STUDY ON SHORTAGE OCCUPATIONS IN MADRAS STATE DURING OCTOBER DECEMBER, 1966

1. INTRODUCTION

1. (1) Twentieth in the series, this study of shortage occupations in Madras State relates to the period October-December, 1966. The analysis is based on the information furnished in the employment returns by all employers in the public sector and those in the private sector employing atleast ten persons. The employers, among other things, provided data on the employment level, vacancies that occurred and those that were hard-to-fill for want of suitable work people. The response secured during the quarter has been fairly high and the data used in this study may, therefore, be deemed and representative and reliable.

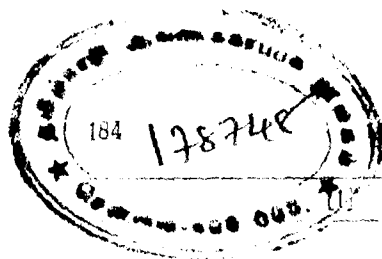

1. (2) Of the 16,223 establishments (4,391 public sector and 11,832 private sector establishments) addressed during the quarter under report, 15,722 establishments (4,882 public sector and 11,840 private sector establishments) responded - the overall response being 90.8%. Of these 15,722 reporting establishments 216 (113 public sector and 103 private sector establishments) reported manpower shortages in various occupations.

2. VACANCIES REMAINED UNFILLED DUE TO MANPOWER SHORTAGES

2. [1] Returns received from employers revealed that 344 vacancies remained unfilled in 216 establishments. They were distributed among different occupational divisions as given in the table below:

VACANCIES REMAINED UNFILLED DUE TO MANPOWER SHORTAGES

Description of occupation	No. of unfilled vacancies	Percentage to the total
Professionals & Technicians ...	216	62.8
Clerical & Sales workers ...	36	10.1
Fram workers etc. ...	17	4.9
Mining & Quarrying occupations...	1	0.8

	[2]	[3]
Transport & Communication Occupations ...	5	1.5
Craftsmen & Production process workers ...	59	17.2
Service, Sports & other related workers ...	11	3.2
ALL OCCUPATIONS ...	344	100%

It may be seen from the above table that manpower shortage was felt mainly in the professional and technical (62.8%) and craftsmen (17.2%) categories both of which accounted for about fourfifths of the hard-to-fill vacancies reported by employers. A list of selected occupations in which employers reported shortage is given in the Annexure to this study.

2. (2) Sectoral Analysis of Unfilled Vacancies: Of the 344 vacancies reported as unfilled due to manpower shortage 188 related to the public and 156 to the private sector establishments. The following table gives the percentage distribution of the vacancies in the two sectors by broad occupational divisions.

VACANCIES UNFILLED DUE TO MANPOWER SHORTAGE BY OCCUPATIONAL DIVISIONS AND SECTORS

Occupational divisions	Private Sector		Public Sector
	No. of vacancies unfilled	%	No. of vacancies unfilled	%
Professional & Technical ...	79	50.6	137	72.9
Clerical and Sales ...	32	20.5	3	1.6
Farm workers etc. ...	—	—	17	9.0
Mining and Quarrying ...	—	—	1	0.5
Transport and Communication ...	—	—	5	2.7
Craftsmen & Production process workers ...	88	24.4	21	11.2
Service, Sports and Recreation workers ...	7	4.5	4	2.1
ALL OCCUPATIONS ...	156	100%	188	100%

As is evident from the above table shortages in professional, technical and craftsmen occupations were intense in both the sectors, the incidence of shortage for professional and technicians was heavier in the public than in the private sector, but in craftsmen-occupations the shortage experienced by the Private sector was relatively larger.

