PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL MESSAGE

The following message was received from the President of the United States by Mr. Latta, his secretary, which was read:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

It is my duty under the Constitution to transmit to the Congress information on the state of the Union and to recommend for its consideration necessary and expedient measures.

The chief influence affecting the state of the Union during the past year has been the continued world-wide economic disturbance. Our national concern has been to meet the emergencies it has created for us and to lay the foundations for recovery.

If we lift our vision beyond these immediate emergencies we find fundamental national gains even amid depression. In meeting the problems of this difficult period, we have witnessed a remarkable development of the sense of cooperation in the community. For the first time in the history of our major economic depressions there has been a notable absence of public disorders and industrial conflict. Above all there is an enlargement of social and spiritual responsibility among the people. The strains and stresses upon business have resulted in closer application, in saner policies, and in better methods. Public improvements have been carried out on a larger scale than even in normal times. The country is richer in physical property, in newly discovered resources, and in productive capacity than ever before. There has been constant gain in knowledge and education; there has been continuous advance in science and invention; there has been distinct gain in public health. Business depressions have been recurrent in the life of our country and are but transitory. The Nation has emerged from each of them with increased strength and virility because of the enlightenment they have brought, the readjustments and the larger understanding of the realities and obligations of life and work which come from them.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Both our Army and Navy have been maintained in a high state of efficiency. The ability and devotion of both officers and men sustain the highest traditions of the service. Reductions and postponements in expenditure of these departments to meet the present emergency are being made without reducing existing personnel or impairing the morale of either establishment.

The agreement between the leading naval powers for limitation of naval armaments and establishment of their relative strength and thus elimination of competitive building also implies for ourselves the gradual expansion of the deficient categories in our Navy to the parties provided in those treaties. However, none of the other nations, parties to these agreements, is to-day maintaining the full rate of construction which the treaty size of fleets would imply.

Although these agreements secured the maximum reduction of fleets which it was at that time possible to attain, I am hopeful that the naval powers, party to these agreements, will realize that establishment of relative strength in itself offers opportunity for further reduction without injury to any of them. This would be the more possible if pending negotiations are successful between France and Italy. If the world is to regain its standards of life, it must further decrease both naval and other arms. The subject will come before the General Disarmament Conference which meets in Geneva on February 2 next.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

We are at peace with the world. We have cooperated with other nations to preserve peace. The rights of our citizens abroad have been protected.

The economic depression has continued and deepened in every part of the world during the past year. In many countries political instability, excessive armaments, debts, governmental expenditures, and taxes have resulted in revolutions, in unbalanced budgets and monetary collapse and financial panics, in dumping of goods upon world markets, and in diminished consumption of commodities.

Within two years there have been revolutions or acute social disorders in 19 countries, embracing more than half the population of the world. Ten countries have been unable to meet their external obligations. In 14 countries, embracing a quarter of the world's population, former monetary standards have been temporarily abandoned. In a number of countries there have been acute financial panics or compulsory restraints upon banking. These disturbances have many roots in the dislocations from the World War. Every one of them has reacted upon us. They have sharply affected the markets and prices of our agricultural and industrial products. They have increased unemployment and greatly embarrassed our financial and credit system.

As our difficulties during the past year have plainly originated in large degree from these sources, any effort to bring about our own recuperation has dictated the necessity of cooperation by us with other nations in reasonable effort to restore world confidence and economic stability.

Cooperation of our Federal reserve system and our banks with the central banks in foreign countries has contributed to localize and ameliorate a number of serious financial crises or moderate the pressures upon us and thus avert disasters which would have affected us.

The economic crisis in Germany and central Europe last June rose to the dimensions of a general panic from which it was apparent that without assistance these nations must collapse. Apprehensions of such collapse had demoralized our agricultural and security markets and so threatened other nations as to impose further dangers upon us. But of highest importance was the necessity of cooperation on our part to relieve the people of Germany from imminent disasters and to maintain their important relations to progress and stability in the world. Upon the initiative of this Government a year's postponement of reparations and other intergovernmental debts was brought about. Upon our further initiative an agreement was made by Germany's private creditors providing for an extension of such credits until the German people can develop more permanent and definite forms of relief.

We have continued our policy of withdrawing our marines from Haiti and Nicaragua.

The difficulties between China and Japan have given us great concern, not alone for the maintenance of the spirit of the Kellogg-Briand pact but for the maintenance of the treaties to which we are a party assuring the territorial integrity of China. It is our purpose to assist in finding solutions sustaining the full spirit of those treaties.

I shall deal at greater length with our foreign relations in a later message.

THE DOMESTIC SITUATION

Many undertakings have been organized and forwarded during the past year to meet the new and changing emergencies which have constantly confronted us.

Broadly the community has cooperated to meet the needs of honest distress and to take such emergency measures as would sustain confidence in our financial system and would cushion the violence of liquidation in industry and commerce, thus giving time for orderly readjustment of costs, inventories, and credits without panic and widespread bankruptcy. These measures have served those purposes and will promote recovery.

In these measures we have striven to mobilize and stimulate private initiative and local and community responsibility. There has been the least possible Government entry into the economic field, and that only in temporary and emergency form. Our citizens and our local governments have given a magnificent display of unity and action, initiative and patriotism in solving a multitude of difficulties and in cooperating with the Federal Government.

For a proper understanding of my recommendations to the Congress it is desirable very briefly to review such activities during the past year.

The emergencies of unemployment have been met by action in many directions. The appropriations for the continued speeding up of the great Federal construction program have provided direct and indirect aid to employment upon a large scale. By organized unity of action the States and municipalities have also maintained large programs of public improvement. Many industries have been prevailed upon to anticipate and intensify construction. Industrial concerns and other employers have been organized to spread available work amongst all their employees, instead of discharging a portion of them. A large majority have maintained wages at as high levels as the safe conduct of their business would permit. This course has saved us from industrial conflict and disorder which have characterized all previous depressions. Immigration has been curtailed by administrative action. Upon the basis of normal immigration the decrease amounts to about 300,000 individuals who otherwise would have been added to our unemployment. The expansion of Federal employment agencies under appropriations by the Congress has proved most effective. Through the President's organization for unemployment relief, public and private agencies were successfully mobilized last winter to provide employment and other measures against distress. Similar organization gives assurance against suffering during the coming winter. Committees of leading citizens are now active at practically every point of unemployment. In the large majority they have been assured the funds necessary which, together with local government aids, will meet the situation. A few exceptional localities will be further organized. The evidence of the Public Health Service shows an actual decrease of sickness and infant and general mortality below normal years. No greater proof could be adduced that our people have been protected from hunger and cold and that the sense of social responsibility in the Nation has responded to the need of the unfortunate.

To meet the emergencies in agriculture the loans authorized by Congress for rehabilitation in the drought areas have enabled farmers to produce abundant crops in those districts. The Red Cross undertook and magnificently administered relief for over 2,500,000 drought sufferers last winter. It has undertaken this year to administer relief to 100,000 sufferers in the new drought area of certain Northwest States. The action of the Federal Farm Board in granting credits to farm cooperatives saved many of them from bankruptcy and increased their purpose and strength. By enabling farm cooperatives to cushion the fall in prices of farm products in 1930 and 1931 the board secured higher prices to the farmer than would have been obtained otherwise, although the benefits of this action were partially defeated by continued world overproduction. Incident to this action the failure of a large number of farmers and of country banks was averted which could quite possibly have spread into a major disaster. The banks in the South have cooperated with the Farm Board in creation of a pool for the better marketing of accumulated cotton. Growers have been materially assisted by this action. Constant effort has been made to reduce overproduction in relief of agriculture and to promote the foreign buying of agricultural products by sustaining economic stability abroad.

To meet our domestic emergencies in credit and banking arising from the reaction to acute crises abroad the National Credit Association was set up by the banks with resources of $500,000,000 to support sound banks against the frightened withdrawals and hoarding. It is giving aid to reopen solvent banks which have been closed. Federal officials have brought about many beneficial unions of banks and have employed other means which have prevented many bank closings. As a result of these measures the hoarding withdrawals which had risen to over $250,000,000 per week after the British crisis have substantially ceased.

FURTHER MEASURES

The major economic forces and weaknesses at home and abroad have now been exposed and can be appraised, and the time is ripe for forward action to expedite our recovery.

Although some of the causes of our depression are due to speculation, inflation of securities and real estate, unsound foreign investments, and mismanagement of financial institutions, yet our self-contained national economy, with its matchless strength and resources, would have enabled us to recover long since but for the continued dislocations, shocks, and setbacks from abroad.

Whatever the causes may be, the vast liquidation and readjustments which have taken place have left us with a large degree of credit paralysis, which, together with the situation in our railways and the conditions abroad, are now the outstanding obstacles to recuperation. If we can put our financial resources to work and can ameliorate the financial situation in the railways, I am confident we can make a large measure of recovery independent of the rest of the world. A strong America is the highest contribution to world stability.

One phase of the credit situation is indicated in the banks. During the past year banks representing 3 per cent of our total deposits have been closed. A large part of these failures have been caused by withdrawals for hoarding, as distinguished from the failures early in the depression where weakness due to mismanagement was the larger cause of failure. Despite their closing, many of them will pay in full. Although such withdrawals have practically ceased, yet $1,100,000,000 of currency was previously withdrawn which has still to return to circulation. This represents a large reduction of the ability of our banks to extend credit which would otherwise fertilize industry and agriculture. Furthermore, many of our bankers, in order to prepare themselves to meet possible withdrawals, have felt compelled to call in loans, to refuse new credits, and to realize upon securities, which in turn has demoralized the markets. The paralysis has been further augmented by the steady increase in recent years of the proportion of bank assets invested in long-term securities, such as mortgages and bonds. These securities tend to lose their liquidity in depression or temporarily to fall in value so that the ability of the banks to meet the shock of sudden withdrawal is greatly lessened and the restriction of all kinds of credit is thereby increased. The continuing credit paralysis has operated to accentuate the deflation and liquidation of commodities, real estate, and securities below any reasonable basis of values.

All of this tends to stifle business, especially the smaller units, and finally expresses itself in further depression of prices and values, in restriction on new enterprise, and in increased unemployment.

The situation largely arises from an unjustified lack of confidence. We have enormous volumes of idle money in the banks and in hoarding. We do not require more money or working capital—we need to put what we have to work.

The fundamental difficulties which have brought about financial strains in foreign countries do not exist in the United States. No external drain on our resources can threaten our position, because the balance of international payments is in our favor; we owe less to foreign countries than they owe to us; our industries are efficiently organized; our currency and bank deposits are protected by the greatest gold reserve in history.

Our first step toward recovery is to reestablish confidence and thus restore the flow of credit which is the very basis of our economic life. We must put some steel beams in the foundations of our credit structure. It is our duty to apply the full strength of our Government not only to the immediate phases, but to provide security against shocks and the repetition of the weaknesses which have been proven.

The recommendations which I here lay before the Congress are designed to meet these needs by strengthening financial, industrial, and agricultural life through the medium of our existing institutions, and thus to avoid the entry of the Government into competition with private business.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT FINANCE

The first requirement of confidence and of economic recovery is financial stability of the United States Government. I shall deal with fiscal questions at greater length in the Budget message. But I must at this time call attention to the magnitude of the deficits which have developed and the resulting necessity for determined and courageous policies. These deficits arise in the main from the heavy decrease in tax receipts due to the depression and to the increase in expenditure on construction in aid to unemployment, aids to agriculture, and upon services to veterans.

During the fiscal year ending June 30 last we incurred a deficit of about $903,000,000, which included the statutory reduction of the debt and represented an increase of the national debt by $616,000,000. Of this, however, $153,000,000 is offset by increased cash balances.

In comparison with the fiscal year 1928 there is indicated a fall in Federal receipts for the present fiscal year amounting to $1,683,000,000, of which $1,034,000,000 is in individual and corporate income taxes alone. During this fiscal year there will be an increased expenditure, as compared to 1928, on veterans of $255,000,000, and an increased expenditure on construction work which may reach $520,000,000. Despite large economies in other directions, we have an indicated deficit, including the statutory retirement of the debt, of $2,123,000,000, and an indicated net debt increase of about $1,711,000,000.

The Budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, after allowing for some increase of taxes under the present laws and after allowing for drastic reduction in expenditures, still indicates a deficit of $1,417,000,000. After offsetting the statutory debt retirements this would indicate an increase in the national debt for the fiscal year 1933 of about $921,000,000.

Several conclusions are inevitable. We must have insistent and determined reduction in Government expenses. We must face a temporary increase in taxes. Such increase should not cover the whole of these deficits or it will retard recovery. We must partially finance the deficit by borrowing. It is my view that the amount of taxation should be fixed so as to balance the Budget for 1933 except for the statutory debt retirement. Such Government receipts would assure the balance of the following year's budget including debt retirement. It is my further view that the additional taxation should be imposed solely as an emergency measure terminating definitely two years from July 1 next. Such a basis will give confidence in the determination of the Government to stabilize its finance and will assure taxpayers of its temporary character. Even with increased taxation, the Government will reach the utmost safe limit of its borrowing capacity by the expenditures for which we are already obligated and the recommendations here proposed. To go further than these limits in either expenditures, taxes, or borrowing will destroy confidence, denude commerce and industry of its resources, jeopardize the financial system, and actually extend unemployment and demoralize agriculture rather than relieve it.

FEDERAL LAND BANKS

I recommend that the Congress authorize the subscription by the Treasury of further capital to the Federal land banks to be retired as provided in the original act, or when funds are available, and that repayments of such capital be treated as a fund available for further subscriptions in the same manner. It is urgent that the banks be supported so as to stabilize the market values of their bonds and thus secure capital for the farmers at low rates, that they may continue their services to agriculture and that they may meet the present situation with consideration to the farmers.

DEPOSITS IN CLOSED BANKS

A method should be devised to make available quickly to depositors some portion of their deposits in closed banks as the assets of such banks may warrant. Such provision would go far to relieve distress in a multitude of families, would stabilize values in many communities, and would liberate working capital to thousands of concerns. I recommend that measures be enacted promptly to accomplish these results and I suggest that the Congress should consider the development of such a plan through the Federal reserve banks.

HOME-LOAN DISCOUNT BANKS

I recommend the establishment of a system of home-loan discount banks as the necessary companion in our financial structure of the Federal reserve banks and our Federal land banks. Such action will relieve present distressing pressures against home and farm property owners. It will relieve pressures upon and give added strength to building and loan associations, saving banks, and deposit banks, engaged in extending such credits. Such action would further decentralize our credit structure. It would revive residential construction and employment. It would enable such loaning institutions more effectually to promote home ownership. I discussed this plan at some length in a statement made public November 14, last. This plan has been warmly indorsed by the recent National Conference upon Home Ownership and Housing, whose members were designated by the governors of the States and the groups interested.

RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION

In order that the public may be absolutely assured and that the Government may be in position to meet any public necessity, I recommend that an emergency reconstruction corporation of the nature of the former War Finance Corporation should be established. It may not be necessary to use such an instrumentality very extensively. The very existence of such a bulwark will strengthen confidence. The Treasury should be authorized to subscribe a reasonable capital to it, and it should be given authority to issue its own debentures. It should be placed in liquidation at the end of two years. Its purpose is that by strengthening the weak spots to thus liberate the full strength of the Nation's resources. It should be in position to facilitate exports by American agencies; make advances to agricultural credit agencies where necessary to protect and aid the agricultural industry; to make temporary advances upon proper securities to established industries, railways, and financial institutions which can not otherwise secure credit, and where such advances will protect the credit structure and stimulate employment. Its functions would not overlap those of the National Credit Corporation.

FEDERAL RESERVE ELIGIBILITY

On October 6 I issued a statement that I should recommend to the Congress an extension during emergencies of the eligibility provisions in the Federal reserve act. This statement was approved by a representative gathering of the Members of both Houses of the Congress, including members of the appropriate committees. It was approved by the officials of the Treasury Department, and I understand such an extension has been approved by a majority of the governors of the Federal reserve banks. Nothing should be done which would lower the safeguards of the system.

The establishment of the mortgage-discount banks herein referred to will also contribute to further reserve strength in the banks without inflation.

BANKING LAWS

Our people have a right to a banking system in which their deposits shall be safeguarded and the flow of credit less subject to storms. The need of a sounder system is plainly shown by the extent of bank failures. I recommend the prompt improvement of the banking laws. Changed financial conditions and commercial practices must be met. The Congress should investigate the need for separation between different kinds of banking; an enlargement of branch banking under proper restrictions; and the methods by which enlarged membership in the Federal reserve system may be brought about.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS

The postal savings deposits have increased from about $200,000,000 to about $550,000,000 during the past year. This experience has raised important practical questions in relation to deposits and investments which should receive the attention of the Congress.

RAILWAYS

The railways present one of our immediate and pressing problems. They are and must remain the backbone of our transportation system. Their prosperity is interrelated with the prosperity of all industries. Their fundamental service in transportation, the volume of their employment, their buying power for supplies from other industries, the enormous investment in their securities, particularly their bonds, by insurance companies, savings banks, benevolent and other trusts, all reflect their partnership in the whole economic fabric. Through these institutions the railway bonds are in a large sense the investment of every family. The well-maintained and successful operation and the stability of railway finances are of primary importance to economic recovery. They should have more effective opportunity to reduce operating costs by proper consolidation. As their rates must be regulated in public interest, so also approximate regulation should be applied to competing services by some authority. The methods of their regulation should be revised. The Interstate Commerce Commission has made important and far-reaching recommendations upon the whole subject, which I commend to the early consideration of the Congress.

ANTITRUST LAWS

In my message of a year ago I commented on the necessity of congressional inquiry into the economic action of the antitrust laws. There is wide conviction that some change should be made especially in the procedure under these laws. I do not favor their repeal. Such action would open wide the door to price fixing, monopoly, and destruction of healthy competition. Particular attention should be given to the industries founded upon natural resources, especially where destructive competition produces great wastes of these resources and brings great hardships upon operators, employees, and the public. In recent years there has been continued demoralization in the bituminous coal, oil, and lumber industries. I again commend the matter to the consideration of the Congress.

UNEMPLOYMENT

As an aid to unemployment the Federal Government is engaged in the greatest program of public-building, harbor, flood-control, highway, waterway, aviation, merchant and naval ship construction in all history. Our expenditures on these works during this calendar year will reach about $780,000,000 compared with $260,000,000 in 1928. Through this increased construction, through the maintenance of a full complement of Federal employees, and through services to veterans it is estimated that the Federal taxpayer is now directly contributing to the livelihood of 10,000,000 of our citizens.

We must avoid burdens upon the Government which will create more unemployment in private industry than can be gained by further expansion of employment by the Federal Government. We can now stimulate employment and agriculture more effectual and speedily through the voluntary measures in progress, through the thawing out of credit, through the building up of stability abroad, through the home loan discount banks, through an emergency finance corporation and the rehabilitation of the railways and other such directions.

I am opposed to any direct or indirect Government dole. The breakdown and increased unemployment in Europe is due in part to such practices. Our people are providing against distress from unemployment in true American fashion by a magnificent response to public appeal and by action of the local governments.

GENERAL LEGISLATION

There are many other subjects requiring legislative action at this session of the Congress. I may list the following among them:

VETERANS' SERVICES

The law enacted last March authorizing loans of 50 per cent upon adjusted-service certificates has, together with the loans made under previous laws, resulted in payments of about $1,260,000,000. Appropriations have been exhausted. The Administrator of Veterans' Affairs advises that a further appropriation of $200,000,000 is required at once to meet the obligations made necessary by existing legislation.

There will be demands for further veterans' legislation; there are inequalities in our system of veterans' relief; it is our national duty to meet our obligations to those who have served the Nation. But our present expenditure upon these services now exceeds $1,000,000,000 per annum. I am opposed to any extension of these expenditures until the country has recovered from the present situation.

ELECTRICAL-POWER REGULATION

I have recommended in previous messages the effective regulation of interstate electrical power as the essential function of the reorganized Federal Power Commission. I renew the recommendation. It is urgently needed in public protection.

MUSCLE SHOALS

At my suggestion, the Governors and Legislatures of Alabama and Tennessee selected three members each for service on a committee to which I appointed a representative of the farm organizations and two representatives of the War Department for the purpose of recommending a plan for the disposal of these properties which would be in the interest of the people of those States and the agricultural industry throughout the country. I shall transmit the recommendations to the Congress.

REORGANIZATION OF FEDERAL DEPARTMENTS

I have referred in previous messages to the profound need of further reorganization and consolidation of Federal administrative functions to eliminate overlap and waste, and to enable coordination and definition of Government policies now wholly impossible in scattered and conflicting agencies which deal with parts of the same major function. I shall lay before the Congress further recommendations upon this subject, particularly in relation to the Department of the Interior. There are two directions of such reorganization, however, which have an important bearing upon the emergency problems with which we are confronted.

