VOLUNTEER CORPS.

No. 121.—REGULATIONS.—In supersession of G. O. G., No. 1204 of the 1st December 1875, and in conformity with Clause 63, War Office Auxiliary Reserve Forces Circular of the 1st July 1877, appointments to the rank of Sub-Lieutenant in the Volunteer Corps in India will cease from this date.

2. Subaltern Officers appointed on or after this date will be granted the rank of Second-Lieutenant, and will, on appointment, receive probationary commissions. They will hold the rank of Second-Lieutenant for two years, unless promoted in the meantime to the rank of Lieutenant after passing the prescribed examination. If not promoted in ordinary succession they will, at the expiration of this period, provided they have passed the prescribed examination and are recommended by the Commanding Officers of their respective corps, be promoted to Lieutenantcies, and their commissions as such will in all cases bear the date of their first appointment to the corps.

3. Officers serving in the rank of Sub-Lieutenant on this date may be recommended for promotion to the rank of Lieutenant as soon as they shall have passed the prescribed examination. They will take precedence of all Second-Lieutenants. Officers of both ranks will bear a star as the badge of rank on the collar of the uniform.

4. Nothing in this order affects the appointment of qualified officers direct to higher grades when recommended by Commanding Officers, and subject to the examination in the first year of appointment, as laid down in Section V, Regulations for the Volunteer Forces in India.

ORDNANCE STORES.

G. O. G., No. 121 of 19th February 1878.—The following General Order by the Government of India, dated 8th February 1878, is republished, with reference to G. O. G. No. 601 of 1877:—

Palliser Projectiles with broken points.

Clause 134.

The following will be substituted for paragraph 2, Clause 34, Army Circulars, 1877, which is hereby cancelled, viz.:—

2. Any Palliser projectiles that may be found with their points broken to a greater extent than what is shown in model "A" will be sent to the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich; but projectiles with their points broken similarly to model "A," or to a greater extent than is shown in model "B," may be

IV. Applications to retire will be considered and disposed of successively, according to priority of proposed dates of retirement, until the number of retirements allotted to the service shall have been accomplished, when retirements under this order will cease for the year. In the event of its becoming necessary to select one from among two or three applicants for retirement on the same day, preference will be given according to seniority from the date of first commission.

V. Officers wishing to retire under the terms of this order must, whether in or out of India, submit their applications to the office of the Adjutant-General of their respective Presidencies, naming such prospective dates for their retirements, as will admit of the receipt of their applications by the Adjutant-General on or before the date named, such date not to be earlier than the 1st April 1878.

VI. Officers whose applications are accepted, will be gazetted out from the dates named by themselves, but will continue to perform their duties and receive the pay and allowances of their positions until officially informed of their removal from the effective list, either by direct communication, or by publication of the Gazette at the station at which they may be serving.

VII. Officers retiring under this arrangement will forego both the good-service pension, if they are in receipt thereof, and all claims to bonus
* G. G. O. No. 808 of 26th Sept. 1866. compensation under the terms of the despatch of the 8th of August 1866,* No. 160.

VIII. Applicants to retire must state—

1st.—Their rank and service.

2nd.—Their age (supported by certificate of birth, or in its absence, by a formal declaration.)

3rd.—Whether they wish to receive commutation for their prospective allowances in the shape of an annuity, or to capitalize its value. Officers who desire to receive the capitalized value of the annuity, must attach to their applications a certificate in the form given in Appendix A. In the case of Officers retiring out of India, the health certificate required will be called for and furnished under instructions from the India Office in London.

4th.—Whether they desire to receive payment, wholly, or in part, in India, or in England.

IX. The table given in Appendix B shows the rates at which the expectation of the Colonel's allowance will be calculated in carrying this order into effect in the case of officers of various ages and service.

X. For the purpose of arriving at the amount payable in each case, whether as an annuity or in a single payment, officers' ages will be calculated from their birthday next succeeding the date from which they propose to retire, and the number of years they have to serve before becoming entitled to the Colonel's allowance will be calculated from the date of the proposed retirement. When the period to serve contains a fraction of a year, the fraction, if it be six months, or under six months, will be excluded altogether; if it exceeds six months, it will be reckoned as a complete year.

XI. Payments of the capitalized value of the annuity made in India under this order will be at the rate of 1s. 10½d. for the rupee.

XII. Officers who elect to receive an annuity in preference to the capital sum, will not, after their retirements have appeared in the Gazette, be allowed to capitalize such annuity under the provisions of this order; and it is to be understood that no separate applications of individual officers to retire after the present retirements have been allotted will be entertained on the basis of this order.

XIII. Officers of the half-pay list of the Staff Corps will be permitted, if disposed to retire from the service, to avail themselves of this scheme of retirement, provided they are eligible thereto by the fulfilment, previously to their transfer to the half-pay list, of all the conditions required. The time passed by an officer on the half-pay list of the Staff Corps will not count towards the 12 years in the grade of Lieutenant-Colonel required to qualify for promotion to the Colonel's allowance.

XIV. No application from officers to cancel their retirement, or to change the date of such retirement, will be entertained after it has been announced in the official Gazette of the Presidency to which they belong.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

G. O. G., No. 332 of 7th May 1878.—The following General Order [by the Government of India, dated 17th April 1878, is republished :—

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 347.—Under instructions from Her Majesty's Government, the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council has been pleased to direct that a force, as detailed in the margin, be prepared and despatched for service beyond sea, and to lay down the following rules for the pay, equipment, &c. :

2. In order to complete regiments to the full established strength, volunteers may be called for from other regiments from the classes wanted to complete. None but men of good character, and who are reported in every respect fit for field service, will be permitted to volunteer. Regiments giving volunteers will be allowed to recruit up to the full establishment. On the termination of the expedition, the volunteers will be permitted to rejoin their old regiments as vacancies occur.

3. Commanding officers will be held responsible that none but men and followers, in every way fit for field service, accompany the regiment; all sickly men are to be left at the depot.

4. Regiments of native infantry will draw extra batta; and free rations or ration-money, at the rate of Rupees 3-8-0 per mensem, will be allowed to all non-commissioned officers and men of cavalry and infantry while on foreign service. Native commissioned officers will also have the privilege of receiving the ordinary ration from the Commissariat Department on payment, the amount being deducted monthly from their pay at the above rate.

5. Public followers, except those engaged on salaries specifically determined for the service, will receive an addition of 50 per cent. on pay and batta in addition to free rations, while on foreign service.

6. The sanctioned followers paid by the troops will receive from Government free rations, and such extra pay as may be necessary to put them on a par with the public followers of a similar class.

7. All the arrangements special to this foreign service will have effect from the date of embarkation, and continue in force until the date of return.

8. As, during a sea-voyage, the officers, non-commissioned officers, and sowars of the cavalry would be unable to make the requisite provision for the forage of their horses, whilst difficulty might possibly be experienced in this respect during a portion of their service on land, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has determined that the forage of the horses, and of the mules or ponies accompanying, shall be undertaken by the State, with such assistance as the regiments and followers may be enabled to render after landing.

9. This measure, however, in no way relieves all grades from responsibility for the due care and condition of their horses and cattle.

10. All ranks will be required, as at present, to maintain one efficient horse, but the native commissioned officers will be allowed forage for two horses each, if they desire to take a second charger.

11. Each native commissioned officer will be required to keep up one pony, and one attendant as sycce and grass-cutter, whether he takes one or two horses; and the non-commissioned officers and privates to maintain one pony, and one grass-cutter in charge of the same, for every two horses.

12. The attendants will be paid by the troops as usual; but the ponies will receive grain, and, when necessary, hay, free of cost; both grass-cutters and animals will be required to procure forage when obtainable, and must be held disposable for all purposes.

13. On boardship, the forage and water will be issued under the usual regulations, ponies receiving a half-ration of forage and two-thirds of a horse's supply of water, or as may be specially ordered.

14. On land, the forage allowance for each horse will be 8 lb. of such grain as may be procurable, with 20 lb. of hay, when green forage is not procurable, or otherwise as may be ordered. The allowance for ponies will be one-half of the forage ration of a horse.

15. Grass-cutters will be rationed on the scale sanctioned for native followers, or receive the equivalent at the rate of Rupees 2-8-0 each per mensem, in addition to the amount paid to them by the regiment.

16. The native commissioned and non-commissioned officers will continue to subscribe to their regimental funds to such extent as commanding officers may deem necessary within the limits prescribed by regulations.

17. They will continue to supply themselves with their horses and their ordinary clothing, equipment, saddlery and stable-gear; but any article of extra clothing necessitated by any speciality of climate or service will be issued free of cost.

18. All casualties of horses, arising from neglect or from causes evidently unconnected with the particular nature of the service, must, as usual, be replaced by the regiments concerned. Each troop will be allowed to embark and maintain two Chunda horses, to meet casualties, which will be rationed free of cost.

19. All casualties fairly attributable to, or connected with, the service, including those from accident on boardship or during embarkation or disembarkation, will, if there has been no proved neglect, be replaced by Government, or compensation will be allowed, according to the age and value of the horse so injured or destroyed, within the regulation limit of Rupees 200.

20. Compensation will also be allowed for casualties among ponies, directly resulting from the service, at the rates laid down in G.G.O. No. 953 of 1876; or the animals will be replaced by Government.

21. Compensation at the rate of Rupees 5 per mensem will be allowed to the native officers for each bargheer sanctioned by existing regulations, if maintained by them: out of which sum they will pay the share of the grass-cutters' wages, and provide stable-gear. A similar amount will be deducted from the pay of the bargheer sowars.

22. Officers commanding regiments and detachments detailed for service are directed to at once draw and distribute three months' pay in advance to their respective corps.

23. Commanding officers will be held responsible that all orders and circulars connected with the family remittances, and arrangements for the comfort of the men and families, are made known to, and are in possession of, officers appointed to the charge of depôts; and that provision is made for the care of spare arms, accoutrements, books, heavy baggage, &c., which may be left behind.

24. Depôts for regiments will be formed under the orders of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, and of the Governments of Madras and Bombay, respectively.

25. A British officer will be detailed for the charge of each of these depôts, and will receive the allowances detailed in paragraph 332, Pay Code for India, Vol. I. A pay havildar, on a staff salary of Rupees 5 per mensem, will be allowed to each depôt. Two puckally bhisties will also be allowed for supplying water to the families of each depôt.