An intra-area analysis reveals that in almost all the districts of the State professionals and technicians formed the bulk of the shortage. Farm workers in Dharmapuri District (70.6%), Craftsman and Production process occupations in North Arcot (28.6), Chingleput (44.2%), Coimbatore (63.7%), Tiruchy (25.0%) and Tirunelveli (20.0%) were the other significant shortage occupations. Shortage in clerical and sales categories was significant in Madras City (35.2%)

An inter-area analysis brings out the nature of hard-to-fill vacancies in respect of each occupation among the different areas, The incidence of shortage of professionals and technicians was relatively higher in Madras City (20.8%) followed by Tanjore (18.5%). While the major contribution of 20.8% in the Professional and Technical categories came from Madras City the lowest of 1.4% related to Tiruchirapalli district the median value of the distribution being 8.2%.

Of the four districts reporting a total of 35 vacancies as hard-to-fill ones in the category of clerical and sales workers, the share of Madras City alone stood at 91.3%. A little more than seven-tenth of the unfilled vacancies in the category of Farm workers related to Dharmapuri district. Chingleput with a share of 32.2% topped to the list of those areas where manpower shortage were keenly felt in craftsmen and Production Process occupations, followed by Coimbatore district with 23.7%. In the service, sport and related occupations the distribution in terms of percentage ranged from 27.2 (in Madras City) to 9.1% (in both Neyveli and Chingleput the median value of 18.2% relating to North Arcot, South Arcot and Madurai Districts).

While a major share of 26.4% of the total hard-to-fill vacancies related to Madras City, shares of other areas ranged from 1.2% to 13.6% the median value of the distribution being 4.1%.

3. MORE ACUTE SHORTAGE

The experience of employers when studied along with the experience of the Employment Exchanges may serve of firm up the areas of acute manpower shortages. Information about vacancies cancelled by Employment Exchanges for want of suitable applicants on the live register is an indication of the extent of such shortages. A list of selected occupations based on employer-reports besides Exchange experience is given below :—

This table indicates that acute manpower shortages were experienced in the occupations relating to Physician (General), Maternity Assistant, Pharmacist, Secondary School Teacher, Manual Training Teacher and Physical Instructor.

4. SHORTAGES VIS-A-VIS THE NUMBER OF APPLICANTS
ON THE LIVE REGISTER

Cases often occur, where employers report shortages in a number of occupations in respect of which the Live Registers of Employment Exchanges contain many applicants. This seemingly paradoxical situation is due to the fact that apart from skills, there are other factors like age, experience pay scales mobility etc., which also influences manpower shortages. A list of selected occupations in which employers have experienced shortages despite the availability of candidates with the Employment Exchanges is given below :

5. CONCLUSION

During October-December 1966 there were 344 vacancies reported unfilled due to paucity of suitable and willing applicants a decrease of 19.8% when compared to the corresponding figure of the previous quarter. A little over three-fifths of the hard-to-fill vacancies related to professionals and Technicians and a little over one in every six, to craftsmen and production process workers. Together these two groups accounted for nearly four-fifths of the total hard-to-fill vacancies. It would appear that in almost all the areas of the State the supply of Professionals and Technicians was limited. Only in Madras City and Coimbatore the intensity was less than 50%. Compared to other areas Chingleput experienced significantly intense shortage of craftsmen and production process workers.

Limited as it is in its scope, this study of shortage occupations does not attempt to set them against the overall economic situation of which supply and demand in the labour market is but one part. We need more data covering all the aspects of the problem, before any conclusions can be formulated or appropriate measures initiated. However, the data that have been collected, summarised and analysed in this study will serve to focus attention on certain significant aspects of the manpower situation.

INDUSTRIAL SAFETY

I. BURSTING OF AN ACETYLENE CYLINDER

Six workers were unloading a large mild steel plate weighing about 8 tonnes from a trailer attached to a lorry in the middle bay of the factory building near the main entrance. Only a part of the trailer was inside the shed. While unloading, four workers were on the trailer and two on the ground. The Supervisor was standing on the ground at the rear side of the trailer, opposite to the side where the plate was going to be unloaded. In course of unloading, the plate struck on acetylene cylinder which was brought there with a view to use it for cutting the plate. Being struck by the plate, a part of the metal of the cylinder was folded and forced in. It caused a violent explosion accompanied by fire. Nine of the asbestos cement sheets of the shed and many glass panes on the windows of the office building near the main entrance broke. A door of the office building was forced out from its position and soot marks could be also noticed on nearby materials, trailer tyres, oxygen cylinders and nearby walls. The supervisors, all the four workers on the trailer, one worker on the ground and the lorry worker received severe burn injuries and were sent to the hospital. Six of them including the supervisor subsequently succumbed to their injuries. Three other workers working nearby also received some minor injuries.

