HEAD-QUARTERS, OOTACAMUND,
2nd October 1885.

No. 103.—Madras Army Regulations.—The following alterations and additions are made in the Madras Army Regulations :—

In para. 991, substitute “K Company” for “the 42nd Company” wherever it occurs.

Section 9. The following will be inserted after para. 12 :—

Para. 12 (a). When cases of infectious disease occur amongst remounts within four months after leaving a dépôt, a brief report will be made by the officer commanding the corps or battery, to the Superintendent of the dépôt from which the horse was received.

Para. 35 is reconstructed as follows :—

35. Combatant officers attached to, and doing duty with, a battery of horse or field artillery or regiment of British cavalry; Colonels, Lieutenant-Colonels and Adjutants of Royal Horse Artillery, and Royal Artillery, entitled, under regulations, to horse allowance; Paymasters, Quartermasters, Veterinary Surgeons, and Ridingmasters, when permanently attached, are permitted, with the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief, to select one horse each from the allotted remounts at the dépôts, and a second horse from the remounts sent to the regiment or battery to which the officer belongs, as chargers, and all other chargers will be obtained by private arrangement. But the rules and regulations which govern or affect the conditions under which chargers are selected from dépôts will apply equally to horses selected from the remounts as regards return, exchange between officers of the same corps, or sale to officers of any other corps, who may be entitled to a choice.

Add new para.—

1459 B. When a paymaster is reported sick, and cannot make satisfactory arrangements for the temporary performance of his duties, he must apply for leave, and a Committee, to be paid by Government, will be appointed to carry on the duties.

The last clause of para. 2709 is amended as follows:—

Application for this promotion is to be made to the Adjutant General, Ootacamund, on M. M. Form 390 A, and should be submitted so soon as the soldier becomes qualified; but if from any cause delay occurs and a back date is asked for, an explanation of the circumstances must be appended.

Paras. 2758 to 2761 are cancelled and the following substituted:—

COMMISSARIAT DEPARTMENT.

2758. The appointments and promotions of the warrant and non-commissioned officers of the Commissariat department are made on the recommendation of the Commissary General.

2759. Candidates for situations in the Commissariat department are, in the first instance, to provide themselves with certificates of proficiency from the nearest Commissariat officer (para. 2702) which are to be forwarded by the Commissariat officer (together with the form [M. M. Form 390] of application for the soldier's transfer to the Unattached List, leaving its first page blank) to the Commissary General, who, should he think the soldier qualified, with reference to his age and previous character, for employment in the Commissariat department, will cause his name to be enrolled in the register of candidates.

2760. A roll of qualified candidates will be kept in the office of the Commissary General, from which selections for appointment to the department will be made; and as vacancies occur, an application for the transfer of the selected candidate will be made as directed in para. 2703.

2761. The first appointment of a non-commissioned officer to the Commissariat department having been sanctioned, he will be entirely under the control of the head of the Commissariat department, who will fix the place and manner of his employment with reference to his particular qualifications and the requirements of the public service.

Section 27, para. 2866, is reconstructed as follows:—

2866C. The application of a civilian for a war medal should be forwarded direct to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military department, accompanied by a certificate signed by the General Officer commanding, under whose orders applicant served in the field, stating that he carried out satisfactorily whatever duties he had to perform in connection with the operation. The application will then be submitted for special sanction of the Secretary of State.

2866D. A civilian who attaches himself to an army in the field for his own advantage, and who holds no military appointment under Government with that army, is ineligible for a war medal.

2866E. Clasps for battles or special operations against an enemy may be issued to all officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers, British or Native, of the departments of the army, engaged therein, whose duties necessitated

Musketry.—With reference to G. O. C. C.,* dated 6th October 1885, page 473, and pending the issue of a new edition of the Native Musketry Regulations, the following courses of preliminary drill and practice will be executed during the coming season by regiments of Native Cavalry and Infantry, as well as companies of Sappers and Miners, receiving Martini-Henry rifles in sufficient time to do so.

A pamphlet containing the subjects enumerated in the table of preliminary instruction is issued with this order.

On receipt of the arms by the regiments named in the above quoted G. O. C. C., general officers commanding will arrange for the necessary amount of practical instruction to be given to the officers by instructors from British Corps to enable them to instruct their native officers and non-commissioned officers in the firing exercise, care of arms, position and aiming drills, and blank firing.

The trained soldiers will, when the instructors are sufficiently trained, be put through the following preliminary course previous to commencing the target practice laid down in this G. O., viz. :—

In other respects the Native Musketry Regulations are to be followed.

In regiments in which an officer, who has recently passed through a course at an Indian School of Musketry is available, assistance from British Corps should be unnecessary.

Recruits' Course.—The musketry instruction of the recruit will be conducted by the Adjutant, and no recruit is to be allowed to proceed to target practice until he has been passed by his commanding officer, as thoroughly proficient, especially in aiming, and in the several firing positions.

The minimum number of drills are given below—

Care of Arms and Ammunition.—Four lessons to be taught to the recruit as soon as a rifle is issued to him.

Position drills.—16 drills.
Aiming drills (as laid down in the Musketry Regulations), 6 } To be combined with the first lessons imparted to the recruit in the firing exercise.

Theoretical principles.—Four lessons, blank firing—Cavalry 3 drills, Infantry 4 drills, viz. :—

- (1) Individual practice ten rounds, five kneeling (Cavalry sitting) and five standing.
- (2) Individual practice, lying down, five rounds.
- (3) Independent firing ten rounds, front rank kneeling (Infantry only).
- (4) Volleys ten rounds, of which five rounds front rank kneeling (Cavalry single rank kneeling, or sitting) and five rounds single rank, lying down.

Judging Distance Drills.—As detailed in the Musketry Regulations.

The recruits' course of target and judging distance practice for both Cavalry and Infantry, are laid down in tables I and II.

