IN SEX GLAND INSUFFICIENCY! IN SEXUAL NEUROSTHENIA!! DEFECTIVE NERVE-CELL NUTRITION!!!

The great value of VIROTONE is however demonstrated in Sexual Disabilities, such as Impotency Sterility, Sexual Neurosthenia, total or partial loss of Nerve. Mental and Physical Power due to MASTURBATION and those cases where the Genital Glands exhausted by SEXUAL EXCESSES, produce these conditions. Unlike other remedies VIROTONE is not a mere stimulant or a symptomatic aphrodisiac. Its action is directly on the cells of the body and on the autonomic nervous centres which control the sexual function.

This magic VIROTONE has been proved by scientific examination and certified after experiment by eminent physicians and surgeons as a sovereign remedy in the world since the discovery of this which serves as a boon to the suffering humanity.

BUSINESS IS BETTER!

Everything points to a sure recovery from the recent depression. Hardly anybody is willing to fix a date for complete recovery, but things are looking up.

And, as usual, business will flow to those who ask for it most persistently and persuasively.

What can advertising do for you?

How can it speed up your sales?

We don't know, but perhaps an interview will point the way.

May we tell you how we operate as advertising aid to our various customers?

ARCOT (SOUTH).

A District in the Madras Presidency, bounded on the North by Chingleput and North Arcot; on the South by Trichinopoly and Tanjore; on the East by the Bay of Bengal, and on the West by Salem. Area, 4,205 square miles. Population, 2,454,507. Language.—Tamil.

GENERAL.—An open undulating plain with one range of hills. Principal river is the Pennaiyar. The Gingee, the Gadilam, the Malattar, the Vellar and the Coleroon are other rivers. Cuddalore (59,057) first English settlement that side—Municipality and seaport. Chidambaram (25,084)—municipality and place of pilgrimage. Villupuram (20,127)—municipality, 28 unions. Of these Porto Novo (13,762) a minor seaport, Panruti (13,952) and Valavanur (7,051) are chief centres of ground-nut traffic. Besides these places, Pondicherry, the Chief French settlement in India, is practically included within the limits of the District. It is an important town carrying on large export trade. There is a criminal settlement at Arinnagar in Vriddhachalam Taluk.

CLIMATE.—Healthy. Epidemic Cholera prevalent. Guineaworm prevalent in some parts.

RAINFALL.—Average 43 inches and average number of days 51. The fall is heaviest from September to November as usual.

AGRICULTURE.—There is an agricultural farm at Palur in the Cuddalore taluk. Two artesian wells in the Criminal Settlement at Asianagar. Irrigation by oil engine is spreading. Paddy, cumbu, ragi and varagu form the important food crops. The chief industrial crops are ground-nut, other oil-seeds, indigo and sugarcane. The bulk of the population is Hindus who form 94 per cent. The population is essentially agricultural.

INDUSTRIES.—Manufacture on a small scale of oil, indigo and coarse country cloth. Industrial School at Tindivanam managed by the Roman Catholic Mission where the manufacture of wooden and rattan articles is carried on. Rice Mills are popular. Ground-nut cultivation and consequent increase in oil mills. Large Sugarmill at Nellikuppam owned by the East India Distilleries and Sugar Factories Co., and managed by Parry & Co., Railway Workshop at Villupuram and Salt Factory at Merkanam.

ROADS, ETC.—537 miles of metalled road and 530 miles of unmetalled road. Villupuram has grown in importance as a railway junction as the Villupuram—Trichinopoly Railway has been completed and opened for traffic. Sea borne trade is active at Cuddalore, Porto Novo and Pondicherry.

Cuddalore.—A sea-port, and the head-quarters of the district, is situated on the Pennar and Gadilam rivers; vessels anchor within about 1½ miles of the shore. In 1682, the E. I. Co. opened up negotiations with the Khan of Gingee for a factory at Cuddalore, and the first buildings were put up in 1683; a ring of palmyra trees still marks the land ceded for the settlement. Trade grew rapidly, and the company erected Fort St. David and enlarged their warehouses. In 1730 the fortifications were rebuilt on more modern lines. On the fall of Madras in 1746, the administration was taken to Cuddalore. Fort St. David was soon after twice besieged by Duplex, but without success; in 1752, the head-quarters of Government were re-established in Madras, and six years after, the French occupied the town and stormed and destroyed the Fort. It was re-taken by the British in 1760, but again fell into the hands of the French in 1773, and was unsuccessfully besieged by the British in the following year. In 1785, it was finally restored to England, under the Treaty of Versailles. A few of the ruins of the old Fort still exist, and the old gardenhouse (1738) of the Governors of Fort St. David is now the official residence of the Collector of the district.

There is a Station Club, and also one for Indian gentlemen. Conveyances can be hired at the Railway Station (South Indian Railway), and in the town.

BELLARY.

The district of Bellary (Valahari) lies between latitudes $14^{\circ} 14'$ and $15^{\circ} 57'$ and longitude $75^{\circ} 45'$ and $77^{\circ} 40'$ with an area, including the Sandur State, of 5,713 sq. miles and a population of 969,774 (according to the 1931 Census). Languages spoken in the district are Canarese, Telugu and Hindustani. It is bounded on the North by H. H. the Nizam's territory, from which it is divided by the Tungabhadra river, on the South-west and South by the Mysore country; on the East by the districts of Anantapur and Kurnool and on the West by Mysore and the district of Dharwar in the Bombay Presidency. The height of the plateau averages from 800 to 1,000 feet above the level of the sea. The western taluqs are the highest, as the country there gradually slopes towards the Western Ghats. In the southern taluq, also as the table-land of Mysore is reached, the elevation is not considerable. The soil in the eastern taluqs is largely composed of the celebrated reguila or black cotton soil. In the western taluqs, there are patches of the same soil, but the red soils predominate and in the neighbourhood of hills, good gravel is found.

The general aspect is that of an extensive plateau, elevated on the shoulders of the Western and Eastern Ghats, the plain of which forms a considerable angle with the horizon, inclining towards the east coast of the peninsula. Thus at Belgaum, in the South Mahratta country, the height of the plain is 2,463 ft. above the level of the sea, at Bellary it is 1,600 feet. The Western Ghats clearly form the antichinal line to which the arenaceous and histous eastern ranges are more or less conformable. The plain has another and more gentle dip towards the north, to the beds of the Kistna and Thungabhadra rivers. The bed of the Thungabhadra is a little more than 1,000 feet above the level of the sea; the plain rises as we proceed south, and in the centre of the district, it is 1,500 feet and on the Mysore frontier in the south, 2,223 feet above the sea. To the centre of the district, the surface of the plain presents a monotonous and almost treeless extent, bounded by the horizon, and unbroken, save by a few rocky elevations that stand forth abruptly from the sheet of black soil like rocks from the ocean. Of this tract, Sir T. Munro wrote: "These districts are more destitute of trees than any part of Scotland, I ever saw; the traveller scarcely meets with one in twenty miles and nowhere with a clump of fifty." Since this was written large sums of money have been spent in planting topes and trees and some success has been attained. The town of Bellary itself is fairly well wooded, and along all the roads in the district, avenues have been planted. The Sandur Hills are covered with a good growth, though the trees are nowhere very large yet. Almost every variety of tree known in S. India can be found on these hills. In the Kudligi Taluq, there are large areas now under reservation, containing a fair growth of small forest.

In the reign of Krishna Raya of Vijayanagar, a small fort was built at Bellary by Timmappa, a dependant of that king. He and his son Rangappa held it for many years, paying an annual tribute of Rs. 1,000. After the battle of Telikota, Bellary became subject to the Mohammedan sovereigns of Bijapur, but the successors of Rangappa Naick were almost independent, and in 1650 Hanumappa, his grandson, defeated the descendant of the Vijayanagar Rajas, who claimed tribute from him, in a battle which was fought near Kampli. For another century the feud went on between the Rajas of Bellary, as they now styled themselves, and their former masters. After a time, Bellary became part of the possessions of the Nizam and was included in the Jaghir of Adoni, which had been given to Basalat Jung, the Nizam's brother. In 1769, Safdar Jung and M. Bussey were sent from Adoni to collect the tribute, which the Poligar had for some years refused to pay. The Poligar rashly called Hyder Ali to his aid, who reached Bellary by forced marches, and engaged and defeated the army of Basalat Jung, in the plain at the foot of the rock. Doddappa Naick, the Poligar, who had watched the contest from the top of the rock, fled by night to Sholapur, and Hyder took possession. He spent much money on the fortifications, and, with the assistance of some French adventurers, who were in his camp, he built the upper and the lower forts much as they now are. Tradition adds, that at the completion of the work these Frenchmen were hanged near the fort gate, because Hyder then for the first time discovered that the other rock was the higher, and that from it his stronghold could be commanded. Bellary was held by Hyder Ali and afterwards by Tippu till 1792, when, by the partition treaty of 1792, it fell to the Nizam. The rock round which Bellary town is built is a huge plain, and nearly two miles in circumference. To the east and south, the appearance presented is that of a heap of boulders irregularly piled one on the other, but, to the west, it slopes down more gradually and offers an unbroken surface of sheet rock. To the north is a smaller detached mass of rocks.

The climate of Bellary is characterized by extreme dryness, in consequence of the air passing over such an extent of heated plains. Less rain is supposed to fall at Bellary than at any other place in South India. The quantity of moisture in the air, as indicated by the hydrometer, is exceedingly minute, though the air is remarkable for its transparency. More rain falls in the taluqs bordering on the Thungabhadra. From the situation of the district, almost in the centre of the peninsula, it benefits by both monsoons, and yet does not get the full force of either. From the commencement of November to the end of May, rain rarely falls, though sometimes, in April and May, there are violent thunderstorms and much atmospheric disturbance. In the first week of June, the south-west monsoon is looked for, and, with the first few heavy showers, the hot weather is at an end. About 5 inches of rain fall in this month and July. Towards the end of September, the wind veers round to the north, and south from the middle of October. The district is visited by the North-east Monsoon. The average rainfall in September and October is $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

The cool season begins in the month of November, at the close of the North-east Monsoon. During this period, the wind is steady from the north-east and the weather is extremely pleasant. In the early mornings, the thermometer is often as low as 62° but the usual daily range is from 67° to 83° . The atmosphere is clear and the nights very cool. Towards the end of February, the weather begins to get hot, and early in March, the country presents an altered appearance. As the month advances the hot west winds set in, vegetation disappears, all the grass is burned up, and the country resembles a dreary waste. In the black cotton country, the soil, baked as hard as stone, is split in all directions by cracks and fissures, from one to three feet in depth. In the other taluqs, dust-storms are of frequent occurrence. The atmosphere glows intensely, and the glare, increased by the white and sparkling nature of the ground, is most distressing. The tanks rapidly dry up and expose beds of slime and decomposing mud. The nights are generally calm, and the atmosphere is stagnant and oppressive to a degree. Towards the end of May, the heat is almost insupportable. At midnight even, the thermometer sometimes marks 100° Fahr., and glass and wood crack simply from the heat. In the day time the house can be cooled by cuscus tatties, but after sunset the hot wind usually falls. At the end of the month, or in the beginning of June, heavy clouds begin to gather in the south west, and generally after a few days of oppressive stillness, the approach of the monsoon is heralded by two or three violent thunderstorms. These cool and refresh the air, and the hot weather is at an end. The interval between the two monsoons is generally very pleasant. The days are cloudy and the air fresh and agreeable. September is usually close and oppressive and this lasts till the rain falls. For three months of the year, the heat is excessive, but the remaining nine months are comparatively cool and pleasant.

GENERAL.—Bellary is a military station garrisoned by European and native troops and is a Municipality with some trade. Adoni (35,635) is an important town in the cotton trade. It is also a Municipality. The Siruguppa taluk is completely isolated from railway communication.

CLIMATE.—Hot and very dry.

RAINFALL.—Deficient and precarious. Average rainfall 24 inches. Ramandrug has double the fall of the district.

AGRICULTURE.—Paddy and sugarcane are grown on wet lands. Cotton is the chief industrial crop. Sugarcane is very paying.

INDUSTRIES.—There are many cotton ginning factories in the district. There is a good trade in Cumbles.

CHINGLEPUT.

The District of Chingleput derives its name from the town Chingleput. The town in Tamil is made up of two words "Chengalam and Pattan;" Chengalam means red lotus, as it was a town full of red lotuses which also now continue, though not in abundance. The district encloses the City of Madras and comprises the seven taluqs of Chingleput, Conjeeveram, Madurantakam, Ponneri, Saidapet, Tiruvallur and Sriperumbudur, with an area of 3091 square miles, and a population of 1,655,115, the majority of whom are engaged in agriculture. There are 22,225 weavers, a third of whom reside in and about Conjeeveram. The languages of the district are Tamil and Telugu. The Palar is the chief river in the district. Part of the Chingleput and Madurantakam Taluqs are undoubtedly pretty, presenting undulating plains and varied bridged conical hills. These taluqs are well-known as snipes grounds. Snipes are found from October, till the end of March. The South Indian Railway Company has two lines in the district; one short branch, 18½ miles, connects Conjeeveram with Arkonam, and the other runs from Madras, southwards, passing on its way through St. Thomas' Mount, Pullavaram, Chingleput and Madurantakam.

Chingleput is the chief town of the district and here are the offices of the District Judge and Sub-Collector, but the Head-quarters of the Collectorate are at Saidapet. The Fort, which is Chingleput's chief characteristic, was erected after the fall of the Vijayanagar power about the end of the 16th century. It passed out of the possession of its original constructors, the Hindus, into the hands of the Mahomedans and, in 1751, it was taken by Chanda Sahib from Mahomed Ali, when, with the aid of the French he invaded the Carnatic. In 1752, a French force sallied from it and made a fruitless attempt to prevent the capture of Covelong by Capt. Olive, who, after reducing the place, marched on Chingleput and took it. With the advent of peace, a jail was established and in 1837, the fort was practically handed over to the Educational department for the purpose of a Reformatory School. This school is intended for the juvenile offenders of the Presidency, who are sent there by the Magistracy, usually for petty offences, theft, etc. The staff consists of a Superintendent who is the Medical Officer of the District, a Deputy Superintendent, who is the chief and permanent executive officer, and who is a member of the Provincial Educational Service. The present Superintendent is J. P. C. D'Cruz. There is no Deputy Superintendent now. There is also a staff of teachers and trained instructor-maistries. The boys are taught carpenter's, blacksmith's and rattan works, tailoring, weaving, etc. There is also a band and bugle class. Great attention is paid to physical and moral training, and when the boys leave the institution they are provided with appointments through the help of the District Magistrate. The work of the institution is unique, and it is well worth a visit. It differs from similar institutions in other parts of India, in as much as the boys are treated in a manner akin to that of a Boarding School. There are two High Schools in the town, the Native High School and the U.F.C.M. High School.

GENERAL.—The district is crossed from West to East by the Arni, the Kortaliyar and the Palar all of which come from beyond its boundaries. The last mentioned, which receives the Cheyyar has a course of about 40 miles. It is by nature capricious and uncertain, liable to heavy freshes and long periods of dryness. It has a heavy fall and therefore a strong current. A considerable number of irrigation channels are taken off from it during its course. The Kortaliyar is tapped to provide water for the Chambarambakkam, Red Hills and several other tanks, the supply to the former being carried part of the way by the Cooum, a stream which rises in the district and enters the sea at Madras. The head quarters of the Collector are in the Municipal Town of Saidapet (33,087), Chingleput (14,358) and Conjeeveram (65,258) are the other Municipalities in the District. St. Thomas Mount (9,293) is an ancient military cantonment 9 miles from Madras. Sembiam (33,127) is the largest Local Fund Union in the Presidency. Tiruvotiyur (10,732), Tiruvallur (10,656), Madurantakam (7,592), Tirukkalikundram (8,628), Tirupporur (2,189), Sriperumbudur (6,478) and Mahabalipuram (1,500) and all places of pilgrimage in the district. The last mentioned is a place of much archaeological interest. Pulicat, Sadras and Covelong were settlements of the Dutch East India Company from the 17th century to 1825 and still contain vestiges of the Dutch Ports.

CLIMATE.—Healthy.

RAINFALL.—Average 46 inches.

INDUSTRIES.—Weaving is the most important occupation. Superior silk and cotton cloths are made at Conjeeveram. In many places Lungi, Kyli and Pattimarbu. Lungi and Kyli are exported to the Straits Settlements and Pattimarbu is exported to Jamaica, Mauritius, South Africa and other places. Fly shuttle looms are slowly taking the place of handlooms at Conjeeveram. The number of looms is estimated at 12,000. Salt-making is another industry carried on at 8 factories. Tanneries are also fairly numerous, especially in the Saidapet taluk. The cutting and transport to Madras of casuarina wood is an industry that thrives in the coast villages.

COMMUNICATIONS.—The roads in the district are well laid out.

THE SEVEN PAGODAS on the coast, which can be approached by road from Chingleput, are at a distance of 18 miles. These are monolithic temples, Dravidian in character, and are certainly anterior to the 7th century B.C. No traveller should fail to visit these works of the sculptor's art.

TIRUKALUKUNDRAM or the hill of the sacred kites, is situated half-way between Chingleput and the sea coast. It is a ridge terminating in a spiked hill, on which stand the remains of a quaint temple of great antiquity, and dedicated to Siva. Every day two birds of the kite species come to the hill to be fed by an attendant Pandaram. They are said to come from Benares.

CONJEEVERAM lies 22 miles west of Chingleput. The native name of the place is Kanchi or Golden City (or the place where Brahma worshipped Vishnu) and Siva is said to have exclaimed that "of all towns Kanchi is the best." There is a large weaving community, and fine country cloths of all kinds are still manufactured there in large quantities. Conjeeveram is the most sacred city in the South of India. There are three important temples, the oldest being dedicated to Siva, the second to Vishnu, and the third to the "loving-eyed" Parvati, the wife of Siva. The town has always been celebrated for its fine wide streets and pleasant appearance; it possesses a good water-supply, the water being pumped from a fine well situated in the middle of the Vegavathy, a tributary of the Palar river. It is an important municipal town in the district.

SRIPERUMBUDUR is situated about 25 miles to the west of Madras. It is noted as the birth place of the famous Sri Ramanuja Chariar of the Vaishnava sect.

WALLAJAHABAD is situated on the Palar between Conjeeveram and Chingleput. It was a Military Cantonment for many years, but the mortality became so great that the place received the name of "the grave of Europeans."

POLLILORE a village ten miles, north-west of Conjeeveram, was twice the scene of battle between the English and Hyder Ali. It was in the first battle in 1780 that the English sustained the most crushing defeat ever inflicted on them in India. In the following year, Hyder gave battle at the same place and was defeated by Sir Eyre Coote. On the field are two tombs of officers who were killed in the second battle.

MADURANTAKAM is situated on the Great Southern Trunk Road at the 50th mile stone from Madras. The Railway passes the town. The majority of the landholders are Vaishnavite Brahmins. The only noteworthy feature of the place is its very fine tank.

KARUNGULI is two miles from Madurantakam. The most interesting historic monument is here, the origin of which appears to be Mahomedan; about 1750 it passed into the hands of the French, when Dupleix espoused the cause of Chanda Sahib. In 1759, Sir Eyre Coote marched against it unsuccessfully, but, in the year following, it fell into the hands of Hyder. In 1781, Sir Eyre, who was at Chingleput, sent Capt. Davis with 1,000 men to occupy it, which he did by blowing open the gateways. The Madurantakam tank, one of the largest in the South, which was formed towards the end of the 18th century, by damming up the Kiliyar river, commemorate the name of the Place, and the Collector, under whose auspices it was constructed. His house at Karunguli is now used as a Travellers' Bungalow.

SAIDAPET TALUK.—The rivers that flow through this taluk are—

1. The Cortelliar, which falls into the Ennore backwater.
2. The Cooum, after supplying the Chembrambakam tank, flows through the town of Madras into the Sea.

The Adyar which falls to the South of Mylapore, a suburb of Madras.

The Red Hill tank depends for its supply on a channel taken off from an anicut, across the Cortelliar. The water first flows into the Sholavaram tank, and then through a regulating sluice into a channel for its conveyance to the Northern end of the Red Hills tank. Water is conveyed to the City of Madras by a closed conduit. During the hot months water often becomes scarce and has to be pumped.

SAIDAPET is five miles from Fort St. George and is the head-quarters of the Collector. It has become an educational centre, with the establishment of the Teachers' College.

GUINDY is about a mile-and-a-half south of Saidapet. The Governor of Madras has a residence and an extensive Park here. The King Institute, for bacteriological investigations and the manufacture of vaccine is located in Guindy. Here is located the Madras Race Course.

POONAMALLEE is situated on the Western Trunk Road, 13 miles from Madras. It was established as Cantonment for the purpose of receiving European invalids. It is still used as a sanatorium for British Troops.

TIRUVELLORE, at the Northern end of this taluk, the Nagalapuram and Sattiyavedu hills relieve the flatness of it—Kambakamdrug, the highest point, is 2,548 feet above the level of the sea. The Cooum has its source principally in the surplus waters of the tank of the same name. Red handkerchiefs and Mussulman cloths are manufactured in the Sattiyavedu division and are sent to Bangalore. Tiruvallur is the chief town of the taluk. The temple (Viraraghavar), at each Newmoon, attract crowds of Pilgrims from Madras, to whom it would appear the greatest sin, if they were prevented from paying their devotions and performing their ablutions.

CHITTOOR.

