PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL MESSAGE

The following message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Latta, his secretary, which was read:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The Constitution requires that the President "shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient." In complying with that requirement I wish to emphasize that during the past year the Nation has continued to grow in strength; our people have advanced in comfort; we have gained in knowledge; the education of youth has been more widely spread; moral and spiritual forces have been maintained; peace has become more assured. The problems with which we are confronted are the problems of growth and of progress. In their solution we have to determine the facts, to develop the relative importance to be assigned to such facts, to formulate a common judgment upon them, and to realize solutions in a spirit of conciliation.

FOREIGN RELATIONS

We are not only at peace with all the world, but the foundations for future peace are being substantially strengthened. To promote peace is our long-established policy. Through the Kellogg-Briand pact a great moral standard has been raised in the world. By it fifty-four nations have covenanted to renounce war and to settle all disputes by pacific means. Through it a new world outlook has been inaugurated which has profoundly affected the foreign policies of nations. Since its inauguration we have initiated new efforts not only in the organization of the machinery of peace but also to eliminate dangerous forces which produce controversies amongst nations.

In January, 1926, the Senate gave its consent to adherence to The Court of International Justice with certain reservations. In September of this year the statute establishing the court has, by the action of the nations signatory, been amended to meet the Senate's reservations and to go even beyond those reservations to make clear that the court is a true international court of justice. I believe it will be clear to everyone that no controversy or question in which this country has or claims an interest can be passed on by the court without our consent at the time the question arises. The doubt about advisory opinions has been completely safeguarded. Our adherence to the International Court is, as now constituted, not the slightest step toward entry into the League of Nations. As I have before indicated, I shall direct that our signature be affixed to the protocol of adherence and shall submit it for the approval of the Senate with a special message at some time when it is convenient to deal with it.

In the hope of reducing friction in the world, and with the desire that we may reduce the great economic burdens of naval armament, we have joined in conference with Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan to be held in London in January to consider the further limitation and reduction of naval arms. We hold high hopes that success may attend this effort.

At the beginning of the present administration the neighboring State of Mexico was beset with domestic insurrection. We maintained the embargo upon the shipment of arms to Mexico but permitted the duly constituted Government to procure supplies from our surplus war stocks. Fortunately, the Mexican Government by its own strength successfully withstood the insurrection with but slight damage. Opportunity of further peaceful development is given to that country. At the request of the Mexican Government, we have since lifted the embargo on shipment of arms altogether. The two Governments have taken further steps to promote friendly relationships and so solve our differences. Conventions prolonging for a period of two years the life of the general and special claims commissions have been concluded.

In South America we are proud to have had part in the settlement of the long-standing dispute between Chile and Peru in the disposal of the question of Tacna-Arica.

The work of the commission of inquiry and conciliation between Bolivia and Paraguay, in which a representative of this Government participated, has successfully terminated an incident which seemed to threaten war. The proposed plan for final settlement as suggested by the neutral governments is still under consideration.

This Government has continued its efforts to act as a mediator in boundary difficulties between Guatemala and Honduras.

A further instance of profound importance in establishing good will was the inauguration of regular air mail service between the United States and Caribbean, Central American, and South American countries.

We still have marines on foreign soil—in Nicaragua, Haiti, and China. In the large sense we do not wish to be represented abroad in such manner. About 1,600 marines remain in Nicaragua at the urgent request of that Government and the leaders of all parties pending the training of a domestic constabulary capable of insuring tranquility. We have already reduced these forces materially and we are anxious to withdraw them further as the situation warrants. In Haiti we have about 700 marines, but it is a much more difficult problem, the solution of which is still obscure. If Congress approves, I shall dispatch a commission to Haiti to review and study the matter in an endeavor to arrive at some more definite policy than at present. Our forces in China constitute 2,605 men, which we hope also further to reduce to the normal legation guard.

It is my desire to establish more firmly our understanding and relationships with the Latin American countries by strengthening the diplomatic missions to those countries. It is my hope to secure men long experienced in our Diplomatic Service, who speak the languages of the peoples to whom they are accredited, as chiefs of our diplomatic missions in these States. I shall send to the Senate at an early date the nominations of several such men.

The Congress has by numerous wise and foresighted acts in the past few years greatly strengthened the character of our representation abroad. It has made liberal provision for the establishment of suitable quarters for our foreign staffs in the different countries. In order, however, that we may further develop the most effective force in this, one of the most responsible functions of our Government, I shall recommend to the Congress more liberal appropriations for the work of the State Department. I know of no expenditure of public money from which a greater economic and moral return can come to us than by assuring the most effective conduct of our foreign relations.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

To preserve internal order and freedom from encroachment is the first purpose of government. Our Army and Navy are being maintained in a most efficient state under officers of high intelligence and zeal. The extent and expansion of their numbers and equipment as at present authorized are ample for this purpose.

We can well be deeply concerned, however, at the growing expense. From a total expenditure for national defense purposes in 1914 of $267,000,000, it naturally rose with the Great War, but receded again to $612,000,000 in 1924, when it again began to rise until during the current fiscal year the expenditures will reach to over $730,000,000, excluding all civilian services of those departments. Programs now authorized will carry it to still larger figures in future years. While the remuneration paid to our soldiers and sailors is justly at a higher rate than that of any other country in the world, and while the cost of subsistence is higher, yet the total of our expenditures is in excess of those of the most highly militarized nations of the world.

Upon the conference shortly to be held in London will depend such moderation as we can make in naval expenditure. If we shall be compelled to undertake the naval construction implied in the Washington arms treaty as well as other construction which would appear to be necessary if no international agreement can be completed, we shall be committed during the next six years to a construction expenditure of upward of $1,200,000,000 besides the necessary further increase in costs for annual upkeep.

After 1914 the various Army contingents necessarily expanded to the end of the Great War and then receded to the low point in 1924, when expansion again began. In 1914 the officers and men in our regular forces, both Army and Navy, were about 164,000, in 1924 there were about 256,000, and in 1929 there were about 250,000. Our citizens' army, however, including the National Guard and other forms of reserves, increase these totals up to about 299,000 in 1914, about 672,000 in 1924, and about 728,000 in 1929.

Under the Kellogg pact we have undertaken never to use war as an instrument of national policy. We have, therefore, undertaken by covenant to use these equipments solely for defensive purposes. From a defense point of view our forces should be proportioned to national need and should, therefore, to some extent be modified by the prospects of peace, which were never brighter than to-day.

It should be borne in mind that the improvement in the National Guard by Federal support begun in 1920 has definitely strengthened our national security by rendering them far more effective than ever heretofore. The advance of aviation has also greatly increased our effectiveness in defense. In addition to the very large program of air forces which we are maintaining in the Army and Navy, there has been an enormous growth of commercial aviation. This has provided unanticipated reserves in manufacturing capacity and in industrial and air personnel, which again adds to our security.

I recommend that Congress give earnest consideration to the possibilities of prudent action which will give relief from our continuously mounting expenditures.

FINANCES OF THE GOVERNMENT

The finances of the Government are in sound condition. I shall submit the detailed evidences and the usual recommendations in the special Budget message. I may, however, summarize our position. The public debt on June 30 this year stood at $16,931,000,000, compared to the maximum in August, 1919, of $26,596,000,000. Since June 30 it has been reduced by a further $238,000,000. In the Budget to be submitted the total appropriations recommended for the fiscal year 1931 are $3,830,445,231, as compared to $3,976,141,651 for the present fiscal year. The present fiscal year, however, includes $150,000,000 for the Federal Farm Board, as to which no estimate can as yet be determined for 1931.

Owing to the many necessary burdens assumed by Congress in previous years which now require large outlays, it is with extreme difficulty that we shall be able to keep the expenditures for the next fiscal year within the bounds of the present year. Economies in many directions have permitted some accommodation of pressing needs, the net result being an increase, as shown above, of about one-tenth of 1 per cent above the present fiscal year. We can not fail to recognize the obligations of the Government in support of the public welfare, but we must coincidentally bear in mind the burden of taxes and strive to find relief through some tax reduction. Every dollar so returned fertilizes the soil of prosperity.

TAX REDUCTION

The estimate submitted to me by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Budget Director indicates that the Government will close the fiscal year 1930 with a surplus of about $225,000,000 and the fiscal year 1931 with a surplus of about $123,000,000. Owing to unusual circumstances, it has been extremely difficult to estimate future revenues with accuracy.

I believe, however, that the Congress will be fully justified in giving the benefits of the prospective surpluses to the taxpayers, particularly as ample provision for debt reduction has been made in both years through the form of debt retirement from ordinary revenues. In view of the uncertainty in respect of future revenues and the comparatively small size of the indicated surplus in 1931, relief should take the form of a provisional revision of tax rates.

I recommend that the normal income tax rates applicable to the incomes of individuals for the calendar year 1929 be reduced from 5, 3, and 1½ per cent, to 4, 2, and ½ per cent, and that the tax on the income of corporations for the calendar year 1929 be reduced from 12 to 11 per cent. It is estimated that this will result in a reduction of $160,000,000 in income taxes to be collected during the calendar year 1930. The loss in revenue will be divided approximately equally between the fiscal years 1930 and 1931. Such a program will give a measure of tax relief to the maximum number of taxpayers, with relatively larger benefits to taxpayers with small or moderate incomes.

FOREIGN DEBTS

The past year has brought us near to completion of settlements of the indebtedness of foreign governments to the United States.

The act of Congress approved February 4, 1929, authorized the settlement with the Government of Austria along lines similar to the terms of settlement offered by that Government to its other relief creditors. No agreement has yet been concluded with that government, but the form of agreement has been settled and its execution only awaits the Government of Austria securing the assent by all the other relief creditors of the terms offered. The act of Congress approved February 14, 1929, authorized the settlement with the Government of Greece, and an agreement was concluded on May 10, 1929.

The Government of France ratified the agreement with us on July 27, 1929. This agreement will shortly be before the Congress and I recommend its approval.

The only indebtedness of foreign governments to the United States now unsettled is that of Russia and Armenia

During the past year a committee of distinguished experts under American leadership submitted a plan looking to a revision of claims against Germany by the various Governments. The United States denied itself any participation in the war settlement of general reparations and our claims are comparatively small in amount. They arise from costs of the army of occupation and claims of our private citizens for losses under awards from the Mixed Claims Commission established under agreement with the German Government. In finding a basis for settlement it was necessary for the committee of experts to request all the Governments concerned to make some contribution to the adjustment and we have felt that we should share a proportion of the concessions made.

The State and Treasury Departments will be in a position shortly to submit for your consideration a draft of an agreement to be executed between the United States and Germany providing for the payments of these revised amounts. A more extensive statement will be submitted at that time.

The total amount of indebtedness of the various countries to the United States now funded is $11,579,465,885. This sum was in effect provided by the issue of United States Government bonds to our own people. The payments of the various Governments to us on account of principal and interest for 1930 are estimated at a total of about $239,000,000, for 1931 at about $236,000,000, for 1932 at about $246,000,000. The measure of American compromise in these settlements may be appreciated from the fact that our taxpayers are called upon to find annually about $475,000,000 in interest and in addition to redeem the principal of sums borrowed by the United States Government for these purposes.

ALIEN ENEMY PROPERTY

The wise determination that this property seized in war should be returned to its owners has proceeded with considerable rapidity. Of the original seized cash and property (valued at a total of about $625,000,000), all but $111,566,700 has been returned. Most of the remainder should be disposed of during the next year.

GENERAL ECONOMIC SITUATION

The country has enjoyed a large degree of prosperity and sound progress during the past year with a steady improvement in methods of production and distribution and consequent advancement in standards of living. Progress has, of course, been unequal among industries, and some, such as coal, lumber, leather, and textiles, still lag behind. The long upward trend of fundamental progress, however, gave rise to overoptimism as to profits, which translated itself into a wave of uncontrolled speculation in securities, resulting in the diversion of capital from business to the stock market and the inevitable crash. The natural consequences have been a reduction in the consumption of luxuries and seminecessities by those who have met with losses, and a number of persons thrown temporarily out of employment. Prices of agricultural products dealt in upon the great markets have been affected in sympathy with the stock crash.

Fortunately, the Federal reserve system had taken measures to strengthen the position against the day when speculation would break, which together with the strong position of the banks has carried the whole credit system through the crisis without impairment. The capital which has been hitherto absorbed in stock-market loans for speculative purposes is now returning to the normal channels of business. There has been no inflation in the prices of commodities; there has been no undue accumulation of goods, and foreign trade has expanded to a magnitude which exerts a steadying influence upon activity in industry and employment.

The sudden threat of unemployment and especially the recollection of the economic consequences of previous crashes under a much less secured financial system created unwarranted pessimism and fear. It was recalled that past storms of similar character had resulted in retrenchment of construction, reduction of wages, and laying off of workers. The natural result was the tendency of business agencies throughout the country to pause in their plans and proposals for continuation and extension of their businesses, and this hesitation unchecked could in itself intensify into a depression with widespread unemployment and suffering.