Those men who complete their recruits' course between the 1st April and 31st January will be exercised as trained soldiers during the current annual course, either with their companies or as casuals, and those recruits who complete the trained soldiers' course by the date the regimental annual return is closed, will be eligible for musketry prizes.

Those who complete their recruits' course between the 1st February and 31st March, will be exercised in the ensuing Annual Course.

[NOVEMBER 6, 1885.]

Too much care and attention cannot be given to the musketry training of recruits; as on its soundness will depend, to a very great extent, their efficiency as soldiers. It is in fact of supreme importance that they should receive a most careful and deliberate education in the use of the rifle, and that it should be imparted with such tact and consideration as to induce the recruit to take a liking to his work; otherwise, he will habituate himself to the wrong method of firing, and will take a distaste for rifle shooting, which he and his instructors will find a great difficulty in afterwards overcoming.

Trained Soldiers.—The annual course of both Cavalry and Infantry is divided into two parts, viz., "range practice" and "field practice." "Range" practice is the annual course of target practice at fixed distances to be uniformly, carefully, and deliberately performed with the object of improving on the similar practice of the previous year; and of giving to the soldier that steadiness in shooting which is so easy to lose and so apt to be overlooked.

The several practices are detailed in the tables marked III and IV.

In addition to the practices therein laid down, field firing is to be executed at all stations where sufficient ground is available for the purpose.

The "field" practices, and the field firing need not necessarily be performed at the same time as the "range" practices, but may be executed at any time during the year, under the orders of general officers commanding.

RANGE PRACTICES.

(d) Defence Practice.

(Trained Soldiers—Infantry.)

TARGET.—Third Class, without bullseye or centre.

The object of this practice is to train the soldier to fire with rapidity and effect at an advancing enemy, between 320 and 100 yards, with the rifle or carbine, and when there would be no time to adjust the backsight for each shot.

Accordingly he will be instructed to place the slide at the 200 yards graduation, and to keep it there throughout the practice.

At 320 yards aim is to be taken at the head of the figure, and lower down as the distance lessens, as far as the knees when 100 yards is reached.

Ten rounds will be fired in this practice, the first four rounds lying down, the next four kneeling, and the last two standing.

The section or squad will be drawn up opposite the target at 320 yards (Infantry, bayonets fixed), and one round will be fired individually as in the other individual range practices, after which an advance of 30 paces will be made and another round similarly fired, and so on until 100 yards is reached.

All shots will be signalled. Hits on the figure only, but not ricochets, will count three points.

(e) Attack practice (last stage of).

(Trained soldiers—Infantry.)

TARGET.—6 feet by 4 feet, with head-and-shoulder figure, 1 foot from bottom.

The object of this practice is to train the soldier to fire with rapidity and effect when advancing to the “attack” (last stage) between 265 and 150 yards, and when there would be no time to adjust the backsight for each shot.

Accordingly he will be instructed to place the slide at the 200 yards (carbine 250) graduation, and to keep it there throughout the practice.

At 265 yards aim is to be taken at the head of the figure and lower down as the distance lessens, as far as the bottom of the figure when 150 yards is reached.

Ten rounds is to be fired in this practice lying down.

The section or squad will be drawn up opposite the target at 300 yards; the superintending officer and register keeper on each “section” range will then post themselves at 265 yards from the target, and will cause two of the men to rush up to them and at once get into position and fire two rounds individually, as in the other individual range practices, except that the men are to be obliged to fire alternately, shot for shot, then two more men will act similarly until the whole section has fired at 265 yards; after which the superintending officer and register keeper will advance 36 paces, and the practice will be repeated in the same manner; and so on for every two rounds until 150 yards from the target is reached.

Infantry will fix bayonets and slope arms during the last rush.

All shots will be signalled. Hits on the figure only, but not ricochets, will count three points.

VANISHING TARGET.

“Q” Practice.

The object is to train the soldier in the description of fire required when engaged with an enemy appearing and disappearing behind a breast work, &c.

The figures will remain in view for five seconds for one shot, and will disappear for fifteen seconds. The marker should be provided with a watch with a seconds hand to time this practice. Distance 150 yards.

Ten rounds are to be fired in this practice, thus:—in single shots six, i.e., two standing, two kneeling and two lying down, in rapid succession, four shots in any military position at the option of the firer, during which time the figures are to remain in view 30 seconds, and he will fire at one figure only.

The squad will be formed in single rank in front of the targets; the men should be instructed to load quickly after delivering their fire, and every man must fire each time the figures appear, or forfeit his shot.

In aiming at a vanishing target, the rifle should be brought at once to the shoulder on the target appearing (not before) and aim be taken as quickly as possible at the lower part of the figure. No shot will be signalled. At the end of the practice the men will be marched up to the targets, and the number of hits on each figure will be taken off by the superintending officer. Hits and ricochet hits (but not hits by fragments of bullets nor excess hits) will count three points.

For purposes of comparison, the space on which hits are to count should not exceed 432 square inches.

MOVING TARGET.

"R" Practice.

Each practice is to consist of ten rounds fired thus:—Three standing, four kneeling, and three lying down. Distance 150 yards.

For instructions for firing at a moving target, see paras. 112 and 113, Native Musketry Regulations.

Although it would be impossible to train men in large numbers to shoot with accuracy at objects moving across the front at uncertain rates of speed at long and unknown distances, still a little practice with proper instruction will enable many men to fire at moving objects with tolerable accuracy at short ranges.

The men should be instructed to load rapidly, but never to bring the rifle to the "Present" till the target appears. Every man must fire each time the figure is run for him, or forfeit his shot, the register keeper cautioning him by name when it is his turn to fire.

On the figure being struck, the marker will at once signal the hit by raising a small flag above the mantlet, and the register keeper will record the value of the same in the register immediately it is signalled.

Hits and ricochet hits, but not hits by fragments of bullets will count three points.

