INVESTIGATION OF PROHIBITION CONDITIONS

Mr. Tydings, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 172), which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Resolved, That a special select committee of 5 Senators, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, 3 from the majority political party and 2 from the minority political party, is authorized and directed to investigate conditions in the United States under the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution, and the prohibition laws, with a view to determining particularly (1) the economic and social conditions existing under the present enforcement laws, (2) the extent to which such laws are violated, (3) the amount of revenue which would be received by the United States Treasury should the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors be permitted by law, and (4) generally any matters related to or affecting the prohibition question. The committee shall report to the Senate as soon as practicable the results of its investigations, together with its recommendations, if any, for necessary legislation.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places during the sessions and recesses of the Senate in the Seventy-second Congress until the final report is submitted, to employ such clerical and other assistants, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oath, to take such testimony, and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $——, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman.

LEGALITY OF RAILROAD MERGERS

Mr. King, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 173), which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas it has been asserted within the last few days by the chairman of the legislative committee of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in his official capacity, that through the formation of holding companies, and otherwise, numerous combinations of parallel and competing railroads engaged in interstate commerce have recently been made without authority of law, and particularly without first obtaining the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, as provided in section 5 of the interstate commerce act; and

Whereas the same authority has stated that there have apparently been deliberate attempts, by means of such combinations, to evade, anticipate, and forestall action by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and to restrict and impede said commission in the free and effective exercise of its lawful powers; and

Whereas it is a matter of common knowledge that in furtherance of the acts aforesaid large quantities of stocks and bonds in such holding companies and other corporations have been marketed and sold to private investors throughout the United States at prices far in excess of any present or prospective value, thus occasioning enormous losses to the purchasers thereof; and

Whereas a number of said combinations of railroads have been expressly declared by the commission to be in violation of law; and

Whereas there is now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission an application of four railroad corporations in the eastern section of the United States which, if approved, would explicitly condone these violations of law and render the commission powerless to exercise its independent judgment as to the public interest in the consolidation of railroads in such territory: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the United States be requested to inform the Senate as soon as practicable (1) whether such transactions constitute contracts, combinations, or conspiracies in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States or attempts to monopolize or restrain such commerce, in violation of the act of Congress of July 2, 1890, as amended, commonly called the antitrust act; (2) in what respect, if any, such transactions differ from the operation condemned by the Supreme Court of the United States in the so-called Northern Securities case (193 U. S. 197); and (3) what steps, if any, have been taken or are contemplated by the Department of Justice for the enforcement in these instances of the antitrust laws.

INVESTIGATION OF CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES IN 1932

Mr. Dickinson, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 174), which was referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections:

Resolved, That a special committee consisting of five Senators, to be appointed by the Vice President, is hereby authorized and directed to investigate the campaign expenditures of the various presidential, vice presidential candidates, and candidates for the United States Senate in both parties, the names of the persons, firms, or corporations subscribing, the amount contributed, the method of expenditure of said sums, and all facts in relation thereto, not only as to the subscriptions of money and expenditures thereof but as to the use of any other means or influence, including the promise or use of patronage, and all other facts in relation thereto which would not only be of public interest but which would aid the Senate in enacting any remedial legislation or in deciding any contest which might be instituted involving the right to a seat in the United States Senate.

The investigation hereby provided for, in all the respects above enumerated, shall apply to candidates and contests before primaries, conventions, and the contests and campaign terminating in the general election in November, 1932.

Said committee is hereby authorized to act upon its own initiative and upon such information as in its judgment may be reasonable or reliable. Upon complaint being made before said committee under oath by any person, persons, candidate, or political committee setting forth allegations as to facts which under this resolution it would be the duty of said committee to investigate, the said committee shall investigate such charges as fully as though it were acting upon its own motion, unless, after a hearing upon such complaint, the committee shall find that the allegations in said complaint are immaterial or untrue.

Said committee is hereby authorized, in the performance of its duties, to sit at such times and places, either in the District of Columbia or elsewhere, as it deems necessary or proper. It is specifically authorized to require the attendance of witnesses by subpoena or otherwise; to require the production of books, papers, and documents; and to employ counsel, experts, clerical, and other assistants; and to employ stenographers at a cost not exceeding 25 cents per 100 words.

Said committee is hereby specifically authorized to act through any subcommittee authorized to be appointed by said committee. The chairman of said committee or any member of any subcommittee may administer oaths to witnesses and sign subpoenas for witnesses; and every person duly summoned before said committee or any subcommittee thereof who refuses or fails to obey the process of said committee or who appears and refuses to answer questions pertinent to said investigation shall be punished as prescribed by law.

The expenses of said investigation, not exceeding in the aggregate $100,000, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate on vouchers signed by the chairman of the committee or the chairman of any subcommittee.

All hearings before said committee shall be public, and all orders or decisions of the committee shall be public.

The committee shall make a full report to the Senate on the first day of the next session of the Congress.

FEDERAL AID IN REFORESTATION

Mr. Copeland submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 175):

Whereas the consumption of the forests of the United States has progressed to a point at which their early exhaustion is threatened, it being estimated (1) that over 50 per cent of all the softwood lumber cut in the United States has been cut during the last 30 years; (2) that with a population almost 60 per cent greater to-day than at the beginning of the twentieth century, the United States has been using nearly 300,000,000,000 feet of softwood lumber alone during each decade since 1900; (3) that in 1928, with a population of more than 120,000,000, the annual cut of softwood lumber alone was 28,000,000,000 feet; and (4) that there now remain in the territory east of the prairies only about 25,000,000,000 feet of original timber; and

Whereas there are great areas in the United States which, aside from their underlying minerals, are suitable for forestation only, it being estimated that of the great land area constituting the 13 Northeastern States, from Maine to and including the two Virginias, about one-half, or 75,000,000 acres, are suitable for forestation only; and

Whereas proper utilization of such lands as a public domain, under proper control, would to some extent effect a modification of the climate, substantially affect or control the run-off of water, supply a cheap and dependable supply of lumber, and, through development, with roads, camping places, leased hunting and fishing rights, and other opportunities for social activities, would afford valuable resources for entertainment and improvement in national health, besides giving wealth-producing and steady employment to a large number of persons; and

Whereas it is desirable (1) that a coordinated plan be immediately developed for the cooperation of the Federal and State Governments in the utilization of such lands suitable for forestation only, (2) that information necessary as a basis of legislation be compiled, and (3) that recommendations for legislation be made: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of Agriculture is requested (1) to advise the Senate as soon as practicable whether, in his opinion, the Government should undertake to aid the States in the utilization for forestation purposes of those areas of land in the United States suitable for forestation only, and (2) to state fully his reasons for any opinion which he may submit, together with the facts upon which such opinion is based.

Mr. McNary raised a question of order, viz, that the proposed amendment was a substantial modification of law with respect to Federal-aid roads and was therefore in conflict with Rule XVI, paragraph 4.

The President pro tempore sustained the point of order.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the reported amendment on page 65, line 13.

Mr. McNary raised a question of order, viz, that, while the amendment was in the form of a limitation, it was in fact legislation on a general appropriation bill, and therefore not in order.

The Vice President sustained the point of order.

On motion by Mr. Borah, and by unanimous consent,

The vote agreeing to the reported amendment on page 72, line 20, was reconsidered; and having been amended on the motion of Mr. Borah,

INVESTIGATION OF COAL-MINING CONDITIONS IN KENTUCKY

Mr. Costigan (for himself and Mr. Cutting), by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 178); which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized and directed to investigate the conditions existing in the coal fields in Harlan and Bell Counties in the Commonwealth of Kentucky with a view to determining particularly (1) whether any system of peonage has been or is being maintained in such coal fields; (2) whether the Postal Service and facilities have been or are being obstructed or interfered with therein, and if so, by whom; (3) whether citizens of the United States have been arrested, tried, or convicted in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States; (4) whether firearms, ammunition, or explosives have been shipped into such coal fields from States other than Kentucky, and if so, by whom shipped and by whom paid for; (5) whether any unlawful conditions exist or have existed in such coal fields which interfere or have interfered with the production for interstate shipment, or otherwise with the interstate shipment, of coal from such coal fields; and (6) the causes leading up to the conditions reported to exist in such coal fields. The committee shall report to the Senate as soon as practicable the results of its investigations, together with its recommendations, if any, for necessary remedial legislation.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places during the sessions and recesses of the Senate in the Seventy-second Congress until the final report is submitted; to employ such clerical and other assistants; to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents; to administer such oaths; to take such testimony; and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. RELIEF OF NAVAJO, ZUNI, AND APACHE INDIAN TRIBES

Mr. Frazier, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 179):

Whereas a series of blizzards without precedent in the history of the Southwest has destroyed more than 200,000 of the sheep belonging to the Navajo, Zuni, and Apache Tribes, and has brought about a condition of starvation among the livestock which, unless met at once, will result in the destruction of percentages of the Indian-owned sheep running as high as 60 per cent or higher in some areas; and

Whereas the destruction of the livestock of these tribes means the destruction of their chief and frequently their only source of self-support, and if allowed to go forward will necessitate the feeding of thousands of Indians at Government expense, with the incidental demoralization of the economic system of the tribes, and ultimately will compel the Government to spend a very large sum in the purchase of sheep to restock the reservations; and

Whereas the Department of Agriculture has under its control funds which could immediately be lent to these Indians, with their sheep as security, thus making it possible for the Indians to keep their sheep alive by feeding until the spring grass comes; and

Whereas it is impossible for the Department of Agriculture to extend this aid to the Indians except with the consent and cooperation of the Department of the Interior and Bureau of Indian Affairs; and

Whereas, although informed of the facts, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs has practically obstructed the action of the Department of Agriculture through proposing that funds legally under the jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture shall be transferred to the Department of the Interior, a proposal difficult or impossible to meet within the terms of existing law and regulations: Therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that the Secretary of the Interior and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs should move instantly to bring the help of the Department of Agriculture to the Indians in the manner which is feasible under existing law and existing regulations, by enabling the Indians to hypothecate their livestock to the Government and by assisting the Department of Agriculture with all means at their command to extend the necessary credit to the Indians in the most expeditious possible manner.

Ordered, That the resolution lie over one day under the rule.

A question as to the germaneness of Mr. Vandenberg's amendment having been raised by Mr. Robinson of Arkansas and Mr. Walsh of Montana,

The Vice President, under paragraph 4 of Rule XVI, submitted to the Senate the question, Is the amendment proposed by the Senator from Michigan [Mr. Vandenberg] germane to the language proposed to be stricken out?

On motion by Mr. Smoot,

The yeas and nays, being desired by one-fifth of the Senators present, were ordered on the question.

Mr. Robinson of Arkansas raised a question as to the presence of a quorum;

Whereupon

The Vice President directed the roll to be called;

When

Seventy-five Senators answered to their names, as follows:

Ashurst, Austin, Bailey, Bankhead, Barbour, Bingham, Black, Blaine, Borah, Bratton, Brookhart, Bulkley, Bulow, Byrnes, Capper, Caraway, Carey, Coolidge, Copeland, Costigan, Couzens, Dale, Davis, Dickinson, Dill, Fess, Fletcher, Frazier, George, Glass, Glenn, Goldsborough, Gore, Hale, Harrison, Hatfield, Hayden, Hebert, Howell, Johnson, Jones, Kean, Kendrick, Keyes, King, La Follette, Lewis, Logan, McGill, McKellar, McNary, Metcalf, Morrison, Neely, Nye, Oddie, Patterson, Pittman, Reed, Robinson of Arkansas, Robinson of Indiana, Schall, Sheppard, Shipstead, Smith, Smoot, Steiwer, Thomas of Idaho, Thomas of Oklahoma, Trammell, Vandenberg, Wagner, Walcott, Walsh of Montana, and White.

A quorum being present,

The question being taken on agreeing to the question, Is the amendment proposed by the Senator from Michigan [Mr. VANDENBERG] germane to the language proposed to be stricken out?

It was determined in the negative,	Yeas-----	32
	Nays-----	34

The yeas and nays having been heretofore ordered,

Senators who voted in the affirmative are—

Austin, Bankhead, Barbour, Bingham, Black, Capper, Carey, Copeland, Couzens, Dale, Davis, Dill, Fess, George, Glenn, Goldsborough, Hale, Hatfield, Howell, Johnson, Jones, Kean, McGill, McNary, Oddie, Patterson, Reed, Smoot, Thomas of Oklahoma, Vandenberg, Walcott, and White.

So the Senate decided Mr. Vandenberg's amendment was not germane.

The question recurring on agreeing to the reported amendment, striking out sections 3 and 4,

It was determined in the affirmative.

The reported amendment on page 98, line 5, was amended on the motion of Mr. Walsh of Montana, and, as amended, agreed to; and the residue of the reported amendments were agreed to.

On motion by Mr. Smoot, from the Committee on Appropriations, to further amend the bill by inserting on page 98, line 12, after the numerals 1933, a colon and the following:

Provided further, That in addition to the amount herein appropriated the Secretary of the Interior may also approve projects, incur obligations, and enter into contracts for additional work not exceeding a total of $2,500,000, and his action in so doing shall be deemed a contractual obligation of the Federal Government for the payment of the cost thereof and appropriations hereafter made for the construction of roads in national parks and monuments shall be considered available for the purpose of discharging the obligation so created.

Mr. McKellar raised a question of order, viz., that the amendment proposed legislation on a general appropriation bill, and was therefore not in order.

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Fess in the chair) sustained the point of order.

On motion by Mr. Smoot, from the Committee on Appropriations, to further amend the bill by inserting on page 103, line 8, after the words "Alaska Railroad" and the comma, the following: operation and maintenance of agricultural experiment stations heretofore operated by the Department of Agriculture on the line of the railroad.

Mr. McKellar raised a question of order, viz., that the amendment was legislation and not in order under the rule.

The Presiding Officer held that the amendment had been heretofore authorized by law, and overruled the point of order.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Smoot was then agreed to.

The bill was further amended on the motion of Mr. Smoot, on behalf of the Committee on Appropriations, and the motion of Mr. Walsh of Montana.

On motion by Mr. McKellar to further amend the bill by decreasing by 10 per cent every item of appropriation and the totals in the bill,

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate and agree to the same with an amendment, as follows: In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the Senate amendment insert the following:

That no court of the United States, as herein defined, shall have jurisdiction to issue any restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, except in a strict conformity with the provisions of this act; nor shall any such restricting order or temporary or permanent injunction be issued contrary to the public policy declared in this act.

