2. I approve of your suggestion to extend the privilege of subsistence allowance to any step-children of soldiers who are the children of soldiers, without regard to the fact that the father did not happen to have served and died in India.

STAFF CORPS—PROBATIONERS.

G. O. G., No. 563 of 30th August, 1875.—The following General Orders by the Government of India are re-published:—

Simla, 18th August, 1875, No. 839.—Under the authority of Her Majesty's Government, it is hereby notified that the period of service required to qualify an Officer of a British Regiment, as a probationer for the Staff Corps, will be reckoned from the date when the Officer entered the Army as a Sub-Lieutenant.

This order is applicable to all three Presidencies.

PASSAGE.

No. 842.—Under instructions from the Secretary of State for India, it is notified for general information that Officers promoted from the ranks in India are allowed free conveyance for their families on the first voyage or journey which they may be called upon to make on duty subsequent to promotion.

PROMOTION—OFFICERS—CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION.

Simla, 20th August, 1875, No. 848.—In the G. O. G. quoted in the margin, rules were laid down

No. 212 of 1867.† for the investigation of claims preferred by officers of the Indian Army
No. 607 of 1867.‡ for compensation for loss of sums paid up to the 18th February, 1861, for the purchase of promotion.

* Madras G. O. G., 27th October, 1863, No. 381.
† " " 12th March, 1867, No. 106.
‡ " " 21st June, 1867, No. 261.

2. These claims were restricted to officers of the late Indian Artillery and Engineers below the grade of Colonel-Commandant or Colonel with Colonel's allowance, and officers of the Cavalry and Infantry, including the new Line Corps and the several Staff Corps, below the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, and they were made subject to the following deductions:—

I.—Of all sums paid to officers transferred to the invalid establishment.

II.—Of the advantages of pay gained by accelerated promotion.

III.—Of the value of any special annuity received on retirement.

IV.—Of the amount a retired or retiring officer might have received, or might expect to receive, from the juniors of his regiment or cadre, or from his regimental retiring fund.

3. The Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council is now pleased to promulgate for general information the following extract of a Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 165 of 24th June, 1875, withdrawing wholly, or in part, the first three of the above deductions, and removing in certain cases the restrictions as to rank:

"The principles upon which the revision is to be made are as follows:

"The claims made by each officer must be carefully investigated, and shown upon sufficient evidence to represent, and be limited to, sums actually paid by him in the course of his service towards purchasing the retirement of his seniors or their transfer to the invalid establishment.

"The reduction heretofore made on account of the value of accelerated promotion is to be withdrawn.

"The objection on account of any special annuity granted by the Government on the officer's retirement, except in cases such as those of the General Order of the 1st January, 1875, where the stipulation is distinctly made, is also to be withdrawn.

"A claim to bonus compensation advanced by an officer above the regimental rank of Major is only to be admitted in cases where the claimant can produce satisfactory evidence that had he retired from the service on or before 18th February, 1861, in the regimental rank in which he ultimately retired, he would, under the established practice of the regiment or branch of the service to which he belonged, have received a bonus on retirement from his brother officers not less than the amount of subscription the refund of which he now claims. Officers will still be debited with any sums they may receive from their brother officers on retirement, and no officer whose retirement from the service may be compulsory will be considered entitled to compensation for loss of bonus."

4. In accordance with this decision, all claims hitherto received and disposed of in India from the year 1867 up to the present time will be carefully revised by Committees in the three Presidencies.

5. The proceedings of the Committees will be regulated by instructions which will be furnished to them hereafter.

6. Any sums due to officers under this revision will be paid in India if the officers are residing in this country, and at the India Office, if they are residing in Europe.

7. All applications under this order from officers who have hitherto made no claims, and all claims by officers who may retire in future, must be made (in the case of the latter after their retirement) direct to the Secretary of State for India.

* Madras G. O. G., No. 174, dated 16th March, 1875.

PENSIONS—LORD CLIVE'S FUND.

G. O. G., No. 616 of 27th September, 1875.—The following General Order by the Government of India is re-published:—

Simla, 15th September, 1875, No. 927.—A question having been raised whether the benefits of pension from the fund formerly known as "Lord Clive's Fund" would be barred to the widow of an officer who had taken up a life assurance for the benefit of his children, the policy being handed over to trustees, in order to remove all doubt, it is notified that the Secretary of State for India has ruled that the money accruing to an officer's estate from a life assurance, though it may be placed in trust for a specific purpose, virtually forms part of personal estate, and is to be treated accordingly.

A declaration in the following form should in future accompany all applications for admission to the benefits of Lord Clive's Fund, in lieu of that published in G. O. G., No. 877 of 16th September, 1862:—

FORM OF DECLARATION.

The admission is, and always has been, dependent on certificates that the number of chargers included in the allowance have actually been kept up. It was not considered necessary to specify this in the G. O. G., No. 71 of 19th January, 1875, which in no way affected previous rules and usage respecting horse allowance."