The District of Chittoor was constituted with effect from 1st April, 1911. It comprises the taluks of Chittoor, Palmaner and Chandragiri transferred from the old North Arcot district and of Madanapalle and Vayalpad transferred from the old Cuddapah district as well as the Zemindaries of Punganur, Kalahasti and Karvetnagar. It is bounded on the North by the Anantapur, Cuddapah and Nellore districts; on the East by the Nellore and Chingleput districts; on the South by North Arcot district and on the West by the Mysore State. It covers an extent of 590 square miles. Its population was 1,447,168 at the Census of 1931. Chittoor with a population of 22,018 is the headquarters of the district, but is not the most important town in the district. The other important places in the district are Tirupati (19,138), a place of pilgrimage well-known throughout India, Madanapalle (9,459), Kalahasti (13,152), also a place of pilgrimage, and Punganur (8,334). Tirupati and Chittoor are two Municipalities in the district; its average income from local taxation is Rs. 21,000 and 27,970, respectively. Pakala and Renigunta are important railway junctions.

The wide-awake businessman finds business opportunity in every page.

For SWEEPSTAKE TICKETS, Apply to Post Box 159, Madras. A-76-'33.

The chief languages of the district are Telugu and Tamil, the former being the language of 75 per cent. of the population. Kanarese is spoken by a considerable number, 20,194 i.e., while 3,787 people speak Marathi, about 94 per cent. of the people are Hindus and 5 per cent. Muhammadans.

INDUSTRIES.—There are two bell-metal factories at Kalahasti. Brassware at Tirupati shows signs of revival. Indigo cultivation is on the increase especially in Karvetnagar.

TIRUPATI.—About 80 miles north-west of Madras lies Tirupati, one of the most sacred towns of India. The town was constituted into a Municipality on 1-4-1886. It is situated at the foot of the hills about the centre of long range of hills running almost north and south through which also flows the river Swarnamuki about 3 miles to the South of the town. Its extent is 1½ sq. miles. A petty little water-fall known as the Alwar or the Kapilatheertham descends from the hill just north of the town, and during the rains, the volume of water is not inconsiderable. The bazaars of Tirupati present a very busy scene. The town has fast improved; substantial buildings having taken the place of the old flat mud terraced houses of the Mysore plateau pattern. Its population has been speedily increasing. The new Act raised the strength of the council to 16 (12 elected and 4 nominated) and the councillors are now elected for each of the six wards. The town has now a pucca water supply got through cast iron pipes from wells sunk on the bed of a stream 7 miles West. The scheme had cost Rs. 4,81,000. As the wells are on a higher level water naturally flows down into two small service reservoirs, constructed near the town from which the supply to the town is regulated.

The Municipality maintains an hospital of its own. It contains 22 beds and is well equipped. Pilgrim tax is now levied on all persons leaving the stations.

The town is free from epidemics and the general health is satisfactory. A good drainage scheme is urgently required. There are two secondary schools in the town; one is maintained by the American Mission and the other by the Devasthanam. Both the schools impart education up to the VI Form. The Municipality maintains 9 elementary schools (6 for boys and 3 for girls). The whole cost of maintaining the schools is met partly from Municipal Funds and partly from Government Grants.

COIMBATORE.

A District in the Madras Presidency, bounded on the North-West by Mysore; on the South by Madura and Travancore; on the East by Salem and Trichinopoly; on the West by the Nilgiris, Malabar and Cochin. Area, 7,085 square miles. Population, 2,445,064. Languages:—Tamil and Kanarese.

COIMBATORE, the Head-quarters of the District is a Municipality, with an income from Local taxation of about Rs. 70,000 annually. It is a place of some trade and has two Spinning Mills, one Weaving Mill, a Tile factory as well as several works for preparing coffee and pressing cotton.

Besides Coimbatore and Erode, Dharapuram, Pollachi, Tiruppur and Udumalpet are also municipalities. Pollachi has one of the biggest markets in the district, and is an important centre of trade. Tiruppur is a centre of the cotton trade. Udumalpet is noted for its jaggery.

PHYSICAL ASPECTS.—The northern portion of the District consists of an elevated Table-land, divided from Mysore by the Bilgiri-rangam and other hill ranges. The Bilgiri-rangam hills form a double range with ridges 5,000 ft. in height, enclosing a valley of 4,000 ft. above the sea, filled with forests and high grass, a favourite resort of wild elephants. The chief river is Cauveri which receives in this District the waters of Bavani, Noyil and Amaravati. An area of 3,000 sq. miles is covered with forests which afford a large supply of valuable timbers: teak, rosewood, sandalwood, etc. The chief mineral products of the District are iron and limestone. Nearly all the larger animals of India such as elephant, bison, bear, tiger, leopard, ibex, antelope, deer, hyena, boar, wolf, etc., and birds of every order are found. There is a separate amount allotted towards the destruction of wild animals.

HISTORY.—In the great Dravidian Division of Southern India, the District formed part of the kingdom of Chera. Its ancient name appears to be "Konga" or "Kangaiyam" which still survives in the town of that name in Dharapuram taluk. About the 9th Century, the Chera country was captured by the Chola dynasty and two centuries later, this and Salem were merged with the Pandyan dominions into one kingdom. In the 16th Century, the eastern portion of the District passed into the hands of the Madura Naiks. In the 18th Century, it was incorporated with Mysore after series of incursions. When Haider rose in the service of the Mysore Raja and exacted concessions of land for himself, Coimbatore was the first tract assigned to him. In 1768, the British troops occupied the District but Haider re-captured it. In 1783, at the time of Tipu, the English again took possession, but by a treaty with Tipu, restored it to Mysore. In 1790-91, the English again advanced upon the District but they were not successful. By the treaty of 1792 Coimbatore and greater portion of the District were ceded to the English and on the capture of Seringapatam by the English in 1799 and the death of Tipu, the whole passed into the hands of the English and the administration of the District has ever since peaceably progressed. A survey of the District was made in 1881-82.

For Sweepstake Tickets, T. KANDASWAMY, Gobichettipalayam, S. I.

AGRICULTURE.—The staple crops of the District are kambu and cholam; ragi, rice, gram, etc. are next in importance. Most of the villages have occupancy right but many villages are held "Zamindari" as one Estate the proprietor paying yearly peish-kesh to Government and recouping himself from tenants.

ERODE is one of the important centres of trade in Southern India and big Railway junction in the South Indian Railway. The Municipality has provided filtered water-supply to the town from the Cauvery and also Compulsory Elementary Education for boys and girls.

INDUSTRIES.—There are nearly 18,000 looms in the district. There are fourteen refineries in the district for refining saltpetre and an Industrial School for cabinet-making at Coimbatore. Silk industry is carried on to some extent in Kollegal.

GUNTUR.

A District in the Madras Presidency, is bounded on the North by the river Kistna; on the South by the Nellore District; on the East by the River Kistna and the Bay of Bengal; and on the West by the Nellore and Kurnool Districts and the river Kistna. Area, 5,757 sq. miles. Population (1931) 2,085,600. Population of the town 65,179. Languages:—Telugu and Hindustani.

GENERAL.—An ancient was constructed in 1833 across the Kistna between the two hills at Bezvada and Sitanagaram. The Kistna river enters the district near the Ganikonda hills in the Palnad Taluk and falls into the sea after a course of 80 miles. The Gundlakama river rises in the Cumbum Taluk and traverses the Vinukonda and Ongole Taluks of the district. Other rivers are the Nagulern and the Musi. There are three irrigation canals, viz., the Commamur, the Bank and the Nisampatam. These are also used for navigation purposes. The Commamur canal joins the Buckingham canal as a means of navigation near Pedda Ganjam in the Bapatla taluk, thus establishing through communications between Beswada and Madras. Guntur (65,179) a Municipality. Tenali is the chief centre of paddy trade. Chirala is the centre of weaving and dyeing industry. Bapatla (13,343) is noted for its Palmyra and casuarina plantations. Vetapalem (11,102) and Mangalagiri (10,772) are also centres of weaving industry; Mangalagiri is also a place of pilgrimage.

RAINFALL.—Average 84 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—In the uplands the staple food crops are cholam, variga and cumbu. Paddy is the main crop. Of the industrial crops, cotton and castors are important.

POPULATION.—Hindus form 90 per cent. of the population.

INDUSTRIES.—Weaving industry is progressing well. Several factories have been started. Narasaraopet is noted for its manufacture of iron camp furniture. Tobacco factories are growing in importance.

ONGOLE.—The town lies on the M. & S. M. Ry. line, 7 miles off the sea. It has been famous from time immemorial for the best cattle breed. It has the Head-quarters of a Sub-Collector besides other Government and A. B. Mission buildings. The town enjoys a healthy climate with good sanitation under the management of the Municipality.

CHIRALA MUNICIPALITY is comprised of the two revenue villages of Perala and Chirala. Its population is 18,853, situated about 4 miles from the sea-coast on the M. & S. M. Ry. This town is one of the great centres of cloth manufacture, exporting direct to Bombay, Aden, and other distant places. In 1920, it was constituted into a Municipality, against the strong opinion of the residents of the place, who, subsequently, as a mark of protest went and lived outside the Municipality.

NARASARAOPET.—Camp Furniture are largely manufactured. Centre for chillies and cotton traffic.

DEONADULA.—A village in Narasaraopet taluk. Fur blankets are manufactured.

MADURA.

A District in the Madras Presidency; is bounded on the North by Coimbatore, Trichinopoly and Tanjore; on the East and South-east by Ramanad, on the South-west by Tinnevely; and on the West by the Travancore State. Area, 4,912 square miles. Population, 2,195,747. Languages.—Tamil, Telugu and Hindustani. The Hill-station Kodaikanal (q. v.) is in this District.

GENERAL.—Isolated hills and masses of rock are scattered over the district. The most important of these is the Palnis or Varaka mountains. A few miles north-east of the Palni range begins an irregular congerie of hills known as the Sirumalais, Karanthamalais, the Nattam and the Alagar hills. These hills are low, sterile and uninhabitable on account of the malignant fever which links on their slopes and the only mass which is at all considerable and lofty is the Sirumalais which have an extreme length of 20 miles and reach to 4,000 feet. The Vaigai is the principal river of the district. Madura (182,013) the chief town is on the Vaigai and is a municipality constituted in 1865. Dindigul (48,617) is another municipality with an old fort. Palni (18,899) is a municipality and place of pilgrimage. Kodaikanal is the chief hill station and a sanatorium.

CLIMATE.—Hot, dry and rainable. Taking the district as a whole the climate is not considered healthy. Epidemic outbreaks of cholera are common.

RAINFALL.—Average about 32 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—About 75 per cent. of the total area under cultivation is devoted to the production of food grains of which cereals occupy 65 per cent. and pulses 10 per cent. Paddy, cholam, cumbu, ragi and varagu are the chief crops among cereals. The extent under fruit trees and vegetables is largest in Dindigul and Kodaikanal. Plantains, cardamoms, garlic and coffee are the chief products of commercial importance on the hills. Among the industrial crops, the foremost is cotton, the area cultivated being 180,545 acres. Tobacco and oilseeds are also cultivated.

POPULATION.—The Kallar Reclamation Scheme has done much to improve this community.

INDUSTRIES.—Weaving and dyeing are largely carried on in Madura town. Copper and brass vessels are also manufactured. Cigars and bell-metal are manufactured at Dindigul. There are several cotton mills. The Periyar Project is expected to benefit the district. There are 8,948 looms in the district of which 3,583 are in Madura Town and 2,229 in Dindigul. There is a Government Technical Institute at Madura.

TALUKS.—Dindigul, Kodaikanal, Madura, Melur, Nilakottai, Palni, Periyakulam and Tirumangalam.

KODAIKANAL (PULNEY HILLS).

The Pulney Hills are situated in the Madura District of the Madras Presidency. They are about 54 miles long from East to West and 15 miles broad. Including Annjinad, they cover 798 square miles. The plateau has an average elevation of about 7,000 feet. Like the Nilgiris and the Shevaroyis, the Pulneys consist of a mass of the charnochoite series, and the general scenery is characteristic of this class of rocks. The Pulneys are connected towards the north-west with the Anamalais and towards the south with the Travancore hills.

The European settlement, KODAIKANAL, which was a very small place twenty-five years ago, now contains over 320 Bungalows (European and Indian). European houses are scattered over an area of about 4 square miles, besides a number of Indian bungalows. There are native villages outside the drainage area of the lake containing 600 huts with a population of about 4,000. This settlement in 1899 was made a Municipality to the great advantage of the station, as regards sanitation and roads. The lake, which forms the centre of the original settlement, is formed by an artificial bund erected by the late Sir Vere Levinge and covers an area of 66 acres. Its height above sea-level is 6,872 feet. There is a flourishing Boat Club with a number of good boats. The lake is well-stocked with baril (Barilius guttensis) which take a fly readily. The Club which is centrally situated is an excellent one.

In former days, considerable difficulty was experienced in getting supplies at Kodaikanal, but this is no longer the case. There are now shops with a flourishing Co-operative stores with Retail stores at moderate prices; beef and mutton butchers are numerous, and excellent vegetables can be obtained all through the season. Almost all the houses in the station can now be reached by driving roads, though some of them are, naturally, rather steep. There are also driving roads to "Neutral Saddle," 7 miles away at the foot of Perumal (7,326 feet) where there are a few houses at an elevation of about 5,200 feet: to the "Pillar Rocks," one of the finest pieces of scenery in South India, and towards Pumbari, a hill village, 8 miles distant. Bridle paths permit of riding excursions in many other directions.

The climate of Kodaikanal is probably the best of any hill station in India. This at least was the opinion of the meteorological authorities when they fixed upon it as the site of the new solar Physics Observatory, which forms a conspicuous object on the top of Nadingipuram hill. The only meteorological statistics available are those published in the Annual Reports of the Observatory for 1899-1900 and 1904-05, and they are for a place nearly 800 feet above the lake. The highest shades temperature recorded was 74° in March, the lowest 40° in November. In low-lying places, especially near the lake, frost is not uncommon in the early mornings between November and February. The mean monthly temperatures varied only from 52° in November to 59° in May. One of the most striking features of the climate is the extreme dryness of the atmosphere during the early months of the year. Though the annual rainfall is about 60 inches, the subsoil is so porous that even during the monsoon, water never lies on the ground for any time; so muddy roads are practically unknown. During the south-west monsoon, winds are strong in exposed places, but the lake basin is so well sheltered that this causes little inconvenience.

The old way to come to Kodaikanal was by rail to Kodaikanal Road Station, S. I. R., where there is a Refreshment Room and a good Travellers' bungalow, thence by Motor Service, bullock transit or by jutka to the Tope bungalow at the foot of the ghat (32 miles), where meals can be obtained, if previous notice has been sent, thence to the top—a distance of 12 miles—the journey may be made on ponies or in chairs or dhoolies. The ghat road to Kodaikanal was opened to the public from the beginning of 1915. It is 30 miles long, and starts from the road to Periyakulam near Gangavarpatti village, 16 miles from the Railway Station. The Law's Ghat Road has in recent years been very much improved and motor cars and buses that use the road are so numerous that the old route (via Periyakulam) has been almost completely abandoned for passenger traffic and luggage. Even provisions and vegetables from Periyakulam are brought up in motor buses by the new road. There are several motor services plying their cars and buses between Kodaikanal Road and Kodaikanal, viz. London Motor Service, Vellayan Motor Service, Nadar Motor Service, which carry Postal mail; and the Kodaikanal Motor Service. Cars and Buses and single seats can be easily arranged through these companies.

There are several private boarding houses in the station and as these are generally well-filled during the season, visitors would be advised to arrange for accommodation beforehand. There is also a hotel conducted by W. E. Clayton, called "Carlton Hotel."

CARRYING AND FORWARDING AGENCIES.—Vellayan Motor Service, Nadar Motor Service, London Motor Service, Kodaikanal Motor Service.

These concerns have branches at the Kodaikanal Road Station and Kodaikanal.

For First Class Hosiery—Madura Knitting Co., MADURA.

Palghat, a Municipality, is a place of considerable trade. Cannanore is a Military Station. Cochin is another important seaport which will soon have an excellent harbour.

TELLICHERRY is one of the oldest of the East India Company's Settlements being the capital of North Malabar. Dt. Court, Sub-Court, Sub-Collector's Office and similar public offices are situated in this town. From a commercial point of view the town stands second to none in North Malabar, and many European firms existing afford labour to poor people in the town and its suburbs. A 2nd grade Government College originated from the Zilla School, founded and maintained by the late Mr. Brennan's. Endowment, is the chief educational institution in the town. The town will grow further in importance, if it is connected with up-countries by railway. Want of a pier was greatly felt, which has been recently put up.

NELLORE.

Description.—A district on the Eastern or Coromandel Coast, lying between 80° 25' and 15° 55' N. Lat., and between 79° 9' and 80° 14' E. Long. On the East it is washed by the Bay of Bengal; its western boundary is formed by the Eastern Ghats, which separate it from the districts of Kurnool and Cuddapah; North it is bordered by Guntur District; South by North Arcot and Chingleput. Estimated total area, 7,949 square miles; total population, according to the Census (of 1931) 1,486,222.

Physical Geography.—This District occupies a tract of low land stretching from the base of the Eastern Ghats to the sea. Its general aspect is forbidding. The coast line is uniformly a fringe of blown sand, through which the waves occasionally break and spread a salt sterility over the fields. Farther inland, the country begins to rise. But the soil is not naturally fertile, nor are means of irrigation readily at hand except in Nellore taluk. Scarcely half of the total area is cultivated. The rest is either a rocky waste or covered with dense shrub jungle. The finest trees are to be found in the neighbourhood of the village sites. Along the western frontier rises a barren range of mountains, which throws out numerous spurs into the plain. A remarkable natural feature is the island of Sriharikota, a low ridge of sand which divides the Lake of Pulicat from the main sea. Inhabited chiefly by scattered families of the wild tribe of Yanadies, most of it has never been brought under cultivation; but Madras is supplied with fuel from this otherwise unprofitable waste. The chief rivers of Nellore are the Pennar and the Swarnamukhi, which rise in the table-land above the Ghats and flow east to the sea. The numerous minor streams are little more than mountain torrents. The Pennar runs through the district for a total course of about 70 miles, passing by the town of Nellore. For nine months of the year its bed, which is rocky among the hills but sandy lower down, is almost dry, with deep pools here and there, in which fish collect. The season of flood (full or partial) lasts for about 60 days. When the stream is at its highest, the volume of water is 500 yards wide and 80 feet deep, filling the bed from bank to bank. The chief irrigation works on the Pennar are the anicut at Nellore town, from which numerous channels are led off on the south bank, and an anicut made at Sangam, a place 18 miles west of Nellore, and which irrigates land north of the river. The floods of the Swarnamukhi also supply a series of irrigation channels. The bordering range of the Eastern Ghats rises in its highest peak Penchalakonda, to an elevation of about 3,600 feet above sea level. Detached from this range is the isolated hill or droog of Udayagiri (3,079 feet), which was formerly an important rock fortress. Throughout the district generally, the underlying rocks belong to the metamorphic series, which occasionally crops up in the form of gneiss, schist and quartz, and is intersected by veins of quartz and volcanic rocks. The Eastern Ghats, on the other hand, are capped by a series of sedimentary formation, chiefly altered sandstone and slate known as the "Cuddapah Group." Organic remains of fern-like plants have been found in several places. A band of laterite varying greatly in width, extends almost continuously along the coast and is largely quarried for building materials. Copper was discovered in the north-eastern corner of Udayagiri taluk in 1801. The ore was found on assay to yield a large percentage of metal, and European capital was attracted to the spot. But the enterprise has repeatedly proved unsuccessful, and no fresh attempt has been made since 1840. Saltpetre is made in a few villages, by refining down the nitrous earth to be found on the surface. Mica is worked in the south of the district. Wild animals are comparatively rare. Tigers are almost unknown, except when a stray one wanders across the mountains from Cuddapah. Leopards, bears, sambhur, deer and occasionally bison, are still found among the western hills. Antelope, spotted deer and wild hog are generally distributed, while the small game comprise snipe, duck, bustard and florican.

GENERAL.—Four Zamindaris—Venkatagiri, Pamur Estate (late part of Kalahasti), Chundi and alienated villages and Mutyalpad in Kandukur. Nellore (45,895) a Municipality. Venkatagiri has a population of 15,372.

CLIMATE.—Dry and fairly salubrious.

RAINFALL.—Average 36 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—Paddy is the chief crop. Chillies are grown on a commercial scale in the Gudur Taluk.

INDUSTRIES.—The district has no textile or other industry of any importance. The Mica industry was very prosperous till the end of the War but since then it has declined.

NILGIRIS, THE.

The boundaries of the district are: North, Mysore; South, Malabar and Coimbatore; East, Coimbatore; West, Malabar. Area, 982 square miles. Population, 1,69,330. Languages are Toda, Kota and Badaga spoken by the indigenous tribes, and Canarese, Tamil and Malayalam are in common use.

GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION.—The Nilgiri District—as it existed prior to the annexation on the 31st March, 1877, of the tracts known as the Nambalakod, Cheramkod and Munnarad Amshoms, before then, part of the Wynad Taluk of Malabar—lies between latitude 11°8' and 11°37' north and longitude 76°27' and 77°4' east. Within these limits rise the Nilgiri Hills, a vast mountain block, comprising two more or less distinct hill ranges, usually known as the Nilgiris proper and the Kundas. Apart from the Kunda and Nidumale ranges, the surface of the Nilgiris is divided into an upper and lower plateau. The lower forming an irregular shelf rests upon the north-eastern north-east angle of the plateau, are sometimes, though without sufficient reason, called the Kotagiri range. The higher plateau, known amongst the aborigines as the "Mel," or upland comprises the tract lying between the western slopes of Doddabetta and the Nidumale and Kunda ranges. The average elevation of this higher plateau above the lower may be roughly stated at from 1,000 to 1,500 feet.

