SUPERVISION OF NICARAGUAN ELECTION

Mr. Norris, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 164), which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas on March 6 (calendar day, March 7), 1928, the Committee on Foreign Relations made a report to the Senate (Rept. No. 498, 70th Cong., 1st sess.) upon S. J. Res. 57, in which report the committee states that the Government of the United States made an agreement with the Government of Nicaragua to supervise an election in Nicaragua, and that by virtue of said agreement the so-called liberal faction in Nicaragua had laid down their arms upon the promise of the United States Government to supervise said election, and that to withdraw our troops at this time from Nicaragua would be a violation of said agreement; and

Whereas it appears from said report that the President of the United States had been requested by the Nicaraguan Government to supervise the election in that country in 1928 and had accepted such request, and that the President, through his personal representative, Henry L. Stimson, had notified the liberal faction in Nicaragua of such acceptance and of his intention to supervise such election, and that he intended to supervise said election regardless of what action might be taken by the liberal faction in said country, and that under these conditions the liberal forces, under said ultimatum, had surrendered their arms and agreed to such supervision on the part of the armed forces of the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Relations, after making such investigation as in its judgment is proper, is hereby directed to report to the Senate:

1. What, if any, authority did the President of the United States have to accept such invitation on the part of the Nicaraguan Government to supervise an election in Nicaragua?

2. If the committee finds that the President of the United States did have such authority, then it is directed to report to the Senate whether, in its judgment, the same authority does not give the President of the United States the right to supervise any election in any foreign country.

3. If the President of the United States does not possess authority to use the Army and the Navy of the United States to supervise elections in foreign countries, then the committee is hereby directed to report to the Senate, by bill or otherwise, the necessary legislation that will prevent such illegal use of the armed forces of the United States in the future.

4. If the President of the United States has authority, under existing law, to use the Army and the Navy of the United States to supervise an election in Nicaragua, has he not the same authority to use the same forces in the supervision of an election in any other foreign country?

5. Will the use of the Army and the Navy of the United States in supervising elections in foreign countries have a tendency to bring on war between our Government and foreign nations where such supervisory authority is attempted?

6. If the President of the United States, under existing law, has authority to use the Army and the Navy to supervise elections in foreign countries, does he possess the same authority to use the armed forces of the United States to supervise elections in different States of the Union and would such use of the Army and the Navy of the United States be advisable in cases where the Senate has official information of corruption taking place in State elections where Members of the Senate and House of Representatives are elected?

On motion by Mr. Harrison to further amend the joint resolution by striking out all after the resolving clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

That the United States nitrate fixation plants numbered 1 and 2, located, respectively, at Sheffield, Alabama, and Muscle Shoals, Alabama, together with all real estate and buildings used in connection therewith; all tools, machinery, equipment, accessories, and materials thereunto belonging; all laboratories and plants used as auxiliaries thereto, the Waco limestone quarry in Alabama, and any others used as auxiliaries of said nitrogen plants numbered 1 and 2; also Dam Numbered 2, located in the Tennessee River at Muscle Shoals, its power house, its auxiliary steam plants, and all of its hydroelectric and operating appurtenances, together with all machines, lands, and buildings now owned or hereafter acquired in connection therewith, are hereby dedicated and set apart to be used for national defense in time of war and for the production of fertilizers and other useful products in time of peace.

Sec. 2. Whenever in the national defense the United States shall require all or any part of the operating facilities and properties or renewals and additions thereto, described and enumerated in the foregoing paragraph of this act, for the production of materials necessary in the manufacture of explosives or other war materials, then the United States shall have the immediate right, upon five days' notice to any person or persons, corporation, or agent in possession of, controlling, or operating said property under any claim of title whatsoever, to take over and operate the same in whole or in part, together with the use of all patented processes which the United States may need in the operation of said property for national defense.

The foregoing clauses shall not be construed as modified, amended, or repealed by any of the subsequent sections or paragraphs of this act, or by introduction of any other act.

Sec. 3. In order that the United States may have at all times an adequate supply of nitrogen for the manufacture of powder and other explosives, whether said property is operated and controlled directly by the Government or its agents, lessees, or assigns, under any and all circumstances at least ten thousand tons the third year, twenty thousand tons the fourth year, thirty thousand tons the fifth year, and thereafter forty thousand tons of fixed nitrogen must be produced annually on and with said property, and no lease, transfer, or assignment of said property shall be legal or binding on the United States unless such adequate annual production of fixed nitrogen is guaranteed in such lease, transfer, or assignment.

Sec. 4. Since the production and manufacture of commercial fertilizers is the largest consumer of fixed nitrogen in time of peace, and its manufacture, sale, and distribution to farmers and other users, at fair prices and without excessive profits, in large quantities throughout the country is only second in importance to the national defense in time of war, the production of fixed nitrogen as provided for in this act shall be used, when not required for national defense, in the manufacture of commercial fertilizers. In order that the experiments heretofore ordered made may have a practical demonstration, and to carry out the purposes of this act, the lessee or the corporation shall manufacture nitrogen and other commercial fertilizers, mixed or unmixed, and with or without filler, according to demand, on the property hereinbefore enumerated, or at such other plant or plants near thereto as it may construct, using the most economic source of power available, with an annual production of these fertilizers that shall contain fixed nitrogen of at least ten thousand tons the third year, twenty thousand tons the fourth year, thirty thousand tons the fifth year, and forty thousand tons the sixth year: Provided, That if after due tests, and the practical demonstration of six years herein provided for, it is demonstrated to the satisfaction of the lessee or the corporation that nitrates can not be manufactured by it without loss, the lessee or the corporation shall cease such manufacture and shall report to the Congress all pertinent facts with respect to such costs with its recommendation for such action as the Congress may deem advisable.

The farmers and other users of fertilizer shall be supplied with fertilizers at prices which shall not exceed 8 per centum above the cost of production.

Sec. 5. That the President is hereby authorized and empowered to lease the properties, either separately or as a whole, enumerated under section 1 of this act, with proper guarantees for the performance of the terms of the lease, for a period not to exceed fifty years: Provided, That said lease shall be made only to an American citizen, or citizens, or to an American owned, officered, and controlled corporation; and, if leased, in the event at any time the ownership in fact or the control of such corporation should directly or indirectly come into the hands of an alien or aliens, or into the hands of an alien owned or controlled corporation or organization, then said lease shall at once terminate and the properties be restored to the United States. The Attorney General of the United States is given full power and authority, and it is hereby made his duty to proceed at once in the courts for cancellation of said lease in the event said properties are found to be alien owned or controlled and are not voluntarily restored. The lessee being required and obligated to carry out in the production of nitrogen and the manufacture and sale of commercial fertilizer the purposes and terms enumerated in sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 of this act, and such other terms not inconsistent therewith as may be agreed to in the lease contract. The lessee shall pay an annual rental for the use of said property an amount that shall not be less than 4 per centum on the total sum of money expended in the building and construction of Dam Numbered 2 at Muscle Shoals and the purchase and emplacement of all works and machinery built or installed in connection therewith for the production of hydroelectric power: Provided, That in addition to the annual rental herein stipulated, the lessee shall set up and maintain an adequate reserve as fixed in the lease for depreciation, upon which the United States shall have a prior lien, in connection with the following properties, to wit: (1) Dam Numbered 2 and power equipment; (2) the steam-electric plants at nitrate plants Numbered 1 and Numbered 2; and (3) nitrate plant Numbered 2. Such reserve for depreciation shall at all times be of such an amount that when added to the physical value of such property at any time shall at least equal the appraised value thereof when turned over to the lessee: Provided further, That in case of nitrate plant Numbered 1, excluding power plant, the value thereof shall be appraised at the time said property is turned over to the lessee and provision made in lease for the lessee's accounting for the value of such property at the termination of lease. The lease shall also provide the terms and conditions under which the lessee may sell and dispose of the surplus electric power created at said plants. The lease shall also provide for the protection of navigation at said Dam Numbered 2 and the operation of the locks connected therewith. The lease contemplated in this section shall be made with the understanding that the United States shall complete and have ready for operation Dam Numbered 2 and the locks connected therewith, together with the plants and machinery for the production of electric power, and that after the lease is entered into the lessee shall maintain the property covered by the lease in good repair and working condition for the term of the contract.

Time shall be made of the essence of the contract herein provided for, and failure on the part of the lessee to comply with the terms of said contract shall render the same terminable at the option of the United States, provided that written notice of the exercise of such option shall be served upon the lessee at any time within one year following any breach of said contract. Whereupon the property covered by said lease shall be turned over, without expense, to the United States upon demand, and the said lessee shall be liable for any damage sustained by the United States as a consequence of said lease and the acts of said lessee.

Sec. 6. In the event the President is unable to make a lease under the terms of the power herein granted to him before the 1st day of September, 1928, then the United States shall maintain and operate said properties described in section 1, in compliance with the terms and conditions set forth in sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 of this act, and under the power and authority prescribed and granted in the following sections of this act.

Sec. 7. That the President is hereby authorized and empowered to designate any five persons to act as an organization committee for the purpose of organizing a corporation under authority of, and for the purposes enumerated in, this act.

Organization

The persons so designated shall, under their seals, make an organization certificate, which shall specifically state the name of the corporation to be organized, the place in which its principal office is to be located, the amount of capital stock, and the number of shares into which the same is divided, and the fact that the certificate is made to enable the corporation formed to avail itself of the advantages of this act. The name of the corporation shall be the Muscle Shoals Corporation.

The said organization certificate shall be acknowledged before a judge of some court of record or notary public, and shall be together with acknowledgment thereof, authenticated by the seal of such notary or court, transmitted to the President, who shall file, record, and carefully preserve the same in his office. Fifth, to appoint by its board of directors such officers and employees as are not otherwise provided for in this act; to define their duties, to fix their salaries, in its discretion to re-define bonds of any of them, and to fix the penalty thereof, and to dismiss at pleasure any of such officers or employees;

Sixth, to prescribe by its board of directors by-laws not inconsistent with law regulating the manner in which its general business may be conducted and the privileges granted to it by law may be exercised and enjoyed; and

Seventh, to exercise by its board of directors or duly authorized officers or agents all powers specifically granted by the provisions of this act and such incidental powers as shall be necessary to carry on the business for which it is incorporated within the limitations prescribed by this act, but such corporation shall transact no business except such as is incidental and necessary preliminary to its organization until it has been authorized by the President to commence business under the provisions of this act.

The corporation shall be conducted under the supervision and control of a board of directors, consisting of five members, to be selected by the President. The directors so appointed shall hold office at the pleasure of the board, who shall have power to designate a chairman of the board, who shall have power to designate one of the others as vice chairman. The vice chairman shall perform the duties of chairman in the absence of the chairman. Not more than two of such directors shall be appointed from offices in the War Department.

The board of directors shall perform the duties usually appertaining to the office of directors of private corporations and such other duties as are prescribed by law.

The corporation shall have power—

In the operation,

maintenance, and development of the plants purchased or acquired under this act the corporation shall be free from the limitations or restrictions imposed by the act of June 3, 1916, and shall be subject only to the limitations and restrictions of this act.

Capital stock and bonds

The capital stock of the corporation shall consist of one hundred shares of common stock of no par value. Sec. 12. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, or part of this act shall for any reason be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

Sec. 13. No lease made under the terms of this act shall be transferred without the approval of the President of the United States.

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

Mr. Couzens submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 173):

Whereas the Senate of the United States has since October 23, 1923, been investigating the disposition of our naval oil reserves; and

Whereas for nearly all of this time there have been new developments until up to the present time there has been disclosed the worst trail of fraud and corruption in public life that has existed in our history; and

Whereas for considerably over four years Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, has been familiar with the relationship of Harry F. Sinclair to the Republican National Committee of that period, and which relationship disclosed that the said committee received at least $100,000 of Liberty bonds from Harry F. Sinclair to pay the committee's indebtedness for the 1920 campaign; and

Whereas in November, 1923, Andrew W. Mellon was informed of the source of these bonds and received from the chairman of said committee $50,000 of the bonds; and

Whereas it is true that he returned these bonds, yet he at no time revealed this information until it was indicated from another source; and

Whereas the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate have been holding hearings on Resolution 105, to investigate the conditions in certain bituminous-coal fields; and

Whereas in the course of this investigation the Pittsburgh Coal Co., a Mellon enterprise, it has been disclosed, has done everything it could to defeat obtaining accurate findings as to its mines by the issuance of the following order:

"To all mine superintendents:

"The United States Senate investigating committee is now visiting the Pittsburgh district. Clean up all unsightly conditions. Keep our police in the background. Avoid all arrests. Instruct our men to keep out of trouble. If the committee desires to question any of our employees, see to it that you present men you can trust and who can be depended upon to give the right kind of answers. If you are examined by the committee, do not answer any questions you think might be harmful to our interests. The company will protect you. The company has mailed a spirited letter to each individual employee. If you know of any unsatisfactory condition in company camps or barracks, see that it is eliminated at once.

"(Signed) THE PITTSBURGH COAL CO."

And

Whereas the Senate of the United States has condemned the expense of $786,934 in behalf of William S. Vare in a recent election contest in Pennsylvania, and yet in the same contest $1,804,979 was expended in behalf of another candidate; and

Whereas Andrew W. Mellon was a large contributor to this campaign, was a participant as a speaker, and defended contributions to this campaign on the ground that they were like unto contributions to a church; and

Whereas section 243 of the Revised Statutes of the United States makes it a criminal offense for "any person appointed to the office of the Secretary of the Treasury" to be "directly or indirectly concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce"; and

Whereas Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, is a stockholder and therefore is "directly and indirectly interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce" in corporations such as Gulf Oil Corporation, Gulf Refining Corporation, Gulf Production Co., Gulf Pipeline Co., Gulf Refining Co. of Louisiana, Gypsy Oil Co., Gulf Pipeline Co. of Oklahoma, Mexican Gulf Oil Co., Southern American Gulf Oil Co., Panama Gulf Oil Co., Aluminum Co. of America, and other corporations named by former Senator Ernst in a speech prepared in the Treasury Department and as recorded in the Congressional Record of March 14, 1925; and

Whereas the Senate of the United States in the only analogous case of record declared that the Secretary of the Treasury could not be financially interested in trade or commerce; and

Whereas the Government of the United States was defrauded out of $91,000 in the tax case of the Mellon National Bank, the Union Trust Co., and the Union Savings Bank while Andrew W. Mellon was Secretary of the Treasury; and

Whereas Andrew W. Mellon, as Secretary of the Treasury, benefited through indefensible decisions in the tax case of the Gulf Oil Co., as disclosed by the select committee of the Senate appointed to investigate the Bureau of Internal Revenue; and

Whereas there was much evidence of corruption, favoritism, violation of the law, and illegal settlements with certain large taxpayers reported by the select committee of the Senate appointed to investigate the Internal Revenue Bureau; and

Whereas Andrew W. Mellon was responsible for this condition; and

Whereas throughout all of the administration of said Andrew W. Mellon there runs an indifference to the law, a contempt for the law, a defiance of the law; and

Whereas an indifference to law, a defiance of law, and contempt for law upon the part of those sworn to uphold and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States breeds and encourages indifference and disrespect for law upon the part of other employees of the Government and upon the part of citizens and thereby contributes to and does undermine and eventually will destroy the Government of the United States; and

Whereas the Senate of the United States has confirmed the appointment of Andrew W. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury, and to that extent has assumed responsibility for him; Therefore be it Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that Andrew W. Mellon should resign as Secretary of the Treasury.

Ordered, That it lie over one day under the rule.

USE OF WATERS OF COLORADO RIVER AND RIO GRANDE

Mr. King submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 181):

Whereas by act of Congress approved May 13, 1924, the President was authorized to designate three special commissioners to cooperate with the United States of Mexico for the purpose of studying the equitable use of the waters of the Rio Grande River below Fort Quitman, Tex., with a view to the proper utilization of said waters for irrigation and other beneficial uses; and

Whereas by joint resolution approved March 3, 1927, said act of May 13, 1924, was so amended that said commission was required also to study the question of the equitable use of the waters of the lower Colorado River for the purpose of securing information upon which to base a treaty with the Government of Mexico relative to the use of the waters of both the Rio Grande and the Colorado Rivers; and

Whereas the President appointed three commissioners, Dr. Elwood Mead, Gen. Lansing H. Beach, and W. E. Anderson, to meet with representatives of Mexico to consider the matters and questions involved in said act of May 13, 1924, and said joint resolution, and said commissioners are now meeting and carrying on negotiations with commissioners of the United States of Mexico; and

Whereas it is claimed that said commissioners are considering whether additional water from the Rio Grande River supplied by tributaries arising in Mexico may be had for use on lands in the State of Texas, and the question of confirming claims made by American citizens to the waters from said river heretofore used upon lands in the State of Texas, and also the question as to what, if any, water from the Colorado River Mexico or its nationals are entitled to; and

Whereas the waters of the Colorado River have their origin in the United States and not in Mexico and are required for the domestic needs of the citizens of the United States and for the irrigation of lands within the United States, and the granting of any of the waters of the Colorado River to Mexico, except such limited amount as may have been used for the cultivation of lands in Mexico, would infringe upon the rights of the United States and the sovereign States of Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, and California, as well as many citizens of the United States, and would result in irreparable injury to the United States and said sovereign States and citizens of said States; that any treaty that might attempt to limit the rights of the United States or said sovereign States or citizens of the United States, or to interfere with their ownership of or their rights in and to the waters of the Colorado River, would constitute an invasion of their rights; Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Interior be, and they are hereby, directed to transmit to the Senate copies of all instructions given by said departments to said commissioners, including communications made by the Reclamation Service to said commissioners or persons interested in the negotiation of a treaty between the United States and Mexico regarding the waters of said rivers, and the disposition, allocation, or control of the same, and also copies of all communications between the United States and Mexico concerning the duties and work of said commissioners relating to the distribution, allocation, or control of the waters of said rivers.