26. Regiments will take with them their camp-equipage complete.

27. Officers' tents will be limited in size to that of a lascar pal, and officers not possessing tents of this description may be supplied from the nearest magazine on payment.

28. Regiments will take with them their service ammunition, viz:—

2 Canvas frocks.	2 Pairs of warm socks.
2 Pairs flannel drawers.	1 Pair of English boots.

31. In addition to the above, both cavalry and infantry soldiers will be required to maintain their regulated service kit complete.

32. Followers, public and private, for native cavalry are to be strictly limited, and not to exceed for each regiment—

2 Cooks per troop.	1 Tindal.
6 Sikligurhs.	1 Munshi.
6 Mochees.	1 Gruntee or Pundit.

GOOD CONDUCT PAY.

No. 146.—The following method of adjusting claims to good conduct pay when forfeited service has been restored, is, under authority of the Government of India, promulgated for general guidance, and is applicable to the whole of India:—

"When a man's forfeited service is once restored to him, his claim to good conduct pay is reassessed according to his total service, and the entries existing in his regimental defaulter sheets. The earliest date, however, from which any actual issue can be sanctioned is that on which the man became eligible for restoration (which, moreover, is that inserted in the form of authority as that from which the restoration takes effect. It is usually the date subsequent to that on which the soldier had completed five years' good service)."

"Although the date on which the man became eligible is the earliest date from which any issue can be sanctioned, yet the matter is further affected by the general rule that arrears are to be restricted to a period of one year from the date of claim, which in the cases of restoration of forfeited service and subsequent issues of good conduct pay, is usually taken as that on which the man claimed the restoration."

SCHOOLS.

No. 174—G.O. 144 of 1877 is cancelled, and the following memorandum is published for general information, and for the guidance of Sub-Inspectors of Army Schools in conducting examinations of soldiers for school certificates, and in marking and valuing examination papers before transmitting them to the Inspector.

1. School certificates are of four classes.
2. Fourth-class certificates are issued by commanding officers on the recommendation of Sub-Inspectors. The qualifications for the fourth-class certificate are stated upon the face of it. The method of ascertaining whether soldiers are possessed of those qualifications is left to the discretion of the Sub-Inspectors.
3. Certificates of the first, second and third classes are issued on the recommendation of the Inspector.
4. Candidates for certificates of the first, second and third classes must be examined in reading, writing to dictation, and arithmetic. And candidates for first-class certificates must further be examined in letter and précis writing, and in one at least of the following

5. "Full marks" for reading is 24. A soldier who obtains from 18 to 24 marks is considered to read in the highest standard; and one who obtains from 12 to 17 marks is considered to read in the intermediate standard. But with less than 12 marks a man is considered to read only in the lowest standard and is eligible for no certificate higher than fourth class.

6. In order to obtain full marks for reading, a soldier must read poetry as well as prose in a satisfactory manner. But it is not compulsory upon a candidate for a certificate of any class to read poetry. "Highest marks" for reading prose only is 20.

7. The prose selected as the exercise in reading is to be from one of the most advanced reading books used in the Army Schools. The poetry is to be from McLeod's First Poetical Reading Book.

8. If a soldier who is a candidate for third-class certificate cannot obtain as many as 12 marks for reading in one of the most advanced books, he may be examined in reading the first part of History of England (Gleig's School Series), after Chapter XIII to Chapter XXXI.† But in such case 12 is to be the greatest number of marks awarded. If a soldier reads the easier exercise with difficulty, he cannot receive 12 marks for reading (and therefore, cannot qualify for any higher certificate than fourth class).

9. Want of fluency, incorrect accentuation, and defective emphasis, afford good grounds for deducting marks for reading. But care must be taken not to visit mere provincialisms too severely.

10. The number of marks awarded for reading is to be reported in the case of every man examined, whether he is recommended for a certificate or not.

11. "Full marks" for writing to dictation is 50; and of this number 20 marks are awarded for handwriting and 30 for spelling, &c. The handwriting and the spelling, &c., of each exercise are to be valued separately, and the marks awarded are to be added together for the total o marks allotted to the exercise.

N. B.—The exercises are not to be written upon ruled paper.

12. A soldier who obtains from 44 to 50 marks in writing to dictation is considered to be qualified in the highest standard in that subject. One who obtains from 33 to 43 marks is considered to be qualified in the intermediate standard; and one who obtains from 25 to 32 marks to be qualified in the lowest standard. If a soldier obtains less than 25 marks in "dictation," he cannot receive a certificate above the fourth class.

13. "Full marks" is to be awarded for handwriting only when it is of a very superior character indeed.

* Includes Hindustani by the higher standard, and any of the languages named in the para. 2497, B. A. R.

† Or "Chambers's Second Standard Reading Book."

14. For a good, legible hand, 16 marks are to be awarded.

15. For an inferior hand, which yet is quite legible, and is in other respects sufficiently good for practical purposes, 10 marks are to be awarded.

16. For a bad hand, not easily legible, 6 marks may be awarded; but it is competent to a Sub-Inspector to refuse marks entirely for very bad handwriting; and in such case no certificate will be awarded.

17. No other marks are to be awarded for handwriting than those specified above.

18. "Full marks" for spelling is 30. For each of the first three errors of spelling 1 is to be deducted and for every subsequent error of spelling 5 is to be deducted; so that the descending scale of marks for spelling will be as follows:—

30, 29, 28, 27 || 22, 17, 12, 7, 2,—3,—8, &c., &c.

No error of spelling is to be counted more than once against a candidate for a certificate, however frequently it may occur in his exercise.

19. Incorrect words correctly spelt are to be distinguished by some peculiar mark by the Sub-Inspector, who values the exercise in which they occur. If no difficulty has obviously been evaded by the substitution of one word for another, the error may be allowed to pass without deduction of marks. But the substitution of one word for another of different spelling but of similar sound—as, for instance, "their" for "there," "where" for "were," "beer" for "bier," "here" for "hear," and such like is inadmissible, and must be visited with loss of marks; unless it happens that the context gives no clue to the word intended to be written (a very rare case).

20. The omission of a word may be allowed once in each piece without deduction of marks, provided the word appear in some other place in the same piece of dictation, or in some other piece of dictation by the same writer. With this limitation, Sub-Inspectors are to deduct from 1 to 4 marks per word omitted, at their discretion. The greater the number of such errors, the heavier should be the penalty exacted for each word. When, by the substitution of one word for another, there is reason to believe that a difficulty has been avoided by the writer (whether intentionally or not) the case is to be treated as one of a word omitted.

21. For the use of superfluous capitals and the neglect to introduce capitals where they ought to be used from 2 to 7 marks are to be deducted, at the discretion of the Sub-Inspector. For errors that indicate complete ignorance of the proper use of capital letters 11 marks are to be deducted. But two errors of omission of capitals or of improper use of them, or two errors of both kinds combined, may be allowed to pass without deduction.

22. There are to be two exercises in "dictation," one selected from the most advanced reading book and the other from the easier reading book. Each exercise is to comprise 70 different words, not counting the same word more than once. If by chance more than 70 different words are comprised in a piece that has been written to dictation, the superfluous words are to be struck out before marks are assigned for it.

23. Proper names of an unusual character are not to be reckoned among the 70 different words of which the exercise must consist, and mistakes in spelling them are not to be counted against the writer. But pieces in which such names occur must be avoided if possible. Exercises in writing "Orders" are not now referred to. The more familiar Christian names, the names of the principal countries and oceans of the globe, and the names of well-known places and rivers in the United Kingdom are admissible.

24. Every man examined must write the easier piece of dictation. The more advanced piece is to be written in addition to the easier piece by those men only whom the schoolmaster may designate to do so.

25. A soldier who obtains qualifying marks upon a dictation exercise of the easier character only cannot count more than 25 marks for the general subject of dictation.

26. Candidates for first and second-class certificates must write an exercise in "Orders." This exercise is to be in two parts.

The first part will comprise the number and other designation (if any) of the corps to which the candidates for certificates belong, the names of all regimental officers belonging to their regiment, battalion, or artillery brigade (as the case may be), and the official designations, but not the names, of all staff officers of the district or garrison in which the regiment or battalion or artillery brigade is serving.

The second part of this exercise will run in the usual form of regimental and other "Orders," and will comprise as many technical professional terms in common use in the service as possible. The real numbers or other designations of regiments and the name of officers are not to be introduced into this second part of the exercise. The exercise in "Orders" is to comprise one hundred different words in the two parts taken together, and is to be valued in the same manner as the other exercises in "dictation." Therefore if more than one hundred different words be written, the superfluous ones are to be disregarded.

27. If a soldier fail to obtain qualifying marks (i.e., 25) in writing "Orders," he cannot be recommended for first or second class certificate; and in determining his standard for dictation in this case the exercise in "Orders" will be disregarded, and the marks assigned for the other piece of dictation will alone be considered. If he obtain qualifying marks in "Orders," but fail to obtain qualifying marks in the more advanced piece of the other two exercises in dictation, he may count 25, but

REGIMENTAL APPOINTMENTS.

No. 192.—With reference to G. O.* 3 of 1877, the Commander-in-Chief is pleased to notify, that the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council has directed, that a wing or squadron officer shall not, on promotion to the rank of substantive major, vacate his regimental appointment, and that subaltern officers are, except in very special cases, to be considered disqualified for the position of squadron or wing commander.

His Excellency in Council has also decided, that the appointments of adjutant and quartermaster shall be held exclusively by subaltern officers, and that the appointments are to be vacated on the promotion of the incumbent to the substantive rank of captain, unless there is no qualified subaltern available in the regiment, in which case the officer so promoted may, under the Commander-in-Chief's orders, be permitted to retain the appointment until a qualified officer is available. The captain so displaced will revert to the duties of his appointment as wing or squadron officer.

ATTACK FORMATION OF A BATTALION.

[Issued with Horse Guards' G. O. 34 of 1877.—Reprinted and circulated with G. O. 155 of 1877.]

[The nature of the formations herein described are illustrated by Plates; but although such sketches are useful in giving expression to ideas, it should be clearly understood that they only represent abstract formations, and that there can be no fixed rule for those of the supports or main body of a battalion, or of the 2nd line and reserves, of large bodies, or of the distances between them, the adjustment of such points to the nature of the ground being one of the most important duties of a commander.]

THE ATTACK.

PART I.

