Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That an alien who entered the United States either from a foreign country or an insular possession, either before or after the passage of this act, shall be deported at any time if he—

(1) Has been convicted of a violation of any State narcotic statute, except an addict who was not a dealer in or peddler of narcotics or their derivatives; or

(2) Has been convicted of two or more crimes involving moral turpitude committed in this country on two or more separate occasions (even if the crimes were not punished by sentences of imprisonment), and the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien is in the public interest; or

(3) Knowingly encouraged, induced, assisted, or aided another for gain to enter the United States in violation of law, and if the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien is in the public interest.

Sec. 2. (a) Any alien found to be deportable under this act shall upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided in the Immigration Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874).

(b) For the purposes of this act and all acts relating to the exclusion or deportation of aliens a conviction for possessing or carrying concealed or dangerous weapons shall be deemed a conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude.

Sec. 3. (a) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, allow an alien otherwise deportable under any law to remain in the United States if he is of good moral character, and has not been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude and has not engaged in subversive political agitation or conduct and if he—

(1) Has any time been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence; or

(2) Has lived continuously in the United States for a period of not less than 10 years; or

(b) The burden of proof as to every fact requisite for the exercise of the discretion vested in the Secretary of Labor in the preceding subsection shall be upon the alien.

(c) The Secretary of Labor, at the end of each fiscal year, shall report to the Secretary of State the number of aliens of each nationality who at the time of entry were of the quota immigrant class who have not been admitted to the United States for permanent residence and who, during that year, have been allowed to remain in the United States pursuant to the authority conferred in the preceding subsection. Thereupon the Secretary of State shall reduce for the next succeeding fiscal year the annual quotas of each nationality under the Immigration Act of 1924 by the number of such aliens of that nationality so allowed to remain. An alien shall not be regarded as having acquired a status of admission for permanent residence because of such reduction of quota or permission to remain in the United States.

The Secretary of Labor may specifically designate persons holding supervisory positions in the Immigration and Naturalization Service to issue warrants for the arrest of aliens believed to be subject to deportation under this or any other statute: Provided, That no person shall act under a warrant issued by himself.

the United States without inspection. Any alien so detained shall be immediately brought before an immigrant inspector designated for that purpose by the Secretary of Labor and shall not be held in custody for more than twenty-four hours thereafter unless prior to the expiration of that time a warrant for his arrest is issued.

Sec. 6. The foregoing provisions of this act are in addition to and not in substitution for the provisions of the immigration laws (including section 19 of the Immigration Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874)), and shall be enforced as part of such laws.

Sec. 7. Clause (B) of paragraph (1) of subsection (a) of section 6 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 153), as amended, which grants to quota immigrants, skilled in agriculture, their wives, and their dependent children under the age of 18 years, a preference within the quota, is repealed.

Resolved, That the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, as a whole or by subcommittee, is authorized and directed to investigate (1) the production, importation, storage, transportation, refining, purchase, and sale of petroleum and its products for the purpose of determining whether there is an excessive supply of petroleum and its products; whether such excessive supply, if it exists, injuriously affects commerce in petroleum and its products and has the effect of rendering unprofitable the operation of wells of small but settled production and will cause their abandonment before the maximum economic yield is obtained; whether premature extraction of petroleum from natural resources, induced by absence of restrictions upon the quantity which may move in commerce, results in wasteful and inferior uses; whether restrictions should be placed upon the quantities of petroleum and its products which may move in commerce when an excessive supply exists and, if so, whether such restrictions should regulate the several States and with foreign nations, with fair and equitable apportionment among the States and among different operators and sources of supply; and whether commerce in petroleum and its products is of such a nature that it may be regarded as a unit for the purpose of establishing quotas irrespective of whether transactions are interstate or intrastate, or whether exportation or importation is involved; and (2) all other questions in relation to the subject of regulating commerce in petroleum and its products.

involved; and (2) all other questions in relation to the subject of regulating commerce in petroleum and its products.

The committee shall report to the House (or to the Clerk of the House if the House is not in session) during the present Congress the results of its investigation, together with such recommendations for legislation as it deems advisable.

For the purposes of this resolution the committee, or any subcommittee thereof, is authorized to sit and act during the present Congress at such times and places within the United States, whether or not the House is sitting, has recessed, or has adjourned, to hold such hearings, to require the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, and documents, and to take such testimony as it deems necessary. Such farmer may, at the time of the first hearing, petition the court that all of his property, whether pledged, encumbered, or unencumbered, by liens or otherwise, be appraised, and that his exemptions as prescribed by the State law, subject to any liens thereon, be set aside and that he be allowed to retain possession of any part or parcel or all of the remainder of his property and pay for same under the terms and conditions set forth in this subsection (s).

Purposes

Sec. 2. (a) For the purpose of providing adequately for the satisfactory retirement of aged employees and promoting efficiency and safety in interstate transportation, and to make possible greater employment opportunity and more rapid advancement of employees in the service of carriers, here is hereby established a railroad retirement system; and it is made the duty of all carriers and employees subject to this act to perform and fulfill the obligation imposed hereby. This act shall be administered and construed with the intent and to the purpose of providing the greatest practical amount of relief from unemployment and the readiest possible use of resources available for said purpose and for the payment of annuities for the relief and superannuated employees.

Special report

(b) Not later than four years from the effective date, the board, in a special report to the President of the United States to be submitted to Congress, shall make specific recommendations for such changes in the retirement system hereby created as shall assure the adequacy and permanency of said retirement system on the basis of its experience and all information and experience then available. For this purpose the Board shall from time to time make such investigations and actuarial studies as shall provide the fullest information practicable for such report and recommendations.

Annuities

Sec. 3. Each employee having attained the age of sixty-five years, or having completed a service period of thirty years, shall be paid an annuity, to begin on a date specified in a written application, which date shall not be more than sixty days before the making of the application. No annuity shall begin less than six months after the effective date. Such annuity shall be based upon the service period of the employee and shall be the sum of the amounts determined by multiplying the number of years of service, not exceeding thirty years, by the following percentages of the monthly compensation: 2 per centum of the first $50; 1½ per centum of the next $100; and 1 per centum of the compensation in excess of $150. The "monthly compensation" shall be the average of the monthly compensation paid to the employee by the carrier, except that where applicable for service before the effective date the monthly compensation shall be the average of the monthly compensation for all pay-roll periods for which the employee has received compensation from any carrier out of eight consecutive calendar years of such services ending December 31, 1931. No part of any monthly compensation in excess of $300 shall be recognized in determining any annuity for any employee contribution. The annuity shall be reduced by one-fifteenth of such annuity for each year the employee is less than sixty-five years of age at the time of the first annuity payment. No such reduction shall be made if the Board shall determine that the carrier has retired the employee because of physical or mental inability to continue in active service. Upon death of an employee before or after retirement an amount, equal at his death to a computation, with interest at 3 per centum compounded annually, of the accumulation from his payments less any annuity payments received by him, shall be paid as he may have designated or to his legal representative. Any employee who upon retirement shall be entitled to an annuity with a value determined by the Board of less than $300 shall be paid such value in a lump sum.

Retirement

Sec. 4. Retirement shall be compulsory upon employees who, on the effective date, have attained or thereafter shall attain the age of sixty-five years. The carrier and the employee may, by an agreement in writing filed with the Board, extend the time for retirement as to such employee for one year and for successive periods of one year each, but not beyond the age of seventy years. Until five years from the effective date the compulsory retirement shall not apply to an employee who from and after the effective date occupies an official position in the service of a carrier.

Contribution

Sec. 5. Each employee shall pay an employee contribution in a percentage upon his compensation. Each carrier shall pay a carrier contribution equal to twice the contributions of each employee of such carrier. The employee compensation shall be the compensation for service paid to such employee by the carrier excluding compensation in excess of $300 per month. The contribution percentage shall be determined by the Board from time to time, and shall be such as to produce from the combined employee and carrier contributions, with a reasonable margin for contingencies, the amount necessary to pay the annuities, other disbursements and the expenses becoming payable from time to time. Until the Board shall determine on a different percentage the employee contribution percentage shall be 2 per centum. Employee contributions shall be deducted by the carrier from the compensation of its employees and shall be paid by the carrier, together with the carrier contributions, into the Treasury of the United States quarterly or at such other times as ordered by the Board.

Existing pension system

Sec. 6. The Board shall have the power to provide by appropriate rules and regulations for substituting the provisions for annuities and other benefits to employees under this act, for any obligation for prior service or for any existing provisions for the voluntary payment of pensions to employees subject to this act by a carrier or any employees subject to this act, so as to relieve such carrier from its obligations for age retirement benefits under its existing pension systems and to transfer such obligations to the retirement system herein established. If the fulfillment of any such transferred obligation shall require additional contributions or larger payments than would otherwise be required under the provisions of this act, then such additional contributions shall be made by the carrier originally responsible for the creation of such obligation or for the excess amount of such payments over those which would be required under the provisions of this act. In the event that the Board is unable to make satisfactory arrangements with any carrier for the substitution of the provisions under this act for its existing pension system, then, and in that event, the provisions of this act shall be applied to said carrier and its employees without regard to any conflict or duplication in the operation of such an existing pension system and the operation and effect of the provisions of this act: Provided, That the Board, at its option, shall have power, in lieu of the foregoing provisions of this section, to order that all former employees of carriers who prior to the effective date have become separated from the service at the age of seventy years or over and who may or may not be receiving age retirement benefits shall be entitled to the benefits of this act.

Employee representatives

Sec. 7. Any representative of an employee organization who is included within the definition of "employee" in paragraph (b), section 1, of this act shall have the option, but shall not be required to continue or to become a beneficiary under the provisions of this act. If he shall elect to continue or to become such a beneficiary he shall pay all voluntary contributions.

For the purposes of this section the requirements of section 4 of this act shall not apply. Service rendered to an employee organization shall be included in computing the total service period of such representative.

For such representative who shall elect to become a beneficiary under this act, the basic compensation upon which contributions shall be made and benefits calculated shall be that compensation paid by the carrier for service rendered in the position to which the rights of such representative would entitle him for the period defined in section 3 of this act: Provided, That if no definite and specific rights obtain, the average compensation paid to the four employees whose last date of entry in the service is nearest the date of entry in the service of the same carrier by such representative, shall be his basic compensation to be determined for the period defined in section 3 of this act. When a question arises as to rights under this provision the Board shall investigate and determine rights of such representative.

For such representative who elects to continue as a beneficiary under the provisions of this act, his basic compensation shall be the average monthly compensation paid to him by the carrier during the last twelve months of active service with such carrier.

Retirement fund

Sec. 8. All moneys paid into the Treasury under the provisions of this act, all interest, and other receipts, and all refunds of moneys paid out under this act shall constitute and be kept in a separate fund in the Treasury, to be known as the "railroad retirement fund." At the request and direction of the Board, the Treasurer of the United States, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, is authorized to invest such funds as are not immediately required for disbursements in interest-bearing bonds, notes, or other obligations of the United States, and to collect the principal and interest of such securities and to sell and dispose of the same as in the judgment of the Board shall be in the interest of said fund. There is hereby appropriated such sums not in excess of the amounts in said fund as may be necessary to pay all annuities, other disbursements and the expenses of administration of this act.

Retirement board

Sec. 9. (a) Personnel: There is hereby established as an independent agency in the executive branch of the Government a Railroad Retirement Board, to be composed of three members appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Each member shall hold office for a term of five years, except that any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed, shall be appointed for the remainder of the term and the terms of office of the members first taking office after the date of enactment of this act shall expire, as designated by the President, one at the end of two years, one at the end of three years, and one at the end of four years, after the date of enactment of this act. One member shall be appointed from recommendations made by representatives of the employees and one member shall be appointed from recommendations made by representatives of the carriers, in both cases as the President shall direct, so as to provide representation on the Board satisfactory to the largest number, respectively, of employees and carriers concerned. One member, who shall be the chairman of the Board, shall be appointed, initially, for a term of two years, without recommendation by either carriers or employees and shall not be in the employment of or be pecuniarily or otherwise interested in any carrier or organization of employees. Vacancies in the Board shall not impair the powers nor affect the duties of the Board nor of the remaining members of the Board of whom a majority of those in office shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. Each of said members shall receive a salary of $10,000 per year, together with necessary traveling expenses and subsistence expenses, or per diem allowance in lieu thereof, while away from the principal office of the Board on duties required by this act. The members and employees of the Board shall be included as employees under this act and together with employees receiving annuities shall be furnished free transportation in the same manner as such transportation is furnished to employees.

(b) Duties: The Board shall have and exercise all the duties and powers necessary to administer this act. The Board shall receive and take such steps and institute and prosecute such proceedings and actions as may be necessary to enforce the payments and obligations required under the act, make and certify awards and payments, and account for all moneys and funds necessary thereto. The Board may require such advances upon the payments of carriers as necessary to put this act into operation. The Board shall establish and promulgate rules and regulations and provide for the adjustment of all controversial matters, with power as a Board or through any member or subordinate designated therefor, to require and compel the attendance of witnesses, administer oaths, take testimony, and make all necessary investigations in any matter involving annuities or other payments, and shall maintain such offices, provide such equipment, furnishings, supplies, services, and facilities and employ such persons and provide for their compensation and expenses, as may be necessary to the proper discharge of its functions. All rules, regulations, or decisions of the Board shall require the approval of at least two members and shall be entered upon the records of the Board and shall be a public record. The Board shall gather, keep, compile, and publish in convenient form such records and data as may be necessary, and at intervals of not more than two years shall cause to be made actuarial surveys and analyses, to determine from time to time the payments to be required to provide for all annuities, other disbursements and expenses, and to assure proper administration and the adequacy and permanency of the retirement system hereby established. The Board shall have power to require all carriers and employees and any officer, board, commission, or other agency of the United States to furnish such information and records as shall be necessary for the administration of this act. The Board shall make an annual report to the President of the United States to be submitted to Congress. Witnesses summoned before the Board shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States.

Court jurisdiction

Sec. 10. The several district courts of the United States and the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia shall have jurisdiction to entertain an application and to grant appropriate relief in the following cases which may arise under the provisions of this act:

(a) An application by the Board to compel an employee or other person residing within the jurisdiction of said court, or a carrier subject to service of process within said jurisdiction, to comply with any obligations imposed on said employee, other person, or carrier under the provisions of this act.

(b) An application by an employee or carrier to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia or to the district court of any district wherein the Board maintains an office or has designated an agent authorized to accept service in its behalf, to compel the Board to set aside an action or decision claimed to be in violation of a legally enforceable right of the applicant, or to take an action, or to make a decision necessary for the enforcement of a legal right of the applicant, when the applicant shall establish his right to a judicial review upon the jurisdictional ground that, unless he is granted a judicial review of the action or decision, or failure of the Board to act or to decide, of which he complains, he will be deprived of a constitutional right to obtain a judicial determination of his alleged right.

(c) The jurisdiction herein specifically conferred upon the said Federal courts shall not be held exclusive of any jurisdiction otherwise possessed by said courts to entertain actions at law or suits in equity in aid of the enforcement of rights or obligations arising under the provisions of this act.

Exemption

Sec. 11. No annuity or death payment shall be assignable or be subject to any tax or to garnishment, attachment, or other legal process under any circumstances whatsoever.

Penalty—Carrier

Sec. 12. On the failure of any carrier to make any payment when due under the provisions of this act, such carrier, unless excused by order of the Board, shall pay an additional 1 per centum of the amount of such payment for each month such payment is delayed.

Others

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the House amendment insert the following:

That hereafter no land of any Indian reservation created or set apart by treaty or agreement with the Indians, act of Congress, Executive order, purchase, or otherwise, shall be allotted in severalty to any Indian.

Sec. 2. The existing periods of trust placed upon any Indian lands and any restriction on alienation thereof are hereby extended and continued until otherwise directed by Congress.

Sec. 3. The Secretary of the Interior, if he shall find it to be in the public interest, is hereby authorized to restore to tribal ownership the remaining surplus lands of any Indian reservation heretofore opened, or authorized to be opened, to sale, or any other form of disposal by Presidential proclamation, or by any of the public-land laws of the United States; Provided, however, That valid rights or claims of any persons to any lands so withdrawn existing on the date of the withdrawal shall not be affected by this act. Provided further, That this section shall not apply to lands within any reclamation project heretofore authorized in any Indian reservation: Provided further, That the order of the Department of the Interior signed, dated, and approved by Hon. Ray Lyman Wilbur, as Secretary of the Interior, on October 28, 1932, temporarily withdrawing lands of the Papago Indian Reservation in Arizona from all forms of mineral entry or claim under the public land mining laws, is hereby revoked and rescinded, and the lands of the said Papago Indian Reservation are hereby restored to exploration and location, under the existing mining laws of the United States, in accordance with the express terms and provisions declared and set forth in the Executive orders establishing said Papago Indian Reservation: Provided further, That damages shall be paid to the Papago Tribe for loss of any improvements on any land located for mining in such a sum as may be determined by the Secretary of the Interior but not to exceed the cost of said improvements: Provided further, That a yearly rental not to exceed five cents per acre, shall be paid to the Papago Tribe for loss of the use or occupancy of any land withdrawn by the requirements of mining operations, and payments derived from damages or rentals shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the Papago Tribe: Provided further, That in the event any person or persons, partnership, corporation, or association, desires a mineral patent, according to the mining laws of the United States, he or they shall first deposit in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the Papago Tribe the sum of $1 per acre in lieu of annual rental, as hereinbefore provided, to compensate for the loss or occupancy of the lands withdrawn by the requirements of mining operations: Provided further, That patentee shall also pay into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the Papago Tribe damages for the loss of improvements not heretofore paid in such a sum as may be determined by the Secretary of the Interior, but not to exceed the cost thereof; the payment of $1 per acre for surface use to be refunded to patentee in the event that patent is not acquired.

Nothing herein contained shall restrict the granting or use of permits for easements or rights-of-way; or ingress or egress over the lands for all proper and lawful purposes; and nothing contained herein, except as expressly provided, shall be construed as authority for the Secretary of the Interior, or any other person, to issue or promulgate a rule or regulation in conflict with the Executive order of February 1, 1917, creating the Papago Indian Reservation in Arizona or the act of February 21, 1931 (46 Stat. 1202).

Sec. 4. Except as herein provided, no sale, devise, gift, exchange or other transfer of restricted Indian lands or of shares in the assets of any Indian tribe or corporation organized hereunder, shall be made or approved: Provided, however, That such lands or interests may, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, be sold, devised, or otherwise transferred to the Indian tribe in which the lands or shares are located or from which the shares were derived or to a successor corporation; and in all instances such lands or interests shall descend or be devised, in accordance with the then existing laws of the State, or Federal laws where applicable, in which said lands are located or in which the subject matter of the corporation is located, to any member of such tribe or of such corporation or any heirs of such member: Provided further, That the Secretary of the Interior may authorize voluntary exchange of lands of equal value and the voluntary exchange of shares of equal value whenever such exchange, in his judgment, is expedient and beneficial for or compatible with the proper consolidation of Indian lands and for the benefit of cooperative organizations.

For the acquisition of such lands, interest in lands, water rights, and surface rights, and for expenses incident to such acquisition, there is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, a sum not to exceed $2,000,000 in any one fiscal year: Provided, That no part of such funds shall be used to acquire additional land outside of the exterior boundaries of Navajo Indian Reservation for the Navajo Indians in Arizona and New Mexico, in the event that the proposed Navajo boundary extension measures now pending in Congress and embodied in the bills (S. 2499 and H.R. 8927) to define the exterior boundaries of the Navajo Indian Reservation in Arizona, and for other purposes, and the bills (S. 2531 and H.R. 8982) to define the exterior boundaries of the Navajo Indian Reservation in New Mexico, and for other purposes, or similar legislation, become law.

The unexpended balances of any appropriations made pursuant to this section shall remain available until expended.

Title to any lands or rights acquired pursuant to this act shall be taken in the name of the United States in trust for the Indian tribe or individual Indian for which the land is acquired, and such lands or rights shall be exempt from State and local taxation.

Sec. 7. The Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to proclaim new Indian reservations on lands acquired pursuant to any authority conferred by this act, or to add such lands to existing reservations: Provided, That lands added to existing reservations shall be designated for the exclusive use of Indians entitled by enrollment or by tribal membership to residence at such reservations.

Sec. 8. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to relate to Indian holdings of allotments or homesteads upon the public domain outside of the geographic boundaries of any Indian reservation now existing or established hereafter.

Sec. 9. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, such sums as may be necessary, but not to exceed $250,000 in any fiscal year, to be expended at the order of the Secretary of the Interior, in defraying the expenses of organizing Indian chartered corporations or other organizations created under this act.

Sec. 10. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $10,000,000 to be established as a revolving fund from which the Secretary of the Interior, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, may make loans to Indian chartered corporations for the purpose of promoting the economic development of such tribes and of their members, and may defray the expenses of administering such loans. Repayment of amounts loaned under this authorization shall be credited to the revolving fund and shall be available for the purposes for which the fund is established. A report shall be made annually to Congress of transactions under this authorization.

Sec. 11. "(C) Upon the sale or other disposition of any article processed wholly or in chief value from any commodity with respect to which the existing rate of the processing tax is to be increased, or decreased, that on the date such increase, or decrease, first takes effect with respect to the commodity, is held for sale or other disposition (including articles in transit) by any person, and upon the production of any article from a commodity in process on the date on which the rate of the processing tax is to be increased, or decreased, there shall be made a tax adjustment as follows:

"(1) Whenever the rate of the processing tax on the processing of the commodity generally or for any designated use or uses, or as to any designated product or products thereof for any designated use or uses, or as to any class of products, is decreased, there shall be credited or refunded to such person an amount equivalent to the difference between the rate of the processing tax payable or paid at the time immediately preceding the decrease in rate and the rate of the processing tax which would have been payable with respect to the commodity from which processed if the processing had occurred on such date: Provided, however, That no such credit or refund shall be made unless the rate of processing tax immediately preceding said decrease is equal to, or less than, the rate of the processing tax in effect on the date on which any floor-stocks tax was paid prior to the adoption of this amendment.

"(2) Whenever the rate of the processing tax on the processing of the commodity generally, or for any designated use or uses, or as to any designated product or products thereof for any designated use or uses, or as to any class of products, is increased, there shall be levied, assessed, and collected a tax to be paid by such person equivalent to the difference between the rate of the processing tax payable or paid at the time immediately preceding the increase in rate and the rate of the processing tax which would be payable with respect to the commodity from which processed, if the processing had occurred on such date.

"(a) If at any time the Secretary of Agriculture finds, upon investigation and after due notice and opportunity for hearing to interested parties, that any class of products of any commodity is of such low value, considering the quantity of the commodity used for their manufacture, that the imposition of the processing tax would prevent in whole or in large part the use of the commodity in the manufacture of such products and thereby substantially reduce consumption and increase the surplus of the commodity, then the Secretary of Agriculture shall so certify to the Secretary of the Treasury, specifying whether such result will in his judgment most effectively be prevented by a suspension of the imposition of the processing tax or a refund of the tax paid, with respect to such amount of the commodity or any product thereof as is used in the manufacture of such products, and thereafter, as shall be specified in such certification, (1) the imposition of the processing tax shall be suspended with respect to such amount of the commodity as is used in the manufacture of such products, and thereafter, as shall be specified in such certification, (1) the imposition of the processing tax shall be suspended with respect to such amount of the commodity as is used in the manufacture of such products until such time as the Secretary of Agriculture, after further investigation and due notice and opportunity for hearing to interested parties, revokes his certification to the Secretary of the Treasury, or (2) the Secretary of the Treasury shall refund (in accordance with the provisions of, to such persons and in such manner as shall be specified in, such certification) the amount of any tax paid (prior to the date of any revocation by the Secretary of Agriculture of his certification to the Secretary of the Treasury, upon further investigation and after due notice and opportunity for hearing to interested parties) under this title with respect to such amount of the commodity or any product thereof as is used after the date of such certification in the manufacture of such products."

