It is a romance and it is something which India can be proud of, and may I say most of all of those poor indentured labourers who went out under unhappy conditions and who through their own labour, gradually worked their way up. That is so. It is also true that India, being a country that in spite of everything, has abounding vitality and spreads abroad. It rather frightens our neighbour countries, just like China which is also a country with abounding vitality and an abounding population. We spread. We tend to overwhelm others both by virtue of our numbers, and sometimes by virtue of the economic position we might develop there. That naturally frightens others who may not have that vitality in them, and they want to protect themselves against it, and then questions arise of vested interests which India has developed or Indians have developed there. Those questions have arisen, and while on the one hand we are obviously intent on protecting the interests of Indians abroad, on the other hand we cannot protect any vested interests which injure the cause of the country they are in. There is that difficulty. Nevertheless, undoubtedly we shall try to do our best to protect all legitimate interests.

Now one word more. I will not take more of the time of the House. An Honourable Member, Mr. Kamath, I think, referred to the expenditure incurred in Embassies. Now first of all, one of the minor headaches I have had to suffer from is a relatively new tendency in old and new newspapers alike to publish without check or hindrance the most amazing lies. It is impossible to keep pace with that. It is undesirable always to go about contradicting every little thing they say. It just cannot be done, and Delhi has been inflicted by some new types of papers and journals I have come across, which do not raise either the stature of Indian journalism or anything else. So many of these stories are not true that have appeared. I read somewhere about the U. P. Government presenting (I think in a Delhi paper) Rs. 20,000 and 200 saris to Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit on her departure to Moscow. I read all manner of the most malicious and unfounded and false statements in these papers about Mr. Asaf Ali.

Now, coming to this question of cost, the figure Mr. Kamath mentioned of 5 lakhs of course has no relation to fact. I do not know what the figure is.

Shri H. V. Kamath: I did not vouch for the truth of it; I said it was only a press report.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I suggest that if Mr. Kamath makes any statements, he might investigate them before he makes them.

What I should like this House to remember is this, that these ambassadorial appointments have to keep up a certain dignity and a certain status. It is no good our sending an Ambassador and not giving him a house to live in, not giving him furniture in the house, not providing him with the minimum wherewithal to meet others properly and decently. I doubt if any country, big or small, is conducting its ambassadorial establishments in such a cheap way as we are doing. A great deal of criticism has been made about our Ambassador in Moscow getting furniture from Stockholm. Well, how a house has to be furnished in Moscow, of course Honourable Members do not realise. It just is not possible to furnish it easily in Moscow. You get an empty house. We thought of sending things from India, but it was almost a physical impossibility unless we spent vast sums over aeroplanes carrying chairs and tables from here.

Of course it could be furnished alternatively with Russian furniture. The Russian people, and all credit to them for this, ever since this war, are so intent on doing what they consider to be the fundamental things that they refuse to waste their time on the accessories of life. They have to build up their country after the most horrible suffering and damage they suffered in the war and they are building it up in regard to the major undertakings. They go about in patched up clothes and broken down shoes. It does not matter, but they are building dams, reservoirs and factories and the rest which they consider more important. So it is not easy to get any of these small accessories of life for the moment. The only things you can get in Russia are antique pieces of Czarist days which are frightfully expensive. The result is that our Embassy in Moscow has to go to Stockholm for its chairs and tables, and as these were urgently required—office equipment, etc.—our Ambassador had to go there. But of course the visit to Stockholm was not merely, Members of the House should realise, to buy furniture. When an Ambassador goes elsewhere, the Ambassador does other work too, and any kind of shopping that might be done is incidental thereto.

I am grateful to the House for their kind sentiments and their expressions of goodwill for our attempt to follow a certain rather vague policy in regard to Foreign affairs. I wish it was a more definite policy. I think it is growing more definite, and in this connection may I say that at the present moment no country, including the Big Powers with their long traditions of Foreign Affairs, has got anything which might be called a precise and definite Foreign policy, because the world itself is in a fluid condition. Of course if you call it a definite policy of one great country looking with bitter dislike upon another and suspecting it, that may be the foundation of policy, but that is not policy, that is just passion and prejudice. Otherwise there is hardly any very definite policy in any country and they are trying to fit in their policy there day to day to changing circumstances.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Sir, I beg to ask for leave of the House to withdraw the cut motion.

Mr. Chairman: Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw the cut motion?

The cut motion was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,76,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'."

The motion was adopted.

DEMAND NO. 29—MINISTRY OF INDUSTRY AND SUPPLY

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,03,000 be granted to the Governor-General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'."

Mr. Chairman: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,03,000 be granted to the Governor-General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'."

Removal of Control over Cloth, Yarn and commodities other than Food

Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: Sir, I move:

"That the demand under the head 'Ministry of Industry and Supply' be reduced by Rs. 100."

1268

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [4TH DEC. 1947]

[Shri Mohan Lal Saksena]

has been allotted for it. But it is well known to everybody—it is an open secret—that today people are getting not more than 2 chhattaks of wheat and the rest they are getting from the black market. A leading mill-owner told me, and that in the presence of one of the Premiers and one of the Ministers of this Government, that he had to go to the black market for petrol, because his guests wanted cars and he could not help going to the black market. Then, I asked him, “Is petrol the only thing for which you get from black-market?” He said: “I am getting 4 chhattaks of wheat per head. It does not suffice for our needs. We require 6 chhattaks and the balance we get regularly from the black-market.” When things have come to this, when controls have become such a farce, when they have led to so much corruption, when they have not succeeded in bringing these articles within the reach of the people, the A.-I. C. C. has rightly come to the decision that these controls should be removed as early as possible.

Now, Sir, I am one of those who if necessary would rather take over all these mills and nationalise them. I say, you do it if you can. I do not stand for these mill-owners. I want that our people should get cloth to wear. Therefore, I would suggest that before you remove the controls, you must have a scheme like the one suggested by my friend Mr. Vadilal or any other scheme, by which production may be increased, and you may de-control the prices and the distribution. But then, you must have two checks. First of all, you must have a check on the production. You must see that the mills produce more coarse cloth and yarn. If they produce more coarse cloth, they will require less yarn for fine cloth, and more yarn will be available for the handloom weavers. On the one hand I want this, and on the other hand, I want that there should be a check on the export of cloth. Prices may shoot up for some time, but I hope that after some time, things will settle down and corruption will decrease. Until we are in a position to nationalise these industries, we have no other course but to de-control. I have no intention of going into the heavy expenditure which the Supply Department means to the Government of India. Besides this, we have got an army of officers and persons who are working in the Provinces. And who are these persons? They were recruited from Civic Guards many of whom were not even qualified according to the Government rules but because in those days they happened to support the Government or they happened to become favourites with the local officials, they were appointed.

Sir, since I have no more time, I do not want to take into consideration other items like iron, cement etc. But my suggestion is this. Let the Government of India take courage in both hands and act boldly. I know there are people who say that Bengal may be repeated. I am not one of those who believe that Bengal will be repeated. So long as our leaders are at the helm of affairs, Bengal cannot be repeated and will not be repeated. If necessary, we will take over all these mills. Gandhiji said in the very beginning, before the inception of controls, in the year 1942 that we must have control. Of course, he did not refer to Government control. He said that we must control our habits and reduce our consumption of cereals. Then we did not pay any heed to him. So today also we are trying to do the same thing. I think, Sir, that I cannot do better than conclude my observations by reading the portion of the speech which Mahatmaji made after the Resolution of the A.-I. C. C. was passed. He said:

“I must keep you for a moment over the most debated question of control. Must the voice of the people be drowned by the noise of the pandits, who claim to know all about the virtue of controls? Would that our Ministers who are drawn from the people and are of the people will listen to the voice of the people rather than of the controllers of the red tape which they know did them infinite harm when they were in the wilderness. The pandits then ruled with a vengeance. Must they do so even now? Will not the people have an opportunity of committing mistakes and learn by them? Do the Ministers not know that they have the power to resume control whenever necessary, if de-control is found to have been harmful to the public. In any instance out of the samples, by no means exhaustive that I have given above.”

With these words, Sir, I move.

Mr. Chairman: Cut motion moved?

“That the demand under the head ‘Ministry of Industry and Supply’ be reduced by Rs. 100.”

Shri Khandubhai K. Desai (Bombay: General): Mr. Chairman, Sir, while supporting the cut motion moved by my Honourable friend, Mr. Saksena, I would like to make a few observations, particularly with regard to the cloth situation.

The motion wants to discuss the whole policy regarding the cloth control and my friend Mr. Saksena has suggested that the control over the cloth should be removed. The question is whether the cloth control as it has worked during the last 3½ years has worked in the interests of the consumers for whom the control has been imposed or whether it has worked in the interest of the manufacturers who had been, as a matter of fact, the whole Cloth Control Board.

An Honourable Member: Also the Black Marketeer.

Shri Khandubhai K. Desai: Now, Sir, how has the cloth control worked? That cloth control has really not controlled the profits nor controlled the earnings of the intermediaries which it was intended to do. If it has controlled anything, it has controlled the poor consumer from getting his requirements and on some occasion I pointed out that the profits made in one year, 1943, was really 2,000 pre-war gross profits of the industry were only five crores, whereas in the year 1943 they were about 109 crores and if the average for the war years is taken, it will be found that the whole average of the seven years works out at about 1,000 per cent. over the pre-war level which were only five crores. That is how the cloth control has worked; the above are the average figures for seven years of war period.

Now, Sir, after the control, what are the profits? The Mill-owners came forward a year back saying that the industry is not paying and they have given certain data on which some Ad hoc Committee was appointed by the Government and this committee recommended that some increase should be given to the coarse cloth. The question was not whether the mills working the coarse counts were making losses. The question was that they were not making comparatively better profits compared to the fine count. Therefore it should have been decided to reduce the finer count price, but the decision which the Industrial Committee of the Control Board took was that the fine count cloth prices should be increased by six to eight annas in the yard and it would have meant about 30 crores of Rupees which would have gone to subsidise the coarse count mills.

Now, Sir, the data that appears to have been supplied to the Ad hoc Committee by the Industry was essentially wrong. As it is, Sir, it has been pointed out that in the year 1947 the mills are likely to make only 10 crores of Rupees, whereas the facts are that in the year 1947 the mills are likely to make 30 crores of Rupees and on top of it the subsidy of 30 crores of Rupees would have gone from the consumers. So it would have been 60 crores of Rupees.

Let us see now how it will work out. The profits of 60 crores would have been equal more or less to the profits which they were making in 1944. Instead of reducing these profits, instead of five crores, let them be given 10 crores which will meet all their requirements. But I must say that for the first time the Government of India has taken courage to scrap this scheme and the country is really grateful to the Honourable the Minister for Industry that he has saved to the poor consumers a sum equal to 30 crores of Rupees, which is not a small amount.

[Shri Mohan Lal Saksena]

Sir, you are aware that a great deal of controversy has been going on in the country about controls. It has engaged the anxious consideration of our leaders and has been causing much headache to the Ministers who are responsible for the administration of the controls; and it has been agitating the public mind. Lately, Sir, a meeting of the All India Congress Committee passed a Resolution which with your permission I would like to read to the House:

"The A. I. C. C. has been alarmed at the disturbance of normal life by the various controls, especially in regard to food stuffs and clothing. These have promoted black-marketing, hoarding, corruption and other evils; they have interfered with the process of self-reliance and arrested the incentive to production, especially in the matter of growing more foodstuffs and the manufacture of handspun and hand-woven khadi in the thousands of villages in India.

The Committee are therefore of the opinion that the Central and Provincial Governments should give urgent consideration to the problem of de-control as early as possible without detriment to the public good."

So far as we of the Congress are concerned we are bound by this Resolution and we have to further it through this House. But you may be aware that even in this House a Cut Motion was moved during the Budget Session in March and all sections of the House were practically unanimous that the controls should be removed, that corruption should be reduced and that efforts should be made to increase production. Not only every section of the House, but Member after Member from every Province rose in his seat and gave out the sufferings of the people, the way in which these controls are being administered and the way people were suffering for want of essential commodities—and they were not having even the bare minimum which was prescribed by the rationing rules. And if I have raised this question again, it is to get the verdict of the House that the House has not changed its opinion; for whatever was said at that time—I do not want to repeat those very arguments, I would only say this—those arguments have greater force now, they apply with greater force today than they did at that time, and the working of the Department has shown that instead of responding to the request of the Members in this House, the Department has neither succeeded in reducing corruption nor has it succeeded in increasing production. On that occasion, Sir, you will remember that one of the members of this House, who was not a theoretician like myself or Professor Ranga, but who knew his business, who was in the trade, who himself was working his mill, suggested a scheme by which he said that the production of every mill could be increased by 25 per cent. At that time the figures were 4,800 million yards of mill cloth and 1,500 million yards of handloom cloth. The Finance Minister has told us that this has gone down and that now it is 3,900 million yards of mill cloth and 1,200 million yards of handloom cloth.

Sir, that Member not only made the proposals for increasing production, but at the instance of the then Industries Member, he agreed to work his mills on those very lines. After working his mill according to his proposals, he showed that the production had gone up; it had increased and one of the members of this House who happens to be a Member of the Government, himself went round and satisfied himself about the claims regarding increase in production, that the scheme was practical and that production could be increased. But the Government of India, the Industry and Supply Department, and still more the Textile Control Board, did not agree with that proposal. Ever then, when that Member who originated the scheme—Mr. Vadilal—wrote to the Minister in Charge, he was advised that he may carry on that scheme in his own mill while other mills would be advised later on. After two or three months, since he was producing coarser counts of yarn which meant a loss in profits though increase in production, he wrote back saying

"How long may I go on like this? When other mills make money, why should the shareholders of this mill suffer?", and the reply from the Honourable Member was "You may go on, you must do your duty whether others do it or not".

Now, what steps are being taken to increase production? A few weeks ago there was a recommendation by the Textile Control Board that the prices of coarse cloth should be increased. And why? So that the mills may give up producing fine cloth—not because these mills were losing by producing fine cloth. So that they may give up producing fine cloth and manufacture more coarse cloth, prices of coarse cloth were to be raised. This was recommended by the Textile Control Board and this caused much headache to our Ministers in the Cabinet for some time. I am glad that the Cabinet turned down that proposal. But still, what I suggest is that the Cabinet should have reduced the prices of finer cloth so that the mills should have taken to producing more of coarse cloth. That was not done.

So, from what I know of the working of this Textile Control Board and the working of this cloth control, I can say that the Textile Control Board has been working in the interests of mill-owners. Today in this House we heard that even the figures supplied by them regarding production were not correct and the Honourable Member in charge was not in a position to say whether they tallied with the figures of actual production. As a matter of fact, the working of controls will show that during this time, on the one hand it has given huge profits to these mill-owners and on the other it is brought money to the coffers of the Government; and then it has produced corruption—it has brought money to the middlemen who were operating in the black-market. Of course, I do not want to say anything about the Government servants and those persons who are working in those Departments who number a legion. If you will only look at the Telephone Directory, you will find the names of the officers of these Departments running to 10 pages, which means at the rate of 40 officers per page, 400 officers. And who are these officers? Leave aside the Joint Secretaries who are about half a dozen. Then come Deputy Secretaries and Assistant Secretaries. Then there are Directors, and not only Directors. There are Deputy Directors, and every Director has got three or four Deputy Directors. After that, they have got Assistant Directors, three or four for each Deputy Director. And again, they have got Deputy Assistant Directors. Thus, Directors, Deputy Directors, Assistant Directors and Deputy Assistant Directors. My friend Mr. Santhanam pointed out this morning how much money is being spent not only on their salaries, but their honoraria, allowances and special pays. If you go into the history of these gentlemen who are working in this Department, and hold offices like Assistant Deputy Directors and so on, you will find that in 1938 or 1939 they were getting about Rs. 150 or 200, or not more than Rs. 250, and today they are most of them getting more than Rs. 800. I do not want to suggest that if there is a deserving person, he may not be promoted, but these persons, because they have got some extra work, they are given special pay. Not only that, so far as corruption is concerned, controls and corruption have become more or less synonymous. So many persons have come to me and told me that corruption has increased in these Departments. Corruption may or may not have increased, but there is no doubt that it has not decreased. Many people have told me to send anybody whom I liked to one of those Departments,—of course, the Supply Department is not excluded—where from the peon to the highest officer the spirit of corruption prevails. Yahan sukha kam nahi chalega (Nothing can be done without money). They have challenged me to go and verify this. Of course, I could not do so.

So far as I am concerned, Sir, controls are only means to an end, the end being that there should be equitable distribution of commodities at moderately cheap prices within the reach of the ordinary man. Have the controls served that end? Have they succeeded in placing these articles within the reach of our ordinary man? I am not discussing food control, because a special day

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Friday, 5th December, 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

ALL-INDIA DRAINAGE AND DEVELOPMENT PLAN.

615. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have developed or propose to develop an All-India Irrigation and Drainage Development plan;

(b) if so, what its main features are;

(c) in what proportion Government expect to get the scheme financed as between the Central and Provincial Governments;

(d) what the main objects of these projects are whether irrigation and famine protection, Grow More Food Campaign, or Hydro-Electricity; and

(e) whether an appeal has been made to Government to make every scheme convertible into an all-purposes one?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No.

(b), (c) and (d). The question does not arise.

(e) No.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that various irrigation projects are being taken up in different provinces in a piece-meal fashion, would it not be better that the Government of India themselves should expect their Irrigation Research Bureau to prepare for them from time to time comprehensive lists of these projects and then give them an estimate of their cost?

Mr. Speaker: Is it not more or less a question of opinion?

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government then consider the advisability of asking their Irrigation Research Bureau to help in the matter?

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: When an irrigation project involves two provinces, will the Centre take the initiative in the matter or not?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The initiative is usually taken on the representation of the provinces concerned but very often the initiative is taken by the Centre itself.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is there any drainage project which Government has taken up in the recent past?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: No.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: Coming down to the particular, may I know whether the Government is likely to take an initiative in the matter of the project involving the provinces of Bengal and Bihar?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: So far as this particular project is concerned, the Government of India received a representation from the Bengal Government and with a view to settle this question a conference is being called between the representatives of the Bengal and Bihar Governments in the immediate future.

[Shri Khandubhai K. Desai]

While I am speaking on this issue, I am reminded of a well-known Sanskrit sloka which says:

दरिद्रान भर कौन्तेय, मा प्रयच्छ ईश्वरे धनम् ॥

But what was being done about five months back was that something contrary to this sloka was being done. The poor were being deprived of 30 crores of Rupees to pay to the rich who were already earning six times the amount which they used to earn before the war and therefore, Sir, I would very strongly support the suggestion made by my friend for de-controlling the cloth.

Now in this respect, Sir, it is being made out that the industry is not able to produce the cloth sufficient for the country and so the control required to be maintained. I think that the data supplied by the Industry is wrong, because as a common man, I do not understand why it is so? Whereas before the War the shift looms that were working in the industry were about 2,30,000, while today they are working—including night and day—in the neighbourhood of 3,60,000. Even taking into consideration the reduction in the number of hours from nine to eight, certain disturbances which might have come in the way of production, I should feel, Sir, that the production today should not be less than 5,000 million yards. But it has been quoted this morning by the Honourable Minister for Industry that production is in the neighbourhood of about 4,000 million yards. I am sure, Sir, that from 15 to 20 per cent. production goes into the black market, which has not been accounted for. Otherwise the industry is producing today cloth which is really 800 million yards more than what it was producing before the war which was 4,200 million yards. The Mill-owners will very vehemently deny this and say that it is not so. Then as the representatives of this country we can certainly ask them: Where has production gone to-day by working 3,60,000 looms even for eight hours? Assuming there is no disturbance of any sort, the production would come to 5,400 million yards on the ordinary basis of calculations. I give allowance for 400 million yards. Even then the production should be 5,000 million yards and there is no doubt about that. Recently about a fortnight back there have been raids in Ahmedabad and Bombay. The raids were made for some other purpose. But what can be found except the cloth there? This cloth was found, which runs into several hundred bales. Where has that black market cloth come from? It must have come directly from the mills and there may be a silent conspiracy between the Department and the manufacturer. I am quite sure that if the de-control is the policy of the Government, there would not be much difficulty in getting the cloth. There is one other result of this present control system about which the nation cannot be silent. The control as it is worked out gives a particular price to any cloth, of whatever quality. So the industry has deteriorated. The best cloth gives the same price as the worst cloth, because the price is scheduled to be same. And as such the manufacturer is not interested in the quality of the cloth, and the result is that what used to last for a couple of months now does not last more than half that period. That is also one of the reasons why there is this artificial scarcity of cloth. Sir, it has been stated that the workers have become very inefficient, that there is a lot of absenteeism, and what not. From my close contact and touch with the industry I am in a position to state very definitely that as a result of cloth control and the fixing of prices at a level which gives to the manufacturer a margin which is unimaginable, it is the manufacturers themselves and the technicians who have become very inefficient and lazy. Naturally when the manufacturer himself does not care for the quality of his production and the technician does not care for his quality, the employees also may have sympathetically become a little more negligent. I think it is a sympathetic kind of sabotage. It has been stated that as a reduction of the hours from nine to eight the production has gone down pro rata. But what we actually find is that in quite a large number of mills in most of the important centres of the industry—like Ahmedabad and Bombay—the production has been made up to the extent of 4 to 5 per cent. So if any allowance is to be given for reduction of hours it should be $7\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. and not $12\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. as it is made out to be.

I must say that for all these sins of omission and commission we must absolve the present Ministry of any guilt because, like all other kinds of legacy, they have to carry the heavy burden of this particular legacy, and they are carrying it with great capacity, strength and courage. I say that production is a proposition which cannot be allowed to take its own turn according to the whims of the employers. The workers are interested in production and in giving the best of production to the country. And on behalf of the Indian National Trade Union Congress I can assure this House that the textile workers in this country will do everything in their power to step up production 5 P.M. provided they get the co-operation of the employers. When that co-operation is not available from manufacturers I would strongly urge on Government to take charge of the industry; and I am quite sure that the working classes of this country will respond to the call of Government but it will not be possible for them to respond to the call of the manufacturers who want to exploit the whole country.

Sir, I support this cut motion and say that control as far as distribution and price are concerned, should be removed, and the control as far as production is concerned, should be kept by Government, and it must be tightened up so that the country will get the cloth that it requires and not the cloth which the manufacturers want to produce for profit.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Friday, the 5th December, 1947.

1274 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [5TH DEC. 1947]

Shri H. V. Kamath: Are not Government contemplating a comprehensive All-India Development Plan of which this irrigation and drainage development can form an integral part?

Mr. Speaker: The honourable Member means an All-India Irrigation Plan?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: What is it you want me to answer?

Shri H. V. Kamath: Are not Government contemplating an All-India Development Plan of which this Irrigation can form an integral part?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Irrigation is primarily a provincial concern. But wherever interests of more than one province are concerned, the Centre comes in, and there is a plan for co-ordinating all such activity. So far as research is concerned, I may inform Prof. Ranga that there is a Central Station of Research in Poona and there are plans to expand the same.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Will the plans be published and printed?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Whatever work is done by the Central Research Station is published. You can have it from the Department and copies of it are already in the Library. So far as the plans are concerned, usually they are not published because they are more or less meant for the respective provinces concerned. But if the Honourable Member wants information on any particular point, I shall be glad to give it to him.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Does the Honourable Minister feel it necessary that in view of the great necessity for the development of the country, he will try to co-ordinate all these schemes and take the initiative from the Centre?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: As regards co-ordination, I have said that every effort is made. To be precise, now there are four or five schemes that are placed before the Centre for consideration from the Madras Presidency. It is very difficult to dispose of the respective claims of these provinces say for Andhra and Tamilnad but every effort is being made and one of them is that I propose to visit Madras in the near future.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Is there not a danger that in taking these provincial plans, separately parts of the country may become over-developed in some respects and all development may become lopsided? If there were one plan for all India, you could develop every portion of the country, scientifically and with proportionate emphasis and, in order of priority.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. It is getting into an argument.

NEWSPRINT IMPORT LICENCES.

616. Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether Government are aware that considerable anxiety is being felt by the Newspapers of this country for the reason that no announcement has been made, up to this date, by the Ministry concerned with regard to the issue of Import Licences for Newsprint for the year 1948?

(b) Are Government aware that the North American Mills which constitute one of the most important sources of Newsprint supply to India accept orders on the basis that irrevocable Letters of Credit are arranged for the whole quantity for the year, before manufacture is started, and that Letters of Credit can only be opened on production of the relevant Import Licences?

(c) Are Government aware that it has been the practice of the Government of India up to the last year, to issue such Import Licences for the following years before September 30th, and that this is the first time that the matter has been kept pending up to this date?

(d) Do Government propose to invite applications for Newsprint Import Licences and adopt necessary measures for granting licenses to the applicants with the least possible delay?

(e) Are Government aware that there is a feeling of dissatisfaction amongst the newspapers at the delay in taking action on applications for licences?

(f) Do Government propose to take steps to remove this complaint?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) to (f). The issue of import licences for newsprint in 1948 has been delayed pending a decision regarding the quantum of dollar exchange that could be made available for this purpose. As the Honourable Member may be aware, there is an acute shortage of exchange, particularly of dollars and it has become therefore a matter of the utmost importance that foreign currencies should be conserved to the maximum extent possible. Government have now completed their review of the position however and applications for import licences will be invited during the next few days. Meanwhile licences already issued in September 1947 for the July-December 1947 period have been extended up to 30th June 1948. This should enable importers and newspaper concerns to obtain their supplies in full against these licences. I can assure the Honourable Member, that delays of this kind are unlikely to arise in the future.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister take a note of part (b) and then inform the House as to how he proposes to help in the matter?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I have taken note of that and I assure the Honourable Member that there will be no more delays hereafter.

Shri R. R. Diwakar: Part (b) merely says that applications will be asked for and that meanwhile licences already issued in September 1947 for the July-December 1947 period have been extended up to 30th June 1948.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Applications are invited for the period stated in the answer and they will be disposed of quicker than it was done before.

TRIBAL PEOPLES OF INDIA.

617. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether any special Directorate or any department has been organised to look after the special needs and problems of the Tribal peoples of India;

(b) whether Government propose to consider the advisability of forming an Advisory Council including the representatives of All-India Excluded Areas and Tribal Peoples Associations, Adibasis Association and Harijan Sevak Sangh, to advise them; and

(c) whether it is proposed to make any special allotment from the Central Revenues for the improvement of the condition of these people, and their liberation from Malaria and other diseases?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) The Government of India are now concerned only with the Tribal Areas of the North East Frontier. No special Directorate or Department has been set up to deal exclusively with matters relating to the Tribal people, but the North East Frontier Agency was created in October 1943, with its headquarters at Shillong, to organise the administration and development of the Tribal Areas.

(b) This is dependent on the decisions which the Constituent Assembly will take in regard to the future administration of the Tribal and Excluded Areas.

(c) The Government of India have already sanctioned a Five Year Development Plan for the Assam Tribal Areas which covers various beneficent schemes including the construction of 28 hospitals and two leper colonies in tribal territory. The total capital expenditure involved in the plan is estimated to be about Rs. 128.36 lakhs which will be met exclusively from Central revenues. As regards other tribal areas the point is covered by the reply to item (b).

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government consider the advisability of making a special grant for the development of these Tribal people in other areas in anticipation of any decision that might be taken by the Constituent Assembly in regard to the constitution to come?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The Government will gladly consider the matter. Normally they are being dealt with by the provincial authorities and they are included in the other schemes of development. I do not quite know how we can deal with rather a vague assortment of tribes all over India.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that there has been considerable dissatisfaction among these Tribal people about the grants made and efforts made by provincial Governments for their development, will the Government consider the advisability of making some grants-in-aid to the Provincial Governments with a view to encouraging them to develop the social and economic status of these people?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Yes, but I should like Prof. Ranga and any other Honourable Member of the House to put forward some specific proposals which we might consider. What has been suggested is too vague a proposal.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: May I know whether Government are aware that lately there have been some signs of spreading discontent amongst the tribal people in the North Eastern Frontier of India and may I know what steps have been taken by the Government of India to remove the disaffection amongst those people and win over their confidence and affection?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: Yes, I am aware of that and the normal steps usual in such cases were taken that is people in the North East Frontier from the Governor downwards have gone there and discussed the situation with the tribal people and they have largely convinced them.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Is it proposed to award scholarships to tribal pupils in other provinces of India besides those in the North East Frontier? Has any representation been received in this connection from the Harijan Sevak Sangh?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: There is no reference to scholarships being awarded to the people in the North East Frontier. We are only opening schools there. I suppose the Education Minister should know about scholarships. I know nothing about it.

Fiji GOVERNMENT'S IMMIGRATION BILL

†618. Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether a bill to control immigration has been recently introduced in the Fiji Legislative Council?

(b) If so, what are its main provisions and how does it affect the Indian community in Fiji?

(c) Have Government made any representations to the British Government regarding its effect on the Indian interests?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The Honourable member's attention is invited to the reply I gave to Question No. 391 by Shri K. Santhanam on the 27th November 1947. I may add that we have been informed by the Governor of Fiji that an Indian domiciled in the Colony will be exempt from the provisions of the Ordinance subject to the proviso that an Indian who has been resident for five years or more will lose this exemption by being absent from the colony for more than twelve months.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

IMMIGRATION OF INDIANS INTO BURMA.

†619. Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the present position with regard to the Immigration of Indians into Burma and the enjoyment by them of the rights of citizenship there?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: In reply to first part of the question regarding immigration of Indians into Burma, I would draw the Honourable Member's attention to the reply I gave on the 2nd December, 1947 to parts (a) and (b) of starred question No. 520 by Shri T. T. Krishnamachari. With regard to the second part, the present position is that Indians in Burma enjoy the same rights of citizenship as the indigenous people of that country. Under the new Constitution recently adopted by the Constituent Assembly of Burma, citizenship of Indians will, at the date of the commencement of the Constitution, be governed by Article 11 (iv) in accordance with which an Indian who has resided in any of the territories included within the Union of Burma for a period of not less than 8 years in the 10 years immediately preceding the date of the commencement of the Constitution or immediately preceding the 1st January 1942 and who intends to reside permanently therein and signifies his election of citizenship of the Union in the manner and within the time prescribed by law, shall be a citizen of the Union of Burma. The citizenship of an Indian who is either ineligible for or does not exercise his option in favour of citizenship on the date of the commencement of the new Constitution will be governed by legislation to be enacted in future by the Government of Burma.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS FOR INDIANS.

620. Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government propose to consider the advisability of awarding scholarships and fellowships to Indians who are in the Commonwealth countries, for purposes of study and lecture in Indian universities?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of Education and has accordingly been transferred to the Ministry of Education. It will be answered on the next day allotted to that Ministry.

DETENTION OF SHIP BY PAKISTAN AUTHORITIES

621. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that a certain ship on the Indian Register carrying foodstuffs from Karachi to an Indian port was detained at Karachi and ordered by the Pakistan authorities to discharge all general cargo, thereby involving inconvenience and heavy loss and delay in the movement of foodstuffs;

(b) whether the attention of the Government of India was drawn;

(c) what action Government have taken in this connection; and to this matter by the shipping company concerned;

(d) what action Government propose to take to prevent a repetition of such incidents in future?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). Yes, Sir.

(c) The High Commissioner for India in Karachi was immediately instructed to make strong representations to the Pakistan Government in consultation with the Shipping agents concerned.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

1278

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [5TH DEC. 1947]

(d) The difficulties in the above case arose as the 's. s. Jalaratna' had almost completed loading when the Sind Essential Supplies Ordinance was issued. It is considered unlikely that similar difficulties will arise in future.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: What steps are being taken with respect to Eastern Pakistan to prevent such disaster from taking place?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It will not happen, unless there is an ordinance. Ordinances will not come every day.

PAKISTAN SEARCHES OF REFUGEES.

622. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that ships bringing refugees from Karachi have been detained under orders of the Government of Pakistan and if so, for what reasons;

(b) whether Government are aware that refugees boarding such ships were closely searched on one occasion for nearly 14 hours before being permitted to embark; and

(c) whether the Government of India have taken up this matter with the Government of Pakistan and if so, with what result?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: (a) No ships have been detained under any orders of the Pakistan Government. Ships carrying refugees from Karachi have to spend about 24 hours at the wharf for the disembarkation and embarkation of passengers, and for the completion of necessary formalities.

(b) Yes. Refugees boarding such ships were regularly and closely searched by the Sind Police and the Pakistan Customs. The search of the passengers embarking on a ship usually takes about six hours. In one instance, however, when the Customs had finished their search and the passengers' luggage had been stored in the hold, the Sind police objected that the search by the Customs was not sufficient. All the luggage was again taken out of the hold and searched a second time by the Police. On this occasion, the search took about fourteen hours.

(c) The Government of India have taken up this matter with the Pakistan Government. At a meeting between the Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan, it was decided that there should be no search of refugees' baggage either in India or Pakistan. This decision was not given immediate effect to in Sind, because of the Police still wanting to search passengers, ostensibly for unauthorised firearms, merchandise in bulk, and goods, the export of which was banned by Ordinances issued by the Government of Sind. Repeated representations were made to the Pakistan Government, and the High Commissioner for India in Pakistan at Karachi now reports that there has been considerable improvement in the matter of searches and that only about 5 to 10 per cent of the baggage of passengers is actually opened and searched.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if any arrangements have been made to take statements or affidavits from passengers regarding goods confiscated during these searches?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: Some information is being collected about what has happened during these searches and that information will be collected in due course and made available.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know if there are any facilities for these passengers to obtain light refreshments or meals while they are obliged to wait like this, usually for six hours, while their possessions are being searched?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I do not know whether any arrangements are made by the Pakistan Government. I do not think this Government have made any arrangement at Karachi.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government kindly make enquiries and see that such elementary facilities are provided for these people; otherwise they would be put to any amount of inconvenience?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: Enquiries can be made.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Are Government aware that refugees after being searched were being stamped as "Searched" on their bodies and that even ladies were not being exempted from this?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid I have no information.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Are Government aware that these Hindu and Sikh women are sometimes put to great humiliation during these searches?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: In some places that has been so.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will Government assure the House that this will not happen again?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

DETENTION OF AEROPLANES BY PAKISTAN AUTHORITIES.

623. Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that aeroplanes bringing refugees from Pakistan areas have been refused guarantee of safety by the Government of Pakistan;

(b) whether Government are aware that planes have been detained by the Pakistan authorities, from time to time, for making a thorough search of the planes and passengers;

(c) whether Government are aware that such search is contrary to the agreement arrived at between the two Governments on the 14th September 1947; and

(d) whether this question has been taken up by the Government of India with the Government of Pakistan and if so, with what result?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: (a) No such guarantee has been demanded by us, nor refused by the Government of Pakistan. While at the Airport, ample protection is provided to planes bringing refugees from Pakistan, by the Pakistan authorities.

(b) Yes.

(c) and (d). The Honourable Member is referred to answer to Starred Question No. 57 on the 18th November, 1947.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: With reference to part (b) of the question, may I know whether it is a fact that on the 19th November, 98 passengers coming from Pakistan area in a plane were detained at Lahore for the reason that the plane had taken only two Muslim passengers from Delhi and they were asked to remain there in Lahore and they remained stranded there?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid I am not in a position to vouch for the accuracy of the date and the figures but that some such incident did happen I am sure of.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is there any agreement between this Government and the Pakistan Government that planes going from this area will carry Muslim passengers and only an equal number of refugees shall be brought from that side?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I do not think that there was any definite agreement but it was always expected that planes which went from here would take as many Muslim refugees as offer themselves for being transported.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Can the Government give us an assurance that no such occurrence like the one in Lahore on November 19 will take place in future?

Mr. Speaker: Does the Honourable Member want an assurance about happenings in Pakistan?

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: How long will Government take to arrange for the transport of these passengers who were detained at Lahore? What happened to them?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid I must have notice of that question.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I know what steps Government are contemplating to obtain correct information regarding confiscated property as a result of these searches?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: We have instituted machinery for the purpose of finding facts about searches as well as about other things and when that information is collected we shall be in a position to give some information to the House.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know what steps the Government propose to take to see that the sickening practice of searches comes to an end immediately?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I think it has almost come to an end now.

REMOVAL OF ARTICLES FROM PAKISTAN.

624. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Government of Pakistan have officially advised the Government of India that in the interest of Pakistan's economy they have decided to ban the removal of cloth, medical stores, paper, paints, etc., outside Karachi with immediate effect; and

(b) whether Government are aware that this is contrary to the stand-still arrangement arrived at between the two Dominions?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil:—(a) Yes. The Government of Pakistan advised us officially that in order to meet grave threats to the economic life of Pakistan by organised removal, in violation of normal trade channels and practice, of essential goods, such as hardware, paints, varnishes, non-ferrous metal, medical stores, cloth, white cement, paper and other articles of stationery, the Government of Sind had armed themselves with powers under the Sind Essential Commodities (Control) (Second Amendment) Ordinance, 1947, to prevent bulk transfers of those merchandise to places which were never supplied by or through Karachi before. They stated, however, that normal exports would be permitted on production of satisfactory evidence that the goods had been imported for consumption in the Indian Dominion but that removals clearly intended with a view to depriving Pakistan markets of supplies would be prohibited.

(b) If the restriction is, as stated by the Government of Pakistan, applied to the bulk transfer of merchandise from Karachi in violation of normal trade channels and practice, it would not affect the general agreement regarding freedom of trade between the two Dominions, since the underlying object of that agreement was to leave undisturbed the pattern of trade as it existed before the 15th August 1947. If, however, the restriction is, as alleged by several complainants, enforced in a manner that will prevent the transshipment of goods which were imported through Karachi for markets in India, it would involve an infringement of the agreement referred to. The matter is at present under discussion between the two Dominion Governments.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Arising out of the answer to part (a) of the question do not Government consider that this calls for some retaliatory measure on the part of the Government of India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: In terms of the answer to part (a) of the question, no.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is the Honourable Minister aware that some printing machinery and parts thereof meant for India have been lying at the port of Karachi for the last several months and have not yet been released?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I will make enquiries about that.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Have any such complaints reached the Honourable Minister, that many other consignments meant for India are still lying there and are not permitted either to be diverted to Bombay or to be sent by rail?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The answer to all the complaints generally is that whatever was supplied to India through Karachi will not be allowed to be interfered with.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Will the Honourable Minister please tell the House whether any machinery has been instituted to whom complaints can be made in regard to grievances which are to be taken up for discussion with the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The machinery is to negotiate through the Indian High Commissioner at Karachi.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: I think I have not been understood. Has the Government got any machinery existing to which these people can take their complaints?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The complaints can be addressed to the Commerce Department.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know what is to happen to goods which were originally imported by traders in Pakistan who have come over to India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Goods imported by merchants in Pakistan meant for consumption in Pakistan will remain there.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: The merchants have come over here, but the goods are lying in the Karachi port. Is the Government of India going to take charge of those goods?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I doubt whether the Government of India can come in validly in that connection.

INTER-TERRITORIAL ORGANISATION FOR THE BRITISH EAST AFRICAN COLONIES.

†625. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state in what respects the revised proposals of the British Government for the creation of an Inter-Territorial Organisation for the British East African Colonies differ from their original proposals and how they affect the interests of Indians in these Colonies?

(b) Have Government asked for a modification of these proposals in order to protect Indian interests?

(c) If so, what reply have Government received from the British Government?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) The revised proposals of 1947 differ from the original 1945 proposals mainly in two respects:—

(1) As against the two Indians who under the earlier proposals were to be elected to the Central Legislature, under the revised proposals one is to be appointed by the officer administering each territory. Thus, so far as the representation of communities is concerned the principle of nomination has been substituted for the principle of election and the number of elected Indians has been reduced from two to one.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(2) Under the original proposals Indians were given equality of representation with Europeans and Africans on the unofficial side. The revised proposals do not guarantee such equality of racial representation. Under these proposals the non-official members of the Legislative Council of each of the territories concerned, voting as a whole, are to elect one member from among themselves. Except in Uganda where an Indian or an African may be elected under this arrangement, it is likely to result in the election of two European non-officials from the other territories.

(b) Yes.

(c) No reply has been received so far

EMPLOYMENT OF INDIANS IN THE UNITED NATIONS SECRETARIAT.

†626. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the number of higher posts in the United Nations Secretariat and how many of them are held by Indians, Americans, and Britishers?

(b) How many applications of Indian candidates have been forwarded to the Secretary-General, United Nations Organization, by the Federal Public Service Commission?

(c) Did the Commission scrutinize these applications and forward the applications of the approved candidates only?

(d) How many of the applicants have so far been employed in the United Nations Secretariat?

(e) Do Government propose to see that the employment of Indians in the United Nations Secretariat is commensurate with the position which India occupies in the United Nations?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) There are in all 269 higher posts carrying a salary of more than $7,450 per annum in the United Nations Secretariat and their offices abroad. Of these 7 posts are held by Indians, 68 by United States nationals and 38 by British nationals.

(b) 715.

(c) Yes.

(d) 18 Indians are at present in the employ of the United Nations Secretariat and their offices abroad.

(e) I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to the reply given by me on the 21st November to starred question No. 219, asked by Shri B. A. Mandloi. The Government of India are endeavouring to secure the adequate representation of Indians in the United Nations Secretariat.

EVACUATION OF HINDUS AND SIKHS FROM PAKISTAN.

627. *Giani Gurmukhsingh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state:

(a) the number of Hindus and Sikhs evacuated from Pakistan;

(b) the number of Hindus and Sikhs yet to be evacuated from Pakistan;

(c) the number of evacuees who have been provided with residential accommodation in different provinces of India;

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(d) the number of evacuees living in different refugee camps;

(e) the number of evacuees absorbed in Government service and in private service through official agencies;

(f) the number of evacuees who have been provided with loan for starting business; and

(g) the total amount of loan advanced to such evacuees?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar:—(a) The total number of Hindus and Sikhs evacuated by the Military Evacuation Organisation from the West Punjab and N.W.F.P. between 4th September and 30th November 1947 was 26,03,061. This figure includes persons evacuated by air. About 2,74,000 Hindus and Sikhs were evacuated from Sind upto 16th November, 1947. No figures for Baluchistan and East Bengal are available.

(b) The number of Hindus and Sikhs to be evacuated from evacuee camps West Punjab was 40,000 on 27th November 1947. The number of persons in pickets has been variously estimated at figures ranging from 50,000 to one lakh. In regard to the number of abducted and forcibly converted persons, no reliable estimate is possible. The number of persons still to be evacuated from N.W.F.P. is about 48,000. The number of persons who want to be evacuated from other parts of Pakistan is not known.

(c) No definite figures are yet available.

(d) This information is being collected and will be laid on the table in due course.

(e) The Honourable Member is referred to the answer to clause (b) of Starred Question No. 249 on the 21st November, 1947.

(f) and (g) Nil. A scheme for advancing loans for setting up business is to come into operation shortly.

Shri H. V. Kamath: On what basis have these refugees been distributed among the different Provinces of India?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: We have received offers to take over a definite number of refugees from certain Provinces and States. In accepting those offers we are making arrangements to distribute some of the refugees in East Punjab to those Provinces and States.

Seth Govinddas: Have the Government of India written to the different Provinces asking them whether they would be able to take so many refugees in the different Provinces?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: The Government of India wrote to the different Provinces and States for information as to how many refugees each of them could take.

EVACUEES PROPERTY IN PAKISTAN.

628. *Giani Gurmukhsingh Musafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state the principle, policy and the mode of determining the claims of evacuees in respect of their property destroyed or left in Pakistan, and the sources from which the Government propose to meet the claims?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: The Honourable Member is referred to the answer to clause (e) of Starred Question No. 23, on the 18th November, 1947.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Have Government any approximate estimate of the value of property left behind by these refugees?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid not even an approximate estimate is possible yet.

1284

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [5TH DEC. 1947]

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Have any claims been received and, if so, what is the total value of the claims?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: Claims are being received and registered.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I know what machinery the Honourable Member is proposing for the purposes of registering these claims?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: A machinery has been set up under the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation for the purpose of receiving and registering claims.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask whether the Honourable Member is aware that if the present personnel of the machinery remains what it is it will take 18 years to register all the claims?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid that as I am not in personal touch with that machinery I cannot concur in the opinion expressed by my Honourable friend.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Is the Honourable Member aware of the recommendations made by the Advisory Committee in this respect?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid I am personally not in a position to answer that question.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I ask whether the Government of India will instruct the Indian High Commissioners in Karachi and Lahore to maintain a register to receive complaints and keep an inventory of the property lost by the refugees?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: Most of the people have come away from Pakistan and I am afraid the High Commissioner will not be a suitable machinery for this purpose.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Does the Government know that those persons who have come away are not permitted to go back and work their factories by the Pakistan Government even if they are prepared to go there?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I am afraid, Sir, the fact that persons are not going there and working their factories is due as much to their own disinclination to go there as to any things that the Pakistan Government has done. I do not think as a Government they have done anything which prohibits these people from going there and working their factories.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Can the Government give an assurance that anybody who is prepared to go and work his factory will be permitted by the Pakistan Government to work it?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I think the Pakistan Government said they do want these people to come and work their factories.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: On the same terms or on new terms?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: That is a matter about which I cannot give a definite answer.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Is the Government aware that the terms offered are the Pakistan Government will take the plant and work it themselves, and offer an insignificant amount by way of lease money only?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: That is only in the absence of the evacuees who have gone away from Pakistan.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is Government satisfied with the assurance given by the Pakistan Government in respect of refugees who wish to go back and start work there?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I think, Sir, it will be necessary for this Government to get from the other Government assurances which will give more confidence to refugees who have come over here for the purpose of going back and looking after their factories.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Are this Government taking steps to get the kind of assurance that is needed?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: We are taking steps and this is one of the matters which shall take up in the Inter Dominion Conference which will soon take place.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Is it not a fact that the Government of Pakistan has failed to give protection to such of the persons who were carrying on business in Pakistan and had to leave Lahore and other places for want of protection?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: It has happened in some cases that protection was not available to the extent that was necessary for our people going there.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Will the Government make negotiation with the Pakistan Government that those persons who want to remove their factories from Pakistan to India should be given facilities for doing so?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: That is one of the matters which we shall discuss with the Pakistan Government.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Have Government considered the desirability of taking over property left behind, moveable and immoveable, in Pakistan by the refugees, evaluate that property, similarly vice versa, and have debit and credit entries so far as the respective properties are concerned?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: That matter is one for negotiation between the two Governments.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: May I know, Sir, whether I am right in thinking that all the double negatives and the cautious positives given by the Honourable Minister are tantamount to a wholesale negative of all the questions?

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: I do not think so.

AUCTION OF EVACUEES PROPERTY IN PAKISTAN.

629. Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to a letter under the Caption "Auction of Evacuees Property in Pakistan", published in the Hindustan Times, dated the 20th November, 1947, in which it was disclosed that the standing crop of an evacuee worth some Rs. 30,000 was auctioned to a neighbouring landlord for Rs. 900 only?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to make necessary enquiry into the case through their High Commissioner and in case the alleged report is found to be correct, to take steps to bring pressure on the Government of Pakistan to stop such auction in the interest of both the countries, and particularly in the interest of the evacuees of both the Communities?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes. An enquiry has already been made, and further action will depend on the result of the enquiry.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is the Honourable Prime Minister aware that big bungalows and big business premises left behind by the refugees are being rented at very ridiculously low rents in the Pakistan area? Bungalows getting Rs. 500 as rent per mensem are being rented at Rs. 50 or Rs. 20 in Lahore particularly.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I have no figures in my possession, but I am prepared to take the Honourable Member's information to be correct in some cases.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: And likewise, Sir, a chemist's shop worth Rs. 1 lakh has been sold out for Rs. 1,000.

No reply given.

SEARCHES OF REFUGEES.

The Honourable Shri N. Gopalaswami Ayyangar: The Honourable Member is Starred question No. 57 on the 18th November, 1947 will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether, in view of the continued searches of refugees from the West Punjab, Government propose to consider the advisability of taking suitable retaliatory action?

The Honourable Shri Gopalaswami Ayyangar: The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clause (c) of Starred Question No. 57 on the 18th November, 1947. The position in regard to searches has improved in West Punjab and Government do not consider that any retaliatory action is called for.

WELFARE OF BACKWARD CLASSES.

†631. Shri P. Kakkan: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the Government of India have taken any steps to open a department for the welfare of those sections of the community who are backward in education, health, and in economic and social conditions?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: No steps have thus far been taken to open such a department which will inevitably overlap with existing departments and thus probably lead to some confusion. It is however the declared policy of Government to advance in every way the backward sections of the community in education, health and in economic and social status.

PROTECTION AND SUBSIDY TO INDUSTRIES.

632. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

- when Government expect to formulate their policy in regard to the offer of protection, subvention or subsidy to industries;
- whether Government propose to appoint any committee to advise them in this regard before they take final decisions;
- if so, whether representatives of rural people, peasants and workers will also be consulted;
- whether Government propose to appoint a permanent Tariff Board;
- the period for which the present Tariff Board is appointed and its term of reference; and
- whether any Cabinet Sub-Committee has considered these terms of reference?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Government have already announced their policy with regard to claims from industries, which have been started or developed in wartime, to assistance or protection during the transition period in the late Department of Commerce Resolution published on the 3rd November 1945, a copy of which will be found in the Library.

(b) and (c). Does not arise.

(d) The question of appointing a permanent Tariff Board will no doubt be taken up for consideration when economic conditions in India and in foreign countries return to some degree of normalcy.

(e) The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the Ministry of Commerce Resolution dated 26th November 1947, a copy of which will be found in the Library.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(f) While it would not be proper for me to disclose details of Cabinet procedure, I may assure the Honourable Member that this Resolution issued with the full authority of the Government of India.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: But, Sir, will Government take care to see that before they give effect to any of the recommendations of the Tariff Board in regard to giving any assistance or protection to any one particular industry, the representative organizations of rural people, peasants and other people who are likely to be affected by such protection or assistance are also taken into consultation?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: During the enquiry by the Tariff Board it is open to all rural organizations or urban organizations to present their respective points of view.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: But my point is this. In view of the fact that Government first of all refer a particular question to the Tariff Board and then give their consideration to the report of the Tariff Board, before they actually decide upon their own policy, will Government consider the advisability of consulting these organizations at that stage before they actually take their decisions in regard to the recommendations of the Tariff Board?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The stage for consultation is not the one visualized by my honourable friend. Before the Tariff Board comes to any conclusion, it is up to such organizations, as I said, to put their respective points of view. When the Tariff Board makes certain recommendations, those recommendations are taken into consideration by the Government and such other matters which Government thinks relevant to be taken into consideration.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Arising out of the answer to part (d) of the question, when do the Government envisage the return to normalcy of conditions in India and abroad?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: As soon as normal conditions prevail.

Shri H. V. Kamath: When do the Government anticipate a return to normal conditions?

Mr. Speaker: The question is very vague. It ought to be more specific.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the broadcast appeal made by the President of the Tariff Board to all industrialists to send in their applications for assistance or protection?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Yes, Sir.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact, Sir, that it is not the function of the President of the Tariff Board or of the Tariff Board to send out broadcast appeals like that, but rather to wait for these appeals for State assistance to go to them and then look into whether any particular appeal made is justifiable or not?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Probably the President did it on account of his great consideration for economy of time and stationery.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know whether this Tariff Board is also to perform the functions of the late lamented Commodity Prices Board?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: To some extent it is true, Sir.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: May I ask, Sir, arising out of the Honourable Minister's answer to part (e) of the question, whether it is difficult for him to give a fuller answer about the period for which the present Tariff Board is appointed?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is given in the resolution itself.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What is the position of the Tariff Board? Is it to decide whether any particular industry deserves any protection to be given by the State or is it to be manned by industrialists themselves and to have the power to decide what protection is to be given to themselves and their industries?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The industries are expected to present their cases before the Tariff Board. The Tariff Board, after having made proper enquiry and taken all relevant considerations into consideration, makes recommendations and it is for the Government to consider what, if any, recommendations should be implemented.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: How many of the Members of the Tariff Board had themselves been industrialists and capitalists?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is very difficult to define who is an "industrialist", but as far as I am able to say, the Chairman is an employee of a big industrialist.

Shri Khandubhai K. Desai: Is not the Tariff Board a standing invitation to the industrialists to be as inefficient as possible?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I do not concur with that view, Sir.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: What policy have the Government formulated in regard to cottage industries?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I think the general policy of the Government is to encourage cottage industries as far as possible.

Shri H. V. Kamath: The Honourable the Minister for Commerce said that it was difficult to define an industrialist, and in the same breath he mentioned "big industrialist". May I know what he means by a "big industrialist"?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I think the Honourable Member understands it pretty well.

Shri H. V. Kamath: I do not understand that, Sir, and I seek enlightenment.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is not such a thing which can be understood in a couple of minutes.

Seth Govinddas: Sir, in view of the fact that the questions for the day are exhausted and that there are certain questions standing* in the name of Pandit Hriday Nath Kanuru which are important, will you kindly allow me to put those questions on his behalf?

Mr. Speaker: Has he given any authority for it?

Seth Govinddas: No Sir.

Mr. Speaker: I am sorry.

REPORT OF THE INDIAN GOVERNMENT DELEGATES TO 29TH SESSION OF INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE, MONTREAL.

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram (Minister for Labour): Sir, I beg to lay on the table a copy of the † Report of the Delegates of the Government of India to the twenty-ninth Session of the International Labour Conference held at Montreal.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know, Sir, if copies of this Report will be supplied to Members if they want it?

Mr. Speaker: Yes, copies will be circulated to Members.

CONVENTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED AT 28TH SESSION OF INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE, SEATTLE

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I beg to lay on the table a copy of the † Conventions and Recommendations adopted by the International Labour Conference at its twenty-eighth session held at Seattle in June 1946 in accordance with paragraph 5 of Article 19 of the Constitution of the International Labour Organisation.

*Printed serially in these Debates.—Ed. of D.

†Not printed in these Debates. A copy placed in the Library of the House.—Ed. of D.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will a copy of this also be made available to Members, Sir?

Mr. Speaker: No.

GENERAL BUDGET—LIST OF DEMANDS—contd. SECOND STAGE—contd.

DEMAND NO. 29.—MINISTRY OF INDUSTRY AND SUPPLY—contd.

Removal of controls over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food

Mr. Speaker: Yesterday the House was discussing Demand No. 29, and the Cut Motion by Shri Mohan Lal Saksena "to discuss the desirability of removing control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food".

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C.P. and Berar: General): Sir, I rise to support the motion moved by my Honourable Friend Mr. Saksena. I am a firm believer in control, but notwithstanding that, I am supporting this motion for reasons which I shall presently mention.

Sir, it is stated that control is a curse; but I feel that control as a principle is a necessity and has at times proved a blessing. But the policy as well as the machinery of control is very defective and for that reason it has become very unpopular.

Sir, control was introduced in various foreign countries and became very popular, particularly during the War. When the War started in 1939, the Government of Britain immediately introduced control on almost all the essential commodities; at the same time its distributive machinery and administrative machinery was absolutely perfect with the result that the people of that country had very little to complain about the availability of commodities at the prices actually fixed for them.

In India control came as late as about 1941 after the people have clamoured again and again that they have not been getting the commodities to which they were entitled and that whichever commodities were available, were at very fabulous prices. At that time, Sir, several representations were made by the representatives of the consumers and of the people to the Provincial Governments but the British administrators were not prepared to introduce control in India, simply because they knew that if controls were introduced, the commodities which they required for war purposes will not be available as a major quantity of those commodities will be consumed by the people of India.

That, originally, was their main idea in refusing to introduce control. But when there was a great clamour and it was seen that certain essential articles were not available, they were compelled to introduce control. They introduced controls half-heartedly and they fixed prices. But for administrative purposes, instead of creating special department with men who knew something about distribution of the various essential commodities required by the consumer for his daily needs, they entrusted the work to the Collector of the District in addition to his work of collecting revenue. Sir, most of the Collectors did not know really what control was and how it could be made successful, with the result that things went on dragging notwithstanding the clamour from [Mr. R. K. Sidhwa] the people to put matters right. This legacy of unpopular controls is one introduced by the previous Government and handed over to the present popular Government.

Now, Sir, I must say one thing. Notwithstanding this defective system of controls and the non-availability of essential articles in the market, the people who wanted to get these articles were able to get them from the black-market at its own price, at a much higher price. Who used to buy them from the black-market? The people who could afford to pay high prices—not the average person, not the man in service, the employee, the labourer or the lower class. It was the lower class people who could not afford to pay for them in the black-market.

So, these Ration Shops have been useful to a very great extent. I can tell you, Sir, from experience that notwithstanding the difficulty and hardships the consumers had to suffer in standing in queues for a number of hours, these people had the satisfaction that they got some kind of share or quota to which they were entitled.

Now, Sir, that is the position of the control system. But control has brought with it corruption because, as I said, the indifference shown by the Department helped the interests of many of the traders and manufacturers with the result that this corruption spread from one part to the other. Let me tell you, Sir, black-marketing is not confined to the big industrialist or the big man alone, I have seen even the lower people—small shopkeepers—also indulge in this evil. These people feel that there is no other alternative for them to make money and even they followed the principle which the big had adopted.

Now, Sir, why do we ask for de-control today? The Honourable the Finance Minister, in winding up the Debate on the Budget stated that we "all admit that the machinery of controls has failed and that Government are not able to improve it. Then why have it?" Well, Sir, that was not a reasonable answer; the popular Government should have made every effort to improve it. No doubt they are engrossed in many other things; probably their attention may not have been diverted to that extent which is required, but surely the popular Government should have taken into confidence persons who are interested in this matter and tried to find out some ways and means to improve this machinery of controls. But when the Finance Minister says that it was not possible; therefore, it was desirable to remove it, we have no other alternative but to maintain the name of the popular Government by letting the control go, and as far as I am concerned, I only want the control of the cloth to go. I am not discussing food control at present; when the matter comes before the House, I shall give my views on it. But why I am in favour of removal of cloth control is this. The industrialists who are manufacturing this cloth have been responsible for hoarding the cloth and selling it in the black-market at very high price. Notwithstanding so many facts that were brought to their notice, I remember a very big textile industrialist in Nagpur who exposed his own colleagues that thousands of bales were lying in the various industrial godowns. They were not prepared to release them and that resulted in corruption and non-availability of cloth to the consumers.

I know, Sir, hundreds of families who have not received their ordinary quota for the last 18 months, not because they did not want the cloth but because they were told that the cloth was not available. They wanted the cloth, they went to the ration shops and waited in the queues, but they were told that cloth was not available, although the cloth was there. It was sold somewhere else. That is the all-round position.

Sir, the system prevailing in some Provinces is that these licences are confined to particular dealers. The bona fide traders who were actually doing this kind of business are not given licences for reasons best known to the Provincial Governments, with the result that they are restricted to the consumer to obtain his cloth requirements from a particular shop where they have registered their card. If it had been open to get the cloth from any dealer, the difficulty would not have arisen.

Sir, when I discussed this question with the then Honourable Minister in charge of Industries and Supplies about four months ago, I gave him a scheme for the complete revolutionisation of the present one. The Textile Commissioner's office in Bombay is a scandal. The very foundation of that office requires to be thoroughly reorganised. It might take time, about three to four months, to re-organise the cloth control, so that it could be kept intact for the benefit of the consumers for whom it was meant. But the Honourable Minister then told me that he was looking into the matter and will come to some decision. After two months, I again saw him and he said Government had practically come to the decision and will make an announcement that there should be de-control. When I went from Delhi, I read in the paper a week afterwards that the Government were not prepared to de-control. That is the position.

I quite appreciate, Sir, the difficulty under which the Ministers may be working. I understand they are going to bring about an increase in production. I do not know whether the industrialists will help them or not. The Honourable the Finance Minister while winding up the debate on the Budget made an appeal to the industrialists to co-operate with this popular Government, when he raises any loan. Why not these industrialists help the Government in cloth control also? They have made huge profits. They can co-operate with the Government by increasing production without any legislation and see that the control automatically goes away and the people are satisfied. But, no, Sir, If they have made Rs. 5 crores; they want to make Rs. 10 crores. Their greed has no limit. However you may tax them they are very competent and clever to dodge it. Just as they are dodging Government in taxes, so they are dodging Government in this control system. In the Bombay market, in the Karachi market, ready-made clothes in bales used to be imported. Where did this come from? Imported cloth was not available then and ready-made cloth was not controlled. See the fancy of it, Sir. The system was so defective that hundreds of thousands of bales from the Industries Department went out by this backdoor method, and were sold in the black market and the clothes were made and were sold at fancy price in the form of shirts, pyjamas, pants, jackets, trousers and so on. Is there then any surprise that there should be scarcity of cloth? Therefore, Sir, I am supporting this cut-motion, because it is the first measure for de-controlling cloth where risk can be taken. Govt. in my opinion, Sir, should de-control cloth instead of seriously contemplating de-control of food which in my opinion if not properly handled will bring disaster to the consumers. I am talking of small class of people. I am particularly concerned with the urban areas. I asked the Honourable Minister yesterday as to what was the policy of the Government, whether they were going to de-control. He told me that the matter will be considered when the cut-motion came up. I again put him a question, whether it would not be advisable to let us know in advance, so that it may facilitate us in the discussion of the question. He said, "Control will be removed as soon as possible." The meaning of that is that control is not going to be removed.

Now, Sir, I do not know the policy of this Government as to when the control is to be removed and whether start will be made with articles which will be less harmful to the consumer, I know, Sir, that prices will shoot up if control is removed. I do not doubt it. I know what happened to sugar. My friend Pandit Sharma said the price had shot up from Rs. 21 to Rs. 50. The Secretary of the Sugar Syndicate says it is not Rs. 50 but 35 and that they are going to keep it at 35. Now from 21 to 35 is 60 per cent. more.

[Mr. R. K. Sidhwa]

I will finish just now, Sir. I am sure the prices will go up. I am also sure that probably the cloth may not be available, but I do not mind it. I do not mind because people are not going to starve, if cloth is not available. People have remained without cloth for a number of years, and they can pull on without it for some time more. Therefore to retain the good name of this Government, I for one am supporting this cut-motion that the control should go. Let the Government also have an experience as to whether it is going to be successful or not. From this point of view, and believing firmly in the continuance of the control until we have supplies available, I am supporting this motion for the reason that I have stated, not because this motion is brought today—I have been clamouring for it since 1946—but because the Textile Department requires radical improvement.

Dr. N. B. Khare (Alwar State): Sir, I also rise to support this cut-motion for de-control, merely because, Sir, things have now come to this pass. When one begins to talk of control, it is impossible to control oneself. Sir, it is the fashion nowadays to attribute everything to the Government that has gone behind. Everything is supposed to be a legacy left by the past Government. Of course that may be correct in some respects, but it is not correct in all respects; it cannot be taken as an axiom. I can make a positive statement that the whole business of control has become much worse than what it was during the regime of the past Government. You may question me and say: "You have no right". I will say I have also a right to give my opinion. You cannot restrain me. The reason is patent enough and that is that the past Government or its machinery were not in such close and intimate association with the mercantile community, as the present Government or its machinery is, and the present Government are functioning democratically with a vengeance. Almost all Congressmen are somehow or other in touch with these matters. I am not alone in saying this, I have got the support of a Congress Minister in Bihar who recited in the Legislature of that province a long list of names of top-ranking congressmen as racketeers in control matters. I challenge anybody to deny that statement.

Sir, I support this motion, not because control is still not needed, but because the management of this control is an evil and I firmly think, Sir, that we shall be much better off without control than with control as is being managed under present conditions.

I am questioned; I am attacked; I am criticised; I am ridiculed and I am insulted, I bear all that; it is an ordinary thing in democracy. But I cannot comprehend when people say that my speech is not understood. At the same time, Sir, I feel flattered with the very touching reference to my speech that was made yesterday by no less a person than the Honourable the Prime Minister and I really cannot understand if anybody does not understand my speeches. It is only a question of average intelligence and nothing else. It was said that my criticism was inconsequential; I admit it is inconsequential, but at the same time I am doubly grateful that my right to criticise is conceded in a most generous spirit. My criticisms are inconsequential, not because they have got no sense but because there are serried ranks of mechanized voting automata to vote them down, I mean those who have pawned their conscience and commonsense. I have nothing more to say.

चौधरी रनवीर सिंह : माननीय स्पीकर साहब, मैं कटौती के प्रस्ताव का कपड़े आदि पर से कन्ट्रोल हटाने के प्रश्न पर विचार करने के लिये समर्थन करने के लिये खड़ा हुआ हूँ—हालांकि मैं किसान हूँ और मैं खूब अच्छी तरह से समझता हूँ कि अगर अनाज पर कन्ट्रोल रखा जाय और दूसरी चीजों पर से कन्ट्रोल हटा दिया जायगा तो उससे किसानों के आर्थिक हितों को कुछ न कुछ अवश्य धक्का पहुंचेगा।

मैं इस प्रस्ताव का समर्थन जैसा कि सिधवा साहब ने शहरियों के दृष्टिकोण को सामने रखकर किया है मैं उस तरह से इसका समर्थन नहीं करूंगा। क्योंकि मैं समझता हूँ और ठीक प्रकार से समझता हूँ कि यह भारत देश किसानों का देश है, शहरियों का देश नहीं है, अतः इस देश की पोलिसी निश्चित करने में केवल ९५ फी सदी शहरियों का हित ही सामने नहीं होना चाहिये, बल्कि ८५ फी सदी देश के दहातियों और किसानों का हित ही प्रभुत्व में रखना चाहिये, मैं तो केवल किसानों के नुस्तेनिगाह से इसका समर्थन करने के लिए खड़ा हुआ हूँ।

मैं कपड़े के बारे में पंजाब के किसानों का जिक्र करता हूँ। पंजाब के किसान के सर पर एक पगड़ी होती है और शरीर में एक कुर्ता और नीचे एक धोती होती है, धोती हमारे यहां आमतौर से १० गज की तथा पगड़ी करीब ५ या ६ गज की पढ़ती जाती है और कुर्ता में कम से कम ३ गज या ३½ गज वस्त्र जरूर लग जाता है, इस तरह से हर किसान को वर्ष में करीब १८ गज कपड़े की जरूरत होती है परम् मिलता केवल १२ गज है अतः होता क्या है, उसका उदाहरण केवल धोती के सवन्ध में ही मैं अपने गांव की मिसाल देकर बतलाऊंगा मेरे गांव में तीन चार और गांवों का भी कपड़ा आता है मेरे ग्राम की आबादी ५ हजार है और उसके आस पास वाले ग्रामों की आबादी भी तकरीबन ५ हजार की है... इस तरह से सब गांवों की आबादी १० हजार बन जाती है और उनके लिए कम से कम १० हजार धोती के जोड़े वहां आने चाहियें लेकिन वहां त्रिमासिक कोटा (quota) में केवल २५० धोती के जोड़े पहुंचे हैं। १० हजार आदमियों के कम से कम २ हजार कुन्वे होते हैं और उन १० हजार आदमियों के हिस्से में, इन २ धोतियों में से मुश्किल से ४० आदमियों के हिस्से में एक धोती का जोड़ा आता है पिछले साल वहां चार बार कोटा आया और मुश्किल से एक कुटुम्ब के हिस्से में एक जोड़ा धोती का आया होगा, और इस वर्ष तो शायद उनको एक धोती का जोड़ा भी हिस्से में न आये, अतः उनको चोर बाजार से भी वस्त्र हासिल करने पड़ते हैं, और गांव वालों को चोर बाजार से एक धोती जोड़े के लिये १० रुपया १२ रुपया और २० रुपया तक देना पड़ता है। जबकि एक धोती जोड़े के दाम केवल ५ रुपया है इसलिये मेरा मत है कि अगर कपड़े को डी-कन्ट्रोल कर (Decontrol) कर भी दिया जाय तो ज्यादा से ज्यादा धोती के लिये १० रुपये से १३ रुपये तक ही देने पड़ेंगे। इसके अलावा एक बात यह है कि कन्ट्रोल होने की वजह से जितना कष्ट हो गया है वह दूर हो जायगा। जातीय तर्जुमा है कि किसानों को विवाह आदि के लिये कपड़ा

[चौधरी रनबीर सिंह]

लेने के लिये डिस्ट्रिक्ट हेडक्वार्टर (District Head quarter) में जाना पड़ता है और वहां अफसरों की खुशामद करनी पड़ती है और उनको आने जाने में काफी खर्च करना पड़ता है। अगर इन खर्चों से जितना वे आने जाने में करते हैं अगर चोर बाज़ार से कपड़ा खरीदे तो उनको सस्ता पड़ेगा। और इन दिक्कतों का सामना भी नहीं करना पड़ेगा। इन सब मुश्किलों को सामने रखते हुए मैं यह प्रार्थना करता हूँ कि कपड़े से कंट्रोल हटा दिया जाये। लेकिन इसके साथ ही साथ मुझे यह भी विश्वास है कि सरकार हिन्दुस्तान के किसानों के हितों का भी ज़रूर खयाल रखेगी।

मैं यह भी आशा करता हूँ कि इस ३ महीने के बाद जब तक गले का नया स्टाक आया तो इसका भी तज़ुर्बा हो जायेगा। आया डी-कंट्रोल (Decontrol) का तज़ुर्बा कामयाब होता है कि नहीं और कामयाब होता है तो गवर्नमेंट गले को भी डी-कंट्रोल (Decontrol) कर देगी।

इससे ज्यादा न कहता हुआ और एक बार फिर इस प्रस्ताव का समर्थन करता हूँ और साथ ही साथ सरकार से यह अपील करता हूँ कि सिधवा साहब ने जिस तरह से शहर वालों के मुफ़ाद के बारे में कहा है उसी तरह से सरकार को गांव वालों के हितों का भी पूरा ध्यान रखने की प्रार्थना करते हुए स्थान ग्रहण करता हूँ।

(English translation of the above speech)

Chandhri Ranbir Singh (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support the cut motion moved to discuss the desirability of removing control over cloth, etc. Although I am an agriculturist and can very well realise that if foodgrains are controlled and other commodities decontrolled, it would surely produce some repercussion in the economic interests of the agriculturists.

I will not support this motion in the same manner as Mr. Sidhwa has done it by keeping in view the angle of vision of the urbanites, because I understand it and have correctly understood it that India is the land of agriculturists, and not of the inhabitants of towns. Therefore, in determining the policy of this country, we should not keep in view the interests of only 15 per cent of the people living in the cities, but should also appraise the supremacy of the rights of 85 per cent of those in this land who are living in rural areas and are agriculturists. I rose to support this from the point of view of agriculturists only.

As regards cloth, I mention the case of the Punjab agriculturists. The dress of the Punjab farmer comprises of one pugree (turban) on his head, one kurta (shirt) and one dhoti worn round the loin. Generally we wear Dhoties and Pagries (turbans) measuring about 10 yards and 5 or 6 yards respectively and at least three or $3\frac{1}{2}$ yard of cloth is required for making the shirt (kurta). In this way, every farmer requires about 18 yards of cloth annually, but actually he gets 12 yards. Then what happens? I will explain this by quoting an example from my own village which pertains to the use of 'dhoti'. My village also gets the cloth quota of other three or four villages. The population of my village is 5 thousand and that of the neighbouring villages also is approximately five thousand. So, the population of all these villages comes to ten thousand, and at least ten thousand pairs of dhoties should be supplied for the use of the villagers. But in the quarterly quota only 250 dhoties have been received. Ten thousand people have at least 200 families. And out of these dhoties hardly one pair of a dhoti falls to the lot of 40 men out of the quota for ten thousand people. Last year the quota was received there frequently, and hardly one pair of dhoti would have fallen to the share of each family. And it is possible that this year they may not be able to get even one pair of dhoti. Therefore, they are forced to buy cloth from the black-market also. The villagers are thus made to pay ten to twelve rupees and even to the extent of rupees twenty for buying one pair of dhoti from the black-market—when the control rate for one dhoti is Rs. 5. Therefore, my belief is that even if cloth is decontrolled, then it would cost Rs. 10 to 15 at the most to purchase a dhoti.

Besides this, there is another point and that is that all the difficulties which have arisen on account of operation of the control would disappear. It is my personal experience that the villagers have got to go to the District Head-quarters to obtain cloth for marriage and other purposes and there they have to flatter the officers and this journeying involves ample expenditure also. If they purchase the cloth from black-market with these expenses which they have to incur in travelling, it would cost them less and moreover they will not also have to face these hardships. Keeping in view all these difficulties, I would request that the control on cloth should be removed. But all the same I have a belief that this Government will surely look into the interests of agriculturists in India.

I further hope that after the expiry of these three months when the fresh stock of foodgrains arrives, we will have experience in this aspect as well. Whether this experiment of decontrol is successful or not, and if it is successful, then the Government will decontrol the foodgrains also.

Without saying anything further, I once again support this motion and also appeal to the Government that it should devote equal attention towards the welfare of the people living in the rural areas just as Mr. Sidhwa has spoken about the interests of those living in the urban area.

With these words, I resume my seat.

Sir Padampat Singhanian (U.P.: General): Sir, ordinarily I would have no desire to speak on this subject of decontrol but since I am in this House and many things have been said which have no relation to facts, I think I must say something so that people may take a more realistic view as regards the improvement of production and the method of control in this country. Before dealing with the subject of this cut motion I should like with your permission to make a few general remarks on the Budget.

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid a general discussion will not be permissible but the Honourable Member may cover a part of it as a background on which to make his remarks on the present motion.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Sir, we want to hear something about controls from the Honourable Member who is one of the largest industrialists of this country.

Mr. Speaker: I am not much concerned as to who is who; I am only concerned with the relevancy of the speech.

Sir Padampat Singhanian: Sir, after 1944-45 when this country was in great need of industrialisation there was much enthusiasm in the country about it; but the difficulty in the last 25 or 30 years has been that people have been inclined more towards moneylending than towards industrialisation. But after this war people have become very industrially minded. Very often I have had opportunities of meeting people from other countries like England and America, and their opinion was that there is great enthusiasm here for industrialisation and if this is put into effect India will become industrially self-sufficient. Then after the Grady Mission and some other Missions our Government has come into power and there was a Coalition Government with the Congress and the Muslim League members in the Cabinet. At that time it

حکومت کو اور بھی فائدہ ہوگا۔ یہ جو باتیں ہیں یہ ایسی ہیں کہ جنگو آدمی سمجھ نہیں سکتا کہ ایسا کیوں ہو رہا ہے۔ ہمارے دیش میں پانچ ہزار میل کا Surface سمندر کا ہے۔ جہاں سے کافی نمک پیدا ہو سکتا ہے۔ اور اس کے علاوہ بہت سی جگہوں میں نمک زمین کے اندر بھی ہے اور اس وجہ سے اس زمین میں کوئی پیداوار نہیں ہوتی ہے۔ ایک طرف تو یہ حالت ہے۔ لیکن دوسری طرف یہ حالت ہے کہ یو۔ پی میں تین روپیہ سیر نمک اور دھلی میں ایک روپیہ سیر نمک بلیک مارکیٹ میں بکتا ہے۔ یہ بہت ہی تعجب کی بات ہے اور آدمی حیران ہو جاتا ہے کہ جب اس قدر نمک پیدا کیا جاسکتا ہے۔ تو نمک پر کیوں کنٹرول کیا گیا ہے۔ مجھے فارسی کا ایک مسئلہ اس بارے میں یاد آتا ہے۔ وہ یہ ہے ہر چہ در کان نمک رفت نمک شد۔ جو کہ نمک کی کان میں گیا نمک ہو گیا۔ کیا جو آدمی بیروکرپسی کی جگہ پر چلا جاتا ہے وہ بھی بیروکرپٹک ہو جاتا ہے نمک جیسے ضروری اور سستی چیز کا انتظام نہونے کے معنی یہ ہیں کہ authorities want of imagination ہے مجھے بہت افسوس سے کہنا پڑتا ہے کہ ان لوگوں نے جنکے ہاتھ میں ہماری قسمت ہے ہماری مشکلات کو محسوس نہیں کیا ہے۔ اور یہ لوگوں کی تکلیف کو زیر نظر نہیں لاتے ہیں

مجھے یہ دیکھ کر بہت دکھ ہوتا ہے کہ اس ملک میں لوگوں کو نمک کی تکلیف ہے۔ میں یہ جانتا ہوں کہ transport کی difficulties ضرور تھیں۔ لیکن اس بات کا allowance دیکر بھی مجھے یہ بات دکھ کے ساتھ کہانی پڑتی ہے کہ کیا جو ستیہ گڑہ گاندھی جی نے اس بارے میں کیا تھا وہ سہل نہیں ہوا ہے کیا ہندوستانیوں کو نمک بنانے کا اختیار نہیں ہے؟ production کو کیوں control کیا گیا ہے؟ نمک کر کنٹرول میں لانے کے لئے اور ہندوستانیوں کو نمک کے بنانے کا اختیار نہ دینے میں حکومت کے پاس کوئی جوازیت نہیں ہے۔

یہاں سے ۵۰ میل دور ایک جگہ فرخنگر ضلع گورگاؤں میں ہے وہاں پر نمک بنانے کی بڑی بڑی Industries تھیں اور وہاں پر کافی نمک پیدا ہوتا تھا

An Hon. Member : Sir, Salt does not come in the subject matter of the motion

پنڈت تھاکر داس بھارگو : اگر میرے دوست دیکھیں انکو معلوم ہوگا کہ اس کٹ موشن میں لکھا ہے۔ Cloth, yarn and commodities other than these

تو جناب: میں عرض کر رہا تھا کہ وہاں فرخنگر میں اتنا صاف اور عمدہ نمک پیدا ہوتا ہے جو اس علاقہ کے دو یا تین کروڑ آدمیوں کے لئے کافی ہو سکتا ہے۔

[پنڈت تھاکر داس بھارگو]

فرماتے ہیں کہ اسکی supply پہلے سے کم ہوگئی ہے۔ اس کے معنی یہ ہیں کہ اسپر کنٹرول آئندہ بھی رائج رہے۔ انہوں نے فرمایا ہے کہ اسکی supply نہیں بڑھ سکتی ہے۔ اور ثابت ہوا ہے کہ کنٹرول سے supply نہیں بڑھی ہے دوسری چیز جو ہمیں معلوم ہے وہ یہ ہے جسے ہندوستان کا ایک اندھا آدمی بھی دیکھ سکتا ہے کہ ہندوستان میں اسقدر corruption بڑھ گیا ہے جسکا ذکر کرنا محال ہے۔ میں یہ عرض کروں گا کہ میں نے اپنی عمر میں کسی محکمہ کو اتنا خراب اور corrupt نہیں سنا ہے جتنا کہ Supply Dept: خراب اور بے ایمان سنا ہے۔ مجھے دھلی کے متعلق خاص علم نہیں ہے۔ لیکن میں جانتا ہوں کہ ہمارے ضلع میں کس قسم کی کارروایاں ہوتی ہیں۔ وہاں پر ایک سول سپلائی آفیسر جس کی تلخواہ پانچ یا چار سو روپیہ ماہوار ہے۔ وہ مہلے میں دس دس ہزار کی آمدنی پیدا کرتا ہے۔ چھوٹے چھوٹے افسران کا کہنا ہی کیا ہے۔ زمینداروں کو کوئی چیز شہر کے ریلے والوں کے قاعدہ کے مطابق میسر نہیں ہوتی ہے۔ جب تک کہ وہ رشوت نہ دیں۔ اس کنٹرول کے یہ نتائج ہیں۔ اگو ہم کسی چیز کو کنٹرول کرنا چاہتے ہیں تو ہمیں چاہئے کہ اسکی Supply کو بڑھا دیں۔ دوسری بات یہ صاف ہے کہ کنٹرول کی وجہ سے Corruption اتنا بڑھ گیا ہے جس نے ہماری life پر بہت خراب اثر ڈال دیا ہے۔ یہ دونوں چیزیں دیکھ کر ہمیں سبق لینا چاہئے اور کنٹرول کو ہٹا دینا چاہئے۔

میں جناب کی خدمت میں کسی خاص غرض سے عرض کرنے کے لئے کھڑا ہوا ہوں۔ اور وہ یہ کہ میں ان چیزوں کے متعلق عرض کرنا چاہتا ہوں جنکی کہ اس ملک میں کسی نہیں ہے۔ ابھی لوگوں کو وہ چیزیں میسر نہیں ہیں مثلاً نمک کے production اور distribution کے متعلق گورنمنٹ کی طرف سے بہت سالوں سے ہر سال اس ہاؤس میں ذکر ہوتا رہا ہے۔ میں یہ سمجھتا تھا کہ آئندہ کے لئے ہاؤس میں اسکا ذکر آنا ضروری نہ ہوگا۔ گاندھی جی کی blessings سے نمک کا ٹیکس غریب ہندوستانیوں سے اٹھ گیا تھا۔ پچھلی دفعہ آنریبل فائنس منسٹر نے کہا تھا کہ نمک کی اب اس ملک میں تکلیف نہیں ہوگی اور لوگوں کو کھانے کے علاوہ Industrial purposes کے لئے بھی نمک بہ آسانی ملا کریگا۔ چماریوں کو skins کے لئے نمک چاہئے اور ماہی گیروں کو مچھلیوں کے لئے نمک کی بہت ضرورت رہتی ہے۔ ان غریبوں کو امید تھی کہ اب ہمیں نمک سستا اور بہ آسانی ملا کریگا۔ لیکن جب اب اسکو راشن میں کر دیا گیا ہے۔ تو اب لوگ یہ کہتے ہیں حکومت کو چاہئے کہ ہوا اور پانی پر بھی ٹیکس لگائے۔ اور اگو اب نمک کا بھی راشن کیا جاتا ہے۔ تو ہوا اور پانی کا بھی راشن کیا جائے۔ اس سے

[Sir Padampat Singhania]

was the desire that it is not the big industrialists but the ordinary middle class men who would bring about the industrialisation of this country. Then came the budget as a result of which that big enthusiasm has been killed. I am very grateful to the Cabinet that instead of waiting for a few months more they have brought this interim budget. It has created a big effect on the market and the middle class people particularly feel that it is not the desire of the Government to kill the enthusiasm of the people but that they will go in for industrialisation. I hope by the time the next budget is brought in they will tell us as to how many companies, out of those registered in this country during the last two or three years, have actually been in a position to promote the industrialisation of this country and how many have not yet been able to get their capital subscribed.

Sir as regards this cut motion various allegations have been made,—viz. that industrialists have no desire to increase production, that production has been smuggled out, that if only the industrialists would co-operate with the Government the national production would increase, etc. People who make these allegations are not, I am afraid, in touch with real facts as to why the production has gone down and people are suffering. It is said that production has gone down from 4,500 million yards to 2,300 million yards. Actually production has not gone down to that extent. It is said that cloth is smuggled out into the black market. That is not a fact; actually it is cotton consumption which has gone down, and without cotton you cannot produce cloth. A study of the facts would show that it is not cloth which has gone out but actually there is no production. That is one of the important points in connection with this allegation about cloth being smuggled out.

Then it is said that the reason for less production is not labour or less working hours but that cloth has been made finer. That, Sir, is not a fact. In 1945 the position of this country in the matter of cloth was very high and the production of cotton manufactured goods was 4500 million yards, which had never happened before in the history of the cotton textile industry of this country. Before the war the production was something like 3,200 million yards and it was not expected that it would rise to that figure of 4,500 million yards. And production was maintained at that figure because cloth was of great necessity in the world. It got a big priority because India had a big bargaining power in the world. We could get stores and supplies from other countries because we had this cloth. And His Majesty's Government also wanted this cloth and we got the first priority in the matter of stores and implements for the cotton textile industry. The reason was that cloth was not only a great necessity during war but there was a great shortage of it in those countries. We then thought that with this big bargaining power in our hands we could maintain the level of that production. But the British people and the British officers in the Government of India felt that if India's cotton textile production was maintained at that figure there was also a possibility of increasing it and India would be able after the war to capture other markets besides supplying her own domestic requirements. What happened afterwards? What happened? Our big Honourable Members here in touch with labour have been pressing for a kind of international legislation to the effect that Indian labour which is working 54 hours a week should have their working hours cut down to 48 hours. We have made all kinds of endeavours to stop this. We have met the Honourable Member in various Conferences. We have suggested that once you cut down the working hours the production will go down and in spite of our great appeal to the workers, they will not come forward and increase the working hours. The result was that because Honourable Members were wanting popularity they pressed for this cutting down. I say this not by way of criticism. But I am stating the fact. We have even suggested that you may pay twice the wages of one hour but do not let the working hours go down, because India has only this cloth by which she has a very powerful bargaining power in the world. But legislation has been passed and working hours have been lowered from 54 to 48 hours and orders have been issued to provinces that circulars should be sent round to cut down the working hours. It was not only the reduction of six working hours per week but all the multiple shifts that used to work in the various mills also went down and the production of handmade cloth has also gone down.

With the change of Government labour feels that it is their own Government and they should take as much advantage of it as possible. The real problem before us is that production has gone down from 4,500,000,000 yards to 3,200,000,000 yards. Therefore my request is as some of the Honourable Members have said who represent labour here, that labour should be asked to increase production. I would request them in this House that they must consider that it is this country which has great bargaining power in the world and instead of going abegging to other people for their food supply and other requirements, they must come forward and ask the workers to bring up the cloth production, and if the cloth production will go up, then India will have such great bargaining power that India will be able to get all the food and all other supplies that she wants, instead of Ministers going and abegging our Embassies, and we will be able to solve much of our troubles.

بلندت تھاکر داس بھاگو : مانیور سپیکر صاحب ! کلاتھ اور یارن اور دوسری چیزوں کے کنٹرول کے متعلق بحث ہوتی رہی ہے۔ میں جناب کی خدمت میں ایک اور چیز جو کہ کلاتھ اور yarn سے ضرورت میں ان دونوں سے کچھ کم نہیں ہے کے متعلق بولنا چاہتا ہوں۔ میں یہ عرض کرنا چاہتا ہوں کہ کنٹرول صرف اس صورت میں کامیاب ہو سکتا ہے جب کہ supply اور demand دونوں چیزوں پر کنٹرول ہو۔ اگر ان دونوں چیزوں کا equilibrium برابر نہ ہو تو اسکا نتیجہ بھی ہوتا ہے جو کہ ہمارے سامنے اسوقت ہے۔ کنٹرول کرنے کی صورت میں ہمیں یہ دیکھنا ہو گا کہ ہمارے پاس کتنی supply ہے اور اس کے ساتھ اسکی demand کتنی ہے۔ اور اس کے مطابق اس کو regulate کیا جاتا ہے۔ اسوقت ایسا ہوتا ہے کہ یا تو demand کم ہو جاتی ہے یا supply بڑھ جاتی ہے۔ اور یہ بات بغیر ان چیزوں کے جن کی اس ملک میں supply نہیں ہے سب چیزوں کے بارے میں ہے۔

اگر یہ کہا جائے کہ کھانے کی چیزیں اس ملک میں نہیں ہیں اور ہر ایک کو مہیا نہیں کی جا سکتی تو اسکو ان ہی basis پر کنٹرول کیا جائے۔ کپڑے کے بارے میں اگر یہ کہا جائے کہ production کم اور demand زیادہ ہے۔ اور اس کے equitable distribution کی وجہ سے کنٹرول ضروری ہے تو میں یہ سمجھتا ہوں کہ اس کے لئے جواز ہے لیکن اس کے اندر ہم نے یہ دیکھا ہے کہ جو آدمی اس کے natural equilibrium کو واپس لاتے ہیں ان کے متعلق ہمیں کافی تلخ تجربہ ہے۔ حکومت ہند نے چند سال ہوئے grow more food campaign شروع کیا۔ لیکن اس کے چند سال شروع کرنے کے بعد منسٹر صاحب متعلقہ نے اس ہاؤس میں یہ کہہ دیا کہ ہمیں اس میں ناکامیابی ہوئی ہے۔ کلاتھ کے بارے میں کلاتھ کے ایک بڑے manufacturer

[Pt. Thakur Das Bhargava] the officers, it is not possible for the villagers to get anything. This is what our system of controls has given us. If we want to control an item, we must see that its supplies are increased. The second effect of the Controls has been that corruption has increased, and this is having a very bad effect on the people. We must take lessons from these two things and abolish controls.

Sir, I have stood up to bring to your notice a particular point. It is this. I want to speak on those things of which India is not short. In spite of the fact that there is no shortage of these things in our country it is not easy for the people to get them. For example, take salt. For the last so many years, in every session of the Assembly, the House has been discussing the policy of the Government for the production and distribution of common salt. I had been thinking that now there would be no necessity for the House to discuss this subject; because by the blessings of Mahatma Gandhi, poor Indians have been relieved of the Salt Tax. During the last session the Honourable the Finance Minister assured the House that people would have no more difficulties in procuring salt. Besides getting it for eating purposes people would also get enough salt for industrial purposes. The tanners need salt for skins and hides, and the fishermen want it for preserving the fish. These poor men were given hopes that they would get salt easily and at cheaper rates. But now when it has been made a rationed article people have got an opportunity for saying: "Why don't Government impose taxes on air and water? If the Government think that supplies of salt should be rationed, why don't they also ration the supplies of water and air? This will bring more money into the Government treasury". These are remarks which are not made without a cause. India has a coast which is five thousand miles long. Enough salt can be made from the sea water. We have, moreover, places where salt is found underground. The presence of salt in these places renders the land there useless for agricultural purposes. On the one hand we have such potentialities, whereas, on the other we find that salt is selling in the black market at rupees three per seer in the U.P. and at rupee one per seer in Delhi. This is very strange. One is surprised to find that salt has been rationed in the face of this thing that it can be manufactured on so large a scale. This reminds me of a Persian sentence, which literally means that whosoever goes into a salt mine comes out with salt all over his person: In other words it means that a dyer cannot dye without dyeing his hands. He who joins bureaucracy is bound to become bureaucratic. The absence of proper arrangements for the supply of a cheap and essential commodity like salt shows a want of imagination, on the part of authorities. I regret to say that those men in whose hands lie our destinies have not realised the difficulties of the public. They do not even care to study these difficulties. I am pained to find that people cannot get salt. I know that this is due to the difficulties in transport. But even after making allowance for this 'difficulty'. I am grieved to find that Mahatma Gandhi's Satyagraha in this connection has borne no fruit. Have the Indians no right to manufacture salt? Why has the production of salt been controlled? For the imposition of control over salt and for the failure to let people manufacture salt in India, the Government have no answer.

At a distance of about 50 miles from here there is a place in District Gurgaon known as Farrukhnagar. There were pretty big industries for manufacturing salt, and enough salt has been produced there.

An Honourable Member: Sir, salt does not come in the subject matter of the motion.

Pundit Thakur Das Bhargava: If my Honourable friend cares to read the 'Cut Motion', he will find written therein "Cloth, Yarn and commodities other than these."

Sir, I was saying that Farrukhnagar produces such a fine quality of salt in such a big quantity as can suffice to meet the demands of two to three crores of people inhabiting this part of the country. Similarly, in the year 1914, and during the last war the district of Hissar produced nitre worth lakhs of rupees. But now we find many difficulties there. This industry has received a big set back on account of the present policy of the Government. Instead of getting encouragement to increase the production of salt people are being discouraged and the production is falling day by day. This sort of control can not be successful. Sir, I have to request, that where salt is present in the ground it should be taken out so that these places are rendered fit for cultivation. This can only be achieved if people are allowed to manufacture salt. I find no reason why the Government should not change its present policy about it. People are dissatisfied all over this country; every body wants that this item should not be controlled.

In my opinion, we should also decontrol food. I belong to a place which is not a deficit area. It is quite likely that I may not be correct. But I will state that if food is decontrolled, the Grow More Food Campaign will also bear fruits, and supplies of every commodity will increase. We are forced to-day to go to the black market for buying even those things which are produced in our own districts. This is deplorable. If the Government consider the black market unlawful they should not pursue a policy which creates circumstances favourable to the Black Market. Care should be taken to see that those factors do not rise on which the black market depends. Sir, I want to say that a man produces a certain thing, for example wheat. Suppose its price has been fixed at Rs. 10/- per maund. Another man who needs wheat goes to the producer's place with an empty cart and offers to buy it there and then by paying cash at the rate of twenty rupees per maund. When the producer is given this temptation, do you think Sir, he will not be tempted? May I ask the Honourable Minister for food if he thinks that foodstuffs have been selling at controlled prices and not in the black market. If it is a crime to sell one thing in the black market, it should be so with all things. My Honourable friends know that in Delhi for many days people have been getting only rice; no wheat or atta has been given them. If a man receives a guest, he cannot offer him meals. Nothing can exhaust the 'moral stamina' or spoil the 'morale' of the public more than the existing system of controls. Keeping these things in view, we should, therefore, for the time being, abolish the system of controls. Last year the feelings of the House about the continuation of the controls were so excited that when the then Minister for Industries and Supplies, the Honourable Rajaji rose to answer the debate, it was very difficult for him to speak. What effects it has had on us during the interval which has lapsed between the two Sessions, is not unknown to the Honourable Members. Today even the beacon light of this country, the strongest force of this nation, Mahatma Gandhi, who always cherishes the welfare of the masses, has come to the conclusion that the controls must go for they have neither helped to increase the production nor have they succeeded in making equitable distribution. With great respect I would like to say to the Honourable Minister that such circumstances can arise here as will increase the production of both food and cloth. That will allay the present difficulties of the public and they will get a big relief if these controls are removed.

Shri S. K. Patil (Bombay: General): Sir, I rise to support this cut, particularly because it is meant for raising a discussion on the policy of cloth control. I am not going into the larger question as to whether free economy or controlled economy should be the rule of the administration. Although I am an incorrigible protagonist of free economy, I can conceive circumstances where controlled economy becomes necessary. In 1943-44 cloth control became necessary, as circumstances were such. There was a shortage of cloth and there was a clamour from the poorer people especially that cloth should be controlled and hence the

[پلڈت تھاکر داس بھارگو]

اس طرح سے ضلع حصار میں ۱۹۱۳ء اور پچھلی لڑائی میں لاکھوں روپیہ کا شورہ بنتا تھا لیکن اب ہم یہ دیکھتے ہیں کہ وہاں پر اس بارے میں بہت دقتیں ہیں اور حکومت کی پالیسی کی وجہ سے اس Industry کو کافی نقصان ہوتا ہے۔ اب یہاں کے Production کو بڑھانے کی بجائے دن بدن کم کیا جا رہا ہے۔ اس قسم کا جو یہ کنٹرول ہے وہ کامیاب نہیں ہو سکتا ہے۔ میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ جن جگہوں پر زمین میں نمک موجود ہے وہاں پر زمینوں سے یہ نمک نکال دیا جائے اور ان زمینوں کو قابل کاشت بنا دیا جائے۔ اور یہ تب ہی ہو سکتا ہے کہ لوگوں کو نمک Manufacture کرنے کی اجازت دی جائے۔ میرے خیال میں کوئی وجہ نہیں کہ اتنے تجربے کے بعد بھی حکومت اپنی پالیسی کو تبدیل نہ کرے۔ سارے دیہات میں اسوقت اس بارے میں بہت راویلا ہو رہا ہے۔ اور ہر شخص یہی کہتا ہے کہ اسکو کنٹرول نہ کیا جائے۔ دہلی رائے میں Food کو بھی decontrol کیا جائے۔ میں اس علاقہ سے تعلق رکھتا ہوں جہاں پر food کی کمی نہیں ہے۔ اسلئے شاید میری یہ رائے درست نہ ہو۔ لیکن میں یہ عرض کروں گا کہ اگر food کو decontrol کیا جائے تو grow more food campaign کامیاب ہو جائیگا اور ہر ایک چیز کی supply بڑھ جائیگی۔ آجکل جو چیزیں ہمارے ضلع میں پیدا ہوتی ہیں انکو بلیک مارکیٹ میں خریدنے کے لئے ہمکو مجبور کیا جاتا ہے۔ یہ ایک بہت بڑی چیز ہے۔ اگر حکومت بلیک مارکیٹ کو جرم قرار دیتی ہے تو اسکی پالیسی یہ ہونے چاہئے کہ ایسے حالات پیدا نہ کیے جائیں جن پر کہ بلیک مارکیٹ depend کرتا ہے۔ جناب میں یہ گزارش کرنا چاہتا ہوں جب ایک شخص کچھ پیداوار مثلاً گیہوں پیدا کرتا ہے۔ جسکی قیمت دس روپیہ پر کنٹرول کی گئی ہے اور ایک شخص جس کو ضرورت ہوتی ہے وہ اس کے پاس جا کر دس روپیہ کے بجائے بیس روپیہ دیتا ہے اور اس کے گھر پر گاڑی لا کر کہتا ہے کہ یہ نقد روپیہ لے لو اور مجھکو یہ چیز دیدو۔ تو جب اس آدمی کو یہ temptation دی جائے تو کیا وہ کبھی اس کو چھوڑ سکتا ہے۔

کیا میں آنریبل منسٹر سے یہ پوچھ سکتا ہوں کیا انکی نظر میں پٹرول میں بلیک مارکیٹ نہیں کیا گیا۔ اگر ایک چیز میں بلیک مارکیٹ کرنا جرم ہے تو وہ سب چیزوں کے لئے جرم ہے۔ دہلی کے متعلق معزز مسبران کو تجربہ ہوگا کہ بہت سے دن لوگوں کو چاول ہی ملتے ہیں اور گندم یا آٹا نہیں ملتا ہے اور اگر کسی کے گھر مہمان آجائے تو وہ اسکو یہ نہیں کہہ سکتا ہے کہ روٹی کھاؤ۔ تو ان حالات میں moral stamina اور moral کو بگاڑنے کے لئے کنٹرول کے علاوہ اور کوئی چیز نہیں ہے۔ اسلئے ان حالات کو مدنظر رکھتے ہوئے کنٹرول کو ہٹا دینا چاہئے۔ گزشتہ سال کنٹرول کو قائم رکھنے کے لئے اس ہاؤس کی اتنی زبردست feeling تھیں کہ جب راجہ صاحب

جو کہ اسوقت Industries and supply کے منسٹر انچارج تھے۔ انہیں debate کا جواب دینا مشکل ہو گیا تھا۔ اور اس درمیان عرصہ میں اس کا کیا اثر ہوا ہے وہ ہم سب کو معلوم ہے۔ اس دیہات کی سب سے بڑی طاقت مہاتما گاندھی اب جو کہ ہمیشہ ملک کے رت کو دیکھتے ہیں۔ نے فیصلہ کیا ہے کہ کنٹرول کو ختم کرنا چاہئے لیکن کنٹرول سے ان چیزوں کی supply نہیں رہ سکتی اور نہ ٹھیک Distribute ہوا نہ ہو سکتا ہے اسلئے کنٹرول ختم کر دئے جائیں۔

میں نہایت ادب سے ٹریبل منسٹر کی خدمت میں عرض کروں گا کہ یہاں پر ایسے حالات پیدا ہو سکتے ہیں جن سے کہ food اور cloth کافی پیدا ہو سکتا ہے اور لوگوں کی موجودہ تکلیف دور ہو سکتی ہیں اور لوگ ان سے بچ سکتے ہیں۔

(English translation of the above speech)

Pundit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker. Sir. Discussions have taken place here on control over cloth, yarn and other commodities. I want to speak today on an item which is in no way less important than cloth or yarn. I like to say, Sir, that controls can only be successful if the Demand and Supply of commodities are also controlled. If the equilibrium of demand and supply is not balanced the result is bound to be what we have witnessed, ourselves. When we want to impose control over certain things, we must study the positions of their supply and the demand; the control over an item should be regulated according to these two factors. What is going on at this time is that either the demand for an item decreases or its supply increases. This is the case with all things except those which are scarce in India.

If it is said that there is a shortage of food in this country and if they cannot be supplied to every individual according to his wants, then, I think this should form the basis on which these things should be brought under control. If it is said about cloth that its 'production' is less than its 'demand', and that for its 'equitable distribution' it is required to be controlled, I think, there is some justification. But have we not had bitter experiences with these who are entrusted with the responsibility of balancing this "Natural equilibrium"? A few years back the Government of India launched the "Grow More Food Campaign". After a few years of its inception the hon'ble minister incharge stated before this House that this campaign had failed to achieve its object. About cloth a big manufacturer has said that its supply this year has been less than before. He suggests that the control over the cloth should be continued. This manufacturer says that it is not possible to increase the supply of cloth. It has been proved that the cloth control has not helped to increase its supplies.

The second thing about the system of controls is—and this even the most insensitive Indian can feel—that in this country corruption has become too rampant to be described in words. I may say that in all my life I have not come across any department which can be compared with the Supply Department, in corruption and inefficiency. I do not know much about Delhi, but I know what sort of malpractices are going on in my district. There is a Civil Supplies Officer whose salary is about four to five hundred rupees per month but he is making not less than ten thousand rupees a month. When this is the condition of the Officer in Charge, what do you think must be the behaviour of the junior officers. The less said about them the better! Their corrupt practices defy description. Nothing is given to the Zamindars according to the rules in force in the cities. Until and unless they grease the palms of control came. I have no quarrel with the control but the trouble is that it is not a question whether the control is good or bad but the real question is: how is the administration of that control? During the last three years if there has been an outstanding example of corruption, and something worse than that, in the whole administration, it is in the cloth control and it is not exaggerating facts if people call it a 'scandal'. It is a scandal and to call a spade a spade is no offence at all. From the top to the bottom I really do not know who is free from corruption so far as the management and administration of this cloth control is concerned. Besides there has been so much of confusion in the orders that have been issued from time to time so far as the administration of this control is concerned, that even an educated man hardly understands really what are his rights within the four corners of this control.

[Shri S. K. Patil]

I have been associated with this control and its working during the last three years, almost ever since its inception I have found so much confusion and chaos throughout this period, that I am convinced that the time has come when this control ought not to remain even for a day longer. The resolution of the A.I.C.C. has been quoted. I am aware that the resolution gives a caution that the controls have got to be lifted without detriment to the public good. I do understand that. It may apply to food and other necessities of life. But so far as the control of cloth is concerned, the way that it is administered in this country, the sooner it goes the better. There will be no detriment to the public good. I can give you some instances about my city, the City of Bombay which is the main city from where most of the cloth comes. This control is operated in a very funny manner there. There have been loopholes everywhere. Wherever you go you find an exception and therefore it becomes confusing to know what the rule is. In our city apart from the quota holders who are given the cloth—and how these quota holders operate this cloth is a known thing and I will not dilate upon it—in addition to these, every millowner is given half per cent of the cloth production to be used in any manner he likes, namely for himself, for the shareholders, for his friends and so on. Whenever a millowner is caught in possession of cloth he can always point out that it is out of that half per cent which he has got. Nobody knows whether any account is maintained of all this—possibly some account is maintained. The system varies from place to place. In Bombay you have to declare how you are going to use that half per cent. In Ahmedabad no such restriction exists. So there is no uniformity as to how that half per cent is to be used. I do not object to giving half per cent to the millowner. Give him even 5 per cent if he is made answerable as to how he is going to use it and if some control is exercised on his discretion. But no control is exercised. There is control on everything but absolutely no control on those who are exercising this control and who are supposed to manage and administer it.

There is another very funny provision in this control so far as the city of Bombay is concerned. I do not know what conventions obtain elsewhere. In addition to the 10 yards of cloth which is permissible to every man, a worker in the mill industry is allowed 18 yards per head for himself and for all his dependents. Luckily, Sir, a majority of us are Hindus and you can imagine how many dependents there can be in a joint family in Hindu society. I mean the number of nephews and nieces. There is no rule anywhere as to who are the dependents of a worker with the result that if the quarter of a million of our workers, which is the full complement of the textile workers, have each got 10 dependents—they may even have more, I do not know—it will come to millions and millions of yards of cloth in addition to the 10 yards of cloth per head which is permissible under the controlling order. What is the result of it? You have been saying that there have been corruption and demoralisation in the higher society. Leave alone the higher society who can digest the corruption and who are answerable to their God. But to the people who have had no opportunities of corruption you are throwing them in their way by saying 'if you like, take 18 yards more because you are a worker'. I quite understand the justification for that decision. Why should they not get a little more than the others? But what is the result of giving that cloth in such a large quantity? On an average a man will have four to ten dependents. Even on the basis of four, for a quarter of a million people it comes to something like a million people. And multiplying it by 18 you get something like 2 crores of yards of cloth which is freely going into the market. The result is if the cloth is issued just now the next morning you can find it in the black market. In this connection I should mention the suggestion which I made to a very high government official. I said "You are giving the prices of controlled articles in the Gazette. Why not give the black market prices also in the Gazette so that people can understand this is the control price and this is the black market price". Let the law of supply and demand operate even in black market, so that those poor victims who have to resort to the black market will have the advantage of choosing between two people from whom to buy. There are markets in the city of Bombay where you can go and make any purchase—I am not talking of the markets of the quota holders but I am coming to the last stratum of society from which you did not expect this sin, because there were no opportunities for them of committing it. Having thrown this temptation you find there is so much of cloth going. If you go to these markets and say that you want a particular brand of cloth, so many yards, even thousand yards, by tomorrow 8 o'clock, within 24 hours, you can have it for the black market price. Therefore, these are all the things that you find as a result of the control. The administration is so rotten—I do not know what is not rotten about it. If anything has remained un-rotten, by the time you finish this control the whole thing will be rotten. There will be nothing to choose from top to bottom.

Let us not confuse ourselves and confuse the main issue as if there is a war between controlled economy and free economy. Honourable Members on the Government benches also make a plea that when the times are difficult the economy has to be controlled. I agree it has to be controlled. But at the time of instituting the control you must know that the machinery that you are employing is a machinery that is charged with the highest integrity, that it is an honest machinery that administers it. If there are faults here and there it is pardonable, but when the whole machinery is rotten what is to be done? There was a question in respect of the Rationing Department in our city—in some other department and not cloth, but the illustration is quite apt for it also—that the congress should supply some volunteers to go round from house to house to check up whether the cards issued really bore any proportion to the actual number of people existing. Naturally I said 'Very well; I can help the Government; what is wrong in it; it is a social service; why not give volunteers in order to have a check-up of those cards?' But within an hour I got a telephone from the President of the Union who controls these men. He asked 'Is it true that you have promised a thousand volunteers to the Government in order to help them in checking up the number of cards?' I said 'Yes, what is wrong about it?' He said 'There is everything wrong'. I at once smelt the rat. I could understand what was wrong, namely that if our volunteers went and made a check-up they would realize that there were more cards than there were persons. Sir, population is growing more in our ration cards than actually. I give this merely as an illustration. There is not only a card for food ration in our city, but that is also a card for cloth ration. In our city where there is a population of about 28 lakhs there are 35 lakhs of cards, and these additional 7 lakh cards are characterised as ghost cards because the holders in respect of them are not actually existing. Imagine, if in an administration where there are thousands of people working including so many officers getting astounding rates of pay but who are yet demanding every day more and more pay, a city could not be managed and outside this 28 lakhs cards there are 7 lakh of ghost cards both in food ration and cloth ration, then you can very well understand the quality of the administration that you have set in motion. I do not blame you. You are not responsible for setting it in motion and you cannot even improve it. If there was a little patch somewhere, you can improve it. But when the whole thing has gone wrong and is rotten it is beyond improvement. The only thing that can improve it is a clear-cut operation and that is immediate de-control. It is no matter what happens as a result thereof. If anything happens the society will adjust itself to it. But here the administration has come to a point where it is absolutely impossible to improve it so far as the operation of these controls is concerned. Therefore the sooner cloth is de-controlled the better. It is not merely for the sake of argument that I am suggesting this. If the greatest hardships are to be borne by the masses it is not because of the shortages but because of these controls as a result of which there is the unequal match between the rich and the poor. They cannot stand against the rich when the administration becomes as rotten as it has become. The remedy is de-control.

[Shri S. K. Patil]

Sir, with these words I support the cut motion moved by my Honourable friend Mr. Saxena.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee (Minister for Industry and Supply): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the last speaker has analysed the situation in a very realistic manner. I believe, Sir, the question before the House is not whether control as a system is good or bad, but whether the control system has got to be withdrawn in view of the manner in which it is being worked in the country today. I can at once remove, Sir, one impression from the minds of my friends. Since last year Government has withdrawn control over 105 commodities, and at present control exists with regard to only a few items. Perhaps Honourable Members would be interested to know what the items exactly are. First is iron and steel, second is cloth and yarn, third is coal, fourth is paper, which is only partially controlled now. These are the items which fall within the Ministry of Industry and Supply. There are three items which fall within the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power, and also partially Railways, namely motor spirit, kerosene and mica. With regard to all other items, control has been withdrawn. So far as salt is concerned, I felt rather curious when I was hearing the speaker. The Salt Control Order has not yet been put into force, and whatever has been happening in different parts of India due to the scarcity of salt has been in absence of the Salt Control Order and not on account of it. In fact the difficulties which my honourable friend was pointing out, I believe, lead to the conclusion that the Salt Control Order should be imposed at once and rigorously applied in different parts of the country. I shall however deal with the salt matter and give certain facts and figures before the House later on. But let me come back, Sir, to the main items which are now under control. So far as iron and steel are concerned, I have not heard anything from any member yet. I do not wish to speak much on this item, but I would just point out that today India's capacity for production comes up to 1,250,000 tons per year. Our need, Sir, is between 2 and 2½ million tons per year, but actually we are producing between 800,000 and 900,000 tons per year. That is a bare statement of fact. So far as the import position is concerned, this year we budgeted for 150,000 tons to be imported. Unfortunately we have got only about 15,000 tons. So there is no doubt that there exists an overall scarcity of iron and steel in the country. In these circumstances I do not think anyone would suggest in this House that iron and steel should be decontrolled immediately.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saxena: But there is great corruption in its control.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It is suggested that there is great corruption in the working of the administration. Now, Sir, with regard to the method of distribution in respect of iron and steel and corruption generally. I shall welcome any constructive suggestions which Members of the House may make. Now let us look at the matter from a practical standpoint. Mr. Patil said, and so many other Members have said, that there is a lot of corruption, so that although control may be desirable and necessary, on account of corruption we must decontrol. This is like the argument of the man who may say that since in spite of the Indian Penal Code, there are lots of murder cases going on in the country which you cannot check, let us abolish the Indian Penal Code itself and let people commit murder as much as they choose. If you feel that control is necessary in respect of certain commodities, we must have the courage and the capacity to put up a machinery which will be beyond criticism. Government is fully prepared to do it. Whatever might have happened in the past, we might have felt helpless and only thrown discredit or blame at this or that other officer—since the 15th of August 1947, when we claim to have taken full control over the affairs of our country, it does not lie in our mouth to say that although in respect of a particular commodity control is necessary, we are not fit to administer this control, and therefore we should run away from our duty. Sir, as the Minister responsible for this department I would suggest to every Member of the House, and indeed to others outside this House to give us concrete instances of corruption, and if after that you find that Government is slow to proceed against an individual, no matter whether he is high or low, you can come and criticize the Government.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): That is not our business, Sir.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It may not be the business of the Member who interrupted, but I believe, Sir, it is the business of every responsible citizen, who comes to know of any specific instance of corruption not to keep it within his own mind but at any rate confidentially to inform the Government as to what it is about. I ask here for full co-operation and I did not expect a veteran leader like Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya to get up and say that it is not his business to help the Government to eradicate the evil.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Because you throw the burden upon the opposite party.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: No, Sir. I am quite sure the Honourable Member will be protected. We do not wish to drag him into a court of law, against his will. We can hold an enquiry.

Shri Biswanath Das (Orissa: General): I should like to know the sort of illustration in corruptive method that the Honourable Minister wants. We are fully willing to co-operate with him, but what is the sort of instance that he wants? There are various kinds of instances. . .

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I would like to have all kinds of instances. If the Honourable Member has information which he thinks would lead to some result, we shall welcome it,—not only Ministers, but also responsible officials in charge of the departments concerned. Now Sir, let me proceed with the other facts.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth (Madras: Muslim): The Honourable Minister referred to protection being given to the man who gave information. I was not clear about what he said.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: What I said was that if the matter goes to a court of law and if the Honourable Member is cited as a witness, the question of protection arises, but in many cases information may be sent to the department of suspected cases where there is a prima facie evidence before the Member and we shall not shirk enquiry being made into such allegations.

[Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee]

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Is the Honourable Member aware that definite instances were published in the newspapers? What action has been taken on them?

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Minister need not reply to all these interruptions now, otherwise there will be no end to them.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I shall next come to coal. Now with regard to coal, there also quite naturally no one has suggested that control should be withdrawn at the present stage. On account of various difficulties, and particularly on account of transport difficulties, it is not possible for us to utilise coal to the best advantage of the country, and therefore some sort of regulated control is necessary.

I am not referring to paper, Sir, because practically that is decontrolled except with regard to paper which is manufactured in India. But there also it is interesting to find that while our annual capacity comes to about 120,000 tons, we are actually producing between 85,000 and 90,000 tons.

I therefore come back to the main item which has been discussed since yesterday, and that is with regard to textile control. Mr. Patil pointed out that in 1943 control was necessary in view of the shortage in the country. There was clamour from the consumers, there was clamour from 1 P.M., different sections of the people, and therefore control had to be imposed. I have before me, Sir, the total production figures in India since 1938. It appears in 1943 India produced 4,715 million yards of mill-cloth. That quantity was not apparently sufficient to meet the requirements of the people. Now, this year.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri (Assam: General): May I know how much of these millions of yards was only bandages and patties? Many mills in 1942 and 1943 gave up producing dhoties and shirts and were busy in making only bandages and patties for troops.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: So far as the military requirements are concerned, I have not got the exact figure—it will be about 600 million yards. But I am giving you an overall picture. In 1943, the year in which control was imposed, India was producing mill-made cloth to the extent of 4,715 million yards of which six to seven hundred million yards were to be consumed for military purposes. Now, today our production has gone down; it has come to 4,000 million yards. It might be a little less this year.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: What was it last year?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I am talking of last year.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member may continue his speech after Lunch. The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock.
Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavlanekar) in the Chair.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Sir, I was placing before the House the production figures during the year control was imposed. A question was raised as to what was the quantity which was taken for defence purposes during this period. I have got here a complete statement of the production for the years from 1935-36 to 1946 and also the figures for export and for defence purposes. It appears that in 1943-44, the year in which control was imposed, India had a balance of 5,470 million yards of cloth, including handloom and mill-made, for distribution amongst the population. Now, that compares very unfavourably with 1946 figures. In 1946, the total quantity available for distribution amongst the civilian population was 4,888 million yards. In other words, if Mr. Patil's proposition was correct, that there was ample justification for having control over textiles in 1943, my submission is that the situation in the country so far as production goes has not improved—rather, it has deteriorated.

Then, Sir, a question was raised as regards the production in recent months. I have got here a complete account of production by the mills from 1946 January right up to 1947 October. It appears, Sir, that after control was introduced in 1943, production increased for the first year and very slightly decreased next year. Then from 1946 onwards, production started decreasing more rapidly. What the reasons are, I need not dilate upon. They are well known to the members of the House. There were communal disturbances. There were the 8-hours day programme, strikes and other difficulties coming in the way of larger production.

Now, it has been said by my friend Shri Khandubhai Desai who is an acknowledged authority on the subject that the mills are making enormous profits. That is true. But here also, I have not been able to see the exact logic of the argument—if the mills are today making enormous profits inspite of control, how will the mills be prevented from making more profit if control is withdrawn? For instance, I am taking from Shri Khandubhai Desai's pamphlet certain illuminating figures. In 1943, the year in which control was imposed, the gross profit was Rs. 109 crores for the textile industry in its entirety. The net profit, however, was Rs. 21 crores because of taxation and other considerations. In 1944, the profit decreased to Rs. 85 crores. As soon as the control started operation, the profit also started decreasing. The net profit was Rs. 18 crores for 1944. In 1945 the gross profit was Rs. 61 crores and net profit Rs. 13 crores. In 1946 the gross profit was estimated at Rs. 41 crores and net profit Rs. 9 crores.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): May I ask if this was due to price reduction or some other cause?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I am not saying that it was due entirely to price reduction. What I am saying is that the reduction in profit followed the introduction of control, and if control is withdrawn then profits are likely to increase.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): There are secret profits.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I am talking of open profits. I have no access to the secret profits of the mills.

Now, Sir, let me emphasise here that the present Government is not enamoured of control as such. Far from it. We accept the principle that de-control should be introduced as soon as circumstances permit. Here, the prime consideration is the welfare of the masses of the people. We have made an experiment with de-control of sugar. Within 24 hours of the unofficial announcement—the order of de-control has not yet been officially announced by the Government of India—prices jumped up from Rs. 20-8-0 to nearly Rs. 40 to 50. Now, who was responsible for this?

An Honourable Member: Speculators.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Quite so, speculators. If by a sudden de-control we would help in the reign of lawlessness otherwise by speculators, that will be a matter which I know the House will certainly not like. But look at the manufacturers themselves. Only yesterday they came out with a statement that the price will go up to Rs. 35. So the net result of de-control of sugar, according to the manufacturers themselves, would be an increase of nearly 80 per cent. I do not ignore the fact that it is proposed to [Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee] increase the price of sugar-cane from Rs. 1-4 to Rs. 1-12 or Rs. 2, which means 60 per cent. more. But the immediate increase relates mostly to existing stocks.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma (U. P.: General): May I know, Sir, if that would not encourage the growing of commercial crops and thus not redound upon the success of our "Grow More Food Campaign"?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It is not for me to go into that question, but I just mentioned it as an illustration of the danger which might follow if de-control is effected without a proper guarantee that speculators, manufacturers or traders or the middlemen will not take advantage of such de-control and allow the prices to rise up to such an extent that it will put the man-in-the-street in extreme difficulty.

Now, Sir, let me come to the present scheme of Government regarding the textile industry. My friend, Mr. Saksena, pointed out in his speech to Mr. Vadilal's schemes which he had suggested to my predecessor, Mr. Rajagopalachari. That scheme was in the nature of standardizing the production of cloth. I need not go into details, Sir, but I can tell the House that Government had already appointed an ad hoc Committee for the purpose of going into this question. What is the main question? The main question is to increase production. This question was gone into by the ad hoc Committee and the ad hoc Committee recommended that production of cloth should be standardized. There should be less production of finer cloths and more production of medium cloth so that in quantity we can have more supplies for distribution among the masses of the people. That report was discussed with representatives of the industry and accepted by Government with some modification. The question then arose that if mills were asked to produce these standardized varieties, there would be some loss over the production of the medium and the coarser type of cloth; the demand was made by the Industry that price of cloth should be increased. The present Government was not satisfied that the increase was going to affect all the mills. In fact, I tried in vain to obtain definite figures as to how many mills were going to lose by the adoption of the standardized scheme. Some said that it would be only ten per cent; some others said that it would be 20 or 30 per cent. Government, therefore felt, that it would be undesirable to allow a general increase of prices in cloth which would go to benefit a large number of mills, who are already making huge profits, on the pretext of subsidising a small number of mills who might perhaps lose on account of having given effect to the standardized scheme. What is the decision that Government reached? Government decided that immediate steps should be taken to speed up production. Therefore, Government called upon the Textile Industry to adopt this standardized scheme. At the same time, Government assured the Industry that while the Government was not going to allow a general increase of prices, they will be prepared to have this question examined by the Tariff Board, as allegations were made that the ad hoc Committee had not examined the detailed working of a sufficiently large number of mills. After that is done, Government would decide on the question of increase in price.

Now, here it came to our notice that there were certain defects in the present system which required alteration. One Honourable Member referred to the Quota-holder system. Now the quota-holders used to get about 3 per cent. commission, which meant nearly about 9 crores of Rupees, which many thought was unjustifiable. Government therefore reduced the quota-holders' percentage from 3 to 1. This has already been announced to come into effect from the 1st January 1948.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: That is too high.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Some, I know consider this also high. We are considering whether we cannot abolish the quota-holder system altogether and allow the ordinary trade channels to flow as they formerly used to do. That also is a matter which is under investigation, but I am giving you facts which would go to show in which direction the policy of the present Government is moving. I was impressed by the arguments which were put forward by my friend, Mr. Khandubhai Desai, as also the Mover of the amendment, that Government might consider the question of having control over production alone and withdraw control so far as distribution and prices go. That is a matter which has already occurred to us, and I can say this without disclosing any secret, because there is no secret between the Government and the House so far as this matter is concerned. I have already taken up that matter for examination. That I believe, Sir, will be a fair via media. Some sort of control over production is necessary. Now Government is today faced with a charge which is brought forward by a large number of consumers and also from Labour that the mills are producing much more, but that has not come into the open market. That allegation has been made on the floor of this House here yesterday and today. I was trying to compare the total quantity of cotton that has been used and the total quantity of cloth that is produced according to the open market figures, and roughly speaking approximately one co-relates to the other, but, of course, it is very difficult to arrive at a correct figure. Now on this important question, what has the Government done? Government has decided and that also has been announced that Unit Production Committees will be appointed in respect of each mill. I will request the House to examine the potentiality of such a step which Government has taken for the first time in this country. In England such Unit Production Committees are functioning. Our object is that with each mill will be associated a Unit Production Committee on which representatives of Labour and also all representative experts from the mills will sit, and it will be their function to see that there is no wastage or leakage so far as production goes. I have asked the Industry to accept in good spirit this decision of ours. Industry did not like it, but I pointed out that instead of allowing the cleavage to grow between the employer and the labour, it is much better, if there is nothing to be hidden by the Industry, for it to agree to accept such a Committee, so that within a few months we can see whether really there is any leakage or any wastage or not. My idea is that over and above such Unit Production Committees we can set up Regional Committees, so that on the question of production there will be one over-all policy within a particular region. We can also have Provincial Committees and an All India Committee to control production of mill cloth in the country. So far as methods of distribution are concerned, Government will re-consider any points that may be raised and I am going to consult Provincial Governments and the Standing Committee on this matter. We do want some sort of direction to continue so far as ad hoc distribution among the Provinces goes. Now, it is well known that there are certain Provinces in India which produce the bulk of the textile cloth. Bombay Presidency produces nearly 70 per cent; Bengal used to give us some previously but now a number of mills has gone into Eastern Pakistan; in the United Provinces there is some production; Madras also has considerable production so far as hand-loom cloth is concerned. Now, is it not desirable that in the initial stage, at any rate, there should be some direction given that a certain minimum quantity must flow into each province, so that Provinces like Orissa, C.P. or other Provinces which are deficient may not find themselves in considerable difficulty? Supposing Bombay will allow 18 or 20 yards per head to the people of Bombay Presidency, then obviously that may seriously affect the position of people living in other provinces. If we can carry both together, if we can set up a machinery which will ensure that production will speed up and at the same time if there can be some sort of general directive given as regards the minimum cloth which is to flow to each Province, the rest we can leave to the mills and to the normal trade channels. Even now, Sir, the Central Government has nothing to do with regard to detailed provincial distribution. The detailed distribution of cloth and yarn within the Province is a matter which has to be decided by the Provincial Government itself.

[Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee]

My Honourable friend spoke today about ghost ration cards in Bombay. Obviously that is not a thing with which the Central Government has anything to do; whether ghosts exist in Bombay or not is a matter which Mr. Patil should settle in consultation with his own provincial Government over which he has full control. We do not like ghosts anywhere, whether in Bombay or Delhi or in any other part of the country. But I am saying that even today there is decentralisation to a very considerable extent. The Central Government through its Textile Commissioner allots a quota to the provinces and the rest is left in the hands of the provinces themselves. For instance, as regards the 18 yards which were given to mill workers, I went into that question. The answer which I got was that if mill workers were not given this extra quota it will be difficult to make them produce more. These are local matters which have to be properly adjusted. But I may go back again to my original proposition that if there is an all-out effort for increasing production, all these questions will disappear in no time. In fact this is a matter which affects not the textile industry alone. We are calling the Industries' Conference to meet here on the 15th and 16th December. India is today really on the brink of a precipice; we are facing a very grave economic crisis. With regard to almost every industry that matters we are producing much less than what we should; and unless we can put our heads together and produce to the maximum of our capacity I see before me very dark days indeed. That is a matter which depends on the co-operation of the industries themselves, of labour, of the people, and a forward policy to be pursued by the Central Government and the provincial Governments. I had a talk with representatives of industries; they sometimes are apt to throw the entire blame on labour, and labour is apt to throw the entire blame on industry. But it will not do for us to tolerate the continuance of such a state of affairs. The industries also must recognise that labour has to be satisfied in a reasonable manner, because after all without the full co-operation of labour no capitalist and no industrialist can produce anything, not even Sir Padampat Singhania or Sir J. P. Srivastava. We are therefore considering this question as to how we can have a proper adjustment made so that during the next few years at any rate we can have no strikes, no lock outs and no interference with our normal production and we can give India the most that we can produce.

Sir, I hope my Honourable friend Mr. Saksena, in view of the assurance that I have given that Government is fully aware of the volume of public opinion which exists on the question of future control of textiles, will withdraw his motion and will help us in evolving a policy which will make it possible for us to produce more and also to withdraw the restrictions that now exist as soon as possible.

With regard to the reduction of staff, when I heard from my Honourable friend Mr. Saksena yesterday about the 10 or 12 pages of names of officers which he found in the Telephone Directory, I went and found out from my office that in the last two years there has been a reduction of 66 per cent. in the total staff of the Industries and Supplies Ministry. I believe the Honourable Member will allow at least one-third of the personnel to continue; otherwise whatever we are doing will not be possible for us to do. So far as the question of corruption is concerned, of course only vague allegations have been made; no specific case has been mentioned, and it breaks my heart to think that all these allegations that we make here or outside are not today directed against any foreigner; whatever allegation is made is against our own countrymen. In fact it is not officers alone. Mr. Patil rightly pointed out that the 18 yards of cloth per head which are going to thousands and thousands of workers are not being utilised for their own use but that all that is going straight into the black market where a prevailing price already rules. If these allegations are true, if ghost ration cards are moving about from one part of the country to another, if workers get their cloth and do not use it for their own purposes and send it to the black market, obviously there is something rotten in our own country and we have got to set our own house in order. If critics have an opportunity of criticising us perhaps they may also say things which may put us to shame; it is no use our making vague allegations about corruption. Corruption is one of the many war legacies and we have to tackle it. As I said at the beginning, Government do not want to encourage corruption in any form or shape whatever. We can put up a machinery for the purpose of receiving complaints. If any specific information is sent to us I can give this assurance that we shall not hesitate to go into that matter and we shall spare no one, however high or low he may be placed.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: What about the Disposals Department?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: So far as the Disposals Department is concerned, I do not think that comes within the purview of this motion. But I can correct one misunderstanding. The other day I gave that information about aeroplanes but the officer concerned is not in the Department of Disposals but belongs to the Department of Communications. I am saying so for the reason that I have received a number of communications on that matter from various people. However, that is a question which we may go into at some other time.

An Honourable Member: There is joint responsibility.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Government, this House and the people are all jointly responsible for the present state of affairs.

Sir, with regard to salt I think there has been some misunderstanding. Salt is not under control now. As is known to Honourable Members, it was under the Finance Ministry as a revenue paying commodity; now of course it has been transferred to my Ministry for the purpose of increasing production and securing better distribution. There is no salt control as such. We passed a Salt Control Order only a few days ago and that is how my Honourable friend Mr. Bhargava's intervention in the debate became relevant. During the last few months there was a decrease in production in the west coast, that is a fact which is well known and it appeared in the papers. There was a shortage of shipping in pending imports, then there was a deadlock regarding transport, arising out of difficulties regarding locomotives and wagons; salt manufactured in Pakistan also ceased to come; and last but not the least, all this gave ample temptation to the profiteers to make hay while the sun shines.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): In view of the importance of salt could not all these difficulties be overcome and this most essential article of people's diet be made available to them?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is exactly what we have done; the position is gradually improving now. I have got the details but I do not wish to go into them now; I can very briefly say that in the last two months transport has improved from 30 wagons to 160 wagons to the U.P.; it was that province and part of Bihar which informed us that the situation there had assumed serious proportions. And the latest report which I got only two days ago from the various provinces enables me to say that the salt position has considerably improved and now salt is being distributed in different parts of the country in a much better way than it used to be done about a couple of months ago.

[Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee.]

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: A fortnight back it was selling at Rs. 2 a seer in the Gorakhpur district of the U.P.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: As against that I may refer to other districts where the prices have gone down. In fact I have made an analysis of 38 districts in the U.P. and I find that increase has taken place in only about 8 or 9 places; but the prices are steadily going down in view of the larger supply of salt which is now coming forward.

Briefly the salt position is this. We produce about 5½ crore maunds of salt in India whereas we require according to present calculations about 3 crore maunds; so there is a shortage of 50 lakh maunds, which we are now importing. Of course so far as the production of salt in India is concerned, that occupies one of the most dark and dismal chapters in Indo-British relationship. The way in which the salt industry was destroyed in India was indeed shameful. That was done deliberately for the purpose of bringing foreign salt into India. In fact in my own province of Bengal, as you know, up till 1861 nearly 60 lakh maunds of salt used to be manufactured, and since 1862 practically nothing has been produced except a small quantity which is produced for local consumption,—just a few lakh maunds which can be deemed as negligible. But the policy of the present Government is fully to implement the wishes of Mahatma Gandhi who was responsible

3 P. M. for the withdrawal of the salt duty. Now the Salt Control Order has been published—or is going to be published in a day or two. Here is a matter in respect of which Government has taken the power to control if necessary, not that Government is going to control everywhere. But Government thought this was such an important matter, which affected the daily lives of millions of India's population, that Government must have a centralised policy so that the people might be benefited by a larger production of salt. Our decision is to manufacture salt within India under Government aegis wherever possible on a large scale. We shall also allow private enterprise to develop under a licensed system. We are extremely anxious that the quality of salt must be preserved and also raised. We shall also allow every private individual to manufacture salt for his own consumption or for local consumption, as is being done in different parts of India. I have no doubt that if Government and private enterprise combined together for producing salt and improving its quality, within two or three years we shall be able to produce all that we require.

Here, as the House may be interested to know, our per capita consumption today is only 12 lbs. as against the average world figure of 30 lbs. While we take our average consumption as 12 lbs. we do not take into consideration consumption for agricultural purposes, specially for consumption by cattle. Our cattle—who counted them I do not know, but I am told—are about 20 crores in number in India. If they have to be, or if a portion of them have to be supplied with salt for improving our agricultural conditions, then we require a larger production of salt and that Government intends to have. This is a matter for which we shall have to work in co-operation with some of the States. My friend the Prime Minister of Jaipur is one of the main persons who will be involved in this matter and I have discussed this with him and also with the Maharaja of Jodhpur. I am assured of co-operation from various States. Whatever the States may say of not allowing the Indian Union Government to interfere, except with regard to defence, foreign relations and communications, at any rate with regard to salt there is complete unanimity of opinion that India must be treated as one country and produce all the salt that she can.

With these words I would now suggest that my Honourable friend may withdraw the motion.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: In deference to the wish of the Honourable Minister, I seek the permission of the House to withdraw my cut motion.

Mr. Speaker: Has the Honourable Member permission to withdraw his cut motion?

The cut motion was by leave of the Assembly withdrawn.

DEMAND NO. 21.—MINISTRY OF COMMERCE

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Sir, I move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 28,13,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Commerce'."

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 28,13,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Commerce'."

There are two cut motions. They deal with the same subject—one more general and the other more restrictive. I would like both to be moved so that the discussion may be common.

Corruption in working of Import and Export Licensing

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): Before moving the cut motion, may I seek your permission to correct a typographical error which escaped my attention. The last word "Board" has to be dropped and I would further seek your permission to permit me to enlarge the scope of the discussion. It is really speaking the Commerce Ministry which is under discussion. So it should not be restricted to imports. It may apply to export also. Sir, I move:

"That the demand under the head 'Ministry of Commerce' be reduced by Rs. 100."

Mr. Speaker: I will put this motion to the House. Then after the Finance Minister has moved Demand No. 10 the Cut Motion of Mr. Naziruddin Ahmed may be moved and then discussion may proceed on both the motions.

Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Ministry of Commerce' be reduced by Rs. 100."

DEMAND NO. 10 —CABINET

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I move:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,63,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Cabinet'."

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,63,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Cabinet'."

Corruption in Government Departments

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, I move:

"That the demand under the head 'Cabinet' be reduced by Rs. 100."

Mr. Speaker: Cut motion moved:

"That the demand under the head 'Cabinet' be reduced by Rs. 100."

شری دیش بندھو گیتا : جناب! صدر! میرے لائق دوست ڈاکٹر شام پوشاد مکر جی نے ابھی اپنے جوابی تقریر میں ہاؤس کی توجہ اس طرف کھینچی ہے کہ ہمیں اس بات کا خیال رکھنا چاہیے کہ ہمارے منہ سے کوئی ایسی بات نہ نکلے جس کی وجہ سے سارے ملک کی ندامت ہو۔ میں قائم مقام کامرس منسٹر اور دیگر انٹریبل منسٹران کو یقین دلاتا ہوں کہ نہ صرف مجھ کو بلکہ ہاؤس کے ہر ایک ممبر جب کبھی کسی متعلقہ کی corruption کی طرف گورنمنٹ کی توجہ دلائی پڑتی ہے تو اس سے خوشی حاصل نہیں ہوتی۔ آج جبکہ اتنے سالوں کی جدوجہد کے بعد ہمارا ملک آزاد ہوا ہے۔ اور آزاد ملک کے اس آزاد پارلیمنٹ میں پہلا بجٹ پیش کیا گیا ہے کیا ہی اچھا ہوتا کہ ہم میں سے کسی کو کسی دیپارٹمنٹ کے متعلق اس طرح کی شکایت نہ ہوتی۔ اور اننگلی اٹھا کر یہ کہنا نہ پڑتا کہ فلاں دیپارٹمنٹ میں کرپشن اور inefficiency ہے۔ جناب! میں آپ کو یقین دلاتا ہوں کہ آج کامرس دیپارٹمنٹ کے متعلق یہ کٹ موشن move کرنے کا موقع دیا گیا۔ اس کی مجھے کوئی خوشی نہیں ہے۔ اب سے پیشتر میرے لائق دوست جو اب وزارت کے بنچوں پر بیٹھے ہیں وہ ایوزیشن بنچوں پر بیٹھا کرتے تھے۔ اور گو اس وقت کے بجٹ کی بحث پر نظر ڈالی جائے تو معلوم ہوگا کہ وہ خود بھی حکومت کیخلاف اس قسم کی تقریریں کیا کرتے تھے۔ جیسی کہ آج اُنکے خلاف کیگٹی ہیں میں مانتا ہوں کہ صدیوں کے گناہ دنوں میں نہیں دھوئے جاسکتے لیکن ہمیں تو یہ دیکھنا ہے کہ اس پندرہ ماہ کے عرصہ میں جب سے ان حضرات نے حکومت کی باگ ڈور ہاتھ میں لی ہے یعنی بارہ ماہ انٹریم حکومت کے اور تین ماہ آزاد حکومت کے وزرا کی حیثیت سے انہوں نے ان تمام شکایات کا کس حد تک ازالہ کیا جو کہ ہمیں غیر ملکی دوسری حکومت کیخلاف تھیں۔ دیکھنا یہ ہے آیا اب بھی وہ شکایات اسی طرح موجود ہیں یا نہیں۔ مجھے یاد ہے جب ہمارے پرائم منسٹر صاحب جنگ کے زمانے میں تقریریں کیا کرتے تھے تو وہ بڑے زور سے کہا کرتے تھے کہ شاید اس قدر کرپشن اور inefficiency دنیا کے کسی گورنمنٹ میں نہیں ہے جس قدر کہ ہندوستان میں ہے۔ اور درحقیقت یہ بات بھی درست لیکن آج اگر ہم ذرا اپنی طرف توجہ کریں تو ہمیں یہ ماننا پڑیگا کہ ملک نے جو آسائش حکومت سے لگائی تھیں وہ اس عرصہ میں پوری نہیں ہوئیں۔ چنانچہ کل خد خد انٹریبل فائینانس منسٹر نے اس امر کو تسلیم کیا کہ آج ابھی بہت سی وہ باتیں صحیح معلوم ہوتی ہیں جو وہ اس وقت کیا کرتے تھے جب کہ وہ ایوزیشن کے بنچوں پر بیٹھا کرتے تھے۔ ان حالات میں یہ بات غور طلب ہے کہ اس صورت حالات کو بدلنے کے لئے ہمیں کیا کرنے کی ضرورت ہے۔ یوں تو اس وقت تک ہاؤس میں جتنے بھی cut motions پیش کئے گئے ہیں اُنکا نچوڑہ ہی ہے کہ تقریباً سب دیپارٹمنٹ میں بہت زیادہ کرپشن موجود ہے۔ لیکن میں کہوں گا کہ کامرس دیپارٹمنٹ خصوصیت کے ساتھ ایسا دیپارٹمنٹ ہے جس کے متعلق ایک نہیں دو نہیں بلکہ سب

کی بھی رائے ہے کہ اس میں بے حد کرپشن اور inefficiency ہے۔ اس کی وجہ شاید یہ ہو کہ اس متعلق میں اتنی بڑی temptations ہیں کہ بڑے بڑے آدمی بھی اپنی جگہ سے ہل جاتے ہیں اور ایسا محسوس ہونے لگتا ہے کہ خود باز کھیت کو کھا رہی ہے۔ میں یہ بات صاف کر دینا چاہتا ہوں مجھے موجودہ وزارت کی نیت پر کسی قسم کا شک نہیں ہے بلکہ میرے کہنے کا مقصد محض یہ ہے کہ ہمیں سنجیدگی کے ساتھ دیکھنا ہے کہ ہم اپنے ارادوں میں کس حد تک کامیاب ہوئے ہیں اور ہم اس سے آئندہ کیا امید کر سکتے ہیں۔ کامرس دیپارٹمنٹ کے بارے میں میں جو کچھ سنتا ہوں اس سے مجھے بہت حیرت ہوتی ہے۔ یہ میرا special subject نہیں تھا۔ مگر اتفاق سے ایک روز میری نظر ایک اخبار میں شائع شدہ خبر کی طرف گئی جس کا heading تھا ۲۲ کرپشن ان کامرس دیپارٹمنٹ ۲۲ میں نے اسکو پڑھا اور پوچھنا چاہا کہ تو پتہ چلا کہ آج کل Export اور امپورٹ لائسنس حاصل کرنے میں لوگوں کو بہت مشکلات پیش آتی ہیں اور متعلقہ کے کچھ لوگ اس سلسلہ میں اپنی پوزیشن کا ناجائز فائدہ اٹھا رہے ہیں اور حکومت کے لئے بدنامی کا باعث بنے ہوئے ہیں۔ اس سے پیشتر میرا خیال نہیں تھا کہ اس متعلق میں اتنی برائی ہے۔ اگرچہ اخباروں میں اکثر اسکے متعلق کچھ نہ کچھ نکلتا رہتا تھا مگر اب تو ایسا محسوس ہوتا ہے کہ پیاز کے چھلکے کی طرح اس متعلق کا بھی یہ حال ہے جتنا کریدو اتنی ہی زیادہ خرابی نظر آتی ہے۔ آج ہی میرے ایک دوست نے بتایا کہ ایک صاحب کو ایک چیز کے Export کرنے کے لئے لائسنس ملا۔ مگر جلدی کی وجہ سے اُس میں ایک Zero ٹائپ ہونے سے وہ گیا، جب مال جہاز پر لانے کا موقع آیا تو اُسکو معلوم ہوا کہ لائسنس میں ایک صفر رہ گیا ہے۔ کاغذات سب موجود تھے اور صاف پتہ چلتا تھا کہ یہ صرف Typography کی غلطی ہے۔ جب اس غلطی کو درست کرنے کیلئے دفتر سے کہا گیا تو اسکیلئے دس ہزار روپیہ طلب کیا گیا۔ اس پر ایک انٹریبل ممبر کی توجہ اس کی طرف دلائی گئی۔ انہوں نے اس معاملہ کو اپنے ہاتھ میں لیا تب کہیں خدا خدا کر کے اُنکی مداخلت سے یہ غلطی تھیک کیگئی۔ اگر آپ آج بمبئی یا کلکتہ چلے جائیں تو آپ کو معلوم ہوگا کہ وہاں پر کیا حالات ہیں۔ انٹریبل کامرس ممبر بھی بمبئی کے ہیں اُنکو بھی معلوم ہی ہوگا کہ وہاں کی یہ حالت ہے کہ اگر وہاں پر کسی کو دس ہزار روپیہ کا اکسپورٹ لائسنس ملا ہے تو وہ اُسکو لیکر بازار میں دس ہزار یا آٹھ ہزار روپیہ میں فروخت کر سکتا ہے۔ ایسی صورت ایک instance نہیں ہے بلکہ سینکڑوں مثالیں ایسی ہیں اور یہ کام وہاں پر بازاروں میں کھلے طور پر ہوتا ہے۔ اس سے آپ اندازہ لگا سکتے ہیں کہ اگر دس ہزار روپیہ کے export کے پرمٹ کو دس ہزار روپیہ میں بازار میں کھلے طور پر فروخت کیا جاتا ہے تو اس پرمٹ کو حاصل کرنے کے لئے دفتر کے لوگوں پر دو تین ہزار روپیہ خرچ کر دیا جائے تو یہ ایک معمولی بات ہے corruption کا یہ اتنا بڑا دروازہ ہم نے اپنی غلط

[شری دیپش بندھو گپتا]

پالیسی سے کھولا ہے جسکی رو سے اُن لوگوں کو بھی لائسنس دئے جانے میں جو امپورٹ اکسپورٹ کا کام نہیں کرتے۔ افسوس ہے کہ اس پر بھی کوئی توجہ نہیں دی جاتی۔ مجھے موجودہ حکومت کی مشکلات کا اندازہ ہے اور اُس کے ساتھ کافی ہمدردی ہے۔ میں جانتا ہوں اس ڈیپارٹمنٹ کے انچارج منسٹر صاحب کا کام آسان نہیں برسوں کا جمع ہوا ہوا کوزا ایک دن صاف نہیں کیا جا سکتا۔ اس لئے میں اُس سے کسی جادو کی توقع نہیں رکھتا لیکن ہمیں دیکھنا یہ ہے کہ موجودہ حکومت نے اس چار ماہ کے عرصہ میں ان حالات کو درست کرنے کے لئے کیا کیا قدم اُٹھائے ہیں اور اس خرابی کو دور کرنے کے لئے کونسی تجویزیں اختیار کی ہیں نیز کونسا ایسا دھنگ سوچا ہے جس سے یہ کرپشن بند ہو جائے۔ اگر لائق وزیر صاحب شانتی سے اس بات پر غور کریں گے تو انہیں ماننا پڑیگا کہ وہ اس سوال کا جواب نشی میں ہے وہاں ۴۴ میں نہیں۔ درحقیقت کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ میں import & export لائسنسوں کے بارے صاف اور واضح پالیسی نہ ہونیکے باعث نیز غیر کاروباری آدمیوں کو لائسنس دینے کا طریقہ جاری رکھنے کی وجہ آج corruption انتہا درجہ کو پہنچ گئی ہے اور اتنی بری حالت ہوگئی ہے کہ آپکو دہلی کے ہوٹلوں میں ایسے سینکڑوں لوگ پڑے ہوئے ملیں گے جو ہر روز کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ کے دروازوں پر دستک دیتے ہیں اور کسی نہ کسی طرح لائسنس حاصل کرنیکی کوشش کرتے دھتے ہیں۔ پہلی غلطی ہم سے یہ ہوئی ہے کہ ہم نے ۱۹۴۶ء میں جنرل سٹرلنگ ایریا کے ملکوں کیلئے جنرل امپورٹ لائسنس کی پالیسی اختیار کی اور ڈالر ایریا کیلئے فری لائسنس کی پالیسی اختیار کی گئی جسکا نتیجہ یہ ہوا کہ بہت تھوڑے عرصہ میں ملک میں کروڑوں روپے کا سامان آگیا اور جن چیزوں کی خاص ضرورت ملک میں نہ بھی تھی وہ بھی ملک میں ضرورت سے زیادہ مقدار میں آگئی۔ مثلاً توتہ برش - فونٹین پین - Cosmetics وغیرہ۔ ہمیں چاہیئے تھا کہ ہم ایسی چیزوں پر کنٹرول اور ان کے درآمد کو بندھ ہی کرتے۔ ایسا ہونے کی وجہ سے نہ صرف کروڑوں ڈالر اور پونڈ خرچ ہوئے بلکہ اس ملک کی انڈسٹری پر بہت برا اثر پڑا ہے۔ اسوقت ان چیزوں کی درآمد کو جو غیر ضروری تھیں بندھ نہیں کیا گیا لیکن آج جو چیزیں ضروری ہیں اُنکو بندھ کرنا پڑ رہا ہے۔ مثال کے طور پر ہمارے ملک میں جنگ سے پہلے کاسٹک سوڈے کا average import ستائیس ہزار ٹن تھا اور اب سات ہزار ٹن کے قریب کیا جاتا ہے۔ یہ تھیک ہے کہ اب یہاں پر بھی کاسٹک بنائے لگا ہے۔ لیکن اس ساری پیداوار کو ملا کر بھی مشکل سے چودہ ہزار ٹن بنتے ہیں۔ اسطریق پر کاسٹک سوڈے کی کمی کی وجہ سے کئی انڈسٹریاں خاص کر جو صابن بنانے کے کارخانے جنگ کے زمانہ میں بنائے گئے تھے اُن میں سے بہت سے بند ہوگئے ہیں اور جو باقی بچے ہیں اُنہیں سے بھی کچھ بند ہوتے نظر آ رہے ہیں۔ ہماری دوسری غلطی یہ ہے کہ کچھ عرصہ سے یہ پالیسی اختیار کی گئی ہے کہ جو لوگ امپورٹ یا اکسپورٹ trade سے کوئی

تعلق نہیں رکھتے ہیں اُنکو بھی پچیس فیصدی لائسنس دیئے جاتے ہیں۔ اس پالیسی کا مقصد کیا تھا اور اسکا نتیجہ کیا ہوا میں اُسکی تفصیل میں نہیں جانا چاہتا لیکن اس سے جو نقصان پہنچا ہے وہ صاف ہے۔ ایک تو Corruption بڑھ گئی دوسرے غیر ضروری چیزوں پر ملک کی دولت خرچ ہوگئی۔ کوئی باقاعدہ پلان نہ ہونے سے اور ناتجربہ کار لوگوں کو لائسنس مل جانے سے۔ پنسلین جیسی دوائی کی درآمد کے لئے اتنے لائسنس دیدئے گئے کہ اب اُسکی معیاد ختم ہونے کی وجہ سے کافی ستاک مالک میں خراب ہو رہا ہے۔ اسطرح اور بہت سی ایسی ہی چیزیں ملک میں آئیں جو ملک کے کام نہیں آ رہی۔ مثلاً Paints اور ڈائیز۔ معلوم ہوا ہے کہ مالک میں تین کروڑ کی ڈائیز (رنگ) ایکروم آگئیں اور اُنہیں سے بیشتر ایسی ہیں کہ جو کام کے نہیں تھے۔ میں لایق وزیر صاحب کی توجہ اس طرف دلانا چاہتا ہوں اور پوچھنا چاہتا ہوں کہ کیا اُنہوں نے اس ساڑھے چار ماہ کے عرصہ میں یہ دیکھنے کی کوشش کی کہ کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ میں کیا ہوتا رہا ہے؟ آج بھی کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ کی یہ حالت ہے کہ ایک کنٹرولر اور ڈپٹی کنٹرولر آپ لائسنس دیتے بیٹھا ہوا ہوتا ہے اور اُس نے چند کلرک ہوتے ہیں۔ باہر ایک نوٹس بورڈ لگا ہے جس پر لکھا ہوا ہے۔ No interviews allowed۔ رجسٹرڈ چٹھیوں کا جواب نہیں دیا جاتا۔ اگر کوئی آدمی خود جاکر کچھ دریافت کرنا چاہے تو اُس سے کہا جاتا ہے کہ آپ نے نوٹس بورڈ کو نہیں دیکھا ہے اُس میں تو لکھا ہے کہ "No interviews allowed" اسکا نتیجہ یہ ہے کہ جن فرموں کی طرف سے لائسنس کیلئے درخواستیں دی ہوئی ہوتی ہیں پریشان ہو جاتے ہیں۔ اور وقت پر لائسنس نہ ملنے سے سوروں کی معیاد گزر جاتی ہے۔ اور جب تک کہ وہ کسی Subordinate کو oblige نہ کریں اور اُس کی ہتھیلی گرم نہ کریں تب تک کچھ بھی نہیں بنتا۔

مجھے خود اس کا تلخ تجربہ ہوا ہے۔ میرے ایک جرنلسٹ دوست نے مجھے بمبئی سے ٹیلیفون کیا کہ میں نے printing machinery کے لئے import لائسنس کی درخواست بھیجی تھی مگر بار بار یاد دہانی کرانے پر بھی ابھی تک کوئی جواب نہیں آیا۔ میں نے Indian and Eastern News papers Society کے سکریتری سے کہا۔ اُس نے دو تین دفعہ کوشش کی لیکن دفتر سے جواب دے دیا گیا کہ فائل نہیں ملتی۔ دفتر کی حالت اتنی خراب ہے کہ اکثر اوقات ایسا ہوتا ہے کہ جب درخواست نہ ملے اور کوئی آدمی ذرا اٹروسخ والا ہو تو اس کو کہا جاتا ہے کہ تم ایک fresh application دیدو۔ اُس کو ہم original application treat کریں گے۔ عام طور پر لوگوں کی درخواستیں آتی ہیں تو وہ کہتے ہیں چلی جاتی ہیں اور پھر انکا کوئی پتہ آسانی سے نہیں چلتا یہ انکی inefficiency کا ایک پہلو ہے۔ اس سلسلہ میں ایک اور مثال دینا چاہتا ہوں کہ مدراس گورنمنٹ نے سفارش کی کہ ایک فرم کو Bone grish export کرنے کی اجازت دی جائے۔ اول تو کوئی وجہ نہ تھی کہ جب بمبئی - کراچی اور کلکتہ

[شری دیش باندھو گپتا]

یہ expert ہوتی رہی ہے تو مدراس پر کیوں پابندی لگائی گئی - غالباً پہلی گورنمنٹ نے ایک یورپین فرم کو favour کرنیکے لئے ایسا کیا تھا۔ یہ شکایت تو کانگریس گورنمنٹ نے جب اس بارے میں توجہ دلائی گئی دور کردی اور اپنی سفارش کے ساتھ مدراس گورنمنٹ نے ایکسپورت لائسنس کی درخواست سرکار ہند کو بھیج دی۔ مگر اسکے باوجود نہیں دیا گیا۔ اور عذر کیا گیا کہ درخواست نہیں ملتی اس پر کافی خط و کتابت ہوئی اور ابھی تک کامیابی نہیں ہوئی - یہ ہے یہاں کی inefficiency کی حالت اس لئے پیشتر اس کے کہ میں اپنی تقریر کو conclude کروں میں اپنے لائق دوست کی راجو اب اس قیپارٹمنٹ کے انچارج ہیں - توجہ اُس تقریر کی طرف دلانا چاہتا ہوں۔ جو کہ انہوں نے اس سے پیشتر سالانہ بجٹ کے موقع پر اسی محکمہ کے متعلق کی تھی - میرے لائق دوست شری پت گڈگل نے اپنی اُس تقریر میں فرمایا تھا -

"Take every other Department, particularly where the control system obtains. A man who had nothing to do with a particular business is given a monopoly of that business. A man who cannot distinguish between a pillar and a post suddenly becomes a building contractor. A man who does not know how to deal with cotton—whether to weigh it or measure it—becomes a licence holder. A man who does not know about the trade suddenly gets a licence, although the policy of the Government is not to disturb normal trade channels. Why is this done? Is it efficiency or corruption?"

I want to make a present of these few lines to my Honourable friend and ask him to see that as long as he is there—and he is of course there as part of the Government—no occasion is given to this House to make such observations in respect of any Department of the Government.

(English translation of the above speech.)

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): Mr. Speaker, my able friend Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee has, in his reply, just drawn the attention of the House to the fact that we should bear in mind that no such word escapes our mouth as might defame our country. I assure the acting Commerce Minister and other Honourable Ministers that not only myself, but no other member of the House feels happy, whenever we have to draw the attention of the Government to the corruption in any department. Today, when our country has achieved freedom after so many years' endeavours, and in the independent Parliament of an independent country, the first Budget has been presented how much happy we would have been if we had no occasion to point our fingers towards any department saying that it was corrupt and inefficient. Sir, I assure you that, to-day, in moving the cut motion on the Commerce Department, I feel no happiness at all. Formerly, my able friends who are now occupying Ministerial seats used to sit on the opposition benches, and if we glance at some Budget of the corresponding period we will find that they themselves were delivering similar speeches against the Government. Admitting that sin of centuries cannot be washed in days; we have to see that during this fifteen months time these ministers have taken the responsibility of administration, how far, as ministers, they have succeeded in redressing the grievances, which we had against the alien rule, during this period of fifteen months (i.e. 12 months of Interim Government and 3 months of independent administration), since they have shouldered responsibility of administration. It is to be seen whether those complaints still exist as such? I recollect that, during the war, when our Prime Minister used to say, emphatically, in his speech that probably so much corruption and inefficiency did not exist in any Government in the world, as it did in India. And, as a matter of fact, this was correct. But, if we direct our attention to this matter to-day, we will note that during this period the Administration could not act up to the expectations of the country. The Honourable Minister for Finance himself confessed yesterday that even today many of the matters he criticized previously, while sitting on opposition benches, seem to be still in existence. Under these circumstances, it is worth consideration what should we do to change these conditions. The essence of all the cut motions presented before the House upto this time is that almost every department has much corruption in it. But, I would say that the Commerce Department, in particular, is such a Department, about which one and all are of the opinion that it is extremely corrupt and inefficient. The cause is that this Department provides so great temptations that even big people fall a prey to them, and one feels as if the protective hedge itself is feeding upon the field. I should make it clear that I have no doubts at all of the good intentions of the existing ministry, but, what I mean to say is that we have to see seriously how far we have succeeded in our efforts, and what can we expect from it in the future?

As regards the Commerce Department, whatever I have heard is simply astonishing. This was not my special subject, but, by chance, one day I happened to glance over a news, published in a paper, the heading of which ran "Corruption in the Commerce Department". I read it, and after making enquiries it was discovered that the people are facing great difficulties now-a-days in obtaining Export and Import licences, and that some of the men in the department have been taking unfair advantage of their positions, and have become a source of bringing a bad name to the administration. Formerly, I did not think that this department was so corrupt, in spite of the fact that in the papers, some malpractices in the department were often pointed out. But, now, I find that the deeper you go into the working of this department the more you discover its worthlessness, like an addled onion.

Today, a friend told me that a certain man obtained a licence to export a commodity but in haste one zero could not be typed in it. At the time of loading the goods on the ship, he found that a cypher was left out in the licence. All the documents were there, and it was clear that it was simply a typographical mistake. But, when the office was asked to rectify this mistake a sum of Rs. 10,000 was demanded for the work. The attention of an Honourable Member was drawn to this fact. He took this matter in his hands, and then only after much ado through his efforts the mistake was corrected.

You will come to know what conditions are in Bombay or in Calcutta, if you just go there. As the Honourable Commerce Minister also hails from Bombay, he too must be knowing that the situation there is such that a man, who has obtained a licence for the export of ten thousand yards of cloth, can sell it for rupees eight or ten thousands, in the market. Such instances are not uncommon; there are hundreds of such examples. Such transactions are made there openly.

From this, one can judge one thing that if the permit to export ten thousand yards of cloth can be sold for rupees ten thousands in the open market, then to spend rupees two or three thousands in bribing the people in the office is a simple affair.

By following the wrong policy we have opened this big gate of 'Corruption', and through it those people also who are neither exporters nor importers obtain licences. It is regretted that no attention is paid to it. I appreciate the difficulties of the existing Government, and I have full sympathy with them. Admitting that the Honourable Minister in charge of this Department has not an easy task to do, and the accumulated rubbish of years cannot be cleared in a day, I do not expect magic results. But we have to see what steps have been taken to set these things right, and what measures have been adopted by the present Government to remove the evils during this period of four months, and also what plans have been designed to put an end to the corruption. If the Honourable Minister will consider this matter dispassionately, his answer to this question will be in the negative, not in the affirmative. As a matter of fact, firstly, in the absence of any clear cut policy of the Commerce Department in granting licences for Export and Import of goods and secondly the continuation of the practice of issuing such licences to non-businessmen have led to extreme corruption which we are witnessing today. In the hotels of Delhi, you will find hundreds of such people who daily knock at the doors of the Commerce Department and try their best to obtain Export or Import licences by fair means or foul.

[Shri Deshbandhu Gupta]

The first mistake that was committed by us was that we adopted the policies of granting General Import Licence for the Sterling Area and of Free Licence for the Dollar Area countries. The result was that in a short time the country was flooded with crores worth of articles like tooth brushes, fountain pens, cosmetics that were not wanted and in such a quantity as far exceeded its requirements.

We thought to have exercised control over such articles and stopped their imports, but as it was not done, not only crores of dollars and pounds were wasted, but the country's industry was badly hit. At that time the import of such articles that were unnecessary was not stopped, but today we find that the import of things that are necessary has to be stopped. For instance, our country imported before the war, 27 to 28 thousand tons of caustic soda, but now it is hardly 7 thousand tons. It is correct to say that even here the manufacture of caustic soda has been started. But still adding to this production the total quantity of caustic soda comes to 14 thousand tons only. Thus, due to the scarcity of caustic soda, several of the industries, especially the soap factories, which were started during the war time have been perforce stopped and some of the rest are being closed.

Our another mistake is that a short time ago we have adopted the policy of granting 25 per cent. of the licences even to those who have no concern whatsoever with Export and Import business. I do not want to go into the details regarding the objects and results of this policy. But the evil results this policy has given, are manifest. Firstly, corruption has increased, and secondly waste of country's revenue on purchase of non essential goods have been misused.

In the absence of a regular plan, and by issuing licences to inexperienced people, so many licences were issued for importing of such a costly medicine as penicillin that due to the expiry of the period of its efficacy a considerable stock is still lying useless in the country. In this manner many other such articles were imported as are unserviceable to the country, for instance paints, and dyes. It has come to light that dyes and colours worth 3 crores of rupees were imported all of a sudden, and a majority of them were such as were quite useless.

I want to draw the attention of the Honourable Minister to this matter, and would like to ask whether he has tried to see during this period of 4 months what is going on in the Commerce Department. Today also, the condition of the Commerce Department is that there are a Controller and a Deputy Controller of Licences, and a few clerks. There is a notice board outside, on which is written "No interviews allowed". No reply is given to the registered letters. If any body wants to enquire for himself, he is told, that he has not seen the notice board on which is written "No interviews are allowed". The result of this is that the firms which applied for licences are put to harassment and owing to not obtaining the licences in time, the time limit of the transactions expires, and until they oblige any subordinate, bribe him, no results can be expected.

I myself have had its bitter experience. A journalist friend of mine phoned me from Bombay that he sent an application for obtaining a license to import printing machinery, but inspite of repeated reminders to the department he got no reply at all. I, on my part, mentioned the fact to the Secretary, Indian and Eastern News Papers Society, who tried twice or thrice, and was told by the office that the file was not traceable.

The condition of the office is so deplorable, that it often happens that when an application is not traceable and if it is from an influential man, he is told that he should put in a fresh application which will be treated as an original application. In the ordinary course, the applications of the people are received and are put in the waste-paper-basket, and then they are not traceable easily. This is one side of the picture of the inefficiency of the department. In this connection, I would like to quote one more instance. The Government of Madras, recommended to the Central Government that a certain firm be permitted to export crushed bones. Firstly there was no reason why any restrictions were laid on Madras, when this article was being exported from Karachi, Bombay and Calcutta. Probably, the previous Government have done so to favour a European firm. This complaint was removed by the Congress Government when its attention was drawn to this matter and the Government of Madras forwarded the application for Export Licences with its recommendations to the Government of India, but in spite of that, no license was issued and an excuse was offered that the application was not traceable. Correspondence followed, but still no success has been achieved so far.

Such is the condition of the inefficiency of this Department.

Before I conclude my speech I would like to draw the attention of the Honourable Minister for Commerce to that speech which he delivered at the Annual Budget, in connection with this department. My Honourable friend Shri Gadgil said in this speech:

"Take every other Department, particularly where the control system obtains. A man who had nothing to do with a particular business is given a monopoly of that business. A man who cannot distinguish between a pillar and a post suddenly becomes a building contractor. A man who does not know how to deal with cotton—whether to weigh it or measure it—becomes a licence holder. A man who does not know about the trade and licence, although the policy of the Government is not to disturb normal trade channels. Why is this done? Is it efficiency or corruption?"

I want to make a present of these few lines to my Honourable friend and ask him to see that as long as he is there—and he is of course there as part of the Government—no occasion is given to this House to make such observations in respect of any Department of the Government.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the last speaker has read out an illuminating passage from the speech of the Minister in charge of the Department concerned. I would simply appeal to Mr. Gadgil the old Member of the House rather than Mr. Gadgil the present Minister. Sir, an eminent Minister who comes from my Province, Dr. Mookerjee, advanced a somewhat strange argument that in discussing corruption we should take care to see that we do not bring down the fair name of Indians before the world. If we accept that advice this debate on the cut motion would be absolutely untenable. To yield to it would be to disclose an inferiority complex. There are now no foreigners to rule over us, we are our own masters; and it is up to us to remove corruption and for that purpose to discuss it. My view however is that everybody in India is not corrupt. It is only the few well placed men who are corrupt. The alleged connivance of the public in the corruption is due only to the helpless condition in which they find themselves. Corruption is not in the public or the general consumers as such. They are forced to submit to certain exactions and pay some fines in order to procure their necessities of life. They are victims of crime rather than criminals. In making my remarks to this House about corruption, therefore, I want to point out that they are not directed towards the community as such but towards a few criminals and bad characters a microscopic minority who masquerade in government offices. There are again a few men who ply their trade whose occupation is a kind of corridor practice in government offices. They are the go-between the public and the officials. Corrupted officials form only a microscopic minority among the officials. Whatever has been or will be said in this House must therefore be understood to be directed towards those few notorious people who have tarnished the fair name of India.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

Sir, it is not my purpose to narrate to the House examples of corruption in the country. It is so notorious. The subject has been dealt with so ably and so fully in connection with the previous cut motions as well as on other occasions that it is not necessary for me to revert to them again. I take it that it is an accepted fact both in the House as well as outside the House that corruption exists in gigantic proportions and that it has got to be put down.

In this connection I wish to submit to the House only one or two queer results of control of cloth. In Bengal we are supposed to get nine yards in the Province and 25 yards in the town of Calcutta. Apart from that inconsistency there is no guarantee that the nine yards of cloth would be dhoties or sarees or cloth which can be made into pyjamas or kurtas as the consumers may need. But you are only entitled, if you are fortunate, to get your nine yards.

It has happened in some cases men who wanted their quota of dhoties and sarees, were given nine yards of cloth, but that cloth was suitable only for making pillow cases. The entire consignment in the shop then consisted of cloth for pillow cases. So the quota had to be taken in cloth suitable for pillow cases only. If anyone objected, the reply was 'you have got to take it or leave it'. One gentleman has made a pillow case out of this cloth and has adapted it to a coat. He has taken off the ends and has put two arms of another coat, and has adapted it as the Government of India Act has been adapted in consequence of the Indian Independence Act. This gentleman adapted it to make it wearable. His idea was that as soon as suitable cloth would be available, he would reconvert it into a pillow case and use the cloth available to make kurtas. This is how control stands. There is another story of a gentleman who was suffering from cloth control. A friend of his went to him in the evening and found him sitting in darkness in his parlour. When asked the reason he said, 'first of all I am suffering from kerosene control'. The friend said 'Well, I am prepared to lend you something from my quota'. The other then explained 'That is not all. There is another kind of control, the cloth control.' When the former wanted to have more light, he said 'I am an honest man, I do not go to the black market; between me and my wife, we have only one saree and no dhoti for me; my wife has a visitor, a lady friend, in her apartment and so she is wearing the saree and I have now to remain in darkness'. After some time when he was sure that his wife's visitor had gone away, he went in and came back wearing a saree. The lamp in the parlour was then lit. These are only some of the hundreds of other stories which may be recited in the House. These are the lighter sides of control. There are certainly the darker aspects. We have to laugh at these things because we have grown so much accustomed to these things. We submit to troubles, difficulties and privations relying upon God.

I submit that it is not necessary for me to deal any further with that aspect of the case. Dr. Mookerjee has said that we should give him specific instances, and he qualified his remark by saying that 'if' there is corruption, 'if' there are these excesses here and there, and 'if' they are reported to him, then of course he will move. I think the instances cited before him are quite enough for him to look into them, and I think he can easily verify them by going into the common men's houses or by sending some trusted officers to verify them. Sir, in these circumstances I beg to submit that Dr. Mookerjee should try to check corruption and the existing evil practice, and proceed to apply the remedy.

The 'but'-and-'if' way of approach to the subject will not do. I shall try to suggest some remedies. The remedies that have been followed so far are very inadequate and sometimes most ludicrous, and they were bound to fail. In fact there were detections and prosecutions of the poorest people. A small dealer who is supposed to have bought kerosene at eight annas per seer in the black market had to sell it for nine annas. A small village dealer like him is prosecuted but the big fries are allowed to escape, and then when these prosecutions are launched, the cases are most negligently and badly conducted. When the cases come before the court, it is within the knowledge of all lawyers that they are very badly managed and ultimately the accused persons are allowed to escape, but in all this business the smaller fry is always in the wrong and the bigger fries are allowed to go scot free. If you go to any government official, he will say "I am ready to help you 'if' you catch hold of the culprit." May I ask in all humility whose duty it is, as was asked by Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya? It is certainly the duty of the Government and their officials to find out all the things which are happening undoubtedly around us and almost under our nose. It is within their reach only if they will care to find out. I therefore submit that a new kind of approach should be made in trying to cure the situation. There were anti-corruption bodies set up. But somehow or other the anti-corruption bodies themselves became corrupt, and so it would be necessary to set up another anti-corruption body or the Gestapo to set them right. I submit that Government should show rather more dash, greater initiative, more strength and greater promptness in dealing with these cases. If the Honourable Minister went in disguise to any of the shops in New Delhi, he would find how things are being managed and it is up to him to take serious steps and to call upon the officials who are in charge of these things to remedy matters. There is a suggestion by an Honourable Member to my left that he would be killed. I think it would be better for him to be killed rather than that he should allow millions of our people to be killed by slow degrees. I think he should take the risk and see how matters stand. If there is fear of being killed and if that should be a sufficient ground for a Minister to prevent him from looking into these things, I think the Ministry should go, but I should think that a little promptness and a little boldness on the part of the Government in approaching the problem would be enough. These black-marketeers, bad characters and blood suckers, should feel that real steps are being taken to catch hold of them. Unless you introduce this amount of fear in their minds, the existing corruption will not cease. But corruption goes on merrily apace.

Then Sir, I think that stringent law should be passed and this should provide summary trials and it should also provide for summary punishment, and in some suitable cases flogging should be administered as Mr. Kamath suggests. I think there should be no limit to the drastic character of the law that should be introduced at once. Then again it is not mere law that will effect the cure. It is necessary for the Government, from the highest quarters to the lowest, to be alert. It is only by drastic, strong and quick executive drive that you can touch or check evil doers.

There is however one bright spot in the administration, it is the attitude of the Government of West Bengal. In West Bengal the new Ministry is in fact very wide awake. It is not slow to make enquiries. It is not afraid even to touch the highest officials. A District Judge who was in office has been prosecuted, and a retired District Magistrate is going to be prosecuted. I think the manner in which the Ministry in West Bengal has begun the work shows great promise, and I would request the Central Government to emulate their methods if possible. The Government may adopt a similar attitude if they like. If they like they can stop corruption altogether. With these few words, Sir, I move my motion.

گیانی گرمکھ سنگھ مسافر: صاحب صدر! جو دو کٹ موٹرز اسوقت ہاؤس کے سامنے پیس ہوئی ہیں۔ اُن میں سے جو کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ سے تعلق رکھتی ہے۔ اُس کے متعلق میں صرف دو باتیں کہنا چاہتا ہوں۔ Import licences کے دینے کے لئے جو Procedure یا way of working ہے اُس میں ایک بہت بڑا نقص ہے۔ جسکی وجہ سے بعض دفعہ لائسنس لینے والوں کو بجائے فائدہ کے نقصان ہوتا ہے۔ وہ جب لائسنس لینے کے لئے درخواستیں دیتے آتے ہیں تو اُنکو اس بات کی شہرتی دینی پڑتی ہے کہ وہ manufacturers اُنکو وہ چیز supply کر سکتے ہیں جن کو کہ اُنہوں نے آرڈر دیا ہو۔ دونوں پارٹیوں کے باہمی فیصلہ کے بعد اُنکو اس محکمہ کی ناقص Procedure کے مطابق لائسنس لینے میں دو یا تین ماہ لگتے ہیں اور بعض دفعہ ایسا ہونے میں چیزوں کی قیمتیں بدل جاتی ہے۔ اور وہ اُنکا آرڈر منسوخ نہیں کر سکتے۔ اور اُنہیں وہ چیزیں اُس قیمت پر لینی پڑتی ہیں جس کے مطابق اُنہوں نے پہلے آرڈر دیا ہوتا ہے۔ اس طرح قیمت میں فرق پڑنے کی وجہ سے لائسنس ہولڈر کو بجائے فائدہ کے نقصان اُٹھانا پڑتا ہے۔ اسلئے پہلی بات جو میں صاحب صدر آپ کی اجازت اور وساطت سے اس ہاؤس کے ذریعہ آنریبل منسٹر فار کامرس کے نوٹس میں لانا چاہتا ہوں کہ اس طرح کے نقائص کو دور کرنے کے لئے اور تمام working کو درست کرنے کے لئے جیسا کہ اس کٹ موشن کے الفاظ سے ظاہر ہے ایک نان آفیشل انکوائری کمیٹی بنائی جائے۔ جو اس تمام working اور Procedure کو تھیک کر دے۔ دوسری بات جو میں عرض کرنا چاہتا ہوں وہ یہ ہے Exchange کی تجارت پر پہلے ہی Restrictions ہوتی ہیں اُن Restrictions کو بڑھانے سے خرابی اور بڑھ چائیگی میرے دوست شری یت دیش بندھو گیتا جنہوں نے کہ کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ کے متعلق یہ کٹ موشن پیش کیا ہے۔ اپنی تقریر میں کہا ہے کہ جو لوگ لائسنس کے لئے درخواست کرتے ہیں اُن سے پہلے کام کے ثبوت اور سارٹیفکیٹ مانگے جاتے ہیں مگر اگر کوئی اُن لوگوں کا ہاتھ گرم کرے تو اُسکو لائسنس مل جاتا ہے ایک بات اور بھی ہے نئے آدمی کو لائسنس نہیں دیا جاتا اس بارے میں میں آنریبل منسٹر انچارج کامرس سے یہ گزارش کروں گا کہ evacuees کو آزا دیا جائے۔ اُس وقت ہماری سرکار refugees اور evacuees کی problem کی طرف خاص توجہ دے رہی ہے۔ جو لوگ پاکستان یا ریست مہاجر سے آئے ہیں اور وہاں کے شہروں میں مدتوں سے امپورٹ وغیرہ کا کام کرتے آئے ہیں۔ اُن کے پاس کوئی ثبوت یا سارٹیفکیٹ اُس وقت نہیں ہے۔ کیونکہ اُنکا سب کچھ وہاں پر ضائع ہو گیا ہے اور وہ تین کمپوز میں یہاں آئے ہیں۔ ایسے آدمیوں کو کام دینے کے لئے خاص طور پر شرائط کو ڈھیلا کیا جائے۔ صاحب صدر! آپ ہمارے صدر ہونے کی وجہ سے سرتاج ہیں ہم ممبران کو بھی جو تکلیف پیش آرہی ہیں اُنکو دور کرنے کا آپکو انتظام کرنا چاہئے۔ اور میں یہ التجا کروں گا کہ سرکار کو اس امر کی طرف دھیان دینا ہی پڑے گا یہاں evacuees کی پراپرٹی کے متعلق جو محکمہ بنایا گیا ہے اُسکا دفتر ہمارے اس اسمبلی ہال کے بالکل نزدیک ہے۔ ہر ایک ممبر جب اس اسمبلی سے اُٹھتا ہے تو اُسکو اس دفتر کے سامنے سے ہپی گزر کر جانا پڑتا ہے۔ جن ممبر صاحبان کے پاس موٹریں ہیں وہ تو آرام سے گزر جاتے ہیں۔ لیکن دوسروں کو کافی تکلیف کا سامنا کرنا پڑتا ہے۔

پنجاب کے ممبران کی حالت خاص طور پر قابل رحم ہے جب وہ اسمبلی ہال سے باہر نکلتے ہیں تو لوگ اُنکے گرد جمع ہو جاتے ہیں کمپوز سے پکڑ کر کھڑا کر لیتے ہیں اور مطالبہ کرتے ہیں کہ ہماری بات سن کر ہمارا انتظام کرو آج میرے ساتھ یہی واقع ہوا کہ جب میں لنچ کے لئے باہر نکلا تو تین چار وکیل اور چار دوستوں نے مجھے پکڑ لیا اور کہا کہ آپ لوگ سوئے ہوئے ہیں تمہیں جاگنا چاہئے اور معام کرنا چاہئے کہ ہماری کیا حالت ہے اُنہوں نے کہا کہ ہم سب کچھ کر سکتے ہیں مگر نہیں کر سکتے کیونکہ ہمکو کام نہیں ملتا لائسنس نہیں ملتے۔ صاحب صدر! میں گزارش کروں گا کہ ایسے مصیبت زدہ لوگوں کو پھر سے کام پر لگانے کے لئے کسی حد تک کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ مددگار ثابت ہو سکتا ہے اگر وہ اُنکو کام دیتے وقت نئے پڑانے اور لحاظ ملاحظہ کا خیال چھوڑ دے اس بات کی پرتال کیلئے refugees میں سے کون کون پہلے امپورٹ کا کام کرنے آئے ہیں ایک چار پانچ آدمیوں کی کمیٹی بنا دی جائے۔ اس کمیٹی میں پنجاب کے M. L. As. یا اُن Refugees میں سے ہی ممبر لئے جاسکتے ہیں جو پرتال کر کے سرٹیفکیٹ دے سکتے ہیں۔ جن کے پاس اس طرح کے سرٹیفکیٹ ہوں محکمہ اُنکو لائسنس دے سکتا ہے۔

غور کرنے سے معلوم ہوا کہ آجکل جہاں کہیں بھی گڑ بڑ ہو جاتی ہے وہ ہمارے اُن بھائیوں کے ذمہ لگتی ہے جو پاکستانی علاقوں سے برباد ہو کر آئے ہیں اور چلکے لئے ابھی تک کوئی انتظام نہیں ہو سکا۔ انتظام نہ ہو سکنے کیوجہ سے وہ Dis-satisfied ہیں۔ ان کو کام پر لگانا امن کیلئے بہت مددگار ثابت ہو سکتا ہے۔ حکومت پر صرف نقطہ چھینی کرنے کا میرا مطالبہ نہیں ہے۔ میں جب بھی اس ہاؤس میں کچھ کہنے کے لئے آتا ہوں تو دو کشتیوں میں سوار ہوتا ہوں۔ دل میں کچھ تذبذب ہوتا ہے۔ ایک طرف اپنی نیشنل حکومت کو دیکھتا ہوں اور دوسری طرف اُن لوگوں کو دیکھتا ہوں جنکے کہ ہم یہاں نمائندے ہیں۔ جو درد ہمکو ان لوگوں کے ساتھ ہے وہی درد اس اپنی حکومت کے ساتھ بھی ہے۔ میری حالت فارسی کے اس شعر کے مصداق ہے

عجب درد یشت اندر دل اگر گویم زباں سوزد

وگر دم درکشم تو رسم کہ مغز و استخوان سوزد

میرے دل کے اندر ایک عجیب درد ہے اگر ظاہر کرنا چاہوں تو زبان چلنے کا اندیشہ ہے اور دوسری طرف سے اگر اس درد کو ظاہر نہ کریں اور اندر ہی رکھ دیں تو مغز اور ہڈیاں چلنے کا اندیشہ ہے۔

(English translation of the above speech)

Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafir (East Punjab: Sikh): Mr. Speaker, of the two cut motions which have just been moved in the House, I desire to say only two things concerning that which relates to the Commerce Department.

A very great defect in the procedure or in the way of working of the Import Licensing Board is that sometimes licencees suffer loss instead of gain. Thus, when they come to the office to put in their applications to get licences they have to give surety whether the articles can be supplied by those manufacturers with whom they have placed the order. Even when the agreements have been reached between the Importer and the Manufacturers, they have to wait for two or three months in getting licences, due to the defective procedure followed in this Department, and sometimes while this procedure is going on, prices of the articles change; the order cannot be cancelled and the same must be bought at the prices quoted in the orders. Thus, owing to the change in the price, a licence holder loses instead of gaining.

The first point which I want to bring to the notice of the Honourable Minister for Commerce with the permission and help of you, Sir, is that a Non-Official Enquiry Committee should be formed in order that it may remove all the defects and set right the whole working of the Import Licensing Board referred to in the cut motion.

The second point which I want to mention is that there are already many restrictions on the exchange business and imposition of still more restrictions would make matters worse.

My friend, the Honourable Shri Deshbandhu Gupta, who moved the cut motion on the Commerce Department, has said in his speech that proofs and certificates of previous business done by them are demanded of those who apply for licences by the Government employees, but if anybody bribes them he gets the licence. One more point is that a man new to the business does not get the licence. In this connection, I will request the Honourable Minister for Commerce to remove this restriction, particularly at this time when our Government is devoting special attention to the problem of Refugees and Evacuees. Those who have come from Pakistan or from the West Punjab and were for years carrying on Import Business in the cities of that Province have naturally got no such proof or certificate with them at this time, since they have lost their all and have come here in three pieces of garment. The restrictions should be relaxed considerably to provide occupation to such people.

Mr. Speaker, as our Chairman you are our head and you should therefore arrange to remove the difficulties with which we are faced. I would request that the Government must devote their attention to this matter.

In Delhi, the office of the Department, which has been started for the Evacuees' Property, is quite close to this Assembly Hall, and on leaving the Assembly every Member has to pass it. Those members who have got cars escape the notice of the refugees, but others have to face considerable difficulty. The condition of the Assembly members from the Punjab is pitiable: as when they come out of the Assembly Hall, they are surrounded by these people, who pull their clothes and force them to halt and listen to their grievances and arrange to redress them. Today, I too met such a fate, when I came out for lunch. I was caught by three or four Vakils and merchant friends who said "You are sleep, you should wake up and should find out what is our plight. We can do everything, but we can't do anything, because we get neither work, nor a licence."

Mr. Speaker, I will state that to some extent Commerce Department can prove helpful in providing work to such people if it overlooks the idea of old or new and observes strict impartiality. To investigate which of the refugees previously were doing import business, a Committee consisting of four or five men, may be formed. The members of this committee may either be M.L.As. of the Punjab or the refugees themselves. They can grant certificates after making inquiries, and those who will get such certificates, will obtain licence from the Department.

You will observe that in these days, wherever, there is any incident, our outraged brethren from Pakistan for whose livelihood no arrangement has yet been made, and who thus are dissatisfied are held responsible. To put such men to work will prove much helpful in keeping law and order.

Only criticism of Government is not my object. Whenever, I rise to speak in this House, I row, as it were, in two boats: one my National Government, the other the people whom we represent here. I feel as much sympathy for these people as I do for my Government. My state of mind accords with the following Persian couplet:

Ajab dardest under dil, agar goyam zaban sozad

Wagar dam dar kasham, tarsam maghz-o-ustakhan sozad.

English translation of which is: My heart cherishes a strange pain, which if I express it with my tongue, there is likelihood of its being burnt, but on the other hand if I don't express this pain and keep it pent up in my heart, then I am afraid my brain and bones will burn.

When Dr. Pattabhi said that the Government should remedy these defects, Dr. Mukerjee remarked "You are also a member and part of the Government" and further added "All the citizens of India are responsible". I fully understand the fact that if there are no bribe-offerer there can be no bribe-acceptor. But, I will state that the Government does have its remedy. The idea of the people of this country is that they have now their own Government, which will by itself as they expect, take steps to remove these defects.

These defects lie not only in the Commerce Department, but also in other departments. There is no doubt that the defects which are being seen, the Government only is not to blame for them, but public also is to be blamed, because we have in our mind, this idea that now, we have our own Government and it will do all by itself. By the word National Government, several people are led to think that now, no rule or law is necessary to observe and in this connection I recollect one interesting incident. I had a chance of visiting Patna when in Bihar the Congress Ministry was formed for the first time. There I asked a Ekka driver "How are you getting on these days, now here it is the Government of the Congress, you must have a happy time, a very good Government has been formed". He replied, "How do you say so? We thought that under this Government we would have a happy time, but still we are being harassed for such trifling matters as 'there is no light on the Ekka, keep to your left, do this and that. In these days also, we have the same worries as before". I said, "Do you mean that when our National Government is formed, there should be no law and order". What I mean, by this illustration, is this that several times misunderstanding of such sorts cause relaxation in Government discipline. The only advice to my people is that they should assist their Government; but the corruption can be removed by the Government only. In this connection, I recollect my experience in a jail. Among the Sikh peasants of the Punjab milk is called Samundar (Ocean). Last time when we were in jail, a political prisoner asked me, why the Sikh call milk, Samundar. As my reply did not satisfy him he said that he would tell me. He said that the contractor who brings milk in the jail, brings it as half milk and half water. When milk reaches the entrance of the jail, the Durwan takes out some of it for his tea and mixes as much water. Next when passing the entrance it reaches the compound, the Incharge Babu takes

[گیانی گرمکھ سنگھ مسافر]

ڈاکٹر پٹابھائی نے جب یہ کہا کہ گورنمنٹ کو ان باتوں کا علاج کرنا چاہئے تو ڈاکٹر مکر جی نے کہا کہ آپ بھی تو ممبر ہیں اور گورنمنٹ کا حصہ ہیں آگے چل کر ڈاکٹر مکر جی نے کہا کہ ہندوستان کی سب جڑنا ذمہ وار ہے۔ میں اس بات کو اچھی طرح سمجھتا ہوں کہ اگر رشوت دینے والے نہ ہوں تو رشوت لینے والے بھی نہیں ہو سکتے۔ مگر میں یہ عرض کروں گا کہ گورنمنٹ کے پاس انکا علاج ضرور ہے۔ یہاں کے لوگوں کا خیال یہ ہے کہ اب ہماری اپنی حکومت ہے۔ اسلئے انہیں یہی امید ہے کہ وہ ان خرابیوں کو خود دور کرنے کے اقدام عمل میں لایگی یہ حال صرف کامرس ڈیپارٹمنٹ میں ہی نہیں ہے بلکہ ہر ایک ڈیپارٹمنٹ میں کچھ نہ کچھ خرابیاں نظر آتی ہیں۔ اسمیں شک نہیں کہ یہ جو خرابیاں نظر آرہی ہیں اسمیں صرف گورنمنٹ کا ہی قصور نہیں ہے۔ بلکہ دوسرے لوگوں کا بھی قصور ہے۔ ہم لوگوں کے دلیں یہ خیال ہے کہ اب ہماری اپنی حکومت ہے اور یہ خود ہی سب انتظام کریگی اپنی حکومت سے کئی لوگ یہ مطلب سمجھنے لگ جاتے ہیں کہ بس اب کسی قاعدے قانون کی ضرورت نہیں۔ اس سلسلہ میں مجھے ایک دلچسپ مثال یاد ہے۔ بہار میں جب پہلی دفعہ کانگریس وزارت بنی تو ان دنوں مجھے پتہ چل گیا تھا کہ اتفاق ہوا۔ میں نے ایک بکے والے سے پوچھا کہ اب تم لوگوں کا کیا حال ہے۔ اب تو یہاں پر کانگریس کی سرکار ہوگئی ہے۔ اب تم لوگوں کی سوچ ہے۔ بہت اچھی سرکار بن گئی ہے۔ وہ کہنے لگا کہ کیا اچھی سرکار ہے۔ ہم نے تو یہ سمجھا تھا کہ اب اس سرکار میں ہم لوگوں کو موجد ہوگی۔ لیکن اب بھی ہمیں توکا جاتا ہے کہ یکے میں روشنی نہیں ہے اپنے ہاتھ چاؤ یہ کرو وہ کرو۔ اب یہی وہی تفتا ہے جو پہلے تھا۔ میں نے اُس سے کہا کہ کیا تمہارا مطالبہ یہ تھا کہ جب گورنمنٹ اپنی بن جائے تو کوئی قاعدہ یا قانون نہیں رہنا چاہیئے اس مثال سے میرا مطلب یہ ہے کہ کئی دفعہ اپنے لوگوں میں اس طرح کی غلط فہمی سرکاری ضبط کو دھیل کر نیک باعث بن جاتی ہے۔ اپنے لوگوں سے مجھے یہی کہنا ہے کہ تمام مشکلات کو دور کرنے میں اپنی سرکار کی مدد کرنی چاہیئے۔ مگر کریشن کو تو سرکار ہی دور کر سکتی ہے اس جگہ مجھے جیل کی ایک مثال یاد آتی ہے۔ پنجاب کے سکھ کسانوں میں دودھ کو سمندر کہا جاتا ہے۔ پچھلے دفعہ جب ہم جیل میں تھے تو ایک اخلاقی قیدی نے مجھ سے پوچھا کہ سکھ لوگ دودھ کو سمندر کیوں کہتے ہیں۔ میرے جواب سے اُس کی تسلی نہ ہوئی تو وہ کہنے لگا کہ میں تمکو بتاتا ہوں۔ جیل میں جو ٹھیکیدار دودھ لاتا ہے وہ آدھا پانی گھر سے ملا لاتا ہے۔ دودھ جب جیل کی دیوڑھی میں پہنچتا ہے تو دربان اپنی چائے کے لئے نکال کر اُٹا ہی پانی ملا دیتا ہے۔ اس کے بعد دودھ جب دیوڑھی سے اندر جیل کی Compound میں پہنچتا ہے تو انچارج بابو اپنی چائے کے لئے نکالتا ہے۔ پھر لنگر کے لانگری اپنا حصہ نکالتے ہیں۔

اور پانی ملا کر دودھ کی مقدار کو پورا کر دیتے ہیں۔ اور جب آخر کار دودھ قیدی کے پاس پہنچتا ہے تو وہ واقعی سمندر ہی بنا ہوتا ہے۔ انہی بات سنانے کے بعد وہ اخلاقی قیدی کہنے لگا کہ پنجاب کے سکھ کسان نے دودھ کو جیل میں دیکھ کر ہی شاید اُسکا نام سمندر رکھا ہوگا۔

جناب والا! میں زخم خوردہ ہوں مجھ کو دو منٹ کی اور اجازت دی جائے۔ اس کے علاوہ میں یہ گزارش کرنا چاہتا ہوں کہ آج اگر کسی آدمی کو سفر کرنا ہو تو اسے پہلے ٹکٹ خریدتے وقت بابو کی خاطر کرنی پڑتی ہے۔ اور اُس کے بعد قلی کی۔ آجکل ایک ایک قلی دس دس اور پندرہ پندرہ روپیہ مزدوری لیتا ہے۔ اور جب تک قلی کو دس یا پندرہ روپیہ نہ دئے جائیں تب تک غریب مسافر اپنا سامان گاڑی پر بہ آسانی نہیں رکھ سکتا ہے۔ جناب والا! کیا کہوں ڈاکٹر مکر جی نے کہا ہے کہ رشوت کی کوئی خاص مثال دی جائے۔ میں کہتا ہوں کہ مثال کوئی ایک تھوڑی ہی ہے۔ کون کون سی مثال دی جائے۔

اک چاک ہو تو سی لوں ہمدم گریہاں اپنا

ظالم نے پہاڑ ڈالا ہے تار تار کر کے

میں نے پہلے بھی عرض کی ہے کہ اسمیں صرف حکومت کا ہی قصور نہیں ہے۔ بلکہ ساتھ ساتھ لوگوں کا بھی قصور ہے۔ پھر سے بساتے والے محکمہ کی بابت میں اتنا ہی کہوں گا کہ جو لوگ ویسٹ پنجاب سے آئے ہیں وہ ہمارے مکانوں پر آتے ہیں اور ہمکو کہتے ہیں کہ ہمیں مکان دلاؤ دوکان دلاؤ اور جب ہم اُنکو کہتے ہیں کہ یہ بات ہمارے ہاتھ میں نہیں ہے اور اس میں ہمارا کوئی اختیار نہیں ہے تو وہ چلے جاتے ہیں اُن میں سے کچھ ایک دو چار روز کے بعد آکر کہتے ہیں کہ آپ سے مکان یا دوکان دلانے کے لئے کہا تھا آپ نے نہیں دلایا۔ مگر ہم نے لے ہی لیا ہے۔ جب ہم پوچھتے ہیں کہ کیسے ملا تو وہ کہتے ہیں اسباب کو دھنے دو کہ کس طرح سے ملا ہے۔ یہ حالات اسوقت موجود ہیں۔ میں پھر دہراتا ہوں کہ ان باتوں کا ذکر کرنے سے کوئی سرکار کی بدنامی مطلوب نہیں ہے۔ نہ ہی ایسا کوئی ارادہ ہے۔ جیسا کہ ویر گپتا نے کہا ہے ہمارا مطلب صرف ان خرابیوں کو اور نقائص کو دور کرنے کا ہے۔ لوگوں کے حالات Disturbances کی وجہ سے بہت خراب ہوگئے ہیں۔ اسلئے حکومت کو چاہیئے کہ ان کی حالت کے سدھار کے لئے انتظام کرے۔ تاکہ یہ حکومت بدنام نہ ہو اور ہم یہ فخر سے کہیں کہ پہلی حکومت میں جو تکالیف لوگوں کو تھیں وہ اب اپنی حکومت میں نہیں ہیں۔ اور جو نقائص پہلے تھے وہ اب دور ہو گئے ہیں۔ اور ہم پہلی حکومت اور موجودہ حکومت کا فرق اُن لوگوں سے کہہ سکیں جن کے ہم نمایندے ہیں۔ اور دنیا کو روشن ہو جائے کہ ہم نے اپنی حکومت میں ان تمام نقائص اور تکالیف کو ختم کر دیا ہے۔

1332

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [5TH DEC. 1947]

[Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafir]
out some for his tea and then the cooks also in the kitchen take out their share of milk, and mix the rest with water for making up for the loss. Finally, when milk reaches the prisoner it is really the Samundar (Ocean). Having related this story, the political prisoner said that the Sikh peasant of the Punjab might have called milk Samundar (Ocean), after seeing all this in the jail.

Sir, I am a wounded person, I may be given time for two minutes more.

In addition to this, I want to say that if anybody has to go on a journey he has first to bribe the Babu at the time of purchasing the ticket, then the cooly. In these days, each cooly charges ten to fifteen rupees for his labour and until ten to fifteen rupees are given to the Cooly, the poor passenger cannot easily put his luggage into the train. Sir, what more should I say. Dr. Mukerjee asked that a specific instance of corruption should be given. I say that there is not one instance but hundreds and how many need be given.

I have already said, that the Government only is not to blame, but side by side with it the people also are to blame.

In connection with the Rehabilitation Department, I would only say this that those who have come from the West Punjab, come to our houses and ask us to get either houses or shops. They go away, when we say to them that we have no hand in this matter and we have no authority. Some of them come back to us after a couple of days and say to us that they asked us to get houses or shop, and we did not get any, but now they have got them themselves. When we ask them how they got it, they say, better leave this question unanswered. These are the conditions prevailing here, in these days. I repeat that by mentioning these facts, it is not my object to discredit the Government, nor such is my intention. As my friend, Mr. Gupta has put, our object is only to remove this evil and defects.

The circumstances of the people due to disturbances are rendered worse, so the Government should improve them so that this Government may not get a bad name and we may say with pride that the difficulties which people experienced in the previous Government are not felt now and that the old defects are no more. And we may be able to point out the difference between the previous Government and the existing Government to the people whom we represent and the world may know that we have put an end to all of these defects and troubles during our administration.

by Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava (one of the Panel of Chairman).]

[At this stage, Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Normally, Sir, a politician in office does not like to be told what he has spoken or done while in opposition, but I enjoyed the reference made to one of my speeches delivered on the floor of this House a few months ago, and I can assure my Honourable friend Mr. Deshbandhu Gupta that what I said then was entirely correct and my general outlook has not undergone any radical change. But I can assure him all the same that things have improved in the course of last three months and a half.

Shri Deshbandu Gupta: Not in the Commerce Department.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, the wording of the cut motion contemplates two counts—one of corruption and the other of lack of a clear-cut policy with respect to import and export licences. I shall first deal with the former count.

My Honourable friend Mr. Deshbandhu Gupta referred to a period of 15 months. It is somewhat delicate to deal with a period prior to 15th of August, for it was a Government which can only be compared to a divided House. To be more particular, Sir, the Department which I have to answer for today was under the management of people who believed that there must be representation on communal lines in commerce also. The examples I cited in the speech which was referred to by my friend Mr. Deshbandhu Gupta were examples which illustrated what I said now.

I will not mention any name, but I will only give one example to show to what extent the evil had gone. A certain member of this House who knew nothing about cotton got an export license, went to one of the Export merchants in Bombay and asked him to purchase it. He

4 P.M. declined. He said: "I would buy cotton for you; the license is in your name. You will export it." Ultimately the Honourable Member got a customer. I only want to say that you must divide the period, the period before the 15th of August and the period after the 15th of August. I do not pretend to say, because it will be contrary to facts that the present Government has achieved some sort of a wonderful revolution in the course of 3½ months. Nothing of that kind. Corruption increased in the course of War period so much that it would be a mild description if I were to say that it has become a National problem and a National evil for us to solve and eliminate. Neither the few members of this Government nor the few Members of this House, but the entire national must make up its mind that at least in Free India, it may not be anything else, but certainly it will not be a Government in which corruption would be so rampant as were the case before. I would therefore most earnestly request that whenever we talk about corruption—apparently it may be against a few officials and a few merchants here and outside,—but it means that the whole community is corrupt. I think it is a matter for us to put our heads together and find a way out of this dilemma for the general community and the consumer. Is there no way out of it? Either they must be victims of corrupt officials or corrupt merchants. Is there no way out of this? I am sure if we apply our mind we will be able in the course of a year or two to radically change the machinery and I am sure a better account would be available.

Now speaking about the period after the 15th of August, I might inform the House, Mr. Chairman that so far as the Department with which I am concerned, namely, Works, Mines and Power, 22 persons including Executive Engineers and contractors and high officials are being prosecuted. I have taken disciplinary action against many; against many disciplinary action will be taken in the near future. But let me tell the House that corruption is a process in which two persons are involved, the bribe-taker and the bribe-giver and that is a matter within the knowledge of both and probably not fully known by any other third party. I have got published in newspapers and I have told newspaper friends, who are very kindly to me that whenever they hear any report, they can come to my office; there is no formality of granting an interview; they can come at any time of the day; and whenever they have communicated any information to me in private. I have acted upon it; sometimes it was exaggerated; sometimes the information was wrong, but wherever it was found to be correct, steps have been taken.

An Honourable Member: What is the percentage of correct information?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I will give an example: I received an anonymous letter that a particular officer has got his son-in-law and sister of his son-in-law appointed. That was a clear case, prima facie of nepotism. I personally called the officer, asked for his explanation, went through the whole file; I found there was nothing irregular, but I appealed to him: "Look here, your reputation is my reputation and our reputation is the reputation of our country. Do you not think that it would be far better for you to ask your son-in-law and the sister of your son-in-law to resign?" He was good enough to secure the resignations of both.

Now, going further, Sir, it may be within the knowledge of this House that a Bill was enacted last year, which was piloted by the Honourable Sardar

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

Vallabhbhai Patel, in which it has been laid down that if an officer is found with property which cannot be reasonably accounted for, the Court is entitled to draw a presumption that it has been illegally and wrongfully earned. But I am sure that merely passing enactment after enactment will not result in cleaning the whole administration. What I want to suggest, Sir, is that we must take all precautionary measures; in fact I may also inform the House that I have asked every officer of my Department to give me full particulars of his property up-to-date. But you know in this world the ingenuity is so much that all human efforts after all are not enough to cope with it. They have wives, brothers-in-law, sisters-in-law, obliging maternal uncles and so on and good many friends also from all ranks and all parties. Anyway, whatever suggestions that may be made in this House or outside it, all I can promise is that they will be duly considered.

As regards information, the Honourable Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya was somewhat angry. I think it is the duty of every good citizen when asking for protection, boldly to come and say: "Well, here is an example of corruption and nepotism". And if I am asked to speak about it, on oath, I shall do it. It is a duty.

An Honourable Member: Even under the Evidence Act, protection is necessary.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: If the man is a party then even under the present provisions of the law he is given protection. There is no question of protection being now made available. It is always given. He is, so to say a King's witness. All that I want to say, Sir, is that if everyone of us looks upon this as a matter of duty, as an urgent task and if we carry it out in each Department, I have no doubt there will be no more occasion hereafter to refer to corruption, nepotism and things of that sort.

Then I come to the second count about the lack of clear-cut policy in the working of the import licenses. Although the original cut motion referred only to imports, it was later on changed to include export policy also. What I want to convey to the House is that there is a clear-cut policy. If there is any trouble, the trouble is in the implementation of the same. Now with respect to the import policy, I may just inform the House that that policy is mainly decided by consideration of our decision with respect to Dollar Exchange. For some time early this year Government were liberal but later on it was discovered that within a short period 100 million pounds was the balance of payments against us. That was not a happy state of affairs and Government changed the policy and decided to conserve our dollar resources; a new policy was enunciated and the same has been published in a communique dated the 3rd July 1947. It was on these lines: Certain commodities were kept on the free list; certain commodities were banned because it was thought that they were not essential but were more or less articles which could be classed as luxuries. Then with respect to commodities not covered by these two categories a policy was laid down under which for every commodity a ceiling in terms of money was laid down and that ceiling was laid down because of the over-all consideration for exchange resources. I agree that it is extremely difficult to work out this policy although it is not very difficult to lay it down. If it is decided that licenses to the extent of one lakh of rupees should be granted with respect to commodity "X", the real trouble is among whom and on what principles this "X" is to be distributed. Is it to be distributed on communal lines? Is it to be distributed on regional lines? Are these to be given to those who are in the trade from before or shall we have a policy by which we can encourage new entrants? These are factors which have got to be taken into consideration when the question of distribution comes. I may inform the House that all these considerations were with the department and with the officials concerned and licenses are granted on certain defined principles.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): May I interrupt the Honourable Minister? Have not Government laid down a policy with regard to these points which might be a guide to the officers concerned?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Yes, that is exactly so.

Now some point was made with regard to the delay caused. I may tell my Honourable friend Shri Deshbandhu Gupta that on account of the partition more than 33 per cent. of the staff had to go, so far as this section of the Commerce Department is concerned. Why this particular section had such a high proportion of those who opted for Pakistan is a matter which we can easily understand; but that is a fact. That is one cause of the delay; another cause was that in the month of September and a few days of October the situation in Delhi was such that there was no normal attendance in the offices. Speaking for my own department, for four days the only people present were the Honourable Minister and the Secretary and one chaprassie. The work naturally accumulated; and if I were to give you some idea of the work you will at least in sheer justice say that some of these matters have been exaggerated. Here are some of the facts about the number of applications: 1,67,655 was the number for import licenses from January to June, 1947; from July to November it was 1,43,186; the total is 3,10,841, out of which 1,60,000 applications for revalidation of licenses were also received during the period July to November 1947. This is with respect to import licenses only. About export licenses the number is roughly about 70,000. Now, you can imagine, Sir, that if every letter and every inquiry and every reference were to be acknowledged, I do not know what the Finance Minister would have to say about that but an army of clerks would be required. Therefore some principles were observed; but at the same time I assure my Honourable friend Shri Deshbandhu Gupta that hereafter as a result of some sort of adjustment there will be as little delay as possible and letters and references will be acknowledged.

Now as regards the granting of interviews I shudder to think what must be the fate of the officer concerned if all these applicants insist on coming and interviewing him. The officer concerned did try that experiment in the month of October and he reported to me that out of six hours 5½ hours were exhausted in granting interviews and he had no time left for work. Therefore he decided on a system of screening, a sort of inquiry office, where some sort of scrutiny was done, and only in certain cases the officer concerned used to grant interviews. Somehow or other this aspect assumed greater importance than it ought to, because I happened to be in charge of this department and whosoever came to me I gave them half a minute or a minute or two, and so by way of sad contrast it assumed unnecessary importance. But you will imagine that if you have to interview 60 or 100 or 200 people every day, you cannot manage it. They do not talk about one problem but hundreds of problems from lipsticks to machinery, every sort of commodity and every sort of region and every sort of communal consideration; some come with notes from Honourable Members; some come with notes from Congress workers; some come from this body and that body, all well-intentioned and all wanting just and fair treatment. But the man must have some time to look into it and say whether just and fair treatment is possible or not.

Shri K. Santhanam: Why not ban all interviews and do things merely from the records?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I am answering the criticism that interviews were not granted.

Then as far as I am able to see, if licenses are granted and sold as negotiable instruments in the markets of Bombay and Calcutta, the only radical remedy to avoid all this is to nationalise foreign trade, and nothing else. But I am sure those who are complaining about these difficulties know very well that if nationalisation comes something else will happen. Anyway, what I want to urge is that so far as the charge of lack of clear-cut policy is concerned it is not borne out by facts.

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

Now with respect to export license policy.....

Shri B. A. Khimji (Western India States Group): The Honourable Minister has not mentioned the policy as regards the grant of these licenses. What is the policy exactly?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The first consideration is whether the man has been in the line; secondly, whether the man has really opened letters of credit, that he has really booked his order; thirdly, whether the articles to be imported are really necessary. All these things are taken into consideration and then the licenses are granted.

With regard to the export policy.....

Shri B. A. Khimji: Is turnover taken into consideration by particular parties?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Naturally.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Are letters of credit opened before licenses are granted?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: A general letter of credit is often done.

As regards the policy with respect to export, I may inform the House that as soon as war was over the position was reviewed and nearly 200 articles have been removed from control altogether. Now there are restrictions on a few and even there the policy followed is whether the man is an established shipper and an established shipper has been defined as one who was in the line in a particular, or as is technically called a representative year. But even here another principle has had to be taken into consideration, and that is 25 per cent. so far as cloth export is concerned is reserved for new-comers and 10 per cent. so far as jute is concerned. These are the principles which constitute what may be called the export policy in this limited sense.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Madras: General): Are you satisfied with that?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is another matter. The issue raised is that there is lack of a clear-cut policy. I think the policy has been abundantly clear. The only grievance is that in working it out some unfair things may be happening, that is because of the general atmosphere prevalent in the country. I make no apology to say this but I still want to say that if you allow private trading and if you have control, whatever you may do you will be able to reduce the evil considerably, but you will never be able to eliminate it. You can only eliminate it when, as I suggested, you nationalise the entire foreign trade.

My friend, Sardar Musafar Saheb raised some interesting points and he said that some consideration must be shown to refugees who have come from Punjab and who were traders. All I can say at this stage is that I shall consider this very sympathetically.

I only want to end by saying that this is a problem which is not to be exclusively solved by the Government. This is a problem in the right solution of which the Government as well as the members, in fact the whole community is interested. That being so, I appeal to every Member of this House to help the Government in bringing about a state of affairs which is to their heart.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: May I with your permission ask one question? What is the policy followed in selecting newcomers—persons who are in a new trade?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I am almost tempted to say discretions. It was said, that the discretion of the Chancellor varies according to the length of his toe. It may be so here also!

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): This annual opportunity which comes for a discussion to draw the attention of the Government on this vital question which effects the good name of the administration is welcome. Every year we see and hear a discussion on the question of the general tone of the administration, and its object is to keep the administration in trim and to keep those in charge of administration up to their sense of responsibility and duty. It is a good opportunity and we shall make the best use of it.

I have been listening to the debate since this morning. Most of it—in fact all the cut motions moved today concentrated on the question of corruption in administration. Undoubtedly there is a lot of corruption of which we hear almost every day wherever we go. I get about 500 people to interview me in the mornings from 5 to 6—early morning. Most of them are from Punjab. All of them have come to Delhi as refugees. They want housing accommodation in the City of Delhi. There is not enough accommodation. We cannot provide for these people in this city where they have come in very large numbers. Already there are over 2½ lakhs of people. Many of them are residing in the houses of their relations but many others are in the open and almost all of them had a very good status in life and were living in good houses. They are very bitter and angry and complain that they must be provided somewhere. I hear them patiently. I tell them sometimes: "Please, see our difficulties. We cannot accommodate you all. Why don't you go to some other city? Why do you come here, all of you? But, if you do not find any place to go to, will you go to the officer in charge of this Department or the Minister in charge?" They say: "It is no use, Sir." And they complain of many things from which people infer that they have not been fairly treated.

Now it is not an easy thing. How far the stories I hear of their complaints are true and how much false it is difficult to ascertain, because it is an established fact that we have very little accommodation and there is a considerable demand. We cannot meet the demands. I do not say all of them tell tales. But 50 per cent. of them do because if they do not get anything and somebody else does, they conclude they must have paid money and that they must be corrupt. In some cases it may be true but in other cases it cannot be true.

We must go to the root cause which has led to this state of affairs—general corruption in all departments. It is a general demoralisation that has set in as the result of war. The war conditions brought about a general deterioration all over the world. It is not in this country alone. The aftermath of the war has not ended. You have got controls, you have the licenses and you have got the general deficiency in the necessities of life and therefore these tight controls and these licenses give considerable scope for corruption. My Honourable friend from Bombay said, that the thing is so rotten that there is nothing to mend and if the corruption is so bad and is so rampant in all departments, the only thing remains is to shut up the shop because there is no room to mend. But that fortunately is not the case. During my experience of a short period, however short it may be, I have had the pleasure of working with many officials I may say that to work with many of them would be a matter of pride and I am proud of them. Most of them today are our own people and I feel very proud of their ability, of their integrity and of their sense of duty. You may take it that if I find the slightest suspicion in any of my officers who are in charge of the administration I would not stand it even for a moment.

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

When I came here as a member of the Government the first thing that I did was to see what could be done to remedy this evil. Those who were in this House will remember that the first two measures that I brought before this House were the Special Police Establishment Bill and the Prevention of Corruption Bill, in which the normal law of evidence was relaxed and the responsibility was placed on the accused to prove his bona fides. Also in some cases the minimum sentence was prescribed. The House was good enough to give me almost unanimous support. I had not to make any speeches from which quotations may be flung in my face. Therefore you will remember that the first measures that we passed in this House were these two measures with a view to check this evil.

Subsequently we met with a serious crisis in this country. You all know that the year through which we have passed is a type of year which we have not seen in the history of this country. We have passed through a period during which in a short period we have had complete transfer of power. We have had a partition of the country to which all of us were opposed. We have had the partition of the provinces to which many were opposed, we have partitioned the defence forces of the country, we have partitioned the civil administration of the country. We have done all this in a very short space of time. Along with this we have accomplished the transfer of a population of ten million people. That transfer was not voluntary: it was an involuntary or forcible transfer. Do you think any country could stand this strain?

I like this criticism that you have been making here. It is the privilege of the Opposition. It is a good thing but we are not in a House in which the Opposition is functioning in the old fashion. Here is a responsible administration and here instead of quoting the speeches of the Members in charge of the Administration you have to replace them and take charge yourself. If you think that a particular member who made a speech the other day of a particular type is behaving in a contrary fashion, the man who quotes it against him has to take his place and show that he can do better. Therefore although we hate corruption and we must all of us put our heads together to strangle that evil as soon as possible, we must not create an atmosphere in which the remedy may prove to be worse than the disease. If you create a general atmosphere of criticism, that all our services are corrupt, the administration is corrupt, there is nothing good left in it, remember you dispirit the people and drive them to desperation: people who have a sense of honour, who have a sense of integrity and a sense of duty feel that there is no appreciation here and it was no use serving. Let us not create that position. I appreciate; therefore, your criticism fully but we must be discriminating in our criticism. We must see what is good in our services. You must also remember that our services are broken to bits. 50 per cent. of the services have left. We had 1,250 officers, who were called the steel frame of this country, of which 50 per cent. have left, because we did not want them or they did not want to stay. Even if they wanted to stay they found conditions unsuitable. Out of the 50 per cent. several of them went to the other side of the country; they opted to serve in a country where they thought it would be better for them. Beginning from the highest administrative post down to that of a chaprassi people were given the option to choose where they would serve. If you have a shrewd sense or insight you will find in the departments where you might go that there has been a considerable change. When I came here and was entering my office I found crowds of chaprassies sitting round fire places and I was told that there were 18,000 chaprassies. Before the war there were only three or four thousand. I am only giving you an instance. The departments were inflated during the period of the war and it was difficult to retrench any of them. When we came here, conditions were such that we could do nothing. If we proposed retrenchment we were threatened that there would be a general strike. Then the partition came and I issued a general order that those people who opted out should be allowed to go and their places should not be filled then. We found an opportunity. We find now that there is considerable improvement. We have now to man the services again and we have to find the men.

When you think that nothing is being done I will just give you for your information as an example how action is being taken. After this special Police department was created the action taken up to September 1947 was 1,224 cases were investigated, 750 cases were sent up for trial and out of them 407 ended in conviction. 120 cases are still under trial. 180 cases were recommended for departmental action, out of which 145 people have been dismissed. But mere actions of dismissal or prosecution will not be enough. We will have to change the atmosphere in the country. We must raise the general tone of the people. Today the giver is as ready and willing to give as the taker is willing and anxious to take. Bribe-giving and bribe-taking have become a normal thing and when it becomes a normality it is not a crime; it is not regarded as a crime. I remember a case 25 years ago when a railway officer, a station master, was being prosecuted for taking bribes; for every wagon he was giving he was taking a huge amount. When investigations were made, and he was caught and prosecuted he defended himself openly that he had not committed any offence, that was not bribery, that was dasturi or recognised practice, that it was being done not only by him but by every man from the Agent down to the lowest clerk in the railway department. Why it was called a crime he did not know. After all that there was a technical conviction. He had to pay only Rs. 200 fine, because the practice was recognised by the trying judge.

Shri M. S. Aney: It was recognised by the courts.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Yes. Therefore if conditions become such then the moral sense deteriorates. Let us not create that condition. Of course so long as the practice of licenses, permits, and controls continue bribery and corruption are their handmaids. Therefore we have to check it and we are taking measures as quickly as possible to do away with licenses and controls. But it is not an easy thing.

My friend the Minister in charge of the Commerce Department who has left for America has talked to me several times on this subject. He asked me "What can I do about these licences and these permits for import? The goods dumped in this country as a result of the permits given have been so much that there is no market for them, and the licences given are so many that they are being sold in the market. What can I do about these things?" I told him "You can do nothing. It is a past history. Let us close it and begin afresh." It has to be forgotten and there is no use criticising it. The conditions were different. The stage on which we functioned was quite a different one. We have worked for a year and only we know how and under what conditions we worked. It was not a Coalition. It was a different Government for which there is no parallel in history. Therefore, all this criticism is not with reference to a normal situation but a very abnormal situation. Those who had worked it, they alone know what it was. Honourable Members here cannot have an idea of it. Therefore whilst I appreciate the criticism and whilst I appreciate the bona fides of Honourable Members to keep the Government awake I appeal to them to accept what my friend Dr. Srama Prasad has said, namely that we have a collective responsibility. It means, not collective responsibility among the members on the Treasury Benches alone, but collective responsibility of the whole House as well as of the whole population. To drive out corruption is not an easy thing. It is an abnormal situation which has to be reduced to normality and we must raise the general moral tone as also the tone of the services. That is all I have to say.

1340 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [5TH DEC. 1947]

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: I would like to withdraw my cut motion.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: I too would like to withdraw my cut motion.

Mr. Chairman: Have the Honourable Members leave of the House to withdraw their cut motions?

The cut motions were, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

Planning and development programme for India

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the demand under the head 'Cabinet' be reduced by Rs. 100."

Sir, the whole country is aware that after long struggle extending over 25 years under the leadership of Mahatma Gandhi and the sacrifice of millions of men, young and old, we have won freedom for this country. That freedom is not worth anything to the ordinary man in the street unless the other freedoms are also won—freedom from want, freedom from danger and freedom from illiteracy or ignorance. These are more material. The one freedom that was obtained is only a means to obtaining the other freedoms. Even while the war was on, in expectation of its drawing to a close, various countries in the world had planned for reconstruction of their countries after the war. America is the only country in the world that recovered much more easily than other countries even though it had to sacrifice a large portion of its men, money and goods. After it recovered it has started a plan of rehabilitation of the devastated countries. It is known as the Marshall plan of 21,000 billion dollars for the rehabilitation of the devastated countries of Europe. Not being satisfied with that it has also sponsored the International Bank with 10,000 million dollars to rehabilitate the other devastated countries in the world. Russia has started on an economic plan, a drive to increase its production and war potential also, its industry and agriculture. Only yesterday we heard from the Honourable the Prime Minister in answer to a question that to equip the household of our Ambassador, chairs and other items of furniture were being brought from Sweden. He also said, that the Russians were devoting their attention to equipping their country with various industries and other materials that might be necessary immediately and that they did not mind if they had to go with torn trousers and worn out boots. That is the way in which Russia is trying to rehabilitate itself. Now, Sir, the war clouds are thick in the air. You do not know when another war might come. The interval between peace and war seems to become shorter and shorter. In our own country the bureaucrats who were ruling, before the war came to a close, made a maiden attempt for a future plan of reconstruction of this country. In 1945 a Member for Planning was appointed. A Board of Planning was appointed and a policy was also enunciated in 1945 regarding industrial planning. A number of Panels were appointed to go into various matters, rehabilitation of agriculture, rehabilitation of industry, health, education and various other kindred matters. They have made their Reports. Simultaneously with this there were non-official agencies also who came forward with their plans. You would have heard, Sir, of the Industrialists' Plan of Bombay in which they envisaged an expenditure of nearly Rs. 15,000 and odd crores spread over a period of years. Then there was the Aggarwal Plan modelled on Gandhiji's principle of decentralisation of the industries of this country. Even Mr. Roy was not behind others in bringing forward a Plan stating that agriculture must be improved and that preference and priority should be given to the improvement of agriculture before industries are placed on their footing. These Plans have been there, and recently there was also the Congress Plan under the presidentship of no less a person than the Honourable the Prime Minister. After he took charge of the administration the Prime Minister appointed a Committee presided over by our Honourable Minister, Mr. K. C. Neogy, which was entrusted with the task of co-ordinating all these Plans. He submitted a Report. That was about four or five months ago. What has happened till now? Is there time to lose? I am sorry to say and I was extremely disappointed that in the lengthy speech of the Honourable the Finance Minister introducing the Budget there was not a single reference to any planning. Have all the efforts which have been made till now gone a waste? Is there no planning necessary for this country? There was no reference to planning and he further said that there will be no control in this country. I wonder if he wants to take this country back to the days of the nineteenth century with its doctrines of laissez faire, uncontrolled capital, private industry and cut-throat competition. I am absolutely unable to understand what exactly the Honourable the Finance Minister meant when he wanted to say that it is only a question of distribution, that there is no difference between his principle and the principles of socialism, that it is only a question of distribution and nothing more. I am surprised at his statement that there is no difference between the one and the other thing. It is not a question of distribution but of production also. He should know, and I am sure he knows it well, that in a socialistic economy more attention is paid to production for the purpose of consumption and not for profit. In capitalist economy production is even curtailed so that profits may increase. That is the way in which I am afraid the whole planning system is likely to be sabotaged and thrown into a reckless spirit of competition in which the rich may become richer and the poor poorer. An impetus will be given to wild and unchecked growth. Industries might come into existence as wild trees and in some cases as mushroom growths. There may be reckless competition. There may be concentration of industries. It is already there, namely of paper industry in Bengal, of sugar in U.P. and of textiles in Ahmedabad and Bombay.

Are Ahmedabad and Bombay the only places where raw material for the textile industry is available in plenty? I represented in the previous Legislative Assembly 5 districts, 4 of which have the largest area under cotton cultivation. There is not a single spinning mill there. Why should you bring all the cotton to Ahmedabad to be spun into yarn and woven into cloth, and sent back to the very place where it has come from? Is that not the very fact against which we had been fighting, that cotton which is produced in this country was being taken to Manchester to be woven into cloth and sent back to us? Was it not for that we fought the British imperialists? Are we going to supplant one imperialism by another imperialism? I am really surprised there is not a single word in the Honourable the Finance Minister's speech relating to planning. Is not the Honourable the Premier still in office? I do think that hereafter the primary priority must be given in the Ministry to a Planning Minister. All other Ministers of other departments must be subordinate to him. There is a Minister for Agriculture, there is a Minister for Education, there is a Minister for Health, but there is no Minister for Planning. Industry is no doubt a provincial subject; agriculture is a provincial subject; education is a provincial subject; health is a provincial subject. Why then have we got Ministers here? It is not now the old doctrine that Government is there for policing against internal disturbances. That theory is gone to the wall. A Government really exists not merely for policing purposes, but for social reconstruction, to increase wealth, provide employment, and make every man to feel happy and contented. That is the primary function of the State. I therefore feel that a united effort, a central effort, an organized effort, must be made at the Centre for the purpose. The moment we have won freedom, the other things have to be attacked. There is absolutely no effort made. I wonder why the Honourable the Finance Minister.

[Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar]

when he has budgeted for an expenditure of 171 crores, has not thought it fit to budget for a small expenditure on a Minister for Planning, and a Board to assist him in that matter. That is the foremost thing that he has to do. As to the ways in which planning should be done, I would say that first of all priority should be given to make ourselves self-sufficient in both food and clothing. Even today controls might go. Planning and control go together. Want of control is recklessness, nothing more. The Honourable the Finance Minister said he is in favour of mixed economy. Mixed economy means some industries for state enterprise, others for private enterprise. In principle I am for socialism out and out, but it has to be achieved in stages. This is a good beginning too if he wants to make a beginning of having state enterprise in respect of certain industries. If he allows controls to be lifted, where would you get steel or cement for the purpose of building industries? In my place steel and iron were being taken away to cinema houses in preference to being used for primary needs, such as labourers' and other houses. I would say the same thing would happen everywhere. Every town will be flooded with cinema halls and steel and iron are already in short supply. The Honourable the Supply Minister said that 800,000 tons of steel is being produced as against a demand of 2 million tons a year for this country, and so far as cement is concerned, it is 110,000 tons per month as against a demand of 200,000 tons. We are in short supply. How then could we achieve this business of industrialising this country, whether we have mixed economy or complete economy. I would say it is like allowing the horses to escape and thereafter going to bolt the door. Therefore it is impossible to remove control. On the other hand the more you plan, the greater control you have taken. First let us make ourselves self-sufficient in food. We are, in our part of the country, having only 8 ounces of ration, and the north-east monsoon is finished this year. I do not know what is going to be our fate. Before the war we were getting 1½ million tons from Burma of rice. It is not coming now. Now therefore an impetus has to be given to agriculture. A Board of Agriculture and a Central Planning Commission for agriculture should come into existence. All major projects will have to be taken over by the Centre. Waste lands should be converted into cultivable lands. Ryots should be helped by the Centre either by loans or subsidy and power should be taken to their very doors. Wells have to be dug, canals have to be dug. In addition to that, I would suggest various other supplementary kinds of food have to be given. Gardens have to be grown. Therefore it is necessary that there must be a Planning Board centrally devoted to agriculture. That is the first thing. I have moved this out that there may be a 5-year Plan. I am now envisaging that in 3 years we may have a war. There was the 5-year plan of Russia. Hitler thought that in 4 years he must have a plan. I do think in 3 years we must have a plan. If there is a cataclysm, we do not know where we will stand. We will die like flies for want of food, as in Bengal. Clothing has also to be attended to. The next thing is industries. Let us now decide what the policy is. It is no good merely enunciating policy. I would say so far as industries are concerned, our basic industries should be taken over by the State. Even for that purpose planning is necessary, priority is necessary. Capital goods have to be imported from foreign countries. So far as private industries are concerned, they should not be concentrated in a particular place. Private industry also should be given priority. Let capital issues be given not merely priority, let it be insisted upon that that money will be devoted for them. Let there then be cottage industries. The whole economic system cannot rest completely on big industries. Cottage industries should be taken over by provinces. Planning therefore is necessary. I would urge upon the Honourable the Finance Minister and upon the entire Government to have this matter before them for their immediate consideration. Let the Honourable Premier take charge of this Plan and bring it to fruition. There are various panels, there are various reports but without any concerted plan. The plan has not been finalized. The plan has to be finalized, policy has to be enunciated, programme has to be evolved, and a Commission has to be appointed to work out the programme and execution. It has to be watched with a thousand eyes. Progress has to be watched from time to time. In less than 3 years I hope the wealth of the nation will increase, unemployment will go away from our land; there will not be these disturbances constantly between labour and capital. Labour must be given a share of the profits in industry, and a basic rate of wage should be paid to labour. Labour must be given a share so as to avoid either strikes or lockouts. That is the only way in which our economy will improve. Otherwise the freedom that we have won will go to waste. Sir, I would urge upon this Government.....

Mr. Chairman: Order, order, the Honourable Member's time is up. I am going to put the motion before the House. Demand No. 19 has already been disposed of.

The question is:

"That the respective sums not exceeding the amounts shown in the third column of the Order Paper, except in case of Demand No. 19, be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to the 31st March, 1948, in respect of the corresponding heads of Demands entered in the second column thereof."

The motion was adopted.

[As directed by Mr. Chairman the motions for Demands for Grants which were adopted by the Assembly are reproduced below (Ed. of Deb.).]

DEMAND NO. 1—CUSTOMS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 68,98,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Customs'."

DEMAND NO. 2—CENTRAL EXCISE AND SALT

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,29,59,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Central Excise and Salt'."

DEMAND NO. 3—TAXES ON INCOME INCLUDING CORPORATION TAX.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 94,54,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Taxes on Income including Corporation tax'."

DEMAND NO. 4—OPIUM.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 14,59,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Opium'."

DEMAND NO. 5—PROVINCIAL EXCISE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,75,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Provincial Excise'."

DEMAND NO. 6—STAMPS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 63,54,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Stamps'."

DEMAND NO. 7—FOREST.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 16,43,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Forest'."

DEMAND No. 8—IRRIGATION, NAVIGATION, EMBANKMENT AND DRAINAGE WORKS (MET FROM REVENUES).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 6,71,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Irrigation, Navigation, Embankment and Drainage Works (Met from Revenues)'."

DEMAND No. 9—INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 13,31,57,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department'."

DEMAND No. 10—CABINET.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,63,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Cabinet'."

DEMAND No. 11—CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 23,75,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Constituent Assembly of India'."

DEMAND No. 12—CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 14,29,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative)'."

DEMAND No. 13—MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,17,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Home Affairs'."

DEMAND No. 14—MINISTRY OF INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 28,02,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Information & Broadcasting'."

DEMAND No. 15—MINISTRY OF LAW.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 5,49,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Law'."

DEMAND No. 16—MINISTRY OF EDUCATION.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 21,29,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Education'."

DEMAND No. 17—MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,69,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Agriculture'."

DEMAND No. 18—MINISTRY OF HEALTH.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 3,75,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Health'."

DEMAND No. 20—MINISTRY OF FINANCE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 49,55,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Finance'."

DEMAND No. 21—MINISTRY OF COMMERCE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 28,13,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Commerce'."

DEMAND No. 22—MINISTRY OF LABOUR.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,78,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Labour'."