WATERFALLS.—are numerous and picturesque, though not of great depth or volume. The highest is Kolakambe, north of the hill of that name, having an unbroken fall of about 400 feet. Second to this is St. Catherine's Fall (250 feet) in a stream south of Kotagiri. Then follows the lower Fall of Payara (200 feet) and after it the upper (180 feet). Of nearly the same height is the Kalhatti Fall (170 feet) on the Segur Pass.

LAKES.—There are no natural lakes in the plateau, but art has attempted to supply in Ootacamund the defects of nature, for there are some artificial lakes or reservoirs, formed by banking up streams at narrow parts of the valleys. The most important is the Ootacamund lake, a marked feature in the station, and one which adds greatly to its beauty. Its form is serpentine, the bends being caused by the projecting spurs of the hills on either side. Its length is about two miles and a half; breadth from three to four hundred yards. A road follows the windings of its banks throughout and forms the principal drive of the station, being nearly five miles long.

SCENERY.—The interior of the plateau consists chiefly of grassy undulating hills divided narrow valleys, which invariably contain a stream or a swamp. In the hollows of the hill-sides nestle small beautiful woods, locally known as sholas. It is seldom that so much variety of beauty is found in so small a compass. Let a visitor take a short ride in almost any direction from almost any part of the plateau, and passing along shady English-looking lanes, sheltered by thickets of blackberry and wild rose; across bare breezy downs, sometimes dotted with twisted crimson flowering rhododendrons and rare ferns and gorgeous in spring-tints, beside which the colouring of an English autumn is faint and dull, by native villages, with their patches of cultivation and their magnificent single trees, he will find himself on some ridge or promontory, looking straight down from 4,000 to 6,000 feet, on to a scene that changes like the figures in a kaleidoscope. In the morning a sea of clouds lies at his feet and gradually rises round him. In the afternoon this clears away, and reveals perhaps a vast crimson plain, veined by dark lines of wood, dotted with isolated hummocks like giant ant-hills and terminating in faint blue lines of mountains the furthest of which seems to hang half-way up the sky; perhaps on a tumbled mass of hills and valleys, a perfect dissolving view, for the eye has hardly traced the outline of some rocky ridge, glowing red in the sun-light, before a blue-cloud shadow blots it out, and a fresh series of crests and ravines start into sight beyond. Broken peaks hung with wood frame the picture, and on all sides lies tropical sunlight, intensified by the keen thin mountain air. The hills are full of peaks with paths leading up to the top, made for the convenience of visitors. The scenery from these tops is simply delightful and the air refreshing and invigorating. The most important of these is the Mukurti Peak, situated about 17½ miles, west of Ootacamund.

THE CLIMATE OR RATHER CLIMATES OF THE NILGIRI HILLS.—Each hill and valley seems to vary according to its exposure to the monsoons, its elevation, or other local causes—may be generally described as for the greater part of the year dry, bracing and exhilarating, and more equable than those of Europe; the maximum range of the thermometer being only from 8 to 9 degrees at Ootacamund, and from 12 to 15 degrees at Wellington throughout the year, in the middle of the day, as against 28 degrees in London. December and January are frosty months; the wind is keen and the sky beautifully blue. This is the unhealthy season. Water cakes into thin layer ice in the winter. South-west monsoon.—During the south-west monsoon, which usually prevails until the end of September, much rain falls, and the air is generally saturated with moisture. The hills are quickly covered with luxuriant grasses and the forest trees put forth their fresh leaves. During August and September breaks, as they are called, occur. The mists clear off, and the sun shines forth for several days successively. The scenery, usually beautiful, is now surpassingly so, the undulating ground of the whole plateau being clothed with verdure of peculiar richness. This is usually considered to be the healthiest time of the year, and Europeans who have resided for any length of time upon the Hills, and judge the climate by experience, invariably prefer the rainy season to any other. North-east monsoon.—This begins about the middle of October and generally opens with vivid flashes of lightning and rattling peals of thunder, accompanied with heavy rains. There are breaks now and again, but rain is heavy. The wind occasionally becomes frosty and heavy fogs occur, especially in November.

CASES OF ILLNESS WHICH DERIVE MOST BENEFIT FROM A CHANGE TO THE HILL CLIMATE.—On the Nilgiri table land we have a climate essentially temperate, and one which experience tells us is capable of conferring the greatest benefit in suitable cases. The cool refreshing breezes, together with the lovely mountain scenery and relaxation from work, combine to effect an improvement in the health of those who have been exposed for any length of time to the enervating influences of the plains. For the following classes the climate will be found unquestionably most suitable and invigorating. Young people of weakly constitution, who have broken down through overwork in a tropical climate, or who from having come out to India before their constitution may be said to have been properly formed, and in consequence have been reduced to a state of general debility after their arrival in the country. Older persons who, by reason of a prolonged residence on the plains without change, or who after suffering from some slight illness, have been troubled with dyspepsia, nervous debility, mental depression, or loss of appetite, and who in consequence feel an inability to perform their accustomed duties. These are the cases which derive the most permanent benefit from a residence on the Hills. It is presumed that in the above cases there is freedom from all structural disease. Convalescence from many of the more trivial diseases to which Europeans are subject on the plains, is generally hastened by a residence on these hills, attention being paid to the selection of a station for such cases in due accordance with the age and state of the patient and the season of the year. The hills are the place for consumptives, or those suffering from asthma, fevers, chronic diarrhoea, dysentery and liver.

OOTACAMUND.

OOTACAMUND, the Queen of Hill Stations, the chief town of the Nilgiri Dt., the principal sanatorium of India, the summer head-quarters of the Madras Govt., occupies the western slope of the Doddabetta mountain range. The town proper lies within the basin formed by two spurs of the Doddabetta mountain, the highest point of the southern being the Elk Hill and that of the northern the Club Hill. Owing to its peculiar features, Ootacamund is much exposed to the westerly winds, but is well-protected upon the north and east. The bottom of the Ootacamund basin has been converted into an artificial lake some two miles in length and one-third of a mile in width, by throwing a dam across the main stream at a narrow pass where it issues from the central valley. The western lake is sinuous in form. Upon the hills which surround it, more or less concealed by woods of eucalyptus, acacia, cypress and pine, stand some of the best private residences in the town. On a foreland of its southern bank stands the Church of St. Thomas, a Gothic building; and opposite to this on the north bank, Ootacamund Railway Station. Though at a greater distance from the lake, the Roman Catholic Church is dedicated to the Blessed Virgin. The upper lake, an oval piece of water, much contaminated by the drainage of the native town or bazaar which lies on its northern bank, has been reclaimed lately and is now utilized as a Gymkhana ground and Race course. Round the margin of the whole lake runs a wide carriage-drive. The marsh at the head, or eastern extremity of the lake has been reclaimed, levelled, and forms a park known as the Hobart Park, still used for purposes of public recreation. The area including the land lying on the northern and southern margins of the lake as far as the Willow Bund, is about thirty acres. Opposite to this, at the eastern extremity of the native bazaar, stands the Hobart School for native girls. To the east is the public market. On the slope of the hill behind the market are the Police lines and station; and above these ranges of buildings is St. Bartholomew's Hospital, behind which on the top of the ridge, are the jail buildings now used by the Taluk and Sub-Registrar's Offices, and by the Indian Defence Force as their Armoury and Recreation room. At a short distance to the east, on the same spur, is the Public Library, and opposite to it the Post Office; a little further on are the public offices of the district and lower down the Brecks' Memorial School. Nearer to the hill stands the Church of St. Stephen, the old station church; and opposite its gates, are the Church and school of the Church Missionary Society's Indian Christians. The sides of the hill to the east and west of St. Stephen's are thickly studded with houses and cottages, including westward the Club House and the principal hotels, and eastward the Assembly Rooms. Looking to the east from St. Stephen's, but at a much lower elevation, on the western extremity of a minor spur of Dodabetta stands "Stonehouse," which contains the Council Chamber and the offices of the Madras Secretariat. In the hollows and on the spurs of Dodabetta to the north and south of "Stonehouse" are many residences. The lands on these slopes are generally very fertile and well-watered, and for this reason a considerable and yearly extending area is cultivated as garden land. In a steep ravine, about half a mile to the north of "Stonehouse," are the Public Gardens and the Todah "mund," from which Ootacamund takes its name. Above the Public Gardens, stretching across the Dodabetta saddle, is the Government Cinchona plantation. On the northern shoulder of the ravine, adjoining the Public Gardens, lies the hill residence of the Governor, backed by a fine wood of eucalyptus on the side of the Snowdon mountain. From the foot of "Stonehouse" towards the south runs the highway to Coonoor, disappearing in the deep cutting which separates Elk Hill from the Dodabetta range. This is a simple description of the main valley, but the limits of the station lie far beyond it and include two other important valleys; to the south and parallel to it, Lovedale, with its picturesque lake, above which stand the extensive storeyed buildings of the Lawrence Memorial School (founded 1853); to the north the valley and Marlimund which opens out towards the head of the Seegoor Pass. Between the Ootacamund and the Marlimund valleys is a hollow, across the outlet of which a dam has been thrown forming the Marlimund reservoir from which, through cast-iron pipes, nearly three miles in length, the northern portion of Ootacamund is supplied with water. The house occupied by Europeans in the station have often five or six acres of land attached and many have from twenty to seventy acres. In the chief native bazaar on the border of the lake, some eight thousand persons are congregated; and perhaps half of the number again in Kandal, a bazaar in a small valley to the west of the station. But a large number of Indians have their homes in scattered hamlets, chiefly in the eastern portions of the station. The inhabitants of these hamlets are chiefly Canarese, with a sprinkling of Tamils. There is no Badaga village within municipal limits, and only three or four Toda munds or villages.

LOYEDALE.

LOYEDALE is three miles from Ootacamund on the summit and centre of the Nilgiri Hills. It is now in the Ootacamund Municipal area. It lies between the 11th and 12th degrees of North Latitude and the 76th and 77th degrees of East Longitude, on the confines of Coimbatore and Malabar, at an elevation of 7,330 feet above the main level of the sea, being 1,312 feet below Dodabetta and 103 feet above the Lake at Ootacamund, and 1,470 feet above the Barracks at Wellington. The mean annual temperature at Lovedale is 58°; the mean maximum is 68°; the mean minimum is 48°; the mean annual range 16°. On or near the ground, however, water often freezes during the winter months. Chinnai-Dodabetta is in Lovedale and at its foot there is the Asylum Reservoir. The Lawrence Memorial School building and ground cover an area of 730.76 acres. Close by eastwards is Keti Valley occupied by Badagas.

COONOOR.

An ideal resort for those about to retire.

COONOOR, constituted as a Municipality in 1836, is the Second or the alternative sanatorium on the Nilgiris, and is situated on the south-eastern crest of the Nilgiri Hills. It is on the South Indian Railway branch line and is reached from Madras and Bangalore in about 14 hours. Its distance from Ootacamund is 12 miles. The mean annual temperature in the shade at Coonoor is 62° F. In the warmer months, the thermometer fluctuates between 55° and 75° F.; and in the colder months, 38° and 68° F. The average rainfall is 70 inches. Coonoor is preferred particularly on account of its equable, salubrious and mild climate, and of its shelter from South West Monsoon. It is situated at a height of 6,100 feet above sea level. Most of the European houses are situated at a height varying from 5,700 to 6,000 feet and the height of Coonoor peak is 6,990 feet above sea level. The climate is neither very warm nor very cold and so it well supplies the need of those requiring a pleasant holiday or an agreeable residence in a retired or active life.

Coonoor lies at the head of the ravine and pass which bears its name. Being situated at the mouth of a great gorge overlooking the Jagathala Valley on one side, it has been described as "One of the loveliest in India." The scenery of Coonoor differs very greatly from that of Ootacamund; its vegetation is semi-tropical, the contour of the hills, bold and the colouring bright.

The Indian town spreads over the lower slopes of two hills, which, terminate in a wedgelike promontory where the united waters of three streams break over the edge of the ghat and are precipitated down the gorge under the name of the Coonoor river, joining the Katary River and are finally flowing into the Bhavani passing through Mettupalayam. The Road to Upper Coonoor passes up this ridge round the head of the valley, and along the bridge which encloses it on the east and south. On is a ravine separating it from Tiger Hill, round which winds Lord Hobart's Road. To the east of this ridge road, stretching away to the east as far as the eye can see, are the Coimbatore and the Salem plains, the ancient Conga country; northwards the Bilgherryrunam Hills and the ranges which mark the line of the Balaghat country; whilst south and westwards is the Coonoor pass, walled in on the south by the "Hoolicudrug," which is backed by the Lamton's Peak range south of the Bhavani river and by the distant Anamalai mountains.

Behind the hill on which the Church stands, is another valley and a ravine. The western side of the Coonoor peak, runs along the road to Kotagiri. Another valley has been formed into a garden named Sim's Park, after Mr. J. D. Sim, a late Member of the Madras Council. It is an off shoot of the deep ravine which divides Coonoor from Wellington, the upper portion of which has been converted into a race-course, unrivalled by any in India for the picturesqueness and beauty of its position. The drainage of this valley forms the middle stream of Coonoor, which meets the other streams at the old Coonoor bridge. This bridge is the central point of the Coonoor road system. Here the old and new ghaut roads meet, and from it, along the right bank of the western stream as far as the Wellington bazaar, runs the main road to Ootacamund. Above this road to the left is the Tahsildar's Office, Sub-Magistrate's Court, the Police Station and Police lines. The Nilgiri Railway was opened in 1899 from Mettupalayam to Coonoor, the line being on the rack-rail system from the foot of the hills. This railway has been purchased by the Government. A continuation of the line from Coonoor to Ootacamund was completed and the train service began in 1908. A piped water supply scheme for the town of Coonoor, and its suburbs, was completed in 1906 and supply was improved from time to time. A Pasture Institute for the Madras Presidency has been built in Coonoor near Sim's Park. Three miles up the Ootacamund road is situated the Government Cordite Factory, worked by electric power obtained from the Katary Water Falls.

Coonoor is fairly well-served as far as amenities and shopping are concerned. Places of interest in and around Coonoor are the following:—Lamb's Rock, 3½ miles from Coonoor, is reached through a picturesque road and is an ideal spot for picnicking. From the top of this rock is seen the Coonoor gorge, the Droog, an historical place on the opposite valley, a section of the Nilgiri Mountain Railway and the plains of Coimbatore. About 2 miles beyond Lamb's Rock is Lady Canning seat named after the Countess of Canning who in 1858 "enchanted with the place and the views from it, spent her time riding, walking, sketching and botanizing." Dolphin's Nose is the last point of interest on the Lamb's Rock road and is 3 miles from Lady Canning seat. Dolphin's Nose is a round rock overhanging a valley hundreds of feet below and any description of its natural scenery, will be poor. Laws Falls is a miniature cascade three miles down Coonoor on the ghaut road. It is right above the Wenlock bridge and is a place worth visiting on account of the natural formations of huge boulders serving as an unsupported hall with rock walls only on two sides. The Droog, 6,294 feet above sea level, is a prominent landmark and has an old fort on it. Here the rock on one side has a perpendicular drop of 4,000 feet into the plains. The distance from Coonoor is about 10 miles. Tenerife Peak is another landmark of the Nilgiris. It is 6,894 feet above sea level. Katary Fall is a favourite point of excursion about 8 miles from Coonoor. Power is generated from this fall for the Cordite Factory. There are many other places of interest to fully engage the attention and interest of visitors.

A very well-conducted Cinema Theatre centrally situated has four shows a week. An excellent library being well up-to-date and fully stocked, meets all the requirements of the "book worm". The Coonoor Club, with its large and commodious building, provides all the comforts of a Club life with numerous Tennis Courts, Badminton and Racquet Courts and spacious grounds make it an ideal Club for those who require a strenuous life while on a holiday. The Club has besides the ordinary Club premises a few bachelor rooms attached. The (Garrison) Gymkhana Club is on the boundary of Coonoor. There is an excellent golf course. Hotels and Boarding Houses in excellent localities managed by Europeans provide accommodation for visitors. Bungalows fully furnished can also be rented. There are numerous places of worship to suit all denomination. Facilities for the education of children are provided for by St. Joseph's College for European and Anglo-Indian boys, Hebron School, Stane's High School and St. Joseph's Convent for European and Anglo-Indian girls and young boys, St. Anthony's High School for Indian boys, and there are several other schools.

Motor vehicles of all kinds can be had on hire and transport is easy and quick. Places of interest are easily accessible from Coonoor on account of its central situation. The roads are so well looked after that motoring is rendered a luxury. The town is illuminated with electricity and almost all private bungalows and houses are fitted up with electric lighting. The Agri-Horticultural, Poultry and animal show held in June every year is considered to be one of the best shows in the Southern India. The surrounding reserve forests provide the shikari with small game, and a few miles away from Coonoor he will find big game of every variety. A licence must be obtained from the Nilgiri Game Association. The climate is specially favourable for the cultivation of flora of all kinds and the soil is particularly good for roses. Coonoor has many American and Australian plants besides many Indian and European species. To the botanist it is a rich and promising field. The other institutions in Coonoor are the Cosmopolitan Club, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., I. O. G. T. and a masonic lodge in Wellington. There is an Institute for the Railway employees and there are Tennis Courts for Indians. Kotagiri is 12 miles from Coonoor and Wellington—2 miles.

KOTAGIRI.

A Hill-Station and division of the Coonoor Taluk Lat. 11°34'. Long. 76°54'. Distance, 18 miles E. of Ootacamund, 13 miles N.E. of Coonoor, and 21 miles N. of Mettupalayam. Elevation 6,600 feet. Rainfall average, 70 inches (chief monsoon N.E.). Languages—Tamil, Badaga, Kotas, Toda and Irula.

KOTAGIRI, or Koteagerry as it was formerly called, is 18 miles from the foot of the Nilgiris and 6,500 feet above the level of the sea. It is situated in North latitude 11°19'. The first English settlers went to Kotagiri, which is still considered as possessing a better climate for invalids than Ootacamund or Coonoor. It is chiefly occupied by planters, and is so called from the Kotas who have a village in it. The Kotas are a dirty lot. They live on carrion, and their persons and huts are squalid and filthy. They are mostly blacksmiths by profession. Kotagiri produces tea, coffee and oranges of superior kind in abundance. Potatoes, Pears, Apples and other fruits form no inconsiderable supply during July, August and September. Roman Catholic Mission has established churches and schools there and is doing quiet but useful work. St. Luke's Church was recently built and dedicated. Resdt. Chaplain.—Rev. A. W. Askwith, M.A.

WELLINGTON.

The station of Wellington, which is the Convalescent Depot for the British troops in the Madras Presidency, is in the Merkanad Division of the Nilgiri District, and lies in latitude $11^{\circ} 5'$ north and longitude $77^{\circ} 5'$ east, with a native population of 7,000. It is 6,100 feet above the level of the sea, situated on a spur running to the south-east from the Dodabetta or middle range of mountains, is well sheltered, only partially exposed to the monsoons, and is well adapted for sanatorium. It is bounded on the North by the Dodabetta mountain, which is 8,760 feet above sea-level, and is sheltered by it partially from the south-west monsoon; on the South by Coonoor, two miles distant, from which it is separated by a deep ravine; on the East by Kotagiri 13 miles distant; and on the West by a spur of the Dodabetta range stretching towards Kateri. There is a Convalescent Depot which is now called the Furlough Recreation Camp, and a convalescent enteric depot at the Hut Barracks besides Rifle Range Camp and bazaar Hill Camp. Both of these Camps have now been considerably improved upon, special accommodation being built for married families of all Military details in the Southern Command. The Lancashire Fusiliers (20) and Battalion are located in the main Barracks from March 1927.

CLIMATE AND ITS INFLUENCE ON HEALTH.—The climate at Wellington although only 11 degrees from the equator, is most salubrious, temperate and invigorating. The thermometer seldom rises in the shade above 75 degrees, and the days throughout the cold months are clear and bracing. The mornings are always refreshing, and, if the character and time of the setting in of the south-west monsoons are regular, the months of the middle part of the year are pleasant and healthy.

The soil in and about Wellington is of a rich red ferruginous clay or morol, resting on granitic base with sienite in many places, and here and there felspar, mica, and veins of quartz. Flint and amethyst appear to be embedded in the granite, sienite or gneiss, in the form of crystallized silica.

The road up the ghat runs from east to west. On the first portion of the ascent the bamboo, cocconut and nut grow in abundance, sheltering the road. On going higher, one observes the indigenous forest trees, among which are conspicuous, the teak, of an inferior quality, the blackwood, which is useful for furniture, and takes a handsome polish, the sal, wild jack and vengay. Vengay is a superior timber considered by some equal to teak, and from it the bridges throughout the ghat are made. Lastly, the red and white cedars, the woods of which are suitable for building or making furniture. These trees are conspicuous for their great girth. About two-thirds up the ghat it is a pleasing relief to meet a resting-place, known as the 'Half-way House' midway between Coonoor and Mettupalaiyam, or 5 miles from the former station. Here coffee is provided for troops coming up. It is well shaded, and a perennial spring of clear water flows close by. The ascent from Mettupalaiyam to Coonoor is about 4,500 feet. Midway between Ootacamund and Coonoor, i.e., at the 7th mile stone from Arunvankad stands the Cordite Factory, the surroundings of which up to Yellanahalli are under the sanitary charge of the Wellington Cantonment authority.

GOVERNMENT BOTANICAL GARDENS,
THE NILGIRIS.

Curator.—F. H. Butcher.