Examination fees collected under the provisions of this section shall be deposited to the credit of the special fund created by section 5 hereof, and shall be available for the purposes specified in said section 5.

That the Senate recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the House and agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the House amendment, insert the following:

That the Federal Reserve Act, as amended, is amended by adding after section 13a thereof a new section reading as follows:

"Sec. 13b. (a) In exceptional circumstances, when it appears to the satisfaction of a Federal Reserve bank that an established industrial or commercial business located in its district is unable to obtain requisite financial assistance on a reasonable basis from the usual sources, the Federal Reserve bank, pursuant to authority granted by the Federal Reserve Board, may make loans to, or purchase obligations of, such business, or may make commitments with respect thereto, on a reasonable and sound basis, for the purpose of providing it with working capital, but no obligation shall be acquired or commitment made hereunder with a maturity exceeding five years.

"(b) Each Federal Reserve bank shall also have power to discount for, or purchase from, any bank, trust company, mortgage company, credit corporation for industry, or other financing institution operating in its district, obligations having maturities not exceeding five years, entered into for the purpose of obtaining working capital for any such established industrial or commercial business; to make loans or advances direct to any such financing institution on the security of such obligations; and to make commitments with regard to such discount or purchase of obligations or with respect to such loans or advances on the security thereof, including commitments made in advance of the actual undertaking of such obligations. Each such financing institution shall obligate itself to the satisfaction of the Federal Reserve bank for at least 20 per centum of any loss which may be sustained by such bank upon any of the obligations acquired from such financing institution, the existence and amount of any such loss to be determined in accordance with regulations of the Federal Reserve Board: Provided, That in lieu of such obligation against loss any such financing institution may advance at least 20 per centum of such working capital for any established industrial or commercial business without obligating itself to the Federal Reserve bank against loss on the amount advanced by the Federal Reserve bank: Provided, however, That such advances by the financing institution and the Federal Reserve bank shall be considered as one advance, and repayment shall be made pro rata under such regulations as the Federal Reserve Board may prescribe.

"(c) The aggregate amount of loans, advances, and commitments of the Federal Reserve banks outstanding under this section at any one time, plus the amount of purchases and discounts under this section held at the same time, shall not exceed the combined surplus of the Federal Reserve banks as of July 1, 1934, plus all amounts paid to the Federal Reserve banks by the Secretary of the Treasury under subsection (e) of this section, and all operations of the Federal Reserve banks under this section shall be subject to such regulations as the Federal Reserve Board may prescribe.

"(d) For the purpose of aiding the Federal Reserve banks in carrying out the provisions of this section, there is hereby established in each Federal Reserve district an industrial advisory committee, to be appointed by the Federal Reserve bank subject to the approval and regulations of the Federal Reserve Board, and to be composed of not less than three nor more than five members as determined by the Federal Reserve Board. Each member of such committee shall be actively engaged in some industrial pursuit within the Federal Reserve district in which the committee is established, and each such member shall serve without compensation but shall be entitled to receive from the Federal Reserve bank of such district his necessary expenses while engaged in the business of the committee, or a per diem allowance in lieu thereof to be fixed by the Federal Reserve Board. Each application for any such loan, advance, purchase, discount, or commitment shall be submitted to the appropriate committee and, after an examination by it of the business with respect to which the application is made, the application shall be transmitted to the Federal Reserve bank, together with the recommendation of the committee."

"(e) In order to enable the Federal Reserve banks to make the loans, discounts, advances, purchases, and commitments provided for in this section, the Secretary of the Treasury, upon the date this section takes effect, is authorized, under such rules and regulations as he shall prescribe, to pay to each Federal Reserve bank not to exceed such portion of the sum of $139,299,557 as may be represented by the par value of the holdings of each Federal Reserve bank of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation stock, upon the execution by each Federal Reserve bank of its agreement (to be endorsed on the certificate of such stock) to hold such stock unencumbered and to pay to the United States all dividends, all payments on liquidation, and all other proceeds of such stock, for which dividends, payments, and proceeds the United States shall be secured by such stock itself up to the total amount paid to each Federal Reserve bank by the Secretary of the Treasury under this section. Each Federal Reserve bank, in addition, shall agree that, in the event such dividends, payments, and other proceeds in any calendar year do not aggregate 2 per centum of the total payment made by the Secretary of the Treasury under this section, it will pay to the United States in such year such further amount, if any, up to 2 per centum of the said total payment, as shall be covered by the net earnings of the bank for that year derived from the use of the sum so paid by the Secretary of the Treasury, and that for said amount so due the United States shall have a first claim against such earnings and stock, and further that it will continue such payments until the final liquidation of said stock by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The sum so paid to each Federal Reserve bank by the Secretary of the Treasury shall become a part of the surplus fund of such Federal Reserve bank within the meaning of this section. All amounts required to be expended by the Secretary of the Treasury in order to carry out the provisions of this section shall be paid out of the miscellaneous receipts of the Treasury created by the increment resulting from the reduction of the weight of the gold dollar under the President's proclamation of January 31, 1934; and there is hereby appropriated, out of such receipts, such sum as shall be required for such purpose.

Sec. 2. Section 5202 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended, is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

Sec. 3. Section 22 of the Federal Reserve Act is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraphs:

"(k) It shall be unlawful for any person to stipulate for or give or receive, or consent or agree to give or receive, any fee, commission, bonus, or thing of value for procuring or endeavoring to procure from any Federal Reserve bank any advance, loan, or extension of credit or discount or purchase of any obligation or commitment with respect thereto, either directly from such Federal Reserve bank or indirectly through any financing institution unless such fee, commission, bonus, or thing of value and all material facts with respect to the arrangement or request for such be disclosed in writing in the application or request for such advance, loan, extension of credit, discount, purchase, or commitment. Any violation of the provisions of this paragraph shall be punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year or by a fine of not exceeding $5,000, or both.

If a director, officer, employee, or agent of any Federal Reserve bank shall knowingly violate this paragraph, he shall be held liable in his personal and individual capacity for any loss or damage sustained by such Federal Reserve bank in consequence of such violation."

The Board may maintain, enlarge, or remodel any building so acquired or constructed and shall have sole control of such building and space therein."

Whereas progress toward the solution of the problems of international competition in industry can be made through international action concerning the welfare of wage earners; and

Whereas the failure of a nation to establish humane conditions of labor is an obstacle in the way of other nations which desire to maintain and improve the conditions in their own countries; and

Whereas the United States early recognized the desirability of international cooperation in matters pertaining to labor and took part in 1900 in establishing, and for many years thereafter supported, the International Association for Labor Legislation; and

Whereas the International Labor Organization has advanced the welfare of labor throughout the world through studies, recommendations, conferences, and conventions concerning conditions of labor; and

Whereas other nations have joined the International Labor Organization without being members of the League of Nations; and

Whereas special provision has been made in the constitution of the International Labor Organization by which membership of the United States would not impose or be deemed to impose any obligation or agreement upon the United States to accept the proposals of that body as involving anything more than recommendations for its consideration: Therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President is hereby authorized to accept membership for the Government of the United States of America in the International Labor Organization, which, through its general conference of representatives of its members and through its International Labor Office, collects information concerning labor throughout the world and prepares international conventions for the consideration of member governments with a view to improving conditions of labor.

VETO OF H.R. 2749—RELIEF OF E. B. ROSE

The SPEAKER laid before the House a message from the President, which was read, as follows:

To the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, H.R. 2749, entitled "An act for the relief of E. B. Rose."

This bill authorizes and directs the Secretary of the Treasury to remit the payment by Burke Rose, of Del Rio, Tex., of the sum of $1,230, being the amount of duties demanded and collected by the Treasury Department on certain sheep returned to the United States from Mexico in the month of October 1925.

This bill is objectionable, since it provides for the refund of the duty paid on the sheep which were, according to the records of the Treasury Department, not entitled to free entry.

It is claimed that the sheep were entitled to free entry under the provisions of Public Resolution 52, Sixty-eighth Congress, which provides for the free entry on return to the United States, prior to December 31, 1925, of sheep driven across the boundary line, together with their offspring, for temporary pasturage purposes only.

The affidavits printed in the report do not in my opinion overcome the statement in the report of the deputy collector at Del Rio, where the duty was assessed, that the sheep were not taken abroad for temporary pasturage purposes.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

THE WHITE HOUSE, June 16, 1934.

On motion of Mr. BYRNS, the message, together with the bill, was referred to the Committee on Claims and ordered to be printed.

VETO OF H.R. 6246—ANNIE BRUCE

The SPEAKER laid before the House a message from the President, which was read, as follows:

To the House of Representatives:

I return herewith without my approval H.R. 6246, entitled "An act granting six months' pay to Annie Bruce."

The bill authorizes and directs the Secretary of the Navy to pay out of the appropriation "Pay of the Navy, 1935" to Annie Bruce, widow of the late Lt. Frank Bruce, United States Navy, an amount equal to six months' pay at the rate said Frank Bruce was receiving at the date of his death.

The official records of the Navy Department show that Lieutenant Bruce was killed on May 14, 1919, as the result of the explosion of a mine alongside the U.S.S. Bobolink while engaged in mine sweeping in the North Sea.

The act, approved May 13, 1908, which authorized the payment of a gratuity of 6 months' pay to widows of officers and enlisted men of the Navy, was repealed by the act of October 6, 1917, which provided for Government insurance; the repeal of the gratuity being predicated upon the theory that the insurance policies were liberal and the premium rates low and that the continuance of the gratuity of 6 months' pay would be in effect a double gratuity. Evidence of the liberality of the Government with respect to war-risk insurance is indicated by the fact that, excluding administration costs, the disbursements to date amount to $1,700,000,000, while receipts from premiums amount to $450,000,000, which is approximately one-fourth of the cost, leaving a difference of $1,250,000,000 which has been contributed to beneficiaries through appropriations from the Treasury. The general provisions of the act of 1908 were not reenacted until June 4, 1920, which was after the death of Lieutenant Bruce. The records show that Mrs. Bruce is now receiving from the Veterans' Administration $57.50 per month under the war-risk insurance policy of Lieutenant Bruce, and a service pension of $30 per month granted to her as the widow of an officer whose death resulted from injuries incurred in line of duty.

It has been estimated that if the precedents that would be established by this case were followed and payments of 6 months' pay as gratuity made to dependents of all officers and enlisted men of the military forces of the United States who died during the World War the amount would exceed $3,300,000 in addition to the other benefits they may be receiving from the Government.

I fail to see any justification for the proposal to place the beneficiary of this bill in a different status than that which applies to all other widows of veterans who died in line of duty during the World War.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

THE WHITE HOUSE, June 16, 1934.

On motion of Mr. BYRNS, the message, together with the bill, was referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs and ordered to be printed.

"Section 1. When used in this act and for the purposes of this act—

"The term 'carrier' includes any express company, sleeping-car company, carrier by railroad, subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, and any company which is directly or indirectly owned or controlled by or under common control with any carrier by railroad and which operates any equipment or facilities or performs any service other than trucking service in connection with the transportation, receipt, delivery, elevation, transfer in transit, refrigeration or icing, storage, and handling of property transported by railroad, and any receiver, trustee, or other individual or body, judicial or otherwise, when in the possession of the business of any such 'carrier': Provided, however, That the term 'carrier' shall not include any street, interurban, or suburban electric railway, unless such railway is operating as a part of a general steam-railroad system of transportation, but shall not exclude any part of the general steam-railroad system of transportation now or hereafter operated by any other motive power. The Interstate Commerce Commission is hereby authorized and directed upon request of the Mediation Board or upon complaint of any party interested to determine after hearing whether any line operated by electric power falls within the terms of this proviso.

"Second. The term 'Adjustment Board' means the National Railroad Adjustment Board created by this act.

"Third. The term 'Mediation Board' means the National Mediation Board created by this act.

"Fourth. The term 'commerce' means commerce among the several States or between any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia and any foreign nation, or between any Territory or the District of Columbia and any State, or between any Territory and any other Territory, or between any Territory and the District of Columbia, or within any Territory or the District of Columbia, or between points in the same State but through any other State or any Territory or the District of Columbia or any foreign nation.

"Fifth. The term 'employee' as used herein includes every person in the service of a carrier (subject to its continuing authority to supervise and direct the manner of rendition of his service) who performs any work defined as that of an employee or subordinate official in the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission now in effect, and as the same may be amended or interpreted by orders hereafter entered by the Commission pursuant to the authority which is hereby conferred upon it to enter orders amending or interpreting such existing orders: Provided, however, That no occupational classification made by order of the Interstate Commerce Commission shall be construed to define the crafts according to which railway employees may be organized by their voluntary action, nor shall the jurisdiction or powers of such employee organizations be regarded as in any way limited or defined by the provisions of this act or by the orders of the Commission.

"Sixth. The term 'representative' means any person or persons, labor union, organization, or corporation designated either by a carrier or group of carriers or by its or their employees, to act for it or them.

Sec. 2. Section 2 of the Railway Labor Act is amended to read as follows:

"General purposes

"Sec. 2. The purposes of the act are: (1) To avoid any interruption to commerce or to the operation of any carrier engaged therein; (2) to forbid any limitation upon freedom of association among employees or any denial, as a condition of employment or otherwise, of the right of employees to join a labor organization; (3) to provide for the complete independence of carriers and of employees in the matter of self-organization to carry out the purposes of this act; (4) to provide for the prompt and orderly settlement of all disputes concerning rates of pay, rules, or working conditions; (5) to provide for the prompt and orderly settlement of all disputes growing out of grievances or out of the interpretation or application of agreements covering rates of pay, rules, or working conditions.

"General duties

"First. It shall be the duty of all carriers, their officers, agents, and employees to exert every reasonable effort to make and maintain agreements concerning rates of pay, rules, and working conditions, and to settle all disputes, whether arising out of the application of such agreements or otherwise, in order to avoid any interruption to commerce or to the operation of any carrier growing out of any dispute between the carrier and the employees thereof.

"Second. All disputes between a carrier or carriers and its or their employees shall be considered, and, if possible, decided, with all expedition, in conference between representatives designated and authorized so to confer, respectively, by the carrier or carriers and by the employees thereof interested in the dispute.

"Third. Representatives, for the purposes of this act, shall be designated by the respective parties without interference, influence, or coercion by either party over the designation of representatives by the other; and neither party shall in any way interfere with, influence, or coerce the other in its choice of representatives. Representatives of employees for the purposes of this act need not be persons in the employ of the carrier, and no carrier shall, by interference, influence, or coercion seek in any manner to prevent the designation by its employees as their representatives of those who or which are not employees of the carrier.

"Fourth. Employees shall have the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing. The majority of any craft or class of employees shall have the right to determine who shall be the representative of the craft or class for the purposes of this act. No carrier, its officers or agents, shall deny or in any way question the right of its employees to join, organize, or assist in organizing the labor organization of their choice, and it shall be unlawful for any carrier to interfere in any way with the organization of its employees, or to use the funds of the carrier in maintaining or assisting or contributing to any labor organization, labor representative, or other agency of collective bargaining, or in performing any work therefor, or to influence or coerce employees in an effort to induce them to join or remain or not to join or remain members of any labor organization, or to deduct from the wages of employees any dues, fees, assessments, or other contributions payable to labor organizations, or to collect or to assist in the collection of any such dues, fees, assessments, or other contributions: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit a carrier from permitting an employee, individually, or local representatives of employees from conferring with management during working hours without loss of time, or to prohibit a carrier from furnishing free transportation to its employees while engaged in the business of a labor organization.

"Fifth. No carrier, its officers, or agents shall require any person seeking employment to sign any contract or agreement promising to join or not to join a labor organization; and if any such contract has been enforced prior to the effective date of this act, then such carrier shall notify the employees by an appropriate order that such contract has been discarded and is no longer binding on them in any way.

"Sixth. In case of a dispute between a carrier or carriers and its or their employees, arising out of grievances or out of the interpretation or application of agreements concerning rates of pay, rules, or working conditions, it shall be the duty of the designated representative or representatives of such carrier or carriers and of such employees, within ten days after the receipt of notice of a desire on the part of either party to confer in respect to such dispute, to specify a time and place at which such conference shall be held: Provided, (1) That the place so specified shall be situated upon the line of the carrier involved or as otherwise mutually agreed upon; and (2) that the time so specified shall allow the designated conferees reasonable opportunity to reach such place of conference, but shall not exceed twenty days from the receipt of such notice: And provided further, That nothing in this act shall be construed to supersede the provisions of any agreement (as to conferences) then in effect between the parties.

"Seventh. No carrier, its officers or agents shall change the rates of pay, rules, or working conditions of its employees, as a class as embodied in agreements except in the manner prescribed in such agreements or in section 6 of this act.

"Eighth. Every carrier shall notify its employees by printed notices in such form and posted at such times and places as shall be specified by the Mediation Board that all disputes between the carrier and its employees will be handled in accordance with the requirements of this act, and in such notices there shall be printed verbatim, in large type, the third, fourth, and fifth paragraphs of this section. The provisions of said paragraphs are hereby made a part of the contract of employment between the carrier and each employee, and shall be held binding upon the parties, regardless of any other express or implied agreements between them.

"Ninth. If any dispute shall arise among a carrier's employees as to who are the representatives of such employees designated and authorized in accordance with the requirements of this act, it shall be the duty of the Mediation Board, upon request of either party to the dispute, to investigate such dispute and to certify to both parties, in writing, within thirty days after the receipt of the invocation of its services, the name or names of the individuals or organizations that have been designated and authorized to represent the employees involved in the dispute, and certify the same to the carrier. Upon receipt of such certification the carrier shall treat with the representative so certified as the representative of the craft or class for the purposes of this act. In such an investigation, the Mediation Board shall be authorized to take a secret ballot of the employees involved, or to utilize any other appropriate method of ascertaining the names of their duly designated and authorized representatives in such manner as shall insure the choice of representatives by the employees without interference, influence, or coercion exercised by the carrier. In the conduct of any election for the purposes herein indicated the Board shall designate who may participate in the election and establish the rules to govern the election, or may appoint a committee of three neutral persons who after hearing shall within ten days designate the employees who may participate in the election. The Board shall have access to and have power to make copies of the books and records of the carriers to obtain and utilize such information as may be deemed necessary by it to carry out the purposes and provisions of this paragraph.

"Tenth. The willful failure or refusal of any carrier, its officers or agents to comply with the terms of the third, fourth, fifth, seventh, or eighth paragraph of this section shall be a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof the carrier, officer, or agent offending shall be subject to a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $20,000 or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both fine and imprisonment, for each offense, and each day during which such carrier, officer, or agent shall willfully fail or refuse to comply with the terms of the said paragraphs of this section shall constitute a separate offense. It shall be the duty of any district attorney of the United States to whom any duly designated representative of a carrier's employees may apply to institute in the proper court and to prosecute under the direction of the Attorney General of the United States, all necessary proceedings for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, and for the punishment of all violations thereof, and the costs and expenses of such prosecution shall be paid out of the appropriation for the expenses of the courts of the United States: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to require an individual employee to render labor or service without his consent, nor shall anything in this act be construed to make the quitting of his labor by an individual employee an illegal act; nor shall any court issue any process to compel the performance by an individual employee of such labor or service without his consent."

Sec. 3. Section 3 of the Railway Labor Act is amended to read as follows:

"National Board of Adjustment—Grievances—Interpretation of agreements

"Sec. 3. First. There is hereby established a Board to be known as the 'National Railroad Adjustment Board', the members of which shall be selected within thirty days after approval of this act, and it is hereby provided—

"(a) That the said Adjustment Board shall consist of thirty-six members, eighteen of whom shall be selected by the carriers and eighteen by such labor organizations of the employees, national in scope, as have been or may be organized in accordance with the provisions of section 2 of this act.

"(b) The carriers, acting each through its board of directors or its receiver or receivers, trustee or trustees, or through an officer or officers designated for that purpose by such board, trustee or trustees, or receiver or receivers, shall prescribe the rules under which its representatives shall be selected and shall select the representatives of the carriers on the Adjustment Board and designate the division on which each such representative shall serve, but no carrier or system of carriers shall have more than one representative on any division of the Board.

"(c) The national labor organizations, as defined in paragraph (a) of this section, acting each through the chief executive or other medium designated by the organization or association thereof, shall prescribe the rules under which the labor members of the Adjustment Board shall be selected and shall select such members and designate the division on which each member shall serve; but no labor organization shall have more than one representative on any division of the Board.

"(d) In case of a permanent or temporary vacancy on the Adjustment Board, the vacancy shall be filled by selection in the same manner as in the original selection.

"(e) If either the carriers or the labor organizations of the employees fail to select and designate representatives to the Adjustment Board, as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, respectively, within sixty days after the passage of this act, in case of any original appointment to office of a member of the Adjustment Board, or in case of a vacancy in any such office within thirty days after such vacancy occurs, the Mediation Board shall thereupon directly make the appointment and shall select an individual associated in interest with the carriers or the group of labor organizations of employees, whichever he is to represent.

"(f) In the event a dispute arises as to the right of any national labor organization to participate as per paragraph (c) of this section in the selection and designation of the labor members of the Adjustment Board, the Secretary of Labor shall investigate the claim of such labor organization to participate, and if such claim in the judgment of the Secretary of Labor has merit, the Secretary shall notify the Mediation Board accordingly, and within ten days after receipt of such advice the Mediation Board shall request those national labor organizations duly qualified as per paragraph (c) of this section to participate in the selection and designation of the labor members of the Adjustment Board to select a representative. Such representative, together with a representative likewise designated by the claimant, and a third or neutral party designated by the Mediation Board, constituting a board of three, shall within thirty days after the appointment of the neutral member, investigate the claims of the labor organization desiring participation and decide whether or not it was organized in accordance with section 2 hereof and is otherwise properly qualified to participate in the selection of the labor members of the Adjustment Board, and the findings of such boards of three shall be final and binding.

(g) Each member of the Adjustment Board shall be compensated by the party or parties he is to represent. Each third or neutral party selected under the provisions of (f) of this section shall receive from the Mediation Board such compensation as the Mediation Board may fix, together with his necessary traveling expenses and expenses actually incurred for subsistence, or per diem allowance in lieu thereof, subject to the provisions of law applicable thereto, while serving as such third or neutral party.

"(h) The said Adjustment Board shall be composed of four divisions, whose proceedings shall be independent of one another, and the said divisions as well as the number of their members shall be as follows:

"First division: To have jurisdiction over disputes involving train- and yard-service employees of carriers; that is, engineers, firemen, hostlers, and outside hostler helpers, conductors, trainmen, and yard-service employees. This division shall consist of ten members, five of whom shall be selected and designated by the carriers and five of whom shall be selected and designated by the national labor organizations of the employees.

"Second division: To have jurisdiction over disputes involving machinists, boilermakers, blacksmiths, sheet-metal workers, electrical workers, car men, the helpers and apprentices of all the foregoing, coach cleaners, power-house employees, and railroad-shop laborers. This division shall consist of ten members, five of whom shall be selected by the carriers and five by the national labor organizations of the employees.

"Third division: To have jurisdiction over disputes involving station, tower, and telegraph employees, train dispatchers, maintenance-of-way men, clerical employees, freight handlers, express station and store employees, signalmen, sleeping-car conductors, sleeping-car porters, and maids and dining-car employees. This division shall consist of ten members, five of whom shall be selected by the carriers and five by the national labor organizations of employees.

"Fourth division: To have jurisdiction over disputes involving employees of carriers directly or indirectly engaged in transportation of passengers or property by water, and all other employees of carriers over which jurisdiction is not given to the first, second, and third divisions. This division shall consist of six members, three of whom shall be selected by the carriers and three by the national labor organizations of the employees.