The acetylene cylinder was about 260 mm. in diameter, 915 mm. in length and was made of 3.5 mm. thick steel plate. The cylinder was packed with porous inert material and was filled with acetylene dissolved in acetone at a pressure of about 16.9 kg/cm² at 15°C (225 lb/sq. in. at 60°F.). At this pressure dissolved acetylene can be stored without danger, but if the cylinders are exposed to great heat or shocks, there is always a risk of bursting of cylinder or leakage through the cylinder valves or explosions. Acetylene is formed from its elements with considerable absorption of heat and is unstable and liable to explode under pressure. The risk of explosion sharply increases with the increase of pressure.

It appears that the impact of the heavy plate with the cylinder made a cavity in it as well as gave such a tremendous shock as to create unduly high pressure inside and thereby caused the explosion accompanied by fire. The supervisor should have taken care of the cylinder before unloading the plate.

Preventive Measures

- (1) Gas cylinder should be handled carefully. They should not be banged, jolted violently, dropped or thrown about;
- (2) Acetylene gas cylinders should be adequately protected against excessive variations of temperature, direct rays of the sun and continuous dampness;

- (3) Acetylene cylinders should be segregated from oxygen cylinders for storage and empty cylinders should be stored away from the charged cylinders;
- (4) They should be kept in the upright position to prevent loss of acetene.
- (5) For safety and orderliness, cylinders should be stored at assigned locations. They should be stored away from elevators, gangways and locations where heavy moving object may strike them or fall on them;
- (6) Workers should be properly instructed about the handling and storage of the cylinders and informed about the danger arising out of their improper handling and placing.

(Information sent by the Chief Inspector of Factories, West Bengal)

2. IMPROPERLY GUARDED CARDING MACHINE

An accident took place on a carding machine in a waste cotton yarn mill. The machine was stopped for stripping. After stripping it was started without taking care to close the cylinder cover. A worker at the machine saw some cotton waste sticking to the cylinder and when he tried to remove it with his left hand, his hand was drawn inside the cylinder casing and was so badly injured that his forearm had to be amputated.

This accident could have been avoided if the cylinder door of the carding machine was provided with an interlocking arrangement, so that the cylinder could not be set in motion unless the door was closed.

(Information sent by the Chief Inspector of Factories, Andhra Pradesh)

3. FATAL ACCIDENT WHILE DROPPING OF A CUPOLA BOTTOM

In a foundry, a Cupola of 3 tons capacity was charged and about 4 tappings of molten metal were taken. Subsequently tapping spout was blocked and any attempt to poke the spout hole with a steel bar would not enable molten metal to come out for further tappings. So, it was decided to drop the bottom plate of the Cupola which was just supported by a vertical prop. As soon as the prop was pulled the whole charge dropped down and molten metal splashed all over. Seven workers in the vicinity got burn injuries and one of them died in the hospital after about 4 days.

As a preventive measure it is advisable to restrict number of workers to a minimum when a charged Cupola bottom plate is being dropped and protective wear of Asbestos clothes should be given to such workers should be given to such workers. As far as possible, the workers should remain at a sufficient distance from the Cupolas.

(Information sent by the Chief Inspector of Factories, Maharashtra)

4. HANDLING CORROSIVE MATERIALS

A bath containing sulphuric and chromic acid was being used in an acid etch process for nickel plating. From time to time it was necessary to remove some of the liquid from the bath and top it up with fresh acid to maintain the concentration.