General Principles.

1. Troops will reach the field of battle in column of route or in masses of battalion columns. These masses should be deployed into lines of battalion columns at deploying intervals as soon as possible, so as to admit of the other arms passing through, and to more easily adapt to the ground the subsequent movements of the line.

The advance to the attack will be conducted as hereafter described.

The general disposition of troops in battle will usually be as heretofore, in two lines and a reserve.

First Line.

(1.) The Fighting Line.

(2.) The Supports.

(3.) The Main Body, consisting, in an eight-company battalion, of four companies.

2. A Battalion of the first line moving to the attack will be divided into—

3. In most cases there must be a second line, and in the case of a Division or Army Corps there should be a Reserve; in a Division of seven battalions, each brigade may have two battalions in 1st line and one in 2nd, the seventh battalion acting as a Divisional Reserve; or it may be formed one Brigade in 1st line, and the other in 2nd. With an Army Corps of three Divisions, the 3rd Division should form the Army Corps reserve, in which case the 2nd line may be used in other ways. (Vide plates, and page 321).

Second Line and Reserve.

4. The movements of the fighting line are regulated by the orders of the Battalion Commander previously communicated to the Company Commanders or by any subsequent orders received from him. Its duties are to keep a steady, continuous fire on the enemy from the moment such fire becomes effective until a final rush is made to carry the position. To maintain this fire as the attack is developed, reinforcements must be drawn from the supports as the circumstances of the case demand.

It is the duty of the supports—

Duties of the Supports.

(1.) To supply the losses and reinforce the fighting line when necessary, so that its fire may never slacken.

(2.) To protect the flanks of the fighting line, by being at all times ready to pour in a heavy concentrated fire on any troops (Cavalry or Infantry) that may threaten it.

(3.) To give confidence to the fighting line, by having a body of men belonging to the same battalion well in hand, supporting it, and connecting it with the battalion main body.

5. The duty of the battalion main body is, in conjunction with the companies extended in its front, to finally force the enemy's position. The main body may be brought up into the fighting line either in extended order, (a course that would probably be necessary over very open ground), or, as the enemy's fire would be chiefly aimed at the fighting line, the main body may, over ground only partially open, and by taking advantage of all existing cover, be brought up by small bodies in a comparatively compact formation.

Duties of the 2nd Line.

The second line has for its object—

(1.) To support or prolong the first line.

(2.) To confirm its success.

(3.) To meet a flank attack.

(4.) To protect and cover its retreat if it is forced to retire.

The second line will therefore, when the position is carried, occupy it at once, and on it will fall the duty of meeting any offensive action of the enemy to retake it. As soon as the second line is firmly established in the position, the first line should be reformed in rear of it.

6. A portion of it may, however, when there is no reserve, be employed in making a flank attack, in which case such portion of it should be moving in echelon on such flank, concealed from view if possible.

Duties of the Reserve.

7. The reserve will be used in such manner as circumstances demand; it represents a formed body of fresh troops at the disposal of the General Commanding.

not more, for the general subject of dictation. If he obtain qualifying marks both in "Orders" and in the more advanced piece of dictation, the marks obtained in the two branches of the subject are to be added together, and the sum of these divided by 2 will be the number of marks which the soldier may count for the general subject of dictation including "Orders."

28. The errors and omissions in dictation, for which marks are deducted, are to be indicated by lines drawn under the words or sentences in which they occur (in red ink when practicable).

29. The number of marks awarded for writing, the number awarded for spelling, and the total number awarded for "dictation," are to be written on the face of each exercise in dictation, thus 16. The 16 represents the marks awarded for writing; 22 the marks awarded for spelling, &c. after all deductions have been made; and consequently, 38 the total number of marks awarded for the exercise in writing to dictation. Exercises in "Orders" are to be marked in this way, as well as others.

30. The examinations in "dictation" are to be conducted in the following manner:—First, the piece to be written is to be read through by the Sub-Inspector or Schoolmaster, in the hearing of the men, in order to make them acquainted with the subject and context. Then it is to be dictated by the Sub-Inspector or Schoolmaster, a few words at a time, whilst the men write it; and every few words so dictated may be given out a second time, and not oftener. Stops are to be named as they occur, but not capital letters; and no assistance is to be given in the spelling of proper names, or technical terms, or any words whatever. When the dictation of the piece has in this way been completed, it is to be once more read through by the Sub-Inspector or Schoolmaster, in order that the men may have a final opportunity of supplying any omission quickly; but undue delay must not be allowed to enable them to do so. The reading and dictation of the next piece, if there be any other, are immediately to be proceeded with in the same manner; and when the last piece to be written has been disposed of in this way, the papers of dictation are to be collected by the Sub-Inspector, to be retained by him until the conclusion of the examinations.

31. The dictation exercises are to be given out at the rate of 5 words per minute in the lowest standard, and 8 words per minute in the higher, inclusive of the time occupied in reading the pieces through before the men begin to write, and after they have written to the end. Thus, if a piece consist of 100 words, the men being all in their places and ready to begin writing, the Sub-Inspector or Schoolmaster will have read it through aloud, and have dictated it for the men to write it and have read it through again, and will be ready to begin reading the next piece of dictation (if there be another piece) in 20 minutes' time if the exercise be in the lowest standard, and in 12½ minutes' time if in the other. N.B.—The exercise in "Orders" is to be dictated at the slower rate.

32. The examinations in arithmetic are made by means of printed forms numbered I, II, and III respectively. These are divided into sections; and after the distinguishing letter of each section is printed the qualifying minimum of marks allotted to the section.

33. Candidates for third-class certificate are to be examined on No. III Paper only. Candidates for second-class certificate on No. II Paper only. Candidates for first-class certificate on No. I Paper only. And in every case the soldier must obtain the qualifying minimum of marks at least, in each section, to entitle him to the certificate for which he is a candidate.

34. No Soldier will be permitted to sit as a candidate for first-class certificate until he is in possession of a certificate of the second class.

35. The time allowed for working the papers of arithmetic is as follows, viz:—

To candidates for third class, 2½ hours.

Ditto first and second " 3¼ " inclusive of the time occupied in completing the printed papers, which is to be done by the men about to be examined, at the dictation of the Sub-Inspector or of some other person in his presence.

36. The following rules are to be strictly followed in allotting marks for work done in arithmetic on Nos. I, II, and III Papers:—

For every question worked correctly full marks to be allowed.

For errors of work which do not involve errors of principle, 2 marks to be deducted from the full numbers allotted to the question, i. e., 2 marks in all, and not 2 marks for each error. But if numerous errors occur in the working of a question, the Sub-Inspector may refuse all marks for it; and this clause particularly applies to the papers of third-class candidates.

For errors of principle all marks to be disallowed.

37. In marking arithmetical examination papers, Sub-Inspectors are to write the number of marks awarded for each question opposite to the answer obtained by the soldier. When marks are refused, a large O is to be written upon the work.

38. The total number of marks awarded in a section is to be written within the space in which the questions of the section are printed; and the number of marks (if any) to be deducted for want of neatness is to be written at the head of the paper.

39. After having assigned values to the arithmetical papers as above directed, Sub-Inspectors are to deduct one-fifth of full marks or less, at their discretion (omitting fractions), from the total of marks assigned to papers untidily and indistinctly executed; and the remainder will constitute the absolute award of marks upon such papers.

40. The following table gives the full marks in each of these three primary subjects, the lowest qualifying number of marks in each, and the lowest qualifying total of marks in the three subjects, for the several classes of certificate:—

Class.	Subjects.	Marks.		Qualifying Minimum Marks.
		Full.	Qualifying.

If a soldier not in possession of a third-class certificate be examined for second class and fail, he may be held to have qualified for third class, provided he obtain on No. II Paper of arithmetic not less than 6 marks in Section A, and not less than 4 in Section B, and not less than 14 marks in all; besides the necessary marks to qualify for third class in reading and in writing to dictation.

41. Questions 1 and 2 of No. II Paper, and 3 and 4 of No. III Paper of arithmetic are invariably to be completed by the Sub-Inspector himself before they are placed in the hands of candidates for certificates.

42. It is recommended that not less than seven feet should be allowed for the interval between every two men, who are engaged on the same papers during an examination; and when a smaller interval is permitted, the circumstance is to be reported to the Inspector, together with the reasons for it. Under no circumstances is less than four feet of interval to be allowed; and not more than 24 men are to be examined at one time by the same papers, except at the full interval of seven feet. But men, placed at four feet apart, may be examined in greater number than this at one time, provided no two of them who are engaged upon the same paper are nearer to each other than seven feet.

The foregoing memorandum will be inserted as Appendix IV of the Army (Indian) School Regulations, published with *G. O. 259 of 1874.

PART II.

Instruction of a Battalion.

1. In calculating the front of a battalion, 30 inches will be allowed for each file (or man in rank entire).
2. As these extended formations are essentially those for battalions on their war establishment, companies must be made as strong as possible; it being preferable for instruction, therefore, to have few strong companies rather than many weak ones, no company is to consist of less than about 30 files.
3. All extensions will be made in file; all firing in rank entire, if the spaces in the line admit of it. Men will reform files when cease firing is ordered, unless lying down.

(Plate No. 1.)

4. A Battalion extending for attack from Quarter-Column.The Battalion will extend for attack.†

On this caution, the battalion will come to attention, guides of the four leading companies will fall to the rear, and the object and general direction of the movement will be carefully explained.

As each company is named for the extended line, its captain will move it out, and extend it at three paces from the file ordered. An interval of three paces will be left between the two companies. Having completed the extension, each company will halt and lie down, unless ordered to advance.

The scouts‡ will, if ordered, move out, and remain 100 or 150 yards in front.

The two supporting companies will be moved in rear of the extended companies. These four companies will be under the general direction of one of the Majors.

The remaining companies will form the main body under the other Major.

The colour party will form six paces in rear of the rear company.

- No. 1 will extend from the Left.
No. 3 prolong to the Left.
No. 2 Right Support.
No. 4 Left Support (or as may be ordered.)

5. A battalion will extend for attack from line in the same manner, the Battalion Commander naming the companies for the fighting line and the portion of them to be extended, and those to support.

The extended formation may be taken up on the halt, in which case the supports and main body will be retired.

6. On the signal to advance from the Battalion Commander, the fighting line, under the general direction of a Major, will advance, the supports will follow the fighting line, changing their formation by the order of their commanders according to the nature of the ground or the enemy's fire.