HOME ORDERS.

G. O. C. C., 1st September, 1875.—The following extract from General Orders by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India is re-published:—

Simla, 14th August, 1875.—Attention is called to the following Home Orders:—

G. O., 40—Discharges.

G. O., 42—Manual of Field Artillery Exercises—revised edition of.

G. O., 43—Officers' Dress—alteration in Dress Regulations, 1874.

G. O. C. C., 6th September, 1875.—The following General Order by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India is re-published:—

Simla, 26th August, 1875.—The following General Order by the Government of India in the Military Department is re-published:—

No. 848, dated 20th August, 1875.—In the G. O., quoted in the margin, rules were laid down for the investigation of claims preferred by officers of the late Indian Army for compensation for loss of sums paid up to the 18th February, 1861, for the purchase of promotion.

2. These claims were restricted to officers of the late Indian Artillery and Engineers below the grade of Colonel Commandant or Colonel with Colonel's allowance, and to officers of the Cavalry and Infantry, including the new Line Corps and the several Staff Corps, below the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, and they were made subject to the following deductions:—

I.—Of all sums paid to officers transferred to the invalid establishment.

II.—Of the advantages of pay gained by accelerated promotion.

III.—Of the value of any special annuity received on retirement.

IV.—Of the amount a retired or retiring officer might have received, or might expect to receive, from the juniors of his regiment or cadre, or from his regimental retiring fund.

3. The Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council is now pleased to promulgate for general information the following extract of a Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 165 of 24th June 1875, withdrawing wholly, or in part, the first three of the above deductions, and removing in certain cases the restrictions as to rank:

"The principles upon which the revision is to be made are as follows:

"The claims made by each officer must be carefully investigated, and shown upon sufficient evidence to represent, and be limited to, sums actually paid by him in the course of his service towards purchasing the retirement of his seniors or their transfer to the invalid establishment.

"The deduction heretofore made on account of the value of accelerated promotion is to be withdrawn.

"The objection on account of any special annuity granted by the Government on the officer's retirement, except in cases such as those of the General Order of the 1st January, 1875, where the stipulation is distinctly made, is also to be withdrawn.

"A claim to bonus compensation advanced by an officer above the regimental rank of Major is only to be admitted in cases where the claimant can produce satisfactory evidence that had he retired from the service on or before the 18th February, 1861, in the regimental rank in which he ultimately retired, he would, under the established practice of the regiment or branch of the service to which he belonged, have received a bonus on retirement from his brother officers not less than the amount of subscription the refund of which he now claims. Officers will still be debited with any sums they may receive from their brother officers on retirement, and no officer whose retirement from the service may be compulsory will be considered entitled to compensation for loss of bonus."

4. In accordance with this decision, all claims hitherto received and disposed of in India from the year 1867 up to the present time will be carefully revised by committees in the three presidencies.

5. The proceedings of the committees will be regulated by instructions which will be furnished to them hereafter.

6. Any sums due to officers under this revision will be paid in India if the officers are residing in this country, and at the India Office, if they are residing in Europe.

7. All applications under this order from officers who have hitherto made no claims, and all claims by officers who may retire in future, must be made (in the case of the latter after their retirement) direct to the Secretary of State for India.

COMPLIMENTARY ORDER.

G. O. C. C., 22nd September, 1875.—Extract from Division Orders by Major-General Borton, C.B., Commanding Mysore Division.

Bangalore, 15th September, 1875.—Major-General Borton cannot resign the command of the Mysore Division, which he has held with so much satisfaction during the past five years, without placing on record the high sense which he entertains of the support which he has received, at all times, from the officers who have, from time to time, been placed in command of corps, and at the head of the several departments.

He more especially desires to convey his best thanks to those who are now serving under him.

The duties of the Assistant Adjutant-General and Assistant Quartermaster-General have been performed with equal zeal and ability by Lieutenant-Colonel Arbuthnot and Lieutenant-Colonel Mesham.

* Madras G. O. G., 12th March, 1867, No. 106.

† " " 21st June, 1867, No. 261.

The Deputy Surgeons-General of both the British and Indian Medical Departments have been indefatigable in their exertions to maintain the health of the troops. The Commissariat and Barrack Departments have performed their duties most efficiently, and the Officers Commanding corps and batteries have exerted themselves so successfully to maintain discipline and promote the general efficiency of their men that His Excellency, Sir F. P. Haines, the Commander-in-Chief, was pleased to express his marked approval of the state of the troops at his recent inspection of this Garrison.

Major-General Burton will always look back to the period of his command of the Mysore Division with unminged satisfaction, and retain a lively interest in its welfare.