(4) The disputes between an employee or group of employees and a carrier or carriers growing out of grievances or out of the interpretation or application of agreements concerning rates of pay, rules, or working conditions, including cases pending and unadjusted on the date of approval of this act, shall be handled in the usual manner up to and including the chief operating officer of the carrier designated to handle such disputes; but, failing to reach an adjustment in this manner, the disputes may be referred by petition of the parties or by either party to the appropriate division of the Adjustment Board with a full statement of the facts and all supporting data bearing upon the disputes.

"(j) Parties may be heard either in person, by counsel, or by other representatives, as they may respectively elect, and the several divisions of the Adjustment Board shall give due notice of all hearings to the employee or employees and the carrier or carriers involved in any disputes submitted to them.

(k) Any division of the Adjustment Board shall have authority to empower two or more of its members to conduct hearings and make findings upon disputes, when properly submitted, at any place designated by the division:

Provided, however, That final awards as to any such dispute must be made by the entire division as hereinafter provided.

(1) Upon failure of any division to agree upon an award because of a deadlock or inability to secure a majority vote of the division members, as provided in paragraph (n) of this section, then such division shall forthwith agree upon and select a neutral person, to be known as 'referee', to sit with the division as a member thereof and make an award. Should the division fail to agree upon and select a referee within ten days of the date of the deadlock or inability to secure a majority vote, then the division, or any member thereof, or the parties or either party to the dispute may certify that fact to the Mediation Board, which Board shall, within ten days from the date of receiving such certificate, select and name the referee to sit with the division as a member thereof and make an award. The Mediation Board shall be bound by the same provisions in the appointment of these neutral referees as are provided elsewhere in this act for the appointment of arbitrators and shall fix and pay the compensation of such referees.

(m) The awards of the several divisions of the Adjustment Board shall be stated in writing. A copy of the awards shall be furnished to the respective parties to the controversy, and the awards shall be final and binding upon both parties to the disputes, except insofar as they shall contain a money award. In case a dispute arises involving an interpretation of the award the division of the Board upon request of either party shall interpret the award in the light of the dispute.

(n) A majority vote of all members of the division of the Adjustment Board shall be competent to make an award with respect to any dispute submitted to it.

(c) In case of an award by any division of the Adjustment Board in favor of petitioner, the division of the Board shall make an order, directed to the carrier, to make the award effective and if the award includes a requirement for the payment of money, to pay to the employee the sum to which he is entitled under the award on or before the day named.

"(p) If a carrier does not comply with an order of a division of the Adjustment Board within the time limit in such order, the petitioner, or any person for whose benefit such order was made, may file in the District Court of the United States for the district in which he resides or in which is located the principal operating office of the carrier, or through which the carrier operates, a petition setting forth briefly the causes for which he claims relief, and the order of the division of the Adjustment Board in the premises. Such suit in the District Court of the United States shall proceed in all respects as other civil suits, except that on the trial of such suit the findings and order of the division of the Adjustment Board shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated, and except that the petitioner shall not be liable for costs in the district court nor for costs at any subsequent stage of the proceedings, unless they accrue upon his appeal, and such costs shall be paid out of the appropriation for the expenses of the courts of the United States. If the petitioner shall finally prevail, he shall be allowed a reasonable attorney's fee, to be taxed and collected as a part of the costs of the suit. The district courts are empowered, under the rules of the court governing actions at law, to make such order and enter such judgment, by writ of mandamus or otherwise, as may be appropriate to enforce or set aside the order of the division of the Adjustment Board.

"(q) All actions at law based upon the provisions of this section shall be begun within two years from the time the cause of action accrues under the award of the division of the Adjustment Board, and not after.

"(r) The several divisions of the Adjustment Board shall maintain headquarters in Chicago, Illinois, meet regularly, and continue in session so long as there is pending before the division any matter within its jurisdiction which has been submitted for its consideration and which has not been disposed of.

"(s) Whenever practicable, the several divisions or subdivisions of the Adjustment Board shall be supplied with suitable quarters in any Federal building located at its place of meeting.

"(t) The Adjustment Board may, subject to the approval of the Mediation Board, employ and fix the compensations of such assistants as it deems necessary in carrying on its proceedings. The compensation of such employees shall be paid by the Mediation Board.

“ (u) The Adjustment Board shall meet within forty days after the approval of this act and adopt such rules as it deems necessary to control proceedings before the respective divisions and not in conflict with the provisions of this section. Immediately following the meeting of the entire Board and the adoption of such rules, the respective divisions shall meet and organize by the selection of a chairman, a vice chairman, and a secretary. Thereafter each division shall annually designate one of its members to act as chairman and one of its members to act as vice chairman: Provided, however, That the chairmanship and vice chairmanship of any division shall alternate as between the groups, so that both the chairmanship and vice chairmanship shall be held alternately by a representative of the carriers and a representative of the employees. In case of a vacancy, such vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term by the selection of a successor from the same group.

(v) Each division of the Adjustment Board shall annually prepare and submit a report of its activities to the Mediation Board, and the substance of such report shall be included in the annual report of the Mediation Board to the Congress of the United States.

"The reports of each division of the Adjustment Board and the annual report of the Mediation Board shall state in detail all cases heard, all actions taken, the names, salaries, and duties of all agencies, employees, and officers receiving compensation from the United States under the authority of this act, and an account of all moneys appropriated by Congress pursuant to the authority conferred by this act and disbursed by such agencies, employees, and officers.

"(w) Any division of the Adjustment Board shall have authority, in its discretion, to establish regional adjustment boards to act in its place and stead for such limited periods as such division may determine to be necessary. Carrier members of such regional boards shall be designated in keeping with rules devised for this purpose by the carrier members of the Adjustment Board and the labor members shall be designated in keeping with rules devised for this purpose by the labor members of the Adjustment Board. Any such regional board shall, during the time for which it is appointed, have the same authority to conduct hearings, make findings upon disputes, and adopt the same procedure as the division of the Adjustment Board appointing it, and its decisions shall be enforceable to the same extent and under the same processes. A neutral person, as referee, shall be appointed for service in connection with any such regional adjustment board in the same circumstances and in the manner as provided in paragraph (l) hereof, with respect to a division of the Adjustment Board.

"Second. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent any individual carrier, system, or group of carriers, and any class or classes of its or their employees, all acting through their representatives, selected in accordance with the provisions of this act, from mutually agreeing to the establishment of system, group, or regional boards of adjustment for the purpose of adjusting and deciding disputes of the character specified in this section. In the event that either party to such a system, group, or regional board of adjustment is dissatisfied with such arrangement, it may, upon ninety days' notice to the other party elect to come under the jurisdiction of the Adjustment Board."

No person in the employment of or who is pecuniarily or otherwise interested in any organization of employees or any carrier shall enter upon the duties of or continue to be a member of the Board.

All expenditures of the Board shall be allowed and paid on the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the chairman.

"Fourth. The Mediation Board is hereby authorized by its order to assign, or refer, any portion of its work, business or duties to any of its members or to any other person or persons."

ness, or functions arising under this or any other act of Congress, or referred to it by Congress or either branch thereof, to an individual member of the Board or to an employee or employees of the Board to be designated by such order for action thereon, and by its order at any time to amend, modify, supplement, or rescind any such assignment or reference. All such orders shall take effect forthwith and remain in effect until otherwise ordered by the Board. In conformity with and subject to the order or orders of the Mediation Board in the premises, any such individual member of the Board or employee designated shall have power and authority to act as to any of said work, business, or functions so assigned or referred to him for action by the Board.

"Fifth. All officers and employees of the Board of Mediation (except the members thereof, whose officers are hereby abolished) whose services in the judgment of the Mediation Board are necessary to the efficient operation of the Board are hereby transferred to the Board, without change in classification or compensation; except that the Board may provide for the adjustment of such classification or compensation to conform to the duties to which such officers and employees may be assigned.

"All unexpended appropriations for the operation of the Board of Mediation that are available at the time of the abolition of the Board of Mediation shall be transferred to the Mediation Board and shall be available for its use for salaries and other authorized expenditures."

Sec. 5. Section 5 of the Railway Labor Act is amended to read as follows:

"Functions of Mediation Board"

"Sec. 5. First. The parties, or either party, to a dispute between an employe or group of employees and a carrier may invoke the services of the Mediation Board in any of the following cases:

"(a) A dispute concerning changes in rates of pay, rules, or working conditions not adjusted by the parties in conference.

"(b) Any other dispute not referable to the National Railroad Adjustment Board and not adjusted in conference between the parties or where conferences are refused.

"The Mediation Board may proffer its services in case any labor emergency is found by it to exist at any time.

"In either event, the said Board shall promptly put itself in communication with the parties to such controversy, and shall use its best efforts, by mediation, to bring them to agreement. If such efforts to bring about an amicable settlement through mediation shall be unsuccessful, the said Board shall at once endeavor as its final required action (except as provided in par. 3d of this section and in sec. 10 of this act) to induce the parties to submit their controversy to arbitration, in accordance with the provisions of this act.

"If arbitration at the request of the Board shall be refused by one or both parties, the Board shall at once notify both parties in writing that its mediatory efforts have failed and for thirty days thereafter, unless in the intervening period the parties agree to arbitration, or an emergency board shall be created under section 10 of this act, no change shall be made in the rates of pay, rules, or working conditions or established practices in effect prior to the time the dispute arose.

"Second. In any case in which a controversy arises over the meaning or the application of any agreement reached through mediation under the provisions of this act, either party to the said agreement, or both, may apply to the Mediation Board for an interpretation of the meaning or application of such agreement. The said Board shall upon receipt of such request notify the parties to the controversy, and after a hearing of both sides give its interpretation within thirty days.

"Third. The Mediation Board shall have the following duties with respect to the arbitration of disputes under section 7 of this act:

"(a) On failure of the arbitrators named by the parties to agree on the remaining arbitrator or arbitrators within the time set by section 7 of this act, it shall be the duty of the Mediation Board to name such remaining arbitrator or arbitrators. It shall be the duty of the Board in naming such arbitrator or arbitrators to appoint only those whom the Board shall deem wholly disinterested in the controversy to be arbitrated and impartial and without bias as between the parties to such arbitration. Should, however, the Board name an arbitrator or arbitrators not so disinterested and impartial, then, upon proper investigation and presentation of the facts, the Board shall promptly remove such arbitrator.

"If an arbitrator named by the Mediation Board, in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall be removed by such Board as provided by this act, or if such an arbitrator refuses or is unable to serve, it shall be the duty of the Mediation Board, promptly, to select another arbitrator, in the same manner as provided in this act for an original appointment by the Mediation Board.

"(b) Any member of the Mediation Board is authorized to take the acknowledgment of an agreement to arbitrate under this act. When so acknowledged, or when acknowledged by the parties before a notary public or the clerk of a district court or a circuit court of appeals of the United States, such agreement to arbitrate shall be delivered to a member of said Board or transmitted to said Board, to be filed in its office.

"(c) When an agreement to arbitrate has been filed with the Mediation Board, or with one of its members, as provided by this section, and when the said Board has been furnished the names of the arbitrators chosen by the parties to the controversy it shall be the duty of the Board to cause a notice in writing to be served upon said arbitrators, notifying them of their appointment, requesting them to meet promptly to name the remaining arbitrator or arbitrators necessary to complete the Board of Arbitration, and advising them of the period within which, as provided by the agreement to arbitrate, they are empowered to name such arbitrator or arbitrators.

"(d) Either party to an arbitration desiring the reconvening of a board of arbitration to pass upon any controversy arising over the meaning or application of an award may so notify the Mediation Board in writing, stating in such notice the question or questions to be submitted to such reconvened Board. The Mediation Board shall thereupon promptly communicate with the members of the Board of Arbitration, or a subcommittee of such Board appointed for such purpose pursuant to a provision in the agreement to arbitrate, and arrange for the reconvening of said Board of Arbitration or subcommittee, and shall notify the respective parties to the controversy of the time and place at which the Board, or the subcommittee, will meet for hearings upon the matters in controversy to be submitted to it. No evidence other than that contained in the record filed with the original award shall be received or considered by such reconvened Board or subcommittee, except such evidence as may be necessary to illustrate the interpretations suggested by the parties. If any member of the original Board is unable or unwilling to serve on such reconvened Board or subcommittee thereof, another arbitrator shall be named in the same manner and with the same powers and duties as such original arbitrator.

"(e) Within sixty days after the approval of this act every carrier shall file with the Mediation Board a copy of each contract with its employees in effect on the 1st day of April 1934, covering rates of pay, rules, and working conditions. If no contract with any craft or class of its employees has been entered into, the carrier shall file with the Mediation Board a statement of that fact including also a statement of the rates of pay, rules, and working conditions applicable in dealing with such craft or class. When any new contract is executed or change is made in an existing contract with any class or craft or its employees covering rates of pay, rules, or working conditions, or in those rates of pay, rules, and working conditions of employees not covered by contract, the carrier shall file the same with the Mediation Board within thirty days after such new contract or change in existing contract has been executed or rates of pay, rules, and working conditions have been made effective.

"(f) The Mediation Board shall be the custodian of all papers and documents heretofore filed with or transferred to the Board of Mediation bearing upon the settlement, adjustment, or determination of disputes between carriers and their employees or upon mediation or arbitration proceedings held under or pursuant to the provisions of any act of Congress in respect thereto; and the President is authorized to designate a custodian of the records and property of the Board of Mediation until the transfer and delivery of such records to the Mediation Board and to require the transfer and delivery to the Mediation Board of any and all such papers and documents filed with it or in its possession."

Sec. 6. Section 6 of the Railway Labor Act is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 6. Carriers and representatives of the employees shall give at least thirty days' written notice of an intended change in agreements affecting rates of pay, rules, or working conditions, and the time and place for the beginning of conference between the representatives of the parties interested in such intended changes shall be agreed upon within ten days after the receipt of said notice, and said time shall be within the thirty days provided in the notice. In every case where such notice of intended change has been given, or conferences are being held with reference thereto, or the services of the Mediation Board have been requested by either party, or said Board has proffered its services, rates of pay, rules, or working conditions shall not be altered by the carrier until the controversy has been finally acted upon as required by section 5 of this act, by the Mediation Board, unless a period of ten days has elapsed after termination of conferences without request for or proffer of the services of the Mediation Board."

Sec. 7. The Railway Labor Act is amended by striking out the words "Board of Mediation" wherever they appear in sections 7, 8, 10, and 12 of such act, and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Mediation Board."

Sec. 8. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 9620) to improve housing conditions; to provide employment; to provide for the insurance of mortgages; to insure the savings in savings and loan associations and similar institutions; to amend the Federal Home Loan Bank Act, Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933, the Federal Reserve Act, and the Farm Credit Act of 1933; and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference, have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That this act may be cited as the "National Housing Act."

Title I—Housing Renovation and Modernization

Creation of Federal Housing Administration

Section 1. The President is authorized to create a Federal Housing Administration, all of the powers of which shall be exercised by a Federal Housing Administrator (hereinafter referred to as the "Administrator"), who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall hold office for a term of four years, and shall receive compensation at the rate of $10,000 per annum. In order to carry out the provisions of this title and titles II and III, the Administrator may establish such agencies, accept and utilize such voluntary and uncompensated services, utilize such Federal officers and employees, and with the consent of the State, such State and local officers and employees, and appoint such other officers and employees as he may find necessary, and may prescribe their authorities, duties, responsibilities, and tenure and fix their compensation, without regard to the provisions of other laws applicable to the employment or compensation of officers or employees of the United States. The Administrator may delegate any of the functions and powers conferred upon him under this title and titles II and III to such officers, agents, and employees as he may designate or appoint, and may make such expenditures (including expenditures for personal services and rent at the seat of government and elsewhere, for law books and books of reference, and for paper, printing, and binding) as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this title and titles II and III, without regard to any other provisions of law governing the expenditure of public funds. All such compensation, expenses, and allowances shall be paid out of funds made available by this act.

Insurance of financial institutions

Sec. 2. The Administrator is authorized and empowered, upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe, to insure banks, trust companies, personal finance companies, mortgage companies, building and loan associations, installment lending companies, and other such financial institutions, which are approved by him as eligible for credit insurance, against losses which they may sustain as a result of loans and advances of credit, and purchases of obligations representing loans and advances of credit, made by them subsequent to the date of enactment of this act and prior to January 1, 1936, or such earlier date as the President may fix by proclamation, for the purpose of financing alterations, repairs, and improvements upon real property. In no case shall the insurance granted by the Administrator under this section to any such financial institution, exceed 20 per centum of the total amount of the loans, advances of credit, and purchases made by such financial institution for such purpose; and the total liability incurred by the Administrator for such insurance shall in no case exceed in the aggregate $200,000,000. No insurance shall be granted under this section to any such financial institution with respect to any obligation representing any such loan, advance of credit, or purchase by it the face amount of which exceeds $2,000; nor unless the obligation bears such interest, has such maturity, and contains such other terms, conditions, and restrictions, as the Administrator shall prescribe.

Loans to financial institutions

Sec. 3. The Administrator is further authorized and empowered to make loans to institutions which are insured under section 2, and to enter into loan agreements with such institutions, upon the security of obligations which meet the requirements prescribed under section 2. Such loans or agreements may be made for the full face value of the obligations offered as security and shall be at such rates and upon such terms and conditions as the Administrator shall determine.

Allocation of funds

Sec. 4. For the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this title and titles II and III, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall make available to the Administrator such funds as he may deem necessary, and the amount of notes, debentures, bonds, or other such obligations which the Corporation is authorized and empowered to have outstanding at any one time under existing law is hereby increased by an amount sufficient to provide such funds: Provided, That the President, in his discretion, is authorized to provide such funds or any portion thereof by allotment to the Administrator from any funds that are available, or may hereafter be made available, to the President for emergency purposes.

Annual report

Sec. 5. The Administrator shall make an annual report to the Congress as soon as practicable after the 1st day of January in each year of his activities under this title and titles II and III of this act.

Title II—Mutual Mortgage Insurance

Definitions

Section 201. As used in this title—

(a) The term "mortgage" means a first mortgage on real estate in fee simple or on a leasehold (1) under a lease for not less than ninety-nine years which is renewable, or (2) under a lease having a period of not less than fifty years to run from the date the mortgage was executed, upon which there is located a dwelling for not more than four families which is used in whole or in part for residential purposes, irrespective of whether such dwelling has a party wall or is otherwise physically connected with another dwelling; and the term "first mortgage" means such classes of first liens as are commonly given to secure advances on, or the unpaid purchase price of, real estate under the laws of the State in which the real estate is located, together with the credit instruments, if any, secured thereby.

(b) The term "mortgagee" includes the original lender under a mortgage, and his successors and assigns approved by the Administrator; and the term "mortgagor" includes the original borrower under a mortgage and his successors and assigns.

Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund

Sec. 202. There is hereby created a Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund (hereinafter referred to as the "Fund"), which shall be used by the Administrator as a revolving fund for carrying out the provisions of this title as hereinafter provided, and there shall be allocated immediately to such Fund the sum of $10,000,000 out of funds made available to the Administrator for the purposes of this title.

Insurance of mortgages

Sec. 203. (a) The Administrator is authorized, upon application by the mortgagee, to insure as hereinafter provided any mortgage offered to him within one year from the date of its execution which is eligible for insurance as hereinafter provided, and, upon such terms as the Administrator may prescribe, to make commitments for the insuring of such mortgages prior to the date of their execution or disbursement thereon: Provided, That except with the approval of the President (1) the aggregate principal obligation of all mortgages on property and low-cost housing projects existing on the date of enactment of this act and insured under this title shall not exceed $1,000,000,000, and (2) the insurance of mortgages on property and low-cost housing projects constructed after the passage of this act shall be limited to a similar amount.

(b) To be eligible for insurance under this section a mortgage shall—

(1) Have, or be held by, a mortgagee approved by the Administrator as responsible and able to service the mortgage properly.

(2) Involve a principal obligation (including such initial service charges and appraisal and other fees as the Administrator shall approve) in an amount not to exceed $16,000, and not to exceed 80 per centum of the appraised value of the property as of the date the mortgage is executed.

(3) Have a maturity satisfactory to the Administrator, but not to exceed twenty years.

(4) Contain complete amortization provisions satisfactory to the Administrator requiring periodic payments by the mortgagor not in excess of his reasonable ability to pay as determined by the Administrator.

(5) Bear interest (exclusive of premium charges for insurance) at not to exceed 5 per centum per annum on the amount of the principal obligation outstanding at any time, or not to exceed 6 per centum per annum if the Administrator finds that in certain areas or under special circumstances the mortgage market demands it.

(6) Provide, in a manner satisfactory to the Administrator, for the application of the mortgagor's periodic payments (exclusive of the amount allocated to interest and to the premium charge which is required for mortgage insurance as hereinafter provided) to amortization of the principal of the mortgage.

(7) Contain such terms and provisions with respect to insurance, repairs, alterations, payment of taxes, default reserves, delinquency charges, foreclosure proceedings, anticipation of maturity, additional and secondary liens, and other matters as the Administrator may in his discretion prescribe.

(c) The Administrator is authorized to fix a premium charge for the insurance of mortgages under this section (to be determined in accordance with the risk involved) which in no case shall be less than one-half of 1 per centum nor more than 1 per centum per annum of the original face value of the mortgage, and which shall be payable annually in advance by the mortgagee. If the Administrator finds upon the presentation of a mortgage for insurance and the tender of the initial premium charge that the mortgage complies with the provisions of this section, such mortgage may be accepted for insurance by endorsement or otherwise as the Administrator may prescribe; but no mortgage shall be accepted for insurance under this section unless the Administrator finds that the project with respect to which the mortgage is executed is economically sound.

(d) The Administrator is authorized and directed to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

Payment of insurance

Sec. 204. (a) In any case in which the mortgagee under an insured mortgage shall have foreclosed and taken possession of the mortgaged property in accordance with regulations of, and within a period to be determined by, the Administrator, or shall, with the consent of the Administrator, have otherwise acquired such property from the mortgagor after default, the mortgagee shall be entitled, upon the prompt conveyance to the Administrator of title to such property satisfactory to him and the assignment to him of all claims of the mortgagee against the mortgagor arising out of the mortgage transaction or foreclosure proceedings, to receive the benefits of the insurance as hereinafter provided. Upon such conveyance and assignment the obligation of the mortgagee to pay the annual premium charges for insurance shall cease and the Administrator shall issue to the mortgagee debentures having a total face value equal to the value of the mortgage on the date of the delivery of the property to the Administrator, and a certificate of claim, as hereinafter provided. For the purposes of this subsection, the value of the mortgage shall be determined by adding to the amount of the principal of the mortgage which is unpaid on the date of such delivery the amount of all payments which have been made by the mortgagee for taxes and insurance on the property mortgaged in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the Administrator.

(b) The debentures issued by the Administrator under this section to any mortgagee shall bear interest at a rate determined by the Administrator at the time the mortgage was offered for insurance, but not to exceed 3 per centum per annum, payable semiannually on the 1st day of January and the 1st day of July of each year, and shall mature three years after the 1st day of July following the maturity date of the mortgage in exchange for which the debentures were issued. All such debentures shall be subject only to such Federal, State, and local taxes as the mortgages in exchange for which they are issued would be subject to in the hands of the holder of the debentures and shall be a liability of the fund only; except that debentures issued in exchange for mortgages insured under this section prior to July 1, 1937, shall be fully guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States. In the event that the amount in the fund is insufficient to pay upon demand, when due, the principal of or interest on any debentures so guaranteed, the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay to the holders the amount thereof which is hereby authorized to be appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and thereupon to the extent of the amount so paid the Secretary of the Treasury shall succeed to all rights of the holders of such debentures.

(c) The certificate of claim issued by the Administrator to any mortgagee shall be for an amount which the Administrator determines to be sufficient, when added to the face value of the debentures issued to the mortgagee, to equal the amount which the mortgagee would have received if, at the time of the conveyance to the Administrator of the property covered by the mortgage, the mortgagor had redeemed the property and paid in full all obligations under the mortgage and those arising out of the foreclosure proceedings. Each such certificate of claim shall provide that there shall accrue to the holder of such certificate with respect to the face amount of such certificate, an increment at the rate of 3 per centum per annum. The amount to which the holder of any such certificate shall be entitled shall be determined as provided in subsection (d).