I have, therefore, instituted systematic, voluntary measures of cooperation with the business institutions and with State and municipal authorities to make certain that fundamental businesses of the country shall continue as usual, that wages and therefore consuming power shall not be reduced, and that a special effort shall be made to expand construction work in order to assist in equalizing other deficits in employment. Due to the enlarged sense of cooperation and responsibility which has grown in the business world during the past few years the response has been remarkable and satisfactory. We have canvassed the Federal Government and instituted measures of prudent expansion in such work that should be helpful, and upon which the different departments will make some early recommendations to Congress.

I am convinced that through these measures we have reestablished confidence. Wages should remain stable. A very large degree of industrial unemployment and suffering which would otherwise have occurred has been prevented. Agricultural prices have reflected the returning confidence. The measures taken must be vigorously pursued until normal conditions are restored.

AGRICULTURE

The agricultural situation is improving. The gross farm income as estimated by the Department of Agriculture for the crop season 1926–27 was $12,100,000,000; for 1927–28 it was $12,300,000,000; for 1928–29 it was $12,500,000,000; and estimated on the basis of prices since the last harvest the value of the 1929–30 crop would be over $12,650,000,000. The slight decline in general commodity prices during the past few years naturally assists the farmers' buying power.

The number of farmer bankruptcies is very materially decreased below previous years. The decline in land values now seems to be arrested and rate of movement from the farm to the city has been reduced. Not all sections of agriculture, of course, have fared equally, and some areas have suffered from drought. Responsible farm leaders have assured me that a large measure of confidence is returning to agriculture and that a feeling of optimism prevades that industry.

The most extensive action for strengthening the agricultural industry ever taken by any government was inaugurated through the farm marketing act of June 15 last. Under its provisions the Federal Farm Board has been established, comprised of men long and widely experienced in agriculture and sponsored by the farm organizations of the country. During its short period of existence the board has taken definite steps toward a more efficient organization of agriculture, toward the elimination of waste in marketing, and toward the upbuilding of farmers' marketing organizations on sounder and more efficient lines. Substantial headway has been made in the organization of four of the basic commodities—grain, cotton, livestock, and wool. Support by the board to cooperative marketing organizations and other board activities undoubtedly have served to steady the farmers' market during the recent crisis and have operated also as a great stimulus to the cooperative organization of agriculture. The problems of the industry are most complex, and the need for sound organization is imperative. Yet the board is moving rapidly along the lines laid out for it in the act, facilitating the creation by farmers of farmer-owned and farmer-controlled organizations and federating them into central institutions, with a view to increasing the bargaining power of agriculture, preventing and controlling surpluses, and mobilizing the economic power of agriculture.

THE TARIFF

The special session of Congress was called to expedite the fulfillment of party pledges of agricultural relief and the tariff. The pledge of farm relief has been carried out. At that time I stated the principles upon which I believed action should be taken in respect to the tariff:

"An effective tariff upon agricultural products, that will compensate the farmer's higher costs and higher standards of living, has a dual purpose. Such a tariff not only protects the farmer in our domestic market but it also stimulates him to diversify his crops and to grow products that he could not otherwise produce, and thus lessens his dependence upon exports to foreign markets. The great expansion of production abroad under the conditions I have mentioned renders foreign competition in our export markets increasingly serious. It seems but natural, therefore, that the American farmer, having been greatly handicapped in his foreign market by such competition from the younger expanding countries, should ask that foreign access to our domestic market should be regulated by taking into account the differences in our costs of production. * * *

"In considering the tariff for other industries than agriculture, we find that there have been economic shifts necessitating a readjustment of some of the tariff schedules. Seven years of experience under the tariff bill enacted in 1922 have demonstrated the wisdom of Congress in the enactment of that measure. On the whole it has worked well. In the main our wages have been maintained at high levels; our exports and imports have steadily increased; with some exceptions our manufacturing industries have been prosperous. Nevertheless, economic changes have taken place during that time which have placed certain domestic products at a disadvantage and new industries have come into being, all of which create the necessity for some limited changes in the schedules and in the administrative clauses of the laws as written in 1922.

"It would seem to me that the test of necessity for revision is, in the main, whether there has been a substantial slackening of activity in an industry during the past few years, and a consequent decrease of employment due to insurmountable competition in the products of that industry. It is not as if we were setting up a new basis of protective duties. We did that seven years ago. What we need to remedy now is whatever substantial loss of employment may have resulted from shifts since that time. * * *

"In determining changes in our tariff we must not fail to take into account the broad interests of the country as a whole, and such interests include our trade relations with other countries."

No condition has arisen in my view to change these principles stated at the opening of the special session. I am firmly of the opinion that their application to the pending revision will give the country the kind of a tariff law it both needs and wants. It would be most helpful if action should be taken at an early moment, more especially at a time when business and agriculture are both cooperating to minimize future uncertainties. It is just that they should know what the rates are to be.

Even a limited revision requires the consideration and readjustment of many items. The exhaustive inquiries and valuable debate from men representative of all parts of the country which is needed to determine the detailed rates must necessarily be accomplished in the Congress. However perfectly this rate structure may be framed at any given time, the shifting of economic forces which inevitably occurs will render changes in some items desirable between the necessarily long intervals of congressional revision. Injustices are bound to develop, such as were experienced by the dairymen, the flaxseed producers, the glass industry, and others, under the 1922 rates. For this reason, I have been most anxious that the broad principle of the flexible tariff as provided in the existing law should be preserved and its delays in action avoided by more expeditious methods of determining the costs of production at home and abroad, with executive authority to promulgate such changes upon recommendation of the Tariff Commission after exhaustive investigation. Changes by the Congress in the isolated items such as those to which I have referred would have been most unlikely both because of the concentrations of oppositions in the country, who could see no advantage to their own industry or State, and because of the difficulty of limiting consideration by the Congress to such isolated cases.

There is no fundamental conflict between the interests of the farmer and the worker. Lowering of the standards of living of either tends to destroy the other. The prosperity of one rests upon the well-being of the other. Nor is there any real conflict between the East and the West or the North and the South in the United States. The complete interlocking of economic dependence, the common striving for social and spiritual progress, our common heritage as Americans, and the infinite web of national sentiment, have created a solidarity in a great people unparalleled in all human history. These invisible bonds should not and can not be shattered by differences of opinion growing out of discussion of a tariff.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Under the provisions of various acts of Congress $300,000,000 has been authorized for public buildings and the land upon which to construct them, being $75,000,000 for the District of Columbia and $225,000,000 for the country at large. Excluding $25,000,000 which is for the acquisition of land in the so-called "triangle" in this city, this public building legislation provides for a five-year program for the District of Columbia and between an eight and nine year program for the country at large. Of this sum approximately $27,400,000 was expended up to June 30 last, of which $11,400,000 has been expended in the District and $16,000,000 outside.

Even this generous provision for both the District of Columbia and the country is insufficient for most pressing governmental needs. Expensive rents and inadequate facilities are extravagance and not economy. In the District even after the completion of these projects we shall have fully 20,000 clerks housed in rented and temporary war buildings which can last but a little longer.

I therefore recommend that consideration should be given to the extension of authorizations both for the country at large and for the District of Columbia again distributed over a term of years. A survey of the need in both categories has been made by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster General. It would be helpful in the present economic situation if such steps were taken as would enable early construction work.

An expedition and enlargement of the program in the District would bring about direct economies in construction by enabling the erection of buildings in regular sequence. By maintaining a stable labor force in the city, contracts can be made on more advantageous terms.

The earlier completion of this program which is an acknowledged need would add dignity to the celebration in 1932 of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of President Washington.

In consideration of these projects which contribute so much to dignify the National Capital I should like to renew the suggestion that the Fine Arts Commission should be required to pass upon private buildings which are proposed for sites facing upon public buildings and parks. Without such control much of the effort of the Congress in beautification of the Capital will be minimized.

THE WATERWAYS AND FLOOD CONTROL

The development of inland waterways has received new impulse from the completion during this year of the canalization of the Ohio to a uniform 9-foot depth. The development of the other segments of the Mississippi system should be expedited and with this in view I am recommending an increase in appropriations for rivers and harbors from $50,000,000 to $55,000,000 per annum which, together with about $4,000,000 per annum released by completion of the Ohio, should make available after providing for other river and harbor works a sum of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 per annum for the Mississippi system and thus bring it to early completion.

Conflict of opinion which has arisen over the proposed floodway from the Arkansas River to the Gulf of Mexico via the Atchafalaya River has led me to withhold construction upon this portion of the Mississippi flood control plan until it could be again reviewed by the engineers for any further recommendation to Congress. The other portions of the project are being vigorously prosecuted and I have recommended an increase in appropriations for this from $30,000,000 of the present year to $35,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

Expansion of our intracoastal waterways to effective barge depths is well warranted. We are awaiting the action of Canada upon the St. Lawrence waterway project.

HIGHWAYS

There are over 3,000,000 miles of legally established highways in the United States, of which about 10 per cent are included in the State highway systems, the remainder being county and other local roads. About 626,000 miles have been improved with some type of surfacing, comprising some 63 per cent of the State highway systems and 16 per cent of the local roads. Of the improved roads about 102,000 miles are hard surfaced, comprising about 22 per cent of the State highway systems and about 8 per cent of the local roads.

While proper planning should materially reduce the listed mileage of public roads, particularly in the agricultural districts, and turn these roads back to useful purposes, it is evident that road construction must be a long-continued program. Progress in improvement is about 50,000 miles of all types per annum, of which some 12,000 miles are of the more durable types. The total expenditures of Federal, State, and local governments last year for construction and maintenance assumed the huge total of $1,660,000,000.

Federal aid in the construction of the highway systems in conjunction with the States has proved to be beneficial and stimulating. We must ultimately give consideration to the increase of our contribution to these systems, particularly with a view to stimulating the improvement of farm-to-market roads.

POST OFFICE

Our Post Office deficit has now increased to over $80,000,000 a year, of which perhaps $14,000,000 is due to losses on ocean mail and air mail contracts. The department is making an exhaustive study of the sources of the deficit with view to later recommendation to Congress in respect to it.

The Post Office quarters are provided in part by the Federal construction, in part by various forms of rent and lease arrangements. The practice has grown up in recent years of contracting long-term leases under which both rent and amortization principal cost of buildings is included. I am advised that fully 40 per cent could be saved from many such rent and lease agreements even after allowing interest on the capital required at the normal Government rate. There are also many objectionable features to some of these practices. The provision of adequate quarters for the Post Office should be put on a sound basis.

A revision of air mail rates upon a more systematic and permanent footing is necessary. The subject is under study, and if legislation should prove necessary the subject will be presented to the Congress. In the meantime I recommend that the Congress should consider the desirability of authorizing further expansion of the South American services.

COMMERCIAL AVIATION

During the past year progress in civil aeronautics has been remarkable. This is to a considerable degree due to the wise assistance of the Federal Government through the establishment and maintenance of airways by the Department of Commerce and the mail contracts from the Post Office Department. The Government-improved airways now exceed 25,000 miles—more than 14,000 miles of which will be lighted and equipped for night-flying operations by the close of the current year.

Airport construction through all the States is extremely active. There are now 1,000 commercial and municipal airports in operation with an additional 1,200 proposed for early development.

Through this assistance the Nation is building a sound aviation system, operated by private enterprise. Over 6,400 planes are in commercial use, and 9,400 pilots are licensed by the Government. Our manufacturing capacity has risen to 7,500 plants per annum. The aviation companies have increased regular air transportation until it now totals 90,000 miles per day—one-fourth of which is flown by night. Mail and express services now connect our principal cities, and extensive services for passenger transportation have been inaugurated, and others of importance are imminent. American air lines now reach into Canada and Mexico, to Cuba, Porto Rico, Central America, and most of the important countries of South America.

RAILWAYS

As a whole, the railroads never were in such good physical and financial condition, and the country has never been so well served by them. The greatest volume of freight traffic ever tendered is being carried at a speed never before attained and with satisfaction to the shippers. Efficiencies and new methods have resulted in reduction in the cost of providing freight transportation, and freight rates show a continuous descending line from the level enforced by the World War.

We have, however, not yet assured for the future that adequate system of transportation through consolidations which was the objective of the Congress in the transportation act. The chief purpose of consolidation is to secure well-balanced systems with more uniform and satisfactory rate structure, a more stable financial structure, more equitable distribution of traffic, greater efficiency, and single-line instead of multiple-line hauls. In this way the country will have the assurance of better service and ultimately at lower and more even rates than would otherwise be attained. Legislation to simplify and expedite consolidation methods and better to protect public interest should be enacted.