Ordered, That it lie on the table.

INVESTIGATION OF PATENT OFFICE PROCEDURE

Mr. King submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 188), which was referred to the Committee on Patents:

Whereas there are awaiting action in the United States Patent Office more than 95,000 applications for patents, many of which have been pending without action for from six to eight months; and

Whereas it usually requires from two to seven years after application for a patent to issue from the Patent Office, during which time the applicant is powerless to protect his invention against infringers, with the result that inventions which might be effective in promoting new industries often, because of the delay in the Patent Office, lose their effectiveness and value; and

Whereas the procedure of the Patent Office to determine priority of invention as between applicants claiming the same invention is unsatisfactory and expensive, and attempts to adjudicate valuable rights between parties without the procedure and facilities of equity courts of the United States, which permits such Patent Office to practice to be abused by unscrupulous parties to exhaust the resources of bona fide inventors and to delay and prevent the issue of patents to applicants who are justly entitled thereto; and

Whereas the practice of the Patent Office in interference cases operates in many instances to cause forfeiture and abandonment of valid applications for patentable inventions; and

Whereas it is claimed that the present practice of the Patent Office tends to give undue advantage to unscrupulous persons who intervene dishonestly in order to prevent the issue of patents to competing inventions and who otherwise throw applications into interference in order to extort and exact money as an inducement to waive adverse claims; and

Whereas it is claimed that patents of great advantage to the industry and economy of the country have been and are being bought up by trusts and monopolies in order to prevent the use of such inventions by competitors, which practice results in the suppression of such inventions as far as service to the industries of the country is concerned; and

Whereas it is claimed that patented inventions affecting certain industries are by a system of exclusive cross-licensing

made the instruments of monopolistic domination of such industries: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the President of the Senate appoint a special committee to consist of five Senators, which committee is authorized to investigate and appraise the present practice and procedure of the United States Patent Office, to discover any evils which may exist in relation thereto and particularly any evils which may exist with respect to the practice and procedure in interference cases, to study ways and means for revising and improving Patent Office procedure, to investigate the extent to which suppression of the use of patents and the cross licensing of patents contribute to monopoly or to the monopolistic control of industry; and to recommend such amendatory and corrective legislation as may be found to be necessary to correct abuses and to insure the maximum of protection to inventors, to scientists, and to the industries of the country; said committee is authorized to administer oaths, to send for persons and papers, to employ necessary clerical and technical assistance, to sit during the recesses of Congress, and is instructed to report at the first session of the Senate of the Seventy-first Congress.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 11133) making appropriations for the government of the District of Columbia and other activities chargeable in whole or in part against the revenues of such District for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, and for other purposes.

On the question of agreeing to the following reported amendment, viz, strike out all after line 2, on page 1, down to and including line 10, on page 2, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

That in order to defray the expenses of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, 40 per centum of each of the following sums, except those herein directed to be paid otherwise, is appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and all the remainder out of the combined revenues of the District of Columbia, and the tax rate in effect in the fiscal year 1928 on real estate and tangible personal property subject to taxation in the District of Columbia shall be continued for the fiscal year 1929, namely,

Mr. King raised a question of order, viz, that the amendment proposed general legislation, and was therefore not in order on a general appropriation bill under Rule XVI.

After debate,

"The Chair, upon investigation, finds that in the District of Columbia appropriation act approved June 29, 1922, a provision was incorporated fixing a 60-40 basis of expenditures annually for the District and Federal Governments, respectively, from and after July 1, 1922, with certain exceptions, and further authorizing a tax rate on tangible and intangible property necessary to bring the amount to be paid by the District of Columbia government up to the 60 per cent prescribed in the law.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH TURKEY

Mr. King, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 194):

Whereas by treaty of commerce and navigation concluded May 7, 1830, proclaimed February 4, 1832; by treaty of commerce and navigation concluded February 25, 1862, proclaimed July 2, 1862; by extradition treaty concluded August 11, 1874, proclaimed May 26, 1875; and by protocol on right to hold real estate in Turkey, proclaimed October 29, 1874, provision was made for the regulation of relations between the United States of America and Turkey; and

Whereas by Title XLVII of the Revised Statutes, and particularly section 4125 thereof, the Congress provided legislation for carrying into effect such treaty of 1830; and

Whereas on April 20, 1917, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Turkey presented to the ambassador from the United States the following:

Sublime porte
MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS,
OFFICE OF THE MINISTER,
April 20, 1917.

No. 95995/172.

Mr. AMBASSADOR: The Embassy of the United States of America having informed the Imperial Ministry of Foreign Affairs by its note verbale of April 8, 1917, No. 242, that its Government is in a state of war with the German Empire, I have the honor to inform your excellency that the Imperial Ottoman Government, ally of this Empire, is obliged to break its diplomatic relations with the Government of the United States of America beginning from to-day.

Please accept, Mr. Ambassador, the assurance of my highest esteem.

(Signed) AHMED NESSIMLI

His Excellency, Mr. ELKUS,
Ambassador of the United States of America.

And

Whereas it has been urged that this breaking off of diplomatic relations with the Government of the United States of America operated to annul and abrogate all treaties between the United States and Turkey; and

Whereas the breaking off of diplomatic relations was based entirely on the fact that the Government of the United States was in a state of war with the German Empire, an ally of Turkey; and

Whereas it is a well-recognized principle of international law that a treaty can not be so abrogated unilaterally and that severance of diplomatic relations does not, ipso facto, terminate treaties made between sovereign powers; and

Whereas it is believed that the severance of diplomatic relations as embodied in the above communication from the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Turkey would not affect the status of existing treaties between the United States and Turkey; and

Whereas it is believed that such treaties continued and still continue in full force and effect; and

Whereas on January 18, 1927, the Senate refused to advise and consent to the treaty to regulate general relations between the United States and Turkey, signed at Lausanne, Switzerland, on August 6, 1923; and

Whereas, subsequently to such refusal, on February 17, 1927, Admiral M. L. Bristol, acting presumably under instructions from the President, exchanged notes with the Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs wherein it was agreed that the United States would establish diplomatic relations with Turkey upon the principles of international law and proceed to the appointment of ambassadors as soon as possible, such notes constituting the so-called modus vivendi of February 18, 1927; and

Whereas Moukhtar Bey has been designated by the Kemal Government as Turkish ambassador to the United States and has been received by the President as such ambassador; and

Whereas on May 20, 1927, and during a recess of the Senate, the President made a recess appointment of Joseph C. Grew as ambassador to Turkey; and

Whereas the nomination of Joseph C. Grew as ambassador to Turkey was submitted to the Senate December 9, 1927; and

Whereas such modus vivendi purports to reestablish normal diplomatic and treaty relations with Turkey when, as a matter of fact, such relations are governed by the above treaties, which have not been abrogated; and

Whereas by the preamble to the Lausanne treaty the parties agree to "regulate the conditions of intercourse and residence of their nationals on their respective territories and to reestablish their consular and commercial relations in accordance with the principles of international law and on the basis of complete reciprocity * * *," and such modus vivendi also proposes to "regulate, in accordance with the principles of international law and on a basis of complete reciprocity the commercial and consular relations * * *"; and

Whereas it is believed that the President can resume relations with Turkey, if at all, on the basis only of the treaty of 1830, and the supplemental treaties above referred to, or on the basis of a new treaty to be entered into and ratified by the Senate in accordance with the Constitution; and

Whereas such modus vivendi is relied upon by the State Department as the basis for the reception of Moukhtar Bey as ambassador from Turkey, the recess appointment of Joseph C. Grew as ambassador to Turkey, and the subsequent submission of the nomination of Joseph C. Grew as ambassador to Turkey; and

Whereas it is recognized that a modus vivendi is but a temporary arrangement entered into by Executive agreement without the advice and consent of the Senate, and merely contemplates temporary action until the completion of negotiations will give the Senate an opportunity to pass upon the subject matter in the form of a treaty; and

Whereas action by the Executive, after rejection of a treaty, undertaking to put into effect the terms of such treaty, will deprive the Senate of its power to advise and consent in the making of treaties and constitute an attempt to supersede the supreme law of the land by Executive action; and

Whereas such modus vivendi is not only futile and ineffectual as an attempted provision for diplomatic relations already covered by treaties ratified and in effect but is also illegal, null, and void, and of no effect by reason of its attempted undertaking of action already rejected by the Senate in the form of a treaty; Therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that (1) resumption of diplomatic relations with Turkey otherwise than on the basis of the treaty of 1830 and supplemental treaties of 1862 and 1874, (2) the reception of Moukhtar Bey as Turkish ambassador to the United States, (3) the recess appointment of Joseph C. Grew as ambassador to Turkey, and (4) the subsequent submission to the Senate of the nomination of Joseph C. Grew as ambassador to Turkey, were invalid acts on the part of the Executive, subversive of the harmonious relations which should exist between the Executive and legislative departments of the Government, and constitute a serious and unwarranted infringement by the Executive on the constitutional powers of the Senate and a violation of both the spirit and letter of the Constitution.

Ordered, That it lie on the table.

EQUALIZATION FEE

SEC. 8. (a) In order to carry out marketing and nonpremium insurance agreements in respect of any agricultural commodity without loss to the revolving fund, each marketed unit of such agricultural commodity shall, throughout any marketing period in respect of such commodity, contribute ratably its equitable share of the losses, costs, and charges arising out of such agreements. Such contributions shall be made by means of an equalization fee apportioned and paid as a regulation of interstate and foreign commerce in the commodity. It shall be the duty of the board to apportion and collect such fee in respect of such commodity as hereinafter provided.

(b) Prior to the commencement of any marketing period in respect of any agricultural commodity, and thereafter from time to time during such marketing period, the board shall estimate the probable losses, costs, and charges to be paid under marketing agreements in respect of such commodity or under nonpremium insurance agreements in respect of such commodity as hereinafter provided. Upon the basis of such estimates there shall be from time to time determined, and if such estimates are concurred in by a majority of the advisory council for such commodity, the board shall publish the amount of the equalization fee (if any is required under such estimates) for each unit of weight, measure, or value designated by the board, to be collected upon such unit of such agricultural commodity during any part of the marketing period for the commodity. Such amount is referred to in this act as the "equalization fee." At the time of determining and publishing any equalization fee the board shall specify the time during which the particular fee shall remain in effect and the place and manner of its payment and collection.

(c) Under such regulations as the board may prescribe, any equalization fee so published by the board shall be paid, in respect of each marketed unit of such commodity, upon one of the following: The transportation, processing, or sale of such unit. The equalization fee shall not be collected more than once in respect of any unit. The board shall determine, in the case of each class of transactions in the commodity, whether the equalization fee shall be paid upon transportation, processing, or sale. The board shall make such determination upon the basis of the most effective and economical means of collecting the fee with respect to each unit of the commodity marketed during the marketing period.

(d) The board may by regulation require any person engaged in the transportation, processing, or acquisition by purchase of any agricultural commodity—

(1) To file returns under oath and to report, in respect of his transportation, processing, or acquisition of such commodity, the amount of equalization fees payable thereon, and such other facts as may be necessary for their payment or collection.

(2) To collect the equalization fee as directed by the board and to account therefor.

(e) The board, under regulations prescribed by it, is authorized to pay to any such person required to collect such fees a reasonable charge for his services.

(f) Every person who, in violation of the regulations prescribed by the board, fails to collect or account for any equalization fee shall be liable for its amount and to a penalty equal to one-half its amount. Such amount and penalty may be recovered together in a civil suit brought by the board in the name of the United States.

(g) As used in this section—

(1) In the case of grain the term "processing" means milling of grain for market or the first processing in any manner for market (other than cleaning or drying) of grain not so milled,

and the term "sale" means a sale or other disposition in the United States of grain for milling or other processing for market, for resale, or for delivery by a common carrier—occurring during a marketing period in respect of grain.

(2) In the case of cotton the term "processing" means spinning, milling or any manufacturing of cotton other than ginning; the term "sale" means a sale or other disposition in the United States of cotton for spinning, milling, or any manufacturing other than ginning, or for delivery outside the United States; and the term "transportation" means the acceptance of cotton by a common carrier for delivery to any person for spinning, milling, or any manufacturing of cotton other than ginning, or for delivery outside the United States—occurring during a marketing period in respect of cotton.

(3) In the case of livestock the term "processing" means slaughter for market by a purchaser of livestock, and the term "sale" means a sale or other disposition in the United States of livestock destined for slaughter for market without intervening holding for feeding (other than feeding in transit) or fattening—occurring during a marketing period in respect of livestock.

(4) In the case of tobacco, the term "sale" means a sale or other disposition to any dealer in leaf tobacco or to any registered manufacturer of the products of tobacco. The term "tobacco" means leaf tobacco, stemmed or unstemmed.

(5) In the case of grain, livestock, and tobacco, the term "transportation" means the acceptance of a commodity by a common carrier for delivery.

(6) In the case of any agricultural commodity other than grain, cotton, livestock, or tobacco, the board shall, in connection with its specification of the place and manner of payment and collection of the equalization fee, further specify the particular type of processing, sale, or transportation in respect of which the equalization fee is to be paid and collected.

(7) The term "sale" does not include a transfer to a cooperative association for the purpose of sale or other disposition by such association on account of the transferor; nor a transfer by title in pursuance of a contract entered into before, and at a specified price determined before, the commencement of a marketing period in respect of the agricultural commodity. In case of the transfer of title in pursuance of a contract entered into after the commencement of a marketing period in respect of the agricultural commodity, but entered into at a time when, and at a specified price determined at a time during which a particular equalization fee is in effect, then the equalization fee applicable in respect of such transfer of title shall be the equalization fee in effect at the time when such specified price was determined.

The bill having been further amended on the motion of Mr. McKellar, the motion of Mr. Heflin, the motion of Mr. Shipstead, and the motion of Mr. Kendrick;

On motion by Mr. Brookhart to further amend the bill by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Definition

Section 1. As used in this act—

The term "agricultural products" means agricultural, horticultural, viticultural, and dairy products, livestock, and products thereof, the products of poultry and bee raising, the edible products of forestry, and any and all products raised or produced on farms and processed or manufactured products thereof, transported or intended to be transported in interstate or foreign commerce.

Sec. 2. That three persons (who shall be the directors first appointed as hereinafter provided) are hereby created a body corporate and politic in deed and in law, by the name, style, and title of the farmers' national export cooperative, hereinafter called "the cooperative," and the directorate are designated as "the board."

Sec. 3. The capital stock of the cooperative shall be $250,000, all of which shall be in the first instance subscribed by the United States of America, and such subscriptions shall be called upon the vote of the majority of the directors of the cooperative at such time or times as may be deemed advisable. There is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $250,000,000, also so much thereof as may be necessary for the purpose of making payment upon such subscription when and as called. Receipts for payment by the United States of America for or on account of such stock shall be issued by the cooperative to the Secretary of the Treasury and shall be evidence of stock ownership.

Sec. 4. The management of the cooperative shall be vested in a board of directors consisting of three persons to be appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture, one of whom shall be nominated by the American Farm Bureau Federation, one by the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America, and one by the National Grange and Patrons of Husbandry. The first appointments shall be for two, four, and six years, respectively, and these lengths of terms shall be determined by lot, and thereafter their successors shall be appointed for a term of six years. Each of the directors appointed as herein provided shall devote his time to the business of the cooperative. Before entering upon his duties, each of the directors so appointed and each officer shall take an oath faithfully to discharge the duties of his office. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as original appointments except that a person appointed shall be appointed for the unexpired term of the member he succeeds. Two members of the board of directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Sec. 5. That the three directors of the cooperative shall each receive annual salaries, payable monthly, of $10,000. No director shall receive any other salary or compensation or be otherwise in the employ of the United States or of any State or private corporation or person.

Sec. 6. That the principal office of the cooperative shall be located in the District of Columbia. Agencies or branch offices may be established under rules and regulations prescribed by the board of directors.

Sec. 7. The cooperative shall be empowered and authorized to adopt, alter, and use a corporate seal which shall be judicially noticed; to make contracts; to purchase or lease and hold or to dispose of such real estate as may be necessary for the prosecution of its business; to sue and be sued; to complain and defend in any court of competent jurisdiction, State or Federal; may make such regulations as are necessary to execute the functions vested in it by this act; to appoint by its board of directors, and fix the compensation of such officers, employees, attorneys, and agents as are necessary for the transaction of the business of the cooperative; to define their duties and require bonds of them and fix the penalties therefor; to dismiss at pleasure such officers, employees, attorneys, and agents, subject to the provisions of the civil service laws, and make such expenditures (including expenditures for rent and personal services at the seat of government and elsewhere, for law books, periodicals and books of reference, and for printing and binding) as may be necessary for the execution of the functions vested in the cooperative and as may be provided for by the Congress from time to time. All expenditures of the cooperative shall be allowed and paid upon the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the chairman; and to prescribe, amend, and repeal, by its board of directors, subject to the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture, by-laws regulating the manner in which its general business may be conducted, and the rights, privileges, and powers granted to it by law may be exercised and enjoyed and it may prescribe the powers and duties of its officers and agents, except as herein otherwise specifically provided.

The general purpose and business of the cooperative shall be to purchase from the farmers of the United States enough of agricultural products to include the entire exportable surplus and so much for interstate commerce as the board may determine, and to pay therefor the average cost of production plus a margin of profit sufficient to yield 5 per centum per annum upon the farmers' capital investment; also to process and to store and to market said products and to export such as can not be marketed in the United States.

(1) To keep continuously advised upon agricultural, commercial, financial, and legal matters which, in the opinion of the cooperative, affect interstate or foreign commerce in agricultural products or derivatives or fabrications thereof.

(2) Upon its own initiative or upon petition of any cooperative marketing association, to call into conference cooperative marketing associations engaged in the handling of the same commodity or commodities with a view to assisting in the organization by such cooperative associations of a national or regional duly incorporated cooperative marketing association, to act as the common marketing agent of such cooperative associations, in the interest of the producers of such commodity or commodities.