SHIPPING BOARD

At present the Shipping Board exercises large administrative functions independent of the Executive. These administrative functions should be transferred to the Department of Commerce, in keeping with that single responsibility which has been the basis of our governmental structure since its foundation. There should be created in that department a position of Assistant Secretary for Merchant Marine, under whom this work and the several bureaus having to do with merchant marine may be grouped.

The Shipping Board should be made a regulatory body acting also in advisory capacity on loans and policies, in keeping with its original conception. Its regulatory powers should be amended to include regulation of coastwise shipping so as to assure stability and better service. It is also worthy of consideration that the regulation of rates and services upon the inland waterways should be assigned to such a reorganized board.

REORGANIZATION OF PUBLIC WORKS ADMINISTRATION

I recommend that all building and construction activities of the Government now carried on by many departments be consolidated into an independent establishment under the President to be known as the "Public Works Administration" directed by a public works administrator. This agency should undertake all construction work in service to the different departments of the Government (except naval and military work). The services of the Corps of Army Engineers should be delegated in rotation for military duty to this administration in continuation of their supervision of river and harbor work. Great economies, sounder policies, more effective coordination to employment, and expedition in all construction work would result from this consolidation.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

I shall present some recommendations in a special message looking to the strengthening of criminal-law enforcement and improvement in judicial procedure connected therewith.

INLAND WATERWAY AND HARBOR IMPROVEMENT

These improvements are now proceeding upon an unprecedented scale. Some indication of the volume of work in progress is conveyed by the fact that during the current year over 380,000,000 cubic yards of material have been moved—an amount equal to the entire removal in the construction of the Panama Canal. The Mississippi waterway system, connecting Chicago, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, and New Orleans, will be in full operation during 1933. Substantial progress is being made upon the projects of the upper Missouri, upper Mississippi, etc.

Negotiations are now in progress with Canada for the construction of the St. Lawrence Waterway.

THE TARIFF

Wages and standards of living abroad have been materially lowered during the past year. The temporary abandonment of the gold standard by certain countries has also reduced their production costs compared to ours. Fortunately any increases in the tariff which may be necessary to protect agriculture and industry from these lowered foreign costs, or decreases in items which may prove to be excessive, may be undertaken at any time by the Tariff Commission under authority which it possesses by virtue of the tariff act of 1930. The commission during the past year has reviewed the rates upon over 254 items subject to tariff. As a result of vigorous and industrious action, it is up to date in the consideration of pending references and is prepared to give prompt attention to any further applications. This procedure presents an orderly method for correcting inequalities. I am opposed to any general congressional revision of the tariff. Such action would disturb industry, business, and agriculture. It would prolong the depression.

IMMIGRATION AND DEPORTATION

I recommend that immigration restriction now in force under administrative action be placed upon a more definite basis by law. The deportation laws should be strengthened. Aliens lawfully in the country should be protected by the issuance of a certificate of residence.

PUBLIC HEALTH

I again call attention to my previous recommendations upon this subject, particularly in its relation to children. The moral results are of the utmost importance.

CONCLUSION

It is inevitable that in these times much of the legislation proposed to the Congress and many of the recommendations of the Executive must be designed to meet emergencies. In reaching solutions we must not jeopardize those principles which we have found to be the basis of the growth of the Nation. The Federal Government must not encroach upon nor permit local communities to abandon that precious possession of local initiative and responsibility. Again, just as the largest measure of responsibility in the Government of the Nation rests upon local self-government, so does the largest measure of social responsibility in our country rest upon the individual. If the individual surrenders his own initiative and responsibilities, he is surrendering his own freedom and his own liberty. It is the duty of the National Government to insist that both the local governments and the individual shall assume and bear these responsibilities as a fundamental of preserving the very basis of our freedom.

Many vital changes and movements of vast proportions are taking place in the economic world. The effect of these changes upon the future can not be seen clearly as yet. Of this, however, we are sure: Our system, based upon the ideals of individual initiative and of equality of opportunity, is not an artificial thing. Rather it is the outgrowth of the experience of America, and expresses the faith and spirit of our people. It has carried us in a century and a half to leadership of the economic world. If our economic system does not match our highest expectations at all times, it does not require revolutionary action to bring it into accord with any necessity that experience may prove. It has successfully adjusted itself to changing conditions in the past. It will do so again. The mobility of our institutions, the richness of our resources, and the abilities of our people enable us to meet them unafraid. It is a distressful time for many of our people, but they have shown qualities as high in fortitude, courage, and resourcefulness as ever in our history. With that spirit, I have faith that out of it will come a sounder life, a truer standard of values, a greater recognition of the results of honest effort, and a healthier atmosphere in which to rear our children. Ours must be a country of such stability and security as can not fail to carry forward and enlarge among all the people that abundant life of material and spiritual opportunity which it has represented among all nations since its beginning.

Whereas many railroads are involved in grave financial difficulties and all the railroads have sought a 15 per cent increase in freight rates; and

Whereas there is a movement now in progress to reduce the wages of all railway employees, although it appears that approximately 500,000 normally necessary railway employees are now unemployed and many thousands of others have only part-time employment, and that the present earnings of a large percentage of the employed railway workers are less than the amount necessary for a decent livelihood; and

Whereas responsible representatives of the railroads have indicated that financial assistance of the Federal Government will be sought in order to maintain the operations of many railroads, and to avoid further impairment of transportation service and further deferment of necessary maintenance with the resulting increase of unemployment; and

Whereas an emergency exists requiring that a coordinated program be developed immediately to preserve continuous and efficient railroad transportation and to avoid the imposition of intolerable burdens upon either the necessary investment or the necessary labor required to maintain this essential public service; and

Whereas there is no single agency of the Government authorized to develop such a program, or charged with full responsibility for determining the extent to which Government aid can and should be extended to meet all the needs of the present emergency: Therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That there is hereby established a joint congressional committee to be composed of the chairman, the ranking majority member, the ranking minority member, and the next ranking minority member of the Committee on Interstate Commerce of the Senate, and the chairman, the ranking majority member, the ranking minority member, and the next ranking minority member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives. TAX EXEMPTIONS OF FARMERS' COOPERATIVE ORGANIZATIONS

Mr. Norris submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 43), which was referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry:

Whereas a large number of controversies have arisen between various farmers' cooperative organizations in different parts of the country with the officials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue regarding the exemption features of the present revenue act as applied to farmers' cooperative organizations (sec. 231, par. 12, act of 1926, and a similar paragraph in the 1928 act); and

Whereas it is claimed by representatives of various farmers' cooperative organizations that the officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau are guilty of acts of intimidation against officers and employees of various farmers' cooperative organizations in that said officers and employees have been, through threats and otherwise, induced to sign affidavits and make statements concerning the financial operations of said cooperative organizations by which the said officers and employees have been frequently induced to pay taxes against such organizations when, as a matter of fact, no tax is or was due under the law; and

Whereas it is claimed on the part of the officials of farmers' cooperative organizations that the Internal Revenue Bureau is not fairly administering the tax-exemption feature of the laws which apply to such organizations but is compelling the officials of such organizations to pay taxes which have been illegally assessed; and

Whereas it is claimed by the officials of such cooperative organizations that instructions have been given these associations at variance with and contrary to the exemption features of the revenue acts governing the taxable status of farmers' cooperative organizations by which a large number of said cooperative organizations have been misled as to their legal rights and have not made claim to exemptions when, as a matter of fact, they were entitled to such exemption under the law: Therefore be it

Resolved—

(1) That the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry be, and it is hereby, authorized and directed to investigate the entire question of the exemption of farmers' cooperative organizations under the various revenue acts and ascertain whether or not the officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau have been guilty of any unfair or illegal practices in regard to the exemption features of the revenue acts as they apply to farmers' cooperative organizations.

(2) That the committee ascertain specifically whether or not the officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau have been unjust or unfair in their attempt to enforce the said revenue acts as against such farmers' cooperative organizations.

(3) That the committee ascertain whether or not the intent and spirit of the revenue act has been fairly and judicially enforced in regard to the exemption features in said law applying to farmers' cooperative organizations.

(4) That the committee ascertain whether or not such farmers' cooperative organizations have received the full benefit of the exemptions for such organizations provided for in the law, and, if they have not received such benefit, has the same been brought about by any dereliction, inefficiency, or illegal acts of any of the officials of said bureau.

Said committee is hereby authorized, in the performance of its duties, to sit at such times and places, either in the District of Columbia or elsewhere, as it deems necessary or proper. It is specifically authorized to require the attendance of witnesses by subpoena or otherwise; to require the production of books, papers, and documents; and to employ counsel, experts, clerical, and other assistants; and to employ stenographers at a cost not exceeding 25 cents per 100 words.

Said committee is hereby specifically authorized to act through any subcommittee authorized to be appointed by said committee or by the chairman thereof. The chairman of said committee or the chairman or any member of any subcommittee appointed hereunder may administer oaths to witnesses and sign subpoenas for witnesses; and every person duly summoned before said committee, or any subcommittee thereof, who refuses or fails to obey the process of said committee or who appears and refuses to answer questions pertinent to said investigation shall be punished as prescribed by law.

The expenses of said investigation, not exceeding in the aggregate $5,000, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate on vouchers signed by the chairman of the committee or the chairman of any subcommittee.

All hearings before said committee shall be public.

DISPOSAL OF SEWAGE FROM THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. Swanson submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 44), which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia:

Resolved, That the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service is requested to make an investigation of conditions resulting from the present method of disposing of sewage from the District of Columbia in the Potomac River with a view to determining (1) the extent to which such disposal constitutes a menace to public health and an annoyance to the residents along the river, and destroys the fish and oysters in such river or makes them unfit for human consumption, and (2) whether there is a more suitable method of disposing of such sewage, and if so, the estimated cost thereof. The Surgeon General shall report to the Senate as soon as practicable the results of such investigation, together with his recommendations.

INVESTIGATION OF POSTAL CONDITIONS IN TENNESSEE

Mr. McKellar submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 45), which was referred to the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads:

Resolved, That the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, or any subcommittee thereof, is hereby authorized and directed to make an investigation of postal conditions, postal appointments, and postal employees in the State of Tennessee, and to ascertain whether or not charges of political activity or of enforced contributions from postal employees or other practices hurtful to the service have been carried on in said State.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places, to employ such experts and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, to take such testimony, and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services in reporting such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $1,000, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman.

INVESTIGATION OF OPERATION OF ANTITRUST LAWS

Mr. McKellar submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 46), which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas the President of the United States in his message to the Congress on December 2, 1930, among other things, recommended as follows: "I recommend that the Congress institute an inquiry into some aspects of the economic working of these laws," meaning the antitrust laws; and

Whereas the President again said in this same message, "I therefore suggest that an inquiry be directed especially to the effect of the workings of the antitrust laws in these particular fields to determine if these evils can be remedied without sacrifice of the fundamental purpose of these laws"; and

Whereas the conditions of depression and unemployment in the United States are generally believed to be in a considerable measure due to the combinations, mergers, chain organizations, interlocking directorates, holding companies, price or cost fixing associations, financial foundation associations, and uniform controls of business, banking, manufacturing, and commercial corporations of almost every kind and description; and

Whereas it is desirable not only to carry out the President's recommendations but to have an investigation of the operation and enforcement of the antitrust laws generally; and

Whereas it is the opinion of many that very numerous organizations, price or cost fixing associations, combinations, mergers, chain organizations, interlocking directorates, holding companies, financial foundation associations, and uniform controls are in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws and the Clayton antitrust laws: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate, or any duly appointed subcommittee thereof, is hereby authorized and directed to hold hearings and to investigate and report to the Senate at the earliest practicable moment—

First. Whether or not the "interpretation of the antitrust laws by the courts, the changes in business, especially in the economic effects upon these enterprises closely related to the use of the natural resources of the country" require a change in said antitrust laws.

Second. Whether or not the Sherman antitrust laws and the Clayton antitrust laws, and any other antitrust law on the Federal statute books are being violated, and if they are being violated to what extent is the Department of Justice prosecuting the same; whether or not they are prosecuting some violators and not prosecuting other violators; whether they are compromising or adjusting and making terms with some violators by consent court decrees, opinions, or otherwise; and if some violators are not being prosecuted by the department, why the same are not being prosecuted.

Third. Whether or not in any cases brought by the Government against alleged trusts orders or decrees have been agreed upon by the Department of Justice permitting such illegal combinations to continue when claimed to be used only for the purpose of creating credit protection; and the committee will return as full a list of such cases as possible and report all information concerning such cases in which said laws have been modified by consent decrees if such has been done.

Fourth. Whether or not the Department of Justice has rendered any opinion, written or verbal, expressed or implied, to any illegal price or cost fixing association, gentleman's-to agreement association, credit-protection association, or any other organization having similar purposes that the proposed acts of such associations would or would not constitute a violation of the antitrust laws; and the committee will report all the pertinent facts relative thereto.

Fifth. Whether or not there is now in existence any understanding or agreement between said associations, or any of them, and the Department of Justice relative to the enforcement by the said department, or partial enforcement by the said Department of Justice, of the antitrust laws of the United States.

Sixth. Whether or not the existence of any such combinations, mergers, chain organizations, interlocking directorates, price or cost fixing associations, financial foundation associations, holding companies, chain banks, or uniform controls or combinations, if any such are found, have interfered with or are now interfering with or stifling free competition or are bringing about monopoly.

Seventh. The committee, after making such investigation and reporting its findings of fact and its conclusions, will make such recommendations as it may deem fit and proper looking to the repeal, in whole or in part, of said antitrust laws as recommended by the President or the retention of such laws or the strengthening of such laws, and especially as to the strict enforcement of such laws.

For the purpose of this resolution the said committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings in Washington or elsewhere in the United States, to sit and act at such times and places either while Congress is in session or at any recess thereof, to employ expert counsel, to employ other experts and clerical, stenographic, or other assistance; to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of books, papers, and documents as the committee may deem necessary, to administer such oaths, to take such testimony, and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable, to the end that the fullest investigation, report, and recommendations may be had.

The cost of stenographic services in reporting such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words, the cost of expert counsel shall not be in excess of $25,000, and the cost of the entire inquiry shall not exceed the sum of $50,000 and shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers reported by the chairman.

INVESTIGATION OF SALES OF UNITED STATES SHIPS

Mr. McKellar submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 47), which was referred to the Committee on Commerce:

Resolved, That a special committee of five Senators, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, is authorized and directed to make a thorough investigation into all the acts and doings of the United States Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet Corporation, and especially into the question of sales of ships by the board, the prices secured, the terms under which ships have been sold, the character and responsibility of the purchasers, the change in terms, the sale of ships to combinations of shipping interests, if such sales have been made, and all other facts relating to the conduct of the board and of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

For the purposes of this resolution such committee or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof is authorized to hold hearings, to sit and act at such times and places during the sessions and recesses of the Senate until its report is submitted, to employ such experts and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, and to take such testimony and make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per 100 words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $10,000, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman.

INVESTIGATION OF AIR AND OCEAN MAIL CONTRACTS

Mr. McKellar submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 48), which was referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate:

Whereas charges have been openly made in the Senate of improper sea mail contracts in Senate Document No. 210, Seventy-first Congress, entitled "The Truth About the Postal Contracts"; and

Whereas a reply has been made by the Shipping Board and still further charges have been made and published in the Record; and

Whereas charges have also been made in reference to postal air mail contracts; and

Whereas the use of mail tubes, especially from airports, has been a matter of consideration by the Senate; and

Whereas by action of the Postmaster General the Interstate Commerce Commission has before it a proposal to increase by $7,000,000 the parcel-post rates; and

Whereas under the post-office building program few buildings in the smaller towns are being erected: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, or any duly elected subcommittee thereof elected by the full committee, is hereby authorized to investigate during the present session of Congress or any recess thereof, to hold hearings at such times and places as such committee may deem proper, and investigate fully the questions:

1. Of all air mail contracts.
2. Of all ocean mail contracts.
3. Of the use of mail tubes in cities, including the transmission of mail from airports to post offices.
4. Of the necessity or expediency of increasing rates on parcel post or other kind of mail matter.
5. Also the question of erecting buildings in small towns.

And the said committee will report its findings to the present session of Congress.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly elected subcommittee thereof, elected as aforesaid, is authorized to hold hearings, to sit and act at such times and places, to employ such experts and clerical, stenographic, and other assistance, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses, and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, to take such testimony, and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services in reporting such hearings shall not exceed 25 cents per hundred words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $25,000, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD'S DEALINGS WITH COTTON SITUATION

Mr. McKellar submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 49):

Whereas in the hearings held before the Appropriations Committee of the Senate evidence was offered showing that the prices of farm products have constantly declined since the institution of the Farm Board; and

Whereas it developed in those hearings that the Farm Board was backing cooperative associations in cotton, which associations were not entirely responsible financially; that only four of them were responsible financially; and

Whereas it developed that the Farm Board had taken over through cotton stabilization corporations 1,300,000 bales of cotton which, in the opinion of all witnesses, constitutes a menace to the price of cotton in the particular way in which it is now being held; and

Whereas it was shown that the cost of handling cotton by the cooperative associations was as great or greater than it was under the former system of dealing with this product; and

Whereas it developed in said hearings that the cotton cooperative associations were using funds secured from the Government with which to buy cotton futures and to engage in speculation on the cotton market; and

Whereas it happens that an actual corner was created nearly a year ago in the cotton market, requiring several thousand bales of cotton which had already been shipped abroad to be returned to America to meet such speculative situation; and

Whereas it is admitted on all sides that the Federal Government already has a loss in the dealings of the Farm Board on the cotton market of something like $45,000,000: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Vice President shall, and he is hereby authorized to, name a committee of five Senators, which committee shall investigate the subject of the Farm Board's dealings with the entire cotton situation, such committee being hereby authorized and empowered to sit in recess at such times and places as it may fix and report its findings to the present session of Congress.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places, to employ such experts and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, to take such testimony, and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services in reporting such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $20,000, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman.

Ordered, That the resolution lie on the table.

THE BUDGET

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read, and, with the accompanying document, referred to the Committee on Appropriations and ordered to be printed.

To the Congress of the United States:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the Budget of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933. The receipts and expenditures shown in detail in the Budget are summarized in the following statement:

Summary of receipts and expenditures (exclusive of postal revenues and postal expenditures paid from postal revenues)

	1933	1932	1931
General fund receipts.....	$2,473,515,772.00	$2,204,257,200.00	$3,103,336,105.16
Special fund receipts.....	103,014,430.00	34,621,600.00	86,303,975.14
Total, general and special fund receipts.....	2,576,530,202.00	2,238,878,800.00	3,189,640,080.30
General fund expenditures.....	3,889,223,050.00	4,284,411,800.00	3,987,148,133.52
Special fund expenditures.....	107,449,400.00	77,428,000.00	104,515,774.89
Total, general and special fund expenditures.....	3,996,672,450.00	4,361,839,800.00	4,091,663,908.41
Excess of general and special fund expenditures over general and special fund receipts.....	1,420,142,248.00	2,122,961,000.00	902,023,828.11
Excess of trust fund receipts over trust fund expenditures.....	3,192,800.00	277,315.00	-----
Excess of trust fund expenditures over trust fund receipts.....	-----	-----	693,016.96
Total, excess of expenditures.....	1,416,949,448.00	2,122,683,685.00	902,716,845.07

From this statement it will be seen that, in spite of an estimated increase of over $337,000,000 in receipts for next year and an estimated reduction in expenditures of more than $365,000,000, a large excess of expenditures is still indicated for the fiscal year 1933 under present laws. This condition requires that I make, in accordance with section 202 of the Budget and accounting act, recommendations to Congress for new taxes, loans, or other appropriate action to meet the estimated deficiency. My recommendations appear later in this message.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, the receipts, originally estimated at $3,956,000,000, are now expected to fall of realization because of the severity of the depression and will fall below the estimates by $1,717,000,000. The principal elements entering into this decline in revenues are income-tax receipts, $1,140,000,000; customs receipts, $202,000,000; miscellaneous internal-revenue receipts, $132,000,000; and postponement of payments of principal and interest on the foreign debt, $247,000,000.