(d) If the net amount realized from any property conveyed to the Administrator under this section and the claims assigned therewith, after deducting all expenses incurred by the Administrator in handling, dealing with, and disposing of such property and in collecting such claims, exceeds the face amount of the debentures issued in exchange for the mortgage covering such property plus all interest paid on such debentures, such excess shall be divided as follows:

(1) If such excess is greater than the total amount payable under the certificate of claim issued in connection with such property, the Administrator shall pay to the holder of such certificate the full amount so payable; and any excess remaining thereafter shall be paid to the mortgagor of such property.

(2) If such excess is equal to or less than the total amount payable under such certificate of claim, the Administrator shall pay to the holder of such certificate the full amount of such excess.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law relating to the acquisition, handling, or disposal of real property by the United States, the Administrator shall have power to deal with, rent, renovate, modernize, or sell for cash or credit, in his discretion, any properties conveyed to him in exchange for debentures and certificates of claim as provided in this section; and notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Administrator shall also have power to pursue to final collection, by way of compromise or otherwise, all claims against mortgagors assigned by mortgagees to the Administrator as provided in this section.

(f) No mortgagee or mortgagor shall have, and no certificate of claim shall be construed to give to any mortgagee or mortgagor, any right or interest in any property conveyed to the Administrator or in any claim assigned to him; nor shall the Administrator owe any duty to any mortgagee or mortgagor with respect to the handling or disposal of any such property or the collection of any such claim.

Classification of mortgages and reinsurance fund

Sec. 205. (a) Mortgages accepted for insurance under this title shall be so classified into groups that the mortgages in any group shall involve substantially similar risk characteristics and have similar maturity dates. Premium charges received for the insurance of any mortgage, the receipts derived from the property covered by the mortgage and claims assigned to the Administrator in connection therewith, and all earnings on the assets of the group account, shall be credited to the account of the group to which the mortgage is assigned. The principal of and interest paid and to be paid on debentures issued in exchange for any mortgage, payments made or to be made to the mortgagee and the mortgagor as provided in section 204, and expenses incurred in the handling of the property covered by the mortgage and in the collection of claims assigned to the Administrator in connection therewith, shall be charged to the account of the group to which such mortgage is assigned.

(b) The Administrator shall also provide, in addition to the several group accounts, a general reinsurance account, the credit in which shall be available to cover charges against such group accounts where the amounts credited to such accounts are insufficient to cover such charges. General expenses of operation of the Federal Housing Administration under this title may be allocated in the discretion of the Administrator among the several group accounts or charged to the general reinsurance account, and the amount allocated to the fund under section 202 shall be credited to the general reinsurance account.

(c) Whenever the credit balance in any group account exceeds the remaining unpaid principal of the then outstanding mortgages assigned to such group by an amount equal to 10 per centum of the total premium payments which have theretofore been credited to such account, the Administrator shall terminate the insurance as to that group of mortgages (1) by paying to each of the mortgagees holding an outstanding mortgage assigned to such group a sum sufficient, if such mortgage is in good standing, to pay off such mortgage in full, the payment in each case being for the benefit and account of the mortgagor, and (2) by transferring the remainder of such credit balance to the general reinsurance account provided for in subsection (b).

(d) If the credit balance in any group account fails to exceed, until the final year prior to the maturity date of the mortgages assigned to such group, the remaining unpaid principal of the then outstanding mortgages assigned to such group by an amount equal to 10 per centum of the total premium payments which have theretofore been credited to such account, the Administrator shall terminate the insurance as to that group of mortgages (1) by transferring to the general reinsurance account provided for in subsection (b) an amount equal to 10 per centum of the total premium charges theretofore credited to such group account, and (2) by distributing the remainder of such credit balance, if any, pro rata to the mortgagees for the benefit and account of the mortgagors of the mortgages assigned to such group.

(e) No mortgagor or mortgagee of any mortgage insured under this title shall have any vested right in the credit balance in any such account, and the determination of the Administrator as to the amount to be paid by him to any mortgagee or mortgagor under this title shall be final and conclusive.

(f) In the event that any mortgagee under an insured mortgage forecloses on the mortgaged property, but does not convey such property to the Administrator in accordance with section 204, or in the event that the mortgagor pays the obligation under the mortgage in full prior to the maturity thereof, the obligation to pay the premium charge for insurance shall, upon due notice to the Administrator, cease, and all rights of the mortgagee and the mortgagor under section 204 shall likewise terminate. Thereupon the mortgagor shall be entitled to receive a share of the credit balance of the group account of the group to which the mortgage has been assigned, in such amount as the Administrator shall determine to be equitable and not inconsistent with the preservation of the solvency of the group account and of the fund.

Investment of funds

Sec. 206. Moneys in the fund not needed for the current operations of the Federal Housing Administration shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the fund, or invested in bonds or other obligations of the United States. The Treasurer of the United States is hereby directed to pay interest semiannually on any amount so deposited at a rate not greater than the prevailing rate on long-term Government bonds, such rate to be computed on the average amount of such bonds outstanding during any such semiannual period. The Administrator may, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, purchase, at not to exceed par, in the open market, debentures issued under the provisions of section 204. Debentures so purchased shall be canceled and not reissued, and the several group accounts to which such debentures have been charged shall be charged with the amounts used in making such purchases.

Low-cost housing insurance

Sec. 207. The Administrator may also insure first mortgages, other than mortgages defined in section 201 (a) of this title, covering property held by Federal or State instrumentalities, private limited dividend corporations, or municipal corporate instrumentalities of one or more States, formed for the purpose of providing housing for persons of low income which are regulated or restricted by law or by the Administrator as to rents, charges, capital structure, rate of return, or methods of operation. Such mortgages shall contain terms, conditions, and provisions satisfactory to the Administrator, but need not conform to the eligibility requirements of section 203. Subject to the right of the Administrator to impose a premium charge in excess of, or less than, the amount specified for mortgages defined in section 201 (a), the provisions of sections 204 and 205 shall be applicable to mortgages insured under this section: Provided, That the insurance with respect to any low-cost housing project shall not exceed $10,000,000.

Taxation provisions

Sec. 208. Nothing in this title shall be construed to exempt any real property acquired and held by the Administrator under this title from taxation by any State or political subdivision thereof, to the same extent, according to its value, as other real property is taxed.

Statistical and economic surveys

Sec. 209. The Administrator shall cause to be made such statistical surveys and legal and economic studies as he shall deem useful to guide the development of housing and the creation of a sound mortgage market in the United States, and shall publish from time to time the results of such surveys and studies. Expenses of such studies and surveys, and expenses of publication and distribution of the results of such studies and surveys, shall be charged as a general expense of the fund.

Title III—National Mortgage Associations

Creation and powers of national mortgage associations

Section 301. (a) The Administrator is further authorized and empowered to provide for the establishment of national mortgage associations as hereinafter provided, which shall be authorized, subject to rules and regulations to be prescribed by the Administrator, (1) to purchase and sell first mortgages and such other first liens as are commonly given to secure advances on real estate held in fee simple or under a lease for not less than ninety-nine years, under the laws of the State in which the real estate is located, together with the credit instruments, if any, secured thereby, such mortgages not to exceed 80 per centum of the appraised value of the property as of the date the mortgage is purchased; and (2) to borrow money for such purposes through the issuance of notes, bonds, debentures, or other such obligations as hereinafter provided.

(b) Any number of natural persons, not less than five, may apply to the Administrator for authority to establish a national mortgage association, and at the time of such application shall transmit to the Administrator articles of association, signed and sealed by each of the incorporators and acknowledged before a judge of any court of record or a notary public, which shall contain (1) the name of the association, (2) the place where its principal office or place of business is to be located, and (3) such information with respect to its capital stock as the Administrator may by regulation require. If the Administrator is of the opinion that the incorporators transmitting the articles of association are responsible persons and that such articles of association are satisfactory in all respects, he shall issue or cause to be issued to such incorporators a certificate of approval, and the association shall become, as of the date of issuance of such certificate, a body corporate by the name set forth in its articles of association.

(c) Each national mortgage association created under this section shall have succession from the date of its organization unless it is dissolved by act of its shareholders, or its franchise becomes forfeited by order of the Administrator as hereinafter provided, or it is dissolved by act of Congress, and shall have power—

- (1) To adopt and use a corporate seal.
- (2) To make contracts.
- (3) To sue and be sued, complain and defend, in any court of law or equity, State or Federal.
- (4) To conduct its business in any State of the United States or in the District of Columbia and to have one or more offices in such State or in the District of Columbia, one of which offices shall be designated at the time of organization as its principal office.
- (5) To do all things as are necessary or incidental to the proper management of its affairs and the proper conduct of its business.

(d) No association shall transact any business except such as is incidental to its organization until it has been authorized to do so by the Administrator. Each such association shall have a capital stock of a par value of not less than $5,000,000, and no authorization to commence business shall be granted by the Administrator to any such association until he is satisfied that such capital stock has been subscribed for at not less than par and paid in full in cash or Government securities.

(e) Each national mortgage association, for the purpose of all actions by or against it, real, personal, or mixed, and all suits in equity, shall be deemed a citizen of the State in which its principal office is located.

(f) No individual, association, partnership, or corporation, except associations organized under this section, shall hereafter use the words "national mortgage association", or any combination of such words, as the name or a part thereof under which he or it shall do business. Every individual, partnership, association, or corporation violating this prohibition shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days, or both, for each day during which such violation is committed or repeated. The provisions of section 5243 of the Revised Statutes shall not apply to associations created under this title.

Obligations of national mortgage associations

Sec. 302. Each national mortgage association is authorized to issue and have outstanding at any time notes, bonds, debentures, or other such obligations in an aggregate amount not to exceed (1) ten times the aggregate par value of its outstanding capital stock, and in no event to exceed (2) the current face value of mortgages held by it and insured under the provisions of title II of this act, plus the amount of its cash on hand and on deposit and the amount of its investments in bonds or obligations of, or guaranteed as to principal and interest by, the United States. No national mortgage association shall borrow money except through the issuance of such notes, bonds, debentures, or other obligations, or issue any such notes, bonds, debentures, or other obligations, except with the approval of the Administrator and under such rules and regulations as he shall prescribe.

Investment of funds

Sec. 303. Moneys of any national mortgage association not invested in first mortgages or other liens as provided in section 301, or in operating facilities approved by the Administrator, shall be kept in cash on hand or on deposit, or invested in bonds or other obligations of, or guaranteed as to principal and interest by the United States; except that each such association shall keep and maintain such reserves as the Administrator shall by rules and regulations prescribe.

Management of acquired properties

Sec. 304. Subject to such rules and regulations as the Administrator shall prescribe, any national mortgage association shall have power to deal with, rent, renovate, modernize, or sell for cash or credit, or otherwise dispose of, with a view to assuring a maximum financial return to the association, any property acquired by it as a result of foreclosure proceedings.

Examinations and liquidation

Sec. 305. The Administrator shall have power to provide for the periodic examination of the affairs of every national mortgage association and shall have power to terminate the existence of any such association and order its liquidation and the winding up of its affairs in any case in which the Administrator finds that the association is violating any provisions of this title or any rule or regulation thereunder, or in any case in which he finds that the association is conducting its business in an unsafe and unbusinesslike manner. In any case in which the Administrator finds, upon examination of the affairs of any such association, that the capital of such association is substantially impaired, and if, within thirty days after the Administrator has notified the association of the existence of such impairment, the capital is not restored to the satisfaction of the Administrator, he shall terminate the existence of such association and shall order the liquidation and winding up of its affairs. The expenses of examination of any such association shall be assessed upon and paid for by the association in such manner and under such rules and regulations as the Administrator shall prescribe. For the purposes of this section, examiners appointed by the Administrator shall be subject to the same requirements, responsibilities, and penalties as are applicable to examiners under the national banking laws and the Federal Reserve Act, as amended, and, in the exercise of their functions, shall have the same powers and privileges as are vested in such examiners by law.

Rules and regulations

Sec. 306. The Administrator shall have power to provide by rules and regulations for the liquidation, reorganization, consolidation, or merger of national mortgage associations, including the power to appoint a conservator or a receiver to take charge of the affairs of any such association, to require an equitable readjustment of its capital structure, to release it from the control of a conservator or receiver, and to permit its further operation.

Taxation provisions

Sec. 307. National mortgage associations shall be subject to taxation to the same extent as State-chartered corporations, except that no State or political subdivision thereof shall impose any tax on any such association or its franchise, capital, reserves, surplus, loans, income, or stock, or its securities or the income therefrom, at a greater rate than that imposed by such State on corporations, domestic or foreign, engaged in similar business within the State. Nothing herein shall be construed to exempt the real property of such associations from taxation by any State or political subdivision thereof, to the same extent, according to its value, as other real property is taxed.

Depositories of public moneys

Sec. 308. When designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury any national mortgage association shall be a depository of public money, except receipts from customs, under such regulations as may be prescribed by said Secretary; and it may also be employed as a financial agent of the Government; and it shall perform all such reasonable duties as a depository of public money and financial agent of the Government as may be required of it. Any national mortgage association may act as agent for any other instrumentality of the United States when designated for that purpose by such instrumentality.

- (b) The term "insured member" means an individual, partnership, association, or corporation which holds an insured account.
- (c) The term "insured account" means a share, certificate, or deposit account of a type approved by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation which is held by an insured member in an insured institution and which is insured under the provisions of this title.
- (d) The term "default" means an adjudication or other official determination of a court of competent jurisdiction or other public authority pursuant to which a conservator, receiver, or other legal custodian is appointed for an insured institution for the purpose of liquidation.

Creation of Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation

Sec. 402. (a) There is hereby created a Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation (hereinafter referred to as the "Corporation"), which shall insure the accounts of institutions eligible for insurance as hereinafter provided and shall be under the direction of a board of trustees to be composed of five members and operated by it under such by-laws, rules, and regulations as it may prescribe for carrying out the purposes of this title. The members of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board shall constitute the board of trustees of the Corporation and shall serve as such without additional compensation. The principal office of the Corporation shall be in the District of Columbia.

(b) The Corporation shall have a capital stock of $100,000,000, which shall be divided into shares of $100 each.

The total amount of such capital stock shall be subscribed for by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation which is hereby authorized and directed to subscribe for such stock and make payment therefor in bonds of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. The Corporation shall issue to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation receipts for payment for or on account of such stock, which shall serve as evidence of the ownership thereof, and the Home Owners' Loan Corporation shall be entitled to the payment of dividends on such stock out of net earnings at a rate equal to the interest rate on such bonds, which dividends shall be cumulative.

(c) Upon the date of enactment of this act, the Corporation shall become a body corporate, and shall be an instrumentality of the United States, and as such shall have power—

- (1) To adopt and use a corporate seal.
- (2) To have succession until dissolved by act of Congress.
- (3) To make contracts.
- (4) To sue and be sued, complain and defend, in any court of law or equity, State or Federal.
- (5) To appoint and to fix the compensation, by its board of trustees, of such officers, employees, attorneys, or agents, as shall be necessary for the performance of its duties under this title, without regard to the provisions of any other laws relating to the employment or compensation of officers or employees of the United States. Nothing in this title or any other provision of law shall be construed to prevent the appointment and compensation as an officer, attorney, or employee of the Corporation, of any officer, attorney, or employee of any board, corporation, commission, establishment, executive department, or instrumentality of the Government. The Corporation, with the consent of any board, corporation, commission, establishment, executive department, or instrumentality of the Government, including any field service thereof, may avail itself of the use of information, services, and facilities thereof in carrying out the provisions of this title.

(d) For the purposes of this title, the Corporation shall have power to borrow money, and to issue notes, bonds, debentures, or other such obligations upon such terms and conditions as the board of trustees may determine. Moneys of the Corporation not required for current operations shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States, or upon the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, in any Federal Reserve bank, or shall be invested in obligations of, or guaranteed as to principal and interest by, the United States. When designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, the Corporation shall be a depository of public money under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and may also be employed as fiscal agent of the United States, and it shall perform all such reasonable duties as depository of public money and fiscal agent as may be required of it.

(e) All notes, bonds, debentures, or other such obligations issued by the Corporation shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation (except surtaxes, estate, inheritance, and gift taxes) now or hereafter imposed by the United States, by any Territory, dependency, or possession thereof, or by any State, county, municipality, or local taxing authority. The Corporation, including its franchise, capital, reserves, surplus, and income, shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, by any Territory, dependency, or possession thereof, or by any State, county, municipality, or local taxing authority, except that any real property of the Corporation shall be subject to State, territorial, county, municipal, or local taxation to the same extent according to its value as other real property is taxed.

(f) The Corporation shall make an annual report of its operations to the Congress as soon as practicable after the 1st day of January in each year.

(g) No individual, association, partnership, or corporation shall use the words "Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation", or any combination of any of these words which would have the effect of leading the public in general to believe there was any connection, actually not existing, between such individual, association, partnership, or corporation and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, as the name under which he or it shall hereafter do business. No individual, association, partnership, or corporation shall advertise or otherwise represent falsely by any device whatsoever that his or its accounts are insured or in anywise guaranteed by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, or by the Government of the United States, or by any instrumentality thereof; and no insured member shall advertise or otherwise represent falsely by any device whatsoever the extent to which or the manner in which its accounts are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. Every individual, partnership, association, or corporation violating this subsection shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $1,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

Insurance of accounts and eligibility provisions

Sec. 403. (a) It shall be the duty of the Corporation to insure the accounts of all Federal savings and loan associations, and it may insure the accounts of building and loan, savings and loan, and homestead associations and cooperative banks organized and operated according to the laws of the State, District, or Territory in which they are chartered or organized.

(b) Application for such insurance shall be made immediately by each Federal savings and loan association, and may be made at any time by other eligible institutions. Such applications shall be in such form as the Corporation shall prescribe, and shall contain an agreement (1) to pay the reasonable cost of such examinations as the Corporation shall deem necessary in connection with such insurance, and (2) if the insurance is granted, to permit and pay the cost of such examinations as in the judgment of the Corporation may from time to time be necessary for its protection and the protection of other insured institutions, to permit the Corporation to have access to any information or report with respect to any examination made by any public regulatory authority and to furnish any additional information with respect thereto as the Corporation may require, and to pay the premium charges for insurance as hereinafter provided. Each applicant for such insurance shall also file with its application an agreement that during the period that the insurance is in force it will not make any loans beyond fifty miles from its principal office except with the approval of, and pursuant to regulations of, the Corporation, but any applicant which, prior to the date of enactment of this act, has been permitted to make loans beyond such fifty-mile limit may continue to make loans within the territory in which the applicant is operating on such date; will not, after it becomes an insured institution, issue securities which guarantee a definite return or which have a definite maturity except with the specific approval of the Corporation, or issue any securities the form of which has not been approved by the Corporation; will not carry on any sales plan or practices, or any advertising, in violation of regulations to be made by the Corporation; will provide adequate reserves satisfactory to the Corporation, to be established in accordance with regulations made by the Corporation, before paying dividends to its insured members; but such regulations shall require the building up of reserves to 5 per centum of all insured accounts within a reasonable period, not exceeding ten years, and shall prohibit the payment of dividends from such reserves, or the payment of any dividends if any losses are chargeable to such reserves.

(c) The Corporation shall reject the application of any applicant if it finds that the capital of the applicant is impaired or that its financial policies or management are unsafe; and the Corporation may reject the application of any applicant if it finds that the character of the management of the applicant or its home financing policy is inconsistent with economical home financing or with the purposes of this title. Upon the approval of any application for insurance the Corporation shall notify the applicant, and upon the payment of the initial premium charge for such insurance, as provided in section 404, the Corporation shall issue to the applicant a certificate stating that it has become an insured institution. In considering applications for such insurance the Corporation shall give full consideration to all factors in connection with the financial condition of applicants and insured institutions, and shall have power to make such adjustments in their financial statements as the Corporation finds to be necessary.

(d) Any applicant which applies for insurance under this title after the first year of the operation of the Corporation shall pay an admission fee based upon the reserve fund of the applicant which, in the judgment of the Corporation, is an equitable contribution.

Premiums on insurance

Sec. 404. (a) Each institution whose application for insurance is approved by the Corporation shall pay to the Corporation, in such manner as it shall prescribe, a premium charge for such insurance equal to one-fourth of 1 per centum of the total amount of all accounts of the insured members of such institution plus any creditor obligations of such institution. Such premium shall be paid at the time the certificate is issued by the Corporation under section 403, and thereafter annually until a reserve fund has been established by the Corporation equal to 5 per centum of all insured accounts and creditor obligations of all insured institutions; except that under regulations prescribed by the Corporation such premium charge may be paid semiannually. If at any time such reserve fund falls below such 5 per centum, the payment of such annual premium charge for insurance shall be resumed and shall be continued until the reserve is brought back to such 5 per centum. For the purposes of this subsection, the amount in all accounts of insured members and the amount of creditor obligations of any institution may be determined from adjusted statements made within one year prior to the approval of the application of such institution for insurance, or in such other manner as the Corporation may by rules and regulations prescribe.

(b) The Corporation is further authorized to assess against each insured institution additional premiums for insurance until the amount of such premiums equals the amount of all losses and expenses of the Corporation; except that the total amount so assessed in any one year against any such institution shall not exceed one-fourth of 1 per centum of the total amount of the accounts of its insured members and its creditor obligations.

Payment of insurance

Sec. 405. (a) Each institution whose application for insurance under this title is approved by the Corporation shall be entitled to insurance up to the full withdrawable or repurchasable value of the accounts of each of its members and investors (including individuals, partnerships, associations, and corporations) holding withdrawable or repurchasable shares, investment certificates, or deposits, in such institution; except that no member or investor of any such institution shall be insured for an aggregate amount in excess of $5,000.

(b) In the event of a default by any insured institution the Corporation shall promptly determine the insured members thereof and the amount of their insured accounts, and shall make available to each of them, after notice by mail at his last-known address as shown by the books of the insured institution, and upon surrender and transfer to the Corporation of his insured account, either (1) a new insured account in an insured institution not in default, in an amount equal to the insured account so transferred, or (2) at the option of the insured member, the amount of his account which is insured under this section, as follows: Not to exceed 10 per centum in cash, and 50 per centum of the remainder within one year, and the balance within three years, from the date of such default, in negotiable non-interest-bearing debentures of the Corporation. The Corporation shall furnish to all insured institutions a certificate stating that the insurance of accounts in such institution is to be paid in the manner described in this subsection.

Sec. 509. Section 6 of the Federal Home Loan Bank Act is amended by striking out "$1,500" in subsections (c) and (e) and inserting in lieu thereof "$500."

Sec. 510. The act entitled "An act relating to contracts and agreements under the Agricultural Adjustment Act", approved January 25, 1934, is amended by inserting before the period at the end thereof a comma and the following: "The Federal Farm Loan Act, as amended, the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, as amended, the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation Act, as amended, the Farm Credit Act of 1933, as amended, and the Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933, as amended."

Sec. 511. Section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, is further amended by adding at the end thereof the following new sentence: "Nothing in this act shall prevent any carrier or carriers subject to this act from giving reduced rates for the transportation of commodities to be specified by the Commission as hereinafter provided, to or from any section of the country, with the object of improving Nation-wide housing standards and providing employment and stimulating industry, if such reduced rates have first been authorized by order of the Commission (with or without a hearing); but in such order the Commission shall specify the commodities as to which this provision shall be declared effective and shall specify the period during which such reduced rates are to remain in effect."

Mr. RANKIN rose to a question of privilege of the House and submitted the following resolution (H.Res. 453):

Whereas it is proposed that an entertainment be held in the Hall of the House of Representatives immediately after the Congress adjourns for the purpose of broadcasting to the country certain alleged songs, music, and so forth; and

Whereas such a performance is contrary to the wishes of the majority of the thinking Members of Congress, for the reason that it will be sent out to the country as the performance of Congress itself, and immediately reflect discredit upon the House of Representatives and hold this body up to ridicule and subject it to criticism and contempt: Therefore be it

Resolved, That such an entertainment in the Hall of the House of Representatives be, and it is hereby, forbidden.