DEMAND No. 23—MINISTRY OF WORKS, MINES AND POWER.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 11,28,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Works, Mines and Power'."

DEMAND No. 24—MINISTRY OF COMMUNICATIONS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 3,03,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Communications'."

DEMAND No. 25—MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,58,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Transport'."

DEMAND No. 26—MINISTRY OF FOOD.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 30,68,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Food'."

DEMAND No. 27—MINISTRY OF STATES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 4,71,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of States'."

DEMAND No. 28—MINISTRY OF DEFENCE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 15,70,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Defence'."

DEMAND No. 29—MINISTRY OF INDUSTRY AND SUPPLY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,03,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'."

DEMAND No. 30—MINISTRY OF RELIEF AND REHABILITATION.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 8,00,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation'."

DEMAND No. 31—MINISTRY WITHOUT PORTFOLIO.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,10,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ministry Without Portfolio'."

DEMAND No. 32—PAYMENTS TO OTHER GOVERNMENTS, DEPARTMENTS, ETC., ON ACCOUNT OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF AGENCY SUBJECTS AND MANAGEMENT OF TREASURIES, ETC.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 19,86,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Payments to other Governments, Departments, etc., on account of the Administration of Agency Subjects and management of Treasuries, etc.'"

DEMAND No. 33—AUDIT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,08,55,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Audit'."

DEMAND No. 34—ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 4,60,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Administration of Justice'."

DEMAND No. 35—JAILS AND CONVICT SETTLEMENTS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 13,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Jails and Convict Settlements'."

DEMAND No. 36—POLICE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 11,59,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Police'."

DEMAND No. 37—PORTS AND PILOTAGE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 21,53,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ports and Pilotage'."

DEMAND No. 38—LIGHTHOUSES AND LIGHTSHIPS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 6,73,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Lighthouses and Lightships'."

DEMAND No. 39—ECCLESIASTICAL.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,21,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ecclesiastical'."

DEMAND No. 40—TRIBAL AREAS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 55,22,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Tribal Areas'."

DEMAND No. 41—EXTERNAL AFFAIRS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,11,13,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'External Affairs'."

DEMAND No. 42—SURVEY OF INDIA.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 64,91,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Survey of India'."

DEMAND No. 43—BOTANICAL SURVEY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,43,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Botanical Survey'."

DEMAND No. 44—ZOOLOGICAL SURVEY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,92,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Zoological Survey'."

DEMAND No. 45—GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 14,15,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Geological Survey'."

DEMAND No. 46—MINES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 5,80,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Mines'."

DEMAND No. 47—ARCHAEOLOGY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 12,61,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Archaeology'."

DEMAND No. 48—METEOROLOGY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 30,93,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Meteorology'."

DEMAND No. 49—OTHER SCIENTIFIC DEPARTMENTS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 68,12,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Other Scientific Departments'."

DEMAND No. 50—EDUCATION.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 79,51,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Education'."

DEMAND No. 51—MEDICAL SERVICES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 21,19,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Medical Services'."

DEMAND No. 52—PUBLIC HEALTH.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 36,31,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Public Health'."

DEMAND No. 53—AGRICULTURE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,14,29,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Agriculture'."

DEMAND No. 54—CIVIL VETERINARY SERVICES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 17,37,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Civil Veterinary Services'."

DEMAND No. 55—INDUSTRIES AND SUPPLIES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,98,79,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Industries and Supplies'."

DEMAND No. 56—OVERSEAS COMMUNICATIONS SERVICE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 28,17,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Overseas Communications Service'."

DEMAND No. 57—AVIATION.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,08,62,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Aviation'."

DEMAND No. 58—BROADCASTING.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 57,22,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Broadcasting'."

DEMAND No. 59—EMIGRATION.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 20,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Emigration'."

DEMAND No. 60—COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE AND STATISTICS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 27,99,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Commercial Intelligence and Statistics'."

DEMAND No. 61—CENSUS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,50,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Census'."

DEMAND No. 62—JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,32,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Joint-Stock Companies'."

DEMAND No. 63—INDIAN DAIRY DEPARTMENT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 8,39,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Indian Dairy Department'."

DEMAND No. 64—MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 78,94,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Miscellaneous Departments'."

DEMAND No. 65—CURRENCY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 52,38,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Currency'."

DEMAND No. 66—MINT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 66,43,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Mint'."

DEMAND No. 67—CIVIL WORKS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 5,20,44,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Civil Works'."

DEMAND No. 68—CENTRAL ROAD FUND.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 86,65,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Central Road Fund'."

DEMAND No. 69—TERRITORIAL AND POLITICAL PENSIONS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 13,69,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Territorial and Political Pensions'."

DEMAND No. 70—SUPERANNUATION ALLOWANCES AND PENSIONS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,69,36,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Superannuation Allowances and Pensions'."

DEMAND No. 71—STATIONERY AND PRINTING.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,14,80,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Stationery and Printing'."

DEMAND No. 72—MISCELLANEOUS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 23,32,69,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Miscellaneous'."

DEMAND No. 73—EXPENDITURE ON REFUGEES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 22,00,00,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Expenditure on Refugees'."

DEMAND No. 74—DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE ARMY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 57,47,19,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Defence Services, Effective Army'."

DEMAND No. 75—DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE (ROYAL INDIAN NAVY).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 3,91,43,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Defence Services, Effective (Royal Indian Navy)'."

DEMAND No. 76—DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE (AIR FORCES).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 9,23,50,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Defence Services, Effective (Air Forces)'."

DEMAND No. 77—DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE (SUPPLIES AND STORES).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 19,01,67,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Defence Services, Effective (Supplies and Stores)'."

DEMAND No. 78—DEFENCE SERVICES, NON-EFFECTIVE CHARGES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 33,01,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Defence Services, Non-Effective Charges'."

DEMAND No. 79—MISCELLANEOUS ADJUSTMENTS BETWEEN THE CENTRAL AND PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 33,01,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Miscellaneous Adjustments between the Central and Provincial Governments'."

DEMAND No. 80—RESETTLEMENT AND DEVELOPMENT

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 3,59,78,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Resettlement and Development'."

DEMAND No. 81—CIVIL DEFENCE.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,08,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Civil Defence'."

DEMAND No. 82—DELHI.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 98,78,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Delhi'."

DEMAND No. 83—AJMER-MERWARA.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 42,64,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Ajmer-Merwara'."

DEMAND No. 84—PANTH PIPLODA.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 14,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Panth Piploda'."

DEMAND No. 85—ANDAMAN AND NICOBAR ISLANDS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 56,90,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Andaman and Nicobar Islands'."

DEMAND No. 86—RELATIONS WITH INDIAN STATES

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 36,52,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Relations with Indian States'."

DEMAND No. 87—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON FOREST.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 33,01,000 be granted to the Governor-General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Forests'."

DEMAND No. 88—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON THE INDIA SECURITY PRESS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 10,02,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on the India Security Press'."

DEMAND No. 89—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS (NOT MET FROM REVENUE).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 3,11,70,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Indian Posts and Telegraphs (Not met from Revenue)'."

DEMAND No. 89—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS (NOT MET REVENUE).

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Indian Posts and Telegraphs—Stores Suspense (Not met from Revenue)'."

DEMAND No. 91—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 5,30,92,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Industrial Development'."

DEMAND No. 92—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON CIVIL AVIATIONS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,58,65,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Civil Aviation'."

DEMAND No. 93—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON BROADCASTING.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 32,78,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Broadcasting'."

DEMAND No. 94—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON MINTS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 57,45,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Mints'."

DEMAND No. 95—DELHI CAPITAL OUTLAY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 62,04,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Delhi Capital Outlay'."

DEMAND No. 96—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON CIVIL WORKS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 64,21,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Civil Works'."

DEMAND No. 97—COMMUTED VALUE OF PENSIONS.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,02,000 be granted to the Governor General to draw the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Commuted Value of Pensions'."

DEMAND No. 98—PAYMENTS TO RETRENCHED PERSONNEL.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Payments to Retrenched Personnel'."

DEMAND No. 99—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON SCHEMES OF STATE TRADING

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 2,32,71,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Schemes of State Trading'."

DEMAND No. 100—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON DEVELOPMENT.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 24,27,64,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Development'."

DEMAND No. 101—CAPITAL OUTLAY ON CURRENCY.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 1,20,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Capital Outlay on Currency'."

DEMAND No. 102—INTEREST-FREE AND INTEREST-BEARING ADVANCES.

"That a sum not exceeding Rs. 6,55,05,000 be granted to the Governor General to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the period 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948, in respect of 'Interest-free and Interest-bearing Advances'."

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Saturday, the 6th December, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Saturday, 6th December, 1947.

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

DECLARATION BY MEMBERS

The following Member made the Declaration under Rule 20

Shri Balkrishna Viswanath Keshkar (U. P. General).

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(a) ORAL ANSWERS

ADVANCED TRAINING FOR PERSONNEL OF ORDNANCE FACTORIES

633. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government are aware that in 1946, ordnance factories recommended some Indians in the non-gazetted cadres with scientific and technical qualifications to be sent abroad for advanced training?

(b) If so, how many of them have been sent abroad?

(c) If none, do Government propose to consider the advisability of giving advanced training in India itself?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes.

(b) None so far.

(c) Yes, wherever facilities exist in India for such training.

Seth Govinddas: Have Government received any applications from any persons in this respect, who want to go overseas for some special training?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Nineteen applications were received and they are still pending.

Seth Govinddas: Are fresh applications being received or is the last date for applications now over?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: No fresh applications are being received; the ones that have been received have not been able to get accommodation in any of the factories abroad.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: In which places in India are there facilities for giving advanced training?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, my reply is that wherever facilities exist in India for such training, such facilities will be made use of.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Is Government proposing to provide any fresh facilities?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: All existing facilities will be provided; new factories have been erected.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Are there any institutions where such facilities can at all be provided?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I could not say offhand, Sir, but I will be prepared to give the information to the Honourable Member later on.

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE, DEFENCE FORCES

634. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Government are thinking of winding up the Public Relations Office attached to the Indian Army, Navy and Air Force?

(b) Are Government aware that this is the only source of information for the Press in India, regarding the Ministry of Defence?

(c) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of continuing that office?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No.

(b) Yes.

(c) Does not arise.

INDIAN ORDNANCE FACTORY IN NILGIRIS

635. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Indian Ordnance Factory in Nilgiris is not turning out any work after the end of the war?

(b) Are Government aware of the possibilities of producing a number of useful things for civilian use in such factories?

(c) If so, do Government propose to take any steps to investigate the possibilities of producing articles for civilian use and thus removing the scarcity of such things to some extent in the country?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No.

(b) Yes.

(c) This factory is already utilising its surplus capacity to manufacture chemicals, such as Acetone, and explosives for commercial use.

Seth Govinddas: Are Government aware, Sir, that there are many factories in India which have been closed down after the War, and is there any possibility of reviving their production?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sixteen Ordnance Factories have been transferred to the Defence Ministry. The rest of the Factories are with the Industry and Supply Ministry, over which the Defence Ministry have no control.

Seth Govinddas: Are there any such Factories with the Industry and Supply Ministry which can be used for producing things like this and will Government consider the advisability of taking back those Factories to the Defence Ministry?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: This question was carefully considered and all such Factories which were exclusively meant for the use of the Defence Ministry were transferred to the Defence Ministry and the rest of the Factories are with the Industry and Supply Ministry.

Seth Govinddas: Are all those factories which are at present with the Defence Ministry making some production?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: They are all under production, except one Bren Gun Factory at Cawnpore.

Seth Govinddas: Is the Government going to start that Cawnpore Factory in the near future?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Yes, Sir, plans are in hand.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Have any Bren Gun Factories been sold away to the Nizam's Government?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: No, Sir.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Is there a Bren Gun Factory in the Nizam's Dominion?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: No, Sir.

PROCUREMENT OF NITRO-COTTON PLANT

636. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether any deputation, composed of only European Officers, has been sent to Germany to procure a plant for nitro-cotton?

(b) Do Government propose to place a copy of their report, if any, on the table of the House?

(c) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of sending equally qualified Indian Officers on such missions so that India can depend on its own merit and skill in the future?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No. No deputation as such was sent to Germany. The Ministry of Defence made a bid for a Nitro Cellulose plant and on its allocation to India the presence in the U.K. of Mr. Howarth of the Indian Ordnance Service was taken advantage of to supervise the dismantling of this plant.

(b) No report is yet available.

(c) Yes. Government of India would certainly consider sending qualified Indian officers on such missions when necessary.

Seth Govinddas: Are Government thinking of sending such persons even to Soviet Russia?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, the question does not arise.

Seth Govinddas: It does arise, Sir, from clause (c).

Mr. Speaker: Part (a) specifically relates to Germany.

Seth Govinddas: But, Sir, as far as part (c) is concerned.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: In reply to part (c), it is not possible to get any factories from Russia at present.

DEMobilISATION OF INDIAN UNION FORCES

637. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state what is the number of demobilised soldiers from the Indian Armed Forces after the end of the War?

(b) Is it a fact that Indian Union Forces are being demobilised according to previous arrangements, while the Pakistan Army is intact, even though both the armies are under the Joint Supreme Command?

(c) Do Government propose to stop further demobilisation of the Indian Union Forces and to recruit more men, in view of the urgent need for the armed forces to meet the emergency in the country?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) I lay a statement on the table of the House.

(b) No.

(c) Does not arise.

STATEMENT

The number of officers and men demobilised from the Indian Armed Forces after the end of the War is as follows:—

Army:
Indian Commissioned Officers.	3,797
Viceroy's Commissioned Officers, Other Ranks and Non-Combatants (Enrolled)	14,71,843
Non-Combatants (Un-enrolled)	19,308	14,95,443
Navy:
Officers	1,977
Ratings	13,979	15,958
Air Force:
Officers	337
Airmen	10,893
Tech/Non-Combatants.	97	11,327
GRAND TOTAL		15,22,731

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it true, Sir, that Government have recently re-trenched some 'B' class employees of their G.H.Q.?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I want notice of this question—it may be true, Sir.

EXPORT DUTY ON RAW JUTE BY PAKISTAN GOVERNMENT

638. *Shri Biswanath Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to take any action with regard to the duty of Rs. 15 per bale imposed by the Government of Pakistan on the export of raw jute from East Bengal;

(b) whether Government are aware that this is in contravention of the financial arrangement agreed to between the two Dominions; and

(c) if the answers to parts (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative what steps are proposed to be taken with a view to equalize jute prices in India and against this breach of agreement?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: With your permission, Sir, I would reply to Questions Nos. 638, 655 and 656 together.

The attention of the Honourable Members is invited to the Press Communique issued by the Government of India on the 23rd November 1947 explaining their attitude in this matter.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Has the notice of the Government been drawn, Sir, to the news item in today's papers that the Pakistan Government is intending to impose restrictions as well as export duties on jute sent to India?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Well, Sir, I do not know what exactly was published this morning, but I know what has been done by the Pakistan Government, and we are taking adequate steps to safeguard our own position.

Shri Biswanath Das: Sir, arising out of the reply given, I wish to know what steps are being taken with a view to equalize jute prices consequent on the duties imposed by the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I do not understand what is meant by "equalizing" jute prices.

Shri Biswanath Das: Sir, jute coming from East Bengal will hereafter be available at a higher price than that purchased from Indian Provinces like Assam, Orissa and Bihar. So there will be difference in the purchasing price of this commodity from different Provinces as distinct from Pakistan. Necessarily, therefore, the profit will go to the mill managers and millowners. Government have to take certain steps in this regard so as to equalize prices in such a way as to make it convenient for the producers and consumers in India to get the benefits or not to be the object of exploitation by the mercantile communities and the millowners.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The consumers of raw jute are the jute mills in India and they are sufficiently well-organised to protect their position against the exploitation of any middlemen and if the price of jute that they get from our own territory is less than the price that they get from Pakistan, that only means that they get an average price which is somewhere between the Indian price and the Pakistan price.

Shri Biswanath Das: I have stated the producer in these 3 provinces, that is, the agriculturist, is being hard hit because. . . .

Mr. Speaker: What is the question?—The Honourable Member seems to be arguing with the Honourable Minister. The point of a question is to get information, on which the Honourable Member may base further arguments if an occasion arises in debate, not at this stage.

Shri Biswanath Das: Sir, I am not arguing. I am only stating the point of view of the producer in India. . . .

Mr. Speaker: That is not permissible.

Shri Biswanath Das: . . . and what steps are being taken by Government to protect the producer in India.

Mr. Speaker: That question, I believe, has been answered.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The mere fact that the Pakistan jute will be more costly means that the Indian cultivator of jute will get better price for his crop.

Shri Biswanath Das: Are they taking any such steps? That is what exactly I am asking the Government?

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid the Honourable Member is going too far.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Is it a fact that jute exported from Assam which comes through the Pakistan Railway is also liable to export duty by the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: We understand that the Pakistan Government intends to levy on Assam jute which is in transit through the Pakistan territory. That is what we have been told. If the Pakistan Government does it, it is really in contravention of the Barcelona International Agreement, under which goods in transit cannot be charged for duty. If in spite of the International Convention they do this then we will take steps either to recover the money from them or to take any other steps that may be necessary.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I ask what does the Honourable Minister mean when he says that he has been "told"? Has it not been officially communicated to his Government by the Pakistan Government as to what they mean to do?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: One of our difficulties is that many of the acts of Pakistan Government we come to know only through newspaper reports.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: May I ask the Honourable Minister whether he has any information that the Pakistan Government propose to impose a duty on tea that passes through Pakistan from Assam?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I have no such official intimation from the Pakistan Government.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Is it not a fact that since the imposition of this export duty, there have been more than one Conferences between the Premiers of Pakistan and of India?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Yes, Sir. Conferences took place, but that does not necessarily mean that conclusions are implemented.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: I want to know whether this opportunity was not utilised to elicit from the Pakistan Premier himself information as to whether the duty has been imposed, and if so, why?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Subsequent to the publication of our Press Communique, in the course of a conversation with the Pakistan Finance Minister, he told me that he is prepared to reconsider the whole question and discuss the matter with us, and in a communication that they have sent to us they have also intimated that in view of what we have mentioned in our Press Communique, they are prepared to re-open negotiations with us on this point.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if it is not the duty of the Government of India's High Commissioner at Karachi to keep the Government of India informed of all the acts of Pakistan in such matters?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Yes, it is his duty.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: May I know, Sir, if the Government of India will exempt the Assam jute from payment of excise duty in view of the fact that they will have to pay it to the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The whole question will be examined very carefully and we will have a further discussion with the Pakistan Government. The Honourable Member may rest assured that we will do all that is necessary to protect the interests of our own jute growers and jute manufacturers.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Are we to suppose, Sir, that the Honourable Minister is not in a position to give us more information about the Pakistan happenings than what he gets and what we also get in the newspapers?

Mr. Speaker: That is too general question to answer. I shall call the next Question.

INDIAN ARMED FORCES PERSONNEL IN OTHER COUNTRIES

639. Shri Biswanath Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the number of Indian Armed Forces Personnel still stationed in countries outside India, upto the end of October 1947;

(b) if there are any, the reasons for the same;

(c) when the Indian forces are proposed to be withdrawn; and

(d) the expenses incurred in this regard?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a), Yes.

(b) The troops in Burma, Malaya and Singapore are there to help in the rehabilitation of these countries. The personnel in Egypt are the rear party of the forces in Iraq.

(c) All our troops will, I hope, be withdrawn from Overseas by the 31st December 1947 except for a very small number of administrative personnel who will stay up to 31st March 1948.

(d) The cost of these troops is borne by His Majesty's Government.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Will the Honourable Minister for Defence be pleased to inform us the exact number of Indian Armed Forces still stationed outside India?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The total number of the personnel of the Indian Army overseas on 1st November 1947 was 8,872 made up as follows:

In Burma	4,253
In Malaya and Singapore	4,328
In Egypt	15
In other Commands	276

The number of personnel of the Pakistan Army still overseas is not included in these figures.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Now that war is long over, why is this delay in withdrawing these troops?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Mostly shipping.

Shri H. V. Kamath: With reference to answer to part (b), are our troops in the various countries at the request of the Governments of those countries for assistance in the work of rehabilitation?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I think, presumably, they are there with the consent of those Governments but that question does not arise as the policy of the Government of India is to withdraw our troops. They will all be withdrawn by the end of this month.

Shri H. V. Kamath: The Honourable Minister says 'presumably'. Is he not certain about it?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: No, I am not certain.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Have Government any information as to how these troops are employed?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I have already stated, for the rehabilitation of those countries.

Mr. Tajamul Husain: Do I take it that there is no Indian Armed Forces in Japan now?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: They have all been withdrawn.

SECRETARY OF STATES SERVICES.

640. Shri Ajit Prasad Jain: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state what are the terms of service, emoluments and position of the services known as the Secretary of States Services before the 15th August 1947?

(b) Was any agreement entered into between members of these services and Government on the establishment of the Dominion of India?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to lay a copy of the agreement on the table of the House?

(d) How many members of the said services have retired or opted for Pakistan as a result of the independence of India, giving figures separately for—

(i) Britishers; (ii) Muslims; and (iii) Others?

(e) What is the scheme of Government for substituting fresh services for the said services?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) The terms of service and emoluments etc. of the officers of the Secretary of State's Services are the same as they were before the transfer of power. A statement of such terms is contained at pp. 154-160 of the India Office and Burma Office List, 1940, a copy of which will be found in the Library. In this connection the attention of the Honourable Member is invited to Section 10(2) of the Indian Independence Act, 1947.

(b) and (c). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to para. 3 of His Excellency the Viceroy's announcement of the 30th April 1947 and the Government of India Home Department letter No. 160/47 R.R. addressed to all officers of the Secretary of State's Services. Copies of these documents are placed on the table of the House.

(d) British—853, Muslims—185, Others—22.

(e) Two new All-India Services called the Indian Administrative Service and Indian Police Service have been constituted to replace the Indian Civil Service and the Indian Police. The Government of India have under consideration a proposal to form an All-India Engineering Service on the model of the Indian Service of Engineers. Other Services are being replaced by Provincial Governments by their own Superior Services.

INDIA : GRANT OF COMPENSATION FOR PREMATURE TERMINATION OF THEIR SERVICE IN INDIA TO MEMBERS OF CIVIL SERVICES APPOINTED BY SECRETARY OF STATE AND TO REGULAR OFFICERS AND BRITISH WARRANT OFFICERS OF THE INDIAN NAVAL AND MILITARY FORCES.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY

1. His Majesty's Government have announced their intention that the British Government's authority in India will be finally transferred to Indian hands by June 1948. It is the aim of His Majesty's Government that the transfer of power should be effected in an orderly and regulated manner so that the new authorities may assume their responsibilities in conditions conducive to the best interests of India, and maintenance of good relations with Great Britain. His Majesty's Government are confident that during this period of transmission the Services and all those who man them, whether British or Indian, will respond to this call.

2. To those serving under covenant or other form of agreement with the Secretary of State for India, or who hold commissions from His Majesty the King, the transfer of power will mean premature termination on that date of a career under the ultimate authority of His Majesty's Government and the British Parliament; and for many there is added to the heavy call of present duty the burden of anxiety for their own future and that of those who depend on them.

3. The Government of India are naturally and rightly most anxious—and His Majesty's Government share their anxiety—that the administration shall not be weakened by the loss of experienced officers. To this end, the Government of India undertake that those members of the Secretary of State's Services who continue to serve under the Government in India after the transfer of power shall do so on their present terms as to scales of pay, leave, pensionary rights, and safeguards in matters of discipline and that provisions to this effect should be made in the Treaty to deal with matters arising out of the transfer of power. The Government of India will now propose to provincial governments that they should give similar assurances to members of the Secretary of State's Services who agree to join provincial services.

4. The Government of India recognise that some Indian members of the Secretary of State's Services may be genuinely anxious about their prospects under the provincial administrations where they are at present employed, and every effort will be made to arrange suitable transfers in such cases.

5. The Government of India agree that compensation should be payable to such Indian officers of these Services as:

(1) are not invited to continue to serve under the Government of India after transfer of power; or

(2) can satisfy the Governor-General that their actions in the course of duty during their service prior to the transfer of power have damaged their prospects, or that the appointments offered to them are such as cannot be regarded as satisfactory in the altered circumstances; or

(3) can show to the satisfaction of the Governor-General that they have legitimate cause for anxiety about their future in the Province where they are now serving, and that no suitable transfer can be arranged.

But the Government of India feel that sentiments of patriotism will naturally impel Indian officers to continue to serve their country and that, in the light of the undertaking that they have given, and the consideration that in fact Indian members of the Services will have improved prospects, there is no ground, save in these special cases, for payment of compensation to Indian officers on account of the transfer of power.

6. His Majesty's Government have been reviewing the whole position. They have noted the undertaking which the Government of India have given in regard to officers whom they desire should continue to serve under the Government of India. They recognise the force of the Government of India's arguments, and they agree that to Indian officers compensation should not be admissible except in the cases which I have just mentioned. Many Indian members of the Secretary of State's Services will, however, become members of provincial services and in their cases His Majesty's Government's agreement that they need not be compensated is conditional upon the provincial governments guaranteeing the existing terms of service. If they are not prepared to do so His Majesty's Government reserve the right to reconsider the matter.

7. With these reservations I am now authorised by His Majesty's Government to inform members of the Secretary of State's Services that they accept the obligation to see that they are duly compensated for the termination of their careers consequent on the transfer of power. British members of these Services who accept appointment to another Crown service on a permanent pensionable basis will, however, receive instead of cash compensation a resettlement grant of £500. His Majesty's Government also undertake that members of the Secretary of State's Services who retire will be secured in their rights to the leave then due to them.

8. In pursuance of their wish to give all possible help to the Government of India in building up the new services, His Majesty's Government agree that their obligation covers the claim to ultimate compensation of those British members of the Services who are asked to serve on in India and decide to do so. If such officers decide at any time after the transfer of power that they wish to retire they will receive any compensation to which they are entitled; this will be determined according to the published tables by the date on which active service ceases and service both before and after June 1948 will be taken into account. Compensation will be payable in addition to, such retiring or proportionate pension as is admissible under the existing rules.

9. To European officers and other ranks of the Royal Indian Navy, Indian Army and Indian Medical Service whose services under the Crown in these forces are brought to an end by reason of the transfer of power, I am authorised to announce the acceptance by His Majesty's Government of a similar obligation. For some it will be possible to pursue their profession in the corresponding British service, and for them a lower scale of compensation for loss of an Indian career is provided.

10. Compensation will not ordinarily be admissible to those who retire before the date of final transfer of power but, in the interest of a smooth transfer, it may be desirable to spread releases over a period; and if I am satisfied that in the public interest any civilian officers should be released with entitlement to compensation in advance of the final date, I will order accordingly after such consultation with the authorities concerned as may be necessary. If, in the fighting services, any European officer or other rank is certified by the Commander-in-Chief as having after July 1st, 1947, been compulsorily retired as a result of accelerated reduction of the British element in anticipation of the transfer of power he will acquire a title to compensation at the date of his retirement.

11. I am glad to be able to announce that the Government of India accept liability for pension and proportionate pension earned by service under the Secretary of State, whether by civilians or by members of the Defence Services.

12. The scales of compensation to be granted to civil and military officers whose appointments are terminated on account of the transfer of power and who are not appointed to a Civil Service under His Majesty's Government will be published at once. An announcement will be made separately of the conditions to be applied in the case of officers who may obtain permanent pensionable employment in a Civil Service under His Majesty's Government.

TABLES OF COMPENSATION

TABLE I

SCALES OF COMPENSATION FOR CIVIL OFFICERS APPOINTED BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE

For Officers of the Indian Civil Service.		For Military and Police Officers in the Indian Political Service		For Officers of other Secretary of State's Services *
Completed years of Service	Amount	Age last Birthday	Amount	Age last Birthday	Amount
				24	£ 375
				25	750
				26	1,125
				27	1,500
5	2,500	28	2,500	28	1,875
6	3,000	29	3,000	29	2,250
7	3,500	30	3,500	30	2,625
8	4,000	31	4,000	31	3,000
9	4,500	32	4,500	32	3,375
10	5,000	33	5,000	33	3,750
11	5,500	34	5,500	34	4,125
12	6,000	35	6,000	35	4,500
13	6,500	36	6,500	36	4,875
14	7,000	37	7,000	37	5,250
15	7,500	38	7,500	38	5,625
16	8,000	39	8,000	39	6,000
17	7,500	40	7,500	40	5,625
18	7,000	41	6,500	41	4,875
19	6,500	42	6,000	42	4,500
20	6,000	43	5,500	43	4,125
21	5,500	44	5,000	44	3,750
22	5,000	45	4,500	45	3,375
23	4,500	46	4,000	46	3,000
24	4,000	47	3,000	47	2,250
25	3,500	48	2,500	48	1,875
26	3,000	49	2,000	49	1,500
27	2,500	50	1,500	50	1,125
28	2,000	51	1,000	51	750
29	1,500	52	500	52	375
30	1,000	53 & over	Nil	53 & over	Nil
31	500
32 & over	Nil

*These Services include the Indian Police, the Indian Agricultural, Educational, Forest, and Veterinary Services, the Indian Service of Engineers, the Indian Ecclesiastical Establishment, and the Railway Services (only as regards officers appointed by the Secretary of State).

TABLE II

SCALES OF COMPENSATION FOR REGULAR OFFICERS OF THE ROYAL INDIAN NAVY, THE INDIAN ARMY AND THE INDIAN MEDICAL SERVICE, EXCLUDING OFFICERS OF THE SPECIAL LIST OF QUARTERMASTERS AND DEPARTMENTAL OFFICERS OF THE INDIA UNATTACHED LIST.

Age last Birthday	Amount	Age last Birthday	Amount
Years.	£	Years.	£
19	37½	38	5,625
20	75	39	6,000
21	150	40	5,125
22	225	41	5,250
23	300	42	4,875
24	375	43	4,500
25	750	44	4,125
26	1,125	45	3,750
27	1,500	46	3,375
28	1,875	47	3,000
29	2,250	48	2,625
30	2,625	49	2,250
31	3,000	50	1,875
32	3,375	51	1,500
33	3,750	52	1,125
34	4,125	53	750
35	4,500	54	375
36	4,875	55	...
37	5,250

Note.—Officers who transfer to the British Services will receive one-quarter of the rates laid down.

1364

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [6TH DEC. 1947]

TABLE III

SCALES OF COMPENSATION FOR REGULAR OFFICERS OF THE SPECIAL LIST OF QUARTERMASTER (INDIAN ARMY) AND REGULAR DEPARTMENTAL OFFICERS AND WARRANT OFFICERS OF THE PERMANENT LIST OF THE INDIA UNATTACHED LIST

Age last birthday	Amount S. L. Q. Ms.	Amount Officers I. U. L.	Amount W. Os. I. U. L.
Years..	£	£	£
24	250	187½	125
25	500	375	250
26	750	562½	375
27	1,000	750	500
28	1,250	937½	625
29	1,500	1,125	750
30	1,750	1,312½	875
31	2,000	1,500	1,000
32	2,250	1,687½	1,125
33	2,500	1,875	1,250
34	2,750	2,062½	1,375
35	3,000	2,250	1,500
36	3,250	2,437½	1,625
37	3,500	2,625	1,750
38	3,750	2,812½	1,875
39	4,000	3,000	2,000
40	3,750	2,812½	1,875
41	3,500	2,625	1,750
42	3,250	2,437½	1,625
43	3,000	2,250	1,500
44	2,750	2,062½	1,375
45	2,500	1,875	1,250
46	2,250	1,687½	1,125
47	2,000	1,500	1,000
48	1,750	1,312½	875
49	1,500	1,125	750
50	1,250	937½	625
51	1,000	750	500
52	750	562½	375
53	500	375	250
54	250	187½	125
55	...	...	...

Note.—Officers and Warrant Officers who transfer to British Service will receive one quarter of the rates laid down.

TABLE IV

SCALES OF COMPENSATION FOR COMMISSIONED WARRANT OFFICERS AND WARRANT OFFICERS OF THE ROYAL INDIAN NAVY

Age last birthday	Amount Commissioned W. Os.	Amount W. Os.
Years	£	£
24	187½	125
25	375	250
26	562½	375
27	750	500
28	937½	625
29	1,125	750
30	1,312½	875
31	1,500	1,000
32	1,687½	1,125
33	1,875	1,250
34	2,062½	1,375
35	2,250	1,500
36	2,437½	1,625
37	2,625	1,750
38	2,812½	1,875
39	3,000	2,000
40	2,812½	1,875
41	2,625	1,750
42	2,437½	1,625
43	2,250	1,500
44	2,062½	1,375
45	1,875	1,250
46	1,687½	1,125
47	1,500	1,000
48	1,312½	875
49	1,125	750
50	937½	625
51	750	500
52	562½	375
53	375	250
54	187½	125
55	...	...

Note.—Commissioned Warrant Officers and Warrant Officers, Royal Indian Navy, who transfer to the Royal Navy will receive one-quarter of the rates laid down

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

HOME DEPARTMENT

No. 160/47-R.R.

Dated New Delhi, the 18th June 1947.

To

ALL OFFICERS OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE'S SERVICES.

Sir,

I am directed to invite attention to the announcement made by His Excellency the Viceroy on the 30th April 1947, regarding the withdrawal of the Secretary of State's control over his Services and containing the undertaking given by the Government of India to officers of the Secretary of State's Services who wish to continue in service (copy enclosed for ready reference) and to explain that the Government of India are prepared to give will extend to the following:—

- (a) Pay.—Includes salaries attached to posts outside the time-scale reserved under the Reserved Posts Rules. Government, however, reserve the right to abolish a particular post or class of posts or to reduce their number without compensation for loss of prospects;
- (b) Pension.—The guarantee extends to the right to retire on proportionate pension under the existing rules;
- (c) Disciplinary matters.—The Federal Public Service Commission will continue to be consulted on all disciplinary matters and advice of the Federal Public Service Commission will be accepted, save in exceptional circumstances.

2. I am also to invite your attention in this connection to the announcement of the 3rd June 1947, providing for the partition of the Provinces of Bengal, the Punjab and Assam and to say that the guarantees given above will apply to officers who decide to serve in the new Provinces that may be formed. I am to ask you to communicate to me within 10 days of the receipt of this letter whether you wish to continue in service of Government or whether you desire to retire from service. A copy of the reply should simultaneously be sent to (the Chief Secretary of your Provincial Government) [the Secretary of the Department of the Government of India under which you are serving].

*3. If you wish to continue in service but desire a transfer from the Province to which you now belong, I am to ask you to forward your reasons for claiming transfer, with special reference to para. 4 of the announcement of His Excellency the Viceroy to the Government of India, with intimation to the Provincial Government that you are applying for transfer to another Province and to indicate, in order of preference, the Provinces to which you desire to be transferred. In this connection you will no doubt bear in mind the possibility of partition of the Provinces of Bengal, the Punjab and Assam in accordance with the Plan for transfer of power to Indian hands announced by His Excellency the Viceroy on the 3rd June 1947.)

4. If you intend to retire from service, I am to invite attention to para. 10 of the announcement made by His Excellency the Viceroy on the 30th April 1947 which permits the release of civilian officers before the date of transfer, where such a course is in the public interest, and to ask you to indicate the earliest date by which you would like to be released. I am to invite your attention, however, to the broadcast made by His Excellency the Viceroy on the 3rd June 1947 suggesting that officers who would leave after the date of transfer might stay for a little longer if their services are required. In case you are willing to postpone your retirement by some months, you may inform your Provincial Government direct who would communicate to the Government of India their own wishes in the matter. I am also to say that this information is being asked for to enable Government to make plans for the release of officers who may desire to retire from service and, while requests for early release will be governed solely by the public interest, it will be to your advantage to give accurate information, as it may facilitate your early release.

I have, etc.,
P. V. R. RAO,
Joint Secretary.

HINDU AND SIKH HEAD CONSTABLES OF PUNJAB POLICE

†641. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the fact that Hindu and Sikh Head Constables of the Punjab were the cream of the force and formed its backbone; and

(b) if so, whether Government propose to consider the desirability of absorbing such experienced Police personnel arriving in Delhi from Pakistan to meet the shortage in the rank of Head Constables and Assistant Sub-Inspectors?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) This is a matter of opinion.

() to officers in Provinces.

[] to officers serving under the Government of India.

*() only to officers of Asiatic domicile.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

(b) This is being actually done; but each person cannot be accepted automatically. Only those who satisfy the prescribed standard for the Delhi police and are otherwise considered suitable are being appointed.

SEIZURE OF MIRPUR AND KOTLI TOWNS BY RAIDERS

†642. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the fact that the towns of Mirpur and Kotli in Kashmir State are besieged by the raiders for about a month and that they are entirely cut off from the rest of the country with the result that the people there are dying of hunger and starvation?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to take immediate measures to send necessary relief to the people of Mirpur and Kotli?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). I am not in a position to give any accurate information of what took place while the two cities were under siege. The Honourable Member is probably aware that both these places are now in the hands of raiders.

NATIONAL INVESTMENT BOARD

†643. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether the desirability of setting up a National Investment Board has been under the consideration of Government for a long time?

(b) Has any investigation been carried on, as promised by Sir Archibald Rowlands last year, to determine whether such a Board should be established?

(c) If so, what is the decision Government have arrived at?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a), (b) and (c). Some preliminary investigations were carried out but no material headway was made due to lack of statistical data. I propose to consider the matter afresh shortly.

TAXATION ENQUIRY COMMITTEE

†644. *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether Government propose to set up a Taxation Enquiry Committee as promised by the Finance Member last year? If not, why not?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari's starred question No. 434, on the 29th November 1947, which could not be read out in the House. I read out the reply then given:

"The appropriate time for the appointment of such a committee will be after the financial provisions of the new constitution regarding allocation of the resources as between the Centre and the Provinces have been settled."

LANDING OF PAKISTAN PLANES WITHIN INDIAN DOMINION

†645. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta (on behalf of Shri Lakshmi Kanta Maitra): (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether it is a fact that a specially chartered plane from Karachi arrived at Lucknow on or about the 14th of November 1947, and with 26 passengers, all Muslims, and that on a search of their luggage bundles of papers containing a number of secret instructions were seized by the Police?

(b) Is it a fact that the said special plane, when about to take off, after an hour's halt at the Amausi aerodrome, 21 Muslim passengers all bound for

†Answer to this question laid on the table.

Pakistan, was searched by the Police and that a bundle of secret documents was seized from the possession of a Karachi-bound passenger named Mr. Mushtiq-zaman?

(c) Is it a fact that attempts were made by the said passenger to conceal the documents under the seats in the plane when the search was in progress?

(d) What are the contents of these documents and who are its authors?

(e) Is it a fact that these documents concerned several Muslim League Leaders, resident within the Indian Dominion and several Muslim officials who have taken the oath of allegiance to the Indian Dominion?

(f) Is it a fact that these Muslim officials have written to the Government of Pakistan that they would resign in due course and proceed to Pakistan along with more secrets?

(g) Is it also a fact that a high-placed British official serving in the United Provinces and these Muslim officials have assured the Government of Pakistan that so long as they were in the Indian Dominion, they would render all possible assistance to the Government of Pakistan at the appropriate moment?

(h) If the answer to parts (c), (f) and (g) be in the affirmative, what action have Government taken or propose to take in future against such persons working within the Indian Dominion?

(i) Were any arrests made in this connection? If so, how many? If not, why not?

(j) Was the plane in question allowed to go back to Pakistan? If so, why?

(k) Is it permissible for planes of Pakistan territory to land at will at any air port within the Indian Dominion without previous reference to the authorities of Indian Dominion?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) to (j). The matter is the concern of the Provincial Government who instituted the search. A report from the Provincial Government is awaited.

(k) The Government of India have authorised Pakistan aircraft engaged in refugee work to land at all controlled civil aerodromes in India without prior permission. In respect of an aerodrome other than a controlled one it is necessary to comply with certain formalities one of which is that at least three days' notice shall be given to the air port of entry.

REHABILITATION OF REFUGEE-VAIDYAS

†646. *Shri Algu Rai Shastri: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state whether Government propose to rehabilitate the Refugee-Vaidyas in suitable places just as other classes of professional evacuees from Pakistan are going to be rehabilitated?

(b) Have Government received any representation from Refugee-Vaidyas as to their appointment in Medical relief centres in refugee camps as also in other towns and villages?

(c) Do Government propose to consider cases of Vaidyas as a class while distributing loans from the funds of Refugees Finance Corporation, the establishment of which is under the contemplation of Government?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a), (b) and (c). The question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation. It has accordingly been transferred to the list of questions for the 12th December 1947 when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation.

*†Answer to this question laid on the table: the questioner being absent.

WARDHA EDUCATION SCHEME

647 *Shri Ram Sahai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether there is any special scheme under contemplation of Government to change the present system of Education?

(b) If so, do Government propose to give practical effect to the Wardha Education Scheme?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: (الف) و (ب) دو سوالات وارڈھا ایجوکیشن ڈیولپمنٹ کے بارے میں سنٹرل ایڈوائزری بورڈ آف ایجوکیشن نے جو رپورٹ پیش کی ہے اس کی طرف آنریبل ممبر کی توجہ دلائی جاتی ہے۔ اس رپورٹ کی کاپیاں لائبریری میں موجود ہیں۔ سنٹرل ایڈوائزری بورڈ نے ہدایت کی ہے کہ اس میں وارڈھا سکیم کو مدنظر رکھنا چاہیے۔ اس رپورٹ کے طور پر لیا گیا ہے۔ اور گورنمنٹ آف انڈیا نے صوبوں کی گورنمنٹوں کو اس بات کے لئے تیار کیا ہے کہ وہ اسے اپنے اپنے صوبوں میں جاری کرے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) and (b). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the report of the Central Advisory Board of Education on Post-War Educational Development in India, copies of which are available in the Library of the House. Basic Education, advocated by the Central Advisory Board of Education, embodies the main principles of the Wardha Scheme of Education and the Government of India have persuaded the Provinces to introduce this system (Basic) gradually.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government consider the advisability of establishing a Central Training College for training teachers, lecturers, etc. in this Wardha Education Scheme?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: ایک سنٹرل ایجوکیشن انسٹیٹیوٹ دہلی میں قائم کیا جا رہا ہے۔ اور وہ بہت جلد کھل جائیگا اور اس میں اسی طریقہ سے تعادم دی جائیگی جس سے کہ ایڈوائزری بورڈ نے اپنے رپورٹ میں سفارش کی ہے اور جس میں انہوں نے وارڈھا سکیم کو main پرستیں کے طور پر لیا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: A Central Educational Institute is being set up in Delhi and it will start working very soon. Education will be imparted in that Institute in the same manner as has been recommended by the Central Advisory Board of Education in its Report, and wherein they have accepted the Wardha Scheme as the main principle.

सेठ गोविन्ददास: जो संस्था दिल्ली में स्थापति की जाने वाली है उसकी शिक्षा का माध्यम हिन्दी या हिन्दुस्तानी रहेगा या उसमें भी अंग्रेजी माध्यम रहेगी।

Seth Govinddas: Will the medium of education be Hindi or Hindustani in the Institution that is going to be set up in Delhi or there also the medium would remain as English?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: ہندوستانی۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Hindustani.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will Government also consider the advisability of making suitable grants to the Education Centre at Wardha and also to the Jamiat-ul-Ulema here?

آئریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد جامعہ ملیہ اور واردہا کے متعلق گورنمنٹ مدد کر چکی ہے اور مزید مدد کرنے کا سوال سوچا جا رہا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The Government has already given grants to Jamiat-ul-Ulema and Wardha Education Centre. The question regarding sanction of further grant is under consideration.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I ask, Sir, that if the instructions are going to be in Hindusthani, what will happen to those who do not know Hindusthani?

آئریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: ظاہر ہے کہ انکو سیکھنا پڑے گا۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: It is obvious; they will have to learn.

شری دیش بندھو گپتا: دعائی میں جو ٹریننگ سکول کھولا جا رہا ہے کیا وہ جامعہ ملیہ میں کھولا جائیگا۔

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the training school that is being set up in Delhi be opened in the Jamiat-ul-Ulema?

آئریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: نہیں اسکا تعلق دہلی یونیورسٹی سے ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: No. This concerns the Delhi University.

SCHEME OF SPECIAL STUDIES

648 *Shri Ram Sahai: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have proposed any scheme of special studies to promote the cause of education; and

(b) if so, what is it?

آئریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: گورنمنٹ آف انڈیا سپیشل Studies کے قسم کی کئی کام شروع کر چکی ہے اور کر رہی ہے جیسے ہندوستانی زبانوں میں سائنس کے ٹیکنیکل الفاظ کا تھپوٹو کا کام ایک کامن بریل سسٹم انڈیوں کی پڑھائی کے لئے سوشل اور—recreative activities اسکولوں کے لئے تریڈنگ، کئی نئی ٹیکنیکس اور بیسک ایجوکیشن کے لئے پڑھائی کا نیا ڈھنگ اور قاعدہ اس بات کا بھی فیصلہ کیا گیا کہ دہلی میں ایک Central Bureau آف سائنس کالجی اور ایک Central Institute of Education کھولا جائے تاکہ تعلیم کے میدان میں جو طرح طرح کے ڈھنگ اور طریقے پیدا ہو گئے ہیں ان میں سے کچھ چنے ہوئے ڈھنگوں کے لئے ریسرچ کا کام کیا جاسکے—اور الگ الگ قسم کے طریقوں کو پرکھ کر ایک خاص طریقہ پیدا کیا جائے آجکل Examination کا جو ڈھنگ چل رہا ہے اُسے کیونکہ زیادہ اچھا بنایا جا سکتا ہے اور پڑھائی کا مختلف درجوں کے لئے جو لوگوں کو چنا جاتا ہے—اسکا ٹھیک ٹھیک ڈھنگ

کیا ہونا چاہیئے یہ اور اسطرح کے دوسرے سوال ہیں جن پر سوچ وچار کیا جا چکا ہے اسبات کو بھی گورنمنٹ منظور کر چکی ہے کہ Europe اور Modern Asia کی Study کے لئے ایک سکول کھولا جائے۔ جہاں ایشیا اور یورپ کے چند اہم ملکوں کی بولی—لٹریچر اور دستوں کی سکھائی کا نئے رنگ ڈھنگ سے انتظام کیا جائے۔ اس طرح ایک یونٹ انڈیوں کی پڑھائی اور انکی حالت اچھی بنانے کے لئے بھی قائم کیا جا چکا ہے۔ اس تجویز پر بھی گورنمنٹ سوچ وچار کر رہی ہے کہ شوشل سروس اور Public Administration کے لئے ایک Central Institute کھولا جائے۔ اس غرض سے کہ مابک میں Scientific ریسرچ کا کام آئے پڑھایا جائے۔ کئی طرح کی کوششیں کام میں لائی جا چکی ہیں—اسکا انتظام کیا گیا ہے کہ ہندوستان کے Scientists کو International Scientific میل جول کا برابر موقعہ ملتا رہے—اس بات کا بھی انتظام کیا گیا ہے کہ دوسرے ملکوں کے ساتھ کانجول کوآپریشن پڑھایا جائے ہمارے طالب علم یعنی ریڈیارتھی دوسرے ملکوں میں جائیں اور وہاں کے ہمارے مابک میں آئیں۔ چین، ایران اور یورپی افریقہ کے لئے ایسا کیا جا چکا ہے—اور دوسرے ممالک کے لئے ہونے والا ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) and (b). A number of special studies including those on Scientific Terminologies for Indian Languages, a common Braille for the blind in India; Social and Recreative activities, new techniques of training and the assessment of attainments and the curriculum of Basic Schools have already been undertaken by the Government of India. It has been decided to set up a Central Institute of Education and a Central Bureau of Psychology in Delhi for conducting research in selective methods and standardising tests of various types in the educational field. Some of the problems envisaged are the improvement of the present examination system, methods of selection for the various stages of education, vocational guidance and so on. It has also been decided to start a school of modern studies—Asiatic and European—where the Indian students will have the facilities to study the languages, literature and history of some of the most important Asiatic and European nations. Also a small unit for the education and welfare of the Blind has been established. The establishment of a Central Institute for Social Service and Public Administration is under consideration. Several measures have been taken to promote scientific research in India and arrangements for international scientific contacts for Indian scientists are being made from time to time. Cultural co-operation with other countries is endeavoured to be promoted through the exchange of students, e.g. Chinese, Iranians and East Africans.

سیتھ گوویند داس: क्या माननीय मिनिस्टर साहब यह भी बतलाने की कृपा करेंगे कि इस पर भी विचार किया जा रहा है कि नहीं कि अभी तक जो डिग्री B.Sc., M.Sc. वगैरह इस तरह की हैं, उनको बदल कर नये नाम दिये जायें।

Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether the matter regarding substitution of new names for the existing B.Sc., and M.Sc. Degrees is also being considered or not?

1372

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [6TH DEC. 1947]

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : جس چیز کی طرف آنریبل ممبر نے اشارہ کیا ہے وہ بہت ضروری ہے لیکن ہمیں ان باتوں کے لئے انتظار کرنا پڑے گا۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The matter to which the Honourable Member has referred is a very important one, but we shall have to wait for these things.

श्री रामसाहाय : क्या आनरेबल मिनिस्टर यह बतलाने की कृपा करेंगे कि जो तालिबान फॉरेन स्टडी (foreign study) के लिये अपने खर्चराजात पर जाना चाहें, क्या गवर्नमेंट उनको Dollars Exchange वगैरह के मुताल्लिक मदद देने पर सोच विचार करेंगे ?

Shri Ram Sahai: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether the Government will consider over the grant of dollar facilities to those students who want to go abroad for foreign studies on their own expense

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : سوچنے کی ضرورت نہیں ہے۔ گورنمنٹ ہر طرح سے مدد دے رہی ہے

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: There is no necessity for consideration. The Government is helping in every possible manner.

بیگم اعجاز رسول : کیا میں یہ دریافت کر سکتی ہوں آیا گورنمنٹ نے اس امر کی طرف غور کیا ہے کہ لڑکیوں کی تعلیم کے لئے ایک نصاب مقرر کرے

Begum Aizaz Rasul: May I know whether the Government have considered the matter of prescribing a separate course of studies for the education of girls?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : اگر آپ ایڈوائزی بورڈ کی رپورٹ کا مطالعہ کرینگے تو آپ کو معلوم ہو جائیگا کہ اس میں یہ موجود ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: If you go through the report of the Advisory Board, you will find that this is embodied therein.

श्री राजकृष्ण बोस : Special studies के बारे में वजीर साहब ने जितने कम बतलाये, उन कामों के मुताल्लिक कोई रिपोर्ट छप चुकी है और अगर छप चुकी है तो क्या मेम्बरान को इसकी कاپियां मिलेंगी ।

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Have any reports been printed in respect of the scheme of special studies referred to by the Honourable Minister? If so, will the members be supplied with copies?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : اس بارے میں کوئی خاص رپورٹ نہیں چھپی ہے لیکن منسٹری آئیندہ کوشش کریگی کہ اس طرح کے معلومات کو شائع کیا جائے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: No special report has been printed in this connection. But in future the Ministry will try that such findings should be published.

श्री राजकृष्ण बोस : जिन कामों के बारे में वजीर साहब ने बतलाया, क्या इस के बारे में गवर्नमेंट की तरफ से कोई Communique निकलेगा ?

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will any Communique be issued by Government in respect of the scheme referred to by the Honourable Minister?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد : اس بات کی کوئی خاص ضرورت نہیں سمجھی گئی ہے۔ لیکن اگر آنریبل ممبر زور دیتے ہیں تو اس پر غور کیا جائیگا۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: This thing has not been considered necessary. But if the Honourable Minister presses over this, it will be considered.

INCURSIONS BY HYDERABAD PEOPLE AND POLICE INTO INDIAN TERRITORY

649. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether Government have received any complaints regarding incursions by Hyderabad people and police into villages in Berar and Bombay and Madras Presidencies?

(b) If so, what are these complaints?

(c) Have Government received any deputation in regard to the situation on the Hyderabad and Indian border?

(d) If so, what steps Government propose to take in the matter?

(e) Have the Provincial Governments taken any steps? If so, what?

(f) Is it a fact that the residents on these borders have been appealing for help and arms for self-protection?

(g) If so, have any steps been taken in this matter?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Government have received several such complaints but do not consider that any useful purpose will be served by compiling a detailed statement.

(c) Yes.

(d) Both the Central and Provincial Governments are fully alive to this problem and have taken all precautionary and preventive measures. They have also made strong protests to the Hyderabad Government and have reason to believe that the protests have had some effect.

(e), (f) and (g). These are matters which concern the Provincial Governments.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I ask the Honourable the Deputy Prime Minister in view of the serious situation as regards safety and protection in these border villages, will the Government of India instruct the Provincial Government specially to issue licences for crop-protection and self-protection in a larger scale to the villagers residing in these border areas?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I believe all these questions arose and all the situation developed before the Agreement. I have every hope that after the settlement has been reached, conditions will change and there will be no necessity to take any preventive or protective measures, and people who have left the State will go back.

Shri M. S. Aney: Has the Government of India received any report from the Provincial Government to the effect that after the Agreement things are showing a tendency towards a better order in these border villages?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Very little time has lapsed since for any such reports to come in.

Seth Govinddas: May I ask whether Government have seen certain statements of the Nizam's Government with regard to this agreement and are the Government going to issue a comprehensive statement about the organization and things like that, as far as this agreement is concerned and contradict certain reports which have been issued by the Nizam's Government?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I do not see, Sir, how this question arises from the question that has been put.

Seth Govinddas: Because the Honourable Minister said something about the Agreement.

Mr. Speaker: The very question is sufficiently vague to be answered.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Is it a fact, Sir, that some of the people in the bordering villages have lost their cattle and some of their other belongings, and if so, have any steps been taken to compensate them in any way?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: It is quite possible that some of the people have lost their cattle and some have lost their property. I should imagine it is generally a part of the struggle for freedom.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that twelve villages bordering on the neighbouring area have declared themselves independent of the Nizam's control soon after the departure of all Nizam's officers from those villages, will Government consider the advisability of giving them sufficient protection against any vindictive action at the hands of the Nizam, now that they might be taken back?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I do not think any action will be necessary because the agreement will have its effect and should be allowed to have its effect. The Honourable Member knows that the Government of India are going to appoint an Agent in the State who will look after all these matters.

Shri H. V. Kamath: With reference to the reply to part (c) of the question, when did the first deputation wait on Government and what was the personnel of the deputation?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I do not think any formal deputation has come. Several people have come and met us several times.

Shri M. S. Ancy: Are Government aware of the fact or of the complaint that several people who are given licenses by the Local Government are unable to get fire-arms? If so will the Government of India help the provincial Governments to have sufficient fire-arms and things like that?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: This question was discussed recently in the conference of provincial Ministers that was held last week and it is engaging the attention of Government.

GURKHAS IN INDIAN AND IMPERIAL TROOPS.

650 Shri Damber Singh Gurung: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) which of the Gurkha Battalions were allotted to (i) Indian Dominion and (ii) British Imperial Troops;

(b) how many of the Gurkha Military personnel including officers have opted to serve the Imperial troops;

(c) what is their percentage;

(d) what will be the position of those who have opted not to serve the British Government in the Imperial troops; and

(e) whether they will be absorbed in the Indian Army?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The Prime Minister will shortly be making a general statement in the House on this subject.

Shri Damber Singh Gurung: May I know if the Government of India raised any objection to the formation of these British Imperial Troops?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: We have nothing to do with that.

Shri Damber Singh Gurung: Have the Government of India lodged any protest with the Government of Nepal as regards the formation of these British Imperial Troops?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Nepal is an independent country and we have no right to make any protest. They are free to do whatever they want.

Shri Damber Singh Gurung: Is the Honourable Minister aware that the formation of these British Imperial Troops is detrimental to the interests of India?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I would request the Honourable Member to wait for the statement which is shortly to be made by the Prime Minister.

GURKHAS IN INDIAN ARMY

651 Shri Damber Singh Gurung: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) the total strength of Gurkha army in India at present;

(b) the total number of Gurkha officers above the rank of V.C.O's, showing separately the number of Emergency Commissioned Officers and those in Regular Commission;

(c) whether Government are aware of the fact that there is a strong feeling amongst the Gurkha Military Personnel that the Gurkha troops should be officered by Gurkhas; and

(d) what step do Government propose to take to recruit Gurkhas for officers training?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The total strength of the Gurkha troops on 1st November 1947 was 33,000.

(b) The number of Officers of Gurkha Nationality above the rank of Viceroy's Commissioned Officer is:

(i) Regular Officers—6.

(ii) Emergency Commissioned Officers—26.

(c) Government are aware that there is a general desire amongst Gurkha troops that there should be more Gurkha officers.

(d) There is no bar to Gurkhas being granted commissions and Government are exploring possibilities of granting more commissions to Gurkhas. One of the measures taken is to grant direct commissions to suitable Gurkha Viceroy's Commissioned Officers even though the standard of education is not sufficiently high. Government are anxious to give opportunities to Gurkhas for Officers' training.

TREATY WITH NEPAL re RECRUITMENT OF GURKHAS

652 Shri Damber Singh Gurung: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to lay on the table of the House a copy of the Treaty between the Government of India and the Government of Nepal regarding the recruitment of Gurkhas in the Indian Army?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: There is no such treaty.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Has any agreement been arrived at?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: As I have stated in reply to a previous question, it will be better if the Honourable Member will wait for the statement which the Prime Minister is going to make on the subject.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Shall we be allowed to put questions after the statement is made?

Mr. Speaker: That is not for him to answer. It rests with the Chair.

"PRINCES" COLLEGES.

†653. Shri Ram Narayan Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state:

(a) the number of schools and colleges known as "Princes" College;

(b) their constitution and finance;

(c) the method of control by the Government of India; and

(d) the proposed changes, if any, in the policies, status and number of institutions with special reference to their secluded existence for a particular class of people, i.e., Princes?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) There are four Chiefs Colleges viz. the Mayo College at Ajmer, the Daly College at Indore, the Rajkumar College at Rajkot and the Rajkumar College at Raipur.

(b), (c) and (d). The management of these Colleges is vested in their respective Governing Bodies which are not controlled by the Government of India.

DESERTION BY MUSLIMS IN INDIAN MILITARY AND POLICE.

†654. Dr. N. B. Khare: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that all the Muslim Military personnel of the Indian Army deserted and joined the enemy, during the recent invasion of Kashmir?

(b) Is it also a fact that most of the Muslim police during the recent Muslim rising in Delhi deserted their posts, and took away their arms, and that they were used against our people and Army?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No.

(b) It is true that some Muslim members of the Delhi Police deserted with arms. There is no record to show that they used their arms against civilians or the Army.

PAKISTAN'S EXPORT DUTY ON RAW JUTE.

655. Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to an Ordinance promulgated by the Government of Eastern Pakistan imposing an export duty on raw jute coming into the Indian Dominion?

(b) If so, is it not a breach of the standstill Agreement between the two Dominions?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what steps are the Government of India taking in the matter to protect the interest of the Indian Dominion?

†The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The attention of the Honourable Members is invited to the Press Communiqué issued by the Government on the 23rd November 1947 explaining their attitude in this matter.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

‡Vide reply to question No. 638.

PAKISTAN'S EXPORT LEVY ON JUTE.

656. Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the imposition of export levy by the Pakistan Government on all exports of jute to India?

(b) Do Government propose to lay on the table of the House the correspondence exchanged on the subject between the Governments of Pakistan and India?

(c) What action Government propose to take in this respect?

†The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The attention of the Honourable Members is invited to the Press Communiqué issued by the Government on the 23rd November 1947 explaining their attitude in this matter.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Have Government indicated to the Pakistan Government the retaliatory measures which they would be obliged to take if the Pakistan Government persisted in their decision to levy this duty?

Shri M. S. Aney: On a point of order, can supplementaries be asked at this stage when the original question has been already answered?

Mr. Speaker: The point is that when the Honourable Finance Minister answered question No. 638 he said he was answering questions 655 and 656 also along with it. There was a bit of technical error in that these two questions were not, at that time, formally put by Honourable Members. That is why I am allowing these supplementary questions; otherwise I would not have allowed them.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I am not sure whether from the technical point of view it is always advisable to give advance notice of what retaliatory measures we contemplate.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: In view of the experience we have had of Pakistan, does not the Honourable Minister feel that some indication of our move is necessary to get the desired effect?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: It is a matter of opinion, but in certain cases I think it is better to hold our hand and not tell in advance what measures we are going to take.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Are Government aware that in view of this proposal to levy jute duty the export of jute from Assam has practically stopped and the jute growers there have been very hard hit?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: The Honourable Member's statement is not correct. As a matter of fact with a view to conserve the raw jute stocks for our own mills we are taking steps to curtail jute exports.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: I am referring to the Assam jute which is being held up on account of the imposition of this duty. The Honourable Minister can ascertain that.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: I will have that matter examined.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know how long the Government of India will wait before taking retaliatory action, apart from the question of notice?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Just as long as their patience will allow them.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Has the patience of Government any relation to the patience of the people?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order; that is not permissible.

†Vide reply to question No. 638.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: In making representations to the Pakistan Government will the Honourable Minister remember to draw their attention to the fact that most of the jute growers in Assam belong to the Muslim community?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Yes, Sir; I shall draw attention to it.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Are Government aware that people are getting agitated over the imposition of this duty by Pakistan?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: That will strengthen our case.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know how long such violations of solemn agreements by Pakistan are to be allowed and we are to stay our hand in order to have good relations with the Pakistan Government?

Mr. Speaker: I do not think these are questions for information; these are all opinions and arguments.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is it a fact that the Pakistan Government have now realised that this duty was imposed under some misapprehension or due to non-receipt of some letter from the Government of India which perhaps took 15 days to reach there?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order; that will be a question for the Pakistan Government.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: Do the Government of India charge export duty on the jute on which the Pakistan Government have already charged a duty?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Yes, Sir; we normally levy our own export duty irrespective of what the Pakistan Government does.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: Is it not a fact that on account of this double duty the Indian jute trade will be prejudicially affected?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: That is a matter which must cause anxiety to the Pakistan Government and not to us.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: Are Government aware that the Pakistan Government have begun to send jute—even loose jute—via Chittagong port?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: We cannot prevent the Pakistan Government from exporting jute through their own ports.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: It is for that reason that we want Government to take action to see that the trade of India does not suffer by double duty and is diverted to Pakistan now because we are going to produce more jute in our own territory.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: We cannot take any action to prevent the Pakistan Government for exporting any of their produce through their own ports.

SALE OF LAND BY DELHI IMPROVEMENT TRUST

657. Giani Gurmukh Singh Mussafar: Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state:

(a) Whether Government are aware that the Delhi Improvement Trust has helped only moneyed-men, contractors and capitalists in acquiring lands for building purposes;

(b) Whether Government are aware that competitive rates for plots of land in Delhi have rendered it impossible for middle class men to purchase plots so as to live in decent houses:

(c) Whether Government are aware that capitalists or contractors purchase plots in lots at exorbitant prices thereby depriving men of ordinary means to acquire lands;

(d) What steps Government propose to take to help the middle class men, and more particularly the ministerial staff of the Government of India, who are hard hit by the present economic conditions and by the difficulties in getting decent housing accommodation; and

(e) Whether Government propose to allot plots of land to the permanent servants of the Government of India free of charges or at a fixed nominal price?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a), (b) and (c). Under the land disposal rules of the Delhi Improvement Trust, plots of land are ordinarily put up for sale at competitive rates by tender or auction. Government are aware that under this system people of moderate means may find it difficult to purchase land at competitive rates.

(d) The Improvement Trust is examining the possibility of disposing of land to co-operative housing societies representing all classes including Government servants.

(e) No.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Arising out of the answer to part (d), will the Honourable Minister kindly state how many among the ministerial staff of the Government of India are at present without decent houses to live in?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: I have no information.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Has the Honourable Minister received the report of the Committee which was appointed to review the disposals of land by the Improvement Trust?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: The report has not yet come into my hands. I am informed that it has been submitted and is with the Chief Commissioner of Delhi.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Is the Honourable Minister aware that the Committee concluded its work in the month of May and will the Honourable Minister enquire into the reason of the delay in submitting this report?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: I am prepared to enquire.

Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya: May I know whether the Government are aware that a large number of Government officers have sub-let their houses at black-market rates, and will the Government be pleased to hold an enquiry into the matter, detect those people and bring them to book?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: This is a question that concerns the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Should it normally take the report of the committee eight months to reach the Honourable Minister?

Mr. Speaker: That is a matter of opinion.

EXTRA-PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION BILL

Presentation of the Report of the Select Committee

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): Sir, I present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government.

REPEALING AND AMENDING BILL

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to repeal or amend certain enactments.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to repeal or amend certain enactments."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

INDIAN TARIFF (SECOND AMENDMENT) BILL

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power and Commerce): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1934.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1934."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

ARMED FORCES (SPECIAL POWERS) BILL

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh (Minister for Defence): I am due to introduce the Bill on the 8th. As I will be away at Lahore on that day, I would like to introduce it today.

Mr. Speaker: As it is only an introduction, I do not mind.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to enable certain special powers to be conferred upon officers of the armed forces in disturbed areas.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to enable certain special powers to be conferred upon officers of the armed forces in disturbed areas."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

ARMED FORCES (EMERGENCY DUTIES) AMENDMENT BILL

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh (Minister for Defence): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Armed Forces (Emergency Duties) Act, 1947.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to amend the Armed Forces (Emergency Duties) Act, 1947."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

(1380)

INDIAN FINANCE (SUPPLEMENTARY) BILL

The Honourable Shri B. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill to give effect to the supplementary financial proposals of the Central Government for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1948, be taken into consideration."

Sir, there is at present an ad valorem duty on cotton cloth and the cotton yarn exported out of this country. It is more or less a nominal duty and the proceeds are given for the textile fund. Our controlled price of cotton textiles is very much below the parity prices and we have been told that in the countries to which our cotton textiles are exported, the ruling prices are very much higher than our controlled prices. The difference between these two prices is really taken by the middle-man. We think that there is no justification to allow middlemen to appropriate all this profit and we have therefore decided to levy an export duty of four annas per square yard on all cotton cloth exported and six annas per pound on all yarn that is exported. I have no doubt that in view of the very high prices that prevail in the markets to which our cloth and yarn go, there would not be any difficulty that the export trade might feel on this account. It has been suggested to me that the more appropriate manner of levying this duty will be an ad valorem basis, because on the basis of a specific duty the incidence on the coarse varieties will be greater than that on finer varieties. I am fully alive to this difficulty. The bulk of our exports consists of the coarser varieties and I have been told that the duty of four annas per square yard can very well be placed even on the coarse textiles that are exported from our country. Anyhow, I would watch the operation of this duty for the next two or three months and if I decide to continue this duty for the next budget, I will then consider whether there is any case for converting the duty into an ad valorem duty.

Sir, this measure seems to have the approval of the public as a whole, and I have no doubt that this House also will give its consent to this measure being put on the statute book. Sir, I move:

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to give effect to the supplementary financial proposals of the Central Government for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1948, be taken into consideration."

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Sir, normally an export duty would not be levied for revenue purposes but would be resorted to in emergencies when the Government wants to augment its revenues. There is, no doubt, an export duty on jute. Likewise, having regard to the central finances there may be justification for a duty of this kind. Another reason for imposing an export duty is to prevent the export of a commodity which is in short supply. It is true that we have not got either sufficient yarn or cloth and therefore an export duty may be imposed on that ground. Even during the war when we were hard pressed for cloth and yarn, Government did export cloth and yarn to neighbouring countries so that in times of peace we may not lose the market. When normal conditions return we may be able to develop the markets. For that purpose some export was and is being allowed. As a matter of fact the export controls have been relaxed recently and export of lungi and other handmade cloth has been allowed to Ceylon, Burma, Malaya and some neighbouring countries like Afghanistan and Iran. This was done both to encourage handloom products and also to supply the deficiency of those countries which have all along been depending upon our country for cloth. But I am not able to know what purpose this export duty will serve. Perhaps it is intended to augment the revenue. There is one disadvantage in regard to cotton. If an export duty is imposed on finished goods, either yarn or cloth, it will become levied upon handloom woven cloth also, and since a large proportion of our cloth exports today consists of handloom woven cloth—I understand from the Honourable the Finance Minister that 10 per cent. of the total cloth exports will be coming from the handloom weavers—I wish to suggest to him that he should try to set apart at least one-fourth of the collections that he would be making by way of this tax, for the improvement of the handloom weaving industry. It may be said that at present the handloom weaving industry is not so badly off. To say that would have been quite correct a year or two ago, but it is not quite correct to say that today. They are suffering from under-employment and in certain parts from unemployment also owing to the shortage of yarn supplies. Secondly, in a very short time we are afraid that there is likely to be a sort of economic depression especially in the textile industry and particularly so far as the handloom weaving industry is concerned. Therefore I wish to suggest to the Honourable the Finance Minister that it would be advisable for the Government to build up a kind of a separate fund for the development of the handloom weaving industry and feed that fund from out of whatever grants they would like to make from the collections they make from this particular tax. I hope the Honourable Minister will consider the suggestion favourably and try to help the handloom weaving industry which deserves much more encouragement and assistance than the mill industry itself.

(1381)

[Prof. N. G. Ranga]

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I rise to say a few words on this occasion it is with reference to the particular matter at issue and not to traverse all the matters that have been traversed by my predecessors. Several statements have been made by the two speakers who spoke before me to which some correction can be made but I do not want to do so as I do not want to take the time of the House. Coming from a place which depends to a large extent on handloom weaving and which has been allotted a large portion of the quota of cloth consumption from handloom weaving, it is necessary for me to remind the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill, who also comes from the same area, that this measure is likely to affect in a very bad way the handloom cloth which is being exported. We are sending handloom cloth made of lower and medium counts to East Africa, to Malaya and to other places. The Honourable Minister told us that his object in bringing the Bill was to take for the Government a portion of the money which the middlemen were getting. I do not know whether he refers to the middlemen dealing with millmade cloth or with handloom cloth. So far as millmade cloth is concerned the middlemen are making a large amount of profit with the result that the consumer has to pay very much, about twice the amount for which he could have got the cloth but for the intervention of the middlemen. On the other hand with regard to handloom cloth a number of calculations are made. I do not know how far the Government is going to keep the prices as they are. The calculations made for the prices fixed work out like this. For the same count of cloth, millmade cloth will be sold for Rs. 9 a yard whereas for handmade cloth of the same count the price fixed is Rs. 1-3-0. The calculations made may be justified or may not be justified and it will take some time if I begin to examine the reasons given for fixing the price of handmade cloth at this high figure. If we are going to export the handmade cloth to our old markets will it be able at this high controlled price of Rs. 1-3-0 a yard to compete with other products which are coming to the same markets? As I said, Malaya, East Africa and places like that are the areas to which our goods go. Will our goods carrying these high prices be able to compete with goods coming from Japan, America and other places from which countries we hear cloth is already coming to these areas? We read in the papers that some imports have been received from Japan and America in some of these Eastern countries. I do not know the quantity that has been received and whether it has already begun to affect our exports to these countries.

Any way it seems to me that it will have to be considered very deeply whether if the present controlled prices at this high rate are to be continued, our exports may not be affected by the duty that is proposed at the present moment. With the high prices and the duty combined, certainly our goods will be at a disadvantage in those markets. So I should like the Honourable Finance Minister to examine this matter and see that our exports are not affected by the duty that is now proposed. Not only that, Sir, he will also have to see that our permanent markets in Malaya, East Africa and other places are not seriously affected. For that purpose, he will have to examine again, in conjunction with the Minister for Industries, whether the controlled prices fixed by the Government for handloom cloth are justifiable and whether they cannot be reduced. The main reason given for fixing these high prices is scarcity of yarn which makes it impossible for the weaver to have employment for more than 10 or 15 days in the month. They say on account of this scarcity you will have to consider a full month's wage as the wage for the work that he turns out in 10 or 15 days. As a result of this, we are charged double the wages that we have to pay ordinarily. This sort of thing cannot continue for ever. Even in the local market handloom cloth is suffering very badly. I have been hearing and I think the Government is aware of the complaint that there is a very large stock of handloom cloth unsold at the present moment. Even in Delhi I was told the other day that there is a large stock of cloth which has not been sold. One of the explanations given was transport was not available. It may be so, but is that the only reason for this large stock that has been accumulated? I fear Sir, the high price of handloom cloth is one of the main reasons why there has been such a slump in the market for these goods. So I would ask the Finance Minister to consider first the duty that he is going to levy on the export of these goods, and secondly the controlled prices that are fixed for handloom cloth in the country itself; and as he himself said, Sir, there is the question of the middlemen. There are so many middle-men in the trade; there are half a dozen for yarn, and another half a dozen for cloth, with the result, as I said, that probably the consumer can get goods without these middle-men for about half the price which he is now paying in the market. So the middle-men should be minimized. The channels of communication is another matter which he will have to take into consideration, and in conjunction with the Minister for Industries and Supply, he will have to tackle all these. Sir, that is all I wish to say at present.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Sir, this Bill is a consequential Bill to the Budget and in it the Honourable the Finance Minister has tried to impose some taxes to make up a very small part of the big deficit. They will make up about 2 crores of rupees this year out of a deficit of 26 crores. So in considering this Bill there are two considerations: firstly whether this particular duty on yarn and cloth is desirable, and secondly whether the Finance Minister's proposals are adequate or not. Dealing with the first of these, I think that the protest raised by some of my Madras friends has probably been anticipated by the Finance Minister himself by saying that this cloth sells at a much higher price in the country it is exported to and this small duty will not matter. I also know something of these things from experience. I live on the borders of Nepal, in the district of Gorakhpur, and a very large amount of handloom cloth is exported to Nepal, and probably the House will be amused to know that the prices of handloom cloth in Nepal are about twenty times what they are in the U. P. and that a very large amount of black-marketing is going on in order to supply cloth to Nepal, and I think crores of rupees have been made by those who have been doing this smuggling. So I do not think that a small duty of 4 annas or 8 annas, or whatever has been proposed, will in any way affect our exports. Probably there is not much cloth to be exported outside. At least there is none in our province. But if any part of the country exports yarn or cloth, I think this duty is not going to affect that and therefore I think my an encouragement to the export of raw cotton, unless there is a duty on the export of raw cotton.....

[Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar]

An Honourable Member: There is duty on the export of raw cotton.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: There is a maximum duty of Rs. 75 for a bale of 400 lbs. It is open to the Government to impose a maximum duty of Rs. 75 on a bale of 400 lbs. or reduce it. For a long time I have been opposed to the export of cotton for this reason. Cotton is one of the things which we grow to a large extent in this country. We export coarse cotton and we import long staple cotton from Egypt and other places. An attempt was made to grow the finer varieties of cotton in the Punjab but much of those areas have gone to Pakistan. Likewise large portions which have been growing jute in Bengal have gone into the Eastern Pakistan. We have therefore to raise the finer kinds of cotton or manage with our own coarse varieties of cotton in a number of ways. We must so adjust our machinery that even coarse cotton would look like fine cotton when it comes out as yarn or cloth. Similar attempts were made by Germany. I have been watching the reports of the Textile Commissioner from time to time. I found that Germany had adopted this method. Whenever there was any commodity in short supply, the Germans used to find out a substitute. During the war oilseeds were in short supply and they discovered a substitute by way of the whale oil. So far as cotton was concerned, though the finer varieties of cotton were sent to Lancashire and Manchester, Germany used to import from India only the coarser varieties. They so adapted their machinery that when cotton came out either in the form of yarn or cloth even short staple cotton looked like long staple cotton.

There is a Cotton Cess Committee here. A cess is imposed for the purpose of enabling research. In clause 3 you will find provision made for contribution to a fund for the purpose of research. The House will remember that in the recent Income-tax Act if any industry sets apart a sum for purposes of research in that industry that sum is exempted from taxation. I do not know what these millowners either at Ahmedabad or at Bombay have done with all those moneys for which they have been having tax-exemption. Why once again some more money should be given from this export duty? Why are we augmenting this research fund? These people cannot be called industrialists: they are merely traders or businessmen. They are only trying to make money all the time. They must try to improve their industrial plant and set apart some funds for research so that whatever commodity is available in this country may be used to the best advantage. There is no meaning in sending away our cotton which grows here and then falling on bended knees before America to send us some cotton. So far as the finer varieties of cotton are concerned they are grown by Egypt. America and the United Kingdom have got a monopoly over all the cotton that is produced in Egypt. They have entered into an agreement with Egypt for a period of ten or fifteen years to buy all the cotton that is grown by Egypt. Today if we have to get cotton from Egypt we have to go round about through the U. S. A. and the U. K. I would like to be corrected if I am wrong. I would urge that we should devise ways and means to see that all the cotton that is produced in this country is utilised in this country and we do not send even a particle of cotton in an unmanufactured condition. If anything goes out of the country it must be only in the form of manufactured goods. Before the war, large quantities of our raw cotton used to go to Manchester and Lancashire and the coarser varieties used to be bought by Japan. From Japan we used to get coarser kinds of yarn and cloth. Japan is now unable to produce much. Therefore there is an opportunity for us. The industries have not been taking advantage of the opportunity that has been afforded by the war and the abnormal conditions that have ensued and they are still having their own way. Cheap profits are their only motive. There is absolutely no intention on their part to devise ways and means to absorb all the cotton that is produced in this country. I would like you, Sir, to judge the effects of this measure so far as industry is concerned. This Bill intends to impose a specific duty at a flat rate on cloth that is exported at four annas per yard and it imposes a specific duty of six annas on every pound of yarn that is exported. I would like to prevent the export of yarn and instead cotton cloth being exported. So far as cotton is concerned the export duty is not sufficient to prevent the export of raw cotton. I do not want any raw cotton to be exported from this country. As regards cloth and yarn I am glad that the honourable member has chosen to impose a heavier duty on yarn at the rate of six annas per lb. and four annas on cloth per yard. But it will have a deleterious effect upon the export of yarn, though the duty is not in terms of yard but of weight. This will have a deleterious effect on the export of handloom cloth. Four annas per yard is uniform whether the cloth is fine or coarse. Today there is a large volume of trade in lungis and the coarser varieties produced on the handloom in the southern parts of Madras Presidency. The largest number of handlooms is in Assam and next comes our Presidency. This measure will encourage the export of mill made cloth in preference to the handloom cloth and it may have a chilling effect on the handloom cloth. We ought not to judge its effects from a purely temporary point of view. It may come to stay and therefore we will have to consider its long-term effects. The Honourable Minister himself is in the industry. He is one of the industrialists of South India and himself owns textile mills. When he brings forward a measure of this kind I am sure he has considered all aspects of the matter but there may be one or two things which may have escaped his attention. I am trying to bring them to his notice. I notice the difference between the manner in which handloom cloth is treated from millmade cloth. I have received a telegraphic communication from the South Indian Chamber of Commerce that this should be remedied as the export duty works out to 30 per cent. on handloom cloth and only to 20 per cent. on finer counts of cloth. This is not the final Bill. In March next we will have the regular Finance Bill. In the interval I am sure the Honourable the Finance Minister will watch the effects of this export duty on both finer varieties of cloth and coarser varieties or handloom cloth and try to adjust things later on.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have only one or two points to make. I am in general agreement with what my Honourable friend Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar has said except that I do not want the export of cotton to be discouraged unless and until our millowners are able to consume the whole of it. During the whole period of the war because cotton could not be exported they were exploiting the cotton grower. I agree with Mr. Ayyangar that the incidence upon handloom woven cloth is too high and that it should be lowered at the earliest possible opportunity. I hope that the Honourable the Finance Minister will agree to change over from the specific duty to an ad valorem imposition at the time of the next Budget if at all he thinks that this particular tax should be reintroduced at that time.

Thirdly, Sir, representing as I do the handloom weavers, I wish to draw his attention to the fact that there used to be a subvention of Rs. 5 lakhs set apart for the improvement of the handloom weaving industry and it was at that time collected from out of a small cess that was being levied upon. I think, the import of mill cloth and mill yarn. That subvention of Rs. 5 lakhs used to be utilised for very good purposes, namely, for the development of co-operative societies among handloom weavers. Grants used to be made from out of it for all Provincial Governments. In Madras, U. P., Bihar and also in C. P. the handloom weavers have come to be organised in a co-operative manner and the co-operative societies have stood them in good stead during the whole of the war and they have also helped the war-time cloth production. Unfortunately it has been given up in the last one year and a half. Since this tax is going to be friends from Madras need not be afraid. I should have wished a much higher duty on its export. In my own province I think the Government should legalise the export of cloth that goes to Nepal by imposing a higher duty. This will systematise the export of cloth to Nepal which is friendly independent Hindu State and depends for all its imports on and through India. In that way black-marketing will stop. But while I support this duty, I am very much critical of the proposals contained in this Bill. I have no intention to speak on the Budget, but I feel that the uncovered gap of 24 crores in the budget was not a very wise policy and I do not think these financial proposals are adequate to meet the needs of a nation which has to make up for the backwardness caused by two centuries of slavery. We have emerged into a free State only four months back. Yesterday when Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar moved his cut, the guillotine was applied immediately after. The cut was intended to discuss the failure to appoint a Ministry for Planning to place before the nation a five year plan of national development as part of a long range programme to bring the country abreast of Russia and America within the next ten years. I had given notice of that cut myself, and if the guillotine had not been applied I would have explained how we must work at a tremendous pressure if we wish to realise our natural destiny as the greatest nation of the world with a unique culture and civilisation. Ours is a great country. The Prime Minister told us the other day that we want to keep an independent Foreign Policy in world affairs. We do not want to join any block, but if we are not going to join any block, we must be in a position to defend our freedom and independence with our own strength. Otherwise if we are not strong ourselves, some other power which is more powerful can exercise pressure and force us to yield. To be an independent nation in the world today we must be equal to the other big powers. Otherwise it would be impossible for us to maintain an independent position. India, by virtue of its population, its most ancient culture and civilisation, its great resources, economic, moral, intellectual and spiritual, and its eminent leaders, is entitled to a position greater than that of America and Russia in international affairs, but that position cannot be realised if the budget proposals are such as they are now. My friend Mr. Ayyangar very rightly said yesterday that there is not even a mention about planning in the budget proposals. He pointed out what our Prime Minister said the other day that in Russia our Ambassador has to go to Stockholm to purchase furniture because Russians have no time to produce these things and everybody there is at his assigned job in the planned development of.....

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena]

Mr. Speaker: Does the Honourable Member propose to go into the Budget again?

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: No, Sir. I want to say these proposals are inadequate and there must be much more taxation than what has been proposed to provide for the cost of National Development.

Mr. Speaker: How is it relevant to this. I fail to understand the connection between the two.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: The Finance Minister has moved his Bill "to give effect to the supplementary financial proposals for the year ending on the 31st day of March 1948". I consider these proposals inadequate. I think there should have been more taxation. I am pointing out the essential needs for which more money should be raised. I am saying.....

Mr. Speaker: I am afraid it will not be possible for me to permit the honourable member to go into the whole question of Budget and finances. There was a general discussion on the Budget, and all the Demands have been voted upon by this House. So that is concluded now. It is perfectly competent for him to criticize this particular levy, this particular method of raising funds, and he can do that.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I say this, Sir, that these financial proposals are not adequate to meet our needs?

Mr. Speaker: He can at the most say that, but he cannot go into the discussion of the Budget over again; he is trying to open up the whole field of the Budget Discussion.

Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth (Madras: Muslim): May I say, Sir, that the practice in this House has been that on the Finance Bill, every matter that comes within the purview of the Government of India can be discussed? Of course, that was in the old set-up; I do not know whether you are setting up a new practice.

Mr. Speaker: There is a misapprehension on the part of the honourable member. This Bill, technically speaking, is not a Finance Bill in the sense in which a Finance Bill is understood, and therefore the very basis of his argument falls through. I know that everything could be discussed—even the moon could be discussed, as I was told last year; but then, the moon may be discussed in relation to the Earth. Therefore, the honourable member can refer to some points in the general aspects. But the honourable member is trying to go into the whole field of the General Discussion again.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: I was under the impression, Sir, that this is a Finance Bill and therefore I thought I could go on. Any way, I want only to point out that our finances at the present moment should have been such that instead of a deficit we should have had large sums of money to invest into big schemes and plans. I saw the other day the Plan of Mr. Neogy, which probably has been there for the last one year. I do not know what has been done to give effect to it. But I do hope that the Finance Minister, in his next Budget, will bring before the House proposals in accordance with a comprehensive plan for the future so that we can have a lot of money to spend on the various projects.

Sir, this Bill is a very small one trying to get some taxation for a portion of the year and therefore it cannot help very much to reduce our deficit. Two crores is not a very big sum out of twenty-six crores, but still as it is something I welcome it. But I think there were ample opportunities to tax the capitalist black-marketers about whom we heard so much yesterday. Our Prime Minister had told us that they ought to be hanged. But here they are not even taxed.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The Honourable Member is not keeping to his promise.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: I therefore hope that next time we shall not be complaining about our finances or deficits. I also hope that next time the Finance Minister will provide us with large funds to really help us in making this country great.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Sir, the Bill before the House is to give effect to the Supplementary Financial Proposals of the Central Government for the year ending on the 31st day of March 1948. That is the heading of this Bill, Sir. However, in view of your ruling, I accept that it is a Bill which is to be treated not as a Finance Bill but as a Bill confined to the enhancement of a particular tax in a particular way.

Sir, my object in rising on this occasion is to bring to the notice of the Honourable the Finance Minister one or two points which I think are of some importance in considering these proposals. As he comes from South India, he certainly knows that a large number of handlooms exist in Madura District and in other parts of South India, which mainly weave particular kinds of cloth that is consumed in Ceylon. There is a very large demand in Ceylon for a particular kind of saris and lungis which are produced by the hand-loom in Southern India. I think it is a very big market which South India has got in Ceylon as regards this commodity.

1388

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [6TH DEC. 1947]

[Shri M. S. Aney]

The present arrangement as regards the fixing of prices of these articles which are exported from South India to Ceylon, is this. According to some understanding between the Government of Madras and the Government of Ceylon, there is an Agency which fixes the prices of these articles manufactured in Madras and exported to Ceylon. Those prices are stamped on these pieces of cloth sent to Ceylon. Then, to that amount, certain extra charges required for transportation etc. are to be added, and the Ceylon Government has control on the prices; they have a certain fixed margin of profits which they want to allow and not more.

The complaint there has been that this control on prices which the Ceylon Government had over these articles, was not working satisfactorily; particularly that they were using that control in such a way as to leave a very little margin of profits for the importing merchant. Therefore, there were many complaints that something should be done with a view to see that the margin of profit is a bit higher so that the importing people may be encouraged in going in for these articles. Now, while I was there, I was also seeing a tendency of growing competition from America and Japan in this commodity. Well, to what extent the competition has now grown I cannot say after leaving that country, but attempts were made with a view to get similar kind of articles from America and Japan.

Now, the Honourable the Finance Minister is fully aware that Japan can manufacture things at a very cheap price. I do not know whether our products can stand the field against competition from Japan. I therefore want my honourable friend to carefully examine this point and see whether this additional duty of four annas per yard which he is imposing will be helpful. We may leave aside the question of the duty of six annas on yarn because this commodity that I refer to is all manufactured pieces of cloth and yarn does not come in. But as regards the duty on cloth, I want him to examine carefully and see whether it is not likely to affect adversely the export of this particular kind of cloth to Ceylon and make it difficult to compete with other goods coming from America and Japan. If that is so, I am sure he, as an industrialist and as one much more interested in the welfare of the handloom weavers of South India than I can pretend to claim, will see if there is any need to revise his policy.

I particularly wanted to bring this special aspect of the question to the notice of the Finance Member because while in Ceylon I was finding that there was a good deal of uneasiness there on account of the very strong policy of control which the Ceylon Government was pursuing. One of the objects of the Ceylon Government in pursuing that policy was construed by some persons as to make room for cloth coming from other countries rather than to allow Indian goods to be in the field. Sir, that was an interpretation put by some persons, but I am not prepared to subscribe to that view. Any way, it will be of great help to the handloom weavers if this aspect of the question is borne in mind by the Honourable the Finance Member in watching carefully the effect of the export duty on the market conditions for this commodity in Ceylon.

As regards other points, of course, I do not want to say anything except the fact that coming as I do from a tract which grows a great deal of cotton, namely, Berar, I am interested in the export duty on raw cotton. I would like to see that the Indian mills make more use of short staple cotton. They are not careful in making full use of it. In fact, prior to the war, there was a tendency on the part of these mills not to mind that a great quantity of cotton that is grown in short staple in these parts was lying idle. One of the greatest customers was Japan in those days. Something like 7 lakhs or 8 lakhs bales of cotton were consumed by Japan. As the Honourable Minister may be aware, that after Japan was out of field there was a good deal of negotiation between the British merchants in England and Indian merchants here about these matters, but before any settlement could be arrived at, the war took a more serious turn and matters have remained at a standstill. My point is this, that there are a large number of cultivators in those parts who grow short staple cotton and anything that is likely to reduce the consumption of this cotton outside the country must be compensated for by an increased consumption of that cotton in this country. If export duties are likely to reduce the possibility of consumption of short staple cotton outside India without compensating increase of that consumption in India, it would be a terrible thing from the point of view of these cultivators. Therefore, I would like the Honourable the Finance Minister to bear this point in mind when increasing the export duty on raw cotton.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri (Assam: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is said that 'Inscrutable are the ways of the Providence'. I might add another addage to that and say 'More inscrutable are the ways of some of our Honourable Ministers'. It was only yesterday that we heard the Honourable Minister in charge of Industry and Supply bitterly complaining that we are still short of the pre-war level so far as production of cloth was concerned. He mentioned that the figure was somewhere near 800 million yards. After that we should have expected the present Government to come out with an Ordinance that all export from India should be stopped so far as cloth and yarn is concerned. Until we are in a position to get our minimum requirements so far as cloth is concerned, not a single staple of yarn or a single yard of cloth should go out of India. The apology of an enhanced export duty shows how indifferent we are to the needs of this country so far as cloth and yarn is concerned.

Sir, if I tell the House the miseries which some districts in my Province undergo so far as supply of cloth is concerned, I am afraid the Honourable Members may be tempted to laugh, but it is not a matter of laughter. In our parts, in the districts where we want dhoties we get plenty of saris and where we want saris we get dhoties. Despatches are made in this way, that some districts are only given saris and some districts are given only dhoties. What is the result? So far as dhoties are concerned, the women are not at all in difficulty, because they have started taking to trousers and pyjamas.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. I do not follow the Honourable Member's relevancy. He is referring to more distribution of cloth or defective distribution of cloth. I think his point is that there should have been a much heavier duty on export. That, of course, he can make, but he need not refer in detail to the stories about distribution.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Not stories, it is a fact.

Mr. Speaker: May be it is a fact, or it is not a fact. But a man dressing in saris or a woman dressing in trousers is a matter not relevant for the purpose of this discussion.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: I admit, Sir, it is not relevant for the purpose of this discussion that women should go about dressed in trousers. But what is relevant, Sir, is that unless we are going to adopt a policy of nudism or unless we are going to follow the preachings of great saints and discard men's clothing as far as possible, then, Sir, there is every justification for the complete stoppage of exports. But if you are not of that view, and if you consider that we should not be partial between man and woman and that we should cloth the men of the present day, then, Sir, greater attention must be paid for the requirements of men's clothing. Sir, it is perhaps very difficult to expect this much justice from the present Government. The powers are nowadays in the hands of widowers, both in Pakistan as well as in India, and widowers we know are afraid of women if they were not afraid they would not have remained widowers. Therefore we can hardly expect any justice from them in matters like these.

[Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri]

An Honourable Member: How do you know it?

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: We are not getting justice. But this is by the way, Sir.

An Honourable Member: May I ask the Honourable Member to which category he belongs?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: I think, Sir, it is not proper for us to discuss one's own personal affairs. I am not going to discuss my personal matters.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member may come to the subject.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: I was talking with reference to public utility. Sir, as regards export of yarn, I think it is highly criminal to agree to having any kind of export of yarn from this country. What has happened in those provinces where people largely resort to handloom weaving is well known perhaps to this Government. Last year, discussing on the Budget, we laid very great stress on increased supply of yarn to the provinces, particularly Assam and Madras. Sir, it will surprise the House to learn that it has been decided in our parts not to supply any yarn to hosiery mills. They are going practically to stop for want of yarn. As is perhaps well known to the Honourable Minister of Government, a large number of ganjis, as we call them, used to be exported from East Bengal to Assam. Now this export has been practically stopped because they want these ganjis for themselves. On the one hand, supply of yarn has been stopped for the hosiery mills in Assam and on the other hand the import into Assam of ganjis has been stopped. I do not want to refer to our own women-folk because it may create jealousies amongst sisters in India, but it is a well known fact that practically every woman in our part of the country is a weaver. There is no class called "weavers" in Assam because every woman has got to qualify herself for her marriage by being a clever weaver. That is the custom but now on account of want of yarn supply to the Province handloom has been practically stopped. In every household, the wife, the daughter and everyone used to weave and there were at least 4 weaving looms in every house practically. Now that the supply of yarn has been stopped all that has gone and on the top of that and with all respect to my honourable friend, Mr. Aney, you send yarn to Ceylon instead of utilising them all in India. I can only say that it is a most criminal negligence. So, Sir, I humbly submit that the honourable Minister should seriously consider whether all export of cotton yarn should not be stopped, until we are in a position to produce yarn to the pre-war level, and secondly, if at all the export is to be allowed, the rate which has been fixed, namely six annas, should be very much more enhanced, so that practically the export will be stopped.

Shri Satyanarayan Sinha (Bihar: General): The question be now put.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the question be now put."

The Motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to give effect to the supplementary financial proposals of the Central Government for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1948, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: I will take the Bill clause by clause.

Now is the time to consider the Honourable Member's amendments and may I point out to him that his amendments are not in order. Under Section 37 of the Government of India Act, a Bill or amendment making provision for or increasing any tax shall not be introduced or be moved except on the recommendation of the Governor-General. 'The Governor-General' here means the Government and there will be no recommendation coming from the Government about acceptance of these amendments or allowing it to be moved. Therefore, I cannot permit the honourable member to move his amendments. That disposes the various amendments. He can, however, address the House on the clause itself.

श्री लक्ष्मीनारायण साहू: सभापति जी, इस प्रस्ताव के बारे में जो संशोधन मैं लाया था वह मूव नहीं करने दिया गया। इस क्लॉज के बारे में जो चार आना स्क्वायर गज क्लॉथ पर जो एक्सपोर्ट ड्यूटी लगाई जाती है उसे ज्यादा करने के लिए तमाश आदमियों की मन्शा है।

हम लोग देखते हैं कि हिन्दुस्तान में लोगों को कपड़ा पहनने को नहीं मिलता है तो फिर क्या सबब है कि जब आदमियों को कपड़ा अच्छी तरह से पहनने को नहीं मिलता है तो हम लोग एक्सपोर्ट करें। जब एक्सपोर्ट हम करेंगे और इस देस से होगा तो जितना ज्यादा रूपया हम ले सकते हैं उतनी कोशिश करेंगे और वह ज्यादा रूपया जो आयेगा उससे हम हिन्दुस्तान की दुसरी व्यवस्था कर सकते हैं। लेकिन मैं सोचता हूं कि यह जितना भी प्रबन्ध एक स्क्वायर यार्ड के लिए चार आना लिया जाता है वह कफी नहीं है। लेकिन मैं सोचता हूं कि जो चीज हमारे यहां होती है और जब हम उसी चीज को बाहर भेजते हैं तो उसका इस देश में अभाव हो जाता है और फिर उसी चीज को बाहर से मगाने की कोशिश करते हैं। इस तरह की पालिसी से हम लोग हैरान हैं। मैं जब इतिहास की तरफ देखता हूं तब मालूम होता है कि मैं उस देश से आया हूं जिसे कलिंग कहा जाता था। वहां इतना कपड़ा होता था कि जावा और दूसरे देशों को भेजा जाता था लेकिन अब हालत यह है कि वहां कपड़ा नहीं मिला है, इसका क्या सबब है। आज प्रान्त के लोगों के पास सूत न होने की वजह से वे कुलीगिरी का काम करने के लिए कलकत्ता, बर्मा और जमशेदपुर जाते हैं। गवर्नमेण्ट को यह सोचना चाहिये कि प्रान्त की सुविधा के लिए प्रान्त के व्यवसाय के लिए जो सुविधा की जरूरत है उसकी कोशिश करनी चाहिये।

इसलिए मैंने अपने एमेन्डमेंट में यह चार आना पर स्क्वायर यार्ड क्लॉथ की एक्सपोर्ट ड्यूटी को दुगना या न आना कर दिया जाय ऐसा रक्खा था। इससे हम लोगों को ज्यादा पैसा मिलेगा और बजट में जो डेफीसिट है वह कम हो जायगा। इसलिए मैं प्रार्थना करता हूं कि जो एमेन्डमेंट मैंने दिया है उसको मिनिस्टर साहब सोच विचार करके मंजूर करेंगे।

(English translation of the above speech)

Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu (Orissa: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have not been permitted to move the amendment proposed by me in connection with this Bill. It is the intention of all the people to enhance the levy of export duty of annas four per square yard of cloth imposed vide this clause.

[Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu]

We find that the people in India are not able to get cloth to wear. Then what is the reason that when the people are not able to get sufficient cloth to wear, we should export? When we export from this country, the more money we can get, the more we will try, and that additional amount which will thus accrue, we can utilize it to change the conditions in India. But I think that the levy of this custom duty of four annas per square yard of cloth is not adequate. But I feel that the things which are produced by us and when we export these, this results in scarcity in this country. And then again we try to import that thing from abroad. We are surprised over this sort of Policy. When I scan over the pages of History, then I come to know that I hail from a country which used to be called as 'Kalinga'. The cloth production there was so much that it was exported to Java and other countries. But now the condition prevailing there is that no cloth is available. What is the reason for this? To-day for want of yarn, the people in the Province are forced to go to Calcutta, Burma and Jamshedpur to seek the avocation of coolies there. The Government should consider over this and try to provide all the necessary facilities for the industrial development of the Province.

Therefore, I had proposed in my amendment to double this custom duty of four annas per square yard on the export of cloth i.e., it should be raised to eight annas. This would yield us an additional amount and thus reduce the deficit in the Budget. Therefore, I request that the Honourable Minister may kindly consider over the amendment proposed by me and accept it.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 2 stand part of the Bill."

The Motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C.P. and Berar: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, Mr. Ayyangar has already pointed out the fact that in spite of the provision for the creation of a Fund for research in cotton, the fund is not properly utilized and we do not see anything by way of a research that really benefits the agriculturists. Coming from an area where cotton is grown extensively, I would like to inform the Finance Member, Sir, that this provision is more by way of an eyewash and merely to take away the shock of additional taxation rather than an attempt to benefit the cotton grower. In fact, if he analyses what actually is being done in the way of cotton research, I am sure, Sir, like all of us, he will also be sorely disappointed. It is therefore necessary, Sir, that the whole question of cotton research ought to be examined and I would also suggest the creation of a Cotton Institute, where those people who have been growing cotton from time immemorial may receive training, so that the deficiency in the growth of long staple cotton which we are feeling and which we are likely to feel increasingly on account of the partition of the country may be made good and they may receive the education they require. Very often, Sir, such institutions are taken advantage of by those people who merely seek jobs and those who would really increase the production or would improve the land fail to secure admission. This difficulty also I hope he will examine. There is at present the Central Cotton Committee in existence which is supposed partially to look after scientific research in cotton growing. But actually that Committee which was meant to help cotton growers in getting better prices and all that, has dwindled into a clique of capitalists which helps the exploitation of cotton growers more than anything else. That is also one of the things which I hope this Government of Independent India and the Honourable the Finance Minister will examine. I think he also owes it to the House to explain what precisely is the policy of Government so far as the export of Cotton and yarn is concerned. Everybody knows that there is very great deficiency of cloth and yarn in India, and therefore we are entitled to know whether Government want to export more yarn and cloth or whether they want to discourage it. Actually the situation is such that the export of both yarn and cotton should be altogether prohibited. And what will actually happen? I am not prepared to believe, even if the Finance Minister were to tell me so, that this duty is meant to discourage export; on the contrary I believe it is bound to encourage export because there is such a heavy demand from outside countries for cotton goods that this Bill will result in greater profit making on the part of mill-owners than anything else. This Bill is not going to benefit India in spite of the fact that it will bring some money into Government treasury. It is a matter of common knowledge that what is sold here for Rs. 2 per yard can easily be sold for about 6 to 8 rupees per yard outside India. So I would not be wrong in saying that this Bill is, comparatively speaking, going to realise for India a very insignificant benefit as compared to the huge profits that they are going to accrue to the cloth dealers and the Mill-owners.

Another point I want to make is this. In view of the fact that the textile industry is making such huge profits and as a result of this permission to export they will be making still larger profits, I think it is time that Government should pay more attention to the nationalisation of this industry. I am not going to enter into any arguments for or against nationalisation. But if we want to enrich our Government and enrich our nation and if we want larger funds for the development of India, the taking over of the textile industry by Government would really benefit us far more than this insignificant duty on export would. Although this point has been made by several speakers on various cut motions and so on, I do not think that as much pointed attention of the Honourable the Finance Minister has been drawn to it as in my opinion it is necessary to do. Sir, the Honourable Finance Minister happens to be a textile mill-owner, and I have also heard that he is a believer in socialism. So this will be capitalistic socialism which he will probably bring about in this country. How far that is possible is for the House to judge; but it would redound to his great credit if being a mill-owner he consents to and brings about the nationalisation of the textile industry. That will prove to us more than anything else that he is really a socialist at heart. Every duty that is imposed ultimately falls upon the grower and the unfortunate agriculturists. The first effect of this duty is going to be that the cotton purchasers will offer a much lower price to the grower than is done at the present time. So it is also likely to be misused by the cotton dealers. In addition to what I have said so far there are two suggestions that I want to make on this occasion, that he or his colleagues should try to reduce the number of middlemen who are dealing in cloth, and also see that some kind of co-operative cotton marketing is introduced in India on a large scale, if not out of this fund at least out of some other fund. This subject of sale of cotton is a very old one; for 20 years we have had conferences and the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research has spent lakhs of rupees over meetings and conferences; but nothing very tangible has yet come out. I think that is one of the things that the present Government must attend to, and it is very necessary in order to safeguard the interests of the cotton grower to put more money into his pockets and to stop his exploitation. A better system of cotton marketing on an all India scale should be started as early as possible.

Shri Khandubhai K. Desai (Bombay: General): Sir, in supporting this clause I should like to put a few points for the sympathetic consideration of the Honourable Finance Minister. It is estimated that the export duty on cotton cloth and cotton yarn will bring in about 8 crores of rupees and Government is also given discretion to give such amount as it wants to the textile fund. I suggest that if not the whole, at least a large part of this fund should be earmarked for encouraging the handloom industry for the future. As it is, the textile mills and textile interests in this country have collectively got huge funds at their disposal for any impetus or encouragement that may be required for the development of the textile industry. And particularly, the Honourable Finance Minister will be able to satisfy certain apprehensions that have been expressed by certain Honourable Members of this House with regard to the interests of handloom weavers. He should give an assurance to this House that a large part of this additional fund—if not the whole of it—will go to promote the interests of handloom weavers. Of course for the time being the handloom weavers' interests are not going to be jeopardised because there is a shortage of cloth in the country. This fund will be coming more or less from the middlemen and as there is no parity of prices between Indian cloth and foreign cloth this amount is coming from the present day profiteers. It should properly be utilised for encouraging the handloom industry. The Finance Minister said in his budget speech that he is a socialist and his definition of socialism is an equitable and fair distribution of wealth. So he may at least give us an example by earmarking this additional fund for equitable and fair distribution among those who require it most. Sir, I support this clause.

[Shri Kharudubhai K. Desai]

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): I have only a short point to submit before the House. There is shortage of cloth in India due to our mills and our handloom industry not working or not being able to work to their full capacity. The permission to export cotton cloth and yarn seems to me to be a confession of failure on the part of the Government to utilise our cotton and yarn in making more cloth through the mills and through our cottage handloom industry. This aspect of the matter should be remembered in connection with this subject.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: My Honourable friend, Dr. Deshmukh, has been under a misapprehension regarding the purport and scope of this taxation measure. He seems to be under the impression that this export duty is an open invitation for greater export of cloth thereby enabling manufacturers and traders to make more profit. It is not so. Our cloth export is very rigidly controlled by quota systems. In 1945 our export quota was fixed at 600 million yards; in 1946 we reduced it to 400 million yards and in 1947 we propose to allow only 300 million yards. So whether there is an export duty or not, the actual export of cotton textiles is very rigidly controlled. So the honourable member need not have any apprehension that this measure will be an invitation for the export of cotton textiles on a more extended scale.

With regard to the contribution to the Cotton Textile Fund, here again there has been some misapprehension. With regard to researches on the agricultural side, there is already a separate fund, the contribution for which is derived from an excise duty on the cotton consumed in the Indian mills. The proceeds of this excise duty are made available to the Central Cotton Committee, and honourable members must probably have heard of the very splendid work that is done by the Cotton Research Laboratory at Matunga. Now this Institute has done a great deal in the direction of improving the varieties of cotton grown in this country. The small ad valorem duty which it is now proposed to replace by a heavier specific duty was intended to build up a fund for setting up a large textile research institute in this country and a considerable amount has accumulated in this fund—I think over two crores of rupees, and Government are examining various schemes as to how best to utilise this fund.

My Honourable friend, Mr. Khandubhai Desai suggested that a substantial portion of this new duty should be earmarked for the improvement of the handloom industry. On general principles, I am, against earmarking the proceeds of any taxation for any particular purpose. It is not sound finance. The object of this present measure is to augment the general revenues of the country. If the handloom industry is to be helped, and I can see that it has to be helped whether there is this duty or not, it will be the duty of the Central Govt. and the Provincial Governments to make handsome contributions for the development of that industry, and I have no doubt that the Central Government will be keenly alive to the needs and necessity for supporting the handloom industry in our country. In this matter, the Provincial Governments are really in a position to do much more than what the Central Government can do. But whatever financial assistance is necessary from the Central Government it will always be forthcoming whether there is any specific duty on cotton textiles or not.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 3 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 3 was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

In doing so, I only want to give an assurance that I am keenly alive to the need for protecting the handloom industry, especially as I come from a part of the country which is vitally interested in the fate of the handloom industry. Just at present, the world shortage in textiles is so acute that there is really no need for apprehension that this duty will in any way affect the export of the handloom cloth from our country. As a matter of fact, considering the total volume of export, the handloom cloth plays only a very small part. It is only about 10 per cent. of our total export and even out of this very small part of export, except for certain varieties like lougies, which is manufactured in South India, the bulk of the export in handloom cloth is only of the finer variety and I think that this duty of four annas can easily be put on the export of our handloom cloth of the finer variety also. I can assure my honourable friend, Mr. Aney that as matters stand at present, there is no reason to apprehend any serious competition from American or Japanese textiles. As a matter of fact, the price of Japanese textiles today is more than three times our controlled prices in India. Besides, it will interests the House to know that sometime back with a view to create a cloth shortage in this country, the Government of India arranged for the import of some quantity of Japanese textiles and when the stuff actually arrived it was found we could not sell it because the price was so prohibitive. So just at present there is no apprehension that there is any jeopardy for the export of the handloom cloth. But in any case, as I said at the outset, the position will be very closely watched and if I decide to continue this duty in the next budget I will have the whole matter completely re-examined by that time. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved.

"That the Bill be passed."

Prof. N. G. Ranga: I do not wish to say anything at this stage but one remark made by the Honourable the Finance Minister has provoked me to say just one or two things. The Honourable the Finance Minister said it is not sound finance to earmark any fund for specific purposes. But I wish to remind him of the fact that whatever might be his view, this certainly is against the practice till now. There have been many funds created, including the Road Fund itself by the result of such earmarking. I hope he will give some consideration to this matter before he actually comes to any decision and see that the existing funds which have come as a result of earmarking and the funds that may have to be created in future are given up before he comes to any final decision in regard to this at the time of the next budget.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

ELECTRICITY (SUPPLY) BILL.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power and for Commerce): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill to provide for the rationalization of the production and supply of electricity, and generally for taking measures conducive to the electrical development of the Provinces of India, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty, Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Shri B. Das, Shri M. R. Masani, Shri T. T. Krishnamachari, Shri K. Santhanam, Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth, Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri, Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala, Shri Mohan Lal Saksena, Shri S. K. Patil, Shri Sures Chandra Majumdar and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

Sir, there are only four minutes more and as I shall require about 40 minutes for my speech, I shall speak in the afternoon.

Mr. Speaker: Meantime, I shall put the motion to the House: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to provide for the rationalization of the production and supply of electricity, and generally for taking measures conducive to the electrical development of the Provinces of India, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty, Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Shri B. Das, Shri M. R. Masani, Shri T. T. Krishnamachari, Shri K. Santhanam, Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth, Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri, Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala, Shri Mohan Lal Saksena, Shri S. K. Patil, Shri Sures Chandra Majumdar and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, let me admit at the very outset that this is a very big and complicated Bill. At the same time I would respectfully state that it is a very urgent Bill and I would request the House to accept my motion for reference to Select Committee.

Sir, it is well known that in any scheme of industrialisation basic industries have naturally the first priority and among the basic industries power must necessarily have the highest priority. In the plan which is known as the Plan of Economic Development for India which was worked out and which was published in the year 1944 the first place has been given to the development of electricity. It is well known that the great achievement of Soviet Russia in the field of industrialisation was mainly due to the fact that Soviet Russia undertook first their big scheme of electricity development. That also is true of Canada in recent years. It is therefore only fit and proper that this country which aspires for speedy industrialisation should follow in the footsteps of these big nations as far as possible so that this country may achieve the objective for which it stands.

So far as the development of electricity is concerned I may bring to the notice of this House that as early as 1940 the National Planning Committee has stated as follows:

"We are of the opinion that in order to implement the national policy on power it is necessary to create Provincial Electricity Boards and one Central Electricity Board. The Central Electricity Board will co-ordinate the activities of the Provincial Boards and formulate the general national policy. Wherever necessary two or more Provinces or States may form a Regional Board."

That was in 1940. Later on, in the year 1945, the Policy Committee laid down the following principle:

"That the development of electricity supply in areas outside existing licensed areas should be actively pursued, as far as possible, as a State or quasi-State enterprise; but if for any reason the State is not prepared to undertake such development in any area within a reasonable time, private enterprise should not be excluded;

That, provided efficient and economic operation could be assured to the public, options existing under any licence to acquire an undertaking should, as a general rule, be exercised when they arise;

That steps be taken to eradicate any factors that retard the healthy and economical growth of electrical development on regional lines whether in Provincial, State and Local authority-owned or in commercially-owned electrical undertakings."

The Policy Committee further laid down:

"That the necessity both in the interests of public utilities as well as of the general public of laying down financial principles for the control of electric public utilities be accepted;

That an Advisory Board not exceeding 5 persons be set up under Section 35 of the Electricity Act to advise Government on the nature, extent and method of application of such principles."

In pursuance of this policy the Electricity Supply Bill was first introduced in the year 1946 by the Honourable Dr. Ambedkar. It was circulated to elicit public opinion by an executive order, and the date by which public opinion was called for was extended to April of 1947. In the month of June 1947 a Conference was held at Simla under the chairmanship of the Honourable Mr. Bhabha and it was attended by representatives of the relevant interests. Representatives of the electric supply undertakings, individually as well as through the Federation, and representatives of the investing public were present.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U.P.: General): Was there any representative of labour also present?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: There was not. Representatives of consumers were also present and among them was the honourable member, Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar. In that Conference which was held for nearly a week and probably for six hours a day, all questions relating to the principles on which this Bill has been based were thoroughly threshed out. As a matter of fact this Bill would have been on the statute book by this time but for certain political events that occurred between May 1947 and the present Assembly session. Under the Standing Orders the Bill lapsed as no step was taken in connection with this Bill in two consecutive sessions. Therefore it had to be introduced again. It was introduced and now a reference to the Select Committee is under discussion. Having accepted the principles and directions laid down both in the Report of the National Planning Committee of the Indian National Congress and in the Report of the Policy Committee appointed by the Government of India, I think there is not much on which people can differ fundamentally. It is an accepted fact that we are far behind in the matter of generation of electricity and its consumption in this country. The per capita consumption in India is 9.2 k.w. where as in England it is 906, in the United States of America it is 1,470, in Canada 3,510, in Norway 3,090. In other words we are far behind any other country although our resources are so plentiful. In fact a great English economist has said that India is a rich country with a poor people. I think that is a challenge both to the industrialists, to leaders, and to legislators also, that this contradiction must be resolved as early as possible and the standard of life in this country should be advanced. Today Sir, the total installed capacity is a little less than 2 million k.w. But the possibilities are so great Sir, that leaving aside thermal energy, the water power out of which electricity is possible, I am told by those whose opinions are entitled to great respect, will be anything between 35 to 40 millions, and if we develop this industry on proper lines, it will not be long before we can achieve what we want to achieve, namely the betterment of the common man. Now looking to the pattern of the present development of electricity in this country, you will be surprised to know; Sir, that half the electricity that is generated in this country is consumed by four cities, Bombay, Calcutta, Cawnpore, and Ahmedabad. We find that over half the output of the Indian electricity supply industry is absorbed in the four cities which contain less than $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the population of the whole country. This may be excusable when the industry is in its infant stage, but there is no further excuse now when we are thinking of planning all round. It may be that in the infant stages when these undertakings were very anxious for not only a fair return but a considerable return, the area of operation should be limited to a town or perhaps a town and its few suburbs. But if we want to do good to the rural population, then some other methods must be thought out, some other lines of development must be fixed up, so that electric power will be available for transport, for agriculture and for domestic use; and I cannot contemplate a better conferment of benefit on the rural classes than to make electricity available to them at cheaper rates and throughout the year. That should be the desideratum which any planning authority should have before its mind. A number of factors have operated in impeding the growth of electricity in this country. Now it has been an accepted principle that in any scheme in which we want to have greater expansion of electricity, it can only be by following what is known as the Grid system. The essentials of the Grid system are firstly erection of large scale power stations located at suitable centres within a particular region and under the control of public supply undertakings; secondly, construction of main transmission systems with smaller secondary lines attached to it for tapping agricultural and other outlying areas; and lastly standardization of frequency as far as possible within the region to be developed by the power system. Now if that is to be accepted, it only means that the boundaries of provinces will have to be brushed aside so far as this question is concerned, and for such a purpose any legislation in any of the provinces will be of no avail, and perhaps of no validity. In these circumstances there is full justification and necessity for introducing a legislation of the kind which is now before the Central Legislature.

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

With these preliminary observations I want to explain, not in great detail, but briefly, some of the provisions of this Bill. The Bill, Sir, as you will see, is a pretty big affair. It contains nearly 80 sections and 9 schedules. Now, in the main body of the Bill, Sir, are principles relating to organization which is absolutely necessary if we are to have development of this industry on approved lines. There must be good mechanism, sound mechanism, through which the policy or policies have got to be operated. This Bill lays down that for every province there will be what is known as provincial electricity board. Then that board must have some powers. Those powers are also defined. Then there must be duties. Those duties are also defined. Then it is necessary that some provision must be made for the finances of the board itself. Those provisions are there in the Bill, and other miscellaneous provisions which find a place in every Bill and in every statute are there. The main objects of this Bill are the transfer of the direction of electricity supply development into the hands of entirely separate, specially qualified and semi-autonomous provincial bodies, as I said to be called Provincial Boards. Then, the provision of adequate powers and finance to enable these Provincial Boards first to co-ordinate and stimulate electrical development by technical method conducive to a progressive reduction in the prime cost of electricity. Secondly, to effect a form of financial control over commercially-owned undertakings whereby the investor is reasonably assured of a fair return and the benefits arising out of limited profits are secured to the consumers in the form of low cost of electricity; to pay special attention to Districts not at present served by licensees and, wherever practicable, to prepare and put into effect schemes for affording supply in these areas.

Now, in order to achieve these objects, these Boards must be clothed with necessary powers, and that is exactly what has been done in the Bill. I may assure my esteemed friend Prof. Ranga that there is a provision in the Bill for representation of labour and agriculture.

An Honourable Member: Is there a provision for agricultural labour?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Provision is made for representation of agriculture, labour, commerce, industry and local bodies. I think that should satisfy every reasonable aspiration of a peasant leader as well as a labour leader. Sir, it is well-known that in this country opinion is sharply divided over the major issue of nationalization versus private enterprise. Now, what is sought in this Bill, Sir, is a sort of middle-of-the-road arrangement. I am told, Sir that this may be described as "Shanmukham Chetty's way". I do not share that view. This is not dictated by any personal consideration, I can assure my honourable friend Professor Ranga. What has determined this line of action is what is possible in the immediate future, and to do it in such a way that the ultimate object of public ownership of such public utility concerns is not prejudiced in the least. It appears today that there is only just one special angle from which the matter ought to be looked and it is whether that step is in the right direction or one in the wrong direction. After all, the speed or the tempo depends upon the strength of the public opinion in the country. Very recently, Sir, you have heard something said against control here as well as outside in organised political parties. My friends will agree with me that if it is going to be nationalization, it cannot be nationalisation unless there is a planned economy, and there cannot be a planned economy unless there is a system of control. In the absence of control no planning is possible; planning means that at every stage—production, distribution, and even in the matter of consumption—certain principles are laid down and they have got to be complied with. But as I said, in this atmosphere where opinion is sharply divided, it is the path of wisdom that we must necessarily take the line of least resistance. This is exactly what is done in this Bill.

Referring to the Constitution of this Board, I said that it has been based on democratic principles for it will contain the representatives of the following interests: Local Bodies, Commerce and Industry, Agriculture, and Labour. Now, I think that is a matter to which no exception can be taken. Going further, Sir, about the duties and powers of this Board, the principles are as follows. The duties of the Board which will be charged by the Legislature with the specific duty of developing and promoting cheap electric supply for the benefit of agriculture, trade and industry throughout the Province, will fall mainly under the following heads:

'The rationalization of the supply of power and promotional activities. The first head will include: preparation of schemes for specific areas which should provide for designation of generating station whether existing or new which will be a selected station at which electricity shall be generated for the purposes of the Board; inter-connection by means of main transmission lines, of selected station with one another and the system of licensees; such standardization of frequency as may be essential to carry out the inter-connection mentioned above; such arrangements as may be required between a Board and the owners of a generating station whether such stations are chosen as selected stations or otherwise and such other supplemental, incidental and consequential provisions as may appear expedient and necessary for the purposes of the Board.

1400

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [6TH DEC. 1947]

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

As regards the promotional activity, the Board will be charged with the duty of promoting the all-round development of electricity within the limits of its jurisdiction and in particular, in rural and other areas not served by a licensee.

I think that is fairly wide but I am prepared to accept any constructive suggestions in the Select Committee if those suggestions bring out in a better manner, and are calculated to serve, the purpose for which this Bill is undertaken.

Now, as regards the powers, Sir, it would include: to site and erect its own power stations and main transmission lines; to designate certain commercially-owned power stations as controlled stations and to extend for such stations a purpose for which loan may be granted to the licensee to purchase, but only in stations which are technically and commercially justifiable generating stations or main transmission lines owned by licensee on terms which will provide reasonable compensation; to inter-connect any generating station; to purchase the output of any generating station and the surplus output of any owner of generating plant, to close down any generating station belonging to a licensee giving the licensee certain option including purchase by the Board or any other power to act as a licensee in an area for which a station is in existence; to borrow any sum required, upto 10 crores, subject to the consent of the Provincial Government; to lend such loans to the licensees as the Board may deem necessary; to be primarily responsible for the development of hydro-electric power throughout the Province and subject to the consent of the Provincial Government to exercise control over licensees and to exercise a major control over licensees' rate of supply of electricity irrespective of their relation to the maximum charges permitted by the license.

In carrying out these duties and exercising these powers, the Board may take over a controlled station under direct supervision and management. It may close down controlled stations. In fact, the Board may do anything it thinks is calculated to develop this industry and to further the objects for which the Board has been brought into existence.

That is so far as the organisational aspect is concerned.

Now, Sir, it will be readily conceded that electricity undertaking is in the nature of a monopolist concern. In no city two electric concerns are allowed to function. Only one is allowed to function. That being the case, the necessity of controlling its rates and of laying down certain directions and limitations 3 P. M. is not only valid but it is in the highest interests of the community. If that is thoroughly appreciated, it becomes necessary, when we are planning on a very big scale, that certain principles about the Electricity Supply Finance must be clearly laid down. Some of the principles have been referred to in the various Schedules, especially Schedule VI. The other Schedules deal with assumption of control and other matters. I will only refer to one of the Schedules, namely Schedule VI, which embodies certain principles.

As I said in my preliminary remarks, Sir, an Advisory Board on the principles for the control of public utility concerns was appointed in terms of the policy laid down by the Policy Committee. That Board has made certain recommendations. Those recommendations principally refer to four points.

- (1) What should constitute what is known as "capital base";
- (2) What should be the standard rate of profit;
- (3) What should be allowed by way of remuneration for managing agencies;
- (4) What should be the rate of depreciation?

Now, these are matters on which, as I said, difference of opinion has been expressed and I have no doubt will be expressed during the deliberations of the Select Committee and probably here. But if it is conceded that because this Electricity undertaking is in the nature of a monopoly concern, and it is therefore not only valid but necessary and in the highest interests of the community that some limit should be put on the profit-making capacity of the concern, then the details will not present any insuperable difficulty. What the Advisory Board has recommended with respect to Capital Base was discussed in the Conference which was held in the month of June 1947. Questions such as: whether preference capital should be included or not, whether working capital should be included or not and so on were, if I remember aright, were discussed when the predecessor of this Assembly was called upon last year to define what is "capital" in connection with the Business Profits Tax. But in this particular case, I have no doubt that if the central fact that this is a monopoly concern is thoroughly appreciated, there would be little opposition so far as the fundamental aspect of this question is concerned.

What is suggested by the Advisory Board in its recommendation with respect to standard rate of profit is concerned is that they should first determine what is the annual yield of the longest terminable Government security. That is the first fact to be taken into consideration in determining the standard rate of profit. After that, the recommendations suggests that if the concern's capital is below Rs. 10 lakhs, then it will be 2½ per cent. If it is more than Rs. 10 lakhs but less than Rs. 50 lakhs a little less than that and if it is still more, a little less than that and so on. Two principles are, so to say, coalesced in arriving at what is known as "standard rate of profit". It has been laid down that every undertaking is entitled to have standard rate of profit, and in this connection the term "clear profit" has also been defined as "gross income minus allowed expenditure"—very short and perhaps very sweet from the point of view of some of us. Now, when the concern earns standard rate of profit there is no difficulty. But if it earns more or if it earns less, provision has been made to meet either contingency. If it earns more, then one-third of the more, that is to say, the surplus over and above the standard rate of profit will go to what may be called Dividend Equalisation Fund. Technically, it is known as "Tariff and Dividend Control Reserve". And out of that, one can take it, if in any particular the standard rate of profit is not earned; then one-third is to go towards the benefit of the consumers and one-third towards payment of bonus to the industry. For, it is clear that this industry has to take into consideration three factors:

- (1) To safeguard the interests of the consumer by limiting interest and dividend payable to the minimum necessary to ensure an adequate flow of development capital and so effect a reduction in the selling price of electricity.
- (2) To safeguard the interests of the investor by insistence on a properly devised system of compulsory depreciation and at the same time permit the earning of a reasonable or fair return on investment.
- (3) To regulate the commission and expenses of managing agents to reasonable limits having regard to the special circumstances of the industry.

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

Now, Sir, there may be some people who would not like the provision of payment of bonus to industry having once decided that it is entitled to what is known as "standard rate of profit". There is no limit to a man's greed. I am reminded, Sir, of the story that has been told in one of the books of Tolstoy "How much land a man requires". He was asked by the King to go ahead and circumscribe the area which he wanted, and when he said that it was finished he would get that portion of land free. From sunrise to sunset he went on, and he thought "Still a little more, and a little more", until at midnight he dropped dead. He found that the land a man really wanted was 6' x 3' x 2'. Now in this modern world, I do not think that even the blue-blooded industrialist claims that there should be no limit on his profit and no taxes on his profit and there must be a complete regime of Laisses Paire and no State control whatsoever. That is not the attitude. At least in the expression of their views, they appear to be eminently reasonable. Let us take them at their words and try to limit their greed in objective terms through taxation. Here is an attempt, Sir.

If you cannot straightaway nationalise and eliminate the present and existing vested interests, there is another way of doing it, although it is a slower way, viz., a limiting of profits, putting on controls, issuing directions both for running of the concern, for its expansion, for floating further additional capital; in other words the whole industry will be completely controlled by the State, if it cannot be owned and controlled. In the present context of circumstances, it will be, as I said, not very wise to eliminate private enterprise altogether, for we still have the experience that the majority of people look upon profit or money as the only incentive to constructive effort. And so long as the atmosphere in the community is conducive for holding such a belief and such an atmosphere continues, to go ahead with nationalization at one stroke will not achieve the object, namely, of securing better services for the community, but on the contrary, we might meet with some disaster. After all, in certain spheres, we have to accept the philosophy of the inevitability of gradualness. I know my friend, Prof. Ranga, may not like this but even in public life he must have found that when he was 20, he was not a big leader, but gradually he has emerged into leadership. If that is the experience in an individual's life, I am only generalizing that experience and probably because I am a little elder and I am actuated by no other consideration than to see that whatever we do, atleast it will give the result that we expect.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Can you go so leisurely?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Therefore, we must in the first instance so limit the profit or control the industry that they cannot move from one side to the other; they cannot do anything of major importance without permission of the Government, or in this particular context, without the permission of the Provincial Board.

As regards the third principle, namely, payment to Managing Agents, this is a very big question, Sir. In certain industries, the Managing Agents have earned a lot and created a lot of havoc also. I know, I will be borne out by my labour friend, the Honourable Mr. Khandubhai Dasai. Already under the amended Indian Company's Act, no managing agency contract can be valid for more than a period of 20 years. At that time, Sir, I quite remember, because I was fortunate enough to be a Member of this House, sanctity of contract was pleaded. It may be pleaded again, but when once the major principle that all private contracts must stand down in the interests of the Community is accepted, even here we may proceed on the recommendation made by the Advisory Board that reasonable expenses and reasonable remuneration will be allowed to the Managing Agents.

Another principle which has been recommended for acceptance by this Advisory Board is about the necessity for having depreciation fund and that, as I said, is in the interests of the investor himself. As I said, these were the points round which centred a good deal of discussion in the Simla Conference and I have no doubt if my honourable friend, Mr. Ayyangar is provoked into a speech today he will give something about these points in greater detail and I can assure you, Sir, that you can hardly find a stronger advocate of consumers' interests than Mr. Ayyangar, and I am very happy that he has agreed to be on the Select Committee. These, Sir, are the principles which govern the electricity supply finance.

To sum up, Sir, the whole object of this Bill is to secure speedy and wide expansion of this industry on the soundest and the safest possible lines. It should be the ambition of this country with all these resources that every village should have electric light and every home a radio. What revolution it will mean materially and morally also have only to be imagined to be experienced later on. I feel it to be my good fortune, Sir, that I have the honour to move this Bill and I have no doubt that this House will accept the Motion that I have made. I promise that every suggestion that may be made here or in the Select Committee will be given due consideration. There is no desire to expropriate any interests.

I have received, Sir, a number of telegrams and to all those who are unnecessarily nervous that something extraordinary, something revolutionary, something very radical, is about to come, and in fact, they expect some shock. (Well, when they deal with electricity, some shock must be there.)—I promise, as will be evident from the very moderate way in which I have put this motion, that there are really no shocks in store for them. The attempt is made only to relieve them of the unnecessary load of huge profits and opportunities of patronage not in the interests of a few, but in the interests of the whole community and in this noble task, I appear to the House to participate, Sir. I move.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Sir, I am very glad that a Bill like this has been moved, but I am bitterly disappointed at its provisions. For the last three or four days, I have been hearing the theory of mixed economy and my honourable friend, Mr. Gadgil has also said that this Bill is also based on that policy. I really wonder how our Government dare go against the accepted principle of nationalisation of all key industries. This Bill is the first great Bill which has been brought before the House for the development of the most important key industry of electricity, but here too the undertaking has not been fully nationalized. Today even in England we see important key industries are being nationalized. In India we shall have to go with much greater pace, for we have to make up much leeway to rise to a position worthy of our great country. My Honourable friend the Minister quoted the gradualness with which Prof. Ranga has risen into eminence, and he implied that the nationalisation of electricity will also be gradual. But can we afford to go so gradually in this matter? As I said this morning, we in India have emerged into a free nation after two centuries of slavery. We now want to rise to our natural position of greatness and world leadership. In the present world context, therefore, we must become the equals of Russia and America in the shortest possible time. We surely cannot be that if we go with the gradualness with which it is proposed in this Bill we should go. It has been said that the profit incentive is essential if this thing is to be accomplished. The Congress has passed solemn resolutions on many occasions that all the key industries shall be nationalised. Nationalisation means that production shall not be for profit but for use. If profit is the motive the country cannot have the development it requires, because the purchasing power of the people will be limited and only a few people will get the benefit of what will be produced. But we want to produce for the most up-to-date and powerful development of the whole country so that we may be in line with the other most advanced and powerful countries of the world. That is only possible if the entire needs of the country are satisfied, which can only happen when the industry is nationalised and is run not for profit but for satisfying human wants. As is well known, the difference between a nationalised industry and a private industry is this; a private industry works for profit while a nationalised industry supplies the wants of the community. India contains 80 crores of people. My honourable friend just now quoted the figures of kilowatts of electricity which every country consumes, and he told us that in our country only 2 million kilowatts are produced and $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the population of the country consumes half of that total amount of electricity in the four cities of Bombay, Calcutta, Cawnpore and Ahmedabad. I have lived in Cawnpore for the last thirty years and I know that even Cawnpore needs more than twenty times the electricity that it gets now if it wants to be what it should be something like Stalingrad of Free India. If $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. is consumed in these four cities that shows that at least a thousand times of that will be required for the whole country. Can the profit motive supply that amount of electricity? I say it cannot. I therefore suggest that according to the Resolutions adopted by the Indian National Congress, this key industry must be fully nationalised forth with. There must be no provision in it for licenses and profits and one-third profit going to the industry and all that. The railways which have been nationalised are a source of very great strength to the national Government; they can meet emergencies like the one which arose recently in the Punjab, and yet they are making profits for the nation. If we want to be a great country, greater even than Russia, we will have to nationalise this key industry of electricity which will supply power for all other industries; and I think the Honourable Minister will be well advised to revise this Bill completely and begin by nationalisation in respect of this essential key industry. I hope the whole House will implore him to do so, because if we proceed with the development of this essential key industry in this manner and provide in this very first important Bill that electricity will be a private industry and Government will only control it, then I say, Good-bye to Nationalisation of key industries and in fact to all development. There is a controlled industry in our province,—the sugar industry, which was controlled in 1937. I have been on the Board of Control since 1937 and I know what controlled industry means and how many loopholes there is for illegal and abnormal profits for these mill-owners. These ten years that the Sugar Control Board has been in existence, the Government of the U.P. and Bihar have been controlling the price of sugar-cane; they have since 1943 controlled the price of sugar as well and also have been trying to see that the profits of the industry are distributed equitably between the growers, the labourers and the consumers. But what happened? The mill-owners made huge profits and out of these profits set up new sugar factories. But the sugar-cane growers never got more than five annas till 1937 and nine annas during the first Congress regime. During the last seven years of war the price paid was Re. 0-12-0 to Re. 0-14-0 which was even less than the cost price of production. When our own Government came they gave Rs. 1-4-0 last year and up till now this price has not been raised, despite prolonged strikes last year. Perhaps it may be raised after the control is removed and prices shoot up. But I know that a controlled industry is not be a nationalised industry; there is much room for profit and patronage and you cannot use it for promoting national interests in the manner in which it should be used. I therefore very bitterly resent the provision in this Bill for making it a private industry. I want that in accordance with the Congress resolution all key industries must be nationalised fully and immediately. There can be no tinkering with the problem of the nationalisation of key industries; and it is absolutely wrong for a Congressman to support private enterprise in key industries.

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena]

Then, Sir, I do not feel happy over many of the provisions in the Bill. The composition of the controlling authority is provided for in clause 3. I thought there would be adequate labour representation in it, but what is the actual position? The Provincial Electricity Board will consist of not less than four and not more than seven members of whom three will be full-time and the rest part-time members. Of the three full-time members two shall be engineers and one shall be experienced in financial and accounting matters. The part-time members will represent interests like "local self-government, electricity, commerce, industry, transport, agriculture and labour". So from among these seven interests there will be a maximum of four members; it does not show that labour will be at all adequately represented. Recently there was in Cawnpore a general strike in electricity; the electric company was completely paralysed by the stoppage of work for two days, and the entire machinery of the city with its numerous mills working there was at a standstill. The workers were fighting for increase in wages and a share in the reserve fund. The Government helped them but the company was owned by British people. They have a reserve fund of about one crore of rupees. They probably wanted to wind up the whole concern and take away the entire money to England; the labourers wanted that this should not be allowed and they should have a share in it because that was their own earning. After two days when the employers did not come down, Government had to issue an Ordinance and they took very strong steps. The adjudicator decreed that the reserve fund should be frozen and only a part of it was given to the employers. Of course they are contesting it in the High Court. But these people who owned the concern made large profits and the labourers suffered, and then Government had to use its extraordinary powers to give the labourers a fair deal. Even after this Bill I think it is the labourers who will do the bulk of the work and it is the skilled workers who will do the greatest part of the work in producing electricity. I am associated with the Union there through the Provincial Trade Union Congress and I know that there are only about two thousand workers who control the whole of that concern which runs the wheels of the electricity production in Cawnpore. I therefore want that on this Board there should be a strong permanent representative of labour; at least their interests should be fully protected. I am really surprised that such a Bill should be brought forward in which there is no provision for labour getting a fair deal. I shall quote the instance of some legislation in England. In 1925 they passed the Sugar (Subsidy) Act (15 Geo. V. c. 12). In section 3 of that Act they laid down as follows:

"(1) The wages paid by any employer to persons employed by him in connection with the manufacture of sugar or molasses in respect of which a subsidy is payable under this Act shall, except where paid at a rate agreed upon by a joint industrial council representing the employer and the persons employed, not be less than would be payable if the manufacture were carried on under a contract made between the Minister and the employer containing a fair wage clause which complied with the requirements of any resolution of the House of Commons for the time being in force applicable to contracts of Government departments, and if any dispute arises as to what wages ought to be paid in accordance with this section it shall be referred by the Minister to the Industrial Court for settlement.

"(2) Where any award has been made by the Industrial Court upon a dispute referred to that Court under this section, then as from the date of the award or from such later date as the Court may direct, it shall be an implied term of the contract between every employer and worker to whom the award applies that the rate of wages to be paid under the contract, shall, until varied in accordance with the provisions of this section, be in accordance with the award."

Mr. Speaker: Will the Honourable Member state from what he is quoting?

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: I am quoting from the British Sugar (Subsidy) Act, 1925.

Mr. Speaker: Page?

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Pages 748 and 749.

The Government in England pays a subsidy to see that in war there must be sugar produced in the country itself and when they give public funds for Developing that industry they make provision that labour shall have fair treatment and give very elaborate details about that fair treatment in the Act itself.

[Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena]

I have gone through the whole of this Bill and I have found no provision which will guarantee to labour fair treatment. If we have a nationalised electrical industry, then I am sure our country will be able to put the same big projects into effect as Russia has done, as America is doing and as other countries are doing.

Shri B. Das (Orissa: General): Or may fail like the nationalized railways!

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: They were not nationalized. They were foreign concerns. They were exploited by the Britishers. Even now if you do not run them properly, then you must not be surprised at the results.

I therefore say that if in England their present Socialist Government is trying to socialise the key industries, I think our National Government, which probably has the biggest majority which any Government can ever have, should be able to pass this Act as an Act providing for the complete nationalisation of the electrical industry which must be rapidly developed. I sometimes think that history had presented to Lenin an unique opportunity in 1917. He seized it and created the great State of Socialist Russia which has changed the course of human history. I think a similar opportunity has again come and it is up to our leaders like Sardar Patel and Jawaharlal Nehru to seize it and to Act. They have an opportunity when they can change the whole course of human affairs by so fashioning this nation that it can be mightier than Russia or America and influence the world in the direction of peace by the emphasis of its ancient civilisation on spiritual and human values. It is time our leaders seized this opportunity, but if they do not, probably history will say that they failed. I think this Act is not conceived in the spirit in which it should have been done. I know we have to make up great leeway. We are far behind other nations. We have an army of 260,000. It is said that Russia has 40 lakh soldiers under arms, of which 20 lakhs are posted in occupied countries. I wonder how Russia can manage to keep 40 lakh of soldiers under arms even in peace time. Only their extraordinary planning and earnest effort has enable them to do it. Our Ambassador in Russia could not get furniture because they (the Russians) have their own planned programmes to fulfil. They have no time to make tables and chairs. We can only come up in line with them if we go with the same energy and earnestness, when everyone has an assigned job to do, and when there is a comprehensive plan.

What is our condition at present? We know how yesterday Honourable Members told the House how their own Government was functioning. Corruption is rampant. Probably no Government in the world has worked under such strain as our Government did during the last year. But I also know that the world will not judge us by our difficulties but by how we conquer them. In spite of the great achievements of one year, we have still to achieve much more. There must be comprehensive planning, and according to that planning all these key industries must be nationalised. I wish our most energetic and enthusiastic Minister the Honourable Mr. Gadgil who is in charge of this Bill will see that when this Bill emerges out of the Select Committee, it embodies a plan for the complete nationalisation of the industry of electricity.

I hope that he will not trust these capitalists who he thinks will be able to give him a very effective nationalised industry for producing electricity. In fact, I sometimes feel from my association with the sugar industry for the last ten years that you cannot get any advantage by controlling any Industry unless you completely nationalise it. I therefore hope he will reconsider the whole thing and see that those provisions of the Bill which provide for licensees and private enterprise are removed.

The second thing I desire to point out is that control has been given in the Bill largely to provinces. I know provinces have got autonomy but I think planning should be a Central subject. I know that is there but I want greater initiative from the Centre. I want that the Centre should be able to plan and direct and take the initiative to push the provinces with terrific speed. Some provinces may not be so quick as they ought to be. So I want that some of the autonomy of the provinces should be either voluntarily surrendered or that the Centre should take some away so that the whole thing can be pushed through with energy.

I think there are other clauses in the Bill that need improvement but because it is going to the Select Committee, I shall not say more at this stage. But I do request that the Select Committee of the Bill should have a proper number of labour representatives on it, and the Labour Minister should make it a point to attend it?

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: (C. P. and Berar Muslim): I have heard with great patience the speech of the Minister in charge of the subject. The major part of his speech was directed to cajoling Prof. Ranga and Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar who seemed to oppose the fundamentals of the Bill.

The Minister in charge has said that people should not be horrified probably because of the radical principles involved in the Bill. I am inclined to think, Sir, that the proposals made in the Bill are not radical but they are reactionary. I have spoken, Sir, about the socialization and nationalization of the key industries in my speech on the budget. The Minister in charge has assigned absolutely no reason as to why, if this key industry is nationalized there will be disaster. Merely by saying that there will be disaster he wants to terrify us. But what are those grounds? Has he stated any one of these grounds which would result in disaster if this key industry is nationalised? No. He has only said that the present atmosphere should be continued and it should be gradually changed. What is the present atmosphere? Capitalism? What is the present atmosphere—private enterprise? It should be accepted and continued. What is the reason? According to the Congress resolutions from time to time and according to the report of the Planning Committee, it is an accepted principle that all key industries should be nationalised.

Even according to the Minister in-charge, electricity is a very great and important key industry in the country, which is likely to help agricultural development. Then why is it to be controlled as a monopoly and is not being nationalised? We wanted to hear the Minister in charge explain why in spite of the spirit of the resolutions of the Congress and also of the Government he only wants to create a monopoly and not nationalise the industry. We are quite in the dark, why this particular course of action is being taken. In his speech the Minister has said that the time has come when this industry has to be controlled, because private enterprise should not reap huge profits. We have been hearing speeches on controls. We have heard speeches about the corruptibility of controls. This is one more control which is being created by the Government. Is there any guarantee that the control of this industry will be successful and would not fail as it has failed in many other departments of the Government?

An Honourable Member: He never controlled industries.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: This industry is to be controlled by creating a monopoly and by restricting the profits.

Another thing which is very important is this. In the nationalisation of industry the standard and status of labour can be raised. As another Honourable Member of this House has remarked what is the guarantee that the status and standard of labour will be raised? What is the protection provided in the Bill? In all private enterprises labour is only at the mercy of those who run the enterprises. In the case of this key industry when we are where? I should say that every village should have electricity. But this Bill is not going to expand electricity in the manner in which our Honourable Minister desires it to do. In England and other foreign countries when a new town is to be started or a city has to be expanded, the first thing a local authority does is to lay first the water pipe, drainage, electricity and transport, and after having done that they build the houses. But in India it is just the reverse. We build houses first and leave it to the others to see whether these necessities and comforts are provided or not. In fact these are not comforts but necessities. Water is a necessity and so also electricity. If anyone says that electricity is a luxury he is being in seventeenth century. Electricity is certainly a necessity. Transport is a necessity. Mr. Das asked 'what about the Railways?' The Railways certainly are running very well. After all it is a national asset. You cannot forget the fact that whatever defect there is in the present administration of the Railways it is due to extraordinary circumstances. But it is a pride of the country that the greatest transport organisation belongs to the State. It may also be argued that telephones were previously owned by private companies and that they were running efficiently but that ever since they were taken over by Government it is not so. I agree. But I take pride in the fact that the telephones are a national asset. We are not merely looking to the profits. And it may not be working efficiently due to various extraordinary circumstances. But we can on the floor of the House compel the Railways and the Telephones to work efficiently. If they are owned by private concerns how can we plead in this matter? What can we do when things go wrong? Under the bill a Board comprising of a few interests is to be established. The consumers' representation has not been provided. Representation of the consumers has been given to the local bodies and commerce. Commerce do require representation because they consume the energy for the purpose of expansion of industry. But what about the average consumer in the town or the village, or the small city? Who represents him? Is he represented by the local bodies? No. In that manner legislators also represent the people of the city. Representation of the consumer who consumes electrical energy has to be fully provided for. He is the proper person to know as to what are the defects.

[Mr. R. K. Sidhwa]

The private electric concerns are prosperous. I can cite instances of companies who have given one fully paid share free to shareholders. The Companies in Ahmedabad, Poona, Karachi have given bonuses to the shareholders of the full value of the shares, free of charge. To that extent the electricity companies are making a profit to the industries. The charge for the supply of electrical energy is very high both for domestic and for industrial purposes. I have no figures with me here, but I can cite to you the costs. The object of electricity is to supply power at a very cheap price. In England it costs somewhere near 2 farthings for producing one unit of electrical energy. In India it is somewhere near half an anna. But you find that for domestic purposes the cheapest rate at which it is supplied is 1 anna six pies, plus so many other taxes levied by the Provincial Government. For industrial purposes also you cannot get supply of bulk energy and even then it is not less than an anna. How can the industry prosper under such conditions? If you want that the industry should prosper and if you want to expand the industry, do you for a minute imagine that this Bill is going to do that and do you good? The present Electricity Act requires thorough revision. I expected that the Electricity Act which is a setback upon the expansion of the industries would have been ushered in for reform for which the Honourable Minister could have taken pride. But he cannot take that pride because the Bill is of a retrograde measure. Leave aside the question of nationalisation of the big industries. Here is one public utility concern and the Government's main object should have been to see that public utility concerns are run by the state. The Calcutta Corporation has showed its intention to purchase the transport service, the electric tramways, so as the Bombay and Madras Corporations. It is therefore very surprising that if such a measure is brought it will bring a setback upon further expansion. It will be a setback because many arguments will be advanced by the interested parties and the feeling will go round that the Central Government is not in favour of nationalisation. After all the Central Government's attitude will influence these matters. Interested parties will make people think that the Central Government does not demand nationalisation of this industry. The Provincial Governments and other people who would like nationalisation would hesitate to go ahead. I would therefore request that the sending of the Bill to the Select Committee should be postponed and that the Honourable Minister should reconsider this matter and bring in a Bill which should nationalise this key industry. I humbly appeal to the Honourable Minister and would tell him that the bringing in of such a measure will not create any impression—I do not use the word good impression—it cannot create an impression upon the country today, particularly when we, a free country, have actually committed ourselves that all these national utility concerns shall be nationalised.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair which was then occupied by Shri M. Anathasayanam Ayyangar (one of the Panel of Chairmen)]

Honourable Ministers have been telling us frequently that we should be part and parcel of this Government and support them. I agree with that view, but then what shall we say to the constituency when they put us the question 'Your Government is not today nationalizing this key industry of which you have been all along proclaiming to the world'. What shall I say to that? I should like an answer from the Honourable Minister. Why should the Honourable Minister feel shy of private industrialists, I cannot understand.

4 p.m. They must compel the industrialists to feel that the time has come when they shall have to share their profit: not only that, they should take a prominent part in supporting the government in nationalising. When private owners feel that the Government itself is lukewarm over nationalising the industries and even the public utility concerns they will certainly use all their energy to continue private concerns to go on. Today, even on the Budget the capitalists and the industrialists are jubilant. They are jubilant because they view the policy of the Government beneficial to them. I do not yet know really what is the policy of the Government. The first thing the Government should do is to announce their policy and intentions to this House in this respect. I want to say with all the emphasis and seriousness at our command that there should be immediate nationalisation. We would look in the eyes of the public very small, Sir, if we today go and tell them that our Government, after having come into office, think it wise to go back upon their promises with regard to nationalisation. I am sorry to make these remarks but I am compelled to do so because I do feel intensely, seriously, sincerely, in the interests of the country, that such a measure should not have been brought before this House. If the Honourable Minister wanted some time, he could have taken his time. After all so much time has been taken. Various people have been invited to the conference. I do therefore, Sir, with all the seriousness and emphasis at my command submit that this Bill should not be sent to the Select Committee, and in view of the views expressed in this House the Honourable Minister should consider the view point not only of this House, but the commitments that have been made. They were real commitments. There is no reason why those commitments should not be fulfilled. Nothing has been said by the Honourable Minister to show why those commitments shall not be fulfilled. He should have explained to the House in his preliminary remarks that although the Congress is committed to nationalise all the key industries, it is not in a position to do so. I would have considered his point then, and it would have given an opportunity for an answer. The house may have been satisfied and the public would have had reason to agree with that voice. But he has not thrown any light on this matter. Therefore I going to continue private enterprise it is the duty of the Government to provide certain provisions for the uplift of labour, for the raising of the standard of living of labour, for reducing the hours of work and all other factors which go towards the welfare of labour. I object to the fundamental principles involved in the Bill.

[Kazi Syed Karimuddin]

Prof. K. T. Shah (Bihar: General): Sir, I have only a few words to say with regard to the basic idea of this Bill. While welcoming the introduction of this Bill I entirely support Mr. Saksena's observation regarding the great mistake being made in making this a semi-private enterprise and not a wholly nationalised enterprise. I stand entirely for nationalisation of the key industries for at least four reasons which I fancy the Honourable Minister would be hard put to deny. First and foremost is the policy laid down by the Congress in 1931 in its celebrated resolution which makes all key industries from the start as nationalised enterprises. In spite of his great attachment to the policy of inevitability of gradualness in this matter, he is too loyal a Congressman I take it to deny the efficacy of this policy and to depart from it wherever he can help it. The second argument is also borrowed from Mr. Gadgil himself, that it is on his own admission a monopoly. It tends to be and will be a monopolistic industry and as such, if left in private hands, it is likely to be unfair and unjust to the entire community being run for the benefit of a fraction of its population. A third argument which also seems to me to be inescapable is that if this country has any ambition to be industrialised, this is the only real source of power which we can command in abundance. We are poor in coal, we are poor in oil, in fact we have not any. And we are fairly rich in hydro-electric possibilities, a source of power which belongs as must to generations unborn as to the present generation in India. If power-driven industry is to be established on a large scale in this country, all our industries will depend upon this industry and if this industry is left in the hands of private profit-seekers other industries will suffer in consequence. I am sure it cannot be the intention of the Honourable Minister to make other industries and the entire population of the country pay a tax or toll to the private owners of this great national key industry, which from the start ought to be a national concern. In this connection may I say that his emphasis on the inevitability of gradualness has not impressed me at all. For one thing, if we were to pin our faith to the gradual realisation of our dream, we should have taken 700 years to attain our freedom. It took 700 years from the time the Magna Carta was signed to the time when adult franchise was accepted in England. I am sure Mr. Gadgil will not have that type of gradualness to govern such great enterprises in this country. For another thing, after all one of the earliest establishment of the electricity industry in this country was not by private enterprise but by state enterprise. If I am not mistaken, the state of Mysore was the pioneer in starting this industry and that too as a state enterprise and I have yet to learn that that has failed. Whatever Mr. Das may have to say hereafter, the example that so far we have of enterprises failing are more in the hands of private people than in the hands of the public, wherever that is responsible to the country as a whole.

I was sorry to hear the Honourable Minister saying in a somewhat apologetic fashion about not alienating private enterprise. I do not know why he should feel so apologetic towards private owners of such key industries. They are not technically qualified—I mean the Directors, the Managing Agents and Proprietors. If anything they are probably less qualified, technically speaking, their charities. They are the safest investment, so far as you believe in God are qualified in another way. They are qualified in cheating labour of its due, they are qualified excellently in cheating the Government of its taxes, they are qualified even in cheating their wives and children when they make their wills, they are qualified in cheating God himself by means of they make their wills, they are qualified in cheating God himself by means of or the other world. But so far as any contribution of technical skill, scientific knowledge or even of public spirit is concerned, I for one am unable to pin my faith to private enterprise to assist in the all-round development of this country.

There is one more point and I would have done; and that is: We are apt to run away with some fetishes. As I said I welcome the introduction of this Bill but let us not forget that after all even electrical power would be one means of industrialisation in an all round way. Unless you establish other industries at the same time, unless therefore you have a really comprehensive planned programme for the whole national development in all its aspects and in all directions, I am afraid you might find intensive development of electrical power to be a white elephant to support. Unless there is also a consumption of the power that you produce or it is properly distributed, unless therefore other industries are also developed, unless, may I say, even your agriculture is industrialised and becomes the greatest consumer of electrical energy, you will have this power on your hand, but you will not know how to dispose of it, and probably you will have a dead weight of charges accumulating with you, which will be capitalised. Or if you ever want to displace the private producer or generator of electricity, you will have in the final account-settling a heavy bill to pay which is not your own at all.

Those of us who have the least knowledge of the ways and means employed in acquiring enterprises which were once held in private hands but which subsequently have been acquired would be able to tell the House that in the keeping of accounts for example—and it is really cooking of accounts—these people are such experts, and that is another item of their cleverness which I forgot to mention in my earlier remarks. Perhaps Mr. S. K. Patil will be able to throw some light on the acquisition of the B. E. S. T. company in Bombay and the final award of the arbitrator in this respect. But in this matter also unless we take from the start every precaution that account keeping, if you must leave it to private enterprise, is so rigid and so constantly under supervision that no manipulated figures can be put up, I am afraid instead of being to the good of the country this may prove an unexpected evil upon us.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C. P. and Berar: General): Sir, the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill has made an elaborate survey and explained to us the detailed provisions of the Bill. Probably he thought that he would be able to satisfy the House in convincing them that this is a measure in which the House should support him wholeheartedly. I am sorry I am not one of those who would like to congratulate him for bringing in such a measure when we do feel that this measure is the first step to the nationalisation of this key industry? May I ask him with respect whether the first step to nationalisation is the nationalisation of the key industry of electricity? It has been an admitted fact that the public utility concerns, namely transport, communications and electricity must be nationalised. That has been an accepted principle everywhere and to talk about it today as a first step when we have obtained our freedom and when we are out to do what we choose to do, is unnecessary. It is merely a first step towards the nationalisation of this big and key industry.

The Honourable Minister explained the position very briefly. He explained that electricity requires to be expanded and he compared the figures of India with those of foreign countries and rightly proved how far backward we are in this respect. In 1944 electricity was supplied in 1,950 towns. I have no figures for the increase between the year 1944 and 1947. I think it would not be more than 50 towns more. Conditions being such during the war it was impossible to import machinery and they could not have added more than that. Only 2,000 towns have today the benefit of enjoying electricity. There are 7 lakhs of villages and about 16,000 big and small towns in India. Is it not a disgrace for us to see that electricity which is a necessity has not been extended every-do feel, he personally feels that it should be nationalised. but I do not know for what reasons he has held over his own conscientious opinion. If he has changed his opinion, he must say so. If the Congress was not right at the time and if it is not possible for any reason to proceed with nationalizing immediately, the House would be delighted to hear the reasons from the Honourable Minister. We shall then very carefully consider the objections. For these reasons I submit that this Bill should be reconsidered by the Honourable Minister.

[Mr. R. K. Sidhwa]

Shri Biswanath Das (Orissa: General): Sir, I rise to congratulate the Ministry for having brought this Bill at so early a stage of their existence. Sir, my Honourable friends have found fault with the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill for having not thought of immediate nationalization of electric power. I think they should have thought twice before making this accusation. Though India is independent today, we should look at the present atmosphere, before thinking of the nationalization of the industry all at once. Sir, thinking of the present atmosphere, I feel myself depressed. We have to consider in the first instance that our independence is a child hardly of four months old. Conditions in the country are not at all happy. We are now having an undeclared war in Kashmir, and need I say with Pakistan, our neighbour, with whom we thought we would get on peacefully and well. Sir, the depressing conditions of labour in the country are horrible. Today you do not know where you will have a strike and where not. We have nationalized telephone services, and what is the result? Only a few days back an Honourable Member representing Bombay told the House that if this be nationalization then it will endanger nationalization and depress the hearts of those who are thinking of nationalization. The Ministry has taken a very bold step in taking up river projects, big hydro-electric schemes, costing hundreds of crores of rupees. All these have been undertaken to be run by the Government themselves. That means nationalization. A Ministry that has assumed office of independent India so recently as three months back should not be worried. They must have time to plan. They must have full time and opportunity to think for themselves, to plan for the whole country and devise ways and means. I am glad that my Honourable friend has taken this interim measure. I deliberately call it interim because it is a measure between nationalization and the existing state of things. The existing state of things are very depressing. I come from a province which stands last in the matter of electrical development. Sir, we pay six annas per unit along with the attendant difficulties and inconveniences.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): That is the case outside your Province also.

Shri Biswanath Das: Yes. Under these circumstances, I think this interim arrangement between nationalization and the present depressing condition is very welcome. But I would appeal to the Honourable the Minister in charge of the Bill to make suitable provisions in the Bill in order to make it possible to convert these concerns into national concerns if and when he is ready to undertake nationalisation. That will be eminently satisfactory and I think that is what the country desires.

Sir, my Honourable friends have spoken about the Bill as very reactionary. I join issue with them and say that the Bill is on no account reactionary nor can it ever be a reactionary Bill conceived by the Minister who thinks as much of the country as any one of us here does. Under the circumstances, it would be unfortunate to talk of bravery and propose to teach bravery to people who have been brave all along their life and who have been proved to be brave. I appeal to my Honourable friends not to be unnecessarily hard, where there is nothing to be hard. So, I give my fullest support to the Bill with the feeling that this is only an interim measure and that necessary provisions will be incorporated in the Bill for nationalisation of these institutions if and when we are ready to take up those institutions.

Sir, taking the question of electric power, in U.P., Madras and the Punjab, hydro-electric power is being generated and supplied by Government themselves. Thus in these areas there is complete nationalisation—the hydro-electric industry being run by Government, barring the electric power installations in cities and towns. Under these circumstances, there is nothing to find fault with the Government and there is everything to congratulate them and to support them to our full. With these words, Sir, I congratulate and join in the chorus of congratulations to be showered on the Minister; I fully believe that the House supports this measure that has been brought forward by my friend and explained so clearly and lucidly to the honourable members.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari (Madras: General): Mr. Chairman, Sir, my provocation in interfering in this debate is to express a few of the difficulties that I encountered in trying to grasp the fundamental principles of this Bill. The Bill is not one of those which is easily understood. If I may be permitted to use the personal pronoun, Sir, I am accustomed to dealing with legislation. But this is a very complex measure. Assuredly, it has its limitations—limitations imposed on it by reason of the time when it was first initiated. I think the Honourable the Mover clearly explained that there is a history behind this Bill and that it has taken up a period of time to mature; it probably would have come before the Legislature earlier but for the uncertainties in the political situation in this country.

Sir, I feel the Select Committee is charged with a duty—a very serious duty—of streamlining the Bill so that it can suit modern ideas and modern conditions. In fact, the Department has done a lot of spade-work. The Policy Committee which functioned in 1945 had recommended certain procedure to be followed; in fact, Sir, the Policy Committee's views were not considerably at variance with those expressed by many honourable members in this House. The Resolution of the second meeting of the Policy Committee held on 2nd February 1945 says:

“That the development of electricity supply in areas outside existing licensed areas should be actively pursued, as far as possible, as a State or quasi-State enterprise; but if for any reason the State is not prepared to undertake such development in any area within a reasonable time, private enterprise should not be excluded.”

Again, Sir, that Committee recommended that there should be an Advisory Board of not exceeding five persons, which should lay down the financial principles that should govern the future policy of the Government.

Sir, you have in this Bill in Schedule VI, the financial powers that cover the entire scope of this Bill. But that will entirely be superseded by the recommendations made by the Advisory Board appointed by the Resolution of the Policy Committee and in my view that is a considerable advance on what the Bill intends to do in Schedule VI. If that is taken into account and the Bill is carefully studied, I do not see that there is much room for excitement. I am not one of those who believe in perpetuation of capitalism if it can possibly be avoided. I am myself a great protagonist in my own way, in my own sphere, of nationalisation as quickly as possible. But what exactly is nationalisation? What is the content of the nationalisation that my honourable friends want? Does it mean that the State should take over the control of these undertakings, that the State should regulate the amounts that should be paid to people who have invested in the undertakings, or do they say that the whole thing should be financed by the State?—money drawn out of vacuum for which they do not pay anything?

[Shri T. T. Krishnamachari]

Sir, let us look at the latest measure of the British Government, the Electricity Bill, which proposes nationalisation. But what are the implications of that Bill? That Bill proposes to take over the shares and securities held by private parties and in return issue Government Paper carrying more or less a similar rate of interest. Well, that is the nationalisation that is there and the private party is still there as the private party; it is the investors' money, only control has passed from the Director on to the Central Electricity Board and to the Area Electricity Board.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Madras: General): It is an important change.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: It is an important change, but I will ask my friend Prof. Ranga to read this Bill and find out if there is also not an important change in this Bill. Let my honourable friend read the Bill and if he reads it and notes the constitution of the Provincial Board, he will find that the Provincial Board is not the appointee of any shareholders' gathering—it is the appointee of the Provincial Government. It takes over the power of the Department of the Provincial Government that is now doing the function. And if that means that the State is giving away to some private interest all the source of power that we have, the only source of power that we have, I am afraid it is open to question. It is really not true in relation to the actual wording of the Bill.

My friend Prof. Shah who is old enough to have been my Professor if I had the good fortune to study in the Bombay University, has said that this is the only source of power; that we have no coal, no oil. But he forgets that all the power that we generate is not hydro-electric and that some electric power has got to be generated either by coal or by oil.

That is by the way. But I would ask my honourable friends to study the provisions of the Bill. It in effect creates a Provincial organisation which is charged with the task of taking over and controlling in a very effective manner the distribution of electrical energy in the area, in which it functions. Why is it so? My Honourable friend Mr. Shibbanlal Saksena said: "Why not the Central Government do this, that and everything else?" I may tell him that there is Section 100 and Section 126 of the Government of India and the fact that Electricity has a place in the Concurrent List, Part II, those are the reasons why the Central Government could not straightaway enact a Bill which will enable them to take over control of electricity all over India. Those are the limitations under which we are labouring, and very wisely skipping through the difficulties of Section 126, the draftsmen of this Act have given us an organisation which, if properly worked, may mean nationalisation at just one stroke of the pen. It is not the first step. The next step is only a stroke of the pen.

Sir, take for instance the province of Madras where, as it happens, 95 per cent. of the generating capacity is in the control of the Government and 98 per cent. of the electricity generated is generated by Government now. Well, my honourable friend Prof. Ranga, who is not very accurately informed as far as Madras is concerned, said the Madras Electric Supply Corporation has been taken over by the Municipality—the last thing we would permit, at any rate. It has been taken over by Government and it is a huge undertaking. Actually, the licences are so worded that after a period of time Government could take over everything else and it would possibly be that in a very short time the whole question of generation and distribution of power in Madras will be in the hands of the Provincial Government. I mean, there is nothing to prevent it. It may be wise; it may be unwise—it may be the proper thing; it may be the improper thing, but that is the logical evolution of the policy pursued by the Provincial Government. And what has my Honourable friend done to aid the Madras Government by reason of this Bill? It may be that the Madras Electric Licensee's Association says: "We are not concerned". Well, they won't be concerned, because at the present moment they have not studied the Bill, but what really happens is this. My Honourable friend has provided means by which there would be a body in Madras which would be charged solely with the purpose of developing electrical energy, solely with the purpose of providing the agriculturists with power that is needed for them, solely with the purpose of providing urban amenities in villages but for which people in urban areas won't go back to the villages, so that they can have their electric lights, they can have their cinemas, they can have their radios. All these things will be part of the work which the Provincial Electricity Board will have to undertake, with, very possibly, the present Chief Engineer of the Government of Madras as the President of the Electricity Board. I see that there is no provision at all for any of the capitalists, shareholders, interfering in any manner in the composition and working of the Control Board. The assets of the Government will now be transferred to the Board. The Government can make subventions to the Board and the Board can borrow money. As against this, the Board is entirely appointed by the Provincial Government; it may be that people who are appointed there may represent certain interests. They may be representatives of labour, of agriculture, of commerce. After all, if a Provincial Government is under your control, you can make a member represent labour or agriculture or commerce in the Board so that their interests could be looked after. So here is a perfect scheme of nationalisation of the generation of electricity and also, if it is necessary, of the control and distribution as well. The only limiting factor is that there are licencees and their duration is governed by the terms of the licence. If you want to take over the distribution yourself, you will have to pay them compensation. If proper provision is not there—I think there is already provision for compensation—you can always amend it or improve it in the Select Committee.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: What about inflation of capital?

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Where is inflation of capital? I have been a student of economics in my own way. I do not know what my Honourable friend means by "inflation of capital". I find no capital here at all. The capital is that of the Government.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Capital of the private concerns that are taken up.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: Well, that is a matter for Mr. Sidhwa and the Government to which he belongs. Apparently now he is an orphan, he does not belong to any Government but if he does he will realise that capital will never be inflated. I can tell him, if the Chairman will allow digression for a minute,—in a scheme of nationalisation that we are pursuing in respect of certain types of ownership we are not giving any inflated capital in Madras, and if you have a Government strong enough to do that, you can do the same thing with all these people. You can give them stock and 3 per cent. That, I believe, Sir, will more or less knock at the bottom of many of the arguments of those who say that this Bill is a reactionary Bill. It is perhaps not very modern. The task of making it modern is vested in the members of the Select Committee who can copy verbatim, if they want, certain provisions of the latest Electricity undertaking of the British Government because there is a nucleus of nationalisation here.

Sir, one other point to which I would like to draw the attention of the House is this. Some members objected to this Bill, particularly the wording of Section 27. Section 27 defines the preparation of the scheme and Chapter III defines the powers and duties of the Provincial Electricity Boards have all to be modified, if necessary, so as to give the power to compel licencees to give it up if you find that the licencees are merely working for the sake of profit and are not responding. These provisions may be modified suitably and you will have enough power. Sir, that, I believe is quite enough for the time being against the charge that has been set out against the Honourable the Mover that he has brought forward a reactionary Bill.

[Shri T. T. Krishnamachari]

To sum up, once again I will say there is a historical background to the Bill. The Bill has to be streamlined and it will take time, and all that is necessary can be done in the Select Committee. But in essence, this Bill provides all the preparation that is necessary for nationalisation. One of the factors I would like Honourable Members to bear in mind is that if you have an organisation of the electricity undertaking similar to what you have in Madras, it is pretty easy for you to nationalise, but I do not think that the development of electricity and electricity undertakings all over India is on a par with Madras. Probably we have reached the peak in regard to our hydro-electric schemes. The other provinces have to wake up. So if this Bill looks as though it is not particularly radical you have only to apply to it the analogy of a convoy where the slowest ship of the convoy dictates the pace at which the convoy moves. Actually, the framers of this Bill have had to take account of the financial and economic situation of the various provinces, because it is pure and simple a provincial subject and the limitations of the Government of India Act are there. They have done so to give the backward provinces time to come up on level with the more progressive ones. If necessary, they can quicken their pace. It all depends on the vigour with which the provincial representatives press forward with this matter. Sir, one other factor in this connection is this. My Honourable friends want straightway to nationalise. Well, as I said, I am perfectly in agreement with them. There is a Tamil proverb which says: "If you want to lie down, you must first sit and then lie." Even now certain things are necessary for nationalisation; you will want Electrical Engineers of a very high calibre. I can tell the House the experience in Madras. We have a very competent Chief Engineer. He is going on leave. He is in charge of two functions; he is the Chief Engineer, the Chief Administrative Officer and also the Operation Superintendent. We cannot find another person to take his job. We have had to split it into two. That is the position.

An Honourable Member: Why do not you send Mr. Sidhwa?Y

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: We did not know that he was quite so competent at that time.

It is rather difficult to get the necessary amount of personnel. Supposing we want to borrow personnel from other countries, what happens? We had an American Engineer some time back employed by the Central Technical Board. He found that he could not do much work for the last five years and he was rusting. His knowledge of modern developments had not kept abreast with modern times. So he felt he would go back so that he will be a live Engineer whereas he was a dead one by remaining in India. His ambition did not tempt him to stay on in a country which has not progressed fast enough. I challenge Honourable Members who want to nationalize straightaway to produce half a dozen Electrical Engineers of top class who will take over this job and carry it out successfully for 5 years. What has happened? We have got a few technical men at the top and there is a gap. We have got to train the younger people and my own feeling is this: This Bill will provide us enough time. We put the responsibility on the Provincial Boards. The Provincial Boards can nationalize. No reactionary Government has stated that it should not be made a State enterprise. All it has provided is that, if it possible, it should be a nationalized concern.

I will refer again to the experience of Madras in another matter. We are trying to nationalise our transport. If they had taken private companies, then they would probably have gone in a different way. They would have got the help of the present operators. So the question really is even if you nationalize whether you manage to use the machinery that now exists which runs these undertakings. As my Honourable friend, Mr. Sidhwa mentioned they are all merely entrepreneurs or financial promoters; some of them are very clever and we have an undertaking in the south of India run by a man called Seshasayee; he is an excellent man, but not probably a technical man and he is extremely clever at this job. He is able to spread electricity to rural areas, which probably many technical people may not be able to do and at such a cheap cost and his capital undertakings are not very heavy. There is a certain amount of talent there. We have to rope in that talent. So we want time and my own feeling is that this Bill provides the necessary amount of time.

Sir, I have no desire to go into the clauses of the Bill. As I said, I wish the House makes it very clear to the Select Committee that they go 'full steam ahead'; they have got the full power of this House to alter the Bill in whatever manner they like, so that ultimately the project will be a good one which will benefit the country as a whole and will perhaps meet that end which is near to the hearts of most of our friends who wish ultimately to nationalize the undertaking. Well, give the sanction to the Select Committee; make it a mandate; "go outside the four corners of the Bill; extend it if necessary, so that we will have a good Bill which will probably meet the wishes of Professor K. T. Shah, Mr. Sidhwa and Mr. Shibban Lal Saksena", but I do maintain, Sir, here we have a nucleus of a very proper organization for running electricity concerns in this country in a manner where the private entrepreneur will not have his own say but which can be run so that people can get electricity in a reasonable time and the agricultural areas could be developed and later on in the industries which as my Honourable friend, Professor Shah visualises, come into being, they can be extended. Sir, I support this Motion.

Shri S. K. Patil (Bombay: General): Mr. Chairman, in rising to support the reference of this Bill to the Select Committee, I find myself, Sir, somewhat in the same difficulty, if it is a difficulty, in which the Honourable the Minister found himself, because he had to present a very practical case and not a sentimental case. To talk of full-blooded nationalism Sir, in these days is not only a necessity but as it has been said, it is also a fashion. It at once becomes unpopular if you differ by an inch from the accepted thesis that immediate nationalisation is not only the goal but our immediate concern. I have been Sir, in my humble public life a very great protagonist of nationalism and I am stating my present case not because I have resiled from that position, but I must state the case as a practical proposition.

Reference has been made, Sir, by my Honourable friend, Prof. K. T. Shah to the electric concern in Bombay about which I have something to do. It is indeed difficult, Sir, to differ from the cogent and weighty arguments advanced by my Honourable friend, Prof. K. T. Shah. As to the actual concern that he mentioned, namely, the Bombay Electric Supply and Transport, I shall come later to it. But I shall begin with the case about which there has been a lot said in this House and a lot more will be said hereafter that is the nationalization of all industries and particularly the key and the basic industries. That this particular Bill refers to an industry which is the key industry and the basic industry, there is no doubt about it. In fact it is so basic that many of our key industries and many other important industries depend upon how we conduct our electricity industry, and therefore, if there is any concern that ought to be nationalised immediately or in the immediate future, it is the electricity concern. Therefore, I do not join issue with those who want immediate nationalization of this concern. But when they talk of nationalization of a concern and sometimes talk in a manner which I do not say is light-hearted, but surely is not as practical as it ought to be, I do not understand really the content and import of that nationalization. What is after all the nationalization for? The other day when I was speaking on the Railway Budget, I said that on this outstanding concern, namely, the Railway, much of our success of nationalization hangs. I was very serious when I made that statement. Why? Because the people understand that the nationalization is not an end or goal in itself. Ultimately the content of that nationalization must mean that millions of our poor countrymen must get the direct benefit out of it. It is not a sentiment; it is Rupees, annas and pies; so much more facility, so much more convenience; if you do not get that facility and convenience out of that nationalization and if you have got the mere sentiment that so many key industries we have nationalised, and therefore we are a great nation, surely, Sir, I do not subscribe to that view at all. And therefore in order that our scheme of nationalization should be a complete success, I want to adopt means which will definitely lead me to that nationalization. Now when I scanned the provisions of this Bill, I saw such a scheme does exist in this Bill and therefore, I say that it is paving the way to nationalization although it is not a full-fledged or full-blooded nationalization here and now. People imagine that in any country you can have nationalization, because you are an independent country. Only by enactment of laws you cannot have nationalization. That is the practical view. You have already got one party Government; you have merely to bring a Bill, pass it through all the stages; then it becomes a law and it does not matter what the ultimate results are, and you may think you have brought about nationalization. Therefore for any scheme of socialisation or nationalisation—for which I also stand—we want to create the necessary conditions in this country. Unless those conditions are created I want to go slowly, if you call it so. But I do not want to go fast and jump into a deep well without knowing the depth of that well. That is exactly the mistake that I do not want to commit and which I think the framer of this Bill has not done. Therefore I congratulate him on this. He was appologetic and said he was hastening slowly, that it was a moderate Bill, and so on. Of course, it is a moderate Bill and he is hastening slowly, but you are hastening to the desideratum or programme which is going to be the ultimate programme, namely, nationalisation of all key and basic industries in this country. It has been suggested that the process of nationalisation or socialisation is very easy, and it also comes very easily; that if you say that an industry belongs to the State, it at once belongs to the State. There are three stages according to me in this process of nationalization. I do not go into a very elaborate and technical discussion of the question, but these three stages are easily understandable. The first stage is capitalism which you and I and everybody abhor and want to end as soon as possible. Having accepted that, before you reach nationalisation which is State ownership and State control put together, there is an intermediate stage which was described by the Honourable Minister as the monopoly or the State control stage. It is also a stage that leads you to nationalisation; it is not a retrograde step. Some people went to the extent of saying that this is a reactionary Bill, a retrograde Bill, and all sorts of epithets have been used. If you really want to reach the goal of nationalisation State control or State monopoly which is a form of nationalisation should not be eschewed; and if this Bill has incorporated State control it is an immediate step towards nationalisation or socialisation. Therefore when we think of this we have got very seriously to consider—as I tell all students of socialisation and nationalisation—the trends in the world today. The international world today is recognising the value of State control. State ownership is not everything; if you control the concern itself you get advantages which even under State ownership you may not be able to get. I am not arguing, mind you, against State ownership; in time to come you will have State ownership also. But before coming to that stage if you go through the intermediate stage of State control nothing is lost and everything is gained. You learn by experience: you create all the conditions and circumstances that are necessary for launching a full-blooded programme of socialisation or nationalisation of all key and basic industries. I may say, Sir, that in order that any scheme of nationalisation should become a success in this country certain preliminary conditions have got to be created. When I gave the instance of railways the other day my honourable friend the Minister for Railways turned me down by saying that our railways are better than other railways, that more railways are asking to be nationalised. That is the criterion that he gave as regards the success of our railways. I do not want to go into that subject once again, but if we are to judge the success of nationalisation by what our railways and our telephones are doing, at least in the last two or three years after the war, I would say, "Woe be to all our chances of nationalisation in this country!" I repeat that argument ad nauseam not because I join issue with the Honourable Member; I know he is as keen as anybody else on the subject of nationalization of all our key and basic industries. But if the nationalisation of railways means that every year the Railway Minister has to come and say that he is increasing the First, Second, Intermediate and Third class fares and adding this charge and that charge and after five or six years more amenities and facilities will be established, then how can any one have patience about this nationalization? If anything good is to be realised after a process extending over so many years that, according to me, is not the success of nationalisation. I do understand the difficulties that are implicit in the situation; I do understand the obstacles that Honourable Ministers have to face. When we make this plea of nationalisation and socialisation it is not to criticise the actions of honourable members. And on this occasion I should like to tell our popular Ministers that they should not be so very thin-skinned, and imagine that every criticism means distrust. They must not forget that they used the same arguments against other Ministers; and now that fortunately they are there they should realise that when these arguments are advanced it is not to criticise them. If we were in their places, possibly we might do worse; I know they are doing it much better. But when we make criticism, it is to state the case—the practical case—and they should understand that the practical suggestions which in all sincerity are advanced are meant to help and not to retard progress. Can we call the administration of railways and telephones a success? You know what has happened in telephones. I am connected with the telephone system; I am a member of the advisory telephone committee of my city. I have to deal with this subject every day, and what do I find? It is the same experience everywhere. It is said that we must nationalise no matter what the results may be; without the technical skill and without many other essential requirements we are satisfied if all the telephones in the country belong to the State. And when they belong to the State I am happy because I think that I have nationalized the telephone industry. But that is not the right way of looking at this question. Apart from sentiment, money and everything else, the actual facilities and convenience which add so much to comfort and happiness of people are according to me, the real essence of nationalisation. If that essence is not to be achieved I do not understand this superficial talk about our being very happy under nationalisation. What is true of telephones is true of railways and every other nationalised industry.

[Shri S. K. Patil]

• The question was raised as regards Bombay Electric Supply with which I am concerned both as leader of a very numerous party in the Bombay Municipal Corporation and as one who has something to do with the Transport Company also. It is one of the largest electric concerns in the country. Possibly, honourable members may not be knowing that we are not generators of electricity but we are only distributors. We have to take electricity from somewhere else. If half the country's electricity is consumed in those four cities which were mentioned by the Honourable Minister, I must say that greater portion of it is consumed in the city of Bombay. There were people who used to come and say that as soon as you take over the concern a miracle was going to happen, because it is a key industry. It has got to be municipalised, socialised, nationalised.—call it what you like. We did not wait for the intermediate or the second stage of the State control. Possibly for some years it would have been a better alternative but we walked straight into full-fledged municipalisation. My Honourable friend, Prof. K. T. Shah mentioned how the private companies cooked their accounts and so on. I agree that it is so, and we have to guard against that. I do not say much about it because it is before the arbitrators and the case is sub-judice; so we must not go into details of that case. But that consideration apart, when I tell you that after we have taken this nationalised industry of electricity in Bombay, you will perhaps not believe that our difficulties have been multiplied ten times today. For the last fifty years—or whatever the number of years may be—that concern was giving huge dividends of 14 or 15 per cent. If that company was so good as to give 14 or 15 per cent. dividend year after year, we all thought that when it was municipalised, we would be able to make a still greater success of it. It was municipalised and I am only hoping that it should not be my misfortune to say, when I have occasion to speak next year in this House, that not only we have not given any dividends but we have made losses; not because we have done anything wrong in nationalising that concern, but the conditions which were necessary for launching that scheme of nationalisation had not been created. And it is your duty and my duty to set ourselves to the task of creating conditions in which nationalisation becomes an easy task. It must become easy. It is not in a spirit of carping criticism that I am saying this. The truth is that though it is our duty we have not done it and those conditions have not been created. The moment a concern is nationalised our workers, who are really the backbone of any concern, also think that they are independent just as India is now independent. Therefore they may not work: of course they must have higher wages. We have all sympathies for their demand. But along with larger wages if there was responsibility on their part of adding to the production of the country and do many other things besides by which our national undertakings become a success, at the end of it we shall have rendered an excellent account of ourselves and we could tell the whole country “Here is a primary concern of outstanding importance: we have made it a success after nationalisation. So you also proceed in your own province with nationalising similar concerns.” At the present moment I have not that optimism that we shall be able to do that. Why? Because there is no national discipline. There are not the conditions that are necessary in order that every national concern becomes a success. We have not yet trained people in their responsibility towards nationalisation. If I summarise, according to me, there are certain conditions which are necessary before any scheme of nationalisation or socialisation of the basic or key industries is undertaken. They are practically basic conditions, the nonfulfilment of which will result in the failure of any scheme of nationalisation that you may take in hand. The first and primary condition is that our citizenship must be responsible. Responsibility of citizenship is the most important thing. We must understand what ultimately is our duty. Just now you find strikes and strikes everywhere and consequent indiscipline. I am not against strikes. I am not advancing the arguments of a capitalist. A sword is a weapon and a knife also is a weapon. But we must distinguish when a sword is to be used and when a knife is to be used. You should not strike for everything. So responsible citizenship is the first sine qua non of any scheme of nationalisation or socialisation of a key or basic industry.

[Shri S. K. Patil]

The second requisite is national discipline. We have no national discipline amongst us. We talk of big things but what can a nation do without national discipline? We simply utter slogans “This must be nationalised and that must be nationalised.” I warn this House that all the schemes of nationalisation will prove utter failures if we have not really imbibed in us that national discipline which is necessary for the success of nationalisation of our key industries.

Along with national discipline there should be national character. I do not really challenge that we have no national character. We are an infant or young nation or a nation just reborn. We have yet to build our national character. We have not got that at present. How many times are examples of corruption quoted in this House, and it is alleged that even Congressmen indulge in it. All that goes to show that we have not really yet formed the requisite national character which is necessary for the success of any national scheme in India.

Reference was made and rightly so by the speaker who preceded me that we must also cultivate high technical skill. You talk of nationalisation of electricity. How many engineers have you got who are experts in schemes of electricity? Mr. Sidhwa or some other member said that it was a shame that we had no engineers. It is a shame that ought to be shared by all of us. May I tell the honourable member that much as I was criticised in appointing an Englishman to continue as General Manager of our electric concern, however I tried to find out, even a second rate or a third rate Indian to step immediately into his shoes and take the responsibility of that concern, because we wanted that concern to be Indianised, I really confess my shame that I could not find one. We are not responsible for it. We were kept in a condition where this shame became inevitable. We had to continue an Englishman in the job. If I want half a dozen engineers in order that the scheme should be a success where can we get them immediately? Does any honourable member suggest that in order to make a success of nationalisation the technical experts required should be imported from England, America or Russia? That is not according to me full-blooded nationalisation. But we have to surmount those difficulties. We have got to train the personnel. Unless we have got the competent technical personnel both in quantity and quality it will not be possible to make a success of any scheme of nationalisation. Mere talk of nationalisation does not carry us anywhere nearer to nationalisation.

And last but not least, we must have a well trained sense of patriotism, which in the last analysis must get better of self-interest. But what do you see today. There is the self-interest of the capitalist and there is the self-interest also of the poor man who calls himself a labourer or worker. Whenever there is an emergency and you find that there is a strike and both sides are at a tug of war, there is no patriotism anywhere in evidence. From the capitalist we cannot expect it. But when we come to our own selves what do we find? My honourable friend Mr. Shibban Lal Saksena who is a supporter of nationalisation has got abundant experience of labour himself. If he goes and tells workers “You go on strike” he becomes their leader. But if he goes and tells them “Do not go on strike, it might react on our nation, we must build up the national wealth of the country”, I am afraid he would not be heard. That is my experience. I happen to be the President of the largest labour organisation in the city of Bombay. If I tell them “You go on strike and I shall be your leader” every worker will be behind me, because I am leading them to strike. As it is the strike seems to be the be all and end all for which a worker exists. If I tell them “Of course you have the right to strike but please wait. Our country is poor, our production has to be advanced; we have got to discipline ourselves. We should go a little slowly.” Immediately he will discard me and have somebody else who would help him in the step which he has already decided upon. This has become the leadership of labour in the country. So this is also a condition precedent to nationalisation, that your sense of national responsibility ought to be so great that in the last analysis—whether your country is going to gain or lose by that—you must rise superior to your self-interests. Here is the country's interest and I shall protect the country's interest even at the cost of my own interest. If that is the view that is really shared mutually by both capital and labour, by the industrialist and the man behind the wheel, then alone there is salvation or the success of nationalisation. Therefore, I would humbly appeal to those people who are the supporters of nationalisation and socialisation of the key and basic industries—and I am second to none in my desire for nationalisation—to be cautious in the national interest and accept for a while the immediate step of state control which in effect, means that 90 per cent. of capitalism and all other vested interests are trampled under the feet. It is not state control alone but also state-ownership that will have to be added to it in time to come. With the success of State control we shall have state-ownership also, thereby finalising the scheme of nationalisation or socialisation. If the Bill of the Honourable Minister is judged in that view, surely I should say that it is a step in the progressive and right direction and therefore I strongly recommend its reference to the Select Committee.

[Shri S. K. Patil]

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Monday, the 8th December, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Monday, 8th December, 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

RATES POLICY OF RAILWAYS

†658. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether the Special Officer and the Committee of Rating Experts appointed by the Railway Board to work out the basis for revision of the rates policy of the Railways have submitted their reports to the Railway Board?

(b) If so, what are their recommendations?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The Special Officer, who is also the Secretary of the Standing Advisory Committee (Post-war Rating), has submitted several reports on the different aspects of rating practice and policy. Most of the reports have been examined and reported on by the Standing Advisory Committee, whose recommendations have been considered by the Railway Board. The subject, however, is a vast one, and there is still considerable work to be done.

(b) Among the more important recommendations of the Standing Advisory Committee, which have been accepted by the Railway Board, may be cited the following:

(i) Introduction of 10 telescopic continuous mileage 'class' rates, leaving only six 'flat' class rates in operation. It is hoped that the latter will be replaced by telescopic scales before the end of 1948.

(ii) Assimilation of 'schedule' rates. Only eight 'schedules' will be in use after the 1st of January 1948 in place of twenty-seven hitherto in force. Considerable simplification of procedure will result.

(iii) After the 1st of January 1948, all goods traffic is to be carried by the shortest route to the greatest extent possible. This will eliminate circuitous routing of goods and should improve wagon availability.

(iv) Two new rules of procedure are to be introduced as from 1st January 1948 as a convenience to commercial interests. These rules are:

(1) No rate shall be cancelled or enhanced by railways without three calendar months' notice to the trade and other railways concerned. The only exception to this will be the cancellation of 'dead' rates, i.e. rates at which no traffic has moved for a period of not less than six consecutive months. Such 'dead' rates will be withdrawn on one month's notice to those concerned.

(2) No rates shall be reduced without at least seven days' notice to the public, which notice shall be given through the medium of the

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

Press wherever possible. The intention of this rule is that publicity shall be given to reductions in rates, so that all concerned or affected may have advance information regarding the abatements to be made.

(v) As soon as conditions return sufficiently to normal and it is possible to obtain the required mechanical apparatus station rate registers are to be introduced at all railway stations. The preparatory investigation in this connection has been completed.

POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION OF RAILWAYS IN CHOTA NAGPUR DIVISION

†659. Shri Jadubans Sahay: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government have any schemes for the extension of Railway lines under the Post-War Reconstruction in the areas covered by the Chota Nagpur Division in the Province of Bihar?

(b) If so, have Government decided to drop any one of the above schemes so far as Chota Nagpur is concerned?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what are the reasons for the same?

(d) In view of the fact that Chota Nagpur Division is one of the richest areas in India in mines and mineral deposits, do Government propose to take immediate steps for the extension of Railway lines in the said area?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) In the Post-War Reconstruction Programme of Railways, the Government have under consideration the following projects for extension of Railway lines which are wholly or partly located in the Chota Nagpur Division of the Bihar Province: (i) Tori-Birmitrapur. (ii) Gaya-Ranchi. (iii) Barkagaon-Hazaribagh-Giridih. (iv) Barwadih-Chirimiri. (v) Barwadih-Manikpur.

(b) No.

(c) Does not arise.

(d) Government have already sanctioned the construction of a line between Barwadih and Sarnadih the first 40 miles of the Barwadih-Chirimiri project. The remaining projects are still under investigation.

THROUGH PASSENGER TRAIN FROM PATNA TO RANCHI

†660. Shri Jadubans Sahay: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether the attention of the Government of India has been drawn to a resolution passed by the Legislative Assembly of Bihar urging upon the Government of India the necessity of starting a through passenger train from Patna to Ranchi?

(b) Are Government aware that the absence of such a through train between Patna and Ranchi, is, to a great extent, responsible for the failure of the Bihar Government in maintaining a closer link between Bihar proper and Chota Nagpur?

(c) Do Government propose to take steps for starting a through passenger train as stated above? If not, why not?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The attention of the Government has not been drawn to any such resolution.

(b) The Government are not aware of this.

(c) The restoration of the Patna-Ranchi Road train service has been accorded high priority by the East Indian Railway Administration. At present, however, the Railway is short of Rolling stock. Meanwhile a through carriage for upper class passengers is provided each way between Patna and Ranchi Road.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

AVAILABILITY OF GYPSUM

†661. Shri Amiyo Kumar Ghosh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state if gypsum in adequate quantity suitable for cement manufacture, is available within the Indian Union? If so, the places where it is available?

(b) If it is not available within the Indian Union, what step Government propose to take in order to procure the supply of the same from outside the Indian Union?

(c) Is it a fact that the Sone Valley Portland Cement Factory at Japla has closed one of its kilns due to the non-availability of gypsum, resulting in the retrenchment of large number of labourers?

(d) If so, what steps Government propose to take in the matter?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Yes, Sir; in Trichinopoly, Bikaner, Jaisalmer Jodhpur, Garhwal and Dehra Dun.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) The stocks of the Company are stated to be only about 40 tons while its immediate need is 100 tons to prevent a shut-down of the plant. A report from the factory dated the 2nd December stated that the kiln had not yet closed down by that date.

(d) The Railway authorities have been informed of the seriousness of the situation, and have been urged to move a sufficient quantity of gypsum in time to prevent closure of the works.

PRODUCTION OF STEEL

662. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

(a) Will, the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state what steps Government propose to take in order to increase the production of steel in the country?

(b) Have Government taken any action on the Report of the Advisory Steel Panel for setting up two new major steel works in the country and if so, what is the progress of their scheme in this respect?

(c) Do Government propose to investigate the possibilities of utilising the equipment and personnel in the Ordnance Factories for supplementing the production of steel as an immediate measure?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). Steps are being taken to set up two new major steel producing units, each of 500,000 ingot tons capacity and each capable of being doubled, at a total estimated capital cost of Rs. 48 crores. Matters regarding the operation, location, design and construction of the plants and the nature of foreign technical assistance required are under consideration. Government are also giving every assistance to the Industry to produce to capacity and for their expansion schemes.

(c) Yes, Sir. The Ordnance Factories are already producing various steel products against civil orders. Government will examine the possibility of increasing steel production in these factories.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know whether these two proposed factories will be state factories or private ones?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: They will undoubtedly be controlled by the State, but the details will be discussed at a conference which I have called a fortnight hence.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know where they are proposed to be located?

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

1426

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [9TH DEC. 1947]

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: One is in Bihar and the other is in C.P.—that is the present proposal. That has not, however, been finally decided.

Shri Khandubhai K. Desai: Will there be some Government representation on the Board of Directors?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Certainly.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: One steel plant was allotted to India from the German reparations. Is this plant one of the two plants which are being set up in Bihar and C.P.? If not, when will the German plant be put up?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That will have to be considered. We will first consider the suitability of the plant.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether Government will consider the desirability of purchasing at least 50 per cent. of the shares of the factories?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It will be considered.

REPORT OF INDUSTRIAL PANELS

663. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state how many industrial Panels appointed by the Planning and Development Department have reported till now?

(b) Do Government propose to lay on the table of the House a statement, showing the action taken by the Interim Government and the present Government on the various reports?

(c) Do Government propose to set up any machinery for co-ordinating and implementing the recommendations of the various Panels?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) 25.

(b) Government have so far considered eleven reports and have accepted the main recommendations made. The Reports† have been published and Press Notes referring to each Report were issued at the time of publication. They are being again laid on the table. Steps are now being taken to give effect to Government's decisions in consultation with the various authorities and interests concerned. Eleven other Reports are under examination and three are still in the draft stage.

(c) The Ministry of Industry and Supply is now responsible for the co-ordination and implementation of the recommendations of the various Panels.

Shri K. Santhanam: Will the Honourable Minister consider the desirability of bringing all these recommendations together in one compendious volume for the convenience of Members?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That may be considered, if paper is available.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: And will those copies be circulated to the Members?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Not perhaps to all Members of the House but to those who are interested.

FERTILIZER FACTORY AT SINDRI

664. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to place on the table of the House a statement showing the progress made up to date by the Fertilizer Factory at Sindri, including capital and recurring expenditure incurred?

(b) What is the nature, the quantity of and the time when the various kinds of fertilizers will be available?

(c) Have Government arrived at any arrangements with the suppliers of machinery and the consultants in the United Kingdom and the United States of America in regard to the training of Indians in the various technical lines of the fertilizer industry and if so, what are the particulars of such a scheme?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) A statement has been placed on the table of the House as desired.

(b) For the present, only one kind of fertilizer, viz. Ammonium Sulphate, is intended to be manufactured at Sindri. The quantity of Ammonium Sulphate which the factory is planned to produce is 350,000 tons per annum.

The forecast for pilot production is the end of 1949 and full production end of 1950, though one or two months after this might be required in order to co-ordinate and tune in the various units to operate the whole most economically.

(c) Yes, Sir. Agreement with the suppliers of plant and machinery and the consultants provides for the training of personnel for operating the factory. A considerable number of applications for training have already been received, although the scheme has not yet been advertised publicly.

Statement showing the up-to-date progress of the Fertilizer Factory at Sindri.

(1) Agreements have been concluded with the Chemical Construction Corporation of the U. S. A. for the design of the factory and with the Power Gas Corporation of the U. K. for procuring plant and erection of the same.

Resident Engineers of the Chemical Construction Corporation and the Power Gas Corporation are in position at site and the necessary technicians for the erection of the factory are beginning to arrive.

(2) Orders for the most important items of plant have been placed, orders having been distributed between the U. S. A., the U. K. and India.

(3) After protracted negotiations the land required for the factory and township has been acquired and a great amount of preliminary work has been completed. Temporary housing for the construction staff and workmen has been built. Temporary water supply and power supply have also been arranged. Levelling of the site is practically complete, main roads have been built and the installation of the complicated reinforced concrete foundations is well advanced.

Most of the structural steelwork required for the building has been ordered and fabrication is well advanced notwithstanding difficulties regarding supply of steel. Some steelwork has been delivered at site. A considerable tonnage of plant has arrived at site, or is in transit.

(4) A permanent township is being built for housing the staff and workmen required to operate the factory and all necessary services such as water supply, electricity, etc., are being provided.

Contracts will have to be let out for executing the big water supply scheme for supply of some 12 million gallons of water per day for boilers and process work in the factory and for supply to the township.

(5) A temporary railway siding has been constructed for the receipt of plant. The permanent broad gauge connection, linking the factory with the E. I. R. system, is nearing completion.

The erection of the factory will commence in earnest early in 1948

Steps have been taken to ensure training of Indian nationals for the operation of the factory.

The amounts of capital and recurring expenditure incurred are as follows:—

Commitments made so far amount to Rs. 10.98 crores, and the actual payments made are Rs. 1.89 crores.

Recurring expenditure—Nil.

Shri K. Santhanam: Arising out of the answer to part (c) of the question may I ask if any persons have been actually sent for training?

assistance arrangement with the Percival Aircraft Company, Luton, England. The Ministry of Defence has placed an initial order with Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. for 50 such aircraft. The company has also undertaken the manufacture of an improved type of third class Railway Coaches for the Railway Ministry, which has already placed an order for 100 such coaches. Further development in constructing coaches of other types for Railways is shortly expected. To meet the expanded programme, it has been decided to increase the share capital from Rs. 75 lakhs to Rs. 175 lakhs.

(b) The first aircraft manufactured at Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. is expected to be out by May 1948. This, however, will largely be an assembly from imported components. The first aircraft of the same type manufactured in Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. using Indian raw materials to a large extent, with the exception of the Engine and Instruments, is expected to be ready by September 1948.

(c) The assembling and manufacture of aircraft mentioned above should provide adequate opportunities of training to Indian technicians and workers, as, with the exception of a few British and American supervisory personnel, the staff employed consists entirely of Indian personnel.

(d) Yes, Sir. It is the policy of Government that as far as possible the requirements of the Indian Air Force should be met by Hindustan Aircraft Limited. For this purpose, Government propose to constitute an Advisory Committee to advise the Directors on questions of policy and to constitute a Liaison Committee between the Company and the main indentors. This Committee will include representatives of the Ministry of Defence, the Director-General, Civil Aviation, and the Ministry of Railways. There is, in addition, a local Technical Committee of officers of Hindustan Aircraft Limited and the Indian Air Force to co-ordinate the activities of the Company on technical matters. The decision as to what aircraft should be manufactured at Hindustan Aircraft Ltd., is primarily a question for the Defence Ministry which is at present examining the matter. As soon as a decision on this major issue is reached, orders will be placed on Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. as far as possible for their manufacture. It will be appreciated that, in the first instance, the Indian Air Force will be confined to foreign designs but steps have already been taken to set up a Design and Development Section at Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. with the object eventually of manufacturing aircraft for the Indian Air Force entirely to our own designs.

(e) No. A copy of the Balance Sheet of the Company for 1946-47 will be placed on the table of the House as soon as it has been approved by the Shareholders at their next Ordinary General Meeting.

The strength of the factory is as follows:

Indian—
Daily rated	.	2,341
Monthly rated	.	1,187
Officers and Executive	.	63
Female	.	11
		3,602	3,602
Non-Indian—
British	.	16
American	.	7
		23	23
			3,625

Since October 1947, three British pilots have been engaged on an hourly basis for RIAF Dakota delivery flights.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know, Sir, if this aircraft factory has got an up-to-date designing and drawing section?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We advertised for a chief designer. It was difficult to get a fully qualified Indian for this post, but we have selected two of the best Indians who are available in the country. We have also scrutinized applications and have provisionally selected a German technician. We are in contact with our advisers in Europe for the purpose of ascertaining whether this gentleman will be suitable for our purpose. As soon as the design office is completed, we will get on with our programme.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if it is proposed to have a Research Section also attached to it so that new designs to suit climatic conditions could be invented?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Certainly.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Is it the policy of the Government to encourage private enterprise in aircraft production or is it the policy of the Government to nationalize this vital key industry as early as possible?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It is now entirely under Government control. There is no other factory in India which is doing it.

Seth Govinddas: The Honourable Minister said that as far as the engine is concerned, it will be of foreign make. May I know, because that is the most important part of the machine, by what time Government expect that engines will also be made in this country?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Well, I believe that must be one of the industries which must be developed and which, given priority during the next one or two years.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: What will be the maximum capacity of the factory to produce aircraft?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I have just now stated that we are now producing about 50 of the specimens which have already been approved. Capacity will depend on further expansion.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Since the factory will also be constructing military aircraft, will it not be necessary to maintain some amount of secrecy with regard to the working of this factory, and if so, are Government satisfied that the foreigners working in the factory will maintain such secrecy?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We are taking proper steps in that direction.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: What kind of facilities are provided for the purpose of training Indians in this Aircraft Factory?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: As I stated just now, practically most of the officers are now Indians and whatever facilities are available are at the disposal of these Indians.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know what the arrangement is for future expansion?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Our scheme is that wherever necessary we shall have foreign technicians brought from outside, but we shall have an Indian under study attached to each one of them.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: No, Sir.

Shri K. Santhanam: If the factory is coming into operation in 1949 and if there is still delay in sending students for training, may I ask the Honourable Minister if it is not already late?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I agree that the persons to be sent for training might have been selected earlier. But now I am taking steps so that there may not be further delay.

Seth Govinddas: Is it not a fact that besides ammonium sulphate there are many other kinds of fertilizers according to the opinion of scientists which can be used in this country, and if so is the Government making any investigation in this respect?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That will also be taken up for consideration.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Is the best training in this line available only in the United Kingdom and the United States and not in any other country in the world?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I suppose the sort of training that we require will be available in U.S.A. and U.K. and we are arranging with the companies who are coming here in connection with the installation of the factory to give us this training.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask my Honourable friend whether final decisions have been taken regarding the process to be employed in the manufacture of ammonium sulphate and the particular type of machinery to be imported for this purpose?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I suppose what the Honourable Member is referring to is the question of availability of gypsum. The gypsum that we expected to be utilised for this purpose has now fallen within Pakistan. But we have made investigations and we are assured that gypsum for our purposes will be available from Rajputana and also from Trichinopoly. The total quantity of gypsum which is expected to be available will be near about 28,000,000 tons, which means about twenty years' requirements. Of course I am not in a position to say anything finally on this subject as I have referred the matter to experts for further investigation.

Regarding machinery some parts of it have already arrived and others are now on the way. A portion of the machinery, I believe, has already gone to Pakistan. But we have taken steps to see that the rest of the machinery comes straight to Bombay and not to Karachi.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that nitric acid is considered to be very valuable for fertilizer purposes also, and further that it was found to be of very great strategic value during the last war, will Government consider the advisability of investigating the possibility of starting a factory for this purpose?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Yes.

Shri O. V. Alagesan: Arising out of the answer, is there any proposal to start any factory near about Trichinopoly?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: One factory has been started in Travancore, and that is working both on sulphate as also on gypsum. Whether another factory can be started in South India or not has not been considered.

Dr. V. Subrahmanyam: May I know the amount of production of the Trivandrum factory?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: It is now producing about 50 tons per day.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: What will be the capacity of the factory at Sindri when it is fully equipped?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: 350,000 tons a year.

Shri Biswanath Das: Have the Government seen the statement of Mr. Kumarappa and also the writings of Mahatma Gandhi about the injurious effects of ammonium sulphate on the soil, and also certain writings of American scientists on this question before inaugurating such huge plans for the manufacture of ammonium?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: As the Honourable Member is aware, scientists and experts differ very much on that question, but the general trend of opinion is that this will be valuable for our agricultural purposes.

Shri Biswanath Das: May I also draw the attention of the Honourable Member to the fact that in mofussil agriculturists are unwilling to use ammonium sulphate for manuring paddy fields and all that they use is only for the purpose of sugar-cane?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That may be due to not educating public opinion properly, but that matter also may be examined by the Agriculture Ministry.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask if my Honourable friend will be able to get hold of the machinery which by mistake went to Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That is a question which is very difficult to answer today.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that their own expert Dr. Mookerjee, who is the biggest expert on soils in this country, has expressed himself in favour of utilising to the largest extent green manure but with a small mixture of ammonium sulphate?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Both may be mixed.

HINDUSTAN AIRCRAFT FACTORY

665. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the position in regard to the Hindustan Aircraft Factory and its future programme of development?

(b) When will the first aircraft manufactured in the factory be ready?

(c) Is it possible to have any programme of assembling aircraft in order to provide training and apprenticeship to Indian technicians and workers?

(d) Have Government worked out any scheme in consultation with the Ministry of Defence for the manufacture of military aircraft in the Hindustan Aircraft Factory?

(e) Do Government propose to issue a press note indicating the expenditure on this Factory as well as the number of officers and workers, Indian and non-Indian, employed therein?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) From 1st April 1946, Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. ceased to be under the sole control of the Government of India. It has now reverted to the position of a private limited company with the Governments of India and Mysore continuing as the only Shareholders. The Factory at present acts mainly as an overhaul, repair, assembly and conversion depot for Civil Airlines and Air Forges. It is also doing a certain amount of General Engineering work for the public as well as for Government. The future programme of Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. envisages the manufacture of aircraft in India, as recommended by the United Kingdom Aircraft Mission, who visited India in March 1946 to advise Government on this subject generally. Hindustan Aircraft Ltd. has taken up the production of Percival Prentice Trainers for the Royal Indian Air Force under an

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I think there is a great deal of difference, but I could not give the figures offhand now. There is a difference between the procurement price in Burma and the price at which the rice is sold to us.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: What is the difference of percentage in the profits?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I could not say that.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Are we still getting these supplies through Britain?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Yes.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: May I know the method followed by Government in getting its statistics of additional yield for the additional land put under cultivation from year to year?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We have not got any particular method for finding the additional yield from additional land. All the yield is estimated together as against the previous yield and the difference we take to be due to the extension in cultivation.

RECONSTITUTED FOOD POLICY COMMITTEE

667. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) who were the members of the recently re-constituted Food Policy Committee and on what representative basis they were chosen;

(b) why a representative of the Federation of Rural Peoples Organisations was not given a representation on the Committee;

(c) what steps were taken to give adequate representation to the All India Kisan Congress on that Committee;

(d) the purpose for which the recent food delegation to Australia was sent;

(e) who its members were and what their organisational capacity was; and

(f) why the Federation of Rural Peoples Organisations was not invited to send one of its representatives?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a), (b) and (c). The Members of the Foodgrains Policy Committee are the following: (1) Sir Purshotamdas Thakurdas, Chairman, (2) Seth Ghanshyam Das Birla, (3) Sir Shri Ram, (4) Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia, (5) Thakur Phool Singh (Member, Indian Constituent Assembly), (6) Shri Dip Narain Singh (Member, Indian Constituent Assembly), (7) Mr. Husain Imam (Member, Indian Constituent Assembly), (8) Mr. Lakshmidas Purshotam, (9) Dr. V. K. R. V. Rao (Professor of Economics, Delhi University), (10) Mr. R. L. Gupta (Director General of Food, Ministry of Food), (11) Mr. D. S. Bakhle (Civil Supplies Commissioner, Bombay), (12) Mr. S. Y. Krishnaswamy (Joint Secretary, Ministry of Agriculture), (13) Mr. D. R. Sethi (Agricultural Development Commissioner, Ministry of Agriculture), (14) Mr. D. N. Mehta (Agricultural Commissioner, Bombay), (15) Mr. R. A. Gopalaswami (Regional Food Commissioner, Madras).

The members of the Committee were chosen with reference primarily to their personal knowledge and experience of the food problem in different fields of agriculture, industry, commerce, administration and public life. As almost all individuals and organizations are vitally interested in the food policy of the country, it was not considered appropriate that any particular organization should be represented as such. A Press Note was however issued inviting the views of all individuals and organizations interested in the terms of reference of the Foodgrains Policy Committee. The memoranda received in response to this invitation have been given due consideration by the Committee.

(d) and (e). The Members of the Food Delegation to Australia are the following: (1) Sir Kaghunath Paranjpye, High Commissioner for India in Australia, (2) Mr. Vishnu Sahay, Secretary, Ministry of Food, (3) Mr. A. L. Saksena, an officer of the Finance Ministry, (4) Mr. Neville N. Wadia.

The Delegation has been sent to Australia in order to negotiate the purchase of wheat required by this country during 1948.

(f) Having regard to the purpose in view, it was not considered necessary that any particular organization should be represented as such on the Delegation.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Sir, in view of the fact that some well-known industrialists have come to be represented on these two bodies—the Committee and the Delegation—and also in view of the obvious conflict of interest that there is between the consumers interests and the producers' interests, will Government consider the advisability, at least for the future, of seeing to it that the relevant organisations representing the rural interests and the agricultural interests will be given due representation?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Certainly, due consideration will be given to any such suggestion when the time comes.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: How long is this Foodgrains Policy Committee going to function and what are its terms of reference?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The Committee had been asked to investigate two problems—one regarding the present distribution of food which covers the question of control and de-control, and second, how to increase production. The Committee has given its recommendations on the first part; it has not yet considered the second part.

PR FITEERING BY AUSTRALIA IN FOODGRAINS

668. Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the fact that when their Food Mission to Australia was being decided upon, the Australian Government chose to raise the level of prices of wheat to the highest extent so far achieved; and

(b) if so, whether Government propose to consider the advisability of appealing to the F. A. O. and Social and Economic Council against this international profiteering in foodgrains?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). Negotiations with the Government of Australia are being conducted at present. It would be improper to make any comment or to take action as suggested by the Honourable Member before the outcome of the negotiations is known.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that Government's own representatives to the Paris Conference of the F.A.O. had complained that there was international profiteering in foodgrains and had to appeal to the F.A.O. Member States that they should put a stop to this profiteering and see that foodgrains are supplied to countries like ours at cost price?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is a fact that prices have been charged which, from our point of view, are very high and cannot be considered to be proper. But that is not the case with all countries.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What is the attitude of the F.A.O.? Are they in any way helping us in securing foodgrains at more reasonable prices?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The I.E.F.C., which is a sort of branch of the F.A.O., does not concern itself with prices; it distributes the available surplus of foodgrains, and it is left to the parties to settle with the countries concerned the prices at which the grain would be available.

SUBSIDISING FOOD IMPORTS

666. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) the amount spent in each year upon subsidising food imports ever since these subsidies have been commenced and what is the share of each country, and on what items of foodgrains;

(b) how much is expected to be spent this year for this purpose;

(c) whether any active steps are being taken by Government to minimise the dependence on foreign imports of food supplies, and if so, the steps so far taken; and

(d) the recommendations of the recent Food Policy Committee in this regard?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The scheme of subsidising imported foodgrains supplied to deficit provinces was introduced from 1st April 1946 and the expenditure on this account during 1946-47 was estimated at Rs. 20.59 Crores. A statement showing the country-wise and grain-wise distribution of this amount is laid on the table of the House.

(b) The scheme of subsidy is sanctioned upto 31st December 1947 only, and the amount estimated to be spent during the period 1st April 1947 to 31st December 1947 is 17.35 Crores.

(c) and (d). Steps have been taken to increase the production of foodgrains in the country and to improve their procurement in the provinces and states in order to meet statutory commitment in regard to rationing. The recommendations of the Foodgrains Policy Committee have already been published and Government decision taken thereon will be announced on 10th.

STATEMENT

Subsidy on foodgrains imported from different countries during 1946-47 (1st April 1946—31st March 1947)

(All figures in lakhs of rupees)

1. Wheat
Turkey	55.83
Australia	29.86
Canada	181.72
U. S. A.	335.10
	643.52
2. Wheat Flour
Australia	6.66
U. S. A.	64.16
U. K.	5.59
	63.09
3. Rice
Brazil	83.68
Siam	6.12
Burma	287.68
	377.48
4. Maize
U. S. A.	80.61
Burma	16
Argentina	416.53
	497.30

5. Millets
Abyssinia	3.42
Egypt	63.17
Argentina	23.34
Iraq	6.98
Australia	1.85
	98.76
6. Barley
Iraq	110.61
Argentina	18.16
Australia	28.13
Egypt	12.87
Turkey	157.45
	327.22
7. Milo
U. S. A.	51.87
	TOTAL	2059.24

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: May I ask the Honourable Minister to give the figures for Burma?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad:

Burma-rice.

From 1st April 1947 to 10th October 1947 Rs. 1,95,96,000

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: May I know, Sir, if it is a fact that we have been exporting textiles to Burma, and whether Government have considered the desirability of introducing a system of barter between textiles and foodgrains in order to avoid the middleman's profit?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That has been under consideration.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is there any truth in the recent Press report that the Dutch have prevented the export of rice from Indonesia, and if so what steps have been taken?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: There was some paddy which had been collected for export to India, when these troubles arose there in Indonesia, and I understand that some of the paddy could not be exported to India. We have protested against that action.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What are the prospects, Sir, of increasing the exports from Burma of rice and paddy, and is that particular question also being mooted in these talks with the Burmese Delegation here?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The system that has been followed so far is that the entire surplus which Burma can export is placed at the disposal of the I.E.F.C. and the I.E.F.C. makes allocation to the various countries. We have been allocated some thing for the next year, that is for 1948, and this amount is going to be larger than what we have imported this year—we expect something between 6,00,000 and 7,00,000 tons in the next year from Burma.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What is the position in regard to Siam?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: From there we get a very much smaller quantity; the real source of rice supply is Burma.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: What was the purchase price paid by the Government of India for this Burma rice and what was the selling market rate in Burma?

PRODUCTION OF SUGARCANE AND SUGAR

669. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is the policy of Government to make every province self-sufficient in the production of sugarcane and sugar;

(b) how many new sugar mills have been started since the end of the war and in what provinces;

(c) what steps are being taken by Government to improve gur industry and also to extract gur out of toddy in those provinces where prohibition is in operation; and

(d) what is the latest position of India in regard to sugar and gur self-sufficiency?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) No; the policy of the Government is self-sufficiency for the dominion as a whole;

(b) One in Bihar;

(c) Steps to improve gur industry have been taken by the different Provincial Governments from time to time according to the nature of problems arising there. The improvements have been mainly confined to improving the process of manufacture with a view to better the quality and yield of gur and the efficiency and design of the furnaces.

As regards palm gur certain Provincial Governments also took steps to develop it. The Government of India have now taken up development of this industry and recently research work has been undertaken to investigate the possibility of using mechanical devices for tapping, better preservation of the juice and the fuel problem. A Palm Gur Development Advisor is being appointed who will tour provinces and advise on schemes for development of palm gur, such schemes being assisted from the Centre as Grow More Food Schemes.

(d) India's annual requirements (excluding Pakistan) are estimated at 12½ lac tons as against this year's production of 9,05,548 tons. The existing factories are capable of producing upto our requirements. The Government of India had appointed a Sugar Panel to consider the immediate post-war expansion of the sugar industry and after considering its report it was decided to set up 45 new sugar factories in the various provinces and States of India. The decision is being reviewed after the partition of the country.

The annual production of gur in India is about 35 lac tons. There is no accurate estimate as to the demand for gur in the country but no shortage has been experienced.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: How many of these proposed new factories are going to be started in Madras Province, and would Government be good enough to consider the advisability of appointing another Panel for the development of the Gur Industry?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Madras has been allotted six factories.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that the Honourable Minister has referred to the appointment of a previous Panel for the development of the Sugar Industry, may I suggest that they should appoint another Panel to suggest ways and means for the development of the Gur Industry?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That has not yet been considered, but it will be considered.

Seth Govinddas: May I enquire from the Honourable Minister if Government are aware that there is not a single sugar factory in C.P. and Berar, and under these circumstances, if any new factory is going to be started?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: One factory has been allotted to C.P. and Berar, out of the new factories which will be built.

Shri S. Ragappa: May I ask the Government whether, in view of the fact that in 16 districts of Madras prohibition has been introduced, there was a petition from the Madras Government asking for permission to open a new factory to produce palm sugar from toddy?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have said that steps are being taken to encourage production of gur or sugar from palm juice and the Government of India are just in the process of appointing an Advisor to assist in that enterprise.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Is the Government aware that there is not a single sugar mill in the province of Assam, and even then no machinery has been allotted to that Province?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As a matter of fact, two units have been allotted to Assam.

Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: Is Government aware that from sugar beet root, good sugar can be produced, and has Government taken any steps to increase the cultivation of sugar beet root in any of the Provinces?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I shall have to look into the matter. The Honourable Member may put a question.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Government have said that they are reviewing the position after partition. May I know by what time they would have finished their review and determined how many factories will be put up and where?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As a matter of fact, the factories have been allotted to the various Provinces and States. Some question may arise as to whether we require all the sugar that we produce when all these factories come into operation. That is being considered.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know how long it will take?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I do not think it will take very much time.

CONTROL OF KHANDSARI SUGAR AND GUR

670 *Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state what steps have been taken in each province to control the prices of Khandsari sugar and Gur?

(b) Have their prices been reduced?

(c) How do they compare with the price of sugar?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Khandsari sugar is mainly manufactured in U.P. Sugar has been decontrolled from today but the U.P. Government, with the concurrence of the Government of India, have decided to continue control over prices and movement of Khandsari sugar to cover existing stocks only. Gur also has been decontrolled.

(b) and (c). In view of answer to part (a), do not arise.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: The Honourable Minister says that the U.P. Government have decided to have control over the existing stocks. Is it on its price only?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: They have decided to have control over the existing stocks of Khandsari, price and movement both.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: How do they propose to control the price without controlling its distribution?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said, both price and movement are to be controlled.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: In other words, do I take it that the U. P. Government will control distribution also for some time more?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: In regard to existing stocks of Khandsari, yes.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: May I know what was the controlled price of sugar and what it is today?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The controlled price of mill-made sugar was Rs. 20-14-0 ex-factory. I cannot say what the price is today.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: Can the Honourable Minister say whether it has risen considerably and that it is Rs. 56 a maund in Delhi?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I cannot say.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: Have the Government de-controlled sugar in order to raise its price?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: No.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: Then, what is the reason for de-control?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The reason for de-controlling is one which will lead me into a discussion of the whole question. I shall do it on the 10th.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: The full policy of de-control?

Mr. Speaker: Yes, the full policy will be discussed, and this will be an incidental discussion in the motion upon de-control.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Have the Government seen in the Press that the U.P. Government have purchased all existing sugar stocks at Rs. 26 per maund from the sugar factories and have thus given an unearned profit of over Rs. 6 per maund? If so, do they propose to compel the millowners to allot part of this profit to the labourers and the growers?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: What I understand the U.P. Government have done is this: They are going to fix the wages of labour at Rs. 45 per month and they have also made arrangements with the millowners to purchase sugar cane at Rs. 2 per maund, and on that basis they have fixed the sugar price.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Has the attention of the Honourable Minister been drawn to the recent statement issued by the Sugar Syndicate in which they have fixed the price of sugar at Rs. 35?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The Honourable Member may not know that we have also issued an order today freezing all the stocks of sugar with the mills.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Will the Honourable the Minister please state why the prices claimed by the Sugar Syndicate will not be enforced and why Government has stood in the way?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We have frozen the stock for the present but an opportunity will be taken to consider the whole thing.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: May I know if the freezing order means that sugar will be sold at the existing rate or it shall be sold at the rate which has been fixed by the Sugar Syndicate?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have stated, the Freezing Order has been passed with a view to enabling the Government to take steps as it considers necessary in order to make sugar available at reasonable prices.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: The Honourable the Minister has said about the charges of the price of sugar-cane during the new crushing season. Will he consider giving some of the new profit made on the existing stock of sugar manufactured last season to the growers of sugar-cane who supplied last year?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That is really a matter for the Provincial Government.

INCREASED SUGAR PRODUCTION

671. *Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state how far the scheme of Government for increasing the production of sugar by 8½ lakhs of tons has been carried out?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: To increase sugar production in the country the Government of India had after considering the recommendations of the Sugar Panel decided to allow the erection of 45 new sugar factories in certain provinces and states and to permit the existing factories to expand their capacity in certain circumstances and within prescribed limits. Licences for the import of machinery for 13 new units have already been issued. Some existing sugar factories have also been granted licences for the import of machinery for extensions. The Government of Assam, Bihar, United Provinces, East Punjab and West Bengal have not yet selected sites and promoters for the units allotted to them. The Government of Bombay have decided not to put up any new factories as long as the present shortage of foodgrains continues. The original plan for the development of the sugar industry will have to be revised in view of the circumstances created by the partition of the country.

PROCUREMENT BONUSES TO AGRICULTURISTS.

672. *Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state what are the provinces in which procurement bonuses were paid during the current year, to persuade the agriculturists to part with their produce?

(b) What was the amount of bonus paid in each of these provinces?

(c) Did the Government of India approve the payment of bonuses?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Madras, Assam and Bengal.

(b) Madras Re. 1 per maund of paddy. Re. 0-8-0 per maund of millets.

Assam Re. 1 per maund of winter paddy. Re. 0-8-0 per maund of Aus paddy.

Bengal Re. 1 per maund of paddy.

(c) As regards Assam and Bengal, the reply is in the affirmative. So far as Madras is concerned, the question is still pending.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: May I know, Sir, whether any procurement bonuses are given in Bihar?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: No.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I ask the Honourable the Minister when the dispute between the Madras Government and the Central Government is going to be settled?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The matter is under consideration; it will be settled in due course.

Shri Robini Kumar Chaudhuri: May I know why was it considered necessary to offer bonuses for procurement of paddy and also what safeguards are taken for preventing the agriculturist from exhausting his own stock by the temptation of getting these bonuses?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The paddy was needed for deficit areas, and therefore procurement had to be made and these bonuses were given as an inducement to the cultivators to part with their paddy.

Shri Biswanath Das: In view of the fact that in certain Provinces this bonus has not been given, would the Central Government be pleased to consider the question whether or not it is fair that such of those Provinces who have not been given these bonuses should be reimbursed with something, so that the agriculturist may get equal benefit throughout India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It will be difficult to give retrospective bonus now; but when the demand was made, we conceded that and allowed the procurement on that basis.

Shri S. Nagappa: As regards Madras, may I know, Sir, what is the dispute due to?

Mr. Speaker: Questions on that dispute cannot be put in this House.

Shri Biswanath Das: May I know, Sir, whether the Government of Orissa have or have not protested against this policy and have also requested the Government of India to imburse the agriculturists with the loss that they incurred by this process.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The Government of Orissa have asked for an increase in the price of rice which was procured in that Province.

Shri Mihir Lal Chatteropadhyaya: May I know whether the Provincial Government or the Central Government determines the procurement price of rice and paddy?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It is done by the Provincial Government, but in consultation with the Central Government and with the sanction of the Central Government.

Shri Mihir Lal Chatteropadhyaya: May I know whether the procurement price of paddy is the same for Bengal and Bihar?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Bengal has been given this One Rupee bonus. Bihar has not been given any bonus.

Shri Mihir Lal Chatteropadhyaya: Leaving aside the question of bonus, is the price of paddy the same in Bengal as it is in Bihar?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I cannot say that.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I know whether the system of giving bonuses does not put a premium upon the unwilling provinces as against those who are willing to help the Government?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It may amount to that, but we were helpless when we found that the situation was very serious and we had to get the rice at any price and in any way we could.

Shri M. S. Aney: Assuming that the Government was helpless at that time, is it not possible for the Government to be equitable and fair to the provinces which were willing to help after the emergency is over.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I do not know if it is possible.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I know if the Honourable the Minister is aware that in Madras the Provincial Government till now has not paid even a pie of the so-called bonus to the producers because of the dispute not being settled between the Central and the Provincial Government.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I am not aware of that; if it is so, we shall look into it.

673*. [Postponed to 11th December, 1947.]

POTATO SEED FOR WEST BENGAL

674. Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that West Bengal requires over three lakhs of potato-seed per year;

(c) whether it is a fact that Government of West Bengal was allotted fifty only three wagons per day were allotted; November, which again were reduced to only two per day for potato from Simla,

(d) whether Government are aware that, in view of this, only a quantity of seed allotted to West Bengal from Simla can be despatched;

(e) whether it is a fact that during the year 1946, Bengal was allotted two lakhs and sixteen thousand maunds of potato-seed from Simla and the number of Wagons allotted varied from six to ten per day and on a particular day as many as twenty wagons were given; and

(f) whether Government are aware that, in view of the short supply of seed-potato this year, potato cultivation will suffer in West Bengal causing loss to the potato growers of West Bengal to the extent of Rupees five crores?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes. This is in addition to about 6 lakh maunds of seed potatoes stocked by the growers every year from the previous year's harvest.

(b) 50,000 maunds of seed potato from Simla as originally required by the West Bengal Government were allotted to them. This quota has been subsequently increased to 1 lakh maunds at the request of the Provincial Government by converting their quota of table potatoes to that of seed potatoes.

(c) The East Punjab Railway made available only 15 wagons per day for the transport of seed potatoes from Simla to various provinces including West Bengal. Allotment to the Recipient areas was made on pro-rata basis according to which West Bengal got 3 wagons a day. This quota was reduced to 2 wagons per day only for 4 days and has been restored after 23rd November 1947.

(d) The West Bengal Government have since reported that larger quantities of seed potatoes are arriving in Calcutta from Simla.

(e) In 1946, the Central Government recommended an allotment of 1,50,000 maunds only to United Bengal. This was subsequently increased to 2,16,000 maunds, by the provincial authorities as last year the estimated surplus of Simla potatoes was 7 lakh maunds as against 4,20,000 maunds this year. Number of wagons daily made available to Bengal last year is not known.

(f) According to the Government of West Bengal, the estimated loss resulting from the slow movement of seeds from Simla is expected to be Rs. 1½ crore. This will be further reduced if the remaining supplies from Simla arrive in Bengal within a week. The Central Government have moved the Government of East Punjab in the matter.

Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: May I ask the Honourable the Minister whether his attention has been drawn to a Press note of the West Bengal Government dated the 27th November regarding the supply of seeds?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have not seen the Press Note.

Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: May I know if it is a fact that the West Bengal Government wanted exchange permits to import seed potatoes from Burma worth Rs. 20 lakhs.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I think we have granted permit for importing 50,000 maunds of seed potatoes from Burma.

Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: The West Bengal Government asked for a permit to import seeds worth Rs. 20 lakhs but they were given exchange permit for seeds worth Rs. five lakhs only.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: 50,000 maunds was the quantity asked for by the Provincial Government. In addition they wanted 1 lakh maunds of table potato from Simla. 50,000 maunds of table potato from Simla were allotted to them, but this was later converted to seed potato at the request of the Provincial Government.

Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: I wanted to know, Sir, whether the West Bengal Government wanted exchange permits for 20 lakhs rupees worth of seed potatoes from Burma?

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member is repeating the same question. He has replied to it, I think.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is it a fact that notwithstanding the very sympathetic attitude taken by the Honourable Minister for Agriculture and the Honourable Minister for Transport with regard to the supply of seed potatoes to West Bengal, actually no seed potatoes have yet arrived in Bengal?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I think seed potatoes are arriving now, and whatever is expected will reach there within the next fortnight or so.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is the Honourable Minister aware that in the last 15 days the Bengal Government have not received one single wagon though it has been transported from Kalka,—I do not know through whose fault?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: There has been a complaint from the Bengal Government with regard to the delivery of seed potatoes, and I have had a meeting with the Finance Minister of the West Bengal Government and special arrangements are being made for the necessary transport facilities. As a matter of fact there are two issues involved in it. The allocation of seed potatoes from Simla is a matter that rests with the Deputy Commissioner of Simla. We are only concerned with the question of providing the transport facilities. The necessary arrangements are being made and I expect that within the next fortnight the deliveries will be completed.