Expenditures are expected to increase over the original estimates by $437,000,000. This is the net difference between many items of increase and decrease. The principal increases, in part due to subsequent legislation, include added benefits to veterans, $135,000,000; speeding up of public works to aid unemployment, $160,000,000; Federal Farm Board revolving loan fund, $80,000,000; interest on the public debt, $24,000,000; postal deficit, $81,000,000; and settlements under the war claims act, $37,000,000. There are many other individual items of increase over the expenditures estimated a year ago which would materially swell the total of increases. Rigid reduction of expenses elsewhere supplemented by decreases in public-debt expenditures on account of the moratorium and smaller tax refunds than were originally estimated serve to offset the total increases. These changes in receipts and expenditures indicate a deficit of $2,123,000,000, which includes statutory debt retirement, or a probable net debt increase of $1,711,000,000.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, the actual receipts fell short of those estimated a year ago by $516,000,000. The principal elements in this falling off were internal revenue and customs receipts which, together, account for $506,000,000. The actual expenditures exceeded those estimated for the year by $207,000,000, and may be attributed to the special legislation calling for emergency drought relief and increased public works to relieve unemployment, coupled with the advance payment of $112,000,000 to the adjusted-service certificate fund, offset in part by reductions and economies in other directions. The net result was a deficit of $902,000,000, which included $440,000,000 for statutory debt retirement, or a net increase in the debt of $462,000,000, plus additional cash in the Treasury of $153,000,000, or a total debt increase of $615,000,000.

TAXES

We are now face to face with a situation where for a time the current revenues of the Government under our existing laws have fallen below the amounts required to meet the absolutely necessary expenses. This brings the question directly before us of the course that shall be pursued. As already stated, the deficit for the fiscal year 1931 is $902,000,000 and the estimated deficits for 1932, $2,123,000,000, and 1933, $1,417,000,000, or a total of $4,442,000,000, which, after deducting statutory debt redemptions and increased cash in the Treasury, show for these three fiscal years a total probable net increase in the national debt of $3,247,000,000. Rightly or wrongly, our tax system is very largely based upon business profits and in consequence is subject to great variables.

We can not maintain public confidence nor stability of the Federal Government without undertaking some temporary tax increases. It is obviously impossible to impose a degree of taxation which will balance the Budget for the current fiscal year. We should endeavor by increase of taxes and rigid curtailment of expenditures to balance the Budget for the next fiscal year except to the extent of the amount required for statutory debt retirements. We should assure its balance, including statutory debt retirements, for the fiscal year following:

I recommend that Congress provide for an increase in taxation for a definite limited period and upon the general plan of taxation which existed under the revenue act of 1924 with such changes as may be appropriate in the light of altered conditions. The Secretary of the Treasury has prepared recommendations along these lines which he will present at the proper time. It is proposed that this increase shall be definitely terminated in two years from next July. This plan, it is estimated, will realize $920,000,000 next year and thus meet the above conditions of balancing the Budget for the fiscal year 1933 except for the statutory debt retirement. It would balance the Budget including debt retirement in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1933. It would provide about $390,000,000 for the current year, leaving us with the necessity of borrowing an amount which will represent a net increase in the public debt by about $1,320,000,000.

The plan of approximately reenacting the revenue act of 1924 has the great advantage that the Government is equipped by experience with similar legislation for its systematic and economical collection. The public has paid such taxes in the past and has found them not intolerable and has found that they do not prevent increased prosperity. By providing a definite date for termination of the temporary increase it will allow taxpayers to look forward to definite relief.

I further recommend that Congress inquire into the economic effect of the provisions of the present law relating to capital gains and losses.

The bare comparison between appropriations proposed for the next fiscal year and those made for the current fiscal year, as shown in the above statement, fails to present a true picture of Government operations to the extent that in neither year do these appropriations represent the full amount available for expenditure, due largely to continuing appropriations from previous years. It is necessary to consider total expenditures in order to arrive at a true comparison between the two years. That comparison is given in the opening paragraph of this message and shows that the expenditures for 1933 are estimated at $365,000,000 less than those for the current fiscal year.

In framing this Budget I have proceeded on the basis that the estimates for 1933 should ask for only the minimum amounts which are absolutely essential for the operation of the Government under existing law, after making due allowance for continuing appropriations. The appropriation estimates for 1933 reflect a drastic curtailment of the expenses of Federal activities in all directions where a consideration of the public welfare would permit it. Even with such reductions in the estimates of appropriations the anticipated receipts under existing law, as stated above, will be $1,417,000,000 short of the amount needed to meet Federal expenditures, including statutory debt retirement.

In viewing our financial requirements for 1933 the fact should not be overlooked that of the total of $3,942,000,000 of the estimates of appropriations payable from the Treasury contained in this Budget, $1,285,000,000 is represented by permanent definite and indefinite appropriations which by law are automatically made each year without further action by the Congress. Taking into consideration that in addition to this sum of $1,285,000,000 of permanent definite and indefinite appropriations there are other expenditures of the nature of fixed charges amounting to approximately $1,000,000,000 for which annual estimates of appropriations must be submitted, there is in reality an area of only about $1,700,000,000 of the total of $3,942,000,000 presented in this Budget which is available for consideration in seeking means to curtail our expenditures.

SHIPPING BOARD

The estimates for the Shipping Board for 1933 show a decrease from the appropriations for 1932 of $36,972,000. This is due mainly to the fact that no further appropriation is needed at this time for the construction loan fund for which $35,000,000 was appropriated in 1932, it being contemplated that the unexpended balance of that appropriation, together with repayments of loans and sales receipts transferred to the fund, will be sufficient to meet expenditures from the fund during 1933. For the shipping fund for which $1,970,000 was appropriated in 1932, no estimate for a further appropriation is being presented, as it is expected that the operating loss for 1933, which is estimated at about $5,250,000, can be met by utilizing cash balances and reserves.

VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION

There is requested in this Budget a total of slightly more than $1,072,000,000 for the Veterans' Administration, compared with a total appropriation for 1932 of approximately $947,000,000. About $21,000,000 of each of these amounts pertains to the civil-service retirement and disability fund and is not properly chargeable to the annual cost of caring for our veterans, which thus becomes $926,000,000 for 1932 and $1,051,000,000 for 1933. Comparison of these amounts indicates on its face a net increase of $125,000,000 for 1933. However, it is now known that additional appropriations will be required for the fiscal year 1932 to the approximate amount of $260,000,000, of which $200,000,000 is to meet obligations due to the increase in the loan value of adjusted-service certificates and $60,000,000 to meet the requirements for military and naval compensation, Army and Navy pensions, and aid to State and Territorial homes for disabled veterans.

Taking these supplemental requirements for 1932 into consideration, the above indicated net increase of $125,000,000 becomes a net decrease of approximately $135,000,000. This net decrease, however, is due largely to the adjusted-service certificate fund requirements, which are $162,000,000 less for 1933. If the adjusted-service certificate fund be excluded from both 1932 and 1933, the estimates for 1933 represent an ultimate net increase over 1932 of $27,000,000. This amount is the net difference between several items of increase and decrease. The principal item of increase is found in military and naval compensations, which is up $42,000,000. Resulting from the increase in hospital and domiciliary facilities, the cost of administration, medical, hospital, and domiciliary services shows an increase of $4,460,000, and there is a further increase of $1,527,000 in the items for hospital and domiciliary facilities. Offsetting these increases is a decrease of $9,000,000 in Army and Navy pensions, $4,500,000 in military and naval insurance, and $7,762,000 in the Government life-insurance fund.

AGRICULTURE

The estimates for the Department of Agriculture for 1933 carry approximately $49,800,000 less than the appropriations for 1932. This decrease is accounted for in part by the fact that the 1932 appropriations contained $22,000,000 for seed loans and agricultural relief for which no estimate is required for 1933. There is a further reduction of $20,000,000 in the 1933 estimates from the 1932 appropriations for Federal-aid roads and forest roads and trails, as the regular programs for these works under existing authorizations were advanced to that extent in 1931 and 1932 by the funds made available in the emergency construction appropriations. The balance of the decrease is reflected in a reduction of $1,750,000 in the estimate for the acquisition of additional forest lands and $4,800,000 for other activities of the department.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

The estimates for practically all of the organization units in the Treasury Department for the fiscal year 1933 are less than the appropriations for 1932, the notable exception being an increase of $57,400,000 in the items for the construction of new Federal buildings authorized and now in some stage of development and for the operation and maintenance of completed buildings. The principal items of decrease are $26,000,000 for refunding internal-revenue taxes illegally collected, funds now available for this purpose being considered sufficient for the fiscal year 1933; $3,200,000 for the Coast Guard, due principally to the completion of its programs for the construction of buildings and vessels; $934,000 for customs administration, as a result of falling receipts; and $512,000 for the Public Health Service, due principally to nonrecurring expenditures for equipping new hospitals and quarantine stations.

The prospective operations under permanent indefinite appropriation items in the fiscal year 1933 will be largely in excess of the current year. To provide for interest on our enlarged public debt, $35,000,000 additional will be required. Public-debt retirements required to be made from ordinary receipts will require $85,000,000 additional for the purposes of the cumulative sinking fund, receipts from foreign governments to be applied to debt retirements, and retirements from franchise-tax receipts from Federal reserve banks.

The Federal public building program authorized by the act of May 25, 1926, as amended, is being advanced in a marked degree in furtherance of the movement for the relief of the unemployed. The total authorizations now amount to $620,000,000 in addition to the amounts authorized for certain old projects specifically brought into the program by the original act and amounting to upward of $9,000,000. Of the total amount authorized $190,000,000 is for land and buildings in the District of Columbia. Moreover, at places where abandoned sites and buildings are sold the proceeds are to be applied against the cost of the new project. The estimated sale value of sites and buildings to be so replaced amounts to approximately $69,000,000 and about $6,700,000 has been realized from such sales up to the present time.

In accordance with the provisions of the legislation above referred to specific authorizations have been made for 817 projects at limits of cost aggregating $466,800,000. Under authority of these authorizations obligations have been incurred, up to June 30, 1931, amounting to $175,560,000, of which $73,633,000 were incurred in the fiscal year 1931. It is expected that obligations to be incurred in the fiscal year 1932 will amount to $155,000,000, and if this is brought about there will be a balance of over $136,000,000 available for obligation in the fiscal year 1933. It is apparent, therefore, that specific authorizations for individual projects already made are sufficient to carry the construction program through the fiscal year 1933.

To finance the projects which have been specifically authorized, on the basis of providing for maturing obligations, appropriations aggregating $207,030,000 have been made. The total expenditures thereunder to the close of the fiscal year 1931 amounted to $117,890,000, leaving an unexpended balance of $89,140,000, and it is estimated that $140,000,000 additional will be required to meet payments which will become due up to the close of the fiscal year 1933. To provide the additional funds which will be necessary to meet payments to the close of the fiscal year 1932 a supplemental estimate for $20,000,000 will be transmitted to Congress for consideration in connection with the first deficiency bill, and $120,000,000 is included in this Budget for payments to be made in the fiscal year 1933.

In addition to the building program referred to above, additional appropriations aggregating $28,680,000 have been made for the purchase of land in the District of Columbia. The expenditures thereunder to the close of the fiscal year 1931 amounted to $22,569,000, leaving an unexpended balance of $6,111,000 available for subsequent purchases. Additional appropriations under this authorization are not required at this time.

The War Department is also carrying forward a building program for the housing of military personnel, for hospitals, utilities, and administration activities, and for technical buildings for the Air Corps made necessary by the need for replacing World War temporary construction and to provide generally for the increase in the pre-war strength of the Regular Army, including the expansion of the Air Corps. There has already been appropriated $89,311,000 which, with the contract authorization of not to exceed $3,000,000 contained in the War Department appropriation act for 1932, practically exhausts the authorizations so far granted by law for continuing the program. The estimates for 1933 carry $2,250,000 to meet obligations under the contract authorization of $3,000,000. For the Panama Canal the estimates for 1933 provide $700,000 for new buildings and structures.

For the Veterans' Administration, this Budget provides $12,877,000 for additional hospital and domiciliary facilities. Of this amount $10,877,000 is covered by the authorization of $20,877,000 provided by the act approved March 4, 1931, leaving $5,000,000 yet to be appropriated thereunder, and $2,000,000 for completing the authorizations contained in the acts approved June 21, 1930, and July 3, 1930, for the erection of two national soldiers' homes, one in the South and one in the Northwest.

For the Navy Department, estimates aggregating $4,337,000 are included in the Budget to provide for hospitals, barracks, shop buildings, hangars, storehouses, etc.

For the Interior Department, a total of $1,815,200 is provided for new buildings, of which $642,510 is for the Indian Service, $312,700 for the National Park Service, and $860,000 for Howard University.

The estimates for the District of Columbia provide $3,818,500 for various buildings, including $1,600,000 for continuing the construction of the municipal center, $1,491,000 for school buildings, $490,000 for hospitals, and $237,500 for other purposes.

The estimates for the Department of Justice provide $962,000 for construction at the various penitentiaries and the industrial reformatory; for completion of the United States Southwestern Reformatory at El Reno, Okla., and the United States Hospital for Defective Delinquents at Springfield, Mo., $1,850,000 and $1,250,000, respectively; for Federal jails, $100,000; and for the National Training School for Boys, Washington, D. C., $124,000; a total of $4,286,000.

For the Department of State, $450,000 is provided to continue the acquisition of sites and buildings and the initial furnishing of buildings for the use of diplomatic and consular establishments and other agencies of the United States in foreign countries.

The total amount provided in this Budget for the procurement of sites and the construction of buildings is, therefore, $150,534,000—a very large increase over normal activities in this direction.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

The estimates for national defense under the War and Navy Departments for 1933 aggregate $644,650,000, as compared with the appropriations for 1932 for this purpose totaling $695,691,000, a decrease of $51,041,000. These amounts exclude all items of a nonmilitary nature.

The net decrease for the War Department amounts to $33,952,000. This is due mainly to the fact that owing to lowered commodity costs there will be carried forward into 1933 large stocks of subsistence, clothing, and other supplies, and to a decrease in the present estimates from the appropriations for 1932 of funds to carry forward the Army building program. The postponement of other projects where practicable without serious detriment to the maintenance, operation, and training of the Army has also been a material factor in effecting reductions in the estimates for 1933.

Provision is made in these estimates for average active strength of 12,000 commissioned officers, 924 warrant officers, and 118,750 enlisted men of the Regular Army, and 6,500 enlisted men of the Philippine Scouts; for an actual average strength of 185,000 officers and men of the National Guard; for the training of 20,722 members of the Organized Reserves for varying periods; for the enrollment and instruction of 127,565 students in Reserve Officers' Training Corps units in schools and colleges and the training of 7,200 of this number in 42 camps; and for 30 days' attendance at citizens' military training camps of 37,500 trainees. With one or two very minor exceptions these strengths are the same as those provided for 1932.

For the Navy Department the items contained in the estimates for purposes of national defense for 1933 amount to $342,606,000. The comparable amount appropriated for 1932 is $359,694,000. This indicates a decrease under 1932 of $17,088,000. This decrease includes $15,000,000 for ordinary maintenance and operating expenses of the fleet and the shore establishment, $8,000,000 for shore projects, and $7,150,000 for construction of new ships. It provides an increase of $15,000,000 for modernization of battleships. The items for ordinary maintenance and operation of the fleet and shore establishments provide for maintaining during 1933 an average of 79,700 enlisted men of the Navy, the same as provided for 1932, and an average of 15,343 enlisted men of the Marine Corps as against 17,500 men provided for 1932. Under these estimates no fighting vessels will be decommissioned and no navy yards or training stations will be closed. Other decreases in requirements are due in part to the continuation of the so-called "rotation plan" for the employment of vessels, recently adopted by the Navy Department, which lends itself to both economy and efficiency in fleet operations, and in part to reduced costs of supplies and materials.

The estimates of $31,400,000 for the construction of new vessels, compared with the appropriation of $38,550,000 for 1932, indicates a decrease of $7,150,000. This, however, is a facial decrease only. When the cash balances to be carried forward from prior years, and the amount to be made available by transfer from the naval supply account fund, are taken into consideration, the total that will be available for ship construction in 1933 is estimated at $57,000,000. The availability for 1933 exceeds in amount the expenditures for ship construction in any one of the last 10 years. The expenditures in 1923 were $46,682,000; 1924, $41,697,000; 1925, $34,022,000; 1926, $25,250,000; 1927, $27,430,000; 1928, $36,935,000; 1929, $46,760,000; 1930, $49,872,000; 1931, $37,944,000; and for 1932 are estimated at $53,000,000. The amount available for 1933 will provide for normal progress in construction of every vessel now authorized by law and permitted under treaty restrictions except six destroyers the laying down of which has been postponed and, in addition, for beginning construction of one more 8-inch-gun cruiser in January, 1933, which is the earliest date permitted under the terms of the London treaty.

RIVERS AND HARBORS AND FLOOD CONTROL

The estimate for the annual appropriation for the maintenance and improvement of existing river and harbor works contained in this Budget is in the same amount as was appropriated for 1932, namely, $60,000,000. The emergency appropriations made last December for public works with a view to increasing employment contained $22,500,000 for rivers and harbors, which is in addition to the annual appropriations of $55,000,000 for 1931 and $60,000,000 for 1932. Viewed alone, this advance in the program would indicate that some reduction from $60,000,000 would be justified in the estimate for 1933. This, however, is not the case, as the Government has given tentative assurances as to early dates of fulfillment which will require the full amount of the appropriation requested for 1933.

For flood control the 1933 estimates of annual appropriations are $3,000,000 less than the appropriations for 1932, this difference being the amount of the emergency appropriation made last December.

The total of the estimates contained in this Budget for rivers and harbors (including maintenance and operation of Dam No. 2, Muscle Shoals) and flood control is $104,182,000, of which $70,142,000 is for rivers and harbors and $34,040,000 for flood control. The total of $104,182,000 includes $10,537,000 to meet the requirements under authorizations of law covering permanent specific and indefinite appropriations, advances, and contributions for rivers and harbors and flood-control work.

RETIREMENT FUNDS

Pending a revaluation of the civil service retirement and disability fund, the estimate contained in this Budget for the financing of the Government's liability to the fund calls for the same amount as was appropriated for 1932, $20,850,000. For the Foreign Service retirement and disability fund, however, the estimate contained in this Budget is $416,000, as against an estimate and appropriation of $215,000 for 1932. This increase is based upon an actuarial valuation recently made by the Bureau of Efficiency and clearly indicates that the Government's liability to the fund was substantially increased by the act approved February 23, 1931. That act, however, continues without change the provision contained in the act of May 24, 1924, that the aggregate appropriations to meet the Government's liability under the retirement fund should at no time exceed the aggregate total of the contributions of the Foreign Service officers theretofore made, and accumulated interest thereon. While the estimate of $416,000 for 1933 may be made without exceeding the limitation contained in this provision, the restrictions thereof will preclude appropriations for 1934 in excess of about $322,000, and for subsequent fiscal years in excess of about $178,000 based on the present pay roll of the Foreign Service officers. Federal contributions of these amounts will be totally inadequate to maintain the solvency of the retirement fund.

The continuation in the act of February 23, 1931, of this restrictive provision indicates clearly that it was not the intention of Congress in the enactment of that law to confer additional retirement benefits upon Foreign Service officers which would prevent the solvency of the retirement fund being maintained by Federal contributions equal to, but not exceeding in the aggregate, the total of the contributions of the Foreign Service officers and accumulated interest on such contributions. The recent actuarial valuation, however, shows conclusively that some further legislative action will be necessary if we are to maintain the solvency of the Foreign Service retirement and disability fund. The Secretary of State is aware of this situation and will make appropriate recommendation to the Congress during the present session.

UNEXPENDED BALANCES

Last year in submitting the Budget for 1932 I called attention to the fact that in the preparation of the estimates of appropriations I had refrained from recommending that the requirements for 1932 be met in part by a reappropriation or extension of the availability of unexpended balances of appropriations for the then current or prior fiscal years. In making appropriations for the fiscal year 1932 Congress concurred in this change in policy, and I am therefore submitting the estimates of appropriations for 1933 on the same basis. I mention this because efforts for such economy as would be consistent with the public welfare have resulted in unexpended balances, both actual for last year and estimated for this year, which would have made it possible substantially to reduce the amount of direct appropriations requested in many of the estimates contained in this Budget had the old practice been continued. This reduction would have totaled about $70,000,000.

CONCLUSION

We have recently closed one fiscal year and are now advanced into another year where the depression in business has resulted, on the one hand, in a heavy falling off in receipts and, on the other hand, in large Federal expenditures to provide work to assist in the relief of unemployment.

The welfare of the country demands that the financial integrity of the Federal Government be maintained. This is a necessary factor in the rebuilding of a sound national prosperity. This Budget, with its recommended reductions in appropriations and increases in revenues, presents a definite program to this end involving three steps—first, a material reduction in the anticipated deficit for the current fiscal year; second, a relation between receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1933 which will avoid a further increase in the public debt during that year; and third, a balanced Budget for 1934.

To carry out this program it is important to emphasize the fact that we are now in a period where Federal finances will not permit of the assumption of any obligations which will enlarge the expenditures to be met from the ordinary receipts of the Government.

I am confident that the Congress realizes this situation and will give it full consideration in passing upon matters which may contemplate any such additions to our spending program. To those individuals or groups who normally would importune the Congress to enact measures in which they are interested, I wish to say that the most patriotic duty which they can perform at this time is to themselves refrain and to discourage others from seeking any increase in the drain upon public finances.