Sec. 2. In the interpretation of this act and in determining the jurisdiction and authority of the courts of the United States, as such jurisdiction and authority are herein defined and limited, the public policy of the United States is hereby declared as follows:

Whereas under prevailing economic conditions, developed with the aid of governmental authority for owners of property to organize in the corporate and other forms of ownership association, the individual unorganized worker is commonly helpless to exercise actual liberty of contract and to protect his freedom of labor, and thereby to obtain acceptable terms and conditions of employment, wherefore, though he should be free to decline to associate with his fellows, it is necessary that he have full freedom of association, self-organization, and designation of representatives of his own choosing, to negotiate the terms and conditions of his employment, and that he shall be free from the interference, restraint, or coercion of employers of labor, or their agents, in the designation of such representatives or in self-organization or in other concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection; therefore, the following definitions of, and limitations upon, the jurisdiction and authority of the courts of the United States are hereby enacted.

Sec. 3. Any undertaking or promise, such as is described in this section, or any other undertaking or promise in conflict with the public policy declared in section 2 of this act, is hereby declared to be contrary to the public policy of the United States, shall not be enforceable in any court of the United States and shall not afford any basis for the granting of legal or equitable relief by any such court, including specifically the following:

Every undertaking or promise hereafter made, whether written or oral, express or implied, constituting or contained in any contract or agreement of hiring or employment between any individual, firm, company, association, or corporation, and any employee or prospective employee of the same, whereby

(a) Either party to such contract or agreement undertakes or promises not to join, become, or remain a member of any labor organization or of any employer organization; or

(b) Either party to such contract or agreement undertakes or promises that he will withdraw from an employment relation in the event that he joins, becomes, or remains a member of any labor organization or of any employer organization.

Sec. 4. No court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue any restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction in any case involving or growing out of any labor dispute to prohibit any person or persons participating or interested in such dispute (as these terms are herein defined) from doing, whether singly or in concert, any of the following acts:

(a) Ceasing or refusing to perform any work or to remain in any relation of employment;

(b) Becoming or remaining a member of any labor organization or of any employer organization, regardless of any such undertaking or promise as is described in section 3 of this act;

(c) Paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person participating or interested in such labor dispute, any strike or unemployment benefits or insurance, or other moneys or things of value;

(d) By all lawful means aiding any person participating or interested in any labor dispute who is being proceeded against in, or is prosecuting, any action or suit in any court of the United States or of any State;

(e) Giving publicity to the existence of, or the facts involved in, any labor dispute, whether by advertising, speaking, patrolling, or by any other method not involving fraud or violence;

(f) Assembling peaceably to act or to organize to act in promotion of their interests in a labor dispute;

(g) Advising or notifying any person of an intention to do any of the acts heretofore specified;

(h) Agreeing with other persons to do or not to do any of the acts heretofore specified; and

(i) Advising, urging, or otherwise causing or inducing without fraud or violence the acts heretofore specified, regardless of any such undertaking or promise as is described in section 3 of this act.

Sec. 5. No court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue a restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction upon the ground that any of the persons participating or interested in a labor dispute constitute, or are engaged in, an unlawful combination or conspiracy because of the doing in concert of the acts enumerated in section 4 of this act.

Sec. 6. No court of the United States shall have jurisdiction upon the hearing of an application for temporary restraining order or for an interlocutory injunction to grant a mandatory injunction, compelling the performance of an act in any case involving or growing out of any labor dispute as herein defined.

Sec. 7. No officer or member of any association or organization, and no association or organization participating or interested in a labor dispute, shall be held responsible or liable in any court of the United States for the unlawful acts of individual officers, members, or agents, except upon clear proof of actual participation in, or actual authorization of such acts, or of ratification of such acts after actual knowledge thereof.

Sec. 8. No court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue a temporary or permanent injunction in any case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, as herein defined, except after hearing the testimony of witnesses in open court (with opportunity for cross-examination) in support of the allegations of a complaint made under oath, and testimony in opposition thereto, if offered, and except after findings of fact, by the court, to the effect—

(a) That unlawful acts have been threatened and will be committed unless restrained or have been committed and will be continued unless restrained, but no injunction or temporary restraining order shall be issued on account of any threat or unlawful act excepting against the person or persons, association, or organization making the threat or committing the unlawful act or actually authorizing or ratifying the same after actual knowledge thereof;

(b) That substantial and irreparable injury to complainant's property will follow;

(c) That as to each item of relief granted greater injury will be inflicted upon complainant by the denial of relief than will be inflicted upon defendants by the granting of relief;

(d) That complainant has no adequate remedy at law; and

(e) That the public officers charged with the duty to protect complainant's property are unable or unwilling to furnish adequate protection.

Such hearing shall be held after due and personal notice thereof has been given, in such manner as the court shall direct, to all known persons against whom relief is sought, and also to the chief of those public officials of the county and city within which the unlawful acts have been threatened or committed charged with the duty to protect complainant's property: Provided, however, That if a complainant shall also allege that, unless a temporary restraining order shall be issued without notice, a substantial and irreparable injury to complainant's property will be unavoidable, such a temporary restraining order may be issued upon testimony under oath, sufficient, if sustained, to justify the court in issuing a temporary injunction upon a hearing after notice. Such a temporary restraining order shall be effective for no longer than five days and shall become void at the expiration of said five days. No temporary restraining order or temporary injunction shall be issued except on condition that complainant shall first file an undertaking with adequate security in an amount to be fixed by the court sufficient to recompense those enjoined for any loss, expense, or damage caused by the improvident or erroneous issuance of such order or injunction, including all reasonable costs (together with a reasonable attorney's fee) and expense of defense against the order or against the granting of any injunctive relief sought in the same proceeding and subsequently denied by the court.

The undertaking herein mentioned shall be understood to signify an agreement entered into by the complainant and the surety upon which a decree may be rendered in the same suit or proceeding against said complainant and surety, upon a hearing to assess damages of which hearing complainant and surety shall have reasonable notice, the said complainant and surety submitting themselves to the jurisdiction of the court for that purpose. But nothing herein contained shall deprive any party having a claim or cause of action under or upon such undertaking from electing to pursue his ordinary remedy by suit at law or in equity.

Sec. 9. No restraining order or injunctive relief shall be granted to any complainant who has failed to comply with any obligation imposed by law which is involved in the labor dispute in question, or who has failed to make every reasonable effort to settle such dispute either by negotiation or with the aid of any available government machinery of mediation or voluntary arbitration.

Sec. 10. No restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction shall be granted in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, except on the basis of findings of fact made and filed by the court in the record of the case prior to the issuance of such restraining order or injunction; and every restraining order or injunction granted in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute shall include only a prohibition of such specific act or acts as may be expressly complained of in the bill of complaint or petition filed in such case and as shall be expressly included in said findings of fact made and filed by the court as provided herein.

Sec. 11. Whenever any court of the United States shall issue or deny any temporary injunction in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, the court shall, upon the request of any party to the proceedings and on his filing the usual bond for costs, forthwith certify as in ordinary cases the record of the case to the circuit court of appeals for its review. Upon the filing of such record in the circuit court of appeals, the appeal shall be heard and the temporary injunctive order affirmed, modified, or set aside with the greatest possible expedition, giving the proceeding precedence over all other matters except older matters of the same character.

Sec. 12. In all cases arising under this Act in which a person shall be charged with contempt in a court of the United States (as herein defined), the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the contempt shall have been committed: Provided, That this right shall not apply to contempts committed in the presence of the court or so near thereto as to interfere directly with the administration of justice or to apply to the misbehavior, misconduct, or disobedience of any officer of the court in respect to the writs, orders, or process of the court.

Sec. 13. The defendant in any proceeding for contempt of court may file with the court a demand for the retirement of the judge sitting in the proceeding, if the contempt arises from an attack upon the character or conduct of such judge, and if the attack occurred elsewhere than in the presence of the court or so near thereto as to interfere directly with the administration of justice. Upon the filing of any such demand the judge shall thereupon proceed no further, but another judge shall be designated in the same manner as is provided by law. The demand shall be filed prior to the hearing in the contempt proceeding.

Sec. 14. When used in this act and for the purposes of this act—

(a) A case shall be held to involve or to grow out of a labor dispute when the case involves persons who are engaged in the same industry, trade, craft, or occupation; or have direct or indirect interests therein; or who are employees of the same employer; or who are members of the same or an affiliated organization of employers or employees; whether such dispute is (1) between one or more employers or associations of employers and one or more employees or associations of employees; (2) between one or more employers or associations of employers and one or more employers or associations of employees; or (3) between one or more employees or associations of employees and one or more employers or associations of employees; or when the case involves any conflicting or competing interests in a "labor dispute" (as hereinafter defined) of "persons participating or interested" therein (as hereinafter defined).

(b) A person or association shall be held to be a person participating or interested in a labor dispute if relief is sought against him or it, and if he or it is engaged in the same industry, trade, craft, or occupation in which such dispute occurs, or has a direct or indirect interest therein, or is a member, officer, or agent of any association composed in whole or in part of employers or employees engaged in such industry, trade, craft, or occupation.

(c) The term "labor dispute" includes any controversy concerning terms or conditions of employment, or concerning the association or representation of persons in negotiating, fixing, maintaining, changing, or seeking to arrange terms or conditions of employment, regardless of whether or not the disputants stand in the proximate relation of employer and employee.

(d) The term "court of the United States" means any court of the United States whose jurisdiction has been or may be conferred or defined or limited by act of Congress, including the courts of the District of Columbia.

Sec. 15. If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held unconstitutional or otherwise invalid, the remaining provisions of the act and the application of such provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Sec. 16. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

And the Senate agree to the same.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

A message from the House of Representatives by Mr. Haltigan, one of its clerks:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives has agreed to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 5315) to amend the Judicial Code and to define and limit the jurisdiction of courts sitting in equity, and for other purposes.

ISSUANCE OF INJUNCTIONS IN LABOR DISPUTES

Mr. Norris submitted the following conference report: The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 5315) to amend the Judicial Code and to define and limit the jurisdiction of courts sitting in equity, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate and agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the Senate amendment insert the following:

That no court of the United States, as herein defined, shall have jurisdiction to issue any restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, except in a strict conformity with the provisions of this act; nor shall any such restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction be issued contrary to the public policy declared in this act.

Sec. 2. In the interpretation of this act and in determining the jurisdiction and authority of the courts of the United States, as such jurisdiction and authority are herein defined and limited, the public policy of the United States is hereby declared as follows:

Whereas under prevailing economic conditions, developed with the aid of governmental authority for owners of property to organize in the corporate and other forms of ownership association, the individual unorganized worker is commonly helpless to exercise actual liberty of contract and to protect his freedom of labor, and thereby to obtain acceptable terms and conditions of employment, wherefore, though he should be free to decline to associate with his fellows, it is necessary that he have full freedom of association, self-organization, and designation of representatives of his own choosing, to negotiate the terms and conditions of his employment, and that he shall be free from the interference, restraint, or coercion of employers of labor, or their agents, in the designation of such representatives or in self-organization or in other concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection; therefore, the following definitions of, and limitations upon, the jurisdiction and authority of the courts of the United States are hereby enacted.

Sec. 3. Any undertaking or promise, such as is described in this section, or any other undertaking or promise in conflict with the public policy declared in section 2 of this act, is hereby declared to be contrary to the public policy of the United States and shall not be enforceable in any court of the United States and shall not afford any basis for the granting of legal or equitable relief by any such court, including specifically the following:

Every undertaking or promise hereafter made, whether written or oral, express or implied, constituting or contained in any contract or agreement of hiring or employment between any individual, firm, company, association, or corporation, and any employee or prospective employee of the same, whereby

(a) Either party to such contract or agreement undertakes or promises not to join, become, or remain a member of any labor organization or of any employer organization; or

(b) Either party to such contract or agreement undertakes or promises that he will withdraw from an employment relation in the event that he joins, becomes, or remains a member of any labor organization or of any employer organization.

Sec. 4. No court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue any restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction in any case involving or growing out of any labor dispute to prohibit any person or persons participating or interested in such dispute (as these terms are herein defined) from doing, whether singly or in concert, any of the following acts:

(a) Ceasing or refusing to perform any work or to remain in any relation of employment;

(b) Becoming or remaining a member of any labor organization or of any employer organization, regardless of any such undertaking or promise as is described in section 3 of this act;

(c) Paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person participating or interested in such labor dispute, any strike or unemployment benefits or insurance, or other moneys or things of value;

(d) By all lawful means aiding any person participating or interested in any labor dispute who is being proceeded against in, or is prosecuting, any action or suit in any court of the United States or of any State;

(e) Giving publicity to the existence of, or the facts involved in, any labor dispute, whether by advertising, speaking, patrolling, or by any other method not involving fraud or violence;

(f) Assembling peaceably to act or to organize to act in promotion of their interests in a labor dispute;

(g) Advising or notifying any person of an intention to do any of the acts heretofore specified;

(h) Agreeing with other persons to do or not to do any of the acts heretofore specified; and

(i) Advising, urging, or otherwise causing or inducing without fraud or violence the acts heretofore specified, regardless of any such undertaking or promise as is described in section 3 of this act.

Sec. 5. No court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue a restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction upon the ground that any of the persons participating or interested in a labor dispute constitute, or are engaged in, an unlawful combination or conspiracy because of the doing in concert of the acts enumerated in section 4 of this act.

Sec. 6. No officer or member of any association or organization, and no association or organization participating or interested in a labor dispute, shall be held responsible or liable in any court of the United States for the unlawful acts of individual officers, members, or agents, except upon clear proof of actual participation in, or actual authorization of, such acts, or of ratification of such acts after actual knowledge thereof.

Sec. 7. No court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue a temporary or permanent injunction in any case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, as herein defined, except after hearing the testimony of witnesses in open court (with opportunity for cross-examination) in support of the allegations of a complaint made under oath, and testimony in opposition thereto, if offered, and except after findings of fact, by the court, to the effect—

(a) That unlawful acts have been threatened and will be committed unless restrained or have been committed and will be continued unless restrained, but no injunction or temporary restraining order shall be issued on account of any threat or unlawful act excepting against the person or persons, association or organization making the threat or committing the unlawful act or actually authorizing or ratifying the same after actual knowledge thereof;

(b) That substantial and irreparable injury to complainant's property will follow;

(c) That as to each item of relief granted greater injury will be inflicted upon complainant by the denial of relief than will be inflicted upon defendants by the granting of relief;

(d) That complainant has no adequate remedy at law; and

(e) That the public officers charged with the duty to protect complainant's property are unable or unwilling to furnish adequate protection.

Such hearing shall be held after due and personal notice thereof has been given, in such manner as the court shall direct, to all known persons against whom relief is sought, and also to the chief of those public officials of the county and city within which the unlawful acts have been threatened or committed charged with the duty to protect complainant's property: Provided, however, That if a complainant shall also allege that, unless a temporary restraining order shall be issued without notice, a substantial and irreparable injury to complainant's property will be unavoidable, such a temporary restraining order may be issued upon testimony under oath, sufficient, if sustained, to justify the court in issuing a temporary injunction upon a hearing after notice. Such a temporary restraining order shall be effective for no longer than five days and shall become void at the expiration of said five days. No temporary restraining order or temporary injunction shall be issued except on condition that complainant shall first file an undertaking with adequate security in an amount to be fixed by the court sufficient to recompense those enjoined for any loss, expense, or damage caused by the improvident or erroneous issuance of such order or injunction, including all reasonable costs (together with a reasonable attorney's fee) and expense of defense against the order or against the granting of any injunctive relief sought in the same proceeding and subsequently denied by the court.