For the purposes of comparison, the space on which hits are to count should not exceed 432 square inches.

NOTE I.—The amount of target practice laid down for each day should never be exceeded without the sanction of the General Officer Commanding. There are two objections to its being exceeded, viz., (a) The firing is likely to be hurried through instead of being conducted with the greatest possible deliberation and care; and (b) It has been proved that 10 rounds a day is the maximum number which a young soldier can fire with comfort to himself; and that to oblige him to fire 20 rounds does not benefit him, but the reverse.

NOTE II.—Any recruit making bad practice at a distance, especially the first, is, before continuing the course on the following day, to be made to fire carefully a few rounds of blank ammunition to give him steadiness and confidence. A score at each of the distances marked with a * amounting to less than 12 points, may be considered "very bad" practice.

Note 3 becomes Note 4.

Para. 32, clause 3. After "year," in line 2, insert an asterisk, and add the following at the bottom of page 18:—

* If the range is near the station, the field practices are to take place at a time of year other than that at which the range practice of the particular troop or company is executed. Para. 96 is reconstructed as follows:—

At the conclusion of the practice at a distance, the following will be the method of procedure:—

At the firing points.—The danger flag to be raised, the “cease fire” sounded, and the superintending officer will look for the signals from the butts, which when received he will repeat, to ensure correctness. If any difference is found, it will be added to or deducted from the totals, and the superintending officer will explain the fact and sign his name to such explanation on the back of the register. If any hit is found on the target which has not been recorded on the register, it is on no account to be credited to any individual. The register will then be completed and signed, after which the columns “Duplicate, Total, Points,” corresponding with the practices executed must be initialed by the superintending officer to verify their agreement with the columns “Total, Points,” torn off, and immediately on return to barracks given to the Adjutant, who will keep them in order to check the entries in the Troop or Company Annual Return (Army Form B 192) as they are made from time to time throughout the year.

At the targets.—The danger flags are to be raised, and the superintendent at the butts is to carefully examine the targets, count the hits, enter them at once on the marker's memo. (vide para. 89a), and signal the number of bulls-eyes, centres, outers, ricochets, and misses to each firing point. When satisfied that his signals have been understood, he will complete the memorandum which will then be signed by him and the marker, and attached to the register.

Para. 99 is reconstructed as follows:—

99. A copy of an original register will in no case be admitted as a voucher.

The register keeper and officer superintending the practice will certify as follows:—

Register keeper.—“I certify that the points recorded opposite each man's name are those as signalled for him, and that I performed my duty in accordance with the regulations.”

Officer superintending the practice.—“I certify that this practice was conducted in every sense in accordance with the regulations.”

Page 106, “defence practice.” In line 11, after “the,” and before “feet,” insert “knees or,” and under “attack practice,” line 12, delete “bottom of the target,” and insert “lower part of the figure.”

Line 26. After “bayonets,” insert “or swords.”

Para. 109, line 11. After the words “be fired at 600 yards,” insert “by the front rank men;” and for “75 yards,” in same line, read “about 30 yards.” After the words “another volley fired,” in line 11, add “by the rear rank men,” and for “75 yards,” in same line, substitute “about 30 yards.”

Line 17. Between the words “forward” and “about,” add “from 300,” and for “25 yards,” read “35 yards.”

In line 21, after “bayonets,” insert “or swords.”

Page 115, line 7. For “ten seconds,” read “fifteen seconds.”

In line 10, after “in single shots,” insert “six, viz.”

After para. 119, under rapid section Volleys (Timed), ‘S. practice,’ “line 14, after “distances 400 and 500 yards,” insert “or 300 and 400 yards, as may be ordered by the officer commanding the regiment or battalion.”

Para. 141. After “The” and before “troop,” in line 5, add “regiment, battalion,” and after the word “purpose,” in line 6, insert “should a man be unable from any cause to attend the monthly practice he is to pull it up as a casual with some other troop or company, or under some other arrangement.”

Page 135. After “A marksman,” in line 23, insert “to be eligible for a prize must have fired 150 rounds in the ‘range’ and ‘field’ practices of the annual course (section leaders excepted) and.”

Para. 151. To read the same as article 950d of the Royal Warrant.

Erratum.—In S. G. O. No. 112 of 1885, page 164, for the foot note “G. O. C. C. No. 491 of 1885,” read “G. O. C. C. No. 591 of 1885.”

GENERAL ORDERS.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Ootacamund, 20th November 1885.

No. 116.—The following general orders, by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished :—

Adjutant General's Office, Simla, 20th October 1885.

No. 87.

Musketry.—With the sanction of the Government of India, the following alterations are made in the Native Musketry Regulations :—

Mily. Dept. letter No. 1230-C,
Drill and Instruction—Musketry, dated 2nd October 1885.

Para. 28. Expunge from “and”
in line 6 to end of para.

Para. 33 is reconstructed as follows :—

33. A recruit, who fails to obtain 120 points in the three periods of individual firing above laid down, will be again exercised throughout. No recruit can be passed into the ranks until he has succeeded in making at least 120 points, either in the first or in any subsequent practice. In the cavalry, and sappers and miners, the minimum number is 70 points.

Para. 35. Dele from “qualified” in line 3 to “and” in line 4, and substitute :—

Obtained in the three periods of individual firing the required number of points to pass him into the ranks, and is also qualified.

Add as para. 59A :—

59A. In order to afford the soldier every encouragement to improve himself in the use of the rifle, and to compete with success at rifle meetings, &c., no restriction is to be placed on his obtaining extra practice at any time during the year.

Add as para. 59B :—

59B. At target practice no rests of any kind are allowed, except at skirmishing and field firing : when lying down, a great-coat, sheet, or rug may be used to protect the uniform; but neither rifle, forearm, wrist, nor hand, is to rest against any thing, or be in any way supported.