REFINANCING OF RADIO-KEITH-ORPHEUM CORPORATION

Mr. Dill submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 58):

Whereas Radio Corporation of America has a substantial stock interest in Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation; and

Whereas Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation has publicly declared it has been unable through any bank or banks to secure necessary financial assistance; and

Whereas a proposed plan for refinancing Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation requires subscription by each stockholder to a pro rata of $11,600,000 debentures of said corporation and by failure so to do such stockholder is deprived of three-fourths of his shares of stock and the same is turned over to Radio Corporation of America as a bonus for purchasing such stockholder's unsubscribed debentures; and

Whereas such plan unfairly affects the interests of over 25,000 stockholders of 10 or more shares of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation stock and gives Radio Corporation of America other special privileges and shares of stock; and

Whereas the stockholders have been threatened by the president of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation with a receivership of said corporation unless the plan is carried out, and that a receivership would probably result in the loss of the entire investment of stockholders: Therefore, be it

A quorum being present,

The message was read, as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In my message of the 8th instant I stated that I should address the Congress at greater length upon our foreign affairs.

WORLD WAR DEBT POSTPONEMENT

With the support of a large majority of the individual Members of the Senate and House, I informed the governments concerned last June that—

"The American Government proposes the postponement during one year of all payments on intergovernmental debts, reparations, and relief debts, both principal and interest, of course not including obligations of governments held by private parties. Subject to confirmation by Congress, the American Government will postpone all payments upon the debts of foreign governments to the American Government payable during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, conditional on a like postponement for one year of all payments on intergovernmental debts owing the important creditor powers."

In making this proposal, I also publicly stated:

"The purpose of this action is to give the forthcoming year to the economic recovery of the world and to help free the recuperative forces already in motion in the United States from retarding influences from abroad.

"The world-wide depression has affected the countries of Europe more severely than our own. Some of these countries are feeling to a serious extent the drain of this depression on national economy. The fabric of intergovernmental debts, supportable in normal times, weighs heavily in the midst of this depression.

"From a variety of causes arising out of the depression, such as the fall in the price of foreign commodities and the lack of confidence in economic and political stability abroad, there is an abnormal movement of gold into the United States which is lowering the credit stability of many foreign countries. These and the other difficulties abroad diminish buying power for our exports and in a measure are the cause of our continued unemployment and continued lower prices to our farmers.

"Wise and timely action should contribute to relieve the pressure of these adverse forces in foreign countries and should assist in the reestablishment of confidence, thus forwarding political peace and economic stability in the world.

"Authority of the President to deal with this problem is limited, as this action must be supported by the Congress. It has been assured the cordial support of leading members of both parties in the Senate and the House. The essence of this proposition is to give time to permit debtor governments to recover their national prosperity. I am suggesting to the American people that they be wise creditors in their own interest and be good neighbors.

"I wish to take this occasion also to frankly state my views upon our relations to German reparations and the debts owed to us by the allied governments of Europe. Our Government has not been a party to, or exerted any voice in determination of, reparation obligations. We purposely did not participate in either general reparations or the division of colonies or property. The repayment of debts due to us from the Allies for the advance for war and reconstruction were settled upon a basis not contingent upon German reparations or related thereto. Therefore, reparations is necessarily wholly a European problem with which we have no relation.

"I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us. World confidence would not be enhanced by such action. None of our debtor nations have ever suggested it. But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay, we should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world. I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our Government should recognize the situation as it exists.

"This course of action is entirely consistent with the policy which we have hitherto pursued. We are not involved in the discussion of strictly European problems, of which the payment of German reparations is one. It represents our willingness to make a contribution to the early restoration of world prosperity in which our own people have so deep an interest.

"I wish further to add that while this action has no bearing on the conference for limitation of land armaments to be held next February, inasmuch as the burden of competitive armaments has contributed to bring about this depression, we trust that by this evidence of our desire to assist we shall have contributed to the good will which is so necessary in the solution of this major question."

All the important creditor governments accepted this proposal. The necessary agreements among them have been executed, and creditor governments have foregone the receipt of payments due them since July 1, 1931.

The effect of this agreement was instantaneous in reversing the drift toward general economic panic and has served to give time to the peoples of those countries to readjust their economic life. The action taken was necessary. I am confident it commends itself to the judgment of the American people.

Payments due to the United States Government from many countries, both on account of principal and interest, fall due on December 15. It is highly desirable that a law should be enacted before that date authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, to postpone all payments due us on account of debts owed by foreign governments to the United States Government during the year ending June 30, 1932, and to provide for their payment over a 10-year period, beginning July 1, 1933.

As we approach the new year it is clear that a number of the governments indebted to us will be unable to meet further payments to us in full pending recovery in their economic life. It is useless to blind ourselves to an obvious fact. Therefore it will be necessary in some cases to make still further temporary adjustments.

The Congress has shared with the Executive in the past the consideration of questions arising from these debts. I am sure that it will commend itself to the Congress, that the legislative branch of the Government should continue to share this responsibility. In order that we should be in position to deal with the situation, I recommend the re-creation of the World War Foreign Debt Commission, with authority to examine such problems as may arise in connection with these debts during the present economic emergency, and to report to the Congress its conclusions and recommendations.

DISARMAMENT

The United States has accepted an invitation to take part in the World Disarmament Conference which convenes on February 2 at Geneva. The efforts of this conference will be in line with the endeavors in which the American Government has taken a leading part beginning with The Hague Conference in 1899. Up to the present time the record of achievement has been almost entirely in the field of naval disarmament. It is to be hoped that further progress can be made in reduction of naval arms and that limitation and reduction so urgently needed can be extended to land arms.

The burden of taxes to support armament is greater to-day than before the Great War, and the economic instability of the world is definitely due in part to this cause and the fears which these huge armaments at all times create. No discouragements should be permitted to turn the world from sane and reasonable limitation of arms.

With a view to establishing an atmosphere of confidence for the opening of this World Disarmament Conference, more than 40 governments, including all the principal military and naval powers, have joined in accepting the principle of 1-year armaments truce. This truce, which is the outgrowth of a proposal advanced last September by the Foreign Minister of Italy, is designed to prevent the expansion of armaments program during the coming months in the hope of removing the threat of a sudden revival of competition in arms before and during the conference. These steps were fully approved by our War and Navy Departments.

MANCHURIA

We have been deeply concerned over the situation in Manchuria. As parties to the Kellogg-Briand pact and to the 9-power treaty, we have a responsibility in maintaining the integrity of China and a direct interest with other nations in maintaining peace here.

When this controversy originated in September the League of Nations was in session and China appealed to the council of that body which at once undertook measures of conciliation between China and Japan. Both China and Japan have participated in these proceedings before the council ever since. Under the Kellogg-Briand pact all the signatories, including China and Japan, have covenanted to seek none but pacific means in the settlement of their disputes. Thus the ultimate purpose of proceedings under this section of the Kellogg-Briand pact and of conciliation proceedings by the league covenant coincide. It seemed, therefore, both wise and appropriate rather to aid and advise with the league and thus have unity of world effort to maintain peace than to take independent action. In all negotiations, however, the Department of State has maintained complete freedom of judgment and action as to participation in any measures which the league might finally determine upon.

Immediately after the outbreak of the trouble this Government advised both Japan and China of its serious interest. Subsequently it communicated its views to both governments regarding their obligations under the Kellogg-Briand pact. In this action we were joined by other nations signatory of the pact. This Government has consistently and repeatedly by diplomatic representations indicated its unremitting solicitude that these treaty obligations be respected. In the recurring efforts of the nations to bring about a peaceful settlement this Government has realized that the exercise of the utmost patience was desirable, and it is believed that public opinion in this country has appreciated the wisdom of this restraint.

At present a resolution is pending before the meeting at Paris, with hopes of passage, under which Japan and China will agree to take no initiative which might lead to renewed conflict; in which Japan has reiterated its intention to withdraw the Japanese troops to the railway zone as soon as lives and property of Japanese nationals in Manchuria can be adequately protected; and under which both nations agree to a neutral commission to meet on the ground, to which commission all matters in dispute can be referred for investigation and report.

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY

Conversations were begun between the Secretary of State and the Canadian minister at Washington on November 14 looking to the framing of a treaty for the development of the St. Lawrence seaway. The negotiations are continuing. I am hopeful that an agreement may result within a reasonable time enabling us to begin work on this great project, which will be of much importance economically to Canada and to the United States.

VISITS OF M. LAVAL AND SIGNOR GRANDI

The president of the Council of Ministers of France, M. Laval, visited Washington in October in order to discuss problems of outstanding world interest, in the solution of which it was felt that the two countries could be of assistance. The informal and cordial conversations served to bring into relief the respective positions of the two nations.

The visit in November of the Royal Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs also afforded an opportunity for a cordial exchange of views respecting the many world problems in which this Government and the Government of Italy are interested.

It was not the purpose of these meetings to engage in any commitments or to conclude agreements. However, the visits of M. Laval and Signor Grandi, together with the various meetings of statesmen in Europe and the visit of the Secretary of State to European countries, have brought about valuable understanding of the nature of the problems confronting different governments which should aid in their solution.

NICARAGUA

In compliance with the agreement made in May, 1927, the Nicaraguan Government requested supervision by an electoral commission from the United States of the congressional elections held in 1930. This year a member of the commissions of 1928 and 1930 was sent to Nicaragua as an observer during the election of municipal authorities in order that, on the basis of his observations, it might be possible to arrange the many necessary details of the supervision of the 1932 presidential election in Nicaragua.

Armed forces of the United States maintained in Nicaragua have been reduced to the minimum deemed necessary to the training of the Nicaraguan Constabulary and the rendering of appropriate support for such instruction. It is proposed to withdraw completely American armed forces from Nicaragua after their presidential election in 1932.

Nicaragua suffered a terrible disaster in the destruction of Managua, the capital, by earthquake and fire in March last. With their usual generosity the American people, through the Red Cross, went whole-heartedly to the assistance of the stricken country. United States marines and engineers of the War Department, who were in the country making a survey of the proposed canal route, joined in rendering service. The American Legation building was destroyed with all its contents, but the minister and his staff continued to carry on their official duties and worked ceaselessly in the face of unusual hardships. The Nicaraguan Government has expressed its deep gratitude for the aid rendered.

HAITI

Substantial progress has been made in carrying out the program for the withdrawal of our activities in Haiti recommended by the commission which, with the support of the Congress, made an investigation of Haitian affairs in 1930, and by its good offices laid the foundation for the present popularly elected Government of that Republic.

After protracted negotiations an accord was reached with the Haitian Government on August 5 providing for the return to Haitian control of important Government services heretofore carried on under American supervision by virtue of general obligations arising through the provisions of our treaty with Haiti. In accordance with this agreement the Haitian Government on October 1 assumed definitely the administration and control of the department of public works, the sanitary service, and the technical service of agriculture, which includes the industrial educational system. All American personnel was withdrawn from these services. To minimize the possibility of epidemics, and in order that the health of the American troops and officials still stationed in Haiti might be adequately protected, the accord provided that an American scientific mission, consisting of three American naval officers and six Hospital Corps men, should be charged with the control of sanitation in the cities of Port au Prince and Cape Haitien.

The accord makes appropriate provision for the continuance of adequate financial control and assistance on the part of our Government. The liberty of action, both of the Government of the United States and the Government of Haiti with respect to questions of financial administration, is, of course, limited. In this connection it must be borne in mind that investors have supplied capital desired by Haiti and that securities have been issued to them on the faith and credit of the provisions of that treaty and the American financial control which it provided during the life of the bonds.

BOLIVIA AND PARAGUAY

In 1929 the Government of the United States, together with the Governments of Cuba, Colombia, Mexico, and Uruguay, formed the Commission on Inquiry and Conciliation, Bolivia-Paraguay, which had the good fortune of being able to terminate an international incident which for a time threatened to cause war between the countries involved. The five neutral governments then offered their good offices to Bolivia and Paraguay, with a view to furthering a settlement of their difficulties. This offer was accepted in principle. I am happy to state that representatives of both countries are now meeting in Washington, with the hope of concluding a pact of nonaggression between them.

ARBITRATION OF THE BOUNDARY DISPUTE BETWEEN GUATEMALA AND HONDURAS

It has been the privilege of this Government to lend its good offices on several occasions in the past to the settlement of boundary disputes between the American republics. One of the most recent occasions upon which the disinterested services of this Government were requested was in connection with the settlement of the dispute which for almost a century has been outstanding between the Republics of Guatemala and Honduras with respect to their common boundary. Conferences extending over a period of some months were held in 1930 in the Department of State, and eventually on July 16, 1930, a treaty was signed submitting the question to arbitration, and there was also signed a supplementary convention providing for the delimitation of the boundary after the arbitral tribunal hands down its award. Ratifications were exchanged on October 15, 1931. The tribunal, which will meet in Washington, will be presided over by the Chief Justice of the United States, who has set December 15, 1931, as the date for the first meeting.

MEXICO

The period for hearings before the General and Special Claims Commissions between this country and Mexico expired in August, 1931. Pursuant to a resolution of the Senate under date of February 28, 1931, and under instructions from the Department of State, the American ambassador at Mexico City is carrying on negotiations with the Mexican Government looking to the renewal of the activities of the commissions, in order that the claims of American citizens still pending may be heard and adjudicated.

The Governments of the United States and Mexico have approved in principle certain engineering plans submitted by the International Boundary Commission, United States and Mexico, for the rectification of the Rio Grande in the vicinity of El Paso, Tex., to prevent periodical floods in that region. Negotiations are being carried on between the two Governments in an effort to reach an agreement by which this important international project may be undertaken.

TREATIES AND CONVENTIONS BEFORE THE SENATE

There have been transmitted to the Senate, from time to time, treaties and conventions which have failed during recent sessions to obtain that body's consideration or final decision. Inasmuch as these treaties affect numerous phases of private and public endeavor, I earnestly commend their early conclusion to the attention of the Congress.

In the past session of the Congress I transmitted to the Senate protocols providing for adherence by the United States to the Permanent Court of International Justice. Upon that occasion I expressed my views fully not only of the wisdom of such action, but that the safeguards against European entanglements stipulated for by the Senate had been in effect secured and the interests of the United States protected. I need not repeat that for over 12 years every President and every Secretary of State has urged this action as a material contribution to the pacific settlement of controversies among nations and a further assurance against war.

By consideration of legislation during its last session, the Congress informed itself thoroughly regarding the merits of the Copyright Convention signed at Berlin on November 13, 1908. I hope that necessary legislation will be enacted during this Congress which will make it possible for further consideration to be given to the Copyright Convention.

The Sockeye salmon fisheries treaty, entered into with Canada to afford protection to the industry, which was signed on May 26, 1930, merits the attention of the Senate during the present session.

The United States sent a delegation to the Conference on Safety of Life at Sea, which was held in London in 1929. The convention, which was signed by the more important maritime nations of the world on May 31, 1929, has unified the standards of safety in accordance with modern developments of engineering science and in compliance with the governments' obligation to their citizens to reduce the perils of travel to a minimum by requiring high efficiency in seamanship.

The Convention for the Supervision of the International Trade in Arms and Ammunition and in Implements of War, signed at Geneva, June 17, 1925, represents another of the steps taken in the general field of restriction of armament. It has been ratified unconditionally by some nations, conditionally by others. With the added impetus which ratification by the United States would lend to such a move, it is quite possible that the 14 ratifications necessary by treaty stipulation would be received to bring the convention into force.

Among the other treaties and conventions which remain before the Senate for its consideration and of no less importance in their respective fields are a treaty regarding consular agents of American States (Sixth International Conference of American States, Havana, 1928); a treaty relating to maritime neutrality with American states (Sixth International Conference of American States, Havana, 1928); the general treaty of inter-American arbitration, signed at Washington January 5, 1929; the convention relating to prisoners of war, signed at Geneva on July 27, 1929; a convention signed on the same date for the amelioration of the condition of wounded and sick of armies in the field (the Red Cross convention); and the convention for the unification of certain rules relating to bills of lading for the carriage of goods by sea, signed at Brussels on behalf of the United States on June 23, 1925.

NEW TREATIES AND CONVENTIONS

Since my message to the Seventy-second Congress and by virtue of the power vested in the office of the Chief Executive, I have continued to commission representatives of this Government to negotiate treaties with the representatives of other countries which affect the amicable, political, commercial, and juridical relations of this country, as well as treaties dealing with humanitarian matters.

Important treaties and conventions which have been signed recently by representatives of this Government are as follows:

1. Treaty of arbitration and conciliation with Switzerland, signed February 16, 1931.
2. Treaty modifying the conciliation convention with Italy (Bryan peace treaty) signed September 23, 1931.
3. Extradition treaty with Greece, signed May 6, 1931.
4. Protocol relating to military obligations in certain cases of double nationality, multilateral, signed December 31, 1930.
5. Treaty of friendship, commerce, and consular rights with Poland, signed June 15, 1931.
6. Treaty with reference to establishment and sojourn with Turkey, signed October 28, 1931.

These treaties and conventions will be transmitted to the Senate in due course, with a view to obtaining its advice and consent to ratification.

Ordered, That the message be referred to the Committee on Finance and printed.

COURTS IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

To the Congress of the United States:

I transmit herewith two related bills enacted by the Eighth Philippine Legislature during its second session and approved by the Governor General of the Philippine Islands. They are:

S. No. 261. "An act defining the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands, creating a court of appeals and defining its jurisdiction, and providing for other purposes"; and

S. No. 155. "An act concerning the judiciary; making provision regarding the court of appeals created by act entitled 'An act defining the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands, creating a court of appeals and defining its jurisdiction, and for other purposes'; providing appropriation for said court of appeals; applying the provisions of certain sections of the Revised Administrative Code to said court of appeals, and for other purposes."

Briefly, the purpose of the two acts was to relieve congestion in the work of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands by the creation of an intermediate court of appeals between the courts of first instance and the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands.

Act S. No. 261 purports to diminish the present jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands through transfer of certain of that jurisdiction to the proposed court of appeals. Under section 26 of the organic act of the Philippine Islands the act can not take effect without the prior approval of Congress.

The related act, S. No. 155, provides for the organization of the proposed court of appeals if, and when, authorized by Congress. It contemplated no express approval by Congress of its provisions.

The acts in question are transmitted as indicative of the form and substance of legislation which, at the time of the passage of the acts by the Philippine Legislature, was deemed advisable by that body. Subsequent, however, to the passage of these acts the Philippine Legislature passed legislation relative to the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands which received the approval of the Governor General, and which does not require action by the Congress. That legislation (Act No. 3816, December 8, 1930) authorized an increase in the personnel of the supreme court, the jurisdiction of the court remaining unchanged.

It is believed that existing legislation affords adequate provision for meeting present needs. It is accordingly recommended that neither Act S. No. 261 and Act S. No. 155 receive the approval of Congress.

HERBERT HOOVER.

THE WHITE HOUSE, December 14, 1931.

EMERGENCY PUBLIC-WORKS PROGRAM

Mr. Wagner submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 72):

Whereas the Secretary of Commerce has reported that in January, 1931, there were in the United States 6,050,000 persons ready, willing, and able to work, totally unemployed, seeking jobs, and unable to find any; and

Whereas according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics employment in manufacturing establishments in the United States declined from an index of 73.1 in January, 1931, to an index of 67.3 in October, 1931; and

Whereas the index of pay-roll totals paid in manufacturing establishments in the United States has declined from 62.3 in January, 1931, to 53.7 in October, 1931; and

Whereas the number of bank suspensions, which in the first 10 months of 1930 amounted to 747, has in the first 10 months of 1931 reached a total of 1,753; and

Whereas production as measured by the Federal Reserve Board has declined from an index of 82 in January, 1931, to an index of 77 in September, 1931; and

Whereas freight-car loadings have, according to the report of the Federal Reserve Board, declined from an adjusted index of 82 in January, 1931, to an adjusted index of 69 in September, 1931; and

Whereas the total volume of the foreign commerce of the United States, as reported by the Department of Commerce, has declined from $6,629,000,000 during the first 9 months of 1928 to $3,460,000,000 during the first 9 months of 1931, a decline of 48 per cent; which decline is in greater detail represented as follows:

Exports

1928, January through September	3,559,000,000
1929, January through September	3,844,000,000
1930, January through September	2,954,000,000
1931, January through September	1,842,000,000

disclosing a falling off during the first 9 months of 1931 in the sale of American goods abroad of $1,717,000,000, as compared with the volume of the first 9 months of 1928, a decline of 49 per cent.

Imports

1928, January through September	$3,070,000,000
1929, January through September	3,359,000,000
1930, January through September	2,401,000,000
1931, January through September	1,618,000,000

disclosing a falling off during the first 9 months of 1931 in American imports of $1,452,000,000 as compared with the volume of the first 9 months of 1928, a decline of 48 per cent.