The undertaking herein mentioned shall be understood to signify an agreement entered into by the complainant and the surety upon which a decree may be rendered in the same suit or proceeding against said complainant and surety, upon a hearing to assess damages of which hearing complainant and surety shall have reasonable notice, the said complainant and surety submitting themselves to the jurisdiction of the court for that purpose. But nothing herein contained shall deprive any party having a claim or cause of action under or upon such undertaking from electing to pursue his ordinary remedy by suit at law or in equity.

Sec. 8. No restraining order or injunctive relief shall be granted to any complainant who has failed to comply with any obligation imposed by law which is involved in the labor dispute in question, or who has failed to make every reasonable effort to settle such dispute either by negotiation or with the aid of any available governmental machinery of mediation or voluntary arbitration.

Sec. 9. No restraining order or temporary or permanent injunction shall be granted in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, except on the basis of findings of fact made and filed by the court in the record of the case prior to the issuance of such restraining order or injunction; and every restraining order or injunction granted in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute shall include only a prohibition of such specific act or acts as may be expressly complained of in the bill of complaint or petition filed in such case and as shall be expressly included in said findings of fact made and filed by the court as provided herein.

Sec. 10. Whenever any court of the United States shall issue or deny any temporary injunction in a case involving or growing out of a labor dispute, the court shall, upon the request of any party to the proceedings and on his filing the usual bond for costs, forthwith certify as in ordinary cases the record of the case to the circuit court of appeals for its review. Upon the filing of such record in the circuit court of appeals, the appeal shall be heard and the temporary injunctive order affirmed, modified, or set aside with the greatest possible expedition, giving the proceeding precedence over all other matters except older matters of the same character.

Sec. 11. In all cases arising under this act in which a person shall be charged with contempt in a court of the United States (as herein defined), the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the contempt shall have been committed; Provided, That this right shall not apply to contempts committed in the presence of the court or so near thereto as to interfere directly with the administration of justice or to apply to the misbehavior, misconduct, or disobedience of any officer of the court in respect to the writs, orders, or process of the court.

Sec. 12. The defendant in any proceeding for contempt of court may file with the court a demand for the retirement of the judge sitting in the proceeding, if the contempt arises from an attack upon the character or conduct of such judge, and if the attack occurred elsewhere than in the presence of the court or so near thereto as to interfere directly with the administration of justice. Upon the filing of any such demand the judge shall thereupon proceed no further, but another judge shall be designated in the same manner as is provided by law. The demand shall be filed prior to the hearing in the contempt proceeding.

Sec. 13. When used in this act and for the purposes of this act—

(a) A case shall be held to involve or to grow out of a labor dispute when the case involves persons who are engaged in the same industry, trade, craft, or occupation; or have direct or indirect interests therein; or who are employees of the same employer; or who are members of the same or an affiliated organization of employers or employees; whether such dispute is (1) between one or more employers or associations of employers and one or more employees or associations of employees; (2) between one or more employers or associations of employers and one or more employees or associations of employees; or (3) between one or more employees or associations of employees and one or more employees or associations of employees; or when the case involves any conflicting or competing interests in a "labor dispute" (as hereinafter defined) of "persons participating or interested" therein (as hereinafter defined).

(b) A person or association shall be held to be a person participating or interested in a labor dispute if relief is sought against him or it, and if he or it is engaged in the same industry, trade, craft, or occupation in which such dispute occurs, or has a direct or indirect interest therein, or is a member, officer, or agent of any association composed in whole or in part of employers or employees engaged in such industry, trade, craft, or occupation.

(c) The term "labor dispute" includes any controversy concerning terms or conditions of employment, or concerning the association or representation of persons in negotiating, fixing, maintaining, changing, or seeking to arrange terms or conditions of employment, regardless of whether or not the disputants stand in the proximate relation of employer and employee.

(d) The term "court of the United States" means any court of the United States whose jurisdiction has been or may be conferred or defined or limited by act of Congress, including the courts of the District of Columbia.

Sec. 14. If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held unconstitutional or otherwise invalid, the remaining provisions of the act and the application of such provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Sec. 15. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

And the Senate agree to the same.

G. W. NORRIS,

T. J. WALSH,

JOHN J. BLAINE,

Managers on the part of the Senate.

HATTON W. SUMNERS,

A. J. MONTAGUE,

L. C. DYER,

Managers on the part of the House.

Ordered, That the report lie on the table.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 8397) making appropriations for the Department of the Interior for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, and for other purposes.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment yesterday proposed by Mr. Frazier, inserting on page 55, line 3, after the word "activity," a provision prohibiting the use of funds in payment of the salary or expenses of a special commissioner to negotiate with the Indians,

Pending debate,

Mr. King raised a question as to the presence of a quorum; Whereupon

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Fess in the chair) directed the roll to be called;

When

Seventy-eight Senators answered to their names, as follows:

Ashurst, Austin, Bailey, Bankhead, Bingham, Black, Blaine, Borah, Bratton, Brookhart, Broussard, Bulow, Capper, Caraway, Carey, Connally, Coolidge, Copeland, Costigan, Couzens, Dale, Davis, Dickinson, Dill, Fess, Fletcher, Frazier, George, Glass, Goldsborough, Hale, Harrison, Hastings, Hatfield, Hawes, Hayden, Hebert, Howell, Hull, Johnson, Jones, Kean, Kendrick, Keyes, King, Lewis, Logan, McGill, McKellar, McNary, Metcalf, Moses, Neely, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Oddie, Patterson, Pittman, Reed, Robinson of Arkansas, Robinson of Indiana, Schall, Sheppard, Shipstead, Smith, Smoot, Steiwer, Thomas of Idaho, Thomas of Oklahoma, Townsend, Trammell, Tydings, Vandenberg, Walcott, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana, and White.

A quorum being present,

The amendment proposed by Mr. Frazier was, on a division, agreed to.

The reported amendment beginning on page 54, line 6, was reconsidered by unanimous consent; and having been amended on the motion of Mr. Frazier, the reported amendment, as amended, was agreed to.

The bill was further amended on the motion of Mr. King.

On motion by Mr. Frazier, and by unanimous consent, The votes agreeing to the reported amendments on page 6, line 3, were respectively reconsidered; and the reported amendments were then disagreed to.

On motion by Mr. Frazier (for Mr. Wheeler) to further amend the bill by inserting on page 38, line 18, after the numerals "1933," the following:

Provided further, For completion of public-school building at Fraser, Montana, and for necessary equipment for manual, laboratory, and other lines of training $15,000, to be immediately available.

Mr. Smoot raised a question of order, viz, that the amendment proposed a new item of appropriation in the bill, and was not reported by a standing committee of the Senate or proposed in pursuance of an estimate of the Bureau of the Budget, and therefore was not in order.

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Fess in the chair) sustained the point of order.

On motion by Mr. Frazier (for Mr. Wheeler) to further amend the bill by inserting on page 64, after line 19, the following:

Care of indigent Indians

For reimbursement to Cascade and Hill Counties, State of Montana, for hospitalization and subsistence for certain indigent ward and nonward Indians resident within such State, but not within any established reservation, $13,383.77, of which $6,726.16 shall be paid to Cascade County and $6,757.61 shall be paid to Hill County.

Mr. Smoot raised a question of order, viz, that the amendment proposed a new item of appropriation in the bill, and was not reported by a standing committee of the Senate or proposed in pursuance of an estimate of the Bureau of the Budget, and therefore was not in order.

The Presiding Officer sustained the point of order.

The bill having been further amended on the motion of Mr. Frazier (for Mr. Wheeler), and the motion of Mr. King, Ordered, That the amendments be engrossed and the bill read a third time.

The said bill, as amended, was read the third time.

Mr. McKellar submitted the following motion:

I move that the pending bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations with instructions to report the same back to the Senate with amendments providing an aggregate reduction of 10 per cent in the amount of the appropriations contained in the bill as received from the House of Representatives.

On motion by Mr. Vandenberg to amend the instructions by adding thereto the following:

And with further instructions to include a section reading as follows:

"The President is hereby authorized and empowered to consolidate bureaus, divisions, and commissions, in whole or in part, and make any related changes in administration he may deem advisable, including transfer of these functions from one department to another, or from any subdivision of a department to another subdivision, so as to effect economies and keep expenditures within the reduced appropriations herein set out."

Pending debate,

Mr. King raised a question of order, viz, that the amendment contained in the instructions proposed to be added by Mr. Vandenberg was not germane to any provision of the House bill.

The Vice President made the following ruling:

"The Chair has given this question a good deal of consideration and finds no precedent of the Senate upon the question raised by the Senator from Utah [Mr. King]. The Chair, however, does find the question has been raised in the House of Representatives, and in that body it has been universally held that it is not in order to move the recommitment of a bill with instructions to report matter which would not be in order if offered as an amendment in the House.

"The Chair finds that the question was raised on a proposed amendment which was not germane and the same ruling was made upon that point which had been made upon other questions. The Chair therefore holds that, as the question of germaneness has been raised on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Michigan, the question as to whether or not the amendment is germane under the rules of the Senate must be submitted to the Senate."

The Vice President thereupon submitted to the Senate the question, Is the proposed amendment germane to the House bill, and

It was determined in the negative.

Pending debate,

On motion by Mr. Vandenberg to amend the instructions by adding thereto the following:

And with further instructions to include a section reading as follows:

"The President is hereby authorized and empowered to consolidate bureaus, divisions, and commissions, in whole or in part, and make any related changes in administration he may deem advisable so as to effect economies and keep expenditures within the reduced appropriations herein set out."

Pending debate,

Mr. McKellar modified his motion by incorporating as a part thereof the amendment proposed by Mr. Vandenberg.

On motion by Mr. Tydings to further amend the instructions contained in the motion by striking out the words "The President is hereby authorized and empowered to consolidate" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and report a provision authorizing and empowering the consolidation of.

Mr. Jones raised a question of order, viz, that the motion, as modified, was not germane to the bill.

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Fess in the chair), under the rule, submitted the question of germaneness to the Senate.

On motion by Mr. Jones,

The yeas and nays, being desired by one-fifth of the Senators present, were ordered on the question.

The Presiding Officer directed the roll to be called; and

Mr. Ashurst answered to his name.

Parliamentary inquiries having been submitted by Mr. Robinson of Arkansas, Mr. Tydings, Mr. McKellar, and Mr. Bratton as to the exact question that was to be voted upon, Mr. Moses raised a question of order, viz, that the roll call had begun and that one Senator had answered to his name, and therefore it could not be interrupted.

The Presiding Officer sustained the question of order.

Mr. Ashurst, by unanimous consent, withdrew his vote.

After debate,

The Presiding Officer stated the question to be, Is the motion of Mr. McKellar, as modified, germane to the bill? and

It was determined in the affirmative, Yeas----- 37
Nays----- 26

The yeas and nays having been heretofore ordered, Senators who voted in the affirmative are—

Austin, Bankhead, Bingham, Black, Borah, Bratton, Bulow, Capper, Caraway, Connally, Copeland, Couzens, Dill, Fess, George, Glass, Goldsborough, Hatfield, Hawes, Howell, Hull, Kean, Keyes, Logan, McGill, McKellar, Moses, Neely, Reed, Robinson of Arkansas, Sheppard, Townsend, Trammell, Tydings, Vandenberg, Walcott, and White.

Senators who voted in the negative are—

Ashurst, Bailey, Blaine, Brookhart, Coolidge, Dale, Dickinson, Fletcher, Frazier, Hale, Hastings, Hayden, Johnson,

Jones, Kendrick, King, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Oddie, Pittman, Schall, Shipstead, Smoot, Steiwer, and Walsh of Montana. So the Senate decided the motion, as modified, was germane to the bill.

Mr. Pittman raised a question of order, viz, that the motion, as modified, was general legislation and contrary to the rules of the Senate.

The President pro tempore, in the following language, overruled the point of order:

"The Chair is ready to rule. The Chair is of the opinion that much of the discussion has proceeded under a misapprehension of terms. The Chair does not think the Senate is dealing with an amendment to the bill. The bill having been read a third time, no amendment can be offered. The Senate is dealing with a motion to recommit, with instructions, and the Senate has determined that the language of that motion is germane. The instructions contained in the amendment proposed by the Senator from Maryland [Mr. Tydings] to the motion have no effect upon the rule whatever until the committee has acted and reported back legislation, when the Senate could deal with that question in whatever form it may then arise. The Chair overrules the point of order raised by the Senator from Nevada, and the question is upon agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Maryland."

The question recurring on agreeing to the amendment proposed by Mr. Tydings to the instructions contained in Mr. McKellar's motion, as modified,

Mr. Tydings withdrew his proposed amendment.

The question recurring on agreeing to Mr. McKellar's motion, as modified,

Mr. Black demanded a division of the questions contained in the motion.

On the question of agreeing to the first branch of the motion, viz, to recommit the bill with instructions to provide for a 10 per cent reduction in the gross amount of the appropriations contained in the bill as received from the House of Representatives,

It was determined in the affirmative, Yeas----- 40
Nays----- 25

On motion by Mr. McKellar,

The yeas and nays being desired by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Senators who voted in the affirmative are—

Austin, Bailey, Bankhead, Bingham, Black, Blaine, Borah, Bratton, Bulow, Capper, Caraway, Connally, Coolidge, Copeland, Costigan, Couzens, Dill, Fletcher, George, Glass, Goldsborough, Hatfield, Hawes, Hebert, Howell, Hull, Kean, Keyes, King, McGill, McKellar, Moses, Neely, Robinson of Arkansas, Sheppard, Shipstead, Trammell, Tydings, Vandenberg, and Walcott.

Senators who voted in the negative are—

Ashurst, Brookhart, Dale, Dickinson, Fess, Frazier, Hale, Hastings, Hayden, Johnson, Kendrick, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Oddie, Pittman, Reed, Schall, Smoot, Steiwer, Thomas of Idaho, Townsend, Walsh of Montana, and White. So the first branch of the motion was agreed to.

The question recurring on the second branch, viz, to add a new section authorizing and empowering the President to consolidate bureaus, divisions, commissions, and make related changes deemed advisable to effect economies,

It was determined in the negative, Yeas----- 28
Nays----- 35

On motion by Mr. Vandenberg,

The yeas and nays, being desired by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Senators who voted in the affirmative are—

Austin, Bingham, Capper, Copeland, Couzens, Dill, Fess, George, Goldsborough, Hastings, Hatfield, Howell, Hull, Kean, Kendrick, Keyes, McKellar, McNary, Moses, Reed, Robinson of Arkansas, Shipstead, Steiwer, Townsend, Trammell, Vandenberg, Walcott, and White.

