienced. On that occasion a population of a few thousands came by pre-arrangement, there were huts made before-hand for their reception, ample funds were ready, honorary and paid organizations were built before-hand, but waves of Burma refugees could not be met adequately and the scheme miserably failed, and what is more, lakhs and lakhs of rupees were misappropriated in course of those operations. We have yet to learn that the organization that has been set up to meet the present refugee problems, has shown any weakness in action of any dishonesty in the execution. I think the amount of money involved in giving full effect to the refugee scheme is insignificant in comparison with the gigantic problem which the Government have to face. The difficult task has been so

[पंडित ठाकुरदास भार्गव]

उसी तरह से पंजाब से आई हुई अरबन पापुलेशन (Urban population) की मुसीबत है। हम उनको मकान दे सकते हैं जितने मौजूद हैं लेकिन वह ऐकॉमोडेशन (accommodation) के हिसाब से न अच्छे हैं और न काफी हैं और न बड़े शहर के रहने वालों के लायक हैं। इसके अलावा सिर्फ मकान देने से रीहैबिलिटेशन (rehabilitation) नहीं होता। जब तक उनको इकोनॉमिकल्ली (economically) इस काबिल न बनाया जाय कि वह अपना गुजारा कर सकें, उनका निर्वाह होना कठिन है।

जब तक हम यह नहीं करते, उस वक़्त तक इस मामले का हल नहीं हो सकता। मैं पूछना चाहता हूँ कि अगर आप लाहौर के रहने वाले को हिसार की किसी गली में बिठा दें और उसको वहाँ चाहे महल दें, तो भी हरगिज उसका गुजारा नहीं हो सकेगा। शहर के रहने वालों का देहातों में रहकर गुजारा करना मुमकिन नहीं है। यह कहना आसान है कि बहुत सारे टाउन (towns) बना दिये जाय। दिल्ली में कुरुक्षेत्र के करीब एक नया टाउन (town) बना दिया जाय। एक लखनऊ कानपुर के बीच बना दिया जाय। लेकिन टाउन (town) बनाना उतना आसान नहीं है जितना इसका कहना। साठ रुपया की हजार ईंट की कीमत पहुँच गई है और बाकी इमारत का सामान नहीं मिलता ऐसी हालत में यह काम ऐसा आसान नहीं है कि फौरन कहते ही नया टाउन (town) अलाउट्डीन के लेंप की तरह बनकर तैयार हो जाय। इसके लिए मैं यह कहना चाहता हूँ कि एक प्लैनिंग कमेटी (Planning Committee) जिसके अंदर पंजाब और गवर्नमेंट आफ इंडिया (Government of India) के आदमी हों, एक हफ्ते बैठकर एक ऐग्रीड प्लेन (agreed plan) तैयार करें कि इन आदमियों को कहां बसाना है और कैसे बसाना है। यह हरगिज मुश्किल नहीं होगा कि उन आदमियों को खास जगह प्लेन के अनुसार भेजा जावे। इस वास्ते एक प्लैनिंग कमेटी (Planning Committee) एक हफ्ते बैठकर यहाँ दिल्ली में एक दफा प्लेन (plan) तैयार कर ले तो रीहैबिलिटेशन (Rehabilitation) का काम आसान हो जावेगा।

English translation of the above Speech

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have carefully listened to all the speeches that have so far been made. Nearly two hundred members are there in this House, but I have not so far come across any one who may have said that he represents those thirty lakhs of refugees who have come from the rural areas. I wonder how many of us present here have gone for ourselves to the villages to see where these refugees have been settled; what is their condition; and what arrangements the Punjab Government have made for them! I know many of us, who are present here, have acquainted themselves with the refugees who have come to Delhi. They may be knowing more about them than I do myself. But I do not hesitate to say that few know what is the condition of these 30 lakhs of rural refugees, what are their requirements, what treatment has been meted out to them and what treatment they deserve.

I would like to submit, Sir, that for eight days I have been visiting the Refugee Centres in my district. I saw with my own eyes what their difficulties were, and how the officials of the Punjab Government were treating them. I am not unacquainted with the troubles that those Muslim refugees had to face who have migrated to the Muslim majority provinces i.e., Bahawalpur and the Western Punjab. The fact is that they know very little who criticise much. I am prepared to accept that our Cabinet includes the Honourable Mr. Neogy; that he has been deputed specially for this work and that it would be difficult to find a better man than him. I realise that it was difficult to find a better man than Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyengar who looks after the Punjab Co-ordinance. I have met him and I know him personally. I know also how well he comprehends the various problems and how he considers them. I have seen for myself how people rush to the Honourable Mr. Neogy, how they threaten him, how badly they behave towards him, and how, in spite of all that, he never betrays even a sign of irritation; he rather tackles these men with a cheerful disposition. I know what difficulties he has to surmount. With respect, Sir, I beg to state that even if these two gentlemen had been replaced by two gods, the problem of refugees could not have been solved better. It is so colossal and so difficult.

This Government of ours includes many very big public leaders, leaders in whom we have the fullest confidence and who give their best attention to all things. I saw with my own eyes how the refugees narrated their tales of woe and misery to Sardar Patel when they used to meet him in the morning hours. I have accompanied many deputations to Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru and I know with what sympathy he listened to the sorrowful tales of these refugees.

No Government, whatever its composition could do such a big work of rehabilitation in so short a time for it is full of difficulties and complications. No other Government could have done better and so quickly this relief work which our Government have succeeded in doing. We can, nevertheless improve upon it, and that can be by avoiding a repetition of the mistakes our Government have already made. I would like to say, Sir, that the Government should do, and do as quickly as possible, all such things which it should have done earlier but which it has failed to do. For example there are three banks in the Punjab besides the Punjab National Bank. They are: the New Bank, the Traders Bank and the Laxmi Commercial Bank. They were all functioning very well in that province. Their shares were quoted at very high prices. Their subscribed capitals and the reserve funds were sufficiently big. Their assets worth five crores are still lying in Pakistan. They have on their ledgers accounts of about sixty thousands of families. These banks have asked for a loan from the India Government upto a maximum of 70 per cent. of their total assets lying in Pakistan. And if the Government do not come forward with the necessary advance, these banks are bound to suffer a tremendous loss. In the safe deposit vaults of these banks are lying Jewellery, Ornaments and Government Securities belonging to their clients. They are the life time savings of these families. The refugees have already been deprived of their homes and of their property. They have nothing else left except these things which are lying in the lockers of these banks. If the latter go into liquidation these refugees will have to bear untold miseries.

After the 15th of August, when Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru visited the Punjab, our leaders had been advising the people not to leave their homes. Depending upon them, these banks continued functioning even though they were left with just a few men on their staff. It was on the assurances given by these leaders that, in spite of the fact that people were running away, these bank employees did not leave their places, nor did they remove their books. Panic would have

[Shrimati Renuka Ray]

Sir, I am not a politician. I am only a social worker and it is only from my limited experience that I would like to make one or two suggestions to the Honourable the Relief Minister. In my own Province in the aftermath of the famine, we had to tackle the problem of rehabilitation. It had to be done on a voluntary basis by voluntary workers, because the Government of the time was unconcerned and at that time many eminent Congress workers were in jail. It was a very difficult problem that had to be tackled and we came to the realisation that if we went in for relief measures and put our emphasis only on the protection and shelter of those who were unfortunate victims and did not lay equal emphasis on the re-absorption of these people into productive and useful channels, then the chances were that as time went on they would lose their sense of self-respect and become degraded. This did start happening. As a result of this experience after the Noakhali happenings the rehabilitation side was equally stressed. It was of course a very small problem in numbers as compared to the problem that the Central Government is tackling today, but on the other hand, it must be admitted that it was tackled merely by voluntary effort. We neither had the facilities of the Central Government or the East Punjab Government or any other Government. In fact, there was a great deal of hindrance. I asked the Honourable the Relief Minister a question in the House as to what was being done at least in regard to the trained personnel that had come over from the Western Punjab and whether any schemes had been started by Government of a nation-building nature, schemes such as training centres for schools, for nurses etc. One of the greatest impediments in the path of nation-building in this country is the lack of trained personnel. Surely, Sir, when a number of trained personnel have come to Delhi they could have been placed straight away in charge of such schemes and from amongst other refugees some could have been selected and trained in such centres. Later persons trained at such centres could be sent to the provinces to start other training centres. If this is done even today, Sir, such persons would be not a liability but an asset to the nation.

Turning to the housing difficulty, Sir, I realise it only too well, but I would like to have some enlightenment from the Honourable the Relief Minister on one point. Have all the hutments and other structures which the military authorities had set up during the war between here and Simla and in East Punjab and other parts of this province been utilised now, and if not, would they not be very suitable for training schemes of the kind I have mentioned, though they may not all be big enough to form refugee camps as such? I hope the Honourable the Relief Minister will enlighten us on this point.

Sir, the Honourable Minister might say: "It is easy to say: 'Start nation-building schemes' but difficult to work". I am glad, Sir, that he himself said that it was his desire to start nation-building schemes and ally them with the problem of evacuees. But the reason that I have brought this question up is because I feel that it is necessary to do so without any delay, because if time is lost the sense of self-respect will be lost among large sections of those who have come over and then problem will become very much more difficult than the problem we are facing now. I know the class of refugees we are now dealing with are of different categories, but I do hope that the Honourable the Relief Minister will try to tackle this matter from the aspect I have pointed out.

There is one other point which I should like to mention. My Honourable friend, Mrs. Sucheta Kripalani has gone into the problem of the abducted women in great detail. I only want to say that this problem is one of great importance and immense dimensions. When the problem of general evacuees has been tackled—and there are not many general evacuees left—all the energies of the State should be directed towards the rescue of these unfortunate women victims. I feel, Sir, that the most degrading and bestial behaviour that has emerged out of recent happenings is the treatment of women. It does not matter whether women who are victims are Hindus or Muslims. I do feel that a campaign of "Hands off women and children" irrespective of whether they are Hindus or Muslims should be launched as soon as possible, not merely as a paper campaign but intensively, and that the highest priority should be given to this work. To bring these unfortunate women back to normal, and to restore them to society is a problem which too must be shouldered, and the help of experienced women volunteer workers sought in this respect.

Lastly, I wish to say that it is quite true that there are many who criticise the Government today because they feel that the Government has not allowed itself to be swayed by the passions of the moment. The Government of India has kept its judgment clear and its balance of mind even in spite of the greatest provocation. Whatever some people may think or say, this much is true, that history will pay a tribute to the present Ministry in India for this. If Undivided India for which we fervently hope is to become a reality, at least at some future time when the present biliousness and strife is forgotten, then, it would have been impossible for the Government of India to achieve that ideal if they had allowed themselves to be swayed by passions kindled by the desire for rehabilitation. I am glad, Sir, that they have not fallen into the trap of those who desire to prove that India is not a democratic secular state and thus help to encompass our final ruin. The underlying unity of this country must eventually emerge with the willing concurrence of all—including those who have sought to stand aside in suspicion and distrust as the result of subtle propaganda.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Two of my friends who went to work in the very outset tell you that every one of us here is conscious of the unprecedented nature of the catastrophe that has befallen India and that the problems arising therefrom are manifold, intricate and colossal. We are also aware that any Government even with greater administrative experience or larger resources would have been baffled by these problems and therefore we feel proud of the valiant manner in which our Government has faced and tackled these problems. We know that the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation is only 9 weeks old and the Minister without Portfolio was appointed only recently. We also know that most of them have been working day and night and trying their best to bring succour and relief to the destitute and suffering brethren of ours in West Punjab and elsewhere. All the same, Sir, we shall be failing in our duty if we do not bring to their notice how the people feel about the work that has been done by the Ministry.

Sir, the uppermost feeling among the people is that the machinery which has been set up to work this Ministry is not inspired by the same amount of sympathy and idealism as the Honourable Ministers. From my own personal experience, I can tell you something which will give an idea as to how the work is carried on. Before the Custodian of this Ministry was appointed, there used to be a Refugee Officer with an Assistant. One Refugee Officer of the relief workers who was the Secretary of a Relief Committee in Delhi told me that when he approached the Assistant Refugee Officer for certain advice, he was at once directed to go to this office for this work, to go to that office for that and to go to another office for another. Then this gentleman asked him: "Kindly tell me for what work should I come to you" and he said: "My only business now is to register whatever applications come to my office. But since that work does not take more than half an hour, I sort them out subject-wise and that is all."

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

far managed efficiently, honestly and without any avoidable hitch. If therefore I have to say anything by way of criticism, it is only by way of constructive suggestions. I do not in these difficult times wish to embarrass the Government by criticism of a hostile nature. It has been stated in the House that the Government should have started with a plan. I do not know what cut and dry plan the Government could have before the gigantic nature of the problem could have been visualised. How could the Government, unless it was a divine government, have anticipated the actual extent and magnitude of the on-rush of the refugees. Can evacuees be made to come at regular intervals according to any plan; and can any human agency meet that emergency according to a plan when any preconceived blue print was out of the question? Evacuees, it has been complained in the House, came in an irregular fashion; they came in much larger numbers than there were arrangements for. But the criticism begs the question. The real difficulty of the situation was that refugees came without any system or order. What is the business of the Minister without Portfolio? He was to step in where there were none ready and handy. His duty baffles any attempt at the definition, and it is for this reason he has been aptly described as Minister without Portfolio. In fact he had to do everything that could not be defined and which was not provided for, and I believe he has done his duty efficiently, silently and to the satisfaction of all. The evacuees came to India just like irregular and repeated gigantic waves of flood or the intermittent eruptions of a volcano and you could not anticipate how the danger would come, and therefore could devise measures to check it in time.

Then, Sir, it has been pointed out that there are some troubles about the East Punjab Government. I hear, private comments freely made here and there. There are delicate matters about the working of the East Punjab Government in this connection and it would not be proper to give fullest publicity to the circumstances and considerations prevailing there. I hear of discriminations. I would only add my feeble voice in requesting the Honourable Ministers to look into the matter very carefully—perhaps all is not well in the East Punjab. I am sure the two able Ministers would do their best to find out a via media and give satisfaction to the public who are anxiously awaiting the solution of the tangle.

There is much force in the plea that men from the Western Punjab should be rehabilitated in the Eastern Punjab and should not be scattered throughout the Dominion. If the Punjabis are taken over to Bihar or Bengal or Assam, they will not be happy there; their language is different, their food is different, their habits are entirely different. It would not be solving a problem but creating fresh ones. In these circumstances, I hope and believe that the Government will look carefully into the matter and do the needful.

But then the question of rehabilitation remains to be solved urgently. We cannot look at the situation dispassionately and without comment. In fact, the large influx of population is already in India and these people have been scattered in different places. It is difficult to fit them in the villages or towns. A suggestion has been made that a new town or new towns should be set up in Kurukshetra or in some other suitable place or places. The idea may be terrifying to an expert, but to us lay people the problem is not really so difficult. In fact, if we could set part land—suitable areas—for different families to build their houses, I think that would solve the problem to a large extent by providing a psychological comfort which this announcement would at once provide. If lands are thus allocated then bricks can be supplied or even manufactured by some of the evacuees themselves; some of them are I am sure experts in this line and others could be trained. With regard to iron, I think there should be ample iron available, but even if there is any real paucity of iron there is enough wood in India to provide the necessary quantity of timber. There are masons, carpenters and other skilled workers among the refugees themselves and they can be encouraged to build houses in the different plots set apart for them. The refugees will get an occupation and can make their own living. The problem is not insoluble and is urgent and imperative. What the evacuees now feel is that they are forlorn and friendless and are thus disorganised and demoralised. An urgent announcement would at once produce a psychological consolation and moral strength to sustain them in their troubles. They can thus be made to help the Government in solving the problem and help themselves in settling down more or less permanently in areas allotted to them. The question deserves to be considered favourably and very urgently. If we go to an expert, he will wait for years; so, an expert will not do. If houses are planned on a rough-and-ready plan now, later on a town improvement scheme could be set up to improve the layout at leisure. If we give them this start, the problem would automatically begin to be solved. An unsolved refugee problem is a menace to society in more ways than one.

Then, Sir, with regard to the money that scheme may involve, I clearly feel the sense of the House that no amount of money would be grudged by this House or by the public at large outside the House. The plight of the refugees is sickening, absolutely heart-rending and everybody is anxious that something should immediately be done to solve it. No Honourable Member has raised the question of expenditure, and the Honourable Minister can take it that the money would be made available; no amount of money spent on this urgent constructive programme would be considered too much for the purpose.

Sir, the large scale problem of the future of these evacuees should be taken up at once; if we tackle the problem at once, I think its solution would follow quickly. We have now a breathing space, and rehabilitation must be taken up at once. With these few words, I support the statement made by the Honourable Minister, with the hope that the constructive suggestions which I have made should be summarily gone into and urgently given effect to.

Shrimati Renuka Ray (West Bengal: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, after listening to the statement made by the Honourable the Minister for Relief, I am sure the House is convinced, if conviction was yet necessary, that the Central Government is putting forth a great endeavour to tackle this tremendous problem that has come upon us. This problem, in spite of the ultimate sacrifice by the division of the country and the dismemberment of the Provinces, has not been averted, but has been enhanced a thousand-fold.

Sir, if there are one or two points that I bring up, it is not in any spirit of carping criticism, for I am aware, as the rest of the country is aware, of the tremendous magnitude of the problem that the Honourable Minister and his colleagues in the Government are faced with today. Sir, one or two Honourable speakers said that they did not like the use of the word "refugee". There is nothing much in a word in itself, but the word does symbolise an attitude of mind, and I am inclined to agree with them. The speech of the Finance Minister the other day, in which he has budgeted for Rs. 26 crores for refugees implied that this was an unproductive expenditure. I do not see, Sir, why this expenditure on those who are really our nationals, need be unproductive, why this should be a national liability and why it cannot be turned into a national asset. I feel, Sir, that if the Jews, who went to Palestine and settled there, could have started co-operative schemes and made the land productive, it is not impossible for those who are termed "refugees" and whom I would prefer to call "evacuees", who come to East Punjab; if such schemes are taken in hand I do not see why that expenditure should not become a productive one as well.

[Shri Mohan Lal Saksena]

So far as my experience goes I think the I.C.S. and the civilian machinery cannot tackle these problems which have been unprecedented in history and this has been admitted by the Honourable Minister. They can neither understand them nor handle them with efficiency and despatch. In view of the fact that the Military have had experience in the Burma evacuation, I had suggested to Government that they should install machinery on that basis, but I do not know why that suggestion was not accepted. Even before this Ministry came into being the social workers were doing the work. As a matter of fact before the Government of India took it up the work mostly fell on the shoulders of these public workers. I know in the Congress circles as well as outside it, we have got men who have had experience of dealing with such catastrophes and with such calamities and having had experience of that kind. I think their services should have been utilized, but I am sorry to say that had not been utilized. There are men like Dr. Satish Chandra Das or J. C. Kuma-rappa in India who have had experience of dealing with such calamities, but still their services and their experience have not been utilized. In the month of July there was difficulty about housing the refugees and then I went to see one of the Secretaries of the Defence Department and asked him how many of these military barracks could be spared; and he replied that on account of the Joint Defence Council he could not spare even one of them. Then I told him: "What is the meaning of our Prime Minister saying that we are proceeding on a war basis". That meant that whichever building is vacant we are entitled to take possession of it and if you are not going to spare these building for the refugees who are lying in the open in Hardwar, we are entitled to take possession of the camps in the neighbourhood and you may turn us out afterwards. However subsequently I was advised that some of them consider the question that they will be placed at our disposal and our request would be favourably considered. One of the League workers came from Roorkee told me that a camp was vacant; and I saw the Secretary, and the Ram Nagar camp was placed at our disposal and he gave a copy of a letter which was sent to the Chief Secretary, U.P. Government. Later on when I saw the Chief Secretary ten days later I was told no such letter had been received with the result that the possession of the camp could not be taken and the refugees had to suffer. Even round about Delhi there are military barracks which are lying vacant and are not being utilized. Yesterday Mr. Puri from N.W.F.P. narrated to me the difficulties of evacuees who are being brought from N.W.F.P., from Bannu and other districts. The aeroplanes bring them only as far as Ambala. They are not brought to Delhi because there is a ban that no refugee should come here. The Government thinks that the refugees are not coming, but they actually come by buses and find their way into Delhi. It is simply cruel. I think a better course would have been if some arrangement is made round about Palam or some other aerodromes where tents could be pitched. Suchetaji has told us that the Defence Minister had offered to place 1,000 tents at her disposal but she could not get more than fifty so far. While people are put to unnecessary trouble the aeroplanes are coming to Delhi without any passengers.

We know that while evacuating by aeroplanes officers are known to have taken bribes in the selection of passengers and I want to know how many of these officers were prosecuted or punished for that. Corruption has crept into the organization of the officer-in-charge of the evacuee property. Suchetaji has told me that there is corruption there and there are cases where applications have been taken out and others introduced on payment of money to the clerks or to the officers. And again I am told that whatever decisions were taken a week or ten days ago are not promptly carried out on some flimsy excuse or other. At the very instance I suggested to the Honourable Minister that I am one of those who feel that our Ministers are greatly hampered by the I.C.S. machinery which is wooden and not sympathetic. I wanted that at least this Ministry should be manned by non-officials who had sympathy for the suffering humanity. I was told that for a week the Honourable Minister could not get any Secretary for no Department was prepared to spare an I.C.S. Secretary. I placed some of my friends working in our Party and I understand there were offers from big businessmen like Tatas and Birlas who were prepared to place the service of their staff.

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The Honourable Member is wholly misinformed. I did try to obtain men from big trading houses, but all of them declined to spare any suitable personnel.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Two of my friends who went to work in the Ministry, after waiting for three days had to come away—either there was no work for them or officials would not like non-officials to come in.

My Honourable friend has told us that States have offered to co-operate. Has he cared to find what sort of co-operation they are giving? Suchetaji again here told me that she had received a communication from the States Department that Bharatpur had offered to take 15,000 refugees. She had correspondence with Bharatpur State as to how they were going to provide for the refugees and what avocation they were going to give them. They replied that they would be providing all of them. So she sent 450 and two or three persons accompanied them and they were there for three or 4 days very well looked after. But afterwards the State authorities neglected them with the result that all of them had to come away disappointed. This State had offered to take 15,000. In Alwar I found recently 1,75,000 Meos had left the rural side. 15,000 Muslims have left the city. The Ruler had offered to take first 1 lakh refugees and had said that even if he had one loaf of bread he would share it with the refugees. Afterwards they wrote to the Government of India that he will take about 60,000. I went there and found that 6,000 are there and they are not being looked after. Although they are getting rations in food the refugees are not getting any cloth and whenever they come to Delhi they are told that the provision is made there. Even the flour sent by the Government of India was not sold to them unless it became infested with worms and then it was sold at Rs. 17/- a maund instead of 14 rupees a maund. The Rajah is supposed to be the champion of the Hindus and the Premier also goes about talking much about Hindus and yet this treatment is being meted out to refugees who are all Hindus. These Hindu refugees have not been provided with suitable accommodation. I think it is necessary that the Government of India should tackle this problem on a basis of national calamity just as we deal with war. I do not mind whether or not the Government of India take up the whole work but there must be their representative in each and every State and Province to see that the refugees are properly looked after. As for Bahawalpur I am informed that there are 70,000 non-Muslims still there. These persons have sold their belongings and they are now concentrated in camps. No doubt since the Nawab has come, there is some improvement of the situation; but so far as these persons are concerned they are not prepared to stay on, because once bitten they are twice shy. Some of them have been forcibly converted, their relations have left and so they are not prepared to stay there. I think immediate steps should be taken to evacuate these persons and provide for relief while they are there, because the Government camps have been disbanded and the Nawab has asked these people to go back to their villages. Their lands and cattle have been disposed of and they have nothing to fall back upon, and they must be helped. Not only that, the State servants when they came here and went to the Labour Exchange were told that there was no provision for them and their names were not even considered for vacancies. What is therefore needed is that the Honourable Minister should see that the machinery works with greater sympathy and vision. In fact our aim was to feed and educate and clothe 40 crores of people. We must now prepare a band of workers for this great task. Among the refugees there are engineers, educationists and businessmen whose talents and resources should be utilised. And if Government wants it can raise a loan of a hundred crores to rehabilitate them. We must have a band of selfless workers who will work in a missionary spirit of sympathy instead of merely carrying out orders that are issued from the head office, and that too half-heartedly.

[Shri Mohan Lal Saksena]

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: Sir, if I intervene in this debate at this late stage it is not because I feel that I can make any substantial addition to the very comprehensive account which has been placed before the House by my Honourable colleague Mr. Neogy. That account, if I may say so, is a very modest description of the great work that he and his staff—not excluding the I.C.S. members of it—have been doing during the last three months. (An Honourable Member: In spite of the I.C.S.) I would not agree to that amendment. The work has been done and has been so well done because of the very active and enthusiastic assistance he has received from his staff and the other officers who work under him.

Now, Sir, if I wish to place anything before this House it will not be in connection with matters with which my Honourable colleague is more intimately connected; it would rather be matters which I have had to do something with after I came into the Government. Very soon after I assumed office and after I had had a little time to study the problems connected with East Punjab I felt that one of the most urgent needs to be attended to was the speeding up of evacuation of people from one dominion to the other. That was forced upon me by more than one consideration. The first consideration was the large numbers that were involved; the second consideration was that the winter was near us; and therefore I thought that the best way in which I could be of assistance to my Honourable colleague on the one side and the East Punjab Government on the other would be to take off their shoulders some of the burden that this particular aspect of the refugee problem forced upon the attention of Government. And therefore with the assistance mainly of our armed officers, very largely of my Honourable colleague the Minister for Transport and the Railway Board, with the assistance also of the Ministers of the East Punjab Government, we evolved an organisation which was calculated to organise this movement on a regular basis and to bring about a complete transfer of population between the two dominions in the quickest possible time. This movement after it had been organised, started on the 21st October. On the 20th October the position was that about 28 lakh Muslims were in India awaiting evacuation and about 11 lakh non-Muslims had to be brought over to India from West Punjab and the Frontier Province. After that date we divided up the period that was before us into ten-day sections, and in each section arrangements were made both for evacuation by rail and for evacuation by foot and motor transport. And the House will be interested to hear how this scheme has worked. In the first ten-day period—21st to 31st October—six lakhs of Muslims entered Pakistan and about 5.5 lakhs of non-Muslims entered India. From 1st to 10th November 6.5 lakh Muslims and 1.3 lakh non-Muslims; 11th to 21st November, 3.8 lakh Muslims and 1.8 lakh non-Muslims. Between 21st and 25th November there were 7.7 lakh Muslims on the move and in transit to Pakistan and there were 1.4 lakhs of non-Muslims on the move and in the transit to India from the other side. So that about the 25th November the balance that remained to be moved was somewhere about 4 lakhs of Muslims from this side and about 3 lakhs of non-Muslims from the other side. After those dates the movement has been even more rapid. I must warn the House not to be too meticulous about examining the accuracy of these figures; I can only say that they are approximately reliable and we have obtained these figures from persons who might be considered to know most about the numbers involved.

But this particular figure which I am giving you now, as to what the state of things was yesterday, will prove a very agreeable surprise to you, assuming that the figures supplied are entirely accurate. This is from our Special Officer in Lahore. The latest information indicates that in West Punjab there are only 40,000 refugees in concentration camps awaiting evacuation. There is some difference of opinion about the number of refugees in pockets. The military evacuation organisation estimates it to be 50,000 and our Chief Liaison Officer thinks it is about a lakh. Whatever the accurate figure may be that shows that we have practically reached the end of the evacuation of all non-Muslims from West Punjab who were concentrated in camps either of a large size or of a small size. The figures as regards Muslims awaiting evacuation, I have not got those figures as late as yesterday. But this is the figure which we got for the period ending 22nd November, 1947. The Muslims that remain to be evacuated—the estimate of their number—was about 13 lakhs and the estimate of the time within which they would all reach Pakistan was as follows:

Between 21st and 30th November—5 lakhs.

Between 1st and 10th December—5 lakhs.

Between 11th and 20th December—3 lakhs.

As a matter of fact a good many of them have moved in already by today. In order to speed up the movement of Muslims into Pakistan, as also to help the sick, infirm and old people to travel, not by foot, but by rail, it has been decided to keep the trains running till all of them have been cleared from this side.

That gives you an idea of the amount of work that has been done in this direction and the bulk of the credit for it should go to the military evacuation organisation of India. Their efficiency in this respect has been beyond praise and I wish to take this opportunity of publicly thanking them for the enthusiasm and energy they put into this matter. But what is more to their credit than their mere efficiency is the manner in which they have obtained the co-operation of the military evacuation organisation of Pakistan, and that has considerably helped in making a success of these movement operations.

Now, Sir, one matter was mentioned by my Honourable friend, Mr. Mohan Lal Saksena, and that related to the Bahawalpur State. He stressed the need, and very rightly too, of evacuating from Bahawalpur all those Hindus and Sikhs who wanted to get away from there to what they considered to be places of greater safety. We have had this very actively under consideration. We recently had a conference at which a deputation of Bahawalpur refugees now in Delhi met me together with a Minister of the Bahawalpur State, and we discussed the whole matter with them. But at the time, in view of the offers of assurance which had been made by their Nawab, the representatives who met me were not in a position definitely to say whether those who had come out of Bahawalpur wanted to go back there, or whether those who were in Bahawalpur wanted to be evacuated from there. Time was given to them for the purpose of ascertaining the wishes of their own people and within the last day or two we have been informed that they would rather come out than go back. The matter is under consideration and we are evolving arrangements for the purpose of speeding up evacuation from there. In this connection you will be interested to hear what our military evacuation organisation has said on this point:

[Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar]

"We have at last succeeded in sending trains with Indian escort through Bahawalpur State. The first train carrying non-Muslims from Multan reached Fazilka on 21st November. We have been told that the State will in future collect non-Muslims at the various railway stations where the Pakistan military organisation will be asked to send empty rakes to carry them to Fazilka".

I hope this is a definite commitment on the part both of His Highness of Bahawalpur and the Government of Pakistan.

Taking that to be so, I think we should be able to run the necessary number of trains for the purpose of getting out those now in Bahawalpur desirous of getting out in the quickest possible time.

There was one important suggestion which was made by my Honourable friend, Mr. Munshi, and that was that it would be desirable to make refugees and all the problems connected with them a Central subject and practically the administration of all the measures that we undertake in connection with this problem, should be in the hands of the Centre. Now, Sir, in a matter like this it is necessary for us to proceed with caution. It is not always wise to do what for the moment and on momentary considerations we consider would bring about a better state of things than exists now. We have got to remember that whatever policy we may decide on at the Centre with regard to these problems, a great portion, the bulk of it, will have to be implemented by machinery for which we shall have to depend on the Provincial Governments, in order to make the scheme work. Now in a problem like settling people on land, it involves an amount of investigation and enquiry and the exploiting of the information which is in the hands of the Provincial Government, and the Centre is not equipped for the task of doing that work with as much efficiency as a Provincial Government can, if only it went about its business in the proper way.

Now, you may say, it has been suggested in the course of this debate, that there are legitimate complaints against the manner in which the East Punjab Government have gone about this business.

I would only ask the House to judge the East Punjab Government and the complaints that have been made against it with a certain amount of care and caution. The East Punjab Government got into office in a period of what I would call turmoil and it had to begin almost from the scratch. In spite of it and having been intimately connected with the manner in which it has been discharging its obligations, I have no hesitation in saying that they have given an account of themselves which no Government which started its career under similar disabling conditions could bettered. I ought to insist on this, because I am afraid it is too easily taken for granted that all that the refugees are now suffering from can be traced to the inefficiency of the East Punjab Government, if not something worse. I am not here to say that the administration of the East Punjab Government has been perfect, nor is our administration here altogether perfect. It is necessary to remember that the numbers they had to deal with, the crowds that poured into East Punjab during the weeks that have passed since the 15th August and the kind of problems that they had to face would have shaken any Government, even if it had been a well-established one which had been functioning for years. Therefore I thought it was my duty to stand up for that Government in this House but, in doing so, I am not unmindful of the fact that the working of that Government is capable of considerable improvement.

I think my Honourable friend Diwan Chaman Lall referred to the manner, in which business had been distributed amongst the Members of the East Punjab Ministry. I think he said that more than one minister was doing the work of two and a half ministers. I rather think that one or two of them have been doing the work of four ministers. At a time like this, when they are faced with problems of this colossal magnitude, there is room for a reshuffling of the subjects amongst the different ministers of the East Punjab Government so as to make the burden of each man something which he can tackle with efficiency. There is also room, in my opinion, for an expansion of this Ministry and for placing the most important subjects of law and order and of rehabilitation in the hands of ministers who are not hampered by burdens of a heavy character in other directions and whose policy and competency will be above cavil. Having said that, I still would reiterate my position that with the resources at their disposal and in the conditions in which they had to work they have done well on the whole. The condition of East Punjab today is much better than it was two or two and a half months ago and a great deal of the credit for that should go to the Ministry and, if I may say so, to the Governor, who gives them an amount of guidance which is drawn from his wide and large experience as an administrator in this country.

There were a few other points which were referred to in the course of this debate and on which I would like to say a few words. The first is the controversy regarding safe deposit vaults, banks and property. With regard to safe deposit vaults the House is in possession of what did actually occur. The question of banks is now under active consideration both in the Relief and Rehabilitation Ministry and the Finance Ministry. As regards property that also is under active consideration of all of us. All these three subjects which are of the most important character have been set down for discussion with the representatives of the Pakistan Government at an inter Dominion conference. This was to have been held more than a month ago but owing to the illness of more than one minister of the Pakistan Government it has had to be postponed. The House will be interested to hear that I took advantage of the opportunity afforded by Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan's visit to Delhi to have a preliminary talk with him two days ago on all these problems and I might say that on the whole his reaction was favourable to a proper and just settlement of all these three issues. The present idea is first to have an Inter-Dominion Conference at the Secretariat level, that is to say our officers will meet their officers and explore possibilities of settlement, and their report will come up before an Inter-Dominion Conference of Ministers, at which we will take decisions. At the end of that it is hoped that the two Dominions will be able to issue a statement of policy, which will be the same as between the two Dominions and which would be implemented by them without any reservation thereafter.

There was one matter connected with railway movement—a small matter—which was referred to by two representatives from the United Provinces and that was the ineffective kind of screening that was done at Kalanaur.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Shri Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (one of the Panel of Chairmen).]

Mr. Chairman, let me refer to the criticisms that were levelled, I take it, partly against the Railways, partly against the East Punjab Government and partly against the Army department. Kalanaur was fixed as the screening point after all the Governments and interests concerned had been consulted, because it was felt that that was a convenient point for getting down people from trains which had been invaded by unauthorised persons and keeping them at Kalanaur and allowing to proceed further on only those people who had to proceed to Delhi. But, as generally happens, and I believe as the Honourable the Railway Minister has so often pointed this out to the House, these are not altogether under our control. People do storm and swarm over these trains and somehow find their way to places to which they want to go. Crowds thus gathered at Kalanaur; but after a discussion with the Premier of the United Provinces, who said that at Kalanaur there was no arrangement even for feeding the people who were detained there, we shifted the screening point to Jagadhri, because it was thought that, if people were detained there, they could get something to eat and some place to sleep in. I do not say that the system has worked very well. There have been complaints that quite a large number of permits had been issued by district authorities in East Punjab—so many indeed that the trains went crowded and nobody could do anything for stopping people at places and preventing them from proceeding forward. We have asked the East Punjab Government to do their best to prevent such unauthorised travelling. They protest that they are doing their best, their officers protest that they are doing their best and it is hoped that something will come out, perhaps in the way of easing the situation. Now that evacuation will be completed soon and we shall have made arrangements for temporary sheltering during winter of all the refugees that have come over, it might be possible to put on more trains and disperse people to the localities they want to go to.

914 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [29TH NOV. 1947]

[Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar]

There was mention of the fact that tens of thousands of refugees were now without a roof over their heads, that they were staying on railway platforms or on open ground. That certainly has been the state of things in many places. But recently we have tackled this problem in consultation with the representatives of the East Punjab Government. I do not know if I can vouch for its entire accuracy, but I have been told that the officer who is responsible for refugees in East Punjab now claims that there is not a single place where you will find a refugee without some kind of roof over his head—even if it were merely the corrugated iron sheet on a railway platform. That is the claim he has made. This much I can inform the House and that is that the East Punjab Government took kindly to a suggestion which I made at our last discussion with them, and that was this that when they are allotting groups of refugees to villages and allotting land and houses to them, they might simultaneously ask them to make provision for housing during winter urban population amounting to 10 per cent. of themselves, so that even if 20 houses had been allotted to them they might huddle up in 18 houses and make two available for people who were urban refugees from West Punjab and who therefore could not be allotted land in those villages. That is the kind of billeting which I suggested and which I think ought to work, and I was interested to hear that the officer responsible for accommodating the refugees in East Punjab thought that it could be easily implemented.

Sir, I have little more to say. All the other criticisms fall within the province of my Honourable colleague who I have no doubt will deal with them.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Mr. Chairman, we have listened to a debate in which many points have been made out, to some of which my Honourable friend Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar has given a reply also. My object in rising in this debate is to categorically invite the attention of the Honourable Ministers, Mr. Neogy and Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar, to two points. Some refugees happened to see me the other day. They were from the North Western Frontier Province. The story they were telling me was about the refugees detained there in the district of Bannu and some parts of that Province. The number of people there is about 24,000 according to them. Under the arrangements which I am told exist at present between the Government of India and the Pakistan Government the responsibility of protecting the refugees in Bannu is undertaken by the Government of Pakistan and it is they who have to bring them up to a certain place called Muri. I think. The complaint of those gentlemen is that under the protection of the Pakistan Army these 24,000 people or so, whatever be their exact number, do not feel that they will have what may be called a safe journey up to that point as they are not sure of their own security under the protection of the Army or Army Officer who will be accompanying them from Bannu. They ask whether it is not possible for the Government of India to send any part of the Indian Army which may either be on this side or which may already be working on their behalf in Pakistan to this place and entrust it with the custody of these persons during their journey from Bannu to Muri, and that the army officers working for them in India will take charge of them thereafter. That is one point that they brought to my notice. They think that if this is not done they are not quite sure about the fate of those 24,000 persons. It is a matter of urgency and I am sure that the Honourable Ministers will see whatever they can do to give relief to them as promptly as possible.

There is also another point that was brought to my notice. That was in connection with the affairs of the officer who is known as the Custodian of Evacuee Property. A new office like that has come into being and I am told that a considerable part of the property of the refugees who have left India for Pakistan is in charge of this Custodian. That property must be there. It is stated that very often persons who come and make representations are able to get some part of that property without the Officer being in a position to make due enquiries about the identity of the man or about his being the proper claimant. It is on the recommendation of some other person and through some extraneous influence that the man gets it, and the Custodian who is in charge of it or the Deputy Custodian is unable to stop this thing. I have heard reports of that kind. I do not myself know what it means and I was confounded. I bring this matter to the notice of the Honourable Minister Mr. Neogy so that he may see if there is anything like that. If there is, it is a very serious state of thing. Then the Custodian will be there only to sign the papers without being able to trace the property and give it back to the proper claimants when they come.

Sir, many Honourable Members have made several useful suggestions. Many of them have said that it would be necessary for you to think of building a new town or suburban towns with a view to making permanent arrangements for these men. My own impression of this matter is this. In connection with this refugee question the Government of India must first determine upon some definite policy. The kind of advice that is being given to people nowadays looks to me to be moving in cross-currents. Some persons are thinking in one way while other persons are thinking in another way. There are very responsible persons who maintain that those who have come here must go back. That is one view. That is the ideal state of thing which is being insisted upon, while there are others who say that these people have come here under certain conditions and it is not humanly possible for us to think that those fundamental conditions which forced them to leave the land and migrate to this country will be changed within a reasonable time, and therefore the problem before the Government of India is to have some permanent scheme to absorb them in this country and to provide them a decent living here. I do not know which policy the Government of India is following. I hear pronouncements made by responsible members—not necessarily of the Government but those who can be credited to be in close touch with the Government—who speak on this question and give advice.

I am not sufficiently conversant with all the details to be in a position to give any definite advice, but it is necessary that our present Government of India, consisting of the ablest of the public men that this country could have given, should now be in a position to decide what exactly is the responsibility they are to bear in this matter. They should be in a position to know whether the problem is one of absorbing all those evacuees who have come over to this country or whether it is only a problem of making temporary arrangements for them, leaving the question to be dealt with at a later stage, thinking in the meantime there might be a possibility for them to go back in which case the Government would be relieved of their responsibilities in the matter. It is time for them to come to a definite conclusion. My own conviction is that, colossal and immense as the magnitude of the problem is, it is a problem which has to be tackled once and for all and they must proceed on that basis. If I may venture to make a suggestion on the data that is available to me, I feel they should start on the conviction that it is a problem of making permanent arrangements for them in this land, they have migrated from their part of the country, they have come here and we must be prepared to absorb them and make the best use of those who have come here now as a permanent part of the Indian population here. On this basis, if they once do that, I have no doubt—we have got able statesmen and very able thinkers who can be relied upon to provide us with suitable remedies to deal with the situation, difficult as it is—the problem would be solved once and for all.

[Sbri M. S. Aney]

Sir, there is one more point which I would like to touch on. I am told that important questions of policy are yet to be settled. I entirely agree that probably the proper enunciation of the policy will also largely depend upon coming to some agreement on these important points between the Government of Pakistan and the Government of India. That might take its own time, but if there is any way to expedite decisions, I have no doubt the Honourable Ministers in charge will give their best attention to the matters and reach decisions as expeditiously as possible.

Having dealt with these points, there is one other point to which I have to make a reference. The problem of evacuees with which the present Government has to deal is no doubt of a very colossal and unprecedented nature. One of my friends who spoke earlier made a reference to the problem of Burma evacuees which it was my misfortune or good fortune to tackle, and in the course of his remarks he made reference to the fact that the then Government was not able to deal with it. It would be improper of me to say anything on that point, being myself then in charge of the particular portfolio. I had to deal with that but this much I can say as regards arrangements for refugees that so far as they were concerned, a well thought out plan was laid down, to be continued even till the end, and a good deal of material was collected as to how the arrangements were to be made in those days. Seven big volumes of reports are in the secretariat in charge of the Department of Commonwealth Relations. For reasons best known to the Government of India, they were not published. But though the problem was no doubt of a comparatively smaller magnitude vis-a-vis the one which the present Government has to face, those reports might probably be of some use to my honourable colleagues Mr. Neogy and Mr. Gopalaswami Ayyangar in getting some clue in laying down their policy to deal with the numerous details of these requirements of these refugees.

With regard to the criticism of a particular officer, I have no desire to say anything at this stage. The matter is sub-judice.

Knowing a little of the difficulties which a problem of this nature necessarily involves I sympathise with my honourable friends Mr. Neogy and Mr. Ayyangar: but I am glad that in making the selection of these two able statesmen of India, who have large experience not only as legislators but also as administrators in various capacities, the Government of India deserves to be complimented, and I think the interests of the refugees are safe in their hands. Of course we should be there ever ready to give all assistance and advice that they may need, but I have no doubt they are there to do the work in such a manner that the refugees who are the worst sufferers will get redress of their grievances and will feel later on that under the most difficult conditions they had the best administrators who have done justice to them.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru (Prime Minister and Leader of the House): Sir, The experts have spoken and others who have intimately been in touch with this problem have given us the benefit of their advice and criticisms. There has been some praise of Government and plenty of criticism, and I think probably there is a great deal of truth in both. For my part I feel, not only for myself but speaking on behalf of the Government, a certain inadequacy in having to deal with this problem, because however efficient or however able or competent a Government we might be the problem is so big that one is apt rather to quail before it. I do not know what in future might be said about the handling of this problem not only by this Government or by the East Punjab Government or by this House or by all our officials and others: but I do think that in that future history it will be said that vast and colossal as this problem was, something which might shake the very foundations of Government and the social order, the people of India stood up to it bravely, tackled it, and, I hope, ultimately, solved it to the advantage of the nation, for after all, no government, however good it may be, can tackle such a problem without a vast amount of public support. It is essentially a problem in which the co-operation of vast numbers of people is required. We have got into the habit in past days or past periods of thinking too much in terms of a Government doing this or not, doing it, of blaming a Government for this or that. Now I do believe that a Government must shoulder their responsibility. My honourable friend Mr. Aney asked the question whether we want to make ourselves responsible for the rehabilitation of all these people fully or just temporarily. Well, if he wants an answer I should say that any Government of India should make itself responsible for the well-being of every Indian in this country, and not temporarily responsible but permanently responsible. But it is all very well for me to say that but I know that in this country vast numbers of people are starving or have no houses, are poverty-stricken and all that: but the point is that we as a Government and we as a House must realise that it is our responsibility that every Indian should have food to eat and a house to live in, and education and opportunities of progress. If that is so for everyone in the country, certainly it is so for these unhappy countrymen of ours who have suddenly found themselves lost in the storm that arose. We recognise that responsibility fully. How far we shall discharge it is a matter of our ability and strength, and the country's strength, and it is a little difficult for me to be definite and precise about it.

We have heard in today's debate a great many points raised on the practical aspect of the question; I should like to draw the attention of the House to certain other and psychological aspects; if I may say so. When any great catastrophe comes, a Government or a country tries to ameliorate the lot of the sufferers; they address themselves to their task with all their strength. The process of healing starts immediately after the catastrophe. Here we have been dealing with a very peculiar state of affairs; the catastrophe was a man-made catastrophe—not a natural phenomenon like an earthquake or a fire or some other calamity like that—and all the evils or man's passions followed it throughout and follow it still so that while we tried to heal, the process of destruction went on. On the one side there was a process of building, on the other, of breaking up, actually, physically and even more so in men's hearts. All the time many of us thought in terms of helping certainly, but also in terms of hurting others, and when you mix up these two feelings the result is that the helping part suffers. You do not create that proper atmosphere of helping and rehabilitation and building up, when half your mind is turned to breaking down and hurting others.

[Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru]

There has often been talk of retaliation. In fact all this sorry and terrible business that has happened in these three or four months everywhere, might be put in one word—"retaliation". Each person, each group, apparently thinks of retaliating so as to protect one's own interests. Now it passes my thinking and imagination how anybody can think that in the state of affairs that we have to face in India today, we can help any cause by widespread or smallscale retaliation. I have not a shadow of doubt that if, as soon as the catastrophe overwhelmed us most people thought in terms not of retaliation but of healing and stopping it, 75 or 80 or 90 per cent. of this business would have been stopped. But we did not—I am not talking about this House of course; I am talking about the passions that were roused in this process. People thought that they would protect their interests or the interests of their dear ones by hitting out and hurting others and thus by this process of retaliation possibly bringing pressure on the other party. Exactly the same feeling worked all over the place on both sides with the result that every act of retaliation brought further retaliation and the vicious circle went on.

And yet I find people talking in terms of retaliating, and yet I find newspapers and others blaming this Government for not adopting a retaliatory policy. I want to say quite clearly that so far as this Government is concerned it is not going to adopt the method of retaliation. Of course every Government has to protect the interests of its citizens, of those who look to it for help. We are going to protect them by every means; if they are attacked or if they are injured it is our business to protect them in every way. But we do not think—leaving out any higher plane of action—even in the narrower plane of expediency and self-interest that the way of protecting is the way of retaliation and injuring others.

I do not know if Members of this House or others outside when they talk or think about these problems give much thought to any future picture of India that they may have before them. After all, unless we have some such picture what are we aiming at, what are we working for, and what kind of edifice are we constructing? It is important that we should do so because when we are dealing with millions of people who have lost everything and are trying to help them and rehabilitate them, we must have some picture. I am not merely talking in terms of actual rehabilitation which is very important, but something even further than that. What exactly are we aiming at? We have seen a terrible operation—the cutting up of the living entity of India—and we have seen the still more terrible consequences of it. We may blame this or that individual—and no doubt many persons and groups have been terribly blame-worthy—but the something that has happened has been on such a cataclysmic scale that it passes human blame. It is in the nature, if I may say so, of some mighty tragedy of which the Greek dramatists have written, which comes and envelopes and overwhelms a nation and where human virtues and human failings somehow count for little. This is a big thing that has happened, so that mere blame does not help nor saying that it is the result of so-and-so's ill-will or action.

In tracing these events it is easy enough to know, and we all know, what are its major causes. Nevertheless the thing that has happened has been so big and so all round in its evil nature that it does little good to excuse oneself by blaming this or that person. Let us be quite clear about this: that whatever the origin, whatever the initial errors and crimes that may have been committed, what has happened on either side in the Punjab has been terrible in every sense of the word. And the most terrible part of it has been the psychological part—far worse than injury to property, injury to all manner of things, even injury to life. The terrible thing is how it has perverted men's minds and perverted the minds possibly of the younger generation that is growing up seeing these horrors.

Now, what is the kind of picture that we have in our minds? What are we building for? Are we building for conflicts, wars, destruction and the rest, to satisfy a feeling of vengeance which may be justified? Or are we building for some other type—building for peace and ordered progress? For my part, I have no doubt at all about this. Again, not from any high moral ground but from the narrowest ground of expediency and the national good and the individual good, if we try to lay stress on the destructive part, on the vengeful part, on the retaliatory part, we shall build nothing at all; we shall carry on this misery and this trouble till some time or other at last the nation turns to progressive and constructive endeavour.

Looking round, personally I see definitely signs of the healing process starting. Probably that is a more hopeful thing than all the work that this Government or anybody else might have done. That healing process has started—no doubt every process starts because of individuals working to that end—but probably it has started by the reaction to the shock of events, ultimately and gradually; as the passions of the moment have cooled, people have begun to think a little more deeply and realise the folly of much that has been done. May I say one thing rather personal, if I may say it? It has been a terrible time for those who have to shoulder any responsibility. It has been, no doubt, a terrible time for any sensitive human being who lives in India. The name of India—and when I say 'India' I am not referring to the Dominion of India but this country of India which will remain India, whatever political divisions may take place—became mud because of what many Indians had done—and Indians still live in Pakistan and they continue to be Indians, whether they call themselves so or as Pakistanis. The curious position arose that those of our detractors and enemies who live abroad and who often have to manufacture all manner of stories and tales against us did not have to manufacture anything. All that they had to do was to quote one person against another. All that they had to say was what certain persons in Pakistan wrote about India and what certain persons in India wrote about Pakistan. Now, we need not balance that. I am merely saying that, what appeared in foreign countries, just quotations from what Indians said against each other. Now, it may be, and I believe it is, that when such things occur, there is a measure of right on one side, more right and perhaps a measure or less evil, and more evil on the other. I need not tell the House what my opinion on this subject is, as to where more right lies or more evil. But the point is that so far as the outside world is concerned, it is there—this mud-slinging, these acts, these horrible acts. What could they think of India then? We may have been interested in clearing our honour as against Pakistan and the Pakistan people no doubt wanted to show that they were not evil-doers, but the fact remained that whatever the rights and wrongs, the whole reputation of India suffered and it became a dreadfully difficult thing to clear that reputation. Blood had flown and many millions of people had shed tears in this country. It was not easy to wipe ourselves clear of that blood till at last we approached the question, not in the way we had been approaching it, but in a spirit of healing, and not in a spirit of revengeful retaliation or of recrimination. Although recrimination may have been justified. Retaliation does not help. That is the first point which I venture to place before the House regarding the spirit in which we should deal with this problem.

The second point—and it is also related to the first one—is that in these days when we lived fevered lives—speaking personally,—I do not think I could have carried this burden at all but for one fact, and that fact was the magic presence of our great Leader, Mahatma Gandhi. I have not a shadow of a doubt in my mind that just as he performed a miracle in Bengal, so also he performed his miracle here. The obvious miracle may not have occurred here, but none the less there was the miracle of his presence which affected the situation tremendously. I would beg of you, therefore, to consider this problem in this context, in regard to the future of India.

[Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru]

Now, coming to the problem directly, I would mention two essential facts of it which I consider most important. We have to look after the refugees, do this and that for millions of people, but whenever there is a huge problem one inevitably has to give certain priorities. Talking about everything, trying to do everything, means sometimes that you do nothing at all. What are the obvious priorities in this problem? I say the obvious priority is that the youth, the students, young boys and girls should be saved, because after all the future of India depends upon them. All honour and respect to the older generation who are suffering, but the first priority must go to the youth who should be saved not only from the point of view of life, but saved from the point of view of broader things. They must be educated, they must be looked after and they must be made proper citizens of India. I think, if I may, even as a Member of the Government criticise our own government, that we have not paid sufficient attention to this aspect of the problem. We have, of course, generally speaking, but I think far more attention should have been given to this aspect. We should concentrate our attention, even though evil may befall others, as in a war or some other calamity, to the saving of these children—boys and girls and students—and provide for their education and their future. That, of course, is also a big problem, but it must be tackled because the whole future of India depends upon them.

The second, though it is not second really, it is at least as important, is the saving of our women folk who have been abducted, and when I say that, let me repeat again, this is not an one-sided problem. Women have been abducted in both the Punjabs and elsewhere. Women have been abducted by the thousand, not a few cases. Nobody knows the exact figures, but if you knew the estimated figures, both for West Punjab and East Punjab, you will be staggered at the number. Therefore, one of the highest priorities should be given for the relief of these women. Of course, attempts have been made and thousands have been rescued, but tens of thousands still remain. Now, this work cannot be done easily without full co-operation of the two Governments in the Punjab. It cannot be done otherwise. You can take an army and march in, and you may conquer and defeat the enemy, but you do not rescue anybody thereby. Therefore, we have to approach this problem from the point of view of co-operating with each other and naturally, all parties are concerned in that co-operation, and in a certain measure we have achieved that co-operation, but not enough yet. I hope that within the next few days a more efficient organisation will grow up in co-operation with both Governments for the rescue of these abducted women. These two aspects I place specially before the House for consideration.

One thing more. We want to render all possible help to these people who have suffered. Members of the House have pointed out that if you can spread out the families in all the 700,000 odd villages of India, you can absorb them. That is very interesting, this mechanical calculation, but I do not think it takes us any distance. One way of looking at it would have been, which, I think has not been considered in that way obviously, is to tackle this question of temporary shelter for people. What did they do in war-time in various countries where they had to deal with vast numbers of refugees? They were in the military fashion spread out to various families; each family had to take one or two members. The burden was distributed just like armies are distributed in that way. No particular attempt has been made to think of that problem that way. Take the East Punjab. It has suffered greatly, but they have their millions of people living there. Why should not each family in the East Punjab accommodate one other or one, two or three persons? Accommodate a million or two million persons. Let the Government help them if necessary. Let them help them by money or by food or whatever it is, but immediately millions should be accommodated or be helped to spread out and then you may think about permanent arrangements. Unfortunately to some extent our social conditions do not fit in with this kind of thing. People do not like these difficulties to arise. They can accept somebody and not somebody else. You cannot do it at the same time as they did in Europe during the War. It is a matter worth pursuing. Your problem of temporary accommodation becomes less, not only lesser if you spread out these people, these vast camps that have grown up need not have grown up. Secondly, there is this business of large numbers of refugees going into the rest of India. Now the rest of India ought to do everything in its power to help them; that is true. Apart from vague statements and heroics, let us examine the problem from the merits. If you look at the East Punjab population—I won't go into all these figures, I will give you the result of these figures—the post migration population of the East Punjab is likely to be one million and a half less than prior to the migrations. For various reasons, whatever the population was, there were more Muslims going out and less Hindus and Sikhs coming in, and further about 6,00,000 Hindus and Sikhs from the West Punjab have spread about over the rest of India, and unfortunately large numbers of people have died and so on and so forth. The result is that at the very least the population of the East Punjab after these migrations will be one million and a half less than it was before; it may be more or less. Now, therefore, if that is so, then the question of large numbers of refugees from the Punjab not finding room in the East Punjab does not obviously arise. The question arises in another way. Punjab used to be in a sense the most prosperous Province of India, from the middle-class point of view, from the peasant proprietors point of view. In the West Punjab, the average holding was, let us say 20 or 25 acres of very good land—they have not got that in the East Punjab, neither good land nor the big holding. They are providing with I believe ten acres, not so good land and there is complaint: "We cannot do with 10 acres". When friends suggest that land should be given in the United Provinces or in the C. P. or Bengal, or wherever it may be, certainly if land is available it should be given, it has to be remembered that the average holding of the United Provinces is 2½ acres; so it comes to this; that in order to provide two persons with a room you put people in a room where they are already ten persons. You are putting two more in it. We cannot be vicariously generous; we cannot put a greater burden on the poverty-stricken people of any place merely because you want to be generous. Let us be generous, but not obviously because apart from everything else this is going to give rise, as it is giving rise, to grave discontent in various ways and an unfortunate tendency to dislike these refugees coming there. We do not want that to happen; this kind of thing sows seeds of bitterness for the future. Therefore, the problem has to be examined in all its aspects in this way and the burden has certainly to be spread out, the financial burden and the burden in many other ways is, of course, being borne by the whole of India today and it will be borne. But this business of taking land where there is no land and giving the land to somebody is not a proper way of giving relief. So far as the question arises, I see no difficulty. I think the land in the Punjab including, of course, the States in the Punjab is enough. The problem will arise in regard to the urban dwellers and I think we should try to absorb them and help them in every way in other parts of India also. In fact cities can be built in East Punjab and will be built which will absorb them, so that the problem, if analysed, is not so big or difficult of solution. People seem to think that somehow the East Punjab is a tiny little place where people have not got room to stay. Therefore they should spread out all over the place. The East Punjab from any Indian standard is not only enough but bigger from the population of India point of view to absorb those who come. But from another point of view, the Indian and the urban point of view, it is not big enough to absorb it. It is perfectly true at the same time because it has been shaken up—the big cities cannot absorb the population in a few villages in the East Punjab. That is a big problem and we must at any rate act promptly and we shall be able to solve it by not only building cities in the East Punjab, but by taking them to cities in the rest of India having colonies, suburban areas etc. As a matter of fact the Punjabees fortunately are a very enterprising people, more so than, if I may say so, the people in most parts of India. To them is due the prosperity of their province and with the help that they are obviously going to get from the State, I have no doubt they will make good far more rapidly than probably any other people in India might have done. So, big as the problem is, I do think that there is nothing in it which should really frighten us. But if I may come back to what I began with and say that if we tackle this problem in a spirit of retaliation, we get into trouble. Here in the City of Delhi there are lakhs of people who are refugees and all the time we are having trouble in the housing and there is a continuous pressure on Muslim houses where Muslims still dwell here to push them out. Now from any point of view, Governmental or other, it is highly improper to think that residents of Delhi, because they are Muslims, should be pushed out. It is unbecoming to put up with it. It is unbecoming for the Delhi Administration. No nation, no Government, no country can carry on if it follows that kind of policy. If a nation requires protection he must be given that protection, whether he is a Hindu or a Muslim or anybody. Now it is true that there is pressure of refugees coming in and difficulties arise which in some cases are insoluble unfortunately. We must be clear about it and the Administration must be quite clear about it, that you do not solve the difficulty by creating another difficulty. That is not the way of solving the difficulty. May I finally say that in regard to some of these problems, as Members will no doubt know, the All-India Congress Committee met some days back. They gave thought to that and they passed certain Resolutions. Some of those Resolutions may be termed 'unrealistic' in part, may be, nevertheless they wanted to emphasize that outlook and I want to say that we as a Government entirely adhere to that policy and will try to follow it.

[Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru]

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I would very much like not to spoil the effect of the speech of the Honourable the Prime Minister. There were many points that were raised by my honourable friends and I should have very much liked to give my points of view in reply to them, but I have to restrain myself in this matter. I can only give the assurance to the House that all the suggestions that have fallen from my Honourable colleagues would be given the utmost weight and will have our best consideration. There are, however, one or two matters to which I cannot but refer. The first relates to the complaints that have been made against the Custodian of Refugee property. I have already referred to the matter in my opening speech. I want to assure the House that the complaints that have been voiced on this occasion have reached 5 P.M. us also, and that a suitable inquiry into the administration of the organisation is shortly going to be undertaken. I would only ask my Honourable colleagues to wait for a few days.

Rather an unkind reference was made to my staff. I am deeply obliged to my Honourable colleague Shri Gopalaswami Ayyangar for having defended my staff. All that I need say in addition to what he said in that connection is that they have given me and Government their whole-hearted and loyal co-operation, and that the cause of the refugees is very dear to them.

Sir, there has been a general discontent about the pace of the progress made. Let me tell the House that I am thoroughly dissatisfied with myself. I feel that my shoulders are not broad enough for bearing the burden that has been laid on me; and let me give one final assurance that I shall not stick on to office the moment I feel that I do not enjoy the confidence of this House.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Monday, the 1st December, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Monday, the 1st December 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

CULTIVATION OF LAND

448. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture please state:

(a) whether it is a fact that a target of ten million acres of land has been fixed for bringing new lands under cultivation;

(b) when the target was fixed;

(c) the extent of lands that has been brought under cultivation in each province since the inauguration of the scheme;

(d) the total yield from these lands;

(e) the details of the aid that the Central Government have given to the provinces in the matter of—(i) irrigation—minor and major, (ii) supply of improved seeds, (iii) reclamation of fallow lands;

(f) the major irrigation schemes in the province of Bombay which have received financial help from the Central Government; and

(g) whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the observation made by Commerce of Bombay in its issue of the 20th September 1947 on page 510 under the caption "Food situation in India Grim", particularly in the last paragraph about Government statistics?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). No target has been fixed for the areas of new lands to be brought under cultivation. Targets were, however, fixed in January 1947 for the production of four million tons of additional foodgrains during 1947-52.

(c) and (d). Statements showing the area under culturable waste and the production of the area cultivated as compared with the normal pre-war period were placed on the table in reply to questions 199 and 132 on the 20th November 1947. Separate statistics are not maintained for yield from new lands brought under cultivation.

(e) A statement giving this information was placed on the table in reply to question 132 on 20th November 1947. Details of financial aid to be given for major irrigation projects have not yet been settled.

(f) So far financial assistance has not been given for any major irrigation scheme to Bombay. It has been suggested to the Government of Bombay that the following three major irrigation schemes should be financed from loan money—(i) Vir Dam Project, (ii) Meshava Canal Project, (iii) Gangapur Dam Project.

(g) Government have seen the article in question but the allegations made are not accepted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is it a fact that the Madras Government wanted a lump sum grant for improving the minor irrigation projects, instead of giving subsidies for the sinking of wells?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The system we have followed so far is to ask provinces to prepare plans. Those plans are received here, examined and sanctioned and the money is allotted on the basis of those sanctioned plans.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know, whether so far as the Madras Government is concerned, the Central Government has promised to give contributions for the sinking of wells by individual ryots in their holdings, but not for major projects?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Whatever projects have come from the Madras Government have been accepted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Are these projects in addition to the grants for subsidies for sinking wells and putting dams across rivers?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said all these projects are regarded as irrigation projects, whether for sinking wells, or tubewells or for opening up irrigation channels. They are all considered together. So whatever plans are received, they are considered and sanctioned.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: What is the basis of subsidy in the case of wells: the Government contributes four annas, the ryot four annas and the Central Government eight annas. What is the basis for major irrigation projects?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Those are considered on their merits. I think it is on a basis of half and half.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: What is the total amount of deficit of food-grains needed to be made up by this new cultivation?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The deficit that is sought to be made up is 3.2 million tons in India.

Seth Govinddas: Is it not a fact that the Central Provinces have submitted a plan about irrigation in that province, particularly with respect to tube wells, and is Government making any plan to help that Government?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: All such plans are examined here and then sanctioned. I do not know at what stage the particular plan the Honourable Member is referring to is at the present moment.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether the Government is aware that most of the land brought under cultivation by the poor agriculturist labourers has been snatched by demobilized soldiers, because they are ex-soldiers? And if so, what steps are Government taking to prevent such snatching?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I submit that it does not arise.

Mr. Speaker: I agree with the Honourable Member.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Is the Government taking care to see that besides the extension of the area under cultivation, efforts are being made to see that the average yield per acre is also being increased?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The whole scheme is to increase the average yield per acre and also for bringing fresh land under cultivation.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Have any results been achieved so far?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Of course!

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Since the food scheme was launched, what have been the results?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have given the figures in answer to another question. But it is difficult to say what increase is attributable to these efforts and what is due to other causes.

REQUIREMENTS OF CAUSTIC SODA.

†449. Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state what are the present and prospective requirements of caustic soda in the country?

(b) What is the quantity of caustic soda likely to be available in the years 1947 and 1948 respectively?

(c) What steps are Government taking to obtain supply of the deficit quantity, in order that the economy of the country may not be disturbed for want of caustic soda?

(d) What steps are Government taking to increase the manufacture of caustic soda in the country, and what are the prospects of increase in manufacture as regards quantity and period?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Approximately 50,000 tons and 100,000 tons per annum respectively.

(b) About 23,000 tons in 1947. As there is at present a world shortage of Alkali Chemicals, it is not possible to estimate with any degree of accuracy what imports can be expected in 1948. It is, however, hoped that the present indigenous production of 4,500 tons a year will increase in 1948 to about 14,400 tons.

(c) Anyone is allowed to import who can obtain reasonable offers from abroad. Government is also exploring other sources of supply through diplomatic channels.

(d) Three plants of a total capacity of 4,500 tons per annum have been ordered from the U.S.A. Two of these have arrived and are under erection. These have a total capacity of 3,000 tons a year, and are expected to go into production by March, 1948. Import licences have been issued for further plants with a total capacity of about 30,000 tons per annum. It is expected that these will be in production in about 2 years time.

PROTECTION, SUBVENTION OR SUBSIDY TO INDUSTRIES.

450. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) when Government expect to formulate their policy in regard to the offer of protection, subvention or subsidy to industries;

(b) whether Government propose to appoint any committee to advise them in this regard before they take final decisions;

(c) if so, whether representatives of rural people, peasants and workers will also be consulted;

(d) whether Government propose to appoint a permanent Tariff Board;

(e) the period for which the present Tariff Board is appointed and its terms of reference; and

(f) whether any Cabinet Sub-Committee has considered these terms of reference?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The question has been transferred to the List of questions for the 5th December 1947, when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister for Commerce.

Mr. Speaker: I will request Honourable Members not to change their seats often. I was almost about to call the next question, thinking Professor Ranga was absent!

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I observe that we are not masters of our seats!

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

Mr. Speaker: Once the occupation is there, let it not be disturbed for this Session. We will see about the allotment of seats for next Session.

DEVELOPMENT OF INDUSTRIES.

451. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

- (a) what consideration has been given to the Neogy Planning Board;
- (b) whether any scheme of priorities has been decided upon for the active development of our industries—small and big;
- (c) when Government propose to begin work for the development of power production, transport, iron and steel, metallurgical industries and plants;
- (d) what steps are being taken to obtain capital, machinery and experts from abroad and also from our own private enterprises for the development of State enterprise in India; and
- (e) what are the plans of Government for the promotion of industrial development of our resources?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) The Ministries concerned are examining the recommendation made by the Board. The Cabinet have also appointed a Special Economic Sub-Committee, which will take the Board's Report into consideration. The principal recommendations in the Report will also be discussed at the forthcoming Industries Conference to be held on the 15th and 16th December 1947, at which Provinces, important States, and industries will be represented.

(b) Urgent problems relating to the development of Industries in India will be discussed at the Industries Conference. Priorities to be accorded to different schemes will also be considered.

(c) The work relating to the development of power production and transport has already been taken up by the Ministries concerned. As regards steel, metallurgical industries and plants, plans for their development are already under Government's consideration, and a special meeting of experts is being convened shortly in respect of the proposed steel plants.

(d) and (e). Government issued a statement on Industrial Policy in 1945 which referred, among other things, to the nationalisation of industries. The position will be reviewed in the light of the recommendations of the ensuing Industries Conference and of the Economic Sub-Committee's report.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the important functions that are being laid on the forthcoming Industries Conference, will Government consider the advisability of inviting some representatives of cottage industries also?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Yes.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if the Government have come to any conclusion as to the field that should be reserved for direct development by the Central Government?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That matter is under consideration.

Shri K. Santhanam: When is Government likely to come to some decision in the matter?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Early next year.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know if this matter also will be placed before the Industries Conference that is to meet?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Yes.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know if the proposals in this regard of the Department itself will be placed before the Standing Committee of this House attached to the Industries Ministry before this matter is placed before the formal conference, which would consist not only of Members of the Committee but outsiders also?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The agenda is being circulated today to the members of the Standing Committee.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Have Government considered the question of making suitable developmental grants and also floating necessary loans during the next year in order to speed up the developmental plans?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That matter also will be considered.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: May I know if the Government will be prepared to take into confidence the Standing Committee attached to the Industries Ministry at the time when the Industries Conference begins?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I am issuing letters of invitation to the members of the Standing Committee and I am also calling a meeting of the Standing Committee to discuss the agenda.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Will Government consider the advisability of inviting Mr. Vakil who served on the Planning Commission and who resigned stating that experts were not wanted in the previous regime, that the Government had no place for them and that they had place only for I.C.S. men and members of other services? May I know whether his services have been requisitioned and he has been invited to attend this conference?

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid I should not allow these questions. They refer to individual cases.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: In view of the very acute shortage of cloth in the country have Government considered the question of giving any fillip to the hand spinning industry?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That matter also will come up for consideration. If there is any specific suggestion that will be considered.

ALL-INDIA HANDLOOM BOARD.

452. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) when the All-India Handloom Board was constituted;

(b) whether it was constituted only for one year in the first instance and whether it was done in pursuance of the resolutions of the Handloom Fact finding Committee;

(c) why it has not been re-constituted for so long;

(d) when it is proposed to re-constitute it;

(e) whether Government are aware that it is the only authoritative quasi Government organisation to consider and advise on handloom problems of all India importance;

(f) whether Government propose to increase the quota of representation given to handloom weavers and their organisations to enable them to form the majority of the Committee; and

(g) whether Government propose to give adequate representation to the All India Handloom Weavers Congress?

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that the Kirloskar Plant has been producing this machinery for sometime and some of these drums have already come into use in certain parts of the Bombay Presidency?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I am not aware of that.

FOOD REQUIREMENTS OF VARIOUS PROVINCES

454. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) the food requirements of the various provinces, their maximum and minimum capacities for food production, their maximum and minimum food procurement and their maximum and minimum food shortages or surpluses, in the light of the last 4 years working of the Food Department; and

(b) how Government propose to help the deficit provinces to maximise their food production?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) A statement showing the requirements, for foodgrains (calculated on the basis of the population and an assumed consumption per capita), the estimated production of foodgrains by 1951-52 (if the goods and services required for the execution of the grow more food campaign are available), the maximum and minimum food procurement and maximum and minimum net imports or exports (excluding the figures for Assam, West Bengal, and East Punjab which are not separately available) for the provinces only is placed on the table.

(b) Five-year targets of food production have been drawn up for each province and it is proposed to give financial and technical assistance to Provincial Governments for achieving these targets. Every effort will also be made to see that the materials required to intensify the Grow More Food Campaign are made available to the Provinces.

Food Requirements, Maximum Capacity for Food Production, Maximum and Minimum Food Procurement and Maximum and Minimum Net Imports or Net Exports.

Provinces	Estimated Requirements of foodgrains for 1947-48	Estimated Production of principal foodgrains in 1951-52	Food Procurement		Net Exports		Net Imports
			Maximum during last 4 years	Minimum during last 4 years	Maximum during last 4 years	Minimum during last 4 years	Maximum during last 4 years	Minimum during last 4 years
Assam	1,221	1,616	..	..	..	..	..	..
Bihar	5,812	5,062	178	64	..	..	241	28
Bombay	3,407	3,222	606	394	..	..	567	499
Central Provinces	2,641	3,627	440	290	234	..	158*	..
East Punjab	2,200	2,925	..	..	689	..	..	..
Madras	7,884	7,636	1,550	773	..	..	587	104
Orissa	1,370	1,555	136	118	105*	59	..	..
United Provinces	8,994	9,458	502	291	..	..	259	95
West Bengal	3,527	3,400	..	..	..	..	..	..
Total	37,056	38,501	..	..	..	..	..	..

* Relates to current year and is subject to revision.

† Estimated production is based on the actual average for the five years 1942-47, viz., 35.3 million tons plus the increased estimate of production, viz., 3.2 million tons for the provinces.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) The All-India Handloom Board was constituted in February 1945.

(b) Yes, Sir.

(c) and (d). The question of reorganising the Board was considered in February 1946, and was referred to Provincial Governments. The reorganisation of the board is still under consideration by the Government of India.

(e) Yes, Sir.

(f) Yes, Sir, Government propose to increase the quota of representation given to handloom weavers.

(g) This question also is under consideration.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that it is more than one year and eight months since this reorganisation commenced, will Government consider the advisability of expediting the consideration and coming to a definite decision at an early date?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Certainly.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if the Honourable the Minister will consider the advisability of instituting an All-India Institute of Research for the handloom industry?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I think the Honourable Member is aware that there is a fund called the Cotton Textile Fund which has now reached about 210 lakhs of rupees and out of that fund Government has decided to establish a Cotton Technological Research Institute in Bombay and one of the objects of that institute will be the subject that has been mentioned by the Honourable Member.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government consider the advisability of starting a Central Handloom Goods Emporium in Delhi in order to popularise the various kinds of patterns, designs and other fabrics produced by the handloom weaving industry?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Whether Government should do it or whether it will be done by the representatives of the industry itself will be considered.

Shri M. S. Aney: Am I to understand that the scope of the work of the Central Cotton Research Committee includes also research of handloom industry?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It is not a Research Committee but a Research Institute which Government has decided to establish and it will be financed partly out of this fund.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Are there any rules for the guidance of this Handloom Board and if so, will Government place a copy of those rules on the table of the House?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I have with me a copy of the resolution passed by the Government of India on the 12th February, 1947 which indicates the different functions which will come within the purview of the Board.

Shri A. P. Pattani: May I inform the Honourable Minister that the first thing essential is not plans but yarn for the handloom weavers?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That information we possess already.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Will Government consider the advisability of promoting handspinning?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We propose also to have their representatives on the Board.

453. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether cowdung gasplant has been devised by one of the scientists of the Indian Institute of Agriculture;

(b) whether a descriptive account of it has been published in the Annual number of "Indian Farmer";

(c) whether it is a fact that its use can enable our farmers to freely extract from cow-dung both manure and gas for home use as fuel and lighting; and

(d) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of starting the manufacture of cheap cowdung gasplants and their distribution through Village Panchayats to our farmers in order to prevent the present wastage of cowdung as fuel and its loss as manure?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes. Descriptive accounts have been given in the issues of Indian Farming for February, 1945 and for July, 1946.

(c) This is the claim put forward in the above articles.

(d) It is considered premature to start a factory for the manufacture of cowdung gas plants as the process has not yet been tried out under village conditions. Mr. N. V. Joshi who was formerly at the I.A.R.I., has taken out a patent and proposes to make small scale plants. These will be tried out when available and if the results are encouraging the question of their manufacture in larger numbers and their distribution to villages will be considered in consultation with Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know what is being done by Government to encourage this gentleman to produce these things at an economic price?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The gentleman has taken out a patent: he is going to try it. When we see the results we shall consider what can be done in the matter.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Why is it that the Government themselves do not wish to make this experiment and see that the thing is produced at an economic price instead of leaving it to the gentleman concerned with the possibility of his making profits thereon at the cost of the general public?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We do not think that the experiment has reached a stage when the Government can take it up. We are waiting to see how far it will succeed and then we can take it up, not at this stage of the experiment.

Shri M. S. Aney: Is this plant not exhibited somewhere?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I cannot answer that off-hand.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it a fact that it is exhibited in the Institute at Delhi?

Shri Balkrishna Sharma: May I know if the Government are aware that cowdung is of great manure value and that the installation of such gas plants is likely to take away a large part of cowdung which is essential for manuring the fields?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The claim is that gas would be produced and the manure part will also be available.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is this gentleman sure that he will be able to make a success of his experiment and does not want any aid during the experimental stage?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: He has not asked for any help.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know what attempts are being made by Government to invoke the aid and active co-operation of the agriculturists themselves in order to further this Grow More Food campaign, in addition to simply giving them some subsidies?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I do not know what else the Government can do. Government ask them to grow more food and they are giving them aid in the form of monetary assistance for purchasing manure and better seed and providing facilities for irrigation.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are not Government aware of the fact that in England the Government takes active steps to encourage the farmers to organize themselves and to invite the co-operation of the farmers' organizations to further its Grow More Food campaign?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That is being done. I understand in the Provinces the Agriculture Department gets assistance from such organizations as are available there.

Shri S. Nagappa: In view of the fact that large tracts of cultivable waste land are still lying waste almost in all Provinces, has the Government any scheme or plan to bring almost all the land under cultivation at the earliest date in order to solve the food problem?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: So far as this Five Year Grow More Food Plan is concerned it is intended that a great deal of land which is now lying waste will be brought under cultivation. As regards the rest of the land which is now waste, it will require bigger projects, and those are contemplated in projects like what we are now having in Bihar and Bengal, the Damodar project, the Kosi project, the Hirakud project and so many other projects.

Mr. Tajamul Hussain: May I know whether any law has been introduced in the Provinces to reclaim waste lands?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I understand there has been a law passed in Bihar and I believe there is some law in Bombay also. I am not aware of the position in other Provinces.

Mr. Tajamul Hussain: Will the Government advise the Provincial Governments to introduce such law?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We are going to introduce a Bill in this Assembly to cover the Chief Commissioners' Provinces which are directly under the Government of India. It is expected that other Governments will follow suit.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is it expected that if this five year plan is worked out fully, the entire deficit will be covered up, or is another five year plan necessary to make up the deficit?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The expected yield from these plans in India, apart from the States, is 3.2 million tons by 1952. But, as I understand, the increase in the population will result in an increase in the demand there will still be a deficit after that, of anything between 1 and 2 million tons.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know if the Government is aware of the increase in the prices of sugarcane, and if so whether it will not affect this five year Grow More Food plan?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Land under sugarcane is small in area as compared to the entire land under food crops, and if there is any increase in sugarcane area it will not very substantially affect the production of food. It has also to be remembered that sugarcane gives us sugar which has really more calorific value than any other food produced on the same land.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: In view of the fact that in spite of so much effort in the direction of the Grow More Food campaign by the Government the results have not been satisfactory, is it intended to institute an enquiry to find out as to why the desired objective has not been reached?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I do not think we have reached a stage when an enquiry is called for.

Shri C. Subrahmanyam: In view of the fact that the lessons of the Grow More Food Campaign have on the whole been disappointing, may I know whether any alternative scheme has been formulated?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The results have not been as good as they ought to have been or as they had been expected, and to that extent they have been disappointing. But we have not any alternative scheme as the time has not come for that.

Seth Govinddas: As far as the waste lands are concerned, when they are brought under cultivation, will Government see to it that they are brought under cultivation under conditions of some sort of co-operative farming, and will Government advise the Provincial Governments to have such a scheme in view?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It will depend upon local conditions, but the policy of the Government is to encourage co-operative farming wherever possible.

STANDARDIZATION OF RAILWAY EQUIPMENT

†455. Shri Debi Prosad Khaitan: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether there is a Standardization section in the Railway Board for standardizing railway equipment;

(b) how far the standardization of railway equipment has been completed and what parts of railway equipment still remain to be standardized; and

(c) whether Government are aware that manufacture in India of such equipment can be facilitated if it is standardized?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes. The Central Standards Office for Railways was established in 1930.

(b) During the last 17 years of its existence, standard designs have been prepared for the following:

(i) Locomotives for all gauges.

(ii) Carriage underframes and bodies for broad and metre-gauge.

(iii) Goods stock such as covered wagons, open wagons, oil tanks, hopper trucks, brake vans, etc.

(iv) Bridge girders of different spans and types.

(v) Various types of structures such as platform roofs, goods sheds, etc.

(vi) Track components and fittings such as rails, sleepers, fastenings, turnouts, etc.

(vii) Signals and interlocking.

As Railway equipment covers such a wide range and the progress in the Engineering field in this age is so rapid, it is impossible to reach finality and standardization has inevitably to be a progressive process.

(c) The Government is well aware of this advantage. Equipment and stores are purchased against a standard drawing and specification. There are 23,827 Loco, Carr. and Wagon standard drawings and 17,000 Civil (covering bridges, station buildings, track, etc.). Central Standards Office has also issued 150 specifications of its own and has also drafted many issued as I.S.D. Specifications.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

SLAUGHTER OF CATTLE

456. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether the slaughter of cattle is on the decline in the past two years as compared with the year 1944-45?

(b) What kinds of cattle are generally slaughtered and whether the meat of such slaughtered cattle is consumed locally or exported to places outside India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) No data about the number of cattle slaughtered in India for Civil consumption after 1945 is available. The slaughter of cattle for military consumption is however considerably on the decline. Only 125 cattle were slaughtered during the first six months of 1947 as against 2,87,445 in 1944.

(b) Generally useful cattle are not slaughtered. The meat is consumed locally and is not exported outside India.

Seth Govinddas: Is it not a fact that though an age limit has been fixed by various Provinces and municipalities for the slaughter of these cattle, it is never adhered to and there is still indiscriminate slaughter in many municipalities and towns?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I know that an age limit has been fixed and certain other limitations have also been laid down for the slaughter of cattle. But to what extent they have been disregarded or disobeyed I do not know.

Mr. Tajamal Hussain: Are Government aware that slaughter of cattle has considerably declined since the 15th of August 1947?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have no information about that.

Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Government consider the desirability of prohibiting by legislation the slaughter of cattle fit for agriculture and for giving milk?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have appointed a Committee of people who are interested in the preservation of cattle. We shall await the report of that Committee before taking any decision in the matter.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I know when this Committee was appointed and when Government expect to receive the report of the Committee?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The Committee was appointed only a short time ago—just about a fortnight or so ago—and the report of the Committee can be expected in due time.

श्री रामसाहय : क्या माननीय मिनिस्टर साहब यह बताने की कृपा करेंगे कि जो कमेटी वे बना रहे हैं उसमें एग्रीकल्चर (Agriculture) के स्टैंडिंग कमेटी (Standing Committee) के मेम्बरों को भी शरीक किया जायगा या उनको कान्फिडेंस (Confidence) में लिया जायगा ।

Shri Ram Sahai: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether the members of the Standing Committee for Agriculture will also be included in the new committee or will they be taken into confidence and their opinions considered?

आनरेबिल डा० राजेन्द्रप्रसाद यह सवाल जब कमेटी की रिपोर्ट आ जायेगी तब देखा जायगा ।

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It will be considered when the report of the Committee is received.

Shri H. J. Khandekar: Does the Committee consist of official members or non-official members?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It consists largely of non-officials.

Seth Govinddas: Will the Government give powers to this Committee so that when it thinks it advisable it can co-opt more members who are interested in this subject?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I do not exactly remember the terms of reference, but I suppose there is provision for that.

PROHIBITION OF SLAUGHTER OF ANIMALS.

457. *Shri B. A. Mandloi: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government have taken any steps to prohibit the slaughter of animals of all kinds in well-known places of Hindu pilgrimage?

(b) If not, do Government propose to do so now?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) No.

(b) It has been decided to set up a Committee of experts to consider the whole question of slaughter of cattle in India and to recommend practical measures for the conservation and development of the cattle wealth of the country. This committee will be asked to consider the question raised by the Honourable Member. I have got the names of the members of the Committee of experts here in case the honourable member who put a supplementary question about it is interested in it.

Mr. Speaker: Let the list of names be placed on the table of the House.

Resolution.

It has been brought to the notice of the Government of India that large numbers of cattle are annually slaughtered in this country for meat, that this slaughter is often indiscriminate, that it includes animals of all ages and qualities and that the slaughter results in short supplies of milk and work bullocks and in the depletion of the country's cattle wealth. There has been considerable agitation in the press, on the platform and on the floor of the Legislature in regard to this matter, and Government has been urged to take immediate steps to prohibit slaughter by legislation. As this is a complicated socio-religious subject the Government of India have, after careful consideration, decided to appoint an Expert Committee of officials and non-officials to consider the question in all its aspects and to recommend a comprehensive plan of action which can be put into immediate effect for preserving the cattle wealth of the country and for promoting its development.

In considering the subject the Committee will pay particular attention to the following:—

- The cause and the extent of periodical variation in the population of each class of cattle and the effect of such variation on the supply of milk and bullock power.
- Detailed examination of the available statistics of slaughter, proportion of useful animals therein and an estimate of the material loss caused thereby.
- Population trend of old and unproductive cattle and the problem of their maintenance and economic utilisation in view both of shortage of cattle feed and of prevailing sentiments against slaughter.
- Now agencies like Gausshalas and cattle Protection Societies and Salvage Centres can be utilised for preserving cattle wealth and for promoting its developments.
- Review of existing regulations regarding restrictions on cattle slaughter and of the administrative arrangements for the enforcement of the regulations.

The Committee will consist of :—

1. Sardar Bahadur Sir Datar Singh, Vice-Chairman, Indian Council of Agricultural Research, and Cattle Utilisation Adviser to the Government of India—Chairman.
2. Rai Bahadur P. N. Nanda, Animal Husbandry Commissioner with the Government of India.
3. Mr. N. B. Shahai, Director of Veterinary Services, C. P. & Berar.
4. Dr. Zai R. Kothawalla, Dairy Development Adviser to the Government of India.
5. L. Hardev Sahai, Secretary, Gau Rakishini Sabha, Hissar.
6. Rai Bahadur J. N. Manker, Honorary Secretary, Bombay Humanitarian League, 149, Shroff Bazar, Bombay.
7. Sardar Bahadur Harchand Singh, Agricultural Commissioner, Patiala.
8. Guru Partap Singh, Bhaini Sahib, District Ludhiana.
9. Shri Dharam Lal Singh, Secretary, Bihar Gowshala Federation, Sadaqat Ashram, Patna, P. O. Dighaghat.
10. Mr. Satishchandar Dass Gupta, Khadi Pratisthan, near Calcutta.
11. Shri Mahabir Parshad Pottedar, Gorakhpur.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are the Cattle Protection Conference organized at Kanpur and the Cow Protection League organized at Wardha represented on the expert committee?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Yes.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: May I know if all the parties represented in the Legislature are on that committee?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have submitted the list. I might make one little correction in the answer that I gave to Professor Ranga. I do not know about particular cattle organizations, but cattle organizations generally are represented.

Shri O. V. Alagesan: Will Government consider the question of prohibiting the sacrifice of cattle in holy places?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said, the whole question will be considered on the report of the Committee.

EXPENDITURE ON " GROW MORE FOOD CAMPAIGN "

458. Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) the total amount spent by the Government of India on "Grow More Food" campaign in each of the years, 1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47;

(b) the amount allotted to the Provinces and Indian States in each of the above years;

(c) the measure of success achieved in this direction; and

(d) the Province or Provinces or the Indian State which showed appreciable progress in this direction?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Information with regard to the assistance given to Provinces and Local Administrations for the Grow More Food campaign and the average and production of the principal foodgrains for the period 1943-44 to 1946-47 as compared with the normal prewar period was furnished to the House in reply to question No. 132 on the 20th November, 1947. Three statements giving similar information in respect of Indian States in so far as it is available are placed on the table.

STATEMENT I

Statement showing the total Amounts sanctioned by the Government of India to Indian States for GMF Campaign in the Years 1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47.

NAME OF STATE.	Total amount sanctioned by the Government of India in the Year.
	1944-45		1945-46		1946-47
	Loan	Grant	Loan	Grant	Loan	Grant
1. Baroda State	..	7,19,220	..	1,444	..	..
2. Charkhari State	..	2,000	..	..	..	..
3. Rampur State	..	8,698	..	..	..	..
4. Faridkot State	..	..	..	1,00,000	..	..
5. Kashmir State	..	..	..	17,025	..	..
6. Jasdom State	..	..	..	7,954	..	..
7. Joora State.	..	..	..	33,708	..	..
8. Ratlam State	..	..	..	3,331	..	..
9. Sirmur State	..	..	..	500	..	755
10. Travancore State	..	..	..	65,715	..	80,584
11. Gwalior State	..	..	..	3,952	..	..
12. Wandanai State.	..	..	..	50,000	..	..
13. Mysore State	..	..	..	..	..	16,118
TOTAL	..	7,29,918	..	2,83,629	..	91,451

Shri Rameshwar Prasad Sinha: Will the Government state if the amount earmarked for any of the provinces did lapse because of the non-submission in due time of the requisite list of projects proposed to be taken up in the provinces concerned?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The information is contained in the statement that I have placed on the table.

MANUFACTURE OF VEGETABLE GHEE.

459. Shri B. A. Mandloi: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have got scientifically examined the various products manufactured on a large scale which are known as vegetable ghee;

(b) whether Government are aware that the volume of expert opinion on the subject is against the use of vegetable ghee for human consumption;

(c) if so, whether Government propose to prohibit the manufacture of vegetable or artificial ghee, as being injurious to human health on account of their deficiency in food values; and

(d) if the answer to part (c) above be in the affirmative, what steps Government propose to take to prohibit the manufacture and sale of artificial or vegetable ghee?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) The results of the research carried on so far are not conclusive on the point.

(c) No.

(d) Does not arise.

Seth Govinddas: Is it not a fact that a few months ago the Honourable Minister himself made a statement in this respect and said that wherever these experiments were held it was largely found to be injurious to health, and under these circumstances will Government see that no new licences are given for producing vegetable ghee?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I think the Honourable Member is referring to the statement which I made in the Council of State on the 11th of March 1947. I did not make the statement in the form in which it has been stated.

Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Member at least see that when the scientific enquiries in this respect are not conclusive so far, no new licences are given for producing vegetable ghee?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: But no new licences are being granted now.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Government consider the advisability of colourizing artificial ghee which is already produced?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Under the existing rules, colourizing is not made compulsory, but we insist upon a certain percentage of sesamum oil being mixed with all Vanaspathi products so that it becomes easily detectable with a simple chemical test.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will Government consider the advisability of putting some colour to make it easily distinguishable?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: This question has been considered and it has been found impracticable partly because no colour is found to be such as to last, and partly because those who use Vanaspathi do not like the colour and the thing becomes unpopular.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: The Honourable the Minister in charge of Food has replied that no new licences are being given, my question is do Government propose not to grant new licences in future?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The position with regard to Vanaspathi is this. From 38,000 tons per year before the war, the licences which have already been granted cover a production of 459,000 tons. This year the production has been something between 150,000 and 200,000 tons. The new factories will double present production and there can be no question of granting new licences so long as present licences have been operative.

Shri Balkrishna Sharma: May I know if the Government will take into consideration the suggestion that the process of hydrogenation is stopped and that Vanaspathi factories are only required to sell the oil in its pure form?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That is a suggestion which may be taken into consideration.

Dr. V. Subrahmanyam: Have the Government found out whether in the process of hydrogenation oil loses vitamin properties or whether vegetable oil is injurious to health?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have already stated, the whole matter is under investigation by scientists. It does lose its vitamin content. That is admitted by all.

Mr. Speaker: I may say that all these questions were put a number of times, of course not in this session but in previous sessions, and so instead of putting the same questions it would be better to go to the next question.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: But the trouble is Government does not seem to be mending its way.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact that the vegetable product, which is known as vegetable ghee, is less harmful than adulterated ghee which is sold in large quantities in the country?

Mr. Speaker: This is a question of opinion.

IMPORTS OF PROCESSED FOODS.

†460. Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state whether any processed foods have been imported from abroad to supplement the food supply in the country?

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

STATEMENT II.

Statement showing area under principal foodgrains (rice, wheat, jowar, bajra, maize, ragi, barley and gram) in Indian States and increase or decrease during 1943-44, 1944-45, 1945-46, and 1946-47 as compared with normal period (Average 1936-37 to 1938-39).

Indian States	Normal Average 1936-37 to 1938-39	1943-44	1944-45	1945-46	1946-47	(Thousand acres)
						Increase (+) or decrease (—) as compared with the normal during
						1943-44	1944-45	1945-46	1946-47	Actual	Percent	Actual	Percent
Baroda	1,523	1,974	1,893	1,886	N.A.	(+) 451	(+) 30.0	(+) 370	(+) 24.3	(+) 363	(+) 23.8	..	..
Hyderabad	14,986	14,160	14,112	12,012	N.A.	(—) 826	(—) 5.5	(—) 874	(—) 5.8	(—) 2,974	(—) 19.8	..	..
Gwalior	1,553	1,344	3,148	2,807	N.A.	(—) 219	(—) 14.1	(+) 1,595	(+) 102.7	(+) 1,254	(+) 80.7	..	..
Mysore	3,665	3,893	3,566	3,291	N.A.	(+) 228	(+) 6.2	(—) 99	(—) 2.7	(—) 374	(—) 10.2	..	..
Rampur	170	145	150	163	N.A.	(—) 25	(—) 14.7	(—) 20	(—) 11.8	(—) 7	(—) 4.1	..	..
* Other Reporting States	13,270	14,690	28,120	27,530	N.A.	(+) 1,420	(+) 10.7	(+) 14,850	(+) 111.9	(+) 14,260	(+) 107.5	..	..
TOTAL	35,167	36,196	50,989	47,689	N.A.	(+) 1,029	(+) 2.9	(+) 15,822	(+) 45.0	(+) 12,522	(+) 35.6	..	..

N. A.—Not available.

*The figures for 1944-45 and 1945-46 in respect of Indian States include figures for jowar, bajra and maize for certain areas which started reporting only recently and are, therefore, not strictly comparable with the figures for previous years.

STATEMENT III

Statement showing production of principal foodgrains (rice, wheat, jowar, bajra, maize, ragi, barley and gram) in Indian States and increase or decrease during the 1943-44, 1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47 as compared with normal period (Average 1936-37 to 1938-39).

Name of State	Normal Average 1936-37 to 1938-39	1943-44	1944-45	1945-46	1946-47	(Thousand Tons)
						Increase (+) or decrease (-) as compared with the normal during
						1943-44		1944-45		1945-46		1946-47
						Actual	Percent	Actual	Percent	Actual	Percent	Actual	Percent
Baroda ..	209	464	248	345	N.A.	(-) 255	(+) 122.0	(+) 39	(+) 18.7	(+) 136	(+) 65.1	..	..
Gwalior ..	371	327	766	636	N.A.	(-) 44	(-) 11.9	(+) 395	(+) 106.5	(+) 265	(+) 71.4	..	..
Hyderabad ..	2,390	2,031	2,074	1,613	N.A.	(-) 359	(-) 15.0	(-) 316	(-) 13.2	(-) 777	(-) 32.5	..	..
Mysore ..	860	972	885	539	N.A.	(+) 112	(+) 13.0	(+) 25	(+) 2.9	(-) 321	(-) 37.3	..	..
Rampur ..	36	36	33	27	N.A.	..	..	(-) 3	(-) 8.3	(-) 9	(-) 25.0	..	..
*Other Reporting States ..	3,549	3,650	4,893	4,315	N.A.	(+) 101	(+) 2.8	(+) 1,344	(+) 37.9	(+) 766	(+) 21.6	..	..
TOTAL ..	7,415	7,480	8,899	7,475	N.A.	(+) 65	(+) 0.9	(+) 1,484	(+) 20.0	(+) 60	(+) 0.8	..	..

N. A.—Not available.

*The figures for 1944-45 and 1945-46 in respect of Indian States include figures for Jowar, Bajra and Maize for certain areas which started reporting only recently and are, therefore, not strictly comparable with the figures for previous years.

944

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [1st Dec. 1947]

(b) If so, what are the varieties and quantities imported and what is their total value?

(c) How are they allocated to the different provinces and states?

(d) Are Government aware that large quantities of processed foods are manufactured in India?

(e) If so, what is the total output of such foods in India?

(f) Do Government propose to utilise these preserved food-stuffs for supplementing the usual food supply?

(g) If not, do Government propose to permit the export of these processed food-stuffs to foreign countries?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). Condensed milk, whole milk powder, separated milk powder and dehydrated potatoes and vegetables were the varieties of processed foods imported on Government account during 1945-46 and 1946-47 of the total value of 606.94 lacs of rupees. Details are given in a statement placed on the table.

(d) Government are aware that some processed foodstuffs are manufactured in India.

(e) A statement is placed on the table showing the information as far as is available.

(f) They are being so utilized by the public; Government do not propose to distribute them themselves.

(g) Export policy of the Government in respect of processed foodstuffs is as under:

(i) Milk and milk products; products of grain, pulse and flour; biscuits; chutney and pickles; sauces; curry powder; condiments; chocolate and confectionery; honey; yeast; golden syrup; canned vegetables; fish and meat; meat extract; ground, prepared and manufactured coconuts.—Export is prohibited.

(ii) Fruits canned and bottled.—Export is allowed up to 10 per cent. of production.

(iii) Fish dried and prawns.—Export is allowed to Burma and Ceylon only upto a total of 26,389 tons; 5,413 tons to Burma and 20,976 tons to Ceylon.

(iv) Vegetable Oil Product.—Fixed quotas, which are very small, are allowed to be exported to Persian Gulf Shiekhdoms and Portuguese possessions in India only.

(v) Flavouring Essences, bacon, ham lard.—Export is allowed freely.

(vi) Essence of chicken.—Export allowed depending on merits of each case.

STATEMENT 'I'

Processed foods imported on Government account to supplement the food supply position

Serial No.	Year of Imports	Name of Foodstuff	Quantity Imported	Value in lakh of rupees	Details of Distribution or names of recipients
			Tons
	1944-45	Condensed Milk	1500	16.73	Distributed through trade channels in the Regions falling under R.F. Cs., Bombay, Calcutta, Madras & Deputy R.F.C., Karachi
		Spray processed separated milk powder	1376	10.51	Bombay Government
		Roller processed separated milk powder	1507	20.10	Bombay Government & private firms.
	1945-46	Condensed milk.	3480	42.93	Distributed through trade channels in the regions falling under R. F. Cs; Bombay, Calcutta, Madras & Dy. R.F. C., Karachi.
		Dehydrated potatoes	7000	216.36	Bombay Government, 1000 tons Madras Government 2322 tons, Bengal Government 3800 tons (Approx.)
		Dehydrated vegetables	100	1.62	Bombay Government.
		Bread Biscuits	400	4.01	Bombay Government 200 tons. Madras Government 150 tons. Cochin State 50 tons.
		Spray processed separated milk powder	1705	13.76	Bombay Government 1415 Tons. Bengal Government 200 tons. Andaman Islands 90 tons.
		Whole milk powder	150	3.67	Indian Red Cross Society.
	1946-47	Spray processed separated milk powder	8150	112.61	Bombay Government 125 Tons. Madras Government 6925 tons.
		Whole Milk Powder	4894	164.64	Bombay Government 2334 tons. Madras Government 1259 tons. Bengal Government 1151 tons. Indian Red Cross Society 150 tons.

606.94

Name of Food Industry including beverages	Output during 1945-46 & 1946-47 (Tons)	Capacity per annum (Tons)	Remarks.
1. Sugar Confectionery	9000 (1946-47)	12,200	Actual production was less due to restriction on the supply of raw materials.
2. Liquid Glucose	320 (1945-46)	2,590	do.
3. Chocolate & Cocoa Powder	86 (1945-46)	150	do.
4. Starch	15,647 (1945-46)	57,300	During 1946-47, maize was not allotted and the production of starch was restricted.
5. Gelatine	12 (1945-46)	30	..
6. Malt	Not available.	3,100	..
7. Yeast Extract	15 (1945-46)	48	..
8. Biscuits	Not available.	40 to 50 per day.	Actual production not known; but it was less than the capacity owing to restriction on supply of raw materials which were in acute shortage.
9. Breakfast foods	do.	10 per day	do.
10. Fish, dried and salted	2,50,000 tons	..	..
11. Fruit products	5,700 tons	..	..
12. Milk Powder	..	100	Actual production not known.

CONSTRUCTION OF FERTILISER FACTORIES

†461. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) how many fertiliser factories have so far been licensed and constructed and in which provinces;

(b) how far the Sindri factory has progressed; and

(c) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of starting two co-operative factories in the Andhra area, one for Rayalaseema (Ceded Districts) and the other for the Circars?

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner having exhausted his quota.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) As far as Government are aware, there is only one fertilizer factory, namely, Mysore Chemical and Fertilizers Ltd., Mysore. There are seven coal and steel concerns in Bihar which produce fertilizer as a by-product. A fertilizer plant in Travancore is also complete. The erection of a Government fertilizer factory at Sindri in Bihar has been started. No licence is required for starting factories to manufacture fertilizers.

(b) Agreements have been concluded with an American and a British firm for the designing of the factory and for procuring and erection of the plant respectively. Engineers of the two firms have arrived and technicians for the erection of the factory are beginning to arrive. Orders for the most important items of plant have been placed in India and abroad. Land has been acquired and a large amount of preliminary work like temporary housing, temporary water and power supply, levelling of the site, building of roads and installation of certain complicated reinforced concrete foundations, has been done. Most of the structural steel work necessary for the building has been ordered and fabrication is well advanced. Some steel work and a considerable tonnage of plant have arrived at site or are in transit. A temporary railway siding has been constructed for the receipt of plant. The permanent broad-gauge connection linking the factory with the E. I. R. system is nearing completion. A permanent township is being built for housing the staff and workmen, and necessary services such as water supply, electricity, etc. are being provided.

(c) At the time when it was decided to establish a factory at Sindri, it was agreed that the possibility of establishing a factory in South India should be examined. The matter has not yet been taken up for active consideration, but when it is, the suggestions put forward by the Honourable Member will be borne in mind.

CONSTRUCTION OF FOOD-GRAIN STORE-HOUSES

†462. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether grants are being made to Provincial Governments for construction of food grain store-houses, ware-houses and elevators and if so, what are the amounts of grants and the names of Provinces to whom they are given and the number of such constructions which have so far been completed;

(b) whether the Railways are being encouraged to construct grain elevators and if so, where; and

(c) whether any steps are being taken to spread the knowledge of better storage of grain among the rural people and also urban markets?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Grants are made to Provincial Governments at 50 per cent of the cost of construction of godowns for the storage of the exportable surplus. Particulars of such grants made upto date are as under:—

Province	Grain Storage Godowns constructed.			Grain Storage Godowns under construction capacity (in tons)	Total capacity (in tons)
	No. of constructions	Capacity (in tons)	Estimated cost (Rs.)
1	2	3	4	5	6
Orissa	40	18,500	6,36,000	12,500	31,000
C. P.	65	25,250	13,65,000	600	25,850
East Punjab	6	3,600	90,000	—	3,600
Total	111	47,350	20,91,000	13,100	60,450

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner having exhausted his quota.

The question of installation of elevator stores is under examination and no grants have so far been made for the purpose.

(b) The Railway Board were also approached with a view to investigating the advisability of constructing grain elevators in the Punjab and Sind but consequent upon the partition the matter has been dropped for the time being.

(c) The following steps are taken to spread the knowledge of better storage for rural and urban areas:

- (i) Broadcast talks in English, Hindustani and other Indian Languages.
- (ii) Advice to observe conditions of godown hygiene and maintenance of stocks.
- (iii) Practical demonstration of the methods of insect and rat control.
- (iv) Issue of posters depicting methods of proper storage.
- (v) Holding Central and Regional training classes.
- (vi) At the instance of the Ministry of Food, Legislation has been passed or is under contemplation in some Provinces and States to grant licenses only to those grain dealers who possess approved warehouses and take proper care of stocks.

CONTROLLED FOOD-GRAIN PRICES

†463. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) the level of controlled food grain prices prevailing in different provinces in the years 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946 and 1947;

(b) the prices that Government have been obliged to pay per maund of wheat and rice to Pakistan Government since the 15th of August 1947; and

(c) the quantities of food grains that were promised to be supplied by Pakistan Government every month and to what extent they have been supplied?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) A statement is placed on the table.

(b) Pakistan Government has charged the same prices for despatches after 15th of August as were approved of by the Government of India for despatches before 15th of August. These were for wheat Rs. 11.4-0 per maund f.o.b. Karachi and for rice (Sind Kangni) medium Rs. 11.4-6 f.o.b. Karachi.

(c) A statement showing despatches from Pakistan areas since 15th August is placed on the table. For outstanding balances which have not been supplied attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the statement placed on the table of the House in answer to part (a) of starred question 198 by Seth Govind Das on the 20th November, 1947.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner having exhausted his quota.

STATEMENT I
Showing wholesale statutory and market prices of Rice in India since 1942

Province	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price
Assam	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
	..	..	23 8 0 (a) 21 0 0 (b) (Since 15-10-43) 22 0 0 (a)	20 5 6 (Since 15-10-43) 19 8 0 (b) (Since 15-11-43) 20 0 0 (a) 17 8 0 (b) (Since 15-12-43)	20 0 0 (a) 17 8 0 (b) (Since 1-1-44) 18 0 0 (a) 15 8 0 (b) (Since 15-1-44) 16 0 0 (a) 13 8 0 (b) (Since 15-2-44) 15 8 0 (a) 13 0 0 (b) (Since 15-3-44) 15 0 0 (a) 12 8 0 (b) (Since 15-4-44) 14 12 0 (a) 12 4 0 (b) (Since 1-9-44) 14 8 0 (a) 11 8 0 (b) (Since 1-10-44)	15 1 6 (Since 1-1-45) 13 0 0 (a) 14 0 0 (b) (Since 1-7-45)	13 8 0 (a) 14 8 0 (b) (Since 1-1-45) 13 0 0 (a) 14 0 0 (b) (Since 1-7-45)	12 12 2 (Since 1-7-45)	11 10 0 (a) 12 6 0 (b) (Since 1-7-45)	11 11 2 (Since 1-7-45)	11 10 0 (a) 12 6 0 (b) (Since 1-7-45)	11 9 7 (Since 1-7-45)
Bengal	..	9 8 0	20 0 0 to 30 0 0 Up to 30-11-43 16 0 0 to 17 0 0 (Since 1-12-43)	20 14 8 (Since 1-12-43)	16 0 0 (Up to 14-1-44) 14 0 4 to 15 0 0 (Since 15-1-44) 13 12 0 (T) to 15 0 0 to 14 4 0 (Since 15-3-44) to 14-1-44	13 3 10 (Since 1-1-45)	13 8 0 (a) 14 12 0 (b) to 14 0 0 to 14 1 45 to 10 3 45	12 0 5 (Since 1-1-45)	12 14 0 (T) to 19 8 0 (A) to 12 12 0	13 3 7 (Since 1-1-45)	12 12 0 (T) to 13 8 0 (A) to 12 12 0	17 3 1 (Since 1-1-45)

(a) Other than Aus and Boro.

(b) Aus and Boro.

(T) = Traders.

(A) = Agriculturist.

Note. 1.—Market prices shown above are the arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many Producing centres as available in the Provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.

2.—Statutory or ceiling prices, where the range is not shown relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the province to cover transport handling, etc.

Province.	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price
Bihar	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Bombay	..	6 9 8	17 0 0 (from 20-9-43)	13 8 2	11 0 0 (Basic) to 14 12 0 (1-4-44 to 30-11-44)	9 15 4	9 0 0 (Basic) (15-1-45) to 13 8 0 (T) to 12 12 0 (A) (Since 11-3-45)	9 0 0 (Basic) to 14 11 10	9 0 0 (Basic) to 16 0 0	15 5 1	9 0 0 (Basic) to 16 0 0	15 5 1
C. P. & Berar	..	9 8 2	..	15 14 0	8 8 0 to 10-8-0 (Ceiling price) (from 8th April to 27th May)	8 11 10	5 3 6 to 16 0 0 (Since 24-3-45)	12 7 6 to 16 0 0	5 3 6 to 16 0 0	11 12 8	5 3 6 to 16 0 0	11 12 8
Delhi	..	6 5 1	..	8 13 10	8 8 0 to 10-8-0 (Ceiling price) (from 8th April to 27th May)	7 14 7	8 4 0 to 8 13 0 (If sort.) f.o.r.	8 12 1 to 10-8-0 (Ceiling price)	8 9 0 to 10-8-0 for (46-47)	8 14 8	8 9 0 to 10-8-0 for (46-47)	8 14 8
Madras	..	12 13 4	..	18 4 4	14 6 0	14 12 6	13 10 7	13 10 7	14 13 0	14 13 0	14 13 0	14 13 0
N. W. F. P.	..	6 11 0	..	7 15 0	8 4 0 to 8 13 0 (If sort.) f.o.r.	7 14 7	8 4 0 to 8 13 0 (If sort.) f.o.r.	8 2 6 to 8 13 0 (If sort.) f.o.r.	8 4 0 to 8 13 0 (If sort.) f.o.r.	8 12 1	8 4 0 to 8 13 0 (If sort.) f.o.r.	8 12 1
	..	..	..	..	13 8 0 to 14 2 0 (Since 5-4-44) 13 8 0 (Basic)	13 8 0	13 8 0 to 14 2 0 (Since 1-1-45) 12 4 0 to 12 12 0 (Since 29-10-45) (Basic)	13 8 0 to 14 2 0 (Since 1-1-45) 12 4 0 to 12 12 0 (Basic)	12 4 0 to 12 12 0 21st January 21 8 0 (Basic)	12 4 0	12 4 0 to 12 12 0 21st January 21 8 0 (Basic)	12 4 0

Orissa	..	5 4 10	9 0 0 (14th Nov.)	11 1 4	9 0 0 (since 1-12-44)	7 12 0	7 12 0	7 12 0	7 12 0	7 12 0	7 12 0	7 12 0
Punjab	..	11 0 0	..	15 15 0	13 8 0 (Basic)	12 4 0	11 8 7	12 4 0 (Basic)	12 4 0	12 4 0	12 4 0	12 4 0
Sind	..	..	8 8 0 (5th Jan. 43.)	8 0 0	8 8 0	8 2 0 (Upto 24-10-45) (25th Oct)	8 4 7	8 2 0 (Upto 27th Nov.) 8 6 0 (28th Nov.)	8 2 0	8 6 0	8 6 0	8 6 0
U. P.	..	9 7 0	..	14 3 10	13 8 0	15 4 6	14 3 11	13 4 0	14 10 9	13 4 0	14 10 9	17 10 1

(+) Price payable to Producers.
 Note I.—Market prices shown above are the arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many Producing centres as available in the Provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.
 (†) According to district.
 (T) Traders.
 (A) Agriculturist.
 (*) Purchase price.
 (‡) Paddy prices according to districts and quality.
 (1) Statutory or ceiling prices, where the range is not shown relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the province to cover transport handling etc.

STATEMENT II.

Showing wholesale statutory and market prices of jowar in India since 1942.

(In rupees per maund.)

Province.	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.
Punjab	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 4 11 0	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 6 8 3	Rs. A. P. 7 0 0 (21st Jan.) (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 7 0 0	Rs. A. P. 7 0 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 6 7 2	Rs. A. P. 6 12 0* to 7 8 0 (18th Dec.)	Rs. A. P. 6 12 4	Rs. A. P. 6 12 0* to 7 8 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 8 9 2
U. P.	..	5 0 6	..	7 10 5	7 0 0 (Basic.)	4 12 5	7 0 0 (Basic.)	5 0 6	6 12 0 (Basic.) (22nd Feb.) to 7 2 0 (Basic.)	6 1 10	6 12 0 (Basic.) to 7 2 0 (21st Jan.)	7 12 2 13 0 0
S. W. P.	..	..	..	..	7 0 0* (19th April) (Basic.)	6 9 9	6 12 0* (29th Oct.) (Basic.)	6 10 3	5 1 6* to 8 12 0 (Purchase Price.)	6 4 3	5 1 6* to 8 12 0 (Purchase Price.)	6 9 9
Bombay	..	4 15 1	..	7 13 4	6 0 0* to 8 12 0 (4th Nov. Purchase Price.)	6 5 4	6 0 0* to 8 12 0 (Purchase Price.)	6 4 9	6 12 0 (Purchase Price.) (6th Jan.)	6 7 3	6 12 0 (Purchase Price.) (6th Jan.)	6 10 10
C. P. & Berar	..	4 9 8	..	8 10 2	6 4 0* to 7 0 0 (23rd Nov. Purchase Price.)	6 6 11	6 12 0 (29th Oct.)	5 15 8	4 0 0* to 6 8 0 (Purchase Price.)	7 7 11	4 0 0* to 6 8 0 (Purchase Price.)	8 7 11
Madras	..	4 13 7	..	7 6 11	7 0 0 (21st Jan.) to 5 9 0* (Purchase Price for 1944-45.)	7 5 6	6 12 0 (29th Oct.) to 5 9 0* (Purchase Price.)	7 5 8	..	..	..	..

(*) According to District.

NOTE I.—Market prices shown above are the Arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many producing centres as available in the Provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.

NOTE II.—Statutory or ceiling prices where the range is not shown, relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the Province to cover transport, handling, etc.

STATEMENT III.

Showing wholesale statutory and market prices of bajra in India since 1942.