Whereas the index of wholesale prices of all commodities has declined from 77 in January, 1931, to 69 in September, 1931; and

Whereas the volume of construction as measured by the value of contracts awarded as reported by the Federal Reserve Board has been as follows:

July, August, and September, 1928	$1,629,000,000
July, August, and September, 1929	1,586,720,000
July, August, and September, 1930	1,046,700,000
July, August, and September, 1931	770,200,000

disclosing a decline in the volume of construction for the third quarter of 1931 of $858,800,000, as compared with the third quarter of 1928, a decline of 53 per cent; and

Whereas from January, 1928, through September, 1928, the volume of building contracts awarded amounted to $5,010,000,000, and from January, 1931, through September, 1931, the volume of building contracts awarded amounted to $2,562,700,000, which discloses a decline of $2,447,300,000, or 48.8 per cent; and

Whereas the volume of construction of public works and public utilities, as measured by the value of contracts awarded, has been as follows:

From January to September, 1929	$1,039,043,000
From January to September, 1930	1,383,300,000
From January to September, 1931	982,700,000

and

Whereas the wholesale prices of building materials have declined from an index of 82.9 in January, 1931, to 74.9 in September, 1931; and

Whereas the amount of money spent for relief in the larger American cities, as reported by the Russell Sage Foundation of New York, was in September, 1931, 142 per cent greater than in September, 1930, and in October, 1931, 113 per cent greater than in October, 1930; and

Whereas all of the available economic data give evidence of the fact that there has been a continuous and substantial increase of the number of persons unable to secure employment and of the number of families whose resources have been exhausted and who are, therefore, dependent upon the help of public and private agencies for the means of existence; and

Whereas the Federal Government is, for reasons which spring from the very purposes of its organization, charged with the duty of providing for the general welfare of the United States and must, therefore, exert its full powers to promote the improvement of business conditions and alleviate suffering; and

Whereas it is in the public interest and in furtherance of public morale wherever possible to provide work rather than charity for those in need of employment; and

Whereas it is in consonance with the dictates of sound and prudent economy to utilize the idle time of those who are willing and ready to work in the construction of such public works and the prosecution of such public projects as will contribute to the permanent wealth and progress of this Nation; and

Whereas the prompt and vigorous prosecution of an extensive public-works program in an amount of $2,000,000,000 would not only provide useful employment to many hundred thousands of workers now unwillingly idle but would, in addition, stimulate private trade, revitalize private industry, and put into circulation a stream of purchasing power which would bring new life to every branch of the economic efforts of the American people, agricultural as well as industrial; and

Whereas it is both feasible and sound by financing the cost thereof through long-term bonds to conduct such a public-works program without adding to the immediate tax burden; and

Whereas Congress has made provision for such a situation by the enactment of the employment stabilization act of 1931, intending thereby that "during periods of business depression" the power of the Federal Government shall be exercised through its construction agencies "to aid in preventing unemployment" and to relieve the hardships and rigors which it imposes: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the President, the Federal Employment Stabilization Board, the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, and the construction agencies as defined in the Federal employment stabilization act (46 Stat. 1084), are severally requested to exercise the authority conferred upon them by said act to the end that supplemental estimates of public-works emergency appropriations in an amount of $2,000,000,000 may at the earliest possible time be transmitted to Congress pursuant to such act, so that an emergency public-works program may be inaugurated and the policy of Congress declared in such act may be effectuated.

Ordered, That the resolution lie on the table.

SHORT SELLING ON STOCK EXCHANGES

Mr. Capper submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 93), which was referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency:

Whereas a high percentage of the commerce among the several States and with foreign nations is carried on by corporations whose stocks, bonds, and/or other securities are listed and/or dealt in upon stock exchanges, such as the New York Stock Exchange, which are voluntary associations governed only by regulations made by their members, whose profits come chiefly from commissions on sales and purchases on such stock exchanges; and

Whereas the market value of the stocks, bonds, and/or other securities so listed and/or dealt in has an important, close, and direct relation to and effect upon the whole business of this country, and use is made of the Postal Service and of the various instrumentalities of commerce among the several States and with foreign nations in the purchase and sale of such stocks, bonds, and/or other securities on such stock exchanges and in the circulation of information with respect thereto; and

Whereas in the fall of 1929 a tremendous break in the market value of such stocks, bonds, and other securities inaugurated a widespread depression in this country, which has since continued and which has caused, and is causing, immense demoralization, stagnation, unemployment, loss, and suffering in all kinds of commerce and among people in every walk of life; and

Whereas according to accredited statistics, notwithstanding the previous declines in security values during the period already covered by the depression, there occurred (a) in the months of March, April, and May, 1931, a progressive decrease which aggregated $14,520,780,805 in the market value of the common and preferred stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange alone, and (b) in the single month of

September, 1931, there occurred a decrease of $12,259,988,669 in the market value of the common and preferred stocks and of $4,207,526,124 in the market value of the bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange alone, and during said month of September total failures were the highest and bank failures the second highest for all time, and the foundations of our financial structure seemed threatened; and

Whereas according to a public address made by Mr. Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, the short sales of the stocks listed on that exchange reached a peak of 5,589,700 shares on May 25, 1931, and again reached a peak of 4,480,000 shares on September 11, 1931; and

Whereas it is charged, and there is reason to believe, that the unnecessary short selling of securities on the various stock exchanges has contributed to the prolongation and intensification of the depression, in which view such important organizations as the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the American Bankers Association, through their appropriate committees, have expressed concurrence; and

Whereas in view of the foregoing facts it is essential that there should be a full investigation of all matters pertaining to the short selling of securities on the various stock exchanges, followed by the adoption of such regulatory measures as may be found to be warranted: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Banking and Currency of the Senate, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is hereby authorized and directed to investigate and ascertain fully and in detail (1) the short selling of stocks, bonds, and/or other securities which has occurred on the various stock exchanges, or by or through the members or stockholders thereof and the brokers and traders thereon, during the years 1929, 1930, and 1931; (2) the borrowing and lending of stocks, bonds, and/or other securities that has taken place for that purpose; (3) what persons, firms, associations, or corporations have participated in such short selling, borrowing, and/or lending, and in what securities and what amounts, either alone or in conjunction with others; (4) the practices, rules, regulations, and course of conduct of such exchanges, members, brokers, and traders with respect to such short selling, borrowing, and lending; and (5) the causes and methods of such short selling, borrowing, and lending, and the effect of such short selling on security values, on commodity values, and on the various businesses of the country. The committee shall report to the Senate as soon as practicable the results of such investigation and shall include in its report such recommendations for remedial legislation as it deems to be necessary from the facts ascertained by such investigation.

The Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Reserve Board, and the Federal Trade Commission are hereby requested to place at the service of the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, such data and records, and to procure from time to time such information within their control, and to detail such assistants in connection with such investigation as the committee or subcommittee may from time to time request.

As used in this resolution (1) the term "stock exchange" means any place, board, or market, however created, organized, or conducted, where stocks, bonds, and/or other securities of corporations are bought and sold or offered for purchase and sale by owners or customers in person, or by or through stockholders or members of any such place, board, or market or brokers or traders acting on their behalf, and (2) the term "short selling" means any sale of a share of stock, bond, and/or other security in consummation of which there is delivered by or on behalf of the seller any stock, bond, and/or security not bona fide owned by such seller at the time of making such sale.

For the purposes of this resolution, the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such public hearings, to sit and act at such times and places during the sessions and recesses of the Seventy-second and succeeding Congresses, to employ such experts and accountants, and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, and to take such testimony and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per 100 words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $——, shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the committee.

BOND ISSUE FOR PUBLIC CONSTRUCTION

Mr. Black submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 94): Whereas the paramount problem confronting our Nation to-day is unemployment and public distress; and

Whereas this situation exists at a time when the national wealth is the greatest in our history; and

Whereas there is to-day a surplus of food, clothing, and other necessities of life which can not be purchased by millions of American citizens who want and need them, because they are unable to secure work; and

Whereas this condition has stopped the work of our mills and factories and condemned our people to involuntary idleness; and

Whereas this condition has created a national emergency, which calls for quick and effective action, in order to utilize our national resources for the public welfare: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Finance is authorized and directed to prepare a bill and report to the Senate at the earliest possible date, said bill to authorize the issue and sale of a Government bond issue of $1,000,000,000, and providing for the expenditure of said money throughout the States in the building of highways, bridges, and other public projects, having in view the doing of such work as will be most useful to the public and employing the maximum amount of human labor, and work that can be begun in each particular locality with the least possible delay.

The Committee on Finance, or any properly authorized subcommittee thereof, is hereby authorized to conduct such hearings as may be necessary to determine how the money raised by such bond issue shall be expended to accomplish the purposes hereinbefore set out and to determine what other funds should be raised, and how, for a program of public works throughout the States, and for what purposes and in what manner it should be expended.

Ordered, That the resolution lie over one day under the rule.

The expenses of this investigation, which shall not exceed the sum of $5,000, shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate upon vouchers approved by the chairman of said committee, or any subcommittee thereof.

Ordered, That the resolution, as modified, be referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The hour of 2 o'clock having arrived,

The Senate resumed the consideration of its unfinished business, viz, the election of a President pro tempore.

After debate,

The Vice President directed the roll to be again called; when

Mr. Ashurst, citing paragraph 1 of Rule I, which provides that in the absence of the Vice President the Senate shall choose a President pro tempore, raised a question of order, viz, that the Senate had no authority or jurisdiction to proceed to vote for a President pro tempore unless and until the Vice President is absent, and that he was then present.

The Vice President overruled the point of order, as follows:

"The Chair desires to call the attention of the Senator from Arizona to a resolution which was adopted by the Senate in 1890, as follows:

"Resolved, That it is competent for the Senate to elect a President pro tempore, who shall hold the office during the pleasure of the Senate and until another is elected, and shall execute the duties thereof during all future absences of the Vice President until the Senate otherwise order."

"The Chair will state that when the resolution to which he previously referred was adopted, the practice prevailed of electing a President pro tempore every day, or when the occasion arose; sometimes it was every day. An argument was made at the time that the question should be settled and the Senate should be authorized to elect a President pro tempore. The resolution to which the Chair referred was adopted to avoid the necessity of electing a President pro tempore every time the Vice President was absent. Therefore the Chair overrules the point of order raised by the Senator from Arizona."

The Vice President directed the roll to be again called; when

The whole number of votes cast was 75, a majority thereof being 38. Mr. Pittman received 36, Mr. Moses received 27, and Mr. McNary received 12.

INVESTIGATION OF CAUSES OF DEPRESSION

Mr. Walsh of Montana submitted the following concurrent resolution (S. Con. Res. 5), which was referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate:

Whereas the country is suffering from the most profound industrial depression in its history, entailing enormous losses and widespread unemployment; and

Whereas many different causes have been assigned by economists, financiers, and other students of business and public affairs for the condition to which reference has been made; and

Whereas the condition referred to became generally evident after and was greatly intensified by the debacle on the New York Stock Exchange in the month of October, 1929; and

Whereas the sudden collapse of prices of securities dealt in on the said exchange was preceded by an extraordinary inflation in the prices of such securities and of loans through which transactions therein were effected, was accompanied by a tremendous contraction in bank credits and was followed by a rapid and continuing fall in the prices of commodities generally and particularly of agricultural products; and

Whereas measures to avert the recurrence of similar catastrophes, and to alleviate the disastrous results of the existing crisis can be predicated only upon an accurate knowledge and appreciation of the causes giving rise to the same: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That a joint committee, consisting of five Members of the Senate and five Members of the House of Representatives, be appointed, the House members by the Speaker thereof and the Senate members by the Vice President, and that the said committee be, and it hereby is, authorized to inquire into the causes of the depression so existing, and particularly the relation of the collapse of prices of securities dealt in on the said stock exchange, to hear and take testimony concerning the means that should be employed and the legislation that should be enacted either to prevent a recurrence of such periods of depression or to lessen or reduce the malign effects thereof.

The said committee is hereby authorized to sit and perform its duties at such times and places as it deems necessary or proper and to require the attendance of witnesses by subpoenas or otherwise; to require the production of books, papers, and documents; and to employ stenographers, at a cost not exceeding 25 cents per hundred words. The chairman of the committee, or any member thereof, may administer oaths to and sign subpoenas for witnesses; and every person duly summoned before said committee, or any subcommittee thereof, who refuses or fails to obey the process of said committee, or appears and refuses to answer questions pertinent to said investigation, shall be punished as prescribed by law. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $20,000, shall be paid the one-half from the contingent fund of the Senate and one-half from the contingent fund of the House of Representatives upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the committee.

The preamble was agreed to.

The concurrent resolution, as amended, together with the accompanying preamble, is as follows:

"Whereas many railroads are involved in grave financial difficulties, and all the railroads have sought a 15 per centum increase in freight rates; and

"Whereas there is a movement now in progress to reduce the wages of all railway employees, although it appears that approximately five hundred thousand normally necessary railway employees are now unemployed, and many thousands of others have only part-time employment, and that the present earnings of a large percentage of the employed railway workers are less than the amount necessary for a decent livelihood; and

"Whereas responsible representatives of the railroads have indicated that financial assistance of the Federal Government will be sought in order to maintain the operations of many railroads, and to avoid further impairment of transportation service and further deferment of necessary maintenance with the resulting increase of unemployment; and

"Whereas an emergency exists requiring that a coordinated program be developed immediately to preserve continuous and efficient railroad transportation and to avoid the imposition of intolerable burdens upon either the necessary investment or the necessary labor required to maintain this essential public service; and

"Whereas there is no single agency of the Government authorized to develop such a program, or charged with full responsibility for determining the extent to which Government aid can and should be extended to meet all the needs of the present emergency: Therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That there is hereby established a joint congressional committee to be composed of the chairman, the ranking majority member, the ranking minority member, and the next ranking minority member of the Committee on Interstate Commerce of the Senate, and the chairman, the ranking majority member, the ranking minority member, and the next ranking minority member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives: Provided, however, That the chairman of the Committee on Interstate Commerce of the Senate and the chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives shall be authorized to fill any vacancies in said joint congressional committee by appointing some other member or members of their respective committees from the same political party as the member whose position is thus filled. The committee is authorized and directed to make a general investigation and study of all matters affecting the operations of common carriers by railroad subject to the interstate commerce act, with a particular view to determining to what extent the Federal Government can aid during the present emergency in preserving continuous and efficient transportation service by railroad, in alleviating the financial difficulties in which many such carriers are involved, in relieving the distress of the unemployed railroad workers, and in preventing further unemployment among such workers. The committee shall report to the Congress from time to time during the first session of the Seventy-second Congress the results of such investigation and study, together with its recommendations for necessary remedial legislation.

"For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold such hearings, to sit and act at such times and places during the first session of the Seventy-second Congress, to employ such experts, and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants, to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, to administer such oaths, and to take such testimony and to make such expenditures, as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services to report such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. The expenses of the committee, which shall not exceed $1,000, shall be paid one-half from the contingent fund of the Senate and one-half from the contingent fund of the House of Representatives, upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the committee."

RELIEF OF ECONOMIC SITUATION

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

At the convening of the Congress on December 7 I laid proposals before it designed to check the further degeneration in prices and values, to fortify us against continued shocks from world instability, and to unshackle the forces of recovery. The need is manifestly even more evident than at the date of my message a month ago. I should be derelict in my duty if I did not at this time emphasize the paramount importance to the Nation of constructive action upon these questions at the earliest possible moment. These recommendations have been largely developed in consultation with leading men of both parties, of agriculture, of labor, of banking, and of industry. They furnish the bases for full collaboration to effect these purposes. They have no partisan character. We can and must replace the unjustifiable fear in the country by confidence.

The principal subjects requiring immediate action are:

1. The strengthening of the Federal land bank system to aid the farmer and to maintain at the highest level the credit of these institutions which furnish agriculture with much-needed capital. This measure has passed the House of Representatives and is now before the Senate.

2. The creation of a reconstruction finance corporation to furnish during the period of the depression credits otherwise unobtainable under existing circumstances in order to give confidence to agriculture, industry, and labor against further paralyzing influences. By such prompt assurance we can reopen many credit channels and reestablish the normal working of our commercial organization and thus contribute greatly to reestablish the resumption of employment and stability in prices and values.

3. The creation of a system of home loan discount banks in order to revive employment by new construction and to mitigate the difficulties of many of our citizens in securing renewals of mortgages on their homes and farms. It has the further purpose of permanent encouragement of home ownership. To accomplish these purposes we must so liberate the resources of the country banks, the savings banks, and the building and loan associations as to restore these institutions to normal functioning. Under the proposal before the Congress the most of the capital of these discount banks would be subscribed by the institutions participating in their use, and such residue as might be necessary for the Federal Government to supply temporarily would be repaid in time by such institutions as in the case of the farm-loan banks when they were first organized.

4. The discount facilities of our Federal reserve banks are restricted by law more than that of the central banks in other countries. This restriction in times such as these limits the liquidity of the banks and tends to increase the forces of deflation, cripples the smaller businesses, stifles new enterprise, and thus limits employment. I recommend an enlargement of these discount privileges to take care of emergencies. To meet the needs of our situation it will not be necessary to go even as far as the current practice of foreign institutions of similar character. Such a measure has the support of most of the governors of the Federal reserve banks.

5. The development of a plan to assure early distribution to depositors in closed banks is necessary to relieve distress among millions of small depositors and small businesses and to release vast sums of money now frozen.

6. Revision of the laws relating to transportation in the direction recommended by the Interstate Commerce Commission would strengthen our principal transportation systems and restore confidence in the bonds of our railways. These bonds are held largely by our insurance companies, our savings banks and benevolent trusts, and are therefore the property of nearly every family in the United States. The railways are the largest employers of labor and purchasers of goods.

7. Revision of banking laws in order to better safeguard depositors.

8. The country must have confidence that the credit and stability of the Federal Government will be maintained by drastic economy in expenditure, by adequate increase of taxes, and by restriction of issues of Federal securities. The recent depreciation in prices of Government securities is a serious warning which reflects the fear of further large and unnecessary issues of such securities. Promptness in adopting an adequate budget relief to taxpayers by resolute economy and restriction in security issues is essential to remove this uncertainty.

Combating a depression is indeed like a great war in that it is not a battle upon a single front but upon many fronts. These measures are all a necessary addition to the efficient and courageous efforts of our citizens throughout the Nation. Our people through voluntary measures and through State and local action are providing for distress. Through the organized action of employers they are securing distribution of employment and thus mitigating the hardships of the depression. Through the mobilization of national credit associations they are aiding the country greatly. Our duty is so to supplement these steps as to make their efforts more fruitful.

The United States has the resources and resilience to make a large measure of recovery independent of the rest of the world. Our internal economy is our primary concern, and we must fortify our economic structure in order to meet any situation that may arise and by so doing lay the foundations for recovery.

This does not mean that we are insensible to the welfare of other nations or that our own self-interest is not involved in economic rehabilitation abroad, which would restore the markets for our agricultural and other commodities. But it is our duty to devote ourselves to the problems of our own internal economy, not only as the first necessity to domestic welfare but as our best contribution to the stability of the world as a whole.

Action in these matters by the Congress will go far to reestablish confidence, to restore the functioning of our economic system, and to rebuilding of prices and values and to quickening employment. Our justified hope and confidence for the future rests upon unity of our people and of the Government in prompt and courageous action.