So large a portion of the Madras Army has, in the course of Major-General Burton's tenure of command, served in the Mysore Division, that his local order on relinquishing that high position cannot fail to be of public interest in this Presidency. The Commander-in-Chief therefore publishes to the Army the above Mysore Division Order, and, in doing so, has much gratification in recording his sense of the sound judgment General Burton has ever displayed both in enforcing the discipline and in maintaining the efficiency of the troops that have served under him.

His Excellency cordially acknowledges the loyal and ready support which has always been afforded him by Major-General Burton on all occasions involving doubt or difficulty. No Officer could be more solicitous for the comfort, welfare and good name of those placed under his command than Major-General Burton. The good wishes of all follow him, and in these the Commander-in-Chief heartily joins.

MUSKETRY—NATIVE.

No. 258.—The following alterations and additions to the "Rifle Exercises and Musketry Instruction for Native Troops, 1875," are sanctioned, and the necessary corrections are to be made in all copies of the same in possession of officers and regiments.

Rifle Exercises.

Page 66.—The instructions given in the addendum at page 66, for slinging arms in the shelter trench exercise from the sentence in italics, commencing with the words "the Left Sling from," are cancelled, and the following instructions therefor, as laid down in Section XIV, page 355, Field Exercise, 1874, are to be inserted instead:—

The ranks having been opened, and arms brought to "The Advance" (or "Shoulder" with the short rifle):—

For shelter-trench exercise, by numbers. Sling—Arms. { On the word arms, with the left hand seize the sling in line with the shoulder, raising the rifle a few inches as in the first motion of "The Present Arms" (or of "The shoulder" from "The advance" with the long rifle).

Two.

{ Raising the rifle, first pass the head and then the right arm between the sling and the rifle.
Place the sling over the left shoulder, and let the rifle hang diagonally across the back, the muzzle pointing upwards; then quit the sling and bring the hand to the side.

Order—Arms.

{ Seize the sling with the left hand in line with the shoulder, raising the rifle at the same time with the right hand by the small of the butt.

Two.

{ Pass the sling over the head, and come to "The Order."
[In escalating, the rifles are slung according to this drill; but each rank slings the rifle on the outer shoulder.]

Musketry Instruction.

"If a recruit, when firing in the first period, should, in the opinion of the officer superintending, make such bad practice as to show that he is not sufficiently prepared for it by the preliminary drills, his further practice may be suspended at any time before he has completed his first ten rounds, and, with the approval of the commandant, he may be put through a further course of aiming and position drills, and blank firing."

"The performances up to the stage at which his firing was suspended are to be cancelled and scored out in the register, and the cause briefly stated therein in the column "Total points."

"Recruits so put back for further drill are to conclude their judging distance practice with the squad they originally commenced with."

To para. 16.—Add "The number of drills to be performed is left to the discretion of commandants, they should be continued till the men are thoroughly instructed in the principles and rules to be observed in judging distances."

Add para. 41A.—In the cavalry, trained soldiers will always proceed to the ranges mounted. Target practice will then be carried out on the principle laid down in paragraph 9, Part II, Section 23, "Dismounted Service," Appendix A to H. G. O., No. 46 of 1875, (made applicable to India by G. O. C. C.,* dated 24th July, 1875, page 341), of which a copy is given at foot. Officers superintending the practice will, at discretion, direct the men to fire holding their own horses, or being held by the files not firing, according to the degree of training attained by the horses in steadiness, or by the men in shooting.

In all cases of blank firing the men's horses should be present.

Copy of para. 9, Appendix A to H. G. O., No. 46 of 1875:—

"In order to carry out dismounted service in any position, every horse should be trained to stand fire quietly, while his dismounted rider fires either at his side or immediately in front of him. Most horses will, with but little practice, stand perfectly still with a heavy fire going on close to their heads, while in the ranks; but when detached some naturally shy horses are very awkward."

"By gradually reducing the number of horses near them, however, awkward or shy horses will generally in a short time stand quietly when out of the ranks."

Para. 178, 4th line.—Delete the words "keeping the register," and insert "superintending the practice."

Para. 199, Clause A.—After "1st class" insert—"commencing at 450 instead of 400 yards;" and in second line before "distances" insert "other."

Add para. 306A.—"In order to avoid the performances of a soldier appearing in the returns of more than one company, those of any man unavoidably transferred subsequent to the preparation of company returns with others be shown in the company with which he performed target practice."

"Should the transfer be the best judge of distances in the company with which he performed that practice, all his performances will still be shown in his new company, and a remark:—"Performed judging distance practice with and best judge of distances in ———company," should appear in the annual return.

"It will only be necessary to report performances of a transfer to another wing or regiment, which is to be done immediately by the Wing Officer giving the transfer, in manuscript, in the same form as the company return."

Return Form F.—Annual Musketry Practice Return, 2nd page, column headed—"Points obtained by each man in Target Practice in the," omit "1st class" after third period.