Senators who voted in the negative are—

Ashurst, Bailey, Bankhead, Black, Blaine, Bratton, Brookhart, Bulow, Caraway, Connally, Coolidge, Costigan, Dale, Dickinson, Fletcher, Frazier, Glass, Hale, Hawes, Hayden, Johnson, Jones, King, McGill, Neely, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Oddie, Pittman, Schall, Sheppard, Smoot, Tydings, and Walsh of Montana.

So the second branch of the motion, as modified, was not agreed to.

The bill was thereupon recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations with instructions, as contained in the first branch of the motion.

STATE, JUSTICE, COMMERCE, AND LABOR DEPARTMENTS APPROPRIATIONS

On motion by Mr. Jones,

The Senate proceeded to consider the bill (H. R. 9349) making appropriations for the Departments of State and Justice and for the judiciary, and for the Departments of Commerce and Labor, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, and for other purposes.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

On motion by Mr. McNary,

On motion by Mr. Harrison, and by unanimous consent,

That section 336 of the tariff act of 1930 is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 336. Recommendations for adjustment of duties: (a) Upon the request of the President of the United States, or upon its own motion, or upon application of any interested party showing good and sufficient reason therefor, the commission shall investigate and ascertain the differences in the cost of production of any domestic article and of any like or similar foreign article, whether or not actually imported into the United States. If the commission finds it shown by the investigation that the duty imposed by law upon the foreign article does not equalize the differences in the cost of production of the domestic article and of the foreign article when produced in the principal competing country or countries, then the commission shall report to the President and to the Congress such increases or decreases in the duty upon the foreign article as the commission finds to be necessary in order to equalize such differences in the cost of production. Any such increased or decreased duty may include the transfer of the article from the dutiable list to the free list or from the free list to the dutiable list, a change in the form of duty, or a change in classification. The report shall be accompanied by a statement of the commission setting forth the findings of the commission with respect to the differences in cost of production, the elements of cost included in the cost of production of the respective articles as ascertained by the commission, and any other matter deemed pertinent by the commission.

"The President, upon receipt of any such report of the commission, shall promptly transmit the report to the Congress with his recommendations, if any, with respect to the increase or decrease in duty proposed by the commission.

"Any bill having for its object the carrying out, in whole or in part, of the recommendations made by the commission in any such report shall not include any item not included in such report; and in the consideration of such bill, either in the House of Representatives or in the Senate, no amendments thereto shall be considered which is not germane to the items included in such report.

"(b) No report shall be made by the commission under this section unless the determination of the commission with respect thereto is reached after an investigation by the commission during the course of which the commission shall have held hearings and given reasonable public notice of such hearings, and reasonable opportunities for the parties interested to be present, produce evidence, and to be heard. The commission is authorized to adopt such reasonable rules of procedure as may be necessary to execute its functions under this section.

"(c) In ascertaining the differences in costs of production under this section, the commission shall take into consideration, in so far as it finds it pertinent and practicable—

"(1) The differences in conditions of production, including wages in terms of labor cost per unit of product, costs of materials, and other items in cost of production of like or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries;

"(2) Costs of transportation;

"(3) Other costs, including the cost of containers and coverings of whatever nature, and other charges and expenses incident to placing the article in condition, packed ready for delivery, storage costs in the principal market or markets of the United States and of the principal competing country or countries, and costs of reconditioning or repacking wherever incurred;

"(4) Differences between the domestic and foreign article in packing and containers, and in condition in which received in the principal markets of the United States;

"(5) Invoice prices or values and/or wholesale selling prices in the principal market or markets in the principal competing country or countries, in so far as such prices or values are indicative of costs of production, provided such costs can not be satisfactorily obtained;

"(6) Advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country;

"(7) Any other advantages or disadvantages in competition which increase or decrease in a definitely determinable amount the total cost at which domestic or foreign articles may be delivered in the principal market or markets of the United States; and

"(8) Definition of costs of transportation: Costs of transportation for the purposes of this section shall be held to include, in so far as applicable, freight charges and all other charges incident to transportation, including transit insurance, costs of loading and unloading, and port charges and landing charges. These costs shall be computed from the principal producing areas (in the United States and in the principal competing country or countries) that can reasonably be expected to ship to the principal competing region or regions of the United States and shall be computed to such principal market or markets of the United States as may most nearly insure equal competitive opportunity to domestic articles and like or similar foreign articles in such region or regions. If this purpose may be best accomplished thereby, such costs on domestic articles and on like or similar foreign articles shall be computed to different principal markets of the United States.

"(d) In determining costs of production in the United States and in the principal competing country or countries for the purposes of this section, the commission shall take into consideration the costs of production only of such establishments as are economically located and efficiently operated, and shall obtain such costs for a normal and representative period.

"(e) In connection with its investigations as to differences in costs of production the commission shall inquire into the following matters and shall include in its reports pursuant to this section a summary of the facts with respect to such matters:

"(1) The efficiency and economic operation and location of the domestic industry under consideration;

"(2) The conditions of such domestic industry with respect to profits and losses, the extent to which productive capacity is utilized, and the extent of unemployment;

"(3) The extent to which adverse conditions of production may be due to foreign competition or to other specified factors;

"(4) The extent to which adverse conditions of production may be remedied by adjustments in the tariff law, taking into consideration the substitution of articles used for the same purposes as the articles under consideration, and taking into consideration any other pertinent competitive factors; and

"(5) The effects of any proposed increase or decrease in rates of duties on other domestic industries and on the export trade of the United States."

Sec. 2. All uncompleted investigations instituted prior to the approval of this act under section 336 of the tariff act of 1930 prior to its amendment by this act, including investigations in which the President has not proclaimed changes in classification or in basis of value or increases or decreases in rates of duty, shall be dismissed without prejudice; but the information and evidence secured by the commission in any such investigation may be given due consideration in any investigation instituted under the provisions of section 336 of the tariff act of 1930 as amended by this act.

Sec. 3. Consumers' counsel: (a) There shall be an office in the legislative branch of the Government to be known as the office of the consumers' counsel of the United States Tariff Commission. The office shall be in charge of a counsel to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. No person shall be eligible for appointment as counsel if such person has at any time acted in tariff matters before Congress or the United States Tariff Commission, either on his own behalf or as attorney, at law or in fact, or as legislative agent. The counsel shall be appointed for a term of four years and shall receive a salary of $10,000 a year. The counsel shall not actively engage in any other business, vocation, or employment than that of serving as counsel.

(b) It shall be the duty of the counsel to appear in the interest of and represent the consuming public in any proceeding before the commission. In any proceeding before the commission in which the counsel has entered an appearance, the counsel shall have the right to offer any relevant testimony and argument, oral or written, and to examine and cross-examine witnesses and parties to the proceeding, and shall have the right to have subpoena or other process of the commission issue in his behalf. Whenever the counsel finds that it is in the interest of the consuming public to have the commission furnish any information at its command or conduct any investigation as to differences in costs of production or other matters within its authority, then the counsel shall so certify to the commission, specifying in the certificate the information or investigation desired. Thereupon the commission shall promptly furnish to the counsel the information or promptly conduct the investigation and place the results thereof at the disposal of the counsel.

(c) Within the limitations of such appropriations as the Congress may from time to time provide, the counsel is authorized (subject to the civil service laws and the classification act of 1923, as amended) to appoint and fix the salaries of assistants and clerks, and is authorized to make such expenditures as may be necessary for the performance of the duties vested in him.

Sec. 4. International economic conference: That the President is respectfully requested to initiate a movement for an international economic conference with a view to (a) lowering excessive tariff duties and eliminating discriminatory and unfair trade practices, and other economic barriers affecting international trade, (b) preventing retaliatory tariff measures and economic wars, and (c) promoting fair, equal, and friendly trade and commercial relations between nations; but with the understanding that any agreement, treaty, or arrangement which changes any tariff then in existence, or in any way affects the revenue of the United States, must first be approved by the Congress of the United States.

The President be, and he is hereby, authorized and requested, at as early a date as may be convenient to proceed to negotiate with foreign governments reciprocal trade agreements under a policy of mutual tariff concessions. Such agreements shall not become operative until Congress by law shall have approved them.

Resolved, That the Vice President of the United States, as presiding officer of the Senate, appoint a committee of Senators not exceeding seven in number, to investigate and report as to the advisability of and the advantages in the consolidation of bureaus of Government, particularly as follows:

(1) The administration of the Department of the Interior consolidated with the Department of Agriculture, carrying with it the Bureau of Indian Affairs and its administration and the consolidation of all bureaus that have to do with the administration of land or its issue—geology, oil, minerals, and all other administrations of land except that necessary to be administered under the laws by the War Department.

(2) The consolidation and amalgamation with the Department of Commerce of all bureaus of transportation by land or water, such as the Shipping Board, and the administrations of all such issues applicable to the boards to be transferred to the administration of the courts—particularly to amalgamate all departments of transportation by land or water not transferred to the courts as the mere adjunct of commerce.

(3) The abolishment of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the transfer of all the duties now defined to that body to the Federal courts, authorizing the Federal courts to take immediate jurisdiction of any dispute as to freight or passenger rates or as to consolidation and amalgamation of lines of railway or shipping. The object being to give the courts immediate jurisdiction to investigate and report, decide and decree the equity of rates and the justice of amalgamation, combination, or the issuance of securities or the administration of any measures of finance issuing from the properties of transportation.

(4) The abolishment of the Federal Trade Commission as a bureau and the transfer of its power immediately to the Federal courts of the United States with the power to investigate, decree, and adjudge within the jurisdiction and spirit of existing laws all conflicts of trade, privileges, trade rights, and the equitable reliefs in competition in different forms of commerce merchandise that may be the subject of dispute and controversy now defined for the jurisdiction of the Federal Trade Commission, the object being to bring the dispute at once to the court where it may promptly be heard upon complaint and promptly disposed of within the law and existing statutes and decisions applicable, and avoid the period of time taken before the tribunals at Washington or before commissioners of such bureau, and finally reaching the courts after the loss of much time and expenditure of large sums of money appropriated by the Federal Government.

(5) The amalgamation of all bureaus having to do with the administration of the affairs of children, education, and family, these to be consolidated with the Department of Commerce or the Department of the Interior under branches of the department supervised by the heads of the Department of Commerce, and avoiding the expense of the bureaus now existing for the maintenance of the separate offices and departments designated by different names and having the administration of matters of children, education, and family.

(6) Also, the committee named by the Vice President to be authorized to recommend the amalgamation and consolidation, abolishment, or limitation of what other departments or bureaus as in the judgment of the committee would be advisable as an economic measure of government governing the expenditure of public funds.

Ordered, That the resolution lie on the table.

That the tariff act of 1930 is amended by adding after section 336 thereof a new section to read as follows:

"Sec. 336A. Recommendations for adjustments of duties.—(a) Upon its own motion or upon application of any interested party showing good and sufficient reason therefor, the commission shall investigate and ascertain the differences in the cost of production of any domestic article and of any like or similar foreign article which is on the free list or which, if on the dutiable list, the commission has good reason to believe should be transferred to the free list. If the commission finds it shown by the investigation that in order to equalize the differences in the cost of production of the domestic article and of the foreign article when produced in the principal competing country or countries it is necessary to transfer the foreign article from the free list to the dutiable list or from the dutiable list to the free list, then the commission shall make a report thereon to the President and to the Congress. The report shall be accompanied by a statement of the commission setting forth the findings of the commission with respect to the differences in the cost of production, the elements of cost included in the cost of production of the respective articles as ascertained by the commission, and any other matter deemed pertinent by the commission.

"The President, upon receipt of any such report of the commission, shall promptly transmit the report to the Congress with his recommendations, if any, with respect to the transfer of the foreign article from the free list to the dutiable list or from the dutiable list to the free list.

"Any bill having for its object the carrying out, in whole or in part, of the recommendations made by the commission in any such report shall not include any item not included in such report; and in the consideration of such bill, either in the House of Representatives or in the Senate, no amendment thereto shall be considered which is not germane to the items included in such report.

"(b) No report shall be made by the commission under this section unless the determination of the commission with respect thereto is reached after an investigation by the commission during the course of which the commission shall have held hearings and given reasonable public notice of such hearings, and reasonable opportunity for the parties interested to be present, produce evidence, and to be heard. The commission is authorized to adopt such reasonable rules of procedure as may be necessary to execute its functions under this section.

"(c) In ascertaining the differences in costs of production under this section, the commission shall take into consideration, in so far as it finds it practicable—

"(1) The differences in conditions of production, including wages, costs of materials, and other items in cost of production of like or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries;

"(2) Costs of transportation;

"(3) Other costs including the cost of containers and coverings of whatever nature and other charges and expenses incident to placing the article in condition, packed ready for delivery, storage costs in the principal market or markets of the United States and of the principal competing country or countries, and costs of reconditioning or repacking wherever incurred;

"(4) Differences between the domestic and foreign article in packing and containers, and in condition in which received in the principal markets of the United States;

"(5) Differences in wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States in so far as such prices are indicative of costs of production, provided such costs can not be satisfactorily obtained;

"(6) Advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country;

"(7) Any other advantages or disadvantages in competition which increase or decrease in a definitely determinable amount the total cost at which domestic or foreign articles may be delivered in the principal market or markets of the United States; and

"(8) Definition of costs of transportation.—Costs of transportation for the purposes of this section shall be held to include, in so far as applicable:

"First. Freight charges and all other charges incident to transportation, including transit insurance, costs of loading and unloading, and port charges and landing charges. These costs shall be computed to such principal market or markets of the United States as may most nearly insure equal competitive opportunity to domestic articles and like or similar foreign articles in the principal consuming region or regions of the United States. If this purpose may be best accomplished thereby, such costs on domestic articles and on like or similar foreign articles shall be computed to different principal markets of the United States.

"Second. (A) In the case of an imported article, the cost of transporting such articles from the areas of substantial production in the principal competing country to the principal port of importation of such article into the United States; and (B) in the case of a domestic article, the cost of transporting such article from the areas of substantial production that can reasonably be expected to ship the article thereto, to the principal port of importation into the United States of the like or similar competitive article."

On motion by Mr. McNARY, and by unanimous consent, Ordered, That the Senate proceed to the consideration of unobjected bills on the Calendar under Rule VIII.

REDUCTION OF GOVERNMENTAL EXPENDITURES

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have in various messages to the Congress over the past three years referred to the necessity of organized effort to effect far-reaching reduction of governmental expenditures.

To balance the Budget for the year beginning July 1 next the revenue bill passed by the House of Representatives on April 1 necessitates that there shall be a further reduction of expenditures for the next year of about $200,000,000 in addition to the reduction of $369,000,000 in expenditures already made in the Budget recommendations which I transmitted to the Congress on December 9.