(3) Upon petition of any cooperative marketing association handling a surplus commodity to confer and advise with such association with respect to—

(a) The disposition and marketing of such commodity, including agricultural, commercial, financial, and legal matters which, in the opinion of the cooperative, affect interstate or foreign commerce in such commodity.

(b) The holding of conferences between such association and one or more other cooperative marketing associations handling such commodity, or nonmember producers of such commodity upon the production of such commodity during the ensuing twelve months in order to secure the volume of production required in the public interest.

(c) The negotiation of agreements between such association and one or more other cooperative marketing associations handling such commodity, and between such association or associations and nonmember producers of such commodity providing for the establishment of pools, exchanges, special funds, or other cooperative undertakings in prevention or disposition of a surplus of such commodity.

(4) To make loans to any cooperative marketing association, or to any cooperative association created by two or more of such cooperative marketing associations to act as a common agent in marketing any agricultural commodity. Such loans may be either secured or unsecured and may be made to assist in the orderly marketing of the products of such associations or for the acquirement of properties and facilities, or for both, or for any purpose not in conflict with the intent and purposes of this act, and upon such terms and conditions as the cooperative may prescribe, subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(a) In the making of loans the cooperative shall exercise care and diligence to satisfy itself that there is a reasonable prospect of repayment.

(b) That in case other or additional provisions for payment are not prescribed by the cooperative, any association receiving a loan shall provide for the payment thereof, including interest thereon, in a manner approved by the cooperative, during a period not exceeding thirty-three years.

(c) That any association receiving a loan shall submit such reports of its transactions and audits of its accounts as the cooperative shall prescribe, but such information shall not be disclosed by the cooperative or any member or employee thereof except upon a demand of Congress or an order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(d) Any cooperative association procuring a loan as herein provided shall subscribe for capital stock in the said cooperative to the amount of 5 per cent of such loan, as provided in section 19.

Sec. 8. That the cooperative shall be empowered and authorized to issue and have outstanding at any time its bonds in amount aggregating not more than five times its paid-in capital, such bonds to mature not less than one year and not more than five years from the respective date of issue and to bear such rate or rates of interest as may be reasonable before maturity, at the option of the cooperative, as may be determined by the board of directors. Such bonds shall have a first and paramount floating charge on all assets of the cooperative, and the cooperative shall not at any time mortgage or pledge any of its assets, and the Government of the United States shall be liable for said bonds. Such bonds may be issued at not less than par in payment of any obligation authorized by this act or may be offered for sale publicly to any person at such price or prices as the board of directors may determine, subject to the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Sec. 9. The Department of Agriculture shall determine the average cost of production to farmers of each agricultural commodity having an exportable surplus, for the five preceding years, and also the financial investment therein, using the official census data as far as possible, and report the same to this cooperative as the price basis for the current year. The items of cost shall be estimated upon the same principles as in the manufacturing industry, and considering the individual farm as a business unit, and determined on its individual production, including a fair compensation to farm owners for management and labor of themselves and families, together with proper allowances for depreciation of soil, improvements, equipment, stock-breeding animals, work animals, and buildings. The cooperative shall then offer to the farmers a price equal to this average cost of production plus enough profit to yield 5 per centum upon the capital investment. The cooperative shall also have the right to buy and sell agricultural food products in processed form when such processing is necessary for preservation, but only when the parties so processing them have paid to the farmers the basic price above indicated and have added thereto only enough for a net profit of 5 per centum upon their own investment. The board of directors shall establish an efficient agency to determine compliance with this last provision.

Sec. 10. If in its operation the said cooperative acquires more than the exportable surplus of agriculture, it shall have the right to dispose of the same in the domestic market and as nearly as practicable shall dispose of same at a net profit not exceeding 5 per centum.

Sec. 11. That for the purposes herein specified in handling and export of the surplus in agricultural commodities said board of directors shall establish a commodity "advisory board" for each commodity having an exportable surplus, hereinafter referred to as the "advisory board," to consist of representatives of each of the said commodities, and not to exceed five members and to serve without salary. Said board of directors shall, as soon as practicable after the enactment of this act, after conference with the bona fide farm organizations and cooperative associations in each district which it considers to be representative of agriculture, prescribe the number of members to be elected for each commodity and provide by regulation for the election of members of the first advisory boards. The term of office of each member first elected shall expire one year from the date of this act, and vacancies during such period shall be filled in the same manner as the original election. Thereafter successors shall be elected and vacancies shall be filled as prescribed by the board of directors. Any member in office at the expiration of the term for which he was elected may continue in office until his successor takes office. The members of such advisory boards may be paid a per diem compensation not exceeding $20 for attending the meetings of the advisory board. Each member shall be paid by the board his traveling expenses to and from the meetings of the advisory board and his actual expenses while engaged upon the business of the advisory board.

Sec. 12. Duties of the advisory boards.

(a) The advisory board of each commodity shall meet as soon as practicable after the enactment of this act and nominate to the board of directors eighteen individuals eligible for appointment to the operating board for said commodity.

(b) They shall meet thereafter at least twice in each year at a time and place designated by the board of directors or upon a petition duly signed by a majority of individuals at a time and place designated therein.

(c) They shall nominate upon request of the board of directors individuals to fill vacancies occurring in the operating boards.

(d) They shall consider such questions and formulate such recommendations in respect to cooperative marketing, and operate with the board of directors and with the operating board in such manner as the advisory boards shall deem most effective for carrying out the purposes of this act.

Sec. 13. Selecting from those recommended by the respective advisory boards, the board of directors shall establish a "Federal farm operating board" for each commodity, to be composed of three members, one of whom shall be designated as chairman, and the Secretary of Agriculture shall be ex officio a member of each of said Federal farm operating boards.

Sec. 14. Terms of office of the first two appointed members shall expire at the end of the second year, the next two at the end of the fourth year, and the next two at the end of the sixth year after the date of the enactment of this act. Their successors shall hold office for a period of six years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Vacancies shall be filled upon recommendation of the advisory board in the same manner as the original appointments. Each of the appointed members shall be a citizen of the United States, shall not actively engage in any other business, vocation, or employment than that of serving as a member of the operating board, and shall receive a salary not exceeding $10,000 a year, to be fixed by the board, together with actual and necessary traveling and subsisting expenses while away from the principal office of the board on business required by this act.

Sec. 15. The Federal farm operating boards shall have active charge of the handling and export of all agricultural commodities and of their exchange in interstate commerce and of exercising all the powers of the cooperative as hereinafter defined and as prescribed by the rules and regulations of the board of directors.

Sec. 16. That losses may occur from the export of agricultural commodities sold in the world markets at a lower price than the basic price of purchase herein provided, together with the expenses of exportation. Such losses shall be paid from the United States Treasury until they reach the total sum of $600,000,000, which is deemed to be equal to the subsidy paid the railroads the first six months after they were turned back to private ownership under the transportation act, plus the profits to the Government in the wheat corporation during the World War. Thereafter they shall be paid by an equalization fee or excise tax as Congress may determine.

Sec. 17. That any and all bonds issued by the cooperative shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority, except (a) estate or inheritance taxes and (b) graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes. The cooperative, including its franchise and the capital and reserve or surplus thereof and the income derived therefrom shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States or any local taxing authority, except that any real property of the cooperative shall be subject to State, county, or municipal taxes to the same extent, according to its value, as other real property is taxed.

Sec. 18. That wherever practicable products purchased and exported as a result of an advance under the provisions of this act shall be shipped in vessels documented under the laws of the United States.

Sec. 19. All of the cooperative organizations organized in compliance with the laws of the various States and in compliance with the laws of the United States as hereinafter defined shall have the right to subscribe for stock in said cooperative, and said subscription shall be used to redeem and pay off the bonds and Government capital outstanding against said cooperative. When all said bonds and capital have been redeemed the said cooperative shall become a cooperative organization under the laws of the United States, to be controlled and operated as defined and provided in the next section.

Sec. 20. Authority is hereby granted under the laws of the United States to one hundred or more persons to organize cooperative organizations or associations upon the terms and definitions prescribed in this section, as follows:

1. Each member of any such cooperative association shall have one vote, and the capital stock of such association shall not vote in its control. Two or more cooperative associations shall have the right to subscribe for all the stock in an association for the purpose of federation, and when capital stock is so held by other cooperative associations, then the vote shall be in proportion to the membership of each association subscribing for such stock and the stock itself shall not vote, and this provision shall apply to the cooperative herein created.

2. The net earnings of all cooperative associations for the purpose of dividend upon the capital stock shall not exceed 5 per centum per annum, but deficiencies in any year may be made up in subsequent years, but the capital stock shall not upon liquidation or otherwise receive any dividend in excess of said sum of 5 per centum per annum.

3. All of the earnings of a cooperative association over and above the earnings of capital and the operating expenses shall be held either in surplus or for the purpose of trade dividends. Unless directed by a vote of the membership 25 per centum of said net earnings shall be kept in the business as a surplus for the enlargement, growth, and safety of the business. This surplus may be used to reduce the capital stock upon a vote of the membership. The other net earnings may be distributed back to the members in trade dividends in proportion to the amount of business each member shall transact with the enterprise. In the case where the membership is composed of other cooperative associations the trade dividends shall be paid in the same way to such association and by them distributed to their members as provided for other profits and earnings.

4. Cooperative associations engaged in trade and merchandising shall transact their business for cash or its equivalent.

5. Individual memberships in any cooperative association having individual members shall not exceed $100 in cost, and memberships of cooperative associations in federated associations shall not exceed $1,000 in cost.

6. Cooperative associations shall be composed of individuals who voluntarily join.

7. There shall be unlimited membership. No reason shall exclude a person from membership except that his purpose may be injurious to the society.

8. Each member shall patronize the society in any commercial enterprise in which it engages so long as it supplies his needs as advantageously as other agencies.

9. Persons who have not sufficient capital to pay for initial stock may be permitted to join the society and they may permit the savings returns accruing from their patronage to be applied to the share for their capital.

10. Cooperative associations shall have the right to set off not exceeding 5 per centum of the surplus savings for educational and organization purposes in the field of cooperation.

11. That at each inventory depreciation shall be charged off against the property of the society in conformity with sound business principles.

Sec. 21. The ultimate aim of the cooperative organization shall be to supply the needs of the members, to attain the control of the necessary production, to encourage membership, to promote other societies, to create national organizations, and to effect a union of the societies of the world in an international organization having the same common purpose.

Sec. 22. Credit unions and mutual cooperative banks established by the laws of the various States, and cooperative national banks that provide for the payment of a trade dividend to borrowers and depositors, shall have the right to subscribe for stock and become members in this export cooperative and in federated cooperative associations provided in this section.

Sec. 23. Whoever (1) falsely makes, forges, or counterfeits any bond, coupon, or paper in imitation of or purporting to be in imitation of a bond or coupon issued by the cooperative; or (2) passes, utters, or publishes any false, forged, or counterfeited bonds, coupon, or paper purporting to be issued by the corporation, knowing the same to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited; or (3) falsely alters any such bond, coupon, or paper; or (4) passes, utters, or publishes as true any falsely altered or spurious bond, coupon, or paper issued or purporting to have been issued by the corporation, knowing the same to be falsely altered or spurious, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or both.

The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to direct and use the Secret Service Division of the Treasury Department to detect, arrest, and deliver into the custody of the United States marshal having jurisdiction on any person committing any of the offenses punishable under this action.

Sec. 24. That the corporation shall make a report to Congress as soon as possible after each calendar year relating to the business transacted during the preceding year, stating as of the first day of each month (1) the total amount of capital paid in; (2) the total amount of bonds issued; (3) the total amount of bonds outstanding; (4) a list of the classes and amounts of securities taken under this act; (5) a detailed statement of receipts and expenditures; (6) the number of cooperative associations becoming members of other cooperatives and the total amount of capital stock paid in by them; (7) the number of individual members in all cooperative associations affiliated with the cooperative; and (8) such other information as may be hereinafter required by either House of Congress.

Sec. 25. All financial transactions of the board, cooperative and Federal farm operating boards, shall be audited by the General Accounting Office, at such times and in such manner as the Comptroller General of the United States may prescribe. He shall also prescribe the accounting forms and procedures for such transactions.

Sec. 26. Cooperatives may be organized under this law by filing articles in substantial compliance herewith with the Secretary of Agriculture, signed and acknowledged before a notary public by at least ten members. Said articles shall contain the name of the principal place of business, the names of at least the minimum membership required, the names of the first officers, whether or not the same is organized upon membership fees or capital stock, the amount of each membership fee, and the amount of capital stock, if any, together with the rate of return thereon. Upon the filing of such articles the Secretary of Agriculture shall issue a certificate of authority to transact business under this act and such cooperative shall be subject to service and jurisdiction of the courts and with rights to sue as ordinary corporations. This act is the only authority required for the parent cooperative herein created.

Sec. 27. ACTIVITIES OF LOBBYING ASSOCIATIONS

Mr. Caraway submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 197):

Whereas it is charged that the lobbyists located in and around Washington filch from the American public more money under a false claim that they can influence legislation than the legislative branch of this Government costs the taxpayers; and

Whereas the lobbyists seek by all means to capitalize for themselves every interest and every sentiment of the American public which can be made to yield an unclean dollar for their greedy pockets: Now, therefore, be it

CONDITIONS IN ARMENIA

Mr. King submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 199), which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas for more than 2,500 years the Armenians inhabited what is known as Asia Minor, and for centuries maintained an independent government, but with other Christian nations in Asia Minor and in southeastern Europe ultimately had imposed upon them the cruel and merciless rule of the Turks; and

Whereas the oppressive and inhuman treatment of said Armenians and other Christian peoples by the Turkish Government resulted in military conflicts between Turkey and various European nations, the latter seeking to free such Christian peoples from Turkish political control, or to secure protection for them from Turkish cruelties; and

Whereas the United States and the allied nations, during and following the World War, declared that among the objectives sought were the establishment of an Armenian State within Asia Minor and within the territory which had been occupied by the Armenian race for more than 2,500 years, and the protection of Christian minorities residing in territory under the control of Turkey; and

Whereas the treaty of Sevres made provisions for the realization of such objectives, and an independent Armenian State was set up and given de jure recognition by the United States and the allied nations as well as other governments; and

Whereas the President of the United States was selected by Turkey and the allied nations to fix and determine the boundary between said Armenian States and Turkey, and pursuant to said selection the President fixed and determined the said boundary line, the area of Turkish Armenia as so determined being 40,000 square miles; and

Whereas during the World War Armenia was an ally of the United States and the allied nations and furnished several hundred thousand troops who fought valiantly during the war (sustaining casualties in battle of more than one hundred thousand) and contributed directly to the defeat of the Central Powers in Palestine, Mesopotamia, and in the Caucasus, and indirectly to their defeat on the western front, and following the defection of Russia prevented for eight months the capture by the Central Powers of the Baku oil fields; and

Whereas the allied nations and the United States gave assurances that the rights of Armenia would be recognized and protected, and the President of the United States on the 8th day of November, 1922, declared that "everything which may be done will be done to protect the Armenian people and preserve to them the rights which the Sevres treaty undertook to bestow"; and

Whereas after said Sevres treaty had been entered into, various Turkish factions united under Kemal Pasha, and set up a government in opposition to the Turkish Government, and upon gaining political control repudiated said treaty and joined with Soviet Russia in attempting to destroy the Armenian State, and in the execution of their purposes said Kemalists killed hundreds of thousands of Armenians and drove those remaining in Asia Minor and in Turkish Armenia from their homes, confiscating their property and subjecting them to cruel and barbarous treatment, and also killed tens of thousands of persons of Hellenic descent who were residing in Asia Minor and Thrace, and expelled more than a million others from their homes; and

Whereas the supporters of said Kemal Pasha after obtaining political and military control of Turkey, set up a government under the dictatorship of said Kemal Pasha; that representatives of said Government of the United States and allied powers met at Lausanne in 1922 and 1923 and negotiated treaties commonly called the Lausanne treaties; and

Whereas prior to said conference the United States, through its Secretary of State, laid down seven conditions to be complied with before any treaty would be entered into by the United States with the Turkish Government, and Ambassador Child, who represented the United States at said conference, declared in December, 1922, a number of these essential conditions as laid down by the Secretary of State and implied in the assurance given by the President of the United States; and

Whereas, notwithstanding said declaration and the statement of conditions laid down by said Secretary of State, a treaty with said Kemalists was negotiated by the United States on the 6th day of August, 1923, which abandoned said conditions announced by the Secretary of State and indicated in the assurance of the President of the United States; and

Whereas certain concessions were obtained by citizens of the United States, including a share in the oil fields of Mosul, in the interest of the Standard Oil Co. and the Gulf Refining Co., and it is alleged that said concessions were a matter of consideration in the negotiation of said treaty and influenced the making of said treaty, which contained provisions unfavorable to the United States and its citizens, and contrary to the position taken by the officials of the United States, wherein an independent Armenian State was to be established and the Christian minorities in Turkey were to be protected and their rights secured; and

Whereas within the Province of Van Bitlis and Erzerum, constituting a part of Asia Minor, in which for more than 25 centuries Armenians had their homes, important and valuable undeveloped oil fields exist which the Kemal Government desires to acquire and permanently incorporate within the boundaries of Turkey as now claimed by said Kemal Government; and

Whereas said oil fields are within that part of the Armenian State, as its boundaries were defined by the President of the United States and recognized by the allied nations, and constitute one of the chief resources within the boundaries of Turkey as claimed by the Kemal Government, and are desired by persons and corporations engaged in the oil business outside of Turkey or who are operating extensively in the production and distribution of oil in various parts of the world; and

Whereas after said treaty above referred to was negotiated, it was transmitted by the President of the United States to the Senate for its action thereon, but no hearings were held upon said treaty and no sufficient information submitted by the State Department to the Senate with reference to the treaty and the matters herein referred to sufficient to justify the Senate in ratifying said treaty; and

Whereas prior to and since the signing of said treaty the Kemal Turkish Government has exhibited a cynical disregard of treaty obligations and has continued its cruel and oppressive course toward Christian subjects of Turkey residing within its borders, and has expelled thousands of Christians of Greek descent, and hundreds of thousands of Armenians who are now without home or country, many of whom have been and now are recipients of financial and other aid from the people of the United States and other countries; and

Whereas the American people are deeply interested in all questions affecting the Near East, and particularly the Armenians and other Christian peoples who resided within the Turkish Empire and the Christian minorities who still survive and are found within the boundaries of Turkey, and are desirous of knowing the facts concerning the negotiation of said treaty of Lausanne, the reasons for abandoning by said treaty the demands of the Kemal Government, and are also desirous of knowing whether the Kemal Government is worthy of being recognized by the United States and is competent to discharge its international obligations and is willing to conform to the standards which guide civilized nations in their relations: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Relations be, and is hereby, directed to inquire into the matters and things hereinafter recited, and particularly to ascertain—

(a) What reasons led to the abandonment of the conditions laid down by the Secretary of State October 30, 1922, as conditions precedent to the negotiation of a treaty with Turkey and to the disregard of the assurances contained in the statement of the President of the United States under date of November 8, 1922.