Whereas it has been deemed necessary by the Navy Department to issue orders that American sailors and marines and American naval officers are prohibited from disembarking at Honolulu, which is American territory, because of the lawlessness and criminality rampant in said city: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the said Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs is authorized and directed to appoint a subcommittee of five Senators, who shall make a thorough investigation of conditions in the said city of Honolulu and in the Territory of Hawaii, and report its findings to the Senate at the earliest possible moment, particularly with reference to the following:

Whereas recently the New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune, two of the most reputable newspapers in the United States, printed stories of a condition of lawlessness in Hawaii, and especially in Honolulu, that is shocking to a degree; and

Whereas Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, commanding the naval base at Pearl Harbor, has made a report published in these papers condemning officials intrusted with the enforcement of laws in Honolulu and Hawaii; and

Whereas it is apparent from said report that many revolting crimes have recently been committed in Honolulu and no real efforts have been made by the authorities to punish such crimes; and

Whereas it has been deemed necessary by the Navy Department to issue orders that American sailors and marines and American naval officers are prohibited from disembarking at Honolulu, which is American territory, because of the lawlessness and criminality rampant in said city: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That a select committee of three Senators be appointed by the Vice President, who shall make a thorough investigation of conditions in the said city of Honolulu and the Territory of Hawaii, and report its findings to the Senate at the earliest possible moment, particularly with reference to the following:

(1) The character and efficiency of all executive officials, from the governor on down;

(2) The recent acts of crime committed in said city and in said Territory and the attitude of the executive officials of the law in reference to said crimes; and

(3) The attitude of the people of Hawaii toward the Navy and its personnel.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized to hold hearings; to sit and act at such times and places; to employ such experts and clerical, stenographic, and other assistants as may be deemed necessary; to require, by subpoena or otherwise, the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and documents; to administer oaths; to take testimony; and to make such expenditures as it deems advisable. The cost of stenographic services in reporting such hearings shall not be in excess of 25 cents per hundred words. Whereas it is contended that statutory protection for property and proprietary rights and ownership in original thoughts, conceptions, and ideas in art, literature, science, music, mechanics, and the useful arts is incomplete and that artists, authors, composers, scientists, technicians, and inventors are not now satisfactorily protected by statutory law in their proprietary and property rights and ownership during the progress of their original ideas and works and conception to reduction in practice, and from reduction to practice to and through sale for use, and for application and use of their original conceptions and ideas after reduction to practice or to tangible form; and

Whereas it is contended by artists, authors, scientists, and inventors and others that an idea is property and that property and proprietary rights exist in original ideas or combination of original ideas, if definitely formulated textually, graphically, or in other suitable form of expression and forwarded, and also the use or application of original ideas or combinations or original ideas irrespective of whether they are combined with physical, material, or tangible means of making practical application of such ideas; and

Whereas the subject and situation warrant careful investigation and consideration by Congress with a view to defining and protecting property and proprietary rights in such original thoughts, conceptions, and ideas: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Patents, or any duly authorized subcommittee thereof, is authorized and directed (1) to investigate the extent to which the rights of persons engaged in art, literature, science, mechanics, and the useful arts in their original thoughts, conceptions, and ideas leading to invention and discovery have been and may be considered in law, equity, and common usage as property and proprietary rights, and the extent to which such persons have been or may reasonably be protected in the commercial use of such original thoughts, conceptions, and ideas, and (2) to report to the Senate as soon as practicable, but in no event later than April 15, 1932, the results of its investigation, together with its recommendations for necessary legislation to protect for a limited time the property and proprietary rights of such persons in their original thoughts, conceptions, and ideas leading to invention and discovery.

The Vice President held that, where there was no ye and nay vote, any Senator, under the well-established precedents of the Senate, could move a reconsideration.

On the question of agreeing to Mr. Harrison's motion, Pending debate,

Mr. Robinson of Arkansas raised a question of order, viz, that, under Rule XIII, motions to recall were expressly limited to instances where papers have been transmitted to the House of Representatives, and that the motion to recall in this instance was not prerequisite to the motion to reconsider.

The Vice President sustained the point of order, stating:

"The rule in regard to the matter has specific reference only to measures which have gone to the House. There is no rule of the Senate in reference to Senate resolutions calling for information and papers from the different departments or from any commission. It is for the Senate to say whether or not it will consider the two questions together. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Mississippi."

After debate,

On the question of agreeing to Mr. Harrison's motion,

It was determined in the affirmative, Yeas..... 43 Nays..... 32

The yeas and nays being desired by one-fifth of the Senators present,

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate and agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the Senate amendment insert:

That there be, and is hereby, created a body corporate with the name "Reconstruction Finance Corporation" (herein called the corporation). That the principal office of the corporation shall be located in the District of Columbia, but there may be established agencies or branch offices in any city or cities of the United States under rules and regulations prescribed by the board of directors. This act may be cited as the "Reconstruction Finance Corporation act."

Sec. 2. The corporation shall have capital stock of $500,000,000, subscribed by the United States of America, payment for which shall be subject to call in whole or in part by the board of directors of the corporation.

There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $500,000,000, for the purpose of making payments upon such subscription when called: Provided, That $50,000,000 of the amount so subscribed, and the expansion of same through the notes, debentures, bonds, or other obligations as set out in section 9 shall be allocated and made available to the Secretary of Agriculture, which sum, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be expended by the Secretary of Agriculture for the purpose of making loans or advances to farmers in the several States of the United States in cases where he finds that an emergency exists as a result of which farmers are unable to obtain loans for crop production during the year 1932: Provided further, That the Secretary of Agriculture shall give preference in making such loans or advances to farmers who suffered from crop failures in 1931. Such advances or loans shall be made upon such terms and conditions and subject to such regulations as the Secretary of Agriculture shall prescribe. A first lien on all crops growing, or to be planted and grown, shall, in the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture, be deemed sufficient security for such loan or advance. All such loans or advances shall be made through such agencies as the Secretary of Agriculture may designate, and in such amounts as such agencies, with the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture, may determine. Any person who shall knowingly make any material false representation for the purpose of obtaining an advance or loan, or in assisting in obtaining such advance or loan under this section, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both.

Receipts for payments by the United States of America for or on account of such stock shall be issued by the corporation to the Secretary of the Treasury and shall be evidence of the stock ownership of the United States of America.

Sec. 3. The management of the corporation shall be vested in a board of directors consisting of the Secretary of the Treasury, or, in his absence, the Under Secretary of the Treasury, the governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and the Farm Loan Commissioner, who shall be members ex officio, and four other persons appointed by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Of the seven members of the board of directors not more than four shall be members of any one political party and not more than one shall be appointed from any one Federal reserve district. Each director shall devote his time not otherwise required by the business of the United States principally to the business of the corporation. Before entering upon his duties each of the directors so appointed and each officer of the corporation shall take an oath faithfully to discharge the duties of his office. Nothing contained in this or in any other act shall be construed to prevent the appointment and compensation as an employee of the corporation of any officer or employee of the United States in any board, commission, independent establishment, or executive department thereof. The terms of the directors appointed by the President of the United States shall be two years and run from the date of the enactment hereof and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Whenever a vacancy shall occur among the directors so appointed, the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall hold office for the unexpired portion of the term of the director whose place he is selected to fill. The directors of the corporation appointed as hereinbefore provided shall receive salaries at the rate of $10,000 per annum each. No director, officer, attorney, agent, or employee of the corporation shall in any manner, directly or indirectly, participate in the determination upon or the determination of any question affecting his personal interests, or the interests of any corporation, partnership, or association in which he is directly or indirectly interested.

Sec. 4. The corporation shall have succession for a period of ten years from the date of the enactment hereof, unless it is sooner dissolved by an act of Congress. It shall have power to adopt, alter, and use a corporate seal; to make contracts; to lease such real estate as may be necessary for the transaction of its business; to sue and be sued, to complain and to defend, in any court of competent jurisdiction, State or Federal; to select, employ, and fix the compensation of such officers, employees, attorneys, and agents as shall be necessary for the transaction of the business of the corporation, without regard to the provisions of other laws applicable to the employment and compensation of officers or employees of the United States; to define their authority and duties, require bonds of them and fix the penalties thereof, and to dismiss at pleasure such officers, employees, attorneys, and agents; and to prescribe, amend, and repeal, by its board of directors, by-laws, rules, and regulations governing the manner in which its general business may be conducted and the powers granted to it by law may be exercised and enjoyed, including the selection of its chairman and vice chairman, together with provisions for such committees and the functions thereof as the board of directors may deem necessary for facilitating its business under this act. The board of directors of the corporation shall determine and prescribe the manner in which its obligations shall be incurred and its expenses allowed and paid. The corporation shall be entitled to the free use of the United States mails in the same manner as the executive departments of the Government. The corporation, with the consent of any board, commission, independent establishment, or executive department of the Government, including any field service thereof, may avail itself of the use of information, services, facilities, officers, and employees thereof in carrying out the provisions of this act.

Sec. 5. To aid in financing agriculture, commerce, and industry, including facilitating the exportation of agricultural and other products the corporation is authorized and empowered to make loans, upon such terms and conditions not inconsistent with this act as it may determine, to any bank, savings bank, trust company, building and loan association, insurance company, mortgage loan company, credit union, Federal land bank, joint-stock land bank, Federal intermediate credit bank, agricultural credit corporation, livestock credit corporation, organized under the laws of any State or of the United States, including loans secured by the assets of any bank that is closed, or in process of liquidation to aid in the reorganization or liquidation of such banks, upon application of the receiver or liquidating agent of such bank, and any receiver of any national bank is hereby authorized to contract for such loans and to pledge any assets of the bank for securing the same: Provided, That not more than $200,000,000 shall be used for the relief of banks that are closed or in the process of liquidation.

All loans made under the foregoing provisions shall be fully and adequately secured. The corporation, under such conditions as it shall prescribe, may take over or provide for the administration and liquidation of any collateral accepted by it as security for such loans. Such loans may be made directly upon promissory notes or by way of discount or rediscount of obligations tendered for the purpose, or otherwise in such form and in such amount and at such interest or discount rates as the corporation may approve: Provided, That no loans or advances shall be made upon foreign securities or foreign acceptances as collateral or for the purpose of assisting in the carrying or liquidation of such foreign securities and foreign acceptances. In no case shall the aggregate amount of advances made under this section to any one corporation and its subsidiary or affiliated organizations exceed at any one time 5 per centum of (1) the authorized capital stock of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation plus (2) the aggregate amount of bonds of the corporation authorized to be outstanding when the capital stock is fully subscribed.

Each such loan may be made for a period not exceeding three years, and the corporation may from time to time extend the time of payment of any such loans, through renewal, substitution of new obligations, or otherwise, but the authorized, draws any order or issues, puts forth or assigns any note, debenture, bond, or other obligation, or draft, bill of exchange, mortgage, judgment, or decree thereof, or (3) with intent to defraud participates, shares, receives directly or indirectly any money, profit, property or benefit through any transaction, loan, commission, contract, or any other act of the corporation, or (4) gives any unauthorized information concerning any future action or plan of the corporation which might affect the value of securities, or having such knowledge, invests or speculates, directly or indirectly, in the securities or property of any company, bank, or corporation receiving loans or other assistance from the corporation, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or both.

(d) No individual, association, partnership, or corporation shall use the words "Reconstruction Finance Corporation" or a combination of these three words, as the name or a part thereof under which he or it shall do business. Every individual, partnership, association, or corporation violating this prohibition shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

(e) The provisions of sections 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, and 117 of the Criminal Code of the United States (U. S. C., title 18, ch. 5, secs. 202 to 207, inclusive) in so far as applicable, are extended to apply to contracts or agreements with the corporation under this act, which for the purposes hereof shall be held to include loans, advances, discounts, and rediscunts; extensions and renewals thereof; and acceptances, releases, and substitutions of security therefor.

Sec. 17. The right to alter, amend, or repeal this act is hereby expressly reserved. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, or part of this act shall for any reason be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this act, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

Mr. Jones raised a question of order, viz, that the amendment was new legislation on an appropriation bill, that it was more than a limitation, and that paragraph 2 of Rule XVI applied not only to a general but to any appropriation bill.

"The Chair is satisfied that it is more than a limitation. Whereas the United States has appointed delegates to the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva; and

Whereas it is essential to the peace and welfare of the world that this conference shall not discuss and perpetuate armament but shall provide for genuine disarmament, and actual laying down of arms by the peoples of the world; and

Whereas the United States is a signatory to the general pact (or Kellogg pact) signed at Paris, August 27, 1928: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate recommend to said delegates that they be ever mindful of the fact that they are representatives of a Nation which has renounced war; that they refuse to concern themselves with the war plans and war preparations of any nation or with such irrelevant matters as budgets, percentages, man power, effectives, gun elevations, or with any other detail of organized murder, the mere discussion of which presupposes the continuation of the war system and the violation of the general pact; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate urges the said delegates to secure the agreement of the conference to the following multilateral treaty, which shall be sent by the delegates to their respective governments for approval and ratification

"ARTICLE 1. The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another.

"ART. 2. The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means.

"ART. 3. The high contracting parties pledge themselves in the names of their respective peoples to immediate and complete disarmament, and hereby declare that it shall be a violation of international law for any nation, state, or subdivision thereof, or for any league, group, or association of nations, to take part in any war, offensive or defensive, or to prepare for, declare, or carry on any armed expedition, invasion, or undertaking, or to raise, appropriate, or expend funds for such purposes."

INTERFERENCE WITH RADIO BROADCASTING

Mr. Dill submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 163), which was referred to the Committee on Interstate Commerce:

Whereas radio broadcasting stations in Mexico and Cuba are using frequencies being used by radio broadcasting stations in the United States and thereby causing interference with the service of said stations to the American people, and it is reliably reported that a number of additional radio broadcasting stations are planned and under construction near the American border of Mexico; and

Whereas there is no international agreement or treaty dividing the use of frequencies for radio broadcasting among the nations of North America, and only by such an international agreement can the Governments of these countries protect the radio broadcasting stations within their borders from interference by radio broadcasting stations in other North American countries; and

Whereas the value of vast investments in the radio broadcasting business in the United States and good reception by the receiving sets of the millions of listeners in the United States are dependent upon the prevention of interference by radio broadcasting stations located in adjoining countries: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate hereby requests the Secretary of State, with the assistance of the Federal Radio Commission, to negotiate international agreements with Canada, Mexico, and Cuba, and any other countries he may deem advisable either separately or by joint convention for the protection of radio broadcasting stations in all of these countries from interference with one another, whereby a fair and equitable division of the use of radio facilities allocated for broadcasting under the international radio telegraph convention of Washington, in 1927, may be made.

Such amount shall be in addition to any amounts heretofore authorized to be appropriated for such purposes, but not more than $125,000,000 authorized in this section shall be expended in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932.

Sec. 2. The sums appropriated pursuant to the authorization contained in section 1 shall, from time to time, be apportioned by the Secretary of Agriculture among the several States in the manner provided by section 21 of the Federal highway act, as amended, and shall be available for expenditure upon highway projects approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, in the same manner as other funds appropriated for carrying out the provisions of such act; except that no part of such amounts apportioned to any State need be matched by State funds, but the same may be used to meet the provisions of such act as to State funds required on Federal-aid projects, and except that in the expenditure of such sum the limitations contained in the Federal highway act, as amended, upon construction within municipalities of two thousand five hundred or more population and upon the payments per mile which may be made from Federal funds shall not apply. The work on highways shall be done in such manner as to use the maximum amount of human labor consistent with economy, and preference in employment shall be given to the unemployed. When the Secretary of Agriculture finds that any highway project approved by him in any State has been constructed or reconstructed in compliance with the plans and specifications relating thereto, he shall cause to be paid the proper authorities of the State, out of amounts appropriated pursuant to this act, an amount equal to the total cost of such project, and may, in his discretion, from time to time make such payments on such construction or reconstruction as the same progresses; but the total amount so paid to the State shall not exceed the amount apportioned to that State as hereinbefore provided: Provided, That of the sum, authorized to be appropriated by section 1 hereof, it shall be discretionary with the Secretary of Agriculture, from time to time, to apportion not to exceed $9,000,000 in accordance with the provisions of the second paragraph of section 3 of the Federal highway act, as amended June 24, 1930, and to expend the sum so apportioned in accordance therewith; he also may, in his discretion, from time to time, apportion not to exceed the sum of $37,500,000 for carrying out the provisions of section 23 of the Federal highway act, as amended and supplemented.

Not more than $125,000,000 of this amount shall be expended in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932.

Sec. 4. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to deduct from amounts appropriated pursuant to section 3 of this act so much as may be necessary for administrative expenses incurred hereunder and the balance of the amounts so appropriated shall be apportioned among the several States in the proportion which their population bears to the total population of the States of the United States according to the Fifteenth Decennial Census. Such apportionment shall be made by the Secretary of the Treasury within ten days after an appropriation has been made under the authority of this act and he shall immediately certify to the governors of the several States the amount apportioned to each State. The amounts so apportioned to any State shall be available for payment to and expenditure by such State, for the purposes of this act, until the expiration of two years after the date of the enactment of this act.

Sec. 5. Payments to the States of the amounts so apportioned shall be made by the Secretary of the Treasury, but no such payment shall be made to any State until the governor thereof has submitted a request for such payment to the Secretary of the Treasury, accompanied by a statement that the amount so requested is necessary for emergency relief in such State and that such fund is necessary in addition to funds at the time available from public or private sources. At the time of making any such request the governor shall agree that he will make the reports provided by section 6. The governor shall also include in his statement an estimate of the amount required for such relief and a list of the agencies within the State by which the amount requested will be administered. No such payment shall be in excess of the amount shown by such estimate to be required nor in excess of one-half of the total amount apportioned to the State as herein provided. Additional requests may be made from time to time until the State has received the full amount to which it is entitled under such apportionment, but a period of at least ninety days shall elapse between successive requests: Provided, That in any State where no state-wide board of charities exists, or no special emergency organization has been set up, the amount allotted to any such State shall be distributed by the action of the governor and the State board constituted for controlling the financial affairs of such State, if such board exists, and if it does not exist, by the governor: Provided further, That if within three years after the approval of this act any State to which advances have been made under sections 3, 4, and 5 of this act has not made provision for the repayment of the same, there shall be deducted thereafter for each of the following years an amount equal to one-fifth part of the sums so advanced from any sums that would be paid to any such State by virtue of allocations from any appropriation or appropriations that may be made pursuant to and to carry out the purposes of the Federal highway act.

Sec. 6. Reports shall be made by the governor of each State to which a payment is made pursuant to this act, quarterly, to the President and to the Senate and the House of Representatives (or the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives, if those bodies are not in session) and each such report shall show the total

Sec. 2. The amounts apportioned or allocated to any State under this act shall be available for payment to and expenditure by such State, for the purposes of this act, until the expiration of two years after the date of enactment of this act.

Sec. 3. In order to obtain payments out of the appropriations authorized in section 1 of this act a State, through its governor, shall cooperate with the President. Relief shall be administered within each State under rules and regulations adopted by the governor and approved by the President in accordance with section 4 of this act.

Sec. 4. The governor of any State making application for funds under this act shall submit at such times as may be prescribed by the President plans for carrying out the provisions of this act within such State. The plans shall be subject to the approval of the President and shall, within the discretion of the President, include the following: (1) An estimate of the amounts appropriated or otherwise made available, and of the amounts actually expended, for emergency relief by public and private agencies in the State, for the calendar years 1929, 1930, and 1931; (2) an estimate of the amounts necessary to meet the needs of emergency relief in the State in the calendar year 1932 and, upon call of the President, in the calendar year 1933; (3) provision for adequate State administrative personnel, whose qualifications to administer relief activities shall meet with the approval of the President; and (4) provision satisfactory to the President for securing the benefits contemplated by this act to persons within the State, irrespective of the period of residence within the State.

Sec. 5. The President may revoke any existing allotment of funds or withhold any further allotment of funds whenever he shall determine, as to any State, that the State has not properly expended or supervised the expenditure of moneys paid to it in accordance with the plans approved under this act. Before any such allotment shall be revoked or withheld from any State the President shall give notice in writing to the State stating specifically wherein the State has failed to comply with such plans.

In either case the decision of the President as to the purpose of any expenditure shall be final.

REORGANIZATION OF EXECUTIVE BRANCH OF GOVERNMENT

The Vice President laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

Because of its direct relation to the cost of government, I desire again to bring to the attention of the Congress the necessity of more effective organization of the executive branch of the Government, the importance of which I have referred to in previous messages. This subject has been considered many times by the Executive and by the Congress, but without substantial results. Various projects are now before the Congress.

The need for reorganization is obvious. There has been with the years a gradual growth of the Government by the accretion in its departments and by independent executive establishments, boards, and commissions as problems requiring solution confront the President and the Congress. To-day the Government embraces from 150 to 200 separate units, dependent on the method of notation used. Governmental units when once set up have a tendency to grow independently of other units. This leads to overlapping and waste. Moreover, there is a marked tendency to find new occupations when the initial duties are completed. The overlap and the number of agencies can be reduced.

A few consolidations, notably in law enforcement and the veterans' services, have been effected. Both of these reorganized agencies have been able to discharge the very greatly increased burdens imposed upon them without such an increase in administrative expense as would otherwise have been the case.

In the present crisis the absolute necessity for the most drastic economy makes the problem of governmental reorganization one of paramount importance. The amount of saving in public funds to be effected by a thoroughgoing reorganization, while difficult to estimate accurately, will be material, amounting to many millions of dollars annually. Not only will the Government's business be conducted more efficiently and economically but the great body of citizens who have business relations with their Government will be relieved of the burden and expense of dealing with a multitude of unnecessary and sometimes widely separated public agencies.

We may frankly admit the practical difficulties of such reorganization. Not only do different fractions of the Government fear such reorganization, but many associations and agencies throughout the country will be alarmed that the particular function to which they are devoted may in some fashion be curtailed. Proposals to the Congress of detailed plans for the reorganization of the many different bureaus and independent agencies have always proved in the past to be a signal for the mobilization of opposition from all quarters which has destroyed the possibility of constructive action.

There is little hope for success in this task unless it is placed in the hands of some one responsible for it, with authority and direction to act. Moreover, the consummation of a comprehensive reorganization at one moment is not in the best public interest. Such reorganization should be undertaken gradually and systematically, predicated on a sound and definite theory of government and effectuated as the result of study and experience gained in the actual processes of reorganization.