The following are the Gardens and Parks on the Nilgiris:—

| 1. Government Botanical Gardens. | Ooty. |
| 2. Sim's Park | Coonoor. |
| 3. Pomological Station, Sim's Park | " |
| 4. Burliar Experimental Gardens | Coonoor |
| 5. Kullar | Ghat. |

The Ootacamund Botanical Garden was opened during the Governorship of the Marquis of Tweeddale in 1847, and covers an area of about 51 acres. The grounds are beautifully laid out and planted with a great variety of exotic timber and ornamental trees, shrubs and herbaceous plants. There is a fine terrace laid out with flower beds in the Italian fashion, two conservatories which are open to the public, and a range of propagating houses.

Sim's Park, Coonoor, was opened in 1874 as a pleasure ground for the inhabitants and visitors to Coonoor and Wellington. It is prettily situated in a valley on the north side of Coonoor at an elevation of 5,800–5,900 feet and is about 30 acres in extent.

Pomological Station.—This station which covers an area of about 12 acres is attached to

GOVERNMENT BOTANICAL GARDENS,
THE NILGIRIS—Contd.

Sim's Park and is situated along the water channel-bath near the entrance to the Pasteur Institute. It was established in 1920, its object being to promote fruit-growing, to supply fruit trees and seeds to the public and to experiment with various fruit trees and plants.

The Burliar Experimental Garden is near the Burliar toll bar on the Coonoor ghat, at an elevation of 2,300 to 2,500 feet, and was purchased in 1871 for Rs. 2,000. Experience has proved that the site, which commands a plentiful supply of water all the year round for irrigation purposes, is well adapted for the growth of trees and plants peculiar to tropical America, the West Indies, tropical Africa, the Straits and the Eastern Archipelago. The Para, Central American, Ceara and Funtumia rubber trees, the Mangosteen, Nutmeg, Cinnamon, Clove, Allspice, Cocoa, Coca Mahogany, Camphor, Coffee, trees of different species, Oranges, Breadfruit, Cocconut, Custard Apple, Litchi, Langsat, Avocado Pear, Durian and Plantains—including the Manila Hemp plant—are all represented and thriving well in the garden, which covers about 8 acres.

Kallar, a block of about 10 acres of land at 1,300 to 1,400 feet elevation, handed over by the Forest Department in 1900, lies on the old ghat road about a mile from Kallar Railway Station.

Rubber, fibre-producing plants, teak, mahogany and tropical fruit trees are being experimented with there and also the valuable medicinal herb, Cephaelis ipecacuanha.

RAMNAD.

The District of Ramnad was constituted in 1910. It comprises the two great Zemindaries of Ramnad and Sivaganga and the taluks of Sattur and Srivilliputhur. Srivilliputhur, Sivakasi and Virudhunagar are the Municipal towns in the district. Devakottai and Karaikudi are the centres of the wealthy trading community of Nattukottai Chetties. Rameswaram is a place of pilgrimage much resorted to by people from all parts of India. Area, 4,819 square miles. Population, 1,838,965.

GENERAL.—Comprises the two Zamindaris of Ramnad and Sivaganga. The contour of the country is disturbed by few natural features. The general character of the coast, the rapid growth of the Dhanuskodi promontory and the existence of raised beaches at Mantapam with comparatively fresh coral adhering to them indicate that this part of the country is rising rapidly. The surrounding seas are shallow and silted up. The Vaigai is the chief river. Other rivers are the Vaipar, the Gundar, the Palay, the Manimuthar and the Iridhalaiyar. The general aspect of the country is a treeless expanse. Coral is abundant along the coast. Srivilliputhur (32,385), Sivakasi (15,212) and Virudhunagar (33,081) are Municipal towns. Ramnad (16,817) and Sivaganga (11,323) are the head-quarters of the Zamindaris of the same names. Devakottai (20,393) and Karaikudi (21,672) are the centres of the wealthy trading community of Nattukottai Chetties. Virudhunagar, Sivakasi and Sattur (8,772) are the chief centres of cotton trade. Rameswaram (8,423) is a place of pilgrimage much resorted to by people from all parts of India.

CLIMATE.—Inner parts hot and dry. Coast cool.

RAINFALL.—Average 31 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—Industrial crops—Cotton, tobacco and ground-nut—cultivated at good profit. Paddy occupies a comparatively small area in the district.

INDUSTRIES.—Chief industries of the district are pressing, ginning and weaving of cotton. Dyeing and extracting oil from ground-nut are also largely carried on. There is silk weaving at Paramakudi and Rameswaram. Brass and bronze vessels are manufactured at Puduvoyal and Coir at Singampuneri in the Tirupattur taluk. Tiles are manufactured at Pudupatti in Srivilliputhur after the pattern of Mangalore tiles.

VIRUDHUNAGAR.—Surrounded by hamlets of different names, known heretofore as Virudupatti. Viruduvetti is a Municipal town on the South Indian Railway, between Madura and Maniyachi. It is 373 miles from Madras and 27 miles from Madura. The history of the Town is told as follows:—

Some 360 years back, a challenge was offered by a warrior to the residents of this town comprising of Chokkalingapuram, Kottaiipatti, Allampatti and Muthuramaupatti. This warrior was in possession of a number of flags in token of having conquered many others. The challenge was accepted and in a fight the warrior was killed and his flags taken over. From then the town was known as Virudukkavetti, which name, was on the station being connected with the Railway in 1875, altered by the Railway Company into Virudupatti. In connection with the visit of the Rajah of Panagal, to lay the foundation stone of the new Municipal office building on the 6th April, 1928, during the time of the first non-official Chairman of the Municipality, M. S. P. Senthikumar Nadar, the Council changed the appellation of the town by calling it as Virudhunagar.

The town which is a big cotton centre was a Union till October 1915, when it was constituted a Municipality. Aruppukottai, a weaving centre about 12 miles, is reached by motor bus which meets every train at Virudhunagar.

There is a Travellers' Bungalow on the great southern trunk road about a mile from the Railway Station and a Chatram within half a mile. The principal trade is cotton and cotton goods. Export is made in large quantity in dried chillies, groundnut oil, coriander seeds, jaggery, etc. There is a local festival lasting for 10 days every year in Panguni (March-April), when over 10,000 people from all parts of the district and its surroundings congregate.

SIVAKASI.—It is said that Darisinam of Siva was presented to a Rishi by name Kasi-Kanda-Parakrama Rishi, who habitually used to go and return from Benares by Kavana Kuliga, was unavoidably detained at this particular place, which was a forest. The place takes its name from the incident mentioned above.

The town is situated 12 miles west of Sattur Railway Station and is the Head-quarters of the Sub-Collector of Sivakasi Division. Police reserve, in charge of a Deputy Superintendent, has been located here. This was constituted as a Municipal town on 1st October, 1920. There is a Municipal Dispensary. This is an important trading centre. The main trade is cotton.

There is a missionary bungalow and school in Sachiapuram, 2 miles distant from here. There is one Private High School and a Girls' School maintained by Nadar community. There are two Elementary Schools under the Municipal management, one for Mahomedan boys and girls and the other for the Adi-Dravidas.

There are two choultries, one named as Tottenham's Choultry and the other named as Tinnevely Venkateswara Josiar's Chatram and in the latter free feeding is given to pilgrims. People who go to and return from Srivilliputhur used to stop and lodge for the nights in the choultries.

INDUSTRIES.—Pressing, Ginning and Weaving of Cotton, Silk Weaving at Paramagudi and Rameswaram. Brass and bronze vessels are manufactured at Puduvoyal and Coir at Singampuneri.

TALUKS.—Aruppukottai, Mudukulathur, Paramagudi, Sattur, Sivaganga, Srivilliputhur, Tirupathur, Tiruvadanai and Ramnad.

THE SHEVAROY HILLS.

Are situated in the Salem District between 78°20' East longitude and 11°05' North longitude, and extend over an area of 150 square miles. The highest point, Shevaroyan, from which an extensive view of the surrounding country can be obtained, is 3,314 feet above the level of the sea. Branfall, 5,307 feet and Duffs' Hill, 5,231, are next in height. The Shevaroyan has a small temple and is often visited by picnic parties. Yercaud, 4,330 feet in elevation, is the principal European settlement, having an altitude of 1,700 feet greater than that of Bangalore. It enjoys a cool and salubrious climate, and is surrounded by charming and picturesque scenery. This charming Hill Station is resorted to by a large number of visitors as a Sanatorium and also by those for whom the Nilgiris are too cold, being especially more suitable for those suffering from rheumatism, heart and lung complaints. Salem Railway Station, from which alone the Shevaroyas should be visited, lies 207 miles south-west of Madras, and is 14 miles by road and ghat, from the centre of Yercaud Station. If the necessary arrangements have been made for ascending the ghat, visitors leaving Madras or Bangalore by the evening train reach their destination before 8 A.M. the following morning. It is 206 miles distance from Calicut, 97 miles from Coimbatore and 126 from Trichinopoly.

These hills are approached by three ghats, one on the southern side communicating with the town of Salem and the railway station; another on the western side leading to Kadiampatty Station, distance about 12 miles; and the last, traced formerly as Bandy ghat on the northern side of these Hills, connecting them with the Bonmudi Railway Station, distance about 19 miles. A carriage ghat to Salem, named after His Excellency Sir Arthur Havelock, is freely used for wheeled traffic. The distance of this ghat to Salem Railway Station is 20 miles. From the station, Yercaud is reached in about three hours, to the foot of the old ghat road in jukkas at one rupee each, and the ascent used to be done on chairs at 5 annas per cooly carrying the same, six coolies to a chair. But now these rates for chair and luggage coolies as for every thing else are increased now the charge being Rs. 3-0-0 for a chair, and 6 annas for a luggage cooly. The return journey can be done either by rickshaws or cycles; the former are always available at the Yercaud Stores, the charge for each Rickshaw being Rs. 3-12-0. Motoring up and down the New Ghat Road is now not only a possibility but a pleasure, because of the picturesque views that are to be seen.

Among some of the public buildings are the following:—Holy Trinity Church (Anglican), Roman, Catholic Chapel, Roman Catholic Convent, French Mission, London Mission Chapel and School, Danish Mission Chapel, Post Office and Telegraph Office, Victoria Rooms, Kutcherry, Hospital and Dispensary. There is a Sub-Treasury and a Sub-Registrar's Office in charge of the Deputy Tahsildar, who is the Sub-Magistrate of the Hills.

Fair Lawns has ceased to exist as a boarding house having been bought by a private owner. The Carlton Hotel, comprising Charrington and Carlton House, has taken its place. Numerous detached bungalows are surrounded by extensive and well-managed gardens, and are in immediate proximity to the Church, Post and Telegraph Offices, Public Library and Tennis Courts. The Yercaud Club is conveniently situated and has excellent Tennis and Badminton Courts, besides Billiard and Bridge Room, etc. There are also Golf links near the Lake, but as these are too small, it is proposed to make a larger course on a more suitable site, and this should prove a great attraction to visitors from the plains. 100 acres of land have been acquired for the formation of a Golf course. This was expected to be opened after the War and should form a great attraction to visitors of Yercaud.

A miniature Rifle Club for ladies was started in 1917.

The European and Eurasian inhabitants of the Shevaroyas number about 350, the former being in a large majority; three-fifths of this population is settled in Yercaud and the remainder are in the outlying coffee estates. The Ladies' Rifle Club has ceased to exist. The Afghan Princes and interned Germans have been removed from Yercaud.

A market or Shandy is held on Sundays. There are Bakeries in Yercaud, and shops for the sale of stores and liquors, the principal being Messrs. N.O. Pillai, the "Yercaud Stores" and the "Sais" shop. Nearly all the English vegetables and fruit trees thrive remarkably well, and might be cultivated with profit to the grower; in fact a jam factory should prove a very paying concern.

The largest coffee estates are situated from 4 to 7 miles away from Yercaud at Nagalore and the Green Hills, at the former of which there is a Post and Telegraph Office. Here some of the most flourishing estates are to be seen with excellent roads to them. Several exotic trees are met with, such as Eucalyptus (Blue Gum), Norfolk Pines (Auracaria Excelsa), Pinus Longifolia (Pine), Grevillia Robusta (Silver Oak), etc., which present a striking contrast to the forest trees indigenous to these Hills, to which, however, with the exception of the Casuarina, they are much inferior in beauty. Roses and ferns of different kinds grow very well.

The permanent residents are chiefly Planters, some of whom also possess houses which they rent out during the season, which lasts from April to October.

The climate is extremely healthy, especially for children and epidemics of typhoid and small-pox are unknown. These Hills get the benefit of both the south-west and north-east monsoons, which cause the rainfall to be more evenly distributed throughout the year, and thus enhances the value of the place as a coffee and rubber-growing district.

A tribe of natives, called Mallalais (Hill-men), Vellalans by caste, the descendants of immigrants from near Conjeevaram, are to be met with living in numerous villages of from 20 to 100 conical shaped huts. They are an agricultural race, cultivating different kinds of grain and breeding cattle and remarkable for their extreme clannishness. Labour rates have increased: men being Rs. 1-12 to Rs. 2 for a week, women Rs. 1/8 a week. Independent of these Hill-men, Re. 1-2-0, coolies from the low lands come up to work on the estates at the following rates: men Rs. 1-3-0, women Rs. 1-8 a week and children 8 to 12 annas per week. There are very many spots within easy distance of Yercaud commanding beautiful views of the low country and distant ranges, suitable for picnic and walking and riding parties, which have only to be seen to be appreciated. Amongst these might be mentioned Bear's Cave, Lady's Seat, Arthur's Seat, Pagoda Point, Prospect Point, the Killiur Falls and Owen's Grotto.

TINNEVELLY.

It is bounded on the North and North-east by Madura; on the South-east and South by the Gul. of Mannar; and on the West by the Southern Ghats. Area, 4,315 square miles. Population, 2,046,907. Language.—Tamil.

GENERAL.—The District is well-clothed with forest. Estimated area of the ghat forest is 504 square miles, of which nearly one-third is Zamindari; the important river is the Tambraparni which has a perennial flow—eight anicuts. There are 18 towns of over 10,000 inhabitants. Tinnevely (57,078) and Palamcottah (51,990) which are separated from each other by the Tambraparni form the headquarters of the district. Both are municipalities. Palamcottah is celebrated as an active centre of Protestant Missions. Tuticorin (60,395) is a municipality and a growing port.

CLIMATE.—Light rainfall and equable temperature.

RAINFALL.—Average 27 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—There is a Government agricultural farm at Koilpatti. The increase in the single planting of paddy and in the cultivation of Cambodia cotton are noteworthy symptoms. Important cereals of the district are paddy, cumbu, samai and cholam. Paddy occupies only a small area.

INDUSTRIES.—Chief Industries are pressing, ginning, spinning and weaving of cotton and manufacture of jaggery. There are 3 cotton presses in Tuticorin, and 24 ginning factories. Mats of korai grass of fine texture are manufactured in the Ambasamudram taluk, the finest mats being manufactured at Pattamadai. Other minor industries are extraction of fibre, manufacture of mats and baskets from palmyra leaves, fish curing and metal work. Pearl and chank fisheries are undertaken by Government. There are salt factories in the district.

COMMUNICATION.—South Indian Railway connects the district with the Travancore State. The important seaports are Tuticorin, Kayalpatnam and Kulasekharapatnam.

The largest towns are Tinnevely and Palamcottah which are separated from each other by the Tambraparni River. These form the head-quarters of the district and have Municipalities. Tuticorin, another Municipal town, is one of the largest ports in the Presidency and the development of the harbour will soon be an accomplished fact. The Tuticorin Port Trust Act was placed on the Statute book recently.

PAPANSAAM.—Place of pilgrimage.—6 miles from Ambasamudram. Pilgrims visit in large numbers during CHITRAI VISHU AND ADI AMAVASAI.

BHAMA THEERTHAM.—A grand waterfall and a place of pilgrimage at the foot of the Western Ghats. 12 miles from Ambasamudram.

ANJENGO.—The District of Anjengo comprises the two enclaves of Anjengo and Tangasseri.

TALUKS.—Ambasamudram, Koilpatti, Nanguneri, Sankaranayinarkovil, Srivaikuntam, Tenkasi, Tinnevely and Tiruchendur.

Administrative Head quarters.—PALAMCOTTAH.

TRICHINOPOLY.

A District in the Madras Presidency, is bounded on the North-West and North by Salem; on the North and North-East by South Arcot; on the South-East by Tanjore; on the South by the Pudukkotta State and Madura and on the West by Coimbatore. Area, 4,314 square miles. Population, 1,913,243. Language.—Tamil.

GENERAL.—About 11 miles west of Trichinopoly, the Cauveri divides itself into two branches which nearly unite again about 10 miles east of the city being separated there only by an artificial dam. The northern branch which is called the Coleroon, flows east-north-east from this point and separates the district from Tanjore for about 45 miles of its length. The largest tributary of the Cauveri is the Amaravati which drains the northern slopes of the Anamalai and Palni Hills and after a course of about 140 miles discharges itself in to the Cauvery a few miles below Karur. The chief hills are the Kollimalais and the Patchaimalais. Trichinopoly has a population of 1,42,843 and is the third largest city in the Presidency. An important Railway Junction, a place of much historic interest, a military Cantonment, a centre of considerable trade and a Municipal Town. Srirangam (24,663) lying on an island between the Cauveri and the Coleroon is famous for its Vishnu temple and is a municipality. Karur (19,850) is a municipality and a place of sanctity. Other important places are Lalgudi (9,376), Kulitalai (8,157), Ariyalur (8,308), Taraiyur (13,391) and Udayarpalayam (7,377).

CHETTIKOLAM.—Here is a Subramanya Swami Temple, situated on the top of a small hill, where pilgrims flock every year for the Pangui Uthirani Festival, held in March and April.

KARUR.—This is considered the capital of the old Chera Kings as would be seen from the inscription in the temple, noting the period of their reign. There is a Vishnu temple, a mile off this place built on a hillock by name Thanthoni Malai. This is visited by pilgrims during festival in Purattasi.

There are a number of rest houses for the convenience of pilgrims.

SIRUVACHUR.—Here is a sacred temple called the 'Madura Kaliannan' Temple where pilgrims largely assemble at the Car festival in May and June every year.

COCHIN STATE.

Description and Position.—Cochin (Vernacular—Kochi) is a Native State in subsidiary alliance with the British Government and politically connected with the India Government. It is said to be called after the town of that name, formerly its Capital, where in 1502 the Portuguese were allowed to settle and erect a Fort. In 1663 it was captured by the Dutch, and from them the British took possession of it and it is now a British possession. The State lies between 9° 43' and 10° 50' N. Lat., and 76° 5' and 76° 58' E. Long. It is bounded on the North by British Malabar, on the East by British Malabar, Coimbatore, and Travancore, on the South by Travancore and on the West by British Malabar and the Arabian Sea. The area of the State is 1,417½ square miles, according to the recent survey of the State.

Divisions.—For administrative purposes Cochin is divided into five taluks, viz., Cochin-Kanayanur, Mukundapuram, Trichur, Talapilli and Chittur. In addition to these, there is also the small principality of Cranganur under a Chief, paying tribute to Cochin. This principality is financially autonomous, but is in all other respects administered as one of the taluks of the State.

Physical feature.—The Cochin State is naturally divided into three well-defined parts or zones—the hills, the plains and the seaboard. The hilly or eastern portion, which covers nearly half the extent of the State, is broken by long spurs, extensive ravines, forests and tangled jungles. The chief ranges of hills are the Nelliampathies with Paramaikulam and the Pothundi in the Chittur taluk, the Machad in the Talapilli taluk, the Paravattani in the Trichur taluk, the Palapilli, Kodasseri and Adarapilli in the Mukundapuram taluk, and Malayattur in the Cochin-Kanayanur taluk. Nellikotta or Padagiri on the Nelliampathies, which is 5,000 feet high, is the loftiest peak in the State. They are covered with magnificent forests of teak and other valuable trees, and exhibits everywhere a splendid luxuriance of foliage and flowers. Stretching westward, in gentler slopes and gradually widening valleys, but broken here and there by isolated low hills, the plains succeed forest-clad uplands. Intersected by numerous rivers and streams, dotted everywhere with homes and farm-stands, and closely cultivated wherever possible, these plains stretch towards the backwaters in a succession of gentle undulations. Between the backwaters and the sea is the long and narrow stretch of sandy seaboard, densely covered with luxuriant cocoanut palms, and in parts, where there are natural or artificial embankments, large quantities of rice are grown. It is low and generally swampy and in several parts, liable to be flooded during the monsoon inundations.

Rivers.—The chief rivers are the Alwaye or Periyar, the Chalakudi, the Kurumali, the Manali, the Ponunni and the Anamalai. Besides these there are several minor streams. There is a picturesque water-fall of nearly 150 feet at Adarapilli.

Backwaters.—One of the most striking physical features of the country is the continuous chain of lagoons or backwaters, running parallel to the sea, and receiving the drainage of the numerous streams descending from the Western Ghats. They are very irregular in form, with a breadth which ranges between four miles and a few dozen yards; branch out into a number of intricate and shallow Channel and contain several low alluvial islands. They communicate with the sea at three points—Cochin, Cranganur and Chetwai. Though these backwaters are shallow in most places, navigation is at all times possible for flat-bottomed passenger and cargo boats. In places where they are very deep, navigation during the monsoon season is often dangerous and tedious. There are also two extensive fresh water lakes, which are connected with each other, the Enammakal and the Manakudi. The other lakes are Cochin, Kaithapuzha and Chathanad, which are salt-water.

Ports.—The ports of Cochin, excluding the port of Cochin which lies entirely in the British district of Malabar, are Malipuram, Narakal and Cranganur. The port of Cochin though it belongs to the British Government is described here, as almost all the whole sea-borne trade of the State passes through this port and its improvement and development are of more importance to Native Cochin than to British Malabar. The port consists of an outer roadstead and an inner harbour with a large expansion of backwater behind it, where vessels of great draught can be conveniently accommodated when the sea is very rough. This can be done only if the bar at the mouth of the harbour is removed and if it is done, Cochin can be made one of the finest harbours in the world. As it is, it is the third largest trading port in Southern India. Malipuram and Narakal are open roadsteads, which are generally resorted to only during the monsoon months, when the shipping from Cochin takes refuge at the mud-bank of Narakal.