Shri K. Santhanam: Is it the Food Department or the East Punjab Government that is responsible for allocating seed potatoes to the various provinces?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The surplus is to be declared by the Provincial Government and then the Central Government make the allocations.

Shri K. Santhanam: Is the Food Minister aware that there are complaints about the priority in which these seed potatoes are allocated to the various provinces by the Deputy Commissioner of Simla?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have not received any complaints from the Honourable Member's province.

Shri S. V. Krishnamurthy Rao: Has it come to the notice of Government that the allotment of wagons is done in such a way that it takes months to reach distant provinces like Mysore and Madras?

Mr. Speaker: That is a different question and perhaps does not arise out of this.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: It does not arise out of this, but the allocation of wagons until a week ago has been on the basis of providing a fair proportion of the transport capacity available between the different provinces. But the position in Bengal now is particularly acute because the sowing season is likely to be over in about a fortnight and therefore we are endeavouring to make special arrangements for that province.

DECONTROL OF FOODSTUFFS

675. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government propose to consider the immediate removal of control over the prices, supply and distribution of Foodstuffs; and

(b) if the answer to part (a) above be in the negative, what are the difficulties in the way of immediate removal of control and how long Government propose to retain the control?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). The Government of India have taken decisions on the revision of their food policy which have been communicated to the Governments of Provinces and States. A statement in this connection will be made by me on the floor of the House on the 10th instant.

GROW MORE FOOD AND FODDER CAMPAIGN

676. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state how much the Government of India have spent on the Grow More Food and Fodder Campaign up till now?

(b) What is the total acreage of land brought under cultivation and the total amount of wheat, paddy and other cereals produced as a result of the above-mentioned campaign?

(c) What steps Government propose to take to make the campaign a success?

(d) What is the average production of paddy, wheat and other cereals per acre in the different provinces of the Indian Union?

(e) What immediate steps Government propose to take for the development of Agriculture?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). The Honourable Member may please refer the reply to Question No. 132 on 20th November, 1947, given in this House.

(c) and (e). Five-year targets of food production have been drawn up for each Province and it is proposed to give financial and technical assistance to Provincial Governments for achieving these targets. For details of targets fixed for each Province, reference is invited to reply to Question No. 199 on 20th November 1947.

(d) A statement giving the required information is placed on the table.

(IN LBS.)

Provinces	Rice (cleaned)		Wheat		Jowar		Bajra		Maize		Ragi		Barley		Gram
	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946	Normal 1945-1936-37	1946 to 1938-39	1938-39	to 1938-39	1938-39	to 1938-39	1938-39	to 1938-39	1938-39	to 1938-39	1938-39	to 1938-39	1938-39	to 1938-39	1938-39	to 1938-39	1938-39
Ajmer-Merwara	...	...	659	581	86	61	90	56	448	206	...	...	672	922	264	336
Assam (excluding Sylhet)	754	911	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
West Bengal	895	808	560	498	560	747	747	...	723	747	...	...	747	517	589	506
Bihar	706	565	846	607	568	560	818	626	607	559	683	579	761	675	722	606
Bombay	905	923	391	324	359	198	269	211	747	337	650	710	700	373	320	240
C. P. & Berar	659	604	441	364	508	445	519	411	1,186	538	...	...	420	395	399	393
Coorg	1,449	1,674	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	...
Delhi	...	...	823	527	124	498	366	489	1,120	747	...	...	800	640	682	647
Madras	1,031	861	...	...	561	397	560	344	964	573	1,047	771	...	...	434	354
Orissa	673	564	560	640	574	472	448	448	560	541	537	500	...	...	747	747
East Punjab	616	515	818	719	161	221	124	294	754	777	...	...	530	449	435	395
United Provinces	627	583	747	641	436	496	362	432	702	851	...	...	772	747	637	546

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Does not the Honourable Minister think that unless more comprehensive measures are taken to improve agriculture we shall not be able to meet our demands, because it involves planning on a large scale? Are any such plans in contemplation?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That is just what is being done.

DIVERSION OF PETROL WAGONS TO PAKISTAN

†677. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that, as reported in the Press, some wagons of petrol belonging to the Indian Union were diverted to Pakistan by some persons;

(b) if so, whether Government have made an enquiry into this matter; and

(c) whether the culprits have been found out and duly punished?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The Government have no such information.

(b) and (c). Do not arise.

PRODUCTION OF POTATOES

678. *Shri K. O. Gajapati Narayan Deo: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the growing demand in rural areas all over India for potatoes as a food crop and whether there is inadequate supply of seeds at present for the producers?

(b) What arrangements Government propose to make to meet this growing demand?

(c) Has any soil survey been made both on the hills and plains and any publicity given to increase the production of this important food crop as an asset to the producers?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The answer to both parts of the question is in the affirmative.

(b) Government propose to meet the growing demand, (i) by assisting in the movement of seed potato from Simla to the plains, (ii) by allowing imports of a larger quantity from Burma, and (iii) by encouraging the provision of cold storage facilities in the growing areas.

(c) No Soil survey has yet been made but increasing the production of potato and other vegetables has been encouraged as a part of the Grow More Food Campaign. The question of undertaking the Soil Survey and other measures necessary for the development of potato cultivation will be taken up by the Central Potato Research Institute which is shortly to be established.

Shri K. O. Gajapati Narayan Deo: Are Government aware that the supply of seed potatoes to Vizagapatam and Ganjam is very short?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I cannot say about any particular district whether the supply is short or not.

Shri K. O. Gajapati Narayan Deo: May I know what arrangements are being made by the railway authorities to supply seed potatoes from Ootacamund to Vizagapatam district?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: I shall require notice of that question.

Shri Biswanath Das: Have Government heard the complaint that these seeds are supplied generally to the agriculturists some time after the growing season? If so, what steps have they taken to rectify it?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We try our best to move the seeds to the areas in time for being sown.

†Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

Shri K. C. Gajapati Narayan Deo: Do Government propose to popularise the results of soil survey by publication in handbills in popular vernaculars in different provinces?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: When the survey has been made we would certainly like to popularise it.

Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai: Are Government aware that quantities of seed potatoes that were set aside this year for the various provinces by the Madras Government have not been taken advantage of and are therefore used for edible purposes? Will Government now communicate with the Government of Madras for the seed supply from the present crop?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: All that we can do is to supply the seed; it is for the Provincial Government to make the best use of it and not to allow it to be used for food.

Shri S. V. Krishnamurthy Rao: Has it come to the notice of Government that the importers of seed potatoes from Burma are finding it very difficult to get import licences here in Delhi?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I should like to have information about that; I will look into it if there is any complaint.

Shri K. C. Gajapati Narayan Deo: Who controls the transport from Mettupalayam to other parts of the Madras Presidency?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The Regional Controller of Railway Priorities in Madras.

SUPPLY OF AMMONIUM PHOSPHATE

679. Shri K. C. Gajapati Narayan Deo: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government are aware that Amaphos (Ammonium Phosphate) is an effective and useful substitute for green manure to encourage plant growth?

(b) Are Government aware of its great demand for sugarcane and paddy?

(c) Are Government aware that its supply is most inadequate today throughout India?

(d) What machinery is being set up to supply the public with this chemical manure?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Ammonium Phosphate is a chemical fertiliser whereas Green manure is an organic manure. The Government are, however, aware that Ammonium Phosphate is a very useful fertiliser for crop production in India.

(b) Yes.

(c) Yes.

(d) At present the only source of supply is through imports from abroad. Since this fertiliser is in very short supply due to increase world demand, we are only able to obtain whatever is allotted to us by the International Emergency Food Council and supply the provinces and states pro rata to their requirements.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that experiments made at the Pusa Institute prove that ammonium phosphate is no substitute for green manure but that green manure when mixed with a small quantity of ammonium phosphate yields much better results?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As far as I know it is a fact, that the result of experiments at the Pusa Institute shows that green manure mixed with phosphate gives better results.

PRODUCTION OF VIRGINIA TOBACCO

680. Shri K. C. Gajapati Narayan Deo: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government are aware that virginia tobacco is the most remunerative crop in India?

(b) Has any soil survey been conducted throughout India and publicity given to increase the area under Virginia Tobacco?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) No such comparative study of the cost of production of various crops and the prices obtained for each by the grower has been carried out for the whole country.

(b) No.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are Government aware that recently there has been a slump in the prices for tobacco? If so, will Government consider the desirability of asking tobacco growers not to place so much of their land under tobacco?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That question hardly arises out of this.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Are Government aware that the progressive cultivation of Virginia Tobacco in the Madras Presidency has deprived the country of the food products which were usually grown there and has led to marked scarcity of foodgrains?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I understand, there is a great deal of land in the Guntur District particularly which is being used for tobacco cultivation. It will certainly have some effect on the food production.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Will Government be pleased to consider the advisability of restricting the land possessed by a particular holder to a certain portion only in respect of tobacco as against food crops?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: That is a matter for the Provincial Government.

(b) WRITTEN ANSWERS

IMPORT OF TOBACCO

681. Shri K. C. Gajapati Narayan Deo: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether any statistics are being maintained of the quantity of tobacco that is being imported into this country from abroad to feed the cigarette factories in India;

(b) whether the figures under import are increasing or decreasing;

(c) whether the quality of tobacco grown in India both indigenous and Virginia is up to the standard necessary for manufacture of good cigars and cigarettes; and

(d) if the answer to part (c) above be in the negative, what measures are Government taking to improve the quality of Indian tobacco as a measure of economic help to the Indian producer?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) Imports during recent years have increased as compared with the pre-war triennium ending 1939-40.

(c) No.

(d) The Indian Central Tobacco Committee is enlarging the scope of work at the Tobacco Sub-Station at Guntur by converting it into an Experimental Research Station and is setting up a Central Tobacco Research Station at Rajahmundry for studying all fundamental problems relating to tobacco.

MEAT RATIONING IN INDIA.

The Committee has also taken up the question of cultivating the right types of tobacco required for the manufacture of cigars and is establishing an Experimental Station for research work devoted to this type of tobacco.

682. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state whether Government are aware that in Bombay city alone, in the year 1946-47, the total amount of meat consumed was about 15,000 tons?

(b) Are Government aware that meat is not rationed in this country?

(c) Are Government aware that those who eat meat also draw full rations in cereals and other foodgrains?

(d) In view of the utter scarcity of food in this country, do Government propose to ration meat as in England?

(e) Are Government aware that the Foodgrains Policy Committee has recommended the adoption of the 'Point System' or the Slip System whereby the bringing of meat and fish under ration can be facilitated?

(f) Do Government propose to accept the above recommendation of the Food and Grains Policy Committee so that the quantity of meat or fish may be set off against equally nutritive quantities of cereals or grains?

(g) Are Government aware that the nutritive value of meat and fish is equal to or even more than cereals quantity by quantity?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). The replies are in the affirmative.

(c) Meat-eaters are not prevented from drawing full rations of cereals and other foodgrains as others but it is not known whether they actually do so.

(d) No. Because rationing of meat is impracticable as it will present insuperable administrative difficulties and is not worth the trouble and expense involved.

(e) No. The Foodgrains Policy Committee commended to Provinces for examination the suggestion that arrangements be instituted with a view to ensuring that some part of his cereal ration is surrendered by a consumer who buys meat in proportion to the quantity of meat purchased by him. The Provinces are not in favour of the proposal.

(f) No.

(g) Meat and fish have more protein values but less energy values than cereals.

FRUIT PRODUCTS CONTROL ORDER, 1946.

683. *Kunwar Shamsher Jang: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the fact that none of the provisions contained in the Fruit Products Control Order, 1946, promulgated under the Defence of India Rules have been strictly enforced by the officers concerned and whether Government have received any reports on the working of this Control Order?

(b) If so, what action have Government taken to remedy the evil?

(c) If not, do Government propose to investigate the matter?

(d) Are Government aware that a large number of so called Fruit Preserving Factories in India are not upto the standard required by the said Control Order and are incapable of any improvement?

(e) Is it a fact that some factories were reported unfit but they are still manufacturing Fruit products and are marketing them under Government Licences?

(f) Is it a fact that no Doctor or Hygiene Expert has been appointed to look after the hygienic conditions of these factories?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a), (b) and (c). Reports reaching this Ministry indicate that the promulgation and enforcement of the Fruit Products Control Order, 1946, have effected considerable improvement in the industry. In view of the genuine difficulties felt by manufacturers in complying strictly at once with all the provisions of the Order, Government did not enforce it strictly at the beginning. Since May last, after due warning to the industry, the provisions are being strictly enforced.

(d) and (e). As stated already Government recognise the difficulties of manufacturers and so while issuing licences granted them time to effect the necessary improvements. Factories incapable of improvement are being gradually weeded out.

(f) Yes.

CENTRAL INSTITUTE OF FRUIT TECHNOLOGY IN DELHI

684. *Kunwar Shamsher Jang: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture please state:

(a) whether it is a fact that Government propose to set up a Central Institute of Fruit Technology in Delhi for the purpose of carrying out experiments in the preservation of fruits grown all over the country?

(b) If so, what are the reasons for selecting Delhi for this purpose specially when it is not a fruit growing area?

(c) Has the attention of Government been drawn to the fact that fruits grown in various areas of the country cannot be transported to Delhi, without deterioration for research purposes due to non-availability of refrigerated transport in this country?

(d) Are Government aware that the development of the fruit preservation industry can be achieved better and more efficiently by having a number of regional research stations in the principal fruit growing areas rather than by having a central Institute at Delhi?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). The Institute of Fruit Technology proposed to be set up at Delhi is meant to carry out research on the preservation and nutritive problems of fruits and vegetables, to impart training on the subject to students coming from all over India, to give advice to prospective manufacturers of fruit products and to co-ordinate the work of similar institutes located in other parts of the country. It will consist of a research laboratory and also function as a teaching institute. Delhi has been selected as a suitable location in view of the other allied research institutes already located at Delhi.

(c) Apart from the main objectives of the Institute, Government are satisfied that the fruit-growing areas close to Delhi justify the proposed location of the Institute.

(d) Government are satisfied that, in the present stage of development of the Fruit Preservation Industry, the setting up of a Central Research Institute of this type is necessary and economical. The setting up of regional research stations in the fruit growing areas which will also help in the development of the Fruit Preservation Industry is also under consideration.

DELAYED DELIVERY OF LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS

685. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) the reasons for the delay in the delivery of all sorts of letters and telegrams; and

(b) the steps Government have so far taken to remedy the general complaint?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmed Kidwai: The attention of the Honourable Member is drawn to the reply given to starred question No. 156 by Shri Gopal Narain on the 20th November 1947.

INCREASED JUTE PRODUCTION IN INDIA

686. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) the approximate quantity of jute required for the use of the Indian Union;

(b) the quantity of Jute grown in the Indian Union; and

(c) the measures which Government propose to take to increase the production of Jute in India?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The quantity of jute required annually for the use of the Indian Union is 64 lakh bales of 400 lbs. each, composed of 62½ lakh bales for mill consumption and 1½ lakh bales for domestic consumption in villages.

(b) The annual production varies from year to year. The average production during the years 1936-37 to 1940-41 was 20.2 lakh bales and that during 1941-42 to 1945-46 was 14.3 lakh bales. The Bengal Jute Regulation Act came into force in 1940. The estimate for the 1947-48 crop is 17 lakh bales.

(c) The Government of India have asked the Indian Central Jute Committee to submit proposals for intensive research both into the agricultural and technological problems of the jute industry and they have been asked to submit concrete proposals for increasing the production of jute, without encroaching upon the area under food crops, in the Indian Dominion. This subject will be considered at the meeting of the Committee to be held from the 10th to the 13th December, 1947, and suitable action will be taken on receipt of their proposals.

CATTLE FOR AGRICULTURAL PURPOSES.

687. *Shri Ram Sahai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state what has been the average increase in the census figures during the last 50 years and what has been the average fall, in the number of cattle, cows and bullocks, that can be used for agricultural purposes?

(b) Have Government any schemes under consideration, by which agriculturists can conveniently procure oxen at cheap rates?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what are those schemes?

(d) What schemes have Government under consideration for the protection of cattle that can be used for agricultural purposes?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The average annual increase in the human and cattle census figures relating to pre-partition Indian Provinces between 1915 and 1945 for which only comparable figures are available was 2.6 millions and 17 thousands respectively. During the 10 years ending 1945 the average annual increase in the human population was 3.9 millions while the cattle population declined by 350 thousands per year. The average annual fall in the number of cows and bullocks that can be used for agricultural purposes during the ten years ending 1945 was 20,000.

(b) No.

(c) Does it primarily the concern of Provincial Governments. The Government of India have however sanctioned grants for two schemes of the Bombay Government for the immunization of cattle against diseases. A proposal to appoint a technical officer and a Standing Rinderpest Committee to consider the ways and means of eradication of rinderpest in India is also under consideration. Besides this the slaughter of male cattle between 3 to 10 years of age which are used or likely to be used as work cattle is prohibited in some of the Provinces and export of cattle outside India is also prohibited. Government of India have recently set up a Committee to advise Government on other measures necessary for conserving and improving the Cattle Wealth of the country.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF COTTAGE INDUSTRY

688. *Shri Ram Sahai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the names of cottage industries to be encouraged by Government?

(b) What schemes have been given effect to and at what places?

(c) What schemes have not yet been given effect to and how long will it take to give effect to them?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Development of cottage industries is primarily the responsibility of the Provincial Governments. The subject has, however, been included in the agenda of the forthcoming Industries Conference with a view to discussing what assistance, if any, should be given by the Central Government.

(b) and (c). Do not arise.

EXTENSION OF MYSORE RAILWAY

689. *Shri S. V. Krishnamoorthy Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Government of Mysore have been pressing on the Government of India the necessity of linking up Erode on the South India Railway with Chamarajnagar on the Mysore Railways, so as to give a direct metre gauge connection to the South and also Chitaldrug Rayadurg;

(b) whether the Government of Mysore have sought permission to extend the Mysore Railway from Chamarajnagar to Sateyamanjalum;

(c) whether any steps are taken to survey the line and if so, by whom; and

(d) when the actual construction of the line is likely to be taken up?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The Government of Mysore have been keen on providing a metre gauge connection between their System and the S. I. Railway system. The proposal of linking Chamarajnagar with Erode was, however, abandoned in 1928 when the Erode-Trichinopoly Chord Line was converted from Metre Gauge to Broad Gauge.

No proposal for linking Chitaldrug on the Mysore State Railway with Rayadurg on the M. and S. M. Railway appears to have been received.

(b) The Mysore Government have sought for inclusion of the Railway project from Chamarajnagar to Mettupalayam via Satyamangalam in the Government of India's Post-war plan, for allotting it a high priority, and for having necessary surveys undertaken.

1452

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [8TH DEC. 1947]

(c) An aerial survey has recently been carried out by the Survey of India at the cost of the Mysore State. Traffic and Engineering, has been sent estimate for the land survey, both Government for acceptance. Since the project lies L. Railway to the Mysore of the S. I. Railway, the survey will be carried out by where of influence Administration in consultation with the M. and S. M. Railway and Railway Railways. A Traffic Officer of the Mysore State Railway will be associated with the fresh Traffic Survey.

(d) It is not possible to say at this stage when the actual construction will be taken up.

IMPORT OF ARECA

690. *Shri S. V. Krishnamoorthy Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) the quantity of areca that has been imported into India from Singapore and Eastern Pakistan during the current year;

(b) whether the price of areca has fallen on account of the imports;

(c) what restrictions are proposed to be imposed to check the imports;

(d) whether it is a fact that the areca growers in India have made several representations for the removal of excise duty on areca; and

(e) the amount of duty collected during the years 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The question has been transferred to the List of questions for the 12th December 1947, when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister for Commerce.

FRUIT DISEASE IN ARECA NUT

691. *Shri S. V. Krishnamoorthy Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether any research has been carried out into the causes and prevention of fruit disease in areca nut;

(b) if so, with what result; and

(c) how many research Institutes are working and where?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Research on causes and prevention of diseases of areca nut was conducted from time to time. Early in this century investigations were conducted by Dr. Butler in the then Imperial Agricultural Research Institute at Pusa. The Bombay Government also carried out some investigations and the Mysore State maintained an experimental farm where some diseases were studied. Much, however, still remains to be done.

(b) The investigations so far conducted have reached only tentative conclusions which remain to be confirmed.

(c) There is no research institute at present engaged in work on diseases of areca nut. The Indian Council of Agricultural Research is now setting up an Areca nut Committee which among other matters will also conduct systematic research in the pests and diseases and their cure.

INCREASE IN BASIC RATION OF RICE IN MYSORE ETC.

692. *Shri S. V. Krishnamoorthy Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that the basic ration of food in Mysore, Cochin, Travancore and Pudukottai is only 8 oz. while in all other provinces and States it is 10 oz;

(b) whether Government are aware that in all these areas rice is the staple food;

(c) whether any steps have been taken to increase the quota of rice allotted to the said States so that the basic ration may be raised to at least 10 oz; and

(d) if so, what are the quantities of rice and wheat allotted for the months of November and December 1947, to these States?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes, except that in a few other States also, the basic ration is below 10 oz.

(b) Yes.

(c) The maximum possible quotas are being allotted to the States in question.

(d) The allotments for November and December are:

	November			December
	Rice	Wheat	Millet	Rice	Wheat	Millet
Mysore	6,750	5,000	15,200	5,000	2,000	13,000
Cochin	3,000	3,200	..	5,000	2,000	3,000
Travancore	13,500	14,000	..	12,000	4,000	8,000
Pudukottai	720	..	80	720	..	80

TIN PLATE FACTORIES

693. *Shri Ramnarayan Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) the number of tinplate factories in the country;

(b) the principles followed in allotment of quotas to them; and

(c) Government's policy as to whether they encourage or discourage any further increase in the number of factories?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) One, Sir.

(b) I presume the Honourable Member is referring to allotment of raw materials. The full quantity of tinbars produced in the country and a considerable proportion of tin available in India is allotted to the Company.

(c) There will ultimately be scope for further expansion of the Tinplate Industry. Government is unable to encourage extensions to the existing factory or an increase in its number until steel supplies are sufficient to meet the needs of the existing plant.

AMRAOTI-BADNERA MOTOR SERVICE

694. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the condition on which the present Amraoti-Badnera motor service was started?

(b) Are Government aware that the Motor fare is Re. -/3/6 per passenger while the railway fare is only Re. -/2/-?

(c) Do Government propose to reduce the motor fare to Re. -/2/- per passenger only?

(d) When does the present agreement with the motor service company expire?

(e) Do Government propose to nationalize this Amraoti-Badnera motor service when motor services are nationalized by the Provincial Government? If not, why not?

(c) whether any biscuit companies have been refused supply of flour this year because of their being of comparatively shorter standing and if so, what their names are; and

(d) if the answer to part (c) above be in the affirmative, how Government propose to keep such biscuit companies working?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad. (a) A statement is placed at the table of the House

(b) No.

(c) and (d). In view of reply to part (b) the question does not arise.

Statement showing the allotment of Flour to Biscuit Factories during 1947

Name of Biscuit Factories	(In tons) Quality Allotted
	From Patiala	From Imports
1. M/s. Delhi Biscuits Co., Ltd., Delhi . . .	18	14
2. „ Modi Supplies Corpn., Ltd., Begumabad . . .	135	48
3. „ Parle Products Mfg., Co., Bombay—2. . .	55	40
4. „ Sathe Biscuit Co., 820, Bhawani Peth Poona—2. . .	71	52
5. „ Britannia Biscuit Co., Ltd., Reay Road East, Mazagon, Bombay. . .	95	141
6. „ Britannia Biscuit Co., Calcutta . . .	..	194
7. „ Lily Biscuit Co., Calcutta . . .	82	59
8. „ Shama Biscuit Co., Calcutta . . .	27	21
9. „ Patiala Biscuit Mfg. Co., Rajpura Patiala . . .	17	..
TOTAL . . .	500	569

N.B.—A further quantity of 659 tons wheat flour is being allotted during December 1947 of the All India Biscuit Manufacturers Association for allocation to its member factories.

FLUCTUATION IN Supari PRICES.

699. *Shri S. V. Krishnamoorthy Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that the price of round supari has fallen by 25 per cent. during the past few weeks and that it is still going down;

(b) whether Government are aware that the fall in price is due to the smuggling of supari from Eastern Pakistan area not only of Eastern Pakistan supari but also of supari imported from Singapore through Pakistan ports to avoid import restrictions;

(c) whether representations have been received by the Government of India from the Karnataka and Mysore Areca growers' Association in this connection; and

(d) what action Government propose to take to check the fall in the price of areca and to restore its original price?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee. The question has been transferred to the List of questions for the 12th December, 1947, when it will be answered by the Honourable Minister for Commerce.

NEW RAILWAY LINES IN BIHAR.

700. *Shri Ramnarayan Singh: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the stage at which the newly proposed railway lines in the province of Bihar, particularly in the Chotta Nagpur Division, stand to-day?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: A statement is placed on the table containing a list of 9 projects under investigation which lie wholly or partially in the Province of Bihar.

Of these, the first 6 projects lie wholly or partly in the Chota Nagpur Division. Construction has been sanctioned of the first 40 miles of the Barwadih-Chirimiri Project. The remaining projects are still under investigation.

Statement

- (i) Tori-Birmitrapur.
- (ii) Gaya-Ranchi.
- (iii) Barkagaon-Hazaribagh-Giridih.
- (iv) Barwadih-Chirimiri.
- (v) Barwadih-Manikpur.
- (vi) Conversion of Purulia-Lohardaga from N. G. to B. G.
- (vii) Sitamarhi-Sonbarsa.
- (viii) Chakia-Alwalia-Sidhwalia.
- (ix) Marliganj-Duram-Madhepura.

RAILWAY WORKSHOPS IN INDIA AND PAKISTAN.

701. *Shrimati Renuka Ray: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the number of Railway Workshops in India and in Pakistan?

(b) Is it a fact that the plant and equipment of a Railway Workshop are being transferred to Pakistan area and if so, the reasons for such transfer?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) A list of workshops under the Mechanical Department only of Railways falling under India and Pakistan is being tabled. Indian Government Railways have been addressed to furnish a comprehensive statement of all the workshops under the control of different departments and this information will be placed in the Library of the House in due course.

(b) No. A few ticket printing machines from the Ticket Printing Press, Lahore are, however, to be transferred to India.

Mechanical Department Workshop of Class I Government Railways India.

Railway	Gauge	Description of workshops	Location	Remarks
1	2	3	4	5
Assam	M. G.	Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon	Dibrugarh
B.B.&C.I.	B. G.	Locomotive	Dohad
		Carriage	Ahmedabad
		Carriage	Parel
		Wagon	Baroda.
		Wagon	Mahalaxmi.
		Wagon	Gangapur City.
	M. G.	Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon.	Ajmer.
		Wagon	Mhow.
		Wagon	Abu Road.

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The Amraoti-Badnera Motor Service was inaugurated in June 1945, by the Central Provinces Transport Services, Ltd., Nagpur,—a road undertaking with which the G. I. P. Railway and the C. P. Government are associated.

(b) The bus fare of annas 3½ per passenger is in accordance with the scale of road fares sanctioned by the C. P. Government for that Province.

(c) The level of road fares is a provincial responsibility.

(d) This is a matter for the C. P. Government, but so far as the Government of India are aware, operation on this route, as on other routes, is authorised by permits issued by the Transport Authorities and no agreement as such exist.

(e) The Provincial Government have declared their intention to nationalise all road services in the Province.

SOAP FACTORIES IN WEST BENGAL.

695. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that a large number of soap factories, specially in West Bengal, have lost their existence during the communal disturbances in that province; and

(b) whether it is a fact that their quota of caustic soda, has been discontinued and if so, whether Government propose to take any steps in that behalf?

The Honourable Dr. Sayma Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). Details are being ascertained of soap factories which have closed down owing to communal disturbances. Orders regarding the discontinuance of supplies of caustic soda will be issued as soon as these details are available.

SALT AS A COTTAGE INDUSTRY.

696. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that as a result of the Gandhi-Irwin Pact of 1931 the preparation of salt became an important cottage industry in the coastal areas, affording means of livelihood to quite a large number of people;

(b) whether Government are aware that this industry has suffered considerably because of the fact that the firewood-plants available on the seashore and the banks of salt-water rivers which supplied fuel for the preparation of salt have been mostly uprooted in consequence of the cyclone and tidal bore in 1942; and

(c) if the answers to parts (a) and (b) above be in the affirmative, what steps Government propose to take to improve the situation and to establish salt as a cottage industry for the poorer class of people?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Manufacture of salt in the coastal areas of Midnapore, Tamlok, Contai and parts of Sunderbans was practised on a moderate scale in the coastal areas in the period following the announcement of Gandhi-Irwin Pact. It afforded some means of livelihood to a few thousand people in the coastal areas.

(b) Yes.

(c) The salt industry in the coastal areas of West Bengal is proposed to be developed by an attempt to introduce solar evaporation methods in the existing cottage industry. The Bengal Government are also making an extensive survey of the Midnapore Coastal Area with the object of extending salt manufacture.

PRODUCTION OF SODA ASH.

697. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) the total quantity of soda ash produced in India in the years 1946 and 1947 and the names of the manufacturers with their annual output;

(b) the total quantity of soda ash imported from abroad during the years 1946 and 1947;

(c) whether the quantity produced in this country together with the imported quantity is enough to meet our present requirements and if not, what the amount of shortage is; and

(d) how Government propose to meet the shortage?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). A statement giving the desired information is laid on the table of the House.

(c) No, Sir; we are short of our requirements by about 30,000 tons per year.

(d) By assisting the existing works, whose potential capacity is about 55,000 tons, to produce the maximum quantity possible; by encouraging the installation of new capacity and by increasing imports in the mean time.

Statement

Production of Soda Ash in 1946 & 1947

Name of the firm	(a)
	Production in 1946	Production during the first half of 1947	Estimated Production during the second half of 1947
Alkali & Chemical Corporation of India, Khewra.	Tons 18,339	Tons 11,436	Tons *
Dhrangadra Chemical Works, Dhrangadra	12,629	4,000	6,000
Tata Chemicals, Mithlapur	1,275	Nil	500
	22,243	15,436	6,500

*Khewra is now situated in Pakistan.

(b) IMPORTS

1946	1947 (Estimated)
70,000 tons	50,000 tons

MANUFACTURE OF BISCUITS.

698. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state:

(a) the names of manufacturers of biscuits to whom a quota of wheat-flour has been allotted this year and the quantity allotted to each of them;

(b) whether in the matter of allotment of flour, the standing of a company is taken into consideration as one of the factors or the sole factor and if so, what limit is put thereto;

Railways	Gauge	Description of workshop	Location	Remarks
1	2	3	4	5
B.N.	B. G.	Locomotive Carriage and Wagon	Kharagpur. Kharagpur.
E.I.	B. G.	Locomotive Locomotive *Locomotive	Lucknow. Jamalpur Kanchrapara.	*For B.G. M.G. and N.G.
		†Carriage and Wagon Carriage and Wagon Carriage and Wagon Wagon	Kanchrapara. Lucknow. Lillooah. Ondal.	†For B.G. & N.G.
G.I.P.	B.G.	Locomotive Carriage and Wagon Carriage and Wagon	Parel. Matunga. Jhansi.
M. and S. M.	B.G.	Locomotive Carriage and Wagon	Perambur. Perambur.
	M. G.	Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon	Hubli
E.P.	N. G.	Carriage	Kalka.
O. T.	M. G.	Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon. Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon.	Gorakhpur. Izatnagar.
E. I.	B. G. and M.G.	Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon.	Golden Rock.
Pakistan
N. W.	B. G.	Locomotive Carriage and Wagon	Moghalpura. Moghalpura.
E. B.	M. G.	Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon. Locomotive, Carriage and Wagon.	Dacca. Saidpur.

DETENTION OF RAILWAY WAGONS IN PAKISTAN.

702. *Shrimati Renuka Ray: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether any trains and/or wagons sent to Pakistan with passengers and/or goods have not been returned to India; and

(b) if so, whether Government have taken or propose to take any action in this connection?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes.

(b) Constant watch is kept by the Indian Railways concerned on rolling stock sent to the Pakistan Railways and when delays necessitate, reference is made to the Ministry of Communications (Railway Department), Government of Pakistan, by the Railway Board.

NATIONALISATION OF AIRLINES.

703. *Shrimati Renuka Ray: Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state:

(a) how many private airline companies have been licensed;

(b) whether any proposal is being considered to consolidate these companies on the lines of the B.O.A.C.; and

(c) whether Government have taken any decision regarding the nationalisation of airlines; if not, whether Government propose to consider the proposal in the near future?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmed Kidwai: (a) The Air Transport Licensing Board have granted licences for the operation of air services in India to 8 companies.

(b) No, Sir.

(c) The question of organisation of air services has been carefully reviewed by the present Government, particularly with reference to the operation of an air service between India and United Kingdom. As regards external services, I lay on the table of the House a copy of an announcement recently made in the press on the scheme for the operation of an Indian air service between India and the United Kingdom. It will be observed that the organisation which will undertake the operation will be a joint Government-Company enterprise in the capital of which Government will hold 49 per cent. with the right to acquire at any time a clear majority holding. The day-to-day management will be with a company which has established a name in civil air transport as well as in other fields of commerce. Losses, if any, will be made good to the company by Government by payment of subsidies which are repayable from subsequent profits. Profits in excess of 5 per cent. after repayment of subsidies, if any, will be shared equally by the Government and the Company.

Similar principles will apply to other external air operations also.

As regards internal air services, Government have not yet taken any decision. They will shortly place the matter before the Standing Advisory Committee attached to the Ministry of Communications.

PRESS NOTE

Indian Air Service to Europe.

Government approves formation of new Company.

It is announced that the Government of India have approved of the early establishment of an Indian air service to Europe. For this purpose a new Company is being formed under the name of "Air-India International, Limited", with an authorised capital of Rs. 7 crores and an initial paid-up capital of Rs. 2 crores, out of which the Government of India will acquire 49 per cent. with an option to acquire at any time a further two per cent. so as to bring up their holding to 51 per cent. of the total. Government will have a number of Directors on the Board of the Company. The Chairman will be a Director approved by the Government of India.

The Service which will operate between Bombay and London via Cairo, and one stopping place on the Continent, will be equipped with the latest model of the Lockheed "Constellation" aircraft, the leading long-range, high speed, four-engined transport in the world today. The service is expected to be inaugurated at the beginning of May, with an initial frequency of two a week in each direction. The frequency will subsequently be increased as the organization and traffic develop.

Air-India Limited will be in charge of the technical management of the new Company, and will provide crews and all operational and engineering services. Air-India will also act as Chief Booking Agents in India. Action will now be taken by the Government of India to negotiate bilateral agreements with the countries lying on the route.

The scheme represents a new and interesting experiment in joint State and private enterprise. Amongst its striking features is the fact that, as the largest share-holder in the Company, with a right to acquire at any time a clear majority holding, the Government of India will have effective control over the policies and operations of the Company thus safeguarding in full the national interests including those of the tax-payer and consumer. At the same time, by entrusting the day-to-day management of the Company to a sector of private enterprise well-established and highly experienced in the field of air transport, the important objective of efficient management based on commercial principles will be achieved.

The financial terms and provision of the arrangement approved by Government are also of special interest. Under the scheme, the Government of India have agreed, if necessary, to grant subsidies to the Company for a limited period in order to protect it from possible loss in the early stages, but any such financial aid will be re-payable from subsequent profits out of which 50 per cent. will, for the purpose, directly accrue to Government until the subsidies have been repaid in full. During this period the Company will be precluded from declaring dividends in excess of five per cent.

After the subsidies, if any, are repaid, half of the profits earned in excess of five per cent. on capital and share-holders' funds will accrue to Government who, in addition, will receive the dividends payable on their shares.

India has demonstrated her ability to operate domestic services on a large scale and with a high degree of efficiency and safety, but international air traffic to and from India, has upto now been the monopoly of foreign operators. It is, therefore, gratifying to know that India is at last entering the field of international air transport, with equipment and facilities which will compare favourably with those of its foreign competitors.

BENGAL-NAGPUR RAILWAY STATIONS WITHOUT LIGHT.

704. *Shri Santanu Kumar Das: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some of the stations on Bengal-Nagpur Railway remain without lights?

(b) if so, is it a fact that robbery and pick-pocketing are increasing day by day on account of this?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) No. Platform lamps are lighted at all stations where passenger trains halt during the hours of darkness, the number of lamps to be lit being dependent on the size of the station.

(b) Does not arise.

STOPPAGE OF PURI-HOWRAH EXPRESS TRAIN AT JAJPUR AND JENAPUR STATIONS

705. *Shri Santanu Kumar Das: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether the Puri-Howrah Express Train passes without touching the main stations between Bhadrak and Cuttack stations?

(b) Has any representation been received from the public requesting Government to allow the said train to stop at Jajpur and Jenapur stations in Cuttack District?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The Puri-Howrah Express Trains stop at Kendrapara Road. They do not stop at Jajpur Road, the only other relatively important station between Bhadrak and Cuttack.

(b) Towards the end of 1946, representations were made to the B. N. Railway and the Railway Board that the Puri-Howrah Express Trains should be stopped at Jajpur Road, but no representation has been received suggesting a stoppage at Jenapur.

PROGRESS IN CONSTRUCTION OF TRICHUR-KOLLENGODE RAILWAY

706. *Shri P. Govinda Menon: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) what stage has been reached in the construction of the Trichur-Kollengode Railway; and

(b) when this Railway is expected to be opened?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Trichur-Kollengode Railway Project is still in the investigation stage. The construction has not yet commenced.

(b) The question does not arise at this stage.

REBUILDING OF SHORANUR-NILAMBUR RAILWAY.

707. *Shri P. Govinda Menon: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is proposed to build again the Shoranur-Nilambur Railway which was dismantled during the last war; and

(b) if so, when will the work be taken up?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) When the Railway Post-war Plans for construction of new lines and restoration of dismantled lines were originally prepared, it was decided, in consultation with the Madras Government, that the Shoranur-Nilambur Railway which was dismantled during the war should not be restored.

The Madras Government have, however, recently intimated that the question of restoration of this line is being re-examined by them and they have asked about the amount of guarantee that the Provincial Government will have to pay, should the line prove unremunerative in its working. This information is being compiled.

(b) It is not possible to state; at this stage, if the line will actually be restored and if so, when.

CLOTH AND SUGAR SUPPLIED TO ORISSA STATES.

708. *Shri Yudhisthir Misra: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the quantity of cloth, yarn and sugar supplied to the Orissa States during the year ending 31st October, 1947?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: The Central Government make allotments of cloth and yarn to the Orissa Government, who are responsible for sub-allotting these supplies to the districts in the province of Orissa and to the Orissa States. The Central Government therefore have no information as to what quantities of cloth and yarn have been supplied to the Orissa States. The same is the case, I understand, with sugar. Enquiries have however been made from the Orissa Government as to the supplies of cloth, yarn and sugar made to the Orissa States during the year ending 31st October 1947, and the information will be furnished to the Honourable Member when it is received.

MALDISTRIBUTION OF CONTROLLED GOODS IN ORISSA STATES.

709. *Shri Yudhisthir Misra: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware of the maldistribution of controlled goods in some of the Orissa States and the export in large quantity of yarn from the States to the neighbouring provinces;

(b) whether Government have received any complaint regarding export of yarn from Patna State to the Central Provinces; and

(c) if so, whether Government have taken any action?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a), (b) and (c). Government have received no such complaints as the Honourable Member mentions regarding mal-distribution or exports, but would be glad to undertake investigations if the Honourable Member would let them have instances of what he has in mind. I must point out, however, that since internal distribution is a matter for the Provincial or State Government concerned, this question should be addressed to the administration concerned.

EXPANSION OF B. N. RAILWAY.

710. *Shri Yudhisthir Misra: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government propose to take up the construction of Sambalpur-Kondagaon and Khurda Road-Sonepur-Lochipore railway line in Bengal Nagpur Railway after survey, and if so, when?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The Government are not in a position at this stage to state if the construction of Sambalpur-Kondagaon and Khurda Road-Sonepur-Lochipore railway lines on the Bengal Nagpur Railway will be taken in hand after the surveys have been completed. The survey reports on receipt will be examined by the Railway Board and then placed before the Central Board of Transport for their consideration. Construction will be taken in hand only if the Central Board of Transport recommend such a course.

INSUFFICIENT SUPPLY OF WAGONS TO B. N. RAILWAY.

711. *Shri Yudhisthir Misra: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether any complaint regarding insufficient supply of wagons has been received from Kantabanji (Bengal Nagpur Railway) in Patna State (Orissa) to export minor foodgrains; and

(b) if so, whether Government propose to make any arrangements in future to facilitate export of foodgrains from that place to Madras and Bombay Presidencies?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Yes, such a complaint has been received by the B. N. Railway.

(b) Adequate facilities exist for the transport of foodgrains.

CONTROL OVER RAILWAY CATERERS IN RESPECT OF EMPLOYEES' SERVICES

712 *Prof. N. G. Ranga: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether the Government of India have any control over the caterers in respect of the conditions of service the caterers offer to their employees?

(b) If not, do Government intend to assume any?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Railways at present have no control over the caterers in respect of conditions of service offered to their employees.

(b) The matter is still under examination.

DEVELOPMENT OF SANGAMESHWAR IRRIGATION PROJECT.

713 *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that Rayalaseema (Ceded Districts) in the Madras province is specially liable to periodical famines;

(b) whether Government are aware that the Famine Commissions of 1897-1900 had recommended that irrigation projects especially the Sangameshwar project should be developed in order to protect the five million people of this area from frequent famines;

(c) whether Government are aware that this is at present a deficit food area and there is great need for making it self-sufficient in food; and

(d) whether Government propose to develop the irrigation projects referred to in part (b) above?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) The Famine Commission of 1898 recommended extension of irrigation as a first measure to protect the Ceded Districts from famine, but it did not refer to the Sangameshwar Project which was evolved in 1903.

(c) Yes.

(d) Staff for preliminary investigation of the project has been sanctioned by the Provincial Government and investigation is expected to commence shortly.

REFUSAL BY PAKISTAN TO EXCHANGE FOOD FOR TEXTILES

714. *Seth Govind Das: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Government of Pakistan have refused to take our textiles in exchange of their food, and that they have offered their food to Australia in return of Australian textiles?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, what action do Government propose to take to consolidate our position, so that we may not depend on food supplies from Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) No proposal on the basis of barter of textiles from India with foodgrains from Pakistan was ever put to or considered either by the Government of Pakistan or by the Government of India. The Government of India have not heard of any such barter proposal between Pakistan and Australia.

(b) Does not arise.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

FAILURE OF THE GOVERNMENT TO STOP TRIBAL RAIDS FROM PAKISTAN

Mr. Speaker: I have received notice of an adjournment motion from Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena. There seems to be some confusion about this motion. It is verbose, argumentative and requires a lot of amendment, even if it is otherwise admissible. I would read only such parts, as I think are relevant.

The motion as amended by me will read:

"That the House do adjourn to discuss a matter of urgent public importance, viz., the failure of our Government to take effective measures to force the Pakistan Government to stop tribesmen from 'indulging in a reign of terror, loot and rape', and to discuss whether all talks of financial settlements and other agreements with the Pakistan Government should not stop immediately and what other effective steps should be taken in the matter."

I have amended the motion to bring it within parliamentary language.

Apart from the question of urgency, this motion on the very face of it is inadmissible because it seeks to discuss more than one definite issue.

I do not think I can give my consent to this motion.

COMMITTEE ON PETITIONS

Mr. Speaker: I have to announce that under sub-order (1) of Standing Order 80 of the Constituent Assembly (Legislative) Standing Orders, the following Honourable Members will form the Committee on Petitions, namely: (1) Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava, (2) Shrimati G. Durgabai, (3) Shri Arun Chandra Guha, (4) Shri Mohan Lal Saksena, and (5) Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava.

Mr. Speaker: The House will now proceed with further consideration of the motion of the Honourable Mr. Gadgil about reference to Select Committee of his Bill to provide for the rationalization of the production and supply of electricity and generally for taking measures conducive to the electrical development of the Provinces of India.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): The debate that followed my motion for reference to Select Committee on the Bill now under discussion was marked with some heat, some light, but I am glad to say that there was no shock. The Honourable Members who participated in this debate—at least some of them—were good enough to congratulate me. Some were rather half-hearted in their congratulations and one Honourable Member was positive in denouncing this measure as reactionary. Now this honourable gentleman has quoted from the Bible, namely, some resolutions of the Congress. I only hope that this new found love of the Congress resolutions by this Honourable Member will be more enduring hereafter.

Now for those who welcome this measure as being good, although better was possible, to them my reply is that good cannot be the enemy of better. And if they do me the courtesy of going through the provisions of this Bill, which I stated at the beginning of my speech is a somewhat complicated measure, they will find that I have gone as much as possible in the present circumstances. This is exactly what I said, Sir:

"The fact that has determined this line of action is: What is possible in the immediate future? And to do it in such a way that the ultimate objective of public ownership of such public utility concerns is not prejudiced in the least."

Now a bigger issue was raised by some of the Honourable Members, namely, of nationalisation. Some sort of accusation was levelled against me that this Bill was definitely inconsistent with the Congress policy. My Honourable friend, Prof. K. T. Shah, for whom I have the highest respect, and who has often been my guide in matters of finance whenever I had an occasion to write something about it, referred to the Karachi resolution. Now that Karachi resolution says:

"The State shall own or control key industries and services, mineral resources, railways, waterways, shipping and other means of public transport."

This does not definitely lay down that there should be public ownership and control, but an alternative is left and it will not be considered as inconsistent if this measure is based on State control and public ownership also. In fact, I will be entitled to take some credit that instead of taking one alternative, as suggested in this resolution, I have taken both the things and tried to combine them in such a manner that the ultimate objective will be possible to be attained sooner than many of my Honourable friends realise.

Shri H. V. Kamath (C. P. and Berar: General): Is the Honourable Minister working out a synthesis?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I will leave it to your imagination because I do not want to say anything that will create any trouble in the realization of the objective that I have placed before you.

Referring to the latest Congress manifesto, which was issued in the year 1945, I find the same thing is repeated:

"The State must own, or control key and basic industries and services, mineral resources, railways, waterways and shipping and other means of public transport."

I therefore say this charge of having done something against the Congress programme or mandate is entirely without foundation. If it comes to a choice for me between loyalty to the Government and loyalty to the Congress, I can assure my friend that loyalty to the Congress will prevail in my case.

Now taking further this question of nationalization on merits: in other words some of my friends want that public ownership should be secured immediately. In this connection, the purchasing of existing interests offers a formidable problem. I do not think it is a point of view of any of the Honourable Members that existing interests should be ex-appropriated altogether. That also is not the Congress policy. The Congress policy has been laid down very often that no man will be deprived of his property except according to the process of the law: that in the case of zamindari, the Congress manifesto definitely laid down that equitable compensation would be paid. There is no desire to cut the existing interests with a shilling so to say. Now if that is the position, suppose if the Government were to start on having public ownership immediately? We would have to pay roughly about Rs. 100 crores. Today out of 412 electricity undertakings in this country, 300 belong to private companies. Out of these 300, 249 are in the Indian Union and 51 in the States. As regards the proportion of installed capacity 73.19 per cent. goes to privately-owned company and the remaining to municipalities and Government. In those circumstances I ask in all sincerity whether we can afford straight-away to purchase them and if we want to purchase them will it make any immediate improvement of the prospect, speaking from the point of view of the financial position of the country? In England under the latest Electricity Bill nationalisation has been visualised. But, Mr. Speaker, you will find from that Bill what the arrangement is.

"The holder of securities in any body, other than a local authority, whose assets and liabilities are transferred by the Bill is to be compensated by the issue to him by the Central Authority of British electricity stock of such amount as is in the hands of the treasury, at a value equal on the date of issue to the value of security. The value of any security for this purpose is to be deemed to be the average market value of the securities on a certain date."

It only means that we will have to pay heavily by way of interest, because the securities will be valued at their market rate today.

What is proposed under this Bill is that all the existing undertakings will be under the complete control of the Provincial Boards, the composition of which, I again repeat, is thoroughly democratic. There is not a single representative on the Provincial Board either of the shareholders or of the managing agents and it is a body charged with the entire work that is to be done under the provisions of the proposed Bill. If the idea is that these people should be paid at the very beginning, as I said, it will be a huge burden on the taxpayer. What is proposed under this Bill is to control these concerns, control their profits and the future expansion of the existing plants is also controlled. New undertakings will be mostly by the State and wherever it is impossible for the State to come in, private enterprise may be allowed. As far as the taking over of the existing undertakings are concerned opportunities will arise from now on in the course of the next 20 years under the terms of the various licenses. Meanwhile we will consider the question of the compensation to be paid. At present the provisions of the Indian Electricity Act of 1910 apply. The provisions clearly lay down that when an undertaking is to be purchased the value must be calculated by what is known as the fair market value. If I were to calculate the fair market value today, it is so much inflated that I will be run down as a man who knows very little about finance and probably will be accused of being pro-capitalist. In the present circumstances it will be considered a folly. But if we can in the near future make certain amendments in the Indian Electricity Act of 1910 in such a manner that the value to be paid may be either the book value or the written-down value but certainly not the market value, then in those circumstances it is possible considerably to reduce the burden on the poor taxpayer. But that is a matter which is receiving the attention of the Government. What I want to urge for the present is that this is a very big step towards nationalisation. Just as possession [Shri N. V. Gadgil] is 9 points in law, I should say control is ten points in business. If we thoroughly and efficiently control the concerns in every respect, I have no doubt that gradually an atmosphere will be created when people will work more in a spirit of social service than for the sake of mere money or profits. They will develop a better sense of citizenship as was suggested by my Honourable friend Mr. Patil, than they possess today.

I also stated that if the speed with which things are being done today is not satisfactory, the only method of increasing the speed is to increase the strength of public opinion.....

Shri H. V. Kamath: Does the Honourable Minister think that private enterprise will inculcate these virtues?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I am not giving way. That is the only way to quicken the pace. But, at the same time, we must beware of the consequences of enforced development, for the simple reason that in the long run going slowly but surely pays better dividend in the matter of efficiency and outturn also.

Having disposed of this big issue which was raised by some of the Honourable Members, I would refer to another matter, which was mentioned in the course of the discussion by my Honourable friend Mr. Shibban Lal Saksena. He said that no fair wages clause has been inserted in this Bill. I regret to say that he has misunderstood the purpose of the whole Bill. This is not, so to say, a Bill in which something is being done for labour in this or that respect. It is only a Bill which lays down the provisions for the control of existing undertakings with provisions for expansion on certain well known lines. As regards wages and other labour conditions probably my Honourable friend is not aware that there is already a Bill before this House fixing the minimum wages in every business undertaking and as far as I remember it has been referred to a Select Committee. Whatever is the general law with respect to minimum wages and other labour matters will certainly apply to any undertakings, whether they are private or run by the Government.....

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U.P.: General): I quoted from the Sugar Subsidy Act passed by the British Parliament. There they have made a statutory provision to protect labour with respect to wages that should be paid in that subsidised sugar industry. The Minimum Wages Bill will not help labour in electric concerns. Here it is a case of skilled labour and no minimum wages are prescribed in regard to skilled labour in the Minimum Wages Bill. What I wanted was that some provision should be made in the Bill giving a statutory guarantee that labour employed in the proposed new electric concerns will not be exploited as has been done in the body of the British Sugar (Subsidy) Act.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: All matters relating to wages and other labour conditions are matters under the general law which governs wages and labour conditions. If you want to put in detail every thing that is covered, I think it will be a waste of time and I do not know how big the Bill will be. Here are provisions for compensation. Would you like to repeat all the provisions that you find in the law of land acquisition? I therefore want to say that if a dispassionate view of the provisions of this Bill is taken, I have no doubt that it is not only not a reactionary measure but it advances the cause of nationalisation considerably and if I am able to secure the co-operation of this House as well as the members of the Select Committee in its deliberations, much more is possible and the object for which this Bill has been introduced viz., public ownership of public utility services, will have been achieved to a substantial extent. Sir, I have nothing more to say except to commend this motion for the acceptance of this House.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Sir, I want to have some enlightenment from the Honourable Minister. The doubt lingers in my mind.....

Mr. Speaker: Will the Honourable Member say exactly what enlightenment he wants because I cannot permit any speech at this stage?

Shri H. V. Kamath: The Honourable Minister has not told us what are exactly the impediments, obstacles or difficulties in the path of forth right nationalisation instead of this half-hearted measure.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I think I have sufficiently answered that point. It only means that the Honourable Member was inattentive or unable to grasp what I said.

Shri B. Das (Orissa: General): In his conference with the representatives of electrical undertakings at Bombay the Honourable Minister gave an assurance that representatives of that body would be permitted to appear before the Select Committee and represent their case. May I know whether they will be permitted to do so and also whether the Honourable Minister will permit outside electrical experts to appear before the Select Committee?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The interests concerned will be given sufficient opportunity to say whatever they want to say.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to provide for the rationalisation of the production and supply of electricity, and generally for taking measures conducive to the electrical development of the Provinces of India, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty, Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, Shri B. Das, Shri M. R. Masani, Shri T. T. Krishnamachari Shri K. Santharam, Haji Abbas Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth, Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri, Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala, Shri Mohan Lal Saksena, Shri S. K. Patil, Shri Sures Chandra Majumdar and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall five."

The motion was adopted.

INDIAN NURSING COUNCIL BILL

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur (Minister for Health): I beg to move:

"That the Bill to constitute an Indian Nursing Council, be taken into consideration."

Sir, I am happy that it has fallen to my lot to ask the House to pass this Bill. Statutory provision for a Nursing Council has been a long-felt need, and the measure is very much overdue. The present position is absolutely untenable. There is no central body to co-ordinate or to ensure a uniform minimum standard of training. There is no inter-provincial recognition of nursing qualifications. It is not possible. Provinces have their separate Councils and they have separate standards. It is a most unsatisfactory position. It causes the utmost inconvenience to hospitals or other authorities who wish to employ nurses. Moreover it is a very great hardship on the profession itself. Further, there is no body to negotiate with foreign authorities for the reciprocal recognition of qualifications. That also is a very great lack. This Bill is intended to remedy these defects.

The Central Council that is sought to be brought into being will provide means for raising the standards of training or improving the status of the profession itself and for giving it international standing also for it will provide minimum standards of training, it will grant recognition to nursing qualifications and it will also negotiate with foreign countries for recognition of those qualifications. The Council has been sought to be made an extremely representative body. It will represent all the Provinces. It will be representative of the profession itself. It will have on its Board of Administrative medical officers in charge of the health services and it will be representative also of the medical profession as a whole in India and of all others that are qualified to contribute to the work of this Council.

[Rajkumari Amrit Kaur]

There is one important thing which I should like to bring to the notice of the House and that is that the Council will also have powers to withdraw recognition of qualifications, and under the Bill only those with recognised qualifications will be enrolled as nurses, midwives and health visitors. This in itself will ensure that inter-provincial reciprocity in the matter of registration which is today absolutely lacking.

This Bill was brought in this House in the Budget Session of 1946, but alas, it has never been able to make any headway and so long was it delayed that the Government of India felt impelled to bring in an Ordinance. That Ordinance is now about to lapse. The Bill was published by Departmental order in the Central and Provincial Gazettes in order to elicit public opinion. Opinion has been elicited and it has been given very careful consideration. The principle of the Bill is unquestionable, its aims and objects are unexceptionable. I have purposely refrained from asking this House that the Bill should be referred to a Select Committee because the need for bringing this Bill on the statute book is urgent. In view of the fact that the principle of the Bill is, as I have said, unquestionable and the aims and objects unexceptionable I have no doubt that the House will not hesitate to give me the opportunity forthwith of raising the standards and status of one of the noblest and most essential professions.

I do not know, Sir, if the House is aware that today in the whole of India including Pakistan, there are only 7,000 nurses and only 5,000 midwives. This constitutes a ratio in our country of one nurse for every 43,000 of the population as against one nurse to 300 in the United Kingdom and one to 327 in the United States of America. Because of the need for nurses in the Kurukshetra camp I was impelled the other day to make a countrywide appeal for nurses. But as I was making that appeal I was wondering how it could be responded to. The hospitals that have spared me nurses from Bombay and elsewhere, and my own hospitals of Delhi, have been depleted of their nursing staff in order to provide the need for Kurukshetra. All of them are now working almost at breaking point and they say that they will have to close down a few wards on account of the shortage of nurses. This position is deplorable. Apart from the fixing of minimum standards for training and qualification I feel that this measure will give some encouragement to our girls and our women to come forward to enter this noble profession. We lose many lives today simply because we have not got midwives who are properly trained and because nursing qualifications are not as high as they should be. If this Bill is passed—as I hope—with one voice, I know that it will be a big step forward towards the attainment of our objects. But I also hope that Members of this House will not rest content merely with bringing this measure on to the statute book but that they will go back to their various Provinces and insist on the Provinces having at least one Nursing College, so that opportunity may be afforded to our girls to come and join this noble profession. We cannot render proper medical aid to our people without adequate nursing aid because nursing is one of the most important limbs of the medical profession. However skilled the surgeon is and however efficient the physician is, the life of the patient really is in the hands of skilled and efficient nurses.

With these very few words, Sir, I request that the Bill may be taken into consideration.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to constitute an Indian Nursing Council, be taken into consideration"

Shrimati Renuka Ray (West Bengal: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support this Bill brought forward by the Honourable the Health Minister to constitute an Indian Nursing Council.

Mr. Speaker: I would like to have the position clarified about Shrimati Durgabai's amendment.

Shrimati G. Durgabai (Madras: General): I am not proposing to move it, but with your permission, Sir, I would like to speak on the motion.

Shrimati Renuka Ray: It is a measure, Sir, that as the Honourable Minister said is long overdue, and it is more than welcome; I am sure, both by the House and this country. Sir, we are at last free in this country to shape our own future and to break through the morass of ignorance, superstition, ill-health, disease, hunger and want that has enveloped our people during the years of alien domination. We need nation-building work in many directions. But Sir, before we can attain a minimum of economic and social well-being for the people, the most essential factor that is needed is that the people should have the requisite minimum health. It is men and women who are builders of society, and unless they possess the requisite minimum of health and training, how can we possibly get on with any work of national development? It is a well known fact that both on the curative and on the preventive side, the Health services in this country are not only inadequate but hardly exist for the great majority of the rural populace in this country. If we are to make any improvement, the first consideration is of trained personnel, and the Honourable Minister has already told us in regard to the nursing profession there are only 7,000 nurses in this country. There are according to the Bhore Committee's report 5,000 midwives, and only 750 health visitors. Sir, of all sections of health work, to my mind the greatest necessity is to set up a net-work of maternity and child welfare centres throughout the country. The fact that infant mortality is appallingly high and large numbers of women die at child birth is well known in the country. What is even worse is that amongst the women who do not actually die at child birth, there are very large numbers who are seriously and permanently injured due to lack of care during pregnancy and child birth, and again there are large numbers of children in this country who are handicapped almost before they are born, for the same reasons. It is the lack of proper facilities for their care and also the fact that most of these women are at the mercy of the untrained Dai, who has been a great danger in this country, that is responsible for this woeful state of affairs. If we intend to set up an adequate number of maternity and child welfare centres in the country, again we are up against the greatest stumbling block, that is a lack of a sufficient number of trained midwives and health visitors. There are in this whole country only seven schools for training Health visitors, and in each of these schools I think they train 60 Health visitors per annum. Now if we are to cover this country with a sufficient number of maternity and child welfare centres, we need the services of at least 100,000 trained midwives and 20,000 health visitors to supervise them. The reason for the lack of a sufficient number of personnel is of course first of all this lack of training centres; but another reason, is the deep-rooted prejudice in this country against the nursing profession. It is so fundamental and deep-rooted that although today it is generally recognised that nursing is a noble profession, we do not find that nurses are treated in the manner they should be in India. The treatment that is meted out to them is so terrible that I do not see how suitable women can be expected to come forward to this profession unless something is done about it. I have myself, Sir, personal knowledge of many instances where a Health visitor or a trained midwife is obtained with great difficulty because their numbers are few to open a Maternity or Child Welfare Centre, and when she does take over in some small district town or in a village, the treatment that is meted out to her, and the outrageous behaviour towards her is such that only women with a great deal of courage can cope with it. This kind of thing will have to stop, and I feel that the Indian Nursing Council set up at the Centre could do much towards breaking down these prejudices. Prejudice existed against the nursing profession in other countries. A hundred years ago it was very considerable in England and it was Florence Nightingale who broke it down. A great deal has to be done to overcome the prejudice in this country before we can expect suitable women in sufficient numbers to enter the profession. A Nursing Council of this nature will do much towards it. As the Honourable Health Minister has already mentioned, this Council will prescribe the minimum standards which will bring about uniformity of nursing standards in the country and which I am sure will also help to raise the conditions of service, the status and pay of nurses, which are matters which need a good deal of attention. It will in fact be the counterpart of the Indian Medical Council for the nursing profession. I think there is another important function which this Indian Nursing Council could well take up. It is a well known fact today, Sir, that during the war a system of what is called Volunteer Nurse Aids as a part time nursing service came into England and did exceedingly well there. It had been introduced for the purpose of meeting emergency situations, but is now being made permanent there. Usually volunteer women are given a little training, and on a small honorarium work under the guidance of trained nurses. Women who are educated and of good families have come forward as volunteer nurses. I am sure that the Indian Nursing Council can do much to encourage and foster this system and get Provincial Governments also to take it up when the Council comes into existence. The need for this Indian Nursing Council is so acute that I fully agree with the Honourable the Health Minister that it should not be now sent to a Select Committee. There may be a few technical amendments here and there which may improve the Bill slightly and I am sure that if there are such amendments, the Honourable Minister will have no objection to incorporating them. But I do strongly support that this Bill should be passed into law immediately. It is a matter of urgent necessity in the country that the nursing profession should be immediately strengthened and that we should have a sufficient number of training centres to cover the country so that the Health Service in this country really become widespread.

[Shrimati Renuka Ray]

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C. P. and Berar: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, for lack of uniformity in the training of the nurses, there has been a great deal of discontent among the staff, and I am very glad that this measure has been brought before this House and I congratulate the Honourable Minister for the same. Sir, there are many Provincial Councils in the various provinces, but the qualifications vary from province to province. In some provinces the training period for a nurse is 3 years, in some it is 6 months, and in some it is 3 months, and the discontent amongst the staff has been mainly due to the fact that the seniormost nurse gets the same salary as the nurse who has just passed out within six months of her training in college. This is one of the improvements that has been brought out by making uniform qualifications in the provisions of this Bill and this will set at naught the long-standing grievance of the staff the nurses and health visitors. The Honourable Minister has really done a distinct service to this class of workers who are greatly needed in this country. Sir, having been associated with the Provincial Nursing Councils as well as the Health Association and Child Welfare Centres, I know very well how this measure will be welcomed when it is brought to their notice that this outstanding grievance has been removed.

There is another proviso: that untrained dais, who are at present a nuisance in this country, will not be allowed to attend to any maternity cases. Sir, it has been pointed out by the Honourable Minister that there are only a few thousands of nurses in our country, whereas there is in each village an indigenous dai who attends to maternity cases. These indigenous dais are so harmful to the mothers that it has immensely increased infantile mortality in this country. If you take the figures of infantile mortality and compare them with figures in various other parts of the world, you will find that India stands highest. And that is due—and this has been stated by the medical profession—to the indigenous dais treating these maternity cases. I know of instances, Sir, where the methods employed are so crude: at the time of delivery, these indigenous dais put in a sort of fire under the cot to bring about an easy delivery of the child; and the result is that the mother is disabled for a long period. Sir, efforts have been made by some Provincial Councils to improve this, but there has been no radical change. I hope that when this Bill becomes law, the Central Council will bear in mind that this high infantile mortality which is really due to the indigenous dais, should be done away with absolutely. There are many indigenous dais who could be trained into midwives according to the modern system, but there has been luke-warmness shown by the Provincial Governments and Provincial Councils in this matter. The first step, Sir, if you really want to keep the health of a mother and also to reduce infantile mortality, is to remove these indigenous dais and convert them into regular trained midwives. I do not say that these indigenous dais should be done away with; they should be done away with as far as the present method of their profession is concerned, but what I feel is that they should be trained into midwives. In some villages, in some parts of the country, this thing has been done and those dais have taken it very nicely. I therefore hope that this Council which is coming into existence, will bear this in mind and see that this question, which is one of the important causes for the health of the mother and the infantile mortality, is taken in hand.

Apart from that, various other important and useful provisions have been included in this Bill for bringing it into conformity and also making it a Central measure so as to keep the Provincial Councils in check. All the nurses today are registered under the Provincial Councils; so also are the Health visitors. As the previous speaker has rightly stated, this profession is considered as a very noble one, but there is very little inducement for expansion of this profession. I know, Sir, that many of the good nurses come from the Harijan classes and the reasons are quite obvious. Those Harijan class nurses have proved absolutely first-class compared with any British nurse that I have seen; the British nurses have done very good work and are doing very good work; but I do feel that our Indian nurses are lacking in number to come forward for this profession for this reason that they have no proper encouragement, and that this profession is looked upon by some classes of the community as a degrading one or as one not desirable. I, therefore, feel that every kind of inducement and encouragement should be given by the Central Council to the Provincial Councils; all impediments should be removed and improvements for the purpose of bringing in more nurses should be encouraged; their wages and salaries should be immensely increased. Sir, this is the fundamental basis of a mother's health and as such there should be no question as regards the salaries and wages. Today they are very miserably paid; some of the nurses are paid only sixty to seventy rupees; I have not come across an Indian nurse who draws more than Rs. 120 a month. She does important work; she has to attend at midnight to maternity cases—and from statistics it has been proved that many of the maternity cases take place at midnight; so she has to attend at that time at the risk of her life and has to go from place to place. So, for the performance the salary paid is very low. Some uniformity in salaries should also be introduced; that is one of the encouragement for the nurses to come forward and take to this profession. I do not say, Sir, that there are no nurses who come from high families—I know there are nurses who have come from high families also; but their number to the number of those who have come from the average class of people, is not encouraging.

[Mr. R. K. Sidhwa]

Sir, I do feel that this is a very important and a very urgent measure, and I am glad that my Honourable friend Shrimati Durgabai has withdrawn her amendment for reference to Select Committee. I for one would always have welcomed to send it to the Select Committee but there is nothing in the Bill which is lacking. I do feel that the Members of the Central Assembly are not provided with representation; I do not attach too much importance to that but if Members want representation, I have no objection. This is a measure in which I have seen the Honourable Minister has provided full representation for all those who are really concerned in the matter, and if representation is given to this Assembly also, I should certainly welcome it; there is nothing wrong in it; on the contrary we would be able to give our advice and sometimes would advice as well. Therefore, Sir, I am glad that she has withdrawn her motion.

This measure was of such an importance that I am so glad that an Ordinance had to be promulgated; rightly, I congratulate the Government that they have promulgated this Ordinance. When that Ordinance is now becoming a law—I wish, Sir, that it becomes law today—and when it becomes law, the Honourable Minister will see that the provisions of this Act are put into effect immediately and without delay, calling upon the Provincial Councils to act forthwith, and not allow its provisions to remain on paper.

Sir, this is an important Bill. It is a social measure and some of the social measures are really important if you want to build up the nation; this is a measure which will build up the health of a mother and a child if the provisions mentioned here are put into effect. I again second it wholeheartedly and congratulate the Honourable Minister for having brought it forward so soon.

Begum Aizaz Rasul (U. P.: Muslim): Sir, this measure has not come a minute too soon and I congratulate the Honourable Minister for Health for having realised the necessity and the urgency of bringing forward such legislation as soon after this Government took over office as possible. This is one of the measures designed to meet a long standing need of the country. Nursing has been a part and parcel of the medical profession. It is unfortunate that in this very important part of our medical requirements a great deal of improvement has still to be effected. The Bhore Committee, in its Report, has very rightly given an important place to this requirement. I am a member of the Committee set up in U.P. to put into effect the Bhore Committee's recommendations and we have been discussing this important aspect of training of midwives, nurses and health visitors. There are various Provincial Councils for nurses and midwives, but it was necessary that these should be put on all-India and central basis, and I congratulate the Honourable Minister for having realised this and brought forward this measure.

It is unfortunate, Sir, that the nursing profession has been neglected so much in this country. The reasons are not far to seek. The British Administration, in addition to other neglects of various fundamental requirements, did not also think it necessary to provide ways and means of attracting Indian woman to the nursing profession. As has been rightly said, nursing is a very noble profession, but social conditions in our country have been such that the right kind of woman has not been attracted to it, with the result that today, on the withdrawal of British power from this country and the consequent disappearance of those British nurses who were in employment in this country in large numbers, we feel that a great void has been caused by the dearth of trained nurses who are wanted everywhere in hospitals and as private nurses. This dearth has been in the forefront during the last few years of the war and afterwards. On all Committees connected with hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc., of which I am a member the need has been felt of some drastic action in order to attract more women to become nurses.

I think, Sir, the main reasons why there has been so much shortage of women belonging to good standards of life in the nursing profession are twofold. Firstly, the dearth of publicity. Secondly, the dearth of good educational arrangements for the training of nurses as well as unsuitable terms of service. These are the reasons which have not attracted women of good homes to come forward and take up this very noble profession. The Bhore Committee has dealt with this problem in a very effective manner and I am sure this Bill when it becomes law will, in addition to regulating the registration and provision of uniform standards in the training of nurses will also see that suitable hostel arrangements, good pay and emoluments and adequate safety and security arrangements are also provided to them. It has been rightly remarked by the former speakers that our Indian nurses require a great deal of security in villages and towns where they are required to work. That is specially the case with midwives and health visitors. The United Province is rather backward as far as social conditions go, and I know from personal experience that in the rural areas they are confronted with a great deal of difficulty in visiting homes freely at all times of day and night. I would suggest that some sort of facilities should be provided for nurses who are appointed in rural areas.

Referring to the indigenous dais, Sir, I know from personal experience that, as Mr. Sidhwa rightly remarked, they form a barrier to the effective working of these trained midwives in rural areas. These trained midwives are boycotted and ostracised by the population of the town simply because the indigenous dais create such conditions for these poor women that it is impossible for them to do their work as they should. It is necessary therefore that these indigenous dais should be given a certain amount of training and made to work in conformity and in conjunction with the trained midwives. They should not be altogether exterminated because they form a really formidable and important factor in village life, as I know personally. It would be better to get their co-operation by giving them training and enabling them to get certificates of midwifery so that they may not constitute a social and practical danger to these trained women who are sent by Government to these rural areas.

Then, Sir, I would like to bring to the notice of Government that these health visitors that we have, although they are to be found in every town on paper really do not do the amount of work that is necessary. They do not possess the drive and energy required of these Health visitors. One sees a board put up in some towns. Thus we only know the location of the Health Visitor. But as far as practical results are concerned, they are not such as to be called very satisfactory. The number is also inadequate; their number should be far more than at present. There should also be stricter supervision because then only can the results be really satisfactory. Reverting back to the question of nurses, Sir, as I have said, it is necessary that attractive terms are given to Indian women coming from good families to take up the profession of nursing. That is one of the great requirements of our times today and I believe that if hostel arrangements are made satisfactorily for these nurses in hospitals and their pays and emoluments are brought on a par with those of the British nurses, who were serving here. I do not see any reason why girls of good families would not come forward in order to make this profession as brilliant and to raise it to as high a standard as is necessary. Now that the British nurses have nearly all left India it is necessary that the void should be filled as soon as possible by girls of good families so that they may go out and be really a source of inspiration to their other sisters.

1 P.M.

I do not want to go into details, but, as I said, publicity is also one of the great factors that is needed for attracting women of the right class to this profession.

[Begun Aizaz Rasul]

With these few words, I give my wholehearted support to this measure and I also believe that every moment that this Bill is delayed will harm the country and therefore this measure should become law as soon as possible. This is one of the first social measures that has been brought forward and it is right and proper that it should have been done by the first woman Minister of our Government. I congratulate her on this legislation and hope that other measures that are so necessary for raising the social conditions of this country will also be coming soon before the House.

Shrimati G. Durgabai: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is with great pride and pleasure I rise to congratulate the Honourable the Mover of this Bill. Much has been said about my giving an amendment; I wanted the Bill to be referred to a Select Committee. But, Sir, let me make it clear at the very outset that when I have given my amendment, it is not with an idea to cause any delay in having this Bill placed on the statute book, but it is certainly to enable ourselves to have a comprehensive scheme of the All-India Organization of Nursing Council, because I am a believer that it does not serve our purpose merely because we are satisfied with having brought a kind of Bill and having placed it on the statute book. As soon as we have placed it, our worry starts and our anxiety starts as to how best we can give effect to all the programme that we have envisaged under this Act. That is really my anxiety. It is for this purpose that a little delay or time taken by ourselves will enable us to take into consultation various Provincial Governments and several other organizations which are very enthusiastic about doing this kind of work and also seek their advice in having a kind of programme which can be very enthusiastically and effectively worked out. That is the only purpose. But when I saw the Statement of Objects and Reasons as given by the Honourable the Mover, I understood the great urgency of an Ordinance already being there and the necessity for its being repealed. Therefore, I have agreed to withdraw my amendment to the Select Committee. It is really a pity to learn from so many Speakers and also from the figures that we have available in India that we have only 7,000 nurses. Is it because that India's population is so little that it does not require a larger number of nurses or is India's health of so high a standard that it does not require any more nurses to attend to this kind of profession? It is not that. It is because there is no extensive programme for enrolling many more ladies for this profession, and recently my experience is that under the Kasturba National Trust when so many lakhs of Rupees have been thrown away to give some kind of help to India's women to come and take this training and serve this noble profession, they would not come. I have seen in the Presidency of Madras some institutions for training nurses under the Kasturba National Trust have been established and several offers have been made, several advertisements and practically house to house propaganda have been made but in spite of all that women would not be coming forward to undergo this training and to take the benefit of the service rendered. When I see this condition in India and also compare it to the other countries, I am really surprised—it is a great pleasure to see the figures which we have available there—to see how those countries have progressed in this direction.

I am told that in the United Kingdom nearly even as early as 1924 there were 24,000 nurses with 42 branches throughout the United Kingdom and also in 1943 when an extensive scale of training had been started under Florence Nightingale, the figures were very very attractive. In 1943 there were nearly 25,000 nurses and in spite of that keen shortage was felt at that time. Therefore the Federal Act was passed and it provided for funds to give inducements to various schools and institutions to get more and more recruits and also to put them under this training. It also provided for the establishment of a Cadet Nursing Corps and this took upon itself two primary functions. One is the extensive recruitment campaign and the other was to collect funds to be offered as financial inducements to get more and more high-school and college girls to undergo this training. Such is the Act which was passed during that time in 1943 as a result of which the number increased 76 per cent. more over the number in 1940. So that was the great progress made during that time. The United States today has a great nursing reserve upon which it can draw upon in times of emergency. Our problem when we compare to the others is really very grave. Ours is not a temporary urgency, or a temporary emergency. Ours is a permanent problem because we know what the condition of health in our country is. Therefore we require a great and permanent reserve of nurses in India. For that the Central Government and also the provincial Governments must all put their brains together to enable this nursing institution to make good progress.

Another difficulty is this. There are several defects today in the training given. In olden days the nurse was considered as one who simply performed certain useful functions; but now the doctor or surgeon looks upon her as of great assistance and acts on the accuracy of the report given by her, because the doctor sees the patient only at intervals while the nurse has got the patient under her observation all the time. Therefore the standard of training has to be raised and efficiency also to be cared for. These are factors which have got to be considered, and how can we do it? Today it is difficult to reconcile the hours of study with the hours of duty in the wards; the nurses while working in the wards have at the same time to prepare for her examinations,—those conducted by the State as also conducted by the classes. These have got to be reconciled. Also there should be some kind of post-graduate training and coaching by tutors so that these nurses may be able to work in the different sections. There may be mental nurses, sick children's nurses and also private nurses to attend patients at home. Before we actually try to work out this programme the most important and necessary thing is the recruitment. For that we have all to co-operate with the Government and with the Honourable Mover whom I consider as the Florence Nightingale of India. Whenever we think of the nursing profession we cannot forget the great work of Florence Nightingale which stimulated the training of nurses throughout the world. Today the institution of nursing in any part of the world is due to the inspiration of Florence Nightingale. And in this country whenever we think of nursing we cannot forget the name of Rajkumari Amrit Kaur who—it may be said without exaggeration—is closely associated with this subject. But it is not enough that she alone will think of it; we also have to think of it and consider methods by which we can induce many women to adopt this noble profession.

Sir, I again congratulate the Honourable Minister on bringing forward this Bill.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): It is with a great deal of hesitation that I rise to say a few words on the Bill. It is not necessary for me to dilate on the importance of the nursing profession. Many of our lady members have spoken about it. My object is to draw attention to a few of the defects of the Bill as it stands at present. It is rather a slavish imitation of the Indian Medical Council Act and it is a pity that the new Health Minister did not herself modify the Bill so as to suit modern requirements. I think that it should have provided for an All-India Register of Nurses with superior qualifications; then that would have given a higher tone to the whole profession.

[Shri K. Shanthanam]

I am told that there are some constitutional difficulties in the way of instituting such a register. It is argued that as the profession comes under item 16 in List 3, the Central Government should not have executive or directive functions. But, Sir, this item also comes under entry 12 of the Federal Legislative List, which provides for federal agencies and for the varying purposes: for research, for professional or technical training or for the promotion of special studies. Therefore if a combined use had been made of the entries in the Concurrent List, as well as in the Federal List, a Bill with a Central Institute which will not only train but give qualifications, could have been brought into existence.

And then I do not see in this Bill any provision analogous to Clause 10 in the Pharmacy Bill, where they have given in detail what sort of educational regulations the Pharmacy Council is expected to lay down. Here everything is put in a small clause under the rule-making powers of clause 16, (g) and (h). I think a fuller provision would have suited the Bill much better. And most important of all, there is no real provision regarding finances. I think the finances of this institution should have been given more thought, especially provisions for taking endowments, instituting prizes and scholarships. It should not be merely examining bodies.

I think the whole conception of the Bill is that you want someone to issue instructions, to recognise certificates, and more or less be a sort of inspectorate. But it should have more constructive functions. This Council should take to fostering the profession. It must do something by itself so that the nursing profession might be fostered. Why should it not call for endowments from all parts of the country? Why should it not institute prizes and introduce scholarships inside and outside the country? It should become a real national institute which conducts research in nursing and fosters nursing, and does what other institutes in other countries do. We have the old idea of examining and issuing certificates. I think that part of it is very unsatisfactory, and I hope the Minister of Health will take the earliest opportunity to amplify the provisions of the Bill and make it a real centre for fostering the nursing profession.

With these few words I cordially support the motion for the consideration of the Bill.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras: General): This Bill relates to the organisation of motherhood. In one sense all of us are the children not merely of our mothers but also of the midwives who see to the delivery. And if the midwives had done anything wrong, either we would have died before we were born or we would have been born before we died. I know the difficulties of midwifery and nursing. Long nights of vigil I had kept for 90 days on end, 45 years ago in the obstetric hospital, without sleep, standing at the bedside of the woman in pains. These women are a very troublesome lot. They do not deliver when they are expected to: whole nights were spent in vain, and we never saw the baby. We saw the pains and to their pains we added our own. In the morning the case went to the next student. At the same time it was the patience of the nurses that helped to lighten the burden of the woman and also to put cheer into the lives of the students, both men and women.

Long years hence, it will be recalled how on the 8th December 1947, a maiden of a Minister had conceived and developed a full-term baby called the Nursing Bill, and three hundred men and women nurses had assisted at an easy delivery of it. To subject this Bill to the tortures of a select committee would have made it a forceps delivery or at least, a case of difficult labour. I therefore congratulate Shrimati Durgabai on her having withdrawn her motion.

This Bill is after all a very simple Bill. Nurses are so much in request that I only hope that the country midwives will not be told off their work at once. They too have played their part nobly and well. Every woman in confinement requires the assistance of a midwife in order to comfort her, strengthen her in bearing down pains and also to direct her attention away from her own sufferings. The nurse's one duty is to watch the patient in labour and spot the point of danger. Honourable Mr. Sidhwa was saying that infant mortality is largely due to bad nursing and bad midwifery. I do not know whether bad midwifery is reflected in infant mortality only or in maternal mortality as well. One essential point is that the nurse should not interfere with the passage of delivery. It is too often a temptation for the nurses or midwives, too strong for resistance. They think that by their frequent examinations they would help in quickening delivery, which is wrong. Also the relations of the woman in confinement are very anxious to know when the confinement is coming. Perhaps they expect a bad star to come in and would like the delivery to be expedited before the star rises. So many adventitious considerations always act and react upon the process of accouchement. The nurse must know when she must send for the doctor. After all the doctors are not always at our service. Half an hour after the presentation of the head the nurse should not allow any further time to elapse before the complete delivery takes place, otherwise there is the danger of the child being choked. That is the moment when the nurse should send an urgent message to the doctor. Doctors are callous; they are not as sensitive as ourselves, certainly not as kind as they ought to be. If they are sent for too soon they blame the nurse but if they are sent for too late, they say it is all over. Of English medicine it has been said that the English doctors say that in the earlier stages nothing need be done but in the later stages nothing can be done. Therefore the doctors are always a hard lot to deal with and the nurse is lost between the patient and the doctor. She must be a trained nurse, an expert and know when exactly to send for assistance. She must have judgment, balance and resourcefulness.

There is quite a lot of exaggeration of the troubles of labour. But 90 per cent. or more of the deliveries in the world take place normally, as if they were merely processes of physiology without the knowledge and assistance of a doctor or even a midwife. My mother begot me after fetching a pot of water and then she lay down in the house and I was born. There was no fuss about it, no sending for the doctor or nurse, no sepsis, asepsis or anti-sepsis. That is the way in which most rural labour takes place. The distempers of life grow in importance with the importance of the person involved. The cold of Mahatma Gandhi is more advertised than my appendicitis. Therefore we are apt to make much of the process which after all is a normal process in life. In 90 per cent. of cases I have said the process is normal, yet all human precautions are taken against the abnormal. Thefts do not take place every day. They may happen once in 40 years. Yet we do close every night and bolt 16 doors and 20 windows. Why do I continue to take this trouble? Because life must be judged and conditioned by the doctrine of averages. That 10 per cent. of cases of misadventure we should provide against.

The question sometimes arises whether the child's life should be imperilled or the mother's, if peril is inevitable. There are certain cases in which peril is inevitable. In Germany they do not mind killing the mother to save the child, whereas in Britain the mother must be saved at any cost even at the cost of the child. National ideals and angles of vision differ. Our nurses must be educated on these various aspects. With their technical knowledge and long experience they will be able to spot or sense the time at which they feel the doctor's intervention is necessary. For this purpose you must have the right training under the Nursing Bill. I welcome this Bill and I congratulate the Honourable Minister in Charge for having brought it before the House.

Shri V. I. Munishwami Pillai (Madras: General): Sir, in supporting the Bill introduced by the Honourable Minister for Public Health I would like to say that during the short period she has been in office she brought before the House the other day a motion for the ratification of the International Public Health Organisation Convention and again on the 2nd of this month she was able to accept a resolution for the amelioration of the condition of the depressed classes. Today she has brought a very noteworthy piece of legislation which will go a long way towards the amelioration of the people of my community. The provisions that have been made here I may say have not been obtaining in the villages. Midwives and nurses are not at all obtainable in the villages. Having taken the stand to improve the lot or the condition of the Harijans I may tell the Honourable Minister that it is high time that the people of my community, who as my friend Mr. Sidhwa rightly pointed out are the most efficient people in this respect, and need encouragement. These neglected people cannot get the services of midwives or nurses, for these latter are concentrated in towns. If you look at the living places of the aboriginal tribes it is appalling. In my province in some of the districts where these aboriginal tribes live in large numbers I do not think they have seen a midwife. My learned doctor friend Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya was explaining the way how these confinement cases are treated. I may tell the Honourable Minister that the aborigines have no midwives at all. When a woman is about to be confined she is left in a small hut and no man, woman or child is allowed to go near it until the woman of herself is confined. This is the state of affairs in the abode of the aborigines. When these councils come into existence they must recruit proper people from the villages and from my community. I know as a matter of fact that some people who have been taken from the Harijan classes have proved more than satisfactory in the services they gave to the public. When Missionaries had their institutions near villages they have been taking our people for training as midwives. Latterly they have been converted. With the disappearance of the Europeans possibly the Missionaries zeal in this respect will also disappear. I would like the Honourable Minister to see that wherever these missionary bodies recruit and prepare midwives and nurses from the depressed classes, these people are given only the training in the profession and not for purposes of conversion to Christianity.

With these observations, Sir, I support the Bill.

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Sir, I am delighted that this Bill has received the support of the House. I do not think I need say any more except to tell the Honourable Members who have spoken that this is really only a first step towards the strengthening and encouragement of this profession. Until we are able to have a Council that can prescribe a uniform minimum standard for training and qualifications we cannot get any further. But I would like to assure the Honourable Member who talked about fostering the profession that we shall certainly foster this profession. This Bill is one of the means of doing what he would have us do, that is, to make this profession something worth while. I realize that we have not got enough nurses in the villages. It is for that reason also that I want nursing to become a first-rate profession. It is a scientific profession and we can no longer afford to neglect it. Therefore I am delighted that my Honourable friend Shrimati Durga Bai withdrew the amendment for reference to Select Committee. Whether the European Missionaries remain here or not is immaterial. We want the missionary spirit to come into our people. I hope that this nursing profession will be filled with that spirit and that we shall be able to encourage it in every way.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to constitute an Indian Nursing Council, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: I shall now take the Bill clause by clause.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Sir, I beg to move: "That in part (c) of clause 2 of the Bill, after the word 'Province' wherever it occurs, the words 'or a State' be inserted."

Sir, the object of my amendment is to make it easy for even the acceding States, if they so choose, to bring their law regarding the Indian Nursing Council in harmony with that prevailing here. From time to time various States in India have been copying pieces of legislation made by the Central Legislature, but they took their own time. Instead of asking them to introduce similar legislation in those States, my amendment makes this applicable to the States also in case the Rulers of the States, by their Instrument of Accession or any supplemental instrument or agreement want to extend the provisions of this Bill, after it becomes an Act, to their own territory. That is the object of my amendment.

We have similar instances. For instance the Electricity Bill that was introduced the other day and which was discussed today and sent to Select Committee states (clause 3) that the Act will come into force in the Provinces on a notification being issued by the Provincial Government on such and such date. Some Provincial Governments may choose to bring it into operation immediately while some others may not wish to take advantage of it. We are therefore accustomed to this sort of provision in a legislation. The other day the Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill moved by the Honourable the Home Member was considered and sent to Select Committee. Under that Bill this Dominion Legislature gives power to the executive here, even over States and territories that have not acceded, and over States which have acceded, to the Union under their jurisdiction which they did not confer by virtue of the Instrument of Accession. We have got that right under Section 8 of the Government of India Act which says:

"Subject to the provisions of this Act, the executive authority of the Dominion extends to the matters with respect to which the Dominion Legislature has power to make laws, including the exercise of rights, authority and jurisdiction, in and in relation to areas outside the Dominion."

Their right extends not only to areas inside their jurisdiction but outside it also in matters with respect to which the Dominion Legislature can enact laws to be operative inside an acceding State. Clause 6, sub-clause (2) says:

"An Instrument of Accession shall specify the matters which the Ruler accepts as matters with respect to which the Dominion Legislature may make laws for the State, and the limitations, if any, to which the power of the Dominion Legislature to make laws for the State and the exercise of the executive authority of the Dominion in the State, are respectively to be subject."

Sub-clause (3) contemplates a supplementary Instrument. It says:

"A Ruler may, by a supplementary Instrument executed by him and accepted by the Governor-General, vary the Instrument of Accession of his State by extending the functions which by virtue of that Instrument are exercisable by any Dominion authority in relation to his State."

This Instrument of Accession need not be on stamp paper. If the Ruler writes a letter,—"for the sake of uniformity etc. I accept the Dominion laws with respect to such and such matters", the letter he writes and the acceptance thereon by the Governor-General become ipso facto a supplementary Act of Accession. That is all that is contemplated here. Then the Dominion Legislature has got power to pass laws with respect to all such matters—medical profession, nursing etc. We will be able to introduce pieces of legislation for regulating the medical profession, the Nursing Council and so on and so forth. All that I ask now is that a provision should be made here that in case the Ruler of an acceding State or territory signifies his assent that this Bill may extend to his State, there may be no need for enacting a separate legislation for the giving the Central Legislature the power to extend this legislation to the States, I am sure we could not anticipate that there might be an Instrument of Accession which the Governor-General might accept and then we might get a chance to extend this legislation. I am sure that is contrary to the principles of legislation. All that, therefore, we must hope for, for the moment, is to confine the Bill to the Provinces of British India, to hope that we will get similar Instruments of Accession—supplementary ones—from the Indian States, when we can by law either extend our legislation to the States or the States can pari passu along with this legislation have similar legislation in their own States and make the provisions of this law applicable to their territory. Sir, I therefore think that this amendment would make the Bill ultra vires and therefore could not be accepted.

[Dr. B. R. Ambedkar]

Mr. Speaker: No argument is necessary over this. After all it is a question of discussing the legal position. The Honourable the Law Minister has made the position of the Government clear. I am not sitting here as a court to hear legal arguments from both sides.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I have a real point to make. This is a matter of the utmost importance because the same issue is bound to arise with almost any Bill that is coming before the House. I do not agree that the Law Minister is correct in his interpretation of law and I suggest that the Government of India should take this question to the Federal Court because I feel there is a fundamental distinction with regard to compulsory and enabling Bills. If it is a matter of compulsory jurisdiction, I entirely agree with him that we cannot extend the jurisdiction beyond the four corners of the Bill but so far as the enabling jurisdiction is concerned, I feel we shall be entirely within our powers to enact Bills which may at some time and some place come into operation. The whole question is, supposing we extend it, can that extension come into operation at some place and at some time? If it can, then it is a right Bill, if it cannot satisfy that test, then it is a wrong provision. I do suggest that it can come into force on certain conditions as described by my friend Mr. Ayyangar, on the execution of a supplemental Instrument of Accession; it can come into force in a particular State and at a particular time, and therefore I think it is an entirely right position, and I suggest to the Government of India that they should take proper legal opinion; they may refer this to the Federal Court and get its opinion under the Declaration Section.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I am only asking one question of the Honourable the Law Minister. He will see that under Section 5 of the Government of India Act as adapted, the Dominion of India includes "any other areas that may with the consent of the Dominion be included in the Dominion". We may assume that "any other area" comes into the Dominion; shall we once again pass a similar Act applying that to the Dominion? Automatically it becomes part of the Dominion. I suggest let us not restrict the scope to Provinces alone. Say "India", to whomsoever it applies.

Mr. Speaker: The point has been cleared. Does the Honourable Member press his amendment now?

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: I do not, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw his amendment?

The amendment was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 2 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I move:

"That in sub-clause (1) of clause 3 of the Bill, the following new part (o) be added at the end, namely:

'(o) two members elected by the Central Legislature'."

In all the bodies which are set up and financed by the Central Government we have similar representation. We have representation in the Indian Institute of Science at Bangalore, the Delhi University and in other bodies. It may be objected that this is a purely technical institution and therefore there may not be any popular representative; but the people are very interested in this nursing profession and I think there should be some opportunity for our Lady Members, doctors and others in this Assembly to keep in touch and know how this Bill is working so that when there is an amendment of the Bill they may help us. I hope the amendment will be accepted by the Honourable the Minister.

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That in sub-clause (1) of clause 3 of the Bill, the following new part (o) be added at the end, namely:

'(o) two members elected by the Central Legislature'."

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Sir, we had not included any Members of the Central Legislature simply because this Body was going to be concerned solely with educational standards, that is, professional standards of training, and it was to be and will be an expert body. But if the House wishes to stress this point, and if they are anxious, and also if it means that they are really going to be interested in the nursing profession and will give me every support in everything that I want to do for encouraging and raising the standard of this profession, I will accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That in sub-clause (1) of clause 3 of the Bill, the following new part (o) be added at the end, namely:

'(o) two members elected by the Central Legislature'."

The motion was adopted.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I move:

"That in the Proviso to sub-clause (2) of clause 3 of the Bill, all the words occurring after the words 'Central Government' where they occur for the second time be omitted."

The point is very simple, Sir. Here it is said that the Central Government nominates certain members and for the first time when it nominates a President, it may be a non-member. I do not see any necessity for a non-member being brought in when the Central Government has power to nominate members. Therefore I move this amendment.

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That in the Proviso to sub-clause (2) of clause 3 of the Bill, all the words occurring after the words 'Central Government' where they occur for the second time be omitted."

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Sir, I accept the amendment.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, on a point of order, regarding the words "accept the amendment". The effect of that "acceptance" in a public meeting is at once automatically to convert the original Resolution and the amendment into one complete Resolution. But here in this Assembly we cannot accept a Resolution in the same sense. What "acceptance" should mean in the circumstances, should be that the Honourable the Mover of the Resolution or the Motion would be prepared to support the amendment. That is the constitutional significance of the word "acceptance" as it has been used here. But as it has already acquired a constitutional significance in regard to general meetings, I think the word "acceptance" should not be used in a purpose. The law says that as soon as the Ruler of a State accedes and confers powers on the Dominion Legislature it is competent to the Dominion Legislature to enact laws, whatever might be the nature of the subject in respect of which he hands over the jurisdiction to the Dominion Legislature. He may concede the jurisdiction in respect of the medical profession, nursing or anything else. This is in keeping with various enactments under which Provincial Governments by notification bring the law into force. This is also in keeping with the power that we have taken, the principle of which was accepted when we referred to Select Committee the Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill that was introduced the other day by the Honourable the Home Member.

[Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar]

Sir, there is one more point. The question might be asked what happens if the Dominion Legislature passes an Act, after the Ruler signifies his assent, with respect to a matter which he did not originally contemplate. I would meet it this way. The States' Representatives are here; they are the representatives of the rulers or of the people. They will be in a position to safeguard the interests of the State. They can take part in the discussion and there is nothing preventing them from voting one way or the other. We need not postpone consideration of this to a separate Act being brought into existence, but can immediately pass it because the States' representatives are here who can accept or reject it from their point of view. Instead of duplicating our efforts I would urge that this amendment be accepted. It will come into operation in relation to a State only when the Ruler of a State, by a supplementary Instrument of Accession, decides to extend the scope of this to his own particular State. I would commend this for acceptance by the Honourable the Law Member, the Mover of this Bill and the whole House.

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved.

"That in part (c) of clause 2 of the Bill, after the word 'Province' wherever it occurs, the words 'or a State' be inserted."

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): As the amendment moved by my friend Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar raises a question of law, it is only right and proper that I should take the responsibility upon myself to meet the point that arises out of his amendment. No one can deny that the object underlying the amendment of Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar is a very laudable one. A Bill like this which deals with the nursing profession and tries to regularize and establish that profession on a footing which would gain the confidence of all those who take service from the nurses and that it should be extended to the whole of India, I say, is a very laudable thing. But unfortunately, situated as we are, and governed as we are by the Government of India Act, 1935, as adapted, I am afraid it will not be possible to accept his amendment because I have no doubt that his amendment would make the Bill ultra vires of the Legislature. Sir, to explain my point I should like to state to the House that for the moment the States are linked with the Union of India in two different ways. The one way by which they are linked is what is called the standstill agreement which has been made between the Union of India and the various Indian States. The second link by which the States are bound to the Indian Union are the Instruments of Accession. Now there is a fundamental difference between the two links. The standstill agreements are purely contractual. They preserve such agreements as existed between the old Government of India and the Indian States under paramountcy before the 15th of August 1947. As I said they are purely contractual. They do not confer any jurisdiction upon the Government of India to legislate either by way of altering those arrangements or making them the foundation of any law which would bind the Indian States. Therefore, so far as we are concerned, in the matter of making any law by this legislature which is intended to be applicable to the Indian States, it is quite clear to my mind that we cannot take our stand on the standstill agreement. We must therefore rely upon the Instruments of Accession which is the only foundation which gives us legal jurisdiction to pass any law. My submission is this, that if you take the Instruments of Accession, the Instruments of Accession, as they stand now—and I shall presently explain to the House why I emphasize 'as they stand now',—this House has no jurisdiction. In the first place this legislation relates to entry No. 16 in the Concurrent field. It does not relate, so far as the matter under legislation is concerned, to the Federal List or to the Provincial List. It relates only to the Concurrent List. Now, as everybody is aware, the Instruments of Accession, whatever power they give to the Central Legislature to legislate, definitely exclude all items which are included in the Concurrent List. I should have thought that by that very proposition, that the Concurrent Lists are not covered by the Instruments of Accession, the jurisdiction of this House is completely ousted. The only thing therefore that we have to find out is whether the Instruments of Accession which have been passed by the different States in favour of the Union of India cover anything which relates or which is equivalent to entry No. 16 in the Concurrent List. Now, Sir, these Instruments of Accession were placed on the Table of the House, and anybody who has had the time to scrutinize them would have found that the States have acceded only in respect of three subjects, and none of the subjects can be so interpreted as to include an item like item No. 16 in the Concurrent List. Therefore my submission is this, that even if we were to rely upon the Instruments of Accession, this House cannot derive any jurisdiction from those Instruments of Accession. My Honourable friend Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar evidently realised this difficulty and put forth the proposition which he said was capable of being adopted by this House in order to extend the legislation to the Indian States. His proposition was this. There have been many pieces of legislation passed by this House which were limited in the first instance to certain areas, such as for instance a province or a district or any smaller area, and the Bill included a clause which enabled the executive, by a notification, to extend that particular legislation to other areas not originally included in the Bill. Now that proposition, so far as it applies to the provinces of British India, is perfectly sound. But if it were to be applied to the Indian States, it would be wholly unsound, and the reason is this. The analogy is absolutely false and not true. Now, Sir, when we apply the legislation, which is originally in the Bill itself confined to a particular area, to another area not made subject to that at the time when the Bill was passed, the position is this, that the area over which the legislation is subsequently extended to is not subject to the jurisdiction of that legislation. If the legislature wanted in the very first instance to apply that law to that area, nothing in the constitution of this Government or in the powers of the legislature could prevent the legislature from doing so. So far as the States are concerned, we have jurisdiction over their territory with regard to three subjects only; we have not got full jurisdiction. We are not limiting our jurisdiction when we are legislating with respect to a State in respect of the three subjects; we are in fact spending our legislative authority to the fullest extent that we have. The analogy, therefore, is not a correct analogy. So far as the Provinces are concerned, we have at the moment, when we are enacting the law, jurisdiction which we could exercise if we wanted to do so. That is not the case with regard to the Indian States. True enough, if a supplementary Instrument of Accession was passed we could get the jurisdiction necessary for the purpose of enacting the law; but what I would like to submit to my friend Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar is that the law can never be hypothetical and a law can never be passed in anticipation of some jurisdiction being acquired. That is contrary to the principle of legislation. Law must be definite, law must be absolutely clear as to what it applies, to what it cannot apply. And therefore unless and until we have with us a supplementary Instrument of Accession different sense here as far as possible. In fact, it may have a misleading effect, although by your own ruling you have been making it absolutely clear that it is for the House to "accept" it or not. I submit, therefore, that the word "accept" should not be allowed to be used in the House. To use one expression in different senses, one in this House and one outside it, might lead to confusion and that confusion should not be allowed to creep in. That is the humble suggestion which I submit for your consideration.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

Mr. Speaker: With due deference to the Honourable Member, I do not see any chances of confusion, because we are governed by our own rules and regulations; we are not governed by the law which governs public meetings. I do not see what other expression than "accept" can be used. It is competent for the House to reject the amendment, although she may accept it.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: I was suggesting that the Honourable the proposer of the original motion or resolution should say, she would be prepared to "support" the amendment. That would be more accurate and remove a legal complication.

Mr. Speaker: I think "accept" would be perhaps a more suitable term, because the Honourable Member is in charge of the Bill and it is her choice whether to accept any suggestion made or not. I would like to look at it from that point of view. However, the matter is not of very great importance.

The question is:

"That in the Proviso to sub-clause (2) of clause 3 of the Bill, all the words occurring after the words 'Central Government' where they occur for the second time be omitted."

The motion was adopted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, before you proceed to clause 3, I have got a consequential amendment to make. The proviso to sub-clause (2) of clause 3, as amended by Mr. Santhanam's amendment reads:

"Provided that for five years from the first constitution of the Council the President shall be a person nominated by the Central Government. . . ."

The intention of Mr. Santhanam's amendment is that Government will not have the power to bring in outsiders. The Government have powers to nominate all members of the Council. They have also power to nominate the President. As the clause stands now, they have power to nominate even a non-member. Therefore, we should state wherefrom the President shall be nominated. I suggest that "from among the members of the Council" should be added immediately after the words "nominated by the Central Government".

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Sir, I have already got a similar amendment. The Honourable Member has intervened before I moved it. I beg to move:

"That in the Proviso to sub-clause (2) of clause 3 of the Bill as amended, after the words 'person nominated', the words 'from amongst the members of the Council' be inserted."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That in the Proviso to sub-clause (2) of clause 3 of the Bill as amended, after the words 'person nominated', the words 'from amongst the members of the Council' be inserted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 3, as amended, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 3, as amended, was added to the Bill.

Clauses 4 to 9 were added to the Bill.

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I do not wish to move amendment No. 7. I move only No. 8. I beg to move:

"That in part (i) of the second proviso to sub-clause (3) of clause 10 of the Bill, for the words 'subject to any earlier termination of the arrangements in accordance with the terms thereof' the words 'unless the Council decides otherwise' be substituted."

The proviso reads:

"any reciprocal arrangements subsisting at the date of commencement of the Act between a Provincial Council and any authority outside India for the recognition of qualifications continue in force."

The reciprocal arrangements are there, and the terms by which they can be terminated are also there. But there should be a provision that the Central Council shall have the authority to direct the Provincial Council to terminate them earlier because they may be inconsistent with the whole scheme. It is this lacuna which my amendment seeks to fill, by saying "unless the Council decides otherwise" instead of saying "subject to any earlier termination of the arrangements in accordance with the terms thereof".

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That in part (i) of the second proviso to sub-clause (3) of clause 10 of the Bill, for the words 'subject to any earlier termination of the arrangements in accordance with the terms thereof' the words 'unless the Council decides otherwise' be substituted."

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Sir, I accept the amendment.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That in part (i) of the second proviso to sub-clause (3) of clause 10 of the Bill, for the words 'subject to any earlier termination of the arrangements in accordance with the terms thereof' the words 'unless the Council decides otherwise' be substituted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 10, as amended, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 10, as amended, was added to the Bill.

Clauses 11 to 15 were added to the Bill.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I beg to move:

"That in sub-clause (2) of clause 16 of the Bill, for the words 'the President may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government', the following be substituted, namely:

"the Central Government may."

Sub-clause (2) reads thus:

"To enable the Council to be first constituted the President may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government, make regulations for elections. . . ."

Now, if a President may be nominated by the Government who is not a member of the Council, that is an outsider, then this provision is all right. But we have provided now that the President shall be a member of the Council and shall be nominated from among the members of the Council. Thus for the Council to be first constituted, the President is not there. He has not come into being. This seems to be a little inverted. I would suggest therefore that the Central Government may frame rules instead of the President. The simple thing, the President does not come into being. Wherefrom does he come into being when the Council itself has not been constituted? You must first of all have a Council. We have accepted the principle that Members of the Council have to be appointed and thereafter one of them must be made the President. I do not see how this clause will apply when the President will only be a member of the Council before he is appointed. The Government alone can frame the rules and regulations under which the elections can be held.

1486

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [8TH DEC. 1947]

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: The position is, as I said on the last occasion, this legislation refers to entry No. 16 in the Concurrent Legislative List. The executive authority with regard to the legislation framed under the Concurrent Legislative List does not vest in the Central Government. Rule-making has been interpreted to be in exercise of the executive authority and the Central Government does not possess that executive authority and therefore, they cannot make the rules. The rules may be made by somebody else. If my Honourable friend objects to the President making the rule, he may suggest some other method to making them, though he certainly cannot make any amendment whereby the responsibility or the authority for making the rules shall be vested in the Central Legislature. Section 8(1) of the Government of India Act and section 49 (2) of the Government of India Act of 1939 are quite clear on this point.

Shri K. Santhanam: Here again, I find that it is rather a curious law that has been expounded the Central Government cannot make rules. A nominee of the Central Government can make rules but not the Central Government. The present proposal is that the President should be nominated by the Central Government and he may make rules. After all it is a Council of All India and I cannot see any authority in the Government of India to make rules. It is only so far as Provincial Councils are concerned that directions cannot be issued. I therefore think that the law as expounded is altogether wrong. The Central Government should have the power. I therefore suggest that the amendment should be accepted.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: I am appealing to my honourable friend for this reason. Assuming that the Government of India accepts and all these rules and regulations are incorporated in the Act itself what has my friend to say to that? We are now assuming clauses and brought this Act into existence and instead of giving the rule-making power to somebody, we will assume we will sit together and adjourn in a week; we incorporate it in this Act. Would he then say that we had no jurisdiction? Therefore whatever regulation is made shall have to be part and parcel of the Act itself.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): I find some difficulty in supporting the amendment of my Honourable friend Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar. It appears to me to be inconsistent with the scheme which the author of this Bill or the Government who had brought the Bill have in view. They want to create an autonomous Council to do all the work which this Bill has in view. It is for that purpose that the Central Government is denying the power of making rules to themselves and not conferring them upon any other Government. In this case it gives the power to the President of that Council to make those rules in the first place and also gives the power to the Council to alter them if necessary. The Government gives this power to the autonomous council which is to be created under that law. I therefore cannot support the amendment of my Honourable friend, Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.

Mr. Speaker: I have not much understood the legal niceties of the thing. May I point out one thing? The power is given here by clause (2) to make regulations for the conduct of the elections referred to in sub-section (2) of section 5 and section 5 specifically refers to elections under sub-section (1) of section 3 by Provincial Councils shall be conducted in accordance with...etc. So the rule-making, as the Honourable the Law Member has pointed out, is a matter for the Provincial Councils and not for the Central Government. This is his argument goes.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Then he must remove the words "with the approval of the Central Government".

Mr. Speaker: He need not necessarily remove it. That will be a sort of check. The initial power will be exercised by the Provincial Government, but this applies only at the initial stages and not later on.

Shri K. Santhanam: Then the Central Government is the arbitrator—the final authority.

Mr. Speaker: Whatever it may be, his position seems to be that, but that is a matter of opinion. It may appear to some as valid, but to others it may not. Does the Honourable Member press the amendment?

Shri K. Santhanam: Yes, Sir; otherwise the thing will be inconsistent.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: With regard to the contention that the Central Government have no jurisdiction to make rules even if this amendment is carried, I think the contention is not right. The House has jurisdiction to legislate over this matter. The Central Government has not power apart from this amendment, but we are by this amendment going to authorise and empower the Central Government to make rules. The authority which was not there is directly being conferred by this amendment. If this amendment is accepted, I fail to see why the Central Government will have no jurisdiction. If we have the power to authorise a subordinate body to make rules, I do not see how we cannot authorise the Central Government to make the rules. The question depends on the House having jurisdiction over the subject matter itself, and if we are assured of that, I think there will be no difficulty.

Mr. Speaker: I should not be taken to give a very considered opinion over this; it will require some time. To give power to the Central Government would perhaps be running counter to section 5 as incorporated. Is the Central Government to arbitrate in the matter, and sub-section (1) of section 5 leaves the election to the Provincial Councils, then the power should be left as it is. Otherwise the Central Government will be both a rule-making body and also an arbitrator. There seems to be some contradiction in the two positions.

Shri K. Santhanam: It is only for the first elections. Afterwards the Council will make its own rules.

Mr. Speaker: I do not propose to argue the merits at all. I am merely pointing out in the interest of better legislation what appears on the face, but it is entirely for the House to accept or reject it. I am putting the amendment to the House then.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Has the Honourable Minister accepted that.

Mr. Speaker: No. The question is:

"That in sub-clause (2) of clause 16 of the Bill, for the words 'the President may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government', the following be substituted, namely: 'the Central Government may'."

The motion was negatived.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 16 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 16 was added to the Bill.

Clause 17 was added to the Bill.

The Schedule was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

The motion was adopted.

DELHI PREMISES (REQUISITION AND EVICTION) BILL

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill to confer certain powers in respect of premises in the Province of Delhi, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

Much of the ground with regard to this Bill was covered at the time when the Select Committee motion was made and accepted by the House and this need not be repeated. In the Select Committee certain new provisions have been incorporated and the whole Bill has been arranged in such a manner as to make it more systematic. The main changes made in the Select Committee are these; firstly, with regard to the extension of the application of this Bill, in the original Bill the whole of the Delhi Province was to be the area from the beginning; now it has been accepted that it will extend to the Notified Area of the Civil Station of Delhi, to New Delhi and Karol Bagh areas, but the Central Government may by notification in the official Gazette extend this Act to such other area or areas in the province of Delhi as may be specified. The second change made in the original Bill is about duration. It shall remain in force till the 31st December, 1949, but the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, extend it for a further period of one year. Then so far as the requisition procedure is concerned, it has now been laid down in clause 3 that there will be a sort of preliminary notice to the landlord or tenant or, possibly where necessary, to both, when an opportunity will be given to them to represent if they have any objections; and after what they have to say has been taken into consideration, final orders as regards requisition will be passed. There has been a further amendment which is in the proviso to sub-clause (4) of clause 3. That proviso states that where a landlord or tenant is using any premises for the residence of himself or his family the competent authority shall as far as possible provide alternative accommodation which in the opinion of the competent authority is suitable. In the original Bill this provision was not there, although while speaking on the motion I stated that as far as possible efforts were made to accommodate the actual occupant, whether it was the landlord or whether it was the tenant. Now what was being done actually has been incorporated in the Bill, although the House may find from the Minute of Dissent of certain members that they are anxious to delete this "as far as possible" and to make it a statutory obligation on the requisitioning authority that no house can be requisitioned unless an alternative accommodation is found out. If I were to accept that it would frustrate the whole object of the Bill and therefore it was not accepted in the Select Committee, and the majority in the Select Committee was convinced that such acceptance would be tantamount to sabotaging the whole Bill.

Then with respect to the procedure for taking possession after the requisition order has been passed certain difficulties have been experienced. In the original Bill the provision was that the matter was to be taken up to the civil court having jurisdiction and the order was to be executed as if it was a decree. But all those delays in which lawyers delight were experienced and in view of the very peculiar circumstances in which Government find themselves with respect to the accommodation question it was decided that a quicker remedy ought to be provided. Therefore it has been provided in sub-clause (2) of clause 6 that as soon as an order is made and the person concerned does not comply with it the competent authority may take possession of the premises requisitioned forthwith. But we have also added a safeguard that as against this order provision has been made for an appeal.

Another important change that has been made by the Select Committee is with respect to the definition of 'compensation'. As a matter of fact many factors were taken into consideration and the original definition was not sufficiently definite. So it has now been decided that the word 'compensation' should consist as detailed in clause 7 and factors such as expenses required for going out of and coming into the premises may also be taken into consideration.

Then in the original Bill the rights and liabilities of the requisitioning authorities were not defined and matters were left vague. The question that was mooted was whether the relationship was one of landlord and tenant and, if that is so, whether the general provisions of the Transfer of Property Act applied or not. Then it was finally decided that such provisions of the Transfer of Property Act as were absolutely necessary for properly defining the relationship between the requisitioning authority and the landlord or the tenant, who-soever might be the occupant, should be embodied in this Bill. That has been done, as you will see, in clause 8.

Then there is only a small amendment made in the clause that reserves the power to make rules, and that is with respect to the procedure to be followed in taking possession of the premises required. And that has become necessary because of the fact that now the competent authority can take possession forthwith.

These are the main changes and in view of the great urgency of this Bill being enacted I request the House to pass this motion for consideration.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to confer certain powers in respect of premises in the Province of Delhi, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

پنڈت تھاکر داس بہارگو (ایسٹ پنجاب جنرل): مانینگ سپیکر صاحب اسمیں شک نہیں جیسا کہ آرہیل Mover نے فرمایا ہے یہ بل سلیکٹ کمیٹی سے جس شکل میں اب ہمارے پاس آیا ہے پہلے کی نسبت بہت اچھا ہے۔ اسمیں بہت سی ایسی باتیں ہیں جو کہ original بل میں نہیں تھیں۔ اسلئے اِسبارے میں میں کچھ عرض کرنا نہیں چاہتا کیونکہ آرہیل Mover نے پہلے ہی اس کے سلسلے میں ذکر کیا ہے۔ میں آپ کی توجہ اس کی اُن باتوں پر دلاؤں گا جو کہ unsatisfactory ہیں میں اس وجہ سے اُن تمام amendments کی مفصل دلائل میں نہیں جانا چاہتا جو کہ اس بل کے بارے میں میرے نام اور دیگر اصحاب کے نام پر ہیں۔ میں صرف اپنی دوسری amendment کے بابت کچھ عرض کروں گا کیونکہ میں شاید اسکو آئندہ move نہ کر سکوں۔ Land acquisition اور Land requisition کے سلسلے میں جس بات کی طرف میں توجہ دلانا چاہتا ہوں۔ اس بارے میں میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ گورنمنٹ کو مکانات اور گھروں کو requisition کرنے سے پہلے اسبات کا declaration کرنا چاہیئے کہ وہ کس پبلک purpose کے لئے لئے جاتے ہیں۔ اگر گورنمنٹ یہ نہیں کرتی ہے تو گورنمنٹ کو مکان

[پلڈت تھاکر داس بہارگوا]

لینے کا حق نہیں ہے۔ اس میں شک نہیں کہ پرائیویٹ مکانوں اور گھروں کے acquisition اور requisition کو public purpose کے لئے رکھا ہے۔ لیکن تاہم یہ ضروری ہے کہ ایسا کرنے سے پیشتر اس بات کا declaration کیا جائے اور اسکو حکم میں ہی ظاہر کیا جائے کہ یہ مکانات فلاں پبلک purpose کے لئے requisition کئے جاتے ہیں۔ اور اگر اس بل میں اس بات کا کوئی provision نہیں کیا گیا ہے تو ایسا کرنا چاہیئے تھا۔ تاکہ اپیل کرنے کے وقت ایسا کوئی سوال نہ اُٹھے۔ کہ اُسکو کسی خاص purpose کے لئے لیا گیا ہے یا نہیں۔ رول نمبر ۸ کے ضمن (۱) میں یہ درج ہے کہ گورنمنٹ جو public purpose ظاہر کرے۔ اس کے خلاف ممکن کو استعمال نہیں کر سکتے۔

اگر اس آرڈر میں جس کی رو سے ممکن requisition کیا گیا ہو اُس میں خاص پبلک purpose ظاہر نہ کیا جائے تو رول نمبر ۸ ضمنی (۱) بے معنی ہوگا۔ Land Acquisition Act کے دفعہ نمبر ۴ اور دفعہ نمبر ۳۵ میں یہ بات واضح طور پر درج کی گئی ہے۔ لیکن اس بل میں اسکو provide نہیں کیا گیا ہے کہ کس پبلک purpose کے لئے کوئی مکان یا مکانات requisition کئے جائیں گے۔ رول نمبر ۸ ضمنی (۱) میں اپیل کے متعلق درج کیا گیا ہے لیکن جب کوئی اپیل ہو تو وہاں پر یہ سوال ضرور پیدا ہوگا کہ کس خاص پبلک purpose کے لئے requisition کیا گیا تھا اس لئے یہ ضروری ہے کہ requisition کے حکم کے اندر یہ ظاہر کیا جائے کہ فلاں پبلک purpose کے لئے requisition کیا جا رہا ہے۔ دوسری بات جو اس بل میں ہے وہ یہ ہے کہ دفعہ نمبر ۴ کے تحت compensation دیا جائیگا اگر قانونی نقطہ نظر سے اسکو دیکھا جائے تو یہ درست نہیں ہے کیونکہ اگر فریقین آپس میں فیصلہ پر نہ پہنچ جائیں تو سنٹرل گورنمنٹ کو اختیار ہوگا کہ وہ arbitrator مقرر کرے arbitrator جو دراصل دونوں فریق رضامندی سے مقرر کیا کرتے ہیں لیکن اس دفعہ کی رو سے اسکا اختیار سنٹرل گورنمنٹ کو ہی ہوگا اور ان آدمیوں کو نہیں جن سے کہ مکانات requisition کئے گئے ہیں۔ اس دفعہ کی رو سے صرف سنٹرل گورنمنٹ کو ہی اختیار ہوگا کہ وہ arbitrator مقرر کرے چاہے وہ اُسکو arbitrator کا نام دیں یا assessor کا یا judge اس سے کوئی فرق نہیں پوچھا۔ کیونکہ ہر ایک آدمی اپنی بیوی کو بیگم کہہ کر پکار سکتا ہے۔ arbitrator مقرر کرنے کے بارے میں جو اس بل میں درج کیا گیا ہے اُس بارے میں میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ ہائی کورٹ کا جج ہر وہ practitioner ہو سکتا ہے جس کی پریکٹس دس سال کی ہو اس لئے اس کے متعلق میں یہ کہنا چاہتا ہوں کہ چاہے گورنمنٹ اپنے کسی افسر کو arbitrator مقرر کرے یا کسی دوسرے کو مگر وہ شخص impartial ہونا چاہیئے۔ تاکہ وہ کسی بھی compensation کے dispute کا غیر جانبداری سے فیصلہ کرے۔ یہ بات کا خیال رکھے کہ compensation کس بنا پر دیا جاتا ہے۔

Land Acquisition Act کا تعلق اس سے ہے اور اسکی دفعہ ۲۳ میں Land acquisition کے وقت معاوضہ تجویز کرنے کے لئے اصول درج کئے گئے ہیں۔ اس دفعہ کے اصول Premises Requisition Act کیلئے apply نہیں ہو سکتے۔ اگر آپ غور سے ملاحظہ فرمائیں تو معلوم ہوگا کہ Land Acquisition Act کے دفعہ نمبر ۲۳ کے principles اس کے ساتھ apply ہی نہیں ہو سکتے ہیں۔ اس

دفعہ ۲۳ کا حال ہے اور وہ سب غیر متعلق ہیں compensation کے بارے میں میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ اس کے لئے کچھ فیصدی مقرر کیا جانا چاہئے خواہ وہ پندرہ فیصدی ہو یا پانچ فیصدی ہو۔ لیکن مقرر ضرور ہونا چاہئے اور معاوضہ ضرور دیا جانا چاہئے۔ میری گزارش یہ ہے کہ اس بل میں کسی بھی اصول معاوضہ کو درج نہیں کیا گیا ہے۔ اس بل میں arbitrator کو یہ بتایا گیا ہے کہ compensation کو تجویز کرتے وقت اسکو کن کن باتوں کو consider کرنا چاہئے معاوضہ مقرر کرنے کیلئے arbitrator کو یہ نہیں بتایا گیا ہے کہ اُسکو یہ دیکھنا چاہئے کہ یہ مکان کس کرایہ کا تھا۔ پہلے اسکا کتنا کرایہ آیا تھا اور آجکل کتنا کرایہ آتا ہے اُس پاس کے مکانات کا اور ان کے متعلق باتوں کو زیر غور رکھ کر وہ compensation مقرر کرے اور اس کے علاوہ اس بل میں یہ درج ہے کہ جب ایک مکان requisition کیا جائے تو سنٹرل گورنمنٹ کی مرضی ہے کہ وہ جس طرح چاہے اسکو استعمال کر سکتی ہے۔ نہ ہی اس میں یہ بتایا گیا ہے کہ جس حالت اور صورت میں یہ مکان requisition کرتے وقت لیا گیا تھا اُسی حالت میں یہ واپس کیا جائیگا landlord پر یہ پابندی عائد کی گئی ہے کہ order of requisition ہونے کے بعد وہ اس میں کچھ بھی addition یا alteration نہیں کر سکتا ہے لیکن یہ نہیں درج ہے کہ جب وہ واپس کیا جائے تو وہ اُسی حالت میں ہو جس میں کہ وہ requisition کرنے کے وقت تھا۔ اس لئے میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ جس طرح سے ایک پرائیویٹ شخص landlord سے tenant کی حیثیت میں مکان لیتا ہے تھیک اُسی طرح گورنمنٹ کو بھی کرنا چاہئے اور گورنمنٹ کو اتنے اختیارات نہیں ہونے چاہیئے۔ اگر ایسا ہوگا تو یہ بے حد ناانصافی ہے۔ اس کے علاوہ جو بات میری سمجھ میں نہیں آتی وہ سلیکٹ کمیٹی نے بھی صاف نہیں کی ہے۔ اس بل کی دفعہ نمبر ۱۳ ضمنی (۲) میں درج ہے

“.....No suit or other legal proceedings shall lie against the Central Government, for any damage caused or likely to be done in pursuance of this Act or any order made thereunder.”

یہ جو protection گورنمنٹ کو اس دفعہ کی رو سے دی گئی ہے بہت زیادہ ہے۔ گورنمنٹ کو دفعہ نمبر ۸ میں کافی protection دیدی گئی ہے اس لئے اس بل کے اندر یہ دفعہ (۲) (۱۳) غیر ضروری ہے۔ جس طرح سے گورنمنٹ نے compensation

[پنڈت تھاکر داس، بیارگو]

قرار دی گئی۔ لیکن آئندہ کے لئے sub-letting ناجائز قرار دی گئی۔ یہ قانون دہلی اجیر مارواڑ ایکٹ مارچ اپریل ۱۹۴۷ء میں پاس کیا گیا لیکن اب جو بل پیش ہوا ہے اس کی رو سے ان لوگوں کو جنہوں نے Subtenants کی حیثیت میں جگہ لی تھی اور جو پچھلے قانون کی رو سے جائز قرار دی گئی ہے گلی میں پھینکا جائیگا۔ گورنمنٹ کو معلوم ہے کہ دہلی میں بے شمار شہزادہ تھی آگئے ہیں ان میں سے بہت کم آدمی گورنمنٹ کے Camps میں ٹھہرے ہیں اور زیادہ تر لوگ اپنے رشتہ داروں کے پاس ٹھہرے ہیں۔ حکومت نے خاص طور پر پچھلی دفعہ قانون ان ہی لوگوں کے لئے پاس کیا تھا۔ مدعا یہ تھا کہ ان لوگوں کو Accommodation مل جائے۔ جو کوارٹر گورنمنٹ کے تھے ان میں سے لوگ نہیں نکلتے تھے۔ گورنمنٹ کو معلوم تھا کہ ان کوارٹرس میں رہنے والے آدمیوں نے اپنے کوارٹرز کا کچھ حصہ Sublet کیا ہے اور وہ لوگ ان Subtenants سے کرایہ لیتے ہیں۔ جب گورنمنٹ کو یہ علم تھا اور اسکا علم ہوتے ہوئے بھی اس قانون کو اسوقت پاس کیا تو میری سمجھ میں نہیں آتا کہ اب یہ بل کیوں پیش کیا جا رہا ہے اسوقت آپ نے جو یہ بل پرائیویٹ مکانات کے بارے میں پیش کیا ہے اسکو آپ ان کوارٹرز پر بھی حاوی کریں انکو آپ نے اس بل کی رو سے مشتمل کیوں رکھا ہے اسمیں شک نہیں یہ گورنمنٹ کے اختیار کی بات ہے اور میں چاہتا ہوں کہ گورنمنٹ کو اختیار ہونا چاہئے اور مجھے آنریبل منسٹر جو اس قیادارمنٹ کے انچارج ہیں پر پورا وشواس ہے۔ لیکن میں یہ گزارش کروں گا کہ آپ کو ایسا قانون بنانے سے یہ کرنا پڑیگا کہ ان لوگوں کو جنکو کہ آپ نے پہلے قانون کو پاس کر کے Sub-let کرنے کی اجازت دی ہے۔ انکو گلیوں میں نکالنا پڑیگا۔ مجھے یہ وشواس ہے کہ حکومت کا مقصد نہ ہوگا۔ لیکن اگر ایسا ہو تو بھی میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ جب تک ان لوگوں کے لئے alternative جگہ کا انتظام نہ کیا جائے تب تک حکومت کو یہ اختیار نہ ہوگا کہ وہ اپنی مرضی سے ان لوگوں کو سڑک پر نکال دیں۔

یہ چند ایک خامیاں ہیں جو اس بل میں جھکھو معلوم ہوتی ہیں اور میں نے ظاہر کی ہیں۔

(The English translation of the above speech.)

Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Mr. Chairman, as stated by the Honourable the Mover, there is no doubt, that the form in which the present Bill has been received from the Select Committee, is much better than what it was before. It now contains many more points which were not there in the original Bill. I do not want to say anything in this matter now as the Honourable the Mover has already dealt with it, but, I shall certainly like to draw your attention to those points which I consider unsatisfactory. I also do not want to go into a detailed discussion of those Amendments which stand in my name or in the name of other members of this House. I shall speak only on my second Amendment which I may not be able to move later. About Land-Acquisition and Land-Requisition, the point, to which I wish to draw your attention, is that of ownership. In this connection I have to request the Government that before requisitioning buildings and houses it should, by declaration, make clear the public purpose, for which a particular house or a building is being requisitioned. If the Government is not willing to do so then it has no right either, to requisition a house. There is no doubt that the requisition or acquisition of private houses and buildings is made for public purposes, yet before doing so it becomes necessary to make a declaration to that effect, in the form of an order, stating that such and such house or a building is being requisitioned for such and such public purpose. If this Bill does not embody a provision to that effect it should then be included in it, so that at the time of an appeal no question would arise, whether the building was requisitioned for any particular purpose or not. It is provided in Rule 8 (1) that a building, as declared by Government, cannot be used for a purpose other than the public purpose. If a particular public purpose is not declared in the order through which a house has been requisitioned Rule 8 (1) becomes quite meaningless. This has been clearly stated under clauses 4 and 5 of the Land Acquisition Act, but there is no provision for this in the present Bill. This is also given about making appeals under Rule 8 (1). But if an appeal is made the question arises whether the particular purpose for which requisition was made, was declared or not. Therefore it is very essential to state it very clearly in the order of requisition that a particular thing is being requisitioned for such and such purpose. The second point in this bill which I would like to bring out before the house is that of giving compensation under clause (4). If we look at it from the point of view of law, it seems quite incorrect, as the government has the right to appoint an arbitrator if two parties do not come to a compromise. An arbitrator is generally appointed with the approval of both the parties but under the present clause this right rests with the government alone and not with those whose houses have been requisitioned. Obviously it makes no difference if he is called an arbitrator, or an assessor or a judge, for every one is at liberty to call his wife a 'Begum'. To what has been said in this bill regarding the appointment of an arbitrator I have to say that any practitioner of ten years' standing can become a judge of the High Court. Therefore I would say that it does not matter whether the government appoint an officer or any other person as an arbitrator but they should appoint an impartial person, so, that he will decide disputes of compensation quite impartially. He will also have to bear in mind the basis on which he should base that compensation. If you will look carefully into the matter you will find that the principles related to clause (23) of the Land Acquisition Act do not at all apply here.

Regarding compensation I must say that some percentage must be fixed, it may be anything say fifteen per cent. or even five per cent., but it must be fixed and compensation must be given. Further I beg to say that there is no mention of the principles of compensation in this Bill. There are no instructions for the arbitrator in this Bill as to what are the points he should bear in his mind when determining the question of compensation. Again the arbitrator has not been told in this Bill, as to what are the points he should find out first—as for example what was the rent of this house? What was the rental value of the house? What is the present rent? He should really fix the compensation bearing these points in his mind. Again this Bill provides for the Government that they have the option to make whatever use of a house they like. Further it is not provided in the Bill that a house will be returned to its owner in the same condition in which it existed at the time of its requisitioning. On the other hand there is a restriction imposed on the land lord that he cannot make any alterations or additions in the building since after the order of requisition has been issued. But it is not mentioned there that the house will have to be returned in the same condition in which it was received at the time of requisition. Therefore I say that the Government should approach a land-lord in the same manner in which a tenant approaches him, and it must not try to exercise its very wide powers that it holds. If the

[پنڈت تھاکر داس بھارگو]

دینا مانا ہے اس طرح سے انہیں چاہئے کہ وہ arbitrator کو یہ حکم دیں کہ وہ نقصان مکن یا مختلف استعمال مکن کا خیال رکھ کر compensation دے جس غرض کے لئے گورنمنٹ نے کوئی چیز requisition کی ہو اور اس غرض کو پورا کرنے میں اگر مالک مکن کو کچھ نقصان ہوا ہو تو انہیں چاہئے کہ وہ یہ provision اس بل میں کریں کہ compensation کے criterion میں اس بات کو بھی درج کیا جائے تاکہ arbitrator compensation دیتے وقت اس بات کا خیال رکھے۔

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Hussain Imam (one of the Panel of Chairmen).]

دوسری گزارش میری یہ ہے کہ جس بل پر اس بل کے متعلق سلیکٹ کمیٹی میں note of dissent رکھا گیا ہے اس کے متعلق میں جناب کی توجہ کریسل Procedure Code کے دفعہ نمبر ۵۲۱ کے اصول کی طرف دلانا چاہتا ہوں اس میں درج ہے۔

“Whenever a person is convicted of an offence attended by criminal force or show or by criminal intimidation, and it appears to the Court that by such force or show of force or criminal intimidation any person has been dispossessed of any immovable property, the Court may, if it thinks fit, when convicting such person or at any time within one month from the date of the conviction, order the person dispossessed to be restored to the possession of the same.”

جناب والا - اصل قانون یہ ہے کہ اگر کسی شخص کو کسی جائیداد سے بے دخل کیا گیا ہو جس کا اس کو دخل ہوتا ہے - تو وہ دخل اس کو ملنا چاہئے اور اگر اس بل کی اس دفعہ کو مانا جائے تو معاملہ درہم برہم ہوتا ہے - جو اختیارات اس بل کی رو سے Estate Officer کو دئے گئے ہیں میری رائے میں وہ نہایت ہی غلط ہے - وہ قانوناً غلط ہے - انصافاً غلط ہے اور morally بھی وہ غلط ہے - وہ اختیار یہ ہیں

“Where any premises requisitioned under this Act are to be released from such requisition, the competent authority may, after such inquiry if any as he may in any case consider it necessary to make, specify by order in writing the person to whom possession of the premises shall be given.”

جناب عالی! جہاں تک عدالتوں کے civil and criminal اختیارات کا تعلق ہے مجھے ایسا کوئی بھی قانون معلوم نہیں ہوتا ہے - جیسا کہ اس بل کے اس دفعہ نمبر ۹ میں درج کیا گیا ہے - اس لئے اس دفعہ کو بل میں درج کر کے Estate Officer کو اس طرح اختیار دیکر لوگوں کے حقوق پر برا اثر پڑے گا - اس لئے یہ جائز نہیں ہوگا - مثال کے طور پر میں یہ عرض کروں گا کہ اگر کسی شخص نے پچاس ہزار روپیہ میں کوئی جائیداد خود خریدی ہو اور اسے پچاس ہزار کی قیمت بایع کو دیدی ہو اور اس کے بعد کچھ تنازعہ ہو جائے - اور مشتری کو قبضہ نہ مل سکا ہو بایع نے روپیہ لے لیا ہو - اور اس کی رجسٹری تنازعہ کی وجہ سے نہ ہو سکی ہو اور اس دوران میں کہ

اپنی مشتری کے قبضہ کو ساڑھے گیارہ سال ہوئے ہوں گورنمنٹ مکن کو Requisition کر لے اور ایک سال گورنمنٹ کا قبضہ رہے تو وہی گورنمنٹ کو دفعہ ۹ کی رو سے اختیار ہوگا کہ مشتری کو قبضہ نہ دے بلکہ اصل مالک کو دیدے اگر ایسا کیا جائے تو مشتری کا حق ہمیشہ کے لئے پایمان ہوگا۔ چاہے Estate Officer اپنی غلطی سے یا نیک نیتی سے ایسا کرے - اس بل میں اس بات کا بالکل خیال نہیں رکھا گیا ہے - حالانکہ یہ ایک بہت ہی اہم اور ضروری معاملہ ہے - آج آئریبل Mover نے خود یہ کہا کہ قبضہ Title ۱۰/۹ کا جزو ہوتا ہے - اس لئے قبضہ کی حفاظت کا خیال رکھنا لازمی ہے - لیکن جو اختیارات Estate Officer کو دئے گئے ہیں اُس کے مطابق اگر اُس نے اصلی آدمی کو حائیداد واپس کرتے وقت قبضہ نہ دیا تو وہ عدالت میں بھی قبضہ حاصل نہیں کر سکتا اس کو انگریزی میں Tertium-quid کہتے ہیں - جب وہ آدمی عدالت میں دعویٰ کرے جس کا بہتر right ہو تو اگر دوسرے آدمی کا right خراب ہو تو قبضہ اُسی شخص کو ملیگا جس کا possession ہو اس لئے Estate Officer کو اس قسم کے اختیارات دینا لوگوں کو دفعوں میں ڈالنا ہے - میری رائے میں اس بل کو منظور کرنے سے قانون کا یہ منشا نہیں ہے کہ لوگوں کے حقوق غیر محفوظ ہو جائیں - اس بارے میں یہ کہا جا سکتا ہے کہ اس میں کوئی ہرج نہیں ہے کہ قبضہ اُس کو نہ دیا جائے - اُس کو عدالت سے قبضہ ملیگا - لیکن میری گزارش یہ ہے کہ اس بل میں مد نظر رکھ کر اس قانون میں یہ provision کیا جائے کہ جس آدمی سے قبضہ لیا گیا تھا گورنمنٹ اُسی کو حائیداد واپس کرنیکی وقت قبضہ دے Estate officer کو اختیار ہے کہ اگر وہ مناسب خیال کر لے تو enquiry کرے - لیکن اگر وہ یہ مناسب خیال نہ کرے کہ enquiry کی جائے تو بعض حالات میں وہ جائیداد اُن کے ہاتھوں میں جایگی جو دراصل مالک نہ ہونگے - اگر آپ کا منشا یہ ہے کہ اُن کے حق چھلے جائیں تو ایسے اختیارات اُن افسران کو دیئے جائیں - ورنہ بصورت دیگر قبضہ اُسی کو ملنا چاہئے جس سے کہ requisition کے وقت لیا گیا ہو - اگر ایسا نہیں ہوگا تو یہ بے حد نا انصافی ہوگی اور لوگوں کے حقوق پائمان ہو جائیں گے - اس لئے میں نے ترمیم پیش کی ہے - اور میں آئریبل ممبران ہاؤس سے درخواست کروں گا کہ وہ اس کو منظور فرمائیں۔

دوسری بات جو میں گزارش کرنا چاہتا ہوں وہ یہ ہے - کہ دفعہ ۱۱ کی رو سے یہ قانون گورنمنٹ کے مکنوں پر بھی apply کرتا ہے - کیا گورنمنٹ یہ چاہتی ہے کہ جو شخص بہت عرصہ سے ان کے مکن میں رہتا ہے اُس کو اس قانون کی رو سے سڑک پر نکال دیا جائے - اس سلسلے میں میں آپ کی توجہ اُس امرت کی طرف دلانا چاہتا ہوں - جو کہ اس ہاؤس نے ۸ ماہ ہوئے پاس کیا - وہ بل سلیکٹ کمیٹی میں بھیج دی گئی وہاں سے وہ واپس ہاؤس میں آئی اور اس ہاؤس نے اُس کو پاس کیا اور فیصلہ یہ کیا گیا کہ پرائیوٹ مکانات کے بارے میں جو پرانی sub-letting ہوئی تھی وہ حائل

Kazi Syed Karimuddin (C. P. and Berar; Muslim): Sir the Honourable Member Mr. Bhargava has made a very exhaustive speech and I do not think I should repeat his arguments in opposing some provisions of the Bill. The definition of 'public purpose' is mentioned in clause 2. 'Public purpose' means any purpose which is so declared by rules made under this Act—that is the definition. The definition has been left to the rules to be made under this Act. Such a serious and important provision is being made that people will be ousted from their own houses, yet 'public purpose' is not being defined. The definition of 'public purpose' should be a substantive provision of law and it should not be entrusted to a rule-making body. Houses are to be requisitioned for public purposes which are not defined. It will be entrusted to the executive body. I have got a very serious objection and I submit this is against the principle of legislation. When a substantive provision of law has been left to the rule-making body there is no protection to the people whose houses will be acquired.

In regard to clause 9 I have got very serious objection. My learned friend Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava has already said that this is an unprecedented and arbitrary law in that it does not lay down that the houses would be handed over to those persons from whom possession is taken. What does the Government intend to? The Government should have made it clear as to why this arbitrary and unprecedented provision of law has been made. The ordinary rule of law, as my honourable friend has said, is that house should be restored to the man from whom possession is taken. But this is suppressed. Is there anything up the sleeves which requires to be suppressed and concealed? First of all they should have laid down that the house would be restored to possession to a man who is entitled to it or who is the owner of it. Secondly possession should be restored to a man from whom it was taken.

There is one more factor which has not been taken into consideration as regards this Bill. The question of several houses whose owners have vacated the houses and run away should be taken into consideration. Suppose a house is taken into possession. The man is not traceable for some time. Without defining what 'public purpose' is, the arbitrator or the man in charge will assign that house to anybody he likes. This will be in contravention of all principles of jurisprudence. In that case the Government should have taken the responsibility of taking such a house under the management of Government. Whenever, within a certain period, the owner or the man from whom possession was taken, or his heirs come and claim, it should be handed over to them. The Government makes no provision about it. This is going to be a very arbitrary provision of law. There will be thousands of houses in this dominion the owners of which will not be traceable for some time. Government has not said anything as to why it is not mentioned in clause 9 that the house will be returned to the owner, or that it will be returned to the man from whom possession is taken, or if the owner is not traceable for some time that the house will be kept under the management of Government unless a civil decree is obtained that another man is legally entitled to it. I am unable to understand why these matters have not been clarified. As my honourable friend Pandit Bhargava said, under clause 8, sub-clause (2):

"where any premises requisitioned under this Act or any material part thereof, are wholly destroyed or rendered substantially and permanently unfit for the purpose for which they were let by reason of fire, tempest or flood, or violence of any army or of a mob or other irresistible force, the requisition shall at the option of the Central Government be void."

The position is peculiar. According to me the rights of the parties have been suspended by this law. The house property for purposes of law, is entrusted to the Government. Now, during this entrustment, if a damage is caused for the reasons mentioned in clause 8(2), is the owner to suffer for that? Even if it is because of the negligence of the Government officers that the house is destroyed—even if it is not properly protected, Is the owner to suffer? The owner would have taken steps had he been in possession of the house. My submission is that Government should have made provision that in such cases insurance of those houses should be taken by Government. But there is no mention of it here. Government has made a drastic proposal that in all these cases Government would not be responsible. My submission is that Government should take steps to protect and get the house insured under the contingencies mentioned in sub-clause (2) of clause 8.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): See the Proviso to sub-clause (2).

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: It says that if the injury is occasioned by the wrongful act or default of the Central Government it shall not be entitled to avail itself of the benefit of sub-clause (2). Is it not arbitrary? The Government officer is to decide whether the damage is caused by the neglect of the officer or otherwise. Is there any civil remedy provided?

My submission is that some of the provisions of this Act are very arbitrary and unprecedented. I know the situation is unprecedented. But the Government should give due protection to the rights and privileges of those from whom possession of the house is taken.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, the arguments that have been advanced by my Honourable friend Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava are the same which he advanced when the Bill was referred to Select Committee. He still feels that the question of 'public purpose' should be a subject matter which should be gone into by an appellate authority. That is not done even under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act. It is a matter for the executive government to decide what is a 'public purpose' and what is not. This has become necessary in view of the acute shortage of accommodation. Probably the House is aware that at present there are 23,000 officers of the Government of India who are not accommodated by the Government of India in any of their buildings. Added to this, we have to provide for nearly 50 Embassies and their staff. I know that certain refugees have come and have been in occupation of some of the premises probably belonging to them or to their friends. As I stated, wherever possible it has been the practice with the Ministry to accommodate the owner or the tenant, whosoever may be the actual occupant. But if you put this as a statutory obligation which the Government must honour, then the whole Bill will be completely frustrated and the object for which the ordinance was issued and the object for which this Bill is before the House will be completely sabotaged. Two lakhs of people have come here. It is not necessary for everyone of them to be here. The simple question before the Government is that they should either put up their own officers who are to run the essential services that are going to maintain the state, or put up persons who come as refugees in the houses. Any responsible citizen will agree that those who are responsible for running the essential services on which the very maintenance of the State depends must be given the first priority. The good of the state is supreme, it has priority over other things. There is no doubt a sort of arbitrariness but that cannot be avoided. Although we are not in war time, yet we are in a time in which the conditions are still worse.

Shri M. S. Aney: Does the Government claim that they have a right to create evacuees for the right of protecting other evacuees?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That does not follow from what I said.

With respect to the provision as regards the actual possession to be given under clause 9, some criticism has been offered by two Honourable Members. The idea seems to be that the Government should derequisition the premises in favour of one from whom possession was actually taken. As a matter of fact, Sir, in many cases experience has shown that the tenancy has expired between

[Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava]

Government is going to exercise these powers it will be a great injustice on the others. Again the point which I have not been able to follow in this Bill has also not been made clear by the Select Committee. Clause 13 (2) of this Bill reads as follows:—

"No suit or other legal proceedings shall be against the central government for any damage caused or likely to be done in pursuance of this Act or any order made there under."

The protection given to the Government here is rather too much. The protection given under clause (8) is definitely quite enough. Therefore the portion viz. clause 13 (2) is quite unnecessary in this Bill. Just as the Government have agreed to grant compensations they should in the same way instruct their arbitrators to take into consideration the damages caused to the property and the wrongful uses made of it when fixing compensation for land-lords. Where a Government requisitioned house is being used by the Government for the purpose for which it was requisitioned but the landlord is thereby put to some loss then the Government should see that this is also provided in the Bill where the criterion for compensation is laid down, so that the arbitrator will also keep this point in view.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Hussain Imam (one of the Panel of Chairmen.)]

Secondly I wish to draw your attention to Clause No. 522 of the Criminal Procedure Code, regarding the basis, on which a note of dissent was placed before the Select Committee about this Bill. It says:

"Whenever a person is convicted of an offence attended by criminal force or show of force or by criminal intimidation, and it appears to the court that by such force or show of force or criminal intimidation any person has been dispossessed of any immovable property, the court may, if it thinks fit, when convicting such person or at any time within one month from the date of the conviction, order the person dispossessed to be restored to the possession of the same."

Sir, the correct law is, that if a person was dispossessed of an immovable property for which he had the right of possession he should get the possession of it. Therefore, if the present clause of the Bill is accepted everything will become topsyturvy. Further, the rights prescribed for an Estate Officer under this Bill are also quite wrong in my opinion. They are wrong lawfully; they are even morally wrong. Those powers are as under:

"Where any premises requisitioned under this Act are to be released from such requisition, the competent authority may, after such inquiry if any as he may in any case consider necessary to make, specify by order in writing the person to whom the possession of the premises, shall be given."

Sir, as far as the civil and criminal rights of the court are concerned I know no such law as embodied under clause (9) of this Bill. Thus to retain this clause in the Bill and to give such rights to Estate Officers will adversely effect the rights of the people. This is quite unjustified. Suppose a man purchases a property for Rs. 50,000. After making the payment to the seller a quarrel over the matter arises between them. Suppose the purchaser has now obtained possession of the property while the seller is in possession of the money the registration cannot be completed due to the quarrel between them. If during this period the building is requisitioned by the Government who keep its possession for one year then on returning the building after that period the Government under this clause (9) has the right to restore the building to its original owner who is the seller here and not to the purchaser although the latter had kept it for 11½ years in his possession. Therefore in such cases the right of the purchaser is lost for ever. It does not really matter if it was done honestly by an Estate Officer or through oversight. There is no provision in this Bill for the protection of such rights though it is so very important. The Honourable Mover has also stated in the house today that possession is nine points of law, therefore it is very essential to protect the rights of possession. But if an Estate Officer at the time of returning a property does not give possession of the property to its rightful owner according to the rights prescribed for him then the rightful owner will never be able to obtain possession of the property even through the court. This is called "Tertiumquid". If the matter is taken to the court by the person who has the better right to the property, then the person who is in possession of the property will be held to continue to be in possession. Therefore to give such powers to Estate Officers is to bring a calamity to the people. I hope it is not desired to make the rights of the public unsafe by accepting this Bill. Perhaps one may say it does not matter if the right of possession is not given to the rightful owner; it may be said that he could get its possession through the court. But, in my opinion, keeping the above example in view, a provision must be made in this Bill so that at the time of returning the property the Government must restore the possession to the same man from whom the building was requisitioned. It will then rest with the Estate Officer to hold an inquiry if he considers fit. But if he considers that an enquiry is not required then, in some of the cases, the property will fall in the hands of those who were not the real owners. If, therefore, it is desired that they may be robbed off their rights, in this manner then the officers may be given those powers otherwise, it is but obvious that possession must be restored to the party holding the possession at the time of requisition of the building. If this is not done I should consider it a great injustice, and the rights of the people will be ruined. With this object in my mind I have placed this Amendment, and I shall request the Honourable Members of the House to kindly accept it.

My next point which I wish to bring to your notice is that under clause (11), the present Bill is applicable to Government building also. Is the Government willing to extern a man from the house in which he has been living for quite a long time? In this connection I would like to draw your attention to that Bill which was passed by this House about eight months ago. The Bill was first sent to the Select Committee from where it was received in the House and was then passed by the House. It was then decided to recognize all those instances of subletting that had been previously done, but subletting was forbidden for the future. This Bill was passed in March-April 1947, and was known as the Delhi-Ajmer-Merwara Act. But under the meaning of the Bill which is before us, these men who got accommodation as subtenants according to the meaning of the previous Bill, shall have to vacate these houses. The Government is aware of the fact that a very large number of refugees has arrived in Delhi and only a very few of them are staying in Government camps while quite a majority of them are actually staying with their friends and relatives. The previous Bill was passed by the Government only for the sake of these refugees as the Government had the intention of providing some accommodation for them. People who were living in Government quarters were not willing to vacate them. The Government knew that they were subletting a portion of their quarters and were charging rents from their subtenants. Though the Government was aware of all these facts, and knowing it they passed the previous Bill, but I do not understand, where is the necessity of passing the present Bill? Or, the Bill which has been presented now, and is about the private houses and buildings, should be made applicable to Government quarters as well. May I ask "Why have you exempted these quarters from the operation of this Bill?" Undoubtedly it is upto the Government to decide about this matter, and I sincerely wish that the Government should have the right to decide it. I have full confidence in the Honourable Minister, who is in charge of this department, but I have to state before him that by enacting such a Bill he will be throwing those people out in the open who under the previous Bill, were allowed to sublet. I trust the Government do not mean to do so, but if it comes to that, then I hope the Government will not be allowed to exercise its authority so long as an alternative arrangement of accommodation has not been made for these people.

These are some of the shortcomings of this bill—that I have tried to bring before you today.

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

the date of requisition and the date on which the property is sought to be released. Therefore the Government has proceeded on a very cautious line, that after such enquiry if the Government finds that the tenancy has terminated and the tenant has no right, then the possession ought to go to the landlord. Then there is a proviso that the remedy of any party affected by the order made by the Government is not barred at all. They can go to a civil court and get the proper redress. Even as soon as they know that de-requisitioning is about to come, they can bring an injunction, and they can, if there has been any judicial decision in between the two dates, put that matter before the de-requisitioning authority and that is bound to be taken into consideration, and is taken into consideration.

There is another point which has been raised about the definition of 'public purpose', and it was suggested that it ought to be defined and not be left to be defined by the rules. I do concede there is some force in this. In the original Bill 'public purpose' was defined as anything connected with acute shortage of accommodation. In the Select Committee this was not accepted and you will find, Sir, that no amendment has been even suggested so far as this definition is concerned by any of the Honourable Members that this definition was not good, felt whatever the Government thinks to be a public purpose should be declared as a public purpose. But I may bring another point to the attention of Honourable Members, that in the Preamble which is supposed to govern the general tenor of the sections that follow, it is stated "whereas by reason of the shortage of accommodation" the necessity for this Bill has arisen. It would be only logical if I were to say that the rules cannot go beyond the purposes contemplated in the Preamble to the Act. You may trust the Government to be acting within the frame of the preamble, and not going beyond that.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): The preamble is no operative part of the Act. The preamble may be considered only when there is any ambiguity in the provisions, but this only to clear the ambiguity in the body of the Act but no further.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is a thing I have often heard in the course of arguments in courts, but all the same it is a direction and to that extent you will not belittle what has been said in any preamble. When the rule-making power is given in any of the enabling sections, it is obvious that that power cannot go beyond what has been contemplated in the preamble itself.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): When does the Honourable Minister envisage the shortage to be got over? It has become a permanent thing.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The shortage of accommodation will go as soon as accommodation is available. My honourable friend who comes from Delhi knows very well that all efforts are being made by all the various bodies which are expected to do this work, including the Government themselves. If for one reason or another accommodation is not easily available, this transitory period has got to be provided for. I know that the normal rights of the owner and the tenant are suspended because of this Act. Nobody is very anxious to see that these ordinary liberties are circumscribed. But the logic of events has left no choice for the Government and that is a fact I know the House will readily appreciate and I hope it will agree to this measure, and out of deference to the wishes of the members of the Select Committee. I have limited its duration till the 31st December 1949.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: May I put one question. Supposing the possessor from whom possession is taken or the owner is not found, then what happens to the house?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Then Government will keep the house

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill to confer certain powers in respect of premises in the Province of Delhi, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I beg to move:

"That in sub-clause (3) of clause 3 of the Bill, after the words 'requisition the premises', the words 'for any public purpose' be inserted."

I have to say nothing more than what I have already submitted and I leave it to the House to judge if it is necessary.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Although it is not necessary, to show that I am extremely reasonable, I am going to accept it.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That in sub-clause (3) of clause 3 of the Bill, after the words 'requisition the premises', the words 'for any public purpose' be inserted."

The motion was adopted.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I beg to move:

"That in sub-clause (4) of clause 3 of the Bill, after the word 'premises', the words 'for any public purpose' be inserted."

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: For the same reasons I accept it.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That in sub-clause (4) of clause 3 of the Bill, after the word 'premises', the words 'for any public purpose' be inserted."

The motion was adopted.

Maharajkumar Balendu Shah (Punjab States Group): I beg to move:

"That for the Proviso to sub-clause (4) of clause 3 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:

"Provided that where a landlord or tenant is using any premises for the residence of himself or his family the competent authority shall provide suitable alternative accommodation."

I have very little to say in this connection except what Mr. Aney said. Is the Government contemplating creating further evacuees for accommodation beyond those who are already in the province of Delhi? Unless Government at least satisfy the public demand for further accommodation by further construction, I think it is very unjust on the part of the Government to kick out those people who are already in possession of houses and they are not living there very comfortably either. That is all I have to say in connection with this and I beg that this be taken into consideration.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That for the Proviso to sub-clause (4) of clause 3 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:

"Provided that where a landlord or tenant is using any premises for the residence of himself or his family the competent authority shall provide suitable alternative accommodation."

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The point is simply this, that houses are not requisitioned for the purpose of accommodating refugees. They are requisitioned for the purpose of accommodating government officers; secondly Embassies and their staff; and as far as I remember I have requisitioned only one house and that is for accommodating destitute women from among the refugees. So it is not the intention to encourage the refugees to come over here and make refugees of the citizens of Delhi and throw them on the streets; that is not the idea. I cannot accept this amendment.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That for the Proviso to sub-clause (4) of clause 3 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:

'Provided that where a landlord or tenant is using any premises for the residence of himself or his family the competent authority shall provide suitable alternative accommodation'."

The motion was negatived.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Sir, I beg to move:

"That in the Proviso to sub-clause (4) of clause 3 of the Bill, the words 'as far as possible' be omitted."

In support of this amendment I have only to say that the principle which the Government had already accepted while passing the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Bill was that it should apply only to vacant premises. As a matter of fact, the Honourable Member knows more than anybody else that today there is such a big pressure on private houses in Delhi that had never existed before and it would be a great hardship for the occupants of those houses to be displaced for reasons of State or for any other reason. Therefore, unless Government undertake to provide alternative accommodation, I see no reason why these powers should be given to the Government. Therefore, I would request the Honourable Member to accept this amendment.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That in the Proviso to sub-clause (4) of clause 3 of the Bill, the words 'as far as possible' be omitted."

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I cannot accept this amendment for the reasons I have already stated. If it is accepted the Bill will be reduced to a cipher.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Sir, I beg leave of the House to withdraw my amendment.

Mr. Chairman: Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw.

The Amendment was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 3 as amended stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 3 as amended was added to the Bill.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: I beg to move:

"That for clause 4 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:

4. Exclusion of certain premises from requisitioning—

Nothing in section 3 shall empower the competent authority to requisition premises,—

- (a) which are exclusively used for the purpose of religious worship or which are in use for a school, orphanage, or hospital;
- (b) which are exclusively used for the purpose of carrying on business; and
- (c) whose rental value is less than Rs. 200 p. m."

Sir, I do not want to take up the time of the House in arguing a case in favour of these amendments. At the stage when the Bill was referred to the Select Committee, it had been suggested that the one consideration which weighed with the House in referring this Bill to the Select Committee was that the opinion of the Advisory Council of Delhi which represents the public opinion in Delhi should be consulted. An informal meeting of that body was held and in support of this they had submitted their views to the Select Committee. I would confine myself to the reading of the opinion expressed by that body and this opinion has further been endorsed yesterday when a formal meeting of that Advisory Council was held under the presidency of the Chief Commissioner and the meeting unanimously accepted and confirmed that opinion. I personally feel that in this House, Delhi is very poorly represented; there is only one man who can put forward the point of view of the public and I can say that in all measures which affect the Delhi-wallas very little attention is really given to the point of view of the people of Delhi. The fact that the Members of the Advisory Council of the Chief Commissioner have unanimously expressed an opinion on this Bill, which has been disregarded, goes to show and goes further to confirm this point of view. In any case, Sir, I am in duty bound to place the views of the Advisory Council, with which I am in full agreement, before the House and I do hope that the Honourable Member even at this stage will show some consideration and accept such of the amendments as may not be found objectionable.

The opinion expressed by the Advisory Council was this:

"In view of the high pressure on housing accommodation in Delhi which has been further increased due to influx of refugees from Pakistan, a very large majority of whom are lodged in private houses, the Council held the view that it was not desirable to pass the Bill. It was of opinion that the powers already given under Sec. 11 of the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act were sufficient to serve the purpose. In any case, it felt that the powers sought in the Bill are far too wide. If the Bill has to be passed it should be amended in following respects:

- (a) Its scope should be restricted to Governmental requirements.
- (b) The period should be limited to two years at the most.
- (c) It should apply only to New Delhi and Civil Lines.
- (d) It should not apply to business premises and to residential premises of the rental value of less than Rs. 200 p. m.
- (e) No house occupied by the land-lord and his family for his own bona fide residential purposes should be requisitioned. Preferably only such houses as fall vacant should be requisitioned.
- (f) Dispossessed tenants should be provided alternative accommodation.
- (g) At least one month's notice should be given.
- (h) Repairs undertaken by Government should not exceed the equal of one month's rent.
- (i) No entry in premises except during day.
- (j) At the time of de-requisitioning the premises should be returned to rightful owners and in the condition in which they were taken."

I feel, Sir, that no reasonable exception could be taken to the views expressed by the Advisory Council. I am thankful to the Honourable Member that some of these recommendations have been accepted but the vital part is that the provisions of this Bill should not apply to premises which are not vacant. This principle was accepted by this House only six months back when they restricted the requisitioning of premises only to such premises.

Then, Sir, the purpose which has been put before the House by the Honourable Member is really the requirements of the Embassies and the requirements of the Embassies would not be served if houses below the rental value of Rs. 200 per mensem were to be requisitioned. Surely, no Embassy is going to lodge itself in a house which fetches rental less than Rs. 200. Moreover, they are not going to live outside New Delhi—at the most some of them may go to Civil Lines. Therefore, this part of the recommendation is also reasonable and it was in view of this that the House had accepted this principle while the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Bill was being discussed in the House. Moreover, I would say, Sir, that there is very strong public opinion in Delhi

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Landlords.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Not landlords, because the Bill does not affect the landlords, because it is the occupants that are affected. In fact, my friend Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava was arguing that the occupants who were sub-tenants of Government houses should not be displaced and the recommendation is that all those—particularly the tenants who are to be displaced by requisitioning the house—should be provided alternative accommodation. Sir, as a matter of fact all requisitioning is bad and I know my Honourable friend realises it more than anybody else. An emergency, just as I said a few minutes before, ceases to be an emergency if it becomes permanent. This requisitioning has been there since 1939 and Delhi has been the greatest sufferer because whereas in January 1947 in Bombay only 115 houses were requisitioned and in Calcutta 83, in Delhi the number was 513.

[Shri Deshbandhu Gupta]

Since 1939 this thing has been there. War emergency was pleaded at that time. Then people hoped that six months after the war terminated all the houses that were requisitioned would be returned to them. Then came an Ordinance and Government brought another Bill seeking to continue the powers conferred under the Ordinance. Then those powers were given but they were qualified. Then came Section 11 of the Rent Control Act. There again the powers of the Government were further qualified and now comes another Ordinance which exceeds all its predecessors. There is no war emergency. The emergency such as exists is not as grave as a war emergency. Therefore, in my opinion, the powers sought under this Bill are far too wide.

One more point, Sir. This Bill does not make an exception in the case of business premises. I would like to know from my Honourable friend whether any residential purpose could be served by calling upon business premises and requisitioning them. I see no justification whatever for it. It was suggested in the Select Committee that simply by keeping a gramophone, a typewriter or a radio, people would say that it was not a residential place. Steps could very well have been taken to see that no such subterfuge is played, because under the Rent Control Bill we have stated in more than one place that if a place was primarily used for residential purpose the Bill would apply to it. If the purpose was not to requisition business premises, there is no reason why it should not be made clear. I am very strongly against this measure and public opinion is behind me. It is really for the Government to go ahead with the housing problem. My Honourable friend said that steps have been taken, but in fact, I cannot help saying that Government have not yet realised the enormity of the problem. No practical steps have been taken, no encouragement has been given to private house builders. The 200 or odd houses sought to be put up by Government will probably take two years and that is not the way to meet this great demand on housing capacity. Unless the Government undertakes a bold programme of building houses, this Bill may be followed up by another. An assurance was given that perhaps all those houses which were requisitioned would be de-requisitioned. A Board was appointed in Delhi and in other places but no progress was made. In fact, I have seen Government servants who had honed one day after retirement to live in their own houses not getting their houses for seven years. My Honourable friend pleads house shortage. True, but the question is: Is he in a position to give the assurance that this Bill will not apply after two years? Otherwise, I am sure this Bill will become a permanent statute. Therefore, I say this measure should not be taken lightly. The plea of emergency and the fact that it will end soon will not convince anybody or deceive anybody. Therefore, I am strongly opposed to this measure and I do hope that the Honourable Minister will realise the volume of public opinion against this Bill and accept some of the amendments suggested by me.

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That for clause 4 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:

4. Exclusion of certain premises from requisitioning—

- Nothing in section 3 shall empower the competent authority to requisition premises,—
- (a) which are exclusively used for the purpose of religious worship or which are in use for a school, orphanage, or hospital;
 - (b) which are exclusively used for the purpose of carrying on business; and
 - (c) whose rental value is less than Rs. 200 p. m."

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I am not in a position to accept any of the clauses suggested in the amendment.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That for clause 4 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:

4. Exclusion of certain premises from requisitioning—

Nothing in section 3 shall empower the competent authority to requisition premises,—

- (a) which are exclusively used for the purpose of religious worship or which are in use for a school, orphanage, or hospital;
- (b) which are exclusively used for the purpose of carrying on business; and
- (c) whose rental value is less than Rs. 200 p. m."

The motion was negatived.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 4 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 4 was added to the Bill.

Clauses 5 to 11 were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I beg to move:

"That in sub-clause (2) of clause 12 of the Bill—

- (i) in items (a) and (b) for the figure '4', the figure '7' be substituted; and
- (ii) in item (c) for the figure '5', the figure '9' be substituted."

Mr. Chairman: Amendment moved:

"That in sub-clause (2) of clause 12 of the Bill—

- (i) in items (a) and (b) for the figure '4', the figure '7' be substituted; and
- (ii) in item (c) for the figure '5', the figure '9' be substituted."

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (C. P. and Berar: General): I want to know what is the amendment relating to figures 7 and 4 of clause 12 of the Bill? As a Member of the Select Committee, I do not know if this is any important change. If it is a typographical mistake, I have no objection. Rule 46 states that two clear days notice should be given for giving an amendment to a Bill. I would like to be enlightened if it relates to some arbitration act.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Absolutely minor.

Mr. Chairman: I think the Honourable Member has made it consequential because the section has changed. The question is:

"That in sub-clause (2) of clause 12 of the Bill—

- (i) in items (a) and (b) for the figure '4', the figure '7' be substituted; and
- (ii) in item (c) for the figure '5', the figure '9' be substituted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 12, as amended, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 12, as amended, was added to the Bill.

Clauses 13 to 16 were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

The motion was adopted.

DELHI AND AJMER-MERWARA RENT CONTROL (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power):
Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill to continue in force certain amendments of the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

Sir, the Select Committee has made only one amendment and that is with respect to the appeal provision. The appeals will now lie to the District Judge against the orders of the Rent Controller. Except that no other change has been made by the Select Committee. So far as the form of the Bill is concerned, the original form has been changed because in the original Bill reference was made to the continuance of the provisions as amended by the Ordinance issued on the 20th of September 1947 and a change was desired by some Members of the House as also by several members of the Select Committee. The provisions of the whole Ordinance have been incorporated and they have now been embodied in the Bill as reported by the Select Committee. Beyond that there is no change and I do not want to repeat the arguments unless it becomes necessary by way of reply. Sir, I move.

Mr. Chairman: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to continue in force certain amendments of the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): I would like to help the Honourable the Minister to rush it through if possible. I have no objection. I only want to take two or three minutes and the Honourable Minister is keen that the motion should be accepted, it may be accepted even now. I do not want to stand in the way.

Sir, when this Bill was referred to the Select Committee, the main objection taken at that time was that the Government had not taken any steps to encourage housing. I do not want to repeat the argument. I have already emphasized the fact. But I wish to draw the attention of my Honourable friend towards one specific provision of this Bill. This exemption was made in the old Bill with the specific purpose of giving encouragement to the landlords to put up new houses and at that time the Mover had made it perfectly plain that 'we do not want the landlords to feel that this is an expropriatory measure by which they are being penalized and that possibly after another few years there may be another Bill.' As my Honourable friend apprehends buildings which have now been excluded from the scope of Rent Control Bill will be again brought under Rent Control and landlords will be penalised for all the buildings which they put up hereafter. I am one with my Honourable friend to punish those who are charging excessive rents. I hold no brief for the landlords and if there are any who have abused the exemption, I am for giving the maximum punishment which should be given to them. But I wish to draw the attention of my Honourable friend towards these remarks which the Mover of the Bill at that time had made. The House very well knew at that time, Sir, that excessive rents were being charged by landlords and if this exemption was given in case of new houses it was done knowingly and with the definite purpose in view. The purpose was that the putting up of new buildings should not be retarded and a definite assurance was given out in these words which I have just read out that the landlords should not apprehend that another legislation would be brought forward to penalise them and to withdraw the exemption which had been given to them. I want to know from my Honourable friend whether his attention had been drawn to this assurance. It may be that the previous Government was certainly in the habit of breaking its promises, but we would not like that allegation to be made against our own Government. I would therefore request my Honourable friend to reconsider this matter and unless Government is putting up some more houses and make it easier for people to build houses, this exemption which had been there only for six months should not be withdrawn. Much can be said so far as the question of the impediments that are placed in the way of those who are out to help the Government or the people by putting up new buildings and the difficulties which they encounter on account of the paucity of building material, but I do not want to dilate on that. I only wish to draw my Honourable friend's attention to the strong feeling that prevails that unless Government come forward with a bold building programme there is no justification for withdrawing this exemption.

(1506)

DELHI AND AJMER-MERWARA RENT CONTROL (AMENDMENT) BILL

1507

5 P.M.

Therefore I would plead that even at this stage my Honourable friend should agree to postpone this measure if not to withdraw it.

پندت تھاکر داس بھارگو : مانینہ سپیکر صاحب: میں صرف اتنا عرض کرنا چاہتا ہوں کہ جو مارچ اپریل سنہ ۱۹۴۷ء میں Ajmer Merwara Rent Control Bill اور Delhi ہاؤس میں پیش ہوا اور پاس کیا گیا تو عام مطالبہ منظور ہوا کہ Rent Institution Controllor کو ختم کیا جائے۔ کیونکہ اس کے خلاف بہت سی شکایات تھیں۔ اب اس نئے ایکٹ کے تحت دہلی کے نئے مکانات کے متعلق Court کو اختیار ہونا چاہئے کہ وہ Standard rent مقرر کر دے۔ ایسے مکانات سو یا دوسو سے زیادہ نہیں ہونگے۔ لیکن ان کے بابت جو یہ ایک نیا forum بنایا گیا ہے۔ مجھے اُس پر اعتراض ہے۔ اس Democracy کے زمانے میں Special jurisdiction بنا دینا ٹھیک نہیں ہے۔ اور ان نئے مکانات کے لئے Special forum نہیں ہونا چاہئے بلکہ ساری دہلی کے تمام مکانات کے لئے ایک ہی forum ہونا چاہئے۔ اگر آنریبل ممبر صاحب اس بات کو منظور فرماویں تو یہ Democratic ہوگا اور سب کے لئے ایک جیسا ہی forum بن جائیگا۔

(English translation of the above speech.)

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Mr. Chairman, I wish to say that in March-April 1947, when the Delhi Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Bill came before the House and was also passed by it, the public demand to end the Rent Controller Institution, was accepted, as there were many complaints against it. Under the new Act, therefore, the court should be given the rights to standardize the rents of the newly built houses in Delhi. There are not more than a hundred or two hundred of these houses but I object to the forum which has been formed for them. In this age of democracy it is not proper to introduce special jurisdictions. Therefore, there should be no special forum for these houses and there should be only one forum for all the houses in Delhi. If the Honourable the Mover approves of it then it will be a forum democratic and uniform for all.

आनरेबल श्री एन० वी० गेडगिल : माननीय साहब, मैं भी अदब से कुछ कहना चाहता हूँ। हमारे दोस्त गुप्ता साहब को मालूम होना चाहिये कि गवर्नमेंट ने मकानों के बनाने का प्रोग्राम (Programme) शुरू कर दिया है। मैं यह जानता हूँ कि यह मामला बहुत सीरियस (Serious) है और इसको गुप्ता साहब भी जानते हैं। लेकिन इस बारे में मैं इतना ही कहना चाहता हूँ कि ५०० मकान बनाने का प्रोग्राम इम्पूवमेंट ट्रस्ट (Improvement Trust) के पास है और इस में से ३०० बन चुके हैं जबकि पहला एक्ट पास किया गया था। अब सबसे ज्यादा दिक्कत यह है कि इनका रेंट (Rent) कोन मुकर्रर करे। रेंट कंट्रोलर (Rent

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Tuesday, 9th December, 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(a) ORAL ANSWERS.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

715. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) as to who took the decision of calling the present Central Indian Legislature by the name of the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative);

(b) whether Government propose to consider the question of giving some other name; and

(c) whether Government will consider the name of "Dominion Parliament"?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) The Honourable the President of the Constituent Assembly.

(b) and (c). Yes, but probably any formal change at this stage is not necessary as under the new constitution a new name will certainly be given to the legislature. That name will presumably be in Hindustani. The popular name which is finding increasing acceptance today is Parliament of India.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Would that be recognised as the official name of this Legislature—the Parliament of India?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I have already said that at present it is not necessary. The new Constitution when framed will adopt a name.

INDIA'S EMBASSIES ABROAD

716. *Shri Biswanath Das: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) the names of the countries in which India has established her own Embassies;

(b) the names of the countries in which she has High Commissioners or Agents or Trade Agents and the like; and

(c) the names of the countries referred to in parts (a) and (b) above wherein Indians enjoy equality of status and citizenship rights?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). The information regarding countries where the Government of India have established her own Embassies, and where she has High Commissioners or Representatives is contained in the statement placed on the table of the House in answer to Question No. 241 on 21st November 1947.

As regards Trade Commissioners, the Honourable Member is referred to the statement placed on the table of the House by the Honourable Minister of Commerce in answer to Question No. 230 on 21st November 1947.

[श्री एन० वी० गैडगिल]

Controller) को हटा दिया गया है क्योंकि पुराने एक्ट के पहिले सब मकानों का किराया कायम करना पूरा हो गया था मगर अब थोड़े से ऐसे मकान हैं जिनका किराया मुकर्रर नहीं किया गया है। जो नये मकान हैं उनके लिए रेंट कंट्रोल बिल में इस तरह की कोई बात नहीं है। वह लोग कोर्ट के पास जायेंगे और कहेंगे कि सिमन्ट ज्यादा भाव से लिया है तो कोर्ट वाले इस बात को नहीं मानेंगे कि मकान वालों को क्या २ दिक्कत का सामना करना पड़ा। वे तो कैपिटल वैल्यू (Capital value) को सामने रखते हुए ५ पर सेन्ट (5%) ६ पर सेन्ट (6%) या ७ पर सेन्ट (7%) के हिसाब से लगायेंगे।

मैं यह भी कहना चाहता हूँ कि रेंट कंट्रोल में इतने (judicial officers) ज्यूडिशल-आफिसर नहीं हैं इस वास्ते हमने सलैक्ट कमेटी (Select Committee) में यह प्राविजन (provision) रक्खा है कि रेंट कंट्रोल आर्डर (Rent Control Order) के खिलाफ डिस्ट्रिक्ट-कोर्ट (District Courts) में अपील (Appeal) की जा सकती है। सबसे ज्यादा हमारे गुस्ता साहब जान सकते हैं कि आजकल लाहोर से जो बिज़नेसमैन (Business men) आ गये हैं वे एक कमरों के ४०० रुपये तक दे रहे हैं।

श्री-देशबन्धु गुप्ता : वे किराया नहीं दे रहे हैं बल्कि पगड़ी भी दे रहे हैं।
आनरेबल श्री एन० वी० गैडगिल : अगर यह बात कोर्ट के सामने आयगी तो ठीक हो जायगी। इसमें कोई दिक्कत की बात नहीं है और हम समझते हैं कि यह आप टैनेन्ट (Tenant) के फायदे के लिये कह रहे हैं।

(English translation of the above speeches.)

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Mr. Chairman, Sir, with due respect, I want to say something. My friend Mr. Gupta may know that the Government have started the work of housebuilding. I realise the seriousness of this matter and so does Mr. Gupta. But in this connexion I have only to tell you that the Improvement Trust have already taken in hand the construction of five hundred new buildings. Of these three hundreds have been built, since the Act was passed. The greatest of all the difficulties now is that who should fix the rents of these premises. The post of the Rent Controller has been abolished because the rents of all the houses constructed before the Act was passed had been fixed. The Rent Control Bill does not contain any reference to the rents of these new houses. The public will go to the courts of law and complain that they purchased cement etc. at high rates. The court authorities will not recognise the difficulties which the house owners have to face. They will fix the rents with regard to the 'Capital value' of these buildings. It may be five per cent, six per cent or seven per cent etc.

I would also like to point out, Sir, that the Rent Control Department does not have enough Judicial Officers. The Select Committee have, therefore, made the provision that people can appeal in the District Courts against the orders under the Rent Control Order. May, I tell the House, Sir, and my friend Mr. Gupta knows it well, that the businessmen who have come from Lahore are paying upto four hundred rupees for a room.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: These men are not only paying exorbitant rents but they are also paying Pugree money.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: If it is brought before the courts it will be set right. It is not very difficult. I realise you are saying it for the sake of the tenants.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill to continue in force certain amendments of the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act, 1947, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 to 7 were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

The motion was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Tuesday, the 9th December, 1947.

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: It is already covered by the reply I have given.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: What is it that the Central Government has so far achieved by way of constructing houses for the industrial proletariat as well as the agricultural proletariat in Delhi Province itself?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: Well, Sir, as regards the Central Government Department itself, the Department is trying its best to construct buildings to accommodate workers therein and we have taken up construction work in railway departments, in coalfields and in other Central Government departments.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are Government to construct houses for the benefit of their employees only and to relegate to the Limbo other employees in industrial centres?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: Labour is a provincial matter as regards accommodation for workers, and the Provincial Governments were given this assurance that they would be subsidised to the extent of 12½ per cent. of the cost, the maximum being Rs. 200. But as indicated in the answer just given, none of the Provincial Governments came forward with their schemes for the construction of houses.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know if the Government have any comprehensive scheme for industrial housing both for the areas under the Central Government and the Provinces separately?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: As I have already indicated, the matter is under consideration. Only recently I had a conference with the Provincial Labour Ministers when this question also came up for discussion. We are still considering the question.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: By what time do the Government expect to have some such scheme?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: It depends upon so many factors. It is very difficult to indicate any definite time limit.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Delhi being a centrally-administered area, have the Government made any progress in this respect at least with regard to this area?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: It is very difficult to give details about particular provinces. Delhi is also a Chief Commissioner's Province and unless the Provincial Government approached the Central Government for industrial housing, it is very difficult for the Central Government to consider all these details.

INDIA'S EMBASSIES ABROAD

†720. Shri Algu Rai Shastri: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the names of the countries where Indian Embassies have been established?

(b) What are the personnel of their staff including the names of the Ambassadors?

(c) What are the expenses of the different Embassies, establishment, pay, allowances, all separately Embassy-wise?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a), (b) and (c). A statement is placed on the table of the House.

† Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Statement showing the names of the countries where Indian Embassies have been established, names of the Ambassadors, personnel of their staff and estimated expenditure.

Name of the country.	Name of the Ambassador.	Personnel of their staff.	Estimated expenditure for the period from the 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948.
1	2	3	4
U. S. A.	Mr. Asaf Ali	1 Counsellor. 1 First Secretary. 1 2nd Secretary. 1 3rd Secretary. 1 Assistant Secretary. 1 Private Secretary to Ambassador. 1 Financial Adviser. 1 Economic Assistant. 1 Transportation Officer. 8 Personal Assistants. 1 Cypher Assistant. 1 Establishment Officer. 1 Accountant. 1 Courier. 1 Registrar. 6 Stenographers. 10 Clerks. 2 Switch Board Operators. 6 Clerical Assistants.	Pay of Officers—Rs. 99,800. Pay of Establishments—Rs. 2,05,100. Other charges (including allowances)—Rs. 4,51,700. Total—Rs. 7,56,600.
China	Mr. K. P. S. Menon	1 First Secretary. 1 2nd Secretary. 1 3rd Secretary. 1 Accountant. 2 Assistants. 1 Stenographer. 1 Cypher Assistant. 1 Passport Assistant. 2 Clerks. 1 Assistant Accountant. 1 Chinese Translator. 1 Chinese Interpreter.	Pay of Officers—Rs. 50,000. Pay of Establishments—Rs. 22,800. Other charges including allowances—Rs. 3,79,300. Total—Rs. 4,52,100, plus Rs. 5,00,000 for purchase of land and construction of buildings for Embassy.
U. S. S. R.	Mrs. Vijaya Laxmi Pandit	1 Counsellor. 1 First Secretary. 1 Private Secretary to Ambassador. 1 Economic Advisor—(temporary for 6 months). 1 Additional First Secretary (Cultural Relations). 1 Superintendent. 1 Cypher Superintendent. 1 Cypher Assistant. 2 Assistants. 3 Stenographers. 1 Accountant.	Pay of Officers—Rs. 1,40,100 Pay of Establishments—Rs. 24,000. Other Charges including allowances—Rs. 5,41,600. Total—Rs. 7,05,700.
Nepal	S. Surjit Singh Majithia	1 Secretary. 1 Superintendent. 1 Stenographer (Other staff yet to be settled).	Pay of Officers—Rs. 12,000. Pay of Establishment—Rs. 12,800. Other charges (including allowances)—Rs. 27,200. Total—Rs. 52,000.

(c) Out of the foreign countries where India has established her own representation, U.S.A., Iran and Siam have accorded rights of citizenship to Indians. We have no precise information regarding other countries.

In respect of the Commonwealth countries, the Honourable Member is referred to the statement laid on the table of the House in reply to his Question No. 210 on 21st November 1947.

Shri Biswanath Das: May I know what is the position of British Colonies?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I do not know what is the position there. I will make enquiries.

EXPANSION OF INDIAN SHIPPING IN COASTAL TRADE

717* { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to a statement issued by Mr. M. A. Master, President of the Federation of Indian Chamber of Commerce and Industry and a member of the Indian Delegation to London, published in the press on the 3rd September 1947, in regard to the negotiations with British ship owners?

(b) What action Government propose to take in regard to:

(i) acquisition of more tonnage by Indian shipping interests;

(ii) speedy expansion of Indian shipping in the coastal trade of the country; and

(iii) participation of Indian shipping companies in the principal overseas trade of India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me to Mr. Mandloi's Question No. 376 on the 27th November regarding the steps proposed to be taken by Government for the development of the Indian Mercantile Marine.

Shri R. R. Diwakar: May I know the position as regards the shipbuilding industry?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I require notice.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Was this matter ever placed before the Standing Committee for Commerce by the Honourable Minister before any decision was taken?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I require notice for that also.

COMMERCIAL TREATY WITH U. S. A.

718* { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether Government propose to negotiate any commercial treaty or trade agreement with the Government of the United States of America?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: No such proposal is at the moment under the active consideration of Government.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if it is not a fact that public opinion in this country is very strong for a Treaty with the United States of America?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is a matter of opinion.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know whether this matter has been before the Government for the last three or four years?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Every matter which relates to the interests of this country is before the Government.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know if it is not a fact that during the war the negotiation of a treaty was prevented by the British Government?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Well, I am not aware of that.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that one of the results of the Geneva, and now the Havana Conference, is to discourage these bi-lateral treaties and to develop multi-lateral trade agreements as between different countries with regard to various commodities?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is the main objective for which the conference is meeting in Havana.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: With regard to specific commodities, are agreements being negotiated even with the United States of America today?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is obviously within the framework of the proposed Charter.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: How far has the Government of India progressed with the United States in its negotiations with regard to specific commodities?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I require notice for that.

HOUSING SCHEME FOR INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

{ Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state the steps taken by Government to implement the proposed housing scheme for industrial workers in Labour areas, who are unable to pay an economic rent, under which Government were to make capital grants of 12½ per cent. subject to a maximum of Rs. 200 per house, of the cost of any scheme whether undertaken by Improvement Trusts, Provincial Governments, Municipalities or Employers, provided that Provincial Governments were themselves prepared to make an equivalent grant from their own revenues?

(b) Is it a fact that the Government of India have revised their original scheme and if so, on what lines?

(c) Does the revised scheme take note of the income-tax concessions announced by way of granting exemption from income-tax on income from buildings commenced and completed between 1st April 1946 and 31st March 1948, to encourage building activity?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: (a), (b) and (c). On account of the high building costs there was little response to the offer of the subsidy made by the Central Government. The matter is therefore, under further discussion with the Provincial Governments.

Shri S. Nagappa: Will Government give any subsidies to the Provincial Governments which have taken up the housing scheme especially for labourers?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: I am sorry to inform the House that this proposal was before the Provincial Governments, and they were asked to forward their schemes for industrial housing, none of them came forward with their schemes.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is not it a fact that for the last two budgets, specific provision was made for encouraging the Provincial Governments, including the Delhi Province to undertake the construction of housing and with the promise that subsidies would be given by the Central Government?

Name of the country.	Name of the Ambassador.	Personnel of their staff.	Estimated expenditure for the period from the 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948.
1	2	3	4
Iran	Mr. Ali Zaheer	1 First Secretary. 1 Private Secretary. 1 Office Superintendent. 1 Cypher Superintendent. 2 Assistants. 2 Stenographers. 3 Clerks. 1 Persian Translator.	Pay of Officers—Rs. 17,000 Pay of Establishments—Rs. 13,000. Other charges (including allowances)—Rs. 16,000. Total—Rs. 46,000.

DISALLOWANCE OF ENTRY OF INDIANS INTO BURMA

†721. *Shri Algu Rai Shastri: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some Indians who went to Burma only recently were not allowed to land on the soil of Burma?

(b) If so, why?

(c) Have the Government of India made any enquiry and taken any action in the matter?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) They did not possess immigration permits required for entry into Burma under the provisions of the Burma Immigration (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1947.

(c) Yes. In order to avoid the recurrence of such incidents, our Protectors of Emigrants at Indian ports have been instructed to advise all intending passengers that they will not be allowed to land in Burma, if they do not possess immigration permits or valid passports. Further, the Government of Burma are being requested to authorise some officer of theirs stationed in India to issue immigration permits to persons embarking from ports where they have no Immigration Officers.

EVACUATION OF REFUGEES FROM JHELM, WEST PUNJAB

†722. *Shri Algu Rai Shastri: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state how many refugees have been brought to the East Punjab from Jhelum (West Punjab) by the trains which left that place on the 6th and the 11th of November 1947?

(b) Is it a fact that these refugees were collected from various suburbs of the Jhelum town on or about the 25th of September for evacuation and they were given only 20 hours time to collect at a place?

(c) Where are these refugees located now?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The information asked for is being collected and will be placed on the table as soon as available.

† Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

ATTACK ON NON-MUSLIM REFUGEES

†723. *Shri Algu Rai Shastri: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the non-Muslim refugees who were shifted from Muslim mohallah to Golipara were attacked by Muslim mobs, the Police and the Military?

(b) If so, what is the number of casualties?

(c) Is it a fact that on evacuations, these refugees were not allowed to take their valuables and the Military and the Police looted their property and valuables?

(d) What measures, if any, do Government propose to take to stop such brutalities in future and thus save the life and property of evacuees from the West Punjab?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The information asked for is being collected and will be placed on the table as soon as available.

COLLECTIONS FOR COALFIELD LABOUR WELFARE FUND.

724. *Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri (on behalf of Shri Ramnarayan Singh): Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state:

(a) the amount hitherto collected at Dhanbad for Coalfield Labour Welfare Fund;

(b) the present activities of the Labour Welfare Department there; and

(c) the amount collected and the welfare work done at Bermo?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: (a) The Honourable Member doubtless wishes to know the total amount collected by way of welfare Cess and not the amount collected at Dhanbad, collections being made at the railway stations from where coal or coke is despatched. The total annual yield of the Cess during the current year is estimated at approximately seventy-five lakhs.

(b) I place on the table of the House a statement giving a brief account of the welfare activities carried out by or on behalf of the Fund in the coalfields, including the Bermo collieries.

(c) Figures of amounts collected in different groups of collieries are not maintained. But from a very approximate basis the yield from collieries at Bermo is likely to be only about 1/20th of the total yield of the Cess.

Brief details of the activities of the Coal Mines Labour Welfare Fund.

Two Regional Hospitals each with 10—12 beds are being constructed for the Jharia Coalfield at Katras and Tisra and a similar number is being constructed at Chora and Searsole for the Ranigunj Coalfield. The buildings are ready and the hospitals are expected to function shortly. The construction of similar Regional Hospitals for the Pench Valley and Chanda Coalfields in the Central Provinces will also be taken up shortly. The construction of a dispensary has been sanctioned for Mugma.

2. Preliminary measures have been completed for the construction of a Central Hospital with more than 100 beds for the Jharia Coalfield at Dhanbad. The Hospital will have on its staff specialists in all branches. A similar Hospital will be constructed for the Ranigunj coalfield for which a site has been selected.

3. A certain number of beds has been reserved for colliery labour in the Hospitals at Jamadoba and Sanctoria.

4. An X-Ray unit has been sanctioned for installation at the State Railway Collieries Hospital at Giridih. The Unit is being imported.

5. Two ambulances for the transport of colliery patients for hospital treatment have been placed at the disposal of the Asansol Mines Board of Health and a similar number at the disposal of the Jharia Mines Board of Health. For coalfields in the Central Provinces, 3 such cars have been provided.

† Answer to this question laid on the table, the questioner being absent.

6. Grants are being given annually to the Asansol and Jharia Mines Board of Health for meeting expenditure on measures for the improvement of sanitation.

7. Schemes for improving the water supply at Jharia, Asansol, and Pench Valley are under consideration.

8. It is proposed to construct 50,000 houses for miners. A beginning has already been made. A number of quarters will be constructed to Railway collieries, also including those at Bermo.

9. Anti-malaria measures are being undertaken in all the important coalfields under the direction of the Director, Malaria Institute of India. A lump sum of Rs. 12½ lakhs has been provided for this purpose during the current year. D. D. T. spraying operations were carried out in Bermo during the last malaria season.

10. A Tuberculosis Specialist has been appointed and a scheme for the establishment of V. D. Clinics has also been prepared.

11. There is a mobile canteen which tours coalfields and sells tea, snacks, etc. There is also a mobile cinema which gives shows for a nominal admission fee. There is also a mobile shop for the sale of consumer goods to colliery labour. This shop visits Bermo coalfields, also.

12. A scheme for the welfare of women by providing visual and craft education at demonstration centres has also been put into operation. The scheme has proved very popular and a number of centres has been opened. It is proposed to cover the whole of the Jharia and Ranigunj coalfields by a net work of such centres.

13. Grants have been made to the Leprosy Associations in Bengal and Bihar for the maintenance of a certain number of beds. The Fund has also contributed towards the cost of refresher courses for colliery medical officers, for Baly Shows, Health Exhibitions, etc. The Fund is also meeting the cost of training of two nurses at the Delhi College of Nursing who will later work in the Fund's Hospitals.

14. The Fund has a number of Inspectors of Labour Welfare, Propaganda Officers and a Lady Welfare Officer. They visit collieries for general propaganda and for ascertaining the grievances of colliery labour. These officers have visited Bermo also.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know what is the total number of labourers from outside who are working in these coalfields?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: I want notice of that question.

PAKISTAN RAIDS ON INDIA.

725. Shri M. S. Aney (on behalf of Dr. N. B. Khare): (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state, how many raids have been made on our country by Pakistan, after the partition?

(b) What losses have been suffered by our public in men and material?

(c) What action have Government taken to check further raids?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: This question should have been addressed to the Honourable Minister for Defence and has accordingly been transferred to the Ministry of Defence. It will be answered on a day allotted to that Ministry.

PAKISTAN HINDUS AND SIKHS AS NATIONALS OF INDIA.

726. Shri M. S. Aney (on behalf of Dr. N. B. Khare): Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government propose to declare all the Hindus and Sikhs residing in Pakistan as Nationals of India and claim their protection as such?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: The question of citizenship of the Indian Union and of Pakistan is rather vague at present. It will be finally determined by the provision of the new Constitution. Meanwhile it is for such residents of Pakistan as desire to become Nationals of India to declare this. Government cannot make a declaration on behalf of any group, nor is Government prepared to consider that the people of any particular religious persuasion should necessarily be Nationals of a particular country. Nationality and Religion are not synonymous.

LOSSES SUFFERED BY HINDUS IN PAKISTAN

727. Shri M. S. Aney (on behalf of Dr. N. B. Khare): Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state, whether Government propose to prefer claims for the value of property and losses suffered by the Hindus in Pakistan?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clause (b) of Starred Question No. 20 and clause (e) of Starred Question No. 23, on the 18th November, 1947. The entire question of evacuee property including the method of valuation is under discussion with the Pakistan Government.

EVACUATION OF HINDUS FROM N.W.F.P.

728. Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafir: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether Government are aware that owing to the Frontier raids, communal situation in the North West Frontier Province has worsened and that the lives and honour of the Hindus are in danger particularly in the pockets of Kohat, Bannu, Peshawar, and Mardan?

(b) What steps have Government taken so far to evacuate them from there, and how many of them have crossed the Indo-Pakistan border?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) The reference to Frontier raids is not understood. It is true that non-Muslims in N.-W. F. P. have a feeling of insecurity.

(b) Of the non-Muslim population of about two lakhs sixty thousand, considerable numbers migrated from the Province before the 15th August. Some have been evacuated by Air and some more by train. About forty-eight thousand are still left behind. Of these about twenty-four thousand are at Bannu and the others are mainly at Mardan and Peshawar. Evacuation will have to be made by train and the steps to this end are being discussed with the Pakistan Government.

کیانی گورمکھ سنگھ مسافر :- میں یہ دریافت کرنا چاہتا ہوں کہ کیا آپریبل منسٹر نے آج کے ہندوستان ٹائمز میں خبر پڑھی ہے جس کا Heading یہ ہے "Bannu Non-Muslims in danger" اس میں لکھا ہے کہ تیس ہزار ہندو اور سکھ وہاں پر بہت خطرے میں ہیں -

Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafir: I want to enquire if the Honourable Minister has read in the 'Hindustan Times' to-day the news under the heading "Bannu Non-Muslims in danger". It has been stated therein that the lives of thirty thousand Hindus and Sikhs are in great danger.

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The figures that I have got are these: 24,000 people are at Bannu, 6,000 at Peshawar, 5,000 at Mardan and 4,500 at Dera Ismail Khan. We got the statistics very recently from our Deputy High Commissioner.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: Is it a fact that there has been no evacuation from the N.-W.F.P. for the last fortnight? Is it a fact that trains sent to evacuate non-Muslims from the N.-W.F.P. have returned empty, because the Frontier Government would not allow these people to come to India, though they are all anxious to be evacuated?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Evacuation by air has been taking place from the N.-W.F.P. As regards evacuation by railway train it is a fact that at one stage the Premier of the N.-W.F.P. stated that the non-Muslims there were not prepared to leave the province and therefore he was not in a position to assist evacuation by train. We took up this question with the Pakistan Government later, and then at the instance of the Prime Minister of Pakistan the attitude of the N.-W.F.P. Government has been changed and trains are likely to be laid on in consultation with the Pakistan Government in the near future.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Am I to understand that the statement of the Premier of the N.-W.F.P. was not correct when he informed the Government of India that the non-Muslims were not prepared to leave the province for India?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The impression that we got from the statement made by the Prime Minister of Pakistan was that "some non-Muslims were now desirous of leaving".

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know if the Government have taken any steps to ascertain the number of non-Muslim Government servants killed in the N.-W.F.P.?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid that question does not arise. If the Honourable Member is desirous of obtaining this information he can put down another question.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I know if the Government propose to send its own army for the protection of these non-Muslims in Bannu and other places in the N.-W.F.P. who are willing to come here?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I do not know whether that is contemplated. The guard may be provided by the Pakistan army for the purpose of evacuation by train of the non-Muslims.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I know whether the Honourable Minister is aware of the fact that the people in Bannu and other places are apprehensive that they will not be properly protected if they are not escorted by the Indian army?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am aware of that and this question is being taken up with the Pakistan authorities.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Is the Honourable Minister aware that on the 7th December a report was published in the 'Hindustan Times' (the message was from Amritsar) that at Jhelum and Rawalpindi there are regular bands of Frontier tribesmen who are carrying away abducted women brought from Kashmir and that they were being paraded in the streets of Jhelum and Rawalpindi with the open support of the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid that question does not arise out of this.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Is the Honourable Minister aware that there are about 8,000 Harijan refugees wanting to be evacuated from Bahawalpur State?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: That question again does not arise out of the question under answer.

Shri Balkrishna Sharma: Is there any reciprocal arrangement between this Government and the Pakistan Government regarding evacuees that they shall be evacuated under the protection of their own national army units?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: It is rather a complicated arrangement and I should not like to make a statement straightaway.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Is the Honourable Minister aware that our military forces which have gone to protect our people in the N.-W.F.P. have been insulted and detained by the Frontier military?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I have no such information.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: May I know if it is not a fact that substantial bodies of non-Muslims detained in the N.-W.F.P. are not allowed to come to India, because it is in the interest of the Pakistan Government to keep them for purposes of their public utility services going on?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: My Honourable friend was not perhaps in his seat when I made a statement as regards the question of some non-Muslims not being permitted to leave Pakistan. The general position has improved since; I am not aware whether any special impediments are being put in the way of the evacuation of the Harijans in the N.-W.F.P.

Shri S. Nagappa: May I know whether the Honourable Minister is aware that especially the Harijans are not allowed either to remain in Pakistan as Harijans or to cross over the border to India? Will the Government take steps to see that Harijans are escorted to the Indian Dominion?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I have not received any such specific complaint with reference to the N.-W.F.P. There is such a complaint with regard to certain other provinces of Pakistan.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I know whether the figure which the Honourable Minister gave the House for Bannu includes only the city of Bannu or also the surrounding areas of Bannu?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: As far as I am aware it includes all those collected at Bannu from the surrounding areas.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Have Government information regarding the people who are in the surrounding areas now in pockets which are located near Bannu?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I have not got that information now.

Diwan Chaman Lall: Is any attempt being made to collect the necessary information regarding the pockets in the N.-W. F. P.?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Oh, yes.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Have Government any information whether any Harijans in any part of the N.-W.F.P. have been forcibly converted to Islam?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: That question again, I am afraid, does not arise out of this.

Mr. F. R. Anthony: Sir, I visited the largest camp in Peshawar the other day. Is the Honourable Minister aware that to a man the refugees are insisting on coming to India?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: That is definitely our information.

Mr. F. R. Anthony: Is he also aware that the official communique from the North-West Frontier Province can have no basis of truth because from my experience I found that not even a Tehsildar has ever so much approached any of the refugee camps?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am prepared to accept the Honourable Member's statement.

COMMONWEALTH CUSTOMS UNION.

729. *Shrimati Renuka Ray: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have received any communication from His Majesty's Government for a Conference to discuss the possibilities of establishing a Customs Union within the British Commonwealth;

(b) if so, whether the Government of India have accepted this invitation; and

(c) whether Government have formulated any views in regard to the proposal to establish a Commonwealth Customs Union?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) No.

Shrimati Renuka Ray: Will the Honourable Minister tell us if there are any talks expected on these lines at Havana?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Not exactly on these lines. The United Kingdom has expressed a desire that representatives of all the Dominions who possess the requisite knowledge should be made available at Havana with a view to having some preliminary discussion with respect to matters which relate to trade and commerce between the various Dominions constituting the British Commonwealth.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable Minister assure us that before anything is decided in this matter the House will be consulted?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Nothing is going to be done over the head of the House. No such agreement is visualized at present, but whatever definite agreement may be made will certainly be placed before the House.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it a fact that an attempt is being made to form a European Customs Union, and if so has India been invited to any conference that they are likely to have there for this purpose?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The exact position is that certain countries have formed themselves into what may be called a Study Group in order to study the preliminary matters with a view to ascertaining the possibility of having a Customs Union or Unions between various European countries; and to that Study Group India has been invited.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: In view of the fact that Europe happens to be the biggest importer for Indian agricultural exports, will Government consider the advisability of consulting the agricultural interests before they actually send their experts to the Conference?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: No expert is being contemplated to be sent. The Indian High Commissioner has been asked to go wherever it is possible.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: My question has not been answered, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: Not answered to the satisfaction of the Honourable Member perhaps.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: I wanted our agricultural interests to be consulted before the Indian High Commissioner is sent to the Conference.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The Indian High Commissioner is supposed to represent all Indian interests.

Shri Biswanath Das: May I know whether Government have considered the question of intimating the Commonwealth countries that they are not going to enter into the discussion of any question relating to Customs Union unless and until Indians in their Dominions get equal privileges and equal rights of citizenship?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That will be a matter which will be taken into consideration when the question arises.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Is it not more in the interests of India to promote an Asian Customs Union rather than join a Commonwealth Customs Union?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. It is a matter of opinion.

EXCLUSION OF INDIANS FROM JAPANESE COTTON TRADE.

730. *Shrimati Renuka Ray: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the statement issued through Reuter's Agency on the 5th September 1947 by Mr. Tusidas Kilachand, Leader of the Indian Mission to Japan, and published in the 'Statesman', dated the 6th September, 1947, stating that General MacArthur's Supreme Headquarters in Japan had "tied up" the Japanese cotton trade to the exclusion of Indians, with the result that the Indian Mission was able to arrange for only 170,000 bales of raw cotton instead of 394,000 bales as originally proposed?

(b) Have Government taken up this matter through their Representative in Japan with General MacArthur's Headquarters as also with the Government of the United States?

(c) Are the interests of Indian agriculture and trade fully safe-guarded in this matter?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). Government have seen the Press report, but it should not be construed as implying that the Headquarters of the Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers in Japan have been inimical to Indian interests, though there has been some delay in carrying on triangular correspondence between India on the one hand and Washington and Tokyo on the other. The Indian Trade Delegation has arranged for shipment of 170,000 bales but this is not to the exclusion or reduction of the original offer of 394,000 bales. That offer is still under negotiation at Washington and Tokyo through the Indian Embassy and the Indian Liaison Mission.

(c) Government are doing all they can to safeguard their interests.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not a fact that before the war more than fifty per cent. of India's exports of cotton used to go to Japan?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It is a fact, Sir.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Are Government satisfied with this offer of the Supreme Headquarters in Japan to take only 3,94,000 bales of cotton from India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The continuance of the negotiations is a proof that the Government of India is not satisfied with the arrangement.

Shri B. A. Khimji: Has the Indian Delegation to Japan returned to India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I think so.

Shri B. A. Khimji: Has it submitted a Report?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Not yet, Sir.

Shri B. A. Khimji: May I know when the Delegation has returned to India?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I cannot give the exact date, but it was about a few weeks ago.

Shri B. A. Khimji: Will the Government request the Leader of the Delegation to submit a Report as early as possible?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I shall do that.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I know from the Honourable Minister what is the target which the Government of India is having in view in their negotiations with the Government in Japan regarding the export of raw cotton from India to Japan?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: As much as we can export, consistent with the interests of this country.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I inform the Honourable Minister that prior to the war the amount of cotton exported to Japan was something to the tune of seven to eight lakhs of bales, and may I ask if the Government of India is keeping that target in mind now?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is a fact. But the pattern of trade hereafter may be different, and different circumstances will obviously weigh.

Shri T. A. Ramalingam Chettiyar: Are exports of cotton from India to Japan replaced by exports from America or elsewhere? A large part of Japan's supplies used to be made from here.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I want notice of that question.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it not the policy of the Government to encourage consumption of Indian cotton in this country itself so that our exports may be minimised as far as possible?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That is generally the policy of the Government.

Mr. Hussain Imam: Is there any contract with the authorities in Japan to supply us cloth in place of the cotton that we supply to them?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: There is no such contract, but there is some barter arrangement.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: I have got authority from Shri Ram Narayan Singh to put his questions. He has given authority to two of us.

Mr. Speaker: If it is a doubtful authority, it will not do.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: If the authority is given to two persons, the authority may be cancelled.

Mr. Speaker: I should think the latter authority will prevail. What is the date of the authority given to the Honourable Member?

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: There is no date. I am not putting the question on his behalf, Sir.

DAMODAR VALLEY AND KOSHI SCHEMES.

731. *Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri (on behalf of Shri Ramnarayan Singh): Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state the stages of Damodar Valley Scheme and the Koshi Scheme?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: As regards the Damodar Valley Scheme, the attention is invited to the reply given by me on the 2nd December 1947 to part (a) of starred question No. 506 put by Prof. N. G. Ranga. The Damodar Valley Corporation Bill has since been introduced in the Dominion Legislature on the 3rd December 1947.

Koshi Scheme.—Regarding Koshi Scheme, preliminary surveys and investigations are progressing according to plan. Surveys of dam site, reservoir area and a portion of the area proposed to be brought under irrigation have been completed. Designing of dams and appurtenant works and other surveys e.g. forest surveys, geological surveys, are in hand and making progress.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: How much is this scheme expected to cost and how much area is likely to benefit?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It has not yet been finally estimated.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Is it expected to benefit Bihar Province or which Province?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The provinces through which the Koshi river runs.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: We are not expected to be acquainted with all that. That is why I asked the Minister to inform us which Provinces are expected to be benefited.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Mostly Bihar, Sir.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I ask the Honourable Minister if it would be necessary for him to bring forward a Bill for the Koshi scheme on the lines of the Damodar Valley scheme?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: If it is found that two provinces are involved, it will be necessary.

Shri M. S. Aney: Is he in a position to state whether more than one Province is involved in this scheme?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: That will depend upon the final report of the engineers.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I know whether any agreement between the Government of India, Nepal Government and Bihar have been arrived at regarding the Koshi scheme?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: So far as survey matters are concerned, there has been some understanding with the Nepal Government.

PROSECUTION BY SIND GOVERNMENT OF R.S.S. WORKERS

732. *Shri M. S. Aney: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the fact that forty persons alleged to be R.S.S. workers in Sind are being prosecuted by the Government of Sind for offences punishable under Sections 121 and 122 of the Indian Penal Code, as published in the Hindustan Times, dated the 24th November, 1947, under the caption "Plot to overthrow Pakistan Government"—"Charges against twenty R.S.S. Workers"?

(b) Do Government propose to instruct the High Commissioner of India at Karachi, to watch the proceedings and keep the Government of India duly informed of the progress of the case and give all the assistance the accused may need for their defence in Court and arrange for a proper treatment while in custody as under-trial prisoners?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Government have seen the press report referred to by the Honourable Member.

(b) The High Commissioner for India in Karachi has already been asked to report the facts and to make such recommendations as he may consider necessary. Government will decide if any action is necessary on receipt of his report.

RESETTLEMENT OF BURMA LABOURERS

733. *Shri Santanu Kumar Das: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the number of unemployed labourers and workers who left Burma during the War and are now unable to return there to earn their livelihood?

(b) Do Government propose to provide them with work so that they may eke out a living?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) According to the Census of evacuees taken in November-December, 1948, 3½ lakhs of Indians evacuated Burma during the War. Of these, about 1,88,000 were labourers. These figures include women and children. Government have no information as to how many of them are unemployed at present or how many wish to return to Burma.

(b) It is now five years since the evacuation took place, and such evacuees must be treated as part of the general population. Government cannot undertake to make any special provision for them.

Shri Santanu Kumar Das: Has Government any information that the labourers from Orissa are not allowed to go to Burma?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Government has no such information, but I am quite prepared to believe that.

Shri Biswanath Das: In view of the importance of the question, may I request the Government to state whether they have completed negotiations between the Government of Burma and India on this question of free entry of Indians into Burma?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: That question is under consideration.

REFUGEES RESIDING WITHOUT SHELTER

734. *Shri Santanu Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state the number of refugees residing in India without shelter and protection from Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: There must be a number of refugees in India living with their relatives and friends there are others who are being assisted by philanthropic bodies and individuals; but it is not possible for Government to give their number.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: Is it a fact that more than 1,50,000 persons in the Punjab and Delhi are still living in the open without any shelter?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am not in a position to give any definite reply to this question, but I do admit that there must be a number of people who are now living in the open, but their number is fluctuating, and I hope the number is getting gradually reduced.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: Is it a fact that 50,000 of the persons in the Kurukshetra Camp, which is under the direct charge of the Government of India, are still living in the open?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: As a matter of fact I might mention it to the House that the Kurukshetra Camp was intended to accommodate a maximum number of 2 lakhs of refugees, but the refugees simply continue pouring in without any previous intimation; and what the Honourable Member has said may be substantially correct. I may let the House know that I propose to proceed to Kurukshetra immediately after the question hour is over.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: Is it a fact that in Karnal and Panipat over 50,000 persons were brought by trains from West Punjab which was arranged by MEOs and they have been dumped there without any accommodation? Many of these persons have been there for weeks in Karnal and Panipat and various other places. Similarly in Ambala there are about 30,000 persons in places where they have no accommodation.

Speaker: Order, order. The Honourable Member is giving information. What is the question?

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: The question is whether the facts stated are correct.

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid I am not in a position to give any categorical reply to these questions because these matters are not directly under the control of the Central Government, but I feel sure that the position is not so bad as the Honourable Member has depicted it to be at the present moment.

Seth Govinddas: Is it not a fact that now the refugees who are in Kurukshetra are being sent to different provinces, and if it is a fact will the Government see that they are sent to different provinces at an early date before the terrible cold starts?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: As a matter of fact a few trains have already left, and it is with the object of discussing a programme for the dispersal of the Kurukshetra refugees that I shall be proceeding there today.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: May I know what is the total number of refugees the responsibility for whose shelter and protection has been taken over by the Government of India up till now?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I should like to have notice of that question.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask, Sir, what progress has been made in regard to the suggestion that the Government of India should take charge of all refugee camps?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: This matter was debated the other day, and I am sure my Honourable friend remembers the reply that was given to this point by the Honourable the Prime Minister. He said, as far as I recollect, that the Government of India would be prepared to take over any responsibility from the East Punjab Government provided that Government agreed to such a course.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask whether the Government of India has approached the Provincial Government with a request to that effect?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid that was not intended.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask my Honourable friend whether it is now intended to proceed with the request to the East Punjab Government that all camps should be taken over by the Government of India?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: This request is expected to come from them.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask my Honourable friend whether, in view of the dreadful condition in which these refugees find themselves, it is not the primary duty of the Government of India to initiate progress in regard to the suggestion?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: We have been in constant touch with the East Punjab authorities, and I may tell my Honourable friend that whenever we have brought any specific case to their attention, remedial measures have been taken.

Shrimati G. Durgabai: Will the Honourable Minister please state whether it is their policy to wait and see that the number of persons now living in the open will slowly get dwindled and reduced, or do the Government propose to take any steps to give them some protection or other?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The primary object of the Government is to reduce this number gradually by affording them necessary protection. Pending the time which may be needed for the purpose of dispersing them to different places where there may be adequate accommodation, the Government will do their best to provide shelter.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is there any truth in the rumour that there is a hitch between the East Punjab Government and the Government of India with regard to the refugee question?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. No questions of controversy will be permitted.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Is it a fact that a large number of evacuees have been deliberately dumped at Kurukshetra to make the arrangements there impossible for the Central Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am not prepared to accept that statement.

Shri Santanu Kumar Das: May I know the names of the philanthropic organizations?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I should like to have notice of the question.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: What is the agency through which Government ascertains the number of refugees who are without shelter?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: It must necessarily be the agency of the Provincial Government.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: May I know if it is a fact that so far as the movements of these refugees are concerned, they are controlled by MEOs which are directly under the Central Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: As a matter of fact, this was a question to which I think I gave some kind of an answer a few days back. The trains that come from Pakistan to India with non-Muslim refugees are controlled by the organization of the two MEOs at Lahore, and the destination of these trains in India is prescribed by the Pakistan authorities with a view to these trains taking out Muslim refugees from particular stations to which the non-Muslim refugees may be brought, and so that the trains may immediately be loaded with Muslim refugees who may be waiting there. This has really been the reason for the state of things to which Bakshi Tek Chand referred.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Does it not follow that the East Punjab Government has no hand in dumping the refugees in Kurukshetra or any other particular camp? The Provincial Government is in no way concerned.

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: So far as this point is concerned, certainly.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Do the Government get any information, Sir, about the state of health of these people who have no roofs over their heads, and if so, what is the latest report like?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: As a matter of fact, the latest report about Kurukshetra which I got from the Director-General of Medical Services reached me yesterday evening. I am sorry I have not brought it with me, but he is perfectly satisfied with the state of health of the refugees, having regard to all circumstances.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: Does it refer to Kurukshetra Camp alone or to other places?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The report relates to Kurukshetra.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: What about other places?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The Director-General has not perhaps visited other places recently.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand: Will the Honourable Minister take any steps to ask the Director-General or some other officer of the Ministry of Health to look at the places, particularly Ambala, Panipat, Karnal, Jullundur, and Ludhiana?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am sure there will be reports available from the medical authorities of the East Punjab Government and I will lay them on the table if that is desired.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask whether the MEO organization has brought non-Muslims into the territory of India at any particular centre? Who takes charge of these refugees after they have been dumped on at that particular centre?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: They are expected to be taken charge of by the authorities of the locality, but it so happens that there is not sufficient intimation received by these authorities in time to enable them to make proper arrangements.

Diwan Chaman Lall: May I ask my Honourable friend as to who takes charge for the purpose of dispersal from that particular centre, whose responsibility it is, the Government of India or the East Punjab Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: So far as the Kurukshetra Camp is concerned, it is the responsibility of the Government of India; so far as other areas are concerned, the local authorities are responsible.

Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: Sir, do I understand that when these refugee trains reach Lahore and enter the Indian Dominion, the Government of India has not got the right to decide as to where these passengers should be detained?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: That is more or less so.

Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: Sir, will the Government kindly give the reasons as to why, when the trains come into the Indian Dominion, the Pakistan Authorities should decide as to where the passengers are to be detained?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The arrangement was arrived at for the purpose of facilitating removal of Muslim refugees from India; therefore, the trains come to such places where there may be Muslim refugees to be cleared.

Shri M. S. Aney: May I ask whether it is the experience of the Honourable Minister that this arrangement is really facilitating the evacuation as they expected, or is it creating some difficulties?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I may inform the House that a corresponding arrangement operates in Pakistan; that is to say, we can nominate the places wherefrom the trains should originate for the purpose of collecting the non-Muslim refugees, and therefore the trains that go from here actually go to destinations which we prescribe.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saxena: The Honourable Minister suggests that in Kurukshetra there was room for two lakhs only but more people reached there; was any arrangement made by the Government of India to receive the additional refugees in some other camp and did these additional refugees come to Kurukshetra by mistake?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Government have done their best to receive and accommodate them at Kurukshetra.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saxena: My question is, Sir, whether any arrangement was made to divert the additional people elsewhere when the accommodation at Kurukshetra was full?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: There was no other camp in the neighbourhood; and it would have been cruel to divert them from Kurukshetra; we have been doing our best to look after them at Kurukshetra.

Shrimati G. Durgabai: May I know from the Honourable Minister whether the Government has any plan under consideration whereby they would correspond with the educational institutions of the other provinces—not only the educational institutions run by the Government but also those run by private enterprise—for making some provision for the girl students from among the refugees who are here?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am sure the question is under the consideration of the Education Ministry, but as far as I know there is no discrimination made between girls and boys in the matter of educational facilities to be provided for the refugees in the different Provinces. I might tell the Honourable the Lady Member that arrangements have been made in different Provinces—particularly by the Universities—for taking in refugee students.

پنڈت تھاکر داس بھارگو : کوروکھترا کے کیسپ کے متعلق ایک سوال کے جواب میں کہا گیا ہے کہ اس کا انتظام گورنمنٹ مکمل طور پر نہیں کر سکتی۔ جب گورنمنٹ آف انڈیا کے پاس اتنے resources ہیں اور وہ ایک کیسپ کا انتظام نہیں کر سکتی تو وہ پنجاب گورنمنٹ سے کس طرح توقع کر سکتی ہے کہ وہ شرنارتھیوں کے سارے کیسپوں کا انتظام کرے ؟

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: In reply to a question relating to the Kurukshetra Camp, it has been stated that the Government cannot manage it adequately. When the Government of India who has got so many resources is

- (b) How many such applications were granted and how many were rejected?
- (c) What total quantity of Jute has been allowed as quota for export?
- (d) What was the principle of distribution of quotas to different applicants?
- (e) Is it a fact that every applicant was required to deposit Rs. 50 with his application?
- (f) What was the total amount thus collected?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Exports of raw jute and jute goods are allowed through established shippers as well as through new-comers to the trade in the ratio of 90:10. From part (e) of the question it is presumed that the Honourable Member has in mind the applications made by the latter. On this presumption the answers to the questions put by him are as follows:

(a) Raw Jute	588	Applications
Jute Products	6,886	"
Total	7,474

(b) Applications for new-comers quota in respect of raw jute are still under consideration. With regard to jute products 347 applicants were granted quotas and 6,539 applications have been rejected.

(c) The total quantity of jute manufactures allotted to new comers for export is 68,657 tons.

(d) Firms or individuals were selected for allotment on their fulfilling two essential conditions, viz.: (i) The selected firm should not have received an allotment as an established shipper under the 90 per cent. reserved for such shippers; and (ii) The firm should have produced evidence of having received firm orders direct from the importing countries concerned. Preference was given to those who had produced evidence of letters of credit also.

(e) Those who applied for new comer's quotas were required to forward a Treasury Receipt for Rs. 50 along with their applications.

(f) Rs. 3,73,700.

IMPORT OF OILS AND GREASES.

†738. Shri Ramnarayan Singh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state, countrywise, what quantity of assorted lubricant oils and greases were imported in the years 1945 and 1946?

(b) What are the names of the importing firms and the countries from which the oils were imported?

(c) What is the quantity of oil allowed to each firm for which licenses have been issued in the current year?

(d) How many of such importers are foreign companies and how many are Indian?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a), (b) and (c). I lay on the table statements containing the information desired by the Honourable Member.

(d) Of the 78 firms who have been granted licences during the current year, 26 appear to be foreign. I would add for the Honourable Member's information that licences for the import of lubricants and greases are issued freely without distinction.

†Postponed to be taken up in the second round, the member being absent; but could not be reached during question hour.

Statement showing the quantity and country of consignment of lubricating oils and greases imported in the years 1945-46 and 1946-47

Country of consignment	Lubricating oils in galls.		Greases in lbs.
	1945-46	1946-47	1945-46	1946-47
U. K.	84,247	2,811,487	69,277	524,913
Iran	8,665,614	13,453,312	...	...
Palestine	...	18,084	...	...
Ceylon	8,304	4,987	565	128
Canada	225	198,809	38,400	...
Kenya Colony	...	900	...	...
Union of South Africa	1,390	900	...	48
Commonwealth of Australia	225,000	...	...	18,027
Egypt	...	58,495	1,580	668
Portuguese East Africa	1,350	...	...	...
United States of America	23,674,614	20,123,443	3,880,040	5,660,9
France	...	...	...	1
Maskat	...	...	...	5
Total	32,661,244	36,670,417	3,989,862	6,203,939

Note:—The above statement is based on information so far available for the financial years 1945-46 and 1946-47. Information for calendar years is not readily available. The information is confined to the Indian Union.

Statement showing the name of Importers in the Indian Union with countries of consignment of lubricating oils imported in the years 1945 and 1946

1945		1946
Name of Importer	Country of consignment	Name of Importer	Country of consignment
M/s. Bombay Cycle Stores Co.	United Kingdom, U. S. A., Iran and Ceylon.	Burma Shell & Oil Co. Ltd.	United Kingdom, U. S. A., Iran and Ceylon
„ Caudies Filter (India) Ltd.		Indo-Burmo Petroleum Co. (India) Ltd.
„ Hard Castle Waud & Co.		Nowrojee Wadia & Sons Ltd.
„ Don Watson & Co. Ltd.,		C. C. Wakefield & Co., Ltd.
„ C. C. Wakefield & Co. Ltd.		Silvertown Lubricants (India) Ltd.

1530

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [9TH DEC. 1947]

unable to manage one camp, then how can it expect from the Punjab Government that it should make arrangements for all the Refugee Camps?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I do not admit the assumption that the Government of India are not in a position to make adequate arrangements for the refugees at Kurukshetra. What I was saying was that we had actually made arrangements for two lakhs of people and that number has been very largely exceeded.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: In view of the admission, Sir, that there is obvious inconvenience in the distribution of the refugees coming from Pakistan to India or going from India to Pakistan and that the only consolation is that we have got a retaliatory power, will not Government consider the advisability of stopping all these refugees at the border and making a re-distribution of trains at that point so as not to inconvenience either party?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: May I inform the Honourable Member that evacuation by trains is about to be over?

REPRESENTATION OF INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING COMPANY LTD., AT THE CONFERENCE OF SHIPPING INTEREST IN BOMBAY.

†735. Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri (on behalf of Shri Ramnarayan Singh): (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether it is a fact that one International Shipping Company Limited which had applied for being represented at the Conference of Shipping interest in Bombay, on the 3rd November 1947 was not invited while some other Shipping Companies were invited?

(b) What was the reason for discrimination in issuing these invitations?

(c) Do Government propose to encourage the shipping trade by allowing new companies to function even with chartered vessels?

(d) What is the policy of Government with regard to the association of non-shipowning companies in Conferences and Delegations intended to increase the tonnage of Indian Shipping in order to reach the target figure?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). As the main purpose of the Conference was to consider certain proposals of Government for the expansion of the activities of Indian Shipping Companies on a Joint Government-cum-private ownership basis, it was considered unnecessary to trouble companies, including the International Shipping Company, which had no tonnage of their own, and had no practical experience of the shipping trade.

(c) Government consider that from the point of view of making the best possible use of India's foreign exchange resources as well as in the ultimate interests of Indian Shipping, Indian Companies should be encouraged to purchase rather than charter ships.

(d) The practice in such cases is to secure the best possible representation having regard in each case to the specific matters to be dealt with by the particular Conference or Delegation.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I ask the Honourable the Minister, that so long as the tonnage is there, will licences be granted and dollar exchange made available for persons who have chartered ships instead of allowing this cargo from being shipped from place to place?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Each case will be considered on its merits.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: What is the present position regarding tonnage, Sir, and the availability of tonnage for removing of the cargo? Is it not limited?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Yes; it is limited.

†Taken up in the second round.

EXPANSION OF INDIAN SHIPPING TONNAGE

†736. Shri Ramnarayan Singh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state what measures, if any, were decided upon in the Conference held recently in Bombay for the development and expansion of Indian Shipping?

(b) How many shipping companies were invited to the Conference and what are the names of those companies?

(c) How many non-shipowning companies are there in India and how many such companies were invited?

(d) What facilities do Government propose to give to the shipping companies to increase the tonnage of shipping in order to reach the target figure?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) As stated by me in reply to the previous question, Government placed before the representatives of shipowners for their consideration certain proposals for the rapid expansion of the activities of Indian shipping. No decisions were taken.

(b) Fifteen companies were invited to attend. A list showing the names of the companies is placed on the table of the House.

(c) Government have no precise information but as far as they are aware there are over fifteen companies which own no ships. None of these companies was invited to the Conference.

(d) Government will render all practicable assistance to Indian companies in building or purchasing additional ships. The proposals now before the shipping companies are specially designed to encourage rapid acquisition of tonnage.

List of Indian Shipping Companies invited for the Shipping Conference, held in Bombay on the 3rd November 1947.

1. The Scindia Steam Navigation Company Ltd., Bombay.
2. The Bombay Steam Navigation Co. Ltd., Bombay.
3. The Eastern Steam Navigation Co. Ltd., Bombay.
4. The Indian Co-operative Navigation & Trading Co., Ltd., Bombay.
5. Shri Ambica Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., Bombay.
6. The Oceanic Navigation Company Ltd., Calcutta.
7. The Malabar Steamship Co., Ltd., Bombay.
8. The New Dholera Steamships Ltd., Bombay.
9. The India Steamship Co. Ltd., Calcutta.
10. The Chandbali Steamer Service Co., Calcutta.
11. The Ratnagar Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., Bombay.
12. The Kalwarsund Co., Bombay.
13. The Merchant Steam Navigation Co., Bombay.
14. The Bharat Line Ltd., Bombay.
15. The Bengal Burma Steam Navigation Co., Bombay.

APPLICATIONS FOR JUTE EXPORT

†737. Shri Ramnarayan Singh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state how many firms or individual dealers applied for quota of jute export?

†Postponed to be taken up in the second round, the member being absent; but could not be reached during question hour.

1945		1946
Name of Importer	Country of consignment	Name of Importer	Country of consignment
M/s. Caltex India Ltd	United Kingdom, U. S. A., Iran and Ceylon.	Phirozsha & Sons	United King- dom, U. S. A., Iran and Ceylon
„ Silvertown Lubricants (India) Ltd.		Shah Trading Co., Ltd.
„ Valvoline Oil Co		National Petroleum Co. Ltd.
„ Martin & Co		Imperial Trading Co.
„ Burmah Shell & Oil Co Ltd.		V. R. Shāh & Co.
„ Standard Vacuum Oil Co		Tulshidas Khimji
„ H. J. Leach & Co. Ltd.		V. B. Kusumgar & Co.
„ Narotam Karsondas & Co.		P. D. Gupta & Co.
„ Kela & Co.		Greaves Cotton & Co. Ltd.
„ Tide Water Oil Co., (India) Ltd.		Famous Transport Co.
„ Indo-Burma Petroleum Co., Ltd.		Standard Vacuum Oil Co.
„ Turner Hoare & Co.		Hardecastle Waud & Co.
„ Lubricating Oils & Fuels (India) Ltd.		Narotamdas Karsendas & Co.
„ H. J. Mehta		Caltex (India) Ltd.
„ U. D. Patel & Co.		General Motors (India) Ltd.
„ G. H. Lentin & Sons		Vavoline Oil Co.
„ Motor & General Stores Supply Co.		Kela & Co.
„ The Chartered Bank of India & China.		James Finlay & Co.
„ Maitland Craig & Co., Ltd.		Lubricating Oils & Fuels (India) Ltd.
„ Mills Stores		Tide Water Oils Co. (India) Ltd.
„ Powells Ltd.		U. D. Patel
„ Saraswathy Importing Co.		Don Watson & Co., Ltd.
„ Grieves Cotton & Co.		Andrew Yule & Company.
„ Parry & Co.		Jardine Skimmer & Co. Ltd.
„ Taylor & Co.		Martin & Co.
		Victor Oil Co. Ltd.
		Saraswathy Cycle Trading Co.
		Parry & Co.
		Taylor & Co.

Statement showing the quantities of Lubricating Oils and Greases allowed to each firm for which licences have been issued in the current year.

Serial No.	Name and Address of Licence Holder	Description of goods	Quantity
1	2	3	4
1	M/s. Silvertown Lubricants (I) Ltd., Calcutta.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 12,81,810 I. G. (b) 652 tons-520 lbs.
2	„ Caltex (India) Ltd., Bombay.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 18,93,275 I. (b) 553 tons-1930 lbs.
8	„ C. C. Wakefield & Co., Bombay.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 9,16,045 I. G. (b) 171 tons-1760 lbs.
4	„ Standard Oil Vacuum Co. Bombay.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 9,18,976 I. G. (b) 6,116 tons-406 lbs.
5	„ Hard Castle Waud & Co., Bombay.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 60,000 I. G. (b) 147 tons-720 lbs.
6	„ Meto Lubricants Bom- bay.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 25,000 I. G. (b) 4 tons-1040 lbs.
7	„ Burmah Shell Oil (India) Ltd., Bombay.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 19,94,800 I. G. (b) 6 tons-0 lbs.
8	„ Patel's India, Bombay.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 50,000 I. G. (b) 17 tons-1920 lbs.
9	„ Amichand Das Dwarka Dass, Madras.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 14,76,000 I. G. (b) 75 tons-0 lbs.
10	„ American Oil and Tra- ding Co., Ahmedabad.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 81,092 I. G. (b) 13 tons-880 lbs.
11	„ Tide Water Co. (India) Ltd., Calcutta.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 6,00,000 I. G. (b) 147 tons-720 lbs.
12	„ Freedom Kalholina Oil Co., Calcutta.	(a) Lubricating Oils (b) Greases	(a) 68,125 I. G. (b) 8 tons-480 lbs.
13	„ Bombay Mercantile, Bombay.	(a) Grease	275 tons-0 lbs.
14	„ T. Biramji & Co., Bombay.	Oils	41,500 I. G.
15	„ Nelson Petroleum Co., Bombay.	Grease	25 tons-0 lbs.