Officers drawing passage money at any of the above rates are required to attach to the contingent bill, to be submitted to the Presidency Pay Office at the port of embarkation, the ship's agent's acknowledgment that the necessary accommodation has been secured, and also when the overland rates are drawn, the following certificate:—

CAMP OF EXERCISE—DELHI.

G. O. C. C., 2nd October, 1875.—The following General Orders, by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are re-published:—

Simla, 6th September, 1875.—With reference to the approaching Camp of Exercise at Delhi, the Right Honorable the Commander-in-Chief desires the attention of General and Commanding Officers to the following instructions:—

Infantry attack in open country.

1. All plans for attack (or defence) must be based on as perfect a knowledge of the ground and disposition of the enemy as can be obtained from existing maps and by close reconnaissance.

2. A well considered and clearly defined project of attack must be prepared and communicated by the general officer commanding, to officers commanding divisions, brigades or regiments, as the case may be; and by the commanding officers of regiments to commanders of companies. Every disposition preparatory to attack must be carefully completed; and the directing body and objective point named, before the final signal for advance is given. When once committed to the attack, it must be steadily carried through to its ultimate issue, without hesitation or delay, and as rapidly as the circumstances demand or permit.

3. It may be well to give the men brief breathing space, either lying down, or under cover if it be available, just before entering the zone of effective infantry fire.

4. Brigades will generally consist of three regiments, and the regiments be divided into eight companies.

5. The order of battle, preparatory to entering the zone of artillery fire, will be to pass from columns of route, covered by advanced guards and flanking parties, to a line of brigades in mass at battalion deploying distance, and thirty paces; the battalions advancing in double columns from their respective centres.

6. On entering the zone of artillery fire at from 3,000 to 2,500 yards, the two centre companies of the leading battalions will extend in rank entire, with one pace between each man, so as to cover the front of the battalion when deployed; followed as a support, at a distance from 100 to 200 yards, by the next two leading companies similarly extended.

7. The remainder of the battalion deployed, but with company intervals, will follow at a distance of 200 or 300 yards.

8. The centre regiments of brigades will form the second line, and deployed in line, (with the exception of the flank battalions which will advance in double column of companies from their outer flanks, or in column from the outer flanks of half battalions) will support the first line, following the reserve of that line at a distance of about 500 to 600 yards.

9. The rear regiments of brigades will follow in original formation in a line of double columns, at a distance of from 500 to 600 yards.

10. The attacking force would as a rule be superior to the defence. In case, however, of the front not being sufficiently extended to overlap the flank or flanks of the defence, as may be desired, the required extension of the firing line must be directed on the formation of line of battle, according to project of attack and configuration of ground, from battalions in 2nd line either in the centre, or on the flanks. Any extension, however, after movement, or committal to attack, must be on the flanks. In such cases the 3rd battalions of brigades would move up to 2nd line in immediate support to the leading battalions of its own brigade. Should a flank attack or other strategical movement be projected, the troops for the same would be previously told off, conveniently located, and not mixed up with those detailed to carry out the frontal attack.

11. So soon as opportunity offers, the general commanding the attack must avail himself of the utmost concentrated artillery fire at his command, directed by the officer commanding that arm, to keep down the fire of the enemy and cover the infantry advance as far as practicable.

12. It is of great importance that the firing line should advance as rapidly as possible over the space under artillery and extreme musketry fire, to within the effective range of four or five hundred yards. Men advancing to the attack firing at long ranges against an enemy in position, uselessly expend ammunition, which, under fire, cannot be replaced, and unnecessarily suffer loss by retarding the rapidity of the advance.

13. The firing line advancing under musketry fire to effective range, must do so on the principles and in any one of the forms, according to the nature of the ground, laid down for skirmishing in the Field Exercises.

14. Gaps in the firing line will be filled by men from the support, which must rapidly follow the first line, by the alternate forward movement of companies or other named bodies, invariably lying down or availing themselves of cover when not moving. To insure the continuous maintenance of the first line in strength, the majors in command of the half battalions will remain with the support.

ing company of their half battalions, and be responsible for the feeding of the firing line until its arrival within about 300 yards of the enemy, when the whole of this supporting line will push forward and join the firing line; the reserve under the commanding officer reducing its distance from the front, and if necessary, reinforcing the attacking line, at the moment previous to advancing to the final assault.

15. Captains of companies must be as little interfered with as possible in their legitimate commands, while to the field officers, on such occasions, especially appertains the keeping up of the communication, the provision of reinforcements, and the maintenance of the firing line intact.

Nothing in modern warfare requires more attention than the control of fire, and while captains command the companies, the subalterns and non-commissioned officers must throughout use their utmost exertions to control the fire of the men of half companies, and sections, immediately near them, and be continually on the watch to keep the right direction. The officer commanding the body of direction will adopt the necessary measures for maintaining the line of direction on the named objective point.