The Advance.

A support will send on a connecting file about 100 yards.

The main body will follow in such formation under the orders of the officer commanding it, as may seem best.

In the case of a central battalion of a brigade, under artillery fire, the battalion main body should, as a rule, be in line with files at one pace interval.

In the case of a flank battalion, it should move in echelon on the outer flank.

7. The distance of supports from the fighting line, and of main body from supports, must depend on the nature of the ground and the circumstances of the case. As a general rule, on a plain, the distance between the fighting line and supports should not be more than 150 to 200 yards; between supports and main body from 200 to 300 yards. When a battalion is at some distance from the enemy, the supports and main body can move at a greater distance from each other than when the fighting line is engaged, and may require reinforcement at any time: in fact, as the position of the enemy is approached, the battalion must close on its fighting line, to enable the battalion leader to use, if necessary, his whole force in the final attack, or to repel a counter one.

Relative distances of Fighting Line, Supports and Main Body.

8. Previous to an advance in extended order the officer commanding will be most explicit in his instructions as regards the direction of it, and distinctly point out some natural objects on which the advance is to be made: the objective points having

Points of direction.

* A battalion in quarter-column acting alone will usually extend for attack from its centre, whereas battalions in brigade and division will generally do so from a flank.

† It is optional with the commanding officer to decide if the whole or portion of each company of the fighting line is to be at once extended; the caution will explain this,—for instance, "Extend for attack by sections" (or half companies); the portion that is not extended will move with the supporting companies.

‡ Scouts—men selected from the marksmen of a company will be detailed for this duty; 5 or 6 men from the leading 2 companies would be sufficient; an officer will accompany them.

been reached, fresh ones upon which to direct a further advance must be given to company leaders. When advancing over a considerable extent of country, previous to an attack being ordered a portion of the fighting line will be ordered to direct.

9. Officers commanding companies in the fighting line must bear in mind that, although their men should be trained to avail themselves of any cover that may offer in their direct line of advance, they are not to be permitted to diverge to the flank to obtain it, for by so doing the cohesion of an attacking body is lost and a false direction given to the advance.

Cover and Leading of Companies.

Officers commanding supports must, with due regard to the assistance they should at all times be ready to afford to the fighting line, take advantage of all inequalities of ground and other objects affording cover to protect their men. They must use every precaution not to lose the touch with, and sight of, the fighting line, and will detach connecting files as may be necessary.

The officer commanding the main body should move his men under cover when practicable, but his attention should be principally directed to the selection of positions favoring reinforcements or assistance to the fighting line.

10. The regimental ammunition reserve will follow the main body at a distance of about 20 yards, until they approach the fighting line, when it will be posted under cover in some convenient spot for the ready supply of ammunition to the fighting line; the pioneers will accompany it, but previous to an advance, each company of the fighting line should have reserve ammunition distributed which will accompany the supports.

One bugler will accompany each company commander; the drummers, fifiers, and band will form in rear of the colour party (vide page 315.)

11. Reinforcing by the Supports.—The fighting line will be reinforced by the supports as may be necessary, and as it is desirable to keep men of a file together as far as practicable, men reinforcing will divide the distance between "files" (in rank entire, if firing.) The Major will use his discretion in giving this order. He must bear in mind that no more rifles should be in the first line than can be used with effect, and that the nearer the attacking line can push on to the enemy's position without reinforcement, the greater will be the effect of such reinforcement when it does take place. The success of the attack will greatly depend on the way in which the supports are handled by their leaders in avoiding, during the advance, unnecessary losses, the time selected for reinforcing, and on the manner in which it is effected.

12. After one company has reinforced another, the senior officer will take command of the combined companies. Men may, at times, become separated from their own company and be unable to rejoin it; they will, in that case, consider themselves under the command of the nearest officer, and be prepared to take their place in such company (or portion of it); an officer will therefore take any stray men he may notice under his command, ordering them, as may be most desirable, either to the fighting line, or forming them into a support.

13. Reinforcing by the Main Body.—The order to reinforce will be given by the Battalion Commander alone, and would probably only be necessary when the fighting line cannot push on within 100 or 150 yards of the enemy.

The fighting line would at this time be firing in rank entire.

On the order to "Reinforce," the named companies of the main body, if advancing with files at one pace interval, will form rank entire as they close on the fighting line.

The portion of the line thus reinforced would in peace time stand too deep. The battalion reserve may, however, be brought up at the discretion of the Battalion Commander in a more compact formation and halted in rear of the fighting line, which must then lie down.

A portion* of the main body must be kept a few paces to the rear with the colours. (Plate 4.)

14. Other use of the Main Body.—The main body, or a portion of it, can be used for prolonging to a flank, making or repelling a small flank attack. In the case of a flank battalion it should invariably move on the outer flank, and it lies with the Brigadier to order if the fighting line of such battalion be extended to cover the whole or less portion of its front.

PART III.

General Observations on the Advance by a Battalion in Fighting Formation.

Parts I and II of the Field Exercise lay down the general rules for drill to be observed by companies in extended order, under head of skirmishing; in like manner the principles and details of drill to be observed for a battalion have been explained; it is only by the intelligent adaptation of such instructions to the conduct of field manoeuvres that success can be insured. It remains to exemplify such movements by describing what may be considered the normal attack by a battalion, it being clearly understood that it is not intended to lay down precise directions to guide a Battalion Commander in a movement that must always vary in its conditions.

* At drill and manoeuvre, one section will be sufficient.

- Whether the whole or portions only, of the companies that are told off for the "fighting line" should be at once extended on the command "General conduct of the Attack by a Battalion."

the ground to be traversed and the fire of the enemy; their distances from the fighting line should decrease as that line approaches the enemy's infantry.

- To enable the advance to be conducted as quietly as possible; there should be no unnecessary words of command, and no bugle sounds.

Scouts would lead the advance, if ordered.

At a distance of about 400 yards from the enemy's advanced troops, it may be expected that the scouts would await the arrival of the fighting line, and would advance with it; any information obtained of the enemy's position being communicated from time to time to the Battalion Commander. The fighting line will advance firing in a general line, or by such alternate portions as may be ordered.

At drill, the double may be used, but no hurry or confusion must be permitted.

No firing is to be permitted except at the halt, and then only as the section leaders may order.

Each advance (or rush*) should be for about 30 yards, and the rear companies, when drilling in open ground, will generally align themselves on the leading companies and lie down, but as troops should never halt in rear of cover without taking advantage of it, a rear company, with a favorable position directly in front, may move on to it instead of halting on the alignment.

- On approaching the enemy's position, the company leaders may, if necessary, order up the supports, or part of them, when the battalion reserve should advance and be within 200 yards of the fighting line (or nearer if cover be obtainable), thus replacing the supports.

- After the reinforcement by the supports, the advance will be continued by alternate companies, or combined companies, and at such a pace as the enemy's fire may necessitate.

- Having advanced to within 200 yards of the position to be attacked, and the Battalion Commander having determined to force it by a front attack, the main body, or a portion of it, will reinforce the whole or a portion of the fighting line; the battalion will fix bayonets and advance to the attack in a general line, firing as may be directed.

The line thus reinforced would still afford ample room for each man to use his rifle with the greatest effect—the hottest fire should therefore be kept up for a few minutes; on the bugles (by the order of the Battalion Commander) sounding "the advance," the battalion will advance in one general line; on reaching charging distance the signal for the final rush will be given by the drums of the regiment beating and the bugles sounding "the charge," on which the men will quicken their pace and cheer.

N.B.—In manoeuvres between two bodies of troops, the charge will not be carried out, nor will bayonets be fixed, but the contending forces will be halted at 100 paces from each other.

As an attacking force may have, at any period of its advance, to assume the defensive, officers commanding the fighting line must be on the alert to utilize for defence the ground they have gained, and the supports must, in such a contingency, at once hurry up to assist them.

In the case of such a counter-attack, the advantage of the defence passes from the enemy to the original attacking force, and the latter must bear in mind that, whereas in the attack their first object was to reach a point without loss near to the enemy's position, whence the final attack could be made, their object, as a defending force, should now be to pour the greatest amount of effective fire on those attacking.

It is evident that the extended formations described above will, to a certain extent, deprive portions of the battalion of the advantage of the direct control of its commander. The advantages of an attacking force can only be maintained by command being delegated to those who, over a limited extent of ground, can still exercise it; it is imperative, therefore that the company leaders should thoroughly understand the object the battalion commander has in view, and use their utmost to execute it, and impress the same object on their subordinates.

Remembering this, and the difficulty of issuing fresh instructions to company leaders after the fighting line is once really committed to the attack, battalion commanders should impress those officers with a sense of the responsibility of their position, and accustom them to considerable freedom of action.

It is preferable, on instruction parades to point out the mistakes after an advance is completed, rather than during the movement.

Serving out ammunition from the regimental reserve must be carefully and frequently practised.

No precise rules can be laid down for battalion changes of front, which will necessarily depend upon ever varying circumstances, and must therefore be left to the intelligence of the Commander who will issue such orders as the emergency demands; but for purposes of instruction, the following general rules will serve as a guide.

Changes of Front.

* A rush is permissive—not obligatory.

- A change of front, less than one-eighth of a circle, will be made by wheeling forward the fighting line, the remainder of the battalion conforming.
- In the case of a change of front at a greater angle than one-eighth of a circle the company of the fighting line, and that in support of it, which are nearest the point of appui, will wheel to the new front and form the fighting line; the two companies of the main body nearest the new front may form the supports, in which case the remaining four companies of the battalion will move into reserve as a main body.
- If it is necessary to protect a flank the supports or the companies of the battalion reserve will be wheeled up and assume the fighting formation.

PART IV.

Brigade, Division, and Army Corps. (Vide Plates 5, 6, 7).

1st Line.

The formation of the battalions in the first line, and the brigade or a portion thereof, to be in the second line, together with its general duties is laid down in Part I.

The distance of the second line from the first, on first forming for attack should be about 600 or 800 yards; as it will suffer but slightly from the enemy's fire during its advance, the formation of its battalions can be of a more compact nature than the first line.

2nd Line.

Reserve.

No body of troops should ever engage without a reserve, its strength must depend on the nature of the position to be attacked, and the probable strength of the defending force.

