EDUCATION

[TABLES 1 TO 10, PAGES 6 TO 116]

(Compiled from the Annual Reports on Public Instruction received from local Governments and Administrations)

For the definitions of the terms used in the tables, as given in the Bengal Education Code, see the eleventh issue of the Judicial and Administrative Statistics.

Number of Students

The total number of scholars in public and private institutions in British India in 1909-10 was 6,214,995. This represents an increase of 1,796,687 in the last decade, being at the rate of 40 per cent. Male scholars numbered 5,383,041 as compared with 3,988,663 ten years ago, and females numbered 831,954 as compared with 429,645. The increase is at the rate of 35 per cent in the case of male scholars and 94 per cent in the case of female scholars.

Number and Classification of Schools and Colleges

The total number of institutions in 1909-10 was 170,469, of which 156,285 were for males and 14,184 for females. The total number of villages served by these schools is 581,791, and the number of towns, i.e., places containing 5,000 inhabitants or upwards, is 1,605. Thus each institution for males serves nearly 4 towns and villages, and each institution for females serves 41 towns and villages. The number of students in each class of school or college classified according to the description of education imparted therein is as follows:

	1900-01	1909-10
UNIVERSITY EDUCATION—
Arts Colleges :

Public Primary Schools	62,013	52,953
Private Elementary Schools	3,164,269	4,559,119
	545,946	563,191

The total number of scholars, omitting those in Baluchistan in respect of whom details are not available, are distributed as follows:

	1900-01		1909-10
	Males	Females	Males	Females
Colleges
Secondary Schools, Special Schools, and Private	658,973	48,296	992,371	97,237
Advanced Schools
Primary Schools and Private Elementary Schools	3,328,259	381,194	4,388,070	734,240

Thus of the total number of male scholars 18 per cent, and of female scholars 12 per cent are undergoing higher education.

The percentage of students to the population of school-going age, which is taken as 15 per cent of the total population, was 30 per cent in the case of males and 5 per cent in the case of females.

The increase in the number of students at Public Primary Schools in the last decade has been at the rate of 40 per cent, and the increase in the case of Private Elementary Schools has been at the rate of 3 per cent. The attendance at Secondary Schools including Private Advanced Schools has increased by 40 per cent in the same period. Girls attending Middle Vernacular Schools in 1909-10 numbered 35,324 as compared with 30,904 attending High Schools and Middle English Schools combined.

Schools for special instruction extend over a wide range of subjects and their total number has increased from 965 to 5,019 in the last decade. The number of students has, at the same time, increased from 33,947 to 143,133. The number of students of the law schools has decreased from 295 to 126, while that of the students of engineering and surveying schools has increased from 1,140 to 1,150. In technical and industrial schools the increase has been from 4,405 to 8,447.

Stages of Instructions in Public Schools

The total number of scholars on the rolls of the general public schools, both secondary and primary, on the 31st March 1910, included 4,677,136 boys and 745,980 girls. Of these nearly 59 per cent of the boys and girls were in the lower primary stage reading printed books and 36 per cent of the girls were in a still lower stage not reading printed books.

Results of University Examination

The English Arts Colleges contain 74 per cent of the total number of students undergoing university education. This is slightly less than the proportion ten years ago. The Oriental Arts Colleges showed a tendency towards decline in the number of students up to 1907-08, but since then there has been a marked improvement, the number in 1909-10 being 1,320, the highest in the last decade. The number of law students has increased in the last decade from 2,562 to 2,879. There are 300 more students at Medical Colleges than ten years ago, but the increase has not been rapid since 1901-02. In the Engineering Colleges the rise in the number of scholars has been relatively large. The following statement shows the number of examinees for the attainment of the university degrees named, the number passed, and the race or creed of the passed scholars in 1909-10:

	Number of ex- aminees	Number passed	RACE OR CREED OF PASSED SCHOLARS

It is interesting to observe the different proportion of the students attending the various classes of colleges who proceed to a degree. The proportion is highest in the case of law and lowest in the case of colleges for oriental learning. The following statement shows the average number

System of Management

More than three-fourths of the total number of schools and colleges in India are public institutions, i.e., the course of study conforms to the standard prescribed by the Educational Department or by the Universities, and they are either inspected by the officers of the Department or present pupils at public examinations held by the Department or by the Universities. These public institutions contain nearly nine-tenths of the total number of students in India. Of the public institutions about 86 per cent (containing 89 per cent of the scholars) receive public aid. Direct public management, however, is but a small feature of the educational system of India, and these institutions altogether number only some 2,000. They include nearly one-third of the total number of colleges and about one-tenth of special schools, but in other classes of schools the proportion managed directly by Government is insignificant. The number of institutions managed by local funds and municipal boards is very much higher and such institutions contain more than a quarter of the total number of scholars on the rolls on the 31st March. Nearly half the institutions in India are under private management aided by Government or by local funds or by municipal boards.