The acid was removed by means of an electric pump which delivered into a carboy. The hose used was of 2 in. diameter, and the necks of the carboys were usually 3 in. in diameter. Occasionally a carboy with a much narrower neck was used, and in one of these the 2 in. hose was rather a tight fit. Air could not escape from the carboy as the liquid, was pumped in and, when the carboy was about half full, the build up of pressure forced the hose out of the carboy. Acid was flung about on to persons nearby, all of whom suffered some injury to face and eyes. After this a different hose was used with a diameter small enough to ensure that air displaced by the pumping could escape freely from the carboy.

None of the men engaged in this pumping operation was wearing goggles or an eye shield, as required by the Chemical Works Regulations. The Regulations also require that there should be available means of drenching with water persons splashed with acid, and eye-wash bottles. Obviously these precautions should be taken wherever corrosive liquids are handled, whether regulations apply or not.

(Accidents. U. K. No. 65, October. 1965.)

CURRENT NOTES

INDUSTRIAL COMMITTEE ON ELECTRICITY GAS & POWER

(First Session, New Delhi, 27th May 1967)

MAIN CONCLUSIONS

Item 1: Protection to construction workers engaged in Power Projects.

[i] The Committee discussed at some length the evils of contract labour engaged in the construction sites of power projects.

The Chairman explained that the proposed legislation concerning contract labour would provide the necessary protection in respect of matters like wage payments, provision of amenities like drinking water, canteens, rest houses, etc.

[ii] It was agreed that pools could be formed of construction workers [including technical personnel] likely to be rendered surplus on the completion of a project so that they could be transferred to the work sites of new Projects. Such pools could be created at the State, region or if possible, all-India level.

The Chairman felt that the operation of such a pool at the all-India level, particularly of technical personnel, might not prove practicable.

Item 2: Measures for achieving uniformity in service conditions of employees engaged in the State Electricity Boards.

[i] The State Electricity Boards should take immediate steps to frame the Standing Orders, wherever they do not exist, and get them certified with expedition.

[ii] From the workers' side it was suggested that efforts should be made to ensure uniformity in service conditions. Some members, however, felt that such uniformity might not always be practicable. The question of availability of fringe benefits on a uniform basis was discussed in some detail. It was agreed that a small sub-committee should be set up to go into all aspects of the question of fringe benefits, including facilities available at present, and make recommendations regarding what should constitute the minimum fringe benefits to be provided to workers in these industries. The proposed committee could also suggest how far uniformity in service conditions could be achieved.

Item 3: Procedure of nomination of Employees' representatives to serve on State Electricity Consultative Councils.

It was agreed that the seats of workers' representatives on the State Electricity Consultative Councils, should be allocated on a pro rata basis, after verification of the membership of the trade unions concerns.

Item 4: Safety and Welfare measures in Electricity Gas and Power.

On the question of safety, it was explained that the existing provisions on the subject were based on the standards laid down by the Indian Standards Institution and appeared to be adequate.

The Committee, however, recommended that the standards should be effectively implemented and the employees should be kept informed of these provisions in the regional languages.

As regards welfare, it was explained that the matter would be fully gone into by the committee on Labour Welfare appointed by the Department of Labour and Employment. It would be desirable to await the recommendations of this Committee before considering specific measures in this regard including the proposal for a statutory welfare fund.

Item 5: Absorption of workers of private electricity undertaking after taking over by the Boards.

The Committee recommended that the State Electricity Boards should absorb the existing employees while taking over a private concern provided they were found qualified and suitable.

As far as possible, the service conditions of such employees, including the continuity of their service, should also be maintained if they had not accepted any retrenchment compensation from their previous employers.

There should be no victimisation of employees at the time of taking over a private concern. It was agreed that specific cases in this regard, if any, could be brought to the notice of the Government concerned, to investigate the matter and take necessary steps.

Item 6: Setting up of National Joint Industrial Councils and State Joint Councils.

It was felt that the Industrial Committee itself would serve the purpose of a National Joint Industrial Council and matters of national importance could be brought before it for discussion. Matters relating to individual States should be dealt with at the State level.

Item 7: Implementation of Code of Discipline in Electricity Undertakings/Boards and Gas Companies.

It was felt that there was no need for a new Code. Strict observance of the existing Code of Discipline by both the parties was, however, necessary.