(b) What, if any, action was taken by the State Department in procuring a share in the Mosul oil fields in the interests of the Standard Oil Co. and the Gulf Refining Co.

(c) What discussions took place between the representatives of the United States at said conference and the representatives of the Kemal Government and allied nations participating in said conference concerning the Turkish Petroleum Co. or other companies interested in oil in the Mosul district or in any part of Turkey, and what, if any, claims or demands were made by representatives of the United States with respect to it or its nationals obtaining an interest in said oil or oil fields.

(d) What notes or other communications were exchanged between the State Department and the representatives of the United States and the representatives of the Kemal Government concerning oil concessions or interests in any oil fields in Turkey or in the Mosul district, and also between the United States and the allied nations or their representatives, and all persons who represented said nations at said Lausanne conference.

(e) What causes led to the abandonment by the representatives of the United States at the Lausanne conference of the position theretofore taken by the State Department and by the President of the United States with respect to the Armenian State and what reasons led to the signing by the American representatives of said Lausanne treaty.

COST OF PRODUCTION OF IRISH POTATOES

Mr. Gould submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 200): Whereas under the present duty on potatoes of one-half of 1 cent per pound established by the tariff act of 1922 the quantity of potatoes imported has increased from 44,000,000 pounds, valued at $1,000,000 in 1923, to over 300,000,000 pounds, valued at more than $5,000,000 in 1927; and

Whereas differences in costs of production in the United States and in the principal competing country apparently are not equalized by the present duty; and

Whereas the potato-growing industry is widely distributed throughout the United States, and in many regions is the most important source of cash income to the farmer; and

Whereas, because of the greatly increased imports of potatoes, an emergency exists in this industry, particularly among producers of seed potatoes: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the United States Tariff Commission be, and hereby is, requested to investigate for the purposes of section 315 of the tariff act of 1922 the costs of production of white or Irish potatoes in the United States and in the principal competing country, and to report its findings to the President of the United States.

Ordered, That it lie over one day under the rule.

PROTECTION OF AMERICAN PROPERTY RIGHTS IN CUBA

Mr. Shipstead submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 201), which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas the Congress of the United States by an amendment (known as the Platt amendment) to the Army appropriation act, approved March 2, 1901, defined the conditions under which the President could turn over to the people of Cuba the government of that island; and

Whereas one of such conditions was that certain parts of the said amendment should be included in the constitution of the Cuban Government and also included in a permanent treaty with these United States; and

Whereas the specified provisions of such amendment were enacted as a part of the constitution of the Republic of Cuba and were embodied in a treaty signed May 23, 1903, and duly ratified; and

Whereas certain of the provisions of the said amendment so enacted in the constitution of Cuba and so embodied in the permanent treaty with Cuba were designed and intended to afford protection to the liberties of the Cuban people and to the property and persons of citizens of the United States resident in such island; and

Whereas American citizens residing in Cuba represent that they have been and are being deprived of their properties contrary to law and in defiance of decisions of the Cuban courts: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, acting through a subcommittee or otherwise, is hereby directed to investigate and report to the Senate whether the property and rights of American citizens resident in Cuba and the liberties of the Cuban people have been and are being fully protected under said Platt amendment and in the treaty made pursuant to said amendment, and if in the opinion of the committee such protection is not being afforded to Cubans and American citizens resident in Cuba that the committee report to the Senate the reasons for such failure to protect such property and rights; and be it further

Resolved, That in consideration of the foregoing preamble and in further consideration of the following specific charges recently brought to public attention by publicists, educators, and other reliable sources, namely, that—

The present political régime is a virtual dictatorship under which freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of petition, and electoral freedom have been destroyed.

Numerous assassinations, imprisonments, deportations, and exiles have taken place.

Political opposition to the ruling group has been destroyed. The National University has been closed, denying to the youth of Cuba the right to higher education and free speech.

Private property of Cubans and of Americans has been seized without due process of law and without the right to recovery.

The Cuban court system has been so gerrymandered that justice has become a farce and the judiciary has been brought under the absolutism of the political powers.

The Cuban criminal code, administered under political pressure, is still the code of the days of Weyler, making it possible to use the law and the judiciary for the unreasonable and unjustified punishment of Cubans for what should be lawful political activity.

Under a parceling out of agencies for the sale of lottery tickets the National Congress of Cuba is made absolutely subservient to the domination and dictation of the executive department, a condition amazing in its defiance of all decency and political honesty and honor.

That in the course of such investigation the Committee on Foreign Relations is given full power to subpoena witnesses and compel their attendance before the committee or any subcommittee thereof and to require their testimony and to compel the production of books and papers to the end that the Senate may be fully advised as to the result of such investigation and report as to what further action or legislation is necessary to fully protect Cubans and American citizens resident in Cuba in their persons, property, and rights, and to insure the fulfillment of the obligations assumed by the United States under the Platt amendment and the permanent treaty of May 23, 1903.

Whereas Senate Joint Resolution 7, Seventieth Congress, first session, provided for joint hearings upon the merits of the Riker Mississippi spillway project; and

Whereas it was stated by the chairman of the Commerce Committee that such an appropriation could not be secured (if at all) in time to permit the construction of the model for consideration by this Congress; and

Whereas said Senate resolution asked for an appropriation of $6,000 to construct a model of the Riker Mississippi spillway in the base of the Senate Office Building; and

Whereas it was stated by the chairman of the Commerce Committee that such an appropriation could not be secured (if at all) in time to permit the construction of the model for consideration by this Congress; and

Whereas to avoid any such delay, Mr. Carroll L. Riker built the aforesaid model at his own expense, at a cost of more than

$5,000, with the reasonable expectation that the joint hearing requested in the aforesaid resolution would be accorded him; and

Whereas the Commerce Committee of the Senate during its extended hearings has acquired great knowledge concerning the subject of flood control, and expression of opinion upon the subject by it should bear great weight in future consideration of this matter by Congress: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Commerce Committee of the Senate is hereby authorized and requested to conduct hearings upon the merits of the Riker Mississippi spillway for control and utilization of the waters of the Mississippi River below Cairo, Ill., and for the drainage of the valley; and which said committee shall call and (if necessary) subpoena at least three disinterested civilian engineers which the American Society of Civil Engineers shall be requested to select for their outstanding training, experience, and accomplishments in hydraulic engineering, and in addition thereto Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, Chief of Engineers, United States Army, and General Bixby, Chief of Engineers, retired, as experts upon the various factors involved in the proposed project.

TAX ASSESSMENT OF HON. JAMES COUZENS

Mr. La Follette submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 213), which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas the senior Senator from Michigan, Mr. Couzens, on April 12, 1928, presented to the Senate certain statements which indicate—

(a) That a Senator of the United States was subjected to intimidation in a threat of a huge additional tax assessment by the Bureau of Internal Revenue at the time a committee of which the Senator was chairman was investigating the Bureau of Internal Revenue; and

(b) That David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, formally advised the taxpayer, the senior Senator from Michigan, that the Bureau of Internal Revenue had no information to justify the original assessment in this case, and investigation later revealed the bureau had extensive information in its files to show that the original assessment had been investigated many times and always had been approved; and

(c) That there is evidence of collusion between high bureau officials and so-called tax experts in an endeavor to extort a huge fee from the taxpayer; and

(d) That these facts were revealed to David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and there is no evidence of any action taken by him to thoroughly investigate these circumstances; and

Whereas there is involved in this statement by the senior Senator from Michigan [Mr. Couzens] the honor of the United States Senate and the liberty of action on the part of Senators of the United States; and

Whereas it is due the United States Senate, the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the Treasury Department, the senior Senator from Michigan, and officials of the Treasury Department that each and every fact relating to this transaction be investigated immediately: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the statements made to the United States Senate on April 12, 1928, by the senior Senator from Michigan [Mr. Couzens] be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary; and that the Committee on the Judiciary, or any subcommittee thereof, is authorized and instructed immediately to proceed to investigate these circumstances; and that in making this investigation the Committee on the Judiciary, or any subcommittee thereof, may subpoena books, papers, and documents in any way related to these circumstances and this transaction, and any and all persons who may be associated with or have any relation to the transaction; and that the committee, or any subcommittee thereof, has authority to sit during this session of Congress or the recesses of this Congress, and shall report to the Senate in writing at the earliest opportunity.

Resolved, That a special committee of five be appointed by the Presiding Officer of the Senate to investigate forthwith and report to the Senate as soon as possible the campaign expenditures of the various presidential candidates in both parties, the names of the persons, firms, or corporations subscribing, the amount contributed, the method of expenditure of said sums, and all facts in relation thereto, not only as to the subscriptions of money and expenditures thereof but as to the use of any other means or influence, including the promise or use of patronage and the providing of funds for setting up contesting delegations, and all other facts in relation thereto that would not only be of public interest but would aid the Congress in any necessary remedial legislation.

That said committee is hereby empowered to sit and act at such time and place as it may deem necessary; to require, by subpoena or otherwise, the attendance of witnesses, the production of books, papers, and documents; to employ stenographers at a cost of not exceeding $1 per printed page. The chairman of the committee or any member thereof may administer oaths to witnesses. Subpenas for witnesses shall be issued under the signature of the chairman of the committee or subcommittee thereof. Every person who, having been summoned as a witness by authority of said committee or any subcommittee thereof, willfully makes default, or who, having appeared, refuses to answer any question pertinent to the investigation heretofore authorized shall be held to the penalties provided by section 102 of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

The expense thereof shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate on vouchers ordered by said committee, signed by the chairman thereof and approved by the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate.

ANNUAL REPORT OF FARM LOAN BUREAU

Mr. Blease submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 215): Whereas by act of Congress, July, 1916, known as the farm loan act, it becomes the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to annually transmit to the Congress the annual report of the Federal Farm Loan Bureau of said department for the purpose of advising the Congress and the public of the true financial condition of the 12 district farmer-owned Federal land banks and of the privately capitalized joint-stock land banks chartered under said act; and

Whereas said report has not to this late date been filed with Congress, whereas prior to 1927 said report was always available for the deliberation of Members early in January, that necessary remedies might be adopted to safeguard and strengthen a system intended for the financial support of American agriculture; and

Whereas we have reason to believe that the said Secretary of the Treasury now has available said annual report for the last fiscal year, and is again withholding same from the public until after the adjournment of this session of Congress, as he did in 1927, which is contrary to the intent of demanding an annual report, and which deprives thousands of farmer-owners of the 12 district land banks of knowledge of the real condition of their banks; and

Whereas a national scandal is now impending with respect to the financial condition of 6 of the 12 district Federal land banks, due to the failure of the political appointees who have been named to act for the Farm Loan Bureau in the operation of these banks, which the farmer stockholders now fully own; and

Whereas so grave has become the condition in one of these banks that the Committee on Banking and Currency is now considering a resolution which calls for a full investigation of the entire system as a result of startling revelations recently come to light; and

Whereas the financial welfare of thousands of farmer-owners of these district Federal land banks, whose banks are now manipulated by political appointees, is at stake, and their property may be so depressed that it become beyond repair unless Congress is immediately advised of the condition, permitting of necessary remedies; and

Whereas political appointees of the Farm Loan Bureau and the Treasury Department have assured Members of Congress, and are now carrying on a propaganda program among farm-paper and newspaper editors, in order to suppress the real truth being printed, or necessary legislative action taken by this session of Congress; said annual report being the only basis upon which intelligent conclusions may be reached: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and is hereby, directed to immediately transmit to the Senate the annual report of the Farm Loan Bureau for the past fiscal year which he is now withholding from release unnecessarily.

Ordered, That it lie over one day under the rule.

4. To what extent are such lesser rates on the Canadian railroads (if they are less) due to charter provisions of said railroads and to what extent are such excessive rates on American

DIVERSION OF COMMERCE FROM UNITED STATES PORTS

Mr. Walsh of Massachusetts submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 220):

Whereas during the past 10 years there has been diversion of commerce from United States ports to Canadian ports, particularly in grain and other farm products, so great as to threaten the foundation of the future commerce and prosperity of the ports of the United States and to affect seriously the agricultural and transportation interests of this country, including the development of its merchant marine; and

Whereas this diversion of commerce is the result of (1) more favorable railroad rates between points in the United States and Canadian ports than between the same points and United States ports; (2) more stringent regulations as to grading and inspection of grain at ports of the United States than at Canadian ports, especially the higher grain standards and the dockage rules of the United States; (3) the preferential customs regulations of Canada, giving lower tariffs on products imported into Canada directly through Canadian ports than on those routed through ports of the United States; and (4) the preferential schedules of other parts of the British Empire, imposing lower duties or more favorable regulations on products of the United States routed through Canadian ports than on those shipped from United States ports; and

Whereas the adoption by Congress of constructive legislation to meet these conditions is imperative and depends on the solution of problems within the respective provinces of the Department of State, the Department of Agriculture, the United States Shipping Board, and the Interstate Commerce Commission: Therefore be it

68544—s J—70-1—26

HEARING ON ST. LOUIS & O'FALLON RAILWAY VALUATION

Mr. Norris submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 222):
Whereas in May, 1923, the National Conference on Valuation of American Railroads was organized for the purpose of securing a fair valuation of the railroads of the United States and for the purposes, in behalf of the public interest of the people of the United States, of appearing by counsel before the Interstate Commerce Commission and the courts, with a view of preventing an overvaluation of railroads. Said National Conference was organized through the participation and co-operation of Senators, Representatives, governors of various States, mayors of some of the principal cities of the United States, several farm, agricultural, and labor organizations, traveling salesmen's associations, and national organizations of railway employees, and many similar organizations and individuals of national importance; and

Whereas by order of the Interstate Commerce Commission the National Conference on Valuation has been since 1923 a party to all valuation proceedings, has participated in said proceedings, has received notice of all hearings and copies of all the valuation reports, and has been recognized by the commission as a representative of substantial public interests and of a large percentage of travelers, shippers, and consumers dependent upon the railroads for transportation, and of organizations of employees engaged in such transportation, all of which persons have a vital and continuous interest in transportation rates which are and will be established by the commission on the basis of its valuation of the properties of the carriers; and

Whereas the National Conference on Valuation has selected Donald R. Richberg as its counsel, who, as representing said national conference, has advocated principles and methods of valuation which have been opposed by the railroads, but have been widely accepted by lawyers and economists of the highest standing, many of which principles and methods of valuation have been met with the approval of the commission; and

Whereas when the commission considered in public hearing the report upon which its order was based determining the value of the property of the St. Louis & O'Fallon Railway Co., the said Donald R. Richberg, as counsel for the National Conference on Valuation, was the only representative of a party to the proceedings who argued orally and by briefs in favor of the proposed report of the commission, while the official counsel for the commission made no argument for or against said report; and

Whereas suit has been brought by the St. Louis & O'Fallon Railway Co. to set aside the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission fixing the value of its property, which suit is generally accepted as a test case to determine the principles of railroad valuation for rate-making and recapture purposes and has already been heard by a three-judge statutory court, which refused to set aside the order of the commission, and which suit is to be heard on the appeal of the railroads which has been taken to the Supreme Court of the United States; and

Whereas under the circumstances set forth it would seem that the National Conference on Valuation, represented by the said Donald R. Richberg, having advocated the action taken by the commission in said case, should be heard on the appeal of the railroad to the courts to set aside the order of the commission; and it would seem to be in the public interest consistent with the intent of the law that the said national conference, through its counsel, the said Donald R. Richberg, should be heard as a matter of right, and provided in Thirty-eighth Statutes at Large, page 219, and Thirty-sixth Statutes at Large, page 539; and

Whereas the said Donald R. Richberg, as counsel for the National Conference on Valuation, was permitted to present an argument to the statutory three-judge court which heard the O'Fallon case, but the National Conference on Valuation not being permitted to intervene as a party to the proceedings, its counsel must make application to the Supreme Court for leave to be heard in the appeal now pending, which application, being addressed to the discretion of the court, involves primarily consideration of what is in the public interest; and

Whereas, depending upon the valuation principles and methods which may be determined by the O'Fallon case, the aggregate valuation placed on railroad properties may differ to the extent of many billions of dollars, with a consequent difference in the aggregate of transportation rates amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars, so that the O'Fallon case as a test case involved issues of wide and exceptional public interest and of immense consequence to all the people of the United States; Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate expresses its approval of the application of counsel for the National Conference on Valuation for leave to participate in the hearing of the O'Fallon case in the Supreme Court without thereby expressing its approval or disapproval of the arguments of counsel and without thereby intimating any opinion regarding the issues in the case; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate hereby most respectfully requests the Supreme Court to permit the said Donald R. Richberg, as counsel for the said National Conference on Valuation, to intervene in said O'Fallon case for the purpose of making oral argument and filing a brief therein.