Islands.—The chief among the islands are Kumbalangi, Kumbalom, Venduruthy, Bolghatty, Kadamakudi and Panambukad. At the southern extremity of Bolghatty is situated the British Residency commanding a grand view on its three sides and overlooking the Cochin Harbour.

Soil and Climate.—The prevailing geological formation of the eastern zone is gneiss, which decomposes into a soil, which, in combination with the climate, is eminently suited to promote a luxuriant forest growth. Proceeding westwards, the formation merges into a laterite underlain by gneiss and becomes sandy on the seaboard. The climate, though damp and enervating, is not particularly unhealthy. It is most moist and enervating in the southern taluks, which are situated by the sea and the backwaters but less so in the northern taluks. Of all parts of the State, the Chittur taluk, situated within the Palghat gap, has the driest and most bracing climate. The lower hills and parts of Chittur are feverish, especially during the dry months.

Flora and Fauna.—The forests abound in teak, rosewood, blackwood, ebony, white cedar, red cedar Irul (X. olabiformis), Aini (A. hirsuta), Vedankorana (B. aylocarpa), Venga (P. marsumpium), Pongu (C. bracteatum), Veembu (E. clycina), Venteak (L. lanceolata), Maillelu (V. altissima), Elavu (B. malabaricum) and other trees and plants of commercial and medicinal value. Coffee and Cardamoms are grown on the Nelliampathies. The flora of the laterite plains consist of jack, mango, areca palms, banana and various species of plantain. The cocoanut palm is the chief growth of the seaboard. The forests of Cochin contain all the larger animals of South India. Elephant and bison are common in the Paramaikulam Range, and to a smaller extent, in the Kodasseri Range. Ibex are seen occasionally in the higher ranges of the Nelliampathies. The tiger, bear, cheetah, leopard, hyena and sambhar, with many varieties of deer, are met with in all the forests. The true hunting leopard and wolf are said to be found in some of the jungles. Monkeys and birds are abundant both in the hills and the plains, as also are snakes and other reptiles. Fish of various tribes and species abound in the rivers and backwaters.

Arts, Manufactures and Industries.—Cotton weaving is carried on to some extent in Chittur and Talapilli taluks. There are a few fly shuttle looms in Trichur. There, laced and unlaced cloths of fine texture are manufactured. Grass mats of exquisite colouring and texture, are made in Vadakkancheri. They are highly admired and are in great demand. Coir matting, ropes and rugs of good quality are made in Ernakulam and Mattancherry. The most important factory industry is the extraction of cocoanut oil by steam mills, all in the Cochin-Kanayanur taluk. There are nearly a dozen factories of tile and brick works (Mangalore pattern) in the State. There are also steam saw-mills and a hydraulic press. Agriculture is the chief occupation of the people. Cultivation of coffee, tea and rubber is carried on in the forests.

Education.—The necessity for a system of imparting State education was recognised by Government so far back as the year 1818 by establishing 33 Vernacular Schools in the several Proverthies or villages of the State with the avowed object of training up young men for State Service, as Writers and Accountants, giving instructions in the three R's and Astrology and Sanskrit to advanced pupils. The first attempt to introduce the study of the English language was made by a Missionary, Rev. J. Dawson, by opening a school at Mattancherry in 1818 in aid of which he received a grant from the Sircar. This School had to be closed within three years for want of pupils. In 1835, another school was opened where children of the Jews were taught English, Hebrew and Malayalam. This School is still in existence. Two years later, an English School was opened at Trichur and another at Tripunithura for the education of the Princes and others. The 'free school' established at Ernakulam in 1845 was afterwards raised to the standard of a High School in 1865 and was placed in charge of an European Head Master, Mr. A. F. Sealy, M.A., with whose name is associated the progress of English education in the State. The liberal policy followed by the Dewan, Mr. Sankunni Menon, C.S.I., contributed not a little towards the education of His Highness' subjects. During his Dewaniship, the High School was raised to the standard of a Second Grade College in 1874. In 1897 District Schools were opened in all the taluks and a Director for Education in the person of Mr. Sealy was also appointed. Grant-in-aid all the taluks and a large number of indigenous schools were brought into the aided lists. In the beginning of 1899, a great impetus was given to the education of the masses by the organization of the Department of Vernacular Education in 1890. State Schools were opened for boys and girls in most of the Proverthies and a large number of indigenous schools were brought into the aided lists. In the beginning of 1892, the Vernacular and English Departments were amalgamated and placed under the control of a Superintendent of Education. In 1898 the High Schools, both Sircar and private, were removed from the control of the Superintendent and placed directly under the Dewan. The altered conditions under the new educational system rendered the introduction of a variety of reforms in this important branch of the Administration and with this object in view the State obtained the services of a special Educational Officer, Mr. J. Van Someren Pope, M.A., retired British Director of Education in Burma. The main lines of reforms introduced by Government were fully dealt with in the Dewan's Press Communiqué (February 1908) and are the introduction of free Primary education for girls and backward classes throughout the State, opening of night schools for the labouring classes, institution of free scholarships to backward classes throughout the State, institution of free scholarships in the Secondary Schools, revision of the existing grant-in-aid rules on a liberal scale, opening of a training school for female teachers, adoption of increased scale of pay for Primary and Girls' school teachers and the opening of an Industrial and Technical Institute.

Religious and Charitable Institutions.—The Devaswoms or Hindu religious institutions under the State are of two kinds, viz., Incorporated and Unincorporated Devaswoms whose properties and whose revenues and expenditure were completely merged in the general revenues and expenditure of the State are termed 'incorporated Devaswoms.' The Devaswoms whose properties and receipts were not amalgamated with those of the State but were kept separate and the expenditure met from those receipts are called 'Unincorporated' Devaswoms. In the case of the former set of Devaswoms, since the expenditure exceeded the receipts, there was no balance available and excess expenditure had to be met from the general revenues of the State. In the case of Unincorporated Devaswoms they were self-supporting, while a majority of them had incomes considerably exceeding the expenditure and thus they had a tolerably good sum as balance to their credit. There was thus a great disparity in the financial position of the two classes of Devaswoms. With a view to place this branch of administration on a satisfactory footing and to make it self-supporting as far as possible, His Highness' Government devised a completely new scheme of Devaswom Administration, and brought it into force in September 1909. By this scheme all Devaswoms under Sircar management, Incorporated and Unincorporated, were amalgamated and constituted into a separate endowment, the several Devaswoms being thus made component and inter-dependant parts of a whole, instead of being the isolated units that they were. This involved the restoration of the properties and monies of such of the institutions as were annexed to the Sircar, nearly a century ago, and the creation of a separate trust fund. For administrative purposes the Devaswoms are divided into four groups. The receipts and expenditure of the Devaswoms were entirely separated from the general revenues but the Devaswoms are allowed to bank with the State Treasuries. The Pathivu or customary scale of expenditure in all Devaswoms was revised and a uniform system of collection of revenue, control of expenditure and maintenance of accounts were introduced. Oottupuras.—These are feeding houses where gratuitous meals are given to Brahmans. There were 15 of them till 1902. In the reorganisation of these institutions 4 of them were abolished and sumptuous meals were arranged to be served to all bona-fide travellers in all the Oottupuras except Tripunithura where the residents are also fed in the morning. There are also 2 Oottupuras where congee is served for a few months in the year. These institutions cost the Sircar nearly half a lakh of rupees per annum. Water Pandals.—The State is everywhere dotted with water pandals where butter-milk flavoured with salt and lime-juice, etc., is gratuitously served to the way-worn travellers during the hot season.

Commerce.—The chief exports are cocoanut oil, coir yarn, rope fibre and matting, cocoanut, copra, oil-cake, timber, coffee, lemon-grass oil, ginger, pepper, fish and prawns. The chief imports are rice and paddy, cotton piece-goods, raw cotton and twist yarn, metals, cutlery, hardware, sugar, kerosene oil and salt. Kunnankulam is the centre of trade in areca-nuts.

Tramway.—The approximate area of the Cochin forests is nearly six hundred square miles, about half of which are virgin forests, unworked for want of a suitable outlet. From the Parambikulam Range an outlet in the shape of a tramway and timber-slide has been constructed by the Government, up to Chalakudy, a station on the Shoranur-Cochin Railway, a distance of nearly 60 miles. This line is now considered as one of the biggest and best equipped tramways designed for purely forest work in the world and it possesses many features of special interest to engineers, arboriculturists and railway-men generally.

Railway.—A branch line of railway (Metre Gauge) was opened in July 1902 from Shoranur to Ernakulam, the capital of the State. The line, 64.8 miles, cost nearly 71 lakhs of rupees, and is now worked by the South Indian Railway Company. There are 17 stations on the line. The conversion of this metre Gauge line into Broad Gauge has been taken in hand.

Roads and Communications.—There are in all about 500 miles of metalled road maintained by the State, besides the unmetalled. The backwaters also afford easy communication with several parts of the State. There are some navigable canals also which afford communication.

Political relation.—The State is governed by the Maharaja as its hereditary Ruler, with the Dewan appointed by him as his Chief Minister and advised in all important matters by a British Political Officer called the Agent to the Governor-General, Madras States, and has political relations with the India Government. The Maharajah's powers are limited only by the Regulations passed by himself and by the treaty obligations with the British Government, the powers exercised by his officers being those delegated by him by legislative enactments or by special rules or orders. The Dewan is the responsible Minister of the Maharaja and the Chief Executive Officer of the State, and he is primarily responsible for the official and progressive administration of the State.

History.—The Maharaja of Cochin traces back his descent from the last of the Cherasan Perumals and possesses extensive territories. The Maharaja lost a considerable portion of his territories in the struggle between the adjoining States in the middle of the 18th century. The Town of Cochin is historically important as being the first European Settlement in India where the Portuguese were allowed to erect a fort by the Raja of Cochin in 1503. In 1663, the Dutch expelled the Portuguese and became masters of the place. The British in their turn drove away the Dutch and took their possessions in 1793. Ever since, it remains with the former. The State of Cochin has a Colony of Jews who migrated there so early as the first century after Christ. Tradition has it that the Apostle St. Thomas landed at Malankara near Cranganur, about 52 A. D.

Languages.—Malayalam, the Vernacular and the official language of the State, is spoken by the majority of the people, but Tamil, Telugu, Konkani (a dialect of Maratti, Canarese and Tulu) are also spoken.

Towns.—The chief towns in the State are Ernakulam, Mattancherry, Trichur, Chittur, Thattamangalam, Tripunithura, Irinjalakuda and Kunnankulam. A Municipal Regulation has recently been introduced by Government and four towns were brought under it. They are in Ernakulam, Trichur, Mattancherry and Chittur-Thattamangalam.

Cranganur.—Cranganur, situated near the sea on the right bank of the Periyar river, is the seat of an ancient principality. The Chief is a Kshatriya by caste and gets a fixed allowance from the Cranganur Treasury for his own maintenance and the maintenance of other members of his family. It has an area of 18½ square miles. It is a very densely-peopled tract. It is financially autonomous, but in all other respects it is administered as an integral part of the State. The Chief pays a tribute of Rs. 6,857 to Cochin. It was a place of great historical interest, though it is now of little importance. It once possessed an excellent harbour and was an important centre of commerce, trading with the West even before the Christian era. In the first century of the Christian era, Pliny described it as "The First emporium in India." During this period and for some centuries afterwards, it was the seat of the Perumals or the early kings of Kerala before its dismemberment. The Jews and the Christians got their first footing here and founded towns long before the Portuguese discovered a direct route to India. Here the Portuguese built a fort in 1523. The fort was renovated by the Dutch when the Portuguese power fell to their prowess. Ruins of an old fort are now visible. One branch of the Periyar river and the Chalakudy river empty themselves at the Cranganur bar. The temple at Cranganur is known throughout the West Coast and is dedicated to 'Sri Kurumba Bhagavathy.' At the time of the annual festival known as 'Kodungallore Bharani' thousands of pilgrims assemble here. The members of the Chief's family are well versed in Sanskrit. One of them, Raja Valia Goda Varma Raja, is the recipient of the title of Mahamahopadhyaya, conferred in recognition of his high attainments in Sanskrit learning.

Ernakulam.—Ernakulam is the Capital of the State and is the terminus of the State Railways. The principal buildings are the Huzur Secretariat, the Chief Court, the District Court, the District Munsiff's Court, the Magistrate's Court, the offices of the Tahsildar, the Excise Superintendent, the Chief Medical Officer, the District Registrar, the Maharajah's College, the General Hospital, the Durbar Hall and the Guest House. Close to the Railway Station is the Travellers' Bungalow. There are in the town two power mills for the extraction of cocoanut oil and the Burmah Oil Company and Asiatic Petroleum Company have large petroleum installations near the Railway Station. The town is supplied with good drinking water from the Alwaye River. There are palaces of His Highness the Raja, a Residential Palace for the young Princes and a temple dedicated to Siva. There are four important churches belonging to several sections of Roman Catholics and also a Protestant Church. Ernakulam is situated on the east side of the back water and is 2½ miles off from Cochin. There are motor launches plying between Ernakulam and Cochin. Six miles to the south-east of Ernakulam is Tripunithura, where His Highness has a palace and the members of the Royal family reside. The most interesting annual function of the place is the Attachamayam in August, which is believed to be the commemoration of a victory gained by Cochin. On the morning of the day His Highness the Raja goes in procession round the town in a palanquin, accompanied by all the State Officers and the representatives of the old Chiefs and with all the paraphernalia of oriental pageantry. When the procession is over, His Highness holds a levee at the Kaliko a place where all the officers and Chiefs pay their respect to him one by one and receive from him money presents according to a graduated scale. His Highness the Maharaja resides generally in the Hill Palace at Perininkulam, two miles east of Tripunithura. On the island of Bolghatty, north-west of Ernakulam is the British Residency in Cochin. There is a very fine old Dutch building with new improvements. The British Residency is located in the most prominent part of the island and commands a view of the harbour and of adjoining islands situated in and around the backwaters.

Mattancherry.—Mattancherry is situated on the western side of the backwater that separates it from Ernakulam. It lies to the south of British Cochin and is a centre of considerable export and import trade, which is almost entirely in the hands of Banyas and Kachi Memons from the Bombay Presidency. The retail trade is mostly in the hands of Konkani Brahmans and Baisyas (Baniyas). Mattancherry is said to have been once the Capital of the State and contains a spacious old palace of quaint design which was built and presented to the Raja by the Portuguese about the year 1555. It is in this palace that the Rajas of Cochin are installed on the Musnad even now. Within the palace there is a temple dedicated to Pazhayannur Bhagavathy. There is a colony of White Jews in Mattancherry. They hold a charter engraved on copper plates granted to them by Bhaskara Ravi Varma, Emperor of Malabar, in 373 A.D. Near the palace there is a synagogue belonging to the White Jews. Among modern institutions of interest are the large and richly endowed Konkani temple of Tirumala Devaswom and the Women and Children's Hospital. The town also contains a District Munsiff's Court, a Sub-Magistrate's Court, a Police Station, a District Registrar's Office, a Male Dispensary and a High School maintained out of the funds of the Tirumala Devaswom. Owing to the mismanagement of this Devaswom, the Government very recently undertook its management. There is a Leper Asylum in the island of Venduruthy, separated from the main land by an arm of the back-water.

Trichur.—Trichur is a town of great antiquity and sanctity and is said to have been founded by Parasu Rama. In the centre of the town and on the summit of a hillock stands the ancient Pagoda of Wadakkunnathan to which many thousands of people annually resort on the occasion of the Trichur Pooram Festival, in the month of Medom (May). On the four sides of the town, there are ruins of an old fort and ditch. There are two mutts of Nambudiri Sanyasins and there is a Vedic College called the 'Brahmaswam Madam' where gratuitous boarding and instruction are given to Nambudiri youths. Trichur is the head-quarters of several Public Offices, viz., the Dewan Peishkar, the Chief Engineer, the Conservator of Forests, the Comptroller of Accounts, the Superintendent of Police and Commandant of the Nair Brigade, the District Magistrate, the Superintendent of Registration, the Land Records Superintendent, the Agricultural Superintendent, the Devaswom Commissioner, the Director of Public Instruction, the District Court, the Magistrate's Court, the Hospital, the Veterinary Hospital, the Lunatic Asylum, the High Schools for Boys and Girls, the St. Thomas' College (made 1st Grade from 1925), the Government Industrial and Technical School and the Havelock Market. The Central Jail is situated at Vityoor close to Trichur. There is also a State Museum and Zoological Garden. There are four Churches in the town—Romo Syrian, Chaldean, Latin and Protestant and it is also the chief centre of the Church Mission Society's work in the State. His Highness the Raja has a palace built by the Dutch. This palace is surrounded by a fort and a ditch and has two entrances. The fort and ditch are not in good condition. There is a Travellers' Bungalow. The Kokkalai canal connects the dock in the Railway Station-yard with the backwaters and provides a means of communication with all the important towns on the West Coast. The Enamakal Lake only five miles to the south-west of Trichur is an extensive fresh-water lake where during summer weather (February to April), kote cultivation is carried on, on an extensive scale. The water is baled out either by Persian wheels or pumps worked by steam or oil engines. The lake, viewed from the hillocks situated to the east of it, presents a beautiful sight.

MYSORE STATE (THE).

Is a Native State in Southern India lying between 11°36' to 15°02' N. & 74°03' & 78°03' E. & consisting of an undulating table land. Its form is that of a triangle apex to the south, where both the Ghats converge in the Nilgiris Group. The general elevation is about 2,000 ft. above sea level at the north and south frontiers, & about 3,000 ft. above at the central. There are several isolated peaks rising to heights of 4,000 to 5,000 ft. The area of the State is 29,433 sq. miles; the greatest length, North to South is about 230 miles; East to West, 230 miles. The name is that of the capital Mysore from Maiear which commemorates the destruction of Mahishasura by Chamundi the form under which the consort of Siva is worshipped as the tutelary Goddess of the ruling family. The country is naturally divided into two divisions the picturesque Malnad and the Maidan comprising the larger and prosperous part of the State. The hills cross the country longitudinally parallel to the Ghat ranges, the greatest elevations being in the Baba Budans, 6,317 ft. in the West and Nandidroog in the East, 4,851 ft.

The drainage of the country with a slight exception finds its way to the Bay of Bengal, Kistna on the North, Cauvery on the South, Pennar, Ponnaiyar and Palar on the East. The only important stream which flows West is the Sharavathi which runs down the Ghats in the magnificent Gorosoppa falls. There are no natural lakes in Mysore; the streams are embanked at favourable points to form big and extensive reservoirs, chief of them are Sulekere, 40 miles circumference, Marikanave reservoir, 90 miles and Krishnaraya Sagar (Kannambadi dam on the Cauvery).

The Malnad or Eastern face of the Western Ghats is clothed with magnificent timber and contains the richest flora. The summits are bare of trees but covered with grass and herbs. The valleys descending from them are filled with woods. Coffee, pepper and cardamoms are cultivated in this region.

Elephants range in the southern forests and are also found in Shimoga District. A special khedba department was formed for their capture in 1873 & after small breaks, they are put into operation now again. Tigers, bears and leopards are numerous. Bison, antelope, deer, wild hog and wolf are met in different parts. Among birds, peafowls are common in the West. Pelicans and numerous game birds and birds of gay plumage are found. Crocodiles are abundant in most of the western rivers, where mahseer and other large fish are also to be found. The mango fly is a common pest in the mango season, spreading ophthalmia; mosquitoes are universal and white-ants are insatiable in their ravages.

The season can be easily divided into three, the rainy, cold and hot, the first commencing with the bursting of the monsoon followed by the cold and then by the hot. The temperature is very agreeable in the rainy months. The mercury falls during the cold season to about 51° and in the hottest month rises at times to 96°.

The annual rain-fall ranges from "360" to "39" from the crest of the Western Ghats to the north centre, diminishing rapidly eastwards. The cold season rains are scanty and keep up only the pasture supply. A meteorological department has been in existence from 1893.

History.—Dates from after the invasion of Alexander the Great in 327 B.C. The State then came under the Dominion of Chandragupta Maurya. Tradition has it that the great King after renouncing his kingdom came with his Jain Teacher Bhadrabahu, who died in Sravana Belgola, tended by his Royal disciple Chandragupta.

Asoka sent some missionaries to Mahisa Mandala. The North of Mysore came under the rule of the Sudra or Satyavahana Dynasty period extending from 2nd century B.C. to A.D. After them came the Kadambaras, Pallavas and Gangas; the last of these ruled till the 11th century reaching its highest prosperity in the 8th century and Rajendra Chola put an end to the power of the Ganga Dynasty.

The North-West of the country was in the hands of Chalukyas; after frequent conflicts with Pallavas and Rashtrakutas their power declined. Rashtrakutas reigned for about 200 years. They in turn were supplanted by Kalachuris but only for a short time.

A local dynasty rose to power after the overthrow of the Gangas. They were the Hoysalas with their Capital at Dwarasamudra. They drove out the Cholas about 1116 A.D. from Mysore and the territory was considerably extended. The Mahomedans first invaded the country under Kafur in 1310, who sacked the city, defeated the king, carried him a prisoner and in a later expedition in 1326, the Capital was completely demolished.