All outstanding issues between the Government of Maharashtra and the employees of the State Electricity Board could be settled through discussions in an amicable manner.

Item 8: Uniformity in applicability of Labour laws regarding working hours, overtime allowance and medical facilities.

The subject was discussed in some detail. The Chairman observed that it would be examined further in all its aspects in the Department of Labour and Employment.

Item 9: Finalisation of Oil Mines Regulations, 1963.

The Committee recommended that the finalisation of the Oil mines Regulations should be expedited.

Item 10: Role of Trade Unions.

No specific conclusion was adopted on the subject as the representatives of unions present at the meeting had no direct experience in respect of oil fields.

MEETING OF TRADE UNION REPRESENTATIVES BY THE

SPECIAL ORIGINAL JURISDICTION

TUESDAY, THE TWENTY FIRST DAY OF FEBRUARY
ONE THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND SIXTY SEVEN

[2nd day of Phalguna, 1888—Saka]

PRESENT :

THE HONOURABLE Mr. JUSTICE KAILASAM

Writ Petition No. 2256 of 1966

Integral Coach Factory Employees Consumers
Co-operative Stores, Madras represented by its President Mr. S. J. Paravas. } Petitioner

Vs.

1. V. Rajan Alwar,
2. The Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation, Mylapore, Madras-4
3. The Presiding Officer, Labour Court, Madras-1 } Respondents

Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India praying that in the circumstances stated therein, and in the affidavit filed therewith the High Court will be pleased to issue a Writ of Certiorari calling for the records connected with the order of the Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation, Madras dated 14th June, 1966 and made in M. S. E. Case No. 124/65 and quash the same with costs.

Order: This Writ Petition coming on for hearing on Thursday 16th February 1967, on Monday 29th February 1967 and this day upon perusing the petition and the affidavit and the supplementary affidavit filed herein and the records in M. S. E. Case No. 124/65 dated 14-6-66 on the file of the second respondent herein and comprised in the return of the respondent 2 and 3 herein to that writ made by the High Court, and upon hearing the arguments of Mr. R. Nadanasabapathy, Advocate for the petitioner and of Mr. T. Selvaraj for the Government Pleader on behalf of the Respondent 2 and 3 and of Mr. G. Venkataraman for M/s. Aiyar and Dolia and S. Ramasubramaniam, Advocate for the 1st respondent the court made the following order:

The petition is filed for the issue of a writ of certiorari calling for the records connected with the order of the Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation, Madras, dated 14th June 1966 and made in M. S. E. Case No. 124 of 1965 and quash the same.

The first respondent Rajan Alwar was working as a bill clerk in the petitioner Co-operative Stores and his services were dismissed with effect from 1st June 1965. The first respondent preferred an appeal against the said order to the Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation, Madras. Notice of the appeal was served on the petitioner and he acknowledged the service but he did not appear to contest the appeal when it was taken up for hearing on 1-6-66. The appeal was heard ex-parte. The Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation found that no proper enquiry had been held by the petitioner society and held that the provisions of section 41[1] of the Madras Shops and Establishments Act, 1947 have been violated and the first respondent had been denied the principles of natural justice. Therefore, he set aside the order of the petitioner dated 1-6-65 dispensing with the services of the first respondent with effect from 1-6-65. Thereafter the petitioner approached the Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation for setting aside the exparte order passed in favour of the first respondent and to re-open the case. The Additional Commissioner dismissed that petition holding that there was no provision in the Madras Shops and Establishments Act for re-opening a case heard ex-parte. The present writ petition is filed against the order of the Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation dated 14-6-66 which was passed in the absence of the petitioner.