Mr. FULLER made the point of order that the resolution was not privileged in that the proposed entertainment would not be held until the House adjourned.

After debate,

The SPEAKER said: "The Chair reads from the House rules and Manual:

"Questions of privilege shall be, first, those affecting the rights of the House collectively, its safety, dignity, and the integrity of its proceedings."

"The object of the resolution is to reach something which might occur after the adjournment of the House, but the Chair thinks it is a close question. The House controls the use of its own Chamber even after it adjourns; therefore the Chair prefers to submit the question to the House."

The resolution was then considered.

A motion by Mr. RANKIN to reconsider the vote whereby said resolution was agreed to was, on his motion and by unanimous consent, laid on the table.

FELICITATIONS OF THE PRESIDENT

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the President of the United States:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, June 16, 1934.

HON. HENRY T. RAINEY,

Speaker, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C.

MY DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Before the final adjournment of the House of Representatives of the Seventy-third Congress, I want to send through you, to the Members thereof, my sincere compliments and good wishes.

This Congress will go down into history as one of large accomplishment for the national good. May I add to this my own feeling of deep satisfaction in the fine spirit of cooperation which has existed between the legislative and executive branches of the Government.

May you all have and enjoy a well-earned holiday.

Very sincerely yours,

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO CONDUCT INVESTIGATIONS IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the President of the United States:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, June 16, 1934.

The Honorable HENRY T. RAINEY,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

MY DEAR MR. SPEAKER: I am transmitting herewith a copy of a concurrent resolution adopted by the Philippine Legislature on May 2, 1934. You will observe that this resolution requests me to appoint a committee, including an economic expert, to conduct hearings and investigations in the Philippine Islands, in accordance with my message to Congress of March 2, 1934.

It does not seem to me appropriate that I should appoint such a committee at this time, since the constitution which may be adopted under the provisions of the Independence Act has not yet been ratified. Since, however, the Congress has been giving close attention to the relations between this Government and the Philippine Islands, it has occurred to me that the Senate and the House of Representatives might consider it useful and opportune at this moment to appoint a committee consisting of probably three of the Members of each branch of the Legislature for the purpose of investigating the present conditions in the Philippines and reporting to the Congress thereon. It is therefore to the end that any action which may be deemed appropriate in the premises may be taken by the Congress that I am transmitting to you a copy of the resolution aforementioned.

I am communicating in the same sense to the President of the Senate.

Very sincerely yours,

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

The SPEAKER, pursuant to the foregoing communication, announced the appointment of Mr. McDUFFIE, Mr. SMITH of West Virginia, Mr. LOZIER, and Mr. BEEDY members of the special committee to conduct hearings and investigations in the Philippine Islands, pursuant to Concurrent Resolution No. 53, adopted by the Philippine Legislature on May 2, 1934.

BILLS DISAPPROVED SUBSEQUENT TO SINE DIE ADJOURNMENT

The President of the United States, subsequent to the sine die adjournment of the second session of the Seventy-third Congress, issued to the press and transmitted to the Clerk of the House the following statements:

JUNE 26, 1934.

The Constitution of the United States, with reference to bills presented to the President by the Congress, provides:

"If any bill shall not be returned by the President within 10 days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law."

In the past it has been customary in most cases involving vetoes for the President to withhold his signature, thereby, in effect, allowing the bill to die without becoming a law.

The President has desired, however, to take a more affirmative position than this, feeling that in the case of most legislation reasons for definite disapproval should be given. Therefore, he has written on the copy of each bill the words "Disapproved and signature withheld", and has appended in every case a brief statement giving the reason or reasons for disapproval.

The bills identified below have been vetoed by the President, and the reasons which lead to their disapproval are contained in the following statements:

H.R. 7711. "I disapprove H.R. 7711, entitled 'An act to permit postmasters to act as disbursing officers for the payment of traveling expenses of officers and employees of the Postal Service.'

"Section 4 of Executive order of June 10, 1933, No. 6168, relating to the organization of Executive agencies, provides in part:

"The function of disbursement of moneys of the United States exercised by any agency is transferred to the Treasury Department and, together with the office of disbursing clerk of that Department, is consolidated in a Division of Disbursement, at the head of which shall be a chief disbursing officer."

"That consolidation of disbursing functions is now being perfected, subject to the provisions contained in Executive Orders Nos. 6727 and 6728, of May 29, 1934, and I am therefore not in favor of this bill, which would apparently invalidate, to the extent therein set forth, the consolidation of disbursing functions as provided in said Executive order of June 10, 1933."

S. 1358. "I disapprove Senate bill 1358, entitled 'An act to provide for the improvement of approaches to the National Cemetery and the Confederate Cemetery, Fayetteville, Ark.'

"This bill would require the Highway Department of the State of Arkansas to expend not to exceed $12,800 out of Public Works allocations, in the construction of an 18-foot concrete pavement on approaches to the National Cemetery and to the Confederate Cemetery at Fayetteville, Ark."

"The Government-owned approach road to the National Cemetery was conveyed to the city of Fayetteville by the Secretary of War on July 7, 1926, pursuant to the act of March 3, 1925 (43 Stat. 1104), and the city assumed the obligation to maintain that road."

"This bill would divert Public Works funds granted to the Highway Department of the State of Arkansas, which are required to be expended under the provisions of the Federal Highway Act, to the construction of streets in a city that are not part of the Federal highway system."

"The improvement of any particular road and the type of improvements which shall be made are engineering matters to be determined in the light of traffic conditions and the availability and suitability of materials. The policy of determining these matters and what roads shall be so improved under our Federal aid highway system has been wisely vested in the Secretary of Agriculture, and I am not in favor of departing from that policy as proposed in this bill."

H.R. 8587. An act to extend the benefits of the Employees' Compensation Act of September 7, 1916, to William Thomas.

"This bill is defectively drawn; and in addition the War Department has no record of the injury alleged."

H.R. 4957. An act for the relief of F. M. Peters and J. F. Akers.

"I cannot agree that reasonable care was exercised by these postmasters, and must, therefore, approve the recommendation of the Post Office Department."

H.R. 8728. An act authorizing the Secretary of War to lease or sell certain lands or buildings known as "Camp Eagle Pass, Tex.", to the city of Eagle Pass, Tex.

"I cannot approve this bill in its present form. The object is worthy, but the Government's rights are not sufficiently protected."

H.R. 363. An act for the relief of James Moffitt.
"It does not seem reasonable to believe that malaria and large doses of quinine prevented this man from knowing he was deserting, in view of the fact that he thereafter stayed in Chicago for a year and then went home without apparently trying in any way to clear his record."

H.R. 3161. "I disapprove House bill no. 3161, entitled 'An act for the relief of Henry Harrison Griffith.'

"The bill authorizes and directs the Employees' Compensation Commission to extend the benefits of the Employees' Compensation Act of September 7, 1916, to a former civil employee of the United States in the same manner and to the same extent as if application for such benefits had been made within the 1-year period required by sections 17 and 20 of the Compensation Act."

"The bill is objectionable because it does not limit the benefits to the date of the approval of the bill, and, further, the bill as drawn does not authorize the Commission to examine into the merits of the claim."

H.R. 2632. An act for the relief of Wilson G. Bingham.

"Because this officer voluntarily resigned 4 years after the close of the World War, he should not now be reinstated and retired as a captain."

"I would approve a bill to extend to him the benefits of the Emergency Officers' Retirement Act."

H.R. 8517. An act to provide for needy blind persons of the District of Columbia.

"I am compelled to agree with the adverse reports on this bill made by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia and the Director of the Budget."

"I therefore reluctantly disapprove the bill."

S. 3446. An act to authorize the Postmaster General to receive, operate, and maintain for official purposes motor vehicles seized for violations of the customs laws.

"Disapproved because I do not wish to establish the habit of providing passenger automobiles for postal employees."

H.R. 3054. An act for the relief of Christopher Cott.

"Nothing in this record extenuates the circumstance of desertion except his service during the actual war period. The bill is therefore disapproved."

H.R. 5018. An act to correct the naval records of former employees of the crews of the revenue cutters Algonquin and Onondaga.

"This bill is disapproved because it stretches the imagination to declare men on a revenue cutter for 17 days on the Great Lakes in August 1898 to be entitled to all the privileges of Spanish War veterans."

H.R. 1766. An act to provide medical service after the retirement on annuity to former employees of the United States disabled by injuries sustained in the performance of their duties.

"I am disapproving this bill because I fear that if this principle is established it will grow and grow like war pensions, and that would be a pity for our children and grandchildren."

H.R. 5864. An act to authorize the payment of expenses of delegates of the Yakima Confederated Tribes of Indians while on a mission to represent such tribes before Congress and the executive departments at the seat of government, and for other purposes.

"I understand the established policy is to charge expenses of this character to tribal funds instead of to the Treasury. The bill is therefore disapproved."

JUNE 27, 1934.

The bills identified below have been vetoed by the President, and the reasons which led to their disapproval are contained in the following statements:

H.R. 3595. An act for the relief of St. Luders Catholic Church of Germantown, Henry County, Mo.

"Seventy years have elapsed since the end of the Civil War. During this period no Congress has ever seen fit either to grant an award of this claim or to refer it to the Court of Claims. To approve this bill would open up many claims for damages alleged to have been caused by Union forces in the Civil War."

H.R. 8513. An act to authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the boyhood home of Gen. Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson.

"Although I have approved several bills to authorize issuing 50-cent pieces to commemorate anniversaries of the founding of States, I have announced that hereafter such coinage should be greatly limited."

"While the boyhood home of General Jackson is of great interest to all Americans, I do not believe that a special coinage of 50-cent pieces is justified."

H.R. 8644. An act to provide warrant officers of the Coast Guard parity of promotion with warrant officers of the Navy.

"The Treasury Department is definitely opposed to the approval of this measure. The question rests primarily on the need of the Coast Guard for additional warrant officers. The Secretary of the Treasury states categorically, 'If the bill was enacted, the number of chief warrant officers appointed would far exceed the number needed for the proper conduct of the Coast Guard.' In view of this there is no question that disapproval is called for."

S. 1103. An act to authorize the Secretary of the Navy to proceed with certain public works at the naval air station, Pensacola, Fla.

"This bill authorizing an expenditure of over $5,000,000 for Navy aeronautical purposes is premature. Final decision as to priority of Navy flying developments has not yet been made. If it seems advisable to include Pensacola next winter, a request for an adequate appropriation and not merely an authorization will then be made."

S. 3626. An act referring the claims of the Turtle Mountain Band or Bands of Chippewa Indians of North Dakota to the Court of Claims for adjudication and settlement.

"While the purpose of this is good, it does not cure the objections raised by me in the veto of a similar bill, S. 326, on May 10, 1934."

S. 3780. An act for the relief of persons engaged in the fishing industry.

"This bill is unnecessary because the act authorizing loans to industries includes the fishing industry."

S. 3092. An act to confer jurisdiction upon the Court of Claims to hear, determine, and render judgment upon the claim of the heirs of Jesse Taylor, deceased Cherokee Indian, for the value of certain lands now held by the United States.

"Disapproved because this bill ties the hands of the Court of Claims and prevents an equitable determination."

S. 854. An act for the relief of the Ingram-Day Lumber Co.

"Disapproved because no provision is made for the Government's counterclaim."

H.R. 5543. An act for the relief of T. Brooks Alford.
"A portion of this sum appears justifiable, but not the whole amount."

S. 1287. An act for the relief of Leonard Theodore Boice.
"The record is so clear in this case that it would not be just to attempt to change it by congressional action."

S. 3499. An act for the relief of Michael Iltiz.

"In spite of this man's excellent record as a soldier and civil employee, this bill would single him out for special reward. It must, therefore, be disapproved."

S. 1654. An act for the relief of George Yuzko.

"I cannot feel that the circumstances disclosed are sufficiently extenuating to justify the approval of this bill."

S. 2810. An act for the relief of Alice F. Martin, widow, and two minor children.

"This bill is similar to H.R. 6246 and must be disapproved for the same reasons given in my veto message of June 16, 1934."

S. 1992. An act for the relief of Arthur R. Lewis.

"I cannot agree that the 'extenuating circumstances' mentioned in the committee report justify changing the record."

S. 3156. An act for the relief of Mary Angela Moert.

"This bill departs from a long-established, sound policy of the War Department."

S. 527. An act for the relief of Lillian Morden.

"There must have been thousands of similar cases of influenza during the World War. I cannot open up this broad field."

S. 2227. An act for the relief of Harold S. Shephardson. "Disapproved because the statements do not seem to me to justify or condone the offense."

H.R. 3726. An act to grant a patent to Albert M. Johnson and Walter Scott.

"While I am in sympathy with the purpose of this bill, I must disapprove it because it does not properly safeguard the Government."

S. 3516. An act for the relief of the Morgan Decorating Co.

"Disapproved because I do not believe that an obligation of the Federal Government has been sufficiently established."

S. 60. An act for the relief of Richard J. Rooney.

"From a careful perusal of Senate Report 473, I cannot bring myself to the conclusion that this claim for $75 has sufficient merit."

S. 2744. An act for the relief of Anna Carroll Taussig.

"This case has been before Congress in the form of a relief bill for approximately 15 years. It never received favorable consideration. Most of the postal records in the case were destroyed by the authority of Congress as useless papers. I presume that former Congresses were convinced that the claims had no merit."

S. 3486. An act for the relief of George L. Rulison.

"This bill violates the general rule that no officer or employee can create a valid claim by incurring obligations which he is not legally required or authorized to incur."

S.J.Res. 106. Joint resolution authorizing loans to fruit growers for rehabilitation of orchards during the year 1934.

"There is no necessity for this bill because its purpose can be accomplished with funds appropriated for the relief of stricken agricultural areas and made available by me in the Farm Credit Administration."

H.R. 4554. An act to amend section 4808 of the Revised Statutes (U.S.C., title 24, sec. 3) to prevent discriminatory reductions in pay of the retired personnel of the Navy and Marine Corps.

"There is no more reason to relieve officers and men on the retired list from the assessment of 20 cents per month for the Naval Hospital fund than there would be to relieve those on the active list."

H.R. 4447. An act for the relief of Vertner Tate.

"This proposed bill is not desirable for the reason that it would set an unwise precedent."

S. 2672. An act for the relief of Mabel S. Parker.

"This bill is disapproved because it would create the precedent of granting relief upon the ground of ignorance of the law."

H.R. 8688. An act for the relief of Stella E. Whitmore.

"This bill is disapproved because relief can be granted upon proper application to the Treasury Department and also because of technical defects."

S. 1508. An act providing for the final enrollment of the Indians of the Klamath Indian Reservation in the State of Oregon.

"This bill improperly excludes certain Indians from existing rights."

S. 3185. An act to amend the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, with respect to farm prices.

"This bill is disapproved because of the difficulties which have been pointed out in memoranda from the Department of Justice, the Department of Agriculture, and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration."

H.R. 9145. An act to authorize the attendance of the Marine Band at the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to be held at Rochester, N.Y., August 14, 15, and 16, 1934, and at the National Convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, to be held at Colorado Springs, Colo., during the first week in July 1934.

"If we start to send the Marine Band to various conventions in different parts of the country, we will go beyond the scope of the duties contemplated for such bands and interfere with the opportunity of private bands to secure employment. The bill is, therefore, disapproved."

H.R. 9046. An act to discontinue administrative furloughs in the Postal Service.

"There is no valid reason why the Postal Service should be especially exempted from the provisions of law that apply to all of the other Government departments. Furthermore, the Postmaster General reports that the limitations proposed in the bill will have no present effect on the administration of the postal personnel. Finally, it appears to be an unnecessary limitation on the administrative authority customarily vested in the Executive."

JUNE 28, 1934.

The bills identified below have been vetoed by the President, and the reasons which lead to their disapproval are contained in the following statements:

H.R. 4444. An act for the relief of Lt. James Floyd Terrell, Medical Corps, United States Navy.

"Disapproved because no negligence on the part of a Government employee is shown and because officers and men on duty at naval shore stations should protect their own property by insurance."

H.J.Res. 322. Joint resolution to provide for the disposal of smuggled merchandise, to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to require imported articles to be marked in order that smuggled merchandise may be identified, and for other purposes.

"This bill is disapproved at the urgent solicitation of the Treasury Department. The whole subject of the disposal of smuggled merchandise is being studied, and it is hoped that a better method than the one provided in this bill can be evolved."

S. 2238. An act to provide for the payment of damages to certain residents of Alaska caused by reason of extending the boundaries of Mount McKinley National Park.

"Disapproved for the reason set forth in the report of the Secretary of Interior to the Chairman of the Committee on Claims."

S. 294. An act for the relief of Stanton & Jones.

"This claim has been tried on its merits by the Court of Claims and petition dismissed. The procedure now proposed is decidedly unfair to the Government, and I must, therefore, disapprove the bill."

S. 2156. An act for the relief of the American-La France & Foamite Corporation of New York.

"Because I am inclined to agree with the opposition of the present and former Secretaries of the Treasury to this bill, I must disapprove it."

S. 3741. An act to convey certain lands to the State of South Dakota for public park purposes, and for other purposes.

"I am disapproving this bill at the earnest request of the Department of Agriculture. I appreciate the desire of the State of South Dakota to add to its existing State park this large area of national-forest land lying north and south of it. Nevertheless, I do not think the time is ripe for a final determination of the problem. So many changes are in process in the administration and development of Government-owned land, both State and National, that I think the final policy should become more clear and definite."

H.R. 9275. An act to provide for the protection and preservation of domestic sources of tin.

"The national policy concerning tin is now under examination by a committee especially empowered by the House of Representatives. It is undesirable at the present time to take partial action which may be inconsistent with the ultimate recommendations of this committee."

S. 3394. An act for the relief of the Grier-Lowrance Construction Co.

"It would be inconsistent with the whole record for me to approve this bill."

1. There shall be a motion for the previous question, which, being ordered by a majority of Members voting, if a quorum be present, shall have the effect to cut off all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions on which it has been asked and ordered. The previous question may be asked and ordered upon a single motion, a series of motions allowable under the rules, or an amendment or amendments, or may be made to embrace all authorized motions or amendments and include the bill to its passage or rejection. It shall be in order, pending the motion for, or after the previous question shall have been ordered on its passage, for the Speaker to entertain and submit a motion to commit, with or without instructions, to a standing or select committee.

2. A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is ordered, unless it shall appear upon an actual count by the Speaker that a quorum is not present.

3. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

RULE XVIII RECONSIDERATION

2. No bill, petition, memorial, or resolution referred to a committee, or reported therefrom for printing and recommitment, shall be brought back into the House on a motion to reconsider; and all bills, petitions, memorials, or resolutions reported from a committee shall be accompanied by reports in writing, which shall be printed.

RULE XIX OF AMENDMENTS

Amendments to the title of a bill or resolution shall not be in order until after its passage, and shall be decided without debate.

RULE XX OF AMENDMENTS OF THE SENATE

1. Any amendment of the Senate to any House bill shall be subject to the point of order that it shall first be considered in the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union if, originating in the House, it would be subject to that point.

2. No amendment of the Senate to a general appropriation bill which would be in violation of the provisions of clause 2 of rule XXI, if said amendment had originated in the House, nor any amendment of the Senate providing for an appropriation upon any bill other than a general appropriation bill, shall be agreed to by the managers on the part of the House unless specific authority to agree to such amendment shall be first given by the House by a separate vote on every such amendment.

RULE XXI ON BILLS

1. Bills and joint resolutions on their passage shall be read the first time by title and the second time in full, when, if the previous question is ordered, the Speaker shall state the question to be: Shall the bill be engrossed and read a third time? and, if decided in the affirmative, it shall be read the third time by title, unless the reading in full is demanded by a Member, and the question shall then be put upon its passage.

2. No appropriations shall be reported in any general appropriation bill, or be in order as an amendment thereto, for any expenditure not previously authorized by law, unless in continuation of appropriations for such public works and objects as are already in progress. Nor shall any provision in any such bill or amendment thereto changing existing law be in order, except such as being germane to the subject matter of the bill shall retrench expenditures by the reduction of the number and salary of the officers of the United States, by the reduction of the compensation of any person paid out of the Treasury of the United States, or by the reduction of amounts of money covered by the bill: Provided, That it shall be in order further to amend such bill upon the report of the committee or any joint commission authorized by law or the House Members of any such commission having jurisdiction of the subject matter of such amendment, which amendment being germane to the subject matter of the bill shall retrench expenditures.

3. 4. No bill or joint resolution carrying appropriations shall be reported by any committee not having jurisdiction to report appropriations, nor shall an amendment proposing an appropriation be in order during the consideration of a bill or joint resolution reported by a committee not having that jurisdiction. A question of order on an appropriation in any such bill, joint resolution, or amendment thereto may be raised at any time.

RULE XXII

OF PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, BILLS, AND RESOLUTIONS

1. Members having petitions or memorials or bills of a private nature to present may deliver them to the Clerk, endorsing their names and the reference or disposition to be made thereof; and said petitions and memorials and bills of a private nature, except such as, in the judgment of the Speaker, are of an obscene or insulting character, shall be entered on the Journal, with the names of the Members presenting them, and the Clerk shall furnish a transcript of such entry to the official reporters of debates for publication in the Record.

2. Any petition or memorial or private bill excluded under this rule shall be returned to the Member from whom it was received; and petitions and private bills which have been inappropriately referred may, by the direction of the committee having possession of the same, be properly referred in the manner originally presented; and an erroneous reference of a petition or private bill under this clause shall not confer jurisdiction upon the committee to consider or report the same.

3. All other bills, memorials, and resolutions may, in like manner, be delivered, endorsed, with the names of Members introducing them, to the Speaker, to be by him referred, and the titles and references thereof and of all bills, resolutions, and documents referred under the rules shall be entered on the Journal and printed in the Record of the next day, and correction in case of error of reference may be made by the House, without debate, in accordance with rule XI, on any day immediately after the reading of the Journal, by unanimous consent, or on motion of a committee claiming jurisdiction, or on the report of the committee to which the bill has been erroneously referred.

4. When a bill, resolution, or memorial is introduced "by request", these words shall be entered upon the Journal and printed in the Record.

5. All resolutions of inquiry addressed to the heads of executive departments shall be reported to the House within 1 week after presentation.

RULE XXIII

OF COMMITTEES OF THE WHOLE HOUSE

1. In all cases, in forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair after appointing a Chairman to preside, who shall, in case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, have power to cause the same to be cleared.

2. Whenever a Committee of the Whole House or of the Whole House on the state of the Union finds itself without a quorum, which shall consist of 100 Members, the Chairman shall cause the roll to be called, and thereupon the Committee shall rise, and the Chairman shall report the names of the absentees to the House, which shall be entered on the Journal; but if on such call a quorum shall appear, the Committee shall thereupon resume its sitting without further order of the House.

3. All motions or propositions involving a tax or charge upon the people; all proceedings touching appropriations of money, or bills making appropriations of money or property, or requiring such appropriations to be made, or authorizing payments out of appropriations already made, or releasing any liability to the United States for money or property, or referring any claim to the Court of Claims, shall be first considered in a Committee of the Whole, and a point of order under this rule shall be good at any time before the consideration of a bill has commenced.

4. In Committees of the Whole House business on their calendars may be taken up in regular order, or in such order as the Committee may determine, unless the bill to be considered was determined by the House at the time of going into Committee, but bills for raising revenue, general appropriation bills, and bills for the improvement of rivers and harbors shall have precedence.