16. Should the leading line of battalions become entirely engaged, the second line must move up to support, and to this line in its advance especially belongs, in conjunction with the cavalry, the protection of the flanks of the attack. As any serious flank attack must be felt along the whole front, the flank battalions, in column, must always be ready to move out and meet any such movement; their place in second line will be immediately filled up from the following battalion of the same brigade in the third line; or if such attack is more serious than can be disposed of by a single corps, it must be met by movements directed by the general officer in command of the flank division.

17. On attainment of a position, the officer commanding must secure and profit by the advantages gained; the existing object of the fight may be followed up; but the troops immediately engaged must as soon as possible be reformed, and in case of further action fresh troops should be employed from those in the reserve lines.

18. It will be observed that these remarks generally apply only to the attack of an enemy in a defensive position in open country. Contingencies of war varying with country, and circumstances may not require such special procedure, but there is nothing in these instructions prohibitive of that free scope given in the regulations to every commander to use the troops, trained as they are for every contingency, in that manner which the speciality of the occasion or position demands, and which is fully provided for in the Field Exercises.

Infantry defence.

19. The dispositions for defence must depend on the nature of the ground to be held. It may be assumed that there will be some natural cover, in a position taken up for defence, or that its absence will be compensated for by shelter trenches or artificial cover of some kind. Behind this shelter the defenders should be so placed that they shall be able to use their rifles with the greatest effect and accuracy, which would probably be with intervals of a pace between each man. The supports should be as near as possible, so as to have the minimum of exposure in moving up to supply vacancies, or to reinforce the firing line.

20. In a defensive position, with available cover, the distances of the approaching attack will probably be known, and so soon as within range it should be plied with the maximum amount of steadily aimed musketry fire, supported by artillery, and commanding positions in advance of the main defence should be strongly held and maintained. No favorable opportunity should be lost of making a counter-attack with the supports or reserves and of turning the defensive into an offensive movement.

Artillery.

21. Artillery covering an attack should come into action on a flank to avoid as far as possible its fire being masked by its own troops. It will, however, occasionally happen that it must fire over its own infantry as the latter approaches the enemy's position, and, the range having been correctly determined, this can be done with safety until the infantry have commenced their final rush.

22. Artillery having got within effective range should make as few movements as possible. Short advances should never be made merely for the sake of the slight increase of accuracy due to the shorter range, as it does not compensate for the loss of time in moving, and obtaining the range from the new position.

23. It has been held that as a general rule artillery should not fire against artillery, but, like other rules, it has a great many exceptions.

24. If artillery were supporting an attack on a position or body of the enemy, its first object of fire would be that part of the enemy directly opposed to the attacking force or holding the objective point on which the attack was directed. The officer commanding the artillery would also consider what proportion of his artillery he should direct on such other parts of the enemy as could direct a fire to impede the advance of the attack, whether that fire was one of infantry or artillery.

25. If the attack would be subject to greater obstruction from the enemy's supporting artillery than from the direct defence, then undoubtedly that artillery should be engaged by the artillery of the attack.

26. If the direct defence is partly composed of artillery, that of course ought to be silenced if possible.

27. After the supporting artillery have done their best to damage the immediate front attacked, or soon as their fire becomes masked by their own attack, they should direct it on such part of the enemy, either artillery or the reserves, which would best prevent their supporting the defence.

28. The artillery of the defence may have favorable opportunities of disabling the enemy's guns in their advance or when coming into action, before the infantry of the attack has advanced within effective range, and such opportunities should not be lost; but when the attacking infantry has come within effective range, the artillery of the defence should as a rule direct its fire on them only.

UMPIRE RULES.

The following are the rules to be observed by the Umpire Staff at the forthcoming manoeuvres:—

1. The Umpire Staff will be distinguished by a broad white band round the right arm, above the elbow, and will appear in "Field Day Order."

2. All orders from the Umpire Staff are to be considered as directly emanating from the Umpire-in-Chief, and are to be carried out with alacrity.

3. Umpires, on the evening before a day's operations, will receive copies of the "Special Orders" communicated to generals commanding divisions and brigades; they must consider these orders strictly confidential. Generals commanding divisions and brigades will impart to the Umpires attached to them their intentions, and keep them informed throughout the day's proceedings of any proposed alterations.

4. Umpires will decide on the spot all questions connected with artillery, cavalry or infantry.

5. No general or other officer commanding a brigade, regiment, or battery, is, on any account, to enter into a discussion with the Umpires, who on their part must avoid offering any criticism on the manner in which the troops are handled.

6. An Umpire, with one or two assistants, will be attached to every brigade, and, if possible, to any independent body of troops. Each Umpire should be acquainted with the strength and position of the different portions of the body to which he is attached. When there is a prospect of collision, the Umpires from each side should meet, and, after communicating the strength and position of their forces, decide which is to retire.

7. When two Umpires differ in opinion regarding a decision, lots are to be drawn on the spot as to which is to be acted upon; the senior present will deliver the decision as that of both.