About 1336, the Vijayanagar Kingdom rose and it soon became the paramount power in the South. During the 15th and 16th centuries Vijayanagar kings bestowed on and confirmed to vassal chiefs, sundry tracts in Mysore on condition of military service and paying tribute. After the disaster at Talikot in 1565, only nominal allegiance was given to the Viceroy at Seringapatam and several chiefs declared independence, one of them being the Wodeyars of Mysore. They began absorbing all the states to the South and in 1610 they secured Seringapatam and by 1644 they became the dominant power in the South of the country. Bijapur and Golkonda had been trying all along to secure the Northern portions unsuccessfully. When Aurangzeb was appointed Viceroy of the Deccan, the Bednur Kingdom was over-run. But the attempt on Seringapatam was repulsed by Kantharva the Mysore Raja. The invaders captured on their way Bangalore and Kolar and descending the Ghats Vellore and Ginjee. Shahji, the father of Sivaji, was awarded this jagir for his able military aid. Under him the Mahratta element was introduced into Mysore. About 1684 the Mughal armies under Aurangzeb once more invaded Deccan. A new province was created in 1687, with Sira, Tumkur & Dt., as the capital of seven parganas. Bangalore was sold to the Raja of Mysore for 3 lakhs by the Tanjore Raja. The Province of Sira was under the Mughals till 1757.

The origin of the Mysore family dates, as back as 1899. Two Kshatriya Princes of the Yadava race helped the Wodeyar of Haidnadu and Vijaya; one of them married his daughter and assumed the Government taking the title Odayar and professing the Jangama or the Lingayat religion. At the time of the fall of Vijayanagar, Chama Raja IV was the king and his successors consolidated the acquisitions made. Kantirava, who ascended the throne in 1689, was the most distinguished that followed; he strengthened the fortifications, established a mint for the first time and coined the Kantirava coins & fanams which continued as the current national money of Mysore until the Mahomedan usurpation. He was succeeded by Dodda Deva Raja in whose reign Erode and Dharapuram were captured and contributions were levied from Trichinopoly and other places. After his death Chikka Deva Raja came to the throne and in his time a regular postal system was established for the first time and he was followed by Dodda Krishna Raja. After him the ascendancy to the throne of Mysore began to decline and all power fell into the hands of the ministers Devaraj and Nanjaraj. Haider Ali, a volunteer horseman rose to prominence by his courageous acts and he expelled the Mahrathas who invaded the country and the title of Fateh Haider Bahadur was conferred on him by Nanjaraj. Nanjaraj was forcibly made to retire and Haider Ali was placed in charge of half the country to enable him to disburse the pay of the troops fallen into arrears. In 1760 the French Commander Count de Lally sought the aid of Haider and when he had gone away on expedition, his co-adjutor Khande Rao attempted to get rid of Haider but Haider gained the day and he made a new capital and named it Haidarnagar (now Nagar). He established a mint, issued coins in his own name and formed a dockyard and a naval arsenal on the Coast. He had to contend with Mahrathas and Nizam and supported by the French, against the British. During his last invasion on the British territories he died at his Camp Arcot on 7th December 1782. His son Tippu succeeded him but he had not the ability of his father; he bore the most inveterate hatred against the English and he had now and then wars with the British and at last was defeated at Malavalli and he then opened negotiations with the English but before his accepting the terms offered, the fortress of Seringapatam was carried by assault on 4th May 1799, and his body was found among the slain. On mature deliberation it was decided to restore the descendant of the former Rajas under British protection to the sovereignty of a part of the dominions. The young prince Krishna Raja Wodeyar, five years old, was placed on the throne on June 30—1799. Col Arthur Wellesley was invested with the civil and military control of the State; Purnaiya, the Brahmin Minister of Haider and Tippu was made Dewan and Colonel Bary Close was appointed Resident. In 1811, the Raja, having come of age, was entrusted with the Government and Purnaiya died the following year.

In 1831, on what was subsequently termed the exaggerated representations of The Madras Government, Lord William Bentick, the then Governor-General superseded the Maharajah and entrusted the administration into the hands of two commissions one appointed by himself and the other by the Government of Madras. The Maharajah was allowed to remain at the Capital and a liberal provision was made for him. The above Mysore Commission was headed in 1834 by Colonel Mark Cubbon. Mr. Cubbon, till his retirement in 1861 did several things, such as, abolition of petty taxes, increase of revenue, remedies for oppressive practices, etc. In 1855, Governor-General Lord Dalhousie visited Mysore and appreciated what had been done by Sir Mark Cubbon and former Judicial, Public Works and Educational Departments. The Rajah had no male heir and he was not permitted to adopt on ground he was not a ruling chief. The Raja, however, exercised his right as a Hindu and adopted a son and that adoption was subsequently recognized. He died in 1864 at the age of 74; meanwhile there were many changes in the administration; the State was partitioned into Division and Districts. Revenue survey and Inam settlement, channel and forest conservancy, village schools and municipalities were brought into operation before the recognition by the British of a successor to the throne and during the minority of the Raja. The young Prince was under European tutors, and was well trained; on his attaining his majority, the rendition of Mysore was carried out on 25th March 1881, in terms embodied in an instrument of transfer, superseding all former treaties. The powers of the Raja were defined and the subsidy to be paid in lieu of military assistance was increased. Mr. C. Rangacharlu was appointed Diwan with a small council for his assistance. In his time a representative assembly was formed. Owing to disastrous effects of famine of 1876-8, expenditure was much cut down by dispensing with European Officers, abolition of several posts and by reduction in judicial offices and jails. The British Government gave relief by postponing the levy of the enhanced subsidy of 10 lakhs for 5 years. In 1893 Sir K. Seshadri Ayyar succeeded as Diwan and during his tenure of office, Mysore was raised to a high state of prosperity. Several improvements had been made in his time. Every branch of the administration was strengthened and improved. Gold mining was fostered in such a manner as to bring in substantial addition to the coffers of the State. Civil Service Examinations of high standard were instituted, departments for archaeology, meteorology and geology, for management of religious and charitable institutions were formed and to crown all, the Cauvery Falls were harnessed and the first electric power works in India installed.

On the death of Sir K. Seshadri Ayyar in 1901, Mr. P. N. Krishnamurti, a descendant of Mr. Purnaiya, was appointed Diwan and in 1904, he was succeeded by Mr. V. P. Madhava Rao. In 1894, Maharaja Chama Rajendra Wodeyar died and the Maharani became Regent during the minority of her eldest son Krishna Raja Wodeyar. This young prince was trained under European tutors and was vested with power in 1903 on attaining his majority by the Viceroy in person and he is the present Ruler. He has married Princess Pratapa Kumari from the Rajput House of the Rama Vinaya Simha of Vana in Kathiawar. He has made Primary and Secondary Education free and has provided 13.5 per cent. of the total revenue of the State for education. To develop the resources of the state richly endowed by nature with mineral deposits, forests, etc., the services of specialists have been secured and on the basis of their information, the Government are engaging in enterprises of considerable magnitude. To ensure a plentiful supply of water for the hydro-electric works at Sivassanudram falls and to increase the capacity of these works originally opened by His Highness on 30th June, 1902 a huge dam has been thrown across the Cauvery river at Kannambadi. Industries, such as distillation of oil from sandalwood, soap-making and casting small machinery have also been introduced. The Maharaja's only brother, His Highness Sri Kantirava Narasimharaja Wodeyar Bahadur, G.C.I.E., known as Yuvaraja is much interested in Reform and, as the extraordinary member of the State Council, has rendered useful services to the state chiefly in improving the military administration. The present Dewan is Amin-ul-Mulk, Sir Mirza Md. Ismail, Kt., C.I.E., O.B.E.

ADMINISTRATION OF MYSORE, 1931-32.

His Highness the Maharaja evinced keenest interest in the welfare and development of his subjects in all directions and himself presided over certain public functions. The Dewan and the Members of Council kept themselves in close touch with the affairs of the state by undertaking tours in different parts. The annual subsidy of 24½ lakhs was duly paid to the British Government. The Representative Assembly met twice and considered many bills of importance. The Dasara exhibition was held as usual and one marked feature was the predominance of Indian goods in almost every section. As a measure of economy the meetings of the Economic conference were not held. Detailed survey and settlement of land were carried out in various parts of the state. The record of Rights scheme was introduced in many taluqs. Seasonal conditions and the yield of crop were on the whole satisfactory. The Legislative Council held its session twice and passed many measures. The Military was re-organised being divided into active, Training and Garrison duty battalions. The duty of guarding Treasuries was transferred to the Military from the Police. The Police handled crime with success aided by the Finger Print Bureau. The Courts were busily engaged as there was a large number of litigations. Public amenities by way of medical aid, sanitation and water supply were provided by the Municipal Councils. The system of Village Panchayat and its efficient work in providing facilities and improving sanitary conditions has met with approbation from the Public. The rainfall was slightly more than that of last year and well distributed. The chemical, mycological and entomological sections occupied themselves in an endeavour to improve the condition of a large variety of crops. A silk factory was started but the industry suffered a set back due to acute economic depression and competition of cheap foreign silks. The Civil Veterinary department did intensive campaign in serum simultaneous inoculation and as a result, the mortality due to Rinderpest was the lowest on record. Labour was available in all districts and there was no serious movement of people in search of work. The Mysore Iron works as also the Sandalwood Oil Factory suffered from the trade depression. The Government Soap Factory alone had a successful and profitable year. Khadi is evoking a lot of interest and new khadi centres were opened. A factory for manufacture of Porcelain was started and it justified itself by a good outturn of insulators of various types and bushings. The co-operative movement showed considerable progress notably in the increase of membership and working capital of societies. The Agricultural population was seriously affected by the slack of trade and contraction of credit but hopes for a better situation are entertained and not in vain, for, of late, the prices have been going up. Public Health was satisfactory. The Forest department continued to do useful work. The chromite mining operations were suspended. Gold mining was carried on as usual and successfully too. There were several accidents some of them proving fatal. The Public Works Department was busy in constructing new tanks, repairing the old ones and building aqueducts the expenses being met by the state and for some other works by the District or Municipal funds. The Electrical department distributed power to a large number of towns. Measures for popularising the use of electricity were also introduced. The revenue from the Railway showed an increase. The Bus competition is becoming a serious menace and steps are taken to minimise the evil. The total revenue this year showed an increase over last year's due to increase under certain heads viz., Land Revenue etc. The reduction in the expenditure which was much less than last year was mainly due to measures of economy. The rate of duty on country beer was increased to 12 annas and excise privileges in respect of toddy and Arrack shops were in a few taluqs sold on triennial basis. Rates of incomes were revised so as to yield more revenue. The period of exemption of tax on debentures issued by Dt. boards and Municipalities was extended to June, 1934. The issue of Court fee label was brought into force for the purpose of Bunkers' notes and Stamp rules were amended so as to provide for the use of adhesive stamps of one anna and a half. The policies of the State Life Insurance were made not liable to stamp duty for a further period of 5 years. The Public used to avail themselves of the benefit of the Mysore State Life Insurance scheme in large numbers. The rate of births and deaths per mille was 18.64 and 14.67 respectively and infant mortality 82.8 per thousand. The Public Health Department was engaged in evolving measures for fighting Malaria and establishing Malarial Units and other work for improving the General Health of the public. The Vaccine Institute supplied pulp for vaccination as also lanoline lymph. The bill of Registration of medical practitioners was passed as also the amendment of the Mysore Municipal Regulations aiming at the licensing of Medical shops and Compounders. The State hospitals and other indigenous institutions rendered medical aid and relief to a large number of patients. The Public health Institute was busily kept in analysing a large number of specimens and work grew so heavy as to actually require an assistant to the Chemical Examiner. The census was completed by January 1932 and has been sent to the Census Commissioner Government of India for suggestions. The B. E. Degree was recognised by the Madras Government and the M. B. B. S. Degree by the Bombay and Bengal Governments. The number of public and private schools and the number of pupils decreased considerably. The Depressed Classes had to themselves 607 special schools four of them being maintained by the Government. Four institutions offered facilities for the study of oriental languages. There were also special schools for European and Anglo-Indians and Muhammadans. The general health of the pupils was satisfactory. The expenses for this department was less than last year. Some of the large number of Muzrai institutions offered educational facilities. The Anrit Mahal Department was merged in the Agricultural Department. The condition of the cattle was good. The preparation of the monograph on Chalukyan Architecture has made considerable progress. There was no excavation work in the Archaeological Department. The Fourth Vol. of the "Mysore Tribes and Castes" was published this year. The Superintendent, Government Printing, had the charge of the Government Central Book Depot. Purchase of stationery was made by the State's Purchase Committee. The Observatories did useful work and five minor observatories and more rain-gauge stations were opened. The Lal Bagh and the parks were tidily and attractively kept. The Nandi Hill station was very popular and was visited by a number of persons including H. E. H. Princess Durr-e-shewas of Hyderabad. The museum attracted a large concourse of people. Sale of Mysore Artware articles in the museum was approved. There were 111 Printing Presses in the State besides the Government Presses at Bangalore and Mysore. Barring the Government Gazette, nine newspapers and 55 periodicals were published during the year. Goods to the value of 11 lakhs were placed with foreign countries mainly through the Mysore Trade Commissioner in London and of about 10½ lakhs in India. Purchases have fallen so low because of the general financial stringency. The Central Recruitment Board with the second Member as Chairman met twice and made appointments to fill vacancies that occurred in the year in various departments.

BANGALORE.

Bangalore is a city situated in 12° 57' N. Lat. and 77° 35' E. Long., and is 71 miles north of Seringapatam. It is 216½ miles by rail, west of Madras. It covers an area of about 22½ square miles, and is divided into two distinct parts, viz., the City or Pettah, which is the old Native Town of Bangalore proper, and the Cantonment, or Civil and Military station. Bangalore is the seat of Government for the Mysore State and the Civil and Military station is the headquarters of the Bangalore Brigade of the IX (Secunderabad) division of the Army. It is also the headquarters of the Resident in Mysore and Chief Commissioner of Coorg.

The name Bangalore is a corruption of Bengaluru, which is probably derived from Bengalu a kind of bean (hence the proverbial "City of Beans"), and the following story has been related in connection with it: One day, when King Vira Ballala was hunting, he became separated from his attendants, and, losing his way, wandered about till nightfall. At last, faint and weary, he came upon a solitary hut, in which was an old woman, to whom he applied for something to eat. She had nothing better to offer him than some Bengalu (green beans boiled in a little water), which, however, he was glad to get and sharing them with his horse, passed the night under the shelter of the lowly hut. The incident speedily became known, and the village (uru) which sprang up, thence took the name of Bengaluru. Bangalore has long enjoyed a reputation for salubrity and a climate suitable for Europeans. Many hale, hearty people of an older generation have settled there: children thrive there. The hot season is from March to May; courts, schools and colleges have their vacations at this time. The weather is dry, and often untempered by any breeze; the maximum heat is from 90° to 95° occasionally 99°. The mornings, even at this time, are fairly cool; with sunset the temperature falls rapidly and the nights are quite bearable. The S. W. monsoon breaks in June, accompanied by high winds and cloudy days; thereafter the weather is cold and bracing, and the close of the rainy season in November is marked by dense fogs which prevail all over the country in December and January, when fairly warm clothing is advisable.

The City stands in the centre of the Mysore table-land, about 3,000 feet above the sea, the general level being broken by a few slight elevations. The old Fort stands in the extreme south-west, north of which is the Pettah. The Fort is said to have been originally built of mud in 1537 by a local chieftain, the Poligar Kempé Gowda. The present fortifications of rubble stone were built in 1761 by Hyder Ali from plans by a French engineer. The old Palace of Hyder Ali and Tipu Sultan was used for offices until 1876, when they fell into decay, but a small portion was restored in 1886. Some foul, dark, subterranean dungeons still exist, one of which was Sir David Baird's prison for three years and ten months. Beyond the Fort is the Lal Bagh, or Horticultural Gardens, one of the finest in India. The City comprises an area of 10·72 square miles, and trade is brisk in cotton and grain.

The Civil and Military Station stretches away towards the north-east, terminating in the Native quarters of the Cantonment Bazaar, beyond which are the suburbs of St. John's Hill, Benson Town and Cleveland Town, dotted with the cottages of a large number of pensioned Europeans, and Fraser Town, with Richards Town, Cox Town, and Wheeler Extension recently opened up to relieve the congestion in Blackpully. The large open space between the two Native quarters contains the Race Course, the Cubbon Park, the High Ground, and the Parade-ground. Here also are situated the Chief Government offices, the houses of well-to-do European residents and the principal Hotel. The localities in the South are Richmond Town and Langford Town, Shoolay, Nilsandra and Ulsur. The Cantonment, or Civil and Military Station, covers an area of about 12½ square miles and was assigned to the British Government for purposes of political and administrative control, the Maharajah of Mysore having renounced the exercise of jurisdiction within it. It is officered by a British Resident of the first class, who is also the Chief Commissioner of the Province of Coorg. In it are situated the Barracks and Lines of the troops. Here also are the residential quarters for Europeans, Telegraph and Post Offices, schools, banks, shops and places of amusement and recreation. The Central Jail covers a large space to the west of Cubbon Park, and is built on the radiating principle, with workshops for many trades. The Central College to the south-east of the Jail contains a hall with a roof supported by light monolithic columns, 30 feet high, quarried in the neighbourhood. The Maharaja's fine Palace is on the high ground, in the extreme north. The new buildings of the Indian Institute of Science lie in open ground to the extreme north-west of the station. There are numerous churches of different Christian denominations and many Hindu temples and Mahomedan Mosques, as well as several excellent schools for European children.

Places of Interest.

THE BANGALORE CENTRAL JAIL is situated on Seshadri Road, the Central College is to its east, the Race Course to the north and the Pettah to the south-west. It has a large industry; cloths, towels, table cloths, durries, woollen pile carpets, etc., are manufactured; rope spinning, carpentry, smithy, basket and leather work are also done here. There is an extensive garden attached to it which yields all the vegetables needed for the prisoners with spare quantities for sale to the public. Superintendent.—Abdul Aziz Khan, B.A. Medical Officer.—F. Noronha, M.B.C.M., D. P. H.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, MYSORE.—For details. See pages 1350-51.

COLE'S PARK.—Which is in-charge of the Municipality of the Civil and Military Station, is situated to the West of St. John's Hill. This is again becoming a pleasant place of resort to the residents of St. John's Hill, as the Volunteer Band now plays in it, when not otherwise engaged. The Tennis Courts are used by members of the Wesley Guild.

CUBBON PARK.—The Cubbon Park was originally laid out by the late Genl. Sankey, R. E. It is named after Sir Mark Cubbon, a very popular Chief Commissioner of Mysore, and covers an area of more than 100 acres. It is situated East, North and South of the public Offices, from the balcony of which a fine view is obtained, both of the Park and the surrounding country. The grounds include the Government Museum, the Sir Seshadri Iyer Memorial Hall and Statue, an equestrian statue in bronze of Sir Mark Cubbon by Baron Marochetti, and a white marble statue of the late Queen Victoria by Sir Thomas Brock in Queen's Road. A statue of which the pedestal is erected is to match this one, as a memorial to the late King Edward, on the north side opposite the New Telegraph Offices. Land has recently been acquired in the south-west and various improvements are being carried out, which includes a new Bandstand facing the Seshadri Hall for the Military Bands which now play here. The Century Club is built to the west of the Seshadri Memorial Hall.

The Daly Memorial Hall, Library and Mythic Society Premises are situated on the Cenotaph Road, Bangalore City. The New Y. M. C. A. Buildings are also there.

THE DURBAR OFFICES.—The Mysore State Public Offices, situated at the west end of Cubbon Park, are the largest buildings in Bangalore. They consist of a fine two-storeyed structure in the classical style with verandahs all round, the entire length being 836 feet to which have been added two large extensions on the North and South sides. The Mysore Survey Offices near the Cenotaph Crossing is another fine block of buildings.

THE MYSORE GOVERNMENT MUSEUM.—Established in 1865, is open to the public from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily, Wednesdays and a few special holidays excepted. The present building which was opened to the public in 1877 is situated in the Cubbon Park (Sydney Road); the original building was in Museum Road giving the road its name. Among other specimens on view, there is a collection of Mysore coins, a large collection of the mineral products of the Province, a good collection of the local fauna and Mysore artware. There are also a Library and Reading Room.

THE LAL BAGH.—Is the Mysore Government Botanical Gardens. It is about two miles on the south-west of the Cantonment—a very pleasant ride or drive. This beautiful pleasure was first laid out in the time of Hyder Ali and was greatly enlarged by Tippu Sultan. It now possesses a Plonic Pavilion, a much needed addition, and the spacious and lofty Glass House, in imitation of the Crystal Palace in which the Horticultural Shows are held. There is also an equestrian statue in bronze of H. H. the late Maharaja Krishnaraja Wadiyar Bahadur, G.C.S.I., erected near the Rosarium, the same having been removed from Mysore, where it was originally set up. The Gardens are over 100 acres in extent and among the finest in India, well-worth a visit. A large Farm for experimental work and panetation for demonstrating Economic Botany is being developed close by, and a Seed Depot, Economic Bureau and Herbarium have been newly started. A small Menagerie is maintained which is a source of much amusement to Natives and European children. Supdt.—H. C. Javaraya, B.A.

H. H. THE MAHARAJA'S PALACE.—Is situated north-west of the Civil and Military Station and south of the Cantonment Railway Station. It is approached from the High Ground by Palace Road and from the City by the Race Course. The main building is two-storeyed, and is designed after Windsor castle: it covers an area of about 45,000 square feet. His Highness The Maharaja resides in the Palace for three or four months in the year. To the north-west of the Palace is H. H. The Maharaja's Polo ground, one of the finest in India.

INDIAN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE.—This Institute for post-graduate study and research in science is situated to the west of the Hebbal rifle Range, on the Yesvanthpur Road, about three miles out of the C. & M. Station.