Serial No. 1	Name and Address of Licence Holder 2	Description of goods 3	Quantity 4
16	M/S. Duncan Bros. Co. Ltd., Calcutta.	Grease	12 tons.
17	„ Arjun Das Gupta Bros., Calcutta.	Do.	11 tons:1360 lbs.
18	„ Betco Ltd., Calcutta	Oils	45,000 I. G.
19	„ Atlas Trading Co., Calcutta.	Do.	8,100 I. G.
20	„ Surya Bros., Calcutta	Do.	20,000 I. G.
21	„ Phoenix Oil Co., (India) Ltd., Delhi.	Do.	67,500 I. G.
22	„ Motor General Stores Supplying Co., Bombay	Do.	6,30,000 I. G.
23	„ H. J. Leich and Co. Bombay.	Do.	3,25,850 I. G.
24	„ Chandu Lal T. Parikh, Bombay.	Do.	63,250 I. G.
25	„ Overseas Trading Co., Sialkot.	Do.	13,500 I. G.
26	„ Getty Bros & Co., Bombay.	Do.	2,25,000 I. G.
27	„ Danlal & Co., Murta-zapur.	Do.	80,000 I. G.
28	„ Martin & Co., Calcutta	Do.	1,84,770 I. G.
29	„ Chundri Sreromulce, Ellore.	Do.	5,850 I. G.
30	„ National Petroleum Co., Bombay.	Do.	1,40,000 I. G.
31	„ Mangal & Co., Calcutta	Do.	2,00,000 I. G.
32	„ J. Byron & Co., Bombay	Do.	9,000 I. G.
33	„ Toyal & Co., Hissar	Do.	3,00,000 I. G.
34	„ Prabhat Trading Co., Jamnagar.	Do.	9,000 I. G.
35	„ E. M. N. Sure, Bombay	Do.	13,500 I. G.

Serial No. (1)	Name and Address of Licence Holder (2)	Description of goods (3)	Quantity (4)
36	M/S. Asian Trading Co., Bombay.	Oils	1,500 I. G.
37	„ The Kela Co., Bombay	Do.	22,040 I. G.
38	„ M. C. Shah & Co., Calcutta.	Do.	22,500 I. G.
39	„ M. M. Robindernath, Bombay.	Grease	8 tons—1080 lbs.
40	„ Madhuns & Co., Bombay	Oils	25,000 I. G.
41	„ Girdhari Lal & Co., Karachi.	Do.	1,35,000 I. G.
42	„ India Motor Trading Co., Bhavnagar.	Do.	5,400 I. G.
43	„ Maya Shanker P. Pathani, Bombay.	Do.	1,00,000 I. G.
44	„ Parnand Manik Lal & Co., Bombay.	Do.	4,500 I. G.
45	„ Electric Trading Co., Bombay.	Do.	50,000 I. G.
46	„ A. R. Mookerji & Co., Calcutta.	Do.	90,000 I. G.
47	„ Janson Oil Co., Calcutta	Do.	90,000 I. G.
48	„ Indo Burmah Petroleum Co., Ltd., Calcutta.	Do.	24,000 I. G.
49	„ Balmer Lawrie & Co., Ltd., Calcutta.	Do.	3,00,000 I. G.
50	„ United Oil Co., Cawnpore	Do.	90,000 I. G.
51	„ Kilburn & Co., Calcutta	Do.	10,000 I. G.
52	„ Kaye Marden & Co., Calcutta.	Do.	1,00,000 I. G.
53	„ Greaves Cotton & Co., Bombay.	Do.	1,14,244 I. G.
54	„ P. K. Agneer, Bombay	Do.	10,000 I. G.
55	„ Shanti Lal Phulchand Shah, Bombay.	Do.	1,00,000 I. G.
56	„ Atlantic Oil Co., Calcutta.	Do.	90,000 I. G.
57	„ M. A. Malik & Co., Bombay.	Do.	50,000 I. G.

Serial No.	Name and Address of Licence Holder	Description of goods	Quantity
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)
58	M/S. U. D. Patel & Co., Bombay.	Oils	13,500 I. G.
59	„ Valji N. Thakar, Bombay	Do.	5,40,000 I. G.
60	„ Farmego Ltd., Bombay.	Do.	4,50,000 I. G.
61	„ Hindustan Petroleum Co., Calcutta.	Do.	25,000 I. G.
62	„ Skri & Grover, Karachi	Do.	7,55,000 I. G.
63	„ Getz Bros. & Co., Bombay.	Do.	2,25,000 I. G.
64	„ Bhagwan Bulchand Malkani, Bombay.	Do.	53,000 I. G.
65	„ Mutual Co., Ltd., Bombay.	Do.	50,000 I. G.
66	„ Don Matson & Co., Ltd., Calcutta.	Do.	5,00,000 I. G.
67	„ Turner Hoare & Co., Ltd., Bombay.	Do.	2,02,500 I. G.
68	„ Sreepati Bros., Bezwada	Do.	8,595 I. G.
69	„ National Corporation Ltd., Lahore.	Do.	25,000 I. G.
70	„ Nowrowsji Wadia & Sons, Ltd., Bombay.	Do.	24,100 I. G.
71	„ Continental Oil Co., Madras.	Do.	9,000 I. G.
72	„ V. L. & Co., Bombay	Do.	10,500 I. G.
73	„ Vajinath & Co., Karachi	Do.	18,000 I. G.
74	„ S. N. Kashyap Bros., Lahore.	Do.	1,00,000 I. G.
75	„ G. H. Lentin & Sons, Ahmedabad.	Do.	9,000 I. G.
76	„ Sales Corporation, Bombay.	Do.	67,500 I. G.
77	„ Narottan Das Karam Das & Co., Bombay.	Do.	60,000 I. G.
78	„ Universal Oil Corporation, Lahore.	Do.	10,500 I. G.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1539

STAY IN INDIA OF MR. SATCHELL A SOUTH AFRICAN WHITE

739. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that Mr. Satchell, now at the Christa Prema Seva Sangh, Poona, is a South African White;

(b) whether it is a fact that he had championed the cause of Indians in South Africa and was imprisoned for his participation in the Indian Satyagraha movement;

(c) whether he had been in India before and if so, when;

(d) whether Government are aware of the purpose of his present visit to India;

(e) whether in coming to India he had fulfilled all the conditions imposed on South African Whites under the Reciprocity Act;

(f) whether Government are aware that before he disembarked in Bombay, he was taken to the police station;

(g) what action the police took before discharging him; and

(h) whether in view of his championship of Indians' cause in South Africa and the purpose of his present visit to India, he will be permitted to stay in India as long as he wishes?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) It is reported that he spent six years in India, his last visit to India being in 1938-39.

(d) Yes.

(e), (f) and (g). Information has been called for and will be laid on the table of the House when it is received.

(h) Government will consider any such request favourably.

Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: May I know what is the real policy of the Government of India towards the entry of South African whites into this country?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: The question does not arise from the reply given.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: Arising from (b) may I know whether this is a British organisation or a Hindu organisation; whether it refers to Shri Krishna or Jesus Christ?

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. It is obvious.

MOVEMENT OF EAST BENGAL HINDUS TO WEST BENGAL

740. *Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state what is the number of Hindus who have moved from East Bengal into West Bengal since the 15th August 1947?

(b) Have Government established any organization to provide accommodation for them and arrange for their maintenance?

(c) Is a steady exodus of Hindus from East Bengal going on?

(d) If so, what is the approximate number of Hindus arriving every week in West Bengal?

(e) What is the exodus due to?

(f) Have Government taken up the matter with the Government of East Bengal?

(g) If so, what is the result of the negotiations?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) No detailed check has been made but it is estimated by the Government of West Bengal Province that approximately 2 lakhs Non-Muslims have arrived in West Bengal from East Bengal since the 15th August, 1947.

(b) The Provincial Government have reported that the majority of these evacuees appear to possess means with which to rehabilitate themselves. No large scheme of relief and rehabilitation has, therefore, been undertaken so far. For genuinely destitute persons who have migrated into the Nabadwip district, a former military camp is being used as a camp.

(c) The exodus is still continuing but at a reduced pace.

(d) No estimate of the approximate number is possible.

(e) The main cause is panic arising from alleged threats of violence; in some cases it was economic boycott by the majority community.

(f) and (g). The question of discussing the entire situation with the Pakistan Government is under consideration.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: As this exodus has been going on now for months, how is it that the Government of India are still considering the question of taking up the matter with the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: As the Honourable Member would realise, we depend upon the West Bengal Government to a very large extent in assessing the nature of the problem and the reports that reached us from West Bengal did not indicate the necessity of taking any definite action.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: When did the Honourable Minister of the Government of India come to know of the magnitude of the exodus?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Well, we made enquiries a few days ago and the result is what I have stated in reply to the Honourable Member's question.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Does the Honourable Minister mean that but for the enquiry made by the Government of India, the West Bengal Government would not have informed him of the scale on which the exodus was going on?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The West Bengal Government has been in touch with the Government of India, but I do not know if they gave any definite information requiring action on the part of the Central Government.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: May I ask the Honourable Minister if he can give me information regarding the number of people who are without any accommodation and who need relief?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid this question does not arise from the present question. But I could make enquiries on the point raised.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Will the Honourable Minister make enquiries now?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Yes, if the Honourable Member so desires. As I have already said, according to the West Bengal Government, the evacuees appeared to possess means with which to rehabilitate themselves, apart from a number of persons who have proceeded to Nabadwip district and who have been accommodated in camps.

Shrimati Renuka Ray: Is Government aware that there is a very large number of women also who are destitute and have come across from East to West Bengal and arrangements for their accommodation and training are provided for by private organisations, and thus it is not correct to say that they are all able to rehabilitate themselves?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: We have to depend upon the Provincial Government for information on all these various points, and I have stated what

I have obtained from the Provincial Government in reply to the various questions.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: Will the Honourable Minister, now that he has got information from the Honourable the lady Member, make enquiries?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: We shall pass all the points that have been raised by the Honourable Members to the Provincial Government and I expect they will send us their replies in the near future.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: May I know from the Honourable Minister what is the nature of assistance that has been sought by the West Bengal Government from the Central Government and what is the assistance that has been given to the West Bengal Government by the Central Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I do not recollect having received any request for assistance from the West Bengal Government in this matter.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Has there been any discussion about this matter so far between East and West Bengal Governments?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I have no definite official information on the point, but I understand there have been discussions.

Shri Mihir Lal Chattopadhyaya: The Honourable Minister has stated that about 2 lakhs refugees have come over from East to West Bengal. May I know up to what date does this figure relate?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: Up to a few days ago, according to information received from West Bengal Government.

Shri K. V. Kamath: In answer to part (a) the Honourable Minister has referred to the movement of "Non-Muslims" from East to West Bengal. Does the Honourable Minister mean, by "Non-Muslims" Hindus only or all communities barring Muslims?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I would not definitely state that there were no other Non-Muslims evacuated from East Bengal. It is in these terms that we have received information from West Bengal Government.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: May I know the number of Muslims who have gone from West to East Bengal?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: I am afraid the question does not arise. However, I have not got that information.

DEATH OF BHAI PARMANAND

Mr. Speaker: Before we proceed to the next item of business, I, on behalf of the House, express the deep sorrow which all of us feel on account of the sad demise of Bhai Parmanand, who was a member of this House 12 Noon for about 15 years. He had a brilliant academic career and served his country to the best of his ability at great sacrifice. We are all very sorry that he has left us, and our sympathies naturally go to the members of his family. The House, by this reference may record its sense of sorrow and sympathy for the family of the deceased by Honourable Members standing and then resuming their seats.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Sir, before you proceed with the agenda, I have got to make a complaint. I got the papers this morning at 10 O'clock and I find that except for items Nos. 19, 20 and 21, in all the other new items included in the agenda are new and we must have some time to look through these matters and read them. I suggest, Sir, that arrangements should be made to give us at least 2 clear days' notice of motions. Otherwise, there is no time for us to table amendments.

Mr. Speaker: We will consider that point. The Honourable Member means to say about certain consideration motions that he did not know which specific motion was coming for consideration today. Of course, that is an important point. I will see to it that no inconvenience is caused and I will also see what is possible so far as waiving of notices of amendments is concerned.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Will the Honourable the Speaker waive the rule in connection with the amendments that may be tabled with reference to the Bills before the House today?

Mr. Speaker: It is very difficult just to say generally about all such cases. It will depend upon the importance of the Bill, the nature of the amendment, the wishes of the House and so many other things. I cannot generally decide and say that in all cases I shall waive notice. I will consider each case on its merits and I will give each member all chance of having an equitable and just treatment in so far as tabling of amendments is concerned and if the Honourable Members have not got sufficient time, that fact and other circumstances will be taken into consideration.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER

INTERRUPTION OF ELECTRIC SUPPLY BETWEEN JANGPURA AND NIZAMUDDIN ON THE 1ST DECEMBER 1947

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state whether Government are aware that there was a serious interruption of electric supply in the area between Jangpura and Nizamuddin of New Delhi on the evening of Monday, the 1st December 1947?

(b) Are Government aware that similar interruptions have taken place frequently in the last two months?

(c) Have Government made any enquiry in this connection and if so, what is the result of such enquiry and what steps have Government taken or propose to take to avoid such repetitions in the future?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). From enquiries it appears that electric supply was interrupted on four occasions in certain areas. The first interruption for two minutes on the night of 1st October 1947 was due to a fault in a pole mounting box. Supply of electricity was made available by an alternative route within two minutes. The second interruption was on the 5th October 1947 for 10 minutes due to drop of steam pressure in the boilers of the Central Power House. The third interruption for two minutes occurred on the 2nd November 1947 due to a transient fault in the mains of the Electric Lane Sub-Station in New Delhi. The fourth interruption on the night of 1st December was due to a stout piece of galvanised iron wire being thrown on the overhead high tension line between Nizamuddin and Jangpura. The New Delhi Municipal Committee who are in charge of this high tension line have made full enquiries and are considering the question of preventive measures. The Honourable Members will no doubt appreciate the difficulty of taking preventive measures against deliberate mischief.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: May I ask the Honourable the Minister whether Government had any information at all that deliberate mischief was really caused by any individuals or any group?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: If we only get that definite information, the men will be behind the prison walls.

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: May I know what was the duration of the last interruption on 1st December.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: It occurred three times at an interval of 10 minutes each.

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Was any sabotage suspected and if so, were the police investigating the matter?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sabotage is not definitely suspected, but the matter has been reported to the police.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: Is the Honourable Minister aware that there was a break-down yesterday morning as well between 5 and 6 O'clock.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: As there was ample light, the Honourable Member did not notice it.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: If the Honourable Member is awake by that time, he will know that there is no light after 6 O'clock.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The Honourable Member is an early riser.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

Zulum on Harijans in PAKISTAN.

Mr. Speaker: I have received notice of an adjournment motion from the Honourable Mr. Nagappa and two others and the subject-matter for adjournment is:

"The Zulum exercised on Harijans in Pakistan areas by compelling them to embrace Islam and preventing them from crossing the borders of Pakistan to come over to the Indian Union."

Whatever the importance of the matter, it does not come within what the rules prescribe as 'urgency' and I do not think therefore this motion.....

Mr. Nagappa: Sir, I do not wish to move it.

ELECTION TO ALL-INDIA COUNCIL FOR TECHNICAL EDUCATION

آنریبل مولانا ابولکلام آزاد : جناب ! میں یہ تجویز پیش کرتا ہوں اس اسمبلی کو چاہئے کہ اُس طریقہ پر جسکو کہ آنریبل سپیکر منظور کرے اپنی تعداد میں سے پانچ ممبروں کو چنے یہ چنے ہوئے ممبران اُس آل انڈیا کونسل فار ٹیکنیکل ایجوکیشن کے ممبران ہونگے جسکو کہ گورنمنٹ آف انڈیا نے قائم کیا ہے ۔

جناب ! اس سلسلے میں میں صرف یہ کہنا چاہتا ہوں کہ ۱۹۶۵ ع میں یہ کونسل قائم کیا گیا اور اسوقت لیجسلیچر سے اس میں تین ممبر رکھے گئے تھے ۔ ایک کونسل آف سٹیٹ کی طرف سے اور دو لیجسلیٹو اسمبلی کی طرف سے ۔ اسکے بعد یہ تعداد ۱۹۶۶ ع میں بڑھائی گئی ۔ اور کونسل آف سٹیٹ کی طرف سے دو اور لیجسلیٹو اسمبلی کی طرف سے ۵ ممبران اس میں رکھے گئے ۔ اب ۱۵ اگست سنہ ۱۹۴۷ ع کو جیسا کہ آپکو معلوم ہے یہ پچھلے دنوں لیجسلیچرس ختم ہوئے اور انکی جگہ اسی دوماںہیں لیجسلیچر نے لی ۔ جب یہ مسئلہ منسٹری کے سامنے آیا تو اسہات کی ضرورت محسوس ہوئی کہ اس میں کچھ تبدیلیاں ہونی چاہئیں چنانچہ

چہ تبدیلیاں کی گئیں اور یہ قرار پایا کہ اس سال پانچ ممبران اس ہاؤس سے اس
نسل میں لئے جائیں۔

(English translation of the above speech)

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad (Minister of Education): I move:

"That the members of this Assembly do proceed to elect in such manner as may approved by the Honourable the Speaker, five persons from among their own numbers be members of the All-India Council for Technical Education constituted by the Government of India."

Sir, in this connection I simply want to say that this Council was set up in 1945 and at that time it constituted of three members elected by the Legislature; one from the Council of State and two from the Legislative Assembly. Afterwards, this number was increased in 1946, and two members from the Council of State and 5 from the Legislative Assembly were included in it. As you are aware, these two former legislatures ceased to exist with effect from 15th August and have been replaced by the present Dominion Legislature. When this matter was brought up before the Ministry, the necessity was felt that some changes should be made in it. Consequently certain changes were made and it was decided that during the current year, five members from the House should be included in this Council.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Members of this Assembly do proceed to elect in such manner as may approved by the Honourable the Speaker, five persons from among their own numbers be members of the All-India Council for Technical Education constituted by the Government of India."

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras Group): Sir, may I know why the membership which, as drawn from the Council of State and the Assembly, used to be seven is now reduced to five?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: اس بارے میں ہم نے قانونی منسٹری سے مشورہ کیا تھا۔ اور انہوں نے یہ رائے دی اس میں صرف پانچ ممبر کافی ہیں۔ اور سات کی ضرورت نہیں ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: In this connection we consulted the Ministry of Law, who expressed the opinion that it was quite sufficient to have only five members and that seven were not necessary.

श्री एम० एस० अणे: क्या सात से तकलीफ होती है?

Shri M. S. Aney: Was seven an inconvenient number?

مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: سات ممبر ضرورت سے زیادہ تھے

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: Seven members were more than necessary.

श्री शिवन लाल सक्सेना: इस کمیٹی میں کل کتنے ممبر ہیں۔

Shri Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): How many members constitute this Committee?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: چونکہ اس میں ریپریزنٹیشن مختلف جماعتوں کی ہے۔ اس لئے وہ سب ملا کر اسکی تعداد اکاون یا بارن ممبران کی ہوتی ہے۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: It consists of representatives of various classes, therefore taking all these together, their number comes to 51 or 52.

مسٹر حسین امام: کیا انکی اس تعداد میں بھی کچھ کمی کی گئی یا کہ صرف ممبران لیجسلیچر کی تعداد میں کمی کی گئی۔

Mr. Hussain Iman (Bihar: Muslim): Was any reduction made in respect of their number also, or only the number of members of the Legislature were reduced?

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: انکی پوری تعداد میں کمی نہیں کی گئی لیکن یہ رائے قائم پائی کہ لیجسلیچر سے جز پانچ ممبران لئے جاتے تھے وہ بھی گائی ہیں۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: No reduction was made in the total number, but it was decided that the number of five members which are elected from the Legislature is quite sufficient.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): Will the Honourable Member take into account the request of this House and raise the number to seven?

Mr. Speaker: It is for the House to decide. There are so many Committees on which a large number of Members are working. But that is a matter of opinion and it is for the Honourable Minister to consider whether he will increase the number or not if the House so desires.

آنریبل مولانا ابوالکلام آزاد: منسٹری نے پانچ کی تعداد کافی سمجھی اور میں یہ سمجھتا ہوں کہ ممبران کی تعداد سات تک کرنے سے کوئی خاص فائدہ نہیں نکلیگا۔

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The Ministry considered the number of five quite sufficient, and I think that no useful purpose will be served by raising the number of members to seven.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, the desire to increase the number expressed an earnest desire to work and to take an increasing part in the affairs of Government; it is not just for the sake of increasing the number.

Mr. Speaker: That is always presumed. The question is:

"That the members of this Assembly do proceed to elect in such manner as may be approved by the Honourable the Speaker, five persons from their own numbers to be members of the All-India Council for Technical Education constituted by the Government of India."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform Honourable Members that for the purpose of election by means of the single transferable vote of members to the All India Council for Technical Education the programmes of dates will be as follows:

1. Nominations to be field in the Notice Office upto 12 noon on Wednesday the 10th December.

[Mr. Speaker]

2. Election, if necessary, will be held on Thursday, the 11th December, in the Assistant Secretary's room (No. 21) in the Council House between the hours of 10-30 A.M. and 1 P.M.

INDIAN COTTON CESS (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad (Minister for Agriculture): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill further to amend the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

SALARIES OF MINISTERS BILL

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the salaries of Ministers.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the salaries of Ministers."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

AJMER-MERWARA (EXTENSION OF LAWS) BILL

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the extension of enactments to the Province of Ajmer-Merwara.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:—

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the extension of enactments to the Province of Ajmer-Merwara."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

FEDERAL COURT (ENLARGEMENT OF JURISDICTION) BILL

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): Sir, I beg to move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the enlargement of the appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court in Civil cases.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That leave be granted to introduce a Bill to provide for the enlargement of the appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court in Civil cases."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Sir, I introduce the Bill.

EXTRA-PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION BILL

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

This Bill was referred to a Select Committee and their report is practically unanimous except on one point on which a minute of dissent has been appended by certain members. There are also several amendments of a similar type from several Honourable Members. But it is a short measure intended to fill a gap which arose out of the lapse of Paramountcy: As I have stated before Government had to intervene because in certain areas by the lapse of Paramountcy there was no authority at all and there was a danger of anarchy prevailing there. The Bill has with reference to a limited part of the country where non-jurisdictional or semi-jurisdictional States are situated, such as Kathiawar in Western India and Manipur round about that area. I think this is an absolutely non-controversial measure: an Ordinance is in existence and this Bill is based more or less on that Ordinance. I will not take any more time of the House. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras General): Sir, I welcome this Bill. It is wholly non-controversial and I will not take up much time of the House. But I want to make one point. I am glad that the Honourable Minister has made it clear that this House has the right to pass Bills relating to areas which are not only under our jurisdiction today but may come under our jurisdiction hereafter. The Preamble states:

"Whereas by treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means, the Central Government has, and may hereafter acquire, jurisdiction in and in relation to areas outside the Province of India:"

This is amplified in the definition of 'extra-provincial jurisdiction' and in clause 3 where it is said:

"It shall be lawful for the Central Government to exercise extra-provincial jurisdiction in such manner as it thinks fit."

Sir, you may remember that yesterday this question came up as to whether this Assembly can pass a Bill which refers to jurisdiction which may hereafter come under its powers.

It was argued that we cannot have a speculative measure and I am glad that this point is made clear and I congratulate the Home Member on it.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin (C. P. and Berar: Muslim): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill as reported by the Select Committee be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon."

Sir, I fully realize that the matter under discussion is very delicate and I should not make any statement to complicate the relations between the States and the Union. I also realize that the relation between the States and the Union are in a great state of confusion, because we have to depend only on the Instrument of Accession. I fully realize that the Member in charge of the States has a stupendous work in establishing relations between the states and the Union and that he has been doing it with admirable skill.

Before I come to the particular provisions of this Bill, I submit that every one of us is looking forward to a time when there is no distinction between a

1548 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [9TH DEC. 1947]

[Kazi Syed Karimuddin]

Union Province and a State. The direct relationship between the States and the British Government was created only to avoid this day—that they should be away from the Government of India.

The Preamble of this Bill, Sir, is:

"Whereas by treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means, the Central Government has, and may hereafter acquire, jurisdiction in and in relation to areas outside the Provinces of India:"

After the Independence Bill was enacted in Parliament all the relations between the States and the Government of India lapsed. In his speech in the House of Lords, Lord Listowel said:

"Clause 7, sub-section (1) and the proviso to the clause deal with relations with the Indian States. Your Lordships will remember that the Cabinet Mission in their memorandum of May 12, 1946, informed the States that His Majesty's Government would in no circumstances transfer paramountcy to an Indian Government. To that pledge we firmly adhere to. We are therefore proposing that from the date when the new Dominions are set up the Treaties and Agreements which gave us suzerainty over the States will become void and the States will be masters of their fate."

Now, Sir, the legal position is that after paramountcy lapsed, there is no usage, no sufferance, no grant, except the Instrument of Accession by virtue of which the States have acceded to the Union. The Instrument of Accession is very clear on this point:

"I hereby declare that I accede to the Dominion of India with the intent that the Governor-General of India, the Dominion Legislature, the Federal Court and any other Dominion authority established for the purposes of the Dominion shall, by virtue of this my Instrument of Accession, but subject always to the terms thereof, and for the purposes only of the Dominion, exercise in relation to the State of such functions as may be vested in them by or under the Government of India Act, 1935, as in force in the Dominion of India."

"I hereby assume the obligation of ensuring that due effect is given to the provisions of the Act within this State so far as they are applicable therein by virtue of this my Instrument of Accession."

"I accept the matters specified in the Schedule hereto as the matters with respect to which the Dominion Legislature may make laws for this State."

The relations between the States and the Indian Union are based on contract or on terms specifically mentioned in the Instrument of Accession and not based on usage, sufferance or grant. The wording in this Bill used regarding usage, sufferance and grant will be inconsistent with the terms of the Instrument of Accession. After paramountcy lapses, there is no usage, sufferance or grant that can continue. All these relations which existed between the Crown and the States have lapsed.

The Law Minister while arguing yesterday said that there could be no legislation on any matter which is not provided in the Government of India Act and Schedule. Now, the passing of this Bill with these words which I have already quoted, will be inconsistent with the terms of the Instrument of Accession. Therefore my submission is that in view of the provisions of the Independence Act, in view of the provisions of the Instrument of Accession, the words used—"grant, usage, sufferance" must be deleted.

Another matter which I want to bring to the notice of the House is Clause 6 of the Bill. Clause 6 of the Bill mentions:

"If in any proceeding civil or criminal, in a Court established in the Provinces or by the authority of the Central Government outside the Provinces, any question arises as to the existence or extent of any extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government, the Secretary of the Government of India in the appropriate department shall, on the application of the Court, send to the Court the decision of the Central Government on the question, and that decision shall for the purposes of the proceeding be final."

The interpretation of the treaties, the interpretation of special terms of the Instrument of Accession and other terms between the States and the Indian

Union will be decided by the Secretary to the Government. If any such law point arises in a court of law about jurisdiction, the opinion and the findings of the Secretary of the Union will be final. My submission is that if contractual relations are established, if relations are based on terms of agreement by treaty or accession then it should be open to the judicial Court or the Federal Court of India or some other Court to interpret such terms and it should not be left to the executive authority vested in the Secretary to Government. The Government of the Union or the Secretary cannot be a judge and a party at the same time. Such a valuable right of interpretation regarding jurisdiction should not be vested in the executive in the person of the Secretary to Government. My submission is that with a view that the States may not be alarmed, we should not pass any law which is inconsistent with the Instrument of Accession.

I have moved this motion that the opinion of those concerned and those who are interested in the problem should be taken before such a Bill is enacted and brought on to the statute book.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member has used the words "eliciting opinion". Whose opinion?

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: The States and those interested in the matter.

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That the Bill as reported by the Select Committee be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon."

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I am surprised that this motion has been moved for circulating the Bill for eliciting opinion. The Bill is one which is absolutely harmless, which affects nobody, except, as I have said, where there is a possibility of a vacuum being created. I do not think there is any need for the States which have acceded to us to suspect anything in this Bill. The representatives of the States are here, almost all of them, and I do not see any point why a reference is to be made to them. I wish to make it clear that there is no desire to encroach upon the authority of any State. The object of the Bill, as I have made it abundantly clear (and it ought to be the object of every body in this House, even of the representatives of the States) is that in the Union of India or in any area outside the provinces within the Union of India there cannot remain any spot over which there is no jurisdiction. We cannot allow any such thing and therefore this Bill is introduced in order to legalise the existing Ordinance, the promulgation of which became necessary when on the 15th August there were certain areas in Western India and in the Eastern Agency and certain other areas where there were pockets over which there was no jurisdiction. Besides, apart from the Instrument of Accession, there have been cases where it has become necessary for the smaller states, even for their own protection, to approach us to take over jurisdiction. I would quote the instance of the Nilgiri State near Orissa where there was complete anarchy and danger of the ruler being killed. The ruler himself sent us telegrams and the people also approached us saying that there was going to be complete anarchy and violence and misrule. Uneducated people were incited and they took into their heads that there was neither the British rule nor any other authority, as paramountcy had lapsed. Such a state of affairs cannot be allowed. This was an acceding State which approached us to take over the whole administration. Therefore we had immediately to instruct the District Magistrate of the neighbouring area to go into the state with adequate forces and take over the administration. We received numerous congratulatory telegrams in this connection. We must remember that there are about four or five hundred petty or small states in which these conditions are likely to arise. This was contemplated by the Political Department before they left and tried to bring about mergers, groups or coalitions but these were all artificial arrangements, under which in spite of all their efforts conditions are likely to arise when we may have to step in. We tried our best on behalf of the Government of India or on behalf of the States Department to give no cause to even the smallest state to feel that the Government had any design or intention to set up any paramountcy or any other authority except with their consent or their agreement. If there is a vacuum and there is nobody to step in, it would be a dangerous thing to allow. Therefore we have in this Bill introduced a phraseology which is copied from another enactment. Phraseology like "treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or other lawful means" has been taken from another enactment and there is no reason to suspect or doubt our bona fides. Therefore, as I said, there is no need for the circulation of the Bill, as it has been considered by the Select Committee. Even as regards consideration by a Select Committee I thought it was unnecessary. The states' representatives thought that it should go to a Select Committee and so I agreed. Sir, I oppose the motion. I have made it abundantly clear that there is no room for suspicion. I hope that the motion will be withdrawn.

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, I sincerely thank the Honourable Minister for making the position absolutely clear. It is not now therefore necessary for me to support the motion for circulation; but the sentiments expressed by the Honourable Minister should I think be clearly put down in the text of the Bill. It is from that point of view that I have tabled several amendments. The object of my amendments is to secure clarification. If it is not intended to affect the present relations which have been created by the Government of India Act and the Indian Independence Act—a relation which is now purely contractual, then there is no harm in making it clear. As the Bill stands its terms are much wider than the orally declared object of the Bill. It is from that point of view, to secure clarification by the use of suitable phraseology, that I have tabled my amendments.

It is no doubt true that the wording "treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means" has been taken almost bodily from the English enactment, the Extra-territorial Jurisdiction Act, 1890. But the circumstances prevailing when the Foreign Jurisdiction Act was passed the Rules relating to India thereunder were framed, were entirely different from what they are today. At this stage, when the motion for consideration is before the House, I need not go into much detail but I shall do so later on in connection with the amendments. Briefly the position that I would take is this. At the time when the Foreign Jurisdiction Act of 1890 was passed by the Parliament, the relation between the Crown and the various colonies was not dependent upon any treaty or grant alone but it was a question of gradual growth, a question of common law, which is peculiarly the English way of developing the law. When the English Act was adopted in India by means of suitable rules, the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, the same phraseology was used, because at that time the relation between the Crown and the States largely upon usage, sufferance and other lawful means. It is a well-known fact that the British Government did not acquire power in India by means of any statute or treaty on any particular day. The development of British power in India is a matter of slow growth. No one can say on what date, by what document, by what specific Act the British Government obtained jurisdiction over the States in India. The relations were than certainly dependent upon "grant, treaty, usage, sufferance and other lawful means." But since the Indian Independence Act was passed the Government of India Act has been amended in accordance therewith. On and from the 15th August the relation between the Crown and the Indian States has completely changed. From usage and other vague and undefinable sources of authority we have now come to contracts. It is definitely laid down that the relation between the Government of India and the States would depend upon the Instrument of Accession or supplementary Instruments as the case may be. The Honourable Minister has been pleased to explain that there have been requests from some small States for interference, That would really be equivalent to an Instrument of Accession.

It is to make this point clear that I have tabled those amendments. I do not think any useful purpose will be served by sending the Bill for circulation, provided these points which are adequately covered by the proposed amendments are considered in the House and given effect to. On these considerations I should submit that the House should rather proceed with the consideration of the Bill.

As regards the amendment proposed by my friend Kazi Syed Karimuddin, it is a very substantial one, namely that these facts should be brought to the notice of the public, especially of those who are interested—for instance the States—and their views taken. But I believe that the States are represented here and there are also Members in the House who would always be ready to do justice to them. In these circumstances, when the point is clearly before the House, I think the matter can be adequately and properly dealt with here and now on the floor of the House. It is from this point of view and in the hope that the amendments will receive full consideration in the House that I think I should not support the motion for circulation.

The Honourable the Minister for Law yesterday made a very remarkable admission that this House has no jurisdiction to pass any law or accept any amendment which would go outside the scope of the Instruments of Accession or supplementary Instruments of Accession so far as the States are concerned. I should, at a later stage, very respectfully ask the Honourable Minister to stick to that statement because if that view is right—and I have not the least doubt that it is absolutely right and constitutional and is the proper view—I should then think the Bill should require careful revision in the House.

I think, Sir, it is not permissible to discuss or even to refer to matters which took place in the Select Committee. I would not therefore refer to them. I have carefully considered the Bill and I think its terms will lead to a great deal of complications. I shall submit my suggestions at the proper time when the appropriate amendments come before the House. At present I should rather support the motion for consideration of the Bill.

Shri N. Madhava Rau (Eastern States Group): Mr. Speaker, Sir I had not intended specifically to support this amendment. But after the explanation that has been given by the Honourable Minister as to the intentions of this Bill I feel that I ought to give expression to my views on this subject.

Looking to the Statement of Objects and Reasons, the Bill would appear to be a simple, if not a routine, measure of legislation; but the text of the Bill belies this impression. From the remarks which have fallen from the Honourable Minister I am led to think that this Bill rather marks a significant change of policy in relation at least to some of the States. While the Statement of Objects and Reasons specifically mentions "the semi-jurisdictional and non-jurisdictional States of Western India, Manipur, etc.," the Bill itself is not confined to these States, and the use of the word "etc." in connection with the Statements of Objects and Reasons seems to be rather unusual. The Honourable Minister assured the House that there is no intention of extending this measure to any States which had signed the Instrument of Accession. But he immediately also instanced a case in which the States Ministry had intervened, apparently under the only authority of usage and sufferance. With the passing of the Indian Independence Act all rights of paramountcy had ceased. In the Cabinet Mission statement this was made explicitly clear and the Indian Independence Act reproduces it in unmistakable language. It says:

"As from the appointed day the suzerainty of His Majesty over the Indian

[Shri N. Madhava Rau]

States lapses, and with it, all treaties and agreements in force at the date of the passing of this Act between His Majesty and the rulers of Indian States, all functions exercisable by His Majesty at that date with respect to Indian States, all obligations of His Majesty existing at that date towards Indian States or the rulers thereof, and all powers, rights, authority or jurisdiction exercisable by His Majesty at that date in or in relation to Indian States by treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or otherwise."

Consistently with this, the Government of India Act provides for the States executing Instruments of Accession and Standstill Agreements. In other words, the only source of authority for the Central Government today in respect of States, irrespective of whether they are semi-jurisdictional or non-jurisdictional, is by means of Agreements. The Agreements have already been executed. The Act provides a method for enforcing those Agreements, and I do not see why the States Department of the Dominion Government should seek a supplemental source of authority which no longer exists. I am afraid that this piece of legislation is somewhat wrongly conceived because it seems to apply to Indian States, which form part of the Dominion, the law that was in force under the Foreign Jurisdiction orders formerly. We cannot have a rule of law and at the same time claim the right of interference at discretion under the power alleged to have been derived by usage or sufferance. The two seem to be quite inconsistent. The relations of Indian States today, with the Central Government irrespective of their size or importance, are constitutional or contractual and not feudal.

There seems to be a little confusion in invoking the aid of usage and sufferance in addition to the powers (that are fairly ample) given under the Instruments of Accession, standstill agreements and any other supplementary agreements that may be made in future. I therefore support the amendment proposed by the Mover.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not support the amendment moved by my Honourable friend. There is a difference. The first set agreed to abide by the jurisdiction of the Dominion Legislature in regard to matters of Defence, External Affairs and Communication. The second set added to that instrument of accession a further clause stating that the Dominion Legislature may exercise criminal and civil jurisdiction over their States in all the ways in which the Paramount Power was exercising before the 15th day of August 1947. It is to give effect to that that this Bill has been brought into existence. It is true that the Dominion Legislature must have a right either constitutional or otherwise, by treaty or agreement. Clause 1 of that treaty, which is part I and printed as part II of the Instrument of Accession relating to different sets of States whose names are included in Schedule B, definitely contains a clause stating that the Dominion Legislature can enact laws and exercise jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters in respect of those States and this Bill gives effect to it. I do not know how this piece of legislation is ultra vires or tries to grab a jurisdiction which is not conferred. As a matter of fact it is conferred. What exactly is the manner by which that jurisdiction is being exercised by the Crown if not by treaty. It might have been by treaty or by agreement or by sufferance or by usage. In all those matters they themselves openly entered into an agreement that similar jurisdiction may be exercised by the Dominion Legislature. Therefore Sir, I do not see any reason why the amendment ought to be accepted.

Shri Lal Mohan Pati (Mayurbhanj State): Mr. Speaker, Sir, The Central Government seeks to get power for the purpose of dealing with matters arising in any area outside the jurisdiction of any province. Now evidently it includes areas outside the provinces, that is some State or States in India. Now by the Independence Act and also by the announcement publicly made by the Cabinet Mission, it is very clear that since the transfer of power by the British Government, all existing agreements between the British Crown on the one side and the Indian States on the other arising out of any treaty, engagement, sanad, agreement or usage ceased to exist. That is, the States became so many sovereign States, and it is on the basis of this sovereignty of the States that subsequently some of the States entered into some relationship with the Government of India by what is called the Instrument of Accession. Now the terms and obligations arising out of the executed instruments of accession are the only basis by which any action to be taken by one of the parties to the agreement, be it the State or be it the Government of India, can be determined. That being so, the use of the words in the preamble "treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means" appear to be not only very vague, but would appear to be rather very misleading and rather fraught with much misgiving. Again clause 6 of the Bill is still more ambiguous and appears to be for the purpose of conferring power on the Government itself constituting as the sole judge on any dispute which may ever arise regarding the existence of any usage or any jurisdiction between the State on the one side and the Government of India on the other side. Now what I beg to ask and put before the House is that if there is any instrument of accession executed by any State on one side and the Government of India on the other, that instrument is the only basis by which powers might have been derived by the Government of India for the purpose of either interfering or exercising any jurisdiction in or in relation to any affairs in any such State. That being so, this does not seem to be quite in consonance with the terms of the instrument of accession. The use of the words usage and sufferance make the Bill more dangerous. In view of this ambiguity and this dangerous position of the matter, I fully support the amendment, and further observe that the whole Bill may again be referred to a Select Committee.

Shri Yudhisthir Misra (Eastern States Group): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I oppose the amendment which has been moved by Honourable Mr. Kazi Syed Karimuddin, and I support the Bill moved by the Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. Sir, I can assure the Honourable Minister on behalf of the people of Orissa and Chhattisgarh States that they have got full sympathy with the object of this Bill. It is contended by those who support the amendment that the Government of India has no authority to intervene and that the opinion of the public should be taken in this matter. Sir, as has been rightly observed by the Honourable Minister, the popular representatives from the States are present in this House and it is unnecessary to send this Bill for eliciting public opinion. Those representatives represent the popular wishes and they are in a position to say what the people want. Now after the lapse of paramountcy it is said that the Government of India does not exercise any jurisdiction which the previous British Government used to do on account of treaty, usage and sufferance. Sir, as you know, there are certain very small States not only in Orissa and Chhattisgarh, but in other parts of the country, the authority of which is quite incompetent to keep the peace in those particular States. As for example it has been rightly instanced by the Honourable Minister that a situation did arise in Nilgiri where the intervention of the Indian Government was necessary. In Nilgiri there were so many elements which were instigated by interested parties who created disturbances in that State. Sir, if the ruler who has made an agreement with the Government of India is unable to keep the State in peace, if he cannot rule the State according to the wishes of the people, is it the intention of this House that the poor people of those States should be left to the mercies of these people who want to butcher them, kill them, and do anything they like? Sir, much has been made of the legal position of these States. According to my opinion, authority which is derived from usage or sufferance cannot go away simply because the British Government said, "The paramountcy lapses, and we do not want to take responsibility". As far as I understand the law, the usage which is there still remains, even for the Government which comes in place of the previous Government.

1 P.M.

[Shri Yudhisthir Misra]

Therefore, for the safety of the people and tranquility in the States, the Government of India which is a people's Government, should come to the rescue of the people of the States wherever necessary. When there is no authority in the States, when there is anarchy or disturbance, the Government of India should exercise the authority as has been contemplated in this Bill. Therefore, on behalf of the people of the States, I oppose the statements made by some of the Honourable members from the Eastern States Agency. I wholeheartedly support the Bill and recommend that this Bill be passed.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Sir, the point raised by my Honourable friend Kazi Karimuddin is that by virtue of the lapse of paramountcy and Section 7 of the Indian Independence Act, the position to which the Government of India is now reduced is of such a nature that they can under no circumstances make any law which has got some bearing upon the position of the States that have acceded to the Dominion of India. That is the position which he has taken.

Sir, whenever there is a question of curtailment of jurisdiction, it is necessary to construe the law very strictly and not give it any wider extension. If this rule of interpretation is accepted, I have no doubt that Section 7 of the Independence Act which is invoked by my Honourable friend in favour of his argument, takes away only one thing and nothing more than that: and that is what may be called the lapse of suzerainty or lapse of paramountcy. Whatever is conveyed by the term "suzerainty" or "paramountcy", that was the right which the Crown had over the State, and that right is taken away. Any new developments or relations that may take place during this period by agreement, or usage or by sufferance or by other lawful means, have been left completely untouched by Section 7. It is true, so far as the Crown is concerned all those relations have completely ceased because the Crown has ceased to exist in this country. Therefore the wording which is there—only applies to the Crown. But those who have come after, here in power can only accept Section 7 to this extent that they will not exercise the right of paramountcy as Successor Government. But if certain circumstances arise in which the interference is in the interests of law and order, I say there is nothing to prevent it under the Section.

"all powers, rights, authority or jurisdiction exercisable by His Majesty at that date in or in relation to Indian States by treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or otherwise have lapsed".

Therefore, what we have next to see is this, whether it directly conflicts with anything that is contained in the Instrument of Accession. So far as I have read it, I believe it is not directly inconsistent with it. There may or may not be occasion for the exercise of that right in any particular State, but there is nothing inconsistent in taking enabling powers which can be used only in a lawful way; and the lawful way presumes that either there must be a justifiable occasion for the State to exercise these powers or that the party and the people who are concerned give the lawful power to the Dominion Government to exercise administration or jurisdiction over those territories.

I say this, that the effect due to "usage, sufferance or other lawful means" which are mentioned here and any relations which have developed on account of that, remains unimpaired by Section 7 of Independence Act. If that is the position in theory, there is nothing objectionable, in my opinion, in having a Bill of this kind and asking this House to vote for the Motion which the Honourable the Minister for States has put before it. There is no advantage in ascertaining the opinion of the States on this point because there were representatives of the States in the Select Committee; and I believe those representatives of the States who were on the Select Committee are probably the most towering persons who can be trusted as being the proper custodians of the rights and interests of the States as well as the states-people. Having discussed the matter with them and come to certain conclusions which may be taken as a result of a compromise made in the Select Committee, there is nothing to be gained by sending back the Bill for opinion to the States; actually they may not be able to throw any more light on this matter. I therefore think that the motion should be supported by the House.

Shri B. H. Munavalli (Deccan and Madras States Group): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I take this opportunity to support the motion of the Honourable Minister. The Honourable Minister has made it quite clear that certain circumstances arose when it was not possible for the Dominion Government to interfere. I am supporting this view of the Honourable Minister on behalf of the Deccan States people because in the Deccan States now a Union has been formed by the Rajas without the consent of the people. I apprehend there will be a struggle between the Rajas and the people if it is thrust on the people. The people have already declared that they will start Satyagraha. Under such circumstances, if there is Satyagraha, chaos may arise and the Union Government may have to interfere. If this Bill be not passed and is delayed, and if such circumstances arise, then things will be altogether hopeless. I therefore support this Bill which seeks to strengthen the Central Government to interfere in such matters, and oppose the amendment.

श्री गोकूल भाई भट्ट : सभापति जी, मैं इस विषय पर बोलना नहीं चाहता था, पर जब कि कई मित्रों ने या एक दो मित्रों ने आपत्ति उठाई है तब मैं भी एक छोटी सी रियासत के प्रतिनिधि की हैसियत से यहां आया हूं और मुझे भी कुछ बोलने का अधिकार है।

मैं यह कहना चाहता हूं कि १५ अगस्त के बाद आज दिन तक जिस प्रकार से States Ministry काम कर रही है और जिस दक्षता पूर्वक वह काम कर रही है उसे देखते हुए हमें किसी प्रकार का डर नहीं होना चाहिये कि हमारी रियासतों के अन्दरूनी कारोबार में यह States Ministry कोई दखल देगी लेकिन हमने यह देखा है कि जहां तक राजा और प्रजा दोनों के बीच में कोई क्लेश, कलह या मतभेद होता है तो States Ministry उसको आपस में ही मिटा देने की सलाह हमें देती है।

अब यह बिल जो यहां आया है वह बिल तो उस ordinance की जगह पर है जो ordinance अगस्त की १५ तारीख से जारी है, और उसी ordinance की जगह पर यह बिल आ रहा है। अगर उस ordinance के बारे में किसी को कोई विरोध होता तो अब तक वह विरोध दाखिल हो जाता। लेकिन मैं समझता हूं और मैंने जहां तक देखा है वहां तक अभी किसी भी State ने ऐसा नहीं किया है लेकिन जो non-jurisdictional ताल्लुके, States या छोटी छोटी जगहें हैं जहां कोई कारोबार नहीं और जहां कारोबार के लिये ब्रिटिश गवर्नमेंट ने एक अलग तरीका अख्तियार किया था वहां के कारोबार को संभालने के लिये और उसको अच्छी तरह से चलाने के लिये जो ordinance निकाला गया उस ordinance

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STATEMENT RE NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE DOMINIONS OF INDIA AND PAKISTAN ON THE QUESTION OF DIVISION OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES ETC.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): Sir, before we proceed with the debate regarding the Bill, I have to make a short statement in connection with the negotiations that were going on between the two Dominions on the question of division of assets and liabilities and other allied questions. I am glad to say that there has been complete unanimity on these questions. Therefore, I will read this short statement:

A series of high-level discussions has been held in Delhi and Lahore during the last fortnight between the representatives of India and Pakistan to settle all outstanding issues between the two Dominion Governments relating to partition, including those affecting the Armed Forces. These discussions were conducted in a spirit of friendliness and goodwill. Complete agreement has been reached on all these issues. No references will now be made to the Arbitral Tribunal and those already made will be withdrawn.

The major issues on which settlement has been reached are:

- (1) Division between the two Dominions of the cash balances of the undivided Government of India as on 14th August, 1947.
- (2) The ratio in which the uncovered debt of the undivided Government of India being the excess of the liabilities over assets should be divided between the two Dominions.
- (3) The manner in which Pakistan would discharge its share of the public debt to India.
- (4) The division of the sterling balances between the two Dominions.
- (5) The division of military stores between the two Dominions.
- (6) The ordnance Factories.

A detailed statement will be made by me later in the session on the settlement reached on these and other items.

During the course of these discussions, problems relating to the property of refugees, bank accounts and safe deposit vaults were also considered. Both Governments reaffirmed the principle that the ownership of the property, both movable and immovable, of refugees continues to vest in the refugees. Custodians have been appointed to look after and manage the property on behalf of the refugees. Both Governments appreciate the anxiety of the refugees in this matter and are engaged in working out schemes relating to problems connected with the property of refugees, such as the sale of property and the transfer of sale proceeds and the extent to which exchanges of property would be permitted etc. These schemes will be discussed between the two Governments firstly at the official level in the third week of December, and as soon thereafter as possible at the Ministerial level.

A full statement regarding the policy governing the operation of safe deposit vaults, arrangements for the safe transfer of such deposits, and the transfer of bank accounts between the two Dominions will be issued within the next few days.

This is the general statement that I am making today. A detailed statement will be made by me either tomorrow or day after as soon as the statement is ready. This will give an idea of the amount of work that has been done and the issues that have been settled between the two Governments so far as the partition of assets and liabilities and allied questions are concerned. It leaves no question to be decided by the Arbitral Tribunal. To that extent we have done the work very satisfactorily. I know there is considerable anxiety in the House and outside about the main question which gives us trouble; that is the question of Kashmir. That question is not before the Partition Committee and it is no part of this reference, but the manner and the method the time, and the process by which these will be executed will be decided later, but I can only announce this today that we are all anxious that if it is possible all issues should be settled including that of Kashmir, as far as possible simultaneously. Every effort will be made to that end; if it is not successful, we shall act in a manner which is to the best interests of the Dominion of India.

EXTRA-PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION BILL—contd.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): Mr. Speaker, I stand to make just a few observations in order to clear some of the doubts and suspicions which have been expressed by Members of the Assembly who have so far taken part in the debate.

Sir, the one point which was made by the Honourable Mover of the amendment was that this Bill was reviving the jurisdiction of paramountcy which was abolished by the Indian Independence Act. Now, it is quite true that the Indian Independence Act releases the Indian States from all the obligations that were imposed upon them by virtue of paramountcy. But, I think, what that means is this, that the Dominion Government cannot as a succession State inherit the jurisdiction which arose out of paramountcy. It means nothing more than that; it does not mean that any Indian State could not confer by an agreement upon the Dominion Government the rights and jurisdictions which were exercised by the British Government as against that Indian State. I think that point has been clearly lost sight of, and I should like to repeat it again that what the Independence Act means is this; that the Dominion Government cannot be regarded as a succession State to the British Government in so far as Paramountcy is concerned. It certainly does not mean that if an Indian State chooses, for reasons which it thinks are imperative, to confer jurisdiction of the analogous type that arose out of Paramountcy upon the Dominion Government, there is anything either in the Government of India Act or in the Indian Independence Act to prevent that Indian State from doing so. I think that point has to be clearly borne in mind. When the question is raised as to which are the Indian States to which this particular Bill and its provisions would apply, the answer to the question must be related to the Instruments of Accession which have been passed by the various Indian States in favour of the Dominion Government of India. Therefore in order to understand what are the States to which this Bill applies, what we have to do is to go to the Instruments of Accession and find out what is contained therein. As the House knows, so far as the accession of Indian States is concerned, they are divided into three categories: (1) fully jurisdictional States, (2) semi-jurisdictional States and (3) non-jurisdictional States. All the three classes of States have passed, barring a few exceptions here and there, Instruments of Accession in favour of the Indian Dominion. Now if Honourable Members were to refer to the Instrument of Accession passed in favour of the Dominion of India by States which fall in class (2) they will realise that their Instrument of Accession contains this very important clause

(श्री गोकुल भाई भट्ट)

को जाइर जायइ विल आता है वत में नहीं समझता कि रियासतों के प्रतिनिधि मेम्बर साहब हैं वह क्यों घबराने हैं। क्या हो जायगा ? नीलगिरि का दृष्टान्त दिया गया है जिससे यह बहम उनको पैदा होता है कि शायद हमारी छोटी States में यह States Ministry दखल देगो। लेकिन मुझे इतमीनान है, हम छोटी States वाले भी इसे विश्वास के साथ कह सकते हैं कि यह States Ministry अगर हमारी छोटी रियासतों के काम में दखल देने के लिये आयेगी, जब हमारे हुकूम वगैरह की हिफाजत में दखल देने आएगी तो हम States Ministry को भी कह सकते हैं कि आपका यह दखल हम बर्दाश्त नहीं कर सकते हैं। यह हम प्रजा की हैसियत से कह सकते हैं, पहले जमाने में, १५ अगस्त के पहले राजा लोग Political Department की तजवीज से जिस तरह से चाहते थे मदद लेते थे। हम लोग इस प्रकार की उलझन में पड़े रहते थे कि हमको मदद नहीं मिलती थी और हम एक तरह से मारे जाते थे। उस समय अलग सवाल था आज हमारी States Ministry और हमारे सर्दार वल्लभभाई पटेल, हमारी गवर्नमेंट इस रीति से काम कर रही है कि हमें विश्वास है कि वह किसी के ऊपर अन्याय नहीं कर सकते हैं न वहां के राजा के ऊपर और न प्रजा के ऊपर। इस प्रकार की जहां States Ministry काम करने लग गई है वहां किसी प्रकार से मन में खौफ लाना या एक प्रकार का शुबह लाना नाजायज चीज है और उसको निकाल देना चाइये।

हमारे मित्र ने कहा कि वहां etc. (एम्स्ट्र) शब्द लिखा है उससे भय पैदा होता है। मैं कहना चाहता हूं कि हमारी गवर्नमेंट के पास इतने काम पड़े हैं और वह इन स्टेटों के कारोबार में कभी घुसना नहीं पसन्द करेंगे क्योंकि उनके पास बहुत से काम पड़े हैं। हम लोग जो स्टेट के लोग हैं वह इतनी ताकत हासिल कर चुके हैं कि स्टेट का अपना कारोबार हमारे राजा के छत्र के नीचे जिसे Responsible Govt. कहते हैं वही Responsible Govt. कायम करके हम चलाने वाले हैं और इसमें हमको यहां की सरकार की पूरी मदद मिलेगी, यानी कारोबार को चलाने के लिये सलाह मिलती रहेगी।

मैं यह कहना चाहता हूं कि राजपूताने की जो रियासतें हैं वहां तो कमसे कम कोई ऐसा डर नहीं है, और यह विल जिसका मकसद यह है कि वह छोटी छोटी तालुकदारियां हैं, जहां बन्दोबस्त नहीं है, कारोबार नहीं है, वहां का इन्तजाम करने के लिये आया है। उसकी हमें पूरी तरह ताईद करना चाहिये और हमें किसी प्रकार का खौफ नहीं रहना चाहिये कि उसमें क्या होगा। मैं छोटी रियासतों की तरफ से यह विश्वास दिलाना चाहता हूं कि States Ministry जिस तरह से काम कर रही है उसी तरह अगर काम करती रहेगी तो हम उनके साथ हैं।

(English translation of the above speech)

Shri Gokulbhai Bhatt (Eastern Rajputana States Group): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not intend to speak on this issue. But when so many of my friends, or more precisely, a couple of them have taken this trouble, I feel as a representative of a small state that I have also the right to say something.

I like to say that after the 15th of August the way the States Ministry has been working and the astuteness and dexterity it has been exhibiting in handling the States issues should remove our fears that this Ministry will unnecessarily poke its nose in the internal affairs of the states. We have rather witnessed that whenever any tangles, conflicts or differences of opinion have arisen between the State rulers and the Ruled, the States Ministry has advised us to make mutual settlements.

The Bill that is before us now is only to replace the Ordinance which has been current from the 15th of August. It is the Ordinance in whose place this Bill is being brought. If anybody had any objections to this Ordinance, these objections must have been put on record by this time. I have observed and my reading is corroborated, that no state has so far done it. In the case, however, of 'non-jurisdictional' talukas, states and other such small territories where there was no proper Administration, the British Government had adopted another mode of Administration. When an Ordinance had already been in existence for running this Administration smoothly, I wonder why the States Representatives feel upset if the Ordinance is given the shape of a Bill. After all what will happen? The example of Nilgiri has been quoted. Perhaps this puts a doubt into their minds that the State Ministry will interfere with the affairs of our small states. I am sure, and we of the small states can say it with confidence, that if this States Ministry meddles with the Administration of the Small States, if it interferes against the safety of our rights, we can tell the States Ministry also that we cannot tolerate its interference. We can say this being the subject of the State. In the past, before the 15th of August, the Princes had been using the suggestions of the Political Department in whatever way they thought proper. We were always in such a fix that we never got the help. In a way, we were oppressed. It was a different matter then. Today our States Ministry, our Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel and our Government are working in such a way that we can rest assured that nobody will be subjected to injustice, neither the Ruler of a State nor its subject. Where we have such a States Ministry, it does not behove us to harbour any such fear or suspicion. These thoughts must be expelled from our minds.

My friend pointed out the word 'etc'. He thinks it gives birth to fears. I like to say that our Government is already over head and ears busy with so many other affairs that it will never like to interfere in the Administration of the States. We who come from the States have gathered so much strength that we are bound to have what is called a 'Responsible Government' with a Prince as its Constitutional Head. For running this 'Responsible Government' we will be getting help from the Indian Government i.e. we will be always getting advice for running the States Administration.

I have to say, Sir, that at least the Rajputana States need have no such fear. This Bill aims at making proper arrangements for the administration of the small talukas which have no proper administration. We must fully support this Bill and should never have any fear about what is going to happen. On behalf of the small states I want to assure this House that if the States Ministry continues to work as it has been, we of the small states shall always be lending our help to it.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Minister will reply after Lunch.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

[Dr. B. R. Ambedkar]

which, in order to remove all doubts and suspicions, I propose to read with your permission, Sir. This is the paragraph 1:

"And I further declare that the Dominion of India may through such agency or agencies and in such manner as it thinks fit exercise in relation to the administration of the civil and criminal justice in this State all such powers, authority and jurisdiction as were at any time exercisable by His Majesty's representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relation with the Indian States."

That, I submit is a very important clause in the Instrument of Accession passed by the semi-jurisdictional States. Now if my Honourable friends will turn to the third category of States and read the Instrument of Accession passed by them, it reads as follows:

"Whereas . . . of the said State or Taluka, am desirous that the Dominion of India should exercise in relation to the said taluka or state all the powers and jurisdictions which were exercisable before such attachment by His Majesty's representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relation with the Indian States," etc.

This is a clause which finds a place in the Instruments of Accession of the States falling in the second category or the third category; it has not found a place in the Instruments of Accession passed by the States which fall in the first category, namely, fully jurisdictional States. Obviously two things follow from this. The first is that this Bill does not apply to those States whose Instrument of Accession does not contain this clause; secondly, that this applies only to those States whose Instrument of Accession contains such a clause and which have voluntarily granted to the Dominion Government the rights, whether they arose out of treaty or sufferance or usage, which were exercised by the British Government; they have transferred them voluntarily to the Indian Dominion, and they may do so in future. Now the point is that all that the Bill does is this that wherever any State has granted to the Dominion jurisdiction by virtue of its Instrument of Accession the Central Government will have the legal authority to exercise that jurisdiction. There is no case of usurpation at all; it is merely giving legal authority to rights and jurisdictions which have been voluntarily transferred by the Indian States to the Dominion of India. Therefore the first thing that I should like to emphasise is that there is no clandestine effort in the Bill to usurp any authority as against any Indian State which has not voluntarily surrendered its authority in this respect to the Dominion Government. I think that ought to put at rest all the doubts and suspicions which have been expressed in this House with regard to this Bill. And I do not think that if Honourable members bear in mind what I have stated there will be any necessity for very many of the amendments which I find on the order paper.

I do not want to say anything more because that is all that I wanted to say, but my Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam while making his observations on the Bill said that there was an inconsistency in the position which I took yesterday and the position as it arises from this Bill. I think my Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam must have completely misunderstood what I said yesterday. What I said then was that having regard to the fact that the Nursing Bill had reference to entry No. 16 in the concurrent legislative list there was never any possibility of the Dominion Government acquiring any jurisdiction because the Instruments of Accession and the Indian States have made it absolutely clear that if they at all join the Indian Union they will join it only with respect to list No. 1 which is a Federal List, and that too with respect to some subjects only. Therefore my contention was that there was not even the remotest possibility, having regard to these circumstances, that the Indian Dominion should acquire any jurisdiction. And so any sort of legislation which he wanted to be introduced by his amendment to clause 1 would be purely speculative. Here so far as this Bill is concerned, there is nothing inherently impossible in the Indian Dominion acquiring further jurisdiction of an extra-provincial character, and therefore a legislation which looks at the application of this by anticipation would not be speculative because the possibility is always there. I therefore submit that there is no inconsistency in the two positions I have taken.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I believe that there is a lot of misunderstanding about the exact purpose and the intention as to the operation of this Bill in spite of my having made the position clear. Therefore I want again to make it clear that there is no intention on our part to assume in any form or shape or to take the place of Paramountcy. Paramountcy is dead and gone and nobody laments or mourns it. There is no reason to think that because paramountcy has disappeared there is going to be no power in India: the Government of India proposes to function as a Government and will not leave vacuum or anarchy in any part of India whatever happens. That must be understood clearly, because it is neither in the interests of the States nor of the States' people nor of India. But it must also be understood that this Bill is not intended to serve the purpose of entering into places where there is a conflict between the people and the State. It is not the purpose of the Bill. The purpose is to step in where there is a vacuum and I do not think anybody will take exception to it. This Bill originated in this sense because several States were attached to bigger States. A large number of States were attached to Baroda: several States were attached to Jamnagar, some to Junagadh and some to others. Some objection was raised to some of these attachments. Some States were forcibly attached against their will by the Political Department. This issue was fought out in a civil court. A special commission was appointed by the Political Department before which, I remember Sir Chimanlal Setalvad appeared and argued the case on behalf of the States and that court which was appointed by the Political Department gave a decision that the attachment scheme was not legal and eventually it was legalised by Parliament passing a short Bill.

Now when paramountcy lapsed, these attached States were detached automatically. So the Parliament Act also did not justify or legalise the continuance of the attachment after the lapse of paramountcy. The States to which they were attached also announced that they did not want them because they found it a burden. Some of these small States were semi-jurisdictional and some non-jurisdictional and they were in such a state that they could not discharge their functions with any degree of responsibility. What is to happen to the people of these States? If we did not intervene, there was a possibility of complete lawlessness there. We were approached by the States as well as the people that we should take over these directly under the Central Government. Therefore we drafted an Instrument of Accession of two separate kinds: the first one was of the full jurisdictional States—the first class States. They had to accede. But these smaller States were of two varieties—one semi-jurisdictional State and some non-jurisdictional. Now we drafted two different Instruments of Accession for them, the relevant portions of which my Honourable friend, the Law Member has read out to you and under which we assumed jurisdiction and provided for a machinery for the exercise of that jurisdiction, e.g. for the establishment of courts and other necessary paraphernalia, we took over that jurisdiction by an Ordinance because there was no Legislature sitting.

Now is the opportunity for legalising the matter. In drafting the legislation, we took the phraseology from the Foreign Jurisdictions Act. The words there are:

"Whereas by treaty, capitulation, grant, usage or sufferance, and other lawful means":

We only drop the word "capitulation" and we agree to put in the word "agreement". The rest is kept intact. We use this wider phraseology in order to meet any contingency in any area where perchance there may be no authority. So far as the full jurisdictional States are concerned, there is no reason to fear. In my speech in the morning I referred to the Nilgiris States. It was suggested that it was an improper interference by usage. On the contrary it was an interference by agreement because the State itself handed over and the people also approached us. They have not taken exception to it and they are very glad that we interfered.

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

I will suggest for the consideration of the House an instance in which, supposing there is a minority regime. During the period of the regency the minor disappears or dies, and the regency abdicates as has happened in some instances. Then there is no authority because there is no heir, and there is nobody to assume authority. Then we have to take a wider phraseology and accommodate all such instances where there are small areas in which such instances are likely to happen. So when we legislate, we do not want to come again for such emergencies with a separate Bill. Therefore, we have adopted a wider phraseology. At the same time I wish to draw the attention of the House that this is also a temporary measure, because you will see that when the permanent constitution is passed, then all these things will disappear. Then again, as this is a temporary measure to meet an emergency which arises out of a sudden disappearance of paramountcy, you will have to see that there is no cause given to any State or any people for any apprehension. Therefore, we have taken care, and as I have told you that in the administration of the Ordinance we have taken so much care that up till now no complaint has been received, and I have no doubt that no complaint will be received. There can be no desire on our part to assume jurisdiction by means of legislation. But I may be permitted to say that the States have no fear of encroachment on the part of the Government of India by means of legislation. They have every reason to fear if they do not progress with the times and do not meet the legitimate demands of the people.

Mr. Speaker: I am first putting the amendment to the House. The question is:

"That the Bill as reported by the Select Committee be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon."

The motion was negatived.

Mr. Speaker: I shall now put the original motion to the House. The question is:

"That the Bill to provide for the exercise of certain extra-provincial jurisdiction of the Central Government, as reported by the Select Committee, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, I beg to move:

"That for part (a) of clause 2 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:

"(a) 'extra provincial jurisdiction' means any jurisdiction which the Central Government has acquired or may hereafter acquire—

- (i) in respect of any acceding State or of any State which may hereafter accede to the Dominion, by virtue of the Instrument of Accession or of any supplementary Instrument, or
- (ii) in respect of any tribal area, by virtue of any treaty, grant or agreement, or
- (iii) in respect of the acceding States or the tribal areas in relation to all matters referred to in the Proviso to sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Indian Independence Act, 1947 (10 & 11 Geo. 6, c. 30) and subject to denouncement in the said Proviso contained, or
- (iv) in any other area outside the Provinces which may with the consent of the Dominion be included in the Dominion by any treaty, grant or agreement."

Sir, before I submit the detailed technical reasons which induced me to move this amendment I should like to make a plain declaration that I am in full and respectful agreement with the clear statement made by the Honourable Minister for Law as well as the Honourable Minister in charge of the Bill explaining the precise object they have in view. I am in entire and full agreement with the purpose so ably and lucidly explained by them. But, Sir, in spite of my fully agreeing with their purpose, in spite of there being complete unanimity between my humble self and the two most eminent Ministers concerned, still I think this amendment is necessary. I submit that the amendment is only a conversion into words of the very purpose which the two eminent Honourable Ministers have in view.

I beg to submit that the kind admissions which have been made seem to me to be very remarkable and it seems to me that I could not have advanced anything better than those arguments and declarations which have been so clearly and kindly made. I humbly rely upon the admission that there is no real intention on the part of the Central Government to encroach upon any existing rights, to encroach in any way upon any State belonging to Class I or to encroach in any way with regard to class II or class III States except in so far as they agree to be bound by them. It is upon agreement, which is technically speaking the Instrument of Accession, through which the Honourable Ministers virtually agree to act.

I submit with great respect that the amendment tries to embody in legislative form the very purposes which the two eminent Honourable Ministers have in mind. The two Honourable Ministers have made it clear that they do not wish to go behind any agreement, except perhaps in the extreme case which is a remote contingency and which again, according to the picturesque phraseology of the Honourable Law Minister is speculative legislation. The only case where it is said that the Central Government may possibly interfere is the case of a minor who is represented by a regency, and the minor has fled or has vanished and the regency has resigned and then there is a consequent vacuum, then the Central Government proposes to intervene. I do not deny the justice of this claim. But I beg to submit that the Bill does not express this limitation. The lacuna in the Bill is that neither the savings have been expressed in the Bill, nor has the vacancy or vacuum justifying a direct intervention, been defined nor in any way indicated. The power that is sought to be taken by means of this Bill is too wide and all-embracing and absolutely uncompromising and unlimited in scope.

There is another proposition which I consider to be well-established and it is this. The scope of a Bill does not depend upon any verbally expressed intention of the Honourable Minister in Charge or anything that may be said in the House. Its scope must be determined by its own terms and by its logical interpretation alone. As it is, the terms of the Bill are considerably wider than the orally declared intention. A very sound and well-established proposition repeatedly laid down by the highest courts of law is that the scope of a Bill is to be found within the four corners of the Bill itself. In fact a Bill will stand or fall on its own terms. Therefore if the terms of the Bill are wider than what is orally declared to be the real intention of the Honourable Minister, then however clear and precise that expression of opinion might be, it does not form part of the Bill or the subsequent Act that is to be passed. It is for this reason necessary by means of clear expressions to guard against any encroachment upon ordinary rights which are never intended to be exercised. That would be, again to use the same picturesque phrase of the Honourable the Law Minister, speculative legislation. There should be no legislation on any matter in any direction whether it is never intended to act. Legislative measures should be accurately drafted to give exact effect to the precise purpose which the Government have in view but not more. I submit that the terms of the Bill are considerably wider and perhaps, if I may say so, in many respects ultra vires of this legislature.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

I am prepared to make another admission that the wording which is objected to, namely that the Central Government have acquired jurisdiction by "treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and any other lawful means", has been, as the Honourable Minister said, bodily lifted from the preamble to the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890 which is a British statute (53 & 54 Vict. c. 57). It is said there: "Whereas by treaty, capitulation, grant usage, sufferance or other lawful means, Her Majesty....." This language appears in the Indian Foreign Jurisdiction Order in Council, 1902, made under the authority of this Act and is to this effect: "Whereas by treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or other lawful means, etc.". The word "capitulation" which appears in the British Statute does not appear in the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, which is the offshoot of this parliamentary legislation. The word "capitulation" does not appear in the Order in Council or in the present Bill.

But the question is whether the tests laid down in the Foreign Jurisdiction Act and the Order in Council, which were clearly applicable to India before the 15th August last, are now applicable to the circumstances of today. As I submitted briefly earlier in the course of the debate, the British acquisition of jurisdiction, or the very growth and development of British power in India was by slow gradual evolution. It was not made by any comprehensive legislation or by comprehensive treaties or grants but largely by convention and other subtle, vague, and undefinable things, namely, "usage, sufferance or other lawful means".

Leaving aside for the time being the Foreign Jurisdiction Act and confining ourselves to the Order in Council which directly applied to India before the 15th August, I submit that before that fateful day the British Government could legally claim over the States many rights, not only by treaty, grant, etc., but also by "usage, sufferance and other lawful means". The expression accurately represented the pre-existing sources of title of the Paramount Power. The British came first of all as so many traders, they acquired some parliamentary authority to legislate for the protection of their factories, and gradually, by slow imperceptible degrees, by accession, by usage, by sufferance and by other lawful means—and perhaps also by unlawful means, by force or fraud and by all sorts of means—they gradually acquired some kind of jurisdictions which were not derived from any definite legislative enactments or any definite treaties or grants. So British authority grew along with and is part of the history of the development of British power in India. Again, the authority varied with different States under different circumstances. The authority of the Paramount Power before the 15th August thus stood like this, namely, that it was a product not merely of treaties, charters and agreements but also of usage, sufferance and other lawful means and various other subtle and imperceptible factors.

The question then is what is the position of the States on and from the 15th August. The position has not been left in an indeterminate condition. I believe it is the policy of this House so long as we do not declare complete independence by virtue of the Constitution which is in the making, to regard the Indian Independence Act and the Government of India Act as adapted under the terms of the Indian Independence Act as binding. In fact the Honourable the Law Member said yesterday that the terms of the Government of India Act are binding, and an amendment proposed by Mr. Santhanam was supposed by him to have gone beyond the Government of India Act and for this reason he declared that amendment to be ultra vires. The relevant provisions of these two statutes are thus of supreme importance. I would like therefore respectfully to draw the attention of the House to the Indian Independence Act, clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 7. It deals specifically and I submit conclusively with the question of "treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means". It says:

"The suzerainty of His Majesty over the Indian States lapses (I shall omit a lot of things which are not of immediate concern here) and with it all treaties and agreements in force (on the 15th August) and all powers, rights, authority or jurisdiction exercisable by His Majesty by treaty, grant usage, sufferance or otherwise."

That was the previous claim of His Majesty and from 15th August that claim "lapses". By virtue of the Indian Independence Act these sources of title, namely, "treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or otherwise" absolutely go. I therefore submit that on and from 15th August the position is this. Instead of the vague relationship derived from treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means we have now, on and from 15th August, the Instruments of Accession. Treaty, grant, usage, sufferance and other lawful means consisted of a nebulous and undefinable description of the relationship between the State and the Crown, but we have now a newly established relationship between the States and the Indian Government which relationship is to be determined solely and exclusively on the terms of the Instrument of Accession. Of course reference has been made in another place, to which I wish to draw the attention of the House, to supplementary Instruments of Accession.

So far as para. one of my amendment is concerned it says that "extra provincial jurisdiction" means "any jurisdiction which the Central Government has acquired (that is, by means of the Instrument of Accession) or may hereafter acquire (that is, by supplementary Instrument of Accession) in respect of any acceding State or of any State which may hereafter accede to the Dominion, by virtue of the Instrument of Accession or of any supplementary Instrument". That is exactly what has been graciously conceded by the two most eminent Members of the Government—that the relationship is now contractual, based upon agreement, except in the restricted and improbable case of a minor who may have vanished and a Regency who must have ceased to function. The whole relationship is now claimed by the Government to be entirely contractual and based upon agreement. I therefore submit that the Bill copies verbatim the language of the Foreign Jurisdiction Act and the Order in Council though the circumstances and conditions have changed, as I have attempted to show, not merely by the lapse of paramountcy but also by the express terms of Section 7 of the Indian Independence Act. The phraseology of the British Act and the Order in Council is today a phantasmic anachronism.

The Indian Independence Act goes further. Clause (c) of section 7 deals with tribal areas and it says "all powers, rights, authority or jurisdiction exercisable . . . by treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or otherwise" shall also lapse. In fact clause (b) of the section deals with the States while clause (c) deals with tribal areas. That is embodied in para. (ii) of my amendment which says "in respect of any tribal area, by virtue of any treaty, grant or agreement". In fact the other undefined, vague and shadowy sources of authority have also vanished on the Independence Day in the case of the tribal areas. The relationship must start afresh on contractual basis. The States, the tribal areas and ourselves must begin with a clean slate which must be written anew. And the new relationship must begin with the Instrument of Accession—call it as the agreement or consent and the like.

Then there is a significant passage which is embodied in the Proviso to sub-section (1) to section 7 to the Indian Independence Act. That proviso deals with certain aspects of the matter and gives jurisdiction to the Dominion Government on some specific subjects which have not been noticed by the House. It says:

"Notwithstanding anything in paragraph (b) or paragraph (c) (that is the lapsing of paramountcy in the States and in the tribal areas) of this Section, effect shall, as nearly as may be, continue to be given to the provisions of any such agreement as is therein referred to which relate to customs, transit and communications, posts and telegraphs or other like matters until the provisions in question are denounced" by the States or the tribal areas on the one hand or by the Dominion or the Province on the other, "or are superceded by subsequent agreement."

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

Thus only agreements are saved from any automatic lapse in so far as they clearly relate to "customs, transit and communications, posts and telegraphs and other like matters". The proviso thus provide an automatic "Stand Still Agreement" on these vital matters affecting the smooth working of the Governments on both sides. These would remain alive till they are denounced or superceded by new agreement.

Although paramountcy has lapsed and the Government of India has not stepped in as an heir to the Paramount Power, it can by virtue of the proviso, interfere in matters such as customs, transit and communications, posts and telegraphs and the like until the provisions in question are denounced by the ruler of an Indian State or by a proper authority in a tribal area as the case may be or by the Indian Dominion. Until therefore one of the parties repudiates these obligations, the Government of India, stepping automatically into the void, will have power to deal with and legislate with regard to these subjects until they are repudiated. This situation is covered by part (iii) of my amendment, in respect of the acceding States or the tribal areas as the case may be and in relation to all matters referred to in the proviso and subject to the right of denouncement in the said Proviso contained. I submit that the amendment which I have submitted to the House contains the three classes of cases in the States or the tribal areas in relation to certain specified subjects. Then to meet any possible residuary case in vacuo or something which we cannot now clearly define, I have inserted para. (iv) of my amendment which provides that "in any other area outside the Provinces (which is comprehensive enough), which may with the consent of the Dominion be included in the Dominion by any treaty, grant or agreement"; that is also provided for in clause (d) of section 5 of the Government of India Act. We may, if we like, thus incorporate within the Dominion any areas outside the Provinces and the States. Para. (iv) of my amendment covers a case of continued void where, as the Honourable Minister has said, it is necessary to step in. I have however no objection to para. (iv) of my amendment being re-drafted and more closely fit in with a case in vacuo. These I think completely exhaust all matters which are to be incorporated in the definition. I therefore submit that this amendment puts in exact and precise legislative form all permissible sources of authority for the Dominion. I have taken careful note of the Honourable Ministers' statements because they are very weighty pronouncements. The Honourable Minister for Law has made a contention, to which I readily agree, that the Dominion has not inherited the rights of the British Government described as paramountcy. Then he has been careful to explain that if any Indian State confers jurisdiction upon the Dominion, then we would be able to interfere, otherwise not. He has made this absolutely clear and to this proposition also I readily and respectfully agree. Now the only way in which the States can confer jurisdiction to the Dominion is by Instruments of Accession. That is provided in section 6 of the newly adapted Government of India Act. I submit with respect that the Honourable Minister has been pleased to virtually accept all the terms of my amendment. As I see it, this concession conclusively supports all the terms of my amendment. Then it is said that section 7 does not prevent this Legislature from making law. I readily agree, and go further that we have real power to legislate as to the States and others but the power must be found within the Instruments of Accession or supplementary Instrument if any. I find it difficult to make a distinction between clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Indian Independence Act. By virtue of section 7 all these clauses are now released from paramountcy and to be governed by Instruments of Accession. They were under the Crown and the exact relationship was a matter difficult of definition, and no one has attempted to define it. But whatever may be the relationship between the Paramount power and the State, paramountcy has gone and the States are now completely become independent. But they are independent only so long as they do not accede to the Dominion. If they accede, their independent status will be controlled and dominated by the Instrument of Accession. I beg to submit that we have power to legislate provided we do not transgress the limits imposed upon us by the two statutes and by the Instruments of Accession, and the Honourable the Minister for Law has made it absolutely clear that the government do not wish to go behind the Instruments of Accession, and my amendment attempts to make it quite clear that we stand or fall by the Instruments of Accession. The Honourable Minister for Law has also made it clear that if any State, great or small, Second class or Third class, or belonging to any class whatsoever, has voluntarily granted any power, the question of 'usage' does not arise. I am again in full agreement and this is the exact point which I have been making, that usage and other things must go and the Instrument of Accession alone must remain. Then again it is conceded that there is no desire to drag in class I States. But I believe the terms of the Bill are wide enough to drag them in. I have already accepted the plain declaration made that there is no such desire, but we are not to be governed by the private desires even of very eminent authorities but not incorporated in the Bill. In fact the desire must be expressed in the Bill, and if you look at the Bill, it would clearly include classes I, II and III, in fact all classes. In fact, in keeping this clause a court would be debarred from reading the Statement of Objects and Reasons, the proceedings in this House, and the declarations and concessions made during the debate. That proposition is also long well established. In fact all that we say here, all concessions and all declarations made, all safeguards agreed to during the debate, cannot even be referred to in a court of law in interpreting the Bill.

Then the Honourable Minister for Law has argued that there has been no inconsistency between the position taken by him yesterday and the position taken today. I submit there is still an inconsistency, and it is this. The Honourable Minister's contention yesterday was that the terms of the Nursing Bill could not be extended to any States, even when the State agreed to concede jurisdiction as to the Nursing Bill by a Supplementary Instrument. Even then, as he was of opinion we have no power to legislate. Firstly, he said that entry 16 in the Concurrent List did not apply to States. Secondly, as he said, there was no other power by which we could extend the Bill to the State because there is no entry anywhere except entry 16 which obviously did not apply to States. Today's contention of the Honourable Minister is inconsistent with that in this way. Today also we are faced with the same situation. This Bill is on the other hand on a stronger ground for rejection. There is even no entry, either in List One, or List Two or List Three,—Central, Provincial or Concurrent—to justify legislation in this respect. The only way we can do so is through Section 7 of the Indian Independence Act and Section 6 of the Government of India Act as adapted. But those Sections are absolutely strict as to the limitation of our power in this respect. In these circumstances, I submit that if any extension of the Nursing Bill to States—even with their consent—was impermissible by virtue of the fact that there was no entry in the Lists applicable thereto, this Bill suffers from the same difficulty, that it is covered by no entry in any of the three Lists; it is only covered by the two Sections which I have quoted and they absolutely bar our jurisdiction. Sir, ~~if~~ it was ultra vires on our part to extend the Nursing Bill to the States even where there is the Instrument of Accession to cover it, I do submit that it would be impermissible for us to accept the Bill on the same ground. On the other hand, here there is no Instrument of Accession covering the subject. Sir, Mr. Santhanam's amendment tried to cover a State which was covered by the Instrument of Accession; and if that was ultra vires then this Bill which is not covered by any Instrument of Accession should on the same argument be all the more ultra vires of this Legislature.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

Sir, I do not know whether this can be raised as a point of order or merely as an objection as to why the original clause should not be accepted and why the amendment or something on the lines of the amendment be accepted. I am not very sure, but these are very fundamental constitutional questions. I beg to submit it is not the Law Member's kind concession that will bind the Chair; I beg to submit that this has got to be considered independently. This may be taken as a point of order, but I do not raise it directly as a point of order; but the question may be considered as such because I am not very clear in my mind as to that.

Mr. Speaker: Perhaps it might assist, if I explain the attitude of the Chair with reference to the question of ultra-vires. Generally, the Chair will not take upon itself the responsibility of deciding whether any particular Bill is ultra vires; it is a question for the House to decide. The opinion of the Chair though binding on the House, will not be of any avail so far as the courts are concerned in case the validity of a legislation is taken to the court. Therefore, the usual practice of the Chair is always not to interfere in the matter of questions of ultra vires and not to kill any Bill on that ground. The Chair will also tend in favour of assuming jurisdiction rather than denying it. So that is one point.

I would also request the other Members not to discuss this point of ultra vires; because, as I have said just now, even the unanimous opinion of the House that a particular Bill is ultra vires will have absolutely no effect on the judgment of the deciding court if the court comes to the conclusion that it is ultra vires. So, any discussion that honourable members carry on in this House over the question of ultra vires will be nothing but taking up the time of the House.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, your kind ruling I bow down to with great respect. I had some difficulty and misgivings about the correctness of the point of order and you have set that doubt at rest. But this ruling will be of some help to us in considering clause 6 where the jurisdiction of the court—to call a spade a spade—is attempted to be taken away. Although there is no desire to use it in any irregular manner, the very jurisdiction of the court, even of the Federal Court as I have been able to gather, would be largely taken away.

Supposing there is a State which accedes on three subjects but then there is interference by the Centre with regard to a fourth subject outside the scope of the Instrument of Accession. Then this interference will plainly be ultra vires although, as you have very clearly ruled that the entire House will not bind the court by virtue of clause 6, the discretion of the court to say that two plus two is four has been attempted to be taken away. So, if we come to clause 6, I shall try to submit my difficulties to the House, contending for the time being that you had not given a final ruling; though it is in my favour, it is a very important ruling and we may have to consider this once again when it comes to clause 6.

But, Sir, I find that the unfortunate courts, even the Federal Court, which are supposed to be absolutely independent, would be controlled by an order by a Secretary acting on behalf of the Government. So the courts will not be permitted to say, "Look here, here is a subject outside the scope of the Instrument of Accession, and here are two Honourable Ministers who have declared on behalf of the Government that they are absolutely unwilling to act in respect of those spheres, still, as they have acted in contravention of the Instrument, they have acted ultra vires", the court's right to declare this obvious fact which is conceded here will be taken away and along with it will be taken away the power of the court to call a spade a spade. A Secretary's report will be conclusive.

Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Can not any court declare that clause 6 is not ultra vires?

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: I am very grateful to the honourable the member Mr. Bhargava for raising the point. It is a very interesting point. I am not absolutely clear that the courts have no jurisdiction but as far as I have been able to think of it—it has given me several nights of work—I think that this Legislature is superior to all courts. In fact, this is the Legislature which can control the jurisdiction even of the Federal Court which will be the final court in India. Today the Honourable the Minister for Law has introduced a Bill to extend the appellate jurisdiction in civil matters of the Federal Court. That shows that this House can extend jurisdiction and this House can curtail it. If we say that clause 6 says this in simple words that if a question arises as to whether the Act is ultra vires, and if a Secretary in reply to a court's question says the court will be bound by the degree.

An Honourable Member: No, no.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Yes, yes. I am absolutely certain the courts would then be powerless to interfere. I think I am right and I respectfully ask honourable Members to think of clause 6 on its own terms, not by the headline. The marginal note purports to be a model of legal phraseology but the body is a draconian provision which gives absolute power to the Secretary.

An Honourable Member: On a point of order, Sir. Are we discussing clause 6 now?

Mr. Speaker: We are discussing clause 2, but the honourable member's argument, as it seems to me, is that in legislating as we are doing, we are doing something which is not within the power of this House. He is referring to clause 6 in order to point out what further difficulties would be created if this clause is passed. That seems to be his argument. But I would again repeat to the honourable member that arguments on the question of ultra vires, however interesting and learned, are not ultimately going to result in anything, because the courts will not be bound by anything that we decide.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, my object is exactly this. If clause 2 is beyond the scope of this legislature, as has practically been conceded, and if it is allowed to remain, and if any act is done overriding the provisions given here, the courts will be absolutely powerless to interfere if a Secretary's report is given. Clause 6 came in by way of argument. The argument on clause 6 was like a warning bell. Any power given in clause 2 beyond the scope of the Instrument of Accession should not be allowed to creep in. On these grounds I submit that at least the principle of my amendment should be accepted. I have no objection if a re-draft is made. My whole point is why should a legislative enactment go beyond the terms of the agreement? We should call a spade a spade. We should declare with clarity what we intend, and not give unlimited power to a Secretary who might at a later time not be under the careful and authoritative guidance of the Honourable Minister in charge.

Then there is another aspect of the matter. My object in trying to amend this clause is purely from a puritanists point of view. The passing of clause 2 will be a kind of mild corruption in the Legislature. It goes beyond the scope and purpose and authority of the House. Laws should be provided in language which should be free from doubt. Supposing a case comes before the court, the court cannot give effect to the concessions here because that would be absolutely useless. Under the circumstances, there is a clear case for accepting my amendment.

Then, Sir, there are misgivings in the minds of certain members representing the States. Personally I have no misgivings, but I do not see why at all misgivings should be allowed to creep in. The draft should be as clear as possible and I have attempted, as far as it lies in my power, to do so. I am in the hands of the House and of the Honourable Ministers and their draftsmen. Subject to any drafting changes, I think the principle of the amendment should be fully accepted by the House.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That for part (a) of clause 2 of the Bill, the following be substituted namely:

'(a) "extra provincial jurisdiction" means any jurisdiction which the Central Government has acquired or may hereafter acquire—

(i) in respect of any acceding State or of any State which may hereafter accede to the Dominion, by virtue of the Instrument of Accession or of any supplementary Instrument, or

(ii) in respect of any tribal area, by virtue of any treaty, grant or agreement, or

(iii) in respect of the acceding States or the tribal areas in relation to all matters referred to in the Proviso to sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Indian Independence Act, 1947 (10 & 11 Geo. 6, c. 30) and subject to denouncement in the said Proviso contained, or

(iv) in any other area outside the Provinces which may with the consent of the Dominion be included in the Dominion by any treaty, grant or agreement'."

I was just considering as to whether the effect of the acceptance or rejection of this amendment by the House will be to bar the subsequent amendment which possibly seeks the same objective or an objective which is included in it. Will the honourable Members who have tabled the amendment No. 10 consider this point?

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari (Sikkim and Cooch Bihar Group): Sir the object of the amendment which stands in my name and the name of certain other gentleman is very limited. The scope of the amendment of Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad is far more wide. When the time comes, I shall only take two minutes.....

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. I was putting it to the honourable Member that his amendment appears to be included in Mr. Naziruddin's amendment. Then the rejection of his amendment would mean that he would be barred from moving his. I may just help the honourable Member by suggesting that he may move his amendment now. I will put that first to the vote and then put the other amendment of Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad which is a wider one.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: May I submit, Sir, that rejection of my amendment would not necessarily mean rejection of amendment No. 10. Mine is a larger amendment. The rejection of the larger does not include the smaller. It may be that the House may accept the smaller.

Mr. Speaker: Of course this is ordinarily true in the case of the larger amendment, but if the smaller amendment is included in the larger and decision is recorded on that particular point, then it will be certainly barred. I do not want to leave the Honourable Member in the lurch about it. He may move his amendment at this stage.

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari: As I said the words, "usage and sufferance" which have been incorporated in the definition of extra-Provincial Jurisdiction are, in my opinion, unfortunate and unhappy reminders of Paramountcy. They have no clear meaning at all to most of us who are not lawyers. Therefore my submission to the House is that it will be better if these words were omitted. In view of the very reassuring observations made by the Honourable the Home Minister and the Honourable the Law Minister, it may be only necessary now to obtain one further clarification, namely, that so far as the States of the first class are concerned the words "usage and sufferance" are not going to be allowed to have any play in determining the relations between the Government and Class I States. If that specific assurance be forthcoming, I do not press my amendment at all.

Mr. Speaker: I suppose the Honourable Member wishes to move the amendment at present.

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari: Yes and I would be grateful for a reply to the point that I have raised. Sir, I move:

"That in part (a) of clause 2 of the Bill, for the words 'treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or other lawful means', the words 'treaty or agreement' be substituted."

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That in part (a) of clause 2 of the Bill, for the words 'treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or other lawful means', the words 'treaty or agreement' be substituted."

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the two amendments although they are set out under different headings are in substance one. The amendment No. 10 may be put as the result of amendment No. 9 and from that point of view, there is no difference between the two. The aim of both the Honourable Members who have tabled this amendment is to delete the word "grant, usage and sufferance". I think that is what they want to do and in so far as that is their object, I have no doubt that the two amendments are one and the same.

Sir, I am sorry to say that I cannot accept this amendment and I am also sorry to say that the amendment has been based upon a misunderstanding. First of all, I should like to say with regard to the amendment moved by Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad that item (iii) in his amendment is entirely out of place. Tribal areas are part of British India or the Indian Dominion. Secondly there is no question of the Indian Dominion acquiring any extra territorial jurisdiction so far as the tribal areas are concerned. What does the Honourable member want to do? The Honourable member, if I understood correctly, wants to say that whatever extra territorial jurisdiction which the Dominion of India can exercise must be relatable to the Instruments of Accession. I think that is the sum and substance of his position and he wants to make it clear that the jurisdiction which the Central Government may exercise under the provisions of this Act must be in turn sanctioned by the Instruments of Accession.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: That is also conceded to by the Government.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Now, Sir, does the Act do anything different from what my Honourable friend wants us to do in this Bill? As I have stated, what the Instruments of Accession passed by the Indian States enable the Central Government to do is to exercise all such powers, authority and jurisdiction as were at any time exercisable by His Majesty's representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in relation to the Indian States. That is what the Instruments of Accession passed by the Indian States empower the Central Government to do, to exercise all such powers, authority and jurisdiction as were at any time exercisable by His Majesty's representative. Let us go back to the question and ask what are the powers which His Majesty's representative was exercising in relation to the functions of the Crown in relation to the Indian States. Any one who reads the Foreign Jurisdiction Act passed by the Indian Legislature where the powers, authority and jurisdiction, which were exercised by the representatives of His Majesty exercising the functions of the Crown in relation to the States, are described in the very precise terms which are used in part (a) of clause 2, namely "treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or other lawful means". These are exactly the words that occur in the Indian Foreign Jurisdiction Act and they are the words which we have adopted in our Act because the Instruments of Accession passed by the Indian States give all the power which His Majesty's representative exercises in relation to the States and Paramountcy. Therefore, it seems

1574 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [9TH DEC. 1947]

Mr. Speaker: Has the Honourable Minister anything to say as regards the clarification required by Shri Himmat Singh Maheshwari, about his amendment that the words "treaty" or "agreement" be substituted and that there was no desire, so far as the first class of States was concerned, to assume any jurisdiction except by Instrument of Accession?

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari: I understand the Honourable Home Minister to say that so far as States of the first class are concerned, the relations between the Government of India and the States will be governed by treaty and agreement only and not by usage or sufferance.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: That is what I said.

Shri Himmat Singh K. Maheshwari: On that assurance I beg leave of the House to withdraw my motion.

Mr. Speaker: Has the honourable member leave of the House to withdraw the amendment?

The amendment, was by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker: I shall now put the amendment of Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad. I do not think it is necessary for me to read the whole of it.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: I would like to withdraw para. (ii) of my amendment and delete the words "or the tribal areas" from para. (iii).

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member is asking me to put the amendment in an amended form. The question is:

... "That for part (a) of clause 2 of the Bill, the following be substituted namely:

'(a) "extra provincial jurisdiction" means any jurisdiction which the Central Government has acquired or may hereafter acquire—

(i) in respect of any acceding State or of any State which may hereafter accede to the Dominion, by virtue of the Instrument of Accession or of any supplementary Instrument, or

(ii) in respect of the acceding States in relation to all matters referred to in the Proviso to sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Indian Independence Act, 1947 (10 & 11 Geo. 6, c. 30) and subject to denouncement in the said Proviso contained, or

(iii) in any other area outside the Provinces which may with the consent of the Dominion be included in the Dominion by any treaty, grant or agreement'."

The motion was negatived.

Mr. Speaker: I shall now put Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar's amendment to the House. The question is:

"That in sub-clause (a) of Clause 2 of the Bill after the word 'treaty' the word 'agreement' be inserted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 2 as amended, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 as amended, was added to the Bill.

Mr. Speaker: All Mr. Karimuddin's amendments to Clause 3 and Clause 4 appear to follow the same line of argument, on which the House has taken a decision, though they are put in different words. As a matter of fact the House has now taken a decision, on all the restrictive clauses which the amendments seek to introduce, with the result, that any decision in respect of these amendments in the affirmative will be inconsistent with the previous decision.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: In Clause 3 of the Bill, it is said that the Central Government may delegate any such jurisdiction as aforesaid to any officer or authority in such manner and to such extent as it thinks fit, and this is not quite in keeping with the agreement.

Mr. Speaker: But the previous clause explains that it shall be lawful for the Central Government to exercise extra-provincial jurisdiction in such manner as it thinks fit. The honourable member's amendment is not dealing with the manner of exercising it but he restricts the extra-provincial jurisdiction when he says "consistent with terms of treaty or Instrument of Accession". He restricts the jurisdiction and that is inconsistent with what the House has accepted so far as Clause 2 is concerned.

Kazi Syed Karimuddin: I accept the ruling of the Chair.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 3, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 3 was added to the Bill.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: I submit that in rejecting amendment No. 9, the House has rejected certain things in combination with others. They have not rejected item by item that is the component parts individually. The amendment as a whole consisted of a large number of parts. The parts have not been separately rejected.

It may be that if I ask anyone to have a dinner and I gave nine very good courses, and I ask him to take the tenth course also which is bad, he will refuse. That does not mean that he refuses to take the other nine or the best of the other nine. So the amendment which has been lost is a combination of parts. The House has rejected the combination. They yet may be tempted by the attraction of the taste of one of the parts!

Mr. Speaker: All I can say is that the argument is a very ingenious one. But the difficulty is that the 'one' thing runs throughout the other nine things!

As regards the amendments to Clause 4, I am inclined to take the same view as with regard to the amendment to Clause 3. The question is:

"That clause 4 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 4 was added to the Bill.

Mr. Speaker: Since amendment No. 16 will be the negative of the original proposition, it is out of order. The honourable member can however oppose the acceptance of the Clause.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: The object was to draw the pointed attention of the House that I object to Clause 5.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Hussain Imam (one of the Panel of Chairmen).]

I oppose Clause 5 which says that "every act and thing done before or after the commencement of this Act..... in an area outside the Provinces shall be valid as if it had been done according to the local law then in force in that area". It validates with retrospective effect all acts done irrespective of the real validity or legality or impropriety of those acts. I submit that restrictive validity without recourse should be left so that the Ministers and the others to me purely tautological whether you say that you derive your powers from the Instruments of Accession or whether you say that you use the powers given to you by "treaty, usage, sufferance and so on" which were the modes by which power was acquired by the Paramount authority, I see no difference at all. It is one and the same and therefore, I submit that apart from the difficulty that I have pointed out that you cannot accept an amendment relating to the Tribal area, this amendment seems to be utterly based upon some confusion of understanding of the real position and seems to me to be tautologous and it is nothing more than what has already been done in the Bill.

[Dr. B. R. Ambedkar]

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): My Honourable friend the Minister for Law referred to the Foreign Jurisdiction Act. I come much nearer to the Indian Independence Act itself. Under clause 7 of the Indian Independence Act to which reference is made in this amendment of my Honourable friend, the Mover of the amendment, paramountcy lapses. How is it that Paramountcy conferred under the second part of the Accession which the Honourable the Law Minister read, exercised? I will read the relevant clause in the Indian Independence Act:

"... and all powers, rights, authority or jurisdiction exercisable by His Majesty at that date in or in relation to Indian States by treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or otherwise."

These are the very words that have been copied.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: This has now lapsed.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: It is true that this has lapsed. The British Government which had suzerainty over the Indian States did not transfer the authority in so far as they were not conferred or transferred to the Dominion of India. But what was done in its place was that it allowed the States themselves to confer that jurisdiction. And as a matter of fact the first set of States did not confer that jurisdiction; they have conferred jurisdiction only in respect of particular matters. The second set of States specifically entered into agreement conferring all that jurisdiction. They have said that all the rights and powers exercisable by His Majesty's representative as representative of the Crown are now exercisable by you on that date. Those rights are specified here. They might have been exercisable by treaty or by usage or by sufferance, etc. In one or other of these forms rights may have been acquired, and all these rights were acquired. It is true, that by the Indian Independence Act, Paramountcy lapsed, but by virtue of the Instrument of Accession all these powers are once again conferred. All that the Bill seeks to do is to give effect in a tangible form, appointing officers and telling them to carry it out; telling provinces that their officers serving in the Indian Dominion will exercise certain rights in relation to those States. It is not as if the Bill is trying now to confer on the Dominion legislature extra power which has not been conferred by the acceding States. So far as the first set of States is concerned what we are doing is this. It is open to the first set of States, though they have not acceded or given any particular right in relation to any treaty, usage, etc., they may do so now. They have acceded only in respect of three or four items and they have now entered into a standstill agreement; but with respect to other items they may confer rights. It is contemplated in the Government of India Act itself. There may be an original Instrument of Accession; by a subsequent Instrument of Accession for the sake of convenience they may concede some more powers in which case this Act will apply to the exercise of those powers also. Therefore in this Bill they are trying to give effect to those powers which have been already conceded with respect to the second set of States and to whatever other powers might be conferred upon the Indian Dominion by the first set of States, in case they may also think of conceding those powers. Therefore there is nothing which tries to give extra jurisdiction over matters which were not conferred already. This is a matter of procedure only; there is nothing involving the substance, and therefore I submit that this amendment need not be accepted.

Sir, as this refers to clause 2, I should like to move a small amendment with your permission:

"That in sub-clause (a) of clause 2 of the Bill, after the word 'treaty' the word 'agreement' be inserted."

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, I may cut the debate short. It has been pointed out that the tribal areas are not in dispute. I am prepared to cut out para. (ii) of my amendment and the words "or the tribal areas" in para. (iii).

Mr. Speaker: I will first put the amendment of Mr. Ayyangar. Amendment moved:

"That in sub-clause (a) of clause 2 of the Bill, after the word 'treaty' the word 'agreement' be inserted."

I believe the Honourable Member will also have to make consequential amendments in the Preamble when we come to it.

I do not wish to intervene in the debate on legal arguments, but it seems to me that confusion arises because of not properly appreciating all factors as they appear in respect of section 7 of the Indian Independence Act. As pointed out by the Honourable Law Minister, that section merely says that, whatever the Government of India may acquire independently it does not acquire powers as successor to the British Government. And if we read that section, it appears to me that, care is taken to see that His Majesty's Government is absolved from all liability. It is for that purpose and not for the purpose of conferring or not conferring any powers on the Government of India that section 7 was enacted. If this aspect of section 7 is remembered, perhaps the confusion that is felt here about that section and its interpretation will disappear. The Honourable Law Minister will correct me, if I am wrong.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: It provides for both lapsing and absolving.

Mr. Speaker: They are more careful to absolve themselves from liability than to confer power on anybody else. So they say, "Whoever comes in as our successor, we are not giving these powers to him". So they do not want to become responsible as predecessors-in-title.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: With regard to the amendment of my Honourable friend Mr. Ayyangar, for whose legal acumen I have got the greatest respect, I must say that by the insertion of the word "agreement" as he suggests no improvement is made. Instead of calling a spade a spade we are using roundabout language. The very ability which my Honourable friend undoubtedly possesses shows him the difficulties and he tries somehow or other to give us second-hand satisfaction by putting in the word "agreement". He feels the difficulty caused by the absence of the words "Instrument of Accession". Why not say that? No reply has been made to that.

Again with regard to second and third class States we have agreed that they enjoy powers which the British Government enjoyed. That is again contractual; that is, we are going back again to the Instrument of Accession. So there is no difficulty in accepting the amendment.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, so far as the legal controversy is concerned, my Honourable friend the Law Minister has made things quite clear and I have nothing more to add. So far as verbal alteration incorporated in the amendment is concerned, I think the spirit of the Bill is that we are not going to take any powers except by agreement or by treaty; so that if the word "agreement" is put in I am prepared to accept it.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

already concerned may meet together to consider the propriety of any order made. If they sit together, they may come to a right understanding.

Today we have learnt with considerable relief that all the misunderstanding regarding partition and other things about Pakistan and India have been amicably settled. I beg to submit that this question should be settled.

And the second point is that the power of the Court to do justice according to law, according to its own sense of right and wrong should not be taken away. We do not know what acts and things have been done. We only know that some act may have been done. We are putting our seal of approval to acts unknown to us. It should be left to the parties or the courts to do justice according to the nature of the act also in the context in which those acts and the things were done. So in order to leave the parties and the court free to discuss the matter from a fresh angle, I submit that Clause 5 should be entirely omitted.

I therefore oppose its acceptance.

Shri M. S. Aney: This clause is a very important one. The very object of this Bill will be defeated if this clause is not passed by this House. The Honourable Minister in introducing this Bill as well as moving the motion for consideration explained the circumstances under which this Bill was conceived and the circumstances that made it incumbent upon Government to issue an Ordinance which is now being enacted in the form of a law. Sir, any adverse vote on this clause would mean absence of confidence in the present ministry. That is the net result of any opposition to this clause and I warn this House to bear this consequence in mind in considering the point of view of my honourable friend Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad. After all this is one of the usual features of a piece of legislation of this kind where Government is claiming certain jurisdiction which ordinarily is not expected to be possessed by Government. Having now thought it necessary to confer that jurisdiction by passing foregoing clauses and as a logical consequence of the votes we have recorded on other provisions of the Bill, we must concede the validity of the acts which had been done assuming that jurisdiction by the Minister in the best interests of the state itself. This clause asks you to do nothing more than that. What you have now conceded as a matter of principle has been anticipated by the Minister who has come before you with this legislation. You have only to express that what they have done has your full support. Otherwise you ask the present ministry to go out of office. The great ability that the Minister has shown in dealing with questions relating to states has created a very favourable situation in the whole country and I have no doubt that there will be no other minister capable of handling such a delicate situation with the same skill and ability in the country. Even my Honourable friend might not have meant what the consequence would be if the House were to vote in the way in which he wants it to do. It would be inconsistent with the vote which the House has given already upon the previous three clauses. So I urge the House to support the clause as it stands.

Shri Gopikrishna Vijayavargiya (Gwalior State): Sir, I come from an Indian State and I am speaking on behalf of the people of the Indian States. I am not a lawyer and therefore I cannot deal with the subtle legal points involved. I can make some observations as a layman.

India in its past history has been full of many small States and although the paramountcy of the British Government has passed I think that even the people of the Indian States do realise that we must have a strong central Government. Therefore whatever powers the Central Government of India is assuming through this Act must be there. The paramountcy of the British Government has lapsed but it does not mean that another strong Central Government should not exist in India and that Central Government should not assume powers which it should have. The Government of India is the strongest power and the most dominant factor in India today and if there is a vacuum of authority anywhere, that authority must vest with the Central Government of India. Our country during its history of so many centuries has been weak on account of the existence of so many small States throughout the country. Now again there is a talk among big and small States of retaining their small chieftainship or principalities distributed throughout India and they want their own sovereignty. I say that although paramountcy has lapsed the paramountcy must take its rebirth and grow again and must be vested in the Central Government of India. In the law of England there is a saying "The King is dead, Long live the King". Even so, Paramountcy is dead but long live the Paramountcy of the Central Government of India.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: May I point out that the Honourable Minister has repudiated that theory?

Shri Gopikrishna Vijayavargiya: We want to create a new paramountcy—the paramountcy of the people of India and not of a foreign government.

Some Honourable Members: No, no.

An Honourable Member: What is there in a word?

Shri Gopikrishna Vijayavargiya: Paramountcy not of any foreign government but of the people of India—that is what we want. Therefore I fully support the powers which the Central Government want to assume under this Bill. The legal points raised have been answered by other people. I feel that this section should also remain and the Bill should be passed as it is.

Shri Jai Sukh Lal Hathi (Residuary States Group): Sir, I will restrict myself to the amendment for the deletion of clause 5.

An Honourable Member: No amendment has been moved.

Shri Jai Sukh Lal Hathi: What I want to say is that this clause is very essential in the practical working of the administration that has been taken over by the Central Government so far as the States are concerned. If this clause is not there there will be so many difficulties. Regional Commissioners have been appointed for the various states. Courts have been established. The machinery has been set in motion. If all the acts that are done as if by virtue of this act, are not regularised, what would be the position? The whole thing would be upset. This clause is essential and its absence is bound to have disastrous results. It is a misapprehension to say that parties should be allowed to say whether under a particular circumstance a certain act was necessary or not. That would give rise to various questions which no administration can be expected to tackle. Therefore I submit that clause 5 should be retained.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 5 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 5 was added to the Bill.

Mr. Chairman: The two amendments to clause 6 cannot be moved in view of the Speaker's ruling. One is negative and the other is restrictive in character.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, I want to oppose the clause. Clause 6 is the most picturesque clause in this Bill. I do not wish to read the technical language of the clause but its purport in accurate language is this. If I am wrong I may be corrected. Suppose a question arises between a State and the Central Government as to the existence or extent of extra-provincial jurisdiction or a question arises whether the Central Government has any jurisdiction on a particular matter or if it had a jurisdiction to what extent it goes. It goes to the very root of jurisdiction as well as the quantum. The existence of the jurisdiction as well as the quantum is the subject matter of dispute in a court of law. It might arise in a variety of ways. The clause says that the courts may on the application of a party ask for the decision of the Central Government through its appropriate secretary. I do not object to the Secretary being the agency. It is just, fit and proper that the Central Government should act through their secretary. But if the Secretary, purporting to act on behalf of the Government and by instruction from it says "We have jurisdiction over the matter or jurisdiction and to this extent" it will absolutely paralyse the Court. It takes it for granted that the courts cannot decide this matter. It is the greatest libel upon our courts. I presume no one will feel that our courts are intellectually or morally unable to decide these matters or that their legal knowledge is defective. If it is so then it is a case for abolishing the courts. Not only the smaller courts, but the bigger ones including the District Judges' Courts, the High Courts and perhaps even the Federal Court cannot decide these matters. Their power to decide these matters according to their light and according to the rules of justice, equity and good conscience is by an executive order taken away. If my fears are justified even the Federal Court's hands would be fettered. If that is so, the clause is beautifully vague in this respect. Then the verdict of this House, by accepting clause 6, would amount to this, namely, that our Judges are incapable of deciding right or wrong any matter according to their own light of justice, equity and good conscience. I think it gives the Central Government powers of a Draconian character. A guillotine rule is given in their hands. All discussions and all questions would be cut down by an answer of 'yes' or 'no'. I submit that the suspicion about the integrity, ability or the sense of justice of the courts is absolutely improper. My justification in supposing that even the Federal Court will come within, I should say, the mischief of this clause is this. The wording of the clause is "If in any proceeding, civil or criminal, in a Court established in the Provinces or by the authority of the Central Government outside the Provinces.....etc." and I submit that the Federal Court is also meant. God forbid that I should be right in my interpretation. But if I am right I am amazed at this provision that our highest judiciary which will have to consider the legality of a statute or the fundamental principles of a statute or the extent of the jurisdiction of this House, should be deprived of its powers. The description of Courts "in the Provinces" of course does not apply to the Federal Court, but there are the words "any court established by the Central Government outside the Provinces". We can think of a court outside the Provinces—that is the Federal Court. In fact the Court may be geographically within some Province, but legally is the Federal Court within any Provincial Jurisdiction? Certainly not. The Federal Court will thus be a Court outside the Provinces and will be within the mischief of clause 6. If we adopt this clause it would be the greatest disaster to the sense of justice and fairplay which everybody should expect in the Judges of the Federal Court which will be our highest judiciary. If a question arises as to whether the Central Government has jurisdiction or not and if, as is conceded the jurisdiction may be conferred by agreement, what harm is there in asking the Court to read the agreement and say "yes, the Central Government has or has not the jurisdiction"? Agreements involving crores of rupees and question affecting life and death and extensive properties are daily decided by our Courts. It is a question of plain interpretation. Our highest Courts are considered to be intellectually and morally fitted to pronounce their final judgment upon interpretation of contracts. If, as Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar thinks, the treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or other lawful means cannot be properly judged by the Court, then all reference to Courts should be eliminated and the clause should run "All Courts should be considered to have been abolished in relation to a decision arising out of this Act." I think this is virtually the effect of the clause as it is. I ask what is the fear in relying upon the sense of justice of our Courts? What is the necessity of appealing to a Secretary? Then the Courts are made a mere post office. If a question is raised, the Federal Court sends a letter to the Secretary and the letter replied to it is to be conclusive. There is no sense of proportion so far as this power is concerned. It may be said that this power is analogous to certain power given to Secretaries of Government purporting to act on behalf of the Government when a letter signed by the Secretary is sent to the Court. The courts presume its authority. The Court will not question the genuineness of a letter, or authority or communication signed on behalf of the Government. But that is not the same thing as saying that legally they should accept as valid and binding everything contained in it. The Evidence Act does not empower courts to do that. The clause should be redrafted on these lines, namely, that "if any question arises as to what is the position, the Secretary should be empowered to give a reply and its genuineness would be conclusive and not open to question," but is legality should be left for decision by the Court.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

Clause 6 is legislatively, judicially and constitutionally the most mischievous and the most dangerous section that I have ever come across. It may be said that this is exactly a copy of the Foreign Jurisdictions Act. There is an essential distinction which I submit with respect, has been missed, namely in dealing with matters arising out of foreign jurisdictions which formerly depended upon "usage, sufferance or other lawful means." It is not as if 'paramountcy is dead, long live paramountcy'. It is certainly a very attractive slogan to be uttered before a public meeting. But it is neither good sense nor good law and will not appeal to serious minded people in the House, and two Honourable Ministers who are serious minded people have not accepted that proposition. They have declared merely that Paramountcy is dead and cannot be resurrected. In those cases where the British Government exercised acts under the Foreign Jurisdictions Act, matters were left to be judged from a large number of records, from long practice and other things not known to the public and even to the Courts and the Government were the only suitable and fit persons to give an effective judgment.

But here we have started afresh on a clean slate with contractual relationships and my respected friend Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar thought that second class and third class States did not proceed to confer power by means of an instrument of accession, but agreement is nothing more than an instrument of accession. It is a glorified name for agreement by a State, however large or small it may be. I beg to submit that the entire position is contractual and the matter would be a pure question of interpretation of contract. Why cannot courts of law be allowed to decide according to plain interpretation of contracts? The object of the clause is in a manner to abolish courts of law so far as the propriety, the legality of acts done or purporting to have been done under this Bill if the Secretary gives a "decision."

With these few words I oppose the clause.

Shri M. S. Aney: Sir, the Honourable Member who has opposed this clause as also the previous clause has in the course of his arguments remarked that this indicates want of confidence in the courts by those who are bringing this law. I say nothing of the kind. This is a Bill, Sir, which deals mainly with relations between States and States, and I believe, as my honourable friend is very well conversant with constitutional law, he must have come across some such thing as an act of State. There are certain things in which the State claims to be the sole arbiter and judge, and not allow any court to come in and question its right in those matters. If there are any subjects in which the authority of the State is held supreme, it is in matters which essentially deal with relations between State and State, which intend to

[Dr. B. R. Ambedkar]

I submit, therefore, that this clause, clause 6, is a very right clause, appropriate, and should remain in the Bill as it is.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 6 stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 6 was added to the Bill.

Clause 7 was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, consequential upon the amendment already accepted in relation to clause 2, I move:

"That in the Preamble, after the word 'treaty', the word 'agreement' be inserted."

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That in the Preamble, after the word 'treaty', the word 'agreement' be inserted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Title and the Preamble as amended, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill as amended be passed."

In doing so, I express my gratefulness to the House for the generous support that has been given to it.

Mr. Chairman: Motion moved:

"That the Bill as amended be passed."

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, I express my gratitude to this House and to the Honourable Members and the Ministers for condescending to reply to my points which were raised in the interests of puritanism in legislation. I am very grateful to the eminent Ministers for clarifying the matter in spite of the fact that my amendment has not been accepted. The position is now clear as if the amendments were accepted. The extreme cases where interference will be justified have been conceded and the assurances so clearly given in the House will, I am sure, be respected by the Government. I submit that I yield to none in my respect for the very able manner, in which delicate negotiations between the States and the Government of India are being conducted and brought to successful conclusion. In whatever I have done, it is never in derogation to the respect and admiration which I feel for the present Administration. With these few words, Sir, I would now support the motion that the Bill as settled in the House be passed.

In passing, one remark may be made that my learned friend has said that there is a distinction between a "Sovereign Power" and a "State" but here we are concerned with two sovereign powers; when two sovereign powers disagree it is a question for the International Court and there matters are decided not by one party but by two. But that is only an academic aspect of the thing. I heartily and fully support the motion that the Bill as settled in the House be passed.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill as amended be passed."

The motion was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Wednesday, the 10th December, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Wednesday, 10th December, 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

SUSPENSION OF QUESTION HOUR

Mr. Speaker: Before I take up the questions, I should like to invite the attention of the House to one aspect about the time available to the Honourable Members for the debate on the food question. I have got here a list of over 16 speakers from the Congress Party only. I am sure there are other speakers from other parties, States and other Groups. If therefore it is desired that some more time for the debate should be taken, the only course that I find feasible is to suspend the question-hour.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Or apply control on the debate.

Mr. Speaker: That is the second point I was coming to. But even if that is done, I do not think that if a larger number of members wish to speak, more than ten or at the most fifteen minutes could be spared to satisfy each and everyone who wishes to speak. Therefore, the other remedy will be to control not only the number but also the length of the speeches, in addition to suspending the question-hour. What is the wish of the House? Should we suspend the question-hour?

Honourable Members: Yes.

Mr. Speaker: Then the question-hour is suspended. We shall now proceed with the other business.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS†

WRITTEN ANSWERS

BHORE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS

741. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased to state how far the Bhore Committee Recommendations have been given effect to as far as short term plan is concerned?

(b) What action Government propose to take to meet the increasing demand for more doctors and nurses in the rural areas of the country?

(c) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of making it compulsory for medical students in various colleges to work in rural areas before they are given degrees?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) Some of the important recommendations of the Bhore Committee in their short term plan were considered at the Health Ministers' Conference in October 1946. A statement containing the Resolutions passed at the Conference is laid on the Table. The implementation of the recommendations is primarily a matter for the Provincial Governments.

†Answer to these questions laid on the table, the question hour having been dispensed with.

[Shri M. S. Aney]

renew old relations and create new relations in all matters arising out of treaties, grants and precedence. These are matters in which the ultimate judgment or opinion of the state itself must prevail against everything else. Nobody else except the state can determine in what relationship a state should stand to another state whose relationship is in question. This is a Bill of that nature, and therefore in my opinion this section lays down nothing more than that a decision taken under this clause is an act of State and therefore under constitutional law, being an act of state it is not to be questioned in any court at all. Such a provision would always find a proper place in any civilized constitution, if my honourable friend will take pains to go through it. In matters of this kind the ultimate verdict would always be that of the State, as that is the best authority to interpret it. He himself has given good reason for that when he said that such a state of things was justifiable when the British Paramount Power was here, and he justified a similar provision in the Foreign Jurisdiction Act on the ground that it essentially deals with matters of which a proper knowledge cannot be had by anybody else except the ultimate authority of the state. That position he conceded. Now, simply because the British paramount Power has gone and the Government of the Indian Dominion has come in as successor, although as successor it cannot assume paramount power, it does not cease to exercise those functions which it is necessary to exercise in its interests in order to keep its position, its prestige, and its good relations with every state. These are natural rights which would accrue to a sovereign state by usages and agreement. I am not quite prepared to say that they would be governed hereafter only by agreement. They will grow by usages also, hereafter as they have grown in the past. If certain usages have already grown in the past, this government will be entitled to make full use of them. Clause 7 of the Independence Act has been very clearly explained by Hon'ble the Speaker. H. M.'s Government wanted to absolve themselves of all obligations fastened on them by treaties, usurpation and other methods in those early days. How this successor Government would acquire those relations was a matter with which they were not at all concerned. That was left to be done as a matter to be decided between themselves, by the Government of India on the one hand and any other state that would come in relation to them on the other. With that, section 7 does not concern itself at all. Therefore what I say is this, there might be many considerations on which the ultimate decision in regard to matters covered by section 6 will depend, and as they will be governed by considerations which can be exclusively in the possession of the state itself, the decision of the government department, which is represented by the words 'the Secretary to the Government of India', itself must be a final and unimpeachable thing, a thing that cannot be questioned in a court of law. That is in reality the duty and the exclusive function of the sovereign power itself; and it can not allow any court to come in and say to it "you cannot settle relations; and if you do that, it will be ultra vires and not intra vires." The decision is indication of the sovereign right of the State. The question raised by my friend is this: whether the Union Government that is going to come into existence here or to be more precise which has already come into existence since the 15th August is a sovereign government or not? If it is a sovereign government, it must have its final voice in certain matters of the highest importance to the state, and I believe section 6 deals with matters of this type, and therefore the absence of any provision there allowing a court to interfere with the discretion of the state is one which is perfectly justifiable and valid. This House should uphold it.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): If this clause 6 had been described by a Member of the Legislature who is not a lawyer as an unusual thing, I would not have any complaint: But I think for a lawyer to get up and say that this clause is not only unusual and strange, but cuts at the very foundation in the judiciary, I cannot help expressing my surprise. Sir, as every lawyer knows, the law makes a distinction so far as rights are concerned between two sets—political rights and rights which are justiciable. Justiciable rights must always be determined by a judicial decree founded upon evidence produced by the parties before the court. But the political right, and I shall presently explain what is meant by political right, is never submitted to a court in the ordinary sense of the word. Now rights, whether they are contractual or otherwise, between two states are never regarded as justiciable rights. They are always regarded as political rights: and that is the one reason why this clause has been introduced into this Bill. The extra-territorial jurisdiction which is being conferred by the Indian States upon the Indian Dominion is a matter between two states and not between two individuals; and being a matter between two states, obviously all the matters connected with that jurisdiction are political rights, and as such they cannot be left to the judiciary to determine. This clause, as I said, is in no sense an unusual one, for if my Honourable friend refers to the British Act, on which this one is modelled, and refers to clause 4, he will find, the language of clause 6, is absolutely the same as the language of clause 4. Now, my Honourable friend also said that he was aware of certain provisions in the Evidence Act where a certificate given by a Secretary of a Department of the Government of India was said to be conclusive evidence of his authenticity, but it was never accepted as deciding the status of any particular individual. I am sure that he must have forgotten Section 86 of the Civil Procedure Code. If he refers to the Civil Procedure Code, Section 86, he will find therein a provision which is very much analogous to the provisions contained in clause 6 of this Bill. Section 86 of the Civil Procedure Code relates to a suit against an Indian Prince or a foreign Envoy or any such person occupying the capacity or status of a non-Indian citizen. It is provided by Section 86 of the Civil Procedure Code that no suit against an Indian Prince can proceed unless and until the party suing the Indian Prince secures the consent of the Secretary of State that he may be sued. The object underlying Section 86 is to give the Government of India an opportunity to express an opinion whether they regard the particular Prince who is sued, as entitled to the status of a sovereign Prince. If they think that he is entitled to the status of a sovereign Prince, we issue a certificate that he is a sovereign Prince, and the moment that certificate is issued the matter becomes a political matter and ceases to be justiciable in the ordinary sense and the suit falls through. There is nothing unusual in it.

My Honourable friend wants me to state the reason for this somewhat anomalous position which the law recognises not only in this country but in every other country. I could state for his information the reason why this distinction is made. Sir, supposing the Department of a State upon the assumption that a particular Prince is a sovereign Prince deals with him on that basis, and suppose that if the question of his status was left to be decided by an ordinary court of law, where evidence was brought in, and the court came to the conclusion that he was not a Ruling Prince in the sense of a Sovereign Prince, what happens? We have in a situation like this two conflicting decisions—one decision given by the judiciary and another decision given by the State and both are irreconcilable. In such a situation the execution of a decree becomes absolutely impossible. In England, as my Honourable friend knows, there is no such thing as an Evidence Act, but there is a very well-established rule which the British Judiciary has adopted that in matters of this sort where they are likely to come into conflict with the Political Department of the State, they shall not entertain a plea and give a judgment because after all the judgment on a decree of the judiciary has to be executed by the Department of the State and they do not want themselves to be entangled with the State Department. That, I think, is a very salutary reason why the courts themselves have abnegated the right of exercising any jurisdiction in a matter which is likely to be political.

(b) The development programmes of Provinces include schemes for opening of new medical colleges, conversion of existing medical schools into colleges and establishment of institutions for training nurses and other auxiliary personnel, which, it is hoped, will result in a substantial increase in the number of doctors, nurses and other health personnel.

(c) This is a matter for Provincial Governments and Universities to consider.

Statement

AGENDA ITEM No. 2.

Objectives

"The Conference endorses the objectives proposed by the Bhore Committee as objectives to be kept in view in formulating plans for a national health service."

Agenda Item No. 3.

District Health Organisation

The Conference considers that the District Health Organisation proposed is administratively sound and acceptable in principle. The programme for the first five years is not within present financial resources but it is agreed:—

Firstly, that the scheme should be implemented on as wide a scale as possible consistent with financial limitations, taking full advantage of existing institutions and staff;

Secondly, that modifications in the scheme may be made where necessary to adapt it to local conditions;

Thirdly, that in areas where the full organisation cannot be set up immediately, schemes for development should be framed with due regard to the objective of building up a curative and preventive health service on the general lines recommended by the Committee;

Fourthly, that each Province should review its plans with these considerations in view.

Agenda Item No. 5

The Provision of facilities for the training of medical and other personnel

The Conference agrees that a review of training facilities in the light of probable future requirements should be undertaken and that particular emphasis should be laid on the training of personnel. It also agrees that as far as possible, the larger provinces should assist those provinces which have not yet been able to provide their own training facilities by admitting students to their training institutions.

Agenda Item No. 6.

Central and Provincial Boards of Health and Health Councils

The Conference agrees that Boards of Health and Councils of Experts should be constituted at the Centre and in the Provinces. It considers that representatives of the Central Legislature should be included in the Central Board of Health, that the constitution of the Provincial Boards should be left to the discretion of the Provincial Governments and that the health experts of the Central and Provincial Governments should attend the Central Board of Health. The Conference also considers that the functions of the Central Board and Council should be purely advisory.

Agenda Item No. 7.

The amalgamation of the Medical and Public Health Departments

The Conference accepts the principle of amalgamation of medical and public health departments and considers that amalgamation should take place when a suitable opportunity occurs.

The Hon'ble Ministers from Madras and Bombay, dissented from this view. The Hon'ble Minister from Madras considered that co-ordination between the two departments was preferable to amalgamation.

Agenda Item No. 8.

Water Supply and Sanitation.

The Conference agrees—

- (1) that an active programme for the improvement of water supply and sanitation in both urban and rural areas should be undertaken;
- (2) that in respect of water supply the objective should be to provide at least 50 per cent. of the population with a safe and abundant water supply within a period of not more than 20 years and the entire population within not more than 35 years.
- (3) that in urban areas the objective should be to instal adequate sewerage in all towns with a population of 50,000 or over during the first 10 years;
- (4) that the constitution and functions of provincial water and drainage boards should be left to the discretion of Provincial Governments.

Agenda Item No. 9

Establishment of Anti-Malaria Organisations

The Conference agrees—

- (1) that a vigorous drive against malaria should receive priority in development programmes;
- (2) that, subject to adaptation to suit local conditions, anti-malaria organisations should follow the general frame work of the organisation proposed by the Bhore Committee;
- (3) that anti-malaria personnel trained in the Defence Services should be utilised to the fullest possible extent.

Agenda Item No. 10.

The Policy in regard to quinine and other anti-malaria drugs.

The Conference agrees that quinine production should be continued and developed up to about 200,000 lbs. a year, subject to review from time to time. It was also agreed that the views expressed by the Provincial Ministers on the subject of a guarantee to the producing provinces should be further considered by the Government of India in consultation with Provincial Governments.

Agenda Item No. 11.

Indian Medicine

I. In accordance with the recommendations of the National Planning Committee, this Conference resolves that adequate provision should be made in the Centre and the Provinces—

- (a) for research in and the application of the scientific method for the investigation of the indigenous systems like Ayurveda and Unani with references to (1) maintenance of health and (2) prevention and cure of disease.
- (b) for starting schools and colleges for training for diploma and degree courses in Indigenous Systems of Medicine.
- (c) for post graduate courses in Indian Medicine for graduates in Western Medicine.

II. In accordance with Resolution No. 13 of the National Planning Committee this Conference resolves to absorb the practitioners of Ayurvedic and Unani Systems of Medicine into the State Health Organisation by giving them further scientific training wherever necessary as health personnel, like doctors, physical training experts (Ustads), Sanitary staff, masseurs, nurses, midwives, etc.

III. This Conference resolves that, in the Central Council and Provincial Health Boards and Councils the departments and practitioners of Indian Medicine should be given due representation, wherever possible.

Agenda Item No. 12.

Abolition of Civil Branch of Indian Medical Service

This Conference of Health Ministers is of opinion that there should be no civil branch of the Indian Medical Service and requests that the Central Government may arrange to take back immediately the Indian Medical Service personnel in civil employ in the Provinces, and post them on the military side to which they rightly belong.

RELAY BY ALL-INDIA RADIO OF B. B. C.'S NIGHT BULLETIN

742. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether Government have received any telegram on behalf of the citizens of Madura, requesting them to discontinue the relay by the All-India Radio of the night bulletin of the British Broadcasting Corporation?

(b) Are Government aware of the growing dissatisfaction among the public at the All-India Radio, using short wave stations for English music and giving inadequate importance to Indian items?

(c) If so, what action Government propose to take to satisfy the public opinion?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Government repudiate any suggestion that English music is being given more importance than Indian music.

(c) Does not arise.

REVIVAL OF INFORMATION FILM OF INDIA

743 *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Government are reviving Information Films of India?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to have a separate section to produce short films to be exhibited in foreign countries?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

IMPROVEMENT IN PUBLICATIONS DIVISION OF MINISTRY OF INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING

744. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the Publications Division of the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting is still working in the same old way?

(b) Do Government propose to improve the get-up of the publications intended for foreign consumption?

(c) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of filling those publications with writings of Indian authors instead of reproductions from foreign journals?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Apparently Honourable Member's knowledge has not kept pace with the changes made.

(b) Honourable Member's knowledge about these matters is again at fault. The get-up has already been improved.

(c) I regret again to point out that the Honourable Member's knowledge is imperfect. Both the sources are already being tapped.

SCHEME FOR NEW BROADCASTING STATIONS

745. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state how many new broadcasting stations have been opened upto now, since the assumption of office by the Congress?

(b) What is the principle followed in such a scheme?

(c) In view of the emergency in this country, are there any chances of the five year and eight year schemes proposed by the Government during the interim period being materialized?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) One at Jullundur.

(b) This was established to meet the present emergency in East Punjab.

(c) We are trying to speed up the completion of schemes approved in the plans. The question of taking up any new schemes would arise only after the present schemes are completed.

RE-ORIENTATION OF SMALL SAVINGS SCHEME

746. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

(a) whether steps are being taken to re-orient the Small Savings Scheme from a war-time measure to peace-time permanent organisation? If not, why not?

(b) if the answer to part (a) above to be in the affirmative, what are the steps taken so far in this direction; and

(c) whether the personnel already employed under this scheme in different provinces is controlled by the Government of India; and if so, whether the personnel is entitled to the benefit of the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) and (b) I would invite the attention of the Honourable Member to paragraph 24 of my speech introducing the Budget for the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948.

(c) The personnel employed on the Small Savings Scheme in the Provinces are under the administrative control of the Provincial Governments and as such are not automatically entitled to the benefit of the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission.

FEDERAL PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

747. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state what measures have so far been taken to fulfil the long-standing need of including experts in the personnel of the Federal Public Service Commission?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the desirability of setting up two separate Boards, one for civil appointments and the other for Military appointments with branches at Provincial Headquarters?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) It is not clear what experts Honourable Member has in mind. Nor are Government aware of any such long-standing need as is referred to by the Honourable Member.

(b) The Federal Public Service Commission deals with recruitment to higher civil appointments. Honourable Member is probably not aware that military appointments are dealt with by the Defence Ministry.

SEIZURE OF RADIO TRANSMITTERS BY C. I. D. AT JUBBULPORE

748. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether a news item appearing in the Hindustan Times, dated the 17th November, 1947, reporting the seizure of 4 powerful radio transmitters by the C.I.D. in a surprise raid on the stores of the Special Armed Constabulary, Jubbulpore, is correct?

(b) Is the report that, "a man was arrested in the act of sending messages to a destination outside the Indian Union" correct?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, to which country the messages were being sent and what the contents of the messages were?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) The Press report is correct except that six sets were seized and not four.

(b) No.

(c) Does not arise.

ATTACK ON KASHMIR AND PAKISTAN MILITARY OFFICERS

749. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether there is any truth in the press report published in the Evening National Call of the 17th November 1947 that a "sensational letter from a very high Pakistan Official has been intercepted at Bannu by an Indian Army Officer, revealing that the attack on Kashmir was planned by Pakistan Military Officials long before the Red-Cliffe Award was announced"?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to publish the contents of the said letter?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No, Sir. Government are not aware of any such interception by an Indian Army Officer.

(b) Does not arise.

INDIAN UNION NATIONAL GUARDS

750. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether Government propose to consider the desirability of creating Indian Union National Guards to serve as an All India Civil Force in peace time for the betterment of our people in the various educational and social spheres and as War Reserve in cases of emergency?

(b) If so, do Government propose to take necessary steps to constitute an Indian Union Committee for organising and recruiting the Indian Union National Guards?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b) The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given by me to Question No. 430 by Pandit Kunzru regarding the raising of Home Guards in India. The policy of the Government regarding the raising of an Auxiliary force has already been explained during the debate in the House on the 27th November on Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramaiya's resolution on the subject.

OVERSEAS SCHOLARSHIPS TO INDIAN STUDENTS

751. *{ Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:
Shri K. Santhanam:

Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the total expenditure incurred in respect of overseas scholarships awarded to Indian students, since the termination of the last war, showing separately the figures for students sent to the United Kingdom and to the United States of America?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The total expenditure in respect of Overseas Scholarships to Indian students borne by the Government of India since the termination of the last war up to 30th September 1947 under the Overseas Scholarships Scheme is Rs. 79,91,000 (rupees seventy-nine lacs and ninety-one thousand) out of which Rs. 32,77,000 (rupees thirty-two lacs and seventy-seven thousand) were spent on the students sent to the United Kingdom and Rs. 46,78,000 (rupees forty-six lacs and seventy-eight thousand) on those sent to the United States of America. The balance of Rs. 36,000 (rupees thirty-six thousand) was spent on a few students sent to other countries.

AMOUNT ADVANCED TO PAKISTAN GOVERNMENT

752. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state how much money, if any, has the Imperial Bank advanced to the Government of Pakistan?

(b) Were the Government of India consulted at any stage before the loan was given?

(c) Is it a fact that the Imperial Bank has been in charge of Government treasuries in several provinces of India? If so, will Government be pleased to state the terms of such agreements?

(d) Is it a fact that the Imperial Bank has been enjoying favoured treatment in certain respects as compared to scheduled banks? If so, do Government propose to consider the advisability of withdrawing the concessions enjoyed by the Bank?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) Government have no information.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) Under Section 45 of the Reserve Bank of India Act the Reserve Bank is required to enter into an agreement with the Imperial Bank for a minimum period of 20 years providing for the employment of Imperial Bank of India as the sole agent of the Reserve Bank in all the provinces of India where the Imperial Bank had branches at the commencement of the Reserve Bank of India Act and where the Reserve Bank has no branches of its Banking Department. The provisions of the agreement which inter alia regulate the payment to the Imperial Bank for the services rendered are contained in the Third Schedule of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934.

(d) In virtue of the agreement referred to above the Imperial Bank's position is necessarily different in certain respects from that of the other scheduled banks. It is not possible to terminate prematurely the agreement unless the Imperial Bank fails to fulfil the conditions laid down or to maintain a sound financial position and disregard further instructions issued by Government as set out in proviso to Section 45(1) of the Reserve Bank of India Act.

GOVERNMENT SERVANTS OPTING FOR PAKISTAN

753. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Government servants who had opted for Pakistan have been given a choice to revise their option?

(b) If so, will it be incumbent on Government to take them back irrespective of any other consideration?

(c) How many of such persons have already expressed a desire to revert and what is their number, communitywise?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) Government have no information.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION IN INDIA

754. *Shri Ram Sahai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether there is any scheme under the contemplation of Government for the introduction of compulsory education in India?

(b) If so, when will that be brought into force?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) The scheme recommended by the Central Advisory Board of Education in their Report on Post-War Educational Development has been generally accepted by the Government of India for introduction of compulsory education in India.

(b) It is mostly for the Provincial Governments to enforce this scheme. The Government of Bihar, Bombay, U.P. and Madras have already started implementing schemes of compulsory Primary Education. Orissa, the Central Provinces and the three Centrally Administered Areas propose doing so from this year and the schemes of Assam, East Punjab and West Bengal are under revision. All the Provincial Governments have started schemes of training of teachers which are so necessary for any scheme of compulsory education. It is not possible to indicate exactly when these schemes will be fully implemented and there will be universal compulsory Primary education for all children between the ages of six and fourteen. The Central Advisory Board of Education had contemplated that in view of the practical difficulty or recruiting the requisite supply of trained teachers, it may take not less than forty years. The present Government of India, however, cannot wait so long. It feels that we should try our best to remove the difficulties and guarantee Primary Education to all children within the shortest time possible. Government has in view a special scheme for this purpose which it wants to place before the Provincial Educational Ministers and University representatives. A Conference of these Ministers and University representatives was actually fixed in last July, but due to certain political developments it had to be postponed. Now it has been decided to hold it at a very early date.

EXPENDITURE ON EDUCATION

755. *Shri Ram Sahai: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) what portion of the entire Central Budget is spent on education; and

(b) the proportion of the amount spent out of the total budget on Higher, Secondary and Primary education?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) In the year 1946-47, out of the total Central Budget of Rs. 4,42,35,88,000 a sum of Rs. 1,87,13,500 or .4 per cent. was spent on education. If, however, the expenditure on Defence, Posts and Telegraphs and Railways is excluded from the Central Budget, the percentage of expenditure on Education would work out to be 1.3. This figure does not include the grants given by the Centre to the Provinces for their Post-war Educational Development.

(b) In the same year, Rs. 1,20,61,300 or .9 per cent. of total budget (exclusive of expenditure on Defence, Posts and Telegraphs and Railways), was spent on higher, Rs. 22,85,020 or .2 per cent. on Secondary and Rs. 12,77,010 or .1 per cent. on Primary Education. Here too these figures do not include grants given by the Centre to the Provinces for their Post-war Educational Development.

LICENCES FOR FIRE-ARMS IN DELHI

756. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) the number of applications received and licences issued by the Deputy Commissioner, Delhi, for fire-arms during the last 6 months;

(b) the number of applicants who were able to secure fire-arms during the same period;

(c) names of fire-arms vendors to whom licences were sanctioned during the above period and of those who have been able to start their business; and

(d) whether it is a fact that quite a number of approved vendors cannot start their business because they have not been issued import licences?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) About 5,445 applications were received and 3,245 out of these were sanctioned.

(b) 786.

(c) A statement is laid on the table.

(d) A majority of them have already started their business.

Statement

The names of fire-arm vendors to whom licences were issued during the last six months are as under:—

- (i) Sardar Rameshwar Singh of Abbottabad, Proprietor, Singh Bros., Kashmere Gate; (ii) Sardar Nanak Singh; Kashmere Gate, (iii) Lala Devi Pershad Bagaria, Birla Lines, Subzimandi, Delhi. (iv) Sardar Bahadur Sunder Singh Dhupia, Connaught Place, New Delhi. (v) Bawa Pardu Singh and Sons, Cloth Market, Delhi. (vi) Lala Fanwal Das, Hauz Kazi, Delhi and (vii) Shakti Arms Corporation, Connaught Place, New Delhi.

The first five have started their business.

BLACK-MARKETING IN SALE OF FIRE-ARMS

757. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) the number of factories which are actually manufacturing fire-arms;

(b) whether Government are aware of the existence of black-marketing in the sale of fire-arms; and

(c) if the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what steps Government have so far taken or propose to take in this behalf?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Apart from the Central Government's Ordinance factories there are none.

(b) Government have received some reports to this effect.

(c) Government have under consideration proposals for augmenting supplies to meet the Civilian demand.

EAST BENGAL OFFICERS OPTING FOR INDIAN DOMINION

758. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) the number of officers who have opted from East Bengal for the Indian Dominion; and

(b) whether Government propose to grant subvention to the Government of West Bengal for the maintenance of these officers till such time as they are absorbed in the administration?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Presumably the Honourable Member is referring to officers of the Bengal Government who were given the option to serve either in East Bengal or in West Bengal. This is a matter which concerns the Government of West Bengal and the Government of India have no information on the point.

(b) No.

ADMINISTRATION OF WESTERN INDIA STATES

759. *Shri Jaisukh Lal Hathi: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state:

(a) Whether the administration of the estates of Chandap and Gazipur in the Gadhwa Thana in the Western India and Gujrat States Region has been taken over by the Ministry of States by virtue of the communique issued on the 13th August 1947; and

(b) if not, why not?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b) The matter is still under consideration.

RE-EMPLOYMENT OF I.N.A. PERSONNEL

760. *Shri Damodar Swarup Seth: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government are considering the proposal of taking back the I.N.A. officers and soldiers in the Indian Army and granting the privilege of pay and other allowances for the period they worked in the I.N.A., in view of their patriotic services to the country?

(b) If not, why not?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The whole question is under the consideration of Government.

(b) Does not arise.

CONTRIBUTION FOR THE POST-WAR DEVELOPMENT

761. *Shri Ram Narayan Singh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether any contribution has been made by the Government of India to the Provinces for the Post-war Developments in the current and the last two years, and if so, for what objects and to which Provinces separately?

(b) Is it a fact that the contribution has been withheld, and if so, why?

(c) Has any such amount been actually paid to the Provinces, and if so, what is the amount and to which Provinces it has been paid?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) Yes. Grants for development purposes have been given to all the Provincial Governments. The object for which these grants were made have been explained in the Budget speeches of my predecessors relating to the years 1946-47, 1947-48 and in my Budget speech delivered in this House on the 26th November, 1947.

(b) No.

(c) Payments have been made to all the provinces but the figures regarding actual amounts paid are not readily available as the accounts for 1946-47 have not yet been closed.

PETITION BY MINTOO MUKHERJEE re PENSION

762. *Shri Upendra Nath Barman: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether any petition by one Mintoo Mukherjee Ex. No. 272334 Sapper Loco Driver IIIA (File No. K. D. 1/211-Pension 1503) is pending for a long time with the Government of India, Defence Department (Pension Branch, Delhi) for adjudication and valuation?

(b) Are Government aware that Mintoo Mukherjee with his big family is practically starving?

(c) Is it a fact that some representations were made by him recently in this connection but no reply is being given?

(d) Will Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken in the matter?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) to (d). The claim to disability pension on behalf of Mintoo Mukherjee, ex-Sapper Loco Driver IIIA, was received from the Controller of Military Accounts (Pensions), for orders. The claim was investigated, and certain documents necessary for establishing the disability on which the claim was based were called for. As the documents were not received within a reasonable time, the case has been settled without the documents and Government have decided that the disability of the claimant was aggravated by war service. Orders to this effect have already been issued to the Controller of Military Accounts (Pensions), Allahabad, who will take further action in regard to the payment of the pension, and Mintoo Mukherjee has been informed accordingly.

RELAXATION OF AGE LIMIT FOR POLITICAL SUFFERERS ENTERING GOVERNMENT SERVICE

763. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is proposed to relax the age limit for persons who participated in the national movements and suffered imprisonments and were thus barred from entering Government service; and

(b) whether any relaxation of age limits exists at present in the case of persons with war service?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). No relaxation of age-limit has been allowed to war-service candidates. All that has happened is that their period of war-service will be counted, subject to certain limitations, for purpose of the maximum age-limit. No similar case has arisen in regard to the category of candidates referred to in clause (a) of the question. But if any does arise, Government would be prepared to consider it.

EDUCATION AND RESEARCH INSTITUTIONS IN INDIA

764. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) the names of the centrally administered Educational and Research institutions in India; and

(b) the allocation of seats in these institutions province-wise?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) A statement giving the names of Educational and Research Institutions maintained by the Central Government is placed on the table of the House.

(b) The information is being collected and will be laid on the table of the House in due course.

(List of Educational and Research Institutions Maintained by the Central Government.)

1. Delhi Polytechnic.
2. National Archives of India.
3. Archaeological Survey of India.
4. Anthropological Survey of India.
5. Imperial Library, Calcutta.
6. College of Nursing, Delhi.
7. The Malaria Institute of India, Delhi.
8. The Central Research Institute, Kasauli, Simla.
9. All-India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health, Calcutta.
10. The Licentiate Medical College, Calcutta.
11. Indian Agricultural Research Institute, New Delhi.
12. Zoological Survey of India, (Post-graduate Training Student Training Scheme).
13. Indian Dairy Research Institute, Bangalore.
14. Forest Research Institute and College, Dehra Dun.
15. Statistical Branch of Indian Council of Agricultural Research, New Delhi.
16. Central Drilling School, Roorkee.
17. L. R. M. S., Sanawar.
18. P. W. R. M. College, Dehra Dun.
19. K. G. R. I. M. College, Jullundur.
20. K. G. R. I. M. College, Ajmer.
21. K. G. R. I. M. College, Bangalore.
22. K. G. R. I. M. College, Belgaum.
23. Army School of Education, Pachmari.
24. Civil Aviation Training Centre, Saharanpur.
25. Indian Mercantile Marine Training Ship, Dufferin, Bombay.
26. Indian School of Mines, Dhanbad.

RECRUITMENT OF REFUGEES FOR MILITARY TRAINING

765. *Shri Santanu Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government propose to recruit people for Military training from amongst the refugees?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: It is open to the refugees to offer themselves for recruitment to the Armed Forces.

PUNJABI PROGRAMME ON ALL-INDIA RADIO, DELHI

766. *Giani Gurmukh Singh Musafar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether it is a fact that only fifteen minutes have been allotted for programme in Punjabi on the All-India Radio Station, Delhi?

(b) if the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to allot more time for programme in Punjabi?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Government consider that in view of a station at Jullundhur no further facilities from Delhi are necessary.

NATIONALIZATION OF RESERVE BANK OF INDIA

767. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether it is a fact that last year the then Finance Member made a statement regarding nationalization of the Reserve Bank of India?

(b) If so, when Government propose to nationalize it and what are the steps taken so far in this direction?

(c) Is it a fact that most of the Directors of the Reserve Bank of India are either connected directly or indirectly with one or the other banks or with big business and have free access to all the records of all such banks?

(d) If the answer to part (c) above be in the affirmative do Government propose to consider the advisability of divesting such directors of this right of free access to other banks' records and secrets?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) Yes.

(b) The consideration of the question had to be postponed as the Reserve Bank of India under present arrangements is the joint banker for the dominions of India and Pakistan. Government propose to take up this matter for further consideration after the arrangements envisaged in Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, have been terminated.

(c) and (d) Under Section 10 of the Reserve Bank of India Act no person may be a director who is an officer or an employee of any bank or is a director of any bank other than a bank registered under the Co-operative Societies Act 1912 or any other law relating to Co-operative Societies. The directors are men of integrity and on assuming office are enjoined by declaration of fidelity to maintain strictest secrecy regarding any information coming to their hands during the period of their duty while serving on the Board of Directors of the Reserve Bank of India. Government have no reason to believe that the directors serving on the Board of Directors of the Reserve Bank of India are in any way misusing the information that is put before them by the Reserve Bank.

TAKING OVER OF RECORDS FROM THE CROWN DEPARTMENT

768. *R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state:

(a) whether all the old and new records, books, maps, registers, confidential and secret documents, etc., especially those of historical and political value maintained and preserved in the former Crown Department and the various

Residencies and political Agencies throughout India prior to their abolition, were taken over in their entirety by the Ministry of States of the Government of India, the various Regional Commissioners or the States concerned, as the case may be;

(b) whether any such records were destroyed by the representatives of the former Government shortly prior to the transference of power; and

(c) if the reply to part (b) above be in the affirmative, whether this was done under any general or special orders of the former Government and what steps, if any, were taken to stop it?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) The entire records prior to 1880 A.D. are in the National Archives of India; those of the period after 1880, with the exception of records relating to private lives of Rulers and the internal affairs of States, have been taken over by the Government of India.

(b) Records considered valueless for purposes of future reference or without any historical interest were destroyed by the Residents under instructions issued by the late Political Department.

(c) These instructions were in accordance with an agreement reached in June 1947 between His Excellency the Viceroy and the leaders of the Congress and Muslim League parties.

TRANSFER OF IMPERIAL LIBRARY, CALCUTTA

769. *R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) whether there is any proposal of transferring the Imperial Library, Calcutta, to Delhi, and if so, when it is likely to materialise;

(b) the total number of books in the Library; and

(c) the date of publication of the oldest book available in the Library?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) The matter is under consideration.

(b) The total number of books available in the Library is approximately 4,13,888.

(c) The date of publication of the oldest book traceable in the Library is 1481 A.D.

TRANSFER OF NATIONAL ARCHIVES TO PAKISTAN

770. *R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) whether there is any proposal to transfer the originals or copies of any of the national archives at present maintained in the National Archives of India (previously known as Imperial Record Department) to the Dominion of Pakistan; and

(b) if so, the broad categories of such archives and how a selection is proposed to be made?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) and (b) There is no proposal for the transfer to the Dominion of Pakistan of the originals of any documents at present in the custody of National Archives of India. It has been decided that: (i) one printed copy of the records which are of interest to the Pakistan Government should, if available, be given to that Government; (ii) if any of the records in which the Government of Pakistan are interested are microfilmed in the ordinary course, one copy should be supplied to the Government of Pakistan free of charge; and (iii) if the Pakistan Government place additional microfilming units at the disposal of the Government of India, the Government of India, with the help of the sub-units will agree to microfilm the records in which the Pakistan Government are interested and supply one copy thereof to the Pakistan Government free of charge.

TRANSFER OF EXHIBITS OF INDIA MUSEUM, CALCUTTA

771. *R. B. Lala Raj Kanwar: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state:

(a) whether any exhibits of the Indian Museum, Calcutta, and the Victoria Memorial, Calcutta, have been or are proposed to be transferred to the Dominion of Pakistan in connection with the proposed division of assets and liabilities between the two Dominions; and

(b) if so, how it is proposed to make a selection and to arrive at a fair valuation of such exhibits?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) No. The Trustees of both the Indian Museum, Calcutta and the Victoria Memorial Hall, Calcutta are autonomous bodies. The property, whether movable or immovable including the exhibits transferred to them from time to time by the Archaeological Department on a permanent basis vests solely in the trustees and hence cannot be recalled or made a subject of partition.

(b) Does not arise.

DESECRATION OF MOSQUES IN DELHI

772. *Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the report of the post prayer speech of Gandhiji published in the Hindu of the 23rd November and the Statesman, dated the 22nd November, 1947, in which he referred to the desecration and damage of 137 mosques in Delhi;

(b) whether Government are aware that one of such mosques which has been converted into a temple is situated in a prominent place in New Delhi opposite the Odeon Cinema; and

(c) what steps Government are taking for restoring all such places of worship to their original condition?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) Government have already issued instructions to the Chief Commissioner to take very early steps to restore the Mosques to their original condition. Our information shows, however, that only three mosques have been converted into temples and 113 have been damaged. Instructions have been issued to survey the damage done and to prepare plans and estimates for repairing them. I would add that the Government stand by the statement I issued on this subject on the 7th November, 1947, and would draw the Honourable Member's attention to the Press Note issued on the 8th December, 1947. Copies of both the documents are laid on the table of the House.

Religious Institutions.

Further, the Government of East and West Punjab have already agreed that it is specially incumbent upon them to protect and safeguard property belonging to religious institutions and both Governments will endeavour to ensure the restoration at public expense or otherwise of all religious places in their territories that may have been destroyed or desecrated.

The Central Government has already taken action as though these undertakings applied to the Province of Delhi. It has had full inquiries made into the extent of damage done to mosques and other places of worship in Delhi and has issued strict instructions that those mosques that are being used as temples or as habitations for people should be restored to their original condition as soon as possible and a survey should be made of the damage caused to such buildings. The Government of India thus intends to follow implicitly, in regard to Delhi, the policy that was settled between the representatives of the two Provincial Governments.

Press Note

The time allowed to those, who have trespassed on mosques during and after the recent disturbances in Delhi to vacate them expired on 6th December, 1947. Where trespass still persists, instructions have been issued to the Police to clear the mosques and to prosecute the offenders. Government would like to issue a clear and unequivocal warning to people that they cannot allow the sanctity of these places of worship to be violated in any manner whatsoever and will deal sternly with attempts on the part of any person to commit any sacrilege on mosques which have now been cleared of trespassers or restored to their original conditions. Government have already in hand the task of restoring the damage done to other mosques and plans and estimates are being prepared. Mosques which had been converted into temples have been restored to their original condition. Government trust that they will have the support and co-operation of the general public in discharging this obligation to maintain the inviolability of places of worship and that all citizens will assist in bringing breakers of the law to book.

NATIONAL MUSEUM AND LIBRARY FOR INDIA

773. *Shri Balkrishna Sharma: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether Government propose to establish a National Museum and a National Library for India? If so, when and at what place?

(b) What decision has so far been taken on the recommendations of the Maurice Gwyer Committee Report for the establishment of a National Museum?

(c) What are the important collections of art, paintings, textiles, sculptures and images, etc., which exist in this country under the control of private persons and dealers?

(d) In view of the fact that the export of antiquities outside India has been prevented by a recent Act, do Government propose to acquire art collections as and when they are offered to them in order to preserve them for the galleries of the National Museum?

(e) What is the nature and extent of the collections of art, manuscripts and books in the possession of the late India Office, and what steps are being taken to secure them for this country?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) The Government of India have accepted in principle a scheme for the establishment of a National Museum of Art, Archaeology and Anthropology at Delhi. The proposal to establish a National Library including a copyright Section is under consideration. An Expert Committee is being appointed with a view to working out the details of the proposed Scheme.

(b) Provision has been made in the current year's budget for the first stage of the Scheme for the establishment of a National Museum, and expenditure sanction will be given in due course with the approval of the Standing Finance Committee.

(c) Government are aware of a number of collections of paintings, textiles, sculptures, etc., at present in the hands of private owners and dealers. It would not be in the public interest at the moment to publish names; but when the scheme of the National Museum is implemented all possible steps will be taken to prevent the dispersal of these collections.

(d) Government has recently acquired an important collections of Indian sculptures and paintings at a cost of rupees two lakhs with a view to preserving it in the proposed National Museum. It is proposed, as funds become available, to continue this policy.

(h) have Government considered the possibility of utilising some of these factories for manufacturing heavy chemicals, acids and road rollers?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) I lay a statement on the table of the House.

(b) Before the war there were eight Ordnance Factories all of which are still operating. To these twenty-one were added during the war. A number of these additional factories utilised leased property and have now been closed down or disposed of leaving the present total of 16, including pre-war factories.

(c) All. It is not in the public interest to disclose the monthly output of these factories.

(d) The capacity, surplus to Defence requirements, of all factories capable of making machinery is being utilised for civil requirements.

(e) The information is not readily available.

(f) It is a fact that these factories are not being utilised to the fullest capacity for the production of war-like stores, as service requirements are considerably smaller in peace-time than in war-time. The surplus capacity is, however, being utilised for civil needs.

(g) The question is not clear. All the Ordnance Factories are in fact producing arms, ammunition and other military equipment and stores.

(h) Yes. These items are in fact already being manufactured in the Ordnance Factories for civil use.

Statement

1. Cordite Factory, ARUVANKADU.
2. Ammunition Factory, KIRKEE.
3. Gun Carriage Factory, JUBBULPORE.
4. Harness and Saddlery Factory, KANPUR.
5. Metal and Steel Factory, ISHAPORE.
6. Rifle Factory, ISHAPORE.
7. Gun and Shell Factory, COSSIPORE.
8. Clothing Factory, SHAHJAHANPUR.
9. High Explosives Factory, KIRKEE.
10. Ordnance Factory, AMBERNATH.
11. Ordnance Factory, KANPUR.
12. Ordnance Factory, MURADNAGAR.
13. Ordnance Factory, KATNI.
14. Ordnance Factory, DEHRA DUN.
15. Ordnance Factory, KHAMARIA.
16. Clothing (ex-parachute) Factory, KANPUR. E.

REORGANIZATION OF ORDNANCE FACTORIES.

781. *Shri Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government have considered the question of re-organisation of the administration of Ordnance Factories in India after the administrative control of the Supreme Commander of the Joint Armed Forces of India and Pakistan has ceased after the 30th November, 1947? If so, what is the decision taken;

(b) is it a fact that more than 70 per cent. of the senior posts at the Headquarters and 80 per cent in Factories are at present held by Europeans;

(c) what steps do Government propose to take to effect speedy Indianization of all the higher posts in these factories and establishments;

(d) do Government propose to recruit technical personnel from countries overseas on short term contracts to fill some of these posts with a view to training Indians in this line; and

(e) do Government propose to send abroad Indians for proper training in this line? If so, when and how many?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The administrative control of Ordnance Factories was taken over by the Government of India from the Supreme Commander on the 1st December 1947. To what extent the working of the factories needs to be altered to suit India's requirements is at present under consideration.

(b) The number of Europeans in gazetted appointments is roughly 50 per cent at Headquarters and 60 per cent in factories.

(c), (d) and (e). Government hope to be able to effect speedy Indianization by fresh recruitment and by intensive training of new recruits here and in Europe and U.S.A.

ANTI-INDIAN ACTIVITIES OF MUSLIM OFFICERS

782. *Shri Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that under the Supreme Command administration, Muslim officers who had opted for Pakistan, had been left free to carry on Anti-Indian and pro-Pakistan activities?

(b) Have all officers who opted for Pakistan in this branch been sent to Pakistan and if not, why not?

(c) Is it a fact that there have been cases of shortage of stores in some of the ordnance factories in India?

(d) Is it a fact that in some Ordnance Factories, finished rifles were rejected and sold as scrap and that in several cases they were smuggled into Pakistan and the State of Hyderabad?

(e) Have any enquiries been made into this matter and if so, with what results?

(f) What steps Government propose to take against fifth column activities in these factories and establishments?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) It is a fact that Muslim Officers who had opted for Pakistan were retained in the Supreme Commander's Organisation and no special restrictions of any kind were imposed on them. They continued, of course to be liable to the ordinary Government Servants Conduct Rules which require Government servants to desist from political activities generally.

(b) Yes.

(c) So far as the Government of India are aware, no shortages have been reported. By 'shortage' is understood the difference between the ground and book balances of stores in Ordnance Factories.

(d) No, so far as the Government of India are concerned.

(e) Does not arise.

(f) Security measures at all factories and establishments have been strengthened and vigorous measures are being and will be taken to check fifth column activities.

ANTI-INDIAN PROPAGANDA BY AMERICAN FILM PRODUCERS

783. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to two photographs published in the Amrit Bazar

(e) It has been agreed to appoint a Committee consisting of representatives of Governments of the United Kingdom and India and Pakistan to make a report on the contents of the old India Office and the method of their disposal.

GOVERNMENT ACQUISITION OF HOUSES AND BUILDINGS AT BOMBAY AND POONA.

774. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Government of India have taken on lease the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd floors of Hari Buildings, Old Custom House Road, Bombay; and Bungalow No. 2, Bund Garden Road, Poona;

(b) whether it is a fact that the flats referred to in part (a) above have been lying vacant since April or May last; and that the Bungalow referred to in part (a) above is only partially occupied by one or two officers and their relations;

(c) the number of other buildings and houses taken by Government on lease which are wholly or partially vacant; and

(d) the total amount of rent per mensem Government have been paying for the Bungalow in Poona, the answer is 'No.'

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) As regards the flats in Hari Buildings, Old Custom House Road, Bombay, the answer is 'Yes'. As for the Bungalow in Poona, the answer is 'No.'

(b) No, not to our knowledge, so far as the flats are concerned. The question regarding the Bungalow in Poona does not arise in view of the answer to part (a).

(c) I presume the question relates to Bombay and Poona only. If so, the answer is 'No'. There is, however, a time-lag before a vacated house or building is re-allotted to a new occupant.

(d) The approximate monthly rent paid by Government for buildings requisitioned or hired is as follows:

Bombay	...	...	...	...	...	Rs. 41,667.
Poona	...	...	...	...	...	Rs. 13,683.
Whole of India	...	...	...	...	...	Rs. 2.5 Lakhs.

ALLOTMENT OF VACANT MILITARY BARRACKS TO REFUGEES.

775. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that a large number of barracks constructed during the war for military purposes at Bombay, Poona and other places are lying vacant?

(b) Have Government considered the desirability of allotting vacant houses and barracks to refugees and returning buildings which are no longer required by Government to their owners and thus stop waste of public money?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) No, not to our knowledge. However, sometime necessarily elapses before a project declared surplus to military requirements is actually disposed of.

(b) Yes.

DIFFERENTIAL TREATMENT OF V.C.OS. FOR CIVILIAN POSTS vis-a-vis K.C.OS.

776. *Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that those officers of the Indian Army who were holding Viceroy's Commissions prior to their release from the Army on the termination of the war, and who possessed all necessary qualifications making them eligible for the civilian posts like those of Executive Officers of Cantonments, Civilian Gazetted Ordnance Officers, etc., are considered ineligible for these posts whereas K. C. Os. are not? If so, why?

(b) Do Government propose to consider the desirability of issuing necessary orders to remove these disabilities?

(c) Are Government aware that this disparity in treatment between K.C.Os. and V.C.Os. has caused a serious discontent among the latter in view of their future prospects being marred on account of this differential treatment?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) and (b). No, Sir, except in the case of the Cantonment Executive Officers' Service. The question of removing the bar in the case of this Service is under consideration.

(c) No.

APPOINTMENT OF V.C.OS. TO CIVILIAN GAZETTED POSTS.

777. *Shri S. Nagappa: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state what civilian gazetted appointments are open to the class of Viceroy's Commissioned Officers, belonging to services like the I.A.S.C., and I.A.O.C., who formed an integral part of the whole organisation of the Indian Army during the war?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Generally speaking, there is no bar to the appointment of *ex-V.C.*Os to civilian gazetted appointments provided of course they possess the requisite qualifications.

MARTIAL AND NON-MARTIAL RACES CADRES

778. *Shri Chandrika Ram: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether the distinction between the martial and non-martial races has been removed?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Yes.

ENROLMENT OF DEPRESSED CLASSES TO MILITARY CADRES

779. *Shri Chandrika Ram: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number of members of the Depressed Classes enrolled in the last War in the following grades (i) combatants, (ii) non-combatants, and (iii) technical?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (i) Combatants—96,800. (ii) Non-combatants—622,910.

Separate figures, by classes, for technical and non-technical personnel (both combatants and non-combatants) are not available.

ORDNANCE FACTORIES IN INDIAN DOMINION.

780. *Shri Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number and location of Ordnance Factories in different parts of the Indian Dominion?

(b) how many of these Ordnance Factories have been closed down since the termination of the war?

(c) how many of these Ordnance Factories have been in actual operation? What is their monthly output?

(d) how many of these Ordnance Factories are now being run with a view to produce machinery for civilian requirements?

(e) what types of machines and machine-tools are at present produced in such reorganised factories?

(f) is it a fact that these factories are not being utilised to their fullest capacity? If so, why?

(g) what steps, if any, have been taken by Government to utilise these for the development of indigenous arms industry; and

Patrika, Calcutta Edition, dated the 10th November 1947, showing how anti-Indian propaganda is being carried on by American Film producers in the United States of America?

(b) Are Government in a position to state the names of the Film Makers concerned?

(c) What are the names of their representatives operating in India and the facilities, if any; they received from Government in taking these films?

(d) What measures have Government taken to counteract such propaganda?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) No.

(c) In view of answer to clause (b) it does not arise.

(d) I would invite Honourable Member's attention to the reply I gave to the question Nos. 257 and 313 by Mr. R. K. Sidhwa and Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru respectively on the 25th November, 1947.

SEARCHES OF MUSLIM PASSENGERS

784. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to a press report published in the Statesman, dated the 17th November, 1947, under the Caption "Muslim passengers searched at Airport"?

(b) If so, how far is that report correct?

(c) What are the contents of the letter embodying instructions from a Muslim leader in Karachi?

(d) What action has been taken by Government in the matter?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) to (d). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the answer given on the 6th December 1947 to Shri L. K. Maitra's Question No. 645. I have since received the report which shows that the press version does not represent the facts.

PAKISTAN'S EXPORT DUTY ON JUTE

785. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the Government of Pakistan have decided to impose export duty on jute in contravention of the stand-still agreement?

(b) If so, what steps Government propose to take to secure compliance of the stand-still agreement?

(c) In case of refusal by the Government of Pakistan to comply with the terms of the stand-still agreement, do Government propose to consider the advisability of terminating other stand-still agreements?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a), (b) and (c). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the Press Communique issued by the Government of India on the 23rd November 1947 explaining their attitude in the matter.

REVISION OF DECISION re GOVERNMENT SERVANTS¹, OPTION FOR PAKISTAN

786. *Shri Khurshed Lal: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Government of India had ordered that Government servants who had finally opted for Pakistan would not be allowed to alter their decision and to remain in the Indian Union?

(b) Is it a fact that the Government of India have subsequently revised their decision by allowing Government servants who had once opted for Pakistan to revise their decision and remain in the Indian Union?

(c) If so, are Government aware that this change of decision by Government has caused discontent among the personnel of services? Have the Government of the United Provinces lodged any protest against it?

(d) What are the reasons which led Government to change their previous decision?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to the reply given to question No. 753.

(c) and (d). Does not arise.

INELIGIBILITY OF V.C.OS. TO CIVILIAN GAZETTED POSTS

787. *Kunwar Shamsher Jang: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether it is a fact that officers who held Viceroy's Commissions during the last war, prior to their release from the Army, and who possessed all academic and other qualifications required for direct recruitment to civilian Gazetted posts like those of Administrative Officers, Executive Officers of Cantonments, Officers of Central Services Class I, have been declared ineligible for these posts? If so, why?

(b) Are Government aware that there are a number of such officers who had to accept Viceroy's Commissions in the early years of the war as a very limited number of King's Commissions were then being offered to Indians?

(c) Are Government aware that these officers had served in the Army most loyally throughout the duration of the war, like the K.C.Os. in their own spheres of work and duties and that there is great discontent and resentment among them for this differential treatment between them and the K.C.Os. so far as eligibility for direct recruitment to these post-war appointments is concerned?

(d) Do Government propose to consider the desirability of removing this disparity to enable these officers to apply for the posts for which they are at present ineligible?

(e) What civilian Gazetted posts are open to these V.C.Os. specially to those who held appointments in the I.A.S.C., I.A.O.C., etc., who have spent 5 or 6 years of their life in the service of the country and majority of whom are still unemployed mainly due to restrictions such as those mentioned in part (a) above?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a), (c) and (d). I would refer the Honourable Member to my reply to Starred Question 776 asked by Shri S. Nagappa few minutes ago.

(b) During the last war practically all candidates who applied and were found suitable were granted Commissions as Indian Commissioned Officers.

(e) I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to my answer to Starred Question 777.

SUPPLEMENTARY EDUCATION GRANT FOR SCHEDULED CASTES

788. *Shri Upendra Nath Barman: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state the amount budgeted in the year 1947-48 for Supplementary Education Grant for scheduled caste students by the Government of India?

(b) What is the amount spent upto now province by province?

(c) What is the principle of allocation?

(d) Is any provincial quota fixed on population basis?

(e) Do Government propose to lay on the table of the House a statement showing the names of recipients?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) The amount budgeted for the year 1947-48 (i.e. from 15th August 1947 to 31st March, 1948) for Scheduled Caste Scholarships is rupees three lakhs and eighty thousand.

(b) A† statement giving the amount, province by province spent during the last three years (1944-45, 1945-46 and 1946-47) is laid on the table of the House.

(c) and (d). The primary consideration in the award of Scheduled Caste Scholarships is merit and as such no specific provincial quota has been fixed; however, as far as possible, attempts are made to see that the awards are fairly distributed among different provinces.

(e) A† statement showing the names of the recipients of this scholarship from 1944-45 to 1946-47 is laid on the table of the House.

NAVAL WORKS DEPARTMENT AT AVADI BASE, MADRAS

789. *Shrimati G. Durgabai: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the Naval Works Department situated at Avadi Base, Madras, is still under the control of the British Government?

(b) Since there are more than 600 Indians working there, do Government propose to investigate into their working conditions?

(c) When Government propose to take over this department under their control?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes.

(b) Working conditions are in accordance with local regulations.

(c) The Government of India will take over this establishment after the stores earmarked for H.M.G. have been removed.

U. P. MEASURE FOR PEACE

790. *Shri Khurshed Lal: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the news appearing at page 3 of the Delhi Edition of the Hindustan Times, dated the 27th November, 1947, under the caption "U.P. measures to keep peace"?

(b) Is it a fact that about 50,000 copies of a circular were smuggled into the United Provinces from Pakistan, inviting the Muslims in India to evacuate, and telling them "there is nothing for them to despair and that some day Muslims will rule India"?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what are the names of the signatories of the circular?

(d) Have Government taken any steps to find out the channel through which this circular was smuggled into the United Provinces from Pakistan?

(e) Have Government any information about this or some other similar circular having been circulated in other provinces?

(f) What steps Government propose to take to stop the smuggling of such literature from Pakistan into India?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) to (f). The Government of India have seen the press report referred to by the Honourable Member but have no information beyond what is stated therein. The Provincial Government have been asked to report on this matter and their report is awaited.

DEVELOPMENT OF CIVIL DEFENCE FORCE

791. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

†Not printed in these Debates. A copy placed in the Library of the House.—Ed. of D.

(a) whether there is any separate directorate in the Home Ministry for developing Civil Defence Forces in order to scotch any sudden disturbances as between communities, parties and interests; and

(b) if not, whether Government propose to consider the advisability in the light of recent experience, of establishing such a directorate and advising the Provincial Ministries also to develop their wings of Civil Defence Force?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). No.

TUBERCULOSIS BACILLUS HOSPITALS AND SANATORIA

792. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Health be pleased state:

(a) the names of Tuberculosis Bacillus Hospitals and Sanatoria with number of beds, in different provinces, and of authorities managing them;

(b) whether Government are aware that in view of the fact that cases of pulmonary tuberculosis are on the increase, it has become exceedingly difficult for the victims of the disease to find accommodation in the existing Tuberculosis Bacillus Hospitals and sanatoria;

(c) whether Government propose to consider the desirability of taking early steps for removing the difficulty referred to in part (b) above;

(d) whether Government are aware that for want of any special arrangement in trains for the travelling of Tuberculosis Bacillus patients bound for admission into hospitals or sanatoria and also for want of shelter during preliminary examinations prior to admission into hospitals, the patients are compelled to take recourse to surreptitious methods for serving their purpose, causing the spread of contagion of the fell disease among the public; and

(e) if the answer to part (d) above be in the affirmative, whether Government propose to consider the desirability of making suitable arrangements for segregation of such patients in the circumstances referred to in part (d) above and making provision for the removal of the difficulties?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: (a) A statement is placed on the Table of the House. As regards Bengal and Punjab, the information furnished relates to these provinces before division.

(b) Government are aware that accommodation available in Sanatoria and Hospitals for tuberculosis patients is sadly inadequate in relation to the incidence of the disease in the country.

(c) The Health Survey and Development Committee made comprehensive recommendations regarding the matter. The Provincial Governments are primarily responsible for implementing the recommendations.

(d) and (e). The existing restrictions on the carriage by railways of persons suffering from infectious diseases do not apply to persons suffering from tuberculosis. The question as to what arrangements are possible will be examined.

SUMMARY OF TUBERCULOSIS INSTITUTIONS IN INDIA, PAKISTAN AND INDIAN STATES.

INDIA AND PAKISTAN—
Tuberculosis Sanatoria	40	beds	3,288
Tuberculosis Hospitals and General Hospitals	142	beds	2,743
Total Number of Beds				6,031
STATES—
Sanatoria	12	beds	439
Hospitals	9	beds	298
Beds in General Hospital for tuberculosis patients			401
Total number of beds for tuberculosis patients				1,138

In addition there are 200 beds maintained by the Army and 744 all over India for the use of convicts.

Statement showing the names of Tuberculosis Sanatoriums and Hospitals with the number of beds available in different provinces.

Province	Sanatoria	Hospitals	General Hospitals	Number of beds	Managing Body (Central)
AJMER-MERWARA	The Madar Union Sanatorium, Madar. (Ajmer-Merwara)	...	...	52	Managed by a Board of Governors of the Sanatorium, mainly supported by the American Methodist Mission, in co-operation with the Scottish Presbyterians, United Church of Canada and American Presbyterian Missions.
		Victoria Hospital, Ajmer .	...	20
ASSAM	Reid Provincial Sanatorium, Shillong	...	Total Ajmer-Merwara	72	Government of Assam.
		Civil Hospital, Kohima .	...	56
		" " Makokchung .	...	6
		" " Dibrugarh .	...	6
		" " Shillong .	...	8
		F. T. Civil Hospital, Sadiya .	...	6
		Civil Hospital Haflong .	...	15
		" " Gauhati .	...	4
		" " Manipur .	...	8
		" " " .	...	16

BENGAL	Baikuntha Nath Roy Choudhury Phthisis Ward and Lewis Jubilee Sanatorium, Darjeeling. S. B. Dey Sanatorium Kurseong. Kancharapara Govt. Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Kancharapara.	Jail Hospital, Gauhati .	...	7	General Committee of the Lowois Jubilee Sanatorium, Darjeeling. Calcutta Medical Aid and Research Society. Bengal Government. Calcutta Medical Aid and Research Society. Tub. Hospital Committee under Darjeeling Municipality. National Infirmary Committee.
		District Jail Hospital, Sylhet .	...	22
		...	Total Assam	154
		...	...	8
		...	...	43
		...	...	200
		Jadabpur Tuberculosis Hospital, Jadabpur.	...	230
		Clark Tuberculosis Hospital, Darjeeling.	...	26
		National Infirmary, 189, Manicktola Main Road, Calcutta.	...	42
		Fraser Hospital, Burdwan .	...	8
		Sadar Hospital Suri .	...	2
		Sadar Hospital Bankura .	...	4
		K. E. M. Hospital Midnapore .	...	4
		Imambarah Hospital, Hooghly .	...	3
		...	General Hospital, Howrah	2
		Sadar Hospital, Nadia .	...	6
		Sadar Hospital, Beriamporeh .	...	4
		Sadar Hospital, Jessore .	...	2

Province	Sanatoria	Hospitals	General Hospitals	Number of beds	Managing Body (Central)
BENGAL		Woodburn Hospital, Khulna	...	2
		Mitford Hospital, Dacca	...	8
		S. K. Hospital, Mymensingh	...	4
		Sadar Hospital, Noakhali	...	2
	...	...	General Hospital, Chittagong	3
		Sadar Hospital, Tipperah	...	2
		Sadar Hospital, Dinajpore	...	6
		Sadar Hospital, Jalpaiguri	...	6
		Sadar Hospital, Rangpur	...	6
		Sadar Hospital, Pabna	...	4
		Charteries Hospital, Kalimpong	...	18
		Kurseong Hospital, Kurseong	...	24
		Victoria Hospital, Darjeeling	...	3
		Medical College Hospital, Calcutta	...	24
		Campbell Medical School & Hospital, Calcutta	...	28	Under Bengal Government.
		Carmichael Medical College & Hospital, Belgachia	...	22

BIHAR	Itki Sanatorium, Itki P. O., Dist. Ranchi.	Jail Hospital, Comilla, Dist. Tipperah	...	20	Under Bengal Government.
		Jail Hospital, Suri, Dist. Bhubhum	...	30
		Total Bengal		796
		...	...	194	Government of Bihar.
		Medical College, Hospital, Patna	...	18
		Infectious Diseases Hospital Gaya	...	12
		Sadar Hospital, Chapra, Dist. Saran	...	10
		K. E. H. Hospital, Bettiah, st. Champaran	...	9
		Sadar Hospital, Purnea	...	9
		St. Columbus Zenana Hospital, Dist. Hazaribagh	...	6
		Sadar Hospital, Purulia, Dist. Manbhum	...	2	Under Bihar Government.
		Central Jail Hospital, Bhagalpur	...	20
BOMBAY	Turner Sanatorium, Bhoiwade Hill, Parel, Bombay Romes Prem Chand T. B. Hospital, Bombay.	Central Jail Hospital, Buxsar	...	12
		Central Jail Hospital, Gaya	...	6
		Total Bihar		298
		...		80	The Municipal Corporation, Bombay.
				100	do

Province	Sanatoria	Hospital	General Hospitals	Number of beds	Managing Body (Central)
BOMBAY	Dr. Bahadurji Memorial Sanatorium, Devlali.	...	...	17	Trustees of Dr. Bahadurji Memorial Sanatorium.
	Hindu Sanatorium for Tuberculosis, Karla, District Poona.	...	...	34	Managing Committee of the Sanatorium.
	The Bel-Air Sanatorium, Dalketih, Panchgani.	...	...	160	Managing Committee and a Body of Trustees.
	Hillside Sanatorium Vengurta.	...	...	50	Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.
	Wanless Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Wanlesswadi, (District Satara).	...	...	214	Board of the Governors of the Sanatorium.
	The Maharashtra Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Panchwati, Nasik.	...	...	16	Poona Ananth Vidyarthi Griha Society.
	The Karnatak Health Institute, General Hospital and Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Hukeri Road, R. S. (District Belgaum).	...	...	28	The Karnatak Health Institute.
		Maratha Tuberculosis Hospital, Connaght Road, Bombay.	...	80	Bombay Municipality.
		The Salvation Army Tuberculosis Hospital, Anand (Dist. Kaira.)	...	39	The Salvation Army Emery Hospital.
		The Parin Banoo Anti-Tuberculosis Hospital, Ashwanikumar Road, P. O. Katargaum (Dist. Surat).	...	27	Managing Committee.

...	Talegaon General Hospital and Convalescent Home, Talegaon (Dabhade), District Poona.	...	36	Managing Committee of the Talegaon General Hospital and Convalescent Home.
	S. W. Wadia Charitable Hospital, Sholapur.	...	55	Medical Relief Association, Sholapur.
	J. J. Group of Hospitals, Bombay. St. George Hospital, Bombay Civil Hospital, Nasik.	...	20 12 5
	Civil Hospital, Alibag.	...	6
	G. T. Hospital, Bombay.	...	26
	Civil Hospital, Belgaum.	...	8
	Civil Hospital, Bijapur	...	4
	Civil Hospital, Sholapur	...	9
	Sassoon Hospital, Poona	...	20
	Roberts Hospitals, Borsad, Dist. Kaira.	...	12	Under Bombay Government
	Irish Presbyterian Mission Hospital, Anand.	...	20
	Evangeline Booth Hospital, Ahmednagar.	...	12
	Yervada Central Prison Hospital, Yervada.	...	6
	Central Prison Hospital, Ahmedabad.	...	8
	Central Prison Hospital, Nasik Road.	...	34
	Total Bombay		1138

Province	Sanatoria	Hospital	General Hospital	Number of beds	Managing body (Central)
C. P. AND BERAR.	Pendra Road-Sanatorium, Pendra Road.	...	...	150	Governing Body of the Pendra Road Sanatorium.
	...	Mayo Hospital, Nagpur.	...	14	Under C. P. & Berar Government.
	...	Victoria Hospital, Jubbulpore.	...	6
	...	Main Hospital, Wardha.	...	10
	...	District Jail Hospital, Chhind- wara.	...	22
	...	Silver Jubilee Tuberculosis Hos- pital, Kingsway, Delhi.	Total C.P. & Berar	202	Delhi Municipality.
	...	...	Total Delhi	94
	...	...	...	94
MADRAS	Union Mission Tuberculo- sis Sanatorium, Arogya- varam.	...	...	254	Composed of representatives of 15 Missions & Churches together with the elected officers and cer- tain life members.
	Visantipuram Sanatorium Rajamundry.	...	...	95	Board of Governors which is res- ponsible to the Andhra Lutheran Church of which body the Sana- torium is an institution.
	Government Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Tambaram, P. O. Chromepet, Madras.	...	...	77	Madras Government.
	Coimbatore District Ju- bilee Tuberculosis Sana- torium, Perundurai.	...	...	112	The Coimbatore District Tub. Sanatorium Society.

...	Mount Rosary Tuberculo- sis Sanatorium P.O. Mood- bidri, South Kanara.		...	28	The Very Rev. F. E. D'Souza Parish Priest, Moodbidri.
...	Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Trichinopoly.		...	150	Trichinopoly Tuberculosis Relief Society.
...	...	Government Tuberculosis Hospi- tal, Royapettah, Madras City.	...	62	Government of Madras.
...	...	Tiruvoteeswaran Tuberculosis Hospital, Koonoor Road, Peram- bur.	...	150	Corporation of Madras.
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Coimbatore.	...	20	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Mangalore.	...	12	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Calicut.	...	26	...
...	...	King George Hospital, Vizaga- patam.	...	42	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Guntur.	...	20	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Masulipatam.	...	14	...
...	...	Rajah Mirasdar Government Headquarters Hospital, Tanjore.	...	12	...
...	...	Government Pentand Hospital, Vellore.	...	10	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Nellore.	...	6	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Trichinopoly.	...	4	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Palamcottah.	...	8	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Madura.	...	32	...
...	...	Government Headquarters Hos- pital, Bellary	...	8	...

Province	Sanatoria	Hospitals	General Hospitals	No. of beds	Managing Body (Central)
MADRAS	...	The Wellesley Sanatorium Jail, Bellary.	...	160	Under Madras Government.
...	...	Pierce Memorial Mission Hospital, Madure.	...	20
...	...	Railway Hospital, Perambur	...	4
ORISSA	...	...	Total Madras	1,338
...	...	...	General Hospital, Cuttack.	6
...	...	Sadar Hospital, Ballasore	...	1	Under Orissa Government.
...	...	Moorshed Memorial Hospital, G. Udayagiri.	...	6
PUNJAB	King Edward Sanatorium, Dharampore, R. S. (Simla Hills).	...	Total Orissa	13	Consumptives' Homes Society, Bombay.
...	Lady Irwin Tuberculosis Sanatorium, P. O. Jubar, (via Sanawar, Simla Hills).	...	...	105	Governing Body of the Sanatorium-Punjab Union Missions.
...	...	...	...	100

...	Rajah Durga Singh Sanatorium, Baghat State (Solan), Mando Hills, P. O. Dharampore R. S. (Simla Hills).	...	...	18	Rajah Durga Singh Sahib Bahadur.
...	Lady Linlithgow Sanatorium, Kasauli (Simla Hills).	...	...	210	Managing Committee appointed by the Tuberculosis Association of India.
...	Jubilee Red Cross (Mohd. Hussain) Sanatorium, Samli (Distt. Rawalpindi).	...	...	88	Local Red Cross Society.
...	Krishan Bhagwan Sanatorium, Multan.	...	...	24	Krishan Bhagwan Sanatorium Society.
...	Mc Gwire Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Dharamsala, Kangra Distt.	...	...	7	Municipal Committee.
...	Rai Bahadur Sir Gujarmal Kesardevi Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Amritsar.	...	...	36	Governing Body of the Sanatorium with Deputy Commissioner as Chairman.
...	Garden Sanatorium, the Memorial Mission Hospital, Ludhiana.	...	...	25	Governing Body of the Women's Christian Medical College, Ludhiana.
...	...	Sh. Gulab Devi Tuberculosis Hospital, Near Model Town, Lahore.	...	61	Sh. Gulab Devi Memorial Hospital Trust.
...	...	Rai Bahadur Amar Nath Tuberculosis Institute, Mayo Hospital, Lahore.	...	74	Medical Supdt. Mayo Hospital is the Chief Executive Authority.

RECRUITMENT OF INCOME-TAX OFFICERS.

793. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether examinations and interviews for the direct recruitment of Income Tax Officers, were held at Calcutta and Delhi on the 30th and 31st of January 1947?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative (i) how many of the selected candidates were subsequently taken in services in the different provinces of the Indian Union; (ii) how many of them are on the waiting list (province-wise); and (iii) when are they likely to be appointed?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) Yes, on the dates mentioned and on other days as well, in January and February, 1947.

(b) (i) I lay a statement on the Table.

(ii) and (iii). There is no waiting list as hereafter direct recruitment to the posts of Income-tax Officers will be made exclusively by the Federal Public Service Commission.

Statement

Province in which appointments were made	No. of approved candidates appointed (as Income-Tax Officers Class II Grade III)
Bombay	59
Madras	31
East Punjab	21
United Provinces and Ajmer-Merwara	4
Bihar and Orissa	3
Central Provinces and Berar	1
Assam	1
West Bengal	10
Unallocated (Sind and Baluchistan)	8*
	138

(1) The figures given above are exclusive of officers who have since elected for service in Pakistan and have been transferred to that Dominion.

* (2) The number (8) shown as unallocated represents officers transferred from the Pakistan area to the Indian Union in accordance with their options and not yet allocated to different provinces pending completion of the training.

(3) To make up for the deficiency of Scheduled caste candidates in certain provinces, mainly Bombay and Madras, seven appointments are proposed to be offered shortly to selected members of this community from other provinces, from amongst those who appeared for interview but did not secure a rank high enough for appointment in their own province, as follows.

(a) West Bengal	5
(b) Assam	1
(c) United Provinces and Ajmer-Merwara	1
Total	7

REVISION OF PAY SCALE OF CENTRAL EXCISE DEPARTMENT.

794. *Shri Upendra Nath Barman: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state whether Government have received a memorandum, dated 9th September 1947, from the Secretary, Central Excise (N.G.) Employees Union, Calcutta, protesting against the recently revised scales of pay of Deputy Superintendents and Inspectors, class I and class II?

(b) Are Government considering the matter set forth in that memorandum? If not, why not?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, when Government expect to come to a decision?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) Yes. The matter is under active consideration.

(c) Government hope to reach a decision within the next few days.

VANDALISM OF KONARAK TEMPLE IN ORISSA.

795. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to an article under the caption 'India's Art Treasures' in the Common Man of Madras (Volume 1, No. 1)?

(b) If so, is there any truth in the following sentences quoted from it, namely,—

"As a climax to this vandalism is a report that a well-known industrialist has been in communication with a widely respected Bengal artist with a view to buying up from the nation the Konarak Temple near Puri in Orissa. The industrialist is reported to be seeking information as to whether he could destroy the existing sculpture and idols which are not to his taste and substitute a fresh lot of his design. According to Indian art critics Konarak . . . contains some of the finest sculpture known to this country."

(c) Do Government propose to see that such a thing does not happen?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: (a) Yes.

(b) Government has no other information than is contained in this publication.

(c) Should such a contingency arise, Government will take all possible steps to prevent it.

A. I. R. RELAYS OF B. B. C. BROADCASTS.

796. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state:

(a) the terms of the agreement under which A.I.R. relays B.B.C. Broadcasts;

(b) the special privileges allowed to the B.B.C. correspondents that are denied to Indian correspondents and the representatives of foreign Broadcasting Stations; and

(c) whether in view of the anti-Indian nature of the B.B.C. Broadcasts, Government propose to consider the question of terminating the A.I.R. relay of the B.B.C. Broadcasts forthwith?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) There is no specific agreement on this matter.

(b) None.

(c) No.

Province	Sanatoria	Hospitals	General Hospitals	No. of beds	Managing Body (Central)
Punjab	...	King George V. Memorial Tuberculosis Hospital, Rawalpindi.	...	30	Municipal Committee.
...	...	Ripon Hospital, Simla	...	5
...	...	Victoria Jubilee Hospital, Amritsar.	...	52
...	...	Borstal Institution and Juvenile Jail Hospital, Lahore.	...	16
...	...	New Central Jail Hospital, Multan.	...	144	Under Punjab Government.
...	...	Central Jail Hospital, Montgomery.	...	10
...	...	District Jail Hospital, Ambala	...	4
			Total Punjab	1,009
UNITED PROVINCES	Karelabag Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Allahabad.	...	...	24	Anti-Tuberculosis League, Allahabad.
...	The Sanatorium, Almora (U. P.)	...	...	36	Board of Management of the Almora Sanatorium Society.
...	King Edward VII Sanatorium, Bhowali.	...	...	178	King Edward VII Sanatorium Committee.

...	...	...	...	12	Managed by a Local Committee with the Commissioner of Benares as President.
...	Hillcrest Sanatorium, P. O. Gethia (Dist. Naimital).	...	...	42	Cap. R. K. Kacker to whom the Institution belongs.
...	...	Civil Hospital, Mainpuri	...	3
...	...	Civil Hospital, Sitapur	...	4
...	...	Civil Hospital, Jhansi	...	3
...	...	Civil Hospital, Muzafarnagar	...	8
...	...	Sadar Hospital, Basti	...	6
...	...	Marris Hospital, Budaun	...	4
...	...	Civil Hospital, Saharanpur	...	8
...	...	Civil Hospital, Bareilly	...	6
...	...	Sadar Hospital, Aligarh	...	12
...	...	Jail Hospital, Sultanpur	...	158
			Total U. P.	504
					Under U. P. Government.

STEPS TO DETECT INCOME-TAX EVASIONS.

797. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Finance be pleased to state:

- (a) what steps are taken to detect income-tax evasions;
- (b) the number of prosecutions launched against income-tax evaders in the years 1946-47 and 1947-48;
- (c) whether any special machinery is proposed to be set up, if so, the estimated cost to be incurred for its upkeep; and
- (d) how Government propose to tackle income-tax evasion by Firms operating in India with Head Offices in the Indian States?

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty: (a) It is not in public interests to give information on this point but Government are continuously striving to use all means available to them to detect evasions of Income-Tax.

(b) The number of prosecutions launched is small but exact information is not readily available. Government prefer in such cases to resort to the levy of penalties under the relevant powers given to them.

(c) This aspect of the question will, Government believe, receive due consideration by the Investigation Commission which is being set up. Government will take a final decision on receipt of their recommendations. This however does not imply that Government have no machinery now for such purposes.

(d) The matter is engaging the attention of Government. But if there is an impression that the income of the firms operating in India with head offices in the Indian States is not taxed, I would like to correct it. Such income is liable to tax under the Indian Income-tax law and is assessed either direct or through a statutory agent.

SELECTION FOR RECRUITMENT TO ARMY.

798. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

- (a) what steps are being taken to attract the right type of men to the Army;
- (b) whether Government propose to consider the question of associating non-officials with Army selection Boards;
- (c) whether applicants for recruitment are still classified under the categories of martial and non-martial races; and
- (d) the purpose of retaining the "Viceroy's Commission" as a designation?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The following steps are being taken to attract the right type of men to the Army: (i) Personal contact by the recruiting and selection staff with Universities; Colleges and other Educational Institutions, influential men of different communities and civil authorities. (ii) Issue of detailed terms and conditions of service to all official and non-official bodies willing to assist in recruitment. (iii) Advertisements at suitable intervals in the leading Dailies, especially in the case of recruitment of officers and of classes and categories difficult to recruit. (iv) By displaying wall posters at suitable public places.

(b) Government do not consider that this is necessary to achieve the best results. Selection for the Army is done by officers trained in the technique of selection.

(c) No, Sir

(d) The question of changing the designation of "Viceroy's Commission" is under the consideration of Government and an early decision is expected.

REQUISITIONING OF LANDS BY DISTRICT MAGISTRATE, AGRA.

799. *Shri Jaspal Roy Kapoor: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the District Magistrate of Agra, served a notice under section 75A of the Defence of India Rules, in 1942 requisitioning certain lands in Agra Tehsil, which were needed for an aerodrome, and took over the said lands permanently in September or October, 1945, and undertook to pay compensation to the zamindars and tenants concerned;

(b) if the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, whether any compensation has been paid so far for the permanent taking over of the said lands and if not, why not;

(c) if the compensation has not been paid, whether Government propose to expedite payment of the same; and

(d) if the said lands are no more required, do Government propose to return them to the original zamindars and tenants, paying them the rent due?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes.

(b) No compensation has yet been paid owing to a difference of opinion as to the proper estimate of the value of the land.

(c) Steps will be taken to expedite payment of compensation.

(d) The land, or any part of it, cannot be de-requisitioned until the overall requirements of the Defence Forces have been reviewed. Rent will, of course, be paid for the period of occupation of the land by the Air Forces.

MILITARY TRAINING FOR STUDENTS IN HYDERABAD STATE.

800. *Shri Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the fact that the Majlis-e-Ittehad-ul-Mussalmeen in the Hyderabad State has recently called upon the Muslim students to give up their studies and to enroll themselves as a State Militia for military training?

(b) If so, have the Nizam's Government any right to do so to augment its military force in this way under the terms of the Agreement?

(c) What steps, if any, Government have taken or propose to take to see that the military force is not increased by the Nizam's Government during the period of the Standstill Agreement?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) It would be unfair to assume that Hyderabad Government is synonymous with the Majlis-e-Ittehad-ul-Mussalmeen.

(c) There is no reason to suppose that the Hyderabad Government will not honour the agreement.

UTILIZATION OF ORDNANCE FACTORIES FOR INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION.

801. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari:

*Shri K. Santhanam:

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government have considered the possibilities of utilising the Ordnance Factories for augmenting and supplementing industrial production including specialised steel as well as machine tools?

(b) Have Government worked out any such scheme in consultation with the Ministry of Defence?

(c) What are the number of Ordnance Factories which have been closed down and the number of Factories existing at present in India and Pakistan?

(d) Are any Ordnance Factories established in India being shifted and transferred to Pakistan and if so, for what reasons?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes. The spare capacity of these factories is being used for the manufacture of a variety of articles against civil orders.

(b) The ordnance factories were under the control of the Supreme Commander until the 1st of December. The Government of India have become responsible only since that date. The Honourable Member will appreciate that there has not been time enough to work out new schemes.

(c) There are at present 16 ordnance factories in India and none in Pakistan. The total number of factories which have been closed down since the termination of the war is 13.

(d) No

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR INDIANS IN COMMONWEALTH COUNTRIES.

802. *Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Education be pleased to state whether Government propose to consider the advisability of awarding scholarships and fellowships to Indians who are in the Commonwealth countries, for purposes of study and lecture in Indian universities?

The Honourable Maulana Abul Kalam Azad: The question of awarding Scholarships to students of Indian origin domiciled in Commonwealth countries for study in Indian Universities is already under the consideration of Government.

No scheme is at present contemplated for awarding fellowships to Indians domiciled in Commonwealth countries for lecture in Indian universities. Government will, however, give due consideration to this aspect of the question also.

STATUS OF PAKISTAN CITIZENS IN INDIA AND vice versa

803. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether the citizens of Pakistan are considered as aliens in the Indian Union and vice versa?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to fix a date by which the citizenship of Pakistan and Indian Union may be interchangeable?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) No.

(b) Does not arise.

LACK OF PUBLICITY BY GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN U. S. A.

803A. *Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Information and Broadcasting be pleased to state whether the attention of the Government of India has been drawn to an article by Mr. A. D. Mani, published in the Free Press Journal of Bombay, dated the 29th November, 1947, under the caption, "India lacks publicity in U.S."?

(b) Are Government aware of the opinion expressed therein, "that India has been steadily losing in the United States on the count of publicity"?

(c) Do Government propose to augment their staff in the American Embassy on the lines suggested in the article?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). Yes, Sir.

(c) The question of re-organising the Indian Information Services, Washington is engaging the attention of Government.

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

ACCESSION OF HYDERABAD STATE TO INDIAN DOMINION.

7. Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that H.E.H. the Nizam of Hyderabad, has not yet acceded to the Indian Dominion;

(b) whether Government are aware that the property and person of the majority community in that State are not safe and persons belonging to that community are leaving Hyderabad State, due to want of security;

(c) if so, what steps are being taken by the Government of India to improve this state of affairs;

(d) whether it is a fact that many residents of the Indian Dominion hold property and carry on business in Hyderabad State;

(e) whether Government are aware that due to the present disturbed conditions in the said State, they are unable to go there and that there is a likelihood of their properties being taken possession of by the unruly elements in that State and their dues becoming time-barred; and

(f) what steps are the Government of India taking to safeguard the interests of their citizens there?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b), (c), (d), (e) and (f). I would invite the Honourable Member's attention to the replies I gave to the supplementary questions on Dr. P. S. Deshmukh's question on the subject No. 649 on 6th December 1947.

EXODUS OF MUSLIMS TO HYDERABAD STATE.

8. Seth Govinddas: Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that there was an exodus of Muslims from the Central Provinces and Berar to Hyderabad State;

(b) whether Government are aware that these Muslims are now coming back and most of them have left their families behind in that State; and

(c) if so, whether, as a security and precautionary measure, Government propose to search such Muslims on their entering the borders of the Indian Dominion and to keep a proper watch over them after their return?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) I am satisfied that the Provincial Government are alive to, and competent to deal with, the problem stated by the Honourable Member. I should also like to add that in view of the agreement reached with the Hyderabad State, the question has now become out of date.

INSTRUMENT OF ACCESSION SIGNED BY THE STATES.

9. Shri Jai Sukh Lal Hathi: Will the Honourable Minister of States be pleased to lay on the table of the House:

(a) a copy of the third form of Instrument of Accession signed by the States other than those mentioned in part A and B of the Schedule attached to the Instruments of Accession in form I and II, and already placed on the table of the House by the Honourable the Minister of States; and

(b) a copy of the list of such States?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) and (b). A copy of the third form of Instrument of Accession desired by the Honourable Member is placed on the table of the House. All the estates and talukas in Western India and Gujarat States which were formerly attached to Baroda, Bhavnagar, Chhota-Udepur Dhrangadhra, Gondal, Idar, Junagadh, Limbdi, Morvi, Nawanagar, Radhanpur, Wadhwan, Porbander and Rajkot have signed this Instrument.

Instrument of Accession

WHEREAS His Majesty's representative in the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relations with Indian States has exercised certain powers and jurisdiction in relation to taluka/estate.

AND WHEREAS certain of these powers and jurisdiction were transferred to the State to which the said taluka/estate was attached.

AND WHEREAS such attachment has ceased by reason of the passing of the Indian Independence Act.

AND WHEREAS I

talukadar/chief of the said taluka/estate am desirous that the Dominion of India should exercise in relation to said taluka/estate, all the powers and jurisdiction which were exercisable, whether before, during or after such an attachment, by His Majesty's representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relations with the Indian States.

NOW THEREFORE I talukadar/chief of the said taluka/estate do hereby authorise the Dominion of India to exercise all the said powers and jurisdiction in relation to the said taluka/estate in such manner and through such agency or agencies as that Dominion may from time to time determine.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER

INTERVENTION BY GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN NILGIRI STATES.

Shri Yudisthir Misra: Will the Honourable Minister in charge of States be pleased to state the circumstances which led the Government of India to intervene in Nilgiri States?

Mr. Speaker: The reply will be in the nature of a statement and no supplementaries would be permitted.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: On the 28th October 1947 we received information from the Orissa Government that the situation in the neighbouring States in general was tense and that in Nilgiri in particular there was a general state of lawlessness resulting in systematic looting of property, riots and clashes between various sections of the people. The trouble soon spread in the neighbouring District of Balasore. The position assumed such dimensions that the only property which was secure in the State was the palace of the Ruler and its immediate precincts which were heavily guarded by armed guards whom the Ruler had recruited from the Eastern States Joint Police Force. The State Police was completely ineffective, incapable and even unwilling to suppress these disturbances. Telegraphic and postal services had also ceased to function. On 31st October the District Magistrate of Balasore contacted the Ruler who pleaded that the situation had gone beyond his control. Some negotiations were in progress between the Ruler and the Praja Mandal and in order not to disturb them the Government of Orissa held their hands in the hope that the affairs would be settled satisfactorily, but the situation suddenly took a turn for the worse on the 12th November when a serious clash occurred in which fire-arms were used and a number of persons died. On the same day elsewhere villages were looted and a number of houses burnt down. It was clearly impossible to wait any longer and in order to save the State and the neighbouring areas in Orissa Province from anarchy and chaos it was decided that law and order should be restored in the State. The Government of India, therefore, requested the Orissa Government to ask the District Magistrate of Balasore to proceed to Nilgiri and restore law and order and take over the administration. On the 14th of November, therefore, the District Magistrate, Balasore, with the consent of the Ruler, took over the administration of the State peacefully.

STATEMENT re EMPLOYMENT OF GURKHA TROOPS UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA AND HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Speaker: I have received notice of an Adjournment Motion, but I do not find the Honourable Member in his seat. I need not therefore take it up.

The Honourable the Prime Minister to make a statement on future employment of Gurkha troops.

STATEMENT RE EMPLOYMENT OF GURKHA TROOPS UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA AND HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru (Leader of the House): I should like to inform the House that the discussions recently held at Kathmandu between representatives of the Government of India, the Government of Nepal and His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, on the subject of the future employment of Gurkha troops under the Government of India and His Majesty's Government, have been satisfactorily concluded and a tripartite memorandum of agreement was signed on the 9th of November.

2. The documents signed by the heads of the three delegations include a number of detailed points on which further negotiations will be required to effect a final settlement, but the main principles have been agreed upon. The texts of the documents will not be published until these details have been settled. The main points on which the three Governments have agreed are as follows:

(i) Arrangements have been made for the continued employment of Gurkha officers and men in the Indian Army. The Government of Nepal have also agreed that His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom may employ Gurkha officers and soldiers up to the number required to maintain eight battalions or their equivalent at peace time strength, on mutually satisfactory terms and conditions of service.

(ii) It has been agreed to transfer to service with the British Army all volunteers from the regular battalions of the 2nd, 6th, 7th and 10th Gurkha Rifles together with personnel from their regimental centres who opt for such service in the referendum about to be held. The Gurkha units not transferred to His Majesty's Government, as well as the Gurkha personnel of the units transferred but who do not opt for service with His Majesty's Government will remain in the Indian Army.

(iii) Representatives of the Government of Nepal and of the Government of India will be present with the eight units earmarked for H.M.G. while the referendum referred to above is being taken.

(iv) The Government of Nepal have agreed that Indian officers will in future serve in Gurkha units. Nepalese subjects with suitable qualifications will be eligible for Commissions in the Indian Army.

3. The Government of India have agreed that Gurkha soldiers from regiments in the Indian Army, who have completed their engagements and do not wish to continue in the Indian Army, may join the units earmarked for His Majesty's Government in order to make good any deficiency that may occur in those units by Gurkha soldiers declining to serve under His Majesty's Government.

4. It has been agreed that the Government of Nepal and His Majesty's Government will consult together on the question of recruiting Gurkha troops in excess of eight battalions, but that such additional recruitment will not in any way interfere with recruitment to the Gurkha units in the Indian Army.

[Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru]

5. In connection with the employment of Gurkhas by His Majesty's Government the Government of India have agreed to grant to His Majesty's Government certain necessary facilities such as the use, as a temporary measure, of the existing recruiting depots at Gorakhpur and Ghum and the provision on mutually satisfactory terms of transit facilities, postal and telegraphic facilities, special foodstuffs, Indian currency and remittance facilities.

6. The Government of the United Kingdom have agreed to use the corresponding Indian pay codes and rates of pay as the basis of the scale to be applied to Gurkha officers and soldiers and to give an appropriate additional allowance during service abroad.

7. The arrangements which I have described fully meet the requirements of the Government of India. The willingness of the Government of Nepal to allow us to retain in service in the Indian Army the full strength of Gurkha units which we desired is another indication of the close relationship that exists between Nepal and India. The negotiations proceeded in an atmosphere of cordiality and goodwill and I should like to express our appreciation of the co-operative spirit of the Government of Nepal and of His Majesty's Government in the course of these discussions, and our special gratitude to His Highness the Maharaja of Nepal.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru (U. P. General): May I enquire, Sir.....

Mr. Speaker: It has been the practice here that whenever any statements are made, no further questions are allowed.

ELECTION TO STANDING COMMITTEE FOR MINISTRY OF INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): Sir, I beg to move:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct one member to serve on the Standing Committee to advise on the subjects with which the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting is concerned, until the end of the next financial year vice Shri Feroze Gandhi resigned."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct one member to serve on the Standing Committee to advise on the subjects with which the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting is concerned, until the end of the next financial year vice Shri Feroze Gandhi resigned."

The motion was adopted.

ELECTION TO STANDING COMMITTEE FOR MINISTRY OF COMMERCE

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and States): Sir, I beg to move:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct one member to serve on the Standing Committee to advise on the subjects with which the Ministry of Commerce is concerned, until the end of the next financial year vice Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar resigned."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct one member to serve on the Standing Committee to advise on the subjects with which the Ministry of Commerce is concerned, until the end of the next financial year vice Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar resigned."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Honourable Members that for the purpose of election of one member to each of two Standing Committees for the Ministries of Information and Broadcasting and Commerce, the Notice Office will remain open upto 3 p.m. today and that the election, if necessary, will be held on Thursday the 11th December, 1947. The elections by means of the single transferable vote will be held in the Assistant Secretary's room (No. 21) in the Council House, between the hours 10-30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

MOTION RE FOOD POLICY OF THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad (Minister for Food and Agriculture): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Food policy of the Government of India be taken into consideration."

The food policy, Sir, is the result of certain war-time emergency measures which had to be taken during the course of the war. It will be recalled that before the last war commenced India used to import something like 15 lakh tons of rice, mostly from Burma. The effect of the war was not felt during the first two years so far as food was concerned, but when Japan entered the war and Burma was overrun this import of rice from Burma ceased and difficulty began to be experienced throughout the country on account of the cessation of this import. The Government towards the end of 1941 took note of the situation and ordered control of the price of wheat in the month of December, 1941. But very soon the emphasis shifted from wheat to rice and the Provinces particularly in the South which were deficit in the supply of rice found it increasingly difficult to meet their requirements. It became necessary, therefore, to take steps to meet the situation which was becoming more and more acute. Ad hoc action was taken from time to time by Provincial Governments or by the Government of India and movement of grain from one Province to another was restricted. Sometimes even movement within a Province was restricted. The Government appointed a Food Grain Policy Committee which made certain recommendations. The principal recommendations of that Committee were: maintenance of pre-determined price level, movement of supplies in accordance with the basic plan and lastly the building up of a reserve. The Famine Enquiry Commission which was appointed after the Bengal Famine endorsed these recommendations of the Food Grain Policy Committee and the present policy which has been in vogue up till now is based principally on the recommendations of these two Bodies. As a natural corollary to these recommendations Government had to restrict movements, to control movements, to control prices, and had gradually also to adopt action for the purpose of distribution, that is to say, something in the nature of rationing. Rationing was introduced first in the bigger cities with a population of a lakh or more; gradually it was extended to smaller cities with a population of 50,000; and ultimately it had to be extended even to rural areas. The areas in the South like the States of Travancore and Cochin which are heavily in deficit had to resort to rural rationing almost from the beginning. Rationing gradually expanded. It was hoped that with the end of the war many of the restrictions which had been necessitated by it would disappear. But unfortunately a situation developed, largely on account of the failure of monsoon and other natural causes, which not only made it impossible for rationing to be abolished but actually expanded it. And the biggest increase in the rationing area has really taken place after the end of the war in 1946 and 1947. I may just mention that in 1944 when rationing was introduced, there were only 26 million people under rationing; in 1945 the number rose to 52 million, in 1946 it rose to 100 million, and in 1947 before the partition it came to as much as 171 million. Now in India it is something like 148 million.

[Dr. Rajendra Prasad]

The rationing at its start was with a basic ration of one pound per adult, half a pound for children and half a pound extra for heavy manual labourers. It has not been possible to maintain this rate, and in 1946 the over-all ration had to be cut down to 12 ounces for adults, six ounces for children, and an extra four ounces for heavy manual labourers. But it has not been possible to maintain even this, and in 1947 in many places it has had to be reduced to as low as eight ounces or even less. In Travancore the over-all scale was reduced to 9.2 ounces from August, 1946; in December, 1946 it was increased to 10.6 ounces; in January to 10.7 ounces, in May to 10.9 ounces, and in July last it had to be reduced to 8 ounces and in August to as low as 6 ounces. From October it has again been raised to 8 ounces at which level it remains today. In Cochin the scale of ration never came up to one pound except for a short while in February 1945. Since then it remained at 12 ounces till July 1947, when it had to be reduced to 8 ounces and then to 6 ounces for some time. In August it came to 8 ounces and remained there. In Mysore the over-all ration was reduced to 10 ounces in July 1947 and to 8 ounces in October at which level it remains. In Madras the over-all size of 12 ounces had to be reduced to 10 ounces in and to 8 ounces in July 1947; but it was again raised to 12 ounces from August 1947 except in the case of rice eaters for whom it is 10 ounces now. In other areas also there were reductions in the over-all scale from 12 ounces to 10 ounces, as for example in West Bengal, in East Punjab, in Delhi and Ajmer.

We thus see that it has not been possible to maintain rationing even at the low rate of 12 ounces per adult; but there have been other difficulties too which have been experienced. The problem of rationing has created other problems; it has brought in its wake corruption among the staff, unauthorised agents and prevalence of black marketing and of ghost ration cards. For this purpose a special enforcement staff has been appointed in all areas; instructions have been issued to give exemplary punishments to offenders; in many areas mobile inspection squads have been appointed to make surprise visits; and a drive to unearth ghost cards, particularly in Delhi and in Bombay, has had good results. A system of checking retail shops by surprise visits has been introduced. Apart from this austerity measures have had to be resorted to. But in spite of all this it has not been possible to maintain rationing at the low figure of even 12 ounces, and difficulties have mounted from day to day. There are only two ways in which Government could secure the supplies that were required for meeting their commitments: Government could get them from internal sources and they could get them from imports. The difficulties in procurement from internal sources have also mounted; it is becoming administratively more and more difficult for the provinces to enforce procurement. Various systems have been adopted in the different provinces; some have adopted a system of levy, some have adopted monopoly purchase, while some have adopted a combined system of levy and monopoly purchase. But the difficulties have not been solved and in one case at least force had to be used even to the extent of shooting to enforce procurement. There has been a general demand from the provinces that prices of foodgrains for procurement should be raised. In pursuance of the policy which was laid down by the Foodgrains Policy Committee and endorsed by the Famine Inquiry Commission, the Government of India have tried to resist this demand for increasing the prices. It has to a certain extent succeeded but I cannot say that there have not been breaches. We have had to allow bonuses which are only another name for increasing the prices. In one case at least we have had to shut our eyes and allow an increase in price in the name of cartage.

An Honourable Member: Which province is that?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Bihar.

So while difficulties have increased our procurement has not increased much. The difficulty of import has also not been small. In the first place, there is an overall shortage of food in the world. The food that is placed at the disposal of the International Emergency Food Council is distributed to the needy countries by that international body. We have been making representations and we have been getting allocations from them. But our demand has not been fully met. We have only got something like say about 50 per cent. of our demands from the international body. But it is not only that we have not got what we wanted, but the prices which we have had to pay have gone on increasing. What we were getting at Rs. 10 a maund at the beginning of 1946 from Burma rose to Rs. 14 per maund in June of that year, and further to Rs. 17 per maund early in 1947. In 1948, the price that we have to pay is £38 per ton f.o.b., which comes to about Rs. 21 per maund landed in India. That is with regard to Burma.

The Brazilian and Egyptian rice is still more costly being at Rs. 26 and Rs. 24 per maund. Australian wheat has risen from Rs. 7 per maund in 1943-44, and if the negotiations that are now going on succeed, we may get it at Rs. 15 per maund. The Turkish wheat costs Rs. 20 per maund: Argentine maize has risen from Rs. 10 per maund last year to Rs. 13 per maund this year. Even these supplies at such high costs have been got only because our delegations and deputations have been running from country to country and making representations to them.

In order to meet the difference between the internal prevalent prices and the prices of imported foodgrains, the Government of India has had to pay a subsidy. The subsidy was sanctioned in April, 1946 and from April, 1946 to March, 1947 the amount came to Rs. 20.59 crores which the Government of India had to pay; and from April, 1947 to December, 1947 it is estimated to be something like Rs. 17.35 crores, and if it is continued to the end of the current financial year it will come to something like Rs. 22½ crores.

The price of the foodgrains that we have been importing is very high and the amount which the Government of India has to pay is tremendously high. Exchange difficulties have been mounting, and it is not known how long it will be possible for the Government of India to purchase this imported grain at such high prices to the tune of something like Rs. 100 crores a year.

It was because we felt that all these difficulties were mounting, our own procurement was not making as much progress as we wished, imports from other countries were becoming more and more difficult, we felt that something should be done to meet the situation.

I might just point out that with the expansion of rationing, the resources of the Government to meet the increasing demand for supplies, we did not have a pari passu increase in the supplies. As I have said, in 1944 the rationed population was something like 26 millions and the resources of supplies at the Government's disposal were 4.93 million tons from procurement, .76 million tons imported, total 5.69 million tons. In 1945, when the rationed population was 52 millions, procurement was 4.55 million tons, imported .91 million tons, total 5.46 million tons. In 1946 when the rationed population had increased to 100 millions, procurement was only 5.05 million tons, imported 2.1 million tons, total 7.15 million tons; and in 1947 up to September, procurement has been 4.17 million tons, imported 2.01 million tons, total 6.18 million tons.

This shows that a breakdown of rationing was inevitable because the amount procured and imported remained more or less at a constant figure, while the rationed population increased more than six times. It became inevitable therefore for the Government to take a stock of the situation and in July last we had a conference attended by Provincial Ministers and others and the conference suggested that it was necessary to have some sort of an expert committee to advise the Government on this matter, and so a committee was appointed. The committee was asked to review the whole food policy, to make suggestions about the present programme and also to make recommendations as to how to increase production. It has made its recommendations on the first part: it has not yet made recommendations on the second part relating to increased production. The recommendations of this Committee were circulated to the provinces and conferences have been held with Provincial Ministers and Prime Ministers and after prolonged discussion, the Government of India has come to certain decisions which I understand have been placed in the hands of Honourable Members, so that they might study the decisions and take part in this debate.

[Dr. Rajendra Prasad]

It is not necessary for me to repeat the whole of the recommendations and I will just read different portions from the paper which has been circulated.

"The Government of India have decided that the existing policy should be revised and the revised policy should be one of progressive decontrol of foodgrains. Consistently with this basic decision of policy, the Government of India have advised Governments of provinces and States that they should progressively reduce their commitments under rationing and controlled distribution in the reverse order to the original process of extension so as to be able to withdraw and end all rationing and control as soon as may be feasible.

All the imports of foodgrains in 1948 will continue to be made by the Central Government only..... and the present Basic Plan arrangements will continue. Out of the quantities actually imported from abroad, not less than 5 lakhs of tons, and if possible up to 10 lakhs of tons, will be retained by the Centre as an emergency reserve. Provinces and States have been intimated the basic export quotas for surplus areas, and ceiling import quotas for deficit areas. Governments of surplus units have been asked to accept responsibility for procuring and making available the basic export quotas during 1948 and also to endeavour to make available as much additional grain as possible in the form of supplementary export quotas. Governments of deficit units have been asked to plan on the basis that ceiling import quotas will not be exceeded during 1948, and that they shall have to accept full responsibility for management of their food affairs without making larger demands on the Centre. They should also endeavour to reduce their requirements from the Centre as much as possible.

Decision regarding the prices at which procurement should be effected and foodgrains should be sold within their respective areas have been left to the Provincial Governments concerned.

They may fix the prices in such manner as may be considered by them fair and feasible in prevailing local conditions. * * *

In order to assist movement of decontrolled foodstuffs and for distribution of controlled foodstuffs by the trade within a Province or State, arrangement has already been made that movement of foodstuffs on private account will be classified in class II(b) of the Priority Schedule as against the present classification in class IV. Government-sponsored movements of foodstuffs will continue to receive higher priority as hitherto.

Since existing controls, their nature and their intensity, differ widely from area to area; the implementation of this policy will take widely different forms. * * * (and so it has of necessity to be left to the Provinces and States.) It is fully recognised that the decision taken by the Government entails a certain amount of risk. The present policy is based on the expectation that decontrol would bring out more stocks than at present under control; and that these stocks would be distributed without serious hoarding or profiteering.

Only experience will show whether these expectations will be fulfilled or not. If they are, the country would gain immensely: the pace of return to normalcy would be quickened, administrative personnel at present engaged on controls would be released for more urgent and productive tasks and there will be general public satisfaction. On the other hand should there be an outburst of hoarding the profiteering on the part of traders and large producers or panic among consumers, then the consequences would be extremely serious. While the Government of India consider that the risk involved in a policy of progressive decontrol of food should be taken in the larger national interest, they are fully conscious of the need for watching developments carefully and maintaining preparedness against possible emergencies. The Government of India have, therefore, advised the Governments of Provinces and States that the present food control organisation should be maintained substantially intact until the success of the revised policy has been assured. They have also been advised that existing arrangements of requiring holders of stocks of foodgrains to that out licences and submit returns should be continued. In order to watch the situation closely, the Government of India would obtain weekly information from provinces and States regarding stocks, procurement, prices and the general food situation. Besides the progress of the implementation of the revised policy will be reviewed at all-India Conference at Minister level to be held at quarterly interval. * * *

It will thus appear that the main decisions of the Government fall under four categories: (1) gradual curtailment of Government commitments by withdrawing rationing in the reverse order to the original process of extension. (2) to reduce the dependence on imports from abroad and to put greater emphasis on procurement within the country, (3) to give provinces greater freedom with regard to prices to be paid for procurement consistently with keeping them within reasonable limits for the consumer and (4) to watch developments and keep in readiness a reserve of grains to meet emergencies.

As I have said and as the statement which has been circulated to Members also states, it is recognised that there are risks. I think we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that there is a great deal of discontent against controls. Producers are dissatisfied because they feel that under control they cannot get the price which they ought to get and Government forces them to accept less than what they would otherwise get. Consumers, on the other hand, feel that they cannot purchase what they want and they have to be content with less than what they would like to buy if there were no controls and they have sometimes to put up with certain kinds of grains to which they are not used and the quality of which is not always of the sort one would like it to be. A vicious circle has been created by these controls.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Producers do not want controls, the consumers do not want controls. What about the merchants?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I will come to the merchants also. The merchants feel that they have lost their jobs and naturally they do not like the controls. So a sort of vicious circle has been created on account of these controls. There is a sense of insecurity in the public mind on account of the continuance of the controls. They feel as if there is something very wrong and any day there may be trouble. And so the producer does not feel inclined to market all that he would if he felt secure about the future. The consumer also, if he can manage it, tries to get as much as he can, so that he might be prepared to meet emergencies. And the trader, wherever he can, also tries to hoard. So all these factors combined together lead to shortage and shortage in its turn necessitates control. This vicious circle sometime and somehow has to be broken at some stage. Government therefore had to take a decision. After all wartime emergency measures cannot be continued forever and especially when we feel that our difficulties are mounting we had to take some decision and we had to take a decision even though [Dr. Rajendra Prasad] it involved a risk. We had to make a choice. The risk involved in the policy that is now proposed is that there may be a rise in prices. Let us not imagine that this rise in prices will effect all. At present we have a large population which is either under rationing or controlled distribution. But all this population does not purchase its foodgrains. A considerable portion of the population now under rationing comprises producers who produce more than they need. They are the surplus producers. Also there are producers who produce only a part of their own requirements and have therefore to depend upon rationing for the other part of their requirements. And it includes also non-producers who depend entirely upon rationing for their food. Any rise in the prices will not affect the first class which is of producers who are surplus producers. Any rise in the prices will not affect the second class which is of partial producers except to the extent of the deficit which they have in their food supply. It will affect the non-producers undoubtedly. These non-producers are not confined only to cities. They are spread over rural areas also while in the south rationing affects rural areas too, in the north, say in the U.P., C.P., Bihar and Bengal, rationing has not spread to rural areas to any appreciable extent. Therefore this element in the population which is of non-producers in the villages where there is no rationing today has to depend for its supplies on black market and it is already paying very high prices in the black market. Any rise in the prices of foodgrains as a result of decontrol, I imagine, will not be more than what is prevalent in black market.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (West Bengal: General): What about sugar? We are not getting a grain of sugar since yesterday.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I will come to that. As I have said, any rise in prices will affect the non-producer who is now being rationed. It will not affect the non-producer who is not under rationing today. The number of such non-producers who depend for their food on purchases made by them is not inconsiderable. It is difficult for me to give figures, but I can say this that their number is not small. In these circumstances the risk of rise in prices affects only a part of the population; it does not affect the other parts. The risk is there. But if we did not take the decision that we have taken we would have to face the other risk, that is of a complete breakdown in course of time. I do not say that a breakdown was coming today. But I have no doubt that with the difficulty of procurement, with the rising prices of imported foodgrains, with the difficulty of exchange and generally the administrative difficulties which have arisen on account of control to which I have made reference, a breakdown sooner or later was inevitable. That breakdown would be infinitely more disastrous than anything that may happen on account of rise in prices. The Government had therefore to take the risk and it has decided to take what it considers to be the smaller risk.

I have said that I do not anticipate that the prices will go to the heights of black market prices. In this I am to a certain extent encouraged by what has happened with regard to prices of oils and oilseeds. In March last oils and oilseeds were decontrolled. This was necessary because in large tracts of the country edible oil was not available at all, and if it was available it was available at very high prices. The Government had in these circumstances to decide to decontrol oil. The result was in a sense very satisfactory. I will give some figures which will show how the decontrol of oil has worked. In Bengal and Assam particularly, where mustard oil is largely used, oil was not available at all in many places, and wherever it was available the prices were very high. The controlled price of mustard oil in Calcutta in March was Rs. 57-12-0 per maund. But it was selling at Rs. 120 per maund. In many places it was not available. Oil was decontrolled in March and the effect was to bring down the price from Rs. 120 to Rs. 63—which was only Rs. 6 above the control price. Since then the price has fluctuated and as the stock of last season's produce has decreased and is now approaching its end, the price has gone up to Rs. 72 or Rs. 73. It is even then very much less than the black market price of Rs. 120. In the U.P. the control price was Rs. 45-8-0 a maund. The market price was Rs. 55 a maund. It rose in November to Rs. 68. Now it is worth, noting what the effect of this decontrol has been. The U.P. is a surplus province so far as oils and oilseeds are concerned. The effect of decontrol has been to push up the price of oil to some extent in that Province, whereas in the Provinces which are deficit the effect has been to bring down the market prices. The disparity in the price between the producing and the consuming Provinces which subsisted before decontrol has become very much less.

The same thing has happened in the case of groundnut oil. In March the control price in Bombay was Rs. 37-8-0 per maund and Rs. 35-2-0 in Madras. Madras is a surplus Province in regard to groundnut oil, while Bombay is a deficit Province. The market price was Rs. 75 in Bombay and Rs. 39 in Madras at the time when decontrol was introduced. After decontrol the price in Bombay went down, in June, from Rs. 75 to Rs. 55, and rose in Madras from Rs. 39 to Rs. 55. In November it came down to Rs. 51 in Bombay and Rs. 41 in Madras. So in this case also the result has been a levelling down in the case of deficit areas and a levelling up in the case of surplus areas and diminution in the disparity of prices between the two areas. I expect something similar will happen in the case of foodgrains also.

Now I come to sugar. When a decision was taken to decontrol, gradually and in a progressive way, foodgrains, it was felt that there was no justification for maintaining control in the case of sugar which after all is not as essential a foodstuff as cereals. The control of sugar has also created a most curious situation. Under rationing everyone is entitled to a certain quantity of sugar like every other foodgrain. Many people who are not used to taking sugar have under the rationing system to take it. Many others who used to take more sugar formerly have to be content with the quantity that is rationed out to them. So, while on the one hand people who do not need it have to take it, on the other people who do need it do not get it. Those who do not need it pass on the sugar to the black market, and that is one of the sources from which black markets are fed. The price of sugar in the black market has been anything between Rs. 55 and Rs. 65 as against Rs. 21-4-0, which was the ex-factory controlled price till yesterday. I am not hoping that as a result of this decontrol the price of sugar will not go beyond 12 NOON Rs. 21 where it has been, but I am hoping it will be nothing like Rs. 55 or Rs. 65, which has been the prevalent black market price today. There has been also another effect of control of sugar. The quantity of sugar produced in the country has gone on decreasing progressively and the season 1946-47 has seen the lowest on record within recent years. We have had only 9,05,000 tons produced in India in 1946-47, or if you add the production in Pakistan, 9,25,000, as against more than 11 lakh tons which it had reached some years previously. The reason for this reduction that is suggested is that the growers have not been paid the price which they ought to get, and they have not been able to produce as much as they used to produce before. The quality of cane also has deteriorated leading to a fall in the recovery of sugar from the sugar-cane from 10.5 to something about 10 or below 10. It is suggested that if the price of sugar-cane is raised, the price of sugar will naturally rise because sugar-cane is the biggest element in the production of sugar. The cost of labour is also going to be raised. It was something like Rs. 22-8-0 before last year. This year in the United Provinces and Bihar, the minimum is going to be something like Rs. 45. The price of sugar-cane was 14 annas before last year. It was raised to Rs. 1-4-0 during the last season. This season it is going to be nothing less than Rs. 2. Now these elements are bound to raise the price of sugar which will be produced in the season which is now commencing, and when we think of increase in the price of sugar, we should not attribute the whole of it to decontrol because the greater part of it will be due to these causes, and I do not know what part of it, but only some part of it may be due to decontrol.

1634

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [10TH DEC. 1947]

[Dr. Rajendra Prasad]

All these considerations have led the Government to come to its decision. Within recent months Honorable Members are aware that Mahatma Gandhi has raised his powerful voice against control. That is sure to make the continuance of control even more difficult than it has been in the past. But I am hoping that the policy which the Government has now decided to adopt will in the same measure be benefited by the same powerful voice, and this policy has a better chance of success now than the policy which we are now giving up gradually. But we are not taking risks without making some arrangement to get out of the difficulty if a really difficult situation arises.