Ordered, That the resolution lie over one day under the rule.

INVESTIGATION OF CHAIN-STORE MARKETING SYSTEM

Mr. Brookhart, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 224):

Whereas it is estimated that from 1921 to 1927 the retail sales of all chain stores have increased from approximately 4 per cent to 16 per cent of all retail sales; and

Whereas there are estimated to be less than 4,000 chain-store systems with over 100,000 stores; and

Whereas many of these chains operate from 100 to several thousand stores; and

Whereas there have been numerous consolidations of chain stores throughout the history of the movement, and particularly in the last few years; and

Whereas these chain stores now control a substantial proportion of the distribution of certain commodities in certain cities are rapidly increasing this proportion of control in these and other cities, and are beginning to extend this system of merchandising into country districts as well; and

Whereas the continuance of the growth of chain-store distribution and the consolidation of such chain stores may result in the development of monopolistic organizations in certain lines of retail distribution; and

Whereas many of these concerns though engaged in interstate commerce in buying may not be engaged in interstate commerce in selling; and

Whereas in consequence the extent to which such consolidations are now, or should be made, amenable to the jurisdiction of the Federal antitrust laws is a matter of serious concern to the public: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Federal Trade Commission is hereby directed to undertake an inquiry into the chain-store system of marketing and distribution as conducted by manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, or other types of chain stores and to ascertain and report to the Senate (1) the extent to which such consolidations have been effected in violation of the antitrust laws, if at all; (2) the extent to which consolidations or combinations of such organizations are susceptible to regulation under the Federal Trade Commission act or the antitrust laws, if at all; and (3) what legislation, if any, should be enacted for the purpose of regulating and controlling chain-store distribution.

And for the information of the Senate in connection with the aforesaid subdivisions (1), (2), and (3) of this resolution the commission is directed to inquire into and report in full to the Senate (a) the extent to which the chain-store movement has tended to create a monopoly or concentration of control in the distribution of any commodity either locally or nationally; (b) evidences indicating the existence of unfair methods of competition in commerce or of agreements, conspiracies, or combinations in restraint of trade involving chain-store distribution; (c) the advantages or disadvantages of chain-store distribution in comparison with those of other types of distribution as shown by prices, costs, profits, and margins, quality of goods and services rendered by chain stores and other distributors or resulting from integration, managerial efficiency, low overhead, or other similar causes; (d) how far the rapid increase in the chain-store system of distribution is based upon actual savings in costs of management and operation and how far upon quantity prices available only to chain-store distributors or any class of them; (e) whether or not such quantity prices constitute a violation of either the Federal Trade Commission act, the Clayton Act, or any other statute; and (f) what legislation, if any, should be enacted with reference to such quantity prices.

Ordered, That the resolution lie over one day under the rule.

SUPREMACY OF AMERICAN FLAG OVER OTHER FLAGS

Mr. Heflin, by unanimous consent, submitted the following concurrent resolution, which was read:

Whereas it is alleged that the Roman Catholic flag, the same design as the flag flown at the Vatican at Rome, has been recently hoisted above and flown above the United States flag on the U. S. battleship Cincinnati and the U. S. battleship Florida; and

Whereas it is the solemn duty of Congress to see to it that no flag of a foreign power or potentate shall fly above the United States flag on any foot of American soil or on any American battleship or on any other American ship or in any foreign American possession; and

Whereas the act of placing the flag in question or any other flag above the United States flag has the appearance of questioning its right to be first and of challenging its supreme authority and sovereign power: Therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That it is hereby declared to be the fixed principle and policy of the United States that hereafter, nowhere on land within her jurisdiction or on her battleships or on her merchant ships, shall any other flag be placed above and flown above the United States flag.

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of Government officials in civil authority and in the Army and Navy to see to it that the principle and policy here set forth is strictly observed.

Mr. Heflin asked and obtained unanimous consent to change the said concurrent resolution to a joint resolution (S. J. Res. 143) to prevent the flying of a foreign flag above the United States flag, which was read twice by its title and ordered to lie on the table.

Pending debate,

The resolution having been modified by Mr. Norris,

On the question of agreeing to the same, as modified,

After debate,

It was determined in the affirmative, Yeas----- 46
Nays----- 31

On motion by Mr. Reed of Pennsylvania,

The yeas and nays being desired by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative are—

Messrs. Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Blaine, Blease, Borah, Brookhart, Broussard, Capper, Caraway, Couzens, Curtis, Cutting, Dill, Fletcher, Frazier, Gooding, Harris, Harrison, Heflin, Howell, Johnson, Jones, Kendrick, La Follette, Locher, McKellar, McMaster, McNary, Mayfield, Neely, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Pine, Pittman, Sheppard, Shipstead, Simmons, Smith, Stephens, Swanson, Thomas, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana, and Wheeler.

Those who voted in the negative are—

Messrs. Bingham, Bruce, Copeland, Dale, Deneen, Edge, Edwards, Fess, Glass, Goff, Greene, Hale, Hawes, Keyes, King, McLean, Metcalf, Moses, Oddie, Overman, Phipps, Reed of Pennsylvania, Sackett, Schall, Shortridge, Smoot, Steck, Steiwer, Tydings, Warren, and Waterman.

So the resolution, as modified, was agreed to.

The preamble was modified, and, as modified, agreed to.

The resolution, together with the preamble, as agreed to, reads as follows:

Whereas in May, 1923, the National Conference on Valuation of American Railroads was organized for the purpose of securing a fair valuation of the railroads of the United States, and for the purpose, in behalf of the public interest of the people of the United States, of appearing by counsel before the Interstate Commerce Commission and the courts, with a view of preventing an overvaluation of railroads. Said National Conference on Valuation was organized through the participation and cooperation of Senators, Representatives, governors of various States, mayors of some of the principal cities of the United States, several farm, agricultural, and labor organizations, traveling salesmen's associations, and national organizations of railway employees, and many similar organizations and individuals of national importance; and

Whereas by order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the National Conference on Valuation has been, since 1923, a party to all valuation proceedings, has participated in said proceedings, has received notice of all hearings and copies of all the valuation reports, and has been recognized by the commission as a representative of substantial public interests, and of a large percentage of travelers, shippers, and consumers dependent upon the railroads for transportation, and of organizations of employees engaged in such transportation, all of which persons have a vital and continuous interest in transportation rates which are and will be established by the commission upon the basis of its valuation of the properties of the carriers; and

Whereas the National Conference on Valuation has selected Donald R. Richberg as its counsel, who, as representing said national conference, has advocated principles and methods of valuation which have been opposed by the railroads, but have been widely accepted by lawyers and economists of the highest standing, many of which principles and methods of valuation have met with the approval of the commission; and

Whereas when the commission considered in public hearing the report upon which its order was based determining the value of the property of the Saint Louis and O'Fallon Railway Company, the said Donald R. Richberg, as counsel for the way Company, the said National Conference on Valuation, was the only representative of a party to the proceeding who argued orally and by briefs in favor of the proposed report of the commission, while the official counsel for the commission made no argument for or against said report; and

Whereas suit has been brought by the Saint Louis and O'Fallon Railway Company to set aside the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission fixing the value of its property, which suit is generally accepted as a test case to determine the principles of railroad valuation for rate making and recapitulation purposes, and has already been heard by a three-judge statutory court which refused to set aside the order of the commission, and which suit is to be heard on the appeal of the railroad which has been taken to the Supreme Court of the United States; and

Whereas under the circumstances set forth, it would seem that the National Conference on Valuation, represented by the said Donald R. Richberg, having advocated the action taken by the commission in said case, should be heard on the appeal of the railroad to the courts to set aside the order of the commission; and

Whereas the said Donald R. Richberg, as counsel for the National Conference on Valuation, was permitted to present an argument to the statutory three-judge court which heard the O'Fallon case, but the National Conference on Valuation not being permitted to intervene as a party to the proceeding, its counsel must make application to the Supreme Court for leave to be heard in the appeal now pending, which application, being addressed to the discretion of the court, involves, primarily, consideration of what is in the public interest; and

Whereas depending upon the valuation principles and methods which may be determined by the O'Fallon case, the aggregate valuation placed on railroad properties may differ to the extent of many billions of dollars, with a consequent difference in the aggregate of transportation rates amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars, so that the O'Fallon case as a test case involves issues of wide and exceptional public interest and of immense consequence to all the people of the United States: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate expresses its approval of the application of counsel for the National Conference on Valuation for leave to participate in the hearing of the O'Fallon case in the Supreme Court, without thereby expressing its approval or disapproval of the arguments of counsel and without thereby intimating any opinion regarding the issues in the case; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate hereby most respectfully requests the Supreme Court to permit the said Donald R. Richberg, as counsel for the said National Conference on Valuation, to appear as amicus curiae in said O'Fallon case for the purpose of making oral argument and filing a brief therein.

COST OF PRODUCTION OF FERTILIZER UREA

Mr. King, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 228):

Whereas it was the intention of the tariff act of 1922 to permit the importation, free of duty, of fertilizers and fertilizer materials for the benefit of the agriculture of the United States; and

Whereas paragraph 26 of said tariff act laid a duty of 35 per cent ad valorem upon importations of urea; and

Whereas at the date of said act importations of urea were of negligible quantity and were restricted to medicinal uses; and

Whereas since the date of said tariff act there has been a wide expansion in the production of synthetic urea and an expanding market for such urea in the United States as a fertilizer, a use which was unknown when said tariff act was passed; and

Whereas there is no production of fertilizer urea in the United States, and the production of medicinal urea with which said fertilizer urea does not compete is limited to a few hundred tons per annum; and

Whereas, because of the demand of American agriculture for an improved and effective nitrogenous fertilizer which leaves no inert residue in the soil, the imports of fertilizer urea have arisen to approximately 1,000,000 pounds per annum; and

Whereas the cost of said fertilizer urea to the American farmer is increased 35 per cent by virtue of the existing tariff which represents an arbitrary imposition upon agriculture without corresponding benefit to any American industry: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the United States Tariff Commission is requested, under provisions of section 315 of the tariff act of 1922, to investigate the cost of the production of fertilizer urea in the country from which the principal exports of fertilizer urea are made to the United States, and the facts with respect to the quantities of fertilizer urea being imported and used in the United States, and to report its findings to the President of the United States.

Ordered, That the said resolution lie on the table.

COST OF PRODUCTION OF AMMONIUM SULPHATE AND AMMONIUM PHOSPHATE

Mr. King, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 229):

Whereas the tariff act of 1922 laid a duty of $5 per ton upon imported ammonium sulphate and a duty of $30 per ton upon imported ammonium phosphate; and

Whereas by the tariff acts of 1909 and of 1913 ammonium sulphate was importable free of duty; and

Whereas in 1926 the exports of ammonium sulphate were 181,125 tons and the imports were 8,368 tons, giving a balance of exports over imports of 172,757 tons, which balance is more than twenty times the total imports for that year; and

Whereas since the date of said tariff act of 1922 the exports of ammonium sulphate as a fertilizer have more than trebled in quantity; and

Whereas ammonium sulphate produced in the United States is sold abroad for the service of foreign agriculture at a lesser price than the same is available in the United States for the service of American agriculture; and

Whereas over 95 per cent of the ammonium sulphate sold in the United States for domestic consumption and for export is under the control of a single monopolistic corporation; and

Whereas said monopolistic corporation by increasing its exports has created an artificial shortage of ammonium sulphate available for the service of American agriculture, which has caused the domestic price to be bid up from $43 to $48 per ton in the last few months, which artificial increase equals the entire duty on ammonium sulphate laid by the tariff act of 1922; and

Whereas ammonium phosphate is becoming available for use as a fertilizer material because of new processes which permit large-scale production; and

Whereas the duty of $30 per ton on ammonium phosphate laid by the tariff act of 1922 is prohibitive and prevents the importation and use of ammonium phosphate as a fertilizer for the service of American agriculture; and

Whereas the rates of duty laid by the tariff act of 1922 upon ammonium sulphate and ammonium phosphate effectively restrict the use of such materials as fertilizers for the service of American agriculture and lay an undue burden upon the farmers of the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the United States Tariff Commission is requested, under the provisions of section 315 of the tariff act of 1922, to investigate the costs of production of ammonium sulphate and of ammonium phosphate in the United States and the principal competing country, and to report its findings to the President of the United States.

Ordered, That the said resolution lie on the table.

COST OF PRODUCTION OF SYNTHETIC METHANOL

Mr. King, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 230):

Whereas the tariff act of 1922 laid a duty upon importations of methanol at the rate of 12 cents per gallon; and

Whereas the President, by proclamation of November 27, 1926, under the authority of section 315 of said tariff act, increased the duty on imported methanol from 12 cents to 18 cents per gallon, which was the maximum increase permitted by such act; and

Whereas at the date of said proclamation the domestic price of methanol was 65 cents per gallon; and

Whereas since said proclamation there has been a great expansion in the production of synthetic methanol in the United States by virtue of which the domestic price has fallen to 45 cents per gallon, which indicates a presumptive reduction in the cost of production in the United States of 20 cents per gallon, which is more than three times the increase of 6 cents per gallon in the duty made by the presidential proclamation aforesaid; and

Whereas the facts above recited warrant that the President, in the exercise of his powers under section 315 of said tariff act, at this time reduce the duty imposed by said act upon imported methanol from 12 to 6 cents per gallon, which will absorb but 12 cents of the presumptive reduction of 20 cents per gallon in the cost of producing synthetic methanol in the United States; and

Whereas methanol is of extensive and expanding use as a raw material in important industries in the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the United States Tariff Commission is requested, under provisions of section 315 of the tariff act of 1922, to investigate the costs of the production of synthetic methanol in the United States and the principal competing country and to report its findings to the President of the United States.

Ordered, That the said resolution lie on the table.

TAX REDUCTION

On motion by Mr. Smoot, and by unanimous consent, The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 1) to reduce and equalize taxation, provide revenue, and for other purposes.

On the question of agreeing to the reported amendment on page 195, line 11, striking out the words "1.00 or less" and inserting in lieu thereof "$3.00 or less,"

Mr. Simmons proposed an amendment striking out lines 5 to 23, inclusive, on said page as proposed to be amended [being section 500 (a)], and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(a) Section 500 (a) of the revenue act of 1926 is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 500. (a) There shall be levied, assessed, collected, and paid—

A question having been raised by Mr. Reed of Pennsylvania as to whether or not it was the duty of the Vice President, under the Constitution, to vote where the Senate was equally divided, the Vice President directed the clerk to call his name.

Mr. Blease raised a question of order, viz. that the roll call having been completed and the result announced, and other business having been transacted, it was therefore not in order at that time for the Vice President to vote.

Mr. Fletcher moved that the Senate reconsider the vote whereby the amendment proposed by Mr. Simmons was rejected.

Mr. Bingham raised a question of order, viz. that it was not in order for a Senator who voted in the minority to move to reconsider a vote.

Mr. Tydings raised a question of order, viz. that Mr. Fletcher's motion was out of order on the ground that the vote was an illegal one and that it could not be ratified by another call of the same kind.

Mr. Tydings made a further point of order that the roll should be called on the amendment without any motion to reconsider.

And by inserting, on page 15, at the end of line 21, a correlated provision, as follows:

Sales by board

Sec. 201. The United States Shipping Board shall not sell any vessel or any line of vessels except when in its judgment the building up and maintenance of an adequate merchant marine can be best served thereby, and then only upon the affirmative vote of five members of the board duly recorded.

Remodeling and improving

Replacements

Sec. 203. The necessity for the replacement of vessels owned by the United States and in the possession or under the control of the board and the construction for the board of additional up-to-day cargo, combination cargo and passenger, and passenger ships, to give the United States an adequate merchant marine, is hereby recognized, and the board is authorized and directed to present to Congress from time to time recommendations setting forth what new vessels are required for permanent operation under the United States flag in foreign trade, and the estimated cost thereof, to the end that Congress may, from time to time, make provision for replacements and additions. The amount thus set aside shall be known as the construction loan fund. The board may use such fund to the extent it thinks proper, upon such terms as the board may prescribe, in making loans to aid persons citizens of the United States in the construction by them in private shipyards or navy yards in the United States of vessels of the best and most efficient type for the establishment or maintenance of service on lines deemed desirable or necessary by the board, provided such vessels shall be fitted and equipped with the most modern, the most efficient, and the most economical engines, machinery, and commercial appliances; or in the outfitting and equipment by them in private shipyards or navy yards in the United States of vessels already built, with engines, machinery, and commercial appliances of the type and kind mentioned; or in the reconditioning, remodeling, or improvement by them in private shipyards or navy yards in the United States of vessels already built.

"(b) The term 'vessel' or 'vessels,' where used in this section, shall be construed to mean a vessel or vessels to aid in whose construction, equipment, reconditioning, remodeling, or improvement, a loan is made from the construction loan fund of the board. All such vessels shall be documented under the laws of the United States and shall remain documented under such laws for not less than twenty years from the date the loan is made, and so long as there remains due the United States any principal or interest on account of such loan.

"(c) No loan shall be made for a longer time than twenty years. If it is not to be repaid within two years from the date when the first advance on the loan is made by the board, the

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Hattigan, one of its clerks:

Mr. President: The Speaker of the House of Representatives having signed two enrolled bills, viz, H. R. 11577 and H. R. 12875, I am directed to bring the same to the Senate for the signature of its President.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED

Mr. Greene, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that they had examined and found truly enrolled the following bills:

H. R. 11577. An act making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, and for other purposes; and

H. R. 12875. An act making appropriations for the legislative branch of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, and for other purposes.

The Vice President thereupon signed the same, and they were delivered to the committee to be presented to the President of the United States.