I recommend, therefore, that the Congress provide for—

(a) Consolidation and grouping of the various executive and administrative activities according to their major purposes under single-headed responsibility, the Congress designating the title of the officer to be placed in immediate charge of such groups as are not now possible under existing organization.

(b) Adoption of the general principle that executive and administrative functions should have single-headed responsibility and that advisory, regulatory, and quasi judicial functions should be performed by boards and commissions, thus permitting the transfer of certain regulatory functions from executive officials to existing boards or commissions and executive functions from boards and commissions to executive officials.

(c) Authority under proper safeguards to be lodged in the President to effect these transfers and consolidations and authority to redistribute executive groups in the 10 executive departments of the Government or in the independent establishments, as the President may determine, by Executive order, such Executive order to lie before the Congress for 60 days during sessions thereof before becoming effective, but becoming effective at the end of such period unless the Congress shall request suspension of action.

The 10 major executive departments and the major regulatory and financial boards and commissions should of course be maintained. Some of these existing agencies are already organized upon the basis of their major purpose, but functions of the same major purpose now outside of these groups should be transferred to them.

It will be necessary also to authorize changes in titles of some officials and to create a few new positions in order to permit grouping and consolidation not now possible. With the enormous growth of governmental business there has been great expansion and diffusion of authority amongst minor officials. At the same time, there is an insufficient number of officials of definite and concentrated responsibility to the public. The additional expense of such officers over and above the salaries now paid to officials who would be displaced would be less than $40,000 per annum. The saving in cost of administration would be many times this sum. The most important of the posts of this character are the following:

Public Works Administrator (new office).

Personnel Administrator (change from chairman of Civil Service Commission).

Assistant Secretary for Public Health (new).

Assistant Secretary for Education (change from commissioner).

Assistant Secretary for Merchant Marine (new office).

Assistant Secretary for Conservation (new office).

Assistant Secretary for Agricultural Research (change from present Assistant Secretary).

Assistant Secretary for Agricultural Economics (change from director).

The establishment of an Assistant Secretary for Merchant Marine would enable the consummation of the proposals in my message of December 8 in respect to the Shipping Board.

The public works administration should be partially a service agency to the other departments of the Government, executing certain construction work, the subsequent operation of which should be carried on by those departments. It should be also partially an agency administering certain contract work which can not be delegated to any one department. Naval, military, and some other highly specialized construction work should not be transferred to this agency. The supervision and construction of rivers and harbors work should be continued under direction of the Army engineers, who should be delegated by the Secretary of War to the service of the administrator of public works for this purpose.

The personnel administration should comprise various agencies relating to the personnel of the Government as a service agency to all departments of the Government. I recommend that the Civil Service Commission should be maintained as an advisory body to the personnel administrator, and the approval of this body should be required in all regulatory questions. The personnel administrator should be the chairman of the commission. Other functions relating to the personnel of the Government should be transferred to the personnel administration as may be deemed wise from time to time.

RECLAMATION SERVICE

With respect to certain agencies in the Government, I recommend a separate legislative reorganization of policy. The first of these is the Reclamation Service. Reclamation should have a broader import than that of bringing unproductive land under cultivation. We do not need further additions to our agricultural land at present. Additional agricultural production except such marginal expansion as present projects warrant is inadvisable.

The conservation of water by storage is required, not alone in the West but in all parts of the country.

The effective development of water conservation through storage is largely an interstate question in the aid of domestic and industrial water supply, transportation, irrigation, and flood control. Where construction work for storage relates to these larger issues, it is properly the work of the Federal Government. Where water power is developed as a by-product, it should be disposed of in advance by contracts which will fairly reimburse the Government for its outlay. The Reclamation Service should be extended to cover these broad purposes of storage and conservation of water rather than the narrow purpose of irrigation. Such important projects as the dam at Boulder Canyon, the dam at Cove Creek, and the development of the Columbia, should ultimately be undertaken when there is need for such service and when contracts can be made for the sale of power to amortize the cost of construction to the Government. The actual construction work under this plan should be carried out by the public works administrator and the completed projects administered by the Reclamation Service.

CONSERVATION OF WESTERN RANGES

There should be a change in policy in dealing with public lands if we are to preserve their value for grazing and other purposes. The committee on conservation and administration of the public domain, authorized by act of the Congress approved April 10, 1930, completed the task assigned to it a year ago. Its report has been transmitted to Members of the Congress. Legislation carrying into effect the recommendation of the committee also is before the Congress. These proposals are the result of painstaking study and earnest deliberation. They offer a solution of the problems, connected with this remnant of our public domain, which have persisted for the past 25 years. I commend the report to the attention of the Congress, deeming the legislation of sufficient importance to justify early action.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, I can not recommend too strongly that the Congress give the subject of effective organization of the executive branch of the Government its early and serious attention. It is an essential part of a sound reconstruction and economy program. A patchwork organization compels inefficiency, waste, and extravagance. Economy and efficiency can come only through modernization. A proper reorganization of our departments, commissions, and bureaus will result not only in much greater efficiency and public convenience but in the saving of many millions of dollars now extracted annually from our overburdened taxpayers.

CEREMONIES IN COMMEMORATION OF THE TWO HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

On motion by Mr. Watson, at 11 o'clock and 30 minutes a. m.,

The Senate proceeded to the Hall of the House of Representatives, where the two Houses, in accordance with the provisions of House Concurrent Resolution 12, assembled in commemoration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

During the ceremonies, the President of the United States addressed the two Houses as follows:

The Senate, the House of Representatives, and my fellow citizens, just 100 years ago in this city Daniel Webster, in commemoration of the birth of George Washington, said:

"A hundred years hence other disciples of Washington will celebrate his birth with no less of sincere admiration than we now commemorate it. When they shall meet, as we now meet, to do themselves and him that honor, so surely as they shall see the blue summits of his native mountains rise in the horizon, so surely as they shall behold the river on whose banks he lived, and on whose banks he rests, still flowing on toward the sea, so surely may they see, as we now see, the flag of the Union floating on top of the Capitol; and then, as now, may the sun in his course visit no land more free, more happy, more lovely than this, our own country." [Applause.]

The time that Webster looked forward to is here. We "other disciples of Washington" whom he foresaw are gathered to-day. His prophecy is borne out, his hope fulfilled. That flag "still floats from the top of the Capitol." It has come unscathed through foreign war and the threat of internal division. Its only change is the symbol of growth. The 13 stars that Washington saw, and the 24 that Webster looked upon, now are 48. The number of those who pay loyalty to that flag has multiplied tenfold. The respect for it beyond our borders, already great when Webster spoke a hundred years ago, has increased—not only in proportion to the power it symbolizes but even more by the measure in which other peoples have embraced the ideals for which it stands. To Webster's expression of hope we may reasonably answer, Yes—"The sun in its course visits no land more free, more happy, more lovely than this, our own country." Proudly we report to our forefathers that the Republic is more secure, more constant, more powerful, more truly great than at any other time in its history.

To-day the American people begin a period of tribute and gratitude to this man whom we revere above all other Americans. Continuing until Thanksgiving Day they will commemorate his birth in every home, every school, every church, and every community under our flag.

In all this multitude of shrines and forums they will recount the life history and accomplishments of Washington. It is a time in which we will pause to recall for our own guidance, and to summarize and emphasize for the benefit of our children the experiences, the achievements, the dangers escaped, the errors redressed—all the lessons that constitute the record of our past.

The ceremonial of commemorating the founder of our country is one of the most solemn that either an individual or a nation ever performs; carried out in high spirit it can be made one of the most fruitful and enriching. It is a thing to be done in the mood of prayer, of communing with the spiritual springs of patriotism, and of devotion to country. It is an occasion for looking back to our past, for taking stock of our present, and, in the light of both, setting the compass for our future. We look back that we may recall those qualities of Washington's character which made him great, those principles of national conduct which he laid down, and by which we have come thus far. We meet to reestablish our contact with them, renew our fidelity to them.

From this national revival of interest in the history of the American Revolution and of the independence of the United States will come a renewal of those inspirations which strengthened the patriots who brought to the world a new concept of human liberty and a new form of government.

So rich and vivid is the record of history that Washington in our day lives again in the epic of the foundation of the Republic. He appears in the imagination of every succeeding generation as the embodiment of the wisdom, the courage, the patience, the endurance, the statesmanship, and the absence of all mean ambition, which transformed scattered communities of the forest and the frontiers into a unity of free and independent people.

It is not necessary for me to attempt a eulogy of George Washington. That has been done by masters of art and poetry during more than a hundred years. To what they have said I attempt to make no addition.

The true eulogy of Washington is this mighty Nation. He contributed more to its origins than any other man. The influence of his character and of his accomplishments has contributed to the building of human freedom and ordered liberty, not alone upon this continent, but upon all continents. The part which he played in the creation of our institutions has brought daily harvest of happiness to hundreds of millions of humanity. The inspirations from his genius have lifted the vision of succeeding generations. The definitions of those policies in government which he fathered have stood the test of 150 years of strain and stress.

From the inspiration and the ideals which gave birth to this Nation there has come the largest measure of liberty that man has yet devised. So securely were the foundations of this free Government laid that the structure has been able to adapt itself to the changing world relations, the revolutions of invention and the revelations of scientific discovery, the fabulous increase of population and of wealth, and yet to stand the kaleidoscopic complexities of life which these changes have brought upon it.

What other great, purely human institution, devised in the era of the stagecoach and the candle, has so marvelously grown and survived into this epoch of the steam engine, the airplane, the incandescent lamp, the wireless telephone, and the battleship?

If we are to get refreshment to our ideals from looking backward to Washington, we should strive to identify the qualities in him that made our revolution a success and our Nation great. Those were the qualities that marked Washington out for immortality.

We find they were not spectacular qualities. He never charged with a victorious army up the capital streets of a conquered enemy. Excepting only Yorktown and Trenton, he won no striking victories. His great military strength was in the strategy of attrition, the patient endurance of adversity, steadfast purpose unbent by defeat. The American shrine most associated with Washington is Valley Forge, and Valley Forge was not a place of victory—except the victory of Washington's fortitude triumphant above the weakness and discouragement of lesser men. Washington had courage without excitement, determination without passion.

The description of George Washington by his contemporaries give us no clear picture of the inner man, the Washington whose spiritual force so palpably dominated his whole epoch. As a mirror, his own writings do him indifferent justice, whilst the writings of others are clouded by their awe or are obscured by their venom. We must deduce mainly from other records why he stood out head and shoulders above all the crowd around him. It was an extraordinary crowd, living at white heat, comprising men as varied, as brilliant, as versatile as the extraordinary demands which the times made upon them. They were men flexible in intellect and versed in the ways of the world. Yet in every crisis, and for every rôle, they turned to Washington. They forced upon him the command of Indian fighters; they made him a general against trained British troops; they demanded that he be a constitutionalist and a national statesman; they insisted he must guide his country through the skillful ambushes of European kings; they summoned him to establish the nonexistent credit of an insolvent infant nation. Why did his brilliant fellow patriots always thus turn to him?

The answer of history is unmistakable: They brought their problems to Washington because he had more character, a finer character, a purer character, than any other man of his time. In all the shifting pressures of his generation all men acknowledged that the one irresistible force was the overwhelming impact of his moral power. Motives and men were measured by their stature when standing in his shadow. Slander fell harmless before him, sham hung its head in shame, folly did not risk to look him in the face, corruption slunk from his presence, cowardice dared not show its quaking knees.

In his integrity all our men of genius in his day found their one sure center of agreement. In his wisdom and authority they found the one sure way to practical fulfillment of their dreams.

We need no attempt at canonization of George Washington. We know he was human, subject to the discouragements and perplexities that come to us all. We know that he had moments of deepest anxiety. We know of his sufferings, and the sacrifices and anguish that came to him. We know of his resentment of injustice and misrepresentation. And yet we know that he never lost faith in our people.

Nor have I much patience with those who undertake the irrational humanizing of Washington. He had, indeed, the fine qualities of friendliness, of sociableness, of humanness, of simple hospitality; but we have no need to lower our vision from his unique qualities of greatness, or to seek to depreciate the unparalleled accomplishments of the man who dominated and gave birth to the being of a great nation.

What we have need of to-day in this celebration is to renew in our people the inspiration that comes from George Washington as a founder of human liberty, as the father of a system of government, as the builder of a system of national life.

It is of primary importance that we of to-day shall renew that spark of immortal purpose which burned within him, shall know of the resolution and the steadfastness which carried him forward to the establishment of a nation. That establishment was not a momentary flash of impulse, in a people rebellious and passionate under oppression, destined to fade into the chaos so often born of revolutions. On the contrary, it was built upon foundations of principles and ideals which have given the power and strength that made this Nation and inspired the establishment of ordered liberty in a score of other nations.

We have need to refresh to the remembrance of the American people the great tests and trials of character of the men who founded our Republic. We have need to remember the fiber of those men who brought to successful conclusion the eight years of revolution. We have need again to bring forth the picture of the glories and the valor of Lexington and Concord, of Bunker Hill, the suffering and fortitude of Valley Forge, the victory of Yorktown. We have need to revive the meaning and the sheer moral courage of the Declaration of Independence, the struggles of the Continental Congress, the forming of the Constitution. We have need at all times to review the early crises of the Republic, the consolidation of the Union, the establishment of national solidarity, the building of an administration of government, and the development of guarantees of freedom. No incident and no part in these great events, which have echoed and reechoed throughout the world for a century and a half, can be separated from the name and the dominant leadership of George Washington.

Upon these foundations of divine inspiration laid by our forefathers, and led by Washington, our Nation has builded up during this century and a half a new system of life, a system unique to the American people. It is hallowed by the sacrifice and glorious valor of men. It is assured by a glorious charter of human rights.

It comprises a political system of self-government by the majority, resting upon the duties of individual men to the community, and of the local communities to the Nation. It is a government designed in spirit to sustain a dual purpose; to protect our people among nations by great national power, and to preserve individual freedom by local self-government.

It comprises a social system free of inherited position, based upon the ideal of equality of all men before the law, the equal privilege of men to strive and to achieve, and the responsibilities of men to their neighbors.

It embraces an economic system based upon the largest degree of freedom and stimulation to initiative and enterprise which can be permitted and still maintain the ideal of equality of opportunity among men.

Finally, it embraces a system of relationships to other nations based upon no thought of imperialism, no desire to dominate; a determined national self-reliance in defense and independence in action; freedom from all commitment to the unknown future, and an aspiration to promote peace and good will among all men.

Perhaps no single part of this system is different from some instance in history or in some other part of the world. But in its composite form it is distinctly unique and distinctly American, a system under which we have reached an assured position among the most powerful of the nations of the world.

This destiny of national greatness was clearly foreseen by George Washington. More fully than any man of his time was he gifted with vision of the future. He spoke habitually of the "American Empire," and predicted its expansion from ocean to ocean. He planned and wrought for the binding forces of transportation and peaceful commerce. He thought in terms of almost imperial grandeur, and he wrought in terms of republican solidity. His far-flung dreams have come true, and he lives to-day in his works, in the names of our towns or cities and our States, and in the affectionate reverence of us who so immeasurably benefit by his wisdom.

Our American system of national life is dependent upon a trust in the principles of government as established by George Washington; a trust in his example to our people; a trust in and a devotion to religious faith, which he himself so devoutly practiced; a trust in that divine inspiration which he so sedulously invoked and which is expressed in the common mind of our people; and above all a trust in the divine Providence which has always given guidance to our country.

From Washington's spirit there has grown an infusion of social ideals with the quality of magnanimity—upholding prosperity with generosity, dignity with forbearance, security without privilege, which has raised our institutions to a level of humanity and nobility nowhere else attained.

We have the faith that Webster expressed, that a hundred years hence our countrymen will again celebrate his birth, will review the memory of his services with no less sincere admiration and gratitude than we now commemorate it, and that they, too, will see, as we now see, "the flag of the Union floating on the top of the Capitol."

From the room where I conduct my high office I hourly see the monument which Washington's proud and grateful countrymen have raised to his memory. It stands foursquare to the world, its base rooted steadfast in the solid substance of American soil. Its peak rises toward the heavens with matchless serenity and calm. Massive in its proportions, as was the character of Washington himself, overwhelming in its symmetry, simplicity, and sincerity, it most fittingly, beautifully, and nobly proclaims the founder of our Commonwealth and our acceptance of his faith. Around that monument have grown steadily and surely the benevolent and beneficent agencies of orderly government dedicated to the spirit of Washington.

Beyond any other monument built by the hand of man out of clay and stone, this shaft is a thing of the spirit. Whether seen in darkness or in light, in brightness or in gloom, there is about it a mantle of pure radiance which gives it the aspect of eternal truth. It is a pledge in the sight of all mankind, given by Washington's countrymen, to carry forward the continuing fulfillment of his vision of America.

INVESTIGATIONS OF MOTION-PICTURE INDUSTRY

Mr. Brookhart submitted the following resolution (S. Res. 170), which was referred to the Committee on Interstate Commerce:

Whereas the transportation, distribution, and licensing of motion-picture films and accessories as commonly practiced have been held to constitute interstate trade and commerce; and

Whereas it has been alleged that the business of producing, distributing, and exhibiting motion pictures is carried on by various corporations and individuals in violation of the antitrust laws; and

Whereas it has been alleged that the motion-picture industry has made no bona fide effort to censor screen material and is producing, releasing, and exhibiting many pictures that are indecent and otherwise unfit for public display; and

Whereas it has been alleged that the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America (Inc.), of which Mr. Will Hays is president, is primarily a political organization and has exercised undue influence with private, State, and Federal agencies in matters affecting the motion-picture industry; and

Whereas petitions have been received from various persons, organizations, and publications asking that the motion-picture industry be investigated and proposing legislation to remedy alleged abuses in the motion-picture business: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Interstate Commerce be, and it is hereby, empowered and directed forthwith to make a sweeping and thorough investigation of the organization, financing, and practices of the motion-picture industry in the United States, and particularly to investigate and report on the following:

1. The organization, functions, and financing of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America (Inc.), the purposes and accomplishments of said organization; and the extent to which the members thereof have cooperated through said agency to suppress competition and restrain trade.

2. The activities of the members of said Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America to monopolize or control said industry by such devices as uniform sales contracts, compulsory arbitration, withholding of product from independent theaters, allocation of product to controlled theaters, unfair and unreasonable zoning and protection, block booking, and other unfair practices.

3. The efforts of the theater-owning producers to regulate the admission prices of independent theaters by limitations in so-called percentage contracts and by withholding film for unreasonable periods from low-admission houses.

4. The degree of diligence shown by the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission in prosecuting alleged violations of the antitrust laws by motion-picture companies and the reasons for the delay in pressing pending cases; and, if there has been lack of diligence, whether it is the result of the activities of Mr. Will Hays, or the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America.

5. The capitalization of the larger companies in the motion-picture industry and the methods by which they were financed, particularly during the past six years, and the reasons for the great shrinkage in the value of their securities in the hands of the public.

6. The relations—corporate, contractual, and otherwise—between the producers and distributors of motion pictures, on the one hand, and the manufacturers of electrical equipment for reproducing sound in theaters, the principal music publishing houses, and the manufacturers of so-called screen trailers, on the other hand, and the effect of such relations on the independent theater owners and the public.

7. The organization and operation of the so-called copyright protection bureau and the connection between said bureau and the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, and the truth of the assertion that said bureau under color of the copyright law has extorted penalties from theater owners which bear no relation to actual damages resulting from alleged infringements.

8. The facts in reference to the so-called Hays Morality Code, whether it was promulgated in a bona fide effort to improve conditions on the screen or whether it was intended as a mere blind to silence criticism, the extent to which it has been obeyed or evaded; and, if it has been obeyed, whether it is adequate to protect the public from indecent and obnoxious pictures.

9. The efforts of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America to influence public opinion in favor of the industry and to silence criticism by propaganda, by the employment or subsidizing members or employees of various national organizations, and by efforts to control the action of such organizations.

10. The activities of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors, and by efforts to control the action of such organizations of theater owners, to subsidize those that conform to the Hays policies, and to interfere with the financing and operation of those that do not.

11. The effect of the independent theater owners and on the public of percentage playing, as now required by the larger producing companies, and particularly of so-called selective percentage playing under which the producer designates the days on which its pictures must be played: Be it further

Resolved, That the Committee on Interstate Commerce inform the Senate fully as to any change in the antitrust laws, the copyright laws, the laws against using the mails to defraud, and any new measures which may be necessary or desirable to cure any abuses which may be found to exist in the organization, financing, and practices of the motion-picture industry: And be it further

Resolved, That the Committee on Interstate Commerce in the discharge of its duty under this resolution, be and it is hereby authorized to employ such attorneys and investigators as it may deem necessary fully to comply with this resolution.