Consideration should also be given to relief of the members of the commission from the necessity of detailed attention to comparatively inconsequential matters which, under the existing law, must receive their direct and personal consideration. It is in the public interest that the members of the commission should not be so pressed by minor matters that they have inadequate time for investigation and consideration of the larger questions committed to them for solution. As to many of these minor matters, the function of the commission might well be made revisory, and the primary responsibility delegated to subordinate officials, after the practice long in vogue in the executive departments.

MERCHANT MARINE

Under the impulse of the merchant marine act of 1928 the transfer to private enterprise of the Government-owned steamship lines is going forward with increasing success. The Shipping Board now operates about 18 lines, which is less than half the number originally established, and the estimate of expenditures for the coming fiscal year is based upon reduction in losses on Government lines by approximately one-half. Construction loans have been made to the amount of approximately $75,000,000 out of the revolving fund authorized by Congress and have furnished an additional aid to American shipping and further stimulated the building of vessels in American yards.

Desirous of securing the full values to the Nation of the great effort to develop our merchant marine by the merchant marine act soon after the inauguration of the present administration, I appointed an interdepartmental committee, consisting of the Secretary of Commerce, as chairman, the Secretary of the Navy, the Postmaster General, and the chairman of the Shipping Board, to make a survey of the policies being pursued under the act of 1928 in respect of mail contracts; to inquire into its workings, and to advise the Postmaster General in the administration of the act.

In particular it seemed to me necessary to determine if the result of the contracts already let would assure the purpose expressed in the act, "to further develop an American merchant marine, to assure its permanence in the transportation of the foreign trade of the United States, and for other purposes," and to develop a coordinated policy by which these purposes may be translated into actualities.

In review of the mail contracts already awarded it was found that they aggregated 25 separate awards imposing a governmental obligation of a little over $12,000,000 per annum. Provision had been imposed in five of the contracts for construction of new vessels with which to replace and expand services. These requirements come to a total of 12 vessels in the 10-year period, aggregating 122,000 tons. Some other conditions in the contracts had not worked out satisfactorily.

That study has now been substantially completed and the committee has advised the desirability and the necessity of securing much larger undertakings as to service and new construction in future contracts. The committee at this time is recommending the advertising of 14 additional routes, making substantial requirements for the construction of new vessels during the life of each contract recommended. A total of 40 new vessels will be required under the contracts proposed, about half of which will be required to be built during the next three years. The capital cost of this new construction will be approximately $250,000,000, involving approximately 460,000 gross tons. Should bidders be found who will make these undertakings, it will be necessary to recommend to Congress an increase in the authorized expenditure by the Post Office of about $5,500,000 annually. It will be most advantageous to grant such an authority.

A conflict as to the administration of the act has arisen in the contention of persons who have purchased Shipping Board vessels that they are entitled to mail contracts irrespective of whether they are the lowest bidder, the Post Office, on the other hand, being required by law to let contracts in that manner. It is urgent that Congress should clarify this situation.

THE BANKING SYSTEM

It is desirable that Congress should consider the revision of some portions of the banking law.

The development of "group" and "chain" banking presents many new problems. The question naturally arises as to whether if allowed to expand without restraint these methods would dangerously concentrate control of credit, and whether they would not in any event seriously threaten one of the fundamentals of the American credit system—which is that credit which is based upon banking deposits should be controlled by persons within those areas which furnish these deposits and thus be subject to the restraints of local interest and public opinion in those areas. To some degree, however, this movement of chain or group banking is a groping for stronger support to the banks and a more secure basis for these institutions.

The growth in size and stability of the metropolitan banks is in marked contrast to the trend in the country districts, with its many failures and the losses these failures have imposed upon the agricultural community.

The relinquishment of charters of national banks in great commercial centers in favor of State charters indicates that some conditions surround the national banks which render them unable to compete with State banks; and their withdrawal results in weakening our national banking system.

It has been proposed that permission should be granted to national banks to engage in branch banking of a nature that would preserve within limited regions the local responsibility and the control of such credit institutions.

All these subjects, however, require careful investigation, and it might be found advantageous to create a joint commission embracing Members of the Congress and other appropriate Federal officials for subsequent report.

ELECTRICAL POWER REGULATION

The Federal Power Commission is now comprised of three Cabinet officers, and the duties involved in the competent conduct of the growing responsibilities of this commission far exceed the time and attention which these officials can properly afford from other important duties. I recommend that authority be given for the appointment of full-time commissioners to replace them.

It is also desirable that the authority of the commission should be extended to certain phases of power regulation. The nature of the electric utilities industry is such that about 90 per cent of all power generation and distribution is intrastate in character, and most of the States have developed their own regulatory systems as to certificates of convenience, rates, and profits of such utilities. To encroach upon their authorities and responsibilities would be an encroachment upon the rights of the States There are cases, however, of interstate character beyond the jurisdiction of the States. To meet these cases it would be most desirable if a method could be worked out by which initial action may be taken between the commissions of the States whose joint action should be made effective by the Federal Power Commission with a reserve to act on its own motion in case of disagreement or nonaction by the States.

THE RADIO COMMISSION

I recommend the reorganization of the Radio Commission into a permanent body from its present temporary status. The requirement of the present law that the commissioners shall be appointed from specified zones should be abolished and a general provision made for their equitable selection from different parts of the country. Despite the effort of the commissioners, the present method develops a public insistence that the commissioners are specially charged with supervision of radio affairs in the zone from which each is appointed. As a result there is danger that the system will degenerate from a national system into five regional agencies with varying practices, varying policies, competitive tendencies, and consequent failure to attain its utmost capacity for service to the people as a whole.

MUSCLE SHOALS

It is most desirable that this question should be disposed of. Under present conditions the income from these plants is less than could otherwise be secured for its use, and more especially the public is not securing the full benefits which could be obtained from them.

It is my belief that such parts of these plants as would be useful and the revenues from the remainder should be dedicated for all time to the farmers of the United States for investigation and experimentation on a commercial scale in agricultural chemistry. By such means advancing discoveries of science can be systematically applied to agricultural need, and development of the chemical industry of the Tennessee Valley can be assured.

I do not favor the operation by the Government of either power or manufacturing business except as an unavoidable by-product of some other major public purpose.

Any form of settlement of this question will imply entering upon a contract or contracts for the lease of the plants either as a whole or in parts and the reservation of facilities, products, or income for agricultural purposes. The extremely technical and involved nature of such contracts dealing with chemical and electrical enterprises, added to the unusual difficulties surrounding these special plants, and the rapid commercial changes now in progress in power and synthetic nitrogen manufacture, lead me to suggest that Congress create a special commission, not to investigate and report as in the past, but with authority to negotiate and complete some sort of contract or contracts on behalf of the Government, subject, of course, to such general requirements as Congress may stipulate.

BOULDER DAM

The Secretary of the Interior is making satisfactory progress in negotiation of the very complex contracts required for the sale of the power to be generated at this project. These contracts must assure the return of all Government outlays upon the project. I recommend that the necessary funds be appropriated for the initiation of this work as soon as the contracts are in the hands of Congress.

CONSERVATION

Conservation of national resources is a fixed policy of the Government. Three important questions bearing upon conservation of the public lands have become urgent.

Conservation of our oil and gas resources against future need is a national necessity. The working of the oil permit system in development of oil and gas resources on the public domain has been subject to great abuse. I considered it necessary to suspend the issuance of such permits and to direct the review of all outstanding permits as to compliance of the holders with the law. The purpose was not only to end such abuse but to place the Government in position to review the entire subject.

We are also confronted with a major problem in conservation due to the overgrazing on public lands. The effect of overgrazing (which has now become general) is not only to destroy the ranges but by impairing the ground coverage seriously to menace the water supply in many parts of the West through quick run-off, spring floods, and autumn drought.

We have a third problem of major dimensions in the reconsideration of our reclamation policy. The inclusion of most of the available lands of the public domain in existing or planned reclamation projects largely completes the original purpose of the Reclamation Service. There still remains the necessity for extensive storage of water in the arid States which renders it desirable that we should give a wider vision and purpose to this service.

To provide for careful consideration of these questions and also of better division of responsibilities in them as between the State and Federal Governments, including the possible transfer to the States for school purposes of the lands unreserved for forests, parks, power, minerals, etc., I have appointed a Commission on Conservation of the Public Domain, with a membership representing the major public land States and at the same time the public at large. I recommend that Congress should authorize a moderate sum to defray their expenses.

SOCIAL SERVICE

The Federal Government provides for an extensive and valuable program of constructive social service, in education, home building, protection to women and children, employment, public health, recreation, and many other directions.

In a broad sense Federal activity in these directions has been confined to research and dissemination of information and experience, and at most to temporary subsidies to the States in order to secure uniform advancement in practice and methods. Any other attitude by the Federal Government will undermine one of the most precious possessions of the American people; that is, local and individual responsibility. We should adhere to this policy.

Federal officials can, however, make a further and most important contribution by leadership in stimulation of the community and voluntary agencies, and by extending Federal assistance in organization of these forces and bringing about cooperation among them.

As an instance of this character, I have recently, in cooperation with the Secretaries of Interior and Labor, laid the foundations of an exhaustive inquiry into the facts precedent to a nation-wide White House conference on child health and protection. This cooperative movement among interested agencies will impose no expense upon the Government. Similar nation-wide conferences will be called in connection with better housing and recreation at a later date.

In view of the considerable difference of opinion as to the policies which should be pursued by the Federal Government with respect to education, I have appointed a committee representative of the important educational associations and others to investigate and present recommendations. In cooperation with the Secretary of the Interior, I have also appointed a voluntary committee of distinguished membership to assist in a nation-wide movement for abolition of illiteracy.

I have recommended additional appropriations for the Federal employment service in order that it may more fully cover its cooperative work with State and local services. I have also recommended additional appropriations for the Women's and Children's Bureaus for much-needed research as to facts which I feel will prove most helpful.

PUBLIC HEALTH

The advance in scientific discovery as to disease and health imposes new considerations upon us. The Nation as a whole is vitally interested in the health of all the people; in protection from spread of contagious disease; in the relation of physical and mental disabilities to criminality; and in the economic and moral advancement which is fundamentally associated with sound body and mind. The organization of preventive measures and health education in its personal application is the province of public health service. Such organization should be as universal as public education. Its support is a proper burden upon the taxpayer. It can not be organized with success, either in its sanitary or educational phases, except under public authority. It should be based upon local and State responsibility, but I consider that the Federal Government has an obligation of contribution to the establishment of such agencies.

In the practical working out of organization, exhaustive experiment and trial have demonstrated that the base should be competent organization of the municipality, county, or other local unit. Most of our municipalities and some 400 rural counties out of 3,000 now have some such unit organization. Where highly developed, a health unit comprises at least a physician, sanitary engineer, and community nurse with the addition, in some cases, of another nurse devoted to the problems of maternity and children. Such organization gives at once a fundamental control of preventive measures and assists in community instruction. The Federal Government, through its interest in control of contagion, acting through the United States Public Health Service and the State agencies, has in the past and should in the future concern itself with this development, particularly in the many rural sections which are unfortunately far behind in progress. Some parts of the funds contributed under the Sheppard-Towner Act through the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor have also found their way into these channels.

I recommend to the Congress that the purpose of the Sheppard-Towner Act should be continued through the Children's Bureau for a limited period of years; and that the Congress should consider the desirability of confining the use of Federal funds by the States to the building up of such county or other local units, and that such outlay should be positively coordinated with the funds expended through the United States Public Health Service directed to other phases of the same county or other local unit organization. All funds appropriated should, of course, be applied through the States, so that the public health program of the county or local unit will be efficiently coordinated with that of the whole State.

FEDERAL PRISIONS

Closely related to crime conditions is the administration of the Federal prison system. Our Federal penal institutions are overcrowded, and this condition is daily becoming worse. The parole and probation systems are inadequate. These conditions make it impossible to perform the work of personal reconstruction of prisoners so as to prepare them for return to the duties of citizenship. In order to relieve the pressing evils I have directed the temporary transfer of the Army Disciplinary Barracks at Leavenworth to the Department of Justice for use as a Federal prison. Not only is this temporary but it is inadequate for present needs.

We need some new Federal prisons and a reorganization of our probation and parole systems; and there should be established in the Department of Justice a bureau of prisons with a sufficient force to deal adequately with the growing activities of our prison institutions. Authorization for the improvements should be given speedily, with initial appropriations to allow the construction of the new institutions to be undertaken at once.

IMMIGRATION

Restriction of immigration has from every aspect proved a sound national policy. Our pressing problem is to formulate a method by which the limited number of immigrants whom we do welcome shall be adapted to our national setting and our national needs.

I have been opposed to the basis of the quotas now in force and I have hoped that we could find some practical method to secure what I believe should be our real national objective; that is, fitness of the immigrant as to physique, character, training, and our need of service. Perhaps some system of priorities within the quotas could produce these results and at the same time enable some hardships in the present system to be cleared up. I recommend that the Congress should give the subject further study, in which the executive departments will gladly cooperate with the hope of discovering such method as will more fully secure our national necessities.