It is essential in the interest of the taxpayer and the country that it should be done. It is my belief that still more drastic economy than this additional $200,000,000 can be accomplished. Such a sum can only be obtained, however, by a definite national legislative program of economy which will authorize the consolidation of governmental bureaus and independent establishments; and beyond this, which will permit the removal of long-established methods which lead to waste; the elimination of the less necessary functions and the suspension of activities and commitments of the Government not essential to the public interest in these times.

These objects can not be accomplished without far-reaching amendment to the laws. The Executive is bound to recommend appropriations adequate to provide for the functions and activities of the Government as now established by law. This is mandatory and the opportunity for administrative savings is limited. The Appropriations Committees are likewise bound and can only act within restricted limits. Therefore, to lessen the burden upon the taxpayers in a substantial amount, it is necessary to enter upon other fields by amending existing laws which place unnecessary obligations on the departments and independent establishments. We need repeal of existing laws which require carrying on of functions not absolutely essential for the present. This means that we should undertake a definite, separate, and coordinated program of economy legislation which will enable the Executive and the Appropriations Committees to achieve the results desired.

A clear indication that the limit of executive authority to bring about economies has about been reached is shown by the fact that the total expenditures estimated in the Budget of $4,112,000,000 (including Post Office deficit after deduction of receipts) presented to the Congress, except for increased payments to veterans and expenditures on construction work in aid of employment, was the lowest in over five years. A further indication of the existing limitations is shown by the fact that of the whole Budget the appropriations bills passed by the House of Representatives, together with those recommended by the House Appropriations Committee and the permanent appropriations, already cover about 75 per cent of the Budget and do not yet include the Army and Navy. Yet the positive reductions, including the urgency deficiency bill, so far made by the House and by its committees on information supplied to me by the Director of the Budget are less than $35,000,000. It is true that the committee has reported reductions of a total of about $113,000,000, but of this about $78,000,000 are effectively postponements until the next December session of the Congress, and must then be provided for in deficiency bills.

I say this in nowise in criticism of the action of the Congress or of its committees but as a demonstration of the fact that the latitude necessary for real reduction of expenses can only be secured by a thoroughgoing renovation of the law to bring about a real national economy program.

The Appropriations Committees of both the Senate and the House have given earnest consideration to these questions. Also a special Economy Committee and the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments of the House have been engaged upon these problems. Many suggestions of opportunities for further material reduction in governmental expenditure have been made to these committees by the executive officers of the Government, but the major portion thereof require legislative action and authorization.

It appears to me that with four different agencies of the Congress at work on the problem, operating independently with the different departments, the time which has already elapsed and the short time available to us before the beginning of the new fiscal year all point to the absolute necessity of better organized unity of effort in all the branches of the Government primarily concerned with the problem.

Therefore, I recommend to the Congress that in order to secure this unity of effort and prompt action, and thus insure the relief of the taxpayer and a balanced Budget, at the same time protecting vital service of the Government, that representatives be delegated by the two Houses, who, together with representatives of the Executive, should be authorized to frame for action by the present Congress a complete national program of economy and to recommend the legislation necessary to make it possible and effective. Such a course would expedite rather than delay the passage of appropriation bills.

I am convinced that only by such unified, nonpartisan effort, and by a willingness on the part of all to share the difficulties and problems of this essential task, can we attain the success so manifestly necessary in public interest.

HERBERT HOOVER.

THE WHITE HOUSE, April 4, 1932.

After debate,
Ordered, That the message be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and printed.

EXCLUSION OF TARIFF RATES FROM REVENUE BILL

Mr. Tydings, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 196):

Whereas the prime purpose of the revenue bill now pending before the Senate Finance Committee is to raise quickly sufficient revenue to take care of governmental expenditures and to offset the impending deficit; and

Whereas the inclusion of tariff rates and embargoes in said revenue bill will mean, from past history, many months of interminable debate and delay of the final passage of said revenue bill; and

Whereas, as projected, the revenue bill is calculated to raise $90,000,000 per month in excise and similar taxes and the delay in the passage of said bill will prevent the Government each month from obtaining said needed revenue to the extent of $90,000,000; and

Whereas tariff rates and embargoes have no place in a purely revenue raising bill of internal import: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Finance Committee is hereby instructed and directed to strike from said revenue bill all tariff matters included therein and to report the bill to the Senate with no tariff rates or embargoes included therein whatsoever.

Ordered, That the resolution lie on the table.

For the purposes of this resolution, the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings and to sit and act at such times and places during the Seventy-second Congress as it deems necessary until the final report is submitted, and to employ such clerical and other assistance, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, and to administer such oaths and to take such testimony, and to make such expenditures, as it deems advisable. CLAIMS OF CERTAIN TRIBES OF INDIANS IN OREGON

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate:

I am returning herewith Senate bill 826, "An act conferring jurisdiction upon the Court of Claims to hear and determine claims of certain bands or tribes of Indians residing in the State of Oregon," without my approval.

The bill limits the claims which can be presented to those "arising under or growing out of any treaty, agreement, act of Congress, Executive order," and then throws the door wide open by adding "or otherwise." I can not assent to the proposition that the Government should be obligated after 75 years to defend a suit for unknown claims of such ancient origin and for persons long since dead not based upon any treaty, agreement, act of Congress, or Executive order.

I want full justice for our Indian wards, and would have no objection to the presentation of claims arising under the treaties named in the bill, both ratified and unratified treaties. I am advised, however, that all funds promised to these Indians under the ratified treaties have been appropriated and paid, and that lands were set aside for, and occupied by, the Indians who were parties to the unratified treaties. I am further constrained to this action at a time when the Government can not assume additional and unknown burdens of expenditure.

HERBERT HOOVER.

THE WHITE HOUSE, April 25, 1932.

The Senate proceeded, as the Constitution prescribes, to reconsider the said bill, returned by the President of the United States, with his objections, to the Senate, in which it originated, which bill is in the following words:

[S. 826. Seventy-second Congress of the United States of America, at the first session, begun and held at the city of Washington on Monday, the 7th day of December, 1931.]

An act conferring jurisdiction upon the Court of Claims to hear and determine claims of certain bands or tribes of Indians residing in the State of Oregon.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the Court of Claims, with the right of appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States by either party, as in other cases, to hear, examine, adjudicate, and render final judgment in any and all legal and equitable claims arising under or growing out of any treaty, agreement, act of Congress, Executive order, or otherwise, which certain Indian tribes or bands, or portions thereof, and their descendants, may have against the United States, namely, the Indians described in the ratified treaties of September 10, 1853 (10 Stat. 1018), September 19, 1853 (10 Stat. 1027), November 18, 1854 (10 Stat. 1122), November 25, 1854 (10 Stat. 1125), January 22, 1855 (10 Stat. 1143), and December 21, 1855 (12 Stat. 981), together with those described in the unratified treaties published in Senate Executive Document No. 25, Fifty-third Congress, first session (pp. 8 to 15), except the Coos Bay, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Tribes, it being the intention of this act to include all the Indian tribes, or bands, residing in the State of Oregon west of the Cascade Range at the dates of the said treaties, respectively, and their descendants, some of whom, in 1855 or later, were removed by the military authorities of the United States to the Siletz Coast Range and the Grande Ronde Reservation, in the said States, except the three tribes last named.

SEC. 2. That if any claim or claims be submitted to said courts hereunder they shall settle the rights therein, both legal and equitable, of each and all the parties thereto, notwithstanding the lapse of time or the statutes of limitation; and any payment which may have been made upon any such claim shall not operate as an estoppel but may be pleaded as a set-off, and the United States shall be allowed to plead and shall receive credit for all sums, including gratuities if properly chargeable, paid to or expended for the benefit of any of said nations, tribes, or bands of Indians. The claim or claims of each nation, tribe, or band may be presented separately or jointly by petition, subject, however, to amendment and consolidation in proper cases. Such action shall make the petitioner or petitioners party plaintiff or plaintiffs and the United States party defendant; and any nation, tribe, or band the court may deem necessary to a final determination of such suit or suits may be joined therein by order of the court.

The petition shall set forth all the facts upon which the claims are based and the laws, treaties, agreements, Executive orders, or wrongful actions of the Government under and upon which recovery is sought, and shall be signed and verified by the attorney or attorneys employed to prosecute such claim or claims and who are under contract with said Indians approved in accordance with existing law. A copy of the petition in such suit shall be served upon the Attorney General of the United States, and he, or some attorney from the Department of Justice designated by him, shall appear and defend the interests of the United States: Provided, That any and all claims against the United States within the purview of this act shall be forever barred unless suit be instituted or petition filed as herein provided in the Court of Claims within 10 years from the date of the approval of this act.

Official letters, papers, documents, and public records, or certified copies thereof, may be used in evidence, and the departments of the Government shall allow the attorney or attorneys access to such treaties, papers, correspondence, or records as may be proper.

SEC. 3. Upon final determination of such suit or suits the Court of Claims shall have jurisdiction to fix and determine a reasonable fee, not to exceed 10 per cent of the recovery, based upon actual services rendered, together with all necessary and proper expenses incurred in the preparation and prosecution of the suit or suits, to be paid to the attorney or attorneys employed by said nations, tribes, or bands of Indians; and, if not otherwise paid, the same shall be included in the decree and shall be paid out of any sum or sums found to be due said Indians.

Sec. 4. The proceeds of all amounts, if any, recovered for said Indians, less attorneys' fees and expenses, shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the Indians decreed by said court to be entitled thereto, and shall draw interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum from the date of the original judgment or decree, and thereafter shall be subject to appropriation by Congress for educational, health, industrial, and other purposes for the benefit of said Indians, including the purchase of lands and building of homes.

JNO. N. GARNER,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
CHARLES CURTIS,
Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate.

I certify that this act originated in the Senate.

EDWIN P. THAYER, Secretary.

The Vice President stated the question to be, Shall the bill pass, the objections of the President of the United States to the contrary notwithstanding? When,

On motion by Mr. McNary, and by unanimous consent,
Ordered, That the message, with the accompanying bill, be referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs and printed.

DEVELOPMENT OF CHRISTIAN FAMILY IDEALS

Mr. Sheppard (by request) submitted the following concurrent resolution (S. Con. Res. 28), which, with the accompanying paper, was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas the United States of America is confronted with the conditions that have disturbed all of the nations of the world; and

Whereas it is manifest that these national disturbances in the fields of social, industrial, political, and religious life have been produced through failure to maintain family solidarity and caused a loss of the balance between the spiritual and material elements of national life; and

Whereas the alarming increase in the disturbance of domestic relationships and the increase of juvenile delinquency, as shown by court records, are signs of the ravages being worked to destroy the family, the unit that incorporates the basic elements of national integrity; and

Whereas statesmanship must concern itself for the perpetuation of the state by building a future citizenship in the strength of morality, and is warranted to draw upon every spiritual resource to achieve this end, for, as Washington said in his Farewell Address: "Both reason and experience forbid us to believe that the Nation's morality can continue after the exclusion of religious principles"; and

Whereas experience—the history of humanity—has demonstrated that a Republic like ours is strong and a blessing to its people and the world according to the moral character and intelligent religion of the people, for the strength and efficiency of any government by the people is in the character of the intelligence and morals of its citizens, inseparable from their religion, no non-Christian nation having ever retained its civil liberties; and

Whereas in this two hundredth anniversary of the birth of the first President of our United States of America it is the purpose of the National Government to honor his service to his country: Therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That this Congress hereby appeals to the citizenship of the United States of America who are parents, pastors, and teachers, that they address themselves to serious and sustained effort to integrate within the family life of the Nation those ideals of spirituality represented by the simple virtues of the homely and humble life lived in the fear of God, that there be restored through the cooperation of those institutions growing out of the family—the home, the church, and the state—the balance between the spiritual and material, and that the remedy for these prevailing deteriorating conditions of society be effected through the inculcation in our growing youth of spirituality, morality, and good conscience toward the God of our Nation.

That it is the judgment of the Congress of the United States of America that only upon the lines herein suggested can there be the perpetuation of the home, the protection of the church, and the preservation of the state. In achieving these great ends it shall mean the crime checked, social conditions corrected, economic security maintained, industrial concord established, the future of the state assured, the conservation of our youth for future citizenship provided, and our Nation preserved for that destiny intended for it by the Almighty God.

BALANCING OF THE BUDGET

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I should not be discharging my constitutional responsibility to give to the Congress information on the state of the Union and to recommend for its consideration such measures as may be necessary and expedient, if I did not report to the Congress the situation which has arisen in the country in large degree as the result of incidents of legislation during the past six weeks.

The most essential factor to economic recovery to-day is the restoration of confidence. In spite of the unquestioned beneficial effect of the remedial measures already taken and the gradual improvement in fundamental conditions, fear and alarm prevail in the country because of events in Washington which have greatly disturbed the public mind.

The manner in which the House of Representatives rejected both the revenue program proposed by the Treasury and the program unanimously reported by the Committee on Ways and Means; the character of the tax measures passed; the action of the House which would increase governmental expenditure by $132,000,000 for road building; the action further to enlarge expenditures in nonservice connected benefits from the Veterans' Bureau at the very time when the House was refusing to remedy abuse in these same services; the virtual destruction of both the national economy program proposed by the executive officials and the program of the special House Committee on Economy; the failure of the House to give adequate authority for early reduction of Government bureaus and commissions; the passage of legislation by the House placing a burden of impossible execution upon the Federal reserve system over the protest of the Federal Reserve Board; the threat of further legislation looking to uncontrolled inflation—have all resulted in diminishing public confidence and offsetting the constructive, unified efforts of the Executive and the Congress undertaken earlier in the year for recovery of employment and agriculture.

I need not recount that the revenues of the Government as estimated for the next fiscal year show a decrease of about $1,700,000,000 below the fiscal year 1929 and inexorably require a broader basis of taxation and a drastic reduction of expenditures in order to balance the Budget. Nothing is more necessary at this time than balancing the Budget. Nothing will put more heart into the country than prompt and courageous and united action in enacting the legislation which this situation imperatively demands, and an equally determined stand in defeating unwise and unnecessary legislation.

Most expeditious action is necessary if the revenues, appropriations, economy legislation, and a balanced Budget are to be attained before the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1 next.

The details and requirements of the situation are now well known to the Congress and plainly require—

First. The prompt enactment of a revenue bill adequate to produce the necessary revenue and so designed as to distribute the burdens equitably and not to impede economic recovery.

Second. A drastic program of economy which, including the savings already made in the Executive Budget of $369,000,000, can be increased to exceed $700,000,000 per annum. Considering that the whole Federal expenditure, except about $1,700,000,000, is for uncontrollable obligations, this would represent an unprecedented reduction. Such a program to accomplish its purpose must embrace the rejection of all measures that increase expenditures unless they be for undoubted emergency; the reduction in appropriations now pending below the figures submitted in the Executive Budget on December 9 last; a reconsideration of the legislation covering those economy projects which require repeal or amendment to the laws; and an effective grant of authority to the Executive to reorganize and consolidate and eliminate unnecessary Government bureaus and establishments.