An Honourable Member: It is bound to arise.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said, we have taken three or four precautions so that if a really serious situation arises, we may be able to avert it or at any rate to mitigate the effects of it. We have decided to continue the organization which is now in existence so that when we have to revert to control again, we may have the organization ready at hand. We have decided to build up a stock of grain which will be available in cases of emergency. It has been the recommendation of the Foodgrains Policy Committee, as also of the Famine Enquiry Commission, that this reserve should be built up. It has not been done up till now, but it has been decided to build it up this year to the extent of 500,000 to 1 million tons if possible. We have also taken the precaution of continuing control on traders by insisting upon their registration and declaration of their stocks from time to time so that if an emergency arises, the Government may be in possession of information about the stocks and may take necessary action to rush stocks from places where they exist to places where they may be needed. But while we are taking all these precautions, we also contemplate that in course of time it would not be necessary to resort to any retrograde backward step in the direction of control again. These precautions are taken only to meet emergencies if they arise. This new policy is undoubtedly a break from the policy which has been in force for some years now. A break has to be made at some time or other and it is much better that it is done at a time when we are still in a position to meet an emergency if it arises than when we shall be helpless and forced to abandon this present policy. In the course of these years such success as has attended the policy of control has been achieved by the co-operation of all. Let us not imagine that our policy of control has been a complete failure. Far from it. It has succeeded in a way which has attracted the attention and earned encomiums of foreigners. With all its defects, with all the other difficulties which I have mentioned, it cannot be denied that it has helped us in the past in tiding over crises which might well have overwhelmed us.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru (U. P.: General): It can help us in future too.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: If necessary we may come back to control in a more rigid form if that is forced upon us, but we must make a beginning to break it and that is what is proposed to be done in the new policy which the Government has adopted. We do not want to rush things. We want things to take their natural course so that ultimately normal conditions may be restored. When I have said that our policy has achieved some success, I must say that that success has been achieved by the co-operation of all concerned—officials of Government, Ministries in the Provinces, State Governments, the public at large, and last but not least, by the Legislature. We have had co-operation all-round so far, and I hope that in the new policy which the Government is inaugurating today it will continue to get the same kind of co-operation and help so that the return to normalcy may be quickened, so that the emergency measures which have been necessitated by exigencies of war may disappear and the people in this country may begin to live once again in normal conditions.

I therefore do not accept this policy in a spirit of defeatism or of despair; I have accepted this policy full of hope, and if I get the co-operation, if the Government gets the co-operation which it has a right to claim and which it has received in the past, in the future also, I feel confident that it may succeed. More than that I cannot say; more than that you cannot expect anyone to say.

I am going to give up the Department with which I have been associated, to take up other duties very shortly. It would have been much better if my successor had had the opportunity of taking part in the decisions which have been arrived at by the Government.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: Why not see this experiment through?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: but unfortunately we could not wait and decisions had to be taken. I have no doubt that the country and this House will realise that after all it is not a decision of an individual, it is the decision of the Government—although I cannot deny my own share in it which has not been small as I have been in charge of the Department.

If the country, if the Members of this House, if all who are interested in this, feel that this has to succeed, this will succeed. I am hoping that the producers will place larger quantities now when they get higher prices, when they feel that they are not compelled but are free to sell as they like. I am hoping that consumers will also put upon themselves some sort of a self-denying ordinance and will not, because of de-control, make unreasonable and unnecessary demands upon the stocks of food. Let us not forget that every grain that is wasted by a consumer means so much taken away from hungry mouth.

I have hopes that the trade will also play its part. If nothing else, its self-interest ought to dictate to it that it is not wise to kill the hen that lays the golden eggs. If this experiment fails unfortunately, there can be no alternative but a more rigid control which will eliminate the trade altogether. That will be one of the incentives if nothing higher counts, which will enable trade to play its part. But I am not counting only upon this; I am hoping and I have reasons to hope that trade will play its part honourably in this.

I am hoping that the Provincial Governments, the State Governments and all others concerned will so manage their affairs that dependence upon foreign imports will grow less and less. We are trying to encourage procurement by giving a bonus of eight annas per maund for every maund procured. We are giving an additional eight annas to every maund that is exported from a surplus area to a deficit area. On the one hand these will encourage procurement; on the other we are throwing a part of the burden which the Government of India has so far been bearing, of meeting the deficit between the imported price and the internal price, on the Provinces so that they may demand less and less of the imported stuff. The policy has been integrated in such a way that dependence on foreign imports may become less, more encouragement to procurement will be given, and in course of time we may come to a stage when normal conditions will prevail. Let me hope that this will succeed; and I hope the House will support this policy with all its strength and that the country will also give its fullest support.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Food policy of the Government of India be taken into consideration."

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma (U. P.: General): Sir, it is rather difficult for me, immediately after the lucid speech of the Honourable the Food Minister, to raise my feeble voice in criticism, and even in partial protest, of the policy which has been adumbrated today in his speech. I am one of those, Sir, who has, in this controversy, actually not been able to find my feet. I have been swayed with doubts one way some times, and the other way the other times. But when today we are taking a decision in this matter, it is well that I should speak out my mind and even express my doubts in order that the House may be in a position to make up its mind.

[Pandit Balkrishna Sharma]

When we are taking into consideration the future food policy which our Government is to follow, we are, in a wider context, considering the question of control versus de-control. And when we as a Legislature are called upon to express our opinion in favour of de-control, I think we are taking a retrograde step. We are going against the trend of world-thought which is more and more inclined towards regulated, planned economy and controls over commodities.

Sir, as you are aware, the policy of laissez faire in the industrial and economic field came into existence after the Industrial Revolution of Great Britain, and for years on end that policy succeeded for the very simple reason that Great Britain was the first among the civilised countries of the West to achieve the industrial revolution and secondly because it was a country which had many colonies under it where it could dump its finished goods, with the result that in Great Britain every liberal minded person sang the song of free trade, free enterprise and laissez faire. The exploitation of colonial countries and the consequent inflow of wealth in that industrial country gave a fillip to the policy of laissez faire. But, Sir, a time came when a sort of saturation point was reached, when the colonial countries also began to develop industrially, when revolts and revolutions began to take place and when this policy of free trade and laissez faire brought into play all the forces of competition between nations and nations.

At that time, Sir, a great thinker, or rather, two great thinkers,—Marx and Engels—came on the scene. They put before the world a new idea. With a great vision they saw the end of that free economic enterprise and they placed before the world the idea that it will no more do for world economy to be carried on in the old way and that if the countries of the world persisted in that they will have to face damnation. The two world wars that we have seen in our life time are nothing but a result of that policy of free trade, free enterprise, economic competition and all sorts and manners of shibboleths by which liberal democracy flourished for about a century. By and by, Sir, the theory which Marx and Engels adumbrated was accepted by all the countries, so much so that even the parties which came into existence in order to fight the ideas of Marx and Engels had to adopt that policy of planned economy. The Nazis in Germany and before them, the Fascists in Italy started on the basis of planned economy.

Now, we have experienced the control business in our country for the last five or six years. The one reason—and it is a powerful one—which has been advanced against continuance of control is that the controls have failed, that they have given rise to corruption, that black-markets have been playing havoc with our national life and therefore the controls must go. This, Sir, is really a very poor argument. We have got law courts; we have got the Police, and yet the anti-social elements are at work. Do we, for that reason, propound the theory that all our law courts should cease to exist or that the police should cease to exercise vigilance over the society? There is no doubt that controls in our country have not worked so well, but when there is a scarcity of commodities, how can we think of ever living a life free from all controls? I for the life of me cannot understand it, Sir.

The Honourable the Food Minister gave certain figures in regard to oil seeds after de-control. To say that the prices will find a level which will be within the reach of the ordinary consumer and that the trade and commerce will rise to the occasion does not appeal to me. They have not risen to the occasion. 35 lakhs of people in Bengal died and the profiteers did not think of playing the game.

How can we today expect that after de-control the trade and commerce will co-operate with the Government and will give the society that co-operation which alone can bring success to this policy of de-control. If we accept today the theory of Mahatma Gandhi, if we accept today that we are nobody except trustees of the society's wealth, then alone can this sort of philosophic anarchism, which de-control is, can ultimately, succeed; otherwise, it cannot succeed, and I am afraid we shall have to revert to these controls. I am seeing before my eyes the effect of this de-control. We are bound to be caught in the rising spiral of inflation. Prices will rise; the labour will demand more; the Government employees will demand more and the Government will have nothing left but to go to the mint and print notes. We have seen the effect of it in China; we have seen the effect of it even in America. President Truman had again to go to the Congress in order to secure its assent for controlling the prices of certain articles which he had de-controlled so we can easily see that de-control is not going to help us in any way. Of course, the controls have failed, firstly for the reason that we have not been able to control the sources of production. Take for instance the control of iron and steel. The men who were asked to manage this control system are the men from the two great Iron and Steel producing concerns in our country. And how on earth can you expect these men to manage your Iron and Steel controls? Take the Cloth control, for instance. About the Cloth control we have said so many times that there has been a leakage. Here is my Honourable friend Mr. Khandubhai Desai; he can prove to the hilt that the leakages have taken place and yet we have not thought in terms of controlling the sources of production and now we say: "Let us remove the controls." I am against it, Sir, and I think it my duty to register my voice against this proposition that we can take back the society to decontrol. We cannot set the hands of the clock backwards; controls have come to stay; controls cannot be got rid off because unregulated unplanned economy can never prosper in this world any more and if the better organized countries have resorted to planned economy and they have to give the go by to this Laissez faire, then who are we to-day, in the year of Grace 1947 to think in terms of decontrol?

Pandit Hirday-Nath Kunzru: Mr. Speaker, I have studied the Government's decision on Food Policy with the care which it deserves. I have read it over and over again, but the more I have studied it, the more I have been disappointed. I have never read a document so fraught with grave consequences which was supported by such flimsy arguments as are contained in the Government's statement. I have tried to understand the reasons which have led the Government to accept a policy of progressive decontrol, but I have found no reason which would support the Government's view that if controls were taken off the consumer would be in a better position to obtain the food that he needs at the present time. Sir, we find that even surplus countries are trying either to re-impose the food controls which were in force during the war or to maintain them. America did away with all food controls shortly after the war, but President Truman has found himself compelled to ask Congress to give him the power to control prices again. In Australia a Bill has recently been introduced in the Federal Legislature, the object of which is to continue the war-time controls in respect of food and in respect of prices, rationing, etc. It is difficult for anybody to understand how a country with a permanently deficit economy can afford to do away with those salutary checks which countries more fortunately placed have found it necessary to continue. I hear it said frequently that if only controls were removed there would be an appreciable increase in the supply of food-grains. Sir, a simple consideration would suffice to dispel the apprehensions that exists on this score. It may be that the removal of food controls may bring about a slight increase in the stocks of food placed on the market, but we cannot overlook the cardinal factor that statistically there is an over-all shortage of food-grains in this country. We used to import annually about 1½ million tons of rice from Burma. The discontinuance of the rice imports was responsible for the tragedy of Bengal. According to the Famine Enquiry Commission, our food requirements are greater now than they were before the war, partly because of the increase in the population, and partly because of the higher standard of living to which people became accustomed during the war. Can we in this state of things be satisfied with the puerile argument that if only a few more tons of food which are sold in the black market were available to consumers, all would be well; our morals would improve and our material difficulties would disappear. My Honourable friend, the Food Minister in building up his case referred to the Provincial Governments and the consumers. It is stated in the Government's statement that at the Food Ministers' Conference, there was no unanimity on the question of the removal of controls. My Honourable friend is perhaps technically right, but my information is that when the exception of one Food Minister, all the others thought that the retention of food controls was absolutely necessary. Besides we know that the Food Minister in the United Provinces, speaking yesterday in the U. P. Legislative Assembly made it clear that the decontrol of sugar was forced on the U. P. Government by the Government of India.

[Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru]

Then, Sir, as regards the consumers, I do not know which class of consumers my Honourable friend had in mind when he said that they too were dissatisfied with the existing food controls. Of the English dailies, so far as I know, with the exception of the Hindustan Times all have criticised and disapproved the Government's policy, I cannot speak with the same confidence about the Hindi newspapers, but so far as I know, not one of these papers is enthusiastic about the policy adopted by the Government.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): You are wrong.

Pandit Hriday Nath Kunzru: Such of them as have agreed to this policy have done so subject to certain qualifications. It is clear, therefore, that Government cannot plead that they have changed their policy in the interests of the consumers. Apart from this the figures placed before us by the Food Minister show conclusively that appreciable benefit is conferred on a large section of the population by the present control; leaving out those who are in a position to grow food sufficient to meet their needs wholly or partly about a hundred million people are benefiting today by rationing. I understand that the population of India even after its division is estimated to be about 345 million today. If we deduct from this the number of people who are able to grow sufficient food to satisfy their own needs we shall have to deal with about 245 million people. It is obvious, therefore, that a little more than 40 per cent. of the people, and not 10 per cent. as was claimed the other day by the Finance Minister,—are able to obtain their food at controlled prices. What will happen to these people in future I cannot say. I have taken pains to speak to many poor people on this subject, but they are all filled with the deepest concern at the prospect of having to pay higher prices for their food. Sir, if this policy were accompanied by suitable measures for a rapid increase in our food supply something might be said for it. The Food Minister some time back announced that Government were going to take step to produce 4 million tons more of food during the next five years. It is obvious that had he waited till the end of that period or had modified controls in proportion as food supply in the country increased he would have been on much stronger ground. But it is amazing that he and the Government of which he is an important member have decided to take action even before the recommendations of Foodgrains Policy Committee with regard to the future production of food have been formulated. We know nothing as to what action Government are going to take in this respect or what recommendations the Committee is going to make in this respect; even Government, I understand, are unaware of it. Yet they have been in a hurry to announce the policy of progressive decontrol, but so great is their concern for the poor consumers that they have impressed on the provinces that they should fix prices bearing in mind the need for preventing an undue increase in the cost of living. Sir, in the face of the facts that I have placed before the House this pious wish is indistinguishable from self-deception or hypocrisy. Government are going to thrust a dagger into the consumer and are yet going to take care to see that not a drop of his blood is shed.

Sir, the Honourable Minister started his arguments by referring to oilseeds and sugar. His arguments in regard to oilseeds are so weak that I cannot imagine how a man of his experience and intellect can put them forward. The only way in which my Honourable friend could show that the prices of oil-seeds and oil had gone down was to compare existing prices with the black market prices that ruled while controls were in force. Now my Honourable friend should realise that the prices in the black market were high not because there was a large quantity available for sale but because it was small. Had unlimited quantities been available to the black-marketeers it is obvious that the price could not have risen to such heights. Now there will be no black markets but everybody will have to pay the high prices mentioned by him as compared with only a few men who had to pay them while the system of controls was in force.

Sir, as my time is up I will not trouble the House any more. But it is obvious that decontrol cannot stop with foodgrains; it will have to be extended to things like steel and cement and cloth and coal. Our transport system has still to face serious difficulties. If Government were going to decontrol coal at the present time, I should not envy the position of my Honourable friend, the Railway Minister.

Sir, inflation has already begun. The prices of sugar have been raised. Therefore, higher prices will have to be paid to the cultivator and to the sugar mill workers. Now the increase in the price of the sugar workers will lead to further demands on the part of workers in other industries and on the part of the Government employees. It is with the greatest difficulty that the Railway Minister was able to balance the Railway budget. The Finance Minister has in the General Budget left an uncovered deficit of about Rs. 26 crores which is bound to add to the inflationary trend in the country. If in this situation Government are going to be faced with demands for large increase in the salaries of their employees, it is difficult to understand how the Finance Minister and the Railway Minister will be able to fulfil the responsibilities that have been entrusted to them.

With these words I strongly oppose the policy that has been put forward by my Honourable friend, the Food Minister. With his eyes open he asked us to go back to the state of things that existed in 1942 and 1943. My Honourable friend referred to Mahatma Gandhi at the end of his speech and that is the real reason for the decontrol system that he has now adopted.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The Honourable Member's time is over. I have already given him 22 minutes. It will not be fair to other members.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): I rise to support the Honourable Minister for Food in the appeal that he has made. The situation of the Government is not an easy one. It is easy to have difference of opinion on a difficult subject like this, and Government have after a considerable amount of care and attention, launched upon a programme which agrees psychologically with the expectations of the people. There is the weighty opinion of Mahatma Gandhi and also the people are absolutely tired of black markets. If decontrol will raise the price, it would distribute the higher prices amongst a larger class than at present. Control is enriching only a class of speculators and black-marketeers and I should like that the prices should rise to benefit the producers as well as others. There will be something like uniformity and for this reason I support the Government policy.

[Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad]

I should at the short time at my disposal, deal with one or two aspects of a minor nature.

There is the procurement policy of the Government. That has to continue for some time. With regard to procurement, the policy of the Bengal Government has been—and it is said that they are acting under the instructions of the Government of India—to force down the price of paddy to a very low level, and it is said that it is insisted by the Government that the low level of price is essential because unless the price of paddy and rice is brought down the prices of other necessary articles will not come down. So in order to lower the cost of living and the prices of necessary articles, this forcible lowering of the prices of paddy and rice, it is said, is an obvious necessity.

Sir, everybody has been thinking of the consumer. The black-marketeers are squeezing them, but no word has been said of the poor lot of the middle-class cultivator who is the grower. They have to pay high costs of cultivation. They have to pay much more for the cost of the bullocks, their maintenance and other things and cost of cloth and other things is also high. In fact, they have been subjected to double pressure—one the pressure of forced low prices of their produce and the other the higher cost of living mounting up day to day. They have been waiting for several years for the prices of necessary articles to come down but they have been waiting in vain. I think it is a terrible punishment to have to be forced to sell their produce at very much below the market price and forcing them to suffer the hardship of a much higher cost of living.

This reminds me of a story of a young man who was very much in demand in the matrimonial market. He had a few patches here and there on his head indicating a slight tendency to baldness. A hair specialist was consulted. He recommended a hair restorer and said that this was a very effective remedy but it worked by two distinct stages. The first stage, he explained, was that all the hairs will fall off but it was a necessary preliminary. It only prepared the way for the second stage in the process when very luxuriant hairs will grow all over the head. The whole process would take only three months. The credulous young man took to the medicine and stuck to it for six months. Later on when the specialist saw him and asked him very expectantly as to the effect of the hair restorer he said: "it is a marvellous remedy so far as the first stage is concerned. But so far as the second stage of the effect is concerned, there is no sign of it." He took off his pagree and showed him that his head had become absolutely bald. It is needless to add that he lost every promising matrimonial prospects.

The position of the paddy grower is exactly the same. They were directed to submit to low prices in the hope that it would bring down the prices of necessary articles. They have been waiting and waiting like the young man but there is no sign of a fall in the cost of necessities of life.

The Government of Bengal should be asked, rather induced, to pay higher prices—the market price. That would benefit the grower, whose lot is a hard one.

Then again, with regard to this policy of selling the rice, I should make a distinction between the rich, the middle classes and the poor. In Calcutta alone there are a large number of jute mills which employ millions of workers. There are the tea-gardens in Northern Bengal. They employ also millions of men. There are the coal mines of Asansol. There are the iron foundries which also employ millions of men. These multi-millionaire concerns owned by rich business men, buy their rice from Government at very cheap prices at the cost of the growers and supply them to their men. These concerns, even now, pay a dividend of 30 or 40 per cent. The jute mills also pay 40 to 50 per cent., and the tea companies pay something like 70 to 100 per cent.; and in one or two cases 150 per cent. I submit that to supply them rice at very low rates by depriving the growers of their just prices would be severe injustice.

The second class of consumers are the middle classes. Their lot is also hard and there are of course the poorer classes. I suggest that in fixing the selling

I P M. prices this distinction between the paying capacities of the different consumers should be taken into account. The coal, jute, tea and other industries can very well bear the burden of higher prices. Rice should be sold to the rich concerns at much higher prices to offset the higher cost of procurement. There is no point in making the prices equal for all when it affects the grower.

These are suggestions which the Honourable Minister will kindly consider. With regard to controls they have failed. There is one kind of control which has however been successful and it has stood all tests. It is the control of debate in this House. In fact the Honourable Finance Minister was faced with several dozens of cut motions and they were reduced to about half a dozen and Honourable Members were made to finish their debate within two days. That control has been successful. The other control is under your control. It is the time limit for speeches. That is also very successful, barring one or two exceptions.

These scarcities have produced another good effect. Some diseases due to over-eating, such as indigestion, diarrhoea, dysentery, etc., are by now scarce. In these circumstances if there is progressive decontrol in the cautious manner suggested, I think the country should be prepared to bear the burden. If the proposed scheme fails then there will be all the more reason for making the control more effective and drastic. At least by that time we would have gained further and newer experience as to how the situation then stood and it would be good time to attack the problem with greater experience and newer vigour. The present system has failed and ought to go. With these words I support the policy of the Government.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri (Assam: General): Sir, I rise not merely to support the wise and judicious policy which has been announced by the Honourable Minister in Charge of Food and to denounce the most unfortunate speech which has been delivered by my Honourable friend Pandit Kunzru this morning but also to pay an unqualified tribute to the Honourable Minister of Food. The walls of this House still rings with the echo of the speech which he delivered about two years ago on the food problem. That extorted the admiration of all sections of the House, Europeans and Indians equally. It showed that the Honourable Minister had grasped the situation thoroughly and having grasped it he set to work with a single-minded devotion which is his own and he has practically saved the country at a most difficult time. Whatever may be said of control or decontrol I think we are in a position to say today that man to man, status of society being taken into consideration, we are much better off today in India than in most countries of the world. I think I shall be voicing the sentiment of this House if I utter a prayer "May our Food Minister be spared for a long time to serve the country which he loves and which he had liberated from the shackles of foreign domination. May God give him health and vigour to continue as the President of this Free Assembly and the President of our Nation so that he may serve the country for long long years to come."

I was referring to the speech which my Honourable friend Pandit Kunzru chose to make this morning. I think that something which happened in his house before he left for the Assembly had angered him and he poured his venom on the floor of this House. He asked where was the justification for the belief that decontrol will ease the food situation. May I ask him what are his grounds to believe that control which has been imposed so long has eased the food situation. It is neither control nor decontrol that can really solve the problem. Only production of more food will ultimately solve the problem.

[Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar.]
 would have never seen ghee. There are millions of men and women who never have even a drop of oil to grease their hair. We may leave oil too, though it is an edible article and it will not bring people to the verge of starvation. Then as regards sugar. Sugar is necessary for children also, but man would not die for want of sugar. Take any other article. Man would not die for want of it. Can we make an experiment with cereals for three days, I ask? I ask any man to lay his hand upon his heart and say he can experiment with his life on this for three days consecutively. We are already enervated. Have we sufficient stamina left after all these years of war. War has devastated millions of us. Whoever may want to make this experiment? The Honourable Minister, I find, had not his heart in this matter. From his long speech I gathered that left to himself he would not have brought this about. I am not making any accusation. But this is a very dangerous experiment. Many other experiments may be made. I would earnestly appeal to him to do this within the four corners of the decision that has been taken. But for Heaven's sake, allow the provinces to take care of themselves. He has said the Centre does not any longer like to take all the responsibility of procuring and paying for the provinces. Is this a matter of rupees, annas and pies? After the 15th of August, our friends have been anxious to have a strong Central Government, to bring in every unit and make it feel part and parcel of the Centre. Does he want that the Madras Province should feel one with him and the richer province of Bombay? It has been contended that we cannot go on importing cereals at the cost of our valuable dollars, and that we want to reserve them for capital goods for the Bombay and other industrialists. I am sorry if I am to be understood as making any personal reference in this matter. I would sell away all my belongings if it is only for the purchase of food. Sir, I am afraid that China will be repeated here. The dark days of Germany will be repeated here when 10,000 Marks could not purchase a single cigarette. I do not know what will happen in this country. I know some of us have aligned ourselves already as protagonists of the agriculturists. My friend, Professor Ranga, has a very kind heart, but he loses himself sometimes when he has to press the need of the agriculturist as against the consumer. He feels the consumer is different from the agriculturist. If any person should think there is such a cleavage between one belonging to the town and the agriculturist, I will give up my profession and go and take to the plough. I am not going to starve. Some of us are agriculturists; others are industrialists; some others are in professions. The Government by decontrol are driving every man to starvation. Let them not take this step. Sir, I appeal to the House and to the Government not to take this extreme step. Wait and see what will happen; some time later push it on slowly. That is the only way in which it could be worked.

It may be asked, what is the alternative? My answer is, to build up a reserve of 3 million tons; and to proceed slowly thereafter. Let the Government make this experiment. For a huge continent what is a reserve of five lakhs of tons? Is it anything worth counting under the circumstances?

Sir, I appeal to this House and to the Government to stay this experiment at least for a year until better times come.

پندت تھاکر داس بھارگو: مانیہ سپیکر صاحب! فوڈ کنٹرول کے معاملہ میں میں نے دو تقاریر ایک پندت کنزرو اور دوسری مسٹر بالکرشن کی سنی - اس سے پہلے مجھے یہ علم تھا کہ food کے decontrol کرنے کے بارے میں کچھ لوگوں کا ایسا خیال ہے کہ یہاں ہندوستان کے اندر supply اس قدر کم ہے جیسا کہ انہوں نے ظاہر کی ہے۔ میرے نکتہ نگاہ سے اگر یہ ہوتا کہ ہندوستان کے اندر food کی supply اس قدر کم ہے تو میں یہ کہتا کہ ضروری ہے کہ control جاری رہنا چاہئے لیکن میرا خیال یہ ہے کہ جس قدر خیال کیا جاتا ہے کہ ہندوستان کے اندر food کی supply کم ہے - اتنی کم نہیں ہے - میں پنجاب کے علاقہ سے تعلق رکھتا ہوں - اور مجھے یہ معلوم ہے کہ ہمارا Province ہمیشہ ایک Surplus Province رہا ہے - ساتھ ہی میں اس بات سے بھی واقف ہوں کہ South میں food کی کمی ہے لیکن میں یہ بھی جانتا ہوں کہ جو figures ہم کو دیئے جاتے ہیں وہ قابل اعتبار نہیں ہیں - اگر ان figures کو درست مانا جائے تب بھی یہ کہا جا سکتا ہے کہ خوراک کی زیادہ کمی نہیں ہے - گذشتہ بارہ سال یعنی سنہ ۳۶ - ۱۹۳۵ ع سے لیکر سنہ ۳۷ - ۳۶ ع تک اس ملک میں کھانے کی چیزوں میں صرف دو سال کمی واقع ہوئی - لیکن اس سے پہلے کوئی کمی نہیں تھی - میں جناب کی توجہ ان figures کی طرف دلانا چاہتا ہوں جو کہ پچھلے بارہ سال کے عرصہ میں غلہ کے متعلق ہیں - پچھلے بارہ سال میں Total Production چوبیس کروڑ اٹھارہ لاکھ اور اکسٹھ ہزار تین تھی - اگر اس کا average لیا جائے تو سالانہ اوسط چار کروڑ اٹھارہ لاکھ اور پچپن ہزار تین بنتی ہے - سنہ ۳۶ - ۱۹۳۵ ع سے لے کر ۳۷ - ۱۹۳۶ ع تک imports کے figures اونستھ لاکھ اٹھارہ ہزار تین ہے - اس کی سالانہ اوسط چار لاکھ شتانوے ہزار تین بنتی ہے - اگر ان دونوں یعنی Imports اور Products کی سالانہ اوسط کو جمع کیا جائے تو وہ چھپن کروڑ سترہ لاکھ نو ہزار کے قریب بن جاتا ہے جیسے ہم اس نتیجہ پر پہنچتے ہیں کہ ایک سال کے اندر یہاں پر ہمارے خرچ کی اوسط چھتالیس کروڑ چھتر لاکھ اور پانچ ہزار تین تھا - جس پر ہم نے گزارہ کیا - جیسا کہ میں نے کہا ہے اگر Production کو لیا جائے تو صرف ہندوستان کے پچھلے بارہ سال کے Production کی اوسط ۲۵ کروڑ ۱۵ لاکھ پانچ ہزار تین سالانہ بنتی ہے - اس طرح سے یہ حساب لگتا ہے کہ سولہ لاکھ سٹھ ہزار تین کی کمی اس اوسط کے مطابق ہمیں ہے میں یہ مانتا ہوں کہ پاکستان کے جانے سے ہمیں تقریباً چار لاکھ تین کی کمی اور ہو جائے گی اور اس طرح سے تقریباً بیس لاکھ کی کمی کی اوسط بارہ سال میں بنتی ہے کمی کے بارے میں گورنمنٹ کا خیال ہے کہ خوراک میں اوسطاً کمی چھ فیصدی ہوگی لیکن جو figures میں نے عرض کئے ہیں اُنکے مطابق صرف چار فیصدی کی کمی رہتی ہے اس سے زیادہ نہیں رہتی - یعنی اگر آپ Total اور Total Products خرچ کو دیکھیں تو معلوم ہو گا کہ صرف چار فیصدی کی کمی رہ جاتی ہے - جس سے یہ نہیں کہا جاسکتا کہ ہمارا ملک ہمیشہ کے لئے economically deficit ملک ہے اور ہم کو باہر کے ممالک سے غلہ درآمد کرنا پڑے گا - دراصل یہ figures جو کہ گورنمنٹ نے ہم کو بتائے ہیں unreliable ہیں - اور کسی solid basis پر مبنی نہیں ہیں

[Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri]

My Honourable friend Pandit Kunzru looked askance at the decontrolling of mustard oil and mustard seeds. I suppose that he has very little occasion to come across persons who really use mustard oil in their food and who cannot do without it. Perhaps he is mostly concerned with those who take fats, ghee and butter and therefore Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: My Honourable friend is utterly mistaken. I use mustard oil too.

Shri Rohini Kumar Chaudhuri: But I can say with confidence and from my personal experience how decontrol has worked like magic in Bengal and Assam. Before mustard seed was decontrolled our Food Minister was attacked not by ruffians, goonilas or communally-minded persons but by women, housewives and their daughters. His own office room in the Constitution House was invaded by them and ultimately he gave them an assurance that he would do his best towards decontrol and ultimately he succeeded in getting it decontrolled. I can congratulate my Honourable friend Shrimati Durgabai and others that they are now in a position of influence not only in their homes but abroad also.

My Honourable friend Pandit Kunzru said that he had never heard a speech supported by such flimsy and transient grounds and he said that it was puerile to think that decontrol will bring more food. He said that the great famine in Bengal was due to stoppage of rice import from Burma. It is absolutely childish to imagine that stoppage of rice import into Bengal was responsible for the Bengal Famine. When people were dying at the doorsteps there was feasting going inside the houses. It was not due to stoppage of import of rice. It was due to the denial policy which was adopted by the Government at that time.

I am very glad that sugar has been decontrolled, not because I am more fond of sweet things but because everybody will now get sugar. Those who cannot afford to remain without sugar will be able to get the requisite quantity of sugar. I do not mean that only the rich will benefit. The rich are already getting their sugar. None of my friends on the front benches has ever complained about it. They will get the sugar by any means. Now, after decontrol, you will see, Sir, that the rich and the poor alike will get the sugar they want. What was the effect of the control? The rich men got not only their own sugar but also the sugar which is rationed to the poorer people. The poorer people who could not afford it had simply to put the sugar in the black market and were taking molasses. After the decontrol the richer people will get the sugar and the poorer people will be able to get their molasses which they were not able to get before.

It will be said, Sir, that millowners and businessmen will make a lot of money now. True. They made crores of rupees during the war period. But what happened? Scrupulous and unscrupulous income-tax officers had taken away the best part of it. Legitimate as well as illegitimate gains that they made were taken away—most of it—in that manner. The benefit of the additional income by this sugar policy may go to us. We may get some more temples, educational institutions and I think we may get a large grant.

All that I want to stress is that the Government must not follow a fitful policy, a policy which changes frequently. After all the success or failure of the policy of control or decontrol would be left to lie at the doors of the businessmen. If you say that if this policy is found to be a failure you will in a short time abolish it, then it will be a great temptation for the businessmen and millowners to make it a failure. I will say what happened in our own Province. Dhal was decontrolled in the early part of this year. After the merchants had brought dhal, the control was imposed with the result that they suffered a large amount of loss. Thereafter no dhal has been imported into the Province for same time. In Assam there is a movement, we have heard, to turn out the Bengalees. That silly movement has become a failure because that did not get support from sensible people. But the scarcity of dhal has achieved the object which those who were interested in driving out the Bengalees from Assam wanted to achieve. The absolute shortage of dhal made the Bengalees in Assam consider whether they should remain there any longer. I do not want that the Government should by their policy turn away any community of people from one place to another. I would again urge that there should be no fitful or ever-changing policy in regard to this matter.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel a little embarrassed, after the Government has taken its decision and has come to the Assembly having circulated its decision in advance. No doubt the resolution as it stands says that this matter may be taken into consideration. Members of the Assembly would have seen that food control being a very important matter, special days have been devoted to a discussion of the subject during every session of the Assembly. We have been accustomed to such debates and we have been exceedingly pleased with the manner in which the Honourable Minister in charge, Babu Rajendra Prasad, has been dealing with this matter. No better exposition on this subject has been heard by me during my long course of stay in this Assembly for over 12 and odd years. No doubt this matter did not come up before three or four years, but there was no occasion for that. But the exposition of the Honourable Minister of the whole subject was so lucid and I take this opportunity of paying my humble tribute, and I am sure my honourable friends will agree with me in saying that if he gives up this portfolio, we may not be able to get an equally competent person for his place, who ever he may be. We therefore thought that during these hazardous days he would be vouchsafed to us to steer clear of the impending trouble.

I come from a part of the Presidency, Sir, where out of its 20 odd districts, 5 districts have unfortunately been denied the grace of God. Almost every second year it has been in the throes of famine. Two or three days ago the Minister for Food in Madras, the Honourable Dr. T. S. S. Rajan, said that the food position in Madras was still grave. Sir, according to Western standards, 16 oz. of cereals alone per day may not be sufficient. If we adopt the standards of nutrition that prevail in America or England or any other country, we must be able to take 22 oz. of cereals plus meat and other things which give enormous calorific value. In my part of the Presidency, they started with 12 oz., reduced them to 10, then to 8 oz., and in some parts of the province to 6 oz. per week.

An Honourable Member: 6 oz. per day.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, it has come out as a slip of my tongue, possibly it may be 6 oz. a week if this decontrol should come about. Probably unwittingly God spoke through my mouth. I am sure those who are interested in decontrol are three sets of people—The merchants are there. They want higher prices; the producers are there. They want higher prices. The foolish consumers are there. Many of us have to be saved against ourselves. By standing for long hours in a queue, a man feels disgusted, and he cannot go and stand every Sunday. He forgets that at least by standing in the queue he is able to get 8 oz. a day; otherwise, he, his wife and his children will have to starve needlessly. Food ought not to be compared with other things. It is not every man who purchases cloth every year. Some people go naked, practically with a loin cloth. Therefore it is not safe to compare the seriousness of the cloth problem with the food problem. You can do away with control of cloth; similarly in respect of oil seeds. The lower class of the community, whether in the north or in the south, who live upon jowar chapattis do not want oil. They

[پنڈت تھاکر داس بھارگو]

بھی کیوں natural level پر نہیں آئیگی - اور اس کے آڑ جانے سے cultivators کو کوئی نقصان نہیں ہوگا یہاں پر نوے فی صدی producers & cultivators ہیں انکو ہر طرح سے کنٹرول ہٹائے جانے کی صورت میں فائدہ ہوگا اور اگر تھوڑی بہت قیمت بڑھ جانے سے انکو فائدہ ہی ہو جائے تو ہرج ہی کیا ہے جو کچھ آنریبل منسٹر نے اس کنٹرول کے ہٹائے جانے کے بارے میں کیا ہے وہ ملک کے لئے ہر لحاظ سے فائدہ مند چیز ہے - اسلئے میں انکی پالیسی کی تائید کرتا ہوں -

(English translation of the above speech.)

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker, on the subject of Food Control, I have heard two speeches: one delivered by Pt. Kunzru, the other by Mr. Balkrishna. Before this I did not know that in connection with Decontrol of Food, some of the people think that the supply of food in India is so small as indicated by them. If I had thought that the supply of food was so small, I would have advised for the continuation of the control. But I think that in India, supply of food is not so small as it is supposed. I belong to the Punjab, I know that my Province has ever been a surplus Province and I know this also that there is a scarcity of food in the South. The figures we have been given are, as I understand, also not reliable but, if these figures are accepted as true, even then, it is said that food is not so much scarce. During the last 12 years, that is, between 1935-36, and 1946-47, food has been scarce since 2 years only. I want to draw your attention to the figures about food which are available for the last 12 years.

The total production, in the last 12 years was 54,18,61,000 tons, and if its average is calculated the annual average comes to 4,51,55,000 tons. The total import between 1935-36, and 1946-47 for the same period are 59,78,000 tons, which gives an annual average of 4,97,000 tons.

If the annual averages of both Production and Imports are added it makes about 56,17,09,000 tons.

Thus, we arrive at this result that the average of our consumption of food per year was 46,76,05,000 tons on which we lived. As I have already said, taking only the average of annual production, for the last 12 years in India to be 45,15,05,000 tons, we calculate a deficit of 16,60,000 tons. I admit that with the separation of Pakistan we would have a deficit of nearly 4,00,000 tons, and in this manner the average annual deficit comes to about 20,00,000 tons during 12 years. As regards deficit in food, the Government is of opinion that it will be at an average of 6 per cent., but according to the figures, I have given here, there is a deficit of 4 per cent. only, and not more than this, i.e., if you consider the total production, and the total consumption, you will see that the deficit comes down to 4 per cent. only, and therefore, it cannot be said that our country is economically deficit for ever, and we shall have to import grain from abroad.

As a matter of fact, these figures supplied by the Government, are unreliable, and are not based on solid ground. Generally, the system of estimating production, except that in the Punjab and the U. P. is absolutely defective. Instead of the Patwari estimating how much each field has produced, and thereafter thoroughly scrutinizing it and then obtaining an estimate of the total production, he examines one field only and estimates its yield and then finds out the entire yield not only of the village, of the district and the Tehsil but of the entire Province. I would submit this fact also that the system of estimating the produce, in the Punjab and the U. P. too is defective. But, the system of calculation of products at other places in India is extremely bad. The correct method was to see how much each village produced, and then it would have been correctly estimated how much each tehsil produced. But, on the other hand, the produce of only a small field is estimated and on this basis the production of the whole district, and even of the whole province is estimated. This system is not correct.

Sir, the Government has started 'Grow More Food Campaign' for the last few years, and a great enthusiasm is being shown for it. The figures are being cited to indicate that so many more acres of land have been brought under cultivation, under this Campaign. If it is a fact that the cultivable land is increased, it necessarily follows that the product also would have increased; since the more the acres of land brought under cultivation the more the produce of the land. If it is a fact, then why there was a deficit in supply during the last two years. There was a bumper crop of 48,85,00,580 tons, which means that by the average calculated by us we need 46,00,00,000 tons only, and the average of the production for 1943-44 and of 12 years is very large, and it far exceeds this 46,00,000 tons. Sir, I therefore, beg to state that the production before the introduction of 'Grow More Food Campaign' was quite sufficient to live on, and no body remained hungry, and here enough of food grain was raised. I say, therefore, that our country is not a deficit country, as regards food grains, and therefore I cannot understand how can there be any fear of scarcity of grain in future, and of the people dying of hunger.

The second fact, Sir, is this that the evil effect of the 'Control' over the moral plane of the people in India, cannot be estimated, because due to the 'Control', the Supply Department, the traders, the industrialists, the capitalists, and all others have become dishonest; so much so, even the producer has become evil minded. Had this not happened, none would have remained hungry due to de-control.

The third fact is when we realise that there is actually a deficiency of food in the country, all efforts on speeding up its production will be concentrated, and a huge movement will be started in this connection.

In this country, enough food can be produced, so that after satisfying the needs of the country, it can be sent out abroad. Before the war began we were keeping alive without any control. During the war, the control system introduced by the Government, was to enable the Government to purchase commodities at rates cheaper than the controlled rates and to send the same abroad. This was therefore introduced to meet their own ends.

Besides all this, this is also said that here, there is a deficiency of manure. Ammonium Sulphate is not found in this country, and Nitrogen too is insufficient here. In this connection I submit that there is a lot of Potassium Nitrate, and our country is rich in this. And we know from experience that it is sold here at the rate of Rs. 8 per maund.

Apart from this, we have not even considered what we are producing. The price of land which produces 7 maunds of wheat, is equally capable of producing 180 maunds of carrot per acre. From experience, it is found that in this country the insufficiency of food is felt because the Government is sending under the control system wheat to Madras, rice to the Punjab, and gram to Travancore. These grains are not articles of food of these parts of the country. The people of those provinces, therefore, conclude that they have no food.

For proper Nutrition we have not yet found out any standard food, though serious thought should have been given to this matter. In England, during the war, the price of food was reduced by 20 per cent., and the Nutrition also improved under the standard system.

[بلڈت تھاکر داس بھارگو]

عام طور پر پنجاب اور یو پی کے بغیر جو سسٹم Productions کے اندازہ لگانے کا ہے وہ بالکل ہی خراب ہے۔ بجائے اس کے کہ پتواری یہ دیکھتا کہ ہر کھیت میں سے کتنی پیداوار نکالی ہے۔ اور اس طرح سے خوب چھان بین کر کے Products کا تخمینہ لگاتا وہ ایک کھیت کو دیکھتا ہے کہ اس میں کتنی پیداوار ہوئی ہے۔ اور اس کے مطابق گاؤں کا نہیں تحصیل کا نہیں بلکہ سارے ضلع یا Province کا تخمینہ لگا لیتا ہے۔ میں یہ بھی گزارش کروں گا کہ پنجاب اور یو پی میں بھی جو سسٹم Products کا تخمینہ لگانے کا ہے وہ بھی Defective ہے۔ لیکن ہندوستان کے دیگر مقامات پر Products کے figures نکالنے کا بہت ہی برا سسٹم ہے۔ چاہئے تو یہ تھا کہ وہ دیکھتے کہ کس گاؤں میں کتنا خرابہ ہوا ہے اور پھر تحصیل میں پورا پورا اندازہ لگایا جاتا۔ لیکن اس کے برعکس چھوٹی کسی ایک کھیتی کی پیداوار کو دیکھا جاتا ہے اور اس بنا پر ساری تسکرت اور ضلع کے Product کا تخمینہ لگایا جاتا ہے۔ یہ سسٹم درست نہیں ہے۔

جناب عالی! چند سالوں سے گورنمنٹ نے 'Grow more food' campaign شروع کیا ہے۔ اور اس بارے میں بہت زور و شور سے کام کیا جا رہا ہے۔ اور figures میں بتایا جاتا ہے کہ اس campaign کی وجہ سے اتنے ایکڑ بڑھا دئے گئے ہیں۔ اگر یہ ٹھیک ہے کہ cultivable land میں اضافہ ہو ہے تو یہ ضروری بات ہے کہ products میں بھی اضافہ ہوا ہوگا۔ کیونکہ جتنے ایکڑ زمین کو زیادہ کاشت کیا گیا ہے اتنی ہی تعداد production کی بھی بڑھ گئی ہوگی۔ اگر یہ ٹھیک ہے تو پھر پچھلے دو سالوں میں supply میں کمی ہوئی ہے سنہ ۴۲-۱۹۴۳ میں جو پیداوار یہاں پر ہوئی ہے وہ بہت زیادہ تھی۔ اور وہ اٹھتالیس کروڑ پچاسی لاکھ پانچ سو اسی تین تھی اس کے معنی یہ ہیں کہ جو average ہم نے نکالا ہے اس کے مطابق ہمیں چھتالیس کروڑ تین ہی ہسکو ضرورت ہے اور سنہ ۴۲-۱۹۴۳ میں اور جو ہم نے بارہ سال میں پیداوار کی ہے اس کے اوسط بہت زیادہ ہے۔ اور وہ اس چھتالیس لاکھ تین سے بہت زیادہ تھی۔ تو جناب! میری گزارش یہ ہے کہ اس گرو مور فوڈ campaign سے پہلے جو پیداوار ہوتی تھی اس سے ہم گزارہ کر سکتے تھے اور کوئی بھوکا نہیں رہتا تھا۔ اور یہاں پر کافی غلہ پیدا کیا جاتا رہا۔ اس لئے میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ ہمارا ملک Deficit country نہیں ہے جہاں تک یہ غلہ کی پیداوار کا تعلق ہے۔ اس لئے میں یہ نہیں سمجھ سکتا کہ اس بات کے ذکر کی کیا گنجائش ہے کہ یہاں پر غلہ نہیں ملے گا اور لوگ بھوکے رہیں گے۔ دوسری بات جناب! یہ ہے کہ کنٹرول سے ہندوستان کے مورل پلین پر جو نقصان ہوا ہے اس کا اندازہ نہیں لگایا جا سکتا ہے کیونکہ کنٹرول کی وجہ سے

Supply Department تجار و industrialist کو گاندھار سبھی بے ایمان ہو گئے ہیں اور یہاں تک کہ producer کی نیت بھی خراب ہو جاتی ہے۔ اگر ایسا نہ ہوتا تو decontrol کی وجہ سے کوئی بھی بھوکا نہ رہتا اور تیسری بات یہ ہے کہ جب ہسکو یہ پتہ چلیگا کہ ملک میں واقعی خوراک کی کمی ہے تو سارے effort اس کے بڑھانے میں لگائے جائیں گے اور اس بارے میں زبردست کام شروع ہوگا اس ملک میں اتنا خوراک پیدا ہو سکتا ہے کہ اپنی ضروریات کو پورا کر کے باہر کے ممالک میں بھی بھیج دیا جاسکتا ہے۔ لڑائی شروع ہونے سے پہلے ہم بغیر کسی کنٹرول کے زندہ رہتے تھے۔ لڑائی میں جو یہ کنٹرول کا سسٹم گورنمنٹ نے کیا اسی غرض سے جاری کیا کہ چیزیں گورنمنٹ کو control کی وجہ سے سستی ملیں گی اور باہر بھیجی جاسکیں گی۔ تو یہ انہوں نے اپنی غرض کے لئے کیا۔ اس کے علاوہ یہ کہا جاتا ہے کہ یہاں پر کھاد کی کمی ہے۔ امونیم سلفیڈ اس ملک میں نہیں ملتا اور نیٹروجن کی یہاں پر کمی ہے۔ اس بارے میں میری یہ گزارش ہے کہ اس ملک میں پوٹاشیم نائی ٹریٹ بہت ہے اور ہمارا ملک اس میں rich ہے۔ اور تجربہ یہ ہوا ہے کہ یہ یہاں پر آٹھ روپیہ فی من کے حساب سے مل سکتا ہے۔ اس کے علاوہ ہم نے اپنی پیداوار کی چیزوں پر کبھی غور نہیں کیا جس زمین میں سات من گہریں فی ایکڑ پیدا کیا جا سکتا ہے اس میں ایک سو اسی من گاجر پیدا کیا جا سکتا ہے۔ تجربہ سے یہ معلوم ہوا کہ یہاں پر فوڈ کی کمی کو اسوجہ سے بھی متحسوس کیا جاتا ہے کہ یہاں پر کنٹرول کی وجہ سے گورنمنٹ مدراس کے لئے گہیوں پنجاب کے لئے چارل تیار کرنے کے لئے چلا بھیج دیتی ہے۔ یہ ان ممالک کے foods نہیں ہیں اور جب ان جگہوں کے لوگوں کو اصلی food کی بجائے دیگر صوبوں کے food grains ملتے ہیں تو وہ یہی خیال کرتے ہیں کہ یہاں پر Food نہیں ہے ہم نے یہاں پر یہ نہیں دیکھا کہ صحیح نیوٹریشن کے لئے کون سے standard food چاہیے۔ حالانکہ اس بارے میں بہت خیال کرنا چاہئے تھا۔ ولایت میں لڑائی کے زمانہ میں ۲۰ فی صدی خوراک کی قیمت میں کمی ہو گئی اور نیز nutrition اچھی اس standard کی وجہ سے ہو گئے۔ control کے ہٹا لینے سے سب کا فائدہ ہے اور consumer کو بھی نقصان نہیں ہوگا بلکہ فائدہ رہیگا۔ اور چیزوں کی قیمتیں ضرور natural level پر آئیں گی۔ جناب! یہاں دہلی میں چند روز ہوئے کہ ایک روپیہ سیر بکتی تھی لیکن اب control ہٹ جانے سے روپیہ کی قیمت سیر ملتی ہے۔ اسی طرح سے لوگوں کو آونی کپڑا نہیں ملتا تھا۔ اور کنٹرول کی وجہ سے اب چالیس چالیس روپیہ فی گز مہر رہا۔ لیکن decontrol ہونے کی وجہ سے اب ہنی کپڑا پندرہ اور بارہ روپیہ گز ملتا ہے۔ اگر ان چیزوں کی قیمتیں natural level پر آنے لگی ہیں تو کوئی وجہ نہیں کہ کنٹرول اڑ جانے سے غلہ کی قیمتیں

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

All will benefit by the lifting of the control, and the consumer also will not suffer loss but will gain, and the prices of commodities will come to the natural level. Sir, here in Delhi, a few days ago dal was sold at Re. 1 a seer, but now due to the lifting of the control the same is sold at 1½ seers per rupee. Similarly, the people could not get wollen cloth, and under control, it was sold at Rs. 40 a yard, but due to the decontrol the same is sold now at Rs. 12 or Rs. 15 a yard. There is no reason why the prices of the food grains also will not come down to the natural level, if those of cloth are coming down to the natural level. The cultivators also will not suffer loss. In India, there are 90 per cent. cultivators and producers who will be benefitted, in every way with the lifting of control. If they gain due to a little increase in prices, it matters a little. Whatever has been said, by the Honourable Minister in favour of lifting of the control is, in all respects, advantageous for the country. I, therefore, support this policy.

Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen (West Bengal: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, at the end of the war we thought that we had come to the end of all controls. Today the Honourable the Minister of Food has inaugurated gradual de-control and therefore the whole country will heave a sigh of relief. Mahatma Gandhi raised the slogan of 'Quit India'; our Honourable the Food Minister has raised the slogan of 'Quit Control', and if we co-operate with him—the growers, the consumers, the traders and the legislators—in the new policy enunciated by him, it will be a success. Mahatma Gandhi believes in decentralisation both in economy and in administration. We therefore do not want control. We know that this control only helped a small percentage of our population. It helped only the industrial population and the urban population. It did not help the growers. All the subsidy that was given by the Government of India to the extent of Rs. 20 crores or 22 crores went to the consumers and not to the growers. The present food policy enunciated by the Honourable the Food Minister will help the growers. The Provincial Governments will not get as much cereal as they had been getting. The commitments of the India Government will be less and India Government will pay a procurement bonus of As. 8 a maund. This will help the growers. They will purchase manures and other things.

Coming to the Provincial Governments, Sir, they should also get more help in the shape of small minor irrigation schemes. More impetus should be given to the 'Grow More Food Campaign'. The G.M.F.C. of the former Government miserably failed. It could not grow anything. It only grew food on leaflets, pamphlets and posters. Today the food policy enunciated by the Honourable the Food Minister is a revolutionary policy, because we want a decentralised system of economy in our country, and to make it successful we want de-control. We shall have one full year's time. We shall be able to grow more food during this time and then we shall see whether Mahatma Gandhi's de-control cry is a false cry or a true cry. As Indians we are individualistic as the Chinese are. In China the control system has absolutely failed. Here also it has failed. There has been bribery; there has been corruption and so many other anti-social things. It has failed because the Indian genius is against all kinds of controls. Therefore, I support the food policy enunciated by the Honourable the Food Minister. I hope our country will stand by his side and help him. I know he will not be here. But he will lead us outside as the President of the Indian National Congress and this is a work which the Indian National Congress will also take up. The All-India Congress Committee announced a new policy of gradual de-control in its Resolution. When we go back to our constituencies I hope we shall follow that new programme and make de-control a success.

Shri Khandubhai K. Desai (Bombay: General): Sir, it is rather difficult to say in any definite manner anything about the exploratory food policy initiated so lucidly by Honourable the Food Minister. However looking to the present practical consideration before the country, I have no hesitation in according my qualified support to this policy in view of the assurance given by Honourable the Food Minister that if there is any sign of breakdown of that policy, he or the Government would have no hesitation in imposing rigorous and rigid control, particularly if the traders would not play a fair game. This policy has come before us as a result of the agitation of the producers as also by the traders. The producers wanted more prices; Of course the traders have lost their trade and naturally they want de-control with a view to profit-

3 P.M. ing; and this policy appears to be based on the assumption that the country has got more food at its disposal, but it is not coming out and, therefore, Sir, I said that this is an exploratory policy to explore if there is really more food which the cultivator is not out to make available to the citizens who are non-producing. The House, no doubt, knows that in this country there are not less than about 100 million non-producers and they are more or less equally divided between the rural areas and the urban areas. If the prices were to go up, and it is feared that the prices may go up to some extent, the situation may call for consideration by the Government. The producers today want more prices; at the same time they also require agricultural labour to produce and ultimately agricultural labour will get better wages and higher prices they may get will thus be neutralized. Therefore, Sir, taking all these into consideration, the Honourable the Food Minister has stated that there is some hope of success and so I would consider his policy as a policy of suppressed or restrained optimism. Let us hope that this optimism may be fulfilled.

Now, Sir, Pandit Kunzru and some other Honourable friends have discussed this matter and have stated that this is a retrograde policy and it is against the accepted canons of present day economic philosophy in the world. Let us see to what extent it is true. I can certainly understand the economic control provided that control is evolved in this country with a plan, scheme and consideration. Has this policy of the control of food come into this country as a result of any planning, any scheme and any future consideration? No, Sir. This policy has developed in this country as a result of war, scarcity and as a result of artificial scarcity and it has grown as we have already seen in a haphazard way. We have seen throughout the last 3½ years that some Provinces have got their own prices, some provinces have got their ban on certain food products; sometimes the Government of India has accepted that as an accomplished fact without consideration as to what it is or what it is not. If the country wants to embark on a controlled economy with a view to control the profiteers and the interest or the dividend, it would have to be a whole integrated planning. You cannot have the controlled planning only in the matter of food. It has been stated that the food policy has failed. There have been difficulties, I know particularly for the high class of people who used to get very high quality of commodities and materials and there have been some black-marketing. Let us not, while criticising this food policy forget that the black-marketing, as far as food was concerned was negligible compared to the industrial products, because, after all, this black marketing also was the result of the black marketing in the industrial products. Let us see how many people have bought food in the black market. As I have stated, Sir, there are about 100 million non-producers, out of which I should say that more than 99 millions must have purchased their requirements at the prices fixed and very negligible rich persons would have gone in the black market. After all in a city, in the urban areas it is the rich people who indulge in that marketing and their number may hardly be 5 per cent. of the total number. When compared to the black market in other industrial products like cloth or steel or cement or even sugar, I think the food policy has to a certain extent succeeded.

[Shri Khandubhai K. Desai]

I give my qualified support to this policy in view of the fact that we want more food and there has been a cry round about the country that the producer is not giving the food. Let us try this; we want more food and I think the Government has come to this conclusion in order to see if we are able to produce more food.

Another important matter which I would like to place before the House is that if the prices will go up, as it is apprehended, there will be some sort of industrial unrest. Though most of the workers working in the factories are today getting dearness allowance according to the rise in the cost of living, I must admit and confess that during the last ten years even though the workers have got high money wages, their real wages have gone down. Somebody has raised the question that the standard of living has gone up; I do not agree with that, because the dearness allowance that they are getting does not fully equalize the rise in the cost of living and therefore Sir, may I suggest to the Honourable the Food Minister that it is in the interest of the national economy just at present to see that as far as cities are concerned, the prices should not go up in the matter of food. The Honourable Minister may say: "Where am I going to get the funds?" I may suggest that the industries may be called upon to give a levy to the Government, because if the prices will go up as the dearness allowance is correlated with the rise in the cost of living to that extent he may be able to save the large increase in the dearness allowance and this is a useful source of income which may stabilize our economy to some extent.

With these words, Sir, I have not the slightest hesitation in supporting the food policy enunciated by the Government of India, but at the same time, Sir, I must warn the Government and the Honourable the Food Minister, in the concluding paragraph of his food policy he has very clearly stated that there is risk and the Government is aware of the risk and they will see how the policy is going to be worked out by holding frequent conferences and if there is the slightest sign of the breakdown of the present policy, he would have no hesitation in imposing rigorous control, this present Government is the first democratic Government in this country and that as far as food is concerned, no Government much less the existing one can take any risk. I hope that this risk will not be taken and let us hope the country may not have to face any risk.

श्री जयनारायण व्यास : सभापति जी, जो वक्तव्य हमारे माननीय फूड मिनिस्टर साहब ने कंट्रोल के बारे में दिया है, उसमें कोई शक नहीं है कि हमारी जन-कारी के लिए बहुत रूपेण मसले हैं लेकिन साथ ही साथ इसमें कोई शक नहीं है कि हमारे कहने के लिए भी बहुत सारे मसले हैं, और मैं समझता हूँ जो बातें मेरे पूर्व वक्ता ने भाई खंडू भाई देसाई ने कही हैं उस डेमोक्रेसी (Democracy) का समर्थन तब ही होगा जब हम इस कंट्रोल की पौलिसी का पोस्टमार्टम (Post mortem) करें, अभी यह साफ़ तरीके से मालूम नहीं हुआ है कि आया यह डी-कंट्रोल है या री-कंट्रोल है, लेकिन यह बात जरूर कही जाती है कि यह कंट्रोल युद्ध की वजह से चालू किया गया था और चूंकि अब युद्ध नहीं है इसलिए इस कंट्रोल की पौलिसी को हमें खत्म करना चाहिये और पड़ेगा, युद्ध नहीं है यह कहना तो ठीक है लेकिन मैं समझता हूँ कि हिन्दुस्तान में अभी युद्ध है, काशमीर में जो युद्ध हो रहा है वह एक किस्म का युद्ध है और वह खत्म होता दीखता नहीं है, इसके साथ ही साथ जो अलग-अलग तत्व हैं वह युद्ध कर रहे हैं अमीर गरीबों के साथ युद्ध कर रहे हैं और हर प्रकार से षड्यन्त्र करने की

कोशिश कर रहे हैं। चीनी पर से कंट्रोल हटता देखते ही शूगर सैन्डीकेट ने एक किस्म से बार कर दी है, पहिले २१ रुपया प्रति मन का भाव था मगर जब कंट्रोल उठ जाने की खबर मिली तो उन लोगों ने ३५ रुपया प्रति मन का भाव कर दिया। साथ ही साथ युद्ध हिन्दुस्तान के लिए नहीं था बल्कि युद्ध का असर दूसरे मुल्कों पर भी पड़ा, इसका असर इंग्लैंड के ऊपर पड़ा, अमेरिका के ऊपर पड़ा और कनैडा के ऊपर पड़ा लेकिन अभी वहां कंट्रोल का सिलसिला जारी है, इसके बारे में हमें थोड़ा-सा ध्यान देना पड़ेगा, हम देखते हैं कि इंग्लैंड में अभी तक कंट्रोल है और वह उठाया नहीं गया है और वहां कंट्रोल जारी है, कनैडा और आस्ट्रेलिया में जहां कि अनाज बहुत पैदा होता है वहां कीमतों पर कंट्रोल है और वहां भी अभी तक कंट्रोल नहीं उठाया गया है, बेशक अमेरिका में कंट्रोल उठा लिया गया है, अमेरिका में लड़ाई के पहिले जो अनुपात था वह १४८ था और अब वह १६१ आ गया है, और वहां यह कोशिश जारी है कि जो डी-कंट्रोल हो गया है उसको उठाया जाय, इन हालातों में जब हम कंट्रोल को उठाये तो इससे पहिले हमें थोड़ी सी बातों की तरफ ध्यान देना पड़ेगा, इसके उठाने से हम सैल्फ़ साफ़िसेन्ट (Self sufficient) हो जायेंगे मगर यह डर है कि हम सैमी स्टारविंग (Semi starving) या डाइंग (Dying) में न पहुंच जाय, इसलिए हमें इस बात की तरफ ध्यान देना होगा कंट्रोल के सिलसिले में दूसरी जगहों और इलाकों में इसका क्या असर हुआ और क्या नुकसान उठाना पड़ा, चूंकि मैंने कंट्रोल देखा है और उसका अनुभव जानता हूँ, स्टेट में खास तौर से कंट्रोल का सिलसिला किस तरह से होता है, स्टेटों में इस जमाने में ५ फी एकड़ जमीन का घर है, दरअसल स्टेटों में जिस तरह से कंट्रोल किया जाता है वह कहने लायक नहीं है, मैं जोधपुर का रहने वाला हूँ वह जागीरदार सब बोरे के बोरे शक्कर अपने कब्जे में कर लेते हैं और किसी भाव अपने दोस्तों को देते हैं वे सामान्त लोगों के पास शक्कर चली जाती है और वे लोग किसी भाव उसको बेचते हैं, अनाज जो आता है तो सबसे अच्छा अनाज वे जागीरदार लोग अपने मित्रों को दे देते हैं और अन्त में जो खराब बच जाता है गरीबों को मजबूरन लेना पड़ता है, और उन गरीबों को ज्यादा दाम देने पड़ते हैं, वह कंट्रोल नहीं था बल्कि एक मखौल था। कंट्रोल कोई बुरी चीज नहीं थी बल्कि उस चीज पर कंट्रोल अच्छी तरह से नहीं किया गया अगर कंट्रोल को अच्छे तरीके से काम में लाया जाता तो यह चीज नहीं होती।

मैं आप से यह अर्ज कर रहा था कि स्टेट में इस कंट्रोल को एक वैपन (weapon) में की तरह से इस्तेमाल किया जा रहा था, हमारे स्टेट में जागीरदारों को ४ बोरे इस कंट्रोल की वजह से मिल जाते हैं। वकील को ३ बोरे और इस तरह से लोगों के लिए पर कैपिटा (per capita) काटो बंधा हुआ है, मगर गांव वालों के लिए जो पर कैपिटा (per capita) है वह उन लोगों को नहीं मिलता है।

Shri A. P. Pattani: Is the Honourable member speaking for all the states?

श्री जयनारायण व्यास : हां में सब रियासतों के बारे में कह रहा हूं कि जो पर-कैपिटा लोगों को मिलता था वह नहीं बांटा गया, भावनगर में भी यह बात हुई है और मैं चैलेंज देकर यह बात कहता हूं।

जनाब वाला, दरअसल चीज़ यह है कि कंट्रोल की जरूरत उस जगह नहीं पड़ती है जहां पर चीज़ बहुत ज्यादा पैदा होती है, जैसे कि पंजाब में अनाज बहुत पैदा होता है इसलिए वहां वगैर कंट्रोल के काम चल जाता है, लेकिन जिस जगह चीज़ कम पैदा होती है जैसे कि मद्रास और बम्बई में वहां कंट्रोल की जरूरत रहती है। कंट्रोल की वजह से इन प्रांतों में जनता को बहुत फायदा हुआ है और उनकी रक्षा भी हो गई है, अगर इन जगहों से कंट्रोल हटा दिया गया तो वहां बहुत से लोग भूखों से मर जायेंगे और यह चीज़ ऐसी ही होगी जैसे मौत में से जान उठा ली गई हो। इसलिए उन इलाकों से जहां अनाज की कमी है कंट्रोल को न उठाया जाय, लेकिन दो जगह दो नीति नहीं हो सकती हैं, जैसा कि अभी फरमाया गया है कि अगर यह कामयाब साबित नहीं होगा तो हम फिर कंट्रोल कर देंगे तो क्या यह बात सम्भव है? जैसा कि अभी इस भवन में बतलाया गया कि हमको अपने फीगर्स (figures) पर भरोसा है, मगर पंजाब से जहां से हमको काफी गेहूं मिलता था जब वह हमारे हाथ से चला गया है तो हमको किस बात पर भरोसा करना होगा, लेकिन कल्पना करना बहुत मुमकिन है खतरे से खाली नहीं होगा मगर अगर गवर्नमेंट इस कंट्रोल को करती है तो यह डेमोक्रेसी (Democracy) के खिलाफ है। अगर हमको इस में कामयाबी नहीं हुई और हमको फिर भी कंट्रोल करना पड़ा तो बहुत मुमकिन है कि यह सिस्टैमिक डेथ (systematic Death) हो जायगी और कुछ नहीं होने वाला है।

(English translation of the above speech.)

Shri Jai Narain Vayas (Jodhpur State): Mr. Speaker: There is no doubt that the speech which the Honourable the Minister of Food has delivered in connection with the control Policy contains many adages which have been added to our knowledge. But at the same time there are undoubtedly many problems which are to be discussed by us. And I realize that we could only support this Democracy which has been referred to by my previous speaker Shri Khandubhai Desai when we perform the post-mortem operation of this control policy. It has not yet been clearly understood whether this is de-control or re-control. But it must be said that this control was introduced on account of war. And now because there is no war, therefore, we should end this policy of control, and we shall have to do this. It is correct to say that there is no war. But I think that war still exists in India. The fight which is going on in Kashmir is a sort of War and it does not seem to end. Along with this there is a tug of war between separatist elements. The capitalists are at war with the poor, and they are trying to machinate in every possible manner. On the removal of control on sugar, the Sugar Syndicate has waged some sort of war. Formerly the rate was Rs. 21 per maund, but when the news regarding decontrol were received, then these people raised the price to Rs. 35 per maund. At the same time the war did not concern India only, but it had its effect on other countries also. It affected England, America and Canada, but the control system is still existing there. We shall have to devote some attention to this. We know that control still exists in England and it has not been removed and it is continuing there. In Canada and Australia where the foodgrains are abundantly grown there is the price-control and there too the control has not as yet been withdrawn. No doubt the control has been removed in America. The ratio that was existing in America before war was 148 and now it has risen upto 191. And on the contrary, efforts are being made there that the decontrol should be removed. Under these circumstances, when we remove the control, we shall have to examine a few things. By its removal we will become self-sufficient but it is apprehended lest we may not be driven towards the semi-starvation or dying state. Therefore, we shall have to think over this matter—what has been the repercussion of control in other places and spheres and what loss has had to be sustained? I have seen control and have a personal experience of it. What is the particular type of control arrangement in force in the states? In the states now-a-days a house covers 5 acres of land. In fact I am not able to describe the manner in which the control is enforced in the states. I belong to Jodhpur. There the landlords keep all the bags of shakar in their possession and give it to their friends at any rate. This sugar goes into the hands of feudal landlords and they sell it at the desired rate. The best portion of the foodgrains that are produced are made over by the landlords to their friends; and ultimately the poor are compelled to purchase the balance that remains and these poor people are obliged to pay more prices. That was not a control but merely a hoax. Control was not a bad thing, but no proper control was imposed. Had the control been worked in a better way, then this state of affairs would not have arisen.

I was just telling you that this control was being used like a weapon in the state. In our state the landlords get 4 bags and pleaders 3 bags as a result of this control, and in this way the per capita quota is fixed. But the villagers are not able to get the per capita quota fixed for them.

Shri A. P. Pattani: Is the Honourable Member speaking for all the states?

Shri Jai Narain Vayas: Yes. I am speaking in respect of all the states that the per capita quota that was allotted to the people had not been distributed. This has happened in Bhavnagar also and while saying this I give a challenge.

Sir, as a matter of fact the necessity of control does not arise in a place where the commodity is abundantly produced. Take the case of Punjab which produces bumper harvests and there the control can be dispensed with. But the necessity of control remains in the case of deficit areas where the production is low as in Bombay and Madras. The people in these Provinces have been considerably benefitted on account of control and they have been saved also. If the control is removed from these places, then many people will die of starvation there. And this will mean an untimely death for them. Therefore, the control should not be removed from those places where there is a shortage of foodstuffs. But there cannot be different policies for different places. Just as it has been stated now that if this policy is not proved successful, we will re-impose control. Is it possible then? Just as it has been told in this House that we are depending on our figures (estimates), but on what source shall we have to depend when we have lost Punjab from where we could get sufficient foodstuff. But it is very likely that this assumption will not be free from risk. But if the Government imposes this control it is against democracy. If we do not succeed in this and have again to resort to remove decontrol, then it would result in 'systematic death'. And nothing else will happen.

Mr. Hussain Imam (Bihar: Muslim): Sir, I must confess that knowing the Honourable Food Minister as I do, knowing how great a disciple he is of Mahatma Gandhi and how greatly he is devoted to him, I was afraid that the statement of Government policy would be worse than what I found. I think he has tried to find a middle course between two dilemmas of irresistible force and irremovable mass. On the one side, while the dictation of the Mahatma could not be disregarded, the apprehensions which his advisers felt and the facts and figures presented to him could also not be ignored. It is very essential that while we are considering the food situation, we should try and understand the background.

[Mr. Hussain Imam]

The first background which must be taken into consideration is that the cultivator is better off. He gets a better price for his produce with the result that in order to meet his requirements he need not now sell as much as he was forced to sell in the days of low prices. He consumes more himself. That is the first change in the situation which you must take into account.

Then the second factor which you cannot ignore is that your population is growing every day, and the means of increasing production—I mean available virgin soil or the soil which can be improved by means of irrigation or other methods—is not keeping pace. Therefore, there is always a lag between the requirements and the production, just as there is usually a lag between the wages and the rising prices.

The third item which must not be disregarded is, that it is not necessary for a country that it should be self-sufficient in the matter of food. England has been carrying on for all these years in spite of being in a deficit. It is the national income which is the real criterion of your wellbeing. If your national income, which means the sum total of productivity, including labour, is high, it does not matter if we have to import. There is no sin in it. There is nothing to be ashamed of. There is nothing which is categorically wrong in it. We have been always living on imports from outside geographical India but because of the fact that the British Empire had combined Burma with India, we were masking this factor. The separation of Pakistan will bring into prominence the dependence of Pakistan on the textiles of India and the dependence of India on jute from Pakistan. Formerly it was not apparent because the two formed part of the same country. Now these factors are operating. So it is not an easy matter to decide that imports are not in the best interests of the country.

There are certain standards by which we may go. Firstly, has the price of foodgrains gone up more in India than in other countries of the world? That is the first criterion by which I should judge whether the controls have kept the prices so low that production is not increasing. If we compare it either with the United States, Australia or Canada, we will find that increase even in the controlled commodities is much higher than in those countries. I admit that in England particularly they have kept down prices by means of subsidies, but America has not done it. There the prices are low because they have got a large production. But in spite of large production and in spite of the fact that they must find a market, they are taking advantage, as the Honourable the Food Minister has stated, of increasing the price which they are charging to us. Why? Because they think we are dependent on them. But I ask, is any single trader in a better position to bargain with America than the Ministry of Food was able to bargain? If there are five private buyers on behalf of India, each working in his own interest, will they be able to bring down the prices, or will the Central Purchase by means of the Food Ministry bring down prices? If you are to remove control, what will be the result? Please forget that India can be self-sufficient unless there has been a ten years' lag in which you may build up your irrigation works. Then you may be able to produce enough for your consumption; but today it is not a question of short duration, we have been working for six years and working at a deficit. The foodgrains is not a stable article which can be kept in storage for an indefinite period. It is liable to deteriorate as has been the sad experience of the Honourable Minister. We are either ignorant of the factors or we are really taking things too easy. We feel that it is enough to accuse a person—Give a dog a bad name and then hang him for it: Put all the blame on the controls and ask for its removal, and the moment it is removed we will be on velvet. That is not so. You have got the example of the foreign Government which has gone. You have had your own men in the Government for over a year now. A large amount of foodgrains from India used to be exported in the past but today we know how great is the restriction on export except for victualling the ships.

I do not wish to take up the time of the House. I wish to say that control is very essential in the interests of the consumers—and let me tell you that the consumers are by far the greater proportion of the population of India than the producers. It is a truth that producers are always less than consumers. For instance, I find an interesting figure in the Famine Committee Report in which the number of surplus producers in Bengal was found to be less than 30 per cent. of the cultivators, not of the population. The rest of the producers are either deficit themselves or just sufficient for their consumption. They have not any surplus to sell out. Now the price structure is simply to attract the surplus produce out of the surplus producers: not from those who are deficit producers as they will always have to buy with the other consumers.

One factor which the Honourable the Finance Minister and the Transport Minister should remember is that according to the recommendations of the Pay Commission report any rise in food prices will mean a consequential rise in the wages which are to be given to the railwaymen, to the army and to other employees of Government. For every ten point rise, you will be called upon to pay three crores. So that is another argument in favour of keeping prices down.

Is it possible, I ask, to keep down prices in the condition of scarcity without control? It is begging the question. Until we are assured of either internal increased production or external imports in an increased proportion, we will have to continue to muddle through with controls. No one can take the cudgels on behalf of the control staff. There have been blunders and moral turpitude. There have been many mistakes and they must be removed. We wish, Sir, that this policy of wait and see should continue at least for one year more. That is the least possible period in which we should experiment. Secondly, we must build up a stock in our own keeping of at least one million tons as was recommended by the Krishnamachari Committee and endorsed by the Vijayaraghavachari Committee also. Surely we must see that prices in the meantime of other foodgrains which we decontrol do not rise above the controlled rates by more than 10 to 15 per cent. I think the Honourable Food Minister made a wrong comparison between the black market prices and grey market prices. He should have compared the white market prices and the present grey market prices. There is one fact which I got from the Government's own Blue Book on the food policy. That whereas the prices of foodgrains have risen from 100 in September 1939 to 360, the prices of the cultivators' requisites such as kerosene, galvanised sheets, textiles, etc., have risen to 233. As it is with the control the price is 50 per cent. higher. Therefore the present day prices are not unfair to the producer and it is wrong to ask that the surplus producer should be allowed to exploit the general public of India. If you take the population at 30 crores, I do not think that the surplus producers will reach a crore. It is not a big capitalist exploitation, it is a small capitalist exploitation. Therefore I think we should watch and see what is the best policy for the Government to adopt. I am grateful to the Government for the policy which they propose to adopt and I hope they will move slowly, cautiously and not in any hurry to do away with the controls.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C. P. and Berar: General): Sir, the House was supplied by the Honourable Food Minister with the recommendations of the Committee on the 1st December and today we are supplied with the recommendations of the Government. The materials before the House and the committee's report are so silent that the House is not in a position to come to any proper decision on the recommendations of the Committee. The recommendations should not be merely a guiding factor. The whole case is not made out by the Committee so that the House may know as to what led them to come to this conclusion. The Committee has not yet sent its report to the Government. I do not see why there should have been so much haste in Government deciding a policy, without themselves studying the report of the Committee. Sir, I know of a judge who in the text of the judgement had given very sound reasons for convicting the accused but at the end he had put in two sentences "I acquit the accused." Whereas the content of the judgment was for conviction the final decision was the reverse. Similarly I do not know what are the reasons that the Committee had for recommending this. Probably this House may come to a different decision if they knew the full facts and the reasons that led the Committee to make these recommendations. I therefore feel that the Government's decision is premature. There would have been nothing wrong in the Government waiting for sometime until the full report was received and considered by Government and also placed before this House for its final decision. At present I am at any rate at a disadvantage to come to a decision merely on the recommendations of the Committee.

The arguments advanced here are that unless there is planned economy for all articles the controls will never be successful. Granted that that in principle is correct, may I ask those who advocate that policy is it fair that the control which at present gives some relief to a large number of consumers should be taken away by the Government? Is it a sound policy? My friend Mr. Khandubai Desai said that there are only one crore of people who reside in the cities. If you take the Census Report you will find that 13 per cent of the population live in the cities. This means more than 5 crores of people live in towns and cities. After all these people have to live as well. If you remove the rationing system and gradually come to the decision that it should be decontrolled

An Honourable Member: What What about the kisans?

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: I am coming to kisans. It is stated that the kisans will be benefitted. While de-controlling sugar, sugar millowners have raised prices. The price was Rs. 20/12 before decontrol, and the Syndicate itself states that in future the price shall be Rs. 35 and Government have agreed to this price, so far as I understand

An Honourable Member: What about the kisans?

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: I am coming to kisans. It is stated that the kisans will be benefitted. While de-controlling sugar, sugar millowners have raised labourers and the growers of sugarcane. It is a very good thing to divide it this way but why at the cost of the consumers? Why should not the owners of the industry pay the labourer and the kisans? That would have been graceful, honourable and justifiable. That would really prove that the owners of the factories are now prepared to support the Government and to co-operate with the Government as the Honourable Minister has been pleading for. In his concluding remarks the Honourable Minister mentioned so many IFS—If this is done by so and so, etc., and he expected everybody will do so. He appealed to this House, to every member of this House and to owners, traders also the consumers to co-operate with him. We are ready to co-operate with him. I may inform him that the consumers have already co-operated with the Government when they reduced the rations from 16 to 12 oz., from 12 to 8 and from 8 to 6 oz. But how have the landlords or big zamindars, big food-growers have helped the Government?

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Has my Honourable friend lived on 6 oz.?

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: It is therefore unfair to the consumer or the city people. Sir, I do not know the exact definition of an agriculturist. He may be a big zamindar or a small peasant. I know of two instances where a very big zamindar called himself an agriculturist. Government has given them 60 per cent more on the sugar price. How are we to be sure that the consumers will be treated fairly by this system of de-control. Government are a party to giving 60 per cent more to the sugar industry owners. Heaven knows what will the price when the sugar comes actually to the consumer. Sir we know the price in Delhi after decontrol. Sir, time is short and you have already warned me. The Honourable Minister should concentrate his attention on increasing the production. The Government have a policy in this matter of production of foodgrains. Also they should have a reserve by the import of foodgrains as also through internal purchase as much as possible. Much attention should be given to that part and then let us see what happens.

The policy which has been enunciated is one of gradual decontrol. But very sweeping reforms are advocated by Provincial Governments. The Provincial Governments are asked to fix prices as they like with the result that one Government may fix one price and another Government may fix quite another price for the same article.

Sir, as my time is over I would conclude by saying that I do not support the Honourable Minister's proposal for decontrolling gradually. Particularly in the interests of the consumers of the cities I would like him to see to it that there is no control for the time being.

Mr. T. J. M. Wilson (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, at the outset I would thank the Government for the manner in which they have considered the food problem and the evident hesitation with which they reconsidered question of controls. I am sure that all of us present here share with the Government the anxiety about the dissatisfaction of the people in regard to the controls. At the same time I am sure that the Government knows—and they have stated so in their communique—that this dissatisfaction on the part of the people is largely psychological. But what is the reason for the reconsideration of the question of controls and for the consequent policy of progressive reduction of the Government's commitments in the matter of control and rationing? The reason generally given is that there is in fact no shortage of foodgrains at all in the country and that therefore no control is necessary. This is far from the truth. India has always been short of foodgrains. And even before the war we were importing foodgrains, chiefly rice, in the neighbourhood of 2 million tons. Nothing that has happened either during the war or after the war is likely to have made good this shortage of food products. For, on the one hand, on the positive side the Government has admitted the ineffectiveness of the 'Grow More Food' Campaign, and on the negative side, we have had a fail in the last two years' kharif crop due to the vagaries of wind and weather and we have the other factors like increase in the population, rise in the incomes of people etc. Therefore the argument that there is indeed no shortage of rice or other foodgrains at all is not correct. The Government communique itself does not refer to it, and it can therefore be safely asserted that the official estimate of a deficit of 4 million tons is not far too wrong and that there is therefore a real gap between production and demand in this country.

Then the argument is that control in fact does nothing to bridge the gap effectively between production and demand. Their argument is that this control in fact impedes that process by acting as an obstacle both to increased production and to the free movement of foodgrains. Regarding this free movement, it is true that free market forces will enable free movements of foodgrains, but there is this fact, that free market forces will respond only to the price factor and not to the need factor. Consequently the burden of the overall shortage of food products rests on the poor people. Regarding increased production it is said that control prices are unremunerative and that decontrol would fetch better prices for the producers, that is the ryots, in other words decontrol would stimulate production because it will send up the level of food prices. But then there will be a consequential rise in the wages and also in the general level of prices. In other words there will be inflation. Of what avail is it then to the producer or the ryot if the slight increase in food prices is offset by this all-round inflation? But the Government does not seem to take this view. On the contrary they seem to take the view that with the removal of controls and with the free movement of foodgrains the consumers will get these foodgrains at fair prices which, as I have already argued, will never be the case.

[Mr. T. J. M. Wilson.]

There is, however, one relieving feature in the Government policy and that is that it has not accepted in toto the spirit of the recommendations of the Foodgrains Committee in the matter of imports. There has of late been a good deal of talk about the heavy expenditure incurred upon these imports and the heavy drainage of our foreign exchange resources, etc., and that these imports should therefore stop immediately. It is well that the Government has seen that the question of stopping or of reducing imports does not arise at all unless the overall production in the country increases considerably. Increased production is a long process. It requires so many things. It involves a radical change in our land revenue system,—not only the zamindari but also other systems—a radical change in the outlook of government officials in charge of revenue who from my experience are largely responsible for the slow pace of the 'Grow More Food Campaign,' and also a number of scientific methods in agriculture. What is the Government going to do, I ask, by saving foreign exchange resources and by importing capital machinery if a number of people in the meanwhile die for want of food and if workers are made incapable of doing any physical work at all because of malnutrition and under-feeding spread over a length of time?

The decision regarding the Procurement Prices to be fixed by the Provincial Governments, the grant of bonus and its utilisation in the distribution of manures and fertilizers—is perhaps welcome though I doubt very much the success of the procurement on account of the increase of prices in the foodgrains. The reason is that I know from personal experience that it is the repeated offer of bonus and the temptation of an increase of price in the foodgrains that has made a number of producers to hoard in the hope that they will get more when there is a further increase.

After reading the Statement of the Government one feels, Sir, that the Statement itself makes a stronger case for controls than any arguments advanced from outside. Government themselves admit the food shortage in the country. They themselves admit that the policy entails a certain amount of risk. Why then does Government take the decision? Is it because of the dissatisfaction of the people which can be easily remedied by tightening the controls and by improving the control machinery? The only reason seems to be, as stated in the statement, the expectation that decontrol would bring out more stocks than at present under the control and that these stocks would be distributed without hoarding and profiteering. Does the Government really think that there are large supplies in the black market and that if released they would entirely meet the needs of the people? If that is so, the pressure of these supplies will itself smash the black market prices and the black market itself. That is a simple truth. Is it not a confession on the part of the popular Government with nearly 100 per cent. of the people behind it to say that it cannot bring out these small hoarded stocks unless it ran this grave risk—a risk which the Government itself admits? Or does the Government think, as it seems to do, that it is tired of the responsibility? If so, I ask, is it not unjust on the part of a popular Government to shirk its primary and responsible duty of feeding the people entrusted to its care? The name of Mahatma Gandhi has often been drawn into this discussion. But one should not forget that Gandhiji has a different set of values altogether. He looks at it in his own characteristic way. He thinks that these controls have reduced men to a state of dependence, to a state of inertia and do-nothing and he thinks that people should suffer an amount of self-denial rather than depend upon the bureaucracy for even food. Can we rise to those heights? In fact he has his own solution. The solution is that every village should be self-sufficient. And unless we reach that village self sufficiency, I am afraid that we cannot cite him as against control. The position therefore is this: that if you think by removing control you can combat black marketing, you can remove hoarding, it is only a myth. You will only be legalizing black marketing and you will be giving not only legal sanction but also moral sanction to black marketing.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. The Honourable Member has exceeded his time.

Mr. T. J. M. Wilson: With these few words I resume my seat.

श्री गोकल भाई दौलतराम भट्ट : माननीय सभापति जी, समय कम है। यह तो

मैं भी महसूस कर रहा हूँ, लेकिन यह सवाल इतना बड़ा है कि इस पर हर एक को बोलने की इच्छा होती है। मैं इसके विषय में यह कहना चाहता हूँ कि सारे हिन्दुस्तान में यह जो नियन्त्रण शाही नियन्त्रण राज्य चल रहा है, उससे इन्सान की वह इन्सानियत मिट गयी है, और आदमी नीति से गिर गया है। उस चीज़ को जब हटाने की बात आती है, तब हमारे जो गिनती बाज़ आदमी हैं, economists हैं, वह समझते हैं कि अरे ! हमारा क्या होगा ? कोई कहता है कि शरीर में खंजर भोंका जा रहा है। वह कहने लगते हैं कि हमारे यह फूड मिनिस्टर Food minister हमारे कंज्यूमर्स (Consumers) के शरीर में खंजर भोंक रहे हैं और चाहते हैं कि लहू न निकले। मैं कहता हूँ कि हिन्दुस्तान में लहू है कहां ! सिर्फ हड्डी २ है। उसमें से यदि खंजर इधर से उधर चला जाय, तो उसमें बहुत बड़ी आपत्ति नहीं है। मेरा तो अपना कहना है कि आज यह खंजर भोंकने की बात नहीं है। मैं तो यह मानता हूँ कि हमारे जो अहिंसक खंजर बाज़ है, वह उस नीति से खंजर नहीं चलाते हैं। वह तो एक डाक्टर, एक वैद्य की तरह एक ऐसा आपरेशन (operation) कर रहे हैं, जिससे हमारे में से बड़ी दूर हो जाय और अच्छी बात रहे और इस प्रकार का वह एक अहिंसक खंजर छुरी चला रहे हैं। वह सब हमारे लोगों की भलाई के लिये हैं। मैं आमतौर पर जबकि हृदयनाथ कुंजर का भाषण अखबारों में पढ़ता था और जानता था कि उनके जैसे अभ्यासी आदमी हिन्दुस्तान में हैं। लेकिन आज उनका भाषण सुन कर ताज्जुब भी हुआ जब वह कहते हैं कि वह गरीबों के साथ मिलने जुलने वाले आदमी हैं और जितने गरीबों से वह मिले, उन्होंने कहा कि यह नियन्त्रण रहना चाहिये, यह कंट्रोल रहना चाहिये और अगर कंट्रोल हट जायगा तो हम न मालूम कहां से कहां चले जायंगे। मैं भी एक अदना आदमी हूँ। मैं भी गरीबों से मिलता हूँ, टांगे वालों से, हमालों से सबसे मिलता हूँ और तब मुझे सब लोगों की पुकार याद आती है और वह कहते

[श्री गोकुल भाई दौलतराम भट्ट]

हैं कि अब लड़ाई तो खत्म हुई, अंग्रेजों को आपने भगा दिया। यह जो हमारे ऊपर बला है, छुरी जैसी यह जो (control) है, इसको कब निकालियेगा। यह भी निकल जाय तो अच्छी बात है। मामूली आदमी अपनी जरूरत की चीज आसानी से मुह्य्या नहीं कर सकते हैं और उसको मजबूरन ब्लैक-मार्केट (black-market) करना पड़ता है और उसको कीमत ज्यादा देनी पड़ती है और वह कीमत देते हैं, हमारे पास से लेकर देते हैं। आज मैं आपको यह दृष्टान्त देना चाहता हूँ। मेरे पास ऐसे आदमी हैं, ऐसे लोग हैं जिनको कह दूँ कि हमारे यहां रोटी खाओ तो कितना महीना लोगे तो वह पन्द्रह, बीस रुपये में राजी हो जायेंगे। लेकिन अगर उनको रोटी पर न तय करना हो, तो वह आज ६०-७० रुपये से कम न लेंगे। इससे समझ लीजिये कि एक आदमी को रोटी के लिये कितना खर्च करना पड़ता है। अगर कन्ट्रोल भाव से चीज मिल जाती होती शहरों में या कस्बों में तो वह आसानी से कह देता कि मैं अपनी रोटी खाकर ३०-३५ रुपये जरूर लूंगा। मिसाल के तौर पर मैं कहता हूँ कि बिना रोटी के एक मजदूर दिनभर का चार रुपये मांगता है, लेकिन अगर मैं उसको रोटी दे देता हूँ तो वह दो ही रुपये में सारा दिन मेहनत करने को तैयार है। जो कीमतें बढ़ गयी हैं, वह बढ़ गयी हैं अब उससे ज्यादा बढ़ने वाली चीज नहीं है। मेरा तो सवाल यह है कि हम एक रास्ते पर चलते हैं, आज उस रास्ते को छोड़ कर दूसरे रास्ते जाने की कोशिश कर रहे हैं। आज तो हमारा एक बुजुर्ग आदमी, महान नेता हमको कह रहा है कि यह रास्ता अब छोड़ो, उस रास्ते पर अब जाने से कोई फायदा नहीं है। हममें से कुछ कहते हैं कि उनका अजीब तरीका है। वह तो सन्त महात्मा हैं, उनको तो अलग एक कुटिया में बैठना है। वह तो बिरला हाउस के बगीचे में बैठे हुए हैं, उनको क्या पड़ी है। लेकिन मैं बहुत अदब के साथ उन मित्रों को कहना चाहता हूँ कि सन् १९२० से लेकर आज तक जो रास्ता उस महान नेता ने हमें दिखलाया है, उसी रास्ते पर हमको चलना पड़ा है। और मैं आज भी यह कहना चाहता हूँ कि इस समय यह नया रास्ता पागलपन ही क्यों न मालूम हो और यह महसूस हो कि गलत रास्ते पर हम जा रहे हैं और इस तरह हम हिन्दुस्तान को बर्बाद कर रहे हैं, लेकिन मुझे पूर्ण विश्वास है कि वह लोग जो आज (Planned economy) की बात करते हैं, आखिर मैं उन्हें उस बूढ़े की बात मानना पड़ेगी और वे समझ जायेंगे कि जो रास्ता वह बतला रहा है, वही रास्ता सही है। हमारे 'नवीन' जी श्री बालकृष्ण शर्मा जी जो मुक्त पंखी हैं वे बंधन में रहना चाहते हैं। आदमी का शरीर नाशवान् है। लेकिन यह हमारा बुजुर्ग और दूसरे नेता हमको एक उन्नत पथ पर ले जा रहे हैं और इस तरह वह हमारी आत्मा को उन्नत कर रहे हैं। आज इस कन्ट्रोल से हमारी आत्मा

गिर गयी है, हम नष्ट हो गये हैं और अगर हमारा शरीर भी नष्ट हो जाय और हमारे एक दो करोड़ आदमी अनाज के बिना भूखे मर जाय, तो मुझे उसमें कोई दिक्कत नहीं आयेगी। मैं उससे कोई डरता नहीं हूँ। मैं कहता हूँ कि यह मरने की बात नहीं होने वाली है।

मैं जानता हूँ कि आज किसान या जो पैदा करने वाले हैं, वह डरते हैं क्योंकि कन्ट्रोल के जमाने में उनके पास से अनाज चला जाता है। यह सारा का सारा अनाज राज्य के कुठार में या गवर्नमेंट के खजाने में चला जाता है? वहां तक तो बहुत कम पहुंचता है, लेकिन बीच में से बहुत सा अनाज चला जाता है। पटवारी, तहसीलदार और गिर्दावर ले जाते हैं और इस तरह बीच में से वह कईगुना अनाज निकाल लेते हैं। किसान यह कहता है कि अगर राज्य को चाहिये, तो हम देने को तैयार हैं, हमको भाव दीजिये। हम उनको आठ रुपया मन के भाव से पैसा देते हैं लेकिन राज्य उल्टा उसको १५ रुपये मन से सप्लाई (supply) करता है जब लोग गल्ला लेने जाते हैं किसान यह कहता है कि मैं आठ रुपये में दूँ और पन्द्रह रुपये में खरीदूँ? मैं ऐसा पागल नहीं हूँ।

अन्त में मैं यही कहना चाहता हूँ कि इस चीज को जो हमारी आत्मा को गिरा रहा है, उस चीज को जितनी जल्दी खत्म कर सकें, अच्छा है और उसको खत्म करना चाहिये। हमारे माननीय डाक्टर साहिब ने धीरे धीरे इस चीज को हटाने की बात कही है। कल से उठा दिया जायगा, ऐसी तो बात नहीं कही है। मैं यह मानता हूँ कि यह जो पालिसी है, वह हमारे लिए मुफीद होगी, इसमें मुझे कोई सन्देह नहीं है।

Shri Gokul Bhai Bhatt (Rajputana States Group): Mr. Speaker, Sir, time is short. I realize this, but this question is so vital that everybody desires to speak. In this connection I want to point out that this control regime which is prevalent in the whole of India has obliterated the sense of humanity in man and he has deviated from the righteous course. When the question for the removal of control arises, then our statisticians and economists say, "what will happen to us? Some say that they are being stabbed. The others say that our Food Minister is thrusting knife in the body of our consumers and wishes the blood not to effuse." I say where is blood in India? It does not mean much harm if the dagger pierces through it. To me it does not seem to be a matter of thrusting a dagger. I am of the opinion that our non-violent swordsmen do not use it with the same skill. They are operating us in the manner of a Doctor or a Vaidya rooting out evil and retaining good in us. In this manner they are indulging in non-violent knife attacks and all this is for our benefit. Generally when I read the speeches of Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru in the newspapers I came to know that a scholar like him still lived in India. But to-day I was rather surprised to hear his speech when he says that he associates with poor people, and all the poor who met him told him that this control system should continue—this control should remain—and if it is removed, we know not where it will lead us to?

I am also a humble being. I too mix up with the proletariat, viz., tengra-wallas, labourers and all others, and then I remember the cry of all people and they say that the war is over now—you made the Britishers to flee. When will you relieve us of this curse which has been thrust on us like a dagger? It would be better if this too is removed. The ordinary man cannot easily procure his normal requirements and he is forced to resort to blackmarketing. He has thus to pay more price and the price they pay is taken from us. To-day I want to give you an instance of this. I have got such men with me who will be pleased to work on a salary of Rs. 15 to Rs. 20, if they are provided with free board. But if you are not to fix them up with free board, then they will not draw less than Rs. 60-70. From this you can understand as to how much a man has got to spend on his food. If he could get things on control whether from cities or towns, then he would have simply said that he surely required Rs. 30-35 and arrange for his own meals. For instance, I say that a labourer demands Rs. 4 per day without meals. But if I provide him with meals, he is ready to work for Rs. 2 only for the whole day. The rise in prices has already reached the climax. Now there is no possibility of further inflation. My point is that we took a particular line of action and to-day we are deviating from that course and resorting to another. To-day our veteran, revered and great leader is exhorting us to abandon this course, there is no use in going towards that direction now. Many of us say that he has strange ways. He is a saint—a Mahatma, he has got to live in a separate hut. He is staying in the gardens of Birla House—why should he bother? But with profound respect I would like to tell those friends that we had to follow the same way that has been shown to us by that Great Leader since 1920. And to-day also I wish to say that, however, absurd this new course may appear at present, and it may be felt that we are treading a wrong path and we are thus ruining India. But I have a firm conviction that those people who are to-day talking about planned economy shall have ultimately to accede to the views of that Old man and they will realize that the way which he is pointing out is the correct one. Our Honourable friend Navinji (Shri Balkrishan Sharma) who is a free-bird wants to live under shackles. Man is mortal. But this our reverend leader and other leaders are conducting us on a progressive way and are thus elevating our conscience in this manner.

[Shri Gokul Bhai D. Bhatt]

To-day this control has demoralized our conscience, we have been disparaged, and even if our body is destroyed, and one or two crores of our men die of starvation for want of food, then it won't matter much to me. I am not afraid of this. I assert that this state unto-death will not arise.

I know that to-day the farmers and producers are afraid, because they are to part with their foodgrains during the control regime. This entire foodgrain goes into the godowns of the Government or treasury. Only a very small quantity reaches the destination, a good deal of the foodgrains is lost while in transit. This is carried off by the Patwaris, Tahsildars and Girdawars, and in this way they purloin a large quantity of the foodgrains. The farmer says that in case the Government wants, he is prepared to give, but he should be paid price for it. We pay him at the rate of Rs. 15 per maund. The cultivator asks: should I sell at the rate of Rs. 8 and buy at the rate of Rs. 15. I am not such a fool.

Lastly I would like to say that the sooner we end this evil which is degrading our conscience the better it would be; and we must wipe it off. Our Honourable Doctor has spoken about gradual de-control. He has not stated that it would be removed with effect from to-morrow. I admit that this policy would prove advantageous to our interests and I have no doubt about this.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support the policy of progressive de-control. I wish the Honourable Minister had said planned decontrol, because I hope that the progress of decontrol will not depend merely on the passage of time but on the progress of conditions which justify the policy of de-control. Sir, I shall spend the few minutes at my disposal in making some concrete proposals for this planned part of de-control which I think is as essential as the policy of de-control. We have seen how disastrous unplanned de-control can be in the case of sugar. I shall not go into that question today but I do wish that the policy of progressive and planned de-control had been adopted in the case of sugar also. Sir, before I go to give my positive suggestions, I must refer to the attempt of some persons to convert this debate into the issue of controls versus no controls. I do not think that is a correct issue because one control is not the same as another.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Hussain Imam (One of the Panel of Chairmen)]

I think it was Pandit Kunzru who said that if you de-control foodgrains, you will have to de-control steel, and you will have to de-control coal, etc.
 4 P. M. I think, Sir, the issues are entirely different. What is the position of control in the case of steel? There are only two or three concerns which produce steel; there are only a small number of traders who distribute it to the consumers. But in the case of foodgrains, there are millions and millions of small producers. They produce forty to fifty million tons. You actually procure four million tons. For getting ten per cent. of the foodgrains, you destroy the whole open market and completely dislocate it. For the sake of ten per cent., 90 per cent. of production is altogether demoralized and completely dislocated. It is to prevent this dislocation, this demoralization of the major part of the agricultural production of this country that I support the policy of de-control. I do believe that if this policy of de-control is adopted wisely, progressively and in a planned fashion, then this 90 per cent. of the agricultural production will be so reorganised that the present scarcity, which is considered to be the sole justification of control, will be eliminated.

Sir, there is also another reason in support of de-control which has not been referred to by any of the speakers. I refer to the quality of the foodgrains supplied in controlled areas. For the last five years this quality has been continuously deteriorating so that today though you may get rations, you do not get food—you do not get rice, you do not get wheat—you get some miscellaneous mixture which varies in quality from wheat to wheat, and which I do not know to what extent is disturbing the digestion and health of the people who consume these rationed qualities. I am told, Sir, that Argentine maize which was bought at four or five times the normal price, contains poisonous weeds; those weeds contain a property—the active principle of atropine—which is very poisonous. And the Madras Government is even now engaged in devising means to take out these weeds; if they do not succeed, the entire maize which was bought may have to be thrown into the Bay of Bengal. Again, Sir, the milo which we have been able to get at great cost has been largely ruined; though it is said that we are getting by imports 2½ million tons, we do not know—the officials have not revealed to us what proportion of this quantity—how much has been made unfit for human consumption. I think year by year we are spending crores and crores of rupees for getting food which is not available for human consumption.

Now, Sir, I know people are afraid of the consequences of de-control. I too am afraid. And that is why it should be a planned de-control. This plan must consist of three parts: First there must be a reserve. It is admitted that there should be a reserve so that this can be put in places where there might be acute scarcity. It is said that it should be five lakhs of tons or one million tons. Quantity is not so important as that the Government of India should have it ready in places where scarcity is likely to be acute. Sir, for this purpose I suggest that the Government of India and the Provincial Administrations are not competent; they have not established their competency either to build a reserve or to operate it. Therefore, I suggest to the Government of India that before they de-control, especially in urban areas, they should establish a Foodgrains Corporation which will hold reserves of at least a million tons, will hold them at proper places and will have the machinery to use these reserves effectively wherever and whenever they are wanted. Until this Corporation is established

[Shri Biswanath Das]

Sir, this question divides itself under two heads: De-control and Grow More Food. About de-control, I would warn the Honourable Minister of one thing, namely, that he has tolerated the bonus system which puts a strain on the provinces like Orissa which have been faithful to the understanding entered into between the Centre and the provinces and has been delivering the quantities that were expected of them in a perfectly orderly manner. It is therefore unfair, Sir, that the Central Government should have refused to the Orissa Government the bonus that was being given to other Provinces. It is all the more unfair because the standard of living in Orissa is very low. In the circumstances, I would appeal to the Honourable Minister to reconsider the position. Regarding Grow More Food, Sir, it is a question that requires more attention. England took a five year programme and everyone knows that England is nearer the goal. There is no reason why this country with a deficit of 5 per cent. cannot make up its foodgrains. I was looking to the reply given by the Honourable the Food Minister to my interpellation and there I find there is a lot of more land brought under cultivation. If that is correct—I do not believe it to be so—then there should have been more food. I would beg of him not to believe that the statistics that are compiled and gathered do not represent the correct state of affairs. I myself was in charge of the administration of a Province. There are few provinces, barring Madras, which could boast of proper statistics, because they have no village officials and the statistics compiled by those provinces have been recognised and admitted even by the highest officials in the provinces to be incorrect. Therefore, I beg of the Government to take a long range view whereby India would be self-sufficient and to have a system of village officials for compilation of proper statistics. Sir, we can no longer depend on Pakistan or Burma; much less could we depend on Australia or America. It is a disgrace. The time has come.....

Mr. Chairman: The Honourable Member's time is up.

مولانا حسرت موہانی : جناب والا ! معزز فوڈ منسٹر نے جو تجویز اس وقت آپ کے سامنے رکھی ہے - میں اسکی تہ دل سے تائید کرتا ہوں - انہوں نے اپنی پوزیشن کے لحاظ سے اسکی تشریح کی ہے - لیکن میں ان سے یہ تجویز کرتا کہ وہ جیسے کہ انگریزی میں کہا جاتا ہے کہ to take courage in both hands کے کپڑے کے کنٹرول کے کنٹرول اٹھا دیا گیا ہے - تو بہتر ہوتا - میرے خیال میں تو ہر ایک چیز پر سے کنٹرول ختم کر دینا چاہئے - جب تک کنٹرول کو بالکل ختم نہیں کیا جاتا تب تک ہندوستان میں بلیک مارکیٹ اور پرافیٹرینگ ختم نہیں ہوگا - حضرات میری رائے میں گاندھی جی اور معزز فوڈ منسٹر نے جو بات کی ہے وہ نہایت اہم ایماں دارانہ ہے - آپ حضرات کو معلوم ہوگا کہ ہمارے صوبہ کی اسمبلی میں جب تھہ ماہ قبل abolition of zamindari کے متعلق ریزولوشن پیش ہوا تھا تو میں نے یہ کہا تھا کہ جب تک کنٹرول کا سسٹم ختم نہیں ہوتا ہے تب تک اس ریزولوشن سے کوئی فائدہ نہیں ہو سکتا - اور میں نے اس کے متعلق دلائل پیش کی تھیں - وہ ریزولوشن وہاں پر بہ اتفاق رائے پاس ہوا - اُس وقت انہوں نے یہ کہا کہ ریزولوشن کا مقصد اسوقت یہ ہے کہ جتنے بھی intermediaries ہیں ختم ہو جائیں - تو میں نے اس بارے میں ایک ترمیم پیش کی تھی کہ جتنے جب

تک intermediaries میں سے آپ موروثی کاشتکار کو بھی نہیں نکالینگے تب تک black marketing اور پرافیٹرینگ ختم نہیں ہوگی - اور اس abolition of zamindari کے معاملہ پر عمل نہیں ہو سکتا - میں نے کہا تھا کہ اگر آپ بڑے زمیندار کو ختم کرتے ہیں - تو اس کے ساتھ ہی آپ موروثی کاشتکاروں کو بھی ختم کریں - دوسری بات میں نے یہ کہی تھی کہ جب تک آپ Procurement پر کنٹرول نہیں کرتے آپ distribution پر بھی نہیں کر سکتے ہیں اور نہ ہی آپ distribution کی قیمتوں کو مقرر کر سکتے ہیں - آپ کو معلوم ہوگا کہ یورپی ایک surplus پر انوس ہے - وہاں پر جو پروکیورمینٹ سسٹم پختہ جی نے جاری کیا ہے - اُس میں انکو کامیابی نہیں ہوئی ہے - اور وہ اس لئے کہ جو غاہ وہاں پر پیدا ہوتا ہے وہ کاشتکاروں کے قبضہ میں ہوتا ہے - جب اس کو پروکیورمینٹ کے طریقہ پر غلہ دینے کے لئے کہا جاتا ہے تو اُسکو ساڑھے دس روپیہ فی من کی قیمت دی جاتی ہے - لیکن مجھے اچھی طرح سے معلوم ہے کہ کانپور شہر کے بلیک مارکیٹ کرنے والے وہاں پر آتے ہیں اور ان کاشتکاروں کو ساڑھے بارہ - پندرہ اور بعض دفعہ اٹھارہ روپیہ فی من دیکر غلہ لے جاتے ہیں اور شہر میں آکر دو روپیہ فی سیر کے حساب سے فروخت کرتے ہیں - یہ بات فطرت صاف کے خلاف ہے کہ اگر ایک کاشتکار کو اٹھارہ روپیہ فی من کوئی شخص قیمت دیتا ہے تو وہ حکومت کی طرف سے کس طرح ساڑھے دس روپیہ من پر اپنی پیداوار کو فروخت کرے گا - لہذا اس سے یہ گزارش کروں گا کہ یہ پروکیورمینٹ کا سسٹم تب تک تھیک نہیں چل سکتا جب تک کہ آپ موروثی کاشتکار کو بھی ختم نہیں کرتے - اس بارے میں میری یہ ایک گزارش ہے - کہ اگر آپ اس پروکیورمینٹ کے سسٹم کو کامیاب بنانا چاہیں تو ایک یہ صورت ہے کہ جتنی بھی پیداوار ہو وہ سب سٹیٹ کی ملکیت ہو جائے - اور اس طرح سے جب یہ گورنمنٹ کے ہاتھ میں آجائے تو وہ اُسکو اچھی طرح سے تقسیم کر سکتے ہیں - جناب والا ! اسوقت سب سے عمدہ کنٹرول جو ہے وہ سٹیٹ ریشا میں ہے - انہوں نے سب intermediaries کو اٹھا دیا ہے اور co-operative اور cultivative farms کو جاری کر دیا ہے - اسی طرح سے جب تک یہاں پر بھی نہیں کیا جائیگا - کنٹرول کا سسٹم فائدہ مند نہیں ہو سکتا - جب تک کاشتکاروں کے ہاتھ میں غلہ رکھتا ہے تب تک کنٹرول ہونے پر بھی بلیک مارکیٹنگ ہوتی رہیگی - یہاں پر سب سے زیادہ بلیک مارکیٹنگ کرنے والے کاشتکاروں کی تائید کرتے ہیں - میں جناب والا ! آپریبل فوڈ منسٹر کی پرزور تائید کرتا ہوں - اور میں اُمید کرتے ہوں کہ وہ رفتہ رفتہ ہر ایک چیز سے کنٹرول ہٹائینگے - ساتھ ہی مجھے یہ بھی اُمید ہے کہ جب تک وہ سب چیزوں پر سے کنٹرول رفتہ رفتہ ہٹائینگے تب تک اُس درمیانی عرصے میں یہ بھی کوشش کریں گے کہ یہاں پر cultivative اور Co-operative farms کو رائج کرنے کے لئے ایک بل بنا دی جائے - جب تک یہ ایسا نہیں کریں گے تب تک ہندوستان سے black marketing اور پرافیٹرینگ ختم

نہیں ہو سکتا -

1666

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [10TH DEC. 1947]

[Shri K. Santhanam]

and it is provided with the necessary reserves, this policy of de-control should not be extended to areas which are today under statutory rationing.

Sir, out of the so-called 108 million people under controlled distribution, only 32 million are under statutory rationing. It is only these people who are getting a fixed quantity of food, whether it is six ounces, or eight or ten ounces, every day every week. But the other people—the 70 millions who are under so-called semi-statutory rationing—are not getting any thing. At places I know they are getting one ounce and some times for weeks they do not get anything. This semi-statutory or controlled rationing is a farce. I would have gone further and said that it is a fraud, but I do not want to use strong language. Therefore, the officials' claim that they are feeding some 100 million people is not a fact. So, the first suggestion is to establish a Foodgrains Corporation which should hold a minimum of reserve and use it effectively in places and at times of scarcity.

The second point, Sir, is that one of the justifications for de-control is that it will increase production. For that the Government of India should take active steps. One of the steps is that they should institute five lakhs of prizes of Rs. 100 or Rs. 200 each so that some prizes will be available for each village and the entire peasantry, especially the tillers, the cultivators, should be made to participate in a nation-wide competition for more production. These prizes should be allowed only to small-holders. Sir, if you have prizes like these people will compete for them. If you say the minimum holding for a prize is three acres, and in every village entries cover sixty or hundred acres, there will be a big competition of people who want to win these prizes by producing the maximum yield. I am sure that three, or four or five million tons can be made up by this means of a nation-wide competition. These prizes, as I said, should not be available for bigger cultivators, the zamindars or rent-receivers; it should be available only for those who actually cultivate. I am sure this simple device will make them pretty active. I know what the small peasants are capable of; I come from a village where the poorer peasants bring out more yield than the richer mirasdars who merely receive the rent. Therefore, we should find a way to appeal directly to the actual cultivator and make him produce more. This is one of the concrete suggestions which I have to make to stimulate production.

Then, of course, there is the question of provision of manures, implements and all that. Now, we have spent nearly twenty-two crores this year on subsidy and if we continue this control we may have to continue to give at the rate of thirty crores for importing foodgrains from abroad. An equal amount is spent by the Provincial Governments. If these forty or fifty crores are spent in supplying manure and other materials to the peasants, I am sure the food production next year will be equal to all the needs of the country and the whole problem will be solved.

Sir, it is only in the light of the measures to increase production, to have stocks, and to see that wherever scarcity prevails that scarcity is immediately solved, that the policy of de-control can be judged. Therefore, it is not a policy of complete de-control; it is a policy of planned de-control, and I believe that the Government will resolutely execute this policy of planned de-control.

Shri Biswanath Das (Orissa: General): Sir, I rise to support the motion so clearly and lucidly explained by the Honourable the Minister for Food. In considering this problem, we have, in the first place, to realise that the Ministry inherited a worn-out cloth. All the time it had to be kept on by stitching, with the result that this process had to go on eternally. In the second place, the Ministry had to face the difficulty of having to go on with the organisation left by its predecessors. It is a well known fact that vested interests had been created by certain sections of officials and the Ministry had to face this trouble. It was with these difficulties that the food administration was taken in hand by the Ministry. As I stated on another occasion, the adaptation of the Government of India Act gave the Ministry full scope for bringing out latent talents from 15th August. In the two or three months that followed the Ministry had full opportunity to have its own way. Unfortunately, now, we are missing the talents of a gentleman who had impressed his ability and devotion to the cause which he and ourselves have so much in heart. But it is our consolation that, though he will be away from the Cabinet, his talents, his experience and his usefulness will always be available to the Cabinet.

Sir, some of my Honourable friends disputed and hopelessly differed from the motion and point of view expressed by the Ministry, namely, the policy of gradual de-control. To them, I would make this appeal. Let them go to the countryside and see feelings. People in the provinces, both in mofussil and cities and towns are anxious to see that the controls are thrown out. Controls were introduced by the British Government for a different purpose. The purpose of the British Government was to purchase the raw materials of this country at the lowest possible price and utilise them for war purposes. It is the misfortune of this Ministry to use control for an absolutely different purpose, namely, the purpose of seeing that foodstuffs are imported from countries outside India so that our starving population are fed and kept alive. That being so, it is difficult to administer food control in this country as it has been done in other countries, say, Great Britain, France, Russia, or for that matter, America. I was surprised to read from a magazine that potatoes and certain other things are far cheaper in America, the richest of all countries, than what they are in India. That is the position in which we are today.

I admit, Sir, that there is some force in the assertion that controls have demoralised and degraded us, and have hopelessly encouraged black-marketing, profiteering and the like. The unanimous cry of the countryside being "de-control" of food-stuffs, it is no use and no gainsaying "Control, control". Control is necessary. I would join issue with my Honourable friend Dr. Hirday Nath Kunzru, for whom I have got high respect, in his plea for control. If you want control, there should be control of all commodities. There should be proper control—control in the way in which other countries are having it. A friend of mine in Ireland, with whom I was talking a few days ago, told me that people get necessities of life at minimum possible price and as much as are required, but when one comes to luxuries, he has to pay very heavy price. I want to have that system of control. The system that has been adumbrated by the Ministry seeks to give it breathing space, during which they will keep themselves always alert. I expect the Ministry, as it has made clear, to wait and watch the situation. In the meanwhile, I would beg of them to send our people to other deficit countries like Britain and study how the system of control has been exercised and administered there easily and conveniently.

One great result which accrues from this policy is that we shall be free from corruption, we shall be free from profiteering, we shall be free from black-marketing—things which have been going on under our very nose and from which we were not able to protect ourselves or keep ourselves away. An Honourable friend said that we are getting only 6 ounces and another friend asked him whether he was living on 6 ounces. No one is living on 6 ounces, and yet 6 ounces have been given. Wherefrom does the balance come? From the black-market. This goes to show that the demand of the people for de-control is right and must be respected. I am very glad and would like to congratulate the Ministry for having respected popular opinion. There is no need here to bring in the name of that great saintly personage, Mahatma Gandhi. He has, like every other individual, his right to state publicly and openly what he himself felt was the proper remedy for the disease. There is no reason why people should make use of his name for or against de-control. Indeed, the Ministry has taken an altogether different line and decision.

(English translation of the above speech)

Maulana Hasrat Mohani (U.P.: General): Mr. Speaker: Sir, I heartily support the motion which the Honourable Minister for Food has placed before you at this time. He has elucidated it keeping in view his position. But I would have suggested to him that he should have acted up to the saying in English, viz., "to take courage in both hands" and declared that the control has been withdrawn. Then it would have been better. In my opinion the control should be removed on every commodity. As long as the control is not absolutely withdrawn, the black-marketing and profiteering will not cease in India. Sir, in my opinion the action taken by Mr. Gandhi and the Honourable Food Minister is honest. You will, Sir, be aware of this that when eight months ago a Resolution regarding the abolition of Zamindari was brought up in our Provincial Assembly, then I had stated that unless the control system was not wound up, no useful purpose would be served by this Resolution. I had put forth arguments in support of this. That Resolution was unanimously carried. At that time it was stated that the Resolution was intended to do away with all the intermediaries. Then I had moved an amendment in this connection suggesting that until and unless you eliminate the hereditary cultivator, from these intermediaries the black-marketing and profiteering would not stop, and no practical effect to the abolition of the Zamindari could be given. I had stated that if you end the big landlords, you should also at the same time end the hereditary cultivators. The second thing which I had pointed out was that until you do not control the procurement, you cannot control the distribution. And further you cannot also fix the distribution prices. You might know that U.P. is a surplus Province. Pandit Pant has not been successful in the Procurement System introduced by him in the Province. This is due to the reason that the foodgrain that is produced there remains in the custody of the cultivator. When he is asked to supply the foodgrain in pursuance of the Procurement Policy, then he is paid @ Rs. 10-8-0 per maund. But I know fully well that the black-marketers from Cawnpore come there and purchase the foodgrains by paying these cultivators prices @ Rs. 12-8-0, Rs. 15 and sometimes even Rs. 18 per maund. They sell this in the city at Rs. 2 per seer. Sir, this violates justice. If somebody pays the price of Rs. 18 per maund to a cultivator, then how is it possible that he should sell his produce to the Government on the payment of Rs. 10 per maund? Therefore, I will submit that this procurement system cannot be worked successfully unless you do away with this hereditary cultivator. In this connection, my observation is that in case you want to make the procurement system a success, the only way is that the entire produce should be the property of the State; and in this manner when it comes within the hands of the Government, then they can distribute it properly. Sir, at this time, the best control system exists in Russia. They have dispensed with all the intermediaries and introduced Co-operative and Cultivative farms. Unless similar course is adopted here, the control system will not prove beneficial. The cultivators will continue to indulge in black-market so long as they are in possession of the foodgrains. Here the cultivators are supported by those who are the biggest black-marketers. Sir, I support the Honourable Food Minister with all the emphasis at my command and hope that he would gradually de-control every commodity. At the same time I do hope that up to the time the commodities are gradually decontrolled, he will try to formulate a Bill to introduce cultivative and co-operative farms in this country during the intervening period. Unless he does this, black-marketing and profiteering cannot be eradicated from India.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad (Minister for Food and Agriculture): Sir, I am not at all surprised with the reception which the Government policy has got in this House. If in the course of the reply, I do not refer to every individual member who has participated in this debate, it is not for lack of respect for the views expressed, but because I think it would be best to deal with the questions that have been raised in a comprehensive way rather than by taking it point by point raised by each speaker.

It has been suggested that control should be continued, because control is in consonance with modern economic thought and to the extent that we have already got it, we should not give it up, but rather we should extend it. I may assure Honourable Members that in coming to the decision to which I have come and which has been endorsed by the Government, we have not been influenced by any such larger issues as are involved in that suggestion. We have not been thinking of the Marxist theory or of any other theory in coming to that conclusion, but we took facts as they are, the difficulties that we have to face and the further difficulties which we anticipate and we came to certain conclusions. If it were a case of planned economy, as has been suggested by another speaker, which we were going to disturb, the position might be different. But, as we all know, these controls are a legacy of the war and war conditions. They arose, as has been pointed out, in a haphazard manner; they have grown equally in the same haphazard manner. And if we want to have planned economy the first step is to scrap this haphazard growth and then think of that planned economy. I should not like planned economy to be introduced by the back door in this way. Let the country, let this House, let Government make up their minds about planned economy; let them prepare a scheme of that planned economy and then introduce it. That may be something worth having, not this pseudo planned economy which has neither its birth—illegitimate birth—nor is going to have its end—in anything like planned economy. I would therefore not expect Honourable Members to look upon this de-control as a rejection of the policy of planned economy. It has nothing to do with that. That is a different matter, an independent matter which has to be considered and will be considered when the time comes for it.

We have been told that decontrol, even if it is in a progressive way gradually introduced, is bound to lead to a spiral of inflation. In the very beginning I was careful enough to inform the House that we did apprehend that there were risks in the policy which we are adopting. We did apprehend that there might be a rise in prices; and having appreciated the risks involved we decided that it was better to take those risks rather than to take the greater risk of a complete breakdown which will end in greater disaster. Therefore if there is a rise in prices we should be prepared for that; only it should not be allowed to go to such heights that it may upset our whole economy. If there is going to be a disturbance generally in our economic life we should be prepared for that; only it should not be allowed to go up to such an extent as to make our life difficult in this country and to upset our whole economy. Therefore the policy which Government have adopted is a policy of gradual decontrol. I am thankful to Mr. Santhanam who suggested the expression 'planned decontrol'. That is exactly what is intended; we are not going to decontrol—come what may—tomorrow or the day after; that is not the intention. What is intended is that we shall take each step, watch its effects, see the developments; and if we find that as a result of the step that has been taken any serious difficulties are taking place, we have kept the door open for retracing our steps if it becomes necessary. That does not mean that we are not going to stick to the policy which we have adopted; it only means that if this policy fails, if there are indications that it is going to fail and to end in disaster, we shall retrace our steps; not that the moment we have taken the step and we find that there is something wrong here and there we shall retrace our steps. That is not the idea and that cannot be the policy of Government under any circumstances. If Government have to take certain decisions they have to stick to those decisions until circumstances arise which make sticking to that decision detrimental to the best interests of the country; and that is what we propose to do. I am not at all afraid that the prices will go up to such heights as are feared by some honourable members of this House. As I said, my own appreciation of the situation is this that the prices may go up to some extent but they can never go to the heights which black market prices have reached. We were told that there are various kinds of prices and markets now prevalent,—white, grey, black, and another which was characterised by an Honourable friend as jet-black. While undoubtedly there are gradations I think we shall be somewhere near the grey; we shall not get near the black market and certainly not near the jet-black. I think in this country grey is the best colour for all things.

1672 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [10TH DEC. 1947]

[Dr. Rajendra Prasad]

Sir, I listened with great respect to the speech of my Honourable friend Pandit Kunzru whose devotion to duty, whose sacrifices, whose learning and whose knowledge we all respect. I listened to him with all the respect that is due to him, but I found that he relied upon the kind of arguments on which all who have fought against decontrol have relied. I should have expected from him an analysis and a consideration of the situation as it prevails in this country and then to arrive at conclusions which will be in keeping with those conditions.

An Honourable Member: His time was short.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: It may be that if he had more time he would have probably developed his argument, but I am sorry I can go only by the arguments that were advanced and I cannot wait for the other arguments that were not advanced by him. One argument that he put forward was that other countries like America are either maintaining or re-imposing control whereas we are thinking of removing control, even though in a gradual way. I do not think it is always correct to take the analogy of other countries and to apply them in their entirety to our own country, because conditions differ. If the arguments that have been put forward by several Honourable members in this House are to be accepted, namely, that decontrol can only be possible if there is a surplus, there is absolutely no reason why America should have control, because it has not only a surplus for its own needs but it has a tremendously big surplus which it exports to other countries. If the existence of a surplus is all that is required for decontrol there is no reason why a country with a surplus should have any control at all at any time. But in spite of that big surplus I understand America is now reimposing control, and control is being maintained or continued in some other countries which have a surplus.

It has been said that ours is a deficit country. Yes, from the figures available it is a deficit country. But the deficit is not very heavy and, as pointed out by an Honourable Member, it does not exceed 10 per cent.; the deficit is probably nearer 5 per cent.

Now in a country of our dimensions, if we could raise one maund more where we are producing 10 maunds, the deficit will be more than wiped out, and that I believe is not an impossible task. After all, whether we have control or not, the food position in this country can improve only if there is more production and that is true not only of food but of every other thing which is in deficit. Therefore naturally the attention of the Government must be concentrated more on the production side than on the distribution side. From my own personal experience of only 15 months in this office, I can say that this control has taken more of my time than production. I think that is a position with all who are engaged in this work and who are interested in it. Controls take an abnormally long time: they take a disproportionate amount of more attention than necessary and the result is that control requires more control, and more control requires still more control, and we are landed in what has been called a spiral, not of inflation but of control with the result that we reach a position when we cannot think of getting rid of this control. As I said in the beginning, these controls are a legacy of the war. They are not normal things. The deficit which the country is now experiencing is not a new deficit. Even before the war we were importing 1½ million tons of rice. That deficit was there. Did we have control then? Did we not manage without controls till before the war? And if war had not come, could anyone have imagined that we would have introduced controls in this country? Now that the war is over, now that the exigencies which made these controls necessary on account of the war have disappeared, isn't it better to come back in due course to the position in which we were before the war, that is to say, even if there is a deficit, let the deficit be met in the normal way in which a deficit has been met in the past, in which it is being met in some other countries, or in which it may be met in this country—without control.

What I have been pleading for is this: that the time has come when we should think of going back to normalcy and not stick to the abnormal conditions which have been created by war, and this is a step in that direction. But as I have said, because we felt that there were risks involved, we thought of going slowly and of waiting and watching at every step the effect of the action taken and then proceeding without taking undue risks. That is what we propose to do. Therefore, if normalcy has to be restored, this vicious circle has to be broken at some place, and we have decided that we should begin the breaking at this point, and we are going to do it.

It has been pooh-poohed that decontrol will increase supplies, will release larger quantities of grain from producers which will be brought into the market. Personally, I do not think that it is a thing to be pooh-poohed. We know how panic works. The mere existence of control creates panic and that panic leads to hoarding: hoarding not in a bad sense. I do not mean hoarding of profiteers. I mean hoarding by people of ordinary prudence, with ordinary commonsense, with ordinary intelligence, so that they might not have to meet a certain emergency in future. Because of the existence of control they fear that something might happen when they would not be able to get grain, because if there were grain there would be no control. Because there is no grain, there is control, and therefore we must keep back something which may be of use in time of need. As soon as this panic disappears, as soon as people feel confident, more and more will come into the free market and more and more will be actually available, just as it used to be before the war, before controls were introduced and before controls were in force.

I anticipate that there will be not an inconsiderable amount of grain which will come into the market as a result of progressive decontrol, and there will thus be a larger quantity available. But let us look at it from another point of view. After all, by this method of decontrol, are we going to lessen the quantity of grain now available in any way? The grain that is now available in the country will be there. The imports will be there. We are not stopping imports. Therefore whether we control or do not, the grain that is now available will be available even after decontrol.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: But will you get foodgrains if you decontrol now?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We used to get it before.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: But you used to after introducing rationing. Will you be able to get it now after accepting a policy of removing control over the distribution of foodstuffs?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I have no apprehension that we shall not get the grain. All that the international body is interested in is to see that the grains we get is not used for profiteering purposes or used by private individuals for making undue or illegitimate profit out of them.

[Dr. Rajendra Prasad]

The position of the country is well known. That we are a deficit country is well known and we shall continue to press our case before international organisations. We shall continue to import from other countries on the understanding and on the condition that no profit by private parties or by individuals will be allowed to be made out of this grain which is imported. There is no reason why they should withhold the grain which they have been giving us up to now.

Therefore, I do not apprehend that we shall lose our imports. After all, these imports are very costly for us. I wish we could do without them. We should try to do without them, and the Government must try to do without them as far as possible. Members will be shocked if they learn the prices that we have to pay simply because we import.

The procurement price of rice in Burma is only £18 per ton, to which may be added certain charges to make it £25. That is how it was calculated last year.

Procurement price in Burma	...	...	...	£ 18
Handling charges, sewing gummies, etc.	...	...	...	£1.25
Overhead and loss by deterioration at 7½ per cent.	...	...	...	£1.5
Export duty	...	...	...	£4.25
This came to				£ 25
				per ton.

*To this there is to be added 33.1/3 per cent. rehabilitation charges, coming to £8-6-6 and the price which we paid was £33-6-6 in 1947.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: What are these rehabilitation charges?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Burma needs money for rehabilitation and she wants to get that out of her exports.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Something like a donation for the price?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: I cannot say a donation but they are entitled to sell their goods at whatever price they want.

In 1948 this price is going to be £38 per ton. Now you can imagine how hard it is on this country to have to pay this high price. But Burma alone is not to blame. I have got the figures for Argentina. Let it be said to the credit of Argentina that it does not hide the fact but admits that it wants to make profits out of other countries as much as she can. The purchase price of wheat was 16 pesos per 100 kilos at port or Rs. 5-10-0 per maund according to our calculation. The export price was 40 pesos which comes to Rs. 14-1-0 per maund. These prices relate to 1946. In 1947 the producer's price of wheat was 15 pesos per 100 kilos which came to Rs. 5-7-0 per maund and the export price was 60 pesos, which came to Rs. 21-13-0. If we took corn their own procurement price was Rs. 3-10-0 per maund and we have got to pay 35 pesos which comes to Rs. 11-11-0 per maund. This is what we are paying to other countries on account of these imports.

Australia has been a very good neighbour, I must admit. Australia has considered our needs and at the present moment we are engaged in very delicate negotiations. But even with regard to Australia we have to say that we have to pay very heavy prices. The price guaranteed to the farmer by Government is 5s. 2d. per bushel F.O.R. at the port of shipment, which comes to Rs. 3-7-0 per maund. The export price to India is 109s. per 480 lbs. or 17s. 4d. per bushel which comes to Rs. 11-11-0 per maund. The price demanded now (and this is under negotiation at the present moment) is 18s. 6d. or Rs. 12-6-0.

For the purpose of maintaining control and rationing all this import becomes absolutely necessary and if Government has to import it has to pay the high prices. If things were left to return to normalcy I am not without hopes that the position might improve. I cannot say that it will improve. All that I can say is that it might improve. Our dependence upon imports must be reduced as far as possible and that is the policy which we have adopted. We have decided to encourage procurement within the country by giving bonuses for procurement, so that if we have to pay anything it goes to our own people and in any case it does not add to the poverty of the people but enriches them to some extent.

It has been complained that this policy does not say anything about increased production. As I said in the beginning, that matter is still under consideration and no decision has yet been taken. In fact the Committee itself has not made any recommendations on that point but that does not mean that no attention is going to be paid to that aspect. As a matter of fact with less of control with less attention required for maintaining control more attention is bound to be devoted to the production side and that is what is going, I hope, to take most of the time and attention and I hope also that the funds that are now being wasted on imports will also go to increase production.

What I have said is only hope and expectation or as Pandit Kunzru would have it, only pious wish, which he thinks is only another name for self-deception, if not hypocrisy. It all depends on how one looks at it. If one really feels that it is all false and still expresses the hope it is hypocrisy. If, on the other hand, one really hopes that things will turn out well and expresses that hope it is not hypocrisy. I submit that it is a genuine and real hope and sometimes hope is fulfilled, even though it appears at first that the hope may not be fulfilled.

I did not bring in the name of Mahatma Gandhi to support the policy of decontrol. I mentioned him as a difficulty in the way of maintaining the control. Pandit Kunzru thinks that that is the argument in favour of decontrol. To many people that should be a conclusive argument. In this country we have seen that it has proved a conclusive argument on many points. I can say from my own experience extending over thirty years of my close association with him that my intellect and my logic have very often failed to reconcile themselves to what I call his pre-science or what Pandit Kunzru will call his instinct or dictate. But I have found that his instinct has proved to be true and my intellect and logic have proved to be false. I am not without hopes that in this case, at any rate, his instinct will prove to be true and all our intellect, all our intellectual gymnastics and logic will prove to be false.

It is not necessary to go into the details of the other points that have been raised. I desire to give the assurance to this House that we propose to hasten slowly, to go along with caution and not to close the door for retracing our steps, if we find that we are treading on dangerous ground. As to the other assurances which have been asked for by some other members I am in a position to give some of them. I am prepared to say that we shall do the best that we can for improving and increasing our production. We shall try to build up a reserve. I must say that we cannot build it up in a day. In five or six years of control we have not been able to build up any stock at all. Now in a year of progressive decontrol we are going to try to build it up. Honourable Members can very well understand the difficulty. They can realise that what has not been achieved during the period of strict control all these years cannot easily be achieved in a period of decontrol. Nevertheless we are going to do it and I am prepared to give this assurance that we shall do our best in that line. There has been a lot said about deaths and things of that sort.

1676

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [10TH DEC. 1947]

[Dr. Rajendra Prasad]

Well, in spite of what has been happening I am not one of those who can revel in deaths, and I am sure nobody in the Government can think of deaths due to starvation with any sense of equanimity. The whole policy is not intended or even expected to bring about deaths, as some Member was pleased to say that it would end only in uncontrolled death. All that I say is that if any situation arises which threatens to bring about deaths due to starvation we shall be prepared to reconsider the whole thing and to do what is thought best in the circumstances. For that purpose, as I have said, we propose to keep the organisation more or less intact for some time. Whatever difficulty arises, it will be more in the beginning and gradually things will settle down. So it is in the earlier part of decontrol that all this difficulty will have to be experienced and faced, and we are going to face all these difficulties with the consciousness of being prepared to meet them, because we propose to have the organisation intact.

Some other suggestion has been made that in order to help grow more food we should institute a number of prizes. That is a good suggestion and I am sure the Government will bear that in mind and will take steps in that direction. Other suggestions for improving our production will also naturally be accepted with alacrity and pursued.

One word more about sugar. There has been a lot said about decontrol of sugar, that the price of sugar has suddenly shot up from Rs. 21-4-0 to something like Rs. 35. The increase in the price of sugar is not due to decontrol but, as I said, it arises out of conditions which now prevail when the new season is starting and when fresh sugar is being manufactured. The price of sugarcane is increased; the wages of labour are increased; and these two between themselves make a very big difference—from Rs. 1-4-0 per maund for sugarcane to Rs. 2 and from Rs. 22-8-0 of wages to Rs. 45. These are big differences and we can easily understand that if the price rises to Rs. 35 it is not on account of decontrol but on account of these other elements which have come into force.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: These two items account for only Rs. 8-8-0 out of the total increase of fifteen rupees. At seven rupees profit per maund of sugar the mill-owners will get an extra profit of about thirty crores of rupees in the next twelve months.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The Honourable Member wants to go into the figures meticulously. That can be done, but I am taking the figures by and large. And I say that these two big elements in the cost of production are largely responsible for the increase in the price of sugar.

An Honourable Member: What about old sugar?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The price is that of the new sugar. Can you have in the market two prices of sugar—one for old and one for new sugar? Can we do that and is it possible? And how is the purchaser going to distinguish between the old sugar and the new sugar, and how can he insist on the old sugar for Rs. 21-4-0 or be prepared to pay Rs. 35 for the new sugar? That cannot be done. It can only be done by taking away the extra price which the old sugar now fetches, and that is exactly what has been done. All that Government has done is to freeze all the old stock at the price at which it was selling on the day of decontrol. It is now for the Government to release this sugar at whatever price it likes and it proposes to take the bulk of this increase to itself because it is not possible to maintain two prices in the market. That is what is being done.

I must pay a tribute to the Premier of U.P. who has been largely responsible for bringing this about. I cannot also refrain from paying a compliment to the mill-owners who have been coming in for a certain amount of abuse. They have come forward with proposals to keep down the prices of sugar and there has been an arrangement made with them that the prices will not be allowed to go beyond what they would have been if control had continued. I think we should be satisfied with that. What we were able to enforce by law we are now getting out of them by their consent. I think that is any day better. I have no reason to think that we shall be let down. But, if that happens, we still have the power because we have still got sugar in our control.

I hope, Sir, I have touched the points which have been raised, and I am grateful to the Members for the interest which they have evinced in this. The difference of opinion in this House is only a reflection of what prevails in the country at large. If I am not disclosing a secret it is only a reflection of what we have in our own Cabinet. So there is no reason to fear that anything disastrous is going to come about and we can in a spirit of helpfulness accept the decision and go forward.

Shri Deshbandu Gupta: Before the House disperses, as Delhi is under the direct charge of the Honourable Minister, may I enquire as to what will be the effect of these decisions on control so far as Delhi is concerned, both in respect of cereals and sugar?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: As I have said, the decision is left very largely to the Provincial Governments.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: There is no Provincial Government as such in Delhi.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: There is a Provincial Government even in Delhi.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: It is only in name.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: We cannot do anything over the head of the Provincial Government. But there is no doubt that all points will be taken into consideration by that Government. If there is any question in which we can help we will certainly do so.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: But there is no sugar in Delhi for the last three days.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Sugar will be available very soon.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Thursday, the 11th December 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Thursday, 11th December, 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

SIGNING OF ATTENDANCE REGISTER BY MEMBERS

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, Before the proceedings begin, I have to bring to your kind notice a new practice which has been set up in the office to-day of requiring Members to sign in the attendance register. This is done in the Provincial legislatures, but it has never been done in the Central legislature here. It is very very troublesome and irksome. There appears to be a kind of suspicion about the Members.....

Mr. Speaker: I will just explain to the Honourable Member. He has been referring to the changed practice now of requiring Honourable Members to sign a register indicating their presence in the House on a particular day. The practice up to now has been that a clerk sits in the lobby. He just watches Members coming and going, and marks them present. That is one part of it. The other part of the practice was that cheques in respect of their travelling and other bills were prepared and distributed to Members and their signatures obtained in the House itself. I believe Honourable Members will agree that, if the register is to be kept more accurately and correctly, in view of the much larger number of Members coming and a large number of Members not being known to the clerk who comes in and goes round about in the lobby enquiring of a person as to whether he is a Member or not, the best course is that the clerk should sit in the lobbies, with a register and every Honourable Member who comes in should sign. That will make the list complete and accurate without the clerk having to move about. There is not so much the idea of saving trouble for the clerk as of having an accurate register. Sometimes doubt arises about a name and there is difficulty in knowing whether the particular Honourable Member was personally present or not. That is one difficulty.

The other inconvenience that I noticed here was, that every now and then I found a chaprasi coming from office for giving cheques to Honourable Members, crossing between the Speaker and the Honourable Member speaking at the time, and creating a little disturbance. Therefore, the best course would be to keep the cheques in the Notice Office and for Honourable Members to get them from there. I can assure Honourable Members that in requiring them to sign the register, there is no idea to have any proof of their presence in their own hands.

An Honourable Member: It is only incidental.

Mr. Speaker: It is not even incidental. I am sure Honourable Members would not claim the right of having their cheques honoured without signing when they are presented to the bank. It is similar to that, and a representation to me was made in this respect by certain Honourable Members. Therefore, I again considered the practice and I thought this would be the best procedure to follow. It is not done by the office suo motu. It is the result of representation from some Members of this House and of consideration given to it by me.

An Honourable Member: What is the objection to maintaining this attendance register?

DEATH OF SIR CHIMAN LAL SETALVAD

Mr. Speaker: We need not pursue the matter now. There is no particular objection. It is only a deviation from the old practice and therefore some explanation was necessary as to why the practice was deviated from. I do not think there is anything serious about it.

I think we should proceed with the legislative business. The agenda is so heavy that Honourable Members, if they want to have any discussion about the question of attendance register, may see me in the Chamber and discuss about it.

Now, before we begin the work of the day, there are two matters to which I should like to invite the attention of Honourable Members.

I refer first to the very sad demise of Sir Chimanlal Setalvad. He was a Member of the Council of State. Of course, he died at the ripe age of 83. We all know the services that he rendered to our country. The link between the old and the new in our fight for national freedom on all sides—political, educational and social—passes away with him. As a mark of respect, therefore, we record his services, mourn his loss, and convey our condolences to the family of the deceased; and the House will show him respect by standing for a minute.

SUSPENSION OF QUESTION HOUR

Mr. Speaker: Now the other matter to which I should like to invite the attention of the House is about the very heavy agenda that we have before us for today and tomorrow. If we mean business and are intent upon finishing the agenda by tomorrow evening by 5 O'clock, we must resort to several methods. One of them is to spare the question hour. That will give us two hours more; and the other will be to limit the length and the number of speeches.

An Honourable Member: Control.

Mr. Speaker: There is no question of decontrol here now. There is the question of more sterner controls, but these controls will come from within; because most of the business will be legislative business and I do not like to fix a time limit when the House is proceeding with legislative business. Therefore it will not be for the Chair to exercise that control, but it will be for Members themselves to exercise control as regards speeches, and such control from within must be of a sterner type. So what is the wish of the House as regards the Question Hour both for today and tomorrow?

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: The question hour should not be dispensed with.

Mr. Speaker: I have told the House that, even if there is one Member who would like to keep the question hour, I should not suspend it.

Is the Honourable Member persistent in his objection?

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: I leave to you, Sir, but I would appeal to you.....

Mr. Speaker: The matter is certainly in my discretion, but as I have told very often in this House, I would not like to exercise discretion in this matter without the unanimous consent of this House. It seems the Honourable Member, though very eager for having the question hour, is not pressing his objection. That is how I may put it. Then the question hour for today and tomorrow will be suspended, and the House will proceed with legislative business.

Before that I have to make some announcements. There are short notice questions. Of course, they will not stand suspended.

(1680)

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS†

WRITTEN ANSWERS.

PERMITS FOR SALE OF CEMENT

804. *Shri Amiyo Kumar Ghosh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether it is a fact that a huge quantity of cement is lying in cement godown of the Sone Vally Portland cement factory, Japla?

(b) Are Government aware that the system of obtaining permits from Calcutta is leading to delay in the sale of cement and to corruption?

(c) Are Government aware of the resentment among the people of Bihar due to the above method?

(d) Do Government propose to abolish the system of obtaining permits and allow free local sale of cement at a controlled rate?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b), (c) and (d) The Government of India have decided to alter the existing system of distribution, and to introduce from the 1st January, 1948 a revised system under which each Provincial Government will be responsible for the distribution of cement allocated for consumption in their territories.

MANUFACTURE OF LOCOMOTIVES IN INDIA

805. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement regarding the position of the manufacture of locomotives in India?

(b) What is the number of serviceable and other locomotives with the railways at the moment?

(c) What is the number of locomotives immediately required by railways in India?

(d) How many locomotives are expected from abroad?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) A statement as desired by the Honourable Member is being tabled.

(b) Excluding the number of locomotives on the former North-Western and Bengal Assam Railways, to be allotted to India, the total number of locomotives on the Indian Government Railways now is approximately as under:

Broad Gauge	...	...	...	...	...	...	4,495
Metro Gauge	...	...	...	...	...	...	1,696
Narrow Gauge	...	...	...	...	...	...	142
							6,333

The division of the locomotives on the former North-Western and Bengal Assam Railways, on the basis of Radcliffe award has not yet been finalised.

(c) It was anticipated, before partition, that roughly an increase of 25 per cent. in locomotives as compared with the stock in 1946-47 will be required during the next 10 years. This estimate will have to be revised in view of the subsequent changes in the country. This estimate will require further revision if schemes for electrification on certain railways which are now under consideration fructify.

(d) 573 locomotives are expected from abroad and 68 locomotives from indigenous industry. The distribution of these locomotives between India and Pakistan has not yet been finalised.

†Answer to these questions laid on the table, the question hour having been suspended with.—Ed. of J.

Statement regarding position of the manufacture of Locomotives in India.

Two Senior officers were placed on special duty by Government to investigate the question of manufacture of locos. in Government Railway workshops in India. Their report which was received in 1940 was to the effect that locomotives could be manufactured in India by converting the existing loco. repair shops at Kanchrapara: they recommended that the work carried out in these repair shops should be distributed between the workshops of the other two contiguous railways at Calcutta and the entire capacity of Kanchrapara Loco. shops be utilised for the building of Locomotives and boilers. Owing to various developments during the war the Government loaned the Kanchrapara loco repair shops to the Supply Department for the manufacture of munitions; arrangements were made for the transfer of work then carried out at Kanchrapara. to the Khargpur workshops of the B. N. Rly. and Jamalpur workshops of the E. I. Railway. Government made the above arrangements in the belief that with this off-loading of the repair work, Kanchrapara repair shops would be available for the manufacture of locomotives on release by the Supply Department after completion of Munition work.

Due to the insistence of the War Resources Committee of Council it was decided in 1942 that planning for building locomotives in India should proceed. In October 1942 therefore the assistance of the Consulting Engineers for the preparation of a complete plan for re-modelling the Kanchrapara workshops to build 120 complete B. G. locomotives and 120 boilers per annum was obtained. The Consulting Engineers' final report reached India in a number of separate despatches, the first arriving in December, 1944 and the last in July 1945. Prior to the receipt of all these despatches certain Mechanical and Civil Engineering officers were placed on special duty with the B. A. Rly. to prepare final plans and estimates.

In April, 1945, however, it was found that the war time expedient of farming out the repair load of the B. A. Railway to the workshops of the two contiguous railways was not working satisfactorily and that the release of the Kanchrapara workshops for loco. building would cause the B. A. Railway serious embarrassment. In December 1945 the General Managers of the three Calcutta Railways considered the matter and stated categorically that alternative capacity for Kanchrapara did not exist and could not be provided on the East Indian and B. N. Railways. The Railway Department reviewed the entire position at a meeting in mid-July 1946 with the representatives of the railways concerned and the question as to whether a separate manufacturing works or a combined repair and manufacture works should be provided, was gone into great detail. The Government then decided that if locomotives were to be manufactured in India, a separate workshop for this purpose must be provided and the site selected was Kanchrapara (North). The Government also decided that the loco. building workshop should be designed for the production of 120 locomotives and 50 additional spare boilers per annum working single shift; that provision should be made for the construction of quarters, etc., for the staff and for the supply of water and lighting and building of roads, drains, hospitals, etc.

It may be mentioned that the then Honourable Member for Railways Mr. Asaf Ali approved of the actual site referred to above and initiated the arrangements necessary for the commencement of production of complete locomotives from December 1950. An estimate amounting to Rs. 11.4 crores was approved by the Standing Finance Committee for Railways and the Government appointed M/S. Braithwaites, Burns and Jessop group as the main, and M/S. Hind Construction Co., as the secondary contractors for the construction of workshop structures. Arrangements were made for the building of the workshop colony with a number of contractors and substantial initial progress was made. Arrangements were also made with the Industry and Supply Department to expedite procurement action for obtaining Machinery and Plant from U. K. and indigenous trade. In order to further expedite the procurement of machinery and plant from U. K. a senior railway officer was sent in May 1947 to U. K. to expedite the work necessary before tenders were called for from the manufacturers of machine tools in U. K. This officer returned to India in September after completing the preparatory work on a large majority of the item. The Government are also actively taking steps for procuring suitable machines of Indian Manufacture to the maximum extent possible.

Consequent on the announcement in June 1947 of the proposed constructional changes and pending the Boundary Commission's award, orders were issued to suspend all construction work at Kanchrapara (North). As considerable quantities of steel had been ordered by M/S. Braithwaites, Burns and Jessops, it was decided recently to authorise the firm to continue the manufacture of steel work to the programme originally drawn up for the project. It was also decided not to disturb the procurement action that was already in hand both in U. K. and in India for the machinery and plant required for this scheme. Though as a result of the Boundary Commission award, Kanchrapara (North), the site selected for loco. building workshop, falls in India, the Government decided that a workshop of this importance should not be located close to the frontier. Instructions have been issued to the East Indian Railway for surveys to be carried out for the selection of a suitable site in the area between Asansol, Jhaja of West Bengal.

It will thus be seen that the actual construction of the loco-building workshop is now pending the selection of a site. Arrangements will be made to proceed with the work with as little delay as possible; the Government have in fact accorded special priority for all questions in respect of loco-building scheme in India.

The E. I. Railway workshops at Singhbhum were sold to Messrs. Tatas during 1945. This has brought into being the Tata Locomotive and Engineering, Co., Ltd. (TELCO) who have entered into an agreement with the Government for the manufacture of 50 locomotives and 50 additional boilers per annum in this workshop. An order for 100 locomotive boilers has been placed on this firm; a further order for 58 locomotive boilers has recently been placed with them. The first locomotive boiler was delivered by TELCO in July 1947. The Company's scheme for the manufacture of locomotives in the workshops was approved by the Government in May 1947. Under the agreement with TELCO the firm is required to commence manufacture of locomotives within a period of two years from the date of receipt of the necessary plant and machinery at their works. No estimate can, however, be made of this date.

Ajmer workshops of the B. B. and C. I. Railway have been manufacturing locomotives to a limited extent for a number of years. At present these workshops are engaged on the manufacture of 10 XTI locomotives. Orders have been placed on this workshop for the manufacture of 58 YB locomotives, boilers for which will be supplied by TELCO. In view of the Government's scheme to have a separate workshop for loco. building and in view of the difficulties that exist in developing Ajmer as a repair-cum-manufacturing workshop the Government have decided that as soon as the Ajmer workshops have completed their present commitments they will cease to manufacture locomotives. It is the Government's intention that if the new locomotive building workshop comes into existence before the order for 58 YB locomotives is completed at Ajmer the entire work will be transferred to the new loco-building shop.

As far as the present position is concerned, it is possible for the Government to say that practically all the normal requirements of the Indian Railways in respect of locomotives would be met by indigenous manufacture. If the requirements of Indian Railways in respect of replacement over the next 15 years are taken into account it will be found that the capacity being provided for in the loco-building workshops of the Government and of the private enterprise, would be sufficient to meet these requirements. If, however, it is found that the railways have to undertake a large development of their lines and to extend the existing railway mileage, more locomotives would be required. As against this, the Government are considering electrifying certain sections of the Indian Railways which proposal if it fructifies would reduce the requirement of steam locomotives on replacement account during a period of the next 15 years.

REMOVAL OF CONTROLS.

806. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the Government of India's policy with regard to various controls now in force in the country?

(b) Do Government propose to decontrol commodities in the near future?

(c) If so, how do Government propose to give effect to that policy?

(d) What steps Government propose to take simultaneously with the lifting of controls against anti-social elements who want to create artificial shortage.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) to (d) The future policy of the Government of India regarding the controls with which the Ministry of Industry and Supply are concerned, namely, coal, steel, textiles and paper is still under consideration. A decision may be expected after the impending Industries Conference convened by Government, at which the future of controls amongst other matters will be discussed with Provincial Ministers and representatives of industry and labour.

FREIGHT PAID ON FOODSTUFFS IMPORTED.

807. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: }
 { Shri K. Santhanam: }

Will the Honourable Minister of Food be pleased to state the amount of shipping freight paid during 1945-46 and 1946-47 in respect of import of foodstuffs from different countries such as the United States of America, Canada, Australia, Turkey, etc., showing the nature of foodstuffs, the quantities imported.

the names of the countries from which foodstuffs have been imported, the names of the shipping companies, the names of vessels in which foodstuffs have been imported as well as the rates of freight and the total amount of freight paid?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: The total amount of shipping freight paid by the Government during 1945-46 was 6.04 crores, and during 1946-47 was 17.36 crores.

Two statements are laid on the table of the House—one relating to 1945-46 and the other to 1946-47, in which full details have been furnished so far as the countries of origin and the quantities imported are concerned. Shipwise particulars are available, but, as the number of ships involved is over 700, I hope the Honourable Members will appreciate the difficulty of compiling and circulating a statement. The Ministry would however be glad to provide them all facilities for obtaining information regarding any particular shipping company, or particular ships or particular countries as the Honourable Members may desire.

Statement showing imports of Foodgrains and Foodstuffs from each country during 1945-46 and Freight charges paid.

Country of Origin	Nature of Food-stuff	Quantity Imported	Amount of freight paid in '000 (pounds) $(dollars) Rupees.
Australia	Wheat	36,000 tons	207	..	..
	Condensed milk	106,607 cases	..	..	167
	Cheese	27,128 cases	..	..	62
	Cheese	334 crates	..	..	5
	Canned meat	7,599 cases	..	..	25
Burma	Rice	75,000 tons	..	..	2,675
North America	Wheat	820,000 tons	3,193	3,570	..
Canada	Whole milk powder	1,500 drums	..	..	18
		4,300 cases
New Zealand	Separated milk powder	39,654 cases	..	..	246
Total			£ 3,400	$3,570	R3,195
Total			Rs. 604 lakhs.

Statement showing imports of Foodgrains and Foodstuffs from each country During 1946-47 and Freight charges paid.

Country of Origin	Nature of Food-stuff	Quantity Imported	Amount of freight paid in '000 £(pounds) $(dollars) Rs.(rupees)
Australia	Wheat	375,000 tons	1,180	..	..
	Flour	134,000 tons	423	..	..
	Millets	1,000 tons	..	..	..
	Barley	18,000 tons	55	..	..
N. A.	Wheat	558,000 tons	1,708	6,566	..
	Flour	37,000 tons	221	..	..
	Maize	116,000 tons	290	1,631	..
	Milo	155,000 tons	776	611	..
	Whole milk powder	360,895 cases	..	..	792
	Separated milk powder	32,744 drums	..	..	1,187
		104,994 barrels	..	..	..
	Dehydrated potatoes	464,644 cases	..	..	1,459
		30 cartons	..	..	..
	Condensed milk	1,400 tons	..	..	140
Turkey	Biscuits	400 tons	..	..	75
	Barley	96,000 tons	408	..	..
U. K.	Wheat	38,000 tons	132	..	..
	Flour	4,000 tons	30	..	..

Country of Origin	Nature of Food-stuff	Quantity Imported	Amount of freight paid in '000 £(Pounds) $(Dollars) Rs.(Rupees)
Canada	Wheat	165,000 tons	989	..	..
	Oats	32,000 tons	353	..	..
	Condensed milk	280 tons	..	..	31
Burma	Rice	299,000 tons	..	..	13,736
	Maize	5,000 tons	..	..	240
Siam	Rice	26,000 tons	89	..	..
Indo-China	Rice	11,000 tons	38	..	..
Brazil	Rice	73,000 tons	..	1,754	..
Argentina	Maize	258,000 tons	183	..	..
	Millets	20,000 tons	106	..	..
	Barley	18,000 tons	95	..	..
	Oats	3,000 tons	1	..	..
	Millets	40,000 tons	..	..	2190
Egypt	Barley	7,000 tons	..	..	377
Iraq	Millets	8,000 tons	..	..	448
	Barley	123,000 tons	..	..	6,754
Indonesia	Rice	36,000 tons	124	..	..
Abyssinia	Millets	2,000 tons	*	..	..
New Zealand	Separated milk powder	37,500 tons	..	..	203
	Milk powder and malted milk	135,234 lbs.	..	..	10
	Biscuits	50,000 cases	..	..	313
			..	..	..
Total			8,281	10,562	27,955
Total			Rs. 1,736 lakhs.

AVIATION TRAINING SCHOOL AT SAHARANPUR.

808. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari }
 { Shri K. Santhanam }

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether the school for training in various branches of aviation which is proposed to be established in Saharanpur has now been started?

(b) If not, what are the reasons for the delay and when is the school likely to commence working?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) and (b) The Civil Aviation Training Centre with two Schools, viz., the Communications School and the Aerodrome School commenced functioning in Saharanpur in November, 1946. Necessary action to organise the Flying Training and Engineering and Mechanics Schools is in hand and it is expected to start them at an early date.

INDIA-BURMA AIR SERVICE

809. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari }
 { Shri K. Santhanam }

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Orient Airways still operates between Calcutta and Rangoon?

(b) Is this Company likely to shift its Headquarters to Pakistan and if so, do Government propose to give the license for Calcutta/Rangoon service to an Indian Airline?

(c) Is permission of the Burma Government necessary in respect of Indian-Burma Air Service; if so, was such permission obtained for the operation of Orient Airways?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Yes, Sir, but as a Pakistan Company and not as an Indian Company.

(b) Orient Airways have shifted their Registered Office to Chittagong. The Air Transport Licensing Board has granted a provisional licence to Indian National Airways Limited to operate the Calcutta-Rangoon route for a period of 90 days, with effect from the 1st November, 1947.

(c) The reply to both parts of the question is in the affirmative.

EXTENSION OF INDIAN AIR LINES TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES

810. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari
 Shri K. Santhanam }

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state what progress has been made in respect of operation of Indian Air Service to foreign countries such as Iraq, Iran, Egypt, East Africa and the United Kingdom in the West and China, Burma, Malaya, Indonesia and Australia in the East?

(b) What are the difficulties that prevent the extension of Indian Air Lines to foreign countries in the vicinity of India?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) and (b). Constitutional uncertainties in last 12 months have held up the progress of schemes for the development of external air services. A daily service between Calcutta and Rangoon has, however, been in operation for over four months. It is also expected that an Indian Air Service from India to the United Kingdom will commence operation in May, 1948. The question of establishing services to other countries mentioned by the Honourable Member is also being considered.

AIR AGREEMENTS WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES

811. * { Shri T. T. Krishnamachari
 Shri K. Santhanam }

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state the number of countries with which the Government of India have concluded Air Agreements?

(b) Has specific provision been made in such Agreements for operation of Indian Companies on such routes when they come into existence?

(c) How is traffic to be apportioned between the Foreign Lines and the Indian Lines on such routes?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Three—United States of America, Netherlands and France.

(b) Yes, Sir.

(c) Traffic is not to be apportioned, but the airlines of each country, i.e., India and the other country concerned, are to enjoy equal opportunity to offer capacity to meet the requirements of the public for air transport on the agreed routes.

SEONI SUB-POST OFFICE IN CENTRAL PROVINCES

812. * Seth Govind Das: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Government wanted to dispose of a part of the compound of the Seoni Sub-Post Office, in the Central Provinces, and a letter to that effect was addressed to the Sub-Post Master, Seoni, some time in 1938-39 or thereabout?

(b) If so, what has happened to the proposal thereafter?

(c) Was any inquiry received in this connection by the Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department recently? If so, was not the person concerned directed to correspond with the Post Master General, Central Circle?

(d) Is it not a fact that no information has been supplied as yet to the inquirer by the said Post Master General?

(e) Will Government be pleased to supply the final and necessary information to the public of Seoni town, in this connection forthwith?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) No, Sir.

(b) Does not arise.

(c) Yes, Sir. An enquiry was received in September last by the Ministry of Communications from a certain Zamindar of Seoni which was forwarded to the Postmaster-General of Nagpur for disposal.

(d) No, Sir. The Postmaster-General informed him in November that there was no proposal to sell any part of the Seoni Post Office land.

(e) Does not arise.

SCARCITY OF SALT

813. * Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the hardship people experience due to scarcity of salt all over India?

(b) If so what are the causes of the scarcity and what steps have been taken to remedy the same?

(c) Are Government aware that the quality that is being supplied is very unsatisfactory?

(d) If so, what steps are being taken to improve it?

(e) Is it a fact that the supply of rock salt has been totally stopped?

(f) If so, what steps Government propose to take to get the full quantity of salt that they were getting before partition?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) According to our information, scarcity of salt has been felt in recent months not all over India but in certain areas, notably East Punjab, U.P., Bihar, south C.P. and Bombay.

(b) The causes were mainly: (1) Stoppage of supplies of rock salt from Khewra which affected East Punjab, U.P. and Bihar; (2) Railway transport difficulties which affected U.P. mostly; (3) Inadequate imports which affected Bihar; and (4) Cyclones and seasonal rains and labour troubles which affected supplies to south C.P. and Bombay.

Action taken to remedy the causes of the scarcity is as follows: (1) East Punjab and U.P. are being supplied from Sambhar. Daily despatches have been stepped up from about 90 wagons to over 160 wagons. (2) The import position is being closely watched and efforts are being made to increase imports for supplies to Bihar, C.P. and Bombay. (3) Production has been increased at the Government works in Rajputana and in private factories in Madras.

Government have a short-term and a long-term plan for increasing the production, bettering the quality and ensuring the distribution of salt at reasonable prices to the consumers.

(c) The quality supplied is in some cases unsatisfactory.

(d) A Committee of technical experts will shortly be appointed to suggest inter alia ways and means for improving the quality of Indian salt. In the meanwhile, the Salt Controller will take steps through a licensing system to ensure that bad quality salt does not get into the market in large quantities.

(e) Supplies of rock salt from Pakistan have been stopped since August 1947.

(f) Efforts are being made to get supplies from Pakistan in the way they used to come before the Partition. Action is being taken meanwhile to step up imports and increase production in India.

"RUNNING" AND "WORKING POWERS" OF PAKISTAN RAILWAY

814. *Shri Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state the sections of the Bengal Assam Railway and the North Western Railway belonging to the Indian Dominion, for which the Pakistan Dominion Railway authorities hold "running powers" and vice versa?

(b) What is the respective route mileage involved in part (a) above?

(c) What are the sections of the Bengal Assam and North Western Railways belonging to the Indian Dominion, for which the Pakistan Dominion Railway authorities hold "working powers" and vice-versa?

(d) What is the respective route mileage involved in part (c) above?

(e) What are the respective average annual incomes of the sections involved in parts (a) and (c) above?

(f) What are the agreed arrangements of the "working powers" and the "running powers" and the financial or other obligations involved on the part of either Dominion Government?

(g) For what period are these "running" and "working" powers held?

(h) How have these arrangements worked so far?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) to (d). A statement showing the sections of the old Bengal Assam and North Western Railways belonging to the Indian Dominion, over which Pakistan Railway authorities will hold 'running and working powers' and vice versa, with the route mileages involved, is placed on the table of the House.

(e) The information is not available.

(f) and (g) The details of the arrangements for 'working powers' and 'running powers' are still under consideration.

(h) These arrangements came into force only recently and it is too early to judge their working.

Statement.

Section	Route Mileage	Owing Dominion	Particulars of running and working power exercised by the other Dominion
B. A. Railway
Dersana to Ranaghat	26,1/4	Pakistan.	Running Powers.
Benapol to Bongaon	3	Pakistan.	Running Powers.
Bongaon to Ranaghat	20,3/4	Pakistan.	Running Powers (for through trains to and from Khulna Section).
N. W. Railway
Latu to Karimganj.	6,3/4	Pakistan	Running Powers.
Radhikapur to Parbatipur	30	India	Running Powers.
Golakganj to Bamanhat.	10	India	Running Powers.
Giladaha to Lalmanirhat	7,1/2	India	Running Powers.
Changrabanda to Lalmanirhat	53,1/2	India	Running Powers.
Chilhati to Siliguri.	38,1/2	India	Working Powers.
Singhabad to Godaghat	35,1/8	Pakistan	Working Powers.
Godagari Ghat to Lalgaolaghat	Ferry	Pakistan	Working Powers.
N. W. Railway
Gandassghwala to Ferozepore Cantt.	7,1/2	India	Running Powers.
Dorabaha Nanak to Narowal	10	Pakistan.	Running Powers.
Khem Karn to Sasur	8	Pakistan.	Running Powers.
Atari to Lahore	15	Pakistan	Running Powers.
Chanawal to Mcleodganj Road	17	Pakistan	Running Powers.
Hindumalkot to Mcleodganj Road	9,7/8	Pakistan	Running Powers.

SCALES OF PAY FOR TEACHERS IN RAILWAY SCHOOLS

815. *Shri Lakshmi Kanta Maitra (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government are aware that since 1929 the scales of pay of teachers in State Railway Schools in the Indian Union have been assimilated to the scales of pay of teachers of the same status in the Government Schools in the provinces in which they are situated?

(b) Is it a fact that in accordance with the same policy, when revised (and reduced) scales of pay were introduced by the different Provincial Governments during the years 1931 to 1935, these were also made applicable to teachers in Railway Schools in the Provinces concerned?

(c) Are Government aware that Provincial Governments of the United Provinces and Bengal have recently sanctioned revised and enhanced scales of pay for teachers in the Government Schools under their control, the Government of the United Provinces in March 1947 and the Government of Bengal in April 1946 and January 1947?

(d) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, are the revised scales or interim increases of pay as sanctioned by the Governments of the United Provinces and Bengal, proposed to be introduced in the East Indian Railway Schools in those Provinces? If not, why not?

(e) Are Government considering the desirability of regulating the scales of pay in the Railway Schools in accordance with the recommendations of the Pay Commission contained in para. 19, page 247, Part III of their Report or do they propose to continue the Provincial Scales of pay for teachers in the Railway Schools?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) A decision to this effect was taken by the Railway Board in 1929 but it was given effect to only on the East Indian Railway.

(b) The answer is in the affirmative in so far as the East Indian Railway is concerned.

(c) Government are not aware of the scales of pay for teachers having been revised by the Governments of the U.P. and Bengal in 1946 and 1947. Information on this point is being obtained.

(d) and (e) The recommendations of the Central Pay Commission in so far as they relate to Railway Schools are at present under examination. In coming to a decision all relevant factors will be given due consideration.

DISPOSAL OF SCIENTIFIC EQUIPMENT.

816. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state:

(a) the policy of Government in the matter of disposal of scientific equipment by the Disposals Directorate;

(b) Whether Educational Institutions are allowed the chance of acquiring such equipment before they are offered for sale to others;

(c) whether any representations have been made by any University authorities in this matter; and

(d) if so, what action has been taken thereon?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) Government's policy in the matter of disposal of scientific equipment, as of all surplus stores, is to meet the requirements of the Central Government and local Governments as a first priority.

(b) Recognised Educational institutions have been placed in priority No. 3, i.e., immediately after the Central Government and local Governments. If their demands are sponsored by the Ministry of Education they are up-graded to priority No. 1.

(c) and (d). The Calcutta University authorities recently asked the Government of India for a general permit for the purchase of surplus stores for use in their laboratories. In reply they have been given inspection facilities to visit Disposal depots in order to make their selections, and have been asked to furnish Government thereafter with a list of their specific requirements. A similar request was recently received from the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, and a similar reply has been sent.

ADMISSION IN CENTRAL AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

817. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) the minimum requisite educational qualification for admission in the Central Agricultural College, Delhi;

(b) the reasons for the disparity if any; between the standards of agricultural education set by the Government of India and by the provinces; and

(c) whether Government propose to advise the provinces and the Inter-University Board to adopt the minimum qualification as prescribed by the Government of India for admission to the Central Agricultural College?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The minimum qualification for admission to the Central College of Agriculture is Matriculation or Certificate of the Board of Higher Secondary Education, Delhi Province.

(b) The disparity that exists is due to the fact that the University of Delhi, to which the Central College of Agriculture is affiliated, has a three years Degree Course instead of four years duration as in the other Universities of the Indian Dominion.

(c) The suggestion will be considered by Government.

REMODELLING OF TELlichERRY STATION

818. *Haji Abdus Sattar Haji Ishaq Seth: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state, with reference to the answer to my starred question asked during the last Budget Session of the Central Assembly, whether the necessary preliminaries for the remodelling of Tellicherry Station have been taken in hand?

(b) If so, when will the work be started?

(c) Is the construction of the line between Tellicherry and Mysore under active consideration?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) and (b) In March, 1947, during the last Budget Session, the Honourable Member was informed that the remodelling of Tellicherry station was included in the South Indian Railway's Post-war plan for the year 1949-50. The Railway Board have very recently approved of the remodelling of this station being undertaken in 1948-49 now and the Railway will in due course take in hand the preliminary arrangements for carrying out this work.

(c) No.

CATERING ARRANGEMENTS IN S. I. RAILWAY

819. *Shri O. V. Alagesan: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Spencer and Company who cater for the higher class passengers, pay an annual rent of rupee one only for their catering arrangements on the South Indian Railway, which is called 'Pepper Corn' rent?

(b) Are there such establishments on other Railways paying such rent and, if so, what are they?

(c) Is it a fact that Indian catering establishments, stall-holders and even vendors on platforms who cater for the lower class passengers pay much more in the form of license fees fixed by the Railway Administrations on the basis of space occupied, volume of business, etc.?

(d) If the answer to part (c) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to abolish this distinction and patronage and tax the establishments now enjoying concession on the same basis as applies to the Indian Establishments?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) Messrs. Spencer and Co. pay a rent of Re. 1 per mensem per station on the S.I. Railway.

(b) There are four other Government Railways which are charging nominal rents as follows:—

Assam Railway	} European Style caterers
B.B. and C.I. Railway
M. and S.M. Railway

G.I.P. Railway—European-Style and Indian Refreshment Room Caterers.

(c) Yes. This is so in the case of Assam, B.B. and C.I., M. and S.M. and S.I. Railways.

(d) The whole question is now under examination.

COW-DUNG GAS PLANT.

820. *Shri O. V. Alagesan: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Pusa Agricultural Institute has been for some years experimenting with a plant to produce gas for fuel and lighting purposes from cow-dung with manure as a bye-product?

(b) If so, are Government in a position to place the plant on the market?

(c) In view of the great utility of the plant for the rural agricultural population, do Government propose to undertake the manufacture of the plant on a large scale and price it low, and if necessary, subsidise it?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c) The process has not yet been tried under rural conditions. The out-put of gas varies according to seasons, there being a sharp decline in winter.

Prof. N. V. Joshi, formerly Assistant Agricultural Bacteriologist of the Institute, has taken out a patent for a design suitable for home use and has taken up the erection and supply of small scale plants at Poona for the production of fuel gas for domestic use as well as for use in small laboratories. The results of that experiment are awaited.

IMPORT OF MOTOR CARS AND TRUCKS.

821. *Shri Lakshminarayan Sahu: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the present export prices in India of (1) a complete car and (2) truck chassis of each of the following makes:—

- (i) Ford;
- (ii) Chevrolet;
- (iii) Oldsmobile;
- (iv) Pontiac; and
- (v) Studebaker?

(b) Which of the above are assembled in India and where?

(c) What are their prices in the United States of America to (i) the trader and (ii) the consumer?

(d) Is the import of the cars and other motor vehicles which are already assembled abroad and are ready for use in India discouraged by import restrictions?

(e) Are the Studebaker cars and trucks handled in India by the Hindustan Motors?

(f) Is the Hindustan Motors owned or managed by the Birla interests?

(g) What are the reasons for the disparity in the prices in India of cars and trucks handled by the Hindustan Motors and others?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) A statement is laid on the table of the House.

(b) All are assembled in India. Fords are assembled by Messrs. Ford Motor Co. of India Ltd., at Bombay, Madras and Calcutta, Chevrolet Oldsmobile and Pontiac by General Motor Works at Bombay and Studebaker by Hindustan Motors Ltd., at Okha and Calcutta.

(c) and (g) The information is being collected and will be laid on the table of the House when ready.

(d) In order to encourage assembly and manufacture in India, the import of vehicles in a Knock-down condition is considered preferable to the import of fully assembled vehicles

(e) Yes, Sir.

(f) The Hindustan Motors is a limited liability Company and their Managing Agents are the Birla Brothers.

Statement

(a) Cars	Price
(1) Ford Super Deluxe Fordor Sedan Genuine leather upholstery 6.00x16 (4 Ply) (5)	Rs. 9,990 Ex-Bombay Retail.
(2) Chevrolet.	Rs. 9,195 Ex-Plant Bombay.
(3) Pontiac.	Rs. 10,930 Ex-Plant Bombay.
(4) Oldsmobile.	Rs. 11,250 Ex-Plant Bombay.
(5) Studebaker Champion Regal DeLuxe.	Rs. 12,950 Ex-Ports.
Studebaker Commander DeLuxe.	Rs. 14,950 Ex-Ports.
Studebaker Land Cruiser.	Rs. 15,950 Ex-Ports.
(b) Trucks:—
(1) Ford 114" Wheelbase Light Delivery Van equipped with 6.00x16 (6 Ply) tyres (5)	Rs. 6,700 Ex-Bombay Retail.
114" Wheelbase Chassis with Windshield equipped with 6.00x16 (6 Ply) tyres (5)	Rs. 5,700 Ex-Bombay Retail.
122" Wheelbase Chassis with Windshield, equipped with 7.00x17 (8 Ply) tyres (5).	Rs. 6,375 Ex-Bombay Retail.
Super DeLuxe Station Wagon, Genuine leather upholstery 6.00x16 (6 Ply) tyres (5).	Rs. 9,515 Ex-Bombay Retail.
134" Wheelbase Standard Chassis with windshield equipped with 6.00x20 (8 Ply) tyres front (2) and 32x6 (10 Ply) tyres rear (2)	Rs. 6,775 Ex-Bombay Retail.
134" Wheelbase Heavy Duty Chassis with windshield equipped with 32x6 (10 Ply) tyres (6) dual rear and auxiliary rear springs.	Rs. 7,500 Ex-Bombay Retail.
153" W. B. Standard Chassis with windshield equipped with 6.00x20 (8 Ply) tyres front (2) and 32x6 (10 Ply) tyres rear (2)	Rs. 6,965 Ex-Bombay Retail.
158" W. B. Heavy Duty Chassis with windshield, equipped with 31x6 (10 Ply) tyres (6) dual rear and auxiliary rear springs.	Rs. 7,770 Ex-Bombay Retail.
176" Wheelbase Heavy Duty Chassis with windshield equipped with 34x7 (10 Ply) tyres (6) dual rear and auxiliary rear springs.	Rs. 8,655 Ex-Bombay Retail.
194" Wheelbase Special Bus chassis with windshield, equipped with 8.25x20 (10 Ply) tyres (5) dual rear, 6-volt Electrical System and Booster Brakes.	Rs. 9,445

Price

Trucks:—contd.

194" Wheelbase Special Bus Chassis with windshield equipped with 8.25x20 (10 Ply) tyres (6) dual rear, 12-volt Electrical system and Booster Brakes.	Rs. 10,330
(2) Chevrolet 3130 115" W. B. with Steel cab.	Rs. 5,995 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 3112 115" W. B. with Cowl and windshield (without cab)	Rs. 5,120 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 3603 125" W. B. chassis with steel cab.	Rs. 6,720 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 361 125" W. B. with cowl and windshield (without cabs).	Rs. 5,845 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 4103 134½" W. B. with steel cab.	Rs. 7,440 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 4112 134½" W. B. with Cowl and windshield.	Rs. 6,565 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 4403 116" W. B. with Steel cab 3 ton.	Rs. 8,625 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 4412 116" W. B. with Cowl and windshield.	Rs. 7,750 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 6403 160" W. B. with steel cab 5 ton.	Rs. 9,655 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 6412 160" W. B. with Cowl and windshield.	Rs. 8,780 Ex-Plant Bombay.
Chevrolet 6712 195" W. B. Bus Chassis.	Rs. 9,790 Ex-Plant Bombay.
(3) Pontiac	There is no truck of this make.
(4) Oldsmobile.	Information not available.
(5) Studebaker.	Information not available.

TOBACCO RE-DRYING MACHINES.

822. *Professor N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the tobacco re-drying machines strengthen the capacity of tobacco growers to store their cured tobacco for a much longer period than at present in anticipation of better prices and also as an insurance against any temporary and sudden fall in tobacco prices;

(b) whether it is a fact that the All India Central Tobacco Committee has been assured that a re-drying machine would be obtained by Government and placed at the disposal of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Societies;

(c) whether any steps are being taken to purchase such a machinery for our tobacco growers;

(d) whether Government are aware that at least 6 machines are needed, 4 for Andhra, 1 for Bengal and 1 for Gujrat; and

(e) when Government hope to bring that machinery actually and offer it at concession rates to Tobacco Growers Co-operative Societies?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) The Indian Central Tobacco Committee has decided to purchase, with the concurrence of the Finance Ministry, a Re-drying Machine for the exclusive benefit of small growers, but no definite assurance has been given yet that the plant will be placed at the disposal of the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Societies.

(c) Yes.

(d) Government are aware of the fact that more than one plant are required, but the Indian Central Tobacco Committee, at its meeting held in October, 1947, decided to import only one on its account for the present and to assist private firms in securing import permits for more machines.

(e) If orders are placed abroad now, the machine is expected to arrive by 1949.

PISCICULTURE OF FISH IN WEST BENGAL.

823. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that fish is one of the principal articles of protein food in West Bengal;

(b) whether Government are aware that in West Bengal the supply of fish from natural sources like the rivers and the sea has suffered a serious deterioration and the situation is worsening from year to year;

(c) what steps Government have taken or propose to take for adequate pisciculture in West Bengal; and

(d) whether Government propose to consider the desirability of creating training centres for pisciculture and starting fisheries in suitable areas?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Yes.

(b) No, Sir, the Government of India are not aware of any such serious deterioration.

(c) The development of Inland and Coastal fisheries is a matter for the Provincial Government but the Government of India are giving financial aid to such schemes as are expected to increase the production of fish. The Government of India have also established a research station for Inland and Estuarine fisheries near Calcutta.

(d) Yes. The Government of India had conducted at Calcutta 4 training classes in Inland Fisheries with the help of the Provincial Government. It is proposed to start the next training class in Inland Fisheries at Calcutta during the coming summer.

AGRICULTURAL INSTITUTIONS IN INDIA.

824. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) the names of agricultural institutions in different provinces and the number of students in each institution;

(b) whether Government are aware that the present number of agricultural institutions is quite inadequate for a vast agricultural country like India;

(c) whether Government propose to consider the desirability of starting agricultural institutions all over India within as short a time as possible and of directing all Universities to make agriculture a subject in the course of studies for secondary education and for higher studies also; and

(d) whether, in view of the fact that the province of West Bengal, after partition has been left without a single agricultural school or college, Government propose to consider the desirability of taking such steps as may conduce to the establishment of an agricultural college in that province without delay?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) A statement giving the required information is placed on the table of the House.

(b) Yes.

(c) The matter is already under the consideration of the Government of India.

(d) Excepting the agricultural school at Chinsura and an institution of similar nature at Barrackpur, there is no other institution of this type of University or lower standard in the new province of West Bengal. The initiative for starting an agricultural College has to come from the Provincial Government. The Central Government have already started a Central College of Agriculture in Delhi to cater for the requirements of the Centrally Administered Areas, Indian States and those Provinces of the Dominion of India which do not possess Agricultural Colleges. Students from West Bengal are also admitted to this College and several have already joined.

List showing the names of agricultural institutes in different Provinces in the Dominion of India and the number of students in each

Province	Names of Institutes	Standard	Total number in all the classes	Total output in a year
1	2	3	4	5
Assam	Nil.		Nil.	Nil.
Bengal	Chinsura Agricultural School	School	20	11(1943-44)
(West)	Agricultural school, Barrackpore.		Not known.
Bihar	Agricultural College, Sabou	Patna University	Not available.
Bombay.	Agricultural College, Poona	Bombay University.	229	60(1943-44).
	Agricultural Institute, Anand		Not known.
	Agricultural High School, Godhra.	School.	60	(1941-42)
	Agricultural High School, Jaigoan.	School.	62	(1941-42).
	Agricultural High School, Satara.	School.	126	(1941-42).
	Agricultural High School, Bijapur.	School.	126	(1941-42).
	Special Agricultural, School, Dhulia.		59	(1941-42).
	Special Agricultural School, Devihosur.		34	..
	Special Agricultural School, Rajapur.		25	..
	Special Agricultural School, Puntamba.	..	27	..
	Primary School, Agricultural Bias Classes.	..	43/43	..
	Special Horticultural short courses, Ganesh khind	Not known
	Sheet Mansuk Lal Chagan Lal School of Agricultur, Anand	..	55	11
O.P.& Berar	Agricultural College Nagpur	University	131	..
	Government Agricultural Anglo-Hindi Middle School	School. ..	177	..
East Punjab	Khalsa College, Amritsar.	University	131	..
Madras.	Agricultural College, Coimbatore.	University.	122	33
	Agricultural College, Bapatla.	University.	Not known.
	Juvenile Labourers School Co mbato'o	School.	25
	Juvenile Labourers School Savalkot.	School.	15	..
	Juvenile Labourers School Palur.	School.	30	..
	Juvenile Labourers School Anakapalli.	School.	32	..
Orissa.	Nil		Nil.	Nil.
United Provinces.	Government Agricultural College, Kanpore.	University.	326	74
	Agricultural Instt. Allahabad.	University.	144	..
	Amarsingh K. E. M. U. Jat College, Lakhot.	..	236	42
	Jay Vedic Agricultural College, Baraut.	..	42	21
	School of Agricultural School, Bulandshahr.	School.	80	37
	Government Agricultural School, Gorakhpur.	School.	85	..

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) (i) Class II (a), (ii) Class V.

(b) 197 wagons were allotted on the G.I.P. Railway for loading firewood from stations in Bundelkhand Forest Division, under Government sponsor, and 9 wagons for private individuals for Belangunj (Agra). No wagons were allotted for despatch to Ferozabad, on Government or private account.

As regards Pilibhit Forest Division, 20 covered and 750 caged wagons were supplied to the Forest Department, for transport of firewood, during June, July and August, 1947, the actual allocation of these wagons between Government sponsored and private traffic being left to that Department. During September and October, 1947, one covered wagon was supplied for nominees of the Agra District Magistrate, for Agra City and nil covered and 81 caged wagons were supplied to private individuals. It may be added that caged wagons are not permitted to be sent to the B.B. and C.I. Railway, and were loaded to local stations on the O.T. Railway.

IMPORT OF AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

830. *Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether Government have any statistics of draught cattle within the Indian Union?

(b) Are Government aware of the acute shortage of draught cattle for agricultural purposes?

(c) Do Government propose to import motor tractors from abroad to increase the production of food stuffs? If so, how many? If not, why not?

(d) Have Government received any requisitions from any provincial Government for import of motor tractors for agricultural purposes? If so, what are the provinces that have made such requisition?

(e) Do Government propose to import any other agricultural machinery or implements for the improvement of agriculture in India? If so, what are the categories of such machinery?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) Statistics are available for the Indian provinces as they were before partition.

(b) Yes.

(c) Yes. 811 Nos.

(d) Yes. 1. Bombay, 2. United Provinces, 3. Bihar, 4. Madras, 5. Punjab, 6. Bengal, 7. Assam.

(e) Yes.

1. Grain Drills, 2. Ploughs, 3. Harrows, 4. Field Cultivators, 5. Power Sprayers, 6. Mowers, 7. Harvesters, 8. Ensilage Cutters, 9. Feed Grinders, 10. Ditchers and Terracers, 11. Leaning Wheel Graders, 12. Potato Planters, 13. Soil Pulverisers, 14. Thrashers, 15. Compost Turning Machines.

BUS SERVICE BETWEEN AMRAOTI AND BADNERA

831. *Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government propose to change the timings of the railway service in such a way as to obviate the necessity of the bus service in case a fare of Re. 0-2-0 is not considered sufficient by the motor company to run motor buses between Amraoti and Badnera?

(b) Was there any company operating a bus service between Amraoti and Badnera?

(c) What was the name of the company and when was this company started?

(d) What was the date on which the service was inaugurated?

(e) What is the name of the present company which runs the service?

(f) What is the railway fare from Amraoti to Badnera?

(g) What was the bus fare when the service was started and what is the bus fare now?

(h) Are Government aware that the railway service between Amraoti and Badnera was proposed to be completely stopped?

(i) Was such an order passed by the Central Government?

(j) Have Government received any complaints from the Amraoti public against inadequate passenger service between Amraoti and Badnera?

(k) Was any enquiry made to ascertain the advisability of stopping passenger service?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) No. The railway timings are fixed to suit the convenience of the majority of the travelling public and with due regard to junction connections. It would not be possible to increase the frequency of services sufficiently to eliminate the parallel road service, nor would such a course be desirable.

(b) It is understood that there was no bus company operating the service between Badnera and Amraoti immediately prior to the inauguration of the present service.

(c) Does not arise in view of the answer to (b).

(d) The present service was inaugurated on 6th of June, 1945.

(e) The Central Provinces Transport Services, Ltd.

(f) Two annas for III Class.

(g) Three annas and three annas six pies respectively.

(h), (i) and (k). Owing to serious difficulty in meeting urgent civilian and military demands for passenger rolling stock during the war, the Central Government instructed Government Railways in December, 1944, that passenger trains on branch lines paralleled by nearby roads should, wherever possible, be withdrawn and replaced by road services. In pursuance of this policy, the G.I.P. Railway withdrew the passenger train service on the Amraoti-Badnera section in December, 1945, after enquiries had established that road transport would be able to provide an adequate substitute service for the public.

(j) Such representations have been made from time to time, but the Administration state that complaints have been less numerous on this section than on other portions of the system. The service has been restored as rakes became available, and today there are six trains in each direction as against seven trains in each direction provided before the war.

IMPORTS OF DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

832. *Shri S. Nagappa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state what percentage of drugs and medicines is imported from foreign countries out of the total quantity needed?

(b) What are the countries from which they are imported?

(c) Is there any proposal under the contemplation of Government for the manufacture of such medicines and drugs in this country?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) About 30-35 per cent. of the country's total requirements of the items on the official list of drugs and medicines are imported. In addition, a large number of proprietary preparations are imported owing to their popularity in this country.

(b) The main sources of supply are the U.K. and the U.S.A. Small quantities are also imported from Australia, Canada, Belgium, Holland and Argentina.

(c) Yes, Sir.

825. *Shri Satis Chandra Samanta: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether Government are aware of a case of pilfering by breaking open wagons lying between Machada and Bhogpur Railway Stations on the Bengal Nagpur Railway in the month of October 1947?

(b) Is it a fact that the case was enquired into by the Railway Police and the local Police and the culprits were found out in the presence of many gentlemen of the locality?

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, what steps have Government taken or intend to take against the culprits?

(d) Have Government received any representation from the public of the locality regarding the occurrence?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) and (b) No such case was reported in October, 1947. As a result of secret information, the Railway Police, in company with District Police, made searches in the neighbourhood of Bhogpur when some stolen cloth and tobacco were found. It is understood that those responsible have not so far been detected.

(c) Does not arise.

(d) The local residents made certain allegations against the Police Officer in charge of the search party, as a result of which a chargesheet under Section 161, Indian Penal Code, has been filed and the officer in question is reported to be under suspension.

RELEASE OF WAGONS OCCUPIED BY STAFF IN B. N. RAILWAY.

826. *Shri Upendra Nath Barman: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that many wagons have been held up at Domohani Junction (Bengal Dooars Zone, Chaugrabanda to the north of old Bengal Assam Railways) for some months in order to shelter labour and office staff who opted from Pakistan?

(b) Is it a fact that Railway authorities sanctioned construction of about 60 quarters to be completed by 15th October last?

(c) Has the construction of quarters been completed and whether the large number of wagons occupied by labour and office staff have been released for normal transport?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a), (b) and (c) The information asked for is not readily available, and the reply from the Assam Railway, who were referred to, has not been received on account of the difficulty in communications. It will be placed on the table of the House, as soon as it is received from the Assam Railway.

CONSTRUCTION OF TELLICHERRY-MYSORE RAILWAY LINE.

827. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) whether the construction of the Railway line from Tellicherry to Mysore is included in the programme of the Ministry;

(b) what were the findings of the preliminary survey of this region conducted by the experts in 1937; and

(c) whether, in view of the fact that this line is expected to be a financial success, Government propose to consider the question of giving an early priority to it?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) The construction of a railway line from Tellicherry to Mysore is not included in the Post-war Reconstruction Plan of Railways, which had been drawn up in consultation with the Provincial Governments concerned.

(b) It appears that no preliminary survey for the construction of a railway line from Tellicherry to Mysore was carried out in 1937, but a preliminary survey for a railway line between Tellicherry and Nanjangud on the Mysore Railway was made in 1923-24. The reports of this survey revealed that the chief obstacles to such a railway are the descent of the precipitous Western Ghats, and the difficulty of choosing an alignment, which would serve a sufficiently wide number of interests to make it remunerative.

(c) In view of the replies to parts (a) and (b), the question of giving an early priority to the project does not arise.

CULTIVATION OF FALLOW LANDS.

828. *Shri P. Kunhiraman: Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state:

(a) why the "Grow More Food" campaign has been a failure;

(b) whether Government propose to encourage the cultivation of fallow lands in and round big cities; and

(c) if the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, whether Government propose to allow vegetables to be grown in the five thousand acres of land in New Delhi?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) The Government of India do not agree that the Grow More Food campaign has been a failure. There have been some important limiting factors such as lack of materials like coal, iron and steel and fertilizers which have been in short supply for the last few years. Added to these has been the insufficiency of trained personnel. These factors, combined with the seasonal and natural causes over which Government has no control, explain why the results of the campaign have not been as satisfactory as one would wish. The Government of India have been rendering all possible financial, technical and other assistance to the Provincial Governments in implementing their Grow More Food Schemes.

(b) Yes.

(c) The Delhi Administration, under whose jurisdiction the land mentioned lies, will undoubtedly consider this. They could not, however, in the nature of things, make any commitment without knowing where actually the land is situated, whether the authorities to whom it belongs are agreeable to its being utilised and whether the cultivation of the same will affect the sanitation of the city.

WAGONS FOR FIRE WOOD.

829. *Shri Jaspat Roy Kapoor: Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state:

(a) the priority number for wagons for fire wood:—

(i) for civil supply under Government permit to District Magistrate's nominees in the United Provinces; and

(ii) for fire wood transported by private individuals for their own trade purposes; and

(b) how many wagons were allotted from stations in the Bundelkhand and Pilibhit Forest Divisions to Agra District Magistrate's nominees for Agra city and Ferozabad respectively between June 1947 and October 1947, and how many wagons from stations in the same Divisions in the same period were allotted to private individuals?

POSTPONED STARRED QUESTION AND ANSWER

EXPLOITATION OF THE NORTH ANDAMAN ISLANDS

673. *Shri T. T. Krishnamachari: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether the Government of India propose to hand over the North Andaman Islands forests to a private corporation for being exploited?

(b) If the answer to part (a) above be in the affirmative, who are the persons or interests that are to constitute the said corporation and what is the previous experience of each person or interest included in the said corporation in such business?

(c) What are the terms and conditions of the proposed agreement with the corporation and what is the nature of Government's interest therein?

(d) What are the royalties stipulated by Government to be paid by the corporation?

(e) What is the type of control that Government propose to exercise over the corporation?

(f) Are Government working the forests in South Andaman Islands departmentally; and, if so, with what result?

(g) Have the Ministry of Finance been consulted in the matter and their approval obtained?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) to (e) and (g). In April, 1946 the then Government of India decided that exploitation of the Forests of North Andamans should be left to private enterprise. Applications were accordingly invited. Among the applicants the following four firms, viz.: (1) Messrs. Hind Construction, Limited, (2) Messrs. Dalmia Jain Ltd., (3) Messrs. Himatsingka Timber Limited, and (4) Messrs. Annamalai's Timber Trust Limited having sound financial backing and experience in Timber trade agreed to work the Forests jointly. The Government of India have been negotiating with these firms for the formation of a quasi-Government Corporation to work the Forests under adequate Government Control. The terms have not been finalised and are still under discussion with the Ministries of Agriculture, Home, Finance and Industry and Supply.

(f) Yes, with varying fortunes.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

COMMISSIONING OF CIVILIAN GAZETTED OFFICERS WITH AGE LESS THAN THIRTY-FIVE YEARS IN INDIAN ARMY

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number of Civilian Gazetted Officers on the 1st June, 1947, and the 30th November, 1947?

(b) How many of them were retained permanently before the 15th August, 1947?

(c) In view of the fact that a large number of British Officers will have to leave the Indian Army by the 31st December, 1947, and there is a shortage of Indian Officers, do Government propose to consider the desirability of commissioning those Civilian Gazetted Officers who are not more than 35 years of age?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The number of Civilian Gazetted officers of the Indian Army Ordnance Corps serving on 1st June, 1947 was 818, and on 30th November, 1947, 654. The figures in respect of other Civilian Gazetted officers employed by the Defence Services are not readily available.

(b) None, as the permanent establishment has not yet been fixed.

(1700)

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1701

(c) A proposal is under consideration regarding the grant of commissions to Civilian Gazetted Officers of the I.A.O.C.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: How long has this proposal been under consideration?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: The proposal has been under consideration for the last few months and is now ready; I think it will be finally decided in the very near future.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: Have the Government changed their minds since April or May last, when the idea seemed to me to dispense with the services of practically all the Ordnance Officers (Civilian)?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: We propose to retain as many Ordnance Officers as we require.

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: My question, Sir, was that till May last the Government seemed to think that the services of only a very small number of the Civilian Gazetted Officers in the Ordnance Department would be required; have their ideas changed since then and do they contemplate a larger employment of these officers in future?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Yes, Sir.

COMMISSIONING OF CIVILIAN GAZETTED OFFICERS SERVING UNDER THE CONTROLLER OF STORES WITH AGE LESS THAN THIRTY-FIVE YEARS

Pandit Hirday Nath Kunzru: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state the number of Civilian Gazetted Officers serving under the Controller of Stores in the Directorate of Technical Development?

(b) In view of the virtual disappearance of the British Officers employed in the section under the Controller of Stores do Government propose to grant permanent commissions to those Civilian Gazetted Officers who are not more than 35 years of age?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) 86.

(b) Government will examine this suggestion.

PROVISION OF RAILWAY STAFF WHO OPTED FOR INDIA

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Railways be pleased to state whether it is a fact that about 700 inferior and 200 superior staff (Railway employees) who opted from Pakistan to India and arrived here in September, 1947, have not yet been provided with posts?

(b) Is it a fact that almost all of them are informed that they have to wait until vacancies occur?

(c) Is it a fact that when they ask for their salaries they are told that they will not get their pay unless they make applications for leave salary?

(d) Is it a fact that most of them have no accommodation in Delhi and that they and their families are stranded?

(e) Why are they not being provided with posts and accommodation?

(f) What is the policy of Government in this respect?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: (a) No. The position on 7th December, 1947 was that out of 24,000 India-opting employees of the North Western Railway who had reported to the Transfer Officers, India, up to that date, about 100 Class III (Superior) and 400 Class IV (Inferior) staff were awaiting posting orders.

(b) No. The staff for whom vacancies could not be found immediately have been and are being posted against supernumerary posts.

(c) No. Staff are being paid salaries either on the last pay certificates, where they are available, and in instances where they are not forthcoming, on the basis of their declaration of the particulars of their emoluments, previous employment, etc.

(d) No. The Railway Refugee Camp at Delhi has, with effect from 28th October, 1947, been transferred to Ambala. The only staff, from amongst those who came from the North Western Railway, who are remaining in Delhi at present are those who were living outside the Railway Refugee Camp under private arrangements.

(e) Does not arise in view of reply to part (b).

(f) The policy of Government is to provide employment for all railway employees who have opted for India.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact, Sir, that actually an order in writing has been given by the Department to those who have not yet been given appointments, saying that there is no vacancy? Is it also not a fact that they have to make an application for leave and on that leave application they were granted their salaries?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Sir, as I stated in my answer, the position at present is that of these 500 employees who were awaiting posting orders on the 7th December, practically all were workshop employees. Now, it so happens that the Eastern Punjab Railway, under the partition arrangements, has no workshop at all; and therefore, it has been rather difficult to find positions for them here. For that reason now we have adopted the practice of creating supernumerary posts in Railway Administrations where there are workshops in order to have an opportunity of posting these people there.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact that about a hundred of them belong to the establishment of the Commerce Department and the Transport Department?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: Even in those cases our idea at present is to provide supernumerary posts if there are no vacancies.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact that the non-appointment of this staff is due to the policy of the Government of India and particularly due to those juniors who were promoted in place of those who opted for Pakistan, and therefore vacancies could not be found for them?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: No.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Is it not a fact that in Bombay those who were asked to be posted to the B.B. and C.I. and the G.I.P., have all been appointed in all the Departments—if they belonged to Commerce they were taken on the establishment of Commerce Department? Is it also not a fact that in Delhi this has not been done?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: The postings have been made with reference to the substantive appointments that they have been holding.

Diwan Chaman Lal: May I ask the Honourable Member whether there are any cases that have been brought to his notice where the postings have not been made on that particular basis and a lower salary or grade has been granted to these people who come from Pakistan?

The Honourable Dr. John Matthai: If there are cases of that kind, I am prepared to look into them.

Mr. Speaker: I have received notice of an adjournment motion. The Honourable Member is not in his seat, I find; so I need not refer to it. We shall now proceed with the other business.

ELECTION TO STANDING COMMITTEE FOR MINISTRY OF FOOD

Shri Satyanarayan Sinha (Bihar: General): Sir, I move:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct, one member to serve on the Standing Committee to advise on subjects with which the Ministry of Food is concerned, until the end of the next financial year vice Prof. Yeshwant Rai resigned."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct, one member to serve on the Standing Committee to advise on subjects with which the Ministry of Food is concerned, until the end of the next financial year vice Prof. Yeshwant Rai resigned."

The motion was adopted.

ELECTION TO COURT OF UNIVERSITY OF DELHI

Shri Satyanarayan Sinha (Bihar: General): Sir, I move:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct, one member to be a member of the Court of the University of Delhi, vice Dr. P. S. Deshmukh resigned."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That this Assembly do proceed to elect, in such manner as the Honourable the Speaker may direct, one member to be a member of the Court of the University of Delhi, vice Dr. P. S. Deshmukh resigned."

The motion was adopted.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): May I ask you, Sir, if this is official work or non-official work?

Mr. Speaker: It is official work. The Honourable Member is authorised by the Minister.

I have to inform the Honourable Members that for the purpose of election of one member to the Standing Committee for the Ministry of Food and also to the Court of the University of Delhi, the Notice Office will remain open up to 8 p.m. to-day and that the election if necessary, will be held on Friday the 12th December, 1947. The elections by means of the single transferable vote will be held in the Assistant Secretary's room (No. 21) in the Council House, between the hours 10-30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS TO ALL INDIA COUNCIL FOR TECHNICAL EDUCATION AND STANDING COMMITTEES FOR MINISTRIES OF INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING AND COMMERCE.

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto the time fixed for receiving nominations for the All India Council for Technical Education and the Standing Committees for the Ministries of Information and Broadcasting and Commerce, five nominations in the case of the first and one in the case of each of the second and third were received. As the number of candidates was thus equal to the number of vacancies in each of these Committees, I declare the following members to be duly elected:

The All India Council for Technical Education.—(1) Nawab Muhammad Ismail Khan, (2) Dr. P. S. Deshmukh, (3) Shri Biswanath Das, (4) Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar, and (5) Prof. Yashwant Rai.

Standing Committee for the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting.—Pandit Balkrishna Sharma.

Standing Committee for the Ministry of Commerce.—Shri M. A. Srinivasan.

INDIAN COTTON CESS (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad (Minister for Food and Agriculture): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923, be taken into consideration."

The Bill is a very short and simple one. Under the Indian Cotton Cess Act, a cess of two annas per bale is levied on every bale of cotton which is exported from India or which is used in cotton mills, but the limitation at the present moment is that this cess can be levied only on cotton produced in India. Since the partition of the country, Pakistan now ceases to be part of India. Therefore, the cotton produced in Pakistan will not be subject to this cess, although the cotton may be used in Indian mills. This amendment is intended to make it liable to that cess. The money that is raised from this cess is used by the Central Cotton Committee in connection with research and improvement of cotton cultivation and cotton manufacture. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 and 3 were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

AJMER-MERWARA (EXTENSION OF LAWS) BILL

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and the States): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill to provide for the extension of enactments to the Province of Ajmer-Merwara be taken into consideration."

The House is aware that the Province of Ajmer-Merwara is peculiarly situated, surrounded on almost all sides by Indian States territories. The size of this province is almost the size of an old British district. Now, in this province, there is no arrangement for proper modern administration or any arrangement for passing any legislation. A similar province is the province of Delhi, with some differences as to the size and its surroundings. The Delhi Province also has no Legislative Assembly but it has the advantage of being situated near the capital, New Delhi and its administration is not therefore so detached or unaffected by modern trends of thought. In Ajmer-Merwara, however, the Administration is largely governed by rules and regulations which are very old and antiquated. So when we took charge, we thought that something should be done to bring its administration as far as possible to the level of the other provinces. But we found that it was very difficult to make any revolutionary changes which would be required to bring the administration to modern conditions. It would require a Legislative Assembly or Council and for that legislation will have to be passed here also. It would take much time and involve much labour. By that time the new constitution would be passed and then this question would solve itself. Therefore, I thought it better to bring into being some sort of Advisory Council.

We have set up Advisory Councils in both Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara. But in Delhi we have got the advantage of an enactment which authorizes us to apply the provisions of any law passed in any Provincial Assembly. Therefore it is easy for us to bring this Administration of Delhi almost to the level of the adjoining Provinces of Punjab or the United Provinces, and we have in some manner applied the provisions of these acts from the adjoining Provinces recently. I may quote an instance. When I got representations from the Scheduled Castes people about the disabilities which they had to suffer in the Province of Delhi, we made use of this Act and extended the Scheduled Castes Disabilities Removal Act of Bombay to the Province of Delhi, in that way, we could easily set right or remove their difficulties. In Ajmer, unfortunately there is no such act in existence and therefore, for the short period till the passing of the new Constitution by the Constituent Assembly, it would be advantageous to have this power of extending the operation of the legislation of the adjoining Provinces. Therefore, I have come with this proposal to authorize Government to have this power to apply the legislation that have been passed in these Provinces, where the Provincial Assemblies have scrutinized by a popular House all such ameliorative measures. Any such ameliorative measure which it may be considered necessary to apply to this Province would be by notification. That would give relief to the people of Ajmer-Merwara during the interval and with this object I have come to this House. I do not think it is necessary for me to take any more time of the House. I hope that the House will help us in passing this legislation. I move the consideration of the Bill.

(1704)

AJMER-MERWARA (EXTENSION OF LAWS) BILL

1705

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to provide for the extension of enactments to the Province of Ajmer-Merwara be taken into consideration."

Pandit Mukat Bihari Lal Bhargava (Ajmer-Merwara): I rise to give my wholehearted support to this motion. It is a very brief measure, Sir, but it is pregnant with possibilities of great benefit to the people of my province. As has been pointed by the Honourable Minister for Home Affairs, this unfortunate Province has been the greatest victim of British Imperialism. Its geographical and strategic position in the Centre of Rajputana and being surrounded on all sides by Indian States has been its greatest disadvantage. Ever since it was conquered by the British in 1818, it was transferred for administration to the North West Provinces, which is now known as the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. It would have been better if it had remained so, but unfortunately owing to political reasons in 1871 it was dissected from the United Provinces and was transferred to the Political and Foreign Department of the Government of India and was placed under the administration of the Agent to the Governor-General, acting as ex-officio Chief Commissioner. Ever since 1871 and up to the present day, Sir, it has been administered on autocratic lines.

Now, Sir, in the year 1877 the Scheduled Districts Act of 1874 was extended to Ajmer-Merwara. Since that date it has come to be known as the non-regulated province. Therefore under this act all laws, regulations and orders have been promulgated in the name of the Governor-General in Council, but at the instance of the Agent to the Governor-General who acted as its ex-officio Chief Commissioner. In these rules, regulations and notifications, the public had never any voice and from time to time these notifications, rules and regulations have been promulgated in a haphazard manner. Some rules have been taken from this province and others from the other province and in fact the present state of the Province so far as the Provincial enactments are concerned is a state of perfect anarchy and chaos. Even in a Court of Law, sometimes the lawyer or even the judge is confounded as to whether this law will apply or that. The Constitutional Reforms that were introduced in the country as a whole, that is, the Morley-Minto Scheme in 1909 as also the Montagu-Chelmsford Scheme in 1919 left this Province untouched and the only benefit that was extended was the allotment of one seat in the Lower House of the Central Legislature. Since 1924 too, there was absolutely no improvement in the situation, as the Indian Legislature did not take any interest or had no time [Pandit Mukat Behari Lal Bhargava] to devote to this unfortunate Province. From 1st April 1937 when part III of the Government of India Act 1935, came into force, the Scheduled Districts Act stood automatically repealed and the administration of this Province was transferred to the Home Department of the Government of India. In the last 10 years, not a single piece of legislation concerning this province with the exception of the Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control Act 1946, has been discussed or debated upon in the legislature and there is hardly any hope of distinct improvement, pending the decision of its fate by the Constituent Assembly.

In this connection, Sir, the Honourable the Home Minister was pleased to refer to the setting up of the Advisory Council and in fact for this there was a great public demand and the Government is to be congratulated for setting up this Advisory Council on the first occasion available. Constitutional difficulties stood in the way of giving Legislative powers to these Advisory Councils, but all the same they are representative bodies and they have taken upon themselves the question of the revision of law and they are busy going through suitable enactments in other Provinces. I hope, Sir, that the Central Government before extending any Provincial enactment to the Province of Ajmer-Merwara will surely consult the Advisory Council before taking any decision in the matter. It should be accepted as a matter of policy that no enactment or law should be enacted in Ajmer-Merwara till the Advisory Council has given its opinion on the point, and I hope there will be no difficulty in the matter. Sir, I support the motion.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta (Delhi): Sir, I do not propose to take up much time of the House on this brief measure which was so badly needed. I hope the measure will be welcomed by the residents of the province to which it applies. I whole-heartedly support the point of view which my Honourable friend Pandit Bhargava brought forward in respect of the Advisory Council, and I have no doubt that the Honourable Minister who has been taking a kindly interest in this type of province will be pleased to assure the House that in future all enactments which will be extended to these two provinces will be so extended after consultation with the Advisory Councils which have been recently set-up by the Honourable Minister. There is a feeling in all these centrally governed areas that public opinion is not associated with the administration as it should be. There is no doubt that so far as Delhi is concerned the Honourable Minister is himself in charge of Home Affairs and takes so much interest in the administration that the interests of the public are safeguarded. All the same there are disadvantages which are well known to the Honourable Minister, and one particular disadvantage is that in matters which pertain to this province we have to approach different Ministries. I would make a suggestion to the Honourable Minister that so far as these two provinces are concerned, if he could find time to administer himself all matters pertaining to these provinces it will be a very great step forward. Take, for instance, the Improvement Trust of Delhi. If any suggestion has to be made it goes to the Health Ministry. All this takes a good deal of time; the same is the case with Works, Mines and other proposals. I suggest that if the Honourable Minister for Home Affairs could undertake to administer all the affairs concerning these centrally governed provinces, particularly Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara, it will simplify matters and it will be a very progressive step indeed. I have no doubt that the Honourable Minister will consider the advisability of adopting such a course and will also assure the House that the Advisory Councils which he has so kindly set up would be consulted in respect of all measures, whether they are borrowed from other provinces or whether they are sought to be enacted by the House, and that the views of the Advisory Councils will be given due weight and adopted. Sir, I support the Bill.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to provide for the extension of enactments to the Province of Ajmer-Merwara be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

SALARIES OF MINISTERS BILL

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home, Information and Broadcasting and the States): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill to provide for the salaries of Ministers be taken into consideration."

I will not take much time of the House over this small matter. I may take the House into confidence and say that although this is a small matter it has taxed our minds considerably and we have spent a considerable time over it. We considered this question several times, we had two or three meetings of the Cabinet, and we had to reconsider proposals that we had once arrived at because any salary that you fix is liable to be criticised from one point of view or the other. But I may inform the House that looking at all the circumstances it may be said that the salary that we have proposed is not unreasonable. It will give an adequate amount for proper living in Delhi; in some cases after the deduction of income-tax some of my colleagues who have got other sources of income may have a little surplus and some will be out of pocket. So on the whole taking everything into consideration the amount cannot be considered to be unreasonable. As we have given a good deal of time and consideration to it I hope the House will pass it without any dissent.

In the matter of allowances it is not necessary to come to the House because it can be done by executive order or by a Cabinet decision, but we thought it better to put it to the House so that the House may know what the actual position is. The provision of double accommodation may require some explanation. I may inform the House that although we have provided for house accommodation here as well as in Simla there is surely no probability of any of us going to Simla. Houses there are all occupied by the East Punjab Government who are short of houses. Even if it were not so, we have no time or inclination to go to Simla because we think it unsuitable to conduct administration from those heights right down to the south. We cannot, therefore go there. It may of course be necessary for some Minister or other to go there occasionally on State business or for a short change of climate and reasons of health. In such cases the House will not grudge them such accommodation for a short or temporary period. But on the whole all the houses in Simla which belong to Government are now occupied. My Honourable colleague in charge of Works, Mines and Power will know more about it than I do; but I thought that the House should not carry a wrong impression on this question and feel that we are providing for double accommodation. In fact there will hardly be any case for any of us going to Simla. Sir, I move:

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to provide for the salaries of Ministers be taken into consideration."

Shri H. V. Kamath (C.P. and Berar: General): Are not the Ministers in need of a conveyance or car allowance for which no provision seems to have been made in the Bill? I am just eliciting information.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: What does the honourable member say?

Mr. Speaker: There appears to be no provision for a car in this Bill!

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: We have not provided for it deliberately.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari (Madras: General): Clause 4—Residence of Ministers: I wonder if the Honourable Minister is aware that as the rules are at present, the rental value of the house will be taken into account for purposes of the compilation of income-tax. It may perhaps reduce the salaries a little further than what they have in mind if the rental value of the House is taken into account as part of the income.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: I am not aware of the rules of income-tax and how it works and how it applies. But all these points of view must have been taken into consideration because the Finance Member was also a party to it.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Does the Honourable the Home Minister's reply mean that their cars are not bought and maintained at the cost of Government?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: That is so. The cars are purchased and maintained by the Ministers on their own responsibility and cost.

Mr. B. K. Sidhwa (C.P. and Berar: General): All credit to the Government.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to provide for the salaries of Ministers be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 to 4 were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

FEDERAL COURT (ENLARGEMENT OF JURISDICTION) BILL.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill to provide for the enlargement of the appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court in civil cases be taken into consideration."

The Federal Court as constituted under the Government of India Act as adapted, exercises three kinds of jurisdiction:

(a) Original jurisdiction under section 204:

(b) Appellate jurisdiction over High Courts under section 205: and

(c) Advisory jurisdiction under section 213.

The present Bill is concerned only with the Appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court. As I said, the Appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court under section 205 is a very limited jurisdiction. It is confined in the first place only to those cases in which the issue involved is the interpretation of the Constitution, that is to say, the interpretation of the Government of India Act 1935.

Secondly, this limited jurisdiction accrues to the Federal Court only if the High Court, after deciding a case before it gives a certificate to the effect that a question regarding the interpretation of the Constitution is involved.

It is only when these two conditions are satisfied, namely, that there exists an issue relating to the interpretation of the Constitution: and secondly, when the High Court has given a certificate that an appeal can go to the Federal Court under section 205.

The result of this limitation is this. All other appeals from the High Court in which questions relating to the interpretation of laws, other than the Constitution or those in which the interpretation of the Constitution is involved but where the High Court has not given a certificate, go directly to the Privy Council without the intervention of the Federal Court.

The object of this Bill is to prevent direct passage of appeals from the High Court to the Privy Council. In other words, the aim of the Bill is to make it compulsory that all civil appeals which arise from the judgment or decree of the High Court shall in the first instance go to the Federal Court.

The method adopted by the Bill to achieve this object is as follows:

What the Bill first does is to fix a day, which is the first of February, and which in the Bill is called "the appointed day". The next thing that the Bill does is after the appointed day no appeals shall go to the Privy Council directly from the High Court unless and until the appeal falls in a category of what is called "a pending appeal". If an appeal on the first day of February can be described within the terms of this Bill as "a pending appeal" then the appeal shall be continued to be heard and decided by the Privy Council. But if on that day the appeal is not "a pending appeal" within the definition of this Bill, then the jurisdiction of the Federal Court extends to such an appeal as the Federal Court gets a right to hear and decide such an appeal.

Section 7 of the Bill describes what is "a pending appeal". Now for this purpose a rough and ready made rule has been adopted in the Bill: The rule is this: that if the records of an appeal are transmitted by the High Court to the Privy Council on the appointed day or before the appointed day, then the appeal is a pending appeal and the Privy Council continues to exercise its jurisdiction to hear such an appeal, although it is a direct appeal.

If on the other hand the appeal is in such a state that the records have not been transmitted, then the appeal becomes automatically transferred so to say to the Federal Court and the Federal Court gets the right to hear the appeal.

Appeals to the Privy Council go in two different ways. They go under what are called the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code, Sections 109 and 110, which are called appeals by grants or they are appeals where the party have a right to appeal. In addition to that the Privy Council also has got the right to give special leave to appeal and when a party obtains special leave to appeal, such appeals also go to the Privy Council. Appeals which go to the Privy Council directly from the High Court on special leave being granted by the Privy Council, are also dealt with in Section 5 of the Bill. The provision there is this:

"Every application to His Majesty in Council for special leave to appeal from a judgment to which this Act applies remaining undisposed of immediately before the appointed day shall on that day stand transferred to the Federal Court by virtue of this Act."

If it is disposed of, that is to say, if it is rejected no further question arises.

If it is admitted then the Privy Council will be competent to deal with it. But if the Privy Council has not passed any order, then such an appeal shall be deemed to be transferred to the Federal Court and the Federal Court will have the right to dispose of the matter.

[Dr. B. R. Ambedkar]

I should like to tell the House in very concrete terms what this Bill does and what it does not do. I have told the House what this Bill does. I will tell the House now what this Bill does not do.

In the first place, it does not abolish appeals to the Privy Council in criminal matters. Criminal matters can still be entertained by the Privy Council from the Judgments of the High Courts. Secondly, it does not abolish appeals to the Privy Council from courts which are not high courts, that is to say, the courts of the Judicial Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara or of Coorg. Thirdly, it does not abolish appeals to the Privy Council from the judgment of the Federal Court.

The House would probably like to know why these deficiencies have been retained in the Bill and why we have not been in a position to provide in this Bill for the complete transfer in all cases, criminal or civil, from the High Court to the Federal Court and from the Federal Court to the Privy Council. The reasons are to be found in certain limitations from which the Dominion Legislature, i.e., the Constituent Assembly (Legislative) suffers. As members of the Assembly would realise we are exercising the powers for enlarging the jurisdiction of the Federal Court, which are given to us by Section 206 of the Government of India Act. If Honourable Members would refer to Section 206 they will see that it is a sort of section which gives constituent powers to this Assembly enabling it to alter the provisions of section 205 of the Government of India Act, 1935. Section 206 says:

"(1) The Dominion Legislature may by Act provide that in such civil cases as may be specified in the Act an appeal shall lie to the Federal Court from a judgment, decree or final order of a High Court without any such certificate as aforesaid."

(2) If the Dominion Legislature makes such provision as is mentioned in the last preceding sub-section consequential provision may also be made by Act of the Dominion Legislature for the abolition in whole or in part of direct appeals in civil cases from High Courts to His Majesty in Council, either with or without special leave."

Sub-section (3) requires the sanction of the Governor-General.

Anybody who reads section 206 will find that although the power to amend and enlarge the jurisdiction of the Federal Court is given to this Assembly, it is limited in certain particulars. It is limited to civil cases. Therefore no provision can be made for the abolition of direct appeals in criminal matters. Secondly, it refers to direct appeals, that is to say appeals from the High Court to the Privy Council. The reason why we are not able to abolish appeals from the Federal Court to the Privy Council is because of the existence of Section 208 in the Government of India Act. Section 208 says: (a) that an appeal will lie to His Majesty in Council from a decision of the Federal Court, from any judgment of the Federal Court given in the exercise of its original jurisdiction in any dispute which concerns the interpretation of this Act and (b) in any other case, by leave of the Federal Court or of His Majesty in Council. What I wanted to tell the House was that if it was desirable to abolish all appeals to the Privy Council and to enlarge the jurisdiction of the Federal Court in as complete a manner as we want to do, for that purpose we would have been required to hold a session of the Constituent Assembly and ask the Constituent Assembly to pass a Bill, which it can do, notwithstanding any limitations in the Government of India Act 1935, for the simple reason that the Constituent Assembly is a sovereign body and is not bound by the provisions of the Government of India Act 1935. The position of this Legislature which is spoken of as the Dominion Legislature is very different. It is governed by the Government of India Act of 1935 and therefore it must conform in anything that it wants to do to such provisions of the Act which permit it to do what it wants to do. As I said, the only permissive section which we have in the Government of India Act is Section 206 and we have taken the fullest liberty of this section to enlarge the jurisdiction of the Federal Court to the fullest extent possible. The deficiencies in the Bill I do not think need worry any members of the legislature for the simple reason that this Act will be in operation only for a very short time. As soon as our constitution is framed and is passed by the Constituent Assembly, we shall then be in a position to make the amplest provision for the jurisdiction of the Federal Court and to abolish appeals to the Privy Council. For the moment I think the House must be satisfied with what is done under Section 206. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to provide for the enlargement of the appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court in civil cases be taken into consideration."

Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar (Madras: General): Sir, In view of my state of health I request you to permit me to address the House sitting.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member may do so.

Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar: Sir, in commending this Bill and in asking the House to give its support to it I should like to say a few words. In the Dominions, judicial autonomy has come in the wake of the independence of the legislatures and the executive from any interference from Whitehall. A good number of the Dominions has practically abolished the right of appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and judicial autonomy is recognised as a fundamental principle even of Dominion Status. In Ireland appeals have been abolished both in civil and criminal matters, and a right to abolish the appeal has been upheld by the Judicial Committee. Quite recently in the Dominion of Canada the right of appeal in civil and criminal matters, including the right to special leave, has been abolished, and the Privy Council has held that the Dominion Legislature is within its rights in abolishing the appeal to the Privy Council altogether. It is thus clear that even in the Dominion stage it would be competent for India to abolish the right of appeal to the Privy Council. Apparently the Government are proceeding on the view that any provision involving a constitutional change even when India continues to be a Dominion must come before this Assembly in the sphere of its functions as a constitution-making body and the Government have thought it necessary to keep to the terms of the Independence Act in the light of the changes brought about by the Adaptation Orders of the Government of India Act. What I would lay stress on is that even as a Dominion it would be competent for this House, in one aspect or in another, to abolish the right of appeal to the Privy Council. But it would mean a certain change in the constitution of the Dominion because the Privy Council appeal is a part of the Dominion constitution. Therefore, if you want to abolish the appeal it would involve a change in the Dominion constitution. Under the terms of the Indian Independence Act it is competent even for the Dominion Legislature to pass an enactment repugnant to the provisions of the Independence Act, just as it is competent for the Dominion Legislature even to repeal the Independence Act. That is so far as the general aspect of the question is concerned. But anyhow the discussion is academic because it is only a question of time, and when the time comes we will be in a position to abolish the right of appeal to the Privy Council altogether.

There are a few minor points, however, which might merit the consideration of this House and of the Honourable the Law Member. Under the Government of India Act, as adapted, the appellant has to found his right of appeal in constitutional matters on Section 205 and to seek the leave of the court which passes the decree or the judgment. Under that section, as it stands, it will be noticed that if the High Court refuses leave, there is no provision for seeking the leave of the Federal Court. When an appeal is filed under the terms of the Bill now before the House, in cases where the valuation exceeds Rs. 10,000, a constitutional question may conceivably arise along with other grounds of appeal. Section 2 (b) of the Bill read with section 3 (a) provides that an appeal lies from a judgment in which an appeal would have been brought to His Majesty if this Act had not been passed. On a proper construction of section 205 the Privy Council has ruled that in an appeal to the Judicial Committee no constitutional point can be raised unless in the first instance the jurisdiction of the Federal Court has been invoked under section 205. If, therefore, a right of appeal to the Federal Court is to be limited to cases in which a direct appeal would have been brought to His Majesty, the clause might have the effect of precluding the Federal Court from going into any constitutional question if the procedure under section 205 has not been invoked or has been invoked and leave refused. That could not obviously be the intention of the framers of the Bill. Suppose the valuation and other tests are satisfied and if an appeal is lodged, the whole case is before the Court; then constitutional questions might arise, ordinary questions of law might arise, and the whole matter must be in a position to be taken up by the Federal Court. I may presume that it is of the value of over Rs. 10,000, that it otherwise satisfies the tests, that it is a reversing judgment or that it raises a substantial question of law and so on. Supposing it is so, then a question of constitutional interpretation arises before the Federal Court. What would be the effect then of the previous section which says, that in all constitutional matters you must first get leave of the High Court, and that is the final arbiter under the Act, as it stands, whether leave is to be granted or not. I would therefore suggest to the Honourable the Law Member the adoption by the House of a Proviso to section 3 (a) (i) permitting an appeal to the following effect, namely:

[Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar]

"Provided that notwithstanding the fact that no application has been made under the terms of section 205 or an application has been made and rejected by the High Court which decides the case, it shall be open to the appellant or the respondent to raise any question of law as to the interpretation of the Government of India Act or any Order in Council made thereunder before the date of the establishment of the Dominion, or any Order made thereunder on or after the date, or as to the interpretation of the Indian Independence Act, 1947 or of any Order made thereunder."

I have in fact given notice of an amendment and if the House gives me leave and if the Honourable the Law Member is disposed to consider it I shall move it. Otherwise I am not going to press it. The amendment I am suggesting may roughly run as follows:

"That to clause 3(a) (i) of the Bill the following proviso be added, namely:

"Provided that where an appeal has been preferred under this sub-section it shall be competent to any of the parties notwithstanding anything contained in section 205 of the Government of India Act to raise any of the questions of the kind specified in this section."

The present position, even as it is, is very unsatisfactory. A case involves constitutional points. It goes up before the Federal Court. The whole appeal is opened. I am therefore very glad that this Bill has been brought forward. But at the same time it ought to be made quite clear that when an appeal is lodged in the exercise of the general right of appeal with the litigant, under the Bill it ought to be open to the litigant to raise every ground that is possible to be raised in support of the appeal, and if it is a case of a respondent the appellant must be in a position to challenge the judgment of the High Court if really it is open to challenge, on a constitutional ground. Otherwise the Federal Court would be placed in a very very difficult position. An obvious question of constitutional law or constitutional interpretation might arise in the case of an appeal, and the court will have to state "This appeal is before us, but the first court has refused leave under section 205 in regard to the constitutional point; and notwithstanding the fact that the whole appeal is before us we are powerless to interfere with it." I would only appeal to the Honourable the Law Minister to consider the advisability of inserting a proviso of this type when the time comes.

With these few words I have great pleasure in supporting the motion before the House of the Honourable the Minister for Law.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Sir, such a measure has been long overdue. Soon after I came to this Assembly in the year 1935 or 1936 when Sir N. N. Sircar was the Law Member, I moved that steps should be taken immediately under section 206 to abolish the jurisdiction of the Privy Council in civil appeals and confer that jurisdiction on the Federal Court. He took up my suggestion and sent it round for opinion to the various High Courts. Later on when I went to my own province I was disappointed to hear one or two Judges tell me that we were not yet fit to invest the Federal Court of India with jurisdiction in civil appeals in place of the Privy Council and that they had greater faith in the Privy Council's decisions. They must have been born a hundred years earlier. I was certainly surprised. Similarly some other persons also who were of a conservative nature from some other High Courts were of the same opinion. They had greater faith in foreigners who were whiter still! Later on in the previous Assembly a resolution was tabled about three years ago by a previous Law Member who also hailed from Bengal. He proposed that concurrent jurisdiction may be given. Whoever wanted to prefer an appeal to the Privy Council may do so; others who wanted to do so, may prefer an appeal to the Federal Court. But later on we wanted that the entire jurisdiction of the Privy Council should be abolished and he himself did not press that matter. We are still struggling on. The final stage will come when the Constitution Act is framed whereby the jurisdiction of the Privy Council is totally abolished. We do not have appellate criminal jurisdiction which the Privy Council may have in particular cases. Therefore we are not yet free. That freedom will be attained only when the Constitution Act is framed. We cannot wait for long. Appeals are being filed every day against the decisions of various High Courts to the Privy Council. The sooner those appeals are abolished, the jurisdiction of the Privy Council is abolished with respect to those appeals and it is made easy for litigants to take up these matters to the Federal Court, the better. I congratulate the Honourable the Law Minister and I thank him for having introduced this measure. I have tabled an amendment. The measure even in its limited form is not complete. He gives jurisdiction to the Federal Court with respect to appeals which may be filed and have yet to be filed with respect to which leave is given or still has to be given. He has not tackled the problem of appeals already filed but which have not yet been heard or have only been partly heard. I have tabled an amendment and I am sure he will accept the amendment whereby provision is made for any party to a pending appeal before the Privy Council to move the Federal Court for withdrawing such an appeal in case it is not part heard and in case advance is not made or the other party is not in enormous loss, and if this loss cannot be mitigated, it can be mitigated by some compensation. Under these restricted conditions any party to an appeal may apply to the Federal Court for withdrawing the appeal to the Privy Council.

Sir, I heartily support the motion for consideration of this Bill.

Shrimati G. Durgabai (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like with great pleasure to congratulate the Honourable the Mover of this Bill. Sir, this is a measure which is of somewhat historic importance because this is in a way stopping the flow of appeals further to the Privy Council and thus settling our own matters, which are matters of our own importance, instead of their being settled by the body abroad. Sir, there are several questions which are very special to Indians, such as the Hindu law of adoption or such other matters which are of very great importance and which only the Indian mind can understand. Such matters were hitherto settled by people abroad who have neither the necessary knowledge nor equipment of problems relating to ourselves in India. Therefore it is a measure which I say, Sir, is of great historic importance. The Bill as I see it, and as appears to be the object of the mover of the Bill, is to stop the further flow of appeals going abroad and also gradually to abolish in due course all appeals going to that body. I have examined carefully the provisions of this Bill, Sir, but I have found that the Bill is defective in one or two respects. His anxiety seems to be to stop the flow of as many classes of appeals as possible going to that body, and while giving the definition of a pending appeal, he said the test is the transmission of records to that body. Now in this class of cases there are three categories which have come under the benefit of the provisions of this Bill. One class is the class of cases where special leave has not been required by the Privy Council and also where special leave is granted by the Federal Court. Also the Bill envisages a class of cases where special leave is not required but where cases are already pending before the Privy Council. Such are the classes of cases which are deemed to be coming to the Federal Court as envisaged by this Bill. But, Sir, I would say that there is yet another class of cases where special leave is granted but where records in that case are not sent to the Privy Council. If his object is only to allow such appeals to be disposed of by the Privy Council where the records are sent and where the sending of records is the test for cases to be disposed of by the Privy Council, I would ask in such class of cases where special leave is granted but where the records are not sent, why should such class of cases be disposed of by that body. Why should not that special leave be deemed to be special leave given by the Federal Court? So I would appeal to the Honourable the Mover of this Bill to consider that class of cases also where special leave is granted but where records are not sent. Then it may be argued by the Honourable the Mover that already for special leave to be obtained, some records have been sent, therefore let such class of cases be there pending and be disposed off. But I may say this, that the huge expenditure involved in the disposal of such cases is only for obtaining special leave. Only some amount must have been spent. But when we admit that the special leave is obtained for final disposal, a lot of time is involved, a lot of expenditure will be involved, and the main records will have to be sent. To save all that, the class of cases where only leave is granted and records are sent, such class of cases may be permitted to come under the provisions of this Act. Therefore I would appeal to the Honourable the Mover to accept the amendment of which I have given notice to this effect, and consider this matter favourably.