(In rupees per maund)

Province.	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.
ab	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 5 1 8	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 7 2 4	Rs. A. P. 7 8 0 (21st Jan.) (Basic.)	7 1 11	7 8 0 (Basic.)	6 13 1	7 4 0* to 8 2 0 (18th Dec.) (Basic.)	7 7 2	7 4 0* to 8 2 0 (Basic.)	7 4 0
..	..	5 15 8	..	7 6 8	7 8 0 (Basic.)	6 4 9	7 8 0 (Basic.)	8 9 9	7 4 0 (Basic.)	7 13 2	7 4 0 (Basic.)	8 10 3
..	..	..	..	..	7 8 0* to 8 6 0 (19th April) (Basic.)	7 8 10	7 4 0* to 8 2 0 (Basic.)	7 7 4	7 4 0* to 8 2 0 (Basic.)	7 4 0	7 4 0* to 8 2 0 (Basic.)	14 13 9
..	..	5 2 4	7 0 0* to 10 0 0 (From 25th October.)	7 14 2	7 0 0* to 9 0 0 (4th Nov. Purchase Price.)	7 7 6	7 0 0* to 9 0 0 (Purchase Price.)	7 4 0	6 4 0* to 9 0 0 (Purchase Price.)	7 2 2	6 4 0* to 9 0 0 (Purchase Price.)	7 2 3
..	..	4 3 2	..	4 14 3	7 8 0 (21st Jan.) to 6 10 0 (Purchase Price for 1944-45.)	7 1 1	7 4 0 (29th Oct.) to 6 10 0* (Purchase Price.)	6 11 3	5 13 0 to 7 0 0* (Purchase Price.)	..	5 13 0 to 7 0 0* (Purchase Price.)	7 6 9

According to district.

NOTE I.—Market prices shown above are the Arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many producing centres as available in the Provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.

NOTE II.—Statutory or ceiling prices, where the range is not shown, relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the Province to cover transport, handling, etc.

STATEMENT IV.

Showing wholesale statutory and market prices of Wheat in India since 1942.

(In rupees per maund.)

Province.	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.
Punjab	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 4 15 0	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 9 14 10	Rs. A. P. 9 8 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 9 0 4	Rs. A. P. 9 8 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 9 1 3	Rs. A. P. 9 8 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 9 10 6	Rs. A. P. 9 8 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 9 7 10
Andhra Pradesh	..	..	7 0 0	..	9 8 0	7 13 6	8 10 0	8 9 1	8 10 0	8 10 0	8 10 0	8 10 0
Madhya Pradesh	..	5 11 9	..	11 1 10	10 4 0 (Basic.)	10 5 2	10 4 0 (Basic.)	10 3 6	10 4 0 (Basic.)	11 15 7	10 4 0 (Basic.)	14 3 0
Gujarat	..	6 11 0	17 0 0 (from 20-9-43) 16 0 0 (from 1-11-43)	13 5 3	15 0 0 (from 1-1-44) 14 0 0 (from 6-5-44) 13 0 0 (from 15-7-44) 11 0 0 (from 15-12-44)	12 8 9	11 0 0	11 6 7	11 0 0	13 15 1	11 0 0	13 9 0
P. and Berar	..	..	..	12 9 11	11 0 0 (ceiling price)	12 1 2	10 8 0 (ceiling price)	10 2 9	10 8 0 (ceiling price)	10 5 7	9 8 0 to 11 8 0* (ceiling price)	11 8 9

(*) According to district.

NOTE I.—Market prices shown above are the arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many producing centres as available in the Provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.

II.—Statutory or ceiling prices, where the range is not shown, relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the Province to cover transport, handling, etc.

[1st Dec. 1947]

STATEMENT V.

Showing wholesale statutory and market prices of Barley in India since 1942.

(In rupees per maund)

Province.	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.
N. W. F. P.	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 6 5 10	Rs. A. P. 6 10 0* to 6 14 0 (5th April) 6 10 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 6 5 8	Rs. A. P. 6 10 0* to 6 14 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 5 15 2	Rs. A. P. 6 10 0* to 6 14 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 6 6 7	Rs. A. P. 6 10 0* to 6 14 0 (Basic.)	Rs. A. P. 6 15 3
Punjab	..	4 4 0	..	6 15 3	6 10 0* to 7 10 0 (Basic.)	4 11 0	6 10 0* to 7 10 0	5 6 7	6 10 0* to 7 10 0	6 9 4	6 10 0* to 7 10 0	6 10 0
U. P.	..	5 12 1	..	7 15 1	7 2 10 (Basic.)	6 0 3	7 2 10 (up to 31-3-45) 7 3 0 (Basic.) (Up to 17th May).	6 10 9	7 3 0	7 12 8	7 3 0	8 10 0

(*) According to district.

NOTE I.—Market prices shown above are the arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many producing centres as available in the Provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.

II.—Statutory or ceiling prices, where the range is not shown, relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the Province to cover transport, handling, etc.

STATEMENT VIII

Showing despatches of different foodgrains from Pakistan Areas after 15th August, 1947 to date

Name of Receiving Area	(In tons.)						Total grains cols. 6 & 7
	Ex-Sind (upto 9th October 1947)	Ex-Bhawalpur (upto 4th September 1947)
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Bombay	486	..	..	614	1,100	..	1,100
Madras (Malabar)	65	..	..	310	375	..	375
U. P.	15	..	..	60	75	..	75
C. P.	..	1,094	..	..	1,094	79	1,173
Ajmer	..	245	..	..	245	..	245
Baroda	47	..	..	101	148	..	148
C. I. States	276	1,307	..	..	1,583	99	1,682
Cutch	132	..	..	..	132	..	132
Deccan States	..	..	..	249	249	..	249
Eastern States	..	200	..	..	200	..	200
Mysore	..	..	..	1,461	1,461	..	1,461
Travancore	..	..	..	78	78	..	78
Cochin	..	..	..	31	31	..	31
Rajputana States	..	540	..	..	540	..	540
Total India	1,021	3,386	..	2,904	7,311	178	7,489
Hyderabad	..	..	..	5,167	5,167	..	5,167
Goa	..	..	..	226	226	..	226
Ships' stores	45	..	9	..	54	..	54
Hedjaz	180	108	..	..	288	..	288

NOTE

1. There have been despatches of 1,000 tons Seed wheat from Khairpur to C. I. States through Delhi for which intimation was received from Director of Civil Supplies, Delhi though no intimation has been received from Khairpur Durbar.
2. Returns from the Punjab have not been received after 24th July, 1947.
3. Baluchistan has not sent any returns after 14th August 1947.

PRODUCTION OF COTTON IN INDIA.

†464. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether the position of India in regard to production of long and short staple cotton has been reviewed in the light of the creation of Pakistan?

(b) What steps do Government propose to take in order to increase the production of long staple cotton in India and to develop the cotton spinning industry in such a way as to make greater use of our short-staple cotton, since much of the area under cultivation of long staple cotton has gone into Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). Yes. The position was reviewed by the Indian Central Cotton Committee at the meeting held on the 21st November and the Committee's report is awaited. Suitable steps to increase the production of long staple and medium staple cotton in India will be taken on receipt of its recommendations.

The production of short staple cotton in India including the acceding States and Hyderabad exceeds the requirements of the mills in India but such excess is required for export. It is considered advisable to reorientate the cotton spinning industry to make better use of short staple cotton. Instead it is proposed to increase the area under long-staple cotton to reduce India's dependence on imports of long staple cotton as far as practicable.

MAINTENANCE OF PEDIGREE QUALITY OF COTTON.

†465. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the fact that there are herd-books in Holland and Denmark and other Scandinavian countries for the maintenance of pedigree quality of cattle; and

(b) whether Government propose to make a similar effort in India in order to raise the quality of our cattle?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) The Government of India have already taken action for the initiation, maintenance and operation of Herd Books. There is a small Central Herd Books Organisation at the headquarters of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research which works in co-operation with the provinces and States for the registration of improved breeds of cattle in India. Herd Books now exist for six (Sahiwal, Sindhi, Haryana, Gir, Tharparkar, Kankrej) of the important Indian breed of cattle and one breed of buffalo (i.e. Murrah breed).

HARDSHIP OF THIRD CLASS RAILWAY PASSENGERS.

†466. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government propose to remove the present hardships of 3rd class railway passengers?

(b) When will 3rd class railway carriages be provided with bath-rooms?

(c) When will the corks that have been put in the First Class carriage bath-rooms be removed?

(d) Are Government waiting to remove the corks until similar facility is provided for the 3rd class passengers?

(e) Are Government aware that 50 per cent. of the carriages in which the First and Second Class passengers travel deserve to be condemned?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes. Government will use every means in their power to improve conditions of travel for III class passengers.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner having exhausted his quota.

‡ Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

STATEMENT VI.

Showing wholesale Statutory and Market Prices of Maize in India since 1942.

(In rupees per maund)

Province.	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.	Statutory Price.	Market Price.
Bihar	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 3 8 3	Rs. A. P. 9 0 0 (20th Sept.) 8 0 0 (1st Nov.)	Rs. A. P. 8 3 0	Rs. A. P. 7 0 0 (1st Jan.)	Rs. A. P. 5 9 6	Rs. A. P. 7 0 0	Rs. A. P. 5 13 7	Rs. A. P. 7 0 0	Rs. A. P. 7 13 4	Rs. A. P. 7 0 0	Rs. A. P. 13 2 11
U. P.	..	5 2 4	..	7 9 8	..	5 12 9	..	6 9 4	..	8 11 8	(Wet) 6 4 0 (Dry) 6 12 0 purchase price	10 3 3
Punjab	..	5 12 6	..	7 4 9	..	5 13 9	..	6 14 8	7 0 0* (18th Dec.)	7 12 8	7 0 0* to 8 2 0	8 15 6
N.W.F.P.	..	..	..	..	7 10 0* to 8 10 0 (19th April).	7 8 3	7 10 0* to 8 8 0	7 8 0	7 10 0 to 8 8 0	7 1 4	7 8 0* to 8 8 0 (21st Jan.)	9 14 3

(*) According to District.

NOTE I.—Market prices shown above are the arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many producing centres as available in the provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.

NOTE II.—Statutory or ceiling prices, where the range is not shown, relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the province to cover transport, handling, etc.

[1st Dec. 1947]

STATEMENT VII

Showing wholesale statutory and Market prices of Gram in India since 1942.

(In Rupees per maund.)

Province	1942		1943		1944		1945		1946		1947
	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price	Statutory Price	Market Price
Punjab	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 6 4 0	Rs. A. P. ..	Rs. A. P. 8 1 3	Rs. A. P. 7 10 0* to 8 10 0 (3rd Apr.)	Rs. A. P. 6 8 6	Rs. A. P. 7 10 0* to 8 10 0	Rs. A. P. 7 7 6	Rs. A. P. 7 10 0* to 9 0 0 (29th July).	Rs. A. P. 7 15 3	Rs. A. P. 7 10 0* to 9 0 0	Rs. A. P. 7 9 3
U.P.	..	5 4 5	..	8 9 1	8 3 2 (Basic) (3rd April).	6 4 6	8 3 2 (Basic) (Up to 31st March) 8 3 0 (17th May) (Basic).	7 2 1	8 3 0	9 6 1	8 3 0	11 3 2
Bihar	..	5 1 10	12 8 0 (20th Sept.) 11 8 0 (1st Nov.)	9 14 10	11 0 0 (1st Jan.) 10 0 0 (6th May) 9 0 0 (3rd August.)	7 4 11	9 0 0	8 0 5	9 0 0	12 15 0	9 0 0	17 8 11
C. P. and Berar	..	8 1 7	..	9 7 10	..	8 15 0	..	8 3 0	..	9 3 5	8 8 0 (Deshi) 11 0 0 (Gulabi) (ceiling price)	8 13 1

(*) According to District.

NOTE.—1. Market prices shown above are the arithmetical averages of the month-end prices of as many producing centres as available in the provincial Governments' reports covering the entire period.

NOTE 2. Statutory or ceiling prices, where the range is not shown, relate to the basic maximum fixed for the main producing areas; normal differentials being allowed for other areas within the province to cover transport, handling etc.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(b) The provision of bathing facilities in III class coaches is not at present contemplated.

(c) and (d). The Honourable Member presumably refers to the plugging of water pipes in the bath rooms of some 1st class carriages. This has been necessitated by the difficulty of replacing stolen and damaged fittings owing to the limited supplies available. Deficiencies will be made good as rapidly as supplies become available.

(e) Government are aware of the unsatisfactory condition of much of the coaching stock in service. Every attempt is being made to repair existing stock as far as resources permit.

REPAIR OF BADNERA STATION APPROACH ROAD.

†467. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the month and the year in which the approach road to the Badnera railway station was last repaired?

(b) Are Government aware that for over two years it needs extensive repairs?

(c) Do Government propose to have it repaired?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a), (b) and (c). The information is not readily available and is being collected and will be laid on the table in due course. However, instructions are being issued to carry out such repairs as may be necessary.

WIDENING OF OVERBRIDGE AT BADNERA.

†468. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the overhead bridge at the Badnera station is too narrow for the present traffic?

(b) Are Government aware that this causes immense inconvenience and is dangerous to the present increased traffic?

(c) Do Government propose to provide for its widening at an early date?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a), (b) and (c). Enquiries are being made and a reply will be laid on the table in due course.

CONSUMPTION OF PETROL.

469. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Transport please state the quantity of petrol available upto the end of October, 1947, in all ports and various stations of the Dominion of India?

(b) What is the normal total consumption of petrol in all parts of the Dominion of India?

(c) Do Government propose to remove the control on petrol?

(d) What is the yearly expenditure on maintenance of Control Department for petrol?

(e) What is the normal quantity of petrol received from various countries at all ports of the Dominion of India?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) 30.8 million gallons of motor spirit were held in stock in the Dominion of India by the established oil companies on the 24th September 1947. The figures subsequent to that date are not available.

(b) Since August 1941, civil consumption of petrol in the country has been on a rationed basis which is now of the level of 30 million gallons per quarter for the Dominion of India. The pre-rationing consumption would be in the neighbourhood of 22 million gallons per quarter for the Dominion of India.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(c) No, not for the present, but the position is constantly under review with a view to remove the control as soon as conditions permit.

(d) Rs. 9 lakhs approximately.

(e) The imports of petrol vary considerably from year to year. During the year 1946, 79.8 million gallons were imported through the ports in the Dominion of India from the Persian Gulf.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: What are the conditions that prevail, Sir, at present which do not enable Government to remove control?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The question of removing control depends primarily on two factors: First of all the question of the supply in the country, and secondly the question of distribution facilities and transport capacity.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact that in the year 1946 the then Government decided to remove control in the end of 1946?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Not to my knowledge.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact that at present some of the tankers which brought petrol were not in a position to discharge it because the tanks were overfull in the ports of Calcutta and Madras and therefore they were turned to another port? Is it not a fact that supply is abundant considering the requirements?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Taking the country as a whole, the supply is not sufficient.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Arising out of the answer to part (c), may I ask the Honourable Minister if further restrictions have been imposed in regard to petrol distribution during the last fortnight?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The position as far as that is concerned is, as the Honourable Member knows, there was restriction imposed on the 1st of November due to emergency conditions, particularly in relation to the Kashmir situation, and that restriction was imposed really for the purpose of bringing the stocks in Delhi and in the East Punjab areas up to the level necessary for meeting these emergency requirements. I am keeping the position very carefully under review, and although I am not in a position to state when this restriction will be removed, I think that at a very early date it would be possible for me to relax if not to remove it.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Member be able to assure the House that he will instruct the Provinces not to curtail unduly the quota allotted to civilians who do not come under the category "essential"?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: That is a matter entirely for the Provincial Governments.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: In view of the general inefficiency and inadequacy of the railway services now, will the Government be pleased to give a more liberal quota of petrol to transport vehicles?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: To both parts of that question, my answer is in the negative.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Sir, petrol is a necessity to the general public who travel by buses and also for the purpose of carrying goods by road. In view of this fact, will the Government reconsider this matter and remove the control as early as possible?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is because petrol is an essential commodity that it has been brought under control.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: That is not the answer to my question, Sir.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Is the Government aware, Sir, that there is a large quantity of petrol lying with the Assam Oil Company at Digboi, which they are finding difficult to clear out on account of control, and that the Company has actually represented that they should be allowed to clear out this stock?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I have had representations from the Assam Oil Co. on questions of that kind but they have not raised the particular point.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: May I know, Sir, if the primary difficulty in regard to petrol is not so much the insufficiency of it as the immovability of it on account of the lack of tankers?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Well, that was the case a few months ago; but the supply position has become more difficult now.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May we know what is the position of the Digboi oilfields and when we can hope to get petrol from those fields?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I am not in a position to answer that question.

Shri C. Subrahmanyam: Are there any restrictions on the import of petrol?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The import of petrol is restricted by the world position.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Do we now get petrol from Burma?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Not so far as I now.

TRANSPORT OF REFUGEES.

470. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the expenditure incurred by Government on account of transport of refugees from one place to another?

(b) What is the loss of railway earnings due to trains being engaged in evacuating refugees?

(c) What steps have Government taken or propose to take to check the ticketless passengers travelling as refugees on various Railways in India?

(d) What is the estimate of loss to Government due to ticketless travelling?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) It is presumed the Honourable Member refers to the expenditure incurred in the transport of refugees by rail. It is regretted this information is not available since the expenditure incurred in running refugee trains is included in the general working expenses of the railway and no separate accounts are maintained for running of refugee trains only.

(b) It is difficult to estimate the loss incurred in the ordinary transport of passengers and freight by railways on account of running of refugee trains since the conditions due to communal disturbances and breaches on account of floods would not have permitted carrying of normal traffic.

(c) No refugees are allowed to travel by ordinary trains except on purchase of tickets. Railways have been instructed to tighten their check on ticketless travel and steps have already been taken to intensify the campaign against ticketless travelling by the appointment of more Ticket Checking Staff and controlling entry of unauthorised persons on platforms.

(d) It is not possible to calculate this loss with any degree of accuracy, but as I mentioned in my Budget speech, I estimate it at 8 crores per annum.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact, Sir, that most of these T. T. Es. and T. T. Is. are themselves a party to this ticketless travelling by encouraging passengers not to buy tickets and pocketing some money themselves?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is quite conceivable.

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid all these questions have been sufficiently disposed of during the recent cut motion on this question. It is no use repeating the arguments now.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Sir, my point is what steps are being taken to remove this ticketless travelling? It is an important matter.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: As this is an important point, I referred, to it at some length in my Budget Speech and I mentioned to the House the lines on which we would take action.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Are Government aware that there are hundreds of refugees on the platform of the Old Delhi Railway Station, to their inconvenience and also perhaps to the inconvenience of other passengers; and whether Government propose to make suitable arrangements for their shelter, food and clothing outside the Railway Station?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The question does not arise.

LOSS OF GOODS IN TRANSIT DURING DISTURBANCES.

471. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the number of packages and articles and the value of the same, booked as goods by goods trains, as also of articles booked by passenger trains, which have been destroyed, looted or burnt during the recent disturbances?

(b) Do Government propose to admit, for payment, the claims of the owners of these articles and packages? If so, to what extent?

(c) What amounts have so far been paid in meeting such claims?

(d) How many packages are still lying undelivered at various stations and what is their approximate value?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The information asked for will not be available in the ordinary course for some time.

(b) The responsibility of a railway for the loss, destruction or deterioration of animals or goods accepted for carriage by rail is that of a bailee under Sections 152 and 161 of the Indian Contracts Act, 1872. Claims for loss, destruction etc., which occurs in spite of the required amount of care being taken by railways, are not entertained. All claims arising from the present disturbances will be dealt with on their merits.

(c) and (d). No information is at present available.

SAFETY OF RAILWAY TRAVEL.

472. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state what arrangement Government have made for the safety of passengers travelling by various trains?

(b) Are Government aware that the present police and other force, travelling in trains is not sufficient to assure safety of passengers' lives?

(c) What steps do Government propose to take to ensure safety in travelling by railway?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) As my Honourable friend is aware, in the areas in which disturbances have recently occurred, military escorts have been provided. Other measures taken to ensure the security of passengers travelling by trains include the provision in Bengal, Bihar and U. P. of additional armed railway protection police recruited and trained by the Provincial Governments, but paid for by the railways.

Railways are providing improved fastening for securing doors and windows in compartments. These devices are of a type which cannot be manipulated

(b) WRITTEN ANSWERS

WINDING UP OF DISPOSALS DIRECTORATE.

474. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply please state:

(a) the total value of goods disposed of by the Disposals Directorate up to November, 15, 1947;

(b) the estimated value of goods still remaining with the Disposals Directorate on November 15; and

(c) whether any target date has been fixed for the winding up of the Disposals Directorate?

The Honourable Dr. Shama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Figures showing the total value of sales up to the 15th November are not yet available. Up to the end of October the total sales by Disposals amounted to Rs. 100.24 crores, against a book value of Rs. 297.86 crores. In addition, salvage worth Rs. 24.87 crores has been disposed of.

(b) The book value of stores, excluding salvage, awaiting disposal on the 1st November was Rs. 165.08 crores.

(c) No, Sir.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: In view of the statement made the other day by the Honourable the Premier that we require a number of aeroplanes, is it a fact that many of these materials which have been marked off for disposal contain very decent and good material which can be used by the Central Government and various Provincial Governments? If so, will the Central Government and Provincial Governments look into this matter and re-mark those which are useful as against those which are useless and which can be scrapped and sold?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Sir, the system which is followed in regard to disposals is that there are priority indentors, and the first is the Government of India, the second the Provincial Governments and third the States. Then comes the public. Obviously, if there are materials which are useful to Government, they will certainly use them.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if the recommendations of the Committee which was recently appointed in regard to disposals have been accepted and implemented?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: They are being followed now.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is it a fact that a number of aeroplanes which were to be sold away in Calcutta were found to be in good condition—about 100 or 150 of them—and they were used in the Kashmir expedition?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: What happened is this. There were certain planes which were declared unflyable. Later on, after we had a separate inspection made, we were satisfied that a number of them were flyable and they are now going to be used.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What action was taken, Sir, against those officers who were responsible for this wrong classification?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Several of them have left the Dominion of India. The case of others is being considered.

Seth Govinddas: Will Government take action against such officials as have not yet left for Pakistan and see that such things are not done in future?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: If this is at all possible, we shall certainly pursue the matter.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know if there are no officials who were responsible for this sort of classification still left in the service of Government?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: There are some and their cases are being considered.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Apart from taking action against the people concerned, will the Government in view of their disclosure, appoint a Committee or make thorough investigation into the matter in order to see whether all these articles which are remaining to be sold away, do not many of them contain useful material which can be utilised?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: In on cease a Committee had been appointed and so far as the use of aeroplanes is concerned, that report is before Government. I can give this assurance that the present Government has altered the policy of the previous Government. The policy of the previous Government was somehow quickly to dispose of the 'disposals', but now we would like to examine and we are examining how far the different stocks and goods which are available can be utilised for the best purposes of the country.

Seth Govinddas: Will the Government see that at least the personnel of that Committee which had examined these things before and declared them to be unfit, and which were subsequently found to be fit for use, is changed and new personnel is appointed to go into the matter?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: There was no Committee. There was one European officer.

Shri L. Krishnaswami Bharathi: May I know the total number of aeroplanes labelled as scrap but were found fit for flying and the approximate cost of such planes?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Only four were declared to be flyable from one stock and on further examination we found 894 were flyable from two stocks. Each aeroplane which was declared as unflyable was being sold for Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 10,000.

Seth Govinddas: May I know, Sir, what would be the personnel of the Committee or any other machinery which the Government is thinking of appointing?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We cannot have one Committee to consider all these matters. We are having technical experts for various purposes.

Shri B. Das: Is it not a fact that part of this disposal is property belonging to U. S. A. and unless they are disposed of soon, the U. S. A. will not bear the losses?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: So far as U. S. A. is concerned, we have been handed over the surplus stocks, the book value of which was Rs. 170 crores; but on 1st November 1947 the book value of such surplus was only Rs. 70 crores.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Has the Honourable Minister taken care to see that no European is put in charge of the Disposals Organisation?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We shall certainly take good care to see that no dishonest officer is put in charge.

Mr. B. K. Sidhwa: Will Government see that no interested persons are appointed in that Committee?

Mr. Speaker: I think that question does not need a reply.

Shri B. Das: Will the Government be pleased to state if the U. S. A. has been paid and if so, has it agreed to share the losses that were incurred in the sale of goods disposed of by the Disposals Directorate.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We have been paid 50 crores of Rupees and up till now we have not exceeded that limit.

from outside. Iron bars are being fitted to windows of lavatories of compartments of all classes. Instructions have been issued to all railways to adopt any additional measures possible to ensure safety of passengers and train crews on sections where they are required.

(b) The Government have no reason to believe that the present arrangements are inadequate for the protection of passengers. More stringent measures will however be taken if necessary. The arrangements are being reviewed from time to time.

(c) The Government have taken and will continue to take all steps they consider necessary to meet the present wave of lawlessness which they believe is a temporary phase.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact, Sir, that some of the important scheduled trains including mail trains still do not run from Delhi to Ahmedabad via Ajmer, and if so, when are these trains likely to be restored?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The matter is under consideration.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: How long will Government take to finish their consideration?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Well, the question was raised a little while ago I think in the Press, but the reason for suspending that particular service is one which is very closely connected with the general political situation in this part of the country.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Is the Honourable Member aware that it is not possible to travel from Delhi to places in Meerut District by train on account of curtailment of services and stoppages at certain small stations, and will he take care to see that the trains and stoppages are restored there as soon as possible?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The question is bound up with the amount of rolling stock we are in a position to provide, after meeting the urgent necessity of rolling stock for the refugee movement which is still going on.

Shri H. J. Khandekar: May I know from the Government whether there was a military guard on the train when shooting occurred on the passengers in Bhopal Station about two months ago?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: If the Honourable Member will be good enough to give me the facts of the case, I should be glad to look into it. I cannot answer it straightaway.

Shri H. J. Khandekar: I want to know whether there was a military guard on that train when the incident happened.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I should like to make an enquiry.

Shri Jainarain Vyas: Sir, is the Honourable Member aware that passengers were taken out of the railway train in Alwar and Bharatpur territory and killed?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I have heard of these regrettable happenings occurring in the States concerned. I am having enquiries made, but since these events have occurred in areas which are outside the Dominion, namely the States, it has not been possible for me to get all the information that I would like to have.

Shri Jainarain Vyas: Have the Government themselves lost some trucks etc. in Bharatpur when a goods train was going through Bharatpur?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: If the Honourable Member means that wagons have been looted, probably it is true.

SURVEY OF SIND-GUJRAT RAILWAY.

473. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether the then Government of India, before the 15th August, 1947, had asked for immediate survey of Sind-Gujrat Railway?

(b) If so, is it a fact that the survey was to be completed by July, 1947?

(c) Is it a fact that the then Government of India had given first priority to the construction of this Railway?

(d) What is the position of this project after the 15th August, 1947?

(e) Do Government propose to proceed with the scheme in consultation with the Government of Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) It is not a fact that the then Government of India had given first priority to the construction of this railway. Priority had been given to the Survey investigations only.

(d) Such of the staff engaged on the survey of this Project, who opted for India, were transferred to the B., B. & C. I. Railway after 15th August 1947 to complete the Survey Reports. In view of the political changes that have taken place, the financial prospects of the following three alternatives are now being worked out:—

(i) a through Broad Gauge link between Bombay and Sind;

(ii) a Broad Gauge railway line from Viramgam to Lakhpat via Kandla; and

(iii) a Broad Gauge railway line from Viramgam to Kandla Port only.

(e) The question will be considered after the Survey Reports are received.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: When is the survey likely to be completed?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: As the Honourable Member knows, there were two main routes that were being examined. The first is the northern route and the second one is the southern route. The survey report on the northern route is in our hands; the report on the southern route, I expect, will be here next month.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is the Honourable Member in a position to state what length of this line passes through Pakistan territory?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: As far as the northern route is concerned I cannot give the exact mileage, but the greater portion of it would be in Pakistan.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Has the Pakistan Government intimated to the Honourable Member or to this Government its desire to have this line?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The survey was started at a time when the partition had not taken place. It was carried out entirely by the old N. W. Railway. Now, in view of the constitutional changes which have taken place, the whole question requires re-examination. We have not communicated with the Pakistan Government so far.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, before the survey is taken, if the Pakistan Government will be asked to pay its proportionate share?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: That is on the assumption that the line would extend to Pakistan.

IMPORT OF MAIZE.

475. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Food please state:

(a) the quantity of maize imported from 1st April, 1946 to 31st March, 1947;

(b) the rates at which maize was bought and its total cost;

(c) the price of maize at that time in (i) India, and (ii) U.S.A.; and

(d) the total subsidy borne by the Government of India in respect of maize?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). A statement is laid on the table of the House.

(c) (i) The price of Maize in important surplus markets of India ranged between Rs. 6/8/- and Rs. 13/- per maund.

(ii) 1.36 dollars per 56 pounds, which in terms of Rupees works out to Rs. 6/10/- per maund f. o. b.

(d) 562.09 lakhs.

Statement showing Maize imported during 1946-47 from various sources.

Country of origin	Quantity in 000 tons	C. & F. Rate per maund	Total cost paid in lakhs of Rs.
		Rs. A. P.
U. S. A.	116	9 9 0	343
Burma	5	9 8 0	13
Argentina	259	13 2 0	917
	380		1,273

IMPORT OF WHEAT.

476. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Food please state:

(a) the quantity of wheat imported from 1st April, 1946 to 31st March, 1947;

(b) the rates at which wheat was bought and its total cost;

(c) the price of wheat at that time in (i) India and (ii) U.S.A.; and

(d) the total subsidy borne by the Government of India in respect of wheat?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). A statement is laid on the table of the House.

(c) (i) The price of wheat in important surplus markets of India generally ranged between Rs. 8/10/- and Rs. 11/8/- per maund.

(ii) 87.87 dollars per ton, which in terms of rupees amounts to Rs. 10/12/- per maund f. o. b.

(d) Rupees 264.91 lakhs.

Statement showing wheat imported during 1946-47 from various sources.

Country of Origin.	Quantity in 000 tons.	C. & F. Rate per maund.	Total cost paid in lakhs of Rupees.
		Rs. A. P.
Australia	375	9 4 0	935
U. S. A.	558	13 12 0	2,069
Canada	165	13 11 0	611
Turkey	38	18 7 0	189
	1,136		3,804

IMPORT OF RICE.

477. *Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister of Food please state:

(a) the quantity of rice imported from 1st April, 1946 to 31st March, 1947;

(b) the rates at which rice was bought and its total cost;

(c) the price of rice at that time in (i) India, and (ii) U.S.A.; and

(d) the total subsidy borne by the Government of India in respect of rice?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). A statement giving the information is laid on the table of the House.

(c) (i). Price of rice in the important surplus markets of India ranged between Rs. 8/2/- and Rs. 13/2/- per maund.

(ii). During the period, no rice was imported from U.S.A. and no information is available with the Government of India regarding the prices of rice then prevailing in that country.

(d). Rs. 477.32 lakhs.

Statement showing Rice imported during 1946-47 from various sources, C. F. rate and total cost paid.

Country of origin.	Quantity in 000 tons.	C. & F. Rate per maund.	Total cost paid in lakhs of Rupees.
		Rs. A. P.
Burma	299	14 10 0	1,186
Siam	26	9 7 0	67
Indo-China	11	16 11 0	50
Brazil	73	17 1 0	336
Indonesia	36	8 12 0	85
	445		1,724

TRANSPORT OF RAILWAY PERSONNEL TO EASTERN PAKISTAN.

478. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that during the last three months, a number of special trains were run by the Indian Dominion Railway authorities for transporting Railway personnel who opted for service in Pakistan?

(b) Are Government aware that some of these special trains which went from Calcutta and other stations on the Bengal-Assam Railway to Eastern Pakistan have not been allowed by the Pakistan Railway authorities to return to India?

(c) If so, how many such cases have come to the notice of the Government of India?

(d) What action, if any, has been taken by Government to recover these passenger rakes and wagons from the Eastern Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). No special trains as such have been held up by the Pakistan Railway Authorities in Eastern Pakistan. However, 36 coaching vehicles sent by the East Indian and Bengal Nagpur Railways with railway staff to Eastern Pakistan have not been returned by the East Bengal (Pakistan) Railway Authorities as yet.

(d) Constant watch is kept by the Indian Railways concerned on rolling stock sent to the Pakistan Railway and when delays necessitate, reference is made to the Ministry of Communications (Railway Department), Government of Pakistan, by the Railway Board.

SURREPTITIOUS REMOVAL OF RAILWAY PROPERTIES TO PAKISTAN.

479. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the numerous Press reports which have appeared, from time to time, alleging surreptitious removal of Indian Union Railway properties to Pakistan by the Pakistan officials?

(b) How many such cases have come to the notice of Government and what action has been taken by Government in the matter?

(c) Are Government aware that in several such cases the culprits caught red handed in the act of removing such properties were released on bail? If so, under whose authority?

(d) What measures, if any, have been taken by Government to prevent further theft and removal of the Railway property of the Indian Union by Pakistan Railway officials going to Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Government are aware of reports which have appeared in the press alleging surreptitious removal of railway properties belonging to this Government to Pakistan.

(b) 20 cases came to the notice of Government and 27 wagons containing kit of railway employees on transfer to Pakistan were searched.

(c) Government have received one report of an officer having been detained and later released on bail. The matter of bail is one for decision by Courts and falls outside the jurisdiction of Railway Administrations.

(d) Government consider the extent of any surreptitious removal of railway property is not sufficiently serious to warrant any special measures apart from the arrangements already existing for the prevention of theft of railway property.

SUPPLY OF COAL TO PAKISTAN.

480. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state how much coal has so far been sent to Pakistan?

(b) Are Government aware of the fact that India's industries are extremely short of coal?

(c) If so, what considerations necessitated the supply of coal to Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) About 316,695 tons of coal were supplied to Pakistan during the period 1st September 1947 to 17th November 1947.

(b) Yes, Sir. For some time now there has been a shortage of coal at consuming centres, mainly on account of transport difficulties.

(c) For the period of the standstill arrangement, India has agreed to allot coal to Pakistan as far as possible on the basis adopted during the pre-partition period.

DECONTROL OF FOODSTUFFS.

481. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the demand for decontrol of foodstuffs in the country?

(b) If so, what action do Government propose to take in the matter?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). The Government of India have completed their examination of the interim recommendations of the F.G.P.C. They have taken decisions which have been communicated to the Governments of Provinces and States. The implementations of these decisions is under consideration by these Governments. This will be completed shortly, and I shall then make a statement to the House.

IMPORT OF FOOD.

482. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state how much food has been imported from other countries during this year and how much has it cost Government?

(b) Is it a fact that Government purchased food in other countries at blackmarket prices?

(c) If so, what steps have been taken by Government to stop this waste of money?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Honourable Member is referred to answer to starred question No. 333 by Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra.

(b) Government have purchased foodgrains at the official prices prevailing in those countries where supplies are made on Government to Government basis. In respect of countries where official or controlled prices do not exist, purchases were made through the trade at the lowest rates obtainable from time to time.

(c) Does not arise.

INCREASING AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE.

483. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state what steps have been taken so far by Government to increase the agricultural produce in India to save the country from too much dependance on foreign help?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: In order to make India self-sufficient in food supplies the Government of India are giving Provincial Governments financial and technical aid and are helping them to secure necessary supplies.

of materials as far as possible. For details of financial help so far rendered to provinces and for details of plans for increasing food production the Hon'ble Member may kindly refer to my replies to Question Nos. 132 and 199 on the 26th November 1947.

CONTROL OF FOODSTUFFS.

484. *Shri Rameshwar Prasad Sinha: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state what action Government have taken on the majority report of the Food Grain Enquiry Committee?

(b) Has any decision been finally taken on the subject of continuing or lifting the controls on the supply and distribution of Food Commodities?

(c) Will the Central Food Reserve of the Government of India be able to send sufficient quantities of food grains to the deficit provinces or not?

(d) Have Government obtained any expert advice on the subject of continuance or otherwise of the controls on the supply and distribution of food stuffs? If so, what is Government's decision thereon?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a), (b), (c) and (d). Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given by me to starred question No. 481 by Seth Govind Das today.

DEVELOPMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

485. *Shri Rameshwar Prasad Sinha: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state what financial aid, if any, has been given to each of the provinces of the Indian Union for agricultural development in their respective areas?

(b) Is there any Central Post-War fund for the development of Agriculture in the provinces; if so, what is the total amount in the fund available under this head?

(c) Has the amount earmarked for any of the provinces lapsed because of non-submission in due time of the requisite lists of works proposed to be taken up in the provinces concerned?

(d) Do Government propose to make the grants so lapsed available to the provinces concerned, if they submit a list of urgent works to be taken up for the development of agriculture in their respective zones even now?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a), and (b). Central Development Grants are given to each province for their development programmes as a whole and not for individual subjects. A sum of approximately Rs. 13 crores was paid to provinces towards their development schemes excluding Grow More Food Schemes for the year ending the 31st March, 1947. For the details of the financial assistance given to provinces for Grow More Food Schemes the reply given to question No. 132 on 20.11.47 may please be seen. For 1947-48, Rs. 45 crores have been allotted to provinces as Central Grants towards their development schemes including Grow More Food Schemes for this year.

(c) and (d). Grants allotted are maximum figures. Payments, however, are made only to the extent of expenditure actually incurred on approved schemes. There is therefore no question of any amount lapsing because of non-submission of lists of works.

TRANSFER TO INDIA OF GERMAN PATENTS.

486. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister for Industry and Supply be pleased to state how many German Patents have been transferred to India and what is the description of such Patents?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: There has been no proposal of transferring any German Patents to India. According to an agreement arrived at, at a Conference of delegates from various Allied Countries, it has been decided to make German patents available for exploitation, free of royalty, to the nationals of all countries who have signed a document known as the "Accord". Besides India, 45 other countries are parties to this Accord.

It was decided that the Government of France would provide facilities for receiving and disseminating information of common interest under the Accord through a Central Office. That Office has not yet been established. As soon as it starts functioning we shall receive information about such German owned patents in other countries, as would be available for exploitation by the Indian nationals free of royalty. Such information, when received, will be promptly placed at the disposal of the Indian public.

INDUSTRIAL DELEGATIONS TO GERMANY.

487. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state how many representatives of Indian industries have visited Germany under Government auspices during the last two years?

(b) Have such Delegations submitted any reports to Government?

(c) If so, what action have Government taken on such reports?

(d) Have Government any definite programme of arranging such visits by Indian industrialists, businessmen and technicians to Germany; and if so, what arrangements do they propose to make in future, in this matter?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) 47 Experts representing 18 industries have visited Germany during the last two years under Government auspices. The visits were arranged by the late Planning and Development Department of the Government of India.

(b) The Experts sent by the late Planning and Development Department were not required to submit reports to the Government of India. They were selected to form part of the teams of technicians representing various industries sent out by the British Intelligence Objectives Sub-Committee, from time to time, to investigate and report to them on different German industrial organizations. Reports of B.I.O.S. teams are submitted to U.K. Government and are made available to Allied Governments. Under this procedure, the Government of India have received copies of about 3,000 reports submitted by these teams.

(c) The reports so far received are being examined with reference to their value to the development of Indian industries and copies of such of them as are likely to be of interest to the Indian industrialists are being made available to them.

(d) Yes, Sir. A limited number of Indian businessmen and industrialists are given facilities to visit Germany with a view to opening up trade with that country and to renew business contacts. It is proposed to continue this system.

OPERATION OF NON-INDIAN AIR LINES.

488. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) whether non-Indian Air Lines such as the Pan-American, TWA, BOAC, KLM and Air France, carry passengers between Indian Air Ports;

(b) if the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, whether Government are aware that such carriage by a non-Indian Line of internal air traffic constitutes a violation of the principle of "cabotage" and is contrary to the Air Agreements concluded with the countries concerned?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmed Kidwai: (a) No, except that passengers used occasionally to be booked between Delhi and Calcutta by British Overseas Airways Corporation when no seats were available on Indian Airlines, under an old arrangement which is now being terminated.

(b) Does not arise.

AIR SERVICES BETWEEN INDIA AND PAKISTAN.

489. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) the position in respect of air services between India and Pakistan;
(b) whether in the event of the existence of a standstill arrangement between India and Pakistan, internal air traffic between Calcutta and Karachi is permitted to be carried by non-Indian Companies such as the American, the British, the Dutch and the French Air Lines;

(c) whether the Government of India propose to take up this matter with the Governments concerned; and

(d) what arrangements Government propose to arrive at in regard to air services between India and Pakistan in future?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmed Kidwai: (a) and (d). The Government of India have agreed to the operation by a Pakistan airline of air services on the following routes:—

- | | |
|--------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. Karachi—Delhi. | 4. Chittagong—Calcutta. |
| 2. Dacca—Delhi. | 5. Dacca—Calcutta. |
| 3. Karachi—Bombay. | |

In return, the Government of Pakistan have agreed to the operation of air services on the following routes by Indian Airlines:—

- | | |
|-----------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. Jodhpur—Karachi. | 5. Delhi—Lahore. |
| 2. Bombay—Karachi. | 6. Calcutta—Dacca, and |
| 3. Ahmedabad—Karachi. | 7. Calcutta—Chittagong. |
| 4. Bhuj—Karachi. | |

The arrangement is provisional subject to the conclusion of a bilateral air transport agreement between the two Governments or the 31st December, 1947, whichever is earlier. The terms of a long term bilateral air transport agreement between India and Pakistan are under examination.

(b) At present foreign air services, excepting B.O.A.C., do not carry traffic between Karachi and Calcutta.

(c) The question of B.O.A.C. continuing to carry traffic between Karachi and Calcutta is under examination by Government.

IMPORT OF FOOD-GRAINS.

490. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement showing:

(a) the total quantity of foodgrains imported into India during the years 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, and upto 30th September 1947, giving separate figures for each of these years?

(b) the total amount paid for such food grains during these years, giving separately figures of the cost of the food grains for each year; and

(c) the total amount paid by way of freight on the food grains imported during the period indicating the amount of freight paid in each of these years as also particulars of the freight paid in dollars, sterling and in rupees separately for each of these years;

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a), (b) and (c). A statement is laid on the table of the House.

Statement showing imported foodgrains and their value

Year of Import.	Quantity. in 000 tons	Amount paid.				Total freigh in lakhs of Rupees.
		Cost in lakhs. of Rupees	Freight.
			£	$	Rs.
1943	197	502	8,50,175	1,39,551	..	118
1944	649	822	36,27,124	..	..	484
1945	850	1,540	37,55,344	..	..	500
1956	2,330	6,144	49,73,132	2,58,99,181	1,57,913	1,484
1947 (upto 30th Sep- tember).	1,678	5,447	35,33,210	1,88,41,080	..	1,077

FISHERIES AND RESEARCH INSTITUTE.

491. *Shri D. Govinda Doss: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) the total number of Fisheries and Research Institutes Province-wise; and

(b) the total number of candidates sent to foreign countries to study the subject?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) As there are no Fisheries Research Institutes maintained by any of the Provinces, except for a small unit of the Fisheries Department of the Madras Government, the Government of India have decided to set up a Central Institute to carry out research on various problems connected with the development of fisheries throughout the country. A start has already been made for establishing Research Stations of this Institute at (1) Palta near Calcutta in West Bengal for Inland fisheries—Freshwater and Estuarine, (2) Mandapam in the Madras Presidency for Marine fisheries and (3) Bombay, for Fish Technology and Pilot fishing.

(b) The total number of candidates sent abroad for training in Fisheries is 26. Of these 19 were sent out for advanced studies in the Biology and Technology of Fisheries to British and American Universities and 7 candidates to the Grimeby Nautical School for training in navigation and modern fishing methods.

SUPPLY OF STEEL TO 'JANMABHOOMI' GROUP OF NEWSPAPERS, BOMBAY.

492. *Shri Balwant Rai Gopalji Mehta: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state.

(a) whether Government had received an application dated the 29th March 1947 from Saurashtra Trust, Proprietors of the 'Janmabhoomi' Group of Newspapers, Bombay, for steel required for their "Janmabhoomi House" to be built in Bombay;

(b) whether Government are aware that applicants had opened 2 letters of Credit Accounts one for $1,17,000.00 and the second for $39,000.00 for speed Rotary machines to be imported from the United States;

(c) whether it is a fact that under U. S. Dollar permit, 10 per cent. of the first L.C. has been paid by the said Group of Newspapers, and that for the second order the whole amount of $39,000.00 has been paid and the machinery has already arrived;

(d) whether Government are aware that the said 'Janmabhoomi' Group of Newspapers are constructing their own building to accommodate the printing machinery and that they have applied for steel for that purpose;

(e) whether it is a fact that the application has been refused by the Iron and Steel Controller, Calcutta in his letter No. ISC/73/PID/PDIII/3982, dated the 27/28th May 1947;

(f) whether it is a fact that the proprietors of the 'Hindu' of Madras had also applied for steel required to build a house for their newspaper to be started at Bombay;

(g) whether it is a fact that the 'Hindu' has not yet received import licence or the dollar permit and has not paid any advance money;

(h) whether it is a fact that the above application of the Proprietors of the 'Hindu' for steel has been granted by the Government of India;

(i) whether it is a fact that a fresh application dated the 5th September 1947 has been filed by the proprietors of the 'Janmabhoomi' Group of Newspapers requesting the Government of India to give them steel on the same principles on which steel has been granted to the proprietors of the 'Hindu' of Madras;

(j) whether it is a fact that the building of the 'Janmabhoomi' Group of Newspapers is already under construction awaiting, for its further progress, the sanction for the supply of steel by the Government of India; and

(k) whether the second application dated the 5th September 1947, of the proprietors of the 'Janmabhoomi' Group of Newspapers has now been considered by the Government of India; if so, what is the decision thereon?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a), (i) and (k): Two applications from the Saurashtra Trust have been received. The Trust has now been allotted 64 tons of steel for Period I, 1948, which is half its total requirements.

(b), (c), (d), (e) and (j). Yes, Sir, but advance payment is 6 per cent.

(f) Yes, Sir.

(g) The 'Hindu' obtained licences for printing machinery, piecemeal.

(h) An allotment of one-fifth of requirements has now been made for Period I, 1948.

PASSENGER AND TONNAGE CARRYING CAPACITY OF INDIAN RAILWAYS.

493. *Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the passenger and tonnage carrying capacity of all railways in India, except those now included in the Pakistan territories, in the years 1938-39 and 1945-46?

(b) What are the requirements of the country in respect of both the items at present?

(c) What is the programme of Government to make up the shortage, if any?
The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a), (b) and (c). A statement giving the information required is being prepared and will be placed on the table of the House.

BRITISH RAILWAY PERSONNEL.

494. *Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the number of British personnel who were working on all the Railways in India excluding the territories now included in Pakistan, before the 15th August 1947?

(b) How many of the said employees have retired or left service in consequence of the independence of India?

(c) How many of the remaining employees Government propose to retain permanently?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Approximate figures based on the information available were given in my Budget Speech. More detailed and up-to-date information is being collected from railway administrations, and will be laid on the table of the House in due course.

INCREASED PRODUCTION OF COARSE CLOTH.

495. *Shri Mahabir Tyagi: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state what steps Government have taken to persuade the textile industry in India to increase the production of coarse cloth?

(b) Did the representatives of the Textile Industry represent to Government that they would not be able to increase the production of coarse cloth unless Government granted them a subsidy of a few millions of rupees on this account?

(c) What is the percentage of difference between the actual costs of production and the retail prices on which the consumers obtain their supplies of fine and coarse cloths respectively?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the Government of India's Resolution No. 88(2)-Tex. I/47 dated 17-11-47.

(b) No, Sir.

(c) The Report of the ad hoc Committee on Textiles submitted to Government in June 1947 estimates the percentage of difference between the actual cost of production and the retail price of cloth of 14s warp and 10s weft as being 1.4 per cent. and the corresponding difference in the case of cloth of 40s warp and 60s weft as being 37 per cent. These will serve as examples of coarse cloth and fine cloth. Ex-mill prices are 25 per cent. below retail prices.

RICE AND WHEAT PURCHASED FROM OUTSIDE INDIA.

496. *Shri Profulla Chandra Sen: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) the quantity of rice and wheat procured for civil and military requirements from outside India during the period April 1946 to October 1947 and the respective prices at which they were obtained from different countries;

(b) the total value of rice and wheat purchased by the Government of India during the period April 1946 to October 1947 from outside India; and

(c) the total loss to the Government of India during the period April 1946 to October 1947, on the sale of rice and wheat purchased from outside India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). A statement is laid on the table of the House. At the time of making purchases in overseas, the requirement of the country, as a whole, is kept in view.

Imports are not arranged separately for Civil and Military requirements.

(c) Rs. 6.35 crores on rice.

Rs. 5.88 crores on wheat.

Statement

(April, 1946 to October, 1947.)

Country.	Quantities in ,000 tons.	Average price per md.		Value in Lakhs of Rupees.
		April 1946 to March 1947.	April 1947 to October 1947.
Wheat—
U. S. A.	738	13 12 0	12 0 0	2,699
Canada	165	13 11 0	..	611
Australia	460	9 4 0	12 0 0	1,221
Turkey	98	18 7 0	20 0 0	510
East Africa	15	..	9 7 0	39
Abyssinia	2.6	..	8 0 0	5
Argentine	6	..	24 8 0	40
Total	1,484.6			51,25
Rice—
Burma	568	14 10 0	17 0 0	2,442
Siam	41	9 7 0	15 0 0	130
Indo-China	13	16 11 0	21 0 0	61
Brazil	82	17 1 0	..	389
Indonesia	36	8 12 0	..	85
Egypt	30	..	24 0 0	198
Total	770			3,305

STATISTICS REGARDING PRODUCTION OF FOOD-GRAINS.

497. *Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether the Government of India propose to collect accurate statistics regarding production of rice, wheat, jawar, bajra and other cereals in the different provinces of India including the states which have acceded to the Union of India, with a view to obtaining proper data for determining the future policy of Government; and

(b) if so, whether, on collection of accurate data, Government propose to have a planned drive for the increase of the production of cereals?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) The Government of India initiated a drive for the increase of the production of cereals in April, 1942.

PROCUREMENT OF PADDY AND WHEAT.

498. *Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to increase the rates for procurement of paddy and wheat from surplus areas of the country so as to cover the cost of production incurred by the cultivators; and

(b) whether Government propose to consider the desirability of fixing different rates for procurement of paddy and wheat respectively for different areas, in view of the varying cost of production in the various parts of the country?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Provincial Government have now been given discretion to fix procurement prices for their respective areas in such manner as may be considered fair and feasible in prevailing local conditions and without danger of an undue increase in the cost of living.

(b) Does not arise.

PAY TO TEACHERS OF RAILWAY SCHOOLS.

499. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that in 1929 the Railway Board decided that the scales of pay allowed to teachers of Railway Schools in various provinces will be the same as are applicable to teachers in Government schools of the province in which they are situated;

(b) whether it is a fact that in 1930 the United Provinces Government's provincial scales of pay were enforced in the Railway schools in that province, and in 1931 when the provincial grades were revised for future entrants, they were also made applicable to all new entrants in the Railway schools in the United Provinces subsequent to the year 1931;

(c) whether it is a fact that under minute sheet No. AS/36/Z, dated 1st May 1941, from the Secretary to the General Manager and Superintendent, East Indian Railway schools, Calcutta, of which copies were also circulated to all the members of the staff in the Railway schools, the Railway Board re-affirmed its policy of treating the teaching staff of the Railway schools on the provincial basis in respect of pay, qualifications and promotions;

(d) whether Government are aware that the Pay Commission have recommended the inclusion of Railway schools in the Centrally administered areas in which there is marked disparity between the scales recommended by the Pay Commission and those revised by the Government of United Provinces in 1947; and

(e) if the answer to the above be in the affirmative, whether Government propose to look into the case of the teachers of the Railway schools and grant them the revised provincial scales of pay?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a), (b) and (c). Yes.

(d) The reply to the first part of the question is in the affirmative: as regards the second part, Government are not aware of the scales having been revised by the Government of the U. P. in 1947 and it is, therefore, not possible to state whether there is any marked disparity between the two scales. Information on this point is being obtained.

(e) The recommendations of the Central Pay Commission in so far as they relate to Railway Schools are at present under examination. In coming to a decision all relevant factors will be given due consideration.

AIR MAIL POSTAL ENVELOPES.

500. *Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the inconvenience now felt in sending air mail letters, by having to affix a stamp and an air mail label in addition to the ordinary postage; and

(b) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of issuing Air Mail postal envelopes (thinner or lighter than the present ones) with the words, "Air Mail" printed thereon in bold blue or green letters and stamped with a 2½ anna stamp, thus saving paper and material to Government and at the same time removing the inconvenience caused to the public?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmed Kidwai: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The question is already under consideration and as soon as the new stamp designs have been selected an air-mail envelope for internal use will be made available to the public.

REDUCTION IN TRAIN SERVICES.

501. *Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways please state:

(a) the total number of mail, express and passenger trains cancelled on Indian Railways as a result of the recent disturbances, on and from the 7th September 1947;

(b) whether there is any train running regularly between Delhi and Simla, daily, and if not, why not;

(c) when it is proposed to restore the cancelled trains on the various railways;

(d) whether armed guards are provided in trains on various sections of the different railways and if so, what are those sections;

(e) whether such provision of armed guards has been necessary on sections running through any Indian States and if so, the number of such Guards posted on those trains and their cost to the Indian Exchequer; and

(f) whether it is proposed to require such Indian States to reimburse such expenditure, and if not, why not?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Train services on E.P., G.I.P., B.B. and C. I. and E.I. Railways were mainly affected. Information regarding the number of trains cancelled is being collected and will be placed on the table of the House in due course.

(b) There is no through train between Delhi and Simla for the present. Regular train services had to be suspended, because rolling stock was most urgently required for movement of refugees to and from Pakistan, which had to have first priority, and also to prevent indiscriminate movements of refugees to Delhi.

(c) Yes, as soon as the refugee traffic diminishes to an extent permitting the release of rolling stock.

(d) Yes; armed escorts are provided on passenger trains in U.P. and also on the Kotah/Muttra/Delhi and Agra/Bandikui/Rewari Sections of the B.B. and C.I. Railways.

(e) The answer to the first part is in the affirmative. Information about the other parts is not readily available.

(f) The matter will be considered.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

ANNOUNCEMENT TO DECONTROL SUGAR AND CONSEQUENT RISE IN PRICES

Mr. Speaker: I received a Notice of an Adjournment Motion from Pandit Balkrishna Sharma, which reads as under:

"The announcement to decontrol sugar in near future resulting in upward trend of forward sugar prices from Rs. 19 per maund to Rs. 50 per maund, as also, the recommendations made by the Food Grains Policy Committee in regard to adaptation of the policy of progressive decontrol of foodgrains."

I do not know how this matter can be treated as so urgent as to be permissible for an Adjournment Motion. Further, it also involves more than one point. An adjournment motion must relate to one definite matter; I find it relates to two matters. Has the Honourable Member given notice of this to Government?

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma (U.P.: General): Yes, Sir. The fact that the question is urgent cannot be gainsaid for the very simple reason that during the last 3 or 4 days when the announcement was made that sugar will be decontrolled, I found to my surprise, that in my own Province and in my home Town, Cawnpore, which is the biggest sugar market in the country, the forward prices of sugar have risen from Rs. 19/12/0 (and not Rs. 19 as given wrongly in my motion) to Rs. 50 per maund and at the same time we read in this morning's papers certain recommendations of the Foodgrains Policy Committee. Knowing not that inclusion of two items would make my Motion in any way less important or less urgent, I put it there and therefore, I would beg of you to treat it as urgent and the two questions being inter-linked with one another are of the same nature, and therefore they cannot be said to be two questions. Moreover, Government is going to announce the policy regarding decontrol or control measures on the 10th of this month. Now, I wish that before the Government make up their mind, they must give an opportunity to this House to voice its feelings and its thoughts on the questions which are of great importance and therefore, I believe even the Honourable the Minister for Food will have no objection to this Motion, which is put before this House for consideration. One thing more; I do not in any way, by giving notice of this Adjournment Motion, wish to censure the Government. We only want to have an opportunity to voice our feelings and our ideas about the question, and therefore, I wish that you may be pleased to entertain it.

Mr. Speaker: Because an Adjournment Motion is tabled, it does not necessarily mean that, it is always a censure Motion. Without being a censure Motion, an Adjournment Motion can be brought for the purpose of discussing any matter which is urgent and it must be a definite matter of importance. The rules require that only one such matter can be raised and the Honourable Member's argument that the two are linked does not appeal to me. On the question of urgency, I believe it is clear to everybody that in the process of decontrolling prices were expected to shoot up and some time will be necessary for these prices to readjust. Therefore, the shooting up of prices by itself is not a matter of such urgency that requires any discussion. I do not think that I could give my consent to this Motion.

ELECTION TO STANDING COMMITTEES FOR MINISTRIES OF RELIEF AND REHABILITATION AND WORKS, MINES AND POWER

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Committees for the Ministries of Relief and Rehabilitation and Works, Mines and Power, 11 nominations in the case of the former and 10 nominations in the case of the latter were received. Subsequently one member in case of the former withdrew his candidature. As [Mr. Speaker] the number of the remaining candidates was thus equal to the number of vacancies in each of the two Committees, I declare the following members to be duly elected:

I. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation.

- (1) Ch. Ranbir Singh.
- (2) Shri Khurshed Lal.
- (3) Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand.
- (4) Shrimati Sucheta Kriplani.
- (5) Shri Basanta Kumar Das.
- (6) Prof. Shibban Lal Saxena.
- (7) Shri Jaspat Roy Kapoor.
- (8) Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar.
- (9) Shri A. P. Pattani.
- (10) Mr. S. M. Ilahi.

II. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power.

- (1) Dr. Sir S. V. Ramamurty.
- (2) Shri Gokulbhai D. Bhatt.
- (3) Shri B. Das.
- (4) Shri O. V. Alagesan.
- (5) Shri Jaipal Singh.
- (6) Shri Kanayalal Nanabhai Desai.
- (7) Rai Bahadur Sri Narain Mahtha.
- (8) Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen.
- (9) Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar.
- (10) Mr. Tajamul Hussain.

THE BUDGET—GENERAL DISCUSSION

FIRST STAGE

Mr. Speaker: Before we proceed with the General Discussion of the Budget, I have to inform Honourable Members that for Demands and moving Out Motions only one day was allotted; that period has been extended to two days.

I have to announce that under Rule 46, I fix the time-limit for speeches ordinarily as 10 minutes; as I find a large number of Honourable Members anxious to address themselves to the House the time-limit will not, in any case, exceed 15 minutes for each Honourable Member excepting the Honourable the Finance Minister for whom 45 minutes or more will be allowed, if necessary.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Mr. Speaker, before the General Discussion starts, I would like, with your permission, to make a Statement by way of personal explanation arising on of the Budget Speech that I delivered the other day. I have been told that considerable resentment has been caused in certain quarters in this House on account of my omission to mention amongst the causes that contributed towards Indian freedom the great sacrifice that was made by thousands of our countrymen and countrywomen. Now that this matter has been brought to my attention, I freely admit that it was a serious omission on my part. But I want Honourable Members to believe me when I say that the omission was neither deliberate nor intentional. Even though I have not myself made any of those sacrifices, I have the greatest admiration and respect for all those thousands of our fellow-citizens who had the courage to make that sacrifice in the cause of India's freedom and I have no doubt that when the causes that contributed towards the attainment of Indian freedom come to be written, everyone will recognize that the major causes were the great struggle for freedom under the unique and inspiring leadership of Mahatma Gandhi and the great sacrifices made by our people. I hope, Sir, that the House will accept my statement in the spirit in which I have given it.

Shri K. M. Munshi (Bombay: General): Sir, in rising to make my comments on the budget I take an early opportunity of congratulating my Honourable friend the Finance Minister on the proposals that he has placed before the House. In the first instance they are very sober proposals; his approach has been very reassuring as the indications in the market clearly prove; and he has given the House a frank assessment of the desperate economic crisis through which the country is passing. The Honourable Finance Minister's analysis is one with which, I am sure, the House will agree. The contributing factors to that crisis are, as he has given us, widespread labour unrest, decline in agricultural and industrial production and inflationary pressure. But I am afraid he has dealt with all of them in a certain amount of conservative spirit. He has left many things vague; I do not blame him because the Government was formed with such lightning speed and we are passing through such difficult times that it was not expected that the Honourable Minister would have the time to go over the whole ground. If I may be permitted, Sir, I would like to mention that I expected in the budget some fore-shadow of the contribution which Government proposed to make to resolve the crisis to which the Honourable Finance Minister referred. I also expected—I am afraid in vain—that we would be told something about the economic implications of the changed conditions arising firstly from the partition, and secondly from the loss of staple exports by reason of this partition. At the same time I feel that I would be failing in my duty if I did not make my comments with regard to the policy which Government ought to pursue and which has already been indicated by the Finance Minister.

Sir, I admire him for the courage with which he has stood for economic realism in tackling this crisis. He has told us in unmistakeable terms that in order to tide over the crisis we must have a mixed economy and that private enterprise and nationalism must march together. I entirely agree with him that this is not the time when we can consider the theoretical pros and cons of nationalisation; this is not the time when we can indulge in the pastime of discussing any theoretical matter at all. As I said, we are passing through a crisis and it requires that we should utilise every single factor which is available to us. Nationalisation has proved inconclusive in the test of world experience. I may mention some notable instances which I daresay are known to most Honourable Members. We know of the State-controlled and State-owned German railways which had the highest efficiency in the world. At the same time the British transport system, lately in private hands, was equally efficient. In India we have State-owned and State controlled railways; their efficiency was discussed the other day, and we are still awaiting to see what results they have in the hands of our present State. At the same time we know that the Indian shipping industry as well as the iron and steel industry in private hands has had a fairly high standard of efficiency. In the United Kingdom again you find that the steel industry which is yet in private hands has been able to hit the target of post-war production; on the contrary, the nationalised Coal Board has failed to achieve that success which was expected of it.

An Honourable Member: It has the highest production now.

Shri K. M. Munshi: I can give figures to show that compared with the steel industry it has not been able to cope with the crisis.

I am not favouring one way or the other, but it is an inconclusive matter and we need not for the moment consider, as I said, the theoretical aspects of this question. What we really want is a purposive direction of all our economic affairs. We want that private enterprise should be encouraged in all the sectors where nationalisation is not possible for the moment; but we must reintegrate private enterprise with broad national objectives that may be settled by our Government. We have already got nationalised concerns like railways and posts and telegraphs; we want them to be raised to the highest possible standard of efficiency. Then again we have other schemes; we have the hydro-electric schemes, we have the Damodar Valley scheme and we can have many other schemes which are going to be State-owned and State-controlled. We have also other large spheres of economic activity; for instance, I read in one paper the great need for having an industry in ammonium sulphate, so highly essential for our agricultural purposes. These are spheres in which our Government can launch industries and in which I am sure, we will be able to make a success.

It is wrong to say that we have not got a controlled economy; there is sufficient control over private enterprise, and further controls, if need be, could be imposed in national interests. We have got taxation, we have already got security schemes and Government are embarking upon a scheme of fixing minimum wages; and I have little doubt the time may come when dividends may have to be controlled. For the present, we must give a purposive direction to the whole of our economic life in order that we may be able immediately and effectively to tide over the present crisis.

Sir, the Honourable Minister mentioned three factors of which the first is labour. I do hope that Government will be able to embark upon a comprehensive labour programme, or rather a programme for labour cacany in this country. We know that strikes and slowing down process are very popular among labour. We have to deal with them in the way that they have been dealt with—if I may mention it—in Ahmedabad and to a certain extent in Bombay. Since 1917 Mahatma Gandhi in Ahmedabad has tried a successful experiment of resolving industrial disputes between labour and capital by arbitration. As a result Ahmedabad has been richer and its labour has been more contented than in any other part of India or—for the matter of that—in the world. And the industrial laws which have been introduced by the Government in Bombay in 1939 as well as now show that very satisfactory results can be produced by similar legislation all over India and its strict enforcement. I know our labour is inefficient. Only the other day an expert said that the efficiency of an Indian worker is about 1/14th of an American worker and 1/7th of an English worker. We have also no scheme for redeployment of labour. Therefore, what I would urge upon Government is that the whole programme of labour reorganisation should be taken in hand. It is one of the most material factors and the programme cannot be carried out by patchwork reforms.

The next factor to which the Honourable Minister referred was inflationary pressure. This inflation, Sir, appears to be like the ghost in a haunted house. Everybody seems to know about it and no one knows what to do about it. The result has been that we fear to imagine what inflation will bring us next. The Honourable Minister has himself given the figures. Our inflationary conditions here are quite different from those which prevail in the United States, in the United Kingdom and Canada. There, the problem is to stabilize the present productive activity and the present income because there is practically full employment there and a large volume of spending power in private hands. Our case is different. We have got monetary inflation in a high degree and material and manpower resources which are lying idle. Our problem is entirely different from theirs. We have to secure a spurt in production, and at the same time to keep inflation in leash. The only course—and I speak with some hesitation because I am not an expert—which appears to be obvious and essential is that the Government should embark a development by raising loans. A large programme of loan finances for the purpose of providing capital expenditure is the only thing which will promote real income. I am sorry to find that there was no indication in the speech of the Honourable Minister with regard to this matter. I know the difficulties. I know that economies are difficult to be carried out in such a short time. I equally feel that there are various factors working against it. But at the same time we must equally realize that the time within which we must do something to overcome this economic crisis is so little.

I may only mention one thing. You will forgive me Sir if I take a minute more of your time. So far as our taxation capacity goes, it has reached saturation point. The Honourable Minister has already mentioned that so far as business taxation is concerned, it will have to be reinvestigated in order that the margin of enterprise may not be hit as at present.

But there is one source, Sir, of revenue to which I should like to draw his attention, and that is death duties. All over the world it has come to be recognised that it has great distributive effects. It is innocuous so far as production efforts are concerned. Orthodox economists like Pigon consider it as an essential complementary to a progressive income taxation. The experience in England proves that death duties are borne much more easily than business taxation, and I have no doubt, when the time comes in next March, the Honourable Finance Minister will be able to see that those sources are tapped which will enable us to get the money so necessary for reconstruction—without hitting production.

I have only one word to add. We are going towards a socialist democracy. Whether we wish it or we do not, whether people theoretically approve of it or do not, is a small matter. The world forces are driving us towards that end. But for that purpose we require a highly trained and incorruptible bureaucracy which we have still to build up. Till that situation comes, what I would like to impress upon the Honourable Minister is that our urgent need is stability and security in the economic sphere as much as in the political sphere.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Not incorruptibility!

Shri K. M. Munshi: Incorruptibility is a necessary ingredient of economic stability. You cannot have stability without incorruptibility, but it is no use trying to create a machinery which is corrupt first and then quarreling with it!

I hope that the few remarks I have been able to make at the short time at my disposal the Honourable Minister will bear in mind, and in his closing speech give us some inkling as to what contribution the Government proposes to make towards resolving this crisis.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin (C.P. and Berar: Muslim): I congratulate the Finance Minister on a very straight and frank statement of facts, but I do not entirely agree with his background and the outlook. It is more or less based on the antiquated idea of the past century. The theory of mixed economy is an exploded theory. Nobody disputes that there should be gradual industrialisation of the country. Nobody disputes that the standard of living in the country should rise. But that does not mean that the rich should grow richer and the poor should become poorer.

Sir, in supporting these budget proposals, Mr. Munshi has said that there should be economic realism and that the policy of nationalism in other countries has failed and has not been successful.

Shri K. M. Munshi: I did not say that. I said it was inconclusive.

Kazi-Syed Karimuddin: In a way generalizations without facts and figures are not convincing at all. He has admitted that dividends in this country will be controlled in future. The point that has to be decided is this. The Finance Minister in his speech has not laid down any definite policy as to what would be the economic pattern in this country. In para. 38 of his speech he has said: "Whatever may be the pattern of our economic system, I hold that there is need and scope for private enterprise in industry." Now the Prime Minister of this country in his speech on 'The Objectives Resolution' said: "I stand for Socialism and I hope India will stand for Socialism, and that India will go towards the constitution of a Socialist State, and I do believe the whole world will have to go that way." Is there any doubt that the Prime Minister of this country, the head of the Government has accepted that the future constitution of this country and the future economic pattern will be a pattern of a Socialist State? Then how is this indecision on the part of the Finance Minister that he is not definite of the economic pattern the country will have? If it is an established fact that this country is going to have a Socialist pattern, then we have to move towards socialization of the resources and nationalisation of the industries of this country. The only objection that has been raised is this, that because of last year's policy, there is penury and distress in the economic field, and so that policy will have to be revised. There are countries in the world where socialisation of the resources of the country is being practised. There are countries where nationalisation of industries has been done and the Advisory Planning Board in their report has accepted this principle which has been propounded by the Prime Minister of this country: It says:

"At the same time, it must also be recognised that, if Socialisation is adopted as a policy, it must be applied universally to all parts of the national economy, if it is to be a real success. Any restriction of the field of Socialisation, any exclusion from it of any section of the productive or distribution organisations, would mean very much less chance for a socialised plan to attain full fruition."

The Karachi resolution also states that in India we should make an attempt at socialisation of all resources and nationalisation of industry. The field should not be left to private enterprise mainly. The advantages of socialisation of industry are that there would be nationalised ownership; the surplus of profits would go to labour and there will be the fullest employment of the adult workers in the country. The Finance Minister has said "I believe that the general pattern of our economy must be a mixed economy in which there is scope both for private enterprise and for State enterprise." In the name of mixed economy private enterprise is likely to be encouraged and socialisation of the key industries will be delayed and hence it is to this part of his speech that I object. My submission is that there should have been a declaration in this Budget speech that the country will move towards the socialisation of the resources of the country and the key industries of the country would be nationalised. There is absolutely no declaration to this effect. On the other hand, the declaration that has been made is that last year's policy will be revived and private investments will be encouraged.

The second point which I want to stress is this. I am not very sorry for the deficit budget, because 26 crores have been spent on the refugees,—the people who have been rendered homeless and helpless: but I object to leaving the gap uncovered, as if this was only a temporary matter concerning this year. It is a stupendous task which will go on for at least five years and I do not see any wisdom in leaving this gap uncovered.

Another objectionable feature in this budget speech is that no proposals or measures have been proposed for the agricultural development of this country except the suggestion that dams in one or two provinces will be constructed. Unless and until collective farming on a very large scale is introduced there is absolutely no possibility in the near future for the improvement of the food position. No measures have been proposed in the budget: no proposals have been made in the budget. Unless this food position improves there is no prospect of our country being self-sufficient. In the event of an international war, in the event of our country going out of the Empire, it would be most difficult to supply food to all the people in the country. This should be the first concern of the Finance Minister and proposals to this effect should be formulated so that the food position may improve in the near future.

It is said in the Advisory Board's report that there are no technicians, no engineers for the agricultural projects. The Finance Minister has not stated in his speech or in the Budget Estimates that any engineers have been trained or engineering colleges in addition are being opened and students in hundreds are being sent to outside countries or any foreign engineers are being engaged for this purpose. Unless these measures are adopted, unless the Central Government gives considerable subsidies to the provinces so that collective farming is practised on a large scale, there is absolutely no hope in the future of the food position improving.

There is another matter to which I want to make a reference and it is a matter of the sterling balances, which finds a place in the budget speech. Looking into the provisions of the Financial Agreement that has been entered into as between the United Kingdom and the Government of India, I find that the sterling balances have been divided into two accounts—Account No. 1 is current account and Account No. 2 is practically a fixed deposit. Instead of getting our deposits for investment in the industrial development of the country as also agricultural development, they have been kept in deposit with Britain to be used towards pension and so many other subjects which are given in Article 4. My submission is that when our capital is there, why should not the capital be brought and invested in the development of this country?

These are the criticisms which I want to lay before the House and I hope the Finance Minister will take them into consideration.

Shri R.-R. Diwakar (Bombay: General): Sir, I am very glad to welcome the first budget of Free India. Our Finance Minister has at the very outset asked for the co-operation of every member of this House and I do not think that he will lack that co-operation in any of the proposals that he has made. At the same time, I suppose we ought to offer our criticism or make remarks that we have to make on the proposals that he has made. I might say that any carping criticism is of no use and will be destructive. But if along with the remarks that we offer there are constructive suggestions I believe the Honourable the Minister will welcome them.

In fact today we are meeting and considering the finances of the country after a very great catastrophe. No doubt one of the most fortunate things that happened during the year was that we got our freedom but, at the same time, the most unfortunate thing that we got along with it was the division of our country on a communal basis. At this time I cannot but express the feelings of some of us that the reunion of these two Dominions alone will solve the problems that have arisen out of the division of the country. In fact there cannot be any permanent peace in the country unless there is some kind of permanent federation, as regards subjects like defence, commerce, foreign affairs and communications.

Before passing on to the budget itself, I am very glad to observe that the Finance Minister has made ample amends for some omission in his speech which he said was not deliberate. At the same time I shall not be wrong if I point out an act of commission. He has paid a compliment to our erstwhile masters or rulers that it was a unique act of enlightened self-abnegation to have left India. One feels that possibly, if there was no context as regards these words, they point out to some Buddha! Really speaking, I would say that this is an act not so much of enlightened self-abnegation as of enlightened [Shri R. R. Diwakar] selfishness, because there is absolutely no generosity in this matter. It was a matter of choice and I think that they have made the right choice—rather than forfeiting the goodwill of a big nation like India they have forfeited the Indian Empire. There is nothing like spontaneous generosity in politics.

As regards the actual budget and certain of the proposals made, my friends have already covered one or two points. I would like to cover only such of the points as remain untouched. The finance or the budget of a country is really a highly technical affair so much so that I have come across Ministers in Provinces speaking of inflation as 'inflation' and that too repeatedly for a long time throughout their conversation. Therefore, it is very difficult for a common man like me to pass any observations on such a technical affair.

An Honourable Member: Was he a Finance Minister?

Shri R. R. Diwakar: To his credit, he was not a Finance Minister! However, the point of a common man like me will be useful and I think that if we pool the resources of expert knowledge and the experience of common men it will be for the good of the country. The budget presented to us is a general survey in addition to the estimates and facts and figures, and we must thank our Finance Minister for giving this general economic picture of the country just in the first Legislature which has met. Since as a result of partition there are a number of things which have yet to be decided I think the financial or economic picture of the country may change to a great extent. For instance our Railway Minister pointed out that when things go to arbitration the railway valuation may suffer by crores if the arbitration takes a particular point of view and we may stand to gain or lose tens of crores of rupees. So it might be that our observations will have to be modified in that respect.

Taking now an important question, namely of food, the Finance Minister has said that Rs. 22½ crores will be spent during the year as subsidies for buying food from foreign countries. This Rs. 22½ crores will be absolutely unproductive. Unless there is a kind of alternative suggestion to invest this amount or equal amounts or the amounts available for some constructive purposes whereby we can produce more food in our country, I think we are running down a very bad incline. During the last three or four years we have possibly spent something like Rs. 100 crores merely for paying more and subsidising for food imports. In fact we had to pay through the nose to Australia, America and Canada, irrespective of the prices prevailing in those countries. They saw to it that they got practically double the prices from us. For instance, Australia, I am told, charged us something like 88 shillings for 6 bushels of wheat, whereas they sold us 6 bushels in 1945 for 44 shillings. That means double the value.

An Honourable Member: What was the market value?

Shri R. R. Diwakar: It was not so much. In the same way, England bought wheat from Canada at the rate of $1.60 per bushel whereas India had to pay at the rate of $2.50. Now this difference between 1.60 dollars and 2.50 dollars is really inexplicable unless only by one consideration namely that that country took advantage of our dire need. But India has not acted in a similar manner, though I do not say that acting in a similar manner would be very desirable. All the same, her textiles today are looked upon as the cheapest in the world. My plea is if we have surplus textiles we should look for such countries which need our textiles and also have food to give us, so that we can have bargains on what may be called an equal footing with such countries. That may perhaps reduce the high subsidies that we have to pay today for food supplies.

The second point I want to make is this. The food deficit is really 6 per cent., at the highest. It is put down at 3 per cent. or 4 per cent. by some experts. 6 per cent. deficit of food is really not such an alarming thing. But we who live especially in cities are as jubilant as Columbus and his crew, whenever any food ship arrives and most of the daily papers give this kind of news in block letters. That means that though the situation is not intrinsically so alarming it is made out to be so and possibly on account of a psychological complex. Therefore, if we can put our heads together and see that the psychological factor which will promote more production is encouraged and production improved in our own country. With the present resources, it should be possible for us to make up this 6 per cent. of deficit.

Another point about the Rs. 22½ crores that we are spending is that this kind of unproductive spending would land us in difficulties. Therefore we should have, as I said in the beginning, some alternative proposals for spending similar amounts on improvement of agriculture, seeds, and irrigation.

I may now pass on to the military expenditure. Military expenditure has been one of the targets of our attack for a very long time. Now we are faced with a similar situation, namely that about 50 per cent. of our revenues are being spent on military expenditure. Consistent of course with the efficient defence of the country, I think we must be able to reduce our expenses and that can be done only, if I may make a suggestion, by creating a kind of citizens' army so far as the land forces are concerned.

I quite realise that so far as a modern army is concerned, it is the air arm and the navy that really matter more than anything else, and therefore possibly we may not be able to curtail our expenditure under those two heads because we have no air arm and no navy as such of any magnitude, and therefore whatever curtailment of expenditure will have to be made will have naturally to be made as regards land forces, and that only by taking up seriously the question of organizing a citizen army.

Now as regards the 12 crores which have been sanctioned for nation-building activities, I am sorry to say that it is too meagre an amount because it has to cover education, medical, public health, running of scientific institutions, scientific survey, aviation, broadcasting, and a number of things. No doubt, some of these things are responsibilities of provinces. But still at a juncture like this I would press upon the attention of the Finance Minister the importance of what may be called mass-education, not mere literacy, which can create the right kind of atmosphere in the country and make every citizen conscious of the new responsibilities that have fallen on his shoulders with the attainment of freedom.

I would like to make one more suggestion about another matter and that is about national savings. As regards national savings the period of 12 years is there for national savings certificates. But I would suggest that that period may be reduced, or any period from 3 to 12 years might be fixed so that the common people or the middle class people might be tempted to put in their money in national savings certificates. The 12-year period is too long a period though the return is tempting enough, and I think even if the interest might be a little less, that does not matter. In fact interest ought to be a little less so that it may not divert money from industries and such other productive purposes.

With these few remarks, I thank again the Minister for Finance for giving us a very full overall picture of the economic conditions and I hope that he will welcome some of the suggestions that I have made, and also the suggestions that may be made by some friends of mine during the course of this debate.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is indeed an honour to be the first Finance Minister of free India, and I am glad that honour has fallen upon a friend. But, Sir, I am afraid that notwithstanding this I have some criticisms to offer on his budget.

[Shri T. T. Krishnamachari]

merely unsuitable but is positively disastrous. I agree with my Honourable friend in quoting the view of the Governor of the Reserve Bank in that particular matter, because not only is it a fact that we have put a blanket ceiling at a fairly low level in the matter of higher incomes, but we do not have the machinery which could implement our taxation proposals. Persons who have some experience of the tax administration of the Central Government know that the Sheehy tradition of tax administration that is still obtaining by which the small and honest man is squeezed and the taxes due from the richman are compounded can hardly be considered efficient. I believe that there is room for my Honourable friend to revise his taxation to take the blanket ceiling further up so that there will be something left to the person who owns and runs any industry; at the same time tighten up your methods of collection so as to concentrate on the people from whom you could get more rather than from the people from whom you could get less. In fact, I was surprised the other day when a friend of mine who is considered to be an expert on income-tax law, and perhaps also in the matter of how to administer it, told me that my estimate that only 50 per cent. of the taxes are collected was rather optimistic; his estimate was that it was much less than that. I believe that a variation in the taxation scheme is called for but at the same time I would ask my friend to be cautious. Sir, we know the rich are not only always with us, but they are always amongst us—their existence is something like the existence of God as comprehended by a Vedantin—they are everywhere, and rumour has it that they are very near the seat of power; and if it happens that there is an unnecessary emphasis on private enterprise and simultaneously an emphasis on the necessity to re-grade our taxation schemes, well, my Honourable friends from the former Muslim League and others will be enabled to have their own say more freely.

Sir, I think caution is very necessary; caution is also necessary by reason of the fact that the very reception by the Bombay Market of this Budget is a thing that will put the popular will against it. But I will re-affirm that however much of a socialist one may be, one cannot avoid a mixed economy for some time to come. I do hope that my Honourable friend would amplify his words referring to this question; mixed economy means what? It is going to be a mixed economy definitely in relation to what? How will it affect the future industrial policy of the Government which is going to be enunciated a few weeks later?

Sir, I could deal probably with a few other matters referred to in my Honourable friend's speech but there is very little time. But before I close I would like to deal with another matter not relating to the portfolio of my Honourable friend the Finance Minister. I am sorry to see that the Honourable the Prime Minister is not here. I would like to utter a word of warning to the Government in one particular matter. I see that the tendency to employ retired British civil servants by the British High Commissioner in India is on the increase. Sir, it is bad enough that our commercial magnates should employ retired officials as their executives—mainly, I have no doubt, for reason of the contacts that they possess with the Governments, Central and Provincial. It is a thing which is deplorable, but we cannot afford to have foreigners who have served in this country, who have perhaps been patrons in the past of certain people who now occupy posts similar to what they had occupied trying to use their influence, trying to have contacts with these officials when they are appointed Deputy High Commissioners or in charge of other high-placed positions in the various offices of the British High Commissioner in India. I think it is a matter which the Government ought to take up with the British Government at a very high level. Not that we have anything against these officers individually, but as a matter of policy it is a practice that has to be condemned.

Sir, before I close I would like to say that I hope my Honourable friend would accept the criticisms that have been offered in the spirit in which they were made, and secondly when he comes out with the Budget next February, that it would be a little more comprehensive in detail and that he would try to implement what he has touched on in this speech of his—particularly in the matter of the question of linking up prices with our economy. You cannot deal with the monetary aspect of it only and leave the other aspects just to allow the devil to take the hindmost. I do not know what the Government propose to do but if my Honourable friend still holds the view that prices must be reduced as otherwise wages will chase prices and if it happens that there is a further increase in the wage levels then woe to our industries notwithstanding Mr. Munshi and his efforts to save them. I hope we shall have something more tangible from the Honourable Minister when the next Budget comes out.

श्री लक्ष्मीनारायण साहू : सभापति जी, इस बजट में दो एक बातें बतलाना चाहता हूँ। पहिले मैं देखता हूँ कि इस बजट में मिलिटरी का खर्चा बहुत होता है। हम लोग पहिले ब्रिटिश गवर्नमेंट का बार बार क्रिटिसिज्म (criticism) करते थे कि मिलिटरी बजट बहुत होता है इतना नहीं होना चाहिये। लेकिन आज हम देखते हैं कि इसमें हम लोग ब्रिटिश से भी ज्यादा बढ़ गये हैं। यह मुझको अच्छा नहीं लगता है। इसमें इतना खर्चा होगा कि और दूसरा खर्चा हम लोग नहीं कर सकते।

दूसरी बात मैं यह कहना चाहता हूँ कि हम लोगों का जो भारतवर्ष है हम लोग जब इसका बजट यहां बनाते हैं तब क्या बजट हर एक प्रान्त को लक्ष्य करके हम बनाते हैं या हम लोग यहां बैठ कर साधारण तौर से सब प्रान्त का एक जैसा तरीका है ऐसा ख्याल रख कर बनाते हैं। मेरी समझ में यह अच्छा नहीं है। हम लोग ऐसा बजट बनायें जिसमें हर एक प्रान्त जो गिरे हुए हैं, उनका ख्याल तो अवश्य रक्खा जाये। मैं आप लोगों को यहां कह सकता हूँ कि उड़ीसा एक प्रान्त है जिसमें ७० आदमी में एक आदमी कोढ़ी है, यहां गवर्नमेंट आफ इण्डिया जब बजट बनाती है तब उसमें इसका ख्याल रखना चाहिये कि ७० आदमी में से एक आदमी कोढ़ी बन गया है। हम लोग जब बजट बनायें तो देखना चाहिये कि तमाम मैडीकल (medical) खर्चा उड़ीसा में कितना करना चाहिये।

तीसरी बात मैं यह कहना चाहता हूँ कि हिन्दुस्तान में जहां अकाल होता है उड़ीसा से चावल जाता है और उड़ीसा में आदमी लोग खाने को नहीं पाते हैं। अकाल होता है, उसका सबब यह है कि उड़ीसा में जो फूड प्रोडक्शन (Food production) होता है उसमें से भी हर एक पर्याप्त खाने को नहीं पाता। उड़ीसा में अबोरिजिनल (aboriginal) बहुत है जो अपना देश छोड़ कर आसाम और दूसरी जगह चले जाते हैं। इसका ख्याल हम लोगों को रखना चाहिये कि ऐसे कितने अबोरिजिनल्स (aboriginals) के वास्ते कितना खर्चा हमें बढ़ाना होगा। लोग यहां बहुत ऐसी २ बातें करते हैं, लेकिन जिस देश के भीतर हम लोग रहते हैं, उस देश के एक कोने के आदमी कितने आनन्द में रहेंगे, इसका भी जरा ख्याल रखना चाहिये। दिल्ली में हम लोग बैठ कर यहां भूल जाते हैं कि ऐसे कई प्रान्त हैं, जहां आदमी बहुत दुख में हैं। मैं खास तौर से यह बात कह कर अर्थ सचिव का

[Shri T. T. Krishnamachari]

In the first place I feel that the details of income and expenditure given to this House are not adequate. If it was the intention of the Honourable the Finance Minister to ask for an authentication of the expenditure of Government for 7½ months, I think the details that have been vouchsafed to us is quite all right, but the reason that has been mentioned in the explanatory memorandum that the figures that have not been furnished, which comprise of the figures relating to India before partition, would have no bearing on the figures that are being placed before us is, I think, fallacious. In fact we would like to know whether we ended after 4½ months. The Government has not started in vacuo. I think it is a very serious defect in the budget estimates that are before us.

Within the very short time at my disposal it would be impossible to cover many of the aspects of the budget speech, but I would like to say that while I recognize that my Honourable friend did not have enough time at his disposal, enough time during which he could get a good grip over the financial position of this country, the economic picture that has been presented to us is very incomplete. Sir, certain trends he has noticed and has brought to our attention—an upward trend in prices and the scarcity of consumer goods, scarcity of foodgrains and things of that sort. At the same time it does not seem to me that except for making a sort of overall suggestion as to what could be done, it does not appear that the realisation of these trends has had any bearing on the statement of policy made by him. Sir, I know that my Honourable friend believes in a reduction of prices. He has said so many times in public, but what is being done in that connection? Sir, we have had a summary of the report and the recommendations of the Foodgrains Policy Committee sent to us this morning. I must say that it is not very heartening. I do hope that the Government's ultimate decision will be slightly better. In effect all those recommendations, even if partially accepted, must perforce increase the prices of primary foodgrains for the consumer. The problem that the Honourable the Finance Minister has envisaged before us, the problem of the gap of inflation, is likely to get wider with any increase in the purchase price of foodgrains for the small consumer. Wages are bound to increase, and what does my Honourable friend propose to do about it? Sir, he has mentioned about the added momentum to the inflationary trends in this country of war years' unspent accumulation. But it is a fact, Sir, that is common all over the world that those people who are lowest down in the economic level have been spending any surplus they may have immediately on the cessation of restrictions on imported consumer goods. It is a fact that has to be recognized and something done to meet it. I would have liked to have known from my Honourable friend what is going to be his policy in regard to curbing inflation besides the question of putting additional effort behind the national savings schemes. It is true that so far as the Budget is concerned, it has been welcomed by big business of which I shall have more to say a few minutes later, but I find no indication of realisation of the rather serious situation that is facing us, and if the rumour that goes round is correct, it appears that Government would be favouring a policy of decontrol which with all the consequential psychological effects on the people, would only increase inflationary trends.

One aspect on which I would like to lay some stress is that portion of my Honourable friend's speech in regard to sterling balances. I have had the misfortune to have my knowledge of Central Government finances more or less to grow up with these sterling balances though the sterling balances have grown in geometrical progression and reached proportions approximating to the infinite and my knowledge of public finance is still infinitesimal. My Honourable friend's statement on this matter might probably have been more appropriate if they had come from Sir Archibald Rowlands. In fact I have before me here the budget speech of Sir Archibald Rowlands in which he has held up the sterling balances as something which is sacrosanct, which has to be preserved there, the sterling balances that are in England, will have to be the backbone of the future development and who also doubted the wisdom of frittering away these balances all at once. I found an echo of these sentiments in the speech of my Honourable friend. But is it at all a fact to be so greatly deplored if the sterling balances are frittered away to the extent of 186 crores from the 5th April 1946 to the 5th July 1947? Is my Honourable friend quite sure that we are going to get quite a lot of what is remaining. Has my Honourable friend looked at the other side of the picture of Britain's views on the matter? It is not a question of his regretting the frittering away of these balances on consumed goods, it is not a question of Sir Archibald Rowland's saying that it is all wrong to do so, but a question of what people in England feel about it. I have before me a copy of the Economist dated 19th April, in which there are some remarks in regard to the rapid manner in which sterling balances are being consumed by India, and it says, "It is hard to see how British Authorities can avoid imposing some restrictions upon the use of accumulated balances if the progression of depletion is kept up". Again, Sir, there is further down—a reference to the speech of the Chancellor of Exchequer of England which says—"As the Chancellor said in his Budget Speech, unrequired exports are a luxury of which we can afford very little for many years to come".

Sir, my contention is that if something has come even in the shape of imports which are practically useless, well that is something which has come into this country out of the sterling balances which are now almost semi frozen and I do not think we need regret it. But I do feel that the approach to this question of sterling balances by my friend has to be slightly modified. In fact, our negotiations have all along been on the Secretariat level. The Delegation went from India headed by the Finance Secretary because there was no responsible Member to go with it, and his achievements in the light of subsequent events, in the light of the existence of Article 7 of the Anglo-American Agreement is practically next to nothing. I urge upon my Honourable friend to remember that this matter is a matter vital for the future of this country, as he himself recognises. But it is also a matter where it would not be possible for us ultimately to realise in full, or even a greater moiety, this asset of ours; and if any further negotiations are to be carried on, I hope my friend would be careful about it: it has to be conducted at the highest of levels, has to be conducted with the aid of experts of unrepachable reputation. The matter cannot be trifled with. I would even suggest to my Honourable friend that if necessary he should have to use the only threat that he has in his hands. If Britain would not agree to make an equitable settlement of this matter it will upset all our calculations—the whole speech of my friend in regard to the economic future of this country has been based more or less on the ultimate realisation of those sterling balances of ours. I think it should be clearly stated that if nothing is done, well, the British assets in this country will first be adjusted against the debt that Britain owes to us.

Sir, I have a few words to say in regard to the policy enunciated by my friend in the matter of taxation and in the matter of Government's attitude towards private enterprise. I am sorry my Honourable friend Mr. Munshi who has had a lot to say about it is not here. Of course, I cannot be an advocate for private enterprise that he is, in fact, I hold certain views which probably may not meet with the approval of people who are advocates of private enterprise.....

An Honourable Member: I did not know you are a socialist.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:but so long as we allow private enterprise in some form to flourish, so long as we make the bulk of our taxation dependent on the output of industry, the present type of taxation is not

[श्री लक्ष्मीनारायण साहू]

ध्यान इस तरफ दिलाना चाहता हूँ कि अबोरिजिनल्स (aboriginals) के वास्ते ज्यादा खर्चा करना चाहिये। मेडीकल (medical) में उड़ीसा के वास्ते ज्यादा खर्च करना चाहिये और यह देखना चाहिए कि उड़ीसा के आदमी कैसे खाना पीना ज्यादा पायेंगे। मैं सिर्फ इतना ही कहना चाहता हूँ।

[English translation of the above speech.]

Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu (Orissa: General): Mr. Speaker; I want to speak about one or two things in connection with this budget. Firstly I find that this Budget provides for a huge military expenditure. We people formerly used to level frequent criticism against the British Government that the Military Budget is very heavy and this should not be so much. But today we observe from this that we have surpassed the British even in this respect. This I do not like, this will include so much expenditure that we would not be able to incur any other expenditure. Secondly I would like to say that for this our India do we people prepare the budget after taking into account every Province individually or while sitting here do we prepare it in the usual manner keeping in view that a uniform principle is applicable to each Province. In my opinion it is not good. We people should frame such a budget which will keep in view every Province particularly the deficit Provinces. I can tell you people here that Orissa is a Province where one man out of 70 men suffers from leprosy. In the Budget framed by the Government of India, this fact should be borne in mind that one man out of 70 became leper. We should while compiling the budget visualize the extent to which the total expenditure under the head "Medical" should be incurred in Orissa. Thirdly I want to point out that Orissa supplies rice to the famine-stricken places in India and in Orissa itself people do not get anything to eat. The cause of famine is that out of the entire food production in Orissa, an individual hardly gets enough to eat. Orissa is inhabited by a large number of aboriginals who leave their places and settle in Assam and other places. We should keep the fact in view as to how much expenditure we shall have to increase for such aboriginals. We talk here of too many things, but we should also see whether people in a particular corner of our country are living in happiness. While sitting in Delhi, we people forget that there are so many Provinces where people are living in a miserable state. By referring to this particularly, I would like to draw the attention of the Honourable Minister of Finance that more expenses should be incurred for the sake of aboriginals. Under the head "Medical", more money should be provided to help Orissa. It should also be seen how the Oriyas could be provided with more to eat and drink. I simply want to say this thing.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half-Past Two of the Clock.

*The Assembly reassembled after Lunch at Half-Past Two of the Clock.
Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.*

DELHI AND AJMER-MERWARA RENT CONTROL (AMENDMENT) BILL.

[PRESENTATION OF THE REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE]

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to continue in force certain amendments of the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947.

DELHI PREMISES (REQUISITION AND EVICTION) BILL

PRESENTATION OF THE REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power).

Sir, I present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to confer certain powers in respect of premises in the Province of Delhi.

THE BUDGET—GENERAL DISCUSSION—Contd.

श्री एच० जे० खण्डेकर : सभापति जी, बजट पर का भाषण मैंने माननीय फाइनेन्स मिनिस्टर साहब का सुना और पढ़ा। जो बजट हम लोगों को बांटा गया उसको भी मैंने काफी अच्छी तरह से देखा। इस बजट के कुछ मुद्दों पर मेरे पहले वक्ताओं ने कुछ प्रकाश डाला। मैं सिर्फ दो तीन बातें माननीय फाइनेन्स मिनिस्टर के ध्यान में लाना जरूरी समझता हूँ।

सभापति जी, आप जानते हैं कि किसी भी देश की सरकार का यह काम हो जाता है कि जो पिछड़ी हुई जातियाँ हों उनकी ओर वह ध्यान दे। और सिर्फ ध्यान ही न दे बल्कि उस जमात के ऊपर, उन लोगों के ऊपर काफी पैसा भी खर्च करे ताकि वह दूसरे लोगों के बराबर आ जाय। जब मैंने इस बजट को देखा और जब माननीय फाइनेन्स मिनिस्टर साहब का भाषण मैंने सुना तो उसमें कोई ऐसी बात नहीं पाई कि जिससे इस देश में रहने वाली पिछड़ी हुई जातियों की कोई तरक्की की गई हो। हरिजनों के बारे में अगर मैं कहूँ तो सिर्फ इतनी रकम इस बजट में रखी गई है जो पिछली सरकार ने रखी थी। और मैंने यह सुना है, अगर यह बात सच्ची हो, कि आज की सरकार इसको भी निकाल देने के लिये तैयार है। मुझे याद है, और सभापति जी, आपको भी याद होगा कि कन्स्टीट्यूएण्ट असेम्बली में माइनोरिटीज सबकमेटी (Minorities Sub-Committee) की सिफारिश के अनुसार एक क्लॉज (clause) पास किया गया जिसमें यह बताया गया कि पिछड़ी हुई जातियों के सामाजिक और शिक्षा सम्बन्धी उद्धार के लिये सरकार सदैव ध्यान रखेगी। मगर मैंने यह देखा कि इस ओर कोई कार्य और किसी प्रकार का भी पैसा इस बजट में नहीं है।

दूसरी बात, सारी पिछड़ी हुई जातियों को लेकर और खास कर जिस समाज से मैं आता हूँ उस हरिजन समाज को लेते हुये मैं आपके ध्यान में लाना चाहता हूँ कि इस समाज की इतनी बुरी हालत है कि हर एक सदस्य इस असेम्बली को जानता है कि हरिजनों के उद्धार की जरूरत है। हमारे दुनिया-मान्य नेता पूज्य महात्मा गांधी ने आज २७ सालों से इस चीज का आन्दोलन किया कि हरिजनों का उद्धार हो और वह दूसरी जातियों के दर्जे पर आ जाय। हमें यह उम्मीद थी कि गांधी जी, जिन्होंने आज तक हरिजनों के लिये अपने प्राणों की बाजी तक लगा दी थी, उनके नेतृत्व में अगर कोई राजकीय सत्ता आ जाय, उस समय हमारे हरिजनों का उद्धार हो जायगा। इस आशा से हम आज २७ सालों से बैठे हुये हैं। लेकिन देश स्वतंत्र हो गया, गांधी जी के नेतृत्व में चलने वाला राज्य शुरू हो गया पन्द्रह अगस्त से। मगर उस राज्य के पहले बजट में

[श्री एच० जे० खण्डेकर]

हरिजनों के उद्धार के लिये एक छदाम भी नहीं है। अब हम कैसे उम्मीद करें कि स्वराज्य आने के बाद जिस चीज के स्वप्न हम देख रहे थे वह सारे के सारे स्वप्न हमारे पूर्ण हो जायेंगे। ऐसी उम्मीद कभी हमारे सामने नहीं रही है।

अगर हमारे पीने के पानी की तरफ आप देखेंगे तो हरिजनों की यह हालत है, सभापति जी, कि उनको बारिश के अन्दर कोई कुएं का पानी पीने को नहीं मिलता। जो नाले और नदियां गन्दे पानी से बारिश में बहती हैं उसमें वह जाकर बेचारे पानी पीते हैं। या किसी सवर्ण हिन्दू की मेहरबानी हो जाय और किसी कुएं से वह पानी निकाल दे तो वह उसके घड़े में पानी डाल देता है और वह बेचारा दूसरों की मर्जी पर पानी पीता है।

उनके मकानों को देखिये, मुझे दूसरे प्रान्तों की बात नहीं मालूम है लेकिन जहां से मैं आता हूं यानी सी० पी० से, वहां मकानों की यह हालत है कि कोई भी जाति का हरिजन हो, उसका मकान पूर्व में गांव के बाहर होता है (एक सदस्य : सब जगह वही हाल है) मेरे मदरासी दोस्त कहते हैं सब जगह वही हालत है। तो क्या सरकार का कर्तव्य नहीं है कि अच्छे मकान उनके लिये बनाने के लिये कोई रकम बजट में रखी जाय ? मगर इस बजट में कुछ नहीं है।

यह सारी बातें पानी और मकानों की छोड़ दीजिये। जिसकी आज इस देश के अन्दर बहुत जरूरत है उस शिक्षा के लिये भी इस बजट में कोई बात नहीं है। सब कहते हैं और सब की शाब्दिक सहानुभूति हरिजनों की तरफ है परन्तु सच्ची सहानुभूति जनता के किसी नेता की है न जनता की सरकार की। जनता की पापुलर (popular) सरकार को यह चाहिये था कि हरिजनों की शिक्षा सम्बन्धी सामाजिक और दूसरे उत्थान के लिये उनके लिये काफी से ज्यादा खर्चा किया जाय और बजट में वह रक्खा जाय मगर बजट में उनके लिये कोई गुंजाइश नहीं है। दूसरी पिछड़ी हुई जातियों की तरफ मैं अगर सरकार का ध्यान खींचूं तो इस देश के अन्दर एक करोड़ के करीब ऐसी जाति हैं जिनको स्वराज्य मिलने के बाद आज भी क्रिमिनल ट्राइबज (Criminal Tribes) कहा जाता है। वह पैदा होते हैं उसी दिन से गुनहगार बन जाते हैं। ऐसी भी एक जाति इस देश के अन्दर है, जिनके न घर है न द्वार है। वह तमाम आज एक गांव में हैं, अगर पुलिस ने उन्हें निकाल दिया तो दूसरे गांव में जायेंगे, अगर वहां से भी पुलिस ने हंकाल दिया तो तीसरे गांव में जायेंगे। वह जातियां हिन्दू भी हैं, मुसलमान भी हैं और सब हैं। ऐसी पिछड़ी हुई जातियां, जिनके घर नहीं, जिनके द्वार नहीं, जिनकी शिक्षा का प्रबन्ध नहीं, जिनके लिये किसी प्रकार का प्रबन्ध नहीं है, उनके लिये भी इस बजट में कोई बात नहीं है। किसी तरह का खर्चा इस बजट के अन्दर ऐसी क्रिमिनल ट्राइबज के लिये, ऐसे गुनहगारों के लिये नहीं है।

Mr. Speaker: I may just point out one thing to the Honourable Member. He is entitled to lay before the House the condition of the Harijans and all that; but while criticising this budget, he should remember the distinction as to matters which are primarily the concern of the provinces and those which are the concern of the Government of India. It cannot be expected that the Government of India will budget for all that is primarily to be done by the provinces. I invite his attention to that because he referred to the questions of water-supply, wells, housing and education. These are all matters with which the provincial Governments are primarily concerned. If I am mistaken, I may be corrected by the Honourable the Finance Minister. The provision for these will have to be made by the provincial Governments. Of course the Government of India might give them such subventions or other help as they can; but the Honourable Member should remember that background and then make his speech.

श्री एच० जे० खण्डेकर : सभापति जी, मैं इस बात को जानता हूं कि सूबे की सरकार का क्या काम है और हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार का क्या काम है। उसको मद्देनजर रखते हुये ही मैंने अभी भाषण किया था। हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार का काम मैं जानता हूं कि सेन्टर के सम्बन्ध में आता है। हिन्दुस्तान सरकार में इसके पहले से भी शेड्यूलड क्लास स्कालरशिप बोर्ड (Scheduled Castes Scholarship Board) नाम की संस्था प्रस्थापित की हुई है, और इस संस्था के जरिये अछूतों के बच्चों को स्कालरशिप (Scholarships) देने का काम भी हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार कर रही है। मेरा यह कहना था कि पहली सरकार ने जो कुछ भी काम किया है उससे ज्यादा इस सरकार ने कुछ नहीं किया। और वह स्कालरशिप जो अब दिये जाते हैं हरिजनों के बच्चों को, वह स्कालरशिप इतना पूरा नहीं है जिससे हरिजनों में शिक्षा का प्रसार हो। यही तो मैं कह रहा था कि हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार के बजट में इसके लिये आज कोई प्रोविजन (provision) नहीं है, और इस तरफ मैं आनरेबल फाइनेन्स मिनिस्टर साहब का ध्यान खींचना चाहता था। क्रिमिनल ट्राइबज के बारे में मैं ध्यान खींचना चाहता था। यह सारी चीज हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार पर है और क्रिमिनल ट्राइबज ऐक्ट है, यह हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार का कानून है, और हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार का यह भी उसके साथ फर्ज हो जाता है। अर्थात्, यह बात बजट के वक्त कहने की नहीं है फिर भी, हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार का कर्तव्य हो जाता है कि इस ऐक्ट को फौरन दूर करे। भारत में वह क्रिमिनल ट्राइबज के लोगों को बसाने की कोशिश करे और उनके घर द्वार बनाने के लिये बजट में प्रोविजन (Provision) रखे। इस तरफ मैं सरकार का ध्यान खींचना चाहता था। हाउसिंग (Housing) और पानी के बारे में सिर्फ इतना कहना चाहता था। इसके लिये यद्यपि वह प्रान्तीय सरकार का काम है, फिर भी प्रान्तीय सरकार को इस काम में अगर पैसे की कमी हो, तो उसको ग्रांट (grant) देने के लिये हिन्दुस्तान की सरकार के बजट में कोई जगह नहीं है।

इसके अलावा मैं एक बात और कह दूं, और आपने जो टाइम दिया है उसके पहले ही मैं अपनी स्पीच खत्म कर दूं। दुर्भाग्य की बात

[Shri H. T. Khandekar]

village and if from there also they are shunted off by the Police, then they will move to the third village. Those communities comprise of Hindus, Muslims and others. This Budget also does not contain anything for such backward classes who have no homes, no management for their education and no arrangement of any sort. This budget does not provide for any sort of expenditure for such criminal tribes—for such culprits.

Mr. Speaker: I may just point out one thing to the Honourable Member. He is entitled to lay before the House the condition of the Harijans and all that; but while criticising this budget, he should remember the distinction as to matters; which are primarily the concern of the provinces and those which are the concern of the Government of India. It cannot be expected that the Government of India will budget for all that is primarily to be done by the provinces. I invite his attention to that because he referred to the questions of water supply, wells, housing and education. These are all matters with which the Provincial Governments are primarily concerned. If I am mistaken, I may be corrected by the Honourable the Finance Minister. The provision for these will have to be made by the provincial Governments. Of course the Government of India might give them such subventions or other help as they can; but the Honourable Member should remember that background and then make his speech.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know what are the duties of the Provincial and Central Governments. Keeping this in view, I had just delivered my speech. I know the duties of the Government of India which relate to the Centre. The Government of India had already established before this an institution, namely "Schedule Castes Scholarship Board". The Government of India is already doing the work regarding the grant of scholarships to the children of the untouchables. What I meant to say was that this Government had not done anything more than what was done by the former Government. And the scholarships which are now granted to the children of Harijans are not so adequate so as to spread education amongst the Harijans. This is what I was saying that there does not exist any provision in the present Budget of the Government of India in this respect and I wanted to draw the attention of the Honourable the Finance Minister to this.

I wanted to draw attention towards the criminal tribes. This entire thing devolves on the Government of India. This is a legislation of the Government of India. And consequently it also becomes the duty of the Government of India, viz., this matter need not be brought up at the time of the Budget. Even then it becomes the duty of the Government of India that it should repeal this Act immediately. They should try to settle the 'Criminal tribes' in India and make necessary provision in the Budget for building houses for their habitation.

I wanted to invite the attention of the Government towards this. I simply liked to say this much in regard to housing and water. Although it falls within the sphere of Provincial Subjects, yet there is no provision in the budget of the Government of India for grant to the Provincial Government if it lacks funds for doing this work. They should make provision for it.

Besides this I might say another thing and close my speech before the expiry of the time allotted by you. It is a matter of bad luck, Sir, that for many years we have been longing for this; our society has been yearning for this; there are many people now who do not like Hindu Society, even then their eyes have opened now and they began saying that they were Hindus. What did they use to say an year before? That you know. But I come from that society—I belong to that institution—which institution has always claimed that we are Hindus and shall remain as Hindus. We will mix up with the Hindus and get our rights while living amongst the Hindus. I am one of those people who possess these views.

In spite of this, if I mention about the condition of Harijans, then the ten minutes' time which has been allotted to me is quite inadequate. I can go on describing the condition of Harijans continuously for three days and in course of my description, I can make those people weep who have real love for Harijans. I admit that I am not prepared to call myself a Harijan. I should like to tell the Government that we are Hindus and shall remain as Hindus. We also worship the same Ram-Krishna and shall go on doing so. If you want to treat us with humanity then elevate us as human beings. You may kindly bring us at level with members of the other communities and associate us with you. The Government has to shoulder more burden for this than that falls on the public. I would like to invite the attention of the Honourable Minister for Finance towards these matters and hope that he would make provision on this account in his ensuing budget even if he has not done in the present budget.

The Government of India have reserved 12½ per cent. and 16½ per cent. of posts in Gazetted and Non-gazetted cadres respectively for our community. The entire expenditure relating to the Establishment of the various Departments is included in this Budget. I expect from the Government that it would pay its attention to fill up the quota of Harijans under these posts.

With these words, I conclude my speech.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri (Assam: General): Sir, I come from the province of Assam and I shall confine my remarks specially to the needs and interests of that province. Perhaps I need not have introduced myself to this House and said that I belonged to Assam because that is so obvious. On the first day I came to the Constituent Assembly my Honourable friend Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya told me straightway that I must be from Assam. "Assam is writ on your forehead", he said. An astute politician like him could read in the lines of my forehead the miseries and the age-long injustices that have been inflicted to the province of Assam; and I think other Honourable Members also can guess as accurately as he did.

Sir, I think the Honourable Finance Minister has been given a copy of a memorandum on Assam's Financial Position under the Government of India Act, 1935, and that he has also gone through a leaflet written by an eminent gentleman named Dr. V. K. R. V. Rao in which he has dispassionately and impartially discussed the whole question of financial injustice to Assam. If he has not already come across these pamphlets he may ask his Secretary or his Private Secretary to hunt them out from his waste-paper basket or from some shoved away table where they are lying. Whenever anyone from Assam has approached the Finance Ministers of the past and the present—and possibly it will be the same in the future—with folded hands and asked about the petrol excise duties which are entirely taken away by the Government of India, he is told, "Look here, how can you claim that? Where is this duty levied? What amount of petrol do you actually consume? Beggarly Assam consumes very little of petrol and the bulk of it is consumed by the rest of India. So the tax which is levied on the rest of India should go to India." That is the argument put forward. It is further said, "Who has tapped the source of petrol in Assam? Not you, not an indigenous company. It is the British allies of the Government of India, the Scotch allies of the Government of India, who have founded these companies. Not even a single officer of your country is allowed to serve in this company. Not even the labourers of

[श्री एच० जे० खण्डेकर]

यह है सभापति जी, कि हम लोग कई साल से यह चाहते हैं, हमारा समाज कई सालों से यह चाहता है, इस समय कुछ लोग ऐसे हैं जो हिन्दू समाज को नहीं चाहते हैं, फिर भी अब उनकी आंखें खुल गई हैं और वह कहने लगे कि वह हिन्दू हैं। एक साल पहले वह क्या कहा करते थे। वो आप जानते हैं। मगर मैं उस सुसाइटी से आता हूँ, उस संस्था से आता हूँ जो संस्था सदा के लिये यह कहती रही है कि हम हिन्दू हैं और हम हिन्दू रहेंगे। हिन्दुओं में मिलेंगे और अपने हक हिन्दुओं में रहते ही हम लेंगे। इस ख्याल के जो लोग आते हैं उन्हीं में से मैं हूँ।

इतना होते हुये भी अगर मैं हरिजनों की हालत का वर्णन करूँ तो दस मिनट जो मिले हैं वह बहुत नाकाफी हैं। मैं तो तीन दिन तक हरिजनों की हालत के बारे में बयान कर सकता हूँ और बयान करते करते जिनके दिलों में सचमुच हरिजनों के प्रति प्रेम है उनको रुला सकता हूँ। मैं मानता हूँ कि मैं अपने को हरिजन कहने के लिये तैयार नहीं हूँ। मैं सरकार से कहना चाहता हूँ कि हम हिन्दू हैं और हिन्दू ही रहेंगे। हम भी उसी राम-कृष्ण की भक्ति करते हैं और करते रहेंगे। अगर इन्सानियत का वर्तव्य हमारे साथ आप करना चाहते हैं तो हमें इन्सान बनाइये। जिस तरह से दूसरी जाति के इन्सान हैं उसी मार्ग पर हमको भी रखिये और अपने साथ मिलाइये। इसका जितना बोझ जनता के ऊपर है उससे ज्यादा सरकार के ऊपर है। इन बातों की तरफ आनरेबिल फाइनेंस मिनिस्टर का ध्यान खींचना चाहता हूँ और उम्मीद करता हूँ कि वह इस बजट में नहीं तो आगे आने वाले बजट में इन बातों का प्रोवीजन (provision) करेंगे।

गवर्नमेंट आफ इण्डिया ने हमारी जाति के लिये बड़ी नौकरियों में १२॥ प्रतिशत और छोटी नौकरियों में १६॥ प्रतिशत रिजर्वेशन रक्खा है। डिपार्टमेंटों के इस्ताब्लिशमेंट (establishments) का सारा खर्चा इस बजट के अन्दर पायेंगे। मैं सरकार से यह उम्मीद रखता हूँ कि सरकार इन नौकरियों में हरिजनों का कोटा पूरा करने के लिये ध्यान देगी।

इन शब्दों के साथ मैं अपना भाषण समाप्त करता हूँ।

[English translation of the above speech.]

Shri H. J. Khandekar (C. P. and Berar: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have listened to the Budget speech of the Honourable Minister of Finance. I have also seen very carefully the copy of the Budget which was distributed amongst us. The previous speakers have thrown some light on the certain grants included in this Budget. I should like to bring to the notice of the Honourable Finance Minister only two or three subjects.