It is admitted that there is no provision either in the Madras Shops and Establishments Act or the Rules framed thereunder for re-opening a case, which has been once decided by the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation. It is submitted that as the petitioner had no reasonable opportunity to put forward his case, when the appeal was heard by the Commissioner the principles of natural justice have been violated and that and that this Court would be justified in interfering even if the Shops and Establishments Act contains no provisions for re-opening a case once disposed of. This contention, if accepted, would lead to strange results. If the Commissioner had entertained a petition for re-opening the case, even though the Rules do not provide for such re-opening any writ petition filed against the order of the Commissioner entertaining such a petition would have to be allowed on the ground that the Commissioner had no jurisdiction. If the contention of the petitioner is accepted that this Court would be entitled to re-open a case even in the absence of any provisions in the Act in order to provide a reasonable opportunity to the petitioner to put forward his case, this would mean that even in the absence of any provision either in the Act or the rules for re-opening a case this Court would be directing the Additional Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation to re-open case. The result would be that this Court would be doing exactly the opposite of what it would have done if the Additional Commissioner had re-opened the case.

In Abdul Khadir Hadjar, V. A. K. Murthy (1947-II M. L. J. 482) a Bench of this Court had to consider the question whether under the Madras Buildings [Lease and Rent Control] Act an appellate authority can set aside its own ex-parte order on the appeal. The bench held that there were no provision in the Act and that the ex-parte order cannot be set aside. It was contended before the Bench that a Writ of certiorari is a matter of discretion and that although the Court may be satisfied that the appellate authority had no jurisdiction to set aside its own ex parte order nevertheless, in the circumstances of the case, a writ should issue. It was observed [at 487].

"In my view, there is nothing which justifies an order for the issue of a writ being withheld. So far as the applicant is concerned, he has certainly shown that he is not disentitled to it. He placed (the) his objection before the Learned Chief Judge against setting aside the order in appeal and immediately he came to this Court thereafter. In the present instance, if an order was not made, the effect would be that, whilst this Court considers that the learned Chief Judge had no jurisdiction to set aside his order in appeal and to direct a further hearing, the further hearing before the learned Judge would be held, which this court holds he has no jurisdiction to direct."

That without a specific provisions in the enactment, the authority had no jurisdiction to set aside an ex-parte order was held by a bench of this Court in Koti Reddi V. Venkayya (A. I. R. 1951 Madras 818). The matter arose in respect of an Election Petition under the District Board Act. In Tirumalai Naidu Vs Challapathi Naidu (1957 I. MLJ. 849) a single Judge of this Court held that in the absence of a specific provisions in the Madras Cultivating Tenant Protection Act, the Revenue Divisional Officer had no power to set aside ex-parte orders passed by him and restore the application for being re-heard. In coming to this conclusion the learned Judge followed the views of this Court expressed in W. P. No. 560 of 1964 and 520 of 1964.

It was contended by the strength of Nimai Chairman Vs Sham Mohan. (AIR.) 1958 Orissa 254, that the High Court exercising its powers under Article 227 of the Constitution India, has very wide powers and can interfere and restore applications which were dismissed for default even though the Tribunal may not have such powers.

In view of the Bench decision of this Court in Abdul Khadir Hadjar V. A. K. Murthy (1947. II. MLJ. 482) the decision of the Orissa High Court cited above, cannot be said to be good law.

In the result, the writ petition is dismissed but in the circumstances there will be no order as to costs.

SALIENT FEATURE OF THE REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE FACTORIES ACT 1948 AND MADRAS MATERNITY BENEFIT ACT
 1934 FOR THE YEAR 1965

1. Factories and workers employed therein :—At the beginning of the year, there were 6870 factories on the registers. During the year only 447 factories were brought on the registers as against 477 factories removed from the registers, thereby leaving 6840 factories at the end of the year. Out of these 6840 factories covered by the Act, 6488 factories were alone in commission.

2. Employment :—The average daily number of workers employed in 6259 factories, which were in commission at the end of the year was 3,78,058.

3. Registration and Licensing of Factories : During the year under report licences issued to the Factories for the year 1964 were renewed and fresh licences were issued to factories newly brought under the purview of the Act. A sum of Rs. 15,33,233 was collected as licence fees under the Factories Act, 1948.

4. Health and Safety :—All possible efforts have been taken by the Inspectorate to safeguard the general health of the workers and to protect them against occupational hazards and industrial diseases.