DEVELOPMENT OF AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE

Mr. Jones submitted the following conference report:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the House to the bill (S. 744) to further develop an American merchant marine, to assure its permanence in the transportation of the foreign trade of the United States, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference, have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the Senate recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the House, and agree to the same with an amendment, as follows: In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by said amendment insert the following:

Title I—Declaration of Policy

Sec. 1. The policy and the primary purpose declared in section 1 of the merchant marine act, 1920 (United States Code, title 46, section 861), are hereby confirmed.

principal shall be payable in equal annual installments to be definitely prescribed in the instruments. The loan may be paid at any time, on thirty days' written notice to the board, with interest computed to date of payment.

"(d) All such loans shall bear interest at rates as follows, payable not less frequently than annually: During any period in which the vessel is operated exclusively in coastwise trade, or is inactive, the rate of interest shall be as fixed by the board, but not less than 5½ per centum per annum. During any period in which the vessel is operated in foreign trade the rate shall be the lowest rate of yield (to the nearest one-eighth of 1 per centum) of any Government obligation bearing a date of issue subsequent to April 6, 1917 (except postal-savings bonds), and outstanding at the time the loan is made by the board, as certified by the Secretary of the Treasury to the board upon its request. The board may prescribe rules for determining the amount of interest payable under the provisions of this paragraph.

"(e) No loan shall be for a greater sum than three-fourths the cost of the vessel or vessels to be constructed or than three-fourths the cost of the reconditioning, remodeling, improving, or equipping hereinbefore authorized for a vessel already built.

"(f) The board shall require such security as it shall deem necessary to insure the completion of the construction, reconditioning, remodeling, improving, or equipping of the vessel within a reasonable time and the repayment of the loan with interest; when the construction, reconditioning, remodeling, improving, or equipping of the vessel is completed the security shall include a preferred mortgage on the vessel, complying with the provisions of the ship mortgage act, 1920 (United States Code, title 46, chapter 25), which mortgage shall contain appropriate covenants and provisions to insure the proper physical maintenance of the vessel, and its protection against liens for taxes, penalties, claims, or liabilities of any kind whatever, which might impair the security for the debt. It shall also contain any other covenants and provisions the board may prescribe, including a provision for the summary maturing of the entire debt, for causes to be enumerated in the mortgage.

"(g) The board shall also require and the security furnished shall provide that the owner of the vessel shall keep the same insured against loss or damage by fire, and against marine risks and disasters, and against any and all other insurable risks the board specifies, with such insurance companies, associations, or underwriters, and under such forms of policies, and to such an amount, as the board may prescribe or approve; such insurance shall be made payable to the board and/or to the parties, as interest may appear. The board is authorized to enter into any agreement that it deems wise in respect to the payment and for the guaranty of premiums of insurance."

"(b) Section 11 of the merchant marine act, 1920, as in force immediately prior to the enactment of this act, shall remain in force in respect of all loans made before the enactment of this act.

Increase of construction loan fund

Sec. 302. (a) There is authorized to be appropriated, to be credited to and for the purposes of the construction loan fund created by section 11 of the merchant marine act, 1920, as amended, such amounts as will, when added to the amounts credited to such fund by the United States Shipping Board under authority of law (exclusive of repayments on loans from the fund), make the aggregate of the amounts credited to such fund (exclusive of such repayments) equal to $250,000,000.

"(b) When $250,000,000 has been credited to such fund (whether by the board under authority of law or from appropriations authorized by this section, but exclusive of repayments on loans from the fund) then no further sums (except such repayments) shall be credited by the board to such fund.

"(c) The construction loan fund shall continue to be a revolving fund. Repayments on loans from the fund shall be credited to the fund, but interest on such loans shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts.

Title IV—Ocean Mail Service

Scope of title

Sec. 401. All mails of the United States carried on vessels between ports (exclusive of ports in the Dominion of Canada other than ports in Nova Scotia) between which it is lawful under the navigation laws for a vessel not documented under the laws of the United States to carry merchandise shall, if practicable, be carried on vessels in respect of which a contract is made under this title.

Requirements of Postal Service

Sec. 402. As soon as practicable after the enactment of this act, and from time to time thereafter, it shall be the duty of the Postmaster General to certify to the United States Shipping Board what ocean mail routes, in his opinion, should be established and/or operated for the carrying of mails of the United States between ports (exclusive of ports in the Dominion of Canada other than ports in Nova Scotia) between which it is lawful under the navigation laws for a vessel not documented under the laws of the United States to carry merchandise, distributed so as equitably to serve the Atlantic, Mexican Gulf, and Pacific coast ports, the volume of mail then moving over such routes and the estimated volume thereof during the next five years, the times deemed by him advisable for the departure of the vessels carrying such mails, and other requirements necessary to provide an adequate postal service between such ports.

Recommendations by shipping board

Sec. 403. The board shall, as soon as practicable, after receipt of such certification from the Postmaster General, determine and certify to him the type, size, speed, and other characteristics of the vessels which should be employed on each such route, the frequency and regularity of their sailings and all other facts which bear upon the capacity of the vessels to meet the requirements of the service stated by the Postmaster General. The board in making its determination shall take into consideration the desirability of having the mail service performed by vessels constructed in accordance with the latest and most approved types, with modern improvements and appliances.

Authority to make contracts

Sec. 404. The Postmaster General is authorized to enter into contracts with citizens of the United States whose bids are accepted, for the carrying of mails between ports (exclusive of ports in the Dominion of Canada other than ports in Nova Scotia) between which it is lawful under the navigation laws for a vessel not documented under the laws of the United States to carry merchandise. He shall include in such contracts such requirements and conditions as in his best judgment will insure the full and efficient performance thereof and the protection of the interests of the Government. Performance under any such contract shall begin not more than three years after the contract is let, and the term of the contract shall not exceed ten years.

Vessels

Sec. 405. (a) The vessels employed in ocean mail service under a contract made under this title shall be steel vessels, shall be steam or motor vessels, and shall be either (1) American-built and registered under the laws of the United States during the entire time of such employment, or (2) registered under the laws of the United States not later than February 1, 1928, and so registered during the entire time of such employment, or (3) actually ordered and under construction for the account of citizens of the United States prior to February 1, 1928, and registered under the laws of the United States during the entire time of such employment.

"(b) A vessel for the services of which a contract is entered into under authority of this title, and the construction of which is hereafter begun, shall be either (1) a vessel constructed, according to plans and specifications approved by the Secretary of the Navy, with particular reference to economical conversion into an auxiliary naval vessel, or (2) a vessel which will be otherwise useful to the United States in time of national emergency.

"(c) From and after the enactment of this act, all licensed officers of vessels documented under the laws of the United States, as now required by law, shall be citizens of the United States; from and after the enactment of this act and for a period of four years, upon each departure from the United States of a vessel employed in ocean mail service under this title, one-half of the crew (crew including all employees of the ship other than officers) shall be citizens of the United States and, thereafter, two-thirds of the crew as above defined shall be citizens of the United States.

Advertising for bids

Sec. 406. Before making any contract for carrying ocean mails under this title the Postmaster General shall give public notice by advertisement once a week for three weeks in such daily newspapers as he shall select in each of the cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, Charleston, Norfolk, Savannah, Jacksonville, Galveston, Houston, and Mobile, calling for bids for carrying of such ocean mails; or when the proposed service is to be on the Pacific Ocean then in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, and Seattle. Such notice shall describe the proposed route, the time when such contract will be made, the number of trips a year, the schedule required, the time when the service shall commence, the character of the vessels required, and all other information deemed by the Postmaster General to be necessary to inform prospective bidders as to the character of the service to be required.

Awarding contracts

Sec. 407. Each contract for the carrying of ocean mails under this title shall be awarded to the lowest bidder who, in the judgment of the Postmaster General, possesses such qualifications as to insure proper performance of the mail service under the contract.

Classification of vessels

Sec. 408. (a) The vessels employed in ocean mail service under this title shall be divided into classes as follows:

Class 7. Vessels capable of maintaining a speed of ten knots at sea in ordinary weather, and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than two thousand five hundred tons.

Class 6. Vessels capable of maintaining a speed of ten knots at sea in ordinary weather, and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than four thousand tons.

Class 5. Vessels capable of maintaining a speed of thirteen knots at sea in ordinary weather, and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than eight thousand tons.

Class 4. Vessels capable of maintaining a speed of sixteen knots at sea in ordinary weather, and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than ten thousand tons.

Class 3. Vessels capable of maintaining a speed of eighteen knots at sea in ordinary weather, and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than twelve thousand tons.

Class 2. Vessels capable of maintaining a speed of twenty knots at sea in ordinary weather, and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than sixteen thousand tons.

Class 1. Vessels capable of maintaining a speed of twenty-four knots at sea in ordinary weather, and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than twenty thousand tons.

"(b) The classification of a vessel may be based upon its speed without regard to its tonnage if the Postmaster General is of opinion that speed is especially important on the particular route on which the vessel is to be employed, and that a suitable vessel documented under the laws of the United States of a higher classification is not available on reasonable terms and conditions, or, on account of the character of the ports served or for other reasons, can not be safely or economically employed on such route.

Compensation under contracts

Sec. 409. (a) The rate of compensation to be paid under this title for ocean-mail service shall be fixed in the contract. Such rate shall not exceed: For vessels of class 7, $1.50 per nautical mile; for vessels of class 6, $2.50 per nautical mile; for vessels of class 5, $4 per nautical mile; for vessels of class 4, $6 per nautical mile; for vessels of class 3, $8 per nautical mile; for vessels of class 2, $10 per nautical mile; and for vessels of class 1, $12 per nautical mile. As used in this section the term "nautical mile" means six thousand and eighty feet.

"(b) When the Postmaster General is of opinion that the interests of the Postal Service will be served thereby, he may, in the case of a vessel of class 1 capable of maintaining a speed in excess of 24 knots at sea in ordinary weather, contract for the payment of compensation in excess of the maximum compensation authorized in subsection (a), but the compensation per nautical mile authorized by this subsection shall not be greater than an amount which bears the same ratio to $12 as the speed which such vessel is capable of maintaining at sea in ordinary weather bears to 24 knots.

"(c) If the Postmaster General is of opinion that to expedite and maintain satisfactory service under a contract made under this title, airplanes or airships are required to be used in conjunction with vessels, he may allow additional compensation of amounts to be determined by him, on account of the use of such airplanes or airships. Such airplanes or airships shall be American-built and owned, officered, and manned by citizens of the United States.

"(d) The Postmaster General shall determine the number of nautical miles by the shortest practicable route between the ports involved and payments under any contract made under this title shall be made for such number of miles on each outward voyage regardless of the actual mileage traveled.

Violation of contracts

Sec. 410. In the case of failure of a vessel from any cause to perform any regular voyage required by a contract made under this title, a pro rata deduction shall be made from the contract price on account of such omitted voyage; and suitable deductions, to be determined by the Postmaster General, may be made from the compensation payable under the contract for delays, failures to properly safeguard the mails or other irregularities in the performance of the contract. Deductions so determined upon shall be deducted by the Postmaster General from the payments otherwise due and payable under the terms of the contract. The Postmaster General may, in case of emergency, permit the substitution for a particular voyage of a vessel not within the provisions of the contract, even though not conforming to the requirements of section 405.

Passengers, freight, and express

Sec. 411. Any vessel operating under a contract made under this title may carry passengers and their baggage, and freight and express, and may do all ordinary business done by similar vessels.

Naval officers

Sec. 412. Naval officers of the United States on the active list may volunteer for service on any vessel employed in mail service under a contract made under the provisions of this title, and when accepted by the owner or master thereof may be assigned to such duty by the Secretary of the Navy. While in such employment such officers shall receive from the Government half pay, exclusive of allowances, and such other compensation from the owner or master as may be agreed upon by the parties; but such officers while in such employment shall be required to perform only such duties as appertain to the merchant marine.

Mail messengers

Sec. 413. Upon each vessel employed in ocean mail service under a contract made under this title, the Postmaster General shall be entitled to have transported such mail messengers as he may require, for whom shall be provided subsistence, suitable staterooms, and working quarters, all free of charge.

Amendments and repeals

Sec. 414. (a) Section 24 of the merchant marine act, 1920 (United States Code, title 46, section 880), is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 24. That all mails of the United States shipped or carried on vessels shall, if practicable, be shipped or carried on American-built vessels documented under the laws of the United States. No contract hereafter made with the Postmaster General for carrying mails on vessels so built and documented shall be assigned or sublet, and no mails covered by such contract shall be carried on any vessel not so built and documented. No money shall be paid out of the Treasury of the United States on or in relation to any such contract for carrying mails on vessels so built and documented when such contract has been assigned or sublet or when mails covered by such contract are in violation of the terms thereof carried on any vessel not so built and documented. This section shall not be applicable in the case of contracts made under Title IV of the merchant marine act, 1928."

"(b) Section 7 of the merchant marine act, 1920 (United States Code, title 46, section 866), is amended by striking out so much thereof as read as follows: "The Postmaster General is authorized, notwithstanding the act entitled 'An act to provide for ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports, and to promote commerce,' approved March 3, 1891, to contract for the carrying of the mails over such lines at such price as may be agreed upon by the board and the Postmaster General."

"(c) The act entitled "An act to provide for ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports, and to promote commerce," approved March 3, 1891 (United States Code, title 39, sections 657-665), is repealed.

"(d) So much of the act entitled "An act making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, and for other purposes," approved March 3, 1917, as provides for contracts for the carrying of mails between the United States and Great Britain (United States Code, title 39, section 666), is repealed.

"(e) Subdivision (b) of section 4009 of the Revised Statutes, as amended (Forty-fourth Statutes at Large, part 2, page 900), is amended to read as follows:

"(b) The provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall not limit the compensation for transportation of mail which the Postmaster General may pay under contracts entered into in accordance with the provisions of section 4007 of the Revised Statutes (United States Code, title 39, section 652), section 24 of the merchant marine act, 1920 (United States Code, title 46, section 880), or title 4 of the merchant marine act, 1928."

"(f) Any contract made prior to the enactment of this act shall remain in force and effect in the same manner and to the same extent as though this act had not been enacted. Any such contract which expires on June 30, 1928, may be extended for a period of not more than one year from such date.

Title V—Insurance Fund

Sec. 501. Section 10 of the merchant marine act, 1920 (United States Code, title 46, section 869), is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 10. That the board may create out of insurance premiums, and revenue from operations and sales, and maintain and administer separate insurance funds which it may use to insure in whole or in part against all hazards commonly covered by insurance policies in such cases, any legal or equitable interest of the United States (1) in any vessel constructed or in process of construction; and (2) in any plants or property in the possession or under the authority of the board. The United States shall be held to have such an interest in any vessel toward the construction, reconditioning, remodeling, improving, or equipping of which a loan has been made under the authority of this act, in any vessel upon which it holds a mortgage or lien of any character, or in any vessel which is obligated by contract with the owner to perform any service in behalf of the United States, to the extent of the Government's interest therein."

Title VI—Transportation of Government officials

Sec. 601. Any officer or employee of the United States traveling on official business overseas to foreign countries, or to any of the possessions of the United States, shall travel and transport his personal effects on ships registered under the laws of the United States when such ships are available, unless the necessity of his mission requires the use of a ship under a foreign flag: Provided, That the Comptroller General of the United States shall not credit any allowance for travel or shipping expenses incurred on a foreign ship in the absence of satisfactory proof of the necessity therefor.

Title VII—Miscellaneous

Authorization of appropriations

Sec. 701. The appropriations necessary to carry out the provisions and accomplish the purposes of this act are hereby authorized.

Requisition of vessels

Sec. 702 (a) The following vessels may be taken and purchased or used by the United States for national defense or during any national emergency declared by proclamation of the President:

(1) Any vessel in respect of which, under a contract hereafter entered into, a loan is made from the construction loan fund created by section 11 of the merchant marine act, 1920, as amended—at any time until the principal and interest of the loan has been paid; and

(2) Any vessel in respect of which an ocean mail contract is made under title 4 of this act—at any time during the period for which the contract is made.

(b) In such event the owner shall be paid the fair actual value of the vessel at the time of taking, or paid the fair compensation for her use based upon such fair actual value; but in neither case shall such fair actual value be enhanced by the causes necessitating the taking. In the case of a vessel taken and used, but not purchased, the vessel shall be restored to the owner in a condition at least as good as when taken, less reasonable wear and tear, or the owner shall be paid an amount for recondition sufficient to place the vessel in such condition. The owner shall not be paid for any consequential damages arising from such taking and purchase or use.

(c) The President shall ascertain the fair compensation for such taking and purchase or use and shall certify to Congress the amount so found by him to be due, for appropriation and payment to the person entitled thereto. If the amount found by the President to be due is unsatisfactory to the person entitled thereto, such person shall be entitled to sue the United States for the amount of such fair compensation and such suit shall be brought in the manner provided by paragraph 20 of section 24 or by section 145 of the Judicial Code, as amended (United States Code, title 28, sections 41, 250).

section 2 of the shipping act, 1916, as amended (United States Code, title 46, section 802).

That the Senate recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the House and agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the House amendment insert the following:

Declaration of policy

Section 1. In order to stabilize the current of interstate and foreign commerce in the marketing of agricultural commodities and prevent suppression of commerce with foreign nations in such commodities and unjust discrimination against such foreign commerce, it is hereby declared to be the policy of the Congress to promote the orderly marketing of agricultural commodities in interstate and foreign commerce, and to that end, through the execution of the provisions of this act, to provide for the control and disposition of surpluses of such commodities, to preserve advantageous domestic markets for such commodities, to prevent such surpluses from unduly depressing the prices obtained for such commodities and from causing undue and excessive fluctuations in the markets for such commodities, to minimize speculation and waste in marketing such commodities, and to further the organization of producers of such commodities into cooperative associations.

Federal farm board

Sec. 2. (a) A Federal farm board is hereby created which shall consist of the Secretary of Agriculture, who shall be a member ex officio, and twelve members, one from each of the twelve Federal land bank districts, who shall be appointed by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

A successor to an appointed member of the board shall be appointed in the same manner as the original appointed members, and shall have a term of office expiring six years from the date of the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed.