Mr. Speaker, you know, Sir, that it becomes the duty of the Government of any country that it should devote its attention towards the backward classes living in that State. Not only should they pay attention but they should also spend sufficient amount of money in order to bring those people of the community at level with others. When I saw this budget and heard the speech of the Honourable Minister of Finance, it did not contain anything which meant to improve the condition of the backward classes living in this country. In referring to Harijans, I can say that the same amount as was provided for by the former Government exists in this budget, and I have heard, if this is correct, that the Government of today is even prepared to exclude this. I remember and Sir, you will also remember, that the Constituent Assembly has in pursuance of the recommendations of the Minorities Sub-Committee passed a Clause which stated that the Government will be careful towards the social and educational uplift of the depressed classes. But I saw in this Budget that neither does it contain any reference towards this nor does it provide for any sort of funds.

Secondly, taking the case of the entire backward classes and particularly the Harijan society to which I belong, I should like to bring it to your notice that this community is placed in such a bad state that every member of this Assembly knows that the conditions of the Harijans should be ameliorated. Our revered and the world-reputed leader Mahatma Gandhi has been agitating the cause of Harijan uplift for the last 27 years so that they be brought at level with other communities. We hoped that if any government works under the leadership of Mahatma Gandhi who had staked his life even for the cause of Harijans, then only the condition of our Harijans could be reformed. We have lived in this hope for the last 27 years. The country has been freed, and Government set up under the leadership of Mahatma Gandhi came into existence on the 15th August, 1947; but there is not a farthing provided for the Harijan cause in the first Budget of this Government. Now how can we hope that all our dreams which we had been visualizing would be realized. No such hope has ever been before us.

If you look towards the water which we drink, you will see, Sir, that the Harijans are placed in such a sad plight that they are not permitted to drink water from the well even during the rainy days. These poor people have to go to the streams and rivulets which flow with filthy water during the rains and drink water from there. If any caste Hindu does a favour he draws out water from the well, and puts it into the pitcher. These helpless people have to drink water at the mercy of others.

Then look to their dwellings—I do not know what is the position in other Provinces; but the place from where I come, viz., Central Provinces, the housing condition prevailing there is that the house of a Harijan to whatever class he may belong is situated towards the east—outside the village. (An Honourable Member: "Everywhere this is the condition"). My friend from Madras says "everywhere the same condition prevails". Then is it not the duty of the Government to provide some amount in the Budget for the building of good houses for Harijans? But this Budget does not contain anything.

Set aside, all these matters regarding housing and drinking water. This budget also does not contain any provision in regard to education which is most urgently needed in this country today. All profess and everybody's lip-sympathy is towards Harijans. But neither the leaders of the people nor their Government has got any real sympathy. It behoved the popular Government of the people to have spent more than sufficient amount for the educational, social and general uplift of the Harijans and that should be provided for in the Budget. But there is no room in the Budget for them. If I draw the attention of the Government towards the other backward classes, you will find that there lives in this country a community numbering about one crore who are still called as 'Criminal Tribes' even after the grant of freedom. They become criminals from the very day of their birth. There lives in this country another community who have no houses. They all are in one village today, if the Police turns them out, they will move to another that company belong to your province. What reason is there to give any share of the petrol duty to Assam? That is the argument which is put forward in support of the denial of the petrol tax. When I go to ask for a part of the export duty on tea to which I am entitled, there is the same sort of reply. "Who are the tea-planters in your province? Not the indigenous people, but the European planters. Nowadays there may be a few capitalists from outside the province also. They have opened up those tea gardens. The bigger officers of those tea gardens do not belong to your province. Your people do not help in the tea estates. The labourers come from different parts of India and not from your province. Where then is your claim to the export duty on tea? The railways and the steamer companies which carry the oil and the tea to the ports do not belong to you. What claims have you got to the share of the export duty on tea?" That is the question which we are asked and it is in vain that we argue that the excise duty on this petrol is depleting incoverably the oil in the province and soon the oilfields will be dry. In vain do we argue that since you give 60 per cent. of the duty on jute to Bengal why should not the same treatment be meted out to Assam? If Bengal can claim a large portion of the excise duty on jute which is grown in that province, why cannot Assam claim the excise duty on tea which is grown in that province? There has been no reply to this in the past and I wonder if the present Finance Minister will follow suit or give us an assurance which will be more hopeful. I have in vain complained to him and to his predecessors that it was unjust and unthinkable and not worthy of any civilized Government to tax betel-nut grown in India and especially to tax the betel-nut which is grown in the province of Assam. There the betel-nut is not cured at all, but the officers of the Government of India do not listen to any argument or reason and they do not care for laws when they administer it in the province of Assam. The House will be surprised to hear that I belong to a community whose position is very much akin to that of the scheduled caste in India. There is not even a single officer in the Central Excise belonging to Assam. If they go about collecting betel-nut duty in the villages they do not understand the language of the people. We do not cure betel-nut there. But there is the ripe betel-nut. We call it "bura tambul". When the village people say this the officers think they are calling them old men. No body likes to be told that he is old. I would turn out my servant and take disciplinary action against my relation, if they said the old man was not in the house and I think every Member of this House will share my view. So when they say "bura tambul" there is a misunderstanding and fighting. Although I have mentioned the fact to the Honourable Minister, even then not a single officer from Assam is appointed, not even for the convenience of the administration.

[Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri]

Lest I make a mistake and forget to say things which I want to say, I would draw the attention of the Honourable Minister to page 6 of the leaflet to which I have referred. The minimum claim of the province is that there should be an increase in the ratio of income-tax receipts allotted to Assam. The provinces of Assam and Orissa are the only two who get only two per cent. of the income tax. Other provinces get more. The Central Provinces get five per cent. and more fortunate provinces like Bombay and Madras get 15 and 20 per cent. and so forth. Then there is the allocation of 75 per cent. of the export duty on tea: an allocation of 75 per cent. of the excise duty on petrol and kerosene: that special attention be paid to the fact that the whole of the excise duty on tea originates in Assam when determining Assam's share in the divisible pool of Central excise duties: a substantial increase in the Central subvention to Assam, to take into account not only the rise in prices since 1937 but also the extra expenditure which the Government of Assam has to incur in view of the largeness of its territory and the location thereof on a frontier separated from the Indian Dominion by Pakistan territory. In these circumstances, it is extremely important that the standard of Government efficiency in Assam must be of the highest order.

Assam has a small population, now estimated at 73 lakhs, but it has a large area measuring nearly 50,000 square miles after the separation of Sylhet. The expenses of Government services per capita in Assam must, therefore be necessarily higher than in other provinces with larger concentrations of population and a consequent smaller cost of overheads per unit of population.

Then again, Assam is one of the backward areas in India in respect of its existing supply of Governmental services. In fact, it is, in some respects, worse than most other areas in India in that it does not possess some of even the elementary insignia of an autonomous Government like a University, a High Court, a Medical College, an Engineering College, etc., and it is essential that these deficiencies should be corrected at the earliest possible moment. I am quoting freely from Mr. Rao's leaflet to which I referred before.

May I continue for two minutes?

I am speaking for the entire area of 50,000 square miles!

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member may take two minutes more.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Last night—I might take the House into confidence—I was reading the order papers and I dreamt a dream. You know, Sir, that Assam was at one time notorious for consumption of opium. Now in Assam you cannot get opium anywhere unless you are prepared to go to the smugglers and that is a risky job. In India it is available in plenty. The generous Government of India cultivates opium in Ghazipur and other places. The Government of India also maintains two quite good factories. The opium consumers of Assam if any now will be grateful to be able to come here provided Honourable Railway Member will give them a free conveyance. Having got so much opium, I took a little opium. And then, Sir, leisurely, leisurely, I was going along until I reached the gates of the residence of the Honourable Minister of Education. There was no Secretary either official or domestic in the compound. The durwan who saw me in khaddar allowed me to go in straightaway without any hindrance. I was taken in the presence of the Honourable Member for Education. He said: "Why have you come?" Fortunately his Secretaries were not there. If I had applied to the Private Secretary for an interview it would have taken me a week or ten days. He asked: "What do you want?" I said: "I want some grant for my University in

3 P.M. Gachati." "Why do you call it Gauhati University? Why not call it Assam University? If you pass from the Gauhati University you would say Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri, B.A. (Gau), which would suggest things like cow protection and the prevention of cow slaughter, etc., etc.; of which we fear so much nowadays? Why not Assam University? But that would also create some difficulties for in that case it would be Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri, B.A. (Ass)!" It struck me that if on that ground they did not give me a grant for the university it would be very unfortunate. So I said, "Sir, take for instance the case of B. C. Bose, M.A. (Oxon). If that is all right, why not B. C. Bose, M.A. (Gau). I am also reminded of another fact. There are so many illustrious educationists from Madras but there does not seem to be a single lunatic asylum in Madras, though you may have Muniswami Pilai, B.A. (Mad)."

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: There are two lunatic asylums in Madras!

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: I stand corrected. Though in dreamy mood these arguments had the desired effect on the mind of the Education Minister. He said, "All right, if I have a free hand in the matter and if the very parsimonious Finance Minister does not stand in the way, I shall give you a suitable grant for the University of Gauhati." All this was in my dream but I do not know what the actual facts will turn out to be. In any case I ask the Finance Minister that the manufacture of opium or cultivation of opium by any civilised people should be stopped, so that no one may be placed in similar false circumstances as I was in my dream.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, we have just listened to a very interesting midnight sojourn by an Honourable Member to the house of a Minister, all in dream, but I hope my remarks will have nothing to do with dreams.

First of all I wish to congratulate the Honourable Minister for his excellent speech and his excellent budget. He has disclosed to the whole world the inherent and sound financial strength of the country at a very opportune moment. The budget has been very favourably received in all quarters and specially in the Stock Exchanges, which are composed not merely of a few gamblers and speculators but also of many very astute financiers and real practical economists who know the effect of the budget on business and the money market as also on the Stock Exchange.

One of the speakers has referred to the gap in the budget of 26 crores. This gap is due to the fact that the figures are all tentative: no accurate figures can be worked upon but it is believed that, other things apart, the estimated deficit would be the nearest approach to a correct guess. The fact that it is left uncovered may be due to the fact that the Honourable Minister is awaiting the result of the 7½ months working that lies ahead of him. However, a balanced budget is a necessity and I hope that the next budget would be a balanced one.

Then there is another kind of gap in the budget. It is about the inadequacy of grant for agriculture. In fact food should receive priority No. 1 and the supreme importance of agriculture from the national point of view is only too obvious and I hope that agriculture will receive greater and greater attention at the hands of the Government.

Much is nowadays said about the nationalisation of industries. It is a very fashionable and attractive catchword and the very mention of nationalisation has a charm about it. It saves people a lot of thinking. But I believe that nationalisation, if at all, should be introduced only very cautiously and gradually and only after long experience. Too quick a switch-over from private management to nationalisation may lead to disaster, as we find evidence of it in the United Kingdom.

Then there is the question of the sterling balances. The Honourable the Minister, it is complained, has merely trodden upon the old path. But it is necessitated by the consideration that sterling balances should be amply available in the United Kingdom for India for the purchase of capital goods, which are imperatively necessary for industrialising the country, which has long been accepted as a national policy.

The last point which I shall deal with is about controls. The blessed controls have created the infamous black markets and their working must have been very familiar to the Honourable Minister and to other members of the Government as to the public. The news of the lifting of the control on sugar has been received in only one quarter in the House with some amount of misgivings but I can assure the Honourable the Minister and the House that it has been received very well in all other parts of this House. Here in New Delhi, in the Western Court, sugar is absolutely scarce. We are supposed to be having our quotas but it is the experience of all that we are taking our porridge, our tea and coffee mostly without any sugar. It has been a new experience and possibly if this state of affairs went on for sometime we should lose all taste for sugar, which perhaps may be for the good. That the price of sugar has gone up, as has been pointed out by you, Sir, is due to a momentary reaction from the normal state of affairs: it does not indicate a permanent tendency. There will be reaction in the opposite direction very soon. Honourable Members of the House would realise what is the actual price at which sugar is actually selling. It is something like Rs. 4 per seer in New Delhi in the black market. There is, it seems, ample sugar in New Delhi, provided you are willing to pay the price. The channels are well known. You pay your money through the recognised channel and the sugar would come. Sugar is dealt with in this way: The sugar quota is supposed to be distributed to a large number of people. Some of them do not want sugar and there are absolutely non-existent people who cannot want sugar. The quotas of people who do not want sugar and those of non-existent persons are collected together with other lots mysteriously procured, are regularly sold in the black market. In my native place, Burdwan, sugar is supposed to be extremely scarce. Yet the sweetmeat shops are very plentiful in their supply. The present District Magistrate went about several shops in disguise and bought some sweets and on careful enquiries he learnt that there was plenty of sugar available from sources not far removed from Government sources. In these circumstances I submit that the lifting of the control on sugar will be well received in the entire country, and sugar will be available to those who are in need of it and can afford to pay the price, but at any rate the higher price would be much lower than the black market price which they have got to pay now. With the elimination of the black market sugar will in due course be available to the public.

The other question is control of cloth. The continuance of cloth-control is a debatable matter, but I find with considerable amazement that the present Government is repeating the arguments of the past. In fact the argument of the members of the present Government when they were outside the Government was exactly the argument which is being advanced by us, namely, "relieve the controls and things will adjust themselves". But then the late Government used to say "there is not enough cloth to go round and therefore we must have control". This argument was then regarded as pure bluff and it is a wonder that the same arguments are repeated by the present Government also. There is I believe enough cloth. The only question is how to procure it. From the Control Departments in the mofussil in the Province of West Bengal people are allowed to get only 9 yards of cloth per head per annum, but by a strange anomaly the people in Calcutta get 25 yards. As to why this distinction exists nobody can say. But 9 yards of cloth, I submit, for the whole year is hopelessly insufficient. On the basis of the 9 yards quota people will have to go about almost naked. Yet we find people wearing cloth considerably over the 9 yards quota. How does this cloth come in, and wherefrom does it come? It comes from the black market, and it enters the black market from the factories and other sources through well established channels. The entire cloth that is manufactured is divided into two parts: one goes through ill-concealed secret channels into the black market and the other goes through the government channel and is supposed to be the entire cloth available. A large part of it again goes from here to the black market through well established channels. The 'available' supply is mathematically distributed per head impartially on paper amongst all. I submit that if cloth control is lifted, the cloth available will seek its natural level, the black market would go and probably on the whole things would become much better. Indeed, the controls have introduced a large variety of sins in the services and in our public life, and I believe that the cloth control should be removed as soon as possible and things should be allowed to adjust themselves in due course.

These are some of the general remarks which I feel called upon to submit at this stage.

Shri C. Subrahmanyam (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to congratulate my Honourable and esteemed friend Mr. Shanmukham Chetty on his becoming the first Finance Minister in free India and also on the opportunity afforded to him to present the first budget of free India. Sir, in his speech he has reviewed the financial position of our Government and has assured us that while there is no room for complacency there is absolutely no reason for despair or pessimism. We are glad about it. But the prosperity of a nation does not depend entirely upon its financial position or upon its having a balanced or a deficit budget. It depends entirely upon the production of wealth in the country. Viewed from that aspect I am afraid the picture is rather gloomy and dark. We are short of the most essential commodities such as food, cloth and building materials. As long as we are short of these essential commodities you may deflate your currency, you may withdraw the surplus money in the hands of the common man, but you are not going to solve the problem. Therefore the first problem before the National Government is to step up production of these articles and see that it is wisely distributed. That should be the concern of the National Government.

Regarding industrial production I wish to say a few words. It is agreed that since the war and during the war production has gone down on an enormous scale and that the question has become a matter of national importance. It is not merely the concern of the employer and the employee; it has become the concern of the entire nation. Because of the decrease in production we are faced with a grave economic crisis. How we are going to solve it is the problem. It is said that it is entirely and mostly due to labour unrest and strikes. It is true, but the stating of that problem does not solve it. The entire thing depends upon how you are going to tackle this labour problem. I am not going to enter into the controversial question of nationalisation of industry or private enterprise. I am content with taking stock of the situation as it exists now. Most of the industries are in private hands. There is decrease in production and the reason is said to be labour unrest. True. As far as I can see there is nothing unnatural in labour being discontented or there being unrest in their midst. In my opinion it is a legacy of the war. During the war enormous profits were made by the capitalists. Leaving alone the secret profits made, the legitimate profits alone that the capitalists made were very huge. On the other hand labour was not getting its due return. Because of the restrictions during the war they were not able to agitate and get their grievances redressed. Even after the war if the same state of affairs continued is there anything unnatural in their being discontented? We have therefore to solve the problem taking into account one fact that there is bound to be unrest in the state of affairs which now exists. To my mind the only way in which this problem can be tackled is by the introduction of some sort of a system by which profits can be shared by capital and labour. In the present industrial set up, however much a labourer may produce he is not in any way benefited. The only inducement therefore can be a sense of patriotism that in this national crisis it is the duty of every person to produce to his maximum possible capacity. Appeals have been made by the Finance Minister that labour should co-operate. I know that he is also connected with labour in the sense that he has employed labour in his mills and he knows their problems to a certain extent. But, however much we appeal to them and from whatever quarter the appeal might come, unless there is an inducement for labour to produce more, I do not think we can achieve any results. Therefore the only way this problem can be solved is to find out a way by which whenever there is an increase of production labour will be benefited to that extent, and not only the capitalist or the employer. That is why I said some sort of a sharing of profits system should be introduced. When I say that I realize the entire implications of the proposal. It is said in some high quarters that if we accept this principle then comes the question of what would be the due share of the capitalist, what would be the share of labour, what should be allowed for reserves after which it is to be shared by the capitalist and labour. During war years capital has been making enormous profits, and if we take into account the dividends paid in war years we will find that each person who has invested capital has sometimes received more than twice the amount in dividends. That being the case, in a national crisis, in the face of the economic crisis which is facing us, cannot the capitalists sacrifice to the extent of saying "we will be content with a much smaller extent of the profits than to which we would ordinarily be entitled"? Certainly it is only those who are in a position to sacrifice should be asked to sacrifice and not the poor people who are not in a position to eke their livelihood even as it is. Therefore in fixing the return to be paid to labour, this circumstance should be taken into consideration.

Another thing, Sir. In view perhaps of the fact that some such thing is likely to come, the capital of many companies has been inflated to a great extent; reserves have been converted to capital and bonus shares have been issued, so much so that inflated capital is shown on the books now. So when we go into this question, all these things should be taken into consideration and a sort of profit sharing system should be introduced so that labour may have incentive to work to produce more. Therefore in working the existing plans to the maximum capacity, Sir, this is the only way in which we can give incentive to labour. The only way to increase production is to launch new schemes of industrialisation. It is only in this respect that the utilisation of sterling balances come. But certain sentiments were expressed by my Honourable friend Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari taking exception to the views expressed by the Honourable Finance Minister in his speech in the earlier part of the day. After his speech, I went through the Finance Minister's speech rather carefully and as far as I am concerned—and I may confess, Sir, I am not a financial expert—there is nothing exceptional in the views expressed by the Honourable Minister. In speaking about sterling balances, these are the words of the Finance Minister:—

"These balances represent the entire foreign exchange reserves of this country and it is of the utmost importance that they should not be lightly frittered away on import of unessential and luxury articles or on luxury living in foreign countries for they thereby reduce pro tanto the capacity of this country to finance capital and developmental expenditure abroad."

I do not see how anyone can take exception to this even though it may have come from the mouth of Sir Archibald Rowlands. So, Sir, unless the National Government tackles this problem with bold imagination, we will not be able to avert this economic crisis. Regarding agricultural production also, I would like to say one word. It is admitted not only by the Finance Minister, but by the Honourable Minister for Food also, that the Grow More Food Campaign has not yielded the expected results. Then why go on spending in the same old way? Why not we have some other scheme? In my view the Grow More Food Campaign and other things are only tinkering with the problem. The entire problem is uneconomic holdings which exist everywhere, the want of capital in the hands of the ryot to make further improvements. These are the main problems which we have got to tackle, and we have also got to decide whether we are going to apply the modern scientific appliances which are used in the West for the purpose of farming. All that the Government have got to take into consideration and see that the gap between requirement and production is filled up as soon as possible. My appeal to the Government is this: Ultimately they are not going to be judged by a balanced budget or a deficit budget, but the sole criterion of the judgment will be how far the standard of the common man has been raised. I hope the Government would deal with the problem with that factor in view.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru (U. P.: General): Mr. Speaker, the Finance Minister has, as we all expected, presented us with a deficit budget. The estimates of revenue and expenditure, which he has told us are tentative, show that a deficit of about 26½ crores may be expected at the end of the year. But as these figures are tentative, it is quite possible that the deficit may become greater. It is necessary therefore for us to consider whether the gap between revenue and expenditure can even in the present circumstances be bridged over or at least narrowed appreciably. My Honourable friend the Finance Minister said when presenting his budget that so far as interest charges or rather the interest and pensionary charges were concerned, he was debiting the entire amount to the Indian Dominion as no agreement had been arrived at between the Indian and the Pakistan Governments on this subject. If newspaper reports are correct, it appears that the Pakistan Government have agreed to be responsible for 17½ per cent. of this liability. This should reduce our tentative deficit by about 4½ crores.

Again, Sir, it is well known that the income-taxes are being systematically evaded. This matter has come repeatedly before the legislature in the past and attempts have been made by strengthening the staff of the Income-tax Department and in other ways to prevent this. But I do not think that the Government have yet either adequately strengthened their staff or taken such other measures as they could in order to stop the loss of revenue which takes place year after year. I am afraid, Sir, that the heavy tax on personal incomes which was imposed early this year has had the effect of increasing the previous marked tendency to the evasion of income-tax. It should have been obvious to the Government that apart from the effect of the taxation on the economic development of the country, it would increase the existing corruption if it was imposed before adequate arrangements were made to prevent the evasion of the taxes on income. This is a serious matter, and I have no doubt that my Honourable friend Mr. Shanmukham Chetty is perfectly aware of it. He understands the matter perhaps better than any other Member of this House, and I trust therefore that though he himself is a capitalist, although the other day he modestly denied that he was, he will take stringent and immediate steps to secure for the Government what is justly due to it.

Sir, the Finance Minister in his Budget Speech has repeatedly expressed the hope that the Defence expenditure would come down; and it seems to me that according to him the prospect of reducing the expenditure and thus improving our budgetary position depends mainly on the decrease which he expects in the expenditure on the Defence Services. I know, Sir, that if the expenditure continues at the present level, it will amount to Rs. 147 crores a year. This will certainly be a heavy burden for a poor country like India. But we are living in exceptional times and although I am one of those who have lost no opportunity of stressing in the past the need for bringing down military expenditure, I think that the matter should be dealt with in the present circumstances with the utmost care. I am personally glad that the Government of India have decided to have an Army of 260,000 officers and men at least till the 31st of March, 1948. I wish that the situation may so improve as to enable us to reduce our expenditure substantially, but I am strongly inclined to think that for at least a year or two more wisdom and expediency require that the strength of our Army should not undergo reduction.

Apart from this, Sir, I feel that our Air Force and Navy should be strengthened. I am glad to learn from the Finance Minister's speech that the matter is already under the consideration of the Government of India. If these Services are properly developed, I am afraid that the Finance Minister's hope of economy in Defence expenditure will vanish slowly. Both these Services are expensive. If we develop the Air Force alone adequately, as I think it should be developed, the expenditure on it will be heavy, very heavy indeed.

But whatever the expenditure, Sir, I think we should not shrink from it in the best interests of the country. I am not a militarist; I should not like to threaten the independence or security of any country in the slightest degree; but I do want that in these times of danger we should provide adequate insurance for our national existence.

Speaking about the Air Force, Sir, I venture to express the opinion that it badly requires an adequate number of bombers. Anyone who looks around himself at present and who takes an intelligent interest in Defence matters, will I think agree with me that the greatest deficiency in our Air Force is in respect of bombers and I think it ought to be removed as quickly as possible.

Just one or two points about the economic situation, Sir, before I resume my seat. My Honourable friend Mr. Shanmukham Chetty, discussing towards the end of his speech the future economic position of the country, emphatically assured us that it was healthy. The House, I know, was glad to have this assurance. I am not a pessimist, Sir, I am a believer and a whole-hearted believer in the future of this country. I know that it has immense resources both in men and money. But for the present my Honourable friend the Finance Minister will excuse me if I feel some hesitation in sharing his robust optimism. The economic position of the country will depend not on our budgetary position in the present year or the next year or the year after that, but on the level of production attained by us. Now, on this subject the remarks made by my Honourable friend do not inspire much hope of a rapid development; all that he hopes for is that by the end of next year the old level of production in respect of cloth, coal, steel and cement may be restored. Perhaps when he made this remark he had other commodities in view too. Sir, while it is something that an effort is being made to attain our previous levels of production by the end of the next year, one can scarcely regard it as part of a programme for the rapid development of the country. Now, if this is our position in respect of our economic development, it is not easy to be very hopeful about our position in the immediate future.

Again, Sir,—and this is the last point that I shall deal with—the Finance Minister, speaking of our economic development told us that increased production by itself would not enable us to make our future secure. He has stressed the need for the stabilisation of prices and “for pegging money incomes at an agreed and acceptable level, so that the increased volume of trade resulting from the increase of production may neutralise the inflationary effects of a large volume of uncovered money income”. I am sure, Sir, that every member who is interested in this subject will agree with the Finance Minister's views, but is the future very hopeful in this respect?

An Honourable Member: It is, theoretically, not practically.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: It seems that the policy of rapidly removing control over those commodities which the Government of India regulate at the present time has been accepted by the Cabinet. It is hoped that while certain articles might be rapidly de-controlled, control might be maintained over a few foodgrains so long as it may be necessary. According to the recommendations of the majority of the Foodgrains Policy Committee, the import of food from abroad should be discontinued by the end of 1948. Now, Sir, we are all aware of the corrupt practices that are going on and which have been produced by the existing controls. But two things are clear: that there is scarcity and that it is our duty to see that the poor man gets his food at prices within his reach, and that unless agricultural production goes up considerably, the discontinuance of the import of food would only mean widespread starvation. We might see once again the scenes that were witnessed in 1943 in Bengal.

An Honourable Member: It is a national government now, it will not happen.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Apart from that, Sir, it will be virtually impossible to maintain control over foodgrains while de-controlling other commodities. If you allow articles, which the cultivator needs, to be sold at any [Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru] prices, it must be obvious to the meanest intelligence that the cultivator would put irresistible pressure on the Government to remove the controls on his produce. The policy which seems to me to have been adopted by Government is thus full of grave social risks. It is in addition fraught with grave economic risks. That crises are bound to arise no one doubts. The manner in which the price of sugar has shot up from Rs. 19-12-0 a maund to Rs. 50 a maund in Cawnpore

An Honourable Member: That is only temporary.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: shows the danger of the policy which the Government of India seem determined to follow. Now, it may be, Sir,—and there are I know some men who think—that this effect will be temporary. I do not know on what grounds this hope is based.

An Honourable Member: Past experience.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Past experience is completely opposed to this facile assumption.

An Honourable Member: The example of oil seeds is there.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: I have no time to discuss the question of oil seeds, but surely the case of oil seeds is not in favour of those who want the rapid removal of controls.

Now, to revert to my point, we have the example of America before us. It is a land of plenty, but de-control there was followed by inflation and now President Truman has asked the Congress to agree to the re-imposition of price control. Our position is much worse than that of the United States. How then do we hope that the inflationary effect of de-control will be only temporary? How then do we hope that it will not be lasting and far-reaching? And if my apprehensions turn out to be true, we shall be faced with irresistible demands from labour, from the employees of the various Government departments—the Railways, the Post Offices, the Telegraph Department and so on—for heavy increases in their salaries. The vicious spiral of inflation will then be set up and I do not know what will happen to the economic position of the country. For these reasons, Sir, while I agree with the Finance Minister that our resources in men and money are ample and that if a wise policy is pursued we can feel assured of a balanced and rapid development, I do not feel very optimistic about the future. Indeed, Sir, I view it not merely with deep anxiety but with anguish. I shall be happy if my apprehensions do not turn out to be true, but I shall be failing in my duty if I do not say that the policy of the Government is so full of risks as to be regarded as irresponsible by the people at large.

Shri O. V. Alagesan (Madras General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is not for me to criticise the Budget. I only want to make a few suggestions which, I think, would be useful. The first Budget presented in free India by the Honourable the Finance Minister—and he took justifiable pride in being the first Finance Minister to present the first Budget of free India—is a deficit one. In fact the financial deficit in the Budget only reflects the deficit of food and the deficit of faith that we find in the country today. But for two important factors the Budget would not be a deficit one. First comes food. The Honourable Member that spoke previous to me alluded to decontrol and emphatically opposed it. It is by the way and I want to present the other side of the picture. Much is said about the fact that the price of sugar has shot up after decontrol. In Madras grams and pulses were decontrolled and the prices have gone down by Rs. 20 per bag. I am not urging the House to come to any conclusion just now, but I only place the other side before the House for whatever it is worth.

Now, Sir, food is the biggest question today. It is increasingly realized that we cannot depend upon foreign imports any more; we cannot go with the begging bowl to foreign nations and beg at their doors. Ours is mostly an agricultural country and it should be a matter of shame to us to go and beg at other's doors. We have been exploiting the grievances of the agriculturist before we attained freedom and now when we are just free, what is the treatment that we mete out to him? When I say, agriculturist, I mean both the small Pattadar and the agricultural labourer who works on the land though he may not possess land. I do not hold any brief here for big people who own thousands of acres and more. They may come under the category described by my Honourable friend, Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari, and I think they are not even as omnipresent as their counterpart, the industrial capitalist. The poor agriculturist who really feeds the nation and who is "the Mother of the Nation" is not properly looked after. The Government must go all-out to aid the poor agriculturists. That is the way to solve this food problem and not to export our money and import food of indifferent quality. Just as a son generally does after attaining majority,—he ill-treats the mother or does not look after her properly,—so perhaps free India behaves towards its mother. I am sorry for it. When Rajen Babu, one of the foremost among our leaders took the Portfolio of Food, all India rejoiced. We expected revolution in Agriculture, but the results are not quite satisfactory. I do not blame the Honourable Minister, but the fact is there. The Honourable the Finance Minister in his Budget speech adverting to the Grow More Food Campaign has spoken as follows: "The results of the Grow More Food Campaign have been on the whole disappointing". Several Honourable Members who preceded me also have touched on that subject. I want to place before the House one or two concrete instances. Under the Subsidy Scheme wells were sunk in Provinces. I can tell you that out of every ten wells sunk in the earth, one well was sunk in the pocket of the official concerned. By prosecuting the Grow More Food Campaign, in this manner the result has not been what we wished it to be.

With regard to the question of prices, the recommendations of the Food-grains Policy Committee are there before us. They were released just this morning and I think the House will debate it sufficiently and I am told that a day has been set apart for it. Then it will be time for us to thrash out all the aspects of the question, but before that I want to tell the Government that they who refused, because of red tape, to increase the prices; they are prepared to throw away crores and crores of rupees to foreign countries for food which, as I said, is of indifferent quality. This reminds me of what used to happen in foreign countries. In order to keep up prices they used to destroy their goods. You are not willing to pay your own cultivator, but you are willing to pay double the amount to the foreigner. You say the inflation will be there; you do not hesitate to punish your own cultivator who feeds you and you throw your money at the foreigner even without his asking for it. I think this is the worst spot in the administration of food in the country to-day. I do not want to discuss the index figures as I have no time but shall do so, if I am given time, during the Food debate. It is a shortsighted policy not to treat the agriculturist properly and to aid him in every possible way as the majority of the cultivators are people who own only five or ten acres and the big landlords can be counted on one's fingers ends.

Another important thing is the question of agricultural labour which also should be tackled without delay. Otherwise, there is the danger of food production being hampered to a very great extent.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not refer to the 'deficit of faith' in the country. Of course we are not solely responsible for it; our neighbouring country; our erstwhile countrymen are greatly responsible for it; I do realize it. After we left Delhi after the last session of the Constituent Assembly, a storm as it were blew over Delhi. The whole foundation of the new State was shaken. For any democratic life or ordered progress law and order is absolutely necessary and we are fortunate in having a very strong man at the helm of affairs and peace was restored and everybody concerned can be proud of it. Mahatma Gandhi who, though as our Honourable the Prime Minister said the other day did not work the same miracle which he worked in Bengal, contributed mostly towards that miracle, but all the non-miracle part of it, I should say, was accomplished by the Madrased Troops. I wish to pay a tribute—and I have no doubt the House will join me in this—to these Madrased troops who accomplished a difficult and not quite a pleasant task. They saved the Capital, Delhi, and thereby saved the whole of India. We should be thankful to them. Instead I know there is a great prejudice against them and I think that prejudice to a certain extent is reflected even against the civil population, who hail from Madras, and in the present time I do not think it would be advisable to employ any more Madrased troop to put down disturbances in the North. I hope Government will consider it.

[Shri O. V. Alagesan]

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala (Bihar: General): Sir, I will deal with one point which I consider to be very important and which is standing in the way of all our production. The most important thing which should engage—and I think is engaging—the attention of Government is to have more production. In the last Budget speech we were given to understand that we are going to have nationalised industry and the budget was all framed in such a way as would stifle private industry.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Shrimati G. Durga Bai (one of the Panel of Chairmen)].

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: I rise to a point of order. With due deference to the Chair but in all seriousness I should like to know if there is any precedent either in this House or in any other Dominion Parliament for a lady taking the Chair; it will be unthinkable in the British House of Commons which is the mother of all Parliaments.

An Honourable Member: That is a backward country.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: If there is no precedent we will create one.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena (U.P.: General): Even in this House Mrs. Swaminadhan was on the Panel of Chairmen.

Mr. Chairman: The point raised has been answered by Mr. Saksena.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: I was saying that last year's Budget was so framed as to stifle private industry. In the present Budget speech the Finance Minister said that it was not the object of this Government to stifle private industry but to take them along with nationalised industries; and one of the hints that he has given is that he is going to revise the whole taxation policy. When the Congress Ministries came in 1935 we were discussing whether we should have more production through cottage industries or through large scale industrialisation. Our Governments were not united in their views and we could not therefore do anything. We had a Planning Committee appointed and plans were made, but this was only planning of ideas and nothing could be given effect to. I am not concerned as to whether we should have private or nationalised industries, but we must have some method by which we may have more agricultural as well as industrial production so that we could meet the demands of the people here and stop the import of foodgrains and other consumer goods. The problem is, as I said, of having more production and Government should decide whether we should have private or nationalised industries. One test of that should be that the fruits of the industries should be properly and equitably distributed among all people so that the common man gets the best advantage out of them. Another test is that we should have most economic and efficient production. Judged by these two tests we should decide whether we should encourage private or nationalised industry. Not knowing which to adopt, we have not been able to make any progress towards any kind of production. People are under suspense as to whether they should take to any adventure not knowing as to what the policy of the Government may be. We go to the agriculturists and tell them that we are going to have co-operative farming, we are going to get tractors and manures from outside, and so on; and the psychological effect has been that the cultivators have been slow and indolent in their work. Not only that, but even our officers, our Ministers and our provincial Governments do not know whether things are going to be done in this way or in that way. Even the old methods of cultivation are not being carried out to their full extent. If we go to Government for help even for old type of agricultural implements and proper seeds and manures they say that these are very minor things and they have no time to look to these and these are neglected resulting in less production. Those things are neglected and those things which we want to have more and more on a large scale we are not getting. Now we are importing about Rs. 100 crores worth of foodgrains from outside. If this is three per cent. of the foodgrains produced in our country to meet the demands here, I can say, Sir, with confidence, even if no tractors are brought, if no manures are brought from outside, but proper care is taken to supply ordinary implements to the cultivators and proper seed is given to the cultivators, and if our provincial Governments take it into their heads to see that the wants of the cultivators are met in that way, then increase in production will not be a very heavy task. We can do it in two years time and stop the import of foodgrains worth Rs. 100 crores from abroad that is a great strain upon our economy.

Madam, as I have said before, the Government should make up its mind. It is no use saying we are going to have private industries; we are going to have nationalised industries; we are going to have tractors; we are going to have co-operative farming; we are going to have this and that. The Government must put before the House and before the public a concrete proposal as to which of the industries they are going to have as nationalised industries and which of the industries they are going to have as private industries, and whether they are going to have control over the private industries, and if it is for control, what kind of control they are going to have. Unless the Government makes all these points clear, I do not think there will be any impetus to the public to come forward with their money and invest them in industry or to take to any other kind of production.

Shri Upendra Nath Barman (West Bengal: General): With due respect to the Chair, at the fag end of the day, I would like to submit a few words to this House for the consideration of the Honourable Finance Minister and the Ministry as a whole.

The whole debate has hinged upon principally two matters: one is agriculture or grow more food: and the other is industry—either nationalised industry or private industry.

As regards the first, the Honourable the Finance Minister has given us a complete picture of the past, and has frankly admitted that for the last three years, it has been a failure. As a result of that, crores and crores of rupees have been spent, both on account of purchasing foodgrains and as a subsidy of foodgrains purchased from outside. He has given us that picture. But he has not given us the picture of the future. We are left in the lurch to think what is going to be done by the Government in this regard so far as the future is concerned. Are we going to spend huge amounts of money and deplete our sterling balances in England in this way for all time to come, or are we providing for the future so that we may be saved from this drain?

[Dr. V. Subrahmanyam]
viz., that when the state wants to take up that industry no compensation must be claimed by the owners of that industry. If rules or laws are made in this regard there will be no difficulty. The State can at any time socialise the industry if it wants.

As regards income-tax, we can increase our revenue through income-tax. The Income-tax Department is not properly functioning, that is to say, if our revenue from income-tax is 20 crores it can easily be doubled from the same incomes. Only 50 per cent. of the income is being charged by the officials of the department. Even though certain suggestions are brought to them they are not prepared to charge those people that amount of income-tax, supertax and excess profits tax that they should. I can give many instances. They will be brought forward during the time of the next budget but I say this only for the consideration of the Honourable the Finance Minister when he draws up the next budget.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar (Madras: General): Madam, at this late hour it would be difficult for me to say very much. There are two points I want to make. One is the situation of the capital of India which requires consideration. From various points of view I think this is the best opportunity for considering that question. Madam, Delhi is in one corner of India. Its climate is anything but satisfactory for the greater portion of the year.

An Honourable Member: Question.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: There is no use of merely questioning because it is a fact. For four months in the year it is very hot and for three months it is too cold. It is too far away from most of the Provinces. I tried to find out the distances from the various Provinces to Delhi and I find that almost from every important Province two days will have to be spent for reaching Delhi. A more central place will be certainly necessary for more reasons than one, as I have said. Strategically I do not think the place has got any advantage—it is rather the other way. We have seen during the past few months the amount of trouble we had to pass through on account of the position which the capital occupies. For these reasons I should very earnestly request the Government to consider this matter. I do not expect an offhand reply from the Honourable the Finance Minister immediately. I am glad that the Honourable the Home Minister is also here. They may consider this question seriously. I will also say this. This is the opportunity for considering this matter.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C.P. and Berar: General): Which place will you suggest?

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: I would suggest a place like Betul near Nagpur. It will be geographically a central place. It is said to have an equable climate throughout the year. It has got facilities for water supply and electricity. It is said to be in every way suitable.

I was just saying that this is the best opportunity for considering this question because the East Punjab is searching for a place for its capital. Then there is the question of the Military headquarters for which very costly buildings will have to be put up. There is also the question of putting up buildings for the North Western Railway. Madam, the cost of all these buildings taken together will more than compensate the expenditure that will have to be incurred in building a new capital at Betul or any other place like that. It is for these reasons that I want the Government to seriously consider this question before they finally make up their mind to give a contribution for building a capital for East Punjab or for putting up their own buildings for the Military and the Railway.

The only other question, Madam, about which I want to speak is the question of control about which my friend Mr. Kunzru showed so much anxiety. I come from a place which is probably not only the most deficit of all the Provinces in India but the most deficit of all the Districts in the Madras Province itself. So I know what it exactly means. The control has been the curse of the whole situation. It has also been the disaster because disaster comes this way, namely, that all those who were growing foodgrains before have taken to growing economic crops now because the economic crops pay better. That has been the disaster of this control instituted by the Government of India. Madam this idea of rationing organated in Madras. I for one had a part in proposing the rationing of towns which were likely to be affected by the Japanese attacks. There we thought only of supplying from the surplus areas to the urban areas which were likely to be affected. We chose about 58 places which were most likely to be affected by attacks from Japan. We kept two months' supply in each one of those areas. Otherwise we allowed the rural areas to manage for themselves. For two years we were able to manage like that. There was absolutely no sort of trouble in spite of the fact that there was some purchase made for the Military and there was some export of foodgrains to Ceylon. In spite of all that we were managing. I will assure Mr. Kunzru that if you go back to the old order of things there will be no sort of risk, there will be no sort of experiment or anything like that. We will be only going back to a state of affairs where everything was going on well without anxiety and without trouble. Now we have got this chance of getting supplies from outside countries as well. When we have got this chance and when we can make our own surplus areas to supply the towns, I think that the rural areas may very well be left alone to manage their own affairs. The surplus areas will be able to supply the needs of the urban areas. I do not suggest at present the decontrol of distribution in the urban areas, at any rate in my Province—because we have been so much used to this control that it will be difficult to take it away immediately. We will have to do it gradually. We will have to retrace our steps in the same gradual way in which we proceeded from the beginning. So I would suggest let us go back to the arrangements we were having in 1942 and 1943 before this overall control was instituted. As regards control itself I will say only this, namely that there is now no sort of guarantee that the villagers will get their supply. In my own district in the month of April for three weeks there was no supply given. In the month of June only 5 ounces were given for two weeks. In spite of it they were asked to manage themselves. Is this the proper way of controlling the distribution? I will only say this that if the Government will take away this control, keeping it only for ensuring the supply of foodgrains for deficit areas for the present and if the consumer's price is fixed, I am sure things can be managed. I made an enquiry quite recently in the Circars, one of the surplus areas in our Province. I was able to find that the producers there are prepared to get into direct touch with the deficit areas. They are prepared to send paddy and rice directly to the consumers' shops and thereby save a lot of money. The procurement price is now Rs. 10-8-0 a maund in our Province whereas the consumer's price is now Rs. 17-8-0. There is a margin of Rs. 7 on a maund. That is the sort of thing we have got, and that is the deplorable state of things which I want Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari and others to note—a difference of Rs. 7 between the producer's price and the consumer's price. Is that fair? If this control is taken away and if producers and consumers are allowed to make their own arrangements I am sure the producers will be satisfied with the margin of Rs. 5 or 6 which will be available to them and everything will go on well. I will assure Mr. Kunzru that no sort of calamity will happen if the control is taken away.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Madam Chairman, I must at the outset express my grateful thanks to my Honourable friends in this House for the generally cordial reception that they have accorded to my budget state-

[Shri Upendra Nath Barman]

The next point I would ask the Honourable the Finance Minister to make clear before the House is this: there has been much debate upon the question whether industry for the future India should be nationalised or whether it should be left to private industrialists. It is admitted by us all that there is scope for both but there is one sentence in this budget speech which I would like to read. Speaking about the "Ways and Means" the Honourable the Finance Minister says:

"Government issued early this month a fifteen year loan for Rs. 40 crores carrying interest at two and three quarter per cent. with facilities for holders of the 3½ per cent. Loan, 1947-50, falling due for discharge on the 15th of that month to convert their holdings. The loan was issued at the beginning of the busy season and was not expected to be over-subscribed. But the public still seem to be hesitant in taking up Government loans and if their holding off is due to any lingering doubts about the responsibility for the repayment of the outstanding debt, I hope they will be reassured by what I have stated elsewhere that the Indian Dominion remains responsible to the bond-holder. . . ."

On this point, reading between the lines of the two assertions, it is not clear to us what policy Government is going to follow so far as private industry is concerned. As regards big industries, it is admitted by one and all, both by the Government and the speakers in this House that they must be nationalised. But as I read out from the statement of the Honourable the Finance Minister, he finds it difficult to get them loans from the public because the public is hesitant to invest in Government loans. What is the psychological cause that, though India is independent today and speaker after speaker has said that during the war time crores and crores of rupees have been earned by the capitalists and other persons and associations, this money is not forthcoming to fill the Government coffers so that Government may launch on vigorous industrialisation? To my mind the main psychology of the investors is this. If they invest their money through Government or in Government loans, they will get a limited percentage of interest; but if they invest their money in private enterprise they can make enormous profits as they have done so long and certainly expect to do it in the future. Government should declare its policy so far as private enterprise is concerned. To my mind Government should make a considered declaration that so far as private industries are concerned—this is the maximum limit that Government will allow profits and no more and then it will be for the investor to think whether they should invest their capital in Government securities or they should invest their money in private enterprise. Until and unless that is done, the public will remain hesitant as they are today.

One point I would like to mention about the position of West Bengal today. There is very little time, and I need not recount before this House the position that West Bengal occupies today in the map of India and the circumstances under which she is labouring today. When I consulted the budget proposals, I found two items under which no allocations had been made yet. Possibly the Government had not come to any definite design yet: One is the duty that is levied on jute, and so long Bengal has been the main producer of jute. Now we find from page 4 of the explanatory memorandum that the share of jute duty assigned to the province is 80 crores. It is not known whether Government is going to change the quota that Bengal used to get so long. We hear that it is going to be done this time because Bengal has been partitioned.

There is another item as regards income-tax share. From the amount payable to provinces under the Nemeyer Award, Bengal had been enjoying 20 per cent. out of the 50 per cent. of the total collection which is provinces' share. Bombay gets 20 per cent. and other provinces the rest. Now that Bengal has been divided it is reported that Bengal's share of this income-tax is going to be reduced. I would ask this Government to consider the position of West Bengal. Even before the partition of Bengal 79 out of 80 rupees collected was from West Bengal and at Calcutta. So, though a major portion of Bengal has been now cut out yet West Bengal is really the source of this revenue, and considering the position of Bengal she needs so much subsidy from Government that her share, which she had been enjoying, so long, should not be reduced. I wish to mention one fact about the present position of Bengal. It has been said in this House that in order to supplement the civil administration military need not be provided but civic or home guards should be levied in every province to help the administration. Apart from that West Bengal has other needs. It stands to the credit of Bengal that at the time of the partition of Bengal by Lord Curzon she protested and succeeded in getting a settled fact unsettled. If Bengal has consented to the partition today it was because of circumstances over which she had no control. When the partition of India was agreed to in the high level, she had to consent to it and our brethren in Eastern Bengal, which is now a part of Pakistan, consented to the partition of Bengal, because they thought that if some part of it remains within Hindustan, then if any evil day comes, that part of Bengal which will remain in the Indian Union will be able to help her in her hour of need. It is on that ground that Bengal needs a second line of defence next to the military within her border. Bengal's sons and daughters are prepared for the eventuality. But Bengal requires money for that. There is a difference between West Bengal and her provinces. Other provinces are situated in a more comfortable position. East Bengal has contributed most in the cause of India's independence, she had sacrificed all and had never hesitated to put the neck on the gallows. If that was the contribution of East Bengal and if today East Bengal is in a helpless condition, the Centre must come forward with generous help and subsidies, so that at least West Bengal may be prepared not only to defend herself but also help her brethren in East Bengal. With these words, I resume my seat.

Dr. V. Subrahmanyam (Madras: General): Madam, when we are considering the budget today, the chief point I want to stress is this: I am not satisfied with the budget allotment for the military defence of our country. Though there is no impending war or danger yet it is our imperative duty first to safeguard our homeland, to save the honour of our women and defend every aspect of our existence. The 92 crores which has been allotted will be more or less sufficient in order to give salaries, pensions, compensation and other amounts necessary for our defence purposes. It is not actually the defence purposes for which we are spending but to maintain the army, to give pensions and pay other amounts which are necessary according to our agreements. But we will have to expand our air force, navy and even submarines, so to say. I do not know how many submarines we have. We require enormous numbers, to patrol our long shores. Even now there is a deficit of 26 crores; but if we begin to expand our armed forces—I do not mean in human power or cavalry or infantry—we should expand the air arm, the navy, submarines and other things including even atomic energy. Actually within six or eight months we will be forced to spend something more by sheer necessity. Also there is no provision for the creation of a national militia. I doubt if there is any provision or a plan for a national militia. We must first of all provide some large amounts of money for that department also.

As regards agricultural purposes the 'Grow More Food Campaign' is more or less a thorough failure in our country. Today the villagers are looking to the Central Government for more manure. If manure is supplied they are prepared to supply more food within six or even three months. The first duty of the Government must be to get large imports of manure from abroad. Instead of importing manure we are importing large amounts of foodgrains. I do not know whether all the consignments coming into this country are fit for human consumption or not. Considering all these things we must import large quantities of manure.

The other point which I desire to stress is whether private enterprise should be encouraged for industrial purposes. Here I am not going to enter deeper into the subject. On one condition we can even encourage private enterprise—ment. Notwithstanding the criticisms—and all the criticisms were really of helpful character—there has been in evidence ample appreciation—I would say a sympathetic appreciation—of the difficulties under which the new Dominion Government of India is working, especially the difficulties of its first Finance Minister.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

A great many points were made during the course of the discussion, but I would like to touch upon two or three of the more outstanding points. My Honourable friend, Mr. Munshi, said that I had not given a clear picture of the consequences of partition. This sentiment was re-echoed by my Honourable friend Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari, who said that a clearer picture of the economic situation in the country had not been given in the Budget statement. Straightaway I plead guilty to the charge. I am myself not satisfied with the picture that I have presented of the economic and the financial conditions prevailing in the country after partition. If I am not yet in a position to see the picture in clearer light, with all the light and shadow on the picture, it is not entirely my mistake. A fuller and clearer picture of the economic pattern of the Indian Dominion can be gained only after some of the outstanding economic and financial problems have been settled with the Pakistan Government. All evidence tends to show that there is every hope that all these outstanding differences would be amicably settled between the representatives of the two Dominions in the very near future. In fact I find for the last one week a conspiracy in which my Honourable friend the Home Minister is deeply involved, to take away the work of Sir Patrick Spens, the Chairman of the Arbitral Tribunal. I think the House should wish him success in his efforts, and if, as we all hope, some of these most intricate and difficult problems are settled out of court, it will redound to the credit of the two Governments and to those who are in charge of the two Governments. My Honourable friend Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari also said that I should have given some statement of the account of the undivided India before the 15th August. For one thing I still hold the view that even if it were possible for us to give these figures, they would not serve any useful purpose because those figures cannot form the basis for any comparison with the figures for the Indian Dominion that I have presented. Apart from the value of those figures, it was not possible for me to give them for the simple reason that the account of the undivided country for the period ending the 15th of August has not yet been closed. The joint account is still kept open, and a great many adjustments have to be made before our joint family account can be closed. Under these circumstances it was not possible for me to give even a rough idea of the state of account of the undivided Government as on the 15th August 1947. My Honourable friend Mr. Munshi again told the House that I had not given any clear indication of the loan programme of the Government of India. I have stated in my budget speech that it was not the intention of the Government to go to the market for any fresh loan before the close of the current financial year. Now that is a positive statement in one respect. But I agree that I have not given any clear indication of what our future loan policy is going to be. If I have not given any such clear indication it is because I am not yet in a position to do so. What confronted me when I took office on the 15th of August was the hard fact that the entire money market in India was seriously disturbed. There was a lack of confidence, with the result that there was no great demand for Government securities in the money market.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (West Bengal: General): Does the Honourable Minister think that the lack of confidence was the only factor in this?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: That is the main factor so far as I have been able to study the market.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: What about the reactions of the last budget, the crash in the stock-exchange?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Probably that is one of the causes of the loss of confidence, but the fact with which I was concerned was the fact that there was loss of confidence. I had therefore to hold my hand before I went to the money market for any large loan. Naturally the investing public wanted to know what the policy of the Government of India was going to be in the matter of the future industrialization of the country, in the matter of the economic development of the country, and more especially in the matter of the borrowing policy. There have been a great many plans and reports regarding industrial development. If the Government had not been preoccupied with the unfortunate events of the last few months, I have no doubt that the Government would have straightway applied their mind to coming to some definite and positive conclusions regarding these plans that have been made. Now that some sort of order and peace have been restored, I am hoping that in the very near future we would be in a position not merely to make up our mind regarding the future trend of our policy in industrialisation, but also take concrete decisions on the execution of some of the schemes which have been included in those plans. The market was also uncertain about our borrowing policy. One of my predecessors, Sir Archibald Rowlands, initiated the cheap money policy. He very successfully converted our 3½ per cent. loan into a 3 per cent. loan, and he aimed at securing a 2½ per cent. credit for the Government of India. He was lucky. In fact, now that I am on this subject, I am free to confess that the destiny of a Finance Minister is very often governed by the luck that attends him rather than his own cleverness.

An Honourable Member: It is true of everybody.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: More especially true of the Finance Minister. As I indicated in my Budget Speech, even the British Government which adopted this policy found that it could not be carried very far. The position that faced us was somewhat difficult. Evidently, as the Reserve Bank Governor had observed, the cheap money policy had been carried a bit too far in our country. But then my difficulty is this: when once a cheap money policy had been adopted it is extremely difficult to retreat from that policy. In fact a retreat from cheap money policy will always be disastrous to the Government on the money market. Therefore it was decided that without following the policy any further or extending it any further I would attempt to consolidate the position gained so far. And from all the evidence that I see in the money market, I think the market has taken this decision well. I feel confident that next time when I go to the Market it will be for a fairly big loan and we would appeal to our countrymen to come to the help of the Government by lending funds so that our vast programmes of development might be put through. In fact, I am thinking whether that first loan should not be an Independence Loan—a loan the success of which will assure the success of our economic policy and our stability. Knowing our people as I do, I have not the slightest doubt in my mind that when the Government makes an appeal to the money market the Market will respond. I know that the money market is a hard nut to crack; they are not easily moved by mere appeals—in fact the appeal must be to their pockets and not to their hearts; and the clear enunciation of our policy that it is our intention to consolidate the gains made so far would I think be a sufficient inducement for the Market to come forward to the help of the Government.

I want Honourable Members to realise how much the stability of a modern Government depends on its capacity to raise loans in the money market. We are apt to think that the stability of a budget depends only on the Revenue Expenditure side of it. There is one other budget which very often is ignored by Honourable Members in this House and by the public at large, and that is the Ways and Means Budget. If you analyse the budgets of any modern state you will find that the outgoings of the Government on the capital side are very often more than the disbursements on the revenue side. Take our own modest budget for these 7½ months. While our revenue expenditure is about 197 crores, our Ways and Means Budget discloses a disbursement of over 145 crores of rupees. If we launch a more vigorous drive in the direction of industrial and agricultural expansion, the outgoing in the capital budget will be infinitely larger, and there it is that we must get the entire co-operation and help of the investing public. My main object in presenting the financial picture of the country as I see it is to instil that confidence which had been lost. From the reaction on the stock exchange and on the money market in general, I feel confident that that objective of mine has very amply succeeded.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

A great deal has been said, Sir, by various Honourable Members about the question of Nationalization versus private enterprise. Probably my observations on the scope and need for private enterprise in our country have not been sufficiently appreciated. One Honourable friend remarked that the emphasis on private enterprise has been laid a little too much. What I intended to say is this: that the scope for production in our country for the next many, many years is so vast that there must necessarily be scope for private enterprise even though we decide on a downright policy of nationalization. Sir, the other day I said I am not a capitalist and the House was fairly amused. Probably they will be more amused if I say today that I consider myself a socialist. And my own interpretation of socialism is this: that economy which ensures a fair and equitable distribution of national wealth is really the socialist economy. State enterprise or private enterprise are only the means towards achieving that end. What does it matter if our entire industrial structure has been nationalized and yet the standard of life of our people is low? You would not call that a socialistic economy in the real sense of the term. What has been ignored in the capitalistic economy of the world in the past is that sufficient emphasis has not been laid on distribution as that on production. What we in our country must aim at is to increase and increase a hundred-fold the national wealth of our country and distribute that wealth equitably amongst all the people of this country. I am clearly against the concentration of wealth in a few hands. In fact, the whole system and structure of taxation in modern society is intended to prevent that concentrated accumulation of wealth in a few individuals. If we utilise that mechanism wisely and with prudence we would, in effect, achieve a really socialistic economy. But in exercising that right of taxation we have to be cautious.

If private enterprise has got a place in the national economy of the country then you must create the incentive for investment in private enterprise and if your scheme of taxation hinders investment in industry and damps the enthusiasm of private enterprise, to that extent it has defeated its own purpose. In fact the wisdom of a Finance Minister in these days in any country in the world is just to reach beyond that point in taxation which will prevent the concentration of wealth in a few hands but which will at the same time not destroy the incentive to investment.

Speaking about the burden of taxation, probably the House will be interested if its monotony is relieved, if I narrate to them a story. Three Englishmen were one day having lunch. All of them were businessmen. When the lunch was over each one wanted to vie with the other in paying the bill. So one man said, "No, let me pay the bill, because after all I am going to charge the cost of this lunch to my company; already the company is paying 19s. 6d. in the pound as tax, and therefore it is only 6d. in the pound that the company will be paying and the rest will be Government money". The other man said, "No, let me pay", and he said, "You see, my company is paying Excess Profits Tax and the Excess Profits Tax is 100 per cent. I will also charge this bill for the company which means that the entire cost of this bill will be paid by the Government." The third man said, "No, no. I am still in a better position." Everybody was surprised and this is what he said: "You know, 5 P. M. I am working for the Government on cost plus 10 per cent.

basis. I am going to charge the cost of this lunch to Government and I will get 10 per cent. of it from Government." (Laughter.) Now, that gives an idea of the burden of taxation today in the country.

But we should judge that burden from the criterion of how far it will encourage investment in industry. It is because I felt that there was some justification for the criticism that the taxation imposed in the last Budget has seriously interfered with the incentive to private enterprise that I gave the undertaking that I shall re-examine the whole structure of taxation to see that that incentive is not destroyed. After all, whatever might be the ideological differences amongst some of us, if we sit down and evolve a practical scheme for the economic development of our country, we will find that notwithstanding ideological differences there is a great deal of common ground amongst all of us. Let us, for the next few years at least, exploit every point of agreement and not unnecessarily emphasize points of difference. It is agreed on all hands that the future of India depends upon her industrial and agricultural production and with that common objective, about which there is no difference of opinion, there is no doubt that we might be able to evolve a practical scheme of economic development.

Now, Madam, more and more production is wanted not merely for creating the future wealth of this country but for fighting inflation. Mr. Munshi was right when he said that we all know about the existence of inflation but we really do not know how to tackle it. Well, we know how to tackle it, but the thing is our efforts do not succeed. I am clear in my mind that the inflation today is not so much due to monetary causes, but really to the very rapid fall in production. I gave index figures to show how the inflationary tendency has become more acute in spite of a considerable reduction in the volume of notes in circulation and in bank deposits. How exactly we must bring about that increase in the volume of production is a matter that lies entirely in our own hands. There are various bottlenecks. A special Committee of the Cabinet has been appointed, called the "Economic Sub-Committee" to study this problem in great detail. As a result of the preliminary study that we have made so far, I find that one of the greatest bottlenecks in our country which hampers production is the problem of transport.

Take, for instance, the position regarding coal. Production has increased and there is a danger of its coming to a standstill. Why? Because coal at pits mouth had accumulated and it cannot be quickly transported to the destinations because of the inadequacy of transport. And in transport, when you come to details our greatest want today is the want of locomotives. As my Honourable friend, the Transport Minister told us the other day, one of the greatest acts, amounting almost to criminal, by the previous Government is their ignoring the need for building locomotives in this country. I came into the Central Legislature in 1924 and I can even today recall the debates during the Railway Budget year after year when those of us sitting on the Opposition Benches tried to impress upon the then Government the need for establishing the locomotive industry in this country. 23 years have passed and still we are not in a position to manufacture locomotives in this country. That is the unfortunate legacy we have got, but we are trying to do our best to rectify this state of affairs. It will take time. As a matter of fact, to get over this difficulty, we are now seriously examining the possibility of buying or chartering a few ships and transporting coal, through sea, for the various places and thereby reducing at least the haulage of coal. For instance, instead of carrying coal by an all-rail route from the pits mouth to Madras, it will be easier to carry it to Calcutta and from there carry it to Madras by sea. I think a great deal could be done to overcome this difficulty if we succeed in this effort. I am only giving this as an example to tell the House that not only are we alive to the problem, but that we are taking all positive and concrete steps necessary to solve it.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

My Honourable friend, Pandit Kunzru, very prudently asked me whether I was going to be satisfied with merely increasing the production on the existing plant and machinery. I say No. We have got plans which are going to be put into execution very soon for adding to our productive capacity. For example, a Steel Panel was appointed by the late Government and the Panel has submitted two Reports. The Panel has recommended the erection of two modern steel plants, one in North Bihar and one in the Central Provinces, each with a capacity of half a million tons but so constructed that they might easily attempt at doubling the productive capacity. I have asked my Honourable colleague, the Industries Minister, to go ahead with that plan and I am hoping that before I present the next Budget in February I might be in a position to announce that concrete steps had been taken to start these two schemes. That is only one illustration of the concrete steps that we are taking to actually add to our productive capacity.

While we can do everything that lies in our power to restore the diminished production and to add to our productive capacity, there is one other factor which I submit, namely labour, which also counts a great deal in the solution of this question. Here again, I am free to confess that by mere ordinances and orders we cannot persuade labour to produce more. We must get their wholehearted and willing co-operation. We must create an entirely new outlook in the relationship between labour and employer. A time has now come when the Government with the co-operation of employers must make labour feel that it is an integral partner in the whole industrial structure of the country. Some Honourable friends referred to the scheme of profit-sharing. Now, that is again one of the problems which is now engaging the attention of the Economic Sub-Committee of the Cabinet. Speaking personally for myself, even four or five years back, I advised my friends engaged in the industry to offer to labour a straightforward scheme of partnership and profit-sharing. I hope that the Cabinet would before long be in a position to evolve a satisfactory formula which will ensure the willing co-operation of labour in our enterprises.

Madam, a great deal has been said about the problem of control versus decontrol. My Honourable friend, Pandit Kunzru, naturally expressed serious apprehensions as to what will be the state of affairs if decontrol was effected and the price goes up. He was answered by certain other Honourable Members, who, like Mr. Ramalingam Chettiar, spoke with practical experience of the working of controls. There is no denying the fact that theoretically when there is a gap between supply and demand they should be controlled if everyone is to get an equitable share at a reasonable price. We must go one step further. If control is to be effective, it must be an integrated control. There is no use of tinkering with controls, controlling only one or two essential articles and leaving the rest unchecked, because an upward trend of prices with these other commodities will have serious repercussions on the commodities under control. Control to be successful should therefore be an integrated control, covering all essential commodities. As I said, no one questions the soundness of the statement, but what has been our practical experience?

Madam, I am myself a believer in the value and the need for integrated control, but my sad experience is that in our country our mechanism of control has completely failed. We talk of a controlled price. Let us take sugar. What percentage of the consumers of sugar do you think are really getting sugar at the controlled price? Similarly take any foodgrains; except the growers of food it is my belief that not more than ten per cent. of our people get really the foodgrains at controlled price. Probably ten per cent. is an over-estimate. The rest really buy in the black market. Today we have got in our country an inflation which really is not reflected in the index figures that we have published. The index figures are published on the basis of our controlled prices. But if an index figure were prepared today at the black market price at which people have to buy these essential foodstuffs, you will find the index figure will be absolutely alarming. What is the use of keeping up this show of control then when you really cannot manage?

Sir, the question of decontrol has been engaging the Cabinet for the last few weeks. We have given most anxious thought to this problem. For meeting after meeting in the Cabinet we had to postpone because even though we came prepared to do something yet when we discussed the problem in all its aspects, we were frightened at the consequences of decontrol and yet we had to take a decision. We know we are fully conscious of the fact that we are taking a risk, but a stage has been reached when that risk has to be taken. It is our intention not to disband our machinery of control, so that if things go radically wrong, we would again come back to control. Subject to these precautions, it is our intention to gradually decontrol certain things and take the risk.

An Honourable Member: Then what happens to integrated control?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Integrated control, I wish freely to confess, has not succeeded in our country.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: May I ask, what happens to the idea of planned economy?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I know that decontrol and a very high inflationary tendency are control to planned development and they might ultimately even defeat all your planning. I am fully conscious of all these theories; I can write quite a thesis on the need of controls in India. The point is, can we, with the mechanism that we can control, really put these controls effectively into operation? So, I have made a clean breast of the thing. I have nothing more to answer. If control has failed this House and the public at large must share the blame with the Government and if the measures of decontrol that we propose to adopt gradually are to succeed, it will again require the co-operation of the public at large. After all you cannot legislate to a people unwilling to work that legislation in its real and true spirit. Let us, therefore, hope that the social consciousness of our people would be roused by the human misery that surrounds us and that with this gradual process of decontrol things might be better. That is all I can hope for and let us all hope for the best.

My Honourable friend, Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari referred to the question of the sterling balances and he criticised my statement because it happens to coincide with a similar statement that Sir Archibald Rowlands made. Madam, I am sure the House will agree with me when I say that the validity of a statement is not necessarily destroyed because somebody else corroborates that statement or concurs with that statement. I firmly hold the view that the sterling balances must be wisely utilised for the economic and industrial development of this country and not be frittered away for the payment of current consumption of luxury articles. Whether Sir Archibald Rowlands agrees with me or anybody disagrees with me, I am prepared to hold to that view. My Honourable friend also referred to the negotiations that have taken place regarding the temporary settlement of the question of sterling balances. The last Delegation from India was purely on an official level because it was intended to bring about only a temporary settlement. The next stage of the discussion will also be on official level and I am glad to announce that His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom have responded to our invitation to send some of their officials to Delhi to discuss this matter, and they are [Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty] expected in the middle of this month. My idea is that we should make another interim settlement valid till June, 1948. Thereafter, we must think of a more permanent settlement which must really take place on ministerial level. When such a stage is reached, I am hoping to include in that Delegation private members who would be in a position to help the Government in coming to a satisfactory settlement with the British Government. These are some of the general matters, barring one. Having sat in this House for 12 years and having listened to the magnificent speeches that Pandit Kunzru used to make, attacking the Defence Budget in those days, it was so refreshing to hear from him that we are not spending enough on Defence. I welcome that attitude. That shows that there is a sense of realism amongst our responsible leaders. As Finance Minister I am naturally very nervous about the rate of Defence expenditure; but I might assure this House that whatever might be our financial position, I am sure we can find enough finance to maintain a strong and adequate army in our country.

Madam, these cover the general points. My Honourable friend from Assam spoke about the needs of his province. Only last week the Governor of Assam and the Prime Minister of Assam had discussions with me on this point and they went away satisfied. And this morning there is a report of a broadcast talk by His Excellency the Governor of Assam from the Calcutta Broadcasting station. This is what he says:

"During my recent visit to Delhi I was happy to get heartening proofs that our difficulties are understood and that our needs in the matter of overcoming them are now to be given the assistance required. It is now up to the people of Assam to rise to the height of opportunities offered. I have no doubt they will."

I am sure what has satisfied the Governor of Assam will also satisfy my Honourable friend Mr. Chaudhury and that he will not haunt me in my dreams; and if he does come to me in my dreams I will give him a dose only in dreams.

Madam, the right note regarding the appraisal of the budget was struck by my Honourable friend Mr. C. Subrahmanyam. He said rightly that the financial soundness of the country should not be judged by the deficit or surplus in the budget but by the deficit or surplus in the national income. That is the right way to study the budget and that is why I attempted to give as accurate a picture as I could of the economic and financial position of our country, and gave my emphatic opinion that the financial position of our country is perfectly safe and sound. It is quite possible that I might prove to be a false prophet. But if it came to that I would prefer to be a false optimistic prophet rather than be a prophet like Jeremiah; because "if hopes were dupes fears might be liars". I am one of those who believe that even faced with a difficult situation, with confidence in yourself and a stout heart you can certainly overcome your difficulties.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Tuesday, the 2nd December, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Tuesday, 2nd December, 1947.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

REORGANIZATION OF HIGH COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE IN LONDON.

502. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether any review has been made since 15th August, 1947, of the proportion of the Indian and other personnel employed in the High Commissioner's office in London with a view to increasing the number of Indians, and improving their conditions of service;

(b) if so, what improvements have been effected;

(c) the present percentage of Indians in the officers rank and also in the clerical staff; and

(d) whether any report has been received from Miss Ranga Rao, who has been sent to study the possible ways of reorganising the Educational Department of the High Commissioner's office and if so, what are its main recommendations?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) The High Commissioner has kept under constant review since 15th August 1947 the question of the employment of Indians in his office.

(b) and (c). It is not possible to effect any marked increase in the number of Indians within a period of a few months but between 1946 and 1947 in the grade of heads of Departments the number of Indians has increased from 33 1/3 per cent. to 50 per cent., in the grade of other officers from 24.5 per cent. to 33 per cent. and in the grade of clerks from 14.5 per cent. to 15.7 per cent. Apart from officers sent on deputation from India, qualified Indians are being appointed whenever available.

(d) No report has yet been received from Miss Ranga Rao.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What steps do Government propose to take in order to increase the Indian proportion in the employees there? Do Government consider the advisability of sending any Indian personnel from India in order to augment the Indian personnel in the London Office.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I really do not know what kind of steps my friend thinks we can take except to augment them. The India House in London is a huge establishment with many hundreds of employees. It was an inheritance from the India Office and many of the people from the India Office were transferred to it. We have to begin really more at the top than from below; and as a matter of fact most of the senior appointments have come to Indians. A large number of others are clerks and other more or less subordinate employees. In fact it is more expensive and more difficult to take a large number of subordinate employees from India. But first what we have aimed at is to have all the senior employees from India and of course gradually to change all others.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it a fact that Indian employees in India are many times more efficient than the lower paid or subordinate employees, whether English or Indian who are today employed in the High Commissioner's office?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I have no doubt there are many efficient Indian employees. It is not so much merely a question of weighing up a person's efficiency. I cannot do it. I am not in charge. Anyhow, our objective is to have Indians employed there. But in all these Embassies and foreign establishments inevitably a number are employed locally as a matter of convenience. The main thing is that all the important employees—the heads of departments—as well as many others, should be from our country, both to receive training there and to guide our policy there, and we have therefore to do that as rapidly as possible. In fact, the change has been fairly rapid considering everything last year.

Shri K. Santhanam: Is it not the practice in Embassies to employ their own nationals to ensure secrecy and prevent disclosure of their affairs?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I think that is generally the practice and undoubtedly to a large extent we shall have to follow it. But that practice involves far heavier expenditure than might otherwise take place.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Isn't it a fact that in the new office opened by the Burma Government even the clerks have been imported from Burma and they happen to be Burmese? Will Government consider the advisability of recruiting as many of those Indian students who are in England today and who are willing to be employed in the India Office after completion of their studies?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: As I have said this is our definite policy. We have to leave it to the discretion of the High Commissioner and Deputy High Commissioner there in London how to give effect to it. They have given effect to it fairly rapidly, but in an intricate organisation, it is difficult to upset things. There are certain terms of service and tenures of service. Undoubtedly, it is our object to employ suitable students also whenever possible. But we have to consider whether the Indian student there would like to get into the India Office or would like to come here and be employed in other avenues in this country.

Shri B. Das: Does not the High Commissioner in London control the Stores Purchasing Department which is entirely manned by Britishers and they all work to the detriment of Indian commerce and industry?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I believe so. That is so.

Shri B. Das: Isn't it high time that the Stores Purchasing Department in London should be completely Indianised so that no foreign influence works against India?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: That is our objective.

DEVELOPMENT OF EAST AFRICAN COLONIES.

503. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the recent programme of projects of the British Government to station a section of their Defence Forces in the East African colonies;

(b) how they are likely to affect the interests of Indians and the Africans themselves and whether any representations have been made to safeguard Indian interests in those colonies;

(c) whether British attempts to open up forests and to start big projects for the production of oil-seeds with the aid of special corporations have been studied by the Government of India;

(d) the share that may be allotted to Indians in the employment of personnel in the Technical and managerial sections and also in the cultivation work associated with these projects; and

(e) to what extent the development of these forests are likely to affect India's interests in the world oil-seeds market? .

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) No.

(b) The projects referred to by the Honourable Member are not the concern of the Government of India, nor has the Indian community in East Africa made any representations to us about them. If Indian interests are likely to be affected, the Government of India will take suitable action.

(c) Yes.

(d) There is no provision in the scheme for giving Indians any specific share of employment either in the technical and managerial sections or in actual cultivation work connected with the scheme.

(e) On present estimates, these projects are not likely to affect India's position in the world oilseeds market for some time to come, in view of the existing overall world deficit in oils and fats.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Have not Government any officer or officers in their Commonwealth Department whose business it is to watch such developments and their possible reactions upon Indian trade and also Indians in particular?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: These developments are watched not only by the External Affairs but by our Commerce Department.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that plentiful information has already appeared in regard to these projects in the Manchester Guardian some months ago, how is it that the Government of India are not aware of the recent programme and purchase of so and so referred to in part (a) of this question?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: It is one thing for newspapers to publish stories of these projects which may or may not be put into effect but it is quite another thing to have official information. The point is how far they affect Indian interests there.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: May I know whether there is an efficient Indian Trade Commissioner at Mombassa?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I am sorry I am unable to answer that question without finding out exactly how efficient a person is.

Seth Govinddas: Have the Government received any representation in this respect from the East African Indian Congress?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: On this particular subject I cannot straightaway give an answer but we are receiving representations from them frequently.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Is it a fact that there is an Indian Trade Commissioner in Mombassa?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I am sorry I cannot say offhand.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: There is a Trade Commissioner who is doing excellent work!

IRRIGATION PROJECTS IN RAYALASEEMA.

504. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that Rayalaseema (Ceded Districts) in the Madras province is specially liable to periodical famines;

(b) whether Government are aware that the Famine Commissions of 1897—1900 had recommended that irrigation projects especially the Sangameswar project should be developed in order to protect the five million people of this area from frequent famines;

(c) whether Government are aware that this is at present a deficit food area and there is great need for making it self-sufficient in food; and

(d) whether Government propose to develop the irrigation projects referred to in part (b) above?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The question pertains to the Honourable the Minister of Agriculture. It has therefore been transferred to the list of questions to be answered by him on the 8th December 1947.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Has the Honourable Minister anything to say in regard to the irrigational aspect of this question?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: In so far as the irrigational aspect is concerned primarily it is a matter for the provincial government. I however promise to consider favourably any reasonable request that might come from the provincial government.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Have the Government of India received any representation from the Madras Government in regard to the Sangameswar project that has been referred to in the question?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Not so far.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether the Government is not aware of the representation personally made by the Honourable Minister for P. W. D., Madras very recently to the Honourable Minister of the Central Government?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: In the representation made by the Honourable Minister in charge of Irrigation from Madras this particular project was conspicuous by its absence.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether it is not a fact that the Honourable Minister from Madras made a representation though not about the Sangameswar project but about the Krishna Pennar project, which is the only project that will solve the problem of Rayalaseema and this project was explained to the Honourable Minister, in regard to its importance, its utility value and its cheapness?

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member is arguing.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that I myself have made representations to the Honourable Minister in regard to this particular Sangameswar project?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is a fact and the other fact is that this representation of the Honourable Member has been referred to the P. W. D. Minister of the Madras Government.

Shri S. Nagappa: Will the Honourable Minister visit this place in the near future so that he might see for himself the importance of this project?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: If my visit is to convince me of its importance, I shall certainly undertake it.

EXPLOITATION OF MINERAL RESOURCES

505. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) what progress in mineral resources has been achieved after the Geological Survey Department was re-organised in 1945-46;

(b) how many survey parties are at present working and in what areas; and

(c) whether any definite policy has been formulated regarding the exploitation of our mineral resources in the interest of the public?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) The progress of investigations made by the Geological Survey of India in respect of the mineral resources, since 1945-46, when the reorganisation of that Department was started under the five-year plan, is shown in the †Statement I which is placed on the table.

(b) The number and disposition of the survey parties during the field-season which has just begun, is shown in †Statement II which is placed on the table. Treating each individual officer engaged independently in a particular survey, as a party, the total number of such parties is 93. A copy of the current year's field-season programme is also placed on the table.

(c) The policy formulated by the Government of India on the conclusions reached in the National Mineral Policy Conference held in January 1947 was outlined in the †press note dated the 11th April 1947, a copy of which is placed on the table.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Would the Honourable Minister give an early opportunity to this House either in this session or in the next to discuss the policy formulated by the Government?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I think it would be better for the Honourable Member to take the opportunity.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Are the reports of the Geological Survey of India available to the Members of this House?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: They are available to the general public. If any particular member makes a request that will be granted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know if it would not be more desirable to intimate to the House from time to time any questions of major policy than that members should bring them up before the House? Will the Honourable Member try to bring such matters before the House himself?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I have full confidence in the vigilance of Honourable Members and I presume that they usually read the press communiques issued by the Government from time to time.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know if the Government have made a geological survey especially of Rayalaseema, which is full of mineral resources? If not, will Government undertake such a survey now?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I want notice of that question.

DAMODAR VALLEY AND MACHKHAND PROJECTS

506. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) the latest position regarding the Damodar Valley, Machkhand and Ramapadasagar projects;

(b) how much they are expected to cost; and

†Not printed in these debates. A copy placed in the library of the House. Ed. of D.

(c) in what proportion the Government of India and the Provincial Government propose to share their cost of construction?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) (i) Damodar Valley Project.—Surveys and investigations of three out of a series of eight dams in the Damodar Valley have been almost completed. A bill to provide for the establishment of a Corporation for the development of the Damodar Valley in the Provinces of Bihar and West Bengal will be introduced in the Central Legislature.

(ii), Machkhand Project.—Construction work on this project has been commenced by the Government of Madras. Land acquisition proceedings, detailed exploration for the construction of the diversion weir and channels, jungle clearance, construction of quarters and roads and reconnaissance of the Machkhand—Vizagapatam—Rajahmundry 110 K.V. line and construction of the Rajahmundry—Bezwada 110 K.V. line are in progress. Orders for additional thermal plant at Bezwada and Vizagapatam have been placed. Specifications for plant and equipment for the main hydro-electric power station are under preparation and it is expected that tenders for this plant will be invited shortly.

(iii) Ramapadasagar Project.—This project is primarily the concern of the Madras Government. It is understood that the investigations of the project, which is estimated to cost between Rs. 125 and 135 crores, are in a very advanced stage and that detailed designs of the dam have been almost finalised and vetted by the American Engineers. The canal investigation is in progress and the detailed plans and estimates of one of the canals will be ready in another 4 months but an estimate made for one of the canals has given sufficient information to enable estimate to be prepared for the whole project. The revenue prospects have to be worked out in detail. At a meeting of the representatives of the Madras Government and the Central Government held on the 20th and 21st November, it was agreed inter alia that the Government of Madras might work at the revenue prospects and the cost of the scheme in greater detail and send up concrete proposals for financial assistance to the Government of India.

(b) Damodar Project.	Rs. 55 crores
Machkhand Project.	Rs. 7.52 crores.
Ramapadasagar Project between	Rs. 125 and 135 crores.

(c) Damodar and Ramapadasagar Projects.—The allocation of cost as between the Government of India and the Government of West Bengal and Bihar in respect of the Damodar Project will be as proposed in the Damodar Valley Corporation Bill. The question of allocation of cost in respect of the Ramapadasagar Project is still under consideration.

Machkhand Project.—The Government of India will not pay any portion of the cost. It will be divided between Madras and Orissa Governments in the ratio of 70:30.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether the survey work on the Damodar Valley Project is over or not?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The preliminary survey is undoubtedly over.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: Will the Honourable Minister please state how many years it will take for the Damodar project to materialise?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The present estimate is that it will be completed in a period of seven to eight years.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know in how many years the other two projects, viz., Machkhand and Ramapadasagar, are expected to be completed?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: There are provisional estimates and they all extend from seven to ten years.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government consider the advisability of expediting this Ramapadasagar project by stages?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is the idea.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are we to understand that all the three projects—Machkhand, Ramapadasagar and Sangameswar—can be undertaken simultaneously without anyone of them blocking the way of any other project?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That depends upon the financial resources and the adequacy of the technical manpower.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: In view of the enormous shortage of food-grains all over the country, will the Honourable Minister consider the advisability of calling the assistance of experts from outside, so that these projects may be expedited?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Mere import of experts will not do. What is really impeding progress is lack of machinery and Government is seriously considering whether part of the construction of some of these projects should not be given to foreign concerns.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: Am I to understand that the importation of experts from outside is not considered necessary for giving effect to these schemes?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That does not follow from my answer.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Have Government decided as to how many dams are proposed to be constructed in the Machkhand Project?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I cannot reply that question offhand, but if the Honourable Member is very anxious to have information on that point I shall certainly give it to him in the lobby after some time.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: May I know whether, after meeting all this expenditure for the projects of Madras and West Bengal, anything will be left for the Brahmaputra Bharali or any such project for Assam?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Two things are reserved for Assam—goodwill and future.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know whether Government propose to borrow money from abroad, if necessary, in order to undertake these projects?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is a matter which is receiving consideration at a very high level.

Shri B. M. Gupte: May I know in which cases the Central Government bears part of the cost in connection with these projects and in which cases it does not?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Each case is considered on its merits, but generally it is done in cases in which two Provinces are involved and in which the avoidance of famine is an important element.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Sir, may I say something about these various Projects which are proposed in order to throw some light on the situation? Government attach the greatest importance to the speedy working out of these various schemes, and we propose to take advantage of everything available, internal and external, experts here, experts from America and from every country—wherever we can get them from—the main objective being to get things done as quickly as possible both from the point of view of adding to our food resources and our power resources. Therefore we shall take advantage of all the assistance from outside which we can get in regard to this matter.

I might add that we are even now trying to get into contact with some American experts to discuss the question of major contracts being given over so that this might be worked out as speedily as possible on a contractual basis.

SMUGGLING OF ARMS AND AMMUNITION OUT OF GOA.

†507. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the statement issued by Mr. Joachim Dias, President of Goan Youth League, published in the Hindustan Times, dated the 6th November 1947, pointing out that arms and ammunition are being regularly smuggled out of Goa with the assistance of certain influential merchants of 'Panjim' through a cruiser which is regularly moving between Goa and Diu, a port next door to Junagadh?

(b) If so, what action, if any, has been taken by Government to stop this illicit traffic in arms?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) The Government of India have seen the report referred to but have no other reason to think that an illicit traffic in arms is being carried on with the assistance of a cruiser or similar war vessel.

(b) Does not arise.

ALL INDIA INDUSTRIES AND LABOUR CONFERENCE.

†508. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state:

(a) whether any efforts are being made to reach an agreement with State to evolve a common policy and programme for industries and labour; and

(b) whether an All-India Conference is proposed to be convened with the representatives of States and Provinces to evolve such a policy and to avoid the present diversity?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) So far as labour matters are concerned, there is a Labour Ministers Conference consisting of Labour Ministers from all the Provinces and from important Indian States. The Conference meets twice a year, and discusses all important questions with a view to evolving a common policy.

It is also proposed to hold a Conference of Provinces and of important Indian States at Ministerial level on the 15th and 16th December 1947 to consider—

- (i) measures necessary for securing an immediate increase in industrial output to full capacity,
- (ii) planning for future industrial development,
- (iii) controls, and
- (iv) miscellaneous aspects of industrial policy.

The Honourable Shri N. Gopaldaswami Ayyangar: Sir, my colleague, the Honourable Mr. Neogy has been urgently called away, and with your permission I propose to answer the questions standing in his name.

REHABILITATION OF REFUGEES FROM PAKISTAN

509. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether Government have prepared any scheme for the rehabilitation of the refugees from Pakistan? If so, what are its main features?

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(b) What arrangements have been made by Government for rehabilitation of the non-agriculturists among refugees?

(c) Will every officer of the Government of Punjab, who has elected to serve in the East Punjab, be absorbed in the various Government services in the East Punjab or elsewhere?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopaldaswami Ayyangar: (a) and (b). The Honourable Member is referred to the answer to clause (e) of Starred Question No. 1 on the 18th November, 1947, and also to the statement made on the floor of this house on 29th November 1947.

(c) The responsibility for absorbing every officer of the Government of the Punjab, who has elected to serve in East Punjab, rests primarily with the Government of that Province.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: With regard to the answer to part (c) of the question may I know whether the Government of India has taken any interest in the matter?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopaldaswami Ayyangar: The Government of India have already informed the Government of East Punjab that the responsibility for finding employment for refugees from the North-West Frontier Province, Sind and Baluchistan will be taken over by them. The responsibility for finding employment for refugees coming from West Punjab is that of the East Punjab Government and that Government have already been written to establish adequate machinery for ensuring this.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Is it a fact that every officer was allowed the option to serve either in India or in Pakistan?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopaldaswami Ayyangar: Yes, that is so.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Does not that involve a responsibility on the part of the Government concerned to provide employment to the Government servant who chooses to serve within its jurisdiction? If so how will this be entirely a matter for the East Punjab Government, and how can the government servants who have decided to serve India be treated on the same footing as other refugees?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopaldaswami Ayyangar: The point is that there were government servants employed under the Provincial Government of the Punjab before the partition and many of them have got to be placed in jobs under the Provincial Government of East Punjab. The Government of India have asked the Government of East Punjab to set up machinery for placing such persons who have opted for India in jobs under them.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: May I take it that they will not be treated in the same way as the other refugees and that special arrangements will be made to see that they are absorbed either by the East Punjab Government or by the Government of India?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopaldaswami Ayyangar: Certainly. Every endeavour will be made to so absorb them.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: Taking Pakistan to mean both Eastern Pakistan and Western Pakistan, may I know whether the Honourable Minister is aware that several lakhs of people from East Bengal have come over to West Bengal, and may I know what steps have been taken by the Government of India for the rehabilitation of those people?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopaldaswami Ayyangar: So far as that is concerned, I have only read newspaper reports. I have no official information as to the numbers that have migrated from East Bengal to India.

Shri Mihirial Chattopadhyaya: Have the Government of West Bengal given any figures about the influx of refugees who have come into West Bengal from East Bengal?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I should like to have notice of that question.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Have Government any information as to how many West Punjab officers have elected to serve in East Punjab?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I should like to have notice again of that question.

TRANSFER OF RECORDS AND PROPERTY OF NON-MUSLIM INSTITUTIONS IN PAKISTAN

510. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether there are any non-Muslim institutions in Pakistan, the directors of which desire to shift to the East Punjab?

(b) If so, what steps have Government taken to secure permission for them to transfer the books, appliances, apparatus, etc., to the East Punjab?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: (a) Yes.

(b) The question of allowing facilities for the transfer of records, etc., of the banks and insurance companies, the head offices of which had been transferred to the Indian Dominion prior to the 15th August 1947 is under discussion with the Pakistan Government.

The Indian Dominion Government cannot intervene in cases of companies, the head offices of which are still in Pakistan.

In regard to cultural and other institutions, these must of necessity be governed by the conditions of their respective trust deeds. Where a transfer is desired and is possible, assistance will be given. All these points are likely to come up for discussion with Pakistan authorities in the near future.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Are Government aware that in the case of some institutions impediments have been placed in the way of their transfer to districts in East Punjab?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: There have been some impediments, Sir, but the Government of India are trying to remove those impediments.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Are Government taking any steps to obtain information with regard to the institutions that want to transfer from West Punjab to East Punjab and their requirements?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: We have collected a good deal of information about institutions of that character, but the general procedure according to which these transfers could be effected peacefully is now a matter of negotiation between the Dominion Governments.

HOMES FOR REFUGEE-WIDOWS AND CHILDREN

511. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state what arrangements have been made by Government for taking care of the widows and orphans among the refugees and educating the children?

(b) Have Government considered the desirability of starting Homes for them, bearing in mind their social and cultural background?

(c) If so, what is their decision?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: (a), (b) and (c). East Punjab Government propose to set up homes for destitute women and children at several places. In the meantime, steps are being taken to set apart sections in refugee camps for them. Lady Trivedi's Relief Organisation for refugee women and children has set up a home in Jullundur and proposes extension of its activities. Offers from existing homes have been received from Hissar and Simla and these will be utilized.

A Home for unattached women and children is working at Kurukshetra, where 322 women and children were admitted between 5th November 1947 and 25th November 1947. A comprehensive plan for economic rehabilitation, including vocational training like knitting activity which has already been introduced, spinning, tailoring etc. has been set up. A proper Employment Bureau and a Marriage Bureau are also to be organised. A provisional dispensary has already been opened.

A Women's Section has been established at New Delhi under the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation, for the welfare of refugee women and children. Schemes for training women in different Crafts and Professions are under consideration. Some of the crafts for which arrangements are being made are:—

- (a) Spinning and weaving.
- (b) Calico-Printing.
- (c) Dress-making.
- (d) Basketry and Willow-work.
- (e) Fretwork and wooden toys, including rag-dolls.
- (f) Hand-knitting and embroidery.
- (g) Soap-making.
- (h) Preservation of fruits and vegetables.
- (i) Making of tin and linen buttons
- (j) Bleaching and dyeing.
- (k) Weaving of nawar, tape and borders.
- (l) Typing.
- (m) Stenography.
- (n) Clerical and Commercial work.

Similar schemes for training children are also being considered. Arrangements are also being made for starting a Women's Home in Subzi Mandi at Delhi.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: With regard to part (b) of the question may I know whether it is the intention of the Government to mix up all the orphans indiscriminately or whether it is proposed to sort them out according to their mental development and the educational level reached by them?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am not in a position to give a categorical answer to that question, but the suggestion implied in it will certainly be considered.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: I had asked a question specifically on this point. Do Government mean to say now that they are not ready with their answer to this question?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I do not see, Sir, that in the question itself the suggestion that the Honourable Member has made is expressed or even necessarily implied.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: What do the words "cultural background" mean then if not this?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I thought the Honourable Member was referring to mental development.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if any approximate estimates have been made of unattached women and children?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid, Sir, we are not in a position to say that all the unattached women have come over this side. It is not possible to give an accurate estimate of those that have come over.

Shri Khurshed Lal: May I know if Government also propose to include in their scheme women and children who have come from the West Punjab to the United Provinces?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: If they have come from West Punjab, the scheme will certainly include them.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Has any attempt been made to number the orphans and widows who have to be taken care of in this manner?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: The numbers I think, Sir, will be available only after some time. A census is being taken both in East Punjab and here, and it will take some time before the numbers are computed.

Diwan Chaman Lal: May I ask if it is done on a compulsory basis or is it on a voluntary basis?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: At present it is on a voluntary basis, but the question of introducing compulsion in this respect will be considered.

FOOD SUPPLIES FROM PAKISTAN.

512. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Government of Pakistan have refused to take our textiles in exchange of their food, and that they have offered their food to Australia in return of Australian textiles?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, what action do Government propose to take to consolidate our position, so that we may not depend on food supplies from Pakistan?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of Food. It has accordingly been transferred to the list of questions for the 8th December 1947, when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister of Food.

INDIAN LABOURERS IN CEYLON.

513. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state what is the present position of Indian labourers living in Ceylon?

(b) Is it a fact that the Prime Minister of Ceylon is coming to India to have talks with the Government of India?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to consider the advisability of entering into a definite agreement with Ceylon regarding the position of Indian labourers in Ceylon?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) The Honourable Member presumably wants information about the political and civic rights of Indian labourers in Ceylon. If so, the position is the same as that of other Indians in Ceylon and was explained by me in reply to question No. 214, asked by Prof. N. G. Ranga on the 21st November 1947.

(b) Yes, Sir.

(c) I hope to discuss with the Prime Minister of Ceylon the position of Indians generally, including Indian labourers in Ceylon with a view to reaching a satisfactory agreement concerning their rights and status.

SEATTLE CONFERENCE CONVENTIONS.

514. *Shri K. Santhanam: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Maritime and Labour Advisory Committee have recommended immediate adoption of the conventions passed at the Seattle Conference of the I.L.O. last year?

(b) If so, what steps have been taken to ratify these conventions?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). The Seattle Conference adopted 9 Conventions affecting maritime labour. All the 9 Conventions were placed before the Maritime Labour Advisory Committee which recommended the adoption of 7 of them. Consideration of the remaining two being deferred to a later date. Many of the measures enumerated in the Conventions are such that they must, in the first instance, be discussed between the interests concerned viz. the seafarer and the shipowner with a view to the conclusion of collective agreements. They have also to be examined by Government from a wider angle. It is understood that negotiations between shipowners and seafarers are already under way and that schemes intended to give practical effect to these Conventions are also under the active consideration of Government at present.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if the Honourable Minister is aware that there is today discrimination in the wages and conditions of service of Indian and European officers in British shipping companies operating in India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Yes, Sir.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if the Honourable Minister is aware that a large number of Indian officers, particularly those trained in the 'Dufferin', have left these companies because of the treatment given to the Indian officers by the British shipping companies?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: This also is true.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if the Honourable Minister will take any steps to see that such discrimination is put an end to?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is already covered by the reply that the matter is under the active consideration of Government.

Shri B. Das: May I enquire, Sir, if Government is for bringing in such highly salaried Europeans or are they going to devise scales of salaries suited to India's capacity for these Indian officers and Indian seamen?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The policy of the Government of India in that connection is well-known, and certainly well known to the Honourable Member who has asked this question.

515* and 516.* [Withdrawn.]

INDIAN PERSONNEL IN U.N.O. SECRETARIAT.

517. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the amount of yearly contribution that the Indian Dominion has to make to the United Nations Organization?

(b) What is the number of persons employed on the permanent staff of the Secretariat of the United Nations Organization?

(c) Is any quota of personnel of the Secretariat staff fixed for the Indian Dominion and if so, what?

(d) Do Government propose to make a representation for increasing the strength of the Indian personnel therein having regard to the importance of the Indian Dominion and her contribution?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given to part (a) of question No. 219 asked by Shri B. A. Mandloi in the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative) on the 21st November 1947.

(b) About 3,000, including those in posts of lower categories.

(c) No quota is fixed for any country under Article 101(3) of the United Nations Charter the paramount consideration in the employment of the staff and in the determination of the conditions of service shall be the necessity of securing the highest standards of efficiency, competence and integrity, and due regard shall be paid to the importance of recruiting the staff on as wide a geographical basis as possible.

(d) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the answer given to part (c) of the question No. 219 asked by Shri B. A. Mandloi in the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative) on the 21st November 1947.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: May I enquire of the Prime Minister, Sir, if he will kindly enlighten the House as to the practice that is followed in making these appointments in the Secretariat of the U. N. O.?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Appointments are made by the Secretary-General or his Staff—sometimes by reference to other countries. They ask us to nominate a panel or suggest some names, but the appointments are made entirely by the Secretary-General of the United Nations.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Sir, will the Honourable the Prime Minister kindly inform the House whether the Member Nations are particularly consulted when a particular vacancy arises or a particular type of post is created?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: In regard to appointments?

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Yes, Sir.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: That is entirely the discretion of the Secretary-General; he does, as a matter of fact, often consult them.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Do I take it, Sir, that the Government of India has never been consulted so far in connection with any appointments in the U. N. O. Secretariat?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Certainly not; they have been frequently consulted.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Do I take it, Sir, that in these consultations the Government of India is presented with some fait accompli, or that pending the receipt of their instructions the appointments are made?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Obviously these consultations are about senior appointments only and we have been repeatedly consulted; and our names have been sent. In the course of the last year, eight or ten appointments have been made from India—I think eight fairly senior appointments—after consultation with us.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact, Sir, that one of the instructions given to the Secretary-General is that he should keep in mind the geographical distribution also of the personnel that he recruits?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I cannot say, Sir; may be.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact, Sir, that before he makes any important appointment, the Secretary-General is expected by convention to inform all the Governments concerned and ask them whether they have any suitable persons to suggest?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Sir, this question has already been answered by me at the beginning; Mr. Ranga was evidently not following.

FOREIGN DIPLOMATIC EMBASSIES IN INDIA.

518. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister please give a list of the Diplomatic Embassies or Consular Offices that have been established by foreign countries in the Indian Dominion?

(b) Is there any Diplomatic Embassy or Consular establishment of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in the Indian Dominion?

(c) If not, has there been any proposal for such an institution in India by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) I lay a statement on the table of the House.

(b) and (c). No Soviet Diplomatic or Consular post has as yet been established in India. An agreement for the exchange of Ambassadors was, however, reached some months ago and an Indian Embassy is already functioning at Moscow. The Soviet Ambassador-designate to India M. Kiril Vasilevitch Novikov, is expected to arrive in India shortly.

Statement

The foreign countries which have so far established Embassies or Legations in India are :—

Belgium.	Nepal.
China	The Netherlands.
France.	Siam.
Iran.	United States of America.

2. The following countries have Consular Offices in India :—

Afghanistan.	Iraq
Argentina.	Italy.
Belgium.	Lebanon.
Bolivia.	Luxemburg.
Brazil.	Nepal.
China.	The Netherlands.
Colombia.	Nicaragua.
Cuba.	Norway.
Czechoslovakia.	Portugal.
Denmark.	Salvador.
Dominion Republic.	Spain.
Ecuador.	Sweden.
Egypt.	Switzerland.
France.	Turkey.
Greece.	United States of America.
Hayti.	Venezuela
Iran.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Do I take it, Sir, that the Government of India has provided accommodation for them or have they arranged their own accommodation?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: We are providing accommodation for them.

STATEMENTS BY INDIA'S AMBASSADORS ON KASHMIR AND JUNAGADH

519. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether India's Ambassadors in U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. have made any statements. In those countries, on behalf of the Government of India about the position and stand taken by the Government of India with regard to Kashmir and Junagadh?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, did they take the previous approval of the Government of India?

(c) If the answer to part (a) above be in the negative, do Government propose to advise the Ambassadors to make full statements about the real state of affairs so as to clear the position of the Government of India with regard to these matters? If not, why not?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a), (b) and (c). India's Ambassadors in the United States of America and U. S. S. R. have made no statements of the kind referred to by the Honourable Member in part (a). Our Heads of Missions, however, in all important capitals where we are represented, have been kept informed of developments in Kashmir, and where necessary, suitable action has been taken by them to clarify our position.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: May I know from the Prime Minister, Sir, whether he has taken steps to see that the tendentious reports which have appeared from time to time in the foreign Press are contradicted or set right by our representatives in those countries?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I do not know what reports the Honourable Member specially refers to. I cannot give an answer vaguely as to which report has been contradicted and which has not.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Do I take it, Sir, that the Honourable Member's attention has never been drawn to adverse reports affecting India's honour and prestige?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I said I do not know which particular report he refers to. But it is the duty of our Ambassadors, and in this particular matter we have been in the closest touch with them to keep the Governments concerned on the other side fully acquainted with the true facts of the situation; and where desirable, also to take other steps to give publicity to our view-point. But it is not normally desirable for Ambassadors to rush to the Press.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Then do I take it, Sir, that these Ambassadors are not permitted to make any statement without full approval of those statements by the Honourable the Prime Minister?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Ambassadors have full discretion in the matter. They normally ask for our opinion or approval, but they can take action if necessary without that too.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: May I know whether the Honourable the Prime Minister's latest statement on the Kashmir situation has been supplied to the Ambassadors concerned to give them a correct idea of the situation here?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Before that statement was made, at least on ten different occasions those facts were placed before the Ambassadors and Ministers.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Have they made those facts public there?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Ambassadors function in connection with Governments, not so much on the public platform. They have their ways and means of giving publicity to things occasionally; but not, normally speaking, by holding Press conferences though sometimes that too is done.

INDO-BURMA IMMIGRATION ORDER

520. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the present position in regard to the Indo-Burma Immigration Order?

(b) What steps are the Government of India taking in that connection?

(c) Have the Government of India received any representations from Indian employees of the Burma Government about their impending dismissal and if so, whether Government have taken any action in the matter?

(d) Do Government propose to invite the co-operation of the Government of Pakistan in regard to this question?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Immigration of Indians into Burma is now governed by the provisions of the Burma Immigration (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1947 enacted by the Government of Burma under which no person can enter Burma without an immigration permit issued by the Controller of Immigration, Burma or Immigration Officers of the Burma Government who are stationed at the ports of departure in India. At present only three such officers are functioning in India—at Calcutta, Madras and Vizagapatam. It has been arranged with the Government of Burma that holders of evacuee identity certificates will be issued permits as a matter of course, while holders of departure and residence certificates, which were issued some time back by the High Commissioner in Burma and the Government of Burma respectively, will be given permits after such further enquiries as the Immigration Officers may choose to make. In the case of the latter as well as bona fide tourists and businessmen intending to visit Burma, permits will be only for three months in the first place but this period can be extended by the authorities in Burma after they are satisfied of the justification for further stay of the permit holders in Burma.

(b) The Government of Burma have assured the Government of India that the Act of June 1947 is a purely emergency measure and will remain in force only until an agreement is reached between the two Governments on the general question of immigration of Indians into Burma. The Government of India hope to start negotiations on the subject with the Government of Burma at an early date.

(c) Government have received representations from Burma Government employees of Indian origin both direct and through the High Commissioner for India in Burma regarding their future in Burma. The Government of Burma in a policy announcement have stated that their intention is not to discharge immediately all Government servants of Indian origin. On the contrary, those Government servants who are eligible for and will accept Burma citizenship under the new Constitution will be accorded equal treatment with Government servants of Burma origin; and while Burma citizens will be preferred for appointment to posts and for retention in posts in the event of retrenchment in particular services, endeavour will be made to cause as little hardship as possible to those who are non-citizens of Burma. We are giving close and urgent attention to this question and are collecting information about the number involved and other details with a view to exploring the possibility of finding alternative employment for those persons in India.

(d) We communicated with the High Commissioner for Pakistan in India on the subject and were informed by him that the Government of Pakistan did not propose to take on any of the staff retrenched by the Burma Government. We were also informed that if the Government of Pakistan decided to make any approach to the Government of Burma in regard to compensation etc., they would prefer to do so independently.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What is the procedure, Sir, that one has to follow in order to get permission to go to Burma to look after the Indian labour there? Is any passport or permit needed and who issues it?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: For a person who has not previously been in Burma?

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Yes, Sir.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I could not give a precise answer to that without further enquiry.

Shri K. Santhanam: With reference to his answers to parts (c) and (d), may I know what is the position of those Government servants who are Pakistan nationals and who may not accept Burmese citizenship? Is the Government of India undertaking to absorb them in their own Government service or what is the position when the Pakistan Government have refused to have anything to do with them?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Of course, but it is impossible to say at the present moment who is a Pakistan national and who is an Indian national.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if the Honourable the Prime Minister will consider an ordinary resident of Pakistan territories as a Pakistan national?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: We may presume that, but the Honourable Member is thoroughly aware that a few hundred thousand ordinary residents of Pakistan territory have walked across to the Indian Dominion.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister consider the advisability of placing some official at Gorakhpur to help people who came away from Burma during the war because a very large number of people from Gorakhpur have gone to and reside in Burma?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I do not know, Sir, about it.

TREATY WITH HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT

521. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government have received any communication from His Majesty's Government for negotiating any Treaty with them?

(b) If not, do the Government of India themselves propose to take up this question with His Majesty's Government?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) No.

(b) Government have no such intention at present.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is there any truth in the Press report that appeared recently that our Prime Minister has been invited by the British Prime Minister for some special consultations?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: There is this truth, that I have been invited by the British Prime Minister—not for any special consultation on any particular issue. This matter really arose from the fact that an invitation had been issued to me to attend the Princess Elizabeth's wedding and as I was unable to go owing to various circumstances, it was stated then that they will be pleased if I could go at a later stage to discuss various matters. No particular matter was mentioned. In my answer to that, I said I shall be happy to go if opportunity offered itself. Nothing definite has been done so far about it.

INDIANS IN EAST AFRICA

522. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state what action Government have taken in regard to the grievances of Indians in East Africa pertaining to immigration and their representation in the Legislature?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The Honourable Member presumably refers to the Immigration bills published in April, 1947, by the East African Governments and the revised proposals for Inter-territorial Organisation in East Africa contained in Colonial Paper 210 of 1947. Suitable representations have been made to His Majesty's Government in U.K. through our High Commissioner.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Is it a fact that the Indians in East Africa urgently requested the Government of India a few days ago to intervene in connection with the Immigration Bill, which was highly detrimental to their interests?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: But the Government of India did make representation thereon.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: But my question is whether the Government of India, a few days ago, received an urgent representation from the Indian community in East Africa in connection with this Bill which is being considered by the Kenya Council?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I am afraid I cannot reply to that without enquiry.

RE-ENTRY OF INDIANS IN BURMA.

523. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to a notification issued by the Immigration Department of the Government of Burma on the 4th September 1947 in regard to permits for re-entry into Burma?

(b) Is it a fact that a sworn affidavit is now necessary to secure re-entry and that permits and documentary evidence also have to be furnished along with the applications?

(c) Have Government received any representations from Indians proceeding to Burma, or from Indians who are already in Burma, in respect of this notification?

(d) Have Government taken or propose to take up this matter with the Government of Burma?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a), (b) and (c). Yes.

(d) The matter was taken up by our High Commissioner with appropriate authorities under the Government of Burma. Sworn affidavits are being required under executive instructions issued under the Burma Immigration (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1947. As a result of the High Commissioner's discussions with the Government of Burma it has now been decided that an affidavit may be dispensed with at the discretion of the Controller of Immigration, provided other evidence is produced by the applicant for a re-entry permit in support of his statement about permanent residence or connections with Burma. I may add that the Government of Burma have assured us that the Burma Immigration (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1947 will be replaced as soon as an agreement is reached between the two Governments on the question of immigration, and we hope to start negotiations on this subject at an early date.

Number of Hindus and Sikhs in each district of West Punjab and N.W.F.P.

Province.	Name of district.	Hindu and Sikh population (as in 1941 Census).
West Punjab	1. Sialkot	3,73,773
	2. Gujranwala	2,08,471
	3. Sheikhupura	2,38,667
	4. Gujrat	1,54,896
	5. Shalpur	1,48,837
	6. Jhelum	65,718
	7. Rawalpindi	1,47,927
	8. Attock	63,323
	9. Mianwali	69,675
	10. Montgomery	3,66,295
	11. Lyallpur	4,25,067
	12. Jhang	1,42,034
	13. Multan	3,05,167
	14. Muzaffargarh	96,429
	15. D. G. Khan	68,571
	16. Bilcch Tribes Frontier Tract	162
	17. Lahore excluding Kasur Tehsil but including Kasur town	4,51,587
	18. Gurdaspur (only Shakergarh tehsil)	1,37,126
	TOTAL	34,63,725
W.F.P.	1. Hazara	39,487
	2. Mardan	22,515
	3. Peshawar	75,242
	4. Kohat	21,876
	5. Bannu	37,583
	6. D. I. Khar	41,557
	TOTAL	2,38,260

(b) WRITTEN ANSWERS

UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION CHARTER.

527. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to lay on the table of the House a copy of the constitution (charter) of the United Nations Organization and that of several bodies under it?

(b) What is the annual membership fee?

(c) What amount have the Government of India agreed to contribute annually towards the cost of maintenance of the United Nations Organization?

(d) Who are the members of the present Delegation of the Government of India?

(e) What is the authority for implementing the decision of the United Nations Organization in the event of any member failing to execute its decision?

(f) What is the strength of the employees of the United Nations Organization and how many Indians are amongst the said employees?

(g) What steps Government propose to take to secure for India her due share in the United Nations Organization or in the several bodies created or established under it?

(h) What voice India has in the administration department of the United Nations Organization?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) A copy of the Charter of the United Nations Organisation which covers the constitution of that body and of its principal organs is already in the library of the House.

(b) and (c). There is no fixed "membership fee". The contributions of the member States are fixed on a percentage basis and I would draw the attention of the Honourable Member to the answer given by me on the 21st November to part (a) of starred question No. 219 asked by Shri B. A. Mandloi.

(d) A list is laid on the table.

(e) I would refer the Honourable Member to Article 2(2), Article 6 and Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter.

(f) The total number of employees of the United Nations Organisation of all grades is about 3,000. As regards the employment of Indians I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the replies given by me to parts (b), (c) and (d) of the question asked by Shri B. A. Mandloi, to which I have already referred.

(g) If the Honourable Member refers to the representation of Indians on the staffs of the United Nations Organisation and its ancillary bodies I would invite his attention to the answer that I have given to part (f) of this question. If, on the other hand, the Honourable Member has in his mind the effectiveness of India's participation in the activities of the United Nations, I can tell him that we have always tried to support the principles of the Charter according to our independent judgement and that this continues to be our policy.

(h) The administration of the United Nations Organisation is under the control of the Budgetary and Administrative Committee, on which India is represented.

India Delegation to the second regular session of the General Assembly of the United Nations which opened in New York on 16th September, 1947.

Representatives:

1. Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit (leader).
2. Raja Sir Maharaj Singh.
3. Justice Sir Fazl Ali.
4. Sardar Dr. K. M. Panikkar.
5. Mr. M. C. Setalved.

NOTE:—Sardar Panikkar arrived in New York after the session of the General Assembly had begun. Dr. B. C. Roy acted as Representative in his absence.

Alternate Representatives:

1. Mr. M. K. Vellodi.
2. Dr. P. P. Pillai.
2. Mr. B. R. Sen.
4. Mr. Sri Narayan Mahtha.
5. Mr. B. Shiva Rao.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to circulate copies of that Bill, so that when the negotiations take place, we may be able to give our opinions on the subject?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I am prepared to place it on the Table of the Library. It is not an easy matter to circulate copies of it to Honourable Members, because we shall have to get it printed and so on. I do not think that all members are interested. If any one wishes to refer to it, he can do so in the Library.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: At what stage, may I know, does the Honourable the Prime Minister propose to consult the External Affairs Standing Committee in connection with the proposed negotiations with the Burmese Government in regard to this matter?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: This is a matter in regard to which I do not think we have fixed any date or anything about consultation on a particular issue. I do hope that the Standing Committee will be able to meet at a fairly early date to consider various problems.

REFUGEES TRAVELLING BY SEA.

524. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister for Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether Government have any information regarding the total number of refugees who have left Karachi by the sea route between 1st September and 31st October, 1947?

(b) How many of them went to the various ports in Kathiawar and how many to Bombay?

(c) How many Muslims have gone from Bombay and Kathiawar Ports to Karachi?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: (a) The number of refugees who left Karachi by the sea route between 15th August and 31st October, 1947 was between 1,15,000 and 1,20,000.

(b) Of these 75,000 went to Bombay and the remainder to Kathiawar ports.

(c) Upto the 31st October 1947, 41,810 Muslim Civilians and 6,027 members of the Pakistan armed forces went by sea from Bombay to Karachi and 5,593 civilians from the Kathiawar ports to Karachi.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: May I enquire if the Honourable Minister has got any information in regard to those who left by air from Karachi and from Bombay?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: We have information, Sir, but I am not in a position at once to give it.

STUDENTS EVACUATED FROM WEST PUNJAB.

525. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether Government have taken any steps to ascertain the number of Indian students evacuated from the West Punjab, who will need assistance in order to complete their education?

(b) If not, do Government propose to enquire into the matter now?

(c) Do Government propose to help deserving students as they helped some of the Indian students evacuated from Burma in 1942?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: (a) No.

(b) Efforts will be made to collect the information.

(c) Yes, Government have sanctioned a scheme for giving loans to poor refugee students and trainees in order to enable them to prosecute their interrupted studies or training in India or abroad.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Are Government aware that the Commonwealth Relations Department gave students from Malaya and Burma who were unable to receive remittances from their parents not loans but grants for the prosecution of their studies?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: I believe that is correct, Sir.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Then, why are the Government in this case giving only loans and not grants?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: Sir, the suggestion implied in the Honourable Member's question will be considered.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Will the Government of India really consider the question of the poor students not merely with sympathy but with generosity?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: Certainly, Sir.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know whether the Government of India will consider the advisability of establishing a University town where all these students can be accommodated in proper institutions?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: I do not know if the suggestion is for East Punjab. . . .

Shri K. Santhanam: Yes.

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: If that is so, the East Punjab Government is already engaged on the question of selecting a site for a new University town.

EVACUATION OF HINDU SIKHS FROM WEST PUNJAB.

526. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state the number of Hindus and Sikhs in each district of the West Punjab before the 15th August, 1947, and how many of them have been evacuated from each of these districts?

(b) Do Government propose to give similar information regarding the North West Frontier Province districts?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar: (a) and (b). (i) The figures of population of Hindus and Sikhs in each district of the West Punjab and N. W. F. P. before 15th August 1947 are not accurately known, but a statement, according to the last Census in 1941, showing the number of Hindus and Sikhs in each district of the West Punjab and N.W.F.P. is placed on the table.

(ii) The total number of Non-Muslims evacuated by the Military Evacuation Organisation from West Punjab and N. W. F. P., from 4th September, 1947 to 25th November, 1947 was 25,41,555. The figures for the period prior to 4th September cannot be accurately determined. Figures according to Provinces or districts for evacuation are not available.

Advisers:

1. Mr. N. Sundaresan.
2. Mr. Shavax A. Lal.
3. Mr. C. S. Jha.
4. Dr. K. S. Shelvankar.

Liaison Officer:

1. Mr. S. Sen.

Secretaries to the Delegation:

1. Mr. T. N. Kaul.
2. Mr. M. Gopala Menon.

Assistant Secretary to the Delegation.