Mr. Glass submitted the following conference report:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 9203) to improve the facilities of the Federal reserve system for the service of commerce, industry, and agriculture, to provide means for meeting the needs of member banks in exceptional circumstances, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference, have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the Senate amendment insert:

That the Federal reserve act, as amended, is further amended by inserting, between sections 10 and 11 thereof, a new section reading as follows:

"Sec. 10. (a) Upon receiving the consent of not less than five members of the Federal Reserve Board, any Federal reserve bank may make advances, in such amount as the board of directors of such Federal reserve bank may determine, to groups of five or more member banks within its district, a majority of them independently owned and controlled, upon their time or demand promissory notes, provided the bank or banks which receive the proceeds of such advances as herein provided have no adequate amounts of eligible and acceptable assets available to enable such bank or banks to obtain sufficient credit accommodations from the Federal reserve bank through discounts or advances other than as provided in section 10 (b). The liability of the individual banks in each group must be limited to such proportion of the total amount advanced to such group as the deposit liability of the respective banks bears to the aggregate deposit liability of all banks in such group, but such advances may be made to a lesser number of such member banks if the aggregate amount of their deposit liability constitutes at least 10 per centum of the entire deposit liability of the member banks within such district. Such banks shall be authorized to distribute the proceeds of such loans to such of their number and in such amount as they may agree upon, but before so doing they shall require such recipient banks to deposit with a suitable trustee, representing the entire group, their individual notes made in favor of the group protected by such collateral security as may be agreed upon. Any Federal reserve bank making such advance shall charge interest or discount thereon at a rate not less than 1 per centum above its discount rate in effect at the time of making such advance. No such note upon which advances are made by a Federal reserve bank under this section shall be eligible under section 16 of this act as collateral security for Federal reserve notes.

"No obligations of any foreign government, individual, partnership, association, or corporation organized under the laws thereof shall be eligible as collateral security for advances under this section.

"Member banks are authorized to obligate themselves in accordance with the provisions of this section."

Sec. 2. The Federal reserve act, as amended, is further amended by adding, immediately after such new section 10 (a), an additional new section, reading as follows:

"Sec. 10. (b) Until March 3, 1933, and in exceptional and exigent circumstances, and when any member bank, having a capital of not exceeding $5,000,000, has no further eligible and acceptable assets available to enable it to obtain adequate credit accommodations through rediscounting at the Federal reserve bank or any other method provided by this act other than that provided by section 10 (a), any Federal reserve bank, subject in each case to affirmative action by not less than five members of the Federal Reserve Board, may make advances to such member bank on its time or demand promissory notes secured to the satisfaction of such Federal reserve bank: Provided, That (1) each such note shall bear interest at a rate not less than 1 per centum per annum higher than the highest discount rate in effect at such Federal reserve bank on the date of such note; (2) the Federal Reserve Board may by regulation limit and define the classes of assets which may be accepted as security for advances made under authority of this section; (3) no note accepted for any such advance shall be eligible as collateral security for Federal reserve notes.

"No obligations of any foreign government, individual, partnership, association, or corporation organized under the laws thereof shall be eligible as collateral security for advances under this section."

Sec. 3. The second paragraph of section 16 of the Federal reserve act, as amended, is amended to read as follows:

"Any Federal reserve bank may make application to the local Federal reserve agent for such amount of the Federal reserve notes hereinbefore provided for as it may require. Such application shall be accompanied with a tender to the local Federal reserve agent of collateral in amount equal to the sum of the Federal reserve notes thus applied for and issued pursuant to such application. The collateral security thus offered shall be notes, drafts, bills of exchange, or acceptances acquired under the provisions of section 13 of this act, or bills of exchange indorsed by a member bank of any Federal reserve district and purchased under the provisions of section 14 of this act, or bankers' acceptances purchased under the provisions of said section 14, or gold or gold certificates: Provided, however, That until March 3, 1933, should the Federal Reserve Board deem it in the public interest, it may, upon the affirmative vote of not less than a majority of its members, authorize the Federal reserve banks to offer, and the Federal reserve agents to accept, as such collateral security, direct obligations of the United States. On March 3, 1933, or sooner should the Federal Reserve Board so decide, such authorization shall terminate and such obligations of the United States be retired as security for Federal reserve notes. In no event shall such collateral security be less than the amount of Federal reserve notes applied for. The Federal reserve agent shall each day notify the Federal Reserve Board of all issues and withdrawals of Federal reserve notes to and by the Federal reserve bank to which he is accredited. The said Federal Reserve Board may at any time call upon a Federal reserve bank for additional security to protect the Federal reserve notes issued to it."

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Haltigan, one of its clerks:

Mr. President: The Speaker of the House of Representatives having signed two enrolled bills, viz. S. 315 and H. R. 9203, I am directed to bring the same to the Senate for the signature of its President.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED

Mr. Vandenberg (for Mr. Waterman), from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that they had examined and found truly enrolled the following bills:

S. 315. An act for the relief of Lemuel Simpson; and

H. R. 9203. An act to improve the facilities of the Federal reserve system for the service of commerce, industry, and agriculture, to provide means for meeting the needs of member banks in exceptional circumstances, and for other purposes.

The President pro tempore thereupon signed the same and they were delivered to the committee to be presented to the President of the United States.

ALEXANDER M. PROCTOR

The President pro tempore laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate:

I return herewith Senate bill 2179, an act for the relief of Alexander M. Proctor.

I am advised that this bill would not operate to change the records of the War Department, nor would it authorize the issue of a certificate of honorable discharge to Alexander M. Proctor, but that under its provisions Mr. Proctor would be entitled to a pension at the rate of $50 (maximum) per month under the act of March 3, 1927, known as the Indian war pension act. The relief appealed for by Mr. Proctor is for a change in his military record to an honorable discharge. This the bill does not accomplish. I am assured also that Mr. Proctor neither desires nor needs a pension. Therefore, I am returning the bill without my approval.

HERBERT HOOVER.

THE WHITE HOUSE, February 26, 1932.

The Senate proceeded, as the Constitution prescribes, to reconsider the said bill, returned by the President of the United States, with his objections, to the Senate, in which it originated, which bill is in the following words:

[S. 2179. Seventy-second Congress of the United States of America, at the first session, begun and held at the city of Washington on Monday, the seventh day of December, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one]

AN ACT For the relief of Alexander M. Proctor

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That in the administration of any laws conferring rights, privileges, and benefits upon honorably discharged soldiers Alexander M. Proctor, late of Company B, Twenty-third Regiment United States Infantry, shall hereafter be held and considered to have been honorably discharged from the military service of the United States as a member of said company and regiment on the 1st day of May, 1878: Provided, That no bounty, back pay, pension, or allowance shall be held to have accrued prior to the passage of this act.

JNO. N. GARNER,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

CHARLES CURTIS,

Vice President of the United States and

President of the Senate.

I certify that this act originated in the Senate.

EDWIN P. THAYER, Secretary.

(b) No loan shall be made upon the capital stock of any corporation until the Secretary of Agriculture shall find that the financial structure of such corporation is sound and unimpaired and by him approved, nor shall any loan be made upon the capital stock of such corporation until the management of such company shall be made known to and approved by the Secretary, and the Secretary shall have the right at any time to declare the indebtedness to the Government that may be created hereunder due whenever, in his judgment, the financial structure of the corporation shall become so impaired or the management become so unsatisfactory as to jeopardize the interests of the Government.

Sec. 3. No loan or advance shall be made to any individual upon the capital stock of or to create or increase the capital stock of any corporation, unless the paid-in capital stock of such corporation shall be at least $10,000.

Sec. 4. To carry out the provisions of this resolution, including all expenses incurred thereunder, there are authorized to be appropriated, out of the unexpended balances of appropriations made to carry out the provisions of Public Resolution Numbered 112, Seventy-first Congress (46 Stat. 1032), as amended by the Interior Department appropriation act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, and as amended by Public Resolution Numbered 120 (46 Stat. 1167), and out of the collections from loans made under Public Resolution Numbered 112, as so amended, a sum not exceeding $10,000,000, which sum shall be paid into a revolving fund. STRENGTHENING OF JUDICIAL PROCEDURE

The Presiding Officer (Mr. Fess in the chair) laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which was read:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

On previous occasions I have called the attention of the Congress to the necessity of strengthening and making certain changes in our judicial and law-enforcement machinery. Since then substantial progress has been made both through improved methods of administration and additional legislation. However, there is room for further improvement. With this in mind, in my annual message on the state of the Union I stated that I would address the Congress at a later date on important matters of reform in organization and procedure of criminal law enforcement and the practices of the Federal courts. The subjects are of highly technical character. They have been exhaustively examined by the Department of Justice, the Commission on Law Enforcement, and recommendations have been made over many years by various bar associations of the country.

CONGESTION IN THE COURTS

Improvement has been shown during the past three years through steps taken under direction of the Attorney General in more efficient organization of enforcement agencies through congressional action in concentration of the responsibilities in the Department of Justice and through the prison reform laws passed by the Congress. Yet despite every effort there is still undue congestion in the courts in a number of districts.

The following statistics indicate this congestion as well as the progress made.

In private litigation in the Federal courts in the last five years there has been no large increase in the number of cases commenced, but the courts have not been able to reduce the number of such cases pending and awaiting trial.

The number of Government civil cases begun in 1928 was 20,695, increasing each year until in 1931 the total was 25,332. Cases terminated during this period show that the judicial department has kept pace with the increase but has been unable to reduce the congestion.

The number of bankruptcy cases begun has increased from 53,000 in 1928 to 65,000 in 1931, with a steady increase in the number of cases undisposed of at the end of each year.

Criminal cases commenced have increased from 1928 to 1931, but the number pending shows a decrease from 30,400 at the end of 1928 to 27,900 at the end of 1931. In 1931 alone 4,000 more criminal cases were disposed of than commenced, showing a definite gain in this field. There has also been a steady improvement in the quality of the work of the prosecuting agencies. Despite an increase in the volume of criminal cases begun, there has been a steady reduction in the number left pending each year. The results attained show a greater percentage of convictions and a lower ratio of dismissals and acquittals. In 1928, 78.3 per cent of criminal cases terminated were by verdict and plea of guilty, while in 1931 this ratio had increased to 84.2 per cent. In 1928, 21.7 per cent of criminal cases were terminated by dismissal or acquittal, while in 1931 this figure had fallen to 15.8 per cent.

Final results of the more effective work of the Federal agencies for enforcement of criminal laws are evidenced by increase of prisoners. The number of Federal convicts in prison institutions and on parole increased from 19,110 at the end of 1928 to 27,871 on June 30, 1931. During the same period the number on probation increased from 3,500 to 12,000. The total number of Federal convicts under some form of restraint was 39,900 on June 30, 1931, as compared with 22,600 on June 30, 1928. The recent reorganization of the parole and probation systems not only has produced a humane result but has relieved an otherwise impossible prison congestion. These gains in effectiveness have been the result mainly of improvement in personnel, of administrative effort and reorganization, and not of reforms in judicial procedure.

I commend to the attention of the Congress the recommendations of the Judicial Conference on the subject of increased personnel. Relief should be granted in those districts where private litigants are suffering from delay, where civil and criminal dockets are seriously congested, and additional judges are needed.

REFORM IN CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

The extent of crime is and must be a subject of increasing concern to the Government and to every well-disposed citizen. This increase is by no means confined to the violation of new criminal laws.

Some part of all crime is due to confidence of criminals in the delays of the law and to their ability to avoid conviction and to delay penalties by misuse of the procedure and provisions of the law intended to assure fair trial. This is more manifest in procedure in the courts of some States than in the Federal courts. Yet important reforms in the Federal establishment and in the Federal procedure are needed and must be undertaken. Aside from its direct result, the indirect result of high standards in the Federal courts is of nation-wide influence.

CRIMINAL APPEALS

The present procedure in criminal appeals to the United States circuit courts of appeal and the procedure in the United States district courts, in preparation for appeals after verdicts of guilty, lend themselves to delay and unnecessary expense. With the granting of bail and the stay of execution of the sentence, the convicted person loses all incentive to expedite his appeal. No small part of the general criticism of the delay in criminal cases rises from the delays in the preparation and hearing of appeals after verdicts of guilty, and a reform in these particulars would be a long step in advance.

Respect for the law and the effect of convictions as a deterrent to crime are diminished if convicted persons are observed by their fellow citizens to be at large for long periods pending appeal. All steps subsequent to verdicts of guilty are involved in these processes. A statutory code of procedure on this subject would not be sufficiently flexible. I suggest that the Supreme Court of the United States be authorized to prescribe uniform rules of practice and procedure in criminal cases for all proceedings after verdicts in the district courts, and for the circuit courts of appeal, including the courts of the District of Columbia. The success of the Supreme Court in the prompt disposition of criminal cases brought before it gives confidence that it will deal effectively with this subject. The objection heretofore advanced to authorizing the Supreme Court to establish uniform rules of procedure in civil cases, that such rules would destroy the conformity between practice in State and Federal courts, has no validity against the proposal for uniform procedure in criminal cases, in which no conformity exists.

WAIVER OF INDICTMENTS

Legislation should be enacted to permit an accused person to waive the requirement of indictment by grand jury. Where the accused admits his guilt, preliminary hearings and grand-jury proceedings are not necessary for his protection; they cause unnecessary expense and delay. In such cases the law should permit immediate plea and sentence upon the filing of an information. That would allow the accused to begin immediate service of his sentence without languishing in jail to await action of a grand jury, and would reduce the expense of maintenance of prisoners, lessen the work of prosecutors, and tend to speed up disposition of criminal cases.

INVALIDITY OF INDICTMENTS THROUGH THE DISQUALIFICATION OF GRAND JURORS

There have been many instances, some recently in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, where indictments, returned after long and expensive hearings, have been invalidated by the discovery of the presence on the grand jury of a single ineligible juror. By law applicable to the United States district courts, including the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, it should be provided that if not less than 12 eligible grand jurors vote for an indictment, it shall not be invalidated because of the presence of ineligible jurors. Legislation should be enacted limiting the time for making motions to quash indictments because of disqualifications of grand jurors.

All the foregoing proposals relating to criminal procedure should be made applicable to the Supreme Court of the District. In addition, the statutes in force in the District respecting the qualifications of grand and petit jurymen and their selection should be thoroughly examined and overhauled. Grounds of ineligibility now exist which do not affect the availability or impartiality of jurymen.

The system now in operation in the District for preparing lists of persons qualified for jury service requires improvement.

JUVENILE DELINQUENTS

Each year many juveniles charged with violation of law fall into the custody of the Federal authorities. In the interest of child welfare there should be legislation enabling the Attorney General to forego prosecution of children in the Federal courts and to return them to State authorities to be dealt with by juvenile courts and other State agencies equipped to deal with juvenile delinquents.

JURISDICTION BASED ON DIVERSITY OF CITIZENSHIP

The Constitution provides that the judicial power of the Federal courts shall extend to cases between citizens of different States, and the judiciary acts have provided for the exercise of this jurisdiction. In its application, the courts have determined that a corporation shall be deemed a citizen of the State under whose law it is organized. Cases involving corporations, with jurisdiction based on diversity of citizenship, form a substantial part of the business of the Federal courts. Legislation heretofore has been proposed to abolish entirely the jurisdiction of the Federal courts based on diversity of citizenship. I do not approve of such a measure.

The reasons which induced the constitutional grant to the Federal courts of jurisdiction over cases between citizens of different States still exist. To abolish that jurisdiction entirely would work to the detriment of those States which look to outside capital for the development of their business and commerce. As applied to special types of cases, however, affecting corporations, the present law allows the Federal courts to exercise jurisdiction because of diversity of citizenship, in cases not within the real purpose and spirit of the constitutional provision referred to.

I recommend the consideration by the Congress of a measure to modify this jurisdiction to a limited extent by providing that where a corporation, organized under the laws of one State, carries on business in another State it shall be treated as a citizen of the State wherein it carries on business as respects suits brought within that State between it and the residents thereof and arising out of the business carried on in such State. Such a change in the law would keep out of the Federal courts cases which do not really belong there and reduce the burdens of the Federal courts without impairing in any degree the diversity of citizenship jurisdiction which the framers of the Constitution had in mind.

PROHIBITION LAW IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

I have hitherto recommended legislation effectively to supplement the prohibition law for the District of Columbia. The Attorney General has made recommendations as to the character of such legislation before the committees of the Congress. I again urge favorable action.

BANKRUPTCY

The Federal Government is charged under the Constitution with the responsibility of providing the country with an adequate system for the administration of bankrupt estates. The importance of such a system to the business life of the community is apparent. The number of cases in bankruptcy has steadily increased from 23,000 in the fiscal year 1921 to 53,000 in 1928 and to 65,000 in 1931. The liabilities involved have increased from $171,000,000 in 1921 to $830,000,000 in 1928 and $1,008,000,000 in 1931, and the losses to creditors have increased from $144,000,000 in 1921 to $740,000,000 in 1928 and to $911,000,000 in 1931. The increases are, therefore, obviously not due to the economic situation, but to deeper causes.

A sound bankruptcy system should operate—

First, to relieve honest but unfortunate debtors of an overwhelming burden of debt;

Second, to effect a prompt and economical liquidation and distribution of insolvent estates; and Third, to discourage fraud and needless waste of assets by withholding relief from debtors in proper cases.

For some time the prevailing opinion has been that our present bankruptcy act has failed in its purpose and needs thorough revision. During the past year the Department of Justice, with my approval, has conducted an investigation into the administration of bankrupt estates in the Federal courts. Nation-wide in its scope, the inquiry has involved intensive study of the practical operation of the bankruptcy act under varying local conditions throughout the United States. Court records and special reports of referees have been analyzed. Organizations of business men and lawyers have assisted in gathering information not available through official channels. Judges, prosecuting officers, referees, merchants, bankers, and others have made available their experience. Data gathered by the Department of Commerce relating to causes of failure and the effect of bad debts upon business has been studied. The history of bankruptcy legislation and administration in this country, and in Great Britain, Canada, and other countries, has been reviewed.

The inquiry has now been completed. Its result is embodied in a report which is transmitted herewith for the consideration of the Congress. Thorough and exhaustive in detail, it presents the information necessary to enable the Congress to determine the faults in the present law and to devise their cure.

The present bankruptcy act is defective in that it holds out every inducement for waste of assets long after business failure has become inevitable. It permits exploitation of its own process and wasteful administration by those who are neither truly representative of the creditor nor the bankrupt.

Except in rare cases it results in the grant of a full discharge of all debts without sufficient inquiry as to the conduct of the bankrupt or of the causes of failure. It discharges from their debts large numbers of persons who might have paid without hardship had the law discriminated between those overwhelmed by misfortune and those needing only temporary relief and the opportunity to deal fairly with their creditors.

The bankruptcy act should be amended to provide remedial processes in voluntary proceedings under which debtors, unable to pay their debts in due course, may have the protection of the court without being adjudged bankrupt, for the purpose of composing or extending the maturity of their debts, of amortizing the payment of their debts out of future earnings, of procuring the liquidation of their property under voluntary assignment to a trustee; or, in the case of corporations, for the purpose of reorganization.

The act should be amended to require the examination of every bankrupt by a responsible official and a full disclosure of the cause of his failure and of his conduct in connection therewith for the consideration of the court in determining whether he should have his discharge.

The discretion of the courts in granting or refusing discharges should be broadened, and they should be authorized to postpone discharges for a time and require bankrupts, during the period of suspension, to make some satisfaction out of after-acquired property as a condition to the granting of a full discharge.

The choice of the liquidating personnel should be limited to competent individuals or organizations after careful consideration by the courts of their qualifications and ability to maintain an efficient and permanent staff for the conduct of the business. Compensation for such services should be upon a scale which will attract trained business organizations. Competent officials should be continuously charged with the observance of the administration of the law and with the duty to suggest to the courts and to Congress methods for its improvement. The present statute is susceptible of improvement to eliminate delay in its cumbersome processes, much of which results from a confusion of judicial and business functions.

The inquiry has not stopped with the collection of information and an expression of general conclusions. Its results have been embodied by the Attorney General in a bill for revision of the present bankruptcy act in order to present the proposals in concrete form.

I earnestly commend them to your consideration.

CONCLUSIONS

Reform in judicial procedure is, for many reasons, a slow process. It is not to be brought about by any single measure. It can best be accomplished by dealing with the subject step by step, the sum of which, in the course of time, will result in definite improvement. Taken together, the proposals above outlined offer an opportunity for substantial improvement in the administration of justice. They tend to decrease the burden on the Public Treasury and upon litigants. None of them requires consequential increase in expenditures. They would reduce crime.

In concluding may I not say that important as these recommendations are we must all keep before us the thought that effective administration of the law in a republic requires not only adequate and proper machinery, honest and capable officials, but above all a citizenry imbued with a spirit of respect for law.