Add as para. 59C :—

59C. The tents allowed for musketry instruction purposes are intended for the protection of the men from the rays of the sun at other times than when actually firing. They should be pitched immediately in rear of firing points, and are never to be utilised for the purpose of shading sights, &c., or in any way assisting or sheltering the firer.

Para. 134.

Page 49, lines 25 and 26. For “and the feet at right angles,” read “that the right foot is pointing to the right, but slightly inwards, and the left foot to the front.”

Page 50, lines 13 and 14. For “the forefinger placed inside the trigger guard,” read “the forefinger to be placed round the trigger, but without pressing it.”

Page 51. Dele from “placing” in line 3 to “it” in line 5.

Para. 145. Expunge the note.

Paras. 148 to 171 are reconstructed as follows :—

6. JUDGING DISTANCE DRILL.

148. The object is to teach the soldier to judge with tolerable accuracy the distance he is from the object, so that he may be able to regulate the elevation of his rifle.

149. In order to teach the recruit to judge distances, he will, first, be exercised in observing the size and appearance of men at known distances.

150. Two men are to be placed as “points” for observation at each of the following distances :—

Recruits' Course.

First four days at 200, 300, 400, and 500 yards.

Remaining four days at 500, 600, 700, and 800 yards.

One of the two men at each distance to be standing and facing the squad; the other to be in any position, lying or kneeling, at the discretion of the superintending officer.

151. The fixed points up to 500 yards are to be thrown out as follows :—A flag having been first placed in the ground to mark where the squads are to be formed up in succession, a non-commissioned officer will march a squad of eight men, formed two deep, in the required direction : at 150 yards from the flag he will halt numbers 3 and 4 of the rear rank, and, by means of the cross-staff, place number 3 eleven paces to the right or left of number 4 (to the right, if the points are to be thrown out to the left, and vice versa), and at right angles to the alignment taken up.

152. At 200 yards the non-commissioned officer will halt the squad, and align number 4 of the front rank on the man at 150 yards, and on the flag. The squad will then march in an oblique direction for a distance of 122 paces, when number 3 of the front rank will halt, turn about, and cover diagonally on the man at 200 yards, and on the man placed at eleven paces from the alignment at 150 yards. The squad will continue to march, leaving a file at every 122 paces, each file turning about in succession and covering diagonally on the man at 200 yards and the man placed at eleven paces from the alignment at 150 yards. When all the "points" have been aligned, numbers 3 and 4 of the rear rank will join their front rank men.

153. When the "points" are to be thrown out to from 500 to 800 yards, it will be done in the same manner, numbers 3 and 4 of the rear rank being halted at 450 yards.

154. The squad instructor for 200 or 500 yards will be at the flag. The others will be extended at intervals of 22 paces to his right or left, so as to bring them opposite the several points of observation, and at right angles to a line drawn from the flag to the first "point."

155. When practicable, the "points" for observation may be thrown out both to the front and rear, when the squads at each distance, after observing the points in one direction, will be turned about, and view them in the other.

156. Should the party be very large, in order to save time, "points" may be thrown out both to the right and left.

157. Should the party at drill have to furnish its own points, the latter will have to be relieved, so as to admit of their observing the fixed points before they proceed to judge upon men placed at unknown distances.

158. Before the squads commence their observations on the "points," the instructor will point out that, in judging distance, they must note the size and appearance of the object, taking into consideration, at the same time, the position of the sun, the state of the atmosphere, and the nature and color of the background, noticing the effect that these conditions have on the appearance of the object, in order that they may be accustomed to take into calculation the effect of the changes made in the appearance of the objects under altered conditions. It should be borne in mind that everything which tends to show up the object clearly, causes it to appear nearer than when the object is not in good light, or when its color is similar to that of its background.

159. The squads will be formed up in succession, one pace in rear of the squad instructor opposite the first "point" for observation, who will then point out the parts of the figure, arms, &c., which can be distinctly seen on the two men before him; after which he will question the men as to the observations they have made, and impress on them the necessity of remembering the appearance of men at this distance under the existing conditions.

160. The instructors must bear in mind that the eyesight of different men varies considerably, and that consequently they must not expect that the observations and answers of every man will be the same.

The squad will then be passed on to the next instructor.

161. The instructors opposite the remaining "points" are in turn to proceed in the same manner, and cause the men to make observations of the same nature as those made when opposite the first "point," directing them to make comparisons between the two men they are then observing, and those previously seen. Each instructor, after questioning the men of the squad, will pass it on until each squad has made observations on all the "points."

162. If preferred, stations can be marked at twenty-two paces apart, and each squad instructor take his own section down the line.

163. When all the men of the squad have made their observations on the different "points," they will be marched to different ground from that on which the drill on fixed "points" has taken place, and judge the distances from men at unknown distances within the limits laid down in the table of drills for the recruits, the instructor cautioning them to recollect the appearance of the men just seen at known distances.

164. The men will judge on objects, such as a tree, gate, building, embankment, &c., as well as on men, care being taken that the object selected is clearly pointed out to them, and that when men form the object, that their position be sometimes, kneeling, or sitting, or lying down, as well as standing, according to the position an enemy would be likely to adopt at the particular distance; e.g., he would seldom expose the full height of his men except at those distances at which it would be comparatively safe to do so.

165. The squad instructors having formed five paces to the front of the right of their squads, are to call each man separately to the front and question him, noting down in a register his answer, which must be given in a division of five yards, and, in order that those following him may not be influenced by his opinion, in a low tone of voice. Should the squad instructors be unable to write English, they will take down the answers in the vernacular. No talking is to be allowed while the answers are being given.

166. At each drill four answers will, as a rule, be given by the recruit; the first four drills to be at distances between 50 and 500, remainder between 50 and 800 yards.

167. When all the answers have been given they will be read out to ascertain that they are accurately recorded. In the absence of a range-finder, the squad will pace the distance by marching towards the men judged on, the instructor placing himself in the centre to count the number of paces, 120 of which are equal to 100 yards.