1. Mr. B. N. Nanda.

Secretarial Staff:

1. Mr. P. N. Subramanian.
2. Mr. M. Viswanatham.
3. Mr. Harbanslal.
4. Mr. Sardari Lal Bhalla.
5. Miss Chandralekha Pandit (Private Secretary to the Leader).

Public Relations Officer:

1. Dr. Anup Singh.

LABOUR DELEGATIONS TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

528. *Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state the total number of Labour Delegations that were sent to foreign countries during the years 1946-47 and 1947-48?

(b) Who are the Members of the Delegations?

(c) On what principles these members were selected?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: (a) Delegations were sent to 4 International Labour Conferences and 8 Industrial Committees, meetings of which were convened under the auspices of the International Labour Organisation.

(b) A statement showing the names of the delegates and advisers is placed on the table of the House.

(c) According to the Constitution of the International Labour Organisation, Workers' and Employers' representatives should be chosen in agreement with the Industrial organisations which are most representative of Employers and Workers. The selection of workers' representatives was made in consultation with the All India Trade Union Congress or unions with a substantial membership of workers in the industry concerned. Employers' representatives were chosen in consultation with the two all-India Organisations of Employers, namely, (1) All India Organisation of Industrial Employers, (2) Employers' Federation of India. Government delegates and advisers were chosen according to their suitability for the purpose.

Statement of Labour Delegations sent to Foreign Countries from India during 1946-47 and 1947-48.

(A) The Maritime Session of the International Labour Conference at Seattle (June-July 1946).

Government Delegates:

1. Mr. M. K. Vellodi, C.I.E., I.C.S., Deputy High Commissioner for India, London.
2. Late Mr. S. R. Zaman, C.I.E., I.C.S. (Joint Secretary, Late Commerce Department, Govt. of India.).

Advisers:

1. Capt. Davis.
2. Khan Bahadur Fazlul Karim.
3. Mr. C. P. Sirivastava.
4. Mr. W. B. England.

Employers' Delegate:

1. Mr. M. A. Master.

Advisers:

1. Mr. D. S. Erulkar.
2. Mr. S. N. Morarji.
3. Mr. H. M. Trivedi.
4. Capt. Cokerjee.

Seamen's Delegate:

1. Lt.-Com. Aftab Ali.

Advisers:

1. Mr. D. Mangat
2. Mr. Dinker Desai.
3. Mr. George Reed.
4. Mr. A. K. Mohammed.

(B) 29th Session of the International Labour Conference (Montreal, September-October 1946)

Government Delegates:

1. Mr. S. Lall, C.I.E., I.C.S., Secretary to the Govt. of India, Ministry of Labour.
2. Dewan Chaman Lal.

Advisers:

1. Nawab M. A. Gurmani.
2. Mr. M. A. Mirza.
3. Khan Bahadur Mohd. Aslam.
4. Mr. W. B. England.

Substitute Adviser:

1. Mr. S. P. Saksena.

Employers' Delegate:

1. Mr. David S. Erulkar.

Advisers:

1. Mr. Y. S. Pandit.
2. Mr. N. W. Gurjar.
3. Mr. H. K. Srivastava.
4. Mr. Vidya Bhushan Shukla.

Workers' Delegate:

1. Mr. S. S. Mirajkar.

Advisers:

1. Mr. Sibnath Banerjee.
2. Mr. Abid Ali Jafferbhai.
3. Mr. Tukaram Andoo Gaikwad.
4. Mr. N. V. Phadke.

(C) 30th Session of the International Labour Conference (Geneva, June-July, 1947)

Government Delegates:

1. The Hon'ble Shri Jagjivan Ram (Labour Minister, Govt. of India).
2. The Hon'ble Mr. Gulzari Lal Nanda (Minister for Labour & Housing, Bombay).

Substitute Delegate:

1. Mr. S. Lall, C.I.E., I.C.S., Secretary, Ministry of Labour.

Advisers:

1. Mr. M. K. Kirpalani, I.C.S.,
2. Mr. M. A. Latif.
3. Mr. N. S. Mankikar.
4. Mr. M. A. Mirza.
5. Mr. S. P. Saksena.

Employers' Delegate:

1. Mr. N. H. Tata.

Advisers:

1. Mr. Purshottam K. Chauhan.
2. Mr. R. Basu.
3. Mr. D. H. Naseer.
4. Mr. T. S. Swaminathan.

Workers' Delegate:

1. Mr. N. M. Joshi.

Advisers:

1. Mr. Manek Gandhi.
2. Mr. Adam Adil.
3. Mr. B. G. Meshram.
4. Mrs. Shanta Mukherjee.

(D) Conference of Near and Middle East of the I. L. O. (Istanbul, November 1947)Observer:

1. Mr. S. P. Saksena, Director, Labour Conference, Govt. of India.

INDUSTRIAL COMMITTEES

1. Iron and Steel Committee (I Session), Cleveland, April 1946Government:

1. Mr. J. Vesugar, Member, Indian Supply Mission in U. S. A.

Employers:

1. Sir Jehangir Ghandy.
2. Mr. P. R. Balakrishnan.

Workers:

1. Mr. Manek Homi.
2. Mr. V. G. Karnik.

2. Metal Trades Committee (I Session), Cleveland, April 1946Government:

1. Mr. J. Vesugar, Member, Indian Supply Mission in U. S. A.

Employers:

1. Sir Jehangir Ghandy.
2. Mr. David S. Erulkar.

Workers:

1. Mr. Fazal Ilahi Qurban.
2. Mr. K. T. Sule.

3. Industrial Committee on Textile (I Session), Brussels, November, 1946Government:

1. Mr. M. K. Vellodi, Dy. High Commissioner for India, London.
2. Mr. A. S. Iyengar, Director of Labour Welfare, Bombay.

Employers:

1. Mr. Shantilal Mangaldas.
2. Mr. Naval H. Tata.

Workers:

1. Mr. Shamprasad Vasavada.
2. Mr. P. Ramamurthy.

4. Industrial Committee on Building, Civil Engineering and Public Works, Brussels, November, 1946Government Delegates:

1. Rai Bahadur H. P. Sinha, Superintending Engineer, Central P. W. D.
2. Mr. A. S. Iyengar, Director of Labour Welfare, Bombay.

Adviser:

1. Sardar Bahadur Raghbir Singh, Chief Engineer, Patiala State, Patiala.

Employers:

1. Mr. S. C. Banerjee.

Workers:

1. Mr. K. N. Joglekar.
2. Mr. Deben Sen.

5. Industrial Committee on Coal Mining (II Session), Geneva, April 1947.Government Delegate:

1. Mr. V. K. R. Menon, Acting Secretary, Ministry of Labour.

Adviser:

1. Mr. Syed Kazim.

Employers:

1. Mr. Chhaganlal K. Parekh.

Workers:

1. Mr. P. C. Bose.
2. Mr. Chapa! Bhattacharya.

5. Industrial Committee on Inland Transport (II Session), Geneva, May, 1947Government Delegates:

1. Mr. V. K. R. Menon, I.C.S., Acting Secretary, Ministry of Labour.
2. Mr. S. M. Hasan (Hyderabad Government).

Advisers:

1. Mr. Mushtaq Ahmed Khan.

Employers:

1. Mr. N. H. R. Chinoy.
2. Mr. G. L. Mehta.

Workers:

1. Mr. B. K. Mukherjee.
2. Mr. Faiz Ahmed.

7. Industrial Committee on Iron and Steel (II Session), Stockholm, August, 1947Government:

1. Mr. V. Narayanan, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Labour.

Employers: (Not represented.)Workers:

1. Mr. Mahindra Kumar Ghosh.
2. Mr. Taraprasanna Sinha.

8: Industrial Committee on Metal Trades (II Session), Stockholm, September 1947

Government:

1. Mr. V. Narayanan, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Labour.

Employers:

1. Mr. David S. Erulkar.

Workers:

1. Mr. K. N. Joglekar.

2. Mr. Ranen Sen.

IMPORT OF FOODGRAINS, CONSUMER AND CAPITAL GOODS

529. *Shri Banarsi Prasad Jhunjunwala: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) the variety, quantity and value of goods imported into India since 1st April, 1947 in the shape of (i) food grains; (ii) other consumer goods and (iii) capital goods from the United States of America, United Kingdom and other countries; and

(b) the variety, quantity and value of goods exported from India during the same period to (i) United States of America (ii) United Kingdom and (iii) other countries?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The information is being collected and will be placed on the table of the House in due course.

IMPOSITION OF DUTY ON RAW JUTE

530. *Shri Banarsi Prasad Jhunjunwala: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to an Ordinance promulgated by the Government of Eastern Pakistan imposing an export duty on raw jute coming into the Indian Dominion?

(b) If so, is it not a breach of the Standstill Agreement between the two Dominions?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what steps are the Government of India taking in the matter to protect the interest of the Indian Dominion?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a), (b) and (c). The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of Finance. It has accordingly been transferred to the list of questions for the 6th December 1947, when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister of Finance.

LEVY ON EXPORT OF JUTE TO INDIA

531. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the imposition of export levy by the Pakistan Government on all exports of jute to India?

(b) Do Government propose to lay on the table of the House the correspondence exchanged on the subject between the Governments of Pakistan and India?

(c) What action Government propose to take in this respect?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a), (b) and (c). The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of Finance. It has accordingly been transferred to the list of questions for the 6th December 1947, when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister of Finance.

CITIZENSHIP OF PAKISTAN AND INDIAN UNION

532. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the citizens of Pakistan are considered as aliens in the Indian Union and vice versa?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to fix a date by which the citizenship of Pakistan and Indian Union may be interchangeable?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: This question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister for Home Affairs and has accordingly been transferred to the Ministry of Home Affairs. It will be answered on a day allotted to that Ministry.

HARASSMENT OF PASSENGERS AT PARBATIPUR JUNCTION ON E. B. RAILWAY

533. *Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government are aware that passengers proceeding from different parts of India to Assam through Pakistan area, are subjected to searches at Parbatipur Junction of the East Bengal Railway by Pakistan Police, Muslim League National Guards and other unauthorised persons who also molest them in different ways and commit extortions?

(b) If so, what steps Government propose to take to protect the citizens against such harassment?

(c) Is it a fact that in the last week of October, a merchant of Gauhati in Assam, had to pay a sum of Rs. 1,000/- at Parbatipur in order to save himself and his family from harassment?

(d) Do Government propose to make inquiries and take necessary steps to prevent recurrence of such events?

(e) Do the Government of India propose to depute officers of their own to Parbatipur Junction to watch and report the actual state of things and also to protect the passengers of India against molestations and extortions?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Government have received several complaints of this nature.

(b) On the basis of these complaints representations have been made to the Government of Pakistan through the High Commissioner for India at Karachi. No reply has so far been received from that Government.

(c) An instance of this nature relating to one Gograj Agarwala has been brought to our notice by the Government of Assam.

(d) I have sent a telegram on the 13th November to the Prime Minister of Pakistan to investigate the specific instance referred to in part (c) and to ensure that no harassment is caused to Indian nationals passing through Eastern Pakistan. To this, a reply is still awaited.

(e) Government will consider what steps should be taken after the reply from the Pakistan Government has been received.

IMPORT OF PETROL IN HYDERABAD STATE

534. *Shri B. M. Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) Whether it is a fact that the State of Hyderabad has imported in recent weeks more petrol than its quota;

(b) Whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the reports that effect appearing in certain papers; and

(c) if the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative whether Government propose to take necessary steps in the matter?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) The Government of India have made enquiries and are satisfied that the despatches of petrol to the State of Hyderabad during recent weeks have not been in any way abnormal. Actually the State in question does not import any petrol; it is the Oil Companies who make despatches to their depots in the State and make deliveries against coupons in the same manner as to consumers in the Union of India.

(b) The answer is in the affirmation.

(c) Does not arise.

HOUSING ACCOMMODATION FOR GOVERNMENT SERVANTS

535. *Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to encourage private enterprise for providing housing accommodation in New Delhi for Central Government Servants, so as to save tax payers' money on Governmental schemes; and

(b) whether Government are prepared to consider a scheme to allot plots of land free of charge in areas of New Delhi to their servants so as to enable them to construct houses at their own cost thereby relieving pressure on the existing accommodation and Government revenues?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No Sir.

(b) No.

ALLOTMENT OF LAND BY U.P. GOVERNMENT FOR HOUSE-BUILDING

536. *Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that the Government of the United Provinces have allotted plots of land to their ministerial staff in Lucknow (Lattouche Road) for building houses;

(b) whether Government propose to make enquiries in the matter from the Government of the United Provinces as to whether such a scheme has proved beneficial both to the employees and the employers; and

(c) whether the Government of India propose to formulate such a scheme so as to save their revenues on projects for houses for their staff?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No Sir.

(b) Yes.

(c) This would be considered on receipt of necessary information from the Government of United Provinces.

ALLOTMENT OF LAND TO CENTRAL GOVERNMENT SERVANTS.

537. *Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that the Delhi Improvement Trust has helped only moneyed-men, contractors and capitalists in acquiring lands for building purposes;

(b) whether Government are aware that competitive rates for plots of land in Delhi have rendered it impossible for middle class men to purchase plots so as to live in decent houses;

(c) whether Government are aware that capitalists or contractors purchase plots in lots at exorbitant prices thereby depriving men of ordinary means to acquire lands;

(d) what steps Government propose to take to help the middle class men, and more particularly the ministerial staff of the Government of India, who are hard hit by the present economic conditions and by the difficulties in getting decent housing accommodation; and

(e) whether Government propose to allot plots of land to the permanent servants of the Government of India free of charges or at a fixed nominal price?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of Health. It has accordingly been transferred to the list of questions for 6th December 1947 when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister of Health.

CREATION OF COLONIES FOR CENTRAL GOVERNMENT SERVANTS

538. *Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to consider a scheme of creating a number of colonies of 500 to 1,000 houses each (small double-storeyed bungalows) for Central Government servants near about New Delhi by allotting plots of land to their servants free of charge and by providing them with building materials at controlled rates; and

(b) if so, whether Government propose to consider the advisability of allotting the areas of Hardinge Avenue and Muttra Road for the purpose?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No Sir.

(b) No Sir. The land available on Muttra Road and Hardinge Avenue is reserved to meet other requirements.

POSTS IN THE CENTRAL P.W.D.

539. *Shri Ram Narayan Singh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Government of India had sanctioned about 100 posts in Central P.W.D. about a year back?

(b) If so, whether the proposals have been given effect to; and if not why not?

(c) Are Government aware that the Sub-Divisional Officers of the Central P.W.D. are given much less pay and allowances than a temporary Engineer working in the same capacity and doing the same kind of work?

(d) What are the minimum technical qualification required of Central P.W.D. Sub-Divisional Officers and Assistant Executive Engineers?

(e) Has the Pay Commission put this category of service in Class II?

(f) If so, what is the period within which this proposal is likely to be given effect to?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Sanction to the creation of 100 permanent posts of Assistant Engineers, which will constitute a new Service to be known as the Central Engineering Service, Class II, was issued in February 1947.

(b) The Service as such has not yet been formed. Draft recruitment rules prescribing the qualifications and other conditions of appointment to the Service have been framed and referred to the Federal Public Service Commission for their opinion, and actual appointments to the Service can be made only after the Commission's views on these draft rules have been received.

(c) Yes. Sub-Divisional Officers of non-Gazetted rank in the Central Public Works Department are on a lower rate of pay than the Temporary Engineers, even though both classes of officers do the same type of work.

(d) The minimum technical qualification prescribed for Assistant Executive Engineers, Class I. Assistant Engineers, Class II and Temporary Engineers, is the possession of a degree in engineering of the University standard. For Sub-Divisional Officers of non-gazetted rank, the qualification is an Overseer's Diploma of any recognised institution.

(e) and (f). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the observations of the Central Pay Commission in paragraph 19 at page 307 of their report. No definite recommendation was made by the Central Pay Commission to the effect that Sub-Divisional Officers of non-Gazetted rank in the Central P. W. D. should all be placed in the Class II Engineering Service. Those Sub-Divisional Officers who possess an Engineering Degree are being considered for absorption in the Central Engineering Service, Class II. This Service is likely to be formed during next year.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE DOMINION OF INDIA AND THE NIZAM OF HYDERABAD AND BERAR

Mr. Speaker: I have received notice of an adjournment motion from the Honourable Dr. N. B. Khare. The Motion says:

"That the House do stand adjourned to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance of recent occurrence, viz., the agreement made between the Dominion of India and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar on the 29th November 1947."

I may point to the Honourable Member two difficulties which I feel. If he has anything to say, I shall be glad to hear him before I give my ruling. I do not see any urgency about the matter. The agreement has already 12 NOON been made; that is one part of it. I find that there is also a Cut Motion proposed to be moved to Demand No. 27 to discuss "matters relating to the Hyderabad Agreement" and also a further Motion to "discuss the specific agreement with Hyderabad and the protection of the elementary rights of the citizens of the State." Of course, it may be said that these Cut Motions may not come for discussion at all; but in any case, the Demand will there, and the Honourable Member will have an opportunity when the Demand comes before the House to have his say on that question; but this second ground is a minor point comparatively. I really do not see any urgency about this matter. Has the Honourable Dr. Khare anything to say in this respect?

Dr. N. B. Khare (Alwar State): Sir the matter is definitely urgent, because the agreement involves violation of the sacred principle of the sovereignty of the people of India. I hope that the House will agree with me that this is a sacred principle and the second thing is that according to me it is beside the point whether the agreement has or has not have been entered into, as it is ultra vires. That is all I have to say I think it is urgent and so I plead that it should be allowed.

Mr. Speaker: The Motion does not say specifically that it is a censure Motion. The point about the agreement being ultra vires is one of argument and opinion. I do not think the matter is of an urgent nature and I cannot, therefore, give my consent to this.

ELECTIONS TO THE STANDING COMMITTEES FOR THE MINISTRIES OF STATES, TRANSPORT, COUNCIL OF THE INDIAN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE, BANGALORE, GOVERNING BODY OF THE INDIAN RESEARCH FUND ASSOCIATION AND STANDING COMMITTEE FOR ROADS.

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Standing Committees for the Ministries of States and Transport (other than Roads), Council of the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, Governing Body of the Indian Research Fund Association and Standing Committee for Roads, 12 nominations in the case of the first, 11 in the case of the second, 1 in the case of the third, 3 in the case of the fourth and 12 in the case of the last were received. Subsequently two members in case of the first and one in case of the second withdrew their candidature. As the number of the remaining candidates was thus equal to the number of vacancies in each of these Committees, I declare the following members to be duly elected:—

I. Standing Committee for the Ministry of States.

- (1.) Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya.
- (2.) Pandit Hiralal Shastri.
- (3.) Shri Balwant Rai Gopalji Mehta.
- (4.) Shri R. R. Diwakar.
- (5.) Shri S. Nijalingappa.
- (6.) Shri Brajeshwar Prasad.
- (7.) Sir V. T. Krishnamachari.
- (8.) Shri Surendra Mohan Ghosh.
- (9.) Dr. Sir S. V. Ramamurty, and
- (10.) Mr. Hussain Imam.

II. Standing Committee for the Ministry of Transport (Other than Roads).

- (1.) Shri S. N. Sunavalli.
- (2.) Shri Sunder Lall.
- (3.) Shri P. Kushiraman.
- (4.) Shri Mukunda Behary Mallick.
- (5.) Shri P. Govinda Menon.
- (6.) Shri O. V. Alagesan.
- (7.) Shri Brijlal Nandlal Biyani.
- (8.) Shri K. Santhanam.
- (9.) Dr. Dharam Prakash, and
- (10.) Maulana Daud Ghaznavi.

III. Council of the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra.

IV. The Governing Body of the Indian Research Fund Association.

- (1.) Acharaya J. B. Kriplani.
- (2.) Shri Shanker Dattatraya Deo and
- (3.) Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya.

V. Standing Committee for Roads.

- (1.) Shri Raghuraj Singh.
- (2.) Prof. Nibaran Chandra Laskar.
- (3.) Shri Ramprasad Patai.
- (4.) Shri S. Nijalingappa.
- (5.) Dr. V. Subrahmanyam.
- (6.) Shri B. N. Munavalli.
- (7.) Shri G. S. Guha.
- (8.) Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri.
- (9.) Shri Mohan Lal Saxena.
- (10.) Shri C. M. Poonacha.
- (11.) Shri Yudhisthir Misra, and
- (12.) Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala.

Mr. Speaker: The House may now proceed with the further discussion of the Resolution moved by Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai.

श्री मोहनलाल गौतम : यह जो आपने कमेटी बनाई है उसमें क्या आपको पता है कि तमाम मेंबर हिंदुस्तान में रहते हैं या कुछ पाकिस्तान के रहने वाले भी उसमें लिये गए हैं। मेरा यह ख्याल है कि द्वाऊद गजनवी माह्व का नाम मैंने पाकिस्तान की किसी कमेटी में पढ़ा था—शायद पश्चिमी पंजाब की प्रांतीय मुस्लिम लीग की कार्य-कारिणी में। यह आपकी कमेटी में है क्या यह मुनासिब है ?

Shri Mohan Lal Gautam (U.P. : General): Are you aware of the fact that the Committee which you have formed consists of all members who live in India or it includes some of those who are settled down in Pakistan? I think I had read the name of Maulana Daud Ghaznavi in a certain Committee of Pakistan—probably in the Working Committee of the West Punjab Provincial Muslim League. He is included in your Committee; is it permissible?

Mr. Speaker: It is not a question for the Chair. I have not formed these Committees at all. As the Honourable Member knows on motions duly carried by the House, elections were held and I merely directed the elections here on the principle of proportional representation with transferable vote. Candidates were nominated under the rules and elections were held accordingly. It is, therefore, not a matter really for discussion with me. It is purely a matter to be settled amongst the Members themselves whether to include or exclude a particular candidate.

श्री मोहनलाल गौतम : क्या मैं पेश कर सकता हूँ कि जो साहवान आज हिंदुस्तान के नागरिक नहीं हैं उन्हें expell कर दिया जाय ?

Shri Mohan Lal Gautam: May I move that those gentlemen who are not citizens of India to-day should be expelled?

Mr. Speaker: No. Such a motion cannot be moved. It is an election which has duly taken place. The Members elected are the Members of the Constituent Assembly. They have been duly nominated and duly elected.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya (West Bengal: General): Is it necessary to take the consent of a Member who is put in a Committee?

Mr. Speaker: I do not know whether the consent was not taken. The nominations are not challenged up to this moment.

RESOLUTION RE AMELIORATION OF THE CONDITION OF SCHEDULED CASTES—contd.

Mr. Speaker: The House may take up the further discussion of the following Resolution moved by Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai on the 27th November, 1947:

"This Assembly is of opinion that the Government of India should spend at least one crore of rupees each year for the next ten years for the amelioration of the condition of the scheduled castes by way of providing them with house sites and drinking water and also by way of supplementing the educational grants sanctioned by Provincial Governments."

Seth Govinddas (C. P. and Berar: General): Sir, I have sent a notice of an amendment to this Resolution. The notice of the amendment was sent late, but as the amendment makes the Resolution more comprehensive. I hope, Sir, you will kindly allow that amendment to be moved. The amendment runs thus:

"That in the Resolution for the words 'spend at least one crore of rupees each year for the next ten years', the words 'take adequate steps' be substituted."

Mr. Speaker: I assume that Honourable Members are generally agreeable to have this amendment considered in the House. I am not asking whether they agree to accept it; the only question for me is whether I should waive notice. And if a substantially large number of members is willing to have this amendment considered, I should like to waive notice.

Several Honourable Members: Yes, yes.

Mr. Speaker: Then I waive notice about it. Amendment moved:

"That in the Resolution for the words 'spend at least one crore of rupees each year for the next ten years', the words 'take adequate steps' be substituted."

Seth Govind Das may now proceed with his speech.

सेठ गोविन्द दास : सभापति जी, जो सुधार मैं यहां पेश कर रहा हूँ वह सुधार इस भावना से नहीं है कि इन कामों के ऊपर एक करोड़ रुपया खर्च न किया जाय। मेरे सुधार का मतलब यह है कि हरिजनों की जैसी अवस्था इस समय इन बातों के सम्बंध में है वह इतनी बुरी है कि यह एक करोड़ रुपया भी शायद उसे दस वर्ष में सुधारने के लिए काफी न होगा। फिर मैं यह नहीं चाहता कि दस वर्ष तक इस काम को जारी रखा जाय। मेरा अभिप्राय यह है कि जब हम स्वतंत्र हो गये तब बहुत थोड़े समय के अन्दर इस काम को पूरा कर डालना चाहिये। दूसरे देशों में जहां पर बड़ी बड़ी क्रांतियां हुई हैं हमने देखा है कि बहुत बड़े बड़े काम थोड़े से वर्षों के भीतर हो गए, और यदि हम दस वर्षों तक सिर्फ एक करोड़ रुपया प्रति वर्ष इस सम्बंध में खर्च करेंगे तो मैं आपसे कहना चाहता हूँ कि जो काम इस प्रस्ताव में कहा गया है, वह काम दस वर्ष में भी पूरा न कर सकेंगे।

मुझे यह बात मालूम है कि केन्द्रीय सरकार, इस कार्य को बहुत बड़े परिमाण में हाथ में लेना चाहती है। पहले तो यह काम बहुत दूर तक प्रांतीय सरकारें करेंगी और प्रांतीय सरकारों के पास यदि काफी साधन इन कामों के करने के लिए न होंगे तो उन गरीब प्रांतों के ऊपर जिन में काफी साधन उपलब्ध नहीं हैं, केन्द्रीय सरकार बहुत बड़े परिमाण में इस सम्बंध में खर्च करेगी।

हम लोगों ने हजारों वर्षों से अपने हरिजन भाइयों को इस बुरी अवस्था में रखा है कि जिस अवस्था में कोई भी मनुष्य इस संसार के किसी हिस्से में नहीं रहेगा। हमने जितनी ज्यादातियां अपने हरिजन भाइयों के ऊपर की हैं वह इतिहास में अभूतपूर्व हैं, और भारतवर्ष के स्वतंत्र हो जाने के पश्चात् हमारी केन्द्रीय सरकार, प्रांतीय सरकार और इस देश की जनता सबका परम कर्तव्य हो जाता है कि उन करोड़ों भाइयों की, जिनको मनुष्योचित अधिकार प्राप्त नहीं हैं, भलाई के लिए सबसे पहले ध्यान रखें उनकी भलाई के लिए जो अधिक से अधिक व्यय किया जा सकता है, वह प्रांतीय सरकारें भी करें और केन्द्रीय सरकार भी करे।

[सेठ गोविन्द दास]

श्री मुनिस्वामी पिल्ले के प्रस्ताव में तीन बातें कही गई हैं। पहली बात है हरिजनों के घर के सम्बन्ध में। दूसरी बात है उनके पानी के सम्बन्ध में। तीसरी बात है उनकी पढ़ाई के सम्बन्ध में। मैं यह कहना चाहता हूँ कि पानी मनुष्य की सबसे पहली आवश्यकता है। भोजन के बिना फिर भी थोड़े समय तक कोई व्यक्ति रह सकता है परन्तु पानी के बिना मनुष्य नहीं रह सकता। हम देखते हैं कि जहाँ तक पानी भरने का सम्बन्ध है वहाँ तक, यद्यपि विधान परिषद ने हमारे मौलिक अधिकारों में यह बात कही है कि Untouchability would be a crime अब भी सब कुओं पर जो सार्वजनिक कुएं हैं, हमारे हरिजन भाई पानी नहीं भर सकते। जहाँ तक मकानों का सम्बन्ध है उनके मकान ऐसे स्थानों पर हैं, जो शहर से बाहर अत्यन्त गंदे और ऐसे हैं जहाँ पर मनुष्यों का रहना ही कठिन है। जहाँ तक शिक्षा का सम्बन्ध है, यद्यपि इस देश में शिक्षा का प्रचार अभी केवल हरिजनों में कम हो, इतना ही नहीं जो सवर्ण हिन्दू हैं उनमें भी बहुत कम है, परन्तु हरिजन तो शिक्षा के मामले में बहुत पीछे हैं। आज यदि हम इन तीनों चीजों को लें तो हमको मालूम होगा कि जहाँ तक प्रांतीय सरकारों का सम्बन्ध है कई प्रांतीय सरकारें ऐसी होंगी जिनके पास काफी द्रव्य नहीं है। मैं अपने गरीब प्रांत मध्य प्रांत का दृष्टांत आपके सामने देता हूँ। मध्य प्रांत संयुक्त प्रांत की तरह से, या बम्बई प्रांत की तरह से या मद्रास प्रांत की तरह से बनवाना प्रांत नहीं है। मध्य प्रांत गरीब प्रांत है। मध्य प्रांत से भी अधिक गरीब प्रांत हैं जैसे आसाम और उड़ीसा। लेकिन मध्य प्रांत या ऐसे अन्य प्रांतों पर सारा भार छोड़ दिया जाता है तो मैं कहना चाहूंगा कि उसमें पूरी कामयाबी जितने समय के अन्दर हम इस काम को करना चाहते हैं, उतने समय के अंदर, नहीं हो सकेगी। इसलिये मैं यह चाहता हूँ कि केवल एक करोड़ रुपया ही खर्च न किया जाय, उससे कहीं अधिक खर्च किया जाय और वह रुपया दस वर्षों तक एक करोड़ रुपया प्रति वर्ष खर्च न किया जाकर और भी थोड़े समय में खर्च किया जाय जिसमें दस वर्ष तक यह काम जारी हो न रहे, और हम दो या तीन या पांच वर्षों में इसको समाप्त कर दें।

इसलिये जो सुधार मैं यहां पेश कर रहा हूँ उसका अर्थ यह कभी न समझा जाय कि मैं यह नहीं चाहता कि दस वर्ष तक एक करोड़ रुपया प्रति वर्ष खर्च न किया जाय मेरा अभिप्राय यह है कि अधिक रुपया खर्च हो जिससे काम जल्दी खत्म हो जाय केंद्रीय सरकार एक करोड़ रुपये से भी ज्यादा इस दिशा में दे। मैं आशा करता हूँ कि मेरा यह सुधार इस असेम्बली को स्वीकृत होगा।

(English translation of the above speech)

Seth Govinddas: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Amendment that I have brought forward is not based on the idea that we should not spend one crore of rupees on such works. My amendment means that the condition of the Harijans, as it exists today, especially with regard to these things, is so bad that perhaps the sum of one crore of rupees per annum will be too insufficient to better their lot even in ten years. I do not want that this work should be allowed to linger for ten years. What I mean is, that, when we have attained freedom, we must do this work as soon as we can. In other countries which have witnessed big revolutions it has been seen that very big achievements have been made in very short periods. If we spend one crore of rupees per year over ten years, then, I may tell you that we shall not be able to achieve in that time what we desire today by this Bill.

AMELIORATION OF THE CONDITION OF THE SCHEDULED CASTES

1061

I know that the Central Government intend starting this campaign on a very large scale. In the first place, a great part of this work will be done by the Provincial Government; and where the Provincial Governments do not have enough means for doing these works, the Central Government will take the work in its hands on a very large scale.

For thousands of years we have made the Harijans live in such conditions as no one on the face of this earth would like to live in. The undue advantages we have been taking over them have no parallel in the history of the world. Now when India has become free, it becomes the first and foremost duty of both the Central and Provincial Governments, and of every Indian, to see that these crores of down trodden men are uplifted. The Central and the Provincial Governments must spend on their uplift the maximum money they can.

The Bill presented by Shri Munishwami contains three points. The first is concerned with the problem of housing for these Harijans. The second refers to water supply for them, and the third is connected with their education. I like to say that water is man's first necessity. A man may do without food for sometime, but he cannot do without water. So far as it is the question of drawing water, we find today that in spite of the fact that the Constituent Assembly has laid down among the primary rights of a man that "Untouchability would be a crime", the Harijans are not allowed to draw water from the public wells. So far as it is a question of their housing, the dwellings of these Harijans are situated in those slums outside the cities where it is well nigh impossible for a man to breathe. With regard to their education, I have to say that although illiteracy prevails not only among the Harijans but also among the so called caste Hindus, yet in education the Harijans are far backward as compared with the Hindus. If we take these three things into consideration we will find that, so far as the Provincial Governments are concerned, few are such which do not have enough funds. Take the example of my own poor province, the Central Provinces. The C.P. are not as rich as the U.P. or as the Presidencies of Bombay and Madras. The C.P. are comparatively poor. There are provinces, like Assam and Orissa, which are poorer than even the C.P. If we place this burden on the C.P. or on any such other province, we will fail to achieve success in the time we wish to have. I want, therefore, that we should spend much more than one crore of rupees per year on it. Let us not spend it as one crore per annum for ten years, but let us try to cut short the period so that the work may not linger for ten years; let us rather finish it, if we can, in two, three or five years.

It may not, therefore, be taken that my amendment means that I have objections to one crore of rupees being spent per annum for ten years. What I mean is that we should spend more to expedite this work. Let the Central Government earmark more than one crore of rupees for it. I hope the House will accept my amendment.

जानी गुरुमुख सिंह मूसाफिर : साहबे सदर, इस प्रस्ताव के अल्फाज जो कुछ हैं या जो एमेण्डमेण्ट मेरे भाई ने पेश किया है वह भी, उसके भी अल्फाज कुछ हैं। असल में इसके अंदर जो स्पिरिट (spirit) काम कर रही है वह यह है कि हरिजनों को

[ज्ञानी गुरुमुख सिंह मुसाफिर]

उठाना चाहिये, शेड्यूलड क्लासेज (Scheduled Class) को उठाना चाहिये क्योंकि वह हमारे देश में इस वक्त बैकवर्ड क्लास (backward class) के तौर पर गिने जाते हैं। इस वक्त जब कि हमें आजादी मिल चुकी है तो मेरा ख्याल है कि एक दिन भी हमको यह नहीं सुनना चाहिये कि इन भाइयों की हालत वही है जो इससे पहले जब कि हमें आजादी नहीं मिली थी, चली आई है। यह बड़ी अफसोसनाक बात है कि इस बीसवीं सदी में भी अब तक हमारे देश में न सिर्फ यह कि जिनको अनटचबिल (Untouchable) कहा जाता है वही मौजूद हैं, मगर हमारे देश के बाज हिस्सों में ऐसे साहवान भी हैं जिनको अनसीएबिल (Unseeable) कहा जाता है यानी जिनकी निगाह अगर सवर्ण हिंदुओं पर पड़ जाय तो सवर्ण हिंदू भ्रष्ट हो जाता है। इसके अलावा हमारे देश के कई हिस्सों में ऐसी जगह भी हैं जहां उनके पांव के ऊपर किसी का पांव आ जाय तो समझते हैं कि वह भ्रष्ट हो गया। इसलिए इन भाइयों को दिन के वक्त घर से बाहर निकलने की इजाजत नहीं है ताकि उनकी नजर किसी के ऊपर न पड़ जाय, या उनके पांव पर किसी का पांव न पड़ जाय। तो हमारे देश पर यह कलंक जो मूढ़त से चला आ रहा है वह इसी वक्त दूर करना चाहिये। इस वक्त भी इन डिस्टर्बेंसेज (disturbances) में भी हमने देखा है कि दो किस्म के लोगों का नुकसान बहुत ज्यादा हुआ है। एक वह जो पाकिस्तान के इलाकों में अपनी जूरत की वजह से अड़े रहे हैं, दूसरे वह जो कमजोर गिने जाते थे, और उनकी कमजोरी उनके लिये मौत का वायस हुई है। अड़ने वाले सिक्खों को इसलिये मारा गया कि वे अड़ते हैं। जो कमजोर थे उनको अपनी सभ्यता, अपना धर्म, अपना कल्चर (culture) सब कुछ छोड़ कर वहां रहना पड़ रहा है। परसों चौथे ही मैसे डा० अम्बेडकर का एक वयान पढ़ा था। कि पाकिस्तान के इलाकों में जो हरिजन हैं उनको दवाया जा रहा है। उनका मजहब तबदील किया जा रहा है। कल हिन्दुस्तान टाइम्स में मेरे मोहतरम डाक्टर चोइथराम गिडवानी का तार डा० अम्बेडकर साहब के नाम छपा है, जिसमें लिखा है "Harijans not allowed to migrate to India"। इस तार में भी उन्होंने इस बात को स्पष्ट किया है कि हरिजनों को कई बहानों से ब्रिलोचिस्तान में और सिंध में मजबूर किया जाता है और बाज जगह लिखा है कि उन्हें arrest भी किया गया है। आखिर में उन्होंने बताया है कि "Backward Sindhi Sikhs called Labanas and Harijans Called Bagris were looted and forcibly converted to Islam."। तो मेरा मतलब यह कहने से यह है कि एक तरफ जो अड़ने वाले थे उनके मुताल्लिक कहा गया कि कोई सिक्ख मगरवी पंजाब में रहने नहीं पाये। मगरवी पंजाब में पाकिस्तानी अखबारों में उपरोक्त बातें लिखी हैं। दूसरे जो यह हरिजन भाई थे जो कमजोर गिने जाते थे उनको कनवर्ट (convert) किया गया है। उनको पहले लाने का इंतजाम करना चाहिये।

दूसरी बात जो मैं हाउस के सामने रखना चाहता हूं और उसके मुताल्लिक अपने जजवात को स्पष्ट तौर पर जाहिर करना चाहता हूं। वह है पानी और तालीम के मुताल्लिक जो मेरे भाई ने आपके सामने बताया है उन दोनों के मुताल्लिक मेरा जो तजुर्बा है मैं उसको आपके सामने जरूर अर्ज करूंगा। मैंने भी अपनी उम्र का काफी हिस्सा दस बारह साल अछूतों के उठाने के काम में लगाया है। तो एक बात तो साफ है कि इन्सान में जो एहसास कमतरी का पैदा हो जाता है वह उसको कभी भी उठने नहीं देता। हमारे इन भाइयों में जब तक यह ख्याल है, हमारे हिंदू भाइयों में यह अछूत गिने जाते हैं, इनको हरिजन कहा जाता है। सिक्खों में जो इस किस्म के लोग सिक्ख बन जाते हैं वह मजहबी सिक्ख कहे जाते हैं, और हमारे पंजाब में जो भी मुसलमान धर्म अख्तियार करते हैं उनको मुसल्ली कहते हैं। यानी उन नामों से फिर वह वहीं के वहीं रह जाते हैं। उस नाम से ही इस किस्म का अहसास हो जाता है कि यह फलां जात से यहां आया है। इसी तरह पानी के इंतजाम की बात है अब भी पंजाब में और और जगहों पर भी अगर कुएं पर से कुत्ता पानी पी जाय तो उससे कुछ नुकसान नहीं होता। मगर अफसोस की बात है कि हमारे जैसे इन्सान हमारे भाई जो हमारे समाज के एक बहुत जरूरी हिस्सा हैं, उनमें से अगर कोई कुएं पर से पानी पी जाय तो हमारे लोग कहते हैं कि यह कुआं जो भ्रष्ट हो गया यह ऐसी भद्दी और छिनोनी बात है कि मैं तो कहता हूं कि इस वक्त गवर्नमेण्ट आफ इंडिया को ऐसा सख्त कानून पास करना चाहिये कि जितने भी कुएं हैं उनमें से किसी भी कुएं के ऊपर अगर कोई आदमी इस किस्म का एतराज करे कि हम फलां जात के आदमी को पानी नहीं पीने देंगे, तो उसको उसी वक्त सख्त से सख्त सजा देनी चाहिये ताकि हिंदोस्तान के माथे से यह कलंक का टीका दूर हो जाय।

अगर हरिजनों के लिए हम अलहदा कुएं बनायेंगे तो इसमें एक बड़ी बुराई की बात हो जायगी इससे हरिजन फिर अलहिदा अलहिदा ही हो जायेंगे। जो भी कुएं बने हुए हैं उनके लिये हर जगह सहूलियत होनी चाहिये। घर जो अलहिदा बना दिये जाते हैं हमारे पंजाब में उनको ठट्टियां कहते हैं और वे गांव के बाहर बने हुए हैं। इस किस्म की ठट्टियां बना देना भी बड़ी नुकसानदेह बात है। हर जगह उनको रहने का हक हो। हर एक मुहल्ले में जहां कहीं यह जायें, रहें, कोई तमीज नहीं होनी चाहिये क्योंकि इन्सान बतौर इन्सान के इन्सान है। इन्सान के नाते वह इन्सान के साथ हर जगह रह सकता है। किसी भी जगह में उसे रहने से रोकना ज्यादाती है। अगर नाम पड़ना चाहिये तो वह सिर्फ पेशे के तौर पर नाम होना चाहिये कि फलां पेशे का, कोई सुनार है कोई लुहारी का काम करता है उसे लोहार कहते हैं, कोई इस वक्त जमींदारी करता है उसे जमींदार कहते हैं। नाम सिर्फ पेशे के लिये लिहाज से होता है जात से नहीं।

[श्री गुरुमुख सिंह मुसाफिर]

असल में होना यह चाहिये कि स्कूल, घर, पानी सब मशरूका रहे। कोई ऊंच-नीच का भेद न हो। एक ही कुएं पर पानी सवर्ण और नीची जाति के लोग पियें। ऊंची और नीची जाति दोनों के बालक एक साथ स्कूल में शिक्षा ग्रहण करें। उसमें कोई रुकावट नहीं होनी चाहिये, ताकि फिर कोई मिस मेयो जैसी आकर हिंदुस्तान की तरफ उंगली न उठा सकें। और कोई यह न कह सके कि यह लोग इतने नीच हैं कि अपने भाइयों को जो इन जैसे इन्सान हैं, नीच समझते हैं। उनको कुओं पर पानी नहीं पीने देते। यह बात यकलख्त हमारे बीच से दूर होनी चाहिये।

साहबे सदर मैंने आपकी इजाजत से अपने जजबात का इन अल्फाज में इजहार किया है। मैं पूरी तौर पर मुत्तफिक हूं कि बैकवर्ड क्लासेज (backward classes) के लिये जो कुछ भी गवर्नमेंट आफ इंडिया कर सकती है, करे। एक करोड़ नहीं, दस करोड़ या इससे ज्यादा रुपया उनकी अपलिफ्ट पर खर्च करे और यह जो बड़ा कलंक है, उसको जल्दी से जल्दी धो दे।

(English translation of the above speech)

Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafir (East Punjab: Sikh): Mr. Speaker, Sir, both the Resolution and the amendment introduced by my friends do imply something. As a matter of fact, the spirit which pervades them is that we should uplift the Harijans, that we should ameliorate the lot of the Scheduled Castes, for they are looked upon as a backward class in our country. Now, when we have achieved independence, I think, we should not delay matters even by a day lest people say that the plight of the Harijans continues to be as it has been in the past. We have won freedom and we should not now give any occasion for a complaint of this type. It is a pity that in this 20th century we still have in India not only those who are known as "Untouchables"; but in some part of India there are people who are called "Unseeable" i.e., those about whom it is thought that if they cast a glance on a Caste Hindu, the latter gets polluted. There are places in India where a Caste Hindu thinks that a mere touch with a Harijan contaminates him. These men are, therefore, not allowed to come out during the day lest a glance or touch by any one of them pollutes the Caste Hindus there. Since ages our fair name has been stained by this black practice. We must remove it immediately now. Even in these days, during the recent disturbances, we have seen that it is two particular classes which have suffered the most: firstly those who were bold enough to stick to their places and secondly those who were regarded as weak and whose weakness proved to be the cause of their annihilation. The former were Sikhs and they were murdered because they refused to flee. Those who were weak have to live there at the cost of their civilisation, religion and culture. Only a few days back I read a statement by the Honourable Dr. Ambedkar wherein he said that the Harijans in the Pakistan are being molested or oppressed; that they were being forcibly converted. Only yesterday The Hindustan Times published the telegram from Honourable Dr. Choith Ram Gidwani to Honourable Dr. Ambedkar wherein it is stated that "Harijans not allowed to migrate to India." He has stated clearly in this telegram that the Harijans are being tyrannised in different ways, both in Baluchistan and in Sind. At places they have been even put under arrest. He concludes his telegram by saying that the "Backward Sindhi Sikhs called 'Labanas' and Harijans called 'Bagris' were looted and forcibly converted to Islam." The Sikhs have been the people who have always made bold to stick to their places. About them it has been said that let no Sikh remain in the Western Punjab. This has been openly advertised in the Pro-Pakistan papers of the West Punjab. And those who were regarded as weak i.e. the Harijans, have been forcibly converted. We must first make arrangements for bringing them into India.

The second thing which I want to place before the House and on which I want to express my feelings clearly is the question of water supply and education. My friend has already spoken about them. I must also place before you my personal observations and experiences of these things. I have also spent a great part of my life, about ten to twelve years, in the task of uplifting the Harijans. One thing is clear and it is that the inferiority complex, when once it gets hold of a man, does not let him progress. These untouchables are known as Harijans amongst the Hindus; they are called Mazhabi Sikhs amongst the Sikhs and the new converts among the Punjab Muslims are called Mussallis. So long as these depressed classes have this idea amongst themselves that they belong to this particular sect, so long as they think that they have this label affixed to them, it is difficult for them to progress. The very name gives them this complex that he belongs to a depressed class.

Same applies to the system of water supply. Even today we find in the Punjab and in other parts of this country that if a dog drinks water at a public well, people do not feel averse to it, but it is a pity that if a human being, an image of God, our own flesh and blood, an important limb of our own society, drinks water at a well, the public feel that the sanctity of the well is polluted. This is simply deplorable. I feel Government of India should immediately enact such a rigid law that if any man objects to any person, of whatever class or creed, drinking water at any of the existing wells, the objector should be punished severely so that this black stain is washed off the fair name of India. If we make separate wells for the Harijans it would be a very bad thing. This will stand in the way of our bringing the Harijans closer to us. They must have the right to use all the existing wells.

Their secluded colonies are known as Thathis in the Punjab; and these are built in an isolated part outside the city. To make Thathis of this kind is also harmful. The Harijans should have the right to live in whatever locality they choose. There should not be any demarcation of localities. Men are after all alike. Through the relation of man with man he can live wherever he likes. To prevent him from living where he likes will not be fair. If names have to be given at all, they should be given according to the professions. If a man is to be labelled he should be labelled as an artisan: A goldsmith may be labelled as a member of the community of goldsmiths; a blacksmith may be known as a member of the community of blacksmiths and an agricultural worker may be called an agriculturist. Classifications should be only made according to professions, not according to birth.

As a matter of fact, the schools, the houses and the water supply system should be alike for all. There should be no classification. The Caste Hindus and the Scheduled Castes should share the same well. Children should receive education in the schools, irrespective of their castes. There should be no restrictions so that no Miss Mayo gets an opportunity for raising even a little finger against our country. Let no one get an occasion for criticising that we are so degraded that we do not regard our brethren, our own flesh and blood, as human beings. Let no one say that we look down upon them, that we do not let them share our wells. This gulf between ourselves must disappear immediately. Sir, with your permission I have given vent to my feelings. Let the Government of India do whatever it can for these backward classes. Not only one crore, even if ten crores or more is required, let the Government spend it for uplifting the Harijans. It is a slur on us and the sooner it is removed the better.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U.P.: General): I had an amendment to this resolution.

Mr. Speaker: I thought the only amendment before the House was the amendment of Mr. Nagappa.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): All the other amendments were not moved.

Mr. Speaker: Were the Honourable Members asked to move them?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: There was no time.

Mr. Speaker: All right: after Prof. Yashwant Rai has spoken I will call upon Prof. Saksena to move his amendment.

प्रोफेसर यशवन्तराय : स्वीकार महोदय, श्रीमान् जी, जो रेजोल्यूशन श्री मुनिस्वामी पिल्ले जी ने हाउस के सामने रक्खा है कि एक करोड़ रुपया प्रति वर्ष दस साल के लिये हरिजनों की एजुकेशन (Education) पर, घर बनाने पर और पानी का प्रबंध आदि करने पर खर्च किया जावे, इसका मैं समर्थन करता हूँ। यह रुपया चाहे हम एक करोड़ नियत करें या दस करोड़ परन्तु इससे हम हरिजनों पर कोई एहसान नहीं करेंगे। और नाही ऐसा करने से उनकी हालत में कोई खास अंतर आयेगा। यह तो हमारी नेशनल गवर्नमेण्ट का पहला फर्ज है कि वह प्रायश्चित्त रूप से ऐसा करे।

हिन्दू जाति ने हजारों वर्षों से इन विचारों गरीबों को पददलित कर रखा है और जो उनके समान अधिकार थे उनसे सर्वदा इनको वंचित कर रक्खा है। इसलिये आज अगर हमारी अपनी नेशनल गवर्नमेण्ट कायम हो गई है तो उससे हम आशा करते हैं कि यह जो छूआछाट का कलंक हिन्दू जाति के माथे पर लगा हुआ है उसको जल्दी से जल्दी दूर करे। यह छूतछाट हिन्दू धर्म के अंदर बाद में प्रवृष्टि हो गई है। अगर हम हिन्दू जाति के वेद शास्त्रों को लें तो उन में कहीं भी छूआछाट का जिक्र नहीं आता है। पहिले वर्ण शब्द को ही ले लीजिये। इसकी व्याख्या यून है

“वर्णो वृणोते इति प्रापणोते”।

वर्ण एक ऐसी चीज है जो कि प्राप्त (acquire) की जाती है और इनहेरिट (inherit) नहीं की जाती है। अगर यह सवाल किया जावे कि यह पांचवां वर्ण है तो मैं इस बात को नहीं मानता हूँ क्योंकि मनुस्मृति में लिखा हुआ है

“ब्राह्मणः क्षत्रियोः वैश्यः त्रयो तीन वर्णाः द्विजातियः

चतुर्थो शूद्रः नास्तितुः पंचमः।”

अर्थात् ब्राह्मण, क्षत्री, वैश्य यह वर्ण द्विज हैं। चौथा वर्ण शूद्र है। और पांचवा कोई वर्ण नहीं है। सो अछूत जातियाँ चौथे वर्ण में हैं और हिन्दू जाति का एक अंग हैं। जहां तक खाने पीने का सवाल है मनु भगवान लिखते हैं

“आधिकः कुल मित्रं च गोपालो दास नापितौ

एते शूद्रेषु भोज्याऽन्ना यश्चात्मानं निवेदयेत्”

अर्थात् सब शूद्रों के हाथ का पकाया हुआ भाजन खा लेना चाहिये और उसका भी जो साफ तौर पर अपन आप को बता देवे।

वास्तव में पुराने समय में जात पात जन्म पर नहीं थी बल्कि आक्यूपेशन (occupation) पर थी। इसको साबित करने के लिये एक उदाहरण काफी है

“गणिका गर्भ संभूतो वशिष्ठस्यः महागुनिः”

यानि गुरु वशिष्ठ गणिका (शूद्रा) के पेट से पैदा होकर महाराजा रामचन्द्र जी के कुल के पुरोहित बने। एक यह भी समय था कि हम इस कदर उन्नत थे और हिन्दू जाति का हाजमा ठीक था कि जो भी हमलावर हूण सैक्सन (Huns—Saxons) और युनानि यहां पर आये उन सबको हमने एब्जोर्ब (Absorb) कर लिया। लेकिन मुसलमानों के भारत आगमन के समय हम इतने कमजोर हो गये थे कि उनको हजम (Absorb) न कर सके और उसका नतीजा यह हुआ कि देश को दो भागों में तकसीम करना पड़ा।

इसलिए हमें यह देखना है कि इस जात पात के मसले को अब हम हल करें। जात पात को जन्म से हटाकर कर्म पर किया जावे। हम नये विधान में यह पास कर चुके हैं “Untouchability in any form will be considered a crime!”

यह चीजें सिर्फ कागजों पर ही नहीं रहनी चाहिये बल्कि हमें इनको प्रैक्टिकल शेप (Practical Shape) देना चाहिये। सिर्फ गवर्नमेण्ट के एक करोड़ या दस बीस करोड़ रुपया खर्च कर देने से कुछ नहीं बनेगा। हमें तो अछूतों को हिंदुओं के साथ मिलाकर एक करना है। जब हम फौरेन कंट्रीज (Foreign countries) में जाते हैं तो हमारा सिर शर्म के मारे झुक जाता है कि हमारे देश में एक कुत्ता तो तालाब में पेशाब कर सकता है परन्तु एक हरिजन उस तालाब में से पानी नहीं पी सकता है। यह कितनी शर्मनाक बात है। इसलिए हमें इस कलंक के टीके को हिंदु जाति के माथे पर से धोना है। छूतछाट को शीघ्र ही समाप्त करके। जात पात के सारे भेद भाव मिटाकर आपस में खान पान का व्यवहार करना है। तभी हमारी गणना संसार की स्वतंत्र जातियों में हो सकेगी। मुझे एक बात का बहुत अफसोस है कि इस स्वतंत्रता के जमाने में भी ईस्ट पंजाब में हरिजनों को तंग किया जा रहा है। उच्च जातियों के लोग उन्हें यू० पी० या सी० पी० जाने के लिए मजबूर कर रहे हैं मैंने अपने इलाके का दौरा किया और लोगों से प्रार्थना की कि वे ऐसा न करें। इसी सिलसिले में मैंने ईस्ट पंजाब के सभी मंत्रियों से प्रार्थना की। सेन्ट्रल गवर्नमेण्ट से भी मेरी प्रार्थना है कि ऐसी बातें नहीं होनी चाहियें और हरिजनों को नाजायज तंग करने वालों को उचित दंड देना चाहिये।

श्रीमान् जी, अन्त में मैं आपसे प्रार्थना करता हूँ कि इस रेजोल्यूशन को स्वीकार कर लिया जावे और हरिजनों को उन्नत करने के लिए जितनी भी अधिक से अधिक कोशिश हो सके वह हमें करनी चाहिये।

(English translation of the above speech)

Prof. Yashwant Rai (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I support the Resolution presented before the House by the Honourable Mr. Munishwami Pillai suggesting that a sum of rupees ten million be spent every year for the next ten years on the education, building of houses, and providing of arrangements for water-supply etc. for the Harijans. It is no obligation on them if we allot Rupees ten million or even a hundred million for them. It will not make much difference in their present condition. It is, in fact, the very first duty of our National Government to make such an allotment as an atonement. The Hindu-society has for thousands of years treated these poor people as down-cast and has taken away their equal rights from them. Since we have our own Government now we expect from it that it will soon remove the blot of untouchability from the society. Untouchability got into the Hindu fold at a later stage. If we study the Vedas and the Shastras we find no mention of untouchability there. Defining the word वर्ण which stood for classification, the interpretation given to it, is as follows—that it is acquired, it is not inherited. If it is considered that there is a fifth group then I am not prepared to accept it, as it is clearly stated in Manu-Smriti that the first three classes, i.e. the Brahmans, the Kshatriyas and the Vaishyas are the twice born, the fourth is the Shudras and a fifth does not exist. Therefore the Harijans belong to the fourth group and are a part and parcel of the Hindu Society. As to the question of dining with Shudras, Lord Manu has declared—we should eat the food cooked by the hands of Shudras especially when a Shudra has openly declared his identity.

1068

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [2ND DEC. 1947]

[Prof. Yashwant Rai]

The classification existed in the past in fact on occupation and not on the birth of a man. To illustrate the point, only one example will suffice,—Guru Vasishtha who was born of a Shudra lady became the ecclesiastical head of Shri Raja Ram Chandra's dynasty. There was a time also when our society was culturally so strong that even the invaders of our country—the Huns, Saxons and the Greeks were absorbed in our society. But by the time of Muslim invasion in India we had gone down so much and could not absorb them that the division of the country into two parts today is the outcome of that weakness.

We have therefore to take the problem of solving untouchability into our hands now. Distinctions must be made on the consideration of occupation and not on consideration of birth. In our new constitution we have passed—"Untouchability in any form will be considered as a crime", but this should not remain on the paper only as a dead word. It should be put into practice. It will not help at all, if the Government spends Rupees ten million, hundred millions, or even two hundred millions: we have to amalgamate the untouchables with Hindus and form them into one society. When we go to other countries we have to cast down our heads in shame as we have privileged a dog, in our country, to pollute the water of a tank, but have forbidden a Harijan even to touch that water. It is a shameful affair for us. We will therefore remove this blot of infamy from Hindu society by doing away with untouchability. Casting away the distinctions of caste we have to renovate the system of inter-dining amongst us. Only then we will be worthy of occupying a seat with other free nations of the world.

I regret to say very much that even when the country is free, Harijans in the East Punjab are being harassed. People of higher classes are compelling them to go to the United Provinces or to the Central Provinces. I toured the country in my jurisdiction and requested the people not to do so. I also requested the Ministers of East Punjab to make such appeals and it is my earnest request to the Central Government also to see that such things do not happen, and those who harass the Harijans are dealt with accordingly.

Sir, in the end I request that this resolution may be accepted, and no stone should be left unturned to uplift the Harijans.

Mr. Speaker: I should like to be clear about the amendments sought to be moved.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: I do not want to move my amendment but I would like to speak on it. The Honourable Minister has said that he would accept Seth Govind Das's amendment.

Mr. Speaker: There are two amendments in the name of Shri H. J. Khandekar. Does the Honourable Member propose moving them?

Shri H. J. Khandekar: (C.P. and Berar: General): I do not propose to move them but I would like to speak on them.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Sir, ever since 1930 when Mahatma Gandhi said at the Second Round Table Conference that he would resist the separation of the depressed classes from the Hindu community with his life and then in pursuance of his pledge he undertook the great fast in Yeravda Jail, the whole country has been inclined to wipe out this blot on the Hindu community. It is really a matter of great shame that even after 17 years of that great decision of our leader there should be such feeling of bitterness among our Harijan friends, which is a real reflection of the situation as it obtains in the country. As one who has been continually moving among the depressed classes and who has devoted since 1930 a great part of his time to the service of these people I can say that it is really very great forbearance on their part that they are not more bitter. Some people who had read the statement of the Honourable Dr. Ambedkar were complaining that the Honourable doctor was very bitter, in spite of the fact that he was a member of the Government. There are some things about which when a man feels bitterly it is better that he should give expression to his feelings rather than conceal them. Nothing that the doctor can say is sufficient to make us realise how cruelly we caste Hindus are still behaving towards the Harijans. In this resolution it is suggested that some amount of money should be spent every year to get this blot of untouchability removed. I would give ten times that money if money could wipe out untouchability from our midst but my reading of the situation is different. I have seen people poorer than the Harijans. Even rich Harijans are worse off than poor caste Hindus, for they suffer from a social leprosy which makes poverty altogether unbearable. So this untouchability is a far bigger problem than a mere economic problem. It is a kind of leprosy which is not attached to any other part of the Hindu community. I spent one year in 1930 among the sweepers of Cawnpore municipality. There are about 1,200 families. I tried to make a survey of each family in that city. I was shocked to see the condition of the houses of those sweepers. The income of those people was ordinarily much more than that of other poorer people in the city. Both their men and women earn from the municipality as well as from private houses. Sometimes their incomes average between Rs. 30 to 40, whereas there are other people in the city who earn Rs. 8 or Rs. 10. But those people who earn Rs. 8 or Rs. 10 were sometimes better off than these sweepers. The entire earnings of the sweepers were taken away by the moneylenders. One moneylender had lent Rs. 10 and for 10 years he had charged them Rs. 1/4 as interest.

In this way these families give whatever they earn to the moneylender and live under his mercy. For nobody else would touch them or have dealings with them. It is not merely an economic problem. This solution would not really help them. It will help them to some extent but not completely. As Mahatma Gandhi has said it requires a complete change of heart on the part of the Hindu community. If you continue the sin of untouchability the Hindu community shall die. I therefore want to say to those friends of mine who represent the caste Hindus, and through them to the whole country at large, that unless we realize the great sin that we have been committing to which our great leader has repeatedly drawn our attention and sincerely wash our hands of the sin we shall not be called a great nation which we should be after the 15th of August. That this untouchability should still continue to exist and be discussed here is I think itself a matter for shame. That some part of our great community should be considered to be unfit even for touch by us, whose shadow pollutes us, is shameful. Even now I have seen villages where people will not allow them to drink water from village wells or to go in palkis for marriage. I wish that our Government should take very severe action in such matters. Whatever law may have to be passed I wish that such social disabilities must become a thing of the past and should not be tolerated any more. Although

[श्री एच० जे० खन्डेकर]

रहा वह उसका परिणाम है। यह सब हिन्दू सोसाइटी ने किया और यह बहुत भारी पाप किया। मगर हरिजनों ने इस पर भी हिंदुओं को हर प्रकार की मदद की और उनके लिये अपना खून तक बहाया। सन् १९२४ और १९२७ में जब नागपुर में हिंदू मुसलमानों के झगड़े हुये तब राम-मन्दिर और दूसरे मन्दिरों को बचाने के लिये हरिजनों ने अपना खून बहा दिया और मन्दिरों की रक्षा की थी। अन्त में हमारे हिंदू भाईयों ने हरिजनों को उसका यह इनाम दिया कि उन मन्दिरों पर यह बोर्डस (Boards) लगा दिये कि “अछूतों को आना मना है”। इस तरह से हमारे साथ सलूक किया जाता है। बहुत मेम्बरान और लीडरान मुझसे कहते हैं कि तुम अपने को हरिजन क्यों कहते हो। आप तो हिंदू हैं। मैंने तो कल बताया कि हम-हिंदू हैं और हिंदू ही रहेंगे और हिंदू ही रह कर मरेंगे। मैं उनमें नहीं हूँ कि हिंदू होते हुए अपने को हिंदू न कहें और हिंदू रह कर न मरें। परन्तु आज किसी न किसी स्वार्थ से क्यों न हो उन हरिजन भाइयों की भी आंखें खुल गई और अब वो भी अपने आप को हिंदू कहने लगे। इन सब बातों को देखते हुए जो हरिजनों के ऊपर अन्याय होते हैं और उनकी हालत बुरी है उन सबको दुरुस्त करने के लिये यह प्रस्ताव है। सभापति जी, इस तरह का जब हमारे साथ ट्रीटमेंट (treatment) होता रहा तो हम हरिजनों में एक पक्ष निर्माण हो गया। वह दल यह कहता है कि हमको हमारा हक चाहिये वह नहीं मिला तो नेहरू सरकार को हम तोड़ देंगे। उस दल के नेता डा० अम्बेडकर साहब ने अपनी पुरानी डिमांड्स (Demands) C.A. में वापिस लेने के वाद उनको क्या हक चाहिये यह बात मेरी समझ में नहीं आती और वह इस प्रकार से अंदोलन कर रहा है। उन लोगों के नेता डा० अम्बेडकर आज इस गवर्नमेंट में हैं। डाक्टर अम्बेडकर साहब को इस नेहरू सरकार को तोड़ देने वाले उनके शिष्यों का आंदोलन मालूम है परन्तु वे चुप हैं। इससे नेहरू गवर्नमेंट तोड़ने में उनका भी अंदरूनी हाथ होगा यह अगर मैंने कहा तो मेरी गलती नहीं होगी। डा० साहब हाँस (House) में बैठे हैं और मैं उनके और उनके भक्तों के सम्बंध में बातें उनके मुँह पर बोल रहा हूँ। इन सब बातों को देखते हुए भी आप हरिजनों की हालत पर गौर नहीं करते। अगर ऐसा नहीं किया गया तो इस हिंदुस्तान में मुस्लिम लीग (Muslim league) की तरफ से एक दल ऐसा है जो कि इन हरिजनों को अपने में मिलाकर इस हिंदुस्तान के अंदर एक दूसरा पाकिस्तान पैदा करना चाहता है। इसमें हैदराबाद (Hyderabad State) स्टेट का भी हाथ हो सकता है। दूसरी तरफ से हिंदुस्तान से मुस्लिम लीग तोड़ने की भाषा बोली जाती है। इसके साथ ही साथ कुछ रिएक्शनरी-गट (Reactionary element) अछूतों में भी है जो मुसलमानों के हाथों में मिलने का जाल रच रहा है और इस हिंदुस्तान के अंदर पाकिस्तान बनाना चाहते हैं। उस जाल रचने वाले पार्टी के नेता डा० अम्बेडकर साहब यहां सरकार में बैठे हैं। इस प्रकार का जाल रचने के अपराध पर डा० साहब की पार्टी के कुछ कार्यकर्ता आज भी सी० पी० के जेलों में बन्द हैं।

इन विचारों के ऊपर भी सरकार को ध्यान देना होगा। गौर ही नहीं जैसा कि कल मैंने अपने भाषण में कहा था कि आने वाले बजट में हरिजनों के लिये जरूर कुछ रखा जाना चाहिये। मैं मंत्री महोदया से यह प्रार्थना करूंगा कि वह तो ज्यादातर महात्मा जी के साथ रहती हैं और उनको महात्मा जी के हरिजनों के प्रति क्या खयालात हैं वह उनको मालूम ही होना चाहिये। महात्मा जी ने अपनी प्रार्थना सभा में कहा था अगर इस देश का पहला कोई प्रेसीडेंट (President) बनाया जाय तो वह एक हरिजन स्त्री होनी चाहिये। मगर सभापति जी महात्माजी की यह बात मानने के लिये मिनिस्टर साहिब या और कोई तैयार नहीं है ऐसा मालूम होता है क्योंकि प्रांतों में भी मिनिस्टरी में हरिजनों का लिमिटेड (Limited) नम्बर है। और वह है एक गवर्नमेंट आफ इंडिया (Government of India) की कैबिनेट में दो से ज्यादा हरिजन नहीं लिये। Ambassadors में, गवर्नर्स (Governors) में और बड़ी नौकरियों में एक भी हरिजन नहीं है। इससे साफ हो जाता है कि हरिजनों के मामले में महात्माजी की बातों की हमारी सरकार के पास में कोई कीमत नहीं है।

एक माननीय सदस्य : West बंगाल में दो हैं।

श्री एच० जे० खन्डेकर : I am subject to correction. I am speaking generally and about those old provinces, where congress took office. West Bengal is a new province where circumstances forced to take two Harijan ministers.

इन चन्द शब्दों के साथ मैं मंत्राणी महोदया से प्रार्थना करूंगा कि इस रेज्यूलेशन (Resolution) को और उसके साथ हमारे दोस्त सेठ गोविन्ददास जी की तरफों को स्वीकार करें और जिसमें ज्यादा से ज्यादा हरिजनों का उद्धार हो ऐसी कोई योजना तुरंत बनावें और उसे काम में लावें। मैं इस रेज्यूलेशन (Resolution) को सपोर्ट (support) करता हूँ। और अपना भाषण समाप्त करता हूँ।

(English translation of the above speech)

Shri H. J. Khandekar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have withdrawn the notice of amendments given by me to both the Resolution moved by my Honourable friend Mr. Munishwami Pillai and amendment thereto moved by Seth Govind Das. These amendments meant that the Government has provided one crore of rupees each year for the amelioration of the condition of the Harijans. In lieu of this amount, the Government should spend at least ten crore of rupees each year continuously for the next ten years. Simultaneously, a separate Department should be created for the uplift of Harijans and a separate Minister appointed. This was the purport of my amendment. But my Honourable friend Seth Govind Das has brought up an amendment and that is better than mine, because it does not prescribe any limited amount or time. I have, therefore, withdrawn my amendment. If the Government is pledged to the urgency for the immediate redemption of the condition of the Harijans then perhaps it may be possible for them to spend money over and above the target of rupees ten crores for each year and it can then ameliorate the condition of Harijans within the period of ten years and also set up a separate Ministry for the Harijans uplift. Keeping this urgency in view, I am supporting this amendment and that is why I have withdrawn my amendment. I hope that the present popular Government will devote its attention to this matter.

[Shri H. J. Khandekar]

Mr. Speaker, the problem of Harijans has today assumed the role of a vital issue in the country. Though it has become important, yet I would assert it is still confined to bare words. I am constrained to say that whenever the problem of Harijans is brought up before this House, the members who profess to be friends of Harijans leave their seats. If they express real love for Harijans then why do they walk-out. Mahatma Gandhi is exerting for their redemption for the last 27 years. He observed at Poona in the year 1932 a fast unto-death for the cause of Harijans. During this fast, he exhorted that the Harijans should be associated with the Hindus. But even upto now the Hindus look towards the Harijans with distorted vision. Their hearts are not clean towards Harijans. When Gandhiji says something, the present Government takes immediate action on this and that produces its effect.

But even today Mahatma Gandhi is endeavouring for Harijan uplift for the last 27 years; but no action in this respect has upto now been taken by our Government. Just as I stated yesterday, this Government has not provided in the Budget even a single penny for the uplift of Harijans. The problem of Harijans not being in the interests of the present Government, why should they act upon the advice of Mahatma Gandhi? From this we observe that our Government speaks about the matter from any special or political reasons and not for the uplift of Harijans. I was deeply pained to hear the speech of the Honourable Minister of Health. I am not aware if the Honourable Minister of Health knows Marathi or not, but Mr. Speaker, you know Marathi and Sant Tukaram has said "ki javay tiachay vounshi navha karay" which means that until the Honourable Minister herself does not become a Harijan, she cannot realize anything about the miseries of the Harijans—what is their condition today and what are their requirements. You know Khandekar, Nagappa, Dr. Ambedkar and Shri Jagjivan Ram and then formed a conviction that all the Harijans are like them. You have not come across the Harijans in those villages where they do not get even drinking water. They have no houses to live, no cloth to put on, no foodgrains to provide them with a square meal, no institution for the education of their children and no medical arrangements during their illness. You have never come in contact with such Harijans. How can you then know their conditions? The outcome of the ill-treatment meted out to Harijans by the Hindu community would be found from the Census figures for the year 1911 onwards. In the year 1911 the Harijans numbered 9½ crores and in 1941 the number has come down to 4½ crores. The number of Muslims in 1911 was five crores and now it has gone upto ten crores. During these 30 years, only four crores of untouchables have been left out of 9½ crores. Who is to be blamed for all this? This is the direct outcome of the treatment meted out to the Harijans by the Hindu community and they have committed a great sin. During the years 1924 and 1927 when Hindu-Muslim riots took place in Nagpur, the Harijans shed their blood to protect the 'Ram-Mandar' (Lord Rama's Temple) and other temples and had safeguarded the temples. Ultimately our Hindu brethren rewarded the Harijans for this by placing boards on these temples "Harijans are prohibited to enter". This is the treatment meted out to us. Many of the members and leaders ask me "Why do you call yourself a Harijan? You are a Hindu". I had explained yesterday that we are Hindus, shall remain as Hindus, and die as Hindus. I am not one of those who being a Hindu should not call himself a Hindu and should not die as a Hindu. But the eyes of these Harijan brethren have been opened today—may be on account of selfish motives and now they also claim themselves to be Hindus. Keeping all these things in view and the social injustice to which the Harijans are subjected to, they are placed in a sad predicament. To remedy this state of affairs, this Resolution has been moved.

Mr. Speaker, when we were subjected to this sort of treatment, a new party amongst the Harijans was formed. That party demands "we want our rights and if we do not get these, we will bring down the Nehru Cabinet". I do not precisely follow what are the rights which Doctor Ambedkar—the leader of that party wants after the withdrawal of his old demands in the Constituent Assembly. The leader of that party Dr. Ambedkar who is carrying on agitation in this manner is today a member of this Government. Dr. Ambedkar is fully aware of the agitation carried on by his followers for the fall of Nehru Government but he is keeping quite silent. He will also be playing some part in this surreptitious move for the fall of the Nehru Government and I am not wrong in saying this. The Honourable Doctor is present in the House and I am exposing things related to him and his devotees right in his face. In view of all this you have to consider over the condition of Harijans. If this is not done, then the group that exists in India who is in clique with the Muslim League and wants to set up another Pakistan in the Indian Dominion will swallow the Harijans. It is possible that the Hyderabad State may also have some hand in it. On the other hand speeches exhorting the dissolution of the Muslim League in India are being delivered. Simultaneously there also exists some reactionary element amongst the depressed classes who is contriving at joining hands with the Muslims and want to set up Pakistan within this India. The leader of that reactionary party—Honourable Doctor Ambedkar is occupying Treasury Benches here. Many of the workers of the Honourable Doctor's party are still behind the prison bars in the Central Provinces who were found guilty for hatching this conspiracy.

The Government shall have to consider these views. Not merely considering over it, but just as I pointed out yesterday, they should make some provision for Harijans in the ensuing budget. I will implore the Honourable Minister of Health that she should be aware of the views which Mahatma Gandhi has towards the Harijans since she spends most of her time in his association. Gandhiji had stated in his prayer meeting that when any first President of this Country is elected, it should be a Harijan lady. But, Sir, neither the Honourable Minister nor any one else is prepared to act upon the statement of Mahatma Ji. It so looks, because in the Provincial Ministries also there is a limited number of Harijans. Not more than two Harijans have been included in the Cabinet of the Government of India. There is not a single Harijan who holds the office of a Governor or Ambassador or any other high job. From this it follows that this Government has got no regard for the statements of Mahatma Gandhi.

An Honourable Member: There are two in the West Bengal.

Shri H. J. Khandekar: I am subject to correction. I am speaking generally and about those old provinces where Congress took office. West Bengal is a new province where circumstances forced to take two Harijan Ministers.

With these few words I would request the Honourable Minister of Health to accept this Resolution along with the amendment moved by my Honourable friend Seth Govind Das. and urgently formulate and act upon a plan which may result in the uplift of Harijans to the greatest possible extent. I support this Resolution and close my speech.

पंडित ठाकुरदास भागवत : मान्यनीय स्वीकर साहब, यह रेजोल्यूशन (resolution)

जो जनाब के रुखरू मौजूद है जो मिस्टर मनुस्वामी साहब ने पेश किया है उसके बारे में दो, तीन बातें अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ। मैं सख्त अफसोस करता हूँ कि मैंने जो एमेंडमेंट कल पार्टी के अन्दर दिया था, वह गलती से जनाब के पास नहीं पहुँच सका और चूँकि

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena]

the amendment of my Honourable friend Seth Govind Das gives Government full power and does not limit them only to spend Rs. 10 crores per year I would suggest to the Honourable Minister that Government should spend as much as is necessary and take all necessary steps to see that this sin is removed. I was one of those who in the Consenbly made an amendment to remove the provision to treat the Scheduled Castes as a separate community as had been originally suggested by the Minority Rights Committee Report. The Harijans are really a part of the Hindu community. This should not be so merely in name. That is possible only when we refuse to consider those friends of ours as untouchables, as something separate. Our Government must launch a sort of crusade against untouchability after making a comprehensive all round plan.

Sir, I support the amendment of Seth Govind Das and I hope that all the aspects of the problem will be borne in mind. I trust that within five years this thing will be a thing of the past and shall not tarnish the fair name of the Hindu community and of our country any more.

(At this stage Mr. Khandekar stood up to speak).

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Sir, Mr. Khandekar has spoken on the Resolution.

Mr. Speaker: Has the honourable member spoken already on this Resolution?

Some Honourable Members: He has not spoken.

Mr. Speaker: So far as the official reports go, I find the Honourable Member has not spoken. As he has put in an amendment his views should be heard so that other speakers may have an occasion to hear them before making their observations.

श्री एच० जे० खण्डेकर: सभापति महोदय, मेरे लायक दोस्त मुनिस्वामी पिल्लाई ने जो रेज्यूलेशन पेश किया है और उसके साथ सेठ गोविन्द दास जी ने जो एमैंडमेंट पेश किया है उन दोनों के लिये मैंने संशोधन भेजे थे जिनको मैंने अब वापिस ले लिये हैं। इन संशोधनों का अर्थ यह था कि सरकार ने हरिजनों के उद्धार के लिये हर साल एक करोड़ रुपया खर्च करने के लिये रक्खा है उसकी जगह पर सरकार को लगातार दस साल तक हर साल दस करोड़ रुपया खर्च करना चाहिये। साथ ही साथ हरिजनों के उद्धार के लिये एक अलग डिपार्टमेंट खोला जाय और एक अलग मिनिस्टर बनाया जाय। यह मेरे संशोधन का अर्थ था। लेकिन मेरे लायक दोस्त सेठ गोविन्ददास एक संशोधन ले आये हैं और वह मेरे संशोधन से अच्छा है क्योंकि उसमें लिमिटेड (limited) पैसा और लिमिटेड टाइम नहीं है इसलिये मैंने अपना संशोधन वापिस ले लिया। सरकार अगर इस बात के ऊपर डटी रहे कि हरिजनों का उद्धार जल्दी से जल्दी किया जाय तो शायद हर साल दस करोड़ से भी ज्यादा रुपया खर्च कर सकती है। और दस साल के अंदर ही अंदर हरिजनों का उद्धार कर सकती है। और हरिजन उद्धार के लिये अलग मिनिस्टरी भी बना सकती है। इस जरूरत को लेकर मैं इस संशोधन को सपोर्ट कर रहा हूँ और मैंने अपना संशोधन इसीलिये वापिस लिया। मुझे आशा है कि आज की पापुलर सरकार इस ओर ध्यान देगी।

सभापति जी, हरिजनों का मामला आज देश में एक अहम मामला हो गया है। अहम तो वह हो गया है मगर मैं तो कहूंगा कि वह सिर्फ कोरे ही शब्दों में रह गया है।

जब-जब हरिजनों का सवाल इस हाउस के सामने आता है तो मुझे बहुत दुःख के साथ कहना पड़ता है कि इस हाउस के जो मॅबर अपने को हरिजनों से प्रेम करने वाले कहते हैं वह हरिजनों के मामले के वक़्त अपनी जगहों से बाहर चले जाते हैं। जब कि वह हरिजनों के प्रति सच्चा प्रेम दिखलाते हैं तब बाहर जाने का नज़ारा हमारे सामने क्यों आ जाता है? महात्मा गांधी जी इस उद्धार के कार्य के लिये करीब २७ साल से प्रयत्न कर रहे हैं। उन्होंने हरिजनों के लिये सन् १९३२ ई० में पूना में एक आमरण अनशन किया। उन्होंने इस उपवास में यह कहा कि हरिजनों को हिंदुओं के साथ रक्खा जाय। मगर अभी तक हिंदू हरिजनों को टेढ़ी ही नजर से देखते हैं। हरिजनों के लिए उनके दिल साफ नहीं हैं। महात्मा गांधी जी अगर कोई छोटी सी बात कहते हैं तो आज की सरकार उस पर फौरन कार्रवाही करती है और उसमें उसको असर आ जाता है। मगर आज २७ वर्षों से महात्मा गांधी जी हरिजनोद्धार की कोशिश कर रहे हैं मगर हमारी सरकार की तरफ से अभी तक इस ओर कुछ कार्रवाई नहीं की गई है। जैसा कि मैंने कल कहा था कि सरकार के इस वजत में हरिजनों के उद्धार के लिये एक पैसा भी नहीं रक्खा। हरिजनों का जो मसला है वह आज की सरकार के सुविधा के लिये कोई फायदेमन्द नहीं है इसलिये वह महात्मा गांधीजी की बात को भी क्यों मानें? इससे हमें यही मालूम होता है कि किसी खास कारण से या राजनैतिक कारण से यह बात हमारी सरकार से बोली जाती है हरिजनों के सुधार के लिये नहीं। मैंने मिनिस्टर आफ हेल्थ की तकरीर सुनी तो मुझे बड़ा दुःख हुआ। मुझे मालूम नहीं कि मिनिस्टर साहब मराठी जानती हैं या नहीं मगर सभापति जी आप तो मराठी जानते हैं और संत तुकाराम जी ने यह कहा है “कि जावे त्याचे वौशी नेव्हा कडे” उसका अर्थ यह है कि जब तक मिनिस्टर साहब आप खुद हरिजन नहीं बनते तब तक आप हरिजनों के दुःखों के बारे में क्या जान सकते हैं कि वह आज किस स्थिति में हैं और उनको क्या चाहिये। आपने तो खांडेकर को देख लिया, नगप्पा को देख लिया, और डाक्टर अम्बेडकर साहब को देख लिया, जग जीवनराम जी को देख लिया और यह धारणा बना ली कि सभी हरिजन इस अवस्था में होंगे। आपने उन देहातों में हरिजनों को नहीं देखा जिनको पीने के लिये भी पानी नहीं मिलता। रहने के लिये घर नहीं, पहनने के लिये कपड़ा नहीं, खाने के लिये पेट भर अनाज नहीं, बच्चों की पढ़ाई के लिये कोई व्यवस्था नहीं और जिनकी बीमारी में कोई दवा का इंतजाम नहीं है। ऐसे हरिजन आपके सामने कभी नहीं आये हैं। तो आप उनकी हालत क्या जानें? हरिजनों के प्रति हिंदू जाति का जो बुरा व्यवहार है उसका परिणाम आपको १९११ की सेंसस (census) से लेकर १९४१ के सेंसस (census) तक देखने से मिल सकता है। सन् १९११ में हरिजनों की तादाद ९॥ करोड़ थी और सन् १९४१ में सिर्फ अब ४ करोड़ रह गयी है। और मुसलमान सन् १९११ ई० में ५ करोड़ थे और अब १० करोड़ मुसलमान हो गये हैं। इन ३० सालों के अंदर ९॥ करोड़ अछूतों में से अब ४ करोड़ अछूत रह गये हैं। यह सब किसका कसूर है। यह केवल हिंदू समाज का हरिजनों के प्रति जो व्यवहार

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

(Hinduism) हिन्दुइजम रहेगा न हिन्दुस्तानी रहेंगे। यह सारा सवाल इस तरह का है कि हमारी रोहानी जिन्दगी और मौत का सवाल है। हमारे लिये आज यह सवाल नहीं है जैसा खांडेकर साहब कहते हैं कि अछूत मुसलमानों से लड़ेंगे मैं यह परवाह नहीं करता कि यहां मुसलमान रहेंगे या नहीं या मुसलिम लीग रहेगी या नहीं और अछूत मुसलमनों से लड़ाई के समय हिंदुओं का साथ देंगे। मैं इस सवाल की merits (मैटर्स) पर कहना चाहता हूं कि हम अछूतपने को कायम रख कर जिंदा नहीं रह सकते और न रहना चाहते हैं। इनको बराबरी का दरजा देकर ही हम जिंदा रहेंगे। मैं मिस्टर खांडेकर साहब से कहना चाहता हूं कि जितनी उन्होंने अपील की है हमारी Hon'ble Minister of Health से, उनका अपील करना फिजूल है। अगर राजकुमारी अमृतकौर महात्मा गांधी की जो भक्त हैं उनकी तकलीफ को नहीं जानतीं, अगर वह इस चीज को नहीं समझतीं तो मैं अदब से कहना चाहता हूं कि इस हाउस का कोई मेम्बर नहीं समझता मुझे पूरा अहसास है कि हमारी मिनिस्टर साहिबा इस पर पूरी तबज्जह देंगी और यह Resolution यहीं तक महद्द नहीं रहेगा बल्कि इसको अमली जामा पहनाया जायगा। और अगले तीन चार सालों में हम देखेंगे कि इस कदर तबदीली आजायगी कि (Scheduled Castes) शिड्डलड कास्ट्रेस का नाम उड़ जायगा और हमें कहने कि जुरंत हो जायगी कि Constituent Assembly जब आई तो उसने इस तमीज को कायम नहीं रक्खा और अछूतों को मुनासिब जगह हिन्दुस्तान में दिलाई कि वह सब बाकी जनता के बराबर व हमसर हो गये।

(English translation of the above speech).

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: Honourable Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have to say something about the Resolution which has been brought before the House by Mr. Mannushwami. I regret to find that due to some mistake the amendment which I gave to my party yesterday has not reached you. I do not want to move this amendment for it is too late now to do so. The amendment moved by Seth Govind Das comes very near mine. It will suffice, therefore, if I support the amendment moved by Seth Govind Das. I do not feel it proper to either sermonise on Harijans before this House or to criticise the policy of the Government regarding the Harijans. I like to say some thing about a few aspects of this Resolution. In my opinion it is not proper for us to fix the sum of a few crores for this work. As a matter of fact, the Resolution presented to us is so limited that, if we do not take into consideration the Educational Grant, it becomes too narrow to deserve any amount. What is required at this time is that the Government should endeavour to put these things into practice with as much force as it can.

The question of sites for the houses for Harijans cannot be solved with money alone. It is not possible for the Government to spend one crore or ten crores of rupees for purchasing lands for housing at different places. It is neither possible for the Government to give it gratuitously to the Harijans. Will this gift of houses solve the problem of untouchability. Impossible! The fact is that the Harijans do not have the "inheritable rights" over the houses they live in. In the Punjab and in Delhi they do not have the right even to purchase lands. In the Assembly of 1927, I put the first question of this kind to the House; but I failed to get a satisfactory reply. It is a very bad system, and unfortunately, it exists for the Harijans even today; all the houses occupied by the Harijans are "Non-proprietary" houses. Even when a Harijan dies, his house can neither be given to any of his relatives nor can it be sold. To remove this 'disability' the law must be amended. So that all the houses of Harijans should be on "tenure property basis". They should have the right to construct Pacca houses, to sell them and to inherit them.

Unfortunately, I happen to belong to a place where people do not get enough water to drink. I feel that separate wells should not be made for the Harijans. I am strongly against the view that new drinking wells should be constructed for the Harijans. So long as the Harijans themselves desire to build separate wells, they should be given all the facilities; the Government should immediately acquire lands for them. But if the wells have to be made by the Government, they should be open to all, irrespective of caste or creed. It is easy to say that there should be no untouchability; but it is difficult to enforce it in the villages. This is not such a thing as can be solved simply by legislative measures.

I have listened to many speeches made in this House on the question of Education in the Schools. Due to the kind efforts of Mahatma Gandhi the Constituent Assembly have recognised this thing as among fundamental rights of a man. I remember the day when in the year 1928 late Lala Lajpat Rai moved an Amendment in the then Assembly to the effect that the Harijans should have equal rights for drawing water from the wells, for using the public highways and for taking employments under the Government; I remember that he asked the Government to spend one crore of rupees for the uplift of the Harijans. The amendment could not be passed by the House; many members voted against it. But the days have changed. So far as it is a question of rights we need not enter into much discussion. Let every Harijan student studying in the schools in the countryside receive a scholarship; let every teacher get this help who teaches them. Does not matter how small it is, but let them have it nevertheless. As regards the Colleges, I find that many

1 P.M. youngmen come into our districts; who want to carry on their studies in the colleges; they are poor and no amount of money would be too much for helping them.

This Government of ours and the Constituent Assembly stand 'committed' to the fact that Harijans must get equal rights. This can be achieved not through spending money like that but through a change of our hearts. If capable Harijans are available they should be recruited to Superior Posts. This Resolution makes no mention of it. It is very narrow in its outlook; and it should not have been brought before this House like that. With respect, Sir, I submit, that if we follow this policy, if we give them good jobs, this problem will be solved to a great extent. For the last two years, since I have been elected to this Assembly, I have been requesting the Government that besides the ordinary posts, the Harijans should be given all such jobs for which they are eligible. Time and again, I have reiterated that for some years recruitment to the Government Services should be made only from amongst the scheduled castes; so long as an educated Harijan is available he should be taken into the Government. Harijans should be recruited in the Police; they should be given the posts of Patwaris, Girdawars, Schoolmasters, and Headmasters, etc. These posts will remove the inferiority complex which prevails among them. There is a Tehsildar in the district of Hissar. By caste he is a Chamar (tanner). The latter class feel proud of this Tehsildar. Let the Harijans get their due share in the Superior Services. Let a regulation be made that for the Scheduled Castes there is no question of percentage.

I fully share the belief held by Mahatma Gandhi that there will be left in this country neither Hinduism nor any Indian so long as 'Untouchability' remains in India. This is a question of our spiritual life and death. The question before us today is not as my friend Mr. Khandekar has said that the scheduled

[पण्डित ठाकुरदास भागवत]

इसमें बहुत देर होगई है, इसलिये मैं इस ऐमेंडमेंट को मूव नहीं करना चाहता। मैंने जो ऐमेंडमेंट भेजा था उसको किसी हद तक सेठ गोविन्द दास का जो ऐमेंडमेंट है, उससे वह मतलब हल हो जाता है। इस वजह से मैं इस पर इकतफा करूंगा कि सेठ गोविन्द दास ने जो ऐमेंडमेंट दिया है, उसको समर्थन करूं। मैं यह मुनासिब नहीं समझता कि जनाब के रूबरू हरिजनों के मसले पर कोई लेक्चर झाड़ू, या हरिजनों की पालिसी के ऊपर कुछ अर्ज करूं। मैं तो जो यह रेजोलेशन जनाब के सामने है, उसके चन्द प्रैक्टिकल (Practical) पहलुओं पर अर्ज करना चाहता हूं। मेरे ख्याल के मुताबिक एक करोड़ या पांच करोड़ या दस करोड़ की रकम का तायून करना हमारे वास्ते मुनासिब नहीं है। असलियत यह है कि जितना छोटा यह रेजोलेशन जनाब के रूबरू पेश किया गया है, उसमें से अगर एजुकेशनल ग्राण्ट (Educational grant) को निकाल दिया जाय, तो बाकी जो टुकड़ा रह जाता है, वह इतना 'narrow' है कि उस पर किसी रकम को खर्च करने की जरूरत नहीं है। अगर जरूरत है तो इस वक्त यह है कि गवर्नमेंट बड़े जोर शोर से इन बातों की अमली तौर से कराने की चेष्टा करे। मसलन् हाउस साइट्स ('housesites') का मामला सिर्फ रुपये के खर्च से तय नहीं हो सकता, एक करोड़ रुपये के खर्च से या दस करोड़ रुपये के खर्च से यह मुमकिन नहीं है कि गवर्नमेंट 'housing' के वास्ते सब जगह जमीन खरीदे और हरिजनों को मुफ्त जमीन मकानों की वह देदे। क्या इससे उनका मामला तय हो जायगा। हरगिज नहीं। असल सवाल यह है कि हरिजनों के जो मकानात हैं, उनमें उनको 'inheritable rights' हासिल नहीं हैं। पंजाब में और देहली में हरिजनों को जमीन खरीदने का भी अख्तियार नहीं है। सन् १९२७ में मैंने सबसे अव्वल एक सवाल इस अम्ब का इस असेम्बली में भेजा था, जिसका जवाब मुझे तसल्ली बख्श नहीं मिला। यह बड़ा खराब सिस्टम (system) है जो बदकिस्मती से हरिजनों के लिये आज तक कायम है कि हरिजनों के मकान 'non-proprietary' मकान हैं। एक हरिजन चाहे मर जाय, वह मकान अपने रिश्तेदार को नहीं दे सकता। न उसको बेच सकता है। इस खराबी (disability) को दूर करने के लिये तरमीम कानून में होनी चाहिये न कि हरिजनों के जितने मकान हैं उनका 'tenure proprietary basis' पर हो जाय। उनको अख्तियार होगा कि मकान पक्के बना सकें और उनको बेच सकें और अपने रिश्तेदारों को 'inherit' करा सकें। मैं बदकिस्मती से ऐसे इलाके से आता हूं, जहां बहुत से लोगों को पानी पीने को नहीं मिलता। मैं चाहता हूं कि सिर्फ हरिजनों के वास्ते अलहिदा कुएँ न बनवाये जायें। मैं इस बात का सख्त मुखालिफ हूं कि हरिजनों के वास्ते अलहिदा 'drinking wells' ड्रिंकिंग वेलस बनाये जाय। जहां तक हरिजन खुद अपने वास्ते बनाना चाहते हैं उनको पूरी 'facilities' दी जाय। सरकार फौरन उनके लिये जमीन acquire करे। अगर सरकार कुएँ बनावे तो कुएँ सब जाति वालों के लिये एकसां open होने चाहिये। यह कहना कि कोई छूतछात न-रहे, आसान

है, लेकिन इसको गांवों में enforce करना मुश्किल है। यह चीज महज Legislative measure से हल होने वाली नहीं है। जहां तक स्कूली शिक्षा का सम्बंध है, मैंने उसके मुतल्लिक हाउस में बड़ी बड़ी तकरीर सुनी हैं। महात्मा गांधी की कृपा से विधान परिषद् ने इस चीज को तस्लीम कर लिया। मुझे वह दिन याद है जब सन् १९२८ में इस जगह से लाला लाजपत राय ने एक Amendment पेश किया, कि हरिजनों के कुओं से पानी लेने का व सड़क के इस्तमाल का व नौकरियों का पूरा अधिकार हो और एक करोड़ रुपया गवर्नमेंट आफ इंडिया अछूतों के वास्ते दे। वह उस वक्त हाउस में यह प्रस्ताव पास नहीं हो सका और बहुत से लोगों ने उसके बरखिलाफ वोट दिया। लेकिन आज वह जमाना गुजर गया। जहां तक हक का सवाल है, उस पर ज्यादा बहस करने की जरूरत नहीं है। गांव में स्कूलों में जो हरिजन लड़के पढ़ते हैं उनको हर एक को आप बजीफा दें और हर एक मास्टर को दें जो उनको पढ़ाता है। चाहे कितना ही थोड़ा दें लेकिन पढ़ने वाले छात्र को लड़की हो या लड़का और पढ़ाने वाले को फी छात्र कुछ न कुछ जरूर दें।

जहां तक कालेजज (Colleges) के सवाल हैं मैं देखता हूं कि कितने ही लड़के हमारे जिलों में आते हैं वह कालेजों में पढ़ना चाहते हैं, वह गरीब हैं, इसलिये उनके ऊपर जितना रुपया खर्च किया जाय कम है। यह सारी गवर्नमेंट और (Constituent Assembly, committee) (कान्स्टीटुयन्ट एसेम्बली) 'कमीटिड' है कि अछूतों को बराबरी का दर्जा दिया जाय, लेकिन यह इस तरह रुपया ही देने से नहीं होगा यह तो Change of heart हो तभी होगा। जहां आप बड़ी नौकरियां देते हैं वहां हरिजनों में जो लायक हों उनको नौकरियां दें। उसके लिये इस (Resolution) रैजोल्यूशन में तो जिक्र नहीं है, क्योंकि यह (Resolution) रैजोल्यूशन बहुत (narrow) नैरो है जो हाउस (House) के अंदर इस तरीके से आना नहीं चाहिये था, लेकिन मैं अदब से अर्ज करूंगा कि अगर आप ऐसा करेंगे, उनको नौकरियां देंगे तो उनका सवाल काफी हल हो जायगा। मैं दो साल से जब से इस assembly में आया हूं हमेशा बजट के मौके पर अर्ज करता रहा हूं कि मामूली नौकरियां जो उनको दी जाती हैं उनके अतिरिक्त जितनी नौकरियां इनको देनी मुमकिन हैं दी जायें—जब तक पढ़ा लिखा नौकरी के लायक हरिजन मिल सके कुछ वर्ष के लिये औरों को न दी जावें। हरिजनों को पुलिस में भरती करें, इनको प्रतवारी, गिरदावर बनावें, स्कूल मास्टर व हैड मास्टरी की नौकरियां दें—इन नौकरियों से इनको बराबरी का अहसास होगा। जिले हिसार में एक चमार तहसीलदार है, इस वजह से चमार अपना Status ऊंचा समझने लगे हैं। बड़ी नौकरियों में इनको पूरा हिस्सा दीजिये। और काफी मुद्दत तक जब तक इनको बराबरी का अहसास न हो इनके लिये एक रूल बना दीजिये कि अछूतों के लिये (percentage) प्रसेन्टेज का कोई सवाल नहीं है कि उनका (percentage) प्रसेन्टेज क्या है। मैं महात्मा गांधी के इस अकीदे में पूरा विश्वास रखता हूं कि अगर हिंदुस्तान के अन्दर अछूतपन रहेगा तो न

[Dr. Dharam Prakash]

to say is that the problem before the House is so serious that it is rather difficult for men like Mr. Bhaigava to appreciate its seriousness. Just visit these places, Sir, which are threatened with the outbreak of epidemics. These are inhabited by the Harijans. If nothing more can be done, let the Central Government at least try to improve the sanitary conditions of these localities. This requires badly both money and proper management. It becomes obligatory, therefore, on the Central Government to spend liberal amounts for purchasing lands and for constructing good houses in all possible ways so that a Harijan is also enabled to live the life of a human being.

Mr. Speaker: The House may now adjourn till 2-30 in the afternoon.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half-Past Two of the Clock.

Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

डाक्टर धर्म प्रकाश: सभापति महोदय, इससे पूर्व कि मैं आपके सामने अपने विचार रखूँ पहिले दो बातें आपके सामने रखना चाहता हूँ। पहली बात पानी के सम्बंध में है जो मूल प्रस्ताव का आशय है। कुएं और नलों की तकलीफ अगर आपको देखनी है तो आप देहात में जाइये। आजकल के जमाने में भी हरिजन गंदे तलाबों में से पानी लेने के लिये मजबूर हो रहे हैं। प्रांतीय सरकारों ने इस चीज को रोकने के लिये कानून भी बनाये, आंदोलन भी किया, मगर दुःख के साथ कहना पड़ता है कि हरिजनों को अभी इस कठिनाई का सामना करना पड़ रहा है। प्रांतीय सरकारों ने यह कानून भी बनाया कि उनको सार्वजनिक कुओं, तलाबों और नलों से पानी लेने की सुविधा मिल जाय मगर सब व्यर्थ ही रहा है। पानी मनुष्य के लिये एक आवश्यक चीज है इसलिये गवर्नमेंट का कर्तव्य है कि इस की सुविधा हरिजनों के लिये अवश्य प्रदान करें। हमारी सेंट्रल गवर्नमेंट (Central Government) को अपने बजट में इस के लिये अधिक से अधिक गुंजाइश रखनी चाहिये। इसे केवल प्रांतीय सरकारों का ही विषय नहीं समझना चाहिये।

दूसरी बात हरिजनों के मकान के सम्बंध में है। आज लाखों दलित वर्ग के लोग बे घर बार हैं और करोड़ों प्राणी तो ऐसी बस्तियों में रहते हैं जहां जाकर आप नाक बंद करके भी खड़े नहीं हो सकते। शहरों में आप मेहतर भाइयों के और गांव में चमड़ा पकाने वरंगने वाले चर्मकार भाइयों की बस्तियों में जाइये तो आपको पता चलेगा कि वे नारकीय जीवन बिताने को मजबूर हो रहे हैं। देहात में प्रांतीय सरकारों ने ग्राम सुधार के जरिये उनकी सफाई और कुएं इत्यादि के लिये कुछ सुविधा रखी हैं किंतु वह इतनी सीमित हैं कि जिले के केंद्र के उन चन्द गांवों के अतिरिक्त अन्य गांवों में उस स्कीम के द्वारा कुछ भी सुधार का काम नहीं किया जा सकता। इसी प्रकार शहर की म्यूनिसिपलिटियां और कारपोरेशन (Municipalities and Corporation) में भी उनकी बस्तियों की हालत सुधारने में आर्थिक कठिनाई की आड़ लेती हैं।

इसके अतिरिक्त जो मैं कहना चाहता हूँ वह यह है जैसा कि हमारे खांडेकर साहब ने कहा है कि कुछ हरिजन मुस्लिम लीग से पैक्ट (Pact) करके भारत में भी पाकिस्तान बनाने का षडयंत्र कर रहे हैं। यह कोई महत्वपूर्ण खतरा नहीं है सबसे बड़ा खतरा तो यह है कि महात्मा गांधी ने अपना अधिकांश जीवन इस उद्धार के लिये खर्च कर दिया है उनका

कहना है कि वगैर हरिजनों के उन्नति के हम देश की उन्नति नहीं कर सकते। उनको समाज में बराबर के अधिकार होने ही चाहियें। पूज्य गांधी जी ने सन् १९३२ ई० में कहा था कि जब तक हरिजनों की वास्तविक उन्नति नहीं हो जाती तब तक मैं अपने को उनके पास गिरवी समझता हूँ। मैं आपसे यह अपील करता हूँ कि राष्ट्रीय सरकार के होते हुए हमें वास्तविक उद्धार करना चाहिये ताकि कम से कम महात्मा गांधी जी को तो गिरवी होने से छुड़ा सकें यदि हम ऐसा न कर सकें तो यह हमारे समाज और राष्ट्र के लिये एक धब्बे की बात होगी। भार्गव साहब ने जैसा कहा कि ब्रिटिश गवर्नमेंट (British Government) ने स्वर्गीय लाला लाजपतराय के एक करोड़ के संशोधन को पिछली सेंट्रल असेम्बली (Central Assembly) में ठुकरा दिया था जिसकी देश के कोने कोने से निन्दा की गई थी, वह हमारी राष्ट्रीय सरकार न करेगी और न कोई इसका विरोध ही करेगा। मैं आपसे यह अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ कि हमारे सामने एक करोड़, ५ करोड़ और दस करोड़ का सवाल नहीं है। बल्कि सवाल यह है कि किस प्रकार समस्या का हल किया जाय। हरिजनों को समान अधिकारी बनाने के लिये गवर्नमेंट का मुख्य कर्तव्य है कि वह बजट (Budget) में अधिक से अधिक गुंजाइश रखे। बदलती हुई परिस्थिति को सामने रखते हुए मैं कह सकता हूँ कि आज हरिजनों के उत्थान का ईसाई, मुसलमान, पार्सी, सिख, हिंदू कोई विरोधी नहीं है। अतः इसे विवाद का विषय न बना कर सरकार को स्वयं चाहिये कि मूल प्रस्ताव और संशोधन को तुरंत स्वीकार करले।

इसके साथ ही साथ जसा खांडेकर साहब ने संशोधन रखा था कि एक अलग डिपार्टमेंट (Department) एक हरिजन मिनिस्टर के मातहत हरिजनों के लिये होना चाहिये उन्होंने वापिस ले लिया इस संशोधन को वापिस ले लेने पर मैं ज्यादा जोर नहीं देता फिर भी इतना अवश्य कहूंगा कि आज जो नौकरियां हरिजनों को निश्चित कर रखी हैं वह भी उन्हें प्राप्त नहीं हो रही हैं और सही तौर पर ऐसे होनहार नवयुवकों की कोई सुनने वाला नहीं है। अतः मैं चाहता हूँ कि वर्तमान मिनिस्टरों में से ही किसी एक के सुपुर्द हरिजनों का महकमा कर दिया जावे ताकि हरिजनों का कष्ट दूर हो और शिकायत का अवसर न मिले।

इन शब्दों के साथ मैं इस प्रस्ताव का और सेठ गोविन्द दास जी ने जो संशोधन रखा है उसका समर्थन करता हूँ और मैं आप से अपील करता हूँ कि जल्दी से जल्दी इन कार्यों को अमली जामा पहनाने की कोशिश की जाय।

Dr. Dharam Prakash: Mr. Speaker, Sir, before I give my own views on the Resolution, I feel I should draw your attention to two facts. The first concerns the water supply which is the object of the original Bill. You must go to the villages if you want to acquaint yourself with the problem of wells, pipes and taps. Even in these days the Harijans are forced to draw water from stagnant water pools which stink. To check it laws were enacted by the Provincial Governments; agitations were made, but I am pained to say that, in spite of all this, the Harijans have still to face this difficulty. The Provincial Governments even made laws to enable them to draw water from the public castes will fight against the Muslims. I do not care whether the Muslims and the Muslim League will remain here or not; I do not care whether the Scheduled Castes will side the Hindus or the Muslims in the event of a war between the two communities. It is on the merits of this question, I say that we will be wiped out of existence if 'untouchability' is allowed to continue in India. We must give equal rights to all if we have to exist. May I tell Mr. Khandekar, that the appeals he has made to the Honourable Minister for Health, are not of much use. Shrimati Rajkumari Amrit Kaur is a disciple of Mahatma Gandhi; and if she does not appreciate the difficulties of the Harijans, then, with respect I would submit, Sir, that none of us here can do it. I have full confidence that our Honourable Minister for Health will devote her attention to it; I hope this Resolution will not remain only on the records but will be put into practice. I feel confident that in the next three or four years there will be such changes as will eliminate the very words 'scheduled caste'. Let us hope that we shall be enabled to say that the first thing our Constituent Assembly did was that it put an end to the bad system of untouchability, gave equal rights to the scheduled castes and brought them on equal footing with all.

डा. धर्म प्रकाश सभापति महोदय, मैं अधिक बहस में नहीं पड़ना चाहता

कि हिंदुओं और हरिजनों के तालुकात क्या हैं और न इस बहस के लिये समय है। इस समय तो प्रश्न अपने सामने यह है कि जो प्रस्ताव आपके सामने उपस्थित किया गया है और जो रुपये की मांग की गई है इसके लिये जरूर स्वीकार किया जाना चाहिये।

मैं समझता हूँ कि सब से अच्छा यह होता कि हमारे (Finance Minister) फ़ाईनेन्स मिनिस्टर साहब अपना फ़ाईनेन्स बिल पेश करते समय खुद इस बात का ख्याल करते और उसमें इसकी गुंजाइश रखते। लेकिन वह नहीं हुआ। इसी लिये शायद इस बहस की थोड़ी बहुत जरूरत महसूस हो रही है। मगर मैं समझता हूँ कि आज परिस्थिति बतलाती है और हमारा जो कुछ हाल है उस पर मैं कह सकता हूँ कि शायद ही इस हाउस के अन्दर कोई भी व्यक्ति ऐसा हो जो इस बात को न चाहता हो कि यह हक दिया जाय। जब बहुत से सदस्य इस बात को चाहते हैं और हरिजनों का इस पर आन्दोलन भी हुआ और साथ ही गवर्नमेंट भी हमारी इस बात के लिये (bound) बाउन्ड है और वह कह चुकी है कि हम अस्पृश्यता की इस खराबी को दूर करने में कोई कसर बाकी न रखेंगे। ऐसी अवस्था में इस बहस में पड़ना मैं समझता हूँ मुनासिब नहीं है लेकिन मैं कहना चाहता हूँ कि आज क्या ही अच्छा होता कि इस प्रस्ताव के पास होने से पहले हमारे फ़ाईनेन्स मिनिस्टर (Finance Minister) या हमारे (Prime Minister) प्राईम मिनिस्टर साहब स्वयं इस बात को स्वीकार कर अपना ऐलान कर देते कि एक करोड़ क्या दस करोड़ भी खर्च करना पड़ा तो हम उसे स्वीकार करेंगे।

एक बात मैं और अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ। भार्गव साहब ने कहा कि जहां तक मकान और जमीनों को देने का प्रश्न है गवर्नमेंट उसे कभी नहीं कर सकती कि वह जमीन खरीदे और हरिजनों को मुफ्त जमीन दे, या इसी प्रकार रुपया खर्च करके अलग मकान बनवायें उन्होंने पंजाब की हालत बयान की कि पंजाब में यह दिक्कत है कि वहां हरिजन जमीन नहीं खरीद सकते। लेकिन उन्हें नहीं भूलना चाहिये कि आज जहां जमीनें खरीदने का उन्हें अधिकार भी है, वहां लाखों जगहें ऐसी हैं जहां रहने के लिये जगह तो क्या आप वहां जाना

भी पसंद नहीं करेंगे। मैं कहना चाहता हूँ कि वहां के लोगों का यह फर्ज है कि उनके रहने सहने का इंतजाम करें, लेकिन वह नहीं करते। मुझे यह भी मालूम है कि हमारी प्रांतीय सरकारों ने ग्राम सुधार के जरिये यह कोशिश की कि उनकी बस्तियां अच्छी बन जावें, लेकिन उन्होंने जो ग्राम सुधार की कमेटियां बनाई हुई हैं धन की कमी के कारण वह तमाम काम कर नहीं सकतीं। मेरे कहने का मंशा यह है कि हाउस का मसला इतना गंभीर है कि भार्गव साहब जैसे आदमियों का देखना मुश्किल है आप ऐसी बस्तियों में जायें जहां बीमारी फैलने वाली है। हरिजन लोग वहां रहते हैं, वहां अगर कुछ भी नहीं हो सकता है तो कम से कम केंद्रीय गवर्नमेंट के जरिये उनकी बस्तियों को स्वच्छ जगहों में बसाया जाय।

इस कार्य के लिये रुपये और सही प्रबंध की अत्यंत आवश्यकता है। अतः केंद्रीय सरकार का कर्तव्य हो जाता है कि वह उदारता पूर्वक अपने फंड (fund) से जमीन और अच्छे मकान बनवाने की हर प्रकार सुविधा प्रदान कर अपने कर्तव्य का पालन करे। ताकि हरिजन भी दूसरों की भांति मानव जीवन उन्नति बना सकें।

(English translation of the above speech).

Dr. Dharam Prakash (U. P.: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not want to prolong the discussion on the relations existing between the Hindus and the Harijans. I do not think we have got much time for it either. The question which faces us at this time is whether or not we should accept the demands made by the Resolution that has been presented to us.

I think it would have been better if our Honourable Finance Minister had himself paid attention to it and had made provisions for it in the budget that was presented to us. But that he has not done. Perhaps that is why we are feeling the necessity of this debate. I realised that our present circumstances advise us to give equal rights to the Harijans; and I am sure, there is none in this House who will dissent. The Government of India have already proclaimed that no pain will be spared in putting an end to the practice of untouchability. When a large number of the representatives of the people desire this change, when the Harijans have already been agitating and when the Government feel bound to do it, I think, there will be little use entering into arguments and making it a point for a debate. I wish that before the Resolution is put to vote, it should be accepted and announced by the Honourable the Finance Minister, or by the Honourable Prime Minister himself, that they were prepared to spend not only one crore of rupees for this work, but, if need be, they would spend even ten crores.

Sir, I would like to say one thing more. Mr. Bhargava stated that so far as it was the question of giving lands and houses, the Government could not afford to buy and give these to the Harijans gratuitously. He told us that the Government could neither afford to construct separate houses for them. Talking about the Punjab, he said that the Harijans were not permitted to buy lands. But, Sir, let him not forget that these Harijans have been allowed to buy lands; but, it is a pity, that these places are such that not to say of living there one would not like even to go there. I like to say that it is the duty of the public to see that these men are properly accommodated. But that they do not do.

I am not unaware of the fact that the Provincial Governments endeavoured to improve the conditions of these localities by means of the Rural Uplift Campaigns. But the Rural Uplift Committees appointed for making these campaigns a success are handicapped by the shortage of funds. What I mean wells, tanks and taps, but all this has borne no fruits. Water is a prime necessity of man. It should be the duty of the Government to see that the Harijans get this facility. Our Central Government must make the maximum provision for it in their Budget. It should not be thought that this is a subject only for the Provincial Governments.

1084

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [2ND DEC. 1947]

[Dr. Dharam Prakash]

The second thing concerns the houses for the Harijans. Lakhs of Scheduled Caste men are without any houses; and crores of them are living in such places which are too stinking to let you stand there. If you visit the localities of the sweepers in the cities and of tanners in the countryside you will feel that they have been forced to pass their time in a virtual hell. The Provincial Governments have no doubt taken steps to improve their lot in the villages. By means of the Rural Uplift Campaigns they have attempted to give them the facilities of wells and sanitation. But this scheme is too limited to be extended to the villages beyond the important places of the districts. Much improvement cannot, therefore, be expected from it. In the same manner the Municipal Committees and Corporations of towns offer the excuse of financial difficulties, and the sanitation of their adjoining colonies is neglected. Under the circumstances, therefore, it becomes the duty of the Central Government to spend money from its own funds for providing every kind of facility to the people for constructing good houses. It would be doing its duty, and thus, like others, the Harijans will also be enabled to live the life of a man.

Besides this I have one thing more to say. Mr. Khandekar has said that some Harijans have entered into a pact with the Muslim League and are hatching a plot for having another Pakistan in India. This is a baseless danger. Mahatma Gandhi has spent a greater part of his life for the uplift of Harijans. He says that without uplifting the Harijans it is difficult for us to progress. He advocates that the Harijans must have the rights as others in this society. In 1932 Mahatma Gandhi said that he would consider himself as morally bound to the Harijans so long as their condition was not bettered. I appeal to you, to this National Government, to uplift these Harijans in the real sense of the word, so that we may be able to relieve Mahatma Gandhi from this moral duty. It will be a slur on our society and on our nation if we fail to do it.

Mr. Bhargava said that the British Government had rejected the Amendment for one crore proposed by the late L. Lajpat Rai in the then Central Legislative Assembly. That was severely criticised by the public throughout the length and breadth of this country. Our National Government will not do that, and nobody would oppose it. May I say that it is not a question of a crore or five or ten crores. It is the question of how to solve this problem. The prime duty of the Government should be to make the maximum provision for the Harijan uplift so that equal rights may be given them. Looking at the kaleidoscopic changes going on in the world before us I can say that none of us Christians, Muslims, Parsees, Sikhs or Hindus will have any objection to the uplift of the Harijans. Let the Government, therefore, not make it a point for a debate, but accept the original Resolution and the Amendment without any delay.

Besides this, as Mr. Khandekar has put in his amendment, there should be a separate Ministry under a Harijan Minister for the uplift of the Harijans. Mr. Khandekar has withdrawn his amendment. I do not want to dilate on this withdrawal, but I must say that the Harijans are not getting even the posts that have been reserved for them. To tell the truth, nobody cares for these promising youngmen. I like to say that the work for Harijan uplift may be entrusted to one of the existing Ministers so that the grievances of the Harijans may be redressed and no occasion given for a complaint.