With an Army Corps, one Division will form the Reserve, in which case it will, as a rule, be unnecessary to form the second line, the battalions of which will be utilized in the first line, or in echelon on one or both flanks. This, however, must entirely depend on the nature of the ground which in most cases would render one of the flanks sufficiently strong; if the other is weak it would be better to move a whole brigade in echelon to protect it.

At first, the Reserve should be formed 2,000 yards from the first line in such column formations as may be suitable to the ground.

Should a strong flank attack be resolved upon from the commencement, it should be made by troops from the Reserve, which should usually be brought up in echelon on the flank from which it is to be made; the Commander will however, as a rule, retain a portion of the Reserve to meet contingencies.

General conduct of the Attack by a Division or Army Corps.

- It will be necessary for the force if exposed to artillery fire on open ground, to advance in extended order over a greater distance than when the country is broken and affords cover.

- The position of the enemy having been discovered, and the necessary instructions* for an attack having been given, the leading battalions will extend and advance in fighting formation, preceded, when necessary, by their scouts.

The advance will be conducted as laid down in Parts II and III for a battalion.

- When at any point the resistance is such that the advance, as ordered, cannot be carried out, the reinforcement, by the supports will take place, and the battalion main bodies will close up to within 200 yards of the attacking line.

It may be expected that the reinforcement by the supports would become necessary within about 300 yards of the enemy's position, but this would depend on the amount of resistance offered by the enemy.

- If the fighting line of any battalion is still unable to force its way, or receives a counter-attack, the battalion main body will be ordered to reinforce it, as may seem desirable according to the nature of the ground or urgency of the case.

- If there appears but little chance of carrying the position by a front attack, it will be advisable—instead of reinforcing the first line—to use such portion of the second line or reserve as may be available, in prolonging the line, and endeavouring to outflank the enemy.

- When a flank attack with a wider sweep and on a more extended scale than the preceding is designed, a portion of the reserve will be employed to carry it out.

- In the event of a flank attack by the enemy taking place, the brigade or battalion supporting on that flank will at once wheel, form for attack; the original attacking battalions will hold their ground and such portion of the reserve as may be necessary will be at once brought up to support the flank attacked, in such manner as circumstances require.

Should any battalions on the other flank be available, they may be retired and form a second line.

- In the frontal attack by (say) two divisions in the first line (vide Plate 7), the result would probably be that the battalions at some parts of the line would be successful in seizing the portions of the enemy's position, which had been detailed as their individual objective points whilst other battalions would possibly be repulsed; the points gained should be reinforced from the second line with all possible speed; and no time should be lost by the successful troops

* Explicit instructions will be given to the battalion commanders as to the object and direction of the attack.

+ If at any part of the line it seems advisable to have a stronger and deeper formation than that laid down for a battalion (Part II), a battalion, at such points, can be formed on but one-half its front. (Vide Plate 7, 2nd Brig., 1st Division).

in taking advantage of the gaps thus made in the enemy's line, for attacking in flank the remaining portions of it.

The further action of the first line, however, must be confined either to this, or to advancing to the further limit of the point they were ordered to attack. They must not be permitted to pursue the enemy beyond it.

9. The necessity of at once reforming troops after a successful attack cannot be too strongly impressed on officers commanding battalions and companies.

THE DEFENCE.

PART V.

A Battalion.

1. A battalion formed for defence will be divided in the manner as one formed for attack.

2. The fighting line must be as thick as compatible with a free use of the rifle at any point that is threatened, as soon as the attacking force comes within effective musketry fire.

2. The supports will be placed well under cover and near at hand, and will feed the fighting line as casualties occur.

Battalion Main Body.

3. The main body will be placed in a central position at first, but when the direction of the enemy's attack is developed it should be moved, either in whole or part, to a spot whence it can make a counter-attack.

No position is suitable for defence that precludes the free action of the defenders in such a manner.

As a general instruction for a battalion, it may be considered that three men, including a reserve, should be available for the defence of each yard of a position selected.

A Brigade or larger Force.

The formations laid down for the attack of a position are, to a certain extent, applicable to its defence. It is, however, impossible to lay down precise instructions for the latter, as so much depends upon the nature and extent of the position to be occupied and the strength of the force available, and the general subject is beyond the scope of these instructions.

The following principles will, however, hold good in most cases :—

1. Reserves being essential to success, the position selected should not be so extensive as to absorb all available men.
2. A line of outposts should usually be posted in front of the position actually selected, so as to compel the enemy to develop his real attack in time to allow of the threatened point being reinforced.
3. In order to secure this, the main portion of the troops employed in the defence should, as far as possible, be kept, in the first instance, concentrated in a central position.
4. In defending a position, any favorable opportunity that may offer of assuming the offensive should be taken advantage of if the force at the disposal of the General Commanding allows of it; for a counter-attack delivered at the right moment will disconcert the arrangements of the attack, and might often change the fortune of a day.
5. Including all arms and reserves it may be assumed, as a general rule, that the force for the defence of a position should be equal to five men for each yard in extent.

PART VI.*

Retirements.

Retirements should be carefully practised.

A battalion, if reinforced equally by its reserve companies, would stand at drill in two ranks.

The retirement of a battalion, if thus reinforced, can be carried out as follows :—

(a.) By alternate half-battalions.* The named half-battalion will retire, by command of its

* A half-battalion may also be considered in such a case to be the front rank formed of the companies of the fighting line, or the rear rank formed of the main body.

Major, 100 to 200 yards, then halt and front, on which the other half-battalion will retire and form on it. The movement will be continued as may be necessary; the firing of the half-battalions will be regulated by the necessities of the case, under the orders of the Majors.

(b.) By two combined companies of the fighting line and main body retiring together under the orders of the senior Captain.

In both cases companies will be disengaged from each other when out of fire.

PART VII.

Employment of Cavalry and Artillery during Field Manœuvres.

The following instructions relative to the employment of Cavalry, Horse and Field Artillery, when acting with other arms of the service, are to be observed in all field manœuvres :—

1. General Officers commanding divisions or detached brigades should confer with the officer commanding Artillery under their orders as to the general employment of the Artillery in the movements about to be executed.

The officer commanding the Artillery will then give the necessary directions to the officers in command of batteries, who are, however, to be permitted, under due supervision, to use their own judgment in selecting the best positions from which to cover an attack or retreat, and in conforming, as far as the nature of the ground will admit, with the movements of the corps to which they may be attached.

2. Any special directions received by the officer commanding the Artillery from the officer in command of the troops, relative to changes in the disposition of the batteries during the movements, will be promptly carried out.

3. Guns, when once brought into action, should not be moved as long as their fire is considered thoroughly effective, and therefore the most favourable position should be selected at first.

It should be remembered that Artillery ought not to be exposed to Infantry fire, although on service unavoidable circumstances may occasionally render such exposure for a time necessary.

4. The advance of the Infantry should always be preceded by a concentrated fire of Artillery on the point selected for attack, which fire should be maintained until the last moment possible. To allow of this being carried out, the officer commanding Royal Artillery must receive precise information as to the real point of attack, as laid down in paragraph 1.

5. When Artillery, in covering the advance, are sufficiently protected by the Infantry, no Cavalry escort will be required; should, however, such escort be necessary, a troop or squadron will be detailed from the divisional Cavalry as a support for the Artillery belonging to that division, and will be posted, when halted, at least 100 yards in rear of the guns, towards the most exposed flank; but this must mainly depend on the nature of the ground and the shelter to be obtained.

6. When Artillery or Cavalry are required for action they should come to the front by the flanks, or when necessary they may pass through the intervals of the Infantry line, care being taken that the advance of the Artillery is always preceded by scouts, to test the practicability of the ground.

7. If a battery be open to the chance of attack from the flanks, scouts should be sent out from its Cavalry support to reconnoitre and give intelligence of any flank movement of the enemy and so prevent surprise.

8. In the case of meeting a flank attack, the available artillery should advance towards the threatened flank, and take up a position so as to operate on the enemy's flank, leaving the batteries already engaged free to sustain a continuous fire.

9. As regards the Cavalry, that portion on the threatened flank should advance exposing itself as little as possible, and should be ready to act vigorously, as opportunity offers, or as circumstances demand, against the enemy's flank, or against the Cavalry supporting its movements; the Cavalry on the other flank will be held ready to operate towards the original front, or on the flank which is thrown forward after the change of front has been effected.

10. Any Artillery, whether divisional or corps, which is not in action, should be posted in rear of the centre of the division or corps in a favorable position for being able to advance, but at the same time covered from observation. The main body of Cavalry should be so placed according to the nature of the ground, as to be able to act towards the flank most exposed without hampering the movements of the Infantry.

11. In the attack of a position, Cavalry posted in the second line would find many opportunities of supporting those portions of the Infantry that are successful, and of attacking the flanks of the enemy still in position, as explained in Part IV, para. 8, page 323.

When Officers serving with regiments on foreign stations apply for leave of absence to enable them to return home on account of their private affairs, their applications will be accompanied by a statement of the period during which they have served abroad, and they will have to sign a declaration to the following effect, viz:—

I do hereby declare that I will rejoin for duty, at my own expense, within the period for which leave of absence may be granted me; and I further declare that if, during the period of my leave of absence, I retire from the service and receive the price of my Commission, exchange, or am placed upon temporary half-pay, or am made supernumerary in my regiment (except to serve as an Adjutant of Auxiliary Forces), I will hold myself responsible for the payment of the passage of the Officer who may be ordered abroad in my place.

EFFECTS AND CREDITS—COMMITTEES.

No. 167.—The following General Orders by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished:—

G. O. 119 of 1877.

Mily. Dept. No. 20E, dated 15th Aug. 1877.

Simla, 31st August 1877, No. 225.—Under authority of the Government of India, the following rules for the guidance of committees of adjustment are published:—

In the event of the widow, next of kin, or legal representative, paying in full the preferential charges, the committee of adjustment should act in the literal meaning of Section 8 of the Regimental Debts Act, and beyond securing, immediately on the death, the effects of the deceased, "within the station, colony, or command," and under para. 5 of the Royal Warrant, "making in all cases an inventory and an account of the debts and credits," should "not further interfere in relation to the property."

(a) Madras G. O. G., page 169 of 1873.

The effects may be made over to the widow or next of kin, on payment of the charges, without insisting on representation, it being clear that the payer of these preferential charges can be sued and made responsible in the proper civil court for the due administering of any assets which may have come to his or her hands (as any one else may be who has taken possession of the goods of a deceased person.)