[Shrimati G. Durgabai]

There is another matter to which I would like to refer. Of course he has dealt when he was moving the Bill with criminal cases. The Bill is silent on that. It only applies to civil cases. But I hope that very soon he would bring another Bill to give the necessary effect. I am really disappointed to see that criminal cases are not covered.

And the third point is—there is some confusion in my mind about this—that the point of limitation has not been dealt with. Now, I would only ask: What happens to such cases between now and the 1st of February, that is the appointed date? Those cases where special leave has got to be obtained and for which the period of limitation will already have expired in the interval, should such class of cases also go to the Privy Council even after we have passed this Act? Of course it is left to the mercy of the High Court; the High Court may not send the records; but it is left to the mercy of the High Court not to send the records. So why not we make a suitable provision also with regard to that?

Therefore, I would ask the Honourable Mover to consider these three points, namely the special class of cases where leave is granted but records have not been sent; the question of limitation; and thirdly, the question of criminal cases to be covered by this Act. With these few words, Sir, I would congratulate the Honourable Mover for having brought forward this measure.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): Sir, I do not want to make a long speech, but it will be admitted by all that the Bill which the Honourable the Minister for Law has just moved meets a demand that was being made in the country for a very long time. The Act of 1935 did provide for the enlargement of the powers of the Federal Court; but in spite of attempts made by some of my Honourable friends to move the Government in the matter, things did not succeed; and I am therefore very glad to say that the Honourable Dr. Ambedkar has taken the first opportunity of coming with a Bill to enlarge those powers, which could be done under the Government of India Act of 1935 as adapted by the Ordinance of 1947. It means a good deal of relief to the litigant world which for want of means could not go and appeal to the Privy Council or which had to go to the Privy Council at a cost sometimes prohibitive; we know of cases in which Privy Council appeals have been won only to find that those who have ultimately won had no means to get their decree executed.

Sir, in his speech while introducing the Bill, Dr. Ambedkar has very lucidly pointed out the limitations under which he had to enlarge those powers. The relevant sections of the Government of India Act lay down that the powers could be enlarged only in a particular way and in particular cases, that is civil cases only; and the criminal jurisdiction had to be left out. This indicates that although on the 15th of August we have got autonomy, we have still a Legislature which has not got all the powers of a Sovereign Legislature—it is suffering from certain limitations. We have yet to wait for the day when we shall not only have a Sovereign State but a full Sovereign Legislature as it should be. Here in the present Bill there is still ground for a man aggrieved by the judgment of the Federal Court, to go and appeal to the Privy Council. So long as that provision is there, the Indian Dominion stands on a different footing from other Dominions. May-be the view which has been very lucidly explained to us by our Honourable friend Sir Alladi may be correct, and if that is the position we may be in a position to bring in an appropriate amending Bill and to assert our right in that way. But so far as it has been explained to us by the Honourable the Law Minister, it seems to me very clear that till we have framed a Constitution and got a Legislature under it, we shall probably suffer under those limitations.

Anyhow, I am very glad, Sir, that this Bill has been brought forward by the Honourable Minister. Much of the difficulties of the litigant world who were suffering, will hereafter disappear. We shall have, so to say, a Federal Court with appellate powers—such appellate powers as have been given to it by this Act—and which in a very short time will develop into a full-fledged Federal Court, and there will be no necessity for the Indian public to go to the Privy Council. I congratulate the Honourable Minister for having done that; I am sure the House will accord its full support to the Bill.

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava (Ajmer-Merwara): Sir, I rise to accord my full and hearty support to this measure, specially as it is a milestone towards the abolition of our slavery in the real sense. I call it a milestone, Sir, because even after the passing of this Bill into an Act, there will still be the appellate jurisdiction of the Privy Council in certain matters, and particularly in criminal cases. While conceding the proposition that has been enunciated by the Honourable the Law Minister that there are certain limitations on the Constituent Assembly while acting as the Legislature as distinct from its Sovereign character as the Constitution-making Body, still within the framework of the Government of India Act, 1935, it was open to the Law Minister to provide for the abolition of appeal to the Privy Council from the

[Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava]

Court of the Judicial Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara. In fact, Sir, in all judicial matters we have to look for uniformity, and it will sound ridiculous and it will be a great anomaly if the appellate jurisdiction of the Privy Council from one single court or from the courts of the Judicial Commissioners of Ajmer-Merwara is kept alive.

In fact, Sir, this appeal to the Privy Council involves an enormous strain of money on the litigating public and the litigating public in a part of the country like Ajmer-Merwara, which is very poor, find the strain enormous. Consequently, the Law Minister ought to have seen some way by which the appellate jurisdiction of the Privy Council from the Court of the Judicial Commissioner could be brought to an end. It has been contended, Sir, that it was not open to him because the Court of the Judicial Commissioner is not a High Court within the meaning or within the purview of Section 206 of the Government of India Act; but I would respectfully invite the attention of the Honourable the Law Minister to the provisions of Section 219 of the Government of India Act which lays down what are the "High Courts" for the purpose of the Government of India Act. I would draw his attention particularly to the last three lines in Section 219, which lays down "any other comparable court in India which the Act of an appropriate legislature may declare to be a High Court for the purposes of this Act." Under this specific provision, it was open to the Law Minister to treat this court of the Judicial Commissioner of Ajmer as a comparable court in India because its jurisdiction is that of any High Court and it is the final court of civil jurisdiction in the Province, and from it appeal lies only to the Privy Council. Therefore, Sir, treating it as a comparable court in India, because like any other part of the country, this Dominion Parliament is the appropriate legislature and by this very enactment the court of the Judicial Commissioner could be treated as the High Court within the meaning of Section 219 and thereby to abolish the appellate jurisdiction of the Privy Council. I have tabled amendments on this point and I would urge upon the Honourable the Law Minister to give his careful consideration to them and to end the appellate jurisdiction of the Privy Council.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Sir, I want to make a simple point which has not been made by the other speakers. The whole plan of the Bill seems to suggest that the procedure for amending Sections 206, 207 and 208 of the Government of India Act is different from making an ordinary law in the legislature. I think the idea is there that in order to amend any section of the Government of India Act, you have to sit in a different place in a different manner and adopt some different procedure. I have tried to look through the Sections of the Government of India Act, the Indian Independence Act and the Rules of Procedure of the constitution-making Section and the legislative Section. But I do not find any warrant whatsoever for the idea mentioned above. I think, as the constitution stands now, a constitutional change and law making are entirely on the same plane and therefore, in the same manner in which the present Bill is introduced. Sections 206, 207 and 208 could have been changed by an ordinary Bill to abolish the criminal and civil appeals to the Privy Council by simply substituting three different Sections.

In this connection, Sir, I would refer to Section 18 of the Government of India Act, 1935, as adapted. It says:—

"The powers of the Dominion Legislature under this Act shall, until other provision is made by or in accordance with a law made by the Constituent Assembly under sub-section (1) of Section 8 of the Indian Independence Act, 1947, be exercisable by that Assembly."

Now Section 8 (1) of the Indian Independence Act simply says:

"In the case of each of the new Dominions, the powers of the Legislature of the Dominion shall, for the purpose of making provision as to the constitution of the Dominion, be exercisable in the first instance by the Constituent Assembly of that Dominion, and references in this Act to the Legislature of the Dominion shall be construed accordingly."

Sir, if you refer to Section 6 of the Indian Independence Act, the powers of the Legislature, which is the Constituent Assembly for the present time, are unlimited. Therefore, I do not see that there is any justification for thinking that a different procedure has to be adopted for changing the Government of India Act from ordinary legislation.

My argument is also reinforced by the fact that if you take the rules of the Constituent Assembly in the constitution-making side, there is no provision whatsoever for bringing in any Bill to change the Sections of the Government of India Act. Now, it is admitted that this Assembly has power to change the Government of India Act. But where is the procedure? Thus if we are not to use the ordinary rules of this legislature, there is no way at all of changing the Government of India Act. We cannot have any legislation on the constitution-making side. We can have legislation only here. Therefore, I think the Honourable the Law Minister could have brought in an amending Bill, amending Sections 206, 207 and 208, and that would have done away with all complications. It would have done away with all kinds of appeals, second appeals or indirect appeals, from the Federal Court and we could have taken criminal jurisdiction of the Privy Council. The whole thing would have been simplified. There is at present some legal mystification which is causing unnecessary confusion in what is plain. That is the only point I wanted to make.

Dr. Bakshi Tek Chand (East Punjab: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I had no intention of speaking on this Bill today, for like most other members of the House I fully endorse the principle underlying the Bill and I join with them in congratulating the Honourable the Law Minister for bringing forward this measure, which has been long overdue. There are however two or three points, brought out by previous speakers, in regard to which I wish to make a few observations.

The first point which requires the consideration of the House is with regard to cases decided by the Judicial Commissioner of Coorg and Ajmer-Merwara. I fully sympathise with the views expressed by my Honourable friend opposite that there is no reason why appeals in civil cases to the Privy Council should continue from these two small parts of India while in regard to all other Provinces like Bombay, West Bengal, Madras, East Punjab and U.P. and the rest the same has been abolished. As far as I could see, the reason why the word "High Court" given in Section 219 of the Government of India Act has not been sought to be amended by the Honourable the Law Minister so as to include the Judicial Commissioners' courts of these Chief Commissioners' provinces is that, very probably, it may necessitate various consequential changes in regard to appointment, qualifications and salaries of judges, etc. But I would submit that it is not necessary to amend the definition of "High Court" in Section 219. All that would be necessary is in clause 2 (b) to say: "Judgment to which this Act applies means any judgment, decree or final order of a High Court or of Judicial Commissioners of Ajmer and Coorg." If you add those words, you steer clear of the necessity of amending Section 219. On the merits, I believe, the Honourable the Law Minister will agree that there is no reason why appeals from Ajmer and Coorg should lie to the Privy Council, while those in much bigger and more complicated cases which come from the other Provinces should go to the Federal Court. I would, therefore, ask the Honourable the Law Minister to agree to this amendment in section 2 (b) which will make the law uniform for the whole of the country including the Chief Commissioners' Provinces and would also obviate the necessity of amending Section 219.

[Dr. B. R. Ambedkar]

for no reason limiting the powers of this House. I am sure that that is a criticism which, to put it mildly, is certainly far from valid. I cannot accept the proposition that this legislature as distinguished from the Constituent Assembly is a completely sovereign body, as complete as the Constituent Assembly itself. It is true that the same Members who sit in this House sit in the Constituent Assembly, so that in regard to the personnel there is no distinction. But I have not the slightest doubt in my mind that so far as functions are concerned the two Assemblies are quite different. The function of the Constituent Assembly is to make the constitution and in making that constitution it is bound by nothing except by its own vote. So far as this Assembly is concerned, it is bound by the Government of India Act, 1935; that is the constitution which is binding upon this legislature. Except the British Parliament which has both sorts of powers, namely, ordinary legislative powers as well as constituent powers, I do not know of any Assembly anywhere which has got a written constitution which possesses powers to override a constitution which has created that particular legislature. I therefore submit that I am on perfectly strong and stable footing when I say that in carrying out the provisions of this Bill we must be bound by the limitations that have been imposed upon this legislature by the Government of India Act, 1935 as adapted.

I will now turn to the other criticism expression to which was given by my Honourable friend Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar. With regard to his amendment I do not want to say that I regret that the amendment is something which I could not accept. All that I want to say is that according to my reading of the situation that amendment is probably unnecessary, and I will explain to him why I take that point of view. The ground that he urged for the amendment was that the Privy Council in a certain case decided in 1940 (as reported in the Punjab Co-operative Bank versus Commissioner of Income-Tax) stated, according to him, that they would not entertain any point relating to the consideration of the constitution if the High Court had not given a certificate; therefore the Privy Council said that they would have to send that case back to the High Court for a certificate. His argument was that the decision of the Privy Council in this case may also be accepted by the Federal Court as binding upon itself; and therefore wherever there was no certificate given and the matter came up before the Privy Council—and as a matter of fact it was found that a question relating to the constitution did arise—the Privy Council would find itself unable to deal with that appeal. I think that was the sum and substance of his argument. Now what I would like to point out is that I think he has read a little more into the judgment of the Privy Council than it really says. I will read a few lines from the judgment. They have laid down three propositions which they say would arise in the consideration of section 205. The second proposition is the only one which is relevant to our purpose.

"Secondly, if in the absence of a certificate it appears to the Board on an appeal that there is ground for thinking that that is a matter for the consideration of the High Court and that they ought to have given or ought to have withheld the certificate, the Board ought to decline to hear an appeal until the High Court had had an opportunity of doing one or the other."

That is what the Privy Council have laid down. Now my submission is that this matter was as a matter of fact considered by the department when this Bill was drafted, and it was felt that after all in the observations made by the Privy Council they have not said that they do not possess jurisdiction in a case of this kind. All that they have done is to lay down a sort of rule of prudence that if a case came in for which there was no certificate they would not deal with it directly—not they had no power to deal with it—but would send the case back to the High Court. Therefore it does not mean that the Federal Court which under our Bill would be inheriting the jurisdiction of the Privy Council would have no jurisdiction because the Privy Council has laid down no such rule at all.

My second submission is that assuming that the Privy Council's dictum does go to the question of jurisdiction, is it necessary for us to presume that the Federal Court in exercising a new jurisdiction which we are giving to it would accept what has been laid down by the Privy Council? The Federal Court would be free to give its own interpretation. It may say that notwithstanding that that certificate was not given, we shall entertain the question and decide it.

Thirdly, the Privy Council has also got the power to give special leave and they may give special leave and get over the difficulty. What I am trying to do is to explain to the House that we did not incorporate the sort of provision which my Honourable friend Mr. Alladi Krishnaswami has tabled in his amendment. But if eminent lawyers in this House think that we ought not to leave this question in doubt, and I find that he is supported by my friend, Bakshi Tek Chand, I myself would raise no objection to the amendment if they insist that the amendment should be introduced in the Bill.

Then the question was raised with regard to the Courts of the Judicial Commissioners of Ajmer-Merwara and Coorg. It is quite true that it would be very anomalous that we should stop direct appeals from the High Court to the Privy Council and allow appeals from Judicial Commissioners to go to the Privy Council without the intervention of the Federal Court. The anomaly is patent and nobody can deny it. But the question is this: that unless and until we declare the Courts of the Judicial Commissioners as High Courts, we could not make this Bill binding upon them. Now I am told that the question of the declaration of the Judicial Commissioners' Courts as High Courts would involve certain administrative problems. For instance, all the provisions in the Government of India Act relating to High Courts would have to be applied to the Judicial Commissioners before they become High Courts. It seemed to me that that might create complications and that is the principal reason why we did not think it advisable at this stage to extend the provisions of this Act to the Judicial Commissioners. After all, as I said, this Bill will be of a temporary duration. It may not be in operation for more than two or three months, and I do not think that within these two or three months any very large number of appeals from the Courts of the Judicial Commissioners are likely to come to the Privy Council.

Therefore, I submit, rather than face the difficulties that may arise out of administrative considerations, it might be better for this House to suffer the anomaly and let the position stand as it is.

With regard to the question of criminal appeals that matter has been fairly disposed of by my friend who spoke before me, and therefore I do not think it necessary for me to touch upon that matter at all.

Mr. Speaker: I might just state what I was feeling about the amendment. In case the Honourable Law Minister is inclined to accept it, isn't it likely that an objection might be raised about the competence of this Legislature, inasmuch as the amendment uses the words "notwithstanding anything contained in section 205 of the Government of India Act"?

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: That also is a point.

Mr. Speaker: So that will also have to be considered. The House will be rising and in the recess the Law Minister may consider this point.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Yes, I will consider it.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half Past Two of the Clock.

[Dr. Bakhshi Tek Chand]

It has not been possible for most of us, and certainly not for me, to send formal amendments because I received the copy of the Bill only yesterday and my first impulse this morning was to ask you, Sir, to disallow the motion for taking the Bill into consideration as three days' notice had not been given. But I felt that the principle of the Bill and, on the whole, the drafting of the Bill was such as would commend itself to the whole House and as the time is short and the House is going to break off tomorrow and will not meet until some time in the end of January or beginning of February, it was not advisable to raise that objection. At the same time, I would ask you, Sir, to allow these small amendments to be moved without formal notice and, further, hope that the Honourable the Law Minister would himself accept the force of this amendment and one or two other amendments which may be moved before the House.

The other point to which I wish to refer is the one to which reference has been made by Sir Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar in his speech while supporting the Bill, and that is that there is an obvious conflict between Section 205 as to the right of appeal to the Federal Court on certain points and the provisions of the present Bill. As pointed out by my Honourable friend, Sir Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar, under the existing law Section 205 of the Government of India Act prevents the Federal Court from entertaining an appeal on a substantial question relating to the interpretation of the Government of India Act unless a certificate has been given by the High Court. There might be cases in which the value of the case is over 10,000 rupees and the case satisfies all the requirements of Sections 109 and 110 of the Civil Procedure Code. The appeal, therefore, would lie to the Federal Court as of right. But if, in addition to ordinary questions of law, if a question of the interpretation of the Government of India Act is involved, and the High Court either has not been moved to grant a certificate or, if moved, has refused to grant a certificate, then the Federal Court will be competent under the provisions of this Bill, to entertain the appeal on all other points, but it may be barred to hear and decide questions for which the Federal Court was originally established, namely the question of the interpretation of the Government of India Act. The best course in the circumstances would be to accept an amendment like the one suggested by Sir Alladi at the close of his speech and to incorporate it in the Bill and, to put an end to any dispute as to the jurisdiction of the Federal Court to hear and adjudicate such questions without a certificate. I would, therefore, commend to the Honourable the Law Minister the suggestion of Sir Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar to incorporate an amendment to that effect.

The third point to which I wish to make a passing reference, is the one to which some Honourable Members have referred, relating to "criminal appeals" to the Privy Council. It has been suggested that the Honourable the Law Minister should have included in the Bill a provision for the transfer of the "criminal appeals" from the Privy Council to the Federal Court and to bar the Privy Council from hearing such "criminal appeals". With great respect to the Honourable Members, I think there is some confusion on this point. Under the existing law, no appeal in criminal cases lies with the Privy Council; the Criminal Procedure Code makes no such provision; the Letters Patent of the High Courts contain no such provision and there is no other law, which allows a litigant to have recourse as of right, to the Privy Council in criminal matters. What are loosely called "criminal appeals to the Privy Council" are merely cases in which the Privy Council, acting on behalf of His Majesty, grant special leave to appeal. It is only by special leave, which is really an exercise of the prerogative of His Majesty, that the Privy Council has got the power to deal with criminal cases. Now, I do not see how, so long as we are a Dominion, the Honourable the Law Minister can make any provision in this Bill to transfer the prerogative of His Majesty to the Federal Court. If it is intended to give the Federal Court power to deal with criminal matters, a new Bill will have to be brought either in this Assembly or in the Constituent Assembly, as the case may be, to confer special jurisdiction on the Federal Court to hear appeals in certain cases. That is a matter of considerable importance which ought not and could not have been included in a Bill of this kind, because you cannot allow an unrestricted right of appeal in every criminal case to the Federal Court; you will have to restrict it to certain cases only. I, therefore, do not see the relevancy of the objection raised with regard to the transferring of criminal jurisdiction on the Federal Court relating to matters which might arise from decisions given by the various High Courts in criminal cases in India. Further, I do not think any great harm will be done to an "aggrieved person" if this matter is delayed for 3 or 6 months. After all, the new Constitution is likely to come into force, by October at the latest and in the meantime, while the Federal Court will not deal with ordinary criminal cases, the right of the Privy Council to grant special leave will remain intact. Therefore, an accused person who has been convicted by a High Court will have this satisfaction that until the Dominion Legislature or the Constituent Assembly has conferred the power on the Federal Court to entertain criminal appeals in certain cases, he has the right to move the Privy Council for grant of special leave in appropriate cases. I suggest, therefore, that this question relating to the jurisdiction of criminal appeals may very well be dropped.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad (West Bengal: Muslim): Sir, I rise wholeheartedly to support the principles of this Bill. We are going in due course and in the fullness of time to have a full-fledged Supreme Court which I P M. will really be supreme in all legal matters; but the House feels that the Bill does not go far enough. The reason is that there is a fear that some of the sections of the Government of India Act will stand in the way. There is also a view taken in this House that this House is not a sovereign legislature and the other House which is called a House for constitution making is supreme. The only distinction that I see between the two Houses is that this House sits in one room and the other House sits in another room, and while the other House has a President this House has a Speaker who are different persons. The members of both Houses are the same. This artificial distinction has been brought about for certain practical and administrative reasons. The distinction does not exist in the Indian Independence Act and must be rejected. I therefore fail to see how on account of these trivial and minute distinctions, which I do not consider to be relevant, the House loses the character of a sovereign body and shape our law in any way it thinks fit. Sir, Parliament has absolutely washed its hands of any further legislation relating to India. They say, "We are not going to make any further laws for India". On the other hand, we hold that this House is not sovereign and cannot pass certain kinds of legislation. We are thus in a state of vacuo and, as in the case of the Extra-Provincial Jurisdiction Bill, in a case of a vacuo we should intervene. I hope the House will agree with me that this House is identical with the House from which it is sought to be artificially distinguished. I hope this point will be carefully considered, and if necessary an amending Bill should be brought in. And if the Honourable Law Minister agrees with the suggestion by Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar we can proceed with the amendments straightaway.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Sir, I am grateful to the House for having expressed its general satisfaction with this Bill. I will therefore deal only with certain points of criticism which have been raised by certain Honourable Members who have taken part in this debate. The first point of criticism relates to what I might call a timidity for my not going the whole hog and abolishing appeals to the Privy Council and conferring the fullest jurisdiction on the Federal Court. I am told that I am making a sort of artificial distinction between this legislature and the Constituent Assembly and that I am

1722 CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [11TH DEC. 1947]

*The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half Past Two of the Clock.
Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.*

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to provide for the enlargement of the appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court in civil cases be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Sir, with regard to clause 3 I would like to move an amendment. I move:

"That in clause 3—

(1) The word 'and' at the end of sub-clause (a) (ii) be omitted;

(2) The following be inserted as sub-clause (b):

'(b) in any such appeal as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the Federal Court to consider any question of the nature mentioned in sub-section (1) of Section 205 of the Government of India Act, 1935'; and

(3) The existing sub-clause (b) be re-lettered as sub-clause (c)."

Mr. Speaker: I suppose this is an agreed amendment

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Yes, Sir

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That in clause 3—

(1) The word 'and' at the end of sub-clause (a) (ii) be omitted;

(2) The following be inserted as sub-clause (b):

'(b) in any such appeal as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the Federal Court to consider any question of the nature mentioned in sub-section (1) of Section 205 of the Government of India Act, 1935'; and

(3) The existing sub-clause (b) be re-lettered as sub-clause (c)."

Shri K. Santhanam: This amendment requires only one remark. As you pointed out, this does modify Section 205 and I am glad to know that between the two lawyers, the Law Minister and the greatest lawyer in this Assembly, they have decided to make a change in the constitution, though they considered it apparently illegal to do so.

Mr. Speaker: There seems to be some misapprehension. Instead of using the words "Notwithstanding anything contained in section 205" the amendment repeats what is contained in the Government of India Act, Section 205.

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, I submit that this legislature has full power to make law. This subterranean arrangement of compromises and half-hearted drafts are not necessary. In Section 8 of the Indian Independence Act sub-section 2 it is said that the Government of India Act may be adapted by the Governor-General. He can adapt, modify or even supersede the Government of India Act. Sub-section 2, proviso (e) says that the functions of the Indian Legislature shall be exercisable by the Constituent Assembly in addition to the power of making the constitution. If we sit as an Assembly on the legislative side, even assuming it to be a different body, this proviso gives the power to this Assembly.

There is one very important provision in Section 9, which empowers the Governor-General to make adaptations. Section 9, clause (5) which makes provision for additions to, adaptations or modifications to the Government of India Act, prescribes no limitation upon the Governor-General. I asked the Honourable Law Minister in the last session of the Constituent Assembly whether the Governor-General's power were exhausted by the first adaptation. He replied that his powers were exhausted. I ask the attention of this House to sub-section (5), which empowers the Governors to make adaptations to the provincial constitution. Sub-section lays down that the orders made by the Governor of a Province adapting the Act for provincial purposes will be limited to the appointed day, that is the 15th August. So far as the Governor General is concerned his power may be exercised not after the 31st March, 1948. The Governor General's power has not yet been exhausted. He can by a further modification of the Government of India Act introduce any changes he likes. Now the Governor General does not act on his individual discretion but on the advice of the council of ministers. So the bar of the Government of India Act may easily be removed by a further adaptation of the Act under sub-section 5 of section 9. This gives the Governor General powers any number of times which may be exercised before the 1st April 1948. Here is a shortcut which will remove all difficulties. The Bill may wait and in the course of this day the different Sections may be amended, adapted or modified by the Governor General and tomorrow we can introduce amendments, and they will be agreed amendments. There is no difference as to the purposes of the Members of this House. The only difficulty was procedural. The difficulty was supposed to be raised by the existing Government of India Act. But that can be adapted as many times as the Governor General pleases, he not being a Provincial Government. This aspect of the question will perhaps remove our hesitations and doubts and probably be acceptable to all sections of the House.

Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar: Sir, I heartily support the amendment proposed by the Honourable the Law Minister. That carries out the main principle of the amendment which I sought to introduce in the House. As a matter of fact, if I may say so, there is no constitutional point. The difficulty arises merely by reason of clause (b) of section 2 of this Bill which says 'judgment to which this Act applies' means any judgment, decree or final order of a High Court in a civil case from which a direct appeal could have been brought to His Majesty in Council, either with or without special leave, if this Act had not been passed." If you read it along with the interpretation put by the Privy Council, in regard to which some difference was expressed, you cannot bring a direct appeal if a constitutional point was raised unless through the medium of Section 205. As a matter of fact Section 206 itself provides that "the Dominion Legislature"—I am speaking of the Dominion Legislature and not of any other—"may by Act provide that in such civil cases as may be specified in the Act an appeal shall lie to the Federal Court from a judgment, decree or final order of a High Court without any such certificate as aforesaid", that is as mentioned in Section 205. So there is no constitutional point at all. The trouble arises because of the language of section 2 (b). That ambiguity is now removed. If section 2 (b) as it is, is read with the pronouncement of the Judicial Committee the difficulty may be created as by reason of the provisions of section 205 an appellant will be precluded from raising a constitutional point when a general appeal is lodged before the Supreme Court. But there is no constitutional point because section 206 itself provides that notwithstanding the absence of any certificate you can do this. The only difficulty that has arisen is by reason of the definition in section 2 (b) and the ambiguity has now been removed. There is no necessity for any further adaptation or any such thing. I need not go into the broader question as to what exactly is the power of this Dominion Legislature.

Mr. Speaker: That will be unnecessary at this stage. I shall put the amendment to the House.

The question is:

"That in clause 3—

(1) The word 'and' at the end of sub-clause (a) (ii) be omitted;

(2) The following be inserted as sub-clause (b):

1724

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [11TH DEC. 1947]

[Mr. Speaker]

(b) in any such appeal as aforesaid, it shall be competent for the Federal Court to consider any question of the nature mentioned in sub-section (1) of Section 205 of the Government of India Act, 1935; and

(3) The existing sub-clause (b) be re-lettered as sub-clause (c)."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That clause 3, as amended, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 3, as amended, was added to the Bill.

Clauses 4 and 5 were added to the Bill.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, I beg to move:

"That after clause 5 of the Bill, the following new clause be inserted, namely:

"5A. After the appointed day, any party to an appeal pending before His Majesty in Council, before that day, may apply to the Federal Court to withdraw the appeal to its own file, if the appeal is one which if filed after the appointed day before the Federal Court it could have jurisdiction under this Act to entertain it; and the Federal Court may after notice to the other party to the appeal withdraw the appeal to its own file on such terms and conditions as it may deem fit."

The object of this amendment is this. The present Bill seeks to transfer to the Federal Court all appeals to which special leave was granted by the Privy Council, cases to which special leave was granted by the High Court and also cases where no leave is necessary but appeals could straightway be preferred to the Privy Council. But the previous section contemplates only cases which are not pending on that day, that is where preliminary steps have been taken and proceedings went only up to the stage of papers being transmitted. I would like the scope of this Bill to be extended even to pending cases. But some of them may be part-heard. It may not be desirable to transfer part-heard cases to the Federal Court. The parties might have incurred a lot of expenditure. But cases where the appeals might have been admitted but the other proceedings might not have begun and consequently no expenditure incurred by the parties—such cases pending before the Privy Council but which have not been in the stage of hearing or not been taken up may on the application of either party be withdrawn by the Federal Court, provided the Federal Court may after notice to the other party to the appeal withdraw the appeal to its own file on such terms and conditions as it may deem fit. One party might have incurred a lot of expenditure: it might have spent money in engaging solicitors, barristers etc. and the other party may move for withdrawal of that appeal just for inconvenience to the first party, and make it undergo once again all the trouble and turmoil. It is open to the Federal Court before which an application for withdrawal is made to consider the circumstances and to grant or reject the application, and if it chooses to grant the application, it may do so on payment of costs, etc. Therefore this is an enabling provision which would not be binding because an application ought to be made to the Federal Court and it is open to it to accept it or to reject it. A similar provision is contained in section 20 of the Civil Procedure Code for transfer of appeals from one court to another. We want to enlarge the jurisdiction of the Federal Court and to limit the jurisdiction of the Privy Council except in cases where progress has been made already to a considerable extent. In all cases we need not go to the Privy Council.

Shri K. Santhanam: What if the Privy Council refuses leave to withdraw?

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: My friend Mr. Santhanam asks me what will happen if the Privy Council refuses leave to withdraw? Under this Bill I have not contemplated the willingness or unwillingness of the Privy Council. It is if the application was made before the Federal Court and if the Federal Court chose to withdraw, the case will automatically go

Mr. Speaker: Amendment moved:

"That after clause 5 of the Bill, the following new clause be inserted, namely:

"5A. After the appointed day, any party to an appeal pending before His Majesty in Council, before that day, may apply to the Federal Court to withdraw the appeal to its own file, if the appeal is one which if filed after the appointed day before the Federal Court it could have jurisdiction under this Act to entertain it; and the Federal Court may after notice to the other party to the appeal withdraw the appeal to its own file on such terms and conditions as it may deem fit."

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Sir, I cannot accept this amendment. My honourable friend has not defined what is a pending appeal. The Bill defines a pending appeal. An appeal where papers have been despatched is deemed to be a pending appeal under the Bill. After the papers have been despatched there is no provision in this Bill for withdrawal for the simple reason that it is presumed that when papers and documents have been despatched, the parties have incurred all liabilities for payment of such costs as may be involved in that appeal, and there is therefore no reason why the appeal should be transferred to the Federal Court with the obligation of a double expenditure, once at the Privy Council end and once here: and I therefore think that we have to look at it purely from the point of view of the costs to the litigant. If sufficient costs have been incurred, then I think it is not right that the appeal should be transferred to the Federal Court. No doubt here there is provision that the terms of such transfer and withdrawal may be prescribed by the Federal Court. But I think it would be putting an unnecessary obligation upon the parties which they may not voluntarily accept and I therefore think that the provisions contained in the Bill ought to be regarded as satisfactory at the present stage.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: I do not like to press my amendment. I do not want to divide the House on the matter. I consulted the Law Minister and I thought he consented.

Mr. Speaker: Apart from this, I was feeling another difficulty, and that was as to whether the Federal Court could be treated as a court superior to the Privy Council for the purpose of withdrawal of an appeal that has been filed. It would have been another matter if the amendment had sought to compel the litigant himself, but that is a question of phraseology of the section.

Has the Honourable Member leave of the House to withdraw his amendment?

The amendment was, by leave of the Assembly, withdrawn.

Clauses 6 to 8 were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Sir, with your permission I would like to say a few words in this connection. We are trying to do away with one bad thing after another of inferiority to foreign domination. The link is not yet completely severed. I would urge upon the Honourable Minister to take immediate steps, even without waiting for the constitution being framed formally, to bring a small Act raising the Federal Court to the status of a Supreme Court. So far as clothing the Federal Court with power is concerned, with all respect to my Honourable friend Dr. Ambedkar, I feel that the Federal Court in withdrawing such appeals as are pending before the Privy Council, derives its power from this sovereign Assembly. Anyhow I have not pressed that matter and the matter does not arise. Therefore, Sir, with the help of the legislators and my Honourable friend Mr. Alladi, I hope very soon we will have a Supreme Court established in this country and do away with the Privy Council. We ought not to be satisfied with this and prolong the agony of going to a foreign court. They may not understand many cases where religious matters are involved and what the kind of mark is put on an idol. Muslim Waqf cases go there. They do not know any of our cases. They want to hold supreme authority over us, and it is for that reason that, though the Judges there may be impartial, they do not feel one with the community here. Therefore he alone would be wise who understands the manner in which the social trends work in a particular community. Therefore, Sir, without the least disrespect to the Privy Council I would urge upon our Minister and our Government to introduce a Bill immediately to raise the status of the Federal Court to that of a Supreme Court so that we may have independence in the matter of our own legal institutions at least as early as possible.

[Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar]

Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad: Sir, I also rise to support the motion. The Bill has raised high expectations which have not yet been fulfilled. There is section 6 of the Indian Independence Act which in sub-section (1) says that the Legislature of each Dominion shall have "full power" to make laws for that dominion, and as if there was any doubt, sub-section (2) provides—I read only the operative part—

"No law shall be void or inoperative on the ground that it is repugnant to.....the provisions of this or any existing or future Act of Parliament of the United Kingdom, or to any order, rule or regulation made under any such Act."

So the full power of legislation through the Dominion Legislature sitting as such is conceded, and an assurance is given that no law would be inoperative because it may offend against any Act of the Parliament including the Government of India Act. And then again if there is the slightest doubt about it, the Governor-General can be made to make further modifications in the Government of India Act. That can be done under section 9 (5) of the Indian Independence Act. I hope the Government would take courage in both hands and come to this House with the full assurance that it is a sovereign legislature, and if there is any lurking suspicion anywhere, then the Governor General can be utilised to assent to another suitable adaptation. I think the House is unanimous as to the ultimate purpose of this Bill.

Shri Alladi Krishnaswami Ayyar: Sir, I just want to say a word or two about the Judicial Committee. While heartily supporting this measure, I must say that there is no doubt that in the long period of association of the Judicial Committee with the Judicial work of India, it has enriched considerably the jurisprudence of this country. There might have been occasional lapses in the interpretation of Hindu Law, which might have been set right. But on the whole I think even the Supreme Court cannot have a more illustrious example than the example of the Privy Council. Bred up in the tradition of law which the Privy Council has laid down, I feel that the Supreme Court in India can very well follow the illustrious example of the Privy Council. That does not mean any disrespect to our legal talent or our ability to master our own affairs. Every country would like to have its own judges, in particular its own law. That is so in Australia, in Canada and other countries of the world. We have come to our own and there is no reason why a distinction should be drawn between the judicial part of the administration and the other parts of the administration.

But at the same time, I must express my high appreciation of the work which the Judicial Committee has done during all these years; on very many important occasions the Judicial Committee has come out very well indeed though occasionally there have been lapses and there has been misinterpretation of our system of law.

Sir, that is the only reason why I have interposed at this stage of the debate.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

The motion was adopted.

REPEALING AND AMENDING BILL

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar (Minister for Law): Sir, I move:

"That the Bill to repeal or amend certain enactments be taken into consideration."

I do not think, Sir, any speeches are necessary because this is a very routine measure. There were certain enactments passed during the War; the powers given by them have exhausted; some of them have come to an end. It is very desirable that the Statute Book which has been so heavily burdened by these, should be pruned and curtailed. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to repeal or amend certain enactments be taken into consideration."

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): Sir, I do not want to take up your time, but I am only sorry that he has not added to the list of one hundred and fifty odd, the Government of India Act.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to repeal or amend certain enactments be taken into consideration."

The Motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 to 4 were added to the Bill.

The Schedule was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

INDIAN TARIFF (SECOND AMENDMENT) BILL

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, be taken into consideration."

Sir, this is a very small Bill which deals with two matters: one is protection for grinding wheels and segments; and the other is protection to fruit juices, jams and fruits dried and salted. It is very pleasant at least to utter these words if we cannot get the things.

You know, Sir, that at the request of the industries concerned, enquiries were ordered by the Government and the Indian Tariff Board went through the case of fruit preservation industry as well as the case of the industry of grinding wheels and segments. The recommendations of the Indian Tariff Board have been accepted by the Government; to give effect to these recommendations this Bill has been brought forward. There is nothing, so far as I am able to see, controversial about it and I do not want to take any further time of the House beyond stating that this protection is absolutely necessary. While granting this protection certain conditions have been laid down with respect to the grinding wheels and segments and one of them is that the principal company which been private firms, how can we satisfy ourselves that there is going to be effective and powerful competition between them, how can we satisfy ourselves that they will necessarily remain efficient in management, in their labour and various other respects? And why has it become impossible for the Government to think of themselves taking up this business and running it? If the production of these grinding stones is of such vital necessity for our national economy, and if the total amount of capital that is going to be invested in it is not going to be such an enormous thing, certainly Government should think of running it themselves and giving themselves necessary protection, or whatever it is, instead of encouraging these two private firms to start the thing run it and make it worth while to run it. Therefore, Sir, I want the Government to.....

[Prof. N. G. Ranga]

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari (Madras: General): Switch on from log-rolling to grinding?

Prof. N. G. Ranga: Why, my friend knows the value of grinding because all these concerns of the capitalists have been grinding their teeth against us, the ordinary voters in this country.

Therefore, Sir, I want the Government to see that at least when they come forward with similar proposals next time, they would take greater care and attend to this point of efficiency carefully as also not distribute these gifts to the private firms.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I am extremely obliged to the Honourable Members for having shifted the emphasis from mere grinding business and fruit to one of protection versus free trade. I know, Mr. Speaker, that you will not permit me to dilate on this, but I claim your indulgence for just a few minutes to answer this issue, which is merely academic for the present. In a country like this, if we can't supply capital immediately from the State, some scope must be given for our private enterprise, and so long as private enterprise does the pioneering work it is entitled to the benefit as well as to bear the burden. I agree with my Honourable friend Prof. Ranga when he says that when a particular industry claims protection it must no longer remain a private and a proprietary concern. That is exactly the view of the Tariff Board. It says:

"So long as an industrialist is prepared to bear all the risk of a pioneer enterprise on his own shoulder, it is open to him to decide as to whether his business should be run as a proprietary or a public company. He bears all the losses and derives all the gains of his enterprise. But if and when he comes forward with an application for public assistance, he is asking the public to share his risks and losses so that his business can tide over its financial difficulty. In such a case, it is obviously fair that he should also admit the public to some of the advantages of his business. One such advantage is the right to participate in the share capital."

That is exactly the condition laid down in this particular case. Now with regard to the general question of protection, as I said this country is committed to a policy of discriminating protection and certain conditions have been laid down, which if fulfilled will entitle the industry to some protection at the hands of the State. One of the conditions is that within a reasonable time when protection is given the industry must stand on its own legs. That is exactly the purpose of limiting the present protection to the period that is stated in the Bill. Sir, I know that protection works against the interests of the consumer in the short term. If we allow our country's industries to go on by following an unmixed policy of Free Trade, there is no future even for the labourers. Therefore, we cannot but accept a policy which will try to balance the interest of the consumer as well as the larger interests of the country from the point of view of industrialisation and I think the policy of the present Government is on the right lines. Unless there is a radical change in it, the Bill cannot be said not to have complied with the broad outline of that policy.

Having said that, Sir, an important issue has been raised by my Honourable friend, Mr. Santhanam, that an attempt has been made, a back-door attempt, to bring in Imperial Preference. Apparently he may be correct, but I want to assure him that there is no such attempt; there is no such intention to bring in Imperial Preference, either by the front door or by the back door. The policy of this Government is to consider every trade, every business from the view point of India's best interests and to enter into agreement with other countries in the world. That is exactly the procedure that has been followed at Geneva and that is exactly the motive with which this Government has agreed to participate in the Havana Conference.

Now coming to these particular items, I want to bring to the notice of my Honourable friend, Mr. Santhanam, who is so very vigilant—I admire him for that—that only a few months ago, what he was complaining now was actually done in the amendment to the Tariff Act that was effected in April 1947. The broad point is that when revenue duties are converted into protective duties the preference ought to go automatically according to one interpretation of the agreement. The other interpretation is that the current preferences ought to remain till they are modified by mutual agreement or by the termination of the period for which the agreement has been entered into. I can assure my Honourable friend that it would not be very wise at this moment to unilaterally terminate the preferences which are being enjoyed for a pretty long time, although according to one interpretation, as I said, by simply turning the revenue duty into protection duty, we can end the preference, but in the present atmosphere, it will not be a wise step. We are already having some sort of negotiations on these matters at Havana and at Geneva. Therefore, this action on our part may possibly prejudice our chances in getting a better deal. I would, therefore, in all humility request Mr. Santhanam not to read too much in the Bill and agree with me that it has nothing to do with the larger question of Imperial Preference. But if this does not satisfy my Honourable friend, I give him a further assurance, that if after the return of Honourable Mr. Bhaba and if after studying the position that may arise as a result of our participation in the Havana Conference, we find that this preference has worked to the disadvantage of the industries for the protection of which this Bill has been brought, I assure him by an executive action, the preference will either be considerably reduced or eliminated. I think with that assurance and I am sure with his sweet reasonableness, he will not pursue the matter further, because if he does that, I will be forced to say something which may prejudice the chances of our people who are very skillfully and very delicately negotiating the situation at Havana.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

In moving this, I am extremely grateful to the Honourable Members of this House in making it possible to get through this Bill without obliging me to make any prejudicial or awkward remarks. I am also greatly obliged to Mr. Santhanam.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

runs this industry has been asked to turn it into a public limited company and Government have been informed that the matter is being referred to the legal adviser of the company and that it will be done. There is another firm which deals in this; it is located in East Punjab and owing to the disturbed circumstances, conditions which were expected to be fulfilled by that particular firm could not be fulfilled in time. But the Government have been assured that those things will be done and on that assumption this Bill has been introduced. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, be taken into consideration."

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Sir, it is said that the wheels of God grind slowly but the wheels of the Commerce Department seem to grind rather fast because in their anxiety to give protection to the grinding wheels, they have brought before us a measure which, for the first time after our Freedom commits us to the principle of Imperial Preference. If you look at the Schedule given, Sir, you will find that under 20(1), for the fruit juices manufactured in a British colony it is 27 per cent., and when not manufactured in a British colony, 40 per cent. The present revenue duty is 20 per cent and so the fruit juices manufactured in this country get little—only 7 per cent.—compared to the fruit juices manufactured in a British colony. Really it is a protection to the fruit juices of the British colony, not so much to the fruit juices prepared in India. The same is to be found in the next column about the canned or bottled fruits. I am afraid the Commerce Department did not reflect on the serious consequences of formally bringing forward a measure which, though it is minor, commits this Legislature of Free India to the principle of Imperial Preference. It is in this way, carelessly I think, big issues are being brought in by the back-door. I wish they had not done it and I have tabled an amendment to remove this objectionable principle of Imperial Preference. I hope the Honourable Minister will see his way to accept it.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): Sir, apart from what my Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam has pointed out, I would like to say one thing about protection. I have been connected with the sugar industry which is also a protected industry, for the last 17 years; and I find that sometimes protection becomes a cause for inefficiency. Today, in fact, the sugar industry has become very inefficient on account of protection given to it. Although the question is under consideration whether this protection should not be taken away now, and although I agree that protection has done a good deal of good to the industry in the beginning, still I think that when protection is allowed to an industry, it must be seen that there is also some method to see that the industry is efficient. Otherwise the consumers will be burdened with an additional amount of money and I think the country also will not benefit very much by it. I therefore warn the Honourable Commerce Minister that while giving protection to these industries, he must also see that this protection is not used in a manner which fosters inefficiency.

As for the other big principle of Imperial Preference which was pointed out by my Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam, I think my Honourable friend the Commerce Minister will see that no Imperial Preference is allowed by this Bill, because I do not think that he wants the consequences, that followed from the betrayal of national interests at Ottawa by accepting the system of Imperial Preferences, to be repeated. I therefore hope that this principle of Imperial Preference will not be brought in by the back-door as is done in this Bill.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala (Bihar: General): Sir, my Honourable friend Mr. Shibbanlal Saksena has said that he was not in favour of protection as it brings inefficiency and he quoted the example of sugar industry.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: I did not say that I do not want to give protection; I said efficiency must be kept up.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: He gave the example of the sugar industry and said that he had been attached to it for 17 years and he found that that industry had become very inefficient. Sir, I beg to differ from him. My experience of the sugar industry has been that it has attained good efficiency so far as manufacturing side is concerned. In that side it has attained approximating standard of efficiency as is in Cuba, Java and other foreign countries.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: No.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: Inefficiency lies not in the manufacturing side but in the cultivation of cane. Here the whole thing was controlled by Government. It was controlled on the ground that millowners did not give sufficiently high price to the growers. Government imposed a cess with a view to improving cultivation of sugar cane. They promised to utilise the cess for the improvement of sugar cane cultivation, which they did not do. They utilised it for some other purpose, and as such the cultivation side remained neglected.

Mr. Speaker: Order, order. I am afraid any detailed discussion in regard to sugar cane cultivation and sugar manufacture will not be quite relevant to the present purpose.

Shri B. P. Jhunjhunwala: Sir, I simply wanted to point out that sugar industry is not inefficient because of the protection as my Honourable friend has said. It is only inefficient in regard to the growing of cane, and that is because the Government imposed a cess which they did not utilise for improving the plantation of cane, and as such this should not be taken as an argument for withholding protection to other industries.

Prof. N. G. Ranga (Madras: General): Sir, I wish to warn my Honourable friend the Minister for Commerce not to take it for granted that this House will always be ready to pass any Bill for protection to any and every industry. In the past it used to be the practice to supply to members relevant extracts or a copy of the Report of the Tariff Board which went into this sort of a question and made recommendations. Now, we have not got that information. The next thing is, even my Honourable friend in his speech made it clear that in regard to this grinding stone there are only two firms. They have been private firms till now, and now it is the Government which is asking them, "For God's sake, convert yourself into a joint stock company, so that it will be possible for us to help you by giving protection." It is extraordinary how the Government have become so very solicitous in regard to this protection. Are we to understand that the Government have become a sort of boon-giver or gift-giver to all and sundry, whether they call themselves 'industrialists', whether they are joint stock companies or whether they are sponsored by interested parties. It does not matter whether there is any control over them or not. Government are very anxious to give them protection and they are asking them to convert themselves into joint stock companies. I think this approach is really very wrong and I hope the Commerce Department will think about it twice before they make any proposal like this next time.

An Honourable Member: What about this time?

Prof. N. G. Ranga: This time they are log-rolling things.

Secondly, Sir, one of our friends Mr. Shibban Lal Saksena, said—and quite rightly—that there is every danger, once protection is given, of efficiency not being kept up so high. Of course, he was partly answered by my friend Mr. Jhunjhunwala that so far as the sugar industry is concerned, you cannot very well level that charge. May be so, but nevertheless, we must satisfy ourselves that there would be sufficient competition between these various firms in order to ensure the necessary standard of efficiency, if we are to give protection at all. But when there are only two firms and up till now they have

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh (Minister for Defence): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill to enable certain special powers to be conferred upon officers of the armed forces in disturbed areas, be taken into consideration."

Sir, in the beginning of this year when communal riots broke out in the Punjab on an unprecedented scale, the administration of that part of the country completely broke down. The Police there failed to perform its duties and in some cases they even refused to work. Another factor which must be borne in mind is that in that part of the country the Police was 90 per cent. of one community. The communal riots took a very ugly shape and the Provincial Government requested the Government of India for military help. We sent a large number of troops, but the presence of troops there did not very much improve the situation. It was not on account of the inadequacy of the troops, but because the troops were spread over the whole of that part of the country and under the laws then prevailing they were not in a position to take any action. Representations were made to the Government of India by several people, by the Section 93 Administration of the Punjab Province, and also by publicmen that additional powers should be given to the armed forces. In deference to the wishes of the local administration and other bodies, an Ordinance was promulgated which is before the House. This Ordinance, Sir, expires early in January or sometime in the middle of February and if we do not pass this Bill, the Ordinance will lapse and the armed forces will find themselves in a difficult position. It is for this reason that this Bill is placed before the House so that we do not have to resort to an Ordinance again.

The provisions of the Bill, Sir, may look drastic, but I wish to point out that up till now they have been worked without any hardship to anybody. The powers cannot be used unilaterally by the armed forces. Firstly, the provincial Government has to declare an area as a disturbed area; and, secondly, the provisions of the Bill are only for a year. If at the end of this year we consider that it is necessary to extend the provisions of the Bill for another period of one year, only then the Bill will be so extended. Upto now this Ordinance was in force only in the Punjab and later on when the communal situation in other parts of the country deteriorated the Governments of the U.P., Bengal and Assam asked the Government of India to extend the provisions of this Ordinance to those parts of the country also. So at present the position is that this Ordinance is in force in four provinces of India. Under this Bill we will be taking power which will apply to the whole of India, but it will be open to the provincial Governments to enforce this Bill in any way they like. They have complete power, first to declare an area as disturbed area, and then only will the provisions of this Bill come into operation.

That in short is the history of this Bill and the provisions that are contained in the Bill seem to be rather drastic; but I can assure the House that after the experience we have up till now we are convinced that the powers have not been unnecessarily used and there have been no complaints from any of the provinces. I hope the House will be convinced, if amendments are moved, that these powers will be used in the right way and there will be no complaint about it.

Another thing is that we have no intention at all to extend the period beyond one year. Some Honourable Members may have a feeling that perhaps we will go on extending it beyond one year or even later. I can assure the House that we have absolutely no such desire and it will be extended only if the communal situation does not improve. Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to enable certain special powers to be conferred upon officers of the armed forces in disturbed areas, be taken into consideration."

(1732)

Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava (East Punjab: General): Sir, this is a Bill of a very special nature and I should like to make a few observations as regards its utility and also its legality. In my humble opinion this Bill is rather misconceived. I know that certain provincial Governments have passed certain Ordinances which are mentioned in clause 4 but, as was said in the debate on controls, it is a vicious circle. At a time when the Legislatures was not sitting certain Ordinances are passed; and when these Ordinances come into use it is taken for granted that since they have been there for a certain time they have thereby become sacrosanct. The reason advanced is that as no particular grievances have been brought before the House or before the country there is no reason why these Ordinances should not be regarded as having proved successful. My humble submission is that if you look into these Ordinances and the drastic nature of their provisions you will be convinced that they are nothing less than lawless laws. In the first place you have to consider the effect of a declaration under section 15 of the Police Act (V of 1861) which runs as follows:

(1) "It shall be lawful to the Local Government by proclamation to be notified in the official Gazette and in such other manner as the Local Government may direct, to declare that any area subject to its authority has been found to be in a disturbed or dangerous state or that from the conduct of the inhabitants of such area or class or section of them it is expedient to increase the number of police."

(2) "It shall thereupon be lawful for the Inspector-General of Police or other officer with the sanction of the Local Government to employ any police force in addition to the ordinary fixed complement to be quartered in the area specified in such proclamation."

The heading of the section is "Quartering of additional police in disturbed or dangerous districts."

The only purpose of making this declaration according to the Police Act was that power was taken by the Local Government to add to the number of police. This proclamation was intended for no other purpose. Now I understand the proclamation if made will entitle the military and air forces of the Crown to have certain powers. A reading of the Police Act will show that the situation contemplated by the Act is consistent with the idea that the civil authorities shall have power and authority in the province and not the military authorities. Now, Sir, we have just heard from the Honourable Mover of this Bill that in the Punjab there was complete chaos and the administration completely broke down and we have also heard that even troops could not give any protection. I know that in the Punjab there was an abnormal situation; I myself was a witness to that situation because I was in the Punjab in those days and I saw how the police and the troops were working. If a situation develops in such a manner as it developed in the Punjab my humble submission is that no provincial Government can properly control that situation. That was a case for declaration of martial law; that was not a case in which Ordinances like the one sought to be propounded would have been of any great use. When there is such a breakdown as we witnessed in the Punjab, and as has been admitted by the Honourable Mover of the Bill, it was a case where the civil administration should have stayed its hands and handed the administration over to the military authorities. In 55 Bombay, page 263 the conditions in which martial law can be declared have been laid down thus:

"Where a state of war, or insurrection amounting to war, exists, it is competent for the Crown in the exercise of its prerogative to place the country affected under martial law. Martial law in that sense. . . is no law at all."

The judgment then goes on to say:

"The civil authorities are not entitled to abrogate their duties and to hand over control to the military except in cases of necessity—in as much as martial law is no law at all. The existence of martial law places all citizens in the area to which it extends under the unfettered control of the military authorities, whose acts are not justifiable by the civil Courts. It is . . . plainly the duty of the civil authorities, assisted by all loyal subjects, whether civil or military, to carry on the civil administration, and not to hand over control to the military, unless the necessity of the case demands it . . . It is undoubtedly the duty of the Courts, if the necessity is challenged, to enquire into the matter, and if the necessity is not established, then any persons who have committed acts not sanctioned by the ordinary law are liable to be attacked in the Courts at the instance of those who have suffered from their lawless acts."—(Ratanlal and Thakore's Law of Crimes, page 153.)

[Pandit Thakur Dass Bhargava]

My humble submission is that in this situation, which has been compared to the situation as it existed in the Punjab, the civil authorities should have ceased to function and the country should have been made over to the military authorities and the military authorities would certainly have rendered such service as they were capable of. But as long as this is there, under Section 15 the law assumes that even the additional police would have been able to restore orders. This is the plain meaning of Section 15 because after the declaration the consequences are that the Local Government is authorised to have additional police. Therefore my submission is that the law of the country is quite clear and I will refer you to sections 127—132 of the Criminal Procedure Code by virtue of which if the Magistrate is unable to disperse any unlawful assembly, he can call in the aid of the military to help him and certain restrictions are given in section 132 by virtue of which the military does not have their own way. And if we compare the provisions of these sections (127-132) with the provisions contained in this present measure, you will be astounded to see the difference.

My humble submission is that either the civil authorities can function or they cannot function. If they cannot function, it is a case of making over the command to the military authorities. As long as the civil authorities function, it is the civil authorities who have the last say in the matter. It is the Magistrate or the Courts who will decide the rights and liabilities of the persons affected by that situation and not the military. According to the provisions of section 127 to 132 when a riot cannot be quelled by the civil authorities, then in that case alone the Magistrate is entitled to call in the aid of the military and the military then acts under the supervision and under the control of the Magistrate as long as he is there. If he is not there and the military is called in, then in that contingency the military are given certain powers, but those powers are very limited.

As regards this Bill, there is another point of view from which I wish to place the provisions of this Bill before you and it is in this contingency. Suppose the magistrate or civil authorities call the aid of the military and the question arises about quelling the disturbance or the riot, would the provisions of this Act apply or the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code? I submit there would be conflict between the two authorities; but according to the authority of the Criminal Procedure Code, the Magistrate has the last say in the matter. But the military have no right if the Magistrate is there. According to the provisions of this Act, independent of the fact that the Magistrate is there or not, the military have the last say and they can shoot and kill any one they please. As long as the Criminal Procedure Code is not abrogated, this law will not have any force. In such circumstances, when a riot is quelled, this Bill shall have no force.

Now let us see to what cases and contingencies this Bill shall apply, and I wish to read to you the first section which shall show how misconceived and mischievous this Bill is:

"Any commissioned officer, warrant officer, or non-commissioned officer of His Majesty's military or air forces may, in any area in respect of which a proclamation under sub-section (1) of section 15 of the Police Act, 1861 (V of 1861) is for the time being in force or which is for the time being by any form of words declared by the Provincial Government under any other law to be a disturbed or dangerous area,—

(a) if in his opinion it is necessary so to do for the maintenance of public order, after giving such warning, if any, as he may consider necessary, fire upon or otherwise use force, even to the causing of death, against any person, who is acting in contravention of any Law or order for the time being in force in the said area prohibiting the assembly of five or more persons or the carrying of weapons or of things capable of being used as weapons;"

After having read this, I will invite your attention to the salient points.

The first point is that any commissioned officer need not give any warning at all, because the words are "after giving such warning if any. . ." According to the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code, the Magistrate has to give warning; the police officer has to give warning; every person who disperses an unlawful assembly has to give a warning. If an unlawful assembly is sought to be dispersed, the magistrate and police officer have to give definite warnings. According to these provisions, if from the air there is bombing over the nationals of this country, if firing is opened upon an innocent crowd, upon an assembly which may or may not be unlawful, it will be the right of this commissioned officer to shoot or kill people in any manner he likes.

Now, Sir, this is not all. Then the words are: "who is acting in contravention of any law or order prohibiting the assembly of five or more persons". What is this assembly? I will give you an instance which happened with me. In Gurgaon sometime back there was a riot and it was a fairly serious riot. After three or four days I went to Gurgaon because I received a wire from a lawyer friend of mine. The authorities had taken upon themselves to arrest hundreds of persons. Many of them were lawyers. I went to a lawyer friend. I called some lawyers to know from them what the matter was but they could not come to my place because they said that five persons could not assemble. I asked them to come but they said they would not. I know it was wrong for the lawyers to think like that. But, if this Bill was there, the lawyers would be right, in view of the words "assembly of five or more persons". If such an ordinance is made, I think a commissioned officer will be within his right to go into a person's house and shoot the people there.

Then the words "who is acting in contravention of any law"—not that he is doing any particular act. "Acting in contravention" is too vague and any innocent person can come within the clutches of law. But if one or two persons are engaged in the act of looting—they cannot be fired at. If they are murdering people they cannot be fired at. If they are committing arson they cannot be fired at. But if they are acting in such a manner that they make an assembly of five or more persons however lawful, then they can be fired at.

Further on, there are the words: "or the carrying of weapons". What is a weapon? It is not defined. A lathi or a walking stick may be a weapon, a dunda may be a weapon, a penknife may be a weapon. Suppose a person has licensed firearms; even then he will come within the mischief of this Act. Then the words: "or of things capable of being used as weapons". This passes my understanding. Anything may be called as a thing capable of being used as weapons. This is very vague.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma (U. P.: General): May I interrupt my Honourable friend? I think there is a certain amount of misinterpretation regarding this clause of weapons. It is clearly said in clause (a) of sub-section 2 in contravention of any law prohibiting the carrying of weapons. So that the law under which the carrying of weapons will be prohibited will define what weapons are.

Mr. Speaker: Let him have his say. The Honourable Member may explain later on.

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I was submitting that in my opinion if there was a law that if a person was committing murder, arson or loot and then he got fired at I could understand it. But to define the occasion in such a vague manner that any innocent person could be fired at the sweet will of a commissioned officer, is too much. Then again under the provisions of the Police Act a police officer must be on duty. A police officer belonging to any of the districts of the Punjab will not be on duty in Gurgaon unless he is posted there. But a commissioned officer is on duty wherever he is. There is no condition that he should be on duty or should be charged with the duty of maintaining peace and order. He is at liberty to act as he pleases. When an area is proclaimed as a dangerous or disturbed area, for a few days the emergency is there when disturbances are taking place and when control of freedom of action is necessary. But as soon as the emergency is over after a few days for some weeks thereafter there is a condition of suspense, when these powers can be abused a great deal.

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

I now come to the other powers. Clause (b) runs as follows:

"arrest without warrant any person who has committed a cognizable offence, or against whom a reasonable suspicion exists that he has committed or is about to commit a cognizable offence."

Sir, the armed forces of a country usually have the same character as the people of that country. If the police are bad, then I cannot say that our troops will be found to possess much higher character. According to the admission of the Honourable the Mover the police is corrupt and police rule has failed and therefore military is called in. What happened during the disturbances in the Punjab? When the Muslim police failed, the Baluchis came in and did things which the police could not do. So far as these powers are concerned I am of opinion that if these powers can be abused by the police, they can be abused much more by the armed forces. The words in section (b) are when a person is "about to commit a cognizable offence". According to the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code no police officer is given powers to arrest a person who is about to commit a cognizable offence. Under Section 54 no powers are given to police officers to arrest persons who are about to commit an offence. It is a very dangerous power that a person should be authorised to arrest a man who is about to commit a cognizable offence. When a man is going on the road how can you say that he is going to commit an offence. He may be going to a temple. In my humble opinion it is too great and arbitrary a power.

The safeguards which are given in the Cr. P. C. about arrests are not provided in this Bill. Those safeguards may not be observed by those who may not be fully conversant with the processes of law. The powers given in clause (c) are very drastic. Any commissioned or non-commissioned officer can enter any person's house at night or day, where ladies live and search and when they find nothing, they may prepare false records as the police usually do. In order to safeguard against the abuse of this power section 103 is provided in the Cr. P. C. that the search should take place in the presence of witnesses, that a person cannot enter a house without giving proper notice to the occupants and without giving all kinds of facilities to purdah ladies to avoid the police when a search is made. No such provision is found in clause (c). Giving of these powers without the safeguards is very dangerous.

Section 3 is more dangerous than the rest. Section 132 of the Cr. P. C. says:

"No prosecution against any person for any act purporting to be done under this Chapter shall be instituted in any Criminal Court, except with the sanction of the Provincial Government."

So when the military is called in, they are saved from prosecution. Another safeguard is in clause (2) of Section 130 of the Cr. P. C. which is very important. It says:

"Every such officer shall obey such requisition in such manner as he thinks fit, but in so doing he shall use as little force, and do as little injury to person and property, as may be consistent with dispersing the assembly and arresting and detaining such persons."

There is no such safeguard here that the military should do as little harm as possible. On the contrary power is given to kill or behave in any manner they please. The only protection afforded is under Section 132. According to the provisions of Sections 76 and 79 of the I.P.C. you will see that the law is very strict. When a commander asks a soldier to shoot and the soldier shoots, he does follow the orders of his superior but in spite of his duty of obedience he is also liable under the civil law. The soldier is under a double liability. If he does not obey his commander he is liable to be court-martialled and if he obeys an illegal order, he is liable under the civil law and can be imprisoned by the civil court. On page 141 of the Law of Crimes it is said:

"A mistake of law in either case would afford no protection, though it might go in mitigation of punishment, and thus military discipline, while it regulates the conduct of the soldier in military matters, is made subject to a higher law in favour of public safety, when the act which the military discipline attempts to enforce or to justify is one which affects the person or property of another. In such a case the civil law looks to the surrounding circumstances to see whether they are of such a character as would lead a man of ordinary intelligence to entertain a reasonable belief that he is bound by law to obey the command of his superior. Obedience to an illegal order can only be used in mitigation of punishment but cannot be used as a complete defence."

In this bill the officer concerned has been vested with a very large discretion. If he thinks necessary to do a particular act for the maintenance of public order, he can do so. An officer might think that unless he struck terror into the minds of the civil population he would not be able to maintain public order and with a view to strike terror he might behave in a particular manner. The provision under section 3 is far too wide of the mark. No prosecution, suit or other legal proceeding can be brought against him. The Cr. P. C. only gives immunity against prosecution suit or legal proceeding can be brought against him if he does any act without lawful excuse, without believing that he is acting rightly. In Sections 76 and 79 of the I.P.C. the words 'good faith' are used. They constitute a very real safeguard. In this bill no such words are used. It is just possible that the frame of the ordinance might have made a mistake when he drafted the ordinance. I hope it will not be supererogation on my part to say that one ordinance was copied from another. The gentleman who framed the original ordinance was under the mistaken belief that by enacting such an ordinance he would be able to help the civil authorities. The civil authorities will not be helped. They ought to be helped when there are unlawful assemblies and a riot is going to take place. In that contingency if there is a magistrate and a commissioned officer it is the magistrate who should have precedence and who should be responsible for peace and order. As between these two officers who will have precedence. This new act will only have reference to the assembly of five or more persons. I therefore submit that this law if passed will not help the civil authorities as it purports to do. The provisions of the Bill are too drastic and might result in a set of circumstances when people will be put to great hardship and suffering on account of these provisions.

[At this stage the Honourable Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (one of the panel of Chairman.)]

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras States Group): May I ask the Honourable Member whether he is going to move an amendment for reference to Select Committee or any other amendment?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I am not moving an amendment for reference to Select Committee, nor am I moving any other amendment.
4 P. M. I am not moving any one of my amendments. The Honourable Member is perhaps getting bored. He will please excuse me for I am just going to finish. I know I have taken some time of the House—perhaps more.

1738

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) | 11TH DEC. 1947

[Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava]

than I ought to have. My only apology is that we are not taking the proper view of the legal provisions as contained in the Criminal Procedure Code with respect to this Bill. I am one of those who want that there should be peace in this land. I do not want that the scenes enacted in the Punjab should be re-enacted here. I do wish that the authorities were armed with full provisions to meet such contingencies. I wish that our civil authorities had more power and that in the proper way and by the proper laws they were authorised to deal with the situation as effectively as possible because I have myself seen the situation with which the people are confronted when there is no peace in the land and when the areas are disturbed or are dangerous. But this Bill will not go a long way in providing a solution to those difficulties. On the contrary, as soon as the emergency is over there will be such a reign of terror, as happened in the Punjab, which will be more terrible than the emergency itself when killings were going on. I have seen in Lahore that after the killings it was the Police and the Baluchis who were setting fire to the houses of Hindus and when the Hindus came forward to quench that fire they were fired at.

Shri Balkrishna Sharma: Did anything like that happen in East Punjab also?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: I am only submitting to the House what I saw. I know that these things are not likely to happen in East Punjab. But where are those contending communities now?

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: What happened when the communities were there?

Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: The point has to be remembered that this measure applies to the whole of India. Therefore it is all the greater reason that we should be circumspect and not inflict any great hardship on the people whom you are not taking into consideration. If an Ordinance has been enacted in some provinces where is the occasion to make this an all-India measure. It is a very drastic measure as has been admitted by the Honourable the Mover. It really affects the rights of the public in general. It gives more power to the army than we are accustomed to. For the last, say, eighty years we have not seen such powers being given to the army. I submit there is no occasion for giving these powers to the army. Why not straightaway say that when an officer sees anybody committing loot, arson, etc. he should be allowed to fire at him or to kill him? There is no such provision. It is only in respect of one matter, that is 'acting in contravention of any law or order for the time being in force in the said area prohibiting the assembly of five or more persons or the carrying of arms'. This power should have been given in respect of more serious matters. The matter in respect of which power has been given is of not much consequence. The assembly of more than five persons may be for the purpose of combining together and going and seeing the authorities for help, and may be unarmed. But even then the powers will be exercised. I cannot agree to the powers given in this Bill. I cannot support the measure.

Shri H. V. Kamath (C. P. Berar: General): Mr. Chairman, for me it goes against the grain to welcome this measure on the morrow of our freedom and I have no doubt whatever in my mind that the Honourable the Defence Minister has brought this measure before this House with the utmost reluctance. There is a saying somewhere in the English language that desperate diseases need desperate remedies. But we have to consider here whether our body politic is suffering from such a desperate disease as to need such a desperate remedy. I believe today that we have tided over the worst crisis and that we have turned the corner so far as our internal disturbances are concerned. The Honourable the Defence Minister referred to the tumult, the shouting and commotion in the Punjab and other parts of our country and on that ground sought to defend the enactment of this very extraordinary measure. This measure is intended to be temporary no doubt. Clause 1 says it will remain in force only for a period of one year and later on may be extended for a further period not exceeding one year. It may be that one year is a short period. But if during that period a certain section of our forces—be they the police or the army—is going to be invested with very drastic and extraordinary powers, then it is a matter for thought. I for one would say that even a day of unbridled tyranny will entail a very great deal of suffering. Who can say, looking at the provisions of this Bill, that these wide and sweeping powers sought to be conferred upon the armed forces of our country may not be abused? Power is all right so long as it is used for the benefit and the good of the people. But are our troops so perfect that they may not abuse such powers conferred upon them? The powers are intended to meet certain emergencies. We all know well to our cost how our own Indian troops behaved in 1942. I was inside a prison just before August 1942. I am doubtful whether even in those days when the British Empire was about to crumble, when as Haw Haw said Churchill was fast becoming the undertaker of the British Empire—he had undertaken so many things in his lifetime that he was going to become the undertaker of the British Empire—I am doubtful whether even in those days our troops were invested with these sweeping powers, for instance arresting and searching without warrant. Fortunately I was not arrested without a warrant. A police officer came to me and when I asked for the warrant he produced it all right. Now the troops are to be clothed with these wide powers, namely arrest without warrant, search without warrant, and do almost anything they like without any order or warrant. This, to my mind, Sir, is an appalling measure to be brought before this House by a popular government which claims that it has got the backing of the whole nation, that the people are behind it and that they are strong to meet any emergency. Only the other day Sardar Patel declared on the floor of the House that "we are strong to meet any emergency". Then, Sir, the question arises, if we are strong to meet any emergency, why invest our troops, the army, the land forces and the air forces, with these most astounding powers? I do not know, Sir, whether there is any precedent in any other state, in peace time at any rate, for such a measure. There are times, I agree, when a state in process of disintegration. Far back, during the days of the Roman Empire, when the empire was crumbling and was fast declining, the army became so powerful that there was a day when the Roman crown was put to auction for a mere song. The army could do anything and that marked the end that brought about the fall of the Roman Empire.

Sir, we know what the military mind is. We know what military methods are. I concede there are exceptions to the rule among them. Everywhere there are exceptions.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: You are an exception to the rule also.

Shri H. V. Kamath: My Honourable friend is an exception to many things. There are exceptions. There have been great military officers in the past, there are even now; and I have no doubt whatever there will be in the future. In recent times there has been a great military movement where the correct bias was given to military training. I refer, Sir, to the Azad Hind Fauj of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose. In addition to ordinary methods of military training, they were given what was called spiritual training. That was why that army did such wonderful things. I do not know whether our Government, our Defence Minister, has under consideration the imparting of such spiritual training to our armed forces. If he has that in mind I feel very gratified and I welcome such an innovation in our military methods. That would give a completely new bias to military training and will reorientate the standards of the army. That will improve the morale of the forces and that will teach them how to contact the civil population, how to behave towards [Shri H. V. Kamath] them, and how to mix with them as part of the people, as part of the nation. A movement of a similar sort came into being some 300 years ago in our own country, and that was through the agency of another leader, namely Shivaji. He also sought to inculcate a new outlook in his forces, and though it was a mere ragged army, a rabble in arms that force achieved something which perhaps we think today was an impossible feat. So my point is when we seek to clothe our army with powers, we should take care to see that they will use those powers, and not abuse them: and for that purpose, Sir, the cultivation of an outlook, of a mentality, of what the Germans would call Weltanschauung, is very necessary. Otherwise, Sir, we drift into disaster. We would merely make the army a dictator, make the army a totalitarian force, the very thing which we have been condemning all these years; the Nazi mentality, the Fascist mentality, the totalitarian mentality we will seek to foist on the soil of our mother country. Such a force might prove in emergencies, and even in peaceful times, a terror to the people, because there is a saying in the English language "So much a long communion tends to make us what, we are." There was a prisoner in a dungeon for twenty years, and when the time came for his release, he said he did not want to go and retain his freedom. So also our troops, if they are clothed with these powers and if they start exercising these powers for a considerably long period, I fear that that might become a habit with them, and as the saying goes, habit is second nature. Therefore we should be very much on our guard because, Sir, we are a popular legislature and we have a popular government; we must be on our guard to see that we are not putting on the Statute Book something which even the British Government in its worst days, in the days of the severest oppression and repression, did not dare to do. I do not think that the British Government even in 1942 and 1943 sought to clothe the army with these powers. After all, Sir, what is the function of an army in a modern state? The primary function of an army is the defence of the country, the defence of the people against external aggression.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: What about internal aggression?

Shri H. V. Kamath: I am coming to that shortly. That is the primary function of the army. There are occasions and emergencies when the assistance of the army is sought in civil disturbances: but when I said the primary function of an army is to defend the country against foreign aggression, I said what I meant, or I meant what I said. But here, Sir, we have a measure where if the provincial government declares a particular area as a disturbed or a dangerous area, then immediately certain things come into effect. I do not know,—because I am not very much conversant with what happened in the Punjab, Assam, Bengal, and the United Provinces,—but in the Central Provinces and Berar whence I come, some areas were declared as disturbed or dangerous on the very flimsiest pretext. After all you all know that the C.P. and Berar have been very free from communal disturbances.

Pandit Balkrishna Sharma: And yet the largest find of arms has been in the Central Provinces.

Shri H. V. Kamath: I am not referring to those areas where arms were found, but certain rural areas which were declared as disturbed or dangerous just because there was a sort of tavern brawl and here is a measure which confers upon the land forces and air forces certain powers which they would exercise in the cases which I have just cited. Suppose some Muslim murgi walks into a Hindu's compound and there is a sort of brawl, there is commotion. And there is a commotion and tumult and shooting. I am not joking; that thing has happened. And the next day the Deputy Commissioner or the Magistrate declares, "Here there is communal tension, and therefore it is declared a dangerously disturbed area". Well and good, the Chief Secretary says—after all the Chief Secretary does everything for the Premier

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: But it is responsible government.

Shri H. V. Kamath: I know, that is why I say a popular Government should not bring such a measure. Well, the fiat goes forth from the Provincial Government saying that, "such and such an area is disturbed, send your forces, arrest people without warrant, detain people without warrant, search people without warrant". And as my friend Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava said, especially in the searches, no safeguard has been provided. Most astonishing that searches of houses could be conducted arbitrarily by armed forces! I remember, Sir, if my memory does not betray me, that the fundamental rights—at least some of which were adopted by the Constituent Assembly only a few months ago—did regard the privacy of a home as more or less sacrosanct; but here, Sir, is a measure which confers upon the Armed Forces this power to enter and search without warrant any premises, make any arrests, recover any person wrongfully restrained, any property reasonably supposed to be stolen property, or any arms kept in the premises. I do not know whether the premises include persons too on those premises; whether when the officers enter the premises they would studiously refrain from searching the persons on those premises. I do not think that the military mind and the military method could pursue such a course as merely searching the premises and leaving out the persons on the premises. When the officer comes into the premises and if he has come for recovering stolen property or unlawfully kept arms, certainly if he does not find anything on the premises, I have no doubt whatever that he will go and search the person; and as my Honourable Friend Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava said, what about the women on the premises? Are they going to be searched without any safeguards? Are they going to be searched without even those safeguards which the British Government did include in the Statute Book as part of the provision relating to any searches by even the police? As I said, the primary function of the Army is to defend the country against aggression but there may arise certain emergencies where they may usurp the powers of the police. I deliberately, advisedly use the word "usurp" because when the Army is clothed with these powers then all but martial law comes into effect. Then the police and the Civil Authorities are put out of action, are completely put out of action; and the army assumes command and takes responsibility for maintaining law and order. There is one aspect of this matter which I would like to stress and that is that there is not always much love lost between the Army and the Police—unless of course we seek to cultivate, our Government and our people seek in that direction and attempt that there should be cordial relations between the civil population, the Army and the Police. If on the flimsiest pretext the police begin to feel that "For our part we are not trusted",—and today we have got the Police, the Armed Police, the Special Constabulary and these special police to meet grave emergencies—but on the slightest excuse or pretext if the police are put out of action and the Army comes in on the spot, the Police are likely to have the feeling, "What are we for? We are not trusted, we have nothing to do here; the Army comes and takes up and performs our functions". Thereby it is very likely that bad blood will be created between the Police and the Army. Sir, on the eve of the Russian Revolution the Army and the Police fired at each other. It is not a laughable matter—it is a very serious matter. On the eve of the Russian Revolution the Police and the Army fired at each other. I do not want that such a state of affairs should arise in our country. I want—and I am very keen on it—that the civil population, the common people, and the Police and the Army must be on the most cordial relations.

Sir, when the State is in a process of disintegration, when the State is crumbling, then the Army steps in as I have said and the Army becomes a dictator. There is perhaps another case when the Army may step in, and that is when the State is in the process of formation, when it is still inchoate, when it is still formless, when it is still gathering round itself all its forces, all its resources. Are we, Sir, today in that position that we are still inchoate? Are we still moving towards form? We have a name already. Does our Defence Minister say we are moving towards that day when we shall be clothed with a perfect form? Then, perhaps that will be a ground to justify this extraordinary measure of clothing our Armed Forces with these extraordinary powers.

[Shri H. V. Kamath]

I shall not take much more time of the House. There are just another couple of points to be dealt with and then I will have done. War deteriorates and lowers all values and all standards. Soon after the conclusion of any war, there is no greater need than for a transvaluation of values; a re-evaluation of values. A devastating, destructive war in human history has just now ended and all over the world there has been deterioration in human standards, human values and spiritual values. Our Army too has not been free from it. Our Army has been to Europe, has been to the Far East, has been to most of the battlefields of the world, and our Army there, along with the armies of the world, has suffered this deterioration in standards. It is not that it is a permanent deterioration—I would not say that—but, at present, all over the world there has been a very grave deterioration in values and standards and there is all round a tendency to regimentation, and from that too our Army has not been free. With this mentality of our Armed Forces it is a dangerous game to play. It is very dangerous to invest our Armed Forces with these powers. I would request the Honourable the Defence Minister to give us a positive assurance on the floor of this House—nothing short of it will do—that these powers will in no event be abused and I would even request him to tell us that as far as practicable—as my friend Pandit Bhargava remarked—the power to make arrests, entries, searches and dispersal of unlawful assemblies etc. will be tempered by adequate safeguards as provided in the Criminal Procedure Code. Those safeguards are not put in this Bill in so many words, but I would like the Honourable the Defence Minister to make it clear. My friend Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava made a point that as long as this Criminal Procedure Code is there, how it could abrogate all the safeguards. Of course, an emergency law like this could abrogate anything, but after all we are not legislating in war time. There is peace in India and we are legislating for certain emergencies. But the emergencies envisaged here are such that power has been given to “prohibit an unlawful assembly of five or more persons” or “the carrying of weapons”. At least, if it had been said, instead of “weapons”, “dangerous weapons” it would have been clearer. As my friend, Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava pointed out, what is a weapon? A pen knife could be described as a weapon. Even to forks the same term can be applied. Unless therefore we state definitely what is a weapon and what is a dangerous weapon, it is very misleading. When you want to clothe the Army with these powers, firing even to the extent of causing death, then, you should be more explicit in what you say. Just saying “carrying of weapons” is not adequate to my mind. After all, when our National Movement was born, it took its birth on the morrow—if I remember aright—on the massacre of Jalianwalabagh. That massacre gave the impetus to our National Movement, gave birth to it under the leadership of Mahatma Gandhi. What was it, let me ask, that Gen. Dyer did at Jalianwalabagh? What was it? Well, I was a mere school boy then—so you will excuse me if I make a misstatement, I am speaking subject to correction—Gen. Dyer was an Army Officer, and here is a measure which seeks to clothe an Army Officer with extraordinary powers. Gen. Dyer was an Army Officer, he had extraordinary powers, but he did give a warning before he fired upon the crowd at Jalianwalabagh. But, here, as my friend Pandit Bhargava pointed, it is stated that warning is not necessary to be given. It is merely stated, “such warning, if any, as he may consider necessary”. This is most amazing.

So far as dispersing of an unlawful assembly is concerned, every time that occasion has arisen, in all times, and in all climes a warning has been given, unless it was in the deepest crisis of a war. If that was so, it is a different matter. But in peace time, in an emergency arising in peace time, no assembly has been dispersed without warning by an officer, whosoever he may be. But here, Sir, you are clothing the Army with certain powers and you have said “such warning, if any, as he may consider necessary”. This beats me. It is the most appalling power. That means the officer can behave as he likes, arbitrarily. He may not give a warning. He may straightaway fire upon the crowd, and as my friend remarked in his speech, the assembly may be going to the district officer to make a representation to ask for help in a certain emergency. Where are the safeguards for them? As they proceed, without any arms actually, where is the safeguard for them from death? You will very well say “Death is preferable to tyranny”, but the common man will not say that. After all, there must be something worth dying for. It is all right that death is preferable to tyranny.

*muhurtam jivalitam shreyo
nacha dhumantitam chiram*

Better to live for a minute like a flame and not for hundred years like smoke. It is all very well to say that. But, Sir, there should be something worth dying for. These people proceeding in a peaceful procession to make a peaceful representation to the Magistrate or the District Officer have no safeguards, and the Army Officer if he takes it into his blessed head—if he has one—to fire upon these people, there is nothing to prevent him. After all, we are human beings. We may have grudges to settle; we may have old scores to pay off. Paying off old scores is an ancient custom. I consider it quite possible that there may be an Army officer who may have been annoyed by certain civilian members of the population and if he likes to pay off his old scores, he may fire upon them. He may think: “Here is the occasion. I am the master. Who is there to question me?” “You can’t question me,” he will tell the people. “Here is no question of your escaping. Either do or die”. Do or die not in the sense of Mahatma Gandhi, but in a quite different sense. He won’t let the people question him. Where is your authority? How can you stop him? Nobody could stop him. And these people who were going without arms, who were going to make a peaceful representation, will die. Perhaps, Sir, I am trying to draw the dark side of the picture. After all, every picture has got two sides and it may be that I am overpainting the dark side.

An Honourable Member: Certainly.

Shri H. V. Kamath: May be, Sir. But it is necessary, when we are clothing the Army with such powers that we must see the darkest side possible of this picture and I for one would not like that such a measure should go on the Statute Book. It will become law. After all, every province has passed some law. The C. P. and Berar has passed, I hope Madras and Bombay Governments have also passed, Public Safety Acts, the Goonda Act and so on which have met the situation in quite an adequate measure. Then, as my Honourable Friend remarked, after all one or two provinces had passed such an Ordinance and not other Provinces. By passing this Bill, we are seeking to legislate for the whole of India and 3 or 4 or 5 Provinces had not pressed for such an Ordinance, and they have merely adopted the promulgation of the Public Safety Act and the Goonda Act. Speaking of C. P. and Berar, we have been able to cope with the situation without having such Ordinances at all. Therefore I would request the Honourable the Defence Minister to assure this House that these weighty powers, these sweeping powers conferred upon the armed forces.

[Shri H. V. Kamath]

through this Draconian measure will not be abused, and if any army officer, if any officer of the Land and Air forces' who is clothed with this power, if he abuses these powers, he will be subjected to the severest punishment. It will be good if the Honourable the Defence Minister assures this House that if such an officer trespasses his powers, if he oversteps his powers, if he abuses his powers, it may be that the punishment meted out to him will be to the point of causing death. If he was instrumental in causing the death of another man, he too must be prepared to meet his death and on such an assurance only that the Honourable the Defence Minister may give us, we can agree to such an extraordinary measure which is designed to meet certain grave emergencies in the country. Thank you, Sir, for the patience which you and the House have exercised, I have done.

Shri K. M. Munshi (Bombay: General): Sir, I beg to intervene in the debate only because I feel that the Honourable Members who spoke last, forgot the reality of the situation altogether. Sir, I wish to bring to the notice of the House the provisions of this Bill which have been ignored largely in the last two speeches. But before that, I may mention to the House a little change in the situation to which I think, the attention not only of the House but of the country ought to be directed. The Criminal Procedure Code was passed in 1882. Its provisions were intended for the purpose of dealing with a situation where peace and tranquillity ordinarily reigned through the country and when it could be brought under the control of the ordinary normal police force. Sir, it has been found during the last 30 years that the Criminal Procedure Code is entirely inadequate to deal even with ordinary riots in the country, leave aside the present situation. It has been my—shall I say good or bad fortune—to have been associated in one way or the other with riots in Bombay since 1919—except as a rioter, of course. The evolution of the technique of rioting has been so speedy and so dangerous that an ordinary police force finds itself impossible to cope with it. I remember the riots of 1919 and 1923 in Bombay. Those riots were riots of two rival gangs throwing soda water bottles at each other, or at the highest, coming out with lathis and breaking each others' heads. Then, it took a communal turn—I am talking only of Bombay about which I have some knowledge. When even that happened, it did not take any serious shape. Soda water bottles was the fashionable missile in Bombay—soda-water bottles and sticks and very rarely knives.

Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maltra (West Bengal: General): Why not whisky bottle?

Shri K. M. Munshi: Whisky bottles are rather costly, and being a prohibitionist city, we do not believe in using whisky bottles. The riots then were really nothing as compared to the riots during the last ten years. But, Sir, even in those days sometimes when the situation became very acute, the military had to be called in and Martial Law had to be proclaimed. When Martial law is proclaimed, the whole locality is handed over to the Military. There is no resort to any magistracy; there is no restriction on the power; the military can shoot at anybody suspected of a crime; it can go into anybody's house. The very nature of Martial Law presupposes that the military are in complete control of the area.

What this Bill proposes to do, in the first instance, is to interpose an intermediate stage between a normal rioting in a city or a place which can be handled by the police and an extremely advanced stage when it has to be handed over to the military to be dealt with under martial law. That stage, according to this Bill, is when the 'Provincial Government' which means, under the present conditions, the responsible Ministry in the Province, feels that it cannot cope with the situation with the aid of the Police in a particular area. Then, what does it do? Under Section 2 it declares that a particular area is a disturbed or dangerous area. Once that is done, the powers given to the Military by this Bill come into operation; but not till then. It is only when the Provincial Government feels helpless to deal with the situation with the ordinary police, that it will issue a proclamation under Section 2 and when that proclamation is issued the military comes in. But it does not exercise all the powers which would be exercised by it if Martial law were proclaimed. Under this Bill the charge of the area remains with the Provincial Government for all purposes except that the Military is used for restoring public order. The great safeguard under this Act is that it is only when the Provincial Government confesses its inability to deal with the situation that this Act comes into operation.

Since the last war the riots have changed their nature and temper. They are not the result of two rough gangs quarrelling, but masses of men flinging themselves on each other in a particular disturbed area; whole communities are at each other. Something was said about a weapon. We have a class of 'lethal' weapon as known to the criminal law. But is it not a fact known to everybody that even pocket knives, of late, have been dangerous weapons? Is not knifing going on in a manner unknown to the Criminal Procedure Code? In Bombay even to carry a pen-knife, a pocket knife, may be sufficient to draw upon the owner a penalty of six months or more. The reason is very simple. Today men have evolved a technique of using even something which is not a weapon, the most innocent thing, the knife with which to mend a pencil, as a dangerous weapon. Therefore it would not be right to use the word 'lethal' or dangerous before weapon. A weapon is a weapon with which you kill or injure somebody.

During the last one year—after the world war—the situation has deteriorated. The sanctity of human life has disappeared; and it is not a riot; it is not five men who are disturbing peace, but whole masses of men, tens of thousands, at the throat of each other. That is the new tempo. In this situation what is a provincial Government to do? Invoke the assistance of the Criminal Procedure Code? Go and get hold of a magistrate at 12 midnight, before somebody is shot at?

The only other alternative, if you do not pass the Bill, will be immediately to declare martial law in an area as soon as riot begins. And once martial law is introduced then of course the military will use all the force that they possess. Therefore the whole approach of my two Honourable friends who spoke last is not correct. This deals with the situation as it is today; and the Bill is only to be in operation for one year. If the present situation goes on, possibly it may run for a year more. Anyway Government will come before the House if an extension of the Act is required. But for the moment I submit that it is essential that the provincial Governments should be given the power to declare an area disturbed in which they can secure the assistance of the military.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): May I ask one question? If the Bill is so essential and inoffensive why should it be only for one year?

Shri K. M. Munshi: The reason is that the present deterioration of the situation renders it necessary. It may be that within a year Honourable members may find that the situation is such that we can go back to the Criminal Procedure Code days; of course if you cannot go back, the Act may have to be extended. But as we see the situation around us there is no alternative but to take stringent measures for the purpose of maintaining law and order.

Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava: Even if this law is not enacted, cannot the military be called in?

Shri K. M. Munshi: I think I am trying to make it clear that if the aid of

[Sardar Baldev Singh]

Unfortunately it was during the last few months that we had to face the situation that is now before us.

Another point made was that we should give sufficient warning and that no action should be taken by the military without giving warning. I may cite one case in this connection. A military officer was living in a hotel and a crowd of about 6 or 7 thousand people attacked that hotel. This officer, finding the situation getting critical and feeling that he was doing a duty to his country and to his fellow beings, came out with a tommy-gun that he had with him and opened fire. No doubt he acted against the instructions and was responsible for killing a few people, but by that immediate action he saved the lives of hundreds of people. I give this example to show that if we lay it down that an officer must give warning, there were many occasions in the present communal disturbances when an officer had absolutely no opportunity to give due warning to the mob. I of course entirely agree with those of my Honourable friends who have criticised the Bill that warning should be given, but we must not forget that we are passing through extraordinary times. Hardly three months ago we got our independence after 150 years of slavery. And if we cannot manage the affairs of this country successfully we will stand condemned in the eyes of the world. It is therefore in order to enhance the prestige of the Government and to save innocent lives that it is necessary for us to have these powers.

A criticism was made that none of the Provincial Governments has asked for the enforcement of this Ordinance. I may inform my Honourable friend Dr. Deshmukh that three provincial Governments—U. P., Bengal and Assam—have asked for the enforcement of this Ordinance. I made that absolutely clear at the beginning of my speech.

A lot has been said about the risk of this power being misused by the army. My friend particularly mentioned the name of Baluchis. May I remind him that this power is not to be used by the Baluchis any more but it is to be used by our own troops, the troops who are your own men and are under

5.P.M. your control. If these provisions of the Bill were to be used by the military under the British rule, I would certainly have opposed it myself. Now the accredited leaders of the country are at the helm of affairs; the military is under them and not under a foreign power. Therefore, I do not feel that the army will in any case misuse the powers that are provided in this Bill.

A point was made by Pandit Thakurdas Bhargava about the Provincial Governments. He conceded the point that in case of an emergency we may have the provisions of this Bill. But he pointed out what happens if the emergency does not exist. In that case I wish to say that it is open to the Provincial Governments to withdraw that declaration of emergency any time they like. Take the case of the East Punjab Government. If they feel that the communal situation in the province is normal, it is for them to declare that the emergency does not exist and the provisions of these special powers will also cease to exist.

Therefore, as has been pointed out by my friend, Mr. Munshi, there are safeguards in this Bill and I think that with those safeguards we should have no fear that the provisions of this Bill will be misused.

I do not wish to add anything more as the different provisions of the Bill have been explained and I hope although the provisions in the Bill are drastic, it is necessary to meet the present emergency. I can say without hesitation that but for these powers it would have been impossible for us to check the situation that had arisen in Delhi and other parts of the country. Some hardships are however done to the people. There is no doubt about it and it is our duty to see that these powers are not misused. But in the circumstances we are placed at present, and in view of the communal situation that prevails in the country, I am sorry to say that I have to insist on requesting the House to pass this measure.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Will the Honourable the Defence Minister tell us why he is not in favour of the customary safeguards so far as searches are concerned?

Mr. Chairman: He has explained that already. They will take all necessary precautions!

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill to enable certain special powers to be conferred upon officers of the armed forces in disturbed areas, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 2 stand part of the Bill."

Clause 2 was added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, I move:

"That in the heading of Clause 3 of the Bill for the word 'Ordinance' the word 'Act' be substituted."

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That in the heading of Clause 3 of the Bill for the word 'Ordinance' the word 'Act' be substituted."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That clause 3, as amended, stand part of the Bill."

The motion was adopted.

Clause 3, as amended, was added to the Bill.

Clauses 4 and 5 were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

Mr. Chairman: Motion moved:

"That the Bill, as amended, be passed."

Shri K. Santhanam: Sir, I do not think it is right for me to allow this Bill to be passed without a word of protest. I do not think the popularity of a ministry is proportional to the extraordinary powers it takes or proportional to the restrictive legislation it introduces. This is the second black bill we have passed in the legislature, the first being the deprivation of the liberties of the press. Sir, I protest.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Sir, I join the protest.

Mr. Chairman: At this stage have we not had sufficient protests?

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C. P. and Berar: General): I am not protesting. I am congratulating the Government for bringing this measure.

[Shri K. M. Munshi] the military is called martial law will have to be proclaimed. The whole area would be handed over to the military. In the circumstances as at present it is not possible to merely call in the military; as I said, the military used to be called in the old days when the riots were in isolated groups of a particular locality. Now when you find a whole locality blazing with enthusiasm for murdering men it is highly necessary that an atmosphere should be created of such power that the people will immediately sink back into normal ways of life.

Begum Aizaz Rasul (U. P.: Muslim): May I know whether the legislation that has been enacted by the provincial Governments like the Public Safety Act and the Communal Disturbances Act are not enough?

Shri K. M. Munshi: A provincial public Safety Act can only amplify the functions of the provincial Governments. The Provincial Legislatures have no power to give any additional powers to the military because the army is a central subject. This Bill has become necessary because even the Public Safety Acts which have been passed in the Provinces are not adequate to deal with the situation in some parts of the country.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C. P. and Berar: General): Has any provincial Government made any reference about it?

Shri K. M. Munshi: That is a question which could better be addressed to the Honourable Minister and not to me.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: When my Honourable friend is arguing on that basis he ought to have got that information beforehand.

Shri K. M. Munshi: I am arguing as one who tries to study the present situation in the country and who has had something to do with riots for several years. I am giving my personal view; I am not concerned with what the Honourable Minister may say.

Begum Aizaz Rasul: The fear is that these powers will be abused and misused.

Shri K. M. Munshi: Therefore the first condition prescribed is that the provincial Government should declare an area disturbed. If, however, a provincial Government finds that the military is misusing its power it can certainly issue a proclamation saying that it is no longer a disturbed area and the powers will cease. In the last resort it is the provincial Government which is the sole judge of the situation and it can in effect recall the powers given to the military.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P.: General): What is the guarantee that it will not be used against labour movements?

Shri K. M. Munshi: If the labour movement is peaceful, no one will ever dream of using any force. If a labour struggle is an ordinary disturbance of tranquillity the police will deal with it. But if a labour struggle assumes such proportions that it threatens the existence of the public order or the State, not only this Act but the whole force of India must be used to suppress it. I refuse to be frightened by words. In the name of labour trouble we cannot allow the Government of this country to be reduced to Kerenskyism. We know what labour struggle means in some hands: Government in power should be made so weak and so frightened in the name of civil liberties that it may not take any drastic action, and totter. That situation I think no citizen of India is prepared to accept. We are passing through an unusual phase. One regime is over; the British Empire is gone; and we have secured a peaceful transfer of power. When the Moghul Empire collapsed there were 150 years of misrule and anarchy. We do not want to have a repetition of that particular phenomenon in this country at this stage. And during the short time at our disposal—the coming two, three or five years till we settle down to peaceful conditions—it must be the duty of Government and of every citizen of this country to see that the Government functions as a Government and not as a Government run by Kerensky.

Sir, only one word more and I have done. My Honourable friend Mr. Kamatu talked of the military. This House and the country realise—and I think my Honourable friend will realise—that the army of today is not the army which was built up by the British as a mere adjunct to the army of military occupation which was principally British. Our army is manned by some of the finest and most patriotic young men in this country today; and I claim for them that when they will discharge their duty they will do it not as an instrument of a foreign power to keep this country in subjugation but as patriotic citizens whose sole interest is to see that law and order is maintained. Is it right to say that in the past some soldier did something or the other and therefore the lads of free India are going to perpetuate the same thing; I think all that is the result of distrust. We have acquired for 30 years a distrust of all forms of Government. We do not like the police, we do not like the military; we do not like Government; we want that Government should not be powerful; that is our habitual approach. But we are conscious of the reality too; this is our Government and we want it to be strong. If we want our Government to be strong I submit that these powers must be given to the military.

Several Honourable Members: The question may now be put.

Chairman: I think there has been a sufficient discussion of this matter and so I will accept closure.

The question is:

"That the question be now put."

The motion was adopted.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, it is not necessary for me to say anything more as my Honourable friend Mr. Munshi has made the position absolutely clear. I want to reply to one or two points raised by my Honourable friend Pandit Bhargava about the provisions of this Bill. One of the points he made was that it is not at all necessary, to have such a drastic Bill; in case the situation is beyond the control of the civil authorities the military should take it over under martial law. During the recent riots that we had in different parts of the country this situation was considered particularly in the Punjab when the communal riots went beyond the capacity of the local administration. I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that if to restore law and order and communal peace it is necessary to resort to martial law I will not hesitate to do so. But we have got an unhappy experience of martial law in this country and particularly in the province of the Punjab where we have had the worst type of communal disturbances. Now short of martial law this is the only alternative that we can resort to.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: This is very little short of martial law.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: I do not deny that the provisions of the Bill are drastic; and, as I have explained if we have to maintain law and order and avoid communal disturbances we should not hesitate to take as drastic measures as possible.

Another point was made by my Honourable friend Pandit Bhargava that never in the last 80 years was such a Bill brought before the legislature. That is true; but I may point out that not to speak of 80 years, never in the history of this country did we have to face such a situation as in the last two months. Even during the Moghul times such a situation never arose; there were complaints of communalism, but it was possible for Hindus and Sikhs to live under that rule. Then there were other rulers also but such a situation never arose.

Several Honourable Members: That will do.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava and Mr. Kamath took an hour and a half and I am entitled to at least five minutes.

Mr. Chairman: Mr. Aney.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Sir, I am on my legs.

Mr. Chairman: The Honourable Member can stand on his legs again.

Shri M. S. Aney: Sir, I beg to point out that there is a motion before the House. No debate on that motion has taken place and I do not think that if any member wants to raise a debate any pressure can be put upon him. If there is a motion before the House and members of the House want a debate on it, so far as I know there is nothing to prevent such a debate.

Mr. Chairman: I do appreciate the position. One of the Honourable Members who rose up said that he wanted only one minute and another said that he wanted only three minutes. I therefore thought that the whole debate will be over in four or five minutes.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saxena: Sir, I want to speak for a longer time.

The Assembly then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Friday, the 12th December, 1947.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)

Friday, 12th December, 1947

The Assembly met in the Assembly Chamber of the Council House at Eleven of the Clock, Mr. Speaker (The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.

STARRED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS†

(a) WRITTEN ANSWERS

ANTI-INDIAN PROPAGANDA IN THE MIDDLE EAST

833. *Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the intensity of anti-Indian propaganda now being carried on in the Middle East and Arab countries?

(b) Are Government aware that appeals to Pan-Islamism and religious sentiments are being made?

(c) If so, what action, if any, have Government so far taken to counter-act such propaganda?

(d) On account of the urgency of maintaining Asian solidarity and the consequent necessity of maintaining friendly relations with all the Middle East and Arab countries, do Government propose to expedite setting up of our embassies in these countries, and in the meantime to send a goodwill mission there?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Reports received indicate that anti-Indian propaganda is being actively carried on in the Middle-East and Arab countries.

(b) Yes.

(c) and (d). The attention of the Honourable Member is invited to my replies to Starred questions Nos. 32 and 221.

TRADE AGENTS APPOINTED BY INDIAN GOVERNMENT

834. *Shri Mohan Lal Saxena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement giving particulars of the persons who were appointed Trade Agents by the Interim Government and the names of the countries to which they were posted?

(b) How many of them have opted out to Pakistan?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). A statement containing the information required by the Honourable Member is laid on the table.

†Answers to these questions were laid on the table, the question hour having been dispensed with.—Ed. of D.

Statement showing the Particulars of Persons and Offices where trade agents were appointed by the Interim Government and the number of such Persons and as have opted for Pakistan.

Place of appointment.	Name of person	Designation of post	Particulars of Persons appointed	Whether opted for Pakistan	No. of persons opting for Pakistan
1. London	Mr. A. S. Lall, M.B.E. I.C.S.	I. T. C. (officiating)	Is a member of the I.C.S. and belongs to Finance-Commerce Pool, was Dy. I.T.C. London, prior to this appointment.	No
2. New York	Mr. L. Shafi, O.B.E.	I.G.T. (officiating)	Was Dy. I.G.T.C., New York, prior to this appointment.	Yes	Five out of the six persons appointed have opted for Pakistan.
3. Sydney	Mr. A. D. Azhar	I.G.T.C.	Belongs to the Indian Audit and Account Service. Was Dy. Financial Adviser, Communications, prior to this appointment.	Yes
4. Rome	Mr. Ghulam Ahmad, O.B.E., I.P.	I.G.T.C. (Designate)	Was a member of the I. P. and was Dy. Director, Intelligence Bureau, prior to his selection for the post of Indian Government Trade Commissioner in Rome.	Yes
5. Kabul	Khan Bahadur M. H. Commercial Secretary to the British Legation, Kizilbash,		Belonged to the U.P., P.C.S. and was officiating in the Senior time-scale of I.C.S. Was Commercial Attached to the British Legation at Kabul prior to this appointment.	Yes
6. Kabul.	Mr. Saadullah Khan	I.T.A.	Belonged to the N.W.F.P., P.C.S. and was Secretary to the N.W.F.P. Legislative Assembly	Yes

IMPORT AND EXPORT LICENCES

835. *Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to lay on the table of the House a statement giving the names of persons who were granted import and export licenses by the Ministry of Commerce during the period of the Interim-Government?

(b) How many of them have migrated into Pakistan?

(c) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of cancelling the licenses of those who have gone to Pakistan and giving them to such refugees who were carrying on export and import trade in Pakistan?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Having regard to the number of import and export licences issued per day in the offices of the Chief Controller of Imports and the Chief Controller of Exports and the subordinate offices at the ports, the Honourable Member will appreciate that the compilation of a statement of the nature asked for by him would involve an expenditure of time and labour scarcely commensurate with the results likely to be achieved.

(b) I have no information on the subject.

(c) In the absence of information bearing on this point it will not be possible for import and export licences already granted to those who have migrated to Pakistan, to be cancelled and for these to be granted instead to such refugees as were engaged in the import and export trade in Pakistan.

EVACUEES FROM EAST BENGAL.

836. *Shri Basanta Kumar Das: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that there prevails a sense of insecurity among a large section of people in East Bengal and as such, many of them have moved to West Bengal while others are seeking facilities for moving to that area;

(b) whether Government have ascertained the number of persons who have moved to West Bengal in such circumstances, and if so what their number is;

(c) if the answer to part (b) above be in the negative, whether Government propose to consider the desirability of taking a census of such people with special reference to their means of livelihood; and

(d) whether Government propose to consider the desirability of settling the evacuees from East Bengal in a planned way?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) Yes.

(b) The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clause (a) of Starred Question No. 740 on the 5th instant.

(c) and (d). The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clause (b) of Starred Question No. 740 on the 9th instant.

LEGISLATION FOR WELFARE OF AGRICULTURAL LABOURERS

837. *Shri Satish Chandra Samanta: Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state whether the Government propose to consider the advisability of introducing legislation in this House for the welfare of the Agricultural Labourers in the Indian Union?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: As I have said in answer to another question the Minimum Wages Bill, now before the House, provides for the fixation of minimum wages in agricultural occupations. I intend bringing forward a Bill for regulating the conditions of work and making provision for welfare services in the case of plantation workers. Legislative regulation in the case of other agricultural workers in respect of matters, other than wages, is somewhat difficult. But I would be happy to consider any suggestions which Members of this House may make in regard to matters which can suitably be made the subject-matter of the legislation. It is, however, proposed to hold a random sample survey of a number of villages with a view to collect data for taking definite action.

STRIKES IN COTTON MILLS

838. *Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state:

(a) the total number of days lost due to strikes in the different cotton mills of India province-wise from the 15th of August 1947 to the 15th of November 1947, and the total yardage lost to the country during the period;

(b) the reasons that led to the strikes in each case; and

(c) the causes of delay in the settlement of strikes in each case?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: The information asked for by the Honourable Member is not readily available. It is being collected and will be laid on the table in due course.

PURCHASE OF STATIONERY STORES

839. *Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power, be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the Stationery Stores are purchased by the Controller of Printing and Stationery, India, by calling annual tenders and sometimes by negotiations with the contractors, by the Deputy Controller, Stationery, Calcutta;

(b) whether it is a fact that the Central Stationery Office, Calcutta, has a well-equipped laboratory for testing tendered samples prior to the award of contract;

(c) if so, whether samples from the supplies delivered by the contractors are also tested with the approved samples in the said laboratory before accepting the supplies;

(d) whether it is a fact that supplies not conforming to the approved tender samples are in all cases rejected for replacement and that suitable action under the terms of the contract is taken against the suppliers;

(e) if the answers to parts (a) to (d) above be in the affirmative, under what circumstances, various items of stationery worth over 8 lakhs of rupees, have accumulated in the Central Stationery Stores, Calcutta, which have been declared quite unsuitable for issue to indentors, on account of their extremely poor quality; and

(f) whether there is a proposal for writing off the value of the aforesaid condemned stores and if so, what steps Government propose to take against the officers who are responsible for these purchases involving huge waste of public money?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). Yes. Some samples, e.g., printing ink, water colours, cutlery etc. are sent to the Government Presses, Survey of India and the Government Test House, Alipore, for testing.

(d) No. Some are accepted at a discount.

(e) It is reported that these stores were purchased during the war when, due to scarcity of materials, the standards of quality dropped considerably.

(f) The matter is under consideration.

INVESTIGATION INTO CONDUCT OF OFFICER WORKING IN CENTRAL STATIONERY OFFICE

840. *Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Assistant Controller of Purchase in the Central Stationery Office, had a fairly big amount of debt at the time he was transferred from the Central Forms Store as Superintendent to the Purchase Branch?

(b) Is it a fact that the said Assistant Controller of Purchase has now a total asset of about 4 lakhs of rupees in various shapes, either in his own name or in the name of his relatives and nearest friends?

(c) If so, do Government propose to investigate into the matter through the Enforcement Branch?

(d) Is it a fact that the said Assistant Controller has recently purchased Stationery worth about 40 thousand rupees for the Government of Pakistan without calling for quotations?

(e) Is it a fact that his Chief Assistant in these deals is allowed to usurp the duties of others whenever an occasion arises for a big purchase?

(f) Is it a fact that the said Chief Assistant has also built up a good asset?

(g) Is it a fact that the Chief Assistant attributes his hoard of wealth to gambling in the Races?

(h) Do Government propose to cause an investigation to be made into the case of the Chief Assistant also through the Enforcement Branch?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) and (b). Government have no information.

(c) and (h). A departmental enquiry in the matter has already been instituted. Further investigation through the Enforcement Branch, will be made, if considered necessary.

(d) No.

(e) No.

(f) and (g). Government have no information.

CHANGES IN PERSONNEL IN CENTRAL STATIONERY OFFICE.

841. *Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to state whether it is a fact that some persons in the Purchase section of the Central Stationery Office, are not transferred even on promotion to other sections?

(b) Is it a fact that arrangements against vacancies of higher posts in other sections are made in such a way that those vacancies are ultimately created in the Purchase Sections to provide these men?

(c) Is it a fact that the following persons have been working in the Purchase Section of the Central Stationery Office for about 30 and 20 years respectively:

1. Mr. Sasti Das Kundu.

2. Mr. Jibendra Nath Banerjee?

(d) If the reply to parts (b) and (c) above be in the affirmative, what are the reasons for their non-transfer from the Purchase Section even on promotions?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No

(b) No.

(c) Yes.

(d) Does not arise.

IRREGULAR PURCHASE OF STATIONERY.

842. *Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Power be pleased to refer to the questions put in the Autumn session of the Legislative Assembly (1946) by Mr. Tamizuddin Khan, regarding irregular purchase of (1) Wire Staples, (2) Docket Punch and (3) Copying pencils, made by Mr. Swaminathan, the Assistant Controller of Purchase, in the Stationery Office and state the result of the enquiry and the action taken thereon?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The Questions were disallowed excepting Unstarred Question No. 83. No enquiry was made in the matter. Attention of the Honourable Member is invited to my reply to Question No. 840.

REHABILITATION OF REFUGEES IN INDIAN STATES.

843. *Kanwar Shamsher Jang: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state which of the Indian States have offered to rehabilitate the refugees from the West Punjab in their respective states?

(b) What are plans of Government to rehabilitate the refugees in the Indian States?

(c) Has Alipura State in Central India offered to accommodate 10,000 refugee families?

(d) If so, have Government accepted the offer?

(e) If so, what action Government propose to take to transport the refugees to the state?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) A list showing the names of the Indian States which have agreed to absorb refugees is placed on the table.

(b) The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clause (e) of Starred Question No. 1 on the 18th November 1947 and also to my statement made on the floor of the House on the 29th November, 1947.

(c) No. Alipura State has offered to absorb ten thousand refugees or say about two thousand families, consisting of an average of five members each.

(d) Yes. The State has been asked to say when the refugees may be sent and the name of the railway station where they should detain.

(e) Refugees will be transported to Alipura State by special trains.

List showing the names of Indian states which have agreed to absorb refugee.

Alwar		Pudukottai
Alipura		Porbunder
Ajagarh		Panna
Alirajpur		Palitana
		Patiala.
Bhopal
Benares		Rewa
Bhavnagar		Rajpipla
Bansda		Ratlam
Bijawar		Rampur
Bihar		Shahpura
Banswara		Sangli
Bharatput		Sant
Baroda		Sudasma
Bhasondha		Suket
Bhuj		Samthar
Cutch		Sirmur
Charkhari
Chatterpur		Tripura
Chamba
Dhrangadhra		Udaipur.

Dhar,
Dholpur
Dhurwai
Datia.
Dewas.
Gwalior,
Gondal,
Gaurihar
Indore,
Jai almer
Jaipur
Jhalawar

Jaso
Jhabua
Jigni.
Jam Nagar.
Kolhapur.
Kishengarh
Kota.
Kurwai.
Kashmir.
Lunavada
Limbdj.
Mayurbhanj.
Maihar.
Morvi.
Mysore.
Nawanagar.
Nagod.
Nimkhera.
Nimrand
Narsingarh.
Nabha.
Orchha.

Vala Vankaner

Wadhwan.

PURCHASE OF FIGHTER PLANES.

844. *Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the British Press reports that a Semi-Official Mission in Britain was purchasing Jet fighters for the Pakistan Air Force?

(b) Are Government aware that in this connection the spokesman of the Pakistan House in London has said that if there were individual merchants making such purchases, they knew nothing about it?

(c) Is it a fact that neither India nor Pakistan nor any individual can make purchases of Fighter Planes without the sanction of the Joint Defence Council?

(d) Had any sanction been accorded to Pakistan or to any individual on its behalf to make such purchases?

(e) Have any reports of such purchases by Pakistan or by any individuals on its behalf been received by Government from the High Commissioner for India in London?

(f) If the answer to part (e) above be in the affirmative, are the press reports referred to in part (a) above corroborated?

(g) If the answer to part (b) above be in the negative, do Government propose to call for a report from their High Commissioner in London as to the purchases reported to have been made by Pakistan in this respect?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) and (b). Yes, Government have seen Press Reports to this effect.

(c) and (d). The sanction of the Joint Defence Council is not required to the purchase of aircraft by or on behalf of either Dominion but, until the 1st December 1947, no fresh Squadrons could be raised without the approval of that Council.

(e) No.

(f) Does not arise.

(g) No.

DEPUTY HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR EASTERN PAKISTAN.

845. *Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the hardships and disabilities suffered by the non-Muslims in East Bengal and by the people of West Bengal while passing through the Eastern Pakistan territories to the other parts of the Indian Dominion?

(b) Are Government aware of the great delay involved in making representation to the appropriate authorities in this respect through the normal channels at present in existence?

(c) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of appointing a Deputy High Commissioner in Eastern Pakistan for the purpose of facilitating cognizance and disposal of such matters there? If not, why not?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Government have received several complaints of this nature.

(b) Yes.

(c) The question of appointing a Deputy High Commissioner in East Bengal has been considered in consultation with the Government of West Bengal. It was felt by both the Government of India and the Government of West Bengal that such an appointment would not prove of help at present in removing hardships and disabilities.

EXPORT OF JUTE AND GUNNY.

846. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether it is a fact that in the year 1943 the Government of India ordered that only the old shippers will be allowed to export jute and gunny to all oversea countries and also destination quota for all oversea countries was fixed?

(b) Is it a fact that in January 1946, this export Trade was released from the hands of a group of old shippers and thrown open to all shippers, new and old, within the destination quota?

(c) Is it also a fact that in July 1947, the above system was cancelled and a new system was introduced classifying the shippers into two classes, the Established and the New Comers, reserving 90 per cent of the destination quota for the so called established shippers and only 10 per cent to the new comers and preventing all shippers from establishing connections with new ports and thus reserving the established trade to be handled only by a group of shippers and debarring the new aspirants to build up new connections and expand their trade in future?

(d) Are Government aware that this new system introduced by the then Commerce Member has failed to satisfy most of the established shippers excepting the European Shippers and a few Indian Shippers?

(e) Do Government propose to reconsider this question and restore the old system that was in vogue in 1946 to ensure equal footing for all and to enable all shippers to handle this business on the basis of their real capacity and merit?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) The new system of classifying exporters into established shippers and new comers was introduced in July 1947 with a view to meeting the wishes of certain sections of the trade who had protested that the earlier policy had led to new comers not receiving their due share of the business. The new arrangements, therefore, far from preventing new aspirants from building up new connections and expanding their trade, have specifically been introduced with a view to affording them every facility to achieve this object.

(d) and (e). Dissatisfaction has been expressed with regard to the new system by certain sections of the trade in Calcutta, and Government propose to reconsider their decision at an early date.

REVALIDATION OF IMPORT LICENCES.

847. *Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state whether applications for revalidation of licences for import of goods such as motor parts from the United Kingdom were made by licence holders in May 1947 and some of their applications have not been so far disposed of for no fault of the licence holders?

(b) Is it a fact that some of these applications have not so far been disposed of for the reason that the papers relating to them have either been misplaced or lost in the office of the Chief Controller of Imports?

(c) How long will Government take to dispose of these applications for revalidation of licences?

(d) Is it a fact that Government have extended the time for import in respect of applications for new licences which could not be disposed of in time?

(e) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of adopting a similar course of action and extend the time for imports in respect of licences where applications for revalidation have not so far been disposed of?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) Excepting a few applications for revalidation of licences which were received by the end of May 1947, the bulk was received in June 1947 and thereafter. All the applications received were disposed of by the end of September 1947, except those in which the applicants did not furnish the requisite information as required by the Public Notice, dated the 16th May 1947 in the first instance or the evidence in support of their claim. Further enquiries had therefore to be made from these applicants. Most of such applications have also been disposed of and the remainder is being dealt with as expeditiously as possible as and when replies are received to the enquiries made.

(b) No Sir. In this connection I may however, state for the Honourable Member's information that some applicants complained that they had not received any reply to their applications at all, but on enquiries being instituted, it was found that in a good number of such cases replies had already been despatched and the enquirers had been informed accordingly. In some other cases applications said to have been made to the Chief Controller of Imports do not appear to have been received by him and the applicants have been informed accordingly. In cases in which the applicants have produced the receipts for their applications received by the Chief Controller of Imports or given other proof of despatch of their applications, action has even been taken on the duplicate copies where originals could not be found.

(c) The work in connection with the revalidation of licence is almost complete.

(d) and (e). The Honourable Member's attention is invited to the Press announcement issued in the Gazette of India Extraordinary dated, the 1st September 1947 and the Public Notice issued on the 25th November 1947.

REHABILITATION OF RURAL POPULATION AMONG REFUGEES.

848. *Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether Government have succeeded in devising any scheme of permanent rehabilitation of the rural population among the refugees? If so, what is that scheme?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to clause (e) of Starred Question No. 1 on the 18th November, 1947 and also to my statement made on the floor of this House on the 29th November, 1947.

WEST PAKISTAN REFUGEES IN U. P.

849. *Shri Jaspat Roy Kapoor: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state:

(a) the number of refugees from West Pakistan in the United Provinces district-wise;

(b) the number of the said refugees in the Government refugee camps in the United Provinces district-wise; and

(c) the amount of money spent so far on maintaining or giving relief to the said refugees in the United Provinces?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a), (b) and (c). Detailed information is being collected and will be laid on the table in due course.

REHABILITATION OF WEST PUNJAB REFUGEES.

850. *Shri Jaspat Roy Kapoor: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state Province-wise and State-wise the number of refugees from West Pakistan whom Government propose to rehabilitate therein?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: A statement showing the names of the Provinces and States, with the number of refugees that they have offered to take, is placed on the table.

Statement showing the names of the Provinces and the states together with the number of refugees that are proposed to be rehabilitated in them.

S. No.	Name of the Province or state	Number of refugees to be rehabilitated
Provinces.
1	U. P.	10,000 over 3 lakhs refugees have already entered the Province.
2	Bombay	10,000
3	C. P.	10,000
4	Madras	10,000
5	Bihar.	10,000
6	Orissa	2,500
7	Assam	Number not yet intimated.
States.
1	Alwar	50,000 refugees.
2	Ajaigarh	400
3	Alirajpur	500
4	Alipur	10,000
5	Benares	100 Families.
6	Bhopal	800 Families (2000 persons).
7	Bijawar.	25
8	Bhavnagar	8000—10,000 Refugees

S. No.	Name of the Province or state	Number of refugees to be rehabilitated
States—contd.
9	Bansda	300 Refugees
10	Bhor	200
11	Banswara	650
12	Bharatpur	5,000
13	Baroda	Number not yet specified.
14	Bhansoda	50 Refugees.
15	Bhuj	10,000 Families
16	Cutch	10,000 Refugees.
17	Charkari	500
18	Chamba	500
19	Chatterpur	Number not yet specified.
20	Dhrangadhara	275 Families.
21	Dhar	50 Orphans.
22	Dhuriwaj	5 Families.
23	Datia	50
24	Dholpur.	Number not yet specified.
25	Dewas	200 Refugees.
26	Gondal	100 Families
27	Gwalior	5,000 Refugees
28	Gaurihar	50 Refugees.
29	Indore	7,000
30	Jaisalmer	300 Refugees.
31	Jaipur	17,000
32	Jhalwars	1,000
33	Jaso	25
34	Jigni	25
35	Jhabua	Number is not yet specified.
36	Jam Nagar	10,000
37	Kolhapur	400 Refugee
38	Kishengarh	100
39	Kotah	2,000
40	Kurwai	100
41	Lunavada	50 Families
42	Luni	200 Refugees.
43	Mayurbhanj	100 Families.
44	Maihar	500 Refugees.
45	Morvi	1,000
46	Mysore	1,500
47	Navanagar	Number is not yet specified.
48	Nagod	10 Families.
49	Nimkhera.	200 Refugees.
50	Nimrandra	200
51	Nabha	Number is not yet specified.
52	Narsingarh	100 Refugees.
53	Orcha	50
54	Pudukotai	100
55	Porbunder	500
56	Panna	1500-2000 Refugees.
57	Palitana	30
58	Patiala	3,50,000
59	Rewa	10,000
60	Rajpipla	200—500
61	Ratlam	500
62	Rampur	Number not specified.
63	Shahpura	150 Families.
64	Sangli	200
65	Sant	100 Refugees
66	Sudana	50-60
67	Suket	400
68	Samthor	9
69	Sirmur	2,000
70	Tripura	1,000
71	Udaipur	1,000 Refugees
72	Vankaner	1,000
73	Vala	Number not yet specified.
74	Wadhwan	50 Refugees.

ENTRY OF REFUGEES INTO UNITED PROVINCES.

851. *Shri Jaspal Roy Kapoor: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether any ban has been imposed either by the Central Government or the Government of the United Provinces on the entry of refugees from West Pakistan into the United Provinces or any district thereof; and if so, whether Government propose to take any steps for the removal of such ban?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: No. The Government of India or the Government of U.P. have not imposed any ban on the entry of refugees from West Pakistan into U.P. The Government of United Provinces have under their care in relief camps over three lakhs of refugees from Western Pakistan. Difficulties arising from the law and order situation made it impractical for the Government of the United Provinces to receive any more refugees at present. They may be prepared to receive more refugees if extra accommodation can be found and other arrangements for care and maintenance of refugees can be made. This possibility is being investigated.

REFUGEES KILLED IN BHARATPUR STATE.

852. *Shri Jaspal Roy Kapoor: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state:

(a) whether the District Magistrate of Agra was informed by the Railway Police of Bharatpur or Bandikui that about 1,000 Bharatpur state subjects were killed in Bharatpur State territory by the military escort with the Muslims refugee train from Agra to Ajmer on the 13th October, 1947;

(b) if so, whether Government are aware of the fact that the publication of this news caused great panic and resentment among the people of Agra;

(c) whether the District Magistrate of Agra made any enquiry in this connection, and if so, what were his conclusions;

(d) if the conclusions of the District Magistrate were that the said report of the Railway police was grossly exaggerated and that only about half a dozen persons were killed or injured, whether any action has been taken or is proposed to be taken against the Railway Police official who sent such exaggerated report; and

(e) whether any person in the said refugee train was killed or injured within Bharatpur State territory?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a), (b), (c), (d) and (e). In regard to this incident an enquiry has been made from the U.P. Government, but no reply has yet been received. On 26th October, 1947, however, the Premier of United Provinces wrote to the Ministry of States that the Evening Train from Agra on the 13th October, supposed to be carrying refugees, was stopped between Bharatpur and Helak Stations by blocking the railway line with a log of wood. A gang of armed men consisting of misguided village folk and military and Police Sepoys in plain clothes (700 strong) lay in ambush near the railway line. It has been reported that the State Inspector General of Police also happened to reach the spot at or about the time of occurrence. Fire was exchanged between the military escort in the train and the attacking gang. It is learned that about fifty casualties, dead and wounded, were sustained by the gang of attackers. The people from the villages had been duped and persistently fed on the rumours that the military and police escorts on the trains and platforms would connive and even help them in such attacks. Strong representations have been made by the Ministry of States to the Bharatpur administration regarding this incident and they have been asked to take suitable steps to prevent recurrence of such incident.

INTERNMENT OF ORISSA M.L.A. IN INDONESIA

853. *Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that Sri Bijayananda Patnaik, M.L.A. (Orissa) was interned recently in Indonesia by the Dutch Government;

(b) if so, whether any enquiry was made by the Government of India as to the reasons of his internment;

(c) whether Mr. Patnaik has since been released and if so, after how many days' detention; and

(d) the steps the Government of India propose to take for prevention of any such action in future?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) No.

(b), (c) and (d). Does not arise.

CENSUS OF LABOUR POPULATION

854. *Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister of Labour be pleased to state:

(a) whether a census of the labour population of India (both industrial and agricultural) is proposed to be taken in the near future;

(b) whether Government have in their possession an approximate census of labour population; and

(c) if so what is it?

The Honourable Shri Jagjivan Ram: (a) Yes, as part of the next All-India census which is expected to be taken in 1951.

(b) and (c). The 1941 census collected much material bearing on means of livelihood, but the then Government of India decided not to proceed with tabulation. It would be an extremely difficult and expensive task to carry out that tabulation now. Besides, it would not be worth-while to undertake this task as the next census is expected to be taken in 1951. Annual returns are received of workers in factories subject to the Factories' Act and Mines regulated by the Mines Act. Fairly accurate estimates are available of workers in Plantations and in the Communications group. The distribution is as follows—

Figures are to the nearest thousand

Factories (figures re- late to 1945) subject to the Factories Act	'Other Factories' (Estimated)	Plantations (Estimated)	Communications Group (Estimated)	Mines (1946)
26,23,000	10,00,000	11,65,000	12,15,000	4,13,000

EXECUTION OF MAHANADY VALLEY PROJECT.

855. *Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister of Works, Mines and Powers be pleased to state:

(a) the agency Government want to set up to execute the Mahanady Valley Project in Orissa;

(b) whether it is proposed to set up an authority for the purpose; or

(c) whether the work will be taken up directly by the Government of India; and

(d) the extent to which the Provincial Government will have a responsibility in the execution of the project?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) At the request of the Government of Orissa, the construction of the Hirakud Dam Project of the Mahanadi Scheme has been entrusted to the Central, Waterways, Irrigation and Navigation Commission. It is under consideration to set up a constructive organisation with a Chief Engineer at its head

(b) No.

(c) The work will be taken up by the Central Waterways Irrigation and Navigation Commission as agents of the Orissa Government.

(d) The Provincial Government is expected to co-operate very intimately with the Central Waterways, Irrigation and Navigation Commission and the construction organisation set up under that Commission for the execution of the project.

WOMEN'S HOMES AND ORPHANAGES

856. *Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is intended to start women's homes and orphanages for helpless refugee women and children who have been orphaned;

(b) if so, when these institutions are to be opened; and

(c) whether hand spinning is being introduced in the refugee camps to provide occupation to the refugee women and if so, in which of the camps?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) and (b). The Honourable Member is referred to my answer to Starred Question No. 511 on the 2nd December, 1947. Additional information is being collected and will be laid on the table in due course.

(c) Spinning has been introduced in the Kurukshetra Camp as also in the Kingsway Camp, New Delhi. Information in regard to the Camps in the East Punjab will be laid on the table when received.

TRADE AGREEMENTS WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES

857. *Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state the names of the countries with whom India has entered into trade agreements after partition of the country?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: This Dominion has not entered into any trade agreement after partition.

FORTIFICATION OF NEW FRONTIERS OF INDIA.

858. *Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state:

(a) the steps taken or intended to be taken by Government to strengthen and fortify the new frontiers of India created by the division of the country; and

(b) whether Government propose a change of policy towards the tribes who live on the frontiers?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) I would refer the Honourable Member to my answer to part (c) of Starred Question No. 260 asked by Mr. R. K. Sidhwa on the 25th November 1947.

(b) The Government of India are now concerned only with the tribal areas on the North East Frontier. The future policy regarding the tribes living in those areas is dependent on the decisions which the Constituent Assembly will take in regard to the future administration of tribal areas. Pending these decisions no change is contemplated in Government's present policy of taking all possible steps for the development and welfare of these tribes.

CONSTITUTION OF DEVELOPMENT BOARD

859. *Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state:

(a) the constitution and functions of the Development Board; and

(b) the number of members constituting the Board?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) and (b). The constitution of the Development Board is as follows:

Chairman.—The Prime Minister.

Members.—Secretaries to the Ministries of Agriculture, Communications, Education, Finance, Health, Industry and Supply and Labour.

The functions of the Board are: (i) to carry out for Cabinet a general examination of integrated Development plans; (ii) to carry out for Cabinet a detailed examination of memoranda on matters of general policy or administration affecting development as a whole, which may be submitted to them by the appropriate Ministries; (iii) to initiate action on any matter affecting planning, or development policy generally and to recommend that the appropriate Ministry should submit a memorandum or recommendations to the Board or take other appropriate action; (iv) to examine and recommend priorities among Development Plans, programmes and schemes; and (v) to keep a watch on development plans generally and to report progress.

The Board has not functioned for some time. The question of establishing a suitable machinery for planning is under consideration.

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICIALS FOR COUNTRIES OUTSIDE INDIA

860. *Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state the respective functions, the status and the salaries and terms of office of each of the following categories of officials appointed or contemplated to be appointed by the Government of India for Countries outside the Indian Dominion:

(i) Ambassadors and Embassies, (ii) Consuls and Consulate Generals, (iii) Agents and Agents General, (iv) Diplomatic Attache, (v) High Commissioner, (vi) Charge-de-Affaires, (vii) Public Relations Officers; and (viii) Personal Representatives of the Prime Minister?

(b) Are there any other types of officials other than these enumerated in part (a) above who are in the employ of the Government of India abroad?

(c) Is there more than one category of the above classes of officials in any one foreign country?

(d) If so, what are the countries and what are the classes of officials posted therein?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) A statement (No. I) containing the required information is placed on the table of the House.

The scales of pay and other terms for posts borne on the cadre of the Indian Foreign Service, have not yet been finalised but a copy (Statement No. II) of the relevant sections of the draft Indian Foreign Service Rules on scales of pay is laid on the table of the House. Pending a decision on this question, the pay and other terms of present holders of the posts have been fixed ad hoc, and a statement (No. III) showing these is also placed on the table of the House. The normal period of the appointments is three years but most of our heads of Missions have been appointed for one year in the first instance.

(b) Yes. In addition to the categories of officers mentioned in para. (a) above there are Counsellors, Deputy High Commissioners, Welfare Officers, Ship Welfare Officers, Liaison officers, Legal Advisers, Representative of India to the United Nations, New York, Military Attaches in Washington and Nanking, Trade Commissioners, Vice-Consuls and Secretarial and Ministerial staff.

(c) and (d). Yes. A statement (No. IV) is placed on the table of the House.

STATEMENT No. I

(i) Functions and Status of Ambassadors:

Ambassadors are personal representatives of the Heads of their States and enjoy for this reason special honours. They are entitled to the title of "Excellency" and can at all times ask for an audience from the Head of the State to whom they are accredited. The universally recognised regular functions of Ambassadors are:

- negotiation of treaties, agreements, etc.,
- observation of every occurrence and event of interest to their Home State and reporting them to the Head of their State;
- protection of the persons, property and interests of the subjects of their Home States.

Besides, these, Ambassadors may be charged with other and miscellaneous functions such as issue of passports.

(ii) Functions and Status of Consuls-General and Consuls:

Consuls-General are appointed as heads of several consular districts and have subordinate consuls. Consuls are usually appointed for smaller districts and for towns or even ports only. Though Consuls-General and Consuls do not enjoy the position of diplomatic representatives, they are publicly recognised by the admitting State as agents of the appointing State.

Consuls-General and Consuls are appointed chiefly for the promotion of commerce and industry, supervision of navigation, protection of the subjects of their own Home States, and exercise of notarial functions. They make out passports and render assistance and help to paupers and the sick and to litigants before the courts.

(iii) Functions and status of Agents and Agents-General:

An "Agent" is an officer of the Government of India for safeguarding the interests of the Indian emigrants in any place outside the Dominion of India, and is subordinate to the Government of India's High Commissioner or Representative in the country where appointed.

(iv) Functions and status of Diplomatic Attaches:

Diplomatic Attaches are members of legations attached to the head of the Mission. It is the universally recognised rule of international law that all diplomatic members of a legation are as inviolable and extra-territorial as the head of the Mission himself and enjoy many of the privileges accorded to the head of the Mission.

Their functions consist generally in assisting the head of the Mission in the efficient discharge of his duties and functions.

(v) Functions and status of the High Commissioners and Representatives:

Functions:

The functions are very similar to those of Ambassadors.

Status:

A "High Commissioner" is a diplomatic officer of the Government of India in a British Dominion.

A "Representative" is a "diplomatic officer" of the Government of India in a British Colony.

(vi) Functions and status of Charges d'Affaires:

Charges d'Affaires differ chiefly in one respect from ambassadors in that they are accredited from Foreign Office to Foreign Office whereas Ambassadors are accredited from Head of State to Head of State. They do not therefore enjoy so many honours as Ambassadors and do not receive the title of "Excellency" even by courtesy.

Their functions as heads of Missions are the same as those of Ambassadors.

(vii) Functions and status of Public Relations Officers:

The term "Public Relations Officer" is a comprehensive term and may include all external publicity officers, i.e., Public Relations Officers, Information Officers, Press Attaches and Assistant Information Officers.

Their duties and status are in general that Indian news and views received due publicity abroad, that publicity measures are taken to foster trade and in other ways increase friendly intercourse of India with the foreign country and that the Government of India is kept fully informed of reactions of Press and public in that country to Indian affairs.

STATEMENT No. II

Extract from Draft Indian Foreign Service Rules Chapter 3

Grades and Pay:

3.1. (i) The grades and pay of members of Branch A are as follows:—

- Grade 1. Rs. 3,500 p. m.
- Grade 2. Rs. 3,000 p. m.
- Grade 3. Rs. 2,750 p. m.
- Grade 4. Rs. 2,250 p. m.
- Grade 5. Rs. 1,800—100—2,000.
- Grade 6. Rs. 1,300—50—1,800.
- Grade 7. Rs. 800—50—1,000—60—1,300.
- Grade 8. Rs. 500—540—30—690/EB/30—780—40—950.
- Grade 9. Rs. 350—50—450—450—50—500.

Grade 1 consists of the Foreign Secretary and Heads of certain major Missions.

Grade 2 consists of Heads of other major Missions and Additional Secretaries.

Grade 3 consists of Heads of certain Missions.

Grade 4 consists of Heads of other Missions and Joint Secretaries.

Grade 5 consists of Heads of Minor Missions, Senior Consuls General, and Selection grade Trade Commissioners.

Grade 6 consists of Consuls General, Counsellors, Trade Commissioners, and Deputy Secretaries.

Grade 7 consists of First Secretaries, Consuls, Assistant Trade Commissioners and Under Secretaries.

Grade 8. Rs. 500—540—30—690/EB/30—870—40—950.

Grade 9 consists of Junior Vice-Consuls, Third Secretaries and Paid Attaches.

STATEMENT No. III

Showing name of country, name of the diplomatic post etc. and emoluments

S. No.	Name of the country	Emoluments	Remarks
1	2	3	4
1	U.S.A. (Ambassador)	(1) Pay Rs. 3,500 p m. (2) Frais de Representation Rs. 5200 p.m. (3) Free furnished house. (4) Free car and chauffeur at Government expense. (5) Free heating of the house.
		(1) Pay (consolidated)—Rs. 4,500 p.m. (2) Free furnished house. (3) Motor car and chauffeur at Government expense (4) Free service in the hours

1	2	3	4
3	U. S. S. R. (Ambassador)	(1) Pay Rs. 3,500 p.m. (2) Frais de Representation Rs. 4,500 p.m. (3) Free furnished house and free heating of the house. (4) A car and chauffeur -at Government expense.
4	NEPAL (Ambassador)	(1) Pay—Rs. 2,250 p.m. (2) Frais de Representation—Rs. 750 p.m. (3) Free furnished house. (4) A car with a chauffeur and a cleaner, the Ambassador bearing the running expenses.
5	IRAN (Ambassador)	(1) Pay—Rs. 3,000 p. m. (2) Frais de Representation—Rs. 2,000 p. m. (provisional) (3) Free furnished house. (4) Provision of a car at Government expense.
6	JAPAN—(Head of the Indian Liaison Mission in Tokyo and Political Representative of India with SCAP with personal rank of Ambassador	(1) Pay—Rs. 3,500 p.m. (2) Representation allowance Rs. 2,000 p.m. (3) Free car with chauffeur. (4) Free accommodation and free ration.
7	FRENCH ESTABLISHMENTS IN INDIA AND PORTUGUESE POSSESSIONS IN INDIA. (Consul General)	(1) Pay—Rs. 2,000 p.m. (2) Representation allowance Rs. 300 p.m.
8	INDONESIA (Consul General)	(1) Pay—Rs. 2,250 p.m. (2) Consolidated Foreign Allowance—Rs. 1,250 p.m. (3) Free furnished accommodation. (4) Provision of a car and chauffeur at Government expense, the maintenance charges being borne by the Consul General.
9	SHANGHAI (Consul).	(1) Pay of rank in the Army. (2) Additional Pay—Rs. 350 p.m. (3) Special Pay—£ 200 p.a. (4) Local allowance—£ 300 p.a. (5) Sumptuary allowance—£ 200 p. a. (6) Free accommodation.
10	INDOCHINA. (Consul)	(1) Pay of rank in the Army. (2) Special pay Rs. 150 p.m. (3) Foreign allowance—£ 400 p.a. (4) House rent allowance—£ 300 p.a.
11	MALAYA (Representative)	Pay—Rs. 2,250 p.m. fixed. Local Allowance:—Rs. 500 p.m. Sumptuary allowance,—Rs. 500 p.m. Car allowance—Rs. 125 p.m. House Rent allowance—Rs. 150 p.m. Cost of living allowance Rs. 350 p.m.

2	3	4
12	CEYLON (Representative)	Pay Rs. 2,250 p. m. (fixed) Sumptuary allowance: Rs. 500 p. m. Local allowance: Rs. 500 p. m. Car provided at Government cost.
13	CEYLON (Agent).	Pay—I.C.S. grade House rent Rs. 100 p. m. Car allowance: Rs. 100 Dearness allowance: as admissible in India.
14	MALAYA. (Agent)	Pay—In the scale of Rs. 375—15—600 plus a Special pay of Rs. 100 p. m. House rent allowance: Excess over 10% of pay subject to maximum of Rs. 150 p. m. Conveyance Car allowance: Rs. 125 p.m. Cost of living allowance: 33 1/3% of pay.
15	SOUTH AFRICA (High Commissioner)	£ 2,500 p.a. (fixed) Supmtuary allowance: £ 500 p.a. Special Allowance: £ 50 p.m. for period spent in Capetown for Parliamentary session Car allowance: 75 p.a. Car provided at Government cost.
16	AUSTRALIA (H.C.)	Pay—£ 2,500 p.a. (fixed). Equipment allowance: £ 250 (once only) Sumptuary allowance: £ 500 p.a. Car allowance: £ 400—(Including pay of Chauffeur). Free furnished house. Car provided at Government cost
17	Burma (C.)	Pay—Rs. 2,750 p.m. Sumptuary allowance: Rs. 750 p.m. Car allowance: Rs. 250 p.m. Car provided at Government cost House rent allowance: Excess over 10% of pay. Cost of living allowance: Rs. 300 p. m.
18	CANADA (H.C.)	Pay—Rs. 2,250 p. m. (fixed) Representation allowance: $10,000 p. a. Free car and Chauffeur— Maintenance charges to be borne by the High Commissioner. Free furnished house.
19	UNITED KINGDOM (High Commissioner)	Pay £ 3,000 (free of incometax) p. a. Entertainment or Sumptuary allowance: £ 1,000 p. a. House allowance: Free furnished house, but maintenance charges up to £ 250 p.a. are paid by the High Commissioner. Motor Car Free car including cost of its maintenance and Chauffeur pay. Equipment allowance: £ 250, if at the time of appointment he is habitually resident in India.

1	2	3	4
20	PAKISTAN (High Commissioner)	Pay—Rs. 2,500 p.m. (fixed). Entertainment allowance: Rs. 500 p.m. Free House and free car for official use.
21	SIAM (Chargé d'Affaires)	Pay Rs. 1,100 p.m. Foreign allowance £600 p.a. (inclusive of £150 as sumptuary allowance) House rent allowance £300 p.a.
22	BELGIUM (Chargé d'Affaires designate)	Pay in the senior scale of I. C. S. Foreign allowance Rs. 1,700 p.m. Free furnished house. Free car and a chauffeur.
External Publicity Posts
23	WASHINGTON
	(a) Public Relations Officer	Pay £1,200—50—1,500 p. a. Special pay Rs. 300 p.m. House Rent allowance $220 per month. Local allowance £300 p.a.
	(b) Director, Information Services (vacant).	Pay Rs. 1,100—50—1,300 p.m. Special pay Rs. 300 per month House Rent allowance $220 p.m. Local allowance £300 p.a.
	(c) Deputy Director, Information Services.	Pay Rs. 700—50—1,000 p. m. Special pay Rs. 150 p.m. House Rent allowance $220 p. m. Local allowance $300 p. a.
24	LONDON—
	(a) Public Relations Officer	Pay £1,200—50—1,500 p.m. House Rent allowance: £300 p. m. Consolidated add it on—(to cover local compensation allowance) £120 p. a.
	(b) Information Officer (2)	Pay Rs. 700—50—1,000 p. m. Special pay Rs. 300 per month House rent allowance £150 p. m. Consolidated addition (to cover local compensation allowance) £90 p. a.
	(c) Assistant Information Officer (posts vacant) (2)	Pay Rs. 500—30—620 in the scale of Rs. 350—25—500—30—620 Allowances not yet fixed.
25	SHANGHAI—
	Information Officer (designated as press Attache) Shanghai (Present incumbent working part time)	Pay Rs. 700—50—1,000 p.m. Special pay Rs. 300 p. m. House Rent allowance £200 p.a. Local compensation allowance: £300 p. m.
26	CANBERRA—
	Information Officer.	Pay Rs. 700—50—1,000 p. m. Special pay Rs. 300 p.m. House Rent allowance: Rs. 200 p.m. Local Compensatory allowance: Rs. 250 p.m. Conveyance allowance £10 (a) p.m.

1	2	3	4
27	SINGAPORE— Information Officer.	Pay Rs. 700—50—1,000 p. m. Special pay Rs. 300 p. m. House Rent allowance: actual rent paid. Dearness allowance 10½% of pay and special pay. Conveyance allowance Rs. 125 p.m.
28	RANGOON— Information Officer	Pay Rs. 700—50—1,000 p. m. Special pay Rs. 300 p. m. House Rent allowance: Equal to rent actually paid over 10% of pay. Conveyance allowance Rs. 100 p. m. Dearness allowance: As sanctioned by Government of India from time to time.
29	TORONTO Information Officer.	Pay Rs. 700—50—1,000 p. m. Special Pay Rs. 300 p. m. House Rent allowance Rs. 300 p. m. Local Compensation: Rs. 300 p. m. Exchange Compensation allowance—on total emoluments at rates admissible to officer of the Government of India serving in Canada—fixed by High Commissioner, London.
30	BATAVIA— Press Attache	Pay Rs. 720—40—1,000 Special pay Rs. 300 p. m. Local Compensation allowance: Rs. 400 p. m. House Rent allowance—Accommodation provided by Government, 10% of pay and special pay being charged from the Press Attache.
31	LAHORE— Press Attache	Pay Rs. 720—40—1,000 p. m. Special pay Rs. 300 p.m. Dearness allowance—as admissible to Government of India, Officers.
STATEMENT No. IV:
1. United States of America.
Ambassador.
Public Relations Officer.
Director, Information Services. (post unfilled).
Deputy Director, Information Services.
Counsellor.
Military Attache.

2. China.
Ambassador.
Consul.
Information Officer (designated as Press Attache).
Military Attache.
3. Indonesia
Consul General.
Press Attache.
4. Burma.
High Commissioner.
Labour Officer.
Information Officer.
5. Malaya.
Representative.
Agent.
Information Officer.
Welfare Officer.
Shipwelfare Officer.
6. Ceylon.
Representative.
Agent.
Information Officer.
Trade Commissioner.
7. Australia.
High Commissioner.
Information Officer.
Trade Commissioner.
8. South Africa.
High Commissioner.
9. Canada.
High Commissioner.
Information Officer.
Trade Commissioner.
10. United Kingdom.
High Commissioner.
Deputy High Commissioner.
Public Relations Officer.
Welfare Officer.
Officer on Special duty.
Legal Adviser.
Trade Commissioner.
11. Pakistan
High Commissioner.
Deputy High Commissioner.
Press Attache.
Liaison Officer.
Officer on Special duty.

AZAD HIND BANK IN BURMA

861. *Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether Government are aware that an Azad Hind Bank had been established in Burma by the Azad Hind Government of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose and that many Indian nationals then residing in Burma; and particularly many I.N.A. soldiers who have since returned and are living in India had deposited their money in it?

(b) What has happened to the assets of that Bank, and how the depositors of that Bank now living in India can get back their money for which they hold passbooks and certificates of the Azad Hind Bank?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The only assets of the Bank which were recovered at the time of British occupation of Burma were in Japanese currency which was invalidated by His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom. These assets are therefore valueless. The High Commissioner for India in Burma has been trying to find out if there are any other assets of the Bank but no authentic information has so far become available. The Indian Independence League in Rangoon is of the view that except for Japanese Currency nothing was left behind in the bank at the time of Japanese surrender. There seems little likelihood, therefore, of depositors being able to recover their deposits.

DEFENCE SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITS

862. *Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether Government are aware that the arrangements to pay off the Savings deposited in the Post Office Defence Savings Bank, particularly in districts where a cut was made from the price of sugarcane supplied by growers to sugar factories, such as in Gorakhpur District, are most unsatisfactory and serious complaints have been made in this connection?

(b) What is the total number of persons who have made Defence Saving Bank Deposits in the Post Offices and the total amount of such deposits in the whole of the United Provinces; and in the Gorakhpur and Deoria Districts?

(c) What is the total number of persons who have been able to get back their deposits between 1st April 1947 and 1st December 1947 in the whole of the United Provinces and in the Gorakhpur and Deoria districts?

(d) What is the period of time which it will take at this rate to enable the withdrawal of all these deposits to be completed in the whole of the United Provinces and in the Gorakhpur and Deoria districts?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Some complaints have been received by Government to the effect that illiterate depositors who have opened Defence Savings Bank accounts through the Cane Development Department of the Government of United Provinces are experiencing some difficulty in withdrawing amounts standing to their credit since they have to furnish identification at the time of making applications for withdrawals.

(b) (i) 4,873,113 Defence Savings Bank accounts were opened in the United Provinces. (ii) 624,476 of these accounts relate to the Gorakhpur and Deoria Districts.

Information with regard to the total amount is not readily available.

(c) (i) So far, 2,114,201 accounts have been closed in the United Provinces.

(ii) Out of these, 203,060 accounts relate to the Districts of Gorakhpur and Deoria.

(d) It is not possible to calculate the period which depends on the time taken by the depositors to present their applications for withdrawal, supported by proper identification.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST POSTAL STAFF AT GORAKHPUR

863. *Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state whether Government are aware that depositors of the Post Office Defence Savings Bank have to wait usually for three to four days in the Gorakhpur city after coming from far off villages in the rural interior, before they can get cash payment, when they come to withdraw the money?

(b) Are Government aware that specific complaints against the postal staff at Gorakhpur were made to the Post Master General, Lucknow, in a wire sent to him on or about 3rd October 1947, and in a personal interview with him on 6th October 1947, and if so, what action has been taken against the persons against whom complaints were made?

(c) Do Government propose to investigate these complaints about delay in payments of these Defence Savings Bank deposits to depositors?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Complaints have been received about the inconvenience caused to the depositors from rural areas owing to their having to travel to the Post Office where the accounts are maintained as also about the delay involved in establishing identity.

(b) The Honourable Minister had a discussion on 6th October, 1947, with the Postmaster-General, United Provinces, who issued instructions to his subordinate offices to expedite the closure of these accounts. The Posts and Telegraphs Department have also provided the following facilities to depositors:—(i) Such accounts can be transferred to the post office nearest to the depositor's residence. (ii) Withdrawals from such accounts may be made from any sub office under the head office in which the accounts stand, without formal transfer of the account to that office. (iii) Applications for withdrawal may be sent by post when the amounts due to the depositors would be remitted by money order.

As a further step the Posts and Telegraphs Department in order to minimise the difficulties about identification, has, in consultation with the Government of United Provinces, evolved a scheme by which such withdrawals would be allowed through the Tehsildar who would obtain the applications and pass books and forward them to the post office which will remit the amount to the Tehsildar concerned for payment to the individual depositors.

(c) In view of the steps already taken by Government, no further action in the matter appears necessary.

REVIEW OF EXPORT AND IMPORT LICENCES

864. *Prof. N. G. Ranga: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) whether the issue of export and import licenses made prior to 15th August 1947 has come to be reviewed after that date;

(b) whether Government have received any complaints about the basis on which licenses were given and quotas for exports and imports allotted as between old and new firms; and between big and small firms, especially in regard to jute and oil exports;

(c) whether any complaints were made to Government by new exporting concerns interested in Jute and also by oilcrushers of villages and moffussil towns about the unsuitability of the conditions imposed for the issue of export licenses; and

(d) whether in view of the new social set up of the country, Government propose to re-examine the whole policy of issuing licenses to various individuals and concerns?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No, Sir.

(b) and (c). Yes.

(d) The import and export licensing policy of Government is always subjected to review from time to time with a view to eradicating any defects that might have crept into the system. Government are aware in this connection of the dissatisfaction expressed by the public with regard to the manner in which their import and export licensing policies have recently been administered, and steps are being taken to remove such defects as have been brought to their notice.

OFFICERS EMPLOYED IN OFFICE OF DIRECTOR OF ORDNANCE FACTORIES

865. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state how many officers are employed in the office of the Director of Ordnance Factories?

(b) How many of them are Indians and how many are non-Indians?

(c) How many of the Indian Officers hold University degrees and how many of the non-Indian Officers hold University degrees?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) 22.

(b) 9 Indians; 13 non-Indians.

(c) 8 Indians and 3 non-Indians hold University Degrees.

PERSONNEL OF ORDNANCE FACTORIES

866. *Seth Govinddas: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state how many officers are employed in the various Ordnance Factories (including clothing and saddlery factories) in India?

(b) How many of them are Indians and how many are non-Indians?

(c) How many of the Indian Officers hold University degrees and how many of the non-Indian Officers hold University degrees?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) 108.

(b) 42 Indians and 66 non-Indians.

(c) Accurate figures are not readily available, but certainly nineteen (and probably twenty-eight) Indians hold University Degrees. Among the non-Indians, nine hold University Degrees.

PRICES FOR NATIVE AND CHERRY COFFEE

867. *Shri S. V. Krishnamurthy Rao: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the prices fixed for different varieties of plantation of native and cherry coffee?

(b) Is it a fact that Government fix these prices, on the recommendation of the India Coffee Board?

(c) Is there any representative of the small growers on the India Coffee Board?

(d) Have any representations from the small coffee growers been made to Government for taking their representatives on the Coffee Board?

(e) If so, what is the action taken?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) A statement showing the Basic Price Scale (inclusive of excise duty) for the season 1947-48 is placed on the table. This is approximately the price which accrues to the producer. Retail prices are roughly 20 per cent. higher.

(b) The prices are fixed by the Government on the basis of a Cost examination and in consultation with the Indian Coffee Board, but they are not bound to accept the Board's recommendations.

(c) Yes, the representatives of the Malabar-Wynad Coffee Growers' Association and Palni-Bodi-Sirumalai Coffee Growers' Association.

(d) and (e). Representations have been received from one Association, the Robusta Coffee Growers' Association of Southern India, Pollibetta, for increased representation on the Indian Coffee Board. They were turned down mainly on the ground that the representation of producers on the Coffee Board is not based on the type of coffee produced by planters but on a regional basis.

Statement showing the Basic Price Scale (inclusive of excise duty) of different varieties of plantation of native and cherry coffee.

Grade	Plantation (per cwt.) Rs.	Grade	Arabica Cherry (per cwt.) Rs.	Robusta Cherry (per cwt.) Rs.
P. B.	129 5 0	P. B.	113 15 0	93 7 0
O.	119 1 0	Flats Garbled	102 7 0	81 15 0
1A	116 8 0	Flats 5 per cent Triage basis	101 9 0	80 10 0
2A	115 4 0	Bulk 5 per cent Triage basis	99 14 0	79 6 0
B.	113 15 0	Blacks and Browns	75 8 0	65 4 0
C & T	108 13 0	Bits	62 11 0	52 7 0
Blacks and Browns	80 10 0

ROBUSTA COFFEE PRICES.

868. *Shri S. V. Krishnamurthy Rao: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state the price fixed for various varieties of Robusta coffee?

(b) How many members on the Coffee Board represent Robusta coffee growers?

(c) Is it a fact that there is considerable scarcity of coffee in the market?

(d) Is it a fact that huge stocks of coffee are held by hoarders and black-marketeers in spite of coffee control?

(e) If so, what steps Government propose to take to prevent it?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) A statement is placed on the table.

(b) Two.

(c) Government have seen Press reports making such complaints.

(d) There seems to be a tendency on the part of the dealers to withhold stocks.

(e) A meeting of the Marketing Committee of the Indian Coffee Board was convened on the 8th December 1947 to consider the alternative methods of sale with a view to ensuring coffee reaching the consumers. A decision will be taken when the proceedings of that meeting are received.

Basic Price Scale for Robusta coffee (inclusive of excise duty) for the season 1947-48.

	Robusta Cherry (Per Cwt.) Rs.
P. B.	93 7 0
Flats Garbled	81 15 0
Flats 5 per cent Triage basis.	80 10 0
Bulk 5 per cent Triage basis.	79 6 0
Blacks and Browns	65 4 0
Bits	52 7 0

RETURN OF MONEY DEPOSITED BY I.N.A. SOLDIERS

869. *Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether Government are aware that when the Indian National Army soldiers were brought under arrest to Calcutta all their money was taken away and deposited in the Imperial Bank of India, but this money has not yet been returned to them although the soldiers have been acquitted or released?

(b) How much money was deposited in this manner and from how many persons it was collected, and how and when Government propose to return it?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) Yes, Sir. The amounts in question were deposited with the Reserve Bank of India.

(b) The total amount deposited in this manner was Rs. 1,93,967-7-5 in respect of 886 persons. This amount included forged currency notes and counterfeit coins amounting to Rs. 43,453-2-6.

There are still 457 outstanding claims and the amount to be paid is Rs. 41,840-5-4. Only a few claims have been received in respect of the amount now held in deposit. These are being investigated and payment will be arranged soon. The bulk of this amount still remains unclaimed.

CENTRAL COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE, DELHI

870. *Shri R. R. Diwakar: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Agriculture be pleased to state whether a Central College of Agriculture has been started by the Central Government at Delhi this year at a cost of Rs. 85,00,000?

(b) Why was it thought necessary to incur such a huge expenditure for an ordinary Agricultural College?

(c) Is any special research work carried on? If so, what?

(d) Is it a fact that even matriculates who have not studied science are admitted to the College?

(e) Is it a fact that the full curriculum for the course is not ready even though the College has already started functioning?

(f) Is physical training a part of the course? If so, are the students provided with all facilities for physical training?

(g) Is it a fact that an Aerogen Gas Plant was sold and sent to the College by a Lahore firm in June, 1947, but it was found missing and that later the same Gas Plant was sold by another firm in Delhi at about a thousand rupees?

(h) Is the Gas Plant now in the premises of the College?

(i) Was it through the Federal Public Service Commission that the appointments were made to the staff of this College?

(j) Has the Federal Service Commission any instructions to give preference to refugees?

(k) Is it a fact that the Principal of the College is a retired official?

(l) What was the special reason for choosing a retired person for such an important post?

The Honourable Dr. Rajendra Prasad: (a) and (b). A Central College of Agriculture has been started to impart agricultural education to students, from Centrally Administered Areas, Indian States and Provinces which have no Agricultural Colleges of their own.

A permanent site for the College is yet to be selected and no estimates of the cost involved have yet been finally approved.

(c) None at present. The College is mainly a teaching institution for imparting education and training leading to the B.Sc. (Agriculture) Degree of the University of Delhi.

- (b) whether the price of areca has fallen on account of the imports;
 (c) what restrictions are proposed to be imposed to check the imports;
 (d) whether it is a fact that the areca growers in India have made several representations for the removal of excise duty on areca; and
 (e) the amount of duty collected during the years 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) 2,03,898 cwts. of arecanuts were imported from the Straits Settlements by sea into India during the three months ending June 1947. Figures of later imports as also imports from Eastern Pakistan are not available.

(b) Prices of imported arecanuts fell to a certain extent, particularly during September and October. There has, however, been a general improvement in the prices of local arecanuts.

(c) Licensing of imports of arecanuts during July-December 1947 shipping period were restricted to a monetary ceiling. It is likely that similar restrictions may continue during the January-June 1948 period as well.

(d) Yes, Sir.

(e) I lay on the table of the House a statement showing the required information.

Statement showing amount of Duty collected on Areca during the year 1945-46, 1946-47 and 1947-48.

Year	Amount of duty collected (import duty plus excise revenue).
	Rs.
1945-46	2,22,26,000
1946-47	3,34,73,000
1947-48 (1-4-47 to 30-9-47)	1,12,2,000

PAKISTAN RAIDS ON INDIA.

876.*Dr. N. B. Khare: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state how many raids have been made on our country by Pakistan, after the partition?

(b) What losses have been suffered by our public in men and material?

(c) What action have Government taken to check further raids?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) to (c). I would refer the Honourable Member to my reply to Starred Question No. 563 asked by Shri Ajit Prasad Jain on the 3rd December 1947.

FALL IN THE PRICE OF ARECA

877.*Shri S. V. Krishnamurthy Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that the price of round supari has fallen by 60 per cent. during the past few weeks and that it is still going down;

(b) whether Government are aware that the fall in price is due to the smuggling of supari from Eastern Pakistan area not only of Eastern Pakistan supari but also of supari imported from Singapore through Pakistan ports to avoid import restrictions;

(c) whether representations have been received by the Government of India from the Karnataka and Mysore Area growers' Association in this connection; and

(d) what action Government propose to take to check the fall in the price of areca and to restore its original price?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: (a) No, Sir. On the contrary, the tendency has recently been rather upward. I lay on the table of the House a statement showing the prices of supari at Bombay for the twelve weeks ending the 29th November 1947.

(b) Firstly, I have already stated that there has been no fall in prices. Secondly, the question of smuggling does not arise in view of the fact that the two Dominions of India and Pakistan follow the same import restrictions on supari and that the export into this country of supari previously imported into Pakistan is free, under the terms of the standstill agreement.

(c) Government have received some complaints alleging that imports of areca and betelnuts have resulted in a fall in the prices of these commodities. There have also been some representations for liberalising imports of these articles on the ground of their being a poor man's luxury.

(d) Does not arise, in view of my answer to part (a) above.

Statement showing the prices of supari at Bombay for the twelve weeks ending the 29th November 1947.

Month	Price per Cwt.
	Rs. A. P.
September, 1947.
Week ending the 13th	109 0 0
" " " 20th	109 0 0
" " " 27th	109 0 0
October, 1947.
Week ending the 4th	107 8 0
" " " 10th	109 0 0
" " " 18th	110 0 0
" " " 25th	110 0 0
November, 1947.
Week ending the 1st	110 0 0
" " " 8th	110 0 0
" " " 15th	110 0 0
" " " 22nd	110 0 0
" " " 29th	110 0 0

(d) The Candidates admitted fulfil the minimum qualification for admission viz. Matriculation or Higher Secondary Examination.

(e) The Courses of study, as required, have been prepared and approved by the University of Delhi.

(f) Physical training is not a part of the course of studies, but arrangements for games and exercises by students have been made. A proposal for appointing a Physical Training Instructor is under consideration.

(g) and (h). One Aerogen gas plant, supplied by a Delhi firm, is at the premises of the College. The Lahore firm has not yet supplied the plant. No plant is missing.

(i) and (j). The gazetted posts at the College have been filled temporarily by the appointment of refugees. Permanent recruitment to these posts is, however, being made through the Federal Public Service Commission who have already invited applications for them.

(k) Yes.

(l) He has been appointed temporarily in view of his qualifications and experience. No other suitable officer was readily available. The permanent incumbent of the post is being selected through the Federal Public Service Commission.

PRODUCTION OF ARABICA AND ROBUSTA COFFEE.

871. *Shri C. M. Poonacha: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state what is the average annual production of Arabica and Robusta coffee in India?

(b) Is it a fact that the price of Robusta coffee is kept at such a low level that Robusta coffee growers, especially the small growers, are very hard hit?

(c) Do Government propose to increase the price fixed for Robusta coffee by at least 25 per cent of the present price?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) The average production during the 3 years ending 1945-46 was:—

(i) Arabica	...	...	14,880 tons.
(ii) Robusta	...	...	5,033 tons.

(b) Prices of different varieties of coffee are fixed in accordance with a Price Differential Scale laid down by the Indian Coffee Board. If the Robusta growers feel that they are not getting a fair deal, it is for them to make out a case based on facts.

(c) No, Sir.

SEIZURE OF RICE BY DUTCH GOVERNMENT.

872. *Shri B. Das: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether the attention of Government has been drawn to the press interview of Dr. Shahriar, published in the Hindustan Times, dated 1st December, 1947 that the Dutch Government has seized the 30 lakh tons of rice which the Indonesian Republican Government had deposited in the port of Java for transshipment to India?

(b) What steps Government propose to take to secure immediate delivery of five lakh tons of unhusked rice from Java Port as was arranged?

(c) What representations have been made to the Netherlands Government over this seizure of rice, which became the property of the Government of India the moment it reached the port?

(d) Do Government propose to make a statement on the situation?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) Yes.

(b) and (c). The figure of five lakh tons mentioned in this question is far in excess of any quantities for which arrangements had been made. So far as I am aware, a quantity of 9,000 tons of paddy collected by the Indonesians at various ports and earmarked for India was seized by the Netherlands Government. This was not the property of the Government of India in the sense that delivery had been taken over, though it was expressly intended for India and awaited the arrival of a ship. No representations have been made to the Netherlands Government.

(d) No.

WAGES TO REFUGEE WORKERS AT KURUKSHETRA

873. *Shri Santanu Kumar Das: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the refugees of Kurukshetra are demanding wages for doing the work of distribution of cloth and ration among themselves?

(b) If so, how much is the daily wages demanded by a refugee worker?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) and (b). The Question is not understood. But the position in regard to employment of refugees and the wages thereof, in the Kurukshetra Camp, is this:

Refugees who are engaged on any whole time organisation like the Rationing Department, are being paid according to the nature of duties entrusted to them, whether as Ward Rationing Officers, Supervisors, Ration Clerks etc. The same applies to refugees, who are engaged for unloading tentage and other materials and those engaged on hard manual labour. Full wages, according to market rate, are given to refugees when employed for whole time Governmental work. Work parties from amongst the refugees, are organised on a voluntary basis for work like distribution of cloth etc., for which no payment is made.

REHABILITATION OF REFUGEE VAIDYAS.

874. *Sri Algu Rai Shastri: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Relief and Rehabilitation be pleased to state whether Government propose to rehabilitate the Refugee-Vaidyas in suitable places just as other classes of professional evacuees from Pakistan are going to be rehabilitated?

(b) Have Government received any representation from Refugee-Vaidyas as to their appointment in Medical relief centres in refugee camps as also in other towns and villages?

(c) Do Government propose to consider cases of Vaidyas as a class while distributing loans from the funds of Refugees Finance Corporation, the establishment of which is under the contemplation of Government?

The Honourable Shri K. C. Neogy: (a) Government will bear in mind the cases of different professional classes among the refugees in working out schemes for rehabilitation.

(b) Yes.

(c) Rehabilitation Finance Corporation is intended for industrialists and not for Vaidyas and Doctors. The latter will be eligible to apply for small loans under a scheme which Government expect to announce shortly.

IMPORT OF ARECA

875. *Shri S. V. Krishnamurthy Rao: Will the Honourable Minister of Commerce be pleased to state:

(a) the quantity of areca that has been imported into India from Singapore and Eastern Pakistan during the current year;

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE

(INFORMATION PROMISED IN REPLY TO CERTAIN QUESTIONS—LAID ON THE TABLE OF THE HOUSE TO-DAY).
Mr. Manu Subedar Starred Question No. 628(b) and (c) of 16th November 1946.

RECOVERY OF EXPENDITURE INCURRED IN INDIA ON BEHALF OF U.K. AND EASTERN GROUP COUNTRIES.

Statement showing the expenditure incurred by the Government of India (Civil Estimates) on behalf of H.M.G., in respect of various items.

Serial No.	Item	1941-42	1942-43	1943-44	1944-45	1945-46	1946-47
		Rs.	A. P.	Rs.	A. P.	Rs.	A. P.
1	Evacuees	5, 42, 163 11 3	16,81,226 4 5	14, 35,565 9 9	8 12 120 1 0	32, 41,499 0 9	7,56,471 3 0
2	Internees	30, 86,800 0 0	up to 31-3-46. Estimated expenditure during 1946-47 is Rs. 10,50,000.
3	Lascar's Pensions.	1,02,312 2 0	3,34,168 3 0	0,34,318 14 0	11,68,651 9 0	15,93,723 4 8	5,10,857 14 0
4	Mica Bonus	..	..	..	..	7,85,086 12 0	4,88,566 0 0
5	Requisitioned Ships.	47,49,664 3 0	1,36,77,228 9 0	1,05,78,222 13 0	1,02,26,592 7 0	92,44,961 4 0	2,63,38,798 12 4

The figures do not include those relating to the Punjab, which are not yet available.

STATEMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE

Prof. N.G. Ranga's Unstarred Question No. 22 (b) and (d) of 6th February 1947.

INDIANISATION OF THE OFFICER PERSONNEL IN GOVERNMENT OF INDIA DEPARTMENTS.

Statement showing vacancies filled during the period between the 1st September 1946 and 1st April 1947 in the Central Services (excluding those in the Defence Headquarters).

Name of service	No. of vacancies filled
	Permanent	Contract for a specified period	Temporary	Total
I. All India Services —
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	..	..	..	..
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than 2,000	1	..	5	6
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	..	..	4	4
II. Central Services Class I—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	2	4	6	12
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than 2,000	..	11	9	20
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	..	8	11	19
III. Central Services Class II—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	1	..	3	4
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than 2,000	..	..	..	..
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	..	..	..	..
IV. Central Services Class III—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	1	..	29	30
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than 2,000	..	..	..	..
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	..	..	..	..
V. Unclassified Posts—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	..	2	105	107
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than 2,000	..	..	..	..
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	..	..	..	..
Total	5	25	172	202

Seth Govind Das, unstarred Question No. 29 (h) and (c) of 7th February, 1947.

USE OF RAILWAY LINES CONSTRUCTED FROM JUBBULPORE STATION TO CENTRAL ORDNANCE DEPOT, JUBBULPORE, FOR CIVIL INDUSTRY.

(b) From the information available, it is understood that the Ordnance Factory, Khamaria, and the Arsenal Sub-Depot of the Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpore are being retained as permanent establishments and that the C. O. D. will carry on, as such, for at least another five years. The rail connection must therefore be maintained in order to handle any inward receipts and outward despatches of surplus stores and machinery. The lines in question are therefore not surplus.

(c) No request for the use of any of the sidings for Civil Industries has so far been received by the General Manager, G. I. P. Railway.

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava's Starred Question No. 201 (b), (c) and (d) of 11th February, 1947.

NUMBER OF NON-INDIANS EMPLOYED ON HIGH SALARIES UNDER THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT.

Statement showing the number of non-Indians in service in the Central Services on the 1st April 1947 (excluding Defence Headquarters personnel).

Name of Service	No. of persons employed			Total
	Permanent	Contract for a specified period	Temporary
I. All-India Services—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	4	..	1	5
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than 2,000	45	3	12	60
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over—	33	2	31	66
II. Central Services Class I—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	92	5	14	111
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than 2,000	299	19	32	350
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	153	18	16	187
III. Central Services Class II—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	45	6	12	63
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than Rs. 2,000	2	..	1	3
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	2	..	..	2
IV. Central Services Class III—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	296	6	244	546
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than Rs. 2,000	..	..	..	..
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	..	..	..	..
V. Unclassified Posts—
(a) Salary less than Rs. 1,000	190	4	369	563
(b) Salary Rs. 1,000 but less than Rs. 2,000	10	7	15	32
(c) Salary Rs. 2,000 and over	3	6	5	14
Total	1,174	76	752	2,002

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava's Starred Questions Nos. 351 and 352 of 17th February, 1947.

PROMOTION OF INDIANS IN CARRIAGE AND WAGON DEPARTMENT OF B.,B. & C. I. RAILWAY.

Question No. 351.—(a) Government are informed that the communal composition of the promotions made since 1931 to the categories mentioned by the Honourable Member are as follows:—

Asst. Loco and Carriage Supdt.

Europeans	5
Indians (Hindu)	2

Foreman.

European	1
Hindu	1

Junior and Asst. Foreman.

Anglo-Indian	1
Hindus	4
Indian Christian	1
Goanese	1

The allegation made by the Honourable Member is therefore not correct.

(b) Does not arise.

ANGLO-INDIANS OF LOCO DEPARTMENT PROMOTED TO CARRIAGE AND WAGON DEPARTMENT OF B.,B. & C. I. RAILWAY.

Question No. 352.—Government are informed that the only Anglo-Indian who had been transferred on promotion to the Carriage and Wagon Department since the amalgamation of the Loco and the Carriage and Wagon Departments of the B.,B. & C. I. Railway has since been re-transferred to the Loco Department.

Mr. Ahmed B. H. Jaffer's Starred Question No. 526 (b) and (c) of 24th February 1947.

REQUISITIONING BY THE ARMY OF BUILDINGS AND BUNGALOWS IN BOMBAY CITY

(b) Details of the 206 buildings and flats derequisitioned in Bombay City from the termination of the war to 31st December 1946.

S. No.	Name of Property	Location
1	Khalsa College, Matunga Road	Matunga.
2	Sunderdas Show Rooms	Esplanade Road Fort.
3	Bldgs. on No. 73—75, Warden Rd.	Cumballa Hill.
4	Flat 'B', Amarchand Mansions	Mayo Road, Fort.
5	"Sorab House"	Oak Lane, Fort.
6	Asian Restaurant	Rampart Row, Fort.
7	1st floor, Monginis Ltd.	Churchgate Street, Fort.
8	Grd. floor, "Wakefield House"	Ballard Estate.
9	Jerbanoo Hall, Warden Road	Cumballa Hill.
10	Metro Building, Dhobi Talao	Dhobi Talao.
11	Flat No. 3-A, Mafatlal Park	Malabar Hill.
12	Grd. Floor Part Wakefield House	Ballard Estate.
13	Trading Hall, Cotton Green Road	Cotton Green.
14	3rd Co-operative Insurance Bldg.	Sir P.M. Road Fort.
15	Godown No. 165, Sassoon Dock	Colaba.
16	Basement, New India Assurance Bldg.	Mahatma Gandhi Rd. Fort.
17	Godowns at Kalachowky Road	Lower Parel.
18	Ground floor, Famous Pictures	Sandhurst Bridge, Chowpatty
19	No. 'E' Shed Cotton Green	Sewri.
20	Parsee Gymkhana	Marine Drive.
21	Flat No. B, "Victory Court"	Queen's Road.
22	Kutir Guest House	Marine Drive.
23	Max Lessor Hotel	Do.
24	Flat No. 5-A, Habib Park	Byculla.
25	Show Room No. 3, Deepak Mahal	Marine Drive.
26	1st floor, "Samudra Tarang"	Cadell Road, Mahim.
27	Ground floor, "Guzdar House"	Warden Road.
28	Homji Hall	Mazagaon.
29	1st & 2nd floors, New India Assurance Building	Mahatma Gandhi Rd., Fort.
30	Shed 'A', Grain Depot, Sewri	Sewri.
31	Shed 'C', Grain Depot, Sewri	Do.
32	Elphinstone High School	Cruickshank Rd. Fort.
33	Wakefield House, Part of 2nd floor	Ballard Estate.
34	No. 534, Sandhurst Bridge	Chowpatty.
35	Shed 'B', Grain Depot, Sewri	Sewri.
36	Shed 'D' Grain Depot, Sewri	Do.
37	Flat No. 1-A, Amarchand Mansion	Mayo Road, Fort.
38	3 Rooms, Burjor Building	Garden Road, Colaba.
39	Bank of India Building	Esplanade Rd. Fort.
40	Godown No. 162, Sassoon Dock	Colaba.
41	Sunday Standard Building, Sassoon Dock	Do.
42	Raval Tiles Godowns Arthur Bunder Rd.	Do.
43	Godown 'C' Kalachowky Road	Lower Parel.
44	Natin Mahal	Churchgate Reclamation.
45	Wellington Mews & 24 Garages	Colaba.
46	Hindu Gymkhana	Marine Drive.
47	Islam Gymkhana	Do.
48	No. 14, Mount Pleasant Road	Malabar Hill.
49	Madhu Kunj	Ridge Road, Malabar Hill
50	Gamadia House	Warden Road.
51	Darbhanga Flats, North Block	Peddar Road.
52	Meher Bldg., No. 69, Ranade Rd. EXTN.	Dadar.
53	Flat No. 27, Maison Belvedere	Queen's Road.
54	2nd floor flat No. 14, Ormiston Rd.	Colaba.
55	Flat No. 10, Oval View.	Churchgate Reclamation.
56	Flat No. 3, "The Beacon"	Do.
57	Flat No. 405, "Sea Croft"	Wedehouse Rd., Colaba.
58	1st Floor flat, "Samundra Trang"	Cadell Rd. Mahim.
59	Flat No. 5, Ravindra Mansion	Ch' gate Reclamation.
60	Prospect Lodge	Altamont Road.

S. No.	Name of Property	Location
61	Prospect Annexe	Altamont Road.
62	Prospect Lodge (small)	Do.
63	Lincoln Lodge	Do.
64	Lincoln Lodge (Annexe)	Do.
65	Baker's Bungalow	Do.
66	Raghavji Building	Do.
67	Flat No. 8 Kay House.	Colaba.
68	Flat No. 7, Javeri Mansion	Ridge Road, Malabar Hill.
69	Flat No. 5, Cleave House	Wodehouse Rd., Colaba.
70	Flat No. 7, Chateau Windsor	Marine Drive.
71	Flat No. 4, Chateau Windsor	Do.
72	Whole Building excluding Shops 'Chateau Windsor'	Do.
73	First floor, "Asian Building"	Churchgate.
74	1st floor flat, "Summer Queen"	Arthur Bunder Road, Colaba.
75	Flat No. 10, Dossa Court, Colaba	Cuffe Parade.
76	V.C.O.'s Club, Brabourne stadium	Churchgate.
77	Flat No. 6, Hussain Manor	Warden Road.
78	Flat No. 14, "Rupa Yatan"	Marine Drive.
79	Flat No. 17, Maskati Court	Queen's Road.
80	Flat No. 9, Jyoti Sadan	Marine Drive.
81	Marble Villa, Warden Road	Cumballa Hill.
82	Flat No. 25, Corner House	Shivaji Park, Dadar.
83	46 Bhimriwala Building	Worli.
84	Patil's Bungalow Lady Jamshedji Road	Dadar.
85	Godown No. 163 Sassoon Dock	Colaba.
86	Godown No. 164, Sassoon Dock	Do.
87	"Goolshan"	Pedder Road.
88	4th floor, "Mustafa Building"	Sir P.M. Rd., Fort.
89	Satar Sea View	Chowpatty.
90	Flat No. 11, Bhilika House	Ch'gate Reclamation.
91	"Flower Mead", Warden Road	Cumballa Hill.
92	Room No. 18, Central Ice & Cold Storage	Saboo Siddique Road.
93	Bombay Cotton Mills Godown C(i)	Kalachowky.
94	4th & 5th floors, New India Assurance Building	Esplanade Road.
95	Ground floor Flat, "Mithi Lodge"	Colaba.
96	Godown No. 169-170, Sassoon Dock	Colaba.
97	Flat No. 5, "Shalimar"	Marine Drive.
98	Flat No. 2, "Bhagwan Mansion"	Dhobi Talao.
99	Flat No. 22, "Shanti Kutir"	Marine Drive.
100	Flat No. 4, "Horizon View"	Churchgate, Reclamation.
101	No. 66, Walkeshwar Road	Malabar Hill.
102	Flat No. 5, "Queen's Mansion"	Boston Rd., Fort.
103	Flat No. 13, "Solanki Sadan"	Sion Road.
104	Terrace Flat, "Eddoe House"	Pedder Road.
105	Flat No. 4, "Gulbahar"	Dhobi Talao.
106	Flat No. 6, "Prem Court"	Ch'gate Reclamation.
107	1st floor flat, "Dhun Mahal"	Garden Road, Colaba.
108	Grd. Floor Flat, "Hamilton Bldg."	Fort.
109	Flat No. 3, "Sea Side"	Colaba.
110	Flat No. 17, "Marine House"	Marine Lines.
111	Flat No. 10, "Habib Park"	Byculla.
112	"No. 15, "	Do.
113	"No. 24, "	Do.
114	"No. 33, "	Do.
115	"No. 34, "	Do.
116	Bipin Silk Mills	Dadar.
117	Flat No. 306, "Silverton"	Colaba.
118	Plot: "P" Amarchand Mansion"	Mayo Road Fort.
119	Flat No. 13, "Zainab Manzil"	Ch'gate, Reclamation.
120	Flat No. 2A, "Connaught Mansions"	Colaba.
121	36, 61 & 72, Great Western Building	Fort.
122	Flat No. 6, "Podar Mansion"	Marine Drive.
123	Flat No. 16, "Shanti Kutir"	Do.

S. No.	Name of Property	Location
124	Wakefield House, 1st floor, Room No. 6	Ballard Estate.
125	" " " Room No. 2-A
126	" " " Room No. 6-B
127	" " " Room No. 9
128	" " " Room No. 7-A
129	" " " Room No. 7
130	" " " Room No. 5
131	" " " Room No. 3	Do.
132	" " " Room No. 1-A
133	" " " Room No. 3-A
134	Mario's Restaurant	Rampart Row Fort.
135	5th floor "Winston House"	Ch'gate Reclamation.
136	Terrace flat, "Kali Lodge"	Garden Rd., Colaba.
137	"Ewart House"	Fort.
138	"Wakefield House" 1st floor (Part).	Ballard Estate.
139	Flat on 3rd floor, "Dil Pazir"	Warden Road.
140	2nd floor flat, "Oomer Mansion"	Do.
141	Flat No. 7, "Malabar Court"	Ridge Rd., Malabar Hill.
142	Flat No. 8 & Terrace flat, "Malabar Court"	Do.
143	Flat No. 3, "Javeri Mansion"	Do.
144	Bombay Bar Gymkhana	Fort.
145	"Rasik Niwas"	Marine Drive.
146	No. 76, Marine Drive (Block of flats)	Do.
147	"Empress Court" Grd. floor flat	Queen's Road.
148	"Empress Court" 5th floor flat	Do.
149	Flat No. 2, "Earl's Court"	Marine Drive.
150	2 Rooms, "Khatau Bhuvan"	Colaba.
151	No. 77, Marine Drive	Marine Drive.
152	No. 78, Marine Drive	Do.
153	4th floor, "Amar Building"	Sir P. M. Road Fort.
154	Flat No. 2, "Palm Court"	Ch'gate Reclamation
155	Flat on Regal Theatre Building	Apollo Bunder.
156	Flat No. 1, "Western Breeze"	Colaba.
157	3rd floor, "Contractor Bldg."	Ballard Estate.
158	First floor, "Farnham House"	Colaba.
159	Grd. floor, "Palitana House"	Malabar Hill.
160	Flat No. 8-A, "Patel Manzil"	Nepean Sea Road.
161	Flat No. 20, "Habib Court"	Colaba.
162	1st floor flat, "Sater Villa"	Oomer Park, Warden Road.
163	No. 84, Nepean Sea Road	Nepean Sea Road.
164	Shamsher Printing Press	Sion Road.
165	4th floor, "Karim Court"	Colaba.
166	3rd floor, "Mustafa Building"	Sir P. M. Road, Fort.
167	Pure Products, Sion Road	Sion.
168	Flat No. 5, "York House"	Henry Road, Colaba.
169	Shed No. 163-166, Sassoon Dock	Colaba.
170	Flat No. 8, "Padma Mansion"	Malabar Hill.
171	Flat No. 1, "Habib Park"	Byculla.
172	"Apollo Chambers"	Apollo Bunder.
173	"Wakefield House" 2nd floor	Ballard Estate.
174	"Lentin Chambers"	Fort.
175	Fort Press Garage	Colaba.
176	Argentina Hotel	Churchgate.
177	Grd. floor flat & shop No. 3 & 142, "Deepak Mahal"	Marine Drive.
178	1st, 2nd & 3rd floors, Hotel Delamar, "Deepak Mahal"	Do.
179	4th and 5th floors, Hotel Barkley Court "Deepak Mahal"	Do.
180	Fredricks Hotel	Apollo Bunder.

S. No.	Name of Property	Location
181	Victoria Mills, Gamdevi	Gamdevi.
182	Flat No. 20, "Firdaus"	Marine Drive.
183	"Brightlands"	Apollo Bunder.
184	"Warden House"	Sir P. M. Rd., Fort.
185	Corn Products Godown	Sassoon Docks, Colaba.
186	Arthur Road Garage (Municipal)	Arthur Road.
187	Godown No. 51(1) 6(a), Bombay Cotton Mills Estate	Kalachowki.
188	The "Anchorage"	Apollo Bunder.
189	New India Assurance Bldg., Ground floor Part	Mahatma Gandhi Road, Fort.
190	Astoria Hotel	Churchgate Reclamation.
191	Two Garages in "Dhunraj Mahal"	Apollo Bunder.
192	"Beverley Court"	Carmichael Road.
193	"Prabhod Dhairya Prasad" Flat No. 10	Sir Bhalchandra Rd., Dadar.
194	Grd. floor, "Bode House"	Colaba.
195	"Marble Hall", Wodehouse Rd.	Colaba.
196	Flat in No. 147, Esplanade Rd.	Fort.
197	Building at No. 9, Bell Lane	Fort
198	Sakina Mansions	Carmichael Rd., Cumballa Hill.
199	2nd floor flat, "Dubash House"	Cadell Rd., Mahim.
200	Flat in Excelsior Theatre Bldg.	Fort.
201	No. 31, Queen's Road	Queen's Road.
202	Flat in "Kumar House"	Sassoon Dock Rd., Colaba.
203	Flat in No. 1, Club Back Road	Byculla.
204	Flat No. 65, "Indra Bhuvan"	Dadar.
205	Flat in "Moti Mahal"	Ch' gate Reclamation.
206	"Construction House"	Ballard Estate.

(c) (i) Details of the 18 (not 12 as stated before) buildings and flats in Bombay City which were derequisitioned during the quarter ending March 1947.

S. No.	Name of Property	Location
1	Flat No. 24, St. James Court	Marine Drive.
2	Flat No. 1, "Brightlands"	Landsdowne Road, Apollo Bunder.
3	"Villa Moderna" (Flats)	Worli.
4	Godown 'G', Sassoon Dock	Colaba.
5	Flat No. 5, "May Fair"	Ch'gate Reclamation.
6	Windsor Hotel	Kumpta Street, Ballard Estate.
7	Ground & First Floors, Kanji Khetsi Wadi	Mint Road, Fort.
8	Maneckji Wadia Building, Ground Floor	Mahatma Gandhi Rd., Fort.
9	Maneckji Wadia Building, 5th Floor (Part)	Do.
10	Flat No. 2, "Bombay View"	Krittridge Rd., Colaba.
11	Grd. Floor Flat, "Wellesley House"	Cooperage, Fort.
12	Samarock Cafe	Colaba Causeway (Colaba).
13	West-half of Godown No. 166, Sassoon Dock	Colaba.
14	Wakefield House, 2nd floor Room 10-D.	Ballard Estate, Fort.
15	Wakefield House, 2nd Floor, Room 2	Do.
16	Wakefield House, 2nd floor, Room 4-E	Do.
17	Garage No. 10, "Raj Mahal"	Ch'gate Reclamation.
18	"Colaba Castle"	Colaba.

(ii) Details of the 8 buildings and flats derequisitioned in Bombay City during the quarter ending June 1947.

S. No.	Name of Property	Location
1	"Contractor Building" Grd. Floor, North	Ballard Estate.
2	"Manekji Wadia Building" remainder portion of 5th Floor.	Mahatma Gandhi Road, Fort.
3	"Haroon Building", Gd. Flr.	Bazar Gate, St., Fort.
4	R.I.N. Hospital, Sewri	Sewri.
5	Dhanraj Mahal, 5th Floor	Apollo Bunder.
6	Godown No. 173, Sassoon Dock, Compartment C-14	Colaba.
7	Godown No. 173, Sassoon Dock, Compartment B-13	Colaba.
8	Flat No. 12, Block 'D', "York House"	Henry Road, Colaba.
9	Portion of 1st Floor, Contractor Building	Ballard Estate.

Sjt. Seth Damodar Swroop's Starred Question No. 806 (a) of 10th March, 1947.

GRADUATES AS 'B' GRADE GUARDS ON E. I. RAILWAY, DURING WAR PERIOD.

(a) The number of graduates appointed as 'B' grade Guards on the East Indian Railway during the war was 86.

Sri V. Gangaraju's Starred Question No. 815 of 10th March, 1947.

TEACHING OF TELUGU IN HIGH AND ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS IN THE BENGAL NAGPUR RAILWAY ZONE

(a) The number of schools on the B. N. Railway are as follows:—

(i) European Schools—

High—1.

Middle—2.

Primary—5.

(ii) Indian Schools—

High—3.

Middle—7.

Primary—16.

(b) Nine.

(c) 585.

(d) Telugu is taught up to Standard III in 5 of the 9 schools referred to in the reply to part (b) and upto Standard II in two of the schools. In the two remaining schools it is taught up to the VIIth and VIth Standards respectively.

(e) In regard to the vernacular language taught in any particular Railway School, railway administrations are guided by the advice and instructions of the educational authorities of the Province in which the school is situated. I am, therefore, bringing the Honourable Member's suggestion to the notice of the B. N. Railway administration with a view to the matter being referred to the Educational authorities of the Provincial Governments concerned.

Babu Ram Narain Singh's Starred Question No. 1401 of 3rd April, 1947.

RUNNING OF PATNA BOGEY FROM CHAIBASA INSTEAD OF JAMSHEDPUR

Only one representation for the extension of the Patna/Tatanagar through carriage to and from Chaibasa has been made to the E. I. Railway. This was made by Mr. S. C. Banerjee, M. L. A., Member Bihar and Orissa Local Advisory Committee. The B. N. and B. I. Railway Administrations have not been able to agree to the suggestion for the following reasons:—

(i) Insufficiency of through traffic.—The amount of through traffic booked from stations between Patna and Asansol on the one hand and Chaibasa on the other is insufficient to justify a through carriage, as will be observed from the following figures of passengers booked and reservations made:—

B. N. Railway.—

From Tatanagar and Chaibasa to Patna and stations via Asansol.

	From	Monthly figures (January 1947)				Daily average
		1st	2nd	Int.	3rd	1st	2nd	Int.	3rd
Tatanagar		15	69	280	422	$\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	9	14
Chaibasa		...	7	18	90	...	$\frac{1}{4}$	$\frac{1}{2}$	3
Total		15	76	298	512	$\frac{1}{2}$	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	9 $\frac{1}{2}$	17

are certain prohibitory orders in force in the Province of Sind regarding removal out of the Province of articles like unsewn woollen piece goods, unlicensed arms and bulk merchandise and random searches had led to periodic discoveries of such goods in the luggage of the evacuees. The Pakistan Government also admitted that abuse of authority by their officials had undoubtedly accrued and would tend to recur while the tension continued, as they recurred on our side of the Frontier.

The result of this exchange of views was that we had the following telegram from our High Commissioner at Karachi on the 17th October, 1947 :—

“Had talk over 'phone with Pakistan Finance Minister Ghulam Mohammad today. Met Khudro at dinner last night. Both promised stringent action for unauthorised searches. Four policemen suspended. Viswanathan visited Keamari harbour and found picture completely changed for the better. Ghulam Mohammad assured me that detained goods are not confiscated but can be taken back by owners.”

It was found, however, that improvement similar to that in Sind was not perceptible in West Punjab and N.W. F. P. To our protest on this point, Pakistan Government replied that no violation of agreement regarding searches in West Punjab or North-West Frontier had come to their notice and in their turn pointed out various cases of searches of Muslim evacuees leaving India.

The Governor of East Punjab has now been informed by the Governor of West Punjab that a directive has been addressed to all Deputy Commissioners in West Punjab by the Chief Secretary to the Government of West Punjab relating to the policy in the matter of searches. Unfortunately the directive was issued more than two months after the actual agreement between the two Dominion Governments and when evacuation of non-Muslims from West Punjab was nearing completion. The following is a copy of the directive supplied by the West Punjab Government :

“I am directed to address you on searches on evacuee camps and convoys. The representatives of the two Dominion Governments have agreed that such searches should not take place. It is the definite policy of the West Punjab Government that this agreement should be fully respected, because otherwise the evacuation of Muslims from the East Punjab will be greatly retarded. You are personally responsible that this policy is strictly adhered to in your district. The word ‘convoy’ of course includes not only road convoys but also trains. The word ‘camp’ bears the same definition as in para. C1 of the revised statement of policy regarding Evacuees and Refugees which was enclosed with my immediate letter No. 1009.H.47/795, dated Lahore the 4th September, 1947, addressed to all Deputy Commissioners.

2. The two Dominions also agreed that the prohibition of these searches is without prejudice to their right to prohibit the bulk transfer of merchandise from the Province. You should, therefore, take steps to prevent the removal of merchandise in bulk (i.e., merchandise in amounts which an ordinary person would not at one time buy retain in a shop) from the West Punjab to Evacuee Camps or Convoys. I am to emphasise, however, that this must not be done by searching Evacuee Camps or Convoys. Action must be taken before the merchandise search before he reaches such a camp or convoy merely because he claims to be an evacuee or says that he is going to the East Punjab. The same applies to removal of controlled articles in such quantities as are prohibited at present, but the rule that this prohibition cannot be enforced by searching camps and convoys also applies to this case”.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh's Starred Question No. 468 of 1st December, 1947.

WIDENING OF OVERBRIDGE AT BADNERA

- (a) It is not considered that the bridge is too narrow for the traffic.
- (b) It is recognised that there may be some inconvenience when there is a rush of traffic but the bridge is not considered dangerous to traffic. Neither has any accident on account of the narrowness of the bridge occurred, nor has any complaint on this score been made upto now.
- (c) There is no proposal for widening the bridge.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mr. Speaker: There is a large number of short notice questions, though the Question Hour is suspended.

DISPOSALS ARTICLES DISPOSED OF ON CREDIT SYSTEM

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister for Industry and Supply be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the articles disposed of under Disposals are on credit system?

(b) If so, within what period a purchaser has to pay the amount due to the Government?

(c) What is the total amount due to Government?

(d) Is it a fact that one single purchaser owes to Government about five crores of rupees?

(e) If not, what is the largest amount due from one single individual?

(f) Are all these monies considered as safe?

(g) What steps Government propose to take to recover these large outstandings?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) and (b). There has been only one case in which Disposals articles were disposed of on credit.

(c) Messrs. Allen Berry Ltd. The total value of the sale was Rs. 5,86,32,500/-. The transaction was concluded between July and September, 1946. The total amount still due to Government is Rs. 1,35,32,500/-.

(d) No, Sir.

(e) Rs. 1,35,32,500/-.

(f) Yes, Sir.

(g) Government have taken suitable security, and consider this a good debt. Payment is being made in regular instalments.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know why an exception was made in the case of Messrs. Allen Berry & Co. to which the Honourable Minister referred and why was it not on a cash down basis?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: As I said, this was done between July and September 1946 when the Caretaker Government was in charge.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Were the parties unable to pay the whole amount?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Apparently that was so.

Shri Khurshed Lal: May I ask the Honourable Minister whether the parties are paying any interest on this?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I believe so.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: May I know the approximate value of the undisposed of goods with the Government?

Mr. Speaker: It does not arise.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know the book value of the amount that was sold to this firm?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I cannot say exactly what the book value is.

Shri Biswanath Das: May I ask whether the disposals purchased by private firms like Allen Berry & Co. include dangerous vehicles and weapons and whether these things are being offered by them for sale to states outside India?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: No, Sir.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: May I know what profit this firm are making on the goods sold to them?

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: The Honourable Minister said that Government have taken suitable security. May I know what kind of security it is?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: There is a Bank which has stood as security.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Which Bank?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I think I had better not mention the name of the Bank as it might create complications. A Bank has stood as security and also the firm of Dalmia Jain. Further the entire stock is mortgaged to us.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: My question has not been answered, Sir. I asked what profits are the firm making on the goods sold to them.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We have no information.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: Are Government aware that for purposes of banking, securities are not accepted from partnerships and members of the joint family?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: This matter was gone into by the previous Government and we have tried to improve matters as far as possible. For the last three months Rs. 20 lakhs per month is being paid.

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya: If the Government are not satisfied with what has been achieved by the previous Government, will they care to reopen the subject?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We have already made some arrangements in this respect.

RETRENCHMENT IN GENERAL HEADQUARTERS

Shri Jaipal Singh (on behalf of Dr. Dharam Prakash): (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Defence be pleased to state whether the Chief Administrative Officer, Supreme Command and India Command after preparing a joint retrenchment list on Saturday, the 29th November, 1947 gave notice to 280 employees of the General Headquarters, on the morning of the 1st December, 1947 at 10 O'Clock that their services were not required after the 30th November, 1947?

(b) If so, on what authority have these people been discharged?

(c) Why was no notice given to these employees some time in advance, when the question of abolition of the Supreme Command had already been decided?

(d) Do Government propose to consider the advisability of withdrawing this notice and terminating the services of these employees with effect from 1st January, 1948 instead of from 1st December, 1947?

(e) If not, will the employees be given one month's pay?

(f) Is it a fact that the staff employed in the General Headquarters have given a notice of their resorting to strike to protest against this action?

(g) Do Government propose to give an assurance that the staff who are discharged from service in future will be given at least two months' notice?

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: (a) The services of 239 temporary employees of Supreme Commander's Headquarters were terminated with effect from the 1st December 1947.

(b) They were discharged in accordance with the retrenchment rules which were framed, in early 1946, in consultation with the Heads of the various Branches of Armed Forces Headquarters, the Financial authorities and representatives of all classes of the staff concerned.

(c) When the Supreme Commander's Headquarters was formed, it was arranged to staff their Headquarters with clerks, etc., who, in pursuance of Government's retrenchment plans and by the length of their service, were due to be discharged with effect from the 1st October, 1947. A list of such personnel was circulated as long ago as the 5th August, 1947. These individuals, therefore, knew that they were due for retrenchment as soon as the Supreme Commander's Headquarters was wound up. It was not possible to give them a month's notice as the final decision to close down the Supreme Commander's Headquarters with effect from the 30th November, 1947 was taken by the Joint Defence Council only on the 8th November 1947, and as some time was required to examine the lists prepared in August to see how many could be absorbed in any existing vacancies in the three Service Headquarters. A month's pay, however, is being paid to these personnel in lieu of notice.

(d) No, Sir, as one month's pay in lieu of notice is being given to all the personnel affected.

(e) Yes, Sir.

(f) No, Sir.

(g) According to rules, only one month's notice or a month's pay in lieu is required to be given. Government do not see any reason to change the rules.

DISPOSAL OF INDIA OFFICE BUILDINGS AND ITS CONTENTS

Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava: (a) Will the Honourable the Prime Minister be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the Government of India have received an invitation from the British Government to send their representatives to London to settle the question of complete transfer of records library, curious objects of arts, jewels and botanical specimens from there to India?

(b) If so, has the invitation been accepted, and have Government decided upon the personnel of the representatives to be sent for the purpose and the time when they are likely to leave India?

(c) What decision, if any, have the Government of India taken upon the policy to be pursued by these representatives in their discussion with the British Government and the representatives of the Pakistan Government?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: (a) and (b). The Government of India have been asked by the United Kingdom Government to discuss with them the whole question of the disposal of the India Office building and its "contents", and that with that view the United Kingdom Government are setting up a fact finding committee to start work on the question of disposal of surveying the "contents" of the India Office. The committee's functions are to be the preparation of a statement of "contents" which they came, the various claims made to the "contents" and the various suggestions for their disposal. The Government of India were invited to send a small party of representatives to London to join this committee. This invitation has been accepted and a tentative selection has been made of Government's representatives on the committee. According to the latest information the committee is likely to meet about the third week of January 1948.

AGREEMENT WITH TATA AIRWAYS

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena (on behalf of Prof. N. G. Ranga): Will the Honourable Minister of Communications be pleased to state;

(a) Whether Government have reached an agreement with the Tata Airways for their participation upto 49 per cent of capital;

(b) Whether Tata Air-ways employ mostly Indian personnel even in the higher fields of pilots;

(c) what control Government have secured over the management and participation in the capital of other Air-ways;

(d) whether it is a fact that most of the personnel in other Air-ways are non-Indians; and

(e) whether Government consider the advisability of seeing that their superior personnel also become Indian and Government secure controlling interest in their capital and management?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: (a) Government have approved broad plans for the formation of a new company called Air-India International Limited for the operation of an air service between India and the United Kingdom. Government will subscribe 49 per cent of the capital of this Company and Air India between 20 and 25 per cent.

(b) The personnel of Air India (the Tata Airline) is almost wholly Indian. Out of about 70 pilots employed by the Company; only two are non-Indians.

(c) Government have not taken any share in the capital of any of the air transport companies in India, nor have they any control over the management. The provisions of the Indian Aircraft Act and the Rules made thereunder give Government adequate power to control the operation of air services, both in the technical and the economic fields.

(d) The majority of the pilots in Indian air transport companies other than Air India, Ltd., are non-Indian.

(e) It is Government's policy to facilitate the employment of Indians in the superior cadres of air transport companies. The question whether Government should secure any share in the capital and management of air companies is under consideration and the policy will be announced at an early date.

Shri Mohan Lal Saksena: May I know what steps have the Government so far taken to give effect to their policy of getting more Indians employed in place of non-Indians?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: Trained personnel are not available in India and a training college is shortly being opened to give training in flying and other operations.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know what percentage of Directors the Government propose to have, or has, in the directorate?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: A final settlement has not yet been reached but I think 50 per cent; Government will appoint half the Directors of the Company.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Will the Managing Director be an appointee of the Government?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: Air India Ltd., are the Managing Agents and the Chairman of the Company will be appointed with the approval of the Government.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: Why is this decision that Government take only 49 per cent of the shares?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: The Government has already reserved its right of lien on another 2 per cent. which they can get transferred at any time, if they so desire.

Shri H. V. Kamath: The Honourable Minister has stated that so far as the Tata Air Lines is concerned the personnel is almost wholly Indian and that among the pilots only two are non-Indians. What about the other staff—ground engineers and the rest of them?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: They are mostly Indians.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I know, Sir, whether any portion of the balance of the share capital is subscribed by the general public?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: Yes.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

NON-REPUDIATION BY GOVERNMENT OF INDIA OF U. P. GOVERNMENT'S DEAL WITH ALL-INDIA SUGAR SYNDICATE, LUCKNOW.

Mr. Speaker: I have received notice of adjournment Motion from Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena. It reads thus:

"That the House do adjourn to discuss a matter of urgent public importance, viz., the failure of the Government of India to repudiate the sugar deal made by the U. P. Government with the All-India Sugar Syndicate, Ltd., Lucknow without prior consultation with it, fixing wholesale ex-factory prices for sugar manufactured in U. P. and Bihar at Rs. 35-7-0 per maund, and purchasing all their present stocks at Rs. 26 per maund which deal is extremely detrimental to national interests."

In my opinion, this matter is not at all urgent for the simple reason that this question was more than amply discussed during the Food Debate, during previous questions and debates and Budget speeches. Further it appears to me that the matter relates only to a Provincial Administration, though I do not know how far it is the responsibility of the Government of India to enforce consultation on the Provincial Government in a matter of this type. I believe it is entirely a question of Provincial administration. If that is true, then of course, this matter is purely a Provincial matter and no Adjournment Motion on this matter can be moved in this House.

SHORT NOTICE QUESTION AND ANSWER

EXEMPTION TO MEMBERS OF CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY FROM PROVISIONS OF ARMS ACT.

Mr. Speaker: Pandit Lakshmi Kanta Maitra being absent his question was not called but it is desirable and the Honourable the Home Member agrees, that that question should be put and answer given. I would allow any Honourable Member to put this Question.

Shri M. S. Aney: Sir, I will put the Question.

(a) Will the Honourable Minister of Home Affairs be pleased to state whether Government are aware of the provisions of (1) (a) in the table attached to schedule (1) under rule 3 of the Indian Arms Rules, 1924 made under section 27 of the Indian Arms Act (XI of 1878) by which the following among other classes of persons, are exempted from the provisions of the Arms Act, namely:

"Members of the Indian Legislature during the tenure of office and for six months thereafter".

(b) In view of the fact that the Constituent Assembly of India has now taken the place of the Indian Legislature referred to in part (a) above, will the exemption from the licensing provisions of the Arms Act continue to apply to the Members of the Constituent Assembly as well?

1796

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [12TH DEC. 1947]

(c) The committee is only of a fact finding nature and will not have anything to do with questions of policy. The idea is that after the committee's work is finished any questions which may arise for decision should be discussed at ministerial level, and only at that stage the question of a policy decision will arise.

Shri H. V. Kamath: Will our Government representatives be officials or non-officials?

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru: I am not quite sure whether all will be officials: there will perhaps be officials and non-officials, and they will all be experts.

DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN SERVICEABLE AEROPLANES AS SCRAP

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: (a) Will the Honourable Minister of Industry and Supply be pleased to state with reference to the answer to a supplementary question arising out of starred question No. 474 asked on the 1st December, 1947 regarding the disposal of aeroplanes, whether Government propose to make a statement as to the total number of planes declared as unserviceable and subsequently found to be serviceable?

(b) What is the total amount involved in connection with these planes, their book values, real values and the value to have been realised if sold as scrap?

(c) Are there any other articles also under disposal discovered as serviceable and declared as unserviceable by the officials concerned?

(d) Who is responsible for making the preliminary report regarding these planes and what steps have Government taken or propose to take against the official or officials concerned?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: (a) In 1946 about 80 surplus Dakotas suffered damage in a storm at Panagarh. The Director General of Civil Aviation (who is not under my Ministry) considered that it would be worth while to repair only 4 or 5 of the damaged machines as he considered that (a) repairs would be uneconomical in view of the extensive damage and (b) major components would be difficult to find. He considered that the rest of the damaged Dakotas were fit to be used only for purposes of cannibalisation. Recently an inspection has been carried out by representatives of the Director General of Civil Aviation, Air Headquarters, India, and Tata Aircraft Ltd. They have recommended that 44 of the machines should be made flyable, as compared with the previous recommendation that only 4 or 5 should be made flyable.

Apart from the Dakotas I have mentioned, there were also 70 Curtis Commandos, which is a freight carrying type. These were all condemned by the Director General of Civil Aviation as being not fit for use. The inspection team which I have already mentioned has now recommended that 18 of these Curtis Commandos can be put into service after inspection.

(b) The book values of the Dakotas range from 115,000 dollars to 130,000 dollars. The present sale value in flyable condition is about Rs. 35,000/-. Their cannibalisation value would be about Rs. 10,000/-.

The book values of the Curtis Commandos are 245,000 dollars and 350,000 dollars; there are two types. No sale value in flyable condition has been fixed, but their scrap value would be about Rs. 3,500/-.

(c) No, Sir.

(d) The matter is under enquiry.

Shri H. V. Kamath: The Honourable Minister referred to something like cannibalization. What exactly is the meaning of that?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: That means it has to be broken up, and parts utilised as spare parts.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Who was the Director-General of Civil Aviation?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: I do not know exactly who was the Director-General of Civil Aviation at that time. I require notice of that question. I can send the information to the Honourable Member if he so desires.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh: Has he been changed now?

The Honourable Mr. Rafi Ahmad Kidwai: Yes, we have got a new Director-General.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: May I know whether Government is serious in taking action against the officials concerned? What action is Government taking?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I have said that the matter is under enquiry. One has left service and others are still in service. The matter is under investigation.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Have the Government considered that auction system is better than sales by tender?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Sales by tender are encouraged. That is the main policy which is pursued.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa: Are sealed tenders invited and opened in the presence of tenderers?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: Wherever possible.

Shri Deshbandhu Gupta: In view of the disclosures, will the Honourable Minister consider the desirability of going into the question of motor vehicles because there seems to be a good deal of scandal about motor vehicles of (a) (b) and (c) types. They are just classified according to the whim of the person who gets them.

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We shall look into the matter, and if any further information can be supplied, I shall welcome it.

Shri Raj Krishna Bose: Is the officer who has left service receiving any pension or is he absolutely beyond the reach of Government?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: I do not know whether he is receiving any pension.

Shri Biswanath Das: I believe the Honourable Minister stated that there are certain officials who have retired from service. Whether they have retired or not, will the Honourable Minister please consider the question of taking action in respect of the pensions of such officials if they were found so negligent?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: They have mostly gone to Pakistan.

Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: May I know if the Government would stop the disposal of new vehicles that may not have been still disposed of?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: So far as aeroplanes are concerned, none can be disposed of without the previous specific sanction of Government.

Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: Is it the intention of Government to take steps that no new vehicles may be sold and that used vehicles may only be sold after due inspection, so that scandals associated with disposals of aeroplanes may not be repeated in the case of disposals of these motor vehicles also?

The Honourable Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee: We have taken necessary precautions.

(c) If the answer to part (b) above be in the affirmative, do Government propose to make a statement so as to remove all doubts and uncertainties on the question?

(d) Do Government propose to issue a revised Departmental Notification to the same effect at an early date?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: (a) Yes.

(b) Yes.

(c) and (d). In view of my answer to clause (b), no doubt or uncertainty need arise and instructions will issue to continue the exemption from the provisions of the Arms Act in favour of members of the Constituent Assembly.

Shri Balkrishna Sharma: May I know if the Government of India contemplate amending the Arms Act to the effect that the members of the Provincial Legislatures also may be exempted from the operation of the arms licence?

Mr. Speaker: That does not arise out of the present question, which deals with certain existing exemptions.

Shri K. Santhanam: May I ask if this exemption will be made effective by actually providing cartridges and other arms to the Members?

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: So far as Government is concerned, they will give necessary facilities to make it effective, but it will depend upon the members themselves to use the arms effectively.

Lala Deshbandhu Gupta: Is the Honourable Minister aware that during the last session of the Central Assembly he had given an assurance that Government would help in getting the requirements of Members of the House in respect of fire arms? In spite of that fire arms have not been available and I myself applied for such a facility and was never granted.

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel: It was not proved to the satisfaction of the Government that the Member in question would be able to use arms effectively.

NOTIFICATIONS UNDER CENTRAL EXCISES AND SALT ACT, 1944— LAID ON THE TABLE

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Sir, I lay on the table a copy of the following notifications in accordance with Section 38 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944, namely:

- (1) Central Excises Notification No. 2, dated the 29th March 1947,
- (2) Central Excises Notification No. 8, dated the 5th April 1947,
- (3) Central Excises Notification No. 10, dated the 12th April 1947,
- (4) Central Excises Notification No. 13, dated the 17th May 1947,
- (5) Central Excises Notification No. 14, dated the 24th May 1947,
- (6) Central Excises Notification No. 16, dated the 12th July 1947,
- (7) Central Excises Notification No. 18, dated the 9th August 1947,
- (8) Central Excises Notification No. 20, dated the 9th August 1947,
- (9) Central Excises Notification No. 21, dated the 11th August 1947,
- (10) Central Excises Notification No. 22, dated the 23rd August 1947,
- (11) Central Excises Notification No. 29, dated the 18th October 1947,
- (12) Central Excises Notification No. 30, dated the 29th October 1947 and
- (13) Salt Notification No. 3, dated the 29th March 1947.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 29th March 1947

No. 2.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excise and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that with effect from the 1st April, 1947, the following further amendments shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely:—

In the said Rules—

(1) in clause (ii) of rule 2—

(a) for sub-clause (a) the following sub-clause shall be substituted, namely:—

"(a) in the Provinces of Sind and Baluchistan, the Collector of Central Excise, Karachi."

(b) in sub-clause (d), the word "Assam" shall be omitted;

(c) in sub-clause (f), the word "Baluchistan" shall be omitted;

(d) after sub-clause (f), the following sub-clause shall be inserted, namely:—

"(g) in the Province of Assam, the Collector of Central Excise, Shilong."

(2) In Appendix III, in item (iii) under the heading "Sections 14 and 21" the words "other than the Province of Sind" shall be omitted.

W. A. ROSE, Under Secy.

The Chief Officer, Statistics and Intelligence, Branch.

The Political and External Affairs Departments.

The Director of Commercial Intelligence for Publication in the Indian Trade Journal.

By order, etc.,

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secretary to the Govt. of India.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 5th April, 1947

No. 8.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 6 and 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendments shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely:—

1. For rule 27 of the said Rules, the following Rule shall be substituted, namely:—

"27. Deposit of products in curer's bonded storeroom:

(1) If the curer wishes to deposit unmanufactured products in a private bonded storeroom on his own premises, he shall apply for a license in the proper form to the Collector who may require him to furnish a bond in the proper form in such sum and under such conditions as the Collector approves, binding himself to pay the duty due on the goods so deposited and for the due observance of the terms, conditions and requirements of the Act and these Rules and of any orders made thereunder in respect of such goods.

(2) The unmanufactured products to be deposited in the storeroom shall be produced before the proper officer and weighed in his presence. The licensee shall enter in a register in the proper form, or in such other form as the Collector may in any particular case allow, full details of all products received into the storeroom or removed therefrom.

(3) The unmanufactured products deposited in the storeroom, shall, not later than the thirtieth day of June in the year following that in which they were harvested, be cleared on payment of duty, or deposited in a public warehouse, appointed for the storage of such products, or sold to a wholesale dealer possessing a private warehouse licensed for the storage of such products."

II. In Appendix I to the said Rules—

(1) in the Table under the heading 'Forms'—

(a) After entry 25, the following entry shall be inserted, namely—

25-A	for a curer's private bonded storeroom	27	B 4(A)
(b) For the heading "WAREHOUSE REGISTER (IN THREE PARTS)", and entries 80 and 81, the following heading and entries shall be substituted respectively, namely:—
"REGISTER FOR WAREHOUSES AND CURERS' STOREROOM" and
"80	for a public bonded warehouse	168	W.R.G. 1
81	for a private bonded warehouse	173	W.R.G. 2
81-A	for a curer's private bonded storeroom	27	W.R.G. 3."

(2) After Form B-4 (Sec.), the following form shall be inserted, namely—
"Central Excises Services No. 25-A."

Range.....
Circle.....

FORM B-4 (A)

Bond to be entered into by the licensee of a curers' private bonded storeroom.

(Rule 27)

(Delete the letters and words not applicable).

I/We _____ am _____ residing at _____ (hereinafter called the obligor(s)) _____ are jointly and severally bound to the Governor General in Council in the sum of _____ rupees to be paid to the Governor General in Council for which payment _____ bind myself/ourselves and my/our legal representatives.

The above bounden obligor(s) being the licensee of the _____ storeroom at _____ appointed by the Collector of Central Excise at _____ (hereinafter called the Collector) as a curer's private bonded storeroom and registered in the Central Excise Records as No. _____ dated _____ for the storage of _____

The condition of this bond is that if the obligor(s) and his/their legal representatives shall observe all the provisions of the Central Excise Rules, 1944 to be observed in respect of a curer's private bonded storeroom;

And if all dues, whether duty or other lawful charges which shall be demandable on the goods admitted to this storeroom as shown by the records of the proper officer of Central Excises, be duly paid into the treasury to the account of the Collector within ten days of the date of demand thereof being made in writing by the said officer of Central Excises;

This obligation shall be void.

Otherwise and on breach or failure in the performance of any part of this condition, the same shall be in full force.

I/We declare that this bond is given under the orders of the Central Government for the performance of an act in which the public are interested.

Signature(s) of obligor(s)

Place
Date

Witnesses (1) _____ Address (1) _____ Occupation (1) _____
Witnesses (2) _____ Address (2) _____ Occupation (2) _____
Accepted by me this _____ day of _____ 19 _____
Collector of Central Excise."

(3) After Form W.R.G. 2 (Part III), the following form shall be inserted, namely—
"Central Excise Series No. 31-A"

Range.....
Circle.....

FORM W. R. G. 3

Register for Curer's Private Bonded Storeroom (Rule 27).

Name and address of licensee..... Commodity.....
Village..... Licence No.....

Date	Receipts		Processing
	No. of packages, bundles, skeins, or strands	Net weight in lbs. or standard maunds of each kind of package	Nature of processing during storage	No. of packages etc., taken for processing	Net weight in lbs. or standard maunds of packages in column 5	Total No. of packages, etc., after processing and description of contents of each lot	Total net weight in lbs. or standard maunds of processed commodity according to lots in column 7
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8

NOTIFICATIONS UNDER CENTRAL EXCISES AND SALT ACT, 1944

1803

Issues				Balance
Person to whom sold	Number and date of		No. of packages sold and description of contents of each lot.	Net weight in lbs. or standard maunds according to contents as in column 13	No. of packages etc.	Net weight in lbs. or standard maunds according to contents	Remarks
	Name and address.	Licence No.
9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16

W. A. Rose, Under Secy.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA
FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 12th April, 1947

No. 10.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendment shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely—

In sub-rule (1) of rule 213 of the said Rules, for the words "An appeal against an order or decision of an Assistant Collector shall lie to the Collector to whom such Assistant Collector is subordinate," the words "An appeal against an order or decision of an officer not above the rank of an Assistant Collector shall lie to the Collector to whom such officer is subordinate." shall be substituted.

W. A. ROSE, Under Secy.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA
FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 17th May, 1947

No. 13.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendment shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely—

In sub-rule (1) of rule 213 of the said Rules, for the words "Assistant Collector" the words "Deputy Collector" shall be substituted.

W. A. ROSE,
Under Secretary to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA
FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 24th May, 1947

No. 14.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendment shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely—

In the Table set forth in sub-rule (2) of rule 176 of the said Rules, in item 4 for words "of such products" against entry (f), the following shall be substituted, namely—

"of such products during the 12 months preceding the 30th day of September prior to the year for which the licence is to be granted."

W. A. ROSE,
Under Secretary to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 12th July 1947

No. 16.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendments shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely—

1. In rule 7, after the word 'produces' the word 'cures' shall be inserted.
2. In rule 9—
 - (a) after the word 'produced' the word 'cured' shall be inserted.
 - (b) in the second proviso, after the word 'production' the word 'curing' shall be inserted.
3. In rule 25, the following shall be omitted, namely—
 "If the duty is not within the prescribed period, the products maw, without prejudice to the provisions of section 10 of the Act, be confiscated."

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secretary to the Govt. of India.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION) (INDIA)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 9th August 1947

No. 18.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendment shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely:—

In rule 168 of the said Rules, after the words "register in the proper Form" the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"or in such other manner as the Collector may in any particular case allow."

W. A. ROSE, Under Secy.

No. 18/C. No. 20/20-CXT/46.

Copy forwarded to—

- All Collectors of Central Excise.
- The Inspectorate of Customs and Central Excise.
- The Chief Officer, Statistics and Intelligence Branch.
- The Director General, Commercial Intelligence and Statistics, for publication in the Income-tax Journal.

By order, etc.,

W. A. ROSE,

* Under Secretary to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 9th August 1947

No. 20.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendment shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely:—

For rule 174 of the said Rules, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"174. Persons requiring a licence.—Every manufacturer, trader, dealer, or person herein after mentioned, shall be required to take out a licence and shall not conduct his business in regard to such goods otherwise than by the authority, and subject to the terms and conditions of a licence granted by a duly authorised officer in the proper Form:—

(1) Matches.—Manufacturers of matches, and of splints and veneers;

(2) Unmanufactured products.—Curers; brokers, commission agents and wholesale dealers who purchase such products from curers; all brokers, commission agents and wholesale dealers doing business in unmanufactured tobacco; all holders of private bonded storerooms or warehouses;

(3) Other excisable goods except salt.

(a) Manufacturers; and

(b) Persons using excisable goods, without payment of duty for special industrial purposes.

[NOTE.—The provisions relating to the licensing of manufacture of salt and saltpetre are set out in Chapter VI of these Rules and in the Rules issued in North-Eastern India, North Western India, Bombay and Madras respectively in regard to salt]."

W. A. ROSE, Under Secy.

No. 20/C. No. 2/4-CX/47.

Copy forwarded to—

- All Collectors of Central Excise.
- The Inspectorate of Customs and Central Excises.
- The Director of Commercial Intelligence for publication in the Indian Trade Journal.
- The Chief Officer, Statistics and Intelligence.

By order, etc.,

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 11th August, 1947.

No. 21.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that with effect from the 9th August, 1947, the following further amendments shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely:—

In the said Rules, in clause (ii) of rule 2—

(a) for sub-clauses (d), (e), (f) and (g), the following sub-clauses shall be substituted namely—

"(d) in the provinces of Bihar and Orissa and the following districts of Bengal, namely, Chittagong Hill Tracts, 24 Parganas, Calcutta, Khulna, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Midnapore, Hoogly and Howrah, the Collector of Central Excise, Calcutta.

(e) in the districts of Bengal not specified in sub-clause (d), and the district of Sylhet in the province of Assam, the Collector of Central Excise, Chittagong;

- (f) in the United Provinces, Delhi, Ajmer-Merwara and the following districts of Punjab, namely Amritsar, Kangra, Hoshiarpur, Jullundur, Ambala, Rohtak, Hissar, Gurgaon, Simla, Ferozepur, Karnal and Ludhiana, the Collector of Central Excise, Allahabad;
- (g) in the North-West Frontier Province and the districts of the Punjab not specified in sub-clause (f), the Collector of Central Excise, Lahore;
- (h) in the Province of Assam other than the district of Sylhet, the Collector of Central Excise, Shillong."

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 23rd August 1947.

No. 22.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendments shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely—

In the said Rules, for clause (ii) of Rule 2, the following shall be substituted, namely—

"(ii) 'Collector' means—

- (a) in the province of Bombay and in the Central Provinces and Berar, the Collector of Central Excise, Bombay.
- (b) in the provinces of Madras and Coorg, the Collector of Central Excise, Madras;
- (c) in the provinces of West Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, the Collector of Central Excise, Calcutta;
- (d) in the United Provinces, East Punjab, Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara, the Collector of Central Excise, Allahabad;
- (e) in the province of Assam, the Collector of Central Excise, Shillong;
- and includes any officer specially authorised under rule 4 or 5 to exercise throughout a province, or any specified area therein, all or any of the powers of a Collector under these rules."

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

MINISTRY OF FINANCE (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 18th October 1947

No. 29.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendment shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944 namely:—

In rule 174 of the said Rules for the words "and of splints and veneers" the words "and of splints, veneers and composition for match heads" shall be substituted.

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

No. 29/C. No. 2/4/CX/47.

Copy forwarded to:—

All Collectors of Central Excise.

The Inspectorate of Customs and Central Excises.

The Chief Officer, Statistics and Intelligence Branch.

The Director of Commercial Intelligence for publication in the Indian Trade Journal.

By order, etc.,

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

MINISTRY OF FINANCE (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

CENTRAL EXCISES

New Delhi, the 29th October 1947

No. 30.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to direct that the following further amendment shall be made in the Central Excise Rules, 1944, namely:—

In the proviso to rule 12 of the said Rules:

(i) to clause (b), the word "or" shall be added; and

(ii) after clause (b) the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

"(c) the goods are exported to Pakistan".

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

No. 30/C. No. 33/69-CX/47

The Collectors of Central Excise, Allahabad/Bombay/Calcutta/Madras/Shillong.

The Inspectorate of Customs and Central Excises.

The Chief Officer, Statistics and Intelligence Branch.

Ministry of States, Government of India.

Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations.

Ministry of Finance (Revenue Division), Government of Pakistan, Karachi.

The Director of Commercial Intelligence for publication in the Indian Trade Journal.

By order, etc.,

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

FINANCE DEPARTMENT (REVENUE DIVISION)

NOTIFICATION

SALT

New Delhi, the 29th March, 1947

No. 3.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 37 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (I of 1944), the Central Government is pleased to make the following rule:—

"On and from the 1st April 1947, no salt shall be removed from the place of manufacture or production except upon payment of charges at the rates specified in the following Schedule. Such charges shall be payable in addition to any other charges due or leviable on such salt under the Central Excise Rules 1944.

SCHEDULE

If removed from a licensed salt works or factory.	2 annas per standard maund
If removed from any salt factory or source administered by the Central Government.	3½ annas per standard maund.
If removed from any salt works, factory or source for despatch by sea to the ports of Calcutta or Chittagong.	Nil

W. A. ROSE,

Under Secy. to the Govt. of India.

STATEMENT ON SOUTH AFRICA

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable the Prime Minister to make a statement regarding South Africa.

The Honourable Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru (Prime Minister and Leader of the House): Sir, I seek the indulgence of the House to make a statement on a subject which is of deep interest to the House and the country.

The House is aware of the text of the resolution adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations on the 8th December, 1946, on the treatment of Indians in South Africa. To refresh the memory of Honourable Members, I would quote the substantive part of the resolution:

"THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

IS OF THE OPINION that the treatment of Indians in the Union should be in conformity with the international obligations under the agreements concluded between the two Governments and the relevant provisions of the Charter; and,

THEREFORE REQUESTS the two Governments to report at the next session of the General Assembly the measures adopted to this effect."

The House is also aware of the correspondence which took place between me and Field-Marshal Smuts with a view to giving effect to this resolution. The Prime Minister of South Africa was insistent that, before any negotiations could take place between the two Governments, the so-called sanctions which India had applied against South Africa, namely the severance of trade relations between the two countries, should be withdrawn and the High Commissioner for India should return to the Union. We, on our part, while expressing a sincere desire to settle the problem of the treatment of Indians in South Africa by friendly means, expressed our inability either to resume trade relations, or to enter into negotiations, except on the basis of the Assembly resolution of 1946.

2. Since no agreed basis for discussion between the two Governments could be reached as a result of this correspondence, we instructed our Delegation to the Second Session of the United Nations Assembly, which commenced in New York last September, to work for a resolution which, after expressing the regret of the Assembly at the failure of South Africa to accept last year's resolution as a basis of settlement by negotiation with the Government of India, would require South Africa to enter into negotiations with this country on the aforesaid basis and would request both India and South Africa to report the result to the Security Council not later than three months from the end of the Assembly session. Subject to this broad directive, the Delegation was given discretion to adjust the exact terms of the resolution to the exigencies of the atmosphere and the mood of the Assembly.

3. After sounding opinion amongst other Delegations, the Indian Delegation presented a resolution, of which the operative part ran as follows:

"The General Assembly, having considered the reports submitted by the Government of India and by the Government of the Union of South Africa pursuant to the aforesaid resolution;

"Expresses its regret at the refusal by the Government of South Africa to accept implementation of the resolution of the General Assembly dated December 8, 1946, as a basis of discussion with the Government of India and of its failure to take any other steps for such implementation;

"Reaffirms its resolution dated December 8, 1946;

"Requests the two Governments to enter into discussions at a round table Conference on the basis of that resolution without any further delay and to invite the Government of Pakistan to take part in such discussions;

"Requests that the result of such discussions be reported by the Governments of South Africa and India to the Secretary-General of U. N. O. who shall, from time to time, make inquiries from them, and

"Submit a report on the action taken on this resolution by the two Governments to this Assembly at its next session."

(1808)

STATEMENT ON SOUTH AFRICA

1809

In the course of the discussion of this resolution by the Political Committee, the Delegations of many countries who had supported India's cause during the 1946 debate urged that the part of our resolution which invited the Assembly "to express its regret at the refusal by the Government of South Africa to accept the implementation of the resolution of the General Assembly dated December 8th, 1946, as a basis of discussion with the Government of India and of its failure to take any other steps for such implementation" was tantamount to a condemnation of South Africa and likely to be regarded as evidence of a desire on the part of India to humiliate the South African Union. Since our purpose was not to humiliate the Union Government or show any spirit of vindictiveness but only to work for a settlement which would safeguard Indian interests, the Delegation, with our approval, agreed to accept an amendment, moved by the Mexican Delegation, which had the effect of deleting the words which I have just quoted. With this amendment, the resolution was adopted by the Committee by 29 votes against 16. On the 20th November, the same resolution was placed before the Assembly. 31 countries voted for the resolution and 19 against it. The resolution runs as follows:

"THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

HAVING CONSIDERED the reports submitted by the Government of India and the Government of the Union of South Africa pursuant to the aforesaid resolution;

REAFFIRMS its resolution, dated 8th December, 1946;

REQUESTS the two Governments to enter into discussions at a Round Table Conference on the basis of that resolution without any further delay and to invite the Government of Pakistan to take part in such discussions;

REQUESTS that the result of such discussions be reported by the Governments of the Union of South Africa and India to the Secretary-General of the United Nations, who shall, from time to time, make enquiries from them and submit a report on the action taken on this resolution by the two Governments to the Assembly at its next session."

4. The majority in favour of this resolution, though substantial, fell short of the requisite two-thirds figure by three. According to the rules of the Assembly which require a two-thirds majority for all resolutions on important subjects, this year's resolution is not binding. Its moral importance, however, is in no way diminished by the shortfall of three votes in the requisite two-thirds majority. In any case, we are advised that last year's resolution remains operative. I should like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to all those countries which supported us on this occasion and to pay a tribute to our own delegation for the ability with which they pressed India's case. The outcome of debate on issues such as that of the treatment of Indians in South Africa is to be measured not in terms of arithmetic but the intrinsic merit of the cause and the support of enlightened world opinion for that cause. Judged by these tests, the stand taken by the Government of India at the last session of the Assembly has been fully vindicated. In supporting the cause of Indians in South Africa, we have worked not only for the rights of people of our own race but for the rights of oppressed people throughout the world. That attitude we are determined to maintain, in the firm faith that our cause is right and that ultimately right will prevail.