With these words, Sir, I support this Resolution and the Amendment proposed by Seth Govind Das and I appeal to you to these things into practice as soon as possible.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, I rise to support the Resolution as it would be amended by my Honourable friend Seth Govind Das. I think the amendment puts the Resolution on a much better footing and makes it more elastic and capable of greater expansion. The original Resolution tied the Government down to certain specific amounts of money and the amendment has certainly considerably widened its scope. In expressing my sympathy for the disabilities and difficulties of the Harijans I should point out that the entire House has the fullest sympathy for the movement—not merely sympathy but generous sympathy. What is, however, of greater importance is some manifestation of our sympathy in a practical shape. It is evident, there are places—I hope they are rare places—where Harijans are not allowed to touch water buckets although they have been allowed to touch the ropes. It is said that a caste Hindu alone must touch the water bucket and pour the water to the pots of the Harijans. There are also other kinds of disabilities disclosed in the House, namely, that in the U.P. and the Punjab house properties of Harijans are not heritable so far as their heirs are concerned; I hope some legislative or other measures will be adopted to rectify the injustice. The Harijans today are the social and political outcasts. What we find in this House and in other advanced places is not the real index to the condition of the Harijans. As has been lucidly pointed out by Mr. Khandekar, in order to see the problem in its true colours, we should go to the villages. Really the orthodox opinion is against giving any rights to the Harijans which would enlarge their religious and social status. I hope and believe that the entire country is awake; the whole of political India is not merely sympathetic but enthusiastically ready to do anything to improve their lot. The Harijans very naturally feel that the process of emancipation is hopelessly slow; but it must be remembered that mankind is notoriously slow and conservative in the matter of social and political habits and customs. There is an age-long prejudice to get over and it must take some time to completely eradicate the social evil. I however feel that judged in the background of history the process is not really slow but rather quick enough. It is apparent that untouchability and unseeability are quickly breaking up. There is the impact of education on these bad customs; the pressure of civilization and of nationalism and democracy are having their full play in removing the disabilities from which the scheduled castes are so long suffering. In fact I feel that a real gigantic nationalist effort is in full operation and nationalist forces are sincerely and powerfully moving in the direction of removing the evil of untouchability, and I believe the movement is well on the way. I submit, however, that the scheduled castes, suffering as they have been for long from the effects of social dealings, should have a little patience.

Shri S. Nagappa (Madras: General): We have waited for centuries.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: But the disabilities created and existing for centuries cannot be removed by any human agency in the course of a few months. The present Government has taken over in right earnest on the 15th August and they are doing their best, in fact the maximum that they are able to do. Their hands are, however, full, and though it may be said that no mention has been made of the scheduled castes in the budget, still the impact of the problem on the budget is quite apparent, because in every department there is scope and desire for doing something for the scheduled castes. I believe everything is being and will be done and I hope that before long the scheduled castes will regain their rightful place as free and respected citizens of India and of the world. I believe the problem is partly psychological and partly social; but the combined operation of all these forces plus the national drive which this Government is determined to give will before long effect a cure of the social malady.

Sir, I again express my fullest sympathy for the difficulties of the scheduled castes and hope that in the near future their disabilities will be removed.

*श्री राम साहव : सभापति महोदय, इस विषय में जो चर्चा हो रही है और खास तौर पर खांडेकर साहब के भाषण को मैंने सुना । इसमें कोई शुबह नहीं है जैसा कि उन्होंने कहा था कि हरिजनों के तकलीफ के बारे में वह ३ दिन तक हाऊस को उनकी दयनीय हालत का बयान करके रूला भी सकते हैं । मैं इन बातों को मानता हूँ । अपने जाति तजुबों से जो मैंने हरिजनों की सेवा करके हासिल की है मैं उनको यह यकीन दिलाना चाहता हूँ कि उनका यह विचार करना कि आम जनता उनके प्रति सद्भावना नहीं रखती है । सही नहीं है । आज वर्षों से हरिजनों की हालत हर तरह से सताये जाने से इतनी खराब हो गई है कि उनको अपने हकूकों की हिफाजत का ऐहसास तक नहीं रहा । उनको आज हकूक दिये गए हैं और दिये जा रहे हैं । उन विचारों को यह भी मालूम नहीं है कि किस तरह से उनका उपयोग किया जाय । Orthodox (आर्थोडक्स) लोगों की मुश्किलत के बारे में सबको अच्छी तरह से मालूम है । वह नहीं चाहते हरिजन उनकी बराबरी कर सकें मगर इसकी जिम्मेदारी हरिजनों पर भी है जब तक वह अपने हकूक का इस्तेमाल करना नहीं सीखेंगे उनकी हिफाजत मुश्किल है हम लोगों पर भी इसकी जिम्मेदारी है हम इस से बच नहीं सकते न ही बचना चाहते हैं लेकिन इस तरह काफी वक्त लगता जा रहा है जो सुधार गैर सरकारी तरीके पर किये गये और किये जा रहे हैं उनमें समय लगना जरूरी है ।

मैं माननीय नागप्पा साहब से यह अर्ज करूंगा कि वह मेरा पूरा भाषण सुनने के बाद नतीजा निकालें बीच में कोई बात न कहें । मैं श्रीमान् के द्वारा उनसे यह निवेदन करूंगा कि मैं बहुत सी ऐसी मिसालें पेश कर सकता हूँ जिससे उनको यह इतमीनान हो जायगा कि दरअसल हरिजन अपने हकूकों की हिफाजत नहीं करना जानते । मैं यहां इसलिये आपके सामने खड़ा नहीं हूँ कि मैं यह कहना चाहता हूँ कि सुधार की आवश्यकता नहीं मैं यह बताना चाहता हूँ कि सोशल रिफार्म (Social reform) गैर सरकारी संस्था द्वारा होने पर देर लगती ही है । मेरी अरज यह है कि ऐसे कायदे और कानून बनाये जायें जिससे हमसुधारों को जल्दी से जल्दी कार्यान्वित कर सकें । जब तक हम कोई सख्त कायदे कानून न बनायें तब तक हम इस मसले को आसानी से हल नहीं कर सकते हैं । जहां एक कायदा यह होना चाहिये जिससे Orthodox (आर्थोडक्स) लोगों को मजबूर कर सकें । वहां दूसरे ऐसे कायदे भी बनाये जायें जिससे हरिजन अपने राइट्स को उपयोग करने के लिये मजबूर किये जाएं । जब तक हम ऐसे कायदे कानून नहीं बनाते तब तक जैसा खांडेकर साहब ने और नागप्पा साहब ने कहा है कि जल्दी से जल्दी सुधार किया जाय वह नहीं हो सकता है । एक करोड़ क्या १० करोड़ रुपया बजट में रखने से भी असली गरज पूरी न होगी ।

इसलिये सभापती जी, मैं निहायत अदब से यह प्रार्थना करूंगा कि हमें इसी दशा में सोचना चाहिये । मैं ला-मिनिस्टर (Honourable Law Minister) साहब और श्री जगजीवन राम साहब से यह प्रार्थना करूंगा कि वह इस बारे में पूरा पूरा विचार करके इस तरह के कायदे और कानून बनायेंगे ।

मैं एक बात और यह अर्ज करना चाहता हूँ कि भंगियों की हालत मामूली दीगर मजदूरों से अच्छी होती है । वह एक परिवार में चार, पांच आदमी होते हैं । चारों, पांचों आदमी म्यूनिसिपैलिटी (Municipality) में नौकरी करते हैं और महज मामूली महनत झाड़ू इत्यादि का काम करने से साधारण मजदूर से वह ज्यादा पैदा करते हैं । उनमें से बहुतेरों को खाने को और कपड़ा उनकी वृत से मुफ्त मिल जाता है इस तरह यह महज आर्थिक मसला नहीं है । सवाल दरअसल उनके सोसाइटी में मूव (move) होने का है । हमको कोई ऐसा तरीका सोचना चाहिये जिसके जरिये हरिजन लाजिमी तौर पर सोसाइटी में मूव (move) हो सकें । जैसा इस रेजोलेशन (Resolution) में मकान के बारे में बतलाया गया है, मैं अर्ज करूंगा कि यह मकान इस तरह से बनाकर जैसे कोई colony (कालोनी) बना दी जाय, कोई उपयोग होने वाला नहीं यह बिल्कुल वैसी ही बात होगी जैसे हरिजन आज अछूत समझे जाते हैं । उसी तरह से उस कालोनी में अलहदा रहने से अछूत रहेंगे उनको तो मकान ऐसी आबादी में होना चाहिये जहां सवर्ण हिंदू आर्थोडक्स (Orthodox) रहते हैं, ताकि उन्हें उस सोसाइटी में लाजिमी तौर पर हिल मिलकर रहने का मौका मिले । जब तक हम ऐसा नहीं करते, तब तक हरिजन और सवर्ण के भेद भाव को मिटाना मुश्किल होगा । मुझे बतौर प्रेसीडेंट म्यूनिसिपैलिटी (President of Municipality) एक शहर के इस बात का अच्छी तरह से अनुभव किया है और अच्छी तरह से देखा है कि उनके सामने महज आर्थिक सवाल ही नहीं है महज (Socialre forms) सोशल रिफार्मस के तरीके पर जो (reforms) रिफार्मस लाना चाहेंगे उसमें बहुत समय लगेगा । अभी अभी मेरे भाषण के दौरान में मिस्टर नागप्पा बहुत परेशान हो रहे थे, मेरा मकसद हरगिज यह नहीं है कि मैं इस काम में किसी तरह का रोड़ा अटकाने खड़ा हुआ हूँ, या हरिजनों के खिलाफ कोई बात रखना चाहता हूँ । मैं चाहता हूँ कि हाउस को बतला दूँ कि जब तक हम इस किस्म के (reforms) रिफार्मस लेजिसलेशन (Legislation) के रूप में नहीं लायेंगे, तब तक हम उनकी तरक्की और भलाई नहीं कर सकते । मेरा यह (suggestion) सज्जेशन नहीं है कि हमें मकान और पानी के बारे में कुछ नहीं करना चाहिये । मेरा यह कहना है कि पानी तो जहां से दूसरे लोग पानी लेते हैं, उसी जगह से वह पानी ले सकें, उसके लिये हमें सख्त कायदा बना देना चाहिये । मकानों के बारे में यह जरूर अर्ज करना है कि उनके लिये (specially) सपैशली उन्हीं मोहल्लों में जहां के लोग हरिजनों से बचना चाहते हैं, वहां जमीन हासिल करके उसका मावजा देकर उनके मकान बना देना चाहिये । जब तक हम इन सब बातों पर इस तरह नहीं सोचेंगे, तब तक कोई नतीजा निकलने वाला नहीं है । मैं अर्ज करूंगा कि महात्मा गांधी की कृपा से जहां यह मसला बहुत जोरों के साथ हिंदुस्तान ने अपने हाथ में लिया है । स्वामी दयानन्द ने तो आज से बहुत पहिले हरिजनों के बारे में आवाज उठाई थी उस वक्त लिप सिम्पेथी (Lip sympathy) का कोई सवाल नहीं था मि० खांडेकर ने हाउस में कई बार लिप सिम्पेथी (Lip sympathy) की आवाज उठाई है । मैं उन्हें विश्वास दिलाना चाहता हूँ कि बहुत से लोग

[श्री राम सहाय]

सच्ची हादिक सहानुभूति रखते हैं। स्वामी दयानन्द के समय देश में (orthodoxy) आर्थोडक्स इस कदर फैली हुई थी कि लोग उसको अच्छे तरीके से ग्रास्प (grasp) करने की ताकत नहीं रखते थे। इस मसले का हल उस समय नहीं निकल सका। अब हमारे सामने महात्मा गांधी की कृपा से वह समय आया है जब हर शस्त्र की जुबान से हम सुनते हैं कि हरिजनों का उद्धार होना चाहिये और आज हम देख भी रहे हैं कि बहुत से जराय उनके लिये सोचे जा रहे हैं फिर लिप सिम्पेथी (Lip sympathy) की बात कहना अन्याय होगा। मैं अन्त में इतना ही निवेदन करना चाहता हूँ कि जब तक हम इस मसले को हर तरीके पर कानून बनाकर आर्थोडक्स (orthodox) और हरिजनों दोनों को मजबूर न कर दें कि आर्थोडक्स (orthodox) हरिजनों को उनके हकूक इस्तेमाल करने देने को बाध्य रखे जायें और हरिजन अपने हकूक का फायदा उठाने के लिये बाध्य किये जायें तब तक हम कुछ नहीं कर सकते। अभी भार्गव साहब ने वजीफा बगैरह देने की बात कही। मैं एक मिसाल देना चाहता हूँ। हरिजन के बच्चे जो शिक्षा के लिये स्कूल जाते हैं, तो वहाँ उनको चार आठ आने वजीफा दिया जाता है जो उनके लिये संतोषजनक नहीं होता। कारण यह है कि वह (Municipality) म्यूनिसिपैलिटी में एक घंटे झाड़ू लगाकर चार-पांच रुपये कमा लेते हैं। इस तरह वह पढ़ने की वनिस्वत झाड़ू वाला काम ज्यादा पसन्द करते हैं और उनको पढ़ने लिखने में बिल्कुल रुचि नहीं रहती जब तक कायदा बनाकर बच्चों को पढ़ने के लिये मजबूर न किया जायेगा कोई उपयोग नहीं। बदकिस्मती से हिंदुस्तान में अछूतपन हर जगह है। एक हरिजन बसोड भंगी हरिजन को नहीं छूना चाहता। चमार हरिजन भंगी बसोड हरिजन को नहीं छूना चाहता। यह हरिजन की बात रही। सर्वांगीय में अभी थोड़े समय पहिले जो लड़का बिलायत पढ़ने जाता था, लौटने पर उसके मां बाप उसको (family) फैमिलि में नहीं रखना चाहते थे और वह अछूत की तरह समझा जाता था मां बाप भी उसके साथ खाना खाना पसन्द नहीं करते न उसके हाथ का छुआ खाना पसन्द करते थे यह बीमारी बहुत पुरानी और (Chronic) क्रानिक हो गई है और इसका जड़ से जाना बहुत मुश्किल है। लेकिन अब समय आ गया है जब सरकार को सख्त कानून बनाकर अमली तौर से इस (evil) ईवल (root out) रूट आउट करना है।

(English translation of the above speech).

Shri Ram Sahai (Gwalior State): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have listened to the speeches made in this House on this issue, particularly the one made by Mr. Khandekar. There is no doubt, as he said, that he can even make the House shed tears for three days at a stretch if he were to describe to us the pitiable conditions of the Harijans. I agree with him there. From my personal experience that I gathered while serving the Harijans I like to assure them that they are mistaken if they think that the public do not care for their welfare. For so long have these Harijans been oppressed in so many different ways that they have lost even the sense of the protection of their rights. Rights have been and are still being given them. But these poor men even do not know how to make the best use of their rights. No body is unacquainted with the objections of the orthodox public. They do not want the Harijans to come upto their level.

But the Harijans are also responsible for it. So long as they do not learn how to use their rights, it is difficult to protect them. We also owe a responsibility to them. We can neither wash our hands of it nor do we desire it. This is taking a lot of time. The reforms that have been made and are still being made unofficially are bound to take some time. I have to request Honourable Mr. Nagappa that he may first listen to my speech in full and then draw his conclusions. I request him not to interrupt me when I am speaking. Sir, through you I would like to tell him that I can give him many such examples as will convince him that it is true that the Harijans do not know how to protect their rights. I have stood up not to say that the reform is not required, but to tell the House that it is bound to take some time if the social reforms have to be made through unofficial organisations. What I mean is that such policies be chalked out and such laws made as should enable us to make reforms in the shortest possible time. So long as we do not frame stiff laws and enforce them rigidly it will be difficult for us to solve this problem. If we make a law for forcing certain things on orthodox people, we must not forget to make laws which should force the Harijans to use their rights. Without making such laws it is difficult to expedite the reforms as suggested by Mr. Khandekar and by Mr. Nagappa. Not to speak of one crore, even a provision of ten crores in the Budget will not solve the real problem. Therefore, Sir, with respect, I would request the House to consider it along these lines. I request the Honourable Minister for Law and the Honourable Shri Jagjiwan Ram to consider these suggestions fully and to frame laws of this kind.

Sir, I would like to request one thing more. The sweepers are already better off than ordinary labourers. A sweeper's family consists of about four to five members and all these are employed by the Municipality. Their work is light simple sweeping, etc., and their income is much more than that of an ordinary labourer. Many of these sweepers get in addition to their wages, eatables and clothes from their patrons. It is, therefore, not simply a financial problem. In fact, it is a question of their moving in society. We should think out a way which should make the Harijans 'move' in the society. It has been proposed by this Resolution that new houses should be built as if to form a colony. I believe this is not going to be of much use. It would mean little change. Just as the Harijans are thought to be untouchables these days, their separate houses will not better their lot. They will be looked upon as untouchables again. They should live in those places where the orthodox among the Caste Hindus reside. They must be provided with the opportunity of mixing with the latter. Until and unless we do that it will be difficult to bring the Harijans and the Caste Hindus closer. As a President of a Municipal Committee I have experienced it well and I have seen it well that it is not simply a financial problem for the Harijans. If it is social reforms that we want to make it will take a long time. Just now, when I was speaking, Mr. Nagappa was feeling vexed. It is not at all my intention that I should place a hurdle in the progress of this work; nor do I desire to say anything harmful to the interest of the Harijans. I want to tell the House that we will not be able to raise the standards of the Harijans or render a service to them so long as we do not give such reforms the shape of law.

My suggestion may not be taken to mean that we should not do anything for their houses or for their water supply. What I mean to say is that they should be enabled to draw water from the wells which the public use. We should enforce this thing rigidly. About the houses I must say that these should be built for the Harijans, specially in those mohallas, where people want to avoid them. We must procure lands in these mohallas and build houses for the Harijans, even if we have to pay compensation to others. Little improvements should be expected without our thinking along these lines. May I say that it is due to the kind efforts of Mahatma Gandhi that India has taken this work in its hands. Of course, Swami Dayanand did raise a voice against untouchability. It was not a question of mere 'lip sympathy' to which Mr. Khandekar has referred so often in this House. May I assure him that there are many persons who have sympathy with these people from the very cores of their hearts. Orthodoxy had got so strong a hold on the minds of the public in the days of Swami Dayanand that people did not have sufficient courage and strength to grasp this problem in a proper way. No remedy could be found for this disease then. The kind efforts of Mahatma Gandhi have placed us on the threshold of such an era that we find it on the lips of almost every body that the Harijans must be uplifted; we find today that many different methods are being contemplated by which it may be achieved. It would be doing injustice to the people if we think that it is 'lip sympathy' that they show. In the end I would say that so long as we do not frame laws for regulating all the aspects of this problem, so long as we do not force these things both on the Orthodox Caste Hindus and on the Harijans, so long as we do not force the Orthodox Caste Hindus to respect the rights of the Harijans and the latter to make the best use of these rights, we will not succeed in our work.

[Shri Ram Sahai]

Shri Bhargava has just now talked of scholarships. I would like to quote an example. The Harijan children receive stipends when they go to the schools. These stipends give them four to eight annas which can hardly give them any relief. These people are not satisfied, for they earn four to five rupees from the Municipality by simply sweeping the roads for an hour or so. These men therefore prefer the jobs of sweepers to that of students and consequently they develop a distaste for education. Unless we make laws for compulsory education, good purpose will not be served.

Unfortunately, untouchability exists even among the Harijans themselves. A Harijan does not like to touch a Basod Bhanggi; a Chamaar (Tanner or Cobbler) does not like to touch a Bhanggi Basod. This is about the Harijans. Even among the Caste Hindus it was found that when a youngman returned from England after completing his education, his family did not like that he should continue to live with them. He was looked upon as an untouchable. This is a disease which has become 'chronic'. It is not easy to root it out. But the time has come when the Government should frame stiff laws and enforce them rigidly if it desires to root out this evil.

Shrimati Dakshayani Velayudhan (Madras: General): It is a known fact that Gandhiji is the greatest champion for the uplift of the Harijans and the change that we have noticed in the last 15 or 20 years is due to the work of Gandhiji and nobody else. I think somebody remarked here that when Gandhiji says something in his evening prayer speech it moulds the work of the Ministry, and if Gandhiji says anything about the Harijans its effects are not felt so deeply. The reason for that is that the disabilities of the Harijans are something like a chronic disease. It will take a very long time to be cured. In my opinion it is not a right policy to find fault with the so-called Caste Hindus, because it is the so-called Caste Hindus who have come forward and they are prepared to elevate us from our depressed condition. What we have to do is to cooperate with them in all their efforts and not to doubt the bona fides of their sincerity. It needs no emphasis that the Harijans form a vast community and that they are a community which has no proper dwellings or arrangements for drinking water. Those are the main items that ind place in the Resolution. But there are other items also. The disabilities of the Harijans, I think, cannot be removed if a certain amount of money is allotted. It is not the amount that matters, it is the method of dealing with the welfare of the Harijans and also the spirit in which the ameliorative work is undertaken that is of importance.

I think one Honourable Member pleaded for a separate department for the uplift of the Harijans. In my opinion that plea should be discouraged. My reason for it is this. What will be the work of this separate department? Is it to provide dwellings, wells and tanks for the Harijans? These methods will lead only to isolationism, which is the one thing which we should avoid. Only when this isolation is removed the Harijans will find a place along with other communities. Even the Harijans have begun to detest the word Harijan or Scheduled Caste or Depressed Classes or any other term. The best way to wipe off these terms is not to create a separate department for them and I think the creation of a separate department will only perpetuate their separate entity and isolation. The present-day educated people of the Harijan community are not in favour of having a separate department and they are not in favour of having a caste label either. If their leaders here advocate that there should be a separate department for them or that there should be separate welfare work for the Harijans, I do not think the present day generation will consent to that. In my opinion the Harijan uplift can form part of an All-India welfare scheme for all backward classes. Priority can be given to the uplift of the Harijans, because they were expecting too much from the Congress or National Government. Therefore it will be only in the fitness of things that some sort of priority is given to them in the all-India welfare work.

The other day the Honourable the Minister for Health intervened in the debate and gave an assurance that whatever may be the welfare work that is taken up by Government the problem of the Harijans will have priority. We have to believe that assurance and put our trust in it. I must admit that the Harijans in India are fortunate in having leaders who are wedded to certain principles based on definite ideologies. Look at the fate of the Harijans in Pakistan and what price they had to pay for securing a seat in the Pakistan cabinet. They were advised to go about having some sort of band or badge. The House is aware how the Harijans in India revolted at the very idea.

The other day we saw a statement by Dr. Ambedkar. He was finding fault with the Congress for forcing Harijans to become members of the Congress. If the Harijans decline to be members of the Congress the fault falls upon nobody else but on Dr. Ambedkar, because he is the only person who has created that hatred among the Harijans towards that great organisation, the Congress. An appeal made by Dr. Ambedkar to his fellow brethren to join the Congress I think will have the greatest effect. In my opinion there is nothing to be afraid of. When the Health Minister has given us an assurance, we must know that she is a great disciple and true follower of Gandhiji, who is, I must say, the Saviour of the Harijans.

In spite of all the welfare work that may be undertaken by the Central and Provincial Governments in my opinion only a socialist state can bring about salvation to the Harijans and my request to the Harijan members is that their efforts should be directed towards the establishment of a socialist state in India, which will deal with the problem of all the backward classes irrespective of caste or creed.

श्री चन्द्रिकारामः (बिहार: जनरल) सभापति जी, मैं यह बताना चाहता हूँ कि इस प्रस्ताव के माने हैं क्या? और यह प्रस्ताव लाया क्यों गया। मुनि स्वामी पिल्ले जी हमारे पुराने नेता हैं। और बहुत वर्षों से उन्होंने सामाजिक उद्धार के लिये आन्दोलन—इतिहास में १९४६

[श्री चन्द्रिकाराम]

(अपलिफ्ट) के लिये किया है। उन्हें हरिजनों के प्रश्नों के तत्व मालूम हैं और इसीलिये उन्होंने यह प्रस्ताव आपके सामने रखा है इस सरकार के पहले जो सरकार कायम थी उसने हरिजनों की भलाई के लिये तीन लाख रुपया अलग कर दिया था। उन तीन लाख रुपयों से हरिजन लड़कों को बजी के दिये जाते थे और उन्हें पढ़ाया जाता था। एवं बाहर विदेशों में भी भेजा जाता था अब जब यह आजादी आ गई १५ अगस्त के बाद तो हरिजनों को कुछ अधिक फायदा होना चाहिये। अधिक लड़के बाहर भेजे जायें और एक certain amount (सर्टिन अमाउंट) उसके लिये तय किया जाय, यह नीयत थी उनके प्रस्ताव लाने में।

दूसरी नीयत यह थी कि जब देश की आजादी के लिये जो लड़ाई हुई है उसमें समाज के सब लोगों ने, साथ ही हरिजनों ने भी काफी contribute (कंट्रीब्यूट) किया है। जो hon'ble member (आनरेबल मेम्बर) हरिजनों के यहां हैं सबको मालूम है कि उन्होंने देश के लिये जो कुर्बानियां की हैं वे बहुत काफी हैं। और साथ ही साथ जो प्रगतिशील society (सोसाइटी) कायम होने वाली थी, आगे उसमें उनका हाथ बराबर रहा है। और आज जब यह हमारे महात्माजी के आशीर्वाद से कामयाब हुए हैं तो उनको यह आशा थी कि इस सरकार के अन्दर कुछ न कुछ उनके लिये अवश्य ही किया जायगा। इसी से वह यह प्रस्ताव लाया गया। प्रस्ताव का मकसद यह है कि इन विषयों पर इस हाउस के बीच जहां हिंदुस्तान के सब प्रांतों से और देशी राज्यों से लोग आये हुये हैं इस बात को समझाने की कोशिश करें कि हरिजनों के सवाल क्या हैं? उनके problems (प्राबलमस) क्या हैं? इस प्रस्ताव में दो तीन बातों का इजहार किया गया है। पहली बात उनके घरों के लिये है। घरों की समस्या जितनी कठिन है उसको non-Harijans (नान-हरिजनस) मेम्बर बहुत कम realise (रीयलाइज) कर सकते हैं। घरों के सवाल के दो हिस्से हो सकते हैं, एक देहातों के लिये, दूसरा शहरों के लिये। हम देहातों की बात नहीं कहते, इस लिये कि वहां हरिजनों की ऐसी जातियां हैं जो जानवरों के दर्जे में रखी जा सकती हैं। मैं मिसाल के तौर पर यह नमूना देना हूं जिनकी संख्या काफी है, वह है मुशहर जाति। वह भिन्न भिन्न नामों से पुकारी जाती है। इसका काम खेती बारी करना है। जब किसी को खेती बारी करने वालों की कमी होती है तो दूसरे गांवों में जाकर उन्हें खरीद लाते हैं और दो एक वर्ष रख कर भगा देते हैं। यह देहातों की हालत है।

शहरों की बात देख लीजिये। जितने लोग शहरों में रहते हैं, उनके स्वास्थ्य में भंगी या मेहतर का सबसे बड़ा हाथ रहता है। अगर वह शहरों में strike (स्ट्राइक) कर दें काम बन्द कर दें, तो आपका स्वास्थ्य खराब हो जायगा। और हैजा और प्लेग के आप शिकार हो जायेंगे, लेकिन उन मेहतरों के रहने का क्या इंतजाम आपने किया है? आपको सोचना चाहिये कि उनके लिये क्या किया जाय। उनके हाथ बंधे हैं इस लिये बड़े

कुछ नहीं कर सकते। उनके पास रुपये की कमी है। इस लिये प्रार्थना की गई है कि उनके छोटे छोटे हलकों के लिये सरकार यहां से रुपये grant (ग्रांट) करके मदद करे। जिससे उनके रहने के लिये काफी इंतजाम हो जाय, यह होना चाहिये।

दूसरी बात उनके पानी के लिये कही गई है। पानी का सवाल इतना कठिन है कि उसको बहुत कम आदमी महसूस करते हैं। अभी इसी २८ तारीख को हमको पंजाब जाने का मौका मिला। रोहतक जिले में मैं २८ तारीख को गया। वहां हरिजनों की सभा में उनकी काफी तादाद आई हुई थी। वहां कम से कम ५० दरखास्तें इस तरह की आई कि जहां कुएं में पानी पीने का इंतजाम उनके लिये नहीं था। आज इस दुनिया में Time & space (टाईम एंड स्पेस) खत्म हो चुका है, आज atom bomb (एटम बॉम्ब) की बातें हम करते हैं वहां पर इस देश में इसी जगह पर आज नागरिकों की सब से बड़ी primary necessity (प्राइमरी नैसेसिटी) है drinking water (ड्रिंकिंग वाटर) की जिसका इंतजाम नहीं है। जिस वक्त प्रबन्ध सब के लिये किया जाता है वहां एक कुआं भी उनके लिये नहीं बनता है। ऐसा मुझे अनुभव है, मैं अपने प्रांत की बात बताऊं, जहां २६ कुओं के बनने की मंजूरी की गई वहां २३ कुएं Caste Hindus (कास्ट हिन्दूस) के लिये बन गये। हरिजनों के लिये कहा गया इस वक्त रुपये की कमी है। असल रुपये की कमी का प्रश्न नहीं है, हृदय परिवर्तन की जरूरत है। लोगों ने कहा इसके लिये कानून बना देना चाहिये। मैं आपको बतलाऊं कि जब मदरास में Temple Entry Bill (टेम्पल एन्ट्री बिल) पास किया गया तो मदुरा के मंदिर में हरिजन गए और हरिजन जब चले गए तो वहां के Board (बोर्ड) के मेम्बरों ने फैसला किया कि उन हरिजनों पर मंदिर अपवित्र होने का दावा किया जाय। इस फैसले को जो रिपोर्ट थी उसकी क्या हालत हुई। उस वक्त जून ४६ में मुकदमा Federal Court (फेडरल कोर्ट) तक आया, इस मुकदमे में इस आनरेबल हाउस के एक मेम्बर involved थे जिनका नाम श्री पी० कक्कन है। अगर यह कानून भी पास कर दें तो यह कानून का बर्ताव गवर्नमेंट के हाथों में रहता है, वह रहता है हिंदुओं के हाथों में, सबर्णों के हाथों में जो बड़े हैं, पैसे में, रुपये में, प्रभाव में, और और बातों में। वहां हरिजनों को मुकदमा लड़ने में आठ हजार रुपये लगे थे। अब बताइये कानून से उनकी रक्षा कहां से हो सकती है?

इसलिये इस प्रस्ताव का मकसद एक भाई ने यह बताया कि यह हरिजनों का सवाल है, तो psychological (साइकालोजिकल) है, social (सोशल) है। मैं कहता हूं वह economic (इकनामिक) भी है, यह आर्थिक सवाल सबसे पहले है। सबसे पहली बात यह है। छूत छात का प्रस्ताव आप पीछे रख दें, मन्दिर में जानें का प्रस्ताव पीछे रख दें। अभी हमें आर्थिक सुविधा दीजिये। हमारे बच्चे पढ़, लिख जावें, वह पूर्ण रूप से नागरिक बन जावें। कल कारखानों में उनका हाथ हो जाय, उनके पास जमीन

[Shri Chandrika Ram]

Shri Munishwami Pillai is our veteran leader, and for many years he has carried on agitation for social reformation—for the cause of uplift of the Harijans. He knows the essence of the Harijan problem and for this very purpose he has moved this Resolution. The Government that preceded the present Government had reserved a sum of Rupees three lacs for the welfare of Harijans. These three lacs were utilized towards the grant of scholarships and education to Harijans and also in sending them to foreign countries. Now with the advent of independence, after the 15th of August, the Harijans should also enjoy a little more benefit. A great number of students should be sent abroad and certain amount should be fixed for them. This was his intention in moving the Resolution.

The second intention was that the Harijans have also made sufficient contribution along with other members of the society in the struggle for country's freedom. The Honourable Members who are representing the Harijans here are aware of the fact that the sacrifices which they have made for the country are quite adequate. Simultaneously they have played an equal role in the formation of progressive society. And now to-day when they have achieved success through the blessings of Mahatma Gandhi, they hoped that something would certainly be done for them by this Government. Keeping this in view, this Resolution was brought up. The object of the Resolution is to impress upon the representatives of all Provinces and states in India who are present in this House as to what are the problems affecting the Harijans. This Resolution mentions about two or three things. The first thing relates to their houses. The Non-Harijan members can hardly realize the acuteness of the housing problem. The housing problem can be split up into two parts, viz., one relating to rural and the other to urban areas. We do not refer to the rural areas, because it is inhabited by certain classes of Harijans who can be placed in the category of animals. For instance, I quote the case of 'Mushhar' community who are in a considerable number. It is called by various names. Their profession is farming. When anyone is short of farmers, he goes to other villages and buys them and shunts them off after keeping for a year or so. This is the condition prevailing in the rural area.

Look to the cities. The sweepers or scavengers play an important role in the preservation of the health of people in the city. If they go on strike in the cities and suspend their work, then your health is likely to be deteriorated. And you will fall prey to Cholera and Plague. But what arrangements have you made for housing these sweepers? You should consider what should be done for them? Their hands are tied down and hence they cannot do anything. They lack money. Therefore, it has been requested that the Government should help the small towns and municipalities inhabited by them with grant of funds, which may enable them to make adequate housing arrangements. This should be done.

The second thing has been pointed out in connection with their drinking water. The question regarding the water supply is so acute that very few people realize this. Recently on the 28th of the last month we have an opportunity to go to the Punjab. I went to Rohtak District on the 28th ultimo. There was a large number of Harijans present in the meeting. At least 50 such applications were received which mentioned that there did not exist any arrangement for their drinking water from the well. To-day the theory of "Time and space" is no longer existing in this world. To-day we talk about "atom-bomb". Here in this country to-day the foremost primary necessity of citizens is drinking water for which there are no arrangements.

When arrangements are made for all, not a single well is constructed for their use. This is my knowledge. In the case of my own Province where sanction was granted to the building of 26 wells, 23 wells were constructed then for the use of Caste Hindus. As regards Harijans it was stated that at present there was shortage of funds. Indeed the question of shortage of funds is not involved, but it requires change of heart. The people asserted that a law should be framed in this direction. I may tell you that when the Temple Entry Bill was passed in Madras, the Harijans went to the temple at Madura, and after they had left, the Board of the temple decided that a suit should be filed against them for the sacrilege of the temple. What happened to the report of this decision? At that time in June 1946, the case was brought upto the Federal Court. In this case an Honourable Member of this House namely, Mr. P. Kakkan was involved. Even if we pass this law, its execution lies in the hands of the Government, the Hindus, caste Hindus, who are affluent in money, influence and other respects. It costs the Harijans a sum of Rupees eight thousands to fight this suit. Now, tell me how can they be protected by the enforcement of law?

Therefore, one of my Honourable friends described the aim of this Resolution as a problem affecting the Harijans which is psychological and social. I say it is economic also; this economic aspect has got a premier place. This is the first thing. Set aside the Resolutions regarding untouchability and temple entry. For the present give us financial facilities. Our children may get education, they may become full-fledged citizens. To-morrow they may get share in the factories, acquire land and then the doors of the temple will automatically be open to them. Therefore, we do understand perhaps correctly that their problem is economic and not psychological and social. Who sends his children to the temples and mosques now-a-days? A certain writer has observed that before the last war only 75 per cent. of the people used to go to the Church. After this War, even 25 per cent. do not go. Leave aside these countries, you may just look to children and boys in your own homes and see how much interest they take in temples. Now there is no question relating to this temple entry before us. It is just possible that keeping in view the conditions prevailing in the country, the Harijans also feel the need of visiting the sacred shrine of God. Let anybody say anything, we simply want to have vision of the "God of wealth". This is very necessary. If you do not give them to eat, and there is no cloth to put on, there are no arrangements for their education, there is no drinking water for them, and in these conditions, if we throw open the temples, then it does not and will not serve any useful purpose.

So far as education is concerned, I realize this. All the Ministers who are here are Congressites and every one of them carries the good wishes and blessings of Mahatma Gandhi, but how much work have they done? I know almost all the provinces in India where some work is done. I take the case of my own Province. In Bihar Rupees three lacs have been granted for their (Harijans) education. Out of this three lacs, approximately Rs. 25,960 are meant for their scholarships, and the balance is to be utilized for the purpose of other things and material connected with education. You are aware that the session of schools in Bihar starts in January, but it is December now and the money could not yet be distributed.

After this take the case of United Provinces. I had an occasion to go there during the month of August. I have put certain question to an Officer of the scheduled castes who happened to go there. The number of students in Eastern U.P. is estimated to be about 25 thousands and the grant of money which has been sanctioned for them amounts to Rs. 600 and that too for books. These are the arrangements which exist in words.

I have seen 250 applications for wells in a certain meeting. Those applications had been sent to the U.P. Ministry and no reply has been received till to-day.

I may further tell the case of Madras Government which formerly included Raja Ji. His Ministry carried a great name. During the regime of Shri

[Shri Chandrika Ram]

Prakasam, a sum of Rupees one crore was allotted for the Harijans, but just enquire from the Honourable Members from Madras who are present here if any penny had been spent for their sake.

After this we are bewildered and we know the sympathy and fellow-feeling which they have got towards the Harijans. But even to-day, if I mistake not, what is the genuine condition of Harijans? What are the arrangements made for their boarding, lodging and education? This can only be achieved by the change of heart. This cannot be solved either by one or ten crores. The question is to what extent are you making efforts in this connection? The erstwhile Government being an alien wanted to keep us under the heels of slavery. This was on account of its political expediency. But now-a-days we have our own free Government. We should step forward towards that direction. The crux of my question is what the centre is doing for them to-day. This is not concerned with crores or lacs. The point is what are the Government going to do towards this? I say even to this extent that the Government which has not been able to do anything for the benefit of this poor class who have no food to eat and no clothes to put on, will find it difficult to hold itself in India after the lapse of some time. Therefore, it is a very vital issue which affects 1/4th or 1/5th of our countrymen whose very existence in this world depends upon you.

You look to your field and what is the condition there? There are many leaders of agriculturists here and they indulge in long talks which are symbolic of peasants. What is the condition of ploughmen? They toil very hard during the hot sun in the day time. They are given only one bigha (a land measure which is 5/8 of an acre) of land for ploughing. You know that I am in possession of reports from various places that their houses are burnt, their houses are forcibly occupied, they have no houses. We will be surprised to learn that they have no right to purchase land in the Punjab. This is an evil practice which we should wipe off. Mahatma Gandhi has devoted his energies towards this direction and he has struggled for this, but I, you and other people who wield power and form the Government, give practical effect to the Government's task—what have we done?

If this Government which is a National Government fails to do anything to ameliorate the condition of the lower strata of Society, then it cannot claim itself to be the Government of the poor. Without saying anything further, I would close my speech. I hope and trust that the Honourable Minister of Health who is present here will try to do her utmost towards this direction.

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur (Minister for Health): Sir, I wish to assure the House that I am in agreement with every word that has fallen from the lips of those who have supported the resolution as amended by Seth Govinddas. As I said before, the Government policy is absolutely clear and definite. Untouchability must go and Government is pledged to resort to every means in its power so that this curse shall be eliminated from this land. There are Acts for the removal of social disabilities in practically every province. It is only right that they should be there, and as I said the other day, the Bombay Act is now going to be applied to all the Centrally Administered Areas also. But I am painfully aware of the fact that while these Acts do obtain and are on the Statute Book, they are observed in the breach rather than in observance, and for that I do feel that the Provincial Governments as well as the Centre should have some machinery to see that the law is not disobeyed. I shall not hesitate from the Centre to give this directive to all the Provinces, and I hope that not only Provinces, but all the States will also bring these laws on to their Statute Books. I had occasion to tour Kathiawar during a drought period, and it hurt me beyond measure to see that while cattle and dogs could come and drink water from the chaubachas or tanks near the wells, Harijans could not come to quench their thirst even there. Government is aware, I repeat, of all these disabilities. I know also that money is necessary for the provision of wells not only for Harijans but for everybody where there is no pure water available. I know also that the housing needs of Harijans and of all the poor are a crying urgency and need immediate action. I know also that money is needed for educational and economic uplift. Government will do everything within its means to supply this need because I also feel with the speaker who spoke last that economic uplift and educational opportunities for the scheduled castes, and indeed for all backward classes, are the chief means of raising their present standards. But I do want to say this to the mover of the original Resolution that in the development schemes that the Government has in view I am quite sure that the scheduled castes will get all the financial need that is necessary, and I hope it will be more than what he asked for in his Resolution. For the Centrally Administered Areas I would like to say that we shall try to do everything that we possibly can from the point of view of housing for Harijans, for drinking water for them, as well as for educational facilities for them. Government is aware of these responsibilities. But I do also want to warn Members in this House who are going to pass this Resolution today to speak with the same eloquence and work with energy so that all those people whom they represent will banish untouchability in their respective areas, because however much money may be given from Government, however many laws are passed for the removal of untouchability, there has got to come that heart-change among those who have so far practised this evil custom, and that is the best way of removing this inhumanity from our society. In accepting Seth Govinddas' amendment to the original resolution, I wish to assure the House on behalf of Government that we shall not rest content until the word 'scheduled castes' is banished from our vocabulary, and I also wish to assure Shri Thakurdas Bhargava that this Resolution will not be interpreted in a narrow sense. It is not only house sites or drinking water facilities or scholarships that are required, but the removal of all disabilities so that the scheduled castes may have the fullest opportunity of self-development and that they may attain an equal status with every other citizen of this country. I submit also that no separatism is needed for them in the matter of drinking water or for anything else. They are eligible for houses for living wherever they want to, for drinking water from wherever they want to, for going to any educational institution they want to go, etc. For after all, they are part and parcel of the great Hindu community and nothing else.

Mr. Speaker: There is the Resolution and there are two amendments; I understand one is going to be accepted by the Honourable Minister. What about the amendment of the Honourable Member Mr. Nagappa?

Shri S. Nagappa: Sir, in view of the assurance given by the Honourable the Minister, I beg leave of the House to withdraw my amendment.

The Amendment was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker: Then there is the other amendment of Seth Govinddas which I shall now put to the House. The question is:

"That in the Resolution for the words 'spend at least one crore of rupees each year for the next ten years', the words 'take adequate steps' be substituted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: I shall now put to the House the amended Resolution. The question is:

"This Assembly is of opinion that the Government of India should take adequate steps for the amelioration of the condition of the Scheduled Castes by way of providing them with house sites and drinking water and also by way of supplementing the educational grants sanctioned by Provincial Governments."

The motion was adopted.

[श्री चन्द्रिकाराम]

हो जाय, आपसे आप यह मन्दिर का दरवाजा भी उनके लिये खुल जायगा। इसलिये हम समझते हैं और शायद ठीक समझते हैं कि उनका सवाल economic (इकनामिक) है, वह psychological (साइकालोजिकल) और social (सोशल) नहीं है। आज कल के जमाने में अपने बच्चों को मन्दिर और मस्जिद भेजता कौन है? एक लेखक ने बताया है कि विलायत में गत लड़ाई के पहले लोग सैकड़ें ७५ चर्च जाया करते थे। इस लड़ाई के बाद सैकड़ा पीछे २५ भी नहीं जाते। इन देशों की बात छोड़ दीजिये आप अपने घरों के बच्चों और लड़कों को देखिये कि वे मन्दिरों में कितनी दिलचस्पी लेते हैं। अब इस Temple entry (टेम्पल एन्ट्री) का कोई प्रश्न हमारे सामने नहीं है। हो सकता है कि देश की बात देख करके अब हरिजनों के लिये यह हो जाय कि हमको भी भगवान के दर्शन की जरूरत है। कोई कुछ भी कहे हमें तो केवल आर्थिक भगवान के दर्शन होने चाहिये। वह दर्शन सबसे जरूरी है। अगर उनको खाने को नहीं देते हैं, और पहनने को कपड़ा नहीं है, उनके पढ़ने का कोई इंतजाम नहीं है, उनके पीने को पानी नहीं है। ऐसी हालत में अगर हम मन्दिर खोल दें तो कोई फायदा नहीं है और न होगा।

जहां तक education (एजुकेशन) की बात कही गई है। मैं इस बात को समझता हूं सारे मंत्री जो यहां हैं, वह कांग्रेस के हैं, सबको सब के साथ गांधी जी का आशीर्वाद है लेकिन उनके पास कितना काम होता है। मुझे हिंदुस्तान के करीब करीब सभी सूबों की जानकारी है, जहां कुछ काम होता है। मैं अपने प्रांत को लेता हूं। बिहार में उनकी शिक्षा के लिये तीन लाख रुपया दिया गया है। उस तीन लाख रुपये में करीब २५,९६० रुपये उनके Scholarship (सकालरशिप) के लिये हैं, और बाकी शिक्षा के अन्य सामान के लिये हैं। आपको मालूम है बिहार में जनवरी से स्कूलों का सेशन शुरू होता है, लेकिन अब तक दिसम्बर में भी रुपया बंट नहीं सका है।

उसके बाद यू० पी० में आइये। उसमें अगस्त महीने में वहां जाने का मौका मुझे मिला था। वहां Scheduled Castes (शिडूलड् कास्टस) के एक अफसर गए थे जिनसे मैंने कुछ सवाल किये थे। वहां Eastern U.P. (ईस्टर्न यू० पी०) में पच्चीस हजार लड़कों की तादाद बताते हैं और जो ग्रांट रुपये की उनके लिये की गई है वह किताबों के लिये ६०० रुपये की है। रहने के लिये इंतजाम है। एक सभा में मैंने २५० एप्लीकेशन (applications) कुएं के लिए देखी हैं, उन applications (एप्लीकेशनस्) को U. P. Ministry (यू० पी० मिनिस्ट्री) के पास भेजा है, आज तक कोई जवाब नहीं आया है।

मैं आगे बतलाऊं मदरास की बात लीजिये जिसमें राजाजी पहले थे। उनकी मिनिस्टरी का बहुत बड़ा नाम था, श्री प्रकाशम के जमाने में एक करोड़ रुपया हरिजनों

के लिये दिया था, लेकिन यहां मदरास के (Hon'ble Member) आनरेबल मेम्बर हैं उनसे पूछिये कि एक भी पैसा उनके लिये खर्च किया गया है? इसके बाद हम को परेशानी है और हरिजनों के लिये जितनी उनके पास (Sympathy) सिम्पेथी है, सहानुभूति है हम जानते हैं लेकिन आज भी मैं शायद गलती नहीं कर रहा हूं कि हरिजनों की वास्तव में क्या हालत है। उनके खाने-पीने, रहने और पढ़ने का क्या इंतजाम किया जाता है। यह तो सिर्फ (Change of heart) चेंज आफ-हार्ट ही से हो सकता है। इसे एक करोड़ या दस करोड़ रुपया नहीं हल कर सकता। सवाल यह है कि आप किस हद तक इसमें कोशिश कर रहे हैं। पिछड़ी सरकार तो विदेशी होने के नाते हमको गुलाम बनाये रखना चाहती थी। इसमें उसकी (political expediency) पोलिटिकल एक्सपीडियेंसी थी। लेकिन आज जब हमारी अपनी आजाद सरकार है, हमें उस दिशा में काम बढ़ाना चाहिये। मेरा सवाल यह है कि (Con'ro) सेन्ट्र आज उनके लिये क्या करता है? यह सवाल करोड़ और लाख का नहीं है। सवाल यह है कि गवर्नमेंट उसमें क्या करने जा रही है। मैं तो यहां तक कहता हूं कि सरकार अगर उस गरीब तबके के लिये जिनके पास खाने को अन्न और पहनने को कपड़ा नहीं है, कुछ नहीं कर सकी, तो उसका थोड़े समय के बाद हिंदुस्तान में कायम रहना मुश्किल हो जायगा। इसलिये यह एक बड़ा भारी प्रश्न है और देश के १/४ या १/५ ऐसे लोगों का प्रश्न है जिनका जीना मरना आपके साथ निर्भर करता है। आप खेतों में जाइये, वहां क्या हालत है। यहां तो बड़े बड़े किसान नेता हैं और लम्बी लम्बी किसानों की बात करते हैं।

हलवाहों की क्या हालत है। दिन भर कड़ी धूप में मेहनत करते हैं। सिर्फ एक बीघा खेत उनको जोतने के लिये दिया जाता है। आप जानते हैं कि मेरे पास बहुत सी जगहों की रिपोर्ट है कि उनके घर जलाये जाते हैं, उनके घर ले लिये जाते हैं, उनके पास घर नहीं है। हमको सुनकर आश्चर्य हुआ कि उनको पंजाब में जमीन खरीदने का हक नहीं है। यह एक बड़ी भारी कुरीति है जिसे हमें हटाना चाहिये। गांधी जी इस दिशा में लगे हुए हैं और उन्होंने इसके लिये लड़ाई की है, लेकिन हम और आप और दूसरे लोग जिनके पास ताकत है जो सरकार को बनाते हैं, सरकार के कामों को अमल में लाते हैं क्या कर चुके हैं। अगर यह सरकार जो नेशनल गवर्नमेंट है, ऐसे गरीब तबके के लिये कुछ नहीं कर सकी तो यह सरकार दावा नहीं कर सकती कि गरीबों की यह सरकार है। अधिक न कहकर मैं अपना भाषण समाप्त करता हूं। मुझे आशा और विश्वास है कि स्वास्थ्य विभाग की मिनिस्टर साहिबा जो यहां इस समय मौजूद हैं, वह अधिक से अधिक इस तरफ काम करने की कोशिश करेंगी।

(English translation of the above speech)

Shri Chandrika Ram (Bihar: General): Mr. Speaker, I should like to tell what the purport of this Resolution is, and why this Resolution was moved.

RESOLUTION RE APPOINTMENT OF STATUTORY LAW REVISION COMMITTEE

Dr. Sir Hari Singh Gour (C.P. and Berar: General): Sir, I beg to move the Resolution which stands in my name, which runs as follows:

"This Assembly is of opinion that a Statutory Law Revision Committee be appointed to clarify and settle the questions of law which require elucidation."

All Members of the Assembly will remember that a Statutory Committee of the kind I am advocating to renew, was formed in the first Assembly and continued for a number of years. The reason why that Committee came into existence may be briefly stated as follows. As far back as 1830, James Mill, the father of John Stuart Mill, in his History of India, pointed out that the Indian Administration cannot be adequately or effectively administered unless the people know the laws they have to obey, and that for that purpose the Indian Law must be codified. In saying so, he was following the precedent of the Roman Republic where the first thing after the establishment of the Republic was the codification of Roman Law and the same thing happened in France. The result was that Lord Macaulay was appointed as the first Law Member of the Government of India to codify the Indian Law, particularly Hindu Law which was in a chaotic state of confusion. In addressing the students and Professors of the Sanskrit College in Calcutta, Lord Macaulay said that he had come to codify Indian Law and that before the students emerged from that College after the completion of their studies, they will be given a handbook of Indian Law which will replace the Shastric Law which very few people understood and very few people care to understand. Well, he tried his hand and gave up in confusion that the Hindu Law was incapable of codification; and the same thing was reported by three or four Royal Commissions.

The question of the codification of Hindu Law was in suspense and the recent attempt at codification is due to causes to which I need not advert because, as Honourable Members will see, I am not asking the House for either the codification of Indian Law or for that matter for the reform of the personal Law of any community—Hindu or Muslim. I am only asking for the constitution of a Statutory Law Revision Committee, viz. a Committee that will go into the Statute Law of this country and try to clarify and improve it. I have mentioned that from 1835 down to very recent times various Royal Commissions had been appointed for the purpose of drafting various branches of Indian Law; those Commissions have all added an appendage to their Reports to the effect that the Government of India should revise the Statute Law every ten years—in other words, that a decennial revision of Indian Law became a legal necessity. When a Member of this Assembly I drew the attention of the Government that for several decades this confusion of Law has continued to remain unchecked and the time and money of the litigants and the valuable time of the courts is spent in understanding what the Statute Law is. The Secretary of State of the then bureaucratic Government of India saw the justice of the claim made and immediately sanctioned the proposal of the Government of India to start a Statute Law Revision Committee. That Committee has existed for a long time and has done, I venture to submit, much work. But when in the later days the Legislative Assembly got busy with other work, the Statute Law Revision Committee was permitted to die a very unnatural death.

Now, Sir, since the 15th of August we have become independent and it is absolutely necessary, I say axiomatic, that we should help the litigating public and the courts to understand the Law. Now, Sir, I happen to be a practising at the Bar for many years and I find that about one-third of the time of the courts is spent—may I say mispent—in trying to understand Law which is either unintelligible or which contains lacunae which it is the duty of this Legislature to remove. I happen to have the misfortune of moving several Bills overruling the wrong decisions of the Lordships of the Privy Council—the question of attestation, the question of limitation, and numerous other Bills—but that is a very circuitous method of correcting the Law. A plain, straightforward course is to have a Statute Law Revision Committee that understands what the difficulties are and tries to meet them. Now, Sir, it was said and rightly said that if you start a Statute Law Revision Committee today it will cost money. The late Statute Law Revision Committee was an honorary one. It did not cost the Government a single pie. Only the Secretary was paid and he was deputed by the Legislative Department to make a table of cases which required elucidation or correction. He spent about three months contacting the various High Courts in the Provinces and prepared a list of cases that called for notice of the Statutory Law Revision Committee. The Committee did not take more than three months to settle the question which had been engaging the attention of the law courts for several decades. You will thus understand to what degree the Statute Law Revision Committee have served the people of India.

Since about 15 or 16 years, Sir, that Committee has been in suspense and I drew the attention of the Law Member to the fact that I have again found in my practice throughout India and in the Privy Council cases after cases where the Lordships have said that they did not understand a particular branch of the law and therefore did not wish to interfere with the prerogative of the legislature to enact or improve it. But the Law Member then was of the Government that is now defunct and he said that he could not take action because his time was engaged in the codification of Hindu law. The matter stood there.

Now, Sir, the question has become an urgent question. It might be said that we are all members of the Constituent Assembly and that the matter might be placed before that Assembly. Do members remember and realise that that Constituent Assembly is made for the purpose of making a constitution for India and it is not a Revision Committee for the purpose of revising the existing statute law of the country. Therefore that Committee would be doing wrong if it busied itself with the correction and amendment of the existing statute law. I therefore submit, Sir, that the only legislative body that has the power and duty should exercise the function of revising the statute law is the body over which you preside, and therefore I move my Resolution in the full hope that this House will accept it.

Mr. Speaker: Resolution moved:

"This Assembly is of opinion that a Statutory Law Revision Committee be appointed to clarify and settle the questions of law which require elucidation."

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (one of the panel of Chairmen)]

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C.P. and Berar: General): Sir, I appreciate very much the Resolution that has been so ably moved and I hope that the Honourable the Law Member would find it possible to accept it. From the reasons and arguments advanced by Sir Hari Singh Gour for the re-constitution of this Committee that once existed appear to me quite convincing. I could not understand how exactly it went out of existence, because he merely contented himself by saying that it died an unnatural death, and did not disclose the reasons. The ground on which I support his Resolution is that, with the attainment of independence by India, we have come to a stage when we ought to examine the fundamentals of all the laws as well as the procedure which obtains in the country at the present day. Sir Hari Singh referred to the various conflicting opinions, as well as the expense of money and time that it involves for the litigants not being sure of one interpretation or the other and also the courts not being certain of the validity of their interpretation. Not only from this point of view is it necessary that there should be such a Committee but from the point of ensuring social justice and convenience to the litigant public has the stage now come for us to examine the existence of every statute in India and see whether it does not conflict with any other and to what particular extent it conforms to the ideas and requirements of the Indian society.

[Dr. P. S. Deshmukh]

I may, Sir, give an instance. The law of adoption is embodied in the Hindu Code. It is not yet a codified law and it is being interpreted in various places in various different ways. About 18 years back there was a certain interpretation by the Privy Council. That one interpretation, Sir, led to hundreds of adoptions with the result that at least in my part of the country so many families have been entirely disrupted because it is thought that it is possible under that interpretation—whether it is correct or not—for anybody to adopt anybody else. A father can adopt his own daughter's son and in fact, it appears as if there would be no prohibition even if the son were to adopt his own father. The situation, Sir, is as ridiculous as I have described it and there are very curious instances and ways in which adoption is resorted to. So far as this is concerned, I would like to bring to the notice of the House that it is a matter for very serious consideration whether the law of adoption and its interpretation, as it is understood today, should be allowed to continue, because it is disrupting society. Now, Sir, for want of such a Statute Committee we have only the individual intelligence of the Honourable Members in this House and the various legislatures to look after this matter. I think it would be better if an opportunity is afforded for the posting of the legal acumen in the country so that the public may have proper guidance not only in the matter of interpretation of laws or the possibility of enacting or passing them in the Legislatures, but also to examine what effect any particular law which is in existence has on society.

I do not know, Sir, if many Members are aware that in the opinion of some people who have observed the administration of law in this land, the laws substantive as well as procedural which are essentially copied from the English enactments, which themselves are based on the Roman Law are not altogether akin to the genius of the Indian people. I have heard complaints about the way in which we have taken the Evidence Act. The Evidence Act, which is in force in India is considered to be one of the best enactments in the world. It is supposed to be fool-proof, and yet we are so clever at hair-splitting that by having recourse to the same act or as a result of having to administer the Evidence Act, we have made it serve the purpose lying cleverly as I think no other nation in the world has done. I personally feel, Sir, that it is necessary that we have an Evidence Act, which will suit our peculiar circumstances and social behaviour. In the same way I consider it necessary to fundamentally alter even the Criminal Procedure Code. All these things, Sir, in my humble opinion, require to be revised and considered from a very radical standpoint. Also it is necessary to examine how far the administration of law in the New India leads to the administration of justice. In many cases it is my experience—there are many people probably who are practising lawyers who share my feeling—that disproportionate sums of money and energy are spent on very trifling matters. Now that is one of the things which can also be examined by a Committee like this by recommending for instance that even paltry cases should be dealt with by Judges who are paid properly. We all know how cases of simple assault falling under Section 323 of the Indian Penal Code are dealt with by the Bench Magistrates. They drag on for weeks and weeks and sometimes take as long as nine months or a year and several hundreds of Rupees are spent by both sides. All that requires to be examined, Sir, because I think the law as it is administered today is not conducive to the welfare and well-being of the people and least conducive for teaching them to tell the truth. It always encourages falsehood and for that I think the legal profession is probably responsible. Thus not only in the interest and welfare of the people but also for improving the morals of our nation, I think there ought to be a Body which will examine from time to time not only the laws as they exist but the way in which they are administered. Probably, in making these remarks, I am expanding the scope of the Resolution, but I am sure, Sir, there would be no difficulty when we come to the appointment of the Statutory Committee itself to define more precisely as to what should be its exact functions. I would not mind if some of the suggestions I have made do not actually fall within the powers of that Committee, but I may agree with Sir Hari Singh Gour that however limited or wide the scope of the Committee may be, its reconstitution is absolutely necessary. I hope, Sir, therefore that the Honourable the Law Member would look at the Resolution kindly and accept it.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I also rise to support the Resolution. It is absolutely necessary to keep the law abreast of the times and for that purpose to have periodical revisions. Statute laws are more or less stiff and artificial, but the needs of society are growing every day, and Statute laws should be continuously kept up-to-date by periodical revision. The general grounds in support of the resolution, I may say, Sir, that have been ably and authoritatively placed before the House by the greatest exponent of law, namely, Sir Hari Singh Gour and it does not require to be repeated. I should like to draw the attention of the House to the serious anomalies and inconsistencies which exist in our laws today. The Independence of India Act has created an absolutely new situation. The adaptation of the Government of India Act has only touched a fringe of the changes necessary; it has effected changes only in the Government of India Act, but in the new set-up of things all our Statute laws require to be carefully and thoroughly recast to make them up-to-date. There are, as has been pointed out a large number of anomalies here and there between the various laws and they require to be corrected and the law simplified; the law of Procedure, the law of Evidence and other allied laws require to be simplified to make litigation cheaper, more expeditious and more effective. Then again, there is always likely to be an eternal conflict in a federated country like this between the Provincial and Central laws. There will always be a tendency, perhaps an unconscious one to encroach upon each others domains. This should require careful consideration to free them from conflicts. To do all these is not the work of a Department alone; it is rather the business of experts and a Law Revision Committee which is proposed will. I hope have such distinguished members as Sir Hari Singh Gour and the Honourable the Law Member and others. In my view, mere departmental routine procedure will not be able to effect the changes which are necessary in a progressive country like ours. With these few words, Sir, I support the Resolution.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): Mr. Chairman. I may at once say that the object of the Mover is quite laudable and that he has my full sympathy in the Motion that he has made. Sir, there is no doubt that periodical revisions of law in a modern society is an absolute necessity. When a popular Legislature engages itself in the task of legislation, touching every aspect of the society which it governs, there are bound to be created certain problems, which it is necessary for some expert legal body to examine and to rectify. First of all, it happens that a draftsman in order to put an idea in the form of a law suggests certain phraseology, which he thinks is appropriate and complete enough to embody the intention of the Legislature. In a certain stage the Judiciary and the Members of the profession find that the phraseology used by the draftsman is mistaken and does not carry the intent which the Legislature had. That problem therefore becomes a problem which somebody has got to look into and rectify to bring it in consonance with the original intention. It often happens that when a Legislature is engaged in a course of legislation over an extensive period certain inconsistencies unconsciously creep in. It is not always possible either for the draftsman or for the Legislature to examine every piece of legislation that is brought before it with a view to find out whether that piece of legislation is consistent with other legislation which has preceded it. Therefore in course of time these inconsistencies accumulate. They trouble lawyers, they trouble judges and they also trouble the litigating public. It also often happens that in modern times when a legislature is so busy that it is unable to give the whole of its time to codifying the whole of the law on a particular subject it tries to discharge its responsibilities by undertaking what we call fragmentary and piecemeal legislation. This accumulation of piecemeal and fragmentary legislation again in course of time creates a problem. People cannot understand what the law is and consequently a problem of codification arises. Therefore it needs no special pleading to suggest that a statute law revision committee is necessary. I think the Government of India long ago accepted the necessity of having a statute law revision committee. In fact as soon as the Montagu-Chelmsford reforms came into operation and when it was found that there was a popular legislature and that popular legislature was more likely to undertake legislation of social reform than the previous legislature had been likely to do, the Government of India pari passu and simultaneously with the introduction of the Montagu-Chelmsford reforms introduced and established what was called a Statutory Law Revision Committee in 1921. Therefore there is no difficulty in my accepting the underlying purpose which my Honourable friend Sir Hari Singh Gour has in mind, namely, that there should be a statute law revision committee. The only point of difference between him and me is whether we should forthwith proceed to establish a statute law revision committee that he has in mind or whether we should leave the matter to Government to think about the most appropriate time and the most appropriate machinery which could carry out the purpose which both he and myself have in mind.

[Dr. B. R. Ambedkar]

In regard to the Statutory Law Revision Committee of the type that was set up in 1921, I should like to inform the House of the work that it did and whether it could not have done something better. The Statute Law Revision Committee was appointed in 1921 and lasted up to 1932. After 1932 it died; whether it died a natural death or an unnatural death is not a matter which I propose to disquisition about. But I should like to tell the House that during these eleven years that the Committee was in session from time to time the work that it did was the codification of the Merchant Shipping Act, the Criminal Tribes Act, the Indian Succession Act, the Forests Act and the Tolls Act. Now, Sir, without any intention of casting any reflection upon the work of the Committee, I think it will be agreed that the production of five laws in a period of eleven years is certainly not an enormous piece of work which could be expected from a Committee of this kind. On the other hand when the Committee was dissolved and when the responsibility fell upon the Government of India to do the work which the Committee was appointed to do—if I may say so again without reflection on the work of the Committee or without trying to take any credit for the Legislative Department of the Government of India—the Acts produced after the Committee were the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, the Partnership Act, 1932, Factories Act, 1934, Tariff Act, 1934, Petroleum Act, 1934, Insurance Act, 1938, Motor Vehicles Act, 1938 and Arbitration Act, 1940. Any one who knows these Acts will admit that each one of them is an enormous piece of legislation. The reason why the Statute Law Revision Committee failed to fulfil the promise which it was expected to fulfil was that there was a great defect in the composition and constitution of that Committee. First of all, the Committee consisted of six members; it was elected mostly from members of the legislature. No doubt the members who were elected were elected purely on the basis of their legal knowledge and legal acumen, but in my judgment that was a pure accident. The Chairman of the Committee was the President of the Council of State. I fail to understand what virtue there was in appointing the President of the Council of State as Chairman of this Committee which, as all of us know, requires specialised legal knowledge.

The second difficulty about the Committee was that its members were not paid members. I do not wish to suggest that if members are not paid they do not discharge the duty which all people are conscientiously required to do. But it did happen, and it is a fact, that the Committee met very seldom. The members of the Committee having been drawn from the legislature met only during the sessions, and when they were asked that now that they were present in Delhi they might devote some portion of their time to the discharge of their functions as members of the Statute Law Revision Committee, all of them pleaded that their legislative work was more important than the work of the Committee. At the end of the sessions all of them naturally repaired to their homes in order to perform either their personal or their professional duties. The result was that the Committee was not able to devote all the time that it was expected to devote. Now obviously my Honourable friend Sir Hari Singh Gour will agree that if his purpose is to be carried out we must have an altogether different sort of Committee. It is no use having a Committee of the sort that we had and which, for the reasons I have mentioned, did not fulfil the functions with which it was charged.

Now, Sir, there are two ways, in my judgment, of doing the thing. First of all we might have a permanent Commission sitting for no other purpose except that of revising and codifying the statute. Secondly, if it is to be a permanent body it undoubtedly must be a body of experts who know their job. And I think every one will agree that if experts are to be called away from their professions we must make it worth their while to come and serve on the Committee. Obviously it is a matter of cost. That being so, it is not possible for me to say off-hand that without examining the question of cost it will be possible for Government to say here and now that we shall agree to appoint a Statute Law Revision Committee of any sort that might be suggested either by Sir Hari Singh Gour or by any other member of the legislature.

There is also another way of carrying the purpose into practice. That might be by the appointment of a small standing committee consisting of the Law Minister of the Government of India, a Judge of the Federal Court, the Advocate-General of India, one or two Judges of the High Courts in India and two or three eminent lawyers. The Committee might be asked to sit at stated periods of the year and a person from the Law Department of the Government of India may be deputed to act as a Secretary, to collect the information and to place it before the Committee for the Committee to take notice of what might be done.

As I say these are various ways of carrying the purpose into effect. That as I said requires time and examination and it is not possible for the Government, besieged as it is with an infinity of problems of all kinds to find time for the work which it will have to do if I were to accept the resolution of Sir Hari Singh Gour with the immediacy with which I believe he has charged it. Therefore, what I would like to suggest is this: that Sir Hari Singh Gour would realise that so far as the ultimate purpose is concerned, there is no difference of opinion between me and him. Both of us are agreed that this is a matter which the Government of India ought to take into consideration. The only difference is when and how, and that is a matter on which he need not press the Government for the immediate issue. Therefore my suggestion is this: that as I have given a reply which meets more than half the ground on which he stands, I think he will agree that it will be gracious on his part to withdraw it.

Dr. Sir Hari Singh Gour: I am obliged to the Honourable the Law Minister for giving me half a loaf and still keeping me standing for the other half

[Dr. Sir Hari Singh Gour]

The position is this. I am not myself enamoured of the prestine Law Statutory Committee. I have only mentioned it that it was the precursor of the kind of Committee I have in mind but do not ask for a duplication of that kind of Committee, but merely the kind of Committee we should now constitute. Sir, that Committee was constituted for revising the law and I happen to remember that that Committee drew the attention of the Government of India to the fact that there was in reality and in law, the law of extritoriality applicable to all Europeans—not Englishmen, but all Europeans, and a special chapter was enacted in the Code of Criminal Procedure for the trial of such Europeans. Honourable Members know what is the meaning of that chapter. They were liable to be tried by their own countrymen and by a jury of their own fellow-countrymen and I do not know whether Honourable Members know the notorious case of O'Hara who killed an Indian and was ordered to be sentenced, and the whole regiment rose up in revolt against it. And thereafter the Government of India became wise and never tried a European in any case however serious.

When the Statute Law Revision Committee was in existence, the attention of this House was drawn to the fact that this obnoxious law, creating extritorial jurisdiction in favour of Europeans must be abrogated and a special Committee was appointed, and after long long periods of promises and confabulations, we came to a compromise and that compromise was embodied in the new Criminal Procedure Code.

Now, Sir, the Honourable the Law Minister has talked of the work that is being done by the Law Department of the Government of India. Most of the work that is done by the Government of India is to collect more money, but it was not the work of a character which would commend itself to this House. I should have expected, Sir, that after the Europeans had left India and the Indian Independence Act came into law on the 15th August, the first step they would take would be to repeal that chapter dealing with Europeans in India. Is there a single Honourable Member who thinks that they could have done less than what was absolutely necessary for the purpose of safeguarding the rights of the people of India and establishing a uniform state of criminal law in the country? What have they done? Nothing. The Europeans are gone but their privileges remain. They are still enshrined in a chapter of the code of criminal procedure.

Sir, the Honourable Minister has asked me to take his assurances and wait and see. I am afraid I am not prepared to wait and see such things as these for the honour of my country and for the honour of my countrymen. I cannot stand any longer the stamping by a European as a superior race and having his own laws and his own jury to try him. If the Government had taken timely steps to rectify this law I should have got up and thanked him for doing a public service for stamping out this large blot of criminal procedure which still stands as an eye-sore to me and an eye-sore to my fellow-countrymen in this country.

There are other Acts of the Indian Legislature. Lord Macaulay, when he drafted the Act of 1860, and it became the Penal Law, he had enacted a most drastic Act, the like of which India and the civilized world has never seen. In the report of the Select Committee he pointed out that:

"I have provided punishments to a people who are still in a primitive state of civilization. But I hope that when they emerge from that stage, the sentences that I have enacted in this Code will be revised."

These are the words of Lord Macaulay and this is the promise given by the Select Committee that made the Penal Code of India. What has been done? When this Statute Law Revision Committee was in being, it was pointed out to the Government of India that the sentences which the Penal Code has enacted were in many cases not only prohibitively cruel but Draconian in their construction and tone, and as the author of the Penal Code promised, this would be compromised.

I would not like to detain this House one moment longer than is necessary but let the Honourable Members take my word for it that the Indian Penal Code requires as much revision as the Code of Criminal Procedure, and so far as such other laws of India are concerned, some of my Honourable friends have pointed out and referred to the Indian Independence Act, and I am quite sure that if I had more time I should have given further details of the various Acts of the Indian legislature which the Statute Law Revision Committee should revise—revise because it is the master of itself and it is not dictated to by a gentleman sitting in Whitehall, following the policy of the British Cabinet and not subservient to the wishes of the people of India. It is for this reason that I am afraid to wait and see. I hope the Honourable the Law Minister will take a reasonable time. I am not for a moment asking him that the Statutory Law Revision Committee should be brought into existence tomorrow and that it should finish its work the next day. What I do want is that there must be an earnest beginning to start the work of the Law Revision Committee. You can appoint a Secretary and you can appoint a Judge of the Federal Court. I am not sure about the Advocate General and the rest. But you can appoint men with legal talent and ability to do the work and collect materials to be laid before the Statute Law Revision Committee. I think, Sir, if this is done we shall have made a good beginning but in the meantime I wish to point out that the Criminal Procedure Code contains most obnoxious provisions in favour of Europeans, which were enacted at the time when the British were masters of this country and which the previous Assembly amended as a weak compromise, because they could do no more, be immediately repaired. We are not now in the region of compromises. We therefore ask the Law Minister to remove from the Code of Criminal Procedure this provision in favour of Europeans. I would ask them to see the report that preceded the enactment of the Indian Penal Code about what I have said regarding the denunciation of crimes and sentences which require to be revised. One hundred years have passed: the Government of India have done nothing. One hundred years have passed, their attention was drawn and has been drawn from time to time to these facts but I do not blame the Government of India of the pre-August days but I ask the Government of India of post-August days, what have they done and what has their department done to establish the real independence of this country?

Honourable Members know that when the Roman Republic was established the first thing that it did was to codify their laws. The laws of Justinian, Gaius and Ulpian etc. are the standard books prescribed for law examinations up to date. I hope we shall follow the great example of the Roman Republic and try to codify our laws, so that future generations in this and all countries of Asia and Europe may follow them as their safe and reliable textbooks. These are the things which I should expect the Law Department of the Government of India to do.

Law is the main branch of a state. It is not a minor branch: it is the main branch. The administration of the country depends upon the administration of its laws and the administration of laws depends upon their provisions which the judges are called upon to administer. Therefore I suggest, as my Honourable friend to my right has pointed out, that we should have immediately a Statute Law Revision Committee. Appoint a Secretary and give him the work of preparing a brief for the use of the Statutory Law Revision Committee. As to the composition of the Committee I am quite sure that the Honourable the Law Minister will consult the wishes of this House and will appoint such a committee as will command the confidence of this House.

[Shri H. V. Kamath]

moved. Then I hope and would request the Honourable Minister of Health to make a statement as regards the policy of the Government in this regard.

Mr. Chairman: Resolution moved:

"That this Assembly is of opinion that the State should actively promote and foster research, on a scientific basis, into the ancient Indian system of Ayurveda."

The Honourable Member has expressed his desire to withdraw the Resolution. May I know if the House is pleased to grant leave to the Honourable Member to withdraw the Resolution?

Some Honourable Members: Yes, yes.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States group): Sir, the Honourable Member has moved a Resolution which is now before the House. At the beginning itself it was repeatedly asked of him whether he wanted to move it or not. He said that he wanted to move it and he has now done so. That is what has taken place. In these circumstances I do not know whether he can immediately, after making his speech in support of the motion, say 'I want to withdraw the motion'. It is of course for the House, I think, after hearing any statement of the Honourable Minister, to allow it to be withdrawn. But for the same Member to move a resolution and immediately thereafter to withdraw it is, I think, a procedure which should not be encouraged.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena (U.P.: General): Since there is another Resolution to come, the Honourable Member may be allowed to withdraw it.

Mr. Chairman: It is certainly an unusual procedure for an Honourable Member to insist first of all that he is out to move a resolution and then, in the course of the same speech, to say that he is not pressing it. But at the same time I do not see that any advantage would be gained if the House does not agree to give him leave. That is why I put the question before the House that if it gives him leave, he will be allowed to withdraw the resolution.

Shri H. V. Kamath: I asked permission for withdrawing it only after moving the resolution.

Mr. Chairman: You cannot do so in the same speech. You cannot in the same breath blow hot and cold. Does the House give leave to the Honourable Member to withdraw his Resolution?

The Resolution was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

RESOLUTION RE TRAINING OF PERSONNEL FOR A NATIONAL MERCANTILE MARINE

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I beg to move the following Resolution:

"This Assembly is of opinion that immediate steps be taken by the Government of India for expanding the facilities for training in various branches of mercantile marine services so as to ensure an adequate and efficient personnel for a national mercantile marine."

In view of the shortness of time, I shall not go into the details which I have prepared for this occasion. The position today is this. Out of the total world tonnage of 66 millions, the United States of America has 34 million tons and the United Kingdom and Dominions 15 million tons, while India has 25, that is 250,000 tons, and even for this small mercantile marine we have not got enough personnel, and today, even though you buy ships, you may spend money but you cannot man the ships. That is the position today and the only institution for training officers is the Dufferin which gives us 25 executive officers and 25 engineers per year, and out of these 50, 15 drop off owing to many reasons, so that only 35 officers are being produced every year. These officers are not sufficient to man even the small mercantile marine which we have today. Sir, in the report of the Reconstruction Policy Committee on shipping it has been recommended that India should aim to have within the next seven years 2 million tons. If we are to have 2 million tons of shipping, we must have nearly 4,000 officers, that is to say we must annually produce 200 officers, and if we allow for wastage and reserve, we must produce at least 125 executive officers per year and 125 engineer officers. For this purpose, we want to have a real institute, a mercantile marine institute which will have nearly 500 to 600 students during the whole course. Therefore I suggest to the Honourable Minister in charge that he should take immediate steps to establish such an institute so that it will give all the officers that we need as early as possible. It has been suggested to me that there is already in the Trombay island near Bombay, which is 8 miles distant from Bombay by sea and 18 miles by road, naval barracks which will accommodate this very institute so that the Government of India need not go into further expenditure, and therefore I do suggest that the Government should take steps to acquire this place and start this institute, and if necessary expand it further.

TRAINING OF PERSONNEL FOR A NATIONAL MERCANTILE MARINE

1111

There is also one other point which I would like to suggest, that is there are no coaching facilities for these officers for higher certificates, and immediate steps should be taken to provide these facilities. The Maritime Union of India is taking some steps to provide these facilities, but in response to their application for a grant the Government of India have not helped them so far. I hope the new Government that has come into being will do its part not only to build up the institute which I have suggested, but also to provide all facilities for our students to get the highest possible certificates. Now they have to go to London for many of the higher certificates. I think sufficient provision should be made in this country for them to get all certificates so that they need not be dependent upon foreign facilities. Sir, I do not want to take up the time of the House because I am more anxious that the Minister should have an opportunity to give us the necessary assurance for this purpose than that I should go into this question in any detail. I think that a small expert committee should be appointed to give the Government a proper scheme for training the requisite number of officers, and they should also take steps not only to get officers, but also to train the men and, to train all the ancillary services so that large numbers of our people may take their due share in our shipping and so that we can have an adequate mercantile marine. It is only when we have an adequate mercantile marine we can provide for our naval defence. It is no use merely depending on naval units. During the war it was the mercantile marine of the United States of Britain that came to the assistance of the Government. Their merchant ships were converted into naval units: all their officers were drafted into the Navy. Similarly it is only if we have a large number of trained personnel in our mercantile marine that when there is war or other difficulty we can get enough number of officers and seamen. Therefore I commend this resolution, Sir, and I hope it will be unanimously accepted by the House.

Mr. Chairman: Resolution moved:

"This Assembly is of opinion that immediate steps be taken by the Government of India for expanding the facilities for training in various branches of mercantile marine services so as to ensure an adequate and efficient personnel for a national mercantile marine."

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Mr. Chairman, I am very much obliged to my Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam for having given me an opportunity to enunciate the policy of the Government with respect to the matter raised in this Resolution. I want to say in the beginning that Government accept this resolution. Having done that, I just want to give very briefly some facts which will go to show that the

[Dr. Sir Hari Singh Gour]

Sir, I am very glad that this subject has come before this House. I am very glad that it has awakened the minds of many people to the dire necessity of amending our laws out of self-respect to ourselves. If I understand the Honourable Minister to carry out the purpose of my resolution I am glad to withdraw it.

Mr. Chairman: Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw the Resolution?

The resolution was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

RESOLUTION RE INDIAN STATES (PROTECTION AGAINST DISAFFECTION) ACT

Shri Jainarain Vyas (Jodhpur State): Sir, I have tabled a resolution to repeal the Princes Protection Act of 1922 and the States Protection Act of 1934. These obnoxious pieces of legislation were not liked by the members of this House when they were introduced as Bills and they were vehemently opposed. As a matter of fact the Princes Protection Act of 1922 was not permitted to be introduced in this House and had to be certified by the then Viceroy, Lord Reading. The other Act of 1934 was also strongly opposed among others by Mr. Gadgil, who is now a Minister, Sir Hari Singh Gour, Mr. Neogy and others and as such these Acts should not be on the statute book of free India. But I understand that the Govt. of India has asked the members of the Laws Enquiry Committee to go into this matter and to recommend whether these acts should be repealed or amended. Since the Government is acting in the matter I do not think it will serve any purpose if I move this resolution in this House. I hope the Government would not allow these acts to remain on the Statute Book or let these acts disfigure the statute book of Free India. Sir, I do not want to move my resolution.

RESOLUTION RE SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH INTO AYURVEDA SYSTEM OF MEDICINE

Shri H. V. Kamath (C. P. and Berar: General): Sir, since I sent in my resolution on the subject of Ayurveda I have learnt from the Honourable the Minister of Health that the Government of India adopted a very similar resolution late last year and have travelled a long way in the direction of implementing the same. At an All-India Health Conference convened in October.....

Mr. Chairman: If the Honourable Member does not want to move the resolution I do not think the speech is permissible. Either he moves the resolution or does not: there is no third course.

Shri H. V. Kamath: In that case, I shall formally move the resolution. I want to say why I am withdrawing it.

Mr. Chairman: Let the Honourable Member first move the resolution and then make his speech.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Sir, I move:

"This Assembly is of opinion that the State should actively promote and foster research, on a scientific basis, into the ancient Indian system of Ayurveda."

It is needless for me to expatiate on the need for the State, for the Government of Free India, to undertake scientific research into our indigenous systems of medicine. Ayurveda has been a system which was looked upon by our ancient doctors, sages and seers not merely as a science of medicine but as a Veda, rather as the Fifth Veda. That is why it was called Ayur Veda. After the four Vedas this science was exalted to the position of a Fifth Veda. It is well known how this system flourished in ancient times and spread not merely in India but in countries abroad as well. They say that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. In the days preceding the War I came across a German pharmaceutical company who used to manufacture Ayurvedic drugs. They were using the same name and putting them on the German market. For instance Maharashwaj was put on the Berlin market by a German manufacturing concern and it was very popular in Germany as well as in the rest of Europe. This is only one instance among many others to show the efficacy and the popularity of the system of Ayurveda. Unfortunately this science later on fell into the hands of quacks perhaps and therefore it got into disrepute. The science of Ayurveda got shrouded in mystery, as also the science of Hathayoga. I am mentioning Hathayoga because that formed part of the science of physiology and anatomy which our doctors knew and practised in the olden times. These two systems of Ayurveda and Hathayoga were interwoven and very intimately connected because anatomy and physiology are ancillary and essential to any system of medicine. Today Western doctors are amazed at the knowledge that our doctors, our Hathayogis, our ancient physicians had developed and treasured in their books. I hope, Sir, that with the new Government in office, with a Government of Free India in office, there will be a renaissance of our culture in all directions, a comprehensive renaissance, or a multi-petaled flower of the Indian culture as Rabindranath Tagore very often used to emphasize. This renaissance has been taking place for the last one hundred years or more and we have evolved through various stages in spite of our social degradation, in spite of our political slavery and in spite of a hundred and one obstacles that have beset our onward path to freedom. It is fortunate, Sir, that we have ultimately arrived at our goal, but we cannot afford to rest on our oars. We have to use this freedom as a means to an end, a means to the happiness of the people, the physical, mental and spiritual happiness of the individual as well as of society. If Ayurveda is encouraged, fostered and promoted by the state, it will not merely revive our ancient science, but it will also open up avenues of trade and commerce with foreign countries. There will also be an outlet for the energies of our people, and increase in our foreign trade. It is needless for me to say that our products, even our tooth pastes like Kopran and Neem, are sold in Europe and America at the present day, and if these Ayurvedic products are put on the market after scientific research on proper lines I have no doubt in my mind that they will open up large avenues of trade and commerce to our country.

I am gratified to note that this Government did adopt a very similar resolution late last year, in October 1946 to be exact. At an All-India Health Conference convened by the Government of India—the then just installed Interim Government of India—at which conference were present Provincial as well as Central representatives, a resolution was unanimously adopted that—

"In accordance with the recommendations of the National Planning Committee this Health Conference resolves that adequate provision should be made in the Centre and the Provinces for research in and application of the scientific method of investigation of the indigenous systems of medicine like Ayurveda and Unani with reference to the maintenance of health and the prevention and cure of disease;

Further for starting schools and colleges for training for diploma and degree courses in indigenous systems of medicine;

And for post-graduate courses in Indian medicine for graduates in Western medicine."

Subsequent to this I am glad to learn that Government have set up a Committee to implement this Resolution and the report of this Committee is scheduled to be out and before us by the end of February 1948. That day is not very far off and when the report is presented to us we will have an opportunity of discussing the entire matter afresh with very many new ideas before us. I thought that at this stage there would not be much point in pressing this Resolution of mine. That is what I wanted to say, but unfortunately, Sir you were pleased to hold otherwise. Even now, if you permit me to withdraw the resolution I shall do so. Otherwise you may please treat it as having been

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Wednesday the 3rd December 1947.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

DECLARATION BY MEMBERS

The following Members made the Declaration under Rule 50—

Saiyid Mohd. Saadulla; and Kumararaja Sir M. A. Muthiah Chettiyar.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

EMPLOYMENT OF SCHOLARS RETURNED FROM ABROAD

540. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state how many Government scholars sent to foreign countries for advanced studies have returned to India so far?

(b) What are these specialists doing now in India?

(c) How do the Government of India propose to utilise the specialised knowledge of these scholars?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : سنہ ۱۹۴۵ء اور سنہ ۱۹۴۶ء میں

(الف) جو سٹڈنٹس گورنمنٹ نے ۱۷ سکالرز سلیڈر پار کی ٹریننگ کے لئے بھیجئے تھے ان

میں سے تین ٹریننگ ختم کر کے واپس آگئے ہیں۔

(ب) ایک سٹیٹمنٹ ہاؤس کے ٹیبل پر رکھا جاتا ہے۔ جسمیں کہ یہ درج ہے کہ وہ

ہندوستان میں اب کیا کرتے ہیں۔ اور جہاں ضرورت محسوس کی گئی ہے انکے

واپس آنے کے وجوہات بھی اس میں درج ہیں۔

(ج) جو سکالرز ٹریننگ ختم کر کے واپس آئیں انکو پہلے ان منسٹریوں میں لیا

جایگا جنہوں نے کہ انکو مختلف ٹریننگ کے لئے چنا تھا۔ اس کے بعد دوسری

منسٹریوں کا انکی خدمات حاصل کرنے کا حق ہوگا۔ اس کے علاوہ اگر حکومت

ہند کو انکی خدمات کی فوراً ہی ضرورت نہ ہو اور وہ اسوجہ سے کہ انکے سکیم

تب تک مکمل نہ ہوئے ہوں تو ان کو پراونشیل گورنمنٹس یونیورسٹی ہاؤس

ٹیکنیکل انسٹی ٹیوٹس کی ضروریات کے مطابق بھرتی کیا جائیگا۔ جہاں تک

پراونشیل سکالرز کا تعلق ہے یہ پراونشیل گورنمنٹس کی ذمہ داری ہے کہ وہ ان کو

مناسب آسامیوں پر بھرتی کریں اگر وہ ایسا نہ کرسکیں تو ان کی خدمات حکومت

ہند حاصل کرلیتی ہے۔ اسوقت تک صرف ایک ہی کیس ایسا ہوا ہے جہاں

کہ پراونشیل گورنمنٹ ایک سکالر کو بھرتی نہیں کرسکی اور اب حکومت ہند

اسکو مناسب جگہ پر بھرتی کرنے کی کوشش کر رہی ہے۔

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

urgency of this question has not escaped the attention of the Government. Only a few days ago the Honourable Mr. Bhabha, while addressing the Conference of representatives of shipping interests, stated that it has been accepted by the Government that the target for the increase in Indian tonnage for the coming five years would be 2 million tons. It is obvious that this is not enough unless there is properly trained personnel to run our ships. My friend, the Honourable Mr. Santhanam, has given some idea as to the number that would be required in order to run efficiently this tonnage. Very hurriedly for obvious reasons he gave a picture in which a complete scheme for training the entire personnel was visualized. In this connection I might bring to the notice of my friend the Honourable Mr. Santhanam, as well as the House, that in order to see that the Indian tonnage is not only increased but the shipping industry is owned, managed and run by Indians, the principle having been accepted, the Government have appointed a small committee, as has been visualized by my friend Mr. Santhanam, consisting of Captain H. L. Davis, Dr. S. R. Sen Gupta, and Mr. M. A. Master of the Scindia Steam Navigation Company.

This small Committee has been asked to report as early as possible and the Terms of Reference are so wide that I am sure they will satisfy every Member of this House; for, they embrace among other things—

“(a) To consider what measures can usefully be taken :—

- (i) to expand the existing facilities for preliminary training of cadets for sea-service; and
- (ii) to provide higher stages of training in navigation and engineering to prepare candidates for Board of Trade or equivalent certificates;

(b) The Committee will also examine and report as to :—

- (i) whether for the purposes of higher training an independent Nautical College should be run or whether Nautical Classes should be opened in the existing Government or private institutions;
 - (ii) whether such a Nautical College should train for Ship Surveyor's Course and “Extra” examinations besides for ordinary certificates of competency;
 - (iii) whether such a College could undertake to train Nautical Surveyors, Engineer and Ship Surveyors and Examiners of Engineers and Masters and Mates for the Mercantile Marine Departments;
 - (iv) whether and if so what arrangements should be made for the holding of Extra Master's and Extra First Class Engineer's examinations in India;
 - (v) whether facilities for higher training should be provided to only those cadets who take advantage of the preliminary training scheme or to all candidates who come forward for such training;
 - (vi) what method should be adopted for the selection of candidates for higher training;
 - (vii) what fees should be charged for higher training;
 - (viii) what should be the length of course of and the curriculum for higher training; and
 - (ix) what arrangements should be made for the recruitment of coaching staff required for the Nautical College.
- (c) The Committee will be competent to make such other recommendations as seem germane to the subject.”

You will see, Mr. Chairman, that the Terms of Reference are so wide that nothing more can be included in the same. At the same time, Sir, the Proceedings of this House covering the discussion on this particular subject, I promise to forward to the Chairman of the Committee for such consideration as he may consider necessary. I also earnestly request those Members who have taken a keen interest in this subject to make such useful and constructive suggestions as they can to the Chairman of the Committee directly, or if they so desire they may forward them to Commerce Ministry which will forward them to the Chairman of this Committee.

I agree with my friend Mr. Santhanam that there is another aspect which is far more important than merely manning the Mercantile Marine. In times of war this staff is bound to be taken over for the purpose of defence—in other words, this is the second line of our Naval defence. From that point of view all I can say is that cost will not be a consideration in evolving any scheme which will secure an adequate number for running the ships the target of which has been very recently fixed at 2 million tons in the coming five years.

I do not think I should detain the House any more but once more I want to thank my friend Mr. Santhanam for having given this opportunity to Government to clarify the position, I hope to the satisfaction of the whole House.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): When is the Committee's Report likely to be available?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: As early as possible but within six months.

Shri M. S. Aney: When was the Committee appointed?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: About a fortnight ago.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C. P. and Berar: General): On a point of information, Sir, may I know whether the Board of Trade Examination which is now held for all these purposes in England will also be instituted in India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is a matter on which the Committee will certainly report, and if it does, my friend may rest assured that the Government will accept their recommendations.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I have no desire to take up the time of the House and would gladly forward my own suggestions to the Committee. I am grateful to the Government for accepting this Resolution and I hope this Committee will be asked to expedite its proceedings and come to effective conclusions as early as possible and I hope that as soon as the conclusions have been received by the Government, the Honourable Minister will not take much time and will come to a final decision as early as possible so that there will be no more delay in training the necessary personnel for our Mercantile Marine. Sir, I hope House will unanimously accept the Resolution.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

“This Assembly is of opinion that immediate steps be taken by the Government of India for expanding the facilities for training in various branches of mercantile marine services so as to ensure an adequate and efficient personnel for a national mercantile marine.”

The Motion was adopted.

श्री० राम सहाय: सभापति महोदय, डाक्टर पट्टाभी ने जो रेज्यूलेशन नेशनल मिलीशिया के बारे में पेश किया था और उस के सिलसिले में डिफेंस मिनिस्टर साहब ने जो आश्वासन दिया था उसको देखते हुए मैं अपना रेज्यूलेशन पेश नहीं करता हूँ।

Shri Ram Sahai: Mr. Chairman, in view of the assurance given by the Honourable the Defence Minister in connection with the resolution moved by Dr. Pattabhi regarding National Militia, I do not move my resolution.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Wednesday, the 3rd December 1947.

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) From the Central Government scholars sent under the Central Overseas Scholarships Scheme, 17 of the 1945 batch and three of the 1946 batch have so far returned to India after completion of their training abroad.

(b) A statement giving the names of these scholars with a summary of the work they are doing in India and the reasons of return, where necessary, is placed on the table of the House.

(c) The services of a scholar on return, after completion of his training abroad, will in the first instance be placed at the disposal of the Ministry against whose requirements he was selected; other Ministries of the Government of India will have a second claim on him, if, however, the Government of India do not immediately require his services owing to the fact that their development plans have not materialised or have not been given effect to, he will be placed at the disposal of a Provincial Government, University, Technical Institution or industry according to their needs and demands.

So far as Provincial scholars are concerned, it is the responsibility of the Provincial Government concerned to place the returned scholars suitably. In case they are unable to do so, the services of the returned scholars are to be placed at the disposal of the Government of India. So far there has been only one such case where the Provincial Government has not been able to utilise the services of a trained scholar and the Government of India are endeavouring to place him in a suitable post.

Statement Showing the Position of Employment of Returning Scholars

1945 Batch

1. Tarapada Bandopadhyay Has specialised in Electro-Chemistry. The case was referred to the S/Ministry (I. & S.) who are trying to utilise him in one of the leading industries. Meanwhile he has joined his previous post.
2. K. R. Nair. Employed by F. R. I. Dehra Dun as a Statician.
3. V. Ranganathan F. R. I. have employed him.
4. A. S. Sharma I. & S. Ministry have employed him.
5. R. C. Sharma Returned due to ill health and is in sanatorium.
6. M. N. Verma Returned to India before completion of studies due to family circumstances.
7. B. N. Singh Has been asked to apply to National Physical Laboratories.
8. R. N. Merchant Returned due to ill health before completion of studies
9. N. L. Pal Has been asked to apply to F. P. S. C. for a post in I. A. R. I. Meanwhile has joined his previous post.
10. D. Hanmant Rao Efforts are being made to secure post in Delhi Polytechnic.
11. U. K. Patwardhan Case referred to Railway Board.
12. P. P. Bhatnagar Case referred to Ministry of Defence.
13. C. L. Nayar Case referred to Ministry of Defence.
14. M. V. Mathew The Ministry of Finance wished to interview the scholar but they have not so far intimated the date and time of interview and the post which they wish to offer. The Ministry of Finance have been reminded to let us have full particulars.
2. The Governments of Bombay and C. P. and Berar have also been addressed but have not so far replied.
15. Dr. K. C. Gulati The Ministry of Agriculture are being asked whether his services can be utilised in the I. A. R. I. or the Forest Research Institute, Dehra Dun.
16. Dr. D. N. Mullick This scholar has resumed his previous appointment at the I. V. R. I.

Izatnagar he has applied for the post of Animal Physiologist at the I.V.R.I. The F. P. S. C. has summoned the candidate for interview on 14th November 1947. Further developments are awaited.

17. Dr. Guruswamy The Ministry of I. & S. have been addressed but have not so far sent reply. The Ministry of Defence are also being consulted.

1946 Batch

1. Mrs. Sally Lewis Mrs. Sally Lewis expressed her desire to rejoin her former post in the Bengal Government to which we have agreed. Probably she has joined by now.
2. Mr. Inder Singh Was selected for Plastics against the requirement of I. & S. Ministry. He returned in September 1947 after completing one year's theoretical course and could not get facilities for practical training. His case was referred to the I. & S. Ministry. They have asked for particulars of this scholar. Particulars are awaited from U.S.A. In the meantime his case for Lecturer's post was referred to Delhi Polytechnic and they have agreed to consider his case provided that he applies for the post as and when advertisement appears in the press. The Scholar is being informed of the same. His case is also being referred to the Agriculture Ministry for certain posts of Chemist which will be filled up at Pusa Institute.
3. Mr. S. L. Bannerjee His case was referred to the S/Ministry for employment. No confirmation has so far been received. Reminder is being issued in this respect.

सेठ गेविन्द दास : क्या मैं माननीय मिनिस्टर साहब से पूछ सकता हूँ कि जितने स्कालर्स अब तक दूसरे देशों से वापस आए हैं उनमें से कोई भी ऐसे हैं जो काम पर नहीं लगाए गए हैं और हिन्दुस्तान में हैं ?

Seth Govinddas: May I know from the Honourable Minister that out of the scholars who have since returned from foreign countries if there are any whose services have not yet been utilized and are in India?

انریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : آپ کو اسکی تفصیل سٹیٹمنٹ سے معلوم ہوگی۔ لیکن میں اپنی یادداشت سے یہ بتا سکتا ہوں کہ جو ٹریننگ کرے آئے تھے انکو لگایا گیا ہے۔ اور جو ابھی تک نہیں لگے ہیں انکے لئے کوشش کی جارہی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: You will find its details from the statement. But I can tell you from my memory that those who had returned after completion of their training have been provided for and endeavours are being made for those who are still unemployed.

श्री० एच० वी कामथ : क्या वजीर साहब यह बता सकेंगे कि इन स्कालर्स में से कितने अमरीका भेजे गए थे, कितने इंग्लैण्ड गए और कितने अन्य मुल्कों में ?

Shri H. V. Kamath: Will the Honourable Minister please state as to how many of these scholars were sent to the United States of America and England: and how many to other countries?

انریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : یہ تو میں نے ابھی آپ کو بتادیا ہے کہ یہ سب تفصیل آپکو اسٹیٹمنٹ سے معلوم ہوگی اور یہ سٹیٹمنٹ ہاؤس کے ٹیبل پر رکھ دیا گیا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: I have already stated that you will find all these details in the statement; which has been placed on the table of the House.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Will Government be pleased to state how much money Government have spent on their education so far?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : آپکو اسکے بارے میں تفصیل سٹیٹمنٹ میں معلوم ہوگی۔

اور وہ سٹیٹمنٹ ہاؤس کے ٹیبل پر رکھ دیا گیا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: You will find the details in the statement that has been placed on the table of the House.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Will Government be pleased to state how many far are unemployed?

Mr. Speaker: That has already been answered.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Will Government be pleased to state the number of Scheduled Castes that were sent abroad for education?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : اس کے لئے نوٹس چاہیئے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: A notice is required for this.

Shri S. Nagappa: In view of the fact that sending students to foreign countries costs more to the students as well as to the Government, will Government consider the desirability of starting such specialised subjects in India itself and see that more training is given to more people

سری : میہیر لال چٹوپادھیای : ممبر ساہب کیا مہاراجا کر کے بتاؤ گے کہ جیہڑے باہر بھیجا جاتا ہے انہیں Provincial basis پر بھیجا جاتا ہے یا All India basis پر بھیجا جاتا ہے۔

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: Will the Honourable Member please state whether those who are sent abroad are sent either on Provincial or All India Basis?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : جو سکیم ہندوستان سے سکالرس کو باہر توپینگ کے لئے بھیجا جاتا ہے وہ دو قسم کا ہے ایک وہ جو حکومت ہند خود سلیکٹ کر کے سنٹرل گورنمنٹ سے بھیجتی ہے دوسرے وہ جو پراونشیل گورنمنٹ کے آدمیوں کو وظائیف دینے جاتے ہیں انکا Selection بھی حکومت ہند ہی کرتی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The scheme for sending the scholars for training abroad falls under two categories, viz., one where the selection is made by the Government of India itself and the scholars are sent by the Central Government; and the other where the scholarships are granted to the Provincial scholars whose selection is also made by the Government of India.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if there is any record being kept of the performance of these students both abroad during training and after their return to India?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : ہاں متعلقہ منسٹری اسکا پورا ریکارڈ رکھتی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Yes. The Ministry concerned keeps a full record in this connection.

پروفیسر شیببنلال سکسنا : جو ویڈیو ہمارے سرکاری ریکارڈ سے باہر اس وقت ویڈیو میں پڑ رہے ہیں انکی سنکھا کتنی ہے؟

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: What is the present number of our students receiving training abroad who have been sent on Government expense?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : اسکے لئے نوٹس چاہیئے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: A notice would be required for this.

ڈاکٹر پی۔ س۔ دیشموکھ : آگلی سال کتنے ویڈیو باہر بھیجے جانے والے ہیں؟

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: What is the number of students expected to be sent abroad during the ensuing year?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : اسکے متعلق دو کمیٹیاں مقرر ہوئی ہیں اور وہ اس پر غور کر رہی ہیں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Two Committees have been formed in this connection and they are considering over this.

سری راجکرنن بوس کیا وزیر ساہب کہہ سکتے ہیں کہ یہ جو تالوا کے لیے سٹیڈس ہیں انمیں سے کتنے سٹیڈس آدیواسیوں کے لیے reserve ہیں؟

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister please state the number of seats reserved for the Depressed Classes out of the total seats provided for these students.

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : انمیں کوئی بھی نہیں ہے۔ جو Qualified طلبا ملے تو انکو وظائیف دئے جاتے ہیں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: There is none amongst them. If qualified students are available, they are granted scholarships.

IMPORT OF FOREIGN EXPERTS FOR TRAINING OF STUDENTS IN INDIA

541. Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the growing opposition for sending students to foreign countries for advanced studies; and

(b) whether Government propose to consider the opinions expressed by many experts to get specialists from foreign countries for giving training to our students in India?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : (الف) اسوقت حکومت کے کوئی سامنے اس

قسم کی بات نہیں ہے۔ جس سے یہ پتہ چلے کہ کوئی "growing opposition to the sending of students to foreign countries for advanced studies" ہو رہی ہے۔ لیکن حکومت متحسوس کر رہی ہے۔ کہ موجودہ سنڈر پار کے وظائیف

کی سکیم میں کسی حد تک کچھ سقم ہے۔ خاص defect یہ ہے کہ بجائے اپنے موجودہ training centres اور institutions وغیرہ کی طرف دھیان دیا جائے اور باہر سے experts منگائے جائیں جو کہ یہاں پر ہمارے ان training centres اور institutions

نے پتہ لگایا ہے۔ اسوقت صرف طلبا کو باہر بھیجنے پر ہی دھیان دیا جا رہا ہے۔ ان ہی باتوں کو درست کرنے کے لئے حکومت نے دو کمیٹیاں مقرر کیں جنکے نام یہ ہیں۔ "Dr. B. C. Roy's Committee"

اور "Scientific Manpower Enquiry Committee"۔ یہ از سر نو سنڈر پار کے وظائیف دئے جانے پر غور کرینگے۔ ان دونوں کمیٹیوں نے اپنی interim رپورٹیں حکومت کے پاس بھیج دی ہیں۔ اور وہ حکومت کے زیر غور ہیں۔ حکومت سنڈر

پار کے وظائیف دئے جانے کے بارے میں اپنی آئندہ پالیسی کا جلدی ہی اعلان کرنے کی آمید کر رہی ہے۔

(ب) سوال کا یہ حصہ پیدا نہیں ہوتا۔

1120

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [3RD DEC. 1947]

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) Government is not aware of any "growing opposition to the sending of students to foreign countries for advanced studies", but Government feels that the existing Overseas Scholarships Scheme is defective in certain respects. The basic defect is that instead of paying proper attention to our existing institutions, training centres and the necessity of inviting experts from abroad, attention is only paid to sending students abroad for training. It was in order to put this and other defects right that Government set up two Committees, namely, Dr. B. C. Roy's Committee and the Scientific Manpower Enquiry Committee to consider afresh the whole question of Overseas Scholarships. Both these Committees have submitted their interim reports and the Government is considering them. Government hopes, very shortly, to announce its future policy as regards Overseas Scholarships.

(b) Does not arise.

श्री गोविन्ददास: क्या माननीय मिनिसटर साहब यह बतलायेंगे कि यह जो कमेडियां बनाई गई थीं उनसे यह कहा गया था कि वह इस बात की सूची बनायें कि कितने ऐसे विषय हैं जिन पर बाहर हमारे विद्यार्थियों को भेजना आवश्यक है या नहीं है और जिन विषयों पर भी यहीं पर तालीम दी जा सकती है और कितने ऐसे विषय हैं जिनपर अब भी हमें विद्यार्थियों को बाहर भेजना पड़ेगा ?

Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether these Committees which had been set up were asked that they should prepare a list of such subjects for which it was not considered necessary to send our students abroad and training in respect of those could be given here? And what is the number of subjects for which we have still to send our students abroad for training?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: یہ انکی terms اور reference میں واضح طور پر ظاہر کر دیا جاتا ہے جنکو سمنڈر یار کے وظائف دئے جاتے ہیں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: This is explicitly mentioned in the terms and references of students who are granted Overseas Scholarships.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know who are the members of these two Committees?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: اسوقت میرے پاس انکے نام نہیں ہیں۔ اس کے لئے نوٹس چاہئے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: At present I have not got their names. I would require a notice for this.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether at least these Committees are representative in character from all points of view?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: اس طرح کی کمیٹیوں کو بنانے کے وقت اس بات کا خیال رکھا جاتا ہے کہ جس مدعا کے لئے یہ کمیٹیاں بنائی جاتی ہیں اُس میں جو آدمی لگائے جاتے ہوں وہ اس کے لئے موزوں ہوں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: While setting up such Committees, this is kept in view that these Committees constitute of such persons who are fit for the purpose with which these are formed.

GOVERNMENT SCHOLARSHIPS TO STUDENTS FROM AFRICA AND OTHER COUNTRIES

542. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have agreed to offer scholarships to African students in order to develop cultural contacts with African Youths and intelligentsia and if so, how many such students have so far been invited and from what countries and how many have actually come and in which Universities they are placed and for what subjects;

(b) whether any special steps are being taken to make them feel quite at home in the Indian social environment and to bring them into touch with our social and cultural heritage and Indian cultural leaders;

(c) what allowances for boarding and lodging, books and games are being paid to them; and

(d) whether it is proposed to increase the grant for the same purpose for the next year?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: حکومت ہند نے اپنے cultural تعلقات کو بیرونی ممالک کے بڑھانے کے لئے اپنی ترقیات کے سکیم میں اس سال 5 وظائف یورپی افریقہ کے طلباء کو ہندوستان میں تعلیم حاصل کرنے کے لئے دئے ہیں۔ جن 5 طلباء کو ان وظائف کے لئے select کیا گیا تھا وہ ہندوستان میں ستمبر سنہ 1947ء کو پہنچ گئے۔ ان طلباء کے نام اور جن ممالک سے یہ آئے ہیں۔ اور جن یونیورسٹیوں میں انکو داخل کیا گیا ہے یہ ہیں۔

1. Mr. Stanley S. Sesanga, Uganda, studying for Graduate course at St. Stephen's College, Delhi.
2. Mr. B. F. F. Oluande, Uganda, studying for Graduate course at Aligarh University.
3. Mr. E. A. Seroney, Kenya, studying for Graduate course at Allahabad University.
4. Mr. E. Geoffrey Mwalenga, Kenya, studying for Intermediate course at Benares Hindu University.
5. Mr. J. M. Sentongo, Uganda, studying for B.Sc. Engineering at the Roorkee Engineering College.

(ب) یہ طلباء یونیورسٹی یا کالج کے ہوسٹلوں میں رہتے ہیں۔ اور یہ ان اداروں کے ہیڈس کے Supervision میں ہیں۔ اسلئے انکو ہندوستانی طلباء کے ساتھ میل جول کا کافی موقع ملتا ہے۔ اور ملک کی سوشل اور کلچرل زندگی میں متعلقہ یونیورسٹیوں کے ذریعہ سے وہ طلباء حصہ لے لیتے ہیں۔

(ج) حکومت ہند نے دو سو روپیہ کا ایک وظیفہ ہر ایک طالب علم کو دیا ہے۔ اس کے علاوہ جہاں ضرورت ہو Capitation فیس بھی دیا جائیگا۔ Passage کے اخراجات طلباء خود برداشت کریں گے۔

(د) اس گرانٹ میں فی الحال اضافہ کرنا مقصود نہیں ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) The Government of India, as part of their schemes for the development of Cultural Relations with foreign countries, have offered this year five scholarships to East African students for studies in India. The five students who were selected for the scholarships arrived in India in the beginning of September, 1947. The names of these scholars, the countries from which they came and the Universities in which they are placed are mentioned below:

1. Mr. Stanley S. Sesanga, Uganda, studying for Graduate course at St. Stephen's College, Delhi.
2. Mr. B. F. F. Oluande, Uganda, studying for Graduate course at Aligarh University.
3. Mr. E. A. Seroney, Kenya, studying for Graduate course at Allahabad University.

4. Mr. E. Geoffrey Mwalenga, Kenya, studying for Intermediate course at Benares Hindu University.

5. Mr. J. M. Sentongo, Uganda, studying for B.Sc. Engineering at the Roorkee Engineering College.

(b) The students are staying in the University or College hostels and are under the general supervision of the Heads of the Institutions. They have thus plenty of opportunities of intimate contacts with Indian students of these Universities and are able to participate in the social and cultural life of the Universities and through them of the country.

(c) The Government of India have granted an all-inclusive stipend of Rs. 200 p.m. to each of the students and, in addition, capitation fees will be paid where necessary. Passage expenses have to be borne by the students themselves.

(d) No increase in the grant is contemplated at present.

सेठ गोविन्ददास : क्या माननीय सदस्य को यह मालूम है कि पूर्वी अफ्रीका की चारों कालोनीज—केन्या, युगेण्डा, जंजीबार और टांगनियका में कोई कालेज नहीं है जहां पर हिन्दुस्तान के विद्यार्थी पढ़ सकें और ऐसी हालत में क्या गवर्नमेंट इस बात पर विचार करेगी कि जहां तक East Africa का सम्बन्ध है वहां कुछ और ज्यादा छात्र वृत्तियां वहां के विद्यार्थियों को दी जायें।

Seth Govinddas : Is the Honourable Minister aware of the fact that there is no College in all the four colonies of East Africa viz., Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika and Zanzibar where the Indian students may get training? And in such circumstances, will the Government kindly consider over the possibility of granting some more scholarships to the students so far as East Africa is concerned?

अनुरिबल مولाना अबुलकलाम आज़द : कौन्सिल्ट अस पर गुर करिगी -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad : The Government will surely consider over this.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : May I know, Sir, who selects the Universities in which these students have to be educated, and why is it that one of them has been sent to a University which has made it its special cult to preach communalism in this country?

अनुरिबल مولाना अबुलकलाम आज़द : जेहा तक के मन्सतरी को एम है इन टाला को खू व क्ताबत के डुरिबे से External Affairs मन्सतरी ने चना-हा-ब-जस-बत की टर्फ मेरु मीर ने आशरे किया है - अस के म्तेलक मन्सतरी के सामने कौनी चिज नहिण है -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad : So far as the Ministry are aware of, these students were selected by the Ministry of External Affairs by means of correspondence. There is nothing before the Ministry which relates to the matter referred to now by the Honourable Member.

श्री मिहिरलाल चट्टोपाध्याय : मैं पूछना चाहता हूं कि जैसे अफ्रीका के students के लिये हमारे मुल्क में scholarship का इन्तजाम रक्खा गया है ऐसे ही हमारे students के लिये कोई इन्तजाम है या नहीं।

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya : I would like to know whether there exists any arrangements for our students or not just as scholarships have been provided for the students from East Africa in our country.

अनुरिबल مولाना अबुलकलाम आज़द : اس basis پر یہ انتظام نہیں کیا جاتا ہے -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad : This arrangement is not made on this basis.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : Is it not a fact that in those areas from which these friends have come to our country as scholars there are no Universities?

अनुरिबल مولाना अबुलकलाम आज़द : غالباً ایسا ہی ہے -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad : Probably this is so.

Prof. N. G. Ranga : I am sorry I could not follow the answer given to part (b) of the question. Will the Honourable Minister be pleased to state whether it is proposed to increase the grant in the next year and also increase the number of students?

अनुरिबल مولाना अबुलकलाम आज़द : कौन्सिल्ट अस की ضرورت नहीं समझती है -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad : The Government do not feel its necessity.

डाक्टर पी० एस० देशमुख : क्या मैं जान सकता हूं कि कब यह decision लिया

गया और क्या यह बात Legislative Assembly के सामने आई थी ?

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh : May I know when this decision was arrived at and whether this matter was brought up before the Legislative Assembly?

अनुरिबल مولाना अबुलकलाम आज़द : یہ قاعدہ نہیں ہے - اس طرح سے سوال Legislative Assembly کے سامنے نہیں آئے ہیں اور متعلقہ مन्سٹری ان پر خود

ہی غور کرتی ہے -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad : This is not the rule. Such questions are not brought before the Legislative Assembly and the Ministry concerned itself considers over these.

डाक्टर पी० एस० देशमुख : मैं पूछ रहा हूं अगले साल के लिये क्या रकम रखी

गई है इस सिलसिले में

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh : I am enquiring what is the amount provided for the next year in this respect?

अनुरिबल مولाना अबुलकलाम आज़द : اس کے لئے نوٹس چاہئے -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad : I would require a notice for this.