Visitor.—His Excellency The Viceroy of India. The following departments are now open:—

1. Department of General and Organic Chemistry.

2. Department of Bio-Chemistry.

3. Department of Electrical Technology.

The Session opens on the first Wednesday in July and ends on the last Wednesday in March. No fees are charged, but students who reside in the quarters are required to pay Rs. 10 per mensem in addition to their share of messing expenses and to deposit Rs. 150. Further information may be had on application by letter to the Director.

MAYO MEMORIAL HALL.—This imposing-looking building was erected in memory of the late Lord Mayo, Governor-General of India. In 1883 it was made over by the British Resident to the C. & M. Station Municipal Commission on condition that the upper floor was available free of charge, for all meetings of a public character. The Hall, which is now fitted with an installation of electric lights, is not rented, as formerly for dances, concerts, wedding, receptions, etc. The municipal offices are on the ground floor, the Hall being used for all meetings of the Municipal Commissioners.

OSSOOR ROAD CEMETERIES.—These lie to the south of Richmond town and the Protestant Cemetery contains some very handsome tombstones. A cenotaph is erected here to the memory of the officers and men of the 16th (Queen's) Lancers who died while serving in this country. The Roman Catholic Cemetery adjoins on the west and the Protestant Indian Christian Cemetery on the south. More ground for the Protestant Cemetery was enclosed on the north and the Scotch portion dedicated in August, 1916.

KULPULLY CEMETERIES.—These are situated to the N. E. of St. John's Hill and some of the graves are of very old date, one of them going back to 1808. The late General John Wheeler Cleveland, after whom Wheeler Road and Cleveland town are named and his wife were buried here, the latter in 1874 and the former in 1883. A red granite monument has been erected in the Protestant Cemetery to the memory of the N. C. Officers of the 42nd Company of the Royal Engineers "who died in peace and war." The Roman Catholic Cemetery to the west contains a grotto in which there is a plaster representation of the Crucifixion, a very life-like work.

OLD PROTESTANT CEMETERY.—It is not everybody in Bangalore who knows of the existence of this now disused place of internment. It is near the Cavalry Riding School, behind the Church of England Soldiers' Institute, and well worth a visit. There are some huge gravestones and monuments bearing quaint epitaphs; one of the oldest of these dates back to 1808. This cemetery is open to visitors on Thursdays and Saturdays.

THE RACE COURSE.—It is at the extreme West of High Ground, and is gained by the road leading past the Residency. The track, 1½ miles round, is considered one of the best in India. The big Race Meeting is held in July, with Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter Meetings thrown in whenever practicable. The Gymkhana Club's Races are also held here. Various improvements were made to the Grand Stand and first enclosure in 1912 and the Turf track was also widened.

THE GENERAL MARKET.—Is situated at the junction of Broadway and New Market Roads, and is enclosed by long rows of miscellaneous shops, stores, etc. A new range of buildings was completed in 1912 for the "Evening Bazaar" which adjoins the Market and which is called "Richards Square." The road known as New Market Road was closed from the north and south sides and traffic diverted by the west of the Lady Curzon Hospital. New gates, presented by Mr. Ahmed Sait, were fixed up at the south entrance to the Bowring and Curzon Hospitals. The construction of a market better suited to the present requirements of the people is in contemplation by the Municipality opposite to the present one.

IMPERIAL SERVICE TRANSPORT LINES.—These buildings are the head-quarters of the Mysore Government Transport Service, and were completed in 1903. They are on the Tumkur Road, two miles out of Bangalore. The grounds attached to the building are well kept.

MYSORE HORTICULTURAL GARDENS, LAL BAGH, BANGALORE.—Supdt., Govt. Gardens:—H. C. Javaraya, L. Ag., F.L.S., F.R.H.S. Asst. Supdt.—M.K. Seetharama Chetty, L. Ag.

STATUE OF QUEEN VICTORIA.—This monument (by Sir Thomas Brock) was erected from contributions by H. H. The Maharaja of Mysore, his people, and the residents of the Civil and Military Station in memory of the late Queen-Empress of India. It stands at the south east entrance of Cubbon Park, not far from St. Mark's Church, and was unveiled by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales (now King George V) in February 1906. The Statue is of white marble, while the pedestal, which is 13 feet high, is of Mysore grey granite. It is enclosed by a circle of ornamental railings and four obsolete cannons have been placed in position around it.

RICHMOND TOWN PARK.—Is a small piece of fenced ground laid out with flower beds and paths, in charge of the Station Municipality. It is provided with a Bandstand, but no band plays there now and it is resorted to mostly by pensioners, ayahs and the children of Richmond Town. There is a Municipal nursery garden established here now.

SESHADRI MEMORIAL HALL.—Erected by public subscription aggregating over a lakh of rupees in the memory of the late Rajadharandhara Sir K. Seshadri Iyer, K.C.S.I., a former Dewan of Mysore, who ruled the destinies of the State for 18 years, from 1883 to 1901 with conspicuous success, is located at the south-west end of the Cubbon Park. The memorial includes a bronze statue of the deceased statesman, made by Colton, unveiled in November 1913, by H. E. Lord Hardinge, Viceroy and Governor-General of India, and a Public Library. This large and excellently situated building has been in use for the last 3 years, the Cosmopolitan Club occupying a portion of it and the Slojd Classes and Educational Museum, which have been recently vacated in favour of the newly established Mechanical School of Engineering, the rest, without prejudice, of course, to the occasional use of the building for such other public purposes, as meetings, etc.

CHITALDRUG.

A district in the North of the Mysore State, between 13° 35' and 15° 2' N. Lat.; and 75° 8' and 77° 2' E. Long. Area, 4,022 square miles. Languages.—Telugu and Canarese.

CHITALDRUG is the chief town of the District of the same name, situated to the North of the Mysore Province; the M. & S. M. Railway traverses the district. Chitaldrug is 24 miles from the Holakere Railway Station and 126 miles North-West of Bangalore, on the Bangalore-Harihara Road. The town is surrounded with a line of old fortifications. The Mahal or Palace in the inner fort built by Tipoo Sultan, is used as the Veterinary Hospital. Before it was an enormous trough for watering elephants, which was found on the hill, and was cut from a single stone. To the West, is a rugged and picturesque group of hills, called the Ankli ma'h. This is a curious series of subterranean chambers, now regularly built round with masonry. In them are shrines, lingams, baths and pedestals; the style of the architecture is about 500 years old, but the caverns no doubt existed long before. About 6 miles South of Chitaldrug is Jog motte, a hill 4,000 feet above sea-level. It is a convenient resort free from the intense heat of hot months.

It is bounded on the West by the Western Ghats; on the North by Shimoga; on the East by Chitaldrug and on the South by Hassan. Area, 2,291 square miles. Languages.—Canarese and Hindustani.

The chief town of the district is Chikmagalur. The district contains the loftiest range on the Mysore tableland, the Baba Buden Hills, a horse-shoe shaped chain, forming a ridge 6,000 feet above sea-level, and containing a large number of Coffee and other estates. The Kalhatti Peak, 6,155 feet high, has on its summit a bungalow, which is a favourite hot weather resort. Tiger, Sambhur and other large game are found in these hills. Chikmagalur is 25 miles from the Kadir Station of the M. & S. M. Railway. The main street of the town is one and a half miles long, and there are many Muhammadan traders. At certain seasons high East winds render the town very unhealthy, but a wide belt of trees has been planted to try and mitigate this evil.

KOLAR.

KOLAR.—A town and District Head-quarters in the Mysore State, not to be confounded with the Kolar Gold Fields (q.v.); it is 11 miles by good road from the Bowringpet Junction of the Madras and Southern Railway and connected by rail.

The town is one of great antiquity; it contains a very old temple and other interesting remains. It was the burial place of Futtah Ali, Hyder Ali's father; and his Makbara, a fine old building, is still maintained by State endowment. Hyder Ali frequently visited Kolar as a pleasure resort. North-west of the town are the Kolar Sathasringa Parvatha, the highest peak of which is over 4,000 ft. above sea-level; the sides of the hills are mostly bare and rocky, but the top is a fine plateau, with many villages and much cultivation. There is one Cigarette factory at Bowringpet. There is a Normal and Industrial Institute attached to the American Mission.

It forms the eastern portion of the Nundidroog Division, lying between 12° 6' and 13° 36' N. Lat. and between 78° 5' and 78° 35' E. Long. It is bounded on the North and North-east by Bellary and Cuddapah; on the South and South-east by North Arcot and Salem; on the West by the Baugalore and Tumkur Districts. Area, 3,179 square miles. Languages.—Telugu, Hindustani, Kanarese and Tamil.

KOLAR GOLD FIELDS.

These Gold Fields occupy a small tract of country about sixty miles from Bangalore, in the East of the Mysore State, and East of a low ridge of hills, which stretch North and South for about 40 miles, the width varying from 1½ to 4 miles. About 40 square miles are held by the several Companies. The Gold Fields Railway connects the field with the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway by the junction at Bowringpet. About 20,000 persons are now employed on the mines, many being covenanted European miners.

The gold-bearing strata has a tendency to run towards the Dharwar Gold Fields, which are probably part of the same geological formation. Power for working the mines is derived from the Cauvery Electric Power Works at Sivasamudram, whence 4,000 H.P. of electrical energy is regularly received and arrangements are now being made to increase this to 6,000 H.P., which will probably enable the mines to do without steam-power altogether. The field is almost destitute of vegetation, and the scenery is dotted and scarred over with piles of crushed and spent quartz and cyanide sand; in appearance it is a typical gold mining settlement.

The mining camps are in the Kolar District, the Head-quarters of which is Champion Reef, nine miles from Bowringpet.

The Dy. Commr. and the District Magte. of the District hold their Courts at the Travellers' Bungalow, Oorgaum.

The Special Magistrate's Court is also located at Champion Reefs.

MYSORE.

A district in the South of the State situated between 11° 36' and 12° 35' and 75° 76' and 77° 24' E. Long. It is bounded on the North by Hassan and Tumkur Districts; East by Bangalore District and the Madras District of Coimbatore; South by the Nilgiri and Malabar Collectorate and West by Coorg. Languages.—Kannarese, Hindustani, Tamil, Marathi, English and Telugu.

The Head-quarters of the State Departments are at Bangalore. Mysore, the titular Capital of the Native State of the same name, is situated on the north-western side of the Chamundi Hills. It is 86 miles by rail from Bangalore. The town has been much improved of late years, and the newest portion of it (called after the late Maharaja), Chamarajapura, and other extensions have more than doubled its area in the past few years.

The Public Office are to the West of the town in the Gordon Park. Near these are the Maharani's College, the Law Courts, the Maharajah's College and Roman Catholic Church. The fine Curzon Park was opened in 1902, just before the installation of the Maharajah. It is beautifully laid out with shady walks and nooks, parterres and fountains. It extends along the northern and western sides of the old Fort. Near the Park enclosure are the Club, Town and Masonic Halls, Post and Telegraph offices, etc. There is a Hotel, "the Gordon," and an Anglican Church, "St. Bartholomew's". The fine new palace of the Maharajah is within the Fort and well worthy of a visit. The building is Hindu in design, and with the exception of some fine pictures, shows little of the influence of European art. The front contains a very fine Durbar Hall. The summer palace is East of the Fort. Nearby are the Maharajah's stables and a good Zoological Garden, in which is a well-planned "maze." The Race Course, one of the best in Southern India, is near the foot of the hill, and in its centre is the Polo ground. European residents mostly live to the East of the town. The old Government House is now a first class house for European visitors. Near it is the house which was, for some years, occupied by the first Duke of Wellington, then Colonel Wellesley.

In the eastern-most portion of the city, and on the motor road to the top of the Chamundi Hills is the artistically laid out Narasimharaja boulevards. The road from here to the South leads to the beautifully laid out Hardinge circle with greens, and good lights in the evening decorating it.

The City is lit up with electricity from the falls of the Cauvery at Sivasaundram.

TALUKS.—Chamarajapur, Gundlupet, Heggaddevankote, Hunsur, Krishnarajpet, Mavall, Mandya, Mysore, Nagamangala, Nanjangud, Seringapatam, T. Narasipur and Yedatore.

PUDUKOTTAI STATE

Description.—This Native State, otherwise called the Tondiman's country, lies between 10° 15' and 10° 29' N. Lat., and between 78° 45' and 79° E. Long., and is entirely surrounded by the British districts of Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Ramnad and Madura. Its area is 1,179 square miles; and the population, at the time of the last census, was 4,00,694, almost entirely agricultural. Language.—Tamil. The country is for the most part a flat plain, interspersed with small rocky hills, some of which are crowned by old forts. In the south-west, hills and jungles are found, but elsewhere the State is well cultivated. There are 7,549 tanks, some of a considerable size. The gross revenue of the State is about 22 lakhs of rupees.

The first connection of the British Government with the Chief of this State, then usually called Tondiman (a family name derived from the word Tondai, an abridged form of Tondaimandalam, the supposed original home of the family) was formed at the Siege of Trichinopoly 1753, when the British army greatly depended on his fidelity and exertions for the supply of provisions. Subsequently, he was serviceable in the wars with Hyder Ali and in the Poligar War, the latter being the name given to the operations against the usurpers of the large Zemindari of Sivaganga in the Madras District after the session of the Carnatic. In 1803, he solicited at a reward for his services his claim to the fort and district of Kilanelli situated in the southern part of Tanjore. This was founded on a grant by Pratab Sing, Rajah of Tanjore, and on engagements afterwards entered into by Colonel Braithwaite, General Coote, and Lord Macartney, the Government of Madras granted fort and district of Kilanelli, and the session was confirmed by the Court of Directors, upon the condition that the district should not be alienated, and that it should revert to the British Government upon proof being given at any time that the inhabitants laboured under oppression.

The Rajah maintains a military force of 128 officers and men. The chief town, bearing the same name, is 32 miles south of Trichinopoly and 36 miles south-west of Tanjore. A Residency bungalow, a Second-grade College, a well-equipped Hospital, a Travellers' bungalow, Court-houses and various other public buildings are in the town.

Ruler:—H. H. SRI BRAHADAMBA DAS RAJA RAJAGOPALA TONDAIMAN BAHADUR, MINOR.

The administration of the State, during the minority of the Ruler, is carried on by an administrator.

SANDUR STATE.

Area, 165 Square miles. Population, 13,583.

SANDUR is an independent Indian State situated in the Bellary District. A cordon of hills surrounds it forming, as it were, long lines of wall shutting it in. The State consists of forests which abound in sandalwood and other trees. Agriculture is the main occupation of the People.

The Ruling Prince is connected with the well-known Bhonslas of Satara, from whom the famous Mahratta Chief Sivaji was descended. The family of the Gharpades greatly distinguished itself under Sivaji, his son Sambhaji and his grandson Shahu. Sandur was conquered by Siddoji Rao Ghorpade, the ancestor of the present Ruler in 1715, from the Poligar who held Sovereignty. Raja Morar Rao, son of Siddoji Rao, succeeded him but could not hold the state against Haider Ali. His adopted son, Raja Siva Rao died in a vain attempt to wrest it back. In 1790, Venkata Rao on behalf of Siddoji Rao, who had succeeded Siva Rao reconquered Sandur. After the death of Siddoji Rao his wife adopted Raja Siva Rao, who became the ruler in 1799. The Treaty of Bassein bound the East India Company with the Peshwa who desired the surrender of Sandur by the then Ruler Siva Rao Ghorpade. In 1817 Sir Thomas Munro occupied the fort and valley on behalf of the Peshwa. After the great Mahratta War, and when the Peshwa's Government was broken up, Colonel Munro recommended that Siva Rao, who, he says, "was an independent prince by the same right that so many other Mahratta chiefs have become so." He was independent before the treaty of Bassein and can therefore be hardly included among the refractory vassals whom the British Government are bound by that treaty to reduce any more than other greater vassals who have before that time shaken off their allegiance to the Peshwa should be restored to his principality. The British Government readily acceded to the proposition. Siva Rao was restored to his principality more as an act of justice than one of generosity. In 1826 a Sanad was granted in perpetuity by the Government with certain obligations towards the paramount power the Government. In 1876 the title of Raja was conferred on the Ruler as an hereditary distinction. In 1923 the state was brought into direct political relations with the Government of India in pursuance with para 310 of the Montford Report to the effect that "all important States should be placed in direct political relations with the Government of India." While effecting this change, His Excellency the Governor of Madras, in his Kharita No. 404 dated 19th September, 1923, addressed to the then ruler of Sandur, observed "The decision is based on the recommendation of the joint report of His Excellency the Viceroy and His Majesty's Secretary of State for India on Indian Constitutional Reforms and I assure you, was arrived at after deep and mature consideration by His Majesty's Government. I hope that the change will be appreciated by you, as it will doubtless add to the dignity and prestige of the Durbar."

The present Ruler RAJA SHRIMANT YESHWANT RAO HINDURAO GHORPADE, MAMALKAT MADAR, SENAPATHI, was born on the 13th November, 1908. He is the eldest son of Shrimant Sardar Bhujang Rao Yeshwant Rao alias Appa Sahib Ghorpade Jaghirdar of Gajendragad. He was selected to be Raja of Sandur by the Government of India with the approval of the Secretary of State in 1928, as the late Ruler died without a male issue. He was married to Shrimant Sow Ushila Raju, daughter of Shrimant Raj Rajendra Maloji Rao alias Bala Sabeel Shitole, the premier Noble of Gwalior, in December 1929. He assumed the reins of administration on 5th February 1930. A son and heir was born on 7th December 1931, the Yuwaraj being named Shrimant Morar Rao, Ghorpade.

The Government of the State is conducted in the name and under the control of the ruler. A certain amount of decentralisation in administrative machinery was effected by the ruler on his assuming the reins of administration by dividing the portfolios between the Dewan, and two Secretaries. The Dewan is the ruler's Chief Minister. The Dewan, the two Secretaries, and the Deputy President of the Sandur State council who is a Non-official, constitute the Executive Council known as the Huzar Durbar to deal with such matters as do not come within the purview of the Dewan.

To afford to the people an opportunity for expressing their wants and wishes regarding the administrative measures adopted from time to time, and to enable the Government to learn first hand how their actions affect the people, and to have the benefit of the suggestions of the latter regarding these measures the ruler was pleased to command on the 20th April, 1931, that a State council be constituted consisting of not more than twenty members both official and non-official. The council is for the present only a deliberative, consultative and advisory body, and its duration is for two years. The council has a non-official Deputy President.

A graded hierarchy of courts was established to administer Criminal and Civil Justice thus removing the former anomaly of all these powers vesting in the single individual the Dewan. A chief court of second appeal was also constituted with, in certain cases, a further venue of appeal to the Ruler himself. The civic affairs of the state are looked after by a Sanitary Committee.

The Tara High School, Sandur, which was instituted in 1924, sends up pupils for the Madras S. S. L. C. Examination.

The famous shrine of Sri Kumaraswami is situated at a distance of seven miles from the Capital and attracts pilgrims from all over India during the triennial fair. There is an ancient fort in the State.

RAMANDRUG, a sanitarium at a distance of 38 miles from Bellary, is fast becoming a popular health resort. The Sandur Government affords all amenities to render the hill station attractive.

The General Sandur Mining Company has its headquarters in Kamathervu plateau which contains rich Manganese ore.

The state is doing its best to remove untouchability in its pursuance of its policy to afford equal opportunities to all the subjects of the state. A standing committee has been appointed to help in the emancipation of the untouchables.

The State pays no tribute to the crown nor is it liable to any other pecuniary demands.

THE TRAVANCORE STATE.

Description.—This (the southern portion of the ancient division of Kerala) is a Native State, situated between 8° 4' and 10° 21' N. Lat., and between 76° 18' and 77° 38' E. Long. It is bounded on the North by the Native State of Cochin and the British District of Coimbatore; on the East by the British Districts of Madras and Tinnevely; on the South and West by the Indian Ocean. The extreme length of Travancore from North to South is 174 miles, its extreme breadth being 75 miles. Area, 7,624.84 square miles. Compared with other States, it is more than 5 times the size of Cochin and 7.624.84 square miles. It is above 7.8ths size of Baroda, 2.7th of Gwalior, 1.3th of Mysore, 1.11th six times that of Pudukotah. It is above 7.8ths size of Kashmir. It is larger than the principality of Wales by of Hyderabad and a little less than 1.11th of Kashmir. It is larger than the principality of Wales by about 159 sq. miles and bears to England and Wales together the proportion of one to eight. Population, 5,098,373 as per the census of 1931. The State is in subsidiary alliance with the British Government, to which it pays a tribute of Rs. 8,00,000 a year. It is divided for administrative purposes in 34 taluks. Trivandrum is the chief town and the residence of the Maharajah. Languages are Malayalam in the North and Tamil in the South. Hinduism is the predominant religion and its followers constitute about two-thirds of the entire population, the Christians form over a fourth and the Mahomedans a sixth of the population.