In the case when the legal representative, not being the widow or next of kin, proposes to pay the preferential charges and to administer to the estate, probate or letters of administration should be produced before the secured effects are made over.

In either case the committee "should withdraw from any further interference with the assets of the deceased," leaving the widow or next of kin, as the case may be, to obtain probate or letters of administration in ordinary course, as a private individual, and to collect assets and deal with any estate the deceased may have been possessed of, over and above the effects secured by the committee of adjustment.

The cost of securing the effects and making the inventory and account of the debts and credits, should, in accordance with the practice of the War Office, be charged against the estate, in the same manner as under Section 9 of the Warrant, the cost of the employment of an auctioneer is chargeable.

The strength of the classes (which is not to exceed 50, or be under 20, men) will be fixed by the officer commanding the station, in consultation with the Garrison Instructor; and the instruction will be carried on at such times only as will not interfere with or impede the work of the officers' classes.

2. Under instructions from Government, nominations of medical officers to any of the above appointments, as separate charges, are for the future prohibited.

New para., as note (a) under para. 1659.—In ordinary cases when a trumpet or bugle-major is deprived of his appointment for incapacity, he should be reverted to duty in the position he held before being appointed, but if the cause of such incapacity also prevents his performing a trumpeter's or bugler's duties, he can be mustered as a gunner, driver, or private, subsequent to his conviction by court martial.

New para., as note (b) under para. 1659.—First trumpeters, trumpeters, and shoeing smiths not being non-commissioned officers, cannot be sentenced to be reduced to the ranks, but can be directed by the commanding officer to revert to the rank of gunner, driver, or private subsequent to conviction by court martial. When it becomes necessary to bring an acting bombardier, lance corporal, lance naigue, &c., to trial by court martial, he is to be arraigned as a gunner, driver, sapper or private, as the case may be; followed by a statement of his acting rank in parenthesis; thus:—Gunner (acting bombardier) A; Private (acting corporal) B; Sepoy (acting naigue) C.—The direction to cease to do duty as an acting non-commissioned officer, is to form no part of the sentence of the Court.

ENLISTMENTS—BOYS, BRITISH REGIMENTS.

G. O. C. C., No. 174, of 29th October 1877.—The following letter, No. 473, dated 25th September 1877, from the Government of India, respecting the enlistment of boys in British Regiments, is published for information:—

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your docket, No. 3,936, dated 9th July 1877, relative to the enlistment, in respect to number, of boys in British Regiments.

2. In reply, I am to state, for the information of His Grace the Governor in Council, that in the opinion of the Government of India the number of boys should be regulated by the actual effective strength of regiments or battalions in India, and not by the established complement.

3. I am further to observe that financial and other considerations make the maintenance of the rule imperative, and that enlistments should not be made in excess of the authorized establishment, but that, in the opinion of the Government of India, this rigorous application of the rule need not necessarily cause the practical inconvenience apprehended by the Adjutant-General of the Madras Army, inasmuch as the British Force in India is always below the established strength, and British Regiments almost invariably so.

4. In the unusual case of a regiment or battalion being above the authorized strength, no enlistment of boys should be permitted except when the necessity of the case is clearly established, and then only with the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency, each case being reported to the Government of India to enable the pay of the extra men being properly admitted.

RETURNS—GUARD.

No. 175.—The Commander-in-Chief directs that the following instructions be published for the preparation of Annual Return of Guards and Escorts furnished by Native Corps under Standing Order No. 16, dated 18th February 1876.

2. First heading—"Strength available for duty"—should show the several ranks available for guard duty on 1st April, including those on guard and orderly duties on that date as shown in the 2nd and 3rd headings. To prevent misunderstanding the first heading should in future be "Strength available for guard duty."

3. The fourth heading—"Total"—should give the total of the 2nd and 3rd headings.

4. The number of men available for guard duty in first heading must be divided by the total number of men on duty in 4th heading. From this product must be deducted one night on duty, and the remainder, which is the actual number of nights in bed enjoyed by the several ranks, is to be entered in the fifth heading "Number of nights in bed."

5. If the number of nights in bed falls short of four and the escorts are excessive, an explanation of the cause thereof should be attached to the Return.

6. Attention is also directed to the instructions contained in paragraphs 1954 and 1955, Army Regulations, regarding the employment of useless guards, &c.

He must be physically fitted for the ranks, a trained soldier though excused duty, and borne on the rolls as a sowar or sepoy only.

Para. 477. Before being sent to an arsenal for instruction, he is to be required to execute an agreement, on stamped paper, * * * * * to serve for ten years, that he holds himself pecuniarily liable for all damages to the regimental arms, shop, appliances and tools, proved before a regimental court of enquiry to have been caused by his carelessness or neglect, and that he is similarly responsible for any charges which wing or squadron officers may, under the regulations, become liable for, in consequence of his having failed, when opportunity to make a proper examination was afforded him, to report the existence of the damages to the arms which has given rise to such charges.

Para. 478. He is to examine all the arms of his regiment quarterly and to give his entire attention to their marking, according to regulation, cleanliness, adjustment, browning and repair; and for the condition of which he is responsible, through the troop and company, to squadron and wing officers.

Para. 479. In addition to regimental pay as a soldier he is to be paid by squadron and wing officers a minimum staff pay of twenty-five rupees per mensem, and when the price of the regimental forge and tools, as supplied from arsenals, is not paid for by squadron and wing officers direct, he will receive from them a minimum staff pay of thirty rupees per mensem, from which he will pay for all tools. The above allowances will include all charges for the repair of arms, but not of accoutrements, or for component parts, &c., supplied free.

Para. 480. In Infantry regiments only, a second enlisted armorer, to be styled "Assistant," is sanctioned. He is to be a fully trained soldier, physically fitted for the service, and he will execute the same agreements as the havildar armorer as regards period of service, &c. &c., which will be in force whenever he has an independent charge.

He is to be excused duty when necessary, to permit of his working under the havildar armorer in the armorer's shop.

He must have at least obtained a second-class armorer's certificate from an arsenal, countersigned by the Inspector-General of Ordnance and Magazines.

Para. 481. He will receive from Wing Officers in addition to regimental pay, a minimum staff allowance of ten rupees per mensem.

Armorer's certificates will be sent to regiments through head-quarters; if any difficulty exists in obtaining competent armorers the same authority should be addressed.

Para. 484. In every troop or company, two non-commissioned officers, and at least four intelligent soldiers, that can be entrusted with the necessary implements for that purpose, are to be instructed by the duffadar or havildar armorer of the regiment, in the mechanism and construction of fire-arms, so as to be able to take them to pieces when necessary. The men so specially instructed will be, when the arms are being stripped for inspection either by the regimental annual board or by the chief civil master armorer, employed on fatigue duty, to assist the regimental armorers; and their skill will be noted in the report to accompany the proceedings of the annual board on arms.

Para. 485. General officers commanding divisions and districts are, on the application of officers commanding regiments, empowered to order the head armorer of a native corps a free passage by railway or bullock train to detached squadrons, wings or companies, and back to head-quarters, for the purpose of examining and repairing the arms. The contingent charges of the armorer on these occasions, which cannot be covered by the usual passage warrants, are to be met by wing officers.

Para. 486. Civilian armorers may, as a temporary measure, still be retained on the entire responsibility of commanding officers, but the principles above laid down should, in dealing with this class of armorers, be also strictly observed.

4. When separate "day rooms," with fire-places exist in barracks, fuel will not be issued in addition to dormitories exclusively used as such.

5. Where no fire-places exist in hospital buildings at stations where fuel is authorized for hospitals, stoves or braziers with pipes leading to the open air will be supplied by the Public Works Department, and an issue of charcoal will be made in lieu of wood, provided that the cost of charcoal so supplied does not exceed that of the quantity of wood sanctioned.

6. In the case of an outbreak of epidemic disease, or other extraordinary circumstance, the scale of fuel to be supplied to any station in the Bengal presidency will be fixed by the officer commanding on the recommendation of the senior medical officer and with strict regard to the actual requirements of the case.

7. When fires are considered to be absolutely necessary at stations not enumerated in the foregoing table, the officer commanding the station may, when time will not admit of previous reference being made to the Commander-in-Chief or Government, issue the necessary orders for fuel to be supplied in such quantities and for such period only as he may deem necessary.

8. Fuel is sanctioned for all medical subordinates (except hospital assistants) doing duty at hill stations (Classes A and B) only at the rate of 40lbs. per diem in winter and 20lbs. per diem in summer. The issue during the summer and winter months will correspond with the period of supply as made to the troops located in the same station.

Fuel is sanctioned to bazaar, barracks, commissariat and ordnance sergeants and station butchers (when compelled to live away from the barracks) at those stations only where issued to the troops, at the rate of 40lbs. per diem in winter and 20lbs. per diem in summer. The issue during the summer and winter months will correspond with the period of supply as made to the troops located in the same station.

(a.) When the Commissariat Department is unable to arrange for the supply of fuel, compensation at the rate of Rupee 1-4-7 per mensem is admissible. Compensation to bazaar, commissariat and ordnance sergeant will be paid by the Commissariat Department, and to barrack sergeants by the Public Works Department.

(b.) A non-commissioned officer acting as sub-conductor is entitled to fuel as for departmental staff sergeants.

(c.) When a commissariat sergeant is absent from a station on command, his wife is entitled to fuel at the same scale as if her husband were present.

15. When the only fire-wood available for issue is of inferior heating quality, or is saturated with wet, the officer commanding the station is empowered to sanction the issue of a small additional percentage on the scale, to compensate for the loss to the troops, but this will be done on his own responsibility.

COURTS MARTIAL.

G. O. C. C., No. 1 of 7th January, 1878.—The Commander-in-Chief having noticed that great delay frequently takes place in bringing soldiers, who have been confined in the Guard Room, to trial by Court Martial, directs that the following certificate be in future attached to all Proceedings of Courts Martial, showing the various stages through which charges preferred have passed, previous to the trial being held, to indicate where the delay has occurred.

2. The chief causes of delay appear to be, in the first instance, insufficient information in the summary of evidence furnished by Commanding Officers when applying for the trial.

Secondly.—The numerous channels of communication between Deputy Judge Advocates and Commanding Officers of Corps through which the papers must pass officially, (especially noticeable in the Artillery at large stations).