REDUCTION OF DIRECT APPROPRIATIONS

In the category of appropriations within the authority of the Appropriation Committees, those committees have given some months to devoted consideration of the Executive Budget, which, as I have said, in itself carries a reduction of $369,000,000 below the expenditures of the current year. Considering the situation in the country and a study of the results so far attained by the committees, together with a review by the executive officials, I am convinced that, subject to the inclusion of conditions mentioned later, a reduction of at least $230,000,000 below the Executive Budget can be made in the supply bills—of which some $70,000,000 or $80,000,000 may be the subject of deficiency bills at the next session. In order to effect these economies, to preserve the efficiency of the Government, and to assure the humane treatment of Government employees, authority must be given to meet emergencies which may arise from such close budgeting by the transfer of not to exceed 15 per cent of any appropriation to any other appropriation within the same department, provided no appropriation is increased more than 15 per cent, but subject to the approval of the Director of the Budget; and to suspend the leave with pay so that the 5-day week and its equivalent to salaried employees can be installed where necessary.

With the reduction proposed in the original Budget, together with the further reductions here proposed, it will be necessary to discharge 50,000 to 100,000 employees unless we divide the remaining work of the Government amongst the whole of its employees just as has been done in industry. I know of nothing more inhuman in the present situation than for the Government to add to the pool of unemployment and destitution when it is entirely unnecessary and can be provided against by the same measures which were undertaken by industry at the request of the Government itself nearly three years ago.

SPECIAL ECONOMY LEGISLATION

In the category of further economies, which can only be made by changes in laws, which would give authority to the Executive and the Appropriations Committees, many items were proposed by executive officers of the Government, and some portion of them were embodied in the bill presented by the special Economy Committee to the House of Representatives. Less than $30,000,000 direct and definite savings were covered in that bill which finally passed the House. Many of the indeterminate and indirect savings in that legislation can not be realized until late in the new year or after that.

Many of the recommendations which were rejected by the House of Representatives should again be considered. Aside from the economy proposals affecting employees which are here included in the above discussion of the supply bills there are opportunities to increase the direct savings provided for in the House economy bill from $30,000,000 to from $130,000,000 to $150,000,000, plus many indeterminate items which would result in further economies.

These savings would be over and above the amounts of savings referred to in the direct appropriations. Without going into the merits or demerits of the proposals, they do represent the correction of abuses and the curtailment of unnecessary functions of the Government and embrace items that can be dispensed with during the present critical period.

CONSOLIDATION AND REDUCTION OF BUREAUS

In the category of economies that can be made by consolidation, reorganization, and elimination of the less necessary bureaus, commissions, and so forth, the authority given in the measure passed by the House of Representatives is so restricted that it can not be made effective until late in the next fiscal year. In order to expedite this economy I earnestly recommend that the Executive be authorized to proceed immediately in the consolidation of public works and personnel, partly provided in the House economy bill; public health; merchant marine; conservation; education; munitions manufacture; Army and Navy hospitals; aviation fields; and other specific Army and Navy activities which may advantageously be consolidated for the purpose of economy and more effective administration. The savings to be made are indeterminate but very considerable. If made by Executive action within the above direction from the Congress, they can be made promptly.

CONCLUSION

The imperative need of the Nation to-day is a definite and conclusive program for balancing the Budget. Uncertainty is disastrous. It must be in every sense a national program. Sectional, partisan, group, or class considerations can have no place in it. Ours is a government of all the people, created to protect and promote the common good, and when the claims of any group or class are inconsistent with the welfare of all, they must give way. Various groups and sections of the country have brought insistent and delaying pressures to bear for the adoption or rejection of various projects which would yield great economy and revenue. They have not realized that sacrifice by all groups is essential to the salvation of the Nation. They have not recognized the gravity of the problems with which we are confronted. They apparently do not know that by their actions they are imposing losses on members of their own groups and sections through stagnation, unemployment, decreased commodity prices, far greater than the sacrifices called for under these suggestions. The Government can not be dictated to by organized minorities. Such action will undermine all popular government. I know that these actions do not reflect the will of the country, and I refuse to believe that the country is unable to reflect its will in legislation.

In conclusion, let me urge the national necessity for prompt and resolute and unified action, keeping constantly in mind the larger aspects of the problem and that the necessity for these measures is born of a great national emergency. If such a program should be agreed to by the leaders and Members of both Houses it would go far to restore business, employment, and agriculture alike. It would have a most reassuring effect on the country.

PROPOSED INVESTIGATION OF LOBBYING

Mr. Wheeler, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 215), which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas on May 6, 1932, President Hoover in a statement to the press stated, "It is also an issue between the people and the locust swarm of lobbyists who haunt the Halls of Congress seeking selfish privilege for special groups and sections of the country, misleading Members as to the real views of the people by showers of propaganda"; and

Whereas on May 5, 1932, Senator David A. Reed stated, "Such a cloud of lobbyists descended upon the House, so strong was the pressure of the soldier lobby that only about 25 per cent of the membership of the House dared to vote in favor of that obviously just suggestion. The more specific the act the stronger will be the lobby, and, apparently at the other end of the Capitol, anyway, there was not courage enough to resist it"; and

Whereas on May 6, 1932, Senator Gerald P. Nye made the following statement: "The weekly radio broadcasts by the spokesmen and errand boys for big business and concentrated wealth have brought to each Senator's desk during the winter letters upon letters protesting against Government expenditures and demanding economy and tax reduction. These spokesmen, for selfishness and greed, have done their work so well that many people have been blinded to their local, county, and State tax responsibilities under which they labor and have been tempted to believe that their terrible tax burden was occasioned quite alone by expenditures of the Federal Government"; and

Whereas Hon. Peter Norbeck on May 11, 1932, made the following statement: "Misstatements were made galore by lobbyists—misstatements that have been sent out of here because the lobbyists have to maintain their offices also. They have to cry 'wolf' once in a while if they are going to continue to draw their salaries, so they sent out warnings galore against the Glass bill and against this and that section of the Glass bill and against the minority of the committee and against the 'wild jackasses' on the committee"; and

Whereas Hon. F. I. LaGuardia on May 7 made the following statement: "To-day the President in his statement to the public refers 'to a swarm of lobbyists like locusts who haunt the Halls of Congress.' The lobbies of the House Office Building and Capitol were never so crowded with admirals and generals who appeared here in opposition to consolidation of the Army and Navy. I submit to the President that if he wishes to stop lobbying, here is one of the group of minorities that he can immediately stop. As Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy he needs no legislation to stop this class. He can issue an order and tell his admirals and generals and his military and naval lobbyists to keep away from the Congress and let us legislate. And, talking about lobbyists, do you remember during the discussion of the tax bill, when we placed a tax on stock transfers, the pressure that was brought to bear on us? Do you remember the abuse that we got because we opposed the sales tax? Is it not an unfortunate synchronization when, on the next day after the President makes his appeal to keep lobbyists away from Washington, the lobbyists and the special interests had already done their dirty work in emasculating the tax on the other side of the Capitol"; and

Whereas again on March 17, 1932, Hon. David A. Reed made the following statement: "There are, I am ashamed to say, a lot of Americans who get asked to lunch by a countess and immediately break into tears and cancel the debt. There are a lot of Americans who, for some reason of their own, have taken this foreign propaganda as if it were the Bible. I have wandered from the subject upon which I first rose to speak; but I think there is a certain value in the reiteration of the statement that that propaganda is not successful with all Americans"; and

Whereas various other statements have been made in the public press and on the floor of Congress with reference to lobbyists invading our National Capitol and influencing legislation: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized and directed (1) to investigate into the activities of lobbying associations and lobbyists and into the charges made by the President of the United States and by various Members of Congress, to the effect that a swarm of lobbyists are haunting the Halls of Congress, causing delays and seeking selfish special privilege for special groups and sections of the country, and (2) to report to the Senate as soon as practicable the results of such investigation and, if in its judgment such practice should be prohibited, to submit with such report its recommendations for the necessary remedial legislation.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places during the first session of the Seventy-second Congress, to employ such experts and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths and to take such testimony, and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $——, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the committee.

CONSOLIDATION OF STANDARD OIL COMPANIES OF NEW JERSEY AND CALIFORNIA

Mr. Wheeler, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 216):

Whereas the officers and directors of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and the Standard Oil Co. of California are reported to be seeking to consolidate these two companies into one organization, notwithstanding the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, and notwithstanding the provisions of the Sherman Antitrust Act: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the United States is requested to advise the Senate what, if any, action his department has taken or intends to take with a view to preventing the consolidation of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and the Standard Oil Co. of California.

Ordered, That the resolution lie over one day under the rule.

EXPORT DEBENTURES

(a) Whenever the board provided for in the agricultural marketing act approved June 15, 1929, finds it advisable, in order to carry out the policy declared in section 1 of said agricultural marketing act, with respect to any agricultural commodity, to issue export debentures with respect to such commodity, said board shall give notice of such finding to the Secretary of the Treasury. Upon the receipt of such notice it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury, commencing and terminating at such time as the board shall prescribe, to issue export debentures to any farmer, cooperative association, stabilization corporation, or other person with respect to such quantity of the commodity or any manufactured food product thereof or any product manufactured from cotton or tobacco, if the cotton or tobacco out of which it is manufactured is exported in the raw material would have been entitled to receive a debenture therefor, as such person may from time to time export from the United States to any foreign country. The export debenture shall be in an amount to be computed under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, in accordance with such regulations as he may prescribe, at the debenture rate for the commodity or product that is in effect at the time of exportation. Any such computation shall be final.

(b) In order to procure the issuance of an export debenture, the farmer, cooperative association, stabilization corporation, or other person shall, in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, make application for such debenture and submit satisfactory proofs either (1) that the commodity to be exported was produced in the United States and has not previously been exported therefrom, or (2) that the commodity used in making the manufactured food product or any product manufactured from cotton or tobacco if the cotton or tobacco out of which it is manufactured is exported in the raw material would have been entitled to receive a debenture therefor, to be exported was produced in the United States and the agricultural commodity and the manufactured food product or any product manufactured from cotton or tobacco if the cotton or tobacco out of which it is manufactured is exported in the raw material would have been entitled to receive a debenture therefor, have not previously been exported therefrom.

(c) An export debenture, when presented by the bearer thereof within one year from the date of issuance, shall be receivable at its face value by any collector of customs, or deputy collector of customs, or other person authorized by law or by regulation of the Secretary of the Treasury to perform the duties of collector of customs, in payment of duties collectible against articles imported by the bearer. Title to any export debenture shall be transferable by delivery. In order to prevent any undue speculation in the handling of such export debentures, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to provide for the redemption of such export debentures from any money in the Treasury derived from the payment of duties collectible against articles imported into the United States at a rate of not less than 98 per centum of the face value of such export debentures.

(d) Debenture rates in effect at any time with respect to any agricultural commodity shall be one-half the rate of duty in effect at such time with respect to imports of such commodity, except that so long as no import duty is imposed on cotton the debenture rate thereon shall be 2 cents per pound. The debenture rate in effect at any time with respect to any manufactured food product of any agricultural commodity or any product manufactured from cotton or tobacco if the cotton or tobacco out of which it is manufactured is exported in the raw material would have been entitled to receive a debenture therefor, shall be an amount sufficient, as nearly as may be, to equal the debenture that would be issuable upon the exportation of the quantity of the agricultural commodity consumed in the manufacture of the exported manufactured food product, or any product manufactured from cotton or tobacco if the cotton or tobacco out of which it is manufactured is exported in the raw material would have been entitled to receive a debenture therefor, as prescribed and promulgated from time to time by said board.

(e) Regulations requiring that metal tags or other appropriate markings be placed on all bales of cotton produced in foreign countries and allowed transit through the United States for exportation, may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. Every person who violates any such regulation of said board shall be liable to a civil penalty of $100 for each such offense. Such penalty may be recovered in a civil suit brought by said board in the name of the United States.

(f) The Secretary of the Treasury shall prepare and issue all export debentures. Export debentures issued under authority of this act shall be obligations of the United States within the definition in section 147 of the act entitled "An act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March 4, 1909, as amended (U. S. C., title 18, § 261).

(g) Any person who shall make any false statement for the purpose of fraudulently procuring, or shall attempt in any manner fraudulently to procure, the issuance or acceptance of any export debenture, whether for the benefit of such person or of any other person, shall be fined not more than $2,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

(h) In order to prevent undue stimulation in the production of any debenturable agricultural commodity, whenever said board finds that the production of any debenturable agricultural commodity during any crop year has exceeded the average annual production of such debenturable agricultural commodity for the preceding five years said board shall by proclamation prescribe that during the next succeeding year the export debenture rates for such commodity shall be reduced by the percentage hereinafter fixed. Such reductions shall become effective on the date fixed in such proclamation, not less than sixty days from the date of the issuance thereof, and shall remain in effect throughout such succeeding crop year. The term "crop year," as used in this section, means a twelve months' period beginning at a time designated by said board.

Reductions in debenture rates under this section shall be made in accordance with the following percentages:

(1) For an increase in production of less than 20 per centum, there shall be no reduction.

(2) For an increase in production of 20 per centum but less than 40 per centum, there shall be a reduction of 20 per centum.

(a) In the case of the estate of a decedent who died on or after September 1, 1928, and prior to January 1, 1932, and at the election of the executor, the value of the gross estate and of the net estate shall be computed based upon values as of a date eighteen months after the decedent's death (hereinafter referred to as "subsequent value"), and the tax to be paid under this title shall bear the same ratio to a tax computed without reference to this section as the subsequent value of the net estate bears to the value of the net estate computed as of the date of the decedent's death, but in no case shall the tax be less than 60 per centum of the tax computed without reference to this section. Such election shall be exercised by the filing of a statement under oath which shall set forth all the necessary information, and shall be filed not later than one year after the date of the enactment of the revenue act of 1932. ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES

The President of the United States, escorted by the committee heretofore appointed, entered the Chamber and addressed the Senate as follows:

Mr. Vice President and Senators:

An emergency has developed in the last few days which it is my duty to lay before the Senate.

The continued downward movement in the economic life of the country has been particularly accelerated during the past few days, and it relates in part definitely to the financial program of the Government. There can be no doubt that superimposed upon other causes the long-continued delays in the passage of legislation providing for such reduction in expenses and such addition to revenues as would balance the Budget, together with proposals of projects which would greatly increase governmental expenditures, have given rise to doubt and anxiety as to the ability of our Government to meet its responsibilities. These fears and doubts have been foolishly exaggerated in foreign countries. They know from bitter experience that the course of unbalanced budgets is the road to ruin. They do not realize that slow as our processes may be we are determined and have the resources to place the finances of the United States on an unassailable basis.