5. When general debate is closed by order of the House, any Member shall be allowed 5 minutes to explain any amendment he may offer, after which the Member who shall first obtain the floor shall be allowed to speak 5 minutes in opposition to it, and there shall be no further debate thereon, but the same privilege of debate shall be allowed in favor of and against any amendment that may be offered to an amendment; and neither an amendment nor an amendment to an amendment shall be withdrawn by the mover thereof unless by the unanimous consent of the Committee.

6. The Committee may, by the vote of a majority of the Members present, at any time after the 5 minutes' debate has begun upon proposed amendments to any section or paragraph of a bill, close all debate upon such section or paragraph or, at its election, upon the pending amendments only (which motion shall be decided without debate); but this shall not preclude further amendments, to be decided without debate.

7. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection. Whenever a bill is reported from a Committee of the Whole with an adverse recommendation and such recommendation is disagreed to by the House, the bill shall stand recommitted to the said Committee without further action by the House, but before the question of concurrence is submitted it is in order to entertain a motion to refer the bill to any committee, with or without instructions, and when the same is again reported to the House it shall be referred to the Committee of the Whole without debate.

8. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in Committees of the Whole House so far as they may be applicable.

RULE XXIV ORDER OF BUSINESS

1. The daily order of business shall be as follows: First. Prayer by the Chaplain.
- Second. Reading and approval of the Journal.
- Third. Correction of reference of public bills.
- Fourth. Disposal of business on the Speaker's table.
- Fifth. Unfinished business.
- Sixth. The morning hour for the consideration of bills called up by committees.
- Seventh. Motions to go into Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.
- Eighth. Orders of the day.

2. Business on the Speaker's table shall be disposed of as follows:

Messages from the President shall be referred to the appropriate committees without debate. Reports and communications from heads of departments, and other communications addressed to the House, and bills, resolutions, and messages from the Senate may be referred to the appropriate committees in the same manner and with the same right of correction as public bills presented by Members; but House bills with Senate amendments which do not require consideration in a Committee of the Whole may be at once disposed of as the House may determine, as may also Senate bills substantially the same as House bills already favorably reported by a committee of the House, and not required to be considered in Committee of the Whole, be disposed of in the same manner on motion directed to be made by such committee.

3. The consideration of the unfinished business in which the House may be engaged at an adjournment, except business in the morning hour, shall be resumed as soon as the business on the Speaker's table is finished, and at the same time each day thereafter until disposed of, and the consideration of all other unfinished business shall be resumed whenever the class of business to which it belongs shall be in order under the rules.

4. After the unfinished business has been disposed of, the Speaker shall call each standing committee in regular order, and then select committees, and each committee when named may call up for consideration any bill reported by it on a previous day and on the House Calendar, and if the Speaker shall not complete the call of the committees before the House passes to other business, he shall resume the next call where he left off, giving preference to the last bill under consideration: Provided, That whenever any committee shall have occupied the morning hour on 2 days, it shall not be in order to call up any other bill until the other committees have been called in their turn.

5. After 1 hour shall have been devoted to the consideration of bills called up by committees, it shall be in order, pending consideration or discussion thereof, to entertain a motion to go into Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, or, when authorized by a committee, to go into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union to consider a particular bill, to which motion one amendment only, designating another bill, may be made; and if either motion be determined in the negative, it shall not be in order to make either motion again until the disposal of the matter under consideration or discussion.

6. On Saturday of each week, after the disposal of such business on the Speaker's table as requires reference only, it shall be in order to move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House to consider business on the Private Calendar. In the Committee of the Whole House the Chairman shall direct the Clerk to call the bills in numerical order that have been upon the Private Calendar for three legislative days. When the Clerk shall have read the bill the same shall be considered unless objection or reservation of objection is made to immediate consideration. Should objection or reservation of objection be made there shall be 10 minutes' general debate to be divided, 5 minutes controlled by the Member offering the objection or reservation and 5 minutes controlled by the chairman of the committee reporting the bill, or in his absence by any Member supporting the bill. If, after such debate, three objections are not forthcoming the bill shall be considered under the 5-minute rule: Provided, however, That the total debate under the 5-minute rule shall not exceed 20 minutes. After the debate hereinbefore referred to, or when the bill is first called, if objection is made by three Members to the consideration of the bill, then the same shall be passed over and carried to a list designated as "deferred." It shall be in order for the bills on the "deferred list" to have the first call in their numerical order when the Private Calendar is called on the last Saturday of each month. At this time the bills on the "deferred list" shall be considered under the general rules of the Committee of the Whole House with 10 minutes' general debate to be divided equally, with 5 minutes controlled by the chairman of the committee reporting the bill or other Member supporting the bill and 5 minutes controlled by any Member objecting or opposing the bill. After the debate the bill shall be read for amendment under the 5-minute rule: Provided, however, That the total debate under the 5-minute rule shall not exceed 20 minutes. If, however, after such consideration the Committee of the Whole House acts on the bill adversely, it shall be laid aside until the Committee arises, whereupon it shall be reported back to the House with the adverse recommendation. Any bill under this rule reported back to the House with an adverse recommendation shall automatically be recommitted to the committee reporting it, and said bill shall not again be reported during the same Congress.

7. On Wednesday of each week no business shall be in order except as provided by paragraph 4 of this rule unless the House by a two-thirds vote on motion to dispense therewith shall otherwise determine. On such a motion there may be debate not to exceed 5 minutes for and against. On a call of committees under this rule, bills may be called up from either the House or the Union Calendar, excepting bills which are privileged under the rules; but bills called up from the Union Calendar shall be considered in Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union. This rule shall not apply during the last two weeks of the session. It shall not be in order for the Speaker to entertain a motion for a recess on any Wednesday except during the last 2 weeks of the session.

Provided, That not more than 2 hours of general debate shall be permitted on any measure called up on Calendar Wednesday, and all debate must be confined to the subject matter of the bill, the time to be equally divided between those for and against the bill: Provided further, That whenever any committee shall have occupied one Wednesday it shall not be in order, unless the House by a two-thirds vote shall otherwise determine, to consider any unfinished business previously called up by such committee, unless the previous question had been ordered thereon, upon any succeeding Wednesday until the other committees have been called in their turn under this rule: Provided, That when, during any one session of Congress, all of the committees of the House are not called under the Calendar Wednesday rule, at the next session of Congress the call shall commence where it left off at the end of the preceding session.

8. The second and fourth Mondays in each month, after the disposition of motions to discharge committees and after the disposal of such business on the Speaker's table as requires reference only, shall, when claimed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, be set apart for the consideration of such business as may be presented by said committee.

RULE XXV

PRIORITY OF BUSINESS

All questions relating to the priority of business shall be decided by a majority without debate.

RULE XXVI

UNFINISHED BUSINESS OF THE SESSION

All business before committees of the House at the end of one session shall be resumed at the commencement of the next session of the same Congress in the same manner as if no adjournment had taken place.

RULE XXVII

CHANGE OR SUSPENSION OF RULES

1. No rule shall be suspended except by a vote of two-thirds of the Members voting, a quorum being present; nor shall the Speaker entertain a motion to suspend the rules except on the first and third Mondays of each month, preference being given on the first Monday to individuals and on the third Monday to committees, and during the last 6 days of a session.

2. All motions to suspend the rules shall, before being submitted to the House, be seconded by a majority by tellers, if demanded.

3. When a motion to suspend the rules has been seconded, it shall be in order, before the final vote is taken thereon, to debate the proposition to be voted upon for 40 minutes, one-half of such time to be given to debate in favor of, and one-half to debate in opposition to, such proposition; and the same right of debate shall be allowed whenever the previous question has been ordered on any proposition on which there has been no debate.

4. A Member may present to the Clerk a motion in writing to discharge a committee from the consideration of a public bill or resolution which has been referred to it 30 days prior thereto (but only one motion may be presented for each bill or resolution). Under this rule it shall also be in order for a Member to file a motion to discharge the Committee on Rules from further consideration of any resolution providing either a special order of business, or a special rule for the consideration of any public bill or resolution favorably reported by a standing committee, or a special rule for the consideration of a public bill or resolution which has remained in a standing committee 30 or more days without action: Provided, That said resolution from which it is moved to discharge the Committee on Rules has been referred to that committee at least 7 days prior to the filing of the motion to discharge. The motion shall be placed in the custody of the Clerk, who shall arrange some convenient place for the signature of Members. A signature may be withdrawn by a Member in writing at any time before the motion is entered on the Journal. When Members to the total number of 145 shall have signed the motion, it shall be entered on the Journal, printed with the signatures thereto in the Congressional Record, and referred to the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees.

On the second and fourth Mondays of each month, except during the last 6 days of any session, of Congress, immediately after the approval of the Journal, any Member who has signed a motion to discharge which has been on the calendar at least 7 days prior thereto, and seeks recognition, shall be recognized for the purpose of calling up the motion, and the House shall proceed to its consideration in the manner herein provided without intervening motion except one motion to adjourn. Recognition for the motions shall be in the order in which they have been entered on the Journal.

When any motion under this rule shall be called up, the bill or resolution shall be read by title only. After 20 minutes' debate, one-half in favor of the proposition and one-half in opposition thereto, the House shall proceed to vote on the motion to discharge. If the motion prevails to discharge the Committee on Rules from any resolution pending before the committee, the House shall immediately vote on the adoption of said resolution, the Speaker not entertaining any dilatory or other intervening motion except one motion to adjourn, and, if said resolution is adopted, then the House shall immediately proceed to its execution. If the motion prevails to discharge one of the standing committees of the House from any public bill or resolution pending before the committee, it shall then be in order for any Member who signed the motion to move that the House proceed to the immediate consideration of such bill or resolution (such motion not being debatable), and such motion is hereby made of high privilege; and if it shall be decided in the affirmative, the bill shall be immediately considered under the general rules of the House, and if unfinished before adjournment of the day on which it is called up it shall remain the unfinished business until it is fully disposed of. Should the House by vote decide against the immediate consideration of such bill or resolution, it shall be referred to its proper calendar and be entitled to the same rights and privileges that it would have had had the committee to which it was referred duly reported same to the House for its consideration: Provided, That when any perfected motion to discharge a committee from the consideration of any public bill or resolution has once been acted upon by the House it shall not be in order to entertain during the same session of Congress any other motion for the discharge from that committee of said measure, or from any other committee of any other bill or resolution substantially the same, relating in substance to or dealing with the same subject matter, or from the Committee on Rules of a resolution providing a special order of business for the consideration of any other such bill or resolution, in order that such action by the House on a motion to discharge shall be res adjudicata for the remainder of that session: Provided further, That if before any one motion to discharge a committee has been acted upon by the House there are on the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees other motions to discharge committees from the consideration of bills or resolutions substantially the same, relating in substance to or dealing with the same subject matter, after the House shall have acted on one motion to discharge, the remaining said motions shall be stricken from the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees and not acted on during the remainder of that session of Congress.

RULE XXVIII

CONFERENCE REPORTS

1a. The presentation of reports of committees of conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read, while the roll is being called, or the House is dividing on any proposition.

1½a. After House conferees on any bill or resolution in conference between the House and Senate shall have been appointed for 20 calendar days and shall have failed to make a report, it is hereby declared to be a motion of the highest privilege to move to discharge said House conferees and to appoint new conferees, or to instruct said House conferees; and, further, during the last 6 days of any session of Congress, it shall be a privileged motion to move to discharge, appoint, or instruct House conferees after House conferees shall have been appointed 36 hours without having made a report.

1b. And there shall accompany every such report a detailed statement sufficiently explicit to inform the House what effect such amendments or propositions will have upon the measures to which they relate.

2. It shall not be in order to consider the report of a committee of conference until such report and the accompanying statement shall have been printed in the Record, except on either of the 6 days preceding the end of a session.

Mr. BANKHEAD made the point of order that the amendment in the motion to recommit was not in order for the reason that said amendment had been rejected by the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The SPEAKER overruled the point of order.

REPORT FROM THE COMMITTEE ON RULES

On January 11, 1934, Mr. BANKHEAD, by direction of the Committee on Rules, called up the following resolution (H.Res. 217):

Resolved, That during the consideration of H.R. 6663, a bill making appropriations for the Executive Office and sundry independent bureaus, boards, commissions, and offices for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, and for other purposes, all points of order against title II or any provisions contained therein are hereby waived; and no amendments or motions to strike out shall be in order to such title except amendments or motions to strike out offered by direction of the Committee on Appropriations, and said amendments or motion shall be in order, any rule of the House to the contrary notwithstanding. Amendments shall not be in order to any other section of the bill H.R. 6663 or to any section of any general appropriation bill of the Seventy-third Congress which would be in conflict with the provisions of title II of the bill H.R. 6663 as reported to the House, except amendments offered by direction of the Committee on Appropriations, and said amendments shall be in order, any rule of the House to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. SNELL made the point of order that the resolution was not a privileged report from the Committee on Rules, on the ground that it violated the general rules of the House by denying the right to the minority to make the usual and regular motion to recommit.

After debate,

The SPEAKER overruled the point of order and said:

"The Chair is prepared to rule. The gentleman from New York makes the point of order that the Committee on Rules has reported out a resolution which violates the provisions of clause 45, rule XI, which are as follows:

"The Committee on Rules shall not report any rule or order * * * which shall operate to prevent the motion to recommit being made as provided in clause 4, rule XVI."

"The pertinent language of clause 4, rule XVI, is as follows:

"After the previous question shall have been ordered on the passage of a bill or joint resolution, one motion to recommit shall be in order, and the Speaker shall give preference in recognition for such purpose to a Member who is opposed to the bill or resolution."

"The special rule, House Resolution 217, now before the House, does not mention the motion to recommit. Therefore, any motion to recommit would be made under the general rules of the House. The contention of the gentleman from New York that this special rule deprives the minority of the right to make a motion to recommit is, therefore, obviously not well taken. The right to offer a motion to recommit is provided for in the general rules of the House; and since no mention is made in the special rule now before the House, it naturally follows that the motion would be in order.

"A question may present itself later when a motion to recommit with instructions is made on the bill H.R. 6663 that the special rule which is now before the House may prevent a motion to recommit with instructions which would be in conflict with the provisions of the special rule. It has been held on numerous occasions that a motion to recommit with instructions may not propose as instructions anything that might not be proposed directly as an amendment. Of course, inasmuch as the special rule prohibits amendments to title II of the bill H.R. 6663, it would not be in order after the adoption of the special rule to move to recommit the bill with instructions to incorporate an amendment in title II of the bill. The Chair, therefore, holds that the motion to recommit, as provided in clause 4, rule XVI, has been reserved to the minority, and that insofar as such rule is concerned the special rule before the House does not deprive the minority of the right to make a simple motion to recommit. The Chair thinks, however, that a motion to recommit with instructions to incorporate a provision which would be in violation of the special rule, House Resolution 217, would not be in order. For the reasons stated, the Chair overrules the point of order."

Mr. SNELL respectfully appealed from the decision of the Chair.

The question being put,

Will the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

The yeas and nays having been demanded and ordered by one-fifth of the Members present,

It was decided in the affirmative—yeas 260, nays 112, answering present, 4.

So, the decision of the Chair stood as the judgment of the House.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT IN VIOLATION OF SPECIAL RULE

On January 12, 1934, the House had under consideration the bill (H.R. 6663) making appropriations for the Executive Office, and sundry independent executive bureaus, boards, commissions, and offices for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, and for other purposes.

Mr. WIGGLESWORTH moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Appropriations, with instructions to that committee to report the bill back to the House forthwith with an amendment as follows:

Strike out all of paragraph (d) on pages 32 and 33.

Mr. WOODRUM made the point of order that the instructions embodied in the motion to recommit were in violation of the rule adopted by the House prohibiting amendments to title II of the bill.

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order and said:

"The gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. WIGGLESWORTH] offers a motion to recommit with instructions to strike out a portion of title II of the pending bill. The gentleman from Virginia makes the point of order that the motion to recommit with instructions violates the provisions of the special rule (H.Res. 217) under which the House is considering this appropriation bill.

"The contention of the gentleman from Virginia is that since, under the special rule, it is not in order to offer an amendment by a motion to strike out any part of title II it, therefore, is not in order in a motion to recommit with instructions to effectuate what may not be done directly in the House, to wit, move to strike out any part of title II.

"It has been held on a number of occasions that it is not in order to do indirectly by a motion to recommit with instructions that which may not be done directly by way of amendment.

"Mr. Speaker Cannon, on March 24, 1910 (Cannon's Precedents, sec. 9597), in deciding a question involving the right to recommit with instructions to incorporate in a general appropriation bill an amendment proposing legislation, said:

"This is a motion to recommit with instructions. If the motion had been made in the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union as an amendment, or if it had been a provision in the original bill reported by the Committee on Appropriations, it would have been out of order under the rule which has just been read, and which has been a rule of the House for almost 50 years, if not more than 50 years; and under the rules that cannot be done indirectly, by a motion to recommit, which cannot be done directly.

"The Chair is not alone in this construction of the rule. There is a uniform line of decisions by every Speaker since the Chair has been a Member of this House, almost 40 years, beginning with Mr. Speaker Blaine, followed by Mr. Speaker Kerr, Mr. Speaker Randall, Mr. Speaker Keifer, Mr. Speaker Carlisle, Mr. Speaker Reed, Mr. Speaker Crisp, Mr. Speaker Reed again, Mr. Speaker Henderson, and the present Speaker. All, without exception, have made the same ruling; so that the Chair not only has the letter of the rule but an unbroken line of decisions; and these precedents, as well as the letter of the rule, compel the Chair to sustain the point of order. The point of order is sustained. The motion is not in order."

"On May 11, 1911, during the consideration of a tariff bill, Mr. James R. Mann, of Illinois, moved to recommit the bill with instructions to insert as a new section certain provisions. Mr. Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, made the point of order that the amendment incorporated in the motion to recommit was not germane and therefore not in order. Mr. Speaker Clark, in ruling on the point of order, said:

"It is not necessary for the Chair to pass any opinion on the wisdom of this new rule; it is his duty to decide according to the rules. It is clear that the amendment offered by way of matter contained in the motion to recommit under this rule would not have been in order if offered as an amendment; and on the high authority of Mr. Speaker Reed and Mr. Speaker Cannon, I sustain the point of order made by the gentleman from Alabama."

"The Chair could quote many other decisions similar to these he has just read—made by Speakers Clark, Gillett, Longworth, and Garner.

"The Chair believes that, inasmuch as the special rule, House Resolution 217, did not permit amendments or motions to strike out any part of title II of the bill either in the Committee of the Whole or in the House during the consideration of this bill, that it would not be in order to do indirectly by way of a motion to recommit that which could not have been done directly in the House.

"The Chair on yesterday, in his decision on the point of order raised by the gentleman from New York [Mr. SNELL], intimated to the House the construction which he placed on the special rule, insofar as the motion to recommit with instructions is concerned. The Chair on that occasion said:

"A question may present itself later when a motion to recommit with instructions is made on the bill H.R. 6663, that the special rule which is now before the House may prevent a motion to recommit with instructions, which would be in conflict with the provisions of the special rule. It has been held on numerous occasions that a motion to recommit with instructions may not propose as instructions anything that might not be proposed directly as an amendment. Of course, inasmuch as the special rule prohibits amendments to title II of the bill H.R. 6663, it would not be in order, after the adoption of the special rule, to move to recommit the bill with instructions to incorporate an amendment in title II of the bill."

"The Chair is particularly anxious to refer to the language used by him yesterday, because the opinion expressed there was given before the House took action upon the special rule. All Members were therefore advised as to the construction that the Chair would place upon any motion to recommit with instructions which would be in conflict with title II of the pending bill. Inasmuch as the House sustained the interpretation of the rule as expressed by the Chair on yesterday by a vote on the appeal taken by the gentleman from New York, the Chair is constrained to sustain the point of order made by the gentleman from Virginia."

REFERENCE OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE AND A BILL

On January 16, 1934, the Speaker announced his reference of the President's message received on January 15, 1934, to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures and ordered to be printed, and said:

"There is on the Speaker's desk a message from the President of the United States providing for the transfer of gold from the Federal Reserve banks to the Treasury of the United States, and providing also for the method of regulating the number of grains of gold in a dollar. A bill has been introduced to carry into effect the suggestions of the President in his message, by the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STEAGALL], Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee. It is contended that inasmuch as the Banking and Currency Committee was called to the White House and the message which is now on the Speaker's desk read to the members of that committee for their suggestions, and that the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures was not called, and inasmuch as the bill has been handed to the Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee for introduction; also, inasmuch as the Goldsborough bill, which was first introduced by the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. GOLDSBOROUGH] in the Sixty-seventh Congress and which has been introduced in each Congress from that time until the present has been referred to the Banking and Currency Committee, that therefore this particular message and this bill ought to be referred to the Banking and Currency Committee."

"The bill introduced by Mr. GOLDSBOROUGH for so many Congresses and so ably discussed by him on the floor is a bill to stabilize the purchasing power of money, and his bill used gold as its base. That bill has never been reported by the Banking and Currency Committee. A controversy has arisen between the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures and the Committee on Banking and Currency as to which committee ought to have this bill and this message, and it devolves upon the Speaker of the House to make the reference."

"The Speaker could submit the matter to the House and escape responsibility, but he does not desire to do that. The Chair wants to take all the responsibilities that go with his office. So the Speaker is going to decide the question."

"It is a matter of great importance, and at my request the Parliamentarian has assembled the authorities. I am indebted also to other Members of the House for suggestions.

The Chair intends now to incorporate in the Record in full various decisions and precedents on this important subject.

"Originally in the House of Representatives there was only one committee. It was the Committee on Ways and Means. That committee was created as a select committee in 1789. All other committees created since that time have been created for the purpose of taking away from the Ways and Means Committee some of its burdens. The Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures was created in 1864. It is an older committee than the Committee on Banking and Currency. The debates at the time the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures was established does not indicate with any definiteness the functions the committee should exercise. The House at that time evidently thought that the title given to the committee was sufficiently clear to indicate the jurisdiction of the committee."

"The Committee on Banking and Currency was created for the express purpose of relieving the Ways and Means Committee of a number of its duties."

"Precedents have been numerous. As far back as 1873 the bill which demonetized silver by omitting that character of coinage from the list of coins published was a bill essentially, among other things, to regulate the gold content of the dollar."

"The gold content of the dollar has been changed several times in the history of the United States, and bills which effected changes in the gold content of the dollar have, without a single exception, insofar as the Chair is advised or has been able to ascertain, come from the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures. The fact that a committee was called to the White House to hear a message read on this subject does not give to that committee, of itself, jurisdiction of the message or of any bill which might be introduced for the purpose of carrying the message into effect. Neither can a committee be given jurisdiction by handing a bill to the chairman of a committee with the request that he introduce it."

"The decisions are perfectly plain and there are many of them. The act of March 14, 1900, also fixed the standard unit of value of the dollar at 25.8 grains of gold, nine-tenths of the fine. This was not considered by any committee of the House. The debates on the bill indicated that an informal committee had investigated and considered this particular subject, which was finally embodied in a bill which was prepared during the recess preceding the first session of the Fifty-sixth Congress. The bill was brought before the House under a special rule which provided an entire week for the consideration of the measure. In the preceding Congress, the Fifty-fifth Congress, several bills were introduced relating to the fixing of a standard unit of value. Those bills were considered by the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures. One of them, H.R. 11917, was reported to the House."

"It would seem that the act of March 14, 1900, was based, to some extent, upon the report of the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures of the Fifty-fifth Congress."

"The act of May 26, 1906, amending the act of March 14, 1900, with respect to gold coinage and gold certificates, was reported by the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures."

"The act of May 26, 1906, was the bill, S. 6022, which was considered and reported by the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures."

"It is interesting to note in this connection that the act of March 8, 1911—Senate bill 10457, Sixty-first Congress, third session—which amended the act of March 14, 1900, was considered and reported by the Committee on Ways and Means. The act of July 14, 1890, entitled 'An act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon'—House bill 5381, Fifty-first Congress, first session—was considered and reported by the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures."