8. Assistant Umpires attached to Umpires will assist them in ascertaining the strength and position of the troops, the number of guns in position, and the object on which such guns are firing. They are not entitled to give a decision, but can, on their own authority, in order to prevent a collision, order a body of troops to halt until the decision of the nearest Umpire is communicated.

9. Loss is to be estimated by half troops, half companies, a gun, or other larger units. Such units should at once be marched to their own camp or bivouac, and remain out of action the remainder of the day.

10. The Umpires will decide on the actual present circumstances, without a reference to their effect on the general course of the manoeuvres. At the conclusion of a day's proceedings Umpires will forward to the Secretary of the Umpire-in-Chief a brief and concise report of the day's proceedings, accompanied by a statement of the circumstances connected with any decision they may have given, together with a sketch of the positions of the troops at starting, and at the points of attack; and at the close of the day, these positions will be recorded on the general map in the Umpire's tent, and shown by Kriegspiel pieces for the information of the Umpire-in-Chief, whose final decision will be subsequently promulgated.

PRINCIPLES TO GUIDE THE UMPIRE STAFF.

(These are given as general guides, and must be modified at the discretion of the Umpires, to suit the varying conditions which will occur.)

11. If infantry are judiciously posted in a strong position, but without more cover than is afforded by the accidents of the ground, they cannot be dislodged by a front attack by less force than 2 to 1. The attacking force will lose 1-4th of its strength if unsuccessful, 1-6th if successful. The defending force will lose 1-3th if dislodged.

12. If infantry are posted behind a shelter trench, bank, or other equivalent cover, suitably disposed, they cannot be dislodged by a less force than 3 to 1. The attacking force will lose 1-3rd of its strength if unsuccessful, 1-4th if successful. The defending force will lose 1-4th if dislodged. These attacks (paras. 11 and 12) must be prepared by artillery.

106 GENERAL ORDERS BY COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.—1875.

13. If troops in position are attacked in flank in sufficient force, they must retire.
14. Cavalry cannot attack infantry in formation unless they take them in flank or rear, or by surprise. If for a tactical reason it is necessary for cavalry to attack infantry in formation otherwise than as above stated, they will be held to have lost 2-3rds of their force.
15. Cavalry and artillery must not remain halted under the effective fire of infantry or artillery. Effective Fire of Arms:—Infantry—700; Artillery, F. A.—2,500; H. A.—2,000; Cavalry dismounted—400.
16. Artillery limbered up, unsupported, when attacked in flank by cavalry, are to be considered taken. Cavalry attacking artillery in position in front except in skirmishing order, are to be considered repulsed.
17. Guns limbered up, if unsupported or weakly protected, may be captured by infantry skirmishers.
18. The fire of four companies would put hors-de-combat a number equal to a company of infantry or a squadron of cavalry, not under cover, in ten minutes, at a range of 500 yards.
19. A battery of artillery firing at infantry or cavalry halted, in close formation, at 1,500 yards, will put hors-de-combat a number equal to a company of infantry or squadron of cavalry, in ten minutes.
20. Twelve men well posted will prevent the passage of a defile, such as a hollow road, or bridge by cavalry, until driven back by a superior dismounted force.

DESTROYING AND REPAIRING OF BRIDGE.

21. If the necessary tools and materials have been brought to the spot, a bridge can be destroyed in a quarter of an hour. When practicable, an Umpire will always visit a bridge about to be destroyed or repaired, and, if on the spot, will decide when the demolition or repair is complete; if no Umpire is present, the means that have been adopted and the time occupied is to be stated in writing, and left in charge of one of the party, who will wear a white distinguishing mark on his left arm, and will be considered as a neutral.
22. (a) If ready prepared materials are supposed to have been brought to the spot (which will be indicated by the presence of sufficient wagons and sappers), or if such materials are clearly on the spot, a bridge can be repaired in half an hour.
- (b) If materials have to be collected, one and a half hours. It may be possible, however, to collect sufficient materials for the passage of infantry in half an hour.

SHELTER TRENCHES.

23. If circumstances will not allow of the troops actually throwing up trenches, they must be indicated by white tape stretched on pickets, about 3 feet high. It must be seen to the satisfaction of the Umpires that the necessary transport for tools was on the spot. A shelter trench can be made available in half an hour.
24. When troops are prevented deploying by corps, tabbood ground or other accidents which would not prevent their doing so in actual war, they may, if the commanding officer wishes it, be considered deployed.

RULES TO BE OBSERVED BY THE TROOPS.