The immediate result has been to create an entirely unjustified run upon the American dollar from foreign countries, and within the past few days, despite our national wealth and resources and our unparalleled gold reserves, our dollar stands at a serious discount in the markets of the world for the first time in half a century. This can be and must be immediately corrected or the reaction upon our economic situation will be such as to cause great losses to our people and will still further retard recovery. Nor is the confusion in public mind and the rising feeling of doubt and fear confined to foreign countries. It reflects itself directly in diminished economic activity and increased unemployment within our own borders and among our own citizens. There is thus further stress upon already diminished and strained economic life of the country.

No one has a more sympathetic realization than I of the difficulties and complexities of the problem with which the Congress is confronted. The decrease in revenues due to the depression by upward of $1,700,000,000 and the consequent necessity to reduce Government expenditures, the sacrifice such reduction calls for from many groups and sections, the further sacrifice called for in the distribution of the remaining burden by the imposition of new taxes, all constitute a problem which naturally arouses wide divergence of sectional interest and individual views. Yet if we are to secure a just distribution of these sacrifices in such fashion as to establish confidence in the integrity of the Government we must secure an adjustment of these views to quick and prompt national action, directed at one sole purpose; that is, to unfetter the rehabilitation of industry, agriculture, and unemployment. The time has come when we must all make sacrifice of some parts of our particular views and bring these dangers and degenerations to halt by expeditious action.

In the stress of this emergency I have conferred with members of both parties of the Senate as to methods by which the strains and stresses could be overcome and the gigantic resources and energies of our people released from the fetters in which they are held. I have felt in the stress of this emergency a grave responsibility rests upon me not only to present the situation to the Senate but to make suggestions as to the basis of adjustment between these views which I hope will lead to early action. And I am addressing myself to the Senate on this occasion as the major questions under consideration are now before this body.

We have three major duties in legislation in order to accomplish our fundamental purposes.

First. Drastic reduction of expenditures.

Second. Passage of adequate revenue legislation, the combination of which with reductions will unquestionably beyond all manner of doubt declare to the world the balancing of the Federal Budget and the stabilizing of the American dollar.

Third. Passage of adequate relief legislation to assure the country against distress and to aid in employment pending the next session of Congress.

It is essential that when we ask our citizens to undertake the burdens of increased taxation we must give to them evidence of reduction of every expenditure not absolutely vital to the immediate conduct of the Government. The Executive Budget of last December provided for a reduction of expenditures in the next fiscal year over the then estimated expenditures of the current year by about $370,000,000. I have recommended to the Congress from time to time the necessity for passage of legislation which would give authority for further important reductions in expenditures not possible for consideration by either the Executive or the committees of Congress without such legislation.

An earnest nonpartisan effort was made to secure these purposes in a national economy bill in the House, but it largely failed. That subject is under review by the bipartisan committee appointed from the members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and I am informed it has tentatively agreed upon a recommendation which would aggregate savings of $250,000,000, together with a number of undetermined further possibilities. I am not informed as to details of these recommendations, although I learn that my own suggestions in many instances have not been accepted. But I do know that the committee has made honest and earnest effort to reach a just reduction in expenditures, and I trust, therefore, that despite any of our individual views or the sacrifice of any group that we can unite in support and expeditious adoption of the committee's conclusions. In addition to the economies which may be brought about through the economy bill, the direct reductions of the Appropriations Committees should increase this figure to at least $400,000,000, not including certain postponements to later deficiency bills. As this sum forms the basis of calculations as to increased taxes necessary, it is essential that no matter what the details may be, that amount of reduction must be obtained or taxes must be increased to compensate. If this minimum of $400,000,000 is attained by congressional action, together with the $369,000,000 effected through Executive Budget, except for amounts already budgeted for public works in aid to unemployment and increased costs of veterans, we will have reduced expenditures of this Government to the lowest point since 1916.

In the matter of tax legislation we must face the plain and unpalatable fact that due to the degeneration in the economic situation during the past month the estimates of fertility of taxes which have been made from time to time based upon the then current prospects of business must be readjusted to take account of the decreasing business activity and shrinking values. The Finance Committee has been advised that the setbacks of the past month now make it evident that if we are to have absolute assurance of the needed income with breadth of base which would make a certainty of the collections, we must face additional taxes to those now proposed by the Senate Finance Committee.

I recognize the complaint that estimates of the taxes required and reductions of expenses needed have been repeatedly increased; but, on the other hand, it should be borne in mind that if tax and economy legislation recommended from time to time since last December had been promptly enacted there would have been less degeneration and stagnation in the country. But it is unprofitable to argue any such questions. We must face the situation as it exists to-day.

In the course of the six months during which the revenue bill has been considered in the House and Senate, practically every form of tax has been suggested at one time or another. Many have found their way into the bill later to be rejected. The total amount Congress originally set out to obtain has been gradually whittled down, either by actual reductions or degeneration of the situation, while needs have increased.

If we examine the major sources of possible increases in taxes now proposed and the nature of taxes already voted, it may well be that the income taxes have already been raised to the point of diminishing returns through avoidance which will ensue by the use of tax-exempt securities and are already so high as to approach the danger point in retardation of enterprise. It is advisable that more relief should be given to earned incomes. Nor will further increase in income tax, even including the proposals of Senator CONNALLY, cover the gap in our revenues or provide against any failure to reduce expenses to the full amount I have stated. The Senate has already imposed a multitude of specific manufacturers' excise taxes on special industries. Some of them appear discriminatory and uncertain in their productivity. I have not and do not favor a general sales tax. It has not been proposed by the Treasury. A sales tax is not, however, to be confused with an extension of the special manufacturers' excise taxes to a general manufacturers' excise tax with exemptions of food and clothing. This is an entirely different tax from a so-called sales tax and can not be pyramided. Even this general manufacturers' excise tax has not been proposed by the Treasury, although at the time such a tax was unanimously recommended by the Ways and Means Committee of the House, representing both political parties and their leaders in the House of Representatives, the Secretary of the Treasury accepted it in the hope that immediate passage of the bill would result. In order, however, to solve our problem and give assurance to the country and the world of the impregnability of the American dollar and that we are ready to meet our emergencies at any sacrifice, I have now come to favor an extension, for a limited period, of the many special excise taxes to a more general manufacturers' excise tax and will support the Congress if it should be adopted. Whether this be the course or not, some further emergency tax sources should be incorporated in the pending bill.

Our third problem is that of relief. The sharp degeneration has its many reflexes in distress and hardship upon our people. I hold that the maintenance of the sense of individual and personal responsibility of men to their neighbors and the proper separation of functions of the Federal and local Governments requires the maintenance of the fundamental principle that the obligation of distress rests upon the individuals, upon the communities, and upon the States. In order, however, that there may be no failure on the part of any State to meet its obligation in this direction I have, after consultation with some of the party leaders on both sides, favored authorization to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to loan up to $300,000,000 to State governments where they are unable to finance themselves in provision of relief to distress. Such loans should be made by purchase of State bonds by the corporation, but where States are unable to issue bonds then loans should be made upon application of State authorities, and if they are not regularized by the issuance of bonds within a period of 12 to 18 months they should become a charge upon the Federal-aid funds to which such States may be entitled.

In order to aid unemployment and to avoid wasteful expansion of public works I have favored an authority to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to increase its issues of its securities to the maximum of $3,000,000,000 in order that it may extend its services both in aid to employment and agriculture on a wide scale. Under the methods proposed the corporation is to be (a) authorized to buy bonds from political subdivisions or public bodies to aid in construction of income-producing or self-liquidating projects; (b) to make loans to established enterprise upon adequate security for advancement of sound projects that will increase employment, but safeguarded by requirement that some portion of outside capital is also provided; (c) to divert a portion of the unexpended authorizations of agricultural loans through the Secretary of Agriculture to the finance exports of agricultural products; (d) to make loans to institutions upon security of agricultural commodities to assure the carrying of normal stocks of these commodities and thus by stabilizing their loan value to steady their price levels; (e) to make loans to the Federal Farm Board to enable extension of finance of farm cooperatives.

I have not been able to favor the expansion of public works beyond the program already proposed in the Budget. I have for many years advocated speeding up of public works as relief to unemployment in times of depression. Since the beginning of this depression, in consonance with this view, the Federal Government will have expended in excess of $1,500,000,000 in construction and maintenance of one kind or another as against a normal program of perhaps $650,000,000 for a similar period. The Budget for next year calls for over $550,000,000, or double our usual outlay. If we shall now increase these programs, we shall need instantly to increase taxes still further. We have already forced every project which we have justification with any regard to the taxpayer and the avoidance of sheer waste. It is not my desire on this occasion to argue the comparative merits of extending such a program and that of financing an even larger program of employment on productive works through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. We are indeed all desirous of serving our fellow citizens who are in difficulty, and we must serve them in such a fashion that we do not increase the ranks of unemployed. I may emphasize that this alternative program avoids drain upon the taxpayer and above all, if we are to balance our Budget and balance it in such fashion that our people and the world may know it is balanced, we can not make further appropri-tions in any direction beyond the amounts now before the Congress.

I am confident that if the Congress could find in these suggestions which come from members of both parties a ground for adjustment of legislation on those dominant particulars and could bring it into immediate action it would yield not only relief to the country but would reestablish that confidence which we so sorely need.

The natural wealth of this country is unimpaired, and the inherent abilities of our people to meet their problems are being restrained by failure of the Government to act. Time is of the essence. Every day's delay makes new wounds and extends them. I come before you in sympathy with the difficulties which the problem presents and in a sincere spirit of helpfulness. I ask of you to accept such a basis of practical adjustment essential to the welfare of our people. In your hands at this moment is the answer to the question whether democracy has the capacity to act speedily enough to save itself in emergency. The Nation urgently needs unity. It needs solidarity before the world in demonstrating that America has the courage to look its difficulties in the face and the capacity and resolution to meet them.

At the conclusion of the address, the President, escorted by the committee, retired from the Chamber.

sold as an article for further manufacture to a licensed manufacturer or registered dealer, a tax of 1¾ per cent of the price (subject to the provisions of section 604 (a)) at which such article was sold to such registered dealer, plus, in the case of an imported article, the amount of duties imposed thereon under any provision of the customs laws, if not included in such price. If the commissioner determines that the records with respect to any article are inadequate, such article shall be held to be sold otherwise than as an article for further manufacture to a licensed manufacturer or registered dealer.

(b) If the commissioner determines that it is not necessary in the interests of the revenue to trace the identity of articles of any class in the hands of registered dealers, the regulations may provide a method of determining the proper tax liability of registered dealers with respect to articles of that class without regard to the identity of the individual articles.

(c) Articles of such classes as the commissioner may prescribe may (in accordance with the regulations) be sold to or imported by registered dealers free of tax when it is impracticable to determine whether or not they will be resold as articles for further manufacture to licensed manufacturers or registered dealers, and the tax provided for in subsection (a) shall be imposed with respect to such articles if not so resold.

Sec. 604. Sale price

(a) Generally: In determining the sale price of an article there shall be included any charge for coverings and containers of whatever nature, and any charge incident to placing the article in condition packed ready for shipment, but there shall be excluded the amount of tax imposed by this title, whether or not stated as a separate charge. A transportation, delivery, insurance, installation, or other charge (not required by the foregoing sentence to be included) shall be excluded from the sale price only if the amount thereof is established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, in accordance with the regulations.

(b) Sales on consignment: In the case of an article sold on consignment, the sale price shall be the fair manufacturer's price for the article.

(c) Retail sales by licensed manufacturer: In the case of an article sold by the manufacturer or producer thereof at retail (or directly to the consumer or user), the tax shall (if based on the sale price) be imposed upon the price at which so sold, except that in the case of any such article ordinarily sold at wholesale (or directly to the consumer or user at prices varying with the quantity or character of use) by manufacturers or producers, the tax shall (if based on the sale price) be imposed upon the fair manufacturer's price for the article.

(d) Installment sales: In the case of a contract for the sale by a licensed manufacturer of an article, wherein it is provided that the sale price shall be paid to the manufacturer by installments, and the title to the article sold does not pass to the purchaser thereof until a future date notwithstanding partial payment by installments, or in the case of a conditional sale, each partial payment shall be regarded as a sale and there shall be imposed upon each payment that part of the tax which is proportionate to the part of the sale price represented by such payment.

(e) Leases and royalties: If a licensed manufacturer leases an article or transfers the right of using the article but not the title thereto, or imposes a royalty on the use of an article, each payment with respect to the article shall be treated as a sale and the tax shall (if based on the sale price) be imposed upon the amount of such payment. Any such lease, transfer, or imposition of royalty on the use of any article by a registered dealer shall be treated as a sale.

(f) Manufacture under contract: For the purposes of this title a person who manufactures or produces an article for another person who furnishes materials and retains title thereto, shall be regarded as the manufacturer or producer of the article, and the tax shall be imposed upon the first payment, or, if the tax is based on the sale price and there is more than one payment, the tax shall be imposed pro rata upon each payment; except that the person so furnishing materials shall be regarded as the manufacturer or producer of the article (1) if the article is to be resold by him and the effect of the application of this provision is to require him to be licensed under this title, or (2) if he is a licensed manufacturer.

(g) Use or transfer of article in special cases: If a manufacturer or producer—

(1) Uses (including use as material in repair work), otherwise than as an article for further manufacture, an article manufactured or produced by him, or sold to or imported by him free of tax by virtue of his license;

(2) Transfers the title to an article by gift;

(3) Transfers the title to, or the right to use, an article to any person (otherwise than through an arm's-length transaction) at less than the fair market price;

such use or transfer shall be considered a sale for the purposes of this title, and the sale price shall be the fair manufacturer's price for such article, with allowance for any tax previously paid with respect to any materials used in manufacturing or producing the article.

(h) For the purposes of this section the fair manufacturer's price for an article shall be a fair manufacturers' or producers' sale price for the article at the place of manufacture or production, as determined by the commissioner, by reference to actual sales or to costs of manufacture or production, or otherwise.

Sec. 605. Overpayments, credits, and refunds

(a) A credit against tax under this title, or a refund, may be allowed or made—

(1) To a licensed manufacturer, in the amount of any tax under this title (except section 601 (c) (4) to (7), inclusive, relating to tax on imported petroleum, coal, lumber, copper, and so forth) which has been paid with respect to an article for further manufacture purchased by him.

(2) To a manufacturer or producer when he becomes licensed, in the amount of any tax paid under this title (except section 601 (c) (4) to (7), inclusive) with respect to articles for further manufacture on hand when the license is granted.

(3) To the exporter, in the case of an article sold for exportation or exported for sale, in the amount of any tax paid under this title (except section 601 (c) (4) to (7), inclusive) with respect to the article.