O.(a) 320 of 1876:—

		Inches. No.

The abovenamed sizes of discs, two of each size per regiment, with shafts or poles, are to be inserted in the column of remarks, at page 54, Indian Appendix to the British Musketry Regulations, as amended by G. O.* 320 of 1876.

No. 42.—It having come to the notice of the Commander-in-Chief that promotion to Color Havildar has in some instances been made mainly on the grounds of high proficiency in musketry, His Excellency calls the attention of all officers to the rules laid down in the Madras Army Regulations on this subject. It is therein clearly stated that this honorable distinction is to be bestowed on men who, by approved character and conduct, have made themselves worthy of this mark of approbation.

Sir Neville Chamberlain considers the post of Color Havildar to be the fitting reward for Havildars of long and meritorious service and high character, but who by reason of some disqualification are not fit for promotion to the rank of Native Officer.

(a) Madras S. O. No. 79 of 1877, p. 169.

A special prize for proficiency in musketry instruction is provided by Government, and however great the necessity for improving this portion of a soldier's instruction, this requirement must not be allowed to supersede or set aside other qualifications equally needful to make a man a good and deserving soldier.

This order though published with special reference to the grade of Color Havildar, is alike applicable in its spirit to every rank in the Army, and Commanding Officers ought to be most careful not to be carried away by excellence in any one branch of instruction, or by any particular gift.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORTS.

No. 80.—The following Horse Guards' General Order No. 89, dated 1st December 1877, is republished for information and guidance:—

Horse Guards' G. O., Inspection Reports.

I. General officers commanding are informed that, in future, confidential reports are to be made on all officers of Royal Engineers in their several commands on the general army form (W. O. Form 1114), but it will be sufficient if the front portion of the form alone is filled up, the record of service on the back being left blank and ruled through.

II. W. O. Form 1114A has been abolished.

2. The above order applies only to officers of Royal Engineers on the Imperial List, who are employed on purely military duty.

RECRUITING—NATIVE ARMY.

G. O. C. C., No. 49 of 30th April 1878.—The Commander-in-Chief considers it necessary to bring prominently to the notice of Commanding and other officers of the Native Army, that in the course of his inspection of Native Regiments he has noticed a number of weakly undersized men in the ranks, who can at no period of their lives have come up to the required standard, and who are at the present time most certainly not fit to proceed on active service.

HORSES.

No. 47.—With the sanction of Government the following General Order by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India is republished with certain alterations:—

Simla, 29th January 1878, No. 14.—The following rules are, with the sanction of Government, published for the information and guidance of commanding officers of the mounted branches, in view to strict attention being paid thereto on the appearance of Loodiana disease, farcy or glanders, at stations or on the line of march.

1. On the outbreak of Loodiana disease the whole of the horses should be at once removed out of cantonment, or to a distance of not less than three hundred yards from their lines, to untainted ground, which should not be occupied for a longer period than one month, when another change of locality should be made. On the removal of the horses from their lines, the flooring should be dug up to the depth two feet at least; the impregnated soil carted away and replaced by good arable soil, (not alluvial), mixed with lime if possible, and the whole well hammered down to prevent the percolation of urine. The horses attacked should be at once removed together with all their line gear and attendants, to some open spot away from other horses, and their rejected rations and litter burnt.

The depth of the soil to be removed would depend on the nature of such. If gravel, percolation would take place to the extent of the thickness of gravel stratum; should it prove thick, it might be found more convenient and less expensive to remove the horse lines altogether. Great care and judgment should be exercised in determining the course to be followed.

2. Carcases of infected horses should be buried, the skin first being slashed, and the line gear treated as follows:—

Clothing, grooming implements and all rope work destroyed; iron work passed through fire, and leather work thoroughly scrubbed with soft soap and water. This should be certified to by a competent non-commissioned officer.

Glanders and Farcy.

3. With reference to glanders and farcy, it is to be understood that they are one and the same disease, the latter term being used to denote its local origin.

4. Glanderous matter will, if inserted into some local part, produce farcy, and the matter from a farcy ulcer if inserted into the membrane of the nostril will produce glanders. They must therefore be treated alike.

5. When symptoms of a suspicious character, indicative of glanders or farcy, present themselves in a regiment or battery, the horse so affected should at once, together with his attendant and the whole of his line gear, be segregated at a distance of not less than half a mile from other horses, his rejected rations and litter burnt, and his saddlery taken into store.

6. Every horse in the tainted or supposed tainted troop should retain the stall he occupied on the first appearance of suspicious symptoms. Interchange of saddlery or line gear from one horse to another should be strictly prohibited. The horses should be watered in their lines, one drinking vessel at least being allowed for every two horses, and the whole of the horses of the troop should be minutely inspected by the veterinary surgeon every morning, immediately after their return from exercise and before entering their lines, as this is the time any abnormal discharge from the nostrils can be first detected.

7. Should the suspected horse prove either glandered or farcied, the two horses which originally stood next to him, the one on either side, should at once be segregated and treated as suspected cases, and daily inspected by the veterinary surgeon, for at least three months. Should they not show any untoward symptoms during that time, they can be permitted to return to their lines.

8. The stalls from which suspected horses have been removed, should be dug up to a depth of two feet, the earth removed and replaced by good arable soil. The mangers should be pulled down and removed, and the walls of the stalls scraped and white-washed.

9. The carcase of an infected horse should be buried, the skin first being slashed, and the whole of his line gear, grooming implements and "numdah" burnt. Should the numdah not have been used with the saddle previously, then the lining and stuffing of the saddle should be burnt, and the whole of the remaining saddlery should be thoroughly scrubbed with soft soap and water, more especially that portion which comes into contact with the skin.

10. Care should be taken to prevent, as far as it is possible, grass-cutters from collecting grass in the neighbourhood of high roads, or near villages where infectious diseases are known to exist.

DISCIPLINE—SOLDIERS.

G. O. C. C., No. 48 of 23rd April 1878.—The following General Orders, by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished:—

Simla, 16th March 1878, No. 71.—In accordance with the decision of His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, it is intimated that it is within the powers of commanding officers to deprive non-commissioned officers of paid and unpaid lance ranks, either of their appointment or merely of their lance pay. In neither case does such deprivation entail an entry in the regimental defaulters' book, nor does it, except as a punishment, entail an entry in the company defaulters' book. Attention is invited to cases occurring, such as where a lance corporal may be ordered home to the depot, when as a matter of necessity he may have to be deprived of his lance pay, but need not lose his lance rank.

CLOTHING.

No. 72.—Clause 140 of Army Circulars—"Clothing Surplus in Regimental Stores," dated 1st September 1877, is made applicable to India, with the insertion of the words, "for whom clothing is required" in para. 2, after the words "on the strength of the corps."

The return (W. O. Form 883), which can be obtained gratis from the Superintendent, Government Printing, * Calcutta; therein referred to, will be submitted in duplicate; one copy being sent to the Superintendent and Agent for Army Clothing, and the other to the Examiner of Clothing Accounts.

OFFICERS' PROMOTION.

Simla, 20th March 1878, No. 74.—The following General Order, by the Government of India in the Military Department, is republished:—

G. O. 59 and 275 of 1872.
" 185 of 1875.

No. 204, dated 8th March 1878.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following extract of a Military letter from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, No. 16, of the 31st January 1878:—

"Para. 1. I forward herewith copies of two Royal Warrants, dated 31st December 1877 and 28th January 1878, respectively, the former providing for the superannuation of General Officers of Her Majesty's Indian Forces, the other providing for the promotion of the officers of those forces."

VICTORIA by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India.

Whereas it has been represented to Us that it is expedient to provide for the retirement of General Officers of Our Indian Forces, who shall have attained or shall attain the age of seventy years, Our will and pleasure is, that every General Officer who shall have attained or shall attain the age of seventy years by or after the first day of October one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, shall be permanently removed from the establishment of effective General Officers to the retired list, unless in any special case it shall be represented to Us by Our Secretary of State for India in Council, that a relaxation of this rule would be for the good of Our service. In case such General Officer shall have been holding a staff appointment on the first day of October one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, he may continue to hold it until the expiration of the term for which he was appointed, unless it appear to Our Secretary of State for India in Council to be expedient that he should sooner be removed to the retired list.

Given at Our Court at Osborne, this thirty-first day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, and in the forty-first year of Our reign.

By Her Majesty's command,

(Signed) SALISBURY.

VICTORIA by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India.

Whereas it has been represented to Us that it is expedient to make further Regulations for governing the Promotion in the Army of the officers of Our Indian Forces, Our will and pleasure is, that the following Regulations be established, and be the sole Regulations under which the promotion in the Army of such officers shall be effected, viz:—

Regulations.

1. A Captain may attain the rank of Major—
 - (a) By regimental seniority;
 - (b) By 20 years' service in the Army in the case of officers whose appointments to Our Indian Forces was made subject to the conditions prescribed in the General Order of Our Governor-General of India in Council, dated the 9th of December 1859, No. 1,637;
 - (c) By brevet, after 20 years' service in the Army, so long as there remain any Captains on the list of Cavalry and Infantry in Our Indian Forces;
 - (d) By brevet, in succession to a vacancy on the establishment of General Officers, provided such vacancy occur before 1st October 1880, or thereafter for so long as there remain any Captains on the list of Cavalry and Infantry who are not subject to the conditions, prescribed in the General Order of Our Governor-General of India in Council, dated the 9th December 1859, No. 1,637;
 - (e) By brevet, for distinguished service in the field;
 - (f) By brevet, for distinguished service of an exceptional nature other than in the field.
2. A Major may attain the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel—
 - (a) By regimental seniority;

* Superintendent, Lawrence Asylum Press, Madras.

2. The men thus coming noticeably under observation are:

First.—Transfers from the 4 extra Regiments and the 4 Recruit Depôts raised in 1857.

Second.—Transfers from the Recruit Boys of Regiments.

3. Besides the abovenamed—which are easily to be distinguished—the Commander-in-Chief has observed that in several Regiments sufficient attention is not now paid in regard to the enlistment of Recruits. His Excellency has seen in the Drill Squads many youths who ought never to have found admittance into the ranks, and who, if allowed to remain, will probably after a few years of ordinary cantonment service become a burden upon the Pension Establishment.