VETERANS

It has been the policy of our Government almost from its inception to make provision for the men who have been disabled in defense of our country. This policy should be maintained. Originally it took the form of land grants and pensions. This system continued until our entry into the World War. The Congress at that time inaugurated a new plan of compensation, rehabilitation, hospitalization, medical care and treatment, and insurance, whereby benefits were awarded to those veterans and their immediate dependents whose disabilities were attributable to their war service. The basic principle in this legislation is sound.

In a desire to eliminate all possibilities of injustice due to difficulties in establishing service connection of disabilites, these principles have been to some degree extended. Veterans whose diseases or injuries have become apparent within a brief period after the war are now receiving compensation; insurance benefits have been liberalized. Emergency officers are now receiving additional benefits. The doors of the Government's hospitals have been opened to all veterans, even though their diseases or injuries were not the result of their war service. In addition adjusted service certificates have been issued to 3,433,300 veterans. This in itself will mean an expenditure of nearly $3,500,000,000 before 1945, in addition to the $600,000,000 which we are now appropriating annually for our veterans' relief.

The administration of all laws concerning the veterans and their dependents has been upon the basis of dealing generously, humanely, and justly. While some inequalities have arisen, substantial and adequate care has been given and justice administered. Further improvement in administration may require some amendment from time to time to the law, but care should be taken to see that such changes conform to the basic principles of the legislation.

I am convinced that we will gain in efficiency, economy, and more uniform administration and better definition of national policies if the Pension Bureau, the National Home for Volunteer Soldiers, and the Veterans' Bureau are brought together under a single agency. The total appropriations to these agencies now exceed $800,000,000 per annum.

CIVIL SERVICE

Approximately four-fifths of all the employees in the executive civil service now occupy positions subject to competitive examination under the civil service law.

There are, however, still commanding opportunities for extending the system. These opportunities lie within the province of Congress and not the President. I recommend that a further step be taken by authorization that appointments of third-class postmasters be made under the civil service law.

DEPARTMENTAL REORGANIZATION

This subject has been under consideration for over 20 years. It was promised by both political parties in the recent campaign. It has been repeatedly examined by committees and commissions—congressional, executive, and voluntary. The conclusions of these investigations have been unanimous that reorganization is a necessity of sound administration; of economy; of more effective governmental policies and of relief to the citizen from unnecessary harassment in his relations with a multitude of scattered governmental agencies. But the presentation of any specific plan at once enlivens opposition from every official whose authority may be curtailed or who fears his position is imperiled by such a result; of bureaus and departments which wish to maintain their authority and activities; of citizens and their organizations who are selfishly interested, or who are inspired by fear that their favorite bureau may, in a new setting, be less subject to their influence or more subject to some other influence.

It seems to me that the essential principles of reorganization are two in number. First, all administrative activities of the same major purpose should be placed in groups under single-headed responsibility; second, all executive and administrative functions should be separated from boards and commissions and placed under individual responsibility, while quasilegislative and quasijudicial and broadly advisory functions should be removed from individual authority and assigned to boards and commissions. Indeed, these are the fundamental principles upon which our Government was founded, and they are the principles which have been adhered to in the whole development of our business structure, and they are the distillation of the common sense of generations.

For instance, the conservation of national resources is spread among eight agencies in five departments. They suffer from conflict and overlap. There is no proper development and adherence to broad national policies and no central point where the searchlight of public opinion may concentrate itself. These functions should be grouped under the direction of some such official as an assistant secretary of conservation. The particular department or Cabinet officer under which such a group should be placed is of secondary importance to the need of concentration. The same may be said of educational services, of merchant marine aids, of public works, of public health, of veterans' services, and many others, the component parts of which are widely scattered in the various departments and independent agencies. It is desirable that we first have experience with these different groups in action before we create new departments. These may be necessary later on.

With this background of all previous experience I can see no hope for the development of a sound reorganization of the Government unless Congress be willing to delegate its authority over the problem (subject to defined principles) to the Executive, who should act upon approval of a joint committee of Congress or with the reservation of power of revision by Congress within some limited period adequate for its consideration.

PROHIBITION

The first duty of the President under his oath of office is to secure the enforcement of the laws. The enforcement of the laws enacted to give effect to the eighteenth amendment is far from satisfactory and this is in part due to the inadequate organization of the administrative agencies of the Federal Government. With the hope of expediting such reorganization, I requested on June 6 last that Congress should appoint a joint committee to collaborate with executive agencies in preparation of legislation. It would be helpful if it could be so appointed. The subject has been earnestly considered by the law enforcement commission and the administrative officials of the Government. Our joint conclusions are that certain steps should be taken at once. First, there should be an immediate concentration of responsibility and strengthening of enforcement agencies of the Federal Government by transfer to the Department of Justice of the Federal functions of detection and to a considerable degree of prosecution, which are now lodged in the Prohibition Bureau in the Treasury; and at the same time the control of the distribution of industrial alcohol and legalized beverages should remain in the Treasury. Second, provision should be made for relief of congestion in the Federal courts by modifying and simplifying the procedure for dealing with the large volume of petty prosecutions under various Federal acts. Third, there should be a codification of the laws relating to prohibition to avoid the necessity which now exists of resorting to more than 25 statutes enacted at various times over 40 years. Technical defects in these statutes that have been disclosed should be cured. I would add to these recommendations the desirability of reorganizing the various services engaged in the prevention of smuggling into one border patrol under the Coast Guard. Further recommendations upon the subject as a whole will be developed after further examination by the law enforcement commission, but it is not to be expected that any criminal law will ever be fully enforced so long as criminals exist.

The District of Columbia should be the model of city law enforcement in the Nation. While conditions here are much better than in many other cities, they are far from perfect, and this is due in part to the congestion of criminal cases in the Supreme Court of the District, resulting in long delays. Furthermore, there is need for legislation in the District supplementing the national prohibition act, more sharply defining and enlarging the duties and powers of the District Commissioners and the police of the District, and opening the way for better cooperation in the enforcement of prohibition between the District officials and the prohibition officers of the Federal Government. It is urgent that these conditions be remedied.

LAW ENFORCEMENT AND OBSERVANCE

No one will look with satisfaction upon the volume of crime of all kinds and the growth of organized crime in our country. We have pressing need so to organize our system of administering criminal justice as to establish full vigor and effectiveness. We need to reestablish faith that the highest interests of our country are served by insistence upon the swift and even-handed administration of justice to all offenders, whether they be rich or poor. That we shall effect improvement is vital to the preservation of our institutions. It is the most serious issue before our people.

Under the authority of Congress I have appointed a National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement, for an exhaustive study of the entire problem of the enforcement of our laws and the improvement of our judicial system, including the special problems and abuses growing out of the prohibition laws. The commission has been invited to make the widest inquiry into the shortcomings of the administration of justice and into the causes and remedies for them. It has organized its work under subcommittees dealing with the many contributory causes of our situation and has enlisted the aid of investigators in fields requiring special consideration. I am confident that as a result of its studies now being carried forward it will make a notable contribution to the solution of our pressing problems.

Pending further legislation, the Department of Justice has been striving to weed out inefficiency wherever it exists, to stimulate activity on the part of its prosecuting officers, and to use increasing care in examining into the qualifications of those appointed to serve as prosecutors. The department is seeking systematically to strengthen the law-enforcement agencies week by week and month by month, not by dramatic displays but by steady pressure; by removal of negligent officials and by encouragement and assistance to the vigilant. During the course of these efforts it has been revealed that in some districts causes contributing to the congestion of criminal dockets, and to delays and inefficiency in prosecutions, have been lack of sufficient forces in the offices of United States attorneys, clerks of courts, and marshals. These conditions tend to clog the machinery of justice. The last conference of senior circuit judges has taken note of them and indorsed the department's proposals for improvement. Increases in appropriations are necessary and will be asked for in order to reenforce these offices.

The orderly administration of the law involves more than the mere machinery of law enforcement. The efficient use of that machinery and a spirit in our people in support of law are alike essential. We have need for improvement in both. However much we may perfect the mechanism, still if the citizen who is himself dependent upon some laws for the protection of all that he has and all that he holds dear, shall insist on selecting the particular laws which he will obey, he undermines his own safety and that of his country. His attitude may obscure, but it can not conceal, the ugly truth that the lawbreaker, whoever he may be, is the enemy of society. We can no longer gloss over the unpleasant reality which should be made vital in the consciousness of every citizen, that he who condones or traffics with crime, who is indifferent to it and to the punishment of the criminal, or to the lax performance of official duty, is himself the most effective agency for the breakdown of society.

Law can not rise above its source in good citizenship—in what right-minded men most earnestly believe and desire. If the law is upheld only by Government officials, then all law is at an end. Our laws are made by the people themselves; theirs is the right to work for their repeal; but until repeal it is an equal duty to observe them and demand their enforcement.

I have been gratified at the awakening sense of this responsibility in our citizens during the past few months, and gratified that many instances have occurred which refuted the cynicism which has asserted that our system could not convict those who had defied the law and possessed the means to resist its execution. These things reveal a moral awakening both in the people and in officials which lies at the very foundation of the rule of law.

CONCLUSION

The test of the rightfulness of our decisions must be whether we have sustained and advanced the ideals of the American people; self-government in its foundations of local government; justice whether to the individual or to the group; ordered liberty; freedom from domination; open opportunity and equality of opportunity; the initiative and individuality of our people; prosperity and the lessening of poverty; freedom of public opinion; education; advancement of knowledge; the growth of religious spirit; the tolerance of all faiths; the foundations of the home and the advancement of peace.

1. The names of any former officer, employee, or attorney, either regularly employed or special, of the Alien Property Custodian's bureau who, after such service, resigned or was dropped, and who has later appeared as attorney before said Alien Property Custodian or the Department of Justice in the prosecution of claims for the release of property or for any other person claiming from the United States.

2. The dates of the separation of such persons aforenamed from the service and dates of the appearances as attorney for claimants and the titles of the claims for which they appeared.

3. Whether such former officers, employees, or attorneys were required on receiving releases for clients to execute the required affidavits, under the Winslow Act, as to fees contracted for or to be received.

Ordered, That the resolution lie on the table.

INVESTIGATION OF ST. ELIZABETHS HOSPITAL

Mr. Heflin submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 172), which was referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate:

Whereas in the memorandum opinion of Mr. Justice Hoehling in the case of Hanna J. Cook in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia there was suggested the possibility that over 5,000 persons, since July, 1913, have been illegally committed to the Government Hospital for the Insane, located in the District of Columbia and known as St. Elizabeths Hospital; and

Whereas in the report of J. R. McCarl, Comptroller General of the United States, made in pursuance of House Concurrent Resolution 26, Sixty-ninth Congress, it was set forth (1) that since July 1, 1916, 20 patients in such hospital have been killed by attendants and that no convictions were had in respect of any such cases, (2) that since such date 30 patients in such hospital have committed suicide, and (3) that the expenses of such hospital increased from $1,194,476.28 for the year 1919 to $2,237,093.71 for the year 1921, an increase of nearly 100 per cent in two years, during which period there was an increase of less than 3 per cent in the number of patients under treatment in such hospital; and

Whereas the activities of Dr. W. A. White, superintendent of such hospital, Dr. D. Percy Hickling, physician in charge of the psychopathic department of Gallinger Municipal Hospital, and W. H. Wahly, assistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, in the case of Margaret M. Roche, a former war nurse, as set forth in an article entitled "Strange Insanity in Washington" in the magazine Plain Talk for February, 1928, constituted conspiracy falsely to imprison Margaret M. Roche in St. Elizabeths Hospital; and

Whereas several hundred World War veterans in such hospital were transferred to other institutions following the resignation of F. A. Fenning as Commissioner of the District of Columbia; and

Whereas F. A. Fenning, on or about October 23, 1926, made a request in writing of Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, Director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, that certain veterans who were inmates of St. Elizabeths Hospital be removed to other institutions for the convenience of the said Fenning; and

Whereas William J. O'Brien, veteran of the Indian wars, has been confined in St. Elizabeths Hospital for over 30 years, 23 of such years in Howard Hall, the ward for the criminally insane, although he has never been convicted of any crime and there is doubt that he is insane; and

Whereas the courts of the District of Columbia adjudicate nonresidents of the District of Columbia to be insane, incarcerate them in St. Elizabeths indefinitely, appoint trustees for their estates, and charge such estates for maintenance and alleged treatment of such nonresidents: Therefore be it

Resolved, That a special committee of the Senate, composed of five members appointed by the President of the Senate, three of whom shall be from the majority party (including one Progressive Republican) and two of whom shall be from the minority party, is authorized and directed to inquire into and investigate the administration of St. Elizabeths Hospital, particularly with respect to alleged mistreatment of patients in such hospital and illegal commitments thereto.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places, to employ such experts and such clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpœna or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses, and the production of such books papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, and to take such testimony and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The expenses of the committee shall not exceed $———, and shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the committee. The committee shall, as soon as practicable, report its findings to the Senate with such recommendations as it deems proper.