25. The opposing forces will be dressed in different colors.
26. If no Umpire is present when a doubtful point occurs, a general officer or brigadier may send for one, the troops remaining halted till he arrives.
27. No troops are to approach within 150 yards of an opposing force (except in a flank attack from cover when 100 is the limit), and no firing of any sort to be allowed at a less distance. As a general rule, except in a flank attack, the weaker body should retire; if for any reason it does not do so before the limit laid down is attained, the opposing forces are to halt, order arms, and wait until the Umpire decides which is to fall back.
28. Beaten cavalry must retire at a trot. Victorious cavalry may follow at a walk at 300 yards distance.
29. When infantry are defeated by infantry (according to the Umpire's decision) the victors may pursue at 300 yards distance. The defeated infantry cannot reform for attack until they have been rallied in rear of supporting troops, or shelter.
30. The "Cease Fire" and "Halt" are on no account to be sounded by any regiment for the purpose of carrying out regimental details, but words of command only are to be issued.

31. In action, infantry are never to fix bayonets or cavalry draw swords.
32. Villages with troops formed in front of them are to be considered as occupied.
33. All hurry or forced rate of marching (except in reinforcing skirmishers or seizing a position under fire) is to be prevented.
34. It is essential that the most economical use of ammunition should be inculcated and enforced. Infantry will not commence operations with more than 15 rounds in pouches (see Rule 24). Troops are not to be supposed to be in possession of any ammunition which they do not actually carry.
35. To avoid accidents railways are only to be crossed by the regular bridges and crossings.
36. Firing near buildings or stack yards should be avoided as much as possible, and every precaution taken to guard against fire.
37. Repeated attacks by the same body of cavalry are absurd and impracticable in real battle.
38. When the "Halt" is sounded the troops will at once obey the order, cease firing, and lie down,—cavalry dismounting. No movement of any kind except retiring (by order of an Umpire), is to be permitted. When the advance is sounded the engagement will be resumed. When the "Cease Fire," followed by the "Assembly," is sounded, officers commanding divisions and brigades will repair to the Umpire in Chief, and the troops will form up and wait for orders. An Umpire may order the "Halt" to be sounded by any body of troops, if he thinks there is danger of collision.

NATIVE ARMY—RECRUITING—BAGGAGE.

G. O. C. C., No. 115 of 15th October, 1875.—With the sanction of Government, the following General Orders, by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished and made applicable to this Presidency:—

Simla, 16th August, 1875, No. 229.—It is hereby notified, that the Government of India have been pleased to confirm the practice hitherto followed in the Bengal Presidency, which allows free transport by rail to recruiting parties of all branches of the service going from, or returning to, their regiments; and for recruits joining their respective corps,* and also marching batta, or free conveyance of their baggage to the said recruiting parties (not to the recruits) when marching, according as they belong to regiments,† which do or do not draw marching batta.

This cancels G. O., No. 166 of 1875.

ADVANCES—REGIMENTAL INSTITUTIONS.

Simla, 6th September, 1875, No. 252.—Advances for the purpose of aiding in the establishment of soda water machines in regimental workshops, may be obtained from Government on applications submitted to the Adjutant-General. These advances, which will not exceed half the actual or estimated cost, will only be obtained, on the condition that the other half has been subscribed by the regiment, or obtained from the canteen fund. They may be repaid by monthly instalments of such amount as the profits may admit of, and the officer commanding may deem expedient, but on the clear understanding that in no case can the repayment be allowed to extend beyond twelve months. No advances can be sanctioned for regiments which will probably proceed to England within three years.

PENSIONERS—TRANSFERS.

No. 116.—The Commander-in-Chief is pleased to notify that for the future when a pensioner is permitted to reside and draw his stipend either in the Bengal or Bombay Presidency, the transfer is to be effected by the officer under whom the pensioner is drawing his pension, through the Controller of Military Accounts, Fort St. George.

CLOTHING—NECESSARIES.

No. 117.—The following letter from the Government of India, No. 466, dated 16th September, 1875, is published for information and guidance:—

"In reply to your Letter, No. 1778, dated 31st July, 1875, enquiring what article in lieu of foot-chains is to be worn with the biennial trousers of the men of British Cavalry regiments serving in India, I am directed to state, that in the opinion of the Right Honorable the Commander-in-Chief, in which the Government of India concur, the issue of foot-chains should be continued till the present stock is exhausted, and leather straps substituted thereafter."

EXCHANGES.

No. 118.—The following General Orders, by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished:—

Simla, 20th September, 1875, No. 265.—The Commander-in-Chief directs that, in submitting applications for exchange between officers of British regiments, commanding officers will state whether the officers concerned desire that the exchange be provisionally published in G. O. C. C., or that it be held in abeyance pending receipt of the decision of His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief.

His Excellency desires that it may be distinctly understood, that officers whose exchange is provisionally gazetted, and who avail themselves of the privilege contained in the last clause of para. 186, Bengal Army Regulations, which permits them to join their new regiments, do so at their own risk, and have no claim to be reimbursed their travelling expenses, should the exchange be subsequently cancelled.

TRANSPORT—PASSAGE.