4. The efficiency of the Native Army must of necessity depend upon the standard of recruitment; and to ensure future efficiency, each individual youth enlisted ought to have in him the promise of becoming equal to all the duties to be expected of a soldier.

5. Sir Neville Chamberlain is fully aware of the embarrassment Commanding Officers must feel in having to refuse to the sons of deserving Native Officers and Soldiers admittance into the service merely on the grounds of defective physique, for in other respects these lads are generally qualified, being intelligent and well educated—but no personal considerations can be held to justify physical deficiency being overlooked, and the required standard must be maintained.

6. The physique of an Army cannot be allowed to deteriorate without injury to the repute of that Army as well as injury to the State; and every youth when he enters the ranks ought, at the least, to be above the standard of the general population.

7. The Commander-in-Chief however wishes it to be clearly understood that in his opinion mere height is of no consideration—what is needed is the frame and sinew sufficient to enable a soldier to carry his arms, ammunition, accoutrements, and great coat for many miles a day consecutively—and the constitution to stand exposure to climate.

RECORD OF SERVICES OF OFFICERS.

No. 50.—Inspecting Generals and other Officers are requested not to forward Officer's sheets, M. M. Form 410, to Army Head Quarters without a rigid security as to their correctness.

The record of service should be filled in by a good writer in the Orderly Room and the confidential report by the Commandant or Head of the department, as far as the first three columns are concerned.

Two sample sheets are sent filled in with the ordinary contingencies as a guide.

In forwarding these sheets by post or otherwise they should not be folded but placed between pieces of mill-board.

PAY CODE.

No. 96.—The following General Order, by the Government of India in the Military Department, is republished:—

No. 247, dated 15th March 1878.—His Excellency the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the following rule which has received the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, be published in supersession of Article 1,445, Pay Code for India, Volume I:—

A non-commissioned officer promoted to the rank of sub-conductor while on furlough, is not entitled to any warrant staff pay until he has returned to India and taken up his duties in the warrant grade; but he will not receive, during the remainder of his furlough, less than the English furlough pay of his rank, or less than the equivalent of the furlough pay he received while still a non-commissioned officer.

RECRUITING—NATIVE ARMY.

G. O. C. C., No. 52 of 2nd May 1878.—The Commander-in-Chief intimates that Recruits for the Native Army are not to be enlisted from outside of the limits of the Presidency, except with sanction previously obtained through the Adjutant-General.

2. There ought to be no difficulty in obtaining from within the Presidency suitable recruits for each branch of the service, provided that proper steps be taken to procure them. Commanding officers are requested to adopt such measures as may be necessary to ensure this being done.

3. What the sepoys of the Coast Army did in times past, their successors, if judiciously selected, may be expected to do in the future. The sepoy—whether of Bengal, Madras, or Bombay—is just what his British officers make of him; and Sir Neville Chamberlain has now seen enough of this Native Army to feel assured that the Presidency can produce plenty of good efficient soldiers provided they be sought for—and when obtained, be properly trained and well commanded.

4. Many of the Regiments of Cavalry and Infantry bear badges of honorable distinctions for past services—whilst the Sappers and Miners have never failed to distinguish themselves whenever and wherever employed.

5. What is indispensable in the Native Army is the existence of that feeling of natural reliance which binds together the British officers and their sepoys. The Officers must know their men, and the men must know and respect their officers. This unison of feeling and of interests is only to be brought about by officers remaining attached to one Regiment. They must not be shifted about merely to preserve relative equality of position and pay. They must be content to cast in their lot with one Regiment, and to make up their professional home.

2. The ruling laid down in paras 3076—3078 and 3089—3090 should be strictly followed; and it is to be understood that the word “man,” when used, includes Non-commissioned Officers. The rank, name and position of the Officer awarding the punishment should be entered in the column for the purpose.

PASSAGE—SOLDIERS' WIVES.

No. 126.—The Commander-in-Chief is pleased to direct, that when the wife of a soldier serving in India takes private service and returns to England, a report of the same is to be made to the Adjutant-General's Office, Simla,* and the commanding officer must further acquaint the officer commanding the depot at home, of the circumstance, with a view of preventing the possibility of a return passage to India being granted by the State.

DRESS.

Simla, 29th April 1878, No. 128.—In order to prevent misapprehension, the Commander-in-Chief in India directs that on all occasions when officers under His Excellency's orders are required to appear in civil courts as jurors, witnesses, or in any other capacity, they will do so in plain clothes and not in uniform.

NATIVE ARMY—MUSKETRY.

No. 129.—The following addenda and errata to the 1877 edition of the Native Musketry Regulations, directed while that work was in the press, are published for general information. All copies of these regulations in possession of corps and departments are to be corrected and completed accordingly.

2. The usual supply of spare copies thereof will be furnished.

Add to para. 22:—

(a) The repeated practice of recruits failing to score 90 points, will be entered in Form E, under that first, or oftener made, which is to be scored out.

(b) When the repeated practice is entered in a fresh return, the names of recruits who have to repeat their practice will be entered first, and distinguished from recruits who had not fired before.

Para. 40:—

In last line of paragraph, dele "percentage;" and substitute proportion.

Add to para. 158:—

Individual men of companies can at all times share in shooting matches, but a company is not to practice for additional training before the annual course commences.

Para. 169:—

In 6th line, after "memorandum," insert—in ink.

Add to end of para. 1:—

The tallies kept at the firing point of hits signalled, can be entered on the margin of the register.

Add to para. 172:—

Or if preferred and found more convenient, close the register in ink, strike out name and performances of any such casual; at once transfer them to the casual register, and rule out the same altogether from the section register.

Add to para. 188:—

Any carelessness in marking can be rapidly ascertained by checking the difference between the marker's score, the actual target, as recorded at foot of register, and the tally of hits kept by the register-keeper.

Add to para. 190:—

(a) The hits on the target, counted at examinations, during a period, are to be at once recorded in the table at foot of register in ink, not in pencil, and the practice recommenced without further delay. The difference between the total points of the period recorded in the register, and that of the total value of the hits actually found on the target, being only added or deducted at the end of each period.

(b) If casualties have fired at the same targets as the men of another company, their hits, &c., will be included in the entry at foot of the registers of the company only; it being noted in the table of the casual register, "—hits on—company register." In this case, to the period total points of such company add the same of the casual register, so that they may agree with the total value of the hits on table at foot.

(c) The same procedure should be followed when casualties only are firing together, the hits being only recorded, and points given and taken on one register. The commanding officer can decide the order in which the various companies are to be so effected.

Add to para. 196:—

(a) The ammunition sanctioned by para. 560, for the practice of (British and Native) officers—Cavalry, sappers and infantry—viz., 60 rounds each, is to be expended by them at matches or practice, at any convenient time, other than when superintending the practices of their men.

(b) No officer's practice is to take place at the same targets at which the men are firing for the annual course.

(c) Regimental arrangements only are required for the record of the practice of officers, the same being only necessary to better fit them to act as instructors of their men. No return of the results of this practice is required at head-quarters.

* Madras.

Note to para. 197:—

The diagram target given on page 93, should be shown to rest on its edge: and be 2 feet high and 6 feet long, as per paragraph 208.

Para. 240. Add to clause 2 (or a):—

officers commanding stations, each will send a report to the staff officer concerned for the general's consideration.

A divisional, brigade, or station report, illustrated by a sketch, 8 inches to a mile, of the ground on which the "field firing" was carried out, in which the "post" or "position" attacked, the mode of attack adopted, the result for each stage and for the whole firing, and all other points of interest, will be described, is only to be sent, by the general or other officer concerned, direct to the Adjutant-General, head-quarters.

ANNUAL CONFIDENTIAL REPORTS—NATIVE OFFICERS.

G. O. C. C., No. 61 of 21st May 1878.—It being necessary that the Commander-in-Chief should always have at his disposal full information as to the character, qualifications, and services of each Native Officer of the Army, His Excellency directs that a confidential report affording this information be annually submitted by every officer in command of a Native Regiment.

2. This report is to be prepared in accordance with the form which will be issued by the Adjutant-General, and is to accompany the annual inspection report, of which it will in future form part.

3. Through the means of such reports the Commander-in-Chief will become possessed of reliable information on a subject most important to the future well being and efficiency of the Native Army—through them Native Officers of high character and qualifications will be able to feel assured that their merits are known to the Commander-in-Chief and Government, and are to be found year by year on record: whilst any Native Officer not deserving to come within that category will also be aware that his short-comings stand registered against him.

4. As nothing to the prejudice of any Native Officers' character should stand on record against him in this Report without his being aware of the fact, the Commander-in-Chief directs that whenever a Native Officer is unfavorably reported upon therein, the purport of such entry is to be communicated to him by the Commanding Officer at Orderly-room, in the presence of the Wing or Squadron Commander and of the Adjutant of the Regiment.

5. Government has of late years done much to raise the position and to increase the emoluments of the Native Officers of the Army, and in return it requires from them efficiency, probity, impartiality, and continuous devotion to duty.

Policies for terms of years issued at largely reduced rates without participation in Surpluses.

Premiums payable half yearly, on 1st January and 1st July.

Claims paid immediately after satisfactory proof of death. An official Notice of death in any of Her Majesty's Government Gazettes is a sufficient proof.

Claims can be adjusted, and premiums can be paid in London, if desired by the Policy holders.

Surrender Values allowed for Life Policies issued at fixed rates of premium which have paid three years' premiums.

The Society's funds must be invested in Indian Government Securities or in other guaranteed Indian Securities.

BILLIARD TABLES.

C. LAZARUS & Co., as Manufacturers, would invite particular attention to their large stock of full-sized Billiard Tables. One of the chief desiderata in a Billiard Table is to secure such an arrangement as will admit of a Ball being struck so as to attain the highest speed without its jumping. This, it need scarcely be said, depends entirely upon the arrangement of the cushions. C. L. & Co., in mentioning this fact, would state that the subject has largely occupied their attention, and after repeated experiments and close consideration, they have discovered a principle in the manufacture of cushions which answers admirably the end desired. Since the manufacture of their cushions on this new principle, C. L. & Co. have received testimonials from some of the first Clubs in India speaking to the merits of the same. To secure truth with speed, that is to say, the maximum of speed compatible with preventing the Ball jumping, is the object which C. L. & Co. have had in view, and which at length they have successfully attained. At the same time, the cushions, it should be stated, are quite as durable, or even more durable, under the new principle of making up, than under the old.