APPOINTMENTS AND DISMISSALS IN THE CIVIL SERVICE

Mr. Heflin submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 173), which was referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate:

Whereas William C. Deming, president of the Civil Service Commission, admitted in an article published in the Washington Post of March 6, 1927, that the Civil Service Commission had appointed in excess of quotas over 10,000 persons from the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, and other States; and

Whereas many legally appointed civil-service employees from States whose quotas are in arrears, and many ex-service men and women have been illegally separated from the service, and much suffering and hardship caused thereby, terminating in some cases in commitments to St. Elizabeth Hospital, and in other cases in suicide; and

Whereas the morale and efficiency of many of the executive departments and independent establishments of the Government have been completely broken down by the injustice, discrimination, intimidation, and illegal dismissals in the civil service and much loss to the Government caused by the resulting maladministration of the laws: Therefore be it

Resolved, That there is hereby created a special committee of the Senate, to consist of five members appointed by the President of the Senate, three of which shall be from the majority party (including one progressive Republican), and two of whom shall be from the minority party. The committee is authorized and directed to investigate illegal appointments and dismissals in the civil service since July 1, 1919. The committee shall meet and organize within five days from the date of appointment and immediately thereafter shall begin hearings upon this resolution. Within 60 days after the adoption of this resolution the committee shall report to the Senate concerning such illegal appointments and dismissals in the civil service, and shall include in its report such recommendation for legislation and suggested action for the removal from office of any parties to such illegality, as it deems advisable to correct abuses in appointments and dismissals in the civil service.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places, to employ such experts and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpœna or otherwise the attendance of such witness and the production of such books, papers, and documents, including the records of the Civil Service Commission, the Bureau of the Budget, the Bureau of Efficiency, the Personnel Classification Board, and the several executive departments and independent establishments, to administer such oaths and to take such testimony and to make such expeditures, as it deems advisable. The expenses of the committee shall not exceed $2,500, and shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the committee.

THE UNITED STATES FLAG

Mr. Heflin submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 174):

Whereas the United States flag is the symbol of our national sovereignty and is the emblem of both civil and religious liberty, and as such is entitled to occupy the first and uppermost place on its own staff or hoist: Therefore be it

The foregoing table shows that the total of the estimates of appropriations payable from the Treasury in this Budget is $145,696,000 less than the appropriations for 1930. The estimates in the Budget, however, contain no amount for the revolving loan fund for the Federal Farm Board, for which $150,000,000 is included in the appropriations for 1930. Therefore, for purposes of comparison, $150,000,000 should be deducted from the amount of the appropriations for 1930. Eliminating this item from the 1930 total the estimates of appropriations in the Budget for 1931 exceed the appropriations for 1930 by $4,304,000. Concerning the Federal Farm Board, I am simply delaying the presentation to the Congress of an estimate for an additional amount for the revolving loan fund until it is known more definitely what further amount will be needed. This will not in any way hamper the board, as it has sufficient funds at present, and an estimate will be presented to the Congress in ample time in advance of any requirements for more money.

Through nonrecurring items and justified reductions in other items funds have been found to make increases in certain of our activities without enlarging to any appreciable extent the total of the estimates for 1931 over the appropriations for 1930. I am indicating below, in round figures, the larger items of increase and decrease.

With regard to the increases for 1931 there are certain activities which I desire to bring especially to the attention of the Congress.

Rivers and harbors, flood relief, and Boulder Dam: The estimates herewith contain an increase of $5,000,000 for flood control and $5,000,000 for rivers and harbors over the appropriations for these purposes for the current fiscal year. Moreover, the completion this year of the work on the Ohio River will release about $5,000,000 for other river and harbor work, so that, in effect, the increase in the estimates for rivers and harbors is $10,000,000. With regard to the Boulder Dam project authorized by the act of Congress approved December 21, 1928, the details have not been completed in time to permit of this project being included in the estimates contained in this Budget. It is contemplated to present to the Congress at an early date an estimate to cover the initiation of this work.

Departments of State and Justice: I am asking for considerable increases in the appropriations for these two departments for the fiscal year 1931 as compared with appropriations for the fiscal year 1930. I feel that the importance of the functions devolving upon these two departments in the conduct of our foreign affairs and in law enforcement and the administration of our penal system are of vital concern to the Nation and that both departments require more generous appropriations. The increase requested for the Department of State is more than $2,443,000, or about 16½ per cent, and that for the Department of Justice is more than $4,079,000, or about 14½ per cent. I am satisfied that these increases will reflect benefits to the Nation greater than can be measured in terms of the increased cost.

Indians: As wards of the Nation the Government has an obligation to the Indians which concerns not alone their present but their future welfare. To raise the standard of their living, to adequately provide for their health and education, and to advance their opportunity for profitable employment are the concern of the Government. In order that we may meet more fully our obligations to the Indians, I am asking for an increase of something more than $3,100,000 over the appropriations for the current year. This increase is requested so that we may more adequately meet the need for educational and health work among the Indians and for their industrial assistance and advancement. I do not feel, however, that we should wait until the next fiscal year to make a general improvement in our Indian affairs. Rather do I feel that we should commence this now. This will require additional funds for the current fiscal year, for which an estimate will be presented to the Congress.

Forest protection: For the protection of our forests I am asking for a substantial increase in appropriations, amounting to more than $2,000,000. We have been spending in past years large amounts on the suppression of fires. In the last five years these expenditures have amounted to more than $8,000,000, and the best estimate is that $3,500,000 will be required this current fiscal year. We can not hope to eliminate entirely the necessity for spending money in the suppression of fires, but our efforts should be to minimize this necessity by more and more adequate protection measures. This is essential not merely to effect a saving in the cost of suppressing fires but to prevent the incalculable loss which results from the destruction of our forests. Such loss involves not only the timber itself but the protection which it affords against soil erosion and floods. As the custodian of the national forests, national parks, and other public lands, the Federal Government is responsible for their protection. The obligations of this stewardship can not be met within the limits of the present appropriation, and it is for this reason that I am asking for an increase to commence a program of more adequate protection of our forests. The protection of our present holdings certainly outweighs in importance the acquisition of further lands which would add to the areas requiring protection. For this reason I am not submitting in this Budget an estimate for the full $3,000,000 authorized for 1931 for the acquisition of lands for the protection of watersheds. The amount requested for such acquisition is $2,000,000.

BUILDINGS

The public-building program authorized by the act of May 25, 1926, and enlarged by amendments to the original act, is now proceeding at a satisfactory rate of progress. At the outset unavoidable delays were experienced because of difficulties encountered in acquiring sites, it being necessary in some cases to resort to condemnation proceedings in the courts. Many of these difficulties have been overcome, and it is expected that the work will now proceed expeditiously, resulting in the completion of 34 new or enlarged buildings in the fiscal year 1930 and 40 in the fiscal year 1931. The program calls for a total expenditure of approximately $300,000,000 in addition to the proceeds of sale of abandoned property. Individual projects have already been authorized by the Congress at limits of cost in excess of $260,000,000. There were brought forward into the fiscal year 1930 appropriation balances aggregating $41,481,099. This is increased by appropriations made at the last session of the Congress, amounting to $39,475,500, making the total amount available for expenditure $80,956,599. Of this amount the Treasury Department contemplates spending about $59,500,000 in the fiscal year 1930. The Budget for 1931 carries estimates for public buildings, including the purchase of additional land in Washington, amounting to $30,000,000. Supplemental thereto an estimate of about $5,000,000 will be submitted at a later date when the Treasury Department has concluded its survey of new projects which it is desirable to undertake at this time. The appropriation of these amounts will provide the Treasury with ample funds to continue the work during the fiscal year 1931.

The War Department is also carrying forward a building program, involving an ultimate expenditure of about $118,000,000, for the housing of military personnel, made necessary by the need for the replacement of World War temporary construction and to provide for the increase in the pre-war strength of the Regular Army. There has already been appropriated for this purpose $37,193,899, and $16,062,860 is carried in the estimates for 1931 with authority to make contracts for $3,000,000 additional. The estimates for 1931 also carry $3,311,000 for technical buildings for the air services of the Army and Navy, and $3,176,000 for other buildings for various purposes for the Army, Navy, and Panama Canal.

For completing the $15,000,000 program for additional hospital facilities for the Veterans' Bureau, $2,000,000 is provided for liquidating contracts previously authorized by the Congress.

New building construction for the Indian Service has been allowed for a total of $2,303,000, including reservation and nonreservation schools, hospitals, and administration buildings.

Provision is made for construction projects at several Federal penitentiaries. For Leavenworth, $22,000 is provided; for Atlanta, $79,000; for McNeil Island, $139,000; and $450,000 is included for continuing the construction of the industrial reformatory at Chillicothe

In furtherance of the $10,000,000 program for houses and offices for our foreign representatives, $1,700,000 is included in these estimates. The annual appropriations under this program are limited to $2,000,000, but the lesser amount has been included in the Budget because of the fact that the amount of the current estimate added to unexpended balances from prior appropriations will be sufficient to carry on the program during the fiscal year 1931.

Altogether this Budget carries estimates of more than $59,240,000 for the construction of buildings, including the procurement of sites, with a contract authorization for a further expenditure of $3,000,000. To the sum of these two amounts there should be added the additional $5,000,000 for the public-building program, for which, as stated, an estimate will be submitted later in the year.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

The estimates for direct appropriations for the War and Navy Departments for 1931 provide a total of $719,089,000 for national defense. This is exclusive of all items of a nonmilitary character. In addition to the normal maintenance and operation requirements of these two departments, provision is made for carrying forward the Air Service programs of the two services, the housing program of the Army, and the requirements of the Navy with regard to the modernization of old battleships and the construction of new ships authorized by the act of February 13, 1929, as well as the light cruisers and submarines authorized by prior law. With regard to the 15 new cruisers authorized by the act of last February, provision is made for continuing work on the 2 cruisers already laid down and on the aircraft carrier and 3 cruisers to be laid down late in the fiscal year 1930 and for the commencement of the construction of the second and third blocks of 5 cruisers each late in the fiscal year 1931.

AIR SERVICE

Under the Air Service programs for the Army and Navy I am asking for a total of $33,000,000 for the procurement of airplanes, their engines, spare parts, and accessories. In addition to this, I am asking for the same purposes for the Coast Guard, Department of Commerce, and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics a total of $460,000. With regard to the Army, provision is made for the procurement of the 443 airplanes pertaining to the fourth increment of the 5-year program authorized by the Congress. This program calls for 1,515 planes to be on hand and on order on June 30, 1931, and it is believed that this goal will be reached or closely approached by the funds already appropriated and the amounts estimated in this Budget. The present shortage in the program is about 40 planes pertaining to prior increments. No amount has been specifically included in the 1931 estimates to make up this shortage in view of the possibility of its reduction or complete elimination before the final increment is reached. Concerning the Navy Air Service, the last, or fifth, increment of the 5-year program authorized by the Congress will be reached in 1931. This program contemplates about 1,000 planes and 2 lighter-than-air ships to be on hand and on order at the close of that fiscal year. To accomplish this, provision is made for the procurement of 269 airplanes, including their equipment, and for continuing the work on the 2 lighter-than-air ships now under contract. In addition to the amounts which we are spending for the acquisition of aircraft we are also spending large sums for lighting and equipping airways, the inspection and licensing of commercial planes and pilots, and furnishing weather reports necessary to the carrying on of aerial navigation. For these purposes there is included in the estimates of the Department of Commerce $8,925,830 and in those for the Weather Bureau of the Department of Agriculture $1,400,000. It is estimated that by the end of the fiscal year 1931 there will be about 18,400 miles of airways lighted and equipped.

THE FRENCH DEBT

In the message transmitting the 1930 Budget to the Congress, the French debt was discussed. A portion of the indebtedness of France, representing surplus war materials purchased on credit, was due to mature during the fiscal year 1930, unless the agreement of April 29, 1928, providing for the funding of the entire indebtedness of France to the United States, should be ratified by both France and the United States, in which case this indebtedness would be merged in the general indebtedness of that Government to the United States. In the spring of this year it seemed clear to the Treasury that the Government of France would ratify the French debt agreement prior to August 1, 1929, the maturity date of $400,000,000 face amount of these obligations mentioned in last year's Budget message. The Congress of the United States was considering the question of recessing for two or three months and the Treasury was faced with the situation that the debt agreement would be ratified by France, that certain obligations of that Government would mature on August 1, that the Congress would not be in session, and that there was no authority on the part of the executive branch of the Government other than to submit the obligations on their maturity date for payment.