अनुरिबल पण्डित जवाहर लाल नेहरु : یہ معاملہ اصل میں External Affairs مन्سٹری کا تھا - انہوں نے سفارش کی Education مन्سٹری کے پاس - کہ ایسے وظائف باہر کے لوگوں کو دئے جائیں - اور یہ جو ایسٹ افریقہ اور افریقہ کے طلباء کو وظائف دئے گئے ایسے ہی انتظام وہاں پر ہمارے طلباء کے نہیں ہو سکتے ہیں کیونکہ وہاں پر یونیورسٹیاں اور کالج نہیں ہیں ہم اپنا تعلق بڑھانا چاہتے ہیں - افریقہ کے لوگوں کے ساتھ اب تک ان کے لئے ایک ہی ذریعہ تھا یورپ اور امریکہ جانے کا - جب ہماری طرف سے وہاں راجہ مہاراج سنگھ کا کمیشن گیا تو انہوں نے یہ سفارش کی کہ افریقہ والے چاہتے ہیں کہ وہ ہندوستان میں پڑھنے کے لئے آئیں اس پر خط و کتابت کی گئی اور External Affairs مन्سٹری نے Education مन्سٹری سے چند وظائف دینے کے لئے سفارش کی - انہوں نے یہ بات منظور کی اور یہ وظائف وہاں کے طلباء کو دئے گئے -

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru : In fact this matter related to the Ministry of External Affairs. They recommended to the Ministry of Education that such scholarships should be awarded to students from abroad.

Arrangements similar to those under which these scholarships have been granted to students from East Africa and Africa cannot be made for our students there, because there are no Colleges or Universities. We want to develop our relations with the people of Africa. Uptil now there was only one course for them and that was going to Europe and America. When our Commission under the Leadership of Raja Maharaj Singh went there, they recommended that the people in Africa desire that they should come over to India for studies. On this correspondence was exchanged and the External Affairs Ministry recommended to the Ministry of Education for the grant of few scholarships. They accepted their recommendation and these scholarships were granted to the students from that country.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Sir, in view of the fact that this grant has been universally hailed by all the leaders of the East African Associations and Organisations, will Government consider the advisability of increasing the number of scholars who will be welcome to come over to this country during the next year?

Mr. Speaker: That has been already answered.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: But, Sir, in view of the fact that it was really initiated by the External Affairs Department as a matter of improvement of cultural relations, I would like to make the suggestion to the Honourable Prime Minister himself.

Mr. Speaker: Then, the Honourable Member must put further supplementaries by putting a separate question to the Honourable the Prime Minister.

SCHEDULED CASTE SCHOLARS SENT ABROAD

543. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) whether Dr. Ambedkar's scheme of devoting Rs. 4 lakhs per annum for sending scheduled caste scholars to other countries for advanced studies is still being pursued;

(b) if so, how many scholars have so far been sent out since the Scheme was given effect to, year by year, and to what countries; and

(c) whether an Advisory Council or any advisers have been appointed anew after the 15th August, 1947 and if so, who are the advisers?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: (الف) ۱۹۴۴ء میں حکومت ہند نے تین لاکھ روپیہ سالانہ

پانچ سال کے لئے Scheduled castes طلباء کو ۱۹۴۴-۴۵ء میں ہندوستان اور ہندوستان سے باہر تعلیم حاصل کرنے کے لئے وظائف کے طور پر دئے جانے منظور کئے۔ اس پر اب بھی عمل درآمد ہو رہا ہے۔ لیکن ۱۹۴۶-۴۷ء وظائف صرف ہندوستان میں ہی تعامد حاصل کرنے کے لئے دئے جانے مقصود ہیں۔ اسلئے Scheduled castes طلباء کو Generaloverseas scholarships scheme سے بھی وظائف دئے جائیں گے۔

(ب) ۱۹۴۵-۴۶ء میں سمندر پار کے ۲۲ وظائف اس سکیم کے ماتحت منظور ہوئے تھے۔ ان میں سے ۱۹ طلباء کو U.K., دو کو کیلیڈا اور ایک کو U.S.A. بھیج دیا گیا تھا۔

(ج) سنہ ۱۹۴۴-۴۵ء میں حکومت ہند نے Scheduled Caste Scholarship Board مقرر کیا تاکہ وہ حکومت کو Scheduled caste طلباء کو وظائف دئے جانے میں مشورہ دے۔ یہ بورڈ اپریل ۱۹۴۷ء میں دوبارہ مقرر ہوا۔ اس کے ممبران یہ ہیں۔

1. Sir Maurice Gwyer.
2. Educational Adviser to the Government of India. -
3. A representative of the Ministry of Finance.
4. The Honourable Rameshwar Agnibhoj.
5. Minister for Agriculture, C. P. & Berar.
6. Mr. Ramananda Das, Calcutta.

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) In 1944, the Govt. of India sanctioned a grant of Rs. 3 lakhs per annum for a period of 5 years with effect from 1944-45 for scholarships to scheduled caste students for studies in India and abroad. The scheme is still being pursued but since 1946-47 it is confined to scholarships to studies in India. Overseas Scholarships to scheduled caste students are, however, awarded to them under the General Overseas Scholarships Scheme of the Government of India.

(b) 22 Overseas Scholarships were sanctioned under the scheme during the year 1945-46. Of these 19 scholars were sent to the United Kingdom, 2 to Canada and 1 to the United States of America.

(c) The Scheduled Caste Scholarship Board appointed in 1944-45 to advise the Government of India for the award of these scholarships was reconstituted in April, 1947. The Board now consists of (1) Sir Maurice Gwyer, Chairman, (2) Educational Adviser to the Govt. of India, (3) A representative of the Ministry of Finance, (4) The Honourable Rameshwar Agnibhoj, (5) Minister for Agriculture, C.P. & Berar, (6) Mr. Ramananda Das, Calcutta.

Shri S. Nagappa: Sir, is there any likelihood of these Rs. 4 lakhs being increased?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: حکومت ہمیشہ اس کو بڑھانے پر غور کرنے کے لئے تیار ہے لیکن اسوقت یہ سکیم چار برس سے چل رہا ہے۔ اور ایک برس میں یہ ختم ہوگا اور اس کے بعد اس پر غور کیا جائیگا۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The Government are always prepared to consider over its increase. But at present this scheme is in force for the last four years, and it will be over within a year. After this the matter will be considered.

Shri S. Nagappa: Have Government been giving due representation to all provinces from which there are no members on the selection committee?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: اس کی بہت کوشش کی جاتی ہے۔ کہ ہر ایک کو رپریزنٹیشن دی جائے خواہ کمیٹی میں وہاں سے ممبر ہوں یا نہ ہوں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Endeavours are always made that every Province should be given representation irrespective of the fact whether there are members on the Committee or not.

श्री० राजकृष्ण बोस: क्या वजीर साहब बता सकते हैं कि इस तरह का कोई सुभीता Scheduled Castes के लिये है वैसा आदिवासियों को देने के लिये इसजैसा साल कोई provision किया गया है ?

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether any provision for such facilities similar to those granted to the Scheduled Castes has been made during this year for the Adibasiyas as well?

1126

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [3RD DEC. 1947]

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : خاص اسی طرح کی کوئی سہولیت نہیں ہے -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: There are no special facilities like this.

श्री शिवनलाल सकसेना कितने विधार्थी इस स्कीम के मातहत पढ़ने गए हैं ?

Shri Shibban Lal Saksena: How many students have gone out for studies under this scheme?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : ابھی میں نے آپ کو بتلایا کہ ۲۲ طلبہ کو سکلرشپ دیکر

U. S. A. باہر بھیج دیا گیا ہے انہیں سے ۱۹ U. K. دو کلیدز اور ایک

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: I have just now stated that 22 students have been granted scholarships and sent abroad. Out of these 19 have been sent to U. K., two to Canada and one to U.S.A.

Shri S. Nagappa: Have the students sent in the first batch returned? If so, what are they doing?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : اسکے لئے نوٹس چاہئے -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: I would like to have a notice for this.

WELFARE INSTITUTIONS FOR MILITARY AND ANGLO INDIAN CHILDREN

544. Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the names of the institutions that are aided for the welfare of the Military and Anglo-Indian children in the various provinces?

(b) What are the amounts, by way of subsidies and otherwise, given to the institutions?

(c) Is the Lawrence Memorial Royal Military School, Lovedale, Nilgiris, maintained under this scheme?

(d) What is the annual aid given to this institution and who has the control of the same?

(e) Are Indian pupils admitted in these institutions as boarders and day scholars?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) and (b). I lay a statement on the table of the House.

(c) Yes.

(d) The annual grant-in-aid towards the Lawrence Memorial Royal Military School is not fixed and is dependent on the number of the entitled children studying there. During the financial year 1946-47 Government have given as grant-in-aid Rs. 1,57,000.

The School is controlled by a Board of Trustees.

(e) Yes.

Statement

(a) The following are the Educational establishments which are aided by the Government of India for the benefit of the children of Indian Sailors, Soldiers, and Airmen including the Anglo-Indians:

(1) Prince of Wales Royal Indian Military College, DEHRA DUN.

(2) King George's Royal Indian Military College, JULLUNDUR.

- (3) King George's Royal Indian Military College, AJMER.
- (4) King George VI's Royal Indian Military College, BELGAUM.
- (5) King George VI's Royal Indian Military College, BANGALORE.
- (6) The Lawrence Royal Military School, SANAWAR.
- (7) The Lawrence Military School, ABU.
- (8) The Lawrence Memorial Royal Military School, LOVEDALE.

(b) The following are the contributions made by the Government of India for the financial year 1947-48:—

- (1) Prince of Wales Royal Indian Military College, DEHRA DUN. Rs. 1,87,000.
- (2) King George's Royal Indian Military College, JULLUNDUR. Rs. 31,000.
- (3) King George's Royal Indian Military College, AJMER. Rs. 56,000.
- (4) King George VI's Royal Indian Military College, BELGAUM. Rs. 62,000.
- (5) King George VI's Royal Indian Military College, BANGALORE. Rs. 59,000.
- (6) The Lawrence Royal Military School, SANAWAR. Rs. 2,70,000.
- (7) The Lawrence Military School, MOUNT ABU. Rs. 18,000.
- (8) The Lawrence Memorial Royal Military School, LOVEDALE. Rs. 1,57,000.

EDUCATION OF SCHEDULED CASTES

545. Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the amounts spent on education of the Scheduled Castes during the years 1945, 1946 and 1947?

(b) How many students were sent to foreign countries during the past three years and from which provinces they were drawn and the subjects in which they were trained?

(c) Who are the members of the Committee that selects these students for study abroad?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) The amount spent on education of the Schedule Castes by the Central Government is as follows:—

1944-45	Rs. 47,697
1945-46	Rs. 2,28,097
1946-47	Rs. 3,35,939

(b) 27 students were sent abroad for higher studies in the year 1945 and 4 in the year 1946. No student was sent abroad in the year 1944. Further information required in the question regarding the candidates is given in the statement laid on the table of the House.

(c) (i) The members of the reconstituted Scheduled Caste Scholarship Board are: (1) Sir Maurice Gwyer, Vice-Chancellor, Delhi University, Delhi, (Chairman), (2) Educational Adviser to the Government of India, (3) Joint Secretary to the Government of India in the Ministry of Finance, (4) Rai Bahadur N. Siva Raj, (5) Professor N. N. Godbole, Benares Hindu University.

(ii) Members of the reconstituted Selection Board for Government of India Overseas Scholarships Scheme, 1947-48 are: (1) Sir B. N. Rau, (Chairman), (2) Sir John Sargent, (3) Sir K. S. Krishnan, (4) K. B. Mian Abdul Aziz, (5) Mr. Ashfaq Husain, Educational Adviser to the Government of India (Secretary).

Statement showing the number of scheduled caste students sent to Foreign countries, their Provinces and subject of study

Serial No.	Name of province from which drawn	Total number of students sent abroad	Subject of study with respective number of students	Country to which sent
1945
1	Assam	1	Teachers training	1 U.K.
2	Bengal	7	Teachers training	2 U.K.
			Technology	1 U.K.
			Engineering	1 U.K.
			Veterinary	1 Canada.
			Radio Engineering	1 U.K.
3	Bombay	7	Industrial & Applied Chemistry	1 U.K.
			Teachers Training	6 U.K.
4	C. P. & Berar	4	Social study	1 U.K.
			Agriculture	2 U.K.
			Teachers training	1 U.K.
5	Madras	3	Mechanical Engineering	1 U.K.
			Engineering	1 Canada.
			Domestic Science	1 U.K.
6	Mysore	1	Plastics	1 U.K.
7	Orissa	1	Meteorology	1 U.K.
8	Punjab	3	Agriculture	1 U.K.
			Teachers Training	2 U.K.
			Engineering	1 U.S.A.
TOTAL		27
1946
1	Bengal	3	Lequefection of coal	1 U.K.
			Education General	1 U.S.A.
2	Madras	1	Osamies	1 U.K.
			Public Health Engg.	1 Canada.
TOTAL		4

MANUFACTURE OF AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY

546. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence please state whether Government have examined or propose to examine the possibility of manufacturing agricultural and other machinery in the Gun Carriage Factory, Jubbulpore? If not, why not?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The Gun Carriage Factory, Jubbulpore, is already engaged in civil production including manufacture of road rollers and components of ploughs.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Honourable Minister aware that there still is a good deal of machinery in that factory which are not used and may be used for still greater production?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: That is true

Seth Govinddas: Then why is not all that being used for manufacturing all this machinery?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: This factory was under the control of the Joint Defence Council. It has passed to our control from 1st December and steps are being taken to explore the possibilities.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: How many road rollers have so far been produced in this Ordnance factory?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I have not got that information; if the Honourable Member will give me notice I will get it.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Has the actual manufacture started or is it in contemplation to start it in the immediate future?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The manufacture is in hand at present.

Shri Shibban Lal Saksena: Are there any Europeans in charge of this factory?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I cannot say off-hand, but there are a number of European officers employed in all the Ordnance factories.

Seth Govinddas: Will Government see that no more Europeans are employed in this Gun Carriage Factory because more experts are available among Indians now?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Government's policy is to give preference to Indians. If they are not available for certain jobs, then only are foreigners employed.

Shri Shibban Lal Saksena: Are Government aware that in many Ordnance factories Europeans have been responsible for destroying and smuggling out some of our finest machines for the manufacture of arms?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I have heard rumours, and if any specific case is brought to our notice we will investigate it.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: May I know if the steam rollers referred to are mainly for use by the Defence Department or are they also intended for civilian use? If so, may I know the plan and programme of Government with regard to the manufacture of such rollers?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The steam rollers are not for the use of the Defence Department; they are meant for civilian use.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Honourable Minister aware that recently there have been thefts in the Jubbulpore factory for which the European officers there are largely responsible?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I have no information.

Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister make inquiries into this because it is a serious matter that occurred in Jubbulpore?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Some reports were received about theft, not from the Jubbulpore Ordnance Factory but from the Ordnance Depot, which is an entirely different thing.

Shri Sures Chandra Majumdar: May I know what are the precise kinds of work that are being done in the Cossipore Gun and Shell Factory and Ishapore Rifle Factory in Bengal at present?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I cannot answer without notice.

RESEARCH IN INDIA'S HISTORY, POLITICAL THOUGHT AND PHILOSOPHY

547. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Education please state:

(a) whether Government have any scheme to promote and aid research in Indian History, Indian Political thought and Indian Philosophy; and

STATEMENT

Year	Recurring Grant	Non-recurring Grant	Remarks
1942-43	1,75,000	1,00,000	Recurring 1,75,000—Normal Grant. Non-Recurring 1,00,000 : 50,000 Conversion of stables into Lodging House. 15,000 Improvement of Prince's Pavillion. 10,000 Equipment for Science Laboratories. 10,000 Improvement of Playing Fields. 15,000 Women's Hostel.
1943-44	2,45,000	3,00,000	2,45,000—Normal Recurring Grant. 3,00,000—Non-Recurring grant for the construction of the Lodging House.
1944-45	2,95,000	50,000	2,95,000—Normal Recurring Grant. 50,000—Non-Recurring Grant for general Administration.
1945-46	2,95,000	2,50,000	2,95,000—Normal Recurring Grant. 50,000—Non-Recurring grant for General Administration.
		2,00,000 (Loan)	2,00,000—Non-Recurring } Construction of Science Laboratories, Women's Hostel and residential accommodation for Professors and Readers. 2,00,000 Loan }
1946-47	5,45,000	18,45,000	5,45,000 Recurring— 2,95,000—Normal Recurring grant. 20,000—Recurring Grant for University Administration. 10,000—Recurring Grant for the Department of Russian Language. 25,000—Recurring Grant for the Department of Anthropology. 1,95,000—Advance of Recurring grant of Rs. 3,64,000 in a full financial year for the University on the basis of the Recommendation of the Universities Grant Committee for:— (i) Appointment of New Professors, Readers and Lecturers. (ii) Maintenance of Science Laboratories. (iii) Starting of All India Scholarship Schemes. (iv) Exhibition of Science Students. (v) Starting of the Vice Chancellor's Fund. (vi) Study Leave. (vii) Appointment of Administrative Staff. (viii) Maintenance of Buildings and Gardens. (ix) Contingencies. (x) Revision of scales of salaries. (xi) Women's College. 18,45,000 Non-Recurring— 50,000 for General Administration. 25,000 Construction of the Russian Language Departments building. 70,000 Construction of the building for the Department of Anthropology. 17,00,000 Advance of Non-Recurring Grant of Rs. 44,91,729 for the construction of: (a) Arts Faculty Building. (b) Biology Block. (c) University Hall. (d) Miranda House. (e) Residential Quarters. (f) Equipment of Laboratory and the Library. (g) Laying out of the Playing Fields.

شری دیش بندھو گپتا : کیا آنریبل منسٹر یہ بتانے کی تکلیف گوارا فرمائینگے کہ جس مقصد کے لئے یہ گرانٹ منظور ہوئی تھی وہ اسی پر استعمال کی گئی۔

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether this grant has been utilized for the specific purpose for which it was sanctioned?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : یہ آپ کا ایک الگ سوال ہے۔ اور جو اس وقت موجودہ یونیورسٹیاں قائم کی گئی ہیں ان پر یہ خرچ کیا جاتا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: This is a separate question. This expenditure is incurred on Universities which exist at present.

شری دیش بندھو گپتا : میں نے اپنے سوال کے ضمن (ب) میں یہ پوچھا تھا - "whether any of these grants were earmarked for specific purposes, and if so, what are they."

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: I had enquired this in portion (b) of my question: "whether any of these grants were earmarked for specific purposes, and if so, what are they"

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : آپ کو سٹیٹمنٹ سے معلوم ہو جائیگا کہ یہ گرانٹ جس مقصد کے لئے منظور کئے گئے ہیں اس پر ہی استعمال کئے گئے ہیں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: You will find from the statement that these grants have been utilized for the specific purpose for which these were sanctioned.

شری دیش بندھو گپتا : کیا آنریبل منسٹر کو اطمینان ہے کہ وہ اسی مقصد پر خرچ کئے گئے ہیں۔

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is the Honourable Minister satisfied that these have been spent for the specific purposes.

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : اطمینان نہ ہونے کی کوئی وجہ نہیں ہے۔ یہ جس مقصد کے لئے منظور ہوئے ہیں اسی پر خرچ بھی کئے جاتے ہیں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: There is no reason for not being satisfied. These are also spent for the specific purposes for which these are sanctioned.

شری دیش بندھو گپتا : کیا آنریبل منسٹر اس بارے میں تحقیقات کرنے کی تکلیف کرینگے۔

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister kindly make an enquiry into the matter?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : بہر حال اگر آنریبل ممبر کا ایسا ہی خیال ہو تو تحقیقات کی جائیگی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: In any case if the Honourable Member thinks like this, an enquiry will be made.

COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING TO YOUNGMEN

550. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that a few weeks ago the Minister of Defence stated publicly that a scheme had been prepared for introducing compulsory Military training to young men in the country?

(b) If so, what are the details of the scheme?

(b) if not, whether Government propose to consider the advisability of appointing committees of experts to go into the question of research in these subjects and to make recommendations to Government?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : (ا) انڈین ہسٹوریکل ریکارڈ کمیشن کو سنہ ۱۹۴۱ء میں اس غرض کے لئے reorganise کیا گیا ہے تاکہ ہندوستان کی ہسٹوری research کو بڑھا دیا جائے۔ گورنمنٹ آف انڈیا کسی ایسی research کا اجرا نہیں کرتی جس سے کہ Indian Political Thought اور Indian philosophy کو ترقی ہو۔ بہرحال وہ ایسی سکیموں پر ہمدردانہ غور کریگی جو کہ اس ضمن میں انڈین یونیورسٹیاں اور Research Institutes پیش کریں۔ جن سے کہ وہ تعلق رکھتے ہوں۔ (ب) جو حالات اس بارے میں جواب کے پہلے حصہ میں بیان کئے گئے ہیں ان کے ماتحت حکومت کسی کمیٹی کو مقرر نہیں کریگی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) The Indian Historical Records Commission has been reorganised in 1941 with a view to stimulating and promoting research in Indian History. The Government of India are not initiating any scheme which will promote research in Indian Political Thought and Indian Philosophy. They will, however, consider sympathetically any scheme of research on the subjects submitted to them through Indian Universities and Research Institutes with which they are concerned.

(b) In the circumstances stated above, Government do not propose to appoint any committee in this connection at this stage.

RECONSTITUTION OF COMMITTEE ON INDIGENOUS SYSTEM OF MEDICINE

548. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Health please state:

(a) whether Government propose to reconstitute the committee on Indigenous systems of Medicine in view of the fact that there is only one vaidya and seven Allopathic doctors on the committee and that some of the members are now nationals of Pakistan;

(b) whether Government now propose to appoint on the new committee a greater number of vaidyas and hakims , as the work of the committee relates to the Indian systems of medicine;

(c) whether the All-India Ayurvedic Congress, the representative organisation of the vaidyas of the country, was consulted at any stage before the appointment of members of the Committee;

(d) whether the Provincial Governments were advised to consult the provincial branches of the All-India Ayurvedic Congress, before suggesting to the Government of India, names of vaidyas to be appointed as members of the Committee; and

(e) whether Government propose to have representatives of the Central legislature on this Committee?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) and (b). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given to clause (b) of Starred Question No. 74 by Dr. V. Subrahmanyam on the 19th November 1947.

(c) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given to clause (c) of Starred Question No. 85 by Shri R. V. Dhulekar on the 19th November 1947.

(d) No. It was left to the discretion of Provincial Governments.

(e) No.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Honourable Minister aware that in the matter of representation of Vaidas there is country-wide dissatisfaction at the appointments that have been made? Will the Honourable Minister reconsider this question and allow this Committee to coopt certain Vaidas who are accredited representatives of various Ayurvedic institutions?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: There have been representations to Government that the Vaidas that were put on this Committee were not representative. As a matter of fact the provincial Governments were asked to nominate the Vaidas that were to serve on the Committee, and they had full discretion in doing so; and they maintained that they were representative. In addition the Committee was asked whenever it went to the provinces to coopt Vaidas . This has been done and evidence has been taken from these Vaidas .

Seth Govinddas: The question of their representation when the Committee goes to the provinces is different. My question is this: In the present circumstances will the Honourable Minister consider the question of coopting some more Vaidas on the Committee itself?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Government cannot do that because the report is practically ready and will be in our hands very soon.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Do Government propose to have Homoeopaths as members of the Committee?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: No, Sir.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: In view of the fact that it is a cheap system and the country is poor.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order; that is a matter of argument. The reply is that Government will not do so.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: May I know why?

Mr. Speaker: That will lead to an argument. Next question.

GRANTS-IN-AID TO THE DELHI UNIVERSITY

549. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) the amounts of Grants-in-aid made to the Delhi University during each of the last five years; and

(b) whether any of these grants were earmarked for specific purposes, and if so, what are they?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : (ا) اور (ب) : ایک سٹیٹمنٹ ہاؤس کے قیبل پر

رکھ دیا گیا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) and (b). A statement is laid on the table of the House.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The Honourable Member is presumably referring to the observations made in the course of my address the passing out parade of the cadets of the Elementary Flying Training School at Jodhpur, on the 28th June 1947. What I then said was that we had a scheme in view under which every young man in the country will receive military training in the Navy, Army or the Air Force if he so desires.

(b) I would refer the Honourable Member to the discussion on Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya's Resolution moved in this House on the 27th November 1947.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Is my honourable friend aware that he was not correctly reported in the papers?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The correct report is what I have read out just now.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: I want to know the position because the Honourable Member did not take the trouble to correct the report in the papers.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The correct report that I have got before me makes the position absolutely clear, and I have stated it here.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: It makes it clear now in this House!

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Can the Honourable Member give us the details of the scheme according to which every young man who wants to be trained in the Army, Navy or Air Force can get the requisite training?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The Honourable Member knows that one of the schemes is that recommended in the Cadet Corps Committee Report.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: But that is not for every young man. Surely as the Honourable Minister knows. . . .

Mr. Speaker: Any further supplementaries? No. -Then next question.

DIRECTORATE FOR REMOUNTS AND VETERINARY SERVICES

551. Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Army authorities have laid down that the Director of Remounts and Veterinary Services should be a Veterinary Doctor?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, is it a fact that in spite of this, Government propose to appoint a Remounts Officer as Director of Remounts and Veterinary Services?

(c) Are Government aware that senior Indian Veterinary Doctors are available?

(d) If so, why is it proposed to pass them over?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes, but the Army Instruction was issued before partition and before the policy of nationalisation was decided.

(b) Yes, a Remounts Officer has been appointed as Director of Remounts and Veterinary Services.

(c) No. The length of service of the most senior Veterinary Officer is barely 12 years, and therefore no Veterinary Officer of the requisite seniority to hold the appointment of Director of Remounts and Veterinary Services is available.

(d) For a combined Corps which now includes also the Farms Department it is undesirable to reserve the appointment of the Head of the Corps for one of the Services included in the Corps.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Is the Defence Minister aware that the Army Instruction to which I have drawn attention was received after the amalgamation of the Remounts Department with the Veterinary Corps?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I would refer the Honourable Member to my reply given in part (a) of the question where I have said the Army Instruction was issued before partition and before the policy of nationalization was decided upon.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Does the fact that the Government has adopted the policy of nationalization alter the need for having a technical man at the head of a technical department?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I will again refer the Honourable Member to my reply to (d) of the question wherein I have stated that this department does not relate only to veterinary services but also includes two other departments.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: The affairs relating to the Veterinary Department form the major part of the questions that have to be discussed by the combined department.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: It is difficult for me to say whether the Veterinary Department is the major part but I think the other two departments combined are also equally as big, and this decision was taken on the recommendations of the Armed Forces Reconstitution Committee.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Is it a fact that there are hardly any Indian veterinary doctors—not more than 20?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: That is my information.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Has my honourable friend made an enquiry from East Punjab?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Whatever has been stated here is after enquiries have been made.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Is it a fact that a Dr. Garawala is a member of the Veterinary Service with more than 30 years service?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: He is on the civil side. I am referring to the military side.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Did the Armed Forces Nationalization Committee refer to this or to the Reconstitution Committee?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I am referring to the recommendations made by the Armed Forces Reconstitution Committee.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Is it a fact that it was not confined only to officers of the Army?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: It is to be confined to officers of the Army.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Did the Committee recommend that a non-technical man should be appointed as the head of the combined department?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The recommendation of the Committee is that it should not be only from the veterinary service.

TRUCKS AND TROOPS FOR M. E. O. LAHORE

552. Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number of trucks and troops placed at the disposal of the Military Evacuation Officer, Lahore?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Trucks 1,027. Troops, approximately 6,000.

USE OF PYRETHRUM AS A DISINFECTANT

†553. *Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that during the last war Madras Province was supplying large quantities of Pyrethrum to the Military and to other Provinces;

(b) whether it is fact that another composition known as DDT has been introduced in the market with the result that the value of and demand for Pyrethrum has been reduced;

(c) whether Government are aware that the DDT not only kills the plant pests but also the plant itself thereby arresting pollination;

(d) the names of the provinces that are in need of pyrethrum; and

(e) whether Government propose to approach the various provinces to encourage pyrethrum in all their disinfectant processes.

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) Yes.

(b) It is a fact that a synthetic insecticide called D.D.T. has been introduced in the market. There is nothing to show that it has affected the demand for Pyrethrum as a mixture containing it and D.D.T. is being largely used for disinfecting purposes.

(c) It is understood that there is no record of damage to foliage caused by DDT unless used dissolved in Kerosine oil. Dusts containing synthetic insecticides like DDT are some times used for plant protection. A great deal of experimental work is necessary to determine the extent of damage if any to plant life through adverse effects on pollination.

(d) There is demand from all Provinces.

(e) It is not considered necessary for the Government of India to suggest to Provinces the use of any particular insecticide. It can be left to Provinces to use the best type of insecticide that circumstances may require.

FREEZING OF BANK ASSETS BY PAKISTAN GOVERNMENT

554. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to press reports stating that the Government of Pakistan and particularly of the West Punjab, propose to freeze all assets of Banks including fixed and demand deposits?

(b) If so, are such reports authentic?

(c) Is not such action of the Government of Pakistan contrary to the monetary arrangement arrived at between the Governments of India and Pakistan?

(d) If so, have Government taken up the matter with the Government of Pakistan and with what result?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a), (b), (c) and (d). Presumably the Honourable Member has in mind the Ordinance issued by the West Punjab Government on the 3rd September 1947 which, among other things empowered that Government to prohibit banks from removing their assets, including fixed and demand deposits without its written permission. As was explained in the Press Communiqué dated the 9th September 1947, that Ordinance was withdrawn on representation from Government of India.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is there any truth in the news in the press recently that the safe deposit vaults have been opened by the Pakistan Government without the consent of the Government of India?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: No, Sir, I have not heard anything like that.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What is the latest position in regard to that? The Honourable Minister made a statement some time ago?

Mr. Speaker: Does that question arise out of this?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I do not think the question arises out of this.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Does it not arise out of the monetary arrangements that the Government of India have made with the Pakistan Government?

Mr. Speaker: If that test is taken, everything will arise out of this!

REPORT REGARDING WORKING OF MUNICIPAL COMMITTEES IN DELHI PROVINCE

555. *Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state the result of the special committee appointed to report on the working of the various Municipal Committees in Delhi?

(b) Have the Committee submitted their report?

(c) If not, what are the causes of the delay?

(d) Is it proposed to postpone the work of the committee in view of the move to make Delhi a separate province?

(e) If not, when is the report likely to be presented to Government?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) and (b). Government have not yet received the Report of the Delhi Municipal Organisation Enquiry Committee.

(c) The Committee required time to consider the points referred to them.

(d) No.

(e) The report is expected this month.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know when the recommendations are sent by the Committee that the Government will see that those recommendations are considered immediately and a Bill to that effect, brought into the next Budget Session?

Mr. Speaker: The recommendations have not yet been received. The question is a hypothetical one.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Will the Government see to it that the recommendations are sent by the Committee this month positively?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: The Government will try its best but can make no commitment.

SELECTION OF APPLICANTS FOR ADVANCED STUDIES IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

556. *Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the total number of applications received for advanced studies in Foreign Countries during the years 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48?

(b) How many of them were selected?

آئیڈیل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : ۱۹۴۶ - ۱۹۴۵ء میں جو درخواستیں غیر ممالک میں تعلیم حاصل کرنے کے لئے موصول ہوئیں انکی تعداد ۸۸۱۲ ہے - انمیں سے ۹۶ Scheduled caste کے امیدواروں سے تھے ۲۲ Scheduled caste امیدواروں کو Scheduled caste Scholarship Scheme کے تحت اور ۱۱ کو Govt. Of India Overseas Scholarship Scheme کے تحت دئے گئے -

۱۹۴۶ - ۲۷ء میں درخواستوں کی کل تعداد ۵۱۵۸ تھی اسیں سے ۵۳ Scheduled caste کے امیدواروں سے تھے ایک Scheduled caste امیدوار کو چنا گیا ۱۹۴۷ - ۲۸ء میں درخواستوں کی کل تعداد ۲۵۵۰ تھی انمیں سے ۱۹ Scheduled caste امیدواروں کے تھے اور دو امیدواروں کو چنا گیا -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) and (b). The total number of applications received for studies in foreign countries during 1945-46 was 8,862, out of which 96 were from Scheduled Castes candidates. 22 Scheduled Castes scholars were selected under the Scheduled Caste Scholarship Scheme and 11 under the Government of India Overseas Scholarship Scheme.

For 1946-47 the total number of applications was 5,158, out of which 54 were from Scheduled Castes candidates. 1 Scheduled Castes Scholar was selected.

In 1947-48 the total number of applications received was 2,550, out of which 10 were from Scheduled Castes candidates. 2 Scheduled Castes scholars were selected.

Shri S. Nagappa: As time went on why did the selection of scheduled castes members fall?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: آپ نے دوسری طرف کے فرق کو نہیں دیکھا ہے۔ جو تعداد پہلے برس درخواستوں کی تھی وہ آٹھ ہزار تھی دوسری مرتبہ صرف پانچ ہزار اور تیسری مرتبہ صرف دو ہزار تھی۔ درخواستوں میں کمی ہونے کے ساتھ ساتھ اس طرف بھی کمی ہوتی رہی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: You have not noticed the difference on the other side. The number of applications received in the first year was eight thousand, in the second year five thousand and in the third year two thousand only. The decrease in the number of applications synchronized with the fall in this direction also.

Shri S. Nagappa: In the first year you have been kind enough to select 22, in the second year 19 but in the third year only 2. Was it because that there was a dearth of applications or that a large number was rejected?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: یہ تو میں نے آپ سے کہہ ہی دیا ہے کہ درخواستوں کی تعداد میں کمی کے ساتھ ساتھ اس طرف بھی کمی ہوتی رہی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: This I have already told you that the fall in the number of applications was followed by a simultaneous decrease in this direction also.

Shri S. Nagappa: The fall from 22 to 2 is very unsatisfactory. May I know what is the total number of applications received from scheduled caste candidates yearwise?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: اس کے لئے نوٹس چاہئے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: I would like to have notice for this.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, on a point of order: The Honourable Member is addressing the members directly and not through the Chair.

Mr. Speaker: I think in Hindustani the word "Ap" آپ is also an expression which can be used with reference to the Chair. Now that the Honourable Member has raised this question, I would invite the attention of Honourable Members on the Government Benches and also other members in the House that they should address the Chair directly.

There is one more small point also which I should like to mention to the House. While a member is addressing the Chair I find that Honourable Members cross the House between the Chair and the speaker. That is against parliamentary convention. The Honourable Members should be careful to see that they do not cross the floor of the House like that.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: May they dive below the line?

Mr. Speaker: Yes, as far as possible.

Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: May I know how many of them completed their studies abroad and how many of them were subsequently appointed?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: اس کے لئے نوٹس چاہئے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: I would like to have a notice for this.

Shri Upendra Nath Barman: Will the Honourable Minister kindly consider the advisability of making the Selection Board more representative of the Scheduled Castes?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: موجودہ بورڈ میں کوئی خرابی نہیں پائی جاتی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: No defect has been noticed in the present Board.

GRANTS-IN-AID TO EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS IN CENTRALLY ADMINISTERED AREAS

557. Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the number of Educational Institutions and Associations in the Centrally Administered Areas that were given grants-in-aid during the years 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: میں تعلیمی ادارے کو اور ایسوسی ایشن کو جو Centrally administered Areas میں ہیں اور جنکو کہ امداد حکومت ہند سے ۱۹۳۵-۳۶ء، ۱۹۳۶-۳۷ء اور ۱۹۳۷-۳۸ء میں مائی انکی تعداد ۱۵، ۷ اور گیارہ بالترتیب ہے۔ ان امداد میں وہ ادارے نہیں ہیں جنکو اوکل ایڈمنسٹریشن سے امداد ملی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The number of Educational Institutions and Associations in the Centrally Administered Areas that received grants direct from the Central Government in 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48 were 7, 10 and 11 respectively. These figures are exclusive of the institutions in receipt of grants from the Local Administrations.

Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: May I know whether any other universities were given grants other than the institutions in the Centrally Administered Areas?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: ان کے علاوہ کئی دوسری یونیورسٹیوں کی درخواستیں آچکی ہیں۔ لیکن یہ امداد صرف ان یونیورسٹیوں کو دی گئی جو کہ Centrally administered ہیں اور جو دیگر یونیورسٹیاں ہیں ان کے معاملہ پر غور کیا جا رہا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Besides these many applications have been received from other Universities. But these grants were given to those Universities which are in the Centrally Administered Areas. The matter relating to other institutions is under consideration.

Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: Is it a fact that the Andhra University made a request for a grant?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد: ہاں۔ اس کے علاوہ اور بھی بہت سی یونیورسٹیوں کی درخواستیں آچکی ہیں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Yes. Besides these applications from many other Universities have also been received.

شری دیپش بندوق گپتا : کیا میں پوچھ سکتا ہوں کہ جن ایسوسی ایشنز کو امداد دی جاتی ہے ان کے نام کیا ہیں ؟

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: May I know the names of the institutions which are given the grant?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : دہلی یونیورسٹی، لیڈی ارون کالج اور ارون سکول فار گرلز۔ نیو دہلی د سوسل سروس لیگ اور بوائے سکاؤٹس ایسوسی ایشن کو امداد دی گئی ہے۔ یہ امداد ۱۹۴۵-۴۶ء میں دی گئی۔ ۱۹۴۶-۴۷ء میں انٹرپرائز بورڈ وغیرہ کو امداد دی گئی اس کے علاوہ National Institute of Science - جامع ملیہ - دہلی کو بھی امداد دی گئی۔ ۱۹۴۷-۴۸ء میں یونیورسٹی بورڈ کو امداد دی گئی۔ انجمن ترقی کی درخواست آئی ہے۔ اور وہ زیر غور ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The grant has been given to Delhi University, Lady Irwin College and Irwin Schools for Girls, New Delhi Social Service League, and Boy Scouts Association. This grant was given during the year 1945-46. In the year 1946-47 the grant was given to Inter Provincial Board, etc. Besides this the grant was also given to the National Institute of Science and Jama-i-Milia, Delhi. In 1947-48, the University Board was aided. An application has been received from 'Anjuman-a-tarrakki' and it is receiving consideration.

شری دیپش بندوق گپتا : انجمن ترقی کو کتنی امداد دی گئی ہے۔

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: How much grant has been given to 'Anjuman-a-tarrakki'?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : انکی درخواست آئی ہے۔ لیکن ابھی تک کوئی امداد نہیں دی گئی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Their application has been received, but uptil now no grant has been given.

می^۰ آر^۰ کے^۰ سیڈھا : کیا بوائز اسوسی ایشن کو سرکاری گرانٹ دی جاتی ہے ؟

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is the Boy Scouts Association given Government grant?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : ہاں گرانٹ دی جاتی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Yes. The grant is given.

می^۰ آر^۰ کے^۰ سیڈھا : میرا मतलब हिन्दुस्तान बॉय स्कॉट एसोसिएशन से है। उसको क्या सरकार की तरफ से ग्रांट मिलती है ?

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: I refer to the Hindustan Boy Scouts Association. Is it in receipt of any grant from the Government?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : بوائز اسوسی ایشن کا مطلب اسی سے ہے۔ ان کو مدد دی جاتی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: This refers to the Boy Scouts Association. It is in receipt of the grant.

شری دیپش بندوق گپتا : کیا گورنمنٹ نے اس بات کا کوئی فیصلہ کیا ہے کہ بوائز سکاؤٹس ایسوسی ایشن اور انڈین بوائز سکاؤٹس ایسوسی ایشن کو برابر کی امداد دی جائے - انڈین بوائز سکاؤٹس ایسوسی ایشن شروع سے غیر سرکاری ہاتھوں میں رہی ہے -

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Have the Government arrived at any such decision that the Boy Scouts Association and the Indian Boy Scouts Association be given equal grants. The Indian Boy Scouts Association has been in non-official hands from its very inception.

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : گورنمنٹ اس پر غور کر رہی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The Government are considering over it.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Is any grant given to the Indraprastha College?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : یہ گرانٹ ان ہی Institutes کو دی گئی ہے جو کہ سنٹرل گورنمنٹ کے ماتحت ہیں - ان کے علاوہ کسی اور کو نہیں دی جاتی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: This grant has been given to those Institutes only which are under the control of the Central Government. This is not given to any institute other than these.

Shri C. M. Poonacha: May I know whether any institution in Coorg is getting this grant?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : جو ام میں نے بتائے ہیں یہ گرانٹ ان ہی Institutes کو دی گئی ہے جن کے متعلق یہ منظور ہوئی ہیں - اور کسی کو نہیں دی جاتی ہیں -

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: This grant has been given to those institutes only the names of which I have stated, and for which these were sanctioned. This is not given to any one else.

شری دیپش بندوق گپتا : کیا ہندی ساہتیہ سہیلن کو بھی کچھ گرانٹ دی جاتی ہے۔

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is any grant given to Hindi-Sahitya Sammelan also?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : گورنمنٹ اس پر غور کر رہی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The Government are considering over this.

مسٹر تاجمل حسین : آنریبل منسٹر نے فرمایا کہ حکومت غور کر رہی ہے - میں یہ جاننا چاہتا ہوں کہ کتنے دنوں تک غور کرتی رہیگی -

Mr. Tajamul Hussain: The Honourable Minister has stated that the Government are considering. I want to know how long will it take to consider?

شری راجکرنن بوس : आपने जितने institutions का नाम बताया उसमें कोई हिन्दी प्रचारणी सभा और नागरी प्रचारणी सभा को क्या सरकार की तरफ से कोई ग्रांट दी गयी है ?

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Has any Government grant been given to 'Hindi-Pracharni-Sabha' or 'Nagri-Pracharni-Sabha' from amongst the names of the institutions stated by you?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : میں نے کہ دیا ہے کہ بہت سی درخواستیں آئی ہیں اور انپر غور کیا جا رہا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: I have already stated that many applications have been received and these are under consideration.

1142

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [3RD DEC. 1947]

सेठ गोविन्ददास : क्या माननीय सदस्य को यह बात मालूम है कि हिन्दी साहित्य सम्मेलन का अधिवेशन दिसम्बर की छुट्टियों में बम्बई में होने वाला है और क्या मैं जान सकता हूँ कि उसके पहिले गवर्नमेंट का इस बारे में निर्णय मालूम हो जायगा जिससे वह अपने आगे का कार्यक्रम निर्णित कर सकें।

Seth Govind Das: Is the Honourable Minister aware of the fact that the Annual meeting of the Hindi Sahitya Sammelan is likely to take place in Bombay during the ensuing December Holidays? And may I know if it would be possible to have the Government's decision in the matter before that time so that they may decide their future programme accordingly?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : اس بارے میں میں کوئی وعدہ نہیں کر سکتا۔
کوشش کی جائیگی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: I cannot make any promise in this connection. Efforts will be made.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is there any truth in the information that owing to the Aligarh University having to grant increase in salaries the Government of India have also had to increase their grant to it?

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : گورنمنٹ آف انڈیا نے یونیورسٹی کمیٹی کی سفارشات سے دہلی اور علی گڑھ یونیورسٹی کے لئے کر دی ہے۔ لیکن انہی اسکے متعلق کوئی کارروائی نہیں کی گئی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The Government of India have on the recommendations of the University Committee increased the grant to Delhi and Aligarh Universities. But uptil now no action in the matter has been taken.

Shri S. Nagappa: Is it necessary to give grants to these Muslim institutions even after the Muslims have left the Indian Dominion?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

BROADCASTING STATION AT BEZWADA

558. *Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether Government have received any representation from the Andhras for starting a Broadcasting Station at Bezwada?

(b) If so, what action have Government taken so far?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Arrangements are being made to inspect suitable sites and buildings for a broadcasting station at Bezwada.

Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: May I know how much time Government would take to start a station at Bezwada?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: It is not possible to forecast the date or the approximate time. It all depends upon the reports that will come and on the report of the engineers a decision will be taken.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: What is the policy that is followed in opening new broadcasting stations?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: An eight-year programme has been fixed and announced in the House.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Will Government be pleased to state whether they propose to have a broadcasting station at Patna in Bihar, and if so, by when?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Yes. The arrangements are very nearly complete in Patna and it will soon be opened.

Shri V. C. Kesava Rao: Pending the starting of the Bezwada station will Government ask the All-India Radio, Madras to give some more time to Andhra broadcasts?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: At present certain time is given for broadcasting to Andhra from the Madras station.

Mr. Speaker: He wants to know whether more time will be given for Andhra pending the completion of this station.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: The suggestion will be taken into consideration.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Has a decision been taken to have the broadcasting station at Bezwada and only the construction and other arrangements are to be made?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: The decision has already been taken.

(BACKING RESERVED FOR CURRENCY)

559. *Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state the backing now reserved for the present currency?

(b) Do Government propose to increase the backing?

(c) If so, by how much and when?

(d) If not, why not?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) I would refer the Honourable Member to Section 33 of the Reserve Bank of India Act which prescribes a hundred per cent backing against the note issue and also the composition of that backing.

(b), (c) and (d). Government do not consider it necessary to amend that Section and have no such proposal under contemplation.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government consider the desirability of amending the Reserve Bank Act which makes it possible for conserving the sterling securities in London as a necessary backing for our notes?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I think already an amendment has been made permitting the Reserve Bank to hold these foreign reserves even in other currencies than sterling.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: My point is this. As at present it is possible for the Reserve Bank to go on issuing Indian currency notes as against the accumulation of sterling securities in London. When will the possibility for such right given to the Reserve Bank be abrogated?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: If Government find that the composition of our foreign exchange reserves needs any alteration, naturally they will take that into consideration.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that as a result of the accumulation of sterling securities in London the total amount of notes in circulation in India has gone up?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: As I mentioned at a Press Conference, the mere fact that sterling was permitted to be held as a foreign exchange currency reserve need not necessarily result in an increase in the volume of our currency. According to me, that Section under which the Reserve Bank was under an obligation to give rupees in exchange for sterling was really abused by the late Government during the war, and that is what resulted in the phenomenal increase of the currency notes under circulation.

My honourable friend may rest assured that no such abuse will be permitted by the present Government.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if there is any currency of a free country for which the currency of another country is a compulsory backing?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: There is no question of a compulsory backing. Various alternative backings have been prescribed under the Act and sterling is one of such currencies.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if it is not a fact that a certain backing must be either in gold or in sterling and therefore it is a compulsory backing in view of the fact that they have no gold?

Mr. Speaker: I think the Honourable Member's question itself supplies the answer. If it is 'either or', then sterling is not necessarily compulsory.

Shri K. Santhanam: But I was asking whether there is any free country whose currency is backed by the currency of another country.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: As an alternative backing, foreign exchange reserves are permitted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know if only those Sections in the Reserve Bank Act which make it necessary to honour the currency have been modified and not the Sections relating to the 40 per cent compulsory backing?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I do not have a proper recollection of the scope of that amendment.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Will the Honourable Minister take immediate steps to bring it into line with the other provisions and see to it that sterling is not made a compulsory backing?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: According to Section 33 of the Reserve Bank Act, of the total amount of the assets not less than two-fifths shall consist of gold coin, gold bullion, or sterling security.

IMPORT AND MANUFACTURE OF DRUGS AND MEDICINES

560. Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state what percentage of drugs and medicines are imported from foreign countries out of the total quantity needed?

(b) What are the countries from which they are imported?

(c) Is there any proposal under the contemplation of Government for the manufacture of such medicines and drugs in this country?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a), (b) and (c). The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply. It has accordingly been transferred to the list of questions for the 11th December 1947 when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply.

COMPENSATION TO EUROPEAN I.C.S. OFFICERS LEAVING INDIA

561. Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state the number of the European I.C.S. Officers who have left India after the 15th August 1947?

(b) What is the total amount of compensation that has been paid to these officers?

(c) How many propose to leave India before April 1948?

(d) What will be the compensation expected to be paid to them?

(e) How do Government propose to fill up those vacancies?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given to starred question No. 106 on the 19th November 1947.

(b) and (d). The Government of India have accepted liability to pay compensation only in respect of such I.C.S. officers as opted to remain in service indefinitely but whose services were not required by the Government of India. In accordance with the present arrangements, such claims will be paid by the Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations in the first instance and adjustments will be made later on. So far, the Government have incurred liability to pay compensation in respect of only about 15 European I.C.S. Officers. Information about the amount of compensation paid till now to European I.C.S. officers by His Majesty's Government is not available.

(c) 11.

(e) For the time being the vacancies have been filled by promotion of officers belonging to the Provincial Civil Services, and the Central Services and in some cases by recruitment from the open market. Government have under consideration the formation of an Emergency Cadre of the Indian Administrative Service to provide about 250 officers to meet the shortage at the Centre and in the Provinces. Other proposals to the same end are also under consideration.

Shri S. Nagappa: Arising out of the answer to part (e) of the question may I know whether Government has recently held any examination to recruit persons to the All-India Administrative service?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Yes.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know how many candidates the Government have selected so far?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I cannot give the exact figure at present, but I can say that there are about 60 candidates in the school who will pass this year.

Shri S. Nagappa: Is it a fact that no Scheduled Caste candidate was selected?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I cannot give an answer at present, but if the question is put I will make enquiries.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I know if the refugee lawyers from Pakistan will be considered for this Emergency Cadre posts?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: They are hardly fit for Administrative Service.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask the Honourable Member whether he speaks from personal experience or from general observation?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Both.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Am I to take it then that there is no possibility of the Government of India finding jobs for these refugee lawyers in this Emergency Cadre?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Lawyers can find employment anywhere. There are many professions which they can join.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Apparently the Honourable Minister is not in touch with the condition of these refugee lawyers. There are about 2,000 of them without jobs.

Mr. Tajamal Husain: Will the Honourable Minister state if there is any European I.C.S. Officer still serving India, and if, so how many?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: There are some European officers serving, but I cannot give the exact number. They are very few in number.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Has the Honourable Minister finally decided to exclude every refugee lawyer because he is a lawyer?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: No, he is not excluded simply because he is a refugee lawyer, but if a lawyer passes through the test, then his case will be considered.

(b) WRITTEN ANSWERS

BRITISH PERSONNEL IN INDIAN ARMY

562. *Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number of British personnel and their rank in the Indian Army before the 15th August 1947 and now?

(b) The services of how many of these persons are proposed to be dispensed with and when?

(c) What will be the number and nature of employment of persons whom it is proposed to retain permanently?

(d) What are the terms on which it is proposed to retain them?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) I lay a statement on the table of the House.

(b) The services of all British Officers and men at present in the Indian Army will be dispensed with, except for a limited number who will be retained for certain periods not exceeding three years.

(c) No British Officers or men will be retained permanently in the Indian Army.

(d) I would refer the Honourable Member to the press communique on this subject issued on the 20th November 1947.

Statement.

(a) (i) Figures of British Officers and Other Ranks serving with the Indian Army August 1947 were :—

Officers.
British Service attached to Indian Army	4,675
Indian Army	5,832
	10,507

This includes 538 serving with Medical and Dental Services, and all Officers serving with Units which now belong to the Dominion of Pakistan.

Other Ranks
British Service attached to Indian Army	13,214
Indian Army	...
	13,214

This includes 2978 serving with Indian Signals, 1,464 with Military Police, 1,243 with Artillery, 1,663 with Ordnance and all men serving with Units which now belong to the Dominion of Pakistan.

(ii) Ranks held were :—

Officers.	British Service attached to I. A.	Indian Army
2nd Lieutenant	458	58
Lieutenant	2,520	1,907
Captain	1,061	1,943
Major	425	1,174
Lieut.-Colonel	135	547
Colonel	53	124
Brigadier and above	13	79

British Service attached to I.A.

Other Ranks
Private	4,400
Corporal	1,754
Sergeant	3,166
Warrant Officer, Class II	489
Warrant Officer, Class I	1,205

(iii) The number of British Officers and B.O.R.s in the Indian Army on 30th November 1947 is as follows :—

British Officers	1,204
B.O.R's.	3,648

It is regretted that it is not possible to give a breakdown of these figures by ranks.

LOSS DUE TO INCURSIONS BY PAKISTANIS INTO THE INDIAN TERRITORY

563. *Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number, date and duration of incursions made by the people of Pakistan into any village or territory in the Dominion of India?

(b) What was the result of each of these incursions in terms of loss of life and property?

(c) How do Government propose to stop recurrence of such incursions?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) and (b). Since the 7th September to the 23rd November, there were approximately 42 border raids. It is regretted that information in the detail required by the Honourable Member is not readily available with the Government of India.

(c) Steps have been taken to post civil and military forces in a manner calculated to prevent a recurrence of these incidents. Permanent measures for ensuring the security of the new frontiers of India are under consideration.

SMUGGLING OF ARMS AND AMMUNITION FROM C.O.D., JUBBALPUB

564. *Shri Biswanath Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) how many cases of smuggling of arms and ammunition from the Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpore, are traced out and detected and with what results;

(b) whether any regular book account is maintained showing the production and distribution of arms and ammunitions from month to month and year to year;

(c) if the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, whether any estimate of smuggling has been made on the basis of the accounts maintained in the said Central Ordnance Depot;

(d) the State or States into which such smuggling of arms and ammunition has been traced; and

(e) whether Government propose to consider the question of instituting an inquiry into this question by a Committee of the House?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) None. Government are aware that individuals have been found in possession of unauthorised arms and ammunition but it has not been established that such arms and ammunition have been smuggled out of the Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpore.

(b) Yes.

(c) to (e). Does not arise in view of the answer to part (a). A discrepancy in machine-guns has been discovered in C.O.D. Jubbulpore as a result of stock-taking and a further check is being made.

RETARDATION IN GROWTH OF INDIAN SPIRITUOUS INDUSTRY DUE TO IRREGULARITIES IN EXCISE REGULATION

565. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the growth of the Indian Spirituous Industry has been seriously retarded in the country on account of lack of uniformity in excise regulations in different provinces and States;

(b) whether Government have received several representations to this effect made by the Industry and Commercial bodies in the Indian Union; and

(c) if so, what action do Government propose to take to bring about uniformity in excise regulations and save the pharmaceutical industry from hardships?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) and (b). Representations have been received by Government to this effect.

(c) As a number of representations have been addressed to Government, they have brought to the notice of the Constituent Assembly that the question of inclusion in Union subjects of industrial alcohol, used in the manufacture of medicinal preparations, which at present falls under item 40(c) of List II—Provincial Legislative List—of the Government of India Act, 1935, be considered in all its bearings, including from the point of view of the advantages that it will bring about in the matter of uniformity in excise duties and regulations extant in the various Provinces and States.

FALLINGDOWN OF NATIONAL FLAG HOISTED ON I.E.M.E. WORKSHOP, AGRA

566. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Commandant of 509 Command I.E.M.E. Workshop Agra, was responsible for the hauling down of the national flag, after the same had been hoisted on the workshop gate and I.O.R. barracks;

(b) whether it is a fact that the said Commandant had refused permission to the employees to hoist the flag on August 15th; and

(c) If the answers to parts (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, what action have Government taken in the matter?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a), (b) and (c). This incident has already been brought to the notice of Government who are making necessary enquiries. Suitable action will be taken when the result of the investigation is known.

EQUALITY OF PAY FOR I.C.S. AND P.C.S. DEPUTY SECRETARIES

567. *Shri Loknath Misra: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that officers of the Provincial Civil Service appointed as Deputy Secretaries to the Government of India are ordinarily allowed their grade pay in the Provincial Civil Service plus Rs. 500 as special pay whereas officers of the I. C. S. appointed as Deputy Secretaries to the Government of India are given the senior scale pay of the I.C.S. plus a special pay of Rs. 400;

(b) the reason for differently regulating the emoluments of I. C. S. and P. C. S. Deputy Secretaries and for giving much higher emoluments to the former than to the latter for doing exactly similar duties and shouldering similar responsibilities; and

(c) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of stopping the above practice in view of the fact that the Government of India have recently accepted the principle of equal pay for equal work as a directive principle of State policy?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) Yes, in the case of pre-1931 entrants. In the case of post-1931 entrants the rate is Rs. 400 p.m. only. If however, the officer appointed is a substantive listed post holder in his parent Province, he gets like I.C.S. officers pay in the senior time scale of the I.C.S. plus a special pay of Rs. 400 p.m.

(b) While fixing the terms for P.C.S. officers appointed as Deputy Secretaries, the Government have been guided primarily by the terms fixed for officers of the Central Services appointed to similar posts. The terms for I.C.S. officers are being regulated by the Superior Civil Services Rules which were formulated by the Secretary of State. These terms should be considered as special and it is not possible to alter these in view of the assurance in His Excellency the Viceroy's announcement of April 30th last that the Members of the Secretary of State's Services who continue to serve under the Government of India after the transfer of power will do so on their present terms as to scales of pay, leave, pensionary rights and safeguards in matters of discipline.

(c) Does not arise in view of the answer furnished to part (b) of the question.

CENTRAL PAY COMMISSION RECOMMENDATIONS

568. *Shri Loknath Misra: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Government of India's policy accepting in toto the pay scales recommended by the Central Pay Commission for the officers and staff of the Central Secretariat and its attached offices, as announced in the Press Communique dated the 16th May, 1947, still stands; and

(b) whether it is a fact that the Ministry of Finance contemplates to fix certain officers on scales of pay different from those recommended by the Pay Commission even if such arrangement adversely affects those officers?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) The Press communique dated the 16th May, 1947, announced Government's acceptance of the basic pay structure recommended by the Central Pay Commission and the principle of having uniform all-India pay scales for the various categories. It did not commit Government to a policy of accepting the detailed recommendations made in part III of the Commission's report without further examination.

(b) The detailed recommendations made by the Commission in respect of the various organisations have generally been accepted by Government. Slight deviations from the recommendations have, however, been found necessary in a very few cases for administrative reasons. These deviations by themselves do not adversely affect the pay of the officers.

COMMUNAL DISTURBANCES IN DELHI

569. Mr. B. Pocker Sahib Bahadur: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that a large number of men, women and children have been killed in Delhi and its neighbourhood and also in railway trains from about the last week of August 1947;

(b) whether it is a fact that Government were informed in advance of the likelihood of such occurrences especially of those which took place in Delhi and its neighbourhood;

(c) whether Government have taken any steps to prevent such occurrences; and

(d) whether Government propose to institute an inquiry into the causes and extent of the loss of lives and properties during the above occurrences in Delhi?

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES AND WELFARE ARRANGEMENTS FOR INDIAN STUDENTS ABROAD

1150

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [3RD DEC. 1947]

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given to question No. 107 by Pandit L. K. Maitra on the 19th November 1947.

(b) Government had some indications that trouble was likely to occur in Delhi and neighbourhood and they took all reasonable precautionary measures, but the sudden onrush of a very large number of refugees who were victims of unimaginable cruelties and barbarities from Lahore, Sheikhupura and other parts of Punjab seriously upset the position and the desertion of the bulk of the Muslim element of the Police force, which was in majority at the time, seriously crippled the effectiveness and efficiency of the Police force and until effective Military and Police strength could be brought to Delhi from outside, the disturbances could not be brought under control. Even then, Government feel that they were on top of the situation in a much shorter time than elsewhere.

(c) Government have taken all appropriate steps.

(d) No.

HIGHER MEDICAL TRAINING FOR INDIAN STUDENTS ABROAD

570. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state:

(a) what steps Government have taken and propose to take to provide Indian Students abroad with facilities for higher training in Medical and allied subjects; and

(b) the amount of Scholarships and the number of recipient students (Province-wise) from different Provinces of the Indian union for the purpose, during the years 1946, 1947 and 1948?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) A scheme was started in 1946 for sending a certain number of medical graduates with outstanding qualifications to the United Kingdom and United States of America for higher training in leading medical centres in those countries.

(b) A statement showing the rates of scholarships and the number of candidates selected in 1946 and 1947 is laid on the table of the House. No selection has yet been made for 1948.

Statement showing the rates of scholarships and the number of candidates selected in 1946 and 1947 for study abroad in medical and allied subjects.

Rates of Scholarships.
United Kingdom	At Oxford and Cambridge	£460 per annum inclusive of cost of living bonus.
	At Universities other than Oxford and Cambridge	£400 per annum inclusive of cost of living bonus.
United States of America		£160 per mensem.
Number of candidates selected:
Province or Centre	Number of students selected in 1946	Number of students selected in 1947.
Centre
Madras	20	30
Bombay	6	8
U.P.	5	7
C.P. & Berar	3	8
Bihar	2	3
Orissa	3	4
West Bengal	4	6
East Punjab	9	3
Assam	3	3
	5	1

571. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) what Government have done to provide educational facilities and welfare arrangements for Indian students abroad and what sum has been allotted and spent for this purpose; and

(b) the amount of scholarships and the number of recipient students (Province-wise) from different Provinces of the Indian Union during the current year?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) Provision of educational facilities and welfare arrangements for Indian students abroad is done by the Education Department of the High Commissioner for India at London, the Educational Liaison Officer and his staff in the Indian Embassy, Washington, for the U.S.A. and Canada, and the High Commissioner's Office in Australia. The officers at these places arrange for admission of Indian students to Universities and other educational institutions and also look after their welfare. With regard to welfare arrangements and accommodation of Indian students, particularly in the U.K. where the position regarding accommodation is difficult, the High Commissioner's Office have taken special steps to look into the question. Hostels have been established during the last year for Indian students in London and Edinburgh, and the High Commissioner's Office maintains an up-to-date list of suitable lodging houses in London. A proposal to establish another hostel in London to serve as a Reception and Transit Camp for Indian students has been sanctioned. A similar hostel for Indian women students has been already taken over by the High Commissioner on lease. A statement showing grants for providing accommodation to Indian students in the U. K. is placed on the table of the House for information.

(b) A statement showing the required information is placed on the table of the House.

STATEMENT I

Showing grants for providing accommodation to Indian students in the U.K.

S.No.	Name of Hostel	Accommodation	Grant of Expenditure Recurring	Non-recurring	Remarks.
1	2	3	4	5	6
1	Y. M. C.A.		£250		An old grant still continued.
2	International Club and Hall, London			(a) £500 (b) £500	(a) 1945-46 (b) Orders under issue
3(a)	Indian students Hostel at Kensington Square, London	60	* £450	† £3,500	*For 5 years from 1945. †1945-46.
(b)	Bayswater Hall, Kensington Square London	40		£ 1,000	Sanctioned 1946-47
4	(a) Y.M.C.A.			(a) £ 250 (b) £ 250	(a) 1945-46. (b) 1945-46
5	Hostel of Indian students at Edinburgh	35		(a) £3,225 (b) £1,500	(a) 1945-46. (b) 1945-47.
6	Y.M.C.A. Hostel proposed to be rebuilt at Gower St. London			£ 10,000	Budget Estimates 1947-48.

STATEMENT I

Showing grants for providing accommodation to Indian students in the U.K.

1	2	3	4	5	6
7	New Hostel at proposed to be built at 89-92, Guildford St. London	55	£ 1,300	£ 21,000	Sanctioned in Budget Estimates 1947-48.
8	Indian students Hostel. Blackford Mount, Oswald Road, Edinburgh		£ 1,650	£ 6,000	Budget Estimates for 1947-48.
9	Indian Women Students' Hostel St. George's Drive, London				Already taken over by the High Commissioner on 20th August 1947. Details of estimates are awaited.

ARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

STATEMENT II

Showing the Number of Students who have received scholarships under the overseas scholarship Schemes of the Government of India in 1947.

(a) Central Government Scholars.

Serial No.	Name of Province	Number of scholars sent to U.K.	Number of scholars sent to U.S.A.	Rate of scholarship per scholar, per Year.	Scholarship		Total amount of scholarship in respect of each Province.	Remarks
					U.K. Rs.	U.S.A. Rs.
1	2	3	4		5	6	8	9
1	Assam	1	1	7,490	11,240	2 years.	37,460
2	Bengal	8	..	7,490	11,240	"	1,19,840
3	Bombay	1	1	74,90	11,240	"	37,460
4	Bihar	1	..	7,490	11,240	"	14,980
5	Delhi	..	1	7,490	11,240	"	22,480
6	Madras	6	4	7,490	11,240	"	1,79,800
7	Punjab	1	3	7,490	11,240	"	82,420
8	Sind	..	2	7,490	11,240	"	44,960
9	U.P.	1	3	7,490	11,240	"	82,420
10	Cochin State	1	..	7,490	11,240	"	14,980
11	Baroda State	1	..	7,490	11,240	"	14,980
12	Mysore State	1	2	7,490	11,240	"	59,940
13	Travancore State	2	1	7,490	11,240	"	52,440
14	Pudukottah State	..	1	7,490	11,240	"	22,480
TOTAL							7,86,640	Entire expenditure to be borne by the Govt. of India.

Serial No	District	Locality	Name of monement
4	Cuttack	Siriapur	The Mahratta bridge known as Antharanala (18 arched bridge) and also as Tantulimul bridge.
5	Ditto.	Ditto.	The Monolith (a massive stone pillar) also called Chandeshwar pillar.
6	Puri	Jagmara, 5 miles from Bhubaneswar Ry. Stn. Khurda Sub-Division.	Ancient remains on both Khandagiri and Udaigiri Hills.
7	Ditto.	Puri Sadar, on the Jagannath Trunk Road	Atharanala Bridge.
8	Ditto.	Konark, P.S. Gop, 21 miles from Inspection Bungalow	The Black Pagoda.
9	Ditto.	Khurda, P.S. and Sub-Division.	Dhauli Rock inscription of the edicts of Asoka together with the stone-built shelter in front and the elephant sculpture immediately above it.
10	Ditto.	Bhubaneswar, P.S. Khurda Sub-Division.	Raja Rani temple.
11	Ditto.	Sisupalgarh, Bhubneswar	Ancient town-site.
12	Ditto.	Dhaulipahad	Small rock cut cell.
13	Ditto.	Baragarh	Rameshwar temple.
14	Ditto.	Ditto.	Nabakeswar temple.
15	Ditto.	Bhubaneswar	Chitrakarni temple.
16	Ditto.	Ditto.	Bakeswar temple.
17	Ditto.	Ditto.	Makareswar temple with its minor shrines.
18	Ditto.	Ditto.	Mukteshwar temple with its minor shrines but excluding the Murich kunda.
19	Ditto.	Ditto.	Siddheswar temple with its minor shrines in the compound.
20	Ditto.	Ditto.	Parsurameswar temple.
21	Ditto.	Ditto.	Maitreswar temple with all the minor temples in the compound.
22	Ditto.	Ditto.	Sari temple No. 1.
23	Ditto.	Ditto.	Ananta Basudeva temple.
24	Ditto.	Ditto.	Sahasralinga Tank.
25	Ditto.	Ditto.	Boital temple.
26	Ditto.	Ditto.	Jameshwar temple with its minor shrines.
27	Ditto.	Ditto.	Lord Lingaraj temple with all the minor temples in the compound as given below: 1. Parbati temple. 2. Gopaluni temple. 3. Amania Well. 4. Chandeshwar deb. 5. Astamurti. 6. Ladakeshwar temple. 7. Sakreshwar temple. 8. Sathidosi temple. 9. Sabitri Devi temple.
28	Ditto.	Bargarh	Brahmeswar temple with its minor shrines in the compound.
29	Ditto.	Ditto.	Bhaskareswar temple.
30	Ditto.	Besuaghai	Magheshwar temple with its minor shrines.
31	Gunjam	Jaugada	Asoka rock inscriptions.
32	Ditto.	Kottakolla	Gangadhara and Jagadesvara temples on Brudhakolla hill beyond the village boundary of Kottakolla.
33	Ditto.	Mohendragiri	Kointa temple.
34	Ditto.	Ditto.	Yudhishtira temple.
35	Ditto.	Ditto.	Bhima temple.
36	Ditto.	Salihundam	(a) (I) Buddhist remains of chaitya and four stupas on the eastern side portion of Salihundam hill. (II) Images on the hill and in Survey No. 1131. (b) Three images in the grazing ground held on Khostpattah owned by Trustees. 1. seated Bodhisatva, with Dhyani Buddha. 2. Bodhisatva (Avalokitesvara) and 3. Marici.

MODIFICATION OF ARMS ACT AND AVAILABILITY OF ARMS TO PUBLIC

574. *Shri Har Govind Pant: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state if Government propose to modify the present Arms Act, and if so when and in what respects?

(b) What steps Government propose to take to make more fire arms available to the citizens?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) No.

(b) The matter is under consideration.

ORDNANCE FACTORIES IN INDIA

575. *Shri Har Govind Pant: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) the number of ordnance factories started in India during the war;

(b) the number of such factories lying idle at present; and

(c) the use to which such factories are proposed to be put

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Ordnance (including Clothing, Harness and Saddlery) Factories. 20.

(b) None of the existing Factories is lying idle. Of the seven Ordnance Factories started during the war six are working, while one (the Bren Gun Factory at Hyderabad) has been disposed of after its machinery had been removed to India. Of the 13 wartime Clothing Factories many of which were on leased properties, all but one have been disposed of. One Factory—the Clothing Factory, Cawnpore—is still working.

(c) Does not arise.

RECRUITMENT AND PROMOTION IN IMPERIAL SECRETARIAT SERVICE

576. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether there is an Imperial Secretariat Service consisting of two classes, Class I and Class II?

(b) What is the method of recruitment to these Services?

(c) Is recruitment made for the Secretariat as a whole or separately for each Ministry?

(d) Are Government aware that in some cases, only the claims of men serving in a Ministry have been considered for promotion in it, with the result that third division of clerks and even outsiders have been appointed as Assistant Secretaries?

(e) Are Government aware that this has given rise to serious discontentment among the members of the Service?

(f) If so, do Government propose to have a common roster and regulate the promotions accordingly?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes, Class I comprises of posts of Assistant Secretaries, while Class II consists of the posts of Superintendents and Assistants.

(b) and (c). The posts of Assistants are filled by direct recruitment on the results of a competitive examination held by the Federal Public Service Commission subject to the condition that so long as there are employees in the clerical establishment in a Ministry who were recruited before the 1st April 1940, 50 per cent. of the vacancies in the grade of Assistants are to be reserved for them. Appointments to the posts of Superintendents and Assistant Secretaries are made, as a rule, by selection from among the Assistants and Superintendents, respectively, employed in a particular Ministry.

(d) Government are not aware of any such instances.

(1) Protected Government Buildings.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
1. Assam	1	1	1	7,490	11,240	2 years	37,400
2. Bengal	1	1	2	7,490	11,240	"	59,940
3. Bihar	1	1	..	7,490	11,240	"	14,980
4. Bombay	..	..	8	7,490	11,240	"	1,70,840
5. C. P. and Berar	1	1	2	7,490	11,240	"	59,940
6. Madras	1	1	..	7,490	11,240	"	14,980
7. Punjab	..	..	2	7,490	11,240	"	44,900
8. U. P.	4	1	1	7,490	11,240	"	82,400
							Total	4,94,500	Expenditure to be shared between the Central and Provincial Govts. on 50 : 50 basis.

ACTION AGAINST OFFICERS WHO PERPETRATED ATROCITIES AND FINANCIAL AIDS TO SUFFERERS DURING STRUGGLE FOR FREEDOM

572. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to take any action against the officers who perpetrated atrocities on the people during the days of struggle for freedom before the 15th August 1947;

(b) if the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, what steps, if any, Government have taken and propose to take in this direction; and

(c) whether Government propose to grant financial and other suitable aid to the families of persons who were killed and to persons who were injured during the last Freedom Movement?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) No.

(b) and (c). Do not arise.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL SITES IN ORISSA AND EASTERN STATES AGENCY

573. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to lay on the table of the House a complete list of the archaeological sites and remains in Orissa and in the Eastern States Agency?

(b) In what places in the said territories are excavations going on at present?

(c) If no excavation is going on now, have Government in view any sites in the said area which will be taken up soon?

(d) Do Government propose to take up excavation in the Baidh Keonjhar and Patna States in the Eastern States Agency and also in Sishpalgarh at Bhubaneswar in the district of Puri (Orissa) and Ratnagiri in the district of Cuttack?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) No complete list of the archaeological sites and remains in Orissa and in the Eastern States Agency is available. A list of the 36 archaeological sites and remains in Orissa protected under the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act is placed on the table of the House.

(b) It is understood that at the present time no excavations are going on in the territories in question.

(c) The Archaeological Survey has included the site of Sisupalgarh at Bhubaneswar in its programme of fieldwork for the next two years.

(d) The Archaeological Survey has no jurisdiction within the States. Information in regard to Sisupalgarh has been furnished in reply to part (c) of this question.

Statement

List of ancient protected sites and remains in Orissa.

Serial No.	District	Locality	Name of monument.
1.	Cuttack	Barabati, Cuttack Cantt. Khasmahal	Barabati fortress (ruins and remains of all ancient edifices except the mosque at Barabati).
2.	Ditto.	Haveli Lal Bagh Jaipur Sub-Div. in the compound of the S.D.O's. quarters.	4. Colossal images named:— 1. Varahi. 2. Chamunda. 3. Indrani. 4. Kalijuga.
3.	Ditto.	Ditto.	3. Buddhist images

(c) Does not arise.

(f) The question of re-organisation of the Central Secretariat as a whole is under examination by the Government of India. The suggestion to have common rosters is being considered in that connection.

RECRUITMENT OF SOLDIERS FROM ALMORA DISTRICT

577. *Shri Har Govind Pant: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) the number of soldiers recruited from Almora District of the United Provinces, during the last War;

(b) the total number of regiments manned by the aforesaid recruits;

(c) the number of Regiments manned by them, which are now proposed to be retained;

(d) whether Government are aware of the importance of District Almora, in particular and the Division of Kumaun, in general, as a recruiting area, in view of West Punjab having gone out of India.

(e) the use to which Cantonments of Kumaun are proposed to be put; and

(f) whether Government propose to open a Military Training Centre in Kumaun, in view of the facilities available?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) 23,569.

(b) Generally speaking, almost all persons recruited from Almora District are Kumaonis and the majority of them are in one Regiment, namely, the Kumaon Regiment.

(c) The Kumaon Regiment is being retained.

(d) Yes, Sir.

(e) There are 3 Cantonments in Kumaon, namely, Ranikhet, Almora and Naini Tal. Of these, Ranikhet is not to be given up. The question of the future of Almora and Naini Tal as Cantonments is still under consideration.

(f) No, Sir. Government are examining the possibility of reducing the present number of Infantry Regimental Training Centres. The opening of a fresh training centre at Kumaon is, therefore, unlikely.

MONOPOLY OF FOREIGN NEWS AGENCIES IN DISSEMINATION OF NEWS FROM INDIA TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES

578. *Shri Banarsi Prasad Jhunjunwala: Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that foreign news agencies still enjoy virtual monopoly in the dissemination of news from India to foreign countries and from foreign countries to India;

(b) whether Government are aware that in the recent critical years of the country's struggle for independence the foreign news agencies did not confine themselves to objective presentation of news but acted as handmaid of their Governments to the detriment of India's interests;

(c) whether Government are aware that the foreign news agencies have drained the country of huge sums of money by way of profit from subscriptions they received from hundreds of newspapers and commercial firms in the country and Governmental and states subsidies in one form or other, which, during war years, is believed to have been over twenty lakhs of rupees annually; and

(d) what steps Government have taken or contemplate taking with a view to eliminating all forms of exploitation of India's resources by foreign news agencies?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Government are aware that in the absence of a well-established Indian non-official news agency, almost the entire external traffic in news is in the hands of foreign news agencies.

(b) I would refer the Honourable Member to my replies to questions Nos. 257 and 313 put by Mr. R. K. Sidhwa and Pandit H. N. Kunzru respectively on 25th November, 1947.

(c) Government are not aware of the subscriptions paid by newspapers and commercial firms. Government do not subsidise any of these agencies.

(d) This is a matter in which non-official news agencies or newspapers must show enterprise.

SIGNING OF INSTRUMENT OF ACCESSION BY STATES

579. *Shri Kanwar Shamsher Jang: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some States have been asked to sign an Instrument of Accession other than the one which was agreed upon by the Princes and the States Department and approved by the then Crown Representative, before the lapse of the Paramountcy? If so, why?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I invite the Honourable Member's attention to my answer to a similar question by the Honourable R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar on the 19th November 1947.

GRANT OF POLITICAL PENSIONS

580. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement giving the names of the political pension-holders, the amounts of pensions paid to each of them and the reasons for the grant of such pensions?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I have placed on the table of the House a statement showing in broad outline the nature of the pensions and the amounts involved. The pensions included in this statement represent the provision made for the descendants, relatives and dependants of the former Rulers of any territories in India. In addition, the Government of India also grant pensions of the order of 3½ lakhs of rupees per year for distinguished and meritorious services or for political considerations. The preparation of detailed statements showing the actual pension holders and the amounts which they individually receive will involve time and labour which will not be commensurate with the result achieved.

Statement of Political Pensions

Serial No.	Pensions payable in INDIA	Approx. amount per annum.	Nature of the charges.
1	Carnatic Stipends	1,88,200	Represents provision made for the descendants of the last Nawab of the Carnatic and includes the perpetual pensions of Rs. 1,50,000 per annum to the Prince of Arcot.
2	Tanjore Pensions	19,000	Pensions payable to the descendants of the last Raja of Tanjore.
3	Mysore Family Pensions	1,800	Represent allowances payable to members of the family of Tipu Sultan of Mysore.
4	Oudh Wasiqa Pensions	3,00,000	Pensions payable to the descendants of the relatives and servants of the wife of the third Ruler of Oudh.

Serial No.	Pensions payable in INDIA	Approx. amount per annum.	Nature of the charges.
5	Nagpur Burhanshah Family Pensions	50,000	Pensions sanctioned to the grandson of the last Raja of Nagpur.
6	Bhonsla Family Pensions	81,500	Pensions granted to the members of the Bhonsla Family of Nagpur.
7	Surat Nawab's Family Pensions	62,000	Amounts payable to the descendants of the Nawab of Surat.
8	Satara Pensions	30,000	Pensions continued to a descendent of the last Raja of Satara.
9	Nizamut Family Pensions	2,34,800	Pensions granted to the members of the Nizamut families of Murshedabad and includes the annual stipend of Rs. 2,30,000 payable to the Nawab Bahadur of Murshedabad under Act XV of 1891.
10	Oudh Family Pensions	10,100	Life pensions granted to the descendants to of the last King of Oudh.
11	Khurda Family Pensions	25,600	Pensions granted to a descendant of the Raja of Khurda.
12	Delhi Family Pensions	20,000	Pensions payable to the descendants of members of the Moghul Ruling family.
13	Pensions to Maharatta Salanadars	24,000	Pensions payable out of the revenues of Berar which were accepted by the Government of India after Berar was added to the C.P.
14	Other Pensions	10,23,600	Miscellaneous Political Pensions.

Serial No.	Pensions payable in ENGLAND	Approx. amount per annum.	Nature of the charges.
1	Duloo Singh Family Pensions	80,000	Payable to the descendants of the Raja of Lahore.
2	Bengal Nizamut Family Pensions.	12,000	Minor pensions granted to the members of the Nizamut family.

ELECTION TO COURT OF UNIVERSITY OF DELHI

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto 12 noon on Tuesday, the 2nd December 1947, the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Court of the University of Delhi, twelve nominations were received. As the number of candidates is equal to the number of vacancies I declare the following members to be duly elected:

(1) Dr. H. C. Mookerjee, (2) Prof. K. T. Shah, (3) Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand, (4) Acharya J. B. Kripalani, (5) Dr. P. S. Deshmukh, (6) Acharya Jugal Kishore, (7) Rev. Jerome D'Souza, (8) Chaudhri Nihal Singh Taxak, (9) Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafir, (10) Shrimati G. Durgabai, (11) Shri R. Santhanam and (12) Nawab Muhammad Ismail Khan.

CHILD MARRIAGE RESTRAINT (AMENDMENT) BILL

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill further to amend the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929, be continued."

اس بل کے متعلق ۲ اپریل ۱۹۴۷ء کو ہاؤس نے سامنے یہ ترمیم پیش کی گئی تھی کہ اسکو circulate کیا جائے۔ چنانچہ فیصلہ یہ ہوا تھا کہ یہ circulate کیا جائے۔ اس بارے میں مختلف پروانسیز سے ابھی تک چند رائیں نہیں آئی ہیں۔ اسلئے میں مجبوراً اسوقت صرف یہ موشن پیش کرتا ہوں کہ اس بل کو زندہ رہا جائے اور continue کیا جائے۔

An amendment to the Bill was placed before the House on April 2, 1947, that the Bill be circulated; and it was decided to circulate the Bill. Since a few opinions on the matter have not been received from the different Provinces, I am obliged now to move only the motion "that the Bill be not let down, and be continued."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill further to amend the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929, be continued."

The motion was adopted.

INDIAN PENAL CODE AND THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of Mrs. Renuka Ray, Shrimati G. Durgabai, Shrimati Kamala Chaudhri, Mr. Naziruddin Ahmed, Shri Jaspal Roy Kapoor, Shri Deshbandhu Gupta, Shri K. Santhanam, Shri Mohan Lal Saksena, Shri S. Nagappa and the Mover, with instructions to report before the first day of the next session of the Assembly and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

Sir, I have placed this motion anew before the House. As a matter of fact a similar motion was placed before the House on the 2nd of April 1947, but unfortunately that motion could not be completed owing to the shortness of time. Now I have placed this motion before the House in the hope that the House will agree to this proposition, or if it is the desire of the House that the Bill be circulated for opinion, I will not oppose such a motion provided that the opinions are received in such time as would enable me to press for the succeeding motions and get the Bill passed in the Budget session.

Sir, before I proceed to the merits and submit for the consideration of the House my reasons why the House should be pleased to accept my motion, I will, with your permission, give a brief history relating to the age of consent. Sir, in the olden times, I should say from the oldest times known to history, the consent of the girl has been regarded as indispensable before a man is allowed to touch her person. In the olden days when the laws of Manu were enforced, a person guilty of an offence of rape could be sentenced to death. From fine to death was the range of punishment provided by the ancient law-giver. According to Islamic laws, a man who was guilty of such a heinous offence as rape was liable to be sentenced to death by stoning or a hundred stripes. That was the punishment given.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): 'Or' or 'and'?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: If the sentence of death was enforced, there was no occasion for stripes being given.

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

evil effects of the pernicious custom of early marriage and early consummation in our country, everyone of us was fired with the earnestness that this Report should be accepted by the House and that the law should be changed as early as possible.

There is no doubt today that there is a change in the country for the better and that child marriage is now not so rampant as it was then. At the same time, it must be confessed that even now the enormity of the evil is not fully realised by my countrymen. I labour under this apprehension that as a matter of fact, even today many members of this House do not fully realise the evil and its magnitude. I may be pardoned for thinking so but when I pressed my motion in regard to the other Bill, the amendment of the Child Marriage Restraint Act, I found that there was very great ignorance in the House about the existence and magnitude of the evil. I do not know how the members of this Assembly feel, but I feel very strongly on this point and I think that this Bill embodies certain principles which are the very essence of the principles relating to nation-building. I believe, Sir, that the provisions contained in this Bill really constitute a charter for the emancipation of women of this country.

Sir, the main provision of the Bill is that the age of consent be changed from the present age of 13 to 15 in the case of married life and from the present age of 14 to 18 in the case of extra-marital life. In regard to the other provisions of the Bill, I would submit that Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code, Sections 375, 552, 561 and Schedule II are sought to be changed but the main change is in respect of Section 375.

Now, Sir, before I proceed with the provisions of the Bill, I would like, with your permission, to submit for the consideration of the House the state of things which existed in 1928 in the different provinces. I will not take much time of the House but I would read in respect of every province a few lines from the Report of the Age of Consent Committee. I do not know if I am boring the House, but if some provisions of this Report are read out, I believe the House would be better able to judge whether the present provisions which I am seeking to amend should be amended or not. Now, Sir, I take the Punjab. The report says:

"The census of 1921 shows that in the age period 5—10, 70 Hindu, 26 Muslim and 25 Sikh girls out of every thousand were in a married state. In the age period 10—15, 367 Hindu, 187 Muslim and 223 Sikh girls were married."

It so happens that there is a general idea that among Muslims marriages take place late in life, but this is an absolutely wrong idea. The figures showed this fact clearly and the House will have occasion to know from the figures that I shall give in respect of the different provinces that Muslims and Hindus suffer equally from this wrong. As a matter of fact, in certain areas in the Punjab the Muslims were in a worse condition than the Hindus. This is what the report says in regard to Muslims:

"Early marriage has degenerated into child marriage and the consummation of marriage when either one or both of the parties are still immature. The wife invariably being younger than the husband, the union naturally tells on her health. . . ."

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is it the opinion of the Honourable Member that the wife should be elder than the husband?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I am reading the report:

"The castes which practise early marriage on an extensive scale have generally a smaller proportion of females at the age period 12—15. Enquiries into a large number of cases show that when the marriage of young people is consummated at an early age, say when the boy is not more than 16 years or the girl is 12 or 13, a fairly large percentage of wives die of phthisis or some other disease of the respiratory organs or from some ovarian complication within 10 years of the consummation of marriage."

Then, Sir, speaking about the age of puberty and consummation of marriage in regard to Hindus, Sikhs and Muslims, the Report says:

"Among the Sikhs and Muslims, as also in the rural population generally, it is between 14 and 16. Consummation soon after puberty seems to be a general custom among Hindus and Muslims. In Haryana, which is mainly composed of the districts of Rohtak and Gurgaon, cohabitation is not uncommon before puberty."

Sir, I will not deal with the N.W.F.P.

Next I come to Delhi. About Delhi, the report says:

"Marriages of girls among Hindus generally take place between the ages of 10 and 18, more generally at 12. The Marwaries appear to marry their girls below 12 and the Jains after 14. As regards Muslims it seems that their girls are married at about the age of 13 or 14. The lower classes amongst them, however, effect child marriages which are sometimes performed at 3, 4, 7 and 8 years of age."

Continuing, the report says:

"Some instances of this type are also to be found among the lower classes and in the case of elderly husbands"

Regarding Ajmer, the Report says:

"In this part of the country the age at which girls attain puberty is 13 or 14. The bride and bridegroom are locked up in a room for a night soon after marriage and consequently in several cases consummation takes place before puberty and before the age of 13. It is more so, because there being no widow marriage, widowers marry young girls of immature age. As a result of such early consummation, the health of the mothers and progeny suffers and there is a high maternal and infantile mortality."

In Bombay Presidency, Sir, the Report says:

"In Gujarat and Kathiawar, early marriage prevails largely among all castes, except among Brahma Kshatriyas and Nagar Brahmins living in towns and the upper classes of Muslims. It is very rampant among the lower castes, such as Ghanchis, Kanbis, Kolis, and Dheds."

In Bombay, proper early marriage is practised largely among all classes, except the Gaud Saraswat Brahmins, Pathare Prabhus, Kapol Vaishyas, and the upper classes of Muslims. It is very common among Bhatias and Marwaries.

In the Deccan districts too, early marriage is common, except among the Chitpavan Brahmins, and the Saraswat Brahmins. It is common among the Mahrattas, Mahars, Holiyas, Lingayats, Shimpees, Vakkals and other lower castes.

Broadly speaking, the practice of early marriage prevails in the rural areas and among the uneducated classes, and is gradually disappearing from among the educated classes. It is practically non-existent among Parsis, and Christians.

In the Bombay Presidency, girls are married, more largely than elsewhere at very low ages. In 1921, there were 1,666 girls married or widowed, under one year of age, 1,671 girls married or widowed between one and two years of age, 4,378 girls married or widowed between two and three years of age, 7,219 girls married or widowed between three and four years of age, 12,834 girls married or widowed between four and five years of age, 1,93,582 girls married or widowed between five and ten years of age and 4,98,706 girls married or widowed between ten and fifteen years of age.

In the surrounding tracts in Bombay Province early marriage is common enough."

Sir, as regards Deccan and Karnatak—I am reading all this in order that all the Members should not be put to the trouble of going through all these pages, as I know they will never take this trouble, you will find on page 43.....

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): The Honourable Member is reading all the figures which are based on the last Census in 1921. After that the Act was passed with their own advice. I think it will be better if he can give us the later figures.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: Unfortunately the figures of married conditions, etc., are not given in the Census Report of 1941. The Committee made its report in 1929. So the Committee could not possibly consider the 1931 figures. So I am only reading from the Report of the Age of Consent Committee. I would have been very happy to read the figures from the Census Report in 1941, but I failed to get any information and because this information is not given there.

1162 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [3RD DEC. 1947]

An Honourable Member: After death.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: It was in 1828 that an Act was enacted which provided that if the age of the girl was below 8, death was to be the penalty. After that, in 1860 when the Penal Code was enacted, the law was changed, and if a person was guilty of rape and the age of the girl was less than 10 years, then he could be given transportation for life. This punishment was provided in both cases, in extra-marital as well as marital cases. In 1891 the law was changed and it was provided that in intra-marital cases if the age of the wife was less than 12, the husband could be punished. A case reported in 18 Calcutta 62, a very famous case of those times, the case of Hari Mohan Maithi was the occasion for this change. There was great agitation in the country then and it was pleaded that the husband had an absolute right to the person of his wife and no law could punish the husband, but the legislature did not agree and on the plea that such a change was humanitarian and would protect female children from immature prostitution and premature cohabitation, the law was changed. After that the first attempt to change the law took place in the year 1922, when Bakshi Sohan Lal brought in a Bill to amend Section 375 of the Indian Penal Code. The Bill was first circulated, and then a motion was made for reference to the Select Committee.

But the Government of the day did not like the change and ultimately the motion was negatived by 41 votes to 29, though the Government remained neutral. In the course of the discussion the Government Member himself declared the policy of the Government in these words:

"If the Bill did go to a Select Committee, it would only go on the distinct condition that the sanction did not apply to marital relations, and that in the case of girls who were twelve and under fourteen, the punishment should be materially reduced and placed in a somewhat similar level to that which obtained in England."

So it appears that practically by the action of the Government, this Bill was nipped in the bud and it was not allowed to get beyond the stage of circulation.

Then again in 1924 an attempt was made by Dr. Hari Singh Gour to amend the law and he brought in a Bill in 1924. The Bill was referred to a Select Committee and ultimately when it emerged out of the Select Committee and came to the House an amendment was carried by the House which changed the age to 16 in the case of extra-marital cases; and another amendment was carried by which the age was increased, in regard to intra-marital cases, to 14. But the Government of the day did not like the change. When the amendment in regard to intra-marital cases was made to 14, the result of the voting was that 45 were in favour and 43 against including about 18 Government votes, as the Government did not like the change for reasons which I shall indicate subsequently. The Bill was ultimately defeated in the House and the result was that 54 votes were cast against the Bill which included 24 votes of the Members of the Government and their party. The Bill was defeated by the vote of the Government because the Government of the day did not like that the age should be increased to 14.

The House may wonder why the Government of the day did not like this change. The reason is not far to seek: it was a non-National Government. This Government which could abolish sati did not like that the age of consent should be raised even to 14, what to speak of 16 and 18? This age of consent in regard to marital ages has a very great bearing upon the character of the people, upon the physique of the people and upon other matters which vitally concern the nation; and the foreign Government did not want that Indians should rise to their full stature, that they should be patriotic or that they should have the nerve to stand against the Government. Therefore as that Government wanted to weaken the Indians, it did not like the idea of raising the age of consent.

Now, Sir, the Indians did not take it lying down. Again a Bill was brought in 1927 but in between, Government could not resist the pressure of public opinion; and the Government itself brought in a Bill in 1925. The result of that Bill was that the age of consent in regard to intra-marital cases was raised from 12 to 13—only one year's increase. In 1927 again, as stated above, Dr. Gour brought forward a Bill for amending the law, and it was during the course of discussion on this Bill that the Government were forced to appoint a Committee known as the Age of Consent Committee. The Committee originally consisted of six persons to which four members were added as the representatives of this House. The Committee spent something like Rs. 2,88,614. It was presided over by an eminent gentleman, Sir Moropant Joshi. The other members were—I am just giving the names of the members to show that the Committee was representative and its report should be given due weight—the other members were: Rai Bahadur Pandit Kanhaiya Lal, Retired Judge of the Allahabad High Court, Mr. A. Ramaswami Mudaliyar, lately the Leader of this House, Khan Bahadur Mahbub Mian Imam Bakshi Kadri, Retired Sessions Judge, Mrs. O'Brien Beadon, a doctor, Mrs. Brij Lal Nehru, Mr. S. C. Mitra, M.L.A., Myself, Maulvi Muhammad Yakub, M.L.A., and Mian Mohammad Shah Nawaz, M.L.A. These ten persons were appointed; the Committee made its Report in the latter portion of May 1929 after it had toured all over the country and took the evidence in the different Provinces. The Committee visited Lahore, Peshawar, Karachi, Delhi, Ahmedabad, Bombay, Poona, Ootacamund, Calicut, Madras, Madurai, Vizagapatam, Dacca, Shillong, Calcutta, Patna, Benares, Allahabad, Lucknow and Nagpur. The Committee examined orally about four hundred witnesses. It sent its questionnaire to more than eight thousand people and a very great number of written statements were received. The Committee examined many theologians, medical experts, orthodox ladies, educated ladies, old men, and all others whom the Committee thought would be able to give opinion in the matter. The Committee made a unanimous Report. But during all these seventeen years except for giving support to the Sarda Bill, the Government have not taken the Report seriously and the reason is obvious, as I have said already.

Now, Sir, I have brought in this Bill, and the chief recommendations of that Committee have been incorporated in the Bill with a few exceptions which I shall have occasion to speak about later on. In regard to those exceptions I myself appended notes of dissent and I have in this Bill given effect to those notes of dissent.

Sir, the problem is very simple. On account of child marriage, there is pre-puberty consummation in this country; there is also early consummation on account of child marriages soon after puberty and this is a great evil which we want to ostracize from this land. I know it is not fully realized what the extent of the evil is and to illustrate my point let me refer to two or three matters which I remember as anecdotes relating to this Committee. I confess I myself did not know about the extent of the evil and when I joined the Committee I had absolutely no idea that the evil was of such magnitude. Our great leader Pandit Moti Lal Nehru, when he heard about the Sarda Bill said that Mr. Harbilas Sarda wanted to gain by the Bill cheap notoriety. When once I happened to see our revered President, the elder Patel—I was coming from Bombay and happened to meet him at some station in the train—he said, "Where are you coming from?" I told him that I was a Member of this Committee. He said "It is a nonsensical Committee". Then, Sir, we had occasion to examine Sir Saadulla in Assam and he was simply wonder-struck when I told him while examining him, that he had no idea of the enormity of the evil in Bengal, and he changed his view when I gave him the figures in Bengal. I can cite many other examples. As a matter of fact, very few people realised the extent of the evil and its devastating effects. But after day in and day out for ten months we had chewed the cud and been thoroughly imbued with the realisation of the

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

If my Honourable friends think that as a matter of fact the conditions are so totally changed that the figures are out of all proportion to the figures which are now obtaining, I would submit let them make some allowance for the 20 years and then come to the conclusion and see if there is still any case for this change in the law.

Mr. Speaker: I was thinking of suggesting to the Honourable Member on a different line, to curtail the length of his speech and that was, that as the Honourable Members have been given figures for two or three typical Provinces, the Honourable Member need not go into detailed figures for every province; and it will be fairly assumed by the House that conditions are practically the same in all provinces. No further quotations are required for conviction as regards each Province.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: Sir, I accept your advice and do not want to go on with the figures. But I would only make one submission before the Honourable Members in regard to the figures in regard to other provinces. So far as Bengal is concerned, I specifically make a submission to the House that Bengal may be considered separately, because it is the worst province in regard to this evil.

An Honourable Member: Why?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: The exception is only to be made in respect of Bihar and Orissa where conditions are equally bad.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose (Orissa: General): They are not so bad now.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: It was never realized in the year 1931 that the conditions were quite bad and it is not realized today that the conditions though they are not equally bad, but are still bad enough and seriously bad. Any person who goes about the country with his eyes open can see that this system of early marriage is as rampant as before among the rural backward and depressed classes and even now mass marriages take place.

I have submitted for the consideration of the House that early consummation and early marriage which are concomitant evils, are today prevalent in the country. Now the question arises as to what is the real effect of these evils.

As regards this, I will not content myself with stating my own opinion or the general opinion of the country. With your permission, Sir, I will refer Honourable Members to the evidences of doctors who appeared before the Committee, to the statistics that they submitted for our consideration and if you will kindly have a look at these statistics, it would appear that early consummation and early marriage are fraught with grave consequences to the mothers and the progeny of those mothers.

Now again, I think I will not be accepting the Honourable Speaker's advice, if I were to read out extracts from the Age of Consent Committee Report. I will refer the House to certain portions appearing in this Report and if any Honourable Member wishes to enlighten himself with the state of things which obtain in this country and which are still obtaining in this country, he will be pleased to read pages 161—168 of this Report. It will be established that as a matter of fact in regard to maternal mortality owing to this early marriage and early consummation our country has got the highest figure in the world. Therefore, I will content myself with giving one or two figures in this connection:

"From the Lucknow Branch of the Lady Chelmsford Maternity and Red Cross Society Child Welfare League —

In this branch the total number of cases of pregnancy below 30 years was 3,160 in 3 years. Out of these 2.3 per cent. were below 16 years complete, of whom 35.75 per cent. were below 16 years complete, of whom 35.75 show some abnormality as above described; whereas for the age period 16—19 the abnormality rate was 17.52 per cent. and for the age period 20—30 it was 10.50 per cent."

Similarly, Sir, in regard to maternal mortality, reference may be made to what Dr. Adishesan, the Assistant Director of Public Health, Madras, says. He examined 7,000 confinement cases and he gave his conclusions which are to be found at the end of the Book as an Appendix to the Report. All these conclusions will show that when maternity comes on before the complete age of 16, the consequences are very tragic; it happens that the mother dies or the child dies or they live a life of great misery.

As regards, Sir, infantile mortality, the less said the better. The death rate in England was 70 per mille and in India 189.04 per mille. Now, Sir, this was the rate given by the Health Officer of Delhi. He states the death rate of children is abnormally high.

So, it would appear, Sir, that as a matter of fact this proposition should be accepted by the House that the effect of child marriage and early consummation is very very bad on the physique of the girls of the nation. Now, Sir, if you look at the psychological results of this early consummation and early marriage you will agree with me that the results are still more tragic and the problems of the present day require that the age of consent should be changed. Even now when the marriageable age has increased in cities and in many communities which are educated and which have realised the evil consequences of child marriage, even now, I assume the consummation of young girls between 13 and 15 takes place and even now according to the provisions of the Bill many offences take place, though they do not come to light.

The safe age for maternity according to Vagbhat and Sushruta and according to the Allopathic system is 16 years. I ask Honourable Members to tell me if there is no case of maternity in India before the age of 16 or if consummation does not take place before a girl is full 15. If they think that conditions are so good there is no harm in changing the law because we will then be in the same state as the rest of the world. The age of consent in other countries is given on page 340 of the Age of Consent Committee's report, and you will be surprised to learn that the age is 18 in other countries; in very few countries is the age so low as 14 or 16.

Mr. Tajamul Husain (Bihar: Muslim): What is it in England?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: There my Honourable friend is on some safe ground. It is said in this report—and the question was also raised when I brought in an amendment to the Child Marriage Restraint Act—that the age is only 12 in England. But there marriages never take place before 16. And the figures show that in 12 years before 1928—when the figures were quoted in this report—there were 28 cases in the whole of England and Wales of marriage at 14, 318 cases at 15 and only 12 cases at 13. May I ask my Honourable friend who interrupted me to tell me what the corresponding numbers were in this country? I may tell him that at least 50 per cent. of girls in India are married before the age of 15; does he realise the effects of that on our girls?

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Then why not raise the age of marriage?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I will come to that. If I bring in a Bill to do that I know what kind of reception it will get. If you raise the age of marriage from 14 to 16 I will be the first man to support it. I propose to bring in a Bill to raise the age of marriage for girls from 14 to 15. That would surely be a lesser evil. I think it is not an evil at all as compared with the change of age so far as the age of consent is concerned. If it is made an offence and all offences come to court, the courts will be flooded with these cases. Violations of the age of consent law do not come to court and it was intended that they should not come to court. But if the age of 15 is fixed in the Marriage Bill that will be the real solvent of our troubles and difficulties. If it is a fact that you are not affected by any change of the age of consent, why object to it? If offences are [Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava] committed in the bedroom no one will bring them into court; neither the wife nor any other relations will come and give evidence in court because everyone will be interested in hushing it up so that it may not be exposed. So if the age of consent is changed there will be no harm done to society.

Sir, I think I have established that the evil of early consummation and early marriage is to be found in India, and I hope I have succeeded in establishing that these are the chief sources of evil in regard to our health and all other branches of life. The question is asked, what is the use of raising the age of consent? But is the health consideration nothing at all? Recently my Honourable friend Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya moved a Resolution in the House about national militia. Was not there a complaint during the war that Indians are not now as good soldiers as they were before? Did we not hear the other day from the Honourable Labour Minister that labour has greatly deteriorated and that the outturn of an Indian labourer is only one-seventh of that of a British worker and one-fourteenth of that of an American worker. Do we not know that an Afghan labourer is a better worker and earns more and at the same time is superior to our workers in respect of lifting weights? I submit that you will not have to spend so much on health problems if you raise this age. I submit that there is no department of life which will not be affected for the better if you pass this law and also—which is more important—if you implement this law by your actions and do not allow a single marriage to be consummated or performed before the girl is fully developed. May I humbly ask what right man has got to inflict an injury on a girl? I have spoken only of health considerations; I think our soldiers would be more brave and would discharge their duties better if they were sons of mothers who were not married at an early age.

Then I come to the social effect. My Honourable friend Haji Ishaq Seth has given notice of a circulation motion. I will accept that motion; but may I ask if you want your girls of the future to be Councillors and lawyers, and so on? Do you want them to be independent and to enjoy the pleasures of joyous girlhood between the ages of 13 and 15? Or do you want to shackle them behind the purdah? If not, you have to raise the age to 18 in extra-marital cases; you must give them freedom to learn things and to be educated. A girl cannot be educated if she is married at the age of 12 and 13. The only remedy for this state of things is to raise the age of marriage and the age of consent.

Sir, people complain about the dowry system and then they want to introduce this social reform and that social reform. In my view there is only one reform which will do away with the need for other reforms and that is raising the age of marriage and age of consent. In fact I maintain that this raising of the age from 13 to 15 in marital cases and from 14 to 18 in extra-marital cases constitutes the very charter of liberty for the women of India.

In regard to other considerations I submit that if you want to change the old idea of the overlordship of man over woman, if you feel that the woman of the future should not regard her husband as her overlord but as a companion for life . . .

Shri H. V. Kamath (C. P. and Berar: General): Is my Honourable friend an exponent of free love?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: That question is not germane to the present discussion. But if he wants my view, I want that the girls in India should be given liberty to choose their husbands. In Vedic and olden times the girls were allowed this choice. Muslim law, Christian law and Hindu law allows it. Does my Honourable friend want that in future the fathers of these girls should continue to sell them as they are doing now?

Does he want that the considerations of wealth and other things should guide the choice of fathers and the girls of our land should not be allowed any scope for freedom?

Shri H. V. Kamath: My question was different.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I submit that it is the boys that are being sold.

Mr. Speaker: If the Honourable Member goes on answering these interruptions, there will be no end.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: The conditions of today are exceptionally bad, and looked at from whatever standard, this present system of early marriage and consummation is eating into the very vitals of our society, and the change if made, as I have suggested, will materially change our conditions, and we shall grow in stature and in character also, if we leave this early marriage and early consummation.

As I have submitted, for all these considerations, I maintain that the change of the present age from 13 to 15 is a measure long overdue. We made a report in 1929 and since these 18 years the country has made greater strides towards the millennium than it ever made before. Previously the foreign Government did not want this change. While they abolished sati they did not abolish this. This system is worse than sati because in sati the girl died once. Here every day child widows pass their lives in conditions approximating burning on funeral pyres. When a girl became sati and died she left no impress and the only thing she left was praise for her courage; but in the case of girls suffering from early marriage and early consummation the case is worse. As a matter of fact, in our society they are not regarded now with the same consideration as they were regarded before. Now there is no joint family. Now the regard for child widows and old widows has diminished and in this individualistic age it is difficult for widows to pass their time. Therefore the time has come when we should not lead a life of complacency that because in the cities there is improvement then there is also improvement in the rural areas. I gave an example the last time when I spoke on the Child Marriage Bill. I am living in Hissar and in my compound there are some people belonging to the depressed class. There is my syce among them who has seven or eight children. Every year his wife gives birth to a child. The child in arms, a girl of 4 years and another of 5 years—are all married. There is another chaprassi, a Muhammadan; one day a daughter of his, aged four years, came to my house and said to my wife that her mother-in-law had come and was asking her to go away to her husband's house. She said: "I do not want to go". This is happening every day. I do not know about the conditions in the rest of India. But when I roamed throughout India with this Committee I went to the villages and studied conditions with open eyes. Conditions may have since changed but this evil has not been eliminated. As a matter of fact the evil is there. If I were convinced the evil was not there, I submit I would not take so much time of the House. But I want to submit for your consideration that even if many Members of this House say that the evil is not there, I will not be impressed by that opinion on account of the reasons which I have submitted for your consideration. If this is true that the evil is there, then I must submit that we must find a solution and the only solution is increasing the age of marriage and consent.

The question was what should be the change if the age is to be changed from 13? That agitated the mind of the Committee. The Committee recommended that 15 should be the proper age. Other ages were considered. The age of 15 cannot also be changed to a much greater age. According to myself, I would have preferred if 16 was the age. But since the Committee recommended 15, I have stuck to that because I do not want to rush headlong towards a bigger age, but beyond 16 I am not prepared to go.

But with the age of marriage at 14 and the age of consent at 15, there will be many infractions of this law. I would therefore submit for the consideration of the House that the marriageable age should be changed to 16. But as there is no such Bill before the House this is not very pertinent now. I maintain that the change in the age of consent does go a long way for preparing us for a change in the law of the marriageable age. An increase in age shall prove to be of great economic advantage also to our people. When the Honourable Member Mr. Gadgil was replying to me on the last occasion on the 2nd April, he himself stated his experience to the House and said that when he went to his constituency and told people that economically speaking they would become very much better than before by raising the marriageable age, the people round about him accepted the opinion. I say the same thing. Unless this age is changed, in the very hard times to come people will not be able to earn their livelihood. They will not be able to keep their families if they do not increase the age of marriage, and I therefore submit, that judged from whatever standard you like—economically, sociologically, physically or psychologically—this age must be changed. What is the psychological effect? If you go on talking about marriage among young girls the result is, as it has happened in Bengal. In the rest of India the age of puberty is 14. Ellis's "Jurisprudence" gives the age of puberty between 12 to 14 in 65.7 per cent. of the girls. Out of the 765 replies received by the Committee, 53 per cent. of them gave the age of puberty as between 12 and 14 years. And in certain communities of Madras who are addicted to early marriage the age of girls with regard to menstruation has changed. They have even changed nature by this evil. For Madras girls and Bengal girls the age of puberty comes on between 8 and 11. This is the result if you frequently speak of marriages and indulge in early marriages. And in our homes there is no other talk among our young folk and old folk. The psychological effect is that there is precocious puberty among those girls and this is a national vice of the worst character. Therefore psychologically speaking also this talk of early marriage and consummation is bad.

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

As regards provisions of the Bill which I am submitting for your consideration, I want a change in Section 361. This is the second clause in my Bill, in regard to Section 361—Kidnapping. We have changed the age to 16 in Section 366 (a) and (b) and other relevant sections also. But so far as this age is concerned, it is at present 16 and I want it to be made 18. It is very curious that if there is a girl and she is owner of lakhs of rupees and property worth crores, she cannot part as a minor with property worth Rs. 1. She cannot even dispose of one house out of her property but she can dispose of her person even if she is 14.

It is an absurdity that for extra-marital cases the age of a girl should be only 14 years. It so happens that a girl of 16 may be fully developed so far as cohabitation is concerned but psychologically she may not fully comprehend the consequences of her act. An unscrupulous man may dupe her and

1 P.M. she may have to repent all her life. To protect these girls from the hands of evil-doers it is necessary that in extra-marital cases the age should be increased from 14 to 18. Opinion in the country was almost unanimous in regard to this age and there is no harm if the age is increased to 18. I can understand that there might be some difficulty in regard to deva dasies or prostitutes but even from their point of view it would be to their benefit if they are in a position to understand what they are being brought up to and what will be their future course of action and fate. In their cases also they will benefit a great deal if the age is increased to 18.

In regard to these two cases I know it may be argued that a girl of 16 may in some cases tempt boys of 20 to 25 but with regard to that we have made a provision that in such cases where the girls are between 16 and 18 and consent the offence may be regarded as compoundable. In regard to the main change I want the age from 13 to 15, in intra-marital cases and from 14 to 18, in extra-marital cases. To encompass this it would be necessary to amend Section 375 and create a new offence. The Committee's report calls it marital misbehaviour. I want to add another Section 376A. Rare as understood in ordinary language does not and should not include the case of a wife. So the new offence of marital misbehaviour is provided in Section 376A and the punishment for the same is provided under Section 376B. There was some difference of opinion, as there is bound to be, in regard to the punishment to husband offenders who commit offence on girls below the age of 12 and above this age. Nobody can have any sympathy with such offenders when the age of the girl is below 12 and they should be given the punishment which is provided for ordinary offenders. In regard to offenders when the age of the wife is between 12 and 15 the Committee felt that there should be a difference and I also agree but where I disagree with the Committee is with regard to the quantum of punishment. The Committee opined that the punishment should be one year but I have provided for two years. I appended a note of dissent to the report. I do not want to give to the House all the reasons which actuated me to make this change. All that I want to say is that under the scheme of things as I envisage it the provisions of this Bill will be more useful in creating conditions of fear of consequences of breach than that they will be utilized by actual enforcement of provision. When the effect of the law is stringent people would act and behave in a particular manner on account of the fear of the consequences. Therefore the two years punishment should be retained so that people might know that the offence is very atrocious on account of its being attended with very grave consequences.

In regard to the other provisions of the Bill, so far as paragraph 6 is concerned, it only places a limitation upon the period during which a prosecution under this Act can be made. In regard to the other provisions, Section 552 deals with the powers of the court to give liberty to abducted females or females who are kept in custody. I want to change the law to include not only girls of 16 but girls of 18, who should be afforded this protection. Similarly in Chapter II I have made a change.

In regard to the placing of these sections in the body of the Penal Code the Committee thought that they should be placed under the Chapter of offences relating to marriage. I do not agree for reasons given in my note of dissent. In my humble opinion these offences should be placed in that part which relates to offences against the human body. The essence of the offence is that the offender really commits a crime against the human body. If you look at Section 87 of the Penal Code you will agree with me. As a matter of fact the principle contained in that provision is applicable to the case of girls and it is on that basis alone that this legislation is justifiable. Therefore the proper place for this offence is, according to my humble opinion, under the offences relating to the human body.

I do not want to take any more time of the House. I have already taken a good length of time. I would only submit one point in conclusion. I regard that this Bill will certainly benefit our people and our countrymen much more than any other legislation. When we look at the Objectives Resolution of the Constituent Assembly I feel bound to say that the objectives of the resolution will be better fulfilled by enacting this Bill than by enacting any other legislation, as it will secure social justice and social security at once.

In the budget of human relations I believe that the place which we assign to the backward classes and the depressed classes constitutes the real test of our progress. There are three questions of vital importance according to me in regard to this budget of human relations. The first is: How do we treat our women? I know that all our ancient seers, sages and leaders from time immemorial have tried to ameliorate the condition of the women of this country. Mahavir Swami fought for them; Swami Dayanand, Mahatma Gandhi and many others have been trying in their own way to ameliorate the condition of women and the depressed classes of this country. The House will be interested to know that when the Sarda Bill came before this House in 1928 I sent a wire to Mahatmaji asking for his opinion about the proper age for marriage. He was kind enough to send a reply saying that 18 was the proper age for girls.

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

I am only asking that the age of consent should be raised to 15. If you follow the lead of that great man you should at once accept the principle of this Bill.

In this connection I would submit that the Government must take substantial steps to implement the spirit of this Bill. I would in the end submit for the consideration of the House that they should consider the Bill on its merits and try to remedy the evils our country is suffering from. My weak powers of expression should not affect the full appreciation of the miseries which our girls suffer from as a result of early consummation and marriage. The House if it agrees with my conclusions should lose no time to pass this measure.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of Mrs. Renuka Ray, Shrimati G. Durgabai, Shrimati Kamala Chaudhri, Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad, Shri Jaspal Roy Kapoor, Shri Deshbandhu Gupta, Shri K. Saathanam, Shri Mohan Lal Saksena, Shri S. Nagappa and the Mover, with instructions to report before the first day of the next session of the Assembly and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the committee shall be five."

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth (Madras: Muslim): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st July, 1948."