5. The House will not expect me, so soon after the conclusion of the Assembly session, to make any definite announcement as to our future course of action in this matter. Government must have time to study developments and to chart their future course in the light of such developments, particularly in the light of the views of those Indians in South Africa who, in order to uphold the honour of their race, have undergone and still are undergoing heavy sacrifices. All that I can do now is to give the House the assurance that we shall not falter either in our resolve to secure justice for Indians in South Africa or in our desire to achieve this object by methods which are consistent with the letter and the spirit of the Charter of the United Nations.

STATEMENT ON PARTITION ISSUES BETWEEN INDIA AND PAKISTAN

The Honourable Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (Minister for Home Affairs, Information and Broadcasting and the States): Sir, with your permission, I should like to make before the House a detailed statement on partition issues between the two Dominions which I promised on the 9th December.

As soon as the principle of partition was accepted by the major political parties, the Interim Government appointed a Special Committee of the Cabinet to examine the administrative consequences of partition and to take necessary steps for the transfer of power to the two Dominions. This Committee was composed, at the outset, of H.E. the Governor General, Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan, Sardar Abdur Rab Nishtar, Dr. Rajendra Prasad and myself. From the 1st of July this Special Committee of the Cabinet was replaced by the Partition Council, again with H.E. the Governor General as the Chairman, and two representatives each of the Indian National Congress and the Muslim League as the parties which would be called upon to form the Dominion Governments after partition. Dr. Rajendra Prasad and myself with Mr. C. Rajagopalachari as alternate represented the Congress while Mr. Jinnah and Mr. Liaquat Ali Khan with Sardar Abdur Rab Nishtar as alternate represented the Muslim League. The Cabinet Committee—later the Partition Council—worked through a Steering Committee composed of two officers—Mr. H. M. Patel and Mr. Mohamad Ali. In addition there were appointed 10 Expert Committees which among them covered the whole field of administration and dealt with important and varied subjects, such as division of the Armed Forces, of the existing administrative organisation, of records, of personnel, and of assets and liabilities; problems relating to currency and coinage, domicile and nationality, trade and economic controls, central revenues and budget and accounts. It was the function of the Steering Committee to ensure that concrete proposals were evolved within the given time by these Expert Committees, adequately dovetailing into each other to form a comprehensive whole, and to present these proposals to the Partition Council for decision, and after obtaining these decisions to take steps wherever necessary for implementing them.

The Partition Council was continued after the 15th of August by an Order issued by the Governor General under the Indian Independence Act, 1947. Its composition was revised, two members being drawn from each of the Dominion Cabinets; India's representatives continued to be Dr. Rajendra Prasad and myself, Pakistan being represented by such Ministers as were able to attend the meetings which were held in Delhi.

2. Expert Committees commenced investigations in the third week of June and were called upon to submit their reports within a month. Over a considerable area the Committees were able to make agreed recommendations, while the Steering Committee, which considered the reports in the first instance was successful in reaching agreement on the bulk of the unsettled points. The field of differences was further reduced by the Partition Council, leaving over on the 15th August only a few important matters to be settled by the Arbitral Tribunal. The Partition Council had not altogether given up hopes of an agreed solution being found by discussion, and its confidence in this respect has been fully justified.

3. It will give the House some idea of the work of these Expert Committees if I review very briefly—indeed, it must, I fear, be a rather sketchy review—the more important of the numerous problems for which the Partition Council had to find solutions.

4. Perhaps the first important problem set to us was to reconstitute the personnel of the Civil machinery of the undivided Government of India into two cadres to serve the two Dominion Governments. For this purpose it was decided to give every Government servant an opportunity to select the Government he wished to serve and also to say whether he wished to have an opportunity to reconsider his choice within a period of six months from the day of transfer of power. Separate cadres were then drawn up on the basis of replies received but actual transfers had necessarily to be arranged over a period of time. To enable the new Government to function effectively, provision was made on an agreed basis for the supply to Pakistan of office equipment, furniture, stationery etc., belonging to the old Government of India. It was also decided to make over to the new Government records and documents of exclusive concern to them and to duplicate those of common interest.

5. It was no easy task to list and divide the assets of the then Central Government, but when the problem was examined in detail by the departmental Sub-Committees of the Expert Committee on Assets and Liabilities there was found a wide measure of agreement regarding the allocation of the fixed assets on a territorial basis. The division of the railways, telegraph lines, the post offices, the mints, etc., was decided in this manner. Movable stores obviously could not be shared on this basis, and the basis adopted varied with the type of stores. Thus, the railway rolling stock was divided on the basis of mileage cum traffic, while other stores including the postal and telegraph stores were divided on the basis, broadly, of maintenance requirements. Before the 15th of August 1947, agreed decisions had been reached on the division of all fixed assets other than Ordnance factories and of all movable stores except Army stores and stocks of lease-lend silver. No agreement could also be reached on the basis for the division of the cash balances of the old Central Government and the sterling assets of the Reserve Bank of India. Nor was agreement reached as to the share of each Dominion of the old Central Government liabilities, though, as regards the initial responsibility for the liabilities of the old Central Government, it was agreed that India should assume it, subject to Pakistan contributing its share fixed either by agreement between the two Dominions, or if agreement were not possible, as determined by the Arbitral Tribunal.

6. In regard to the Central revenues accruing in the two territories after the 14th August 1947, it was decided by the Partition Council on the report of the Committee on Central revenues that each Dominion would retain the amounts collected in its territory. India agreed, however, to discuss at a later date, if Pakistan so desired, its proposal for pooling and sharing the revenues collected up to the 31st March 1948. Arrangements were also agreed upon for the avoidance of double taxation of income.

7. As regards contracts, certain principles for the allocation of contracts to one or the other Dominion, or for sharing the rights and liabilities arising from them, or for terminating them were evolved, and the contracts of the old Government are being dealt with in accordance with these principles.

8. Complete agreement was reached in the Partition Council over the issues considered in the Committee on Currency and Coinage except the allocation of the Sterling assets held by the Reserve Bank. As Pakistan naturally wished to have its own coinage and currency as soon as possible, India readily agreed to assist in every reasonable way and with that end in view undertook to make available for a period of time a portion of the capacity of the Nasik Security Printing Press and of the Mints at Calcutta and Bombay. Since, however, it would take some time to have the new coins and overprinted notes ready, it was decided that the existing India currency and coinage should remain common to both Dominions up to 31st March 1948 and that the Reserve Bank of India should be the common Currency Authority and the Central Bank for the two Dominions. It was realised, however, that it would take some time before the Pakistan overprinted notes could be issued in sufficient numbers to replace adequately the India notes already in circulation. It was agreed, therefore, that the period from the 1st April 1948 to 30th September 1948 would be treated as a transitional period.

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

and during that period India and Pakistan notes and coins would circulate freely in Pakistan, the India notes and coins being gradually withdrawn. The Reserve Bank of India would of course continue during the transitional period as the common Currency Authority. On the 1st October 1948 Pakistan would take over the management of its own currency and the currency reserve held by the Reserve Bank will be allocated between the two Dominions under the provisions of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947.

9. When the questions relating to trade and economic controls were examined, it was found that the long term policies to be pursued by the two Dominions could only be discussed after the new Governments had had time to examine their respective problems. Meanwhile, it was agreed that until the 31st March 1948 status quo should be maintained as far as possible and modifications in and removal of controls should not be effected except by consultation between the two Dominions. It was decided that during the interim period terminating on 29th February 1948—

- (a) no customs barriers should be raised between the two Dominions;
- (b) existing import and export policies should be continued,
- (c) existing customs tariffs, excise duties and cesses should be left unchanged;
- (d) no restrictions should be imposed on free movement of goods and remittances, including capital equipment and capital;
- (e) no transit duties or taxes should be levied on goods passing from one territory to another and the existing trade channels or pattern of trade should not be interfered with.

It should be added, however, that Pakistan reserved the right to revise her attitude in regard to these matters in view of the fact that her proposal that the customs revenue should be pooled and shared during the interim period had not been accepted.

The House will be interested to know that the two Dominions have agreed to initiate discussions with a view to formulating an agreed policy in regard to the trade and economic relations of the two Dominions.

10. When the jurists examined the question of nationality and domicile, they came to the conclusion that as India and Pakistan would both be members of the British Commonwealth their citizens would continue to be regarded as British subjects. No immediate change was, therefore, called for as a result of partition: the two Dominion Governments could be left to formulate their respective nationality laws at their convenience. The Partition Council further decided that passport rules should be amended so that there should be no restrictions on the movement of persons from one Dominion to another. It is of course open to either to introduce such restrictions later.

11. The arrangements agreed to in regard to Foreign Affairs were embodied in the Indian Independence (International Arrangements) Order, 1947. According to this Order the membership of all international organisations, together with the rights and obligations attaching to such membership, devolves upon India; it being left to Pakistan to apply for membership of such international organisations as it desires to join. Rights and obligations under the international agreements to which pre-partition India was a party devolve upon both Dominions and can, if necessary, be apportioned between them, such rights and obligations as have exclusive territorial application devolving exclusively upon the Government of the territory to which they relate.

12. As for the Armed Forces, it was agreed that the personnel would be divided on a territorial basis with the exception that Muslims from India and non-Muslims from Pakistan would have the option to choose the Dominion which they wished to serve. The division of regimental centres, installations, equipment, stores etc. raised innumerable complex problems mainly of an administrative nature which were dealt with by the Armed Forces Re-constitution Committee acting under the instructions of the Partition Council. By the 15th of August sufficient progress had been made to enable the two new Governments to assume the operational control over the Army, the Navy and the Air Force. A good deal of work of the reconstitution of Forces however remained, and for this purpose a Joint Defence Council was established, consisting of the Governor-General of India as the independent Chairman and the Defence Ministers of India and Pakistan as members. A Supreme Commander was appointed to act as the executive authority of the Council.

13. By the 30th November 1947 when the organisation under the Supreme Commander was abolished, virtually all the work of the reconstitution except that of actually dividing and moving the stores had been completed. The Joint Defence Council has been reconstituted, with slightly modified functions, and is working through an executive committee consisting of the Defence Secretaries of the two Dominions and at least one Service Chief from each Dominion. The House will be gratified to learn that the Joint Defence Council which dealt with hundreds of complicated military problems was able to reach agreed decisions on all except two issues which at one time it was agreed to refer to the Tribunal, viz, the division of ordnance factories and the division of Army stores.

14. A renewed attempt was made in the last fortnight to settle all the outstanding issues. As I informed the House on the 9th instant, complete agreement has been reached on all of them and it will no longer be necessary to seek the assistance of the Arbitral Tribunal so far as the two Dominion Governments are concerned.

15. I shall now state briefly the details of the agreements reached on the more important of these matters:

(a) The undivided Government of India's cash balances as on the date of partition are estimated at a little under Rs. 400 crores, inclusive of the securities held in the Cash Balance Investment Account. Of these, Pakistan's share has, by agreement, been fixed at Rs. 75 crores. To this amount will be debited the Rs. 20 crores already made available to the Government of Pakistan on the 15th August 1947 and the expenditure incurred on that Government's account to date.

(b) Under paragraph 4 (3) of part IV of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, Pakistan's share of sterling assets will be the ratio of the note circulation after adjusting any expansion against Pakistan securities in that Dominion. It has now been agreed that India should sell to Pakistan, for Indian rupees, additional blocked sterling up to an agreed limit as and when demand is made until the 31st December 1967. The formula for working out this agreed limit will be found in the paper which I am placing on the table of the House.

(c) As I mentioned a little earlier, the Government of India have assumed initial responsibility for all the liabilities of the old Government, subject to an equitable contribution by the Pakistan Government. It was agreed that Pakistan's share would be made up of the value of assets, physical and financial, which lie in Pakistan or are taken over by the Pakistan Government plus the share allocated to Pakistan of the uncovered debt, namely, the excess of liabilities over assets of the undivided Government, less the liabilities assumed directly by the Pakistan Government. Pakistan's share of the uncovered debt has now by agreement been fixed at 17½ per cent.

ARMED FORCES (SPECIAL POWERS) BILL

Mr. Speaker: I would like to make a little observation. I believe we are all determined to finish our labours of this Session by 5 p.m. sharp today. The business that we have before us does not appear to be heavy, because I find there are two motions for Select Committees and a recommendation for circulation for eliciting opinion. Therefore, there should not be much discussion over these. So the House may agree that, in case any discussion is prolonged and goes up to five o'clock, we shall follow, by agreement, at five o'clock, the procedure of demands of grants and all questions outstanding at that time will be put to the vote of the House.

The House will now proceed with the third reading of the Bill of the Honourable the Defence Minister, namely:

"That the Bill to enable certain special powers to be conferred upon officers of the armed forces in disturbed areas, as amended, be passed."

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U.P.: General): It is with great sorrow that I have to oppose this Bill. I have the mandate of my party to support it.

Mr. Speaker: The Honourable Member need not disclose what has happened in his party. It is irrelevant here.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena: When there is a conflict of duties, and the choice is between obeying the command of the party and the dictate of conscience which is the voice of God, I must obey the higher voice. My conscience tells me that this Bill is a "black" Bill, blacker than the Rowlatt Act, and blacker than even the Defence of India Act and the Rules made thereunder and it should not be on the statute book. I think that this Bill proposes to make martial law the normal law of this land. Martial law is abhorred, and there is a stigma attached to its very name. By passing this Bill, we shall make martial law the normal law of the land. The abhorrence and the stigma which have got associated with the very name of enforcing martial law will be absent in the promulgation of this present Bill which it is proposed to pass into an Act. So this Act will be far more dangerous. I cannot allow this Bill to be passed without bringing on record my emphatic protest against it just as my esteemed and Honourable friend Mr. Santhanam recorded his protest yesterday in a most emphatic manner. I think that if I do not oppose this Bill, then I would be betraying the principles of the Congress that I represent, and I would be false to my conscience. During all its long history the Congress has fought and suffered for extending the civil liberties of the people. This Bill is a negation of all civil liberties of the people. I represent the peasantry of Gorakhpur where there are 40 lakhs of people. I also represent the labourers in Railways, in the Post and Telegraph Departments, in sugar and jute factories and all other labour, and I feel that this Bill is bound to be used against all progressive kisan and labour movements and I feel it my sacred duty to resist the passage of this Bill with all my strength. I have seen the working of many Public Safety Ordinances recently promulgated in the provinces. The other day I received a letter from Bengal. My friend, Mr. Soumendra Nath Tagore, a great peasant and labour leader from Bengal and a relation of the great Poet, has been taken away by the police from his house and there is no knowing where he is and every effort of his wife to find out has been met by the authorities with the answer that she cannot be told. I have seen the working of these Ordinances in my province. Recently I have had occasion to speak bitterly against the working of these Ordinances in my province. How then can I support this Bill which is far worse than any of those Ordinances. I have therefore decided to do my duty and to oppose this Bill. I would rather be expelled from my party than suppress the voice of my conscience.

(1816)

PHARMACY BILL

1817

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill as amended be passed."

(On a division being challenged, a count was taken and only three members stood up for Noes.)

Mr. Speaker: The Noes are 3 as against the entire House.

The motion was adopted.

Dr. N. B. Khare (Alwar State): Sir, I want to suggest that the names of the Noes should be recorded.

An Honourable Member: Do not bother, your names will go down in History.

ARMED FORCES (EMERGENCY DUTIES) AMENDMENT BILL

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh (Minister for Defence): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill to amend the Armed Forces (Emergency Duties) Act, 1947, be taken into consideration."

Sir, the Bill that I have just moved is a simple one and does not need any explanation. The House will remember that earlier this year we passed a Bill empowering the members of the armed forces to perform certain duties in case of emergency. That Act applies to all the provinces in India and the present amending Bill is intended to give further power to the Government of India to make the provisions of this Bill applicable to the States which have acceded to the Union of India after the 15th August. In this Bill that power is sought and I hope the House will agree to this. I do not think that there is anything objectionable in this Bill. It only requires a provision to be made that in case any States ask for the services of the members of the armed forces it should be made available to the States which ask for it.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to amend the Armed Forces (Emergency Duties) Act, 1947, be taken into consideration."

The motion was adopted.

Clauses 2 and 3 were added to the Bill.

Clause 1 was added to the Bill.

The Title and the Preamble were added to the Bill.

The Honourable Sardar Baldev Singh: Sir, I move:

"That the Bill be passed."

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill be passed."

The motion was adopted.

PHARMACY BILL

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur (Minister for Health): Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill to regulate the profession of pharmacy be referred to a Select Committee consisting of Shri L. Krishnaswami Bharathi, Dr. V. Subrahmanyam, Shri Vinayakrao B. Vaidya, Dr. H. C. Mookerji, Mr. R. K. Sidhwa, Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava, Mrs. Renuka Ray, Kazi Syed Karimuddin, Shri M. S. Aney, Shri O. V. Alagesan, Shri Bikramlal Sondhi, Prof. Yashwant Rai, Dr. P. S. Deshmukh, and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

[Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel]

(d) For the valuation of the assets taken over by the two Dominions it has been agreed that book values should be adopted in all cases; in the case of the strategic railways, however, the book value by agreement is being written down arbitrarily by about 50 per cent.

(e) With regard to the payment of debt by Pakistan to India, it has been agreed that the total amount will be paid in Indian rupees in fifty annual equated instalments for principal and interest combined. The instalments will be payable on the 15th of August each year but no instalments will be payable for the first four years from the date of partition.

The rate of interest adopted will be the same as the average yield over a period of two years preceding the date of partition of the rupee and sterling 12 month securities of the Government of India, with an unexpired currency of 15 years or over rounded to the nearest one eighth of one per cent.

(f) Each Dominion will continue to disburse the pensions now in payment in its territory, India continuing to pay the overseas pensions. The value of all pensions, both part earned pensions and pensions in issue will be capitalised and the liability shared in the ratio agreed upon for sharing the uncovered debt. To the extent that the capitalised value of the pensions disbursed by a Dominion is more or less than its share thus determined, an appropriate adjustment will be made in the financial settlement.

(g) It has been decided that Pakistan's share of the military stores will be a third of the stocks held in India and Pakistan on the date of partition or a third of the maintenance and reserve requirements of the two Dominions calculated on an agreed basis, whichever is less. The balance, if any, will fall to India's share.

(h) As for Ordnance factories, no physical division will take place, the Indian Dominion taking full liability for their book value. India has agreed to make available to Pakistan a sum of Rs. 6 crores to be drawn as and when required by way of assistance towards the setting up of Ordnance factories and a few other essential institutions like a Security Printing Press. This amount will be added to Pakistan's debt to India.

16. Rarely indeed have matters of such complexity been settled in so reasonable a way between two independent and sovereign States. Both India and Pakistan may justifiably take pride in this achievement.

17. Sir, I have now given the House a complete picture of the machinery that was set up to devise plans of partition and of the negotiations which have been carried on to settle outstanding issues ending in the final settlement of all complicated issues amicably. I am sure the House will appreciate that the Partition Council and other Committees and organisations set up to devise these plans and secure their implementation have accomplished a great deal within a comparatively short time. The House would perhaps appreciate it better if I reminded it that on the only previous occasion when a sort of partition took place in India, viz, the separation of Burma, two whole-time special officers with staff were appointed in the latter part of 1930 and took eight months to complete their preliminary report. The Reforms Office then continued the work for four years when in 1934, for adjudication of certain unresolved points, the Amery Tribunal was appointed in December 1934 and took another four months to produce its award. In short, that comparatively small undertaking took five years to complete at considerable cost. The present partition plans were, however, completed within a short period of six months at little additional cost to the Exchequer. This was made possible by the devotion to duty of our representative on the Steering Committee and all officers and men who were engaged in the task and spared no pains to secure quick and satisfactory results. I am sure when the history of the stress and strain through which we have passed comes to be written the partition will be recorded as a miracle of concentrated effort and consummate ability. In this connection, I would particularly pay a tribute—and I am sure the House will join with me in doing so—to the drive, energy, broadmindedness and impartiality of Lord Mountbatten, to whom we all owe so much for the quickening of the pace.

18. One word more and I shall have done. I hope the new State of Pakistan and their Government will regard this settlement as a gesture of our friendliness and goodwill. The successful implementation of these conclusions obviously depends on the continuation of the spirit of accommodation and conciliation on both sides. Discord or estrangement on any vital issue—we have many vital issues yet to settle—is bound to place the good work which we have achieved in jeopardy. I hope, therefore, that, not only in the interests of the successful implementation of these conclusions but also in the interests of peace and prosperity in both the Dominions, cordiality, tolerance and amity will continue to guide both of us in the solution of other problems which demand urgent and speedy disentanglement.

Arrangement between India and Pakistan regarding the Sterling assets of the Reserve Bank of India.

[Vide paragraph 15(b) of the Statement]

It is agreed that in addition to the sterling to which Pakistan would be entitled under para. 4(3) of part IV of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, an amount of sterling calculated as below will be made available to Pakistan in the manner stated below:

- (a) The total of the Sterling assets in both the Banking and Issue Departments on the 30th September 1948 will be taken together.
- (b) From this total will be deducted the lump sum payable to H. M. G. at the time of the final settlement of the sterling balances on account of the capitalisation of pensionary liability for H. M. G.'s military stores and fixed assets as on 1st April 1947, in India, etc.
- (c) Out of the remaining balance a sum in sterling which taken together with the gold held in the Issue Department will be equal to 70 per cent. of the total liabilities of that Department as on 30th September 1948, will be allocated in the manner prescribed in para. 4(3) of Part IV of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947.
- (d) Of the remainder, 17½ per cent. will be allocated to Pakistan.
- (e) The difference between the total of what will fall to the share of Pakistan under (c) and (d) and what Pakistan would obtain under para. 4(3) of Part IV of the Order is the amount of the additional sterling to be made available to Pakistan.
- (f) In regard to the amount of this additional sterling, India agrees to sell to Pakistan from its Account No. II or similar Account, sterling for Indian rupee on demand being made by Pakistan up to the 31st December 1967.

ELECTIONS TO STANDING COMMITTEES FOR MINISTRY OF FOOD AND TO COURT OF UNIVERSITY OF DELHI

Mr. Speaker: I have to inform the Assembly that upto the time fixed for receiving nominations for the election of a member to the Standing Committee for the Ministry of Food and to the Court of the University of Delhi, one nomination in each case was received. As there is only one candidate for a vacancy in each of these Committees, I declare the following members to be duly elected:

Standing Committee for the Ministry of Food.—Dr. V. Keskar.

The Court of the University of Delhi.—Shri Deshbandhu Gupta.

[Shri T. T. Krishnamachari]

Central and the Provincial, so that more representation and more opportunity will be given for those who practise the profession to associate themselves in the matter of regulation not merely of the educational curriculum but also the regulation of the work of the pharmacists, so that the profession will as a whole develop some responsibility in the matter without which I think the Bill will be a dead letter.

Before going into one or two details of the Bill I would like at once to tell the House that there would be no use this House or the country at large feeling now that we have a Drugs Act and now that we have a Pharmacy Bill which will be passed into an Act we will be controlling the manufacture, sale and consumption of all kinds of drugs.

I was listening to the Honourable Mover the other day when she was more or less forced into admitting her interest in the various indigenous systems of medicine in vogue in this country, systems of medicine which will not bear any kind of regulation or control, and any attempt at regulating or controlling them will probably provoke the wrath of many of our people whose atavistic inclinations given full and free play are solidly behind the support given to the Ayurveda, Siddha and Unani systems of medicine. This is only one side of the medal. The Drugs Act and the Bill before us avowedly relates only to drugs which fit into some one of the western pharmacopeas such as British, German and American, but there will be quite a large number of people engaged in this trade who can take cover under the fact that the drugs they vend belong to Ayurveda, Siddha or Unani systems while the drugs used by them will undoubtedly be the same type of drugs as are used in the practice of allopathic medicine and we will have no control over such people at all. Not that I suggest the Honourable the Mover should do something in the matter because I think it will baffle all human ingenuity to bring the vending of drugs used by practitioners of these systems into line. Besides that will be a very unpopular thing indeed. I should like to say that the country had better realise that this Bill is only a very imperfect attempt at safeguarding the health of the people, that the health of only those people that prefer to buy and use drugs and medicines which fit into one of these western pharmacopeas, is attempted to be safeguarded by this Bill. In regard to some of the details of the Bill, I would like to add that it would be better if the Honourable the Mover could give some more information regarding the composition of the Central and Provincial Councils. We have professors in it, often times it happens that professors have no experience at all of the practical side of the trade. I am not pleading for any representation for the All-India Chemists and Druggists Association or any other similar body as such, but I would like some provision to be made, if not in the Act itself, at least some kind of indication given that Government should seek out some of the practising pharmacists and put them in the Central Council.

In regard to sections 10 to 17, I think the indication of what the Government wants here is not very clear. I would like to preface this particular remark, or rather to reiterate what I said before, that apparently Mr. Oulsnam did not have a very clear idea of what he wanted Government to do. What is it that the Government is going to do in this matter? Is it a question of having two sets of qualifications a diploma and a degree? The position has to be clarified. For a diploma it would probably be sufficient for entrants for this course to have the minimum educational qualifications. We could leave the regulation of the degree course syllabus to the universities, if it is decided that it should be a university degree.

There is one other matter on which I would like to lay some emphasis. In the case of the British Pharmacy Act, it starts with the proposition, that every registered pharmacist shall pay £2 a year to the Pharmaceutical Society. It starts with the fundamental fact that the organization which will be set up for the purpose of control and regulation will have adequate finance. I am sure the intention in this Bill is to authorize the controlling bodies to collect fees from people who seek to practice the profession, but it does not seem adequate. It is not made clear what the fee will be and whether it will be sufficient to cover the needs of these bodies. The financial aspect of the Bill finds mention towards the end in section 44, which says that the Provincial Council shall pay so much out of the fees collected by it to the Central Council. I would rather, Sir, that in creating autonomous bodies of this nature, the Government had better link them up with the taxpayer so that the tax-payer's representatives would be able to exercise some vigilance in regard to the working of these bodies. If it happens that the responsibility for the finance of these bodies is made part of the general revenues, it will appear in the demands for grants made by the Centre and by the Provinces. To that extent it might provoke some kind of interest in the Legislature. I would rather that the Government, Central and Provincial, take over the amounts collected by the various bodies in their particular spheres, but make themselves responsible for providing the finances for the Central Council as well as the Provincial Council for operating in their respective spheres. That is a point which the Select Committee would do well to examine.

Again in regard to the Provincial Council—Chapter III—I would like an enlargement of the scope for inclusion of representatives of people who practise the profession of pharmacy. These two factors, I think, if given some attention and amendments made suitably, will help in bringing out a better Bill at the end of the Select Committee stage.

I find there is no provision in the Bill to dissolve the Central and Provincial Councils. Notwithstanding the fact that the omnibus rule-making power will perhaps enable the Government to make some provision in this respect, I think there should be some specific provision for the Government to dissolve the Boards when it feels it necessary to do so.

With regard to section 45, I think some enlargement is necessary. I think it should be made clear to the public that dispensaries dealing with allopathic drugs employ competent people as dispensers. It is very necessary in view to what I have said with regard to the vendors of drugs which come under the category of the indigenous systems of medicine, being entirely out of the scope of this Bill. I think it would be necessary for all these dispensaries to have exhibited in some prominent places the names of those people who are responsible for dispensing the drugs and their qualifications. These are some of the points on which the Bill can be improved upon.

I would like before closing, Sir, to draw the attention of the Honourable the Mover that it would be the wish of many of the members of the House that the Government should not merely go forward with this measure and when it is passed, go ahead quickly to implement it, but also Government should take steps to pay some attention to the complementary measure which is already on the statute book and which is languishing because of want of attention by a government with other preoccupations presumably, but at any rate by a government which was more or less indifferent to the primary needs of the people of the country. I have no doubt that in the skilful hands of the Honourable the Mover this will prove to be a useful measure which will prevent those people who go to the allopathic system of medicine for treatment from suffering at the hands of unqualified people and quacks. I support the motion before the House.

[Rajkumari Amrit Kaur]

Sir, in asking the House to accept this motion, I would just like to say a few words about the very unsatisfactory position that exists today. There is no authority whatsoever to regulate the profession and the practice of pharmacy. The practice is largely in the hands of persons known as 'compounders' and they are both trained and untrained. The profession is unorganised. There is no provision for registration. There is no check to prevent untrained persons from undertaking this very responsible work of compounding and dispensing medicines without any restriction. Compounders are trained today in provinces but the training is not of a high enough standard. A Drugs Act actually exists to control the quality of drugs that are imported and those that are manufactured at home but how can this Act be effective if we have not got an organised and trained profession of pharmacists for dispensing those very drugs. The position in advanced countries is that every pharmacist is required by law to be registered and he cannot be registered unless he has gone through a particular course of studies and passed an approved examination. I submit that it is only right that we also should have such rules in our country. This Bill that has been brought forward is intended to remedy these glaring defects. It is sought to provide Central and Provincial Councils that will not only prescribe minimum standards of training and qualification but will also inspect training institutions and will maintain registers of qualified persons. It is absolutely necessary that dispensing by unqualified persons should be stopped. The Bill was actually introduced in January 1946. It was circulated for opinion to all Provincial Governments and later circulated again. Replies have been received. The Bill was drafted after consideration of those replies. The measure is long overdue. I therefore hope that the House will have no hesitation in accepting the motion to refer it to a Select Committee.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to regulate the profession of pharmacy be referred to a Select Committee consisting of Shri L. Krishnaswami Bharathi, Dr. V. Subrahmanyam, Shri Vinayakrao B. Vaidya, Dr. H. C. Mookerji, Mr. R. K. Sidhwa, Pandit Mukat Bihari Lal Bhargava, Mrs. Renuka Ray, Kazi Syed Karimuddin, Shri M. S. Aney, Shri O. V. Alagesan, Shri Bikramlal Sondhi, Prof. Yashwant Rai, Dr. P. S. Deshmukh, and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

Shri H. V. Kamath (C. P. and Berar: General): On a point of information, may I ask the Honourable Minister if she could kindly tell us how many Members of the proposed Select Committee are either doctors or are interested in pharmaceutical science or are at least Graduates in Chemistry?

Mr. Speaker: I do not think the point is within the special knowledge of the Honourable Minister. The Honourable Member can get the information, himself.

Shri T. T. Krishnamachari (Madras: General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I support the motion before the House and in doing so I am constrained to remark that a Bill of this nature which has far reaching implications so far as the health of the people is concerned is one which cannot in its very nature command the attention of a thin and tired House on the last day of its session. The Honourable the Mover has had this Bill as a legacy, a legacy which originated after a period of 18 years of incubation. I wish the Honourable the Mover had taken us through the various and devious ways in which this question of controlling drugs as well as the controlling of the profession of the people who compound drugs had gone through during these years. The House would perhaps know, or at any rate such of the Members who were here in 1940 would know, that a Drugs Enquiry Committee or Chopra Committee as it was called, which reported in 1931, had prescribed that the Government should bring out two pieces of legislation, one to control the import and sale of drugs and the other to control the profession of pharmacy. In 1938 some attempt was made to frame a Drugs Bill but that was dropped. By the end of 1938 Provincial Legislatures were asked to pass a resolution authorising the Central Government to initiate legislation in this respect. I was in the Madras Assembly at that time and I remember that we enthusiastically passed a resolution on these lines hoping that the Government of India would do something to enact legislation on such an important matter and bring in line the sale and compounding of drugs in India on a par with what exists in the matter of its regulation in other advanced countries. The Drugs Act was passed in 1940. But I do not think the country knew of the existence of a Drugs Act. I do not know if it was the habit of the Ministry of Health, or the Department of Health of the Central Government as it was formerly called, to issue reports in regard to these various Acts which it was supposed to administer. The Drugs Act of 1940 contemplated the setting up of a Central Drugs Laboratory, a Technical Board and a Consultative Committee. I do not know what the Government has done in the matter. I see that the Rules in regard to the Drugs Act were framed in December 1945 simultaneously with the announcement in the Gazette of a framework of the Pharmacy Act in December 1945. I would like the Honourable the Mover to tell us before the House votes on this motion whether the complementary legislation that has been enacted, the Drugs Act, is now in operation, whether the various Committees and Boards have been set up and what is being done in the matter, because without the Drugs Act working, a Pharmacy Act will be practically useless.

Sir, I have no doubt that everybody in this House will agree with the Honourable the Mover that this measure is very necessary. As I said before I would add that this measure is necessary notwithstanding the fact that people do not realise the importance of a measure of this nature in this country of ours. I wish the Government had placed in the hands of the Members of this House a precis of the opinions that have been elicited by circulation of this particular Bill to various Governments and interested parties. It might be said that the scrutiny of those opinions is primarily the work of the Select Committee. But it is also the duty of this House on a motion like this to indicate to the Select Committee how far they would like the scope of the Bill to be enlarged and in what manner they would like it to be changed. I think the Health Ministry should have devoted some effort in condensing the various opinions obtained reports of which I have been able to get from a friend. The opinions expressed are rather loose and it will probably take me hours to find out which are the more important of the opinions expressed on the Bill. Even so I can see that this Bill which was drafted in 1945 by the then Secretary of the Health Department, Mr. Oulsmann, is very imperfect indeed. It may be said that it has been based more or less on the British Act. But the British Act has changed so many times. In fact it has changed even after the Drugs Enquiry Committee had reported. There is a fundamental difference between the British Act and this Bill, namely that the control of the profession in the British Act rests on the Pharmaceutical Society. The Society is composed of members of the profession. Here we have to create a body for that purpose. And in the creation of the body I am afraid sufficient consideration has not been bestowed on manning that body with material that will be competent not merely to lay down what ought to be the curriculum in respect of the education of those who are to engage in the trade of pharmaceutical chemists but to lay down also how the profession is to be controlled. It is true that in a country like ours professional control is rather difficult even in the matter of the allied department of human activity, the medical profession. The Honourable the Mover will realise that it is not possible to control this profession by leaving it entirely in the hands of the professional people. Even so I believe that there is room for the Select Committee to change the composition of these Councils, both the a very good thing if we could, by means of this Bill, prevent these people who are seen by the road side, from selling medicines to the passersby. So long as we do not impose restrictions on this class, the real object of this Bill will remain unfulfilled. The imposition of restrictions on simply the Allopathic Medicines will not be of much use. We must see that this law applies to those also who sell indigenous medicines or deal in Ayurvedic or Unani medicines or sell medicines on the roadside. I only like to draw the attention of the Honourable Members on this Select Committee to this thing.

[Shri Ram Sahai]

Mr. Speaker: There is just one amendment before I call on the Honourable Minister. Shri Satyanarayan Sinha.

Shri Satyanarayan Sinha (Bihar: General): Sir, I beg to move.

"That the name of Dr. Dharam Prakash be added to the names of the members of the Select Committee."

Mr. Speaker: Is the Honourable Minister agreeable?

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Yes, I am agreeable.

Mr. Speaker: Then, I shall just put the amendment to the House, not for vote. Amendment moved:

"That the name of Dr. Dharam Prakash be added to the names of the members of the Select Committee."

The Honourable Minister may now reply.

The Honourable Rajkumari Amrit Kaur: Sir, I am very grateful to the House for the kind reception which was given to my motion and for the support that I have had and the recognition from them that a measure of this nature is very necessary. I need hardly assure all the speakers that the suggestions that they have put forward will receive the greatest consideration when the Bill is referred to Select Committee. I agree with one of the speakers who said that unless we properly control all systems of medicine, including our own indigenous medicines, we shall not really get very far. I am hoping great things from the Report which is shortly expected of the Committee on Indigenous Systems of Medicine and I hope it will be possible to standardise their practice and profession of pharmacy no less than those who dispense medicines for Allopaths. I do not think I need say any more at this stage except express my gratitude once again to the House for accepting the motion.

Mr. Speaker: I shall first put to vote the amendment moved by Shri Satyanarayan Sinha. The question is:

"That the name of Dr. Dharam Prakash be added to the names of the members of the Select Committee."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Speaker: The question is:

"That the Bill to regulate the profession of pharmacy be referred to a Select Committee consisting of Shri L. Krishnaswami Bharathi, Dr. V. Subrahmanyam, Shri Vinayakrao B. Vaidya, Dr. H. C. Mookerji, Mr. R. K. Sidhwa, Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava, Mrs. Renuka Ray, Kazi Syed Karimuddin, Shri M. S. Aney, Shri O. V. Alagesan, Shri Bikramlal Sondhi, Prof. Yashwant Rai, Dr. P. S. Deshmukh, Dr. Dharam Prakash, and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

The motion was adopted.

DAMODAR VALLEY CORPORATION BILL

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil (Minister for Works, Mines and Power):
Sir, I beg to move:

"That the Bill to provide for the establishment and regulation of a Corporation for the development of the Damodar Valley in the Provinces of Bihar and West Bengal, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Shri R. K. Shammukham Chetty, Shri Surendra Mohan Ghosh, Shri Arun Chandra Guha, Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen, Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, Prof. N. G. Ranga, Shri Satyanarayan Sinha, Shri Jaipal Singh, Shri Ram Narayan Singh, Shri N. C. Mehta, Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad, Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya, Shri B. A. Khimji, and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

Sir, although this motion is the last item on today's agenda.....

Mr. Speaker: It is the last but one. There is one item in the name of the Labour Minister who is not here.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Anyway, this is a very important subject and I really was attempting to make it more important so far as the procedure of this Assembly is concerned. (An Honourable Member: "Last, but not least!"). In spite of what is happening in this country, this Bill is an attempt towards building on the most approved and sound lines the economy of this country. It provides an agency, a mechanism so to say, for carrying out the scheme which is now sufficiently known and has become familiar as the "Damodar Valley Scheme". It will be in the fitness of things if I give some rough idea of what the Damodar Valley Scheme means in all its aspects. I am sure it will be welcomed by the members of this House.

It is a well known fact, Sir,—and certainly within the knowledge of those who although not resident in either Bihar or Bengal have been watching developments—that the Damodar River is a river which has worked havoc in course of history. I will not go into the details of the destruction which this great river has caused partly in the province of Bihar but mostly in the province of Bengal, but merely refer to certain incidents to show that a scheme of this character has come before the public none too soon.

In 1943 this river flooded so much that for days together the city of Calcutta was cut off. The railway traffic had to be diverted. Crops were completely ruined. Fertility of the soil was greatly affected. There was also loss in life. This has been going on from time to time, although this river is seasonal. But in the rainy season the rainfall, although not very great compared with other areas, is sufficient to cause floods with consequent destruction of life and property.

Many attempts have been made in the past to control these occasional floods, but so far nothing has been found effectively to check or regulate the waters of the Damodar. In 1943 a Committee was appointed with a view to further investigate this aspect and that Committee made a Report. It was considered by the Government of India, who came to the conclusion that it was high time that this problem ceased to be tackled in an isolated manner but a full-fledged scheme embodying the principles of what is now known as "multi-purpose scheme" was adopted as the right line of approach for the solution of this problem.

The matter was then referred, Sir, to the Central Technical Power Board. That Board made a report early in 1944. Government of India then invited two experts from America. Those experts visited the Damodar Valley. They also scrutinised the preliminary report made by the Central Technical Power Board. The principle was then accepted that Damodar Valley should be developed on the lines of a "multi-purpose scheme". These multi-purpose schemes have achieved considerable success in America and everybody now knows the romance of the Tennessee Valley Authority. It was only in the fitness of things, Sir, that the Government of India should accept this line of approach for the solution of the problem. They engaged further experts and a preliminary Memorandum on the unified development of the Damodar Valley was submitted in the month of August 1945. As it is, this Valley runs through two Provinces, namely, Bihar and Bengal, and it was necessary to bring the two Provincial Governments together and with their co-operation finalise the scheme. In the course of 1945 and 1946 and part of the year 1947, several Conferences were held which were attended by the representatives of the Bihar Government as well as representatives of the Bengal Government. Questions relating to the development of one aspect as against the other, as also questions relating to the financial aspects were discussed.

(1825)

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

Mr. Speaker: I believe the Honourable Minister will take some time?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: I will require one hour, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: We better adjourn at this stage and the Honourable the Finance Minister will lay on the table the authenticated schedule of expenditure.

AUTHENTICATED SCHEDULE OF EXPENDITURE FROM 15TH AUGUST 1947 TO 31st MARCH 1948—LAID ON THE TABLE.

The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty (Minister for Finance): Sir, in pursuance of the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 35 of the Government of India Act as adapted, I lay on the table of the House an authenticated Schedule of the expenditure for the period 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948.

In pursuance of the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 35 of the Government of India Act, 1935, as adapted by the India (Provisional Constitution) Order, 1947, I, Louis Francis Albert Victor Nicholas Earl Mountbatten of Burma, Governor-General of India, do hereby authenticate by my signature the following schedule of expenditure from the revenues of the Dominion for the period from the 15th August, 1947, to the 31st March, 1948, namely:—

SCHEDULE

Amount (in thousands of rupees)

	Voted	Charged	Total
A. EXPENDITURE MET FROM REVENUE:
1. Customs	68.98	..	68.98
2. Central Excise and Salt	2,29.59	2.50	2,32.09
3. Taxes on Income including Corporation Tax	94.54	..	94.54
4. Opium	14.59	..	14.59
5. Provincial Excise	2.75	..	2.75
6. Stamps	63.54	1.39	64.93
7. Forest	16.43	..	16.43
8. Irrigation (including Working expenses), Navigation, Embankment and Drainage Works met from Revenue	6.71	60	7.31

Amount (in thousands of rupees).

	Voted	Charged	Total
9. Indian Posts and Telegraphs Department (including Working Expenses)	13,31.57	54.28	13,85.85
10. Cabinet	2.63	7.92	10.55
11. Constituent Assembly of India	23.75	..	23.75
12. Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative)	14.29	..	14.29
13. Ministry of Home Affairs	20.17	..	20.17
14. Ministry of Information and Broadcasting	28.02	..	28.02
15. Ministry of Law	5.49	..	5.49
16. Ministry of Education	21.29	..	21.29
17. Ministry of Agriculture	12.69	..	12.69
18. Ministry of Health	3.75	..	3.75
19. Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations	20.76	..	20.76
20. Ministry of Finance	49.55	..	49.55
21. Ministry of Commerce	28.13	..	28.13
22. Ministry of Labour	12.78	..	12.78
23. Ministry of Works, Mines and Power	11.28	..	11.28
24. Ministry of Communications	3.03	..	3.03
25. Ministry of Transport	12.58	..	12.58
26. Ministry of Food	30.68	..	30.68
27. Ministry of States	4.71	..	4.71
28. Ministry of Defence	15.70	..	15.70
29. Ministry of Industry and Supply	12.03	..	12.03
30. Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation	8.00	..	8.00
31. Ministry without Portfolio	1.10	..	1.10
32. Payments to other Governments, Departments etc., on account of the administration of Agency Subjects and Management of Treasuries	19.86	..	19.86
33. Audit	1,08.55	40	1,08.95
34. Administration of Justice	4.60	2.40	7.00
35. Jails and Convict Settlements	13	..	13
36. Police	11.59	..	11.59
37. Ports and Pilotage	21.53	..	21.53
38. Lighthouses and Lightships	6.73	..	6.73
39. Ecclesiastical	2.21	..	2.21
40. Tribal Areas	55.22	..	55.22
41. External Affairs	1,11.13	..	1,11.13
42. Survey of India	64.91	..	64.91
43. Botanical Survey	1.43	..	1.43
44. Zoological Survey	1.92	..	1.92
45. Geological Survey	14.15	..	14.15
46. Mines	5.80	..	5.80
47. Archaeology	12.61	..	12.61
48. Meteorology	30.93	..	30.93
49. Other Scientific Departments	68.12	..	68.12
50. Education	79.51	..	79.51
51. Medical Services	21.19	..	21.19
52. Public Health	36.31	..	36.31
53. Agriculture	1,14.29	..	1,14.29
54. Civil Veterinary Services	17.37	..	17.37
55. Industries and Supplies	1,98.79	..	1,98.79
56. Overseas Communications Service	28.17	72	28.89
57. Aviation	1,98.62	..	1,98.62
58. Broadcasting	57.22	..	57.22
59. Emigration	20	..	20
60. Commercial Intelligence and Statistics	27.99	..	27.99
61. Census	1.50	..	1.50
62. Joint Stock Companies	2.32	..	2.32
63. Indian Dairy Department	8.39	..	8.39
64. Miscellaneous Departments	78.94	..	78.94
65. Currency	52.38	1.19	53.57
66. Mint	66.43	..	66.43
67. Civil Works	5,20.44	13.85	5,34.27

Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya (Madras. General): Mr. Speaker, Sir, The Statement of Objects and Reasons states that "it is desirable that as in most other countries only persons who have obtained the minimum standard of professional qualifications should be permitted to practise the profession of pharmacy". I sometimes doubt whether pharmacy is a profession or a trade. I do not know whether anybody practises the profession of pharmacy. The pharmaceutical chemist engages a compounder who practises the profession of compounding. He sub-serves the purposes of the doctor who requires invariably the assistance of private dispensers and pharmaceutical shops in order to supply the medicines prescribed by him. In any case, between the doctor and the patient, there certainly intervene two other people, namely the pharmacist and the compounder. Each of them requires training. There is no doubt about that. And as things stand, anybody who can gather together a number of bottles and medicines opens a shop and advertises himself as pharmaceutical chemist. Whether he has the necessary authority to hold such a shop and expose various articles for sale there, some of which are highly poisonous, is a matter to which attention has not been paid so far. We all know that every medicine is a poison in a sufficiently large dose; at any rate every poison is a medicine in a sufficiently small dose. Much depends, therefore, upon the correct knowledge of the dosage or the science of dosology, as it is called, of these various drugs. But the pharmaceutical chemist himself does not compound and does not dispense, and therefore these qualifications are more essentially required in the compounders than he employs than in himself.

Now, with regard to this Bill, this is one of the series of three connected Bills as I had indicated on the first day when the Dentistry Bill was considered; and in each of those two other Bills relating to Dentistry and Nursing there is at the end a Schedule, if I remember right, which contains a category of qualifications and also of the schemes of instruction and of the syllabuses offered and the diplomas and degrees conferred. But here this Bill does not contain any such category or Schedule—not that such courses are not offered. I know in the Madras Medical College there is a course offered in pharmaceutical chemistry. But in any case there are Sections 10, 11 and 12 which amply provide for the educational qualifications that must be attained before one can practise the profession. Now it appears to be contemplated under this Bill that special schemes of instruction or special institutions are likely to be brought into existence for the sake of facilitating the imparting of this education. Personally I should think that the courses offered in the Medical Colleges are ample as providing qualifications for a pharmacist. After all, what are the subjects that he must know? He must know inorganic chemistry, and then possibly a bit of organic chemistry, at least as much as students of the M.B. class know; then he must know all about Materia Medica and the process of compounding; and finally I should like him to know something about Medical Jurisprudence and in particular about that branch of the medical jurisprudence which is known as Toxicology or the science which relates to poisons and their antidotes. The pharmaceutical chemist is suddenly called upon to provide immediate remedy for a case of opium poisoning in which a person either by mischance or deliberately has taken a big dose of opium. Possibly, if he knows some thing about this toxicology, he may immediately prescribe a dose of potassium permanganate as an immediate remedy, as an antidote.

So, medical jurisprudence and Toxicology, Chemistry, Organic and Inorganic, Materia Medica and the Art of compounding are the essentials that must be known to this gentleman. Now, all these are offered in the Medical Colleges and therefore there is no reason why, when a student enters these colleges he should not be marked off as a student of pharmacy and might be given suitable titles or degrees as he finishes his courses. As a matter of fact, in Medical Colleges you have mixed classes—classes for the military medical people, the civil medical people of the lower grade and of the higher grade—and they branch off at various points into various courses of study, some of them are given advanced courses and others are given shorter courses. If the Select Committee is so pleased and is convinced of the wisdom of my suggestion, it may simply adopt this course, namely that the syllabus of studies offered in the Medical Colleges may be grouped together suitably into a pharmaceutical syllabus.

Otherwise, the Bill is purely an administrative measure. It is a Bill to organise the Provincial Councils and the All-India Council and establish a relationship between them, prescribe the fees and exact rules and regulations in order to bring into existence a scheme of disciplinary control. That discipline is very much required, there is no doubt about that and I welcome the Bill. This is one of the three sister graces of Legislation which a fourth sister has offered to us and I hope that you will allow this to go to the next stage.

श्री राममहाय : अध्यक्ष महोदय, मैं इस बिल की तारीफ करने के लिए खड़ा हुआ हूँ। मेरा यह अर्थ करना है कि इस तरह का कानून न होने की वजह से बहुत सी गलतियाँ होती हैं। बहुत से गैर जिम्मेदार लोग जो इस तरह का धंधा करते हैं उनकी वजह से लोगों को बहुत नुकसान पहुँचता है। इसलिये इस बिल की बहुत सख्त जरूरत है।

मैं सिलेक्ट कमेटी के मेम्बर साहबान का सिर्फ यह ध्यान दिलाना चाहता हूँ कि वह इस बात का खयाल रखें कि ऐसे लोग जो देशी दवाइयाँ जैसे कि आयुर्वेदिक, यूनानी दवाइयाँ बेचते हैं वे भी इस कानून के अन्दर आ जायें। बहुत से लोग मारकेट में सड़कों के किनारे दुकान खोलकर बैठ जाते हैं और ज्यादा जानकारी न होने की वजह से लोगों को बहुत नुकसान पहुँचाते हैं। मैं यह चाहता हूँ कि जो लोग इस तरह से आम तौर पर सड़कों के किनारे दवाइयाँ बेचा करते हैं वे भी इस बिल के अनुसार रोके जा सकें तो बहुत अच्छा होगा। जब तक हम इन सब लोगों पर पाबन्दी या रोक नहीं लगायेंगे तब तक जो अस्ली मकसद इस बिल का है वह हल नहीं हो सकेगा। महज एलोपैथिक की दवाइयों पर ही रोक लगायें तो कोई विशेष लाभ न होगा। जो लोग देशी दवाइयाँ, यूनानी और आयुर्वेदिक दवाइयाँ बेचते हैं या सड़क पर बैठ कर दवा बेचते हैं उनके लिये इस कानून के तहत पाबन्दी जरूर होनी चाहिये। मैं सिर्फ इसी बात के लिए सिलेक्ट कमेटी के मेम्बर साहबान का ध्यान दिलाना चाहता हूँ।

(English translation of the above speech.)

Shri Ram Sahai (Gwalior State): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support this Bill. I would like to point out that the absence of a law of this kind creates many mistakes. Several irresponsible persons who carry on such business are responsible for great loss to many people. This Bill is, therefore, badly required.

I want to draw the attention of the Honourable Members on the Select Committee to this thing that they should bring under the purview of this law those people as well who sell indigenous medicines, viz., the Ayurvedic and the Unani. Many quacks spread their paraphernalia in the public places, along the road sides and start advertising and then selling their medicines. These men have little knowledge of medicine and therefore they do more harm than good to the public. I wish we could stop this quackery. It would indeed be

Amount (in thousands of rupees)

	Voted	Charged	Total
68. Central Road Fund	86,65	..	86,65
69. Territorial and Political Pensions	13,69	..	13,69
70. Superannuation Allowances and Pensions	1,69,36	3,32	1,72,68
71. Stationery and Printing	1,14,80	..	1,14,80
72. Miscellaneous	23,32,69	..	23,32,69
73. Expenditure on Refugees	22,00,00	..	22,00,00
74. Defence Services Effective Army	57,47,19	..	57,47,19
75. Defence Services Effective Royal Indian Navy	3,91,43	..	3,91,43
76. Defence Services Effective Air Forces	9,22,50	..	9,22,50
77. Defence Services Effective Supplies and Stores	19,01,67	..	19,01,67
78. Defence Services Non-effective charges	7,71,69	..	7,71,69
79. Miscellaneous Adjustments between the Central and Provincial Governments	70	..	70
80. Resettlement and Development	3,59,78	..	3,59,78
81. Civil Defence	1,08	..	1,08
82. Delhi	98,78	20	98,98
83. Ajmer-Merwara	42,64	22	42,86
84. Panth Piploda	14	..	14
85. Andaman and Nicobar Islands	56,90	22	57,12
86. Relations with Indian States	36,52	..	36,52
Interest on Debt and other obligations and reduction or avoidance of Debt	..	20,52,40	20,52,40
Staff, Household and Allowances of the Governor-General	..	11,80	11,80
Grants-in-aid to Provincial Governments	..	44,03	44,03
Federal Public Service Commission	..	7,20	7,20
Total	1,93,80,80	22,04,62	2,15,85,42

B. EXPENDITURE MET FROM CAPITAL :

87. Capital Outlay on Forests	33,01	..	33,01
88. Capital Outlay on the India Security Press	10,02	..	10,02
89. Capital Outlay on Indian Posts and Telegraphs (not met from Revenue)	3,11,70	..	3,11,70
90. Indian Posts and Telegraphs Stores suspense (not met from Revenue)	1	..	1
91. Capital Outlay on Industrial Development	5,30,92	..	5,30,92
92. Capital Outlay on Civil Aviation	1,58,65	..	1,58,65
93. Capital Outlay on Broadcasting	32,78	..	32,78
94. Capital Outlay on Mints	57,45	..	57,45
95. Delhi Capital Outlay	62,04	29	62,33
96. Capital Outlay on Civil Works	64,21	..	64,21
97. Commuted value of Pensions	1,02	..	1,02
98. Payments to Retrenched Personnel	1	..	1
99. Capital Outlay on Schemes of State Trading	2,32,71	..	2,32,71
100. Capital Outlay on Development	24,27,64	..	24,27,64
101. Capital Outlay on Currency	1,20	..	1,20
Total	39,23,37	29	39,23,66

C. DISBURSEMENTS OF LOANS AND ADVANCES :

102. Interest-free and Interest bearing Advances	6,55,05	26,50,00	33,05,05
Grand Total	2,39,59,22	48,54,91	2,88,14,13

New Delhi, the 12th December, 1947.

Governor-General of India.

The Assembly then adjourned for Lunch till Half-past Two of the Clock.

*The Assembly re-assembled after Lunch at Half-past Two of the Clock
Mr. Speaker (the Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar) in the Chair.*

DAMODAR VALLEY CORPORATION BILL—contd.

I was referring to the various conferences that were held under the auspices of The Honourable Shri H. V. Gadgil: Sir, when the House rose for Lunch the Central Government and which were attended by representatives of the Bengal and Bihar Governments. As a result the Damodar Valley scheme has been fairly finalised and, as I stated, the Government of India have accepted the view that the scheme is the right solution of the problem of flood control; and as such this Bill in order to give a sort of mechanism and agency has been introduced in this House. As I stated, this scheme is based on the principles of a multi-purpose scheme, and it is only fair that I should deal with some of those principles as briefly as possible. Before I do that, just to give an idea as to the gigantic nature of this enterprise, I may mention the area that will ultimately be affected for good by the scheme when it materialises. Roughly the area of Damodar basin at the mouth is about 8500 square miles; up to its confluence with Barakar river it is about 6960 square miles; and the drainage area that can be controlled by the dam would be 6620 square miles. The total control storage capacity will be 4,700,000 acres and the submerged area would be roughly 145 square miles or 1,05,750 acres. In terms of population the benefit that will accrue will be to about 50 lakhs of people. As against this some people will have, so to speak, to be expropriated or uprooted from the soil, and that will be round about one lakh of people. Now this is a very great problem of resettlement. I shall refer to that later on, but I am just giving an idea of the gigantic nature of this enterprise which is—let me say for the delectation of my Honourable friend Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena—a State enterprise; and more and more such enterprises are to be undertaken by this Government, because this Government does not believe that its duty to the people ends with the maintenance of law and order. A modern State is something more than a police State; the modern State has come to mean a social service State. How far and to what extent these functions should be carried out is a matter which will have to be considered in the circumstances then existing. But on the major question I think there can be no doubt that the State must guarantee every person a decent standard of life. That also means full employment; and in order to effectuate this policy if it becomes necessary to socially own the means of production, the State will certainly be justified in doing so.

Now, Sir, this scheme, as I said, is based on the principles of a multi-purpose scheme. It means that in the first place the flood that occasionally does harm and causes loss of life and property has got to be controlled. Even from the point of view of purely financial considerations this has got to be undertaken. A few minutes ago I referred to the flood incident in the year 1943 when the great city of Calcutta was cut off from the rest of the country for some days together. An expenditure of about 75 lakhs of rupees had to be incurred by the railway alone in diverting the traffic. It is estimated that the annual loss in terms of money on account of the uncontrolled nature of the waters of this great river Damodar is 25 lakhs a year. That itself, as I said, is a good consideration, and if a scheme which visualises complete control of the waters and their regulation is to be financed, it even deserves to be financed irrespective of any consideration of return, because it has an insurance value of its own. Therefore, the most important aspect of this multi-purpose scheme is the flood control aspect. Undoubtedly this has more to do with the province of Bengal and not much to do with the province of Bihar, but that is no argument to say that such a scheme ought not to be undertaken.

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

so much mineral wealth, with such a vast population and with such great leaders, if this contradiction cannot be solved, there is no bright future for this country. I have always looked upon this as a great challenge to the constructive ability of our people. Here are the opportunities. As I said the other day, 40 million kilowatts can be generated from water power alone and if we succeed in doing that, as I pointed out, you will have electric light in every village and a radio in every home. Taking this scheme in particular, as I have stated, this is going to benefit more or less 50 lakhs of people. In what way? Additional land under irrigation, facilities for intensive agriculture, scope for industrialisation, abundant electric power. Not only this but it has been provided that centres of recreation may also be developed by the Corporation. As you go on thinking about the problem many ideas suggest themselves, as they did to those who worked out the Tennessee Valley Scheme.

Fish can be made available. Mr. Munshi is looking askance at me as he perhaps thinks that there is some contradiction in a Brahmin talking about fish. I am purely looking at it from an economic point of view, at any rate a modern Brahmin does not worry when he talks about fish. It is possible to develop fish culture to the extent of giving Rs. 50 lakhs every year. That is the estimate given by one of our planners. There will be recreational grounds which will be a source of happiness to the people. These are some of the main aspects but, as I said at the beginning, about one lakh of people will be uprooted. That creates a great problem of resettlement. Any multi-purpose scheme consists of several aspects, such as planning, designing, construction, resettlement and utilisation. I will not deal with every aspect, because I have promised you, Sir, that I shall not take more than 40 minutes of this House. So far as the stage of planning is concerned it is nearly over. Let me tell this House that although, as I said, the scheme has been finalised, every criticism that appears in the press or is addressed to the Ministry is taken and will be taken into consideration. It is important to note that we have to work not on a clean slate but on the facts and circumstances that exist, and one of the most important circumstance is the existence of coalmines there. We have to consider whether by fixing up a dam at a particular place we are going to submerge an area which is rich with coal. In that case we have to balance the disadvantages of this as against the advantages I have just mentioned.

3 P. M. Let me assure the House that whenever it was found that the location of any particular dam at a particular place was going to affect us substantially so far as the coal resources are concerned, that has been modified and the loss—because apparently it is a loss—has been reduced to a minimum and it will be reduced to a minimum. Suggestions have been made that it is possible to work coalmines although they may be submerged in water. I am very much encouraged by this report but at this stage it seems to me somewhat—I do not say fantastic but—impracticable. Anyway the line of approach is to see that the area which is likely to be submerged and which contains coalmines will be reduced to a minimum, also that the area which is to be submerged should be such as would contain less population as against any location in which the population of the area that may be submerged would be more. As planned at present the area that is to be submerged is two-thirds waste and one-third under actual cultivation. But you will agree with me, Sir, and the House will also agree that the scheme being in the interest of the community as a whole the interests of a few must not stand in the way for it is intended for the benefit of the many.

I will say nothing about the designing aspect beyond saying that it is being actively prosecuted. We propose to invite experts. You will remember, Sir, the other day the Honourable the Prime Minister stated that the Government was so anxious to complete the schemes earlier than what is budgeted for by engineers that it was even thinking of inviting foreign firms and asking them to undertake on contract some construction or part of construction of this scheme as well as of other schemes.

As regards the problem of resettlement let me confess that this is a very delicate problem. It is obvious that we are going to deprive one lakh of people not only of their means of livelihood but we are taking them away from their homes, from the villages in which they and their ancestors have lived. But it is the intention that they will be given land for land as much as possible and, where it is not possible or where a particular individual does not want land, they will be adequately compensated. We have been very much familiar with the description that Indian villages are not well-planned, they are dirty, they are mere hovels, no amenities are provided in them. Here is an opportunity to translate some of the best conceptions which have been given expression to in the course of the last so many years by our social workers. They can resettle these people in their new habitation, in modern villages which will provide decent and pleasant houses, pleasant surrounding, playground, and schools. Where industrialisation takes place inasmuch as the power that is to be used is electric power, there will be no smoke and the factory will not be merely a place where one has to slave but even in work it may be possible to say that man may take some pleasure. Here is a field in which the socialist can have co-operative societies of these people who are to be expropriated and settle them if they cannot or do not wish to follow agriculture on industrial lines and in business activity. When I think of the possibilities of the scheme I often become poetic and you know that there is no limit to a poet's imagination. But being a very practical man and charged with the piloting of a Bill in a House which is not always very friendly I have to come down to brass tacks and hard realities. Therefore, this problem of resettlement, as I said, has got to be handled with great delicacy and in this particular aspect of the scheme the utmost co-operation of the people, of the leaders and of the workers is necessary and is in fact a sine qua non of the success of the scheme. The other day I saw a film in which the development of the Tennessee Valley was shown. I saw a peasant following old style methods of agriculture. He would not come and sign the contract to give up his land. He went on holding. Another went in and when in a few days' time he found that the other fellow who agreed to go into the scheme gradually had a good house, a piano, found his wife better clothed, his children more cheerful and schools coming into existence for them he also joined. I propose, Sir, with the help of the Honourable Minister in charge of Broadcasting and Public Information to have a film so that people may know the present state of the valley. I would not hesitate to call it a valley of death and destruction today and to say that when the scheme becomes a reality the valley will be turned into a valley of prosperity and happiness. Unless there is a lot of propaganda, a lot of educating the public—not only that section whose area is to be submerged but others also—there is no possibility of pushing through this scheme or other schemes which the Government propose from time to time push. These are the facts.

This scheme is to be brought into existence and hence the problem of the agency becomes very relevant. The Bill that is now before this House is modelled on the provisions of the Tennessee Valley Bill which was passed by the Congress of the United States of America.

It is not my intention, Sir, to go on explaining in detail the various principles on which this Bill is framed. But I will be failing to do my duty if I do not give very briefly the main points in this Bill. It is proposed, Sir, to constitute a Corporation and a Board of Directors, as you will see, consisting of three persons, and let me say, Sir, that upon these three people depends the success of the whole scheme. In the American Legislature it was stated:

"It is a great responsibility imposed upon the members of the Board, but it is a great opportunity that will come to those chosen for this great service. For such position of trust and responsibility, undoubtedly the President will search the nation over for the right men

[Shri N. V. Gadgil]

If you remember, Mr. Speaker, I said that this whole scheme is worked on the principle of a unified scheme and no particular aspect of that can be isolated and can be given undue importance. I will request the House and the public at large to look at this scheme as a whole, not in terms of this district which may be submerged; not in terms of some benefit that may accrue to another district; not in terms of another province which may get the benefits of irrigation; but take the Damodar Valley area as a whole and let us see if we are able to show and possibly to convince that as a result of this scheme the standard of life will decidedly be better, and this valley which has been the subject of flood and consequent destruction of life and property is turned into a valley of prosperity and happiness.

Now, Sir, the aspect of flood control apparently does not go to show that there will be any return in terms of money. But as I said, it has an insurance value of its own. But when we take into consideration the other aspect, I will be able to show, Sir, that even from the point of view of financial consideration, this scheme is going to pay its own way. And even if it does not, I will ask those who are acquainted with advanced economic thought in the world to apply to this what is known as multiplier conception. In other words, if say public expenditure is undertaken and some purchasing power is, so to say, injected, the result is not merely proportionate to the purchasing power spent but it goes on multiplying. The wheels of industry move, employment grows and the return may be not only three times or four times but it may be much more. In other words, prosperity begets prosperity. It is infectious and in a sense it is invisible. Therefore, when we look upon this scheme from a point of view in which objectively we may not be convinced that it is a paying proposition, or a productive scheme, yet I make bold to say, Sir, that the returns in terms of invisible dividends are so great that any Government charged with the duty of bettering the lot of its people will not shirk from undertaking it.

Now, Sir, coming to the second purpose, which is one of the principles upon which the scheme has been worked out, is navigation. I do not want to detain the House by giving detailed figures. I will only say, Sir, that about nine lakhs of acres will be brought under cultivation and quite a large area in which at present only a single crop is grown may be turned into a double crop area.

Shri Biswanath Das (Orissa: General): How much is that?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Not only this, but it is the intention that by having research made, it may be possible to turn certain areas in which three crops can be grown in the course of a year. It has been estimated that such a thing is a possibility. By scientific land management, by using modern appliances and fertilisers, by improved methods of agriculture, such things are possible. But I am only under-estimating when I say that so far as the irrigation aspect of the scheme is concerned, it is going to confer a definite benefit on the people of this valley.

It is true, Sir, that a substantial benefit of this will go to the province of Bengal. But it is possible, Sir, that in course of time additional benefit in the matter of additional areas under irrigation may be made available in certain areas of Bihar also. But as I said, the right approach to the whole thing is not to consider this area or that area but to look upon the whole Damodar Valley area as one and upon the scheme as one unified scheme. As I stated that the net profit, so to say, after deducting expenditure and also debiting interest on the capital that may be considered to have been expended on this particular aspect, in the beginning may be none, nor there will be any deficit too.

The water rate that our planners have calculated is considerably lower but when the price of paddy increases, when an increase in the water rate is justified, I have no doubt that the balance sheet, so far as this particular aspect is concerned, will show that this is a very sound investment.

Now I will briefly deal with the third aspect, namely, generation of power. It is calculated, Sir, that as a result 300,000 K.W. will be available and even assuming that we sell electricity at a fair rate in relation to rates available elsewhere in India, the whole thing will give us an annual profit of little more than a crore of rupees. We may, if things permit, follow the principle of the great industrialist, Henry Ford, viz., lowest margin of profit on the highest turnover, but that depends upon the possibilities of the utilisation of power in the area. It is no use having installed capacity without a plan for utilisation. I remember the other day Prof. K. T. Shah remarked that unless we have a plan for the use and utilisation of the power that we propose to generate all this effort will prove a white elephant. I want to assure him, although he is not present in the House today, that this aspect had been taken into consideration and let me tell him that before the scheme has actually started, industrialists from Bengal and other Provinces also are making land purchases and the price of land is steadily going up. The whole scheme means, to put it very shortly, water for irrigation, power for industry and employment all round. That is how we can describe the whole scheme in a nutshell.

In connection with power there has been two considerations before the engineers concerned. One is to have only hydro-electric power and another is to have a combination of hydro and thermal energy, so that the cost per unit would be considerably less. I am told that if such a combination were to be effected the cost of total production of energy will be less by Rs. 60 lakhs. In that case the returns would be considerably augmented. In other words, this scheme becomes more productive and more profitable than what we think it would otherwise be.

There is another aspect of this multi-purpose scheme, which I should refer to briefly, viz., waterways. Our engineers say that it is possible that if the scheme materialises nearly 600 miles of waterways will be available. That may be useful for the transport of coal or other merchandise and the House will agree with me when I say that when a full economic development of this valley takes place the whole transport system, which includes highways, waterways and railways, will have to be integrated into some unified system so that goods might be taken from the place where they are produced to the place where they may be consumed cheaply and quickly.

There is another aspect and that is supply of water to the civil population. I have not the actual experience of the exact difficulties of the people living in this valley but as I know the nature of this particular area it is possible that many villages may be going without good water for drinking purposes and also there may be water shortage in some towns and cities which are situated in the Damodar Valley area. Supply of adequate water is a great boon. So these are some of the aspects which have been taken into consideration while formulating this scheme.

The scheme consists of a series of eight dams—four dams on the Upper Damodar and four on the Barakar. The idea is that in order to control the floods you must control the tributaries. It is said that a man is known by the company he keeps. Similarly in regard to a big river its character, its flood and its utility also are greatly determined by the character of the tributaries that flow into it. It is much better to have some dams on some of these tributaries, so that the water may be controlled at places in such a manner that the flood which ultimately overtakes the area in Bengal may be so controlled that this waste of water may be turned into wealth. A great English economist has said that India is a rich country with a poor people. With so many rivers, with to whom to entrust not only this vast investment of money but this great responsibility not only to the people of that section of the country but to the people of the whole nation. If through the incapacity or the indifference of the members of the Board, this great humanitarian project should fail, then progress along this line in other parts of the country will be set back for two or three generations."

1834

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE) [12TH DEC. 1947]

- [Shri N. V. Gadgil]

Nearly 52 crores are to be spent over the scheme, and these three gentlemen must be not only practical administrators, incorrupt, honest and thorough, but they must be visionaries as well. There are plenty of practical, efficient administrators in the secretariat. They are good in noting they are good in many other things; but here is a job in which the vision of a poet and the practical knowledge of an engineer are expected. Therefore it will be a big task for the Government to select three people, and as has been said in the United States Congress, the Government will have to look over the whole nation to find out such capable men. It will not be relevant to urge that they must be necessarily from Bihar and Bengal, or one must be from Bihar and another man must be from Bengal, although that aspect cannot be altogether brushed aside; but let us agree that when we entrust such a big sum running into 52 crores, practically handling the destinies of 50 lakhs of people and their welfare, in fact it becomes a sort of administration by itself, charged with everything—their welfare, industrialization of the area, agriculture, even municipal administration, everything that a government is expected to do—naturally these men must be of a very high character and capacity. The other principle that has been accepted in this Bill is that all appointments must be made on merit. Nobody can take exception to it. Other provisions for the financing of this corporation, laying down its powers and its duties are there.

There is another thing, Sir. As this becomes a sort of autonomous body, the question naturally crops up, what should be the relation of the Central Government with this Corporation? A via media has been found out which lays down that questions of policy will be laid down by the Central Government, but in the actual day to day administration of the Corporation, the Central Government will not interfere. Every year a statement of account will be sent to the two Provincial Governments and to the Central Government; accounts will be audited; the treasurer is to be appointed by the Central Government—I am sorry to say, Sir, there is a mistake in printing. In clause 6 it ought to be:

"The treasurer of the Corporation shall be appointed by the Central Government."

It is wrong to say "by the Corporation with the previous approval of the Central Government."

These are some of the main principles on which this Bill is based. In fact there is not much to which exception can be taken, but I myself decided to move a reference to the Select Committee because I thought that this should be a model for many other schemes to come. So it is much better that it should be thoroughly discussed in the House and that it should be discussed more closely and in greater detail in the Select Committee, and it should be passed in the House in as model a form as possible. My own idea is that this should serve as a model for other schemes to come.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to detain the House further. I would welcome every suggestion, and the members of the Select Committee would also welcome, and you will be pleased to find that I have given representation in the Select Committee to both the provinces of Bihar as well as Bengal. I have no doubt that the two governments will co-operate in this joint endeavour, which is going to confer benefits on the people of both the provinces. Before a few months it was impossible to expect co-operation with the same intensity with which I may expect today because we are living under a different political set-up. Today we are all anxious to give ample power to the Centre so that that power may be used for the conferment of benefits on the people of the provinces. If you study the financial provisions of this scheme, the Central Government is going to share quite a large portion—50 per cent. so far as flood finances are concerned, and in other matters also to a considerable extent. It is therefore only meet and proper that the Central Government must have some voice—some power to issue instructions, and to see that the development and execution of this scheme is in consonance with the general policy laid down by it in this connection for the whole country. There should be no lop-sided development; we are all thinking of planning and we are also thinking that the planning should be on regional basis, there should be fair decentralization of industry. If industrialization is to depend upon power and if power is to be mainly supplied by hydro-electric energy, we are very fortunate that our rivers are so situated that we can easily have decentralization and regional planning so far as industrialization is concerned.

Sir, this Damodar Valley Scheme is the first of its kind and I feel it to be my singular good fortune that I should be called upon to pilot this Bill. And may I also say that the Members of the present House also have the singular good fortune of saying that here is an effort which is going to revolutionize the entire economy of this country, and when years hence those who come to take our places in this very House will say, "here is some thing which they started and made our country as worthy as is described in our national song: sujalam suphalam: sasya shaamalam: Sir, I move.

Mr. Speaker: Motion moved:

"That the Bill to provide for the establishment and regulation of a Corporation for the development of the Damodar Valley in the Provinces of Bihar and West Bengal, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty, Shri Surendra Mohan Ghosh, Shri Arun Chandra Guha, Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen, Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, Prof. N. G. Ranga, Shri Satyanarayan Sinha, Shri Jaipal Singh, Shri Ram Narayan Singh, Shri N. C. Mehta, Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad, Shri Mihirlal Chattopadhyaya, Shri B. A. Khimji, and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

Shri B. Das (Orissa: General): Sir, I congratulate my Honourable friend Mr. Gadgil that it has been his singular good fortune to introduce in this House the first measure, the first Congress measure, of benefit to a large number of people, and if I accept his own words that one lakh of people will be de-housed and that fifty lakhs of people will be benefited and will live in better conditions of life, let me say "Amen" to his substantial proposition. This is the first measure which the Congress Ministry has introduced, where a Bill thinks in terms of the people of the country. This is the first measure where the public health and well-being of the people have been considered. I refer the House to clauses 12 and 44. In clause 12 the functions of the Corporation has been laid down as:

"It shall be the duty of the Corporation to promote by such measures as it thinks fit the agricultural, industrial economic and public health development of the area within its operation."

I need not go into the other points which have already been referred to by my Honourable friend the Minister for Works, Mines and Power and has my approval.

Sir, this is a matter of great congratulation that the Congress Ministry has thought in terms of the public health and the welfare of teeming millions than in terms of capitalistic ideas as we find in other measures,—similar measures,—that were brought into existence by the predecessor of the present Government. Sir, that alien Government introduced many such corporation measures, control over which passed out of the hands of the Legislature and which though indirectly controlled by the then Government vested all powers in practice in the hands of the Corporations. Sir, the Reserve Bank Act, the Statutory Railway Authority, and the Ports Trust—the Madras, Bombay and Calcutta Ports Trusts—they are all controlled by Acts of Legislature.

[At this stage Mr. Speaker vacated the Chair, which was then occupied by Mr. Hussain Imam (one of the Panel of Chairmen).]

[Shri B. Das]

Similar Corporations were created, but unfortunately complete control passed away from the Legislature and even from the Government of India and the Commere Members of the time had little control over them. Nor even the Finance Members of the time had control over the Reserve Bank. I need not talk of the Railway Board which the House discussed threadbare a few days ago, and even today we are not satisfied with the administration of the Railway Board. Therefore, Sir, we are most anxious, and I agree with my Honourable friend Mr. Gadgil, that we should devise such a controlling measure over the establishment of Corporations that it should be the ideal system which all other similar measures of the Government should follow.

Sir, the House has already discussed the Electricity Bill which is also establishing similar Central Government Boards and Provincial Boards. The House has discussed the Industrial Finance Corporation, which is under the consideration of the Select Committee, where also we are establishing similar Corporations or Body of Directors who will control big finances; whether they will function for the well-being and welfare of the people, of that this House must be very careful. In handing over power to the Central Government through the Minister for Works, Mines and Power, we have to see that that Department has got adequate machinery and at the same time the necessary requisite experience and brains to control similar Corporations like the Damodar Valley Corporation. I believe soon there will be a Mahanadi Valley Corporation where the Central Government is financing 167 crores of which the other day in reply to a question my Honourable friend said he had sanctioned 67 crores for the Hirakud Project. But a certain amount of control—adequate and expert control—must be exercised by the Honourable Minister's Department; and that control must have experienced men who can overrule Directors of the Damodar Valley or Hirakud Projects, or even of other similar Projects by expert knowledge and expert administrative control.

Sir, at this stage there are two things about which I am not very happy. One lakh of people who are going to be de-housed will be rehabilitated. But what guarantee is there that each family will not be de-housed later on by those industrialists and capitalists who will come to those areas and set up their business? I would ask my Honourable friend to study closely the Punjab Canal Colonisation Acts under which land was given to agriculturists and a specific condition was made that non-agricultural classes cannot purchase the lands from agriculturists. Though West Punjab is not today part of India, it would be as well that our Government should borrow its experiences and practise them.

Then, Sir, I was a little alarmed when I heard my Honourable friend to say that large number of people from Calcutta and elsewhere are purchasing large acreage of land in the Damodar Valley, and that they were not Bengalis or Biharis either. The Honourable Minister's Department has been engaged on the Damodar Valley Scheme for the last two years. Why have they not notified that there should be no transfer of land, no appreciation of value of land in certain areas which are situated in the Damodar Valley and so on? Had it been done, this kind of rise in prices and inflation of land value would not have occurred. And then, Sir, I would not like all these exploiters, these big industrialists and capitalists, to come and deprive the children of the soil of Bengal and Bihar of their legitimate right to develop this multi-purpose scheme.

An Honourable Member: You have no poet's imagination.

Shri B. Das: I am an engineer, but engineers cannot be poets. This is an important aspect, to which I would like to draw the attention of my Honourable friend, and hope that he will see that there is no exploitation of the sons of the soil by the theory that the Damodar Valley belongs to Indians and not to Bengalis and Biharis.

Then, Sir, I do hope that the multi-purpose schemes which the Honourable Minister has started and others which he will introduce in future will all be successful, but we cannot compare our schemes with that of the Tennessee Valley Scheme of the United States. Our people have different characteristics, a different method of living. While the Americans have got large ideas in all spheres of living, we are somehow individualists and barring half a dozen or so of the members of this House, we are all of us from the rural areas and are of the agriculturist people. We do not want that the country side should be swept over by the capitalists with chimneys—of course, here is no chimneys, but electric fans. We do not want our workers in the workshops living in slum conditions. I do hope that the pious hopes of my Honourable friend will be justified and ten years hence, as my friend Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena would have it, the working classes in the Damodar Valley will be treated as the workmen of Henry Ford are treated in the U.S.A. under rural conditions of life.

But, Sir, one difficulty that my Honourable friend and we all will face in the progress of the multi-purpose schemes is that we are not a disciplined Nation. (An Honourable Member: "Question".) Our Government is not disciplined. We are all undisciplined. We are following theories and dreams. We are dreaming that we shall be progressing as the Tennessee Valley project does. But, Sir, America is a land of money, where money is worshipped. Of course there "work and money" go together. People work and earn money. But for tens of thousands of years we have been living under different ideologies. We cannot be a money-making machinery, although whenever my Honourable friend passes through Bombay City he can find people begging and at the same time people becoming very grey at thirty years by making money on the Stock Exchange or in other business and growing grey in mind and body in their hunt for money. Whatever forecasts the Honourable Minister's experts may make, he must consider this human factor of ourselves. We are Bengalis, or Biharis, or Indians, and we have a certain human way of living and we cannot suddenly grasp the high sounding ideas, the machine ideas, which the Tennessee Valley or the American people practice. That reminds me of a little story—a very good one—by Poet Rabindranath Tagore where the poet describes how machinery and the machine age is swallowing and destroying everything that is human in this earth. I don't just now recollect the full story, so I leave it to any friend from Bengal to narrate it.

About clause 12, Sir, I would like to suggest that it should be definitely laid down that the peasantry should not be uprooted and that the peasantry when it is rehabilitated must be permitted to retain its land permanently. There should be a permanent provision in Clause 14 also. A similar provision should be made in clause 44 also.

Now I come to the powers of the Corporation. The powers of the Corporation are defined in Clause 24. We are going to invest this Corporation with powers like a Provincial Government which is today more than amenable to public criticism. I would only hope that this Corporation will not exercise its powers as the Bombay Port Trust, for instance, where there could be no criticism from anybody, and not even the Chamber of Commerce, or any other bodies or even the Bombay Government, can exercise any control over it. That was the past; I do not think the present is any better. So in those draft rules giving powers to this Corporation, there should be more humanitarian clauses. I want to know whether the Corporation is going to be managed by Calcutta and Bombay millionaires, mostly non-Bengali and non-Bihari, who want to establish big industries there and who are acquiring or will acquire hundreds of thousands of acres of land to work agricultural farms in the American pattern, or is it the privilege of this Corporation to serve the people of those areas so that they are not wiped out and that the population there does not have to serve in factories as factory labour and live in conditions of slums? We Indians are individualists; we like to be small farm-holders with a few acres of land rather than draw Rs. 10 a day in a factory at Jamshedpur managed by Tatas or any other capitalists. So, as the Honourable the Minister mentioned, the Corporation will be a sort of Provincial Government, and I hope they should exercise similar human control as the Provincial Government and I hope my Honourable friends of the Select Committee will see to that.

[Shri B. Das]

I have already said that clause 44 should introduce this humanitarian aspect, particularly economic and social welfare and public health; it should be specifically laid down.

In clause 58 I find that the Central Government may by notification in the Official Gazette make rules. . . As the question affects the three Governments, the Central Government, the Bihar Government and the Bengal Government, the clause should be amended, so that the Bengal and the Bihar Governments should simultaneously publish those rules to enlighten the public. I suggest that much.

I would suggest one more thing. The annual report of the Corporation must be laid on the floor of this House and also on the floor of the Bengal and Bihar Provincial Assemblies; otherwise the criticism of popular representatives of this House and of Bengal and the Bihar Legislatures will not be exercised and I find from my experience of 25 years, that if this is not done, we never get the chance to examine these reports. This House never got a chance to discuss the Reserve Bank annual reports and if we lay down in every measure like this and similar measures that the annual reports of such bodies and Corporations should be laid on the floor of this House, then there will be a debate on it in this House and the Corporation will not get more bureaucratic than the Tata concerns, Birla concerns or any other industrial concerns.

These are some of the observations I make, not with a view to criticise my Honourable friend Mr. Gadgil, whom I have congratulated, but with a view to help him to have full control of this House to continue over the Corporation which he is bringing forth now, under our Free India Government. While I wish such corporations every success so that it may prove beneficial to the nation, it has yet to be seen whether they will serve as an instrument of human service. Our unfortunate experience under the foreign rule has been that whenever we have created a body or corporation in the interests of the nation, that body has become Frankenstein and has worked against public liberty, public peace and public welfare. I do not mean, I do not anticipate, but I give that warning. The time is so short between the past and the present. It is very difficult for me or for many of the Honourable Members of this House to anticipate that everything will be well, because, though we are a democratic and free country, we are all autocratic by our tradition and nature and I do hope that no autocracy will enter into the working of the Corporation and that it will work in the interest of the teeming millions, and not very much in the interests of outside capitalists who always go in for large-scale development and for exploitation of everybody and everything.

Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena (U. P. General): I congratulate the Honourable the Minister on having presented the House with this epoch-making Bill. I should have wished that the Government came forward with a very comprehensive plan for the whole nation, which could transform our backward nation into one of the most powerful nations on earth. I however, think that this is a Bill in the right direction. If it had come as a part of the comprehensive plan, I think it would have been better and then you could have stressed each part of the plan according to its necessity. I do not know what amount of time will be taken to complete the project, but I do say that every step should be taken to hurry it and to do it as quickly as possible, because we are a nation who are very much backward at present in the world and we have to make much lee-way to come into our own and therefore, I trust the Honourable Minister in charge, who I know is one of the most energetic persons, will, I hope, inject some of his energy into the execution of this project. This project reminds me of my own valley where I happen to live in Gorakhpur district where every year floods come in the river Rapti which rises in Nepal and flows through the eastern United Provinces and then falls into the Saraju. The river devastates thousands of acres of land every year and the people of Gorakhpur sometimes call it their big enemy. I know that river can be made to be as good a friend and as great a benefactor of that valley, as the Damodar river will become to its valley after this project is completed. I would draw the attention of the Honourable the Minister to take up that river project also. The valley of this river has the most fertile and most populous land in the world. In the Gorakhpur district probably we have got the most dense population, somewhere about 1,500 people to the mile. It was till recently probably the biggest district having 40 lakhs population and probably the most dense population in this country. I therefore hope that when the next valley project is to be taken, the claims of the Rapti Valley will also be taken into consideration, and therefore I had suggested that if a comprehensive plan for the whole nation were made and the needs of each valley were taken into consideration, the whole thing could be fitted in into one big plan and priorities fixed for its various items. I do hope that my suggestion will be borne in mind when the next valley is selected.

My Honourable friend the Minister was happy to remind me that this is a State enterprise. That means that every Bill relating to such valley schemes will now be a State enterprise. That leads me to hope that he has accepted the argument that we put forward during the debate on the Electricity Bill for complete nationalisation of all industries and now I believe that the whole scheme envisaged in the Electricity Bill will be under State control. The theory of mixed economy I should say is a most vicious theory and it should not be allowed to play havoc in the development of key industries.

I also want to draw attention to one other thing in this Bill that is, to section 49 where compulsory acquisition of land is mentioned. My experience about big projects under the British Government has been that when land is acquired for carrying them out, the poor peasants who are displaced from their ancient lands suffer most. They get very little compensation and are not properly cared for. I hope under the National Government when land is acquired, the claims of those people who are displaced will not be lost sight of. There should be some provision in the rules of such schemes and care should be taken to see that those people, whose original homes had to be taken away in order to provide happiness to the millions by executing such big projects, should share in the happiness resulting from the execution of such schemes so that when the projects are complete, they should have a claim to priority in sharing the resultant benefits. Sir, I do not wish to take any more time of the House; the Honourable Speaker has said we must see that all the business on the agenda is gone through today. I support the Motion.

Mr. R. K. Sidhwa (C. P. and Berar: General): Sir, I have very great pleasure in supporting this Bill. I am glad because when this project is completed it will bring prosperity not only to these two provinces but to the whole of India. That is a point which has to be borne in mind. Today in spite of the Grow More Food campaign we say that Government have not bestowed proper attention to this question. When 50 lakh square miles of land will be under cultivation by a perennial supply of water through this valley it will grow so much surplus food that these two provinces will supply the deficit provinces; and the great burden that is imposed on this country by import of foodgrains will be considerably lifted. That is a redeeming feature of this scheme and I congratulate the Government on attending to this so early. I speak, Sir, from a little experience of the Sukkur Barrage in Sind. Before the Barrage was constructed the land was desert. In 1924 when the Bombay Government passed the scheme it cost 26 crores of rupees. It is one of the finest engineering feats in the world, and today its construction, I am sure, would cost more than 50 crores of rupees. After the construction of this Barrage the whole area has been brought under cultivation by a perennial supply of water and there has been a wonderful change in the situation. When Sind separated from Bombay it was considered to be a deficit province and this legislature was good enough to grant a subvention of a crore of rupees to run the province. After the construction of the Sukkur Barrage the cultivated area became so prosperous that the Government of India's debt of something like 26 crores of rupees was liquidated long before the stipulated period. I am therefore hopeful that this proposed scheme also will bring even greater prosperity to the provinces of India.

[Mr. R. K. Sidhwa]

Another redeeming feature of this Bill is the proposed establishment of a Corporation and the entrusting of the work to three experts. Again from my experience of the Sukkur Barrage I can say that that work was entrusted to an able and efficient engineer. But there was enormous leakage, and in the Bombay Legislative Assembly it was revealed that a very large amount out of this 24 crores had gone out by back-door methods. In the present case the three members shall not have much to do with it either directly or indirectly. I must say that 'indirectly' is rather a vague word, and those who are appointed must be above board, men of honesty and integrity. Apart from their ability and engineering knowledge they must have those qualifications. I know that three is a small number but for work of this nature only a small body is necessary. I know it is difficult to get persons of integrity. But such people are available and I hope no other consideration will prevail in appointing them.

With regard to the supply of electricity I am glad to find that the electrical energy will be generated and given only by this Corporation, and the Honourable Minister stated that it will bring in a revenue of a crore of rupees. I only wish that the rate should be such as to encourage both industrial and domestic consumption, so that the villages in the vicinity may have electric power. That should be the aim of this Government. They must not try to make any profit out of this electricity because it will bring greater industrial prosperity to this country. Clause 19(2) says:

"Where a license is deemed to have been revoked under sub-section (1) the Corporation shall purchase the undertaking of the licensee, and where a license is modified under that sub-section, the Corporation shall, at the option of the licensee, either purchase the undertaking or pay fair compensation to the licensee."

The other day we discussed the nationalisation of electricity. Unfortunately we were not successful in amending the Bill in the way we wanted. But there is a provision that small electric concerns, of whatever size, may be purchased by Government. By the purchase of this electric concern, the electric concerns there will be nationalised. That will lead to further expansion through which many more activities will be undertaken by the people.

Sir, I have not studied the Bill thoroughly but from the cursory glance I find that there is nothing on which the Honourable Minister can be criticised. The money that will be spent will be spent properly on this Corporation, which is a new feature of this Bill. The scheme will minimise corruption to a large extent, though it may not do away with it altogether.

Sir, as I said before, it will bring prosperity to the whole of India and I whole-heartedly support the Bill.

Shri Jaipal Singh (Bihar: General): Sir, my Honourable friend Shri Gadgil has been talking of dam, dam and more dams. I feel that he should be designated the damming Minister. I congratulate him and congratulate myself also that it should have fallen to the lot of my home area, Jharkhand, to provide the first model dam that is to be followed by other dams and river control enterprises that are under the consideration of the Government of India. I do not mean mere platitude when I thank our national Government for having put an end to talks and paper planning. For nearly five decades we had been reading and hearing about the Bhakra Dam but nothing happened. Within a few months of the attainment of our independence, we heard only the other day the Honourable Minister for Works, Mines and Power telling us that the Bhakra Dam would be completed in something like five years. That is a matter for congratulation as well as gratification on the part of our leaders as well as the country. My honourable friend has indirectly abused Jharkhand for having resorted to flooding 4 P.M. Bengal all these years. He has, in a very indirect way, made reference to the misbehaviour of the River Damodar. He has accused us as though it was a deliberate intent of this holy river of the Adibasis. The River Damodar is a sacred river of the most ancient people of this country. The river Damodar is to the Adibasis what the Ganges is to some of you Hindus. This river is very well behaved. It has had no intention whatever of drowning the Bengalis but it is the people of Bengal who have been misbehaving themselves in regard to the Damodar and the gods of the Adibasis have inflicted punishment on them!

Four years ago, we have been told, the main line of East Indian Railway was completely washed away by the Damodar floods and the deviation of that main route cost something like Rs. 75 lakhs. Sir, all this flooding has not been anything motivated by our Adibasi gods. But it has been the work of mischievous and ruthless capitalists, like Dalmia and Birla who have been denuding our forests higher up. I, as an Adibasi if I were to cut down a bamboo, would be put into prison for doing it. But Dalmia comes along and he is denuding vast forest areas with the result that the rains cannot be held—water comes down. There is terrific soil erosion and torrents rush down to drown poor West Bengal. The fault is not of the river Damodar but of modern capitalists and mischievous and ruthless business men. Sir, they live in Bengal; they are offered sanctuary in Bengal and to all intents and purposes they are Bengal people.

I am not impressed so much by the 52 crores or more that all these various dams are going to cost. These figures may be very impressive. The Bhakra Dam may be 500 feet high. It may produce 300,000 K.W. of firm power. It may turn East Punjab into a prosperous home for evacuees who have been turned out of West Punjab. They may become the owner of land better than they had in West Punjab. All that is very well. But how is it going to effect the 300 odd Adibasi villages, which as Mr. Gadgil said, are going to be completely uprooted? He has indicated that we have to take up a very peculiar attitude in this matter. We are not to worry so much about the one lakh of people that are going to be uprooted, people who have been there for thousands and thousands of years. No, they do not count so much; the question for him is, the country as a whole must be taken into consideration—damn this one lakh of people! That is his attitude. If it comes to a choice whether the rest of the country is going to benefit by the annihilation of this one lakh of people who are to be uprooted, it is immaterial to him. That is the argument he has been trying to mention. I do not quite know whether he realises what he has incurred.

I wish my Honourable friend would come to Manbhum. I hope the Standing Committee for the Ministry of Mines, Works and Power will meet in Manbhum the next time. He will see for himself, on the very spot, where this project is going to be materialised that this morning's Act, whereby you are going to give special powers to the Armed Forces, is going to be of no consequence, unless you are going to treat the whole question, as my Honourable friend, Mr. Das has put it, from the human angle. The very best—the first—priority must be given to the demands of the people who, pro tempore, are going to be uprooted and expropriated for this one project to materialise itself. Something like 300 villages will have to be submerged. The Adibasi is the child of the soil of that particular territory. It is he who has to be uprooted and not the big business man may be from Bombay, or Madras, or Calcutta.

[Shri Jaipal Singh]

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar (Madras: General): No business man from Madras!

Shri Jaipal Singh: If that is the case, then, perhaps, Manbhum will be the one area in which the Madrasi will not dominate. However, even my friend, Mr. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar, will be very welcome if he behaves himself there!

The question is this and you appreciate it very well yourself. Many months ago, when the question of the acquisition of these 300 villages and the land about that vicinity had to be taken into consideration by the Provincial Government, at the behest, I presume, of the Central Government, there was rebellion brewing among the Santhals. It was the time of the general elections. The Provincial Government had to climb down and say: We will stay this project. We will do nothing about it.

I just want to impress upon the House the political implications of things that we say in this House. Is my Honourable friend prepared to go and tell the Bihar Government and these 300 villages: You are of no consequence, go, get out: the country at large comes first, needs prime consideration? I do not, for one moment, want to take a selfish attitude, Mr. Chairman. Adibasis or no Adibasis they must align themselves with the all-India situation. But let not my advanced friends act unwisely because power is in their hands. That the Adibasis will not tolerate. I want to attack, if I may put it, this problem from the human angle. My Honourable friend, Mr. Gadgil, will have to give the assurance; so far as the question of resettlement is concerned, he must be unequivocal. There must be no misunderstanding about it. He must be unequivocal that the 300 villages and the one lakh of people that have to be uprooted at the present moment are not merely compensated. No Adibasi wants your money. Money compensation is useless to a poor man. What we want is a permanent compensation. We want to rehabilitate these people and resettle them in conditions that are natural to them. That is the point that my Honourable friend, Mr. Das, has been trying to make. I shall be the first one to go round those 300 villages of Santhals and tell them that this project is going to be of the greatest benefit to them. It is in no way going to annihilate them. But Government assurance must be definite. It is not merely a question of 52 lakhs of people being able to benefit from this Damodar Valley project. I want to know how the 52 lakhs are going to be made up. Is it going to improve the lot of the eight lakhs of my Jharkhand Adibasis who have been made slaves of in the tea gardens of Assam? Are they the people you will endeavour to repatriate so that they can get back to their original homes? I daresay my Honourable friend, Mr. Gadgil, will say, 'Certainly I will put them on the top priority list. What further grouse have you?' He can say that. But I want to have a little more detail about it. I am only giving one instance. There are any number of organisations for recruitment of coolies in Chota Nagpur. They are crimping away the poor people, sending them away to distant places like Assam to work in the Tea gardens as coolies? Is any particular endeavour going to be made to repatriate such people, so that they can be brought back to where they were till only the other day for centuries and centuries. That is the human aspect about it. The Adibasis certainly will co-operate with the Central and the provincial Governments in anything that is going to benefit them equally. It is not a question of secondary consideration, as the Honourable Member was trying to make out. We will not have that. You are taking our villages; you are acquiring our land. We must come first in your consideration. We have the right to demand and get the best from you, being the original inhabitants of this country. It is for the same reason that I would insist that the Corporation that is to be appointed is the main authority for dealing with all problems of resettlement. Let that corporation be a corporation with power. There are some members who seem to think that this corporation will behave just as the Bombay Port Trust or some other trust has behaved. If we want to go ahead and do big things, we must not be battered by old ideas. Certainly we cannot get away from our cultural ties. It does not mean to say that the T.V.A. idea can be in toto transplanted here. As a matter of fact I wish it were possible for members of the Standing Committee to visit the Tennessey Valley and see what is there being done, so that they can be of greater value to my Honourable friend Mr. Gadgil. But nonetheless the Government should see that this Corporation of the Damodar Valley project that is being created by this Bill is worked by our people and for our people and, therefore, naturally the bias must be of a character that will be understood and that will have a meaning to the people of the area.

Sir, there is very much more that I want to say but at this stage I do not wish to say it. But I do congratulate my Honourable friend Mr. Gadgil for putting the Damodar Valley project first, so that the advice he has received from eminent engineers, and administrators like Mr. Savage and Mr. Voorduin of the Tennessey Valley Administration, may be of the greatest benefit and that the scheme itself may be the model for all the future projects.

In conclusion, may I suggest, let us not stop with this. As far as the Damodar Valley project is concerned, it is coming into reality by the concerted action of the Governments of Bihar and Bengal but I do hope, in other cases also, there will be this kind of concert. There are other projects also which would not cost the fantastic and astronomical figure of 52 or 75 crores. There are places like Gangasagar, not many miles from Ranchi, where the spending of a mere three lakhs will make a reservoir with something like five miles of water.

My Honourable friend talked of water supply. The summer capital of the present province of Bihar would be getting very good, clean water free by the expenditure of a small sum of 3 lakhs only. I do hope he will consider Gangasagar also. Jharkhand is an area which is full of possibilities for us—Dams, dams and more dams.

Begum Aizaz Rasul (U.P. Muslim): Sir, I congratulate the Honourable Minister for the very important piece of legislation that he has introduced in the House today. These congratulations are not formal and are really deserving because we all realise that this is one of those great schemes that will put this country of ours on a par and in line with those other great countries which are so prosperous in the world today. It is such schemes that have made those countries great. Schemes to exploit and utilise the natural resources of the country have to be undertaken in order to make a country great and prosperous and in these days when science has made such great strides in all fields of development such as agriculture, medicine etc. it is necessary that the development of the natural resources of a country should engage the earliest attention of our government.

Sir, it has been said that by this project only the two provinces of Bengal and Bihar will benefit but to my mind this is not a matter that can be confined to any one province alone, because it means the entire prosperity and well-being of this great country as a whole. Therefore for this reason every one of us should be happy and should fully cooperate with this scheme so that it may go forward as quickly and successfully as possible.

[Begum Aizaz Rasul.]

The pressure on our land is so great that by the development of this large tract of land it will be lightened to a great extent and the benefits that will accrue to the country by the settlement and rehabilitation of a very large number of people is in itself a very great thing. Sir, every avenue should be explored and exploited in order to improve the agricultural condition of our country so that better results should be forthcoming as far as agricultural returns are concerned. From that point of view also this scheme is a tremendous step forward and as the Minister has very clearly explained the position, it will really be a very beneficial scheme for this country. When we read about the Tennessee Valley Scheme and saw, as the Honourable Minister himself saw, films which showed to the world the great results that were achieved by this scheme in America, we also wondered whether a time would come when this country of ours which is so rich in natural resources could also put forward such schemes for the improvement and development of those resources. It was once a dream and it is now being put into reality. I do not think any one of us here should minimise the great importance of this great scheme. It is something that we dreamt about which is now coming true. Therefore for this reason also I congratulate the Honourable Minister for having conceived this great scheme and for now putting it into reality.

The very important question of the housing arrangement and resettlement of the people who will have to be necessarily uprooted from that area has been brought forward before this House. I know in such schemes such questions necessarily arise. It is a very important factor; special care should be given to the arrangements that are to be made for the resettlement and rehabilitation of people who will lose their homes. I have experience only of much smaller schemes, in which land has been taken for building factories or for other purposes and the thousands of people who are uprooted from those areas have to face a great deal of trouble and hardship. But where a scheme is so large and where not a few thousand but one lakh of people are to be rendered homeless I hope that Government will give its careful consideration to the arrangements that will be made for rehabilitating these people.

Sir, I will not take much of the time of the House in expanding upon this subject as the Honourable Minister has very clearly laid the whole picture before us and if he felt like a poet in describing the good wonderful things that would accrue to the country from this scheme, I think all of us hearing his speech also felt poetic in visualizing all those wonders and hope that the day is not far off when this dream will be put into reality and wilderness turned into a garden. With these few words, Sir, I wish this scheme every success and trust that the hopes that have been brought forward by the Honourable Minister will fructify very soon.

Dr. P. S. Deshmukh (C.P. and Berar: General): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I do not propose to make a long speech. I endorse all the congratulatory expressions which have been uttered on the floor of this House and join in the good wishes that have been given to the Honourable Minister who has proposed the scheme. Incidentally I also congratulate my friend Mr. Jaipal Singh for the very excellent speech which he has delivered. I have no doubt that the earnestness with which he spoke will receive the attention of the Honourable Minister and that the welfare of those people who are likely to be the sufferers on account of this beneficent scheme would be sympathetically and adequately dealt with when the scheme gets on its legs and is put into operation. My learned friend behind me—I am referring to Prof. Shibban Lal Saksena—said that he would have welcomed the Minister placing before the House a comprehensive plan with similar projects for the whole of India. I really would have wished the same though I am prepared to concede that this is an excellent beginning. Everyone of us who do not belong to Bengal or Bihar would like to look round ourselves and see what particular benefit is likely to accrue to us as a result of the Honourable Minister's schemes. It has of course to be admitted that the project is such a huge one that the whole of India is bound to be benefited, and since we are in India we are also likely to be benefited. Nonetheless speaking of the part of India from where I come, I may tell the House that God has bestowed one of the most fertile pieces of land upon us. It is very productive but the ravages of the exploiters and businessmen and all sorts of outsiders who have come and taken away our wealth have left us as poor and helpless as ever. Ours should have been the richest part in the whole of India. Yet, curiously enough, we suffer from want of even drinking water. The capital of Berar, namely Amraoti, has been shouting for the last fifty years to have a water works for drinking water and yet under all the various Governments that we have had and with all the people who have been governing us we have not been able to get that. I hope, Sir, that while making schemes of irrigation and big projects the Honourable Minister will not forget our part of the country. Fortunately we are not altogether wanting in valleys and rivers. But unfortunately like this same sacred Damodar River they cause more damage and do less good to us. I hope, Sir, you have heard of the name of the Satpura mountains. There are valleys in them which I am sure could be tackled, which could be made to give us some drinking water and also enable hydro-electric and irrigation schemes to be planned. If that is done I can assure you Sir that these four small districts of Berar will probably contribute a very large amount of additional foodgrains which will relieve the strain on our finances a great deal. Similarly I hope that the projects recommended by Mr. Jaipal Singh and Professor Saksena will receive attention and that my Honourable friend will not content himself that now that he has put forward a big project of Rs. 52 crores he can rest and the remaining schemes may take their own turn. I hope he will show the same energy and alertness so far as the rest of India is concerned and confer the good for which we are waiting for such a long time. I once again join in the congratulatory remarks made by my friends and close my speech.

Shri K. Santhanam (Madras: General): Mr. Chairman, the Honourable Mr. Gadgil is fortunate as he himself confessed. While others are speaking of planning it has fallen to his lot to move in the same session two measures of far reaching importance. The other day we adopted his motion for Select Committee in respect of the Electricity Bill which is intended to reconstruct the entire production and distribution of electricity all over the country. Now he has brought before us a measure which, as he himself said, is likely to be a model of many similar measures which will bring about a network of these multi-purpose projects—all managed and administered by public corporations.

Sir, so many of my friends here have spoken generally about the Bill that I do not want to waste the time of the House in speaking about the benefits which the country is likely to derive from this corporation. I want to make some specific suggestions regarding the provisions of the Bill. But before I do so I must mention that I took great interest in the remarks of my friend Mr. Jaipal Singh. He made a powerful plea for a permanent resettlement of the villages which are likely to be submerged by the new dams to be constructed under this project. I endorse his plea. I wish to go further and suggest that in every stage of the progress of this corporation the youths of the Adibasis should be drafted and made skilled workers. They should not be left merely as agricultural workers in a different part. As many of them as possible, boys and girls, should become apprentices—engineering apprentices, medical apprentices and all other kinds of apprentices—so that by the time the project comes into operation the Adibasis will be able economically to stand shoulder to shoulder with the other sections of the community in the neighbouring areas.

[Shri K. Santhanam.]

Coming to the Bill as such, it is fashioned more or less on the model of the Tennessey Valley of which we have heard so much. But I find certain differences. In the Tennessey Valley I find this interesting clause:

"Each of the Members of the Board shall be a citizen of the United States and shall receive a salary at the rate of 10,000 dollars a year to be paid by the Corporation as Current Expenses."

I think it is necessary that in this Bill also we should provide that every Member of the Corporation shall be a citizen of India and his salary also should be fixed so that there might be no manipulations between the Government and the Members regarding the salaries and allowances. It should be a salary fixed by the Bill like that of a High Court Judge or a Federal Court Judge or of the Ministers, so that they will not have to come before the Central Government and plead for some more salary and some more allowances.

And then, Sir, I fear this composition of three, consisting practically of one nominee of the Central Government and one nominee each of the two provincial governments, to form the Corporation will lack the technical talent necessary. I think there should be one competent civil engineer and one electrical engineer as Members of the Corporation. All the three members to be nominated are likely to be administrators, public men or the much abused politicians. I do not think that any corporation will work well without them: but they should not be the sole members. I do suggest that the membership should be increased to 5 and it should compulsorily include one electrical engineer and one civil engineer.

And then, Sir, it is said that the Secretary of the Corporation shall be the chief executive officer and shall be appointed by the Central Government. I cannot understand what the other people are. I think that every member of the Corporation is an executive officer. What are they? They are not mere directors of the Corporation. They are full time workers. Then why is this Secretary the Chief executive officer? Is not the Chairman of the Board the chief executive officer? Are not the other members to be executive officers of the particular departments of which they are in charge? I think the whole idea of a Board with a Secretary and a Treasurer is not a proper conception. And then what is the meaning of Treasurer? I can understand a Financial Commissioner. I can understand a Chief Accountant. What is a Treasurer? It is not a charitable society where the treasurer is to receive cheques and deposit them in the bank. The Reserve Bank will manage the funds: and therefore I think the Secretary and the Treasurer may be amalgamated with the Board, of which there would be 3 administrators and 2 engineers and one of them may act as Secretary, one as Chairman and another person deal with accounts and finance. Those are my suggestions regarding the constitution of the Corporation.

Now, Sir, if you turn to clause 12 about the functions of the Corporation, it is said it shall be the duty of the Corporation to promote by such methods as it thinks fit the agricultural, industrial, economic and public health development of the area within its operation. I believe, Sir, that this is too wide. Not that I object to any of these activities, but every corporation should be confined to its own business. It should not become a sort of roving public benefits society. Its business is to give water, is to give power, and let the provincial government and the people benefit by them as much as possible. It should not say "I have built these hospitals, I have built these schools, and therefore I am in a state of deficit finance and the Central Government should come to my help, the Bengal Government should come to my help, and the Bihar Government should come to my help". And therefore the scope of sub-clause (1) of clause 12 should be strictly limited to the essential purposes for which the corporation is being formed.

My greatest difficulty is regarding Part IV. Sir, clauses 32, 33 and 34 deal with the allocation of expenditure chargeable to projects on main objects. If I go into a detailed analysis of these clauses, it will take up the time of the House too much, and so I shall confine myself to making a few general observations. These disputes about the allocation of capital and the distribution of profits and proceeds is always a very complicated business. I know that the Tungabhadra project in Madras has been delayed by 20 years because the two or three governments concerned would not come to an agreement regarding the share of the water, the share of the capital and of the proceeds. I think there should be a schedule attached to it which gives more or less detailed instructions as to how these allocations of the capital expenditure should be made and how the allocation of the proceeds should be made, and to what heads particular items of expenditure should be charged. For instance, Sir, in clause 44 the annual report is to contain the activities of the Corporation relating to canal works, water supply and electrical energy, food control, navigation, afforestation, soil erosion, use of lands, resettlement of displaced population, sanitation and public health measures, etc. Sir, for instance, is the resettlement of the 300 villages about which Mr. Jaipal Singh spoke, is it to be the responsibility of Bihar? Is it Central responsibility or the responsibility of Bengal? Why should these matters be left to the Corporation? How can it decide? It should be done in the Bill itself by a proper schedule. Just as the Electricity Bill contained elaborate schedules to define what the Corporation should do, this Corporation also should have definite detailed instructions so that time may not be wasted by all kinds of conflicts and confusion.

Well, Sir, I shall not take more time of the House, but I do suggest that the Select Committee should go into all these matters and should give the country a Bill which can be more or less without further consideration automatically adopted. When similar projects have to be framed, we should not waste the time of the House or the country by going into all these projects again in detail, and therefore it is all the more necessary that the first big Corporation we are forming for this purpose should be absolutely complete and should be financially solvent. I find in the Act of the Tennessey Valley detailed provisions regarding the scope of finance, how much they can raise by loan, at what rates and in what manner. Here we simply find that the Corporation, with the sanction of the Central Government, may raise any funds in any manner, and use it in any way. I think that is not a satisfactory way of dealing with the country's finances. I think that also should be dealt with either by more adequate provisions within the body of the Bill or by a separate schedule. I hope that the Select Committee will look into all these matters carefully and even if it takes some time, will not hesitate to call for expert evidence.

With these observations I wholeheartedly support the proposal before the House.

Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar (West Bengal: General): Mr. Chairman, Sir, speaker after speaker from provinces congratulated the Honourable Mr. Gadgil on bringing forward this Bill, and I rise here on my behalf and on behalf of the people of West Bengal to convey my felicitations to the Minister for introducing this Bill in this Assembly.

Sir, I do not want to enter into the defects of the Bill, if there be any, at this stage. But I have enough confidence in the Select Committee, and would be guided by the Honourable Minister, as I am confident that the Bill would come out from their hands with a positive assurance of benefit to all. Damodar is a sacred river, and all rivers are sacred in our eyes. But its sacredness has now vanished and it has become a terror to us because of its fury. Our active association with the Damodar dates back to 1913 when there was that devastating flood. All these years there have been so many devastating floods, but I think the most disastrous one was that in the year 1943. If by this project the people assure him his suggestions will certainly be taken into consideration by the Select Committee.

[Shri N. V. Gadgil.]

My Honourable friend Mr. Das said that care should be taken that no exploiters and capitalists invade this Valley. I just want to point out to him that it is the intention that as far as possible industrialisation should be undertaken by cooperative societies and with that view, it has been laid down specifically in clause 22 as follows: "To aid in the establishment of co-operative societies and other organisations for the better use of facilities made available by the Corporation". It is not the intention in this Bill to provide for every detail about the working, the control and the rules of the Corporation. Only the main principles are embodied, and other matters are left for the Corporation to deal with by making suitable rules.

Having dealt with the various points raised by the speakers, Sir, I once more repeat my assurance that whatever suggestions have been made in this House in the course of this debate, and whatever may also come hereafter from members of this House or from members of the public, they will be duly considered by the Select Committee. As I said, it is the intention that this Bill, when it becomes an Act, should serve as a model for the administration of the many multi-purpose schemes which we have in our view. I once more thank the House for having co-operated with me in sending this Bill to the Select Committee.

Mr. Chairman: The question is:

"That the Bill to provide for the establishment and regulation of a Corporation for the development of the Damodar Valley in the Provinces of Bihar and West Bengal, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham Chetty, Shri Surendra Mohan Ghosh, Shri Arun Chandra Guha, Shri Prafulla Chandra Sen, Dr. B. Pattabhi Sitaramayya, Prof. N. G. Ranga, Shri Satyanarayan Sinha, Shri Jaipal Singh, Shri Ram Narayan Singh, Shri N. C. Mehta, Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad, Shri Mithilal Chattopadhyaya, Shri B. A. Khimji, and the Mover, with instructions to report on the opening day of the next session of the Assembly, and that the number of members whose presence shall be necessary to constitute a meeting of the Committee shall be five."

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Chairman: The House will now adjourn sine die.

The Assembly then adjourned sine die.

INDEX

TO

Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative) Debates
Volumes I to III—17th November to 12th December 1947

A

ACCESSION—

Instrument of — by Indian States and Governor-General's acceptance thereof and of Standstill Agreement by the states—copies laid on the table. 209-17.

Question re—

— of Hyderabad State to Indian Dominion. 1623.

— of Junagadh State. 191.

— of Junagadh to Pakistan and of Kashmir to India. 779.

— of Nizam's State to Indian Union, and exodus of Muslims to the State. 563-64.

Instrument of — signed by the States. 1159, 1623-24.

Names of the states acceded to the Indian Dominion. 159, 164-65, 166-67.

Number of the States acceded to Indian Union have legislatures and responsible Ministers. 580-81.

Singing of Instrument of — by States. 1159, 1623-24.

States acceded to Pakistan and India's relations with States not joining either of the Dominions. 562-63.

ACCOMMODATION—

Question re—

Allotment of vacant military barracks to refugees. 1598.

Creation of colonies for Central Government Servants. 1055.

Government acquisition of houses and buildings at Bombay and Poona. 1598.

Provision of — to Government Servants in Delhi. 89-90.

Provision of — to the employees of Government of India. 81.

Temporary — for Forces during War. 177-78.

See also "Housing"

ACCOUNT(S)—

Question re Post Office Savings Bank — in Pakistan. 1224-25.

ACCOUNTANT GENERAL—

Question re employment of Biharis in —'s Office, Bihar. 179-80

ACQUISITION—

Question re—

Buildings in Ward No. 14, Delhi, not acquired by Delhi Improvement Trust. 21.

Government — of houses and buildings at Bombay and Poona. 1598.

ACT(S)—

Arms—

Question re—

Exemption to Members of Constituent Assembly from provisions of — 1799-1800.

Modification of — and availability of arms to public. 1157.

Central Excises and Salt—

Notifications under —, 1944 — laid on the table. 1800-07.

Indian Aircraft—

Notification re rules framed under the —, 1934—laid on the table. 350.

India Tea Restrictions—

Question re revival of — 196-97.

Motor Vehicles—

Notification re rules framed under the —, —laid on the table. 345-49.

Registration of Foreigners—

Declarations of Exemptions under the —, —laid on the table. 596-606.

ADDISON, LORD—

Question re —'s visit to India. 456.

ADJOURNMENT(S)—

Motion for — re—

Abolition of B. A. Railway — not moved. 37.

Agreement between the Dominion of India and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar — Disallowed. 1056.

Announcement to decontrol sugar and consequent rise in prices — Disallowed. 981.

Failure of the Government to stop tribal raids from Pakistan. — Disallowed. 1463.

Non-repudiation by Government of India of U.P. Government's deal with All-India Sugar Syndicate, Lucknow — Ruled out of order. 1799.

Plight of refugees from Western Pakistan — Not moved. 37.

Valuables of Non-Muslims in Lahore Safe Deposit Vaults — Disallowed. 495-96.

[Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar]

of West Bengal could get rid of the havoc done by such floods, then the choicest blessings of Almighty God will be on the head of the Select Committee and the Honourable Mr. Gadgil. The people of Bengal would also ever remain grateful to the Government for this beneficent Project.

Shri M. S. Aney (Deccan and Madras State's Group): Not on the head of the Government?

Shri Suresh Chandra Majumdar: Well, in my mind the Honourable Mr. Gadgil represents the head of the Government in this matter, and when I say that the blessings of the Almighty will be on his head, I say that the blessings of the Almighty will be on the head of my Government.

Sir, most of the speakers have dilated on the beneficial results that would flow from this Bill and I would not repeat them. Well, according to our calculations ten lakhs of acres of land in West Bengal will be benefited by this scheme as this entire area would be capable of cultivation. Sir, we are passing through a crisis of food shortage but this shortage is somewhere about six per cent. I hope that with these ten lakhs of acres coming under cultivation, Bengal would be able to do something in the matter of reducing this shortage, if not completely wiping it out.

Besides the benefit to Agriculture, the hydro-electric power that we would get will benefit the two big Provinces. We can electrify our houses, and our Railways. We can start all manner of industries, big and small. Besides, the proposed loco workshop at Asansol would be highly benefited by this Scheme.

There is one other matter to which I must refer. Sir, I am entirely in agreement with my Honourable friend Mr. Jaipal Singh that apart from the engineering and the economic points of view, the Scheme must be carried out from the human and also the humane point of view. The apprehensions he has voiced regarding the Adibasis, I fully realise, they must be constantly kept in view. Nothing should be done to harm even a single Adibasi in the execution of this project. But I have every hope that with the Honourable Mr. Gadgil at the head and with the Members of the Select Committee, they will be able to work out the scheme in such a way and make the Bill so flawless that not a single Adibasi could be injured;—rather that all the Adibasis also will be immensely benefited by this Project. If that is not done, Sir, I think not only the grace of the whole thing will be taken away but it would be a cruel scheme, if it is humanly impossible to work out the scheme without injuring a single Adibasi. The interests of the Adibasis should be permanently kept in view.

I once again congratulate the Honourable Minister for introducing this Bill and I hope that with the help of the Members of the Select Committee the Bill would be so shaped that it would be passed without any opposition at the beginning of the next session.

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: Mr. Chairman, it is a unique experience for me to receive congratulations from all sections of the House. That is a rather good fortune.

I do not propose to answer in detail some of the points raised by some of the Members who participated in the discussion, but I cannot restrain myself from speaking so far as the question of resettlement is concerned. My Honourable friend Mr. Jaipal Singh spoke with sincerity and with strength and I appreciated his speech more than I appreciated the speech of any other Member. In my own speech, if the House remembers, I stated that this aspect of resettlement is the most important aspect and it has got to be tackled with great skill and delicacy. I want to assure my friend Mr. Jaipal Singh that every person who will be uprooted from the soil will be resettled, not in the same surroundings or similar surroundings, but in better surroundings. He will exchange his hovel for a decent cottage, darkness for light and fanaticism for faith. I want to assure my friend that the resettlement of the expropriated people will be the first charge on the attention, the energy and the finances of the Corporation. I think a clearer assurance than that is not necessary and I do not think my Honourable friend Mr. Jaipal Singh wants it either.

I was very happy to see that in this particular matter the capitalist Mr. Das and the socialist Mr. Saksena agreed. I was also happy to know that a modern lady and an Adibasi were also one in congratulating me. I want to say, Sir, with respect to the points raised by the Honourable Member Mr. Saksena that this is not an isolated, unco-ordinated, unthought of, unrelated attempt. Let me assure him that there is a definite plan so far as the exploitation of water power in this country is concerned. I may, for his benefit, inform him that we have a scheme of priority, we have surveyed, we have been planning, and whenever any particular suggestion comes before the Ministry every possible help is offered. In fact, Sir, if there had been no refugee problem and no financial limitation, I would have gone with greater speed not only with respect to this project but other projects also. With all that, I can assure him that so far as the preliminary matters are concerned, they have been ordered and will be ordered, and they will be completed sooner than expected.

My Honourable friend, Dr. Punjabrao Deshmukh, although not jealous about what is being done with respect to people in Bihar and Bengal, naturally said that his own province was somewhat neglected in this respect. Let me tell him that only two months ago a Conference was held in Bombay, where it has been decided to follow up what is known as "Narbada and Tapi Valley Project" and it is expected that out of this some benefit is bound to accrue to that area to which reference has been made by him.

Then, a few points were raised by my Honourable friend Shri Santhanam. He took exception to the constitution of the Board. He was not satisfied with the provision that the Secretary shall be the chief executive authority. He wanted technician to be placed on the Board. I may inform him that when we accepted this model we carefully studied the suggestions he made, and we took the view that the technician should have as little as possible to do with the administration. If Shri Santhanam or his friends can convince us in the Select Committee that a different pattern of organisation for the purpose of execution of this great scheme is likely to be more efficient, I certainly promise that I shall consider it. There is no dogmatism about this matter.

Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar: May I remind the Honourable Minister that in the Electricity Bill that he introduced only a few days ago, he has laid down that one of the members shall be an engineer, another a person well versed in commercial accounting and a third shall be an electrical engineer?

The Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil: The answer to that, Sir, is that the Board under the Electricity Act is a Board which has to deal with technical matters. The Board here has to deal with administration. The actual construction of the dams and other matters will be over in the course of five or six years at the most. Thereafter, it is the field of administration which will survive, and I am sure my Honourable friend will agree with me that a man experienced in administration is any day better than a mere highly technically educated man.

Now, with respect to the financial clauses in this Bill, some criticism was offered by my Honourable friend Shri Santhanam. I have already referred to this aspect in my speech this morning, when I said that this arrangement is the result of an understanding between the three Governments, Bihar, Bengal and the Central Government. This was done with a view to avoid delay. I may inform my Honourable friend that if I had not in my own unorthodox way provided something on these lines, this Bill would not have been introduced for another year, and would have taken another two years to be on the Statute Book and only thereafter the work would be taken up. He also referred to some other matters with respect to the organisation that we are going to set up. I may

ADJOURNMENT(S)—contd.

- Voting in the U. N. O. on South African Question — not moved. 596
Zulum on Harijans in Pakistan — Not moved. 1543.

ADMINISTRATION—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Finance' Economy in Central —. 1230-43.
 Question re — of Western India States. 1591.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICE, INDIAN—

- Question re recruitment to — at the Centre and in Provinces. 566-67.

ADVANCE—

- Question re amount advanced to Pakistan Government. 1589.

ADVERTISEMENT—

- Question re — of important posts in Indian Union in Orissa Gazette 180.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE(S)—

- See "Committee(s)".

ADVISORY COUNCIL—

- Election to Central — for railways. 351.

AERODROME(S)—

- Question re—
 Construction of — at Anantapur in Rayalaseema. 677-78.
 Development of Jubbulpore —. 1215.
 Development of Civil Aviation in Rajputana and construction of — at Ajmer. 698.
 Maintenance of — constructed during War. 846-47.
 Need of — at Amraoti or Akola in Berar. 328.

AEROPLANE(S)—

- Question re—
 Detention of — by Pakistan authorities. 1279-80.
 Disposal of certain serviceable — as scrap. 1796-97.
 Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1429-31.
 Landing of Pakistan — within Indian Dominion. 1367-68.
 Manufacture of — in India. 838.
 Private — commandeered for Kashmir Defence. 1221-22.
 Public auction of unserviceable aircrafts at Aircraft Salvage Depots at Chekeri and Bamrauli in October, 1947. 579.
 Purchase of fighter — 1757-58.
 Serviceable and unserviceable aircrafts on 1st October, 1945 and 1st October, 1947. 561.
 Use of planes for operations in Kashmir. 850.

AFRICA—

- Question re Government scholarships to students from — and other countries. 1120-24.

AGE—

- Question re relaxation of — limits for political sufferers entering Government service. 1593.

AGENT(S)—

- Question re appointment of Indian — in British Colonies. 99-100.
 See also "Representative(s)".

AGENT(S) GENERAL—

- Question re appointment of Ambassadors, — and Representatives. 454-55.

AGRA—

- Question re—
 Conversion of Canteens into Indian Refreshment Rooms at Jubbulpur, Muttra, — and other stations. 29.
 Hauling down of National Flag hoisted on I.E.M.E. Workshop, —. 1147.
 Requisitioning of lands by District Magistrate, —. 1621.

AGREEMENT(S)—

- Motion for adjournment re — between the Dominion of India and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar. 1056.

Question re—

- with Tata Airways 1798-99.
 Air — with foreign countries. 1686.
 Various — between India and Pakistan. 451-52.
 Second Supplemental — between the Reserve Bank of India and the Imperial Bank of India of the Financial — between the Government of U. K. and the Government of India—Copies laid on the table. 218-25.

AGRICULTURAL LABOUR—

- See "Labour".

AGRICULTURE—

- Demand for Grant 1347.

Question re—

- Admission in Central Agricultural College. 1690.
 Agricultural institutions in India. 1694-95.
 Agricultural Insurance in India. 332.
 Cattle for Agricultural purposes. 1450-51.
 Central College of — Delhi. 1777-78.
 Development of — 972.
 Import of Agricultural Implements. 1698.
 Increasing agricultural produce. 971-72.
 Legislation for welfare of Agricultural labourers. 1753-54.
 Manufacture of Agricultural machinery. 1128-29.
 Price Committee on — forestry and fisheries. 30.
 Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1439-40.
 Reorganisation Committee for the Department of Food and —. 341.
 Research in scientific — 328.
 Supply of Chemical fertilizers to agriculturists. 686-87.

AGRICULTURE, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1344.
 Election to Standing Committee for — 607.

AID(S)—

- Question re action against officers who perpetrated atrocities and financial — to sufferers during struggle for freedom. 1155.
 See also "Grant(s)".

AIRCRAFT ACT—

- See "Indian —" under "Act(s)".

AIR FORCE—

- See "Forces".

AIR FORCE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian Army and the Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

AIR MAIL—

- Question re—
 — postal envelopes. 979-80.
 Delayed delivery of letters, telegrams and —. 665.

AIR SERVICE(S)—

- Question re—
 — between Hyderabad and Gannavaram and Gannavaram and Calcutta. 677.
 — between India and Pakistan. 974.
 Extension of Indian Air Lines to foreign countries. 1686.
 Government control over new — concerns. 675-76.
 India-Burma —. 1685-86.
 Licenses to air transport companies in India. 333-36.
 Nationalisation of air lines. 1458-60.
 Operation of — non-Indian Air Lines. 973-74.

AIRCRAFT ACT—

- See "Indian —" under "Act(s)".

AJMER—

- Question re—
 Development of Civil Aviation in Rajputana and construction of Aerodrome at — 698.
 Irregular supply of wheat and sugar rations in — and Beawar. 697.

AJMER-MERWARA—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

Question re—

- Criminal tribes in —. 28-29.
 Efficiency of police force in —. 591.
 Inadequate supply of petrol to —. 1224.
 Petrol consumption in —. 1223-24.
 Retrocession of villages in — to the Mewar and Marwar States in 1938. 589-90.

AJMER-MERWARA (EXTENSION OF LAWS) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

AJMER-MERWARA LAND DEVELOPMENT BILL—

See "Delhi and —" under "Bill(s)".

AJMER-MERWARA RENT CONTROL (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Delhi and —" under "Bill(s)".

AKOLA—

Question re need of aerodromes at Amraoti or — in Berar. 328.

ALAGESAN, SHRI O. V.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 982.

General discussion of General Budget. 1010-12.

Question re—

Catering arrangements on S. I. Railway. 1690-91.

Cow-dung gas plant. 1691.

Fluctuations in prices of salt. 336-37.

'Grow More Food' campaign by the railway administration. 318.

Issue of licences for production of salt. 337.

Permission to Madras Government to raise price of paddy. 317.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 791.

Facilities to lower class railway passengers. 1213.

Fertilizer factory at Sindri. 1428.

Prohibition of slaughter of animals. 938.

Supply of cheap fuel and subsidized manures. 659.

ALIGARH—

Question re—

Annual grant to — University. 193-94.

Arrival of Pakistan Military Commission in — Muslim University. 169.

ALMORA—

Question re recruitment of soldiers from — district. 1158.

AMBASSADOR(S)—

Question re—

Appointment of —, Agents General and Representatives. 451-55.

Appointment of —, High Commissioners, etc. 86, 454.

Appointment of Governors, — and High Commissioners. 784-85.

Appointment of India's —, Envoys and High Commissioners. 435-38.

Appointment of —, High Commissioners, etc. 86, 454.

Government of India's Embassies and appointment of — and First Councillors. 91-92.

India's Embassies abroad. 458.

Selection of —, High Commissioners, Consuls etc. 97.

Statements by India's — on Kashmir and Junagadh. 1040-41.

AMBEDKAR, THE HONOURABLE DR. B. R.—

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—

Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1559-61.

Consideration of clauses. 1571-72, 1580-82.

Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1546, 1708-11, 1719-22, 1725.

Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 357.

Hindu Code. 41.

Indian Merchants Shipping (Amendment) Bill. 1199-1200.

Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1480-82, 1486.

Legal Practitioners and Bar Councils (Amendment) Bill. 40.

Press (Special Powers) Bill. 353-55.

Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill. 40-41.

Repealing and Amending Bill. 1380, 1727.

Resolution re appointment of Statutory Law Revision Committee. 1103-05.

AMERICA, UNITED STATES OF—

Question re—

Anti-Indian propaganda by American film producers. 1601-02.

Anti-India propaganda in American press. 546.

Anti-India propaganda in British and American Press re Punjab Riots. 591-92.

Commercial treaty with —. 1512-13.

Recommendations of American Technical Mission. 1214-15.

Lack of publicity by Government of India in —. 1622.

AMERICAN FORCES—

See "Forces".

AMMONIUM PHOSPHATE—

Question re supply of —. 1446.

AMMUNITION—

Question re—

Decamping of an armed gang from the General Headquarters Hutments with —. 170-71.

Recovery of unauthorised — from Muslim houses in Burgi near Jubbulpore. 170.

Seizure of unauthorised — in Jubbulpore. 169-70.

Stock of — etc. in Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpore. 197-98.

See also "Arms".

AMRAOTI—

Question re—

— Badnera Motor Service. 1453-54.

Bus service between — and Badnera. 1698-99.

Need of aerodromes at — or Akola in Berar. 328.

Overbridge for — railway station. 1209-10.

Project to connect — with Bombay-Nagpur main line. 683.

Project to connect — with Narkhed by Rail. 682-83.

AMRIT KAUR, THE HONOURABLE RAJKUMARI—

Dentists Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 529-31.

Indian Nursing Council Bill. 499, 1467-68, 1478, 1483-85, 1488.

Motion re election to the Governing body of Indian Research Fund Association. 225.

Pharmacy Bill—

Motion for leave to introduce. 499.

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1817-18, 1824.

Resolution re—

Amelioration of the condition of scheduled castes. 831-32, 1098-99.

Ratification of the Constitution of the World Health Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International Office of Public Hygiene. 59-60, 539-40.

ANANTAPUR—

Question re construction of aerodrome at — in Rayalaseema. 677-78.

ANDAMANS—

Question re—

Exploitation of the North — Islands. 1700.

Supply of timber from Burma — and Indian forests. 21-22.

ANDAMAN AND NICOBAR ISLANDS—

Demand for Grant. 1350.

ANDHRA—

Question re—

Publication of newspapers by Andhras. 1223.

Radio Station for — Province. 841.

ANEY, SHRI M. S.—

Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1737.

Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill. 1499.

Election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1544.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

Electricity (Supply) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1412.

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—

Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1554-55.

Consideration of clauses. 1576, 1579-80.

Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1715.

Foreigners (Amendment) Bill. 483.

General discussion of Railway Budget. 617, 633-35.

Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1387-89.

Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1486.

Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1165, 1169, 1183.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 143.

Motion re—

Election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 50-51.

Relief and Rehabilitation of Refugees. 914-17.

ANEY, SHRI M. S.—contd.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

“Cabinet”—Corruption in Government Departments. 1335, 1339.

“Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund”—Reconstruction of lines dismantled during war—Darwha Pusad Line. 739-41.

“Ministry of Commerce”—Corruption in working of import and export licences. 1335, 1339.

Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill. 40-41.

Question re—

Exemption to members of Constituent Assembly from provisions of Arms Act. 1799-1800.

Industrial Census in India. 1202.

Losses suffered by the Hindus in Pakistan. 1519.

Negotiations between Governments of India and Ceylon re Indo-Ceylon problems. 90-91.

Pakistan Hindus and Sikhs as nationals of India. 1518.

Pakistan raids on India. 1518.

Project to connect Amraoti with Narkhed by Rail. 682.

Prosecution by Sind Government of R. S. S. Workers. 1525.

Temporary accommodation for Forces during War. 177-78.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Absorption of Foreign Settlements in Indian Union. 784.

All-India Handloom Board. 930.

Cow-dung Gasplant. 931.

Damodar Valley and Kosi Schemes. 1524-25.

Electric fans in Third and Inter Class compartments. 306.

Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1520.

Evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1284.

Exclusion of Indians from Japanese cotton trade. 1523.

Expenditure on ‘Grow More Food’ Campaign. 671.

Exploitation of mineral resources. 406.

Export duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1357.

Government employees opting to serve India. 163.

‘Grow More Food’ Campaign. 287.

Incursions of Hyderabad people and police into Indian territory. 1373-74.

Major irrigation projects. 409.

Overbridge for Amraoti Railway Station. 1210.

Position of Indians in independent Ceylon. 424-25.

Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1440.

Recruitment and training of Cadets at Dehra Dun. 568.

Refugees residing without shelter. 1529.

Rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan. 65.

Salaries to staff of Food, Textiles and Industries Departments. 161.

Slaughter of cattle. 936.

Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 816-17 822

ANGLO-INDIAN(S)—

Question re—

— of Loco Department promoted to Carriage and Wagon Dept. of R. D. & C. I. Railway. 1784.

Welfare institutions for Military and — children. 1126-27.

ANIMAL(S)—

Question re—prohibition of slaughter of — 937-38.

See also “Cattle”.

ANNIVERSARY—

Death — of Late Lala Lajpat Rai. 4.

ANSWER(S)—

Supply of — to questions in advance. 208-09.

ANTHONY, MR. FRANK R.—

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 351.

General discussion of the Railway Budget. 631-33.

Motion re election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 53-54.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

‘Ordinary Working Expenses Administration’—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 733-36.

‘Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses’—Economy. 733-36.

Question (Supplementary) re evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1621.

ANTIQUITY(IES)—

Question re Nilgiris — in the museum for Vulerkundo. Berlin. 847.

ANTIQUITIES (EXPORT, CONTROL) BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

APPEAL(S)—

Question re—

— from the High Courts in India. 70-71.

Jurisdiction of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to decide pending —. 71.

APPOINTMENT(S)—

Question re—

— in foreign services of India. 427-29.

— of Indian Trade Commissioner. 448-50.

— of officials for countries outside India. 1765-72.

— of Oriyas in Federal Court Office. 439.

— of V. C. O's. to civilian gazetted posts. 1599.

ARCHAEOLOGY—

Demand for Grant. 1347.

Election to Central Advisory Board of —. 1229.

Motion re election to Central Advisory Board of —. 497.

Question re—

Archaeological sites in Orissa and Eastern States Agency. 1155-56.

Inscriptions discovered by the Archaeological Department. 207-08.

ARCHIVE(S)—

Question re transfer of National — to Pakistan. 1595-96.

ARECANUT—

Question re—

Fall in the price of —. 1780-81.

Fluctuation in supari prices. 1456.

Fruit disease in —. 1452.

Import of —. 1779-80.

ARMED FORCES—

See “Forces”.

ARMED FORCES (EMERGENCY DUTIES) AMENDMENT BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

ARMED FORCES (EMERGENCY DUTIES) BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

ARMED FORCES (SPECIAL POWERS) BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

ARMS—

Question re—

Discovery of —, ammunition and Radio Transmitters after 15th August, 1947. 585.

Discovery of —, ammunition, etc. from Muslims in Centrally Administered Areas. 584-85.

Expenditure re Gun Carriage Factory, Jubbulpore. 843.

Modification of — Act and availability of — to public. 1157.

Policy re grant of — licences. 584.

Purchase of British war material by Hyderabad State. 853-54.

Purchase of British war materials by Pakistan Government. 853.

Recovery of unlicensed — from Muslims in Delhi. 844-45.

Smuggling of — and ammunition out of Goa. 1032.

Unauthorised possession of modern weapons surreptitiously obtained from British and American Forces. 839-40.

Working of armament factories in India. 550.

ARMS ACT—

See “Act(s)”.

ARMY(IES)—

Question re—

Appointment of I.N.A. men to Indian — and participation of Muslim I.N.A. men in the Kashmir fighting. 588-89.

British personnel in Indian —. 1146-47.

ARMY (IES)—*contd.*Question re—contd.

Commissioning of Civilian Gazetted Officers serving under the Controller of Stores with age less than thirty-five years. 1701.
Commissioning of Civilian Gazetted Officers with age less than thirty-five years in Indian —. 1700-01.

Composition of Indian — and number of British Officers. 205-06.
Disposition of Indian — in Indian Dominion on the 15th August 1947. 206.
Gurkhas in Indian —. 1375.

Movement of Units of Indian — in Pakistan. 198-99.
Number of British Officers in Indian — on 15th November. 580.
Number of British Officers serving the —. 564.
Number of Indian — Officers and the place of Supreme Commander in India's Forces. 581-82.

Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of — between India and Pakistan. 543-45.
Requisitioning by the — of buildings and bungalows in Bombay City. 1785-89.
Scheme for modernisation of Indian Union —. 543.
Selection for recruitment to —. 1620.

Strength and expenditure of Indian and non-Indian — personnel. 542-47.
Strength of standing — and raising of National Militia in India. 564.
Utilization of deserted — camp houses and sheds. 178.

See also "Forces".

also "Indian National —".

ARMY AND THE INDIAN AIR FORCE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

ARTICLES—

Question re removal of — from Pakistan. 1280-81.

ASSEMBLY—

See "Constituent — of India (Legislative)".

ASSETS—

Question re—

Division of — and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 174-75, 181-82, 547-49.
Division of — between India and Pakistan. 147-53.

ATOMIC ENERGY—

Question re scheme for study and research in —. 576-78.

ATROCITY (IES)—

Question re action against officers who perpetrated — and financial aid to sufferers during struggle for freedom. 1155.

ATTACK(S)—

Question re—

— on Kashmir and Pakistan Military Officers. 1588.
— on non-Muslims refugees. 1517.

ATTENDANCE—

Signing of the — register by Members. 1679-80.

AUCTION—

Question re public — of unserviceable aircrafts at Aircraft Salvage Depots at Chekeri and Bamrauli in October 1947. 579.

AUDIT—

Demand for Grant—General Budget. 1346.
Demand for Grant—Railway Budget. 745.
Question re — report on Delhi University accounts. 592.

AUDITOR(S)—

Question re settlement of dues of B. A. Railway staff by Chief —, E. B. Railway, Chittagong. 695.

AUSTRALIA—

Question re profiteering by — in food grains. 1435.

AUXILIARY CORPS—

Question re expansion of University Training Corps and —. 549.

AVADI BASE—

Question re Naval works department at —, Madras. 1604.

AVIATION—

Demand for Grant. 1348.

Question re—

Air-agreements with foreign countries. 1686.
— Training School at Saharanpur. 1685.
Development of — in India. 333.
Development of Civil — in Rajputana and construction of aerodromes at Ajmer. 698.

AYURVEDA—

Question re—

Committee for developing Ayurvedic System. 175-76.
Development of Ayurvedic science, literature and institutions. 175.
Grant of funds for — teaching and research. 176.
Resolution re Scientific research into Ayurvedic system of medicine. 1108-10.

AYYANGAR, SHRI M. ANANTHASAYANAM—

Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

(Amendment of sections 161 and 162). 1187-88.

Criminal Tribes (Repeal) Bill. 1186.

Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1842-49.

Dentists Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 530.

Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Education. 1229.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 796.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—

Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1552.

Consideration of Clauses. 1572-73.

Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1713, 1724-26.

Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 360-61, 364, 365.

Income-tax and Business Profits Tax (Amendment) Bill. 1192-93, 1196-97.

Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1381-83.

Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1479-80, 1482, 1484-86.

Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1164, 1174-76.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 118, 129-30.

Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 474-79.

Motion re—

Elections to Standing Committees to advise Ministries. 228-31.

Election to Standing Finance Committee. 44.

Election to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 48-49.

Food Policy of the Government of India. 1631, 1643-44.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet'—Planning and development programme for India. 1340-43.

'Ministry of Finance' — Economy in Central Administration. 1237.

Nomination of — to Panel of Chairmen. 886-87.

Press (Special Powers) Bill. 353, 355-56.

Question re—

Air mail postal envelopes. 979-80.

Measures for relief of leprosy. 200.

Production and import of drug for leprosy. 200-01.

Reduction in train services. 980.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Accession of Nizam's State to Indian Union and exodus of Muslims to the State. 563.

Agreement with Tata Airways. 1798-99.

Amount collected under the Business Profits Tax. 172.

Anti-India activities of Government of Goa. 781.

Appeals from High Courts in India. 70.

Backing reserved for Currency. 1144.

Constitution of an Advisory Committee connected with milk production. 667.

Constitution of Commodities Prices Board. 575.

Construction of 'Silver Arrow' train coaches. 660.

Control over newsprint and newspapers. 1209.

Cow-dung Gasplant. 931.

Cultivation of land. 926.

Development of industries. 928-29.

Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 548-49.

AYYANGAR, SHRI M. ANANTHASAYANAM—contd.

- Exploitation of mineral resources. 1029.
 - Fixation of basic value of currency. 156.
 - Question (Supplementary) re—contd.
 - Food requirements of various provinces. 934.
 - Government's plan to encourage Indian shipping trade. 422.
 - Import of Locomotives. 1219.
 - Indian Ordnance factory in Nilgris. 1355.
 - Industrialization of India. 681.
 - Manufacture of Motor Cars. 1210.
 - Measures for building up of India's foreign exchange resources. 573.
 - Pakistan badges for Scheduled Castes and harassment of Hindu evacuees in Bengal. 774.
 - Planning and development of Crops in India. 672.
 - Production, import and allotment of Mill Cloth. 301.
 - Production of Benzol in India. 1218.
 - Production of mill yarn and Cloth. 1205-06.
 - Recommendations of American Technical Mission. 1215.
 - Recruitment and training of Cadets at Dehra Dun. 568.
 - Representation of International Shipping Company Ltd. at the conference of shipping interests in Bombay. 1530.
 - Salaries to Staff of Food, Textiles, and Industries Departments. 161.
 - Setting up of an All-India Central Milk Board. 667.
 - Shortage of matches and profiteering by vendors and middlemen. 22.
 - Surplus Military Stores. 21.
 - Survey of Sind-Gujrat Railway. 965.
 - Winding up of Disposals Directorate. 966.
 - Repealing and Amending Bill. 1727.
 - Resolution re Central Road Fund and Standing Committee for Roads. 241-43.
 - United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Bill. 109-10.
 - United Nations (Security Council) Bill. 114-15.
- AYYANGAR, THE HONOURABLE SHRI N. GOPALASWAMI—
- Motion re Relief and Rehabilitation of refugees. 865, 910-14.
- AYYAR, SHRI ALLADI KRISHNASWAMI—
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Law. 855.
 - Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1711-13, 1723, 1726-27.
- AZAD HIND BANK—
- Question re — in Burma. 1772-73.
- AZAD, THE HONOURABLE MAULANA ABUL KALAM—
- Motion re —
 - Election to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1543-45.
 - Election to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 497.
 - Election to Central Advisory Board of Education. 854.
 - Election to Council of the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore. 234.
 - Election to Court of University of Delhi. 496-97.

B

BACKWARD CLASS(ES)—

See "Scheduled Castes".

BADNERA—

- Question re —
 - Amraoti — Motor Service. 1453-54.
 - Bus Service between Amraoti and —. 1698-99.
 - Repair of — Station Approach Road. 960.
 - Widening of overbridge at —. 960, 1792.

BALDEV SINGH, THE HONOURABLE SARDAR—

- Armed Forces (Emergency Duties) Bill. 1330, 1817.
- Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1320, 1732-34, 1747-49.
- Indian Army and the Indian Air Force (Amendment) Bill—
 - Reconstitution of Select Committee. 106.
 - Motion for extension of time for presentation of Report of Select Committee. 855.
- Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 819, 824-29.

BAMRAULI—

- Question re public auction of unserviceable aircrafts at Aircraft Salvage Depots at Chekeri and — in October. 1947. 579.

BAN(S)—

- Question re banning of Indian Union flag by Hyderabad State. 164.

BANERJI, SHRIMATI PURNIMA—

- Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
 - Motion to refer to Select Committee. 517-18.

BANGALORE—

- Election to Council of Indian Institute of Science, —. 234-35, 1056-57.

BANK(S)—

- Question re —
 - Azad Hind — in Burma. 1772-73.
 - Freezing of — assets by Pakistan Government. 1136-37.
 - Loan from International —. 843.
 - Loans to Pakistan by Indian —. 549-50.
 - Second Supplemental Agreement between the Reserve — of India and the Imperial — of India and the Financial Agreement between the Government of U.K. and the Government of India—Copies laid on the table. 218-25.

BANKING COMPANIES BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

BAR COUNCILS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Legal Practitioners' and —" under "Bill(s)".

BAR COUNCILS AND LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

BARMAN, SHRI UPENDRA NATH

- Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
- General discussion occupied on General Budget. 1013-15.

Question re —

- Petition by Mintoo Mukerjee re pension. 1592.
- Release of wagons occupied by staff on B. N. Railway. 1696.
- Revision of pay scale of Central Excise Department. 1619.
- Supplementary Education Grant for scheduled castes. 1603-04.
- Question (Supplementary) re selection of applicants for advanced studies in foreign countries. 1139.

BASIC VALUE—

- Question re fixation of — of Currency. 155-56.

BASUDEO BISHAN DAYAL, PROF.—

- Question re conviction of — for preaching Hindu religion in Mauritius. 31.

BATTORY, M. S.—

- Question re ill-treatment of Indian passengers travelling by —. 7.

BEANS—

- Question re poisonous Burma — imported into Madras. 685.

BEAWAR—

- Question re irregular supply of wheat and sugar rations in Ajmer and —. 697.

BENGAL—

See "East Bengal"

also "West Bengal".

BENGAL ASSAM RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

BENGAL NAGPUR RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

BENZOL—

- Question re production of — in India. 1218.

BERAR—

- Question re —
 - Irrigation in — and Marathi Central Provinces. 328.
 - Need of aerodromes at Amraoti or Akola in —. 328.

BERLIN—

- Question re Nilgris antiquities in the museum for Vulkerkundo, —. 847.

BEVIN BOYS—

- Question re appointment of Scheduled Castes candidates trained under — Scheme. 775.

BEZWADA—

Question re Broadcasting station at —. 1142-43.

BHADRACHALAM—

Question re installation of Trunk Telephone Exchange at —. 677.

BHAGWAT PARSAD, SHRI—

Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.

BHARATHI, SHRI L. KRISHNASWAMI—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 795.

Winding up of Disposals Directorate. 967

‘BHARATIS’—

Question re substitution of “Indians” or “—” for “Non-Muslims”. 550.

BHARATPUR—

Question re refugees killed in — State. 1762.

BHARGAVA, PANDIT MUKUT BIHARI LAL—

Ajmer-Merwara (Extension of laws) Bill. 1705-06.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.

Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1715-16.

Indian Penal Code (Amendment) Bill. 1184.

Nomination of — to Committee on Petitions. 1463.

Question re—

Anglo-Indians of Loco Department promoted to Carriage and Wagon Department of B. B. & C. I. Railway. 1784.

Anti-India activities of Government of Goa. 781.

Compulsory military training in educational institutions. 589.

Criminal Tribes in Ajmer-Merwara. 28-29.

Development of Civil Aviation in Rajputana and construction of aerodrome at Ajmer. 698.

Disposal of India Office building and its “contents”. 1795-96.

Efficiency of police force in Ajmer-Merwara. 591.

Formation of Pakistan National Guards under army control. 854.

Inadequate supply of petrol to Ajmer-Merwara. 1224.

Interruption of electric supply between Jangpura and Nizamuddin on the 1st December, 1947. 1242-43.

Irregular supply of wheat and sugar rations in Ajmer and Beawar. 697-98.

Lack of publicity by Government of India in U.S.A. 1622.

Levy of tax by Sirohi State on Visitors to Dilwara temple at Mount Abu. 591.

Military training for students in Hyderabad State. 1621.

Number of Non-Indians employed on high salaries under the Central Government. 1784.

Oppression of tenants in Istimrari areas. 698.

Petrol consumption in Ajmer-Merwara. 1223-24.

Promotion of Indians in Carriage and Wagon Department of B. B. & C. I. Railway. 1784.

Retrocession of villages in Ajmer-Merwara to the Mewar and Marwar States in 1938. 589-90.

Women employed under Central Government. 24-26.

BHARGAVA, PANDIT THAKUR DAS—

Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1733-38. 1745.

Child Marriage Restraint (Amendment) Bill. 1161.

Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill. 1186.

Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control (Amendment) Bill. 1507.

Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill—

Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to pass as amended. 1489-97. 1501.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill. 1569.

Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1161-72. 1181-83.

Motion re—

Food Policy of Government of India. 1644-50.

Relief and Rehabilitation of refugees. 891-923.

Motion to reduce Demand for ‘Ministry of Industry and Supply’—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1297-1303.

BHARGAVA, PANDIT THAKUR DAS—contd.

Nomination of — to Committee on Petitions. 1463.

Nomination of — to Penal of Chairmen. 247.

Question re—

Rehabilitation of rural population among the refugees. 1760.

Revalidation of import licences. 1759.

Question (Supplementary) re refugees residing without shelter. 1529.

Resolution re—

Amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 1075-80.

Organisation of a National Militia. 812-16.

United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Bill. 109.

BHATKAR, SHRI L. S.—

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 351.

BHATT, SHRI GOKULBHAI—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 932.

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—

Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1555-57.

Motion re Food Policy of the Government of India. 1661-64.

BHOKE COMMITTEE—

Question re — Recommendations. 1583-85.

BIHAR—

Question re—

Employment of Biharis in Accountant-General's Office, —. 179-80.

New railway lines in —. 1457.

Possession of estate of Mr. Hari Jee of Shahbad District, — in Burma. 7.

BILL(S)—

Continuance of — pending in the Legislative Assembly. 38.

Ajmer-Merwara (Extension of Laws)—

Introduced. 1546.

Considered and passed. 1704-07.

Antiquities (Export Control)—

Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.

Armed Forces (Emergency Duties)—

Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.

Armed Forces (Emergency Duties) Amendment—

Introduced. 1380.

Considered and passed. 1817.

Armed Forces (Special Powers)—

Introduced. 1380.

Considered and passed as amended. 1732-50, 1816-17.

Banking Companies—

Continued. 39.

Business Profits Tax—

Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.

Capital Issues (Continuance of Control)—

Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.

Child Marriage Restraint (Amendment)—

Continued. 1161.

Coal Mines Labour Welfare Fund—

Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.

Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment)—

(Insertion of new Chapter XXIV)

(by Shri Ram Sahai).

Introduced. 1184.

Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment)—

(Amendment of Sections 496 and 497)

(by Pandit Thakur Das Bhargava).

Introduced. 1186.

Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment)—

(Amendment of Sections 161 and 162)

(by Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar).

BILL(S)—contd.

- Introduced. 1187-88.
 Coffee Market Expansion—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Control of Shipping—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Criminal Tribes (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Criminal Tribes (Repeal)—
 (by Prof. N. G. Ranga)
 Introduced. 1184.
 Criminal Tribes (Repeal)—
 (by Shri M. Ananthasayanam Ayyangar)
 Introduced (barred as subsequently decided by the Honourable the Speaker). 1186.
 Damodar Valley Corporation—
 Introduced. 1188.
 Motion to refer to Select Committee (Referred to Select Committee). 1829-50.
 Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Land Development—
 Introduced. 499.
 Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 42.
 Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee (Referred to Select Committee). 366-79.
 Presentation of Report of Select Committee. 994.
 Considered as reported by Select Committee and passed as amended. 1506-09.
 Delhi Muslim Wakfs (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction)—
 Introduced. 42.
 Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee (Referred to Select Committee). 379-82.
 Presentation of Report of Select Committee. 995.
 Considered as reported by Select Committee and passed as amended. 1488-1505.
 Dentists—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee (Referred to Select Committee). 529-31.
 Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment)—
 Introduced. 41-42.
 Motion to refer to Select Committee (Referred to Select Committee). 521-29.
 Electricity (Supply)—
 Introduced. 704.
 Motion to refer to Select Committee (Referred to Select Committee). 1396-1422, 1464-67.
 Explosives (Temporary Provisions)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Extra Provincial Jurisdiction—
 Introduced. 704.
 Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee (Referred to Select Committee). 1197-98.
 Presentation of the Report of Select Committee. 1379.
 Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1547-57, 15559-62.
 Consideration of Clauses. 1562-82.
 Motion to pass as amended. 1582.
 Factories—
 Introduced. 1188.
 Factories (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction)—
 Introduced. 1546.
 Considered and passed as amended. 1708-27.
 Foreign Exchange Regulation—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 42.
 Considered and passed. 356-65.
 Foreigners (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 41.
 Considered and passed. 482-84.

BILL(S)—contd.

- Hindu Code—
 Continued. 41.
 Hindu Inter-Caste Marriage Regulating and Validating—
 Introduced. 1187.
 Imports and Exports (Control)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Income-tax and Business Profits Tax (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 855.
 Considered and passed as amended. 1188-97.
 Income-tax and Excess Profits Tax (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Army and the Indian Air Force (Amendment)—
 Reconstitution of Select Committee. 106-07.
 Extension of time for presentation of Report of Select Committee. 855.
 Indian Bar Councils and the Legal Practitioners (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 1184.
 Indian Boilers (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Cattle Preservation—
 Introduced. 1185.
 Indian Coinage (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Companies (Amendment)—
 (Amendment of section 86F)
 (by Dr. P. S. Deshmukh).
 Introduced. 1185.
 Indian Companies (Amendment)—
 (Amendment of sections 25, 31, etc.)
 (by Dr. P. S. Deshmukh)
 Introduced. 1185-86.
 Indian Cotton Cess (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 1546.
 Considered and passed. 1704.
 Indian Extradition (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Finance—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Finance (Supplementary)—
 Introduced. 761.
 Considered and passed. 1381-96.
 Indian Medical Council (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Merchant Shipping (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 705.
 Considered and passed. 1198-1200.
 Indian Navy (Discipline) (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Nursing Council—
 Introduced. 499.
 Considered and passed as amended. 1467-88.
 Indian Patents and Designs (Extension of Time) (Amendment)—
 Introduced. 42.
 Considered and passed. 365-66.
 Indian Penal Code (Amendment)—
 (Amendment of section 124A)
 (by Pandit Mukut Bihari Lal Bhargava).
 Introduced. 1184.
 Indian Penal Code (Amendment)—
 (Insertion of new Chapter XXIV)
 (by Shri Ram Sahai).
 Introduced. 1186.
 Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment)—
 Motions to refer to Select Committee and to circulate (Circulated) 1161-83.
 Indian Railways (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Tariff (Amendment)—
 Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
 Indian Tariff (Second Amendment)—

BILL(S)—contd.

- Introduced. 1380.
Considered and passed. 1727-31.
- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment)—
Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee. 116-17.
Consideration of clauses. 117-45.
Motion to pass as amended (passed as amended). 246-59.
- Industrial Disputes—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Industrial Finance Corporation—
Motion to refer to Select Committee (referred to Select Committee). 382-91, 458-82.
- Insurance (Amendment)—
Introduced. 1184.
- Insurance (Second Amendment)—
Continued. 40.
- Legal Practitioners and Bar Councils (Amendment)—
Continued. 40.
- Minimum Wages—
Reconstitution of Select Committee. 107-08.
- Motor Vehicles (Amendment)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Negotiable Instruments (Amendment)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Panth Piploda Laws (Amendment)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Pharmacy—
Introduced. 499.
Motion refer to Select Committee (referred to Select Committee). 1817-24.
- Press (Special Powers)—
Motion to consider. 259-79.
Consideration of clauses. 352-56.
Motion to pass as amended (passed as amended). 356.
- Prevention of Corruption—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Prevention of Forcible and Fraudulent Conversion of Hindu Women—
Introduced. 1185.
- Provincial Insolvency (Amendment)—
(by Honourable Dr. B. R. Ambedkar).
Continued. 40-41.
- Provincial Insolvency (Amendment)—
(by Shrimati G. Durgabai).
Introduced. 1185.
- Railway (Transport of Goods)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Repealing and Amending—
Introduced. 1380.
Considered and passed. 1727.
- Requisitioned Land (Continuance of Powers)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Reserve Bank of India (Amendment)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Reserve Bank of India (Second Amendment)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Rubber (Production and Marketing)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Salaries of Ministers—
Introduced. 1546.
Considered and passed. 1707-08.
- Sugar (Temporary Excise Duty)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- Trading with the Enemy (Continuance of Emergency Provisions)—
Assent of the Governor-General. 37-38.
- United Nations (Privileges and Immunities)—
Considered and passed as amended. 108-13.

BILL(S)—concl.

- United Nations (Security Council)—
Considered and passed as amended. 113-16.
- Workmen's State Insurance—
Motion to refer to Select Committee. 484-92.
Referred to Select Committee. 500-20.
- BISCUIT(S)—
Question re manufacture of —. 1455-56.
- BISHOP(S)—
Question re control over Metropolitan — and Clergy in India. 35.
- BIYANI, SHRI BRIJLAL NANDLAL—
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057.
- BLACKMARKETING—
Question re —
— in the sale of fire-arms. 1591.
Eradication of corruption and —. 547.
- BOARD(S)—
Question re —
Setting up of an All-India Central Milk —. 866-67.
Working of — of Technical Education. 195-96.
- BORLI, RAJA OF (Raja Sir S. R. Ranga Rao)—
Declaration under Rule 2C. 63.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.
- BOILERS (AMENDMENT) BILL—
See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".
- BOMBAY—
Question re —
Building of National Highways connecting Nagpur with —. 329.
Government acquisition of houses and buildings at — and Poona. 1598.
Project to connect Amraoti with — Nagpur main line. 7683.
Representation of International Shipping Company Ltd. at the Conference of Shipping Interests in —. 1530.
Requisitioning by the army of buildings and bungalows in —. 1785-89.
Supply of Steel to Jannabhoomi Group of Newspapers, —. 975-76.
- BOMBAY, BARODA AND CENTRAL INDIA RAILWAY—
See "Railway(s)".
- BONE(S)—
Question re —
Export of crushed —. 438-39.
Number of — mills and — disintegrators. 657.
Use of — as manure. 655.
- BONE-MEAL—
Question re —
— as food for milch and draught cattle. 655-56.
Use of oil cakes and — as manure. 295.
- BONUS(ES)—
Question re procurement — to agriculturists. 1439-40.
- BORDER AREA(S)—
Question re measures for protection of —. 568-69.
- BOSE, SHRI RAJ KRISHNA—
Dentists Bill—
Motion to refer to Select Committee. 531.
Motion re election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 53.
Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill. 40.
Question re —
Census of labour population. 1763.
Constitution of Development Board. 1765.

BOSE, SHRI RAJ KRISHNA—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Execution of Mahanady Valley Project. 1763-64.
- Fortification of new frontiers of India. 1764.
- Internment of the Orissa M. L. A. in Indonesia. 1763.
- Rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan. 1034.
- Trade agreement with foreign countries. 1764.
- Women's Homes and Orphanages. 1764.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Advanced training for personnel of Ordnance Factories. 1353-54.
- All-India Handloom Board. 930.
- Bone-Meal as food for milch and draught cattle. 656.
- Damodar Valley and Machkhand Projects. 1031.
- Development of Indian Mercantile Marine. 765.
- Development of Industries. 929.
- Disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1797.
- Electric fans in third and inter class compartments. 305.
- Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1119.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 791.
- Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1521.
- Exploitation of mineral resources. 407, 1029.
- Facilities to lower class railway passengers. 1212.
- Fertilizer factory at Sindri. 1428.
- Food requirements of various provinces. 935.
- Grants-in-aid to educational institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1141.
- Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1431.
- Indian armed forces personnel in other countries. 1359.
- Indian Coal Fields Committee. 1217.
- Industrial census in India. 1202.
- Jute Fibre from Pakistan and its production in India. 668.
- Major Irrigation projects. 408.
- Migration between India and Pakistan. 79.
- Motor Car Manufacturing Factories. 1205.
- Nationalization of railways. 297.
- Number of radios imported and broadcasting stations in India. 158.
- Pakistan searches of refugees. 1279.
- Production of mill yarn and cloth. 1207.
- Protection and subsidy to industries. 1283.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1527.
- Return of rolling stock lent to Ministry of Defence. 310.
- Salaries to staff of Food, Textiles and Industries Departments. 161.
- Scheduled caste scholars sent abroad. 1125.
- Scheme of special studies. 1372-73.
- Supply of cheap fuel and subsidized manures. 659.
- Tribal peoples of India. 1276.
- Use of oil cakes and bone-meal as manures. 295.

BOUNDARY COMMISSION—

Demand for Grant. 1346.

BOUNDARY COMMISSION—

Question re Monetary loss due to delay in retrocession of sections of B. A. Railway apportioned to India under — Award. 694-95.

BOUNDARY FORCE—

Question re—

- Allegations against Commander of —. 852.
- Establishment of joint Supreme Command and —. 583.
- Responsibility of Muslim personnel of — for West Punjab atrocities. 205.
- Strength and composition of —. 201-04.

BRAJESHWAR PRASAD, SHRI—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.
- Motion to reduce demand for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations—
- Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1252-56.

Question re—

- Employment of Biharis in Accountant-General's Office, Bihar. 179-80.
- Lord Addison's visit to India. 456.
- Relative strength of Land, Air and Naval Forces of India and Pakistan. 583.

BRANCH LINES—

Question re new — on O. T. Railway. 1226-27.

BRICK(S)—

Question re allotment to United Provinces of coal dust for — burning. 35.

BRIDGE(S)—

Question re—

- across Cauvery River at Pugalur. 315-16.
- between Khandwa and Indore on Narbudda River. 328-29.
- Rail-road — over the Ganga in Patna. 318.
- Road transport on B. B. & C. I. and G. I. P. Railway — over the Narbudda. 673.
- Utilization of railway — for vehicular and pedestrian traffic. 672-73.
- Widening of overbridge at Badnera. 960.

BRITAIN—

Question re—

- Anti-India propaganda in British and American Press re Punjab riots. 591-92.
- Treaty with His Majesty's Government. 1042.

BRITISH BROADCASTING CORPORATION—

Question re—

- A. I. R. relays of — broadcasts. 1619.
- Broadcasting of the Pakistan Government news by —. 840.
- Relay by All India Radio of —'s night Bulletin. 1586.

BRITISH COLONIES—

See "Colonies".

BRITISH COMMONWEALTH—

Question re Citizenship rights of Indians in — of Nations. 412-21.

BRITISH FORCES—

See "Forces".

BRITISH PRESS—

See "Press".

BRITISHER(S)—

Question re—

- British personnel in Indian Army. 1146-47.
- British personnel in service of Government of India. 838-39.
- British railway personnel. 977.
- Composition of Indian Army and number of British Officers. 205-06.
- Employment of British Officers in Indian Defence Forces. 199.
- Number of British Officers in Indian Army on 15th November, 580.
- Number of British Officers serving the Indian Army. 564.

BROADCASTING—

Demand for Grant. 1348.

Question re—

- of the Pakistan Government news by B. B. C. 840.
- station at Bezwada. 1142-43.
- Scheme for new — Stations. 1586-87.
- Number of radios imported and — stations in India. 158.
- Separate — Radio Station for Orissa. 177.
- Working hours of — stations and time devoted to English programmes. 576.
- See also "Radio(s)".

BUDGET, GENERAL—

- Presentation of the — for 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948. 746-61.
- General discussion of —. 982-1024.
- Demands for Grants. 1229-71, 1289-1351.

BUDGET, RAILWAY—

- Appointment of the Honourable Dr. John Matthai to perform functions of Finance Minister during general discussion of —. 350.
- Presentation of the — for 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948. 391-404.
- Programme for discussion on Demands. 498.
- General discussion on the —. 608-53.
- Demands for Grants. 705-46.

BUILDING(S)—

- Question re—
 Allotment of land by U. P. Government for house —. 1054.
 Allotment of land to Central Government servants. 1054-55.
 Committees for the disposal of materials of — dismantled by Military authorities. 578-79.
 Expenditure on — in leprosy institutions. 575.
 Requisitioning by the army of — and bungalows in Bombay City. 1785-89.

BURMA—

- Question re—
 Appointment of Labour Officer for —. 98-99.
 Azad Hind Bank in —. 1772-73.
 Disallowance of entry of Indians into —. 1516.
 Immigration of Indians into —. 423-24, 1277.
 India — Air Service. 1685-86.
 Indo — Immigration Order. 1041-42.
 Poisonous — Beans imported into Madras. 685.
 Possession of estate of Mr. Hari Jee of Shahbad District, Bihar in —. 7.
 Re-entry of Indians in —. 1043-44.
 Resettlement of — labourers. 1525-26.
 Settlement of —'s debt to India. 165.
 Supply of timber from —, Andamans and Indian forests. 21-22.
 Termination of services of Indians by Government of — and their absorption by Government of India. 767.

BUS SERVICE—

- Question re — between Amraoti and Badners. 1698-99.

BUSINESS PROFITS TAX—

- See "Tax(es)".

BUSINESS PROFITS TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Income-tax and —" under "Bill(s)".

BUSINESS PROFITS TAX BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

CCABINET—

- Demand for Grant. 1315-43, 1344.
 Motion to reduce Demand for — Corruption in Government Departments. 1315-40.
 Question re appointment of non-official Legislators to — Sub-Committees. 767-68.

CADET(S)—

- Question re—
 Recruitment and training of — at Dehra Dun. 567-68.
 Report of National — Corps Committee. 200.

CALCUTTA—

- Question re—
 Air Services between Hyderabad and Gannavaram and Gannavaram and —. 677.
 Changes in personnel in the Central Stationery Office. —. 1755.
 Investigation into the conduct of officer working in Central Stationery Office. —. 1755.
 Transfer of exhibits of India Museum. —. 1596.
 Transfer of Imperial Library. —. 1595.

CAMPS—

- Question re—
 Maintenance of refugee — in India. 456-57.
 Utilization of deserted Army —, houses and sheds. 178.

CANADA—

- Question re observation by India's High Commissioner in — re India remaining in the British Commonwealth. 85.

CANTEEN(S)—

- Question re conversion of — into Indian refreshment rooms at Jubbulpore, Muttra, Agra and other stations. 29.

CAPITAL—

- Question re sanction for — Issues. 165-66.

CAPITAL ISSUES (CONTINUANCE OF CONTROL) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON BROADCASTING—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON CIVIL AVIATION—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON CIVIL WORKS—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON CURRENCY—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON DEVELOPMENT—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON FORESTS—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS (NOT MET FROM REVENUE)—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON MINTS—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON SCHEMES OF STATE TRADING—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON THE INDIA SECURITY PRESS—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

CAPITAL OUTLAY ON VIZAGAPATAM PORT—

- Demand for Grant. 746.

CAR(S)—

- Question re—
 Manufacture of Motor —. 1210.
 Motor Manufacturing Factories. 1203-05.

CARRIAGE(S)—

- Question re manufacture of new model third class —. 320.

CASUALTY(IES)—

- Question re—
 — and loss of property since partition of India. 183, 1315.
 — and loss to Hindu-Sikh evacuees from West Punjab. 87.
 — and loss to Non-Muslims in Pakistan. 84.

CATEGORY(IES)—

- Question re — of menial Government Servants. 198.

CATERER(S)—

- Question re—
 Catering arrangements on S. I. Railway. 1690-91.
 Control over railway — in respect of employees' services. 1462.
 List of Railway — on E. I., O. T. and B. N. Railways. 322-23.

CATTLE—

- Question re—
 Bone-meal as food for milch and draught — 656
 — for agricultural purposes. 1450-51.

CATTLE—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Maintenance of pedigree quality of —. 959.
- Slaughter of —. 936-37.
- State Insurance of Crop and —. 321-22.
- Supply of — food in India. 31.

See also "Animal(s)".

CATTLE PRESERVATION BILL—

See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

CAUSTIC SODA—

Question re—

- Abolition of control over sale of — and other Chemicals. 693.
- Distribution of — and other Chemicals by I. C. I. (India) Ltd. 692.
- Distribution of —, soda ash, etc., to provinces. 691-92.
- Requirements of —. 927.
- Supply of — to Cotton Mills and all-India Soap Makers Association. 692.

CAUVERY—

- Question re bridge across the — River at Pugalur. 315-16.

CEMENT—

Question re—

- Permits for sale of —. 1681.
- Production of — in India. 313.
- Quantity of iron, steel and — in Indian Union. 301-03.
- Steel, iron and — for United Provinces. 1226.

CENTRAL ADVISORY BOARD OF EDUCATION—

- Motion re election to —. 854.

CENTRAL ADVISORY COUNCIL—

See "Advisory Council".

CENTRAL BOARD OF REVENUE—

- Question re representation of Orissa on the —. 567.

CENTRAL EXCISE—

See "Excise".

CENTRAL EXCISE AND SALT—

- Demand for Grant. 1343.

CENTRAL EXCISES AND SALT ACT—

See "Act(s)".

CENTRAL PROVINCES—

Question re—

- Irrigation in Berar and Marathi —. 328.
- Seoni Sub-Post Office in —. 1686-87.

CENTRAL ROAD FUND—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.

CENTRAL SERVICE(S)—

See "Service(s)".

CENTRALLY ADMINISTERED AREAS—

Question re—

- Discovery of arms, ammunition, etc., from Muslims in —. 584-85.
- Grants-in-aid to educational institutions in —. 1139-42.

CENSUS—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.
- of labour population. 1763.
- Industrial — in India. 1201-02.

CERTIFICATE(S)—

- Question re recognition of Diplomas, Degrees and — of National Institutions for Government Service. 569.

CEYLON—

Question re—

- Export of commodities from Madras to — during the year 1937-38 and 1946-47. 788.
- Export of Onions and Oil-Cakes to —. 789.
- Indian labourers in —. 1036-37.
- Negotiations between Governments of India and — re Indo-Ceylon Problems. 90-91.
- Position of Indians in Independent —. 424-25.

CHAIBASA—

- Question re running of Patna bogey from — instead of Jamshedpur. 1769-90.

CHAIRMEN—

- Nomination of Panel of —. 247, 836-87.

CHALLENGE—

- Question re "Blood and Iron" talk by Goa Government. 783.

CHAMAN LAL, DEWAN—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.
- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 122-23, 140-41.
- Motion for adjournment re plight of refugees from Western Pakistan. 37.
- Motion re relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 863-66.
- Question re statement on events in Kashmir. 592-96.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Compensation to European I.C.S. Officers leaving India. 1145.
- Detention of aeroplanes by Pakistan authorities. 1280.
- Directorate for Remounts and Veterinary Services. 1135.
- Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1521.
- Evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1284.
- Fertilizer Factory at Sindri. 1428-29.
- Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 411.
- Homes for refugee widows and children. 1036.
- Provision of railway staff who opted for India. 1702.
- Recruitment and training of Cadets at Dehra Dun. 568.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1527-28.
- Supply of fertilizing material. 292.

CHANDRIKA RAM, SHRI—

Question re—

- Enrolment of depressed classes to Military Cadets. 1599.
- Martial and non-martial races. 1599.
- Resolution re amelioration of condition of Scheduled castes. 1091-98.

CHANNIAH, SHRI T.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.

CHARTER—

- Question re United Nations Organisation —. 1046-48.

CHATTOPADHYAYA, SHRI MINIR LAL—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- All-India drainage and development plan. 1273.
- Broadcasting Station at Bezwada. 1142.
- Damodar Valley and Machkhand Projects. 1030-31.
- Detention of ship by Pakistan authorities. 1277.
- Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1118.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 792.
- Government scholarship to students from Africa and other countries. 1122.
- Indian research scholars sent to foreign countries. 571.
- Industrial Census in India. 1202.
- Movement of East Bengal Hindus to West Bengal. 1541.
- Number of Indians appointed as Chief Justices. 542.
- Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1439-40.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1526.
- Rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan. 1033.
- Sale of land by Delhi Improvement Trust. 1379.
- Tribal peoples of India. 1276.
- Wagons for transporting coal. 12200.

CHAUDHRI, SHRIMATI KAMLA—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.
 Motion to reduce Demand for "Railway Board"—Overcrowding in trains. 714-17.

CHAUDHRI, SHRI ROHINI KUMAR—

- Dentists Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 531.
 Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Education. 1229.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.
 Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 361.
 Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 363.
 General discussion of General Budget. 1001-04.
 General discussion of Railway Budget. 618-21.
 Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1389-90.

Motion re—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 56.
 Food Policy of Government of India. 1641-43.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1303.

Question re—

- Accumulation of mails on Ranaghat Railway Station. 493-95.
 Collections for Coalfield Labour Welfare Fund. 1517-18.
 Damodar Valley and Kosi Schemes. 1524-25.
 Detention and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and Parbati-pur in Eastern Pakistan. 783-90.
 Harassment of passengers at Parbatipur Junction on E. B. Railway. 1053.
 Representation of International Shipping Company Ltd., at the Conference of Shipping Interests in Bombay. 1530.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Appointments of Governors, Ambassadors and High Commissioners. 764-85.
 Consumption of petrol. 961.
 Damodar Valley and Machkhand Projects. 1031.
 Export duty on raw-jute by Pakistan Government. 1357-58.
 Nationalization of Railways. 297.
 Pakistan's export levy on Jute. 1377-78.
 Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1439.
 Production of sugarcane and sugar. 1437.
 Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 515-16.

CHEMICAL(S)—Question re—

- Abolition of control over sale of caustic soda and other —. 693.
 Distribution of caustic soda and other — by I.C.I. (India), Ltd. 692.

CHERRY—

- Question re prices of native — and coffee. 1775-76.

CHETTIYAR, KUMARARAJA SIR M. A. MUTHIAH—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—
 Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1256-57.

CHETTIYAR, SHRI T. A. RAMALINGAM—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 493.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 795.
 General discussion of General Budget. 1016-17.
 Indian Bar Councils and the Legal Practitioners (Amendment) Bill. 1184.
 Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1384-85.
 Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 121.
 Insurance (Amendment) Bill. 1184.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 795.
 Exclusion of Indians from Japanese Cotton Trade. 1524.
 Expenditure on 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 670.
 Industrial census in India. 1202.

CHETTY, THE HONOURABLE SHRI R. K. SHANMUKHAM—

- Authenticated Schedule of Expenditure from 15th August, 1947, to 31st March 1948 — laid on the table. 1826-28.

Banking Companies' Bill. 39.Declaration under Rule 2C. 1.*Demand for Grant in respect of—

- Cabinet. 1315.
 Ministry of Commerce. 1315.
 Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 1242.
 Ministry of Finance. 1230.
 Ministry of Industry and Supply. 1265.

Foreign Exchange (Amendment) Bill. 42. 356-57, 363-65.General discussion of General Budget. 982-83, 1017-24.*Income-tax and Business-Profits Tax (Amendment) Bill. 855, 1188-90, 1194-97.*Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 761, 1381, 1394-95.*Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—

- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 382-86, 464, 479-82.

Motion re—

- Elections to Standing Committees to advise Ministries. 231.
 Election to Standing Finance Committee. 43, 46-47.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Finance' — Economy in Central Administration. 1240-42.

Notifications under Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944—laid on the table. 1800-07.Presentation of the General Budget for 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948. 746-61.*Second Supplemental Agreement between the Reserve Bank of India and the Imperial Bank of India and the Financial Agreement between the Government of U.K. and the Government of India.—Copies laid on the table. 218-25.*CHIEF JUSTICE(S)—

- Question re number of Indians appointed as —. 541-42.

CHEKERI—

- Question re public auction of unserviceable articles at Aircraft Salvage Depo's at — and Bamrauli in October 1947. 579.

CHILD MARRIAGE RESTRAINT (AMENDMENT) BILL—See "Bill(s)".*CHIMAN LAL SETALVAD, SIR—

- Condolence on the death of —. 1680.

CHITTAGONG—

- Question re settlement of dues of B. A. Railway staff by Chief Auditor, E. B. Railway, —. 695.

CHOTA NAGPUR—

- Question re post-war reconstruction of railways in —. 1424.

CITIZENSHIP—Question re—

- of Pakistan and Indian Union. 1052-53.
 — rights of Indians in British Commonwealth of Nations. 412-21.

CIVIL AVIATION—See "Aviation".*CIVIL DEFENCE—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.
 Development of — Force. 1604-05.

CIVIL SERVICE, INDIAN—Question re—

- Compensation of European — Officers leaving India. 1144-46.
 Equality of pay for — and P.C.S. Deputy Secretaries. 1148-49.
 Number of —, I.P. and I.C.S. Officers serving in India. 186-87.
 Retired European — Officers employed in Indian States and Zamindaries. 5-6.

CIVIL SERVICE, PROVINCIAL—

- Question re equality of pay for I.C.S. and — Deputy Secretaries. 1148-49.

CIVIL VETERINARY SERVICES—

- Demand for Grant. 1347.

CIVIL WORKS—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.

CIVILIAN GAZETTED OFFICER(S)—

Question re—

- Commissioning of — serving under the Controller of Stores with age less than thirty-five years. 1701.
- Commissioning of — with age less than thirty-five years in Indian Army. 1700-01.
- Regular Commission for Ordnance — in the I.A.O.C. 840-41.

CLERGY—

Question re control over Metropolitan Bishops and — in India. 35.

CLOTH—

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over —, yarn and commodities other than food. 1265-71, 1289-1315.

Question re—

- Cloth and sugar supplied to Orissa States. 1461.
- ration in Delhi. 1202-03.
- Increased production of coarse —. 977
- Production, import and allotment of mill —. 287-301.
- Production of cotton — by Indian Mills. 661-63.
- Production of mill yarn and —. 1205-07.

COACH(ES)—

Question re—

- Construction of 'Silver Arrow' train —. 59-60.
- New model passenger —. 1225-26.
- New railway —. 1211.

COAL—

Question re—

- Allotment of — dust to United Provinces for brick burning. 35.
- economy by railways. 1220.
- Collection for — field Labour Welfare Fund. 1517-18.
- Implementation of recommendations of — Committee. 597.
- Indian — Fields Committee. 1216-17.
- Lack of adequate transport for —. 321.
- Supply of — to Pakistan. 971.
- Wagons for transporting —. 1219-20.

COAL MINES LABOUR WELFARE FUND BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

COCHIN—

Question re—

- Appointment of a Labour Officer at — Port. 451.
- Increase in basic ration of rice in Mysore. 1452-53.
- Increase in sugar quota of — State. 327.
- Rationing of rice in — State. 326-27.

CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

See also "Indian Penal Code and the —" under "Bill(s)".

CODIFICATION—

Question re report of Hindu Law — Committee. 453.

COFFEE—

Question re—

- Prices for native and cherry —. 1775-76.
- Production of Arabica and Robusta —. 1778
- Robusta — prices. 1776.

COFFEE MARKET EXPANSION (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

COIN(S)—

Question re coining of Indian money by Mexican Treasury. 849.

COINAGE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

COLD STORAGE—

Question re provision of — wagons on B. N. Railway. 324.

COLLECTION—

Question re—

- Amount collected under the Business Profits Tax. 171-72.
- of Business Profits Tax in India and Pakistan. 173.

COLLEGE(S)—

Question re—

- Admission in Central Agricultural —. 1690.
- Central — of Agriculture, Delhi. 1777-78
- "Princes" —. 1376.

COLONIES—

Question re—

- Appointment of Indian Agents in British —. 99-100.
- Creation of — for Central Government Servants. 1055.
- Development of East African —. 1026-27.

COMMANDER—

Question re allegations against — of Boundary Force. 852

COMMERCE—

Question re—

- Commercial treaty with U.S.A. 1512-13.
- Future of all-India concerns in view of India's Division. 422-23.

COMMERCE, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1315-40, 1345.
- Election to Standing Committee for —. 498, 1703
- Motion re election to Standing Committee for —. 1626.
- Motion to reduce Demand for —' Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1315-40.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE AND STATISTICS—

Demand for Grant. 1348.

COMMISSION(S)—

Question re—

- Commissioning of Civilian Gazetted Officers serving under the Controller of Stores with age less than thirty-five years. 1701.
- Commissioning of Civilian Gazetted Officers with age less than thirty-five years in Indian Army. 1700-01.
- Communal percentage of Emergency Officers. 33.
- Direct — in the I.A.O.C. 840.
- Formation of Planning — for India. 453.
- Implementation of Pay —'s recommendations. 179.
- Permanent — to Indian Emergency Commissioned Officers. 850.
- Regular — for Ordnance Civilian Gazetted Officers in the I.A.O.C. 840-41.

COMMISSIONED OFFICER(S)—

Question re—

- Communal proportion of — and Non-Commissioned Officers. 31-32.
- Demobilization of —. 851.

COMMITTEE(S)—

- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Commerce. 1703, 493.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Communications. 606.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Defence. 607.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Education. 703.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Food. 703, 1815.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Health. 703.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 795-96.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796, 1703.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Labour. 796.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Law. 855.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 981-82.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of States. 1056-57.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1056-57.
- Election to Standing — for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 981-82.

COMMITTEE(S)—contd.

- Election to Standing — for Roads. 1056-57.
 Election to Standing Finance —. 350-51.
 Election to Standing Finance — for Railways. 351.
 Motion re—
 Election to Standing — for Ministry of Commerce. 1626.
 Election to Standing — for Ministry of Food. 1703.
 Election to Standing — for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting 1626-27.
 Election to Standing — for Roads. 246.
 Elections to Standing — to advise Ministries. 226-33.
 Election to Standing Finance —. 43-47.
 Election to Standing Finance — for Railways. 47-50.
 Question re—
 Appointment of non-official Legislators to Cabinet Sub-Committee. 767-68.
 — on indigenous system of medicine. 167-68.
 Constitution of an Advisory — in connection with milk production 667.
 Defence Consultative — of India Legislature. 200.
 Establishment of Advisory — of the Assembly. 101.
 Indian Coalfields —. 1216-17.
 Price — on agriculture, forestry and fisheries. 30.
 Recommendations of food-grains —. 320.
 Reconstituted food policy —. 1434-35.
 Reconstitution of — on indigenous system of medicine. 1130-31.
 Report of National Cadet Corps —. 200.
 Taxation enquiry —. 849, 1367.
 Resolution re—
 Appointment of Statutory Law Revision —. 1100-08.
 Central Road Fund and Standing — for Roads. 236-46.

COMMODITIES PRICES BOARD—

- Question re constitution of the —. 574-75.

COMMONWEALTH—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and — Relations'—Position of India in Inter-national Affairs and of India in — Countries. 1242-65.
 Question re—
 Customs Union. 1521-22.
 Observation by India's High Commissioner in Canada re India remaining in British —. 85.
 Scholarships and fellowships for Indians. 1277.
 Scholarships for Indians in — countries. 1622.

COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS, MINISTRY OF—

- See "External Affairs and —".

COMMUNAL DISTURBANCE(S)—

- See "Disturbance(s)".

COMMUNAL REPRESENTATION—

- Question re—
 Communal percentage of Emergency Officers. 33.
 Communal proportion of Commissioned and Non-commissioned Officers. 31-32.
 Gazetted Officers employed in the Defence Department. 32.
 Percentage of demobilised soldiers community-wise. 32-33.
 Strength and composition of Boundary Force. 201-04.

COMMUNICATIONS, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.
 Election to Standing Committee for —. 606.

COMMUTED VALUE OF PENSIONS—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

COMPANY(IES)—

- Question re operation of Non-Indian Air Lines. 973-74

COMPENSATION—

- Question re— — for losses awarded to evacuees. 778.
 — for loss of property to evacuees. 97.
 — to European I.C.S. Officers leaving India. 1144-46.
 — to Indian Shipping companies. 768.
 Steps for — for losses sustained by Non-Muslims. 94-95.

COMPOSITION(S)—

- Question re — of Indian Army and number of British Officers. 205-06.
 See also "Communal Representation".

CONFERENCE(S)—

- Question re—
 Representation of India at International —. 770-73.
 Representation of International Shipping Company Ltd., at the — of Shipping interests in Bombay. 1530.

CONGRESS—

- Question re formation of Indian National Trade Union. 425-26.

CONGRESS, INDIAN NATIONAL—

- Question re Prime Minister's address to Congress workers in New Delhi. 762.

CONSTABLE(S)—

- Question re Hindu and Sikh Head — of the Punjab Police. 1366-67.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA—

- Demand for Grant. 1344.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY OF INDIA (LEGISLATIVE)—

- Demand for Grant. 1344.
 Question re—
 —. 1511.
 Establishment of Advisory Committee of the —. 101.

CONSTITUTION—

- Question re—
 — of Development Board. 1765.
 — of National Committee for F.A.O. 321.
 — of the Federal Court. 88.

CONSTRUCTION(S)—

- Question re progress in — of Trichur-Kollengode Railway. 1460.

CONSTRUCTION OF NEW LINES—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

CONSTRUCTION OF NEW LINES-CAPITAL AND DEPRECIATION FUND—

- Demand for Grant. 739-44.
 Motion to reduce Demand for '—' —Reconstruction of lines dismantled during war—
 Darwha-Pused Line. 739-44.

CONSUL(S)—

- Question re—
 Foreign Diplomatic Embassies in India. 1039-40.
 Selection of Ambassadors, High Commissioners. —. 97.

CONSUMER'S GOODS—

- See "Goods".

CONTRIBUTION—

- Question re India's annual — to U.N.O. 429-32.

CONTROL—

- Motion for adjournment re announcement to decontrol sugar and consequent rise in prices. 981.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of — over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1265-71.
 Question re—
 Abolition of — over sale of caustic soda and other Chemicals. 693.
 — of foodstuffs. 972.
 — of Khandasari sugar and Gur. 1437-39.
 — over newsprint and newspapers. 1207-09.
 Controlled foodgrains prices. 948-58.
 Decontrol of foodstuffs. 971.
 Expenditure on textile, iron, steel and other — Departments. 685-86.
 Fruit Products — Order. 1946. 1448-49.
 Imposition of — over import and export. 426-27.

CONTROL—contd.

Question re—contd.

- Irregularities in foodgrains purchases by senior Food — Officer, O. T. Railway. 4.
- Maldistribution of controlled goods in Orissa States. 1461.
- Removal of —. 426, 1683
- Removal of — on articles other than food. 698-99.

CONTROL (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent —" under "Bill(s)".

CONTROL OF SHIPPING BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

CONVENTION(S)—

— and Recommendations adopted at 28th Session of International Labour Conference. Seattle—laid on the table. 1238-89.

CONVERSION(S)—

Question re — of Hindus and Sikhs in West Punjab and N.W.F.P. 453.

CONVERSION OF HINDU WOMEN BILL—

See "Prevention of Forcible and Fraudulent —" under "Bill(s)".

CONVICT(S)—

Question re release of Muslim communal riot — by Government of West Punjab and Sind. 782.

CONVICTION(S)—

Question re appeal against — of Sri Borra Appala Narayana Reddi of Waltair. 34.

COORG—

Question re allotment of petrol to —. 303-04.

CORRUPTION—

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet' — in Government Departments. 1315-40.

'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and —. 720-39.

Question re—

Eradication of — and black-marketing. 547

Prosecutions by the Anti — Department. 36.

Ticketless travelling and — on railways. 1222-23.

CORRUPTION BILL—

See "Prevention of —" under "Bill(s)".

COTTAGE INDUSTRY—

See "Industry(ies)".

COTTON—

Question re—

Exclusion of Indians from Japanese — trade. 1522.

Licenses for new — mills in India. 663-65.

Production of — cloth by Indian mills. 661-63.

Production of — in India. 959.

Supply of soda caustic to — mills and all India Soap Makers Association. 692.

COTTON CESS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

COTTON MILL(S)—

See also "Mill(s)".

COURT MARTIAL—

Question re — of Sri Gollakota Ramabrahmanandaro of Peddapuram, East Godavari. 34.

COW DUNG—

Question re — Gas Plant. 931-32, 1691.

CREDIT—

Question re disposals articles disposed on — system. 1793-94

CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION DEPARTMENT—

Question re seizure of Radio Transmitters by — at Jubbulpore. 1587-88.

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Code of —" under "Bill(s)".

See also "Indian Penal Code and —" under "Bill(s)".

CRIMINAL TRIBES—

See "Tribe(s)".

CRIMINAL TRIBES (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

CRIMINAL TRIBES (REPEAL) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

CROP(S)—

Question re—

Damage caused to — in East Punjab by disorders. 339.

Planning and development of — in India. 671-72.

State Insurance of — and cattle. 321-22.

CROWN DEPARTMENT—

Question re taking over of records from the —. 1594-95.

CULTIVATION(S)—

Question re—

— of fallow lands. 1697.

— of land. 925-26.

CULTURAL MISSION(S)—

See "Mission(s)".

CURRENCY—

Demand for Grant. 1348.

Question re—

Banking reserve for —. 1143-44.

— arrangements between India and Pakistan. 174.

Fixation of basic value of —. 155-56.

CUSTOMS—

Demand for Grant. 1343.

Question re Commonwealth — Union. 1521-22.

D

DAGGER(S)—

Question re action by the police and railway authorities re consignments of — and knives in transit. 8-20.

DAM(S)—

Question re—

Construction of — across Laxmanateertha and Harangi rivers. 81-82.

Hirakud — project. 778-79.

DAMODAR VALLEY—

Question re—

— and Kosi Schemes. 1524-25.

— and Machkhand Projects. 1029-32.

— Scheme Project. 95-96.

DAMODAR VALLEY CORPORATION BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DAS, SHRI B.—

Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1835-38.

Death anniversary of late Lala Lajpat Rai. 4.

Dock Workers' Regulation of Employment Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 521, 527-28.

Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 38.

Electricity (Supply) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee —. 1406, 1412-13, 1467.

Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 359, 361

DECONTROL—

- Question re—
— of foodstuffs. 1443.
Removal of Controls. 426.

DEFENCE—

- Question re—
Closing of Supreme Command Headquarters. 840.
Development of Civil — Force. 1604-05.
Fortification of new frontiers of India. 1764.
Indian Union National Guards. 1588.
National Militia for defence of India and her borders. 549.
Protection of eastern frontier of India and formation of a National Militia. 588.

DEFENCE CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEE—

See "Committee(s)".

DEFENCE DEPARTMENT—

- Question re Gazetted Officers employed in the —. 32.

DEFENCE FORCES—

See "Forces".

DEFENCE, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.
Election to Standing Committee for —. 607.
Question re return of rolling stock lent to —. 309-10.

DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE (AIR FORCES)—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE (ARMY)—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE (ROYAL INDIAN NAVY)—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

DEFENCE SERVICES, EFFECTIVE (SUPPLIES AND STORES)—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

DEFENCE SERVICES, NON-EFFECTIVE CHARGES—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

DEGREE(S)—

- Question re recognition of Diplomas, — and Certificates of National Institutions for Government Service. 589.

DEHRA DUN—

- Question re recruitment and training of Cadets at —. 567-68.

DELAY—

- Question re delayed delivery of letters and telegrams. 1450.

DELEGATE(S)—

- Report of Indian Government — to 29th Session of International Labour Conference, Montreal—laid on the table. 1288.

DELEGATION(S)—

- Question re—
— sent for procurement of foodgrains from abroad. 684-85.
Expenditure on — sent to U.N.O. 774-75.
Indian — to Geneva Conference on World Trade Relations. 763-64.
Industrial — to Germany. 973.
Labour — to foreign countries. 1048-52.
Work of Indian — to World Trade Conference in Geneva. 98.

DELHI—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.
Election to Court of University of —. 1160, 1815.
Motion re election to Court of University of —. 496-97, 1703
Question re—
Appointment of an Enquiry Committee for the — University. 588.
Appointment of Special Police Officers in —. 182.
Audit report on — University accounts. 592.

DELHI—contd.

Question re—contd.

- Building in Ward No. 14, —, not acquired by — Improvement Trust. 21.
Central College of Agriculture, —. 1777-78.
Central Institute of Fruit Technology in —. 1449.
Circuit High Court at —. 844.
Communal disturbances in —. 1149-50.
Desecration of mosques in —. 1596-97.
Disturbances in —. 189-90.
Division of — province in four Districts. 845.
Emergency powers of Vice-Chancellor of the — University. 585.
Grants-in-Aid to — University. 1431-33.
Improvement of telephone service in —. 683.
Introduction of three year degree course by the — University. 585-87.
Licences for fire-arms in —. 1590-91.
Provision of accommodation to Government servants in —. 89-90.
Recovery of unlicensed arms from Muslims in —. 844-45.
Refugees registered in — and East Punjab. 776-77.
Report regarding working of Municipal Committees in — Province. 1137.
Sale of land by — Improvement Trust. 1378-79.
Transport service in New — and Old —. 311.

DELHI AND AJMER MERWARA LAND DEVELOPMENT BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DELHI AND AJMER MERWARA RENT CONTROL (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DELHI AND AJMER MERWARA RENT CONTROL BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DELHI CAPITAL OUTLAY—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

DELHI MUSLIM WAKFS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DELHI PREMISES (REQUISITION AND EVICTION) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DEMAND(S) FOR GRANT(S)—GENERAL BUDGET—

- Administration of Justice. 1346.
Agriculture. 1347.
Ajmer Merwara. 1350.
Andaman and Nicobar Islands. 1350.
Archaeology. 1347.
Audit. 1346.
Aviation. 1348.
Botanical Survey. 1346.
Broadcasting. 1348.
Cabinet. 1315-44.
Capital Outlay on Broadcasting. 1351.
Capital Outlay on Civil Aviation. 1350.
Capital Outlay on Civil Works. 1351.
Capital Outlay on Currency. 1351.
Capital Outlay on Development. 1351.
Capital Outlay on Forests. 1350.
Capital Outlay on Indian Posts and Telegraphs (not met from Revenue). 1354.
Capital Outlay on Industrial Development. 1350.
Capital Outlay on Mints. 1351.
Capital Outlay on Schemes of State Trading. 1351.
Capital Outlay on the India Security Press. 1350.
Census. 1348.
Central Excise and Salt. 1343.
Central Road Fund. 1348.
Civil Defence. 1350.
Civil Veterinary Services. 1347.
Civil Works. 1348.
Commercial Intelligence and Statistics. 1348.
Commuted Value of Pensions. 1351.
Constituent Assembly of India. 1344.
Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 1344.
Currency. 1348.

DAS, SHRI B.—contd.

- General discussion of Railway Budget. 618.
 Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 388-90.
 Motion re—
 Election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 59.
 Election to Standing Finance Committee. 43.
 Election to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 49.
 Motion to reduce Demand for—
 'Ministry of Finance'—Economy in Central Administration. 230-32, 1242.
 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 730-33.
 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'—Economy. 730-33.
 Question re seizure of rice by Dutch Government. 1778-79.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Anti-India propaganda in American Press. 546.
 Development of Indian Mercantile Marine. 765.
 Fixation of basic value of Currency. 155-56.
 Handling of exports and imports by Indian Mercantile Marine. 767.
 Import of foodstuffs. 307.
 Import of locomotives. 1219.
 India's annual contribution to U.N.O. 431.
 Publication of result of Geological Survey. 69-70.
 Recommendations of American Technical Mission. 1215.
 Recruitment to Foreign Service. 433.
 Re-organization of High Commissioner's Office in London. 1026.
 Seattle Conference Conventions. 1037.
 Winding up of Disposal Directorate. 967.
 Resolution re ratification of the Constitution of the World Health Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International Office of Public Hygiene. 532-34.
 United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Bill. 108-09, 111.

DAS, SHRI BASANTA KUMAR—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 983.
 Question re—
 Abolition of Control over sale of caustic soda and other chemicals. 693.
 Agricultural institutions in India. 1694-95.
 Appointment of I.N.A. men to Indian Army and participation of Muslim I.N.A. men in the Kashmir Fighting. 538-89.
 Distribution of caustic soda and other chemicals by I.C.I. (India) Ltd. 692.
 Distribution of caustic soda, soda ash, etc., to provinces. 691-92.
 East Bengal Officers opting for Indian Dominion. 1591.
 Evacuees from East Bengal. 1753.
 Manufacture of Biscuits. 1455-56.
 Pisciculture of fish in West Bengal. 1694.
 Production of soda ash. 1455.
 Protection of eastern frontier of India and formation of a National Militia. 588.
 Recognition of Diplomas, Degrees and Certificates of National Institutions for Government service. 589.
 Recruitment of refugees for military training. 1594.
 Salt as a Cottage Industry. 1454.
 Soap factories in West Bengal. 1454.
 Stoppage of Puri-Howrah Express Train at Jaipur and Jenapur stations. 1460.
 Supply of soda ash to glass manufacturers. 693.
 Supply of soda caustic to Cotton Mills and All-India Soap Makers Association. 692.
 Tuberculosis Bacillus Hospitals and Sanatoria. 1605-17.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Banning of Indian Union flag by Hyderabad State. 164.
 Supply of drinking water on G.I.P. and E. I. Railways. 306.

DAS, SHRI BISWANATH—

- Election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1703.
 Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.
 Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 360.
 Indian Army and the Indian Air Force (Amendment) Bill—
 Reconstitution of Select Committee. 106-07.
 Motion re—
 Election to Standing Finance Committee. 44-45.
 Food Policy of Government of India. 1666-68.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1307.

DAS, SHRI BISWANATH—contd.

- Procedure re printing of papers laid on the table. 702.
 Question re—
 Citizenship, rights of Indians in British Commonwealth of Nations. 412-21.
 Constitution of 'Empire Dollar Pool' and shares of India and Pakistan. 578.
 Division of assets between India and Pakistan. 147-55.
 Export duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1356-58.
 Financial Stability of India. 160.
 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 281-89.
 India's Embassies abroad. 1511-12.
 Indian Armed Forces personnel in other countries. 1358-59.
 Prime Minister's address to Congress workers in New Delhi. 782.
 Programme for development of salt industry. 336.
 Punjab news letter published in Calcutta Statesman of 28th September, 1947 re Pakistan talk of fortifying borders. 82-83.
 Rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan. 63-67.
 Smuggling of arms and ammunition from C.O.D., Jubbulpore. 1147.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Appointments of Governors, Ambassadors and High Commissioners. 785.
 Commonwealth Customs Union. 1522.
 Detention and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and Parbatipur in Eastern Pakistan. 790.
 Development of Indian Mercantile Marine. 765, 767.
 Disposals articles disposed of on Credit system. 1793.
 Disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1797.
 Fertilizer factory at Sindri. 1429.
 Immigration of Indians into Burma. 423-24.
 Number of cases tried by the Federal Court and Privy Council. 76.
 Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1440.
 Production of potatoes. 1445.
 Resettlement of Burma labourers. 1526.
 Request re supply of answers to questions in advance. 208.
 Resolution re Central Road Fund and Standing Committee for Roads. 240-41.

DAS, SHRI NAND KISHORE—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.

DAS, SHRI SANTANU KUMAR—

- Question re—
 Bengal Nagpur Railway Stations without light. 1460.
 Refugees residing without shelter. 1526-30.
 Resettlement of Burma labourers. 1525-26.
 Wages to refugee workers at Kurukshetra. 1779.
 Question (Supplementary) re help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 410.

DAS, SHRI SARANGADHAR—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 796.

DEATH—

- Condolence on the — of Bhai Parmanand. 1542.
 Condolence on the — of Sir Chiman Lal Setalvad. 1680.

DEBT—

- Question re—
 — settlement arrangement with the French Government of Indo-China. 104-05.
 Settlement of Burma's — to India. 165.

DECCAN STATES—

- Question re Geological Survey of certain Districts of the —. 67-69.

DECLARATIONS UNDER RULE 2C—

- by—
 Bobli, Raja of. 63.
 Chetty, The Honourable Shri R. K. Shanmukham. 1.
 Gautam, Shri Mohan Lal. 1.
 Kalapa, Shri V. R. 63.
 Keskar, Shri B. V. 1353.
 Matthai, The Honourable, Dr. John. 1.
 Misra, Shri Loknath. 1.
 Narayana Deo, Shri K. C. Gajapati. 1.
 Pati, Shri Lal Mohan. 1.
 Raghuraj Singh, Rai Sahib. 63.
 Ramamurty, Dr. Sir S. V. 1.

DEMAND(S) FOR GRANT(S)—GENERAL BUDGET—contd.

Customs. 1343.
 Defence Services, Effective (Air Forces). 1349.
 Defence Services, Effective—Army. 1349.
 Defence Services, Effective (Royal Indian Navy). 1349.
 Defence Services, Effective (Supplies and Stores). 1349.
 Defence Services, Non-effective Charges. 1349.
 Delhi. 1350.
 Delhi Capital Outlay. 1351.
 Ecclesiastical. 1346.
 Education. 1347.
 Emigration. 1348.
 Expenditure on refugees. 1349.
 External Affairs. 1346.
 Forest. 1343.
 Geological Survey. 1347.
 Indian Dairy Department. 1348.
 Indian Posts and Telegraphs—Store Suspense (Not met from Revenue). 1350.
 Industries and Supplies. 1347.
 Interest-free and Interest bearing Advances. 1351.
 Irrigation, Navigation, Embankment and Drainage Works (Met from Revenue). 1344.
 Jails and Convict Settlements. 1346.
 Joint Stock Companies. 1348.
 Light house and Light ships. 1346.
 Medical Services. 1347.
 Meteorology. 1347.
 Mines. 1347.
 Ministry of Agriculture. 1344.
 Ministry of Commerce. 1315-40, 1345.
 Ministry of Communications. 1345.
 Ministry of Defence. 1345.
 Ministry of Education. 1344.
 Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 1242-65.
 Ministry of Finance. 1230-42, 1344.
 Ministry of Food. 1345.
 Ministry of Industry and Supply. 1265-71, 1289-1315, 1345.
 Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 1344.
 Ministry of Health. 1344.
 Ministry of Home Affairs. 1344.
 Ministry of Labour. 1345.
 Ministry of Law. 1344.
 Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 1345.
 Ministry of States. 1345.
 Ministry of Transport. 1345.
 Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 1345.
 Ministry without Portfolio. 1345.
 Mint. 1348.
 Miscellaneous. 1349.
 Miscellaneous Adjustments between the Central and Provincial Governments. 1349.
 Miscellaneous Departments. 1348.
 Opium. 1343.
 Other Scientific Departments. 1347.
 Overseas Communications Service. 1347.
 Panth Piploda. 1350.
 Payments to other Governments, Departments, etc. on account of the Administration Agency Subjects and Management of Treasuries, etc. 1345.
 Payments to Retrenched Personnel. 1351.
 Police. 1346.
 Ports and Pilotage. 1346.
 Provincial Excise. 1343.
 Public Health. 1347.
 Relations with Indian States. 1350.
 Resettlement and Development. 1349.
 Stamps. 1343.
 Stationery and Printing. 1349.
 Superannuation Allowances and Pensions. 1349.
 Survey of India. 1346.
 Taxes on Income including Corporation Tax. 1343.

DEMAND(S) FOR GRANT(S)—GENERAL BUDGET—concl'd.

Territorial and Political Pensions. 1349.
 Tribal Areas. 1346.
 Zoological Survey. 1346.

DEMAND(S) FOR GRANT(S)—RAILWAY BUDGET—

Audit. 745.
 Capital Outlay on Vizagapatam Port. 746.
 Construction of New Lines. 745.
 Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund. 739-44.
 Miscellaneous Expenditure. 745.
 Open Line Works—Additions. 746.
 Open Line Works—Replacements. 746.
 Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration. 720-39.
 Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses. 723-39.
 Payments to Indian States and Companies. 745.
 Railway Board. 744, 706-20.
 Withdrawal from Reserve. 745.
 Working Expenses—Administration. 745.
 Working Expenses—Appropriation to Depreciation Fund. 745.
 Working Expenses—Operation (Fuel). 745.
 Working Expenses—Operating Staff. 745.
 Working Expenses—Operation other than Staff and Fuel. 745.
 Working Expenses—Repairs and Maintenance. 745.

DEMAND(S) FOR GRANT(S)—MOTION(S) FOR REDUCTION—GENERAL BUDGET—

'Cabinet'—
 Corruption in Government Departments. 1315-40.
 Planning and Development Programme for India. 1340-43.
 'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export Licensing. 1315-40.
 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1242-65.
 'Ministry of Finance'—Economy in Central Administration. 1230-42.
 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1265-71, 1289-1315.

DEMAND(S) FOR GRANT(S)—MOTION(S) FOR REDUCTION—RAILWAY BUDGET—

'Construction of New lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund'—Reconstruction of lines dismantled during war—Darwaha-Pusad Line. 739-44.
 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 720-39.
 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'—Economy. 723-39.
 'Railway Board'—
 More adequate provision for safeguarding the person and property of passengers. 741-44.
 Overcrowding in trains. 706-20.

DEMobilIZATION—

Question re—
 — of Commissioned Officers. 851.
 — of Indian Union Forces. 1355-56.
 Percentage of demobilised soldiers community-wise. 32-33.

DENTISTS BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DEO, SHRI SHANKAR DATTATRAYA—

Election of — to the Governing Body of Indian Research Fund Association. 1057.

DEPOSITS

Question re—
 Defence Savings Bank —. 1773.
 Return of money deposited by I.N.A. Soldiers. 1777.

DEPRESSED CLASSES—

See "Scheduled castes".

DESAI, DURBAR GOPALDAS A.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.

DESAI, SHRI KANAYLAL NANABHAI—

Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 982.

DESAI, SHRI KHANDUBHAI K.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.
 Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 331.
 Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1393-94.
 Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 120-21.
 Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 468-69.
 Motion re food policy of the Government of India. 1650-52.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of Control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1269-71.
 Question re—
 Implementation of Central Pay Commission's recommendations relating to railway employees. 690-91.
 Retrenchment on South Indian Railway. 691.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Production of mill yarn and cloth. 1206.
 Production of steel. 1426.
 Protection and subsidy to industries. 1286.
 Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 503-05.

DESSERTION—

- Question re — by Muslims in Indian Military and Police. 1376.

DESHMUKH, DR. P. S.—

- Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1746, 1747, 1749.
 Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1844-45.
 Election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1703.
 Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.
 Income-tax and Business Profits Tax (Amendment) Bill. 1193.
 Indian Companies (Amendment) Bill (Amendment of sections 25, 31 etc.) 1185-86.
 Indian Companies (Amendment) Bill (Amendment of section 86-F.). 1185.
 Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1392-93.
 Motion re election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1545.
 Motion to reduce Demand for—
 'Ministry of Finance'—Economy in Central Administration. 1236-39.
 'Railway Board'—Overcrowding in trains. 706-09, 720.
 Procedure re printing of papers laid on the table. 703.

Question re—

- Amraoti-Badnera Motor Service. 1453-54.
 Bridge between Khandwa and Indore on Narbudda River. 328-29.
 Building of National Highways connecting Nagpur with Bombay. 329.
 Bus Service between Amraoti and Badnera. 1693-99.
 Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 1511.
 Education in Army, Navy and Air Forces. 191-93.
 Electric fans in Third and Inter Class Compartments. 305.
 Evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1283-84.
 Evasion of payment of Income Tax. 193.
 Hardship of 3rd Class railway passengers. 959-60.
 Hydro-Electric Schemes. 439-47.
 Incursions by Hyderabad people and police into Indian territory. 1373-74.
 Industrialization of India. 680-82.
 Irrigation in Berar and Marathi Central Provinces. 328.
 Manufacture of motor cars. 1210.
 Manufacture of sugar by Centrifugal Open Plant System. 679.
 Misappropriation of income by Hindu and Religious Trusts. 781.
 Names and Castes of scholarship holders sent abroad. 852.
 Nationalization of Industries. 679-80.
 Need of aerodromes at Amraoti or Akola in Berar. 328.
 Overbridge for Amraoti Railway Station. 1209-10.
 Project to connect Amraoti with Bombay-Nagpur main line. 683.
 Project to connect Amraoti with Narkhed by Rail. 682-83.
 Recruitment for all India Services. 851-52.
 Repair of Badnera station approach road. 960.
 Research in scientific agriculture. 328.
 Scheme for Study and Research in Atomic Energy. 576.

DESHMUKH, DR. P. S.—contd.

Question re—contd.

- Training of youngmen in Government of India Departments. 191.
 Widening of overbridge at Badnera. 960, 1792.
 Working hours of Broadcasting Stations and time devoted to English Programmes. 576.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Advanced training for personnel of Ordnance factories. 1353.
 All-India drainage and development plan. 1274.
 Control over newsprint and newspapers. 1209.
 Development of Jubbulpore aerodrome. 1216.
 Disposals articles disposed of on credit system. 1793-94.
 Disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1797.
 Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1119.
 Export duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1358.
 Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1520.
 Government scholarships to students from Africa and other countries. 1123.
 Report of Industrial Panels. 1426.
 Utilization of railway bridges for vehicular and pedestrian traffic. 673.
 Wagons for transporting coal. 1220.
 Resolution re appointment of Statutory Law Revision Committee. 1101-03.

DETECTION—

- Question re steps to detect income-tax evasions. 1620.

DEVELOPMENT—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Cabinet'—Planning and — programme for India. 1340-43.

Question re—

- Committee for developing Ayurvedic System of Medicine. 175-76.
 Constitution of — Board. 1765.
 Contribution for the Post-War —. 1592.
 — of agriculture. 972.
 — of Ayurvedic science, literature and institutions. 175.
 — of Civil Aviation in India. 333.
 — of home and cottage industries. 1222.
 — of industries. 928-29.
 Establishment of — Board. 97.
 Post War — Schemes. 452.

DHARAM PRAKASH, DR.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057.
 Question re retrenchment in General Headquarters. 1794-95.
 Resolution re amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 1080-84.

DHULEKAR, SHRI R. V.—

- Hindu Code. 41.
 Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 138-39.
 Press (Special Powers) Bill. 272-74.
 Question re—
 Committee for developing Ayurvedic System. 175-76.
 Development of Ayurvedic science, literature and institutions. 175.
 Grant of funds for Ayurvedic teaching and research. 176.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Committee on indigenous system of medicine. 167-68.
 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 283.
 Migration between India and Pakistan. 79.
 Supply of drinking water in G. I. P. and E. I. Railways. 306-07.

DILWARA—

- Question re levy of tax by Sirohi State on visitors to — temple at Mount Abu. 591.

DIPLOMA(S)—

- Question re recognition of —, Degrees and Certificates of National Institutions for Government Service. 589.

DISEASE(S)—

- Question re fruit — in areca-nut. 1452.

DISHONOUR—

- Question re dishonouring the Indian Union Flag. 157-58.

DISINFECTANT—

Question re use of Pyrethrum as —. 1136.

DISPOSAL(S)—

Question re—

- articles disposed of on credit system. 1793-94.
- of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1796-97.
- of India Office building and its contents. 1795-96.
- of scientific equipment. 1689-90.

Profiteering by Government in the — of certain articles. 21.
Public auction of unserviceable aircrafts at Aircraft Salvage Depots at Chekeri and Bamrauli in October 1947. 579.
Winding up of — Directorate. 1038.

DISTRICT(S)—

Question re division of Delhi Province in four —. 845.

DISTURBANCES—

Question re—

- Anti-India propaganda in British and American Press re Punjab riots. 591-92.
- Communal — in Delhi. 1149-50.
- Damage caused to crops in East Punjab by disorders. 339.
- in Delhi. 189-90.
- in Punjab and other parts of India. 205.
- Loss of goods in transit during —. 963.
- Loss of life and property due to communal —. 838.
- Loss of railway revenues due to Punjab —. 319.
- Release of Muslim communal riots convicts by Governments of West Punjab and Sind. 782.

DIVISION—

See "Partition".

DIWAKAR, SHRI R. R.—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.
- Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.
- General discussion of General Budget. 987-89.
- Question re—
- Appeals from the High Courts in India. 70-71.
- Bonemeal as food for milch and draught cattle. 655-56.
- Central College of Agriculture, Delhi. 1777-78.
- Cultivation of land. 925-26.
- Edible and non-edible oil cake. 293-94.
- Export of Crushed bones. 438-39.
- Geological Survey of certain Districts of the Deccan States. 67-69.
- Jurisdiction of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to decide pending appeals. 71.
- Meat rationing in India. 1448.
- Number of bone mills, with disintegrators. 657.
- Policy re uniform price of oil cakes and oil seeds. 658.
- Publication of the results of Geological Survey. 69-70.
- Subvention to the Provinces for manure supply. 289-91.
- Supply of cheap fuel and subsidized manures. 658-59.
- Supply of fertilising material. 291-93.
- Use of bones as manure. 655.
- Use of oil cakes and bone meal as manure. 295.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Appointment for scheduled caste candidates trained under Bevin Scheme. 776.
- Control over newsprint and newspapers. 1209.
- Creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 794-95.
- Expansion of Indian Shipping in coastal trade. 1512.
- Newsprint import licences. 1275.

DOCK WORKERS (REGULATION OF EMPLOYMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

DOG(S)—

Question re booking of — in passenger compartments. 308.

DOLLAR POOL—

See "Empire —".

DOSS, SHRI D. GOVINDA—

Question re fisheries and research institute. 975.

DRAINAGE—

Question re All-India — and development plan. 1273-74.

DRIVER(S)—

Question re—

Complaint re the recruitment of Diesel Engine — on N. W. Railway. 35
Recruitment of —. 1213-14.

DRUG(S)—

Question re—

Imports of — and medicines. 1699.
Production and import of — for leprosy. 200-01.
See also "Medicine(s)".

DRYING—

Question re tobacco re-drying machines. 1693.

D'SOUZA, REV. JEROME—

Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.

DUE(S)—

Question re settlement of — of B. A. Railway staff by Chief Auditor, E. B. Railway, Chittagong. 695-96.

DURGABAI, SHRIMATI G.—

- Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Law. 855.
- Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1713-15.
- Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1469, 1474-75.
- Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—
- Motions to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1175-77.
- Nomination of — to Committee on Petitions. 1463.
- Nomination of — to Panel of Chairmen. 886-87.
- Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill. 1185.
- Question re Naval Works Department at Avadi Base, Madras. 1604.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Expenditure on 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 669.
- Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 409.
- Indian research scholars to foreign countries. 570.
- Major irrigation projects. 409.
- Measures for Protection of border areas. 569.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1527, 1529.
- Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 806 10.
- Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 489-91.

DUTCH GOVERNMENT—

Question re seizure of rice by —. 1778-79.

DUTY—

Question re—

- Export — on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1356-58.
- Imposition of — on raw jute. 1052.
- Pakistan's export — on jute. 1602.
- Pakistan's export — on raw jute. 1376.
- Production and import of salt in India since the abolition of salt —. 678-79.
- See also "Levy".
- See also "Tax(es)".

DYNASTY—

Question re publication of lists of inscriptions dynasty-wise. 207.

E

EAST AFRICA—

Question re—

- Development of East African Colonies. 1026-27.
- Indians in —. 1043.
- Inter-territorial Organisation for the British East African Colonies. 1231-82.

EAST BENGAL—

- Question re—
 — officers opting for Indian Dominion. 1591.
 Evacuees from —. 1753.
 Movement of — Hindus to West Bengal. 1539-41.
 Pakistani badges for Scheduled Castes and harassment of Hindu evacuees in —. 773-74.

EAST INDIAN RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

EAST PUNJAB—

- Question re—
 — Casualties and loss to non-Muslims and Muslims in West and —. 87
 — Damage caused to crops in — by disorders. 339.
 — Refugees registered in Delhi and —. 776-77.

EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

EASTERN PUNJAB RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

EASTERN GROUP COUNTRIES—

- Question re recovery of expenditure incurred in India on behalf of U.K. and —. 1782.

EASTERN STATES—

- Question re archaeological sites in Orissa and —. 1155-56.

ECCLESIASTICAL—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

ECONOMIC ADVISER—

- Question re—
 — to Government of India. 764.
 — Report on working of Office of — to Government of India. 97-98.

ECONOMY—

- Motion to reduce Demand for—
 'Ministry of Finance'—Economy in Central Administration. 1230-42.
 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of —, efficiency and corruption. 720-39.
 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'—Economy. 723-39.
 Question re prevention of an economic crisis in India. 179.

EDUCATION—

- Demand for Grant. 1347.
 Election to All-India Council for Technical —. 1543-45, 1703.
 Election to Central Advisory Board of —. 1229.
 Motion re election to Central Advisory Board of —. 354.
 Question re—
 — Compulsory — in India. 1589-90.
 — Compulsory Military training in Educational Institutions. 589.
 — and research institution in India. 1593.
 — of Indian students abroad. 551-62.
 — of scheduled castes. 1127-28.
 — Educational facilities and welfare for Indian students abroad. 1151-54.
 — Expenditure on —. 1590.
 — Grants-in-Aid to educational institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1139-42.
 — Protection of property and funds of educational institutions at Lahore. 194, 787-88.
 — Scheme for Special Studies. 1370-73.
 — Supplementary — grant for scheduled castes. 1603-04.
 — Wardha — Scheme. 1369-70.
 — Working of Board of Technical —. 195-96.

EDUCATION, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1344.
 Election to Standing Committee for —. 703.

EFFICIENCY—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, — and corruption. 720-39.

ELECTION(S)—

- of the Speaker. 1-4.
 — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1543-45, 1703.
 — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.
 — to Central Advisory Board of Education. 1229.
 — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
 — to Council of Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore. 1056-57.
 — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160, 1815.
 — to Governing Body of Indian Research Fund Association. 1056-57.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 493, 1703.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
 — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Food. 703, 1815.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 795-96.
 — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796, 1703.
 — of Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Law. 855.
 — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 981-82.
 — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1056-57.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1056-57.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1056-57.
 — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 981-82.
 — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.
 — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 351.
 Motion re—
 — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 497.
 — to Central Advisory Board of Education. 854.
 — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 50-59.
 — to Council of Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore. 234-55.
 — to Court of University of Delhi. 496-97, 1703.
 — to Governing body of Indian Research Fund Association. 235.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 1703.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 1626-27.
 — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 1626.
 — to Standing Committee for Roads. 246.
 — to Standing Committees to advise Ministries. 226-33.
 — to Standing Finance Committee. 43-47.
 — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 47-50.

ELECTRICITY—

- Question re—
 — Hydro-electric schemes. 439-47.
 — Interruption of — supply between Jangpura and Nizamuddin on the 1st December, 1947. 1542-43.

ELECTRICITY (SUPPLY) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

EMBASSY(IES)—

- Question re—
 — Foreign Diplomatic — in India. 1039-40.
 — India's — abroad. 458, 774, 1511-12, 1514-16.
 — Strength and cost of Indian — and High Commissioner's Offices abroad. 88.

EMERGENCY COMMISSION—

See "Commission(s)".

EMIGRATION—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.

EMPIRE DOLLAR POOL—

- Question re—
 — Constitution of — and shares of India and Pakistan. 578.
 — India's membership of —. 564-66.
 — India's position in "Dollar Pool". 848-49.

EMPLOYEE(S)—Questions re—

- Allotment of land to Central Government servants. 1054-55.
- Categories of menial Government servants. 198.
- Complaints against postal staff at Gorakhpur. 1773-74.
- Creation of colonies for Central Government servants. 1053.
- Government — opting to serve India. 163.
- Government servants opting for Pakistan. 1589.
- Housing accommodation for Government servants. 1054
- Number and evacuation of — in Pakistan opting to serve India. 545.
- Officers employed in office of Director of Ordnance Factories. 1775.
- Personnel of Ordnance factories. 1775.
- Provision of accommodation to Government servants in Delhi. 89-90.
- Provision of accommodation to — of Government of India. 81.
- Provision of railway staff who opted for India. 1701-02.
- Release of wagons occupied by staff in B. N. Railway. 1696.
- Revision of decision re Government servants' option for Pakistan. 1602-03.
- Transfer of Central Government — from Pakistan to India. 842-43.

EMPLOYMENT—Question re—

- of Scholars returned from abroad. 1115-19.
- Re-employment of I.N.A. personnel. 1592.

ENEMY (CONTINUANCE OF EMERGENCY PROVISIONS) BILL—

See "Trading with the —" under "Bill(s)"

ENGINEER(S)—Question re Indian Staff Officers in offices of Engineer-in-Chief of General Headquarters and Chief Engineers of Commands. 34.ENGLISH—Question re working hours of Broadcasting Stations and time devoted to — programmes. 576.ENQUIRY—Question re appointment of an — Committee for Delhi University. 598.ENVOY(S)—Question re appointment of India's Ambassadors — and High Commissioners. 435.EPIGRAPHIA INDICA—Question re reprinting of — and South Indian inscriptions. 207.EUROPEAN(S)—Question re—

- Compensation to — I.C.S. Officers leaving India. 1144-46.
- Officers of Imperial Services retired after political changes in India. 188.
- Retired — I.C.S. Officers employed in Indian States and Zamindaries. 5-6.

EVACUEE(S)—Question re—

- Auction of —'s property in Pakistan. 1285-86.
- Casualties and loss to Hindu-Sikh — from West Punjab. 67.
- Compensation for loss of property to —. 8.
- Compensation for losses awarded to —. 77t
- from East Bengal. 1753.
- 's property in Pakistan. 1283-85
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Pakistan. 458
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from West Punjab. 1045.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from West Punjab and N. W. F. P. 453.
- Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1519-21.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 790-93.
- Evacuation of non-Muslim refugees from Western Pakistan. 83-84.
- Evacuation of refugees from Jhelum (West Punjab). 1516.
- Evacuation of troops from India and Pakistan. 582.
- Losses suffered by Hindus in Pakistan. 1519.
- Number and evacuation of employees in Pakistan opting to serve India. 545.
- Number of — still in Pakistan. 777-78.
- Pakistani badges for Scheduled Castes and harassment of Hindu — in Bengal. 773-74.
- Pakistan Hindus and Sikhs as nationals of India. 1518.

EVACUEE(S)—contd.Question re—contd.

- Refugees travelling by sea. 1044.
- Students evacuated from West Punjab. 1044-45.
- Transfer of records and property of non-Muslim institutions in Pakistan. 1034.
- Trucks and troops for M.E.O., Lahore. 1135.
- Valuation of property left over by —. 89.
- See also "Refugee(s)".
- See also "non-Muslim(s)".

EVASION—Question re — of payment of income-tax. 193.EXCESS PROFITS TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Income-tax and —" under "Bill(s)".

EXCHANGE—Question re measures for building up of India's foreign — resources. 572-73.EXCHANGE REGULATION (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Foreign —" under "Bill(s)".

EXCHANGE REGULATION BILL—

See "Foreign —" under "Bill(s)".

EXCISE—Question re—

- Appointment of Oriya Administrative Officer in the Central —. 176-77.
- Retardation in growth of Indian spirituous Industry due to irregularities in — regulation. 1148.
- Revision of Pay scale of the Central — Department. 1619.

EXCISE DUTY BILL—

See "Sugar (Temporary —)" under "Bill(s)".

EXCISES AND SALT ACT—

See "Central —" under "Act(s)".

EXEMPTION(S)—

Declarations of — under the Registration of Foreigners Act—laid on the table. 596-606.

EXODUS—Question re — of Muslims to Hyderabad State. 1623.EXPANSION(S)—Question re—

- of B. N. Railway. 1462.
- of Indian Shipping tonnage. 1531.

EXPENDITURE—

Authenticated Schedule of — from 15th August, 1947, to 31st March, 1948,—laid on the table. 1826-38.

Question re—

- on education. 1590.
- on and number of General Hospitals in India. 835-37.
- on textile, iron, steel and other Control Departments. 685-86.
- Recovery of — incurred in India on behalf of U.K. and Eastern Group Countries. 1782.
- Strength and — of Indian and non-Indian army personnel. 542-43.

EXPENDITURE ON REFUGEES—

Demand for Grant. 1349.

EXPLOSIVES (TEMPORARY PROVISIONS) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

EXPORT(S)—

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and — licensing. 1315-40.

Question re—

- Applications for jute —. 1531-32.
- duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1356-58.
- of commodities from Madras to Ceylon during the years 1937-38 and 1946-47. 783.
- of crushed bones. 438-39.
- of jute and gunny. 1758-59.
- of onions and oilcakes to Ceylon. 780-81.
- Handling of — and imports of India by Indian Mercantile Marine. 766-67.
- Import and — licences. 1753.

EXPORT(S)—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Imposition of controls over import and —. 426-27.
- Levy on — of jute to India. 1052.
- Pakistan's — duty on jute. 1602.
- Pakistan's — duty on raw jute. 1376, 1377-78.
- Pakistan's — levy on jute. 1377-78.
- Production, consumption and — of tea. 786-87.
- Review of — and import licences. 1774-75.
- Value of exported and imported food grains. 323.