"Hinds' Precedents, volume 4, section 4093, lists a number of bills relating to the coinage of silver and the purchase of bullion which were considered by the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures."

"There seems to have been a conflict between the Committee on Banking and Currency and the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures as far back as 1882, with respect to an issue of silver certificates. On December 6, 1882, the House referred that part of the President's message relating to the issue of silver certificates to the Committee on Banking and Currency. The Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, however, in 1884, reported a bill relating to the exchange of silver certificates of large denominations, into ones of smaller denominations."

"It will be found that in the jurisdictional fight over the subject of silver bullion and silver certificates, the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures usually succeeded in acquiring jurisdiction."

"And then in the Sixty-seventh Congress the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. GOLDSBOROUGH] introduced a bill which had for its purpose stabilizing the purchasing power of money, to which the chairman has already referred, and which, together with the other matters to which the Chair has called attention, it is contended, entitled the Committee on Banking and Currency to the consideration of this particular bill."

"It becomes necessary to look into the character of the bill which has been introduced, and the Chair will put a statement in the Record which seems to have been an analysis of the bill. With his usual care and accuracy of expression, the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STEAGALL], Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, analyzed the bill. The analysis made by the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STEAGALL], which the Chair does not seem to have here, but which, without objection, the Chair will incorporate at this point as a part of his opinion in this matter, is so clear that the Chair will not undertake to analyze the bill."

Analysis of the bill to protect the currency system of the United States to provide for the better use of the monetary gold stock, and for other purposes

1. Transfers to the United States the ownership and possession of all Federal Reserve bank gold (including that held by the Federal Reserve Board and Federal Reserve agents) and provides for payment therefor in gold certificates.

2. Authorizes the Federal Reserve banks to maintain reserves against Federal Reserve notes entirely in gold certificates.

3. Clarifies the Government's power to regulate the acquisition, transporting, melting, or treating, import, export, or earmarking of gold.

4. Provides forfeiture of gold withheld, acquired, transported, melted, or treated, imported, exported, or earmarked in violation of this bill or regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury, and also a penalty equal to twice the value of the gold.

5. Provides that no gold shall hereafter be coined, and that no gold coin shall hereafter be paid out or delivered by the United States and that all gold coin of the United States shall be withdrawn from circulation and formed into bars. There is provision for releasing gold bars to pay foreign balances, and for industrial, professional, and artistic uses, and for other purposes not inconsistent with the bill.

6. Provides that no currency of the United States shall be redeemed in gold except to the extent permitted in regulations issued by the Secretary of the Treasury with the approval of the President, but that gold certificates owned by Federal Reserve banks shall be redeemed at such times and in such amounts as in the judgment of the Secretary of the Treasury are necessary to maintain equal purchasing power of every kind of currency of the United States and that the reserve for United States notes and for Treasury notes of 1890 and the security for gold certificates shall be maintained in gold bullion equal to the dollar amounts required by present law.

7. Establishes a method of accounting for the gain or loss in value of Treasury gold occasioned by any change in the weight of the gold dollar.

8. Clarifies present laws which authorize the purchase and sale of gold by the Secretary of the Treasury.

9. Establishes a stabilization fund and appropriates $2,000,000,000 for the purpose, but only out of the profits on devaluation, which are directed to be covered into the Treasury under the bill; and provides that the President shall cause an audit to be made of such fund and a full report thereof to be included in the next succeeding annual report of the Secretary of the Treasury.

10. Limits the President's power to fix the weight of the gold dollar to weights between 50 and 60 percent of the present weight, and makes it clear that his various powers under paragraph (b) (2) of the Thomas amendment are continuing and distinct.

11. Approves and confirms action taken by the President and the Secretary of the Treasury under the act of March 9, 1933, and sections 43 and 45 of the act of May 12, 1933.

The analysis clearly shows that the bill deals solely with gold. It shows that it is a coinage bill, in the judgment of the Chair, and that it ought to go to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures.

The Chair desires to read from a brief submitted by the gentleman from New York, Mr. O'CONNOR, which is so clear on the point that the Chair proposes to read a portion of it. The Chair hopes the gentleman will pardon the Chair for mentioning his name.

"In the Forty-fifth Congress, Record, page 232, a bill to authorize the coinage of the silver dollar and to restore its legal-tender character was referred to the committee (that is, the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures). On a point of order made by Mr. Alexander H. Stephens on a motion to refer the bill to the Committee on Banking and Currency the House voted that the bill should be referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, basing its decision on a precedent of 1873, when that committee reported a bill providing for the coinage of a special kind of silver dollar. In the Forty-eighth Congress, Record, page 1057, on motion of Mr. Richard P. Bland, sustained by a vote of the House, the House transferred from the Committee on Banking and Currency to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures a bill to provide for the retirement of the trade dollar. In the Fifty-first Congress, Record, page 303, so much of the President's message as referred to the purchase and coinage of silver was referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures. The committee has reported bills for the coinage of silver, a bill authorizing the issuance of Treasury notes of deposits of silver bullion, a bill to retire and recoin the trade dollar, bills establishing mints and assay offices, bills relating to the exchange of gold coins for gold bars at the mint, a bill concerning the coinage of $3 gold pieces, a bill concerning the exchange of coins, a bill relating to supply of subsidiary coins, and a bill relating to the issuance and deposit of minor coins.

"All these bills were referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures.

"In the Fifty-fifth Congress, Report No. 1876, the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures reported a bill to define and fix the standard of value and to regulate coinage and provide for redemption thereof. In the Fifty-seventh Congress, Reports No. 260 and No. 1180, the committee (the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures) reported a bill relating to Hawaiian silver coinage and silver certificates."

The Chairman of the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOMERS], and the gentleman from Texas [Mr. DIES], a member of that committee, joined in the preparation of a brief which is an able presentation of the rights of that particular committee in this matter. Without objection and without reading any part of it, the Chair will incorporate the brief in the opinion at this point:

Hon. HENRY T. RAINEY,

Speaker House of Representatives.

DEAR SIR: In compliance with your suggestion, we hereby submit our written memorandum setting forth the reasons that H.R. — should be referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures. We assume that you will be largely guided in the decision you reach by the precedents heretofore established by the House of Representatives in defining the jurisdiction of our committee. We will, therefore, refer you to certain precedents which establish the proposition that all bills dealing primarily with the subject matter of fixing the value of the gold dollar or its contents in weight and fineness, and all bills dealing with the acquisition of gold or silver and the payment therefor in gold or silver certificates are properly and traditionally referable to our committee. This we do not think that the members of the Banking and Currency Committee can dispute successfully.

In 1892 our committee reported a bill relating to Hawaiian silver coinage and silver certificates. On November 3, 1877, Mr. Buckner, of Missouri, introduced a bill to authorize the free coinage of the standard silver dollar and to restore its legal tender character. He moved that the bill be referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency. Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, raised the question of order that the bill should, under the rules, go to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures. The Speaker stated that when there was a dispute as to reference, it was the custom of the Chair to submit the question to the House. The House, after debate, in which the precedent of 1873 was cited as a case where our committee had jurisdiction, and after it was urged that our committee had the right to fix the value of the basic metal, voted overwhelmingly that the bill should go to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures. On February 12, 1884, on motion of Mr. Richard P. Bland, of Missouri, and by a vote of ayes 84, noes 34, the House transferred from the Committee on Banking and Currency to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures a bill to provide for the retirement of the trade dollar. On December 10, 1890, the resolution distributing the President's message provided for the reference of so much as referred to the purchase and coinage of silver to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures. In 1886 our committee reported on a bill for the free coinage of silver. This was also done in 1892, and in 1891 our committee was given jurisdiction of the subject of silver-bullion deposits, the bill (H.R. 5381) authorizing the issue of Treasury notes on deposits of silver bullion. This involved directly the question of the acquisition of silver bullion and the payment therefor not with silver certificates but with Treasury notes. In 1884 the bill (H.R. 4976) to retire and recoin the trade dollar was properly referred to our committee. On December 6, 1882, the resolutions distributing the President's message referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures the subject relating to the mints of the United States, and on different occasions the committee has reported on bills to establish branch mints and assay offices. The committee has reported on other bills dealing with gold or silver as such.

On January 31, 1899, the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures reported H.R. 11917, a bill to define and fix the standard of value and to regulate coinage and provide for redemption thereunder, and for other purposes. This bill provided that the standard unit of value shall, as now, be the dollar and shall consist of 25.8 grains of gold nine-tenths fine, or 23.22 grains of pure gold, being the one-tenth part of the eagle, and that all obligations for the payment of money shall be performed in conformity with that standard. This bill contained numerous other provisions, such as the creation of a division in the Treasury Department to keep records and accounts and relating to the issue, redemption, and exchange of the several kinds of United States money. It transferred from the general fund in the Treasury of the United States and took up all the books of said division as a redemption fund the amount in gold coin and bullion held against outstanding gold certificates, and so forth. It transferred from the general fund in the Treasury of the United States and took up all the books of said division as a reserve fund an amount of gold, in coin and bullion, equal to 25 percent of the amount, both of United States notes and Treasury notes issued under the act of July 14. This reserve was to be held as a common fund and used solely for the redemption of said notes and in exchange for said notes and for silver dollars. The bill made it the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to maintain the gold-reserve fund taken up on the books of the Division of Issue and Redemption, and for this purpose it was authorized from time to time to transfer to such fund any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and to issue and sell, whenever he deemed necessary, bonds of the United States bearing interest at a rate fixed to accomplish the ends aforesaid. He was authorized to pay out gold coin for gold certificates, pay out United States notes for currency certificates, pay out silver dollars for silver certificates, issue silver certificates for silver dollars, pay out United States notes or Treasury notes in exchange for gold coin.

The bill provided that upon deposit by national banking associations of United States bonds, such associations should be entitled to receive from the Comptroller of the Currency circulating notes of different denominations equal in value to the par value of the bonds so deposited, and under said provisions such national banking associations could receive additional circulating notes, and they were required to pay into the division of issue and redemption a duty specified. The act also amended certain provisions of the National Banking Act of that time, and provided, among other things, that no association should be organized with a less capital than $100,000, and contained other amendments to the Banking Act made necessary by the fixation of the gold dollar.

It must be borne in mind, however, that the primary purpose of that bill was to define and fix the standard of value and the other provisions amendatory of the National Banking Act than in existence were merely incidental to the main object of the bill.

PRESENT BILL

Since the precedents establish beyond any doubt that our committee has jurisdiction over all bills dealing with the valuation of the gold dollar, its weight and fineness, and the purchase of gold or silver, the question then presents itself as to what the primary purpose of the present bill is. It must be obvious to everyone that the primary purpose is not to change our banking and reserve system or our currency. Certain amendments to the Reserve Act are included in the bill, but only because such changes are made necessary on the account of the revaluation of the gold dollar. But the primary and fundamental purpose of this bill is to authorize the President to revalue the gold dollar at not more than 60 percent of the present statutory value.

Now, in order to accomplish this main objective, it is necessary for provisions to be made to acquire all gold bullion now held by the Federal Reserve banks and to acquire any and all other gold, domestic or foreign, as may be deemed necessary for the purpose of revaluing the gold dollar. Manifestly this is to be done in order to prevent private interests from profiting on account of the revaluation of the gold dollar to the detriment of public interests. But the provision in the bill amending the Federal Reserve Act and authorizing the acquisition of gold, etc., are merely means to an end, and that end is plainly the revaluation of the gold dollar. It is foolish to contend that this bill deals primarily with currency or banking. No fundamental change is made in the reserve system or the currency of the country. The message of the President clearly proves this statement. The President says, "The foregoing recommendations relate chiefly to gold." It does not say that they relate chiefly to gold. It does not say that they relate chiefly to gold. He currency or the reserve system but simply to gold. He says, "By making clear that we are establishing permanent metallic reserves in the possession and ownership of the Federal Government, we can organize a currency system which will be both sound and adequate." He does not say that we are by this bill organizing an adequate and sound currency system, but he says that we will be able to do so after we have by this bill established a permanent metallic reserve. He makes it clear that he is not dealing with merely tokens which constitute currency but is dealing with gold as a metallic reserve behind paper or token currency. He makes it clear that he wishes to eliminate the free circulation of gold coins and that in order to do this he wishes to vest in the Government the title to and possession of all monetary gold within our boundaries and keep that gold in the form of bullion rather than in coin. In order to revalue, which is the primary purpose of the bill, the President seeks to acquire possession of and title to the monetary gold in the United States and through revaluation he hopes to bring about some greater degree of stability of foreign-exchange rates, and the bill seeks to use any profits accruing to the Government on account of revaluation as a stabilization fund.

The President has already submitted to Congress in the past various measures effecting changes in our banking system and in our currency. In this bill he does not seek such changes only insofar as they may be incidental to the main objective of the bill.

It must, therefore, be clear that this is not a banking or currency bill primarily and fundamentally, but rather a bill to define and fix the standard of value and to regulate coinage, and to provide such means and methods as may be necessary to accomplish this purpose.

This committee has never sought to deprive the Banking and Currency Committee of jurisdiction over any bill or bills dealing primarily with banking or currency problems; but when the Banking and Currency Committee undertakes to invade the legislative field of gold-dollar valuation we are compelled to resist such attempts or otherwise disband as a committee.

We therefore respectfully urge that, in conformity with unbroken precedents, you refer this bill to our committee for such action as it may see fit to take.

Respectfully submitted,

MARTIN DIES,

Second District of Texas.

NOTE.—In addition to the above precedents we submit the passage by the House in the Seventy-second Congress of House Resolution 72, authorizing the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures to make a complete study into the monetary system, the effect of the price of silver bullion, and the advisability of calling an international conference for the purpose of discussing stabilization of currency. We also want to call attention to the fact that on March 20, 1933, Mr. DIES, of Texas, introduced a bill to revalue the gold dollar, which was referred by you to our committee and which is now under consideration by the committee.

The Chair thinks that if the bill does not go to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, the House may just as well disband that committee, for it will never have any jurisdiction unless it be jurisdiction of this kind.

The Chair is going to rule that the bill and the message be referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures.

While the Chair has assumed the responsibility of making this decision and has assembled the precedents so that hereafter there may not be as much conflict between these two committees as there has been heretofore, the Chair would be glad to have the House pass upon the question. The Chair has advised the chairmen of both these committees as to what his ruling in the matter was going to be; and the Chair understands that the Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STAGALL], will want to make a motion to refer this bill and this message to his committee and to present this motion to the House.

The Chair now directs that this bill and the message be referred to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures and ordered printed. As a matter of fact, the Chair has directed that the physical reference of this bill to the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures be deferred until after the vote on the motion of the gentleman from Alabama

[Mr. STEAGALL], Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, to send the bill to his committee.

While the motion of the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STEAGALL] is not subject to debate if any Member makes the point of order, it is the hope and desire of the Chair that no Member will make the point of order on account of the very great importance of the subject, and that such time as may be agreed upon for debate may be controlled equally by the Chairman of the Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures, the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOMERS] and by the Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STEAGALL].

Thereafter, of course, the bill will be physically referred to the committee whose jurisdiction is established by the vote which will be taken on the motion of the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STEAGALL].

Mr. BLANTON. Mr. Speaker, a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BLANTON. In a case of this kind where there is a contest between two committees, each claiming jurisdiction, and the Chair rules that the bill should go to one of the committees, is not the only way that the ruling of the Chair can be overcome is by an appeal from the ruling of the Chair?

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks not. The Chair is of the opinion that the motion can be made.

Mr. BLANTON. I just wanted that understood.

Mr. MAPES. Mr. Speaker, reserving a point of order, which I do not intend to make, as I understand the rule, the motion is made either by unanimous consent or by direction of the Committee on Banking and Currency.

The SPEAKER. Yes.

Mr. MAPES. If anyone should desire to make a point of order against the motion of the gentleman from Alabama, made upon his own initiative and without the instruction of the Committee on Banking and Currency, the motion would not be in order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks the gentleman is right about that. The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. STEAGALL] tomorrow morning, immediately after the reading of the Journal, to make the motion, and in the meanwhile the Committee on Banking and Currency can authorize the gentleman to take such steps.

GERMANENESS

On January 16, 1934, the House had under consideration the bill (H.R. 6670) to provide for the establishment of a corporation to aid in the refinancing of farm debts, and for other purposes.

Mr. BOILEAU moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Agriculture, with instructions to that committee to report the bill back to the House forthwith with the following amendment:

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert:

That this act shall be known by the title "The Farmers' Farm Relief Act."

Sec. 2. That the Government now perform its solemn promise and duty and place American agriculture on a basis of equality with other industries by providing an adequate system of credit, through which farm indebtedness and farm mortgages now existing may be liquidated and refinanced, through real-estate mortgages on the amortization plan, at 1½ per centum interest and 1½ per centum principal per annum, and through mortgages on livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes at 3 per centum interest per annum through the use of the machinery of the Federal farm-loan system and the Federal Reserve Banking System.

Sec. 3. The Federal Farm Loan Board is hereby authorized and directed to liquidate, refinance, and take up farm mortgages and other farm indebtedness, existing at the date of enactment of this act, by making real-estate loans, secured by first mortgages on farms, to an amount equal to the fair value of such farms and 50 per centum of the value of insurable buildings and improvements thereon, through the use of the machinery of the Federal land banks and national farm-loan associations, and to make all necessary rules and regulations for the carrying out of the purposes of this act with expedition. In case such farm mortgages and other farm indebtedness to be liquidated and refinanced exceeds the fair value of any farm and 50 per centum of the value of insurable buildings and improvements thereon, then such farm mortgages and indebtedness shall be scaled down in accordance with the provisions of the act entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States", approved July 1, 1898, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto. Such loans shall be made at a rate of 1½ per centum interest and 1½ per centum principal per annum, payable in any lawful money of the United States.

Sec. 4. The Federal Farm Loan Board is further authorized and directed to liquidate, refinance, and take up chattel mortgages and other farm indebtedness, existing at the date of enactment of this act, by making loans at the rate of 3 per centum interest per annum, secured by first mortgages on livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes, to an amount equal to 65 per centum of the fair market value thereof, such loans to run for a period of one year, with right of renewal from year to year for a term of ten years: Provided, That any depreciation in the value of such livestock is replaced by additional livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes and the amount of the loan is reduced 10 per centum each year.

Sec. 5. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any money not otherwise appropriated, $100,000 for the use of the Federal Farm Loan Board to carry out the provisions of this act. The necessary and actual expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions in this act shall be apportioned and pro rated and added to each individual mortgage, and such sums so added shall be paid to the Federal Farm Loan Board for administrative purposes.

Sec. 6. The funds with which to liquidate and refinance existing farm mortgages and other farm indebtedness shall be provided by the issuing of farm-loan bonds by the Federal farm loan system, through the Federal Farm Loan Board and Federal land banks, as now provided by law, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of 1½ per centum per annum, if secured by mortgages on farms, and 3 per centum per annum if secured by chattel mortgages on livestock used for breeding or agricultural purposes. These bonds, after delivery to the Federal Farm Loan Board, may, by it, be sold at par to any individual or corporation, or to any State, National, or Federal Reserve bank, or to the Treasurer of the United States. And it shall be the duty of the Federal Reserve banks to invest their available surplus and net profits, after the dividends are paid to their stockholders, in such farm-loan bonds. Such profits to include the franchise tax now paid to the United States.

Sec. 7. In case all of said farm-loan bonds are not readily purchased, then the Federal Farm Loan Board shall present the remainder to the Federal Reserve Board, and the Board shall forthwith cause to be issued and delivered to the Federal Farm Loan Board Federal Reserve notes to an amount equal to the par value of such bonds as are presented to it. Such farm-loan bonds to be held by the Federal Reserve Board as security in lieu of any other security or reserve.

Sec. 8. The Federal Farm Loan Board and the Federal land banks shall turn over all payments of interest and principal on such farm-loan bonds, for which the Federal Reserve Board issues Federal Reserve notes, to the Treasurer of the United States, and shall be by him kept for the purpose of redeeming said Federal Reserve notes and reinvested by him as a sinking fund in municipal or State bonds and bearing interest at the rate of at least 2 per centum per annum, both principal and interest to be paid in any lawful money of the United States.

Sec. 9. Whenever the amount of money actually in circulation in the United States shall exceed $75 per capita, then the Treasurer of the United States, by and with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board and the President of the United States, may retire Federal Reserve notes in an amount equal to the principal paid on farm-loan bonds, for which Federal Reserve notes were issued, not to exceed 2 per centum in any one year, of the amount of Federal Reserve notes so issued.

Sec. 10. There is hereby created a Board of Agriculture consisting of one member from each State, elected by the farmers of such State, who shall be elected by delegates selected by a mass convention of farmers in each county or parish within the United States, who are indebted and declare it to be their intention to take advantage of this act, such county or parish convention to be its own judge as to who are bona fide farmers and otherwise eligible to participate in its proceedings.

Sec. 11. The Federal Farm Loan Board is hereby authorized and directed to give public notice, through the Federal land banks, to the farmers of each county or parish of the time and place of holding the first county or parish convention, which shall be held at the seat of government of each county or parish; and it shall at the same time give notice of the first convention of the State delegates, to be held at the State capital of each State, notice of such convention to be given within sixty days after the enactment of this act.

Sec. 12. The farmers attending such county or parish convention and the State delegates attending such State convention shall organize and make such rules and regulations for their procedure as they deem necessary or convenient, and shall elect a president and a secretary and make arrangements for such other and future conventions as they may deem necessary to carry out the purpose of this act, and they shall at all times cooperate and assist the Board of Agriculture, the Federal Farm Loan Board, the Federal land banks, and national farm-loan associations to liquidate and refinance farm mortgages and farm indebtedness.

Sec. 13. The State delegates so elected shall meet at the State capitals of their respective States and elect a member of the Board of Agriculture, who shall hold his office from the date of such election and for a period of two years from January 20 following, and who shall receive $15 per diem and necessary traveling expenses while on official business, and be paid by the Federal Farm Loan Board out of any funds set apart by section 5 of this act.

Sec. 14. Immediately after their election the members of the Board of Agriculture, upon call of the Federal Farm Loan Board, shall meet at Washington in the District of Columbia, and organize by electing a chairman and a secretary, and they shall make such rules and regulations as they deem necessary and expedient to carry out the purposes of this act. They shall elect an executive committee of three, none of whom shall be members of the Board of Agriculture, who shall hold their office at the will of said board, and who shall receive a salary of $7,500 per annum, and 5 cents per mile for necessary traveling expenses while on official business, to be paid by the Federal Farm Loan Board out of any funds set apart by section 5 of this act.

Sec. 15. The members of the Board of Agriculture shall keep in touch with and report to the executive committee the progress of liquidating and refinancing farm mortgages and farm indebtedness in their respective States. They shall cooperate with county or parish and State governments, and with all farm and cooperative organizations within their respective States, to speedily bring about the liquidation and refinancing of farm mortgages and farm indebtedness.

Sec. 16. The executive committee of the Board of Agriculture shall advise with and supervise the work of liquidating and refinancing farm mortgages and farm indebtedness by the Federal Farm Loan Board and the Federal Reserve Board, and they shall cooperate with said Boards and with county or parish and State governments and with the various farm organizations, and with the agricultural colleges of the Nation, in order to bring about a just and speedy liquidation and refinancing of farm mortgages and farm indebtedness. They shall report any member of the farm loan system or the Federal Reserve Board who neglects, hinders, or delays the carrying out of the provisions of this act to the President of the United States, and it shall be the duty of the President, upon cause shown, to remove any such officer and to appoint some other suitable person in his place with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Sec. 17. The benefits of this act shall also extend to any farmer, or member of his family, who lost his farm through indebtedness or mortgage foreclosure since 1919, and who desires to purchase the farm lost or another farm. It shall also extend to any tenant, or members of his family, who desires to purchase a farm, provided he has lived on and operated a farm as a tenant for at least three years prior to the enactment of this act.