No. 266.—Under the authority of the Government of India, and in continuation of G. O.† 172 of 1875, the following additions are made to the Transport Regulations, Part I:—

* G. O.† 172 of 1875. To revised clause 1 of para. 169, after the words "four of service," in eighth line, add

"This rule also applies to Surgeons-General of whatever standing appointed to the staff in India, who shall be held to be on the same footing, so far as relative rank secures it, as General Officers similarly brought on the Indian Establishment."

To the authority cited in margin of the above clause add

"Military Department, No. 748, dated 27th August, 1875, to the Quartermaster-General."

ARMY SIGNALLING.

G. O. C. C., No. 119 of 21st October, 1875.—Bengal Standing Order, No. 230, dated 16th August, 1875, re-published in Madras Standing Orders, No. 106, dated 11th September, 1875, page 191, is cancelled.

FORAGE—HORSES.

No. 120.—It has been brought to the notice of the Commander-in-Chief that several horses have died in mounted corps in consequence of the instructions contained in the Adjutant-General's Circular Memorandum, No. 186, dated 2nd July, 1873, having been neglected. His Excellency directs it to be notified that Commanding Officers will be held strictly responsible that the utmost vigilance is exercised as regards the quality and purity of the root grass and thorough cleaning of grain.

2. The Inspecting Veterinary Surgeon is requested to report specially on these points at his periodical inspections of Cavalry regiments and batteries of Artillery.

EXCHANGES.

No. 121.—The following General Orders by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India are re-published:—

Simla, 24th September, 1875, No. 271.—The following Royal Warrant, dated 6th August, 1875, and Horse Guards' G. O., No. 57 of 1875, are republished for information and guidance:

Claims can be adjusted, and premiums can be paid in London, if desired by the Policy holders.

Surrender Values allowed for Life Policies issued at fixed rates of premium which have paid three years' premiums.

The Society's funds must be invested in Indian Government Securities or in other guaranteed Indian Securities.

Quinquennial valuations, by a London Actuary, of Assets and Liabilities. The reduction of premiums for the Quinquennium 1871-75 is at the rate of 60 per cent. of premiums paid during 1866-70.

Assurances granted on the lives of Europeans, East Indians or Eurasians, and Parsees.

Past experience leads the Directors to anticipate that the retention of the "Mutual" principle and the Quinquennial distributions of Surpluses, will bring down the cost of Assurance by this office, for Life, to the lowest possible point.

The Medical Examiner sees Applicants for Assurance at his residence, Pantheon Road, Egmore, on Wednesdays and Saturdays between 11 and 12 A. M.

Church of England Assurance Institution,

ESTABLISHED 1840.

HEAD OFFICE—KING STREET, CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

EMPOWERED BY SPECIAL ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

Capital One Million.

“Short Term” and “Whole Life” Assurances are granted.

In addition to ordinary Assurances this Company issues Policies by which the sums assured are made payable to the Policy-holder himself on his attaining a specified age or to his representatives in the event of his previous death. By this means Officers and others may both provide for their families and secure Retiring Provision for themselves.

Also “FREE” Policies are granted which can never altogether lapse in consequence of the non-payment of Premiums.

“Clergy Rates” have been recently prepared to enable Clergymen and Ministers of all denominations to assure their Lives in this Institution upon more favorable terms than in any other Office.

Premiums may be paid annually, half-yearly, quarterly or monthly as desired.

Thirty days’ grace are allowed for the payment of annual, half-yearly and quarterly premiums, and fifteen days for monthly premiums. The validity of the Policy will, in every case, be maintained by payment of the Premiums within the stipulated period, notwithstanding the death of the Assured may have occurred before such premiums shall have been received.

No extra rate is charged for sea-passages, and on arrival in Europe a reduction is made in the premium without the assured being required to pass any Medical examination.

Policies effected by parties on their own lives, and assigned as a bona fide security to others, will not be rendered void in the event of death by suicide, duelling, or the hands of justice. Claims will become payable within three months after satisfactory proof of death.

The Medical Officer, Dr. Harris, sees applicants for Assurance at his residence, Pantheon Road, Egmole, from 11 to 12 A. M., on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

ARMY SUPPLIES!!!

A. MOONESAWMY NAIDOO & CO.,

Beg to intimate that they are prepared to supply to the Army the following articles of durable manufacture subject to the approval of a Committee, and trust that from their extensive experience they will be favored with a share of orders.

A. MOONESAWMY NAIDOO AND Co. are content to stand by the excellence of their own manufacture, which has obtained for them so many encomiums, rather than make allusion to any particular gentleman or official by whom their goods have been approved of. It has always been their aim in working for European and Native Regiments to court a strict examination of their goods by Committees of Officers, so that any "caution" against a "would-be" Establishment palming off inferior goods under a good name, as put forth by a rival house, will be taken by a discerning public for what it is worth. A trial only is solicited both as regards quality of work and cheapness of price.