The distance, when ascertained, is to be made known and entered in the register. Points are to be assigned to the answers as laid down for judging distance practice.

168. When a party is divided into two, in order to judge the distance from each other, the following method will be observed to signal the correct distance between the squads, viz:—a flag lowered to the right, will signify hundreds of yards; to the left, tens; and to the front, five. Thus, for example, if the flag be lowered 4 times to the right, 5 times to the left, and once to the front, the distance signalled is 455 yards.

169. When there is no range-finder, the party, in order to save time and marching will be separated into two portions, moved in different directions, and, when halted, turned towards each other, throwing out a file on the flanks a few paces off when commencing to take down the answers, and closing the files when the answers are checked.

170. When all the answers have been recorded and checked, the parties will advance towards each other, counting the paces as before; the distances measured by each party being added together to give the correct distance.

171. The instructor, in repeating these exercises, will take care that they are conducted, as much as possible, in different directions, in order that the soldier may become habituated to the diversity of circumstances in which he may have to act.

Para. 172 is reconstructed as follows:—

172. The annual course of target practice of both recruits and trained soldiers is always to be superintended by an officer who, although responsible for the proper conduct of the course, will endeavour to develop the capabilities of the troop and company officers in every way by interfering as little as possible. He will, however, witness the comparing of the registers with the targets, and sign them.

Para. 192. Dele from “so” in line 8 to “instruction” in line 10, and substitute “to be exercised as soon as possible under regimental arrangements.”

Para. 210 is reconstructed as follows:—

210. When everything is ready, the bugler, who is to be between the two firing points, is to sound the “fire,” and as soon as the danger flag is lowered, the officer is to determine the order in which the men are to fire, when each man in succession, commencing with the named man, will move to the firing point, make ready, and fire, after which he will as soon as he sees his shot signalled move to his place. The men will successively step forward and get into position immediately a man has fired; but will not load until the former shot has been signalled.

Page 86. Between drilled soldiers (Infantry) and recruits, all branches, insert—

“Drilled soldiers (cavalry) 600 yards, lying down, 10 rounds.”

Para. 233 is reconstructed as follows:—

At the conclusion of the individual firing, a classification is to be made as follows:—

To be classified as	Infantry.	Cavalry.
Marksman	Must obtain 145 points.	Must obtain 100 points.
First class shots	120 ”	80 ”
Second class shots	100 ”	70 ”
	Failing to obtain
Third class shots	100 points.	70 points.

Detail.	Figure of Merit.
	Very good.	Good.	Moderate.	Bad when under.
Cavalry ...	80	70	60	60
Infantry ...	130	115	105	105

Para. 244 is reconstructed as follows :—

A recruit, in addition to having made 120 points in individual firing, is required to execute the above collective practices before he can be considered efficiently instructed, and fit to take his place in the ranks.

Para. 246, line 2. For "five" read "ten," and in line 5, for "three," read "five." Dele "only" in line 6.

Para. 287 is reconstructed as follows :—

Ten rounds per man borne on the strength of the regiment are allowed annually for field firing purposes.

Para. 291 is reconstructed as follows :—

To ascertain the results, a marking party, consisting of at least one officer and four non-commissioned officers, should be detailed to take off and record, on the completion of each stage of the attack, the number of hits respectively on the dummies and screens of the fighting lines, and on the supports and main body; and at the conclusion of the practice to forward the same, on the prescribed form (see page 224), to the chief umpire.

Officers commanding troops or companies will ascertain on the completion of each stage, and furnish at the end of the practice, to the umpire attached to them, a statement showing the number of rounds that have been expended by their men in each stage.

Para. 293 is reconstructed as follows :—

The umpires in thier reports will record the distances estimated by commanding officers from the "post" or "positions" between which each stage of the attack was carried out, together with the actual distances, subsequently ascertained by range-finder or measurement.

Para. 294 is reconstructed as follows :—

The chief umpire will furnish to the officer commanding the station a detailed report of the practice, together with a return of the results (see page 224) and a sketch of the ground. (The sketch should be on the scale of 8 inches to a mile, and be signed and dated by the officer who made it.) He will detail the mode of attack adopted, and the description of the fire at each stage, reporting on its steadiness or otherwise.

Add as para. 294A :—

When the practice is carried out by divisions or brigades officers commanding regiments and battalions will furnish similar reports and sketches to the chief umpire, to enable him to complete his sketch and report to the general officer commanding.

Add as para. 294B :—

These reports will be submitted by general officers commanding to the Adjutant General of the presidency concerned for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

Para. 301, line 6. Dele "there being no classification."

Para. 318 is cancelled and the following substituted :—

INSTRUCTION IN THE USE OF THE REVOLVER.

("PISTOL, REVOLVER. MARK I.")

Native officers and soldiers of cavalry or infantry, of whose equipment a revolver forms a part, will fire annually 12 rounds standing at 30 yards in single practice, and 12 rounds at 15 yards in continuous practice.

The target will in all cases be as follows :—

(Two Regulation Target.)

Size, 6 feet by 4 feet.

Bull's-eye ...	...	...	12 inches in diameter.
Centre ...	...	...	3 feet in diameter.
Outer ...	...	...	Remainder of target.

The lines marking the bull's-eye and centre to be invisible to the firer.

The points will be bull's-eye 4, centre 3, outer 2: they will be recorded on the register from the target in the above order; and the register, when completed and signed by the superintending officer, will be handed to the Adjutant for the information of the commanding officer, and the results recorded in the table set apart for them in the Regimental Annual Return.

At all practice, whether single or continuous, each man will be individually called to the front by the superintending officer; he will then load and fire his six shots, and return to his original position before the next man is called to the front; at each distance six shots are to be fired with the left hand.

In the use of the revolver constant vigilance is necessary; at all practices, whether blank or ball firing, every possible precaution must be taken against accident, the strictest order and discipline being maintained at the firing point.