Generally a fair standard of sanitation and cleanliness has been maintained in the majority of the Factories. Where necessary Inspectors have issued directions to occupiers to improve them.

Adequate steps were taken to mitigate dust, fumes, mists, gases and vapours in factories wherever necessary. In work rooms where there is an evolution of dust, fumes, vapours, mists or gases, besides improving general ventilation suggestions have been given to provide local exhaust ventilation to collect the dust, fumes or vapours at source and dispose them suitably. In factories where contaminants are highly dangerous, fumes cupboards have been suggested for separating the entire process and exhaust the fumes. Surveys have been conducted in factories to find out the adequacy and suitability of personal protective equipment supplied to workers working in areas where they are exposed to dust, fumes, mists, vapour and gases. Wherever such protective equipment have not been supplied, instructions were issued for the supply on the basis of such surveys. In processes where the contaminants are highly dangerous regulations of the working hours of the workers exposed to the fumes, dust, vapours mists, and gases have been introduced in such a way that no worker is exposed to inhale the contaminants to an extent greater than the safe level.

5. Fencing and other Safety Measures :—Fencing and guarding of machinery contained to receive active attention of the inspectors with the tendering of advice and instructions to the Managements of Factories in the provision and up-keep of fences and guards. The necessary type of guards to be provided have been explained to the managements in detail in order to secure compliance with the statutory provisions. The advice tendered continued to receive due attention and compliance from the Managements with the result that the fencing of dangerous parts of Machinery etc. was fairly satisfactory.

6. Complaints :—The Inspectors enquired into 767 complaints lodged by individual workers, trade unions etc. and took suitable action wherever necessary.

7. Labour Welfare :—Washing and canteen facilities as prescribed under the Act and lockers and housing facilities have been provided in most of the factories.

Rest rooms and creches are provided in most of the factories which employ more than 150 workers and 50 women workers respectively.

8. Drinking water :—Adequate supply of wholesome drinking water in the factories was ensured with particular attention paid to the cooling of water and its hygienic distribution.

9. Education :—Some of the big factories are maintaining Night Schools and Elementary Schools or making donations to Schools catering to their workers' children. In some cases, subsidies are handed out towards fees or for the purchase of books for the workers' children.

10. Medical Facilities :—Apart from the medical facilities provided by the Employees State Insurance Scheme, Some of the factories including those in areas where the scheme has not been implemented, have provided medical facilities to their workers.

11. Activities to Minimise Accidents :—The primary objective of the Government is to ensure complete safety for all workers in industry, in this State and during the year the Inspectors have played an increasingly prominent part in assisting and advising factory managements on the several problems, associated with industrial safety.

The Inspectorate has been devoting attention to accidents prevention work and inculcating safety consciousness in the minds of the workers, supervisors and managements by enlisting their co-operation by :

1. Conducting courses on industry safety. During this year 4 courses on industrial safety, were conducted of which 3 courses were in collaboration with the Regional Labour Institute, Madras.
2. Forming safety committees in factories for the purpose of internal investigation of accidents and the adoption of preventive measure and creating safety consciousness among workers; the Committees meet regularly and work satisfactorily.
3. Exhibiting films on safety, to workers.
4. Issuing booklets in Tamil on Rules for prevention of accidents in industries and "Keep it clean" for distribution amongst workers.

5. Inculcating safety consciousness even while under training amongst Craftsman by giving talks to the senior boys in Industrial Training Institutes on accidents prevention and safe methods of working.

At the suggestion of the Government of India the following schemes were formulated and sanctioned by the Madras Government. The schemes will be implemented from the award year 1966.

It is gratifying to note that quite a good number of factories have evinced interest in accident prevention and safety programme.

*To obtain the index number with 1944 as base year the figures given here need be multiplied by 1.42 in the case of Food index and 1.38 in the case of General Index. This implies that for this purpose the series with base 1944=100 that used to be published simultaneously but has since been discontinued, is linked to the above series at the year 1949. Thus the all-India index on base 1944=100 during the month of April 1967 was 278.76.