Female Education

The ratio of girls to boys under instruction is about 1 to 7. Ten years ago it was about 1 to 10.

As regards creed, among Christians and Parsis the ratio of girls to boys is about 1 to 2, among Buddhists and Brahmans about 1 to 6, and among Muhammadans and non-Brahmans about 1 to 8.

As regards University education, the number of girls in Arts Colleges (217) is greater than in all the other colleges taken together. The number of girls studying in Medical Colleges (64), which is a little less than one-third of the number in Arts Colleges, comes next.

Of the girls attending schools for special education (17,933), as many as 1,320, or 8 per cent were in Technical and Industrial Schools, of whom 52 were Europeans and Eurasians, 558 Native Christians, 476 Hindus, 117 Muhammadans, and 32 Buddhists. Two hundred and one were at Medical Schools, the majority of them being Native Christians.

Cost of Education

About two-thirds of the total expenditure can be assigned to different classes of educational institutions, and about one-third is treated as indirect expenditure on all classes of institutions combined. The following statement shows what percentage of the total expenditure is incurred on each of the different classes of schools and colleges:

Direct expenditure on Public Instruction:

Arts Colleges	5.77
Colleges for Professional Training	3.01
Secondary Schools	27.14
Primary Schools	27.42
Training Schools	2.44
All other Special Schools	4.01
TOTAL	69.79

Indirect expenditure on Public Instruction:

University	1.94
Direction	.89
Inspection	5.6
Scholarships	1.79
Buildings	9.94
Furniture and apparatus	1.03
Miscellaneous	9.02
TOTAL	30.21

About 52 per cent of the total expenditure in 1909-10 was met from taxation, i.e., provincial revenues and contributions from district boards and municipalities. About 27 per cent was met from fees, and the balance was provided by subscriptions, endowments, and miscellaneous receipts. These figures are supplied by Educational Officers and are prepared on a different basis from those that appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts.

The total expenditure has increased in the last 10 years from R3,84,00,000 to R6,88,00,000, i.e., by 79 per cent. The increase in fees is only 54 per cent, while the increase from provincial revenues and local and municipal funds is 111 per cent. The average annual cost of educating each pupil in the different schools and colleges in British India during 1909-10 was as follows:

Hostels or Boarding-houses

There were, in 1909-10, 2,499 hostels or boarding-houses attached to colleges and schools with 96,029 residents. Of these 2,107 were for males and 392 for females with 74,080 and 21,949, respectively, in residence. The following statement shows the number of boarders attached to each class of schools or colleges:

Arts Colleges	6,315
Colleges for Professional Training	1,441
Secondary Schools	54,822
Primary Schools	22,089
Special Schools	10,700

[TABLE I, PAGE 119]

(Compiled from figures supplied by local Governments and Administrations)

The following table shows the growth in the number of printing presses and in their output in the past 30 years. The figures in brackets represent percentages of increase (+) or decrease (—) in the stated year compared with the figure for the concluding year of the preceding decennium.

	Presses	Newspapers	Periodicals	Books published
				In English or other European languages	In Indian languages (modern or classical)
1879-80	751	328	322	523	4,346
1889-90	1,465 (+ 95 %)	526 (+ 60 %)	302 (— 6 %)	917 (+ 75 %)	8,461 (+ 95 %)
1899-1900	2,153 (+ 47 %)	675 (+ 28 %)	465 (+ 54 %)	1,164 (+ 27 %)	6,724 (— 21 %)
1909-10	2,736 (+ 27 %)	726 (+ 8 %)	829 (+ 78 %)	2,112 (+ 81 %)	9,334 (+ 48 %)

The number of Indian vernacular or classical books is still about five times as large as the number of books printed in English or in other European languages.

The provincial output of the printing presses in 1909-10 was as follows:

	Newspapers	Other periodicals	English books	Indian books
Burma		44	52	18
Eastern Bengal and Assam		41	15	3
Bengal		102	104	763
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh		124	106	272
Panjab		115	90	86
Bombay		160	209	113
Central Provinces and Berar		17	10	13
Madras		119	233	834

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books which greatly exceed in number those produced in any other province. In the number of newspapers, however, Bombay stands first followed by the United Provinces, Madras, the Panjab, and Bengal. The United Provinces show a numerical increase of 34, while in Bengal, Bombay, the Panjab, and Madras there is a decrease of 22, 17, 6, and 4, respectively, as compared with the figures for 1908-09.

In the subjects of the books published in 1909 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second:

Religion	3,057	History and biography	470
Poetry and the drama	1,929	Medicine	411
Language	1,111	Mathematics and mechanics	281
Fiction	525	Philosophy	203
Law	505

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1909 in the principal languages:

English	2,221	Uriya	403
Bengali	1,847	Panjabi	309
Hindi	1,193	Pali-Burmese and Burmese	183