Mr. Speaker: I would like to know from the Honourable Member whether he wants to stick to that date.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: I think I had better stick to this date. My friend said that he was agreeable to a motion for circulation but stipulated that the opinion should be received before the next session of the Assembly. I want to point out to him that it is physically impossible to circulate the Bill and get opinions before the next meeting of the Assembly, which means the Budget Session which I understand will be held in the middle of February 1948. In the two months that we will have it will be impossible for the office to circulate the Bill and get opinions. The shortest time allowed usually is six months, and my motion also provides about that much time—it allows seven months. It is the shortest time that could be allowed for the purpose. I therefore appeal to my friend to accept this date and I assure him and the House that there is no purpose behind this motion of a dilatory character.

With regard to the provisions of the Bill I am not going to delve into the various provisions or how they affect us or the country. It is essentially a measure of reform and I think the House will do well to get the opinion of the people who are going to be affected by this measure. So far as I understand there will not be much difficulty with regard to the provisions of the Bill except with regard to clause 5 where the Honourable Member creates a new offence and is raising the age to a limit which I am afraid the country may not be willing to accept without a great deal of publicity. My motion will help in this way, namely that it will also provide propaganda in favour of these amendments and it will be for the country to express its opinion whether to accept it or not. It is in this view I am moving the amendment and I hope the House will accept it.

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That the Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st July, 1948."

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock. Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin (C. P. and Berar: Muslim): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in supporting the amendment for circulation of the motion, I accept that the Mover of the resolution made a remarkable speech, and feelingly too: but certain aspects of the provisions that we want to bring on to the statute book have to be seen whether they are sound on principle. He has made a serious speech and has proposed very serious punishments. I think the learned Mover is unmindful of his youth and he has made his speech when he is old. There is no doubt, Sir, that the fundamental propositions laid down by him in his speech will be acceptable to practically all the members of this House. There is absolutely no doubt that child marriage is positively detrimental to our women folk and it is an evil which has to be uprooted. The two principles underlying this Bill are whether the age of consent has to be raised and whether severe punishment has to be provided in case of violation of these provisions. My Honourable friend the Mover of the resolution has made a long speech against child marriages,—a principle which is acceptable to all. As regards the amendment to section 361, I accept there can be no objection. My objection is to the amendment to section 376. It is said "except where the woman is between 16 and 18 years of age and is a consenting party to the sexual intercourse when the offender shall be punished with imprisonment of either description which may extend to two years or fine or with both". If in the case of marriage the age of consent is 15, why in the case of a girl and a young man, who are 16 or above 16 and below 18, they cannot be allowed to live together? Absolutely no reason has been assigned as to why they cannot meet with the consent of each other. Sir, the Mover of the resolution has not considered a serious aspect of the question. There are many who do not believe in the institution of marriage. There are many who believe in the principle of communism. They refuse to marry. If mantras or recitations of verses are read, the age of consent is 15. If such mantras are not recited, then they cannot live as husband and wife between 16 and 18. That is a very cruel provision of law that is being enacted. Secondly in the case of prostitutes it will be very difficult. The Mover of the resolution has already said, there are some difficulties about prostitution and no provisions have been made to minimize the effects of that hardship. Another aspect of this Bill, Sir, is this: It is said that when the age of the girl is above 16 and below 18, then the punishment will be 2 years to the offender. If the girl is a consenting party, why should she not be punished? Why the young man is punished when the girl is a consenting party and when she is above 16 and could make a very good wife if she had married at the age of 15? The learned Mover has assigned absolutely no reason for it. It is a physical necessity for a woman. It is a physical necessity for a man. Why should you make a distinction between a young man and a young girl? My learned friend wants to punish the man who has committed this offence and not the woman who is a consenting party, who has also a physical necessity, who is fully developed according to medical opinion.

Then there is another thing Sir. "Whoever commits marital misbehaviour shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years or with fine or with both if the age of the wife is below twelve years and with punishment of either description for a term which may extend to two years or with fine or both if the age of the wife is between twelve and fifteen years." Now this is a very very severe punishment. If there is a misbehaviour of the husband with his wife when she is below 12 and if the man is given the maximum punishment for the alleged cruel treatment then he has to go to jail for ten years, and if she is below fifteen, the punishment of the sentence is two years. Before these punishments are accepted, my submission is that there must be a marital law in the country which should totally prohibit child marriages or marriages of girls below 15 or 16. This punishment is bound to disturb the domestic life of the couple. If a man is sentenced to jail on the evidence of his wife and that too for 10 years, up to the age of 22 she has no husband practically and when the husband returns from jail, he may accept her or he may not accept her at all. Instead of giving very severe sentence and punishment when he misbehaves, why not enact marital laws in which very severe punishment should be enacted for having marital ties with girls below 15? Now Sir, in the law now prevailing about child marriages, the punishment is very low. The amending Bill which has come proposes 3 months punishment only. If this is the punishment for having such marriages, then why such a serious punishment to a couple or to the husband who is already married and who has to live with that girl all his life? My submission is that before this punishment is accepted, the learned Mover should have brought a Bill in which marriages of girls below 15 should be prohibited and very serious punishment should be provided.

[Kazi Syed Karimuddin]

Now, in one of the paragraphs of the age of consent Report it is mentioned that there are some communities in Assam who have their marriages by courtship and love and that on that ground they have been exempted about the age of consent being above 16. Now, suppose there are some communities in this country who marry after courtship, who marry after making love, and if they live together and make love and commit a blunder between the ages of 16 and 18, and if the courtship falls through; then the husband or the man who tries to woo his would-be-wife, has to go to jail for a mistake in having courtship and love with the girl. These things, Sir, have not been provided for at all.

Now, the Mover of this Resolution in his speech has said that in regard to this misbehaviour mentioned in sub-paragraph (iv) the offence is compoundable. Now if this offence has been committed between the man and the woman who is above 16, it is made compoundable. When it is done with consent why should it go to court? You have made it compoundable without the permission of the court. Suppose they go to court and say, "No, we do not want this case to be prosecuted; the case should be withdrawn", then what is the result of this? It is a contradiction in terms. If you think it is such a serious offence in which the punishment is two years, why have you made it compoundable? If it is done with the consent and if it is made compoundable, what is the meaning of this prosecution? Certainly, Sir, I maintain that it is a contradiction in terms. My suggestion to the learned Mover is that instead of providing such serious punishments in regard to the violation of the provisions of this Bill, the marital laws should be made very strict. The offences under the marital law should be made cognizable—as the legal position stands today, they are non-cognizable. Parties, admittedly, are very reluctant to make reports on the marriages of minors to the Police or to the Courts. If they are made cognizable, if there is a severity of the punishment and sentence in regard to marital laws, there would be hardly any marriages.

Now, what would happen if marital laws are not provided in the manner I have suggested? If there is no severity of sentence, the position will be like this; there would be many marriages because there is less severity of sentence and if there is a marital misbehaviour the husband is likely to be sentenced; and if a serious view is to be taken as I have already said, the domestic life is bound to be marred. The domestic life can never be happy when the husband has been convicted on the evidence of his wife and the chances are that they would never meet each other.

Therefore, before this Bill is sent for eliciting public opinion, the Mover should take all these factors into consideration and when occasion comes he should amend his Bill.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I do agree that the age of consent has to be raised in certain cases. This Bill covers two sections of the Penal Code and tries to make consequential changes in the Criminal Procedure Code. The first is with respect to Section 361 relating to kidnapping. A person is said to commit an offence of kidnapping if he takes away a male who is below the age of 14, and of a female who is below the age of 16, without the consent of the guardian, or entices her away. Now, the Bill seeks to increase the age from 16 to 18 in the case of a woman. I do not see any objection in this. We are not in Western countries; we are here—both Hindus and Muslims, and others—Jains, Parsis and Buddhists—the institution of marriage applies to all of us and we all believe in it. We are not trying to provide for a few communists who may not believe in the institution of marriage at all. Let one belong to any religion in this country; would he take a girl who before marriage coquets with another man? Does our society admit it? Is it right that when she is still at an immature age she should be allowed to go astray?

Sir, each country is trying to make laws suitable to its own level of culture and habits. Therefore I do not find any objection to raising the age in the case of kidnapping from 16 to 18 for girls. The age of the boy must also be correspondingly raised from 16 to 18. I would like to make an amendment to that effect.

As regards the other Section, Section 375 of the Indian Penal Code, I agree with the previous speaker in that it is not happily worded and I take exception to the substance of it as well. Now, the marriageable age of a girl has been raised from 12 to 14. But under this Bill my Honourable friend Pandit Bhargava wants that though they can marry a girl as soon as she completes 14, she ought not to look at her husband till 15; they should be kept into separate compartments and if unfortunately they should come together the husband will, as a consequence of that weakness, be put into jail. That is what happens. Raise the marriageable age from 14 to 15; I have no quarrel. But if, after accepting the marriageable age to be 14, and after marriage, you do not want that the husband and wife should live as husband and wife and make it a penal offence if they should live as husband and wife till the age of 15, it is rather an inconvenience. I understand from my Honourable friend that he is anxious to raise the marriageable age also from 14 to 15. All right, that must precede this. Then no girl should be married below the age of 15; in that case all the inconvenience would be avoided; all the chapter and verse that he quoted from various doctors in the previous Committee's Report may be applicable. I have no objection. Let the marriageable age of girls be raised from 14 to 15. But this is not the way in which he should try in a round about manner to get at the desired result. As it is, it will cause a great amount of hardship and will disturb matrimonial relationship; where after a marriage the husband and wife are expected to live comfortably in the domestic life, all that will disappear. Therefore, Sir, I am absolutely opposed to the amendment of Section 375 in so far as it tries to make an offence of married life that can be led between the ages of 14 and 15.

Then, the Mover wants to raise the age of consent from 14 to 18. It is a matter for consideration as to whether it may not be 16—whether it should be raised straightaway from 14 to 18. Then with consent whether it ought to be allowed or not after 16 to make it an offence; there may be difference of opinion as to whether a woman must be allowed to give free consent after she completes the age of 16 or whether consent should be nugatory; whether with or without consent the male should be said to have committed an offence until she becomes 16, must be considered in the setting in which we live.

So far as the penal provision is concerned, I can easily see from the rigorous life which my Honourable friend Thakurdas Bhargava leads that he wants exemplary punishment even for ordinary weaknesses. But I have got great doubts whether such a serious punishment as 10 years is not more draconian than the law which was enacted so early as 1861. Times have changed. I do not agree that such an attitude should be taken as is taken in this Bill. It is opposed to all canons of freedom between a man and a woman. It is opposed to all principles in which we have been brought up. The only question is what is the degree of limitation that has to be imposed. It is good that my Honourable friend Mr. Ishaq Seth has moved for circulation of the Bill. After it comes back, there will be time enough for us to consider this question. In the meantime, Sir, I am generally in favour of accepting the principle of the Bill.

[Shrimati G. Durgabai]

Shrimati G. Durgabai (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, while accepting the amendment of the Honourable Mover of the amendment, I consider it my first and foremost duty to express my deep debt of gratitude to the Honourable the Mover of this Bill. Sir, he stands here as a champion of the charter of freedom and emancipation of the women of this country. When he was speaking on the Bill, I saw what kind of agony he was having in his mind when he was giving expression to his ideas which prompted him to bring forward a measure like this. I really saw a woman's heart, a mother's heart, in him which prompted him to introduce this Bill. I now realise that a man might probably feel more for a woman than a woman can feel for a woman. He has introduced not one Bill of this kind, but he has brought several which sought to give protection to young girls. In his Statement of Objects and Reasons he has clearly stated what he meant to bring about through this Bill, namely, "for the physical well-being and better protection of young girls."

Now, Sir, it is stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons: "It is true that changes incorporated in the Bill curtail the liberty of males, but it is equally true that these changes are absolutely indispensable from the national standpoint for the physical and moral well-being of the coming generation." The matter being so important, I find that it is a great pity that the Report of the Age of Consent Committee which was appointed so early as 1928 and which made such an extensive and exhaustive survey and examined more than 400 witnesses and collected all the material that was necessary and also I believe spent more than Rs. 2 lakhs and produced a practically unanimous Report, was not given effect to by the Government so far. Although nearly 20 years elapsed, the matter has made no progress at all, and I am therefore glad that today my Honourable friend Mr. Bhargava has brought forward this Bill which seeks to introduce a great reform, at the same time giving effect to the recommendations made by that Committee.

Sir, in this Bill, there are two things which are particularly striking, namely, Section 376(a) and 376(b). I found that these provisions struck a kind of terror in the minds of some friends in the House. Just now, I heard the remarks made by the previous speaker, Mr. Karimuddin. His main grievance seemed to be not that this measure has been brought forward but rather, as to why girls are not also punished. It is really surprising why he made a grievance that under this Bill even the girls should have been brought in for some kind of punishment. Perhaps, it would have satisfied him if there was a provision bringing the girls also under the scope of this Bill and awarding them punishment simply because they are also consenting parties. I do not know what he meant by that, because we know how a girl of 12 years or a girl hardly about the age of 13 or 14...

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: I meant girls about 16.

Shrimati G. Durgabai: Even if a girl is 16, we know how much responsibility she takes about herself and how much she knows about her own self. Consent, Sir, may be obtained in more than one way. Therefore her consent should not really be taken as an authority or stamp for this kind of offence committed by the husband. I do not think Mr. Karimuddin is really right when he says that simply because a girl consents, therefore she too must be given punishment along with the man who commits this act.

Another matter, Sir, which calls for our attention is the punishment that is provided, namely ten years, for the offence committed with regard to a girl after

INDIAN PENAL CODE AND THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL 1177

12 and below 15. It seems to strike terror in some quarters. I really do not know why Mr. Bhargava while prescribing this period of punishment did not explain what he really intends, because I feel that he really does not expect any case like this to come before any court of law and also that he does not expect any kind of offence of this type being committed if only the punishment provided is not lenient. It is no use providing lenient punishment. If you want this offence to disappear, you must provide for rigorous punishment, so that people may know what kind of punishment and suffering they will have to undergo if they violate the provision of the law in this respect. Otherwise, I feel that the period of ten years prescribed here is quite in proportion to the magnitude of the crime committed. We know that this offence does not really arise from any lawful marriage nor does it flow from obligations conferred by religion. It flows from the absolute right of the husband. This is an offence not against any marital law, but against the human body and it is the duty of the State not merely to ensure that no injury is committed against any person but against the human body. Therefore, I wholly agree that the period prescribed is in keeping with the magnitude and heinous nature of the offence. He has prescribed a period of two years as a punishment in case of a girl below 15. I think even that is not quite excessive but quite proportionate to the offence with regard to the girl.

With regard to the point which Mr. Ayyangar has raised whether it is really going to disturb the marital relation of the man and the woman after their marriage, that is, after the 14 years, Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava while speaking on the subject has already made it clear that he is going to bring another

P. M. Bill raising the marriageable age of the girl from 14 to 15 or above that. He is going to do that and I am told that this Bill will be introduced simultaneously. If actually the marriageable age of the girl is just at 14, then it is not quite necessary that we should disturb the marital relationship for just one year, if only the consummation of that relationship is not going to take place immediately after the marriage of a girl just about 14 years. Certainly in the interest of the physical well-being of the girl, the parties can by mutual consent and a better understanding, wait for that one year's period and certainly during that period the relationship is not going to be disturbed and certainly that kind of weakness can be conquered by people and it is quite necessary.

I am not going to go into the details of all the points of the postponement of this age for the purpose of consummation, because the House is already aware of the figures of infantile and maternal mortality. Actually how many cases of such infantile mortality are there? Mr. Bhargava expects great benefits to flow from this Bill and from the point of view of nation-building, it is quite necessary that this kind of reform should be immediately brought and also from the physical well-being of the young girls it is quite necessary that this must be immediately given effect to.

I am very sorry that there is an amendment for further postponement or further to send the Bill for opinion and we have to accept that amendment because there is no other go. There has already been so much delay even after so much has been done by this Committee and after all the material is ready, but I hope that this period of six months which is contemplated by the amendment may be reduced to a shorter period and this measure may be brought forward as soon as it is possible.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must at the outset say that I gladly approve of the measure which has been brought by our Honourable friend Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava. It is seldom that social legislation is embarked upon in a House like this. The whole history of the British Government ever since 1856 has been one of utter barrenness in that no social legislation has been attempted or undertaken by the Legislature. The British were of the opinion that social legislation was apt to embroil them with the religious beliefs and susceptibilities of the country and in order to make their position safe, they have studiously abstained from all interference with the social customs and manners of this land.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

So far as I can recall from memory, there was the Widow Marriage Act of 1856, which penalizes the widows rather than help them when they want to remarry; then there was the Lex Loci which related to conversion into Christianity and property arrangements connected therewith; then there was the Brahma Marriage Act, which is popularly known as the Act of 1873, which enabled Marriages to be performed by a kind of registration, though it involved a declaration by means of so many negatives that a man is not a Hindu, a Muslim, a Jew, a Christian, a Jain or a Parsee.

Later we come to the Sarda Act and now we have got on to something more which is allied to this series of social legislation. Much is talked of social service nowadays and almost everybody talks on this subject even on a political platform. When people speak of a new social order, they can only mean economic betterment of the people, such as improvement of labour conditions, regulation of labour hours, control of child labour, conferment of maternity benefits, sickness and accident Insurance and so on. This is a different question altogether. Apart from this there are certain social evils which demand immediate attention. But slowly this aspect of Hindu society, of Muslim society or Indian society as an organic unit which has grown from strength to strength during these many centuries in its historic past, has suffered a reverse in the process of its development. The onslaught of foreign invasion always brings in its train penalties to which society is exposed, apart from the deprivation of political privileges. Foreign rule always fights shy of interfering with social matters and therefore, for at least, a century and a half, Indian society has become absolutely petrified and the High Courts have always fought shy of giving judgments on the principles of approved social reform, notwithstanding the fact that year after year for more than 25 to 30 years, the Indian National Congress was followed up by another national organization, namely, the National Social Reform Conference approving of such principles. It is a great pity that during recent years, during the last 2 or 3 decades this Social Conference has receded into the umbras and penumbras of national life. The fact is that the more important aspects of Social Reform which related to the political development have been absorbed into the political programme and therefore, the purely social aspect of Reform has been absolutely neglected. The abolition of the caste system has been more or less a part of the Congress programme and in no Congress organisation do you see anything like the prevalence of the old caste distinctions, although each Member of the Congress may in his own home and in regard to marriages and various other allied matters observe the strict rules of caste. The prevention of child marriage, the promotion of widow marriage, the abolition of caste system on a wide scale—all these have gone into the background and it is a real pity that our legislatures have fought shy of legislation on these matters.

It sometimes occurs to me whether it would not be far better if a mixed body like this Legislature did not interfere with the social customs of one particular community or another, and whether it would not be much better if internally organised social councils are set up, the decrees of which must be registered as a basis of legislation by this larger legislative body. All of you perhaps know that in England there is a Church Council. The Parliament seldom deals with church matters directly. Whatever the Church Council passes is bodily registered without a comma or a foolstop being changed and sometime ago in Germany also there was an economic Council and its decisions were implemented likewise as legislation by the Reich. In the same manner if by some process of representative organisation we can bring into existence a body possessing, at any rate, adequate social authority, the verdict of that Body might be embodied as legislation in this House.

The great difficulty with regard to these matters is that initiative has been wanting. If this country were self-governing, if the country had a king, of its own, who was of the soil and sprang from the soil, anything could have been done, everything could have been accomplished by the example set by the King. As it is, a foreign King cannot control the social conditions of a subject population. Therefore the King and the subjects become farther and farther apart from one another and it was not possible to achieve any such natural progress. In the meantime the progress of an individualistic civilization and the onslaughts of Western life and Western ideals have wrought havoc in the priest-craft and demolished altogether its position of authority and influence.

Thus everything has conspired to destroy the social forces that once made for progress in this ancient land and we have been left helpless. Society never stagnates. Custom is a thing that grows of itself; and it is the Government of the day that have stopped the march of progress in the change of custom. It is therefore high time that we resumed our social activities outside, and social reform activity inside the legislature. In this view I may say I am not immediately concerned with the actual contents of this Bill. The fact seems to be that it is more or less agreed that it will go out into the country, and therefore it is likely that it will be examined in all its details, section by section and phrase by phrase. It may be regretted by some that such a reference back to the country for eliciting public opinion is one way of evading the legislation immediately, but it has also an advantage, namely, that it once again makes the dry bones of the valley instinct with a new life and kindles their instinct into a new activity. Hitherto society has been moribund; and once society is called upon to support or oppose the principles that underlie legislation of this character, then certainly even the retrogressive people will stir themselves up and throw off their apathy, and give opinions which will provoke the opposite opinion from the opposite party. Therefore I do not personally regret the reference of this Bill back to the country. It may take about six months; that is not a very long period in the history of Indian society, and we can well afford to wait for six months if thereby we can get a Bill which will spring from within and not be imposed from without. All social legislation must really spring from within and not from without. It must be like the body growth which grows by intussusception—as it is called in Biology—and not by accretion as minerals and rocks grow by one stone being thrown on the top of another. We do not want legislation to be forced by extraneous authority, and therefore we would like that the people of the country should realise their responsibility and then call for such legislation. This is the advantage that a reference of the Bill to the country for public opinion will have.

So far as some of the outstanding details of the Bill are concerned, I shall only say that I welcome the raising of the age of consent from 13 to 15 and the promise of a Bill to raise the age of marriage from 14 to 16. I do not go into raptures over the success of the Sarda Act; it has been more disobeyed than obeyed. But at the same time to those who wanted to obey the injunctions of that Act but who were on the other side subject to the fears and threats of excommunication from society, it gave a new strength, a new hope and a new authority. And people of more or less orthodox families continue to send their girls to school because the girls themselves would not like to marry, and when challenged about the lapse, they say there is the Sarda Act prescribing the age limit of 14, and they could do nothing contrary to it. And once the limit of 14 years is crossed it does not matter whether it is 15 or 16 or 18 years. Sometimes the more a girl is educated the less does she run the chance of being married in this country. I do not say that on that account girls should not be educated or that they should be married early. Of course in a social scheme which is based upon the healthy principle of marriage being good for the average girl and the average boy, child marriage is certainly an excellent thing provided remedial measures are there by way of widow marriage as well. As a matter of fact, however where marriage is a question of choice by parties and of adequate social equipment and of capacity to maintain a family according to a particular standard of life, there arise numerous difficulties, in the way of every man and woman being married but we are not concerned with them. People talk much about the standard of life; I am sometimes amused. How did England raise her standard of life? It was only at the expense of India. I want to see how in the next five years England is going to maintain her standard of life. For all these years she had been fattening upon others more or less by parasitic life. I do not think it will be easy for us to raise the standard of life in this country to the levels that exist in Japan or America or Europe. We cannot live on others; we may not be wholly non-violent but we are not an imperialistic nation and therefore we do not encroach on others rights. In the circumstances, we must examine our ancient customs as they came into being in the pristine days, of the nation in all its purity, integrity and high honour. But the times have changed and with the times, conditions too. We must now realise that the time has come to raise the age prescribed by the Sarda Act from 14 to 16, in the case of girls. That would obviate some of the objections raised by our Muslim friends. I also see another little difficulty in regard to these matters. The Muslims may not feel exactly alike in this matter with the Hindus. If there are difficulties it is necessary for us either to set up separate Social Councils, such as I have indicated or to sit together and come to an understanding on all such matters because the statistics that have been revealed by the investigation party that was appointed in 1929 show that the evil is as rampant in Muslim society as in Hindu society. Therefore the evil being the same the remedies also must be similar. I am sure the House will unanimously accept Mr. Bhargava's motion. If it is not referred to the country for opinion I shall be glad; if it is referred, it will be none the worse for the Bill.

[Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya]

Some Honourable Members: The question may now be put.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the question may now be put"

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home Affairs): Sir, this measure has been introduced in order to bring the existing penal laws in line with the recommendations of the Age of Consent Committee. This Committee reported in 1929; the report was circulated in the provinces and the general opinion of the provinces was that some of the recommendations were not practical and some of them were fraught with grave difficulties. It is true that social legislation of this nature cannot be easily passed in a House influenced more or less by a foreign Government. When the foreign power was ruling the country certain customs, interests and systems which allowed for easy administration were not interfered with; at least opposition to them was not encouraged. Therefore it was difficult to get social reform through. So I have great sympathy for our friend the Mover of this Bill in his efforts to bring forward legislation of this character. But we have to take into account the fact that where a Bill affects the social system and the religious susceptibilities of a mass of ignorant people we must have more direct and concrete evidence of public support for the speed with which these measures should be introduced. It is true that a considerable time has passed since that report was received and no effort has been made by Government or by the legislatures to take any steps in this matter. It is possible that the reform is overdue and public opinion may favour it. But Government before accepting such legislation must have more concrete evidence and more positive evidence. Therefore the motion for circulation is the proper thing. The only difference in the House is about the period within which the report of the Committee should come. That opinion should be ascertained is a matter on which there is no doubt. Both the mover of the Bill as well as the mover of the amendment desire that public opinion should be ascertained before passing any such measure. Therefore, apart from any controversy regarding a particular section of the Bill, it is better to confine ourselves to the question as to the period of circulation. Therefore, on behalf of Government, I suggest that having waited for long, in a measure of this nature we would not lose much if we accepted the amendment moved by my friend, Mr. Ishaq Seth. As such I am prepared to accept the amendment moved for the circulation of the Bill for the period which has been proposed by him.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I will deal very briefly with the points made by Honourable Members who have spoken after me.

In the first place there have been objections from Kazi Syed Karimuddin to the effect that the punishment in the Bill is excessive and secondly that the better measure would have been to increase the punishment in regard to marriage offences. I quite agree with him that so far as the punishment provided for offences against marriage laws is concerned, the proper thing is to accept the Bill which I have already got circulated and which is before the House. All the same, the reply which has been given by my sister, Durgabai is absolutely conclusive on this point. After all, as the Honourable Speaker has himself pointed out that the infraction of the consent law is fraught with great consequences to the girl herself, the policy of the law should be that this Act should only be useful in striking fear in the minds of those who want to violate it. As a matter of fact, no one wants that the family life should be so disturbed that the wife should never be reconciled to the husband. Therefore in a measure of this nature, it is fraught with great potentialities if we keep the amount of punishment rather more than less. I should therefore think that the amount of punishment provided in the Bill is quite right.

The Honourable Mr. Kazi Syed Karimuddin has raised certain other points. For instance, why should not women be punished and secondly why should there be a difference between intra-marital and extra-marital cases? I would refer him to the arguments in which all these objections have been met in the report of the age of Consent Bill. It would take me a long time to reply to all these arguments; I would ask him to read this report and he will get the right reply.

I am anxious that the other Bills which are set down for introduction should come up as soon as possible. Therefore I do not want to reply to him at length on these points. One point has been answered, and I do not want to repeat the argument about the liability of the woman for punishment.

As regards the second point, that the age should be same for extra and intra-marital cases, my friend argued the point in a simply astounding manner. He wants to suggest that the marriage ceremony and the selection of a bridegroom for the girl by the parents or guardians is of no consequence whatever. He thinks of a society in which the girls may not be married at all. Our society is one in which all the girls are married. Moreover, according to medical science 18 years is the safe age for motherhood and more safe and proper than 16. So far as intellectual development and psychological development goes, the age of 16 does not give that amount of discretion and independence to a girl which the age of 18 gives, and for many other reasons stated in the report, 18 is more proper. The whole country is unanimous that the extra-marital age should be raised to 18 and if we take the trouble of reading the evidence of the 400 witnesses, you will find that many of those witnesses were agreeable to this change and stated that this change to 18 is the proper thing and not 16. Otherwise all the evils which we hear of as happening in the countries of Europe will be introduced in India. We want to steer clear of them and we want our girls to be protected up to 18.

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

One point more that Mr. Karimuddin made was this. He was of the opinion that there was no sense in making the case compoundable with the permission of court. May I refer him to Section 365? There are many offences which are compoundable with the permission of Court. Even Section 420 has been made compoundable with such permission only.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: This is "without". Section 376(b) second part is "with". There is no mention in Section 376(1) (2).

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: That is compoundable without the permission of the Court and naturally so. You have just stated before the House that if there is a case of courtship: for example, in Assam there is a custom that on a particular day the young man and the young woman go to the jungle after a dance and there remain for three or four days and after that they come to their homes and then they solemnize their marriage. In order to meet a custom like this, we thought that we should keep it compoundable without the permission of Court so that the Court cannot have a hand in determining whether the case could be compounded. So there will be no difficulties at all. It is in the hollow of the hands of the offender and the offended girl—to compound the offence at pleasure. He has made a reference to this too, but in that he has himself given the reply.

Then again, Sir, my friend was of the view that the offence should be cognizable. We have good reasons to say that it should be non-cognizable otherwise the whole society will rise against this House if they were pleased to make this offence a cognizable one. We know what our police is and we do not want that in such matter the police should interfere.

Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar was pleased to remark that since the age of marriage is 14 and the age of consent has been raised to 15 there will be difficulties in this that after a person is married he will not be allowed to cohabit with his wife. I quite see the difficulty but does my friend realize that from 1860 till 1891 and from 1891 till the Sarda Act was passed the similar conditions prevailed and husbands could not cohabit with their wives below 10, 12 and 13. Heavens would not fall if a husband could not molest his wife under 15 years.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: That was the Rubicon: that was crossed!

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: If that is so then you have answered Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar. No girl should be allowed to live with her husband, unless she is full fifteen and there will be no difficulty in this matter also when the age of fourteen given in the Sarda Act is changed to fifteen. I thank Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya for giving the reply. According to him the age in the Sarda Act has to be changed. When these ages are the same there will be no difficulty. As to the argument that unless that age is changed this age should not be changed I may say that I am not opposed to the change in the Sarda Act. I want both to be changed. That means that there is practically no impediment in my way.

I want to say a word about a question raised by Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya. I do not agree with him that we should have councils like the Church Council which will take the place of this legislature so far as social reform is concerned. For a long time we have enacted all the laws in this legislature. This legislature is representative of all kinds of opinion in the country and should be the ultimate forum in which this question should be debated. I see the implication however. I have myself sent a cut motion in the budget and made the suggestion that a ministry of social reform and social justice should be established in this country. I want that our ministers and public servants should by their own action set an example to the country and demonstrate that they themselves are behaving in the same manner in which they want the country to behave. It usually takes for a measure of this kind several years before it comes on the statute book. If we had a social justice ministry the passage of Bills like this would be quite easy....

Shri M. S. Aney: Does the Honourable Member mean that all the Honourable Ministers should marry again?

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member need not answer each and every argument.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: The question is to my own liking. I wanted myself to give a reply: before he put the question I was myself attempting to reply that argument. What I mean by the institution of a Ministry of social reform and setting of example by Ministers will be illustrated by reference to the ideal of casteless society in which matter I am a humble disciple of Mahatma Gandhi. As a matter of fact I desire that we should have in India a casteless society and all the 15 members of this Government should by their example, by inter-marriage of their children show that they are wedded to bringing such a society in existence.

An Honourable Member: With scheduled castes also?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: Yes, with scheduled castes and Mohammedans also. That is what I want. The proposal may or may not be palatable but it is my view.

One word with regard to the circulation motion. I have to bow to what Sardar Patel has said. I do not want to make any sort of grievance against the commands of Sardar Patel. All the same I must point out that in 1922 a Bill of this nature was circulated throughout the country. In the report of the Age of Consent Committee you will be pleased to see what the repercussions of this circulation were. Then in 1924 and 1927 such a Bill was circulated. Our Committee itself was a circulating Committee. They went over the whole country. The report of the Committee was also circulated I understand, and the replies received showed that some of the recommendations in the report were not practicable. In regard to the recommendations which were not practicable, I have not incorporated even a single one of them. For instance, there was a provision that bonds should be taken and that the husband and wife should be separated. I have myself excluded those provisions. The simple proposition before the House is whether the age is to be raised or not. This point has been gone into already. What should be the punishment? Supposing the replies from the provincial governments say that the age should not be raised my humble submission is that this House should rise as one man and whatever the provinces might say we must have this increase in age. It is a question of nation-building. The medicine is always bitter. If the country does not like it I would beg of the Honourable Sardar Patel to enact this by an Ordinance or in some other way. Was any opinion taken at the time when the Bills about requisition or controls were passed? Was any opinion invited when the Foreigners Act was passed? In a matter of this kind which goes to the very root of the nation's prosperity, which goes to the very foundations of the nation's existence my submission is that we should not be chicken-hearted. We should take courage in both hands and pass this law. I know that by accepting this motion I would be delaying the Bill. But I bow to the opinion of my party, and do not raise any objection to the motion that it should be circulated. But it is difficult to swallow that it is being postponed to a very long period. I bow again to Sardar Patel though not without a gnawing of the heart which will cease not until the Bill is passed.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st July, 1948."

The motion was adopted.

CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL

Shri Ram Sahai (Gwalior State): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898."

The motion was adopted.

Shri Ram Sahai: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN BAR COUNCILS AND THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (AMENDMENT) BILL

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar (Madras: General): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926, and the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926, and the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879."

The motion was adopted.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

CRIMINAL TRIBES (REPEAL) BILL

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Madras: General): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill to repeal the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to repeal the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924."

The motion was adopted.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INSURANCE (AMENDMENT) BILL

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar (Madras: General): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Insurance Act, 1938.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Insurance Act, 1938."

The motion was adopted.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN PENAL CODE (AMENDMENT) BILL

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava (Ajmer-Merwara): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code."

The motion was adopted.

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY (AMENDMENT) BILL

Shrimati G. Durgabai (Madras: General): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920."

The motion was adopted.

Shrimati G. Durgabai: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

PREVENTION OF FORCIBLE AND FRAUDULENT CONVERSION OF HINDU WOMEN BILL

Shri H. V. Pataskar (Bombay: General): Sir, I move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for prevention of forcible and fraudulent conversion of Hindu women.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for prevention of forcible and fraudulent conversion of Hindu women."

The motion was adopted.

Shri H. V. Pataskar: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN CATTLE PRESERVATION BILL

Seth Govinddas (C.P. and Berar: General): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to preserve the milch and draught cattle of the country.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to preserve the milch and draught cattle of the country."

The motion was adopted.

Seth Govinddas: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) BILL

(Amendment of Section 86 F)

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (Amendment of Section 86F).

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (Amendment of Section 86F)."

The motion was adopted.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) BILL

(Amendment of Sections 25, 31 etc.)

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C.P. and Berar: General): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (Amendment of Sections 25, 31 etc.).

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913. (Amendment of Sections 25, 31, etc.)."

The motion was adopted.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN PENAL CODE (AMENDMENT) BILL

Shri Ram Sahai (Gwalior State): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code."

The motion was adopted.

Shri Ram Sahai: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898."

The motion was adopted.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

CRIMINAL TRIBES (REPEAL) BILL

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to repeal the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924.

Mr. Speaker: This has already been moved by another Member.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: That is true, but it may not come in the ballot. Therefore I want to move it.

Some Honourable Members: How can the same Bill be introduced by two different Members?

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: It is only when it is enacted as law that I will be out of court. Till then I can take my chance and it can very well go in my name.

Mr. Speaker: All that I can do is this. I must take time to consider this point. In the meanwhile, the Honourable Member may move it, without prejudice to the Chair* ruling it out of order.

The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to repeal the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924."

The *motion was adopted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

Mr. Speaker: I think the same point arises in respect of the next motion (item No. 31) standing in the name of Shri Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth (Madras: Muslim): Is it not better, Sir, that the motion is moved after you give a ruling?

*Motion barred under Standing Order 31, as subsequently decided by the Honourable the Speaker.

CRIMINAL TRIBES (REPEAL) BILL

Mr. Speaker: All that I was thinking was this. Prima facie, it appears to me that it will be an awkward procedure that the House should adopt the same motion in the names of two different Members. Since the Honourable Member's motion is barred because of the acceptance of a similar motion, I am thinking of the possibility of permitting him, at the appropriate time, to proceed with it in view of the fact that he has tabled an identical motion though it was not adopted by the House.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): If I am given the substance of my request I have no quarrel.

Mr. Speaker: I was thinking of the analogy of resolutions. Two identical resolutions are tabled by two different Members, but the difference is that in respect of them the House adopts no motion before they come up before the House.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: The Chair has got the right to admit it or not to admit it.

Mr. Speaker: It raises a point on which I should not like to decide offhand. I will therefore consider what is possible. I shall try my best to help the Honourable Member to keep the Bill alive. But the best course will be for the original mover to be present on the concerned day.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: There is some difficulty. If some other Member wants to block it he can do so.

Mr. Speaker: If the difficulty arises we shall see.

HINDU INTER-CASTE MARRIAGE REGULATING AND VALIDATING BILL

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to regulate and validate marriages between different castes and sub-castes of Hindus.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to regulate and validate marriages between different castes and sub-castes of Hindus."

The motion was adopted.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL (Amendment of Sections 161 and 162)

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Item No. 33, being the motion in my name to introduce a Bill to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, has not been moved by any other Member.

Mr. Speaker: Is it not the same Bill?

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: No, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: From the title, I thought it was the same Bill.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Various Sections are sought to be amended and each one of us has taken a Section.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Will you please give a direction to all the movers that whenever they have a motion they should make it a point of mentioning the Section of the Act which they seek to amend?

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): It is not really necessary.....

Mr. Speaker: He means a short resume of the title of the Bill—just as has been shown in the motion of Dr. Deshmukh regarding the Indian Companies Act.

Since Mr. Ayyangar's motion relates to another Section I shall allow it.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898."

The motion was adopted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

Factories Bill

Mr. Speaker: The private Bills are all over. The House may now proceed to deal with further legislative business. We shall take up the Government Bills. The Honourable Shri Gadgil.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to consolidate and amend the law regulating labour in factories.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to consolidate and amend the law regulating labour in factories."

The motion is adopted.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya (West Bengal: General): With your permission, Sir, I would like to congratulate the Honourable Minister for having introduced a Bill.....

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. There will be no speeches now.

Damodar Valley Corporation Bill

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the establishment and regulation of a Corporation for the development of the Damodar Valley in the Provinces of Bihar and West Bengal.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the establishment and regulation of a Corporation for the development of the Damodar Valley in the Provinces of Bihar and West Bengal."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

Income-tax and Business Profits Tax (Amendment) Bill

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, and the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947, be taken into consideration."

Sir, there is nothing new or controversial in this amending Bill. It is only intended to clarify the original intention of the Business Profits Tax Act and the Capital Gains Tax, and to rectify certain drafting errors and omissions. The best way of dealing with this Bill will be for me to explain briefly the object of the two clauses.

Clause 2 is intended to make certain drafting amendments relating to the Capital Gains Tax. It was the intention that capital gains arising out of sale of agricultural land situated in the provinces of India should not be subject to the Capital Gains Tax. But it was not intended that if such agricultural land was situated outside the provinces of India, that they should also be exempted from the operation of the Capital Gains Tax. The object of exempting from the operation of the Capital Gains Tax the sale of land in the provinces of India is that the income from such land is considered as agricultural income and therefore not subject to our income-tax. The agricultural income-tax derived from lands situated for example in an Indian State is however not exempt from the operation of our Indian Income-tax Act, and therefore we want to provide by this amendment that any sale of land situated outside the provinces of India, if it results in a profit to the owner of the land, that profit will be subject to the Capital Gains Tax. That is the purpose of clause 2 (1), sub-section (a).

Sub-section (b). In the original Bill it was provided that only capital gains arising in the previous year for the assessment year 1947/48 should be chargeable. In the Select Committee however, an amendment was made limiting the liability only to profits arising after the 31st of March 1946. A consequential amendment in the explanation to clause 6 (a) of section 2 was unfortunately overlooked. The object of the present amendment is to rectify that error so that the intention should be made clear, namely that if a company distributed dividends out of capital gains made prior to 1st April 1946, such distribution out of capital gains will not be chargeable as dividends in the hands of shareholders. That is the object of clause 2 (1) (b).

Now I come to clause 2 (1) (c). This amendment relates to capital gains where the assessee acquires the property by succession, inheritance or devolution. Under the Act as it stands now, the value of the property is its cost to the owner, but if a person acquires it by succession, inheritance or devolution, he has not paid any price for it. Therefore there is no value that he has paid. Now it is intended to provide that in such cases the value will be the cost to the previous owner. That is the object of this clause.

Now these three amendments cover the Capital Gains Tax. Clause 3 relates to certain amendments to the Business Profits Tax.

Clauses 3 (1) (a) and (d). These have got the following objects. This proviso existed in section 5 of the Excess Profits Tax Act 1940, but was omitted in the Business Profits Tax Bill as in the Bill originally drafted the abatement was fixed at a sum of 1 lakh in all cases without any reference to the capital or other circumstances of the business. It was also considered that the substantive clause 5 of the Bill secured that the application of the law would not be wider in scope than that of the Income-tax and Excess Profits Tax Acts. Changes were made in the Bill by the Select Committee, and during the passage of the Bill the Act as it emerged varied the abatement in the case of a firm according to the number of its working partners subject to a maximum of 2 lakhs, and in the case of a company at 6 per cent. of the capital computed in accordance with schedule II, subject to a minimum of Rs. 1 lakh. In the case of a company the entire profits are not chargeable to Business Profits Tax. It is necessary that the capital for the purpose of abatement should not be the entire capital but should be in the same proportion as the amount of its profits chargeable to taxes bearing to its total profits. In other words the capital of the company is to be reduced by an amount which bears to the capital the same proportion as the amount of profits not so chargeable bear to the total profits. This explains the fourth amendment inserting rule 2 (a) in Schedule II relating to the computation of capital.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

In amending Schedule II, opportunity has also been taken to insert a proviso which existed in section 5 of the Excess Profits Tax Act to make it clear beyond doubt that where a part only of the business is chargeable to Business Profits Tax, such part would be treated as a separate business. Clause 3 (1) (b) enables the Income-tax Officer to call for a return not only of the profits on business but also of the taxable profits.

Clause 3 (1) (c). The third amendment to section 19 of the Business Profits Tax Act is to enable the Central Board of Revenue to prescribe by rule the necessary formal modifications in those sections of the Income-tax Act which under the law are applicable to the Business Profits Tax Act. As section 19 now stands, it makes certain provisions of the Income-tax Act as applied to the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, also applicable to the Business Profits Tax Act, but those sections of the Income-tax Act as apply to Excess Profits Tax are unsuitable for application to Business Profits Tax without certain formal modifications. Hence the need for the amendment.

I am sorry, Sir, that the explanation of these clauses is rather cumbrous, but it is unfortunate and it cannot be avoided. It is rather technical, but I might assure the House that it is not the intention to introduce any new ideas but only to clarify the old ideas and to rectify certain drafting omissions and errors. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, and the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947, be taken into consideration."

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Sir, I generally approve of this Bill. It is intended to clarify certain doubts which should certainly be clarified. But I have also one or two doubts about the Bill which I want to place before the Finance Minister. Before I do so, I would like to draw your attention to our difficulties in dealing with technical matters as these. We have not got a consolidated Indian Income-tax Act. There is the Indian Income-tax Act and then there are the amending Acts. We have not got copies incorporating the amendments so that if we want to look at one of the amendments, we have to look at the Amending Act and then collate it to the original Act, and we get thoroughly confused. The second point to which I would like to draw the attention of you, Sir, Mr. Speaker, is that this Bill proposes to amend two different Acts. I think on the whole it would be more convenient for us if a Bill amending one Act is brought in separately from other Bills amending other Acts. It will make far more expeditious transaction of business.

Sir, my doubts are simply as follows. I quite approve of the objective of the amendment in clause 1 which seeks to rope in agricultural lands owned by Indian assessee outside India. As the clause now stands the term "agricultural land" does not cover those lands; and the objective of the Finance Minister is to make by this Bill capital gains made out of the sale of those lands assessable in India. I quite approve of that objective.

But as the Bill has been drafted, if somebody owns agricultural land outside India and assigns the income, then if he sells that land and makes profit that profit goes out of the clutches of the Government. Therefore the words "income derived by the assessee" restricts the scope of the profits gained from selling lands outside British India and subject to our taxation. On the other hand, it brings lands within British India within the scope which is not the intention of the Finance Minister.

Mr. Speaker: May I point out to the Honourable Member that with reference to this Motion, he has tabled two amendments for the omission of these words and that he may discuss the matter by moving his amendment when the clause is put. I was just going to say that the Honourable Member would be allowed to move his amendments but the Honourable Member was perhaps nervous as to whether he will be granted leave to move his amendments. I have decided to grant leave, particularly in view of the fact that Government business is being taken up on a private day and Members had late notice thereof. They were entitled to presume that these Bills would be taken on a Government day, but as they have been taken up earlier, I feel I should not be strict as regards the provision of notice. So, the Honourable Member may address himself to his points when the clauses are under discussion.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I will leave this particular point now and mention it when the clauses come up. One other point is that the words "British India" and "India" come not only in this Bill but have got application in other parts of the Act. The whole thing is confusing. What is "India" and what is "British India"? Before 15th of August it was clear, but now there are many firms which have got their registered offices in Pakistan but are actually operating within India. I do not know how the Income Tax Act, the Business Profits Tax Act and the Capital Gains Taxation are going to be adjusted to this. I think it is necessary that the Finance Minister should make the position absolutely clear.

Then in clause 3 we are asked to exempt such part of the business as is not controlled in India; the actual words used are: where "the business being the business of a person who is resident, but not ordinarily resident, in British India is controlled in India". "Ordinarily resident" has yet to be defined. Hitherto if residence was in any part of India he was considered to be "ordinarily resident" in India and in that definition you have got a period of residence of six or seven years. Now we cannot apply it to India and Pakistan. We do not know who is the person "ordinarily resident" in India after the 15th of August and in Pakistan after that date. Therefore, before we give any kind of exemption for incomes derived outside India, this point must be made clear; otherwise we may lose crores of rupees by some loose definition. And all these difficulties come in not only in the case of Pakistan: take Hyderabad; it was considered to be in India before 15th August, today we do not know whether it is in India—if it is not in India the same consequences will follow. The same thing applies to Junagadh. Therefore this question of jurisdiction is a matter which requires immediate examination and the Finance Minister should immediately take it up. If we pass our legislation including these words without such examination, we do not know what consequences this country will be incurring. We may be losing crores of rupees in the way of taxation and I hope no such loophole will be left. I commend to the Finance Minister that this matter should be immediately and carefully looked into and that he should bring before us necessary amendments for the Income Tax Act, and Business Profits Tax Act.

These are the few points which I wish to place before the House.

Mr. Speaker: With reference to the suggestion of the Honourable Member about having two separate Bills because there are amendments to two separate Acts, I may just point out to him that, both these relate to one scheme of taxation; though the Acts are different, for all practical purposes both the enactments are the same. The procedure is that the amendment of the Indian Income-Tax Act takes place every year by a Finance Act; but both these amendments are parts of the same scheme—they are not separate legislations which are being amended together.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [3RD DEC. 194

Shri K. Santhanam: That is why I did not raise a point of order but simply put it as a question of convenience.

Mr. Speaker: Greater convenience is by having them under one group because the scheme of taxation is one.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Sir, I would like to say a few words on this. Sir, it is not such a matter of form as it is one of substance. Even when the amendment was made in the Income Tax Act of 1922 there have been representations from various persons who had agricultural income in non-British India; South Indians had large estates in Burma—and there is a deputation also here requesting that income from lands in Burma ought to be exempted from taxation if they are received by any persons here resident in India, as persons resident in India receive income from lands in India which is exempt from taxation so far as that agricultural income is concerned. They wanted that income from land in non-British India or places outside British India should also have the same exemption of income-tax under the Act of 1922 as agricultural income inside British India. But unfortunately they were not able to have their way. Now, I do not know whether it was deliberately or otherwise that capital gains, through sale of lands from which agricultural income is derived, were omitted from the Capital Gains Tax Act which seeks to modify the Income-Tax Act of 1922 and make capital gains also liable to taxation. This portion of capital gains from sale of lands in foreign territory or in territory which is not British India, were exempted under this Act.

The Honourable the Finance Minister has introduced this Bill on the supposition that they escaped being assessed, being brought under this scope, by a mere inadvertence and that therefore it is a simple matter, that income from capital gains must be taxed as agricultural income from foreign territories is taxed. I do not believe it is such a simple matter—it is not merely a matter of form or procedure to bring it in line. It is a matter of substance. I do not know what our friends from South India have to say so far as this matter is concerned.

I would like to say that we are all anxious that our Legislature should pass laws to which no exception is taken. As a matter of fact, you will see that it is not a printed Bill that has been circulated to us, it is only a typewritten Bill that is circulated to us. Practically, we are having little or no time to look into the various provisions and come to conclusion. What I submit is that in all cases where the Honourable Minister in charge does not seek to move for reference to a Select Committee, but on the other hand wants the Bill to be taken into consideration then and there, and passed by the Legislature, I would request him to place the Bill before at least the Standing Committee relating to his Department so that there may be an opportunity for the Standing Committee to find out if the intentions of the Minister are carried out, if there is deviation in substance and in spirit. Such an opportunity has not been given so far as this matter is concerned. The Honourable Minister might easily say that it will take time to convene a meeting of the Standing Finance Committee. All the members are here and any day a meeting of the Standing Finance Committee might have been called. So far as the amendment that has been tabled in regard to the definition of agricultural land is concerned, after discussion with the Honourable the Finance Minister it appears that it deviates, and there is much more scope than what he intended to bring within the Bill. (An Honourable Member: "Much less also") Yes, much less also in certain respects. Not that I am anxious that the Government should lose what they are legitimately entitled to get, but all I say is that by an inadvertent wording the scope of their intentions should not be enlarged. Therefore, I would request the Honourable Minister to see to it—as also other Ministers—that in all cases, where they want Bills to be considered straightaway without reference to Select Committee, they would place those Bills for consideration before the Standing Committees attached to their various Departments and give them an opportunity of scrutinising these matters.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support the suggestion that has been made by Mr. Ayyangar and I think it would be very reasonable if the Honourable Minister would be pleased to accept it. There could also be a way out of the difficulty because it is not usual to refer a Bill to the Standing Committee for its opinions. A more proper step would, perhaps, be to make the Standing Committee the Select Committee, to which the Bill may be referred and it may be returned to the House within the shortest possible time. Besides the arguments that he has advanced in support of his suggestion, I find the Honourable Minister has in clause 2 (b) substituted for the original proviso to clause 6 (a) of section 2, the following proviso:

"Provided further that the expression 'accumulated profits', wherever it occurs in this clause, shall not include capital gains arising before the 1st day of April, 1946."

It was tried to be made out by the Honourable Minister that this was merely a legislation of a formal nature, over which no deliberation was necessary; but, Sir, this proviso is a very important one and we would certainly like to know all the reasons which have made the Finance Minister decide that the accumulated profits which have arisen before 1st of April 1946 are to be exempted. I for one, speaking from an ordinary man's point of view, would have thought that the capital gains have really accumulated before the 1st April 1946. So if the original enactment is to be effective and is to remain in force, this sort of legislation would probably nullify it. So this is one of the clauses in the Bill which I think ought to be considered more carefully by this House and every opportunity for greater study and deliberation should be allowed by the Honourable Minister. I therefore support my Honourable friend's suggestion and trust that the Honourable Minister will be pleased to accept it.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Mr. Speaker, Sir, some of the loopholes have already been referred by two very learned members of this House and they have requested the Honourable Minister to look into the matter and come to the House once again, if necessary, with amendments. It has been extremely difficult to follow the Bill. The Bill as circulated has attempted to amend two Acts, the Income-Tax Act and the Business Profits Tax Act.

With regard to the Income-Tax Act, I took out a copy from the Library which was printed on the 9th April 1947 and I thought it was an up-to-date copy. But I found that the Bill deals with matters which are not to be found in this published copy. After a great deal of hard work and some amount of hard searching, I had to go to the Library and then to find that there were two amending Acts, one passed in 1946 and the other passed in March 1947. These Acts were not however incorporated in the printed copy of the parent Act. I beg to submit, Sir, that if a consolidated copy of the Income-Tax Act had been printed after the passing of these two Acts, that would have minimised the labours of many Honourable Members.

A suggestion has been made that the Honourable Minister should reconsider his Bill. I should make another suggestion, which I have sought to effect by an amendment. That is with regard to clause 3 sub-clause (i), paragraph (c). In that paragraph (c) power has been attempted to be taken to modify the Act as may be prescribed by Departmental orders. That may enlarge the scope of the Act beyond what is contemplated in the Act itself and may lead practically to departmental legislation. In these circumstances, I submit that if the Honourable Minister would take time to consider the suggestions made by my Honourable friends, he would also be pleased to consider this and give a correct decision on the point.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (one of the Panel of Chairmen.)]

Mr. Chairman: Before I put the motion to the House, I feel that there is some force in the request made by Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar and Mr. Panjabrao Deshmukh. Though the Bill was circulated more than three days ago, yet it was fair for the Honourable Members to presume that this Bill would not be taken on the unofficial day and therefore it is that many amendments have not come in, and other members including myself have not had the time to study the provisions of the Bill. A request has been made to the Honourable Minister whether in the circumstances of the case he would consider the question of postponement of the consideration of the Bill favourably. I would beg of him to kindly tell us if he is agreeable to this course. Otherwise, I shall put the motion to the House.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, if it is the desire of the House that the consideration of this Bill be postponed for a few days, I have certainly no objection, but I would like this to be passed in this session, because our assessment for capital gains is being held up on account of these difficulties.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: There is no desire, so far as I understand, to delay the Bill. The only point is whether in view of the difficulties that have been raised, the Honourable Minister thinks that a reconsideration of the Bill would be necessary.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I do not think that a reconsideration of this measure is necessary. In fact, the only substantive amendment is that which stands in the name of Mr. Santhanam and Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar to clause 2 and I was going to say that I was willing to accept the amendment. There is really nothing more complicated.

With regard to the point raised by Mr. Panjabrao Deshmukh in exempting the profits arising before the 1st April 1946, I might point out that we are only carrying out the intentions of this House because when the Capital Gains Tax Act was finally passed in this House, the House limited the liability only to profits arising after the 31st March 1946. So we are only giving effect to that.

Some of the Honourable Members did not realize that the scope of the Act was intended to be restricted in this manner and therefore it is that we are giving intention to that by a formal amendment and I fully sympathize with the Honourable Members. Sir, in the difficulty that they have in not getting a consolidated copy of the Indian Income-tax Act. I may inform the House that the Indian Income-Tax undergoes so many changes in the course of the year and it is very difficult to keep an up-to-date edition always ready at hand, but we try our best to see that at least one complete copy containing at least in slip forms attached, containing all the up-to-date amendments are kept in the library of the House and we shall try our best to see that the newly incorporated amendments are brought out as soon as possible. If that amendment to clause 2 is secured, I do not think there is any thing really contentious in the Bill. In any case I have no objection to the postponement for two or three days.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C.P. and Berar: General): Mr. Chairman, I have not been able to follow that any substantial argument has been advanced for sending this Bill to the Select Committee or to the Standing Committee. It is true that a reference has been made in this Bill to two previous Acts and copies were available in the Library and those who are interested could have seen them there.

Mr. Chairman: The House is not considering the question whether the Bill ought to be referred to the Select Committee or to the Standing Committee. The Honourable the Minister wants the Bill to be taken up and I do not see any difficulty in taking it up just now.

The question is:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 and the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Shri K. Santhanam: I move:

"That in part (a) of sub-clause (1) of clause 2 of the Bill, in the proposed part (iii) to clause (4A) of Section 2, the words 'by the assessee' be omitted."

If this Motion is accepted, the clause will read "any land from which income derived is agricultural". That exactly defines the capital or property which the Finance Minister wants to bring within his net and the words which are now deleted are quite superfluous but there are other implications which I have already indicated. As the Honourable the Finance Minister has accepted this, I do not want to take up the time of the House. Sir, I move.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That in part (a) of sub-clause (1) of clause 2 of the Bill, in the proposed part (iii) to clause (4A) of Section 2, the words 'by the assessee' be omitted."

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I accept the amendment.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That in part (a) of sub-clause (1) of clause 2 of the Bill, in the proposed part (iii) to clause (4A) of Section 2, the words 'by the assessee' be omitted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: Now I will put the amended clause to the House.

The question is:

"That clause 2 of the Bill as amended stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 as amended was added to the Bill.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: I beg to move:

"That part (c) of sub-clause (1) of clause 3 of the Bill be omitted."

The portion which I want to be omitted is to this effect. In Section 19, after the words "provision of this Act", the words "and such modifications, if any, as may be prescribed" is sought to be inserted. I submit that this provision will empower the Honourable Minister or practically his Department to modify the Act of 1947, as may be prescribed, that is, there is no direction or indication of the limits or of the lines on which the modifications may be made. It is against sound principles of legislation to give a Department the power to legislate and effect modifications in Acts. The fact that such modifications would not be repugnant to the provisions of the Act is not a sufficient safeguard. I submit that in spite of the phrase there is a possibility and scope for enlarging the provisions of the Act by just obeying the condition that it is not repugnant to the provisions of this Act. I repeat that such a grant of power to modify the Act as may be prescribed is against sound principles of legislation. I really desire a clarification on the point and if it appears that the modification will not go beyond the scope of the Act, then of course I need not press my amendment to vote. I want really a clarification as a difficulty has arisen in my mind and I hope the Honourable the Finance Minister will make it clear.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: There is probably some misunderstanding on the part of my Honourable friend regarding the scope of this amendment. It is not intended to empower the Central Board of Revenue to issue by notification any substantial modifications of an Act passed by this House. Obviously it is not correct to do that. Already power has been given to the Central Board of Revenue to issue the necessary formal modifications to apply the Income-tax Act to the Excess Profits Tax Act. Now those legislative modifications which have already been made are not exactly suitable to the Business Profits Tax. So it is purely a formal matter and no modifications of substance will be made by the Government and the Central Board of Revenue.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: May I suggest, therefore, that instead of the word 'modification', the word 'adaptation' be accepted. That would, I believe, remove the objection which I have made. Instead of modifications of the Act, adaptations of the Act would be quite in keeping with the spirit.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: I think the word 'Modification' is much better, as it gives a larger scope than the word 'adaptation'. Later on some changes may have to be made which cannot strictly be brought under the word 'adaptation'. Therefore, the word 'modification' may stand as it is.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: That is just my objection; the word "modification" may be suitable but it enlarges the scope.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: It does not enlarge the scope on the question of principle; it is only a question of procedure.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Already in section 21 of the Excess Profits Tax Act this power has been given, and there the word used is "modification". Here we have to make consequential amendments which are necessitated by the passing of the Business Profits Tax Act. So it is nothing new.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Then the phrase "consequential amendments" as used by the Honourable Minister may be used.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I used that rather loosely; I meant modifications to suit the Business Profits Tax Act.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, if the Honourable Minister will give me an assurance that the points raised by me will be considered by him I am prepared not to press this.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I can certainly give that assurance.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Then I beg leave of the House to withdraw the amendment.

The amendment was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I move:

"That to clause 3 of the Bill the following Explanation be added, namely:

'For the purposes of this section "British India" and "India" shall have the same meaning as they had before the 15th August, 1947.'

I do not want to keep the House long over this. Those persons who carry on business in British India, even if they should be in any part of India, are liable to be taxed on income derived from outside. The words "British India" and "India" are used in clause 3. Whether it applies to that portion which has been separated and what the exact implication is has not been made clear. I thought the intention of the framers of this Bill was to bring it into line with the Act as it was before the 15th August 1947. That is also expressed in the Preamble as also in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. So I suggest that the definition of the words "British India" and "India" may be brought into line with the definition that existed before 15th August 1947.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That to clause 3 of the Bill the following Explanation be added, namely:

"That to clause 3 of the Bill the following Explanation be added, namely: meaning as they had before the 15th August, 1947."

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I must confess that I am not competent to give a satisfactory explanation as regards this point as it is a technical and legal point. But I have been told that an Order in Council is now ready to be issued and it will be issued in the next few days which will explain exactly the scope of these terms for future application. I think that should satisfy the Honourable Member.

Shri K. Santhanam: Shall we have an opportunity to scrutinise that Order in Council?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: That is a matter for which my Honourable friend the Law Minister must answer.

Mr. Chairman: That may have other implications and therefore it is best to consider this question independent of that Order in Council. We do not know what it will be.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, not only in this but in other measures also we have got these expressions "British India" and "India". Some clarification is certainly necessary and so I propose to wait for this Order in Council. I ask for leave of the House to withdraw the motion.

The amendment was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 3 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 3 was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill as amended be passed."

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill as amended be passed."

The motion was adopted.

EXTRA-PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION BILL

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and the States): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government be taken into consideration."

This is a short measure and I shall only briefly explain the reasons why I have come to this House for its passage. The Government of India acquired certain powers and jurisdiction in and in relation to certain areas known as non-jurisdictional and semi-jurisdictional States and Talukas of Western India and Gujrat, Manipur, etc. Before the power was transferred to the Government of India these powers were exercised by the Agencies known as Political Agencies under the Crown Representative; and when Paramountcy lapsed and power was transferred there was possibility of a vacuum being created in these areas as obviously these were not fit for the exercise of sovereign jurisdiction. The Government of India had to step in to fill in the vacuum and we passed an Ordinance creating a machinery by which these powers were to be exercised. It is therefore now attempted to replace the Ordinance by means of a short legislation to create the machinery of appeal courts and other necessary paraphernalia for exercising jurisdiction in those areas. Therefore it affects small areas of these semi-jurisdictional States and Talukas. It does not affect any other part of the country. It is proposed to replace the Ordinance by an Act of the Legislature and to give effect to it from the 15th August 1947. The House will thus see for itself the necessity and justification for the powers we are taking, and therefore I commend this Bill for the consideration of the House. Sir, I move.

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

Mr. Chairman: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government be taken into consideration."

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari (Sikkim and Cooch Behar Group): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Shri Balwant Rai Gopalji Mehta, Shri A. P. Pattani, Sir V. T. Krishnamachari, Durbar Gopaldas A. Desai, Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Shri Raghuraj Singh, Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad, Shri N. Madhav Rau and the Mover, with instructions to report by the 6th December 1947 and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

The form in which I have moved the amendment represents an agreement reached on the subject and before making any remarks and taking up the time of the House, I shall be grateful if the Government will kindly express their attitude so that the House may not have to waste any time in hearing arguments in favour of this motion.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth (Madras: Muslim): You do not want to speak?

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari: No, if the Government accepts the motion.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I accept it.

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari: In view of the Government's acceptance of the amendment, it is not necessary for me to offer any remarks and I commend the motion for the acceptance of the House.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Shri Balwant Rai Gopalji Mehta, Shri A. P. Pattani, Sir V. T. Krishnamachari, Durbar Gopaldas A. Desai, Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Shri Raghuraj Singh, Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad, Shri N. Madhav Rau and the Mover, with instructions to report by the 6th December 1947 and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

The motion was adopted.

INDIAN MERCHANT SHIPPING (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, be taken into consideration."

This Bill enacts the provisions of Ordinance No. 27 of 1947. It provides three things. In the first place it provides that no person shall transfer or clear any ship in any port or port in India, or any share or interest thereof without the previous approval of the Central Government. The second thing it provides is that it restricts the transfer of registry of shipping. A ship that has been registered in India will not be allowed to be registered in any port outside India. The third provision is that under the present position for every exemption that is required from the compliance of certain provisions with regard to safety and other matters, a special case has to be made out and a special notification is issued under Section 126 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act. What is provided here is that general power is taken under proposed Section 289C so that general exemption may be made available.

The main object of the Bill is to conserve shipping and the small tonnage that we have. It is possible, Sir, that people may like to transfer their rights and may also like to transfer the ships that are registered here to countries outside. It is necessary that this power must be with the Government, when Government is anxious to increase tonnage. There is nothing to which any objection can be taken and I therefore commend that the House may be pleased to accept this Bill.

Mr. Chairman: Motion moved:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, be taken into consideration."

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, I move:

"That in clause 2 of the Bill, in the proposed new section 289B—

(i) the word, figures, letters and brackets '(57 & 58 Vict., c. 60)' be omitted; and

(ii) the word, figures, letters, and brackets '(57 & 58 Vict., c. 60)' be inserted in the margin."

This is only a drafting amendment. The Statute reference is incorporated in the body of the Bill. The usual practice is to give these Statute references on the margin. The reason is that in the Merchant Shipping Act of 1894 it is laid down that the Act shall be called the Merchant Shipping Act of 1894. No statute reference is necessary to complete the description. The description by way of Statute reference is necessary for research students, or for anyone who would care to find the Statute in the margin. This Statute reference not being required to identify the Act should be taken out of the body of the Bill and taken to the margin. It does not involve any change in the principle or structure of the clause but is only a drafting device.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That in clause 2 of the Bill, in the proposed new section 289B—

(i) the word, figures, letters and brackets '(57 & 58 Vict., c. 60)' be omitted; and

(ii) the word, figures, letters, and brackets '(57 & 58 Vict., c. 60)' be inserted in the margin."

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): I should like to explain the position. I would say that the amendment has no substance in it. The identifying clause may either be in the margin or may be in the context of the section itself. All that is necessary is that there should be some identification. Originally it is true that in all the Bills that we have presented to the Assembly, such identification references were in the margin. But recently the printers have adopted the method of giving the references in the very body of the section itself and the purpose is to economise paper. For instance, when you have to give the references in the margin obviously you want to use a larger piece of paper. Since the war started this device was adopted just for the purpose of economising paper. I do not think there is any violation of the principles relating to drafting nor any violation of any law with regard to marginal notes. As a matter of fact marginal notes are unnecessary and need not be printed.

Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar (West Bengal: General): There is such a thing as "inner margin" note which does not waste paper.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know whether there is any constitutional difficulty in getting compulsory returns from all factories?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The Factories are expected to file their returns, but the returns have got to be checked by the Provincial Governments, and the Provincial Governments do not have the machinery to do this work.

Shri K. Santhanam: Cannot the Central Government devise the machinery?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is exactly what is now under consideration.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Is the Honourable Minister aware that mostly the industries concerned do not supply correct figures, and will he consider the question of appointing government Inspectors to visit the factories and collect the information?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Nearly about 70 per cent of the manufacturing industries on factory scale did submit their returns. But of course I quite realize the necessity for setting up an organisation which will work in a co-ordinated fashion.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: May I know what is the exact difficulty in the matter of receiving co-operation from the Provinces?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The Provinces have no organisations of their own and up till now it has not been possible for the Centre to set up an organisation which will work in all the Provinces in India.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: May I know whether the Government has taken the trouble to enquire about the caustic soda manufacturing factories in India, and if so how many factories there are?

Mr. Speaker: It does not arise.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: Cannot the Inspectors of Factories take up this work?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is one of the suggestions which we made to the Provinces, but it was pointed out that they are already fully overworked.

Shri M. S. Aney: Cannot Factory Inspectors who were appointed some time ago be used by the Government of India for this purpose?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: As I stated just now, in some cases an attempt was made, but they are already so overworked that they cannot do this work properly.

CLOTH RATION IN DELHI.

582. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that cloth ration in Delhi has recently been increased and if so, in what proportion;

(b) whether Government are aware that the cloth ration in Delhi is high compared to the ration offered in different provinces;

(c) what quantity of cloth per adult is allotted in rural areas; and

(d) whether any effort will be made to increase the cloth ration for the people in the rural areas?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Yes, the normal cloth ration in Delhi has been multiplied by four during the current quarter. The disturbances in the Punjab, and the consequent traffic dislocations, resulted in heavy accumulations of cloth with Mills and dealers in Delhi, which nobody in the disturbed areas was in a position to accept. It was decided to reduce these accumulations by increasing supplies to consumers in Delhi.

(b) Not the normal Delhi cloth ration.

(c) The normal quarterly ration of cloth in Delhi's rural areas is 3 yards a head for adults and 3 yards for children, whereas in the urban area it is 4½ yards for adults and 2½ yards for children. As I have already said, these quotas have been multiplied by four in the current quarter.

(d) In view of what I have already stated, this does not seem necessary.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: How is it that when Government was faced with the accumulations of cloth in Delhi Government thought it fit to distribute it only to residents of Delhi and not to rural areas or to distribute it to other Provinces?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: So far as the accumulations in Delhi were concerned, naturally they could be distributed only in Delhi because the main difficulty in the distribution of this cloth was transport. So far as the accumulations in other Provinces are concerned, orders have already been passed and they also are being distributed. I can give the latest figure. Up till this day 49,000 bales have been distributed from the accumulated quantity amongst the different Provinces in India.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is it not a fact that the quota in Delhi compared unfavourably with Calcutta and Bombay all along and it is only in this quarter that this extra quota was given?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: No.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is it not a fact that in Bengal and Bombay where there are big rural areas, the population in the cities of Calcutta and Bombay were benefitting at the cost of the rural population and were getting per capita greater ration than the people in the urban city of Delhi?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: On an average about 10 to 12 yards per head are allotted to each Province, barring a few Provinces in which exceptions were made, like N. W. F. P. and Sind which are outside our calculation today. It remains for the Province concerned to allocate the quota between the urban and rural areas. If in any particular Province the rural areas were given less, the Government of India has no responsibility at all in the matter.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: But the fact remains that Delhi did get less than what people in Calcutta and Bombay got.

Begum Aizaz Rasul: May I know the approximate amount of cloth contained in each bale?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It comes to about 1,500 yards roughly.

Shri R. K. Sidhwa: May I know when Government intend to decontrol cloth?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is coming up as an item in the cut motions and the matter will be discussed then.

Shri R. K. Sidhwa: Is he not prepared to give an answer in advance?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It will be decontrolled as soon as possible.

Shri R. K. Sidhwa: What is the meaning of 'as soon as possible'?

Mr. Speaker: Next question.

MOTOR CAR MANUFACTURING FACTORIES.

583. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) how many motor car manufacturing concerns have come into existence in India and where;

(b) their capacity for production of cars;

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: I do not know. Probably there is. I am not an expert. I was given to understand by the Printing Department of the Government of India that if you give these identification sections on the margin it would consume more paper.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: In view of the explanation given by the Honourable Minister which I fully accept, I beg leave of the House to withdraw my amendment.

The amendment was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir I move:

"That in clause 2 of the Bill, in the proposed new section 289C, (i) for the words 'the Merchant Shipping Acts' wherever they occur, the words and figures 'the Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 and the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894' be substituted;"

Sir, while the clause in the Bill mentions the Merchant Shipping Acts which means the British Statute as well as the Indian Act, the amendment points out specifically that these are the two Acts meant. Of course if this amendment is accepted, then the statute references, as has been explained by the Honourable the Minister for Law, should be incorporated in the text. I submit that instead of describing them as the Merchant Shipping Acts, it is better to describe them as the Merchant Shipping Act of 1894 and the Merchant Shipping Act of 1923, meaning the British Act and the Indian Act.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That in clause 2 of the Bill, in the proposed new section 289C, (i) for the words 'the Merchant Shipping Acts' wherever they occur, the words and figures 'the Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 and the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894' be substituted;"

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I cannot accept this amendment, because it will restrict the effect and some scope for mischief will be left.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: If I may add one more observation to what has been said by the Honourable Minister in charge, I think this amendment is unnecessary and if my Honourable friend were to refer to the definition in the original Act, the Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, Section 2, sub-clause 5 (here I am speaking from memory), he will find that this amendment is quite unnecessary.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: My only reason for moving this amendment was that I did not get a copy of the Act. In view of the explanation given by the Honourable Minister I beg leave of the House to withdraw the amendment.

The amendment was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 2 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

Clause 3 was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Thursday, the 4th December, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Thursday, 4th December, 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

INDUSTRIAL CENSUS IN INDIA.

581.*Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

- whether any industrial census has so far been taken in India;
- whether Government are aware that such census has been taken more than once in England; and
- whether Government propose to consider the advisability of organising such an industrial survey in India at an early date?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (c). Government are aware of the value of an industrial survey and have set up a central organisation for this purpose. This organisation took all preliminary action to conduct a census for 1946 of manufacturing industries organised on a factory scale. The necessary powers have been taken under the Industrial Statistics Act, 1942 which casts the duty on the Provinces to collect the actual figures and on the Central Government to correlate them. The present census will cover 29 industries or approximately 50 per cent of existing factories. It is the intention to extend the census gradually to cover all factories in existence. Unfortunately the Provinces have not as yet up organisations adequate to the task of collecting and checking the returns and only a small proportion of the returns has been received from them. The Government of India are reviewing the entire question and will discuss this with the Provincial Ministers at the ensuing Industries Conference.

(b) Yes.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know what the plans of the Government are—in how many years they expect to be able to complete this?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: As I have just explained, our difficulty has been that the Provinces have not checked the returns which they were expected to do under the provisions of the Act. In fact nearly 40 per cent of the industries submitted their returns in 1944, 44 per cent of them submitted returns in 1945 and 70 per cent submitted their returns in 1946, and the Provinces have been able to check not more than 10 per cent for each of these three years. Unless the organisation acts in full co-operation with the Provinces it is very difficult for me to mention a date within which the work will be completed.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is this census being carried out under the direction of the Economic Adviser or under any other officer, and if so what is the relationship between this organisation and the Economic Adviser?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: This is directed by the Statistic Officer, Dr. Kaul, who works under the Ministry of Industries, but I suppose he works in co-operation with the Economic Adviser.

- (c) the assistance given by Government to them;
 (d) the control that Government have over their management; and
 (e) the plans of Government to establish in India a sufficient number of motor car manufacturing factories?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Three factories, two at Bombay and the other at Calcutta, are under construction.

(b) Their combined capacity when the entire plant has been installed is expected to be 20,000 vehicles per annum.

(c) Government are giving assistance to the three factories to obtain building materials and foreign technical assistance and have provided dollar facilities.

(d) None, Sir, but the concerns accept advice and instructions given by Government.

(e) Government proposes to promote and assist the establishment of two more factories.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Who are the promoters and Directors of these three concerns?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The first one is connected with Birlas; the second with Mr. Walchand Hirachand; and the third is a Gujarati concern.

Seth Govinddas: By what time do Government expect the first Indian car would come out from these factories?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: By 1950 or 1951 we expect that the car will be manufactured in India.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know if Government have taken any shares in these companies?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: No.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know whether all the parts of these cars will be manufactured in India or the parts will be imported and they will be merely assembled here?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Now of course they will be assembled in a large proportion, but by 1950 or 1951 it is expected that the cars will be manufactured in India.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Do Government propose to take shares in these companies?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That has not been considered.

Shri H. J. Khandekar: May I know from Government whether Government did not get any other concerns in India than Birlas and others mentioned?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that this motor car manufacturing industry is a standardized one and there are not many risks involved in it, will Government consider the advisability of themselves starting a factory?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That will be considered if necessary.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: As the motor car industry is a key industry, does not the Government think that it should take steps to set up some industry by which it may be produced earlier?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The main difficulty will be about the manufacture of the engine and that will require a little time.

Dr. V. Subrahmanyam: Have the Government given any tariff protection to the industry?

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: May I ask whether Government consider that the motor car industry is a standardized industry?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Yes.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that in the policy statement published by the Government of India two years ago it was stated this motor car manufacturing industry was considered to be one of those industries in which Government can very conveniently have a controlling interest?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That has not been considered by the present Government.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Do not any of these factories manufacture any part of a car?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Very small proportion now. PRODUCTION OF MILLYARN AND CLOTH

584. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the production of mill yarn and cloth has gone down during this year and if so, why;

(b) whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the pamphlets published by Shree Khandubhai Desai and also by Sri Vadilal Lallubhai about the various mal-practices indulged in by many Textile mill-owners; and

(c) whether any efforts have been made to reduce the margin of profits absorbed by the spinning mills and also the weaving mills, and what are the relative prices of cotton, yarn and cloth of the principal varieties used by the general public?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Yes, Sir, it is a fact that production of mill yarn and cloth has gone down during this year. This is due to the introduction of the 8 hour day, communal disturbances, strikes and absenteeism, and the tendency on the part of mills to change over to finer counts.

(b) Yes, Sir.

(c) Since the inception of cotton textiles control in 1943 Government have reduced the prices of cloth and yarn from time to time. A statement is laid on the table of the House which shows the relative prices as between cotton, yarn and cloth of some of the principal varieties.

Description of cloth	Warp and Weft counts				Cost of Cotton used per pound of cloth.	Cost of Yarn consumed per pound of grey cloth.	Ex-mill price per pound of grey cloth.
	Warp	Weft	Reed	Picks
1. Dhoti	19	19	40	36	Rs. As. Ps. 0 11 5	Rs. As. Ps. 1 1 8	Rs. As. Ps. 1 7 2
2. Special sheeting	13.5	15.5	42	38	0 11 5	0 14 1	1 3 0
3. Twill	20	30	72	60	0 14 2	1 3 3	11 3
4. Drill Grey	16	20	48/3	40	0 12 9	1 1 5	1 7 9
5. Cellular Shirting	16	20	32/4	40	0 12 9	1 1 5	1 7 9
6. Saree	16	20	40	40	0 12 9	1 1 11	1 7 9
7. Long Cloth	122	30	52	48	0 14 2	1 4 6	0 3

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know, Sir, if the mills still are not making a profit in declaring a dividend of 20 to 50 per cent.?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Not all.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact, Sir, that there is a great disparity between the price of cotton, the price of yarn, and the price of cloth, taking into consideration the relative cost of production?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Well, the difference is not very wide. Of course the prices also vary. As the Honourable Member knows, the price of cotton is also going up now.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know, Sir, if in order to step up production there is any proposal to establish spinning mills by the State itself in some parts of India where cotton is grown, for instance in the Ceded districts of the Madras Presidency?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Government has no plan under consideration for having its own textile mills.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know what steps Government have taken to discourage the tendency on the part of mills to weave finer cloth?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I would draw the attention of the Honourable Member to the resolution which was issued by the Government of India a few days ago on this subject. A committee was appointed and a standardized scheme has been adopted. Steps are being taken to enforce that scheme.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Is it not a fact that the price of fine cloth has not been reduced as compared with coarse cloth?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We have not reduced prices but we have reduced the price at which the mills will be paid, and the entire question of prices is being referred to the Tariff Board.

Shri Khandubhai K. Desai: Are Government aware that there is a great disparity between the actual production and the production that is shown to the Textile Board figures?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I know that is what the Honourable Member has always maintained.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Will Government be pleased to state whether the actual production as released corresponds to the actual outturn of the mills?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: This proposition is very much challenged by the millowners themselves. But what we have done recently is we are going to have Unit Production Committees on which representatives of labour and also of the industry will sit. There will also that Regional Committees and we expect to have provincial committees and an all-India committee also to see that there is no waste or leakage so far as production goes.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Did the Government however try to verify whether actual production corresponded with the statement submitted by the mills?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: As I have just explained, we are now going to have a machinery which will make it possible for Government to check and verify the allegations which are now being made.

Dr. V. Subrahmanyam: Have the Government any idea of allotting more yarn for the purpose of manufacturing sewing balls for which there is great demand from all provinces?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: If more yarn is produced, then Government will also consider that demand.

Dr. V. Subrahmanyam: The Bombay Kohinoor Mill is producing more yarn, but the quota is to be increased and distributed to provinces. Provinces require a larger quota and there is a great demand from dealers.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: If any representation on that point is received, it will be considered.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Has the attention of Government been drawn to the fact that the Madras Government has withdrawn its Control Officer over the spinning mills?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is a matter for the provincial government to decide.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Have Government, Sir, given any consideration to the resolution passed recently by the All India Congress Committee suggesting that the cloth control should be removed as soon as possible?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The Honourable Member is aware that that is one of the matters which the Government has referred to the Tariff Board for advice.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable Minister please state what portion of the decrease in production of yarn and cloth is due to strikes?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It is very difficult to say, but a large portion is.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Do Government propose to decentralise the production of cloth more and more, in view of the difficulties that have been experienced in its centralised production?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: So far as control over production is concerned it may be necessary to maintain it for some time, but Government do contemplate to decentralise so far as distribution is concerned.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Is it not a fact, Sir, that Mr. Vadilal Lallubhai had made certain suggestions regarding increasing production and that at the instance of the Government he introduced those suggestions in his own mill and the production went up by 25 per cent.?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: All those suggestions were taken into consideration by the ad hoc Committee appointed by the Government, and now we are making a further reference to the Tariff Board.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: I want to know, Sir, whether production had gone up by 25 per cent. or more.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I cannot say whether it is 25 per cent., but the production has gone up.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Is it not a fact that Mr. Gadgil, a Member of the Government had been deputed to the particular mill to go and verify the claims regarding increase in production?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I have no personal knowledge.

CONTROL OVER NEWSPRINT AND NEWSPAPERS.

585. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that after the control over newsprint and newspapers has been removed, a large number of newspapers have come to be started in different provinces;

(b) how many new newspapers, daily and weekly, have thus been started and in what provinces; and

(c) what has been the supply and price position of newsprint since the de-control?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Since the removal in April 1947 of restrictions on newsprint, and on the starting of newspapers as well as on purchase and consumption of newsprint by newspapers, a number of newspapers have started publication.

(b) Information regarding the exact number of newspapers is not readily available.

(c) The arrivals of newsprint since the removal of the above mentioned restrictions have been generally satisfactory and compare favourably with the present monthly consumption of newsprint, which has steadily gone up, as the following figures for 1947 would show:

	Arrivals of newsprint in the country	Consumption of newsprint by newspapers
1947	(Tons)	(Tons)
January	5,333	2,294
February	5,443	2,267
March	4,020	2,755
April	3,272	3,001
May	3,634	3,073
June	3,281	3,170
July	6,047	3,455
August	3,539	3,493
September	2,184	3,275
October	3,465	Figures not yet available.

The prices of newsprint in the manufacturing countries are understood to have slightly increased since April 1947. The Canadian prices are round about £40 per ton c.i.f. Indian port and the price of European newsprint varies from £50 to £55 per ton c.i.f. Indian port.

Seth Govinddas: Are any mills going to be started in India in the near future for producing newsprint?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Unfortunately there is no mill yet, but the Central Provinces is going to put up a mill for the manufacture of newsprint and I am informed that about 30,000 tons per year will be manufactured there. Baroda also has made some suggestions in this behalf and we propose to encourage them in carrying out their project.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Government going to purchase any shares as far as the mill proposed in the Central Provinces is concerned? If not, what kind of help is Government going to give to these two new ventures?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: If any suggestion comes in this direction, I shall be certainly prepared to consider it.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: In view of the fact that the prices of Canadian newsprint is lower to the extent of £10—15 per ton than that of British or Norwegian product, will Government try to help the newspapers in getting larger quantities from Canada?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is done already.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Has there been any success?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I cannot tell.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is the newsprint factory proposed to be started in the Central Provinces, a Government factory or a private enterprise?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I think it is a private enterprise.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Is the Honourable Member aware that there is considerable black-marketing in dealings in this newsprint?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: When the Honourable Member is asking that question, I suppose there is black-marketing.

Shri R. R. Diwakar: Will the Honourable Member be able to tell the House if the Indian factories that are going to be started will be able to supply newsprint at competitive rates?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I have not gone into the details but I am told that the scheme is being worked out on a proper basis.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Sir, have any steps been taken to stop the black-market in newsprint?

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Minister has not admitted that there is black-marketing; he said that "if the Honourable Member says so, there might be."

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Who is in possession of the unused balance of newsprint?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The importers themselves.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know from the Honourable Member if any attempts are being made to manufacture wood pulp in India? There was a proposal some time ago to manufacture wood pulp by growing pine trees in Kashmir; is Government going to do anything in this matter and if so what is the stage at which the matter stands?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I cannot say definitely about Kashmir, but so far as the Andamans are concerned, which is a safe territory for the present, investigation has been undertaken by the Dehra Dun Forest Research Institute in the direction which the Honourable Member mentions.

CONSTRUCTION OF KANCHARAPARA WORKSHOPS

†586. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether the construction work on the locomotive factory proposed to be set up at Kancharapara in West Bengal has been commenced;

(b) if not, whether Government propose to consider the advisability of shifting the centre to a strategically more convenient place inside the Union area; and

(c) whether the machinery etc., needed for the factory have been purchased and the experts, engineers and mechanics have been obtained, and when the manufacturing work is expected to commence?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The work was commenced in 1946 but was suspended in June 1947.

(b) Surveys of alternative sites in the vicinity of Asansol have been ordered and are now in hand.

(c) Indents for the purchase of machinery and plant have been placed. The services of expert staff will be obtained when necessary. Government have given this work top priority but it is too early to say when actual manufacturing will start.

OVERBRIDGE FOR AMRAOTI RAILWAY STATION.

587. Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the present location of the Amraoti railway station is not convenient to the public?

(b) Are Government aware that the railway crossing is too narrow and requires widening and that the existence of the level crossing causes very great inconvenience to the public?

†Answer to this question laid on the table the questioner having exhausted his quota.

(c) Do Government propose to construct an over-head bridge for pedestrians?

(d) Are Government aware that for want of such bridge, hundreds of pedestrians and cyclists are continuously held up for long periods?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) No.

The Civil Authorities are opposed to any shifting of the present station site.

(b) The Level Crossing in Amraoti Yard is an A class crossing meant for main roads. The width of the roadway is 30' which is according to specifications. So far as is known there have been no complaints either from the Provincial Government or from the public to the effect that the level crossing is too narrow or that it causes any inconvenience. Wicket gates which are provided on either side are being kept closed to prevent cyclists misusing them and exposing themselves to risk of serious accident.

(c) It is not proposed to construct a road over-bridge for pedestrians as the train service is not frequent.

(d) It is not a fact that pedestrians and cyclists are continuously held up for long periods. Whenever the level crossing is closed, some detention is inevitable but such periods are neither long nor frequent.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: May I know, Sir, whose opinion the Honourable Member is quoting in giving his reply to part (d) of the question?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Well, this question was discussed by representatives of the Railway Administration as recently as August 1946 with the local Authorities in Amraoti and they were definitely opposed to the shifting of the site.

Shri M. S. Aney: When did the discussion take place?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The last time that our representatives had discussions with the local Authorities was August 1946.

Shri M. S. Aney: Will the Government make an enquiry into this matter?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is hardly called for in the circumstances.

MANUFACTURE OF MOTOR CARS.

588. Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the possibility of manufacture of motor-cars in the country?

(b) Are Government rendering any assistance in this respect? If so, what?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given by me today to Starred Question No. 583 by Prof. N. G. Ranga.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know from the Honourable Minister if within a reasonable time, say two or three years, there is any chance of plant and machinery for the manufacture of motor cars being obtained from either England or America?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I suppose the Honourable Member refers to manufacture of engines. That is under consideration.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Is it worthwhile, Sir, producing motor cars in 1950, because by that time probably the world-market would overflow with motor cars?

Mr. Speaker: That will be a matter of opinion.

NEW RAILWAY COACHES.

589. Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that new Railway coaches for passengers are under construction?

(b) What number of coaches Government propose to put on traffic, during the current year?

(c) What method Government propose to adopt to renew the entire stock of Railway carriages which have been in dilapidated condition, during the last War?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). 96 coaches have already been constructed in Government Railway workshops and put into traffic since the beginning of 1947. 134 B. G. and 97 M. G. coaches are at present under construction in Railway workshops. Of these 28 B. G. and 5 M. G. coaches are expected to be ready before the end of the year. As these coaches are turned out further construction will be undertaken.

There are in addition about 300 B. G. coaches expected from indigenous industry before the end of 1948.

Steps are being taken to rehabilitate the existing stock as quickly as possible and to introduce new stock for which indigenous capacity to the extent available is being obtained.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know from the Honourable Minister to which Railway these 96 coaches that have been newly introduced belong?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: They are distributed amongst various Railways. I can give the information in greater detail to the Honourable Member later, if he requires.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know whether they are mostly third-class coaches or upper-class coaches?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Mostly third class.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Do Government propose to instal electric fans in third and intermediate class compartments?

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid these questions are oft put. It is no use pursuing these questions and wasting the time of the House.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: I was not here then, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: That is a different matter.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know, Sir, at this rate in how many years Government will be able to replace all the existing coaches?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. Next question.

FACILITIES TO LOWER CLASS RAILWAY PASSENGERS.

590. Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the promises given to the public in the last Budget session of the Legislative Assembly, to give more facilities to the lower class passengers in our railways?

(b) How far have Government progressed in improving the conditions of travel in Indian Railways?

(c) What are the reactions Government have got so far about the proposed silver arrow train that was exhibited throughout the country?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) Since the cessation of hostilities, Class I Railways have reintroduced or extended 1146 trains, covering a daily mileage of 70,375.

(c) Do Government propose to construct an over-head bridge for pedestrians?

(d) Are Government aware that for want of such bridge, hundreds of pedestrians and cyclists are continuously held up for long periods?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) No.

The Civil Authorities are opposed to any shifting of the present station site.

(b) The Level Crossing in Amraoti Yard is an A class crossing meant for main roads. The width of the roadway is 30' which is according to specifications. So far as is known there have been no complaints either from the Provincial Government or from the public to the effect that the level crossing is too narrow or that it causes any inconvenience. Wicket gates which are provided on either side are being kept closed to prevent cyclists misusing them and exposing themselves to risk of serious accident.

(c) It is not proposed to construct a road over-bridge for pedestrians as the train service is not frequent.

(d) It is not a fact that pedestrians and cyclists are continuously held up for long periods. Whenever the level crossing is closed, some detention is inevitable but such periods are neither long nor frequent.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: May I know, Sir, whose opinion the Honourable Member is quoting in giving his reply to part (d) of the question?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Well, this question was discussed by representatives of the Railway Administration as recently as August 1946 with the local Authorities in Amraoti and they were definitely opposed to the shifting of the site.

Shri M. S. Aney: When did the discussion take place?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The last time that our representatives had discussions with the local Authorities was August 1946.

Shri M. S. Aney: Will the Government make an enquiry into this matter?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is hardly called for in the circumstances.

MANUFACTURE OF MOTOR CARS.

588. Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the possibility of manufacture of motor-cars in the country?

(b) Are Government rendering any assistance in this respect? If so, what?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the reply given by me today to Starred Question No. 583 by Prof. N. G. Ranga.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know from the Honourable Minister if within a reasonable time, say two or three years, there is any chance of plant and machinery for the manufacture of motor cars being obtained from either England or America?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I suppose the Honourable Member refers to manufacture of engines. That is under consideration.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Is it worthwhile, Sir, producing motor cars in 1950, because by that time probably the world-market would overflow with motor cars?

Mr. Speaker: That will be a matter of opinion.

NEW RAILWAY COACHES.

589. Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that new Railway coaches for passengers are under construction?

(b) What number of coaches Government propose to put on traffic, during the current year?

(c) What method Government propose to adopt to renew the entire stock of Railway carriages which have been in dilapidated condition, during the last War?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). 96 coaches have already been constructed in Government Railway workshops and put into traffic since the beginning of 1947. 134 B. G. and 97 M. G. coaches are at present under construction in Railway workshops. Of these 28 B. G. and 5 M. G. coaches are expected to be ready before the end of the year. As these coaches are turned out further construction will be undertaken.

There are in addition about 300 B. G. coaches expected from indigenous industry before the end of 1948.

Steps are being taken to rehabilitate the existing stock as quickly as possible and to introduce new stock for which indigenous capacity to the extent available is being obtained.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know from the Honourable Minister to which Railway these 96 coaches that have been newly introduced belong?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: They are distributed amongst various Railways. I can give the information in greater detail to the Honourable Member later, if he requires.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know whether they are mostly third-class coaches or upper-class coaches?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Mostly third class.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Do Government propose to instal electric fans in third and intermediate class compartments?

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid these questions are oft put. It is no use pursuing these questions and wasting the time of the House.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: I was not here then, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: That is a different matter.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know, Sir, at this rate in how many years Government will be able to replace all the existing coaches?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. Next question.

FACILITIES TO LOWER CLASS RAILWAY PASSENGERS.

590. Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the promises given to the public in the last Budget session of the Legislative Assembly, to give more facilities to the lower class passengers in our railways?

(b) How far have Government progressed in improving the conditions of travel in Indian Railways?

(c) What are the reactions Government have got so far about the proposed silver arrow train that was exhibited throughout the country?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) Since the cessation of hostilities, Class I Railways have reintroduced or extended 1146 trains, covering a daily mileage of 70,375.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I do not think the Honourable Member is familiar with the difficulties involved in this problem. As a matter of fact, the majority of these people who have come from Pakistan are people who have had to flee from that country. They have not got their papers and when we have to issue posting orders, we have got to base them entirely on what they say about themselves. If a man comes to me and says "I am a driver; I have been a driver for 20 years" I have no option but to take him at his statement. Owing to this situation, serious mistakes have occurred.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if it is a fact that drivers offered themselves for service from South India, but were not treated properly and many of them were discontented and some of them returned to their homes?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is precisely on that point, I have just given the reply: "The statement is entirely inaccurate."

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if the South Indian drivers wanted warm clothing and they were refused warm clothing?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: They have all been provided with warm clothing.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I ask if those of the employees who have come from Pakistan under the agreement with the Government of India, so long as they are not provided with service, will they be paid their due wages?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes, Sir; they will be paid.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it a fact, Sir, that some of them have refused their salaries for the last two months, and they were asked to apply for leave and they were told that their salary will be counted as on leave.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The reason why they refused it was that it was not possible in certain cases to get the necessary documentary evidence on which the posting could be made.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know, Sir, that their salaries will be paid to them after all these formalities have been completed.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It will depend on the circumstances of each case.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF AMERICAN TECHNICAL MISSION.

592. Shri K. Santhanam: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state which of the recommendations contained in the Report of the American Technical Mission to India in 1942 were adopted?

(b) Which of the recommendations were rejected by the Government of India?

(c) Have the Government of India reviewed the matter in the light of the changed political conditions?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). The position is explained in the Memorandum issued by Government on the Grady Report, copies of which are available in the Library of the House.

(c) No Sir, but the matter will receive attention.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, when the Memorandum was issued?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The Memorandum was issued about three years ago, after the Grady Report.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I point out, Sir, that my question is about an up-to-date statement as to which of the recommendations were then not adopted and whether they will be reconsidered since the formation of the new Government?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The present Government have not considered the matter nor have they reached a decision on it. It is receiving attention now. But if the Honourable Member would specifically ask about any of these items which were covered by the Grady Report, I shall be glad to answer. I have here about 20 different sections dealing with various items which are considered in the Grady Report.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I suggest that the Government may issue a Memorandum now, so that we may not ask questions on every point of detail?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: If the Government revise their previous decision, then certainly a Memorandum will be issued.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I ask the Honourable the Minister if he will place such of the recommendations as were not accepted by the previous Government for re-consideration before the Industrial Conference meets on the 15th and 16th of March?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The Department is considering the report.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Will that matter be placed before the Conference for consideration?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It will be considered.

Shri B. Das: The recommendations of the Grady Report were only intended to assist the U. K. and U. S. A. in the war efforts of India and what use will it be for the Free India Government to follow those recommendations which are so antiquated?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The report deals with certain matters connected with war activities and at this stage they are completely out of date. But the Report also made certain recommendations regarding India's future industrial development and they might be useful.

DEVELOPMENT OF JUBBULPORE AERO-DROME.

593. Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether Government propose to develop Jubbulpore aerodrome for Civil traffic.

(b) If so, when is the scheme likely to come into operation?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Yes, Sir. The plans of the Government of India for the development of civil aviation provide for the development of the Jubbulpore Aerodrome to the standard of a "Minor" aerodrome.

(b) The Jubbulpore Aerodrome is at present an uncontrolled aerodrome and is available only for occasional use by civil aircraft. It is expected that necessary facilities for the operation of scheduled air services will be provided at this aerodrome in the near future.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Honourable Member aware, Sir, that Jubbulpore is the second city of the Central Provinces and there cannot be any Civil traffic there unless that Aerodrome there which is in a most wretched condition is improved and that also immediately.

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: I have just stated that in the near future it will be provided with an aerodrome fit for the operation of scheduled air services.

Seth Govinddas: May I ask if the Honourable Member is aware that real air service has not begun in Jubbulpore on account of the unfitness of the aerodrome?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: That is true.

New coaching stock has been and is being put into traffic as fast as possible. It is realised that the total railway workshop capacity alone on Indian Railways cannot cope with the demands for coaching stock for replacement of over-age stock and for additional traffic. Indigenous capacity is also being utilised to the maximum extent to supplement railway workshop production.

Railways have augmented considerably their cleaning staff for attention to coaches. Mobile gangs are being provided to ensure cleanliness of coaches during the run and at important junctions cleaning staff attend trains during all parts of the day and night. Overhead filling arrangements have been considerably strengthened and a number of additional stations have been provided with these facilities to ensure that there is no shortage of water. The various stores necessary for cleaning carriages have also been sanctioned on a much larger scale than during pre-war years. Gangs for spraying insecticides and deodorants in carriages have been widely employed.

Additional staff are being provided at many stations for the booking of passengers and the number of stations with a 24 hour continuous booking has been increased. Additional waiting rooms and lavatories have been provided at a number of stations, and existing waiting halls are being progressively improved.

Additional hydrants are being provided for supply of water at stations where a pipe water supply is available.

Every effort is being made to provide adequate lighting in trains. Latest reports from railways show that some improvement is being achieved.

Railways are appointing passenger guides at stations to help passengers.

(c) As a result of the opinions obtained on the Silver Arrow, a revised schedule of requirements for design of coaching stock has been drawn up, 11'8" stock will be built incorporating these requirements which include among other amenities more seating space per passenger, more comfortable seats, improved lighting, more spacious lavatories and drinking water alcoves.

All new stock will be provided with fans in III class compartments in so far as electric equipment is available.

Seth Govinddas: Sir, this question has been thoroughly discussed during the Budget, but I want to put only one supplementary. Why these first-class bogies are not abolished according to the promise of the Honourable Minister?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The matter is under consideration. I hope to come to a decision very soon on this question.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister be pleased to state whether Government propose to appoint women guides for the convenience of woman passengers?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Have they appointed them anywhere?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I believe there are a few women Inspectresses appointed. The appointment of women guides for the benefit of third-class women passengers is a proposal which is being seriously considered at present and is likely to be introduced at an early date.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable Minister be pleased to state the total money spent on providing these facilities to third-class passengers?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I think I gave some figures on this point during the general discussion of the Budget.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: No, Sir.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The provision that we made for the current year on the pre-partition basis was about a couple of crores. Now, of that, on the post-partition basis, the expenditure that we are going to incur is somewhere about Rs. 170 lakhs. Whether the whole of it will be spent or not during the year will depend upon the availability of materials.

Shri O. V. Alagesan: Are Government aware that in many stations third-class passengers are forced to wait in the open air and even spend whole nights for want of sufficient waiting room facilities and what do Government propose to do to mend this state of affairs?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is true, Sir, that at some stations the position is as described, but we are now trying to remedy it as far as we can.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Is it not a fact, Sir, that during the Budget Session the Honourable Minister had promised to appoint woman guides, and if so, what was the difficulty in appointing them so far?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Since the beginning of June, i.e., three months after I made this promise, it has been difficult for the Railways to perform their normal functions.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: I know, but what was being done for three months from April to June, when women guides can be had so easily?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It is not quite so easy as the Honourable Member thinks.

RECRUITMENT OF DRIVERS.

591. Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state how many drivers have been recruited in the recent emergency from amongst those who offered their services?

(b) Is it a fact that a number of them went away as Government could not give them attractive salaries and warm clothing?

(c) In view of the shortage of trained hands, what action Government propose to take to meet the emergency.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Fifty-two drivers reported themselves for duty on the Eastern Punjab Railway. Of these forty-six were retained. Of the remaining three were returned at their own request, two were found unfit and one went away without authority.

(b) No.

(c) Steps have been taken to provide intensive training for the purpose of making drivers available in the shortest possible time.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Arising out of answer to part (c) of the question, may I know from the Honourable Minister whether about 700 employees, out of whom 200 belong to superior staff like drivers, have come out from Pakistan and they have not been provided with service so far. What is the reason, and are they likely to be provided for?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I think, Sir, I discussed this question at some length in my Budget speech. We have had about 125 or 126 thousand people from Pakistan who opted for India. Out of that, we have so far provided for about 108 thousand. Posting orders have been issued to them. Now, that is a job of enormous difficulty, but we are doing our best.

So far as the question of drivers is concerned, one way in which we were able to remedy the serious shortage that has occurred was by recruitment of people who have come here from Pakistan.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know whether for the period they are unemployed, they will get their salaries?

Seth Govinddas: Then, Sir, may I know when we can expect the new aerodrome will be built in Jubbulpore.

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: I have just said in the near future.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Will the Honourable Member consider the question of constructing an aerodrome at Amraoti, Sir, the third biggest city in the Central Provinces?

Mr. Speaker: The question refers to Jubbulpore aerodrome.

Begum Aizaz Rasul: May I know if Government will consider favourably the building of a suitable aerodrome in Lucknow also?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order; Next question.

INDIAN COAL FIELDS COMMITTEE.

594. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state what action has been taken by Government till now on the principal recommendations of the Indian Coal Fields Committee?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It is not possible within the limitations of time and space to refer here to all the recommendations made by the Indian Coalfields' Committee. The main recommendations, involving matters of policy, pertain to the production, transport and conservation of coal. The broad objectives have been accepted by Government and the action taken is indicated below:—

Production and Transport.—Committee has been set up to draw up a co-ordinated plan of coal production and transport over the next five years with indications of appropriate priority for the various areas and projects. Due to the delay in the receipt of the remarks of certain Provincial Governments and private bodies, which had been consulted in the matter, and other reasons, the Committee has not yet been able to complete its task.

Conservation.—A Committee has been set up to prepare a programme of sand-stowing for the next 10 years.

It will still take some time to put into effect the other recommendations of the Committee regarding conservation of metallurgical coal e.g., (i) prohibition of supplies to other than essential consumers; (ii) beneficiation of lower quality coals by washing and blending; and (iii) curtailment of output.

Enforcement of (i) is deferred until the production of good quality non-metallurgical coal is stepped up sufficiently to meet requirements, e.g., of the Railways. A start on washing is being made shortly when the equipment on order by a private concern arrives. But a good deal of study on the laboratory and pilot plant scales must precede large-scale measures of beneficiation. This will be one of the principal tasks of the Fuel Research Institute when it is ready. Implementation of (iii) must be done in consultation with the Provincial Governments concerned who have been already addressed on certain ancillary matters.

2. The action taken on certain other important recommendations is shown below:—

State Acquisition of mineral rights.—The Governments of Bengal and Bihar have been addressed over the procedure and principles of acquisition and their replies are awaited.

Contract system for coal raising/over-burden removal at Railway collieries.—The system has been abolished at three collieries and its abolition at others is under consideration.

Withdrawal of monetary concessions on Export coal.—This is under consideration and an early decision is expected.

Fuel research.—The question of extending the scope of the Fuel Research Institute and of starting Field Survey stations for undertaking a classification of Indian coals has been considered by the Fuel Research Committee of the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research and their recommendations are now being submitted to Government.

3. The recommendations of the Committee regarding administrative machinery for dealing with the coal industry have not so far been considered due to political and constitutional difficulties; but it is hoped to take them up in the very near future.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister please state if any concessions are being extended to Coal miners since the tax concessions given by Government in the past must have been of necessity withdrawn?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I am afraid I cannot answer off-hand. If the Honourable Member gives details, I shall examine it.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know what steps are taken to acquire the rights of ownership as recommended by the Indian Coalfields' Committee?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We have referred the matter to two Provincial Governments and we shall consider the matter as soon as we get the reply.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know how many coalfields are still being worked by British and other foreign concerns?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Most of the big collieries are still controlled by foreign concerns.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable Minister try to find out some way by which these concerns may come to Indian hands?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is a matter of general policy for Government to adopt; we shall bear that in mind.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that a Coal Committee reported more than two years ago in favour of the State acquiring mineral rights, how is it that even today Government think it necessary to refer this question back to the provincial Governments and thus waste so much time?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The Honourable Member knows very well that the Government which functioned before 15th August, 1947 was not in a position to consider this question involving future State policy.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will Government consider the urgent need of taking this key industry under State control, specially because the Railway Minister told us the other day that coal was the real bottleneck in the way of improving transport?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is now being considered. As the Honourable Railway Minister stated, it is not want of coal from which the country suffers but on account of transport difficulties coal is not being distributed.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Which are the three collieries where the contract system for recruiting labour has been abolished?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: They are, (1) Some units of the Giridih Colliery; (2) the Jallandi Colliery and (3) the Savang Colliery.

PRODUCTION OF BENZOL IN INDIA.

595. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the quantity of Benzol produced in India during war time and at present?

(b) How far is it used at present for mixing with petrol as motor fuel and what economies are thereby effected in reducing the imports of petrol?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) About 1.2 million gallons and 1.75 million gallons per annum, respectively.

(b) During 1947 about 1.68 million gallons of Benzol will have been used in lieu of Motor Spirit, out of a total estimated supply of 164.325 million gallons of Motor Spirit. This means roughly an Economy of about 1 per cent.?

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: In view of the fact that it conduces to economy why should they have so much import of petrol which is not produced in this country and manufacture Benzol?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The question of making fuller use of Benzol as a substitute is being considered. Of course the economy represents only 1 per cent.

IMPORT OF LOCOMOTIVES

596. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the number of locomotives which have been obtained for the Indian Railways since the termination of the war from the United Kingdom, the United States of America and any other country?

(b) What is the total number of locomotives for which Government have placed orders in the United Kingdom, the United States of America and any other country and when Government expect to obtain delivery of these locomotives?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Since the official termination of the War, namely 1st April, 1946, 150 Broad Gauge locomotives have been received in India against orders placed during the War years. Of these, 130 are from the United Kingdom and 20 from Canada. An order for 16 Broad Gauge locomotives was placed this year in United States of America and deliveries of these locomotives have just been completed.

351 Metre Gauge locomotives have been purchased from the lease-lend stock. These were in service in India during the War. Negotiations for the purchase of 9 more such Metre Gauge locomotives are in progress.

(b) Orders have been placed for 390 Broad Gauge locomotives in the United Kingdom and 150 Broad Gauge locomotives in Canada. These locomotives are expected to be delivered before August 1950.

The India Supply Mission, Washington, have been asked to place orders for 33 Metre Gauge locomotives.

Orders have also been placed for the manufacture of 10 Broad Gauge and 68 Metre Gauge locomotives in the Ajmer Workshop. Delivery dates of these locomotives are not yet known.

Shri K. Santhanam: With reference to part (b) of the question, may I know what the average price of a broad-gauge locomotive is?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It varies greatly according to the design of the locomotive and the source of production. On the most recent order that we have placed and with reference to which I have received quotations I think it is approximately 3½ lakhs; but that is subject to correction.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Were these locomotives purchased at open competitive rates and after inviting tenders?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes, Sir.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know if any locomotives have been ordered from Tata's in this country?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: They are not yet in a position to produce locomotives. At present they are only producing boilers. I think it will take a couple of years before they are in a position to manufacture locomotives.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Is no country in the world barring the United Kingdom, United States and Canada in a position to supply locomotives to our country?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: We have been making extensive investigations on that subject, and the basis on which orders are placed is partly a question of price and partly a question of deliveries. With reference to these two considerations we find that for the present it is more convenient from our point of view to place orders in the United Kingdom and the United States. But the question that the Honourable Member raised is very much present to our minds.

Shri K. Santhanam: Can Czechoslovakia supply them?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: We are considering that.

Shri B. Das: Are these orders for locomotives now placed by the London Stores Department or have the Government of India got a department here which analyses all tenders and places orders?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: We do it with the assistance of the London office.

WAGONS FOR TRANSPORTING COAL

597. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state what steps have been taken to remove the delay in turn-round of wagons which is reported to be the cause of the shortage of wagons?

(b) How do Government propose to remove the prevailing disequilibrium in the demand for and the supply of wagons for the movement of coal?

(c) What steps have been taken by Government, from time to time, to adjust the allotment of wagons to the railways and other consumers for transporting coal and how far Government have succeeded in doing so?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state what are the quantities of monthly production and the number of wagons of coal despatched since the termination of the war?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) As I stated during my Budget speech, there are various causes for delays in the turnround of wagons. The first and the biggest is the slowing down in the handling of goods traffic owing to civil disturbances. Another factor is change in the direction of traffic from that for which yard and track capacity were designed. Thirdly, the deterioration in the quality of service now obtainable from locomotives. Railways are doing everything possible more effectively to regulate traffic through yards and on single line sections, certain works for increasing the capacity of the line are in train and Railways are examining continuously ways and means of speeding up the transit of goods wagons.

(b) It is presumed that this refers to the short-supply of wagons in the Berhal and Bihar coalfields area for the movement of coal. The average daily loadings are now of the order of 2,700 wagons per day. It would interest the Honourable Member to know that on 14 days in November, 1947, loadings exceeded that figure and touched a maximum of 3,121 wagons. This is indicative of the consistent attempts which are being made to improve loadings. Such endeavours will continue.

(c) The allotment of coal to particular consumers is the business of the Coal Commissioner who works under the Ministry of Industry and Supply. It is his duty to distribute, in accordance with the importance of the industries, coal supplies within the number of wagons made available by the Railways from day to day in the coalfields area. So far as Government is aware, generally speaking, industries have been supplied with sufficient quantities of coal so as not to hinder work.

(d) A statement giving details of monthly production of coal and the tonnage despatched by rail will be prepared and laid on the table.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: May I know whether there is an organisation now to control wagon movement similar to what obtained during the war?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: There is a very considerable element of wagon control; otherwise it would be impossible to control the question of priority.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: May I know whether the Honourable Minister has received representations from the coal mine owners in the Bengal collieries that a good deal of undesirable favouritism is indulged in by the authorities in the matter of distribution of wagons? If so, what steps have been taken to remedy this?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: That is a matter which falls within the province of my Honourable colleague the Minister for Industry and Supply.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is it a fact that the short supply of wagons is also due to a large number of wagons being held up in Pakistan—as many as 2,000—where coal was carried by these wagons?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Yes, I think to some extent that is true. Up to two weeks ago I believe a large number of wagons that were sent to Pakistan, particularly Western Pakistan, was held up for an unduly long period. But I am glad to say that during the past ten days there has been a perceptible improvement in the return of these wagons.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Has the Pakistan Government's attitude towards us improved, Sir?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The question hour is over.

(b) Written Answers

COAL ECONOMY BY THE RAILWAYS

598. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state what economies have the Railways been able to effect in the consumption of higher grade coal for loco purposes and how far the Railways have been able to use lower grade coal for loco traffic?

(b) Have Government investigated the feasibility of using Diesel oil for traction with a view to supplementing supplies of coal used for loco traffic?

(c) Have the Official Committee set up by the Government of India to draw up, in consultation with the interests concerned, a co-ordinated plan of coal production and transportation in the next five years, submitted their recommendations?

(d) If so, what are the principal recommendations of the Committee and what decisions have the Government of India taken on these recommendations?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Railways are making every endeavour to reduce their consumption of the higher grades of coal.

In 1937-38, 54 per cent. of the coal consumed by railways was of selected grades as compared with a figure of 38 per cent. in 1946-47. As regards the lower grades coal the comparative figures are 5 per cent. and 22 per cent.

(b) Yes. Prior to partition, 30 Diesel electric locomotives were in use on Railways. Proposals to introduce Diesel electric traction on certain sections of the former N. W. Railway were under consideration but they were dropped owing to the partition.

(c) Not yet.

(d) Does not arise.

STATE AID TO PRIVATE INDUSTRIES

599. Shri S. Nagappa: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether Government propose to give State aid to private agencies which start industries or whether Government will take the initiative in starting industries?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The matter is now under consideration of Government. Apart from a Special Economic Sub-Committee of Cabinet, various problems relating to the future industrial development of India will also be considered at the Industries Conference to be held on and from the 15th December 1947. The Provincial Ministers and representatives of important Indian States and of Industry and Labour will be present at the Conference. The Government of India hope to be able to announce shortly their future industrial policy.

PRIVATE PLANES COMMANDED FOR KASHMIR DEFENCE

600. Mr. E. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state the number of planes from private firms employed during the defence of Kashmir together with the names of the companies which owned them?

(b) How many planes and of what company were manned by Indian pilots, and how many and of what company were piloted by Europeans?

(c) Is it a fact that European pilots on the first day or thereabout before flying demanded higher salary and extra emoluments and refused to pilot until their demands were met?

(d) Do Government propose to see that until all Indian companies employ Indian pilots they will not be granted license?

(e) What steps have Government taken to see that various companies plying plane service train full complement of Indian pilots?

(f) What is the grade of salary and other allowances of a European pilot and that of an Indian?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) About 40 aircraft belonging to various air operating companies, a list of whom I lay on the table of the House, were employed in the air operations to Kashmir.

(b) The number of pilots engaged in the operations was 142, of whom 80 were Indians and the rest of other nationalities, including Europeans. Except for Air India Limited, all of whose pilots are Indian, the air-crews of all the companies include both Indians and Europeans.

(c) No such demand was made to Government.

(d) No, Sir. Such a course will be highly detrimental to the development of air transport in India and will retard progress, specially at this stage, when Indian aviation is still not fully developed.

(e) The question of expanding facilities for the training of Indian Pilots is engaging the attention of Government.

(f) The salaries and allowances of pilots are fixed by the companies concerned in direct relation to the qualifications and experience of the individuals. No distinction is made on grounds of nationality.