(c) Any person appointed to fill a vacancy in the board occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed for the remainder of such term.

(d) Any member of the board in office at the expiration of the term for which he was appointed, may continue in office until his successor takes office.

(e) Vacancies in the board shall not impair the powers of the remaining members to execute the functions of the board, and a majority of the appointed members in office shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of the business of the board.

(f) Each of the appointed members of the board shall be a citizen of the United States, shall be the producer of some one or more agricultural products or shall be interested in and truly representative of agriculture, shall not actively engage in any other business, vocation, or employment than that of serving as a member of the board, and shall receive a salary of $10,000 a year, together with necessary traveling expenses and expenses incurred for subsistence or per diem allowance in lieu thereof, within the limitations prescribed by law, while away from the principal office of the board on business required by this act, or if assigned to any other office established by the board, then while away from such office on business required by this act.

General powers

(c) Shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed.

(g) Shall meet at the call of the chairman, or of the Secretary of Agriculture, or of a majority of its members.

(h) Shall keep advised from any available sources, of crop prices, prospects, supply, and demand, at home and abroad, with especial attention to the existence or the probability of the existence of a surplus of any agricultural commodity or any of its food products, and it may advise producers through their organizations or otherwise in matters connected with the adjustment of production, distribution, and marketing of any such commodity, in order that they may secure the maximum benefits under this act.

(i) Shall advise producers through their organizations or otherwise in the development of suitable programs of planting or breeding, so that burdensome crop surpluses may be avoided or minimized, in order that they may secure such benefits.

Commodity advisory councils

Sec. 4. (a) Prior to the commencement of a marketing period in respect of any agricultural commodity the board is directed to create for such commodity an advisory council, which shall be a governmental agency composed of seven members fairly representative of the producers of such commodity. Members of each commodity advisory council shall be selected annually by the board only from lists submitted by the cooperative associations and by other organizations representative of the producers of the commodity in each State that produced in the preceding five crop years, according to the estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture, an average of three per centum or more of the average annual total domestic production of the commodity, and from lists submitted by the governors and by the heads of the agricultural departments of such States. Members of each commodity advisory council shall serve without salary but may be paid by the board a per diem compensation not exceeding $20 for attending meetings of the council and for time devoted to other business of the council and authorized by the board. Each council member shall be paid by the board his necessary traveling expenses to and from meetings of the council and his expenses incurred for subsistence, or per diem allowance in lieu thereof, within the limitations prescribed by law, while engaged upon the business of the council. Each commodity advisory council shall be designated by the name of the commodity it represents, as, for example, "The cotton advisory council."

(b) Each commodity advisory council shall meet as soon as practicable after its selection at a time and place designated by the board and select a chairman. The board may designate a secretary of the council, subject to the approval of the council.

(c) Each commodity advisory council shall meet thereafter at least twice in each year at a time and place designated by the board, or upon call of a majority of its members at a time and place designated in the call, notice of such call being sent by registered mail at least ten days before the date of the meeting.

(d) Each commodity advisory council shall have power, by itself or through its officers, (1) to confer directly with the board, to call for information from it, or to make oral or written representations to it, concerning matters within the jurisdiction of the board and relating to the agricultural commodity, including the amount and method of collection of the equalization fee, and (2) to cooperate with the board in advising the producers through their organizations or otherwise in the development of suitable programs of planting or breeding so that burdensome crop surpluses may be avoided or minimized, in order to secure the maximum benefits under this act.

(e) Prior to the commencement or termination of a marketing period with respect to any agricultural commodity and prior to the publication of the amount of any equalization fee with respect to any agricultural commodity, the board shall submit to the advisory council for the commodity a statement of the respective findings or estimate which the board is required to make and of the evidence and facts considered by the board in making such findings or estimate. Within fifteen days after receiving such statement, the advisory council shall consider such findings or estimate and shall notify the board of its determination made with respect thereto. No marketing period with respect to any agricultural commodity shall be commenced or terminated and no equalization fee with respect to the commodity shall be collected, unless the advisory council for such commodity has determined (1) that the findings or estimate which the board is required to make are supported by the evidence and facts considered by the board, and (2) that the board has considered substantially all the material facts and evidence available for making the findings or estimate.

Loans

Sec. 5. (a) The board is authorized to make loans, out of the revolving fund hereinafter created, to any cooperative association or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, upon such terms and conditions as, in the judgment of the board, will afford adequate assurance of repayment and carry out the policy declared in section 1, and upon such other terms and conditions as the board deems necessary. Such loans shall be for one of the following purposes:

(1) For the purpose of assisting the cooperative association or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, in controlling a seasonal or year's total surplus, produced in the United States and either local or national in extent, that is in excess of the requirements for the orderly marketing of any agricultural commodity or in excess of the domestic requirements for such commodity.

(2) For the purpose of developing continuity of cooperative services from the point of production to and including the point of terminal marketing services, if the proceeds of the loan are to be used either (A) for working capital for the cooperative association or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, or (B) for assisting the cooperative association or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, in the acquisition, by purchase, construction, or otherwise, of facilities and equipment, including terminal marketing facilities and equipment, for the preparing, handling, storing, processing, or sale or other disposition of the agricultural commodities, or (C) for furnishing funds to the cooperative association or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations for use as capital for any agricultural credit corporation eligible to receive discounts under section 202 of the Federal farm loan act, as amended, or (D) for furnishing funds to the cooperative association or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations for necessary expenditures in federating, consolidating, merging, or extending the membership of cooperative associations or corporations created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations. The cooperative association, or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, shall repay the loan, together with the interest thereon, within a period of not more than twenty years, by means of a charge to be deducted from the proceeds of the sale or other disposition of each unit of the agricultural commodity handled by the association or corporation, unless some other method of repayment is agreed upon by the board and the association or corporation.

(b) Any loan under this section shall bear interest at the rate of 4 per centum per annum. The aggregate amount of loans under this section, outstanding and unpaid at any one time, shall not exceed $200,000,000, but—

(1) The aggregate amount of loans for all purposes under paragraph (2) of subdivision (a), outstanding and unpaid at any one time, shall not exceed $25,000,000; and

(2) The aggregate amount of loans for the purpose of expenditures in federating, consolidating, merging, or extending the membership of cooperative associations or corporations created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, outstanding and unpaid at any one time, shall not exceed $1,000,000.

Increased production

Sec. 6. If the board finds that its advice as to a program of planting or breeding of any agricultural commodity as hereinbefore provided has been substantially disregarded by the producers of the commodity, or that the planting or breeding of any agricultural commodity for any year is substantially greater than a normal increase, as determined by the board, over the average planting or breeding of such commodity for the preceding five years, the board may refuse to make loans for the purchase of such commodity.

Clearing house and terminal market associations

Sec. 7. The board may assist in the establishment of and provide for the registration of, in accordance with such regulations as it may prescribe, (1) clearing house associations adapted, in the opinion of the board, to effect the more orderly production, distribution, and marketing of any agricultural commodity, to prevent gluts or famines in any market for such commodity, and to reduce waste incident to the marketing of such commodity, and (2) terminal market associations adapted, in the opinion of the board, to maintain public markets in distribution centers for the more orderly distribution and marketing of any agricultural commodity. Only cooperative associations or corporations created or controlled by one or more cooperative associations shall be eligible for membership in any clearing house association or terminal market association registered under this section. Rules for the governance of any such association shall be adopted by the members thereof with the approval of the board.

Marketing agreements

Sec. 8. (a) From time to time upon request of the advisory council for any agricultural commodity, or upon request of leading cooperative associations or other organizations of producers of any agricultural commodity, or upon its own motion, the board shall investigate the supply and marketing situation in respect of such agricultural commodity.

(b) Whenever upon such investigation the board finds—
First. That there is or may be during the ensuing year a seasonal or year's total surplus, produced in the United States and national in extent, that is in excess of the requirements for the orderly marketing of any agricultural commodity or in excess of the domestic requirements for the commodity;

Second. That the operation of the provisions of section 5 (relating to loans to cooperative associations or corporations created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations) will not be effective to control such surplus because of the inability or unwillingness of the cooperative associations engaged in handling the commodity, or corporations created and controlled by one or more such cooperative associations, to control such surplus with the assistance of such loans; and Third. That the durability, the conditions of preparation, processing, and preserving, and the methods of marketing of the commodity are such that the commodity is adapted to marketing as authorized by this section;—

then the board, after publicly declaring its findings, shall arrange for marketing any part of the commodity by means of marketing agreements with cooperative associations engaged in handling the commodity or corporations created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations. Such marketing shall continue during a marketing period which shall terminate at such time as the board finds that such arrangements are no longer necessary or advisable for carrying out the policy declared by section 1.

(c) A marketing agreement shall provide either—

(1) For the withholding by a cooperative association, or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, during such period as shall be provided in the agreement, of any part of the commodity delivered to such cooperative association or associations by its members. Any such agreement shall provide for the payment from the stabilization fund for the commodity of the costs arising out of such withholding; or

(2) For the purchase by a cooperative association, or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, of any part of the commodity not delivered to such cooperative association or associations by its members, and for the withholding and disposal of the commodity so purchased. Any such marketing agreement shall provide for the payment from the stabilization fund for the commodity of the amount of the losses, costs, and charges arising out of the purchase, withholding, and disposal, or out of contracts therefor, and for the payment into the stabilization fund for the commodity of profits (after repaying all advances from the stabilization fund and deducting all costs and charges, provided for in the agreement) arising out of the purchase, withholding, and disposal or out of contracts therefor.

(d) The board may, in its discretion, provide in any such marketing agreement for financing any withholding, purchase, or disposal under such agreement, through advances from the stabilization fund for the commodity. Such financing shall be upon such terms as the board may prescribe, but no such advance shall bear interest.

(e) If the board is of the opinion that there are two or more cooperative associations or corporations created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations capable of carrying out any marketing agreement, the board in entering into the agreement shall not unreasonably discriminate against any such association or corporation in favor of any other such association or corporation. If the board is of the opinion that there is no such cooperative association or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations capable of carrying out any marketing agreement for purchase, withholding, and disposal, then the board may enter into the agreement with other agencies but shall not unreasonably discriminate between such other agencies.

(f) During a marketing period fixed by the board for any commodity, the board may enter into marketing agreements for the purchase, withholding, and disposal of the food products of such commodity, and all provisions of this section applicable to marketing agreements for the purchase, withholding, and disposal of the commodity, shall apply to the agreements in respect of its food products.

(g) Any decision of the board relating to the commencement, extension, or termination of a marketing period shall require the affirmative vote of a majority of the appointed members in office.

(h) The powers of the board under this section in respect of any agricultural commodity shall be exercised in such manner, and the marketing agreements entered into by the board during any marketing period shall be upon such terms as will, in the judgment of the board, carry out the policy declared by section 1.

(i) The United States shall not be liable, directly or indirectly, upon agreements under this act in respect of agricultural commodities, in excess of the amounts available in the stabilization, premium insurance, and revolving funds.

Equalization fee

Sec. 9. (a) In order to carry out marketing and nonpremium insurance agreements in respect of any agricultural commodity without loss to the revolving fund, each marketed unit of such agricultural commodity produced in the United States shall, throughout any marketing period in respect of such commodity, contribute ratably its equitable share of the losses, costs, and charges arising out of such agreements. Such contributions shall be made by means of an equalization fee apportioned and paid as a regulation of interstate and foreign commerce in the commodity. It shall be the duty of the board to apportion and collect such fee in respect of such commodity as hereinafter provided.

(b) Prior to the commencement of any marketing period in respect of any agricultural commodity, and thereafter from time to time during such marketing period the board shall estimate the probable losses, costs, and charges to be paid under marketing agreements in respect of such commodity and under non-premium insurance agreements in respect of such commodity as hereinafter provided. Upon the basis of such estimates, the board shall from time to time determine and publish the amount of the equalization fee (if any is required under such estimates) for each unit of weight, measure, or value designated by the board, to be collected upon such unit of such agricultural commodity during any part of the marketing period for the commodity. Such amount is referred to in this act as the "equalization fee." At the time of determining and publishing any equalization fee the board shall specify the time during which the particular fee shall remain in effect and the place and manner of its payment and collection.

(c) Under such regulations as the board may prescribe, any equalization fee determined upon by the board shall be paid, in respect of each marketed unit of such commodity, upon one of the following: The transportation, processing, or sale of such unit. The equalization fee shall not be collected more than once in respect of any unit. The board shall determine, in the case of each class of transactions in the commodity, whether the equalization fee shall be paid upon transportation, processing, or sale. The board shall make such determination upon the basis of the most effective and economical means of collecting the fee with respect to each unit of the commodity marketed during the marketing period.

(d) When any equalization fee is collected with respect to cattle or swine, an equalization fee equivalent in amount, as nearly as may be, shall be collected, under such regulations as the board may prescribe, upon the first sale or other disposition of any food product derived in whole or in part from cattle or swine, respectively, if the food product was on hand and owned at the time of the commencement of the marketing period: Provided, That any food product owned in good faith by retail dealers at the time of the commencement of the marketing period shall be exempt from the operation of this subdivision.

(e) Under such regulations as the board may prescribe, the equalization fee determined under this section for any agricultural commodity produced in the United States shall in addition be collected upon the importation of each designated unit of the agricultural commodity imported into the United States for consumption therein, and an equalization fee, in an amount equivalent as nearly as may be, shall be collected upon the importation of any food product derived in whole or in part from the agricultural commodity and imported into the United States for consumption therein.

(f) The board may by regulation require any person engaged in the transportation, processing, or acquisition by purchase of any agricultural commodity produced in the United States, or in the importation of any agricultural commodity or food product thereof—

(1) To file returns under oath and to report, in respect of his transportation, processing, or acquisition of such commodity produced in the United States or in respect of his importation of the commodity or food product thereof, the amount of equalization fees payable thereon and such other facts as may be necessary for their payment or collection.

(2) To collect the equalization fee as directed by the board and to account therefor.

(g) The board, under regulations prescribed by it, is authorized to pay to any such person required to collect such fees a reasonable charge for his services.

(h) Every person who, in violation of the regulations prescribed by the board, fails to collect or account for any equalization fee shall be liable for its amount and to a penalty equal to one-half its amount. Such amount and penalty may be recovered together in a civil suit brought by the board in the name of the United States.

(i) As used in this section—

(1) In the case of grain the term "processing" means milling of grain for market or the first processing in any manner for market (other than cleaning or drying) of grain not so milled, and the term "sale" means a sale or other disposition in the United States of grain for milling or other processing for market, for resale, or for delivery by a common carrier—occurring during a marketing period in respect of grain.

(2) In the case of cotton the term "processing" means spinning, milling, or any manufacturing of cotton other than ginning; the term "sale" means a sale on other disposition in the United States of cotton for spinning, milling, or any manufacturing other than ginning, or for delivery outside the United States; and the term "transportation" means the acceptance of cotton by a common carrier for delivery to any person for spinning, milling, or any manufacturing of cotton other than ginning, or for delivery outside the United States—occurring during a marketing period in respect of cotton.

(3) In the case of livestock, the term "processing" means slaughter for market by a purchaser of livestock, and the term "sale" means a sale or other disposition in the United States of livestock destined for slaughter for market without intervening holding for feeding (other than feeding in transit) or fattening—occurring during a marketing period in respect of livestock.

(4) In the case of tobacco, the term "sale" means a sale or other disposition to any dealer in leaf tobacco or to any registered manufacturer of the products of tobacco. The term "tobacco" means leaf tobacco, stemmed or unstemmed.

(5) In the case of grain, livestock, and tobacco, the term "transportation" means the acceptance of the commodity by a common carrier for delivery.

(6) In the case of any agricultural commodity other than grain, cotton, livestock, or tobacco, the board shall, in connection with its specification of the place and manner of payment and collection of the equalization fee, further specify the particular type of processing, sale, or transportation in respect of which the equalization fee is to be paid and collected.

(7) The term "sale" does not include a transfer to a cooperative association for the purpose of sale or other disposition by such association on account of the transferor; nor a transfer of title in pursuance of a contract entered into before, and at a specified price determined before, the commencement of a marketing period in respect of the agricultural commodity. In case of the transfer of title in pursuance of a contract entered into after the commencement of a marketing period in respect of the agricultural commodity, but entered into at a time when, and at a specified price determined at a time during which a particular equalization fee is in effect, then the equalization fee applicable in respect of such transfer of title shall be the equalization fee in effect at the time when such specified price was determined.

Stabilization funds

Sec. 10. (a) For each agricultural commodity as to which marketing agreements are made by the board, there shall be established, in accordance with the regulations prescribed by the board, a stabilization fund. Such fund shall be administered by and exclusively under the control of the board, and the board shall have the exclusive power of expending the moneys in such fund.

(b) There shall be deposited to the credit of the stabilization fund for any agricultural commodity (1) advances from the revolving fund as hereinafter authorized, (2) profits arising out of marketing agreements in respect of the commodity, (3) repayments of advances for financing the purchase, withholding, or disposal of the commodity, and (4) equalization fees collected in respect of the commodity and its imported food products.

(c) In order to make the payments required by a marketing or nonpremium insurance agreement in respect of any agricultural commodity, and in order to pay the salaries and expenses of experts, the board may, in its discretion, advance to the stabilization fund for such commodity out of the revolving fund such amounts as may be necessary.

(d) The deposits to the credit of a stabilization fund shall be made in a public depository of the United States. All general laws relating to the embezzlement, conversion, or to the improper handling, retention, use, or disposal of public moneys of the United States shall apply to the profits and equalization fees payable to the credit of the stabilization fund and to moneys deposited to the credit of the fund or withdrawn therefrom but in the custody of any officer or employee of the United States.