Sec. 18. The executive committee of the Board of Agriculture shall have power in case of crop failures, and in other meritorious cases, to extend the time payments due on loans made under this act from time to time for a period not exceeding three years, provided the mortgagor keeps up the payment of all taxes on the mortgaged property.

Sec. 19. This act shall be liberally construed, and no technicalities or limitations shall be imposed or permitted to interfere with the speedy carrying out of its purposes; and the provisions of the Federal farm-loan system and the Federal Reserve Banking System shall apply as far as applicable in the carrying out of the provisions of this act; and all laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are for the purpose of this act repealed. The persons charged with the duty of carrying out the provisions of this act are authorized and directed to do all things necessary or convenient to accomplish its purposes with expedition.

Mr. JONES made the point of order that the amendment in the motion to recommit was not germane to the bill.

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order and said:

"The Chair calls attention to the opinion of the present Speaker delivered on April 13, 1933, Seventy-third Congress, first session, at which time this same question arose and was then decided by the present occupant of the chair. The Chair sustains the point of order for the reason given in that opinion."

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

On February 13, 1934, Mr. SHOEMAKER rose to a question of personal privilege and submitted the following resolution:

Whereas it is becoming evident and of current knowledge that certain irregularities are existent in the management in a number of prisons, jails, penitentiaries, asylums, and reformatories under the Department of Justice and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia; and

Whereas many of the industries in the aforesaid prisons, etc., are managed in a very inefficient manner and many unexplained losses of materials, supplies, and products have developed and irregular attempts have been made to adjust the losses through manipulating the accounting systems to the loss and embarrassment of the Government of the United States and contrary to its laws and dignity:

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives be directed to appoint a special committee of five Members of the House of Representatives to investigate the management of the penitentiaries, prisons, jails, reformatories—

During the reading of the resolution,

Mr. BLANTON made the point of order that the resolution did not present a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order.

REPORTING CHANGE OF VOTES

On March 16, 1934, Mr. O'CONNOR made the point of order that every word uttered in debate on the floor of the House should appear in the Record, and the further point of order that the announcement of a Member changing his vote should also appear in the Record.

The SPEAKER sustained the points of order and said:

"The gentleman from New York is correct as to the practice that has prevailed heretofore. The Chair thinks that if a Member changes his vote it ought to appear in the Record, and hereafter the reporters will see that all Members who change their votes are reported in the Congressional Record."

While Mr. CONNERY was announcing the views of absent Members on the questions just voted upon,

Mr. SNELL made the point of order that the gentleman was out of order.

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order.

AUTHORITY OF CONFEREES

On March 21, 1934, Mr. VINSON of Georgia called up the following conference report:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 6604) to establish the composition of the United States Navy with respect to the categories of vessels limited by the treaties signed at Washington, February 6, 1922, and at London, April 22, 1930, at the limits prescribed by those treaties; to authorize the construction of certain naval vessels; and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference, have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendments of the Senate numbered 5, 6, and 7, and agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 1: That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 1, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the matter stricken out and inserted by said amendment insert the following: That the first and each succeeding alternate vessel of each category, except the 15,000-ton aircraft carrier, upon which work is undertaken, and the main engines, armor, and armament for such vessels, the construction and manufacture of which is authorized by this act, shall be constructed or manufactured in the Government navy yards, naval stations, naval-gun factories, naval-ordnance plants, or arsenals of the United States, except such material or parts as were not customarily manufactured in such Government plants prior to February 13, 1929: Provided further, That if inconsistent with the public interests in any year to have a vessel or vessels constructed as required above, the President may have such vessel or vessels built in a Government or private yard as he may direct; and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 2: That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 2, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the matter inserted by said amendment insert the following:

That not less than 10 per centum of the aircraft, including the engines therefor, the procurement of which is authorized by this act and hereafter undertaken, shall be constructed and/or manufactured in Government aircraft factories and/or other plants or factories owned and operated by the United States Government.

The foregoing paragraph is subject to the following conditions:

(1) That if it shall be determined by the President that present plants, factories, and equipment owned by the Government are not such as to permit the construction and/or manufacture of the said aircraft and/or engines in such Government plants and factories, in the proportions herein specified and required, then and in that event such requirements may be suspended in whole or in part by his order. However, in the event of such order of suspension being made by the President, then at his discretion the existing plants, factories, and facilities now owned and/or operated by the Government shall forthwith be expanded and equipped to enable the Government to construct, manufacture, and repair not less than 10 per centum of its naval aircraft therein, except that it shall be discretionary with the President as to the per centum constructed and/or manufactured in Government plants if he should find it impracticable for the Government to undertake the construction and/or manufacture of not less than 10 per centum of its naval aircraft therein.

The contractor or subcontracts referred to herein are limited to those where the award exceeds $50,000.

The provisions of this section shall not become effective until June 30, 1934.

And the Senate agree to the same.

CARL VINSON,
P. H. DREWRY,
STEPHEN W. GAMBRILL,
FRED A. BRITTEN,
GEORGE P. DARROW,

Managers on the part of the House.

PARK TRAMMELL,
MILLARD E. TYDINGS,
FREDERICK HALE,
JESSE H. METCALF,

Managers on the part of the Senate.

Mr. TOBEY made a point of order against the conference report on the ground that the conferees had exceeded their authority by increasing the amount in the limit of contracts subject to a restriction of profit.

After debate,

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order.

INSTRUCTION OF CONFEREES

On April 10, 1934, on motion of Mr. STEAGALL, by unanimous consent, the bill of the Senate (S. 2999) to guarantee the bonds of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, to amend the Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933, and for other purposes, with an amendment of the House thereto, was taken from the Speaker's table.

When, on motion of Mr. STEAGALL,

Resolved, That the House insist upon its amendment and agree to the conference asked by the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon.

Whereupon Mr. LUCE moved that the House instruct its managers at the conference on said bill to agree to section 2 (n) thereof, as follows:

"(n) In the appointment of agents and the selection of employees for said Corporation, and in the promotion of agents or employees, no partisan political test or qualification shall be permitted or given consideration, but all agents and employees shall be appointed, employed, or promoted solely upon the basis of merit and efficiency. Any member of the Board who is found guilty of a violation of this provision by the President of the United States shall be removed from office by the President of the United States, and any agent or employee of the Corporation who is found guilty of a violation of this section by the Board shall be removed from office by said Board."

Mr. BLANTON made the point of order that the motion was not authorized by the rules of the House.

After debate,

While Mr. BLANTON was addressing the Chair on his point of order,

Mr. MAPES made the point of order that the gentleman from Texas was not confining himself to the point of order.

After further debate,

The SPEAKER overruled the point of order made by Mr. MAPES.

After further debate,

The SPEAKER overruled the point of order made by Mr. BLANTON, and said:

"The provision to which the motion to instruct refers is in the bill. It was in the bill as it passed the Senate. The proposition now is to send the bill with the House amendment to conference, and the Chair knows of no parliamentary reason why the conferees may not be instructed to agree to a portion of the Senate bill. The point of order is overruled."

QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE OF THE HOUSE

On April 23, 1934, Mr. BEEDY rose to a question of the privilege of the House and submitted the following resolution (H.Res. 349):

Whereas the Committee on Banking and Currency of the House met on the forenoon of April 21, 1934, and took up for consideration the bill H.R. 7908, which was not read; and

Whereas thereupon a motion was made in said committee strike out all after the enacting clause of H.R. 7908 and substitute therefor the text of H.R. 9175, commonly known as the "Brown bill", and that the said H.R. 7908, as thus amended, be reported favorably to the House; and Whereas the said Banking and Currency Committee thereupon adopted the aforesaid motion and proposes to report H.R. 7908, as amended, to the House; and Whereas the said H.R. 7908, which the said Banking and Currency Committee voted to report to the House, was at no time read in committee for amendment by section or by paragraph, either by the chairman or the clerk of said committee, as required by section 26, paragraph 412, of Jefferson's Manual; and

Whereas House rule no. 43 provides that "The rules of the House shall govern the parliamentary practice in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the use in all cases to which they are applicable * * *";

Whereas House rule no. 12 provides that "The rules of the use are hereby made the rules of its standing committees far as applicable * * *"; and

Whereas section 26, paragraph 412, of Jefferson's Manual, among other things, provides that in the case of "a bill, long or short, or an address", etc., originating with or referred to a committee, "in every case the whole paper is read first by the Clerk and then by the chairman, by paragraphs, pausing at the end of each paragraph, and putting questions for amending, if proposed"; and

Whereas the said failure of the said Banking and Currency Committee to comply with the rule as stated in section 26, paragraph 412, vitiates the committee's attempt properly to report out H.R. 7908, and vitally affects the regularity and integrity of the proceedings of the House itself; and

Whereas the right of said Banking and Currency Committee to report said H.R. 7908 to the House, for the reasons therein set forth, raises a doubt as to the regularity and validity of the proceedings of said committee and its attempt to make a report on H.R. 7908; and

Whereas the reception of said report by the House is objected to and disputed: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the question whether the House shall receive said report be submitted to the House forthwith.

Mr. RANKIN made the point of order that the resolution does not present a question of the privilege of the House.

Mr. BLANTON made the further point of order that the resolution is an attempt to impeach the integrity of the action of a committee.

After debate, The SPEAKER overruled the points of order and said: "The Chair is ready to rule. It is contended by the gentleman from Maine [Mr. BEEDY] that the resolution he has presented, of which he is the author, presents a question of privilege affecting the rights of the House and the integrity of its proceedings.

"When Mr. Reed, of Maine, was Speaker of the House in 1891 a matter very much like this was presented to him. At that time there was no rule of the House prescribing a method of discharging a committee from the consideration of a bill.

"A report had been ordered to be made by a committee. It was not made within a reasonable time, and a resolution directing the report to be made was decided by Speaker Reed to present a question of the privilege of the House.

"Questions of privilege are, first, those affecting the rights of the House collectively, its safety, dignity, and the integrity of its proceedings.

"The ruling of Speaker Reed to which I have alluded can be found in volume 3, Hinds' Precedents, page 1085.

"The Chair holds that the resolution presents a question of privilege, and it is for the House to adopt or reject the resolution. The Chair therefore overrules the point of order."

MOTIONS TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEES

On April 23, 1934, a day upon which motions to discharge committees were in order,

Mr. McLEOD called up the motion to discharge the Committee on Banking and Currency from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 7908) to promote resumption of industrial activity, increase employment, and restore confidence by fulfillment of the implied guaranty by the United States Government of deposit safety in national banks.

Mr. STEAGALL made the point of order that the motion to discharge is not in order for the reason that the committee has reported the bill.

After debate,

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order and said:

"The Chair is ready to rule. The discharge rule has not been construed in the House up to the present time. It provides:

"When Members to the total number of 145 shall have signed the motion it shall be entered on the Journal, printed with the signatures thereto in the Congressional Record, and referred to the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees."

"That has been done in the instant case. The motion is pending now on the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees. The question raised is one of procedure. Last Friday a parliamentary inquiry was submitted to the Chair with reference to this same bill. It appeared that the bill had been reported out by the Committee on Banking and Currency, or that that committee had attempted to report it out when the House was in session, that committee having no authority to sit when the House was in session, not having obtained that permission from the House. The Chair held at that time that the action of the Committee on Banking and Currency in reporting out the bill or attempting to report it out under those circumstances was absolutely void, and the bill was still before the committee. The question now arises as to whether the bill is still before the committee. If it is still before the committee, then it is in order to call up the motion to discharge the committee at this time. The question now is whether the committee has the bill yet or not. If the committee still has the bill, it can, of course, be discharged from the consideration of the bill. If the committee has discharged itself by reporting the bill out, another question arises. It appears from the argument that the bill has been reported out and that the committee no longer has the bill before it. The Chair is informed by the Clerk that the report on the bill was filed in the House this morning, and the bill was placed on the calendar.

"This matter is a rather important one, and the Chair thinks it deserves some consideration at length.

"The question presented to the Chair for decision may be stated as follows:

"Is the motion to discharge a committee from the further consideration of a bill, as provided in clause 4 of rule XXVII, applicable to a bill that has been reported by a committee during the interval between the placing of the motion to discharge on the calendar and the day when such motion is called up for action in the House?

"The discharge rule is what its name implies; that is, a rule providing a method of taking a bill from a committee which has refused to consider or report it. The House has had one form or another of a discharge rule since the Sixty-first Congress. The purpose of all those rules was to provide a method of forcing a committee to report bills instead of pigeonholing them, the theory being that once a bill was placed upon one of the calendars of the House a majority of the House, if it saw fit, could consider it under the general rules of the House.

"That was the purpose of the present discharge rule. Mr. Charles R. Crisp, formerly a Member of the House, in discussing the discharge rule on May 10, 1932, said:

"The smothering of bills in the committee is what led to the demands for a discharge rule. * * * The discharge rule is needed only to prevent a committee from smothering a bill in the committee room."

"It will be clearly seen from the remarks of Mr. Crisp, who was a very able parliamentarian and who drafted the present rule, that the fundamental purpose of the discharge rule was to provide a method of taking a bill from a committee that refused to consider and report it.

"It will be apparent to those who read the present discharge rule that there is no prohibition attaching to a committee to the extent that such committee is forbidden or deprived of the right to report a bill merely because a motion to discharge such a committee from the consideration of a bill has been filed in the House. Nor is there any restriction upon a committee as far as reporting a bill is concerned, even after a motion to discharge has received the requisite number of signatures and the motion has been placed on the calendar of motions to discharge committees.

"In other words, a committee of the House has it within its power to report a bill any time it sees fit, notwithstanding the discharge rule. Inasmuch as the purpose of the discharge rule is to compel reports by committees, it would be contradictory to say that the rule should be construed to prevent committees from reporting. Mr. Crisp, on May 10, 1932, addressing himself to this particular point, in reply to a question asked him upon the floor, said:

"* * * Of course, the discharge rule now does not apply against the Ways and Means Committee, which has reported the bill * * *."

"In that case the Ways and Means Committee had reported adversely the bonus bill. As Members will recall, the proponents of the bonus bill at that time abandoned their original intention of filing a motion to discharge the Committee on Ways and Means and filed a second motion to discharge the Committee on Rules from a resolution providing a special order of business for the consideration of the bonus bill. Members recognized at that time—and the present discharge rule was then newly adopted—that the discharge rule could not apply to a case where a committee reported a bill and thereby divested itself of any jurisdiction over it. Mr. Crisp at that time stated that—

"The action of the Ways and Means Committee in reporting the bill adversely has in nowise taken away any of the privileges, rights, or opportunities of the proponents of the measure to bring it up if they can meet the requirements of the rules; and the rules are not adopted for this particular case, but the rules were adopted on the 9th of last December."

"Under a fair interpretation of the discharge rule it would seem that where a committee had reported a bill and thereby divested itself of all its authority and jurisdiction over that bill, that a motion to discharge such a committee would not be in order. After a committee has reported a bill, it has lost possession of it, and it is then in the possession of the House. The House can take any action on such a bill as it sees fit; as a matter of fact, the rules provide an order of business, and the proponents of the bill may utilize the rules for the purpose of getting any reported bill up for consideration. Once a bill is in the possession of the House, the House can always dispose of it as it sees fit, under the general rules of the House.

"In order to bring about a condition wherein a committee may be discharged, it is necessary to meet all the requirements of the discharge rule. First, a bill must be in a committee for 30 days before a Member may present a motion to discharge the committee; then such a motion after it is presented must receive 145 signatures of Members. When that is done the motion is placed on the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees. After the motion has been on that calendar for 7 legislative days any Member who has signed the motion to discharge may on the second or fourth Mondays of a month call up the motion for consideration in the House. If, however, at any time before the House begins consideration of a motion to discharge on the second or fourth Mondays of a month, the committee to which the bill has been referred reports the bill, then the motion to discharge falls by reason of the fact that the committee has by its own action divested itself of its jurisdiction over the bill.

"The Chair thinks that inasmuch as the Committee on Banking and Currency has reported the bill, that the effect of that action nullifies the motion to discharge and makes it inoperative.

"The Chair, therefore, sustains the point of order."

Mr. BEEDY made the point of order that the bill is not legally reported, is in violation of the rules of the House, and has no valid standing in the House.

The SPEAKER overruled the point of order and said:

"The House passed on that question a few moments ago in a resolution raising the question of the privileges of the House, and passed upon the question adversely to the position taken by the gentleman from Maine.

"The Chair has no information as to what occurred in the committee. The only thing the Chair knows is that the McLeod bill, bearing the number it has always borne and with the same title, and with some amendments in which the Chair is not interested, has been reported out, is on the calendar, and can be taken up under the general rules of the House when an opportunity presents itself.

"The Chair overrules the point of order."

Mr. WOLCOTT respectfully appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. BYRNS moved to lay the appeal on the table.

The question being put,

Will the House lay on the table the appeal from the decision of the Chair?

Mr. WOLCOTT demanded that the vote be taken by the yeas and nays, which demand was not supported by one-fifth of the Members present, so the yeas and nays were refused.

The appeal from the decision of the Chair was then laid on the table.

APPROPRIATION ON A LEGISLATIVE BILL

On April 24, 1934, the House had under consideration the amendment of the Senate numbered 59 to the bill (H.R. 8861) to include sugar beets and sugarcane as basic agricultural commodities under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, and for other purposes, reported in disagreement by the committee of conference, as follows:

Amendment no. 59: Page 25, after line 19, insert:

Sec. 17. Section 16 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, is amended by adding the following new subsections:

"(c) The provisions of paragraph (2) of subsection (a) of this section shall not apply in the case of sugar beets or sugarcane or the products thereof.

"(d) The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to purchase, out of such proceeds of taxes as are available therefor, during the period this act is in effect with respect to sugar beets and sugarcane, not in excess of three hundred thousand tons of sugar raw value from the surplus stocks of direct-consumption sugar produced in the United States beet-sugar area, at a price not in excess of the market price for direct-consumption sugar on the date of purchase, and to dispose of such sugar by sale or otherwise, including distribution to any organization for the relief of the unemployed, under such conditions and at such times as will tend to effectuate the declared policy of section 8a of this act. The sugar so purchased shall not be included in the quota for the United States beet-sugar area. All proceeds of the powers granted hereby, are appropriated to be available to the Secretary of Agriculture for the purposes described in subsections (a) and (b) of section 12 of this act."

Mr. LANZETTA made the point of order that the amendment of the Senate numbered 59, subdivision (d), is an appropriation and not legislation, and is not in order under clause 4 of rule XXI; and that clause 2 of rule XX permits a point of order against a Senate amendment making an appropriation on a legislative bill when brought back to the House in disagreement by the conferees on the part of the House.

After debate,

The SPEAKER overruled the point of order and said:

"The Chair is of the opinion that the rule to which the gentleman has referred places a restriction upon conferees to the extent that they are forbidden to agree to a Senate amendment providing an appropriation on a legislative bill. The rule, however, does not provide for a point of order against a Senate amendment when it is brought back to the House still in disagreement. The Chair holds that the conferees on this bill have conformed to the rule, and therefore overrules the point of order of the gentleman from New York."

DIVISION OF A RESOLUTION

On June 1, 1934, the House had under consideration the following resolution (H.Res. 410):

Resolved, That during the remainder of the second session of the Seventy-third Congress it shall be in order for the Speaker at any time to entertain motions to suspend the rules, notwithstanding the provisions of clause 1, rule XXVII; it shall also be in order at any time during the second session of the Seventy-third Congress for the majority leader to move that the House take a recess, and said motion is hereby made of the highest privilege; and it shall also be in order at any time during the second session of the Seventy-third Congress to consider reports from the Committee on Rules, as provided in clause 45, rule XI, except that the provision requiring a two-thirds vote to consider said reports is hereby suspended during the remainder of this session of Congress.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,

Mr. MAPES made the point of order that there are three distinct substantive propositions in the resolution, and demanded that the resolution be divided.

The SPEAKER overrules the point of order and said:

"The rule states: 'Any motion or resolution to elect the members or any portion of the members of the standing committees of the House and the joint standing committees shall not be divisible, nor shall any resolution or order reported by the Committee on Rules providing a special order of business be divisible.'

"The matter is perfectly clear. This rule was first adopted in 1789 and was amended in 1837. The gentleman adopted in 1789 and was amended in 1837. The gentleman may find a number of precedents along the line he is discussing, which were made prior to the Seventy-third Congress. This rule, however, was amended last on May 3, 1933, by including this language:

"Nor shall any resolution or order reported by the Committee on Rules providing a special order of business be divisible."

"This amendment to the rule was made for the express purpose of reaching the question which the gentleman now propounds, as will be clearly shown by the debates which occurred when the amendment to the rule was discussed. The point of order is overruled."

JURISDICTION OF A COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

On June 9, 1934, Mr. RAYBURN called up the conference report (Rept. No. 1918) on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the House to the bill of the Senate (S. 3285) to provide for the regulation of interstate and foreign communications by wire or radio, and for other purposes.

Mr. BLAND made the point of order against the conference report on the ground that the committee of conference has exceeded its jurisdiction by writing into the conference report an express repeal of the Radio Act of 1927, and then in said report by reenacting practically in its entirety the original language of that act with the insertion of new matter; whereas the provisions of existing law so reenacted by the new matter so inserted have not been considered by the committee of the House having jurisdiction of the matter so covered by the conference report, and in this way the conference report, if adopted, will enact into law matter highly technical and of great public interest without proper committee consideration. Moreover, the adoption of said report may, without due consideration by the House, deprive the Committee on Merchant Marine, Radio, and Fisheries, which is a standing committee of this House, of its original and time-honored jurisdiction which it has exercised for many years without question, running back to the inception of radio, which jurisdiction can be secured without further question by sustaining this point of order or by rejecting the conference report.

After debate,

The SPEAKER overruled the point of order and said:

"As the Chair understands the matter, the Senate passed a bill proposing to regulate communication which came over to the House. That bill was referred to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, which subsequently reported the bill, so that it is too late now to raise a question of order involving jurisdiction.

"When the bill was considered in the House an amendment was offered, proposed by the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, striking out all after the enacting clause of the Senate bill and substituting an entirely new bill, and that amendment was agreed to by the House. The House subsequently passed the bill as amended and sent it back to the Senate, where that body disagreed to the House amendment and asked for a conference. The House agreed to the conference, so that both bills were then in conference.

"The question involved in the point of order raised by the gentleman from Virginia has been passed on before, and the Chair reads from volume 5, section 6421, of Hinds' Precedents, as follows:

"Where one House strikes out all of the bill of the other after the enacting clause and inserts a new text and the differences over this substitute are referred to conference, the managers have a wide discretion in incorporating germane matters and may even report a new bill on the subject."

"This decision, made by Speaker Colfax, has been followed by Speaker Clark and by other Speakers, and the Chair thinks it applicable to the instant case. The Chair therefore overrules the point of order."

LEGISLATIVE DAYS REQUIRED FOR MOTIONS TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEES

On June 11, 1934, a day upon which motions to discharge committees are in order,

Mr. SWANK called up the motion to discharge the Committee on Agriculture from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 2855) to liquidate and refinance agricultural indebtedness at a reduced rate of interest by establishing an efficient credit system, through the use of the Federal Farm Loan System, the Federal Reserve Banking System, and creating a Board of Agriculture to supervise the same.

Mr. BLANTON made the point of order that the motion had not been on the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees for 7 legislative days, as required under the rule.

After debate,

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order and said:

"The Chair is ready to rule.

"Mr. Speaker Longworth, in construing the Consent Calendar rule which provided that on the first and third Mondays of each month, immediately after the reading of the Journal, the Speaker should direct the Clerk to call bills which had been 3 days upon the Consent Calendar, held—

"In order to be called on the Consent Calendar bills must be on the printed calendar 3 legislative working days."

"The Chair thinks that the decision made by Speaker Longworth is applicable in the instant case, and holds that the motion to discharge which the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. SWANK] desires to call up, has not been on the calendar 7 legislative working days, and therefore cannot now be called up."