The revolver should, as a general rule, be reserved for defence at close quarters. It is sighted to shoot accurately at 50 yards.

It can be fired in two ways either after bringing it to full cock by pressing back the hammer with the thumb of the left hand; and then pressing the trigger; or, without previously cocking, by simply pressing back the trigger to its full extent until the spring is released and the hammer falls.

The practice is therefore divided into—

“Single practice;” i.e., fixing; the hammer at full cock before each shot, and thus firing every chamber separately.

“Continuous practice;” i.e., without previously cocking, firing all the chambers consecutively.

In both these practices, after each shot the trigger must be allowed to come back freely, by releasing the forefinger as much as possible, without taking it out of the trigger guard.

As the revolver has a rebounding lock, it always returns to half cock on the release of pressure from the trigger after firing.

At “single practice,” as the pull off is lighter when the revolver is at full cock, there is no need for a very gradual pressure, as the trigger obeys the finger almost instantaneously.

At “continuous practice,” before taking aim, it is necessary to slightly press back the trigger, and hold the revolver steady for an instant to obtain a good aim, and then continue the pressure until the hammer falls.

As much greater accuracy can be obtained when firing single shots slowly, than when firing all the chambers rapidly and continuously, the latter method should only be adopted on emergency.

Every part of the revolver must be kept perfectly clean, oil only being used for that purpose; the use of any cutting substance, e.g., emery, sandpaper, &c., &c., is strictly forbidden.

FIRING EXERCISE.

(For Infantry and Dismounted Cavalry.)

The squad must be formed in single rank at half interval.

Words of Command.

Prepare to load. With the right hand draw the revolver carefully from its case, and lay it on the palm of the left hand, right side uppermost, the right hand retaining its hold of the butt.

Load. Open the shield with the thumb of the right hand, revolve the cylinder from left to right, inserting a cartridge in each of the six chambers in succession as they get opposite the cartridge “lead” cut in the body of the revolver.

(There is a stop to prevent the cylinder from rotating from right to left; each chamber will be in the proper position for loading when the cylinder is moved back to this stop.)

Two. Close the shield and resume the grasp of the stock with the right hand, dropping the left hand to the side at the same time, and placing the forefinger along the outside of the trigger guard, remaining fingers grasping the butt. (The revolver should be held in the loading position with the barrel pointing upwards to the left front.)

Fire—rounds. Make a half left turn, right foot pointing to the front and advanced about 6 inches, full cock by pressing back the hammer with the thumb of the right hand.

Single practice.

Ready.

Present. Raise the revolver until the breech is in line with the right eye, foresight just below the object; the hand to lightly grasp the butt, arm to be a little bent, in order that the revolver can the more easily be maintained in the line of aim.

Place the forefinger round the trigger, align the foresight on the spot at which aim should be taken through the groove on the breech; as soon as a correct aim is obtained, press the trigger until the hammer falls, and return to the loading position.

For "continuous practice," the following words of command will be given:—

Fire—rounds.
Continuous practice.
Ready. } As before detailed: but without full cocking.

Present. Raise the revolver until the breech is in line with the right eye, foresight just below the object; the hand to lightly grasp the butt, arm to be a little bent. Place the forefinger round the trigger, pressing it partly back at the same time, and align the foresight on the spot on which aim should be taken through the groove on the breech; as soon as a correct aim is obtained, press back the trigger to its full extent, and, after firing, release the trigger with the forefinger, and without full cocking continue to fire until the whole of the chambers are discharged, afterwards returning to the loading position.

Cease Fire. Extract the cartridge cases and return the revolver to its place.

To unload or extract empty cases with Enfield pistol revolver mark I, proceed thus—

Unload. Hold the revolver in the right hand, with the barrel pointing upwards to the left front at an angle of about 30° or 40°. Place the right thumb on the catch and press it back, then with a smart jerk of the wrist, throw the barrel forward when the cartridge cases will fall out (unfired cartridges will be removed at the cartridge lead). The bottom case may occasionally require to be removed by revolving the cylinder.

When the cases have fallen out of the chambers, remove the thumb from the catch, and by a smart jerk, throw the barrel back into position.

FOR CAVALRY MOUNTED.

The squad must be formed in rank entire, at double open file interval.

Draw pistol. Take off the right-hand glove if worn and seize the butt of the revolver with the right hand.

Two. Draw the revolver carefully, and bring it at once to the position in which the sword is "carried," the muzzle up right, the hammer resting in the hollow between the thumb and hand, the lower fingers relaxed and extended along the butt.

This position is called the "Advance."

Prepare to load.
Load.
Two.
Fire—rounds.
Continuous or
Single practice.
Ready. } As detailed for infantry.

Front—Present. From the left hand raise the revolver with the right till the breech is nearly as high as, and in line with the right eye, with the muzzle lowered to the object, the hand lightly grasping the butt, the arm a little bent, but without stiffness, in order to keep the revolver more correctly to its aim and to avoid the shock of a recoil.

Preparatory to firing to the right or left, the squad must turn their horses.

Ready. As before.

Left—Present. The revolver to be carried to the left, and raised and levelled as directed in presenting to the front.

Right—Present. The revolver is carried to the right and raised and levelled as directed in presenting to the front.

Rear—Present. Carry the revolver as far towards the rear as the body turning in that direction will admit; take the aim, and hold the pistol in the same manner as directed for presenting to the front.

Return Pistol. Drop the muzzle under the bridle arm and return the pistol to its place.

Add as para. 327A.

327A. Under no circumstances whatever is aiming or snapping at the eye or target or other object ever to be permitted on a range during target practice, but there is no objection to the two men in position for firing, taking a preliminary snap or two at the targets, provided that the "Fire" has sounded, the danger flags are lowered, and the officer has ordered the practice to proceed.

Paras. 340 to 358 are cancelled, and the following substituted:—

JUDGING DISTANCE PRACTICE.