(e) There shall be withdrawn from the stabilization fund for any agricultural commodity (1) the payments required by marketing or nonpremium insurance agreements in respect of the commodity, (2) the salaries and expenses of such experts as the board determines shall be payable from such fund, (3) repayments into the revolving fund of advances made from the revolving fund to the stabilization fund, together with interest on such amounts at the rate of 4 per centum per annum, and (4) service charges payable for the collection of equalization fees.

Insurance

Sec. 11. (a) In order that a cooperative association handling any staple agricultural commodity may with reasonable security make payments to its members at the time of delivery of such commodity by the members, fairly reflecting the current market value of such agricultural commodity, the board is authorized to enter into an agreement, upon such terms and conditions as it may prescribe, for the insurance of such cooperative association against price decline as hereinafter provided. Such insurance agreement may be entered into by the board only with respect to any such agricultural commodity which, in the judgment of the board, is regularly traded in upon an exchange in sufficient volume to establish a recognized basic price for the market grades of such commodity, and then only when such exchange has accurate price records for the commodity covering a period of years of sufficient length, in the judgment of the board, to serve as a basis upon which to calculate the risks of the insurance.

(b) Any such agreement for insurance against price decline shall provide for the insurance of the cooperative association for any twelve months' period commencing with the delivery season for the commodity against loss to such association or its members due to decline in the average market price for the commodity during the time of sale by the association from the average market price for the commodity during the time of delivery to the association. The measure of such decline, where a decline occurs, shall be the difference between the average market price weighted for the days and volume of delivery to the association by its members, and the average market price weighted for the days and volume of sales by the association. In computing such average market prices the board shall use the daily average cash prices paid for the basic grade of such commodity in the exchange designated in the agreement. Any such agreement shall cover only so much of the commodity delivered to the association as is produced by the members of the association and as is reported by the association for coverage under the agreement.

(c) Whenever in the judgment of the board the use of such insurance agreements in respect of any commodity will stabilize the market substantially in the interest of the producers of the commodity whether or not members of a cooperative association dealing in the commodity, then the board, during the continuance of any marketing period for the commodity as provided in section 8, may enter into nonpremium, or if the board deems it advisable, premium insurance agreements with cooperative associations dealing in the commodity. Whenever in the judgment of the board the use of such insurance agreements will not so stabilize the market, then the board may enter into premium insurance agreements only with the cooperative associations.

(d) Payments required under nonpremium insurance agreements in respect of any commodity shall be made out of the stabilization fund for the commodity. Payments under premium insurance agreements in respect of any commodity shall be made out of the premium insurance fund for the commodity to be established by the board under such regulations as it may prescribe.

(e) For insurance under a premium insurance agreement the cooperative association shall pay a premium, to be determined by the board prior to the making of the insurance agreement, upon each unit of the commodity reported by the association for coverage under the insurance agreement. Such premium shall be calculated with due regard to the past price records in established markets for the commodity. The premiums applicable to the commodity in the successive twelve months' periods shall be adjusted with due regard to the experience of the board under preceding insurance agreements. There shall be deposited in the premium insurance fund for any commodity the premiums paid by cooperative associations under premium insurance agreements in respect of the commodity, and advances from the revolving fund in such amounts as the board deems necessary for the operation of the fund. There shall be disbursed from the premium insurance fund for any commodity (1) the payments required by any premium insurance agreement in respect of the commodity, and (2) repayments into the revolving fund of advances made from the revolving fund to such premium insurance fund, together with interest on such advances at the rate of 4 per centum per annum.

Revolving fund

Sec. 12. (a) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $400,000,000: Provided, That at least $200,000,000 of such sum shall be made available by the board solely for use in making advances to the stabilization funds for agricultural commodities in respect of which marketing periods are commenced; and in the allocation of such amount among the stabilization funds of the several commodities, the board shall take into consideration the values of the respective commodities.

(b) All moneys appropriated in pursuance of the authorization made by this section shall be administered by the board and used as a revolving fund in accordance with the provisions of this act. The Secretary of the Treasury shall deposit in the revolving fund such portions of the amounts appropriated therefor as the board from time to time deems necessary.

Examinations of books and accounts of board

Sec. 13. Expenditures by the board from the stabilization or premium insurance funds shall be made by the authorized officers or agents of the board upon receipt of itemized vouchers therefor, approved by such officers as the board may designate. All other expenditures by the board, including expenditures for loans and advances from the revolving fund, shall be allowed and paid upon the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor, approved by the chairman of the board. Vouchers so made for expenditures from the revolving fund or from any stabilization or premium insurance fund shall be final and conclusive upon all officers of the Government; except that all financial transactions of the board (including the payments required by any marketing or insurance agreement) shall, subject to the above limitations, be examined by the General Accounting Office, at such times and in such manner as the Comptroller General of the United States may by regulation prescribe. Such examination in respect of expenditures from the revolving fund or from any stabilization or premium insurance fund shall be for the sole purpose of making a report to the Congress and to the board of expenditures and agreements in violation of law, together with such recommendations as the Comptroller General deems advisable concerning the receipts, disbursements, and application of the funds administered by the board.

Cooperation with executive departments

Sec. 14. (a) It shall be the duty of any governmental establishment in the executive branch of the Government, upon request by the board, or upon Executive order, to cooperate with and render assistance to the board in carrying out any of the provisions of this act and the regulations of the board. The board shall, in cooperation with any such governmental establishment, avail itself of the services and facilities of such governmental establishment in order to avoid preventable expense or duplication of effort.

(b) Upon request by the board the President, by Executive order, (1) may transfer any officer or employee from any department or independent establishment in the executive branch of the Government, irrespective of his length of service in such department or independent establishment, to the service of the board, and (2) may direct any governmental establishment to furnish the board with such information and data pertaining to the functions of the board as may be contained in the records of the governmental establishment; except that the President shall not direct that the board be furnished with any information or data supplied by any person in confidence to any governmental establishment, in pursuance of any provision of law or of any agreement with the governmental establishment.

(c) The board may cooperate with any State or Territory, or department, agency, or political subdivision thereof, or with any person.

General definitions

Sec. 15. (a) As used in this act—

(1) The term "person" means individual, partnership, corporation, or association.

(2) The term "United States," when used in a geographical sense, means continental United States and the Territory of Hawaii.

(3) The term "cooperative association" means an association of persons engaged in the production of agricultural products, as farmers, planters, ranchers, dairymen, or nut or fruit growers, organized to carry out any purpose specified in section 1 of the act entitled "An act to authorize association of producers of agricultural products," approved February 18, 1922, if such association is qualified under such act.

(b) The provisions of sections 8, 9, and 10 shall not apply to perishable fruits and vegetables.

(c) Whenever any agricultural commodity has regional or market classifications or types which in the judgment of the board are so different from each other in use or marketing methods as to require their treatment as separate commodities under this act, the board may determine upon and designate one or more such classifications or types for such treatment.

Administrative appropriation

Sec. 16. For expenses in the administration of the functions vested in the board by this act, there is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $500,000, to be available to the board for such expenses (including salaries and expenses of the members, officers, and employees of the board and the per diem compensation and expenses of members of the commodity advisory councils) incurred prior to July 1, 1929.

Separability of provisions

Sec. 17. If any provision of this act is declared unconstitutional or the applicability thereof to any person, circumstance, commodity, or class of transactions in respect of any commodity, is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of the act and the applicability of such provision to other persons, circumstances, commodities, and classes of transactions shall not be affected thereby.

Cooperative associations act

Sec. 18. (a) Nothing in this act is intended or shall be construed to repeal or modify any provision of the act entitled "An act to authorize association of producers of agricultural products," approved February 18, 1922.

Penalties

Sec. 19. (a) The provisions of sections 123 and 124 of the Penal Code, approved March 4, 1909, as amended, shall apply to any member, officer, or employee of the board; and, in addition, it shall be held a violation of section 123 of such code if any member, officer, or employee of the board at any time speculates, directly or indirectly, in any agricultural commodity.

(b) It shall be unlawful (1) for any cooperative association, or corporation created and controlled by one or more cooperative associations, or other agency if such agency is acting for or on behalf of the board under any marketing agreement, or (2) for any director, officer, or employee of any such association, corporation, or agency, to which information has been imparted in confidence by the board, to disclose such information in violation of any regulation of the board. Any such association, corporation, or agency, or director, officer, or employee thereof, violating any provision of this subdivision, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than 10 years, or both.

STABILIZATION OF EMPLOYMENT

Mr. Vandenberg submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 233) (with an accompanying syllabus), which was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor:

Whereas it is sound public policy to stabilize prosperity against periods of unemployment and industrial depression; and

Whereas the long-range planning of essential public works if suitably financed can provide necessary opportunities for employment and for general economic stimulus if these public works, sound in themselves, be increased in periods which specifically disclose unemployment and depression; and

Whereas it is to the economic gain of the Government to take advantage of relatively low costs prevailing at such times and to undertake enhanced public works in such periods, provided such works are useful and advisable regardless of the emergency, and provided further that the works may be financed without an increase in current taxation; and

Whereas the Government has long considered such a program, as evidenced by the so-called Keanyon bill presented to the Senate in the first session of the Sixty-seventh Congress and the so-called Jones bill (S. 2475), presented to the present session of the Seventieth Congress and by the President's unemployment conference in 1921 under the chairmanship of Secretary of Commerce Hoover; and

Whereas the serious difficulty heretofore encountered in such a project has been the inadvisability of increasing taxation in times of depression to finance these public works, because increased taxation is a factor which itself negatives the advantages otherwise intended as a means to offset depression; and

Whereas the Government is entitled temporarily to suspend its sinking-fund payments for the retirement of the public debt during these occasional periods of declared emergency and pending the restoration of a normal index, because the average retirement of the public debt at the present legalized annual rate in excess of $300,000,000, plus the proceeds of foreign-debt payments, is ample even though occasionally interrupted as proposed herewith; Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Education and Labor or any special subcommittee therefrom which may be particularly charged with an investigation of means to stabilize employment, is instructed to inquire into the situation herein set forth and to report to the Senate its findings, in connection with any other findings thus reported, upon the long-range planning of public works and the concentration of actual construction, financed by the temporary transfer of funds otherwise allocated by law to the sinking fund, in definitive periods of unemployment and industrial depression.

PUBLIC UTILITY VALUATIONS IN DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. Blaine, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 236), which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia:

Whereas valuation of the property of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and its subsidiaries, the City & Suburban

Railway of Washington, and the Georgetown & Tennytown Railway Co., as decided December 4, 1919, by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia as then constituted has been protested by the carriers as not being representative of current conditions; and

Whereas a valuation of the Capital Traction Co. has been made, as decided September 4, 1919, by the aforesaid Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, and being protested by the carrier was appealed in accordance with paragraph 64 of the act of March 4, 1913, creating the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, and a decree thereon has been entered by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia; and

Whereas the Washington Rapid Transit Co., a public utility operating in the District of Columbia, has not as yet been valued, although petitions fixing the rates for this carrier have been granted by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia; and

Whereas a valuation of the Potomac Electric Power Co. has been made and a report thereon published by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia and an order thereon entered March 21, 1917, said order being appealed to the courts and finally compromised before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in a decree entered the 31st day of December, 1924, with the consent of the parties, fixing a valuation and a rate of return of 7½ per cent thereon and a sliding scale of prices under which one-half the excess return above 7½ per cent is the property of the company; and

Whereas all of these valuations were made prior to the creation of Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia as constituted in the act of December 15, 1926, and prior to the provision of funds for conducting such inquiries as provided in the act of March 3, 1927; and

Whereas these valuations are based upon principles resulting in grave injustice to the users of the public utilities, and, further, that there is now pending before the Congress of the United States a resolution known as H. J. Res. 276, to authorize the merger of street-railway corporations operating in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, and the valuation of these properties correctly made is an important prerequisite to the approval of such a merger: Be it

Resolved, That the Interstate Commerce Commission is directed and shall investigate, ascertain, and report the value of all the property owned or used by the above-named public utilities in the District of Columbia for rate-making purposes and for purposes of consolidation or merger.

Further, the Interstate Commerce Commission is directed to determine the value of the properties sought to be merged by aforesaid H. J. Res. 276 as a single entity, with due consideration for the degree of depreciation in the property which it is proposed to dedicate as a unit to public service; be it further

Resolved, That the aforesaid Interstate Commerce Commission shall report to Congress as promptly as may be results of its findings.

ADDITIONAL FEDERAL ROAD AID FOR CERTAIN WESTERN STATES

The Presiding Officer laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate:

There is returned herewith, without my approval, S. 3674, a bill to amend the act entitled, "An act to provide that the United States shall aid the States in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes," approved July 11, 1916, as amended and supplemented, and for other purposes.

The bill would authorize appropriations of $3,500,000 each for the fiscal years 1929, 1930, and 1931 to be allocated to States having more than 5 per cent of their area in unappropriated or unreserved public lands, nontaxable Indian lands or other Federal reservations, for the construction, by the Bureau of Public Roads, of the main roads through such lands.

From 1917 to 1929, inclusive, Federal appropriations aggregating $840,000,000 have been authorized for cooperative construction of rural post roads and appropriations aggregating $733,200,000 have been made to meet the requirements as they have developed. From 1922 to 1929, inclusive, Federal appropriations aggregating $58,000,000 have been authorized for forest development roads and forest highways and appropriations thereunder, aggregating $54,055,000 have been made. From 1925 to 1929, inclusive, $10,000,000 have been appropriated for the construction of roads in national parks.

While expenditures from appropriations for cooperative construction of rural post roads are contingent upon equal contributions by State or local agencies, no such requirement obtains with reference to appropriations for roads in national forests and national parks since such roads are required for the protection, administration, utilization, or development of Federal resources. The bill would provide for entire construction from Federal funds of main roads through unappropriated or unreserved public lands and nontaxable Indian lands. Such expenditures could not be justified on the basis of protection or development of Federal resources and would constitute a radical departure from the established policy of Federal aid on a cooperative basis in road construction.

Having in mind the increasing ability of the States to finance road construction due to the general adoption of the gasoline tax and the increase in revenue from this source which would accrue to States from roads constructed through public and Indian lands therein, I see no reason why the States should be relieved from their contribution toward the construction of these roads as required by existing law. I am constrained therefore to return this bill without my approval.

THE WHITE HOUSE,
May 18, 1928.

The Senate proceeded, as the Constitution prescribes, to reconsider the said bill returned by the President of the United States, with his objections, to the Senate, in which it originated, which bill is in the following words:

[S. 3674. Seventieth Congress of the United States of America; at the first session, begun and held at the city of Washington on Monday, the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven.]

An act to amend the act entitled "An act to provide that the United States shall aid the States in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes," approved July 11, 1916, as amended and supplemented, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of the act entitled "An act to provide that the United States shall aid the States in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes," approved July 11, 1916, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, there is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the construction, by the Bureau of Public Roads, of the main roads through unappropriated or unreserved public lands, nontaxable Indian lands, or other Federal reservations—

The sum of $3,500,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929.

The sum of $3,500,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930.

The sum of $3,500,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931: Provided, That the sums hereby authorized shall be allocated to the States having more than 5 per cent of their area in lands hereinabove referred to, and said sums shall be apportioned among said States in the proportion that said lands in each of said States is to the total area of said lands in the States eligible under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 2. All acts or parts of acts in any way inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect on its passage.

NICHOLAS LONGWORTH,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
CHARLES G. DAWES,
Vice President of the United States

I certify that this act originated in the Senate.

EDWIN P. THAYER,
Secretary.

The Presiding Officer stated the question to be, Shall the bill pass, the objections of the President of the United States to the contrary notwithstanding? when,

On motion by Mr. Oddie, and by unanimous consent,
Ordered, That the message, together with the said bill, lie on the table and be printed.

CLAIMS OF CERTAIN INDIANS IN THE STATE OF WASHINGTON

The Presiding Officer laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate:

I am returning herewith Senate bill 1480, "An act authorizing certain Indian tribes and bands, or any of them, residing in the State of Washington, to present their claims to the Court of Claims," without my approval.

These claims amount to approximately $9,125,000, which represents the value of 6,500,000 acres of land, in the aboriginal possession of the Indians, at $1.25 per acre, and includes hunting and fishing rights to the value of $1,000,000. These claims are not based upon any treaty or agreement between the United States and these Indians, nor does it appear to me that they are predicated upon such other grounds as should obligate the Government at this late day to defend a suit of this character. The Government should not be required to adjudicate these claims of ancient origin unless there be such evidence of unmistakable merit in the claims as would create an obligation on the part of the Government to admit them to adjudication. It seems to me that such evidence is lacking.

I am constrained, therefore, to withhold my approval of this bill.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

THE WHITE HOUSE, May 18, 1928.

The Senate proceeded, as the Constitution prescribes, to reconsider the said bill, returned by the President of the United States, with his objections, to the Senate, in which it originated, which bill is in the following words:

[S. 1480. Seventieth Congress of the United States of America; at the first session, begun and held at the city of Washington on Monday, the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven]

An act authorizing certain Indian tribes and bands, or any of them, residing in the State of Washington, to present their claims to the Court of Claims

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the Court of Claims, with the right to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States by either party, as in other cases, notwithstanding the lapse of time or statutes of limitation, to hear, examine, and adjudicate and render judgment in any and all legal and equitable claims of the Lower Spokane and the Lower Pend O'Reille or Lower Calispell Tribes or Bands of the State of Washington, or any of said tribes or bands, against the United States arising under or growing out of the original Indian title, claim, or rights of the said Indian tribes and bands, or any of said tribes or bands (with whom no treaty has been made), in, to, or upon the whole or any part of the lands and their appurtenances claimed by said Lower Spokane Tribe or Band of Indians, in the State of Washington, and embraced within the following general descriptions, to wit:

Whereas the morale and efficiency of many of the executive departments and independent establishments of the Government have been completely broken down by the injustice, discrimination, intimidation, and illegal dismissals in the civil service and much loss to the Government caused by the resulting maladministration of the laws: Therefore be it