The matter was submitted to the Congress with a recommendation that, in the event the funding agreement was ratified by France, in accordance with its terms, prior to August 1, 1929, the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, be authorized to enter into an agreement with France providing for the postponement of the date of the maturity of the obligations in the principal amount of $400,000,000 from August 1, 1929, to such time as the Congress should approve or disapprove the funding agreement, but in no event beyond May 1, 1930, provided, however, that France should agree to pay interest on such obligations, the interest so paid to be credited against the annuities first due under the funding agreement. After consideration, House Joint Resolution 80, embodying these provisions, was passed by both Houses of Congress, but failed to receive the formal approval of the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate before adjournment, consequently failing to be enacted into law by August 1, 1929.

The French Government ratified the funding agreement under date of July 27, 1929. Relying upon the expression of the sentiment of the Congress on the matter, as contained in the joint resolution, the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, in an exchange of correspondence agreed with France to extend the maturity date of the obligation in question upon the terms and conditions set out in the resolution. The House joint resolution was subsequently enacted into law, being approved by the President on October 17, 1929. The question, therefore, of the maturity of these obligations is temporarily disposed of. The French debt agreement will be submitted to the Congress in the early part of December. If it receives the approval of the Congress, all of the obligations of France representing the purchase of surplus war material on credit will be merged, under that agreement, in the general debt of France to the United States. The payments thereafter made will conform to the annuities specified in that agreement.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

The receipts and expenditures shown in detail in the Budget are summarized in the following statement:

Summary (exclusive of postal revenues and postal expenditures paid from postal revenues)

	Estimated, 1931	Estimated, 1930	Actual, 1929
Receipts:
Customs	$602,000,000	$602,000,000	$602,262,786.17
Income tax	2,460,000,000	2,480,000,000	2,330,711,822.66
Miscellaneous internal revenue	640,000,000	635,000,000	607,307,548.98
Miscellaneous receipts	523,727,666	532,263,434	492,968,067.24
Total receipts	4,225,727,666	4,249,263,434	4,033,250,225.05
Total expenditures (including reduction of the public debt required by law to be made from ordinary receipts)	4,102,938,700	4,023,681,900	3,848,463,189.63
Excess of receipts	122,788,966	225,581,534	184,787,035.42

These figures include net expenditures from the revolving loan fund of the Federal Farm Board to the amount of $200,000,000 in 1931 as compared with an estimated net expenditure of $75,000,000 for the same purpose in the current fiscal year 1930. Eliminating these figures, for the purpose of comparison, from the estimated expenditures of both years shows the estimated expenditures for all other purposes for the fiscal year 1931 to be about $46,000,000 less than those for the fiscal year 1930.

The amounts which are shown in this Budget as representing the receipts, expenditures, and surplus for the fiscal years 1929 and 1930 differ materially from those contained in the Budget for 1930, as shown by the following table:

	1930		1929
	Estimated in this Budget	Estimated in the 1930 Budget	Actual	Estimated in the 1930 Budget
Receipts	$4,249,263,434.00	$3,841,295,829.00	$4,033,250,225.05	$3,831,735,661.00
Expenditures	4,023,681,900.00	3,780,719,647.00	3,848,463,189.63	3,794,745,469.00
Surplus	225,581,534.00	60,576,182.00	184,787,035.42	36,990,192.00

The increase in actual receipts for 1929 over the estimate can be attributed mainly to an unforeseen increase in receipts from the individual income tax. On the expenditure side, while there were a number of increases and decreases in particular items, the total excess of actual expenditures over the estimate, $54,000,000, is but slightly in excess of the amount paid to the railroads on account of back mail pay, an expenditure which could not have been anticipated in the estimate.

For the current fiscal year, 1930, there is a marked improvement over the financial situation as estimated in the Budget for 1930 transmitted to the Congress in December, 1928. Compared with the estimate of one year ago the receipts show an increase of about $408,000,000 and the expenditures about $243,000,000. On the receipt side the increase in the estimate is reflected generally in the income tax, $305,000,000 due to an abnormal increase in the incomes reported by individuals for 1928 and to this exceedingly prosperous business year; miscellaneous internal revenue, $76,000,000, derived, in the main, from a steady expansion of the tobacco tax and increased stamp-tax receipts; customs, $20,000,000; and miscellaneous receipts, about $7,000,000. On the expenditure side the principal items making up the increase in the estimate are $75,000,000 for the net expenditures from the revolving loan fund of the Federal Farm Board, $77,000,000 for public-debt retirements, $12,790,000 for the postal deficiency, $23,000,000 for the construction and modernization of naval ships, $42,000,000 for the Treasury Department, pertaining mainly to the settlement of war claims and the public-building program, and $11,800,000 for the Veterans' Bureau.

TAX REDUCTION

With an estimated surplus of over $225,000,000 this year and $122,000,000 next year, it is felt that some measure of reduction in taxes is justified. Since the fiscal year 1921 four reductions in taxes have been made. Experience has shown that each reduction in taxes has resulted in revenue in excess of the mathematically computed return under the reduced rates. Undoubtedly an increase in the prosperity of business brought forth by tax reduction is partly responsible for this experience. Such reduction gives the taxpayer correspondingly more for his own use and thus increases the capital available for general business. Under the present circumstances I am in favor of a reduction in income taxes, to be effective on returns for the calendar year 1929, which will be due March 15, 1930. Payment under these returns will be made during the last half of the current fiscal year 1930 and the first half of the coming fiscal year 1931, so that the reduction will be reflected in the two years for which we now anticipate a surplus. I therefore recommend that taxes upon incomes for the calendar year 1929 be reduced in the approximate sum of $160,000,000. I would suggest to the Congress that this be effected, as recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury, by reducing by 1 per cent the rate of the normal tax on the incomes of individuals and corporations, applicable to 1929 incomes and payable in the calendar year 1930. This will afford either directly or indirectly relief to the maximum number of taxpayers. Our effort will be to conduct our financial requirements so as to continue the benefits of reduced taxation for succeeding calendar years. It would not, however, at this time be safe to extend the period of the reduction. A year hence we will know more definitely whether the condition of our finances justifies a continuation or extension of the reduction.

CONCLUSION

Our finances are in sound condition. The public debt, which at its peak in August, 1919, amounted to $26,596,000,000, stood at $16,931,000,000 on June 30, 1929. We are wisely committed to a policy which insures the further progressive reduction of the debt. We will reach in 1931 for the first time the period when the annual reduction required by law in the principal of the debt will be greater than the annual interest charges on the debt. We are also committed to the annual amortization of our other long-term commitments—such as the adjusted-service certificate of the veterans of the World War and our liability under the retirement laws affecting civilian personnel. Our estimated expenditures for this and the next year are well within our expected receipts. With the recommended reduction in taxes the margin between the two will be considerably lessened, but to what extent we do not definitely know to-day. This situation emphasizes the necessity for a careful scrutiny of any proposed additional activities which would involve a material increase in expenditures in order that we may not jeopardize either the balanced condition of the Budget or the continuation of the benefits of reduced taxation.

To the Congress of the United States:

In compliance with the provisions of the act of March 3, 1915, establishing the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, I submit herewith the fifteenth annual report of the committee for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929.

It is evident from the committee's report that, although material progress has been made in aeronautics during the past year, the best efforts of America are needed to keep pace with other progressive nations in the rapidly developing science of aeronautics. Attention is invited to part 5 of the committee's report, presenting a summary of the progress in aircraft development, and especially to the conclusion, wherein the committee expresses certain opinions with reference to the relative position of the United States and other nations that are active in the development of aeronautics.

I concur in the committee's opinion that progress on the two outstanding problems of increased safety and decreased costs necessitates continuous scientific research on the fundamental problems of flight. To this end enlarged facilities are being provided at the committee's laboratories at Langley Field, Va.

It is gratifying to note the committee's opinion that the efforts of all agencies, governmental and private, concerned with the technical development of aircraft are effectively coordinated in prosecuting the research programs of the committee.

The Presiding Officer laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations and ordered to be printed:

I renew the recommendation originally made by President Harding that, in order to effect a settlement of these claims, the Congress, as an act of grace and without reference to the question of legal liability of the United States in the matter, authorize an appropriation in the sum of $45,518.69. The Presiding Officer laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read and referred to the Committee on the Library:

To the Congress of the United States:

I transmit herewith, for the information of the Congress, the Eleventh Report of the National Commission of Fine Arts for the period from January 1, 1926, to June 30, 1929.

The report sketches conditions which called for a comprehensive plan for the entire District of Columbia, as primarily the Nation's Capital; relates the progressive steps in making the plan of 1901, which restored and amplified the original plan of 1792; notes the advances made in the realization of that plan; and specifies items still to be accomplished. In particular the report deals with the historical as well as the architectural reasoning on which the plan is based.

The movements which have led to the improvement of the south side of Pennsylvania Avenue and to the Mount Vernon Highway are traced.

The report shows the constantly increasing work of the commission during the 19 years since its creation, such increase being due to specific legislation by Congress, and calls of the executive departments.

The American World War cemeteries and monuments in Europe, as well as the George Rogers Clark Memorial at Vincennes, Ind., the statue of Henry Clay in Venezuela, and of the Leif Ericsson statue in Iceland, illustrate the extent of the commission's activities; while the designs of colleges, school and hospital buildings in the District of Columbia show the intensive character of that work. In fact, the commission is required to give advice on all projects involving questions of art for which the Government makes appropriations.

HERBERT HOOVER.

THE WHITE HOUSE, December 5, 1929.

NOTE.—Report accompanied similar message to House of Representatives.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

AMERICAN POLICIES IN HAITI

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Congress of the United States:

In my message to Congress of the 3d instant I indicated my concern as to the future of our policies in Haiti. I stated that we have there about 700 marines, and that we are confronted with a difficult problem, the solution of which is still obscure. I further stated that if Congress approves I shall dispatch a commission to Haiti to review and study the matter in an endeavor to arrive at some more definite policy than at present.

Our representatives in Haiti have shown great ability and devotion, and have accomplished signal results in improvement of the material condition of that people. Yet our experience has revealed more clearly than was seen at first the difficulties of the problem, and the entire situation should be reviewed in the light of this experience.

Since the dispatch of my message disturbances in Haiti emphasize the importance of such an investigation and determination of national policies in the immediate future.

The students at the agricultural school at Damien went on a strike on October 31 as a protest against a new policy of the Haitian Government. The Haitian Government had heretofore allotted $10,000 per annum to this school for scholarships but this year it withheld $2,000 of the appropriation in order to make it possible for needy students to perform practical school work on the grounds. Sympathetic strikes were subsequently declared in the medical and law schools. President Borno appointed a committee of Haitians to inquire into the matter and it seemed probable at the time that recommendations presented by this committee and accepted by the authorities would adjust the difficulty. Unfortunately, advantage was taken of the situation by various agencies to foment disturbances against the Haitian administration and on December 3 the American high commissioner reported that the strike movement had spread throughout the country and that it was feared that the Haitian employees of the departments under American treaty officials might become involved.

On December 4 customhouse employees at Port au Prince abandoned their work in a disorderly manner and crowds have gathered in Port au Prince. At the same time there were reported demonstrations by crowds at Cape Haitien in sympathy with the disturbance in Port au Prince. The American high commissioner reported that on the morning of December 4 it was feared that disorderly conditions would arise at Aux Cayes and similar disturbances were possible at other places.

The high commissioner has asked that additional marines be in readiness to make sure that if the situation becomes serious American lives will be protected, and the force he has suggested has been ordered dispatched for that purpose.

I feel that it is most desirable that the commission mentioned in my message of December 3 be constituted and sent to Haiti without delay, and I therefore request the Congress to authorize the immediate sending of such a commission and to appropriate for this purpose $50,000. It is my intention to include one or two Members from each House of Congress on this commission.

HERBERT HOOVER.

THE WHITE HOUSE, December 7, 1929.

ate there was spent in behalf of the said Vare in said primary election by the said Vare and his friends a sum of money exceeding $785,000; and

Whereas it was the expenditure of this excessive amount of money and the manner of its expenditure which caused the Senate to deny a seat in the United States Senate to the said Vare; and

Whereas the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, John S. Fisher, notified of the vacancy in the United States Senate occasioned by the denial of a seat to the said William S. Vare, has appointed to said vacancy one Joseph R. Grundy, whose credentials are now before the Senate; and

Whereas in the same campaign in which William S. Vare and his ticket were found by a Senate investigating committee to have expended $785,000 to win the nomination, another ticket in opposition to the nomination of the said Vare and in support of the nomination of the said Fisher for Governor of Pennsylvania, expended $1,804,979, or nearly three times as much, according to the findings of the same investigating committee; and

Whereas of the aforesaid sum of $1,804,979 approximately $400,000 was raised and contributed by Joseph R. Grundy, the aforesaid appointee of Governor Fisher; and

Whereas the expenditure of such large sums of money to secure nomination is contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the Senate, dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government, and destructive of the value and merit of an election climaxing a campaign of such expenditures: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the aforesaid Joseph R. Grundy be, and he is hereby, denied a seat in the Senate of the United States.