Para. 340. In this practice the correct distance is to be ascertained by the stadiometer or with any other range-finder issued for the purpose, or the distances may be paced as directed in judging distance drill if the ground is suitable.

Para. 341. The annual course of judging distance will be carried out by each troop or company once a month throughout the year, thus consisting of twelve practices, each of four answers at distances between 50 and 1,000 yards, as the ground may admit. The troop or company is to be marched into the country for the purpose. In each practice the distance to be judged should be fixed upon with due precaution to prevent a clue being formed to the correct distance. In fact, the practice should be made as difficult as judging distance is found to be in the field. Every troop and company officer will go through the annual course of judging distance with his troop or company.

Para. 342. The classification of officers and men will be upon their performances in this course and according to the following award of points:—

When the correct distance is not over 500 yards: within 20 yards, 2 points; within 30 yards, 1 point.

When the correct distance is over 500 yards: within 30 yards, 2 points; within 40 yards, 1 point.

Para. 343. At the end of the musketry year, those who have made an average of one point per answer, will be classified 1st class; all others, 2nd class.

Para. 344. Judging distance is to be executed in one of the following ways:—

1. Troop or company halted in a position on a road or plain.—Before the troop or company to judge distance arrives on the ground, four men of another company, each provided with six rounds of blank ammunition, are to be sent out to act as "points" and posted each in a different place and at different distances, with orders that when the correct distances have been measured to them they are to conceal themselves behind a hedge, tree, hollow in the ground, &c. Each man is to have a number given to him, 1, 2, 3, 4, and when the troops arrive on the ground ready to judge, on one wave of the red flag with the troop or company No. 1 will partly show himself and fire off his ammunition at the rate of a round a minute, taking cover after each shot, and at two waves of the flag No. 2 will fire, and so on. During this time, the answers will be recorded.

2. Troop or company marching on a road or plain.—On the march the points will in the same manner be put out along the route and each man will fire directly the head of the column reaches a given spot. On the report, or on seeing the puff of smoke, the troop or company will halt and be formed up as quickly as possible, facing the place where the point is, and will adjust their sights to the distance they consider right, judging on the smoke and sound of the report, on the man if visible, or on any object in the immediate vicinity of the spot from whence the firing proceeds.

Para. 345. General Rules.—When firing is prohibited (as on a public road) each "point" instead of firing blank ammunition must attract attention by showing himself at intervals of a minute and waving a handkerchief.

Para. 346. Opportunities should sometimes be given for judging on cavalry or on mounted officers or men acting as points.

Para. 347. Advantage should be taken of roads lying parallel with the line of march on which to post the "points," especially if other parts of the ground, such as fields and gardens, cannot be trespassed on.

Para. 348. The "points" may sometimes be objects such as a bridge, house, sharp bend in the road, &c. At long distances a troop or company may be divided, one portion judging on the other. Parties instead of single men may act as "points," but one man only is to fire or attract attention.

Para. 349. The register keepers who are to be non-commissioned officers under the superintendence of the officers are to be placed five paces in front of the right of their respective sections; they must not keep the register containing their own names if it can be avoided; the answers of each of the officers will be first recorded; after recording these and their own answers, they will record each man's answer in the manner laid down for judging distance drill. Any alteration in an answer must be made and initialed by an officer before the correct distance is declared, but no alteration in any answer is allowed after such distance has been notified.

Para. 350. At the conclusion of a practice, each man's score is to be totalled and read out, and the register must then be signed.

Para. 351. The merit of judging distance practice will be based on the percentage of men in the first class to the total number of men classified at the end of the musketry year.

JUDGING DISTANCE BY SOUND.

Explanation of System

352. The system is based on the rate at which sound travels. For practical purposes, sound may be reckoned to travel at the rate of 1,100 feet a second or 1,100 yards in three seconds. Accurately sound travels 1,093 feet a second with the thermometer at zero of centigrade (32°·5 Fahrenheit). The velocity increases nearly 2 feet for every degree of centigrade, or 3°·6 Fahrenheit. For the same temperature it is independent of the density of the air and consequently of the pressure. It is the same for the same temperature with all sounds whether they be strong or weak, deep or acute. The increase of velocity, which occurs with an increase of temperature, is not sufficient to affect the calculation; it will be well, however, to bear in mind when judging by sound in a hot climate that it is advisable to decide any doubt by giving preference to a high estimate rather than to a low one. Between the flash (this term includes smoke) of a rifle or gun and the sound of the report a certain time elapses. If this period of time is carefully noted in seconds, the distance the sound has travelled can then be calculated.

353. This method of judging distance is particularly useful in front of a well posted enemy, who fires from cover without showing himself. It is also useful under many circumstances when judging distance by sight alone is impossible.

To count the time between the flash and report, it is necessary to train men to count mentally at a fixed cadence, and for this purpose a simple pendulum should be made with waxed twine and a ball of lead.

354. The pendulum must have a length of exactly $39\frac{3}{4}$ inches between the point of suspension and the centre of the lead ball. As the twine is liable to stretch, its length should be occasionally tested and corrected when necessary. It may be fastened to a nail, to a pile of arms, or held between two fingers, care being always taken that it can oscillate freely. The duration of each oscillation, that is to say, the time employed by the pendulum in going from one end to another of its swing, is one second.

The men must be practised in counting]ll in the period of three oscillations. Each unit will represent 100 yards, thus when a man counts up to six the corresponding distance is 600 yards.

DRILL AND PRACTICE.

355. When the men have had carefully explained to them the system herein described, and have thoroughly learnt in the barrack room to count according to the necessary cadence, judging distance drill and practice will be undertaken in the following manner:—

DRILL.

1st Drill.—Those under instruction having been marched to any convenient ground, the instructor will place a squad of four men at a distance known to him, and the squad will at his signal fire a volley with blank ammunition. The men under instruction will then count according to the cadence they have been taught, taking care to commence immediately the flash is seen and to continue until the sound of the report is heard. The distance is then estimated according to the number counted.