TRAVANCORE is one of the most picturesque portions of India. The mountains which separate it on the North and East from the British districts on the Coromandel Coast, and which at some points rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet above the sea, are clothed with magnificent primeval forests; while the belt of flat country, to an average width of about 10 miles inland from the sea, is covered with an almost unbroken mass of coconut palms, which, in a great measure, constitute the wealth of the country. The whole surface is undulating, and presents a series of hills and valleys, traversed from East to West by many rivers, the floods of which arrested by the peculiar action of the Arabian Sea on the coast, spread themselves out into numerous lakes or lagoons connected here and there by artificial canals, and forming an inland line of smooth water-communication which extends nearly the whole length of the coast, and is of the utmost value when the sea itself is closed for navigation during the monsoon. Nanjnad with its numerous villages, palmyra groves, and extensive swamps of rice, resembles in some respects the neighbouring district of Tinnevely. Northward, this fertile plain is succeeded by the wooded and rugged surface of the Malayalam country. The rich and variegated tract along the coast is finely contrasted with the mountainous wilds farther inland. The hill scenery has peculiar beauties, among which are the wild, rocky and precipitous acclivities and fantastic forms of the mountains in the southern parts. Farther North, the mountain chain becomes less bold, a few rugged cliffs and conical summits alone breaking the sameness of its outline. The high range breaks into clusters of hills, and the valleys are studded with temples and churches. The numerous houses and gardens, scattered thickly over the country, give it an appearance entirely different from that of the eastern coast of India. Manacoody, Colachel, Vizhinjam, Poondoray, Anjengo, Quilon, Poracaud and Alleppey are seaport towns of which Alleppey, Quilon and Colachel are by far the most important, the others being frequented only by small native craft. The hilly region is so extensive, and so marked a feature of the State, that it merits special notice. The mountains possess every variety of elevation, climate and vegetation. Some tracts are even now considered inaccessible. Certain portions have been taken up for Tea and Rubber Plantations by European and native capitalists, by whom the natural fertility of the soil is being turned to good account. Some of the loftier mountains are entirely detached, except near their bases, from the neighbouring heights; they often have a precipitous descent towards the West, and are connected on that side with a succession of low hills which diminish in altitude as they approach the coast. From Quilon southward, these secondary ranges often run into undulating slopes, intersected by glens and valleys, which grow wider as the elevation of the hills decreases, and are cultivated invariably with rice, proving very productive. Among the mountains a few rough elevated tablelands are found; but the alternation of hill and valley is in most cases too rapid to allow of any large extent of level surface. The above remarks refer to the country, West of the Periyar river, between which and Dindigul rises a confused mass of hills. These have, however, similar characteristics; their summits, either broken into projecting cliffs, or thickly covered with trees, fall generally with precipitous abruptness, and present a variety of wild and magnificent forest scenery. These solitudes include some elevated plains, (about one-twelfth of the whole area), which afford pasturage for cattle, and enjoy a good climate for a portion of the year. To the north, the mountains rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet, with plateau over 7,000 feet. The more important of these is part of the group known as the Anamallays. The southernmost peak of note is the sacred Agasthyakudam (6,200 feet), the source of the Tambraparny River. The plateau, by reason of their good climate, rich soil, abundant timber and water-supply are likely to become better known as the demand for coffee-land increases. One plateau alone (Eroovimullay or Hamilton's Valley) is 6 miles long by 3 wide, and contains about 10,000 acres of excellent tea and coffee-land. Similar smaller valleys are found in the group called the Kanan Devan Hills. At the head of the Travancore Hills stands Anamudi (8,837 feet), the highest peak south of the Himalayas, and near it are several other peaks Agastiyamalai and Mahendragiri being important. South of this group is the lower region of the Cardamom Hills, so called from their special product. South of these, again, are large tracts of unsurveyed forest, which, with the exception of the Ashambo coffee plantations, and one or two narrow strips near the main passes, continue to the Atchancoil River. Even south of this, although the hills become lower and narrower, the country is thinly inhabited almost to Cape Comorin. Numerous rivers run down from the Ghats, which flow by tortuous courses, with high banks and rocky beds, into the backwater; most of these are navigable only near the sea. The chief river of Travancore is the Periyar, rising in the high ranges, which, after a course of 142 miles, enters the backwater at Kodangalore (Cranganore); 60 miles of this river are navigable. A portion of its enormous volume of water is now diverted into Madurai by the Periyar Water Works. The Pamba and its tributary, the Atchancoil, and the Kallada are the next in importance. The Western Tambraparny, or, as it is locally known, the Coolitoray River, rising in the mountains to the north of Mahendragiri, a sister river of the larger Tambraparny which flows East into Tinnevely, flows westward, like all other Travancore rivers. This river has now been bundled up and the reservoir so formed irrigates an extent of about 70,000 acres of wet land in South Travancore. Numerous small streams cross the narrow plain between the mountains and the sea, but no large irrigation works exist on them, the plentiful rainfall making these unnecessary. Here on the Paraly and Koda, there are anicuts constructed by Pandyan Kings. A succession of lagoons or backwaters, connected by navigable canals, extends along the coast from Triavandram northwards, forming a most important means of communication. Its extreme length is nearly 200 miles namely, from Tirur in British Malabar to about 20 miles south of Triavandram; between the latter place and Quilon, there rises at Warkala a high promontory of land about 6 miles in breadth, the highest portions of which have been tunnelled through in two places, to a length of over a mile and the remaining portion cut open into a canal, thus making the line of water-communication complete. The total area of these lakes is 227½ square miles, of which 157½ are in Travancore, 53½ in Cochin, and 16½ in the British Territory. The largest lake is the Vembanad (West of Alleppey), but, except during the monsoon, it is shallow. A strip of land from 7 miles to about half-a-mile wide but, separate these backwaters from the sea. There are, however, several outlets, those at Chetwyre, Kodangalore, Cochin, Kayankulam, Ineka and Paravoor being the principal ones. Every kind of merchandise and a very large portion of the produce of the country is carried on these waters. The bulk of the country has been opened up by a net work of roads and canals and in central and South Travancore there is a mile of road to almost every square mile of country. Strenuous efforts are being made to bring North Travancore to the same condition. The cardamom Hills are the only ones not open to wheeled traffic. There are also several good cart-roads in the inland for local traffic and the extension of the South Indian Railway to Quilon has opened up easy communication with Tinnevely and Madurai. More Railway lines are under consideration. The boats for water communication are of various sizes, and in most instances are formed of a single tree, the trunk of which is hollowed out. The ordinary size is about 20 feet by 2½ feet; the boats for carrying rice to a distance are larger, and have a deck or roof. Tampakam and Arelaly trees are generally selected for boat-building, being durable and sufficiently large. For some years past passenger traffic has been carried on by motor and steam launches which ply regularly all along back-waters from Cranganore to Quilon.

For the last few years motor conveyances by road have also become very popular, and it is now possible for passengers to travel by these public conveyances from Ernakulam to Cape Comorin in less than 24 hours. Adam, sulphur, lignite, plumbago and mica exist. There are plumbago mines at Napatthalam and Nedumangad and mica mines at Eraniel. Among the economic minerals Monasite has acquired world reputation, the deposit of this mineral being some of the richest in the world. Zircon and Ilmenite are also found in association with Monasite and these are exploited to a certain extent. The mountains and forests of Travancore afford some of the best sport to be got anywhere in India, especially in the shape of "large game." Elephants, whose ivory is a source of State revenue, are numerous. Tigers, leopards (including the black variety), bears, bison, sambhur, or "elk", and various kinds of deer abound.

The climatic variations of the whole of India may be experienced in Travancore though warm humidity is the general feature. At the higher elevations the climate is cool always and cold at some times. From January to May the heat is oppressive in the lowlands. Along the coast the climate is equable and damp. The temperature seldom falls below 70° and hardly ever rises above 90°. The rainfall is heavy during South-west monsoon between May and August. There is an average rainfall of 58 inches in the country tracts and about 200 inches on the Hills.

Travancore is essentially an agricultural country. The Proprietors and tenants of the land mostly live on the land itself, a peculiar feature to the state. Rice is the staple food though tapioca root supplements it largely. The chief productions are pulses including horse-gram, black gram, etc., condiments and spices including chillies, tamarind, garlic, etc, garden products with cocoanut, arecanut, plantain, jack, etc, edible roots including tapioca root, oil seeds, and planting products with coffee, tea and rubber.

In education Travancore is foremost compared to Br. India and other Indian states. The number of literates per thousand according to census of 1931 excluding children under 5 years of age is 289; for males 408 per 1,000 and females 168.

History.—Authentic history of Travancore in early times is extinct, but, tradition has it, that the Malayalam Coast was reclaimed from the sea by Parasurama and colonized by a class of Brahmmins known as Nambudris whose rule, after lasting for a considerable time, ended in 68 B.C. The Brahmmins then elected Kshathriya chiefs to rule for periods of 12 years and this election system lasted for 4 centuries. The last and greatest of the rulers was Cheraman Perumal (a deputy of Chera Kings). At the time of his death he divided the dominions among his vassals. For more than 3 centuries it continued under the rule of 23 vassal chiefs. The 24th was Eruma Varma Perumal, 1684—1717 A.D. After him, the reigns of his two immediate successors were characterized by internal strife and oppression. Then came Vanchi Marthanda Perumal who reigned from 1729—46 and he conquered some places. His next successor was Vanchi Bala Perumal who further extended his dominions and had a large army disciplined after European model, commanded by Portuguese, Dutch and Indian Officers. During the wars of the English with Tippu of Mysore from 1786—1792, Travancore was an ally of the English. In 1788 when Tippu invaded Mysore, the Rajah of Travancore, Raja Bala Rama Varma got alarmed and entered into an agreement with the English and secured a subsidiary force of two battalions on condition of paying £650 monthly in cash, or pepper to the said amount. Tippu was defeated in his invasions with great loss, and he ceded to the Company 3 Districts belonging to the Raja, and captured by him. By a second treaty with the Company, the Rajah got the said 3 Districts under an arrangement to pay an annual subsidy equal to the expense of 3 battalions of sepoys with European artillery, and he also bound himself not to enter into any engagements with other European Nations without the consent of the Company, nor to give them settlements in the country. He agreed also to assist English with the troops, if necessary, the Company bearing the cost of such troops. The Rajah died soon after, and his nephew, Raja Bala Rama Varma, succeeded him—and with this successor a fresh treaty was concluded in 1805 by the Company with additional stringent stipulations. In 1809 the Rajah allowed the subsidy to fall into arrears and refused to dismiss the useless and expensive establishment called the "Karnatik Brigade" and consequently the English demanded his dismissal when 30,000 Nairs rose in rebellion and surrounded the subsidiary force. They were subdued by the English and the Karnatik Brigade disbanded. Since then, the State has been enjoying unbroken peace.

The Raja died in 1810 and Lakshmi Rani succeeded him and the Rani confided the administration of the State to Colonel Munro, the British Resident. Lakshmi Rani died in 1814 leaving two sons and one daughter. Her sister, Parvati Rani, continued as regent till Rama Varma, the eldest son of Lakshmi Rani, came of age. Rama Varma reigned from 1829 for 17 years and was succeeded by his younger brother Marthanda Varma in 1846. He was succeeded by Rama Varma one of the sons of his sister Marthanda Varma in 1860 and died in 1890. His younger brother Rama Varma succeeded him. According to the custom prevailing in Malabar though succession devolves on the eldest male member in the line, in 1862, the Earl of Canning, the then Governor-General, granted a Sanad to the Maharaja authorizing adoption of nieces to perpetuate the dynasty. He was succeeded by His Highness Sri Sri Rama Varma, e.c.s.i., who died on 7th August 1924 after a long and industrious reign of 39 years. Her Highness Sethu Lakshmi Rani acted as Maharani Regent of Travancore during the minority of the present ruler who ascended the Masnad on 1st September 1924 and was invested with ruling powers on the 6th November 1931.

Finance.—The State has its own currency; the coins are minted in the State Mint at Triavandram. The coins current are silver pieces of 2 chakrams (An. 1-1-47 British currency), 4 chakrams called the fanam; quarter of a rupee valued at 7 chakrams (An. 3-11-16 British); and half a rupee valued at 14 Chakrams; and copper pieces of 1 cash, 4 cash, 8 cash and 1 chikram valued at 16 cash. The silver coins of British India circulate freely throughout the State.

Army.—The State maintains a small force of artillery for saluting purposes, a body-guard for the Maharaja with 61 mounted men and 1445 Infantry (Nayar Brigade of two Battalions each consisting of 4 Companies the number including the officers and privates as also the men constituting the Band) and the Maharaja is entitled to a personal salute of 21 guns.

Administration.—1. The Government of the country is conducted in the name and under the control of His Highness the Maharaja. The Diwan is his Chief Minister. The several Departments are constituted mostly on British Indian model. The work of legislation is entrusted to a Legislative Council formed in 1888. Regulation II of 1097 remodelling the Council on a popular and representative basis was passed on the 2nd October 1921. Under the new constitution, the Council is composed of 50 members of whom 28 are elected and 22 nominated. Women are placed on a footing of complete equality with men in the matter of both electorship and membership. The Dewan is the President and a Deputy President is also appointed to preside at the meetings in the absence of the President.

2. To afford to the people an opportunity of expressing direct to the Government their wants and wishes and representing their views regarding the administrative measures adopted from time to time and to enable the Government to learn at first hand how their actions affect the people and to have the benefit of the suggestions of the people, His Highness the Maharaja was pleased to command that an Assembly under the name of "Sri Mulam Popular Assembly" should be constituted. It was constituted in October 1904, and the Assembly meets every year. The privilege of electing members to this Assembly is granted to the people. The Assembly opens with an address by the Dewan. The members are called on to make their representations and the Dewan replies in the name and on behalf of Government.

IMPORTANT TOWNS AND OTHER PLACES OF INTEREST.

TRIVANDRUM.—This town forms the southern terminus of the Travancore branch of the South Indian Railway. It is the capital of the State and the residence of the Ruler. The celebrated pagoda of Sri Padmanabhaswamy within the Fort has made it a great religious centre and attracts pilgrims from all parts of India. The Fort and its neighbourhood constitute the most crowded part of the town. The military cantonment, the Government offices and other public buildings and the residences of the upper classes are picturesquely situated on small eminences, each commanding a refreshing scene of verdure all round. The Town is liberally supplied in well-equipped Colleges, Schools and Hospitals. There is a well-laid-out park, with a museum and a menagerie. The sea port is at Valinthurai, about one mile from the town. It is an open roadstead, with deep water close to the shore. A pier for the landing and shipment of cargo, 750 feet in length, and fitted with two steam cranes, has been erected. The five fathom depth line is about 800 feet off the end of the pier, but steamers anchor in 12½ fathoms, 4/10 of a mile, off shore. It is a port of call for coasting steamers when inducement offers.

NAGERCOIL.—Stands within 7 miles of the Aramboli Pass through which runs the high-way from Tinnevely to Travancore, and is the only important town south of the Capital. With Nagercoil as the nucleus, the town comprises a number of villages, viz., Kottar, Vadiveswaram, Oshughanaherri and Vadaseri. Of these, Kottar and Vadaseri form the trading and manufacturing centres. The town owes much of its improvement and its position to the efforts of the Christian Missionaries.

Ten miles to the north-west of Nagercoil is the Fort of Udayagiri. This was formerly one of the principal military stations of the State. The Fort was built by the Flemish Commander of the Travancore forces, General Eustathius D'Lannoy, and is built of strong granite blocks round a lofty isolated hill. The tomb of D'Lannoy still stands in the chapel inside it. Padmanabhapuram, which was once the capital of the State and the residence of the Maharaja, is about a mile to the north-west of this Fort.

COLACHEL. is the southern-most sea-port in the State and a port of call for coasting steamers. Sea going steamers call occasionally to load monasite, and palmyra fibre for Europe. In former years Travancore coffee was prepared and exported from this port, but this trade no longer exists. There is a group of outlying rocks in front of the town which form a partial breakwater, under the shelter of which landing and shipping operations are carried on from the beach. Steamers anchor in 7 fathoms of water 3/10th of a mile off the shore. Small vessels anchor in about 5 fathoms, less than a quarter of a mile from the shore.

SHENCOTTAR.—The head-quarters of the taluk of that name lies at the foot of the Ghats on their eastern aspect. The main road that runs through it connects the British town of Tinnevely with the port of Quilon. There are several coffee estates in its neighbourhood.

This is the first railway station in the Travancore territory on the Tinnevely-Trivandrum line. Within a distance of three miles are the celebrated Courtallam Falls largely used as a sanitarium by the people of South India for a period of three or four months from June. Mid-way between Shencottah and Quilon is the village of Panalore, where is located a paper Mill constructed years ago. The paper manufactured from this Mill is largely purchased by the Governments of Madras and Travancore. A suspension bridge across the Kallada River has been constructed here many years back.

QUILON.—Is one of the oldest towns and one of the most important ports. This town has a reef of rocks for its beach which prevents its corrosion by sea and helps the ryot to plant coconut trees so near the water's edge that their shadows fall on the beatingsurf, a phenomenon not met with in any other point of this coast. On the south is the beautiful bay known to the earliest mariners of Europe as affording a perfect natural protection to ships in the worst weather. With the opening of the railway Quilon finds herself in direct and easy communication with the towns of the Madras Presidency and is likely to regain her former position as an important commercial centre. The Palace of His Highness the Maharaja stands out boldly into the eight-armed lake, known as the Loch Lamond of Travancore. Cotton spinning and weaving and the manufacture of tiles are its chief industries. The sea-port is an open roadstead situated off a bight in the coast, formed by the Tangacherri point, a British possession, projecting slightly beyond the coast line. During the fine weather period from September till May, vessels can anchor in the inner anchorage in 4½ to 5 fathoms of water, 4/10th of a mile off the shore.

MAVELIKARA.—The former capital of the principality of that name is famous in Travancore history as the place where Rama Iyen Dalawa, the minister who assisted Maharaja Martanda Varma in consolidating Travancore, died. The remains of a large fort, about two miles in circumference, can still be seen.

ALLEPPEY.—This is the most important commercial town in the State. Open to foreign trade since the latter part of the 18th century, it has long been the premier port of Travancore and has become an important trade and industrial centre, having backwater communication with the surrounding country. The manufacture of coir matting is carried on extensively, besides hydraulic baling of coir yarn and fibre for foreign markets. Coconut oil mills worked by steam power have also been established. The town has an extensive canal system, connected with the backwater, which affords considerable water frontage of immense importance to merchants for transport of goods. As a shipping operations, though it shifts its position occasionally. It is an open roadstead with good holding ground of sand and mud. It has a pier 773 feet long, and 21 feet broad fitted with two steam cranes and two dand-crane, for handling cargo and has also large godown accommodation. The port is closed during the S. W. monsoon generally from about the 15th May till the 15th August. Steamers, however, call at or near the port during the monsoon, when weather conditions permit, and when the mud-bank is sufficiently developed to afford smooth water for shipping operations, as may be notified by the Marine Department. The port is also provided with a light-house.

AMBALAPUZHA.—Eight miles to the South of Alleppey is Ambalapuzha which was once the capital of the Ambalapuzha or Chempakaseri principality annexed to Travancore in 1754 by Maharaja Martanda Varma. The famous Temple here is dedicated to Sri Krishna.

VAIKAM.—Twenty-three miles to the north of Alleppey is Vaikam renowned for the temple dedicated to Siva. Pilgrims visit this place from many parts of South India in the months of March and December every year on the occasion of the Ashtami festival.

KOTTAYAM.—This town, situated on the banks of the Minachil river, was the scene of the labours of the early Anglican Missionaries and is now the centre of the Syrian Christian Community, possessing one of the most ancient Syrian churches in all Malabar. It was in the old Syrian Seminary here that English education was first imparted in Travancore. At present there is a second grade college besides other educational institutions.

CHANGANACHERRY.—This town was once the capital of the principality of Tekkumkur. It possesses the grandest Syro-Roman Church on the Malabar Coast. One of the important markets in North Travancore is held here, and people come to it from all parts of the country. It is situated on the main central road that connects Trivandrum with Ernakulam, the capital of the Cochin State.

TRUVELLA.—This is another Town of importance on the main Central Road. This possesses many educational institutions and also an ancient Temple said to have been founded so early as 84 B.C.

HEALTH RESORTS.

ALWAI.—In the early days this place was known to the Portuguese as Fiera'd Alva. It is now a station on the Shoranur-Cochin State Railway. It is situated on the banks of the Periyar and is largely frequented as a health resort in the summer months. Five miles from here is the village of Kuladi the birth place of Sri Sankaracharya.

MUTHUKUZZHI VAYAL.—This is a health resort on an elevation of about 4,400 ft. above the sea level. As it is only about 32 miles from Nagercoil, it is easily available to the people of South Travancore and the neighbouring District of Tinnevely. It is believed, in days of yore, the people dug in this place for pearls and other precious stones, though it is not known how their labours were rewarded. There are several coffee and tea estates in the neighbourhood. The place cannot however be reached except by a steep bridle path.

PONMUDI.—This is 38 miles to the north-east of Trivandrum, and is connected with Trivandrum by a good road. It is about 3,000 feet above sea level. There are a few estates here growing tea, coffee and rubber.

PEERMADÉ.—About 50 miles to the north-east of Kottayam is Peermadé, an important health resort in Travancore. It is also a centre of coffee, tea and rubber industry. Its elevation is about 3,500 feet above sea level.

MUNNAR.—Is a hill station about 5,000 ft. above sea level. It is 72 miles to the East of Alwaye and is connected with Alwaye by a good road passing through Perambavoor, Kothamangalam and Neriyanangalam. One of the outlet roads leading to the Madura District passes through this. There are many coffee, tea and cardamom estates owned by the Kannan Devan Hills Produce Company, Ltd. The produce of these estates is transported to the plains by an aerial rope-way rising to about 4,000 ft. This Rope way is worked by a turbine driven by a small stream at the foot of the hills. In consideration of Government acquiring and handing over, under the Land Acquisition Act, the land required for the rope-way the company has agreed to the use of the rope-way by the general public on payment of certain fixed charges.

CARP COMORIN.—This is ten miles to the south of Nagercoil and is the southern-most point of India. This is a famous place of pilgrimage as well as a popular health resort. The temple, dedicated to the Goddess Bagavathi (Virgin Goddess), is also a place of archaeological importance. There are churches on the coast, the chief of which is the Roman Catholic Church at Kumaramuttam.

WARKALA.—This is a health resort twenty-two miles north of Trivandrum and can be reached by the South Indian Railway. To the Hindu pilgrim, throughout India, this place is known as Janardanam. This is as sacred to him as Gaya in Northern India.