Whereas by the first deficiency act, fiscal year 1929, the Congress appropriated $250,000, to be expended under authority and by direction of the President, for an inquiry into the problem of enforcement of the prohibition laws, together with the enforcement of other laws; and

REMISSION OF FINE IMPOSED ON VESSEL "FRANCE"

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Vandenberg in the chair) laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States which was read, and, with the accompanying report, referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

I transmit herewith a report from the Secretary of State in regard to the remission of a fine imposed on the sailing vessel France owned by the French Company of Marine and Commerce by the immigration authorities on the occasion of the vessel's arrival at Baltimore on July 23, 1920. The fine was imposed because the captain of the France submitted a crew list in a form which failed to contain certain data required by section 36 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917. The Secretary of State is of the opinion that the failure of the captain to include this information was not due to any fault of his but was due to the fact that when he called at the American consulate at Nantes and requested to be furnished with the copies of the regular forms none were available, and he was accordingly obliged to make out his list on ordinary paper. The conclusion reached by the Secretary of State has my approval, and I recommend that the Congress authorize an appropriation of $530 to be paid to the French Company of Marine and Commerce.

HERBERT HOOVER.

Whereas these agencies, and other interests connected with them, are detrimental to peaceful relationship between employers and employees, setting up a system of espionage in industry, thriving on the unrest and fear they create, and spreading false rumors and scares and often bringing about strikes in order to maintain their alleged services: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Education and Labor be, and hereby is, empowered to conduct an inquiry into the extent of this system of industrial espionage in all its ramifications, and to report to the Senate what legislation, in the committee's judgment, is desirable to correct such practices as they may find inimical to the public welfare.

REPORT OF COMMISSION ON LAW ENFORCEMENT

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States:

To the Congress of the United States:

In my previous messages I have requested the attention of the Congress to the urgent situation which has grown up in the matter of enforcement of Federal criminal laws.

After exhaustive examination of the subject, the Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement and the officials of the Department of Justice and the Treasury Department unite in the conclusion that increasing enactment of Federal criminal laws over the past 20 years, as to which violation of the prohibition laws comprise rather more than one-half of the total arrests, has finally culminated in a burden upon the Federal courts of a character for which they are ill-designed and, in many cases, entirely beyond their capacity. The result is to delay civil causes and, of even more importance, the defeat of both justice and law enforcement. Moreover, experience shows division of authority, responsibility, and lack of fundamental organization in Federal enforcement agencies and ofttimes results in ineffective action.

While some sections of the American people may disagree upon the merits of some of the questions involved, every responsible citizen supports the fundamental principle that the law of the land must be enforced.

The development of the facts shows the necessity for certain important and evident administrative reforms in the enforcement and judicial machinery, concrete proposals for which are available from Government departments. They are, in the main:

1. Reorganization of the Federal court structure so as to give relief from congestion.
2. Concentration of responsibility in detection and prosecution of prohibition violations.
3. Consolidation of the various agencies engaged in prevention of a smuggling of liquor, narcotics, other merchandise, and aliens over our frontiers.
4. Provision of adequate court and prosecuting officials.
5. Expansion of Federal prisons and reorganization of parole and other practices.
6. Specific legislation for the District of Columbia.

I append hereto a preliminary and a supplementary report from the Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement relating to several of these and other questions. I particularly call attention to their recommended plan for reducing congestion in the Federal courts by giving court commissioners enlarged powers in minor criminal cases. Their discussion of the workability and the constitutionality of the plan, which is concurred in by the eminent jurists upon the commission and others, whose advice they have sought, is set out in more detail in the supplementary report. I also append memorandums from the Attorney General and the Secretary of the Treasury upon several phases of these problems.

I believe the administrative changes mentioned above will constribute to cure many abuses. Beyond these immediate questions are others which reach deeply into the whole question of the growth of crime and the enforcement of the laws. The causes of crime, the character of criminal laws, the benefits and liabilities that flow from them, the abuses which arise under them, the method by which enforcement and judicial personnel is secured, the judicial procedure, the respective responsibility of the Federal and State Governments to these problems, all require further and most exhaustive consideration and investigation, which will require time and earnest research as to the facts and forces in action before sound opinions can be arrived at upon them.

Mr. Vandenberg, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 199), which was referred to the Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs:

Whereas the Senate Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs contemplates immediate inquiry into the question of independence for the Philippine Islands; and

Whereas economic self-sufficiency must exist in order to justify and maintain a permanent status of independence; and

Whereas this economic self-sufficiency requires the effectual maintenance of native Philippine trade without the benefit of free American markets and in readjusted contacts with the markets of the world; and

Whereas this self-sufficiency can only be achieved by the successful erection and operation of an independent tariff structure by and for the Philippine Islands:

Resolved, That the Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs be instructed to include within the scope of its inquiry an investigation into the feasibility of tariff autonomy for the Philippine Islands as a final and essential demonstration of such economic self-sufficiency as will justify subsequent independence at the earliest possible date.

PACKERS' CONSENT DECREE

Whereas there are pending in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia the petitions of Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. to modify the consent decree, entered in that court February 27, 1920, by relieving said Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. of the provisions of that decree which require them to divest themselves of their ownership in public stockyards, stockyard terminal railroads, stockyard market newspapers, public cold-storage warehouses, and which prohibit them from engaging in the manufacture and distribution of numerous commodities unrelated to the meat-packing business, and which prohibit them from owning retail stores for the selling of meats, meat products, or other commodities; and

Whereas the Senate is informed that the Attorney General has not yet made answer to these petitions of Armour & Co. and Swift & Co.; and

Whereas the Senate is also informed that the Attorney General has decided that he will take no action whatsoever in connection with that decree, contending that it is a matter for the courts to determine and for the courts alone; and

Resolved, That the Attorney General be requested to report to the Senate (1) all information in his possession as to whether or not Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. have obeyed the provisions of the decree requiring them to cease handling the so-called unrelated commodities and to divest themselves of ownership in stockyards and stockyard terminal railroads and plants for making or processing the unrelated lines, and if Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. have not obeyed such provisions, what progress up to the present time have they made toward such obedience;

(2) What, if any, investigation he is making into whether or not the facts alleged by the packers in their petitions for modification of the decree are or are not true, and whether or not such facts constitute sufficient ground for modification of the decree; and

(3) What, if any, information he has as to whether or not these packers have disobeyed the restraint-of-trade provisions of the decree since the decree was entered, and what investigation he is making into whether or not the packers have disobeyed such provisions and to what extent such investigations have progressed.

Whereas by the act of Congress approved May 20, 1926, it is provided that it shall be the duty of the Secretary of Commerce "to investigate, record, and make public the causes of accidents in civil air navigation in the United States"; and Such allowances shall be at the following rates: For each pound of sugar testing by the polariscope above 88 sugar degrees and not above 90 sugar degrees, 0.365 cent, and for each additional sugar degree shown by the polariscope test, seventy-five ten-thousandths of 1 cent additional, and fractions of a degree in proportion. (b) The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to issue and sell from time to time customs warrants in amounts sufficient to meet allowances payable under this paragraph. If any customs warrants to meet allowances payable upon sugar produced from sugar beets or sugarcane of any crop year are issued and sold for less than par value, the amount of the difference between the par value and the amount for which issued and sold shall be deducted from the allowances to be paid upon such sugar, in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall provide. Claims for allowances upon any quantity of sugar are authorized to be filed at any time within six months after the production of the sugar and shall be paid promptly by the Secretary of the Treasury.

(c) Title to customs warrants shall be transferable by delivery. A customs warrant when presented by the bearer thereof within one year from the date of issuance shall be legal tender at its par value for payment of duties on imports. The Secretary of the Treasury shall prepare and issue all customs warrants. Customs warrants shall be obligations of the United States within the definition in section 147 of the act entitled "An act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March 4, 1909, as amended (U. S. C., title 18, sec. 261).

(d) No allowance shall be paid upon any sugar which has at any time been imported into the continental United States or upon which an allowance has previously been paid under this paragraph.

(e) No manufacturer shall be eligible to receive any allowance upon sugar produced from sugar beets or sugarcane of any crop year unless such manufacturer files with the Secretary of the Treasury, prior to July 1 of such year, a notice of an intention to claim the benefits of this paragraph. Such notice shall be in such form as the Secretary of the Treasury shall by regulation prescribe and shall include an estimate of the amount of sugar proposed to be produced by the manufacturer from sugar beets and sugarcane of such crop year. No allowance shall be paid to any manufacturer upon sugar produced from sugar beets or sugarcane of any crop year unless the manufacturer produces at least 2,000 pounds of sugar from sugar beets and sugarcane of such crop year.

(f) No allowance shall be paid to any person unless he files claim therefor and maintains books, records, accounts, and memoranda necessary for the purposes of this paragraph, in such form and manner as the Secretary of the Treasury shall by regulation prescribe, nor unless such person permits the examination of and produces such books, accounts, records, and memoranda in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe.

(g) Any transaction of the Treasury Department in issuing or receiving customs warrants or in paying allowances under this paragraph, shall be final and conclusive upon all officers of the Government; except that all such transactions shall be examined by the General Accounting Office at such times and in such manner as the Comptroller General of the United States may by regulation prescribe. Such examination shall be for the sole purpose of making a report to the Congress and to the Secretary of the Treasury of expenditures in violation of law, together with such recommendations with respect thereto as the Comptroller General deems advisable.

(h) Any person who knowingly or without the exercise of due diligence makes any statement or representation that is false in any substantial particular with respect to any claim of himself or any other person under this paragraph, or who knowingly receives any allowance under this paragraph to which he is not entitled, or who knowingly files a claim for any such allowance shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not more than $1,000.

CLAIM OF CHARLES J. HARRAH

The President pro tempore laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

On October 31, 1929, I submitted to the Congress a report of the Secretary of State in regard to the claim of Charles J. Harrah, an American citizen, against the Government of Cuba, growing out of the destruction in 1917 of a railroad built and operated by him in the Province of Habana.

In submitting the report mentioned, I recommended that an appropriation in the amount of $20,000 be made in order that the expenses which it would be necessary to incur on the part of the Government of the United States to prosecute the Harrah claim to settlement by arbitration might be met. I submit herewith a supplementary report of the Secretary of State, from which it will be observed that, in the light of developments in the arbitration proceedings to date, the amount previously mentioned will not be sufficient to meet the necessary expenses of the arbitration and that $20,000 additional will be required.

I recommend that an appropriation of $40,000 to provide for the costs of arbitrating the Harrah claim be made instead of $20,000, as previously recommended.

HERBERT HOOVER.

REBATING AFFECTING RAILROADS

Mr. Brookhart, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 209), which was referred to the Committee on Interstate Commerce:

Whereas the act to regulate interstate and foreign commerce, approved February 16, 1903, prohibits railroad rebating, directly and indirectly in every manner and form; and

Whereas the act creating the Federal Trade Commission, approved September 26, 1914, prohibits unfair methods of competition in commerce; and

Whereas the act approved August 15, 1921, specifically prohibits the packers from engaging in any "unfair, unjustly discriminating, or deceptive practice or device in commerce"; and

Whereas an illegal and immoral system of rebating known as "reciprocal buying" has been created and developed in violation of the aforesaid laws and is affecting the $2,000,000,000 of annual purchases of supplies of American railroads; and

Whereas this system is responsible for destroying small competitors, foisting inferior equipment on railroads at the expense and to the detriment of the public while enriching grafting officials of the guilty companies; and

Whereas the following letter gives a concrete example of one of the steps taken by officials of a packing company, which company alone controls through a subsidiary 7,500 refrigerator cars:

SWIFT & Co.,
Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

DEAR SIR: The Swift family owns the Mechanical Manufacturing Co., a Chicago corporation which has been manufacturing packing-house machinery for a good many years. They also have been putting out the Ellis and the Durable bumping post, with which you are familiar.

Our people have decided to take on the durable draft gear and the durable centering device, and we expect our railroad friends to use these articles on a reciprocity basis, with the understanding that they are competitively priced and their quality is second to none.

I inclose all the data that we have gathered to date on these draft gears. Several of the principal lines already have placed orders with us for them, and they will be utilized 100 per cent on the Swift equipment in the future.

Won't you please have whichever of your departments is in charge of this end of your business make an investigation at this time, particularly of the gear, and let me know if you are agreeable to utilizing some of them on any new equipment that will be built during the year; also on any renewals that take place from day to day on your lines.

Please reply.

Yours respectfully,
SWIFT & Co.,
Per W. A. M.

And—

Whereas officials of Armour & Co. are using the so-called Waugh Co. in a similar conspiracy; and

Whereas these two specific cases are examples of the methods being used by many great interests to violate the law by forms of commercial bribery: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Interstate Commerce, or any subcommittee thereof, be, and hereby is, directed to make a full and searching investigation of rebating in every form directly or indirectly that affects the common carriers of the United States and report the same to the Senate.