The men will judge four distances in this manner between the limits of 400 and 1,500 yards. The squad of four men being moved to the different distances which should be taken up in irregular order. The answers given by the men are to be entered on a register and points assigned as follows:—

Within 50 yards 2, within 100 yards 1.

The men should be instructed to give their answers in even hundreds or fifties ; any attempt at judging with 50 degenerates into guess work and should not be allowed.

2nd Drill.—At this drill a section of another troop or company will be detached to take cover under a bank or in a ditch in extended order. Those under instruction will be placed at unknown distances between 400 and 1,300 yards from the detached section, and will extend for attack and lie down. The instructor will then give the signal to the detached section to commence independent firing with blank ammunition, which must be carried out slowly to the extent of two rounds per man. The men must be most careful not to confuse the sounds of the different rifles, so as to avoid reckoning between the flash of one, and the report of another. The troop or company will judge distance from four different points to which the section should be moved. The answers and the correct distances which should be ascertained by the range-finder, being entered in the register in the usual manner.

PRACTICE.

356. 1st Practice.—The first practice will be carried out in the same manner as the first drill, except that the squad of four men will be placed at unknown distances, keeping as much as possible between the limits of 400 and 1,500 yards.

2nd Practice.—The second practice will be carried out in the same manner as the second drill. If, however, the assistance of artillery be available, it will comprise judging two distances only on the extended section firing between 400 and 1,300, and two distances on guns in action between the limits of 800 and 1,500 yards. The company will be extended and lying down when judging the distance on the guns in the same manner as when judging on the section.

3rd Practice.—At night the only possible way of judging distance is by sound, and it is necessary that practice in the dark should be carefully carried out. At this practice those under instruction will judge two distances from a squad of four men firing volleys, and two distances from a section extended and firing independently. In this practice, which must be carried out on ground previously measured, the men should be extended at intervals, and they may take any position they like.

357. It is very difficult to judge distance by sound when the enemy's fire is well sustained, or when his men are sheltered in such a way that the flash can only be seen some instants after the shot has been fired. It is difficult to judge distance from the report of an isolated rifle beyond 1,200 yards, and impossible to do so beyond 1,500 yards.

358. Section volleys will enable the distance to be judged up to 3,200 yards, and the fire of artillery up to 6,500 yards, or nearly $3\frac{1}{4}$ miles.

The following alterations are made in para. 365 as reconstructed by G.O.* No. 71 of 1884 :—

1st Infantry Prize. After the words "To the best shot" add "among the sepoys and lance naicks."

For "Rs. 20 and a badge of cross muskets and crown, &c." read "Rs. 30 and a badge of cross muskets and crown, &c."

After the words above laid down add—

2nd Infantry Prize. To the best } Rs. 25 and a badge of shot of the color havildars and } cross rifles worked in gold havildars in each regiment. } to be worn on the left arm.

3rd Infantry Prize. To the best } Rs. 15 and a badge of shot among the naicks of each } cross rifles worked in gold

For "2nd Infantry Prize" read "4th Infantry Prize."

For "3rd Infantry Prize" read "5th Infantry Prize;" and in line 3 of that clause, after "the" add "non-commissioned officers and" and for "the 1st and 2nd prizes" in lines 7 and 8, substitute "of any of the above prizes."

For "4th Infantry or Honorary prize" read "6th Infantry or Honorary Prize."

Add as para. 366A :—

With the exception of the prize for the havildars of the best shooting company, all prize-holders must have qualified as marksmen.

Para. 367, line 2. For "the fourth prize as marksmen" read "marksmen's prizes."

Para. 369 is reconstructed as follows :—

369. The best shot of an infantry regiment will be that sepoy or lance naick who, being a marksman, obtains the greatest aggregate number of points in the three periods of individual firing. The second best shot of the regiment will be determined in the same manner.

* S.G.O. No. 62 of 1884, page 110.

Para. 370, clause 3, is reconstructed as follows:—

By the total points at each distance, in inverse order.

Para. 371 is reconstructed as follows:—

371. Should a havildar of the best shooting company be the best shot among the havildars or a marksman, he is to wear the distinguishing badge of that position, in addition to the honorary distinction appertaining to the best shooting company; the latter he must resign if transferred to another company.

Para. 372. 1st Cavalry Prize. For "Rs. 20" read "Rs. 30."

Paras. 376 to 379 are cancelled.

Para. 389, line 2. Expunge the words "and judging distance," and dele the "s" in "practices."

Para. 391, lines 1 and 2. Expunge the words "and judging distance practice."

The rewards for Arabic, Persian and Sanskrit are admissible to the above classes without restriction.

43. Successful candidates in examinations, other than Hindustani and Persian Higher Standards, will be granted travelling allowances to and from Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, as the case may be, for officers double first class fare by rail and eight annas a mile by road. These allowances will also be given to successful candidates, when officers are compelled to proceed to the Presidency town for examination in the Persian Higher Standard, owing to its being impracticable to assemble a qualified committee up country.

44. It is to be understood that a period of leave sanctioned under para. 1420, Section 12, Madras Army Regulations, is obtainable for each language undertaken.

45. Candidates for degree in honor, in Arabic or Persian, are permitted to pass their leave in any country, where the language studied is usually spoken.

46. Candidates for examinations under paras 20, 26 and 29 need not have passed the Higher or Lower Standard in Hindustani. They can only present themselves for one standard at once, but may be examined by any of the tests without having passed a lower test.

47. A candidate cannot be permitted to present himself for examination in the same language and test more than three times, if the examination be a purely voluntary one; but in no case is this restriction to be held to apply to any examination, which is of a compulsory nature, or is a qualifying test for entrance to the staff corps, appointments on the general or personal staff, or for any employment whatever, Civil or Military, under Government.