EXPORTS“(CONTROL) BILL—

See “Imports and —” under “Bill(s)”.

EXTENSION—

Question re — of Mysore Railway. 1451-52.

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS—

Demand for Grant. 1346.

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS AND COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1242-65.
- Election to Standing Committee for —. 607.
- Motion to reduce Demand for —.—Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth Countries. 1242-65.

EXTRADITION (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See “Indian —” under “Bill(s)”.

EXTRA PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

F

FACTORY(IES)—

Question re—

- Advanced training for personnel of Ordnance —. 1353-54.
- Construction of fertiliser —. 946-47.
- Expenditure re Gun Carriage —, Jubbulpur. 843.
- Fertilizer — at Sindri. 1426-29.
- Hindustan Aircraft —. 1429-31.
- Indian Ordnance — in Nilgiris. 1354-55.
- Motor Car manufacturing —. 1203-05.
- Officers employed in office of Director of Ordnance —. 1775.
- Ordnance — in India. 1157.
- Ordnance — in Indian Dominion. 1599-1600.
- Personnel of Ordnance —. 1775.
- Reorganisation of Ordnance —. 1600-01.
- Soap — in West Bengal. 1454.
- Tin Plate —. 1453.
- Utilization of Ordnance — for industrial production. 1621-22.
- Working of armament — in India. 550.

FACTORIES BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

FACTORIES (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

FAMINE(S)—

Question re formation of Indian People's — Trust. 332-33.

FAN(S)—

Question re electric — in third and inter class compartments. 305-06.

FEDERAL COURT—

Question re—

- Appointment of Oriyas in — office. 439.
- Constitution of the —. 88.
- Number of cases tried by the — and Privy Council. 75-76.

FEDERAL COURT (ENLARGEMENT OF JURISDICTION) BILL—

See “Bill(s)”.

FEDERAL PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION(S)—

Question re—

- , 1587.
- test for recruitment to permanent vacancies in the Central Secretariat. 23.

FERTILIZER(S)—

Question re—

- Construction of — factories. 946-47.
- factory at Sindri. 1426-29.
- Supply of ammonium-phosphate. 1446.
- Supply of Chemical — to agriculturists. 686-87.
- Supply of fertilising material. 291-93.

FIJI—

Question re—

- Government's Immigration Bill. 1276.
- Proposed anti-Indian immigration Legislation by — Government. 778.

FILM(S)—

Question re—

- Anti-Indian propaganda by American — producers. 1601-02.
- Revival of Information — of India. 1586.

FINANCE—

Question re financial stability of India. 160.

FINANCE BILL—

See “Indian —” under “Bill(s)”.

FINANCE (SUPPLEMENTARY) BILL—

See “Indian —” under “Bill(s)”.

FINANCE COMMITTEE—

See “Committee(s)”.

FINANCE CORPORATION BILL—

See “Industrial —” under “Bill(s)”.

FINANCE, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1230-42, 1344.
- Motion to reduce Demand for — Economy in Central Administration. 1230-42.

FINANCIAL AGREEMENT—

See “Agreement(s)”.

FIRE-ARM(S)—

Question re—

- Black-marketing in the sale of —. 1591.
- Licences for — in Delhi. 1590-91.

FIRST COUNCILLORS—

Question re Government of India's embassies and appointment of ambassadors and — 91-92.

FIRE-WOOD—

Question re wagons for —. 1697-98.

FISH—

Question re pisciculture of — in West Bengal. 1694.

FISHERY(IES)—

Question re—

- and Research Institutes. 975.
- Price Committee on agriculture, forestry and —. 30.

FLAG(S)—

Question re—

- Banning of Indian Union — by Hyderabad State. 164.
- Dishonouring the Indian Union —. 157-58.
- Hauling down of National — hoisted on I.E.M.E. Workshop, Agra. 1147.
- Position of National — vis-a-vis — of the Rulers. 207.
- Suggestion re adorning of Chamber walls and Speaker's chair by National —. 345.

FOOD—

- Motion re — policy of the Government of India. 1627-77.
 Question re—
 Bone-meal as — for milch and draught cattle. 655-56.
 Control of foodstuffs. 972.
 Decentral of foodstuffs. 971, 1443.
 Expenditure on "Grow More — Campaign". 669-719, 938-42
 — position in Indian Dominion. 327.
 — rationing in India. 319.
 — requirements of various provinces. 932-35.
 — supplies from Pakistan. 1036.
 Freight paid on foodstuffs imported. 1683-85.
 Government plan for increasing — production. 340-41.
 Grants to provinces for "Grow More —" Campaign. 693.
 "Grow More —" Campaign. 281-89.
 "Grow More — and Fodder" Campaign. 1443-45.
 "Grow More — Campaign" by the railway administration. 318.
 Import of —. 971.
 Import of foodstuffs. 307.
 Import of processed —. 943-46.
 Reconstituted — Policy Committee. 1434-35.
 Refusal by Pakistan to exchange — for textiles. 1463.
 Removal of control on articles other than —. 698-99.
 Salaries of staff of —. Textiles and Industries Departments. 160-62.
 Subsidising — imports. 1432-34.
 Supply of Cattle — in India. 31.

FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL ORGANISATION—

- Question re—
 Allotment of Foodgrains by — and International Emergency Food Council. 341-43.
 Constitution of National Committee for —. 321.

FOODGRAINS—

- Question re—
 Accommodation for storage of —. 29-30.
 Allotment of — by F.A.O. and International Emergency Food Council. 341-43.
 Construction of — store houses. 947-48.
 Controlled — prices. 948-58.
 Delegations sent for procurement of — from abroad. 684-85.
 Grant of subsidy for import of grains. 329-31.
 Import of —. 974-75.
 Import of —, consumer and capital goods. 1052.
 Import of — from abroad and allocation to Pakistan. 673-75.
 Irregularities in — purchases by Senior Food Control Officer, O. T. Railway. 4.
 Negotiation for import of — from Soviet Union. 688.
 Profiteering by Australia in —. 1435.
 Purchase of — from abroad. 343.
 Recommendations of — Committee. 320.
 Subsidy to provinces towards the cost of —. 326.
 Supply of — by the Pakistan Government. 339-40.
 Statistics regarding production of —. 978.
 Value of exported and imported —. 323.

FOOD, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for grant. 1345.
 Election to Standing Committee for —. 703, 1815.
 Motion re election to Standing Committee for —. 1703.
 Question re Re-organisation Committee for the Departments of Food and Agriculture. 341.

FORCES—

- Question re—
 Collection of arms and mobilisation of military — by the Nizam. 180.
 Communal percentage of Emergency Officers. 33.
 Communal proportion of Commissioned and Non-Commissioned Officers. 31-32.
 Demobilisation of the Indian Union —. 1355-56.
 Division of Defence — and equipment between India and Pakistan. 580.
 Education in Army, Navy and Air —. 191-93.
 Employment of British Officers in Indian Defence —. 199.
 Enrolment of depressed classes to military Cadres. 1599.
 Expansion of Armed — by Pakistan Government. 848.
 Indian armed — personnel in other countries. 1356-59.

FORCES—contd.

- Question re—contd.
 Indian Technical Officers in Defence —. 199.
 Loyalty of Officers and Ranks in Defence — and Police to Government. 166.
 Martial and non-martial races. 1599.
 Percentage of demobilised soldiers community-wise. 32-33.
 Permanent Commissions to Indian Emergency Commissioned Officers. 850-51.
 Public Relations Officers, (Defence —). 1354.
 Relative strength of Land, Air and Naval — of India and Pakistan. 533.
 Temporary accommodation for — during War. 177-78.
 Unauthorised possession of modern weapons surreptitiously obtained from British and American —. 839-40.

See also "Troop(s)".

See also "Boundary Force".

FORCES (EMERGENCY DUTIES) BILL—

See "Armed —" under "Bill(s)".

FORCES (EMERGENCY DUTIES) (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Armed —" under "Bill(s)".

FORCES (SPECIAL POWERS) BILL—

See "Armed —" under "Bill(s)".

FOREIGN COUNTRY(IES)—

- Question re—
 Air agreements with —. 1686.
 Appointment of Officials for Countries outside India. 1765-72.
 Delegations sent for procurement of Food-grains from abroad. 684-85.
 Education of Indian Students abroad. 551-62.
 Educational facilities and welfare arrangements for Indian Students abroad. 1151-54.
 Employment of Scholars returned from abroad. 1115-19.
 Extension of Indian Air Lines to —. 1686.
 Government Scholarships to Students from African and other countries. 1120-24.
 Higher medical training for Indian Students abroad. 1150.
 Import of foodgrains from abroad and allocation to Pakistan. 673-75.
 India's coastal and overseas trade. 780.
 India's Embassies abroad. 774, 1511-12, 1514-16.
 Indian armed forces personnel in other countries. 1358-59.
 Indian research scholars sent to —. 569-72.
 Labour delegations to —. 1048-52.
 Monopoly of foreign news agencies in dissemination of news from India to —. 1158.
 Names and Castes of scholarship holders sent abroad. 852.
 Scheduled Caste Scholars sent abroad. 1124-26.
 Scholars sent to —. 845-46.
 Selection of applicants for advanced studies in —. 1137-39.
 Statement re scholarships awarded for studies abroad. 852.
 Trade agreement with —. 1764.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE—

Question re measures for building up of India's —.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE REGULATION BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

FOREIGN EXCHANGE REGULATION (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

FOREIGN EXPERTS—

Question re import of — for training of students in India. 1119-20.

FOREIGN SERVICE, INDIAN—

Question re—
 Appointments in Foreign Services of India. 427-29.
 Recruitment to —. 432-34.

FOREIGN SETTLEMENTS—

Question re absorption of — in Indian Union. 783-84.

FOREIGNERS—

Question re number of non-Indians employed on high salaries under the Central Government. 1784.

FOREIGNERS' ACT—

See "Registration of —" under "Act(s)".

FOREIGNERS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

FOREST(S)—

Demand for Grant. 1343.

Question re—

Exploitation of the North Andaman Islands. 1700.

Price Committee on agriculture, forestry and fisheries. 30.

Supply of timber from Burma, Andamans and Indian —. 21-22.

FORTIFICATION—

Question re—

— of new Frontiers of India. 1764.

Punjab news letter published in Calcutta Statesman of 28th September, 1947 re Pakistan talk of fortifying Borders. 82-83.

FRANCE—

Question re sale of Indian medicines in Mauritius and protest against Mr. Ridley's statement re adoption of French names by Indians. 22-23.

FREEDOM MOVEMENT—

Question re action against Officers who perpetrated atrocities and financial aids to sufferers during struggle for freedom. 1155.

FREEZING—

Question re — of bank assets by Pakistan Government. 1136-37.

FRENCH POSSESSIONS—

Question re inclusion of — in Indian Union. 782-83.

FRONTIER(S)—

Question re—

Fortification of new — of India. 1764.

Protection of eastern — of India and formation of a National Militia. 583.

FRUIT—

Question re—

Central Institute of — Technology in Delhi. 1449.

— disease in Areca Nut. 1452.

— products Control Order, 1946. 1448-49.

FUEL—

Question re supply of cheap — and subsidized manures. 658-59.

G

GADGIL, THE HONOURABLE SHRI N. V.—

Conventions and Recommendations adopted at 28th Session of International Labour Conference, Seattle—laid on the table. 1288-89.

Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—

Motion for leave to introduce. 1188.

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1825-26, 1829-35, 1848-50.

Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control (Amendment) Bill—

Motion for leave to introduce. 42.

Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee. 366-67, 377-79.

Presentation of the Report of Select Committee. 994.

Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee and to pass as amended. 1506-09.

Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill—

Motion for leave to introduce. 42.

Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee. 379-80.

Presentation of Report of Select Committee. 995.

Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee and to pass as amended. 1488-89, 1499-1503, 1505.

Electricity (Supply) Bill—

Motion for leave to introduce. 704.

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1395-1403, 1464-67.

Factories Bill—

Motion for leave to introduce. 1188.

Indian Merchant Shipping (Amendment) Bill. 705, 1199-1200.

Indian Tariff (Second Amendment) Bill. 1320, 1727-28, 1730-31.

GADGIL, THE HONOURABLE SHRI N. V.—contd.

Insurance (Second Amendment) Bill—

Motion to continue. 40.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1332-37.

'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1332-37.

Resolution re Training of personnel for a National Mercantile Marine. 1111-13.

GANDHI, SHRI FEROZ—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.

GANG—

Question re decamping of an armed — from the General Headquarters Hutments with ammunition. 171.

GANGA—

Question re Rail-Road bridge over the — in Patna. 313.

GANGARAJU, SRI V.—

Question re teaching of Telugu in High and elementary schools on Bengal Nagpur Railway Zone. 1789.

GANNAVARAM—

Question re Air services between Hyderabad and — and Calcutta. 677.

GAS PLANT(S)—

Question re Cow dung —. 931-32.

GAUTAM, SHRI MOHAN LAL—

Declaration under Rule 2 C. 1.

Election of certain Muslim members to Standing Committees to advise certain Ministries. 1053.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.

GAZETTE—

Question re advertisement of Important posts in Indian Union in Orissa —. 180.

GAZETTED OFFICER(S)—

Question re — employed in the Defence Departments. 32.

GAZETTED POSTS—

Question re—

Appointment of V.C.Os. to civilian —. 1599.

Ineligibility of V.C.Os. to civilian —. 1603.

GENERAL-BUDGET—

See "Budget-General".

GENERAL HEADQUARTER(S)—

Question re—

Decamping of an armed gang from the — Hutments with ammunition. 173-71.

Indian Staff Officers, in offices of Engineer-in-Chief of — and Chief Engineers of Commands. 34.

Retrenchment in —. 1794-95.

GENEVA—

Question re—

Indian Delegation to — conference on World Trade relations. 763-64.

Work of Indian Delegation to World Trade Conference in —. 98.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY—

Demand for Grant. 1347.

Question re—

— of certain Districts of the Deccan States. 67-69.

Publication of the results of —. 69-70.

GERMANY—

Question re—

Indian Military Mission in —. 102.

Industrial Delegations to —. 973.

Payment of reparations by — and Japan. 435.

Repatriation of Indians from —. 102.

Transfer to India of German patents. 972-73, 1044-45.

GHAZANFARULLA, MR. HAFIZ M.—

Question re allotment to United Provinces of coal dust for brick burning. 35.

GHAZNAVI, MAULANA DAUD—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads) 1057.

GHOSH, SHRI ANIYO KUMAR—

Question re—

Availability of gypsum. 1425.

Permits for sale of cement. 1681.

GHOSH, SHRI SURENDRA MOHAN—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

GLASS—

Question re supply of — to manufacturers. 693.

GOA—

Question re—

Anti-India activities of Government of —. 781.

'Blood and Iron' talk by — Government. 783.

Smuggling of arms and ammunition out of —. 1032.

GOENKA, SHRI RAMNATH—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply 795.

Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.

GOLLAKOTA RAMABRAHMANANDARO, SRI—

Question re Court Martial of — of Peddapuram, East Godavari. 34.

GOODS—

Question re—

Import of foodgrains, consumer and Capital —. 1052.

Loss of — in transit during disturbances. 963.

Production of consumer's — in India. 313.

GOPAL NARAIN, SHRI—

Question re—

Casualties and loss to non-Muslims and Muslims in West and East Punjab. 87.

Late delivery of postal letters and telegrams. 315.

GORAKHPUR—

Question re complaints against postal staff at —. 1773-74.

GOUR, DR. SIR HARI SINGH—

Resolution re appointment of Statutory Law Revision Committee. 1100-01, 1105-08.

GOVERNMENT—

Question re—

Control over new Air Services Concerns. 675-76.

Profiteering by — in the disposal of certain articles. 18.

State aid to private Industries. 1221.

States with and without responsible —. 853.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES—

See "Employee(s)".

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA—

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1315-40.

Question re—

British personnel in service of —. 833-39.

Economic Adviser to —. 764.

Indianisation of the Officer personnel in — Departments. 1783.

Intervention by — in Nilgiri States. 1624-25.

Lack of publicity by — in U.S.A. 1622.

Number of Non-Indians employed on high salaries under the Central Government. 1784.

Termination of services of Indians by Government of Burma and their absorption by —. 767.

Training of youngmen in — Departments. 191.

Women employed under the Central Government. 24-26.

Statement re employment of Gurkha troops under the — and His Majesty's Government. 1625-26.

GOVERNMENT SERVANT(S)—

See "Employee(s)".

GOVERNOR(S)—

Question re—

Abolition of the title "His Excellency" used by Indian —. 103.

Appointments of —, Ambassadors and High Commissioners. 784-85.

GOVERNOR GENERAL, H. E. THE—

—'s assent to Bills. 37-38.

GOVINDDAS, SETH—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.

General discussion of Railway Budget. 608-13, 651.

Indian Cattle Preservation Bill. 1185.

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations' —Position of India in International affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1246-48.

Question re—

Accession of Hyderabad State to Indian Dominion. 1623.

Advanced training for personnel of ordnance factories. 1353-54.

Agreement between India and Pakistan to feed refugees. 434.

Anti-Indian propaganda in Middle Eastern Countries. 434.

Appointment of Special Police Officers in Delhi. 162.

Bhore Committee recommendations. 1583-85.

'Blood and Iron' talk by Goa Government. 783.

Broadcasting of the Pakistan Government news by B.B.C. 840.

Compensation for loss of property to evacuees. 97.

Damage caused to crops in East Punjab by disorders. 339.

Decentralisation of foodstuffs. 971.

Demobilisation of the Indian Union Forces. 1355-56.

Development of Jabulpore aerodrome. 1215.

Direct Commission in the I.A.O.C. 840.

Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan 181-82.

Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1115-19.

Exodus of Muslims to Hyderabad State. 1623.

Expenditure re Gun Carriage Factory, Jabulpore. 843.

Facilities to lower class railway passengers. 1211-13.

Federal Public Service Commission. 1587.

Federal Public Service Commission test for recruitment to permanent vacancies in the Central Secretariat. 23.

Food supplies from Pakistan. 1036.

Import of food. 971.

Import of foreign experts for training of students in India. 1119-20.

Improvement in Publications Division of Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 1586.

Inclusion of French possessions in Indian Union. 782-83.

Increasing agricultural produce. 971-72.

Independent transmitters in the Indian Union. 1228.

India's membership of 'Empire Dollar Pool'. 564-66.

Indian labourers in Ceylon. 1036-37.

Indian Ordnance Factory in Nilgiris. 1354-55.

Indian Union National Guards. 1588.

Inscriptions discovered by the Archaeological Department. 207-08.

Loan from International Bank. 843.

Manufacture of agricultural machinery. 1128-29.

Money given to Government of Pakistan. 181.

Nationalization of Reserve Bank of India. 1594.

Negotiation for Import of foodgrains from Soviet Union. 688.

Number of British Officers serving the Indian Army. 564.

Officers employed in office of Director of Ordnance Factories. 1775.

Personnel of Ordnance Factories. 1775.

Procurement of Nitro-Cotton Plant. 1355.

Public auction of unserviceable aircrafts at Aircraft Salvage Depots at Chekeri and Bamrauli in October, 1947. 579.

Public Relations Office (Defence Forces). 1354.

Publication of lists of inscriptions, dynasty-wise. 207.

Reconstitution of Committee on Indigenous system of Medicine. 1130-31.

Recruitment of drivers. 1213-14.

Recruitment to Foreign Service. 432-34.

GOVINDDAS, SETH—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Refusal by Pakistan to exchange food for textiles. 1463.
 Regular Commission for Ordnance Civilian Gazetted Officers in the I.A.O.C. 840-41.
 Relay by All-India Radio of B.B.C.'s night Bulletin. 1586.
 Re-Orientations of small savings scheme. 1587.
 Re-printing of Epigraphia Indica and South Indian inscriptions. 207.
 Research in India's History, Political Thought and Philosophy. 1129-30.
 Revival of Information Films of India. 1586.
 Scheme for new Broadcasting Stations. 1586-87.
 Scholarships and Fellowships for Indians. 1277.
 Scholarships for Indians in Commonwealth Countries. 1622.
 Seoni Sub-Post Office in Central Provinces. 1686-87.
 Serviceable and unserviceable aircrafts on 1st October, 1945 and 1st October, 1947. 581.
 Stock of ammunition, etc. in Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpur. 197-93.
 Strength of Standing Army and raising of National Militia in India. 564.
 Supply of Coal to Pakistan. 971.
 Supply of foodgrains by the Pakistan Government. 339-40.
 Termination of services of Indians by Government of Burma and their absorption by Government of India. 767.
 Thefts from Jubbulpur and other Ordnance Depots. 182.
 Use of railway lines constructed from Jubbulpore station to Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpore, for civil industry. 1723.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Bone-Meal as food for Milk and draught Cattle. 656.
 Construction of Silver Arrow Train Coaches. 660.
 Control over Newsprint and Newspapers. 1203.
 Cultivation of Land. 926.
 Development of East African colonies. 1027.
 Dishonouring the Indian Union Flag. 157.
 Education of Indian Students abroad. 562.
 Electric fans in Third and Inter Class Compartments. 305.
 Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Pakistan. 1232-83.
 Expenditure on 'Grow More Food Campaign'. 670.
 Fertilizer factory at Sindri. 1428.
 Food requirements of various provinces. 935.
 Government employees opting to serve India. 163.
 Government scholarships to students from African and other countries. 1122.
 Grant-in-Aid to educational institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1142.
 "Grow More Food Campaign". 289.
 Handling of exports and imports by Indian Mercantile Marine. 766.
 Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 410.
 Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1431.
 Import of foodgrains from abroad and allocation to Pakistan. 675.
 Incursions of Hyderabad people and Police into Indian territory. 1374.
 Indian research scholars sent to foreign countries. 571.
 Jurisdiction of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to decide pending appeals. 71.
 Major irrigation projects. 409.
 Manufacture of Sugar by Centrifugal open plant system. 679.
 Manufacture of vegetable ghee. 942.
 Migration between India and Pakistan. 77.
 Motor Car Manufacturing factories. 1204.
 Number of Indians appointed as Chief Justices. 541.
 Number of radios imported and broadcasting stations in India. 158.
 Production of sugarcane and sugar. 1436.
 Proposed anti-Indian immigration Legislation by Fiji Government. 778.
 Quantity of iron, steel and cement in Indian Union. 302.
 Refugees residing without shelter. 1526.
 Return of rolling stock lent to Ministry of Defence. 310.
 Scheme of special studies. 1371.
 Setting up of an All India Central Milk Board. 667.
 Slaughter of Cattle. 935-37.
 Supply of fertilising material. 292.
 Surplus Military Stores. 21.
 Wardha Education Scheme. 1369.
 Winding up of Dismissals Directorate. 966.
 Resolution re amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 1953-61.

GRADUATES—

- Question re — as B Grade guards on E. I. Railway, during war period. 1789.

GRANT(S)—

Question re—

- Annual — to Aligarh University. 193-94.
 Contribution for the Post-War Development. 1592.
 — for maintenance of National Highways. 317.
 — given by Government of India for Public Health Schemes. 181.
 — of funds for Ayurvedic teaching and Research. 176.
 — of political pensions. 774.
 — to Provinces for 'Grow More Food Campaign'. 693.
 — in-aid to Educational Institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1139-42.
 — in-aid to the Delhi University. 1131-33.
 Supplementary education — for scheduled castes. 1603-04.

GREASES—

- Question re import of oils and —. 1532-38.

GREAT INDIAN PENINSULA RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

'GROW MORE FOOD' CAMPAIGN—

Question re—

- Expenditure on —. 669-71, 938-42.
 Grants to Provinces for —. 693.
 Grow More Food and Fodder campaign. 1443-45.
 —. 281-89.
 — by the Railway Administration. 313.

GUARD(S)—

Question re—

- Graduate as B Grade — on E. I. Railway, during war period. 1789.
 Relative seniority of — on N. W. Railway. 1790.

GUHA, SHRI ARUN CHANDRA—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 786.
 Nomination of — to Committee on Petitions. 1463.

GUHA, SHRI G. S.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

GUN CARRIAGE FACTORY—

See "Factory(ies)".

GUNNY—

- Question re export of jute and —. 1758-59.

GUPTA, SHRI DESHBANDHU—

- Ajmer-Merwara (Extension of Laws) Bill. 1706.
 Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control (Amendment) Bill—
 Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee. 368-77, 380-82, 1506-09.
 Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill—
 Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to pass as amended. 380-82, 1500, 1502-04.
 Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
 Election of — to Court of the University of Delhi. 1815.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.
 General discussion of Railway Budget. 644-45.
 Motion re—
 Election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 54.
 Food Policy of the Government of India. 1677.
 Relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 877-83.
 Motion to reduce Demand for—
 'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1316-23, 1332, 1338, 1340.
 'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption of working of import and export licensing. 1318-23, 1332, 1336, 1340.
 Press (Special Powers) Bill. 261-65.
 Question re—
 Allotment of vacant Military barracks to refugees. 1598.
 Anti-Indian propaganda by American film producers. 1691-02.
 Anti-Indian propaganda in the Middle East. 1751.

GUPTA, SHRI DESHBANDHU—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Appointment of an Enquiry Committee for the Delhi University. 583.
 Attack on Kashmir by Pakistan Military Officers. 1588.
 Audit report on Delhi University accounts. 522.
 Black marketing in sale of fire arms. 1591.
 Circuit High Court at Delhi. 844.
 Detention of aeroplanes by Pakistan authorities. 1279-80.
 Division of Delhi Province in four districts. 845.
 Emergency powers of Vice-Chancellor of the Delhi University. 585.
 Expansion of Armed Forces by Pakistan Government. 848.
 Government acquisition of houses and buildings at Bombay and Poona. 1598.
 Grants-in-aid to the Delhi University. 1131-33.
 Introduction of three year degree course by the Delhi University. 585-87.
 Levy on export of jute to India. 1052.
 Licences for fire-arms. 1590-91.
 Manufacture of locomotives in India. 1681-83.
 Newsprint Import licences. 1274-75.
 Pakistan's export levy on jute. 1377-78.
 Recovery of unlicensed arms from Muslims in Delhi. 844-45.
 Removal of Controls. 1683.
 Searches of Muslim passengers. 1602.
 Seizure of radio transmitters by C.I.D. at Jubbulpore. 1587-88.
 Smuggling of arms and ammunition out of Goa. 1032.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Accession of Nizam's State to Indian Union and exodus of Muslims to the State. 563.
 Anti-India propaganda in American Press. 546.
 Auction of evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1285.
 Cloth ration in Delhi. 1203.
 Control over newsprint and newspapers. 1208.
 Decamping of an armed gang from the General Headquarters Hutments with ammunition. 171.
 Disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1797.
 Evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1294-85.
 Exemption to Members of Constituent Assembly from provisions of Arms Act. 1800.
 Expansion of Indian Shipping in coastal trade. 1512.
 Grants-in-aid to educational Institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1140-41.
 Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 411.
 Housing scheme for industrial workers. 1514.
 Improvement of telephone service in Delhi. 683.
 Income-tax and Super-tax payable in Financial Year 1946-47. 173-74.
 Indian Research Scholars sent to foreign countries. 571.
 Migration between India and Pakistan. 78.
 Recruitment to foreign service. 434.
 Refugees residing without shelter. 1523.
 Rehabilitation of Refugees from Pakistan. 67.
 Removal of articles from Pakistan. 1281.
 Sale of land by Delhi Improvement Trust. 1379.
 Shortage of Matches in New Delhi. 27.
 Subsidising food imports. 1433-34.
 Wagons for transporting coal. 1220.
 Wardha Education Scheme. 1370.
 Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 827.

GUPTA, SHRI RAM CHANDRA—

Question re—

- Electric fans in third and inter class compartments. 305-06.
 Evacuation of non-muslim refugees from Western Pakistan. 83-84.
 Loss by non-Muslims in Pakistan from arson and seizure of property. 34-85.
 News agency for Western Punjab. 83.
 News published in the Hindustan Times dated 20th September, 1947 re Pakistan Government's Circular to Muslim Officers in India. 83.
 Release of Muslim Communal riot convicts by Governments of West Punjab and Sind. 782.
 Supply of drinking water on G. I. P. and E. I. Railways. 306-07.
 Question (Supplementary) re major irrigation projects. 408.

GUPTE, SHRI B. M.—

- Industrial Finance Corporation Bill. 472-73.
 Question re import of petrol in Hyderabad State. 1053-54.
 Question (Supplementary) re—

GUPTE, SHRI B. M.—contd.

- Amount collected under the Business Profits Tax. 172.
 Damodar Valley and Machkhand projects. 1031.
 Number of cases tried by the Federal Court and Privy Council. 75.

GUR—

- Question re control of Khandasari and —. 1437-39.

GURKHA(S)—

- Question re—
 — in Indian and Imperial troops. 1374-75.
 — in Indian Army. 1375.
 Treaty with Nepal re recruitment of —. 1375-76.
 Statement re employment of — troops under the Government of India and His Majesty's Government. 1625-26.

GURUNG, SHRI D. S.—

- Question re—
 Gurkhas in Indian and Imperial troops. 1374-75.
 Gurkhas in Indian Army. 1375.
 Treaty with Nepal re recruitment of Gurkhas. 1375-76.

GURUSWAMI, MR. S.—

- Question re staff employed and discharged from the Ordnance Service, Military Accounts Department and Military Engineering Service. 36.

GYPSUM—

- Question re availability of —. 1425.

H

HAJIPUR—

- Question re provision of ladies' waiting room and water at — station. 314.

HANDLOOM—

- Question re All-India — Board. 929-30.

HARANGI RIVER—

- Question re construction of dams across Laxmanateertha and —. 81-82.

HARDWAR—

- Question re protest against the Military Camp at Raiwala near —. 37.

HARI JI, MR.—

- Question re possession of estate of — of Shabbad District, Bihar, in Burma. 7.

HARIJANS—

- Motion for adjournment re Zulum on — in Pakistan. 1543.

HARVEY, CAPTAIN G. T. B.—

- Question re holiday camp for troops at Kodaikanal. 35.

HASRAT MOHANI, MAULANA—

- Motion re Food policy of the Government of India. 1668-70.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'.
 Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth Countries.
 1250-52.

HATHI, SHRI JAI SUKH LAL—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.
 Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill. 1577.

Question re—

- Administration of Western India States. 1591.
 Instrument of Accession signed by the States. 1623-24.
 Question (Supplementary) re number of States acceded to the Indian Union. 159.

HEALTH—

- Resolution re Ratification of the Constitution of the World — Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International Office of Public Hygiene. 59-61, 532-40.
 See also "Public —".

HEALTH, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1344.
 Election to Standing Committee for —. 703.

HIGH COMMISSIONER(S)—

- Question re—
 Appointment of ambassadors, — etc. 454.

HIGH COMMISSIONER(S)—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Appointments of Governors, ambassadors and —. 784-85.
- Appointment of India's ambassadors, envoys and —. 455-58.
- Appointment of India's — and ambassadors 86
- Deputy — for Eastern Pakistan. 1758.
- Observation by India's — in Canada re India remaining in the British Commonwealth. 85.
- Reorganization of —'s Office in London. 1025-26.
- Selection of ambassadors, —, Consuls, etc. 97.
- Strength and cost of Indian embassies and —'s offices abroad. 88.

HIGH COURT(S)—

Question re—

- Appeals from the — in India. 70-71.
- Circuit — at Delhi. 844.

HIGHWAY(S)—

Question re—

- Building of National — connecting Nagpur with Bombay. 329.
- Grants for maintenance of National —. 317.
- Maintenance of National —. 316.

HINDU(S)—

Question re—

- Conviction of Prof. Bhanoo Bishen Dayal for preaching — Religion in Mauritius. 31
- and Sikh Head Constables of the Punjab Police. 1566-67.
- Misappropriation of income by — Charitable and Religious Trusts. 781.
- Movement of East Bengal — to West Bengal. 1553-41.

See also "Evacuee(s)".

See also "Refugee(s)".

HINDU, CODE—

See "Bill(s)".

HINDU INTER-CASTE MARRIAGES REGULATING AND VALIDATING BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

HINDU LAW—

Question re report of — Codification Committee. 453.

HINDU WOMEN BILL—

See "Prevention of Forceful and Fraudulent Conversion of —" under "Bill(s)".

HINDUSTAN TIMES—

Question re news published in the — dated 20th September, 1947 re Pakistan Government's circular to Muslim Officers in India. 83.

HIMMAT SINGHIJI, COL. SHRI MAHARAJ—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.

HIRAKUD—

Question re — dam project. 778-79.

"HIS EXCELLENCY"—

Question re abolition of the title "—" used by Indian Governors. 103.

HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT—

Question re treaty with —. 1042.

Statement re employment of Gurkha troops under the Government of India and —. 1625-26.

HISTORY—

Question re research in India's —, political thought and philosophy. 1129-30.

HOLIDAY(S)—

Question re — Camp for troops at Kodaikanal. 35.

Sittings of Assembly on —. 33-39.

HOME AFFAIRS, MINISTRY OF—

Demand for Grant. 1344.

Election to Standing Committee for —. 704.

HOME GUARD(S)—

Question re training of —. 847-48.

HOSPITAL(S)—

Question re—

Expenditure on and number of general — in India. 835-37.

Tuberculosis Bacillus — and Sanatoria. 1605-17.

HOSUR—

Question re resumption of railway service between Morapuri and —. 320.

HOUSING—

Question re—

Grant of subsidies to Provincial Governments for development of —. 178-79

— for Government servants. 1054.

— scheme for industrial workers. 1513-14.

Refugees residing without shelter. 1526-30.

See also "Accommodation".

HOWRAH—

Question re stoppage of Puri — Express train at Jajpur and Jenapur stations. 1460.

HUSAIN, MR. TAJAMUL—

Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 922.

Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

Motions to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1167.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Appointments of Governors, Ambassadors and High Commissioners, etc. 785.

Appointment of Scheduled Caste candidates trained under Bevin Scheme. 776.

Broadcasting Station at Bezwada. 1142.

Compensation to European I.C.S. Officers leaving India. 1145.

Employment of Scholars returned from abroad. 1117-18.

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 792-93.

Food requirements of various provinces. 934.

Grants-in-aid to educational Institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1141.

Indian armed forces personnel in other countries. 1359.

Manufacture of vegetable ghee. 943.

Motor Car manufacturing factories. 1204.

New Railway coaches. 1211.

Prohibition of slaughter of animals. 938.

Reconstitution of Committee on Indigenous system of Medicine. 1131.

Safety of railway travel. 964.

Slaughter of cattle. 936.

Transport of refugees. 963.

Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 810-11.

HUSSAIN IMAM, MR.—

Election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1545.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.

General discussion of the Railway Budget. 613-15.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 139-40.

Motion re Food policy of the Government of India. 1655-57.

Nomination of — to Panel of Chairmen. 247.

Question (Supplementary) re exclusion of Indians from Japanese Cotton trade. 1524.

HYDERABAD (DECCAN)—

Motion for adjournment re agreement between the Dominion of India and the Nizam of — and Berar. 1056.

Question re—

Accession of — state to Indian Dominion. 1623.

Accession of Nizam's State to Indian Union and exodus of Muslims to the State. 563-64

Air services between — and Gannavaram and Gannavaram and Calcutta. 677.

Banning of Indian Union flag by —. 164.

Collection of arms and mobilisation of Military forces by the Nizam. 180.

Exodus of Muslims to — State. 1623.

Import of petrol in — State. 1053-54.

Incursions of — people and police into Indian territory. 1373-74.

Military training for students in — State. 1621.

Purchase of British war material by — State. 853-54.

Standstill Agreement with H.E.H. the Nizam of —. 387-91.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC—

Question re — Schemes. 439-47.

HYGIENE—

See "Public —".

I

IBRAHIM SAHIB BAHADUR, MR. K. T. M. AHMED—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 493.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Committee on indigenous system of medicine. 163.

Exploitation of mineral resources. 406.

Grow More Food Campaign. 287.

Nationalization of Railways. 296.

Production, import and allotment of mill cloth. 306.

ILLAHI, MR. S. M.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 932.

IMMIGRATION—

Question re—

Disallowance of entry of Indians into Burma. 1516.

Fiji Government's — Bill. 1276.

— of Indians into Burma. 1277, 423-24.

Indo-Burma — Order. 1041-42.

Modification of — Bill by Governments of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika. 100.

Proposed anti-Indian — Legislation by Fiji Government. 778.

IMPERIAL BANK—

See "Bank(s)".

IMPERIAL CHEMICAL INDUSTRIES (INDIA) LTD.—

Question re distribution of caustic soda and other chemicals by —. 692.

IMPERIAL SERVICE(S)—

Question re European Officers of — retired after political changes in India. 188.

IMPORT(S)—

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of — and export licensing. 1315-40.

Question re—

Freight paid on foodstuffs imported. 1683-85.

Grant of subsidy for — of grains. 329-31.

Handling of exports and — of India by Indian Mercantile Marine. 766-67.

— and export licences. 1753.

— and manufacture of drugs and medicines. 1144.

— of agricultural implements. 1693.

— of Areca. 1452.

— of Arecanuts. 1779-80.

— of drugs and medicines. 1699.

— of food. 971.

— of foodgrains. 974-75.

— of foodgrains, consumer and capital goods. 1052.

— of foodgrains from abroad and allocation to Pakistan. 673-75.

— of foodstuffs. 307.

— of locomotives. 1218.

— of Maize. 968.

— of Mineral Oil. 82.

— of Motor Cars and Trucks. 1691-93.

— of Oils and greases. 1532-38.

— of petrol in Hyderabad State. 1053-54.

— of processed foods. 943-46.

— of rice. 969.

— of Tobacco. 1447-48.

— of wheat. 968-69.

Imposition of Controls over — and export. 426-27.

Negotiation for — of foodgrains from Soviet Union. 688.

Newsprint — licences. 1274-75.

Number of radios imported and Broadcasting stations in India. 158.

Production and — of salt and expenditure on salt department. 699-701.

Production and — of salt in India since the abolition of salt duty. 678-79.

Production and — of drug for leprosy. 200-01.

Production, — and allotment of mill cloth. 297-301.

IMPORT(S)—contd.

Question re—contd.

Purchase of foodgrains from abroad. 343.

Revalidation of — licences. 1759.

Review of export and — licences. 1774-75.

Rice and wheat purchased from outside India. 977-78.

Subsidising food —. 1432-34.

Value of exported and imported foodgrains. 323.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS (CONTROL) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

IMPROVEMENT TRUST—

Question re—

Building in Ward No. 14, Delhi, not acquired by Delhi —. 21.

Sale of land to the Ministerial staff by Delhi —. 1378-79.

INCOME (INVESTIGATION COMMISSION) BILL—

See "Taxation on —" under "Bill(s)".

INCOME-TAX—

See "Tax(es)".

INCOME-TAX AND BUSINESS PROFITS TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INCOME-TAX AND EXCESS PROFITS TAX (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INCURSION(S)—

Question re — of Hyderabad people. 1373-74.

INDIA—

Motion for adjournment re agreement between the Dominion of — and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar. 1056.

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—
Position of — in international affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1242-65.

Question re—

Absorptions of Foreign Settlements in Indian Union. 783-84.

Accession of Hyderabad State to Indian Dominion. 1623.

Anti-Indian activities of Government of Goa. 781.

Anti-Indian activities of Muslim Officers. 1601.

Anti-Indian propaganda by American film producers. 1601-02.

Citizenship of Pakistan and Indian Union. 1052-53.

Collection of Business Profits Tax in India and Pakistan. 173.

Constitution of 'Empire Dollar Pool' and shares of — and Pakistan. 578.

Disposition of Indian Army in Indian Dominion on the 15th August, 1947. 206.

Division of assets and liabilities between — and Pakistan. 174-75, 181-82.

Division of assets between — and Pakistan. 147-55.

Division of loan between — and Pakistan. 841.

East Bengal Officers opting for Indian Dominion. 1591.

Effect of partition between — and Pakistan on Railway. 312.

Expenditure on migration between — and Pakistan. 79.

Financial stability of —. 160.

Future of all India concerns in view of India's division. 422-23.

Government employees opting to serve —. 163.

Inclusion of French possessions in Indian Union. 782-83.

—'s membership of 'Empire Dollar Pool'. 564-65.

—'s position in 'Dollar Pool'. 848-49.

Indo-Burma immigration Order. 1047-42.

Industrialisation of —. 680-82.

Landing of Pakistan Planes within Indian Dominion. 1367-68.

Lord Addison's visit to —. 456.

Loss due to incursions by Pakistan's into Indian territory. 1147.

Measures for building up of —'s foreign exchange resources. 572-73.

Migration between — and Pakistan. 76-79.

Monetary loss due to delay in retrocession of sections of B.A. Railway apportioned to — under Boundary Commission Award. 694-95.

Negotiations between Government of — and Ceylon re Indo-Ceylon problems. 90-91.

Population figures of — and Pakistan. 183-85.

Prevention of an economic crisis in —. 179.

INDIA—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Provision of railway staff who opted for —. 1701-02.
- Railway workshops in — and Pakistan. 1457-58.
- Relative strength of Land, Air and Naval Forces of — and Pakistan. 583.
- Representation of India at International Conference. 770-73.
- Status of Pakistan citizens in — and vice versa. 1622.
- Stay in — of Mr. Sotshell a south African White. 1539.
- Transfer to — of German Patents. 972-73.
- Second supplemental Agreement between the Reserve Bank of India and the Imperial Bank of India and the Financial Agreement between the Government of U. K. and the Government of — copies laid on the table. 218-25.
- Statement on partition issues between — and Pakistan. 1610-15.
- Statement re negotiations between the Dominions of — and Pakistan on the question of division of assets and liabilities, etc. 1558-59.

INDIA OFFICE—

- Question re disposal of — building and its contents. 1795-96.

INDIA STORE DEPARTMENT—

- Statements re tenders not accepted by the —, London—laid on the table. 349.

INDIA TEA RESTRICTION ACT—

- See "Act(s)".

INDIAN(S)—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—
- Position of India in international affairs and of — in the Commonwealth countries. 1242-65.
- Question re—
- Anti — propaganda in the Middle East. 1751.
- Citizenship rights of — in British Commonwealth of Nations. 412-21.
- Disallowance of entry of — into Burma. 1516.
- Employment of — in the United Nations Secretariat. 1282.
- Exclusion of — from Japanese Cotton Trade. 1522-24.
- Ili-treatment of — passengers travelling by M. S. Battoru. 7.
- Immigration of — into Burma. 423-24, 1277.
- in East Africa. 1043.
- labourers in Ceylon. 1036-37.
- personnel in the U.N.O. Secretariat. 1037-38.
- Staff Officers, in offices of Engineer-in-Chief of General Headquarters and Chief Engineers of Commands. 34.
- Number of — appointed as Chief Justices. 541-42.
- Position of — in independent Ceylon. 424-25.
- Promotion of — in Carriage and Wagon Department of B. B. & C. I. Railway. 1784.
- Proposed anti — immigration Legislation by Fiji Government. 774.
- Re-entry of — in Burma. 1043-44.
- Repatriation of — from Germany. 102.
- Resettlement of Burma labourers. 1525-26.
- Sale of — Medicines in Mauritius and protest against Mr. Ridlay's statement re adoption of French names by —. 22-23.
- Scholarships and Fellowships for —. 1277.
- Scholarships for — in Commonwealth countries. 1622.
- Status of — under the new scheme of political reforms in Malaya. 93.
- Substitution of "—" or "Bharatis" for "non-Muslim". 550.
- Termination of services of — by Government of Burma and their absorption by Government of India. 767.

INDIAN ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICE—

- See "Administrative Service, Indian".

INDIAN AIRCRAFT ACT—

- See "Act(s)".

INDIAN ARMY AND THE INDIAN AIR FORCE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN ARMY ORDNANCE CORPS—

- Question re—

Direct Commission in —. 840.

Regular Commission for Ordnance Civilian Gazetted Officers in the —. 840-41.

INDIAN BAR COUNCILS AND THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN BOILERS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN CATTLE PRESERVATION BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE—

- See "Civil Service, Indian".

INDIAN COINAGE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN COTTON CESS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN DAIRY DEPARTMENT—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.

INDIAN EXTRADITION (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN FINANCE BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN FINANCE (SUPPLEMENTARY) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN MEDICAL COUNCIL (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN MERCHANT SHIPPING (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN NATIONAL ARMY—

- Question re—

Appointment of — Men to Indian Army and participation of Muslim — Men in the Kashmir Fighting. 588-89.

Re-employment of — personnel. 1592.

Return of money deposited by — Soldiers. 1777.

INDIAN NATIONAL CONGRESS—

- See "Congress, Indian National".

INDIAN NATIONAL TRADE UNION CONGRESS—

- See "Trade Unions".

INDIAN NAVY (DISCIPLINE) (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN NURSING COUNCIL BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN PATENTS AND DESIGNS (EXTENSION OF TIME) (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN PENAL CODE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN PENAL CODE AND THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN POLICE SERVICE—

- See "Police Service, Indian".

INDIAN POLITICAL SERVICE—

- See "Political Service, Indian".

INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS DEPARTMENT—

- Demand for Grant. 1344.

INDIAN POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS STORES SUSPENSE (NOT MET FROM REVENUE)—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

INDIAN RAILWAY (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN TARIFF (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN TARIFF (SECOND AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN TRADE UNIONS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INDIAN UNION—

See "India".

INDIANISATION—

Question re — of the Officers personnel in Government of India Departments. 1783

INDO-CHINA—

Question re—

Debt settlement arrangement with the French Government of —. 104-05.
Remittances from French — to India. 103-04.

INDONESIA—

Question re—

Internment of the Orissa M.L.A. in —. 1763.
Seizure of rice by the Dutch Government. 1778-79.

INDORE—

Question re bridge between Khandwa and — on Narbudda River. 328-29.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INDUSTRIAL FINANCE CORPORATION BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INDUSTRY(IES)—

Question re—

All India — and Labour Conference. 1032.
Development of —. 923-29.
Development of Home and Cottage —. 1222.
Encouragement of Cottage —. 1451.
Housing Scheme for Industrial Workers. 1513-14.
Industrial Census in India. 1201-02.
Industrial Delegations to Germany. 973.
Industrialization of India. 680-82.
Nationalization of —. 679-80.
Programme for development of salt —. 336.
Protection and subsidy to —. 1286-88.
Protection, subvention or subsidy to —. 927.
Report of industrial panel. 1426.
Salaries to staff of Food, Textiles and — Departments. 160-62.
Salt as a Cottage —. 1454.
State and private —. 1221.
Use of railway lines constructed from Jubbulpore station to Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpore, for Civil —. 1783.

INDUSTRY AND SUPPLY, MINISTRY OF—

Demand for Grant. 1265-71, 1289-1315, 1345, 1347.

Election to Standing Committee for —. 795-96.

Motion to reduce Demand for '—'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1265-71, 1289-1315.

INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING, MINISTRY OF—

Demand for Grant. 1344.

Election to Standing Committee for —. 796, 1703.

Motion re election to Standing Committee for —. 1626.

Question re improvement in Publications Division of the —. 1586.

INFORMATION FILMS—

Question re revival of — of India. 1586.

INSCRIPTION(S)—

Question re—

— discovered by the Archaeological Department. 207-08.
Publication of lists of — dynasty-wise. 207.
Reprinting of 'Epigraphia Indica' and South Indian —. 207.

INSOLVENCY (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Provincial —" under "Bill(s)".

INSTITUTE(S)—

Question re Central — of Fruit Technology in Delhi. 1449.

INSTRUMENT OF ACCESSION—

See "Accession".

INSURANCE(S)—

Question re—

Agricultural — in India. 332.
State — of Crop and Cattle. 321-22.

INSURANCE BILL—

See "Workmen's State —" under "Bill(s)".

INSURANCE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INSURANCE (SECOND AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

INTERCASTE MARRIAGE REGULATING AND VALIDATING BILL—

See "Hindu —" under "Bill(s)".

INTEREST FREE AND INTEREST BEARING ADVANCES—

Demand for Grant. 1351.

INTERIM GOVERNMENT—

Question re trade Agents appointed by —. 1751-52.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS—

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'
— Position of India in — and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1242-65.

INTERNATIONAL BANK(S)—

See "Bank(s)".

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE—

See "Conference(s)".

INTERNATIONAL EMERGENCY FOOD COUNCIL—

Question re allotment of foodgrains by F.A.O. and —. 341-43.

INTERMENT—

Question re — of Orissa M.L.A. in Indonesia. 1763.

INVASION—

Question re — of Kashmir by Frontier Tribesmen. 779-80.

INVESTMENT—

Question re National — Board. 1367.

IRAN—

Question re anti-Indian propaganda in —. 452.

IRON—

Question re—

Expenditure on textile, —, steel and other control Departments. 685-86.
Quantity of —, steel and cement in India's Union. 301-03.
Steel, — and cement in United Provinces. 1226.

IRRIGATION—

Question re—

All-India drainage and development plan. 1273-74.
Development of Sangameswar — project. 1462-63.

JHUNJHUNWALA, SHRI B. P.—contd.Question re—contd.

- Monopoly of foreign news agencies in dissemination of news from India to foreign countries. 1158.
- Pakistan's export levy on Jute. 1378.
- Pakistan's export duty on raw-jute. 1376.

JODHPUR RAILWAY—See "Railway(s)".*JOGENDRA SINGH, SARDAR—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.

JOINT STOCK COMPANIES—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.

JUBBULPUR—Questions re—

- Conversion of canteens into Indian Refreshment Rooms at —, Muttra, Agra and other stations. 29.
- Development of — aerodrome. 1215.
- Expenditure re Gun Carriage Factory, —. 843.
- Recovery of unauthorised ammunition from Muslim houses in Burgi near —. 170.
- Seizure of unauthorised ammunition in —. 169-70.
- Smuggling of arms and ammunition from C.O.D. —. 1147.
- Stock of ammunition, etc. in Central Ordnance Depot, —. 197-98.
- Thefts from — and other Ordnance Depots. 182.
- Use of railway lines constructed from — station to Central Ordnance Depot, for civil industry. 1733.

JUGAL KISHORE, ACHARYA—

- Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.

JUNAGADH—Question re—

- Accession of — State. 191.
- Accession of — to Pakistan and of Kashmir to India. 779.
- Statements by India's ambassadors on Kashmir and —. 1040-2.

JUTE—Question re—

- Applications for — export. 1531-32.
- Export duty on raw — by Pakistan Government. 1356-58.
- Export of — and gunny. 1758-59.
- fibre from Pakistan and its production in India. 667-68.
- Imposition of duty on raw —. 1052.
- Increased — production in India. 1450.
- Levy on export of — to India. 1052.
- Pakistan's export duty on raw —. 1376, 1377-78, 1602.

KKAKKAN, SHRI P.—*Question re—

- New railway lines in South India. 1227.
- Welfare of backward classes. 1286.
- Question (Supplementary) re use of bones as manure. 655.

KALAPA, SHRI V. R.—

- Declaration under Rule 2 C. 63.

KAMATH, SHRI H. V.—

- Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1739-44, 1749.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.
- Electricity (Supply) Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1464, 1466-67.

KAMATH, SHRI H. V.—Contd.

- General discussion of Railway Budget. 634, 641-42.
- Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—
- Motions to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1168-69.
- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill, 119.
- Motion re—
- Election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 51.
- Election of Standing Committee to advise Ministries. 232-33.
- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1257-59, 1264.
- Pharmacy Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1818.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Accession of Nizam's state to Indian Union and exodus of muslims to the State. 553.
- Agreement with Tata Airways. 1799.
- All-India Drainage and Development Plan. 1274.
- Commonwealth Customs Union. 1522.
- Disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1796.
- Disposal of India Office building and its contents. 1796.
- Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 175.
- Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1117.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Pakistan. 1283.
- Fertilizer Factory at Sindri. 1428.
- Government employees opting to serve India. 163.
- Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1431.
- Import of locomotives. 1219.
- Incursions of Hyderabad people and police into Indian territory. 1374.
- Indian Armed Forces Personnel in other countries. 1359.
- Loan by India to Pakistan. 162.
- Motor Car Manufacturing Factories. 1204.
- Movement of East Bengal Hindus to West Bengal. 1541.
- Number of states acceded to Indian Union. 159.
- Protection and Subsidy to Industries. 1237-88.
- Recruitment and training of Cadets at Dehra Dun. 568.
- Recruitment to Indian Administrative Services at the Centre and in Provinces. 567.
- Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of Army between India and Pakistan. 544.
- Removal of articles from Pakistan. 1281.
- Sale of land by Delhi Improvement Trust. 1379.
- Resolution re—
- Ratification of the constitution of the World Health Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International Office of Public Hygiene. 535-37.
- Scientific research into Ayurveda system of medicine. 1108-10.
- Salaries of Ministers Bill. 1708.
- Suggestion re adorning of Chamber Walls and Speaker's Chair by National Flags. 345.
- KAMESHWAR SINGH OF DARBHANGA, MAHARAJADHIRAJ SIR—
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- KANCHRAPARA—
- Question re—
- Construction of — Workshops. 1209.
- Remittance of Station earnings beyond — on B. A. Railway to Eastern Pakistan. 694.
- KAPOOR, SHRI JASPAT ROY—
- Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 982.
- Question re—
- Entry of refugees into the United Provinces. 1762.
- Refugees killed in Bharatpur State. 1762.
- Rehabilitation of West Punjab refugees. 1760-61.
- Requisitioning of lands by District Magistrate, Agra. 1621.
- Wagons for fire-wood. 1697-98.
- West Pakistan refugees in U.P. 1760.
- KARIMUDDIN, KAZI SYED—
- Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill—
- Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to pass as amended. 1498-99, 1500.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.

IRRIGATION—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Execution of Mahanady Valley project. 1763-64.
- in Berar and Marathi Central Provinces. 328.
- projects in Rayalaseema. 1028.
- Major — projects. 407-09.

IRRIGATION, NAVIGATION, EMBANKMENT AND DRAINAGE WORKS—

Demand for Grant. 1444.

ISHAQ SETH, HAJI ABDUS SATTAR HAJI—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.
- Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.
- Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1387.
- Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1172.
- Minimum Wages Bill—
- Reconstitution of Select Committee. 107-08.
- Motion re election of Standing Committees to advise Ministries. 231.
- Motion to reduce Demand for—
- 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1307.
- 'Railway Board'—More adequate provisions for safeguarding the person and property of passengers. 741-42, 744.

Question re—

Desecration of mosques in Delhi. 1596-97.

Remodelling of Tellicherry Station. 1690.

Question (Supplementary) re Economic Adviser to Government of India. 764.

Workmen's State Insurance Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 500.

ISMAIL KHAN, NAWAB MOHAMMAD—

- Congratulations by — to the Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar on his election as Speaker of the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 3.
- Election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1703.
- Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.

ISTIMRARI AREA(S)—

Question re oppression of tenants in —. 698.

JAFAR IMAM, SAIYID—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.

JAFFER, MR. AHMED E. H.—

Question re requisitioning by the army of buildings and bungalows in Bombay City. 1758-59.

JAGAT NARAIN LAL, SHRI—

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 129.

Question re—

Casualties and loss to non-Muslims in Pakistan. 94.

Collection of arms and mobilisation of military forces by the Nizam. 180.

Deterioration of management of O. T. and E. I. Railways. 322.

List of railway caterers on E. I., O. T. and B. N. Railways. 322-23.

Steps for compensation for losses sustained by non-Muslims. 94-95.

JAGJIVAN RAM, THE HONOURABLE SHRI—

Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Bill—

Motion for leave to introduce. 41-42.

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 521, 528-29.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill—

Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee. 116-17.

Consideration of clauses. 117-18, 127, 131-32, 141-43, 145.

Motion to pass as amended. 246-47, 249, 257-58.

Minimum Wages Bill—

Reconstitution of Select Committee. 107.

Report of Indian Government delegates to 29th Session of International Labour Conference, Montreal—laid on the table. 1288.

Workmen's State Insurance Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 484-86, 500, 518-20.

JAILS AND CONVICT SETTLEMENTS—

Demand for Grant. 1346.

JAIN, SHRI AJIT PRASAD—

- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 121-22, 130.
- Motion re relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 884-86, 891-96.
- Question re—
- British personnel in Indian army. 1146-47.
- British railway personnel. 977.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 790-93.
- Loss due to incursions by Pakistanis into Indian territory. 1147.
- Passenger and tonnage carrying capacity of Indian railways. 976.
- Secretary of State's Services. 1359-66.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Development of Indian Mercantile Marine. 765.
- Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 543-49.
- Fixation of basic value of currency. 156.
- 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 287.
- Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 411-12.
- Indian research scholars sent to foreign countries. 571.
- Migration between India and Pakistan. 78.
- Number of states acceded to the Indian Union. 159.
- Recruitment to foreign service. 433.
- Supply of cheap fuel and subsidized manures. 659.
- Use of oil cakes and bone-meal as manure. 295.
- Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 505-08.

JAIPAL SINGH, SHRI—

Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1841-43.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 982.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 139.

Question re retrenchment in General Headquarters. 1794-95.

JAJPUR—

Question re stoppage of Puri-Howrah Express train at — and Jenapur stations. 1460.

JAMSHEDPUR—

Question re running of Patna bogey from Chaibasa instead of —. 1789-90.

JANGPURA—

Question re interruption of electric supply between — and Nizamuddin on the 1st December, 1947. 1542-43.

JANMABHOOMI—

Question re supply of steel to — group of newspapers, Bombay. 975-76.

JAPAN—

Question re—

Exclusion of Indians from Japanese Cotton Trade. 1522-24.

Payment of reparations by Germany and —. 435.

JASIMUDDIN AHMED, MR.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.

JENAPUR—

Question re stoppage of Puri-Howrah Express train at Jajpur and — stations. 1460.

JHELUM—

Question re evacuation of refugees from — (West Punjab). 1516.

JHUNJHUNWALA, SHRI B. P.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

General discussion of General Budget. 1012-13.

Indian Tariff (Second Amendment) Bill. 1728, 1729.

Question re—

Import of foodgrains, consumer and capital goods. 1052.

Imposition of duty on raw-jute. 1052.

KARIMUDDIN, KAZI SYED—contd.

Electricity (Supply) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1407-08.

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—

Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1547-49.

Consideration of clauses. 1575.

General discussion of General Budget. 985-87.

Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

Motions to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1172-74, 1176, 1182.

KASHMIR—

Question re—

Accession of Junagadh to Pakistan and of — to India. 779.

Appointment of I.N.A. Men to Indian Army and participation of Muslim I.N.A. Men in the — Fighting. 588-89.

Attack on — and Pakistan military officers. 1588.

Invasion of — by Frontier Tribesmen. 779-80.

Private planes commandeered for — defence. 1221.

Siege of Mirpur and Kotli towns by raiders. 1367.

Statements by India's Ambassadors on — and Junagadh. 1040-41.

Statement on events in —. 592-95.

Use of planes for operations in —. 850.

KENYA—

Question re modification of Immigration Bills by Governments of —, Uganda and Tanganyika. 100.

KESKAR, SHRI B. V.—

Declaration under Rule 2 C. 1353.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 1815.

KHAITAN, SHRI DEVI PRASAD—

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 351.

Question re—

Arrival of Pakistan Military Commission in Aligarh Muslim University. 169.

Casualties and loss to Hindu and Sikh evacuees from West Punjab. 87.

Delayed delivery of letters, Telegrams and Airmails. 665.

Expansion of University Training Corps and Auxiliary Corps. 549.

Goods railway wagons and rolling stock marooned in Pakistan. 661.

Government Metallurgical Inspectorate. 311.

Import of mineral oil. 82.

Licenses for new cotton mills in India. 663-65.

Loans to Pakistan by Indian Banks. 549-50.

Loyalty of officers and ranks in defence forces and police to Government. 166.

Manufacture of telegraphic equipment in India. 312.

Manufacture of telephone parts in India. 312.

Pakistan badges for scheduled castes and harassment of Hindu evacuees in Bengal. 773-74.

Production of Consumer's goods in India. 313.

Production of Cement in India. 313.

Production of Cotton Cloth by Indian Mills. 661-63.

Production of quinine. 165.

Production of steel in India. 660-61.

Requirements of Caustic Soda. 927.

Sanction for Capital Issues. 165-66.

Settlement of Burma's debt to India. 165.

Standardization of railway equipment. 935.

Substitution of "Indians" or "Bharatis" for "non-Muslims". 550.

Working of armament factories in India. 550.

KHANDEKAR, SHRI H. J.—

General discussion of General Budget. 995-1001.

General discussion of the Railway Budget. 635-41.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 795.

Details re Labour Organisations in the Indian Union. 74.

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 792.

Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 410-12.

Improvement of Telephone service in Delhi. 683.

Indian Research Scholars to Foreign countries. 570.

KHANDEKAR, SHRI H. J.—*contd.*Question (Supplementary) re—contd.

Motor Car manufacturing factories. 1204.

Safety of railway travel. 964.

Slaughter of Cattle. 937.

Supply of drinking water in G. I. P. and E. I. Railways. 306.

Resolution re amelioration of the condition of scheduled castes. 1070-75.

KHANDWA—

Question re bridge between — and Indore on Narbudda river. 323-29.

KHARE, DR. N. B.—

Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1817.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.

Motion for adjournment re agreement between the Dominion of India and the Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar. 1056.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth Countries. 1248-49.

'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1292.

Question re—

Desertion by Muslims in Indian military and Police. 1376.

Losses suffered by the Hindus in Pakistan. 1519.

Pakistan Hindus and Sikhs as Nationals of India. 1518.

Pakistan raids in India. 1518, 1780.

Question (Supplementary) re creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 794.Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 803.

KHIMJI, SHRI B. A.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 498.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1336.

'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1336.

Question (Supplementary) re exclusion of Indians from Japanese Cotton Trade. 1523.

KHURSHED LAL, SHRI—

Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 982.

Motion re relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 874-76.Question re—

U.P. measures to keep peace. 1604.

Revision of decision re Government Servants' option for Pakistan. 1602-03.Question (Supplementary) re—

Disposals articles disposed of on Credit system. 1793.

Homes for refugee widows and children. 1036.

KIDWAI, THE HONOURABLE MR. RAFI AHMED—

Notification re Rules framed under the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934—laid on the table. 350.

KINGS COMMISSIONED OFFICERS—

Question re differential treatment of V.C.Os. for Civilian posts vis-a-vis —. 1598-99.

KODATKANAL—

Question re holiday camp for troops at —. 35.

KONARAK TEMPLE—

Question re vandalism of — in Orissa. 1619.

KOSI—

Question re Damodar Valley and — schemes. 1524-25.

KOTLI—

Question re siege of Mirpur and — by Raiders. 1367.

KRIPALANI, ACHARYA J. B.—

Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.

Election of — to Governing Body of Indian Research Fund Association. 1057.

KRIPALANI, SHRIMATI SUCHETA—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 982.
 Motion re relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 868-72.

KRISHNAMACHARI, SHRI T. T.—

- Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.
 Electricity (Supply) Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1413-17.
 General discussion of General Budget. 939-93.
 Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 386-88.
 Pharmacy Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1818-21.

Question re—

- Air agreements with foreign countries. 1686.
 Air Services between India and Pakistan. 974.
 Allotment released from Sterling Balances to Pakistan. 849-50.
 Aviation Training School at Saharanpur. 1685.
 Coal Economy by the Railways. 1220.
 Coining of Indian Money by Mexican Treasury. 849.
 Commercial Treaty with U.S.A. 1512-13.
 Detention of aeroplanes by Pakistan Authorities. 1279.
 Detention of ship by Pakistan authorities. 1278.
 Expansion of Indian Shipping in Coastal trade. 1512.
 Exploitation of the North Andamans Islands. 1700.
 Extension of Indian Air Lines to foreign countries. 1686.
 Fertilizer Factory at Sindri. 1426-29.
 Freezing of bank assets by Pakistan Government. 1136-37.
 Freight paid on foodstuffs imported. 1683-85.
 Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1429-31.
 Housing scheme for industrial workers. 1513-14.
 Import of foodgrains. 974-75.
 Import of locomotives. 1218.
 India-Burma Air Service. 1685-86.
 Indian Coal Fields Committee. 1216-17.
 Indians in East Africa. 1043.
 India's position in 'Dollar Pool'. 848-49.
 Indo-Burma Immigration Order. 1041-42.
 Industrial Delegations to Germany. 973.
 Operation of Non-Indian Air Lines. 973-74.
 Overseas scholarships to Indian Students. 1588.
 Pakistan searches of refugees. 1278-79.
 Production of Benzol in India. 1218.
 Production of steel. 1425-26.
 Rates policy of the railways. 1423-24.
 Re-entry of Indians in Burma. 1043-44.
 Refugees travelling by sea. 1044.
 Release of Sterling Assets. 848.
 Removal of articles from Pakistan. 1280-81.
 Report of Industrial Panels. 1426.
 Taxation Enquiry Committee. 849.
 Transfer to India of German Patents. 972-73.
 Treaty with His Majesty's Government. 1042.
 Utilization of Ordnance factories for industrial production. 1621.
 Wagons for transporting coal. 1219-20.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Consumption of petrol. 961.
 Export duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1357.
 Motor Car manufacturing factory. 1204.
 Protection and subsidy to industries. 1287.
 Supply of fertilising material. 292.
 Salaries of Ministers Bill. 1708.

KRISHNAMACHARI, SIR V. T.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.
 Congratulations by — to the Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar on his election as Speaker of the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 3.

KUNHIRAMAN, SHRI P.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057.
 Question re—
 A.I.R. relays of B.B.C. broadcasts. 1619.
 Admission in Central Agricultural College. 1690.
 Construction of Tellichery Mysore Railway line. 1696-97.
 Cultivation of fallow lands. 1697.
 Disposal of Scientific equipment. 1689-90.
 Education and research institutions in India. 1593.
 Relaxation of age limits for political sufferers entering Government service. 1593.
 Selection for recruitment to army. 1620.
 Steps to detect income-tax evasions. 1620.

KUNZRU, PANDIT HIRDAY NATH—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
 General discussions of General Budget. 1008-10, 1023.
 Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 461-63.
 Motion re—
 Food Policy of the Government of India. 1634, 1637-39, 1642, 1673.
 Relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 862.

Question re—

- Agreement between Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan re discontinuance of searches of refugees. 105-06, 1790-92.
 Allotment of foodgrains by F.A.O. and International Emergency Food Council. 341-43.
 Anti-Indian propaganda in British and American Press. 99.
 Anti-Indian propaganda in British and American Press re Punjab riots. 591-92.
 Appointment of Indian Agents in British Colonies. 99-100.
 Commissioning of Civilian Gazetted Officers serving under the Controller of Stores with age less than thirty-five years. 1701.
 Commissioning of Civilian Gazetted Officers with age less than thirty-five years in Indian Army. 1700-01.
 Compulsory military training to youngmen. 1133-34.
 Control of Khandasari sugar and gur. 1437-39.
 Defence Consultative Committee of Indian Legislature. 200.
 Directorate for Remounts and Veterinary services. 1134-35.
 Employment of British Officers in Indian Defence Forces. 199.
 Employment of Indians in the United Nations Secretariat. 1282.
 Establishment of Advisory Committees of the Assembly. 101.
 Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from West Punjab. 1045.
 Fiji Government's Immigration Bill. 1276.
 Government plan for increasing food production. 340-41.
 Homes for refugee widows and children. 1034-36.
 Immigration of Indians into Burma. 1277.
 Increased sugar production. 1439.
 Indian Technical Officers in Defence Forces. 199.
 Inter-territorial organisation for the British East African Colonies. 1281-82.
 Modification of Immigration Bills by Governments of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika. 100.

- Movement of East Bengal Hindus to West Bengal. 1539-41.
 Movement of Units of Indian Army in Pakistan. 198-99.
 National Investment Board. 1367.
 Permanent Commissions to Indian Emergency Commissioned Officers. 950-51.
 Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1439-40.
 Purchase of foodgrains from abroad. 343.
 Recruitment and promotion in Imperial Secretariat Service. 1157-58.
 Rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan. 1032-34.
 Reorganisation Committee for the Department of Food and Agriculture. 341.
 Report of National Cadet Corps Committee. 200.
 Searches of refugees. 1285.
 Students evacuated from West Punjab. 1044-45.
 Taxation Enquiry Committee. 1367.
 Training of Home Guards. 847-48.
 Transfer of records and property of non-muslim institutions in Pakistan. 1034.
 Trucks and Troops for M.E.O., Lahore. 1135.

KUNZRU, PANDIT HIRDAY NATH—contd.

- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Compensation to European I.C.S. Officers leaving India. 1146.
- Development of East African Colonies. 1027.
- Improvement of telephone service in Delhi. 683.
- Indians in East Africa. 1043.

Request re printing of documents and statements laid on the table. 247-48.

KURUKSHETRA—

- Question re wages to refugees at —. 1779.

L

LABOUR—

- Conventions and Recommendations adopted at 28th Session of International Labour Conference, Seattle—laid on the table. 1238-89.
- Question re—
- All-India Industries and — Conference. 1032.
- Appointment of a — Officer at Cochin Port. 454.
- Appointment of — Officer for Burma. 98-99.
- Census of the — population. 1763.
- Collection for Coalfield — Welfare Fund. 1517-18.
- Conflict between landlords and agricultural labour. 101.
- Details re organisations in the Indian Union. 71-74.
- delegations to foreign countries. 1048-52.
- Legislation for providing amenities to —. 74-75.
- Recruitment of — in the plantation areas. 101-02.
- Seattle Conference Conventions. 1037.
- Report of Indian Government delegates to 29th Session of International — Conference, Montreal—laid on the table. 1288.

LABOUR, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.
- Election of Standing Committee for —. 796.

LABOUR WELFARE FUND BILL—

- See "Coal Mines —" under "Bill(s)".

LABOURERS—

- Question re—
- Indian — in Ceylon. 1036-37.
- Legislation for welfare of agricultural —. 1753-54.
- Resettlement of Burma —. 1525-26.
- See also "Worker(s)".

LADY(IES)—

- Question re provision of — Waiting Room and water at Hajipur Station. 314.
- See also "Woman(en)".

LAHORE—

- Motion for adjournment re valuables of non-Muslims in — safe deposit vaults. 495-96.
- Question re protection of property and funds of educational institutions at —. 194, 787-88.

LAJPAT RAI, LATE LALA—

- Death anniversary of —. 4.

LAND—

- Question re—
- Allotment of — by U. P. Government for house building. 1054.
- Allotment of — to Central Government Servants. 1054-55.
- Cultivation of fallow —. 1697.
- Cultivation of —. 925-26.
- Requisitioning of — by District Magistrate, Agra. 1621.
- Sale of — by Delhi Improvement Trust. 1378-79.

LAND DEVELOPMENT BILL—

- See "Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara —" under "Bill(s)".

LANDLORD(S)—

- Question re conflict between — and agricultural labour. 101.

LANGUAGE—

- Question re creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 793-95.

LASKAR, PROF. NIBARAN CHANDRA—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

LATTHE, SHRI A. B.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 795.

LAW—

- Resolution re appointment of Statutory — Revision Committee. 1100-03.

LAW, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1344.
- Election to Standing Committee for —. 855.

LAXMANATEERTHA RIVER—

- Question re construction of dams across — and Harangi river. 31-82.

LEGAL PRACTITIONERS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".
- See also "Indian Bar Councils and the —" under "Bill(s)".

LEGISLATION—

- Question re—
- for providing amenities to Labour. 74-75
- for welfare of agricultural labourers. 1753-54

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY—

- See "Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative)".

LEGISLATOR(S)—

- Question re appointment of non-official — to Cabinet Sub-Committees. 767-68.

LEGISLATURE—

- Question re Defence Consultative Committee of Indian —. 200.

LEPROSY—

- Question re—
- Expenditure on buildings in — institutions. 575.
- Implementation of the recommendations of All India — Workers' Conference held at Wardha. 575.
- Measures for relief of —. 200.
- Production and import of drug for —. 200-01.
- Recommendation re control of — by All India — Workers' Conference held at Wardha. 842.
- Subsidy to Orissa for dealing with —. 841-42.
- University scholarship for — research. 575.

LETTER(S)—

- Question re—
- Delayed delivery of — and telegrams. 1450.
- Delayed delivery of —, telegrams and air mails. 665.
- Late delivery of postal — and telegrams. 315.

LEVY—

- Question re—
- of tax by Sirohi State on visitors to Dilwara Temple at Menut Abu. 591.
- on export of jute to India. 1052.
- Pakistan's export — on jute. 1377-78.
- See also "Duty".
- See also "Tax(es)".

LIABILITY(IES)—

- Question re division of assets and — between India and Pakistan. 174-75, 181-82, 547-49.

LIBRARY(IES)—

- Question re—
- National museum and — for India. 1597-99.
- Transfer of Imperial —, Calcutta. 1595.

LICENCE(S)—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1315-40.

Question re—

- Import and export —. 1753.
- Issue of — for production of salt. 337.

LICENCE(S)—contd.

Question re—contd.

- for fire-arms in Delhi. 1590-91.
- for new cotton Mills in India. 663-65.
- to Air Transport Companies in India. 333-336.
- Newsprint import —. 1274-75.
- Policy re grant of arms —. 584.
- Revalidation of import —. 1759.
- Review of export and import —. 1774-75.

LIGHT(S)—

Question re—

- Bengal Nagpur Railway stations without —. 1460.
- Installation of — in railway carriages. 310.

LIGHT-HOUSES AND LIGHT-SHIPS—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

LINE(S)—

- Motion to reduce Demand for "Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund"
- Reconstruction of — dismantled during war — Darwha Pusad —. 739-41.

LOAN(S)—

Question re—

- Division of — between India and Pakistan. 841.
- by India to Pakistan. 162-63.
- from International Bank. 843.
- to Pakistan by Indian Banks. 549-50.

See also "Advance".

LOCOMOTIVES—

Question re—

- Import of —. 1218.
- Manufacture of — in India. 1681-83.

LONDON—

Question re—

- Indian Supply Mission in —. 448.
- Reorganization of High Commissioner's Office in —. 1025-26.

LOSS(ES)—

Question re—

- Casualties and — to Hindu-Sikh Evacuees from West Punjab. 87.
- Casualties and — to Non-Muslims in Pakistan. 94.
- by non-Muslims in Pakistan from arson and seizure of property. 84-85.
- of Life and property due to communal disturbances. 838.
- suffered by the Hindus in Pakistan. 1519.
- Monetary — due to delay in retrocession of sections of B. A. Railway apportioned to India Under Boundary Commission Award. 694-95.
- Steps for compensation for — sustained by non-Muslims. 94-95.

LOYALTY—

- Question re — of Officers and ranks in Defence Forces and Police to Government. 166.

LUCKNOW—

- Motion for adjournment re non-repudiation by Government of India of U. P. Government's deal with All-India Sugar Syndicate —. 1799.

M

MACHINERY—

- Question re manufacture of agricultural —. 1128-29.

MACHKHAND—

- Question re Damodar Valley and — projects. 1029-32.

MADRAS—

Question re—

- Export of commodities from — to Ceylon during the years 1937-38 and 1946-47. 788.
- Naval Works Department at Avadi Base, —. 1604.
- Permission to — Government to raise price of paddy. 317.
- Poisonous Burma beans imported into —. 685.
- Rice deficit in — Province. 297.

MAHANADY—

Question re—

- Execution of — valley project. 1763-64.
- Utilisation of Narbudda, Tapti and — rivers for Multi-purpose Scheme. 96-97.

MAHESHWARI, SHRI HIMMAT SINGH K.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.
- Extra-Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—
- Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee. 1188.
- Consideration of Clauses. 1570-71, 1574.

MAHTHA, SHRI SRI NARAIN—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 982.

MAIL(S)—

- See "Posts and Telegraphs".

MAINTENANCE—

- Question re — of "National Highways". 316.

MAITRA, PANDIT LAKSHMI KANTA—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Education. 1229.
- Election of — to Council of Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore. 1057.
- Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 351.
- General discussion of General Budget. 1018.
- General discussion of Railway Budget. 649-50, 652.
- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 137.
- Motion for adjournment re abolition of B. A. Railway. 37.
- Motion re election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 52-53.
- Motion to reduce Demand for—
- "Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration"—question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 728.
- "Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses"—Economy. 728.

Question re—

- Accession of Junagadh State. 191.
- Accession of Junagadh to Pakistan and of Kashmir to India. 779.
- Anti-Indian activities of Muslim Officers. 1601.
- Appointment of Officials for countries outside India. 1765-72.
- Decamping of an armed gang from the General Headquarters Huttments with ammunition. 170-71.
- Disturbances in Delhi. 189-90.
- Exemption to members of Constituent Assembly from provisions of Arms Act. 1799-1800.
- Food position in Indian Dominion. 327.
- Foreign Diplomatic Embassies in India. 1039-40.
- Import of foodgrains from abroad and allocation to Pakistan. 673-75.
- Imports of processed foods. 943-46.
- Indian personnel in the U.N.O. Secretariat. 1037-38.
- Invasion of Kashmir by Frontier Tribesmen. 779-80.
- Landing of Pakistan planes within Indian Dominion. 1367-68.
- Monetary loss due to delay in retrocession of sections of B. A. Railway apportioned to India under Boundary Commission Award. 694-95.
- Ordnance Factories in Indian Dominion. 1599-1600.
- Organisation of a National Militia. 817-20, 828.
- Potato seed for West Bengal. 1442.
- Recovery of unauthorised ammunition from Muslim houses in Burgi near Jabulpur. 170.
- Remittance of Station earnings beyond Kanchrapara on B. A. Railway to Eastern Pakistan. 694.
- Reorganization of ordnance factories. 1600-01.
- "Running" and "Working Powers" of Pakistan Railway. 1688.
- Scales of pay for teachers in railway schools. 1689.
- Seizure of unauthorised ammunition in Jabulpur. 169-70.
- Settlement of dues of B. A. Railway Staff by Chief Auditor, E. B. Railway. Chittagong. 695-96.
- Statements by India's Ambassadors on Kashmir and Junagadh. 1040-41.
- Surreptitious removal of railway properties to Pakistan. 970.
- Transport of railway personnel to Eastern Pakistan. 970.
- Use of planes for Operations in Kashmir. 850.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Accumulation of mails on Ranaghat railway station. 494.
- Control of Khandhari sugar and gur. 1438.

MAITRA, PANDIT LAKSHMI KANTA—*contd.*Question (Supplementary) re—contd.

- Creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 794.
- Detection and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and Parbatipur in Eastern Pakistan. 789-90.
- Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 543.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 792.
- Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1520.
- Exploitation of mineral resources. 406-07.
- Fixation of basic value of currency. 156.
- Geological Survey of certain Districts of the Deccan States. 68.
- Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 410.
- India's annual contribution to U.N.O. 431-32.
- Industrialization of India. 681.
- Legislation for providing amenities to Labour. 75.
- Major irrigation projects. 403.
- Manufacture of agricultural machinery. 1129.
- Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of Army between India and Pakistan. 544.
- Reconstituted Food Policy Committee. 1435.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1527.
- Use of oil cakes and bone-meal as manure. 295.

MAIZE—

- Question re import of —. 968.

MAJUMDAR, SHRI SURESH CHANDRA—

Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—

- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1847-48.
- Election of — to All India Council for Technical Education. 1703.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 493.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 982.
- Indian Merchant Shipping (Amendment) Bill. 1199.

Question re—

- Deputy High Commissioner for Eastern Pakistan. 1758.
- Import of agricultural implements. 1698.
- Purchase of fighter planes. 1757-58.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1797.
- Manufacture of agricultural machinery. 1129.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1529.

MALADMINISTRATION—

- Question re — of East Punjab Railway. 690.

MALAVIYA, PANDIT GOVIND—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Education. 1229.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.
- Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.
- Motion re election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 51-52.
- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 720-23, 739.
- Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 821-22.

MALAYA—

- Question re status of Indians under the new Schemes of political reforms in —. 93.

MALLAVYA, SHRI U. SRINIVASA—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 492.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 795.
- Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

MALLICK, SHRI MUKUNDA BEHARY—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057.

MANAGEMENT—

- Question re deterioration of — of O. T. and E. I. Railways. 322.

MANDLOI, SHRI B. A.—

Question re—

- Absorption of Foreign Settlements in Indian Union. 783-84.
- Accession of Nizam's State to Indian Union and exodus of Muslims to the State. 563-64.

MANDLOI, SHRI B. A.—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Appointments in Foreign Services of India. 427-29.
- Damodar Valley Scheme Project. 95-96.
- Development of Indian Mercantile Marine. 764-66.
- Economic Adviser to Government of India. 764.
- Education of Indian students abroad. 551-62.
- Expenditure on "Grow More Food" Campaign. 938-42.
- Grants given by Government of India for Public Health Schemes. 181.
- Handling of exports and imports of India by Indian Mercantile Marine. 765-66.
- India's annual contribution to U.N.O. 429-32.
- Manufacture of vegetable ghee. 942-43.
- Paucity of salt in Provinces. 324.
- Prohibition of slaughter of animals. 937-38.
- Road transport on B. B. & C. I. and G. I. P. Railway bridges over the Narbudda. 673.
- Slaughter of cattle. 935-37.
- Sources for manufacture of salt in India. 325-26.
- States acceded to Pakistan and India's relations with States not joining either of the Dominions. 562-63.
- Utilization of Narbudda, Tapti and Mahanadi rivers for multi-purpose scheme. 96-97.
- Utilization of railway bridges for vehicular and pedestrian traffic. 672-73.
- Value of exported and imported foodgrains. 323.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 287.
- Number of Indians appointed as Chief Justices. 541.
- Use of bones as manure. 655.

MANGAL SINGH, SARDAR—

Question re—

- Profiteering by Government in the disposal of certain articles. 21.
- Prosecutions by the Anti-Corruption Department. 36.
- Surplus Military Stores. 21.

MANUFACTURE—

Question re—

- Import and — of drugs and medicines. 1144.
- of aeroplanes in India. 838.
- of biscuits. 1455-56.
- of locomotives in India. 1681-83.
- of Motor Cars. 1210.
- of new model third class carriages. 220.
- of Sugar by Centrifugal Open Plant System. 679.
- of telegraphic equipment in India. 312.
- of telephone parts in India. 312.
- of vegetable ghee. 942-43.
- Sources for — of salt in India. 325-26.

MANURE(S)—

Question re—

- Subvention to the Provinces for — supply. 289-91.
- Supply of cheap fuel and subsidized —. 658-59.
- Use of bones as —. 655.
- Use of oil cakes and bone-meal as —. 295.

MANU SUBEDAR, MR.—

Question re—

- Ill-treatment of Indian passengers travelling by M. S. Battery. 7.
- Recovery of expenditure incurred in India on behalf of U.K. and Eastern Group Countries. 1782.
- Shortage of matches and profiteering by vendors and middlemen. 22.
- Supply of timber from Burma, Andamans and Indian forests. 21-22.

MARINE—

See "Mercantile —".

See also "Shipping".

MARRIAGE REGULATING AND VALIDATING BILL—

See "Hindu Inter-caste —" under "Bill(s)".

MARRIAGE RESTRAINT (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Child —" under "Bill(s)".

MARTIAL RACE(S)—

Question re martial and non-martial races. 1599.

MARWAR—

Question re retrocession of villages in Ajmer-Merwara to the Mewar and — States in 1938. 589-90.

MASANI, SHRI M. R.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 796.

MATCHES—

Question re—
Shortage of — and profiteering by vendors and middlemen. 22.
Shortage of — in New Delhi. 27.

MATTHAI, THE HONOURABLE DR. JOHN—

Appointment of — to perform functions of Finance Minister during General discussion of railway budget. 350.

Declaration under Rule 2 C. 1.

Demand for Grant—

Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund. 739

Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration. 720.

Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses. 723.

Railway Board. 706.

General discussion of Railway Budget. 645-53.

Motion re—

Election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 50-51, 57-59.

Election to Standing Committee for Roads. 246.

Election to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 47-50.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

“Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration”—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 736-39.

“Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses”—Economy. 736-39.

“Railway Board”—

More adequate provisions for safeguarding the person and property of passengers. 743-44.

Over-crowding in trains. 717-19.

Notifications re Rules framed under the Motor Vehicles Act—laid on the table. 345-49.

Presentation of Railway Budget for 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1948. 391-404.

Resolution re Central Road Fund and Standing Committee for Roads. 236-38, 241-42, 244.

MAURITIUS—

Question re—

Conviction of Prof. Basudeo Bishen Dayal for preaching Hindu Religion in —. 30.

Sale of Indian medicines in — and protest against Mr. Ridley's statement re adoption of French names by Indians. 22-23.

MAVALANKAR, THE HONOURABLE MR. G. V.—

Election of — and congratulations to—on his election as Speaker. 1-4.

See also “Speaker, Mr.”.

MEAT—

Question re — rationing in India. 1448.

MEDICAL COUNCIL (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See “Indian —” under “Bill(s)”.

MEDICAL SERVICES—

Demand for Grant. 1347.

Question re Public Health and —. 837.

MEDICINE(S)—

Question re—

Committee on indigenous system of —. 167-68.

Higher medical training for Indian students abroad. 1150.

Import and manufacture of drugs and —. 1144.

Import of drugs and —. 1699.

Reconstitution of Committee on indigenous system of —. 1130-31.

Sale of Indian — in Mauritius and protest against Mr. Ridley's statement re adoption of French names by Indians. 22-23.

Resolution re Scientific research into Ayurveda system of —. 1108-10.

MEETINGS—

Sittings of Assembly on Holidays. 38-39.

MEHTA, SHRI BALWANT RAI GOPALJI—

Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.

Question re supply of steel to Jannabhoomi Group of newspapers, Bombay. 975-76.

MEHTA, SHRIMATI HANSA—

Congratulations by — to the Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar on his election as Speaker of the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 3.

MEMBER CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY—

Signing of the attendance register by members. 1679-80.

Question re exemption to — from provisions of Arms Act. 1799-1800.

MENON, SHRI P. GOVINDA—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057.

Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 471-72.

Question re—

Increase in sugar quota in Cochin State. 327.

Progress in construction of Trichur-Kollengode Railway. 1460

Rationing of rice in Cochin State. 326-27.

Rebuilding of Shoranur-Nilambur Railway. 1461.

Subsidy to provinces towards cost of foodgrains. 326.

MERCANTILE MARINE—

Question re—

Development of Indian —. 764-66.

Handling of exports and imports of India by Indian —. 766-67.

Seattle Conference Conventions. 1037.

Training of personnel for a National —. 1110-13.

Resolution re training of personnel for a National —. 1110-13.

See also “Shipping”.

MERCHANT SHIPPING (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See “Indian —” under “Bill(s)”.

METALLURGY—

Question re Government Metallurgical Inspectorate. 311.

METEOROLOGY—

Demand for Grant. 1347.

MEWAR—

Question re retrocession of villages in Ajmer-Merwara to the — and Marwar States in 1938. 589-90.

MEXICO—

Question re coining of Indian money by Mexican Treasury. 849.

MIDDLE EAST—

Question re—

Anti-Indian propaganda in the —. 434, 1751.

Cultural Mission to Middle Eastern Countries. 93.

MIGRATION—

Question re—

Expenditure on — between India and Pakistan. 79.

Expenditure on refugee camps and number of persons awaiting transfer to India. 80-81.

— between India and Pakistan. 76-79.

— to and from India after partition. 438.

Policy of Government of India re — of population. 79-80.

Movement of East Bengal Hindus to West Bengal. 1539-41.

MILITARY—

Question re—

Allotment of vacant — barracks to refugees. 1598.

Arrival of Pakistan — Commission in Aligarh Muslim University. 169.

Committees for disposal of material of buildings dismantled by — authorities. 578-79.

Compulsory — training in educational institutions. 569.

Compulsory — training to youngmen. 1135-34.

Desertion by Muslims in Indian — and Police. 1376.

Indian — Mission in Germany. 102.

— training for students in Hyderabad State. 1621.

MILITARY—contd.Question re—contd.

- Protest against the — camp at Raiwala near Hardwar. 35.
 Railway carriages and coaches in possession of — authorities. 666.
 Recruitment of refugees for — training. 1594.
 Staff employed in and discharged from the Ordnance Services—Accounts Department and — Engineering Service. 36.
 Surplus — Stores. 21.
 Welfare institutions for — and Anglo-Indian children. 1126-27.
 See also "Forces".

MILITARY ACADEMY, INDIAN—

- Question re opening of — at Poona. 580.

MILITARY EVACUATION ORGANISATION—

- Question re trucks and troops for —, Lahore. 1135.

MILITIA—

- Question re—
 National — for defence of India and her borders. 549.
 Protection of eastern frontier of India and formation of a National —. 588.
 Strength of standing army and raising of National — in India. 564.
 Resolution re organisation of a National —. 796-830.

MILK—

- Question re—
 Constitution of an Advisory Committee in connection with — production. 667.
 Setting up of an All-India Central — Board. 666-67.

MILL(S)

- Question re—
 Licences for new cotton — in India. 663-65.
 Number of bone — and disintegrators. 657.
 Production, import and allotment of cloth. 297-301.
 Production of cotton cloth by Indian —. 661-63.
 Production of — yarn and cloth. 1205-07.
 Strikes in cotton —. 1754.
 Supply of soda caustic to cotton — and All-India Soap Makers Association. 692.

MINERAL(S)—

- Question re—
 Availability of gypsum. 1425.
 Exploitation of — resources. 405-07, 1029.

MINERAL OIL—

- See "Oil(s)".

MINES—

- Demand for Grant. 1347.

MINIMUM WAGES BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

MINISTERS BILL—

- See "Salaries of —" under "Bill(s)".

MINISTRY(IES)—

- Motion re elections to Standing Committees to advise —. 226-34.

MINISTRY WITHOUT PORTFOLIO—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.

MINT—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.
 Question re coining of Indian money by Mexican Treasury. 849.

MIRPUR—

- Question re seige of — and Kotli town by Raiders. 1367.

MISAPPROPRIATION—

- Question re — of income by Hindu and Religious Trusts. 781.

MISCELLANEOUS—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

MISCELLANEOUS ADJUSTMENTS BETWEEN THE CENTRAL AND PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS—

- Demand for Grant. 1348.

MISCELLANEOUS EXPENDITURE—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

MISRA, SHRI LOKNATH—

- Declaration under Rule 2 C. 1.
 Question re—
 Central Pay Commission recommendations. 1149.
 Equality of pay for I.C.S. and P.C.S. Deputy Secretaries. 1248-49.

MISRA, SHRI YUDHISTHIR—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.
 Extra-Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—
 Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1553-54.
 Question re—
 Cloth and sugar supplied to Orissa States. 1461.
 Expansion of B. N. Railway. 1462.
 Insufficient supply of wagons to B. N. Railway. 1462.
 Intervention by Government of India in Nilgiri States. 1624-25.
 Maldistribution of controlled goods in Orissa States. 1461.

MISSION(S)—

- Question re cultural — to Middle Eastern Countries. 93.

MOBILISATION—

- Question re collection of arms and — of Military Forces by the Nizam. 180.

MODERNISATION—

- Question re scheme for — of Indian Union Army. 543.

MONEY—

- Question re — given to Government of Pakistan. 181.

MONTREAL—

- Report of Indian Government Delegates to 29th Session of International Labour Conference, — laid on the table. 1288.

MOOKERJEE, DR. H. C.—

- Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.

MOOKERJEE, THE HONOURABLE DR. SYAMA PRASAD—

- Indian Patents and Designs (Extension of Time) Amendment Bill. 42, 365-66.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1306-15.
 Statement re tenders not accepted by the India Store Department, London—laid on the table. 349.

MORAPURI—

- Question re resumption of Railway Service between — and Hosur. 320.

MOSQUE(S)—

- Question re desecration of — in Delhi. 1596-97.

MOTION(S)—

- re—
 Food Policy of Government of India. 1627-77.
 Relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 858-86, 891-923.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT—

- See "Adjournment(s)".

MOTOR CAR(S)—

- Question re import of — and trucks. 1691-93.

MOTOR SERVICE—

Question re Amraoti-Badnera. —. 1453-54.

MOTOR VEHICLE ACT—

See "Act(s)".

MOUNT ABU—

Question re levy of tax by Sirohi State on visitors to Dilwara Temple at —. 591.

MUKERJEE, MINTOO—

Question re petition by — re pension. 1592.

MULTI PURPOSE SCHEME—

Utilisation of Narbudda, Tapti and Mahanadi rivers for —. 96-97.

MUNAVALLI, SHRI B. N.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads) 1057.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—

Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1555.

MUNICIPALITY—

Question re report regarding working of Municipal Committees in Delhi Province. 1137.

MUNSHI, SHRI K. M.—

Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1744-47.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

General discussion of General Budget. 983-85.

Motion re—

Election to Standing Finance Committee. 45-46, 47.

Relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 872-74.

MURTHI, SRI N. NARAYANA—

Question re buildings in Ward No. 14, Delhi, not acquired by Delhi Improvement Trust 21.

MUSAFIR, GIANI GURMUKH SINGH—

Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 983.

General discussion of Railway Budget. 625-28.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1326-32.

'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of export and import licensing. 1326-32.

Question re—

Allotment of land by U. P. Government for house-building. 1054.

Allotment of land to Central Government Servants. 1054-55.

Composition of Indian army and number of British Officers. 205-06.

Creation of colonies for Central Government Servants. 1055.

Discovery of arms, ammunition and Radio Transmitters after 15th August, 1947. 583.

Discovery of arms, ammunition, etc., from Muslims in Centrally Administered Areas 584-85.

Disposition of Indian Army in Indian Dominion on the 15th August, 1947. 206.

Disturbances in Punjab and other parts of India. 205.

Division of assets of N. W. Railway between India and Pakistan. 668-89.

Establishment of Joint Supreme Command and Boundary Force. 583.

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Pakistan. 456, 1232-83.

Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1519-21.

Evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1283-85.

Housing accommodation for Government servants. 1054.

Maladministration of East Punjab Railway. 690.

Post Office Savings Bank accounts in Pakistan. 1224-25.

Punjabi Programme on All India Radio, Delhi. 1594.

Responsibility of Muslim personnel of Boundary Force for West Punjab atrocities. 205.

Sale of land by Delhi Improvement Trust. 1378-79.

Strength and composition of Boundary Force. 201-04.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Measures for protection of border areas. 559.

Refugees registered in Delhi and East Punjab. 777.

Resolution re amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 1061-65.

MUSEUM—

Question re—

National — and library for India. 1597-98.

Nilgris antiquities in the — for Vulkarkundo, Berlin. 847.

Transfer of exhibits of Indian —, Calcutta. 1596.

MUSLIM(S)—

Question re—

Accession of Nizam's State to Indian Union and exodus of — to the State. 563-64.

Anti-Indian activities of — Officers. 1601.

Appointment of I. N. A. Men to Indian Army and participation of — I. N. A. Men in the Kashmir Fighting. 588-89.

Casualties and loss to Non- — and — in West and East Punjab. 87.

Desertion by — in Indian Military and Police. 1376.

Discovery of arms, ammunition, etc., from — in Centrally Administered areas. 584-87.

Exodus of — to Hyderabad State. 1623.

— personnel of Posts and Telegraphs Department. 1226.

News published in the Hindustan Times, dated 20th September re Pakistan Government's circular to — Officers in India. 83.

Recovery of unauthorised ammunition from — houses at Burgi near Jubbulpur. 170.

Recovery of unlicensed arms from — in Delhi. 644-45.

Release of — communal riot convicts by Governments of West Punjab and Sind. 782.

Responsibility of — personnel of Boundary Force for West Punjab atrocities. 205.

Searches of — passengers. 1602.

MUSLIM UNIVERSITY—

See "University(ies)".

MUSLIM WAKFS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Delhi —" under "Bill(s)".

MUTTRA—

Question re conversion of Canteens into Indian Refreshment Rooms at Jubbulpur, —, Agra and other stations. 29.

MYSORE—

Question re—

Construction of Tellichery, — Railway line. 1996-97.

Extension of — Railway. 1451-52.

Increase in basic ration of rice in —. 1452-53.

NNAGAPPA, SHRI S.—

General discussion of the Railway Budget. 642-43.

Question re—

Appointments of Governors, Ambassadors and High Commissioners. 784-86.

Appointment of Labour Officer for Burma. 98-99.

Appointment of V. C. Os. to Civilian Gazetted posts. 1593.

Backing reserved for currency. 1143-44.

Compensation to European I. C. S. Officers leaving India. 144-46.

Demobilization of Commissioned Officers. 851.

Details re Labour organisations in the Indian Union. 71-74.

Differential treatment of V. C. Os. for Civilian posts vis a vis K. C. Os. 1598-99.

Dishonouring the Indian Union Flag. 157-58.

Expenditure on and number of general hospitals in India. 835-37.

Exploitation of Mineral resources. 405-07.

Fixation of basic value of currency. 155-56.

Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 409-12.

Import and manufacture of drugs and medicines. 1144.

Imports of drugs and medicines. 1699.

Legislation for providing amenities to Labour. 74-75.

Loss of life and property due to communal disturbances. 838.

Major irrigation projects. 407-09.

Manufacture of aeroplanes in India. 838.

Nationalization of Railways. 296-97.

Number of cases tried by the Federal Court and Privy Council. 75-76.

Number of Indians appointed as Chief Justices. 541-42.

Number of radios imported and broadcasting stations in India. 158.

NAGAPPA, SHRI S.—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Number of States acceded to the Indian Union. 159.
- Production, import and allotment of Mill cloth. 297-301.
- Public Health and Medical Services. 837.
- Publication of newspapers by Andhras. 1228.
- Quantity of iron, steel and cement in Indian Union. 301-03.
- Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of army between India and Pakistan. 546-45.
- Rice deficit in Madras Province. 297.
- Scheme for modernisation of Indian Union Army. 543.
- State and private industries. 1221.
- States with and without responsible Governments. 853.
- Strength and expenditure of Indian and Non-Indian Army personnel. 542-43.
- Zulum on Harijans in Pakistan. 1543.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Accession of Nizam's to Indian Union and exodus of Muslims to the State. 564.
- Appointment of scheduled caste candidates trained under Bevin Scheme. 776.
- Bone-meal as food for milch and draught cattle. 656.
- Construction of "Silver Arrow" train coaches. 660.
- Cultivation of land. 926.
- Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1118.
- Evacuation of Hindus from N. W. F. Province. 1521.
- Exploitation of mineral resources. 1029.
- Food requirements of various provinces. 934.
- Formation of Indian National Trade Union Congress. 425-26.
- Grants-in-aid to educational Institutions in centrally administered areas. 1142.
- "Grow More Food" Campaign. 288.
- Housing Scheme for Industrial Workers. 1513.
- Import of foodgrains from abroad and allocation to Pakistan. 675.
- Import of foodstuffs. 307.
- Import of foreign experts for training of students in India. 1120.
- Indian Delegation to Geneva conference on World Trade Relations. 764.
- Irrigation projects in Rayalaseema. 1023.
- Motor Car manufacturing factories. 1204.
- New Railway Coaches. 1211.
- Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1439-40.
- Production of steel. 1426.
- Production of sugarcane and sugar. 1437.
- Scheduled Caste scholars sent abroad. 1125-26.
- Selection of applicants for advanced studies in foreign countries. 1138.
- Wardha Education Scheme. 1370.
- Resolution re amelioration of condition of Scheduled Castes. 832-34, 1085, 1039.
- Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 491-92.

NAGPUR—

Question re—

- Building of national highways connecting — with Bombay. 329.
- Project to connect Amraoti with Bombay. — main line. 683.

NAIRANG, SYED GHULAM BHIK—

Question re—

- Communal percentage of Emergency Officers. 33.
- Communal proportion of commissioned and non-commissioned officers. 31-32.
- Gazetted Officers employed in Defence Department. 32.
- Percentage of demobilised soldiers community-wise. 32-33.

NARAYAN DEV, SHRI K. C. GAJAPATI (Maharaja of Parlakimedi)—

Declaration under Rule 2 C. 1.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.

Question re—

- Import of tobacco. 1447-48.
- Production of potatoes. 1445-46.
- Production of Virginia tobacco. 1447.
- Supply of ammonium-phosphate. 1446.

NARBUDDA—

Question re—

- Bridge between Khandwa and Indore on — river. 328-29.
- Road transport on B. B. & C. I. and G. I. P. Railway bridges over the —. 673.
- Utilisation of —, Tapi and Mahanadi rivers for Multi-purpose Scheme. 96-97.

NARKHED—

- Question re project to connect Amraoti with — by rail. 682-83.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES—

- See "Archives".

NATIONAL CADET CORPS COMMITTEE—

- Report of —. 200.

NATIONAL FLAG—

- See "Flag".

NATIONAL GUARD(S)—

Question re—

- Formation of Pakistan — under army control. 854.
- Indian Union —. 1588.

NATIONAL INVESTMENT BOARD—

- Question re —. 1367.

NATIONAL MILITIA—

- See "Militia".

NATIONALITY—

- Question re Pakistan Hindus and Sikhs as nationals of India. 1518

NATIONALISATION—

Question re—

- of Airlines. 1458-60.
- of Industries. 679-80.
- of Railways. 296-97.
- of Reserve Bank of India. 1594.

NAUMAN, MR. MUHAMMAD—

- Question re irregularities in foodgrains purchases by Senior Food Control Officer, O. T. Railway. 4.

NAVY—

- Question re Naval Works Department at Avadi Base, Madras. 1604.
- See also "Forces".

NAVY (DISCIPLINE) (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

NAZIRUDDIN AHMAD, MR.—

- Banking Companies Bill. 39.
- Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill—
- Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee and to pass as amended. 1500.
- Election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1545.
- Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 251.
- Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—
- Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1550-51.
- Consideration of clauses. 1562-75, 1577-79.
- Motion to pass as amended. 1582.
- Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1719, 1722-23, 1726.
- General discussion of General Budget. 1004-05.
- General discussion of Railway Budget. 621-23.
- Hindu Code. 41.
- Income-tax and Business Profits Tax (Amendment) Bill. 1193-96, 1260-69.
- Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1394.
- Indian Merchant Shipping (Amendment) Bill. 1199-1200.
- Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1483-84, 1487.
- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 144.
- Industrial Finance Corporation Bill. 469-71.
- Motion re—
- Food Policy of Government of India. 1639-41, 1674.
- Relief and Rehabilitation of Refugees. 903-05.
- Motion to reduce Demand for—
- "Cabinet"—Corruption in Government Departments. 1315, 1323-25, 1340.
- "Ministry of Commerce"—Corruption in working of import and export licences. 1323-25, 1340.

NAZIRUDDIN AHMAD, MR.—*contd.*Motion to reduce Demand for—contd.

'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1309.

'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 725-27.

'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'—Economy. 725-27.

Objection to new practice of signing of the attendance register by members. 1679.

Press (Special Powers) Bill. 352-53, 355-56.

Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill. 41.

Question (Supplementary) re electric fans in third and inter class compartments. 305.

Resolution re—

Amelioration of condition of Scheduled Castes. 1035.

Appointment of Statutory Law Revision Committee. 1103.

Organisation of a National Militia. 822-24.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

NEHRU, THE HONOURABLE PANDIT JAWAHARLAL—

Congratulations by — to The Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar on his election as Speaker of the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 2.

Motion re—

Election to Standing Committee to advise Ministries. 225-27, 231-32, 233.

Relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 917-22.

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—
Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth Countries. 1259-65.

Statement on South Africa. 1808-09.

Statement re employment of Gurkha troops under the Government of India and His Majesty's Government. 1625-26.

United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Bill. 108, 111-13.

United Nations (Security Council) Bill. 113-16.

NEOGY, THE HONOURABLE SHRI K. C.—

Motion re relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 62, 867, 909, 922-23.

Question re action by the police and railway authorities re consignments of daggers and knives in transit. 8-20.

NEPAL—

Question re treaty with — re recruitment of Gurkhas. 1375-76.

NEW DELHI—

Question re—

Housing accommodation for Government Servants in —. 1054.

Prime Minister's address to Congress Workers in —. 782.

Shortage of matches in —. 27.

See also "Delhi".

NEWS—

Question re—

Broadcasting of the Pakistan Government — by B. B. C. 840.

Control over newsprint and newspapers. 1207-09.

Monopoly of foreign — agencies in dissemination of — from India to foreign countries. 1158.

— Agency for Western Punjab. 83.

Newsprint import licences. 1274-75.

Publication of newspaper by Andhras. 1228.

Relay by All India Radio of B. B. C.'s night Bulletin. 1506.

Revival of Information Films of India. 1586.

Supply of steel to Janmakhoomi Group of newspapers, Bombay. 975-76.

NIJALINGAPPA, SHRI S.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

NILGIRIS—

Question re—

Indian Ordnance Factory in —. 1353-54.

Intervention by Government of India in — States. 1624-25.

— antiquities in the museum for Volkerkundo, Berlin. 847.

NITRO COTTON—

Question re procurement of — plant. 1355.

NIZAM—

See "Hyderabad (Deccan)".

NIZAMUDDIN—

Question re interruption of electric supply between Jangpura and — on the 1st December 1947. 1542-43.

NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS—

Question re communal proportion of Commissioned and —. 3132.

See also "Commissioned Officers".

NON-INDIAN(S)—

See "Foreigner(s)".

NON-MUSLIM(S)—

Question re—

Casualties and loss to — and Muslims in West and East Punjab. 87.

Casualties and loss to — in Pakistan. 92.

Loss by — in Pakistan from arson and seizure of property. 84-85.

Steps for compensation for losses sustained by —. 94-95.

Substitution of "Indians" or "Bhartis" for —. 559.

See also "Evacuee(s)".

See also "Refugee(s)".

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE—

Question re—

Conversion of Hindus and Sikhs in West Punjab and —. 453.

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from West Punjab and —. 453.

Evacuation of Hindus from —. 1519-21.

NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

NOTIFICATION(S)—

— re rules framed under the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934—laid on the table. 350.

— re rules framed under the Motor Vehicles Act—laid on the table. 345-49.

— under Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944,—laid on the table. 1800-07.

NURSING COUNCIL BILL—

See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)". 409.

O

OFFICES—

Question re training of youngmen in Government of India Departments. 191.

OIL(S)—

Question re—

Import of Mineral —. 82.

Import of — and greases. 1532-38.

OIL CAKE(S)—

Question re—

Edible and non-edible —. 293-94.

Export of onions and — to Ceylon. 780.

Policy re uniform price of — and oil-seeds. 658.

Use of — and bone-meal as manure. 295.

OIL-SEEDS—

Question re policy re uniform price of Oil-Cakes and —. 658.

ONION(S)—

Question re export of — and oil cakes to Ceylon. 780.

OPEN LINE WORKS—ADDITIONS—

Demand for Grant. 746.

OPEN LINE WORKS—REPLACEMENTS—

Demand for Grant. 746.

OPIUM—

- Demand for Grant. 1343.
Question re income from sale of — in Orissa. 567.

OPTION—

- Question re revision of decision re Government servants' option for Pakistan. 1602-06.

ORDINARY WORKING EXPENSES—ADMINISTRATION—

- Demand for Grant. 720-39.
Motion to reduce Demand for "—"—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption 720-39.

ORDINARY WORKING EXPENSES—MISCELLANEOUS EXPENSES—

- Demand for Grant. 723-39.
Motion to reduce Demand for "—"—Economy. 723-39.

ORDNANCE—

- Question re—
Advanced training for personnel of — factories. 1353-54.
Officers employed in office of Director of — Factories. 1775.
Indian — Factory in Nilgiris. 1354-55.
— Factories in India. 1157, 1599-1600.
Personnel of — Factories. 1775.
Reorganisation of — Factories. 1600-01.
Smuggling of arms and ammunition from Central — Depot, Jubbulpore. 1147.
Staff employed in and discharged from the — services, Military Accounts Department and Military Engineering Service. 36.
Stock of ammunition, etc. in Central — Depot, Jubbulpore. 197-98.
Thefts from Jubbulpur and other — Depot. 182.
Use of railway lines constructed from Jubbulpur station to Central — Depot, Jubbulpur, for civil industry. 1783.
Utilization of — factories for industrial production. 1621-22.

ORGANISATION(S)—

- Question re Inter-Territorial — for the British East African Colonies. 1281-82.
Resolution re — of a National Militia. 796-830.

ORISSA—

- Question re—
Appointment of Oriya Administrative Officer in the Central Excise. 176-17.
Appointment of Oriyas in Federal Court Office. 439.
Appointment of Oriyas to Central Services. 181.
Archaeological sites in — and Eastern States Agency. 1155-56.
Cloth and sugar supplied to — States. 1461.
Income from sale of opium in —. 567.
Internment of an — M.L.A. in Indonesia. 1763.
Maldistribution of controlled goods in — States. 1461.
Oriyas in higher services on B. N. Railway. 325.
Representation of — on Central Board of Revenues. 567.
Separate Radio Station for —. 175-77.
Subsidy to — for dealing with leprosy. 841-42.
Vandalism of Konarak temple in —. 1619.

ORISSA GAZETTE—

- See "Gazette(s)".

ORPHANAGE(S)—

- Question re women's homes and —. 1764.

OTHER SCIENTIFIC DEPARTMENTS—

- Demand for Grant. 1347.

OUDH TIRHUT RAILWAY—

- See "Railway(s)".

OVERBRIDGE—

- Question re—
— for Amraoti railway station. 1209-10.
Widening of — at Badnera. 1792.

OVERCROWDING—

- Motion to reduce demand for "Railway Board"— in trains. 706-20.

OVERSEAS COMMUNICATIONS SERVICE—

- Demand for Grant. 1347.

P

PADDY—

- Question re—
Permission to Madras Government to raise price of —. 317.
Procurement of — and wheat. 978-79.

PAKISTAN—

- Motion for adjournment re—
Plight of Refugees from Western —. 37.
Zulum on Harijans in —. 1543.

Question re—

- Accession of Junagadh to — and of Kashmir to India. 779.
Agreement between India and — to feed refugees. 434.
Agreement between Prime Ministers of India and — re discontinuance of searches of refugees. 105-06.
Air services between India and —. 974.
Allotment released from Sterling Balances to —. 849-50.
Amount advanced to — government. 1589.
Anti-Indian propaganda by — representatives, abroad. 93.
Arrival of — Military Commission in Aligarh Muslim University. 166-67, 169.
Attack on Kashmir by — military officers. 1588.
Auction of evacuees' property in —. 1235-86.
Broadcasting of the — government news by B.B.C. 840.
Casualties and loss to non-Muslims in —. 94.
Citizenship of — and Indian Union. 1052-53.
Collection of Business Profits Tax in India and —. 173.
Constitution of 'Empire Dollar Pool' and shares of India and —. 578.
Currency arrangements between India and —. 174.
Deputy High Commissioner for Eastern —. 1758-59.
Detention and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and Parbatipur in Eastern —. 788-90.
Detention of aeroplanes by — authorities. 1279-80.
Detention of railway wagons in —. 1458.
Detention of ship by — authorities. 1277-78.
Diversion of petrol wagons to —. 1445.
Division of assets and liabilities between India and —. 174-75, 181-82, 547-49.
Division of assets between India and —. 147-55.
Division of assets of N. W. Railway between India and —. 688-89.
Division of Defence Forces and equipment between India and —. 580.
Division of loan between India and —. 841.
Effect of partition between India and — on railway. 318.
Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from —. 456, 1232-83.
Evacuation of non-muslim refugees from Western —. 83-84.
Evacuation of troops from India and —. 582.
Evacuees' property in —. 1283-85.
Expansion of armed forces by — Government. 848.
Expenditure on migration between India and —. 79.
Export duty on raw jute by — Government. 1356-58.
Failure of the government to stop tribal raids from —. 1463.
Food supplies from —. 1036.
Formation of — National Guards under army control. 854.
Freezing of bank assets by — government. 1136-37.
Goods railway wagons and rolling stock marooned in —. 661.
Government servants opting for —. 1589.
Import of foodgrains from abroad and allocation to —. 673-75.
Jute fibre from — and its production in India. 667-68.
Landing of — planes within the Indian Dominion. 1367-68.
Loan by India to —. 162-63.
Loans to — by Indian Banks. 549-50.
Loss by non-Muslims in — from arson and seizure of property. 84-85.
Loss due to incursions by Pakistanis into Indian territory. 1147.
Losses suffered by Hindus in —. 1519.

PATEL, THE HONOURABLE SARDAR VALLABHBHAI—contd.

- Motion re—contd.
 Election to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 1626.
 Motion to reduce demand for—
 "Cabinet"—Corruption in Government Departments. 1337-40.
 'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1337-40.
 Press (Special Powers) Bill—
 Motion to consider. 259-61, 278-79.
 Consideration of clauses. 352-56.
 Motion to pass as amended. 356.
 Salaries of Ministers Bill. 1546, 1707-08.
 Standstill agreement with H.E.H. the Nizam of Hyderabad. 887-91.
 Statement on partition issues between India and Pakistan. 1810-15.
 Statement re Negotiations between the Dominions of India and Pakistan on the question of division of assets and liabilities etc. 1558-82.

PATENTS—

- Question re transfer to India of German —. 972-73.

PATENTS AND DESIGNS (EXTENSION OF TIME) (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

PATHAK, PANDIT CHATUR BHUJ—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.

PATI, SHRI LAL MOHAN—

- Declaration under Rule 2C. -1.
 Extra-Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—
 Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1552-53.

PATIL, SHRI S. K.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.
 Electricity (Supply) Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1417-22.
 General discussion of Railway Budget. 628-29.
 Motion to reduce demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1303-06.

PATNA—

- Question re—
 Rail-Road bridge over the Ganga in —. 318.
 Running of — bogie from Chabasa instead of Jamshedpur. 1783-90.
 Through passenger train from — to Ranchi. 1424.

PATTANI, SHRI A. P.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 932.
 General discussion of the Railway Budget. 615-16.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 All-India Handloom Board. 930.
 Use of oil cakes and bone-meal as manure. 295.

PAY—

- Question re—
 Equality of — for I.C.S. and P.C.S. Deputy Secretaries. 1143-49.
 Revision of — scale of the Central Excise Department. 1619.
 Scales of — for teachers in railway schools. 1689.

PAY COMMISSION—

- Question re—
 Central — recommendations. 1149.
 Implementation of — recommendations. 129.
 Implementation of Central — recommendations relating to railway employees. 699-91.
 Re-orientation of Small Savings Scheme. 1587.

PAYMENTS TO INDIAN STATES AND COMPANIES—

- Demand for Grants. 745.

PAYMENTS TO OTHER GOVERNMENTS, DEPARTMENTS, ETC. ON ACCOUNT OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF AGENCY SUBJECTS AND MANAGEMENT OF TREASURIES ETC.—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.

PAYMENTS TO RETRENCHED PERSONNEL—

- Demand for Grant. 1351.

PEACE—

- Question re U. P. measures to keep —. 1604.

PEDDAPURAM—

- Question re Court Martial of Sri Gollakota Ramabrahmanandaro of —, East Godavari 34.

PEDIGREE—

- Question re maintenance of — quality of cattle. 959.

PENAL CODE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

PENAL CODE AND THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

PENSION(S)—

- Question re—
 Grant of political —. 744, 1159-60.
 Petition by Mintoo Mukherjee re —. 1592.

PERMIT(S)—

- Question re — for the sale of cement. 1631.

PERSONNEL—

- See "Employee(s)".

PETITION(S)—

- Nomination of Committee on —. 1463.
 Question re — by Mintoo Mukherjee re pension. 1592.

PETROL—

- Question re—
 Allotment of — to Coorg. 303-04.
 Consumption of —. 960-62.
 Diversion of — wagons to Pakistan. 1445.
 Import of — in Hyderabad State. 1053-54.
 Inadequate supply of — to Ajmer-Merwara. 1224.
 — consumption in Ajmer-Merwara. 1223-24.

PHARMACY BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

PHILOSOPHY—

- Question re research in India's History, Political thought and —. 1129-30.

PHOOL SINGH, SHRI—

- Question re—
 Purchase of British war material by Hyderabad State. 853-54.
 Purchase of British war materials by Pakistan Government. 853.

PILFERAGE—

- Question re—
 Detention and — of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and Parbatipur in Eastern Pakistan. 788-90.
 Pilfering of wagons on B. N. Railway. 1696.

PILLAI, SHRI M. C. VEERABAHU—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Commerce. 498.

Question re—

- Abolition of Salt Department. 696.
 Export of commodities from Madras to Ceylon during the year 1937-38 and 1946-47. 788.
 Export of onions and oil cakes to Ceylon. 780-81.
 India's coastal and overseas trade. 780.
 Production and import of salt and expenditure on Salt Department. 699-701.

PILLAI, SHRI V. I. MUNISHWAMI—

- Congratulations by — to the Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar on his election as Speaker of the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 3.
 Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1478.
 Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 133.
 Nomination of — to Panel of Chairman. 247.
 Question re—
 Committees for the disposal of materials of buildings dismantled by military authorities. 578.
 Conflict between landlords and agricultural labour. 101.
 Education of Scheduled Castes. 1127-28.

PAKISTAN—contd.

- Question re—contd.
 Migration between India and —. 76-79.
 Money given to Government of —. 181.
 Movement of units of Indian Army in —. 193-99.
 News published in the Hindustan Times dated 20th September, 1947 re — Government's circular to Muslim officers in India. 83.
 Non-return of wagons from —. 1227-28.
 Number and evacuation of employee in — opting to serve India. 545.
 Number of evacuees still in —. 777-78.
 — badges for Scheduled Castes and harassment of Hindu Evacuees in Bengal. 773-74.
 —'s export levy on jute. 1377-78, 1602.
 —'s export duty on raw jute. 1376.
 — Hindus and Sikhs as Nationals of India. 1518.
 — raids on India. 1518, 1780.
 — searches of refugees. 1278-79.
 Population figures of India and —. 183-85.
 Post Office Savings Bank accounts in —. 1224-25.
 Protection of property and funds of educational institutions at Lahore. 787-83.
 Punjab news letter published in Calcutta Statesman of the 28th September, 1947 re — talk of fortifying border. 82-83.
 Purchase of British war materials by — government. 353.
 Railway workshops in India and —. 1457-58.
 Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of army between India and —. 543-45.
 Refusal by — to exchange food for textiles. 1463.
 Rehabilitation of refugees from —. 63-67, 1032-34.
 Relative strength of Land, Air and Naval forces of India and —. 583.
 Remittance of station earnings beyond Kanchrapara on B. N. Railway to Eastern —. 694.
 Removal of articles from —. 1280-81.
 Revision of decision, re government servants option for —. 1602-03.
 'Running' and 'Working Powers' of — railway. 1688.
 States acceded to — and India's relations with states not joining either of the Dominions. 562-63.
 Status of — citizens in India and vice versa. 1622.
 Supply of coal to —. 971.
 Supply of foodgrains by — government. 339-40.
 Surreptitious removal of railway properties to —. 970.
 Transfer of central government employees from — to India. 842-43.
 Transfer of National Archives to —. 1595-96.
 Transfer of records and property of non-Muslim institutions in —. 1034.
 Transfer of telephone equipment from India to —. 638.
 Transport of railway personnel to Eastern —. 970.
 Various agreements between India and —. 451-52.
 West — refugees in U. P. 1760.
 Statement on partition issues between India and —. 1810-15.
 Statement re Negotiations between the Dominions of India and — on the question of division of assets and liabilities etc. 1558-59.
- PALIWAL, PANDIT SHRI KRISHNA DUTT—
 Question re—
 Conviction of Prof. Basudeo Bishen Dayal for preaching Hindu religion in Mauritius. 31.
 Indian Staff Officers in offices of Engineer-in-Chief of General Headquarters and Chief Engineers of Commands. 34.
 Price Committee on Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries. 30.
 Sale of Indian medicines in Mauritius and protest against Mr. Ridley's statement re adoption of French names by Indians. 22-23.
 Supply of cattle food in India. 31.
- PANEL OF CHAIRMEN—
 Nomination of —. 247, 886-87.
- PANIKKAR, SARDAR K. M.—
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- PANT, SHRI HAR GOVIND—
 Question re—
 Modification of Arms Act and availability of arms to public. 1157.
 Ordnance factories in India. 1157.
 Recruitment of soldiers from Almora District. 1158.

PANTH PIPLODA—

Demand for Grant. 1350.

PANTH PIPLODA LAWS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

PARBATIPUR—

Question re—

Detention and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and — in Eastern Pakistan. 788-90.
 Harassment of passengers at — Junction on E. B. Railway. 1053.

PARLAKIMEDI, MAHARAJA OF—

See Narayana Dev, Shri K. C. Gajapati.

PARMANAND, BHAI—

Condolence on the death of —. 1542.

PARTITION—

Question re—

Allegations against Commander of Boundary Forces. 852.
 Casualties and loss of property since — of India. 183.
 Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 147-55, 174-75, 181-82, 547-49.
 Division of assets of N. W. Railway between India and Pakistan. 688-89.
 Division of Defence Forces and equipment between India and Pakistan. 530.
 Effect of — between India and Pakistan on railway. 318.
 Future of all-India concerns in view of India's division. 422-23.
 Migration to and from India after —. 438.
 Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of army between India and Pakistan. 543-45.
 Statement on — issue between India and Pakistan. 1810-15.
 Statement re Negotiations between the Dominions of India and Pakistan on the question of division of assets and liabilities etc. 1558-59.

PASSENGER(S)—

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Railway Board'—More adequate provisions for safeguarding the person and property of —. 741-44.

Question re—

Facilities to lower class railway. 1211-13.
 Harassment of — at Parbatipur Junction on E. B. Railway. 1053.
 Hardship of 3rd class railway —. 959-60.
 New Model — Coaches. 1225-26.
 — and tonnage carrying capacity of Indian railways. 976.
 Safety of railway travel. 963-64.
 Through — train from Patna to Ranchi. 1424.
 Ticketless travelling and corruption in railways. 1222-23.

PATASKAR, SHRI H. V.—

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 126-27.
 Prevention of Forcible and Fraudulent Conversion of Hindu Women Bill. 1185.
 Question (Supplementary) re creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 795.

PATEL, THE HONOURABLE SARDAR VALLABHBHAI—

Ajmer-Merwara (Extension of Laws) Bill. 1546, 1704-05, 1707.
 Declaration of Exemptions under the Registration of Foreigners' Act—laid on the table. 599-606.
 Extra-Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—
 Motion for leave to introduce. 704.
 Motion to consider and to refer to Select Committee. 1197-93.
 Presentation of report of Select Committee. 1379.
 Motion to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1547, 1549-50, 1561-62.

Consideration of clauses. 1573-74.

Motion to pass as amended. 1582.

Foreigners (Amendment) Bill. 41, 482-84.

Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1180-81.

Instruments of Accession executed by Indian States and Governor-General's acceptance thereof and of Standstill Agreement by the States—copies laid on the table. 209-17.

Motion for adjournment re valuables of non-Muslims in Lahore Safe Deposit Vaults. 495-96.

Motion re—

Election to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 1625.

FILLAI, SHRI V. I. MUNISHWAMI—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Production, consumption and export of tea. 786-87.
- Production and consumption of potatoes. 337-38.
- Production of quinine. 197.
- Recruitment of labour in the plantation areas. 101-02.
- Revival of Indian Tea Restriction Act. 196-97.
- Supply of chemical fertilizers to agriculturists. 686-87.
- Use of pyrethrum as a disinfectant. 1136.
- Welfare institutions for military and Anglo-Indian children. 1126-27.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Appointment of Scheduled Caste candidates trained under Bevin Scheme. 776.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 792.
- Geological Survey of certain Districts of the Deccan States. 68.
- Production of potatoes. 1446.
- Production of sugarcane and sugar. 1437.

Resolution re—

- Amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 830-31.
- Ratification of the Constitution of the World Health Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International office of Public Hygiene. 534-35.

Workmen's State Insurance Bill—

- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 814.

PILLAI, SHRI V. N.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.

Question re—

- Debt settlement arrangement with the French Government of Indo-China. 104-05.
- Remittances from French Indo-China to India. 103-04.

PISCICULTURE—

- Question re — of fish in West Bengal. 1694.

PLANNING—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Cabinet' — and development programme for India. 1340-43.

Question re—

- Formation of — Commission for India. 453.
- and development of crops in India. 671-72.

PLANT(S)—

Question re—

- Procurement of Nitro-Cotton —. 1355.
- Recruitment of labour in the plantation areas. 101-02.

PLATEL, MR. R. E.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.

POISON—

- Question re poisonous Burma beans imported into Madras. 685.

POKER SAHIB BAHADUR, MR. B.—

- Congratulations by — to the Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar on his election as Speaker of the Constituent Assembly of India (Legislative). 2-3.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Law. 855.
- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Railway Board'—
- More adequate provisions for safeguarding the person and property of passengers. 742-43.
- Overcrowding in trains. 712-13.
- Procedure re printing of papers laid on the table. 707.
- Question re communal disturbances in Delhi. 1149-50.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Appointments of Governors, ambassadors and High Commissioners. 735.
- Detention and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and Parbatipur in Eastern Pakistan. 790.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 792.
- Fixation of basic value of currency. 156.
- 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 238.
- Immigration of Indians into Burma. 424.
- Import of foodstuffs. 307.
- Imposition of control over import and export. 427.
- Improvement of telephone service in Delhi. 636.
- India's annual contribution to U. N. O. 431.
- Industrialisation of India. 681.
- Migration between India and Pakistan. 78.

POKER SAHIB BAHADUR, MR. B.—*contd.*Question (Supplementary) re—contd.

- Number of cases tried by the Federal Court and Privy Council. 76.
- Rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan. 66.

POLICE—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

Question re—

- Action by the — and railway authorities re consignment of daggers and knives in transit. 8-20.
- Appointment of Special — officers in Delhi. 182.
- Desertion by Muslims in Indian military and —. 1376.
- Efficiency of — Force in Ajmer-Merwara. 591.
- Hindu and Sikh Head Constables of the Punjab —. 1366-67.
- Incursions of Hyderabad people and — into Indian territory. 1373-74.
- Loyalty of officers and Ranks in Defence Forces and — to government. 166.

POLICE SERVICE, INDIAN—

- Question re number of I.C.S., and — officers serving in India. 186-87.

POLITICAL SERVICE, INDIAN—

- Question re number of I.C.S., I. P. and — serving in India. 186-87.

POLITICAL SUFFERERS—

- Question re relaxation of age limits for — entering Government service. 1593.

POLITICAL THOUGHT—

- Question re research in India's History, — and Philosophy. 1129-30.

POONA—

Question re—

- Government requisition of houses and buildings at Bombay and —. 1593.
- Opening of Indian Military Academy at —. 580.

POONACHA, SHRI C. M.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.
- Press (Special Powers) Bill. 353-54.

Question re—

- Allotment of petrol to Coorg. 303-04.
- Construction of dams across Laxmanatirtha and Harangi rivers. 81-82.
- Production of Arabica and Robusta Coffee. 1778.
- Question (supplementary) re grants-in-aid to educational institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1141.

POPULATION—

Question re—

- Policy of Government of India re migration of —. 79-80.
- figures of India and Pakistan. 183-85.

PORTS AND PILOTAGE—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

POST(S)—

Question re—

- Advertisement of important — in Indian Union in Orissa Gazette. 178.
- in the Central P.W.D. 1055-56.

POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS—

Question re—

- Accumulation of Mails on Ranaghat Railway station. 493-95.
- Air mail postal envelopes. 979-80.
- Complaints against Postal Staff at Garakhpur. 1773-74.
- Muslim personnel of — Department. 1226.
- Post office savings bank accounts in Pakistan. 1224-25.
- Seoni Sub-Post Office in Central Provinces. 1686-87.
- See also "Telegraphs".

POTAI, SHRI RAMPRASAD—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

POTATO(ES)—

Question re—

- seed for West Bengal. 1441-43.

- Production and consumption of — 337-38.
Production of — 1445-46.
- PRAKASAM, SHRI T.—
Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 359, 362.
- PRESS—
Question re—
Anti-Indian propaganda in American — 546.
Anti-Indian propaganda in British and American — 99.
- PRESS (SPECIAL POWERS) BILL—
See "Bill(s)".
- PREVENTION OF CORRUPTION BILL—
See "Bill(s)".
- PREVENTION OF FORCIBLE AND FRAUDULENT CONVERSION OF HINDU WOMEN BILL—
See "Bill(s)".
- PRICE(S)—
Question re—
Constitution of the Commodities — Board. 574-75.
Fall in the — of areca-nut. 1780-81.
Fluctuations in — of salt. 336-37.
Fluctuation in supari — 1456.
Permission to Madras Government to raise — of paddy. 317.
— for native and cheery coffee. 1775-76.
— Robusta Coffee — 1776.
- PRICE COMMITTEE—
See "Committee(s)".
- PRIME MINISTER—
Question re —'s address to Congress workers in New Delhi. 782.
- PRINCE(S)—
Question re — Colleges 1376.
- PRINTING(S)—
Procedure re — of papers laid on the table. 247-48, 702-03.
- PRIVY COUNCIL—
Question re—
Jurisdiction of the Judicial Committee of the — to decide pending appeals. 71.
Number of cases tried by the Federal Court and — 75-76.
- PROCUREMENT—
Question re—
— bounties to agriculturists. 1439-40.
— of paddy and wheat. 978-79.
- PRODUCTION—
Question re—
Government's plan for increasing food — 340-41.
Increased Jute — in India. 1450.
Increased — of Coarse Cloth. 977.
Increased sugar — 1439.
Increasing agricultural produce. 971-72.
— and consumption of potatoes. 337-38.
— of Arabica and Robusta coffee. 1778.
— of Benzol in India. 1218.
— of Cement in India. 313.
— of consumer's goods in India. 313.
— of Cotton in India. 959.
— of potatoes. 1445-46.
— of quinine. 165, 197.
— of Soda Ash. 1455.
— of Steel. 1425-26.
— of steel in India. 660-61.
— of Virginia tobacco. 1447.
Utilisation of ordnance factories for industrial — 1621-22.

- PROFITEERING—
Question re—
— by Australia in foodgrains. 1435.
— by Government in the disposal of certain articles. 21.
Shortage of matches and — by vendors and middlemen. 22.
- PROJECT(S)—
Question re—
Damodar Valley Scheme — 95-96.
Major irrigation — 407-09.
- PROMOTION(S)—
Question re—
Anglo-Indians of Loco Department promoted to Carriage and Wagon Department of B. B. & C. I. Railway. 1784.
— of Indians in Carriage and Wagon Department of B. B. & C. I. Railway. 1784.
Recruitment and — in Imperial Secretariat Service. 1157-58.
- PROPAGANDA—
Question re—
Anti-Indian — by American film producers. 1601-02.
Anti-Indian — by Pakistan representatives abroad. 93.
Anti-Indian — in American Press. 546.
Anti-Indian — in British and American Press. 99.
Anti-Indian — in British and American Press re Punjab riots. 591-92.
Anti-Indian — in Iran. 452.
Anti-Indian — in the Middle East. 1751.
Anti-Indian — in Middle Eastern Countries. 434.
- PROPERTY(IES)—
Question re—
Auction of evacuees — in Pakistan. 1285-86.
Casualties and loss of — since partition of India. 183.
Compensation for loss of — to evacuees. 97.
Disposal of India Office building and its contents. 1795-96.
Evacuees' — in Pakistan. 1283-85.
Loss by non-muslims in Pakistan from arson and seizure of — 84-85.
Protection of — and funds of educational institutions in Lahore. 194, 787-88.
Transfer of records and — of non-muslim institutions in Pakistan. 1034.
Valuation of — left over by evacuees. 89.
- PROSECUTION(S)—
Question re—
— by the Anti-Corruption Department. 36.
— by Sind Government of R. S. S. workers. 1525.
- PROTECTION—
Motion to reduce Demand for 'Railway Board'—More adequate provisions for safeguarding the person and property of passengers. 741-44.
Question re—
Measures for — of border areas. 568-69.
— and subsidy to industries. 1286-88.
—, subvention or subsidy to industries. 927.
- PROVINCE(S)—
Question re—
Contribution for the Post-War Development. 1592.
Creation of new — on linguistic and cultural basis. 793-95.
Food requirements of various — 932-35.
Grant of subsidies to Provincial Governments for development of housing. 178-79.
Subsidy to — towards the cost of foodgrains. 326.
Subvention to the — for manure supply. 289-91.
- PROVINCIAL EXCISE—
Demand for Grant. 1343.
- PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY (AMENDMENT) BILL—
See "Bill(s)".
- PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION BILL—
See "Extra —" under "Bill(s)".

PUBLIC HEALTH—

Demand for Grant. 1343-47.

Question re—

Grants given by Government of India for — Schemes. 181.
— and Medical Services. 837.

PUBLIC HYGIENE—

Resolution re Ratification of the Constitution of the World Health Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International Office of —. 59-61, 532-40.

PUBLIC RELATIONS—

Question re — Officer Defence Forces. 1354.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, CENTRAL—

Question re posts in the —. 1055-56.

PUBLICATION(S)—

Question re—

Improvement in — Division of Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 1536.
— of the results of Geological Survey. 69-70.

PUBLICITY—

Question re lack of — by Government of India in U.S.A. 1622.

PUDUKOTTAI—

Question re increase in basic ration of rice in Mysore. 1452-53.

PUGALUR—

Question re bridge across Cauvery river at —. 315-16.

PUNISHMENT—

Question re action against officers who perpetrated atrocities and financial aids to sufferers during struggle for freedom. 1155.

PUNJAB—

Question re—

Anti-Indian propaganda in British and American Press re — riots. 591-92.
Disturbances in — and other parts of India. 205.
Hindu and Sikh Head Constables of the — Police. 1366-67.
Loss of railway revenues due to — disturbances. 319.
Punjabi programmes on the All-India Radio. 1594.
See also "East Punjab" and "West Punjab".

PURCHASE(S)—

Question re—

Irregular — of Stationery. 1756.
— of fighter planes. 1757-58.
— of stationery stores. 1754.

PURI—

Question re stoppage of — Howrah Express Train at Jaipur and Janspur stations. 1460.

PYRETHRUM—

Question re use of — as a disinfectant. 1136.

Q

QUESTION(S)—

Observation by Mr. Speaker re disposal of — and answers in the Assembly 345.
Supply of answers to — in advance. 206-09.
Suspension of — Hour. 835, 1583, 1697.

QUININE—

Question re production of —. 165, 197.

R

RADHAKRISHNAN, SHRI S.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.

RADIO(S)—

Question re—

Discovery of arms, ammunition and — transmitters after 15th August, 1947. 585.
— transmitters in the Indian Union. 1228.

Installation of — sets in villages. 344.

Number of — imported and broadcasting stations in India. 158.

— Station for Andhra Province. 841.

Seizure of — transmitters by C.I.D. at Jubbulpore. 1587-88.

See also "Broadcasting".

RADIO, ALL-INDIA—

Question re—

Relays of B. B. C. broadcasts. 1619.

Punjabi programme on the —, Delhi. 1594.

Relay by — of B. B. C.'s night Bulletin. 1586.

RAGHIB AHSAN, MR.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.

RAGHURAJ SINGH, RAI SAHIB—

Declaration under Rule 2C. 63.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

RAID(S)—

Question re—

Failure of the Government to stop tribal — from Pakistan. 1463.

Loss due to incursions by Pakistanis into Indian Territory. 1147.

Pakistan — on India. 1518, 1780.

RAILWAY(S)—

Bengal Assam—

Motion for adjournment re abolition of —. 37.

Question re—

Monetary loss due to delay in retrocession of sections of — apportioned to India under Boundary Commission Award. 694-95.

Remittance of station earnings beyond Kanchrapara on — to Eastern Pakistan. 694.

Settlement of dues of — staff by Chief Auditor, E. B. Railway, Chittagong. 695-96.

Bengal Nagpur—

Question re—

— stations without light. 1460.

Expansion of —. 1462.

Insufficient supply of wagons to —. 1462.

Oriyas in higher services on —. 325.

Pilfering of wagons on —. 1696.

Provision of cold storage wagons on —. 324.

Release of wagons occupied by Staff in —. 1696.

Stoppage of Puri-Howrah express train at Jaipur and Janspur stations. 1460.

Teaching of the Telugu in High and Elementary Schools in the — Zone. 1789.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India—

Question re—

Anglo-Indians of Loco Department promoted to carriage and wagon department of —. 1784.

Promotion of Indians in Carriage and Wagon Department of —. 1784.

Road Transport on — and G.I.P. railway bridges over the Nerbudda. 673.

East Indian—

Question re—

Deterioration of management of O. T. Railway and —. 332.

Graduates as 'B' Grade guards on —, during war period. 1789.

Supply of drinking water on G.I.P. railway and —. 306-07.

Eastern Bengal—

Question re—

Detention and pilferage of goods in transit on — at Santahar and Parbatipur in Eastern Pakistan. 788-90.

RAILWAY(S)—contd.

- Eastern Bengal—contd.
 Question re—contd.
 Harassment of passengers at Parbatipur Junction on —. 1053.
 Settlement of dues of B. A. Railway staff by Chief Auditor —, Chittagong. 695.
- Eastern Punjab—
 Question re maladministration of —. 690.
- Great Indian Peninsula—
 Question re—
 Conversion of Canteens into Indian Refreshment Rooms at Jubbulpur, Muttra, Agra and other stations. 29.
 Road transport on B. B. & C. I. and — bridges over the Nerbudda. 673.
 Supply of drinking water on — and E. I. Railway. 306-07.
- Jodhpur—
 Question re discontentment among — staff. 343-44.
- Mysore—
 Question re extension of —. 1451-52.
- North Western—
 Question re—
 Complaint re the recruitment of Diesel Engine Drivers on —. 35.
 Division of assets of — between India and Pakistan. 688-89.
 Relative seniority of guards on —. 1790.
 Welfare Officer and their staff on —. 27-28.
- Odish Tirhut—
 Question re—
 Deterioration of management of — and E. I. Railway. 322.
 Irregularities in foodgrains purchases by Senior Food Control Officer, —. 4.
 New branch lines on —. 1226-27.
 Unsatisfactory travelling conditions on —. 1225.
- Shoranur Nilambur—
 Question re rebuilding of —. 1461.
- Sind Gujrat—
 Question re survey of —. 965.
- South Indian—
 Question re—contd.
 Catering arrangements on —. 1690-91.
 Retrenchment on —. 691.
- Trichur-Kollengoda—
 Question re progress in construction of —. 1460.
 Election to Central Advisory Council for —. 351.
 Election to Standing Finance Committee for —. 351.
 Motion re election to Central Advisory Council for —. 50-59.
- Question re—
 Accumulation of mails on Ranaghat — station. 493-95.
 Action by the police and — authorities re consignments of daggers and knives in transit. 8-20.
 Booking of dogs in passenger compartments. 308.
 British — personnel. 977.
 Coal economy by the —. 1220.
 Construction of Kanchrapara Workshops. 1209.
 Construction of 'Silver Arrow' train coaches. 659-60.
 Construction of Tellichery-Mysore — line. 1696-97.
 Control over — caterers in respect of employees' services. 1462.
 Detention of — wagons in Pakistan. 1458.
 Effect of partition between India and Pakistan, on —. 318.
 Electric fans in third and inter class compartments. 305-06.
 Facilities to lower class — passengers. 1211-13.
 Goods — wagons and rolling stock marooned in Pakistan. 661.
 'Grow More Food' Campaign by the — Administration. 318.
 Hardships of 3rd class — passengers. 959-60.
 Implementation of Central Pay Commission's recommendations relating to — employees. 690-91.
- Import of Locomotives. 1218.
 Installation of lights in — carriages. 310.
 List of — caterers on E.I., O.T. and B.N. —. 322-23.
 Loss of goods in transit during disturbances. 963.

RAILWAY(S)—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Loss of — revenues due to Punjab disturbances. 319.
 Manufacture of new model third class carriages. 320.
 Nationalization of —. 296-97.
 New model passenger coaches. 1225-26.
 New — coaches. 1211.
 New — lines in Bihar. 1457.
 New — lines in South India. 1227.
 Non-return of wagons from Pakistan. 1227-28.
 Overbridge for Amraoti — Station. 1209-10.
 Passenger and tonnage carrying capacity of Indian —. 976.
 Pay to teachers of — schools. 979.
 Post-war Reconstruction of — in Chota Nagpur Division. 1424.
 Project to connect Amraoti with Bombay-Nagpur main line. 683.
 Project to connect Amraoti with Narkhed by rail. 682-83.
 Provision of — staff who opted for India. 1701-02.
- carriages and coaches in possession of Military authorities. 665-66.
 — workshops in India and Pakistan. 1457-58.
 Rates policy of the —. 1423-24.
 Recruitment of drivers. 1213-14.
 Reduction in train services. 930.
 Remodelling of Tellicherry Station. 1690.
 Repair of Badnera Station approach Road. 960.
 Resumption of — service between Morapuri and Hosur. 320.
 Return of rolling stock lent to Ministry of Defence. 309-10.
 "Running" and "Working Powers" of Pakistan —. 1688.
 Running of Patna Bogie from Chaibasa instead of Jamshedpur. 1789-90.
 Safety of — travel. 963-64.
 Scales of pay for teachers in — schools. 1689.
 Standardization of — equipment. 935.
 Surreptitious removal of — properties to Pakistan. 970.
 Through passenger train from Patna to Ranchi. 1424.
 Ticketless travelling and corruption in —. 1222-23.
 Transport of — personnel to Eastern Pakistan. 970.
 Use of — line constructed from Jubbulpore station to Central Ordnance Depot, Jubbulpore, for civil industry. 1783.
 Utilization of — bridges for vehicular and pedestrian traffic. 672-73.
 Wagons for fire-wood. 1697-98.
 Wagons for transporting coal. 1219-20.
 Widening of overbridge at Badnera. 960. 1792.

RAILWAYS (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

RAILWAY BOARD—

- Demand for Grant. 706-20. 744.
 Motion to reduce demand for—

"—".

- More adequate provisions for safeguarding the person and property of passengers. 741-44.
 Overcrowding in Trains. 706-20.

RAILWAY BUDGET—

See "Budget. Railways".

RAILWAY (TRANSPORT OF GOODS) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

RAIWALA—

- Question re protest against the Military Camp at — near Hardwar. 35.

RAJ KANWAR, R. B. LALA—

Question re—

- Appointment of India's Ambassadors, Envoys and High Commissioners. 435-38.
 Casualties and loss of property since partition of India. 183.
 Compensation for losses awarded to evacuees. 778.
 European Officers of Imperial Services retired after political changes in India. 188.
 Maintenance of refugee camps in India. 456-57.
 Migration to and from India after partition. 438.
 Names of States acceded to the Dominion of India. 166-67.
 Number of evacuees still in Pakistan. 777-78.
 Number of I.C.S., I.P. and I.P.S. Officers serving in India. 186-87.

RAJ KANWAR, R. B. LALA—contd.Question re—contd.

- Payment of reparations by Germany and Japan. 435.
- Population figures of India and Pakistan. 183-85.
- Recruitment to Indian Administrative Services at the Centre and in Provinces. 566-67.
- Refugees registered in Delhi and East Punjab. 776-77.
- Regional Commissioners for States in India. 583-84.
- Relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 457.
- Taking over of record from the Crown Department. 1594-95.
- Transfer of exhibits of Indian Museum, Calcutta. 1596.
- Transfer of Imperial Library, Calcutta. 1595.
- Transfer of National Archives to Pakistan. 1595-96.

RAJENDRA PRASAD, THE HONOURABLE DR.—

- Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Land Development Bill. 499.
- Indian Cotton Cess (Amendment) Bill. 1704.
- Motion re Food Policy of the Government of India. 1627-35, 1670-77.

RAJPUTANA—

- Question re development of Civil Aviation in — and construction of aerodromes at Ajmer. 698.

RAMAMURTY, DR. SIR S. V.—

- Declaration under Rule 2C. 1.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 982.

RAMAPADASAGAR—

- Question re Damodar Valley and Machkhand projects. 1029-32.

RAMNARAYAN SINGH, SHRI—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.

Question re—

- Application for jute export. 1531-32.
- Collection for Coalfield Labour Welfare Fund. 1517-18.
- Contribution for the Post-War Development. 1592.
- Damodar Valley and Kosi Schemes. 1524-25.
- Expansion of Indian Shipping tonnage. 1531.
- Import of oils and greases. 1532-38.
- New railway lines in Bihar. 1457.
- Possession of estate of Mr. Hari Jee of Shahbad District, Bihar in Burma. 7.
- Posts in the Central P.W.D. 1055-56.
- "Princes" Colleges. 1376.
- Representation of International Shipping Company Ltd. at the Conference of Shipping interests in Bombay. 1530.
- Running of Patna Bogie from Chaibasa instead of Jamshedpur. 1789-90.
- Tin plate factories. 1453.

RANAGHAT—

- Question re accumulation of mails on — railway station. 493-95.

RANBIR SINGH, CH.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 982.
- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1293-96.

RANCHI—

- Question re through passenger train from Patna to —. 1424.

RANGA, PROF. N. G.—

- Criminal Tribes (Repeal) Bill. 1184.
- Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 521, 1525-26.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.
- Electricity (Supply) Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1414.
- General discussion of Railway Budget. 616-18.
- Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1383-84, 1395-96.
- Indian Tariff (Second Amendment) Bill. 1729-30.
- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 119-20, 125.

RANGA, PROF. N. G.—contd.Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—

- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 465-68.
- Motion re election to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 49-50.
- Motion to reduce Demand for—
- 'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1336.
- 'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1336.
- Motion to reduce Demand for—contd.
- 'Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations'—Position of India in International Affairs and of Indians in Commonwealth countries. 1243-45, 1265.
- 'Ministry of Finance'—Economy in Central Administration. 1234.
- 'Railway Board'—Overcrowding in trains. 719.

Question re—

- Agreement with Tata Airways. 1798-99.
- Air Services between Hyderabad and Gannavaram and Gannavaram and Calcutta. 677.
- All-India drainage and development plan. 1273-74.
- All-India Handloom Board. 929-30.
- All-India Industries and Labour Conference. 1032.
- Anti-Indian propaganda by Pakistan Representatives abroad. 93.
- Appeal against conviction of Sri Borra Appala Narayana Reddi of Waltair. 24.
- Appointment of non-official legislators to Cabinet Sub-committees. 767-68.
- Cloth ration in Delhi. 1202-03.
- Compensation to Indian Shipping Companies. 768.
- Constitution of an Advisory Committee in connection with milk production. 667.
- Constitution of National Committee for F. A. O. 321.
- Construction of aerodrome at Anantapur in Rayalaseema. 677-78.
- Construction of fertiliser factories. 946-47.
- Construction of foodgrains store houses. 947-48.
- Construction of Kanchrapara Workshops. 1209.
- Control over newsprint and newspapers. 1207-09.
- Control over railway caterers in respect of employees' services. 1462.
- Controlled foodgrains prices. 948-58.
- Court Martial of Sri Gollakota Ramabrahmanandarao of Peddapuram, East Godavari. 341.
- Cow-dung Gas-plant. 931-32.
- Creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 793-95.
- Cultural Missions to Middle Eastern Countries. 93.
- Damodar Valley and Machkhand Projects. 1029-32.
- Demobilisation of the Indian Union Forces. 1335.
- Development of Civil Defence Force. 1604-05.
- Development of East African Colonies. 1026-27.
- Development of Industries. 928-29.
- Development of Sangameswar Irrigation Project. 1462-63.
- Expenditure on "Grow More Food" Campaign. 669-71.
- Exploitation of mineral resources. 1029.
- Export of jute and gunny. 1758-59.
- Food requirements of various provinces. 932-35.
- Formation of Indian National Trade Union Congress. 425-26.
- Government Control over new Air Services concerns. 675-76.
- Government of India's Embassies and appointment of ambassadors and First Counsellors. 81-92.
- Government scholarships to students from Africa and other countries. 1120-24.
- Grant of subsidies to Provincial Governments for development of housing. 178-79.
- Immigration of Indians into Burma. 423-24.
- Implementation of Pay Commission's recommendations. 179.
- Imposition of controls over import and export. 426-27.
- India's help to the Viet-Nam. 91.
- Indian Delegation to Geneva Conference on World Trade Relations. 763-64.
- Indian research scholars sent to foreign countries. 569-72.
- Indianisation of the officer personnel in Government of India Departments. 1783.
- Industrial census in India. 1201-02.
- Installation of radio sets in villages. 344.
- Installation of Trunk Telephone Exchange at Bhadrachalam. 677.
- Irrigation projects in Rayalaseema. 1028.
- Jute fibre from Pakistan and its production in India. 667-68.
- Lack of adequate transport for coal. 321.
- Maintenance of aerodromes constructed during the war. 846-47.
- Maintenance of pedigree quality of cattle. 959.
- Manufacture of new model third class carriages. 320.
- Measures for building up of India's foreign exchange resources. 572-73.
- Measures for protection of border areas. 568-69.

RANGA, PROF. N. G.—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Motor Car manufacturing factories. 1203-05.
- Planning and development of Crops in India. 671-72.
- Position of Indians in independent Ceylon. 424-25.
- Prevention of an economic crisis in India. 179.
- Production and import of salt in India since the abolition of salt duty. 678-79.
- Production of cotton in India. 959.
- Production of mill yarn and cloth. 1205-07.
- Production of sugarcane and sugar. 1436-37.
- Profiteering by Australia in foodgrains. 1435.
- Protection and subsidy to industries. 1286-88.
- Protection, subvention or subsidy to industries. 927.
- Radio Station for Andhra Province. 841.
- Reconstituted Food Policy Committee. 1434-35.
- Recruitment and training of Cadets at Dehra Dun. 567-68.
- Removal of controls. 426.
- Removal of control on articles other than food. 698-99.
- Reorganization of High Commissioner's office in London. 1025-26.
- Representation of India at International Conferences. 770-73.
- Resumption of railway service between Morapuri and Hosur. 320.
- Review of export and import licences. 1774.
- Scheduled Caste scholars sent abroad. 1124-26.
- Setting up of an all-India Central Milk Board. 666-67.
- State Insurance of crop and cattle. 321-22.
- Status of Indians under new Scheme of political reforms in Malaya. 93.
- Subsidising of food imports. 1432-34.
- Tobacco re-drying machines. 1693.
- Trade with U. S. S. R. 768-70.
- Tribal peoples of India. 1275-76.
- Utilization of deserted army camp houses and sheds. 178.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Accession of Nizam's State to Indian Union and exodus of Muslims to the State. 563.
- Anti-India propaganda in American Press. 546.
- Backing reserved for currency. 1143.
- Bone-meal as food for milch and draught cattle. 656.
- Broadcasting Station at Bezwada. 1143.
- Commercial treaty with U.S.A. 1513.
- Commonwealth Customs Union. 1522.
- Damodar Valley and Kosi Schemes. 1524.
- Exclusion of Indians from Japanese cotton trade. 1523-24.
- Export duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1356.
- Fertilizer factory at Sindri. 1428-29.
- Freezing of bank assets by Pakistan Government. 1136-37.
- Geological Survey of certain Districts of the Deccan States. 68-69.
- Grants-in-Aid to educational institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1142.
- 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 288.
- Housing scheme for industrial workers. 1513-14.
- Inclusion of French Possessions in Indian Union. 783.
- Inursions of Hyderabad people and police into Indian territory. 1374.
- India's annual contribution to U.N.O. 431.
- Indian Coal-fields Committee. 1217.
- Indian personnel in the U.N.O. Secretariat. 1037.
- Indo-Burma Immigration Order. 1042.
- Interruption of electric supply between Jangpura and Nizamuddin on the 1st December, 1947. 1542-43.
- Legislation for providing amenities to labour. 75.
- Loan by India to Pakistan. 162.
- Major irrigation projects. 408.
- Manufacture of vegetable ghee. 943.
- Migration between India and Pakistan. 77.
- Nationalization of Railways. 296.
- Number of Radios imported and Broadcasting Stations in India. 158.
- Number of States acceded to the Indian Union. 159.
- Pakistan searches of refugees. 1278-79.
- Procurement bonuses to agriculturists. 1440.
- Production, Consumption and export of tea. 787.
- Production of Virginia tobacco. 1447.
- Profiteering by Government in the disposal of certain articles. 21.
- Prohibition of slaughter of animals. 938.

RANGA, PROF. N. G.—*concl.*Question (Supplementary) re—contd.

- Recruitment to Foreign Service. 433.
- Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of Army between India and Pakistan. 544-45.
- Re-entry of Indians in Burma. 1044.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1528.
- Salaries to Staff of Food, Textiles and Industries Departments. 161.
- Strength and expenditure of Indian and Non-Indian Army personnel. 543.
- Subvention to the Provinces for manure-supply. 291.
- Supply of ammonium phosphate. 1446.
- Supply of cheap fuel and subsidized manures. 658.
- Supply of fertilising material. 292.
- Supply of timber from Burma, Andamans and Indian forests. 21-22.
- Treaty with His Majesty's Government. 1042.
- Use of oil-cakes and bone-meal as manure. 295.
- Wardha Education Scheme. 1369.
- Winding up of Disposals Directorate. 966.
- United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Bill. 110-11.

RANGA RAO, RAJA SIR S. R.—

See "Bobili, Raja of".

RAO, SHRI S. V. KRISHNAMURTHY—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 473.

Question re—

- Extension of Mysore Railway. 1451-52.
- Fall in the price of arecanuts. 1780-81.
- Fluctuation in supari prices. 1456.
- Fruit Disease in arecanut. 1452.
- Import of arecanuts. 1452, 1779-80.
- Increase in basic ration of rice in Mysore. 1452-53.
- Prices for native and cherry coffee. 1775-76.
- Robusta coffee prices. 1776.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Potato seed for West Bengal. 1442.
- Production of potatoes. 1446.

RAO, SHRI V. C. KESAVA—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Labour. 796.

Question re—

- Appointment of Ambassadors, High Commissioners, etc. 454.
- Appointment of Scheduled Castes and others as Income-tax Officers during 1946-47. 581.
- Appointment of Scheduled Caste candidates trained under Bevin Scheme. 776.
- Broadcasting Station at Bezwada. 1142-43.
- Grants-in-aid to educational institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1139-42.
- Labour Delegations to foreign countries. 1048-52.
- Selection of applicants for advanced studies in foreign countries. 1137-39.

RASHTRIYA SWAYAMSEWAK SANGH—

Question re prosecution by Sind Government of — workers. 1525.

RASUL, BEGUM AIZAZ—

- Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1746.
- Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1843-44.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of External Affairs and Commonwealth Relations. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 796.
- Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1472-74.
- Motion to reduce demand for 'Ministry of Finance'—Economy in Central Administration. 1239-40.
- Press (Special Powers) Bill. 270-72.
- Question re cloth ration in Delhi. 1203.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Development of Jubbulpore aerodrome. 1216.
- Expenditure on 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 671.
- Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 410.
- Nationalization of railways. 297.

- Question (Supplementary) re—contd.
 Quantity of iron, steel and cement in Indian Union. 305.
 Railway carriages and coaches in possession of Military authorities. 666.
 Recruitment to foreign service. 433.
 Scheme of Special Studies. 1372.
 Resolution re Ratification of the Constitution of the World Health Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International Office of Public Hygiene. 537-38

RATE(S)—

- Question re — policy of the railways. 1423-24

RATIONING—

- Question re—
 Cloth ration in Delhi. 1202-03.
 Food — in India. 319.
 Increase in basic ration of rice in Mysore. 1452-53.
 Meat — in India. 1448.
 — of rice in Cochin State. 326-27.

RAU, SHRI N. MADHAVA—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 498
 Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—
 Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1551-52.

RAY, SHRIMATI RENUKA—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Council for railways. 351.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.
 Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1469-70.
 Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 132-33.
 Motion re relief and rehabilitation of refugees. 906-07.
 Question re—

- Commonwealth Customs Union. 1521-22.
 Detention of railway wagons in Pakistan. 1458.
 Exclusion of Indians from Japanese Cotton Trade. 1522-24.
 Nationalisation of Airlines. 1458-60.
 Railway workshops in India and Pakistan. 1457-58.

Question (Supplementary) re—

- Bone-meal as food for milch and draught cattle. 656.
 Creation of new provinces on linguistic and cultural basis. 794.
 Expenditure on 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 670.
 Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 410.
 Movement of East Bengal Hindus to West Bengal. 1540.

RAYALASEEMA—

- Question re—
 Construction of aerodrome at Anantapur in —. 677-78.
 Irrigation projects in —. 1028.

RECOMMENDATION(S)—

- Conventions and — adopted at 23th Session of International Labour Conference, Seattle—laid on the table. 1258-89.
 Question re—

- Bhore Committee —. 1583-85.
 Central Pay Commission —. 1149.
 Implementation of — of Coal Committee. 697.

RECONSTRUCTION—

- Motion to reduce Demand for 'Construction of New Lines—Capital and Depreciation Fund' — of lines dismantled during war—Darwha-Pusad Line. 739-44.
 Question re Post-War — of railway in Chota Nagpur Division. 1424.

RECORD(S)—

- Question re—
 Taking over of — from the Crown Department. 1594-95.

RECRUITMENT(S)—

- Question re—
 Complaint re the — of Diesel Engine Drivers on N. W. Railway. 35.
 Enrolment of depressed classes to Military Cadres. 1599.
 Federal Public Service Commission. 1587.
 Federal Public Service Commission test for — to permanent vacancies in the Central Secretariat. 23.
 — and promotion in Imperial Secretariat Service. 1157-58.
 — and training of cadets at Dehra Dun. 567-68

Question re—contd.

- to All India Services. 851-52.
 — of drivers. 1213-14.
 — of Income-tax Officers. 1618.
 — of refugees for Military training. 1594.
 — of soldiers from Almora District. 1158.
 — to foreign service. 432-34.
 — to Indian Administrative Services at the Centre and in Provinces. 566-67.
 Selection for — to army. 1620.
 Treaty with Nepal re — of Gurkhas. 1375-76.

REDDI, SRI BORRA APPALA NARAYANA—

- Question re appeal against conviction of — of Waltair. 34.

REDDIAR, SRI R. VANKATASUBBA—

Question re—

- Control over Metropolitan Bishops and Clergy in India. 35.
 Retired European I.C.S. Officers employed in Indian States and Zamindaries. 56.
 Shortage of Matches in New Delhi. 27.

REFORM(S)—

- Question re status of Indians under the new scheme of political — in Malaya. 93.

REFRESHMENT ROOM(S)—

- Question re conversion of canteens into Indian — at Jubbulpur, Muttra, Agra and other stations. 29.

REFUGEE(S)—

- Motion for adjournment re plight of — from Western Pakistan. 37.
 Motion re relief and rehabilitation of —. 855-86, 891-923.

Question re—

- Agreement between India and Pakistan to feed —. 434.
 Agreement between Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan re discontinuance of searches of —. 105-06, 1790.
 Allotment of vacant Military barracks to —. 1598.
 Attack on non-Muslim —. 1517.
 Entry of — into the United Provinces. 1762.
 Evacuation of non-Muslim — from Western Pakistan. 83-84.
 Evacuation of — from Jhelum (West Punjab). 1516.
 Expenditure on — camps and number of persons awaiting transfer to India. 80-81.
 Help given to — by Government and private bodies. 409-12.
 Homes for — widows and children. 1034-36.
 — killed in Bharatpur State. 1762.
 Rehabilitation of — in the Indian States. 57.
 Maintenance of — camps in India. 456-57.
 Pakistan searches of —. 1278-79.
 Recruitment of — for Military training. 1594.
 — registered in Delhi and East Punjab. 776-77.
 — residing without shelter. 1526-30.
 — travelling by sea. 1044.
 Rehabilitation of — from Pakistan. 63-67, 1032-34.
 Rehabilitation of — Vaidyas. 1368, 1779.
 Rehabilitation of rural population among —. 1760.
 Rehabilitation of West Punjab —. 1760-61.
 Relief and rehabilitation of —. 457.
 Rescue of abducted Hindu and Sikh women from West Punjab and rehabilitation of —. 102-03.
 Searches of —. 1285.
 Transport of —. 962-63.
 Wages to — workers at Kurukshetra. 1779.
 West Pakistan — in U.P. 1760.
 See also "Evacuee(s)".

See also "Non-Muslim(s)".

REGIONAL COMMISSIONER(S)—

- Question re — for States in India. 583-84.

REGISTRATION OF FOREIGNERS ACT—

See "Act(s)".

REHABILITATION—

- Question re—
 — of refugees from Pakistan. 63-67, 1032-34.
 — of refugees in the Indian States. 1756-57.
 — of refugee Vaidyas. 1368, 1779.
 — of rural population among the refugees. 1760.
 — of West Punjab refugees. 1760-61.
 Relief and — of refugees. 457.
 Rescue of abducted Hindu and Sikh women from West Punjab and — of refugees. 102-03.

RELATIONS WITH INDIAN STATES—

- Demand for Grant. 1350.

RELAY(S)—

- Question re—
 A. I. R. — of B. B. C. Broadcasts. 1619.
 — by All India Radio of B. B. C.'s night bulletin. 1586.

RELIEF—

- Question re—
 Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 409-12.
 — and rehabilitation of refugees. 457.

RELIEF AND REHABILITATION—

- Motion re — of refugees. 856-86, 891-923.

RELIEF AND REHABILITATION, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.
 Election to Standing Committee for the —. 981-82.

REMITTANCE(S)—

- Question re — from French Indo-China to India. 103-04.

REMOUNTS—

- Question re Directorate for — and Veterinary Services. 1134-35.

RENT CONTROL BILL—

- See "Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara —" under "Bill(s)".

RENT CONTROL (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara —" under "Bill(s)".

REORGANISATION—

- Question re — Committee for the Department of Food and Agriculture. 341.

REPARATIONS—

- Question re payment of — by Germany and Japan. 435.

REPATRIATION—

- of Indians from Germany. 102.

REPEALING AND AMENDING BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

REPORT(S)—

- Question re—

- of Industrial panels. 1426.
 — of National Cadet Corps Committee. 200.
 — on working of office of Economic Advisor to Government of India. 97-98.
 — of Indian Government delegates to 29th Session of International Labour Conference—Montreal—laid on the table. 1288.

REPRESENTATIVE(S)—

- Question re—

- Appointment of Ambassadors, Agents General and —. 454-55.
 Appointment of officials for countries outside India. 1765-72.
 Representation of India at International Conferences. 770-73.

REQUISITION AND EVICTION BILL—

- See "Delhi Premises —" under "Bill(s)".

REQUISITIONED LAND (CONTINUANCE OF POWERS) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

REQUISITIONING—

- Question re—

- by the army of buildings and bungalows in Bombay City. 1785-89.
 — of lands by District Magistrate, Agra. 1621.

RESCUE—

- Question re — of abducted Hindu and Sikh women from West Punjab and rehabilitation of refugees. 102-03.

RESEARCH—

- Question re—

- Education and — institutions in India. 1593.
 Fisheries and — Institute. 975.
 Indian — Scholars sent to foreign countries. 569-72.
 — in India's History, Political Thought and Philosophy. 1129-30.
 — in scientific agriculture. 328.
 Scheme for study and — in Atomic Energy. 576-78.
 Scientific — into Ayurveda system of medicine. 1108-10.
 University scholarship for Leprosy —. 575.

RESEARCH FUND ASSOCIATION, INDIAN—

- Election to Governing Body of —. 1056-57.
 Motion re election to the Governing Body of —. 235.

RESERVE—

- Question re backing reserved for currency. 1143-44.

RESERVE BANK—

- See "Bank(s)".

RESERVE BANK OF INDIA (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

RESERVE BANK OF INDIA (SECOND AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

RESETTLEMENT AND DEVELOPMENT—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

RESOLUTION—

- re—
 Amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes—adopted as amended. 830-34, 1058-93.
 Appointment of Statutory Law Revision Committee—Withdrawn. 1100-08.
 Central Road Fund and Standing Committee for Roads. 235-46.
 Indian States (Protection Against Disaffection) Act—Not moved. 1108.
 Organisation of a National Militia—Withdrawn. 796-830.
 Ratification of the Constitution of World Health Organisation and the Protocol concerning the International Office of Public Hygiene. 59-61, 532-40.
 Scientific research into Ayurveda system of medicine—Withdrawn. 1103-16.
 Training of personnel for a National Mercantile Marine. 1110-13.

RESOURCES—

- Question re exploitation of mineral —. 405-07.

RETIREMENT—

- See "Superannuation".

RETRENCHMENT(S)—

- Question re—

- in General Headquarters. 1794-95.
 — on South Indian Railway. 691.

REVENUE(S)—

- Question re loss of Railway — due to Punjab disturbances. 319.

RICE—

- Question re—

- Import of —. 969.
 Increase in basic ration of — in Mysore. 1452-53.
 Rationing of — in Cochin State. 326-27.
 — and wheat purchased from outside India. 977-78.
 — deficit in Madras Province. 297.
 Seizure of — by the Dutch Government. 1778-79.

RIDLEY, MR —

- Question re sale of Indian medicines in Mauritius and protest against —'s statement re adoption of French names by Indians. 22-23.

112. INDEX TO CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY (LEGISLATIVE) DEBATES

ROADS—

- Election to Standing Committee for —, 105b-57.
- Motion re election to Standing Committee for —, 246.

ROADS—contd.

- Question re—
- Repair of Badnera station approach —, 960.
- transport on B. B. & C. I. and G. I. P. Railway bridges over the Nerbudda —, 673.
- Resolution re Central — Fund and Standing Committee for —, 236-46.

ROLLING STOCK—

- Question re—
- Goods Railway wagons and — marooned in Pakistan. 661.
- Return of — lent to Ministry of Defence. 309-10.

ROUF, SYED ABDUR—

- Election of — to the Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.

RUBBER (PRODUCTION AND MARKETING) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

RULE(S)—

- Notification re — framed under the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934—laid on the table. 350.
- Notification re — framed under the Motor Vehicles Act—laid on the table. 40, 345-49.

RULING(S)—

- See "Speaker, Mr."

RUSSIA—

- Question re—
- Negotiation for import of foodgrains from Soviet Union. 688.
- Trade with U.S.S.R. 768-70.

S

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT(S)—

- Motion for adjournment re Valuables of Non-Muslims in Lahore —, 495-96.

SAHAI, SHRI RAM—

- Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill. 1184.
- Election of — to the Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 296.
- Indian Penal Code (Amendment) Bill. 1186.
- Motion re election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 55.
- Pharmacy Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1823-24.
- Question re—
- Cattle for agricultural purposes. 1450-51.
- Compulsory Education in India. 1589-90.
- Encouragement of Cottage Industry. 1451.
- Expenditure on Education. 1590.
- Position of National Flags vis-a-vis Flags of the Rulers. 207.
- Scheme of Special Studies. 1370-73.
- Wardha Education Scheme. 1369-70.
- Question (Supplementary) re slaughter of cattle. 936.
- Resolution re Amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 1086-90.

SAHARANPUR—

- Question re aviation Training School at —, 1685.

SAHAY, SHRI JADUBANS—

- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 135-36.
- Question re—
- Abolition of Zamindari System. 694.
- Grants to Provinces for 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 693.
- India's Embassies abroad. 458.
- Number of Radios imported and Broadcasting Stations in India. 158.
- Policy re grant of arms licences. 584.
- Post-War reconstruction of railways in Chota Nagpur Division. 1424.
- Scholars sent to Foreign Countries. 845-46.
- Through passenger train from Patna to Ranchi. 1424.
- Question (Supplementary) re expenditure on 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 669-70.

INDEX TO CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY (LEGISLATIVE) DEBATES 113

SAHU, SHRI LAKSHMINARAYAN—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Archaeology. 1229.
- General discussion of General Budget. 993-94.
- Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1391-92.
- Question re—
- Advertisement of important posts in Indian Union in Orissa Gazette. 180.
- Appointment of Oriya Administrative Officer in the Central Excise. 176-77.
- Appointment of Oriyas in Federal Court Office. 439.
- Appointment of Oriyas to Central Services. 181.
- Archaeological sites in Orissa and Eastern States Agency. 1155-56.
- Expenditure on buildings in leprosy institutions. 575.
- Implementation of the recommendations of All-India Leprosy Workers' Conference held at Wardha. 575.
- Import of Motor Cars and trucks. 1691-93.
- Income from sale of opium in Orissa. 567.
- Nilgris antiquities in the Museum for Vulkerkimdo, Berlin. 847.
- Oriyas in Higher Services on B. N. Railway. 325.
- Provision of Cold Storage wagons on B. N. Railway. 324.
- Recommendation re Control of Leprosy by all-India Leprosy Workers' Conference held at Wardha. 842.
- Representation of Orissa in the Central Board of Revenues. 567.
- Separate Radio Station for Orissa. 177.
- Stay in India of Mr. Satchell—a South African White. 1539.
- Subsidy to Orissa for dealing with leprosy. 841-42.
- Suit against Government for illegal sale of salt belonging to Sumandi Salt Factory. 693.
- University scholarship for leprosy research. 575.
- Vandalism of Konarak temple in Orissa. 1619.
- SAKSENA, PROF. SHIBBAN LAL—
- Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1746, 1816.
- Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1838-39.
- Election of — to All-India Council for Technical Education. 1544.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation. 952.
- Electricity (Supply) Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1397, 1402-07, 1466.
- Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 361-62.
- Indian Finance (Supplementary) Bill. 1385-87.
- Indian Tariff (Second Amendment) Bill. 1728-29.
- Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 119, 128-29, 133-35, 142-45, 247-52.
- Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 473-74.
- Motion re—
- Election to Standing Finance Committee. 46.
- Food policy of the Government of India. 1676.
- Motion to reduce Demand for—
- 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1306, 1313, 1314.
- 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 727-30.
- 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'—Economy. 727-30.
- Question re—
- Azad Hind Bank in Burma. 1772-73.
- Complaints against postal staff at Gorakhpur. 1773-74.
- Defence Savings Bank deposits. 1773.
- Detention of aeroplanes by Pakistan authorities. 1280.
- Return of the money deposited by I.N.A. soldiers. 1777.
- Sale of land by Delhi Improvement Trust. 1379.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Accession of Nizam's State to Indian Union and exodus of Muslims to the State. 564.
- All-India Drainage and Development Plan. 1274.
- Amount collected under the Business Profits Tax. 172.
- Appointments of Governors, Ambassadors and High Commissioners. 785.
- Collection for Coalfield Labour Welfare Fund. 1518.
- Commonwealth Customs Union. 1522.
- Consumption of petrol. 962.
- Control of Khandasari Sugar and Cur. 1438-39.
- Cultivation of land. 926.

SAKSENA, PROF. SHIBBAN LAL—*contd.*Question (Supplementary) re—contd.

- Detention and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at Santahar and Parbati-pur in Eastern Pakistan. 789.
- Development of Indian Mercantile Marine. 765.
- Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1118.
- Evacuation of Hindus from N.W.F. Province. 1529.
- Facilities to lower class railway passengers. 1212.
- Grants-in-aid to Educational Institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1141.
- 'Grow More Food and Fodder' Campaign. 1445.
- 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 287.
- Handling of exports and imports by Indian Mercantile Marine. 766.
- Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1431.
- Homes for refugee widows and children. 1036.
- Housing scheme for industrial workers. 1514.
- Import of foodstuffs. 307.
- Income-tax and super-tax payable in the financial year 1946-47. 174.
- Indian Coal Fields Committee. 1217.
- Indo-Burma Immigration Order. 1042.
- Industrial Census in India. 1202.
- Legislation for providing amenities to Labour. 75.
- Manufacture of agricultural machinery. 1129.
- Manufacture of vegetable ghee. 942.
- Measures for building up of India's foreign exchange resources. 573.
- Nationalization of Railways. 297.
- Pakistan's export levy on Jute. 1378.
- Pakistan searches of refugees. 1279.
- Production of mill yarn and cloth. 1207.
- Production of steel. 1426.
- Production of sugarcane and sugar. 1437.
- Recruitment to vacancies caused by division of Army between India and Pakistan. 544.
- Re-entry of Indians in Burma. 1044.
- Refugees residing without shelter. 1529.
- Return of rolling stock lent to Ministry of Defence. 309.
- Safety of Railway travel. 964.
- Scheduled Caste scholars sent abroad. 1126.
- Statements by India's Ambassadors on Kashmir and Junagadh. 1040.
- Strength and expenditure of Indian and Non-Indian army personnel. 543.
- Treaty with Nepal re recruitment of Gurkhas. 1376.
- Resolution re—
- Amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 1039-70.
- Organisation of a National Militia. 800-03.
- Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 511-13.

SAKSENA, SHRI MOHAN LAL—

- Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control (Amendment) Bill—
- Motions to consider and to refer to Select Committee. 367, 377.
- Dentists Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 531.
- Election of — to Central Advisory Board of Education. 1229.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.
- Hindu Inter-Caste Marriage Regulating and Validating Bill. 1187.
- Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
- Motion to refer to Select Committee. 482.
- Motion re Relief and Rehabilitation of refugees. 907-10.
- Motion to reduce Demand for—
- 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1265-69, 1303, 1310, 1313, 1315.
- 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 737-38.
- 'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'—Economy. 737-38.
- Nomination of — to Committee on Petitions. 1463.

STATUS—

- Agreement with Tata Airways. 1798-99.
- Agricultural Insurance in India. 332.
- Amount advanced to Pakistan Government. 1589.
- Annual Grant to Aligarh University. 193-94.
- Anti-Indian propaganda in Iran. 452.
- Appointment of Indian Trade Commissioners. 448-50.

SAKSENA, SHRI MOHAN LAL—*contd.*Question re—contd.

- Development of Civil Aviation in India. 333.
- Establishment of Development Board. 97.
- Evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1285.
- Expenditure on Delegations sent to U.N.O. 774-75.
- Formation of Indian People's Famine Trust. 332-33.
- Government servants opting for Pakistan. 1589.
- Grant of political pensions. 774, 1159-60.
- Grant of subsidy for import of grains. 329-31.
- Import and export licences. 1753.
- Improvement of telephone service in Delhi. 683.
- Indian Embassies abroad. 774.
- Indian Supply Mission in London. 448.
- Licences to Air Transport Companies in India. 333-36.
- Non-return of wagons from Pakistan. 1227-28.
- Pakistan's export duty on jute. 1602.
- Protection of property and Funds of educational institutions at Lahore. 194, 787-88.
- Report on working of Office of Economic Adviser to Government of India. 97-98.
- Scarcity of salt. 1687.
- Selection of Ambassadors, High Commissioners, Consuls, etc. 97.
- Trade Agents appointed by Interim Government. 1751-52.
- Various agreements between India and Pakistan. 451-52.
- Work of Indian Delegation to World Trade Conference in Geneva. 98.
- Working of Board of Technical Education. 195-96.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- All India Handloom Board. 930.
- Committee on indigenous system of medicine. 168.
- Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 791.
- Evacuation of Hindus from N.W.F. Province. 1520.
- Export duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1358.
- Facilities to lower class railway passengers. 1213.
- Food requirements of various provinces. 934.
- Interruption of electric supply between Jangpura and Nizamuddin on the 1st December, 1947. 1543.
- Motor Car Manufacturing Factories. 1204.
- Movement of East Bengal Hindus to West Bengal. 1541.
- Pakistan's export levy on jute. 1377-78.
- Production of Mill yarn and cloth. 1206-07.
- Production of Virginia Tobacco. 1447.
- Rehabilitation of Refugees from Pakistan. 67.
- Removal of articles from Pakistan. 1281.
- Trade with U.S.S.R. 769.
- Winding up of Disposals Directorate. 966.

SALARY(IES)—

- Question re — to staff of Food, Textiles and Industries Departments. 160-62.

SALARIES OF MINISTERS BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

SALE—

- Question re suit against Government for illegal — of salt belonging to Sumandi Salt Factory. 693.

SALT—

Question re—

- Abolition of — Department. 696.
- Issue of licences for production of —. 337.
- Fluctuations in prices of —. 336-37.
- Paucity of — in provinces. 324.
- Production and import of — and expenditure on — Department. 699-701.
- Production and import of — in India since the abolition of — duty. 678-79.
- Programme for development of — industry. 336.
- as a Cottage Industry. 1454.
- Scarcity of —. 1687.
- Sources for manufacture of — in India. 325-26.
- Suit against Government for illegal sale of — belonging to Sumandi — Factory. 693.

SALT ACT—

See "Central Excises and —" under "Act(s)".

SAMANTA, SHRI SATISH CHANDRA—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.

Question re—

- Action against officers who perpetrated atrocities and financial aids to sufferers during struggle for freedom. 1155.
- Citizenship of Pakistan and Indian Union. 1052-53.
- Decontrol of foodstuffs. 1443.
- Development of home and cottage industries. 1222.
- Educational facilities and Welfare arrangements for Indian students abroad. 1151-54.
- 'Grow More Food and Fodder' Campaign. 1443-45.
- Higher medical training for Indian students abroad. 1150.
- Landing of Pakistan planes within Indian Dominion. 1367-68.
- Legislation for welfare of agricultural labourers. 1753-54.
- Pilfering of wagons on B. N. Railway. 1696.
- Recruitment of Income-tax Officers. 1618.
- Status of Pakistan citizens in India and vice versa. 1622.
- Ticketless travelling and corruption in railways. 1222-23.

SANATORIUM—

Question re Tuberculosis Bacillus Hospitals and Sanatoria. 1605-17.

SANCTION—

Question re — for Capital Issues. 165-66.

SANGAMESHWAR—

Question re development of — Irrigation Project. 1462-63.

SANTAHAR—

Question re detention and pilferage of goods in transit on E. B. Railway at — and Parbatipur in Eastern Pakistan. 788-90. /

SANTHANAM, SHRI K.—

Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1745, 1749. /

Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1845-47. /

Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 526-27. /

† Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160. /

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057. /

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 351. /

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill—

Motions to consider as reported by Select Committee and to circulate. 1547. /

Federal Court (Enlargement of Jurisdiction) Bill. 1716-17, 1722, 1724. /

Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 357-58. /

Income-tax and Business Profits Tax (Amendment) Bill. 1190-92, 1195, 1197. /

Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1075-76, 1482-83, 1485-87. /

Indian Tariff (Second Amendment) Bill. 1728. /

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill—

Consideration of clauses. 118-19, 122-27, 131, 143. /

Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 463-65. /

Motion re—

Election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 55. /

Election to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 48. /

Food Policy of the Government of India. 1664-66. /

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1335. /

'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1335. /

'Ministry of Finance'—Economy in Central Administration. 1232-36. /

'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1309. /

'Ordinary Working Expenses—Administration'—Question of economy, efficiency and corruption. 723-25, 738. /

'Ordinary Working Expenses—Miscellaneous Expenses'—Economy. 723-25, 738. /

Press (Special Powers) Bill. 353, 355. /

Provincial Insolvency (Amendment) Bill. 40. /

Question re—

Air agreements with foreign countries. 1686. /

Amount collected under the Business Profits Tax. 171-72. /

SANTHANAM, SHRI K.—*contd.*Question re—contd.

Aviation Training School at Saharanpur. 1685. /

Collection of Business Profits Tax in India and Pakistan. 173. /

Commercial treaty with U.S.A. 1512-13. /

Constitution of the Commodities Prices Board. 574-75. /

Conversion of Hindus and Sikhs in West Punjab and N.W.F.P. 453. /

Currency arrangements between India and Pakistan. 174. /

Deterioration of Telegraph services. 688. /

Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 174-75. /

Division of Defence Forces and equipment between India and Pakistan. 580. /

Effect of partition between India and Pakistan on Railway. 318. /

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from West Punjab and N.W.F.P. 453. /

Exemption to members of Constituent Assembly from provisions of Arms Act. 1800. /

Expansion of Indian Shipping in coastal trade. 1512. /

Export duty on raw jute by Pakistan Government. 1358. /

Extension of Indian Air Lines to foreign countries. 1686. /

Fertilizer Factory at Sindri. 1426-29. /

Food rationing in India. 319. /

Formation of Planning Commission for India. 453. /

Freight paid on foodstuffs imported. 1683-85. /

Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1429-31. /

Hirakud Dam Project. 778-79. /

Housing Scheme for industrial workers. 1513-14. /

Implementation of recommendations of Coal Committee. 697. /

Import of maize. 968. /

Import of rice. 969. /

Import of wheat. 968-69. /

Income-tax and Super-tax payable in the financial year 1946-47. 173-74. /

India-Burma Air Service. 1685-86. /

Loss of Railway revenues due to Punjab disturbances. 319. /

Number of British Officers in Indian Army on 15th November, 1947. 580. /

Number of States acceded to Indian Union having Legislatures and responsible Ministers. 580-81. /

Opening of Indian Military Academy at Poona. 580. /

Overseas scholarships to Indian students. 1588. /

Potato seed for West Bengal. 1442. /

Production of steel. 1425-26. /

Proposed anti-Indian Immigration Legislation by Fiji Government. 778. /

Provision of accommodation to Government Servants in Delhi. 89-90. /

Recommendations of American Technical Mission. 1214-15. /

Recommendations of Foodgrains Committee. 320. /

Report of Hindu Law Codification Committee. 453. /

Report of Industrial Panels. 1426. /

Seattle Conference Conventions. 1037. /

Strength and cost of Indian Embassies and High Commissioners' Offices abroad. 88-89. /

Survey of Sind-Gujrat Railway. 965. /

Transfer of telephone equipment from India to Pakistan. 663. /

Utilization of Ordnance factories for Industrial production. 1621-22. /

Valuation of property left over by evacuees. 89. /

Winding up of Disposals Directorate. 966-67. /

Question (Supplementary) re—

All-India Handloom Board. 930. /

Appeals from the High Courts in India. 71. /

Backing reserved for currency. 1144. /

Bone-Meal as food for milch and draught cattle. 656. /

Damodar Valley and Kosi Schemes. 1525. /

Development of Indian Mercantile Marine. 765. /

Development of Industries. 928. /

Electric fans in Third and Inter Class Compartments. 305. /

Employment of scholars returned from abroad. 1118. /

Government's plan to encourage Indian shipping trade. 422. /

Homes for refugee widows and children. 1036. /

Import of locomotives. 1218-19. /

Indian Coalfields Committee. 1217. /

Indian research scholars sent to foreign countries. 572. /

Indo-Burma Immigration Order. 1042. /

Industrial Census in India. 1202. /

Industrialization of India. 682. /

SANTHANAM, SHRI K.—concl'd.Question (Supplementary) re—cont'd.

- Loan by India to Pakistan. 162.
- Measures for building up of India's foreign exchange resources. 572-73.
- Number of evacuees still in Pakistan. 778.
- Pakistan badges for Scheduled Castes and harassment of Hindu Evacuees in Bengal. 774.
- Pakistan searches of refugees. 1278.
- Protection and subsidy to industries. 1287.
- Publication of the results of Geological Survey. 70.
- Quantity of iron, steel and cement in Indian Union. 303.
- Recruitment of drivers. 1214.
- Reorganization of High Commissioner's Office in London. 1026.
- Salaries to staff of Food, Textile and Industries Departments. 161.
- Students evacuated from West Punjab. 1045.
- Supply of cheap fuel and subsidized manures. 659.
- Supply of fertilising material. 293.
- Request by — for two clear days' notice of notices coming up for discussion in the Assembly. 1541-42.

Resolution re—

- Ratification of the Constitution of the World Health Organization and the Protocol concerning the International Office of Public Hygiene. 533; 538-39.
- Training of personnel for a National Mercantile Marine. 1110-11.
- United Nations (Privileges and Immunities) Bill. 109, 112, 113.

SANYAL, MR. SASANKA SEKHAR—Question re conversion of canteens into Indian refreshment rooms at Jubbulpur, Muttra, Agra and other stations. 29.SATCHELL, MR.—Question re stay in India of — a South African White. 1539.SAVINGS—Question re re-orientation of Small — Scheme. 1587.SAVINGS BANK—Question re Defence — Deposits. 1773.SCHEDULE—

Authenticated — of Expenditure from 15th August, 1947 to 31st March, 1948—laid on the table. 1826-28.

SCHEDULED CASTE(S)—Question re—

- Appointment of — and others as Income-tax Officers during 1946-47. 581.
- Appointment of — candidates trained under Bevin Scheme. 776.
- Education of —. 1127-28.
- Enrolment of — to Military Cadets. 1599.
- Pakistani badges for — and harassment of Hindu evacuees in Bengal. 773-74.
- scholars sent abroad. 1124-26.
- Supplementary Education Grant for —. 1603 04.
- Welfare of backward classes. 1286.
- Resolution re Amelioration of the condition of —. 830-34, 1058 99.

SCHEMES—Question re—

- Post-War Development —. 452.
- of Special Studies. 1370 73.

SCHOLAR(S)—Question re—

- Employment of — returned from abroad. 1115-19.
- Indian Research — sent to foreign countries. 569-72.
- Names and Castes of scholarship-holders sent abroad. 852.
- Scheduled Caste — sent abroad. 1124-26.
- sent to Foreign Countries. 845 46.
- Selection of applicants for advanced studies in foreign countries. 1137 39.
- See also "Student(s)".

SCHOLARSHIP(S)—Question re—

- Government — to students from Africa and other countries. 1120-24.
- Overseas — to Indian students. 1588.

SCHOLARSHIP(S)—cont'd.Question re—cont'd.

- and Fellowships for Indians. 1277.
- for Indians in Commonwealth Countries. 1622.
- Statement re — awarded for studies abroad. 852.

SCHOOL(S)—Question re—

- Pay of teachers of Railway —. 979.
- Scale of Pay for Teachers in Railway —. 1689.
- Teaching of Telugu in High and Elementary — in the B. N. Railway Zone. 1789.

SCIENCE, INDIAN INSTITUTE OF—

- Election to Council of —, Bangalore. 1056-57.
- Motion re election to Council of the —, Bangalore. 234-35.
- Question re disposal of Scientific Equipment. 1689-90.

SCRAP—Question re disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as —. 1796-97.SEARCHES—

Agreement between Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan regarding discontinuance of — of refugees. 105-06, 1790-92.

Question re—

- Pakistan — of refugees. 1278-79.
- of Muslim passengers. 1602.
- of refugees. 1286.

SEATTLE—

Conventions and Recommendations adopted at 28th Session of International Labour Conference, — laid on the table. 1288-89.

— Conference Conventions. 1037.

SECRETARIAT, CENTRAL—Question re—

- Federal Public Service Commission Test for recruitment to permanent vacancies in the —. 23.
- Recruitment and promotion in Imperial Secretariat Service. 1157-58.

SECRETARY OF STATE—Question re —'s Services. 1559-66.SECURITY COUNCIL BILL—

See "United Nations —" under "Bill(s)".

SEED(S)—Question re Potato — for West Bengal. 1441-43.SELECTION—Question re — of applicants for advanced studies in foreign countries. 1137 39.SEN, DR. P. K.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Law. 855.

SEN, SHRI PRAFULLA CHANDRA—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power. 982.
- Motion re Food policy of the Government of India. 1650.

Question re—

- Changes in personnel in the Central Stationery Office, Calcutta. 1755.
- Investigation into the conduct of officers working in Central Stationery Office, Calcutta. 1755.
- Irregular purchases of stationery. 1756.
- Potato seed for West Bengal. 1441-43.
- Procurement of paddy and wheat. 978-79.
- Purchase of stationery stores. 1754.
- Rice and wheat purchased from outside India. 977-78.
- Statistics regarding production of foodgrains. 978.
- Strikes in Cotton Mills. 1754.

SENIORITY—

Question re relative — of Guards on N. W. Railway. 1790.

SEONI—

Question re — Sub-Post Office in Central Provinces. 1686-87.

SERVICE(S)—

Question re—

Appointment of Oriyas to Central —. 181.
Recognition of Diplomas, Degrees and Certificates of National Institutions for Government —. 589.
Recruitment for all-India —. 851-52.
Relaxation of age limits for political sufferers entering Government —. 1593.
Secretary of State's —. 1359-66.

SETH, SHRI DAMODAR SWARUP—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.

Question re—

Auction of evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1235-86.
Delayed delivery of letters and telegrams. 1450.
Diversion of petrol wagons to Pakistan. 1445.
Graduates as "B" Grade Guards on E. I. Railway, during war period. 1789.
Hauling down of National Flag hoisted on I.E.M.E. Workshop, Agra. 1147.
Hindu and Sikh Head Constables of the Punjab Police. 1366-67.
Increased jute production in India. 1450.
Muslim personnel of Posts and Telegraphs Department. 1226.
New model passenger coaches. 1225-26.
Pay to teachers of Railway schools. 979.
Protest against the Military Camp at Raiwala near Hardwar. 35.
Re-employment of I.N.A. personnel. 1592.
Retardation in growth of Indian spirituous industry due to irregularities in excise regulations. 1148.
Siege of Mirpur and Kotli towns by raiders. 1367.
Steel, iron and cement for United Provinces. 1226.
Unsatisfactory travelling conditions on O. T. Railway. 1225.

SHAH, MAHARAJKUMAR BALENDU—

Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill. 1501.

SHAH, PROF. K. T.—

Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.
Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.
Electricity (Supply) Bill—
Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1408-09.
Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—
Motion to refer to Select Committee. 458-61.
Foreign Exchange Regulations (Amendment) Bill. 360.

SHAH, SHRI CHUNILAL P.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.

SHAIKH, MR. ABDUL KADAR MOHAMMAE—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 796.

SHAMSHER JANG, KUNWAR—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.

Question re—

Central Institute of Fruit Technology in Delhi. 1449.
Fruit Products Control Order 1946. 1448-49.
Ineligibility of V.C.Os. to Civilian Gazetted Posts. 1603.
Rehabilitation of refugees in the Indian States. 1756-57.
Signing of Instrument of Accession by States. 1159.

SHARMA, PANDIT BALKRISHNA—

Armed Forces (Special Powers) Bill. 1735, 1738-40.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. 1703.
Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 351.
General discussion of Railway Budget. 629-31.
Motion for adjournment re announcement to decontrol sugar and consequent rise in prices. 981.
Motion re Food policy of the Government of India. 1635-37, 1674.

SHARMA, PANDIT BALKRISHNA—contd.

Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1310.
Press (Special Powers) Bill. 265-70.
Question re National Museum and library for India. 1597-98.
Question (Supplementary) re—
Consumption of petrol. 962.
Control of khandasari sugar and gur. 1438.
Cow-dung Gas-plant. 931.
Development of Industries. 929.
Dishonouring the Indian Union Flag. 157.
Evacuation of Hindus from N.W.F. Province. 1520.
Exemption to Members of Constituent Assembly from provisions of Arms Act. 1806.
Manufacture of Vegetable Ghee. 943.
Measures for protection of border areas. 569.
Quantity of iron, steel and cement in Indian Union. 303.
Rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan. 65.
Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 811-12, 817.

SHASTRI, PANDIT HIRALAL—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.

SHASTRI, SHRI ALGU RAI—

Question re—

Attack on non-Muslim refugees. 1517.
Disallowance of entry of Indians into Burma. 1516.
Evacuation of refugees from Jhelum (West Punjab). 1516.
India's Embassies abroad. 1514-16.
Rehabilitation of refugee Vaidyas. 1366, 1779.
Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
Motion to refer to Select Committee. 508-11.

SHASTRI, SHRI HARIHAR NATH—

Deck Workers (Regulation of Employment) Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 522-23.
Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.
Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 252-54.
Question (Supplementary) re formation of Indian National Trade Union Congress. 425.
Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
Motion to refer to Select Committee. 486-89.

SHIPPING—

Question re—

Compensation to Indian — companies. 768.
Detention of ship by Pakistan authorities. 1277-78.
Expansion of Indian — in coastal trade. 1512.
Expansion of Indian — tonnage. 1531.
Government's plan to encourage Indian — Trade. 422.
India's coastal and overseas trade. 760.
Representation of International — Company Ltd. at the Conference of — Interest at Bombay. 1530.
See also "Mercantile Marine".

SHIPPING BILL—

See "Control of —" under "Bill(s)".

SHIPPING (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Indian Merchant —" under "Bill(s)".

SHORANUR-NILAMBUR RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

SHORTAGE—

Question re paucity of salt in provinces. 324.

SIDHWA, MR. R. K.—

- Damodar Valley Corporation Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1839-40.
 Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara Rent Control (Amendment) Bill—
 Motion to consider and to refer to Select Committee. 375-77.
 Delhi Premises (Requisition and Eviction) Bill. 1505.
 Dentists Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 530-31.
 Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 523-25.
 Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
 Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.
 Electricity (Supply) Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1409-12, 1415.
 Foreign Exchange Regulation (Amendment) Bill. 357.
 General discussion of Railway Budget. 623-25.
 Income-tax and Business Profits Tax (Amendment) Bill. 1195.
 Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1470-72.
 Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 124-25, 129, 136-37, 254-58.
 Motion re—
 Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 57.
 Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 49.
 Food policy of the Government of India. 1658-59.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1289-92, 1295, 1308.
 Question re—
 Anti-India propaganda in American Press. 546.
 Banning of Indian Union Flag by Hyderabad State. 164.
 Booking of dogs in passenger compartments. 308.
 British personnel in service of Government of India. 833-39.
 Closing of Supreme Command Headquarters. 340.
 Construction of Silver Arrow Train Coaches. 659-60.
 Consumption of petrol. 960-62.
 Delegations sent for procurement of foodgrains from abroad. 684-85.
 Disposal of certain serviceable aeroplanes as scrap. 1796-97.
 Disposals articles disposed of on credit system. 1793-94.
 Division of assets and liabilities between India and Pakistan. 547-49.
 Division of loan between India and Pakistan. 841.
 Eradication of corruption and black-marketing. 547.
 Expenditure on migration between India and Pakistan. 79.
 Expenditure on refugee camps and number of persons awaiting transfer to India. 80-81.
 Expenditure on textile, iron, steel and other Control Departments. 685-86.
 Future of All India Concerns in view of India's Division. 422-23.
 Government employees opting to serve India. 163.
 Government's plan to encourage Indian Shipping trade. 422.
 Import of foodstuffs. 307.
 Installation of lights in railway carriages. 310.
 Loan by India to Pakistan. 162-63.
 Loss of goods in transit during disturbances. 963.
 Migration between India and Pakistan. 76-79.
 Names of States acceded to the Indian Dominion. 164-65.
 National Militia for defence of India and her borders. 549.
 New railway coaches. 1211.
 Number and evacuation of employees in Pakistan opting to serve India. 545.
 Poisonous Burma Beans imported into Madras. 685.
 Policy of Government of India re migration of population. 79-80.
 Post-War Development Schemes. 452.
 Private planes commandeered for Kashmir defence. 1221-22.
 Provision of accommodation to the employees of Government of India. 81.
 Provision of railway staff who opted for India. 1701-02.
 Railway carriages and coaches in possession of military authorities. 665-66.
 Report re working of Municipal Committees in Delhi Province. 1137.
 Return of rolling stock lent to Ministry of Defence. 309-10.
 Safety of railway travel. 963-64.
 Salaries to staff of Food, Textiles and Industries Departments. 160-62.
 Survey of Sind-Gujrat Railway. 965.

SIDHWA, MR. R. K.—contd.

- Question re—contd.
 Transfer of Central Government employees from Pakistan to India. 842-43.
 Transport of refugees. 962-63.
 Transport service in New Delhi and Old Delhi. 311.
 Unauthorised possession of modern weapons surreptitiously obtained from British and American Forces. 839-40.
 United Nations Organization Charter. 1046-48.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Cloth ration in Delhi. 1203.
 Decamping of an armed gang from the General Headquarters Hutments with ammunition. 171.
 Grants-in-aid to educational institutions in Centrally Administered Areas. 1140.
 Help given to refugees by Government and private bodies. 411.
 Hindustan Aircraft Factory. 1431.
 Import of locomotives. 1218.
 Manufacture of vegetable ghee. 943.
 Motor Car manufacturing factories. 1204.
 Production, import and allotment of mill cloth. 300.
 Recruitment and training of Cadets at Dehra Dun. 568.
 Recruitment of drivers. 1213-14.
 Subsidising food imports. 1433-34.
 Supply of drinking water in G. I. P. and E. I. Railways. 306.
 Winding up of Disposals Directorate. 967.
 Workmen's State Insurance Bill—
 Motion to refer to Select Committee. 500-93.

SIKH—

- Question re Hindu and — Head Constables of the Punjab Police. 1366-67.
 See also "Evacuee(s)".
 See also "Refugee(s)".

SILVER ARROW—

- Question re construction of — Train Coaches. 659-60.

SIND—

- Question re—
 Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from —. 790-93.
 Prosecution by — Government of R.S.S. Workers. 1525.
 Release of Muslim Communal riot convicts by Government of West Punjab and —. 782.

SIND-GUJRAT RAILWAY—

- See "Railway(s)".

SINDRI—

- Question re fertilizer factory at —. 1426-29.

SINGHANIA, SIR PADAMPAT—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 498.
 Motion to reduce Demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of Control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1295-97.

SINGHJI, BAHADUR, RAJA SARDAR (OF KHETRI)—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Communications. 606.

SINHA, SHRI DIP NARAYAN—

- Question re—
 Appointment of India's High Commissioners and Ambassadors. 86.
 Observation by India's High Commissioner in Canada re India remaining in the British Commonwealth. 85.
 Payment of toll for crossing Sonapur bridge. 314.
 Provision of Ladies' Waiting Room and water at Hajipur Station. 314.

SINHA, SHRI RAMESHWAR PRASAD—

- Question re—
 Control of foodstuffs. 972.
 Development of agriculture. 972.
 New branch lines on O. T. Railway. 1226-27.
 Question (Supplementary) re—
 Expenditure on "Grow More Food Campaign". 942.
 Major Irrigation Projects. 408.
 Migration between India and Pakistan. 77.
 Production, import and allotment of mill cloth. 361.

SINHA, SHRI SATYANARAYAN—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 498.
Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for railways. 351.

Motion re—

- Election to Court of University of Delhi. 1703.
Election to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 1703.
Pharmacy Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1824.

SIROHI—

- Question re levy of tax by — State on visitors to Dilwara Temple at Mount Abu. 591.

SITARAMAYYA, DR. B. PATTABHI—

Dentists Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 530-31.

Election of — to Governing Body of Indian Research Fund Association. 1057.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce. 498.

Election of — Standing Committee for Ministry of States. 1057.

Foreigners (Amendment) Bill. 484.

Indian Nursing Council Bill. 1476-77.

Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Bill—

Motions to refer to Select Committee and to circulate. 1177-80, 1182.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 137-38, 144.

Industrial Finance Corporation Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 390-91.

Motion re Relief and Rehabilitation of refugees. 867-68.

Motion to reduce Demand for—

'Cabinet'—Corruption in Government Departments. 1336.

'Ministry of Commerce'—Corruption in working of import and export licensing. 1336.

'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, yarn and commodities other than food. 1307.

'Railway Board'—Over-crowding in trains. 709-12.

Pharmacy Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 1822-23.

Procedure re printing of papers laid on the table. 702.

Question re auction of evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1286.

Question (Supplementary) re—

Evacuees' property in Pakistan. 1285.

'Grow More Food Campaign'. 289.

Disposals' articles disposed of on credit system. 1794.

Loan by India to Pakistan. 162.

Major Irrigation Projects. 408.

Refugees residing without shelter. 1530.

Rehabilitation of Refugees from Pakistan. 66.

Salaries to staff of Food, Textiles and Industries Departments. 162.

Request re printing of Documents and Statements laid on the table. 247.

Request for supply of copies of the Electricity (Supply) Bill in advance. 704.

Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 796-800, 829-30.

Workmen's State Insurance Bill—

Motion to refer to Select Committee. 516-17.

SLAUGHTER—

Question re—

Prohibition of — of animals. 937-38.

— of Cattle. 936-37.

SMUGGLING—

Question re—

— of arms and ammunition from C.O.D., Jubbulpore. 1147.

— of arms and ammunition out of Goa. 1032.

SOAP—

Question re—

— Factories in West Bengal. 1454.

Supply of Soda Caustic to Cotton Mills and All India — Makers Association. 692.

SODA ASH—

Question re—

Distribution of caustic soda, —, etc. to Provinces. 691-92.

Production of —. 1455.

Supply of — to glass manufacturers. 693.

SOLDIERS—

Question re—

Recruitment of — from Almora District. 1158.

Return of money deposits by I.N.A. —. 1777.

SONDHI, SHRI BIKRAMLAL—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 795.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee. 350-51.

SONEPUR—

Question re payment of toll for crossing — Bridge. 314.

SOUTH AFRICA—

Motion for adjournment re voting in the U.N.O. on South African Question. 596.

Question re stay in India of Mr. Satchell a South African White. 1539.

Statement on —. 1308-09.

SOUTH INDIA—

Question re—

New railway line in —. 1227.

Reprinting of Epigraphia Indica and South Indian Inscriptions. 207.

SOUTH INDIAN-RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

SOVIET UNION—

See "Russia".

SPEAKER, MR. (THE HONOURABLE MR. G. V. MAVALANKAR)—

Amendments—Observation by the Honourable Speaker that it is perfectly competent for a member to make whatever suggestions he may have to make, even though no amendment has been moved. 55.

Attendance—Observation by the Honourable Speaker on the objection taken by Mr. Naziruddin Ahmad to the new practice of signing of Attendance Register by Members. 1679-80.

Bill(s)—

Observation by the Honourable Speaker re continuation of Bills pending in the Legislative Assembly. 38-41.

On a point of order being raised on the motion for the reconstitution of Select Committee on Indian Army and the Indian Air Force (Amendment) Bill, the Honourable Speaker ruled that as the Bill was referred to Select Committee by the previous Legislature, and this House has succeeded the previous House, the motion was in order. 107.

Demands for Grants—Honourable Members, according to established convention, are not in order to make remarks about the expenditure incurred on the administration of the Constituent Assembly (on the Legislative and Constitution making sides) which is entirely the responsibility of the Honourable President. 1235.

Election of and congratulations to the Honourable Mr. G. V. Mavalankar on his election as Speaker. 1-4.

Motions—Observation by the Honourable Speaker on Shri K. Santhanam's request for two clear days' notice of motions coming up for discussions in the Assembly. 1541-42.

Motions for Adjournment—Observation by the Honourable Speaker that an adjournment motion does not necessarily mean that it is censure motion. 981.

Papers laid on the table—Observation by the Honourable Speaker re printing of papers laid on the table. 247-48, 702-03.

Questions and Answers—

In allowing supplementaries on Starred Questions Nos. 655 and 656 of the 6th December, 1947, to which answers were given earlier along with Starred Question No. 638, Mr. Speaker allowed supplementary questions to be put as these questions were not formally put earlier. 1377.

Observation by the Honourable Speaker re supply of answers to questions in advance. 208-09.

On a point of order being raised whether the Honourable Shri N. V. Gadgil could refer to the reply given to a question in the old Assembly the Honourable Speaker ruled that he was entitled to do so. 769.

Speeches—

Observation by the Honourable Speaker regarding reading of written speeches in the House by Members. 1253.

Observation by the Honourable Speaker suggesting that in order to curtail discussions on any amendment or motion Government should state their case in the beginning. 352.

SPIRIT(S)—

Question re retardation in growth of Indian spirituous industry due to irregularities in excise regulations. 1148.

SRINIVASAN, SHRI M. A.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Commerce 1703.

SRI PRAKASA, SHRI—

Question (Supplementary) re surplus military stores. 21.

STAFF—

Question re—

Discontentment among Jodhpur Railway —. 343-44.

Salaries to — of Food, Textiles and Industries Departments. 160-62.

See also "Employee(s)".

STAFF OFFICER(S)—

Question re Indian — in offices of Engineer-in-Chief of General Headquarters and Chief Engineers of Commands. 34.

STAMPS—

Demand for Grant. 1343.

STANDARDIZATION—

Question re — of railway equipment. 935.

STANDING COMMITTEE(S)—

See "Committee(s)".

STANDING FINANCE COMMITTEE—

See "Committee(s)".

STANDSTILL AGREEMENT(S)—

Instrument of Accession by Indian States and Governor General's acceptance thereof and of — by the States—copies laid on the table. 209-17.
— with H.E.H. the Nizam of Hyderabad. 887-91.

STATE(S)—

Instrument of Accession by Indian — and Governor General's acceptance thereof and of standstill agreement by the — copies laid on the table. 209-17.

Question re—

Administration of Western Indian —. 1591.

Instrument of Accession signed by the —. 1623-24.

Names of — acceded to the Dominion of India. 157, 164-65, 166-67.

Number of — acceded to Indian Union having Legislatures and responsible Ministries 580-81.

Position of National Flags vis-a-vis flags of the Rulers. 207.

Regional Commissioners for — in India. 583-84.

Rehabilitation of refugees in Indian —. 1756-57.

Retired European I.C.S. Officers employed in Indian — and Zamindaries. 5-6.

Signing of Instrument of Accession by —. 1159.

— acceded to Pakistan and India's relations with — not joining either of the Dominions. 562-63.

— with and without responsible Governments. 853.

Resolution re Indian — (Protection against Disaffection) Act. 1108.

STATES, MINISTRY OF—

Demand for Grant. 1345.

Election to Standing Committee for —. 1056-57.

STATE INSURANCE BILL—

See "Workmen's —" under "Bill(s)".

STATEMENT(S)—

Procedure re printing of documents and — laid on the table. 247-48, 702-03.

Question re — on events in Kashmir. 592-96.

STATESMAN—

Question re Punjab Newsletter published in Calcutta — of 28th September, 1947 re Pakistan talk of fortifying border. 82-83.

STATIONERY—

Question re—

Changes in personnel in Central — Office, Calcutta. 1755.

Investigation into the conduct of — Officer working in Central — Office, Calcutta. 1755.

Irregular purchase of —. 1756.

Purchase of — stores. 1754.

STATIONERY AND PRINTING—

Demand for Grant. 1349.

STATISTICS—

Question re — regarding production of foodgrains. 978.

STATUS—

Question re — of Pakistan citizens in India and vice versa. 1622.

STEEL—

Question re—

Expenditure on textile, iron, — and other control Departments. 685-86.

Production of — in India. 660-61, 1425-26.

Quantity of iron, —, and cement in Indian Union. 301-03.

—, iron and cement for United Provinces. 1226.

Supply of — to Janmabhoomi Group of Newspapers, Bombay. 975-76.

STERLING BALANCE(S)—

Allotment released from — to Pakistan. 649-50.

Release of Sterling Assets. 848.

STORAGE—

Question re—

Accommodation for storage of foodgrains. 29-30.

Construction of foodgrains store houses. 947-48.

STRIKES—

Question re — in Cotton Mills. 1754.

STUDENT(S)—

Question re—

Education of Indian — abroad. 551-62.

Educational facilities and welfare arrangements for Indian — abroad. 1151-54.

Higher medical training for Indian — abroad. 1150.

Import of foreign experts for training of — in India. 1119-20.

Military training for — in Hyderabad State. 1621.

Overseas scholarships to Indian —. 1588.

— evacuated from West Punjab. 1044-45.

See also "Scholar(s)".

STUDY(IES)—

Question re—

Scheme of special —. 1370-73.

Selection of applicants for advanced — in foreign countries. 1137-39.

SUBRAHMANYAM, DR. V.—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.

Election of — to Standing Committee for Roads. 1057.

General discussion of General Budget. 1015-16.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 141.

Question re—

Bridge across Cauvery River at Pugalur. 315-16.

Committee on indigenous system of medicine. 167-68.

Grants for maintenance of National Highways. 317.

Maintenance of "National Highways". 316.

Production of mill yarn and cloth. 1206.

INDEX TO CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY (LEGISLATIVE) DEBATES

Question (Supplementary) re—

Expenditure on 'Grow More Food' Campaign. 671.

Fertilizer factory at Sindri. 1428.

Manufacture of vegetable ghee. 943.

Motor Car manufacturing factory. 1204.

SUBRAHMANYAM, SHRI C.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Industry and Supply. 795.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour. 796.
- General discussion of General Budget. 1006-07.
- Question (Supplementary) re—
- Consumption of petrol. 962.
- Food requirements of various provinces. 935.

SUBSIDY(IES)—

- Question re—
- Grant of — for import of grains. 329-31.
- Grant of — to Provincial Governments for Development of Housing. 178-79.
- Protection and — to industries. 1286-88.
- Protection, subvention or — to industries. 927.
- Subsidising food imports. 1432-34.
- to Orissa for dealing with leprosy. 841-42.
- to provinces towards cost of foodgrains. 325.

SUBVENTION—

- Question re — to the Provinces for manure supply. 289-91.

SUGAR—

- Motion for adjournment re—
- Announcement to decontrol — and consequent rise in prices. 981.
- Non-repudiation by Government of India of U. P. Government's deal with All India — Syndicate, Lucknow. 1799.
- Question re—
- Cloth and — supplied to Orissa States. 1461.
- Control of Khandsari — and Gur. 1437-39.
- Increase in — quota of Cochin State. 327.
- Increased — production. 1439.
- Irregular supply of wheat and — rations in Ajmer and Beawar. 697-98.
- Manufacture of — by Centrifugal Open Plant System. 679.
- Production of sugarcane and —. 1436-37.

SUGAR (TEMPORARY EXCISE DUTY) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

SUGARCANE—

- Question re production of — and sugar. 1436-37.

SUIT—

- Question re — against Government for illegal sale of salt belonging to Sumandi Salt Factory. 693.

SUKHDEV, SETH—

- Question re—
- Accommodation for storage of foodgrains. 29-30.
- Complaint re the recruitment of Diesel Engine Drivers on N.W. Railway. 35.
- Relative seniority of Guards on N.W. Railway. 1790.
- Welfare Officers and their staff on N.W. Railway. 27-28.

SUNDER LALL, SHRI—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Transport (other than Roads). 1057.

SUPERANNUATION—

- Question re—
- European Officers of Imperial Services retired after political changes in India. 168.
- Retired European I.C.S. Officers employed in Indian States and Zamindaries. 5-6.

SUPERANNUATION ALLOWANCES AND PENSIONS—

- Demand for Grant. 1349.

SUPER TAX—

See "Tax(es)".

SUPPLY MISSION, INDIAN—

- Question re — in London. 448.

SUPREME COMMAND—

- Question re—
- Closing of — Headquarters. 840.
- Establishment of Joint — and Boundary Force. 583.
- Number of high ranks Indian Army Officers and the place of Supreme Commander in India's Forces. 581-82.

SURPLUS—

- Question re — Military Stores. 21.

SURVEY—

- Question re — of Sind-Gujrat Railway. 965.

SURVEY OF INDIA—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

SWAMINADHAN, SHRIMATI AMMU—

- Election of — to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 351.
- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.

T

TANGANYIKA—

- Question re modification of Immigration Bills by Governments of Kenya, Uganda and —. 100.

TAPTI—

- Question re utilisation of Narbudda, — and Mahanadi rivers for Multi-Purpose Scheme. 96-97.

TARIFF (AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

TARIFF (SECOND AMENDMENT) BILL—

- See "Indian —" under "Bill(s)".

TATA AIRWAYS—

- Question re agreement with —. 1798-99.

TAX(ES)—

- Question re—
- Amounts collected under the Business Profits —. 171-72.
- Appointment of Scheduled Castes and others as Income-tax Officers during 1946-47. 581.
- Collection of Business Profits — in India and Pakistan. 173.
- Evasion of payment of Income-tax. 193.
- Income-tax and Super-tax payable in the financial year 1946-47. 173-74.
- Recruitment of Income-tax Officers. 1618.
- Steps to detect income-tax evasions. 1620.
- Taxation Enquiry Committee. 849, 1367.
- See also "Duty".
- See also "Levy".

TAXES ON INCOME INCLUDING CORPORATION TAX—

- Demand for Grant. 1343.

TAXATION ON INCOME (INVESTIGATION COMMISSION) BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

TAXAK, CHAUDHRI NIHAL SINGH—

- Election of — to Court of University of Delhi. 1160.

TEA—

- Question re—
- Production, Consumption and export of —. 786-87.
- Revival of India — Restriction Act. 196-97.

TRANSMITTER(S)—

See "Radio(s)".

TRANSPORT—

Question re—

- Bus service between Amraoti and Badnera. 1698-99.
- Lack of adequate — for coal. 321.
- of railway personnel to Eastern Pakistan. 970.
- of refugees. 962-63.
- service in New Delhi and Old Delhi. 311.

TRANSPORT, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.
- Election to Standing Committee for — (other than Roads). 1056-57.

TRAVANCORE—

- Question re increase in basic ration of rice in Mysore. 1452-53.

TRAVEL—

- Question re unsatisfactory travelling conditions on O. T. Railway. 1225.

TREATY—

- Question re — with His Majesty's Government. 1042.

TRIBAL AREAS—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

TRIBE(S)—

Question re—

- Criminal — in Ajmer-Merwara. 28-29.
- Invasion of Kashmir by Frontier tribesmen. 779-80.
- Tribal peoples of India. 1275-76.

TRIBES (AMENDMENT) BILL—

See "Criminal —" under "Bill(s)".

TRICHUR-KELLENGODE RAILWAY—

See "Railway(s)".

TRIPATHI, SHRI KISHORI MOHAN—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Agriculture. 607.

TRIPATHI, SHRI VISHWAMBHAR DAYAL—

- Question (Supplementary) re number of States acceded to the Indian Union. 159.

TROOP(S)—

Question re—

- Evacuation of — from India and Pakistan. 582.
- Gurkhas in Indian and Imperial —. 1374-75.
- Holiday camp for — at Kodaikanal. 35.
- Trucks and — for M.E.O., Lahore. 1135.
- Statement re employment of Gurkha — under the Government of India and His Majesty's Government. 1625-26.
- See also "Forces".

TRUCKS—

Question re—

- Import of Motor Cars and —. 1691.
- and troops for M.E.O., Lahore. 1135.

TRUST—

- Question re formation of Indian Peoples' Famine —. 332-33.

TUBERCULOSIS—

- Question re — Bacillus hospitals and sanatoria. 1605-17.

TYAGI, SHRI MAHAVIR—

- Question re increased production of coarse cloth. 977.

U

UGANDA—

- Question re modification of Immigration Bills by Governments of Kenya, — and Tanganyika. 100.

UNITED KINGDOM—

- Question re recovery of expenditure incurred in India on behalf of — and Eastern Group Countries. 1782.
- Second Supplemental Agreement between the Reserve Bank of India and the Imperial Bank of India and the Financial Agreement between the Government of — and the Government of India—Copies laid on the table. 218-25.

UNITED NATIONS ORGANISATION—

- Motion for adjournment re voting in the — on South African question. 596.

Question re—

- Employment of Indians in the — Secretariat. 1282.
- Expenditure on delegations sent to —. 774-75.
- India's Annual Contribution to —. 429-32.
- Indian personnel in the — Secretariat. 1037-38.
- Charter. 1046-48.

UNITED NATIONS (PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

UNITED NATIONS (SECURITY COUNCIL) BILL—

See "Bill(s)".

UNITED PROVINCES—

- Motion for adjournment re non-repudiation by Government of India of — Government's deal with All-India Sugar Syndicate, Lucknow. 1739.

Question re—

- Allotment of land by — Government for house-building. 1054.
- Allotment to — of coal dust for brick burning. 35.
- Entry of refugees into —. 1762.
- Steel, iron and cement for —. 1226.
- measures to keep peace. 1604.
- West Pakistan refugees in —. 1760.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA—

See "America, United States of".

UNIVERSITY—

- Election to Court of — of Delhi. 1160, 1703, 1815.
- Motion re election to the Court of — of Delhi. 496-97, 1703.

Question re—

- Annual grant to Aligarh —. 193-94.
- Appointment of an Enquiry Committee for the Delhi —. 583.
- Arrival of Pakistan Military Commission in Aligarh Muslim —. 169.
- Audit Report on Delhi — accounts. 592.
- Emergency powers of Vice-Chancellor of the Delhi —. 585.
- Expansion of — training Corps and Auxiliary Corps. 549.
- Grants-in-aid to the Delhi —. 1131-33.
- Introduction of three year degree course by the Delhi —. 585-87.
- scholarship for leprosy research. 575.

V

VADILAL LALLUBHAI, MR.—

- Question (Supplementary) re supply of cattle food in India. 31.

VAIDYA(S)—

- Question re rehabilitation of refugees —. 1368, 1779.

VAIDYA, SHRI VINAYAKRAO B.—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.

VARMA, SHRI MANIKYALAL—

- Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Defence. 607.

VARMA, SHRI PHULAN PRASAD—

Question re—

Constitution of Federal Court. 88.

Rail road bridge over the Ganga in Patna. 318.

VEGETABLE GHEE—

Question re manufacture of —. 942-43.

VELAYUDHAN, SHRIMATI DAKSHAYANI—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Health. 703.

Motion to reduce demand for "Railway Board"—Overcrowding in trains. 713-14.

Question re—

Abolition of the title "His Excellency" used by Indian Governors. 103.

Allegations against Commander of Boundary Forces. 852.

Appointment of a Labour Officer at Cochin Port. 454.

Appointment of Ambassadors, Agents-General and Representatives. 454-55.

Categories of menial Government servants. 198.

Evacuation of troops from India and Pakistan. 582.

Indian Military Mission in Germany. 102.

Number of high ranking Indian Army Officers and the place of Supreme Commander in India's Forces. 581-82.

Repatriation of Indians from Germany. 102.

Rescue of abducted Hindu and Sikh women from West Punjab and rehabilitation of refugees. 102-03.

Statement re Scholarships awarded for studies abroad. 352.

Resolution re Amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 832, 1090-91.

VETERINARY—

Question re Directorate for Remounts and — Services. 1134-35.

VICE-CHANCELLOR—

Question re emergency powers of — of Delhi University. 685.

VICEROY COMMISSIONED OFFICER(S)—

Question re—

Appointment of — to civilian gazetted posts. 1599.

Differential treatment of — for civilian posts vis-a-vis K.C.Os. 1598-99.

Ineligibility of — to civilian gazetted posts. 1603.

VIET-NAM—

Question re India's help to the —. 91.

VIJAYAVARGIYA, SHRI GOPIKRISHNA—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Labour

Extra Provincial Jurisdiction Bill. 1576-77.

Indian Trade Unions (Amendment) Bill. 125-26.

Question (Supplementary) re Industrialization of India. 681.

Resolution re organisation of a National Militia. 804-09.

VILLAGE(S)—

Question re—

Installation of radio set in —. 344.

Retrocession of — in Ajmer-Merwara to the Mewar and Marwar States in 1938. 589-90.

VYAS, SHRI JAINARAYAN—

Election of — to Standing Committee for Ministry of Home Affairs. 704.

Election of — to Standing Finance Committee for Railways. 331.

Motion re—

Election to Central Advisory Council for Railways. 56-57.

Food Policy of the Government of India. 1652-55.

Press (Special Powers) Bill. 274-78.

Question re—

Discontentment among Jodhpur Railway Staff. 343-44.

Safety of railway travel. 964.

Question (Supplementary) re evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from Sind. 791.

Resolution re Indian States (Protection against Disaffection) Act. 1108.

W

WAGES—

Question re — to refugee workers at Kurukshetra. 1779.

WAGES BILL—

See "Minimum —" under "Bill(s)".

WAGONS—

Question re—

Detention of railway — in Pakistan. 1458.

Diversion of petrol — to Pakistan. 1445.

Insufficient supply of — to B. N. Railway. 1462.

Non-return of — from Pakistan. 1227-28.

Pilfering of — on B. N. Railway. 1696.

Release of — occupied by staff on B. N. Railway. 1696.

— for fire-wood. 1697-98.

— for transporting coal. 1219-20.

WAITING ROOM(S)—

Question re provision of ladies' — and water at Hajipur station. 314.

WALTAIR—

Question re appeal against conviction of Sri Borra Appala Narayana Reddi of —. 34.

WAR—

Question re—

Maintenance of aerodromes constructed during —. 846-47.

Purchase of British — material by Hyderabad State. 853-54.

Purchase of British — material by Pakistan Government. 853.

Temporary accommodation for Forces during —. 177-78.

WARDHA—

Question re—

Implementation of the recommendations of All-India Leprosy Workers' Conference held at —. 575.

Recommendation re Control of leprosy by All-India Leprosy Workers' Conference held at —. 842.

— Education Scheme. 1369-70.

WATER—

Question re—

Provision of ladies' waiting room and — at Hajipur station. 314.

Supply of drinking — in G. I. P. and E. I. Railways. 306-07.

WEAPON(S)—

See "Arms".

WELFARE—

Question re—

— institutions for Military and Anglo-Indian Children. 1126-27.

— of backward classes. 1285.

— Officers and their staff on N. W. Railway. 27-28.

WEST BENGAL—

Question re—

Movement of East Bengal Hindus to —. 1539-41.

Pisciculture of fish in —. 1694.

Potato seed for —. 1441-43.

Soap Factories in —. 1454.

WEST PUNJAB—

Question re—

Casualties and loss to Hindu-Sikh evacuees from —. 87.

Casualties and loss to Non-Muslims and Muslims in — and East Punjab. 87.

Conversion of Hindus and Sikhs in — and N.W.F.P. 453.

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from —. 1117-18.

Evacuation of Hindus and Sikhs from — and N.W.F.P. 453.

136 INDEX TO CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY (LEGISLATIVE) DEBATES

WEST PUNJAB—contd.

Question re—contd.

- News Agency for ——. 83.
- Rehabilitation of —— refugees. 1760-61.
- Release of Muslim communal riot convicts by Governments of —— and Sind. 782.
- Rescue of abducted Hindu and Sikh women from —— and rehabilitation of refugees. 102-03.
- Responsibility of Muslim personnel of Boundary Force for —— atrocities. 805.
- Students evacuated from ——. 1044-45.

WHEAT—

- Question re—
- Import of ——. 968-69.
- Irregular supply of —— and sugar rations in Ajmer and Beawar. 697-98.
- Procurement of paddy and ——. 978-79.
- Rice and —— purchased from outside India. 977-78.

WIDOWS—

- Question re Homes for refugee —— and children. 1034-36.

WILSON, MR. T. J. M.—

- Motion re Food policy of the Government of India. 1659-61.

WITHDRAWAL FROM RESERVE—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

WITHOUT PORTFOLIO, MINISTRY—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.

WOMAN(EN)—

- Question re—
- Rescue of abducted Hindu and Sikh —— from West Punjab and rehabilitation of refugees. 102-03.
- Employed under the Central Government. 24-26.
- 's homes and orphanages. 1764.
- See also "Prevention of Forcible and Fraudulent Conversion of Hindu ——" under "Bill(s)".

WORKER(S)—

- Question re—
- Housing scheme for industrial ——. 1513-14.
- Wages to refugees —— at Kurukshetra. 1779.
- See also "Labourer(s)".

WORKING EXPENSES—ADMINISTRATION—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

WORKING EXPENSES—APPROPRIATION TO DEPRECIATION FUND—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

WORKING EXPENSES—OPERATING STAFF—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

WORKING EXPENSES—OPERATION (FUEL)—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

WORKING EXPENSES—OPERATION OTHER THAN STAFF AND FUEL—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

WORKING EXPENSES—REPAIRS AND MAINTENANCE—

- Demand for Grant. 745.

WORKMEN'S STATE INSURANCE BILL—

- See "Bill(s)".

WORKS, MINES AND POWER, MINISTRY OF—

- Demand for Grant. 1345.
- Election to Standing Committee for the ——. 981-82.

WORKSHOPS—

- Question re—
- Construction of Kanchrapara ——. 1209.
- Railway —— in India and Pakistan. 1457-58.

INDEX TO CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY (LEGISLATIVE) DEBATES

137

Y

YARN—

- Motion to reduce demand for 'Ministry of Industry and Supply'—Removal of control over cloth, —— and commodities other than food. 1265-71, 1239-1315.
- Question re production of mill —— and cloth. 1205-07.

YASHWANT RAI, PROF.—

- Election of —— to All India Council for Technical Education. 1703.
- Election of —— to Standing Committee for Ministry of Education. 703.
- Election of —— to Standing Committee for Ministry of Food. 703.
- Resolution re Amelioration of the condition of Scheduled Castes. 1066-68.

Z

ZAMINDARY—

- Question re abolition of —— System. 694.

ZOOLOGICAL SURVEY—

- Demand for Grant. 1346.

D

V2,3) N47

N47.1/03