(4) To a licensed manufacturer or registered dealer who has paid tax under this title with respect to an article, when the sale price on which the tax was based is readjusted by reason of return or repossession of the article or a covering or container, or by a bona fide discount, rebate, or allowance, in the amount of that part of the tax proportionate to the part of the sale price which is refunded or credited.

(b) Credit or refund under subsection (a) shall be allowed or made only upon compliance with the regulations.

(c) In no case shall interest be allowed with respect to any amount of tax under this title credited or refunded.

(d) In no case shall both credit or refund under subsection (a) and remission or drawback under the customs laws of the tax imposed by this title be allowed on account of the exportation of an article.

(e) No overpayment of tax under this title (except section 601 (c) (4) to (7), inclusive, relating to tax on imported petroleum, coal, lumber, copper, etc.) shall be credited or refunded (otherwise than under subsection (a)), in pursuance of a court decision or otherwise, unless the person who paid the tax establishes, in accordance with regulations, (1) that he has not included the tax in the price of the article with respect to which it was imposed, or collected the amount of tax from the vendee or (2) that he has repaid the amount of the tax to the ultimate purchaser of the article, or unless he files with the commissioner written consent of such ultimate purchaser to the allowance of the credit or refund.

Sec. 606. Licensed manufacturers and registered dealers

(a) Manufacturers and producers: Every manufacturer or producer (except as hereinafter provided) is hereby required to take out an annual license, in accordance with regulations, and shall pay a fee of $2 therefor. Licenses under this section shall expire upon June 30 of each year.

(b) Exemptions: No license shall be required (but a license may be granted upon application) in the case of a manufacturer or producer (other than a manufacturer or producer of articles taxable under section 601 (c) (2) or (3), relating to tax on brewer's wort, malt sirup, grape concentrate, etc.)—

(1) If a farmer, with respect to his agricultural products; or

(2) if for the preceding year the total sale price of all articles (other than exempt articles) manufactured or produced by him was less than $20,000; or

(3) if, in the case of a manufacturer or producer not engaged in manufacture or production of articles (other than exempt articles) during the whole of the preceding year, such manufacturer or producer files with the commissioner a statement under oath that to the best of his belief the probable total sale price of all articles (other than exempt articles) to be manufactured or produced by him during the year for which the exemption is claimed will be less than $20,000;

but in the case of any manufacturer or producer exempted under clause (2) or (3) of this subsection, if the commissioner determines, on the basis of sales for any period during the year for which the exemption was granted, that the probable total sale price of all articles (other than exempt articles) manufactured or produced by such manufacturer or producer during such year will not be less than $20,000, or if the total sale price of all articles (other than exempt articles) manufactured or produced and sold by such manufacturer or producer during such year reaches $20,000, such manufacturer or producer shall thereupon be required to be licensed.

(c) Dealers and importers: A dealer in or importer of articles for further manufacture to be sold to licensed manufacturers or registered dealers may be granted an annual registration by the commissioner, upon application in accordance with regulations and payment of a fee of $100. Registrations under this subsection shall expire upon June 30 of each year.

(d) Revocation or cancellation of dealer's registration: If the commissioner finds that a registered dealer has violated any provision of law applicable to the tax imposed by this title, he may revoke his registration. If the registration of any registered dealer is revoked, he shall not be entitled to registration within a period of one year after such revocation. The registration of any registered dealer may be canceled upon application by him.

(e) Tax on revocation, cancellation, or expiration of registration: If a registered dealer's registration is revoked or canceled under subsection (d), or if a registered dealer's registration expires and is not renewed, he shall pay the tax imposed by this title (as if on a taxable sale at the time of revocation, cancellation, or expiration) on all articles purchased or imported by him free of tax by virtue of his registration and not resold by him prior to such revocation, cancellation, or expiration.

(f) Tax on registered dealer on date title ceases to be in effect: Every dealer or importer registered on the day on which the tax imposed by this title ceases to be in effect shall pay the tax imposed by this title (as if on a taxable sale on such date) on all articles purchased or imported by him free of tax by virtue of his registration and not resold by him on or before such date.

(g) Tax on expiration of manufacturer's or producer's license: If a manufacturer or producer ceases to be licensed before the date on which the tax imposed by this title ceases to be in effect, he shall pay the tax which would be imposed on a sale to him, as of the date on which he ceases to be licensed, of all articles purchased or imported by him free of tax by virtue of such license and not used as articles for further manufacture in the manufacture or production of articles on the sale of which tax has been imposed under this title prior to such date.

Sec. 607. Returns, records, and payment and collection of tax

(a) Every licensed manufacturer or registered dealer and every person liable for any tax under this title (other than tax levied, assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner as a duty imposed by the tariff act of 1930) shall make monthly returns under oath and pay the tax to the collector for the district in which is located his principal place of business, or if he has no principal place of business in the United States, to the collector at Baltimore, Maryland. Such returns shall be made on or before the last day of each month for the preceding month, and shall contain such information and be made in such manner as the regulations prescribe.

(b) The tax shall, without assessment by the commissioner or notice from the collector, be due and payable to the collector at the time for filing the return. If the tax is not paid when due, there shall be added as part of the tax interest at the rate of 1 per cent a month from the time when the tax became due until paid.

(c) Every licensed manufacturer and registered dealer, and every person liable for any tax imposed by this title (except tax levied, assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner as a duty imposed by the tariff act of 1930) shall keep such records, render under oath such statements, and comply with such regulations, as the commissioner with the approval of the Secretary may from time to time prescribe. Whenever in the judgment of the commissioner necessary, he may require any person by notice served upon him, to make a return, render under oath such statements, or keep such records as the commissioner deems sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable for tax under this title (except tax levied, assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner as a duty imposed by the tariff act of 1930), and the amount of any such liability. All records required under authority of this section with respect to any sale shall be kept in such manner as to be readily accessible to the commissioner or his agents for a period of four years from the last day of the month after the month in which such sale was made, unless the commissioner authorizes the destruction of such records at an earlier date, or unless an agreement under section 611 determining the amount of liability under this title with respect to such sale is approved by the Secretary or Under Secretary.

(d) In case any other person acquires from or against a licensed manufacturer or registered dealer, by operation of law or as a result of any transaction not taxable under this title, the right to sell any article, the sale of such article by such person shall be taxable as if made by such licensed manufacturer or registered dealer, and such person shall be liable for the tax.

Sec. 608. Evasion of tax

(a) Diversion of articles sold for exportation: No article the sale of which has been exempted from tax under section 602 (a) (4) (relating to sales for exportation) shall thereafter be sold for use, or used, in the United States, unless the person so selling or using it pays the tax which would have been imposed on such sale if it had not been so exempted.

(b) Tax on sales to or importations by licensed manufacturers or registered dealers: If the commissioner finds that payment of tax under this title is being evaded or is likely to be evaded by a licensed manufacturer or registered dealer, or a class of licensed manufacturers or registered dealers, he may require that the tax shall be imposed on the sale to, or the importation by, such licensed manufacturer or registered dealer, or class of licensed manufacturers or registered dealers, of any class of articles (even though articles for further manufacture or for resale to licensed manufacturers or registered dealers as articles for further manufacture). Credit or refund of tax so imposed may be allowed on proof by a licensed manufacturer that such articles have been used as articles for further manufacture in the manufacture or production of articles on the sale of which tax has been paid, or by a registered dealer that such articles have been resold to licensed manufacturers or registered dealers as articles for further manufacture.

(c) Sale of article purchased as article for further manufacture: If a licensed manufacturer sells an article purchased or imported free of tax by virtue of his license, he shall be liable for tax under this title in the same manner as if such article were an article manufactured or produced by him.

Sec. 609. Tax on manufacturer or producer not licensed

Any manufacturer or producer not licensed or required to be licensed under this title who sells an article and adds to the price any amount as tax under this title on such sale shall be liable for tax under this title equal to such amount; and any such person who sells an article at a price represented to include tax under this title on such sale shall be liable for tax under this title on such sale.

Sec. 610. Contracts for sale entered into before March 1, 1932—regulated rates

If any person (1) is subject to governmental regulation with respect to the sale price of an article with respect to which a tax is imposed under this title, or (2) has prior to March 1, 1932, made a contract for the sale on or after the effective date of this title of an article, with respect to the sale of which a tax is imposed by this title, or with respect to which a tax is imposed by this section, and such contract does not permit the adding to the amount to be paid thereunder of the whole of such tax, and does not provide that the vendor shall pay such tax, then the vendee shall, in lieu of the vendor, pay so much of the tax as is not so permitted to be added to the contract price, or the price subject to regulation, as the case may be. If such a contract was made with the United States, no tax shall be imposed under this title.

(b) The taxes payable by the vendee shall be paid to the vendor at the time the sale is consummated, and shall be collected, returned, and paid to the United States by such vendor in the same manner as provided in section 702. In case of failure or refusal by the vendee to pay such taxes to the vendor, the vendor shall report the facts to the commissioner, who shall cause collection of such taxes to be made from the vendee.

Sec. 611. Final agreements

The commissioner (or any officer or employee of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, including the field service, authorized in writing by the commissioner) is authorized to enter into an agreement in writing with any person relating to the liability of such person (or of the person for whom he acts) in respect of the tax imposed by this title (including the basis or method upon which such liability shall be determined or computed) for any period (past or future) specified in such agreement. If such agreement is approved by the Secretary or the Under Secretary, within such time as may be stated in such agreement, or later agreed to, such agreement shall be final and conclusive, and, except upon a showing of fraud or malfeasance, or misrepresentation of a material fact, (1) the case shall not be reopened as to the matter agreed upon, or the agreement modified, by any officer, employee, or agent of the United States, and (2) in any suit, action, or proceeding, such agreement or any determination, assessment, collection, payment, abatement, refund, or credit made in accordance therewith, shall not be annulled, modified, set aside, or disregarded; except that in its application to sales made after the date on which it is approved or agreed to, such agreement shall be held to be modified to the extent necessary to conform to any change in the law after such date.

Sec. 612. Effect of Changes in Administrative Decisions

No amendment or revocation of any regulation, ruling, or decision of the commissioner or Secretary (or any official authorized in writing by either of them to make rulings or decisions which shall be subject to this section), in force at the time of the sale of an article, shall have the effect of increasing the liability under this title of any person with respect to such sale beyond his liability determined in accordance with such regulation, ruling, or decision in force at the time of such sale.

Sec. 613. Applicability of Administrative Provisions

All provisions of law (except criminal penalties) applicable in respect of the taxes imposed by section 600 of the revenue act of 1926, shall, in so far as applicable and not inconsistent with this act, be applicable in respect of the tax imposed by this title.

Sec. 614. Penalties

Any person willfully violating any provision of this title or any provision of law, in respect of the tax imposed by this title, shall (in lieu of any other criminal penalty provided for therein) be fined an amount equal to one-half the amount of tax evaded or not paid or collected and the amount of tax evaded or not paid or collected and accounted for (or if such amount can not be determined to the satisfaction of the court, or if no tax was evaded or not paid or collected and accounted for, then not more than $1,000), or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, together with the costs of prosecution.

Sec. 615. Exclusion of Tax From Gross Income

If a licensed manufacturer or registered dealer includes in his gross income for income-tax purposes, any portion of his gross receipts paid to the United States as tax under this title, he shall be allowed such amount as a deduction from gross income for income-tax purposes; but no deduction in respect of such tax shall be otherwise allowed under section 23 (c) or (d) of Title I (income tax).

Sec. 616. Regulations

The commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, shall prescribe and publish such regulations as he may deem necessary for the enforcement of this title in so far as it relates to taxes on sales. The Secretary shall prescribe and publish such regulations as he may deem necessary for the enforcement of this title in so far as it relates to taxes which are to be levied, assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner as duties imposed by the tariff act of 1930.

REED SMOOT,
JAMES E. WATSON,
DAVID A. REED,
PAT HARRISON,
WILLIAM H. KING,

Managers on the part of the Senate.

J. W. COLLIER,
CHARLES R. CRISP,
W. C. HAWLEY,
ALLEN T. TREADWAY,

Managers on the part of the House.

The Senate, pursuant to its order of Saturday, proceeded to consider the said report.

On the question of agreeing to the same, Mr. Howell raised a point of order, viz:

1. That, with respect to Senate amendment No. 180, imposing a tax upon energy sold by private electric power companies, the conferees had exceeded their authority by including in their report a provision for a tax, not authorized by either the Senate or the House of Representatives, on domestic and commercial consumption of energy supplied by publicly owned power plants; and

2. That the conferees had exceeded their authority by imposing the tax, provided for in the section, upon the person paying for such electrical energy instead of upon the vendor, as contemplated by the Senate.

Pending debate,

Mr. Robinson of Indiana raised a question as to the presence of a quorum;

Whereupon

The Vice President directed the roll to be called;

When

Eighty Senators answered to their names, as follows:

Ashurst, Austin, Bailey, Bankhead, Barbour, Barkley, Blaine, Borah, Bratton, Bulkley, Bulow, Byrnes, Capper, Caraway, Carey, Cohen, Connally, Coolidge, Costigan, Couzens, Cutting, Dale, Davis, Dickinson, Dill, Fess, Fletcher, Frazier, George, Glass, Glenn, Goldsborough, Hale, Harrison, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Howell, Johnson, Jones, Kean, Kendrick, Keyes, King, La Follette, Lewis, Logan, McGill, McKellar, McNary, Metcalf, Moses, Neely, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Oddie, Patterson, Reed, Robinson of Arkansas, Robinson of Indiana, Schall, Sheppard, Shipstead, Shortridge, Smith, Smoot, Steiwer, Thomas of Idaho, Thomas of Oklahoma, Townsend, Trammell, Tydings, Vandenberg, Wagner, Walcott, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana, Watson, and White.

A quorum being present,
After debate, by unanimous consent,
The Vice President, in the following language, overruled the point of order:

"The Senate amendment is as follows:
"There is hereby imposed upon energy sold by privately owned, operating electric power companies a tax equivalent to 3 per cent of the price for which so sold."

"There is no provision in the Senate amendment relative to the payment of the tax by either the vendor or the purchaser, although it was doubtless the intent of the Senate that the tax should be paid by the power companies themselves. However, in a parliamentary sense, the conferees, in the absence of specific instructions by the Senate, undoubtedly have the right, in the interest of adjusting differences between the two Houses, to take the action they did in providing for payment by the purchaser.

"There is no provision in the House bill on the subject of power sold by electrical companies. Therefore, there are no restrictions upon the power of the conferees, subject, of course, to the limitations of the rule itself, in dealing with this matter. They have broader latitude and authority than would otherwise be the case. They are empowered to make any change or modification that is germane or relevant.

"The term 'new matter' contained in the rules embraces, as the Chair thinks, matter that is entirely irrelevant to the subject matter.

"The point of order is overruled."
From the decision of the Chair, Mr. Howell appealed to the Senate.

The Vice President stated the question to be, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate? and,

After debate,
It was determined in the affirmative, {Yeas----- 42