INCREASED EXPENDITURES FOR LOBBY INVESTIGATION

Resolved, That in furtherance of the purposes of Senate Resolution No. 20, agreed to October 1, 1929, the Committee on the Judiciary, or any subcommittee thereof, investigating the activities of lobbying associations and lobbyists, is hereby authorized to expend $10,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, out of the contingent fund of the Senate in addition to the amount heretofore authorized for said purposes.

Mr. Deneen, by unanimous consent, from the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, to whom was referred the foregoing resolution, subsequently reported it without amendment.

The Senate proceeded, by unanimous consent, to consider the said resolution; and

Resolved, That the Senate agree thereto.

TARIFF REVISION

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of its unfinished business, viz, the bill (H. R. 2667) to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, to protect American labor, and for other purposes.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment yesterday proposed by Mr. Kean on page 23, line 20,

The Vice President held that the said amendment, being a substitute for the reported amendment, as amended, beginning on page 23, line 17, heretofore agreed to, was not in order.

The vote whereby the Senate agreed to the said reported amendment, as amended, was reconsidered by unanimous consent.

On motion by Mr. Kean to insert in lieu of the part proposed to be inserted by the reported amendment, as amended, the following:

Par. 52. Menthol, 30 cents per pound; camphor, crude or natural, 1 cent per pound; refined or synthetic, 6 cents per pound.

And the said amendment having been subsequently modified by him, the part proposed to be inserted was divided, by unanimous consent, and the first branch thereof, as follows: Menthol, 30 cents per pound, was agreed to.

Pending debate,

INVESTIGATION OF PROHIBITION BUREAU

Mr. Wheeler, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 211), which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas we have had upon the statute books of the United States for the past 10 years laws prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor; and

Whereas the Congress of the United States has appropriated millions of dollars for the enforcement of said law; and

Whereas it is a notorious fact that in many cities (both large and small) all over the country there are as many, if not more, places where liquor is sold than prior to the enactment of the law; and

Whereas charges that officers of the Government throughout the country have been and are being corrupted and that special favors are being granted to certain individuals to violate the law have been repeatedly made, and charges and counter-charges have been and are being flung back and forth by employees of the Prohibition Bureau; and

Whereas the Commissioner of the Bureau of Prohibition has refused to furnish Members of the Senate with copies of reports made by investigators in his department to either prove or disprove the charges; and

Whereas many of our leading newspapers have charged that many illegal killings and other illegal acts were and are being committed by the Prohibition Bureau; and

Whereas the commission appointed by President Hoover to study prohibition enforcement has refused to hold public hearings so that the Congress or the people may know upon what evidence, if any, to base their conclusions; and

Whereas the Congress of the United States should have authoritative information as to whether the complete breakdown of the prohibition enforcement is due to the inefficiency, corruption, or lack of sympathy on the part of the majority of the people with the law before enacting other laws or appropriating huge sums of money for its enforcement.

Resolved, That the Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate is authorized and directed (1) to investigate the activities of the Bureau of Prohibition in the Department of the Treasury and all matters in anywise pertaining to the enforcement of the prohibition laws of the United States, and (2) to report to the Senate as soon as practicable the results of its investigations, together with its recommendations, if any, for necessary legislation.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold hearings, to sit and act at such times and places during the sessions and recesses of the Senate in the Seventy-first and succeeding Congresses until the final report is submitted, to employ such clerical and other assistants, to require by subpœna or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, and to take such testimony and make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $25,000, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman.

If there is no similar competitive article manufactured or produced in the United States, then the ad valorem rate shall be based upon the United States value, as defined in subdivision (d) as amended of section 402, Title IV. For the purposes of this subparagraph any petroleum product provided for herein shall be considered similar to or competitive with any imported petroleum product which accomplishes results substantially equal to those accomplished by the domestic product when used in substantially the same manner.

And by striking out, on page 265, lines 3 to 6, inclusive, as follows:

"PAR. 1730. Oils, mineral: Petroleum, crude, fuel, or refined, and all distillates obtained from petroleum, including kerosene, benzine, naphtha, gasoline, paraffin, and paraffin oil, not specially provided for."

It was determined in the negative, {Yeas ---------- 27 / Nays ---------- 39}

On motion by Mr. McKellar,

The yeas and nays being desired by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative are—

Messrs. Allen, Baird, Bratton, Broussard, Capper, Caraway, Connally, Cutting, Fess, Goff, Goldsborough, Grundy, Hastings, Hatfield, Johnson, Jones, Kean, Patterson, Pine, Ransdell, Robsion of Kentucky, Sheppard, Shortridge, Steiwer, Thomas of Oklahoma, Waterman, and Watson.

HUNTERS ISLAND TRACT

Mr. Schall, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 224), which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands and Surveys:

Whereas an extensive tract of approximately 1,000,000 acres, known as Hunters Island, lying on the northern international boundary midway between Lake Superior and Lake of the Woods, appears to be, according to recent surveys by United States Engineers, not an island but a peninsula of the United States and attached by a high divide to the State of Minnesota; and

Whereas in the original treaty of peace, 1783, won by the ambassadors of General Washington in the American Revolution, his Britannic Majesty Prince George III relinquished to the United States as sovereign proprietor all territory between Lake Superior and Lake of the Woods below the "water communication" between the same; and

Whereas the said "water communication" along said boundary now appears to be north of Hunters Island, both according to the map of Major Long in 1823 on file in Government archives and the recent engineering report of the International Joint Commission in 1930; and

Whereas this so-called Hunters Island tract appears to be of great economic value in water powers, lumber, and pulpwood, and possible mineral wealth, and the area thereof approximately appears to be ten times that of the Virgin Islands for which the United States in 1917 paid Denmark $25,000,000: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Public Lands Committee is hereby instructed to assemble and report to the Senate at as early a date as practicable the boundary treaties, maps and plats, and pertinent historic and survey data relative to the title and national sovereignty of said Hunters Island tract, for the information of the Congress and the American people.

UNSPINNABLE COTTON

Mr. Heflin, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 225) which, together with the accompanying preamble, was considered by unanimous consent and agreed to:

Whereas it is alleged that there is a considerable quantity of very low-grade cotton and damaged cotton which has been rejected for spinning purposes, and that said cotton is being accumulated and kept from year to year for the purpose of counting it in the cotton supply in the United States; and

Whereas such a practice, if true, is not only unfair and harmful to the cotton producers of the United States but unfair and misleading to the public because it is counted as a part of the spinnable cotton supply; and

Whereas this unspinnable, low-grade, and damaged cotton should be eliminated from the amount of spinnable cotton carried in the Government reports: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Bureau of the Census is hereby requested to ascertain through its gin reporters and other agents in the service the number of bales of the kind of cotton designated in the preamble of this resolution as unspinnable, low-grade, and damaged cotton and report same to the Senate.

(a) Subject to the limitations hereinafter specified, there shall be paid by the Federal Farm Board, out of the proceeds of issues of customs warrants, allowances upon sugar produced by domestic manufacturers from sugar beets or sugarcane grown within the continental United States. The rates of such allowances shall be determined by the Federal Farm Board but shall not be in excess of the following rates: For each pound of sugar testing by the polariscope above 88 sugar degrees and not above 90 sugar degrees, 0.365 cent, and for each additional sugar degree shown by the polariscope test, seventy-five ten-thousandths of 1 cent additional, and fractions of a degree in proportion. After making the deduction provided for in subdivision (b), 90 per cent of the remainder of the allowance upon any sugar shall be paid to the grower of the sugar beets or sugarcane from which the sugar is produced, and 10 per cent of the remainder of the allowance shall be paid to the manufacturer producing the sugar.

(b) Whenever hereafter and for the crop year of 1929 the Federal Farm Board determines that the growers of sugar beets or sugarcane are entitled to Federal aid for any crop year, the board shall from time to time call upon the Secretary of the Treasury to issue customs warrants in amounts sufficient to meet allowances payable under this paragraph. Customs warrants so issued shall be sold from time to time by the Federal Farm Board. If any customs warrants so issued to meet allowances payable upon sugar produced from sugar beets or sugarcane of any crop year are sold by the Federal Farm Board for less than par value, the amount of the difference between the par value and the amount for which such warrants are sold shall be deducted from the allowances to be paid upon such sugar in accordance with such regulations as the Federal Farm Board shall provide. In the event that customs warrants are issued as herein provided, claims for allowances upon any quantity of sugar are authorized to be filed at any time within six months after the production of the sugar, and shall be paid promptly by the Federal Farm Board.

(c) Title to customs warrants shall be transferable by delivery. A customs warrant when presented by the bearer thereof within one year from date of issuance shall be legal tender at its par value for payment of duties on imports. The Secretary of the Treasury shall prepare and issue such warrants whenever requested by the Federal Farm Board. Customs warrants shall be obligations of the United States within the definition in section 147 of the act entitled "An act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March 4, 1909, as amended (United States Code, title 18, section 261).

(d) No allowance shall be paid upon any sugar which has at any time been imported into the continental United States or upon which an allowance has previously been paid under this paragraph.

(e) No manufacturer shall be eligible to receive any allowance upon sugar produced from sugar beets or sugar cane of any crop year unless such manufacturer files with the Federal Farm Board prior to July 1, of such year, except in the case of the crop year of 1929, a notice of an intention to claim the benefits of this paragraph. Such notice shall be in such form, and shall be filed for the crop year of 1929, as the Federal Farm Board shall by regulation prescribe, and shall include an estimate of the amount of sugar proposed to be produced by the manufacturer from sugar beets and sugarcane of such crop year. No allowance shall be paid to any manufactwrer upon sugar produced from sugar beets or sugarcane of any crop year unless the manufacturer produces at least 2,000 pounds of sugar from sugar beets and sugarcane of such crop year.

(f) No allowance shall be paid to any person unless he files claim therefor and maintains books, records, accounts, and memoranda necessary for the purposes of this paragraph, in such form and manner as the Federal Farm Board shall by regulation prescribe, nor unless such person permits the examination of and produces such books, accounts, records, and memoranda in accordance with such regulations as the Federal Farm Board shall prescribe.

(g) Any transaction of the Treasury Department in issuing or receiving customs warrants or of the Federal Farm Board in paying allowances under this paragraph shall be final and conclusive upon all officers of the Government, except that all such transactions shall be examined by the General Accounting Office at such times and in such manner as the Comptroller General of the United States may by regulation prescribe. Such examination shall be for the sole purpose of making a report to the Congress and to the Secretary of the Treasury of expenditures in violation of law, together with such recommendations with respect thereto as the Comptroller General deems advisable.

(h) Any person who knowingly or without the exercise of due diligence makes any statement or representation that is false in any substantial particular with respect to any claim of himself or any other person under this paragraph, or who knowingly receives any allowance under this paragraph to which he is not entitled, or who knowingly files a claim for any such allowance shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not more than $1,000.

A parliamentary inquiry having been raised concerning the motion entered to-day by Mr. McMaster to reconsider the vote of the Senate agreeing to the conference report,

The President pro tempore held that the motion to reconsider could not be entertained for the reason that at the time it was entered the papers were in possession of the House of Representatives, and the accompanying motion required by the rules to request the House to return the papers to the Senate was not made.

On motion by Mr. Jones that the Senate further insist upon its amendments numbered 23, 46, and 47, upon which the committee of conference did not agree, and ask a further conference with the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and that the Chair appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate.

On motion by Mr. McMaster to amend the motion by including the Indian school items contained in certain other amendments,

Mr. Hayden raised a question of order that the items referred to were contained in the conference report which both the Senate and House had approved, and that therefore they were no longer in dispute between the two Houses.

The President pro tempore sustained the point of order.

The motion of Mr. Jones was then agreed to; and

The President pro tempore appointed Mr. Jones, Mr. Hale, Mr. Phipps, Mr. Overman, and Mr. Glass as the conferees on the part of the Senate.

Ordered, That the Secretary notify the House of Representatives thereof.

That in order to assure the maintenance of such conditions of competition any citizen of the United States or the people's counsel established in this act shall be entitled to file a complaint in the United States Customs Court alleging that such conditions of competition do not prevail with respect to the production, distribution, or sale of any such dutiable article or commodity and setting forth the facts and circumstances supporting the allegations in such complaint which shall be verified by the oath of the complainant or others.

(2) Upon the filing of such complaint the said court shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the truth and merit of such complaint and shall immediately cause public notice to be given by publication in the Treasury Decisions of the Department of the Treasury and the Commerce Reports of the Department of Commerce to all persons and corporations or associations concerned in the domestic production, distribution, or sale of such article that it will hold a hearing on the questions of fact and law contained in such complaint upon a day to be named therein when relevant testimony and argument may be offered to determine whether such full conditions of domestic competition prevail and to what extent if any price-fixing agreements or practices, or production limiting agreements or practices obtain in the production, distribution, or sale of such article or commodity—and following such testimony and hearing the said court shall report its findings to the President.