List of Air Operating Companies

1. AIR INDIA LIMITE
2. AIR SERVICES OF INDIA, LIMITE
3. MISTRY AIRWAYS LIMITED
4. AIRWAYS (INDIA) LIMITED.
5. AMBICA AIR LINES LIMITED.
6. INDIAN NATIONAL AIRWAYS LIMITED.
7. BHARAT AIRWAYS LIMITED.
8. DALMIA JAIN AIRWAYS LIMITED.
9. JUPITER AIRWAYS LIMITED.

DEVELOPMENT OF HOME AND COTTAGE INDUSTRIES

601. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) What Government propose to do for the development of home and cottage industries; and

(b) whether Government propose to decentralise certain industries and if so, what those industries are?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Development of Home and Cottage Industries is primarily the responsibility of Provincial Governments. This subject is, however, included in the agenda of the ensuing Industries Conference with a view to discussing what assistance, if any, should be given by the Central Government.

(b) Urgent problems relating to industrial Development of India will be discussed at the forthcoming Conference where all the Provinces and important States will be represented, and the future industrial policy of the Government of India will be determined thereafter.

TICKETLESS TRAVELLING AND CORRUPTION IN RAILWAYS

602. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) how Government propose to prevent the increasing volume of ticketless travelling; and

(b) what steps Government have taken to stop bribery and corruption in the Railway offices?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) To prevent ticketless travel, railways are providing additional booking offices, with opening hours regulated by the demand for tickets, tightening control at station entrances and exits; strengthening their ticket collecting and checking staff; calling upon officers of all departments to co-operate in a drive to counteract this practice, and taking steps to bring home to railway staff that it is their duty to acquire a higher sense of responsibility towards the State and take more effective steps to prevent this leakage of badly needed revenue. As I stated in my budget speech, the problem has gone beyond railway measures and has now also to be tackled as a problem of law and order. In the U. P., where the trouble is particularly acute, I have arranged, after discussion with the Honourable the Premier, for a concerted drive against ticketless travel with an additional police force, and in each district a special magistrate. The Railway Board have approached other Provincial Governments with a request for the utmost co-operation with the railways in their endeavours to suppress irregular travel.

(b) A special police organisation has been in existence since 1942-43 for the apprehension of officials found guilty of corrupt practices. Special tribunals have been set up for the prompt disposal of detected cases. Railway Administrations have instructions to prosecute with the utmost vigour both parties to detect illegal transactions in respect of reservation of train accommodation. The procedure in reservation offices has been tightened up and supervision and surprise checks have been increased.

PETROL CONSUMPTION IN AJMER-MERWARA

603. *Shri Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: Will the Honourable Minister of Transport be pleased to state:

(a) the petrol allotments made to Ajmer-Merwara during the years 1942-43, 1943-44, 1944-45, 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48;

(b) the actual consumption of petrol in Ajmer-Merwara during these years and whether any quantity was surrendered out of the allotted quantity during these years and if so, how much and when;

(c) on what basis or principles petrol released for consumption is distributed amongst the various transport operators and the private car owners (basic and Supplementary) in the province, and what was the quantity of petrol released to each operator in the years 1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47; and

(d) the various routes which Bus service run in the province and the number of buses for which permits have been issued for these routes and whether petrol has been issued for all these buses or to some of them and if not to all, for what reasons?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The quarterly petrol quotas allotted to Ajmer-Merwara during the six rationing quarters ending January, 1948, are as follows:—

	Gallons
August—October, 1946	64,000
November, 1946—January, 1947	79,000
February—April, 1947	85,000
May—July, 1947	85,000
August—October, 1947	57,000
November, 1947—January, 1948	41,000

For the February—April, 1942, rationing quarter a quota of approximately 35,000 gallons was allotted. During the intervening period no specific quotas were allocated to any of the Provinces or States, but an overall direction was given to all of them to achieve the maximum possible economy so as to result in a saving of 50 per cent.

(b) I lay on the table a statement showing the actual consumption of motor spirit in Ajmer-Merwara from 1st February 1942 to 31st July 1947. For the subsequent period figures of actual consumption are not available. Out of the allocation of 85,000 gallons for the May—July 1947 quarter, 10,000 gallons were surrendered by Ajmer-Merwara.

(c) The guiding principles to which an Area Rationing Authority should, have regard in deciding the amount of motor spirit for which coupons may be issued, are laid down in the Second Schedule appended to the Motor Spirit Rationing Order, 1941.

The information regarding the actual amount of petrol issued to each operator in Ajmer-Merwara during the years 1944-45 to 1946-47 is not available and the time and labour involved in collecting it would be incommensurate with the value of the results.

(d) The information is being obtained and will be placed on the table of the house as soon as available.

Statement showing actual quarterly consumption of motor spirit in Ajmer-Merwara from the quarter February—April 1942:

	(Quantities in gallons)
February—April, 1942	52,568
May—July, 1942	33,152
August—October, 1942	8,738
November—January, 1943	13,244
February—April, 1943	14,936
May—July, 1943	14,028
August—October, 1943	14,688
November—January, 1944	17,964
February—April, 1944	15,248
May—July, 1944	14,010
August—October, 1944	14,188
November—January, 1945	17,078
February—April, 1945	15,028
May—July, 1945	15,244
August—October, 1945	20,390
November—January, 1946	23,876
February—April, 1946	26,488
May—July, 1946	27,769
August—October, 1946	31,160
November—January, 1947	43,973
February—April, 1947	45,699
May—July, 1947	52,407

INADEQUATE SUPPLY OF PETROL TO AJMER-MERWARA.

604. *Shri Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: Will the Honourable Minister of Transport be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that a number of buses on these routes are lying idle for want of petrol and the travelling public is being seriously inconvenienced as there is no other means of transport on some of these routes;

(b) if so, whether Government propose to take suitable measures to relieve the public of this inconvenience; and

(c) whether Government proposes to consider the advisability of increasing the quota of petrol allotted to Ajmer-Merwara, considering the requirements of the province and the great inconvenience to which the public is being put on account of the inadequate supply of petrol?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) So far as the Central Government are aware, no buses in Ajmer-Merwara have been rendered idle due to inadequacy of the petrol allocation.

(b) and (c). Does not arise.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK ACCOUNTS IN PAKISTAN

605. *Giani Gurmukhsingh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are in possession of the records of post office cash certificates and Savings Bank accounts of non-Muslims of the Pakistan area; and

(b) in case Government have handed over the records to the Pakistan authorities, the action Government propose to take for the payment of cash certificates and Savings Bank amounts to those who have lost their original cash certificates and pass books in Pakistan?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) No, Sir. There are joint records for both Muslim and non-Muslim investors. These were handed over to the Pakistan authorities in respect of Post Offices located in Pakistan.

(b) Depositors and investors who are not in possession of pass books and cash certificates have been asked to apply to the Director-General, Posts and Telegraphs, India. Their applications are being considered on merits in consultation with the Director-General, Posts and Telegraphs, Pakistan. Those in possession of pass books and cash certificates held in post offices in Western Pakistan are allowed to make partial withdrawals from their Savings Bank Accounts or encash their certificates as the case may be, subject to certain conditions.

UNSATISFACTORY TRAVELLING CONDITIONS ON O. T. RAILWAY

606. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that there is no satisfactory arrangement for the supply of water to passengers on the Oudh Tihut Railway generally, and on the stations between Barielly and Kathgodam particularly, even during the hot season and that the water-pipes at these stations are either broken or are otherwise unserviceable;

(b) whether Government are aware that the general condition of the passenger trains on this line is dirty, widows and berths are broken, there is no light at all or the same is out of order, there is no water in the lavatories, and that there is no satisfactory arrangement for cleansing the compartments regularly; and

(c) if the answers to parts (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, what action Government propose to take to redress these longstanding grievances and improve the general conditions for the benefit of the travelling public?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Government understand that adequate arrangements now exist at all stations on the O. T. Railway for the supply of water to passengers either from taps provided on platforms or by watermen specially appointed for the purpose. On the 11 stations on the Bareilly-Kathgodam section 15 watermen are employed permanently and six additional watermen are provided every year during the hot weather. It is reported that water pipes are frequently broken through mis-use by the public, and although an organisation exists for effecting repairs promptly, shortage of materials required for the purpose, sometimes causes delay.

(b) Government are aware that the general condition of the passenger trains on the O. T. Railway leaves much to be desired. Difficulties in replacement and maintenance resulting from war conditions have been aggravated by extensive sabotage of materials and theft of fittings indulged in by certain irresponsible members of the travelling public.

(c) Arrangements have already been made for the provision of cleaning and watering facilities at all terminal points and in addition rake attendants are being appointed to ensure the cleanliness of compartments. Special gangs have been appointed to supervise train lighting arrangements. Steps are being taken to replace overaged and damaged stock as quickly as possible.

NEW MODEL PASSENGER COACHES

607. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) how many passenger coaches of the new model have been constructed by this time;

(b) whether any improvement has been made in the model exhibited at Delhi and other stations; and

(c) when Government propose to put in service the first train of this model?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Coaches to the new design have not yet been constructed.

(b) When the Silver Arrow train was exhibited at various centres, a questionnaire was issued to the public to determine their reaction to the proposed internal layouts. The replies to the questionnaire have been duly considered and a revised schedule of requirements of design has been prepared. Negotiations are in progress with certain indigenous firms for the building of light weight 11 ft. 8 in. wide IIIrd class coaches incorporating these requirements.

(c) Sample coaches manufactured by indigenous firms are likely to be ready for trials in August 1948. Bulk orders for the new design carriages will be placed thereafter on indigenous firms.

MUSLIM PERSONNEL OF POST AND TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT

608. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to a news item in the Hindustan Times, dated Monday the 20th November, 1947 from Badaun (United Provinces) that the Muslim personnel of the post and Telegraph Department who had originally opted for Pakistan have been allowed to resume their duties in Badaun district and that their waiting period will be counted as leave on pay?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: Yes, Sir. They were allowed to rejoin on their changing their original option, which was provisional for Pakistan, to final for India. As to how the waiting period should be treated no decision has yet been reached.

STEEL, IRON AND CEMENT FOR UNITED PROVINCES

609. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply please state:

(a) the quota of steel, iron and cement allotted to the United Provinces;

(b) the basis of allotment;

(c) whether any representation has been made by the Government of the United Provinces for an increase in the quota; and

(d) if so, what steps have Government taken to meet the demand of the Government of the United Provinces?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b) 30,300 tons of steel were allotted to the United Provinces, in 1947, and 4,905 tons in period I of 1948. Provincial quotas of steel are calculated on the basis of population (1941 census)—a weightage equal to three times the population being allowed for cities having more than one lakh of inhabitants. Pig iron and cement are not distributed Province-wise.

(c) Representations have been received for the quick despatch of steel against the quota allotted to the United Provinces and for their demands for cement being met in full.

(d) Every endeavour is being made to expedite the delivery of steel and also to meet the demands of cement as far as possible.

NEW BRANCH LINES ON O. T. RAILWAY

610. *Shri Rameshwar Prasad Sinha: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to open new branch lines on the Oudh Tirhut Railways in the district of Muzaffarpur (Bihar) and if so, what are the names of all such proposed routes;

(b) whether Government are aware that during the last session of the Bihar Assembly it was decided to move the Government of India for opening a new Railway line from Hajipur to Sugauli Lalgai, Vaishali, and Kesaria;

(c) whether Government are aware of the need for—

(i) a new Railway line from Hajipur to Sugauli; and

(ii) a new rail route from Sitamardhi to Soubarsa; and

(d) if the answer to part (c) above be in the affirmative, when the above projects will be taken up?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The only line approved for investigation in consultation with the Provincial Government in the district of Muzaffarpur is between Sitamarhi and Sonbarsa.

(b) A copy of the Resolution passed in the Bihar Legislative Assembly on the 8th October 1947 in regard to the construction of a new railway line from Hajipur to Sagauli via Sahebganj, Govindganj and Areraj has been received from the Bihar Government.

(c) The answer to this is covered by the replies to parts (a) and (b).

(d) The field work for the survey of Sitamarhi to Sonbarsa line has been completed and survey reports are awaited. A decision in regard to the construction will be taken after examination of the Survey Reports. The proposal to construct a line from Hajipur to Sagauli will be placed before the Central Board of Transport for their opinion and, if approved, a survey will be undertaken.

NEW RAILWAY LINE SOUTH INDIA

611. *Shri P. Kakkan: Will the Honourable the Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether the Government of India propose to open a railway line from Madura to Karikudi Malur (Madura District) and Tiruppatur (Ramanad District) which was surveyed some years ago by the Railway Board?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The Government have at present no proposal to construct a railway line from Madura to Karaikudi via Malur and Tiruppatur.

NON-RETURN OF WAGONS FROM PAKISTAN

612. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that a large number of wagons carrying coal and other essential goods to Pakistan have not been returned?

(b) If so, what is the total number of such wagons and what steps are being taken to bring them back?

(c) Is it a fact that because of the failure of the Government of Pakistan to return these wagons, the transport of coal in the country has been greatly hampered resulting in loss to commerce and industry?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) and (b). Approximately, 3,855 Broad Gauge and 1,082 Metre Gauge wagons sent to the Pakistan Railways on and after 16th August, 1947 had not been returned by 31st October, 1947. Consequent on the partition, a general upsetting of operational conditions was inevitable. The Director of Wagon Interchange who controls the Broad and Metre Gauge Wagon Pools to which the Pakistan Railways are a party, has been pressing upon the Pakistan Railways to return some of the stock, and has reported that a distinct improvement in the return of wagons by the Pakistan Railways is noticeable from 1st November 1947. With improvement in operational conditions, it is expected that the Pakistan Railways will be in a position to return more wagons, the number to be returned depending upon final allocation to those Railways of the Rolling stock, on division.

(c) No.

PUBLICATION OF NEWSPAPERS BY ANDHRAS

613. *Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the number of applications received from Andhras to start or to publish Dailies, Weeklies, and Fortnightlies in Andhra area in the years 1945-46 and 1946-47?

(b) How many of them were granted?

(c) How many of them were rejected and for what reasons?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a), (b) and (c). A statement is laid on the table. It excludes the applications for starting publication of Dailies, Weeklies and Fortnightlies on paper other than newsprint. The information about such applications is not readily available. The applications rejected were due to difficult supply position of newsprint.

Statement referred to in reply to Question No. 613
Newsprint

	1945-1946			1946-1947
	Daily	Weekly	Fortnightly	Daily	Weekly	Fortnightly
Applications received	3	10	1	2	8	1
Applications accepted	2	3	Nil	Nil	Nil	Nil
Applications rejected	1	7	1	2	8	1

INDEPENDENT TRANSMITTERS IN THE INDIAN UNION

614. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the existence of a number of independent transmitters working in the Indian Union?

(b) Is it a fact that the All India Radio authorities recorded the broadcasts from Amritsar given by "Azad Sikh Radio"?

(c) If so, what action has been taken by Government to stop this?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) and (b). Certain broadcasts purporting to have been made by a transmitting station which described itself as "Azad Sikh Radio" were heard by the monitoring station of All India Radio in September last. There have been no further broadcasts since then and Government has not received any other reports from its monitoring stations suggesting the existence of unauthorised wireless transmitters in the Indian Union.

(c) The question does not arise.

ELECTIONS TO THE CENTRAL ADVISORY BOARDS OF ARCHÆOLOGY AND EDUCATION

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that up to the time fixed for receiving nominations for the Central Advisory Boards of Archæology and Education, 8 nominations in the case of the first and 5 nominations in the case of the second were received. Subsequently one member in the case of the first withdrew his candidature. As the number of the remaining candidates was thus equal to the number of vacancies in each of the two Boards, I declare the following members to be duly elected:—

I. Central Advisory Board of Archaeology.

- (1) Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu.
- (2) Shri Balwant Rai Gopalji Mehta.
- (3) Shri B. Das.
- (4) Shri R. R. Diwakar.
- (5) Shri Bhagwat Prasad.
- (6) Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth, and
- (7) Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar.

II. Central Advisory Board of Education.

- (1) Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri.
- (2) Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.
- (3) Pandit Govind Malaviya.
- (4) Shri Mohan Lal Saxena, and
- (5) Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra.

GENERAL BUDGET—LIST OF DEMANDS

SECOND STAGE

Mr. Speaker: The House will now discuss the demands for grants in respect of General Budget.

I understand that a list showing the agreed cut motions which will be moved has been circulated to Honourable Members.

As regards time limit for speeches, the usual practice has been to fix a limit of 15 minutes for all speakers including movers of the cut motions and 20 minutes for the Honourable Ministers replying. I trust this suits Honourable Members. The Congress Party will now move their cut motions.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Last time during my speech on the Railway budget I pointed out to the House that we have to pass demands going into several crores but we are given only two or three days in which to discuss the cut motions. Here we are required to pass grants amounting to over 239 crores and there are about 175 cut motions. In the Provincial Legislatures the practice is that almost every cut motion is allowed to be discussed and enough time is given for them to be moved and the Minister in charge of this Department himself replies at the end. I therefore wish that in future the Government should take care to give enough time to see that all the cut motions that are tabled are moved, because this is the only time when Members can bring to the knowledge of Government their own experiences. We now have a popular Government and we hope it will be responsive to the wishes of the people. The old Government thought two or three days were enough because they did not care for the people. I hope next time we will have more time to discuss the cut motions. In the United Provinces, we have to pass a budget of Rs. 40 crores only and yet nineteen days are allotted to discuss it. I hope next time at least all the cut motions that are tabled will be allowed to be discussed.

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena.]

Mr. Speaker: It is not for me to decide. Government will decide what is proper. But it gives me a little shock to hear that 19 days are granted. Of course, I am giving my personal reactions. Every Member must be given opportunities to air his views on subjects which are coming before the House, particularly in connection with the financial matters. At the same time, I may be permitted to point out that the Honourable Members should not repeat the same thing over and over again. Unfortunately, that is what I am noticing. It is my painful duty to invite the attention of Members to this fact.

DEMAND NO. 20.—MINISTRY OF FINANCE

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance):

Sir, I move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 49,55,000, be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Finance'."

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 49,55,000, be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Finance'."

Economy in Central Administration

Shri B. Das (Orissa: General): Sir, I move:

"That the demand under the head 'Ministry of Finance' be reduced by Rs. 100."

This cut motion is to discuss the question of economy in the Central administration. Sir, the foreign rulers have gone from India, but they have left behind a Frankenstein, the Brown Bureaucracy—bloated up, corrupt and inefficient—which is exploiting India's national economy. So our free India Finance Minister must have as his watchword "Economy and Retrenchment". Without that he will not be able to build up the credit of India as he has foreshadowed in his budget speech.

Sir, I felicitated the Finance Minister and I agree with him that India's credit is sound and it has been maintained in a sound business way since he made his budget speech. In fact that very evening when I was asked what was my opinion about the budget, I said: "Chetty is lucky and it is a lucky budget." My friend did not like the tone of it, but there it was. But I think he is lucky in his budget. He has had no time to think of national economy. He has been overshadowed with the Punjab tragedy and the Punjab calamity. Sir, we have moved this motion, as a mandatory motion, to support him, to give him incentive in his policy of retrenchment and economy in the Central administration departments and all departments that come under the purview of the Government. He will have our full support.

Sir, the country is going to face the same situation as it faced in 1931-32. The writings on the wall are faint but they are getting distinct. They indicate that there will be a world economic crisis about 1951-52 and I do want our Finance Minister to tune the administration in such a way that by the time 1951-52 depression sets in, he would have retrenched all the departments multiplied during the war and over which the nationals of India had no free hand.

The Honourable the Finance Minister talked of inflation. There has been inflation of course due to war conditions and the foreigners' exploitation of this country's resources to the maximum limit. There has been an inflated currency: there has been an inflated executive and a bureaucratic machinery. In fact today the employees of the Government of India are three to four times what they were before the war.

Just before the war India had an unproductive debt of Rs. 229 crores. Today that unproductive debt has increased to Rs. 925 crores—four times the previous amount. Then, again, I find that my honourable friend has only Rs. 5 crores in the Sinking Fund for reduction and avoidance of debt. That was the estimate of his predecessor and he has it in this budget. How many centuries it will take to do away with the 925 crores of unproductive debts which is the result of the foreigner's exploitation. The foreigners fought their own wars in China, Egypt, Arabia and elsewhere and all those debts were accumulated and put into the account of India. They were to the extent of 220 crores before 1939 and today although the foreigners have left they have bequeathed us with a debt of 925 crores. At the rate of 5 crores per year it will take 180 years to cover the debt. In the meantime, if we take into consideration the cycle of world wars, a war comes every 25 years, so that within that period of 180 years ten world wars would have been fought. It is our suggestion and our mandate to the Honourable the Finance Minister that he will so frame his budget for 1948-49 that there will be a greater reduction of this unproductive debt. I do not want posterity 125 years hence to curse us saying that we had mounted up the unproductive debts to such an extent that they were not able to build up their national economy.

Then, Sir, the foreign exploiters have demonetised the silver rupee and thereby created the inflation in the country. What has happened to that money? We are expected to satisfy and pay the American lend-lease silver. The foreigner has exploited the resources of India under Section 126A of the Government of India Act, 1935 and he has demonetised the poor man's silver rupee. Every silver four anna or rupee bit was taken away by the Raisen Ordinance and as a result the countryside is the poorer today. Perhaps the Honourable Finance Minister finds some relief in the fact that there are some silver stock which may meet five years hence the demand of America to discharge our lend-lease obligations.

The Honourable Finance Minister should think of the abolition of certain departments of the Government of India; like the Ecclesiastical Department. We have heard enough from the members of the Cabinet here that ours is a secular state. If it is a secular government why should India spend 26 to 28 lakhs every year in maintaining the churches and their ministers. We are not maintaining Hindu pandits and Muslim maulanas and maulvies. The Ecclesiastical Department should not occur again as a budget head in the national budget of a free India. I suggest that all the churches should be turned into museums or institutions of education. I am glad my Honourable friend the Education Minister is here. He needs a large number of institutions for education and for museums, and I am sure he will welcome such places for his purposes.

I do want the Honourable Finance Minister to carry out retrenchment in certain other departments of the Government as well. The Supply Department has become a cesspool of all corruption, which has demoralised the whole nation. Today the nation is not a pure nation. Corruption resulted from the previous Government's war efforts and the supply policy of the former alien rulers, so that the department is corrupt and stinking. Then there is the Disposals Directorate about which one or two questions were tabled. The materials do not exist in the disposal yard—I may be corrected by my Honourable friend the Supply Minister on it. The public knew that crores and crores of goods and machinery and other articles just do not exist. The officers in the Supply Department and the contractors all confabulate and the goods are spirited away. It is better that we know what the real position is.

Further, I want the Honourable the Finance Minister to do retrenchment in the Railway Department, the Postal and Telegraph Department, Defence, Industries and the Central Secretariat and other heads of departments. It is our misfortune that the railway employee wants to live in a paradise where their motto would be "No work but more and more pay". It is our misfortune that the railway employees, even those who are technical men who are working in the Railway Department, have been multiplied three or four times since 1939-40 but their production has been halved or it is even less than that. They do not want to work but they claim privileges under that curious character called the Pay Commission's Report. They want more salary, they want more allowances, they want grain allowances and what not. Why should the taxpayer suffer these losses just only to pamper the labour agitation that was inspired, not on the merits of the case, but by Bolsheviki ideas borrowed from elsewhere with the idea of paralysing the State and society. The foreign Government has gone and today there is a national government and every worker must work to earn the little money that he gets.

[Shri B. Das.]

The Pay Commission's report has fixed a lower maxima for the secretariat staff of I.C.S. and other all India services. I would like my Honourable friend the Finance Minister to tell me if all the I.C.S. and other officers that are working today have signed for that lower maxima since the 15th August, 1947. I believe that they have not been able to compel the I.C.S., I.P.S. and other all India services to accept these new scales. There should be economy from now on; otherwise my honourable friend would face similar trouble that was faced in 1931 by the then Government. My honourable friend was himself the Chairman of the Railway Retrenchment Committee and I was myself a member of one of the retrenchment committees. We only tinkered with the problem then. We do not want any tinkering now. We want the appointment of an economy committee which should fix the personnel of every department in the Government of India. Today, "more files and more clerks" is the criterion of good work in the Government of India. I ask my honourable friend to do away with that line of approach. My honourable friend was very familiar with the situation in those days in 1931 to 1935 when the country faced an economic crisis after the Munitions Scandal and other scandals. Today the crisis is coming on. Let us not shut our eyes to it. It may come in 1950 or 1951. But before that the Government of India, apart from the economic crisis, must set their house in order. Today their house is not in order. The Bureaucracy—that Frankenstein of the British rulers—is sitting on the neck and shoulders of the Cabinet and the Government of India and it is very difficult for them to do away with it. What we want is the real Indian spirit. Are we to follow the colonial policy and tradition of the British Government? I do not want you to follow that but I want a new approach to things.

Mr. Speaker: Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Ministry of Finance' be reduced by Rs. 100."

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in the otherwise admirable Budget speech of the Honourable the Finance Minister I was greatly surprised to find that there was no reference to the need for economy in the expenditure of the Government of India. Probably the Finance Minister took it for granted. But this absence of reference is likely to give an impression to all the heads of departments of the Imperial Secretariat that they need not bother about retrenchment. Sir, when I wish to speak about economy I do not want to suggest that the total civil expenditure of the Government of India is altogether too high from an abstract standpoint. I hope that in a few years time the finances of the Central Government will be of the order, not of hundreds of crores but of thousands of crores as in Great Britain or America. But we must have work and then spend money properly. Extravagance, I hold, is the greatest enemy of expansion. When the Government of India takes up economic planning, when it takes up social planning, it will have to incur a great deal of expenditure. But before it begins those projects it must see that the present expenditure is cut down to the barest minimum and that it gets the maximum possible result for every pie of public money that is spent. We are accustomed to hear about war-time inflation. I suggest to the House that the greatest inflation that has taken place in this country is in the Secretariat of the Government of India. During war-time all restrictions were removed, and Secretaries, Additional Secretaries and Joint Secretaries were added simply at the suggestion of any Member or his Secretary, and more officers are manning these Departments for the same work than was the case before the war. I therefore wish to suggest that the first thing the Finance Minister should do is to go back to the pre-war standard of efficiency. He must see how many Secretaries discharged what work in 1938-39, how far the work has since expanded and in what proportion the Secretariat has expanded. I believe that the Secretariat the expanded in a far greater proportion than the work. It is true that in some Departments work has increased and therefore there is a justification for increase in staff. But the expansion of the Secretariat is certainly for greater than the increase in the work of the Secretariat. That is one point which I hope the Finance Minister will pursue actively. I regret that members have not been supplied with sufficient details in the 'Demands for Grants' to be able to scrutinize each item and find out how the Secretariat has expanded.

The next point I would like to urge is that the House should be told how far the Pay Commission's recommendations have been implemented. Sir, as you know, the maximum salary for a government servant fixed by the Pay Commission is Rs. 3,000. But I believe that there are scores and scores of people today in the Government of India who are getting Rs. 4,000, Rs. 3,500 and all kinds of fancy salaries. For this poor country even this Rs. 3,000 is high enough. I thought that after the 15th of August there will be a declaration on behalf of the popular Ministry that there shall be no official in the Government of India who draws more than Rs. 3,000, but I have been greatly disappointed. I do not know why a salary greater than that recommended is being given. I know of course that there are people in the Government of India who think that they should get Rs. 4,000 and Rs. 5,000 and that otherwise they cannot work. To all such government servants I would like the Finance Minister to say 'If you are too good to serve on Rs. 3,000 you are free to go', and I am sure he will find that the official's Deputies and even Superintendents will do as good if not better work, for a much lower salary. I think it is criminal on the part of the Government of India to pay any one more than the already high maximum fixed by the Pay Commission. I would therefore like to get an assurance from the Finance Minister that this reform of the highest scales of pay will be implemented as early as possible and that, when he presents the next Budget, he will not present a 'Demand' for any official for a salary higher than the maximum scales prescribed by the Pay Commission. I want also to urge that in the case of Ambassadors and others sent to foreign countries the recommendations of the Pay Commission should be implemented. I would like to know if the Ambassadors who have been appointed after the acceptance of the Pay Commission's recommendations have been sent on the salaries as recommended by the Pay Commission or whether any special exemptions have been given, and if so why.

Again, Sir, I would like to draw the attention of the Finance Minister to the system of special pay which has crept into the Secretariat. Sir, I do not know how many crores and crores are given outside the salaries as 'special pay'. If you take any demand, in the Demands for Grants you find these four items: 'Salaries:—Pay of Officers; Pay of establishments; Allowances, Honoraria etc.; and Other Charges'. A large part of this "Allowances, Honoraria, be a scrutinizing officer, he must know that this Assembly will not tolerate any extravagance, and he must be directly responsible to this House. He should be able to tell his colleagues 'I dare not present this demand in this fashion to the House. You should cut it down', and if he is over-ruled, he must be able to come here and say 'I pressed for this cut, it has been over-ruled', so that we can hold a particular Minister responsible. Otherwise when the Finance Department sanctions an expenditure, so far as the House is concerned, it will be presumed that it has been properly scrutinized, that the Finance Officers have found it a reasonable item of expenditure and therefore we shall hold the Finance Department primarily responsible for the expenditure. Where according to the Finance Department there is some extravagance, I think the Finance Department should first refer the matter to the Committee of the department concerned and next to the Finance Committee, and of course if the Finance Committee sanctions that, the responsibility will partly be shifted to the shoulders of the Finance Committee. For every item hereafter before the Budget, we should have the recommendations or the remarks of the committees of each department and the Finance Committee. It is only then that the House will be in a position to know whether a particular item of expenditure is reasonable expenditure and that it has been properly scrutinized and sanctioned. The practices of the last six years have been so corrupt, and have so demoralized the entire Government of India that every proposal for expenditure will be suspect and meet with opposition here.

1236

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [4TH DEC. 1947]

[Shri K. Sathyanam.]

Sir, I do not want to take up the time of the House much further, but I know that there is a strong opposition from every department for any kind of economy, or for any kind of retrenchment. Sir, I want to make no reflection on the officials of the Government of India. I do not want to indulge in the conventional tirade against bureaucracy. So far as I know, taken individually the officials of the Government of India are as competent and as patriotic as officials of any other country, but the bureaucratic machine has its own spirit which overwhelms the spirit of every individual member thereof and the spirit of this bureaucracy is such that it is against economy. It is for extravagance, it is for waste, and it is to prevent this extravagance and waste that I appeal to the Finance Minister. I hope my appeal will not be in vain.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I listened to the very carefully prepared and very pleasant speech of the Honourable the Finance Minister and the whole House was happy, and probably the whole of India was happy, that he did not propose any additional taxation. But, Sir, there were many things which have disappointed many members of the honourable House, and when like my friend Mr. B. Das I was asked by a press correspondent as to what I thought of the Budget speech, I characterized it as a capitalist budget. Since I did not find this remark of mine printed anywhere or published anywhere, I think I had better refer to it in the same way as my friend Mr. B. Das has referred to it.

Next, Sir, I had given notice of a very large number of Cut Motions. I am afraid I will have again to refer to so many of them as is possible to cover in the course of fifteen minutes in my speech. When I asked as to why none of my Cuts found a place in the list of Cuts that were to be moved, I was told by my friend Mr. Ayyangar that this was a sort of an omnibus Cut where I could start speaking from the Cape Comorin and go right up to the North Pole. I do not know how much out of this journey I would be able to cover in the course of fifteen minutes.

Mr. Speaker: Apart from that, Mr. Ayyangar's opinion is not binding on the Chair.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): I said, Sir, with respect to the Finance Bill.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: I referred to this matter, Sir, purposely, so that the Chair may have reason to correct Mr. Ayyangar.

Now, Sir, this particular Motion is for economy and all honourable Members of this House have already pointed out the paramount need for the appointment of a Committee that will suggest to the Honourable the Finance Minister the ways and means to economize. It is quite patent from his speech that he did not think there was much chance of economy. The two honourable members who preceded me have already made it clear that there is ample scope for economizing and that there is also a necessity for investigation as to how economies could be effected.

There is one additional point which I would like to refer to and that is the proverbial red-tapism of the British Administration. The present Government has inherited the British Administration; our grievance is—and so many members who some times lose their temper lose it because they know it—that the inheritance is still intact, that it has not been examined, that there is no effort to uproot it, that there is no effort even to deal with it in a somewhat radical manner. The British red-tapism, Sir, was not a matter of a day; it had grown gradually, and it was essentially because this country was to be governed by and in the interests of a foreign ruler—and a foreign ruler Sir, must distrust everybody. That is the secret or probably the greatest defect of British red-tapism. The British Administration in India was essentially an Administration which distrusted everybody and therefore control upon control had to be devised so that nobody will have any final authority. That is the Administration which the present Government, the Independent Government of India, have inherited and unless they put their shoulders to it and do away with this red-tapism, they will find that they are spending ten rupees where one rupee would be enough.

So, Sir, I would very strongly recommend to my honourable friend a thorough examination of the system of administration in this country so that we may have a new system which will be more economical and more expeditious. This red-tapism not only spends more money, it also spends more time. The Honourable the Finance Member, unless he has himself met some such officers of the Military Department as I have done, may not probably know that even the British Government itself realised during the last War that their method of doing things was wrong in many respects and they had much to learn from the Americans. I met several high Military officers who admitted that on many occasions they knew and they found that the way in which the Americans did things during the War was far more expeditious; it involved much less cost of energy as well as of money and they were getting the things done much quicker than by the British method.

So, Sir, that is one of the recommendations I would make to the Honourable the Finance Minister and if my words are not sufficient to convince him, I will draw his attention to the fact that the Honourable the Railway Minister has decided to send some people to America to learn their methods of Railway Administration. If there is something to be learned from America in Railway administration, I am sure, Sir, there is no shame in admitting that we may have something to learn from America in Departments other than the Railways.

[Shri K. Santhanam]

etc." consists of special pay. When we are giving high scales of pay for officials I do not know why they should be given special pay, simply because an officer is transferred from one job to another job which he is considered to be competent to perform. I can think of promotions. Let persons who do very good work be promoted. But why should there be special pay? It is said that a particular official takes greater trouble for doing some other special job. I think all these are either metaphysical or fictitious arguments for taking illegitimate, or I would call it wrong, honorarium for service which the government servants are bound to perform according to their service conditions. I think the whole system of 'special pay' should be abolished. Each man should be posted to work for which he is fit and for which an adequate salary is already fixed. If a certain work requires a higher capacity, let it be given to a suitable officer with that pay and let not a person simply be posted to a place and allowed to say 'I want Rs. 200 or 300 special pay'.

What shall we say about the item "Other Charges"? I think the bulk of these Other Charges consists of travelling expenses. The Government of India is, I think, today the biggest tourist agency in the whole world. This tourist agency is the most popular one also because not only do people get travelling at public expense but they make some money out of it. I know that touring is necessary, but I do feel that touring is too frequent and unnecessarily frequent, and a large amount of money is being spent in this tourist traffic. I think the Finance Minister will do well to have a separate Section in his Department to scrutinize every item of travelling to get proper justification for it.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Madras: General): Then there will be another Deputy Secretary for that.

Shri K. Santhanam: The Accountant-Generals and the Auditors should be instructed to scrutinize the reasons for every particular touring and if necessary the matter should be discussed in the Cabinet and strict rules laid down for the purpose.

Sir, I would like to give the House a brief analysis of one of the items. If Honourable Members will turn to page 85 of the Demands for Grants—'Directors-General and Directorates of Industries and Supplies',—the total cost is Rs. 1,31,82,900. If we analyse it into these four heads we get Rs. 22.62 lakhs for Officers, Rs. 49.21 lakhs for Establishment, 30.97 lakhs for Allowances and Honoraria, and Rs. 28.71 lakhs for Other Charges. Nearly Rs. 60 lakhs out of this Rs. 131 lakhs is spent for Allowances and Honoraria and Other Charges. I think a certain definite proportion should be evolved. There should be a proper ratio between these two. I think the ratio between officers and establishments is unduly high. For example, in one of the items it is 8 lakhs for pay of officers, and for establishments it is 11 lakhs. Sir, I think the pay of officers forms an unduly high proportion because it is the establishment that has to do the work. It shows that there are too many officers for too little work.

There are many departments in the Government of India which are superfluous and which are continuing because there is nobody to look into those matters. Take for instance the establishments of the Constituent Assembly for constitution-making and the Constituent Assembly for legislative functions.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The Honourable Member will not discuss that proposition here. It is entirely in the discretion of the President, and if the honourable Member has any remarks to make, he will discuss the matter with the Honourable President of the Constituent Assembly.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, am I free to speak about expenditure of the Constituent Assembly on the constitution-making side?

Mr. Speaker: Not free. That is exactly what I pointed out to the honourable Member. If he has anything to say about it, his only course is to go to the Honourable President of the Constituent Assembly and discuss the matter with him.

Shri K. Santhanam: All right, Sir, I shall not discuss this point.

Shri Mohan Lal Saxena (U. P.: General): With your permission, Sir, may I ask whether that demand will not be voted here?

Mr. Speaker: Yes, that demand will be voted.

Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: Are we not supposed to make any remarks about that particular demand?

Mr. Speaker: No, for the simple reason that it is the convention that the staff is entirely under the control of the Honourable President and he is supposed to be the head of it, and the convention is whatever he asks for is generally granted by the departments. Departments do not interfere. This is based on the principle of the independence of the legislature.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, My Honourable friend Mr. B. Das, has already referred to the Ecclesiastical Department. It is given as Demand No. 39 on page 55. We are asked to provide for this 7½ months 6.76 lakhs. I expected, Sir, that after August 15 this separate demand will simply go out of the accounts of the Government of India. If there were any expenditure which had continued from the previous regime, it might have gone into Suspense or Miscellaneous or some other head, but to continue a separate Demand for ecclesiastical expenditure in free India seems to me a wholly indefensible proceeding. We do not want to pay any church man, we do not want to pay any priest whatever. We are resolved that our State should be an entirely secular State. Why then should there be this 'demand', and out of this demand a considerable part is transferred to Defence Services. On page 56 we find that Defence Services are paying 9.45 lakhs, and Railways 3.37. Therefore as a matter of fact the actual demand is even much greater than what is given on page 55. I should like to know what explanation the Finance Minister has to offer for these?

Then there are various practices by which government servants practically do no work and the rules allow them to go on leave. Sir, one prominent instance has been brought to my notice. The Secretary of this very Legislative Assembly, I do not know if he continues to be still Secretary.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. That remark also is subject to the same principle which I have now enunciated.

Shri K. Santhanam: Well, Sir, I would earnestly appeal to the Speaker to see that the expenditure on this Assembly is spent properly. I have got reasons to think that the control was rather lax in the regime previous to this.

What is the procedure adopted by the Finance Department to scrutinize expenditure for every other department? I want the Finance Minister to be not only a mere compiler and presenter of accounts to this House, he must explored, because on the attainment of freedom the expenditure of India has gone up by leaps and bounds and great amounts have to be spent on Ambassadorial appointments, nation building activities, Industrial developments and many other important items, and we should therefore try to save in order to meet these necessary requirements of expenditure.

[Begum Aizaz Rasul].

Sir, I do not think that there are many Honourable Members who will disagree that in nearly every department there is great scope for saving and economy. During the war every department of the Government of India became inflated beyond recognition and it is high time that these departments return to normal. To mention a few Railways, Supplies and Communications are costing the tax-payer far more than the results he gets out of them. If the return and efficiency that we get out of these departments and their staff had been satisfactory perhaps increased expenditure may not have been grudged but efficiency has instead deteriorated to a sad degree.

Regarding the Department of Supplies Sir, I will not take up much time of the House by recounting here all the evils that have accrued on account of controls, but we all know how these controls are working and to what a great extent they are responsible for corruption and bribery in the country. They should be removed as soon as possible, and the Department of Supplies should wind up this unnecessary part of its activities and to save a very large amount of money that is at present being spent on it.

Then, Sir, as regards Communications, every member of the House is aware that the Department of Telephones and Posts and Telegraphs is functioning in a most undesirable manner and the inconvenience caused to the public is indescribable. The taxpayer minds this very much as there is no shortage of staff or expense and yet he does not get any return for the money he pays. It would certainly satisfy him if some saving were made in this Department.

I will just say a few words about the 'Grow More Food Campaign' which has cost the Government far more than results justify and the sooner the 'Grow More Food Campaign' is ended the better it will be for the country, as it is clearly a waste of public money and no justifiable results have accrued from it.

I would, therefore, Sir, welcome the Honourable the Finance Minister's pronouncement to the effect that he will consider sympathetically the appointing of a Committee which will go into the details of recommending the effecting of economy in the various Departments of the Government of India. I would like him to behave like a housewife and see that every penny and every anna that is spent through him on the Central Government is spent properly and there is no wastage of any kind. Every man is aware that women never spend unnecessarily and never cause wastage and therefore an advice coming from a woman to the Honourable the Finance Minister will, to act as a woman in the matter of holding the purse strings will I hope be taken in the spirit it is offered.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Mr. Speaker, I welcome the discussion initiated by the Motion of my Honourable friend, Mr. B. Das. He and I have sat together on the Opposition benches for nearly 12 years in the old legislature and we have taken part in many debates, criticising the extravagance of the administrative machinery. Even though I am sitting in a different place, Sir, my feelings about the scale of expenditure in Government is very nearly the same as it used to be when I was sitting in those benches.

My Honourable friend, Mr. Santhanam said that the Finance Minister should not be a mere compiler of figures. I wholeheartedly agree with that observation. The Finance Minister is really the watch-dog of this House. The Finance Ministry does not simply sanction as an automatic measure proposals for expenditure that come before it for scrutiny. In fact the financial implications of every proposal are clearly examined in the Ministry of Finance. Notwithstanding this check exercised by the Ministry, I would welcome the deduction of this House that every possible measure should be taken to reduce the scale of expenditure in the administrative machinery. The Finance Minister is generally the most unpopular of the Ministers amongst his own colleagues, because he often has to perform the unpleasant task of turning down proposals coming from the Ministries of his own colleagues. I can say the function of a real Finance Minister not as that of one who without any meaning, turns down all proposals for expenditure, but who would help all other Departments to spend the money wisely and effectively. That is the true function of a Ministry of Finance and I certainly shall try my utmost to see that the Ministry of Finance discharges its functions in that spirit.

My Honourable friend, Dr. Punjabrao Deshmukh suggested that some one might go to the United States to find out about the expeditious methods of administration in that country. Well, Sir, it so happens that I was there myself for nearly a year in charge of the Indian Supply Mission. There is no doubt that during the War at least the machinery of administration in the United States moved very fast. In fact I made it a rule in the Supply Mission that there should be no note writing on files. In fact every problem was practically solved by the officer or the Director concerned coming either to the Secretary or to one of the Directors of Supply or coming directly to me in important cases; and I found that the system worked very effectively indeed. In fact I used to put through great deals with the American departments just over the telephone. Under the normal practice of the red-tape it will probably take months of note-writing before a similar problem was solved. I am therefore not merely familiar with the model of a more businesslike administration, but I am fully alive to the need for such an administration in our country. There is no doubt that the scale of expenditure on the administration has gone up enormously during the last few years; probably Honourable Members themselves do not realise the extent to which it has gone up. No doubt during war time there was great demand for the expansion of the activities of departments. But the curious fact here is that after the termination of the war the scale of expenditure on the administrative services is really more than what it was during war time. I will just give one illustration. If you take General Administration, the total expenditure in 1938-39—just before the war—was 1 crore and 87 lakhs; in 1944-45—which was the peak war year—it was 4 crores and 25 lakhs. But curiously enough in 1946-47 it was 6 crores and 23 lakhs; and in 1947-48 the budget figure was 6 crores and 14 lakhs. This was of course the pre-partition budget but the pattern will be applicable even to the post-partition budget. That shows that there is certainly very great scope for retrenchment and economy. But one word of caution must be uttered in studying these figures. There are two factors which have resulted in increase of expenditure over which we have no control. The first and the most important of them is the enormous increase in expenditure resulting from the acceptance of the recommendations of the Pay Commission and the higher scales of dearness allowance and pay that we have to give. So a great deal of that will be a reflection of this phenomenon. Another factor which has contributed to increase in administration expense is the system of economic controls. The elaborate mechanism of controls that we maintain is really costing the country quite a good bit of money; but when we succeed in our measures of decontrol this item of expenditure will automatically go down. Notwithstanding these two

[Dr. P. S. Deshmukh.]

It is a patent fact, Sir, and anybody who is conversant with actual administration knew it, that the British Government was a Government of the blind leading the blind. It is only for the top man to say a certain thing or for a subordinate to make a certain recommendation, and in 99 cases out of 100 it had the best chances of being accepted. That is how Departments grew, that is how officers were appointed, vacancies created, how those vacancies are filled; and as soon as one office is created or one officer appointed the whole paraphernalia of a stenographer, a superintendent, a record keeper, a dattari and all the rest came in. That is how the present Government of India has grown out of all proportion. It is not only essential to examine whether it is necessary to have all the paraphernalia as it exists, but also to examine whether the same results cannot be obtained by a more direct method of administration and with lesser amount of distrust.

Earlier I referred to the defect in the British Administration which was based on distrust of everybody. I will give you, Sir, a concrete instance. Till some time back, there used to be on the Railways a provision, which had been there for a very large number of years, for a passenger, who was not able to obtain a ticket in time before the train started, by which he could obtain a certificate from the Guard. Now this facility has been entirely stopped. Nobody, however genuine his case may be, however short the interval during which the Booking Office was open,—even the highest in the land—if he happened to be on the platform without a ticket, he has no option but to pay the penalty; and if he is saved from prosecution it is only because of the good offices of the Railway Department. Now, this is one of the things which shows that nobody is to be trusted. The Guard is not to be trusted, the Station Master is not to be trusted, the highest officer is not to be trusted. Nobody can be trusted so as to issue the certificate that this particular gentleman had no time to get a ticket and therefore he should be permitted to obtain a ticket at the hands of the Ticket Collector or at the hands of the next Station Master or a certificate from the Guard.

Then, Sir, another complaint which I should like to make is in regard to the position of the Kisans in this country. I shall not go into any details because I shall have an opportunity of doing so when moving specific cuts. I shall now deal with it generally. We have, Sir, had several measures to protect the interests of the labourers or to advance their welfare. The labourers in India are getting very speedily organised and I for one am very happy that this House consists of and contains a very large number of people who sympathise with the labour movement. But what is the proportion of organised industrial labour to the population of India? Some time back it used to be about 13 to 15 lakhs. Supposing the industries in India have grown very much, I do not think the industrial labour has gone up to more than about 30 lakhs. Now, what is 30 lakhs as compared with 30 crores, which consists of 85 to 90 per cent. of Kisans who live in the villages and till the land? What is the place given to the Kisans in the Budget and in the Administration? Every Legislative Assembly has had representatives of the labourers and the 1945 Act provided for this. But as far as the interests of the Kisans are concerned, they are supposed to be looked after by any body and everybody but nobody in particular. Of course, there are rural constituencies and their representation is there, but my complaint is that just as something special is sought to be done for the labourers, the Government would do well to consider the question of the interests of the Kisans also on a special footing. I hope, Sir, the Honourable the Finance Minister and the Government have paid due attention to the words of Mahatmaji so far as the inclusion of Kisans in the Ministry is concerned. Mahatmaji made this suggestion not because we could have an educated Kisan who could add to the efficiency of Government. But only because he alone could possess real sympathy and consideration for this most paramount interest in the country. I hope Sir the present Government and the Honourable the Finance Minister will pay adequate attention to the agricultural labourers also and that whenever there are International Conferences not only the industrial labours but also Kisans will receive due representation at the hands of the present Government.

The Government of India are spending lakhs and lakhs if not crores of rupees, which I would characterise as 'indiscriminate expenditure'. They have some time back, probably at the suggestion that we should train people and send them to foreign countries, instituted the system of overseas scholarships. But what is the nature of the scholarships, and who got them? It is only the sons of Government servants who got these scholarships. None of the people in the villages got any chance to win them and the Gazettes which contained the notifications announcing these scholarships hardly ever reached the villages. Sir, this is a problem which requires to be considered. Sir, my time is getting short and it is impossible to deal with this point adequately, but I hope the Ministry will pay attention to this matter and remember that although they are spending so much, so far as these scholarships and concessions are concerned, they do not reach the Kisans at all.

Begum Aizaz Rasul (U. P.: Muslim): Sir, it certainly would have been in the fitness of things if the Honourable the Finance Minister when presenting his first Budget of a Free and Independent India had indicated some lines on which he thought that economy in the Departments of Government was desirable and that he intended to bring about such economy as soon as it was possible for him to do so. It cannot be denied, Sir, that the expenditure of the Central Government in recent years has gone up by leaps and bounds, and I am sorry that the efficiency of the work that has been turned out by these Departments has certainly not been in accordance with the money that is being spent on them. Therefore, Sir, it would have been greatly welcomed not only in this House but by the country at large if the Honourable the Finance Minister had realised the importance of cutting down this extravagance that has been going on in the Central Government for so long. It was expected of him, and the country was waiting to hear that something would be done. It is a pity that he has not expressed any intention of doing so. We realise that the new Government has been in power only for a few months and it was not possible for the Finance Minister to cut down expenditure in the different Departments of the Government so soon, but an expression of desire on his part to do so would certainly have shown that he realised the importance of this matter from the financial point of view.

Sir, it was repeatedly said on the floor of the House—it was alleged by people from different parts of the country, that India was a poor country and cannot afford such high salaries and top heavy expenditure of the Government. Therefore, when the foreign rule in this country came to an end, it was expected that some changes would be affected especially with regard to a matter which had come in for such scathing criticism by the country in the past. I am glad that Honourable Members in this House have realized their duty in bringing to the notice of Government that a Committee on economy and retrenchment should be appointed as soon as possible, which would review the whole structure of the Departments and recommend the cutting down of expenditure wherever it was possible to do so.

More than ever, Sir, it is necessary and desirable at the present moment that every avenue for cutting down extra expenditure and wastage should be factors—the importance of which should not be ignored—I feel certain that there is still scope for economy in expenditure. In the nation-building departments the expenditure has no doubt gone up enormously. For instance, in departments like Scientific Departments, Education, Medical, Public Health, etc., the pre-war expenditure in 1938-39 was 2.17 crores; in 1947-48 it was 18.03 crores. But that is developmental expenditure about which we need not quarrel.

[Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty]

Honourable Members were disappointed that I did not make any reference to the need for economy; in my budget speech. I was fully conscious of the need for economy; in fact it was my intention within a few weeks of my assuming office to appoint an economy committee. But on account of the great cataclysm that overtook us I thought the time was not appropriate to set such a committee in action. I have now decided that very shortly I will set up an economy committee which will examine the entire field of administration covered by the activities of the Central Government. In fact I have already given instructions to the Ministry of Finance to prepare the necessary memoranda and the documents so that when the committee is actually appointed within the next month or two the work could be done in an expeditious manner. I have no doubt that the economy committee will keep in mind the desire expressed in all quarters of the House for the utmost economy and retrenchment in expenditure consistent with efficiency.

There is only one other matter about which I should give a reply. Honourable Members rightly criticised the expenditure under the Ecclesiastical Department. The position, I am told, is this that all the British Chaplains will go away before the end of this month, and we are bound to incur expenditure on the maintenance charges of churches and cemeteries only up to the 31st March 1948. Thereafter this charge will not fall upon us and Honourable Members will have no room for criticism. I have no doubt that the House will feel satisfied from the expression of my own opinion that I am one with them in searching all avenues for economy in expenditure.

Shri B. Das: Sir, I ask for leave of the House to withdraw the cut motion.

The cut motion was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock,

The Assembly reassembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock.
Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

DEMAND NO. 19—MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS AND COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I move:

“That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,76,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of ‘Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations’.”

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

“That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,76,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of ‘Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations’.”

Position of India in International affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth Countries

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Sir, I move:

“That the demand under the head ‘Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations’ be reduced by Rs. 100.”

Sir, it is indeed a high privilege to be able to move this cut and start this discussion for the first time in free India on our external affairs. For years and years we tried our best to raise a discussion in this House on external affairs but in vain. Our late lamented Satyamurti, the greatest parliamentarian of his age, did yeoman service in order to force that Government to yield this privilege to this House but he too had to admit his failure. Therefore, I am extremely glad that today, we are able to have this discussion.

It is more than one year and two months since Pandit Nehru took charge of this department and ever since, even though technically at that time India was not free, he was able to act and function as the Foreign Minister of free India in actual fact during that time. It is our duty now today to review in as short a space of time as is possible and see how he has conducted our foreign affairs and placed India on the map of the world. I have no hesitation whatsoever in saying that free India has been most fortunate in obtaining his services as its first Foreign Minister and also in giving him the biggest and first opportunity to carve out a rising position for India and India's nationals all over the world.

Sir, when he took charge we found the world divided into two big camps: one headed by the U.S.S.R. and the other by the Anglo-Americans; and the outside world was wondering how Pandit Nehru was going to help India and on what side India was going to range herself. To the chagrin of a large number of foreign experts, Pandit Nehru announced that India was not going to align herself either on the side of Soviet Russia or on the side of the Anglo-Americans, or on the side of the satellites of either side, but was going to steer clear of these shoals to carve out a position for herself in the international forces of these days. But then many people wondered whether it would be possible for the Pandit to achieve success in this direction.

A few days ago, one of my distinguished friends was complaining that because of this policy of Panditji India has failed to secure election to the Security Council. I answered him then and I answer today before this House and also before the world, that indeed it was Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's policy that has won an enviable position for India in the councils of the world as a result of his refusal to align himself either on that side or this side of these two great powers.

Why do I say so? It is because he has belied the expectations of all foreign experts that there would be no place for any important country unless and until it aligned itself on either side, and he has been able to show, demonstrated to the very hilt, that it is possible to fight for a third position, and that position is a peace front. India has been fighting for this while Soviet Russia has been fighting for her security and for that reason trying to fight with the United States of America and somehow trying to get at the secrets of the atom bomb: while America has been trying to win more satellites and gain more supporters and manufacture more and more atom bombs, India has been pursuing the path of peace.

[Prof. N. G. Ranga.]

Sir, the last year has convinced everybody that it is not possible for any big nation, however big it may be to remain entirely neutral, and some day or other it is bound to be dragged this side or that side. But it should be possible for any country to remain neutral provided it has a positive mission to serve, and I claim that India, thanks to the message of Mahatma Gandhi, and its working by Jawaharlal Nehru in actual practice, has been able to show that not only she can remain independent of these power blocs but also she can build up an independent front. At the same time I maintain that India is not interested in creating any sort of a bloc at all. These blocs are the very bane of international blocs of today. But India is interested in building up a moral front and she has been succeeding in no small measure.

India, Sir, has placed herself at the head of all the Colonial peoples at the U.N.O., has championed their cause. Indonesia came in for India's support and Indonesia was supported so strongly and ably that the Dutch offensive against the Indonesians had to be stopped almost immediately. India again stood up for the independence of all the coloured peoples, especially of Africa. She put up a heroic fight against South Africa and General Smuts in their attempts to go at South West Africa and India has succeeded in that. India has tried until recently to win a place for Indonesia on the Special Commission, at least as an observer, but its representative from India could not succeed: but it was not her fault.

Take again Palestine. There are religious issues there but India steered clear of these. India championed the Arabs of Palestine and it is quite consistent with her policy all along, and India along with other powers had the courage to walk out of the U.N.O. as a protest against their recent decision to partition Palestine in order to satisfy the cupidity, political and economic and religious, of the Americans as well as the British. In this way without saying anything about it India has been able to build up a sort of Colonial People's Freedom Front. It is growing it is having some substantial physical feature also. All the colonial and coloured people appreciated that excellent gesture that Panditji made in inviting four coloured students to this country to study in our universities. I sincerely hope that in the future the number of these students will come to be increased. It has been so much appreciated on that side that it is more than justified from the financial point of view also.

Now what is our stand in regard to the question of the freedom of all peoples? India has been standing for the freedom of all peoples consistently, so much so that on many occasions the leader of the Indian delegation that esteemed sister of our Prime Minister and also the esteemed sister of the whole of India—Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit—had to emphasise that India stood for the freedom of all people in the councils of the United Nations: so much so that Soviet Russia found it necessary to support India on more than one occasion. That gave room to some of the interested people in America and other countries to say that Pandit Nehru is aligning himself with Soviet Russia, because there are too many Communists in India and Panditji himself is a Communist. Through her activities at the U.N.O. India has been able to demonstrate the other day that she is no slave of anybody, that she is not acting as the hand-maid or tail of anybody. Nine times out of ten she had the courage to stand up for election in the Security Council and against Ukraine, one of the states of Soviet Russia. Does it not show that India has not really given away her rights of independence to Soviet Russia or anybody else? At the same time, how does it happen that Russia today is much more friendly inclined towards India than towards any other country either in Asia or in Europe? It is because of the democratic practices of India and of the consistent manner in which she has stood up for peace in the world.

There is however one difficulty. There is the question of the veto. So far as the U.N.O. is concerned India has certainly acquitted herself well by her participation. What attitude is she to take with regard to the veto? As long as this veto remains there it will not be possible for India to make use of the U.N.O. as one of the biggest bulwarks for the peace of the world. India needs the U.N.O. more than any other country in the world, because she wants peace in order to develop her own people, she wants peace to raise their standard of living. A higher social well being cannot be attained if we were to allow this world to be split up by these two great power blocks into two camps. How can the U.N.O. work successfully and effectively as long as this veto remains. It is on this that I am not able to satisfy myself that India has been able to give the right lead. It is true that India has said that the veto should go but that at the same time it has got to remain there. I personally would like India to take up a firmer stand in regard to this veto and maintain that it is not only these big five powers but also the smaller powers should be brought in to decide whether any particular question should be allowed to be discussed at the U.N.O.

The next question is: what attitude should we take with regard to England? I am not one of those who wish for the continuation of this commonwealth relationship with Great Britain. I want India to become entirely free of any of these political entanglements. At the same time we should be able and willing to maintain the friendliest and closest relationship with Great Britain. We should be able to distinguish between those Tories who strut about the whole of the East and in Pakistan intriguing all the time against India and the Socialist Democracy that is gaining greater and greater hold over the people of the United Kingdom and who today happen to be in power in that country. Therefore I want to see that even much more intimate relationship in foreign affairs than we have been able to establish so far should be sought after and established but that does not mean that we should in any way weaken our stand in favour of colonial peoples and our opposition to Imperialism. It is in this connection that Pandit Nehru has been a beacon light as it were to all the colonial peoples not only of Great Britain but also of the other satellite Imperialist countries of Europe.

Then there is the question of Asia. What is to be her future? We must be very careful about what is happening today in China. China has been made a sort of cockpit as between Soviet Russia and America. Are we going to keep mum about it, are we going to allow her to become an unfortunate victim of these powers as Republican Spain has become? Should we not take some positive stand in regard to this? What exactly it is to be or it can possibly be has got to be left of course to our Foreign Minister.

Easily I wish to request our Foreign Minister to lend a helping hand to those struggling peasants and their parties in Eastern European countries which are putting up a heroic fight against the Communist Party there. Only recently we heard that so many of these peasant leaders had been hounded out of their countries, some of them hanged, some others forced into exile and many others put into jail. It is necessary that India should raise her voice in their favour, because India stands for democratic freedom and socialism. It is for these reasons that I am glad to say that today Pandit Nehru's policy has been more than justified. It is indeed flattering to us to find Asiatic leaders coming one after the other to this country. Even in other countries Pandit Nehru is known not only as our foreign minister but also as their own champion and for a very good reason too. It is indeed a matter of pride for India and for all the Eastern peoples that today unlike other Foreign Ministers who are somehow or other being feared by other people, our Foreign Minister is being hailed as the greatest champion and architect of the peace of the world and especially of the Peace Front.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Why then does the Honourable Member want to cut the grant?

Mr. Speaker: It is only a parliamentary device to have the opportunity to speak. Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations' be reduced by Rs. 100."

Seth Govinddas (C.P. and Berar: General): Sir, today I should like to make my remarks again in English, because it is a subject like that.

I join in the glowing tribute which has been paid to the Honourable the Prime Minister for the way in which he has been handling this question. I can only say that in India there is no better man who could deal with this question than the Honourable Pandit Nehru.

Now, Sir, I am going to deal with the affairs of Commonwealth Relation countries. The problem of Indians there in a nutshell is one of immigration and secondly of the equality of the status. As far as immigration is concerned I want to point out to the Honourable Pandit Nehru that he should make a declaration in unequivocal terms that if the immigration of Indians is going to harm any people living in different countries—I mean Adibassies—we are ready to stop all our immigration. As far as the status of Indians is concerned I want to say that now that India has become a free country Indians will demand their status equal to that of the people living in those countries. And when we want equal status another important question arises about citizenship. It is a very complicated question. We cannot force our Indian brethren to accept the citizenship of different countries. At the same time we understand the difficulty that if they do not accept the citizenship of the countries to which they have gone it is difficult for us to ask for equal status for those people. I want to make a very bold proposition as far as citizenship is concerned. In respect of the countries like Burma, Ceylon which are our neighbouring countries I shall say let there be a common citizenship of these countries and of India. Once Ceylon was called Lanka or in certain Puranas, Sinhal, and Burma was a part of our country for a very long time. If there is a common citizenship of countries like this then I think the question of equality of status and also of citizenship will be easily solved. Sir, England had made a proposal like this to France in the last war. Let these countries not think that India, being a big country, wants to exploit them. That is not our aim. When I say that there should be common citizenship of these countries and India I mean that we are also going to assure certain things to them, for instance defence. Now, these are small countries and if we take upon ourselves the defence of these countries then their defence expenditure would be much less and they would be benefited.

I want now to take the different countries one by one. First of all South Africa is before us. We know that last year the U.N.O. accepted our resolution and we could get a two-third majority for it. This year we could not get that majority, but I think that does not mean that the resolution which was passed last year lapses. In my opinion it does remain and I should like to know from the Honourable the Prime Minister the legal position of that resolution which was passed last year. Satyagraha is still going on in South Africa. A few months ago when the South African Indian leaders, Dr. Dadoo and Dr. Naicker, came to this country they told us that the satyagraha will go on till the Ghetto Act is repealed. For a long time we have not been able to know how many persons are in South African jails and what kind of treatment is meted out to them.

As far as East Africa is concerned, there are two questions in that country which are engaging our attention. One is the Immigration Bill. As far as that Bill is concerned this is the opinion of the East African Indians:

"The Indian residents in East Africa will receive setback by the Immigration Control Bill which has passed the second reading of all the Provincial Legislatures of East African territories. A joint meeting of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika has been convened on November 28 at Nairobi. The new Bill contains most objectionable clauses and the Indian circles here feel that the Government of India should be aware of the serious implications of the provisions of the Bill which are detrimental to Indian interests. An urgent action of the India Government to the Bill is essential. Otherwise the Bill will become law by the first week of December."

This is the first week of December and we do not know what has happened to that Bill. Another important question in East Africa is the Inter-territorial organization. As far as this organization is concerned we certainly cannot oppose it on principle, but when we see the implications of this proposition we find that it is in fact being brought before the world in a disguise. The real fact is that the Whites in Kenya have an important position while that is not the position of Whites either in Tanganyika or Uganda. I have been to those countries and I can say that if we leave Kenya the Whites in Tanganyika and Uganda are in a microscopic minority. By bringing all these territories under the same legislature the object is that the Whites should become more important. They want to deprive the Indians in Tanganyika and Uganda also of the privileges which they have enjoyed till now. It is a serious matter and the East African Indian Congress has opposed this Inter-territorial organization. I have myself received a long letter from Mr. Amin, the President of the East African Indian Congress. There is very little time at my disposal; otherwise I would have liked to read certain portions from that letter. They want that the whole matter should be investigated first and that the representation of Indians should be according to the Indian population in that country. Only then they are prepared to consider this question. Otherwise they want that all these three colonies should remain as has been the case hitherto.

As far as Ceylon is concerned, the Prime Minister of Ceylon is coming here. The main question is of the Indian labour there. Just the other day the Honourable the Prime Minister, while replying to certain questions with respect to Ceylon, said that he has taken up the matter and that he would see when the Prime Minister of Ceylon comes what could be done in this respect.

As far as Burma is concerned, the Prime Minister of Burma is here. The Honourable Pt. Nehru must be knowing that we want that the same compensation which is to be given to Europeans in Burma should also be given to the Indians for their lost property. I am against all private property, but so long as the private property institution continues I think we ought to safeguard the interests of the Indians who have lost their properties in Burma. As far as emigration to that country is concerned, there are some people who still have some property in Burma and I wish Sir that preference should be given to these people to go to Burma. Sir, Burma owes 55 crores to us. Let them give this amount in instalments. We do not want it all at once; but we want, Sir, that this amount should be paid back to us in kind; I mean
B P.M. they should give us rice, they should give us oil, they should give us timber. India is in need of these things, and preference as far as these things are concerned should be given to India because Burma has to pay 55 crores back to India.

Now, Sir, as far as the countries of British East Indies are concerned, there is a sufficient number of Indians there. There is sufficient land in British Guiana, Trinidad and other countries. These whites want to keep that land reserved for their sons, grandsons, great grandsons and great great great grandsons, and so on. Now this should not be the case. There is a colonisation scheme made by the people of those countries and it is for the mutual advantage of the people of this country as well as those Indians who go there.

[Seth Govinddas.]

Then, Sir, Malaya is going to have a new constitution and we have to see that the interests of Indians are safeguarded. Sir, the whole history of Indian emigration shows us that the going of any Indians to any country has not been harmful to them. It has been for the good of those people, and, Sir, when the food problem is so acute in the world, then those lands which are still barren can be made use of and I think Indians will be of great help there.

In conclusion, Sir, I want to point out that now that India has become free, we have to send our Agents to many countries. We should also send in my opinion goodwill missions. Some time ago it was proposed that goodwill missions are to be sent to Trinidad, Mauritius and Fiji. I hear that that idea has been abandoned for the present. But now, Sir, as we have become free, I think it is all the more necessary for our cultural contact and for seeing the real position of the people there, that we should send non-official goodwill missions there.

Sir, I again pay my tribute to the Honourable the Prime Minister, and support the cut moved by my Honourable friend Prof. Ranga.

Dr. N. B. Khare (Alwar State): I also rise to support this cut. Professor Ranga, while supporting the cut, paid encomiums to what we did at the U.N.O. on the issue of the partition of Palestine. We, Sir, walked out as has been our wont always. I do not understand, Sir, why we supported or accepted the division of India into Hindu and Muslim and why we should not accept or support the division of Palestine into Arab and Jew. It passes my comprehension why this should be so. There is no consistency. What is sauce for the gander should be sauce for the goose. The only consistency is to say ditto to Pakistan. That is all.

Then, Sir, with regard to South Africa, there is no progress, not an inch of advance on the question of Indians in that country to what was done by the previous Government in which I happened to be a Member, and I do say with pride there is no advance over what the previous Government did, although the present Government is independent.

An Honourable Member: Question.

Dr. N. B. Khare: Then, Sir, about Ceylon, the less said, the better. The other day my friend Mr. Aney, put a question about Ceylon and was promptly told "The Honourable Member knows it better than I do". That is the position about Ceylon.

Then, Sir, about Burma, our next-door neighbour, which was part of India for a very very long time. Now it is separated from India and I congratulate Burma on its attainment of full independence long before us, and it has stolen a march over us. Burma will be outside the British Empire much before India expects to be so in spite of the fact that there was no non-violent, non-cooperation there. With regard to Burma, Sir, I am rather anxious because we have got huge amount of interest there of our nationals, and I hope something will be done. On this behalf I will offer some suggestions to my Honourable friend the Prime Minister. I want that the rights of our Indian nationals there are safeguarded as far as possible even after the attainment of independence by Burma. The constitution of Independent Burma, Sir, provides that the state is the ultimate owner of all lands and that they can regulate, alter or abolish tenures or resume possession of any land. Such interferences should be compensated in money. This idea is accepted in the said constitution, but in Article 30 of the constitution there is a provision which gives rise to some misgiving. It is said that the legislature may decide in which cases and to what extent compensation can be given. Here lies the rub.

This discretion to legislate as to the cases in which compensation may be given and those in which it need not be given is rather disturbing. It will act to our disadvantage. When once a man's rights of property are interfered with, it is only just and fair and equitable that adequate compensation should be given. This principle has been borne in mind and given effect to in the treaty between England and Burma, but this has not happened in regard to India. I hope it will happen. The note, dated 17th October, 1947, from the Honourable Thakin Nu to Mr. Attlee is illuminating on this point.

On the question of the entry into Burma of Indians who are required there to carry on existing business and occupations, it is necessary, no restrictions should be placed on their entry. In due course, if necessary, businesses may be abridged and the need for Indian service personnel may correspondingly diminish. However, until such time, it is necessary that no restriction should be placed on Indians going to Burma for these purposes, and to the extent rendered necessary by the needs of their business or properties which require to be looked after.

The overall quota of skilled persons may be fixed by the two Governments in consultation, but within the limits of this quota, permits should be granted by the Government of India who will be in a position to estimate the need or the urgency of the persons applying for a permit. That would avoid many of the humiliating handicaps with which persons seeking permits are faced.

Another point that the two Governments should tackle, relates to administrative acts which operate adversely against Indians. For example there is a proposal to interfere on the question of rents payable by a tenant. There is already a Tenancy Act in force which deals with fair rents and which can be worked to the mutual advantage of both the landlord and the tenant. But it is said that a tenant will be required to pay his landlord as rent only twice the amount of the land revenue on his holding. This will have the effect of artificially impairing the value of the land and compelling the landowner to abandon his land. These are points which require to be handled with great sympathy and fairness.

I understand that very soon an agreement will be concluded between the Government of India and the Government of Burma on all outstanding matters. An agreement between a Free India and a Free Burma has been looked forward to with hope and eagerness by both the countries and it is to us a source of very great satisfaction that that happy day has now arrived. Pending the conclusion of such a treaty and pending the negotiations towards it, it is essential that controversial questions should not be decided administratively and one-sidedly as is feared will be done. To do so would embarrass the even tenure of negotiations. The question of compensation for acquired land, the question of free entry of Indians into Burma for existing business purposes, and the question of artificially reducing the rent payable by tenants and similar matters are best decided after free and full negotiations with all the relevant facts before the two countries. And pending such negotiations and with a view to the honourable settlement of all outstanding matters, I would suggest that the Government of India should urge on the Government of Burma that they should stay their hands and not force the issues or reach conclusions before the Government of India have placed their considered views before the Government of Burma.

There can be no doubt that a satisfactory and honourable settlement is perfectly within the reach and competence of the distinguished gentlemen at the head of the Government of India and the Government of Burma.

Now, Sir, with regard to foreign affairs.....

Several Honourable Members: He is reading his speech.

Mr. Speaker: Honourable Members want to know what the Honourable Member is quoting from.

Dr. N. B. Khare: This is my note prepared by me for helping memory, any one may see it if he likes.

Now, Sir, about foreign affairs, I am very glad that for the first time we have come into our own regarding this ticklish question. When I was in office, I tried my best to have a finger in that pie—of course I succeeded—only partially because that was a slave Government then. Now it is a free government, but of course, it is too early to judge its achievements, and I am not a judge—of what status India has got internationally; I will leave it to my friend Prof. Ranga. But I want to say this much, that so far we have only one concrete achievement to our credit: it is that we have sent many of our friends as Ambassadors and Envoys to foreign countries. That is a substantial achievement and I congratulate the Government for what has been done.

مولانا حسرت موہانی : جناب والا ! میرا ارادہ آپ کی اسمبلی کے متعلق بحث میں حصہ لینے کا نہیں تھا کیونکہ میری دلچسپی صرف Constitution کے معاملوں سے ہے اور Legislative سے بہت کم دلچسپی ہے۔ لیکن میرے دوست مسٹر رنکا نے اپنی تقریر میں world politics کا ذکر چھیڑ دیا اور اس بحث میں آنریبل پرائمر منسٹر جواہر لال نہرو کا بھی اس میں ذکر آیا اور اس میں انکی پالیسی جو اس معاملہ میں ہو سکتی ہے اس کا بھی ذکر آیا اور اس کی طرف اشارہ کیا گیا۔ اسی وجہ سے مجبور ہوں کہ کچھ نہ کچھ مختصراً عرض کروں۔ مسٹر رنکا کو اس کت موشن پر بولنے کا حق نہیں تھا کیونکہ انہوں نے جواہر لال نہرو کی پوری تائید کی۔ اگر انہوں نے اس کی تائید کی تو انہیں اس کت موشن پر بولنے کی کیا ضرورت تھی ان کے خیال کے مطابق جو انہوں نے جواہر لال نہرو کی پالیسی کے متعلق ذکر کیا ہے اس سے یہ معلوم ہوتا ہے کہ آئندہ جو جنگ ہونے والے ہوں ان کے متعلق جواہر لال نہرو کی یہ پالیسی ہو سکتی ہے کہ ہندوستان neutral رہیگا۔ آئندہ آنے والے جنگ میں ایک طرف Russia ہوگا اور دوسری طرف امریکہ اور England ہوگا یہ تو میرا خیال ہے۔ لیکن مجھے اس بات کا یقین نہیں ہے کہ جواہر لال نہرو کی وہی پالیسی ہوگی جو کہ مسٹر رنکا نے ظاہر کی۔ اگر ایسا ہے تو میں اس پر اعتراض کرتا ہوں اور میں اسی بنا پر اس کت موشن کی تائید کرتا ہوں۔ دنیا اب اس سٹیج پر پہنچ چکی ہے کہ کوئی ملک غیر جانبدار نہیں رہ سکتا اور نہ ہی ایسی صورت نظر آتی ہے کہ کوئی ملک غیر جانبدار رہ سکے۔ اب صرف ideologies کا ہی گئی ہیں یا سوشلزم یا نیشنلزم۔ نیشنلزم میں اسوقت Capitalist ہیں۔ اور Imperialist بھی ہیں۔ سوشلزم میں اس وقت radicalism اور Socialism اور Communism بھی ہے۔ میں یہ ظاہر کرنا چاہتا ہوں اور مجھے یقین ہے کہ جو آئندہ جنگ ہونگے ان میں ہندوستان غیر جانبدار نہیں رہ سکتا۔ پہلے جنگ میں ایوان غیر جانبدار رہا تھا۔ لیکن بعد میں جب کہ ایوان میں ہی اکٹھا بنایا گیا تو وہ غیر جانبدار نہ رہ سکا۔ اور اسکو انگریزوں کے

ساتھ دوڑنا پڑا۔ اور جرمنی اور جاپان سے لڑنا پڑا۔ اس بنا پر میں یہ سمجھتا ہوں کہ ہمیں اس بات کا فیصلہ کرنا چاہئے اور اپنے دلوں سے یہ خیال نکل دینا چاہئے کہ ہم آئندہ آنے والی جنگ میں غیر جانبدار رہ سکتے ہیں۔ ہمیں اس بارے میں اپنی پالیسی کو once for all decide کرنا چاہئے۔ اس میں شک نہیں کہ غیر جانبدار رہنے کا مطلب یہ ہے کہ ہم peace چاہتے ہیں۔ لیکن میرے خیال میں یہ ممکن نہیں ہے کہ ہم غیر جانبدار رہ سکیں۔ اور اگر ایسا ہے تو جواہر لال نہرو کو یہ ظاہر کرنا چاہئے کہ اس بارے میں انکا کیا عقیدہ ہے اور اگر انکا یہی عقیدہ ہے تو انکو اس سے دست بردار ہونا چاہئے۔ اور اسکا فیصلہ کر دینا چاہئے کہ ہماری پالیسی کیا ہوگی۔ جو گروپنگ تیسری ورلڈ وار (World War) میں بنتی ہے اُس میں ایک طرف برطانیہ اور امریکہ ہوگا۔ کیونکہ یہ دونوں Imperialist ہیں اور دونوں Capitalist ہیں اور دوسری طرف Russia ہوگا۔ چونکہ انگلینڈ اور امریکہ Imperialist اور Capitalist ہیں اسلئے ہمارا رجحان Russia کی طرف ہو سکتا ہے۔ گروپ بننے کے متعلق میرا یہ خیال ہے اور میری یہ خواہش بھی ہے۔ ایک طرف انگلینڈ اور امریکہ ہوگا اور دوسری طرف Russia ہوگا اور فرانس بیچ میں گیدز بن کر رہیگا اور میرا خیال ہے کہ جب انگلینڈ اور امریکہ ایک طرف ہونگے اور فرانس درمیان میں نہ اُدھر اور نہ اُدھر رہیگا۔ تو دوسری طرف Russia کے ساتھ ہندوستان کو دھنا چاہئے۔ فرانس کی حیثیت میں چین بھی ہو سکتا ہے۔ اسلئے میں جواہر لال نہرو سے گزارش کروں گا کہ وہ اس معاملہ میں اپنے خیالات کی تشریح کریں اور میرے خیال میں انکو ایسا کرنا چاہئے کیونکہ میرے خیال میں ہمیں اپنی tendency کا فیصلہ کرنا چاہئے۔ اس بنا پر میں اس کت موشن کی تائید کرتا ہوں۔

(English translation of the above speech)

Maulana Hasrat Mohani (U. P. Muslim): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I had not intended to participate in the debates of this Assembly because I am more interested in Constitution than in Legislature. But because, in the course of his speech my friend Mr. Ranga has referred to "world Politics"; because the name of the Honourable the Prime Minister, Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru, has been mentioned in this connection, and because a mention has also been made of the policy of the Honourable the Prime Minister—what it has hitherto been and what it is likely to be—I feel compelled to say a few words on the floor of this Assembly.

Mr. Ranga had no right to speak on this cut motion because he had already supported the policy of Jawahar Lal Nehru. Why should he speak now when once he has enlisted himself under the banner of Jawahar Lal Nehru? From what he has said about the policy of the latter I understand that the Honourable the Prime Minister is going to adopt a policy of neutrality towards those countries which might participate in the war that is likely to take place in the future. The parties that this impending war is likely to involve will be Russia on the one side and England and America on the other. This is what I calculate. But I doubt if Jawahar Lal Nehru pursues the policy that Mr. Ranga has told us. If he does, I oppose him, and on the same ground I support this Cut Motion. The world has reached such a stage that it is impossible for any country to remain neutral. Nor can such circumstances arise which may permit a country to remain neutral. We are left now with only two ideologies we can have either "Socialism" or "nationalism". The latter includes both 'Capitalism' and 'Imperialism': "Radicalism", "Socialism" and even "Communism" come under the caption of "Socialism". What I want to say at this time is—and I believe in it—that when a war breaks out it will not be possible for India to remain neutral. Iran tried to do that during the last war; later when the scene of the battlefield shifted to its soil, it could not do without breaking the pledge of neutrality. It had consequently to ally itself with the English against the Axis. This makes me believe that decisions must be taken on the present issue. It would be a fond hope if we thought that we can remain silent spectators when a war breaks out in the future. We must decide, once for all, what policy we have to pursue in case such circumstances arise. It is true that by remaining neutral we desire peace, but I think it to be a remote possibility. We cannot remain neutral. Under the circumstances, therefore, Jawahar Lal Nehru should state before the House what he believes in. If his belief is as Mr. Ranga has said then he should shun it. He should decide a new policy and let us know what it is.

[Maulana Hasrat Mohani.]

A third World War is threatening us. The likely parties to it will be England and America on one side, and Russia on the other. The two former countries will ally themselves with each other because both of them are Protagonists of "Capitalism" and "Imperialism". Russia will fight against them because the other two countries are 'Capitalists' and 'Imperialists': India will naturally be more inclined towards Russia. About the formation of groups I think the English and the Americans will be in one camp while Russia will be in the other. France will not dare join any group. Thus when America and England become Allies and France remains neutral, I think India should throw its weight on the side of Russia. China may also behave as France. I would, therefore, like to request Jawahar Lal Nehru to define his policy about it. I think he ought to do it for we have to decide how we have to move. On these grounds I support this Cut Motion.

Shri Brajeshwar Prashad (Bihar: General): Sir, I rise to support the cut motion moved by the Honourable Prof. N. G. Ranga to discuss the position of India in International affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. We have not as yet acquired a position of pre-eminence in world politics. We have borne the White man's burden on our back for centuries. That burden has been lifted only recently. We have to emancipate our neighbours from this burden in order to assume the leadership of Asia.

We must ask the Americans to withdraw their forces from Japan. If we want to succeed in this attempt, we must seek the support of Russia and China

Mr. Speaker: I might make a suggestion. Generally speaking, written speeches should not be resorted to. Honourable Members may refer to their notes. In case of responsible statements by Ministers, they have necessarily to be read (Interruption).

Shri Balkrishna Sharma (U. P.: General): But our statements are not irresponsible.

Mr. Speaker: In the case of Ministers, every word is of importance and their statements must be properly worded. But so far as the debate is concerned, if the debate is to contain its own interest and has really to be a debate, speeches prepared outside the House should not be read in the House. That is my decision in the matter. Perhaps the Honourable Member, Shri Balkrishna Sharma was referring to the previous practice.

GENERAL BUDGET—LIST OF DEMANDS

Shri Balkrishna Sharma: No, Sir. I only wanted to bring to your notice that after all the language in which we have been carrying on so far our discussion in the House is not our own, and if some of the Honourable Members feel like jotting down their ideas and placing them before the House, naturally enough you may be kind enough to permit them to do so for the simple reason (Interruption) for the simple reason that they cannot do otherwise. And then, Sir, if the Honourable Ministers are permitted the privilege of reading out written statements on the ground that they are all sorts of very responsible pronouncements, then we poor fellows should not be taken as irresponsible people and our statements as irresponsible statements.

Mr. Speaker: The case of Ministers stands on an entirely different footing and their Statements which are of a special importance,—every word of them,—have to be clothed in careful language. That is not the case with speeches of members, and whatever the practice of the old Assembly,—there was to some extent, as the Honourable Member pointed out, the difficulty of language—but in the present House, there is absolutely no difficulty of language. Every Member is entitled to address in his own language, if he cannot express himself in Hindustani. All that I am saying at present is that I do not want to encourage written speeches. I do not want to prohibit the present speaker just at this moment, but this should not be taken as a precedent that written speeches will be permitted. Members will realise that if written speeches are permitted, it may mean that some other person writes a speech and the member reads it,—of course,—not in all cases; but then the speech read will have probably no reference to the speeches made by others in the debate. What is read would have been written previous to the starting of the debate. Therefore, if we want really to have a debate with a life in it, without repetitions and with arguments addressed only to the points raised, then I am sure members will all agree with me that written speeches must be discouraged. In the case of those who cannot speak properly at the beginning, there is all the greater reason that they should make an attempt of speaking so that they will be able to do so much better as they proceed further. I may inform Honourable Members that written speeches are not permitted in the House of Commons and it is a good parliamentary procedure which we may as well follow.

The Honourable Member may address, if he likes, in Hindustani or any other language.

An Honourable Member: This is his maiden speech. Let him proceed.

Shri Brajeshwar Prasad: Am I permitted to read or not, Sir? (Interruption).

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin (C. P. and Berar: Muslim): He is not a Minister in charge of Internal Affairs.

Mr. Speaker: I know that. Still, I do not want to come in the way of the Honourable Member just for the time being. My difficulty is, if one is permitted, the other also has to be permitted and then it becomes a precedent and we cannot then encourage oral speeches and discourage written ones. I want to set up the precedent of absolutely discouraging written speeches. References to notes is a different matter. I do not want to come in the way of the Honourable Member just now, but that is the way, in which I propose to carry on in this House.

Shri Brajeshwar Prashad: A joint attempt must be made by India, China and Russia in this direction. Europe and America must withdraw from Asia. Asia for Asians should be the guiding principle to be pursued in the realm of foreign affairs. The task of liquidating 'Fascism' from Japan is the sole concern of these three countries. We do not want American support in this noble venture. Let England and America liquidate 'Fascism' in their own countries before they impose any such task upon themselves in other man's land

[Shri Brajeshwar Prasad.]

Politics are ideals worthy of acceptance. We regret that we have failed to secure a seat in the Council. Asian nations seem to have no place in the U.N.O. The only course left open to us is to form an Asian League of Nations. We are sorry that we have not been able as yet in spite of our best endeavours to render any help to our fellow countrymen in South Africa who are groaning under the wheels of tyranny.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member may resume his seat. I hope the House will now agree with me that it is absolutely necessary to discourage written speeches.

Kumararaja Sir M. A. Muthiah Chettiyar (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of Indian Nationals abroad has engaged the attention of the Government of India from time to time and I may be permitted to say, Sir, that the occasion to-day for safeguarding the interests of Indian Nationals abroad is much greater than ever before and it could not be in the hands of any better person than our esteemed Prime Minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru. Sir, with his influence in national affairs and his international position, he can would things in the best manner possible. I say 'mould things in the best manner possible' because when India is free to-day it will be easier for India to negotiate with other countries regarding the interests of Indians in foreign countries. In recent months ever since the new Government came into existence in India, they have been very busy with regard to South Africa in particular.

Sir, I may be permitted to mention particularly about Burma, for I claim to have some personal experience of conditions in Burma. When we talk of Burma, I should be permitted to mention that Mahatma Gandhi said two years ago that the best occasion for the two countries to come to an honourable agreement is when both countries are free and to-day both the countries are free. Sir, it is a happy augury that on this occasion the Prime Minister of Burma should be here in Delhi and we welcome him warmly. I do feel that this is not the occasion when this House should go into greater detail regarding the relationship between India and Burma, for any one and particularly this House should not embarrass the delicate negotiations that may be now on between the Prime Minister of India and the Prime Minister of Burma, except by way of mentioning the situation in Burma for the consideration of our Foreign Minister.

Sir, with regard to the part Indians have played in Burma, the Indian community in India need not be ashamed. They can always feel proud of their brethren in Burma; they have contributed not only to the material prosperity of Burma, but to the political progress of Burma and whether they are going to be there in the future or whether they are going to come away, the work they have done will always remain and the part that our soldiers have played in recent years in liberating Burma will always be remembered. And I may be allowed to mention, Sir, that in the last twenty years in the struggle that the Burmese people have put forward for attaining freedom, the Indian community in Burma have given a great helping hand to the Burmese people for attaining their freedom and that will always remain a glorious chapter in the history of the Indian community in Burma.

Sir, with regard to the immediate situation regarding property, assets and businesses of Indians in Burma, we do not want any preferential treatment. What we want is only fairplay and justice and equal treatment that may be meted out to nationals of other countries. Compensation is provided in the Anglo-Burmese Treaty, and we want the same to be provided in the Indo-Burma Treaty and I am sure Honourable Members of the House would agree that this is not an extraordinary position for India to take.

Sir, when it is agreed that there should be compensation on equal basis and on an equitable basis, it should also be agreed, Sir, that before the compensation comes and particularly when the question of compensation is going to be settled very soon—the Government of Burma will in the coming years have some scheme to compensate the owners of property—it is essential that in the meantime the property should not be diminished, with reference to its value or its income. Sir, in the last fortnight there has been a serious attempt, of which the Government of India are not yet fully aware. They are just coming to know of the present attempt to diminish the return from the land. Already the return from the land to the owner of the land is very poor and they are now trying to reduce it still further and by so doing they are only forcing the land-owner to surrender the land and give away much in the result. We only want the Government of India to immediately intervene in the matter. We do not want the Government of Burma to take such a step in advance of the Treaty, particularly in view of the fact that the treaty is going to be initiated very shortly. Pending the Treaty, I would suggest to the Government of India that they should urge upon the Government of Burma to stay their hands with regard to such interference with the land and tenancy question. Let them not interfere with the tenancy law just on the eve of the negotiations to be started between the two countries.

Sir, I may be permitted to mention the value of the Indian assets there just for Honourable Members to know the enormity of the problem. Sir, the Indian community own land to the extent of 30 lakhs of acres which is worth 90 crores of rupees—the land alone. Besides this, Sir, Indians own house property and other businesses which may be worth another 50 or 60 crores and Burma owes 52 crores as loan to the Government of India. I mention these figures so that these are not matters which individual Indians in Burma can tackle. At any rate, it is not possible for individual Indians or Indian organizations in Burma to tackle. It is at a high level—at the Governmental level and the Ministerial level—that this should be taken up and dealt with. I can say on behalf of the Indian community that the Indian community will unreservedly place their assets in the hands of the Government of India for such settlement as the Government of India may deem fair and reasonable. It is a national asset of ours.

Sir, the facts I have given entitle me to request the Government of India to give immediate attention to this problem. Now let me say one word about Indo-China. There our assets have been freezed; the moneys in banks are virtually freezed as we are not able to get it here owing to exchange restrictions. I do hope that the Honourable the Prime Minister and the Honourable the Finance Minister will devise ways and means to enable Indians there to remit money to this country.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Sir, until not so very long ago India was regarded as the Cinderella among the nations of the earth and treated as a door-mat of nations. Fortunately we the people of India by our strength, suffering and sacrifice aided by the grace and blessing of a just Providence have left those unhappy days behind. It is about a hundred days—111 days to be precise—since we emerged out of the darkness of slavery into the outer light, the semi-light of freedom. I advisedly use the phrase "outer light" because I for one cannot say that we have emerged into the inner light, the full light of freedom. So long as we are still considered a dominion of the British Commonwealth, so long as we have not completely severed the British connection—which was part of the Independence Pledge that we used to take from year to year—so long as we are not a completely free and independent nation, I for one will not say that we have achieved full freedom. I feel of course that the day is not far off when with the Honourable Prime Minister and Foreign Minister at the helm of affairs we will see our nation leading Asia and the rest of the world. That is exactly the reason why I feel that unless India is completely free and independent the Honourable

Mr. Speaker: Will the Honourable Member read slowly, so that the other members may follow?

Shri Brajeshwar Prashad: I am anxious to finish my speech within the time allotted; otherwise, Sir, I can go very slow.

Mr. Speaker: The idea of the speaker is that the House should get at his idea. I think the Honourable Member can read slowly and within the time allotted.

Shri Brajeshwar Prashad: Very well, Sir.....The future of the Japanese and the Italian colonies in Asia and Africa is a question in which we are immensely interested. The Japanese colonies in Asia should never be handed over to America or England. If they are going to be placed under international control, the trustees should be India, China and Russia. The colonies being proximate to these countries, they alone are in a position to discharge the function to the full satisfaction of the whole world. We can never permit these colonies to pass under American or British hands. We cannot endanger our own security. We want these colonies not for any imperialistic purposes. We have no such designs. India can never embark on an imperialist career. The culture and tradition of centuries stand in the way of any such adventure.

Being the successor of the British Government in India, the present Government should undertake to perform those tasks which the British Government performed in its relations with Nepal. Nepal had no direct connections with the outside world. Its foreign affairs were looked after by the British Government. Now we should perform this task. The penetration of foreign influence in Nepal is a source of danger to our security. The foreign affairs of Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim should be conducted by the Government of India.

Ceylon, Burma, Malaya and other adjoining States are our neighbours. Foreigners should not have any concern with these States. We should have a co-ordinated and integrated system of Defence with these States. A Joint Defence Council must be set up. Our Army Chiefs must collaborate with the Army Chiefs of these States. (Interruption).

Shri H. V. Kamath (C. P. and Berar: General): I move, Sir, that the speech be taken as read.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. Let the Honourable Member proceed.

Shri Brajeshwar Prashad: The paramount need of the hour is the promulgation of the Nehru Doctrine on the lines of the Monroe Doctrine. In the early stages, the Government of the U. S. A. had no sanction to enforce it. It was only with the help of Great Britain that the U. S. A. succeeded in large measure in implementing it. The wide political differences prevailing amongst the nations of Europe contributed to the success of the Monroe Doctrine. We have also our friends in China and Russia. With the help of these states, we can succeed in our attempt. The civil discord which prevails in China will not be of a long duration. Very soon she will come to occupy the position which is hers in international politics.

The proposal to hold a referendum in Kashmir under the supervision of the U. N. O. will mean interference in our internal affairs. As a result of changed conditions prevailing in Kashmir, there is no justification for conducting any referendum at all.

The Government of India has shown utmost consideration in its dealings with the Government of Pakistan. The desire to re-unite India is responsible to a large extent for the policy which the Government of India has followed in its relations with Pakistan. We are prepared for reunion on democratic lines. We are opposed to granting 50 per cent. representation to Pakistan in the Legislatures, Cabinets, Army and in the Foreign Services of the new Government of India which will emerge as a result of any Federation between India and Pakistan. The financial contributions of Pakistan to the common centre is likely to be strictly in proportion to its area and population. Acceptance of any such plan will lead to red ruin and anarchy. I thoroughly endorse the statement made by Major Cariappa at London. The Army will succeed where statesmen have failed. India will become re-united once again in the fulness of time.

We must be on our guard against the dangers of Pan-Islamism. Nothing is impossible in Politics. There is no such danger confronting us at the present moment. We do not know what the future holds in store for us. The first step in the establishment of a Pan-Islamic state is likely to be the formation of a Federation between Pakistan and the adjoining Muslim States. Our duty is to try our level best to prevent the establishment of any such Federation by all methods which may be open to us at any given moment, whatever the constitutional implications of Pakistan as a sovereign state may be. To achieve this aim it is necessary to open our embassies in the Middle-East—the storm centre of world Politics—which should be manned by experienced diplomats whose first task would be to employ all diplomatic methods—moral and non-moral—to prevent the establishment of any such Federation. The imperialist powers with a view to preserve their vested interests in Asia are eager to purchase the friendship of the Muslim states and to win them over to their side they have thrown the bait of Pan-Islamism. Pan-Islamism is the offshoot of Imperialism. If we want to liquidate Pan-Islamism and Imperialism, we must join hands with Russia and China. Instead of pursuing the vain hope of an Indo-Pakistan re-union in the immediate future we must investigate the possibility of an Indo-Chinese Federation. Up till now India and China have not fought any war between themselves. The vast majority of the people of China are Buddhist and thus allied to India which gave birth to Buddhism. There is ideological, cultural, religious, ethical, philosophical and political sympathy and similarity between the peoples of India and China. The doctrines of exploitation, war, capitalism and imperialism are repugnant to the moral conscience of the people of Asia in general and of the two countries—India and China—in particular. The bond of friendship which happily exists between the leaders of India and China—Mahatma Gandhi, Pandit Nehru and Marshal Chiang—may facilitate the achievement of a federal union. Both India and China are menaced by Imperialism on all sides. It is in the common interest of both these states to evolve a federal plan of Union. India and China are destined to be the leaders of Asia. Joined together they will be a force to be reckoned with. It will comprise a conjoint state of 800 million people. It will cover a large part of the total area of the world. The economic resources of this union will be greater than those of any political combination of states. It will be economically impregnable from any possible attack. It will be the harbinger of Asian greatness. It will facilitate the task of world Federation and usher in a form of society based on the abiding foundations of authority and progress. This Federation will sooner or later attract within its bosom the Malayan archipelago, Burma, Japan, Siam, Korea, Ceylon, Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim. One by one all the states lying in S. E. Asia in their own interest and out of their own free will, will join this great commonwealth of Nations based on the truest ideals of justice and Freedom. Asian destiny cannot finalise itself into a mere S.E. Asian Federation. It must merge into an Asian Federation consisting of all the states and covering the entire area and population of this great continent.

With this end in view there is a need for a change in our outlook. The foreign policy of the Government of India based on democratic principles and regard for the sovereignty of states stands in need of thorough re-examination. To strengthen our own position in world affairs and the pursuance of power

[Shri H. V. Kamath.]

Foreign Minister cannot rise to his full stature; he will rise to his full stature and he will be himself only in a completely free and independent India. He has stood for peace, equality and freedom. India has stood for these principles through the ages, since time immemorial and India has preached this gospel of universal peace, universal equality and universal freedom to the nations of the earth. It is very well for us to remember at the present day when the world which has emerged out of a disastrous and destructive war but still not at peace, that humanity needs such a message preached afresh and anew. We have to assert ourselves and pull our full weight in the council of nations. My Honourable friend Seth Govind Das referred to our disabilities in East Africa and my Honourable friend Shri Muthia Chettiar referred to the question of Burma. I do not want to touch on those subjects, but I feel that had we been completely free and completely equal with the nations of the earth there are one or two things that we could have avoided in the past, not in the remote past but in the recent past. I will state one or two instances which might serve as a warning for the future. Soon after the war came to an end a memorial consecrated by Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose to the Martyrs of the Azad Hind Fauj in Singapore and at which, if I remember aright, the Honourable Foreign Minister when he was in Singapore laid a wreath,—that memorial was dynamited by our present Governor-General who was then the Commander-in-Chief of South East Asia. Had we been a free nation we would not have allowed such a thing to happen.

Again, the Indian Military Mission in Berlin in 1945-46 was a disgrace and a scandal. I am told—I cannot vouch for its truth—by some of the Indians who have returned from there that the Indian members of the Mission harassed our own countrymen and treated them worse than the British members themselves. That was because we were not a free nation and because they were bossed over by the British members of the Mission.

One or two more points and I have done. The most urgent problem today is the peace treaties that are in the offing,—peace with Germany and peace with Japan. I hope and pray that we will take our full part in the framing of these peace treaties, not peace with a vengeance and not the vac victis of the conqueror, but the peace that will lead to blessedness and harmony among the nations of the world.

There is one little point, may be a trifle, that I should like to stress and I hope the Foreign Minister will take it in the spirit in which it is offered. That relates to the expenditure on our embassies in foreign countries. Some days ago or some months ago a report went about that something to the tune of 5 lakhs of rupees was spent on furnishing our embassy in Moscow and that our Ambassador had to go as far as Stockholm in Sweden and perhaps to Oslo too to get material for furniture, carpets and tapestry for the embassy office and residence. Even if such an amount be spent for the embassy and the residence we do not mind, but I think most of it should have been spent on our own Indian goods and not on Swedish or other foreign goods. We are fortunate in having a distinguished Ambassador in Russia; I think we are the only other country in the world with a woman Ambassador. I think it was Russia who had a woman Ambassador in Sweden, Madame Kollontai; and we as soon as we came into freedom have an Ambassador in Russia. I do hope that the Honourable Foreign Minister and Finance Minister will keep an eye on the expenditure that is incurred and will be incurred on our embassies in foreign countries.

Sir, one word about the Middle East imbroglio. I feel that something is brewing in the Middle East and I do not wish my country to be involved in what might happen there. My Honourable friend Dr. Khare talked of the walk-out in the U.N.O. I do not want to make much of that, but anyway I do not wish that India should get involved in this quarrel between the Arabs and the Jews. We are not a party to any power politics; we are not going to join any bloc, whether it is the Arab bloc or the Jewish bloc, the American bloc or the Russian bloc. The Foreign Minister has made it clear in his pronouncements that we stand for peace among the nations and not for power politics; I hope that we will steer clear of this Middle East politics, because once there is a flare-up in the Middle East, so many nations are eager to take a hand in it,—America, Russia and so on. And I am afraid that once we are in it it will be difficult to get out of it, and our role must be to make peace among the Arabs and the Jews and not to make the position which is already bad much worse and more complicated.

Sir, in the end I only wish to say that I am looking forward to the day when India, guided by our able leaders, will take her place as a free socialist State, in a socialist federation of one free world when the 'Parliament of Man' will have been ushered in, where she will take her rightful and honoured place among the nations. India will always stand, as she has always stood in the past and in the present, for the great principles of peace and equality. She will preach the gospel of Serve janah Sukhino bhavantu and the Gospel of fraternity. The French revolutionists who raised the slogan of "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity" achieved in fair measure the task of liberty, in that they could usher in political liberty—one man one vote. The Russian revolution brought in to a certain extent equality—economic equality, in that Russia became the first Socialist State in the world. I feel, Sir, that India, the ancient but ever young, will preach the gospel of fraternity, of brotherhood—the crowning glory of all virtues, the noblest message that has been preached by man, and I feel and I hope that India will preach this gospel of fraternity, will accomplish it and lead Asia and the rest of mankind on the path of peace, freedom, blessedness and harmony.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru (Prime Minister and Minister for External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations): Sir, I welcome this occasion. Although we are discussing this subject of foreign affairs not directly but by way of a cut motion, nevertheless it is a novel occasion for this House and I think it is good that we realize what it conveys. It means ultimately that we are entering into the international field, not only by going into conferences and the like, but by really putting international questions before the country, before this House for its decision. There is no immediate question before this House today. But undoubtedly as time goes on, the major international questions will have to be decided by this House.

Listening to the debate, to the speeches made by Honourable Members, I find, as was perhaps natural, that there was no immediate issue, no particular question for discussion, but rather pious hopes, vague ideals and sometimes a measure of let us say, denunciation of things that had happened in the world. It has been a vague debate, with nothing pointed about it to which one could attach oneself. Many of the Honourable Members have been good enough to speak gently and generously of what has been done in the realm of foreign affairs on behalf of the Government of India during the past year. I am grateful to them, but may I say in reply that I am in complete disagreement with them. I think the Government of India during the past year has not done what it should have done. That perhaps has not been so much the fault of the Government of India as such, but rather of circumstances. Anyway, what we had envisaged that we ought to do, and we might do, we have not been able to do, largely because other circumstances arose in this country which have prevented all that being done. We are not yet out of those difficulties, internal and otherwise, which might enable us to have a free hand in our external relations, and therefore I would beg the House to judge of this period in this context of what has been happening in this country, not only during the past unhappy three or four months, but in the course of the past year when we lived in the middle of internal conflict and confusion which drained away our energy and did not leave us time to attend to other matters.

1260

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [4TH DEC. 1947]

[Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.]

That has been the dominant feature of our politics during the past year and undoubtedly that has affected our foreign policy in the sense of our not giving enough time and energy to it. Nevertheless, I think we have advanced in that field. Again it is difficult to say how you measure advance in such a field. My Honourable friend, Dr. Khare, was critical of various things, as he has every right to be, and his criticism took the shape of a written speech to which your attention, Sir, was not drawn! I was glad of the Honourable Dr. Khare's intrusion in this debate, because the debate was getting rather heavy and he brought a touch of comedy and humour into it as well as unreality. When the Honourable Member represented the Government in this House it was a little difficult to attach much importance to what he said. I suppose now it is less difficult to do so, or little more difficult to do so! So I will not venture to say anything or to reply to what he said because it seems to me totally inconsequential and without any meaning.

But coming to other subjects, the main subject in foreign policy today is vaguely talked of in terms of "Do you belong to this group or that group?". That is an utter simplification of issues and it is all very well for the Honourable Maulana to hold forth that India will go to war under this banner or that banner. But that surely is not the way that a responsible House or a responsible country views the situation. We have proclaimed during this past year that we will not attach ourselves to any particular group. That has nothing to do with neutrality or anything else or passivity. If there is a big war, there is no particular reason why we should jump into it. Nevertheless, it is a little difficult nowadays in world wars to be neutral. Any person with any knowledge of international affairs knows that. The point is not what will happen when there is a war. Are we going to proclaim to the world, taking the advice of Maulana Hasrat Mohani that when war comes we stand by Russia? Is that his idea of foreign policy or any policy? That shows to me an amazing ignorance of how any foreign affair can be conducted. We are not going to join a war if we can help it: and we are going to join the side which is to our interest when the choice comes to it. There the matter ends.

But talking about foreign policies, the House must remember that these are not just empty struggles on a chess board that are going on. Behind them lie all manner of things. Ultimately foreign policy is the outcome of economic policy and till that time, when India has properly evolved her economic policy, her foreign policy will be rather vague, rather incoherent, and will rather grope about. It is well for us to say that we stand for peace and freedom and yet that does not convey much to anybody, except a pious hope. We do stand for peace and freedom. I think there is something to be said for it. There is some meaning when we say that we stand for the freedom of Asian countries and for the elimination of imperialistic control over them. There is some meaning in that. Undoubtedly it has some substance but a vague statement that we stand for peace and freedom by itself has no particular meaning, because every country is prepared to say the same thing, whether it means it or not. What then do we stand for? Well, you have to develop then this argument in the economic field. As it happens today, in spite of the fact that we have been for sometime in authority as a Government I regret that we have not produced any constructive economic scheme or economic policy thus far. Again my excuse is that we have been going through such amazing times which has taken up all our energy and attention that it became difficult to do so. Nevertheless we shall have to do so and when we do so that will govern our foreign policy, more than all the speeches in this House.

We have sought to avoid these foreign entanglements and joining one bloc or the other. The natural result has been that neither of these big blocs looks with favour on us. They think that we are undependable, because we cannot be made to vote this way or that way. Last year when our Delegation went to the United Nations it was the first time that more or less an independent delegation went from India. It was looked upon a little askance. They did not know what it was going to do. When they found that we acted according to our own will they did not like it. We were unpopular last year in the United Nations. I do not mean individually but in regard to our policy and they could not quite find out what we were or what we were aiming at. There was a suspicion in the minds of one group that really we were allied to the other group in secret, though we were trying to hide that fact and the other group thought that we were allied to the first group in secret though we were trying to hide that fact. This year there was a slight change in this attitude. We did many things which the other groups disliked but the comprehension came to them that we were not really allied to any group, that we were trying to act according to our own lights and according to the merits of the dispute as they seemed to us. They did not like that of course, because the position today is that there is so much passion about it and so much fear and suspicion of each other between these rival great powers and groups that anybody who is not with them is considered as against them. So they did not like what we did in many instances: nevertheless they respected us much more, because they realised that we had some kind of an independent policy, that we were not going to be dragged on this way or that, that we may make a mistake as anyone can, nevertheless we were going to stick to our own policy and programme, so that while we possibly irritated some of our friends even a little more than last year, we got on much better with everybody, because they understood that we did stand for something. That is the background of it.

To give the House an instance of how we functioned, take this Palestine affair which has given rise and will give rise to a great deal of trouble. We took up a certain attitude in regard to it which was roughly a Federal State with autonomous parts of it. It was opposed to both the other attitudes, which were before the United Nations. One was partition which has now been adopted: the other was a unitary state. We suggested a Federal State with naturally an Arab majority in charge of the Federal State but with autonomy for the other regions—Jewish regions. After a great deal of thought we decided that this was not only a fair and equitable solution of the problem but the only real solution of the problem. Any other solution would mean just fight and conflict. Nevertheless our solution—which as the House will remember was the solution given in the minority report of the Palestine Committee—did not find favour with most people in the United Nations. Some of the major powers were out for partition and they therefore pressed for it and ultimately got it. Others were so keen on the unitary state idea and were so sure of it at any rate preventing partition or preventing a two-thirds majority in favour of partition that they did not accept our suggestion. When during the last few days partition somehow suddenly became inevitable and votes veered round to that owing to the pressure of some of the great powers, then suddenly it was realised that the Indian solution was probably the best and a last minute attempt was made in the last 48 hours to bring forward the Indian solution, not by us but by those who wanted a unitary state. It was then too late. There were procedural difficulties and many of the persons who might have accepted this solution had already pledged themselves to the partition side. And so ultimately partition was decided upon by a two-thirds majority, with a large number abstaining from voting, with the result again of trouble now and a great deal of trouble in the future in the Middle East. I point this out to the House as an instance that in spite of considerable difficulty and being told by many of our friends on either side that we must line up this way or that we refused to do so and I have no doubt that the position we had taken up was the right one and I have no doubt yet that that would have brought about a solution as no other decision would. That applies to many other things. But inevitably that means that to some extent we have to plough a lonely furrow in the United Nations or in international conferences of this type. Nonetheless that is the only honourable and right position for us to take up and I am quite sure that by adopting that position we shall ultimately gain in national and international prestige, that is to say, when we take a long view of the situation, not a short view of getting immediately a vote here or there. I have no doubt that fairly soon, in the course of two or three years, the world will find this attitude justifying itself and that India will not only be respected by the major protagonists in the struggle for power but a large number of the smaller nations which today are rather helpless would probably look towards India more than to other countries for a lead in such matters.

[Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru]

May I in this connection say that during this last session of the United Nations General Assembly many very difficult and very controversial issues were raised, and our Delegation had to face extraordinarily intricate situations. I should like to pay a tribute to our Delegation, specially to the leader of the Delegation.

Honourable Members often put questions about appointment of ambassadors, members of delegations and the like and rightly so, because the House should be interested in such important appointments. May I say to the House that nothing is more difficult than to make these appointments, because they are not just appointments of persons who may be able but appointments of particular persons to particular places where they must fit in, which is an extraordinarily difficult thing. In the key places of the world the ideal Ambassador must be some kind of super-man. It is so difficult now not only to understand the intricacies—that is not difficult—but to keep friends with everybody and yet to advance your cause. After all we have been in the past discussing foreign affairs outside, in other assemblies, or incidentally here, rather in an academic way, rather in a college debating society way. That is, we talk of high policies but we do not come to grips with the question when we have to say 'yes' or 'no' to a question and take the consequences of that. If the House will forgive my saying so, even in today's debate many of the speeches were of an academic kind which did not take into account the vital questions which concern the world today which may mean peace or war. But when the House will have to face the question by having to take a decision which may lead to war or peace, when one comes face to face with realism, then one cannot rely merely on idealistic principles. Foreign affairs is utterly realistic today where a false step, a false phrase makes a difference. The first thing that an Ambassador of ours has to know is to shut his mouth and give up public or even private speaking. It is not a habit which we have developed in our past careers—of being completely silent almost. Yet that has to be developed and in private one has to be silent lest what one says might injure the cause of the nation, might create international ill-will and so on and so forth. It is in this background that I should like the House to consider international affairs—this realistic background, this notion that this is not merely some naughty men playing about and quarrelling with each other, some statesmen in America and the U.S.S.R. or the British imperialism lurking in the distance behind the curtain and doing something. We have talked so much about British imperialism that we cannot get out of the habit of it, whether it is there or not. But it is by coming to grips with this subject in its economic, political and various other aspects, trying to understand and realize it that ultimately matters. Whatever policy you may lay down, this foreign affairs of any country is to find out what is most advantageous to your country. We may talk about international goodwill and mean what we talk. We may talk about peace and freedom and earnestly mean what we say. But in the ultimate analysis a government functions for the good of the country it governs and no government dare do anything which in the short or long run is manifestly to the disadvantage of that country. Therefore, whether a country is imperialistic or socialist or Communist, its Foreign Minister thinks primarily of the interests of that country. And no doubts so. But there is a difference of course. Some people may think of the interests of their country regardless of other consequences or take a short distance view. Others may think "No, in the long term policy the interest of another country is as important to me as that of my own country". The interest of peace is more important because if war comes everyone suffers, so that in the long-distance view self-interest may itself demand a policy of co-operation with other nations, goodwill for other nations, as indeed it does demand. Every intelligent person can see that if you have a narrow national policy it may enthuse the multitude for the moment, just as a communal cry has done, but it is bad for the nation and it is bad internationally because you lose sight of the ultimate good and thereby endanger your own good. Therefore we propose to look after India's interests in the context of world co-operation and world peace, in so far as world peace can be preserved. We propose to keep in the closest terms of friendship with other countries unless they themselves create difficulties. We shall be friends with America. We intend co-operating with the United States of America and we intend co-operating fully with the Soviet Union. We have had, as the House knows, a distinguished Representative of the United States here for some time past. Within a week or two we shall have a distinguished Representative of the Soviet Union here, in the Soviet Embassy which is being opened in New Delhi.

I should not like to say much more at this stage about foreign affairs partly for lack of time, partly because it is a little difficult to discuss these matters. Some of the Honourable Members may perhaps let themselves go about what should be done in China, Japan, Siam and Peru, but I fear it is a little difficult and it will be a little irresponsible for me to talk about these various matters. Naturally India is interested in Asian countries even more than the rest of the world. We have had an Asian Conference, and at this moment we have a distinguished visitor, the Prime Minister of Burma, here. May I say in this connection that some people are under a misapprehension that we are conducting special negotiations with the Burmese Delegation here? That is not quite true. It has been primarily a visit of courtesy. At the same time, of course, we have broadly explored the various questions, discussed various matters of common concern, not with the idea of suddenly coming to decisions in regard to these intricate matters now but rather to lay the foundations for future talks. May I also say that the Prime Minister of Burma is interested, as many of us have been, in closer association, not only between Burma and India but between various other countries of Asia also? We have discussed that also, not again with a view suddenly to come to decisions because these things take a little time to grow. They all indicate the new spirit of Asia which wants Asian countries to draw closer together in defence of themselves and in promoting world peace.

Coming to another part of this cut motion in regard to Indians in the British Commonwealth, that is an old subject and a painful subject. I entirely agree with any criticism that might be made that we have not been able to do anything substantial in this direction. Something has been done in Canada or elsewhere but nothing substantial has yet been done. Now, the odd thing is that this subject becomes more and more difficult to deal with and not easier. Indians have gone to these British Colonies and Dominions in the past in various forms, as merchants, traders, workers, indentured labourers and the rest. Looking back on this history of Indian emigration abroad, and including in that the humblest of those who went from India, it reads almost like a romance how these Indians went abroad. Not even citizens of a free country, working under all disadvantages, yet they made good wherever they went. They worked hard for themselves and for the country where they were in. They made good themselves and profited the country they had gone to.

[Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru]

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (one of the Panel of Chairmen)].

